Court of Judicature at Allahabad & Ors.

1. Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. No. 5389 of 2023 has been filed by the applicant Anil Kumar Singh challenging validity of (i) the Charge-sheet no. 6 arising out of Crime No. RC 216 2022 A 0012 dated 10.09.2022 under Sections 120-B, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 12 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, Police Station CBI/AC-I, New Delhi, so far as it relates to him (ii) prosecution sanction order dated 27.03.2023, (iii) the cognizance and summoning order dated 06.04.2023 passed by the learned Special Judge, Anti Corruption, C.B.I., West, Lucknow in Session Case No. 709 of 2023 and (iv) the consequential proceedings of Session Case No. 709 of 2023 pending in the court of Special Judge, C.B.I., West, Lucknow.

2. Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. No. 5391 of 2023 has been filed by the applicants - (1) Bedram Sharma, (2) Parsuram Sharma and (3) Anand Mohan Sharma challenging validity of (i) the Charge-sheet no. 6 arising out of Crime No. RC 216 2022 A 0012 dated 10.09.2022 under Section 120-B I.P.C. and Sections 7, 8, 9, 10 and 12 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, Police Station CBI/AC-I, New Delhi, so far as it relates to them (ii) the cognizance and summoning order dated 06.04.2023 passed by the learned Special Judge, Anti Corruption, C.B.I., West, Lucknow in Session Case No. 709 of 2023 and (iii) the consequential proceedings of Session Case No. 709 of 2023 pending in the court of Special Judge, C.B.I., West, Lucknow.

3. As both the applications challenge the same proceedings on the same set of grounds, both the applications are being decided by a common judgment.

4. Heard Sri Raju Ramchandran Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Purnendu Chakravarty and Sri Anuj Tandon Advocates, the learned counsel for the applicant and Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, the learned counsel for the respondent - C.B.I.

assisted by Sri Dharmendra Pratap Singh and perused the record.

5. The aforesaid case has been registered on the basis of an F.I.R lodged on 10.09.2022 alleging that Anil Kumar Singh operates from the local office of M/s Voyants Solution Pvt. Ltd. and the co-accused Bedram Sharma of M/s S.R.S.C Infra Pvt. Ltd. approached Anil Kumar Singh for clearing pending bills and Anil Kumar Singh assured him of favorable clearance in lieu illegal gratification demanded by him and in pursuance of the aforesaid conspiracy, certain bills of M/s S.R.S.C Infra Pvt. Ltd. were cleared by Anil Kumar Singh.

6. The F.I.R alleges commission of offence under Section 120- B I.P.C read with Section 7, 8, 9, 10 and 12 of the Prevention of Act, 1988, by the named accused persons and other unknown public servants and private persons.

7. The charge-sheet submitted by the C.B.I. states that Anil Kumar Singh was performing public duties while functioning as the Resident Engineer for the project and he had the authority to certify payments of the contractors. Anil Kumar Singh dishonestly demanded and accepted bribe as a motive/reward for recommending interim payment of bills.

8. Sri Raju Ramchandran Senior Advocate, the learned Counsel for the applicants has submitted that the applicant in Application No. 5389 of 2023 Anil Kumar Singh, is not a 'public servant' as per the definition of the term given in Section 2(c) of the National Highway Authority of India Act (hereinafter referred as 'N.H.A.I.' Act) and, therefore, he cannot be prosecuted under the Prevention of Corruption Act, which contains provisions for offences committed by public servants only.

9. The learned Counsel for the applicant has further submitted that the applicants in Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. No. 5391 of 2023 - (1) Bedram Sharma, (2) Parsuram Sharma and (3) Anand Mohan Sharma have been charged for commission of offences under Section 120-B I.P.C. and Sections 7, 8, 9, 10 and 12 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, for entering into a criminal conspiracy with Anil Kumar Singh (the applicant in Application No. 5389 of 2023) and because Anil Kumar Singh is not a public servant and he cannot be tried for offences under Sections 7, 8, 9, 10 and 12 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, consequently the applicants (1) Bedram Sharma, (2) Parsuram Sharma and (3) Anand Mohan Sharma, cannot be charged for commission of offence of criminal conspiracy with Anil Kumar Singh.

10. A copy of the contract entered into between N.H.A.I and M/s Voyants Solutions Pvt. Ltd in joint venture with Yongma Engineering Company Ltd. and associate member Cho & Kim Engineering Pvt. Ltd. for “Supervision Consultancy Services for the Construction of Balance Works of two inning with paved shoulders of Sitarganj-Bareilly Section of NH-74 from 254.820 to 329.280 in the State of Uttar Pradesh & Uttarakhand” has been annexed. The Appendix to the aforesaid consultancy agreement mentions that N.H.A.I. would pay Rs. 3,47,31,000/- towards remuneration for local professional staffs and it specifically mentions payment of Rs.1,60,000/- to resident-cum -highway engineer of M/s Vyoants Solutions Pvt. Ltd. in joint venture with Yongma Engineering Company Ltd.

11. A copy of a retainer-ship letter dated 10.03.2020 issued by M/s Yongma Engineering Company Ltd. has been annexed with the affidavit which states that Anil Kumar Singh has been employed by M/s Yongma Engineering Company Ltd. for the project in question and his designation is Resident-cum-Highway Engineer and the Annexure to the aforesaid letter indicates that Anil Kumar Singh has been appointed on a monthly fixed retainer-ship fee of Rs. 1,31,000/-.

12. The respondent – C.B.I. has filed a counter affidavit inter alia stating that Anil Kumar Singh had demanded undue advantage from Anand Mohan Sharma, an employee of M/s SRSC Infra Pvt. Ltd. for clearance of some bills of the company. Anand Mohan Sharma informed Bedram Sharma, a Director of the Company and Bedram Sharma directed Anand Mohan Sharma to deliver the amount to Anil Kumar Singh. C.B.I. received a reliable information of the demand / delivery and acceptance of bribe, registered an F.I.R. and laid a trap in presence of two independent witnesses and it arrested Anil Kumar Singh and Anand Mohan Sharma when the latter had handed over the amount to the former at his residence and the former had returned Rs.1,00,000/- to the latter as his share/commission. Rs.1,00,000/- were recovered from a pocket of Anand Mohan Sharma and he was taken to the house of Anil Kumar Singh, from where Rs.14,00,000/- were recovered

13. Sri Raju Ramchandran, the learned Senior Advocate for the applicants, has submitted that Anil Kumar Singh is a Resident Engineer appointed on a fixed retainer-ship fee by a private company M/s Yongma Engineering Company Ltd. - the consultancy agency engaged appointed by the Authority. Anil Kumar Singh is not paid any remuneration by the Government or by the N.H.A.I. He has submitted that the advisers/consultants have been expressly excluded from the definition of 'public servant' given in Section 27 of the N.H.A.I. Act by virtue of Regulation 20 falling under Chapter III of the N.H.A.I. (Recruitment, Seniority and Promotion) Regulations, 1996, which provides that the provision of Section 27 relating to public servant shall not apply to an advisor or a consultant appointed by the authority.

14. The learned counsel for the applicants has further submitted that it is a settled principle of law that a special statutory provision over-rides the general provisions. His submission is that the National Highway Authority of India and the statutory regulations framed there under are special provisions and the definition of 'public servant' under the aforesaid Act would override upon the definition of 'public servant' given in the Indian Penal Code or the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 which are general laws.

15. The learned Counsel for the applicants has further submitted that the N.H.A.I. Act was enacted subsequent to the Prevention of Corruption Act and yet it contains a definition of the term 'public servant' which is different from the definition of the term given in the Prevention of Corruption Act and, therefore, the definition given in the latter special Act will prevail upon the definition given in the former Act.

16. Per contra, Sri. Anurag Kumar Singh, the learned Counsel for the respondent – C.B.I. has submitted that the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 is a special law which contains special provisions for prevention of corruption and prosecution of persons committing the offence of corruption whereas the definition of the term given in N.H.A.I. Act would be relevant for the general purposes of conditions of employment only. His submission is that the definition of the term 'public servant' given in the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 would prevail for the purpose of applicability of the law relating to prevention of corruption upon the definitions given in any other law.

17. Before proceeding any further, it would be appropriate to have a look at the relevant provisions of different Statutes, which have been placed by the learned Counsel for the parties.

18. The term 'public servant' is defined in Section 21 of the Penal Code, and the relevant part of Section 21 reads as follows: -

"21. "Public servant".—The words "public servant" denote a person falling under any of the descriptions hereinafter following, namely:—

*** * ***

Twelfth.—Every person—in the service or pay of the Government or remunerated by fees or commission for the performance of any public duty by the Government;

*** * ***

Explanation 1.—Persons falling under any of the above descriptions are public servants, whether appointed by the Government or not.

Explanation 2.—Wherever the words "public servant" occur, they shall be understood of every person who is in actual possession of the situation of a public servant, whatever legal defect there may be in his right to hold that situation.

* * * .”

19. Thus all persons remunerated by fees or commission for the performance of any public duty by the Government are ‘public servants’, whether appointed by the Government or not. A person performing a public duty, who is being paid retainership fee by the Government will be a public servant, even if he has been employed by a private company, and he will be a public servant irrespective of any legal defect in his right to hold that situation.

20. However, Section 5 of the I.P.C. specifically states that: -

“5. Certain laws not to be affected by this Act.—Nothing in this Act shall affect the provisions of any Act for punishing mutiny and desertion of officers, soldiers, sailors or airmen in the service of the Government of India or the provisions of any special or local law.”

21. Therefore, the definition given in Section 21 of the I.P.C. will give way to the definition given in any special law.

22. Section 27 of the N.H.A.I. Act, 1988 provides that the employees of the Authority shall be deemed to be ‘public servants’. It reads as follows: -

27. Employees of the Authority to be public servants.—All members, officers and employees of the Authority shall, when acting or purporting to act in pursuance of the provisions of this Act or of any rule or regulation made thereunder, be deemed to be public servants within the meaning of Section 21 of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860).

23. The word ‘employee’ is defined in Section 2 of the N.H.A.I. Act as follows: -

“2.—In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—“employee” means a person in the full-time service of the Authority;

24. Section 35 of the N.H.A.I. Act empowers the Authority to make regulations to carry out the provisions of the Act. In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such regulations may provide for the terms and conditions of service, method of recruitment and the remuneration of officers and other employees appointed by the Authority. Section 37 of N.H.A.I. Act provides that, every rule and every regulation made under the Act shall be laid before each House of Parliament.

25. In exercise of the aforesaid power conferred under Section 35 of the N.H.A.I. Act, the N.H.A.I. has framed the National Highway Authority of India (Recruitment, Seniority and Promotion) Regulations, 1996. Chapter II of the aforesaid regulation deals with ‘Terms and Conditions of Employment of Officers and Employees’ and Chapter III thereof deals with ‘Terms and Conditions of Employment of Advisers/Consultants’. Regulations 20 and 21 falling under Chapter III provide as follows:-

“20. Advisers/consultants not to be public servants Provision of section 27 of the Act, relating to public servants shall not apply in case of an adviser or a consultant appointed by the Authority.

21. Provisions of Chapter-II not to apply—No provision of Chapter-II of these regulations shall apply to an adviser or a consultant appointed by the Authority under this Chapter.”

26. On the basis of the aforesaid provisions, Sri. Raju Ramchandran has submitted that the N.H.A.I has entered into an agreement with M/s Voyants Solutions Pvt. Ltd in joint venture with Yongma Engineering Company Ltd. and associate member Cho & Kim Engineering Pvt. Ltd. for supervision and consultancy services for the construction of a highway. The consultancy agreement stipulates that N.H.A.I. would pay Rs. 3,47,31,000/- towards remuneration for local professional staffs and it specifically mentions payment of Rs.1,60,000/- to Resident-cum-Highway engineer of M/s Vyoants Solutions Pvt. Ltd in joint venture with Yongma Engineering Company Ltd. M/s Yongma Engineering Company Ltd. has retained Anil Kumar Singh as the Resident-cum-Highway Engineer for the project on a monthly fixed retainer-ship fee of Rs. 1,31,000/-. His submission is that Anil Kumar Singh is not an employee of the N.H.A.I. as per Section 2 (c) of the N.H.A.I. Act and, therefore, Anil Kumar Singh is not a public servant under Section 27 of the N.H.A.I. Act. He submits that this situation is further fortified by Regulation 20 aforesaid which provides that the provision of Section 27 of the Act, relating to public servants shall not apply in case of an adviser or a consultant appointed by the Authority.

27. The submission appears to be prima facie impressive and on the basis of the aforesaid submission, interim orders were passed in favour of the applicants in both the applications on 04.07.2023 staying proceedings of the trial. However, a closer scrutiny reflected by the following discussion would reveal that the submission is misconceived.

28. N.H.A.I. Act, 1988 is an Act “to provide for the constitution of an Authority for the development, maintenance and management of national highways and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto.” The Statement of Objects and Reasons of the Act states that the development and maintenance of national highways is fully financed by the Central Government as this function comes within Entry 23 of the Union List of the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution. Section 5 of the National Highways Act, 1956 provides that the Central Government may direct that any function in relation to the development or maintenance of national highways shall also be exercisable, among others, by any officer or authority subordinate to the Central Government. Under this provision, the function of execution of the activities had been delegated to the State Governments. Since the Central Government had no direct administrative control over the executing agencies, several problems were being faced. For this reason, National Highways Authority was created to take over development and maintenance of the national highway system. The main function of the Authority is to develop and maintain national highways whose management and operation is vested in the Central Government.

29. On the other hand, the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 is “An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to the prevention of corruption and for matters connected therewith”. The statement of objects and reasons of the Statute states that: -

“Statement of Objects and Reasons—1. The Bill is intended to make the existing anti-corruption laws more effective by widening their coverage and by strengthening the provisions.

*2. The Prevention of Corruption Act, 1947, was amended in 1964 based on the recommendations of the Santhanam Committee. There are provisions in Chapter IX of the Indian Penal Code to deal with public servants and those who abet them by way of criminal misconduct. There are also provisions in the Criminal Law Amendment Ordinance, 1944, to enable attachment of ill-gotten wealth obtained through corrupt means, including from transferees of such wealth. The Bill seeks to incorporate all these provisions with modifications so as to make the provisions more effective in combating corruption among public servants.

3. The Bill, inter alia, envisages widening the scope of the definition of the expression “public servant”, incorporation of offences under Sections 161 to 165-A of the Indian Penal Code, enhancement of penalties provided for these offences and incorporation of a provision that the order of the trial court upholding the grant of sanction for prosecution would be final if it has not already been challenged and the trial has commenced. In order to expedite the proceedings, provisions for day-to-day trial of cases and prohibitory provisions with regard to grant of stay and exercise of powers of revision on interlocutory orders have also been included.

4. Since the provisions of Sections 161 to 165-A are incorporated in the proposed legislation with an enhanced punishment, it is not necessary to retain those sections in the Indian Penal Code. Consequently, it is proposed to delete those sections with the necessary saving provision.

5. The notes on clauses explain in detail the provisions of the Bill.”

(Emphasis Supplied)

30. Thus it is clear that the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 is a Special Statute which has been enacted with the specific object of consolidating and amending the law relating to the prevention of corruption, to make the existing anti-corruption laws more effective by widening their coverage and by strengthening the provisions so as to make the provisions more effective in combating corruption among public servants and to widen the scope of the definition of the expression “public servant”. N.H.A.I. Act is also a Special Statute enacted with the object of regulating construction and management of National Highways only. It does not contain any provision for imposing any punishment for commission of any offence, particularly the offence of corruption.

31. In Ashoka Marketing Ltd. v. Punjab National Bank, (1990) 4 SCC 406, the Hon’ble Supreme Court enunciated the principle of interpretation that in the case of inconsistency between the provisions of two enactments, both of which can be regarded as special in nature, the conflict has to be resolved by reference to the purpose and policy underlying the two enactments and the clear intendment conveyed by the language of the relevant provisions therein.

32. In Essa @ Anjum Abdul Razak Memon versus The State of Maharashtra, through STF, CBI Mumbai, 2013 SCC OnLine SC 255, the question was as to whether the provisions of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000 as well as of Terrorist And Disruptive Activities (Prevention) Act, 1987 provide for over-riding effect on any other law for the time being in force; and as to whether the provisions of JJ Act would be applicable in case of TADA. Admittedly, the TADA Act 1985/1987 and JJ Act, 1986/2000, both contained provisions providing over-riding effect on any other law for the time being in force. The Hon'ble Supreme Court held that "where there is inconsistency between the provisions of two statutes and both can be regarded as special in nature, the conflict has to be resolved by reference to the purpose and policy underlying the two enactments and the clear intendment of the legislature conveyed by the language of the relevant provisions therein".

33. In State of M.P. v. Ram Singh, (2000) 5 SCC 88, the Hon'ble Supreme Court explained the object of the Prevention of Corruption Act 1988 thus: -

"10. The Act was intended to make effective provisions for the prevention of bribery and corruption rampant amongst the public servants. It is a social legislation intended to curb illegal activities of the public servants and is designed to be liberally construed so as to advance its object. Dealing with the object underlying the Act this Court in R.S. Nayak v. A.R. Antulay [(1984) 2 SCC 183] held:

"18. The 1947 Act was enacted, as its long title shows, to make more effective provision for the prevention of bribery and corruption. Indisputably, therefore, the provisions of the Act must receive such construction at the hands of the court as would advance the object and purpose underlying the Act and at any rate not defeat it. If the words of the statute are clear and unambiguous, it is the plainest duty of the court to give effect to the natural meaning of the words used in the provision. The question of construction arises only in the event of an ambiguity or the plain meaning of the words used in the statute would be self-defeating. The court is entitled to ascertain the intention of the legislature to remove the ambiguity by construing the provision of the statute as a whole keeping in view what was the mischief when the statute was enacted and to remove which the legislature enacted the statute. This rule of construction is so universally accepted that it need not be supported by precedents. Adopting this rule of construction, whenever a question of construction arises upon ambiguity or where two views are possible of a provision, it would be the duty of the court to adopt that construction which would advance the object underlying the Act, namely, to make effective provision for the prevention of bribery and corruption and at any rate not defeat it."

11. Procedural delays and technicalities of law should not be permitted to defeat the object sought to be achieved by the Act. The overall public interest and the social object is required to be kept in mind while interpreting various provisions of the Act and deciding cases under it."

34. In Subramanian Swamy v. Manmohan Singh, (2012) 3 SCC 64, the Hon'ble Supreme Court observed: -

"68. Today, corruption in our country not only poses a grave danger to the concept of constitutional governance, it also threatens the very foundation of Indian democracy and the rule of law. The magnitude of corruption in our public life is incompatible with the concept of a socialist secular democratic republic. It cannot be disputed that where corruption begins all rights end. Corruption devalues human rights, chokes development and undermines justice, liberty, equality, fraternity which are the core values in our Preambular vision. Therefore, the duty of the Court is that any anti-corruption law has to be interpreted and worked out in such a fashion as to strengthen the fight against corruption. That is to say in a situation where two constructions are eminently reasonable, the Court has to accept the one that seeks to eradicate corruption to the one which seeks to perpetuate it."

35. N.H.A.I. Act, 1988 is an Act to provide for the constitution of an Authority for the development, maintenance and management of national highways and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto, and it does at all deal with corruption and punishment therefor. Section 2 of the N.H.A.I. Act specifically states that the definitions given in that section are for the purposes of the N.H.A.I. only and, therefore, those definitions are not to be read in other enactments and the definitions under the N.H.A.I. Act would certainly not be relevant for the purpose of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988.

36. On the other hand, the relevant part of Definitions contained in Section 2 of the Prevention Act, 1988 provides that: -

2. Definitions.—In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

(b) "public duty" means a duty in the discharge of which the State, the public or the community at large has an interest;

Explanation.—In this clause "State" includes a corporation established by or under a Central, Provincial or State Act, or an authority or a body owned or controlled or aided by the Government or a Government company as defined in S. 617 of the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956);

(c) "public servant" means—

(i) any person in the service or pay of the Government or remunerated by the Government by fees or commission for the performance of any public duty;

*** * ***

(viii) any person who holds an office by virtue of which he is authorised or required to perform any public duty;

*** * ***

Explanation 1.—Persons falling under any of the above sub-clauses are public servants, whether appointed by the Government or not.

Explanation 2.—Wherever the words "public servant" occur, they shall be understood of every person who is in actual possession of the situation of a public servant, whatever legal defect there may be in his right to hold that situation.

37. Section 2 (b) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 provides that "public duty" means a duty in the discharge of which the State, the public or the community at large has an interest;

38. Development and maintenance of national highways is fully financed by the Central Government and this function comes within the purview of Entry 23 of the Union List of the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution. Section 5 of the National Highways Act, 1956 provides that the Central Government may direct that any function in relation to the development or maintenance of national highways shall also be exercisable by any authority. The N.H.A.I. has been created under the N.H.A.I. Act, 1988 for discharge of the Central Government's duty of construction and maintenance of National Highways, which is a public duty. The N.H.A.I. has engaged Yongma Engineering Company Ltd. for performing supervision and providing consultancy services regarding construction of a Highway and Anil Kumar Singh is discharging the duty of the Resident Engineer in the Project as an employee of the Company. Therefore, Anil Kumar Singh is performing a public duty, as defined under Section 2 (b) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988.

39. Any person remunerated by the Government by fees or commission for the performance of any public duty or who holds an office by virtue of which he is authorised or required to perform any public duty, is a 'public servant' within the meaning of the term given in Section 2 (c) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988. Anil Kumar Singh is a person remunerated for the performance of the public duty by the fees paid by the Government to Yongma Engineering Company Ltd. - the company, which has engaged him and he is authorised and required to perform a public duty and, therefore, he is a public servant within the meaning of the term given in Section 2 (c) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988.

40. This position is further clarified by the Explanations appended to Section 2 (c) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, which provide that for deciding whether the person is a 'public servant' or not, it is not relevant whether he has been appointed by the Government or not and only this much is relevant whether he is in actual possession of the situation of a public servant. Thus for the purpose of applicability of Section 2 (c) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, it is wholly irrelevant that Anil Kumar Singh has been appointed by Yongma Engineering Company Ltd. and not by the Government and what is relevant is that Anil Kumar Singh is in actual possession of the situation of a public servant, as he has the authority to approve bills for payments regarding construction of National Highways.

41. After hearing the submissions of the learned counsel for the parties, the judgment was reserved on 17.08.2023. The case was listed on 22.08.2023 for delivery of judgment, but on the said date, before pronouncement of the judgment, the learned counsel for the applicants supplied his written submissions along with a compilation of photocopies of case-laws and, therefore, pronouncement of judgment was deferred and the case laws submitted by the learned counsel for the applicants subsequently were also taken into consideration.

42. The learned Counsel for the applicants has relied upon the judgment in the cases of State of Gujarat v. Mansukhbhai Kanjibhai Shah, (2020) 20 SCC 360. Brief facts of that case were that an FIR was filed against four accused persons, including the respondent Mansukhbhai Kanjibhai Shah, alleging he had demanded bribe for allowing the complainant's daughter to take the M.B.B.S. examination. A charge-sheet was filed against several persons, including the respondent, for offences under Sections 7, 8, 10 and 13(1)(b) and 13(2) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988. The respondent filed a discharge application under Section 227 of Code of Criminal Procedure, which was rejected by the Session Court, but the High Court of Gujarat allowed the revision filed against that order and discharged the Respondent on the ground that Section 2(c) (xi) was inapplicable as the said Institution was a "deemed to be university". The Hon'ble Supreme Court allowed the appeal and set aside the order passed by the High Court and restored the order rejecting the discharge application of the accused. The Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

“44. As discussed earlier, the object of the PC Act was not only to prevent the social evil of bribery and corruption, but also to make the same applicable to individuals who might conventionally not be considered public servants. The purpose under the PC Act was to shift focus from those who are traditionally called public officials, to those individuals who perform public duties. Keeping the same in mind, as rightly submitted by the learned senior Counsel for the Appellant-State, it cannot be stated that a “Deemed University” and the officials therein, perform any less or any different a public duty, than those performed by a University simpliciter, and the officials therein.

45. Therefore, for all the above reasons, we are of the opinion that the High Court was incorrect in holding that a “Deemed University” is excluded from the ambit of the term “University” Under Section 2(c)(xi) of the PC Act.”

43. The judgment in Mansukhbhai Kanjibhai Shah (Supra) does not render any support to the applicants' case, rather it supports the respondent.

44. The learned Counsel for the applicants next relied upon the judgment in the case of Gopinath versus The Superintendent of Police and Others, 2014 (2) Kar.L.J. 216 = 2014 (4) KCCR 3668.

46.1 The question in that case was “with respect to the petitioner who is a Project Manager of Nirmithi Kendra which is neither enunciated by the State Government or Central Government, except a Society registered under the Societies Registration Act and the case of the petitioner does not fall within the definition of Section 2(12) of Lokayukta Act, so as to initiate action under Section 13(1)(e) of the Prevention of Corruption Act.

46.2 The Court found that “except a provision that has been made in the bye-laws of Nirmithi Kendra to receive the funds etc., by the State Government or Central Government, in the absence of any such fund being received from the State Government or Central Government and without there being any misuse of power or misuse of the amount so available with the society, there was no scope for the investigation officer to file a complaint to the Lokayukta and the said complaint even if it filed, is non-est.”

46.3 S.L.P. (Crl.) No. 20494 of 2014 filed against the aforesaid order was dismissed by the following order: -

“Special Leave Petition is dismissed.”

45. The aforesaid decision of an Hon'ble Single Judge of the Karnataka High Court is based on the peculiar facts of the case noted above, where the petitioner was employed in a co-operative society which did not receive any funds from the Government and where the Government did not exercise any control over the society. The present case arises out of allegation of demand and acceptance of bribe for approval of bills for certain works regarding construction of a National Highway on behalf of the N.H.A.I., which is State within the meaning of the term used in Article 12 of the Constitution of India and, therefore, Gopinath versus The Superintendent of Police and Others (Supra) has no application to the facts of the present case.

46. The next judgment placed by the learned Counsel for the applicants is UPSC v. Girish Jayanti Lal Vaghela, (2006) 2 SCC 482. Facts of that case were that the respondent 1 Girish Jayanti Lal Vaghela was appointed as Drugs Inspector on 11.03.1996 on short-term contract basis on a fixed salary for a period of six months from the date of joining or till the date the candidate selected by the Union Public Service Commission (UPSC) joined duty on regular basis, whichever was earlier. The appointment of respondent 1 was renewed after every six months with short breaks and it continued for over five years. An advertisement was issued by UPSC on 24-3-2001 for making regular selection on the post of Drugs Inspector. Under the relevant recruitment rules made in exercise of powers conferred by the proviso to Article 309 of the Constitution, the upper age-limit for making direct recruitment is 30 years, which is relaxable for government servants up to five years in accordance with the instructions or orders issued by the Central Government. Respondent 1 had become overage by two years at the time when the advertisement was issued and he submitted an application seeking age relaxation and thereafter he filed an original application before the Central Administrative Tribunal. The Tribunal directed the Administrator to decide the representation made by the respondent 1. Meanwhile, the respondent 1 was provisionally allowed to appear in the interview. Nearly 5 months after the interview, UPSC cancelled the candidature of respondent 1 and his contract appointment came to an end on 30-9-2002. The Bombay High Court allowed his Writ Petition and directed to issue an age relaxation certificate to the respondent 1 and UPSC was directed to consider the claim of the respondent 1 and to make a recommendation for his appointment as Drugs Inspector. Allowing the appeal filed against the order passed by the High Court, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"19. It, therefore, follows that employment under the Government is a matter of status and not a contract even though the acquisition of such a status may be preceded by a contract, namely, an offer of appointment is accepted by the employee. The rights and obligations are not determined by the contract of the two parties but by statutory rules which are framed by the Government in exercise of power conferred by Article 309 of the Constitution and the service rules can be unilaterally altered by the rule-making authority, namely, the Government.

20. There is no dispute that Respondent 1 was engaged or hired on contract to work as Drugs Inspector for a period of six months from the date of joining or till a candidate selected by UPSC joined on regular basis, whichever was earlier. The contract further stipulated that even if a regularly selected candidate did not join, Respondent 1 shall stand relieved on the expiry of six months. In Director, Institute of Management Development v. Pushpa Srivastava (1992) 4 SCC 33, it was held that where the appointment is purely on ad hoc basis and is contractual and by efflux of time the appointment comes to an end, the person holding such post can have no right to continue in the post. It was further held that this is so even if the person is continued from time to time on ad hoc basis for more than a year... .. It is, therefore, clear that Respondent 1 did not have any right to continue as Drugs Inspector after expiry of the six months' period for which he had been appointed."

47. Lastly, the learned Counsel for the applicants relied upon the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Roshan Lal

Tandon v. Union of India, (1968) 1 SCR 185, wherein also it was held that: -

“It is true that the origin of Government service is contractual. There is an offer and acceptance in every case. But once appointed to his post or office the Government servant acquires a status and his rights and obligations are no longer determined by consent of both parties, but by statute or statutory rules which may be framed and altered unilaterally by the Government. In other words, the legal position of a Government servant is more one of status than of contract. The hallmark of status is the attachment to a legal relationship of rights and duties imposed by the public law and not by mere agreement of the parties. The emolument of the Government servant and his terms of service are governed by statute or statutory rules which may be unilaterally altered by the Government without the consent of the employee. It is true that Article 311 imposes constitutional restrictions upon the power of removal granted to the President and the Governor under Article 310. But it is obvious that the relationship between the Government and its servant is not like an ordinary contract of service between a master and servant. The legal relationship is something entirely different, something in the nature of status. It is much more than a purely contractual relationship voluntarily entered into between the parties. The duties of status are fixed by the law and in the enforcement of these duties society has an interest. In the language of jurisprudence status is a condition of membership of a group of which powers and duties are exclusively determined by law and not by agreement between the parties concerned. The matter is clearly stated by Salmond and Williams on Contracts as follows:

“So we may find both contractual and status-obligations produced by the same transaction. The one transaction may result in the creation not only of obligations defined by the parties and so pertaining to the sphere of contract but also and concurrently of obligations defined by the law itself, and so pertaining to the sphere of status. A contract of service between employer and employee, while for the most part pertaining exclusively to the sphere of contract, pertains also to that of status so far as the law itself has seen fit to attach to this relation compulsory incidents, such as liability to pay compensation for accidents. The extent to which the law is content to leave matters within the domain of contract to be determined by the exercise of the autonomous authority of the parties themselves, or thinks fit to bring the matter within the sphere of status by authoritatively determining for itself the contents of the relationship, is a matter depending on considerations of public policy. In such contracts as those of service the tendency in modern times is to withdraw the matter more and more from the domain of contract into that of status.”

48. Both the aforesaid cases related to service law claims of employees and in none of the aforesaid cases cited by the learned Counsel for the applicants, the question as to whether the employee was a “public servant within the meaning of the term given in Section 2 (c) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, was involved and the aforesaid cases are not at all relevant for the point involved in the present case.

49. It is the rule deducible from the application of law to the facts and circumstances of a case which constitutes its ratio decidendi and not some conclusion based upon facts, more particularly when the facts are not even remotely similar. In the present case, there is a world of difference between the facts of the present case and the facts of the cases relied upon by the learned Counsel for the applicants, which related to service disputes and where the question of interpretation of Section 2 (c) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 was not even remotely involved. By citing absolutely irrelevant cases, the learned Counsel for the applicants has wasted the precious time of the Court.

50. In view of the aforesaid discussion, I am of the considered view that Anil Kumar Singh is a public servant for the purpose of the Prevention Act, 1988 and he is being rightly prosecuted for commission of offences under the Act.

51. As the plea of the applicants in Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. No. 5391 of 2023 (1) Bedram Sharma, (2) Parsuram Sharma and (3) Anand Mohan Sharma, who have been charged with the offences under Section 120-B I.P.C. and Sections 7, 8, 9, 10 and 12 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, for entering into a criminal conspiracy with Anil Kumar Singh is based on the plea that Anil Kumar Singh is not a public servant, which plea has already been turned down, consequently the Application No. 5389 of 2023 also has no merit.

52. There is no illegality in the charge-sheet no. 6 arising out of Crime No. R.C. 2162022A0012 dated 10.09.2022 under Section 120-B I.P.C. and Section 7, 8, 9, 10 and 12 of the Prevention of Act, 1988, Police Station C.B.I. AC-1, District New Delhi, or the prosecution sanction order or the cognizance order dated 06.04.2023 passed by the learned Special Judge, Anti Corruption, C.B.I., West, Lucknow in Session Case No. 709 of 2023 summoning the applicants to face trial for offences under Section 120-B I.P.C. and Section 7, 8, 9, 10 and 12 of the Prevention of Act, 1988. There is no ground for quashing the proceedings of Session Case No. 709 of 2023 pending in the court of Special Judge, C.B.I., West, Lucknow.

53. Both the applications under Section 482 Cr.P.C. – 5389 of 2023 and 5391 of 2023, are misconceived and the same are dismissed and the interim order dated 04.07.2023 is vacated.

54. Keeping in view the fact that the proceedings of the trial remained stayed because of the interim orders dated 04.07.2023 passed in these applications and also that precious time of the Court has been wasted in deciding the misconceived applications and going through voluminous irrelevant judgments cited on behalf of the applicants, the applicant Anil Kumar Singh in Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. No. 5389 of 2023 and the applicants - (1) Bedram Sharma, (2) Parsuram Sharma and (3) Anand Mohan Sharma in Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. No. 5391 of 2023, are ordered to pay Rs.25,000/- each as the cost of the litigation, which shall be deposited with the registry of this Court within a period of 30 days, failing which the Senior Registrar shall initiate proceedings for recovery of the amount by sending a Recovery Certificate to the Collector concerned, who shall recover the amounts as arrears of land revenue and shall remit the same to this Court within a period of three months from the date of issuance of the Recovery Certificate.

(A) Criminal Law - The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Section 482 - Inherent power - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 419, 420, 467, 468 & 471 - The Code of criminal procedure, 1973 - Section 195 - Prosecution for contempt of lawful authority of public servants, for offences against public justice and for offences relating to documents given in evidence - power of quashing a criminal proceeding should be exercised very sparingly and with circumspection and that too in the rarest of rare cases - court will not be justified in embarking upon an enquiry as to the reliability or genuineness or otherwise of the allegations made in the FIR or the complaint - extraordinary or inherent powers do not confer an arbitrary jurisdiction on the court to act according to its whim or caprice. (Para -40)

F.I.R. lodged by Sub-Divisional Magistrate - against two officials of the revenue department

- and unnamed beneficiaries of the offence - in compliance of an order passed by this Court – allegation - without any proceedings having been initiated and conducted in the Court - applicants fabricated a fake order purportedly passed by the Court - Final report submitted after investigation - victim filed a protest petition - trial court rejected Final report. (Para - 3,21,32)

HELD: Victim had the right to file a protest petition against the Final Report, and the trial court did not make any errors in entertaining the petition and rejecting the Final Report. F.I.R. was filed after S.D.M. discovered that the paper book of Case No. 301 was prepared through forgery and fabrication. Applicants are the beneficiaries of the commission of forgery and fabrication of the Court's records, which constitutes an offense and is not a civil dispute, thus the proceedings cannot be quashed on this ground. No merit in the application. (Para - 30,38,41)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Sri H.G.S. Parihar, learned Senior Counsel, assisted by Ms. Meenakshi Singh Parihar, for the applicant, Sri Manish Kumar Pandey, learned A.G.A.-1 and Sri Rajendra Pratap Singh, learned counsel for the opposite party no. 3.

2. By means of the instant application filed under Section 482 Cr.P.C., the applicant have challenged validity of the order dated 12.05.2023 passed by the learned Special Judge (M.P., M.L.A.) / Additional Session Judge, Court No. 5, Pratapgarh in Criminal Revision No. 129 of 2022 and the cognizance and summoning order dated 18.08.2022 and the entire proceedings of Case No. 129 of 2015 in the Court of Special Judge M.P. M.L.A. / Civil Judge (S.D.) / F.T.C. II, Pratapgarh, which arose out of F.I.R. No. 61 of 2015 lodged by the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Kunda, Pratapgarh on 21.03.2015 in Police Station Kunda, District Pratapgarh, against two officials of the revenue department – an Ahalmad and a Registrar Kanoongo, and unnamed beneficiaries of the offence, in compliance of an order dated 15.09.2014 passed by this Court in Writ Petition No. 7611 of 2014 – Kamlesh Singh versus State of U. P. and others.

3. F.I.R. No. 61 of 2015 was lodged by the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Kunda, Pratapgarh on 21.03.2015 under Sections 419, 420, 467, 468, 471 I.P.C. against two officials of the revenue department – an Ahalmad and a Registrar Kanoongo, and unnamed beneficiaries of the offence, in compliance of an order dated 15.09.2014 passed by this Court in Writ Petition No. 7611 of 2014 – Kamesh Singh versus State of U. P. and others. The F.I.R. states that a forged paper-book of Case no. 301 of 2000 in the Court of the S.D.M. Kunda and an order dated 15.05.2001 were prepared and mutation was carried out in furtherance of the aforesaid order in the Khatauni on 08.05.2012. When irregularities committed in the aforesaid proceedings came to light, the District Magistrate got an enquiry conducted by the S.D.M., who submitted an enquiry report dated 06.02.2015 against the two named accused officials and the beneficiaries of the offence.

4. The enquiry report dated 06.02.2015 submitted by the S.D.M. Sadar, Pratapgarh stated that paper book of Case No. 301 under Section 229 B of the Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, titled “Arun Kumar Singh alias Munna and others versus Kamlesh Kumar Singh”, decided on 15.05.2001, was prepared by committing forgery and fabrication, as in the case institution register, case title “Samai versus Gram Sabha, Gram Malava Chhajaipur” is recorded against Case No. 301 under Section 229 B of the Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act. The entire order-sheet of the paper-book is in one hand-writing and it mentions that the submissions of both the parties were heard, whereas the defendant Kamlesh Kumar Singh had not put in appearance in the case. Moreover, Arun Kumar Singh filed a caveat in the Court of the Divisional Commissioner 11 years after passing of the order, which also establishes that the paper-book has been fabricated.

5. Initially the Investigating Officer submitted a Final Report dated 27.03.2016 stating that previously the investigation was carried out by Sub-Inspectors Sir. Kedar Singh and Sri. Ghanshyam Nishad and after their transfer, the investigation was handed over to Senior Sub-Inspector Kripa Shankar Rai. The then S.D.M. had died and for this reason, no concrete evidence could be collected on the basis whereof any person can be charged of commission of any offence.

6. The opposite party no. 3 Kamlesh Kumar Singh filed objections against the Final Report stating that his valuable land had been grabbed by the accused persons under a criminal conspiracy. The previous Investigating Officer had recorded statements of several witnesses from which commission of the offences is clearly established but the subsequent Investigating Officer has submitted the Final Report without looking into the material available on the Case Diary, after taking undue advantage from the accused persons.

7. By means of an order dated 01.07.2017, the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Kunda, Pratapgarh rejected the Final Report and took cognizance of commission of offences under Sections 120-B, 419, 420, 467, 468, 471, 472 and 474 I.P.C. by the accused persons Arun Kumar Singh alias Munna, Kiran Kumar Singh, Satish Kumar Singh, Dinesh Kumar Singh, Satish Kumar Tripathi, Ramakant Dwivedi and Pratap Bahadur Singh.

8. The applicants challenged the aforesaid order dated 01.07.2017 by filing Criminal Revision No. 171/2017 which was allowed by means of an order dated 02.06.2018 passed by the Additional Session Judge, Pratapgarh on the ground that the trial Court had not discussed the prima facie evidence before summoning the accused persons. The order dated 01.07.2017 was set aside by the Revisional Court and the matter was remanded for being decided afresh.

9. After remand, the trial court passed an order dated 18.08.2022, again rejecting the objections filed by the applicants against the charge sheet. The trial Court took cognizance of the offences against the applicants and one Satish Kumar Tripathi and summoned them to face the trial.

10. The applicants challenged the order dated 18.08.2022 by filing Criminal Revision No. 129 of 2022, which has been rejected by the learned Special Judge M.P./M.L.A. / Additional Session, Judge Court No. 5, Pratapgarh.

11. The main ground of revision was that the F.I.R. was lodged by a Sub-Divisional Magistrate and he did not file any objection against the Final Report. The person who had filed the objections was not the informant and he had no locus standi to file objection against the Final Report.

12. The revisional was dismissed by means of a judgment dated 12.05.2023 holding that the F.I.R. was lodged in furtherance of the order dated 15.09.2014 passed by this Court in Writ Petition No. 7611 of 2014, which had been filed by Kamlesh Kumar Singh. The revisionists have themselves stated in paragraph 8 of the memo of Revision that a sale deed of the land in dispute had been executed in favour of Kamlesh Kumar Singh. In his enquiry report, the Sub-District Magistrate has recorded that paper book of Case No. 301 under Section 229 B of the Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, titled “Arun Kumar Singh alias Munna and others versus Kamlesh Kumar Singh”, decided on 15.05.2001, was prepared by forgery and fabrication, as in the case institution register, case title “Samai versus Gram Sabha, Gram Malava Chhajaipur” is registered against Case No. 301 under Section 229 B of the Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act. The order-sheet mentions that the submissions of both the parties were heard, whereas the defendant Kamlesh Kumar Singh had not put in appearance in the case. Therefore Kamlesh Kumar Singh is not a stranger to the dispute.

13. The learned revisional Court further held that the statement of the Enquiry Officer Sri. J. P. Mishra was recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. The Final Report was filed on the ground that the then S.D.M. had died. The revisional Court held that investigation could not be nullified on this ground as the informant was a Government Officer and his signatures can easily be proved even after his death.

14. Assailing the aforesaid cognizance and summoning order dated 18.05.2022 and the revisional order dated 12.05.2023, Sri. H. G. S. Parihar Senior Advocate, the learned Counsel for the applicants has submitted that Section 195 Cr.P.C. provides that no Court shall take cognizance of any offence described in Section 463 or punishable under Section 471, Section 475 or Section 476 of the said Code, when such offence is alleged to have been committed in respect of a document produced or given in evidence in a proceeding in any Court, except on the complaint in writing of that Court or by such officer of the Court as that Court may authorise in writing in this behalf, or of some other Court to which that Court is subordinate. He has submitted that although the F.I.R. giving rise to the present case was lodged by the S.D.M., the informant S.D.M. did not challenge the final report. The objections filed by the opposite party no. 3 Kamlesh Kumar Singh are in the nature of a complaint and the same are barred by Section 195 Cr.P.C. In support of this submission, Sri. Parihar has relied upon the decisions of State of Karnataka v. Hemareddy, (1981) 2 SCC 185 and State of Haryana v. Bhajan Lal, 1992 Supp (1) SCC 335.

15. The second submission of the learned Counsel for the applicants is that there is no allegation that any of the applicants had committed forgery and, therefore, the offences under Sections 415, 420, 463, 464, 468 and 471 I.P.C. are not made out against the applicants. He has relied upon the judgments in the cases of Sheila Sebastian v. R. Jawaharaj, (2018) 7 SCC 581, Mir Naqvi Askari v. CBI, (2009) 15 SCC 643 and Mohd. Ibrahim v. State of Bihar, (2009) 8 SCC 751.

16. The third submission advanced by the learned Counsel for the applicants is that the dispute is purely of civil nature and the Magistrate has taken cognizance of the offence in a mechanical manner without there being sufficient material, only on the protest application filed by a private person. He has submitted that the cognizance and summoning of the applicants amounts to an abuse of the process of law.

17. While replying to the aforesaid submissions, Sri. Rajendra Pratap Singh, the learned Counsel for the opposite party no. 3 - Kamlesh Kumar Singh, has submitted that the opposite party no. 3 is the victim of the offence committed and the F.I.R. was lodged in furtherance of a Writ Petition filed by the opposite party no. 3 and, therefore, the opposite party no. 3 is not a stranger to the proceedings and he has the right to challenge the Final Report. He has placed judgments of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the cases of Iqbal Singh Marwah v. Meenakshi Marwah, (2005) 4 SCC 370 and Bhagwant Singh v. Commissioner of Police, (1985) 2 SCC 537.

18. Having recorded the submissions made by the learned Counsel for the parties, I proceed to discuss the points involved in the matter.

19. The relevant part of Section 195 Cr.P.C., which puts a bar against the Courts taking cognizance of certain offences in certain conditions, is being reproduced below: -

“195. Prosecution for contempt of lawful authority of public servants, for offences against public justice and for offences relating to documents given in evidence.—(1) No Court shall take cognizance—

(a) ...;

(b) (i) ...,

(ii) of any offence described in Section 463, or punishable under Section 471, Section 475 or Section 476, of the said Code, when such offence is alleged to have been committed in respect of a document produced or given in evidence in a proceeding in any Court, or

(iii) of any criminal conspiracy to commit, or attempt to commit, or the abetment of, any offence specified in sub-clause (i) or sub-clause (ii), except on the complaint in writing of that Court or by such officer of the Court as that Court may authorise in writing in this behalf, or of some other Court to which that Court is subordinate.

(3) In clause (b) of sub-section (1), the term “Court” means a Civil, Revenue or Criminal Court, and includes a tribunal constituted by or under a Central, Provincial or State Act, if declared by that Act to be a Court for the purposes of this section.”

20. In Iqbal Singh Marwah v. Meenakshi Marwah, (2005) 4 SCC 370, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

10. ... The offences mentioned in this clause clearly relate to giving or fabricating false evidence or making a false declaration in any judicial proceeding or before a court of justice or before a public servant who is bound or authorised by law to receive such declaration, and also to some other offences which have a direct correlation with the proceedings in a court of justice (Sections 205 and 211 IPC). This being the scheme of two provisions or clauses of Section 195 viz. that the offence should be such which has direct bearing or affects the functioning or discharge of lawful duties of a public servant or has a direct correlation with the proceedings in a court of justice, the expression “when such offence is alleged to have been committed in respect of a document produced or given in evidence in a proceeding in any court” occurring in clause (b)(ii) should normally mean commission of such an offence after the document has actually been produced or given in evidence in the court. The situation or contingency where an offence as enumerated in this clause has already been committed earlier and later on the document is produced or is given in evidence in court, does not appear to be in tune with clauses (a)(i) and (b)(i) and consequently with the scheme of Section 195 Cr.P.C.. This indicates that clause (b)(ii) contemplates a situation where the offences enumerated therein are committed with respect to a document subsequent to its production or giving in evidence in a proceeding in any court.

11. Section 195(1) mandates a complaint in writing to the court for taking cognizance of the offences enumerated in clauses (b)(i) and (b)(ii) thereof. Sections 340 and 341 Cr.P.C. which occur in Chapter XXVI give the procedure for filing of the complaint and other matters connected therewith. The heading of this Chapter is — “Provisions as to Offences Affecting the Administration of Justice”. Though, as a general rule, the language employed in a heading cannot be used to give a different effect to clear words of the section where there cannot be any doubt as to their ordinary meaning, but they are not to be treated as if they were marginal notes or were introduced into the Act merely for the purpose of classifying the enactments. They constitute an important part of the Act itself, and may be read not only as explaining the sections which immediately follow them, as a preamble to a statute may be looked to explain its enactments, but as affording a better key to the constructions of the sections which follow them than might be afforded by a mere preamble. (See Craies on Statute Law, 7th Edn., pp. 207, 209.) The fact that the procedure for filing a complaint by court has been provided in Chapter XXVI dealing with offences affecting administration of justice, is a clear pointer to the legislative intent that the offence committed should be of such type which directly affects the administration of justice viz. which is committed after the document is produced or given in evidence in court. Any offence committed with respect to a document at a time prior to its production or giving in evidence in court cannot, strictly speaking, be said to be an offence affecting the administration of justice.

25. An enlarged interpretation to Section 195(1)(b)(ii), whereby the bar created by the said provision would also operate where after commission of an act of forgery the document is subsequently produced in court, is capable of great misuse”...

21. The allegation in the present case is not that the applicants fabricated any document in proceedings pending in the Court. The allegation is that without any proceedings having been initiated and conducted in the Court, the applicants fabricated a fake order purportedly passed by the Court. In these circumstances, in view of the law laid explained by the Hon’ble Supreme Court in Iqbal Singh Marwah (Supra), the bar contained in Section 195 Cr.P.C. would not apply in the facts of the present case.

22. The submission of the learned Counsel for the applicant is that after a Final Report was submitted after investigation conducted in furtherance of the F.I.R., the same provision will apply to filing of the objections against the Final Report and the objections could only be filed by the Court, and not by the opposite party no. 2.

23. The words used in Section 195 Cr.P.C. are that no Court shall take cognizance of any offence described in Section 463, or punishable under Section 471, Section 475 or Section 476, of the said Code, when such offence is alleged to have been committed in respect of a document produced or given in evidence in a proceeding in any Court, or of any criminal conspiracy to commit, or attempt to commit, or the abetment of, any offence specified in sub-clause (i) or sub-clause (ii), except on the complaint in writing of that Court or by such officer of the Court as that Court may authorise in writing in this behalf, or of some other Court to which that Court is subordinate. This provision imposes a restriction against taking cognizance of certain offences except upon a complaint made by the Court. The F.I.R. regarding commission of the offences in the present case was made by the Court. The F.I.R. in the present case was lodged by the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, in whose Court the alleged forged document was filed. Therefore, even if the bar of Section 195 Cr.P.C. would apply to the present case, the condition contained in Section 195 Cr.P.C., that the Court can take cognizance of certain offences only upon the complaint made by the Court, stands satisfied.

24. In Bhagwant Singh v. Commr. of Police, (1985) 2 SCC 537, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that "The injured person or any relative of the deceased, though not entitled to notice from the Magistrate, has locus to appear before the Magistrate at the time of consideration of the report, if he otherwise comes to know that the report is going to be considered by the Magistrate and if he wants to make his submissions in regard to the report, the Magistrate is bound to hear him".

25. The opposite party no. 3 being the victim of the offence and he having suffered a legal injury due to commission of the offence, had every right to file protest petition against the Final Report and the Court has rightly accepted his protest petition and rejected the Final Report.

26. The words used Section 195 Cr.P.C. are plain and unambiguous and are not open to be interpreted differently. It is one of the basic principles of interpretation of Statutes that while interpreting Statutes, neither any words should be added nor should the same be subtracted. The words used regarding lodging of a complaint, cannot be interpreted in a vast manner so as to include a restriction regarding filing of a protest petition against a Final report so as to defeat the rights of the victims of offences.

27. The recent trend in law indicates increasing recognition of the rights of the victims of the offences, and their right to participate in the proceeding is acknowledged, even if they themselves are not the informants.

28. In Sudha Singh v. State of U.P., (2021) 4 SCC 781, the Hon'ble Supreme Court entertained an Appeal filed by the wife of a deceased victim of a predicate offence under Section 302 I.P.C., against an order passed by the High Court granting bail to a person accused of committing an offence under Section 3 (1) of the U. P. Gangsters and Anti Social Activities Prevention Act, although neither she, nor her deceased husband was the informant in the case under the Gangsters Act.

29. In Jagjeet Singh v. Ashish Mishra, (2022) 9 SCC 321, while discussing the development of law regarding the rights of the victims of offences, the Hon'ble Supreme Court enunciated the following principles: -

“15. Until recently, criminal law had been viewed on a dimensional plane wherein the courts were required to adjudicate between the accused and the State. The “victim”—the de facto sufferer of a crime had no participation in the adjudicatory process and was made to sit outside the Court as a mute spectator. However, with the recognition that the ethos of criminal justice dispensation to prevent and punish “crime” had surreptitiously turned its back on the “victim”, the jurisprudence with respect to the rights of victims to be heard and to participate in criminal proceedings began to positively evolve.

20. It is pertinent to mention that the legislature has thoughtfully given a wide and expansive meaning to the expression “victim” which “means a person who has suffered any loss or injury caused by reason of the act or omission for which the accused person has been charged and the expression “victim” includes his or her guardian or legal heir”.

21. This Court in Mallikarjun Kodagali v. State of Karnataka (2019) 2 SCC 752, while dealing with questions regarding a victim's right to file an appeal under Section 372 CrPC, observed that there was need to give adequate representation to victims in criminal proceedings. The Court therein affirmed the victim's right to file an appeal against an order of acquittal. In Mallikarjun Kodagali [Mallikarjun Kodagali v. State of

Karnataka, though the Court was primarily concerned with a different legal issue, it will be fruitful in the present context to take note of some of the observations made therein :

“3. What follows in a trial is often secondary victimisation through repeated appearances in court in a hostile or a semi-hostile environment in the courtroom. Till sometime back, secondary victimisation was in the form of aggressive and intimidating cross-examination, but a more humane interpretation of the provisions of the Evidence Act, 1872 has made the trial a little less uncomfortable for the victim of an offence, particularly the victim of a sexual crime. In this regard, the judiciary has been proactive in ensuring that the rights of victims are addressed, but a lot more needs to be done. Today, the rights of an accused far outweigh the rights of the victim of an offence in many respects. There needs to be some balancing of the concerns and equalising their rights so that the criminal proceedings are fair to both.

8. The rights of victims, and indeed victimology, is an evolving jurisprudence and it is more than appropriate to move forward in a positive direction, rather than stand still or worse, take a step backward. A voice has been given to victims of crime by Parliament and the judiciary and that voice needs to be heard, and if not already heard, it needs to be raised to a higher decibel so that it is clearly heard.”

22. It cannot be gainsaid that the rights of a victim under the amended CrPC are substantive, enforceable, and are another facet of human rights. The victim's right, therefore, cannot be termed or construed restrictively like a brutum fulmen [Ed. : The literal translation from the Latin approximates to “meaningless thunderbolt or lightning”, and is used to convey the idea of an “empty threat” or something which is ineffective.] . We reiterate that these rights are totally independent, incomparable, and are not accessory or auxiliary to those of the State under the CrPC. The presence of “State” in the proceedings, therefore, does not tantamount to according a hearing to a “victim” of the crime.

23. A “victim” within the meaning of CrPC cannot be asked to await the commencement of trial for asserting his/her right to participate in the proceedings. He/She has a legally vested right to be heard at every step post the occurrence of an offence. Such a “victim” has unbridled participatory rights from the stage of investigation till the culmination of the proceedings in an appeal or revision. We may hasten to clarify that “victim” and “complainant/informant” are two distinct connotations in criminal jurisprudence. It is not always necessary that the complainant/informant is also a “victim”, for even a stranger to the act of crime can be an “informant”, and similarly, a “victim” need not be the complainant or informant of a felony.

24. The abovestated enunciations are not to be conflated with certain statutory provisions, such as those present in the Special Acts like the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989, where there is a legal obligation to hear the victim at the time of granting bail. Instead, what must be taken note of is that:

24.1. First, the Indian jurisprudence is constantly evolving, whereby, the right of victims to be heard, especially in cases involving heinous crimes, is increasingly being acknowledged.

24.2. Second, where the victims themselves have come forward to participate in a criminal proceeding, they must be accorded with an opportunity of a fair and effective hearing. If the right to file an appeal against acquittal, is not accompanied with the right to be heard at the time of deciding a bail application, the same may result in grave miscarriage of justice. Victims certainly cannot be expected to be sitting on the fence and watching the proceedings from afar, especially when they may have legitimate grievances. It is the solemn duty of a court to deliver justice before the memory of an injustice eclipses.

30. Therefore, I am of the considered view that the victim of the offence had the right to file a protest petition against the Final Report and the trial Court has not committed any error in entertaining the protest petition and rejecting the Final Report.

31. The learned Counsel for the applicant has relied upon the judgment in the case of State of Karnataka v. Hemareddy, (1981) 2 SCC 185, wherein the Hon’ble Supreme Court held that: -

“8. ...in cases where in the course of the same transaction an offence for which no complaint by a court is necessary under Section 195(1)(b) of the Code of Criminal Procedure and an offence for which a complaint of a court is necessary under that sub-section, are committed, it is not possible to split up and hold that the prosecution of the accused for the offences not mentioned in Section

195(1)(b) of the Code of Criminal Procedure should be upheld.”

32. Since I have already held that the F.I.R. for all the offences was lodged by the Court and not by the victim and the offences alleged were not committed regarding any documents that had been filed in the Court, but the offence was committed by forging the entire proceedings of the Court without any proceeding having actually been initiated in the Court, the bar of Section 195 is not attracted to the present case and the victim had rightly filed a protest petition against the Final report submitted after investigation, I am of the view that the aforesaid principle of law is not attracted to the facts of the present case.

33. The learned Counsel for the applicant next submitted that the offence of forgery is made out only against the maker of the false document and there is no allegation that the applicants had forged any document themselves. In support of this submission, he has relied upon the decision in the case of Sheila Sebastian v. R. Jawaharaj, (2018) 7 SCC 581, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that “a charge of forgery cannot be imposed on a person who is not the maker of the same”.

34. In the present case, the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Kunda, Pratapgarh had rejected the Final Report and took cognizance of commission of offences under Sections 120-B, 419, 420, 467, 468, 471, 472 and 474 I.P.C. by the accused persons Arun Kumar Singh alias Munna, Kiran Kumar Singh, Satish Kumar Singh, Dinesh Kumar Singh, Satish Kumar Tripathi, Ramakant Dwivedi and Pratap Bahadur Singh by means of an order dated 01.07.2017. The applicants had challenged the aforesaid order dated 01.07.2017 by filing Criminal Revision No. 171/2017 which was allowed by means of an order dated 02.06.2018 passed by the Additional Session Judge, Pratapgarh on the ground that the trial Court had not discussed the prima facie evidence before summoning the accused persons. The order dated 01.07.2017 was set aside by the Revisional Court and the matter was remanded for being decided afresh. After remand, the trial court passed an order dated 18.08.2022, again rejecting the objections filed by the applicants against the charge sheet. The trial Court took cognizance of the offences under Sections 120-B, 419, 420, 467, 468, 471, 472 and 474 I.P.C. against the applicants and one Satish Kumar Tripathi and summoned them to face the trial. The trial Court has noted in its order that the employee Satish Kumar Tripathi has been held guilty of committing forgery in the records and he has been punished in departmental proceedings by reverting him to the original post of Junior Assistant in the lowest of pay scale. The trial Court has further held that the employee had committed the offence under a criminal conspiracy with the applicants, who are the beneficiaries of the offence.

35. For being charged with commission of the offence of criminal conspiracy alongwith the commission of the substantive offences committed in furtherance of the conspiracy, it is not necessary that the accused person should himself have committed the substantive offences also. Therefore, I am unable to accept the second submission of the learned Counsel for the applicant.

36. The learned Counsel for the applicants has lastly submitted that the dispute between the parties is purely a civil dispute and the criminal proceedings initiated for the same is an abuse of process of Court. He has relied upon the judgment in the case of Mitesh Kumar J. Sha versus State of Karnataka, 2021 SCC OnLine SC 976, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court reiterated that "this Court has at innumerable instances expressed its disapproval for imparting criminal color to a civil dispute, made merely to take advantage of a relatively quick relief granted in a criminal case in contrast to a civil dispute. Such an exercise is nothing but an abuse of the process of law which must be discouraged in its entirety."

37. Similarly, in Randheer Singh v. State of U.P., (2021) 14 SCC 626 the Hon'ble Supreme Court again held that: -

33. ... *It is reiterated at the cost of repetition that the FIR does not disclose any offence so far as the appellant is concerned. There is no whisper of how and in what manner, this appellant is involved in any criminal offence and the charge-sheet, the relevant part whereof has been extracted above, is absolutely vague. There can be no doubt that jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. should be used sparingly for the purpose of preventing abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. Whether a complaint discloses criminal offence or not depends on the nature of the allegation and whether the essential ingredients of a criminal offence are present or not has to be judged by the High Court. There can be no doubt that a complaint disclosing civil transactions may also have a criminal texture. The High Court has, however, to see whether the dispute of a civil nature has been given colour of criminal offence. In such a situation, the High Court should not hesitate to quash the criminal proceedings as held by this Court in Paramjeet Batra [Paramjeet Batra v. State of Uttarakhand, (2013) 11 SCC 673 : (2012) 4 SCC (Cri) 76] extracted above."

38. However, in the present case the F.I.R. was lodged after the S.D.M. Sadar, Pratapgarh found in an enquiry that paper book of Case No. 301 had been prepared by committing forgery and fabrication. The applicants are the beneficiaries of the commission of forgery and fabrication of the Court's records. This allegation clearly makes out commission of an offence and it is not at all a dispute of a civil nature. Therefore, the proceedings cannot be quashed on this ground also.

39. In State of Haryana v. Bhajan Lal, 1992 Supp (1) SCC 335, the Hon'ble Supreme Court had given the following categories of cases by way of illustration, wherein the inherent power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. should be exercised either to prevent abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice: -

"(1) Where the allegations made in the first information report or the complaint, even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out a case against the accused.

(2) Where the allegations in the first information report and other materials, if any, accompanying the FIR do not disclose a cognizable offence, justifying an investigation by police officers under Section 156(1) of the Code except under an order of a Magistrate within the purview of Section 155(2) of the Code.

(3) Where the uncontroverted allegations made in the FIR or complaint and the evidence collected in support of the same do not disclose the commission of any offence and make out a case against the accused.

(4) Where, the allegations in the FIR do not constitute a cognizable offence but constitute only a non-cognizable offence, no investigation is permitted by a police officer without an order of a Magistrate as contemplated under Section 155(2) of the Code.

(5) Where the allegations made in the FIR or complaint are so absurd and inherently improbable on the basis of which no prudent person can ever reach a just conclusion that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused.

(6) Where there is an express legal bar engrafted in any of the provisions of the Code or the concerned Act (under which a criminal proceeding is instituted) to the institution and continuance of the proceedings and/or where there is a specific provision in the Code or the concerned Act, providing efficacious redress for the grievance of the aggrieved party.

(7) Where a criminal proceeding is manifestly attended with mala fide and/or where the proceeding is maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused and with a view to spite him due to private and personal grudge.”

40. I am of the considered view that the present case does not fall in any of the aforesaid categories. Moreover, the Hon’ble Supreme Court had added a note of caution in Bhajan Lal (Supra) in the following words:

“103. We also give a note of caution to the effect that the power of quashing a criminal proceeding should be exercised very sparingly and with circumspection and that too in the rarest of rare cases; that the court will not be justified in embarking upon an enquiry as to the reliability or genuineness or otherwise of the allegations made in the FIR or the complaint and that the extraordinary or inherent powers do not confer an arbitrary jurisdiction on the court to act according to its whim or caprice.”

41. In view of the foregoing discussion, I find no merit in the application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. filed by the applicants. Accordingly, the application is dismissed.

42. Before parting with the case, I deem it appropriate to observe that the date mentioned by the Presiding Officer of the Revisional Court in the revisional order is 12.05.2022 whereas the date printed on the order is 12.05.2023. The entries made by the copying official on the certified copy filed with the application shows the application for obtaining a certified copy of the order was filed on 15.05.2023 but the Head Copyist has signed the certified copy on 12.05.2023, i.e. three days prior to filing of the application for obtaining a certified copy of the order. This order should be communicated to the District Judge, Pratapgarh so that he may look into by the matter and take appropriate steps to avoid recurrence of such mistakes.

S.C.B.A. Vs U.O.I. & anr. , Writ Petition (Civil) 200 of 1995

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Satish Trivedi, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Ajay Kumar Pandey, learned counsel for the applicant and Sri Karunakar Singh, learned AGA.

2. The present application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed with a prayer to quash the impugned order dated 05.04.2023 passed by the learned Sessions Judge, Agra in Sessions Trial No.235 of 2022 (State vs. Shivanshu Mudgal and others), arising out of Case Crime No.478 of 2021, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 307, 506 IPC at Police Station Shahganj, District Agra.

3. It is the case of the applicant that a first information report has been lodged on 03.11.2021, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 307 IPC at Police Station Shahganj, District Agra in Case Crime No.478 of 2021 by the first informant against 11 accused persons pertaining to the alleged occurrence dated 02.11.2021.

4. On dated 07.01.2022, the opposite party no.2 filed his Vakalatnama to privately oppose the defense in the sessions trial by engaging five Advocates, who are all leading Senior Advocates of the District Court at Agra, two Vakalatnama were filed on the same date wherein a total of ten Advocates were shown to be engaged by the opposite party no.2, again on 22.04.2022 and 20.05.2022, two more Vakalatnama were filed on behalf of the opposite party no.2 showing the engagement of Sri Ashok Kumar Gupta, Sri Shishupal Singh Yadav and Sri Naresh Pal Singh Yadav as his Advocates, opposite party no.2 had virtually engaged the entire Criminal Bar of the District Court at Agra, most of the said Advocates being the leading criminal law practitioner of the District Court at Agra.

5. The very relevant aspect as highlighted by the Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of the applicant that in the aforesaid Vakalatnama dated 07.01.2022, the Advocate Welfare Ticket with the required stamp was not affixed, in which out the five Advocates, the name of Sri Arvind Kumar Sharma, Advocate was also there.

6. The Vakalatnama as submitted by the opposite party no.2 only got the signatures of the Advocate on the Vakalatnama but so far as Sri Arvind Kumar Sharma, Advocate is concerned, no documents pertaining to the case were provided to him by the opposite party no.2 and neither he was ever instructed to appear on behalf of the opposite party no.2 during the trial.

7. In absence of complete instructions, Sri Arvind Kumar Sharma, Advocate neither opposed the bail application of the accused and nor did he advanced any arguments on behalf of the opposite party no.2, moreover, Sri Arvind Kumar Sharma, Advocate never got any instructions from the opposite party no.2 inasmuch as neither the facts of the case was discussed by the opposite party no.2 with the aforesaid Advocate, nor any documents pertaining to the case were given by the opposite party no.2 and as such, Sri Arvind Kumar Sharma, Advocate who never appeared on behalf of the opposite party no.2 on any date fixed by the learned court concerned at the time of hearing of the trial, only he was engaged on dated 13.02.2023 through Vakalatnama numbered as 47-B on behalf of the applicant by Sri Arvind Kumar Sharma, Advocate and Sri Manish Pathak, Advocate.

8. The co-accused person, namely, Syed Zafar Rizvi @ Shanu also engaged Sri Arvind Kumar Sharma, Advocate along with Sri Manish Pathak, Advocate as their counsels before the Sessions Trial No.235 of 2022 through Vakalatnama dated 03.03.2023 and the said Vakalatnama was numbered as 56-B.

9. The Vakalatnama dated 07.01.2021 as filed by the opposite party no.2 was not only defective but also Sri Arvind Kumar Sharma, Advocate was not being given complete instructions by way of any documents relevant to the case by the opposite party no.2, Sri Arvind Kumar Sharma, Advocate submitted an application on 06.03.2023 before the learned District and Sessions Judge, Agra and the same was numbered as Application No.58-B with the prayer for withdrawal of his Vakalatnama earlier preferred in Sessions Trial No.235 of 2022 on behalf of the opposite party no.2.

10. The abovementioned application was kept pending and no orders were passed thereupon. Under such circumstances, an application was filed by the applicant through his Pairokar Vineet Sharma on 01.04.2023 in the Court of learned District and Sessions Judge, Agra stating therein that the counsel engaged and authorized by him had submitted an application dated 06.03.2023 which has not yet been decided, it was also pointed out in the application dated 01.04.2023 that the opposite party no.2 had filed Vakalatnama dated 07.01.2022 by misleading the Advocates through engaging them inasmuch as the Advocate Welfare Ticket had not been affixed in the said Vakalatnama and therefore, the said Vakalatnama, being defective, was liable to be rejected.

11. While entertaining the Application No.58-B, the same was rejected vide order dated 05.04.2023 which impugned the present application.

12. For substantiating the stand taken up by the learned Senior Counsel, it has been pointed out that the learned trial court absolutely lost sight of the fact that the U.P. Advocates Welfare Fund Act, 1974, inter-alia provides under Section 9(1) of the said Act that every Advocate shall affix on the Vakalatnama accepted by him a Welfare Stamp of the value of ten rupees and no court, tribunal, authority or person shall receive any Vakalatnama in favour of such Advocate unless it is so stamped in addition to any stamp required under any other law for the time being in force.

13. It has been further argued by Sri Satish Trivedi, learned Senior Counsel that Section 5 of the said Act provides that wherein any case the Welfare Stamp referred to in sub-section (1) is not affixed on the Vakalatnama or is not filed by any Advocate, the Court shall not permit such Advocate for further proceeding in that case.

14. It has also been contended by learned Senior Counsel that learned trial court miserably failed to appreciate that without effective and genuine representation by a counsel on his behalf, the applicant could not be afforded a fair trial.

15. As a corollary to the aforesaid, it is submitted that engagement of Sri Arvind Kumar Sharma, Advocate by the opposite party no.2 was a farce, sham and was illusory and he had not been genuinely and effectively engaged by the opposite party no.2.

16. With regard to the aforesaid question, the matter was also deliberated upon by the Bar Council of U.P. and it was decided vide order dated 05.04.2023 that under the circumstances, permission to withdraw the Vakalatnama was granted to Sri Arvind Kumar Sharma, Advocate and he was further granted permission to appear on behalf of the accused/applicant before the Sessions Trial No.235 of 2022, the order dated 05.04.2023 passed by the Bar Council of U.P. is appended along with the present applicant as Annexure-12 available at Page No.139.

17. Even after considering all the vital facts as narrated by learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of the applicant, learned court of District and Sessions Judge, Agra rejected the prayer of the applicant vide order dated 05.04.2023 which impugned the present application under Section 482 Cr.P.C.

18. Per contra, Sri Karunakar Singh, learned Additional Government Advocate-I vehemently opposed the prayer as made in the present application on the ground that once the Vakalatnama has been executed by learned counsel, the prayer for withdrawing the same, was rightly rejected by the learned District and Sessions Judge, Agra.

19. Considering the prayer as made in the application, after hearing the learned counsels for rival parties at length, certain questions available to be answered by this Court pertaining to the instant matter are as under:-

(i) Whether Sri Arvind Kumar Sharma, Advocate was entitled to withdraw his Vakalatnama which has already been executed in favour of the opposite party no.2?

(ii) The essential ingredient for establishing a relation of an Advocate and client is mere signing the Vakalatnama?

(iii) Effect of Section 9 of the U.P. Advocates Welfare Fund Act, 1974 in the instant matter?

20. So far as regarding the first question, it is crystal clear that in a random and fashionable manner, signatures of so many Advocates have been taken on different Vakalatnama and the same have already been submitted before the sessions trial wherein one of the counsel was Sri Arvind Kumar Sharma, Advocate, in pursuance of the execution of Vakalatnama, no brief has ever been given in shape of relevant documents and papers by the opposite party no.2 to Sri Arvind Kumar Sharma, Advocate. More so, Sri Arvind Kumar Sharma, Advocate never appeared and argued the matter on behalf of the opposite party no.2 before the learned trial court and as such, the Vakalatnama cannot be treated merely a piece of paper which creates right of holding for certain Advocates from appearing on behalf of the opposite party, in absence of any specific instructions, the counsel cannot be treated as bonded and handcuffed to the client who sought signatures over Vakalatnama, which was itself defective in nature, since the same was not having the Advocate Welfare Ticket.

21. Answering the second question as mentioned above, the essential ingredients which are required for establishing the relationship of client and Advocate are the discussion of the matter for which the Advocate is going to appear before any court of law for protecting the interest of his client by way of assisting the court on the basis of relevant documents and the correct proposition of law. In the instant matter, it is admitted case of both the parties that at no point of time, any brief or documents has ever been handed over from the opposite party no.2 to Sri Arvind Kumar Sharma, Advocate and as such, only by obtaining the signatures over the defective piece of paper cannot establish a relation between the client and his counsel.

22. Ultimately, the legal question which involves the crux of the matter and vital to be adjudicated in pursuant to the controversy as raised through the instant application preferred under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., for ready reference, the extract of the Section 9 of the U.P. Advocate Welfare Fund Act, 1974 are reproduced hereinbelow:-

"9. Welfare stamp on Vakalatnama. - (1) Every member of the Scheme shall affix on the Vakalatnama accepted by him a Welfare Stamp of the value of five rupees in the case of Vakalatnama filed in the High Court or a Tribunal or any other authority or person and two rupees in any other case and no court, tribunal, authority or person shall receive any Vakalatnama in favour of such member unless it is so stamped in addition to any stamp required under any other law for the time being in force.

(2) The value of the Welfare Stamp shall neither be taxable cost in the suit or proceeding nor be collected in any event from a party to such suit or proceeding.

(3) Any contravention of the provisions of sub-section (2) by any member shall disentitle him to the benefits of the Scheme and shall be deemed to be a misconduct and the Trustees Committee shall report the matter to the State Bar Council for appropriate action.

(4) Every Welfare Stamp affixed on a Vakalatnama under sub-section (1) shall be cancelled in the manner provided in Section 30 of the Court Fees Act, 1870.

(5) wherein any case the Welfare Stamp referred to in sub-section (1) is not affixed on the Vakalatnama or is not filed by any Advocate the Court shall not permit such Advocate for further proceeding in that case."

23. By bare perusal of the Section 9(5) of the said Act, it is crystal clear that in case the Welfare Stamp referred to in sub-section (1) is not affixed on the Vakalatnama or is not filed by any Advocate, the Court shall not permit such Advocate for further proceeding in that case, meaning thereby, if the Advocate Welfare Stamp is absent from the Power/Vakalatnama submitted before the court concerned, the Vakalatnama signed by the concerned Advocate cannot be permitted to proceed in the matter and as such, in absence of Advocate Welfare Stamp from the Vakalatnama which has been submitted by the opposite party no.2 before the learned trial court, no counsel who put his signatures over the same, is permitted to proceed in the matter.

24. The abovementioned factual and legal points were undiscussed by the learned District and Sessions Judge, Agra while passing the order dated 05.04.2023 which is under challenge in the instant application.

25. The arguments as raised by learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of the applicant is also relied upon the judgment passed by Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Supreme Court Bar Association Vs. Union of India and another [Writ Petition (Civil) 200 of 1995, decided on 17.04.1998] wherein it has been held that this court cannot in exercise of its jurisdiction under Article 142 read with Article 129 of the Constitution, while punishing a contemner for committing contempt of court, also impose a punishment of suspending his licence to practice, where the contemner happens to be an Advocate. Such a punishment cannot even be imposed by taking recourse to the appellate powers under Section 38 of the Act while dealing with a case of contempt of court (and not an appeal relating to professional misconduct as such). To that extent, the law laid down in Re: Vinay Chandra Mishra, (1995) 2 SCC 584 is not good law and we overrule it.

26. An Advocate who is found guilty of contempt of court may also, as already noticed, be guilty of professional misconduct in a given case but it is for the Bar Council of the State of Bar Council of India to punish that Advocate by either debarring him from practice or suspending his licence.

27. In the instant matter, there was hardly any occasion available before the learned District and Sessions Judge, Agra to comment upon the conduct of an Advocate while adjudicating the application for withdrawal of Vakalatnama preferred by Sri Arvind Kumar Sharma, Advocate, since the same application has already been allowed by the Bar Council of U.P. and as such, the matter was out of judicial ambit of learned District and Sessions Judge, 28. In view of the aforementioned facts and circumstances, the order dated 05.04.2023 passed by the learned District and Sessions Judge, Agra is hereby quashed and set aside.

29. The present application stands allowed accordingly.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Gajendra Kumar, J.)

1. Heard learned Counsel for the applicants and learned AGA for the State-respondents.
2. By means of the present application under Section 482 of the Criminal Procedure Code the applicants have prayed for quashing of the charge sheet dated 05.08.2022 and cognizance as well as summoning order dated 21.12.2022 in Criminal Case No. 24449 of 2022 (State vs. Mahesh and others) arising out of Case Crime No.207 of 2022, under Sections 504 and 506 IPC, Police Station Soro, District Kasganj, pending in the Court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Kasganj.

3. The accused-applicants and the informant-opposite party no.2 have their lands beside each other. It is being alleged that the aforesaid applicants tried to illegally grab the portion of the land which belongs to opposite party no.2 inspite of the land mark fixed by the Sub Divisional Magistrate concerned demarcating the area of land belonging to the opposite party no.2. It is further alleged that when the opposite party no.2 tried to intervene and defend the aforesaid he was abused and manhandled by the applicants. In furtherance thereof, a First Information Report dated 05.06.2022 was lodged.

4. An investigation was carried out pursuant to the aforesaid FIR and statements of witnesses were recorded. After completion of investigation, the police has submitted the charge sheet on 05.08.2022 stating that upon investigation, from the statements of the witnesses and inspection of the site of occurrence, commission of the offence under Sections 434 and 447 IPC were not found and merely offences under Sections 504 and 506 IPC were found to have been committed. The implication of the two named accused in the FIR i.e. Sanjay and Radheysham was not found during investigation due to lack of evidence against them and therefore they were exonerated from the charge sheet. The charge sheet has been forwarded to the court for trial of the applicant.

5. Learned counsel for the applicant has argued that although originally the first information report was lodged under Sections 434, 447, 504, 506 IPC but during investigation, the allegation with regard to commission of offence under Sections 434 and 447 IPC was found to be false and only a case under Sections 504 and 506 IPC was found to be made out against the applicants, both of which are non-cognizable offences and, therefore, the case against the applicants can only proceed as a complaint. In support of his submission, he has invited attention of the Court to the Explanation appended to Section 2 (d) of Cr.P.C. In order to appreciate his submission, the relevant provision of Cr.P.C. is being reproduced below: -

"(d) "complaint" means any allegation made orally or in writing to a Magistrate, with a view to his taking action under this Code, that some person, whether known or unknown, has committed an offence, but does not include a police report.

Explanation.--A report made by a police officer in a case which discloses, after investigation, the commission of a non-cognizable offence shall be deemed to be a complaint; and the police officer by whom such report is made shall be deemed to be the complainant"

6. Learned counsel for the applicants has placed reliance on a judgments of this Court in (i) Santosh Kumar and 2 Others vs. State of U.P. And Another 2019:AHC:18156, and (ii) Anurag Yadav And 2 Ors. vs. State of U.P. And Anr 2020:AHC:39811, in these two cases originally the FIR was lodged under sections 323, 504 IPC whereas in, (iii) Rama Shankar Upadhyay And 3 Others vs. State of U.P. And Another 2022:AHC:190995 in which FIR was lodged under sections 323, 504 and 427 IPC. In this backdrop a coordinate Bench of this Court held that the Magistrate shall not proceed with the case as a State case but he shall proceed with it as a complaint case as provided in the explanation to Section 2(d) Cr.P.C.

7. However, in the present case, apart from an offence under Section 504, an offence under Section 506 IPC has also been found to have been committed. Although in the first schedule appended to the code of criminal procedure, 1973 Section 506 is mentioned to be a non-cognizable offence, the Uttar Pradesh Government has issued a Notification No. 777/VIII-9 4(2)-87, dated July 31, 1989, published in U.P. Gazette, Extra Part-4, Section (Kha), dated 2nd August, 1989 by which the Section 506 IPC was made cognizable and non bailable.

8. The aforesaid Notification No. 777/VIII 9-4 (2)-87 dated July 31, 1989, published in the U.P. Gazette, Extra, Part-4, Section (kha) dated 2nd August, 1989 states as follows:

"In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 10 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1932 (Act No. XXIII of 1932) read with Section 21 of the General Clauses Act, 1897 (Act No.10 of 1897) and in super session of the notifications issued in this behalf, the Governor is pleased to declare that any offence punishable under Section 506 of the Indian Penal Code when committed in any district of Uttar Pradesh, shall notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (Act No.2 of 1974) be cognizable and non-bailable."

9. The aforesaid notification has been issued under Section 10 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1932 (Act No. 23 of 1932), which provides as follows: "10. Power of State Government to make certain offences cognizable and non-bailable.--

(1) The State Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare that any offence punishable under section 186, 188, 189, 190, 228, 295A, 298, 505, 506 or 507 of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860), when committed in any area specified in the notification shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (5 of 1898), be cognizable, and thereupon the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall, while such notification remains in force, be deemed to be amended accordingly.

(2) The State Government may, in like manner and subject to the like conditions and with the like effect, declare that an offence punishable under section 188 or section 506 of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860), shall be non-bailable."

10. The validity of the aforesaid Notification dated 31-07-1989 was examined by a Division Bench of this Court in Virendra Singh versus State of U.P., 2002 Indian Law reports Allahabad Series 653 2002 (2) UC 453 and in that case, this Court held as follows: -

"6. Section 10 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1932 does not give power to the State Government to amend by a notification any part of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. Since the Code of Criminal Procedure of 1898 has been repealed by Section 484 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. Act, 1973 we are of the opinion that Section 10 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1932 has become redundant and otiose. Hence in our opinion no notification can now be made under Section 10 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1932. Any such notification is illegal for the reason given above. Hence we declare notification No. 777/VIII-94(2)-87, dated July 31, 1989, published the U.P. Gazette, Extra Part-4, Section (kha), dated 2nd August, 1989 by which Section 506 I.P.C. was made cognizable and non-bailable to be illegal. Section 506 I.P.C. has to be treated as bailable and non-cognizable offence."

11. However, in the case of Meta Sewak Upadhyay versus State of U.P., 1995 CJ (All) 1158, a Full Bench of this Court examined the validity of the aforesaid Notification. It may be relevant to note that although the Full Bench has at some places mentioned the date of the Notification as August 2, 1989, which is actually the date of publication of the Notification in the Official Gazette and at some places the date of the Notification is mentioned as July 31, 1989 but the contents of the Notification are the same as those which have been reproduced above. The Full Bench held as follows: -

"61. There are two notifications of December 29, 1932 and August 2, 1989 which came to be issued in exercise of the powers conferred by Section 10 of the Act of 1932. Whereas, the first notification was made applicable only to a few districts, mentioned therein, the second notification of August 2, 1989 which was issued in super session of the notifications earlier issued in this behalf, states that the Governor is pleased to declare that any offence punishable under Section 506 of the Indian Penal Code (IPC) when committed in any district of Uttar Pradesh, shall notwithstanding anything contained in the Criminal Procedure Code, 1973, be cognizable and non-bailable. From the second notification it is, therefore, clear that that was issued in super session of the notification of December 29, 1932 and the effect of this notification is that the offence punishable under Section 506, IPC when committed at any place through, out the Uttar Pradesh, shall notwithstanding anything contained in the Criminal Procedure Code, be cognizable and non-bailable. In the first Schedule to the Criminal Procedure Code, 1973, the offence under Section 506 IPC is described as non-cognizable and bailable, but by virtue of Sec. 10 of the Act of 1932, the same has been declared for the entire Uttar Pradesh as cognizable and non-bailable by the notification of August 2, 1989. Sec. 10 of the Act of 1932 confers powers of the State Government to declare by notification in the official Gazette that an offence punishable under Section 506 IPC inter alia when committed in any area specified in the notification, shall notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, be cognizable and non-bailable and thereupon the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 shall while such notification remain in force, be deemed to be amended accordingly. The submission is that by the Act of 1932, an amendment was made in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, which stood repealed by virtue of Section 484 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, which was assented by the President of April 1, 1974. The Act of 1932 having been passed simply to amend the Cr. P.C. of 1889, the argument of Sri Misra is that the former could not survive beyond the life of the Cr. P.C. of 1898, which came to an end after being repealed in April, 1974. In short, he submits that the life of the Amending Act cannot be more than the principal act and that the amending act is co-extensive and co-terminus with the Principal Act and that Cr. P.C. of 1898 which was amended by the Act of 1932, having been repealed in April, 1974, the Act of 1932 could not have survived thereafter. Sri Tulsi argues that it is a misnomer to say that the Act of 1932 is simply an Amending Act. He submits that the Act of 1932 is named as "The Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1932." because that has made some amendment in the general body of criminal law and, in fact, the Act of 1932 is not only an Amending Act but a unique blend of substantive law as well as of the provisions making an amendment in the Cr. P.C., 1898 and that it having contained substantive provisions as well, cannot be said to be co-terminus with the Cr. P.C. of 1898 in which certain amendments were made, says Sri Tulsi. From perusal of the Act of 1932, the submission of Sri Tulsi appears to be correct that the said enactment is not merely an Amending Act but that is a blend of substantive provisions as well as the provisions amending Cr. P.C. of 1898. So the Act of 1932 is still on the statute book, notwithstanding the repeal of Cr. P.C. 1898.

62. Therefore, the contention of Sri Misra that impugned notification of August 2, 1989, having been issued under a dead enactment is invalid, has to be rejected.

Then Sri Trivedi whose assistance was sought by Sri R. R. Dwivedi submits that Section 10 of the Act of 1932 is violative of Article 14 of the Constitution, inasmuch as it is bereft of any guideline in respect of an area to be specified in the notification. He submits that the State Government is given free hand with unguided, unchannelised and arbitrary power to issue notification for any area and, therefore, Section 10 suffers from the vice of excessive delegation. Section 10 of the Act of 1932 is reproduced as under :

"10 Power of Local Government to make certain offences cognizable and non-bailable.-(1) The Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, declare that any offence punishable under Section 186, 188, 189, 190, 228, 295A, 298, 505, 506 or 507 of the Indian Penal Code, when committed in any area specified in the notification shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the Code Criminal Procedure, 1898, be cognizable and thereupon the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall, while such notification remains in force, be deemed to be amended accordingly.

(2) The Local Government may, in like manner and subject to the like conditions and with the like effect, declare that an offence punishable under Section 188 or Section 506 of the Indian Penal Code shall be non-bailable."

12. The Full Bench proceeded to hold that "Section 10 of the Act of 1932 and Notification No. 777/VIII-9-4 (2) (87) dated July 31, 1989 are valid.

13. The aforesaid Full Bench decision in Meta Sewak Upadhyay (Supra) has been approved by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Aires Rodrigues versus Vishwajeet P. Rane (2017) 11 SCC 62.

14. The validity of the aforesaid notification dated 31st July 1989 having been upheld by a Full Bench of this Court in Meta Sewak Upadhyay (Supra) and the Full Bench decision having been approved by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Aires Rodrigues (Supra), there is no

(A) Criminal Law - The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Section 482 - Inherent power - The Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 - Section 138 - Dishonour of cheque for insufficiency, etc., of funds in the account, Section 142 - Cognizance of offences , Section 146 - Bank's slip prima facie evidence of certain facts - In case cheque return memo is not having signature and stamp of the bank, but it is validly issued by the bank, that would not render the proceeding of Section 138 of Act, 1881 as invalid or illegal.(Para-13,14)

Complaint case was filed by opposite party no.2 under Section 142 - ground - bouncing of cheque - no official mark, signature and seal of the Bank - in absence of seal or signature, letter cannot be treated valid document - cognizance order passed - bad and liable to quashed - hence application. (Para-3)

HELD:-Letter is not forged document and cheque was produced before the Bank and dishonoured due to insufficient fund, therefore, requirement of Section 146 of Act is fulfilled . Unsigned letter so issued by the Bank cannot be ground for rejecting the proceedings under Section 138 of Act, 1881. (Para -11)

"Where a case relates to two or more offences of which at least one is cognizable, the case shall be deemed to be a cognizable case, notwithstanding that the other offences are non-cognizable."

17. In view of the aforesaid provisions of law, since the accused had been charged under Sections 504 and 506 IPC, they have to be tried for both the offences in the manner prescribed for trial of cognizable offences.

18. Therefore, the application lacks merit and it is accordingly rejected.

Guneet Bhasin Vs St. of NCT of Delhi & ors. ,
(2023) 296 DLT 401

(Delivered by Hon'ble Neeraj Tiwari, J.)

1. Heard Sri Anwari Hussain, learned counsel for the applicant, learned AGA for the State-opposite party no.1, Sri Pawan Kumar Shukla, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 and Sri Manish Trivedi, learned counsel for the ICICI-Bank.

2. The present 482 Cr.P.C. application has been filed to quash the entire proceedings of Criminal Complaint Case No. 36644 of 2022 (Anuj Kumar Gupta vs. Mohd. Yunus Malik) under Section 138 of Negotiable Instrument Act, 1881 (hereinafter referred to as Act, 1881) as well as summoning order dated 20.6.2022.

3. Learned counsel for the applicant submitted that complaint case was filed by the opposite party no.2 under Section 142 of Act, 1881 on the ground of bouncing of cheque. He next submitted that alongwith complaint, letter of Bank dated 20.4.2022 has also been annexed having no seal or signature. He firmly submitted that in absence of seal or signature, letter cannot be treated as valid document. He further submitted that relying upon such letter, cognizance order has been passed, which is bad and liable to quashed.

4. Per contra, Sri Pawan Kumar Shukla, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 has opposed and submitted that he has received the very same letter from the bank and on that basis and he has filed complaint alongwith said letter, therefore, he is not at fault in all eventuality. He further submitted that if the cheque and letter are not bearing any official stamp of the bank, it does not render the said letter as invalid or illegal. In support of his contention, he has placed reliance upon the judgment of Delhi Court in the case of Guneet Bhasin vs. State of NCT of Delhi and others reported in (2023) 296 DLT 401.

5. Earlier this Court vide order dated 4.7.2023 impleaded the ICICI Bank and directed the bank to file counter affidavit.

6. In compliance of that, Sri Manish Trivedi, learned counsel for the ICICI-Bank has filed counter affidavit and clearly stated that this letter was issued by the Bank, but inadvertently, same could not be signed. Further, bank has tendered unconditional apology with the undertaking that bank would be more conscious in future and such mistakes shall not be repeated again.

7. Sri Anwar Hussain, learned counsel for the applicant in his rejoinder argument submitted that Section 146 of Act, 1881 clearly provides that notice of information of dishonored cheque must have official mark and in light of that no proceeding can be initiated against the applicant.

8. I have considered the rival submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the parties and perused the letter issued by the Bank.

9. The issue is before this Court about the interpretation of Section 146 of Act, 1881, which is being quoted hereinbelow:-

"Section 146 in The Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881

The Court shall, in respect of every proceeding under this Chapter, on production of bank's slip or memo having thereon the official mark denoting that the cheque has been dishonoured, presume the fact of dishonour of such cheque, unless and until such fact is disproved."

10. From perusal of the aforesaid provision, the intention of legislation is very much clear i.e. to verify the fact as to whether the cheque was produced before the Bank and dishonoured for some reasons or not. So far as present case is concerned, bank has informed that cheque was dishonoured due to 'Insufficient Funds', but there is no official mark, signature and seal of the Bank in the said letter dated 20.4.2022. Bank has filed counter affidavit and clearly approved the letter and submitted that inadvertently signed was left out. Relevant paragraph of the counter affidavit is quoted hereinbelow:-

"3. That the deponent very fairly submits that the cheque presented by the complainant Anuj Kumar Gupta was presented for clearing in the ICICI Bank which was sent to the clearing Bank and it bounced on account of "Insufficient Funds" and the bouncing memo dated 20.4.2022 was issued by the ICICI Bank and was sent to the account holder by DTDC courier vide POD No.5311190k which inadvertently was left out to be signed.

4. That the aforesaid bouncing memo was electronically generated as per CTS guidelines where it clearly bears the remark of "Insufficient Funds" however inadvertence in issuing the memo is highly regretted by the ICICI Bank and the bank apologizes for the same and undertakes that it will never happen in any future transaction.

5. That the ICICI Bank being a responsible law abiding and prudent bank is issuing another bouncing memo of the same date in order to regularize the irregularity in issuing the bond memo and further undertakes not to repeat its inadvertent mistake in future. Photocopy of the duplicate bouncing memo is being filed herewith as Annexure-SCA 1 to this short counter affidavit. (Original fresh bouncing memo will be presented before this Hon'ble Court at the time of hearing)."

11. Now in light of averments made by the Bank in the counter affidavit, it is very much clear that letter is not forged document and cheque was produced before the Bank and dishonoured due to insufficient fund, therefore, requirement of Section 146 of Act is fulfilled and unsigned letter so issued by the Bank cannot be ground for rejecting the proceedings under Section 138 of Act, 1881.

12. I have also perused the judgment of Delhi Court in the case of Guneet Bhasin (Supra). Relevant paragraph of the said judgment is quoted hereinbelow:-

"9 The cheque return memo is a memo informing the payee's banker and the payee about the dishonour of a cheque. When the cheque is dishonoured, the drawee bank immediately issues a cheque return memo to the payee's banker mentioning the reason for non-payment. The purpose of the cheque return memo is to give the information of the holder of the cheque that his cheque on presentation could not be encashed due to the variety of reasons as mentioned in the cheque return memo. As per the Section 146 of the N.I. Act, the cheque return memo on presentation presumed the fact of dishonour of the cheque unless and until such fact is disproved. Neither section 138 nor the Section 146 of the NI Act has prescribed any particular form of cheque return memo. The Section 138 of the NI Act does not mandate any particular form of cheque return memo which is nothing but a mere information given by the Banker of the due holder of a cheque that the cheque has been returned as unpaid. If the cheque return memo is not bearing any official stamp of the bank, it does not render the cheque return memo as invalid or illegal. The cheque return memo is not a document which is not required to be covered under Section 4 of the Bankers Book (Evidence) Act, 1891. If there is any infirmity in the cheque return memo, it does not render entire trial under Section 138 of NI Act as nullity."

13. From perusal of the same, it is apparently clear that if the cheque return memo is not bearing any official stamp of the bank, it does not render the cheque as invalid or illegal. Further, if there is any infirmity in the cheque or letter, it does not render entire trial under Section 138 of Act, 1881 as nullity.

14. After going through the provision of Section 146 of Act, 1881, counter affidavit filed on behalf of bank and judgment of Delhi Court in the case of Guneet Bhasin (Supra), this Court is of the firm view that in case cheque return memo is not having signature and stamp of the bank, but it is validly issued by the bank, that would not render the proceeding of Section 138 of Act, 1881 as invalid or illegal.

15. In view of above facts mentioned hereinabove as well as law discussed hereinabove, this Court finds no good ground to entertain the application and same lacks merit and is, dismissed. No order as to costs.

16. So far as bank is concerned, there is carelessness on its part, therefore, this Court is issuing direction to Highest Authority of Bank i.e. CEO/M.D. of ICICI., Bank to issue order/letter/circular to all Branch Managers for being more careful while issuing such letters maximum within two weeks from the date of production of certified copy of this order. In case such type of mistake is repeated by any officer of the Bank, he is directed to take strict action against the erring officer or employee in accordance with law.

17. Sri Manish Trivedi, learned counsel for the ICICI-Bank is directed to send the copy of this order to CEO/M.D. of ICICI Bank forthwith for immediate compliance.

3. Supplementary affidavit filed today is taken on record.

4. This anticipatory bail application (under section 438 Cr.P.C.) has been moved seeking bail in Case Crime No. 676 of 2013, under sections 419,420,467,468,471 IPC, P.S. Civil Lines, District Prayagraj, during the pendency of trial.

5. In short, the prosecution allegation is that the applicant, who is said to be Principal of Prayag Mahila Vidyapeeth Degree College, was placed under suspension since February, 2013. It is alleged that a National Seminar on Hindi and Economics was organized on 21, 22 and 23 February 2009 in the College with funds received from University Grant Commission, New Delhi and other sources. Dr. Madhu Tandon was the co-ordinator of National Seminar and the applicant was its director. Dr. Madhu Tandon, through her complaint dated 20.04.2009 informed that she had spent Rs. 12,500/- in the printing of souvenirs in the said Economics Seminar at the behest of the Principal, but the payment has not been made by the Principal/applicant. It is further alleged that in the meeting of the Managing Committee dated 16.07.2009, the Principal assured to pay the expenses incurred by Dr. Madhu Tandon and to present the details of the income expenditure of the Seminar, but neither she made the expenditure incurred by Dr. Madhu Tandon nor presented the details of income-expenditure and kept on procrastinating the matter on one pretext or the other, due to which the matter is said to be pending since long. Meanwhile, Dr. Madhu Tandon is said to be transferred to DAV College, Lucknow and from there she also sent several requests but the Principal did not reply. It is further alleged that in the audit from year 2008-09 up to year 2011-12, objection was raised that in the seminar held in the year 2008-09, money was withdrawn by opening a new account by Principal but neither the expenditure certificate nor the proceedings register were presented at the time of inspection/audit and the Principal is said to have withdrawn money from the annual festival fund in the year 2009, 2010 and 2011, but its expenditure certificates were not presented at the time of audit. Thereafter, the Principal informed the Managing Committee in its meeting on 05.10.2012 that she has received the bills / vouchers / documents of the Seminar 2009 and in compliance with the decision taken in the previous meeting of the Management Committee, she is presenting it to the Chairman. It is also alleged that after the meeting was over, the Managing Committee produced the photocopies of Bill Vouchers to the clerk in the college office. It is further alleged that again, in the meeting of the Management Committee dated 24.11.2012, Principal was directed to produce the original bill vouchers of Seminar 2009 then the Principal on 29.11.2012 is said to have produced the original bill vouchers of Seminar 2009 and Annual Festival year 2009 and 2011 in the college office. Thereafter, due to expenditure on items other than those prescribed by U.G.C. New Delhi and cash memos of more than Rs.20,000/-, the Management committee instructed the Manager to submit a report after preliminary investigation on the vouchers produced by Principal. After preliminary investigation, the Manager, found various vouchers suspicious, thereafter, a three-member inquiry committee was constituted by the Management Committee of the college to investigate the matter and the Principal was placed under suspension. It is also alleged that the Inquiry Committee issued the charge sheet to the Principal on 12.03.2013 which was replied by the applicant/Principal. The inquiry committee after conducting inquiry submitted its inquiry report dated 17.08.2013. In compliance of the decision taken in the meeting of the Managing Committee on 05.09.2013, a copy of the investigation report was sent to the applicant/Principal as well as the Vice Chancellor of Chhatrapati

Sahu Ji Maharaj University, Kanpur for information. It is also alleged that the Principal submitted her written statement on 20.09.2013 in the office and also got her oral statement recorded in the meeting of the Management Committee dated 21.09.2013 and after considering the submissions of the applicant, the inquiry report was accepted. It is alleged that after investigation by the Inquiry Committee, it was duly found that the UGC account of the College has already been opened in UCO Bank Civil Line, but the applicant/Principal voluntarily opened a new account in the same bank and deposited a sum of Rs. 90,000/- received from UGC, New Delhi and on 03.02.2009, without the consent/approval of the Management Committee, and in connivance with the Bank Officials is said to have withdrawn a sum of Rs.90,000/- and misappropriated it and also concealed the entry of payment received in the UGC Cash book. It is also alleged that the vouchers submitted by the applicant in the office for different sums were found forged and fabricated. It is thus alleged that the applicant/Principal by misusing her position grabbed the entire money.

6. Record would further reveal that applicant after filing of the FIR approached this Court by filing Criminal Misc Writ Petition (being CMWP No. 9412 of 2014), in which applicant has been granted interim protection till the submission of the charge sheet vide order dated 2.6.2014. Thereafter, charge sheet in the matter was submitted on 19.01.2015, whereupon the court below took cognizance on 7.2.2020 and summoned the applicant to face the trial. The applicant again approached this Court by way of filing Criminal Misc Application u/s 482 No. 10577 of 2023 challenging the charge sheet and the summoning order,

".....However, this application stands disposed of with the direction that the court below would extend the benefit of interim bail (if the court concerned deems it fit according to the merit of each case) as contemplated in the law laid down by this Court in the case of Amrawati and another Vs. State of U.P. reported in 2004 (57) ALR 290 as well as judgement passed by Hon'ble Apex Court reported in 2009 (3) ADJ 322 (SC) Lal Kamendra Pratap Singh Vs. State of U.P. after the applicant surrenders within two weeks before the court and if her bail application is filed, the same shall be adjudicated and decided by the courts below with speaking and reasoned order, strictly in accordance with law, in the light of the judgment given by Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Hussain and another Vs. Union of India reported in (2017) 5 SCC Page-702, relevant extract of which reads as under :-

*"?.....Judicial service as well as legal service are not like any other services. They are missions for serving the society. The mission is not achieved if the litigant who is waiting in the queue does not get his turn for a long time"..... "Decision of cases of under-trials in custody is one of the priority areas. There are obstructions at every level in enforcement of right of speedy trial; vested interests or unscrupulous elements try to delay the proceedings"..... "In spite of all odds, determined efforts are required at every level for success of the mission"..... "The Presiding Officer of a court cannot rest in a state of helplessness. This is the constitutional responsibility of the State to provide necessary infrastructure and of the High Courts to monitor the functioning of subordinate courts to ensure timely disposal of cases."

To satiate speedy disposal of the cases, the courts below are issued following directions in accordance with the observations made in the case of Hussain and another (Supra):

(i) Bail applications be disposed of normally within one week :

(ii) Magisterial trials, where accused are in custody, be normally concluded within six months and sessions trials where accused are in custody be normally concluded within two years.

(iii).....

(iv).....

....."

The above timelines may be the touchstone for assessment of judicial performance in annual confidential reports.

For the period of two weeks from today, no coercive action shall be taken against the applicant in the aforementioned case.

It is made clear that no time extension application would be entertained for extending the period of two weeks.

The ratio mentioned above is the last word for every judicial officers for abiding with the directions of the Hon'ble Apex Court. In the aforesaid scenario, it would be pertinent to refer the case of Brahm Singh and others Vs. State of U.P. and others decided on 08.07.2016 in Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No.15609 of 2016 whereby co-ordinate Bench of this Court, while taking into account the concerns of most of the counsels with regard to the long pending bail applications at lower courts' stage has expressed their anguish and concern.

In the aforesaid backdrop, learned Sessions Judge/the concerned Trial Judge is directed to ensure that the guidelines given in the case of Hussain and another (supra) as well as in Brahm Singh and others (Supra) has to be carried out in its letter and spirit, failing which an adverse inference would be drawn against the erring officers and this Court would be compelled to take appropriate action against them, if found that there is laxity in adhering the above directions.

In the event, the bail application is not decided within seven days as contemplated above, the learned Judge will have to spell out the justifiable reasons and record the same on the order sheet of such cases."

7. Thereafter, applicant is said to have approached the court below by filing anticipatory bail application, which came to be rejected vide order dated 31.05.2023, hence the present anticipatory bail application before this Court.

8. Learned senior counsel for the applicant submits that applicant has been falsely implicated in the present case. She is a lady and is aged about 61 years. It is also submitted that in the alleged matter a disciplinary proceeding was also initiated by the Management of the Institution and the matter went up to the Vice Chancellor of the Chhatrapati Sahu Ji Maharaj University, Kanpur wherein certain favourable observations were made with regard to the applicant. It is further submitted that the involvement of the applicant in the present false criminal case is nothing but just to harass the applicant at the fag end of her retirement, whereas prima facie the nature of dispute appears to be a 'Service Dispute.'

9. It is strenuously submitted by learned Senior counsel for the applicant that the applicant has joined the investigation as and when required by the Investigating Officer. He further submitted that there is not even an iota of admissible evidence against the applicant and she has been falsely implicated. He further submitted that now the charge sheet stands filed, so there is no requirement of any sort of custody or custodial interrogation of the applicant. It is further submitted by the learned Senior Counsel for the applicant that the applicant has also not misused the interim protection granted to her by the Court. There is definite apprehension that she might be arrested in the present case. In support of his argument, learned senior counsel relied upon the judgements of Shri Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia and others Vs state of Punjab, AIR 1980 SC 1632; Sushila Aggarwal and others Vs State (NCT of Delhi) and another, (2020) 5 SCC 1.

10. On the other hand, learned counsel for the informant as well as learned counsel for the State have vehemently opposed the prayer for bail by contending that applicant has been taken into custody in another case being Case Crime No. 158 of 2004, under Sections 468, 467, 471, 420, 379 IPC, and in Case Crime No. 38 of 2004, under Sections 204, 506 IPC, P.S. Civil Lines, District Prayagraj, therefore, the present anticipatory bail application is not maintainable. In this regard, learned counsels have placed reliance on the case of Narinderjit Singh Sahni Vs Union of India, (2002) 2 SCC 210; Sunil Kallani Vs State of Rajasthan, 2021 SCC Online Raj 1654 (Rajasthan High Court). It is further submitted by learned counsel for the informant and learned AGA for the State that while disposing of the application u/s 482 Cr.P.C., the applicant was directed to surrender and apply for bail before the court below within two weeks but the said order has not been complied with by the applicant.

11. Refuting the said contention, learned Senior counsel submitted that merely because it was directed by this Court while disposing of the application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. to the applicant to surrender and apply for bail does not dilute the applicant's right to file anticipatory bail under Section 438 Cr.P.C. In support of his argument learned counsel relied upon the case of Vinod Kumar Sharma and Another Vs State of Uttar Pradesh and another, 2022 1 Crimes (SC) 193.

12. In the case of Vinod Kumar Sharma (supra), the Hon'ble Supreme Court observed that "Merely because it was kept open for the petitioners to surrender and apply for Regular Bail after filing of the charge sheet, the same does not preclude the petitioners to apply for anticipatory bail under Section 438 Cr.P.C. after filing of the charge sheet".

13. So far as the question of maintainability of the present anticipatory bail application is concerned, this issue has not been addressed by the Hon'ble Apex Court as yet although a co-ordinate Bench of this Court in Rajesh Kumar Sharma Vs CBI, 2022 0 Supreme (All) 1331, has examined the issue of maintainability of anticipatory bail where the accused was already arrested in another case and hold that the anticipatory bail would not lie and would not be maintainable, if a person is already arrested and is in custody of police or judicial custody in relation to another criminal case, which may be for similar offence or for different offences. Similar view has also been expressed in the case of Sunil Kallani Vs State of Rajasthan, 2022 0 Cr. L.J. 1378 by the Rajasthan High Court.

14. Section 438 Cr.P.C. provides an opportunity to a person to move an application for direction that if he is to be arrested in a case and the said person has reasons to believe that he shall be arrested then he may be released on bail. It is cardinal principle of law that every law is designed to promote and further the ends of justice. Statutory interpretation, purpose and the spirit of the provision must be gathered from its intendment. A plain reading of the provision of Section 438 Cr.P.C. as amended in State of Uttar Pradesh would show that the only restriction provided is under Section 438 (6) of the Cr. PC, which says that the provision will not apply to accusations of offences which are stated in Section 438 (6) (a) & (b) of the Cr.P.C. and in absence of any specific restrictions on the exercise of the power to grant anticipatory bail clearly indicates that the legislature intended to confer and has in fact conferred a very wide discretion on the High Court and the Court of Sessions to grant anticipatory bail. The Law Commission of India in the 41st Report reiterated the principles concerning bail. One of the relevant principles in this regard is that "bail is a matter of discretion if the offence is non-bailable". Discretion in Section 438 Cr.P.C. should not be exercised with regard to an offence punishable with death or imprisonment for life unless the Court at that very stage is satisfied that such a charge is false or groundless. Under Section 438, Cr.P.C., discretionary power has been conferred on the Court to grant pre-arrest bail. The judicial discretion vested in the Court requires it to be appropriately exercised with the proper application of mind in determining whether a case is a fit case for grant of anticipatory bail or not.

15. If the non-maintainability of the application for the grant of anticipatory bail is accepted as the correct position, then the element of discretion, which is available with the court, would be taken away. Even if there may be multiple FIRs against the accused, the court is very much within its competence to consider those factors within the existing statutory framework. Section 438(1) Cr.P.C., inter alia, provides the nature and gravity of the accusation read with the antecedents of the accused as factors that have to be taken into consideration by the court exercising its discretion to grant anticipatory bail. And as is true for any matter requiring the exercise of discretion, the same ought to be done not capriciously, but rather judiciously and within the well-accepted and well-established parameters.

16. In the case of Shri Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia and others Vs state of Punjab, AIR 1980 SC 1632, the Hon'ble Apex Court has made the following observation:-

"39. Fifthly, the provisions of Section 438 cannot be invoked after the arrest of the accused. The grant of "anticipatory bail" to an accused who is under arrest involves a contradiction in terms, insofar as the offence or offences for which he is arrested, are concerned. After arrest, the accused must seek his remedy under Section 437 or Section 439 of the Code, if he wants to be released on bail in respect of the offence or offences for which he is arrested"

17. As per the aforesaid decision of Hon'ble Apex Court it is very much clear that anticipatory bail will not be maintainable in case a person is in custody in the same offence for which pre-arrest bail is sought, the restriction, if any, upon maintainability of pre-arrest bail will be there only if a person is in custody in that particular offence itself.

18. While going through the various pronouncements of the Hon'ble Apex Court as well as plain reading of the provision of Section 438 Cr.P.C., there is no such bar in Cr.P.C. or any statute which prohibits Session or the High Court from entertaining and deciding an anticipatory bail, when such person is already in judicial or police custody in some other offence. The restriction cannot be stretched to include arrest made in any other offence as that would be against the object and spirit of the provision.

19. In the present case, the applicant is in custody with respect to another case crime as afore-stated and she is yet to be arrested by police in the present case. As per the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Shri Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia and others (supra), the restriction is only when the pre-arrest bail is sought for the same offence in which arrest is already made.

20. The case of Narinderjit Singh Sahni and Another (supra) relied upon by the learned counsel for the State as well as informant was in respect of maintainability of Article 32 wherein relief in the nature of Section 438 was sought. Even, the said judgment does not hold in very clear terms that a person arrested in one offence cannot seek the relief provided under Section 438 Cr.P.C. in another offence merely on the ground that he has been taken into custody in another offence.

21. A person apprehending arrest on accusation of having committed a non bailable offence has every right, even if he is arrested in number of cases, to move in each of offence registered against him irrespective of the fact that he is already in custody but for different offence, for the reason that every such application will have to be heard and decided on merits independent of another crime in which he is already in custody. Thus, the stand taken by learned State counsel regarding non-maintainability of the application cannot be approved.

22. Learned Senior counsel has also drawn attention of the Court towards a recent judgement of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Md Asfak Alam Vs The State of Jharkhand and another (Criminal Appeal Nos, 2207 of 2023 arising out of Special Leave Petition (Criminal) No. 3433 of 2023 decided on 31.07.2023, wherein the Apex Court emphasizes the paramount importance of personal liberty and issued landmark guidelines regarding anticipatory bail. In the said case, the appellant, Md. Asfak Alam, had sought anticipatory bail after facing allegations under various sections of the Indian Penal Code and the Dowry Prohibition Act. However, his plea was dismissed by the High Court, and further directed him to surrender before the Trial Court and seek regular bail. The Apex Court has held that arrest should not be made routinely, and the exercise of this power must be guided by the necessity of custodial investigation or preventing the accused from tampering with evidence or influencing witnesses. The Apex Court, referring to various cases, including Arnesh Kumar v. State of Bihar and Another, (2014) 8 SCR 128, to lay down the guidelines for granting anticipatory bail, emphasizes that such bail should be granted unless there are exceptional circumstances.

23. Having considered the arguments advanced by learned counsel for the parties, judgements relied upon by the learned counsel for the parties, and considering the nature of accusations and antecedents of applicant, since the charge sheet has been filed without the arrest of the applicant all the material evidence and documents have been collected, the applicant was also granted interim protection and there are no allegations that during the period of interim protection she ever tried to influence the witnesses or tamper with the evidence, in these circumstances, the bail application is allowed. She is directed to be enlarged on anticipatory bail as per the Constitution Bench judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Sushila Aggarwal vs. State (NCT of Delhi)- 2020 SCC Online SC 98. The future contingencies regarding anticipatory bail being granted to applicant shall also be taken care of as per the aforesaid judgment of the Apex Court.

24. In the event of arrest, the applicant shall be released on anticipatory bail. Let the applicant Dr. Rajni Tripathi, involved in the aforesaid crime be released on anticipatory bail on furnishing a personal bond of Rs. 50,000/- with two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the trial court concerned with the following conditions:-

(1) The applicant shall not, directly or indirectly, make any inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the Court or to any police officer; and

(2) The applicant shall not leave the country during the currency of trial without prior permission from the concerned trial Court.

(3) The applicant shall surrender her passport, if any, to the concerned Court forthwith. Her passport will remain in custody of the concerned Court.

(4) The applicant shall file an undertaking to the effect that she shall not seek any adjournment on the dates fixed for evidence and the witnesses are present in court. In case of default of this condition, it shall be open for the trial court to treat it as abuse of liberty of bail and pass orders in accordance with law to ensure presence of the applicant.

(5) In case, the applicant misuses the liberty of bail, the Court concerned may take appropriate action in accordance with law and judgment of Apex Court in the case of Sushila Aggarwal vs. State (NCT of Delhi)- 2020 SCC Online SC 98.

(6) The applicant shall remain present, in person, before the trial court on the dates fixed for (i) opening of the case, (ii) framing of charge and (iii) recording of statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. If in the opinion of the trial court default of this condition is deliberate or without sufficient cause, then it shall be open for the trial court to treat such default as abuse of liberty of his bail and proceed against his in accordance with law.

25. In default or misuse of any of the conditions, the Public Prosecutor/ Investigating Officer/ first informant-complainant is at liberty to file appropriate application for cancellation of anticipatory bail granted to the applicant.

applicant is entitled to be released on bail – direction issued, accordingly. (Para – 7, 8, 9)

Criminal Law – Indian Penal Code,1860 – Sections 174-A, 229-A, 363, 366, 376(3) & 504 - Protection of Children from Sexual offences (POCSO) Act,2012 - Sections 5 & 6 – Criminal Procedure Code,1973 - Sections 82, 164 & 313 - Evidence Act, 1872 – Section 35- Bail Application - FIR - offence of Kidnapping, abducting, inducing women to compel her marriage as well as Rape – Charge-sheet - Bail application – court finds that, plea has been taken by complainant that as per school leaving certificate, age of prosecutrix is below 16 years therefore, it is presumed that she is minor – held, without expressing any opinion on merits of case and after considering the argument that as per medical report as well as Parivar register, age of the prosecutrix is found to be 18 years and St.ment of prosecutrix under section 164 Cr.P.C. indicates that it is a case of consent and argument that applicant having no criminal history is languishing in jail since and looking to law points cited above, Court of opinion that

26 days and in her statement recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C., she has deposed that she had gone to Haryana with the applicant out of her own free will. She has performed marriage in the temple and used to reside with the applicant as his wife. She has further deposed that police had taken her in custody on 28.05.2022 and took her to Raebareilly Station and deposed that she did not want to contest the case.

5. Learned counsel further submitted that the prosecutrix refused for internal medical examination. As per ossification test, it was found that the prosecutrix was more than 18 years and was major. It is further submitted that as per Pariwar register, the date of birth of the applicant is recorded as 2004 and she is more than 18 years of age. Learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that though school leaving certificate indicates the date of birth as 12.05.2006 and appears to be minor but looking to the other relevant documents i.e. Pariwar Register and ossification test, it is evident that the prosecutrix is more than 18 years of age. Learned counsel submitted that it is a case of consent and as per the statement of the prosecutrix, it has come on record that she has performed marriage with applicant and she had gone along with the applicant to Haryana.

6. In support of his contention, learned counsel for the applicant has placed reliance upon a judgment of the Apex Court reported in 2023 LiveLaw (SC) 538 P. Yuvaprakash vs. State Rep. by Inspector of Police. The relevant para nos. 14 and 19 of the judgment are quoted below :

"14. Section 94 (2)(iii) of the JJ Act clearly indicates that the date of birth certificate from the school or matriculation or equivalent certificate by the concerned examination board has to be firstly preferred in the absence of which the birth certificate issued by the Corporation or Municipal Authority or Panchayat and it is only thereafter in the absence of these such documents the age is to be determined through "an ossification test" or "any other latest medical age determination test" conducted on the orders of the concerned authority, i.e. Committee or Board or Court. In the present case, concededly, only a transfer certificate and not the date of birth certificate or matriculation or equivalent certificate was considered. Ex. C1, i.e. the school transfer certificate showed the date of birth of the victim as 11.07.1997. Significantly, the transfer certificate was produced not by the prosecution but instead by the court summoned witness, i.e., CW-1. The burden is always upon the prosecution to establish what it alleges; therefore, the prosecution could not have been fallen back upon a document which it had never relied upon. Furthermore, DW-3, the concerned Revenue Official (Deputy Tahsildar) had stated on oath that the records for the year 1997 in respect to the births and deaths were missing. Since it did not answer to the description of any class of documents mentioned in Section 94 (2)(i) as it was a mere transfer certificate, E C-1, could not have been relied upon to hold that M was below 18 years at the time of commission of the offence."

19. It is clear from the above narrative that none of the documents produced during the trial answered the description of "the date of birth certificate from the school" or "the matriculation or equivalent certificate" from the concerned examination board or certificate by a corporation, municipal authority or a Panchayat. In these circumstance, it was incumbent for the prosecution to prove through acceptable medical tests/examination that the victim's age was below 18 years as per Section 94 (2)9iii) of the JJ Act. PW-9, Dr. Thenmozhi, Chief Civil Doctor and Radiologist at the General Hospital at Vellore, produced the X-ray reports and deposed that in terms of the examination of M, a certificate was issue stating " that the age of the said girl would be more than 18 eyars and less than 20 years". In the cross examination, she admitted that M's age could be taken as 19 years. However, the High Court rejected this evidence, saying that "when the precise date of birth is available from out of the school records, the approximate age estimated by the medical expert cannot be the determining factor". This finding is, in this court's considered view, incorrect and erroneous. As held earlier, the documents produced, i.e., a transfer certificate and extracts of the admission register, are not what Section 94(2)(i) mandates; nor are they in accord with Section 94 (2)(ii) because DW-1 clearly deposed that there were no records relating to the birth of the victim, M. In these circumstances, the only piece of evidence, accorded with Section 94 of the JJ Act was the medical ossification test, based on several X-rays of the victim, and on the basis of which PW-9 made her statement. She explained the details regarding examination of the victim's bones, stage of their development and opined that she was between 18-20 years; in cross examination she said that the age might be 19 years. Given all these circumstances, this Court is of the opinion that the result of the ossification or bone test was the most authentic evidence, corroborated by the examining doctor, P-9."

7. Learned counsel for the applicant has also placed reliance upon the judgment in the case of Monish vs. State of U.P. and others passed by the coordinate Bench of this Court in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.55026 of 2021. He has relied upon para Nos.12, 13, 14, 15, 43, 54 to 67, 59, 60, 91 92, 93, 94. The relevant para nos. 54 and 93 are quoted hereasunder:

"54. With the advantage of good authorities, the discussion on this issue can now be concluded with the following summation:

1. The presumptions contemplated by law may vary from statute to statute as regards their nature and manner of applicability.

2. Application of the presumptions contemplated in statutes does not preclude the courts from considering peculiar facts and circumstances of a case, nor do they compel the courts to accept the prosecution version as a gospel truth without due application of mind.

3. The stage and manner in which the presumption shall apply will depend on the statutory scheme, facts and circumstances of a case and the nature of evidence.

4. All presumptions are rebuttable. A challenge can weaken or rebut the presumption.

5. The presumptions shall be applied in a manner that they are consistent with the first principles of fair trial in criminal jurisprudence and due process in constitutional processual jurisprudence.

6. The condition precedent for triggering the presumption is that the primary or foundational facts have to be established by the prosecution by attaining standard of evidence which is beyond reasonable doubt and in accordance with law.

7. Presumptions created in a statute will be attracted by the following process. In the first instance after the primary or foundational facts have to be established by applicable standards of evidence. At this stage, the accused will be alerted to his right to assail the presumption. The accused has to be afforded an opportunity to rebut the presumption. After these prerequisites are satisfied, the presumption may ripen into an established fact and made the basis of a judicial finding upon consideration of evidences in the facts and circumstances of a case.

7. The manner and stage of triggering the presumption regarding age related documents under Section 94 of the JJ Act for a juvenile offender shall differ from the case of a minor victim and against an adult accused under the POCSO Act.

8. Prematurely triggering the presumptions under Section 94 of the JJ Act, 2015 and Section 29 of the POCSO Act, 2012 or inappropriately applying them at the stage of bail will violate the law and cause miscarriage of justice.

93. In wake of the preceding narrative, the manner of consideration of age of a victim in a bail application under the POCSO Act shall be guided as follows:

I. The procedure for determination of a victim's age provided in Section 94 of the JJ Act, 2015 read with JJ Rules, 2016 shall not apply to bail applications, though the documents therein are liable to be considered. Age of victim as per procedure prescribed in Section 94 of the JJ Act, 2015 is determined conclusively only in the trial.

II. The line of enquiry and relevant factors to assess the age of the victim in a bail application under the POCSO Act offences are these. The consideration of the age related documents mentioned in Section 94 of the JJ Act, 2015 i.e. school certificate (including matriculation), date of birth certificate issued by a local body, and medical report for age determination as produced by the prosecution is a good start point in the process.

III. The accused has a right to assail the veracity of the age of the victim as stated in the prosecution case.

IV. The court while deciding the said bail application is obligated to independently:

A. Examine the challenge laid to the victim's age by the accused applicant.

B. Evaluate credible doubts about the age of the victim.

V. The assessment of age in a bail order is of a tentative nature, and is based on probative value of documents which are yet to be proved or statements of witnesses who are still to be examined in court. Such determination by a court is not conclusive and is made only for the limited purpose for deciding the bail application.

VI. Same parameters shall apply to the bail applications filed at a different stages of trial. However, with each stage of the trial, the threshold of the satisfaction of the court may be raised in the facts and circumstances of the case. Heightened threshold of satisfaction means the duty of the court to give full weight to prosecution evidence, and due regard to the defence case while considering grant of bail.

VII. It is not advisable to lay down an inflexible or a straitjacket formula for grant of bail which will fit all cases. Practices and precedents in point are a reliable guide for the Court while exercising its judicial discretion in bail proceedings and a good defence against arbitrary decisions.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant has further relied upon Section 35 of the Evidence Act and has submitted that medical report as well as Parivar register are public documents and the same are important facts as per Evidence Act and the benefit of doubt will go in favour of the applicant so far as bail is concerned.

5. On the other hand, Shri Dilip Kumar Pandey, learned counsel for the complainant has submitted that as per school leaving certificate, the age of the prosecutrix is below 16 years therefore, it is presumed that she is minor. He has further submitted that though it is a case of consent but if the girl is minor, consent has no meaning, thus the bail is liable to be rejected. It is further submitted that Juvenile Justice Act, 1994 will prevail and it should be inferred that the prosecutrix is minor.

6. Shri Rajesh Kumar Singh, learned AGA-1 has also opposed the prayer for bail and has invited attention of this Court towards the fact that as per school leaving certificate, the age of the girl is 16 years and she is minor and consent of minor has no value, therefore, the bail of the applicant is liable to be rejected.

7. Without expressing any opinion on the merits of the case and after hearing learned counsel for the parties and considering the argument that as per medical report as well as parivar register, the age of the prosecutrix is found to be 18 years and the statement of the prosecutrix under section 164 Cr.P.C. indicates that it is a case of consent and the argument that the applicant having no criminal history is languishing in jail since 01.06.2022 and looking to the the law points cited above, I am of the opinion that the applicant is entitled to be released on bail.

8. Let the applicant, Sandeep Kumar, be released on bail in the above case crime number on his furnishing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of Court concerned with the following conditions :-

(i) The applicant shall file an undertaking to the effect that he shall not seek any adjournment on the dates fixed for evidence when the witnesses are present in court. In case of default of this condition, it shall be open for the trial court to treat it as abuse of liberty of bail and pass orders in accordance with law.

(ii) The applicant shall remain present before the trial court on each date fixed, either personally or through his counsel. In case of his absence, without sufficient cause, the trial court may proceed against him under Section 229-A of the Indian Penal Code.

(iii) In case, the applicant misuses the liberty of bail during trial and in order to secure his presence proclamation under Section 82 Cr.P.C. is issued and the applicant fails to appear before the court on the date fixed in such proclamation, then the trial court shall initiate proceedings against him, in accordance with law, under Section 174-A of the Indian Penal Code.

(iv) The applicant shall remain present, in person, before the trial court on the dates fixed for (i) opening of the case, (ii) framing of charge and (iii) recording of statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. If in the opinion of the trial court absence of the applicant is deliberate or without sufficient cause, then it shall be open for the trial court to treat such default as abuse of liberty of bail and proceed against him in accordance with law.

9. It is made clear that the observations made in this order are limited to the purpose of determination of this bail application and will in no way be construed as an expression on the merits of the case. The Trial Court shall be absolutely free to arrive at its independent conclusions on the basis of evidence led unaffected by anything in this order.

1. Indian Oil Corpn. Vs NEPC India Ltd., (2006) 6 SCC 736
2. G. Sagar Suri Vs St. of U.P., (2000) 2 SCC 636

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Vaibhav Kalia Advocate, the learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Gyanendra Singh, the learned AGA for the State and Sri Nandit Srivastava Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Panjal Krishna Advocate, the learned counsel for the complainant.

2. The instant application has been filed seeking release of the applicant on bail in Case Crime No. 595 of 2021, under Sections 409, 420, 504, 506, 467, 468, 471 & 120-B IPC, Police Station Vibhuti Khand, District Lucknow.

3. The aforesaid case has been registered on the basis of an F.I.R. lodged on 08.11.2021 against the applicant and his brother Mahesh Tulsiyani, alleging that the complainant had booked three flats in the name of his company in Golf View Apartment Scheme in the year 2012. The flats were not constructed within the stipulated period and the flats had not been finished properly. No penalty was paid for the delay in handing over the flats. The complainant had sold away one flat in the year 2015. The FIR categorically states that some consideration remains to be paid by the complainant. It is further alleged that the entire building had been mortgaged by the accused persons with a bank and the loan account was declared N.P.A. and the bank took over possession of the flats.

4. In the affidavit filed in support of the bail application, it has been stated that the applicant is innocent and he has falsely been implicated in the present case. In para 60 of the affidavit, the applicant's involvement in 7 other cases have been disclosed.

5. The State and the complainant have filed counter affidavits opposing the bail application.

6. The applicant has filed a rejoinder affidavit.

7. Regarding the criminal history, the learned counsel for the applicant has stated that the applicant has been implicated in a total of 15 cases of similar nature. Although the State has claimed that the applicant is involved in 17 cases, the learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that 6 of the cases have already been quashed by this Court and copies of the orders have been annexed as Annexure No. 10 of the affidavit filed in support of the application.

8. The learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that the dispute is entirely of civil nature regarding which no civil proceedings have been initiated by the complainant.

9. Sri. Nandit Srivastava Senior Advocate, the learned counsel for the complainant has vehemently opposed the bail application and he submits that on the basis of advertisement given in newspapers and allurements given by the applicant, who is a Director of Tulsiani Construction and Developers Private Limited, the complainant had booked three flats in the year 2012 in Golf View Apartment Scheme in the year 2012 in the name of his Company. The complainant paid Rs.1.25 Crores to Tulsiani Construction and Developers Private Limited for the flats after taking loan from a Bank. The complainant had sold one of his flat in the year 2015. Thereafter he deposited Rs. 68 Lakhs and 1 Crore 24 Lakh respectively for the two other flats. Tusiani Builders issued allotment letter and builder buyer agreement to ensure allotment of flats. As per builder buyer agreement, fine was to be imposed in delay in giving the possession. Flats were not constructed on time and after delay of about four years, possession was offered in three towers without the works inside the flat having been finished and the services which were offered at the time of booking viz. club, parking pool play area were not completed. Penalty of flat which was sold by Complainant in the year 2015 was not given to the Complainant. In the year 2016, Subsequently the applicant told that loan of Bank of Baroda was pending against said flats wherein all the flats were mortgaged and he demanded Rs. 10 Lakh per flat i.e. Rs. 20 Lakh and also asked for Rs. 33 Lakh as interest on both the flats to which Complainant objected. The applicant threatened the Complainant that if money would not be given as per demant, he would sell the flat to someone else and would usurp his whole money. As the applicant failed to repay the loan amount, the loan account was declared as NPA and possession over the flats has been taken over by the Bank. No information in this regard was given by the applicant to any of the flat buyer which is cheating. When Complainant talked about the same to Anil Tulsiani and Mahesh Tulsiani they used filthy language, abused him and threatened him to pay the demanded money otherwise his whole money would go in vain.

10. The learned Counsel for the applicant has further submitted that after considering the entire facts of the case, the learned Sessions Judge, Lucknow has rejected the bail application of the applicant after recording that the accused-applicant and some others have prepared forged documents with regard to ownership of property Khasra No. 22, 35, 38, 44, 46, 47, 65, 66 and thus, at the time of booking of the aforesaid flats, accused-applicant had no land as such and nor any lay-out plan was passed Lucknow Development Authority and accordingly.

11. What prima facie appears from the averments made in the FIR is that the complainant's company had entered into an agreement to purchase three flats in Golf View Apartment Scheme launched by Tulsiani Construction and Developers Private Limited, of which the applicant is a director. The complaint has not disclosed the name of the company which had booked the flats, although the allottee company would be a separate juristic person. From the material available before the Court at this stage prima facie it appears that no registered agreement had been executed between the parties regarding purchase of flats where any agreement for purchase of immovable property of value exceeding Rs. 100/- can only be made through a registered agreement, after payment of the prescribed stamp duty and registration fee.

12. The corporate entity which had entered into agreement for purchasing three flats and evaded payment of stamp duty and registration fee payable in respect of the agreement for purchase of the flats, and which has kept itself veiled, has committed an offence of evasion of stamp duty payable to the public exchequer, thereby illegally depriving the public at large of the benefits of that amount, which affects every single citizen of the country.

13. Although the amount of stamp duty and registration fee payable in respect of three agreements may prima facie appear to be small, the Court cannot restrain itself from observing that now-a-days a trend is developing very fast that persons acquire interest in immovable properties evade payment of stamp duty and registration fee and the cumulative effect thereof causes a significant loss to the public exchequer. Thereafter when some disputes occur, the purchasers initiate criminal prosecution for putting pressure on the seller to transfer the property or to repay their amount, because they cannot invoke the civil remedies for the reason that the unregistered agreement is inadmissible in evidence and no rights can be claimed in respect thereof in civil proceedings.

14. As far back as in the year 2006, the Hon'ble Supreme Court had observed in Indian Oil Corpn. v. NEPC India Ltd., (2006) 6 SCC 736, that: - purely civil disputes into criminal cases. This is obviously on account of a prevalent impression that civil law remedies are time consuming and do not adequately protect the interests of lenders/creditors. Such a tendency is seen in several family disputes also, leading to irretrievable breakdown of marriages/families. There is also an impression that if a person could somehow be entangled in a criminal prosecution, there is a likelihood of imminent settlement. Any effort to settle civil disputes and claims, which do not involve any criminal offence, by applying pressure through criminal prosecution should be deprecated and discouraged. In G. Sagar Suri v. State of U.P. (2000) 2 SCC 636, this Court observed:

“It is to be seen if a matter, which is essentially of a civil nature, has been given a cloak of criminal offence. Criminal proceedings are not a short cut of other remedies available in law. Before issuing process a criminal court has to exercise a great deal of caution. For the accused it is a serious matter. This Court has laid certain principles on the basis of which the High Court is to exercise its jurisdiction under Section 482 of the Code. Jurisdiction under this section has to be exercised to prevent abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice.”

14. While no one with a legitimate cause or grievance should be prevented from seeking remedies available in criminal law, a complainant who initiates or persists with a prosecution, being fully aware that the criminal proceedings are unwarranted and his remedy lies only in civil law, should himself be made accountable, at the end of such misconceived criminal proceedings, in accordance with law. One positive step that can be taken by the courts, to curb unnecessary prosecutions and harassment of innocent parties, is to exercise their power under Section 250 CrPC more frequently, where they discern malice or frivolousness or ulterior motives on the part of the complainant. Be that as it may.”

15. However, instead of being checked and restrained, the tendency of entangling opponents in criminal cases to indirectly pressurize them to enter into a settlement for redressal of their grievances of infringement of civil rights is ever growing. A very large share of the judicial time of the Courts is consumed in dealing with matters involving allegations of disputed contractual rights, for which no civil proceedings for recovery of money, cancellation of agreement, specific performance of contract etc., are initiated, which require payment of court fee. The amount paid as court fee would obviously add to the public exchequer and would be used for the benefit of public at large.

16. This tendency of misusing the criminal proceedings for claiming enforcement of civil rights by indirect methods and evading payment of stamp duty, registration fee and court fee cannot be appreciated by the Courts and it should not be encouraged. It is nothing but cheating committed against the public exchequer and the persons who would stand benefited thereby.

17. Although the acts alleged in the F.I.R. may make out commission of some offence punishable under criminal law, the dispute between the parties predominantly appears to be of the civil nature. The law provides civil remedies for redressal of grievances alleged in the FIR that the possession of the flats was not delivered within the stipulated period and that the flats were not finished in a proper manner. It is not that the complainant has initiated the criminal proceedings for merely punishment of the accused persons and he has initiated civil proceedings separately for enforcement of his rights, the complainant has initiated criminal proceedings only which prima facie indicates that the criminal proceedings have been initiated with an oblique motive to coerce the accused persons to redress the civil grievances of the veiled commercial corporate entity being represented by the complainant.

18. Having considered the aforesaid facts and circumstances of the case, coupled with the fact that the applicant is languishing in jail for more than one year and without making any observation, which may affect the merits of the case, I am of the view that the applicant is entitled to be released on bail in the aforesaid crime.

19. Accordingly, this bail application stands allowed.

20. Let the applicant Anil Kumar Tulsiani be released on bail in Case Crime No. 595 of 2021, under Sections 409, 420, 504, 506, 467, 468, 471 & 120-B IPC, Police Station Vibhuti Khand, District Lucknow on furnishing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of magistrate/court concerned, subject to following conditions:-

(i) the applicant shall not tamper with the prosecution evidence;

(ii) the applicant shall not pressurize the prosecution witnesses;

(iii) the applicant shall appear on each and every date fixed by the trial court.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karunesh Singh Pawar, J.)

(1) Heard Shri Piyush Kumar Singh, learned Counsel for the appellant and Ms. Nikita Mishra, learned A.G.A. for the respondent State.

(2) This criminal appeal under Section 374 (2) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 has been preferred by the appellant, Smt. Shraswati, challenging the judgment and order dated 27.01.2017 passed by the Additional Session Judge, F.T.C.-II, Bahraich in Special Sessions Trial No. 48 of 2012 : State of U.P. vs. Smt. Shraswati, arising out of Case Crime No.

403 of 2012, under Sections 8/17/20 of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 (hereinafter referred to as "N.D.P.S. Act, 1985"), police station Rupaideeha, district Bahraich, whereby the appellant was convicted under Sections 8/17/20 N.D.P.S. Act, 1985 and sentenced him to undergo 12 years' rigorous imprisonment and a fine of Rs.1,25,000/ and in default of payment of fine to undergo additional one year simple imprisonment.

(3) The prosecution case as per the recovery memo (Ext. Ka.1), is that on 29.7.2012, at 15.00 hours, an information was received from reliable sources that one Nepalese woman wearing red saree would reach to India from Nepal via Rupaideeha main road with opium. Taking this information seriously and on the direction of Assistant Commandant Shri Ashwani Singh, S.I. Janak Singh along with Constable Ganesh Singh, Umesh Prasad Yadav, Neeraj Kumar Srivas, Suvita T., Neetu Pal, Sunita and Shyam Pratap Singh had constituted a special search team; reached at the check post of Armed Border Force located at Nepalganj-Rupaideeha main road along with informer; and started waiting there for the said woman to come. Around 17.15 hours, resembling the description given, one Nepali woman was seen coming from Nepal to India on a rickshaw. Upon a signal of the informer, the said Nepali woman was stopped by the woman constable for search. During search, something seemed to be tied around the waist of the said woman. Thereafter, following the orders of Human Rights and High Court, the said woman was told that bringing and carrying opium anywhere is an offence under Sections 8/20/17 of N.D.P.S. Act. The said woman was asked that whether she wants her search to be made before Magistrate or any other place, then, the said woman told that when it is certain that she is carrying opium then they may take the search. Thereafter, on the spot, consent form was got prepared; it was read over to her; and got her signature/thumb impression on it. Thereafter, in the presence of Assistant Commandant, woman Constable Suvita T. and Sunita, who were present on the spot, searched each other but no incriminating material was found from them. After that, according to the order of Assistant Commander, Sunita T. was asked to search the said woman. On being asked during the search, the said woman stated her name as Saraswati wife of Hom Bahadur, resident of Ghorai New Bazar Gawisa Gorai, district Dang Nepal, aged about 28 years, and from her search, apart from the opium tied near the waist in red cloth, nepali currency amounting to 100/- and 20/- was recovered. After testing the recovered opium with the available drug testing kit, prima facie opium was found. Thereafter, on being weighed with the available beam scale, total weight of the recovered opium was 3kg 500gram. From the recovered opium a sample of 24x2 grams were drawn and the samples were sealed in a white cloth with the seal of SSB (Shashatra Seema Bal). Upon enquiry, the Nepali woman said that in the morning one man, namely, Pravesh Budha came and said her that if she delivers the maal (opium) to Rupaideeha (India) bus stop, he will give her nepali currency amounting to 6000/- and on this assurance, she agreed to do this work. Thereafter, on completing all necessary formalities, she was handed over to Police Station Rupaideeha for further action under N.D.P.S. Act. The copy of the recovery memo was read over to the appellant and her signature/thumb impression was taken on it. A copy of the recovery memo (Ext.

Ka.2) was also handed over to her, but she torned it and threw away.

(4) On the basis of aforesaid recovery memo (Ext. Ka.2), on 29.07.2012, at about 07:15 p.m., case crime no. 403 of 2012, under Section 8/20/17 N.D.P.S. Act was registered against the appellant Saraswati at police station Rupaideeha, district Bahraich. Head Moharrir Umesh Kumar Bhardwaj had scribed the chik F.I.R. (Ext. Ka-1), which has been mentioned in rapat no. 41 of the general diary of police station Rupaideeha and Ext. Ka. 10 has been entered on the carbon copy of it. During the investigation, the Investigating Officer had mentioned copy of the recovery memo, copy of rapat and the statements recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. of the scribe of F.I.R. Constable Moharrir Umesh Kumar Bhardwaj, accused/appellant Saraswati, complainant S.I. Janak Singh, Umesh Kumar Yadav, Head Constable Ganesh Singh Rawat, Niraj Kumar Srivas, Constable Suvita T., Constable Nitu Bala, Constable Sunita, Constable Shyam Pratap Singh, Aswani Kumar, Rasul, Moin, Constable Indresh Kumar in the general diary and after conducting inspection of the place of occurrence, site plan was prepared, which has been mentioned as Ext. Ka.7. For testing of recovered item, docket no. A-8/2 was prepared and filed the same on Forensic Science Laboratory, Mahanagar, Lucknow under serial no. 5830/12. After completion of the investigation, charge-sheet (Ext. Ka.8) was filed against the accused/appellant Saraswati and on receipt of the report from Forensic Science Laboratory, U.P., Lucknow, the same i.e. paper No. A-8/3 was filed.

(5) On 07.08.2014, the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.4, Bahraich had framed charges against accused/appellant

Saraswati under Section 8/17/20 of N.D.P.S. Act. The charges were read out to the accused/appellant and explained. Accused/appellant pleaded not guilty to the charges and claimed to be tried.

(6) During trial, in all, the prosecution examined three witnesses, namely, P.W.1-Janak Singh, who is the complainant of the case; P.W.2-Suvita T., who searched the accused/appellant on the date of the incident; and P.W.3-Subhash Yadav, who is the Investigating Officer of the case. In support of its case, the prosecution has also produced the documentary evidence viz. consent form of accused Saraswati to search her during the course of search (Ext. Ka.1), Chik recovery memo (Ext. Ka.2), the arrest form of the accused Saraswati (Ext. Ka.3), memo of weight of recovered opium (Ext. Ka.4), memo of search (Ext. Ka.5), memo of the marks of fingers of left and right hand of accused (Ext. Ka.6), site-plan (Ext. Ka.7), charge-sheet (Ext. Ka.8), Chik F.I.R. (Ext. Ka.9), carbon copy of GD (Ext. Ka.10).

(7) After the completion of the prosecution evidence, the statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. of the accused Saraswati was recorded, wherein her defence was of denial. She stated that charges are false and false recovery has been made. She stated that due to enmity, the complainant used to take begar from her and upon demand of her wages, he refused and due to this enmity, she has been falsely implicated by showing the recovery.

(8) P.W.1-Janak Singh, who is the complainant of the case and also the recovery witness, had reiterated the recital contained in the F.I.R. However, making improvement from the recovery memo, he had deposed that on the signal of the informer, the woman

Constable stopped her and asked her, then, she told that she is carrying opium tied in her waist. She was told that she has right to be searched before any Gazetted Officer or any Magistrate. P.W.1 had deposed that the Nepali woman said that she does not want to go anywhere and upon her consent, the consent letter (Ext. Ka.1) was prepared. He directed woman Constable Suvita T. (P.W.2) and Sunita, who after taking search of each other and after finding, no incriminating article each other, Suvita T. (P.W.2) conducted the search of the Nepali woman and found opium tied in her waist wrapped in red cloth and also nepali currency amounting to 100/- and 20/-. The recovered contraband was tested by the drug testing kit and it was found opium, which was weighed by beam scale and total weight of the recovered opium was 3 kg 500 grams, out of which, sample of 24 x 24 grams was taken from the recovered opium in a white cloth and sealed it and rest of the recovered opium were also sealed in a white cloth. After that describing the offence of Section 8/20 of the N.D.P.S. Act, the woman was taken into custody and recovered contraband was taken under police custody and sample seal was prepared. He also prepared the recovery memo (Ext. Ka.2). A copy of the recovery memo was also given to the accused/appellant Saraswati. He also prepared memo of notice of arrest as well as memo of search. He proved arrest memo (Ext. Ka.3), memo of weight of recovered opium (Ext. Ka.4), memo of search (Ext. Ka.5). He took the recovered contraband, the accused and the other documents prepared on the spot to police station Rupiadeeha and were deposited in the police station Rupiadeeha. He also deposited the recovered contraband to Malkhana.

In the cross-examination, P.W.1 had deposed that the Nepali woman was not searched before the Gazetted Officer or the Magistrate rather she was searched in the presence of his Senanayak. The recovery memo was in the handwriting of Constable Shyam Pratap. On the recovery memo, all the eight persons of the search team have signed the recovery memo, which was prepared at 05:15 p.m. in the headquarter office and the signature of Commandant was not in the recovery memo as he was not present at that time and was out of station. The Investigating Officer did not went to inspect the place of occurrence.

(9) PW-2 Suvita T., who was posted as Constable in 7th Battalion S.S.B., Nanpara Company at Rupaideeha, had also repeated the same prosecution story. She had deposed before the trial Court that recovery memo was prepared by common person, namely, Shyam Pratap Singh upon the dictation of Janak Singh (P.W.1). She had deposed that the recovered contraband from accused Saraswati, which is brought in the Court, is the same which was recovered by her from the accused Saraswati and identified her signature on the same, which is Ext.1.

In cross-examination, P.W.2 had deposed that the search of the accused was not conducted by any Gazetted Officer rather search was taken by them (special team). During the general search, they (special team) had caught Saraswati (appellant) at the Border. She further deposed that the entire documentation and proceedings were done at the place where Saraswati was caught i.e. Rupaideeha Check Post. On the recovery memo, apart from her, all the other members of the search team signed on it. The signature of the Assistant Commander is not on the recovery memo as he was not present at the time of recovery of contraband. The sample seal was prepared. She did not remember that after how much time, the recovered contraband and the accused were sent to the police station. She also not knew the name of the person who took the accused to the police station. She denied the suggestion that opium has not been recovered from Saraswati (appellant).

(10) P.W.3 S.I. Subhash Yadav (P.W.3), the Investigating Officer, in his examination-in-chief, had deposed that he had entered the copy of the chik report in CD-1 and recorded the statement of Constable Moharrir Umesh Kumar Bhardwaj, scribe of the chik F.I.R. and the statement of the accused Saraswati on the same day and mentioned in the CD-2 on 01.08.2012. He took the statement of the prosecution witness. He inspected the place of occurrence and prepared the site plan and said that the same site plan on which Ext. Ka7 is written. On 9.8.2012 prayer for remand was made. On 10.8.2012, he had written the CD-4 in which he has registered the receipts of the sample in the Forensic Science Laboratory and took the statement of constable Indresh in CD. After completing the investigation he filed the charge-sheet against the accused Saraswati and proved Ext. Ka-9. On 13.12.2012 SCD-1 was issued and report of the FSL Laboratory was mentioned in the SCD in which opium was found.

In the cross-examination, P.W.3 has stated that he inspected the site and prepared the site plan. He deposed that he is not aware whether the accused was searched before the Magistrate or not as this fact could be stated by S.S.B. personnel, however, he wanted to know this fact from the witnesses during the investigation, then, witnesses told him that accused had consented to give her search from the staff who caught her, therefore, after preparing consent letter, search was conducted. He deposed that incident was of 29.07.2012 and he recorded the statement of complainant and witnesses on 01.08.2012. He prepared the docket of sample, which was sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory for testing on 8.8.2012 and the same was received in the Forensic Science Laboratory on 9.8.2012. He also deposed that the cost of the recovered contraband according to SSB was to the tune of Rs.35,00,000/-. He denied the suggestion that he had conducted the entire investigation while sitting at the police station and he did not go to the place of occurrence for conducting the investigation.

(11) Learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that there is no compliance of Section 50 of the NDPS Act. The report of arrest and seizure have not been sent within 48 hours to the immediate superior officer although prior information was received, however, the same has not been reduced in writing. According to him, malkhana register has not been produced; the date of deposit in Malkhana is not known; when the contraband deposited in Malkhana is also not known; test sample is missing; and sample seal was not produced before the trial Court. He also submitted that the secret prior information received has not been reduced into writing nor sent a copy of the same to the Senior Officer as mandated under Section 42 (2) of the NDPS Act.

(12) Learned A.G.A. has opposed the contention of the learned counsel for the appellant. It is submitted on behalf of the State that 3 kg 500 gm opium was found from the personal search of the accused/appellant by the search team. The consent letter was prepared.

(13) So far as the first contention of learned counsel for the appellant that there is complete non-compliance of Section 50 NDPS Act is concerned, this Court has taken note of the fact that in the recovery memo dated 29.7.2012, the accused/ appellant was searched first and after it appeared to the searched team that there is something tied up in her waist, she was asked for the same and then she told that there is opium in it. After that giving reference to the provision of NDPS Act and human rights as well as orders of the Courts, she was asked whether she wanted to be searched in front of Magistrate or anywhere else, then she stated that once it is certain that there is a opium with her, then, they may take her search. The fact that as per the recovery memo, the accused/appellant was searched first and upon a suspicion arose that she is carrying opium in her waist, she was given the option to be searched before the Magistrate or anywhere else, thus, corroborated with the statement of P.W.2 Constable Suvita T, who, in her cross-examination, has stated that during the general search on the border, they had caught Saraswati. Both PW1-S.I. Janak Singh and PW2-Savita T. had stated that the appellant was informed of her right to be searched before the Gazetted Officer or the Magistrate in their examination-in-chief, however, both of them had admitted that search was not in front of any Gazzeted Officer or Magistrate. PW1-Janak Singh, in her cross-examination, had stated that in the closed room, she was searched by Constable Suvita T. (P.W.2) and she was not searched before any Magistrate or any Gazetted Officer rather she was searched before her Senanayak. PW 2-Suvita T., in her cross-examination, had stated that the accused was not searched by any Gazetted Officer rather she was searched by them. It is clear from the recovery memo as well as the evidence of PW1-Janak Singh and PW2-Suvita T. that she was not searched before the Gazetted officer or the Magistrate. It is also clear that she was not searched before any independent witnesses.

(14) From the statement of PW1-Janak Singh and PW2-Suvita T., it is also clear that none of the police officials of the police party, who recovered the contraband opium, were Gazetted Officer. Thus, they were not empowered to make search the applicant as provided under Section 50 of the NDPS Act except in the presence of either Magistrate or Gazetted Officer. The search of the recovery of the alleged contraband opium has to be in direct authorization and confirmation that is requirement of Section 50 NDPS Act. It is incumbent and mandatory for the prosecution to prove that search and recovery were made from the applicant in presence of Magistrate or a Gazetted Officer.

(15) Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Arif Khan alias Agha Khan v. State of Uttarakhand : AIR 2018 SC 2123 has held in para 28 as under :-

"28. First, it is an admitted fact emerging from the record of the case that the appellant was not produced before any Magistrate or Gazetted Officer; Second, it is also an admitted fact that due to the aforementioned first reason, the search and recovery of the contraband "Charas" was not made from the appellant in the presence of any Magistrate or Gazetted Officer; Third, it is also an admitted fact that none of the police officials of the raiding party, who recovered the contraband "Charas" from him, was the Gazetted Officer and nor they could be and, therefore, they were not empowered to make search and recovery from the appellant of the contraband "Charas" as provided under Section 50 of the NDPS Act except in the presence of either a Magistrate or a Gazetted Officer; Fourth, in order to make the search and recovery of the contraband articles from the body of the suspect, the search and recovery has to be in conformity with the requirements of Section 50 of the NDPS Act. It is, therefore, mandatory for the prosecution to prove that the search and recovery was made from the appellant in the presence of a Magistrate or a Gazetted Officer."

(16) In the case of Vijaysinh Chandubha Jadeja Vs. State of Gujrat reported in 2011 (1) SCC 609, Hon'ble Supreme Court in para 32 has held that at the first instance, an effort should be made by the prosecuting agency to produce the suspect before the Magistrate to ensure generating more confidence of common man as compared to any other officer as it will add legitimacy to the search proceedings and will also strengthen the prosecution case as well.

(17) It is not disputed rather admitted that none of the members of the raiding officer is gazetted officer. No effort whatsoever was made by the raiding team to produce the accused before the Gazetted Officer or the Magistrate, hence it is a case of total non-compliance of Section 50 of NDPS Act which vitiates the search.

(18) So far as the contention of learned counsel for the appellant that Section 57 of the NDPS Act has not been complied with as no report of seizure of property has been sent within 48 hours after the arrest to his immediate superior officer by the arresting officer is concerned, PW1-Janak Singh, PW2-Suvita T. and PW3-S.I. Subhash Yadav, in their statement, had nowhere stated that a report to the superior officer under the provisions of NDPS Act was sent. Thus prosecution has failed to prove compliance of Section 57 of the NDPS Act.

(19) This Court in the case of Ram Pal Yadav Vs. State of U.P. reported in 2008 (1) JIC 776 has held that to avoid any reasonable doubt of ante time reports, the report under Section 57 of the NDPS Act must be sent within 48 hours. Relevant paragraphs 10 and 11 are extracted below :-

"10. Section 57 deals with report of arrest and seizure. Even the Criminal Procedure Code is based on a system of "checks and balances" and in that Code it has been provided that at least in respect of a serious offence when a report is lodged at the police station a special report should be sent immediately to the higher officers. Such provision has been inserted to rule out any possibilities of ante-timed reports. Similarly in the N.D.P.S. Act also section 57 provide that whenever any person makes any arrest or seizure he shall submit report thereof to his superior officer within 48 hours of such arrest or seizure. But in the present case no such report has been brought on record which also creates a reasonable doubt, I find substance in these submissions.

11. It is true that these provisions are not mandatory and are merely directory as was held in the case of Babubhai Odhavji Patel and Ors Vs. State of Gujrat, reported in 2006(1) JIC 732 (SC) : (2005) 8 SCC 725, relied upon by the learned A.G.A. But these lapses shatter the value of evidence and in such cases the possibilities of plantation of the contraband and cannot be ruled out as was held by this Court in the case of Roshan Lal Vs. State of U.P., reported in 2007(2) JIC 650 (SC) : 2007 (58) ACC 723. Even if the aforesaid provisions are directory it does not mean that those should be given a complete go by. In the present case these lapses do create a ring of doubt and possibility of plantation of contraband material as suggested by defence cannot be ruled out."

(20) It has been submitted by learned A.G.A. that compliance of Section 57 NDPS Act is not mandatory. As regards Section 57 NDPS Act, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in "State of Punjab Vs. Balbir Singh" reported in (1994) 3 SCC 294 has held in para 24 as under:-

"24. Sections 52 and 57 come into operation after the arrest and seizure under the Act. Somewhat similar provisions are also there in the CrPC. If there is any violation of these provisions, then the Court has to examine the effect of the same. In that context while determining whether the provisions of the Act to be followed after the arrest or search are directory or mandatory, it will have to be kept in mind that the provisions of a statute creating public duties are generally speaking directory. The provisions of these two sections contain certain procedural instructions for strict compliance by the officers. But if there is no strict compliance of any of these instructions that by itself cannot render the acts done by these officers null and void and at the most it may affect the probative value of the evidence regarding arrest or search and in some cases it may invalidate such arrest or search. But such violation by itself does not invalidate the trial or the conviction if otherwise there is sufficient material. Therefore it has to be shown that such non-compliance has caused prejudice and resulted in failure of justice. The officers, however, cannot totally ignore these provisions and if there is no proper explanation for non-compliance or where the officers totally ignore the provisions then that will definitely have an adverse effect on the prosecution case and the courts have to appreciate the evidence and the merits of the case bearing these aspects in view. However, a mere non-compliance or failure to strictly comply by itself will not vitiate the prosecution."

(21) It is, therefore, clear that non-compliance of Section 57 of NDPS Act is not mandatory but if its non-compliance prejudices the accused, it will certainly have an adverse effect on the prosecution case keeping in view the stringent punishment under the provisions of NDPS Act.

(22) The next submission of learned counsel for the appellant is that the Standing Instructions No. 1/88 and 1/89 issued by the Narcotics Control Bureau, New Delhi have not been complied with. He submits that sample has neither been drawn nor sent as per the aforesaid Standing Instructions.

(23) According to the prosecution case, the incident took place on 29.7.2012 at 5.15 p.m. The samples were drawn on the spot and the same were sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory on 8.8.2012, which was received in the Forensic Science Laboratory on 9.8.2012 and the report of the Forensic Science Laboratory have been received on 17.11.2012.

(24) As per Clause 1.13 of the Standing Instruction No.1/88 dated 15.03.1988, the samples must be dispatched to the laboratory within 72 hours of seizure to avoid any legal objection, whereas in this case, admittedly, samples, which were drawn on 29.7.2012, have not been sent within 72 hours but it was sent beyond 72 hours i.e. on 8.8.2012.

(25) Para 1.21 of the aforesaid Standing Instruction No. 1/88 further provides that duplicate sample of seized narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances must be preserved and kept safely in the custody of Investigating Officer along with the case property. Para 2.9 of the Standing Instruction No. 1/89 provides that the sample in duplicate shall be kept in heat-sealed plastic bags. The duplicate envelope containing the sample is required to have a reference of the test memo as well as are required to be legible. However, in this case, samples have not been sent within 72 hours from the date of seizure. There is no evidence led by the prosecution as to on which date and time, the recovered contraband was deposited in the Malkhana although in the statement of P.W.1-Janak Singh, it has come that recovered contraband was deposited in the Malkhana, however, time and date on which the alleged contraband was deposited in the Malkhana, has not been disclosed by the prosecution. The test sample has not been produced, which is mandatory requirement under para 1.13 of the Standing Instruction No. 1/88. The Malkhana register has not been produced before the Court to show when maal (opium) was deposited in the Malkhana. Clause 1.13 of the Standing Instruction No. 1/88 provides mode and time limit for discharge of the sample of the laboratory and it provides that sample should be dispatched to the laboratory within 72 hours. The relevant para 1.13 is extracted below:-

"13. Mode and time limit for dispatch of sample to Laboratory:- The samples should be sent either by insured post or through special messenger duly authorized for the purpose. Dispatch of samples by registered post or ordinary mail should not be resorted to. Samples must be dispatched to the Laboratory within 72 hours of seizure to avoid any legal objection."

(26) Taking note of the serious infirmity in not following the Standing Instructions, Hon'ble Supreme Court in Union of India Vs. Bal Mukund and others : 2009 (12) SCC 161 has held in para 36 as under :-

"36. There is another aspect of the matter which cannot also be lost sight of. Standing Instruction 1/88, which had been issued under the Act, lays down the procedure for taking samples. The High Court has noticed that PW 7 had taken samples of 25 gm each from all the five bags and then mixed them and sent to the laboratory. There is nothing to show that adequate quantity from each bag had been taken. It was a requirement in law."

(27) Hon'ble Supreme Court in the aforesaid case has held that compliance of Standing Instruction is a requirement in law and non-compliance of the said Standing Instructions causes serious doubt in the prosecution case. The link evidence for want of production of the Malkhana register, the sample seals and date of the said sample deposited in the Malkhana is incomplete. Malkhana register has not been produced. The original seal, which was used for sealing at the place of seizure, has not been deposited in the Malkhana nor has been given in the custody of anyone.

"4. We have seen the report of the Chemical Examiner and there no doubt it is mentioned that one sealed parcel was received containing a powder and it was analysed to be Brown Sugar. But from the records it is clear and it is also noted by both the courts below that the seized article was produced in the court only on 14.1.88 i.e. after a period of more than three months and there is no evidence whatsoever at all to show with whom the seized article was lying and even assuming that it was in the custody of P.W.6, the Officer-in-charge of the Police Station who seized it, there is again nothing to show whether it was sealed and kept there. The learned Counsel for the State no doubt argued that the provisions of Section 55 of the Act are not mandatory but only directory. We need not go into this legal question in this case. Suffice it to say that the article seized appears to have been not kept in proper custody and proper form so that the court can be sure that what was seized only was sent to the Chemical Examiner. There is a big gap and an important missing link. In the mahazar Ex.P.2 which is immediately said to have been prepared, there is nothing mentioned as to under whose custody it was kept after seizure. Unfortunately for the prosecution even P.W.6 does not say that he continued to keep it in his custody under seal till it was produced in the court on 14.1.88. The evidence given by P.W.6 Police Sub-Inspector, who seized the article is absolutely silent as to what he did with the seized article till it was produced in the court. As a matter of fact he did not produce it in the court. P.W.3, A.S.I. is supposed to have produced the same in the court. But P.W.3 does not say anything about this. It is only P.W.7. the Circle Inspector who comes into the picture at a later date, who admitted in the cross-examination that the seized article was sent by P.W.3 (A.S.I.) to the court and P.W.7 in his cross-examination further admitted that he did not even see if the recovered material object was sealed but still he claims that he made the necessary application for sending the material object for chemical examination and it is only through P.W.7 that the Chemical Examiner's Report is marked. P.W.7 further admitted that he did not even know when it reached the court We are constrained to say that the investigation in this case has been perfunctory and on important aspects the evidence of the concerned officers is highly discrepant and unconvincing and does not throw much light. Therefore the evidence adduced is wholly insufficient to conclude that what was seized from the appellant alone was sent to the Chemical Examiner. Though this is purely a question of fact but this is an important link. Both the courts below have not examined this aspect in a proper perspective. No doubt the trafficking in narcotic drugs is a menace to the society but in the absence of satisfactory proof, the courts can not convict."

(29) In the case of State of Rajasthan Vs. Gurmail Singh : 2005 (1) JIC 844 (SC) upheld the acquittal order of the High Court. "3. We have perused the judgment of the High Court. Apart from other reasons recorded by the High Court, we find that the link evidence adduced by the prosecution was not at all satisfactory. In the first instance, though the seized articles are said to have been kept in the malkhana on 20th May, 1995, the Malkhana register was not produced to prove that it was so kept in the malkhana till it was taken over by PW-6 on June 5, 1995. We further find that no sample of the seal was sent along with the sample to Excise Laboratory, Jodhpur for the purpose of comparing with the seal appearing on the sample bottles. Therefore, there is no evidence to prove satisfactorily that the seals found were in fact the same seals as were put on the sample bottles immediately after seizure of the contraband. These loopholes in the prosecution case have led the High Court to acquit the respondent." The High Court as malkhana register was not produced by the prosecution to prove its case along with sample to the excise laboratory. Relevant para 3 of the said judgment is extracted below:-

"3. We have perused the judgment of the High Court. Apart from other reasons recorded by the High Court, we find that the link evidence adduced by the prosecution was not at all satisfactory. In the first instance, though the seized articles are said to have been kept in the malkhana on 20th May, 1995, the Malkhana register was not produced to prove that it was so kept in the malkhana till it was taken over by PW-6 on June 5, 1995. We further find that no sample of the seal was sent along with the sample to Excise Laboratory, Jodhpur for the purpose of comparing with the seal appearing on the sample bottles. Therefore, there is no evidence to prove satisfactorily that the seals found were in fact the same seals as were put on the sample bottles immediately after seizure of the contraband. These loopholes in the prosecution case have led the High Court to acquit the respondent."

(30) In view of the discussion made hereinabove and the statement of P.Ws.1, 2 and 3, it is evident that there is definite non-compliance of Section 50 of NDPS Act, which are mandatory, coupled with the fact that the prosecution has not assigned any reason for not producing the other members of the raiding team as the prosecution witness.

(31) There is also non-compliance of Section 57 NDPS Act and Standing Instructions No. 1/88 and 1/89, which have been held to be requirement in law by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Bal Mukund (supra). The link evidence is not complete as malkhana register has not been produced. The prosecution has miserably failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt against the appellant. There is no independent eye-witness to the alleged recovery.

(32) Admittedly, the appellant prior to her search has not been produced before the Gazetted Officer or the Magistrate, nor any effort has been made by P.W.1 and P.W.2 to produce the appellant before any Gazetted Officer or the Magistrate as required under Section 50 of NDPS Act and as has been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Vijaysinh Chandubha Jadeja (supra). The manner in which the appellant has been searched, is doubtful.

(33) Considering the severe punishment provided in the NDPS case, the prosecuting agency has produced only two witnesses of fact despite the fact that as per the case of the prosecution itself, apart from P.W.1 and P.W.2, other witnesses of fact were also present at the place of occurrence and the prosecution has failed to give any germane reason or justification to not call other witnesses in the witness box during the trial.

(34) The entire prosecution case is based on the sole testimony of PW-1 and PW-2. The seal, which was used for sealing the samples of contraband substance, has not been sent to Forensic Science Laboratory rather it seems that the same was kept by PW-1 himself. Had it been sent for Forensic Science Laboratory, it would have ensured as to whether the sample belongs to the same contraband/substance which was recovered from the accused-appellant from the spot and whether the remainder of the contraband/substance was sealed and sample seal was produced before the Court or not at the time of recording the statement of PW-1 to prove beyond doubt that the contraband, which was produced before the Court, was the same, which has been extracted from accused-appellant from the spot.

(35) It is also noted that since the recovery of contraband/substance could not be proved by the prosecution beyond reasonable doubt from the accused/appellant, no burden can be shifted on the accused/appellant to explain as to how she came in the possession of the contraband/substance under Sections 35 and 54 of NDPS Act. Thus, I am of the opinion that the prosecution has miserably failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt and the learned trial Court has failed to properly appreciate the evidence in a right prospective.

(36) For the aforesaid reasons, the instant appeal is allowed. The judgment and order dated 27.01.2017 passed by the Additional Session Judge, F.T.C.-II, Bahraich (supra) is hereby set-aside. The appellant is acquitted from all charges leveled against her by the learned trial court.

(37) The accused-appellant is on bail. Her bail bonds are canceled and sureties are discharged.

(38) Office is directed to transmit the lower court record along with a copy of the judgment to the Court concerned forthwith for information and follow up action.

1. Heard Sri Satish Chandra Dubey, learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Jitendra Kumar, learned A.G.A. for the State-opposite party.
2. The present appeal under Section 374 (2) Cr.P.C. has been preferred by the sole appellant Ram Kishore assailing the judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 07.01.1982 passed by the learned Trial Court in Sessions Trial No. 252 of 1980 (State vs. Ram Kishore and Others) arising out of Case Crime No. nil of 1979, under Sections 307, 394 IPC, P.S. Baberu, District- Banda whereby the appellant has been convicted for the offences under Sections 302 and 394 of the IPC and sentenced which is as follows:

1. To undergo life imprisonment under Section 302 IPC.

2. To undergo rigorous imprisonment for seven years for the offences under Section 394 IPC.

3. All the punishments shall run concurrently.

3. The trial had proceeded against all the three accused under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC, 307 read with Section 34 IPC and Section 394 IPC.

4. Out of the total three accused, only Ram Kishore has been convicted and the rest two accused Iqbal Bahadur and Ram Gopal were acquitted at the stage of 232 Cr.P.C. The acquittal orders have not been subjected to challenge.

5. Brief facts of the prosecution case are that:

Ramanand lodged an FIR on 18.07.1979 at 06:15 p.m. at Police Station- Baberu, District- Banda, under Sections 307 and 394 IPC against three accused persons, namely, Ram Kishore, Ram Gopal and Iqbal Bahadur stating that on the date of the incident at around 07:00 a.m., he proceeded for his Sasural at Village Amwa, Police Station- Biseda, District- Banda on his bicycle carrying his gun bearing Licence No.

1581 along with 32 cartridges. He reached at Agausi Ghat at about 09:30 a.m., he met three persons, namely, Ram Kishore, Raj Gopal Bhujwa and Iqbal. All the four persons together crossed the river by one boat. After reaching Agausi, they could not get the Bus, therefore, detained at Agausi. The other three wanted to go to Village Patvan but as the Bus did not come, they went to the place of Pheran Bhujwa situated near Agausi Bus Stand. There they took the meals and again went to the Bus Stand at 06:00 p.m. They met a person working in the Malaria Department, who used to live at Village Nimor. In the meantime, accused Ram Kishore took his gun and cartridges. Ram Gopal sat at the bicycle of the first informant while accused Iqbal Bahadur Singh and Ram Kishore sat at the bicycle of the person said to have serving in Malaria Department. When they covered the distance of about one kilometer towards Kazi Tola, near the culvert, on the road side, Ram Kishore fired the gun at Ramanand. The first informant sprang towards the Mahua tree in the field. All the three chased him, then Ram Kishore again fired at him. Hearing the noise, Pheran Bhujwa, Devi Dayal Master and number of other persons reached there. All the three accused persons fled away from the spot with his gun and cartridges. The persons who reached there, took him to Baberu to some distance by Tonga and the rest by a Bus.

6. After reaching the hospital at Baberu, Dr. P.C. Chandel examined the injuries of Ramanand in the intervening night of 18.07.1979 and 19.07.1979 at 12:05 a.m. at Sadar Hospital, Banda. The injuries found by Doctor on the body of Ramanand are as under:

"1. Lacerated wound 13 cm x 2.5 cm x muscle deep on Rt side of face (on cheek) & extending to Back below ear lobule & up to back of neck. Margins lacerated. Skin lost and muscle torn. Blackening and tatooing present on Rt cheek. Adv x-Ray wound is gutter shaped and direction from front to back & slightly downwards.

2. Abrasion 2.5 cm x 0.5 cm on lateral part of external ear including ear lobule.

3. Multiple Abrasions in an area 7 cm x 1.5 cm on upper margin of wound of Injury no. 1 behind the ear lobule.

4. Lacerated wound 9 cm x 7 cm x muscle deep on upper most part of back of Rt. side chest 2 cm below the margin of Injury No. (1) and 4 cm lateral to Achromion process of Rt scapula. Skin lost & tissues are lacerated & muscle torn. Adv x-Ray.

Opinion: Injury No. 1, 4 & 5 kept U.O. Adv. x-Ray face with Neck, x-Ray upper chest & x-Ray Abdomen. Rest are simple.

Duration- Fresh

Caused by Abrasion by friction & rest by firearm."

7. While treatment, Ramanand was identified and brought by C.P. Sujana Singh No. 196, P.S.-Baberu, Banda. During treatment, the condition of the first informant became critical. The Doctor called the Tehsildar, Banda for recording the dying declaration. This dying declaration was recorded on 19.07.1979 at 1:20 a.m. by Sri Shiv Murti Singh Tehsildar/ Magistrate, Banda. The contents of the dying declaration as recorded by Tehsildar, Banda is quoted below:

"बयान किया कि मुझे रामकिशोर बाप का नाम मुझे नहीं पता है जो औगासी में रहता है जो कि थाना मरका में है ने मेरी बन्दूक लेकर औगासी से आगे लगभग एक किलोमीटर पुलिया के आगे मुझ पर फायर कर दिया। पहला फायर मुझे पेट पर लगा फिर मैं भागकर महुआ के बाग की ओर गया फिर वहीं पहुँच कर रामकिशोर ने ही फिर फायर किया। मैं बचने के लिए झुका तो मेरे चेहरे और गर्दन पर फायर से चोट आयी। राम किशोर के साथ राजगोपाल गुप्ता निवासी देवलान थाना गाजीपुर तथा इकबाल निवासी देवलान थाना-गाजीपुर थे। इनके बाप का नाम मुझे नहीं मालूम है। ये लोग मुझे घाट पर मिले थे तथा मेरे साथ ही इन्होंने सुर्ती नाव से औगासी घाट पार किया उसके बाद भुजवा के पास सबने खाना बनवाकर खाया खाना भुजवा ने बनाया था नाम मुझे याद नहीं आ रहा है। हम सब लोग साइकिल पर थे बन्दूक राम किशोर ने औगासी में ले ली थी फिर पुलिया के आगे रामकिशोर ने मेरे ऊपर फायर कर दिया। मैंने हाथ पांव जोड़े कहा कि मुझे न मारो फिर भी मार दिया और पश्चिम की ओर भाग गया। मैं गिर पड़ा फिर कुछ देर बाद गांव के लोग आये और मुझे बबेरू अस्पताल ले गये। बबेरू से मुझे यहां लाया गया। बयान सुनकर तस्दीक किया।"

8. Before recording the dying declaration, the Medical Officer of the Sadar Hospital, Banda gave a certificate that Ramanand was fully conscious at the time of recording of the dying declaration and remained conscious throughout the recording of dying declaration. This document was exhibited as Exhibit Ka-18.

The first informant took his last breath on 19.07.1979 at 11:30 a.m. The post-mortem of Ramanand was conducted on 20.07.1979 and the following ante mortem injuries were found on the body of the deceased:

12. Now, we proceed to examine the prosecution witnesses and the records exhibited :

PW-1 Sri Rampal in his testimony deposed that the deceased Ramanand reached Baberu crossing along with Pheran and Devi Dayal on a Bus, Pheran called him for medical treatment of the deceased Ramanand. PW-1 along with the deceased Ramanand and others went to the hospital but as he asked to first get the PW-2 Pheran deposed that his place lies at Bus-stop, Agausi. He runs an Ikka also. About two years and one month back, Ram Kishore and three others came to his place who were hungry. All four had the meals and went away. Amongst them, one was carrying gun and cartridge. After the meal, all four at around 6:00 to 6:30 p.m. went away. When PW-2 went on his Tonga for about one and a half miles, he saw an injured person lying on the road and could recognise that he is the one who accompanied Ram Kishore and had meals at his place. PW-2 carried the injured on his Tonga and went towards Baberu. Devi Dayal and 4-5 other people also accompanied him. On the way, they saw a Bus passing-by, the injured sat on the Bus, even PW-2 and Devi Dayal came along with the injured to Baberu Chauraha where they met PW-1 Rampal of Village-Agausi. The injured was admitted in the hospital for the treatment where he narrated the incident which was scribed by Rampal (PW-1). Rampal took that report to the Police Station, Baberu from where a home-guard reached to the hospital. The Constable, PW-2 and a person from Patvan took the injured for medical examination at 12:00 mid night to Sadar Hospital, Banda. In his cross-examination, PW-2 had deposed that he knew Ram Kishore, who along with Ram Gopal and Iqbal Bahadur came on his place for the meals.

PW-3 Devi Dayal Singh deposed that about two years back, while he was present at the Baberu Chauraha at about 09:00 p.m., where Rampal PW-1 was also present, a Bus came carrying 15-25 passengers, a person came and informed that there is an injured man, who needs to be admitted in the hospital. He went to the Hospital for the treatment and again accompanied Rampal to the Police Station. In his cross-examination, he denied the suggestion that he was present at Agausi or he was present at the place of the incident nor he saw Ram Kishore firing at the deceased or running away with the gun and cartridge. He also deposed that the distance of the hospital from the Bus Stand was about 70-80 steps away. He saw the injured whining with pain and seeking medical aid.

PW-4 Sub Inspector Mitran Ram prepared the Inquest Report and collected the Post-Mortem Report. In his cross-examination, he deposed that the injured Ramanand died on 19.07.1979 at 11:30 p.m. at District- Sadar Hospital, Banda.

PW-5 S.O. Naipal Singh deposed that on the date of incident he was posted as SHO Police Station, Marka. On that same day, he received relevant documents i.e. FIR, General Diary with regard to registration of the crime from PS-Baberu. As per this GD, the FIR was registered at Police Station-Baberu, which is the part of the GD at P.S.-Marka. At Parcha No. 11, the said witness proved the original GD. On 19.08.1979 itself, the offence under Sections 307 and 394 IPC was converted into offence under Sections 302 and 394 IPC, which is also the part of the Case Diary and proved the Exhibit Ka-10. PW-5 took over the investigation on the same date and recorded the statements of the Head Constable Kaptan Singh, Constable Hari Shankar Tiwari and the statement of the injured Ramanand at Sadar Hospital, Banda under Section 161 Cr.P.C. On the same date, he recorded the statement of Pheran, Shree Pal, who made the spot inspection, prepared the site plan (Exhibit ka-12). He also deposed that Ramanand was in a fit condition, who could speak while recording the statement. He did not make any effort to get his statement recorded by the Magistrate as he could not infer that he may die. Neither he ask the Doctor whether he may die, nor did he enquire Doctor about his health condition. In his cross-examination, he categorically denied that Ramanand was not in a position to speak.

PW-6 Dr. Vikash Chandra proved the post-mortem Report of the deceased Ramanand and found following ante mortem injuries on the body of the deceased which are as under:

वरवक्त मुआयना मैंने पोस्ट मार्टम की इक्जमीनेशन रिपोर्ट प्रदर्श क-१३ जो मेरे लेख व हस्ताक्षर में तैयार किया था।

मेटैलिक 9 शाट्स व वेड्स कागज के पैकेट में सील मोहर दुरुस्त आए सिपाही को साथ एस.पी. के यहां भेज दिया था।

अकेजन चोट नं- 3 गिरने से आ सकती है।

मेरी राय में चोट नं- 1 व दो एक ही शाट से आई थी। चोट नं- 1 व चोट नं-2 खड़े आदमी पर तब आयेगी जब मरने वाला चोटैल से ऊंचे 9 स्थान पर हो। यह चोट लेते हुये आदमी पर मारने से आ सकती है। यदि दो साइकिलों पर हो और मारने वाला पीछे की साइकिल से बन्दूक चलाये तो आगे वाले पर नं-1 व नं-2 चोटें आ सकती है। यदि गर्दन को बेस मानकर नाक पर मेनडिकुलर मान कर कोड बनाये तो 45 या 60 डिगरी का कोड बनेगा। मारने वाले की स्थिति ऊंची हर हालत में होनी चाहिए। यह चोट तो पीछे से आ ही नहीं सकती। चोट नं-4 भी पीछे से नहीं आ सकती।

यदि सड़के के किनारे पड़े हो और उसी सड़क से आदमी साइकिल से जा रहा हो तो साइकिल वाले आदमी को पेड़ से ऊपर से फायर करने पर चोट नं-1 व 2 आ सकती है।

इतनी चोटों के बाद भी आदमी बोलने की स्थिति में रह सकता है। चोट नं-4 ऐसे थी जिसके कारण ज्यादा दर्द रहा होगा।"

PW-7 Dr. P.C. Chandel deposed that he was posted as Medical Officer, Sadar Hospital, Banda and was on emergency duty. On the intervening night of 18/19.07.1979 at 12:05 a.m., he examined the injuries of Ramanand who was brought and identified by Constable Sujan Singh, C.P. 196 and was initially treated and referred by Dr. Khan of Primary Health Center, Baberu. He also proved the ticket brought by Dr. Khan as Exhibit Ka-14. After the medico-legal examination, the Doctor found injuries on the body of Ramanand.

The Doctor opined that Injury Nos. 1, 4 and 5 were kept under observation, rest other injuries were simple. All the injuries were fresh and must have been caused at around 6:00 hours. The abrasion must have been caused due to friction. Rest other injuries were caused due to fire-arm. These injuries could have caused on 18.07.1979 at about 06:00 p.m. He entered the injury in the Injury Register and obtained the signatures of Ramanand and proved it as Exhibit Ka-15. He himself admitted Ramanand in the hospital and proved his bed head ticket as Exhibit Ka-15, which was prepared in his own handwriting. Thereafter, the patient was attended by Dr. D.S. Rana. On 19.07.1979 at 11:20-11:30 a.m., Dr. S.K. Gupta attended the patient proved as Exhibit Ka-16. The names of Dr. D.S. Rana and Dr. S.K. Gupta were mentioned. The patient died at Sadar Hospital, Banda on 19.07.1979 at 11:30 a.m. At the time of admission, the condition of the patient was not good. His blood pressure was low (80/50), but the patient was conscious. During his treatment, the said witness made an effort to get his dying declaration recorded as a result of which on 19.07.1979 at 1:20 a.m., the dying declaration of Ramanand was recorded by Tehsildar, Banda, whose entry is mentioned on the Bed Head Ticket. He witnessed recording of dying declaration and certified the ticket on 19.07.1979 at 1:15 a.m. with a noting that the patient was in a condition to speak.

PW-8 Shiv Murti Singh deposed that he was posted as Tehsildar-cum-Magistrate-II Class at District-Banda. On that same day, he received an information from Sadar Hospital, Banda to get the dying declaration recorded of an injured. He reached the emergency ward of Sadar Hospital, Banda, where the injured was under treatment of Dr. Chandel. The injured was in a condition to speak. The Doctor gave his opinion that the injured was in a condition to speak. Whatever was narrated, he noted it down. After recording the statement, his thumb impression, was obtained on it except the Doctor no other person was present at the time while recording the statement. The said statement was proved as Exhibit Ka-18 which has been prepared in his own hand-writing and bears the information of the Dr. Sri P. C. Chandel about his health condition. He had put his initials of the said dying declaration as was recorded on 19.07.1979 at 1:20 a.m. in mid night.

PW-9 Ram Bahadur Singh Constable C.P. 561 deposed that on 18.07.1979, he was posted at P.S. Baberu, District-Banda as Constable on that day at 09:30 p.m., Ram Pal of Village Agausi came with the Tehrir Report (Exhibit Ka-1). On the basis of which an FIR (Exhibit Ka-19) was registered. The said witness proved the Chik FIR (Exhibit Ka-19). The necessary information was entered into the General Diary which was brought and proved in the original. This information was at once passed to Police Station-Marka on the RT Set at that very moment. At the time of lodging of the FIR, the first informant Ramanand was in the hospital. He sent Constable Sujan Singh and Home guard Ram Sahay to the hospital along with the letter so that the Doctor may treat the injured accordingly. On the very next day, all the relevant documents relating to the case, were sent to the P.S.-Marka. The said witness in his cross-examination stated that he was not aware whether any dying declaration are recorded or not? At that time, S.O. Rajpal Singh was present. Rampal, who brought the Tehrir Report, stated that the condition of the injured was not good.

PW-10 Kaptan Singh deposed that on 19.07.1979, he was posted as Head Muharir, P.S.- Marka, District- Banda and on the same date, he entered the Chik FIR (Exhibit Ka-19), which was registered at Police Station Baberu on 18.07.1979 in his General Diary as Report No. 31, and same was received on 19.07.1979 at 12:15 p.m. This original diary was proved as Exhibit Ka-9. This case was registered in the presence of S.O. Naipal Singh, who took over the investigation. In his cross-examination, the said witness deposed that in case, any information would have been received on RT Set, the same would have been registered in the RT Set Register.

PW-11 Devi Dayal Prajapati, is the second Investigating Officer and was posted as S.H.O., P.S.- Marka, District- Banda. He deposed that initially the investigation was entrusted to the then S.O. Naipal Singh, after his transfer, he took over the investigation on 22.10.1979 and recorded the statement of the accused and other witnesses and filed the charge-sheet and proved it as Exhibit Ka-21. In his cross-examination, he deposed that he forgot to record the statement of the person working in the Malaria Department. He did not even try to find out the licence of the gun. He even did not find the application given by Sukuru Lal Verma.

PW-12 Sukuru Lal Verma was examined as an injured witness and deposed that on 18.07.1979 i.e. on the date of the occurrence, he was posted in Agausi area as a house visitor. He used to collect blood from individuals for examination and analysis and also used to distribute Malaria tablets. He stated that he had gone to Agausi on 18.07.1979 in connection with discharge of his duties. He stated that he kept his bicycle at the place of Bhujwa who lives near Agausi Bus Stand. He returned from Agausi at about 6:00 to 6:30 pm. He collected his bicycle from the place of said Bhujwa and when he had gone only a distance of 10 steps, he met three persons. He did not know them from before, he stated that one of them had bicycle and one of them had a gun and third was empty handed. His residential house was situated in Nimore, a place near Kazi Tola. He was going to Nimore. They requested him to accompany them upto Kazi Tola and gave one of them to sit on his bicycle. One of them started driving his bicycle and the rest two rode the other bicycle. The said rest two persons followed his bicycle. When they covered a distance of about 1¼ or 1½ kms., one of the said two persons, who were on bicycle behind him, fired a gun, which hit him at his left thumb. The other person who was driving his bicycle left his bicycle and ran towards west of the road. While he was running towards Agausi, he heard another voice of gun. He accompanied two persons from Agausi and again went back to the place of occurrence. He did not find any person there. He with the help of those two persons whom he had accompanied from Agausi, rode his bicycle and went away to his residential place. On 19.07.1979, he went to Baberu Hospital and along with the Doctor he went to the Police Station and handed over an application marked as Exhibit Ka-22. He stated that these accused persons are not the one who were with him and the deceased at the time of the occurrence. He refused to recollect names of persons who accompanied with him to the place of occurrence and also the name of Bhujwa.

After the closure of the prosecution evidence further statements of the accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. were recorded. The accused pleaded the innocence and stated that they have been falsely implicated in this case. Accused/appellant Ram Kishore stated that he had heard that such an occurrence had taken place. On hearing about this occurrence, he also went to Bus Stand but heard that some persons had taken the injured to Baberu Hospital. He further stated that one Ram Das is inimical to him and he got him falsely implicated in this case.

14. Per contra, learned A.G.A. Sri Jitendra Kumar vehemently opposed the argument raised by the counsel for the appellant and argued that judgment passed by the Trial Court does not contain any infirmities and it is based on evidence and testimony of the prosecution witnesses. Trial Court has rightly convicted the appellant after considering and evaluating the facts and law. There is dying declaration against the appellant regarding his involvement in the crime. Learned A.G.A. has supported the judgment, conviction and the sentence.

15. Findings and Analysis:

After the meticulous examination of the evidence on record, it can be safely concluded that both sides agreed that Ramanand was murdered. Accused persons have not challenged the place of occurrence. There was no dispute between the parties about the time or place of the occurrence and in his dying declaration, injured/informant stated that he was fired near a Puliya (Culvert) about one kilometer away from Agausi. Accused persons have not challenged this place and have admitted that an occurrence, as he had heard, did happen, at the said place. There is an eye witness account of the incident. Pheran Bhujwa examined as P.W.-2 and few others of the Village found the deceased in an injured condition at the said place. All these evidence taken together clearly establish the place of occurrence on the road side on Agausi, Baberu Road at a distance of one kilometer from Agausi. Sukuru Lal Verma PW-12, injured/eye witness who accompanied the deceased at the time of the occurrence, has supported the prosecution so far the fact as to when where and how the occurrence took place but he refused to identify the accused persons. Rest of the persons, who were seen with the deceased instead of being cited as witnesses, have been arraigned as accused. There was no other person present at the time of occurrence. Under these circumstances, the only direct evidence against the accused appellant available if at all, is the dying declaration of Ramanand which can be made a basis of conviction. Dr. P.C. Chandel examined the injuries of the deceased in the intervening night of 18/19.07.1979 at Sadar Hospital, Banda. He found three abrasions and gun shot wounds at four places, two of entry and two of exit. Dr. Vikas Chandra, who conducted the post-mortem examination on the dead body of deceased found these gun shot injuries at the time of the post-mortem examination. According to him, death of the deceased was caused due to the shock and haemorrhage. These injuries in the ordinary course were sufficient to cause the death of any man. Under these circumstances, it can be safely concluded that deceased Ramanand was murdered.

16. It has further been noticed that the FIR was dictated by Ramanand. His statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. was recorded by the Investigating Officer and a dying declaration was also recorded by the Magistrate. Exhibit Ka-18 is a dying declaration of the deceased Ramanand which was recorded by P.W.-8 Shiv Murti Singh Tehsildar, Banda on 19.07.1979 in the hospital premises. It bears the certificate of the Doctor that Ramanand, the injured, was fully conscious at the time of recording his statement and remained conscious throughout the process of the said recording. There was no chance of any tutoring at all. Thus, the deceased was in a fit state of mind to make the statement, he clearly identified the assailant and voluntarily made a true statement without any foreign influence or rancour. The said statement is also corroborated by medical evidence and the statements of P.W.-2 and P.W.-12. The deceased had no enmity with any of the accused, therefore, it cannot be expected to have mentioned any wrong facts against any of the accused persons. The deceased stated that it was only accused Ram Kishore who attacked him and in spite of his request did not spare, and gave another fire shot. He has also stated the manner in which the injuries were received. He stated that at the first shot, he fell upon when he was on a bicycle and in the second impact he again fell upon when he was in a crouching position. After carefully considering the injury report, post-mortem report, seat of the injuries and the opinion of the Doctor, it can be concluded that Ramanand received two gun shot injuries at two places, one could have been caused in straight line while he was sitting on the bicycle and other could be caused in a crouching position. The fact that accused Ram Kishore fired two shots at the injured and ran away with the gun and 32 cartridges, has also been proved. His statement well corroborates with the medical evidence establishing the guilt of the accused appellant.

17. Case Laws cited and relied:

The law on the subject of dying declaration has been clearly and explicitly enunciated by the Apex Court.

1. In Khushal Rao vs. State of Bombay 1958 SCR 552: AIR 1958 SC 22: 1958 Cri LJ 106 which held as under:

"On a review of the relevant provisions of the Evidence Act and of the decided cases in the different High Courts in India and in this Court, we have come to the conclusion, in agreement with the opinion of the Full Bench of the Madras High Court, aforesaid, (1) that it cannot be laid down as an absolute rule of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction unless it is corroborated; (2) that each case must be determined on its own facts keeping in view the circumstances in which the dying declaration was made; (3) that it cannot be laid down as a general proposition that a dying declaration is a weaker kind of evidence than other pieces of evidence; (4) that a dying declaration stands on the same footing as another piece of evidence and has to be judged in the light of surrounding circumstances and with reference to the principles governing the weighing of evidence; (5) that a dying declaration which has been recorded by a competent Magistrate in the proper manner; that is to say, in the form of questions and answers, and, as far as practicable, in the words of the maker of the declaration, stands on a much higher footing than a dying declaration which depends upon oral testimony which may suffer from all the infirmities of human memory and human character; and (6) that in order to test the reliability of a dying declaration, the Court has to keep in view, the circumstances like the opportunity of the dying man for observation, for example, whether there was sufficient light if the crime was committed at night; whether the capacity of the man to remember the facts stated, had not been impaired at the time he was making the statement, by circumstances beyond his control; that the statement has been consistent throughout if he had several opportunities of making a dying declaration apart from the official record of it; and that the statement had been made at the earliest opportunity and was not the result of tutoring by interested parties.

Hence, in order to pass the test of reliability, a dying declaration has to be subjected to a very close scrutiny, keeping in view the fact that the statement has been made in the absence of the accused who had no opportunity of testing the veracity of the statement by cross-examination."

2. In Laxman vs. State of Maharashtra (2002) 6 SCC 710, it has been held that:

"The situation in which a man is on the deathbed is very solemn and serene, is the reason in law to accept the veracity of his statement. It is for this reason that the requirements of oath and cross-examination are dispensed with. Since the accused has no power of cross-examination, the Courts insist that the dying declaration should be of such a nature as to inspire full confidence of the Court in its truthfulness and correctness. The court, however, has always to be on guard to see that the statement of the deceased was not as a result of either tutoring or prompting or a product of imagination. The court also must further decide that the deceased was in a fit state of mind and had the opportunity to observe and identify the assailant. Normally, therefore, the court in order to satisfy whether the deceased was in a fit mental condition to make the dying declaration looks up to the medical opinion. But where the eyewitnesses state that the deceased was in a fit and conscious state to make the declaration, the medical opinion will not prevail, nor can it be said that since there is no certification of the doctor as to the fitness of the mind of the declarant, the dying declaration is not acceptable. A dying declaration can be oral or in writing and any adequate method of communication whether by words or by signs or otherwise will suffice provided the indication is positive and definite. There is no requirement of law that a dying declaration must necessarily be made to a Magistrate and when such statement is recorded by a Magistrate there is specified statutory form for such recording. Consequently, what evidential value or weight has to be attached to such statement necessarily depends on the facts and circumstances of each particular case. What is essentially required is that the person who records a dying declaration must be satisfied that the deceased was in a fit state of mind. Where it is proved by the testimony of the Magistrate that the declarant was fit to make the statement even without examination by the doctor the declaration can be acted upon provided the court ultimately holds the same to be voluntary and truthful. A certification by the doctor is essentially a rule of caution and therefore the voluntary and truthful nature of the declaration can be established otherwise."

3. In Poonam Bai vs. State of Chhattisgarh (2019) 6 SCC 145, it has been held that:

"A dying declaration can be the sole basis for convicting the accused. However, such a dying declaration should be trustworthy, voluntary, blemishless and reliable. In case the person recording dying declaration is satisfied that declarant is in a fit medical condition to make the statement and if there are no suspicious circumstances, dying declaration may not be invalid solely on the ground that it was not certified by the doctor"

4. In Jayamma and Another vs. State of Karnataka (2021) 6 SCC 213 it has been held that:

"When a dying declaration has been recorded in accordance with law, and it gives a cogent and plausible explanation of the occurrence, the court can rely upon it as the solitary piece of evidence to convict the accused. It is for such reason that Section 32 of the Evidence Act, 1872 is an exception to the general rule against the admissibility of hearsay evidence and its Clause (1) makes the statement of the deceased admissible. Such statement, classified as a "dying declaration" is made by a person as to the cause of his death or as to the injuries which culminated to his death or the circumstances under which injuries were inflicted. A dying declaration is thus admitted in evidence on the premise that the anticipation of brewing death breeds the same human feelings as that of a conscientious and guiltless person under oath. It is a statement comprising of last words of a person before his death which are presumed to be truthful, and not infected by any motive or malice. The dying declaration is therefore admissible in evidence on the principle of necessity as there is very little hope of survival of the maker, and if found reliable, it can certainly form the sole basis for conviction."

18. Section 32(1) of the Evidence Act, 1872 provides for the relevance of the statement made by a person who is dead. Section 32(1) of the Evidence Act, 1872 is reproduced below:

"32. Cases in which statement of relevant fact by person who is dead or cannot be found, etc., is relevant.- Statements, written or verbal, of relevant facts made by a person who is dead, or who cannot be found, or who has become incapable of giving evidence, or whose attendance cannot be procured without an amount of delay or expense which under the circumstances of the case appears to the Court unreasonable, are themselves relevant facts in the following cases:-

(1) when it relates to cause of death. —When the statement is made by a person as to the cause of his death, or as to any of the circumstances of the transaction which resulted in his death, in cases in which the cause of that person's death comes into question.

Such statements are relevant whether the person who made them was or was not, at the time when they were made, under expectation of death, and whatever may be the nature of the proceeding in which the cause of his death comes into question."

19. Series of judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court laying down the law on "dying declaration" reveals that a dying declaration can be the sole basis of conviction if it is trustworthy, voluntary, blemishless and reliable. A dying declaration stands on the same footing as another piece of evidence and has to be judged in the light of surrounding circumstances and with reference to the principles governing the weighing of evidence. To test the reliability of a dying declaration, the Court has to keep in view, the circumstances like the opportunity of the dying man for observation, for example, whether there was sufficient light if the crime was committed at night; whether the capacity of the man to remember the facts stated, had not been impaired at the time he was making the statement, by circumstances beyond his control; that the statement has been consistent throughout if he had several opportunities of making a dying declaration apart from the official record of it; and that the statement had been made at the earliest opportunity and was not the result of tutoring by interested party. The situation in which a man is on the deathbed is very solemn and serene, is the reason in law to accept the veracity of his statement. Since the accused has no power of cross-examination, the Court insist that the dying declaration should be of such a nature as to inspire full confidence of the Court in its truthfulness and correctness. A dying declaration can be oral or in writing and any adequate method of communication whether by words or by signs or otherwise will suffice provided the indication is positive and definite. There is no requirement of law that a dying declaration must necessarily be made to a Magistrate and when such statement is recorded by a Magistrate there is specified statutory form for such recording. Consequently, what evidential value or weight has to be attached to such statement necessarily depends on the facts and circumstances of each particular case. What is essentially required is that the person who records a dying declaration must be satisfied that the deceased was in a fit state of mind. Where it is proved by the testimony of the Magistrate that the declarant was fit to make the statement even without examination by the doctor the declaration can be acted upon provided the court ultimately holds the same to be voluntary and truthful. A certification by the doctor is essentially a rule of caution and therefore the voluntary and truthful nature of the declaration can be established otherwise. When a dying declaration has been recorded in accordance with law, and it gives a cogent and plausible explanation of the occurrence, the court can rely upon it as the solitary piece of evidence to convict the accused. Such statement, classified as a "dying declaration" is made by a person as to the cause of his death or as to the injuries which culminated to his death or the circumstances under which injuries were inflicted. A dying declaration is thus admitted in evidence on the premise that the anticipation of brewing death breeds the same human feelings as that of a conscientious and guiltless person under oath. As per Sub-Section (1) of Section 32 of the Evidence Act, 1872, when the statement is made by a person as to the cause of his death, or as to any of the circumstances of the transaction which resulted in his death, in cases in which the cause of that person's death comes into question, then such statements are relevant whether the person who made them was or was not under expectation of death, at the time when they were made.

20. Applying on the facts and circumstances of the present case the provisions of Section 32(1) of the Evidence Act, 1872 and the principles of law settled by Hon'ble Supreme Court as briefly summarised above, we find that the dying declaration of the deceased was recorded by a Magistrate who deposed as PW-8. In his testimony, he stated that the injured was in a condition to speak and the doctor has given his opinion that the injured was in a condition to speak and when the deceased's statement was recorded, no one except the doctor was present. The PW-8 has proved the "dying declaration" (Ex. ka-18) which was prepared by the PW-8 in his own handwriting and bears the opinion of Dr. P.C. Chandel (PW-7) about his health condition. The statement of the deceased was recorded on 01:20 A.M. on 19.07.1979. The PW-7 Dr. P.C. Chandel has stated in his evidence that the patient was conscious at the time of recording of his statement by the PW-8 and entry to this effect was made on the Bed Head Ticket with a noting that the patient was in a condition to speak. The learned trial court has found the dying declaration to be trustworthy and not tutored. Under the circumstances, the dying declaration (Ex.ka-18) as proved by the PW-8 and corroborated with the evidence of PW-7, has to be given due weight. Considering the evidence of prosecution witnesses as noted in paragraph-12 of this judgment, we are of the view that the "dying declaration" of the deceased was voluntary and trustworthy. Therefore, it can be safely concluded that the accused Ram Kishore committed the offence under Section 302 and 394 I.P.C. Accordingly, his conviction and sentence under Sections 302, 394 I.P.C. deserves to be confirmed.

21. For all the reasons stated herein above, this Court finds no reason to interfere with the impugned judgment and order dated 7.1.1982 passed by the Trial Court in Session Trial No. 252 of 1980 convicting and sentencing the sole appellant Ram Kishore for the offences under Sections 302 and 394 IPC. This Court is in complete agreement to the view taken by the Trial Court and affirms the same. The appeal is, accordingly, dismissed. Accused/appellant Ram Kishore has already been arrested and sent to jail on 20.07.2023. He shall serve out the remaining period of sentence in terms of the impugned judgment and order dated 07.01.1982 passed by the Trial Court.

22. Office is directed to transmit a certified copy of this judgment and order to the concerned Court for necessary information and compliance. It is further directed that the original record of the case be returned forthwith which shall be kept safely by the trial Court.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Umesh Chandra Sharma, J.)

1. Heard Sri Indra Pratap Singh, learned counsel for the appellants, Ms. Anupriya Jaiswal, learned AGA for the State and perused the record.

2. This appeal has been preferred by the convicts Gudun, Suresh, Jangay and Harish Chandra to set aside the judgment and order of conviction and sentencing dated 03.06.2000 passed by the XI-Additional Sessions Judge, Faizabad in ST No.827 of 1997 (State Vs. Gudun and others) arising out of Case Crime No.55 of 1997, under Sections 376, 354, 506 IPC, Police Station Khandasa, District Faizabad whereby the accused persons had been convicted under Section 376/511 IPC for five years rigorous imprisonment and fine of Rs.2,000/- each and in case of non-payment of fine to undergo six months additional incarceration; under Section 354 IPC for one year's rigorous imprisonment each; under Section 506(2) IPC for one year's rigorous imprisonment each. It was also directed that all the sentences shall run concurrently.

3. In brief, facts of the case are that informant Shreepal lodged an FIR on 08.03.1997 that in the night of 03.03.1997 at about 09:00 p.m. his daughter had gone outside the house to attend the call of nature. Gudun and Musey sons of Radhey Shyam, Suresh son of Jagram, Harish Chandra son of Salikram and Jangay son of Keshri threw his daughter on the ground. Gudun caught her breast and when Harish Chandra opened her saree with ill intentions, she cried, upon which Ram Dulare Yadav, Ramdev and Chandrika Prasad Tiwari and some other persons of his village reached on the spot and saw the accused escaping therefrom. As the matter was about his daughter, he did not approach the police but when they started threatening to kill him, he requested to lodge an FIR and protect him.

4. In this case the accused 'Musey' was declared juvenile and his case was transmitted to the Juvenile Justice Board, Faizabad for trial. The case of rest of the accused persons was committed and the charges were framed under Sections 376/511, 354, 506 IPC. Accused persons denied the charges and sought trial.

5. Prosecution examined following witnesses in its support:-

1	PW-1	Shreepal, informant

2	PW-2	Smt. Kusuma
3	PW-3	Dr. P. Nath
4	PW-4	Ramesh Chand Tiwari, constable moharrir
5	PW-5	SI Ram Nagina Yadav
6	PW-6	Dr. Sushma Singh

6. Following documentary evidences have been adduced by the prosecution:-

1	Ex.Ka-1	Written complaint
2	Ex.Ka-2	Injury report of the victim
3	Ex.Ka-3	Chik FIR
4	Ex.Ka-4	Carbon copy kaymi GD
5	Ex.Ka-5	Map
6	Ex.Ka-6	Charge sheet
7	Ex.Ka-7	Age determination report of the victim

(I) Grounds of Appeal

7. The grounds taken by the accused persons are that: (i) the trial court failed to examine and evaluate the evidence on record correctly and judicially and has mistaken in passing the impugned order; (ii) the trial court could not consider that the story of the case was concocted and the same could not be substantiated by the prosecution; (iii) the impugned judgment has been passed on conjunctures and surmises; (iv) the trial court could not come to the conclusion that it was a malicious prosecution on account of enmity, the evidences are itself contradictory and the story is imaginary, the trial court failed to appreciate the main evidence which is falsifying the whole case; (v) the punishment is excess and the judgment and order is illegal and arbitrary and is not sustainable in the eyes of law. Hence, the impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentencing be set aside and the appeal be allowed.

(II) Brief discussion on the statements of prosecution witnesses

8. PW-1, informant, Shreepal has deposed that at about 09:00-10:00 p.m. on the date of incident when he was making jaggery, Ram Dulare and Chandrika were sitting at the house of Rampal, he heard the screams of his 14-15 years old daughter to save her. He ran there with a torch. Ram Dulare, Chandrika, Rampal and Ramdev had also reached after him and saw that accused Musey was doing dirty things with his daughter and accused Gudun had caught her hand and breast on the point of a country-made pistol. Harish Chandra had opened her saree and she was lying in naked position. This incident had taken place in the field of Ram Jiyavan. His daughter told that accused Musey raped her. Rest of the accused persons were doing bad things with her. The girl narrated the story in front of her mother Dashrath Dei, Ram Dulare, Chandrika Tiwari and Ramdev. This witness has testified/recognized the signature on the written complaint Ex.Ka-1.

9. PW-2, Kusuma has deposed that the incident occurred about one year and ten months ago. It was 10 o'clock in the night she had gone outside the house to attend the call of nature in Ram Jiyavan's field. Accused Harish Chandra, Gudun, Chandrika, Musey and Suresh residents of her village reached and first caught her and threw her on the ground. Gudun was threatening with a country-made pistol. Accused Musey committed misdemeanour with her by his penis in her urethra/urinary tract. When he was doing that thing, rest of the accused persons had held her. When she raised alarm, her father and thereafter her mother and wife of Chhote Lal, Ram Dulare, Ramdev, Rampal and Baba reached there. First of all, Gudun had lit the torch. Her father also had lit the torch. When they approached the accused, they ran away. Her father had opened her tied legs.

10. PW-3, Dr. P. Nath had examined the victim and found hard crust in an area of 0.5cm x 0.5cm on the base behind the little finger of the right hand and opined that it would have come from a blunt object. It may also occur if any one is thrown on the ground.

11. PW-4, Chandrika Tiwari has proved chik FIR Ex.Ka-3 and carbon copy kaymi GD Ex.Ka-4 regarding lodging of the FIR.

12. PW-5, SI Ram Nagina Yadav has deposed that the case was lodged in his absence. He had copied the chik FIR and GD, recorded the statements of Ram Dulare, Ramdev and mother of the victim. Prepared map Ex.Ka-5 and recorded the statement of the informant and the victim on 18.03.1997, copied the medical report and added Section 376 IPC, arrested the accused Harish Chandra, Musey Yadav and Gudun and recorded their statements and after finding sufficient evidence submitted the charge sheet Ex.Ka-6 under Sections 376, 354, 506 IPC.

13. PW-6, Dr. Sushma Singh has deposed that she had medically examined the victim on 10.03.1997 at about 06:00 p.m. The victim was telling injury to be on her right hand. There was no injury on her private part. Hymen was old torn and healed. Two fingers were easily entering into her vagina. Vaginal smear was collected and sent to the pathologist. The victim was referred to the CMO who determined her age to be 17 years. (No pathological report regarding presence of live or dead sperm was produced/found).

(III) Discussion on Merit

14. The first argument advanced by the learned counsel for the appellants is that there is undue delay in lodging the FIR. According to the prosecution, the offence occurred in the night of 03.03.1997 and the FIR had been lodged in the night of 08.03.1997. As per the FIR it was mere a case of molestation and an attempt to commit rape but after investigation the charge sheet was submitted under Section 376, 354, 506(2) IPC. The informant deposed that on 04.03.1997 he went to the concerned SHO but he did not lodge the FIR and when he moved an application to the DIG only then FIR could be lodge but in support of these facts no independent oral evidence has been produced. So far as the submission of written report to the DIG is concerned, no such report has been proved during the examination-in-chief. However, during the course of cross-examination the witness was asked about the application submitted to the DIG in which some different facts have also been mentioned which is not the case of the prosecution. It has also come out that according to this witness he had already moved an FIR which had been torn by the SHO and when he moved another FIR it was considered for sending her daughter for medical examination. However, in absence of proof of letter to DIG in accordance with law, it can be said that when there was enmity between both the parties the case was lodged after an unreasonable delay though in cases of rape and molestation five days' delay is not fatal for the prosecution but the circumstances in which the concerned FIR has been lodged would also to be considered before concluding as to whether the FIR has been lodged with an unreasonable delay or not.

15. This Court has also considered the fact that in this case all the alleged witnesses of the FIR (who have not been examined in the court) were either relatives or the residents of remote distance. Out of the witnesses mentioned in the FIR, Ramdev Yadav was brother-in-law (bahnoi) of the informant who stated in his statement under Section 161 CrPC that he had not seen the occurrence. He had heard that the accused threw the victim on the ground. Chandrika Prasad Tiwari was residing 10 kms away from his village. Ram Dulare was the resident of his village but he has not been examined in the court. He has not supported the prosecution version in his statement under Section 161 CrPC but has stated that he saw the victim coming with her mother from the fields. He did not see any one escaping from the spot. He heard that accused persons had thrown the victim on the ground for molesting her.

16. Though, the victim of such case is at par to the injured witnesses and her evidence should be considered if she is found to be trustworthy and a sterling witness but it is not so and the circumstances and the medical evidence are not in support of the prosecution case, therefore, corroboration from the independent evidence would be necessary to convict the accused.

17. In this case all the accused persons are the family members and there was enmity on account of a civil case with the informant. Out of them Musey and Gudun were the real brothers. According to this Court, such offence cannot be committed by the two real brothers together in presence of their senior family members. In this regard defence has submitted documentary evidence regarding the civil case pending between the parties i.e. Case No.64 of 1984 which was instituted by the father of the accused Gudun and Musey against the family members of the informant. The enmity is double edged weapon. On account of enmity an offence can be caused and an innocent person may also be falsely implicated in a false and concocted case. In this case considering the facts, circumstances, medical and oral evidence and improvement from the original case, during the course of trial, it can be safely concluded that on account of enmity the accused persons have falsely been implicated as father of the accused Musey and Gudun had purchased a land which was claimed by the informant as his sahan land.

18. According to this Court, if the victim had gone to the fields lonely and accused Musey wanted to rape and molest her, there was no need of any other person. A young boy is strong enough to overpower a girl of tender age for molesting and committing rape upon her. Involving all the family members and assigning role to all of the accused persons that one has caught hold her one hand, another caught hold her second hand, some other accused had caught hold her left leg, her right leg and the accused Musey was committing rape with the victim in presence of his elder brother and his other elder family members, appears to be a concocted story away from the reality.

19. It has also been argued that the victim was not a girl of good moral character. She had illicit relation with a boy of her village. On the day of occurrence she was seen in an inebriated/objectionable condition with him for which a propaganda spread in the village, therefore, only to save the honour of the victim this false story had been concocted by the informant taking the victim and her mother into confidence with the assistance of his brother-in-law, Ramdev Yadav. In this regard Section 53 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (in short 'the Act, 1872') is material. For ready reference Section 53 of the Act, 1872 reads as under:-

20. It is noteworthy that it is a case of molestation and attempt to commit rape as the charge was framed under Section 376/511 IPC, therefore, amended Section 53A of the Act, 1872 which was inserted by the Act of 2013 would not apply.

21. At this score Section 155 of the Act, 1872 is relevant and the same is reproduced herein below:-

“155. Impeaching credit of witness.—The credit of a witness may be impeached in the following ways by the adverse party, or, with the consent of the Court, by the party who calls him—

(1) by the evidence of persons who testify that they, from their knowledge of the witness believe him to be unworthy of credit;

(2) by proof that the witness has been bribed, or has [accepted] the offer of a bribe, or has received any other corrupt inducement to give his evidence;

(3) by proof of former statements inconsistent with any part of his evidence which is liable to be contradicted.”

22. Since it is a case of the year 1997, therefore, the sub-section (4) of Section 155 of the Act, 1872 which was deleted by Amendment Act of 2002 would be relevant and applicable which reads as under:-

“(4) When a man is prosecuted for rape or an attempt to ravish, it may be shown that the prosecutrix was of generally immoral character.”

23. Thus, this Court is of the view that sub-section (4) of Section 155 of the Act, 1872 was into existence at the time of commission of the alleged crime, therefore, this case would have also to be seen in the light of the omitted sub-section (4) of Section 155 of the Act, 1872 because the medical report and the evidence of PW-3 and PW-6 are not in support of the prosecution version.

24. It would be expedient to discuss the norms regarding rape as defined under Section 375 IPC which is punishable under Section 376 IPC. Sections 375 and 376 IPC reads thus:-

“375. Rape.—A man is said to commit “rape” who, except in the case hereinafter excepted, has sexual intercourse with a woman under circumstances falling under any of the six following descriptions:—

(First) — Against her will.

(Secondly) — Without her consent.

(Thirdly) — With her consent, when her consent has been obtained by putting her or any person in whom she is interested in fear of death or of hurt.

(Fourthly) — With her consent, when the man knows that he is not her husband, and that her consent is given because she believes that he is another man to whom she is or believes herself to be lawfully married.

(Fifthly) — With her consent, when, at the time of giving such consent, by reason of unsoundness of mind or intoxication or the administration by him personally or through another of any stupefying or unwholesome substance, she is unable to understand the nature and consequences of that to which she gives consent.

(Sixthly) — With or without her consent, when she is under sixteen years of age. Explanation.—Penetration is sufficient to constitute the sexual intercourse necessary to the offence of rape.

(Exception) — Sexual intercourse by a man with his own wife, the wife not being under fifteen years of age, is not rape.

376. Punishment for rape.—(1) Whoever, except in the cases provided for by sub-section (2), commits rape shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which shall not be less than seven years but which may be for life or for a term which may extend to ten years and shall also be liable to fine unless the woman raped is his own wife and is not under twelve years of age, in which cases, he shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to two years or with fine or with both: Provided that the court may, for adequate and special reasons to be mentioned in the judgment, impose a sentence of imprisonment for a term of less than seven years.

(2) Whoever,—

(a) being a police officer commits rape—

(i) within the limits of the police station to which he is appointed; or

(ii) in the premises of any station house whether or not situated in the police station to which he is appointed; or

(iii) on a woman in his custody or in the custody of a police officer subordinate to him; or

(b) being a public servant, takes advantage of his official position and commits rape on a woman in his custody as such public servant or in the custody of a public servant subordinate to him; or

(c) being on the management or on the staff of a jail, remand home or other place of custody established by or under any law for the time being in force or of a woman's or children's institution takes advantage of his official position and commits rape on any inmate of such jail, remand home, place or institution; or

(d) being on the management or on the staff of a hospital, takes advantage of his official position and commits rape on a woman in that hospital; or

(e) commits rape on a woman knowing her to be pregnant; or

(f) commits rape on a woman when she is under twelve years of age; or

(g) commits gang rape, shall be punished with rigorous imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than ten years but which may be for life and shall also be liable to fine: Provided that the Court may, for adequate and special reasons to be mentioned in the judgment, impose a sentence of imprisonment of either description for a term of less than ten years.

Explanation 1.—Where a woman is raped by one or more in a group of persons acting in furtherance of their common intention, each of the persons shall be deemed to have committed gang rape within the meaning of this sub-section.

Explanation 2.—“Women's or children's institution” means an institution, whether called an orphanage or a home for neglected woman or children or a widows' home or by any other name, which is established and maintained for the reception and care of woman or children.

Explanation 3.—“Hospital” means the precincts of the hospital and includes the precincts of any institution for the reception and treatment of persons during convalescence or of persons requiring medical attention or rehabilitation.”

25. Section 375 IPC requires two essentials; (i) sexual intercourse with a woman; (ii) sexual intercourse must be under the circumstances following under any of the six clauses of the aforesaid section.

26. It is not a case of consent though in 1993 the age of consent was above 16 years as per description six of Section 375 IPC. Hence, the age of the victim is immaterial though according to PW-6, the victim was about 17 years old. The intention or expression or even an indecent assault upon a woman does not amount to attempt to rape unless the determination of accused to gratify his passion at all events and in spite of the resistance is established.

27. In Aman Kumar Vs. State, AIR 2004 SC 1497 the Apex Court held that in order to find an accused guilty of an attempt with intent to commit rape, court has to be satisfied that the accused, when he led hold of the prosecutrix, not only desired to gratify his passion but that he intended to do so at all events, and notwithstanding any resistance on her part. Indecent assaults are often magnitude into attempt of rape in order to come to the conclusion that the conduct of the accused was indicative of a determination to gratify his passion at all events, and in spite of resistance. Material must exist. Surrounding circumstances many times through becom light that aspect. To convict a accused under Section 376 IPC the prosecution must prove; (i) that the accused had sexual intercourse with a woman in question; (ii) that the act was done under circumstances falling under any of the six descriptions specified in Section 375 IPC; (iii) that such woman was not the wife of the accused or, if she was his wife, she was under 15 years of age; (iv) that there was penetration (Explanation-I of Section 375 IPC).

28. As per second explanation there is no need of full penetration of penis with emission of semen and rapture of hymen. Partial penetration within a labia majora of the vulva or pudendum with or without emission of semen is sufficient to constitute the offence of rape.

(IV) Burden of Proof

30. In Tukaram Vs. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1979 SC 185 it has been held that in a case of rape, the onus is always on the prosecution to prove affirmatively each ingredient of the offence it seeks to establish and such onus never shifts.

31. In Nilambar Goudo Vs. State of Orissa, 1982 Cri LJ NOC 172 (Ori) it was held that it is duty of the defence to explain as to how and why in a rape case the victim and her mother have falsely implicated the accused. The evidence of prosecution witnesses cannot be accepted merely because an accused persons has not been able to say as to why they have come forward to depose against them.

32. In Joginder Singh Vs. State of Punjab, 1974 CrLJ 117 it is held that however the great suspicion against the accused and however strong the moral belief and conviction of the judge, unless the offence of the accused is established beyond reasonable doubt or beyond the possibility of reasonable doubt on the basis of legal evidence and material on the record, he cannot be convicted for the offence. There is an initial presumption of innocence of the accused and the prosecution has to bring the offence whom to the accused by reliable evidence, the accused is entitled to the benefit of every reasonable doubt. In the instant case, it could not be established beyond doubt that the sexual intercourse was committed by the accused with the victim girl without her consent or against her will. Consequently the offence under Section 376 IPC was not established.

33. Here the appellants have not taken the defence that an offence of attempt to commit rape or an offence of rape had been committed by either of the accused.

(V) Medical Evidence

34. In this case no medical examination of any accused had been conducted even Musey who alleged to have committed the offence has also not been medically examined to establish the commission of crime by him. The accused is entitled to say that if medical examination of the vital or the material part of his body would have been conducted, he would have been in a position to show that the condition of those parts negatived the possibility of his guilt, (Ram Kali Vs. State of UP, AIR 1947 All 191).

35. It is difficult to believe that after prolonged forcible sexual intercourse no injury might be caused to the private parts or other parts of the prosecutrix. However absence of injury on person of the accused and particularly penis cannot be sole ground for discarding prosecution evidence.

36. The absence of the injuries on the body of the prosecutrix, generally, gives rise to an inference that she was consenting party to coitus.

37. In Tuka Ram (supra) it had been held that in absence of any injury on the person of the victim indicates that the alleged intercourse was a peaceful affair and the story of a stiff resistance put up by the prosecutrix is false or an afterthought.

(VI) Evidence of the Prosecutrix

38. It is no doubt that true law in conviction of an accused on the basis of a testimony of the prosecutrix alone is permissible but that is in a case where the offence of a prosecutrix inspires confidence and appears to be natural and truthful, (Vimal Suresh Kambley Vs. Chaluverapinake, AIR 2003 SC 818).

39. Similar principle was laid down in State of Rajasthan Vs. Biram Lal, 2005 CrLJ 2561 (SC) the Apex Court has held that in several cases that once the statement of the prosecutrix inspires confidence and is expected by the courts as such, conviction can be based only on the solitary evidence of the prosecutrix and no corroboration would be required unless there are compelling reasons which necessitate the court for corroboration of her statement. Minor contradictions or insignificant discrepancies should not be a ground for throwing out and otherwise reliable prosecution case. In practice a conviction for rape almost entirely depends on the credibility of the woman. All that is required is that there must be some additional evidence rendering it probable that the story of the complainant is true and that it is reasonably safe to act upon it. However, if the court of facts may find it difficult to accept the version of the prosecutrix on its face value it may search for evidence, direct or substantial, which may lend assurance to her testimony. The court has first to assess the trustworthiness of the evidence adduced and available on record and if the court finds the evidence adduced worthy of being relied on then the testimony of prosecutrix has to be accepted and acted on though there may be other witnesses available who could have examined but were not examined. Conviction for an offence of rape can be based on the sole testimony of the prosecutrix corroborated by the medical evidence and other circumstantial evidence such as the report of chemical examination, etc. The evidence, no doubt, should not only make it safe to believe that the crime was committed but must in some way reasonably connect or tend to connect the accused with the crime. Corroboration may be by the facts and circumstances.

40. In State of Karnataka Vs. Manjanna, AIR 2000 SC 2231 it was held that the narration of the incident to so many independent witnesses without any discrepancy soon after the incident was held correctly admitted by the court under Section 157 of the Act, 1872 as corroborative of prosecutrix's testimony. Here the informant and the victim have changed their case from time to time. Initially it was a case of molestation and attempt to rape which had been converted later on into a case of rape with molestation which was not accepted by the concerned court and the charge under Section 376 read with Section 511 IPC had been framed against which no revision had been preferred by the informant or the State and accepting the modification done by the concerned court the informant and the prosecutrix have adduced the evidence which is against the factum of charge framed by the concerned court. It has also been established that there was enmity on account of civil litigation between both the family members and no local witness or witness of remote area came forward to testify himself in support of the prosecution version.

41. On the other hand, the medical evidence is also not in support of the prosecution except a healed injury on the base of the little finger of the right hand of the victim, no injury even simple in nature such as abrasion or contusion were found on the person of the victim. Even no injury was found on the private parts of the victim but PW-6 found that the victim was habitual of sexual intercourse and two fingers were easily entering inside the vaginal cavity. It was also not found in a tightened position. On account of observation made by PW-6, Dr. Sushma Singh it can be concluded that the alleged offence has not been corroborated with the medical or an independent evidence even the prosecution story and the evidence has been improved from time to time which creates doubt and the court is bound to accept the defence version that due to enmity on account of civil litigation between the parties two real brothers alongwith other senior family members of the same family have been falsely implicated in a case of rape or attempt to commit rape. Even the prosecution is not clear that as to whether it is a case of attempt to rape or is a case of rape.

42. In Santosh Prasad @ Santosh Kumar Vs. State of Bihar, (2020) 3 SCC 443 it was alleged that after committing an offence of house trespass accused committed rape with a married lady. There were material contradictions in deposition of the prosecutrix. Neither the indecent witness nor the medical witness was supporting the prosecution case. FSL report was also not supporting prosecution case. There was variation in prosecutrix's version about the given complaint. Prosecutrix failed to pass test of becoming "sterling witness". There is also delay in lodging the FIR. There was also enmity/dispute between both the parties with respect to land. Any other supportive evidence and the accused was given benefit of doubt and conviction was reversed. The fact of the aforesaid case and the case in hand are almost similar except the fact that the victim of this case was not a married lady but it has been concluded by PW-6, Dr. Sushma Singh that she was habitual of sexual intercourse, therefore, two fingers were easily entering and the vagina was found to be loose.

43. In Lalta Prasad Vs. State of MP, AIR 1979 SC 1276, it could not be established that the prosecutrix was ever subjected to any sexual intercourse by the accused against her will. On the other hand, there was the evidence of the Doctor that when she was examined after the occurrence, the Doctor found old torn hymen and no sign of any rape or any forcefully intercourse with her. That being so, the conviction of the appellant under Section 376 IPC was set aside.

44. In Charan Singh Vs. State of Haryana, (1988) 3 Crimes 85 (P&H) it was case of a girl above 16 years who was allegedly raped. In this case also the question was whether when she admitted of having suffered some injuries on her back during the incident and when the same were not found then what had to be done. The lady doctor, however, who examined her did not find any injury on her private parts or on her body during the medico legal examination. No tenderness, swelling or blood was found in the vagina. She further found that two fingers could easily be admitted into the vagina. During the cross-examination, she rightly admitted that the prosecutrix would have suffered tenderness and swelling of the vagina if she was subjected to rape by two young boys. The gap between the occurrence and her medico legal examination ruled out any possibility of any abrasion being healed. Giving the benefit of doubt the accused were acquitted.

45. In Zahoor Ali Vs. State of UP, 1989 CrLJ 1177 (All) the doctor did not find any recent injury on the private parts of the girl. Hymen was found to be torn from before and healed. Therefore, the charge was held to be not proved.

46. In Sakariya Vs. State of MP, 1991 CrLJ 1925 (MP) there was an allegation of rape upon a married women who was alleged to have been dragged towards the place of occurrence and then raped but the report of medical examination was in the negative so far as the seminal stains and presence of spermatozoa in the vagina was concerned and to top it all there was not even a scratch on her body and the accused was acquitted.

47. In Maharashtra Vs. Abdul Hafees Faroki, 1998 CrLJ 3603 (SC), eight persons were accused for raping a girl twice by turns and pushing the girl out of the running train. However, when no serious injury was found on the person of the girl and evidence showed that there was possibility of prosecutrix going with the accused willingly, the acquittal of the accused was held proper.

48. In Joseph Vs. State of Kerala, 2000 CrLJ 2467 (SC), the dhoti of the accused contained no blood or semen stains and there was no injury caused to the private part of the body of the victim. The conviction was sought to be proved by the fact that vaginal smear's examination confirmed the presence of semen and spermatozoa. It was held that this was not a ground for conviction of accused for the offence of rape and the accused was entitled to acquittal on the basis of benefit of doubt.

49. In Sampad Vs. State of Orissa, 2001 CrLJ 793 (Ori), there was charge of gang rape against the accused persons who allegedly had forcibly lifted the victim to a nearby river bank on knife point and had committed sexual intercourse with her but no sign of forcible intercourse or mark of violence was found either on the spot or during the medical examination of prosecutrix. It was held that in the absence of a proper proof they could not be convicted under Section 376 (2)(g).

50. In State of Orissa Vs. Rama Swain and others, 2007 CrLJ 714 (Ori) the accused persons were alleged to have committed a rape forcibly on the prosecutrix one after another but the evidence showed that there was dispute between the victim and the accused persons regarding damage of crop by the cattle of the victim over the land cultivated by the accused persons. There was no semen stain on the apparels of the victim found. Thus the evidence of prosecutrix did not inspire confidence and the judgement of acquittal was upheld.

51. In Goverdhan Vs. State of MP, 2006 CrLJ 4118, the parties were not keeping good relations in the past and had lodged FIRs against each other. Medical report did not corroborate the version given by the prosecutrix. It was held that guilt was not proved and conviction was improper.

52. Similarly due to non support of medical report, in Mansingh Vs. State of MP, 2007 CrLJ 201 (MP), the conviction of the accused was set aside as the prosecution case was not supported by the medical report.

53. In State of Maharashtra Vs. Rameshwar Sridhar Jaware, 2008 CrLJ 675 (Bom), the accused persons were alleged to have committed rape on a girl of 16 years. Medical report as well as the report of the chemical analyst was contrary to the evidence of prosecutrix. It was held that the possibility of a false accusation could not be ruled out and the accused was entitled to acquittal.

54. In Suresh Govinda Nagdeve Vs. State of Maharashtra, 2008 CrLJ 2943 (Bom), the allegation was that the prosecutrix was subjected to rape by three accused person. It was alleged that in the night, the crime was committed in an open field but no injury on the private part or on the back of the prosecutrix was found and the Doctor could not confirm the theory of sexual intercourse. Similarly no corresponding injury was there on the private parts or on the body of the accused. Giving the benefit of doubt, the accused persons were acquitted.

55. All the above judicial pronouncements are applying in favour of the appellants and against the prosecution.

(VII) Material improvement and embellishment and non-examination of material and independent witnesses

56. The FIR had been lodged for commission of the offence of molestation and attempt to commit rape on the victim. Witnesses Ram Dulare (not examined) has given a hearsay statement to the investigating officer (IO) that he had heard that accused persons had thrown the victim on the ground for humiliation. Ramdev (not examined) has also given similar statement. Mother of the victim (not examined) has also given a hearsay statement to the IO that when she reached on the spot she found her daughter lying in the field who informed that some persons of the village had thrown for humiliating her. Hearing her screams she reached there. Only her daughter may disclose the real name of the accused persons. She refused to have seen any person fleeing from the spot. She also stated that her husband has lodged FIR after a thoughtful consideration. Thus, upto the stage of recording statement after lodging the FIR this case was only with regard to throwing the victim on the ground for humiliating her. If accused persons would have committed rape or an attempt to commit rape, the victim would certainly have informed her mother first about the incident occurred with her but she was willingly not examined by the prosecution in the court. In this context Section 114(g) of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 is material which reads as under:-

(g) That evidence which could be and is not produced would, if produced, be unfavourable to the person who withholds it."

57. After few days delay the victim has stated in her statement under Section 164 CrPC that at 10 p.m. on 03.03.1997 when she had gone outside the house to attend the call of nature, Harish Chandra reached and shut her mouth, Gudun kept country-made pistol at her breast and threatened that if she screamed, he would shoot her, Suresh tied her leg from the jute. Jangay caught hold her hands and threw her on the ground. Her saree was lifted by Musey and he started committing rape with her. After finding opportunity, she cried for help, on which her father and villagers and wife of Chhotelal reached there. Accused persons had run away as soon as she screamed. It is noteworthy that generally ladies in a village do not go out of their house to attend call of nature at 10:00 p.m. Generally villagers go for defecation in the evening or maximum upto 07:00 or 08:00 o'clock and young girls or women generally used to go in a group. Unless and until there is no dysentery, a young lady does not go for defecation at 10:00 p.m. and in case of emergency she would certainly be accompanied by another female member. It is not a case of the prosecution that there was indigestion or dysentery to the victim. Similar statement has given by the victim under Section 161 CrPC.

58. There is a contradiction about reaching of the victim's father or her mother on the spot. According to her mother Dashrath Dei she had reached on the spot and the victim had been taken back by herself. It is nowhere mentioned in the FIR that the informant had a torch in his hand and neither such torch had been produced by the informant to the IO nor the IO had taken such torch in possession. The victim has deposed that before reaching her father, the accused persons had run away while making an improvement, the informant PW-1 has deposed that he saw that the accused Musey was committing rape with his daughter and all the accused persons were performing their allocated act as alleged in the FIR. PW-1 informant admitted that he had not written in the complaint that he had seen the incident after reaching on the spot. Further, he admitted that IO has not written in his statement that he was having a torch at the time of the incident. It has also not been written in the FIR that the legs of the victim had been tied with jute. Even this fact has not been deposed by the informant PW-1 in his examination-in-chief. Contrary to the fact already deposed regarding watching the incident, the informant PW-1 has deposed at page-9 that when he reached near the place of occurrence, accused had run away when he was 15 steps away from them. He admitted that all the accused persons belonged to the same family.

59. PW-2, the victim had deposed that first of all the accused persons caught her and threw her on the ground. Gudun threatened to kill her with a country-made pistol if she screamed. Accused Musey had committed rape with her. At the time of commission of rape, accused Harish Chandra, Suresh and Jangay had caught hold her. The victim has denied any intercourse before commission of the alleged offence but this fact is falsified from the evidence of PW-6 who has deposed that her vagina was found to be loose, hymen was found to be old torn and already healed and two fingers were easily entering in the vagina and she was habitual to the sexual intercourse, (that time two finger test was prevalent but not now). Thus, it has been established that the victim was telling a lie.

60. On the basis of above discussion and considering the fact that none of the independent witnesses came forward in support of the prosecution version; that all the accused persons belonged to the same family with whom there was enmity on account of civil litigation with the informant; that there was delay in lodging the FIR; that the medical evidence was not in support of the prosecution version and there was no injury on the external or internal part of the victim except a crust on the base of little finger of the right hand rather it has been established that she was habitual of sexual intercourse as concluded in paragraph-59; that generally the two real brothers may not commit such offence together; that the time of occurrence and going alone out of the house for defecation at 10:00 p.m. by the victim appears to be concocted and fixed for the purposes of false implication of the appellants. Therefore, some roles have been assigned to all of the appellants. Thus, this Court is of the conclusion that the prosecution has been miserably failed in establishing and proving the prosecution case against the appellants regarding commission of the alleged crime. The Sessions Judge has been miserably failed in properly assessing the prosecution story and the evidence and in applying the correct proposition of law. Thus, there is force in this appeal and it deserves to be allowed and the impugned order of conviction and sentencing passed by the learned trial court is liable to be set aside.

61. Accordingly, this appeal is allowed.

62. The judgment and order of conviction and sentencing dated 03.06.2000 passed by the XI-Additional Sessions Judge, Faizabad in ST No.827 of 1997 (State Vs. Gudun and others) arising out of Case Crime No.55 of 1997, under Sections 376/511, 354, 506 IPC is set aside.

63. The appellants would be set free, if they are in jail and if they are not wanted in any other criminal case.

64. The lower court record alongwith a copy of this judgment be sent back to the court concerned for its consignment.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION

CRIMINAL SIDE

DATED: LUCKNOW 29.08.2023

THE HON'BLE SHAMIM AHMED, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 657 of 2021

Vishwapal Singh & Ors.	...Appellants
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr.	...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellants:

Pradeep Kumar Singh, Sushil Kumar Singh

Counsel for the Respondents:

G.A., Anil Kumar Shukla

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 452, 323, 427, 504 & 506 - Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 - Section 3(1)(Gha) - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Section 319 - Summoning order - Quashing of - Impugned F.I.R. lodged by complainant under aforesaid Sections against five persons including present appellants, thereafter, matter investigated, nothing found against them. (Para 2)

After perusal of record, appears that charge-sheet not filed against appellants, summoned on application given by complainant before court below, civil suit was pending between them, prosecution tried to give colour of criminal nature to civil dispute - Application not supported with any affidavit nor any cogent reason given so that appellants be summoned - Names of appellants expunged during investigation, complainant not filed protest petition, however, after long gap, application filed without assigning any reason - Allegation are same in application and first information report, trial court did not consider this aspect - Thus, impugned order passed without application of judicial mind, set aside. (Delivered by Hon'ble Shamim Ahmed, J.)

1. Heard Sri Sushil Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the appellants, Sri Anil Kumar Shukla, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 and Sri Bhasker Mal, learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. The instant appeal has been moved by the appellants, namely, Vishwapal Singh, Adarsh Singh and Vipin Singh with a prayer to quash the impugned summoning order dated 04.03.2020 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.3, Sitapur, whereby the appellants have been summoned under Section 319 Cr.P.C. in Special Trial No.181/2017 (State Vs. Shivpal Singh & Others), under Sections 452, 323, 427, 504, 506 I.P.C. and Section 3(1)(Gha) of The Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989, Police Station Kotwali, District Sitapur.

3. Before opening the arguments, learned counsel for the appellants informed that appellant no.1, Vishwapal Singh died, as such, the appeal in respect of appellant no.1 Vishwapal Singh stands abated. This Court is proceeding in respect of appellant no.2, Adarsh Singh and appellant no.3, Vipin Singh.

4. Learned counsel for the appellants submitted that initially an impugned F.I.R. was lodged by the opposite party no.2, complainant on 29.02.2016 at Case Crime No.0143 of 2016, under Sections 323, 147, 452, 504, 506, 427 I.P.C. and Section 3(1)(xi) of S.C./S.T. Act against the five persons including the present appellants. Thereafter, the matter was thoroughly investigated and nothing was found against the present appellants and they were expunged by the Investigating Officer.

5. Learned counsel for the appellants further submitted that opposite party no.2 moved an application dated 16.09.2019 under Section 319 Cr.P.C. before the court below for summoning the appellants to face trial. He further submitted that against the application under Section 319 Cr.P.C., objection was filed by the appellants on 04.10.2019.

6. Learned counsel for the appellants further submitted that there is a civil dispute pending between the parties before the Civil Judge (Senior Division), Sitapur bearing O.A. No.602/2015 (Shivpal Singh & Others Vs. Ram Swaroop & Others), as such, the prosecution has tried to give colour of criminal nature to a civil dispute.

7. Learned counsel for the appellants further submitted that the appellants have not committed any offence as alleged by the complainant and from a bare perusal of the evidence collected by the Investigating Officer, it is crystal clear that the appellants have not participated in the alleged offence.

8. Learned counsel for the appellants further submitted that the application dated 16.09.2019 moved by the opposite party no.2, complainant under Section 319 Cr.P.C. is not supported with any affidavit nor any cogent reason has been given as to why the appellants be summoned after a long time of lodging of the first information report, as such, it shows the malafide arbitrary intention of the complainant just to harass the appellants.

9. Learned counsel for the appellants further submitted that the impugned order dated 04.03.2020 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.3, Sitapur, by which the appellants were summoned, is also non speaking as the Magistrate has not considered any material available before him while summoning the appellants to face the trial. As such, the impugned order dated 04.03.2020 on the face of record appears to be unjustified and is passed without application of judicial mind, therefore, the same is liable to be set aside by this Court and the present appeal be allowed.

10. Learned A.G.A. for the State as well as learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 have opposed the argument raised by the learned counsel for the appellants and have jointly submitted that the impugned order dated 04.03.2020, summoning the appellants under Section 319 Cr.P.C., was rightly passed, as such, the same is not liable to be quashed and the instant appeal is liable to be rejected.

11. After hearing learned counsel for the parties and perusal of record, it reveals that the charge-sheet has not been filed against the present appellants. The appellants have been summoned merely on the application given by the opposite party no.2, complainant under Section 319 Cr.P.C. It also reveals that a Civil Suit bearing O.A. No.602/2015 (Shivpal Singh & Others Vs. Ram Swaroop & Others) is pending between the parties, as such, the prosecution has tried to give colour of criminal nature to a civil dispute.

12. Further, this Court finds that the application dated 16.09.2019 filed by the opposite party no.2, complainant under Section 319 Cr.P.C. before the learned court below is not supported with any affidavit nor any cogent reason has been given so that the appellants be summoned by the court below. Even though when the names of the appellants were dropped/expunged during the investigation, the opposite party no.2, complainant has not filed any protest petition against the same, however, after a long gap, the application under Section 319 Cr.P.C. was filed that too without assigning any cogent reason.

13. It is further observed by this Court that in application dated 16.09.2019 filed by the opposite party no.2, complainant under Section 319 Cr.P.C., the same allegation has been leveled which was leveled in the first information report and further that the learned trial court, while passing the impugned order dated 04.03.2020 did not consider this aspect that the power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. is a discretionary and extraordinary power, which should be sparingly used and only in those cases where the circumstances of the case so warrant, has passed the order in cursory manner and without application of judicial mind.

14. The Constitution Bench judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Hardeep Singh Vs. State of Punjab & others, (2014) 3 SCC 92 was pleased to observe in paragraph 105 and 106 of the aforesaid judgment as under :-

"105. Power under Section 319 CrPC is a discretionary and an extraordinary power. It is to be exercised sparingly and only in those cases where the circumstances of the case so warrant. It is not to be exercised because the Magistrate or the Sessions Judge is of the opinion that some other person may also be guilty of committing that offence. Only where strong and cogent evidence occurs against a person from the evidence led before the court that such power should be exercised and not in a casual and cavalier manner.

106. Thus, we hold that though only a prima facie case is to be established from the evidence led before the court, not necessarily tested on the anvil of cross-examination, it requires much stronger evidence than mere probability of his complicity. The test that has to be applied is one which is more than prima facie case as exercised at the time of framing of charge, but short of satisfaction to an extent that the evidence, if goes un rebutted, would lead to conviction. In the absence of such satisfaction, the court should refrain from exercising power under Section 319 CrPC. In Section 319 CrPC the purpose of providing if "it appears from the evidence that any person not being the accused has committed any offence" is clear from the words "for which such person could be tried together with the accused". The words used are not "for which such person could be convicted". There is, therefore, no scope for the court acting under Section 319 CrPC to form any opinion as to the guilt of the accused."

15. Further, the Constitution Bench judgment was duly considered by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Labhuji Amratji Thakor & others Vs. The State of Gujarat and another, 2018 (0) Supreme (SC) 1147 and the Hon'ble Supreme Court in paragraph 9 of the aforesaid judgment was pleased to observe as under :-

"9. The Constitution Bench has given a caution that power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. is a discretionary and extraordinary power, which should be exercised sparingly and only in those cases where the circumstances of the case so warrant. The crucial test, which has been laid down as noted above is "the test that has to be applied is one which is more than prima facie case as exercised at the time of framing of charge, but short of satisfaction to an extent that the evidence, if goes un rebutted, would lead to conviction." The present is a case, where the trial court had rejected the application filed by the prosecution under Section 319 Cr.P.C. Further, in the present case, the complainant in the F.I.R. has not taken the names of the appellants and after investigation in which the statement of victim was also recorded, the names of the appellants did not figure. After carrying investigation, the Charge Sheet was submitted in which the appellants names were also not mentioned as accused. In the statement recorded before the Police, the victim has named only Natuji with whom she admitted having physical relations and who took her and with whom she went out of the house in the night and lived with him on several places. The mother of victim in her statement before the Court herself has stated that victim girl returned to the house after one and a half months. In the statement, before the Court, victim has narrated the entire sequence of events. She has stated in her statement that accused Natuji used to visit her Uncle's house Vishnuji, where she met Natuji. She, however, stated that it was Natuji, who had given her mobile phone. Her parents came to know about she having been given mobile phone by Natuji, then they went to the house of Natuji and threatened Natuji."

16. Further, the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Brijendra Singh and others vs. State of Rajasthan, (2017) 7 SCC 706 and in para 13 and 15 was pleased to observe as under :-

"13. In order to answer the question, some of the principles enunciated in Hardeep Singh's case may be recapitulated:

Power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. can be exercised by the trial court at any stage during the trial, i.e., before the conclusion of trial, to summon any person as an accused and face the trial in the ongoing case, once the trial court finds that there is some ?evidence? against such a person on the basis of which evidence it can be gathered that he appears to be guilty of offence. The evidence? herein means the material that is brought before the Court during trial. Insofar as the material/evidence collected by the IO at the stage of inquiry is concerned, it can be utilised for corroboration and to support the evidence recorded by the Court to invoke the power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. No doubt, such evidence that has surfaced in examination-in-chief, without cross-examination of witnesses, can also be taken into consideration. However, since it is a discretionary power given to the Court under Section 319 Cr.P.C. and is also an extraordinary one, same has to be exercised sparingly and only in those cases where the circumstances of the case so warrants. The degree of satisfaction is more than the degree which is warranted at the time of framing of the charges against others in respect of whom chargesheet was filed. Only where strong and cogent evidence occurs against a person from the evidence led before the Court that such power should be exercised. It is not to be exercised in a casual or a cavalier manner. The prima facie opinion which is to be formed requires stronger evidence than mere probability of his complicity.

15. This record was before the trial court. Notwithstanding the same, the trial court went by the deposition of complainant and some other persons in their examination-in-chief, with no other material to support their so-called verbal/ocular version. Thus, the ?evidence? recorded during trial was nothing more than the statements which was already there under Section 161 Cr.P.C. recorded at the time of investigation of the case. No doubt, the trial court would be competent to exercise its power even on the basis of such statements recorded before it in examination-in-chief. However, in a case like the present where plethora of evidence was collected by the IO during investigation which suggested otherwise, the trial court was at least duty bound to look into the same while forming prima facie opinion and to see as to whether

?much stronger evidence than mere possibility of their (i.e. appellants) complicity has come on record. There is no satisfaction of this nature. Even if we presume that the trial court was not apprised of the same at the time when it passed the order (as the appellants were not on the scene at that time), what is more troubling is that even when this material on record was specifically brought to the notice of the High Court in the Revision Petition filed by the appellants, the High Court too blissfully ignored the said material. Except reproducing the discussion contained in the order of the trial court and expressing agreement therewith, nothing more has been done. Such orders cannot stand judicial scrutiny."

17. Further, the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Periyasami and others vs. S. Nallasamy, (2019) 4 SCC 342 and in paragraph 14 and 15 of the aforesaid judgment was pleased to observe as under:-

"14. In the First Information Report or in the statements recorded under Section 161 of the Code, the names of the appellants or any other description have not been given so as to identify them. The allegations in the FIR are vague and can be used any time to include any person in the absence of description in the First Information Report to identify such person. There is no assertion in respect of the villages to which the additional accused belong. Therefore, there is no strong or cogent evidence to make the appellants stand the trial for the offences under Sections 147, 448, 294(b) and 506 of IPC in view of the judgment in Hardeep Singh case (supra). The additional accused cannot be summoned under Section 319 of the Code in casual and cavalier manner in the absence of strong and cogent evidence.

Under Section 319 of the Code additional accused can be summoned only if there is more than prima facie case as is required at the time of framing of charge but which is less than the satisfaction required at the time of conclusion of the trial convicting the accused.

15. The High Court has set aside the order passed by the learned Magistrate only on the basis of the statements of some of the witnesses examined by the Complainant. Mere disclosing the names of the appellants cannot be said to be strong and cogent evidence to make them to stand trial for the offence under Section 319 of the Code, especially when the Complainant is a husband and has initiated criminal proceedings against family of his in-laws and when their names or other identity were not disclosed at the first opportunity."

18. In the present case, it is apparent that the order under Section 319 Cr.P.C. is based on the statement of P.W.1 without considering the relevant facts and without recording any satisfaction that there is some cogent evidence which may lead to their conviction even otherwise the appellants were already expunged by the Investigating Officer and final report was submitted against them. In the matter of Hardeep Singh & Bijendra Singh (supra) and other judgments, the Apex Court is clearly of the view that evidence should be more prima facie, if un rebutted, would lead to conviction, here no such satisfaction has been recorded by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.3, Sitapur while passing the summoning order dated 04.03.2020.

19. Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Brindaban Das and others vs. State of West Bengal, 2009 (66) ACC 273, held that in matters relating to invocation of powers under section 319 Cr.P.C., the Court is not merely required to take note of the fact that the name of a person who has not been named as an accused in the FIR has surfaced during the trial, but the Court is also required to consider whether such evidence would be sufficient to convict the person being summoned. The Apex Court further observed that the fulcrum on which the invocation of section 319 Cr.P.C. rests is whether the summoning of persons other than the named accused would make such a difference to the prosecution as would enable it not only to prove its case but to also secure the conviction of the persons summoned.

20. Thus, in view of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court and the facts and circumstances, as narrated above and from the perusal of the record, the impugned summoning order dated 04.03.2020 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.3, Sitapur, summoning the appellants under Section 319 Cr.P.C., is against the spirit and directions issued by the Hon'ble Apex Court and is liable to be set aside.

21. Accordingly, the order dated 04.03.2020 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.3, Sitapur, whereby the appellants have been summoned under Section 319 Cr.P.C. in Special Trial No.181/2017 (State Vs. Shivpal Singh & Others), under Sections 452, 323, 427, 504, 506 I.P.C. and Section 3(1)(Gha) of The Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989, Police Station Kotwali, District Sitapur is hereby set aside and reversed.

22. For the reasons discussed above, the appeal is allowed in respect of appellant no.2, Adarsh Singh and appellant no.3, Vipin Singh.

23. No order as to the costs.

1. Heard learned counsel for the appellants, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

2. The present appeals have been preferred by the appellants against the judgment and order of conviction and sentencing dated 3.2.2016 in S.T. No. 34 of 2012, Crime No. 440 of 2011 under Section 498-A, 304 B I.P.C. and Section 3/4 of D.P. Act, Police Station- Banda, District-Shahjahanpur and S.T. No. 216 of 2013 (State Vs. Shivkumar Tripathi and Others). The learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.VII, Shahjahanpur, has convicted the accused-husband for commission of offence under Section 304-B I.P.C. for life imprisonment, under Section 498-A for three years imprisonment and under Section 4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, for two years imprisonment with fine of Rs. 10,000/- with default stipulation. In connected S.T. the accused Sujeet Tripathi, Shivkumar Tripathi, Smt. Bineshwari and Asha Tripathi have been convicted under Section 304- B for seven years each, under Section 498-A I.P.C. for two years with fine of Rs. 5,000/- each and under Section 4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, for six months with fine of Rs. 5,000/ each, with default stipulation. It was also directed that out of the aforesaid amount Rs. 75,000/- shall be paid as compensation to the father of the informant and deceased under Section 357 Cr.P.C.

3. Grounds of appeal :

The appellants in both the appeals have taken grounds that the conviction of the appellants is against the weight of evidence on record and is bad in law; on the facts and circumstance, no offence is proved against the appellant; the order passed by the trial Court dated 3.2.2016 is wholly illegal, arbitrary and not sustainable in the eye of law and is liable to be quashed by this Court; the trial Court has erred in law in convicting the appellants without considering the facts and circumstances of the case, and the evidence adduced by the prosecution are contrary to each other; the impugned judgment and order has been passed without application of mind in a mechanical manner; the impugned judgment and order has been passed without application of mind in a mechanical manner; that in any case on the basis of the record of the case, the appellants are liable to be acquitted and the appeal is liable to be allowed as the prosecution has failed to prove their case beyond reasonable doubt; and that the sentence and fine awarded is too excessive and severe.

4. In brief, facts of the case are that informant Km. Pooja Vajpayee moved a written complaint Ex. Ka-1 on 23.8.2022 that her sister Smt. Vandana Vajpayee (deceased) was married to Puneet Tripathi about two years ago. Her parents had given dowry as per their capacity in the marriage but accused persons were not satisfied and were demanding a Wagon R Car. When the aforesaid demand could not be fulfilled, they started beating and torturing her sister. Her sister was posted as a Primary Teacher in Banda District Shahjahanpur and used to live in a rented house of one Anil Jaiswal with her son namely Achintya aged about one and half year. Her mother Smt. Shashi Vajpayee was also living with Vandana. On 22.08.2011 at about 10:30 AM, accused Puneet and his family members came to the house of Vandana and at about 4:00 P.M. ousted her mother from the house saying that they did not provide the Car, today, you taste the fun. Her mother remained at the house of landlord and at about 7:00 PM on hearing her daughter's screaming, she went there and saw that Puneet and his family members had caught the deceased and administered some material from a bottle to her. After drinking, Vandana started vomiting, all the accused persons after administering poison, fled away. Her father was keeping ill much before the incident. Puneet and his family members used to threaten that if Car was not provided, they would kill Vandana and also that Puneet shall marry someone else.

5. On the aforesaid application, the F.I.R. was registered and chick F.I.R., Ex. Ka-10 and G.D., Ex. Ka-11, were prepared. The I.O. prepared site plan, Ex. Ka-3, and recorded the statement of witnesses and arrested the accused and submitted charge-sheet No. 32 of 2011, Ex. Ka-4, against Puneet under Section 498A, 304 B I.P.C. and $\frac{3}{4}$ D.P. Act. The investigation was kept pending against rest of the accused persons. Thereafter the investigation was entrusted to Sri Vikas Kumar Vaidhya, C.O., who after recording the statements of the witnesses submitted charge-sheet No. 32A/2011 dated 01.08.2012, Ex. Ka-5, against rest of the accused persons.

6. The C.J.M. Shahjahanpur took cognizance and committed the case to the Court of Sessions. Learned Addl. Sessions Judge, Court No. 6, Shahjahanpur, framed charges on 14.5.2012 against accused Puneet Tripathi under Section 498-A, 304-B I.P.C. and Section $\frac{3}{4}$ of the Dowry Prohibition Act. The accused denied the charges and sought trial.

7. So as to bring home the charge, the prosecution has examined 9 witnesses who are as under :

1	Km. Pooja Vajpayee	PW1
2	Smt. Shashi Vajpayee	PW2
3	Raj Narain	PW3
4	Pinki Srivastava	PW4
5	Dr. Manoj Kumar Srivastava	PW5

7	I.O./C.O. Vikas Kumar Vaidhya	PW7
8	Nayab Tehsildar Gajendra Singh	PW8
9	Constable Virendra Singh	PW9

8. So as to give credence to these oral testimonies following documents were also filed by the prosecution to bring home:

1	Written complaint	Ex.Ka.1
2	Post-mortem report of deceased Vandana	Ex.Ka.2
3	Site Plan	Ex. Ka. 3
4	Charge-sheet No. 32 of 2011	Ex. Ka. 4
5	Charge-sheet No. 32A/11	Ex. Ka. 5
6	Panchnama	Ex. Ka. 6
7	Photo Lash	Ex. Ka.7
8	Post-mortem Form	Ex. Ka. 8
9	Post-mortem letter	Ex. Ka.9
10	Chick F.I.R.	Ex. Ka.10
11	Kayami G.D.	Ex. Ka.11
12	Marriage Card	M. Ex-1

9. In brief, evidence of the witnesses are reproduced hereinbelow:

(a) P.W.-1, Km. Pooja, informant deposed that, her sister Smt. Vandana Vajpayee (deceased) was married to Puneet Tripathi about two years ago. Her parents had given dowry as per their capacity in the marriage but accused persons were not satisfied and were demanding a Wagon R Car. When the aforesaid demand could not be fulfilled, they started beating and torturing her sister. On 22.8.2011, Puneet and other family members came to the house of Vandana and at about 4:00 PM, they ousted her mother from the house of Vandana saying that she could not provide a wagon R car now enjoy the taste. Her mother came down from the room and stayed in the house of landlord. At about 7:00 PM, screams were heard upon which her mother ran out and saw that the family members of Puneet had caught her sister and Puneet having some substance in a vial, gave it to Vandana. All the accused persons ran away after pushing her mother. Her sister started vomiting. Her mother took Vandana to the Banda, hospital, Puneet also reached there wherefrom she was referred to District Hospital, Shahjahanpur where she died. Panchayatnama was filled in the afternoon. She told the whole incident to the S.O. in police station, then she got it typed by narrating to a typist. C.O. had not not investigated the case properly, he had not recorded the statement of her mother, father and maid Pinki. She complained to D.G. & I.G. Police. Witness Anil Jaiswal, Geeta Jaiswal and Apoorva Mishra were in connivance with the accused persons. Before this incident, accused persons used to tender threats to kill her sister and get Puneet remarried. Her sister had filed a divorce petition no. 544 of 2011 in Kanpur Nagar. The marriage was solemnized on 01.12.2008. This witness is not an eyewitness of the main incident.

(b) P.W.2, Smt. Shashi Vajpayee, has also given similar statement to that of P.W.-1. In addition to that she has deposed that her son-in-law was M.R. in Cipla Company. She saw that accused persons were putting something in the mouth of her daughter, when accused persons pushed her, she fell down and they ran away. As she started crying. Anil Kumar came up and took her daughter to hospital and from there to District Hospital, Shahjahanpur where she died in the morning. She had informed her daughter Pooja and her husband who reached in the morning and after seeing the dead body, Pooja lodged the F.I.R.

(c) P.W.-3, Raj Narain, father of the deceased has also given similar statement to that P.W.1. He is not an eye witness.

(d) P.W.-4, Pinki Srivastava, has deposed that she was working at the house of the deceased since a year before the incident. She used to take care of son of the deceased on payment of Rs. 1500/- per month. Accused Puneet used to come there at 8-10 days and stay there for 2-4 day. They often used to quarrel. Puneet used to demand Wagon R Car and money from her. Both of them quarrel about this matter. She has seen and heard them quarreling with her eyes. When Puneet used to come and stay there, she used to go to her house. Puneet also used to quarrel with his mother-in-law for not fulfilling the demand of Car. On the day of incident at about 10:30 AM, Puneet, his mother, father, brother and sister-in-law had come to the house of Vandana. She did not know the name of the rest of the accused persons. The above persons had beaten the deceased and drove her mother away at about 4:30 PM, she went down to the part of landlord and sat down there till 5:30. The deceased told her to go to market with her son Achchu and gave her Rs.20 that is why she went to the market and returned at 5:30 PM. When she came back, mother of the deceased met there and took Achchu from her. At about 8:00 PM she came to know that Vandana was in the Government Hospital Banda, she went there. She was not permitted to meet Vandana by Neelu, Anil and Minku.

(e) P.W.-5, Dr. Manoj Kumar Srivastava, proved post-mortem report, Ex. Ka-2, and stated that he had conducted post-mortem on the body of the deceased. No injury was found before the death of the deceased. The cause of the death could not be ascertained and Viscera was preserved

(f) P.W.-6, Rajesh Kumar Sonkar, C.O., has proved the site plan and charge-sheet, Ex. Ka3 and Ex. Ka-4 and deposed that he had investigated the case and entered the viscera report in paper no. 7 of the charge-sheet and after recording the statement of the witnesses, he submitted charge-sheet against the accused Puneet.

(g) P.W. -7, I.O, Vikas Kumar Vaidhya, proved the material exhibit-1 and charge-sheet Ex. Ka-5 and has deposed that he had written statements of the witnesses. He had exonerated accused Neelam.

(h) P.W.-8, S.I. Gajendra Singh, has proved the inquest report Ex. Ka-6, photolash, Ex. Ka-7, challan lash, Ex.Ka-8, letter to C.M.O. Ex. Ka-9.

(i) P.W.-9, Constable, Virendra Singh, proved F.I.R., Ex. Ka-10 and Kayami G.D., Ex. Ka-11, to be in his handwriting and signature.

10. From the defence side D.W.-1, Smt. Kalpna Singh, Assistant Teacher, Primary School, Dharmapur, Block- Banda, Shahjahanpur has been examined. She has proved Ex. Kha-1 and Kha-2.

11. This case is decided as under:

F.I.R.: As per prosecution version the incident occurred at about 7: 00 P.M. on 22.8.2011, the deceased was taken to Banda Hospital just after the incident wherefrom she was admitted to the District Hospital Shahjahanpur and in the morning on 23.8.2011 she died. The informant Km. Pooja Vajpayee, sister of the deceased, Vandana, moved the written complaint, Ex. Ka-1, for lodging the F.I.R. which was registered at 3:45 P.M. and chick F.I.R., Ex. Ka-10 was prepared.

According to this Court there is no delay in lodging the F.I.R. In the F.I.R. all the necessary facts have been incorporated. It is settled principle of law that F.I.R. is not an encyclopedia, it is not a substantive piece of evidence, it can be used only for contradiction of the informant. It has been proved from the evidence that at the time of evidence only mother, P.W.-2. Smt. Shashi Vajpayee and P.W.-4, Pinki Srivastava, were there. When Smt. Shashi Vajpayee informed her daughter and husband at Kanpur, they reached to Shahjahanpur and saw the dead body of the deceased, thereafter the informant wrote the complaint and produced in the concerned police station for lodging the F.I.R. and taking action.

In Bable Vs. State of Chhatishgarh, AIR, 2012 SC 2621; Bhagwan Jagannath Markad Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2016) 10 SCC 537; Jarnail Singh Vs. State of Punjab, (2009) 9 SCC 719, it has been held that F.I.R. registered under Section 154 Cr.P.C. is not a substantive piece of evidence, it is not the encyclopedia of all the facts relating to crime. The only requirement is that at the time of lodging the F.I.R., the informant should state all those facts which normally strike to mind and help in assessing the gravity of the crime or identity of the culprit briefly.

On the basis of the above discussion it is concluded that there is no delay or discrepancy in lodging the impugned FIR.

12. Motive:

As per F.I.R. and prosecution, the marriage between the deceased and the accused was solemnized about two and half year ago, her parents had given dowry as per their capacity but the accused persons were not satisfied with the dowry given in the marriage and after the first farewell of the marriage, all the accused persons started demanding Maruti Wagon R Car in dowry. Due to non-fulfillment of demand, Vandana's husband Puneet and his family members started beating and torturing her in various ways. The deceased was employed as a teacher in Banda Basic Primary School Shahjahanpur and lived with her son Achintya, aged about one and a half year, in the rented house of Anil Jaiswal, near cooperative Bank Banda Shahjahanpur. For about a month, Smt. Shashi Vajpai, mother of the deceased was living with her. The accused Puneet husband of the deceased works in Kanpur Nagar and keeps coming to district Shahjahanpur to her wife. The informant P.W.1 has deposed about the demand of dowry, abuse and torturing with regard to the demand. She has also deposed that in Chauth farewell, Puneet asked for a Wagon R Car and one lakh cash from the deceased which she conveyed to the family members. It is admitted to the accused persons that the deceased had instituted a divorce petition no. 544 of 2011 in the Family Court Kanpur Nagar and accused Puneet had also filed a suit for restitution of conjugal rights in Lucknow.

According to the accused Puneet Tripathi, the divorce petition was instituted by making overwriting of the deceased's signature as on the date of institution i.e. 25.04.2011, she was on duty at Shahjahanpur. The trial Court did not consider overwriting on the divorce petition such as 2010 has been corrected as 2011, age of Puneet Tripathi has been corrected from 35 to 32, there is cutting in para 3 and also overwriting on the date, month and the year. It has been corrected by making overwriting as 25.4.2011 on which date she was teaching in her school at Shahjahanpur. From these facts, it is proved that someone else appeared as Vandana and had filed the divorce petition through impersonation.

It has been admitted to the accused persons that the suit for restitution of conjugal rights had been dismissed. According to the accused, it had been got dismissed on the assurance of the deceased as she was also frustrated due to intervention of her family members. Though it has not been proved that the case of restitution of conjugal rights had been not pressed by the accused on the assurance of the deceased. However, there is no evidence or writing left by the deceased to show that she was not aware about the pendency of aforesaid divorce petition. It is common and mandatory practice in Family Courts that after institution of any petition, notices are sent to the opposite parties and in view of judgment of the Apex Court and also according to Section 89 C.P.C. first of all parties are sent to Reconciliation Centre and if the matter is not reconciled only then the family Court proceeds to decide the case on merit. In this case no evidence has been adduced by either side to prove that after institution of the alleged divorce petition any notice was served upon accused Puneet and he was called by the Reconciliation Centre of the Family Court, Kanpur Nagar, on any particular date. However, when it is admitted to both the parties that a suit under Section 9 of the Hindu Marriage Act, had been filed by the accused Puneet, it goes to show that certainly there were some fractions between both of them and the deceased was not living with her husband either voluntarily or due to her service conditions. But if compromise as alleged by the accused would have taken place between both the parties, the divorce petition would have also been dismissed on the application of the deceased. Thus this Court is of the view that the marital dispute between the accused persons and the deceased was still existing.

In Nagraj Vs. State, (2015) 4 SCC 739 (para 13); Babu Vs. State of Kerala (2010) 9 SCC 189; Nathuni Yadav Vs. State of Bihar (1998) 9SCC 238, it has been held that prosecution should prove motive of the accused if the case is based on circumstantial evidence and not in the cases which are based on direct evidence.

In G.Parshwanath Vs. State of Karnataka, AIR 2010 SC 2914; Jagdish Vs. State of M.P., 2009 (9) SCC 495, it has been held that if chain of circumstances are complete, absence of motive is not of much consequence.

In Sanjeev Vs. State of Haryana, (2015) 4 SCC 387 (para 16), it is held that it is settled principle of law that to establish an offence of murder by an accused, motive is not required to be proved, motive is something which prompts a man to form an intention. The intention can be formed even at the place of incident at the time of commission of crime. It is only either intention or knowledge on the part of the accused which is required to be seen in respect of the offence of culpable homicide. In order to read either intention or knowledge, the Courts have to examine the circumstances, as there can not be any direct evidence as to the state of mind of the accused.

In this case it has been proved that the deceased was living separately in Shahjahapur because of her service and she had also filed a suit for a decree of divorce against the accused Puneet Tripathi in Kanpur Nagar and probably no monetary gain was tendered to the accused persons and the demand of providing a Wagon R Car was not fulfilled. The accused Puneet Tripathi has admitted in his bail application that on the day of occurrence, he had visited the house of the deceased where a quarrel had taken place. Thus it can not be said that there was no motive behind the commission of the alleged crime.

On the basis of the above discussion, this Court is of the view that there was a motive behind the commission of crime and it has also been proved from the oral and documentary evidence as well. Though it is a case of direct evidence based on the evidence of P.W.2 and P.W.4, therefore, the prosecution is not duty bound to prove any motive behind the commission of crime.

From the inquest exhibit Ka-6, it transpires that the report about commission of crime and death of the deceased was communicated to police station Banda on 23.8.2011 at 7:30 a.m. The dead body was transmitted to District Hospital Mortuary at 11:30 A.M. And the I.O. started the inquest proceeding at 1:00 PM, he annexed copy of the F.I.R. but as per chick F.I.R., the F.I.R. was reduced in writing at 3:45 PM. If it is true either only a copy of the information would have been provided to the concerned S.I. Or the concerned constable Moharrir had wrongly mentioned 3:45 PM as time of preparation of chick F.I.R. However, it is immaterial for the purposes of this case as it is not affecting the merit of the case. It is settled law that the inquest is not a substantive piece of evidence and it has only corroborative piece of evidence. However, in the opinion of punchas, and the I.O. and Nayab Tehsildar Sadar, the deceased would have been died due to poison.

In Radha Mohan Singh @ Lal Saheb Vs. State of U.P., 2006 (2) SCC 450, three Judges Bench, it has been held that argument advanced regarding omissions, discrepancies, overwriting, contradiction in inquest report should not be entertained unless attention of the author thereof is drawn to the said fact and opportunity is given to him to explain when he is examined as a witness. There is no requirement in law to mention details of F.I.R., names of accused or the names of eyewitnesses or the gist of the their statements in inquest report, nor is the said report is required to be signed by any eyewitness.

In Brahm Swaroop Vs. State of U.P., AIR 2011 SC 280, it has been held that the basic purpose of holding inquest is to report regarding the apparent cause of death namely whether it is suicidal, homicidal, accidental or by some mechanary etc. It is therefore not necessary to enter all the details of the overt acts in the inquest report.

In George Vs. State of Kerala, AIR 1998 SC 1376, it has been held that the details that how the deceased was assaulted or who assaulted him or under what circumstances he was assaulted is foreign to the ambit and scope of such proceedings.

In view of the above judgments, this court does not find any illegality or substantive irregularity in the inquest report.

14. Post-mortem :-

In this case after the inquest, the dead body was given to the concerned doctor for post-mortem who conducted the post-mortem and could not ascertain the cause of death, hence, preserved the viscera which was sent for chemical examination. As per chemical examination report, there was pesticides in the internal organs of the deceased which caused her death. Thus, the opinion of punchan, Nayab Tehsildar, I.O. finds support from the FSL report. The post-mortem was conducted at 4:00 P.M., the post mortem doctor opined that the deceased would have died about half a day prior to the post-mortem. The witness also opined that there could be variation of about six hours. In this case the time of death of the deceased is not in question, hence, any variation in the time of the death of the deceased is immaterial. It is settled principle of law that the opinion of doctor and doctor's report is mere an opinion and subject to the scrutiny of the court.

In State of U.P. Vs. Mohd. Iqram, (2011) 3 SCC (Cri.) 354, it is held that post mortem report is not a substantive piece of evidence, if it is proved it does not mean that its each and every content thereof is also proved or can be held admissible.

15. Burden of proof :-

It is admitted and has also been proved that the deceased had died unnatural death within three years of the marriage, hence, in this respect Section 113-A and

Section 113-B of The Indian Evidence Act become relevant which are as follow :

“Section 113-A. Presumption as to abetment of suicide by a married woman. —When the question is whether the commission of suicide by a woman had been abetted by her husband or any relative of her husband and it is shown that she had committed suicide within a period of seven years from the date of her marriage and that her husband or such relative of her husband had subjected her to cruelty, the court may presume, having regard to all the other circumstances of the case, that such suicide had been abetted by her husband or by such relative of her husband.

Explanation. — For the purposes of this section, “cruelty” shall have the same meaning as in section 498-A of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860).

Section 113-B. Presumption as to dowry death. —When the question is whether a person has committed the dowry death of a woman and it is shown that soon before her death such woman had been subjected by such person to cruelty or harassment for, or in connection with, any demand for dowry, the court shall presume that such person had caused the dowry death.

Explanation. — For the purposes of this section, “dowry death” shall have the same meaning as in section 304B of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860).”

In this case there is allegation of abusing, torturing for non fulfillment of demand of dowry and killing of the deceased within seven years of marriage hence, Section 113-B would be attracted and burden would be upon the accused persons that how the deceased died of unnatural death as it has been established that on the date and time of occurrence accused and deceased were together and the deceased was under the custody of the accused.

In V.K. Mishra Vs. State of Uttrakhand, (2015) 9 SCC 588 (Three Judge Bench), Panchanand Mandal Vs. State of Jharkhand, (2013) 9 SCC 800, Sanjay Kumar Jain Vs. State of Delhi, 2011, (11) SCC 733, the Apex Court has held that before recording conviction of an accused under Section 304-B, I.P.C. The following conditions must be proved;

(i) That the death of woman was caused by burns or bodily injury or otherwise than under the normal circumstances;

(ii) That such a death should have occurred within seven years of a marriage;

(iii) that the woman must have been subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband.

(iv) That such cruelty or harassment should be for or in connection with demand of dowry.

(v) That such cruelty or harassment is shown to have been meted out to the woman soon before her death.

In Harish Kumar Vs. State of Haryana, 2015 (88) ACC 640 SC, it has been held that in the event of presumption under Section 113-B of the Evidence Act, burden shifts on the accused to rebut it.

In Surinder Singh Vs. State of Haryana, (2014) 4 SCC 129; Manohar Lal Vs. State of Haryana, (2014) 9 SCC 645, it has been held that for presumptions contemplated under Section 304-B I.P.C. And 113-B of the Evidence Act, to spring into action, it is necessary to show that the cruelty was caused soon before victim's death. The question is how much 'soon before' would obviously depend on facts and circumstances of each case.

In Satbir Singh Vs. State of Haryana, AIR 2005 SC 3546, it is held that where the prosecution established the ingredients of dowry death under Section 304-B I.P.C. It was held that onus was on the accused to rebut the presumption under Section 113-B.

Since, it has been proved from the evidence of P.W.2 and P.W.4 that at the time of commission of crime the accused persons were in the house of deceased with her, hence, actually what happened and in what circumstances and in which manner, a hale and hearty lady died would have to be explained by the accused persons, therefore, according to this Court the accused persons are also under the obligation and burden to explain the cause of death of the deceased under Section 106 of the Evidence Act.

Section 106 Indian Evidence Act is as under:

“Section 106 : Burden of proving fact especially within knowledge.

When any fact is especially within the knowledge of any person, the burden of proving that fact is upon him.”

According to this Section where a fact is specially within the knowledge of a party, the burden of proving that fact lies upon him.

In Eshwaraiah Vs. State of Karnataka, (1994) 2 SCC 677, the facts were that a man and a woman were found hiding under a bed in the bedroom of the person who was laying dead of injuries, it was held that the burden lay upon them to explain their presence and, also the circumstances in which the deceased met his death.

In State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Raj Kumar, (2018) 2 SCC 69, it has been held that if an accused does not throw light on a fact which is within his knowledge, his failure to offer any explanation would become a strong militating circumstance against him.

In Balram Prasad Agrawal Vs. State of Bihar, (1997) 9 SCC 338, a house wife was drown to death in the well in the court-yard of the house of her in-laws who were the only people present in the house at that time. Cruelty by the in-laws for over years was also an established fact. Accordingly the Supreme Court held that the burden lay upon the accused in-laws to show as to what happened during the night which brought about her death.

Though this Court is well aware that the initial burden for proving a case against the accused persons rests upon the prosecution and if the initial burden is discharged only then the liabilities under Section 106 or Section 113-B commence.

Though it is settled principle of law that it is trite that the prosecution has to stand on its own legs and sufficient evidence should be produced to prove the allegation, no aid of Section 106 can be taken by the trial Court. Kailash Chand Vs. State of Rajasthan, (2017) 11 SCC 268.

16. Place of occurrence:

In this case it is not denied by the accused-appellants that the place of occurrence is not the same as described by the prosecution. There is no objection from the side of accused persons regarding this aspect of the case.

17. Non-examination of the alleged independent eyewitnesses and examination of interested and related witnesses:

In this case P.W.-1 to P.W.-3 are the sister, mother and father of the deceased and P.W.-4 is the maid of the deceased. It has been argued that the independent eyewitnesses such as Anil Jaiswal, Geeta Jaiswal, Rinku, Manisha and Mamta, teachers, living near the deceased and Apoorva Mishra @ Neelu who took the deceased to the hospital are not examined. According to P.W.2 they had become hostile and were not ready to depose in favour of the prosecution. It has also been blamed that Neelu did not permit her to go inside the Banda Hospital when her daughter was admitted before her death.

In Bhagwan Jagannath Markad (supra), in Dhari and Others Vs. State of U.P. AIR 2013 SC 308, Shyamal Ghosh Vs. State of West Bengal, AIR 2013 SC 3539, Prithi Vs. State of Haryana, (2010) 8 SCC 536, Suchha Singh Vs. State of Punjab, (2003) 7 SCC 643, it has been held that the testimony of a witness in a criminal trial can not be discarded merely because the witness is a relative or family member of the victim of the offence, in such a case Court has to adopt a careful approach in analysing the evidence of such witness and if the testimony of the related witness is otherwise found credible, accused can be convicted on the basis of testimony of such related witness. Similar principles have been laid down in respect of the inimical witness.

In Bhagwan Jagannat Markad (supra), Mukesh Vs. State of N.C.T of Delhi and Others, AIR 2017 SC 2161 (Three Judges Bench), Ashok Kumar Chaudhary Vs. State of Bihar, 2008 (61) ACC 972 SC, it has been held that non-examination of independent witness is not a mathematical formula for discarding the weight of the testimony available on record, however, natural, trustworthy and convincing it may be. It is settled law that non examination of eyewitness can not be pressed into service like a ritualistic formula for discarding the prosecution case with a stroke of pen. Court can convict an accused on the statement of a sole witness even if he is relative of the deceased and non-examination of independent witness would not be fatal to the case of prosecution.

In Dharnidhar Vs. State of U.P., (2010) 7 SCC 759; Dalbir Kaur Vs. State of Punjab, (1976) 4 SCC 158, it has been held that non-examination of independent eyewitnesses is inconsequential if the witness was won over or terrorised by the accused.

In Bhagwan Jagannath (Supra) and in Nand Kumar Vs. State of Chhatisgarh, (2015) 1 SCC 776, it has been held that prosecution is not bound to examine its all witness. Discretion lies with the prosecution whether to tender or not witness to prove its case. Adverse inference against prosecution can be drawn only if withholding of witness was with oblique motive.

In this case it has been accepted by the accused during the trial that P.W.-2, mother of the deceased, was there. It is an undisputed fact that in connection of service the deceased was living on the place of occurrence near service place with her infant. It has also been proved that her mother P.W.-2 sparing sometime used to visit her daughter and stay there. As the deceased was in service, a maid servant P.W.-4 Pinki was kept in service by the deceased to look after her household affairs and the infant. In the aforesaid circumstances it can not be said that on the date and time of occurrence, P.W.-4, Pinki, was not there. It has come in evidence of P.W.1 that after death of the deceased, Pinki was serving to the family members of the deceased at Kanpur.

Learned counsel for the appellants submitted that since the above mentioned independent witnesses have not been examined and it has not been proved that they were connected in any way with the accused persons therefore in this case no fair and impartial trial has been conducted by the trial Court. The trial Court has considered the statements of the interested and partial witnesses who have not adduced truthful evidence. P.W.4, Pinki, was won over by the informant and her family members and when she deposed in the Court, she was working in their house in Kanpur Nagar. Learned counsel heavily pressed Section 114 (g) of the Indian Evidence Act, which is as under:

“Section 114 (g) - That evidence which could be and is not produced would, if produced, be unfavourable to the person who withholds it”

In Union of India Vs. Mahadeolal Prabhudayal, AIR 1965 SC 1755, it has been held that the law permits the Court to draw such a presumption when the best evidence will be kept away from the Court.

18. Ocular and medical evidence :-

Here the prosecution case is that the accused persons administered poison to the deceased due to which she died in the hospital during the treatment. Though from the inquest report and post-mortem report it had not been confirmed that the deceased had died due to poison but from the viscera report obtained from the F.S.L it has been established that it was pesticide which caused death of the deceased. Thus, in this case the prosecution version, ocular evidence and the medical evidence are in consonance with each other.

In Moinuddin Vs. State of U.P., 2004 (50) ACC 244, it has been held that in the case of death by poisoning prosecution is required to prove following ingredients against the accused;

(i) That the death took place by poisoning

(ii) That the accused had poison in his/their possession

(iii) That the accused had an opportunity to administer the poison;

As per the F.S.L. Report Part-D, 000 592 dated 23.11.2013, there was insecticide poison in viscera.

19. Suicide note theory from the side of defence -

The accused had taken ground that the deceased had written a suicide note before her death. In this regard they had moved an application 99A before the lower court and had also provided a suicide note. In the suicide note following words have been transcribed in Hindi alleged to be written by the deceased Vandana Vajpayee Tripathi which is as under:

“मैं वन्दना बाजपेयी त्रिपाठी अपने पूरे होश में यह कहती हूँ कि मैं गृह कलह की वजह से आत्महत्या करने जा रही हूँ। इसके लिए न ही पुनीत त्रिपाठी जी और न ही मेरे माता पिता जिम्मेदार हैं।

यह मेरा स्वैच्छिक कदम है।”

About this suicide note a statement had been given by the accused-husband stating therein that after knowing death of her wife when he visited Banda, the landlord had given this suicide note to him. Its photocopy was sent by him to higher police officials but in this regard both the I.Os. P.W.-6 and P.W.-7 have denied that any such suicide note was provided to them. It is noteworthy that in bail application Puneet Tripathi has admitted his presence and quarrel in the house of the deceased on the alleged date and time and as per bed head ticket, the deceased was brought to the hospital by him but during the trial he denied his and his family members visit and presence on the date, time and place of occurrence. However, the landlord has not been examined and under Section 233 Cr.P.C. the accused could prove the alleged suicide note in favour of the accused persons.

20. Appreciation of evidence :-

In this case P.W.-1 is not the eyewitness, she reached in the morning of 23.8.2011 after getting information from her mother P.W.-2 in the evening of 22.8.2011. After seeing the dead body of her elder sister, she lodged the F.I.R. She has proved the contents of the F.I.R. and has deposed in favour of the prosecution. She has also deposed that first C.O. Was in favour of the accused persons and he was not properly investigating the case, even he did not record the statements of P.W.2 , herself and P.W.4. She has deposed that landlord Anil Jaiswal, Geeta Jaiswal and Apoorva Mishra@ Neelu turned in favour of the accused persons, hence they were not examined by the prosecution. This witness has also proved the written complaint Ex.Ka-1, demand of Wagon R Car and abusing and torturing by several means and also the threatening tendered by accused Puneet to remarry after killing her sister.

According to this Court from the side of accused persons an absurd suggestion has been given to this witness during the cross examination that the relations between the deceased and accused Puneet had vanished when the deceased joined the service as it has been proved from the evidence that the deceased was a government teacher and was in training since before her marriage. She was posted at Shahjahanpur, Government Education Department in the month of April 2008 while her marriage was solemnized with the accused on 01.12.2008 and later on she had been posted as Teacher in Dharmapur Primary School. It is also noteworthy that no clearcut suggestion had been given to this witness that the accused persons had not visited the place of occurrence, house of the deceased, on the alleged date and time of occurrence.

P.W.-2, mother of deceased had categorically supported the prosecution version and she has also given intact evidence during the cross-examination. No suggestion has been given to this witness regarding previous torturing and atrocities caused by the accused persons. Similarly no suggestion has been given to this witness that the accused persons had not visited the deceased on the date and time of occurrence but a suggestion has been given that before joining education department at Shahjahanpur, deceased was working as a computer clerk in an eye clinic of Dr. Awadh Dubey and had illicit relation with him. According to this Court if it was so, why accused Puneet had solemnized marriage with her is a considerable point as a defence has also been set up by the accused persons that accused Puneet Tripathi used to visit the aforesaid clinic as MR and love relations had developed between both of them. It is also noteworthy that no such suggestion has been given to P.W.1, P.W.3 and P.W.4. It is also a matter of concern that if the accused Puneet Tripathi was knowing subsistence of such illicit relation, why instead of filing a petition of divorce, a case for restitution of conjugal rights had been filed by him in Lucknow.

On the basis of the above discussion, this Court is of the conclusion that either the question/suggestion regarding illicit relation with doctor Dubey is based on incorrect fact or the case under Section 9 of the Hindu Marriage Act was only to make a show off.

P.W.-3, father of the deceased, has also deposed in favour of the prosecution and has proved the prosecution case. He has given intact evidence even in cross-examination. He has proved demand of dowry, cruelty, torturing and threatening to the deceased to remarry after killing her. No suggestion has been given to this witness regarding demand of dowry, torturing, cruelty or illicit relations with Dr. Dubey and the deceased. Thus the depositions made by this accused in examination-in-chief upon which the witness has not been cross-examined, becomes absolute.

P.W.-4, Pinki Srivastava, maid, has deposed about arrival of the accused persons on the date and time of the occurrence and has also proved the fact that accused Puneet Tripathi used to visit the deceased frequently and quarrel usually occur between both of them. No suggestion has been given to this witness that on the date and time of occurrence deceased's mother was not there and no demand of dowry was made regarding Wagon R Car from the deceased.

A self contradictory suggestion has been given to this witness at page 4 of the cross-examination where the learned counsel for the accused suggested the witness that after death of Vandana, Pooja Vajpayee and her father Raj Narain were bearing her expenditure. According to this Court by giving such suggestion the accused persons have admitted that P.W.4, Pinki, was the maid of the deceased during her lifetime and therefore her presence on the place of occurrence on the alleged date and time can not be denied.

Just after another question contrary to the above noted suggestion, a suggestion has been given by learned counsel for the accused for which she replied that it is wrong to say that she had not served ever in the house of the deceased Vandana Vajpayee.

21. From the overall discussion, it has been proved that the relation between the deceased and her husband were not cordial, however, institution of a suit for restitution of conjugal rights goes on to show that accused Puneet Tripathi wanted to keep the relation intact. The defence version is that it was a love marriage and the love affair arose between both of them when the deceased was working as a computer clerk in the eye clinic of Dr. Awadh Dubey at Kanpur Nagar which resulted into an arranged marriage. In this regard, learned counsel for the appellant, pointed out the case of the prosecution that when the accused was medical representative (MR) had also been promoted as area manager no such meager amount and ordinary articles would have been demanded as dowry. It has also been argued that for an Area Manager of a renowned medicine pharma company, purchasing a Wagon R car is not a big task when such cars are available on minor down payments.

22. It is noteworthy that none of the above noted independent witnesses were examined by the trial Court and in the garb of High Court's order passed on bail application, the learned trial Court concluded the trial in hurried manner without summoning the actual witnesses present on the spot who also carried the deceased to the Banda Hospital and District Hospital Shahjahanpur. The learned trial Court did not consider as to whether the divorce petition was the result of impersonation or not and the learned trial Court also did not attempt to send the alleged suicide note for expert opinion when the admitted signature of the deceased were very much available in records. Even the learned trial Court did not try to compare the signature and hand writing of the alleged suicide note with the available writing and signature of the deceased under Section 73 of the Evidence Act.

23. It is further pointed out that except the evidence of alleged eyewitnesses P.W.2 and P.W. 4, there is no iota of evidence to record the conviction of the accused persons under the alleged charge of dowry death, cruelty and demand of dowry.

24. It is has also been pointed out that in first page of the cross-examination, P.W.-2, mother of the deceased has admitted that she had met to Neelam Shukla, sister of the accused Puneet Tripathi, in his marriage and thereafter at the time of death of his brother Ajeet Tripathi who had died in a road accident on 17.12.2010. It is argued that Neelam Shukla who had been married 25 years before the incident had also been falsely implicated in this case to be present with rest of the accused persons at the date and time and place of occurrence. According to learned counsel for the appellants, if this lady may state and depose falsely against Neelam Shukla who was exonerated by the IO and against whom no charge-sheet had been submitted, this lady may also falsely implicate rest of the family members in addition to Puneet Tripathi.

25. At this juncture, learned counsel relied on the judicial precedents of Geeta Mehrotra and another Vs. State of U.P. And another reported in AIR 2013 Supreme Court 181 and “Kahkashan Kausar @ Sonam and others Vs. State of Bihar and others reported in 2022 0 Supreme (SC) 117” in which it has been held by the Apex Court that it is common tendency to falsely implicate the whole of the family members of the husband in a matrimonial disputes and also in cases of dowry death. For ready reference the relevant parts of these two precedents are reproduced herein below;

In Geeta Mehrotra (supra) the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that;

“in F.I.R. the allegations as to active involvement of the applicants is absent, mere casual reference to their names in F.I.R. is not sufficient to take cognizance. It is further submitted that in F.I.R., charge-sheet and statement of witnesses, there is no specific and distinct allegations made against the applicant no.1 and applicant no.2, the allegations are general and omnibus and can be said to have been made out on account of small skirmishes. In above circumstances, the order of taking cognizance on the charge-sheet, charge-sheet and the proceeding of the lower court is liable to be quashed.”

In Kahkashan Kausar @ Sonam (Supra) the Hon'ble Apex Court has been pleased to hold as follows:

“18. The above-mentioned decisions clearly demonstrate that this court has at numerous instances expressed concern over the misuse of section 498A IPC and the increased tendency of implicating relatives of the husband in matrimonial disputes, without analysing the long term ramifications of a trial on the complainant as well as the accused. It is further manifest from the said judgments that false implication by way of general omnibus allegations made in the course of matrimonial dispute, if left unchecked would result in misuse of the process of law. Therefore, this court by way of its judgments has warned the courts from proceeding against the relatives and in-laws of the husband when no prima facie case is made out against them.”

It has also been argued that P.W.-4, father of the deceased was anyhow pulling on his family and he had become dependent upon the deceased after she got the service as Teacher. In this regard several suggestions have been given and on several points witnesses of fact have been cross-examined by the defence, that when the deceased received salary amount cumulatively for several months, it was misutilised by her family members and even a forged will dated 17.4.2009 alleged to be executed by the deceased, in favour of her father regarding her house no. L 849 Awas Vikas Colony Kanpur Nagar, had been manufactured committing forgery. It is true that generally wills are executed at the later stage of life in anticipation of death and seldom by a person so young.

It has also been argued that if all the accused persons had visited the deceased on the alleged date and time of occurrence with an object to administer poison to the deceased, why was the door left open by them. On this ground, learned counsel for the appellants argued that the mode and manner of administering poison as alleged by the prosecution is quite unnatural and being a hale and hearty person accused Puneet Tripathi was himself capable in administering the poison to the deceased if he had such intention or whenever he used to visit the deceased he could have administered poisoned food to the deceased.

On the basis of above discussions this Court is of the considered view and conclusion that on the date, time and place of occurrence, only accused Puneet Tripathi was there who has also admitted quarrelling with the deceased and who had admitted the deceased in hospital but the presence and participation of the rest of the accused persons about the incident dated 22.08.2011 has not been proved beyond reasonable doubt. However, the offence under Section 498-A and Section 4 of the

D.P. Act have been proved against them beyond the reasonable doubt but they are not found guilty for committing the crime under Section 304-B I.P.C.

26. So far as the commission of crime with regard to Section 304-B, 498-A I.P.C. and Section 4 of the D.P. Act is concerned, on the basis of dispute present between Puneet Tripathi and the deceased, pendency of cases from both the side, his presence on the date, time and place of occurrence and abstaining to inform the police in case of suicide, goes against him and therefore, charges under Section 304 B, 498-A I.P.C. and Section 4 of the D.P. Act are proved beyond reasonable doubt against the accused Puneet Tripathi.

27. Heard on the quantum of sentence. According to this Court till now accused Puneet Tripathi has remained in prison for 11 years 9 months 28 days and with remission about 13 years 5 month, therefore, if the accused Puneet Tripathi is sentenced under Section 304-B for the imprisonment already undergone, would meet the ends of justice.

28. So far as Section 498-A is concerned, he has already undergone the sentence of two years and also six months sentence awarded under Section 4 of the D.P. Act.

29. So far as the accused Shivkumar Tripathi and Bindeshwari Tripathi are concerned, they are the senior citizens and the accused elder brother Sujeet Tripathi and his wife Smt. Asha Tripathi are concerned, they have also served several months imprisonment, their presence has not been established on the actual date of occurrence, therefore, the period of their incarceration in jail appears to be sufficient in absence of any pre or post criminal antecedent or conviction in any other case.

30. So far as the imposition of fine is concerned, all the accused persons have been fined Rs. 5,000/- each under Section 498-A I.P.C. and Section 4 of the D.P. Act also.

31. A compensation for Rs. 75,000/- has also been awarded upon all the accused persons cumulatively under Section 357 Cr.P.C. According to this Court, the fine imposed by the trial Court and also the compensation awarded by it, is not liable to be interfered with. Hence, this appeal is liable to be decided accordingly.

Order

(i) Criminal Appeal no. 1045 of 2016 (Puneet Tripathi Vs. State) is dismissed partly in respect of conviction and is allowed with regard to the sentence as under:

The sentence awarded to the accused-appellant Puneet Tripathi under Section 498- A I.P.C. and Section 4 of the D.P. Act, is maintained. The sentence awarded under Section 304-B I.P.C. is modified to the extent that instead of life imprisonment, he is sentenced to the period already undergone.

(ii) Criminal Appeal No. 1044 of 2016 (Shiv Kumar Tripathi and 3 Others Vs. State) is allowed in respect of conviction and sentencing under Section 304-B I.P.C. and the conviction under Section 498-A I.P.C. and Section 4 of the D.P. Act is maintained. However, sentencing is modified to the extent that they are sentenced to the period already undergone by them.

(iii) In case of non-payment of fine and compensation imposed by the trial Court, the accused persons shall undergo to the period specified by the trial Court, if the same is not deposited within thirty days from today.

1. Additional Sessions Judge, Fast Track Court, Lalitpur has made a reference to this Court on 13.08.2015 under Section 366 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, consequent upon death sentence awarded to the accused Jugal on the charge that he has poured petrol on his mother-in-law and brother-in-law and set them ablaze. The reference has been registered as Reference No. 10 of 2015. An appeal has also been filed at the instance of accused being Capital Criminal Appeal No. 3809 of 2015. The appeal and the reference have been heard together and are being disposed of by this common judgment.

2. Dinesh (PW-1) is the first informant in the present case, who happens to be the son of deceased Chameli Bai wife of Udaiya and brother of Deepchand, who too has died, stating that on 17.06.2013 at about 4.00 in the afternoon his brother-in-law Jugal son of Kashi belonging to Chamar caste came to the house and enquired about his wife Meena and daughter Seema. The family members informed that these two have not come to the house. For this reason, the accused started abusing them and kept roaming in the village and at about 1.00 in the night, he poured petrol and set ablaze the deceased. On hearing the commotion of villagers, Tiju (PW-2) and Karan Singh (not produced) came on the spot and tried to douse the fire. Deceased Chameli Bai and Deepchand were sleeping in the dallan (kind of a verandah attached to the house). Both the persons were taken for treatment to the hospital where the informant's mother has died and the brother was in injured condition. Appropriate action was requested to be taken in the matter. On the basis of such written report (Ex.Ka.1), a First Information Report came to be lodged at PS Banpur, District Lalitpur at about 12.30 PM on 18.06.2013. The distance between the place of occurrence and the police station is five kilometres.

3. Record reveals that prior to lodging of F.I.R. inquest was started on 18.06.2013 at about 10.30 AM and concluded at around 11.30 AM at the mortuary situated in District Hospital. As per the inquest, the information was given by the ward-boy and the deceased died during the course of treatment. The inquest specifically records that information with regard to death was received at 6.20 in the morning itself. The inquest witnesses included the first informant also. In the opinion of the inquest witnesses, the deceased died on account of burnt injuries and for ascertaining the correct cause of death the postmortem was necessary. The body was ultimately sealed and the postmortem was conducted on 18.06.2013 at 4.30 PM. As per the opinion of the autopsy surgeon, the deceased was 44 years old female with average body built and rigor mortis had passed from neck towards lower limbs. The cause of death as per postmortem is shock as a result of ante-mortem burn injuries. Following ante-mortem injuries have been noticed in the postmortem:-

4. Investigation proceeded in the matter and the place of occurrence was inspected by the Investigating Officer, who collected a two litres plastic container, wherein smell of petrol was present. A lamp was also found near the place of occurrence. Ashes and plain earth etc. were also collected in a separate bag vide Ex.Ka.2 by the Investigating Officer. This recovery has been proved by the independent witness Shanker Singh, who appeared as PW-3.

5. Deepchand, who allegedly was sleeping close to his mother and had also sustained burnt injuries was hospitalized in the District Hospital, Lalitpur where his dying declaration has been recorded by the concerned Naib Tehsildar Awadhesh Kumar Nigam, who has appeared as PW-5. Before recording such dying declaration the Emergency Medical Officer Dr. Pawan Sood (PW-9) certified that the injured is in fit mental state to make his declaration. The dying declaration is in the question answer form and is extracted hereinafter:-

6. The investigation further proceeded in the matter and statement was recorded of Deepchand under Section 161 Cr.P.C. The statement in that regard has not been exhibited but its Scontents have been disclosed by the Investigating Officer, who has appeared during the course of trial as PW-13. He has disclosed that Deepchand informed him that he could identify the accused from his voice.

7. The other deceased, namely, Deepchand remain hospitalized with superficial and deep facial burn up to an extent of 60 %. Deepchand also died later, on 30.06.2013 in respect of which inquest was prepared and the postmortem was also conducted, wherein his age has been assessed as 17 years. The autopsy surgeon has found that the cause of death is septicaemic shock due to ante-mortem burn injuries and found following injuries on the deceased:-

8. Statement was also recorded of the wife of the accused, namely, Meena PW-4, whereafter a charge-sheet came to be submitted against the accused under Sections 302, 504 IPC. The Magistrate took cognizance and committed the case to the court of Sessions where it got registered as Sessions Trial No. 109 of 2013. Charges were framed under Sections 302 and 504 I.P.C. and read out to the accused and explained in Hindi. The accused pleaded not guilty and claim to be tried. The charge framed by the court reads as under:-

“CHARGE

9. Copy of G.D. Ext.Ka.20
10. Inquest Report of Deep Chand and Autopsy related papers. Ext.Ka.21 to Ka.25
11. Site Plan Ext.Ka.26

12. Charge-sheet Ext.Ka.27”

10. In addition, informant Dinesh has appeared as PW-1, wherein he has disclosed that the accused came at around 4:00 to his house on 17.06.2013 and enquired about his wife and daughter from him and his mother. Accused was informed that they have not come, on which accused left, hurling abuses to them. On the same night when the two deceased were sleeping in the verandah whereas informant alongwith Ravi and Nilesh were sleeping in a room at a little distance. The witness heard screams of his mother and brother. Accused had poured kerosene on the two deceased and set them on fire and fled from the place of occurrence. This incident has been seen by Tiju and Karan Singh. PW-1 also saw the accused fleeing in the light on account of fire caused by him. The fire was doused with the help of the villagers and the witness took his mother and brother to the hospital where his mother died at about 4.00 in the morning. Brother was sent for treatment to Gwalior. He died 10-12 days later. This witness has proved the written report which is exhibited as Ex.Ka.1. PW-1 has been cross-examined, wherein he admitted that he studied up to class 9. He has disclosed that the written report was not scribed by him but was got scribed by someone else. He had not written the report as he was perplexed. He had reached the police station at about 12:00-1:00 in the afternoon and Tiju and Karan Singh had accompanied him. He has admitted that in the written report he has not disclosed that Tiju and Karan Singh had seen the accused fleeing in the light of fire. He has also denied that his statement is based upon the advice received later. As per him, the accused got married to his sister long back and out of such wedlock three children were born. Accused used to harass his sister, however, no complaint was ever made to police about such harassment. In reply to a specific query, PW-1 has stated that till date, he has not been able to know as to on the date of incident where were the wife and daughter of the accused. He has also feigned ignorance about the fact that his bhanji (sister's daughter) was getting married on that day. At the time when the accused came to the house, the deceased mother as well as Deepchand (deceased brother) were at home and that the accused came in their presence at the house. This witness has specifically stated that there are two rooms in the house and there is no television in the house. In the further cross-examination, this witness has stated that his mother and brother were sleeping on the same cot and that there is no lock put on the door on account of which anyone could come inside the house, particularly, as the height of wall is only 4 feet. He has also disclosed that it was raining when the incident occurred. He has also stated that he had tried to douse the fire by putting the cloth on his mother and brother. He has specifically stated that fire was not doused by water. The house of Tiju and Karan Singh is in front of his house. He has also stated that when he arrived at the place of occurrence by then Tiju and Karan Singh were already present at the dallan. He has also stated that dying declaration of his brother was recorded in his presence. He has also stated that the accused was arrested at about 8-9 in the morning itself. He has also stated that from the hospital he had gone straight to the police station at about 8-9. He has also admitted that he had not seen accused coming with the petrol can. He has denied the suggestion that because there was a matrimonial dispute between his sister and the accused on account of which a false report is being lodged against him.

11. Teeju son of Gorelal is PW-2 and has supported the prosecution case. As per this witness, daughter of accused got married at Amjhara Temple during summers of the previous year. On the same day at about 4:00 the accused came to his in-laws house and finding that his wife and daughter were not present, the accused hurled abuses and also extended threats to the deceased. The accused thereafter kept roaming in the village. As per this witness, he came out of the house at about 12 in the night to ease himself when he saw the accused coming out of the house of the deceased. The witness could hear screams and that he saw alongwith Karan Singh the accused coming out of the house. When he entered the house, the witness saw Chameli Bai engulfed in fire and her son Deepchand was also in fire. PW-2 and Karan doused the fire. He claims to have been informed by Chameli Bai and Deepchand that Jugal had entered the house and had poured petrol upon them. There was a burnt kuppi at the place of occurrence and he could smell petrol from it. In the cross-examination, PW-2 has stated that the IO recorded his statement on the next morning. The police had come at about 10:00 and the accused was already arrested by then. He has been confronted with his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C., wherein he has not disclosed the IO that accused was roaming around the well or that he had come out of the house at 12:00 to ease himself. He has also been confronted with his previous statement, wherein there is no reference of the accused coming out of the house. On the date of incident wife and daughter of accused were at home and that only Asha Ram (another son of deceased Chameli Bai) alone had gone to Amjhara Temple in the marriage. Deceased had also not attended the marriage. PW-2 has stated that there was nobody at home at 4:00 PM as Chameli Bai had gone to the well which is at a distance of about half a kilometre from his house. Accused came to the house first and when he found none, he went towards the well and that he had not seen the accused thereafter. He has stated that at the time of incident informant was sleeping in the house and he arrived after PW-2 had reached the place of occurrence. He has also stated that there is no wall around house of Chameli Bai. He has emphatically stated that there is no television in the house of the informant. He has also stated that it was raining and there was no electricity.

12. PW-3 is Shanker Singh, who has also supported the prosecution case. He claims that the accused had come to the village at 4:00 when his wife had gone for the marriage of her daughter at Amjhara Temple. Accused enquired from the deceased Chameli Bai about the incident and when he could elicit no reply, he started abusing his mother-in-law. Several persons came on the spot and the accused was forced to flee from the house. As per this witness, accused came at about 1:00 in the night carrying petrol in kuppi from Banpur. He claims that there was a burnt kuppi near the place of occurrence which smelt of petrol. He also claims to have seen accused fleeing from the place of occurrence. As per this witness also, he arrived inside the house and saw the two deceased in a burnt state. This witness has also proved the recovery memo Ex.Ka.2. In the cross-examination, PW-3 has stated that his statement was recorded at about 7:00-8:00 in the next morning. This witness has been confronted with his previous statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C., wherein there is no reference to the fact that daughter of accused was getting married at Amjhara Temple or that the accused was forced to flee from the house or that he kept roaming around the house of Chameli Bai; or that he saw the accused fleeing from the house of the deceased. As per this witness, his house is at 50-60 paces from the house of Chameli Bai. In his further cross-examination, PW-3 has stated that he saw the accused crossing from his house and as he was trying to save the injured he could not apprehend the accused. He claims that accused fled from the front of his house. As per him, he had seen the accused in the light of electricity as well as fire. He has stated that the informant came at the place of occurrence after hearing the screams/commotion. As per this witness also, the accused was arrested at about 10:00-11:00 in the morning. The witness has further stated that a five litre plastic can was recovered from the place of occurrence, which smelt of petrol.

13. PW-4 is Smt. Meena, who happens to be the wife of the accused. She has stated that his eldest daughter is already married. She claims that the accused used to say that he would keep her daughter and would often beat them on account of which he started residing in Lalitpur city. She had also married her daughter in Lalitpur. She has alleged that her daughter got married at Amjhara Temple and she was present on the date of marriage. It was on the same day that the accused came to her mother's house and abused her after she was not found there. She has also supported the prosecution case of the accused pouring petrol upon the two deceased. This witness has been cross-examined as per which her statement was recorded at the hospital two days after the incident. The witness has been confronted with his previous statement, wherein she has not disclosed the I.O. that accused wanted to keep her daughter. She has also been confronted with her previous statement where she had not alleged that on account of torture, she had started living at Lalitpur. She stated later that she was assaulted by accused two days prior to the incident, whereafter she came to Lalitpur. She has also alleged that the accused alleged about two days prior to the incident that he would keep her daughter. The witness also could not correctly disclose the name of her son-in-law.

14. Awadhesh Kumar Nigam (Naib Tehsildar) has appeared as PW-5, who has proved the dying declaration of Deepchand. He has alleged that he had removed the family members from the place where the deceased was kept in the hospital before recording the dying declaration. He also feigned ignorance about the fact that the family members were talking to the deceased when he came to the hospital. This witness has proved the dying declaration (Ex.Ka.3).

15. PW-6 is Dr. D.K. Raj, who has proved the postmortem of Chameli Bai. This witness has not alleged existence of thermal burn on the deceased and as per him the deceased had sustained about 93% burnt injuries. The witness has proved the postmortem report.

16. PW-7 is Dr. Rajesh Tripathi, who has proved the postmortem report of deceased Deepchand. Deepchand had sustained 70 % burnt injuries.

17. Dr. Shailesh Ranjan has appeared as PW-8, who had examined Deepchand when he was brought to the hospital. As per him, the injured was in a serious condition and he was administered vobvaran to subside the pain. He has also proved the injury report of Deepchand. According to injury report Ext.Ka12 Deepchand was brought to hospital by Dinesh (brother) and was examined on 18.06.2013 at 3:05 AM. There was superficial to deep facial burn about 60%.

18. PW-9 is Dr. Pawan Sood, who has certified that Deepchand was in fit, physical and mental state for making his declaration.

19. PW-10 is Man Singh Pal, who was posted as Sub-Inspector and has proved the inquest of Smt. Chameli Bai. He has also proved other police papers. This witness in the cross-examination has stated that the inquest was conducted between 10:30 to 11:30 in the morning and that the informant had not disclosed the fact that the accused had poured petrol on the deceased or that he had seen any such incident.

20. PW-11 is also a police personnel, who has proved the chik FIR. As per him, the informant came alone at 12:30 at the police station and had given the written report, which was incorporated in the GD. This witness has denied the suggestion that the F.I.R. was written on the dictates of the SHO or that the F.I.R. was written with the consultation and advice of the SHO.

21. PW-12 is Sub-Inspector, Gajraj Prasad, who has proved the inquest of Deepchand.

22. PW-13 is the Investigating Officer. As per him, on 18.06.2013 the case was registered in his presence at police station on the written report of complainant Dinesh that his mother and brother have been set on fire by his brother-in-law Jugal and his mother has died. He has alleged that the accused was arrested at about 6:00 in the evening. Statement of Deepchand was recorded by him on 19.06.2013, whereas the statement of PW-4 was recorded on 20.06.2013. Statement of Karan Singh and Tiju Kushwaha was recorded on 29.06.2013. In the cross-examination, PW-13 has stated that the informant is not an eye-witness and his statement was recorded at the police station. He has clearly disclosed that Karan Singh and Tiju Kushwaha had disclosed the informant of having seen the accused running from the place of occurrence in the fire. He has denied the suggestion that the statements of witnesses were recorded on the next day and has reasserted that the statement of PW-2 was recorded on 29.06.2013. I.O. has proved the site plan and has admitted that there is no electricity pole shown therein. It is also admitted that from the statement of witnesses any source of light had not surfaced. He has further stated that the kuppi mentioned as 'kutti' in the cross-examination of PW-13, denotes a can. As per him, the can was of two litres and not of five litres. He has also admitted that PW-4 never disclosed him that the accused had asserted of keeping her daughter with him.

23. The evidence produced during trial by the prosecution has been confronted to the accused for recording his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. The accused has denied his implication and has stated that at the instance of the in-laws, he has been falsely implicated. No defence witness, however, has been produced.

24. Trial court on the basis of evidence led in the matter has come to the conclusion that the accused had poured kerosene on the deceased and had killed them. The motive for such a ghastly act is alleged to be the desire of the accused to keep his daughter, which was objected to by her in-laws and the wife. The wife of the accused had got her daughter married on the date of incident and apparently the accused was enraged by such act on account of which he committed the ghastly act resulting in brutal death of two persons. The trial court, therefore, found the charges under Sections 302, 504 IPC to have been proved against the accused-appellant. The severity of the offence has been considered while awarding sentence of death penalty upon the accused. It is in that context that the reference has been made by the trial court for confirmation of death sentence. The appeal preferred by the accused is thus being considered alongwith the confirmation proceedings.

25. Shri Rajrshi Gupta, Advocate has been appointed as Amicus Curiae in the present case to represent the accused-appellant. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant submits that the court below has grossly erred in returning a finding of conviction against the accused, inasmuch as the evidence on record do not justify such conclusion and consequential conviction of the accused. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant has further urged that the dying declaration of deceased Deepchand is tutored and is not reliable, particularly as the facts narrated therein are contrary to the admitted material available on record. He further submits that there is a contradiction in the other dying declaration recorded by the I.O. under Section 161 Cr.P.C. Various contradictions in the statements of witnesses have been highlighted, which shall be dealt with while analysing the evidence on record. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant submits that the only material on record against the accused-appellant would at best justify a suspicion against him and in view of the settled law that suspicion howsoever strong cannot be a substitute for evidence to establish the guilt of the accused, the conviction and sentence cannot be sustained. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant has also placed reliance upon the judgment of the Supreme Court in Motilal & Others Vs. State of Rajasthan 2009 (8) SCR 303 in order to submit that the inquest of Smt. Chameli Bai shows that police was made aware of the incident much prior to registration of the FIR and the delay in lodging of the FIR has not been explained. Observations of the Court contained in para 6 have been referred to in order to discredit the prosecution case. So far as the motive for commissioning of the offence is concerned, learned counsel for the accused-appellant submits that the allegation against the accused of wanting to keep his daughter is a clear improvement and a result of afterthought inasmuch as none of the witnesses have made any such disclosure to the police during recording of their statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and it is only when PW-4 appeared in the witness box that such a case has been set up. It is further argued that the motive in that regard has not been confronted to the accused for recording his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and, therefore, this circumstance cannot be read against the accused. Reliance is placed upon a Division Bench judgement of this Court in Surendra Singh Vs. State of U.P.; 2019 1 Allahabad Law Journal 290 in order to submit that the dying declaration is not reliable in the facts of the present case. So far as the testimony of eye-witnesses are concerned, learned counsel for the accused-appellant strenuously urges that their presence at the place of occurrence or their statements of having seen the accused fleeing from the place of occurrence is not reliable. It is lastly urged that the accused-appellant has already suffered enough on account of being kept in a solitary confinement for ten years and that he is entitled to be set free by granting him the benefit of doubt.

26. Ms. Archana Singh appearing for the State, on the other hand, submits that this is a case of brutal murder of a lady and her son by her son-in-law, who wanted to keep his daughter as his mistress. It is submitted that this is one of those rarest of rarest cases where the father enraged by marriage of his daughter against his wishes and has ultimately killed his mother-in-law and brother-in-law and that the conclusion of guilt recorded by the court below is clearly borne out from the evidence on record. Learned A.G.A., therefore, submits that this being a case of rarest of rare nature justifies the award of death punishment on the accused and that such punishment is liable to be confirmed by this Court by rejecting the appeal of the accused.

27. We have heard learned counsel for both the parties and have carefully perused the records including the records of the trial court. The prosecution case has already been noticed by us, according to which, the deceased Chameli Bai and her son Deepchand both were burnt alive by the accused-appellant, as he was annoyed with them. As per the prosecution case an incident occurred prior in the day at 4.00 PM, when the accused came to the house of the deceased Chameli Bai and enquired about his wife (PW-4) and daughter. The accused was informed that they have not come to the house of the deceased thereafter the accused hurled abuses and taking advantage of the night ultimately poured petrol upon the two deceased and set them ablaze.

28. The prosecution case is apparently in two parts. The first part relates to the incident at 4.00 PM, when the accused came to the house looking for his wife and daughter and not finding them got annoyed and hurled abuses upon his mother-in-law and other family members. The second part relates to the actual offence of pouring kerosene upon the two deceased and setting them ablaze. We propose to deal with the two distinct parts of the prosecution case with reference to the evidence on record.

29. So far as the incident occurred at 4.00 PM on the fateful day is concerned, the written report of PW-1 states that the accused came from his village Khokhra and enquired about his wife Meena and daughter Seema. The family members informed that these two are not there after which the accused started abusing the family members. This part of the prosecution case is supported by the testimony of PW-1, which merely states that the accused came to the house of the deceased and enquired about the whereabouts of his wife and children. On being informed that they have not come to the house of the deceased, the accused abused them and left. Similar statements have been made by PW-2 and PW-3. PW-4 has also supported the prosecution case in that regard. We have carefully examined the testimony of these witnesses in order to decipher as to what exactly was the conversation made by the accused, which ultimately enraged the accused to such an extent that he went on to commit the second part of the offence.

30. The testimony of witnesses is limited to the statement of fact about the accused coming to the house of the deceased and making inquiries about his wife and daughter. What exactly transpired at this stage or what was the contents or exchange of words between the witnesses and accused has not been elaborated. From the evidence on record, this much is clear that the wife and daughter of accused were not traceable to the accused. The testimony of witnesses have been examined by us in order to ascertain as to what exactly may have happened. P.W.-1 who is the first informant and is the son of the deceased has categorically stated that till date he does not know where was the wife and daughter of the accused. This witness says nothing about the marriage of the daughter of P.W.-4 on that day. In the cross-examination, he emphatically denies any knowledge of the marriage of the daughter of accused and P.W.-4. We find it somewhat difficult to accept the testimony of P.W.-1 about his not knowing the whereabouts of his sister or her daughter. This is particularly shown, as P.W.-2 who is the neighbour of the deceased has specifically disclosed that on the date of incident the daughter of P.W.-4 got married at Amjhara Temple. If the P.W.-2 who is the neighbour is aware that the daughter of accused was getting married on the date of incident, it is difficult to accept that such fact was not within the knowledge of P.W.-1. P.W.-2 has further stated that only Asharam had attended the marriage of daughter of accused. Asharam is brother of P.W.-1 but has not been produced by the prosecution. Asharam is elder to P.W.-1 and had gone to Vanpur as per P.W.-1. P.W.-3 has also supported the prosecution case but his name neither figures in the first information report nor has his presence been disclosed by the other two prosecution witnesses i.e. P.W.-1 and P.W.-2. P.W.-3 is the primarily the witness of recovery of articles seized from the place of occurrence. On the aspect relating to marriage of the daughter of the accused, P.W.-3 has not disclosed much. The only other person who has thrown some light on the cause of annoyance of accused or render evidence on the aspect of motive or cause of the incident is P.W.-4. P.W.-4 has for the first time stated during her statement in Court that the accused wanted to keep his daughter. She has not disclosed such fact even in her statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. The I.O. has also admitted that such facts have not been disclosed by P.W.4 to him.

31. Having analyzed the evidence led by the prosecution with regard to first part of the incident we, therefore, find that neither the genesis is proved by the prosecution nor the exact reason for discord has been placed on record. We also find substance in the contention of Sri Rajarshi Gupta about admissibility of evidence on the point of motive inasmuch as the accused has not been confronted with the statement of P.W.-4 about his stated wish to keep his own daughter. We also find substance in the contention of Sri Gupta that this part of the evidence was later introduced to portray a horrific picture of the accused as being a person who wanted to keep his own daughter and thereby to suggest that he could go to any extent to commit a brutal and barbaric act. The evidence on this aspect of the matter, however, is absolutely sketchy and does not inspire the confidence of the Court. None of the witnesses except P.W.-4 has disclosed the desire of the accused to keep his own daughter. Even the statement of P.W.-4 in that regard surfaces for the first time when she appeared in the witness box. The statement of P.W.-4 has also not been confronted to the accused for recording his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. We, therefore, disbelieve the prosecution case founded on the premise that the accused wanted to keep his daughter and as the daughter got married elsewhere he committed the barbaric act of killing the deceased.

32. The prosecution has otherwise not disclosed as to what exactly transpired when the accused went to her-in-law's house at 4 O' clock. The substance of conversation has not been narrated by any of the witnesses. Even if we accept the prosecution case that the wife and daughter of the accused were missing and he suspected them to present in the house of the deceased and having not found them there, he felt annoyed yet this part of the evidence would not lead to an inference that the accused felt so enraged as to have committed the kind of act as has been attributed to him in the second part of the incident.

33. Before proceeding to second part from the evidence led by the prosecution on the second part of the incident, we would like to refer to some features of the present case which have material bearing upon its outcome. It is not in issue that the incident occurred at around 12:30-1:00 in the night intervening 17/18 June, 2021. The injured were taken to the district hospital on the same night. It also transpires that Smt. Chameli Devi died at around 4 O'clock. Information with regard to death of Smt. Chameli Devi reached the police at 6:30 in the morning through the wardboy. SI Man Singh Pal (PW-10) in his statement has stated that he conducted the inquest at about 6:20 in the morning. The inquest report (Ext.23Ka) has been proved by this witness. In the cross-examination, the witness claims that inquest commenced at 10:30 and concluded at 11:30. It is, therefore, quite apparent from the evidence brought on record that the police had received information with regard to incident much prior to the time when the F.I.R. itself was lodged.

34. According to prosecution, the accused was arrested at 6 P.M. in the evening. However, the prosecution witnesses have taken a different stand in their deposition made before the Court. P.W.-1 has stated that he came to the police station from the hospital at 8-9 in the morning. He has also stated that accused was arrested at 8-9 in the morning. Similarly, P.W.-2 has asserted that the I.O. came at about 10 along with the accused. P.W.-3 has also stated that the I.O. had arrested accused in the morning. From the weight of evidence on record, it is quite clearly established that accused was already arrested in the morning even prior to lodging of the F.I.R. There is another aspect which needs special mention at this stage. According to prosecution, the written report was made by P.W.-1 at 12:30 P.M. on 18.06.2013. P.W.-1 states that he had not scribed the written report and that it was got scribed through someone else. P.W.-11 has however stated that the F.I.R. was lodged on the basis of written report given by P.W.-1. He has also stated that P.W.-1 came all alone with written report. A specific suggestion has been given to P.W.-11 that in fact the written report was got written on the instructions of the S.H.O. at police station. The written report allegedly has been signed by P.W.-1. P.W.-1, however, admits that he has not written the report. It is, therefore, not clear as to who is the scribe of the written report. This fact assumes significance inasmuch as the record clearly shows that the police had received information with regard to the unfortunate death of Smt. Chameli Devi early in the morning hours. The accused was also arrested in the morning hours. Once that being the situation, the subsequent lodging of F.I.R. was expected to have contained narration with regard to such steps already taken that is preparation of inquest or arrest of accused etc. The Investigating Officer, however, has been produced as P.W.-13 and as per his statement the first entry in the case diary is after the registration of the F.I.R. No details/ records have been produced to the police with regard to receiving of information; steps taken by the prosecution during course of inquiry; arrest of accused etc. Had these facts been placed by the prosecution, it could have been ascertained as to what exactly was the manner in which the police received information about the incident and the manner in which the inquiry and latter investigation proceeded. The fact that such facts have been suppressed and concealed by the prosecution, creates doubt upon the authenticity of the prosecution case itself. The prosecution version that accused was arrested at 6 PM is not believable in view of the consistent case of prosecution witnesses P.W.-1 to P.W.-3, all of whom have testified about arrest of the accused prior to the registration of F.I.R. This Court, therefore, views the prosecution version with some circumspection.

35. So far as night incident is concerned, the prosecution has relied upon oral testimony of P.W.-1 to P.W.-3 in addition to the dying declaration recorded of Deep Chand.

36. P.W.-1 in his written report has referred to the presence of P.W.-2 and Karan Singh soon after the incident at the place of occurrence. In the written report, P.W.-1 has not shown his presence. He has also not stated about any receipt of information regarding the incident either from Deep Chand or from Smt. Chameli Devi. Investigating Officer has also categorically admitted that P.W.-1 had not informed him that he was a witness to the incident. P.W.-1, P.W.-2 and P.W.-3, who are the witnesses of fact, have consistently asserted that they saw the accused running from the place of occurrence in the light of fire. P.W.-1 in his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. has not alleged that he had seen the accused fleeing from the place of occurrence in the light of fire along with Tiju and Karan Singh. What has been stated by him under Section 161 Cr.P.C. is that on hearing the commotion, he came out of the room and saw his mother and brother burning. P.W.-1 has also admitted that when he came to the place of occurrence, P.W.-2 was already present. P.W.-1 has not disclosed in his initial statement that he saw the accused pouring petrol on the deceased. P.W.-1 is the son of the deceased and his presence in the house cannot be doubted. However, it transpires that P.W.-1 was sleeping at different location when the incident occurred. P.W.-1, therefore, came much later on hearing the commotion and his subsequent version that he saw the accused fleeing from the place of occurrence is a clear improvement from what was disclosed earlier by him to the police. P.W.-1 although had taken his mother and brother to the hospital but has not alleged that he received any information from his mother or brother about the culprit of crime. We, therefore, are not inclined to attach much weight to the testimony of P.W.1 as he is neither a eye-witness nor his version of having seen the accused fleeing from the place of occurrence is consistent and the testimony in that regard is an apparent improvement.

37. So far as P.W.-2 is concerned, he is a neighbour and claims that he had come out of the house only to ease himself when he claims to have seen the accused coming out of the house and he could hear the screams from inside the house. P.W.-2, therefore, states that he came inside the house and made attempts to douse the fire. P.W.-2 admits that P.W.-1 came to the place of occurrence after he had already reached. So far as the statement of P.W.-2 is concerned, we find that his version with regard to first part of the incident is at variance from the statement of other witnesses. He came out of the house to ease himself is an improvement over what was disclosed by him to police under Section 161 Cr.P.C. The Investigating Officer has also admitted that such a disclosure was not made by him. P.W.-2 has also not disclosed in his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. that he saw the accused coming out of house in the light of fire. This part of the statement is also an improvement over what was disclosed by him earlier. The statement of P.W.-2 has been recorded by the I.O. for the first time on 29th June, 2013 which is after 11 days of the incident. No reason whatsoever has been disclosed for the delayed recording of the statement of P.W.-2. The I.O. has also not given any plausible explanation for the delay occurred in recording of the statement of P.W.-2 who otherwise is the first to know this. In the context of various improvements and enhancements made by P.W.-2, the delay of 11 days in recording of his statement lends credence to the defence argument that his testimony is not entirely reliable. P.W.2 has also stated that none of the family members of Chameli Bai had accompanied her to the hospital and that there were three other Karan Singh, Raja Babu and Bal Kishan who have taken the injured to the hospital. This statement of P.W.-2 is also found incorrect in view of the admitted evidence on record which shows that it was the first informant who had taken his injured brother to the hospital. Viewed in context of above discussions, we do not deem it appropriate to attach much weight to the testimony of P.W.-2. We have fortified in taking such view from the observation of Supreme Court contained in Para 6 of the judgment in Motilal (supra) which is extracted hereinafter:-

“6. It is true as observed by the High Court that if the FIR is timely lodged and investigation is undertaken immediately, in a given case, the delayed receipt of the report by the Elaq Magistrate would not be fatal to the prosecution. It would depend upon the facts of each case. There cannot be any generalisation. There is a purpose behind the enactment of Section 157 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (in short the 'Code'). The statutory requirement that the report has to be sent forthwith that itself shows that the urgency attached to the sending of the report. In a given case it is open to the prosecution to indicate reasons for the delayed despatch or delayed receipt. This has to be established by evidence. Apart from that, the unexplained discrepancy in the timings as recorded in the inquest report and the FIR has to be kept in view. It is prosecution version that the FIR was lodged at 10.50 a.m. If was so it was required to be explained by investigating officer by plausible evidence on record, as to how the inquest was undertaken at 10.30 a.m. at a point of time when the FIR was not in existence. The High Court has lightly brushed aside the plea of the appellants that it may be the lapse on the part of the investigating officer. It is true that a faulty investigation cannot be a determinative factor and would not be sufficient to throw out a credible prosecution version. But in the instant case there is no explanation offered even to explain the discrepancies cumulative effect of the factors highlighted above would show that the prosecution has miserably failed to establish the accusations. The appeal succeeds. The bail bonds executed to give effect to the order of bail dated 12.7.2004 shall stand discharged."

38. So far as P.W.-3 is concerned, his presence is neither mentioned in the F.I.R. nor his presence is referred to in the testimony of P.W.-1 or P.W.-2. He is merely a witness to the recovery i.e. Ext. Ka-2 and Ka-3. In the statement of P.W.-3 recorded in the case diary, P.W.-3 is only mentioned as a witness to the recovery and is not shown to be an eye-witness. Even in the charge-sheet, P.W.-3 is described as the witness of the recovery. The statement of P.W.-3 that he saw the accused fleeing from the place of occurrence is something which has surfaced only at the stage of recording of statement before the Court. The Investigating Officer has also admitted that P.W.-3 is merely a witness of recovery and not of the incident.

39. So far as P.W.-4 is concerned, we have already noticed that she is not claiming to be a witness of fact but her testimony is only on the aspect of motive which cannot be read or relied upon as the accused has not been confronted on that aspect of the matter. The deposition of P.W.-4, on the aspect of motive, is otherwise a clear improvement to what was disclosed earlier by her to the I.O. while recording her statement. The testimony of witnesses of fact, therefore, does not lend much support to the prosecution case. We may also note that P.W.-1 while supporting the prosecution case on the aspect of recovery has specified the plastic can containing petrol to be of 5 liters whereas the prosecution claims plastic can to be of 2 liters. The testimony of P.W.-3, on the aspect of recovery of plastic can in which petrol was allegedly kept, is also not much inspired.

40. This leads us to the dying declaration of deceased Deep Chand. The contents of the dying declaration have already been extracted above. The doctor has clearly certified his physical and mental condition for recording of his declaration. The declaration, otherwise, is recorded by the Naib Tehsildar who was vested with magisterial powers. There is, thus, no deficiency in the recording of dying declaration on the procedural aspect. It is otherwise settled that in the event dying declaration is found trustworthy then we can consider at the sole basis for recording conviction of the accused in appropriate manner. The Apex Court in the case of Sharda vs. State of Rajasthan, 2010 (68) ACC 274 (SC) has held that "a dying declaration made by a person on the verge of his death has a special sanctity as at that solemn moment a person is most unlikely to make any untrue statement. The shadow of impending death is by itself guarantee of the truth of the statement of the deceased regarding the circumstances leading to his death. But at the same time, the dying declaration like any other evidence has to be tested on the touchstone of credibility to be acceptable. It is more so, as the accused does not get an opportunity of questioning the veracity of the statement by cross-examination."

41. In order to evaluate the credit-worthiness of the dying declaration, we have examined its contents with the attending circumstances and the evidence on record. The first and foremost it is to be noticed that the deceased Deep Chand had mentioned that he went to the room of his mother to watch television and lied there on the cot next to her. The Investigating Officer has not found any television set at the place where the incident occurred. P.W.-1 who is the son of the deceased has categorically admitted that there was no television in his house. P.W.-2 who is the neighbour has also admitted that there was no television in the house. We have also seen the site plan in which no television is shown to exist. In fact the place of incident is not a room but is a verandah. The photograph of the place of incident is available in the original records of the case which also shows the place of incident to be a verandah and not a room. The last answer of Deep Chand in his dying declaration that he had gone to her mother's room to watch T.V. is, therefore, contradicted by the weight of evidence on record.

42. The deceased Deep Chand was specifically asked as to whether any quarrel took place with the accused in response to which he stated that once while playing the accused had kept his feet on his neck. The deceased has not stated anything about the first part of the incident which allegedly occurred. This assumes significance inasmuch as the prosecution case is that Deep Chand was also present when the accused came to his in-laws house. A specific question was then posted to Deep Chand as to whether any quarrel occurred with his mother to which he answered that he does not know. The deceased Deep Chand has also stated that after he was set on fire, he ran towards the court yard and jumped into a pool of water. This part of the testimony of the statement in the dying declaration is contradicted by the prosecution witnesses of fact P.W.-1 & 2, as per which the fire was doused by putting cloth on the deceased and the injured and not by pouring water. None of the witnesses have stated that Deep Chand had jumped in the pool of water. The statement of Deep Chand is, therefore, contradicted on this part also. So far as the version of Deep Chand in response to the first question is concerned, the deceased has admitted that he was sleeping with his mother. He has stated that accused happens to be his brother in law who poured petrol on them and set them ablaze. There is nothing on record to indicate that there was any light or electricity in the house. In the last question also Deep Chand has claimed that when the accused was pouring petrol on his mother then he saw him. We view with some suspicion, the statement of Deep Chand inasmuch as it is not clear as to how he knew that the liquid, poured upon him or his mother was petrol. There is not even an iota of evidence on record to show that the deceased were burnt by the use of petrol. It is difficult to conceive that as to how Deep Chand could know about the identity of inflammable substance. It is in that context that we attach some importance to the argument of defence that infact the dying declaration was a result of tutoring inasmuch as P.W.-1 has admitted that he was present when the statement of his brother was being recorded. Although P.W.-5 has stated that he had removed all family members present near Deep Chand yet the inference of tutoring cannot entirely be eliminated as the presence of family members prior to the recording of statement is admitted. P.W.-1 has otherwise stated that he was present when the statement of his brother was recorded. P.W.-5 has also stated that he does not remember when he arrived at the hospital to record the declaration whether family members of Deep Chand were talking to him. There is also a material contradiction in the dying declaration recorded by the Magistrate viz-a-viz the statement recorded by the Investigating Officer inasmuch as the Investigating Officer has stated that the Deep Chand informed him that from the voice of accused, he could identify him whereas in the dying declaration made to the Magistrate, there is no such disclosure.

43. The Apex Court, in the case of State of Gujarat v. Jayrajibhai Puniabhai Varu AIR 2016 SC 3218 (PARA 10 & 11), has laid down that, “courts have to be extremely careful while dealing with a dying declaration as the maker thereof is not available for the cross-examination which poses a great difficulty to the accused person. The Court has to examine a dying declaration scrupulously with a microscopic eye to find out whether the dying declaration is voluntary, truthful, made in a conscious state of mind and without being influenced by the relatives present or by the investigating agency who may be interested in the success of investigation or which may be negligent while recording the dying declaration. The Court has to weigh all the attendant circumstances and come to the independent finding whether the dying declaration was properly recorded and whether it was voluntary and truthful. Once the court is convinced that the dying declaration is so recorded, it may be acted upon and can be made a basis of conviction. The courts must bear in mind that each criminal trial is an individual aspect. It may differ from the other trials in some or the other respect, and therefore a mechanical approach to the law of dying declaration has to be shunned. A mechanical approach in relying upon a dying declaration just because it is there, is extremely dangerous.”

44. The dying declaration made to the Magistrate, therefore, does not appear to us to be entirely reliable inasmuch as the factual assertion made therein with regard to Deep Chand having gone to the room of his mother to see TV and other facts being contradicted by the evidence on record. Deep Chand has otherwise feigned ignorance about the reason for which the accused had poured petrol and set him and his mother ablaze. In the totality of the facts and circumstances, we are therefore not inclined to rely upon the dying declaration so as to record the conviction of the accused appellant.

45. We find in the facts of the case that the court below has not subjected the testimony of witnesses to a careful scrutiny and has accepted the prosecution case on its basis. The law with regard to evaluation of the dying declaration has also not been applied correctly in the facts of the present case.

46. Considering the fact that the accused appellant has already undergone incarceration of more than 10 years, we are of the view that he is entitled to benefit of doubt. The finding of the court below that the guilt of the accused appellant has been established beyond reasonable doubt is, therefore, reversed. The reference is answered accordingly. The accused appellant shall be released unless he is wanted in any other case subject to compliance of section 437 A Cr.P.C.

47. Before parting the record, our appreciation for a sincere effort made by the Amicus Curiae, Shri Rajrshi Gupta in highlighting the facts of the case which has enabled us to arrive at our above conclusion. We also record our appreciation for the gesture showed by learned Amicus Curiae in not accepting any fee.

1. As per the office report, appellant No. 2, Ganga Sagar Tiwari in Criminal Appeal No. 5169 of 2003, who has been convicted in Session Trial No. 1453 of 2000, State Vs. Udai Narain and others, arising out of Case Crime No. 150 of 2000, under Sections 498-A, 304-B I.P.C. read with Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station Chakeri, District Kanpur Nagar and sentenced to life imprisonment, had died on 04.10.2009. Learned counsel for the appellant also supports such statement. In that view of the matter, Criminal Appeal No. 5169 of 2003 abates as against appellant No. 2-Ganga Sagar Tiwari.

2. As per the office report, appellant No. 1-Lakhan @ Satya Narain in Criminal Appeal No. 5259 of 2003, who has been convicted in Session Trial No. 1453 of 2000, State Vs. Udai Narain and others, arising out of Case Crime No. 150 of 2000, under Sections 498-A, 304-B I.P.C. read with Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station Chakeri, District Kanpur Nagar and sentenced to life imprisonment, had died on 03.12.2021. Learned counsel for the appellant also supports such statement. In that view of the matter, Criminal Appeal No. 5259 of 2003 abates as against appellant No. 1-Lakhan @ Satya Narain.

3. These two appeals have been filed challenging the judgment of conviction and sentence passed by the court below dated 17.09.2003 in Sessions Trial No. 1453 of 2000, State Vs. Udai Narain and others, arising out of Case Crime No. 150 of 2000, under Sections 498-A, 304-B I.P.C. read with Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station Chakeri, District Kanpur Nagar. By the impugned judgment the trial court has convicted and sentenced four accused, namely, Deepak alias Pilla (Devar), Ganga Sagar Tiwari (father-in-law), Lakhan alias Satya Narain (Devar) and Udai Narain @ Kallu (husband).

4. The appeals at the instance of Ganga Sagar Tiwari and Lakhan @ Satya Narain have been dismissed as having abated on account of their death. Thus, these two appeals, therefore, survive at the instance of Deepak alias Pilla (Devar) and Udai Narain @ Kallu (husband of the deceased).

5. By the impugned judgment, the accused-appellants, Deepak alias Pilla (Devar) and Udai Narain @ Kallu (husband) have been convicted and sentenced to rigorous life imprisonment under Section 304-B I.P.C., three years rigorous imprisonment along with a fine of Rs. 2,000/- each under Section 498-A I.P.C. and on failure to deposit the fine to undergo additional simple imprisonment for three months each; two years simple imprisonment along with a fine of Rs. 2,000/- each under Section 3 of Dowry Prohibition Act and on failure to deposit the fine to undergo additional simple imprisonment for two months each; and two years simple imprisonment along with a fine of Rs. 2,000/- each under Section 4 of Dowry Prohibition Act and on failure to deposit the fine to undergo additional simple imprisonment for two months each.

6. Informant, who happens to be the father of the deceased, has given a written report on 10th of March, 2000 (Ex.Ka.1), stating that he had married his daughter with Udai Narain @ Kallu on 12.06.1995 as per Hindu traditions after giving adequate dowry as per his capabilities. After marriage the accused demanded dowry of Rs. 10,000/- and a gold chain on account of which the deceased was harassed and tortured. Such facts were disclosed by the deceased when she came to her house. The informant requested the accused not to harass his daughter since he has no means to arrange such dowry. A complaint was also given to the Incharge S.H.O., Civil Lines on 17.08.1998. On 07.03.2000 the in-laws of the deceased informed the first informant that his daughter is unwell and is hospitalized in K.P. Ganj Hospital. On receiving such information he came to the hospital along with his wife and found his daughter dead. Apprehension has been expressed that the deceased was done to death by the accused by administering some poison on account of dowry. Based on such written report a first information report came to be lodged as Case Crime No. 150 of 2000, under Sections 498-A, 304-B I.P.C. read with Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act. The deceased was hospitalized at 09:10 a.m. on 07.03.2000 by the husband of the deceased. The deceased ultimately died at 04:55 p.m. on 07.03.2000. Inquest, however, was conducted on 09.03.2000 at 12:30 in the afternoon. The inquest report records that information with regard to the death of the deceased was received on 07.03.2000 at 06:05 p.m. Father of the deceased, Hari

Shankar and brother of the deceased were witnesses of inquest. In order to ascertain the cause of death the inquest witnesses opined that postmortem be conducted. Body of the deceased was sealed and sent along with the police papers for postmortem which was also conducted on 09.03.2000 at 02:30 p.m. In the postmortem report the deceased is found to be a 24 years old lady. Cause of death could not be ascertained and the viscera was preserved. No injuries, however, have been found on the body of the deceased. The viscera report dated 03.08.2000 has been brought on record, as per which Baygon insecticide was found in the viscera and, therefore, cause of death is determined as poisoning. Statements of witnesses were recorded, whereafter charge sheet came to be submitted against the four accused on 08.07.2000. The Magistrate took cognizance and committed the case to the court of Sessions, where it got registered as Session Trial No. 1453 of 2000.

7. Charges were framed by the court of Sessions on 06.01.2001 against the four accused under Sections 498-A, 304-B I.P.C. read with Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act. The accused denied the charges and demanded trial.

8. At the stage of trial the prosecution has adduced following documentary evidence:

(i) F.I.R. dated 10.03.2000 (Ex. Ka.-4), (ii) Written Report dated 10.03.2000 (Ex. Ka.-1), (iii) Postmortem Report dated 09.03.2000 (Ex. Ka.-3), (iv) Inquest Report dated 09.03.2000 (Ex. Ka.-2), (v) Chargesheet dated 08.07.2000 (Ex. Ka.-10) and (vi) Site Plan with Index dated 14.03.2000 (Ex. Ka.-11).

9. In addition to above, oral testimonies have also been brought on record by the family members of the deceased.

10. P.W.1 happens to be the father of the deceased has been examined and in his examination-in-chief he has supported the prosecution case with regard to the marriage having been solemnized on 12.06.1995, as also claim of demand of dowry from the deceased. It is also alleged that the deceased was harassed since desired items were not given to the accused persons. P.W.1 has proved the inquest and asserted that the last rites were performed by him. He has also admitted that information with regard to the illness of his daughter was received from the in-laws of the deceased. In his cross-examination, P.W.1 has admitted that marriage was solemnized without any dowry item given to the in-laws, the deceased happily went to her in-laws' house, however, father-in-law of the deceased demanded gold chain as it was required to have been given during marriage and one of the ceremonies. He has also admitted that there was no complaint made by the deceased against her in-laws. In his further cross-examination, P.W.1 has stated that demand of gold chain was made after an year of marriage and apart from it no other demand was made. Allegations, however, of ill treatment are made against the father-in-law. The deceased has left behind a two and half year old daughter who is living with her father and grand father. This witness has denied the suggestion that the deceased has illicit relations with her brother-in-law (Jeeja) at whose place she previously lived for a quite sometime at Shuklaganj and it was on account of such dispute that the deceased actually committed suicide by consuming poison. P.W.1 has referred an incident of 1998 when the dispute between the deceased and her husband (Udai Narain @ Kallu) was resolved at Chakeri Police Station.

11. Mother of the deceased, Smt. Manorama, has appeared as P.W.2. In her examination-in-chief she has alleged that marriage was solemnized 5-6 years back in which dowry items were given and her younger daughter had also accompanied the deceased to her in-laws place. The younger daughter of P.W.2 remained in in-laws house of the deceased for about one and half months. The younger daughter complained about the bad habits of father-in-law, who would often make lured remarks against the deceased. In her cross-examination, P.W.2 has reiterated the demand of dowry of Rs. 10,000/- and a gold chain. P.W.2 has further asserted during cross-examination that the marriage of deceased was arranged by Sunil Chandra Bajpayee, who happened to be the elder son in-law and was residing at Shuklaganj. She has stated that there was no dowry given at the time of marriage and that the deceased had made no grievance/complaint with regard to the dowry. P.W.2 has also referred to some incident which took place two years after the marriage in which a report was lodged at Police Station Chakeri, where a compromise was arrived at. This witness has denied the suggestion that in-laws of the deceased objected to visits of deceased to Shuklaganj or that the deceased regularly visits Shuklaganj against the wishes of her in-laws. This witness has admitted that the in-laws of the deceased had objected to her visits to Shuklaganj and it was in that context that the dispute occurred and was resolved at Police Station Chakeri. The statement of P.W.2 in that regard is extracted hereinafter:

यह सही है कि प्राची के ससुराल वालों ने प्राची को शुक्ला गंज जाने से मना किया था। इसका समझौता प्राची की शादी के दो साल बाद हुआ था चकरी थाने में हुआ था समझौते के बाद प्राची शुक्ला गंज नहीं जाती थी प्राची के पति ही शुक्ला गंज लेकर जाते थे। मेरे सामने प्राची अपने पति के साथ शुक्ला गंज कभी नहीं गई।

12. Younger sister of the deceased, Smt. Priti @ Binti has appeared as P.W.3, who has made allegations against the father-in-law of the deceased. This witness has also referred to the involvement of brother-in-law of the deceased, who lived at Shuklaganj and was in the affairs with the deceased.

13. P.W.4 is Dr. P. V. S. Chauhan, who conducted postmortem and has proved the postmortem report. P.W.5 is a formal witness, who is an employee of the police department and has proved the police papers. P.W.6 is also a formal witness, who has proved the inquest proceedings.

14. P.W.7 is the brother of the deceased and has made allegations with regard to the demand of dowry by the in-laws of the deceased. In his cross-examination he has admitted that marriage of the deceased was got solemnized by his brother-in-law residing at Shuklaganj and has admitted that the deceased often used to visit at Shuklaganj. This witness has also received information about the death of the deceased from his brother-in-law at Shuklaganj. Although a previous complaint is alleged to have been made but details in respect thereof has not been produced.

15. P.W.8 is the Investigating Officer, who has proved the F.S.L. report, as per which the viscera of the deceased contained Baygon insecticide. He has also explained various steps which have been taken during the course of investigation.

16. On the basis of evidence collected by the prosecution the statement of accused has been recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. The accused have denied their involvement and have asserted that they have been falsely implicated. A specific case has been set up of illicit relations between the deceased and her brother-in-law who lived at Shuklaganj, on account of which she allegedly committed suicide. It has also been alleged by the accused, Deepak alias Pilla that on objecting to the relations of deceased with her brother-in-law she committed suicide.

17. A defence evidence has been adduced on behalf of appellants as a testimony of D.W.1-Shiv Kumar, who has alleged that no dowry was given at the time of marriage. This defence witness is a neighbour and claims to know the family members of the accused for the last 15 years. He has alleged that the deceased had consumed poison and after facts came to have been notice of the family members the deceased was rushed to the hospital by her in-laws. Same statement has been made by Samar Singh, who has appeared as D.W.2.

18. The trial court on the basis of evidence led in the matter has come to conclusion that the charges levelled against the accused are proved inasmuch as the marriage has been performed within seven years seven years of the date of death which occurred in unnatural circumstances and that there was a demand of dowry. The appellants have been convicted and sentenced as per above.

19. Shri Manish Tandon appearing for the appellants submits that it is a case of suicide by the deceased on account of an objection raised by her in-laws to her relations with her brother-in-law.

20. Learned counsel further submits that, in fact, no dowry was ever demanded nor was paid and all such allegations have been levelled, subsequently, as an afterthought merely to implicate the family members, after the deceased committed suicide.

21. Learned A.G.A. for the State, on the other hand, contends that the evidence on record may prove the commissioning of offence for which the accused-appellants have been charged and convicted by the Court below and that the appeal itself has no merit.

22. We have heard both the parties and perused the material on record. It is not in dispute that the marriage of the deceased was solemnized with accused Udai Narain @ Kallu on 12.06.1995. The deceased has died on 07.03.2000 and, therefore, the death of the deceased is within seven years. It is also admitted from the viscera report that the cause of death is poisoning. Prosecution witnesses have also alleged that there was a demand of dowry on account of which the deceased has been done to death. The defence, however, has come out with a distinct version of the incident, according to which, the deceased used to visit her brother-in-law at Shuklaganj on account of which there were differences between the deceased and her husband, on account of which, she ultimately committed suicide. On the basis of evidence adduced by the parties, this Court is, therefore, primarily required to determine as to whether this is a case of homicidal death or suicide?

23. We have perused the postmortem report which clearly goes to show that there existed no injury on the body of the deceased, when the postmortem was conducted. The evidence on record further goes to show that the deceased was taken to the hospital at about 09:10 a.m. on 7th March, 2000 by the husband of the deceased. This is clearly reflected from the treatment card which has been duly proved by the I.O., i.e., P.W.-8. The prosecution witnesses have clearly admitted that the information of illness of deceased was given to her father and other family members on 7th March itself and they also arrived at the hospital on the same evening. It appears that the family members of deceased were at the hospital while the deceased was receiving the medical attention, this is clearly reflected from the statement of P.W.-7, who happens to be the brother of the deceased. Similar statement has been made by P.W.-1 also. These facts taken cumulatively gives an indication that the husband of the deceased as well as her in-laws took due care in taking her to the hospital and also informed the family members of the deceased about the incident. It is also admitted that family members of the deceased were present till the parents of the deceased arrived at the hospital. It is thereafter that the body of the deceased was retained by the parents who later lodged the report.

24. So far as the demand of dowry by the father-in-law and husband is concerned, the allegation made by prosecution witnesses is contradictory and vague. P.W.-1 and P.W.-2, who are the parents of the deceased, at one stage, have alleged demand of dowry from them but in the same statement have also stated that the marriage was solemnized without any dowry and that the deceased was happily living with her in-laws. The demand of gold chain is attributed to the father-in-law of the deceased and such demand is alleged to have been made a year after the marriage. So far as, father-in-law is concerned, he has already died. Most of the allegations have been levelled by the other prosecution witnesses against father-in-law of the deceased and since he has already died, we are not required to examine such allegations in any further detail. So far as the demand of dowry by husband and the brother-in-law is concerned, the allegation is absolutely vague and contradictory. No specific date, time or place for such demand of dowry from the husband is attributed to husband or brother-in-law. We are, therefore, not impressed by the evidence on record with regard to demand of dowry by the husband and brother-in-law. So far as brother-in-law Deepak alias Pilla is concerned, none of the witnesses have ever referred to his name for any specific allegation of demand of dowry by him.

25. We have also examined the records and we find that the role of brother-in-law of deceased figures prominently right from the stage of the marriage of the deceased. The prosecution witnesses have admitted that the marriage was arranged by the brother-in-law of deceased who lived at Shuklaganj. It is also admitted that the deceased had stayed for several years in the house of her brother-in-law at Shuklaganj. It appears that there was an issue with regard to frequent visit of deceased to Shuklaganj at the house of her brother-in-law. Mother of the deceased has admitted that frequent visits of deceased to Shuklaganj was the cause of marital discord, in respect of which, a complaint was made at police station Chakeri and a compromise was worked out as per which the deceased was not allowed to go to Shuklaganj alone and, whenever, she visits her brother-in-law, she would be accompanied by her husband. The mother of deceased has also admitted that in-laws of the deceased did not like the act of deceased's visiting her brother-in-law frequently to Shuklaganj. This fact is more or less admitted to all the prosecution witnesses. The specific defence pleaded by the accused is that the deceased had relations with her brother-in-law and as her in-laws objected her frequent visit to the brother-in-law, she committed suicide in a fit of anger. Defence witnesses have also supported such claim by stating that the marriage, otherwise, was solemnized between the parties without any demand of dowry.

26. We have carefully examined the two versions which have surfaced on record before us and in view of the admission made by the prosecution witnesses, we are inclined to accept the defence version that there was a discord in the marital life of the deceased on account of the role played by her brother-in-law residing at Shuklaganj. It is also admitted that the discord went to the extent of lodging of a police complaint and it was only after a compromise worked out at the police station when the issue ultimately was resolved. The defence version that it was on account of such objection of the in-laws in the visits of deceased to the house of her brother-in-law that she committed suicide has been probalitized on the basis of evidence led by the defence. Even otherwise, we find that there are no specific allegations of physical harassment or torture by the in-laws of the deceased, which may have caused her death. The fact that there are no injury marks on the body of the deceased, supports such view of ours. The fact that poison has been found in the viscera report, therefore, clearly supports the defence version as per which the deceased committed suicide.

27. Trial Court while convicting and sentencing the accused, has not carefully examined the evidence on record and that testimony of mother of deceased acknowledging the objection of in-laws in frequent visits to Shuklaganj has been overlooked. The fact that there were no previous complaints and no marks of physical injury on the deceased have also been worked out. The trial Court, therefore, fell in error in accepting the prosecution case without subjecting the testimony of witnesses of a careful analysis. In that view of the matter, we set aside the finding of the Court below, as per which, the prosecution has succeeded in establishing the guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt.

28. Consequently, these appeals succeed and are allowed. Judgment and order dated 17.09.2003 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Fast Track Court No. 5, Kanpur Nagar in Sessions Trial No. 1453 of 2000, State Vs. Udai Narain and others, arising out of Case Crime No. 150 of 2000, under Sections 498-A, 304-B I.P.C. read with Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station Chakeri, District Kanpur Nagar, is set aside. The appellants are acquitted from the charges of offence. Since the appellants, Deepak alias Pilla and Udai Narain @ Kallu have already been released on bail, as such, their sureties and bonds shall stand discharged subject to compliance of Section 437A Cr.P.C.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal
Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ajay Kumar Mishra, learned counsel for the appellant and learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. Both these appeals challenge the judgment and order dated 17.1.2018 passed by Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No. 15, Meerut in Sessions Trial No.713 of 2015 convicting and sentencing the appellants in both the appeals under Section 302 read with Section 34 of Indian Penal Code, 1860 (hereinafter referred to as 'I.P. Code') for life imprisonment with fine of Rs.20,000/- each and, in case of default of payment of fine, further to undergo simple imprisonment for six months.

3. Brief facts as culled out from the record are that the deceased was set ablaze by the appellants on 20.11.2014 at the house which was sold by the appellants to the deceased but possession was not given to the deceased. So as to settle the dispute deceased was called by the appellants. The appellants set ablaze the deceased as a result of which she was severely burnt and died in the hospital on 28.11.2014 namely after about eight days during treatment. A complaint to that effect was lodged which was registered as Case Crime No.595 of 2014 against the accused-appellants. Dying Declaration of the deceased was recorded in the hospital on the very same day of incident.

4. Investigation was moved into motion and after recording statements of various persons, the Investigating Officer submitted the charge-sheet against Raja and Jeetu (both accused) to the competent court.

5. The accused were facing charges which were exclusively triable by the Court of Sessions, hence, the case was committed to the Court of Sessions.

6. On being summoned, the accused pleaded not guilty and wanted to be tried, hence, the trial started and the prosecution examined about 9 witnesses who are as follows:

1	Deposition of Ravi	PW
2	Deposition of Rani	PW
3	Deposition of Usha	PW
4	Deposition of Sheela	PW
5	Deposition of Ravindra Singh	PW
6	Deposition of Rajiv Kumar Malik	PW
7	Deposition of Dr. Sachin Gupta	PW
8	Deposition of Devraj Singh	PW

11	Deposition of Gajendra Pal Singh	PW
12	Deposition of Dr Sunil Gupta	PW
13	Deposition of Dr. Yashveer Singh	PW
14	Deposition of Rakesh Kumar	PW
15	Deposition of Ranjeet	PW
16	Deposition of Dr Rajkumar	PW

In support of ocular version following documents were filed:

1	Written Report	Ex.Ka.1
2	F.I.R.	Ex.Ka.2
3	Dying Declaration	Ex. Ka. 5
4	Postmortem Report	Ex. Ka. 4
5	Panchayatnama	Ex.Ka.7
6	Charge-sheet	Ex. Ka.15
7	Site Plan with Index	Ex. Ka.6
8	Medical Certificate	Ex. Ka. 17
9	Injury Report	Ex. Ka. 18
10	Medical Report	Ex. Ka. 19

7. At the end of the trial and after recording the statement of the accused under section 313 of Cr.P.C., and hearing arguments on behalf of prosecution and the defence, the learned Sessions Judge convicted the appellants as mentioned aforesaid. Being aggrieved by and dissatisfied with the aforesaid judgement and order passed by the Sessions Court the appellants have preferred the present appeal.

8. Learned counsel for the appellants has relied on the decisions in Maniben Vs. State of Gujarat, 2009 LawSuit (SC) 1380, Bengai Mandal @ Begai Mandal Vs. State of Bihar, 2010 (1) Supreme 49, Chirra Shivraj Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2010 LawSuit (SC) 843, and the decisions of this High Court in Criminal Appeal No.1438 of 2010 (Smt. Rama Devi alias Ramakanti Vs. State of U.P.) decided on 7.10.2017, Criminal Appeal No.26 of 2007 (Banwari & Another Vs. State of U.P.) decided on 20.8.2015 and Criminal Appeal No.318 of 2015 (Pramod Kumar Vs. State of U.P.) decided on 28.2.2019 so as to contend that life could not be till the last breath. It is submitted that the conviction under Section 302 of I.P.C. is not sustainable and is bad as the incident occurred without common object and as the offence occurred on spur of moment is not that heinous. In alternative, it is submitted that at the most punishment can be under Section 304 II or Section 304 I of I.P.C. If the Court holds that accused have committed murder, as the accused have been in jail for more than 10 years without remission, they may be granted fixed term punishment of incarceration.

9. It has been vehemently objected by learned A.G.A. for the State. He has taken us through the evidence on record and the manner in which the appellants and his brother, set ablaze the deceased in the disputed house.

10. Considering the evidence of the witnesses and also considering the medical evidence including post mortem report, there is no doubt left in our mind about the guilt of the present appellants. However, the question which falls for our consideration is whether, on reappraisal of the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, the conviction of the appellant under Section 302 of I.P.C. of the Indian Penal Code should be upheld or the conviction deserves to be converted under Section 304 Part-I or Part-II of the Indian Penal Code. It would be relevant to refer Section 299 of the Indian Penal Code, which read as under:

Whoever causes death by doing an act with the intention of causing death, or with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, or with the knowledge that he is likely by such act to cause death, commits the offence of culpable homicide.”

11. The academic distinction between ‘murder’ and ‘culpable homicide not amounting to murder’ has always vexed the Courts. The confusion is caused, if Courts losing sight of the true scope and meaning of the terms used by the legislature in these sections, allow themselves to be drawn into minute abstractions. The safest way of approach to the interpretation and application of these provisions seems to be to keep in focus the keywords used in the various clauses of Section 299 and 300 of I.P.Code. The following comparative table will be helpful in appreciating the points of distinction between the two offences.

A person commits culpable homicide if the act by which the death is caused is done-	Subject to certain exceptions culpable homicide is murder is the act by which the death is caused is done.

INTENTION

(a) with the intention of causing death; or	(1) with the intention of causing death; or
(b) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death; or	(2) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to the death of the person to whom the harm is caused;

KNOWLEDGE

(c) with the knowledge that the act is likely to cause death.	KNOWLEDGE (4) with the knowledge that the act is so immediately dangerous that it must in all probability cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, and without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such injury as is mentioned above.

12. On overall scrutiny of the facts and circumstances of the present case coupled with the opinion of the Medical Officer and considering the principle laid down by the Apex Court in the Case of Tukaram and Ors Vs. State of Maharashtra, reported in (2011) 4 SCC 250 and in the case of B.N. Kavatakar and Another Vs. State of Karnataka, reported in 1994 SUPP (1) SCC 304, we are of the considered opinion that the offence would be one punishable under Section 304 part-I of the IPC.

13. From the upshot of the aforesaid discussions, it appears that the death caused by the accused was not premeditated, accused had no intention to cause death of deceased, the injuries were though sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to have caused death, accused had no intention to do away with deceased, hence the instant case falls under the Exceptions 1 and 4 to Section 300 of IPC. While considering Section 299 as reproduced herein above offence committed will fall under Section 304 Part-I as per the observations of the Apex Court in Veeran and others Vs. State of M.P. Decided, (2011) 5 SCR 300 which have to be also kept in mind.

14. We can safely rely upon the decision of the Gujarat High court in Criminal Appeal No.83 of 2008 (Gautam Manubhai Makwana Vs. State of Gujarat) decided on 11.9.2013 wherein the Court held as under:

"12. In fact, in the case of Krishan vs. State of Haryana reported in (2013) 3 SCC 280, the Apex Court has held that it is not an absolute principle of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction of an accused. Where the dying declaration is true and correct, the attendant circumstances show it to be reliable and it has been recorded in accordance with law, the deceased made the dying declaration of her own accord and upon due certification by the doctor with regard to the state of mind and body, then it may not be necessary for the court to look for corroboration. In such cases, the dying declaration alone can form the basis for the conviction of the accused. But where the dying declaration itself is attended by suspicious circumstances, has not been recorded in accordance with law and settled procedures and practices, then, it may be necessary for the court to look for corroboration of the same.

13. However, the complaint given by the deceased and the dying declaration recorded by the Executive Magistrate and the history before the doctor is consistent and seems to be trustworthy. The same is also duly corroborated with the evidence of witnesses and the medical reports as well as panchnama and it is clear that the deceased died a homicidal death due to the act of the appellants in pouring kerosene and setting him ablaze. We do find that the dying declaration is trust worthy.

14. However, we have also not lost sight of the fact that the deceased had died after a month of treatment. From the medical reports, it is clear that the deceased suffered from Septicemia which happened due to extensive burns.

15. In the case of the B.N. Kavatakar and another (supra), the Apex Court in a similar case of septicemia where the deceased therein had died in the hospital after five days of the occurrence of the incident in question, converted the conviction under section 302 to under section 326 and modified the sentence accordingly.

15.1 Similarly, in the case of Maniben (supra), the Apex Court has observed as under:

“18. The deceased was admitted in the hospital with about 60% burn injuries and during the course of treatment developed septicemia, which was the main cause of death of the deceased. It is, therefore, established that during the aforesaid period of 8 days the injuries aggravated and worsened to the extent that it led to ripening of the injuries and the deceased died due to poisonous effect of the injuries.

19. It is established from the dying declaration of the deceased that she was living separately from her mother-in-law, the appellant herein, for many years and that on the day in question she had a quarrel with the appellant at her house. It is also clear from the evidence on record that immediately after the quarrel she along with her daughter came to fetch water and when she was returning, the appellant came and threw a burning tonsil on the clothes of the deceased. Since the deceased was wearing a terylene cloth at that relevant point of time, it aggravated the fire which caused the burn injuries.

20s. There is also evidence on record to prove and establish that the action of the appellant to throw the burning tonsil was preceded by a quarrel between the deceased and the appellant. From the aforesaid evidence on record it cannot be said that the appellant had the intention that such action on her part would cause the death or such bodily injury to the deceased, which was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause the death of the deceased. Therefore, in our considered opinion, the case cannot be said to be covered under clause (4) of Section 300 of IPC. We are, however, of the considered opinion that the case of the appellant is covered under Section 304 Part II of IPC.”

16. In the present case, we have come to the irresistible conclusion that the role of the appellants is clear from the dying declaration and other records. However, the point which has also weighed with this court are that the deceased had survived for around 30 days in the hospital and that his condition worsened after around 5 days and ultimately died of septicemia. In fact he had sustained about 35% burns. In that view of the matter, we are of the opinion that the conviction of the appellants under section 302 of Indian Penal Code is required to be converted to that under section 304(I) of Indian Penal Code and in view of the same appeal is partly allowed.

17. The conviction of the appellants - original accused under Section 302 of Indian Penal Code vide judgment and order dated 19.12.2007 arising from Sessions Case No. 149 of 2007 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Fast Track Court No. 6, Ahmedabad is converted to conviction under Section 304 (Part I) of Indian Penal Code. However, the conviction of the appellants - original accused under section 452 of Indian Penal Code is upheld. The appellants - original accused are ordered to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of ten years and fine of Rs. 5000/- each in default rigorous imprisonment for six months under section 304 (Part I) of Indian Penal Code instead of life imprisonment and sentence in default of fine as awarded by the trial court under section 302 IPC. The sentence imposed in default of fine under section 452 IPC is also reduced to two months. Accordingly, the appellants are ordered to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of ten years and fine of Rs. 5000/-, in default, rigorous imprisonment for six months for offence punishable under section 304(I) of Indian Penal Code and rigorous imprisonment for a period of five years and fine of Rs. 2,000/-, in default, rigorous imprisonment for two months for offence punishable under section 452 of Indian Penal Code. Both sentences shall run concurrently. The judgement and order dated 19.12.2007 is modified accordingly. The period of sentence already undergone shall be considered for remission of sentence qua appellants - original accused. R & P to be sent back to the trial court forthwith."

15. While considering the facts as narrated herein above the deceased was 30 years of age as in her dying declaration given on 20.11.2014 has declared that when she demanded a sum of Rs. 1,30,000/- from accused Raja and his brother Jeetu, Jeetu poured the kerosene and she got burnt and therefore the dying declaration cannot be said to be such which cannot be acted upon and has been rightly been acted upon as opined by us. Unfortunately, the incident occurred on the spur of the moment when the deceased demanded the money for the house, however, the act cannot be said to in furtherance of the common object to do away with the deceased. Even evidence of P.W.-1 does not testify to this fact. The deceased died on 28.11.2014, consistent version of all the witnesses will not permit us to accept the submission of the learned counsel for the appellant that the accused are innocent. P.W.-3 and P.W.-4 did not support the prosecution, however, P.W.-4, expressed ignorance about knowing Raja the accused. Further, the medical evidence will not permit us to accept the submission of the learned counsel for the appellant that the accused are not guilty, there was deep burn injuries which was 40% on the body, both the hands, chest, stomach and the thorax region were having burn injuries. The deceased died out of septicemic death, the judgment herein above will permit us to concur with the learned Judge as it was homicidal death but not amounting to murder. Circumstances will also show that the incident occurred in the house, the dying declaration is truthful dying declaration, however, this was not a case of circumstantial evidence that the learned Judge has discussed the principles of same. The incident occurred at the house of Raja where they had called the deceased. The deceased was taken for treatment at hospital by P.W.-2, all these facts will permit us to alter the sentence. Even if we consider the facts and hold that it was not illegal but irregularity which has crept in, in no circumstances; the accused could have been convicted under Section 302 of I.P.C.

16. In view of the aforementioned discussion, we are of the view that both these appeals have to be partly allowed, hence, are partly allowed.

17. The conviction of the appellants under Section 302 read with Section 34 of I.P.C. of Indian Penal Code is converted to conviction under Section 304 (Part I) of Indian Penal Code and the appellants are sentenced to undergo 10 years of incarceration with fine which is reduced to Rs.1,000/- for each appellant-accused.

18. If period of incarceration is over, the accused shall be released forthwith, if not required in any other case. The judgment and order dated 17.1.2018 of trial court shall stand modified accordingly.

19. Let a copy of this judgment along-with the trial court record be sent to the Court and Jail Authorities concerned for compliance.

20. This Court is thankful to the learned Advocates for ably assisting the Court.

(Order on C.M. Application No. 1 of 2023)

1. Heard Shri Shashank Shukla, learned counsel for revisionist, Shri S.P. Tiwari, learned A.G.A-I for the State-opposite party No.1 and perused the material placed on record. No counsel appeared on behalf of the opposite party No.2.

2. As per the report of the Stamp Reporter of this Court, this revision is barred by limitation and has been filed with delay of 1088 days.

3. Learned Counsel for the revisionist/applicant submits the present application has been filed with prayer to condone the delay in filing the present revision. He further submits that the revisionist immediately filed an objection but he became ill and was not in contact with his counsel and thereafter, when he came to know that an ex-parte order had been passed by learned court below, immediately a recall application was filed and then the Covid-19 outbreak happened, thereafter, he was informed that his case has been dismissed. He further submits that when the revisionist received a recovery certificate, then he contacted a new counsel and he came to know about the impugned order. He further submits that due to aforementioned reasons, the delay in filing this revision is not intentional or deliberate, thus, the present application may be allowed. He further submits that impugned order dated 15.06.2018 under Section 125 Cr.P.C. passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge/ Family Judge FTC New, Gonda to pay the maintenance of amount of Rs.2000/- per month from the date of application filed by the opposite party No.2 is illegal and passed without application of mind, thus, it is liable to be set aside and reversed.

4. Learned A.G.A-I has opposed the contention of learned Counsel for the revisionist/applicant and submits that there is no plausible reasons given in the affidavit filed in support of the delay condonation application for delay in filing the present revision and he further submits that the order impugned in this revision was passed in the year 2018, since, then more than five years have passed but there was no step taken by the revisionist for challenging the impugned order and now this revision has been filed only with the intention to harass the opposite party No.2 and to deny her rightful claim of maintenance as provided under Family Courts Act. The amount fixed for maintenance was Rs. 2000/- per month for the opposite party no. 2, which in the present days of high price rise cannot be said to be either excessive or disproportionate. The provisions of Section 125 of Cr.P.C are beneficial provisions which are enacted to stop the vagrancy of a destitute wife and provide some succour to her, who is entitled to get the maintenance which has been wrongly denied, thus, the present application for condonation of delay may be dismissed.

5. After considering the arguments of learned Counsels for the parties made at the Bar, it transpires that the explanation as given in the affidavit filed in support of delay condonation application in filing the present revision is neither acceptable nor trustworthy since revisionist/applicant was already in court below, therefore, it cannot be said that he was not aware of the proceedings in court below. In my view, there is no explanation what to say of satisfactory explanation as to why the matter was not taken with due earnest and reasonable expediency and the present case was filed after delay of 1088 days before this Court.

6. The expression "sufficient cause" in Section 5 of Act, 1963 has been held to receive a liberal construction so as to advance substantial justice and generally a delay in preferring appeal/revision may be condoned in interest of justice where no gross negligence or deliberate inaction or lack of bona fide is imputable to parties, seeking condonation of delay. In Collector, Land Acquisition Vs. Katiji, 1987(2) SCC 107, the Court said, that, when substantial justice and technical considerations are taken against each other, cause of substantial justice deserves to be preferred, for, the other side cannot claim to have vested right in injustice being done because of a non deliberate delay. The Court further said that judiciary is respected not on account of its power to legalise injustice on technical grounds but because it is capable of removing injustice and is expected to do so.

7. In P.K. Ramachandran Vs. State of Kerala, AIR 1998 SC 2276 the Court said:

"Law of limitation may harshly affect a particular party but it has to be applied with all its rigour when the statute so prescribe and the Courts have no power to extend the period of limitation on equitable grounds."

8. The Rules of limitation are not meant to destroy rights of parties. They virtually take away the remedy. They are meant with the objective that parties should not resort to dilatory tactics and sleep over their rights. They must seek remedy promptly. The object of providing a legal remedy is to repair the damage caused by reason of legal injury. The statute relating to limitation determines a life span for such legal remedy for redress of the legal injury, one has suffered. Time is precious and the wasted time would never revisit. During efflux of time, newer causes would come up, necessitating newer persons to seek legal remedy by approaching the courts. So a life span must be fixed for each remedy. Unending period for launching the remedy may lead to unending uncertainty and consequential anarchy. The statute providing limitation is founded on public policy. It is enshrined in the maxim Interest reipublicae up sit finis litium (it is for the general welfare that a period be put to litigation). It is for this reason that when an action becomes barred by time, the Court should be slow to ignore delay for the reason that once limitation expires, other party matures his rights on the subject with attainment of finality. Though it cannot be doubted that refusal to condone delay would result in foreclosing the suiter from putting forth his cause but simultaneously the party on the other hand is also entitled to sit and feel carefree after a particular length of time, getting relieved from persistent and continued litigation.

9. There is no presumption that delay in approaching the court is always deliberate. No person gains from deliberate delaying a matter by not resorting to take appropriate legal remedy within time but then the words "sufficient cause" show that delay, if any, occurred, should not be deliberate, negligent and due to casual approach of concerned litigant, but, it should be bona fide, and, for the reasons beyond his control, and, in any case should not lack bona fide. If the explanation does not smack of lack of bona fide, the Court should show due consideration to the suiter, but, when there is apparent casual approach on the part of suiter, the approach of Court is also bound to change. Lapse on the part of litigant in approaching Court within time is understandable but a total inaction for long period of delay without any explanation whatsoever and that too in absence of showing any sincere attempt on the part of suiter, would add to his negligence, and would be relevant factor going against him.

10. I need not to burden this judgment with a catena of decisions explaining and laying down as to what should be the approach of Court on construing "sufficient cause" under Section 5 of Act, 1963 and it would be suffice to refer a very few of them besides those already referred.

11. In Shakuntala Devi Jain Vs. Kuntal Kumari, AIR 1969 SC 575 a three Judge Bench of the Court said, that, unless want of bona fide of such inaction or negligence as would deprive a party of the protection of Section 5 is proved, the application must not be thrown out or any delay cannot be refused to be condoned.

12. The Privy Council in Brij Indar Singh Vs. Kanshi Ram ILR (1918) 45 Cal 94 observed that true guide for a court to exercise the discretion under Section 5 is whether the appellant acted with reasonable diligence in prosecuting the appeal. This principle still holds good inasmuch as the aforesaid decision of Privy Council as repeatedly been referred to, and, recently in State of Nagaland Vs. Lipok AO and others, AIR 2005 SC 2191.

13. In Vedabai @ Vaijayanatabai Baburao Vs. Shantaram Baburao Patil and others, JT 2001(5) SC 608 the Court said that under Section 5 of Act, 1963 it should adopt a pragmatic approach. A distinction must be made between a case where the delay is inordinate and a case where the delay is of a few days. In the former case consideration of prejudice to the other side will be a relevant factor so the case calls for a more cautious approach but in the latter case no such consideration may arise and such a case deserves a liberal approach. No hard and fast rule can be laid down in this regard and the basic guiding factor is advancement of substantial justice.

14. In Pundlik Jalam Patil (dead) by LRS. Vs. Executive Engineer, Jalgaon Medium Project and Anr. (2008) 17 SCC 448, in para 17 of the judgment, the Court said :

"...The evidence on record suggests neglect of its own right for long time in preferring appeals. The court cannot enquire into belated and state claims on the ground of equity. Delay defeats equity. The court helps those who are vigilant and "do not slumber over their rights."

15. In Maniben Devraj Shah Vs. Municipal Corporation of Brihan Mumbai, 2012 (5) SCC 157, in para 18 of the judgment, the Court said as under:

"What needs to be emphasized is that even though a liberal and justice oriented approach is required to be adopted in the exercise of power under Section 5 of the Limitation Act and other similar statutes, the Courts can neither become oblivious of the fact that the successful litigant has acquired certain rights on the basis of the judgment under challenge and a lot of time is consumed at various stages of litigation apart from the cost. What colour the expression 'sufficient cause' would get in the factual matrix of a given case would largely depend on bona fide nature of the explanation. If the Court finds that there has been no negligence on the part of the applicant and the cause shown for the delay does not lack bona fides, then it may condone the delay. If, on the other hand, the explanation given by the applicant is found to be concocted or he is thoroughly negligent in prosecuting his cause, then it would be a legitimate exercise of discretion not to condone the delay. In cases involving the State and its agencies/instrumentalities, the Court can take note of the fact that sufficient time is taken in the decision making process but no premium can be given for total lethargy or utter negligence on the part of the officers of the State and / or its agencies/instrumentalities and the applications filed by them for condonation of delay cannot be allowed as a matter of course by accepting the plea that dismissal of the matter on the ground of bar of limitation will cause injury to the public interest."

16. In my view, the kind of explanation rendered herein does not satisfy the observations of Apex Court that if delay has occurred for reasons which does not smack of mala fide, the Court should be reluctant to refuse condonation. On the contrary, I find that here is a case which shows a complete careless and reckless long delay of 1088 days on the part of revisionist/applicant which has remain virtually unexplained at all and the reasons given in the affidavit is not justified and convincing. Therefore, I do not find any reason to exercise my judicial discretion exercising judiciously so as to justify condonation of delay in the present case.

17. In the result, the application for condonation of delay deserves to be dismissed.

18. Accordingly, the present application for condonation of delay is hereby dismissed.

(Order on memo of Revision)

1. The application seeking condonation of delay in filing the present revision having been dismissed vide order of date, this revision being barred by limitation, is accordingly dismissed.

2. The court below is at liberty to proceed in the matter in accordance with law.

3. The Senior Registrar of this Court is directed to send a copy of this order to the concerned court below for its compliance.

4. No order as to cost(s).

(A) Criminal Law - The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Section 397/401 - Revision, Section 27 - Discharge, Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 - Section 7 - Offence relating to public servant being bribed, The Indian Telegraph Act, 1885 - Section 5 - Power for Government to take possession of licensed telegraphs and to order interception of messages, Indian Telegraph Rules, 1951 - Rule 419 - Any evidence cannot be refused to be admitted by the Court on the ground that it had been obtained illegally.(Para - 25)

(B) Words and Phrases - 'intercept' - 'to stop and catch something or someone before that thing or person is able to reach a particular place' - 'to stop, seize or interrupt in progress or before arrival, receive (a communication or signal directed elsewhere) usually secretly' - 'to stop, deflect or seize on the way from one place to another, prevent from arriving or proceeding.(Para -19)

Conversation made between accused persons through their mobile phone - co-accused was directed by CBI officials to make phone call to applicant - make a conversation with him regarding the payment of bribe - communication received by putting mobile phone of co-accused on speaker mode - recorded in another device called 'digital voice recorder' - applicant sought discharge under Section 227 of Cr.P.C. - digital voice recorder conversation was inadmissible in evidence - trial court rejected the application - hence revision.(Para -17)

HELD:- No illegality in the order rejecting the discharge application filed by the revisionist. Telephonic conversation between the two accused persons was intercepted or not and whether it was done legally or not, would not affect the admissibility of the recorded conversation in evidence against the applicant. (Para -21,29)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Prateek Tewari Advocate, the learned counsel for the revisionist and Sri Shiv P. Shukla, the learned counsel for the Central Bureau of Investigation and perused the records.

2. This revision under Section 397/401 Cr.P.C. has been filed by the revisionist challenging the validity of an order dated 25.05.2023, passed by the learned Special Judge, C.B.I. Court No.4, Lucknow, whereby the application under Section 227 Cr.P.C. praying for discharge of the applicant has been rejected.

3. Briefly stated, facts of the case are that one Haider Ali @ Mantu had filed a complaint against one Shashi Mohan, Member, Fatehgarh Cantonment Board, on the basis whereof Case No.RC0062015A0009 under Section 7 of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 was registered by the Central Bureau of Investigation on 09.05.2015. The complainant had alleged that Shashi Mohan had demanded Rs.1,56,000/- as bribe on behalf of the applicant Mahant Prasad Tripathi, who was the C.E.O. of Cantonment Board Fatehgarh, for payment of certain bills, at the rate of 6% of the bill amount.

4. The C.B.I. has recorded a telephonic communication between two accused persons on a digital voice recorder, wherein the co-accused told the applicant on phone that 'Haider had come and he has paid the amount of 6%', which was acknowledged by the applicant by merely saying 'yes' and when the co-accused Shashi Mohan tried to carry the conversation forward, the applicant forbade him to talk on the issue and asked him to talk in the office.

5. The applicant had sought his discharge under Section 227 of Cr.P.C. on the ground that the telephonic conversation recorded on the digital voice recorder was not admissible in evidence, but the learned trial court has rejected the application.

6. Sri Prateek Tewari Advocate, the learned counsel for the revisionist has drawn attention of the Court towards the provisions contained in Section 5 of Indian Telegraph Act, which provide as follows: -

"5. Power for Government to take possession of licensed telegraphs and to order interception of messages.—

(1) On the occurrence of any public emergency, or in the interest of the public safety, the Central Government or a State Government, or any officer specially authorised in this behalf by the Central Government or a State Government, may, if satisfied that it is necessary or expedient so to do, take temporary possession (for so long as the public emergency exists or the interest of the public safety requires the taking of such action) of any telegraph established, maintained or worked by any person licensed under this Act.

(2) On the occurrence of any public emergency, or in the interest of the public safety, the Central Government or a State Government or any officer specially authorised in this behalf by the Central Government or a State Government may, if satisfied that it is necessary or expedient so to do in the interests of the sovereignty and integrity of India, the security of the State, friendly relations with foreign states or public order or for preventing incitement to the commission of an offence, for reasons to be recorded in writing, by order, direct that any message or class of messages to or from any person or class of persons, or relating to any particular subject, brought for transmission by or transmitted or received by any telegraph, shall not be transmitted, or shall be intercepted or detained, or shall be disclosed to the Government making the order or an officer thereof mentioned in the order:

Provided that the press messages intended to be published in India of correspondents accredited to the Central Government or a State Government shall not be intercepted or detained, unless their transmission has been prohibited under this sub-section."

7. The learned counsel for the revisionist drawn attention of the Court towards Rule 419 of Indian Telegraph Rules, 1951, which provides as follows: -

"419. Interception or monitoring of telephone messages. - It shall be lawful for the Telegraph Authority to monitor or intercept a message transmitted through telephone, for the purpose of verification of any violation of these rules or for the maintenance of the equipment."

8. The learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that Section 5 of the Telegraph Act permits interception of telegraph messages only in certain contingencies only, and that too under the orders of the Government. He has submitted that in the present case there was no such order and therefore interception of telephonic conversation between the accused persons was wholly illegal and the telephone conversation recorded in an illegal manner cannot be admitted in evidence in support of the prosecution case.

9. In support of his contention, learned counsel for the applicant has relied upon a judgment of Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of People's Union for Civil Liberties (PUCL) Vs. Union of India and another: (1997) 1 SCC 301.

10. PUCL (Supra) was a public interest Writ Petition filed under Article 32 of the Constitution of India in the wake of a report on "Tapping of politicians' phones" by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI). It was mentioned in the C.B.I. report that the Director Intelligence Bureau, Director General Narcotics Control Bureau, Revenue Intelligence and Central Economic Intelligence Bureau and the Director Enforcement Directorate had been authorised by the Central Government to do interception for the purposes mentioned in Section 5 of the Telegraph Act. In addition, the State Governments generally give authorisation to the Police/Intelligence agencies to exercise the powers under the Act. The petitioner had challenged the constitutional validity of Section 5(2) of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885 (the Act), in the alternative it was contended that the said provisions be suitably read down to include procedural safeguards to rule out arbitrariness and to prevent the indiscriminate telephone-tapping. The Hon'ble Supreme Court took note of Section 7 (2) (b) of the Telegraph Act, which gives rule-making power to the Central Government is as under: -

"7. Power to make rules for the conduct of telegraphs.—(1) The Central Government may, from time to time, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules consistent with this Act for the conduct of all or any telegraphs established, maintained or worked by the Government or by the persons licensed under this Act.

(2) Rules under this section may provide for all or any of the following among other matters, that is to say:

(a) * * *

(b) the precautions to be taken for preventing the improper interception or disclosure of messages.”

11. The Hon’ble Supreme Court noted that: -

“It is for the Central Government to make rules under Section 7 of the Act. Section 7(2)(b) specifically provides that the Central Government may make rules laying down the precautions to be taken for preventing the improper interception or disclosure of messages. The Act was enacted in the year 1885. The power to make rules under Section 7 of the Act has been there for over a century but the Central Government has not thought it proper to frame the necessary rules despite severe criticism of the manner in which the power under Section 5(2) has been exercised. It is entirely for the Central Government to make rules on the subject but till the time it is done the right to privacy of an individual has to be safeguarded. In order to rule out arbitrariness in the exercise of power under Section 5(2) of the Act and till the time the Central Government lays down just, fair and reasonable procedure under Section 7(2)(b) of the Act, it is necessary to lay down procedural safeguards for the exercise of power under Section 5(2) of the Act so that the right to privacy of a person is protected.”

12. In the aforesaid background, the Hon’ble Supreme Court issued the following directions: -

“1. An order for telephone-tapping in terms of Section 5 (2) of the Act shall not be issued except by the Home Secretary, Government of India (Central Government) and Home Secretaries of the State Governments. In an urgent case the power may be delegated to an officer of the Home Department of the Government of India and the State Governments not below the rank of Joint Secretary. Copy of the order shall be sent to the Review Committee concerned within one week of the passing of the order.

2. The order shall require the person to whom it is addressed to intercept in the course of their transmission by means a public telecommunication system, such communications as are described in the order. The order may also require the person to whom it is addressed to disclose the intercepted material to such persons and in such manner as are described in the order.

3. The matters to be taken into account in considering whether an order is necessary under Section 5 (2) of the Act shall include whether the information which is considered necessary to acquire could reasonably be acquired by other means.

4. The interception required under Section 5 (2) of the Act shall be the interception of such communications as are sent to or from one or more addresses, specified in the order, being an address or addresses likely to be used for the transmission of communications to or from, from one particular person specified or described in the order or one particular set of premises specified or described in the order.

5. The order under Section 5 (2) of the Act shall, unless renewed, cease to have effect at the end of the period of two months from the date of issue. The authority which issued the order may, at any time before the end of two month period renew the order if it considers that it is necessary to continue the order in terms of Section 5 (2) of the Act. The total period for the operation of the order shall not exceed six months.

6. The authority which issued the order shall maintain the following records:

(a) the intercepted communications,

(b) the extent to which the material is disclosed,

(c) the number of persons and their identity to whom any of the material is disclosed.

(d) the extent to which the material is copied and

(e) the number of copies made of any of the material.

7. The use of the intercepted material shall be limited to the minimum that is necessary in terms of Section 5 (2) of the Act.

8. Each copy made of any of the intercepted material shall be destroyed as soon as its retention is no longer necessary in terms of Section 5 (2) of the Act.

9. There shall be a Review Committee consisting of Cabinet Secretary, the Law Secretary and the Secretary, Telecommunication at the level of the Central Government. The Review Committee at the State level shall consist of Chief Secretary, Law Secretary and another member, other than the Home Secretary, appointed by the State Government.

(a) The Committee shall on its own, within two months of the passing of the order by the authority concerned, investigate whether there is or has been a relevant order under Section 5 (2) of the Act. Where there is or has been an order whether there has been any contravention of the provisions of Section 5 (2) of the Act.

(b) If on an investigation the Committee concludes that there has been a contravention of the provisions of Section 5 (2) of the Act, it shall set aside the order under scrutiny of the Committee. It shall further direct the destruction of the copies of the intercepted material.

(c) If on investigation, the Committee comes to the conclusion that there has been no contravention of the provisions of Section 5 (2) of the Act, it shall record the finding to that effect."

13. However, the question of admissibility of an intercepted telephonic conversation in evidence was not raised before the Hon'ble Supreme Court and this question was not decided in PUCL case. Therefore, PUCL case (Supra) is not an authority for adjudging the admissibility of a telephonic conversation allegedly intercepted without following the due process of law.

14. The learned Counsel for the applicant has placed reliance upon a judgment in the case of Sanjay Pandey versus Directorate of Enforcement, 2022 SCC OnLine Del 4299, wherein while deciding a bail application, an Hon'ble Single Judge of the Delhi High Court recorded his prima facie of the view that "tapping phone lines or recording calls without consent is a breach of privacy. The right to privacy enshrined under Article 21 of the Constitution demands that phone calls not be recorded. Only with consent of the individuals concerned, can such activity be carried out otherwise it will amount to breach of the fundamental right to privacy".

15. The learned Counsel for the applicant has relied upon the following passage from the judgment in the case of Rayala M. Bhuvaneshwari Versus Nagaphanender Rayala, AIR 2008 AP 98, wherein an Hon'ble Single Judge of the

Andhra Pradesh High Court expressed the following belief: -

“13. For all these reasons, I believe that the act of tapping itself by the husband of the conversation of his wife with others was illegal and it infringed the right of privacy of the wife. Therefore, these tapes, even if true, cannot be admissible in evidence. Hence, Ex.P-18 itself is not admissible in evidence and there is no question of forcing the wife to undergo a voice test and then ask the expert to compare the portions denied by her with her admitted voice.”

16. Per contra, Sri Shiv P. Shukla, the learned counsel for the respondent has opposed the revision and he has submitted that recording of conversation between two persons without interfering in the communication system will not amount to interception of the messages. He has further submitted that the recording of telephonic conversation between two accused persons is not the sole evidence relied upon by the prosecution against the applicant and there are some other evidences also including the statement of co-accused person and some independent persons.

17. The conversation in question was made between the accused persons through their mobile phone. The co-accused Shashi Mohan was directed by the Central Bureau of Investigation officials to make phone call to the applicant and make a conversation with him regarding the payment of bribe. The communication between the mobile phone devices of the two accused persons was received by putting the mobile phone of the co-accused on speaker mode and it was recorded in another device called ‘digital voice recorder’.

18. It appears that the communication made by one accused person to the other reached him and it was thereafter that it was recorded by on another device called digital voice recorder. Can it be said in these circumstances that the communication between the two accused persons was ‘intercepted’?

19. The word ‘intercept’ has been defined in Cambridge dictionary as ‘to stop and catch something or someone before that thing or person is able to reach a particular place’. Merriam-Webster dictionary defines ‘intercept’ as ‘to stop, seize or interrupt in progress or before arrival, receive (a communication or signal directed elsewhere) usually secretly’. Collins dictionary defines ‘intercept’ as ‘to stop, deflect or seize on the way from one place to another, prevent from arriving or proceeding’.

20. From the aforesaid facts, it appears the communication between the two accused persons reached its destination and it was not stopped while it was in the process of reaching the other person, before reaching the other person. Therefore, from the plane meaning of the word ‘intercept’ it appears that the communication was not ‘intercepted’.

21. Therefore, I am of the view that the provisions of law regarding interception of telephonic communication would not apply to the facts of the present case.

22. However, as elaborate submissions have been made by the learned Counsel for the revisionist on the issue of admissibility of the recorded conversation, I proceed to examine the same.

23. In State v. N.M.T. Joy Immaculate, (2004) 5 SCC 729, the Hon'ble Court was deciding an appeal passed by the High Court of Madras holding that the order granting custody of the accused to police was illegal and the recovery made consequent to confession made during the illegal custody has no evidentiary value. A question arose whether the High Court was right in making the aforesaid observations, even if it is assumed that the order dated 6-11-2001 granting police custody was illegal. Answering the aforesaid question, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

“The admissibility or otherwise of a piece of evidence has to be judged having regard to the provisions of the Evidence Act. The Evidence Act or the Code of Criminal Procedure or for that matter any other law in India does not exclude relevant evidence on the ground that it was obtained under an illegal search and seizure.

15. The law of evidence in our country is modelled on the rules of evidence which prevailed in English law. In Kurumav.R., 1955 AC 197, an accused was found in unlawful possession of some ammunition in a search conducted by two police officers who were not authorised under the law to carry out the search. The question was whether the evidence with regard to the unlawful possession of ammunition could be excluded on the ground that the evidence had been obtained on an unlawful search. The Privy Council stated the principle as under:

The test to be applied, both in civil and in criminal cases, in considering whether evidence is admissible is whether it is relevant to the matters in issue. If it is, it is admissible and the court is not concerned with how it was obtained.

15.1. This question has been examined threadbare by a Constitution Bench in Pooran Mal v. Director of Inspection (Investigation), (1974) 1 SCC 345, and the principle enunciated therein is as under:

If the Evidence Act, 1872 permits relevancy as the only test of admissibility of evidence, and, secondly, that Act or any other similar law in force does not exclude relevant evidence on the ground that it was obtained under an illegal search or seizure, it will be wrong to invoke the supposed spirit of our Constitution for excluding such evidence. Nor is it open to us to strain the language of the Constitution, because some American Judges of the American Supreme Court have spelt out certain constitutional protections from the provisions of the American Constitution. So, neither by invoking the spirit of our Constitution nor by a strained construction of any of the fundamental rights can we spell out the exclusion of evidence obtained on an illegal search.

So far as India is concerned its law of evidence is modelled on the rules of evidence which prevailed in English law, and courts in India and in England have consistently refused to exclude relevant evidence merely on the ground that it is obtained by illegal search or seizure. Where the test of admissibility of evidence lies in relevancy, unless there is an express or necessarily implied prohibition in the Constitution or other law evidence obtained as a result of illegal search or seizure is not liable to be shut out.

15.2. This being the law, Direction (b) given by the High Court that the confession and alleged recovery has no evidentiary value is clearly illegal and has to be set aside. The effect of the confession and also the recovery of the incriminating article at the pointing out of the accused has to be examined strictly in accordance with the provisions of the Evidence Act.”

24. In State (NCT of Delhi) v. Navjot Sandhu, (2005) 11 SCC 600, a question arose regarding the legality and admissibility of intercepted telephone calls in the context of telephone conversation between accused Shaukat and his wife Afsan Guru and the conversation between accused Gilani and his brother Shah Faizal. The Hon'ble Supreme Court dealt with the question in the following words: -

“153. ... On the relevant day, the interception of messages was governed by Section 5(2) of the Telegraph Act, 1885 read with Rule 419-A of the Telegraph Rules, 1951. The substantive power of interception by the Government or the authorised officer is conferred by Section 5. The modalities and procedure for interception is governed by the said Rules. It is contended by the learned Senior Counsel appearing for the two accused Shaukat and Gilani, that even Rule 419-A, has not been complied with in the instant case, and, therefore, the tape-recorded conversation obtained by such interception cannot be utilised by the prosecution to incriminate the said accused. It is the contention of the learned counsel for the State Mr Gopal Subramaniam, that there was substantial compliance with Rule 419-A and, in any case, even if the interception did not take place in strict conformity with the Rule, that does not affect the admissibility of the communications so recorded. In other words, his submission is that the illegality or irregularity in the interception does not affect its admissibility in evidence there being no specific embargo against the admissibility in the Telegraph Act or in the Rules. Irrespective of the merit in the first contention of Mr Gopal Subramaniam, we find force in the alternative contention advanced by him.

*154. In regard to the first aspect, two infirmities are pointed out in the relevant orders authorising and confirming the interception in respect of specified telephone numbers. It is not shown by the prosecution that the Joint Director, Intelligence Bureau who authorised the interception, holds the rank of Joint Secretary to the Government of India. Secondly, the confirmation orders passed by the Home Secretary (contained in Vol. 7 of the lower court record, p. 447, etc.) would indicate that the confirmation was prospective. We are distressed to note that the confirmation orders should be passed by a senior officer of the Government of India in such a careless manner; that too, in an important case of this nature. However, these deficiencies or inadequacies do not, in our view, preclude the admission of intercepted telephonic communication in evidence. It is to be noted that unlike the proviso to Section 45 of POTA, Section 5(2) of the Telegraph Act or Rule 419-A does not deal with any rule of evidence. The non-compliance or inadequate compliance with the provisions of the Telegraph Act does not per se affect the admissibility. The legal position regarding the question of admissibility of the tape-recorded conversation illegally collected or obtained is no longer res integra in view of the decision of this Court in R. M. Malkani v. State of Maharashtra, (1973) 1 SCC 471. In that case, the Court clarified that a contemporaneous tape record of a relevant conversation is a relevant fact and is admissible as res gestae under Section 7 of the Evidence Act. Adverting to the argument that Section 25 of the Telegraph Act, 1885 was contravened the learned Judges held that there was no violation. At* the same time, the question of admissibility of evidence illegally obtained was discussed. The law was laid down as follows: (SCC p. 477, para 24)

“There is warrant for the proposition that even if evidence is illegally obtained it is admissible. Over a century ago it was said in an English case where a constable searched the appellant illegally and found a quantity of offending article in his pocket that it would be a dangerous obstacle to the administration of justice if it were held, because evidence was obtained by illegal means, it could not be used against a party charged with an offence. See Jones v. Owens [(1870) 34 JP 759]. The Judicial Committee in Kurumav. R. [(1955) 1 All ER 236 : 1955 AC 197 : (1955) 2 WLR 223 (PC)] dealt with the conviction of an accused of being in unlawful possession of ammunition which had been discovered in consequence of a search of his person by a police officer below the rank of those who were permitted to make such searches. The Judicial Committee held that the evidence was rightly admitted. The reason given was that if evidence was admissible it matters not how it was obtained. There is of course always a word of caution. It is that the judge has a discretion to disallow evidence in a criminal case if the strict rules of admissibility would operate unfairly against the accused. That caution is the golden rule in criminal jurisprudence.”

155. We may also refer to the decision of a Constitution Bench of this Court in Pooran Mal v. Director of Inspection (Investigation), (1974) 1 SCC 345, in which the principle stated by the Privy Council in Kuruma case, (1955) 1 All ER 236, was approvingly referred to while testing the evidentiary status of illegally obtained evidence. Another decision in which the same approach was adopted is a recent judgment in State v. N.M.T. Joy Immaculate, (2004) 5 SCC 729. It may be mentioned that Pooran Mal case was distinguished by this Court in Ali Mustaffa Abdul Rahman Moosav. State of Kerala, (1994) 6 SCC 569, which is a case arising under the NDPS Act on the ground that contraband material seized as a result of illegal search and seizure could by itself be treated as evidence of possession of the contraband which is the gist of the offence under the said Act. In the instant case, the tape-recorded conversation which has been duly proved and conforms to the requirements laid down by this Court in Ram Singh v. Col. Ram Singh, 1985 Supp SCC 611, can be pressed into service against the accused concerned in the joint trial for the offences under the Penal Code as well as POTA. Such evidence cannot be shut out by applying the embargo contained in Section 45 when on the date of interception, the procedure under Chapter V of POTA was not required to be complied with. On the relevant date POTA was not in the picture and the investigation did not specifically relate to the offences under POTA. The question of applying the proviso to Section 45 of POTA does not, therefore, arise as the proviso applies only in the event of the communications being legally required to be intercepted under the provisions of POTA. The proviso to Section 45 cannot be so read as to exclude such material in relation to the POTA offences if it is otherwise admissible under the general law of evidence.

25. The law is clear that any evidence cannot be refused to be admitted by the Court on the ground that it had been obtained illegally. The judgment of Delhi High Court in the case of Sanjay Pandey versus Directorate of Enforcement, 2022 SCC OnLine Del 4299 and the judgment of Andhra Pradesh High Court in Rayala M. Bhuvaneswari Versus Nagaphanender Rayala, AIR 2008 AP 98 have not taken into consideration the above referred law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court and, therefore, those are per incuriam judgments and those are not binding precedents.

26. Therefore, whether the telephonic conversation between the two accused persons was intercepted or not and whether it was done legally or not, would not affect the admissibility of the recorded conversation in evidence against the applicant.

27. Moreover, the telephonic conversation recorded in the digital voice recorder is not the solitary evidence relied upon by the prosecution and it appears that the prosecution proposes to produce other evidences as well during trial.

28. In Gayatri Prasad Prajapati vs. Directorate of Enforcement 2023 SCC OnLine All 376, this Court held that: -

“the law regarding the approach to be adopted by the court while considering an application for discharge of the accused persons under Section 227 and approach while framing charges under Section 228 of the Code, is that while considering an application for discharge of the accused under Section 227 of the Code, the Court has to form a definite opinion, upon consideration of the record of the case and the documents submitted therewith, that there is not sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused. However, while framing charges, the Court is not required to form a definite opinion that the accused is guilty of committing an offence. The truth of the matter will come out when evidence is led during the trial. Once the facts and ingredients of the Section exist, the court would presume that there is ground to proceed against the accused and frame the charge accordingly and the Court would not doubt the case of the prosecution.”

29. In the present case, no such material or ground is present from which the Court may form a definite opinion that there no sufficient ground for proceeding against the applicant. Therefore, I do not find any illegality in the order rejecting the discharge application filed by the revisionist.

30. The revision lacks merit and the same is, accordingly, dismissed.

2. P. Satyanarayan Murthi Vs The St. of A.P. , JT 1992 (4) 454

(Delivered by Hon'ble Siddhartha Varma, J.)

1. The instant second appeal has been filed by the defendant for the setting aside of the judgement of the First Appellate Court dated 18.3.1983 passed in Civil Appeal No. 477 of 1981.

2. A suit being Original Suit No. 249 of 1978 was filed by one Chhotelal Gupta, the plaintiff-respondent against his own brother Sri Padam Prakash Gupta. The allegations in the plaint were that the plaintiff-respondent and the defendant who were real brothers and had a great affection for each other proposed to purchase a plot no. 290, Block K Scheme II, Kidwai Nagar, jointly. It has been alleged in the plaint that the plaintiff negotiated the sale with the owner Smt. Ahmadi Begam who had agreed to sell the plot in question for a consideration of Rs. 20,000/- and for that purpose, an agreement to sell was also executed on 15/17.6.1971 between the plaintiff and Smt. Ahmadi Begam.

3. The plaintiff-respondent's further case had been that the plaintiff-respondent had paid Rs. 11,000/- from time to time and had obtained receipts of the amounts which were paid to the proposed seller. As per the plaint allegations, on 17.6.1971 Rs. 1,000/-; on 14.7.1971 Rs. 4,000/-; on 24.10.1971 Rs. 300/-; on 3.6.1972 Rs. 200/- and on 14.6.1972 Rs. 5,500/- were paid.

4. Further case of the plaintiff-respondent was that considering the financial position of the plaintiff-respondent, the defendant, the brother, had concluded that making a construction over the plot would be difficult unless the defendant who was a Government Employee applied for a loan and, therefore, the sale deed was got executed on 24.6.1972 in the name of the defendant. The plaintiff-respondent further had stated that he had again paid a sum of Rs. 4,000/- to the vendor on the date of the execution of the sale deed. This amount was the balance of the consideration which had to be paid. The plaint allegation therefore is that the sale deed was executed in the name of the defendant, benami.

5. The defendant-appellant in the instant case filed a written statement and though he admitted his relationship with the plaintiff-respondent, he denied the other allegations of the plaint. He had stated that the plaintiff had earlier entered into an agreement with Smt. Ahmadi Begam but when he could not make the payment then the defendant had agreed to buy the property from Smt. Ahmadi Begam. He further claimed that he paid Rs. 6,000/- to Smt. Ahmadi Begam on 12.6.1972 before the execution of the sale deed and that he had paid Rs. 9,000/- at the time of the execution of the sale deed and, therefore, he claimed that he was the sole owner of the plot in question. He claimed that he was buying the land at Rs. 15,000/- which was earlier being sold to the brother for Rs. 20,000/-.

The Trial Court framed three issues which were as follows:-

1. Whether the plaintiff is co-owner of the disputed plot no. 290 situated in Block K, Scheme II, Kidwai Nagar, as alleged in Plaint?

2. Whether the defendant is the exclusive owner of the disputed plot as contended in written statement.

3. To what relief, if any, is the plaintiff entitled?

6. With regard to issues no. 1 and 2, the Trial Court held that the defendant was the actual owner of the plot no. 290 situate in Block K, Scheme II, Kidwai Nagar, and decided the issues in favour of the defendant and against the plaintiff. In view of the finding so given, the Suit was dismissed 28.4.1981.

7. The plaintiff filed an Appeal which was numbered as Civil Appeal No. 477 of 1981. The Appellate Court looked into the evidence de-novo and concluded that the plaintiff had a case and, therefore, allowed the appeal and decreed the Suit. While decreeing the Suit it formulated a point for determination which was whether the plaintiff is a co-owner of the disputed plot or not. The First Appellate Court adverted to the various documentary evidence and also to the oral evidence which were there on record. The First Appellate Court upon looking at exhibit -1 which was the agreement to sell entered into between Smt. Ahmadi Begam and the plaintiff found that the agreement was there and that it further showed that a sum of Rs. 5,000 was paid in advance out of which Rs. 1,000/- was paid to Smt. Ahmadi Begam at the time of the execution of the deed itself on 17.6.1971. The First Appellate Court further relied upon the exhibit-11 which was the receipt of Rs. 4,000/- and concluded that Rs. 4,000/- were again paid to Smt. Ahmadi Begam on 4.7.1971. This receipt was at the back of the agreement deed itself. The First Appellate Court relying upon the exhibit – 4 which is a letter dated 24.10.1971 by Smt. Ahmadi Begam to the plaintiff held that, in fact, Rs. 300/- more were paid to Smt. Ahmadi Begam by the plaintiff. By adverting to exhibit – 8, the Appellate Court found that the seller Smt. Ahmadi Begam on 3.6.1972 had prayed for time for getting permission from the Nagar Palika and that she had also requested the plaintiff to give to her Rs. 200/- for meeting petty expenses and by that letter she had also expressed her willingness to adjust that amount towards the sale consideration. In fact on 3.6.1972 by exhibit – 9, Smt. Ahmadi Begam had also executed a receipt in favour of the plaintiff. Exhibit – 10 was relied upon by the First Appellate Court to conclude that on 13.6.1972 the seller had asked the plaintiff to further advance to her Rs.5,500/-. The exhibit -11 was the receipt issued by her upon the receipt of Rs.5,500/- . Thereafter, the sale deed was executed on 24.6.1972 i.e. after 10 days of the payment of Rs. 5,500/- by the plaintiff to Smt. Ahmadi Begam.

8. The First Appellate Court also relied upon the statements of the plaintiff-P.W.-1 and the P.W. 2 Sri Roop Narayan Bajpayee to conclude that the plot was purchased by both the brothers and that the plaintiff had paid Rs. 15,000/- for the purchase of the plot. The First Appellate Court upon looking into the documentary evidence as were filed by the plaintiff and by the defendant concluded that the agreement was executed between the plaintiff and Smt. Ahmadi Begam for the sale of plot. The receipts clearly went to show that the plaintiff from time to time was investing money for the purpose of getting the sale deed executed and that since the receipts could not be disbelieved it was concluded that Rs. 11,000/- were paid by the plaintiff to Smt. Ahmadi Begam before the sale was executed.

9. The First Appellate Court disbelieved the statement of the defendant which had stated that the plaintiff had not been able to raise resources enough for purchasing the plot and, therefore, he had sent words to him for negotiating the sale with Smt. Ahmadi Begam. The First Appellate Court found that Rs. 5,500/- were paid on 14.6.1972 and if the plaintiff was unable to proceed with the transactions then it would have taken some time for the defendant to collect money and to enter into the transaction. The First Appellate Court also disbelieved the statement of the defendant that he had paid Rs. 6,000/- to Smt. Ahmadi Begam before the date of the sale and that the amount was brought by his wife after she had taken it from her mother at Hardoi. The First Appellate Court refused to believe this statement of the defendant as the receipt of Rs. 5,500/- on 14.6.1972 was in favour of the plaintiff and if the wife of the defendant had brought that amount for being paid to Smt. Ahmadi Begam then she would have resented to the execution of the receipt in favour of the plaintiff (exhibit-12). The First Appellate Court also disbelieved the payment of Rs. 5,500/- by the wife of the defendant as this fact was also not stated in the sale deed.

10. Further, the First Appellate Court disbelieves the statement of the defendant saying that he had paid Rs. 6,000/- through his wife because when the plaintiff had sent the defendant a notice before the filing of the suit and when the defendant had replied to it on 5.8.1977, he had not mentioned anything about the giving of Rs. 6,000/- by his wife to Smt. Ahmadi Begam. In the reply to the notice though the allegation was that the relationship between the two brothers were strained, there was no mention about the fact that the defendant's wife had paid Rs. 6,000/- to Smt. Ahmadi Begam.

11. Another reason for the Trial to conclude that the plaintiff had not paid the money was the statement of the bank account of one Chhotelal of the Hindustan Commercial Bank. The First Appellate Court re-assessed the evidence and had given a finding of fact that the Bank account which the Trial Court had relied upon was of some other Chhotelal, different from the plaintiff and therefore no reliance on the bank account of that Chhotelal could be placed. The First Appellate Court also disbelieved the statement of Smt. Phoolmati Devi, the mother-in-law of the defendant. It also disbelieved the statement of DW-5, the contractor of PWD who had stated that he had lent Rs. 5,000 to the defendant and therefore the First Appellate Court, upon finding that definitely a large amount of money had been paid by the plaintiff, concluded that the plaintiff had also contributed towards the sale consideration and decreed the Suit and declared the plaintiff a co-owner of the disputed plot. When the second Appeal was filed, this Court had framed a question of law which was to the following effect:

“ The substantial question of law involved in the case is whether the finding of the lower Appellate Court that the plaintiff is the co-owner in the plot of land in Suit, although it was purchased in the name of the defendant-appellant alone, is vitiated in law.”

12. Learned counsel for the appellant Sri S.C. Verma assisted by Sri Padmakar Pandey argued that a transaction could not be partly Benami and partly genuine. Learned counsel for the appellant further argued that the first appellate court had wrongly interpreted the decision reported in 1944 0 AIR Allahabad 130 (Bans Narain vs. Chandrani Kuer). Learned counsel for the appellant further submitted that there was a definite burden upon the plaintiff to prove the plaint allegation that the transaction was a Benami one and in this regard, he has relied upon a judgement of the Supreme Court reported in JT 1992 (4) 454 (P. Satyanarayan Murthi vs. The State of Andhra Pradesh). Learned counsel further stated that the plaintiff and the defendant could not have agreed that the plot would be purchased in the name of the defendant for the purpose of construction of the building on the plot in question. He submits that the defendant was still a temporary employee and a temporary employee never gets a loan. Learned counsel for the defendant/appellant further submitted that the plaintiff had not provided any proof of the source of his income.

13. Learned counsel for the plaintiff-respondent Sri. R.K. Mishra, however, submitted that the receipts which were there on record dated 17.6.1971 for Rs. 1,000/-, 4.7.1971 for Rs. 4,000/-, 24.10.1971 for Rs. 300/-, 3.6.1972 for Rs. 200/- and 14.6.1972 for Rs. 5,500/- were definitely there on record. These receipts had gone unrebutted. He further relied upon the findings of the First Appellate Court and has submitted that none of the receipts were denied and also the signatures of the receipts of Smt. Ahmadi Begam were not denied.

14. Learned counsel for the plaintiff-respondent has also submitted that the loan was applied after the defendant had become a permanent employee and, therefore, the case which the plaintiff had taken that the defendant's name was there on the sale deed for the purposes of getting a loan gets credence.

15. Learned counsel for the plaintiff-respondent also submitted that defendant had not filed any documentary evidence to show that he had contributed towards the sale consideration. He submits that the finding of the First Appellate court that the story of the wife bringing some money was disbelieved was a finding of fact which could not be disturbed by this Court. He also reiterates the reasons given by the First Appellate Court for disbelieving this finding and he laid much stress upon the fact that when the defendant had replied to the notice given by the plaintiff before the filing of the Suit, he had not mentioned about the payment of the Rs.6,000/- which had been allegedly lent by his mother-in-law.

16. Having heard the learned counsel for the defendant -appellant and learned counsel for the plaintiff-respondent, this Court is of the view that he Second Appeal lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

17. The plaintiff has proved the plaint allegation to the hilt. The receipts which find mention in the plaint; all the money the plaintiff had paid on 17.6.1971, 4.7.1971, 24.10.1971, 3.6.1972 and 14.6.1972 totalling Rs. 11,000/- which were paid before the sale deed was executed and the payment of Rs. 4,000/- on 24.6.1972 have not been denied in any manner whatsoever by the defendant/appellant. In fact, the First Appellate has found that these receipts were there and the reason given by the Trial Court to disbelieve the payment have been disbelieved by the First Appellate Court in toto. What goes further in favour of the plaintiff is that the defendant, when had replied to his notice dated 17.6.1977 before filing of the Suit had not mentioned about the payments made by the defendant, as has been alleged in the written statement, and therefore, this Court is also of the view that the findings as have been arrived at by the First Appellate Court are unassailable. In fact, the substantial question of law as was framed on 3.8.1983 by this Court is thus not required to be answered in view of the findings of the First Appellate Court.

18. The Second Appeal is concluded by findings of fact. No interference is warranted and thus the appeal is dismissed.

...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellant:

Anil Kumar Srivastava

Counsel for the Respondents:

Ravindra Pratap Singh

A. Civil Law - Motor Vehicle Act, 1988-Section 173--Challenge to-In the instant case, it is found that the policy in question is an Act Policy-deceased was an employee of the owner -The said employee was not as if, he was a casual employee but was a regular driver and therefore, he would be covered in terms of Section 147 (1) proviso (a) as mentioned in the Act- In terms of Section 167 of the Act option is available for a party to either file the claim petition before the Claims Commissioner under the Act of 1923 or before the M.A.C.T.-However, the difference would be that if a party chooses to file his claim before the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal and the Tribunal awards an amount which is higher than the amount which is computed under the Compensation Act of 1923, then the liability of the insurance company would only be to the extent of the amount which is payable in terms of the Act of 1923 and the excess amount would be payable by the owner.-However, if an additional sum or premium is paid to cover or enhance the liability, then the entire award would be payable by the insurance company-In the instant case, since it was an Act policy and the Tribunal has also awarded the amount computing it in context with the Compensation Act of 1923 as evident from the award itself. Accordingly, this liability of Rs.3,36,000/- is liable to be indemnified by the insurance company- Thus, the decision rendered by the Tribunal does not suffer from an error to persuade this Court to arrive at any other finding- accordingly, the award d is affirmed.(Para 1 to 35)

B. The true import of Section 147 and the proviso appended thereto is that the Act Policy would cover third party risks, but it would also cover the liability arising out of death or bodily injury in respect of such persons which have been indicated in the proviso as (a), (b), (c) and that too, to a limited extent as determined in terms of the Employees Compensation Act, 1923. Therefore, any liability relating to such specified individuals as mentioned and described in the proviso on account of death or bodily injury, their claims can be limited only to the extent which is determined in terms of the Compensation Act of 1923, but the moment any additional premium is paid towards such category of persons then, the liability can be enhanced and would be made unlimited.(Para 33)

The appeal is dismissed. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Jaspreet Singh, J.)

1. The instant appeal has been preferred by the Insurance company assailing the award dated 10.07.2019 passed in C.P. No.646 of 2013 whereby in a death case, the Tribunal has awarded a sum of Rs.3,36,000/- along with 7% interest in favour of the claimants-respondents.

2. Shri Anil Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the appellant submits that the Tribunal has erred in fastening the liability on the insurance company for the reason that in terms of Section 147 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, the deceased was not covered as the policy in question was merely an 'Act Policy' and in terms whereof only third party claims could have been indemnified. Since in the instant case, the driver was not covered and he caused the accident by his own negligence, therefore, not being a third party, the insurance company was not liable for the award. It is only the owner of the vehicle who could be made responsible and this aspect has not been appropriately considered by the Tribunal who has fixed the liability on the insurance Company.

3. It has further been urged that the Tribunal has misconstrued the decision of the Apex Court in the case of National Insurance Co. Ltd. vs. Prembai Patel and others AIR 2005 SC 2337 and without considering the contention of the insurance company that under the 'Act Policy', it was only a third party claim which could be covered and not the claim of the driver, hence, the award is bad.

4. Further elaborating his submissions, it is also urged that in the policy it was clearly mentioned that no premium had been taken for the driver. Accordingly, the liability of the insurance company was limited and it could not be extended to cover such risks which were not covered by the policy and ignoring this aspect, the award has been delivered, fastening the liability on the appellant-company, which is not in consonance with law, accordingly, the award deserves to be set aside.

5. The learned counsel for the appellant in support of his submissions has relied upon the decision of the Apex Court in Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. vs. Meena Variyal and others (2007) 5 SCC 428 and National Insurance Co. Ltd. vs. Balakrishnan and another (2013) 1 SCC 731.

6. Per contra, Shri Ravindra Pratap Singh, learned counsel for the claimants-respondents while defending the award submits that in the instant case, the claim petition was filed under Section 163-A of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988.

7. It is further urged that Section 167 of the Motor Vehicles Act permits a person to opt for the forum to file a claim petition either under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 or under the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, but not both.

8. It is further submitted that in the instant case, the claimants chose to file the claim petition under the Motor Vehicles Act and since, the deceased was the driver of the owner of the vehicle and he sustained injuries which led to his death and being a petition under Section 163-A of the Motor Vehicles Act, it was not incumbent on the claimants to establish the negligence and once, it was proved that the accident occurred on account of use of a motor vehicle, then in terms of Section 163-A of the Act of 1988, the claimants were entitled to the compensation.

9. It is further urged by the counsel for the claimants-respondents that in terms of Section 147 of the Act, the insurance company is liable under the 'Act Policy' to cover the driver and in the instant case, it is not disputed that the deceased was a driver, therefore, the claimants were entitled to compensation and the insurance company was duty bound to indemnify the award in terms of Section 149 of the Motor Vehicles Act.

10. It is further pointed out that this aspect of the matter was considered by the Apex Court in Prembai Patel (supra) and the same has rightly been relied by the Tribunal and as such it cannot be said that the award passed by the Tribunal is erroneous.

11. It is also submitted that the decisions which have been cited by the learned counsel for the appellant in Meena Variyal (supra) and Balakrishnan (supra), they were considered by the Apex court in various other decisions including the full Bench decision of the Gujarat High Court in Valiben Laxmanbhai Thakore (Koli) and others vs. Kandla Dock Labour Board and others 2021 ACJ 2262 and the aforesaid decision also clearly establishes that it is the liability of the insurance company to satisfy the award. It is thus urged that the issue No.6 was correctly decided by the Tribunal and the award is liable to be indemnified by the insurance company. Accordingly, the appeal lacks merit and deserves to be dismissed.

12. The Court has heard the learned counsel for the parties and also perused the material on record.

13. Before adverting to the respective submissions of the counsel for the parties, it will be appropriate to take a glance at the events giving rise to the instant appeal.

14. The claimants-respondents No.1 and 2 instituted a claim petition under Section 163-A of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 before M.A.C.T./A.D.J., Court No.6, Barabanki registered as C.P. No. 646 of 2013.

15. It was pleaded that the deceased-Luv Kush Kumar was working as a driver with the respondent No.3. On the fateful day i.e. 28.11.2013, he was driving a mini truck belonging to the respondent No.3 bearing No. U.P. 41 T 9561 and around 11.30 AM, when he had reached the cold storage, Pratapganj under P.S.- Safdarganj, District- Barabanki, a truck which was moving ahead of the mini truck being driven by Luv Kush suddenly slammed its brakes and as a result, the mini truck being driven by Luv Kush dashed and its front portion was badly damaged and on account of the said accident, the deceased sustained injuries and later succumbed to his injuries.

16. It is in respect of the aforesaid accident that the claim petition was filed which was contested both by the owner as well as the insurance company. The owner while filing his written statement admitted that the vehicle in question was a new vehicle which was duly insured with the United India Insurance Company Ltd. It was also admitted that the truck in question had all valid documents and its driver Luv Kush also possessed the valid driving license with the endorsement to drive a transport vehicle. The mini truck in question had the requisite permit, fitness certificate and as such in case, if any liability is assessed, it was to be indemnified by the insurance company.

17. The insurance company while contesting the claim petition raised the plea that the policy in question was merely an 'Act Policy'. Since the driver was not covered and no extra premium was paid for the aforesaid purpose, hence, only third party claims could be covered. Since, the driver cannot be treated as a third party and he was responsible for the accident himself, accordingly, the insurance company was not liable.

18. The Tribunal considering the respective contentions framed seven issues and after permitting the parties to lead oral as well as documentary evidence, it recorded its finding and concluded that Luv Kush died on account of an accident while driving the truck bearing No. U.P. 41 T 9561. It also concluded that the driver had a valid and subsisting license and the truck was duly insured with the insurance company. While dealing with the issue regarding liability of the insurance company, it considered Section 147 of the Motor Vehicles Act and relying upon the decisions of the Apex Court in case of Prembai Patel (supra), it computed the compensation of Rs.3,36,000/- and awarded the same along with 7% interest per annum by means of its award dated 10.07.2019.

19. This award is under challenge on the ground raised by the insurance company and as already noticed hereinabove.

20. In order to appreciate the contentions of the respective parties, it will be first relevant to notice the statutory provisions with the aid of relevant cases of the Apex Court on the aforesaid subject.

21. Section 145 which is contained in Chapter 11 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 relates to definitions and certain relevant words/terms which have been defined are being noticed hereinafter:-

Chapter XI

Insurance of Motor Vehicles against third party risks

 (b) “certificate of insurance” means a certificate issued by an authorised insurer in pursuance of sub-section (3) of section 147 and includes a cover note complying with such requirements as may be prescribed, and where more than one certificate has been issued in connection with a policy, or where a copy of a certificate has been issued, all those certificates or that copy, as the case may be;

(c) “liability”, wherever used in relation to the death of or bodily injury to any person, includes liability in respect thereof under section 140;

(d) “policy of insurance” includes “certificate of insurance”;

(g) “third party” includes the Government.”

22. Section 146 of the Act, 1988 clearly prohibits any person to use, except as a passenger, or cause or allow any other person to use a motor vehicle in a public place, unless there is in force in relation to the use of the vehicle by that person or that other person, as the case may be, a policy of insurance complying with the requirements of this chapter. This clearly indicates that the effort is to ensure that no vehicle is plied on the road without an effective insurance policy.

23. The requirements of a policy and the limits of liability is contained in Section 147 of the Act of 1988, which is relevant for the adjudication of the instant controversy and as such is being reproduced hereinafter:-

“147. Requirements of policies and limits of liability. —(1) In order to comply with the requirements of this Chapter, a policy of insurance must be a policy which—

(a) is issued by a person who is an authorized insurer; and

(b) insures the person or classes of persons specified in the policy to the extent specified in sub-section (2)—

(i) against any liability which may be incurred by him in respect of the death of or bodily 27 [injury to any person, including owner of the goods or his authorised representative carried in the vehicle] or damage to any property of a third party caused by or arising out of the use of the vehicle in a public place;

(ii) against the death of or bodily injury to any passenger of a public service vehicle caused by or arising out of the use of the vehicle in a public place:

Provided that a policy shall not be required—

(i) to cover liability in respect of the death, arising out of and in the course of his employment, of the employee of a person insured by the policy or in respect of bodily injury sustained by such an employee arising out of and in the course of his employment other than a liability arising under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (8 of 1923) in respect of the death of, or bodily injury to, any such employee—

(a) engaged in driving the vehicle, or

(b) if it is a public service vehicle engaged as conductor of the vehicle or in examining tickets on the vehicle, or

(c) if it is a goods carriage, being carried in the vehicle, or

(ii) to cover any contractual liability.

Explanation. —For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the death of or bodily injury to any person or damage to any property of a third party shall be deemed to have been caused by or to have arisen out of, the use of a vehicle in a public place notwithstanding that the person who is dead or injured or the property which is damaged was not in a public place at the time of the accident, if the act or omission which led to the accident occurred in a public place.”

(2) Subject to the proviso to sub-section (1), a policy of insurance referred to in sub-section (1), shall cover any liability incurred in respect of any accident, up to the following limits, namely:—

(a) save as provided in clause (b), the amount of liability incurred;

b) in respect of damage to any property of a third party, a limit of rupees six thousand:

Provided that any policy of insurance issued with any limited liability and in force, immediately before the commencement of this Act, shall continue to be effective for a period of four months after such commencement or till the date of expiry of such policy whichever is earlier.

(3) A policy shall be of no effect for the purposes of this Chapter unless and until there is issued by the insurer in favour of the person by whom the policy is effected a certificate of insurance in the prescribed form and containing the prescribed particulars of any condition subject to which the policy is issued and of any other prescribed matters; and different forms, particulars and matters may be prescribed in different cases.

(4) Where a cover note issued by the insurer under the provisions of this Chapter or the rules made thereunder is not followed by a policy of insurance within the prescribed time, the insurer shall, within seven days of the expiry of the period of the validity of the cover note, notify the fact to the registering authority in whose records the vehicle to which the cover note relates has been registered or to such other authority as the State Government may prescribe.

(5) Notwithstanding anything contained in any law for the time being in force, an insurer issuing a policy of insurance under this section shall be liable to indemnify the person or classes of persons specified in the policy in respect of any liability which the policy purports to cover in the case of that person or those classes of persons.”

(Note:- The underlining in the aforesaid provision has been done by this Court to emphasize certain aspects which shall be dealt with in the body of this judgment.)

24. Section 149 casts a duty on the insurer to satisfy the judgment and award against persons insured in respect of third party risks. From the perusal of the aforesaid Sections, it would indicate that it is mandatory for every vehicle owner to get his vehicle insured before plying it on the road.

25. Section 147 clearly provides the minimum requirements of an insurance policy. The policy which is issued by an authorized insurer must comply with the minimum standards which is called an 'Act Policy'. However, since a contract of insurance is like any other contract, the parties are free to pay a higher premium and get the limits enhanced. It is in the aforesaid backdrop, it is always open for a party to pay higher premium and get various other risks covered. Generally, when various other risks are covered and the liability is unlimited of the insurance company, such policies are termed as 'comprehensive' or 'package policies'.

26. In the aforesaid backdrop, the controversy which emerges in the instant case is whether the 'Act Policy' would cover the driver or not? It is in this context that Section 147 of the Act assumes significance and in order to understand the said provision better, the Court has underlined the proviso and the explanation which has been appended to the said section.

27. At this stage, it will also be relevant to notice the decisions of the Apex Court and in Meena Variyal (supra), a claim petition was preferred under Section 166 of the Act of 1988 and the deceased in question had died in a car accident and was an occupant of the said car. The car was being driven by its driver Mahmood Hasan. The car was being used for the benefit of its employee. The stand of the insurance company was that since the deceased himself was driving the vehicle, he was not entitled to any claim on account of his own negligence. The Tribunal had awarded a sum of Rs.7,20,000/- and held that since the vehicle was being driven by the deceased himself and was an employee of the owner of the car and the insurance did not cover such an employee, thus, he was made to pay the amount. The claimants have preferred an appeal before the High Court where the High Court directed the insurance company to pay the amount as awarded by the Tribunal and leaving it open for the insurance company to recover the aforesaid amount from the owner. This matter went up to the Apex Court wherein the Apex Court considering the decisions found that there was no finding that Mahmood Hasan, another employee of the owner was driving the vehicle. It further held that the victim was the regional manager of the company that owned the car and since he was using the car given for his own use by the company, hence, the insurance policy in question which did not cover any special risk including to satisfy the award under the Workmen's Compensation Act, hence, the insurance company was not held liable. Relevant paragraphs of the aforesaid decision are being reproduced hereinafter for ready reference:-

"13. As we understand Section 147(1) of the Act, an insurance policy thereunder need not cover the liability in respect of death or injury arising out of and in the course of the employment of an employee of the person insured by the policy, unless it be a liability arising under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 in respect of a driver, also the conductor, in the case of a public service vehicle, and the one carried in the vehicle as owner of the goods or his representative, if it is a goods vehicle. It is provided that the policy also shall not be required to cover any contractual liability. Uninfluenced by authorities, we find no difficulty in understanding this provision as one providing that the policy must insure an owner against any liability to a third party caused by or arising out of the use of the vehicle in a public place, and against death or bodily injury to any passenger of a public service vehicle caused by or arising out of the use of vehicle in a public place. The proviso clarifies that the policy shall not be required to cover an employee of the insured in respect of bodily injury or death arising out of and in the course of his employment. Then, an exception is provided to the last foregoing to the effect that the policy must cover a liability arising under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 in respect of the death or bodily injury to an employee who is engaged in driving the vehicle or who serves as a conductor in a public service vehicle or an employee who travels in the vehicle of the employer carrying goods if it is a goods carriage. Section 149(1), which casts an obligation on an insurer to satisfy an award, also speaks only of award in respect of such liability as is required to be covered by a policy under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 147 (being a liability covered by the terms of the policy). This provision cannot therefore be used to enlarge the liability if it does not exist in terms of Section 147 of the Act.

14. The object of the insistence on insurance under Chapter XI of the Act thus seems to be to compulsorily cover the liability relating to their person or properties of third parties and in respect of employees of the insured employer, the liability that may arise under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 in respect of the driver, the conductor and the one carried in a goods vehicle carrying goods. On this plain understanding of Section 147, we find it difficult to hold that the Insurance Company, in the case on hand, was liable to indemnify the owner, the employer Company, the insured, in respect of the death of one of its employees, who according to the claim, was not the driver. Be it noted that the liability is not one arising under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 and it is doubtful, on the case put forward by the claimant, whether the deceased could be understood as a workman coming within the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923. Therefore, on a plain reading of Section 147 of the Act, it appears to be clear that the Insurance Company is not liable to indemnify the insured in the case on hand.

15. The argument that the proviso does not keep out employees from coverage though the claims under the Workmen's Compensation Act are specified, cannot be accepted on the plain language of the proviso. The proviso enacts an exemption and carves out an exception to that exemption. The suggested interpretation would result in ignoring the effect of the language employed by the proviso, exempting the owner from covering his employees under insurance except in cases where the liability in respect of them is, one arising under the Workmen's Compensation Act, obviously, as determined by that Tribunal.

23. We are thus satisfied that based on the ratio in National Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Swaran Singh and others [(2004) 3 SCC 297 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 733] the Insurance Company cannot be made liable in the case on hand to pay the compensation first and to recover it from the insured, the owner of the vehicle. The deceased being an employee not covered by the Workmen's Compensation Act, of the insured, the owner of the vehicle, has not to be covered compulsorily under the Act and only by entering into a special contract by the insured with the insurer could such a person be brought under coverage. There is no case that there is any special contract in that behalf in this case.

24. It was argued by learned counsel for the appellant that since on the finding that the deceased was himself driving the vehicle at the time of the accident, the accident arose due to the negligence of the deceased himself and hence the insurer is not liable for the compensation. Even if the case of the claimant that the car was driven by Mahmood Hasan was true, then also, the claimant had to establish the negligence of the driver before the insured (sic insurer) could be asked to indemnify the insured. The decision in Minu B. Mehta v. Balkrishna Ramchandra Nayan [(1977) 2 SCC 441 : (1977) 2 SCR 886] of a three-Judge Bench of this Court was relied on in support.

25. In that decision, this Court considered the question whether in a claim for compensation under the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939, proof of negligence was essential to support a claim for compensation. On the facts in that case, their Lordships found that the appeal was liable to be dismissed subject to certain directions issued therein. But their Lordships, in the light of the fact that the High Court had discussed the law on the question and it was of some importance, felt that it was necessary to state the position in law. Noticing that the liability of the owner of the car to compensate the victim in a car accident due to negligent driving of his servant is based on the law of tort, the Court discussed the scheme of the Act of 1939 and the law on the question. Regarding the view of the High Court that it was not necessary to prove negligence, the Court held : (Minu B. Mehta case [(1977) 2 SCC 441 : (1977) 2 SCR 886] , SCC pp. 455-56, para 33)

“33. The reasoning of the two learned Judges is unacceptable as it is opposed to basic principles of the owner's liability for negligence of his servant and is based on a complete misreading of the provisions of Chapter VIII of the Act. The High Court's zeal for what it considered to be protection of public good has misled it into adopting a course which is nothing short of legislation.”

Their Lordships also noticed that proof of negligence remained the lynchpin to recover compensation. Their Lordships concluded by saying : (Minu B. Mehta case [(1977) 2 SCC 441 : (1977) 2 SCR 886] , SCC pp. 456-57, para 37)

“37. We conclude by stating that the view of the learned Judges of the High Court has no support in law and hold that proof of negligence is necessary before the owner or the insurance company could be held to be liable for the payment of compensation in a motor accident claim case.”

29. On the facts of this case, there is no finding that Mahmood Hasan, another employee of the owner was driving the vehicle. Even if he was, there is no finding of his negligence. The victim was the Regional Manager of the Company that owned the car. He was using the car given to him by the Company for use. Whether he is treated as the owner of the vehicle or as an employee, he is not covered by the insurance policy taken in terms of the Act—without any special contract—since there is no award under the Workmen's Compensation Act that is required to be satisfied by the insurer. In these circumstances, we hold that the appellant Insurance Company is not liable to indemnify the insured and is also not obliged to satisfy the award of the Tribunal/Court and then have recourse to the insured, the owner of the vehicle. The High Court was in error in modifying the award of the Tribunal in that regard.”

28. The learned counsel for the appellant has also relied upon the decision of BalaKrishanan (supra) wherein the issue of an 'Act Policy' and the requirements in terms of Section 147 has been considered including the earlier decision of Meena Variyal (supra). The Apex Court after noticing the various earlier decisions of the Apex Court on the aforesaid point including certain tariff circulars held as under:-

"26. In view of the aforesaid factual position, there is no scintilla of doubt that a "comprehensive/package policy" would cover the liability of the insurer for payment of compensation for the occupant in a car. There is no cavil that an "Act policy" stands on a different footing from a "comprehensive/package policy". As the circulars have made the position very clear and IRDA, which is presently the statutory authority, has commanded the insurance companies stating that a "comprehensive/package policy" covers the liability, there cannot be any dispute in that regard. We may hasten to clarify that the earlier pronouncements were rendered in respect of the "Act policy" which admittedly cannot cover a third-party risk of an occupant in a car. But, if the policy is a "comprehensive/package policy", the liability would be covered. These aspects were not noticed in Bhagyalakshmi [(2009) 7 SCC 148 : (2009) 3 SCC (Civ) 87 : (2009) 3 SCC (Cri) 321] and, therefore, the matter was referred to a larger Bench. We are disposed to think that there is no necessity to refer the present matter to a larger Bench as IRDA, which is presently the statutory authority, has clarified the position by issuing circulars which have been reproduced in the judgment by the Delhi High Court and we have also reproduced the same."

Since the issue whether the policy in question was an 'Act Policy' or a comprehensive policy was not considered by the Tribunal and the High Court, the Apex Court further remanded the matter as shall be evident from para 27 and 28 of the aforesaid decision which reads as under:-

"27. In view of the aforesaid legal position, the question that emerges for consideration is: whether in the case at hand, the policy is an "Act policy" or "comprehensive/package policy"? There has been no discussion either by the Tribunal or the High Court in this regard. True it is, before us, Annexure P-1 has been filed which is a policy issued by the insurer. It only mentions the policy to be a "comprehensive policy" but we are inclined to think that there has to be a scanning of the terms of the entire policy to arrive at the conclusion whether it is really a "package policy" to cover the liability of an occupant in a car.

28. In view of the aforesaid analysis, we think it apposite to set aside the finding of the High Court and the Tribunal as regards the liability of the insurer and remit the matter to the Tribunal to scrutinise the policy in a proper perspective and, if necessary, by taking additional evidence and if the conclusion is arrived at that the policy in question is a "comprehensive/package policy", the liability would be fastened on the insurer. As far as other findings recorded by the Tribunal and affirmed by the High Court are concerned, they remain undisturbed."

29. The Tribunal as well as the counsel for the claimants-respondents has placed reliance upon the decision of the Apex Court in Prembai Patel (supra), wherein a truck was being driven by one Sundar Singh. This truck was insured with the National Insurance Company and since the truck had overturned which resulted in the death of its driver, a claim petition came to be filed. The same was contested mainly on the ground that the accident took place on account of the fault of the driver, hence, the liability was denied. The Claims Tribunal considering the evidence, awarded a sum of Rs.2,10,000/- along with 12% interest directing the insurance company to satisfy the award. The High Court also affirmed the judgment of the Tribunal. The judgment of the High Court was assailed before the Apex Court only on the ground that since the insurance policy was restricted one, therefore, the entire liability could not be satisfied by the insurance company but its liability was restricted only to cover the liability under the Workmen's Compensation Act. The issue before the Apex Court was crystallized in paragraph 8 and thereafter considering the provisions of Section 147, the effect of the proviso has been noticed in the subsequent paragraphs and noticing the difference in the liability relating to an 'Act Policy' and to what extent the insurance company would be liable has been dealt with in the subsequent paragraphs which have been reproduced hereinafter:

"8. The main question which requires consideration in this appeal is, whether the appellant Insurance Company is liable to pay the entire amount of compensation awarded to the claimants or its liability is restricted to that which is prescribed under the Workmen's Act. In this connection learned counsel for the appellant has drawn our attention to the insurance policy, which had been taken by the owner for the vehicle concerned, and, especially to the following endorsements made therein:

- 1. Policy No. 320801/31—92-93/21/01753 a policy for act liability*
- 2. Premium (Act Liability) Rs.1245/-*

- 3. Limitation as to use For Act only cover*

At the end of the policy the following is written:

"IMPORTANT NOTICE

The insured is not indemnified if the vehicle is used or driven otherwise than in accordance with this Schedule. Any payment made by the Company by reason of wider terms appearing in the certificate in order to comply with the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 is recoverable from the insured. See the clause headed AVOIDANCE OF CERTAIN TERMS AND RIGHT OF RECOVERY in the policy.

NOTE :— This Schedule, the attached policy and the endorsements mentioned here above shall be read together and any word or expression to which a specific meaning has been attached in any part of this policy or the Schedule shall bear the same meaning wherever it may appear."

- 9. The learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that the owner of the truck had got his vehicle insured by paying only that much amount of premium which, so far as his employees were concerned, covered the liability to the extent it is provided under the Workmen's Act. It has been submitted that the words "a policy for Act Liability" or "Act Liability" clearly indicate that the liability of the Insurance Company was not an unlimited one but that which was mandatorily required under the Act so as to cover the liability under the Workmen's Act and no further. Learned counsel has further submitted that in order to cover unlimited liability the owner has to pay higher amount of premium and in such a case the* words “a policy for Act Liability” or “Act Liability” are not written. The insurance policy being in the nature of a contract, the parties are bound by it and, therefore, the appellant cannot be saddled with any extra liability to pay the entire amount of compensation, which has been awarded to the claimants.

11. The contentions raised turn on the interpretation of sub-section (1) of Sections 147 and 149 of the Act and the same are being reproduced below:-

“147. Requirements of policies and limits of liability.—(1) In order to comply with the requirements of this Chapter, a policy of insurance must be a policy which—

(a) is issued by a person who is an authorised insurer; and

(b) insures the person or classes of persons specified in the policy to the extent specified in sub-section (2)—

(i) against any liability which may be incurred by him in respect of the death of or bodily injury to any person or damage to any property of a third party caused by or arising out of the use of the vehicle in a public place;

(ii) against the death of or bodily injury to any passenger of a public service vehicle caused by or arising out of the use of the vehicle in a public place:

Provided that a policy shall not be required—

(i) to cover liability in respect of the death, arising out of and in the course of his employment, of the employee of a person insured by the policy or in respect of bodily injury sustained by such an employee arising out of and in the course of his employment other than a liability arising under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (8 of 1923), in respect of the death of, or bodily injury to, any such employee—

(a) engaged in driving the vehicle, or

(b) if it is a public service vehicle engaged as a conductor of the vehicle or in examining tickets on the vehicle, or

(c) if it is a goods carriage, being carried in the vehicle, or

(ii) to cover any contractual liability.

Explanation.— (omitted as not relevant)

149. Duty of insurers to satisfy judgments and awards against persons insured in respect of third-party risks.—(1) If, after a certificate of insurance has been issued under sub-section (3) of Section 147 in favour of the person by whom a policy has been effected, judgment or award in respect of any such liability as is required to be covered by a policy under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 147 (being a liability covered by the terms of the policy) is obtained against any person insured by the policy then, notwithstanding that the insurer may be entitled to avoid or cancel or may have avoided or cancelled the policy, the insurer shall, subject to the provisions of this section, pay to the person entitled to the benefit of the decree any sum not exceeding the sum assured payable thereunder, as if he were the judgment-debtor, in respect of the liability, together with any amount payable in respect of costs and any sum payable in respect of interest on that sum by virtue of any enactment relating to interest on judgments.”

12. The heading of Chapter XI of the Act is Insurance of Motor Vehicles Against Third Party Risks and it contains Sections 145 to 164. Section 146(1) of the Act provides that no person shall use, except as a passenger, or cause or allow any other person to use, a motor vehicle in a public place, unless there is in force in relation to the use of the vehicle by that person or that other person, as the case may be, a policy of insurance complying with the requirements of Chapter XI. Clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 147 provides that a policy of insurance must be a policy which insures the person or classes of persons specified in the policy to the extent specified in sub-section (2) against any liability which may be incurred by him in respect of death of or bodily injury to any person or passenger or damage to any property of a third party caused by or arising out of the use of the vehicle in public place. Sub-clauses (i) and (ii) of clause (b) are comprehensive in the sense that they cover both "any person" or "passenger". An employee of owner of the vehicle like a driver or a conductor may also come within the purview of the words "any person" occurring in sub-clause (i). However, the proviso (i) to clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 147 says that a policy shall not be required to cover liability in respect of death, arising out of and in the course of his employment, of the employee of a person insured by the policy or in respect of bodily injury sustained by such an employee arising out of and in the course of his employment other than a liability arising under the Workmen's Act if the employee is such as described in sub-clauses (a) or (b) or (c). The effect of this proviso is that if an insurance policy covers the liability under the Workmen's Act in respect of death of or bodily injury to any such employee as is described in sub-clauses (a) or (b) or (c) of proviso (i) to Section 147(1)(b), it will be a valid policy and would comply with the requirements of Chapter XI of the Act. Section 149 of the Act imposes a duty upon the insurer (insurance company) to satisfy judgments and awards against persons insured in respect of third-party risks. The expression — "such liability as is required to be covered by a policy under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 147 being a liability covered by the terms of the policy" — occurring in sub-section (1) of Section 149 is important. It clearly shows that any such liability, which is mandatorily required to be covered by a policy under clause (b) of Section 147(1), has to be satisfied by the insurance company. The effect of this provision is that an insurance policy, which covers only the liability arising under the Workmen's Act in respect of death of or bodily injury to any such employee as described in sub-clauses (a) or (b) or (c) to proviso (i) to Section 147(1)(b) of the Act is perfectly valid and permissible under the Act. Therefore, where any such policy has been taken by the owner of the vehicle, the liability of the insurance company will be confined to that arising under the Workmen's Act.

13. The insurance policy being in the nature of a contract, it is permissible for an owner to take such a policy whereunder the entire liability in respect of the death of or bodily injury to any such employee as is described in sub-clauses (a) or (b) or (c) of proviso (i) to Section 147(1)(b) may be fastened upon the insurance company and insurance company may become liable to satisfy the entire award. However, for this purpose the owner must take a policy of that particular kind for which he may be required to pay additional premium and the policy must clearly show that the liability of the insurance company in case of death of or bodily injury to the aforesaid kind of employees is not restricted to that provided under the Workmen's Act and is either more or unlimited depending upon the quantum of premium paid and the terms of the policy.

14. The aforesaid interpretation of the relevant provisions applicable to the case in hand is in consonance with the view expressed by a Constitution Bench in New India Assurance Co. Ltd. v. C.M. Jaya [(2002) 2 SCC 278 : 2002 SCC (Cri) 325] where, while interpreting the provisions of Section 95(2) of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939, the Court held as under in para 10 of the Report :- (SCC p. 285)

“.....The liability could be statutory or contractual. A statutory liability cannot be more than what is required under the statute itself. However, there is nothing in Section 95 of the Act prohibiting the parties from contracting to create unlimited or higher liability to cover wider risk. In such an event, the insurer is bound by the terms of the contract as specified in the policy in regard to unlimited or higher liability as the case may be. In the absence of such a term or clause in the policy, pursuant to the contract of insurance, a limited statutory liability cannot be expanded to make it unlimited or higher. If it is so done, it amounts to rewriting the statute or the contract of insurance which is not permissible.”

The Bench also referred to earlier decisions rendered in New India Assurance Co. Ltd. v. Shanti Bai [(1995) 2 SCC 539] and Amrit Lal Sood v. Kaushalya Devi Thapar [(1998) 3 SCC 744] and observed that in case of an insurance policy not taking any higher liability by accepting a higher premium, the liability of the insurance company is neither unlimited nor higher than the statutory liability fixed under Section 95(2) of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939. It was further observed that it is open to the insured to make payment of additional higher premium and get higher risk covered in respect of third party also. But in the absence of any such clause in the insurance policy, the liability of the insurer cannot be unlimited in respect of third party and it is limited only to the statutory liability.

15. Though the aforesaid decision has been rendered on Section 95(2) of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939 but the principle underlying therein will be fully applicable here also. It is thus clear that in case the owner of the vehicle wants the liability of the insurance company in respect of death of or bodily injury to any such employee as is described in sub-clauses (a) or (b) or (c) of proviso (i) to Section 147(1)(b) should not be restricted to that under the Workmen's Act but should be more or unlimited, he must take such a policy by making payment of extra premium and the policy should also contain a clause to that effect. However, where the policy mentions “a policy for Act Liability” or “Act Liability”, the liability of the insurance company qua the employees as aforesaid would not be unlimited but would be limited to that arising under the Workmen's Act.

16. The High Court, in the impugned judgment, has held that if the legal representatives of the deceased employee approach the Motor Accidents Claims Tribunal for payment of compensation to them by moving a petition under Section 166 of the Act, the liability of the insurance company is not limited to the extent provided under the Workmen's Act and on its basis directed the appellant Insurance Company to pay the entire amount of compensation to the claimants. As shown above, the insurance policy taken by the owner contained a clause that it was a policy for “Act Liability” only. This being the nature of policy the liability of the appellant would be restricted to that arising under the Workmen's Act. The judgment of the High Court, therefore, needs to be modified accordingly.

17. The judgment of the High Court insofar as it relates to quantum of compensation and interest, which is to be paid to the claimants (Respondents 3 to 6 herein) is affirmed. The liability of the appellant Insurance Company to satisfy the award would be restricted to that arising under the Workmen's Act. Respondents 1 and 2 (owners of the vehicle) would be liable to satisfy the remaining portion of the award.

18. The record shows that no stay order was passed in favour of the appellant. In case the appellant Insurance Company has deposited the entire amount awarded by the High Court with the Motor Accidents Claims Tribunal or has paid the said amount to the claimants, it will be open to it to recover the amount, which exceeds its liability under the Workmen's Act, from the owner of the vehicle in accordance with law."

30. It will be relevant to notice that it is relying upon the aforesaid decision of Prembai Patel (supra) has the Tribunal awarded the sum in context with the liability arising under the Workmen's Compensation Act and has fastened the same on the insurance company.

31. Before proceeding further, it will also be relevant to notice another decision of the Apex Court which throw light on the aforesaid subject and is Sanjeev Kumar Samrat vs. National Insurance Company Ltd. (2014) 14 SCC 243, wherein the scope of Sections 146, 147 and its proviso has been considered by the Apex Court. The facts involved in the said case indicated that a truck was hired by one Shri Durga Singh, who was traveling along with his two labourers. The said truck met with an accident, as a consequence, the labourers sustained injuries and died. The issue that cropped up was whether the insurer is obliged under law to indemnify the owner of the goods, when the employees engaged by the hirer of the vehicle, driver with the owner of the goods on the foundation that they should be treated as employees covered under the policy issued in accordance with the provisions contained under Section 147 of the Motor Vehicles Act. The Apex Court noticing the provisions of Section 147 and earlier decisions on the aforesaid point in paragraph 11, 13, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 21 and 23 held that in terms of Section 147 (1) (b) proviso (I), it refers to the employees which are being carried in the vehicle covered by the policy. It was further explained that the legislature had intended to cover the injury to any person including the owner of the goods or his authorized representative carried in the vehicle and an employee who has carried in the said vehicle. It also held that a policy is not required to cover the liability of the employee except an employee covered under the Act of 1923 and that too in respect of employee carried in a vehicle. It clarified that on a contextual reading and the scheme of the Act the statutory policy i.e. 'Act Policy' covers the employees of the insured either employee or engaged by him in a goods carriage. The relevant paragraphs are reproduced hereinafter:-

"11. Be it noted, before Section 147(1)(b)(i) came into existence in the present incarnation, it stipulated that a policy of insurance must be a policy which insured the person or classes of persons to the extent specified in sub-section (2) against the liability incurred by him in respect of the death of or bodily injury to any person or damage to any property or third party caused by or arising out of the use of the vehicle in public place.

13. The correctness of the said decision in Satpal Singh case [(2000) 1 SCC 237 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 130] came up for consideration before a three-Judge Bench in New India Assurance Co. Ltd. v. Asha Rani [New India Assurance Co. Ltd. v. Asha Rani, (2003) 2 SCC 223 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 493]. The learned Chief Justice, speaking for himself and H.K. Sema, J. took note of Section 147(1) prior to the amendment and the amended provision and the objects and reasons behind the said provision and came to hold as follows: (Asha Rani case [New India Assurance Co. Ltd. v. Asha Rani, (2003) 2 SCC 223 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 493], SCC p. 232, para 9)

“9. ... The objects and reasons of clause 46 also state that it seeks to amend Section 147 to include owner of the goods or his authorised representative carried in the vehicle for the purposes of liability under the insurance policy. It is no doubt true that sometimes the legislature amends the law by way of amplification and clarification of an inherent position which is there in the statute, but a plain meaning being given to the words used in the statute, as it stood prior to its amendment of 1994, and as it stands subsequent to its amendment in 1994 and bearing in mind the objects and reasons engrafted in the amended provisions referred to earlier, it is difficult for us to construe that the expression ‘including owner of the goods or his authorised representative carried in the vehicle’ which was added to the pre-existing expression ‘injury to any person’ is either clarificatory or amplification of the pre-existing statute. On the other hand it clearly demonstrates that the legislature wanted to bring within the sweep of Section 147 and making it compulsory for the insurer to insure even in case of a goods vehicle, the owner of the goods or his authorised representative being carried in a goods vehicle when that vehicle met with an accident and the owner of the goods or his representative either dies or suffers bodily injury.” (emphasis supplied)

S.B. Sinha, J., in his concurring opinion, stated thus: (Asha Rani case [New India Assurance Co. Ltd. v. Asha Rani, (2003) 2 SCC 223 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 493], SCC p. 235, paras 27-28)

“27. Furthermore, sub-clause (i) of clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 147 speaks of liability which may be incurred by the owner of a vehicle in respect of death of or bodily injury to any person or damage to any property of a third party caused by or arising out of the use of the vehicle in a public place, whereas sub-clause (ii) thereof deals with liability which may be incurred by the owner of a vehicle against the death of or bodily injury to any passenger of a public service vehicle caused by or arising out of the use of the vehicle in a public place.

28. An owner of a passenger-carrying vehicle must pay premium for covering the risks of the passengers. If a liability other than the limited liability provided for under the Act is to be enhanced under an insurance policy, additional premium is required to be paid. But if the ratio of this Court's decision in New India Assurance Co. v. Satpal Singh [(2000) 1 SCC 237 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 130] is taken to its logical conclusion, although for such passengers, the owner of a goods carriage need not take out an insurance policy, they would be deemed to have been covered under the policy wherefor even no premium is required to be paid.” (emphasis supplied)

Being of the aforesaid view, the three-Judge Bench [New India Assurance Co. Ltd. v. Asha Rani, (2003) 2 SCC 223 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 493] overruled the decision in Satpal Singh [(2000) 1 SCC 237 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 130] .

15. In New India Assurance Co. Ltd. v. Vedwati [(2007) 9 SCC 486] , (SCC p. 490, para 6), after referring to the scheme of the Act and the earlier pronouncements, it has been held that the provisions of the Act do not enjoin any statutory liability on the owner of a vehicle to get his vehicle insured for any passenger travelling in a goods carrier and the insurer would have no liability therefor.

16. In National Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Cholleti Bharatamma [(2008) 1 SCC 423 : (2008) 1 SCC (Cri) 224 : (2008) 1 SCC (Civ) 280] the Court laid down that the provisions engrafted under Section 147 of the Act do not enjoin any statutory liability on the owner of a vehicle to get his vehicle insured for any passenger travelling in a goods vehicle and hence, any injury to any person in Section 147(1)(b) would only mean a third party and not a passenger travelling in a goods carriage, whether gratuitous or otherwise.

17. At this juncture, we may refer with profit to the decision of a three-Judge Bench in National Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Prembai Patel [(2005) 6 SCC 172 : 2005 SCC (L&S) 819] wherein the legal representatives of the driver of the truck had succeeded before the High Court and were granted compensation of Rs 2,10,000 repelling the contention of the insurer that the liability was restricted as provided under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (for short "the 1923 Act"). After discussing the schematic postulates of the provision, the Court ruled that where a policy is taken by the owner of the goods vehicle, the liability of the insurance company would be confined to that arising under the 1923 Act in case of an employer. It further observed that the insurance policy being in the nature of a contract, it is permissible for an owner to take such a policy whereunder the entire liability in respect of the death of or bodily injury to any such employee as is described in clauses (a), (b) or (c) of proviso (i) to Section 147(1)(b) of the Act may be fastened upon the insurance company and the insurer may become liable to satisfy the entire award. But for the said purpose, he may be required to pay additional premium and the policy must clearly show that the liability of the insurance company is unlimited.

18. Keeping in view the aforesaid enunciation of law, it is to be seen how the term "employee" used in Section 147 of the Act is required to be understood. Prior to that, it is necessary to state that as per Section 147(1)(b)(i), the policy is required to cover a person including the owner of the goods or his authorised representative carried in the vehicle. As has been interpreted by this Court, an owner of the goods or his authorised agent is covered under the policy. That is the statutory requirement. It does not cover any passenger. We are absolutely conscious that the authorities to which we have referred to hereinbefore lay down the principle regarding non-coverage of passengers. The other principle that has been stated is that the insurer's liability as regards the employee is restricted to the compensation payable under the 1923 Act. In this context, the question that has been posed in the beginning to the effect whether the employees of the owner of goods would come within the ambit and sweep of the term "employee" as used in Section 147(1), is to be answered. In this context, the proviso to Section 147(1)(b) gains significance. The categories of employees which have been enumerated in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of proviso (i) to Section 147(1) are the driver of a vehicle, or the conductor of the vehicle if it is a public service vehicle or in examining tickets on the vehicle, if it is a goods carriage, being carried in the vehicle. It is submitted by the learned counsel for the appellant that clause (c) of proviso (i) is of wide import as it covers employees in a goods carriage being carried in a vehicle. The learned counsel for the insurer would submit that it should be read in the context of the entire proviso, regard being had to the schematic concept of the 1923 Act and the restricted liability of the insurer. It is further urged that contextually read, the meaning becomes absolutely plain and clear that employee which is statutorily mandated to be taken by the insured only covers the employees employed or engaged by the employer as per the policy.

19. It is the settled principle of law that the liability of an insurer for payment of compensation either could be statutory or contractual. On a reading of the proviso to sub-section (1) of Section 147 of the Act, it is demonstrable that the insurer is required to cover the risk of certain categories of employees of the insured stated therein. The insurance company is not under statutory obligation to cover all kinds of employees of the insurer as the statute does not show command. That apart, the liability of the insurer in respect of the said covered category of employees is limited to the extent of the liability that arises under the 1923 Act. There is also a stipulation in Section 147 that the owner of the vehicle is free to secure a policy of insurance providing wider coverage. In that event, needless to say, the liability would travel beyond the requirement of Section 147 of the Act, regard being had to its contractual nature. But, a pregnant one, the amount of premium would be different.

21. Coming to the scheme of the 1923 Act, it is worth noticing that under Section 3 of the said Act, the employer is liable to pay compensation to the workman in respect of personal injury or death caused by an accident arising out of or in the course of his employment. Section 4 provides the procedure how the amount of compensation is to be determined. In this context, we may usefully quote a passage from Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Devireddy Konda Reddy [(2003) 2 SCC 339 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 540] : (SCC pp. 342-43, para 9)

“9. ... Section 147 of the Act mandates compulsory coverage against death of or bodily injury to any passenger of ‘public service vehicle’. The proviso makes it further clear that compulsory coverage in respect of drivers and conductors of public service vehicle and employees carried in goods vehicle would be limited to liability under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (in short ‘the WC Act’). There is no reference to any passenger in ‘goods carriage’.” (emphasis supplied)

23. It is worthy to note that Section 147(1)(b) proviso (i)(c) refers to an employee who is being carried in the vehicle covered by the policy. Such vehicle being a goods carriage, an employee has to be covered by the statutory policy. On an apposite reading of Sections 147 and 167 the intendment of the legislature, as it appears to us, is to cover the injury to any person including the owner of the goods or his authorised representative carried in a vehicle and an employee who is carried in the said vehicle. It is apt to state here that the proviso commences in a different way. A policy is not required to cover the liability of the employee except an employee covered under the 1923 Act and that too in respect of an employee carried in a vehicle.

To put it differently, it does not cover all kinds of employees. Thus, on a contextual reading of the provision, schematic analysis of the Act and the 1923 Act, it is quite limpid that the statutory policy only covers the employees of the insured, either employed or engaged by him in a goods carriage. It does not cover any other kind of employee and therefore, someone who travels not being an authorised agent in place of the owner of goods, and claims to be an employee of the owner of goods, cannot be covered by the statutory policy and to hold otherwise would tantamount to causing violence to the language employed in the statute. Therefore, we conclude that the insurer would not be liable to indemnify the insured."

32. In the full Bench decision of the Gujarat High Court in Valiben Laxmanbhai Thakore (supra), the issue which was referred to the full Bench was, whether in view of the insured paying additional premium for liability of a paid driver, the insurance company is liable to pay compensation under the Motor Vehicles Act computed upon the death or injury caused to the driver out of the negligence which arises solely on account of driver's own negligence. After considering the respective submissions, provisions of the Act including the decisions of the Apex Court in Meena Variyal (supra), Prembai Patel (supra) amongst others, it concluded that where the policy is only an 'Act Policy' and additional premium is not paid then, the liability would be limited only to the extent as covered under the Employees' Compensation Act of 1923, however, the insurance company once it accepts the additional premium then its liability gets unlimited. The relevant paras are reproduced hereinafter:-

 "13. Thus, when the owner of a vehicle pays additional premium and is accepted by the insurance company, liability of the insurance company gets extended under the Motor Vehicles Act. Section 147 of the same Act clearly prescribes for statutory liability to cover risk of paid driver and conductor under the insurance policy, which is a matter of contract. On payment of such additional premium by the owner, the liability of the owner shifts upon the insurance company. Thus, the risk of paid driver and conductor would be covered under the insurance policy. Only when the additional premium is not paid, liability would be as per the Employee's Compensation Act, 1923 and in such cases, compensation would be computed as prescribed under the Act which is limited to the extent provided under provisions of the Act. However, when owner pays additional premium to cover the legal liability of his paid driver and conductor to the insurance company, as such, the insurance company is enlarging the scope for unlimited liability for payment of compensation, when additional premium is accepted. The liability of the insurance company gets extended and it has no right to raise issue of self-negligence or otherwise of such class of the driver of the insured vehicle. By accepting additional premium as per IMT 28, the insurance company expressed its willingness to extend its liability under the clause of legal liability to the paid driver and conductor as envisaged under section 147 of the Act. Thus, in our opinion, insurance company has no legal right to avoid its legal liability under the indemnity clause arising from the contract of insurance towards the insured-owner of such classes of vehicles."

33. Having taken note of the aforesaid decisions and the statutory provisions, what can be culled out is that in terms of Section 147 (1), the proviso appended thereto is being once again reproduced hereinafter for clarity:-

“Provided that a policy shall not be required—

(i) to cover liability in respect of the death, arising out of and in the course of his employment, of the employee of a person insured by the policy or in respect of bodily injury sustained by such an employee arising out of and in the course of his employment other than a liability arising under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (8 of 1923) in respect of the death of, or bodily injury to, any such employee—

(a) engaged in driving the vehicle, or

(b) if it is a public service vehicle engaged as conductor of the vehicle or in examining tickets on the vehicle, or

(c) if it is a goods carriage, being carried in the vehicle, or

(ii) to cover any contractual liability.”

and this has been clearly noticed by the Apex Court in Prembai Patel (supra) as well as in Sanjeev Kumar Samrat (supra) and also by the full Bench of the Gujarat High Court in Valiben Laxmanbhai Thakore (supra). From the reading of the aforesaid decisions and the crux which has been explained and reproduced hereinabove in the preceding paragraphs, it leaves no manner of doubt that the true import of Section 147 and the proviso appended thereto is that the Act Policy would cover third party risks, but it would also cover the liability arising out of death or bodily injury in respect of such persons which have been indicated in the proviso as (a), (b), (c) and that too, to a limited extent as determined in terms of the Employees Compensation Act, 1923. Therefore, any liability relating to such specified individuals as mentioned and described in the proviso on account of death or bodily injury, their claims can be limited only to the extent which is determined in terms of the Compensation Act of 1923, but the moment any additional premium is paid towards such category of persons then, the liability can be enhanced and would be made unlimited.

34. Now, applying the aforesaid dictum and the ratio culled out to the facts of the instant case, it would be found that the policy in question is an Act Policy. It is also clear that Luv Kush was an employee of the owner Sultan. The said employee was not as if, he was a casual employee but was a regular driver and therefore, he would be covered in terms of Section 147 (1) proviso (a) as mentioned in the Act. In terms of Section 167 of the Act option is available for a party to either file the claim petition before the Claims Commissioner under the Act of 1923 or before the M.A.C.T. However, the difference would be that if a party chooses to file his claim before the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal and the Tribunal awards an amount which is higher than the amount which is computed under the Compensation Act of 1923, then the liability of the insurance company would only be to the extent of the amount which is payable in terms of the Act of 1923 and the excess amount would be payable by the owner. However, if an additional sum or premium is paid to cover or enhance the liability, then the entire award would be payable by the insurance company. In the instant case, since it was an Act policy and the Tribunal has also awarded the amount computing it in context with the Compensation Act of 1923 as shall be evident from the award itself. Accordingly, this liability of Rs.3,36,000/- is liable to be indemnified by the insurance company.

35. In view of the aforesaid, this Court has no hesitation to hold that the decision rendered by the Tribunal does not suffer from an error to persuade this Court to arrive at any other finding. No other issue was raised before this Court, accordingly, the award dated 10.07.2019 passed in C.P. No. 646 of 2013 is affirmed and the appeal being devoid of merits is dismissed. In the facts and circumstances, there shall be no order as to costs. Record of the Tribunal be sent to the Court concerned.

1. Heard Sri B.R. Singh, learned counsel for the appellants and Sri A.K. Shukla, learned counsel for respondents.

2. This appeal, at the behest of the claimants, challenges the judgement and order dated 7.11.1997 passed by M.A.C.T/Special Judge (E.C. Act), Mainpuri (hereinafter referred to as "Tribunal") in M.A.C.P. No. 167 of 1996. The accident is not in dispute. His death by the accident is not in dispute. The issue of negligence decided by the Tribunal is not in dispute. The only issue to be decided is, the quantum of compensation awarded.

3. Brief facts as culled out from the record are that on 05.03.1996 deceased Jagdish Singh was travelling in Tempo no. U.T.M. 9478. At about 10:00 A.M in front of Shankar cold storage Bewar on G.T. road the said tempo collided with truck no. H.R. 26/6368 resulting in the death of many persons including Sahab Singh. It is alleged that truck no. H.R. 26/6368 was being driven very rashly and negligently by its driver as a result of which accident occurred.

4. The deceased Jagdish Singh was 36 years of age was earning Rs. 2000/- p.m from agricultural and animal husbandary and his legal heirs consist of his father, mother, widow and two minor sons. The tribunal considered the income of the deceased Rs. 1500/-p.m to which the deduction was 1/3rd, 20% was deducted as lum sum compensation was granted and at the end applied multiplier of 12 and granted Rs. 1,19,200/- with 12% interest.

5. It is submitted by Sri B.R. Singh, learned counsel for the appellants that according to the oral statement of the widow of deceased income of the deceased was Rs. 2000/- p.m to which 40% be added as per the judgment of Gobald Motor Services Ltd. and another Vs. R.M.K.Veluswami and other, 1962, SCR(1) 929 which had presidential values even in those days, the deduction of 20% lum sum has been deprecated by the Supreme Court time and again, the deduction of 1/3rd is not assailed, multiplier of 15 and non pecuniary damages be granted as per the judgment of the Apex Court National Insurance Co.

Ltd. Vs. Pranay Sethi and others, 2017 LawSuit (SC) 1093 or as per the rules applied in U.P and the interest of 12% is maintained. It is further submitted by Sri B.R.Singh, learned counsel for the appellants that no amount under the head of future loss of income has been granted.

6. Per contra, As against this, it is submitted by Sri A.K.Shukla, learned counsel for the respondents that in absence of any proof except the certificate there is no error which calls for any interference, however, Sri A.K. Shukla, learned counsel for the respondent could not point out as to non grant of future prospects and that multiplier of 15 be applied.

7. After hearing the counsel for the parties and perusing the judgment and order impugned, this Court feels that his income can be considered to be Rs.1500/- per month. To which as the deceased was 30 years at the time of accident, 40% of the income would have to be added as future loss of income to the deceased, deduction would have to be of 1/3rd as there are two minor children, a mother and a widow, multiplier of 16 as deceased was 36 years of age and Rs. 70,000/- + Rs. 50,000/- each for two minor children. The oral objection of Sri A.K.Shukla, learned counsel is accepted.

8. Further, this Court feels that the quantum/compensation requires to be recalculated. Hence, the total compensation payable to the appellants is computed herein below:

- i. Income : Rs.1500/-
- ii. Percentage towards future prospects : 40% namely Rs.600/-
- iii. Total income : Rs. 1500 + 600 = Rs. 2100/-

- iv. Income after deduction of 1/3rd : Rs. 1400/-
- v. Annual loss : Rs. 3266 x 12 = Rs. 16,800/-
- vi. Multiplier applicable : 16
- vii. Total loss : Rs. 16,800 x 16 = Rs. 2,68,800/-
- xii. Amount under non-pecuniary head : Rs. 70,000/-+50,000/-+50,000/-
- xiii. Total compensation : Rs. 4,38,800/-

9. As far as issue of rate of interest is concerned, 7% from the date of filing of the claim petition till decision of the claim petition and 6% thereafter.

10. No other grounds are urged orally when the matter was heard.

11. In view of the above, the appeal is partly allowed. Judgment and award passed by the Tribunal shall stand modified to the aforesaid extent. The respondent-Insurance Company shall deposit the recalculated amount within a period of 12 weeks from today with interest as directed above.

12. On depositing the amount in the Registry of Tribunal, Registry is directed to first deduct the amount of deficit court fees, if any. Considering the ratio laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of A.V. Padma V/s. Venugopal, Reported in 2012 (1) GLH (SC), 442, the order of investment is not passed because applicants /claimants are neither illiterate or rustic villagers.

13. In view of the ratio laid down by Hon'ble Gujarat High Court, in the case of Smt. Hansaguri P. Ladhani v/s The Oriental Insurance Company Ltd., reported in 2007(2) GLH 291, total amount of interest, accrued on the principal amount of compensation is to be apportioned on financial year to financial year basis and if the interest payable to claimant for any financial year exceeds Rs.50,000/-, insurance company/owner is/are entitled to deduct appropriate amount under the head of 'Tax Deducted at Source' as provided u/s 194A (3) (ix) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 and if the amount of interest does not exceeds Rs.50,000/- in any financial year, registry of this Tribunal is directed to allow the claimant to withdraw the amount without producing the certificate from the concerned Income-Tax Authority. The aforesaid view has been reiterated by this High Court in Review Application No.1 of 2020 in First Appeal From Order No.23 of 2001 (Smt. Sudesna and others Vs. Hari Singh and another) while disbursing the amount.

14. Fresh Award be drawn accordingly in the above petition by the tribunal as per the modification made herein. The Tribunals in the State shall follow the direction of this Court as herein aforementioned as far as disbursement is concerned, it should look into the condition of the litigant and the pendency of the matter and judgment of A.V. Padma (supra). The same is to be applied looking to the facts of each case.

15. The Tribunal shall follow the guidelines issued by the Apex Court in Bajaj Allianz General Insurance Company Private Ltd. v. Union of India and others vide order dated 27.1.2022, as the purpose of keeping compensation is to safeguard the interest of the claimants. As more than 10 years have elapsed, the amount be deposited in the Saving Account of claimants in Nationalized Bank without F.D.R.

16. Record be sent back to the tribunal.

17. This Court is thankful to Sri B.R.Singh, learned counsel for the appellants and Sri A.K.Shukla, learned counsel for respondents for ably assisting this Court.

Mohan Soni Vs Ram Avtar Tomar & ors. (2012)
2 SCC 267

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal
Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. By way of this appeal, the New India Assurance Co. Ltd. has challenged the judgment and award dated 29.8.1998 passed by IXth Additional and Session Judge, Kanpur Dehat in MACP No.317 of 1993 awarding compensation of Rs.2,00,000/- with interest at the rate of 10% to the respondent-claimants.

2. The brief facts as culled out from the record are that the the claimant-Ramesh Chandra was employed as a driver on Truck No. UP-78/9655 and on 19.12.1992 at about 6:00 a.m. when he was going towards Hamirpur, his truck met with an accident with another truck bearing Truck No. U.A.N.-8577. The claimant-Ramesh Chandra sustained serious injuries which resulted in amputation of his leg.

3. The accident is not in dispute and, therefore, the said aspect is not is caused. The policy being in vogue is also not in dispute and their liability is not in dispute.

The only dispute is regarding percentage of disability and the interest. No other grounds are raised except these two grounds.

4. According to counsel for appellant the Tribunal has fallen in error in considering the disability certificate which showed that there was 50% of disability despite that the Tribunal has considered the disability of the injured to be 100% which is bad in eye of law.

5. While going through the record it is very clear that the claimant was a driver by profession. There is an amputation of lower limb which is below the thigh. It is a question of fact that the physical disability caused due to an accident has to be judged with reference to the nature of work being done by the injured for assessing award of compensation which is given in a decade old judgment of Apex Court in Mohan Soni Vs. Ram Avtar Tomar and others (2012) 2 SCC 267. In our case the physical disability which has resulted from the accident requires to be judged with the work being performed by a person. The respondent in this case suffered injury on his right lower limb had to be amputated on account of accident as a result of accident and amputation of his right lower limb, he would not be in a position to perform his routine work of driver.

6. The amount awarded holds that he was earning Rs.1,000/- and that is how Rs.12000/- have been calculated and granted multiplier of 13 which comes to Rs.2,00,000/- have been awarded. This Court has considered the oral submission on behalf of appellant. The amount awarded cannot be said to be on the higher side.

7. In that view of the matter the injured would not be in a position to continue with his vocation of driver, this finding cannot be said to be perverse.

8. The multiplier of 13 has been invoked. The Tribunal has not granted any amount under the head of future loss of income and, therefore, it cannot be said that the Tribunal has fallen in error in not granting what can be said to be just compensation.

9. The award of the year 1998 and the rate of interest was normally at the rate of 9% but as future loss is not granted, looking to the other amount which are also on the lower side, interest at the rate of 10% cannot be said on higher side.

10. In view of the above, this appeal sans merit and is dismissed.

11. Record and proceeding be sent back to the Tribunal forthwith who shall immediately disburse the amount to the claimants after ascertaining his identity.

8. Bajaj Allianz Gen. Ins. Co. Pvt. Ltd. Vs UOI & ors.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri Rakesh Kumar Porwal, learned counsel for the appellant, Sri Anand Kumar Sinha, learned counsel for the respondent-Insurance Company and perused the judgment and order impugned.

2. Both these appeals challenges the judgment and award dated 31.8.1998 passed by Motor Accident Claim Tribunal/VII Additional District Judge, Etawah in M.A.C. No. 353 of 1994 (Sushma Devi and another vs. Om Prakash Gupta and others) & 354 of 1994 (Rameshwari Devi and others vs.Om Prakash Gupta and others).

3. F.A.F.O. No.1287 of 1998 has been filed against the Claim Petition No. 353 of 1998 whereby the Tribunal has awarded compensation of Rs. 1,35,000/- to the respondent-claimants with interest at the rate of 12%. F.A.F.O. No. 1178 of 1998 has been filed against claim petition No. 354 of 1993 which was dismissed in terms of amount awarded under no fault liability.

4. A very fanciful argument in the rejoinder has been raised by Sri R.K. Porwal which is only raised for being rejected outright. The claim petition was under Section 140 & 166 of Motor Vehicles Act. It is submitted by Sri Porwal that the claim petition should be considered under Section 163A of Motor Vehicles Act by this Court and the liability should be fasten on the National Insurance Co. Ltd. namely the insurer of the motorcycle on which the deceased were travelling though the driver of motorcycle is held to have not contributed to accident having taken place.

5. This fanciful argument is made because by learned counsel for the appellant Sri Sinha, learned counsel for Insurance Company supported the judgment of the Tribunal. The Tribunal has held that the driver of bus was negligent and granted recovery right from the owner and driver of the bus as the vehicle seems to be uninsured or rather the owner and driver did not give the details of Insurance policy of bus.

6. This takes this Court to the aspect of compensation as that is the sole aspect which requires to be considered. It was contended by Sri Porwal that the Tribunal dismissed the claim petition being Claim Petition No. 354 of 1993 preferred by widow of one of the deceased. The Tribunal with due respect to Sri Porwal had not dismissed the claim petition rather it has over zealously granted amount of no fault liability to the widow of the deceased who as per the postmortem report was 75 years of age. The submission of Sri Sinha, learned counsel for Insurance Company is that the amount under no fault liability which has already been paid is rightly paid as just compensation. Sri Sinha has submitted that impugned order cannot be found fault with as the deceased was above 70 years, the Tribunal considered his income to be Rs.10,000/- per annum and applied multiplier of 5. It is submitted that for no fault liability, the Insurance Company has already deposited the amount in claim petition filed under Section 140 of Motor Vehicles Act, 1988.

7. However, Rs.20,000/- under the head of non pecuniary damage to widow-Rameshwari Devi would be payable with interest as directed herein below. The claimant being non tortfeasor can collect the amount from any of the tortfeasors.

8. This takes this Court to First Appeal From Order No. 1287 of 1998 preferred against Claim Petition No. 353 of 1993. A young man of 25 years breathed his last when he was a trained Junior Engineer. The Tribunal has considered his income to be Rs. 15,000/- per year and granted multiplier of 18 after considering that Rs. 750/- would be the datum figure. The Tribunal has granted only Rs. 7000/- towards non pecuniary damages and has not granted any amount under future loss of income is the submission of learned counsel for the appellants and are the facts emerged from impugned judgment.

9. The amount requires to be recalculated as even in the year of accident i.e. 1993, the decision of the Apex Court in Gobald Motor Services Ltd. and another v. R.M.K. Velusamy, 1962 SCR (1) 929 was very much there and future prospects were granted. In this case, future prospects had to be granted to a junior engineer who has lost his life leaving behind his widow and children.

10. The deceased being trained Junior Engineer, his income in the year of accident can be considered to be Rs. 1500/- per month to which 40% should be added towards future loss of income. The deduction towards personal expenses of the deceased would be 1/3rd as the deceased was survived by widow and one other legal heir. The deceased being 25 years of age, the multiplier applicable would be 18. As far as amount under the head of non pecuniary damages are concerned, Rs.70,000/- is granted.

11. Hence, the total compensation payable to the appellants is computed herein below:

- i. Income: Rs.1500/-per month namely Rs. 18000/- per year.
- ii. Percentage towards future prospects : 40% namely Rs.7200/-
- iii. Total income : Rs.18000 + 7200 = Rs.25,200/-
- iv. Income after deduction of 1/3rd towards personal expenses : Rs.16,800/-
- v. Multiplier applicable : 18
- vi. Loss of dependency: Rs.16,800 x 18 = Rs.3,02,400/-
- vii. Amount under non pecuniary heads : Rs.70,000/-
- viii. Total compensation : Rs.3,72,400/-

12. As far as issue of interest is concerned, the Tribunal has awarded 12% rate of interest which is reduced to 9% per annum. The additional amount would carry interest at the rate of 9% from the date of filing of the claim petition till the date of award and 6% thereafter till the amount is deposited.

Liability

13. It is a cardinal principle that if it is a question of composite negligence then only both owner and drivers of both the vehicle would be liable. In our case, the finding is very clear that the driver of the bus was solely negligent and there is no negligence on the part of the driver of motorcycle. Once it is held that the driver of the motorcycle is not negligent, the insurer of motorcycle cannot be held liable.

14. As per the ratio laid down in the case of "New India Assurance Co. Ltd. v/s. Bismillah Bai, (2009) 5 SCC 112", liability of Insurance Company insuring vehicle not responsible for or not contributing to accident. In the said case, a Jeep colliding with a truck. Truck involved in accident not insured. Tribunal recording that driver of Jeep not negligent in driving Jeep and not contributing to accident. High Court fastening liability on insurer of Jeep. Unsustainability. Held. only because truck was not insured, appellant could not be made liable to pay compensation where liability being incurred by driver and owner of truck and not by driver and owner of Jeep".

15. As per the ratio laid down in case of "Samundra Devi v/s. Narendra Kaur, (2008) 9 SCC 100", a contract of insurance as is well known is a contract of indemnify. In a case of accident, the primary liability under law for payment of compensation is that of the driver. The owner of the vehicle also becomes vicariously liable therefor. In a case involving a third party to the contract of insurance in terms of Section-147 of Motor Vehicle Act, 1988, providing for a compulsory insurance, the insurer becomes statutorily liable to indemnify the owner. Indisputably, the insurance company would be liable to indemnify the insured in respect of loss suffered by a third party or in respect of damages or property. In a case, therefore, where the liability is fastened upon the insurer would be bound to indemnify the insured unless the exceptions contained in Section-149 of the Act are attached. (Para-15). In certain situation when the Insurance Company would not be liable to reimburse the insured, a direction upon the Insurance Company to pay the amount of compensation to the third party and recover the same from the owner of the vehicle is permissible. Such a direction was not under challenge. (para-16).

16. As per the ratio laid down in case of "Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. v/s. Sudhakaran K.V. (2008) 7 SCC 428", a distinction has to be made between a contract of insurance in regard to a third party and the owner or the driver of the vehicle. In term of Section-147 of the Act a contract of insurance must be taken by the owners of the vehicle only in regard to reimbursement of the claim to a third party. Section-147 is imperative in nature. When, however, an owner of a vehicle intends to cover himself from other risks, it is permissible to enter in to a contract of insurance in which event the insurer would be bound to reimburse the owner of the vehicle strictly in terms thereof. The liability of the insurer to reimburse the owner in respect of a claim made by the third party, thus, is statutory whereas other claims are not. (para-16, 13 & 14). The provisions of the Act and in particular, Section-147 of the Act were enacted for the purpose of enforcing the principles of social justice. It, however, must be kept confined to a third party risk. A contract of insurance which is not statutory in nature should be construed like any other contract.

17. In view of the above, it is clear that no further order can be passed so as to saddle the Insurance Company of the motorcycle with any liability. The liability has to be saddled on the owner and driver of the bus. It was not brought on record before the Tribunal nor before this Court whether bus was insured or not. Be that as it may, the said finding that the Insurance Company of motorcycle would pay cannot be furthered for the remaining amount as there is clear finding that the driver of the bus was solely negligent. The driver and owner of the bus have absented themselves for a period of 25 years since filing of this appeal.

18. However, being already deposited the amount under no fault liability, the insurer of motorcycle may not be directed to deposit any amount. The amount should be recovered from the driver and owner of the bus who have absented themselves and have not appeared before this Court for 23 years.

19. In view of the above, both the appeals are partly allowed. Judgment and decree passed by the Tribunal shall stand modified to the aforesaid extent. The respondent shall deposit the amount within a period of 12 weeks from today with interest as directed above. The amount already deposited be deducted from the amount to be deposited. Record and proceedings be sent back to the Tribunal forthwith.

20. On depositing the amount in the Registry of Tribunal, Registry is directed to first deduct the amount of deficit court fees, if any. Considering the ratio laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of A.V. Padma V/s. Venugopal, Reported in 2012 (1) GLH (SC), 442, the order of investment is not passed because applicants /claimants are neither illiterate or rustic villagers.

21. In view of the ratio laid down by Hon'ble Gujarat High Court, in the case of Smt. Hansaguri P. Ladhani v/s The Oriental Insurance Company Ltd., reported in 2007(2) GLH 291, total amount of interest, accrued on the principal amount of compensation is to be apportioned on financial year to financial year basis and if the interest payable to claimant for any financial year exceeds Rs.50,000/-, insurance company/owner is/are entitled to deduct appropriate amount under the head of 'Tax Deducted at Source' as provided u/s 194A (3) (ix) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 and if the amount of interest does not exceeds Rs.50,000/- in any financial year, registry of this Tribunal is directed to allow the claimant to withdraw the amount without producing the certificate from the concerned Income- Tax Authority. The aforesaid view has been reiterated by this High Court in Review Application No.1 of 2020 in First Appeal From Order No.23 of 2001 (Smt. Sudesna and others Vs. Hari Singh and another) while disbursing the amount.

22. Fresh Award be drawn accordingly in the above petition by the tribunal as per the modification made herein. The Tribunals in the State shall follow the direction of this Court as herein aforementioned as far as disbursement is concerned, it should look into the condition of the litigant and the pendency of the matter and judgment of A.V. Padma (supra). The same is to be applied looking to the facts of each case.

23. The Tribunal shall follow the guidelines issued by the Apex Court in Bajaj Allianz General Insurance Company Private Ltd. v. Union of India and others vide order dated 27.1.2022, as the purpose of keeping compensation is to safeguard the interest of the claimants. As long period has elapsed, the amount be deposited in the Saving Account of claimants in Nationalized Bank without F.D.R.

24. This Court is thankful to both the counsels for getting this matter decided.

A. Civil Law-Motor Vehicle Act, 1988-Section 173-enhancement of compensation- At the time of the accident, the claimant was a young man of 22 years and a student. In consequence of the injuries, the claimant turned from an able-bodied man to a permanently handicapped - During treatment, the claimant's right lower limb had to be amputated above the knee, leading him to develop a permanent handicap, which was assessed by the Chief Medical Officer as 50% permanent disability-the claimant has earned his high school and intermediate certificate in the second division and was reading as a private candidate to earn his bachelor's degree- The Tribunal awarded Rs. 9,52,000/- the injured falls in the bracket of 21-25 years, wherefor, a multiplier of '18' is envisaged- The Tribunal has fallen in error in adopting the multiplier of 17- Adding 40% for the future prospects, it works to be Rs 6784.40 per month i.e. 81,412.80 p.a- Applying the multiplier of 18, it works out to Rs 14,65,430 and Damages for pain, suffering and trauma in consequence of the injuries Rs. 2,00,000/- and Loss of amenities of life and loss of expectation of life or pain in future Rs. 2000/- Thus, the claimant granted total sum of Rs. 16,79,000/- at the rate of 7% per annum.(Para 1 to 32)

This is a claimant's appeal, arising out of the judgment and award passed by the Motor Accidents Claims Tribunal/Additional District Judge, Court No. 1, Allahabad dated 09.04.2009 in Claim Petition No. 638 of 2005, seeking enhancement of the compensation awarded.

2. The facts giving rise to this appeal, as set out in the claim petition, are :

On 1st June, 2005, Ashish Kumar Yadav, the claimant-appellant1 was riding pillion on motorcycle UP 70 AF 6420, that had, in the rider's seat, Rajesh Kumar Yadav. At about 06:30 a.m., when the two reached Village Rangpura, falling under the local limits of Police Station Soraon, District Allahabad (now Prayagraj), a dumper truck bearing Registration No. UP 70 AT 1665, driven at a high speed and negligently, approached from the opposite direction. It hit the motorcycle without sound of horn. The accident led the claimant to sustain grievous injuries. In consequence, the claimant has become permanently handicapped. At the time of the accident, the claimant was a young man of 22 years and a student. In consequence of the injuries, the claimant turned from an able-bodied man to a permanently handicapped and disabled individual. During treatment, the claimant's right lower limb had to be amputated above the knee, leading him to develop a permanent handicap, which was assessed by the Chief Medical Officer as 50% permanent disability. The claimant had earned his bachelor's degree and was preparing to write his competitive examinations and look for a job. The accident has left him permanently crippled to the extent that he is no longer in a position to secure a job or do business to earn his livelihood. His future has turned painful and bleak. The claimant suffers from constant pain at the situs of the grievous injury, that gives him pain and suffering permanently. It is still being treated and in future, would also require treatment and expenditure on medicines, in all likelihood. The claimant has to depend upon a special diet and take nourishing food, such as juices, fruits and tonics. He has to bear additional expenditure to buy the nourishing food required. There is inconvenience, difficulty, pessimism, that have become part of the claimant's life. The injuries sustained in the accident and the after-effects are such that the appellant cannot live life the way he would and he cannot do his daily needs. He has to depend upon others. The likelihood is that this difficulty and dependency would continue for the remainder of his life. The injuries have caused such debilitation that the claimant cannot move about the way he earlier did, or use a vehicle for conveyance himself, as he would earlier do. The claimant, in order to compensate himself for the permanent injuries sustained, claimed a sum of ₹30 lacs under Section 166 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1982 and ₹25,000/- under Section 140 of the said Act towards no-fault liability. The sum of money claimed in compensation has been sought to be awarded with interest at the rate of 18% per annum from the date of institution of the claim petition until realisation.

3. Atmanand Singh is the owner of Dumper Truck No. UP 70 AT 1665. He is opposite party No. 1 to the claim petition and respondent No. 1 to this appeal. He shall hereinafter be referred to as 'the owner'. The New India Assurance Company Limited, Regional Office, 9th Floor, Indira Bhawan, Civil Lines, Prayagraj are the insurers of the offending dumper. They are arrayed as opposite party No. 2 to the claim petition and respondent No. 2 to this appeal. The aforesaid insurance company shall hereinafter be referred to as 'the Insurers'.

4. The owner has put in a written statement, generally denying the allegations in the claim petition, except the fact that he is the owner of the offending vehicle. It is asserted that it was insured with the Insurers. The insurance policy was valid and effective from 24.01.2005 to 23.01.2006. It is also asserted that the driver had a valid driving licence, effective from 18.09.2004 to 17.09.2007. It is averred that the motorcycle rider and its owner have not been arrayed as parties, rendering the claim petition bad for non-joinder of necessary parties. It is further pleaded that the accident took place due to rash and negligent riding by the motorcycle rider, and it had happened an hour before the offending dumper truck reached the site of accident. The offending vehicle was framed in the accident on account of local political pressure.

5. The Insurers have put in a separate written statement, also denying the allegations in the claim petition. It is averred that they had no information about the accident. It is also pleaded that the offending dumper was driven by a driver, who did not hold a valid driving licence. The offending vehicle did not have a registration certificate or a fitness certificate. It was being operated in violation of the terms and conditions of the insurance policy and the Insurers are entitled to claim benefit of Section 64VB of the Insurance Act, 1938. The further case of the Insurers was that the accident had not taken place in the manner alleged but due to the motorcycle rider's fault.

6. On the pleadings of parties, the following issues were framed by the Tribunal :

1. Whether on 1.6.2005 when the claimant was travelling on a motorcycle No. U.P. 70 AF 6420 and when he reached in village Rangpura P.S. Soraon at 6-30 a.m. a truck No. U.P. 70 AT 1665 (Dumper) which was coming from opposite side was being driven in rash and negligent manner hit the motor cycle causing grievous injuries to the claimant ?

2. Whether the said truck was not insured with the O.P. Company ?

3. Whether the truck driver did not possessed valid D.L. on the day of accident ?

4. Whether the truck was being plied against the conditions of insurance policy ?

5. Whether the insurance company is entitled to get benefit of section 64 V.B. of Insurance Act?

6. Whether the said accident was caused due to rash and negligent driving of the motor cycle driver?

7. Whether the petition is defective as owner and driver of the motorcycle have not been arrayed as party as alleged in para 16-17 of W.S. 12 A?

8. Whether the claimant is entitled to any relief? If yes then how much and from whom?

7. The claimant has filed photostat copies of 14 documents, including a check F.I.R., two discharge cards, the physical handicap certificate, his educational certificates, the registration certificate of the offending vehicle and its fitness certificate. The Insurers have filed two documents, to wit, the certificate of the ARTO, Palamu, Jharkhand regarding the driving licence of the offending vehicle's driver and the certificate of insurance issued by them.

8. The Tribunal answered Issue No. 1 in favour of the claimant, holding that the accident was caused partly on account of rash and negligent driving by the driver of the offending vehicle, the dumper truck. Issue No. 2 was decided against the Insurers and in favour of the claimant and the owner. Issue No. 3 was also decided in favour of the claimant and the owner and against the Insurers, holding that there is no evidence to show that the driving licence of the dumper truck's driver is fake or forged. Issue No. 4 was also decided against the Insurers and in favour of the claimant and the owner, holding that the offending vehicle was not being plied against the conditions of the insurance policy. Issue No. 5 was decided against the Insurers and in favour of the claimant and the owners. Issue No. 6 was decided against the owner and the Insurers, holding that the accident was not caused due to rash and negligent driving by the motorcyclist. Issue No. 7 was decided against the owner, at whose instance, it was framed and in favour of the claimant. It was held that given the findings on the other issues, it was not necessary to implead the owner, the rider and the Insurers of the motorcycle as parties to the claim petition. Issue No. 8 relates to the quantum of compensation payable and the party obliged to satisfy the award.

9. It must be remarked that this is an appeal by the claimant, and as already noticed, effectively it is the finding on Issue No. 8 alone that is up for consideration in this appeal. Since liability to satisfy the award has been fastened on the Insurers, the appeal has been effectively heard, with the claimant supporting his case of enhancement, and, the Insurers, opposing it. The owner has not contested before this Court.

10. Heard Mr. Amit Kumar Sinha, learned Counsel for the claimant, Mr. Amit Manohar, learned Counsel appearing on behalf of the Insurers. No one appears for the owners.

11. The Tribunal has considered the fact that the claimant has earned his high school and intermediate certificate in the second division and was reading as a private candidate to earn his bachelor's degree. The Tribunal has, in view of the contemporary prospects of the injured, assessed his monthly income at a sum of ₹5,000/-. On that basis, the annual income has been assessed as a sum of ₹60,000/-. The 50% physical handicap certificate has been considered as a 50% permanent loss of income. The Tribunal has also remarked that in future, the claimant can secure a job or undertake business and may get benefit of employment under the Physically Handicapped quota.

12. For the multiplier to be adopted, the Tribunal has fallen back upon the Second Schedule to the Act and looking to the age of the injured, a multiplier of '17' has been chosen. Thus, multiplying the annual income with the chosen multiplier of 17, the substantive entitlement on account of loss of income has been determined at a figure of ₹5,10,000/-. The expenses towards treatment and medical procedures with reference to vouchers and receipts on record have been found by the Tribunal to be a sum of ₹4,11,648.76 which the Tribunal has rounded off to ₹4,12,000/-. Under the head of special diet, which the claimant had to consume, the Tribunal has awarded a sum of ₹25,000/-. Under the head of mental shock and pain, bearing in mind that the right lower limb of the claimant has been amputated, he has been awarded a sum of ₹5,000/-. It is in this way that a total sum of ₹9,52,000/- has been awarded to the claimant in compensation.

13. Mr. Amit Kumar Sinha, learned Counsel for the claimant has argued that the compensation awarded is far below entitlement. What he does not dispute is the monthly income assessed by the Tribunal and the extent of loss of earning capacity caused by the accident. He submits that going by the age of the claimant, a multiplier of '18' ought to have been adopted. It is also argued that the Tribunal has erred in not granting anything towards total loss of income for six months that the injured was under treatment and bedridden. It is also submitted that the Tribunal has erred in not granting anything towards future prospects as also attendant charges for the six months of treatment. There is no objection to the award under the head of medical expenses, money spent on special diet and nourishing food. Learned Counsel, however, claims that a sum of ₹2,50,000/- ought to have been awarded in compensation towards permanent disability and ₹2 lacs towards pain and suffering. In this connection, reliance has been placed by the learned Counsel on the decision of the Supreme Court in K. Suresh v. New India Assurance Company Limited and another³ and as regards compensation under the head of pain and suffering, upon the decision of the Supreme Court in V. Mekala v. M. Malathi and another⁴. A sum of ₹2 lacs has been further claimed under the head of loss of amenities, and a further sum of ₹3 lacs on ground of bleak prospects of marriage. In support of both the last mentioned heads of claim, learned Counsel for the claimant has relied upon V. Mekala (supra). As regards future medical expenses and the price of an artificial limb, a sum of ₹2 lacs has been claimed. In this regard, learned Counsel for the claimant has placed reliance upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Subulaxmi v. Managing Director, Tamil Nadu State Transport Corporation and another⁵. The claimant says that the award ought to be appropriately enhanced.

14. Mr. Amit Manohar, on the other hand, says that the impugned award is a just and fair award, which need not be disturbed. It is particularly argued that the injured is a student and did not have any income in presenti. The income has been determined by the Tribunal notionally on the basis of education and other circumstances of the injured, which is a liberal figure of ₹5000/- per month.

15. Upon hearing learned Counsel for parties, this Court finds that so far as the monthly income of the injured is concerned, the parties are ad idem. Thus, in order to work out the compensation payable, this Court proceeds on the assumption that the claimant had an income or notional income of ₹5,000/- per month. It is also not much in the realm of doubt that the 50% medical disability, that has been made basis by the Tribunal to infer a 50% functional disability, is correct assessment. The reason is that the disablement is no doubt permanent. It is the loss of a limb for a young man, who has just earned his bachelor's degree. The remarks of the Tribunal that the claimant might get employment under the handicapped quota is a mere possibility, and nothing more. It has to be borne in mind that for a young man, or for that matter, a person of any age, his health and physical fitness are the most fundamental features of his capability to earn. No doubt, in certain kinds of employ, such as clerical job, the loss of a limb may lead to an inference about a lesser percentage of functional disability, compared to a person requiring physical exertions, like a mechanic or a driver. In the case of a driver, the loss of a limb may result in 100% physical disability. But, between these extremes, for a man yet to start off his venture of life, losing one of the lower limbs at the most conservative estimate, would be a 50% physical disability. We are in agreement with the Tribunal's opinion on this point. In this connection, reference may be made to the decision of the Supreme Court in Raj Kumar v. Ajay Kumar and another⁶ where it has been held :

12. Therefore, the Tribunal has to first decide whether there is any permanent disability and, if so, the extent of such permanent disability. This means that the Tribunal should consider and decide with reference to the evidence:

(i) whether the disablement is permanent or temporary;

(ii) if the disablement is permanent, whether it is permanent total disablement or permanent partial disablement;

(iii) if the disablement percentage is expressed with reference to any specific limb, then the effect of such disablement of the limb on the functioning of the entire body, that is, the permanent disability suffered by the person.

If the Tribunal concludes that there is no permanent disability then there is no question of proceeding further and determining the loss of future earning capacity. But if the Tribunal concludes that there is permanent disability then it will proceed to ascertain its extent. After the Tribunal ascertains the actual extent of permanent disability of the claimant based on the medical evidence, it has to determine whether such permanent disability has affected or will affect his earning capacity.

13. Ascertainment of the effect of the permanent disability on the actual earning capacity involves three steps. The Tribunal has to first ascertain what activities the claimant could carry on in spite of the permanent disability and what he could not do as a result of the permanent disability (this is also relevant for awarding compensation under the head of loss of amenities of life). The second step is to ascertain his avocation, profession and nature of work before the accident, as also his age. The third step is to find out whether (i) the claimant is totally disabled from earning any kind of livelihood, or (ii) whether in spite of the permanent disability, the claimant could still effectively carry on the activities and functions, which he was earlier carrying on, or (iii) whether he was prevented or restricted from discharging his previous activities and functions, but could carry on some other or lesser scale of activities and functions so that he continues to earn or can continue to earn his livelihood.

14. For example, if the left hand of a claimant is amputated, the permanent physical or functional disablement may be assessed around 60%. If the claimant was a driver or a carpenter, the actual loss of earning capacity may virtually be hundred per cent, if he is neither able to drive or do carpentry. On the other hand, if the claimant was a clerk in government service, the loss of his left hand may not result in loss of employment and he may still be continued as a clerk as he could perform his clerical functions; and in that event the loss of earning capacity will not be 100% as in the case of a driver or carpenter, nor 60% which is the actual physical disability, but far less. In fact, there may not be any need to award any compensation under the head of "loss of future earnings", if the claimant continues in government service, though he may be awarded compensation under the head of loss of amenities as a consequence of losing his hand. Sometimes the injured claimant may be continued in service, but may not be found suitable for discharging the duties attached to the post or job which he was earlier holding, on account of his disability, and may therefore be shifted to some other suitable but lesser post with lesser emoluments, in which case there should be a limited award under the head of loss of future earning capacity, taking note of the reduced earning capacity.

16. In the circumstances obtaining here, the principle in Raj Kumar (supra) would apply to infer a 50% disability, considering that the deceased was not yet employed but on the brink of it, aged just 22 years. Any further reduction of the numerical value of the functional disability based on some kind of a hypothesis about a possible future employment would be too conjectural. This Court, therefore, affirms the Tribunal's finding about the 50% permanent functional disability and a corresponding permanent loss of income.

17. Now, so far as the multiplier to be adopted is concerned, this Court is of opinion that the Tribunal has erred in falling back upon the Second Schedule of the Act. The law in this regard is well settled and it is, that the multiplier to be adopted is the one indicated in the table in Paragraph No. 40 of the report of the decision in Sarla Verma (Smt.) and others v. Delhi Transport Corporation and another⁷. Going by the aforesaid table, the injured falls in the bracket of 21-25 years, wherefor, a multiplier of '18' is envisaged. Therefore, this Court holds that the Tribunal has fallen in error in adopting the multiplier of 17. It should be 18.

18. So far as the future prospects are concerned, it is too well settled to brook doubt that the claimant must be held entitled to compensation for the loss of future prospects, whether he secured a job or pursued self-employment. In case of a self-employed man, who was a carpenter, the Supreme Court in Jagdish v. Mohan and others⁸ granted future prospects to the tune of 40% of the income, following the decision of the Constitution Bench in National Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Pranay Sethi⁹. In the State of Uttar Pradesh, going by the decision in New India Assurance Co. Ltd. v. Urmila Shukla and others¹⁰ future prospects are to be awarded in accordance with Rule 220A(3) of the U.P. Motor Vehicles Rules, 1998¹¹ and not the principle in Pranay Sethi (supra). In Urmila Shukla (supra) it was held :

9. It is to be noted that the validity of the Rules was not, in any way, questioned in the instant matter and thus the only question that we are called upon to consider is whether in its application, sub-Rule 3(iii) of Rule 220A of the Rules must be given restricted scope or it must be allowed to operate fully.

10. The discussion on the point in Pranay Sethi was from the standpoint of arriving at "just compensation" in terms of Section 168 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988.

11. If an indicia is made available in the form of a statutory instrument which affords a favourable treatment, the decision in Pranay Sethi cannot be taken to have limited the operation of such statutory provision specially when the validity of the Rules was not put under any challenge. The prescription of 15% in cases where the deceased was in the age bracket of 50-60 years as stated in Pranay Sethi cannot be taken as maxima. In the absence of any governing principle available in the statutory regime, it was only in the form of an indication. If a statutory instrument has devised a formula which affords better or greater benefit, such statutory instrument must be allowed to operate unless the statutory instrument is otherwise found to be invalid.

12. We, therefore, reject the submission advanced on behalf of the appellant and affirm the view taken by the Tribunal as well as the High Court and dismiss this appeal without any order as to costs.

19. The accident here took place in the year 2005, and the Rules of 1998 came into effect on 26.09.2011. The question whether these rules would apply retrospectively to an accident that happened before the amendment has been answered by a Division Bench of this Court in Sushil Kumar and others v. M/s. Sampark Lojastic Private Limited and others¹². In Sushil Kumar (supra) it was held :

31. Rule 220-A was inserted in the Uttar Pradesh Motor Vehicles Rules, 1998 in view of the various decisions of the law courts for providing benefit on account of future prospects of the injured/deceased. It provides for addition of certain percentage of the income of the injured/deceased in his actual income depending upon the age of the injured/deceased for the purposes of determination of the compensation. The aforesaid Rule came into effect on 26.09.2011 after the decision of the claim petition but before filing of the appeal though the accident took place on 08.05.2010 much before the enforcement of the above Rule.

32. It is in view of the above that an argument is being raised that Rule 220-A of the Rules which came into effect on 26.09.2011 would not apply to the accident which had taken place on 08.05.2010.

33. In Ram Sarup Vs. Munshi AIR 1963 SC 553 it was laid down that a change in law during the pendency of an appeal has to be taken into account and will cover the rights of the parties.

34. The view expressed above was followed by the Supreme Court in Mula Vs. Godhu AIR 1971 SC 89.

35. In Dayawati Vs. Inderjit AIR 1966 SC 1423 the court had observed as under:-If the new law speaks in language, which expressly or by clear intendment, takes in even pending matters, the court of trial as well as the court of appeal must have regard to an intention so expressed, and the court of appeal may give effect to such a law even after the judgment of the court of first instance.

36. In Amarjit Kaur Vs. Pritam Singh AIR 1974 SC 2068 effect was given to the change in law during the pendency of an appeal as the hearing of an appeal under the procedural law of this country is in the nature of rehearing of the suit by superior court.

37. It was in the light of the above decisions that in Lakshmi Narayan Guin and others Vs. Niranjan Modak AIR 1985 SC 111 it was held that a change in law during the pendency of an appeal has to be taken into account and will cover the right of the parties.

38. The aforesaid decision was followed by a Division Bench of this court in U.P. State Road Transport Corporation Vs. Smt. Madhu Sharma and others, 2003 (4) AWC 2620 which was a case in relation to the provisions of the Motor Vehicles Act and it was observed that it is apparent that the change in law during the pendency of the original proceedings has to be taken into account so as to cover the rights of the parties.

39. In view of above decision the view expressed by the Division Bench of this court in ICICI Lombard (Supra) is not of good law as it does not takes into account the decisions referred to above in holding that the Rule 220-A of the Rules which came into effect on 26.09.2011 would not apply to the accident that took place prior to the said date only for the reason that the Rule was not specifically stated to be retrospective in nature.

20. In view of the law laid down in Sushil Kumar, the award of future prospects is to be made in accordance with Rule 220-A(3) of the Rules of 1998, even if the accident happened prior to the amendment. The said rule provides an addition of 50% of the income towards future prospects. The rule, no doubt, speaks about future prospects of the deceased, but there is no reason why it should be confined to the dependants of a dead man alone, and not a man living, who suffers the loss of a percentage of his income for the whole of his life. Considering that the injured here was aged 22 years, that is to say, below 40 years, an addition of 50% towards future prospects to his lost income has to be made.

21. The next head of compensation is in respect of attendant charges. The claimant was hospitalized from 01.06.2005 to 19.07.2005 and 01.08.2005 to 09.08.2005, that is to say, a total period of 1 month and 27 days. It has been stated by the claimant, while testifying as P.W.1 in his deposition on affidavit in lieu of his examination-in-chief, that he has suffered a permanent handicap and is unable to undertake daily activities. It is difficult for him to move about. He always needs the support of another. It is also stated that he has to make special arrangements in case he has to go out somewhere, which involves expenditure. It has been averred that the claimant cannot walk without another's support. In his cross-examination at the instance of the Insurers, nothing material has been elicited, which may dispel the above assertions. The claimant before this Court has demanded attendant charges for a period of six months after the accident at the rate of ₹5,000/- per month. Given the nature of the injury and looking to the fact that the right lower limb of the injured had to be amputated, this Court is of opinion that attendant charges for six months at the rate of ₹5,000/- per month ought to be awarded. The medical bills, that have been accepted for a figure of ₹4,12,000/- by the Tribunal, have not been disputed by the claimant, as also the sum of ₹25,000/- towards special and extra-nourishing diet. Therefore, the award of the Tribunal on these two counts need not be disturbed.

22. Learned Counsel for the claimant has asserted further claims under the head of permanent disability in the sum of ₹25,000/-, for pain and suffering in the sum of ₹2 lacs, ₹2 lacs for loss of amenities, ₹3 lacs for bleak prospects of marriage and ₹2 lacs for future medical expenses and the cost of artificial limb. So far as the heads under which damages are to be granted in case of permanent disability, including the award of future prospects in an injury case, the question fell for consideration in Pappu Deo Yadav v. Naresh Kumar¹³. After a survey of previous authority, it was held by their Lordships in Pappu Deo Yadav (supra) thus :

11. Yet later and more recently in an accident case, which tragically left in its wake a young girl in a life-long state of paraplegia, this court, in Kajal v. Jagdish Chand, reiterated that in addition to loss of earnings, compensation for future prospects too could be factored in, and observed that:

"14. In Concord of India Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Nirmala Devi [Concord of India Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Nirmala Devi, (1979) 4 SCC 365 : 1979 SCC (Cri) 996 : 1980 ACJ 55 : (AIR 1979 SC 1666)], this Court held : (SCC p. 366, para 2)

"2. ... the determination of the quantum must be liberal, not niggardly since the law values life and limb in a free country in generous scales."

15. In R.D. Hattangadi v. Pest Control (India) (P) Ltd. [R.D. Hattangadi v. Pest Control (India) (P) Ltd., (1995) 1 SCC 551 : 1995 SCC (Cri) 250 : (AIR 1995 SC 755)], dealing with the different heads of compensation in injury cases this Court held thus : (SCC p. 556, para 9)

"9. Broadly speaking while fixing the amount of compensation payable to a victim of an accident, the damages have to be assessed separately as pecuniary damages and special damages. Pecuniary damages are those which the victim has actually incurred and which are capable of being calculated in terms of money; whereas non-pecuniary damages are those which are incapable of being assessed by arithmetical calculations.

In order to appreciate two concepts pecuniary damages may include expenses incurred by the claimant: (i) medical attendance; (ii) loss of earning of profit up to the date of trial; (iii) other material loss. So far as non-pecuniary damages are concerned, they may include : (i) damages for mental and physical shock, pain and suffering, already suffered or likely to be suffered in the future; (ii) damages to compensate for the loss of amenities of life which may include a variety of matters i.e. on account of injury the claimant may not be able to walk, run or sit; (iii) damages for loss of expectation of life i.e. on account of injury the normal longevity of the person concerned is shortened; (iv) inconvenience, hardship, discomfort, disappointment, frustration and mental stress in life."

16. In Raj Kumar v. Ajay Kumar [Raj Kumar v. Ajay Kumar, (2011) 1 SCC 343 : (2011) 1 SCC (Civ) 164 : (2011) 1 SCC (Cri) 1161 : (AIROnline 2010 SC 125)] , this Court laid down the heads under which compensation is to be awarded for personal injuries : (SCC p. 348, para 6)

"6. The heads under which compensation is awarded in personal injury cases are the following:

Pecuniary damages (Special damages)

(i) Expenses relating to treatment, hospitalisation, medicines, transportation, nourishing food, and miscellaneous expenditure.

(ii) Loss of earnings (and other gains) which the injured would have made had he not been injured, comprising:

(a) Loss of earning during the period of treatment;

(b) Loss of future earnings on account of permanent disability.

(iii) Future medical expenses.

Non-pecuniary damages (General damages)

(iv) Damages for pain, suffering and trauma as a consequence of the injuries.

(v) Loss of amenities (and/or loss of prospects of marriage).

In routine personal injury cases, compensation will be awarded only under heads (i), (ii)(a) and (iv). It is only in serious cases of injury, where there is specific medical evidence corroborating the evidence of the claimant, that compensation will be granted under any of the heads (ii)(b), (iii), (v) and (vi) relating to loss of future earnings on account of permanent disability, future medical expenses, loss of amenities (and/or loss of prospects of marriage) and loss of expectation of life."

17. In K. Suresh v. New India Assurance Co. Ltd. [K. Suresh v. New India Assurance Co. Ltd., (2012) 12 SCC 274 : (2013) 2 SCC (Civ) 279 : (2013) 4 SCC (Cri) 638 : (AIROnline 2012 SC 633)] , this Court held as follows : (SCC p. 276, para 2)

"2. ... There cannot be actual compensation for anguish of the heart or for mental tribulations. The quintessentiality lies in the pragmatic computation of the loss sustained which has to be in the realm of realistic approximation. Therefore, Section 168 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 (for brevity "the Act") stipulates that there should be grant of "just compensation". Thus, it becomes a challenge for a court of law to determine "just compensation" which is neither a bonanza nor a windfall, and simultaneously, should not be a pittance."

Loss of earnings

20. Both the courts below have held that since the girl was a young child of 12 years only notional income of Rs 15,000 p.a. can be taken into consideration. We do not think this is a proper way of assessing the future loss of income. This young girl after studying could have worked and would have earned much more than Rs 15,000 p.a. Each case has to be decided on its own evidence but taking notional income to be Rs 15,000 p.a. is not at all justified. The appellant has placed before us material to show that the minimum wages payable to a skilled workman is Rs 4846 per month. In our opinion, this would be the minimum amount which she would have earned on becoming a major. Adding 40% for the future prospects, it works to be Rs 6784.40 per month i.e. 81,412.80 p.a. Applying the multiplier of 18, it works out to Rs 14,65,430.40, which is rounded off to Rs 14,66,000.

(emphasis by Court)

23. Now, reckoning the heads as laid down in Raj Kumar and endorsed in Pappu Deo Yadav, this Court has dealt with all the heads of entitlement for the claimant under pecuniary damages (special damages) except future medical expenses. The claimant before this Court has demanded a sum of ₹2 lacs towards future medical expenses and price of artificial limb. There is nothing said in the evidence of the injured about the use of an artificial limb, but this Court cannot ignore from consideration the fact that the permanent disability certificate and the parole evidence show that the right lower limb of the claimant has been amputated in consequence of the accident. Even if he has not yet resorted to an artificial limb, he is certainly in need of it and would use one anytime in future to improve the quality of life. The expenses for securing such a limb are not a remote cause, but a direct impact of the accident that he has suffered. There is testimony to the effect that whenever there is pain, the appellant has to be treated for it. The condition of the claimant shows that he would incur medical expenses to take care of the condition emergent on account of accident in future also. Regarding the cost of replacement of an artificial limb, which would also take in its fold the acquisition of one for the first time, I have held in Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd., Ghaziabad v. Lokesh alias Lovesh and another¹⁴ :

25. It has not been doubted or disputed before this Court that the claimant would indeed require replacement of his artificial limb every two years. The cost of the replacement at the time when the Tribunal heard the matter was Rs. 11,000/-. That was a long time ago and the rising price index has to be born in mind while estimating the future expense on the replacement of this facility. In the Court's opinion, the compensation towards expenses for future and current replacement of the artificial limb has to be enhanced from Rs. 35,000/- to Rs. 2 lacs. The sum of Rs. 50,000/- awarded for the mental and physical pain sustained on account of the accident and the loss of his job by the claimant, estimated by the Tribunal, is also unexceptionable....

24. Taking into account the potent likelihood of the injured requiring an artificial limb at any time and future medical expenses, which appear to be recurrent, it would be appropriate to award

a sum of ₹2 lacs towards future medical expenses and cost of the artificial limb, including future replacements, if necessary. The Court cannot, in such matters, take a very pedantic view based on pleadings and evidence, as the learned Counsel for the Insurers wants.

25. Thus, this Court would have to take a realistic view about the imminent possibility of the injured requiring an artificial limb at any time in future and the future medical expenses involved, given that he has lost his right lower limb to the accident, amputated above the knee.

26. This would bring in consideration of the non-pecuniary damages/general damages. The appellant has demanded a sum of ₹2 lacs for pain, suffering and trauma as a consequence of the accident. Learned Counsel for the claimant has placed reliance upon the decision in V. Mekala to say that the compensation under this head should be enhanced to ₹2 lacs. He has invited the attention of the Court to Paragraph No. 21 of the report, where it has been held :

21. The compensation under the head pain and suffering and mental agony was awarded by the High Court after recording concurrent findings with the award passed by the Tribunal. However, the courts below have not recorded the nature of the permanent disablement sustained by the appellant, while awarding Rs 1,00,000 under this head which is too meagre an amount and is contrary to the judgment of R.D. Hattangadi [R.D. Hattangadi v. Pest Control (India) (P) Ltd., (1995) 1 SCC 551 : 1995 SCC (Cri) 250] and Govind Yadav [Govind Yadav v. New India Insurance Co. Ltd., (2011) 10 SCC 683 : (2012) 3 SCC (Civ) 1082 : (2012) 1 SCC (Cri) 82 : (2012)

1 SCC (L&S) 422] cases. The relevant paragraphs of Govind Yadav case [Govind Yadav v. New India Insurance Co. Ltd., (2011) 10 SCC 683 : (2012) 3 SCC (Civ) 1082 : (2012) 1 SCC (Cri) 82 : (2012) 1 SCC (L&S) 422] read as under: (SCC p. 695, paras 25-26)

“25. The compensation awarded by the Tribunal for pain, suffering and trauma caused due to the amputation of leg was meagre. It is not in dispute that the appellant had remained in the hospital for a period of over three months. It is not possible for the tribunals and the courts to make a precise assessment of the pain and trauma suffered by a person whose limb is amputated as a result of accident. Even if the victim of accident gets artificial limb, he will suffer from different kinds of handicaps and social stigma throughout his life. Therefore, in all such cases, the tribunals and the courts should make a broad guess for the purpose of fixing the amount of compensation.

26. Admittedly, at the time of accident, the appellant was a young man of 24 years. For the remaining life, he will suffer the trauma of not being able to do his normal work. Therefore, we feel that ends of justice will be met by awarding him a sum of Rs 1,50,000 in lieu of pain, suffering and trauma caused due to the amputation of leg.”

Therefore, under this head the amount awarded should be enhanced to Rs 2,00,000 as the doctor PW 2 has opined that at the time of walking with support of crutches, the appellant claimant will be suffering pain permanently. Therefore, under this head it has to be enhanced from Rs 1,00,000 to Rs 2,00,000.

27. Going by the principle in V. Mekala, there is absolutely no hindrance in awarding a sum of ₹2 lacs under the head of pain, suffering and trauma occurring in consequence of the accident. So far as loss of amenities and loss of expectation of life (shortening of life) which includes bleak prospects of marriage are concerned, I had considered the issue in Lokesh (supra) where it was held, following the decision of the Supreme Court in Raj Kumar, as follows :

25. However, the compensation awarded for the loss of future amenities and mental pain yet to come, would not be admissible in view of the fact that the claimant now seeks some addition to the substantive loss of income under the head of future prospects.

26. In Raj Kumar (supra), it has been held :

"15. It may be noted that when compensation is awarded by treating the loss of future earning capacity as 100% (or even anything more than 50%), the need to award compensation separately under the head of loss of amenities or loss of expectation of life may disappear and as a result, only a token or nominal amount may have to be awarded under the head of loss of amenities or loss of expectation of life, as otherwise there may be a duplication in the award of compensation. Be that as it may."

27. This Court is, therefore, of opinion that for the loss of amenities or loss of expectation of life or pain in the future, a token sum of Rs. 2,000/- ought to be awarded instead of Rs. 50,000/-.

28. Therefore, in the opinion of this Court, so far as loss of amenities or loss of expectation of life or pain in future are concerned, a token sum of ₹2,000 ought to be awarded in this case.

29. Therefore, the award passed by the Tribunal is required to be revised and determined as follows :

(A) PECUNIARY DAMAGES (SPECIAL DAMAGES) :

(1) Expenses relating to treatment, hospitalization and medicines = ₹4,12,000/-

(2) Expenses incurred on special diet and nourishing food = ₹25,000/-

(3) Attendant charges = ₹30,000/-

(4) Compensation towards expenses for future and current replacement of artificial limb = ₹2,00,000/-

(5) Loss of earning suffered by the injured on account of the accident :

(i) Loss of monthly income (to the claimant) = ₹2500/-

(ii) Lost monthly income + future prospects (lost monthly income x 50%) = ₹2500 + 1250 = ₹3750/-

(iii) Lost annual income to the claimant = ₹3750 x 12 = ₹45,000/-

(iv) Total income lost = ₹45,000 x 18 = ₹8,10,000/-

(B) NON-PECUNIARY DAMAGES (GENERAL DAMAGES) :

(1) Damages for pain, suffering and trauma in consequence of the injuries = ₹2,00,000/-

(2) Loss of amenities of life and loss of expectation of life or pain in future = ₹2000/-

TOTAL COMPENSATION PAYABLE = ₹4,12,000 + 25,000 + 30,000 + 2,00,000 + 8,10,000 + 2,00,000 + 2,000 = ₹16,79,000/-

(Rupees Sixteen Lacs Seventy Nine Thousand only)

30. The impugned award is modified and it is ordered that the Insurers shall pay in compensation to the claimant a sum of ₹16,79,000/-. The aforesaid sum of money shall carry simple interest at the rate of 7% per annum from the date of institution of claim petition, until realization.

31. The sum of money already deposited with the Tribunal pursuant to the impugned award, or the interim order passed by this Court, shall be adjusted against the award. The other direction of the Tribunal shall remain intact.

32. In the result, this appeal stands allowed in part.

33. Costs easy.

Even if the office bearers of a registered society are not formally approved on the date of suit, yet where there is no rival claim and they are in effective and actual control of the institution, they can validly maintain a suit for eviction. The doctrine of de facto applies and lends legitimacy to the actions of such office bearers. Where the building is part of a recognized educational institution, exemption under Section 2(1)(b) of the U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 applies. The eviction suit filed by the Society was validly maintainable in law.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Kshitij Shailendra, J.)

1. This bunch of petitions under Article 227 of the Constitution of India involve common questions of fact and law and, therefore, all these petitions are being decided by a common judgment. For the purpose of judgment, Matter under Article 227 of the Constitution of India No.6926 of 2023 (Mahendra Singh v. Committee of Management Rastriya Sabha Khair & 2 others) is being treated as a leading case.

2. As per pleadings contained in the petition and the material annexed thereto, the petitioner was a tenant in the shop bearing No.36 forming part of a building belonging to Khair Kanya Mahavidyalaya Khair, District Aligarh. A suit bearing S.C.C. Suit No.38 of 2014 (Committee of Management Rastriya Sabha Khair & others v. Mahendra Singh) claiming a decree for eviction was filed by the Committee of Management, Rastriya Sabha Khair, Aligarh with the description that it is a Society registered under the provisions of the Societies Registration Act, 1860 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act, 1860') through its Manager/Secretary Dr. Vishal Sharma; by Vishal Sharma himself as a person in the capacity of Manager/Secretary of Rastriya Sabha Khair and also by Committee of Management, Khair Kanya Mahavidyalaya, Khair, Aligarh respectively as plaintiff Nos.1, 2 and 3.

3. The aforesaid suit was filed with the averments that the property in dispute belongs to an educational institution which is recognised under the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh State Universities Act, 1973 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act, 1973') and the said Institution is run by a Society registered under the Act, 1860. It was alleged that the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent & Eviction) Act, 1972 (hereinafter referred to as 'the U.P. Act No.13 of 1972') were not applicable to the shop in dispute and since the Institution felt a great need of space to construct its building, the shop in dispute alongwith various shops (forming subject matter of litigation in the connected petitions) was required. It was further alleged that tenancy of the petitioner was determined by serving a registered notice dated 13.06.2014 but since the shop was not vacated, suit for ejectment claiming decree of eviction was filed.

4. The petitioner filed written statement and admitted the landlord-tenant relationship in between the petitioner and the Society but denied the said relationship in relation to Khair Kanya Mahavidyalaya, Khair, Aligarh. The written statement was amended during the course of proceedings and it was alleged that the plaintiff-Committee/Society was not registered under the Act, 1860; the office bearership of the persons described in the plaint was not approved by the University; no rent was due on the date of issuance of notice; the notice was invalid and that the suit having been filed by unauthorized persons was liable to be dismissed.

5. The parties led evidence in support of their respective cases and I find from the record that apart from other documents, the plaintiffs filed Scheme of Administration of the Institution, list of office bearers approved by the University pertaining to year 2014-2015; certain letters issued by the authorities in this regard; the Bye-laws and also Certificate of renewal of registration of the Society. In oral evidence, Vishal Sharma appeared as PW-1 in the capacity of Manager/Secretary of the Committee of Management of the Society and was cross-examined on behalf of the defendant-petitioner.

6. After analysing the case of the parties, the Judge Small Causes Court, by impugned judgment and decree dated 06.09.2022, decreed the suit and directed the defendant-petitioner to vacate the shop in dispute within a period of two months. The defendant-petitioner assailed the aforesaid decree by filing a revision under Section 25 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act, 1887'), however, the challenge has been turned down by the District Judge, Aligarh by dismissing the revision by order impugned dated 01.04.2023.

7. I have heard Ms. Utkarshni Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner and perused the record. Shri Ankit Kumar Rai represents the respondents through caveat.

8. Learned counsel for the petitioner has mainly argued that Vishal Sharma, alleging himself to be Manager of the plaintiff No.1 was not a duly elected Manager and as the Society was not duly recognized by Deputy Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, Aligarh, the suit instituted on behalf of the Society through the said Manager was not maintainable. It has further been argued that though the landlord-tenant relationship was not denied by the defendant-petitioner, the courts below, while considering the admission to this effect, have erred in holding the suit as maintainable. It has further been argued that the petitioner had moved an application 29-C before the trial court under Order XI Rules 12 and 14 read with Section 151 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Code, 1908') seeking a direction for the plaintiffs to file documents of registration and Constitution of Society and also recognition letter of the plaintiff No.3 under the provisions of U.P. State Universities Act, 1973 and though the said application was allowed by the Judge Small Causes Court by order dated 03.10.2015, the documents were not filed by the plaintiff-respondents and, hence, adverse inference should have been drawn by the courts but has not been drawn. It has further been argued that the courts below have failed to take into consideration the amended paragraphs of the written statement, by which, the locus and right to sue of the plaintiffs was specifically objected to by the defendant-petitioner.

9. I have considered the submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the petitioner and I would like to deal with the same in the light of statutory provisions which are applicable in the proceedings instituted by a Society registered under the Act, 1860 and other laws.

10. There is no dispute about the fact that since the shop in dispute forms part and parcel of the building vested in a recognized educational institution, the provisions of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 would not be applicable by virtue of Section 2(1)(b) of the said Act. There is also no dispute about the landlord-tenant relationship in between the parties to the litigation, atleast in between the plaintiff Nos.1 and 2 and the defendant-petitioner. There is also no dispute that the notice determining the tenancy of the defendant-petitioner was duly served upon him. The dispute in the present case is as to whether, in the light of the material placed before the courts below, it could be said that the plaintiffs had no right to sue or that the suit instituted by them was not maintainable.

11. I find that there was sufficient material on record in the form of Scheme of Administration of the Institution, list of office bearers approved by the University pertaining to the year 2014-2015; certain letters issued by the authorities in this regard; the Bye-laws and also Certificate of renewal of registration of the Society, Paper No.27-Ga/14 (list of office bearership of 2014-15) and paper No.27-Ga/15 (certificate issued by the Registrar of Societies, U.P. renewing the registration of the Society for a period of five years w.e.f. 28.01.2015) to establish that the Society was duly registered under the provisions of Act, 1860. Even if, by any stretch of imagination, it is assumed that the Society was not registered on the date of institution of the suit (though I do not find any such material to this effect), the question would arise as to whether office bearers of the Society, having actual and effective control over the affairs of the Society, are competent to institute and press a suit for ejectment of a tenant from immovable property forming part of the building vested in a recognized educational institution run by the Society.

12. Sections 5 and 6 of the Act, 1860 are required to be referred in this regard and are quoted hereinbelow:-

“5. Property of society how vested.—The property, movable and immovable, belonging to a Society registered under this Act, if not vested in trustees, shall be deemed to be vested, for the time being, in the governing body of such Society, and in all proceedings, civil and criminal, may be described as the property of the governing body of such society for their proper title.

6. Suits by and against societies.—Every society registered under this Act may sue or be sued in the name of the President, Chairman, or Principal Secretary, or trustees, as shall be determined by the rules and regulations of the society, and, in default of such determination, in the name of such persons as shall be appointed by the governing body for the occasion :

Provided that it shall be competent for any person having a claim or demand against the Society, to sue the president or chairman, or principal secretary or the trustees thereof, if on application to the governing body some other officer or person be not nominated to be the defendant.”

13. From the aforesaid, it is clear that any immovable property belonging to a Society shall be deemed to be vested for the time being in the Governing Body of such Society and in all proceedings, the property, movable and immovable, belonging to a Society registered under this Act, if not vested in trustees, shall be deemed to be vested, for the time being, in the governing body of such Society, and in all proceedings, civil and criminal, may be described as the property of the governing body of such society for their proper title. It is also clear that such a Society may sue or be sued in the name of the President, Chairman or Principal Secretary or Trustees and, in case, anybody has claim or demand against the Society, he may sue the office bearers of the Society by launching appropriate proceedings.

14. Insofar as the requirement of a suit instituted by such plaintiff is concerned, Order VII Rule 1(b) and Rule 4 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908 need to be referred and are quoted hereinbelow:-

“Order VII Rule 1(b)- the name, description and place of residence of the plaintiff;

Rule 4- When plaintiff sues as representative.- Where the plaintiff sues in a representative character the plaint show not only that he has an actual existing interest in the subject-matter, but that he has taken the steps (if any) necessary to enable him to institute a suit concerning it.”

15. From a perusal of the aforesaid provisions read with the array of the parties, I find that the description of plaintiffs was in consonance with Order VII Rule 1 (b) of the Code, 1908 and the office bearers of the Societies had, by leading cogent documentary and oral evidence, established that they were having actual existing interest in the subject matter (i.e. the shop in dispute) and, hence, since the office bearers were representing the Society, the requirement of Order VII Rule 4 of the Code, 1908 also stood fulfilled.

16. Admittedly, the suit was filed under Sections 15 and 16 of the Act, 1887 and Section 15, as amended in the State of U.P., as per the Second Schedule contained in the Act clearly provides institution of a suit by lessor for eviction of lessee from the building after determination of his lease. Since the provisions of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 are not applicable, as already observed, the definition of “lessor” and “lessee” shall have to be read in the light of Section 105 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 which reads as follows:-

“105. Lease defined.*—A lease of immoveable property is a transfer of a right to enjoy such property, made for a certain time, express or implied, or in perpetuity, in consideration of a price paid or promised, or of money, a share of crops, service or any other thing of value, to be rendered periodically or on specified occasions to the transferor by the transferee, who accepts the transfer on such terms.

Lessor, lessee, premium and rent defined.*—The transferor is called the lessor, the transferee is called the lessee, the price is called the premium, and the money, share, service or other thing to be so rendered is called the rent.”

17. In view of the above discussion, I find that there is no flaw in institution of suit by a Society represented by its office bearers. The emphasis of learned counsel for the petitioner that the Society was not duly registered under the provisions of Act, 1860 is contrary to the record of proceedings.

18. Now coming to the order dated 03.10.2015 passed by the Judge Small Causes Court on application 29-C, I find that even the Judge Small Causes Court did not mention in his order dated 03.10.2015 as to what documents were not filed by the plaintiffs and what were required to be filed. A perusal of the said order shows that specific objections were filed by the plaintiffs that the documents sought to be brought on record as per the defendant-petitioner, were already filed by the plaintiffs and there was no other document with the plaintiffs. The Judge Small Causes Court observed that whatever documents are available with the plaintiffs may be filed by them and whatever documents are not available, the plaintiffs are not bound to file the same. I have already observed in the judgment that sufficient documents were there to establish that Society was renewed under the provisions of law and list of office bearers was also duly approved.

19. In this regard, analysis of oral evidence is also of quite significance. PW-1 Vishal Sharma, who appeared in the capacity of Manager/Secretary of the plaintiff No.1, had clearly stated in his cross-examination that list of office bearers and other documents pertaining to the Society had been filed by the plaintiffs and that it was wrong to allege that he was not office bearer or Secretary of the Society. The petitioner who had appeared as DW-1, in his cross-examination, stated as follows:-

20. The Judge Small Causes Courts, in the final judgment, has also referred to the cross-examination of petitioner DW-1 and has also held that the plaintiff-petitioner No.1, being a juristic person, and there being sufficient material placed by the plaintiffs, the suit was clearly maintainable. It was also held that the educational institution is being run by the plaintiff No.1-Society and also that nobody has raised any objection with regard to office bearership or any other aspect of the Society. The Judge Small Causes Court also held that the dispute was neither a dispute of title nor a dispute relating to the office bearership of the Society and, therefore, the defendant had no right to raise any objection in this regard.

21. Even if, for the sake of argument, it is assumed to the extreme extent that on the date of institution of suit, there was some defect in the Society or its office bearership (though I do not find any such defect after perusing the entire record), the question of effective and actual control over and de facto management qua the affairs of the Society and educational institution needs to be elaborated.

22. Coming to the de facto doctrine, the literal meaning of this would be 'in fact'. The doctrine of de facto is based on sound principle of public policy and is aimed at removing any kind of insecurity and confusion amongst the people whose rights would get prejudiced in the event the orders passed or actions taken by a person, who in fact occupied the office, is held to be void on account of his occupation of office subsequently being held to be illegal. It is rightly said that doctrine is borne of necessity and to arrest mischief if there exists office in law and an authority occupies it by virtue of its appointment or election or nomination. Such a person or body is clothed with insignia of the office and exercises powers and functions as such and the authority to exercise such power is upheld by virtue of de facto doctrine.

23. In the case of Committee of Management Dayanand Arya Kanya Degree College, Moradabad and others v. Director of Higher Education, Allahabad and others reported in (1998) 4 SCC 104, the Supreme Court upheld the acceptance of voluntary resignation of a teacher by the Committee of Management which was de facto in office. Vide paragraph 3 of the judgment, the Court held that the Committee of Management that was continuing in office by virtue of interim order of the High Court, it would be taken to be a de facto and de jure as well.

24. Following the above judgment, a Division Bench of this Court in the case of Mehandi Hasan and others v. State of U.P. and others reported in 2014 (3) ADJ 437 (DB), had an occasion to deal with the situation where Committee of Management continued to enjoy office by virtue of stay order passed by this Court even though subsequently the election was held to be invalid. In that case, the Committee of Management which was continued by virtue of an interim order, issued an advertisement. The petitioners, who had applied against the advertisement and their selection was held but the same was questioned on the ground that their appointment was void ab initio as at that time the Committee was only on the strength of interim order. The similar view was taken by a Division Bench of this Court in the case of Committee of Management Gangadin Ram Kumar Inter College, Ramgarh Barwan, District Jaunpur v. Deputy Director of Education, Vth Region, Varanasi and others, 2006(4) ADJ 381 (DB). The question of effective control over the managerial affairs of an educational institution has also been emphasized by the Five Judges Full Bench of this Court in the case of Committee of Management, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru Inter College, Bansgaon and Anr. v. Deputy Director of Education, Gorakhpur & Ors. reported in AIR 2005 Allahabad 101 (FB).

25. In view of the aforesaid position of law, I find that there being no rival Committee or Society raising objection with regard to the office bearership of the plaintiffs, there being no suit or proceedings under the proviso attached to Section 6 of the Act, 1860, there being sufficient material to establish that plaintiffs were under effective and actual control over the affairs of the Society, and their control being saved by doctrine of both de facto and de jure management, I find that suit for eviction of the tenant-petitioner from the immovable property was very much maintainable in the light of the provisions of Sections 5 and 6 of the Societies Registration Act 1860, Order VII Rules 1(b) and 4 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908, Section 105 of the Transfer of Property Act read with Second Schedule of U.P. (Amendment) contained in Section 15 of the Provincial Small Causes Court Act, 1887.

26. No other point was argued.

27. The findings recorded by the Judge Small Causes Court as affirmed by the revisional court are pure findings of fact which do not require any interference in exercise of powers under Article 227 of the Constitution of India, and the present petition alongwith nine other petitions (as noted hereinabove) fail and are, accordingly, dismissed.

28. The petitioners are granted time to vacate the shop(s) in dispute on or before 30.04.2024 provided they continue to deposit admitted rent before the Judge Small Causes Court, month-to-month, which shall be released in favour of the plaintiff-respondents without furnishing any security. It is also provided that, in case, the petitioners fail to vacate the shops in dispute as directed hereinabove, the Executing Court shall execute the decree of eviction forthwith by using force on or before 31.05.2024 i.e. within a month of the last date fixed by this Court saving possession of the petitioners.

Sri Amaresh Sinha, Sri Anubhav Sinha

Counsel for the Respondent:

Sri Vijay Prakash Jaiswal

The claim for compassionate appointment must be considered in accordance with the scheme prevailing on the date of death of the employee, not based on any subsequent or retrospective change in policy. In the present case, the deceased employee died on 06.09.2014, before the reintroduction of the compassionate appointment scheme, which came into effect prospectively from 01.11.2014, as per Clause 8 of the Scheme notified on 07.08.2014. The learned single judge's direction to consider the respondent's application ignoring the cut-off date was set aside, as no challenge was made to the validity of the cut-off date (Clause 8) in the writ petition. Compassionate appointment is not a fundamental right but an exception to Article 14 and 16; it must be interpreted strictly per the scheme. Doctrine of equality in public employment overrides any claim of retrospective entitlement in absence of legal provision or constitutional challenge. Appeal Allowed. Order of the single judge set aside.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saumitra Dayal
Singh, J.
Hon'ble Vinod Diwakar, J.)

1. Heard Sri Anubhav Sinha, Advocate, holding brief of Sri Amaresh Sinha, learned counsel for the respondent-appellant and Sri Vijay Prakash Jaiswal, learned counsel for the petitioner-respondent.

2. The present intra-court appeal has been filed against the order of the learned single-judge dated 22.2.2019 passed in Priyanka Agarwal Vs. Union of India and 2 Ors. (Writ-A No. 51712 of 2017). By that order, the learned single-judge has allowed the writ petition and directed the appellant-respondent to consider the claim of the respondent-petitioner for grant of compassionate appointment, ignoring the cut-off date i.e. 1.11.2014 arising under the Scheme for Compassionate Appointment in Public Sector and General Insurance Companies, introduced vide communication dated 7th August, 2014, issued by the Director, Department of Financial Services, Ministry of Finance, Government of India.

3. The petitioner's husband Sri Surendra Kumar Agarwal died-in-harness on 6.9.2014, while working on the post of Assistant, with the Oriental Insurance Company Ltd., Moradabad. Undisputedly, on the date of occurrence of his death, there did not exist a scheme for grant of compassionate appointment, to his family members. In fact, there existed and was enforced a scheme for grant of Ex-gratia payment, to the family of the deceased-employees of the Oriental Insurance Company Ltd.

4. Later, on 7.8.2014, vide communication issued by the Director, Department of Financial Services, Ministry of Finance, Government of India, the Scheme for Grant of Compassionate Appointment, was published. For ready reference, Clause 8 of the Scheme for Grant of Compassionate Appointment, reads as below:

"8. The scheme comes into force prospectively from 01st November 2014. Application for employment under the Scheme from eligible dependent should normally be considered up to five years from the date of death or retirement on medical grounds taking place on or after 01st November, 2014 and decision to be taken on merit in each case."

5. On 12.12.2014, the present petitioner-respondent filed her application for grant of compassionate appointment. It was rejected by communication dated

5.3.2015 for the reason that the death had occurred prior to the cut-off date. Here, it may also be noted, much earlier there existed a scheme for grant of compassionate appointment. However, it was discontinued with effect from 1.6.2002 and replaced with the scheme providing for Ex-gratia payment.

6. In the writ petition, the only prayer made reads as below:

"(a) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent nos. 1 and 2 to appoint the petitioner on compassionate ground as soon as possible and in this regard efforts may be done by the respondents.

(b) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent no.2 to decide the representations of the petitioner pending before him.

(c) Issue any other writ, order or direction which this Hon'ble Court may deem fit and proper in the circumstance of the case."

7. While allowing the writ petition, the learned Single Judge has observed as below:

"I have considered the submissions of the parties.

An employee or the dependent cannot decide his/her date of death. It is not in the hands of dependent of an employee or the employee himself/herself when he/she would die. Even before 1.11.2014 there was old scheme of 2002 and there is no dispute that under the old scheme, the petitioner was entitled for being given compassionate appointment. The petitioner's claim for appointment on compassionate ground is being denied on the ground of new scheme in which an artificial date of death of an employee i.e. 1.11.2014 is fixed, which has no basis. Even otherwise, the petitioner was entitled for consideration of appointment on compassionate ground under the old scheme when the death of the husband of the petitioner was occurred on 6.9.2014

Considering the fact that the date of death of an employee has been fixed in an artificial manner, the same cannot be made basis for denying the legitimate claim of the petitioner for appointment on compassionate ground.

Accordingly, the present writ petition is allowed and the respondents are directed to consider the claim of the petitioner for compassionate appointment ignoring the cut off date i.e. 1.11.2014 and take a decision in accordance with law and appoint the petitioner on compassionate ground, if she is otherwise found eligible and qualified, within a period of one month from today.”

8. Having heard counsel for the parties and having perused the record, we find, on the date of occurrence of the death of Sri Surendra Kumar Agarwal, there did not exist any scheme for grant of compassionate appointment. On that date, there existed a scheme to provide Ex-gratia payment to the family of the deceased-employee. The scheme for compassionate appointment that was earlier discontinued with effect from 1.6.2002, was first re-introduced by communication dated 7th August, 2014 written by the Director, Department of Financial Services, Ministry of Finance, Government of India. As noted above, that scheme was made effective prospectively from 1.11.2014 with further clarification, it would apply only to cases where the death may occur on or after 1.11.2014.

9. In absence of any challenge raised to Clause 8 of that Scheme, it remains well settled in law that grant of compassionate appointment is not a fundamental right. In fact, that concession exists by way of an exception to the fundamental right to equality in employment. Being an exception, it has to be construed strictly in terms of the scheme under which that exception has been created. Here, it may be noted, from the earliest time, under our Constitutional scheme, claims for appointment on public posts on descent only, were looked down upon being in violation of the fundamental right to equality in public employment as was observed in a five judge Bench decision of the Supreme Court in Gazula Dasaratha Rama Rao Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh & Ors., AIR 1961 SC 5377, at the same time grant of compassionate appointment to a family member of an employee who may have suffered death-in-harness, thereby suddenly visiting the circumstances of destitution on his hapless family, was recognized as a permissible exception to the general rule of equality arising under Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India. Thus, in Umesh Kumar Nagpal Vs. State of Haryana, (1994) 4 SCC 138, it was held:

“2. The question relates to the considerations which should guide while giving appointment in public services on compassionate ground. It appears that there has been a good deal of obfuscation on the issue. As a rule, appointments in the public services should be made strictly on the basis of open invitation of applications and met-it. No other mode of appointment nor any other consideration is Neither the Governments nor the public authorities are at liberty to follow any other procedure or relax the qualifications laid down by the rules for the post. However, to this general rule which is to be followed strictly in every case, there are some exceptions carved out in the interests of justice and to meet certain contingencies. One such exception is in favour of the dependants of an employee dying in harness and leaving his family in penury and without any means of livelihood. In such cases, out of pure humanitarian consideration taking into consideration the fact that unless some source of livelihood is provided, the family would not be able to make both ends meet, a provision is made in the rules to provide gainful employment to one of the dependants of the deceased who may be eligible for such employment. The whole object of granting compassionate employment is thus to enable the family to tide over the sudden crisis. The object is not to give a member of such family a post much less a post for post held by the deceased. What is further, mere death of an employee in harness does not entitle his family to such source of livelihood. The Government or the public authority concerned has to examine the financial condition of the family of the deceased, and it is only if it is satisfied, that but for the provision of employment, the family will not be able to meet the crisis that a job is to be offered to the eligible member of the family. The posts in Classes III and IV are the lowest posts in non-manual and manual categories and hence they alone can be offered on compassionate grounds, the object being to relieve the family, of the financial destitution and to help it get over the emergency. The provision of employment in such lowest posts by making an exception to the rule is justifiable and valid since it is not discriminatory. The favourable treatment given to such dependent of the deceased employee in such posts has a rational nexus with the object sought to be achieved, viz., relief against destitution. No other posts are expected or required to be given by the public authorities for the purpose. It must be remembered in this connection that as against the destitute family of the deceased there are millions of other families which are equally, if not more destitute. The exception to the rule made in favour of the family of the deceased employee is in consideration of the services rendered by him and the legitimate expectations, and the Change in the status and affairs, of the family engendered by the erstwhile employment which are suddenly upturned.”

10. In the present facts, the Scheme for Compassionate Appointment clearly provides that that exception to the rule of equality in employment may be granted only in deserving cases, where death may occur on or after 1.11.2014. Therefore, in the first place, it never became open to the learned single-judge to confer any right to claim compassionate appointment on any person who may not have been eligible owing to that stipulation of the cut-off date.

11. Then, in the absence of any challenge raised to the validity of Clause-8 of the Scheme for Grant of Compassionate Appointment, first introduced with effect from 1.11.2014, it further never became open to the learned single-judge, either to consider or to read that cut-off date was arbitrary. Before such conclusion may have been drawn, there must have existed a direct challenge raised to the cut-off date prescribed by the Scheme for Grant of Compassionate Appointment. Since, the petitioner chose to only seek a direction to decide her application without challenging the cut-off date prescribed under the scheme for grant of compassionate appointment, that observation of the learned single-judge that Clause 8 is arbitrary, is not founded, either on facts or in law, as neither any fact was pleaded to base that premise nor any relief was sought, of that nature.

12. In that light, the submission of learned counsel for the respondent-petitioner, on the strength of five-judge bench decisions of the Supreme Court in Ajay Hasia Vs. Khauid Mujib Sehravardi (1981) 1 SCC 722 and R.K. Garg Vs. Union of India and others (1981) 4 SCC 675, cannot be entertained with any seriousness.

13. Matters of constitutional validity are to be considered only in deserving cases, where necessary facts are first pleaded and specific challenge is raised on such pleadings. The Writ Court may never entertain such a challenge or enter into that exercise in a cavalier manner. A presumption as to validity of the law pre-exists under our jurisprudence. In absence of specific challenge raised, the submission advanced could not have been taken up less so decided in favour of the petitioner-respondent.

14. The further submission attempted to be advanced on the strength of Section 17(A) of the General Insurance Business (Nationalisation) Act, 1972 also does not merit any acceptance, as Clause 1 thereto applies to terms and conditions of service of officers and employees of the Corporation. It has nothing to do with the claim for grant of compassionate appointment to a family member of a deceased-employee. Therefore, no benefit may be drawn from the language of Section 17(A) (6) of the Act.

15. Though, parties are at variance as to the law to be applied with respect to the date of death or with respect to the date of claim being filed or with respect to the date of being considered, we may only note that in State Bank of India and Others Vs. Jaspal Kaur (2007) 9 SCC 571, the employee died in harness on 01.8.1999. The application for grant of compassionate appointment, made by his wife on 05.2.2000 came to be rejected on 07.1.2002. Later a scheme for grant of compassionate appointment was introduced on 04.8.2005. The High Court issued a direction to the bank to consider the application filed earlier, under the new scheme. That decision of the High Court was reversed by the Supreme Court. The same principle was reiterated in Bhawani Prasad Sonkar Vs. Union of India and Others (2011) 4 SCC 209. In State Bank of India Vs. Raj Kumar (2010) 11 SCC 661, it was opined, the Scheme for Grant of Compassionate Appointment existing on the date of decision will govern the fate of all pending applications. That view was reiterated in MGB Gramin Bank Vs. Chakrawarti Singh (2014) 13 SCC 583.

16. Again in Canara Bank and Another Vs. M. Mahesh Kumar (2015) 7 SCC 412, the death occurred on 10.10.1998 whereas the application for grant of compassionate appointment was filed on 30.11.1998. While that application remained pending, the Scheme for Grant of Compassionate Appointment was withdrawn and replaced with another scheme providing for Ex-gratia payment, in the year 2005. After considering the earlier law laid down by it, a two judge bench of the Supreme Court reached the conclusion that the case of the claimant (in that case) could not be dealt with in terms of the subsequent scheme. It required that claim to be reconsidered in accordance with the scheme that was in existence on the date of occurrence of death and also on the date of claim being made.

17. Then, in Indian Bank and Others Vs. Promila and Another (2020) 2 SCC 729, the death occurred on 15.1.2004 whereas the application for grant of compassionate appointment was made on 24.1.2004. The scheme for grant of compassionate appointment was introduced on 27.4.2004 i.e., after the occurrence of death and filing of the claim petition. Following Canara Bank (supra), a two judge bench of the Supreme Court held, the claim would be determined in accordance with the scheme that was existing on the date of occurrence of death and filing of the claim petition.

18. Later, in N.C. Santosh Vs. State of Karnataka and Others (2020) 7 SCC 617, a three judge bench of the Supreme Court considered, amongst others, the earlier decisions of that Court in State Bank of India Vs. Raj Kumar (supra), MGB Gramin Bank Vs. Chakrawarti Singh (supra) as also Canara Bank and Another Vs. M. Mahesh Kumar (supra). In that case, death had occurred on 25.1.1998, application for grant of compassionate appointment was made on 29.6.2000 whereas the rule providing for compassionate appointment stood amended w.e.f. 01.4.1999 thereby taking away the enabling provision to grant compassionate appointment. Nevertheless, appointment was granted on 25.8.2000. It was later withdrawn on 04.11.2003. It was observed as below:

“19. Applying the law governing compassionate appointment culled out from the above cited judgments, our opinion on the point at issue is that the norms, prevailing on the date of consideration of the application, should be the basis for consideration of claim for compassionate appointment. A dependent of a government employee, in the absence of any vested right accruing on the death of the government employee, can only demand consideration of his/her application. He is however disentitled to seek consideration in accordance with the norms as applicable, on the day of death of the government employee.”

19. Later in State of Madhya Pradesh Vs. Amit Shrivastava (2020) 10 SCC 496, another three judge bench of the Supreme Court again had the occasion to consider the claim for compassionate appointment. In that case, the death occurred on 11.12.2009 whereas the scheme for grant of compassionate appointment was made under policy dated 18.8.2008. It was rejected on 19.8.2010. It was found that the policy did not provide for grant of compassionate appointment to a work charge/contingency fund daily wage employee. Following Indian Bank and Others Vs. Promila and Another (supra), it was observed that the scheme in force, on the date of occurrence of death would be decisive to the claim. Later, in State of Madhya Pradesh and Others Vs. Ashish Awasthi and connected matters (2022) 2 SCC 157, that view was reiterated by a two judge bench decision of the Supreme Court.

20. Still later in Secretary to Government Department of Education (Primary) and Others Vs. Bhemesh alias Bhemappa 2021 SCC OnLine 1264, a two judge bench of the Supreme Court chose to consider the entire gamut of law laid down by the Supreme Court and thereafter interpreted its earlier three judge bench decision in N.C. Santosh Vs. State of Karnataka (supra) and the other existing law to only mean that compassionate appointment would remain an exception to the rule of equality in employment and that wherever, either under the unamended scheme or an amended law that equality was sought to be restored by taking away the right to grant of compassionate appointment, the Courts would enforce the law in favour of equality and against the exception made to it, whether prior or after the death of the employee. Paragraph-17 of the report reads as below:

“17. Keeping the above in mind, if we critically analyse the way in which this Court has proceeded to interpret the applicability of a new or modified Scheme that comes into force after the death of the employee, we may notice an interesting feature. In cases where the benefit under the existing Scheme was taken away or substituted with a lesser benefit, this Court directed the application of the new Scheme. But in cases where the benefits under an existing Scheme were enlarged by a modified Scheme after the death of the employee, this Court applied only the Scheme that was in force on the date of death of the employee. This is fundamentally due to the fact that compassionate appointment was always considered to be an exception to the normal method of recruitment and perhaps looked down upon with lesser compassion for the individual and greater concern for the rule of law.”

21. Once, the Supreme Court itself clarifies the law laid down by it, whether by speaking through a bench of two judges of that Court or three judges, it leaves very little or no space to reason to the High Court to itself explore the correct law. Any reasoning that the High Court may express as to the correct/true law laid down by the Supreme Court, it would remain academic as in the scheme of the Constitution it would not cross swords with the further opinion of the Supreme Court, as to the law to be applied, pending the reference made to a larger bench of the Supreme Court in Ajay Hasia Vs. Khauid Mujib Sehravardi (1981) 1 SCC 722 and R.K. Garg Vs. Union of India and others (1981) 4 SCC 675. That is the effect caused by a two-judge bench of the Supreme Court in Bhemesh alias Bheemappa (supra).

22. Recently a coordinate bench of this Court was faced with a similar dilemma in State of U.P. and 3 Others Vs. Himanshu Yadav (Special Appeal No. 126 of 2023, decided on 07.7.2023), followed the dictum of the Supreme Court in Secretary to Government Department of Education (Primary) and Others Vs. Bhemesh alias Bheemappa (supra). Paragraph-43 of the said judgment reads as below:

“43. Considering the principles laid down in N.C. Santhosh (supra) and the discussion made in Bhemesh Alias Bheemappa (supra) as noted above, it is more than evident that existing benefits in a scheme for compassionate appointment, if diluted or taken away by the amended scheme, cannot be applied on any pending application after modification of the scheme. However, in case the benefits under the modified scheme are larger than the existing scheme prevailing on the date of death of the employee or on the date of moving of the application, such benefits cannot be granted to the dependent of a deceased employee, inasmuch as, the scheme of compassionate appointment is applied in perspective manner and no retrospective effect can be given for the purposes of consideration of even pending claim of a dependent of a deceased.”

23. We are also aware that the reference made to Larger Bench of the Supreme Court in State Bank of India Vs. Sheo Shankar Tewari is still pending before that Court. However, in view of the discussion made above as to the law laid down by the Supreme Court, since the occurrence of that reference vide order dated 08.02.2012 we do not find any doubt exists as to the law to be applied in matters of compassionate appointments, in the meanwhile. For that reason as well, since on the date of occurrence of death of Sri Surendra Kumar Agrawal, on 06.9.2014, there did not exist any scheme for grant of compassionate appointment, the claim made by the petitioner would fail.

24. The order of the learned single judge is set aside. Consequentially the appeal is allowed.

25. Since there is no other dispute surviving, the writ petition itself shall stand disposed of with the observation that the appellant-respondent shall pay out the amount of Ex-gratia payment to the respondent-petitioner within 30 days from today.

Appointment–Claim under Scheduled Caste Category–Marriage with SC Male–Whether sufficient to claim SC status–Held–No.

Appointment of appellant on the post of Lecturer (Urdu) challenged as obtained on the basis of Scheduled Caste certificate. Appellant, originally belonging to General Category, obtained SC status through marriage with a Scheduled Caste male. Held, such voluntary mobility into a reserved category by marriage is not permissible under law. Once appointment is held to be void ab initio, no question of seniority or consequential relief arises. The appellant cannot claim Scheduled Caste status solely on the basis of her marriage. Her appointment as Lecturer under SC quota is void, having been secured through misrepresentation. Consequently, her claim to seniority and post of ad hoc Principal rightly denied.

A. INTRODUCTION

(4) The legality and correctness of common judgment and order dated 19.07.2018 passed by the learned Single Judge in (i) Writ Petition No. 23409 (S/S) of 2016 : Ram Ujagar Mishra Vs. State of U.P. and others, (ii) Writ Petition No. 13 (S/S) of 2014 : Ram Ujagar Mishra Vs.

State of U.P. and others* and (v) Writ Petition No. 3969 (S/S) of 2013 : Smt. Khushnuda Parveen Vs. State of U.P. and others, are called in question by the appellant, Smt. Khushnuda Praveen, in the above-captioned intra Court appeals under Chapter VIII Rule 5 of the Allahabad High Court Rules, 1952.

B. FACTS

(5) Succinctly, the facts of the case are that Saadat Inter College, Nanpara, District Bahraich (hereinafter referred to as 'Institution'), is being run under the aegis of a society registered under the provisions of Societies Registration Act, 1860. The said Institution is recognized under the provisions of U.P. Intermediate Education, 1921 and is also receiving grant-in-aid from the State Government. Therefore, the provisions of U.P. High School and Intermediate Colleges (Payment of Salary to the Teachers and other Employees) Act, 1971 and the provisions of U.P. Secondary Education Service Selection Board Act, 1982 and rules framed thereunder are also applicable to the said institution.

(6) The appellant, Smt. Kushnuda Parveen, was selected by U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board through direct recruitment and was appointed on the post of Lecturer (Urdu) on 07.06.1996 in the Institution. Her selection was made under reserved quota i.e. Scheduled Caste on the basis of Caste Certificate submitted by her.

(7) Sri Ram Ujagar Mishra (respondent no.7 herein) was initially appointed in the Institution on the post of Assistant Teacher (L.T. Grade) in the year 1981 on ad hoc basis, however, his services were regularized w.e.f. 06.04.1991 in the Institution vide order dated 02.08.1992.

(8) Shri Bismillah Khan, who was the Lecturer in Mathematics in the Institution, retired on 30.06.1991 on attaining the age of superannuation and as such, vide resolution dated 02.08.1992, the Committee of Management resolved to grant promotion to Shri Ram Ujagar Mishra (respondent no.7 herein) on the vacant post of Lecturer in Mathematics in the Institution on ad hoc basis under 50% promotion quota. The District Inspector of Schools (hereinafter referred to as 'D.I.O.S.'), vide order dated 15.12.1992, had accorded approval to the aforesaid resolution of the Committee of Management to grant ad hoc promotion to Shri Ram Ujagar Mishra (respondent no.7 herein). Subsequently, vide letter dated 20.04.1998, the U.P. Secondary Education Service Selection Board (hereinafter referred to as 'Board') intimated the decision of the Board to the D.I.O.S. in regard to the regular promotion of Shri Ram Ujagar Mishra (respondent no.7 herein) on the post of Lecturer in Mathematics in the Institute.

(9) Apparently, a dispute in regard to the seniority arose in the Institution between the appellant and the respondent No.7 as apparently the said seniority would lead to appointment as Principal to the said Institution. The appellant preferred a representation dated 13.09.2010 claiming seniority and sought for handing over the officiating charge on the post of Principal to her by reverting Shri Ram Ujagar Mishra on the post of Assistant Teacher (L.T. Grade). The Regional Joint Director of Education, Devipatan Mandal, Faizabad, vide order dated 02.06.2011, had considered the aforesaid representation of the appellant and rejected the same vide order dated 02.06.2011 (hereinafter referred to as "First Order").

(10) Subsequently, Shri Shyam Das Maurya, who was the Principal of the Institution, retired on attaining the age of superannuation on 30.06.2011 and before his retirement, the Committee of Management passed a resolution on 29.06.2011, resolving to appoint Shri Ram Ujagar Mishra (respondent no.7 herein) as ad hoc/officiating Principal of the Institution. The said resolution dated 29.06.2011 (hereinafter referred to as "Second Order") was sent to D.I.O.S. for attestation of the signature of Shri Ram Ujagar Mishra as Principal and payment of salary.

(11) Meanwhile, the appellant preferred Writ Petition No. 4016 (S/S) of 2011 before this Court, challenging the order dated 02.06.2011 ("First Order") by which her representation claiming seniority was rejected. The learned Single Judge, while entertaining the said writ petition, kept in abeyance the order dated 02.06.2011 passed by the Regional Joint Director of Education, Devipatan Mandal, Faizabad till further order of the Court vide order dated 14.07.2011. Thereafter, on the strength of this interim order dated 14.07.2011, the appellant had claimed for joining on the post of Principal on ad hoc/officiating basis, but the same was not allowed and as such, she preferred Contempt Petition No. 3144 of 2011, which was disposed of vide order dated 14.02.2013 with a liberty to the appellant to raise the issue in her writ petition.

(12) Pursuant to the aforesaid liberty, the appellant preferred another writ petition, bearing writ petition No. 41 (S/S) of 2013, before this Court. The learned Single Judge, vide order dated 27.05.2013, disposed of the said writ petition finally with a direction to dispose of the representation of the appellant.

(13) In compliance of the aforesaid order dated 27.05.2013, the D.I.O.S. considered the claim set-up by the appellant and rejected the same vide order dated 28.06.2013 (hereinafter referred to as “Third Order”), stating that since the matter regarding seniority is pending before the Hon’ble High Court, thus, there is no requirement for any action at this stage. Aggrieved by this order dated 28.06.2013, the appellant preferred Writ Petition No. 3969 (S/S) of 2013.

(14) It seems that during pendency of the aforesaid two writ petitions, i.e., Writ Petition No. 4016 (S/S) of 2011 against “First order” and Writ Petition No. 3969 of 2013 preferred by the appellant against “Third Order”, the Joint Director of Education, Devipatan Mandal, Faizabad, in compliance of the order dated 27.05.2013 passed in Writ Petition No. 41 (S/S) of 2013, had also considered the representation dated 01.11.2012 preferred by the appellant and decided the same vide order dated 17.12.2013 (hereinafter referred to as “Fourth Order”), stating that appellant was senior to the respondent no.7 (Ram Ujagar Mishra) w.e.f. 07.06.1996 and as such, it would be appropriate to grant promotion to the appellant on the post of ad hoc/officiating Principal of the Institution. Aggrieved by this order dated 17.12.2013 (“Fourth Order”), the respondent no.7 (Ram Ujagar Mishra) preferred Writ Petition No. 13 (S/S) of 2014.

(15) During pendency of the aforesaid writ petitions i.e. writ petition Nos. 4016 (S/S) of 2011, 3969 (S/S) of 2011 and writ petition No. 13 (S/S) of 2014, the respondent no.7 (Ram Ujagar Mishra) also preferred another writ petition, bearing Writ Petition No. 7415 (S/S) of 2014, challenging the validity of the orders dated 05.04.1996 and 30.05.1996 (together referred to as “Fifth Order”), by which appellant was selected and appointed as Lecturer in Urdu.

(16) Thereafter, the Director of Education (Secondary), on the basis of the letter sent by D.I.O.S. dated 17.08.2016, had passed the order dated 19.09.2016 (hereinafter referred to as “Sixth Order”), by which the D.I.O.S. was directed to ensure the joining of the appellant on the post of ad hoc/officiating Principal of the Institution by exercising power under Section 18 (2) of the U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board Act, 1982. Pursuant to the aforesaid order of the Director of Education (Secondary) dated 19.09.2016, the D.I.O.S. had passed an order dated 20.09.2016 (hereinafter referred to as “Seventh Order”), whereby he had directed for handing over the charge of ad hoc/officiating Principal to the appellant.

(17) Aggrieved by the aforesaid orders dated 19.09.2016 and 20.09.2016, the respondent no.7 herein (Sri Ram Ujagar Mishra) preferred Writ Petition No. 23409 (S/S) of 2016 before this Court. The learned Single Judge, vide order dated 28.12.2016, while entertaining the said writ petition, stayed the operation of aforesaid orders dated 19.09.2016 and 20.09.2016.

(18) Ultimately, the learned Single Judge had clubbed all five writ petitions i.e. Writ Petition Nos. 23409 (S/S) of 2016, 13 (S/S) of 2014, 7415 (S/S) of 2014, 4016 (S/S) of 2011 and 3969 (S/S) of 2013 and heard together and the same were disposed of vide common judgment and order dated 19.07.2018 (hereinafter referred to as “Impugned Order”). The learned Single Judge has decided the aforesaid writ petitions as under :-

Sl. No.	Writ Petition Number	Decision	Challenge in Special Appeal
01	23409 (S/S) of 2016 : Ram Ujagar Mishra Vs. State of U.P. and others	Writ Petition is allowed. The impugned orders dated 19.09.2016 and 20.09.2016 are set-aside.	Special Appeal Defective No. 590 of 2018 : Smt. Khushnuda Parveen Vs. State of U.P. and others
02	13 (S/S) of 2014 : Ram Ujagar Mishra Vs. State of U.P. and others	Writ Petition is allowed. The impugned order dated 17.12.2013 is set-aside	Special Appeal Defective No. 592 of 2018 : Smt. Khushnuda Parveen Vs. State of U.P. and others.

04	Writ Petition No. 4016 (S/S) of 2011 : Smt. Khushnuda Parveen Vs. State of U.P.	The writ petition is	Special Appeal Defective and others	dismissed.	No. 591 of 2018: Smt. Khushnuda Parveen Vs. State of U.P. and others

05	Writ Petition No. 3969 (S/S) of 2013 :Smt. Khushnuda Parveen Vs. State of U.P. and others	The writ petition is dismissed.	Special Appeal Defective No. 593 of 2018: Smt. Khushnuda Parveen Vs. State of U.P. and others

(19) The learned Single Judge, while deciding the aforesaid writ petitions vide impugned order, has also directed the respondents in the writ petitions to permit Sri Ram Ujagar Mishra (respondent no.7 herein) to continue on the post of ad hoc Principal of the Institution till regularly selected candidates comes and joins and to pay him regular monthly salary month by month accordingly, in as much as, the arrears of salary, if found due, be paid within three months from the date of production of a certified copy of the order.

(20) The appellant being aggrieved have preferred the above-captioned special appeals before this Court.

(21) Since the above-captioned special appeals arise out of a common factual matrix and impugned judgment, we are disposing them of vide this common judgment.

C. SUBMISSIONS

(22) Ms. Pushpila Bisht, Amicus Curiae, appearing on behalf of appellant has submitted that by means of the impugned common judgment/order dated 19.07.2018, the learned Single Judge had decided different issues agitated by the appellant and respondent no.7 in their respective writ petitions. In Writ Petition No. 4016 (S/S) of 2011 filed by the appellant herein, she challenged the order dated 02.06.2011 ("First Order"), whereby her representation claiming seniority and prayer for handing over the charge on the post of Principal to her by reverting Sri Ram Ujagar Mishra on the post of Assistant Teacher (L.T. Grade) was rejected and seniority determined earlier was held to be valid; in Writ Petition No. 3969 (S/S) of 2013 filed by the appellant, she challenged the order of the D.I.O.S. dated 28.06.2013 ("Third Order") by which her representation claiming seniority was rejected inter alia on the ground that since the matter regarding seniority is pending before the Hon'ble High Court, hence there is no requirement for any action at this stage; in Writ Petition 13 (S/S) of 2014 filed by the respondent no.7 herein (Ram Ujagar Mishra), he challenged the order of Regional Joint Director of Education dated 17.12.2013 ("Fourth Order") by which seniority was re-determined; in Writ Petition No. 7415 (S/S) of 2014 filed by the respondent no.7 herein, he challenged the validity of the orders dated 05.04.1996 and 30.05.1996 ("Fifth Order"), whereby the appellant herein was selected and appointed as Lecturer in Urdu; and in Writ Petition No. 23409 of 2016 filed by the respondent no.7, he challenged the order dated 19.09.2016 ("Sixth Order") by which D.I.O.S. was directed to ensure the joining of the appellant on the post of ad hoc/officiating Principal of the Institution by exercising power under Section 18 (2) of the U.P. Secondary Education Service Selection Board Act, 1982, as well as the consequential order dated 20.09.2016 (

"Seventh Order") passed by the D.I.O.S., by which he had directed for handing over the charge of ad hoc Principal to the appellant. Thus, her submission is that in all the writ petitions, more or less the issue between the appellant herein and respondent no.7 herein was in respect of their seniority, appointment of respondent no.7 herein on the post of ad hoc/officiating Principal and appointment of the appellant.

(23) So far as issue of seniority between the appellant and respondent no.7, learned Amicus Curiae has argued that appellant was appointed on the post of Lecturer (Urdu) through direct recruitment on 07.06.1996 by the U.P. Secondary Education Services Board, whereas respondent no.7 was appointed as Assistant Teacher (L.T. Grade) in ad hoc/temporary basis by the Manager of the Institution on 20.10.1981 on short term vacancy and thereafter his services on the post of Assistant Teacher (L.T. Grade) were regularized w.e.f. 06.04.1991 vide order dated 02.08.1992. Subsequently, respondent no.7 was granted ad hoc/temporary promotion on the post of Lecturer (Mathematics) on 16.12.1992 under 50% quota and his services on the post of Lecturer (Mathematics) were regularized on 20.04.1997 on the recommendation of Uttar Pradesh Secondary Education Services Selection Board. Thus, in any view of the matter, the appellant is senior to the respondent no.7 as also evident from the final seniority list dated 05.08.2007 issued by the Committee of Management of the Institution contained in Annexure No.1 to the affidavit filed in support of application for disposal of interim relief application in Special Appeal Defective No. 589 of 2018, wherein the name of the appellant was shown at serial No. 3, whereas the name of the respondent no.7 was shown at serial No. 5, meaning thereby i.e. on 05.08.2007, the Committee of Management of the Institution had declared the appellant senior to the respondent no.7. However, the learned Single Judge, while adjudicating the issue of re-determination of seniority, has lost sight of not considering the aforesaid aspect of the matter and has erred in recording the finding that the respondent no.7 is continuing to be senior in the Institution since 1996, which has not been challenged by the teachers working in the Institution including Smt. Khusnuda Parveen (appellant herein), therefore, the ratio of the judgment of the Full Bench in the case of Dr. Asha Saxena Vs. Smt. S.K. Chaudhary : (1991) 17 ALR 267 relied upon by the learned Counsel for the writ petitioner (respondent no.7 herein) is fully applicable to the facts and circumstances of the case and as such respondent no.6 (appellant herein) cannot be allowed to challenge the seniority of the writ petitioner (respondent no.7 herein) after lapse of almost 15 years.

(24) So far as the issue of appointment of the appellant on the basis of the alleged forged caste certificate is concerned, learned Amicus Curiae representing appellant has argued that the appellant, who did not belong to a Scheduled Caste community by birth but belong to General Category by birth, got married with Sri Harish Chandra Sundaram, who belonged to the Scheduled Caste community and as such, the appellant was entitled to caste certificate on the basis of the law prevailing at the relevant point of time. Learned Amicus Curiae has placed reliance upon the judgment of the Apex Court in N.E. Horo Vs. Smt. Jahan Ara Jaipal Singh : AIR 1972 SC 1840 and argued that in view of N.E. Horo (supra), the appellant belonged to the Scheduled Caste community. On that basis, she was appointed as a Lecturer (Urdu) in the Institution through direct recruitment by the U.P. Secondary Education Selection Board on 07.06.1996. Her submission, thus, is that this is not a case where appellant, on the basis of false averments or by playing fraud, had sought and was granted a false Caste Certificate. However, the learned Single Judge, while adjudicating the issue, has lost sight of not considering the aforesaid aspect of the matter and erred in declaring that the appellant got appointment on the post in question by playing fraud.

(25) Learned Amicus Curiae representing the appellant has further submitted that the respondent no.7-Ram Ujagar Mishra had no reason to file writ petition No. 7415 (S/S) of 2014 against the appellant that too in the year 2014 i.e. approx ten years prior to the retirement of the appellant. She submits that the respondent no.7 is working as a Lecturer (Mathematics) in the Institution and apparently he is junior to the appellant, therefore, the respondent no.7 had no locus standi to file such a petition against the appellant herein. On this count also, the impugned judgment/order passed by the learned Single Judge is liable to be quashed.

(26) Per contra, learned Counsel for the respondents supported the judgment/order of the learned Single Judge and submitted that the appellant belonged to General Category and did not belong to Scheduled Cast community by birth. Therefore, she could not have obtained a Caste Certificate to the effect that she belonged to the Scheduled Caste community. They submits that the appellant was appointed on the post of Lecturer (Urdu) by the U.P. Secondary Education Service Board under Scheduled Caste category, whereas she actually belongs to General Category. In the service book of the appellant also, the caste of the appellant was shown 'Chamar', which comes under the category of Scheduled Caste. They pointed out that at the time of selection of appellant, the U.P. Secondary Education Selection Board had prepared the merit list category-wise like General, O.B.C. and SC/ST, in which the name of the appellant finds place in the category of Scheduled Caste and the appellant scored only 19 marks and got selected on the post of Lecturer (Urdu) in Varg-I, while the last candidate of General Category, namely, Zeenat Zahara Rizwi, obtained 58 marks, but could not be selected, meaning thereby the appellant was selected under the Scheduled Caste Certificate not in the General Category.

(27) Learned Counsel for the respondents has further argued that as the appellant obtained appointment of Lecturer (Urdu) by showing her belonging to Scheduled Caste community, even knowing the fact that she belong to General Category by birth, therefore, the learned Single Judge has rightly observed that the appointment was obtained by the appellant by playing fraud. Thus, the finding recorded by the learned Single Judge in this regard is just and proper and there is no illegality of infirmity in the impugned order.

(28) Learned Counsel for the respondents has further argued that as the appointment of the appellant was itself void, hence issue of seniority or other service benefit agitated by the appellant cannot be looked into at this stage. Moreso, the declaration of law by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India under Article 141 of the Constitution of India is always retrospective unless made specifically prospective and that as there is nothing indicated to that effect in the subsequent ruling, it would necessarily follow that the appellant cannot claim any benefit to continue in employment on the basis of the overruled decision.

D. ANALYSIS & FINDINGS

(29) Having heard learned Counsel representing the parties and going through the record available before this Court, it is required to be noted that learned Counsel for the appellant has assailed the impugned judgment/order passed by the learned Single Judge on various grounds, however, we deem it apt to first deal with the issue of appointment of the appellant on the post of Lecturer (Urdu) obtained by her on the basis of Scheduled Caste Community Certificate. This issue gains significance as in case the appellant is not able to cross the bridge of her appointment, the consequential benefits of seniority, would obviously not accrue in her favour.

(30) Apparently, it has been argued by the learned Amicus Curiae that there has not been any misrepresentation on the part of the appellant in obtaining the Scheduled Caste Community certificate, as she has obtained the said certificate after disclosing the specific fact that she claimed Scheduled Caste status only on the basis of her marriage with Shri Harish Chandra Sundaram, who belongs to 'Chamar' community, which has been notified as Scheduled Caste Community.

(31) In order to buttress the claim that though the appellant did not belong to Scheduled Caste Community by birth, she was entitled to be treated as Scheduled Caste Community on her marriage with a Scheduled Caste person, the learned Counsel for the appellant cited the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in N.E. Horo (supra), in which it has been held as follows :-

"23. We may also refer to Article 330 of the Constitution according to which the seats reserved for the Scheduled Tribes are to be reserved in the House of the People, inter alia, for members of these Tribes. Under S.33(2) of the Act a candidate for a reserved seat has to file a declaration specifying a particular caste or tribe of which he is a member. Article 342(1) empowers the President to specify 'the tribes or tribal communities or parts of or groups within tribes or tribal communities which shall, for the purposes of the Constitution, be deemed to be Scheduled Tribes in relation to the State or Union territory as the case may be. In Parts 1 to 12 of the Schedule to the Constitution (Scheduled Tribes) Order 1952 are specified the tribes or tribal communities or parts of or groups within the tribes or tribal communities who are to be deemed to be Scheduled tribes. Munda is one of such specified tribes or tribal communities. It can well be said that the term "tribal community" has a wider connotation than the expression "tribe". A person who, according to the strict custom of a tribe cannot be regarded as a member of that tribe may well be regarded as a member of that tribal community. Where a non-Munda woman is married to a Munda male and the marriage is approved and sanctioned by the Parha Panchayat of that tribe and the marriage is valid she may not, on the assumption that the rule of endogamy prevails, become a member of the Munda tribe in the strict sense as not having been born in the tribe. She cannot, however, be excluded from the larger group, namely, the tribal community. The High Court has taken the view that the use of the term "tribal communities" in addition to the term "tribes" in Article 342 shows that a wide import and meaning should be given to these words and even if the respondent is not a member of the Munda tribe by virtue of birth she having been married to a Munda after due observance of all formalities and after obtaining the approval of the elders of the tribes would belong to the tribal community to which her husband belongs on the analogy of the wife taking the husband's domicile. Even without invoking the doctrine of domicile the respondent's marriage with late Shri Jaipal Singh who was a Munda having been approved and sanctioned by the Parha Panchayat of the Munda tribe it can be said that she became a member of the Munda tribal community. We have not been shown any infirmity in the reasoning of the High Court on this point. When a person, in the course of time, has been assimilated in the community it is somewhat difficult to comprehend how that person can be denied the rights and privileges which may be conferred on that community even though tribal by constitutional provisions."

(32) However, the learned Amicus Curiae appearing on behalf of the appellant missed the point that although the appellant was appointed on 07.06.1996, the Judgment, which held the field, was not in fact N.E. Horo (supra), but another Judgment passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court subsequently on 04.01.1996. The dates are of great significance as the argument that the Judgment of N.E Horo (Supra) would apply falls flat on its own weight as by the time the appointment of the appellant was being made, the judgment in Valasamma Paul v. Cochin University and others : [(1996) 3 SCC 545] had been governing the field. It is important to note that the Hon'ble Supreme court, after considering the aforesaid decision in N.E. Hora's case and other subsequent judgments, had held in Valasamma (Supra) as follows:-

"34. when a member is transplanted into the Dalits, Tribes and OBCs. he/she must of necessity also undergo have had same the handicaps, and must have been subject to the same disabilities, disadvantages, indignities or sufferings so as to entitle the candidate to avail the facility of reservation. A candidate who had the advantageous start in life being born in forward caste and had march of advantageous life but is transplanted in backward caste by adoption or marriage or conversion, does not become eligible to the benefit of reservation either under Article 15(4) or 16(4), as the case may be. Acquisition of the Status of Scheduled Caste etc. by voluntary mobility into these categories would play fraud on the Constitution, and would frustrate the benign constitutional policy under Articles 15(4) and 16(4) of the Constitution."

(33) Submission of the learned Amicus Curiae representing the appellant is that as the Scheduled Caste Community Certificate of the appellant had been issued on the basis of a ruling of the Apex Court in N.E. Hora's Case which was then holding the field and had enabled the appellant to secure an employment on 07.06.1996 is not correct and as such the argument of the learned Amicus Curiae that the appointment of the appellant would not be equitable to deprive her of that Scheduled Caste Community status on the basis of the subsequent ruling of the Apex Court of the year 1996 is also not correct.

(34) It would be apt to mention here that a Bench of Three-Judges of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sobha Hymavathi Devi v. Setti Gangadhara Swamy and others : (2005) 2 SCC 244, on noticing the contradictions in the decisions of the two Division Benches of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in N.E. Hora v. Smt. Jahan Ara Jaipal Singh (supra) and Valasamma Paul v. Cochin University and others (supra), held that the constitutional reservations intend to benefit the really underprivileged and not those who come to the caste by way of a marriage, and to that extent, the decision in N.E. Hora's case, which runs counter to that view, cannot be accepted as correct, and categorically laid out that the recognition of a lady as a member of a Backward Class Community in view of her marriage would not be relevant for the purpose of entitlement to reservation under Article 16(4) of the Constitution of India for the reason that she as a member of the forward caste, had an advantageous start in life and a marriage with a male belonging to a backward class, would not entitle her to the facility of the reservation given to a Backward Class Community. There is nothing indicated in that binding ruling that it would be only prospective in operation. The relevant part of Sobha Hymavathi Devi (supra) is reproduced as under :-

"What then remains is the fact that the appellant though assigned the caste of her father Murahari Rao, namely, the Sistu Karnam community, had married a tribal belonging to the Bhagatha Community. On the basis of this marriage, it is argued that she must be taken to have acquired membership in the community of her husband and consequently treated as a member of that community. It is in that context that the decision in Horo (supra) was relied on. It is also contended that the decision in Horo (supra) related to an election dispute and consequently, the ratio of that decision should govern the present case. We have already indicated that there is nothing to show that the marriage of the appellant with Appala Raju was sanctioned or approved by the elders of the Bhagatha Community or the concerned Panchayat or was in tribal form or that the formalities attending such a tribal marriage were observed and the marriage was performed after obtaining the approval of the elders of the tribe. Even otherwise, we have difficulty in accepting the position that a non-tribal who marries a tribal could claim to contest a seat reserved for tribals. Article 332 of the Constitution speaks of reservation of seats for Scheduled Tribes in Legislative Assemblies. The object is clearly to give representation in the legislature to Scheduled Tribe candidates, considered to be deserving of such special protection. To permit a non-tribal under cover of a marriage to contest such a seat would tend to defeat the very object of such a reservation. The decision of this Court in Valsamma Paul (Mrs.) vs. Cochin University and others (supra), supports this view. Neither the fact that a non-backward female married a backward male nor the fact that she was recognized by the community thereafter as a member of the backward community, was held to enable a non-backward to claim reservation in terms of Articles 15(4) or 16(4) of the Constitution. Their Lordships after noticing Bhoobun Moyee v. Ram Kishore, (1865) 10 MIA 279, and Lulloobhoy Bappoobhoy Cassidass Moolchund v. Cassibai, (1879-80) 7 IA 212, held that a woman on marriage becomes a member of the family of her husband and thereby she becomes a member of the caste to which she has moved. The caste rigidity breaks down and would stand as no impediment to her becoming a member of the family to which the husband belongs and to which she gets herself transplanted. Thereafter, this Court noticed that recognition by the community was also important. Even then, this Court categorically laid down that the recognition of a lady as a member of a backward community in view of her marriage would not be relevant for the purpose of entitlement to reservation under Article 16(4) of the Constitution for the reason that she as a member of the forward caste, had an advantageous start in life and a marriage with a male belonging to a backward class would not entitle her to the facility of reservation given to a backward community. The High Court has applied this decision to a seat reserved in an election in terms of Article 332 of the Constitution. We see no reason why the principle relating to reservation under Articles 15(4) and 16(4) laid down by this Court should not be extended to the constitutional reservation of a seat for a Scheduled Tribe in the House of the People or under Article 332 in the Legislative Assembly. The said reservations are also constitutional reservations intending to benefit the really underprivileged and not those who come to the class by way of marriage. To the extent the decision in Horo (supra) can be said to run counter to the above view, it cannot be accepted as correct. Even otherwise, in the absence of evidence on the relevant aspects regarding marriage in tribal form and acceptance by the community, the decision in Horo (supra) cannot come to the rescue of the appellant. On a consideration of the relevant aspects, we are of the view that whether it be a reservation under Articles

15(4) or 16(4) or 330 and 332, the said reservation would benefit only those who belong to a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe and not those who claim to acquire the status by marriage, like the appellant in this case. Thus, in our view, the High Court was fully justified in coming to the conclusion that the appellant could not claim the right to contest a seat reserved for a Scheduled Tribe in terms of Article 332 of the Constitution of India merely by virtue of her marriage to a person belonging to a Scheduled Tribe."

(35) To the aforesaid context, it would be necessary to recapitulate the unassailable legal position regarding retrospectively of declaration of law by a binding ruling of the Hon'ble Supreme Court under Article 141 of the Constitution of India as held in M.A.Murthy v. State of Karnataka : (2003) 7 SCC 517, which reads as under :-

"8. ... the law declared by this Court is presumed to be the law at all times. Normally, the decision of this Court enunciating a principle of law is applicable to all cases irrespective of its stage of pendency because it is assumed that what is enunciated by the Supreme Court is, in fact, the law from inception. The doctrine of prospective overruling which is a feature of American jurisprudence is an exception to the normal principle of law, was imported and applied for the first time in L.C. Golak Nath v. State of Punjab [AIR 1967 SC 1643]. In Managing Director, ECIL v. B. Karunakar [(1993) 4 SCC 727 : 1993 SCC (L&S) 1184 : (1993) 25 ATC 704] the view was adopted. Prospective overruling is a part of the principles of constitutional canon of interpretation and can be resorted to by this Court while superseding the law declared by it earlier. It is a device innovated to avoid reopening of settled issues, to prevent multiplicity of proceedings, and to avoid uncertainty and avoidable litigation. In other words, actions taken contrary to the law declared prior to the date of declaration are validated in larger public interest. The law as declared applies to future cases. (See Ashok Kumar Gupta v. State of U.P. [(1997) 5 SCC 201 : 1997 SCC (L&S) 1299] and Baburam v. C.C. Jacob [(1999) 3 SCC 362 : 1999 SCC (L&S) 682 : 1999 SCC (Cri) 433] .) It is for this Court to indicate as to whether the decision in question will operate prospectively. In other words, there shall be no prospective overruling, unless it is so indicated in the particular decision. It is not open to be held that the decision in a particular case will be prospective in its application by application of the doctrine of prospective overruling. The doctrine of binding precedent helps in promoting certainty and consistency in judicial decisions and enables an organic development of the law besides providing assurance to the individual as to the consequences of transactions forming part of the daily affairs. ..."

(36) Keeping in mind the aforesaid legal proposition of law, it would not be possible to adopt equitable considerations to sustain the Scheduled Caste Community Certificate that had been obtained by the appellant, who admittedly does not belong to Scheduled Caste Community by birth and had claimed such status only on account of her marriage with a person belonging to Scheduled Caste.

(37) Even otherwise, a Three Judge Bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in R.

Viswanatha Pillai Vs. State of Kerala : (2004) 2 SCC 105 has ruled that the invalidation of the caste or tribe claimed, upon verification, would result in the appointment or admission, as the case may be, being rendered non est or void ab initio.

(38) Reiterating the same legal position in Chairman and Managing Director, Food Corporation of India v Jagdish Balaram Bahira : (2017) 8 SCC 670, another Bench of Three-Judges of the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that the exception to the above doctrine was in those cases where that Court exercised its power under Article 142 of the Constitution to render complete justice. The relevant part of Jagdish Balaram Bahira (supra) is reproduced as under :-

“48...Where a candidate had been appointed to a reserved post on the basis of the claim that he or she was a member of the group for which the reservation is intended, the invalidation of the claim to belong to that group would, as a necessary consequence, render the appointment void ab initio. The rationale for this is that a candidate who would otherwise have to compete for a post in the general pool of unreserved seats had secured appointment in a more restricted competition confined to the reserved category and usurped a benefit meant for a designated caste, tribe or class. Once it was found that the candidate had obtained admission upon a false representation to belong to the reserved category, the appointment would be vitiated by fraud and would be void ab initio. The falsity of the claim lies in a representation that the candidate belongs to a category of persons for whom the reservation is intended whereas in fact the candidate does not so belong. The reason for depriving the candidate of the benefit which she or he has obtained on the strength of such a claim, is that a person cannot retain the fruits of a false claim on the basis of which a scarce public resource is obtained... A candidate who does so causes detriment to a genuine candidate who actually belongs to the reserved category who is deprived of the seat. For that matter, a detriment is caused to the entire class of persons for whom reservations are intended, the members of which are excluded as a result of an admission granted to an imposter who does not belong to the class. The withdrawal of benefits, either in terms of the revocation of employment or the termination of an admission was hence a necessary corollary of the invalidation of the claim on the basis of which the appointment or admission was obtained. The withdrawal of the benefit was not based on mens rea or the intent underlying the assertion of a false claim. In the case of a criminal prosecution, intent would be necessary. On the other hand, the withdrawal of civil benefits flowed as a logical result of the invalidation of a claim to belong to a group or category for whom the reservation is intended.”

“59. The Full Bench judgment of the Bombay High Court in Arun [Arun v. State of Maharashtra, 2014 SCC OnLine Bom 4595 : (2015) 1 Mah LJ 457] has essentially construed the judgments in Kavita Solunke [Kavita Solunke v. State of Maharashtra, (2012) 8 SCC 430 : (2012) 2 SCC (L&S) 609] and in Shalini [Shalini v. New English High School Assn., (2013) 16 SCC 526 : (2014) 3 SCC (L&S) 265] as having impliedly overruled the earlier Full Bench judgments in Ganesh Rambhau Khalale [Ganesh Rambhau Khalale v. State of Maharashtra, 2009 SCC OnLine Bom 20 : (2009) 2 Mah LJ 788] and Ramesh Suresh Kamble [Ramesh Suresh Kamble v. State of Maharashtra, 2006 SCC OnLine Bom 1078 : (2007) 1 Mah LJ 423] . In view of the conclusion which we have arrived at in regard to the earlier decisions rendered by the two-Judge Benches in Kavita Solunke [Kavita Solunke v. State of Maharashtra, (2012) 8 SCC 430 : (2012) 2 SCC (L&S) 609] and Shalini [Shalini v. New English High School Assn., (2013) 16 SCC 526 : (2014) 3 SCC (L&S) 265] , we are unable to subscribe to the view expressed by the Full Bench in Arun [Arun v. State of Maharashtra, 2014 SCC OnLine Bom 4595 : (2015) 1 Mah LJ 457] . The judgment of the Full Bench of the Bombay High Court in Arun [Arun v. State of Maharashtra, 2014 SCC OnLine Bom 4595 : (2015) 1 Mah LJ 457] holds that: (SCC OnLine Bom para 75)

(i) mere invalidation of the caste claim by the Scrutiny Committee would not entail the consequences of withdrawal of benefits or discharge from employment or cancellation of appointments that have become final prior to the decision in Milind [State of Maharashtra v. Milind, (2001) 1 SCC 4 : 2001 SCC (L&S) 117] on 28-11-2000;

(ii) the benefit of protection in service upon invalidation of the caste claim is available not only to persons belonging to Koshti and Halba Koshti but is also available to persons belonging to the special backward category on the same terms.

The High Court has even gone to the extent of holding that the decision in Milind [State of Maharashtra v. Milind, (2001) 1 SCC 4 : 2001 SCC (L&S) 117] was in the nature of prospective overruling of the law which was laid down by the Bombay High Court. The above view of the Bombay High Court is clearly unsustainable. Neither the judgment in Milind [State of Maharashtra v. Milind, (2001) 1 SCC 4 : 2001 SCC (L&S) 117] nor any of the judgments of this Court which have construed it have held that Milind [State of Maharashtra v. Milind, (2001) 1 SCC 4 : 2001 SCC (L&S) 117] was an exercise in prospective overruling. The High Court was in error in holding so. The decision of the Full Bench in Arun [Arun v. State of Maharashtra, 2014 SCC OnLine Bom 4595 : (2015) 1 Mah LJ 457] is unsustainable. The Full Bench had evidently failed to notice that cases where the protection was granted by this Court following the invalidation of a caste claim was in exercise of the power conferred by Article 142 of the Constitution, depending upon the facts and circumstances of each case. The jurisdiction under Article 142 is clearly not available to the High Court in the exercise of its jurisdiction under Article 226. The High Court erred in arrogating that jurisdiction to itself.”

(39) In State of Punjab Vs. Rafiq Masih (Whitewasher) : (2014) 8 SCC 883, another Three Judge Bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that the directions of that Court under Article 142 of the Constitution, while moulding the relief, that relax the application of law or exempt the case from the rigour of the law in view of the peculiar facts and circumstances do not comprise the ratio decidendi and therefore lose its basic premise of making it a binding precedent. In such circumstances, the reliance placed by the learned counsel for the appellant, cannot be of any avail.

E. Conclusion

(40) In the light of the aforesaid incontrovertible legal position coupled with the fact of the present case, we are in full agreement with the view expressed by the learned Single Judge on the issue of appointment of the appellant by means of the impugned judgment/order. The learned Single Judge has taken great pain in deciding all the issues which were agitated by the parties. No new ground has been pressed, which would enable this Court to take a contrary view as has been expressed by the learned Single Judge.

(41) For the aforesaid reasons, since the appellant obtained appointment upon a false representation to belong to the reserved category and her very appointment to the post of Lecturer (Urdu) stands vitiated, we deem it not to deal with other issues raised by the appellant in the above-captioned special appeals and allow the lis to set at rest without any further action or counter claim.

(42) The above-captioned intra Court appeals being bereft of merits are, accordingly, dismissed. However, there shall be no order as to costs for the facts and circumstances of the case.

(43) Before parting with the case, this Court must candidly express unreserved and uninhibited appreciation for the assistance rendered by Ms. Pushpila Bisht, Amicus Curiae representing the appellant in the above-captioned appeals, therefore, she shall be paid a sum of Rs.5,000/- towards her remuneration by the High Court Legal Service Committee.

THE HON'BLE AJIT KUMAR, J

Writ A No. 779 of 2023

Rajat Yadav ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Yashpal Yadav, Sri Lalji Yadav

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

Service Law – Recruitment – OBC Reservation – Caste Certificate Format – Affirmative Action – An OBC candidate, applied for the post of Sub Inspector in Civil Police He was denied OBC reservation due to submitting a caste certificate in the format meant for Central Government posts instead of the St. Government format for the required period The respondents treated him as a general category candidate, and he did not qualify due to higher cut-off marks. The petitioner argued that both certificates, issued by the same St. authority, confirmed his OBC status, and the format difference should not disqualify him. The sole issue is whether a candidate can be denied OBC reservation benefit merely for not furnishing the caste certificate in the prescribed "St. Government" format during the relevant period, despite producing a valid certificate (on Central format) issued by the same St. authority. Respondents directed to consider the petitioner under OBC category and include him in the OBC merit list. If his marks are above the last OBC cut-off, he shall be offered appointment.

Writ petition allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajit Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Sri Yashpal Yadav, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel appearing for the State respondents.

2. Petitioner was applicant in the category of other backward class (OBC) for the post of Sub Inspector in Civil Police pursuant to the advertisement no. PRPB-nsk-2 (3 fo /2020) dated 25.2.2021, however at the time of submission of his online application form, he furnished the certificate issued by the competent authority of the State, of the backward caste meant for the post under the Central Government. He was permitted to appear in the written examination and having been successful as such and also qualifying the other physical standard and efficiency test, deserved to be considered in the merit list of the OBC category. At the time of document verification on 17th May, 2022, he furnished a notary affidavit alongwith certificate issued by the competent authority of the OBC caste but this time issued on the format meant for the post under the State Government. The certificate that was furnished by the petitioner was issued on 26.11.2018, which was available to him at the time of filling up the form but was not issued during the period required for i.e. between 01.4.2021 and 30th April, 2021.

3. In view of the fact that petitioner did not furnish requisite certificate issued on the format meant for the posts under the State Government of the relevant period and had submitted certificate on the format meant for the posts under the Central Government, the respondent seems to have considered the petitioner in open category instead of OBC and that is how petitioner having not qualified the merit in the open category, could not make it successful to find place in merit list. It is submitted that last cut-off marks for the selected candidate in OBC is 305.54 for the post of Sub Inspector, whereas petitioner's marks are 305.84.

4. Two fold arguments have been advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner:

(a). The controversy regarding irreconcilable the difference of repugnancy between norms fixed for issuing caste certificate for the posts under the Central Government and that for the posts under the State Government is no more res integra as format has been issued for the both the purposes by the same State Government for the Court which recognized as OBC in the state and both the certificates are issued by the competent authority assigned for such purpose by the State Government; and

(b) The purpose of the cast certificate being to make an acknowledgement that a person (candidate) is belonging to a particular caste and such an evidence of this fact and unless and until there is dispute with respect to a candidates falling under the non creamy layer a certificate issued and recognized by the State Government cannot be denied by the selecting body merely being on a different format.

5. Per contra, the argument advanced by learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel is to the effect that requisite document is required to be filed alongwith application form filled up online upto the last date and if one is not possessed of the requisite document as required for, till the last date of the submission of form, a candidate cannot be permitted to rectify shortcomings subsequently.

6. The other argument advanced by learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel is that a caste certificate was required to be issued on a format prescribed for the posts under the State Government vide Clause 5.4(4) of the advertisement and there was specific rider to the effect that in the event the cast certificate issued on a required format is not filed or cast certificate meant for the posts under the Central Government is filed then candidature of such candidate in the reserved category shall be cancelled.

7. Learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel has also sought to urge that in view of the answer given to third issue framed by the full bench of this Court in the case of Gaurav Sharma v. State of U.P. and Other, 2017 (2) ESC 877 (All) (FB), vide Paragraph 28, despite there being no repugnancy in the norms fixed by the Union and State Government, it would not absolve a candidate of liability to furnish a requisite document evidencing his cast status of to a particular reserved category as recognized and identified by the State,

8. In rejoinder to the counter submissions advanced by learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel, learned counsel appearing for the petitioner reiterated his argument and further added that even previously petitioner had been selected as constable by the police department on the basis of certificate issued in the year 2018, and therefore, there could be no doubt that petitioner did belong to OBC category and fell under non creamy layer.

9. It is also argued by learned counsel appearing for the petitioner that in the State Of U.P. Thru. Addl. Chief Secy. Home (Police) Civil Sectr. Lko. And Others v.

Rinki Yadav passed in Special Appeal (Def.) No. 274 of 2022 on 11.02.2009, a division bench has addressed all these issues and also referred to the judgment of the full bench in the case of Gaurav Sharma (supra) and has thus dismissed the appeal of the State Government against the order passed by the learned Single Judge who had permitted for consideration of candidature of that petitioner against the same recruitment examination conducted despite the fact that in that case also the caste certificate issued on the format meant for the posts under the Central Government, issued by the competent authority of the State, was filed initially.

10. Having heard learned counsel for the respective parties and their arguments raised across the bar, I find there to be the only issue that requires consideration as to whether merely because the petitioner did not get the requisite document in the form of certificate on the format of the State Government of the relevant period, would make any difference even if he had furnished caste certificate on the format meant for the post under the Central Government issued by the competent authority during period prescribed for under the advertisement.

11. In view of findings returned by the division bench of this Court in the case of State of U.P. v. Rinki Yadav (supra) vide paragraph 15 and 16, I do not consider it appropriate to go again into the controversy as to whether a candidate filing a certificate on the format meant for the post under the Central Government of the required period issued by the competent authority, would be considerable or not .

12. Paragraphs 15 and 16 of the judgment of the division bench are reproduced hereunder:

15. One of the issues which was considered by the Full Bench in the case of Gaurav Sharma (Supra) was as to whether there exists any irreconcilable difference or repugnancy between the norms fixed by the Union and State Governments with regard to certification of creamy layer? If not, its effect. It is also relevant to point out that petitioner in the Gaurav Sharma case had also submitted the certificate certifying that he belonged to the O.B.C. category in the same format in which the respondent-petitioner obtained the caste certificate and submitted the same for seeking benefit of the reservation available to O.B.C category candidates. The format in which the respondent-petitioner obtained the certificate is prescribed by the State of Uttar Pradesh. This fact is not in dispute, however, as stated by the learned counsel for the appellant-State authorities, the said format is for claiming benefit of reservation available to O.B.C. category candidates in relation to employment under the Government of India and not in relation to employment under the State of Uttar Pradesh. The caste certificate relied upon by the candidate in the case of Gaurav Sharma has been extracted in para-5 of the said judgement which is the same in which the respondent-petitioner was issued the certificate by the Tehsildar. The Full Bench in the case of Gaurav Sharma (Supra) has opined that, "while it is true that a caste certificate is only a recognition of an existing status, an O.B.C. candidate necessarily must establish the twin conditions of belonging to an O.B.C. group recognized by the State and also that he does not fall within the creamy layer. In paragraph-26 of the judgment in the case of Gaurav Sharma, the Full Bench has further observed that, "while it is true that an O.B.C. candidate even he produces a certificate which evidences that he does not stand excluded from the benefits of reservation in terms of office memorandum dated 14th October, 2008, that issue still remain as to whether he is an O.B.C, as specified and identified by the State of Uttar Pradesh. The Full Bench further observes that, "although the certificate initially submitted by the O.B.C, candidates before the court did not stand excluded by virtue of standards fixed by the office memorandum dated 14th October, 2008, the certificate did not evidence them belonging to an O.B.C, as identified in the State of Uttar Pradesh". The court further goes on to observe that, "for the purposes of seeking the benefit of reservation it is imperative for a candidate to establish that he belongs to O.B.C, as recognized and identified by the State concerned and further that he/she does not fall within the field of exclusion".

16. Finally answering the issue (C), it has been said by the Full Bench in para-27 of the report that:

"27. We accordingly answer Question No. 1 in the negative and hold that an OBC candidate is not exempt from the rigours of a cut off or last date prescribed in an advertisement or recruitment notice. We further declare that Arvind Kumar Yadav correctly articulates the law on the issue and overrule Pravesh Kumar and Shubham Gupta. Insofar as Question No. 3 is concerned, we hold that although there is no repugnancy in the norms fixed by the Union and State Government, the same would have no favourable impact upon the eligibility of a candidate unless he also furnishes a certificate evidencing him as belonging to the OBC category as recognised and identified by the State."

(emphasis added)

13. The Court vide paragraph 20 discussed the OBC caste Ahir belonging to OBC category which is given in the scheduled-1 as appended to the Reservation Act of 1994 and in that regard has also discussed and has also referred to notification issued in the Gazette of India, extraordinary dated 13th September, 1993. Paragraph 20, 21 and 22 of the judgment are reproduced hereunder:

“20. The Schedule-1 appended to Reservation Act 1994 is referable to Section-2 (b) of the said Act. Section 2(b) of the Reservation Act defines other backward classes of citizens to mean the backward classes of citizens specified in Schedule-1. 21. A perusal of afore quoted Schedule-1 appended to 1994 Reservation Act clearly reveals that entry-1 therein mentions the community "Ahir". Accordingly as per the identification and recognition made by the State of Uttar Pradesh for a particular community belonging to other backward class, the entries in Schedule-1 is the only source for determination of such an issue. Admittedly "Ahir" community is included in the Schedule-1 at entry-1 and hence in terms of the identification made by the State of Uttar Pradesh for providing reservation available to O.B.C category candidates, persons belonging to "Ahir" community are identified and recognized for the said purpose.

22. If we examine the notification published in the Gazette of India, extraordinary dated 13th September, 1993 which publishes the resolution of the Government of India dated 10th September, 1993 what we find is that in the State of Uttar Pradesh Ahir community is listed at Serial No.1. Accordingly, on examination of the identification made by the Government of India as also by the State of Uttar Pradesh for the purposes of inclusion of a particular group or community amongst the Other Backward Classes or citizens entitle to seek benefit of reservation available to them, we find that there does not exist any repugnancy as far as "Ahir" community is concerned. The reason for us to observe that there is no such repugnancy is that "Ahir" community finds mentioned in the notification of the Government of India dated 13th September 1993 which published the resolution of the Government of India dated 10th September 1993 and it is also included at Entry-1 of Schedule-1 appended to 1994 Reservation Act passed by the Legislature of State of Uttar Pradesh. “

14. The Court also referred to both the formats framed by the State Government vide paragraphs 7 and 8 of the judgment, which run as under:

“7. Learned counsel for the appellant- State Authorities has vehemently argued that as per the Notes appended to Clause 5.4 of the advertisement, the benefit of reservation to those candidates who belong to Other Backward Classes but fall in the creamy layer will not be available. Drawing out attention to Note 3 appended to clause 5.4 of the advertisement, it has been argued by learned State Counsel that the said provision in the advertisement clearly provides that the candidates belonging to Other Backward Classes as mentioned in Schedule-I of the Uttar Pradesh Public Services (Reservation for Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and Other Backward Classes) Act 1994 (hereinafter referred to as the Reservation Act 1994) will not be entitled to the benefit of reservation if they fall in the creamy layer category. He has also stated that as per the stipulation made in Note 3, the caste certificate to be submitted by the candidates claiming the benefit of reservation available to Other Backward Classes shall be in a format (Praroop -1) and should have been issued on or after 01st April, 2020 but till the last date of making the application. That is to say, the caste certificate to be submitted by the candidate concerned should have been issued between 01st April, 2020 and 30th April, 2021 for the reason that 30th April, 2021 was the last date as per the advertisement to make the application. Note 3 appended to Clause 5.4 to the advertisement is extracted hereunder :-

15. I have perused the caste certificate of the petitioner issued on format meant for the post of Central Government filed as Annexure 1 at page 25-b and find that petitioner has been certified to be belonging to 'Ahir' community and also not falling in category and persons belonging to 'creamy layer' and the certificate which was earlier issued to the petitioner on 26.11.2018, the petitioner has been declared certified to be belonging to 'Ahir' community and also within the financial status, which would fall out of 'creamy layer'.

16. In view of above, therefore, in my considered view as petitioner belongs to the same selection and recruitment in respect of which judgment was passed in the case of State of U.P. and Rinki Yadav (supra) the petitioner is entitled to the same relief.

17. In the case of State of Uttar Pradesh and Others v. Arvind Kumar Srivastava and Others (2015) 1 SCC 347, vide paragraph 22.1, Supreme Court has held thus:

“ The normal rule is that when a particular set of employees is given relief by the Court, all other identically situated persons need to be treated alike by extending that benefit. Not doing so would amount to discrimination and would be violative of Article 14 of the Constitution of India. This principle needs to be applied in service matters more emphatically as the service jurisprudence evolved by this Court from time to time postulates that all similarly situated persons should be treated similarly. Therefore, the normal rule would be that merely because other similarly situated persons did not approach the Court earlier, they are not to be treated differently ”

18. Now, there could be a question here, as has been argued by learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel, regarding distinguishing facts between the two cases. In the case of State of U.P. v. Rinki Yadav (supra), the certificate on the format meant for the posts under State Government was furnished of the requisite period later on whereas in the present case, petitioner has never furnished the certificate on the format meant for the posts under the State Government. This argument though appears to be quite impressive looking to the conditions laid down under the advertisement but one must not forget that in the event two certificates are being issued by same Government authority, and purpose/object in two different formats is the same, furnishing requisite information, the State selecting body under the circumstances cannot just reject the candidature on the ground that certificate has not been furnished on a particular format required for under the advertisement of the requisite period even though certificate of requisite period was submitted.

19. It is necessary here at this stage also to go through the clause 5.4(4) of the advertisement dated 25.2.2021 is reproduced hereunder:

“ अन्य पिछड़ा वर्ग श्रेणी के अभ्यर्थियों द्वारा निर्धारित प्रारूप-1 निर्धारित अवधि का प्रमाण पत्र प्रस्तुत न किये जाने अथवा भारत सरकार की सेवाओं हेतु मान्य अन्य पिछड़ा वर्ग श्रेणी को प्रमाण-पत्र प्रस्तुत किये जाने पर उसको अनारक्षित श्रेणी के अभ्यर्थी के रूप में व्यवहृत किया जायेगा । ”

20. The language of clause 5.4(4) though in so many words prescribes that certificate should not be on the format meant for the posts under the Government of India but looking to the object with which the clause has been framed that the candidate must furnish a certificate evidencing the caste meant to make him eligible for the particular category under reservation in the State of Uttar Pradesh.

21. There could be cases where a caste recognized as falling in particular reserved category as per notification of Central Government but not in the State and vice versa, in as much as since posts under Central Government are applied at the country land from different states and so Union of India/ Central Government has prescribed a common format for all states. Hence, therefore, we should have a pragmatic approach. The format whether of Central Government or State Government, if has all the requisites to identify a person belonging to a particular caste so as to ascertain his/her eligibility for reservation, it should be acceptable provided, of course both the certificates are issued by the same authority and of the same State where posts are under State Government and are subject to selection and recruitment.

22. Here, I would like to refer to paragraph 29 of the judgment of the division bench, in which reservation has been taken to be an affirmative action on the part of the State Government to reach out to most defined section of the society in giving proper representation in government service with an object to bringing them in the main stream of the country. Paragraph 29 of the judgment in the division bench of State of U.P. v. Rinki Yadav (supra) is reproduced hereunder:

“29. Before parting with this case, we may observe that benefit of reservation in public employment to different disadvantaged sections of Society is permissible under the Constitution of India as an affirmative action. It is not in dispute that the respondent-petitioner was given appointment while she claimed the benefit of reservation available to O.B.C. candidates in her selection to the post of Constable (Civil Police). Merely because the certificate produced by her was not in Praroop-I, though the certificate produced by her clearly evidences that she belongs to an O.B.C. group as identified by the State of Uttar Pradesh and also that she does not get excluded as a person belonging to creamy layer in terms of the criteria laid down by the State of Uttar Pradesh for the said purpose, it should not be taken aid of by the State authorities for denying her otherwise constitutionally guaranteed right of affirmative action. “

23. It is also necessary here to refer to last paragraph 5 of the judgment of the full bench in the case of Gaurav Sharma (supra) wherein question no. 3 has been answered and which was heavily relied upon by the Additional Chief Standing Counsel in support of his argument. The answer given by the full bench in question no. 3 in paragraph 28 is reproduced hereunder:

“28. Applying the reasoning as given by the Full Bench in the case of Gaurav Sharma (supra), we, accordingly, are of the opinion that the certificate relied upon and submitted by the respondent-petitioner; dated 15th April 2021 which was issued by Tehsildar, Unnao sufficiently certifies and evidences that the respondent-petitioner belongs to an O.B.C. group identified and recognized by the State of Uttar Pradesh and further that she as per the criteria prescribed by the State of Uttar Pradesh for exclusion under creamy layer does not fall in the creamy layer and hence she is eligible and entitle to claim reservation available to O.B.C. category candidate. “

24. Upon reading of the aforesaid paragraph of the judgment, it is clear that a candidate is required to furnish certificate evidencing him to be belonging to OBC category as recognized and identified by the State so the ratio behind the answer by the full bench appears to be very clear that a candidate is required to furnish certificate which certifies him belonging to the caste of particular category under which he/ she claims reservation benefit.

25. I would also observe here that the object behind reservation being to bring into mainstream of the nation the most oppressed class both socially and financially and castes in the state and at the nation level are identified and notified of such category to offer them reservation in government service, so if there is no quarrel about the cast of a person as notified by the state deserving benefit of regularization in that state, it should not matter on which format certificate has been issued. Both the posts under Union of India and the State if are reserved for such category and the state is issuing certificates one meant for posts under Central Government and other for post under State Government, if requisite information is available, it would be hypothetical approach to reject a certificate just for it being on a format prescribed for the posts under Central Government. To this extent the relevant clause in the advertisement should be construed liberally.

26. In the present case whether it is upon format meant for the posts under Government of India or upon format meant for posts the State Government both the certificates having been issued by the State Government certifying the petitioner to be belonging to Ahir cast, the OBC caste and also not belong to creamy layer, respondents are not justified in rejecting candidature of the petitioner as far as his eligibility for OBC category is concerned.

27. In view of above, writ petition succeeds and is allowed. The respondents are directed to consider the candidature of the petitioner as candidate of other backward caste, in the selection held for the recruitment against the post of Sub Inspector under the advertisement PRPB-nsk-2 (3 fo /2020) dated 25.2.2021. The petitioner shall be placed in the merit list of OBC category as per marks obtained and if is at par or above the last cut off, shall be offered appointment.

Civil Law - Civil Service Regulations, 1986 -
 Regulation 361 - Industrial Employment
 (Standing Orders) Act, 1946 - U.P.

Absorption of Retrenched Employees Rules, 1991 - Constitution of India, 1950 - Article 14 - Article 226 - Governed absorption of UPCL employees into other government departments post-liquidation

The St. appealed against a Single Judge's order (12.03.2018) granting pensionary benefits to workmen of the Churk and Dala Cement Factories, owned by the St., under Regulation 361 of the Civil Service Regulations, for service rendered up to 31.03.1981. The core question was whether these workmen, governed by the Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act, 1946, could be treated as civil servants eligible for pension, given their status as industrial employees and subsequent absorption into the U.P. Cement Corporation Limited from 01.04.1981. The court affirmed the respondents' entitlement to pensionary benefits, rejecting the St.'s argument that workmen were not civil servants. The decision rested on the St.'s own policy (02.08.2005 Order), the equitable principle of equal treatment under Article 14, and the factual identity with Gorakh Nath Pandey.

The appeal was dismissed.

Singh, J.
Hon'ble Vinod Diwakar, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ajeet Kumar Singh, learned Additional Advocate General assisted by Sri Pankaj Kumar Rai, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel and Sri Amit Verma, learned Standing Counsel for the respondents-appellants and Sri Yogesh Kumar Saxena, learned counsel for the respondents-petitioners.

2. Present intra-court appeal has been filed against the order of the learned single judge dated 12.03.2018 passed in Writ-A No. 33526 of 2016 (Shiv Jag Sharma and 9 others Vs. State of U.P. and others).

3. By that order, the learned single judge has allowed the writ petition, following the earlier decision of a Division Bench of this Court in Special Appeal (Defective) No. 773 of 2016 (State of U.P. and 4 others Vs. Gorakh Nath Pandey and 15 others), arising from an order of the another learned single judge dated 12.04.2016 in Writ-A No. 61107 of 2013 (Gorakh Nath Pandey and 15 others Vs. State of U.P. and 4 others).

4. In short, petitioners-respondents who had been engaged as workmen at the Churk and Dala Cement Factories established by the Government of U.P., have been directed to be paid pension, commensurate to the years of service rendered at those cement factories of the State Government, up to the cut off date i.e. 31.03.1981. They having rendered 10 years qualifying service on that date, were found eligible to that benefit, under Regulation 361 of the Civil Service Regulation.

5. Submissions of the learned Additional Advocate General are, all the petitioners-respondents were appointed as workmen at the Churk and Dala Cement Factories established by the State Government. Though, they may have served continuously for a period of 10 years in that capacity, they could never claim to be Civil Servants within the meaning of Regulation 361 of the Civil Service Regulation. The petitioners-respondents had only been appointed as workmen under the Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act, 1946 (hereinafter referred to as the "Act, 1946") and the Standing Order issued thereunder. Referring to the Government Order No. 1355, dated 18.04.1972, it has been submitted, the distinction between the workmen who may have worked at the above described cement factories and the other employees and officers of the State Government, who may have worked at those establishment of the government and who were governed by the Industrial Standing Orders, may never have been equalised.

6. Reference has also been made to another Government Order dated 01.07.1989, to submit that the same was applicable only to Temporary Government Servants but not to workmen, who may have been engaged by the State Government.

7. Referring to another Office Order No. 3047-51, dated 02.08.2005, it has been submitted, the benefit of the pension scheme was applicable only to Officers and Temporary Government Servants of the above described cement factories, who were not governed by the Industrial Standing Orders, excluding the workmen who remained governed by the terms of the extant Industrial Standing Orders.

8. Relying on a decision of the Supreme Court in Ajit Kumar Nag Vs. General Manager (PJ), Indian Oil Corporation Limited; (2005) 7 SCC 764, it has been strenuously urged, workmen engaged at an industrial establishment owned by the State Government may never acquire the status of a government servant. Since the petitioners-respondents continued to be workmen of the State Government, up to the date of their absorption in the U.P. Cement Corporation incorporated by the State Government w.e.f. 1.4.1981, they never acquired the status of a government/civil servant, either while working as a workman at a factory establishment owned by the State Government or at the factory of the corporation owned by the State Government.

9. That status of government servant may have been acquired by some of the petitioners-respondents who later came to be absorbed in other government departments under the U.P. Absorption of Retrenched Employees Rules, 1991, occasioned by the winding of the U.P. Cement Corporation Limited, vide order of the learned Company Judge, dated 8.12.1989. None of the petitioners-respondents have set up their claim of having completed qualifying service after the date of such absorption, as government servants.

10. In that factual premise, it has been submitted, the earlier order of the learned single judge in Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra) was based on a wrong assumption in law. It did not take note of the correct status of the petitioners in that case and proceeded to treat the workmen of the State Government to be government employees/civil servants. That mistake committed by the learned single judge was not corrected in the intra court appeal being Special Appeal (Defective) No. 773 of 2016 (State of U.P. and 4 others Vs. Gorakh Nath Pandey and 15 others) (hereinafter referred to as the "Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra)").

11. Upon further challenge raised by the State before the Supreme Court, that view of the co-ordinate bench of this Court was not affirmed. Thus, the Special Leave Petition (Civil) Diary No. 11199 of 2018 (State of Uttar Pradesh & Ors. Vs. Gorakh Nath Pandey & Ors.) came to be decided by the following order dated 01.05.2018 :

"Delay condoned.

Application for exemption from filing official translation is allowed.

In the peculiar facts of this case, we are not inclined to exercise our jurisdiction under Article 136 of the Constitution of India. Hence, this special leave petition is dismissed, leaving the question of law open.

Needless to say that the impugned judgment may not be treated as precedent."

12. Thus, it was only in the peculiar facts of that case found by the Supreme Court that SLP came to be dismissed. At the same time, the question of law raised in that appeal, whether a workman at a government factory could be equated as a government servant and be eligible to pension, was specifically left open. Any doubt in that regard was clarified further by the Supreme Court by observing that the said decision of the division bench of this Court would not be treated as a precedent.

13. In view of that order passed by the Supreme Court, the learned Additional Advocate General would further contend, the issue has to be examined de novo and, in any case, referred to a larger bench of the Court.

14. Since the equities are pitted directly against the law, it is not for this Court to rule in favour of equities. Here, reliance has been placed on decisions of the Supreme Court in Kamla Neti Vs. The Special Land Acquisition Officer and others; (2023) 3 SCC 528, B. Premanand and others Vs. Mohan Koikal and others; (2011) 4 SCC 266 and P.M. Latha and another Vs. State of Kerala and others; (2003) 3 SCC 541.

15. Last, it has been submitted, the petitioners did not approach this Court within time and therefore they are entitled to get any relief. The learned single judge has erred in allowing their writ petitions. Here, reliance has been placed on three co-ordinate bench decisions of this Court, in State of U.P. and 3 others Vs. Mohd. Israr Khan and 40 others; Neutral Citation No. 2023:AHC:105865-DB, State of U.P. and 2 others Vs. Gautam Das and 46 others; Neutral Citation No. 2023:AHC:105868-DB and State of U.P. and 2 others Vs. Sant Lal Vishwakarma and 50 others; Neutral Citation No. 2023:AHC:116438-DB.

16. On the other hand, Sri Yogesh Kumar Saxena would submit, the petitioners-respondents have not been given any benefit of service rendered by them to the U.P. Cement Corporation Limited w.e.f. 1.4.1981. Undoubtedly, those services have to be treated to have been rendered to a corporation established by the State Government. That corporation was a distinct and different entity from that of the State Government. Therefore, the dictum of the Supreme Court in Ajit Kumar Nag (supra) is wholly inapplicable to the present facts, inasmuch as that ratio had arisen in the context of employees of a State owned corporation only. In that case, it was never in dispute, if a workman under the industrial establishment owned by the State Government may stand on the same footing as a government servant or a civil servant.

17. The precise issue that had arisen in the present case was dealt with by the State Government by first issuing Government Order No. 1355, dated 18.04.1972 dealing with the nomenclature of employees of the State Government. Then, vide further Government Order dated 01.07.1989, it was specifically provided that the retiral benefits due to Government Servants would extend to Temporary Government Servants as well. In any case, on 02.08.2005, the State Government being cognizant of the fact situation applicable to the present case namely workmen of the industrial establishment owned by it had been permanently absorbed by a corporation established by it, w.e.f. 1.4.1981. In that context, the workmen of the State Government were described as employees with reference to whom provision was being made by means of the said Office Order. Paragraph-3 of the said order clearly refers to the workmen of the Cement Factories, Churk and Dala of the State Government. The State Government then announced its decision to extend the pensionary benefits to such workmen treating/equating them to be Temporary Government Servants to whom such benefit had been extended by the earlier Government Order dated 01.07.1989.

18. That decision having been made by the State Government itself and implemented, the petitioners were clearly entitled to its benefits. The distinction, if any that was being drawn, was dealt with by the learned single judge in Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra). Thereupon, it was found, having worked for more than 10 years in the cement factory established by the State Government, those workmen were entitled to pensionary benefits under the self-same Government Order (discussed above).

19. Upon challenge laid to the said order of the learned single judge, a division bench of this Court dealt with the self-same issue and repelled the submission as is now being advanced on behalf of the State Government. After a detailed discussion of the provisions of the Civil Service Regulation, the co-ordinate Bench reached a conclusion that the workmen of the industrial establishment owned by the State Government would remain entitled to pensionary benefits as government servants.

20. While the Supreme Court may not have fully approved and thus affirmed the order of the co-ordinate Bench, it did not reverse the same and in any case, it did not lay down any contrary law. The later observation made in that order leaving the question of law open and not for that reason allowing that decision of the coordinate bench to be made precedent, only indicates that the same is not to be applied by way of reasoning if facts are different.

21. Insofar as the same facts are shown to exist in the present case as existed in Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra), peculiarity of facts noted by the Supreme Court in the third paragraph of its order dated 1.5.2018 obtains in the present case, as well. It is not the case of the State-respondents that the present set of respondents stand on a different footing than the petitioners in Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra). Therefore, while no law may have arisen as may bind the Court in future decisions, at the same time, the rule of consistency and principles of equity would dictate, the Court may not draw any distinction as may itself lead to equals being treated unequally. Relying on a decision of the Supreme Court in Modified Voluntary Retirement Scheme of 2002 of Azam Jahi Mill Workers Association Vs. National Textile Corporation Limited and others; [2021 (4) ESC 880 (SC)], it has been strenuously urged that the Court itself may not pass any order as may result in equals being treated unequally. As to delay, it has been submitted, neither such ground was raised before the learned single judge nor there is any inordinate delay on the part of the petitioner in the present case. These petitions were filed immediately after pronouncement by the learned single judge in Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra).

22. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and having perused the record, we find the coordinate Bench in Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra) had the occasion to deal with the exact same submissions being advanced in the present appeal. There also, an issue had been raised that exactly similarly situated workmen of a cement factory established by the State Government may not have been equated to civil servants and, therefore, they may not be found entitled to pensionary benefits under Regulation 361 of the Civil Service Regulations. Pertinent to the dispute before us, the co-ordinate bench had observed as under:

"Crux of the submission of the learned Advocate General therefore, is what once the petitioners are found to answer the description of workmen/industrial employees within the meaning of to be assigned under the Standing Orders Act, they stand excluded from the definition of a person appointed to a civil post or in civil service within the meaning of U.P. Fundamental Rules/Civil Service Regulations and therefore they are not entitled to pension.

We specifically inquired from the learned Advocate General as to under which provision of the U.P. Fundamental Rules/Civil Service Regulations/Standing Orders Act, any such exclusion in respect of the persons who are workmen are not being a person appointed to a civil post. No response could be given. It is more or less an admitted position that there is no specific provision for excluding the workmen/industrial employees in the matter of payment of pension/retiral dues, who otherwise satisfy all the conditions as contemplates by Regulation 361 of the Civil Service Regulations.

The Standing Orders Act has been enforced with an object to law down the condition of service like disciplinary action, leave, allowances etc. so as to minimize the friction between the workmen and employer in Industrial Undertaking. Such Industrial Undertaking can be private undertaking or Government Undertaking or Public Private Undertaking. It is useful to refer to the definition of employer contained in Section 2 (d) (ii) of the Act, 1946, which reads as follows:

"2. Interpretation.

(d) "employer".....

(ii) in any industrial establishment under the control of any department of any Government in India, the authority appointed by such Government in this behalf, or where no authority is so appointed, the head of the department;"

Thus, it will be seen that a Government may own industrial undertaking and in that circumstance, a employee working in such an industrial undertaking has to be held to be in service of Government and if the appointment is substantive and his service is to be paid by the Government, he stands covered by the provisions of Regulation 361 of the Civil Service Regulations, which entitles him to pension.

For ready reference, Regulation 361 of the Civil Service Regulations reads as under:

"361. The service of an officer does not qualify for pension unless it conforms to the following three conditions:---

First-The service must be under Government.

Second-The employment must be substantive and permanent.

Third-The service must be paid by Government."

We may explain that use of the word "civil service" under Civil Service Regulations has to be read to include all nature of employment in the Government, except those which are in relation to defence service or service connected with defence.

Civil Service as defined in The New Dictionary of Cultural Literacy, Third Edition by Houghton Mifflin Company reads as under:

"The nonmilitary personnel who work for a government, applying its laws and regulations."

In our opinion the service conditions laid down as per the Certified Standing Orders, the Act, 1946 do not in any way impinge upon the right of a employee working in a Government Industrial Undertaking to be entitled to pension and other retiral dues under Regulation 361 of Civil Service Regulations. Provisions of Regulation 361 of the Civil Service Regulations are a beneficial piece of legislation and we do not find any reason for the persons who are covered by the Certified Standing Orders to be excluded from the benefits of Regulation 361 of the Civil Service Regulations, if they satisfy the other requirements of Regulation 361 of the Civil Service Regulations.

In our opinion even a workman/industrial employee of Government Industrial Undertaking has to be held to be a civil servant/holder of a civil post under the Government so as to be covered within the meaning of Regulation 361 of the Civil Service Regulations.

There is no issue with regard to other employees appointed in Factory at Churk and subsequently absorbed in the Corporation being paid pension in terms of the Government Order dated 2nd August, 2005.

We for the reasons recorded above see no reason as to why the workmen/industrial employees similarly appointed and absorbed be denied the same benefit. It is held that petitioners who answer the description of industrial employees/workmen shall also be covered by the Government Order dated 2nd August, 2005 and would be entitled to all benefits following therefrom.

In the totality of the circumstances on record we do not find any substance in the contentions raised by the learned Advocate General for the State to interfere with the judgment and order of the learned Single Judge dated 12th April, 2016.

All these appeals lack merit and are accordingly dismissed."

23. Thus, we find, exact same submission had been raised before the coordinate Bench. It had been dealt with and repelled on the reasoning that the petitioners (in that case), were specifically included for the purpose of grant of pensionary benefit upon the decision made by the State Government dated 02.08.2005. Even today, it is no one's case that the above Office Order issued by the Commissioner and Director, Industries, Government of U.P., was later withdrawn or amended, at any subsequent date. That decision of the State Government has not only remained in existence, but it was also enforced against the State Government in Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra).

24. Therefore, the mere reference to the Standing Order containing the terms and conditions of engagement of the petitioners-respondents as workmen establishes that technically it is true that the workmen of the industrial establishment may stand on a different footing than an employee of the State Government enjoying status of an employee engaged under separate Rules. That technical deficiency of status though may always be recognized by the Courts, yet, it is always open to the State-government/employer to still treat its workmen equal to its other employees, for grant of pensionary benefit. In the context of a welfare State, that exact decision does appear to have been made by the State Government in favour of the present petitioners-respondents on 02.08.2005 when it decided, despite being conscious of the above distinction of the status of the petitioners-respondents, to grant them pensionary benefits by equating them with other government employees. Relevant extract of the Office Order dated 02.08.2005 reads as below:

25. It was never for this Court to question the wisdom of the State Government in taking that administrative decision. Insofar as that decision was permissible to be taken by the State Government, apparently while pursuing the welfarist objectives under the Constitution of India, we do not find that decision to be per se illegal or contrary to law. Having failed to specifically exclude the workmen from the scope of application of that order, it was not fair for the respondent-appellant/State, to now set up this plea.

26. As to reason, we find the learned single judge did not find any occasion to take a different view to that taken by the coordinate bench, in Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra). The learned single judge felt inclined to follow the decision of the coordinate bench in Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra). In the peculiar facts of the present case namely, the State Government having itself chosen to treat the industrial workmen appointed by it at its erstwhile cement factories at Churk and Dala, to be entitled to pensionary benefits and in view of the exact identity of facts between present petitioners-respondents and in Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra), and further, in absence of any dispute to the continued applicability of the Office Order dated 02.08.2005 issued by the State Government, read in conjunction with the Government Orders dated 18.04.1972 and 01.07.1989, to such industrial workmen, they having fulfilled the requirement of qualifying service of 10 years on the cutoff date i.e. 31.3.1981, we do not see any wrong principle had been applied by the learned single judge, in this case.

27. In Wander Ltd. Vs Antox India P. Ltd. 1990 (Supp) SCC 727, in an appeal arising from an interlocutory injunction, the Supreme Court disapproved the approach of the division bench of the High Court, in interfering with the interlocutory order of the learned single judge. In that, it was laid down:

“14.The appeals before the Division Bench were against the exercise of discretion by the Single Judge. In such appeals, the appellate court will not interfere with the exercise of discretion of the court of first instance and substitute its own discretion except where the discretion has been shown to have been exercised arbitrarily, or capriciously or perversely or where the court had ignored the settled principles of law regulating grant or refusal of interlocutory injunctions. An appeal against exercise of discretion is said to be an appeal on principle. Appellate court will not reassess the material and seek to reach a conclusion different from the one reached by the court below if the one reached by that court was reasonably possible on the material. The appellate court would normally not be justified in interfering with the exercise of discretion under appeal solely on the ground that if it had considered the matter at the trial stage it would have come to a contrary conclusion. If the discretion has been exercised by the trial court reasonably and in a judicial manner the fact that the appellate court would have taken a different view may not justify interference with the trial court's exercise of discretion. After referring to these principles Gajendragadkar, J. in Printers (Mysore) Private Ltd.v.Pothan Joseph[(1960) 3 SCR 713 : AIR 1960 SC 1156] : (SCR 721)

“... These principles are well established, but as has been observed by Viscount Simon in Charles Osenton & Co.v.Jhanaton[1942 AC 130] ‘...the law as to the reversal by a court of appeal of an order made by a judge below in the exercise of his discretion is well established, and any difficulty that arises is due only to the application of well settled principles in an individual case’.”

The appellate judgment does not seem to defer to this principle”.

28. That principle was then applied by the Supreme Court to intra court appeals arising in writ jurisdiction, in Roma Sonkar v. M.P. State Public Service Commission, (2018) 17 SCC 106. It was observed:

“3.We have very serious reservations whether the Division Bench in an intra-court appeal could have remitted a writ petition in the matter of moulding the relief. It is the exercise of jurisdiction of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. The learned Single Judge as well as the Division Bench exercised the same jurisdiction. Only to avoid inconvenience to the litigants, another tier of screening by the Division Bench is provided in terms of the power of the High Court but that does not mean that the Single Judge is subordinate to the Division Bench. Being a writ proceeding, the Division Bench was called upon, in the intra-court appeal, primarily and mostly to consider the correctness or otherwise of the view taken by the learned Single Judge. Hence, in our view, the Division Bench needs to consider the appeal(s) on merits by deciding on the correctness of the judgment of the learned Single Judge, instead of remitting the matter to the learned Single Judge”.

29. We thus prefer to look through the filter of principle to be applied to the undisputed rather, admitted facts. To the extent, we find no fault in exactly similar citizens being treated similarly (on the force of an earlier division bench decision of this Court, that was not upturned in the challenge raised to it before the Supreme Court), at the cost of the respondent-State, that is otherwise sworn to pursue the constitutional ideology of a welfarism. The beneficiaries of that equality being affirmed through the agency of equitable relief granted, being individual workmen who had been engaged by the State Government, we find no error of principle applied by the learned single judge, in granting them the relief, following the earlier decision of the coordinate bench in Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra).

30. Thus, in the present facts, we decline to examine if an industrial workman (appointed with that status by the State Government), would hold the status equivalent to that of a Government Servant or a Civil Servant. We are inclined to affirm the decision of the learned single judge that is found based on the decision of the coordinate Bench in Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra). In the peculiar facts of the present case namely noted above we find no error of principle applied by the learned single judge, in allowing the writ petition in terms of Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra).

31. As noted above, that conscious and beneficial decision was taken by the State Government. It is not the case of the State Government that the said Executive Order was in conflict with any statutory or other law, that Executive Order created the force of law, to the extent the State Government may not be permitted to either ignore it or to exercise whims or to pick and choose between exactly similarly situated persons – to grant its benefit to some to deny it to others. To that extent the Executive Order remains enforceable, and in any case lays down an administrative principle that may be applied universally, to all persons falling within its ambit, without any element of arbitrariness.

32. Coming to the order of the Supreme Court, we find, no exaggerated intent may be drawn from the use of the phraseology in that order, either to the words "peculiar facts in this case" or "leaving the question of law open" or "impugned judgement may not be treated as precedent". It is settled law that an order of the Supreme Court dismissing Special Leave Petition does not itself lay down any law as was observed by the Supreme Court in V.M. Salgaocar & Bros. (P) Ltd. v. CIT, (2000) 5 SCC 373, observed as under:

“8. Different considerations apply when a special leave petition under Article 136 of the Constitution is simply dismissed by saying “dismissed” and an appeal provided under Article 133 is dismissed also with the words “the appeal is dismissed”. In the former case it has been laid by this Court that when a special leave petition is dismissed this Court does not comment on the correctness or otherwise of the order from which leave to appeal is sought. But what the Court means is that it does not consider it to be a fit case for exercise of its jurisdiction under Article 136 of the Constitution. That certainly could not be so when an appeal is dismissed though by a non-speaking order. Here the doctrine of merger applies. In that case, the Supreme Court upholds the decision of the High Court or of the Tribunal from which the appeal is provided under clause (3) of Article 133. This doctrine of merger does not apply in the case of dismissal of a special leave petition under Article 136. When an appeal is dismissed the order of the High Court is merged with that of the Supreme Court. We quote the following paragraph from the judgment of this Court in the case of Supreme Court Employees' Welfare Assn.v.Union of India[(1989) 4 SCC 187 : 1989 SCC (L&S) 569] : (SCC pp. 206-07, para 22)

“22. It has been already noticed that the special leave petitions filed on behalf of the Union of India against the said judgments of the Delhi High Court were summarily dismissed by this Court. It is now a well-settled principle of law that when a special leave petition is summarily dismissed under Article 136 of the Constitution, by such dismissal this Court does not lay down any law, as envisaged by Article 141 of the Constitution, as contended by the learned Attorney General. In Indian Oil Corpn. Ltd.v.State of Bihar[(1986) 4 SCC 146 : 1986 SCC (L&S) 740] it has been held by this Court that the dismissal of a special leave petition in limine by a non-speaking order does not justify any inference that, by necessary implication, the contentions raised in the special leave petition on the merits of the case have been rejected by the Supreme Court. It has been further held that the effect of a non-speaking order of dismissal of a special leave petition without anything more indicating the grounds or reasons of its dismissal must, by necessary implication, be taken to be that the Supreme Court had decided only that it was not a fit case where special leave petition should be granted. In Union of India v. All India Services Pensioners' Assn. [(1988) 2 SCC 580 : 1988 SCC (L&S) 651 : (1988) 7 ATC 449] this Court has given reasons for dismissing the special leave petition. When such reasons are given, the decision becomes one which attracts Article 141 of the Constitution which provides that the law declared by the Supreme Court shall be binding on all the courts within the territory of India. It, therefore, follows that when no reason is given, but a special leave petition is dismissed simpliciter, it cannot be said that there has been a declaration of law by this Court under Article 141 of the Constitution.”

33. Then, in Kunhayammed v. State of Kerala, (2000) 6 SCC 359, the Supreme Court further explained the effect of dismissal of a Special Leave to Appeal petition, thus:

“27. A petition for leave to appeal to this Court may be dismissed by a non-speaking order or by a speaking order. Whatever be the phraseology employed in the order of dismissal, if it is a non-speaking order, i.e., it does not assign reasons for dismissing the special leave petition, it would neither attract the doctrine of merger so as to stand substituted in place of the order put in issue before it nor would it be a declaration of law by the Supreme Court under Article 141 of the Constitution for there is no law which has been declared. If the order of dismissal be supported by reasons then also the doctrine of merger would not be attracted because the jurisdiction exercised was not an appellate jurisdiction but merely a discretionary jurisdiction refusing to grant leave to appeal. We have already dealt with this aspect earlier. Still the reasons stated by the Court would attract applicability of Article 141 of the Constitution if there is a law declared by the Supreme Court which obviously would be binding on all the courts and tribunals in India and certainly the parties thereto. The statement contained in the order other than on points of law would be binding on the parties and the court or tribunal, whose order was under challenge on the principle of judicial discipline, this Court being the Apex Court of the country. No court or tribunal or parties would have the liberty of taking or canvassing any view contrary to the one expressed by this Court. The order of Supreme Court would mean that it has declared the law and in that light the case was considered not fit for grant of leave. The declaration of law will be governed by Article 141 but still, the case not being one where leave was granted, the doctrine of merger does not apply. The Court sometimes leaves the question of law open. Or it sometimes briefly lays down the principle, may be, contrary to the one laid down by the High Court and yet would dismiss the special leave petition. The reasons given are intended for purposes of Article 141. This is so done because in the event of merely dismissing the special leave petition, it is likely that an argument could be advanced in the High Court that the Supreme Court has to be understood as not to have differed in law with the High Court.

40. A petition seeking grant of special leave to appeal may be rejected for several reasons. For example, it may be rejected (i) as barred by time, or (ii) being a defective presentation, (iii) the petitioner having no locus standi to file the petition, (iv) the conduct of the petitioner disentitling him to any indulgence by the court, (iv) the question raised by the petitioner for consideration by this Court being not fit for consideration or deserving being dealt with by the Apex Court of the country and so on. The expression often employed by this Court while disposing of such petitions are — “heard and dismissed”, “dismissed”, “dismissed as barred by time” and so on. May be that at the admission stage itself the opposite party appears on caveat or on notice and offers contest to the maintainability of the petition. The Court may apply its mind to the meritworthiness of the petitioner's prayer seeking leave to file an appeal and having formed an opinion may say “dismissed on merits”. Such an order may be passed even ex parte, that is, in the absence of the opposite party. In any case, the dismissal would remain a dismissal by a non-speaking order where no reasons have been assigned and no law has been declared by the Supreme Court. The dismissal is not of the appeal but of the special leave petition. Even if the merits have been gone into, they are the merits of the special leave petition only. In our opinion neither doctrine of merger nor Article 141 of the Constitution is attracted to such an order. Grounds entitling exercise of review jurisdiction conferred by Order 47 Rule 1 CPC or any other statutory provision or allowing review of an order passed in exercise of writ or supervisory jurisdiction of the High Court (where also the principles underlying or emerging from Order 47 Rule 1 CPC act as guidelines) are not necessarily the same on which this Court exercises discretion to grant or not to grant special leave to appeal while disposing of a petition for the purpose. Mere rejection of a special leave petition does not take away the jurisdiction of the court, tribunal or forum whose order forms the subject-matter of petition for special leave to review its own order if grounds for exercise of review jurisdiction are shown to exist. Where the order rejecting an SLP is a speaking order, that is, where reasons have been assigned by this Court for rejecting the petition for special leave and are stated in the order still the order remains the one rejecting prayer for the grant of leave to appeal. The petitioner has been turned away at the threshold without having been allowed to enter in the appellate jurisdiction of this Court. Here also the doctrine of merger would not apply. But the law stated or declared by this Court in its order shall attract applicability of Article 141 of the Constitution. The reasons assigned by this Court in its order expressing its adjudication (expressly or by necessary implication) on point of fact or law shall take away the jurisdiction of any other court, tribunal or authority to express any opinion in conflict with or in departure from the view taken by this Court because permitting to do so would be subversive of judicial discipline and an affront to the order of this Court. However this would be so not by reference to the doctrine of merger.

44. To sum up, our conclusions are:

(iv) An order refusing special leave to appeal may be a non-speaking order or a speaking one. In either case it does not attract the doctrine of merger. An order refusing special leave to appeal does not stand substituted in place of the order under challenge. All that it means is that the Court was not inclined to exercise its discretion so as to allow the appeal being filed.

(v) If the order refusing leave to appeal is a speaking order, i.e., gives reasons for refusing the grant of leave, then the order has two implications. Firstly, the statement of law contained in the order is a declaration of law by the Supreme Court within the meaning of Article 141 of the Constitution. Secondly, other than the declaration of law, whatever is stated in the order are the findings recorded by the Supreme Court which would bind the parties thereto and also the court, tribunal or authority in any proceedings subsequent thereto by way of judicial discipline, the Supreme Court being the Apex Court of the country. But, this does not amount to saying that the order of the court, tribunal or authority below has stood merged in the order of the Supreme Court rejecting the special leave petition or that the order of the Supreme Court is the only order binding as res judicata in subsequent proceedings between the parties.

34. Insofar as no reason has been ascribed in the order of the Supreme Court dated 1.5.2018, there is no merger and no law declared under Article 141 of the Constitution of India. Then, the further observation of the Supreme Court, that the law declared by the coordinate bench of this Court, would not have precedential value, only amounts to leaving this Court completely free to take a contrary view, in any other case, if facts so justify. At the same time, in absence of any reason whatsoever, given by the Supreme Court, while deciding that Special Leave to Appeal, it did not lay down any principle of law to be applied to such other case. Therefore, the learned single judge may not have erred in principle, in following the earlier coordinate bench decision of this Court, in Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra).

35. Therefore, to us, the order of the Supreme Court maintained the fact conclusions reached by the coordinate bench leading to the relief granted by it, in those facts. To that extent, the order of the Supreme Court is not an order negating or disapproving the fact reasoning given by the coordinate bench. Rather, it grants finality to that decision. There is no doubt that the said decision of the coordinate bench has attained finality. No review application or other proceedings was instituted by the State before the Supreme Court, or this Court, in that matter.

36. As to the peculiar facts in which the Supreme Court passed the above order, we are inclined to accept the submission of the learned counsel for the petitioners-respondents that that exact peculiarity of facts exists and obtains in the present set of proceedings, as well. It is not in dispute that the petitioners-respondents were initially engaged as workmen by the State Government to work at its industrial establishment namely - Churk and Dala Cement Factories. It is also not in dispute that the petitioners-respondents continued to work in that capacity for a period of 10 years or more, allowing them to describe themselves as persons who had rendered qualifying service for the purposes of eligibility to claim pension. It is also not in dispute that the petitioners-respondents have not claimed any pension for any length of service rendered by them as employees of the U.P. Cement Corporation. Those exact facts existed in the case of Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra). There is not the slightest difference in essential facts in these two sets of proceedings.

37. It is on those facts that the decision of the learned single judge arose in the first set of cases, namely, Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra), that was confirmed by the coordinate bench of this Court. Unless some distinct fact feature was shown to exist, the writ Court which remains a Court of equity may not reach a different fact conclusion and thus lead itself to treat equals, unequally. In Azam Jahi Mill Workers Association (supra), a group of workers of the said mill were granted voluntary retirement. Of that group, one set of workers vacated their official quarters earlier, voluntarily. Another set of workers continued in occupation. Later, to secure the possession of the premises thus illegally occupied by its retired employees, the management floated a scheme to provide for allotment of alternative land, to secure the vacant possession of its premises. The first set of retired employees who had voluntarily vacated the premises were denied that benefit. In that context, proceedings arose, and the Supreme Court made the following pertinent observations in that regard:

"9.3 The concept of equality before the law and equal protection of the laws emerges from the fundamental right expressed in Article 14 of the Constitution. Equality is a definite concept.

The concept of equality has an inherent limitation arising from the very nature of the constitutional guarantee. Those who are similarly circumstanced are entitled to an equal treatment. Equality is amongst equals. Classification is therefore to be founded on substantial differences which distinguish persons grouped together from those left out of the groups and such differential attributes must bear in just and rational relation to the object sought to be achieved.

In a given case Article 14 of the Constitution may permit a valid classification. However, a classification to be followed must necessarily satisfy two tests. Firstly, the distinguishing rationale has to be based on a just objective and secondly, the choice of differentiating one set of persons from another must have a reasonable nexus to the objects sought to be achieved. In the present case allotment of 200 Sq.Yards free of cost to 134 employees was to avoid undue hardship to the ex-employees and as a welfare measure. As observed hereinabove those 318 ex-employees who are denied the benefit of allotment of 200 Sq.Yards of plots free of cost are similarly placed persons with that of 134 employees who are allotted 200

Sq. Yards plots free of cost. There is no rationale justification in providing differential treatment to one class of ex-employees similarly placed with another class of ex-employees who are allotted the plots."

38. The decisions referred to and relied upon by the learned Additional Advocate General ruling in favour of principle, law would prevail over simple equity, are not apposite to the present facts. That principle may have been applied, if there did not exist any Government Order dated 18.04.1972 and 01.07.1989 and further, if conscious decision had not been made by the State Government itself on 02.08.1985, to grant pensionary benefits to all its erstwhile employees who had been appointed at the Cement Factories, Dala and Churk, without specifically excluding the workmen. More critically, that principle in law may have been applied if this Court had not found Gorakh Nath Pandey and other exactly similarly situated persons entitled to the relief of pensionary benefits. That equalization with civil/government servants, granted to industrial workmen of the cement factories of the State Government at Dala and Churk, even if granted on the peculiar facts found in that case, strongly commends that the learned single judge did not err in granting that relief to the petitioners-respondents, on the own strength and force of equity.

39. Having failed to establish any distinction before the co-ordinate bench, in Gorakh Nath Pandey (surpa), and that decision having not been upturned by the Supreme Court, we do not find this a fit case to interfere on the submission advanced by the learned Additional Advocate General that the basic difference in status between a civil servant and an industrial workman, must always maintain. The respondent-appellant/State may not be permitted to re-agitate that issue, in these proceedings. That exercise, if permitted, may only lead to absolute equals being treated unequally by the writ Court. Thus, we do not find the equities being pitted against the law; rather, we find, in the present facts, the equities are running parallel to the result that arose in law i.e., upon dismissal of the Special Leave Petition in Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra).

40. Since the equality claimed was to a final order of a coordinate bench that has attained finality, it is that 'law' that the present set of petitioners-appellants sought benefit of, on an equitable principle. It has been granted by the learned single judge in exercise of the extraordinary discretionary jurisdiction of the Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

41. In the context of service jurisprudence, the normal rule remains i.e. when a particular set of employees is given relief by the Court, all other identically situated persons are to be treated alike by extending that benefit. Not extending that benefit would itself amount to discrimination in violation of Article 14 of the Constitution of India. That principle was recognized in State of U.P. and others Vs. Arvind Kumar Srivastava and others (2015) 1 SCC 347. However, the exception to that rule arising from gross delay and laches was also recognized and applied in that decision. Since there were unexplained delay and laches, such relief granted by the Tribunal as was confirmed by the High Court, was reversed by the High Court. However, the discussion as to the rule and its exception insofar as it is relevant case, contained in paragraph-22, is quoted hereinbelow :

“22.1. The normal rule is that when a particular set of employees is given relief by the Court, all other identically situated persons need to be treated alike by extending that benefit. Not doing so would amount to discrimination and would be violative of Article 14 of the Constitution of India. This principle needs to be applied in service matters more emphatically as the service jurisprudence evolved by this Court from time to time postulates that all similarly situated persons should be treated similarly. Therefore, the normal rule would be that merely because other similarly situated persons did not approach the Court earlier, they are not to be treated differently.

22.2. However, this principle is subject to well recognized exceptions in the form of laches and delays as well as acquiescence. Those persons who did not challenge the wrongful action in their cases and acquiesced into the same and woke up after long delay only because of the reason that their counterparts who had approached the Court earlier in time succeeded in their efforts, then such employees cannot claim that the benefit of the judgment rendered in the case of similarly situated persons be extended to them. They would be treated as fence-sitters and laches and delays, and/or the acquiescence, would be a valid ground to dismiss their claim.

22.3. However, this exception may not apply in those cases where the judgment pronounced by the Court was judgment in rem with intention to give benefit to all similarly situated persons, whether they approached the Court or not. With such a pronouncement the obligation is cast upon the authorities to itself extend the benefit thereof to all similarly situated person. Such a situation can occur when the subject matter of the decision touches upon the policy matters, like scheme of regularisation and the like (see K.C.

Sharma & Ors. v. Union of India (1997) 6 SCC 721 : 1998 SCC (L&S) 226. On the other hand, if the judgment of the Court was in personam holding that benefit of the said judgment shall accrue to the parties before the Court and such an intention is stated expressly in the judgment or it can be impliedly found out from the tenor and language of 27 the judgment, those who want to get the benefit of the said judgment extended to them shall have to satisfy that their petition does not suffer from either laches and delays or acquiescence.”

42. In the present case, there are no gross or unexplained delay and laches. The decision in Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra), is dated 12.04.2016 arising on writ petition filed in year 2013, whereas the petitions giving rise to the present batch of appeal were filed soon thereafter, in the year 2016 itself. The petition giving rise to the present appeal having filed immediately after declaration of the law in Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra), we do not find the writ petition to have been filed with gross or unexplained delay and laches.

43. As discussed above, while exercising intra-court appeal jurisdiction, we remain within the confines of the same jurisdiction. Discretion vested in the Court having been exercised by the learned single judge, in favour of the petitioners-respondents, may not be interfered with in absence of any wrong application of principle by the learned single judge. Thus, we remain disinclined to take a contrary view as may seek to negate the discretion exercised, since we are unable to see material difference of facts existing, as may require or compel us to entertain any different view in law or on equity as may further compel us to make a reference to a larger bench.

44. Thus, we restrain the State Government from picking and choosing or differentiating between exactly similarly situated persons, for the purpose of grant of benefit of the Office Order dated 02.08.2005. To that extent we apply the principle laid down in Azam Jahi Mill Workers Association (supra).

45. In view of the above, we find no good ground to treat the petitioners differently from the petitioners in Gorakh Nath Pandey (supra).

46. Accordingly, the appeal fails and is dismissed.

47. No order as to costs.

Service Law – Appointment – Cancellation of appointments during Model Code of Conduct – Discrimination – Similarly situated candidates allowed to join –

Right to equal treatment – Mandamus issued to permit joining.

Where petitioners were duly selected and issued appointment letters to various posts (Pharmacist, Stenographer, Clerk, Store Keeper) in Government Medical Colleges under a common selection process and advertisement, and though they reported for duty, they were denied joining solely due to enforcement of the Model Code of Conduct. Later, their appointments were cancelled without notice. However, similarly placed candidates from the same select list were permitted to join following court orders revoking the cancellation. The denial of joining to the petitioners amounted to discrimination, especially when no allegations of misconduct or fraud were raised against them, and others similarly placed were reinSt.d. The Court held that the St. could not take a U-turn after appointing candidates to fulfil Medical Council of India (MCI) inspection requirements, and technical lapses by the respondents could not prejudice the petitioners. Mandamus issued directing the respondents to permit petitioners to join their respective posts within six weeks.

The writ is allowed.

1. Heard Dr. L.P Misra, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Ms. Arti Bali, learned counsel for the petitioners and Sri Pankaj Patel, learned Additional CSC for respondent - State.

2. At the very outset, learned Senior Counsel for the petitioners requested for withdrawal of prayer (a) to the writ petitions, which is being quoted as under:

(a) To issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing the orders dated 02.05.2009, 07.05.2009 and 22.05.2009, the true copies of which are contained as Annexure Nos.8, 9 and 10 respectively to the writ petition, if there arises any legal necessity for the same as the orders canceling the appointment have already been recalled by the State Government."

3. Accordingly, prayer (a) to the writ petitions is dismissed as withdrawn.

4. By means of Writ-A No.1330 of 2010, the petitioners have prayed for issuance of a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to allow the petitioner Nos.1 to 4 to join on the post of Pharmacist, petitioner No.5 to join on the post of Stenographer, petitioner No.6 to join on the post of Clerk and petitioner No.7 to join on the post of Store Keeper in Manyawar Kanshiramji Rajkiya Allopathic Medical College, Jalaun on which posts they were appointed in the same manner as other similarly situated persons, including the persons placed below them in the select list, who are being allowed to continue.

In Writ -A No.5897 of 2010, the petitioner has prayed for issuance of a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to allow the petitioner to join on the post of Pharmacist in Government Medical College, Azamgarh on which posts he was appointed in the same manner as other similarly situated persons, including the persons placed below him in the select list, who are being allowed to continue.

In Writ-A No.1413 of 2010, the petitioner has prayed for issuance of a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to allow the petitioner to join on the post of Store Keeper in Manyawar Kanshiramji Rajkiya Allopathic Medical College, Jalaun on which posts he was appointed in the same manner as other similarly situated persons, including the persons placed below him in the select list, who are being allowed to continue.

5. Since all the writ petitions give rise to a similar controversy, the same are being decided by means of a common judgment and order treating Writ-A No.1330 of 2010 to be leading writ petition and the judgment and the judgment and order passed thereon shall be equally applicable to the connected matters.

5. Brief facts giving rise to the present writ petition are as under:

Sr. No.	Relevant Facts of the Case
a.	The State Government established a number of Medical Colleges in the State of Uttar Pradesh including Government Medical College, Kannauj, Government Medical College, Jalaun and Government Medical College, Azamgarh.
b.	An advertisement was issued on 29.08.2008 by the Director General of Medical Education and Training (for short, "DGME"), Lucknow - - respondent No.2 for the posts of Lab Attendants, Pharmacists, Drivers, Store Keepers, Stenographers, Typists and Clerk for Government Medical College, Kannauj. In response to the aforesaid advertisement, the petitioners submitted their candidature for appointment on the posts of Pharmacist, Stenographer, Clerk and Store Keeper.

c.	Said Medical Colleges were to start from Educational Session, 2009 and before that recognition from Medical Council of India (MCI) was sought for and a panel of MCI was likely to inspect for the purpose of grant of recognition, shortly, for Government Medical College, Jalaun.
d.	The appointment of teaching staff, para medical staff and other staffs are a condition precedent for making a satisfactory inspection report by MCI, which was basis for grant of recognition and, therefore, respondent No.4 issued a letter on 20.02.2009 addressed to respondent No.2 requesting that as the educational session was to start and the inspection by MCI was proposed, it will be appropriate that candidates from select list prepared in pursuance to advertisement dated 29.08.2008 be made available for appointment in Government Medical College, Jalaun, wherein posts of Pharmacists, Stenographers, Clerks and Store Keepers were also indicated.
e.	On the basis of instructions issued by respondent No.2, respondent No.3 issued appointment letters dated 24.02.2009 earmarking the petitioners to Government Medical College, Jalaun.
f.	Vide letter dated 26.02.2009, respondent No.4 intimated to respondent No.2 that persons mentioned in the appointment letter have been taken over.
g.	On 26.02.2009, the petitioners approached respondent No.4 and requested to give joining on their respective posts but as they were not carrying their physical fitness certificates and affidavits, they were asked about their credentials and to get medically examined by concerned Chief Medical Officer.
h.	On 04.03.2009, the petitioners approached the respondent No.4 along with physical fitness certificates and affidavits and requested for giving them joining on their respective posts but respondent No.4 apprised the petitioners that as the election code of conduct has been implemented, they cannot be allowed to join on their respective posts.
i.	On 02.05.2009, without giving any notice to the petitioners including other persons, the Minister, Parliamentary Affairs, Finance and Medical Education, U.P. issued an order requiring respondent No.1 to cancel the appointments on persons mentioned in the list annexed therewith.
j.	On 07.05.2009, Special Secretary, Medical Education and Training, Government of U.P. issued an order requiring the respondent No.2 to cancel the appointments and submit a report to the Government in this regard.

k.	On 22.05.2009, respondent No.2 passed an order canceling the appointments made in Government Medical College, Jalaun.
l.	On 25.05.2009, the petitioners approached to respondent No.4 for joining on their respective posts but they were apprised that all the appointments made in Medical College, Jalaun have been cancelled, therefore, the petitioners cannot be allowed to join on their respective posts.
m.	A number of persons approached to this Court by means of various writ petitions challenging the order of cancellation of appointments and this Court was pleased to pass interim orders staying the cancellation of their appointments.
n.	On 13.09.2009, the State Government filed a number of special leave to appeal petitions before Hon'ble Apex Court against interim orders granted by this Court, which was dismissed vide order dated 18.09.2009 with a liberty to the State Government to file special appeals before the High Court.
o.	The State Government filed two special appeals including Special Appeal No.743 of 2009, which were dismissed by the Division Bench of this Court vide order dated 28.10.2009.
p.	The State Government issued an order on 07.11.2009 revoking the cancellation of order dated 22.05.2009 by means of which appointments were made.
q.	When the respondents did not comply with orders passed by this Court, contempt petitions were filed before this Court, wherein orders dated 11.02.2010 and 22.02.2010 were passed in Criminal Misc. Case No.2906 (C) of 2009 - Ajay Kumar Yadav and others Vs. Har Bhajan Singh and others
r.	Vide order dated 26.02.2010, respondents allowed the persons, who filed writ petitions to join on their respective posts.
s.	The petitioners made a representation on 20.02.2010 to respondent No.2 claiming joining on their respective posts, which is lying pending consideration and no order whatsoever has been passed till date.
t.	Hence, the present writ petition has been preferred before this Court.

4. Submission of learned Senior Counsel for the petitioners is that appointment of the petitioners were made after following due procedure and the petitioners have faced selection committee and appointment letter has been issued to them and on the ground of any lapse / technical objection on the part of the respondents, they should not be deprived.

5. He further submitted that there was no allegation against the petitioners for concealment or fraud, therefore, they should not be paralyzed by not allowing them to join the post.

6. He next submitted that the persons pursuant to same appointment order under which the petitioners were appointed with same conditions have been allowed to join, however, the petitioners have not been allowed to join due to implementation of election code of conduct and subsequently, the order of appointment has been cancelled by the State Government, which was stayed by this Court in various writ petitions. He submitted that persons having been placed below the petitioners in the same select list have also been appointed, however, the claim of the petitioners has been ignored.

7. He lastly submitted that the petitioners are not strangers nor they are outsiders. They are the persons, who were subjected to the process of regular selection. The respondents under compelling circumstances for grant of recognition from MCI, appointed the petitioners as regular incumbents to meet out the norms for grant of recognition during visit of MCI and subsequently they cannot be permitted to take a U-turn declining the claim of the petitioners.

8. On the other hand, learned Additional C.S.C. placed before this Court an order dated 04.07.2023 passed by this Court in Writ-A No.5435 of 2010; Shivendra

Vashishtha Vs. State of U.P. and others and submitted that case of the petitioners is akin to petitioner of aforesaid writ petition and they are also entitled to get the same relief.

9. I have considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the material on record as well as order placed by learned Additional C.S.C.

10. Vide order dated 04.07.2023, following observation and directions were issued in Writ-A No.5435 of 2010:

"13. On perusal, it is evident that an advertisement was published and on the basis of appointment letter issued to the petitioner along with six other persons, four persons named above were given joining in Medical College, Azamgarh. Later on, their appointment has been cancelled vide order dated 22.05.2009. Subsequently, as a result of order of this Court in several writ petitions, the order dated 22.05.2009 was recalled by the respondents and the aforementioned four persons were permitted to re-join their respective post. However, the petitioner, whose name finds place at serial No.4 in the aforesaid list, has not been permitted to join on the ground of technicalities. This fact itself has been admitted in the counter affidavit that four persons were initially permitted to join on the instructions of higher authorities. Therefore, such kind of discrimination cannot be permitted to go on.

14. If the aforementioned four persons were the part of same selection under same advertisement and were permitted to join the post under same appointment letter, there is no occasion to not permit the petitioner to join his respective post.

16. A writ in the nature of mandamus is issued commanding the respondent No.2 to look into the matter and if case of the petitioner is akin to aforementioned persons, namely, Santosh Kumar Upadhyaya, Neeraj Gupta, Sandeep Kumar Singh and Sushri Seema Verma, he shall also be given joining within a period of four weeks from the date of production of a certified copy of this order.

17. No order as to costs."

11. On perusal of aforesaid judgment and order, it is evident that petitioners of aforesaid writ petition were selectees of same advertisement and were appointed vide same appointment letter. However, four persons, who were part of same selection proceeding, were permitted to join but the petitioner of that writ petition was not allowed to join his respective post. The writ petition was allowed and direction was issued to respondent No.2 to give joining to him within a period of four weeks from the date of production of a certified copy of the order, if his case is found akin to similarly situated persons, who were already granted appointment.

12. Here, in the present case, the claim of the petitioners for facing due selection procedure and issuance of appointment letter has not been denied by the respondents. It has also not been denied by the respondents that in pursuance to appointment letter issued to them, they have not submitted their joining.

13. It is crystal clear from record that the petitioners tendered their joining before the respondent No.4 on 26.02.2009 but as they were not carrying their physical fitness certificates and affidavits, they were asked about their credentials and to get medically examined by the Chief Medical Officer.

Subsequently, the petitioners approached to respondent No.4 on 04.03.2009, along with physical fitness certificates and affidavits and requested for joining on their respective posts but respondent No.4 apprised the petitioners that as the election code of conduct has been implemented, they cannot be allowed to join on their respective posts.

14. Later on, vide order dated 22.05.2009, respondent No.2 cancelled the appointments made in Government Medical College, Jalaun against which, several writ petitions were filed before this Court and the order of cancellation of appointment was stayed. The State Government filed special leave to appeal petition before Hon'ble Supreme Court, which has been dismissed with liberty to file special appeal before the High Court. In pursuance thereof, the State Government filed two special appeals before this Court including Special Appeal No.743 of 2009, which have also been dismissed by Division Bench of this Court vide order dated 28.10.2009.

15. Subsequently, the State Government passed an order on 07.11.2009 revoking the cancellation of order dated 22.05.2009 by means of which appointments were made. When the order of writ court was not complied with, several contempt petitions were also filed and vide order dated 26.02.2010, the respondents allowed the persons, who filed writ petitions to join on their respective posts.

16. In this background of the case, the petitioners, who are also selectees of same selection process, cannot be ruled out and their claim for joining on their respective posts cannot be ignored on technicalities.

17. In view of reasons recorded above, the writ petition succeeds to be allowed and is hereby allowed.

18. A writ in the nature of mandamus is issued commanding the respondents to allow the petitioners to join on their respective posts within a period of six weeks from the date of production of a certified copy of this order.

19. No order as to costs.

THE HON'BLE NEERAJ TIWARI, J

Writ A No. 7428 of 2023

Jag Mohan Agarwal ...Petitioner
Versus
Smt. Kanchan Kumari Jain ...Respondent

Counsel for the Petitioner:

Sri Pankaj Agarwal

Counsel for the Respondent:

Sri Sudeep Harkauli

Applicability of Act No. 16 of 2021 - Tenancy Dispute, Non-Registration of Tenancy Agreement, Interim Rent Fixation, Maintainability of Recall Application, Tenancy Succession: For non-residential tenancies (Section 6(3)), the tenant's successor must prove they inherited the business, failing which the existing tenant remains liable. Tenancy Agreement Registration: Non-registration by the tenant does not invalidate proceedings if the landlord complies with Section 4(3) by filing particulars. Interim Rent Fixation: The Rent Authority can fix provisional rent under Section 10(4) based on market rates, and such decisions must be supported by evidence (e.g., comparable rents). Recall Limitations: Section 34 (8) restricts recall applications to procedural issues like non-service or inability to appear, not new substantive objections. The proceedings under Act No. 16 of 2021 were held maintainable, and the petitioner was confirmed as the tenant. The interim rent fixation was deemed lawful and based on market rates. The court upheld the rejection of the recall application under Section 34(8), as it only allows recalls for non-service of notice or inability to appear, neither of which applied. New objections raised in the recall application were not permissible.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Neeraj Tiwari, J.)

1. Heard Sri Pankaj Agarwal, learned counsel for petitioner and Sri Sudeep Harkauli, learned counsel for respondent.

2. Present petition has been filed seeking following reliefs:-

"i) to issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the order dated 05.04.2023 passed by Additional District Magistrate (Civil Supply)/Rent Authority, Agra as well as impugned order dated 06.07.2022 passed by Additional District Magistrate (Civil Supply)/Rent Authority, Agra.

ii) to issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the entire proceedings of Case No. 696/2022, Smt. Kanchan Kumar Jain vs. Jagmohan Agrawal under section 10(1) of U.P. Regulation of Urban Premises Tenancy Act, 2021."

3. Learned counsel for petitioner-defendant submitted that premises in question is a Nazul/Lease land given by the State Government/Nagar Nigam, therefore, under the exception of Section 3 of the Uttar Pradesh Regulation of Urban Premises Tenancy Act, 2021 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act No. 16 of 2021'), Act No. 16 of 2021 would not be applicable in this case. Though this objection was not taken against the application filed by respondent-plaintiff for fixation of interim rent, but petitioner-defendant has raised the same while filing recall application and without considering the same, recall application has been rejected under the provisions of Section 34(8) of Act No. 16 of 2021. He firmly submitted that once Act No. 16 of 2021 is not applicable, all proceedings under the provision of Act No. 16 of 2021 are void ab-initio. In the present case, remedy before the landlord is to file SCC Suit under the Provisions of Provincial Small Causes Court Act, 1887(hereinafter, referred to as, 'Act of 1887').

4. It is next submitted that from the day one, the case of petitioner is that he is never a tenant of the shop in question and in fact his father was the tenant. After his death, he has not succeeded his father's business and as per Section 6(3) of Act No. 16 of 2021, he is not the tenant and tenancy devolves for remaining period to the person/family member, who had succeeded the business of deceased-tenant. Petitioner-defendant has taken this specific ground in his objection, but rejecting the same, rent application was decided vide impugned order dated 06.07.2022 in terms of Section 6(2) of Act No. 16 of 2021, which is for the purpose of residential tenancy, where the right of tenancy shall devolve for the remaining period to his successors, therefore, treating the petitioner-defendant as tenant, order is bad in light of Section 6(3) of Act No. 16 of 2021.

5. He further submitted that Section 4 of Act No. 16 of 2021 provides for tenancy agreement and in case of only tenancy agreement, any proceeding may be initiated under Section 4 of Act No. 16 of 2021. Tenancy is required to be registered by submitting joint application or individual application by the landlord or the tenant and after that, Rent Authority shall provide a Unique Identification Number. In the present case, tenancy agreement has never been registered either jointly or separately and no Unique Identification Number has been allotted, therefore, no proceeding can be initiated under Section 4 of Act No. 16 of 2021.

6. It is further submitted that Section 10 of Act No. 16 of 2021 provides for Rent Authority to determine the revised rent in case of any dispute between the landlord and the tenant and for that purpose, it is required on the part of Rent Authority to determine the rent after application of mind, but in present case, after deducting certain amount, rent as proposed has been approved without application of mind and any exercise to determine the rent.

7. Lastly, it is submitted that in light of facts so argued here, neither, proceeding is maintainable under the law nor on the facts. Even in case assuming that the Act No. 16 of 2021 is applicable, even though, order is bad in light of facts that it has also not been considered that petitioner is not a tenant and no rent may be revised under Section 10 of the Act No. 16 of 2021.

8. Sri Sudeep Harkauli, learned counsel for respondent-plaintiff raised preliminary objection and submitted that it is a factual issue, therefore, it is required on the part of the petitioner-defendant to file appeal before the Rent Tribunal under Section 35 of the Act No. 16 of 2021 against the order of the Rent Authority within 30 days from the passing of such order after depositing 50 per cent of the entire payable amount determined under the order of Rent Authority.

9. He also pointed out that in the writ petition, it is mentioned that lease in question has expired, which is incorrect, but in fact, the lease was last renewed on 06.04.2010 and the same is valid up to the year 2037. Therefore, this ground alone is sufficient to dismiss the writ petition.

10. It is next submitted that Section 3 of Act No. 16 of 2021 provides that nothing in this Act shall apply to any premises owned by Central Government or State Government or Union territory Administration or a Government undertaking or enterprises or a statutory body or Cantonment Board. He further submitted that definition of premises is given in Section 2(c) of Act No. 16 of 2021 which means building and the land around it for the purpose of business or residence use. In the present case, there is no dispute on this point that only land was given on lease and so far as building on land is concerned, which constitutes premises, is undisputedly constructed and owned by the plaintiff-respondent. In present petition it has not been disputed that building is not owned by the petitioner, but owned by the State Government or State Authorities as defined under Section 3 of Act No. 16 of 2021. He also pointed out renewal of lease deed on 06.04.2010 and invited attention of this Court to paragraph Nos. 5 & 6 of the lease deed, which clearly shows that in case of expiry of lease deed, an evaluation has to be made on a building constructed over the leased land and be given to building owner. There is also certain provisions with regard to dispute of evaluation, which is not relevant in the present case. He further submitted that definition of premises is exhaustive, therefore, nothing beyond that may be travelled by any Court of law. In the present case, only land is given on lease and that doesn't come within the definition of 'premises' as provided under Section 2(c) of the Act No. 16 of 2021. Therefore, provisions of Act No. 16 of 2021 would be very well applicable in the present case. In support of his contention, he has placed reliance upon the judgement of this Court in the matter of Sana Ullah Vs. Ashok Kapil:1979 ARC 138.

11. Learned counsel for the respondent-plaintiff next submitted that so far as denial of tenancy is concerned, this fact is also absolutely incorrect. He further submitted that as per written statement filed by the petitioner-defendant, tenancy was not denied and even it is mentioned in the written statement that he is not in possession of the premises in question for a period of more than 10 years, meaning thereby that prior to that, he was having possession over the premises in question. He further submitted that up to 2014, rent receipt was duly signed by the petitioner-defendant, which is annexed alongwith the counter affidavit. Not only this, a court agreement had also taken place on 23.8.2012 upon which, petitioner-defendant has put his signature in the capacity of tenant. Thus, denial of tenancy is vague, not supported by any document in light of facts mentioned hereinabove. In case of any family settlement or any other reason about shifting of tenancy, the same must have been brought on record by the tenant before the Rent Authority, which is missing in the present case. Therefore, under such facts of the case, petitioner has rightly been treated as tenant.

12. He also pointed out that many documents have been brought on record while filing recall application. There is provision under Section 34(8) of the Act No. 16 of 2021 about the recall of order and according to that, recall application is not maintainable. Therefore, any new document brought on record through recall application cannot be seen at this stage and only at the most, it may be seen while deciding the rent application finally as it is only interim determination of rent and not final. Therefore, he reiterated that any document so filed with recall application cannot be read in light of fact that the recall application is not maintainable other than an ex-parte order as provided under Section 34(8) of the Act No. 16 of 2021, which is not the case of petitioner-defendant.

13. He next submitted that so far as registration of rent agreement under Section 4 of the Act No. 16 of 2021 is concerned, respondent-plaintiff has submitted the information as per First Schedule as provided under Section 4(1) of the Act No. 16 of 2021 before the Rent Authority and registration had not taken place because petitioner-defendant refused/failed to furnish any relevant information. He next submitted that petitioner-defendant has made this specific averment about First Schedule of Section 4(1) of the Act No. 16 of 2021 which is mentioned in Para 18 of the counter affidavit. First Schedule has also been annexed alongwith particulars of the building and as well name of the tenant, i.e. Jagmohan Agarwal, who is petitioner-herein. Therefore, conditions so mentioned in Section 4 of the Act No. 16 of 2021 has been very well complied by the respondent-plaintiff. Hence proceeding of arrears of rent is very well maintainable.

14. He further invited attention of this Court to Section 4(3) of the Act No. 16 of 2021. He submitted that first proviso to Section 4(3) of the Act No. 16 of 2021, i.e. 4(3)(a) is applicable in the present case, which provides for tenancy created before the commencement of this Act and further provides that in case landlord and tenant jointly fail to present a copy of the agreement or fail to reach an agreement within specified period, such landlord and tenant shall separately file particulars about such tenancy before the Rent Authority within one month from the date of expiry of the period mentioned in Clause 4(2). If the landlord has submitted its particulars within the specified period, but tenant failed to submit the same, then landlord may file an application for eviction on this ground alone. He also pointed out that next proviso provides that during such eviction proceeding, Rent Authority shall also decide the interim rent payable by the tenant during such adjudication. In the present case, it is admitted that petitioner-defendant has not complied with Section 4 of the Act No. 16 of 2021, therefore, this cannot be a ground favourable for the petitioner-defendant. There is no such exception that in case of failure on the part of landlord or the tenant, proceeding cannot be initiated rather he submitted that in case petitioner-defendant fails to comply with Section 4(2) & 4(3) of the Act No. 16 of 2021 and after submission of agreement by landlord, he may proceed for eviction. Therefore, in light of Section 4 of the Act No. 16 of 2021, the present proceeding is very well maintainable.

15. He next submitted that so far as maintainability of proceeding is concerned, a bunch of civil appeals were pending before the Apex Court for the same market in question, i.e. Labh Chand Market, Rajaki Mandi, Agra. The market is owned by joint family of respondent-plaintiff and while deciding the civil appeals, Apex Court had made an observation that provision of new Act, i.e Act No. 16 of 2021 would apply to principle of revision of rent to existing holders of tenancy also and thus, there remains no doubt about it. So far as the claim of arrears as submitted by learned counsel for the respondent-plaintiff is concerned, that also have to be dealt with under the provisions of Act No. 16 of 2021.

16. He next submitted that Apex Court has separately dealt with the civil appeals filed by the family members of the respondent-plaintiff in relation to similarly situated shop in the same market and set aside the orders passed by the Revisional Court and the trial Court rejecting the suits under Order VII Rule 11 CPC and restored suit for reconsideration on the basis of Act No. 16 of 2021.

17. He firmly submitted that Supreme Court itself has held that Act No. 16 of 2021 would be applicable to the shop in question that is situated in the same market. Therefore issue of applicability of Act No. 16 of 2021 cannot be raised, once it is upheld by the Supreme Court.

18. He further submitted that he has taken specific averment in paras 4, 5, 6 and 7 of the rent application mentioning the rent of four shops in the same area in the same market, i.e. Labh Chand Market, Rajaki Mandi, Agra alongwith assessment of area made by ADM (FR) for a period between 2004 to 2012 and according to that, annual rental value comes to Rs. 10,000/-. He also submitted that in para 6, he has given the name of tenant, namely Virendra Kumar Sharma with shop No. 29/296/24, who is paying Rs. 22,000/- per month for shop in the same market. Not only this, in para 7, there is specific averment that Rent Authority vide its order dated 22.12.2021 has revised the rent of shop No. 29/296A/29(New No. 29/296/A/5), Labh Chand Market, Rajaki Mandi, Agra as 750 per sq. feet and the same has been fixed by the Rent Authority in the present case considering the fact that this shop is also situated in the same area and same market, i.e. Labh Chand Market, Rajaki Mandi, Agra.

19. He also submitted that in the objection filed by the petitioner-defendant before the Rent Authority, there is no denial of the facts so mentioned in paras 4, 5, 6 and 7 of the rent application filed by the respondent-plaintiff. Therefore, contention of the petitioner-defendant that there is no determination of rent is absolutely incorrect as in the same market, there is determination of rent by the Rent Authority coupled with the other facts so mentioned in paras 4, 5, 6 and 7 of the rent application. Therefore this argument is also not sustainable.

20. In the rejoinder argument, learned counsel for the petitioner-defendant submitted that while using the word 'premises', intention of legislation is something different. It does not mean that only land is to be occupied or owned by the State Government, whereas, the building is to be owned by the lessee. In fact, meaning of word 'premises' includes land in question as well as building raised upon that, though it is constructed by lessee.

21. He also reiterated that while deciding the interim rent, there is no discussion made by the Rent Authority even with regard to facts so mentioned in paras 4, 5, 6 and 7 of the rent application, but Rent Authority straight away has fixed the rent, which is bad.

22. I have considered the rival submissions made by learned counsel for the parties, perused the record, relevant provisions of Act No. 16 of 2021 as well as judgments relied upon.

23. There is provision of appeal under Section 35 of the Act No. 16 of 2021 and it is required on the part of the petitioner-defendant to first exhaust the alternative remedy so available, but in the present petition, issue of applicability of Act No. 16 of 2021 is involved, which is absolutely a legal question, therefore, present petition is entertained and Court proceeded to decide the petition.

24. The very first issue argued before this Court is about the applicability of new Act, i.e. Act No. 16 of 2021. Learned counsel for the petitioner-defendant has placed reliance upon Section 3 of the Act No. 16 of 2021, which is relevant in the present dispute. The same is being quoted hereinbelow:

“3. Act not to apply to certain premises.-(1) Nothing in this Act shall apply to any-

(i) premises owned by the Central Government or State Government or Union Territory Administration or a Government undertaking or enterprises or a statutory body or Cantonment Board;

(ii) premises owned by a company, University or organisation given on rent to its employees as part of service contract;

(iii) premises owned by religious or charitable institution as may be specified, by notification by State Government;

(iv) premises owned by Auqaf registered under the Waqf Act, 1995 (Act

No. 43 of 1995) or by any public trust registered under applicable law;

(v) other building or category of building specifically exempted in public interest by notification by the State Government.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section(1), if the owner and tenant of the premises referred to in clause (i) to clause (v) of the said sub-section agrees that the tenancy agreement entered into between such landlord and tenant be regulated under the provisions of this Act, such landlord may inform the Rent Authority of the agreement to do so at the time of information of the tenancy agreement under Section 4.”

25. From the perusal of the above quoted provision, it is apparently clear that this Act would not apply in case premises is owned by Central Govt. or State Govt. or Union Territory Administration or a Government undertaking or enterprises or a statutory body or Cantonment Board.

26. Now, learned counsel for the respondent-plaintiff while opposing the submission made by learned counsel for the petitioner-defendant has placed reliance upon Section 2(c) of the Act No. 16 of 2021, which is being quoted hereinbelow:

“2. Definition.- In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,-

(c) “premises” means any building or part of a building which is, or is intended to be, let on rent for the purpose of residence or for commercial or for educational use, except for industrial use and includes-

(i) garden, garage or closed parking area, vacant land, grounds and out-houses, if any appertaining to such building or part of the building; and

(ii) any fitting to such building or part of the building for the more beneficial enjoyment thereof, but does not include premises such as hotel, lodging house, dharamshala or inn;”

27. Section 2(c) defines the premises. The word ‘premises’ means building alongwith land around it for the purpose of business or residential use. So far as present dispute is concerned, as to whether the premises or only the land was leased out by the State authorities or any other municipal authority. In the present case, there is no dispute that only the land was on lease having no building upon that and undisputedly the building was constructed by the respondent-plaintiff. Therefore, the word premises cannot be read as only land, but it includes building also, which has never been leased out in the present case. The definition of word ‘premises’ is very exhaustive and no interpretation can be made beyond that and certainly in the present case, only the land is owned and leased out by the State authorities as mentioned in Section 3(i) of the Act No. 16 of 2021 and not the building, therefore, the property in dispute includes land and building both and it is not covered with the exception of Section 3(i) read with Section 2(c) of the Act No. 16 of 2021. The very same ratio of law has also been followed by the Court in the matter of Sana Ullah(Supra).

28. The definition of premises under Section 2(c) of the Act No. 16 of 2021 is also parimateria to the definition of building given in Section 3(i) of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 and this was the subject matter of judgment of this Court in Sana Ullah(Supra) and the Court in the said judgment is of the view that if the definition is very exhaustive, it is not possible to read it as something else, which is not stated therein. Relevant paragraphs of aforesaid judgment are being quoted hereinbelow:-

“14. The expression “building” has been defined in Section 3(1) as follows:--

‘Building’, means residential or non-residential roofed structure and includes--

(1) any land (including any garden), garages and out-houses, appurtenant to such building;

(ii) any furniture supplied by the landlord for use in such building;

(iii) any fittings and fixtures affixed to such building for the more beneficial enjoyment thereof.

15. Since the definition above uses the word “means”, it is clear that the definition is exhaustive, and that it is not possible to read in it something which is not stated therein. The definition clearly shows that in order to fall within it, there must be a roofed structure. If, therefore, there is no roofed structure, the premises cannot be a building. Apart from the meaning given in the Act, what is a ‘building’ must always be a block of brick or stone work, covered in by a roof. The roof need not be laid with lintel or other similar constructions. The ordinary and natural meaning of the word “building” includes the fabric and the ground on which it stands. It is a structure roofed in and capable of upholding protection and shelter. Therefore, similar roofless Ahata which merely surrounds a piece of land, though stayed and tied together, is not a building within the definition given above. The next question that arises for decision in this case is whether a construction should be a building on the date of allotment as well or that if it is found to be a building on the date when it is vacated, that alone should be sufficient for passing an allotment order.

29. From the perusal, it is apparently clear that definition of ‘building’ in Section 3(i) of the Act No. 16 of 2021 and definition of premises in Section 2(c) of the Act No. 16 of 2021 are similar and very exhaustive, which includes land also. Therefore only land cannot be said to be ‘premises’. In the present case, only land was leased out by the State authorities and that cannot be said to be a premises. Therefore, exception of Section 3(i) of the Act No. 13 of 1973 would not be applicable in the present case.

30. Plaintiff-respondent has moved rent application for enhancement of rent under Section 10 of the Act No. 16 of 2021. Section 10 of the Act No. 16 of 2021 is being quoted hereinbelow:

“10. Rent Authority to determine the revised rent in case of dispute-(1) In case of any dispute between the landlord and the tenant regarding revision of rent, the Rent Authority may, on an application made by the landlord or tenant determine the revised rent and other charges payable by the tenant and also fix the date from which such revised rent becomes payable.

(2) In determining the rent to be revised, the rent Authority may be guided by the prevailing market rent in the surrounding areas let out on rent.

(3) Once a determination under this section has been made, no application for fresh determination shall lie for a period of one year after the said determination.

(4) The Rent Authority may determine provisional rent during the proceedings for revision of rent which shall be subject to final determination.”

31. Under Section 10(4) of the Act No. 16 of 2021, there is provision for Rent Authority to fix provisional rent during the proceeding of revision of rent, therefore, order of Rent Authority is well within its authority conferred upon it under the provision of 10(4) of the Act No. 16 of 2021.

32. The next argument of learned counsel for the petitioner-defendant is that under Section 6(3) of the Act No. 16 of 2021, which says that tenancy devolves for remaining period on the person who has succeeded the business of the deceased tenant and in the present case, petitioner-defendant had not succeeded any business, therefore, he is not a tenant as provided under Section 6(3) of the Act No. 16 of 2021.

33. This argument of the learned counsel for the petitioner-defendant arises from the interpretation of Section 6 of the Act No. 16 of 2021 and relevant part of the same is being quoted hereinbelow:

“6. Rights and obligations of successor in case of death-(1) The terms of agreement executed between landlord and tenant, shall be binding upon their successors in the event of the death of the landlord or tenant, as they case may be, and in such case, the successor of the deceased landlord or tenant shall have the same rights and obligations as agreed to in the tenancy agreement for the remaining period of such tenancy.

(2) In the event of death of a tenant, of residential tenancy, the right of tenancy shall devolve for the period of tenancy on his successor; namely:

Spouse; son or daughter or where there are both son and daughter, both of them; parents; daughter-in-law, being the widow of his pre-deceased son widowed or divorced sister:

Provided that the successor has ordinarily been living in the premises with the deceased tenant up to the date of his death.

(3) In the event of death of a tenant of a non-residential tenancy, the right of tenancy shall devolve for the remaining period of tenancy on the person who has succeeded the business of deceased tenant.”

34. Learned counsel for the respondent-plaintiff has argued that in the written statement, it is mentioned that petitioner-defendant was in possession of the premises in question for a period of more than 10 years up to 2014. Rent receipt was duly signed by the petitioner-defendant, which is part of counter affidavit and the court agreement dated 23.08.2012 is also signed by the petitioner-defendant in the capacity of tenant. These facts are undisputed.

35. Once it is admitted that petitioner-defendant was in possession of shop in question for more than 10 years, signed the rent receipt up to 2014 and also put his signature in the capacity of tenant in a court agreement, he cannot deny the tenancy.

36. Learned counsel for the petitioner-defendant could not bring any document on record to show that at any stage of time, due to family settlement or any other reason, tenancy was shifted to other family members, who succeeded in the business. Therefore denial of tenancy by the petitioner-defendant cannot be accepted. He has to be treated as tenant.

37. It is also the case of the petitioner-defendant that though he has not taken objection against the rent application filed by the respondent-plaintiff for fixation of rent, but he has raised the same objection by filing recall application, which was rejected in light of Section 34(8) of the Act No. 16 of 2021. It is his case that once the Act No. 16 of 2021 is not applicable in his case, all proceedings are bad and therefore in recall application, issue of applicability of Act No. 16 of 2021 has to be considered.

38. This argument of learned counsel for the petitioner-defendant is based upon interpretation of Section 34(8) of the Act No. 16 of 2021, which is being quoted hereinbelow:

“34. Powers of Rent Authority and Rent Tribunal.- (1) The Rent Authority and the Rent Tribunal shall, for discharging their functions under this Act, have the same powers as are vested in a Civil Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908(Act No. 5 of 1908) for the purpose of:

(8) The Rent Authority may set aside or recall any order passed ex-parte if the aggrieved party files an application and satisfies it that the notice was not duly served or that he was prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing when the case was taken up for hearing.”

39. From the perusal of aforesaid provision, it is apparently clear that Section 34(8) of the Act No. 16 of 2021 clearly provides that Rent Authority may set aside the recall application on the ground that notice has not been served or he was prevented from appearing when the case was taken up. It is not the case of the petitioner-defendant. He has duly received the notice, filed objection, therefore in light of Section 34(8) of the Act No. 16 of 2021, Rent Authority cannot travel beyond that and any new fact or objection or paper except the service of notice for non appearance as referred in Section 34(8) of the Act No. 16 of 2021 cannot be accepted. Rent Authority has rightly rejected recall application filed by the petitioner-defendant.

40. There was another argument of learned counsel for the petitioner-defendant about the interpretation of provision of Section 4 of the Act No. 16 of 2021. Relevant paragraph, i.e. 4(1), 4(2) & 4(3) are being quoted hereinbelow:

“4, Tenancy Agreement.- (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act or any other law for the time being in force, no person shall, after the commencement of this Act, let or take on rent any premises except by an agreement in writing, which shall be informed to the Rent Authority by the landlord and tenant jointly, in the form specified in the First Schedule within a period of two months from the date of tenancy agreement.

Provided that in cases or residential tenancies for a period of less than twelve months, the landlord and tenant shall not be required to inform the Rent Authority about such tenancy.

(2) Where the landlord and the tenant fail to jointly inform the execution of the tenancy agreement referred to in sub-section(1), the landlord and tenant shall separately inform the execution of tenancy agreement to the Rent Authority within a period of one month from the date of expiry of the period specified in sub-section(1)

(3) Where, in relation to a tenancy created before he commencement of this Act,-

(a) if an agreement in writing was entered into between the landlord and the tenant, they shall jointly present a copy thereof to the Rent Authority within three months of the commencement of this Act.

(b) if no agreement in writing was entered into, the landlord and the tenant shall enter into an agreement in writing with regard to that tenancy and present the same to the Rent Authority within three months of the commencement of this Act:

Provided that where the landlord or the tenant fail to present jointly a copy of the tenancy agreement or fail to reach an agreement within specified period, such landlord and tenant shall separately file the particulars about such tenancy with the rent Authority within one month from the date of expiry of period mentioned in clause (b) above, in the form specified in First Schedule. If the landlord has submitted his particulars within the specified period but tenant fails to submit such particulars, the landlord may file an application for eviction on this ground alone;

Provided further that during such eviction proceedings, the Rent Authority shall, notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, decide interim rent payable by the tenant during such adjudication.”

41. From the perusal of Section 4(2) and 4(3) of the Act No 16 of 2021 it is apparently clear that in case a joint tenancy agreement has not been filed by the landlord and the tenant, it is open for the landlord and the tenant to file separate particulars of such tenancy within one month before the Rent Authority in the form prescribed in the First Schedule. In the present case, the respondent-plaintiff herein has submitted particulars of tenancy in the form prescribed in the First Schedule and there is no denial of this fact either before the Rent Authority or before this Court. Therefore, in light of Section 4(2) and 4(3) of the Act No. 16 of 2021, proceeding under the Act No. 16 of 2021 is very well maintainable.

42. Not only this, arising out of same dispute of same market duly owned by the family members of the respondent-plaintiff, the matter went up to Apex Court in Civil Appeal Nos. 1082-2083 of 2017 (Neena Jain & Ors. Vs. State of U.P. & Anr.) and during the pendency the said case, new Act No. 16 of 2021 was framed and implemented. Hence, Apex court has closed the proceedings of the said case with the observation that new Act, i.e. Act No. 16 of 2021 shall govern the revision of rent to existing tenancies. Relevant paragraphs of the said judgment is quoted hereinbelow:

“The provisions of the Act aforesaid apply the principle of revision of rent to existing holder tenancies also and thus, there is no doubt about it. Insofar as the claim of any arrears as submitted by learned counsel for the appellants is concerned, that will also have to be dealt with under the provisions of the new Act and thus, even on that aspect there appears to be no apprehension.

We may notice that in these batch of appeals there are some cases where the suit filed by the landlords were dismissed under Order VII Rule 11 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. The revision filed against the same were also dismissed by the High Court predicated on the rationale of the impugned order. It is thus, the submission of learned counsels in these matters that these orders rejecting the plaint would have to be recalled and the suit remitted for fresh consideration in view of the new law as discussed aforesaid.

We accordingly set aside the order(s) passed in revision and by the trial Court rejecting the suits under Order VII Rule 11, CPC and restore the suits for re-consideration on the basis of the new law and the order passed by us today.”

43. Apex Court while passing the order dated 23.08.2021 dealing with many civil appeals, out of which one Civil Appeal bearing no. 1089/2017 was filed by the family members of the respondent-plaintiff in relation to similarly situated shop in the same market. In those matters, suit filed by the landlords were dismissed under Order VII Rule 11 CPC by the trial Court and revision was also dismissed by the High Court. Ultimately, the Apex Court allowed the Civil Appeals setting aside the order of trial Court as well as of the High Court and remanded the matter to trial Court to decide the same on the basis of new Act, i.e. Act No. 16 of 2021.

44. Therefore, from the perusal of Section 4(2) and 4(3) of Act No. 16 of 2021 as well as finding given by the Apex Court in the matter of Neena Jain & Ors(Supra), there is no dispute that proceedings under the new Act is maintainable.

45. This is also case of petitioner-defendant is that without any exercise and application of mind the rent proposed by the respondent-plaintiff is accepted.

46. It is argued by learned counsel for the respondent-plaintiff that in paragraphs 4, 5, 6 and 7 of the rent application, there is averment about the fixation of rent about the shops in the same market, i.e. Labhchand Market, Rajaki Mandi, Agra, which is not denied in the objection filed by the petitioner-defendant.

47. I have perused the rent application and also objection of petitioner-defendant. Certainly the facts so mentioned in paragraphs 4, 5, 6 and 7 of the rent application dated 20.01.2022 it has not been denied that it is not in the same market, i.e. Labhchand Market, Rajaki Mandi, Agra. Paragraphs 4, 5, 6 and 7 of the rent application are being quoted hereinbelow:-

“4. That the shop in question is situated in most prominent important market of City of Agra. The valuation of 4 shops in the area in question (in the same Labh Chand Market) were assessed by ADM(FR), Agra in respect of Shops No. 29/296A/31, 29/296A/37, 29/296/11 and 29/296/14 on various dates.

The copies of all orders are also being filed as Annexure B, C, D & E to Affidavit.

5. That as per above aluation done by ADM(FR), Agra for four shops between 2004 and 2012 the current value of the shops in Labh Chand Market in 2021 comes to approx. Rs. 1,00,000/- per sqr. Feet Annual rent Value(At 10% of Market Value) comes to Rs. 10,000/- per Sqr. Feet and the monthly rental at Rs. 833/- per Sqr. Feet as per table below:-

Shop No. Old	Shop No. New	Area in Sqr. Feet (Approx)	Date of Valuation	Valued at Rs. (in Lakh)	Value (in Rs. Lak h) in 2021 @ 7% Annual increment	Value in Rs. Per sqr. Feet in 2021
29/296 A/31	29/296/ A/7	134 in GF and 268 in	17/05/ 2012	165	309. 23	1,15 ,384 /-

		Basement= 134+134= 268
29/296 A/37	26/296/ B/5-6	340 GF+310 basement=340+155=495	05/12/ 2007	184	488	98,586/-
29/296/ 14		79.50	30/04/ 2005	21.45	65.54	82,440/-

*6. That even in the market one tenant namely Shri Virendra Kumar Sharma, with Shop No. 29/296/24 having area of 20 Sq. feet is paying rent to his Landlord Shrimati Kanchan Kumari Jain Wife of Late Shri Milap Chandra Jain at the rat of Rs. 22,000/- per month. The copy of lease agreement and his payment receipts are being filed as Annexure F, G & H to the Affidavit.

*7. That recently the Rent Authority by its order dated 22/12/2021 has revised the rent of the Shop No. 29/296A/29 (New No. 29/296A/5) Labh Chand Market, Raja Ki Mandi, Agra as Rs. 750/- per Sq. Feet. The Copy of order dated 22/12/2021 is being filed as Annexure I to the Affidavit.

48. Petitioner-defendant has replied paragraph 4, 5, 6 and 7 of the rent application dated 20.01.2022 filed by respondent-plaintiff by filing objection dated 18.05.2022. Relevant paragraphs of objection filed by petitioner-defendant are being quoted hereinbelow:-

“3. That para No. 3 and 4 of the application are legal hence needs no offer.

More so ever because the opposite party is not a tenant of the demised premises.

4. That para No. 5, since does not in any way relate to the opposite party, hence needs no offer. However, it is submitted that any landlord legally cannot shift the fruits to be obtained from a tenant on the shoulders of his brothers or a person who is blood related except her legal heirs/successors.

5. That para No. 6 of the application is a matter of regard and being legal in nature needs no offer.

6. That since para No. 7 of the application does not relate to the opposite party, hence needs no offer.

49. In paragraphs 3, 4, 5 and 6 of the objection, there is no denial of fact so mentioned in paragraphs 4, 5, 6 and 7 of the rent application filed by plaintiff-respondent.

50. It is mentioned in para 4 of the rent application that shop in question is also situate in the same market, i.e. Labh Chand Market, Rajaki Mandi, Agra. In para 4, there is reference of assessment order of ADM (FR) and as per that monthly rent is fixed at the rate of Rs. 833/- per sq. ft for other shops situated in the very same market.

51. Not only this, Rent Authority vide its order dated 22.12.2021 has revised the rent of Shop No. 29/296A/29(New No. 29/296/A/5), Labh Chand Market, Rajaki Mandi, Agra at the rate of Rs. 750/-. In the present case, Shop No. 29/296/20 in the same market, impugned interim rent order dated 06.07.2022 has been passed relying upon the order dated 22.12.2021 fixing the rent as Rs. 750/- per sq. ft. Therefore in want of specific denial in objection, it cannot be said that Rent Authority has fixed the interim rent without application of mind. In fact, Rent Authority while deciding the interim rent has relied upon the order dated 22.12.2021 fixing the rent as Rs. 750/- per sq. ft. for the same market. Impugned interim rent order has been passed on 06.07.2022 almost after 8 months from the earlier order dated 22.12.2021. Therefore in all eventuality interim rent cannot be fixed lessor than the amount of Rs. 750/- per sq. ft. for the reason that shops are situated in the same market, i.e. Labh Chand Market, Rajaki Mandi, Agra. Under such facts of the case, it cannot be said that the impugned order dated 06.07.2022 has been passed without any exercise or application of mind. Rent Authority has taken a lenient view while fixing the interim rent at the rate of 750/- per sq. feet even after 8 months from the earlier order dated 22.12.2021, otherwise, it may have been fixed to some higher side.

52. Therefore, in light of facts, provision of law and judgments discussed hereinabove, I find no illegality in the impugned order dated 06.07.2022. Petition lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed.

53. No order as to costs.

...Petitioner

Versus

State of U.P. & Ors.

...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:

Sri Amit Kumar Srivastava, Sri Arpan Srivastava, Sri Anil Bhushan (Sr. Advocate)

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

Service Law – U.P. Secondary Education Services Commission Act, 1982 – Section 33-C - Regularization – Appointment prior to Radha Raizada judgment – Validity of appointment and entitlement to regularization – Substantive vacancy existed due to promotion of Assistant Teacher to Principal – District Inspector of Schools granted financial approval – Committee’s finding rejecting vacancy report held perverse – Writ allowed – Direction for regularization with consequential benefits. The petitioner was appointed as an Assistant Teacher against a substantive vacancy. Although salary was initially paid till 1998, further salary was stopped without justification, leading to multiple rounds of litigation. The District Inspector of Schools had granted financial approval in 1997, confirming the existence of a substantive vacancy and due process followed by the management. A regional committee later rejected the petitioner’s claim for regularization, citing lack of clarity in vacancy and selection process. The High Court held that the findings of the committee were perverse and ignored prior binding judicial findings and official reports confirming the vacancy and appointment process. The petitioner’s appointment was made prior to the Radha Raizada judgment (1994), thus the requirement of advertisement and prior permission was not applicable. The Court further clarified that lapse of vacancy under Regulation 20 was not attracted due to the applicability of the U.P. Secondary Education Services Commission Act, 1982. writ allowed. The High Court quashed the impugned order dated 18.11.2015, held the petitioner to have been lawfully appointed against a substantive vacancy, and directed the authorities to regularize his service under Section 33-C of the 1982 Act, along with all consequential benefits including pay fixation, increment, and pensionary benefits. Direction was also issued for compliance within one month.

Writ allowed.

1. Heard Sri Anil Bhushan, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Amit Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for the State respondents.

2. As per the office report dated 9th April, 2016 neither registered envelop nor, acknowledgement sent by the registered post to the respondent No.-5 has been received back.

3. In the circumstances, therefore, service of notice upon respondent No.- 5 is deemed sufficient and the Court now proceeds to decide the matter.

4. The petitioner before this Court was selected and appointed on the post of Assistant Teacher in LT grade on 26th April, 1992 by the Committee of Management against a substantive vacancy which had fallen vacant on account of selection and appointment of the then Principal of the institution, namely, Jagat Pal Singh in the year 1986. The papers after selection was forwarded to the District Inspector of Schools, however he did not accord any financial approval forcing to the petitioner to file writ petition before this Court bearing Writ Petition No.- 6623 of 1993 in which certain directions were issued on 15th April, 1993. While the matter remained pending before this Court, the District Inspector of Schools accorded financial approval to the petitioner's appointment vide order dated 5th July, 1995 and so according to the petitioner, the writ petition had got rendered infructuous and so was dismissed on 20th July, 2010.

5. It transpires from the pleadings that the petitioner's salary was paid till 1998 only and so consequently another writ petition being Writ Petition No.- 50664 of 2000 was filed in which direction was issued on 24th November, 2000 commanding the authorities to consider the representation of the petitioner and pass appropriate order thereupon. The Finance and Accounts Officer passed an order on 18th June, 2003 rejecting the representation of the petitioner filed for the purposes of payment of salary virtually questioning the appointment of the petitioner more especially on the ground of ban on the appointments in such institution. The petitioner again approached this Court vide writ petition No. - 3657 of 2003 which was allowed and the order passed by the Finance and Accounts Officer dated 8th June, 2003 was set aside and the matter was remitted to the respondent No.- 2, namely, the Director of Education (Secondary) U.P. Lucknow to pass appropriate detailed order in accordance with law after giving opportunity of hearing to the petitioner.

6. The Director of Education again rejected the claim of the petitioner vide detailed order dated 31st December, 2008 taking a ground that prior permission was not taken from the competent authority in the light of the judgment of this Court in the case of Radha Raizada and another v. Committee of Management, Vidyawati

Darbari Girls Inter College and others: 1994 (3) UPLBEC 1551 and that the post was fraudulently taken to be vacant.

7. The basic ground, therefore was taken that there was no post in existence upon which the petitioner could have been appointed. This order dated 31st December, 2008 came to be challenged again vide writ petition being Writ – A No.- 22809 of 2009, in which both these grounds were held to be untenable, firstly for the reason that in the Full Bench judgment in Radha Raizada it was made only prospective in its application and hence Committee of Management was fully empowered to make appointment; and secondly no prior permission to fill up the vacancy was required. The judgment had been delivered on 15th July, 1994 and the appointment of the petitioner had taken place way back in the year 1992, and so it was held not applicable in the light of the directions issued by the Full Bench itself. Further more relying upon the judgment of Ashika Prasad Shukla v. District Inspector of Schools, Allahabad and others: 1998 1998 (3) UPLBEC 1722, the point canvassed by learned counsel for the petitioner was that even notice board notification of vacancy was sufficient, was upheld by the Court. The Court also observed that the view taken in the judgment of this Court dated 28th July, 2006 was not accorded consideration by the authority while passing the order. Thus, the Court was of the final view that the validity of appointment could not have been gone into. As far as the procedural aspect of the matter was concerned, all that was required to be seen was as to whether there existed vacancy or not upon which the appointment of the petitioner could have been facilitated.

8. The Court in its ultimate analysis reproduced the operative portion of the order which was passed in Writ Petition

No.- 44818 of 2002 filed by one Satyawar Yadav, who also set up a claim of the post in question and the Court recorded that Ram Kesh Yadav, namely the present petitioner, who was respondent No.- 4 in the said petition, was appointed on the vacancy and was discharging duties as such.

9. In the circumstances, therefore, the Court directed that "only question is to be considered by the Committee to scrutinize the aspect of the petitioner's appointment against the then subsisting substantive vacancy only". The finding part of the operative portion of the order of this Court dated 19th February, 2015 is reproduced hereunder:

"He submits that all requisite papers including the proposal of the Management, resolutions passed etc., were produced for consideration of respondent No.2 but unfortunately has not found favour with him. He has submitted that on an earlier occasion also a dispute had been raised by the respondents when it was contended that two persons viz., the petitioner and one Sri Satyawar Yadav were appointed against the vacancy caused by the promotion of Sri Jagatpal Singh. Addressing the same, Sri Satyawar Yadav appears to have filed a Writ Petition in this Court being Writ Petition No. 44818 of 2002 (Satyawar Yadav Vs. Director of Education and others) which came to be dismissed on 20.04.2004. While dismissing the Writ Petition, this Court was pleased to record as follows:-

"The Director has found that in the meantime Sri Ram Kesh Yadav respondent No.4 was appointed on the vacancy caused on account of appointment of Sri Jagatpal Singh, Assistant Teacher as Principal of the college and that Sri Ram Kesh Yadav is working since April, 1992 and had drawn salary from May 1997 to October 1998. Sri Ram Kesh Yadav also filed Writ Petition No. 50664/2000 which was disposed of with direction to the Director of Education (Secondary) to decide the representation."

The Court is informed that the above judgment has attained finality. If that be the above position, it is not known on what basis, the respondent No.2 could take a contrary decision or record conflicting statements while passing the impugned order.

In light of the above discussion, it is apparent that the impugned order cannot be sustained. The Writ Petition is accordingly allowed and the order dated 31.12.2008 is quashed. However, considering the over all circumstances of the case, this Court deems it appropriate to direct the Regional Level Committee to scrutinize the aspect of the petitioner's appointment against a then subsisting substantive vacancy only and to consider the case of the petitioner for regularization under the provisions of Section 33-B of the U.P. Secondary Education Selection and Service Board Act 1982. This exercise be completed by the Committee within a period of one month from the date of production of a certified copy of this order. The consequential relief sought by the petitioner would abide by the decision taken by the Committee aforesaid.

10. Now after the matter got remitted to consider the factum of the existence of the vacancies which was claimed to be substantive in nature and if so found the consequential action for regularization of the petitioner in service, Regional

Committee asked for a report from the District Inspector of Schools which came to furnished by him on 20th June, 2015. In the report the District Inspector of Schools very categorically recorded a fact that on account of selection and appointment of Jagat Pal Singh, the then Assistant Teacher in the institution on the post of Principal, LT grade post in question had consequently fallen vacant and that the Manager took appropriate steps to fill up the vacancy by appointing Ram Kesh Yadav, namely, the petitioner on 26th June, 1992 and that Ram Kesh Yadav was given joining by Committee on 28th April, 1992. Thereafter the detailed narrative that is contained in the report relating to the various petitions that were filed before this Court and directions issued from time to time including the direction for payment of salary etc. But the relevant part of the report that has been referred to hereinabove with regard to the appointment of the petitioner and his joining is reproduced hereunder:

"बहुधन्धी इण्टर कालेज, सोनहिता जौनपुर एक मान्यता प्राप्त एवं हाईस्कूल स्तर पर सहायता प्राप्त शिक्षण संस्था है। संस्था पर वेतन अधिनियम 1971 एवं माध्यमिक शिक्षा सेवा चयन बोर्ड नियमावली 1982 प्रभावी है। विद्यालय के सहायक अध्यापक श्री जगतपाल सिंह की पदोन्नति प्रधानाचार्य पद पर हो जाने के फलस्वरूप एल०टी० ग्रेड का एक पद मौलिक रूप से रिक्त हो गया। प्रबंधक द्वारा रिक्त पद पर नियुक्ति सम्बन्धी कार्यवाही करते हुए श्री रामकेश यादव की नियुक्ति स०अ० के पद पर दिनांक 26.04.1992 को की गई थी। श्री रामकेश यादव को विद्यालय में दिनांक 28.04.1992 को कार्यभार ग्रहण करा दिया गया। वेतन भुगतान न होने के कारण श्री यादव द्वारा माननीय उच्च न्यायालय ने याचिका संख्या-6623/1993 योजित की गयी। माननीय उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा पारित आदेश दिनांक 15.04.1993 के अनुपालन में श्री रामकेश यादव की नियुक्ति का अनुमोदन इस कार्यालय के पत्रांक/1915-16/1997-98 दिनांक 03.06.1997 द्वारा किया गया।"

"Bahudhandhi Inter College, Sonhita Jaunpur is a recognized educational institution that receives aid up to the High School. The payment of Salary Act, 1971 and U.P. Secondary Education Service Selection Board Rules, 1982 are applicable to the institution. In view of promotion of Assistant Teacher Sri Jagat Pal Singh on the post of Principal, the post of L.T. grade had fallen vacant substantively. Sri Rakesh Yadav was appointed on the post of Assistant Teacher on 26th April, 1992 by the Manager after conducting proceedings qua selection and appointment. Sri Ram Kesh Yadav has joined the institution on 28th April, 1992. In view of the payment not being made, Sri Ram Kesh Yadav filed writ petition before this Court being Writ Petition No.- 6623 of 1993. In compliance of the order passed by the High Court dated 15th April, 1993, the approval order of appointment of Sri Ram Kesh Yadav was issued by this office vide letter No.1915-16/1997-98 dated 3rd June, 1997."

11. After the report was received the Committee constituted for the said purpose under Section 33-C(2) proceeded to examine the matter of the petitioner from both angle: (i). Existence of the substantive vacancy; and (ii). Claim for regularization under Section 33-C of the Act No.- 5 of 1992.

12. The Committee concerned has considered the report of the District Inspector of Schools and also the statement and submission advanced before it by the petitioner. The Committee of Management was also heard and in its analysis and finding part it has recorded that there was no proof available as to upon which vacancy the petitioner was given appointment and then no explanation has been offered by the Committee of Management as to under which circumstances it proceeded to fill up the vacancy in 1992 which had fallen vacant as back as in the year 1996 and then the Committee has proceeded to hold that the vacancy stood lapsed virtually in the light of the provisions as contained under Regulation 22 of Chapter II of Intermediate Education Act, 1921.

13. Learned Senior Advocate has questioned the findings returned by the Committee as perverse. Firstly, he argues that the sufficient document were available on records inasmuch as the report of the District Inspector of Schools itself acknowledged that the vacancy that had fallen vacant on account of selection and appointment of Jagat Pal Singh as Principal by the Board, was sought to be filled up by making appointment of the petitioner resorting to the procedure prescribed for, by the Committee of Management. He submits that the District Inspector of Schools has also proceeded to record that the approval was granted by the District Inspector of Schools. He has also taken to the Court to a document which had been filed as Annexure – 1 to the papers forwarded to the District Inspector of Schools on 23rd January, 1992. This document regarding existence of vacancy absolutely demonstrates that vacancy had fallen vacant on account of the then Assistant Teacher, namely, Jagat Pal Singh, being selected as Principal by the U.P. Secondary Regulation Service Selection Board.

14. He submits that the financial approval had been accorded by the District Inspector of Schools upon those very documents which were duly got verified by the then District Inspector of Schools and those documents were very much available on record upon which the report has been submitted by the District Inspector of Schools. He submits that those very documents have been referred to in paragraph 7, 8 and 9 of the writ petition and the paragraphs which have been very vaguely replied to, inasmuch as the contents thereof have not at all been denied. He further submits that regarding existence of vacancies, specific averments have also been made in paragraph 37 of the writ petition which too have not been denied and only the order of the Committee has been referred to, which is impugned herein this petition. Regarding the other point that has been taken in a disguised way or in a language which can be said to be camouflaged one, so as to be referable to Regulation 20 of Chapter II of the Intermediate Education Act, 1921. The petitioner's counsel has relied upon the authority in the case of Yogendra Nath Singh v. District Inspector of Schools and another: 1991 (1) AWC 562.

15. Meeting to above two arguments, learned Standing Counsel has submitted that two persons, namely, Satyawar Singh and the petitioner had come to join on the post in question and, therefore, there was an issue with regard to the legality of appointment. However, he could not deny the report submitted by the District Inspector of Schools and also the papers filed along with writ petition which are also available with the office of the District Inspector of Schools in the original file upon which the approval had been granted. He has sought to justify the order passed by the Committee for the reasons assigned therein.

16. On the question of continuance of the petitioner, he has filed certain certificates of the Principal of the institution which record that he has been working in the institution. The certificates are of the year 2015 just prior to filing of the writ petition, more especially the last one dated 5th May, 2015 written by the Manager of the institution and 12th February, 2014 by the Principal of the institution. The management has not represented itself despite service of notice from this Court and therefore, it would be taken that it has admitted the case of the petitioner.

17. Having heard learned counsel for the respective parties and having perused the records and having discussed the facts and previous order passed by this Court in earlier round of litigation, I proceed to examine the facts returned by the regularization/ regional level committee dated 18th November, 2015. Upon perusal of the decision I find that after referring to the earlier order of this Court dated 19th February, 2015 passed in writ petition No.- 22809 of 2009 and the submissions of petitioner, Manager of Committee of Management and that of District Inspector of Schools, the following findings have been returned:

(i). Jagat Pal Singh, an Assistant Teacher having been selected as Principal of the institution took charge of Principal on 26th December, 1986 and thus consequently post of Assistant Teacher fell substantively vacant on 26th December, 1986.

(ii). From the documents filed by petitioner it was clear that there was a resolution adopted by the Committee of Management on 26th April, 1992 and vide resolution No.- 2 thereof petitioner's appointment proposal was passed against a vacancy.

(iii). It was not clear from the documents against which vacancy petitioner was appointed and no document was available to demonstrate that Management proposed to fill up vacancy after six years of it falling substantively vacant.

(iv). No documents were available regarding creation of post, substantive vacancy, prior permission of District Inspector of Schools, advertisement details of other candidates if appeared before selection Committee.

18. First two findings (i) & (ii) fully support the claim of petitioner regarding vacancy in the institution and resolution of Committee of Management in favour of petitioner. The report of District Inspector of Schools concerned, also records very categorically: विद्यालय के सहायक अध्यापक श्री जगतपाल सिंह की पदोन्नति प्रधानाचार्य पद पर हो जाने के फलस्वरूप एल०टी० ग्रेड का पद मौलिक रूप से रिक्त हो गया। प्रबन्धक द्वारा रिक्त पद पर नियुक्ति सम्बन्धी कार्यवाही करते हुए श्री रामकेश यादव की नियुक्ति स०अ० के पद पर दिनांक 26.4.1992 को कार्यभार ग्रहण करा दिया गया। (An Assistant Teacher of the institution, Sri Jagat Pal Singh having been promoted as a Principal, the post of Assistant Teacher in L.T. Grade fell substantively vacant. The Manager initiated proceeding for making appointment against the substantive vacancy and accordingly, appointed Sri Ramkesh Yadav as Assistant Teacher who joined duties as such on 26th April, 1992.)

(English Translation by the Court)

19. The documents relating to the resolution were also available and has so recorded at the bottom of internal page 3 of the order/ decision of the Committee. Here it is worth mentioning that the order of promotion has been passed in respect of the Assistant Teacher Jagat Pal Singh as Principal but as a matter of fact he was selected and appointed as such against the vacancy but whether the promotion or selection it will hardly make any difference as the vacancy had fallen vacant for Jagat Pal Singh's appointment as regular Principal of the institution in substantive capacity.

20. This above being the fact position, the finding No. (iii) reached by the Committee does not appeal to reason. The Committee utterly failed to record reasons as to why it was disputing the report of the District Inspector of Schools (supra). The records that were placed by the petitioner and were also placed by District Inspector of Schools and very explicitly revealed that proposal of Committee of Management to make appointment was in respect of the vacancy caused by substantive and permanent selection and appointment of Jagat Pal Singh, an Assistant Teacher as Principal by the selection Board.

21. Still further, the Committee failed to appreciate the findings returned by the High Court in its decision dated 20th April, 2004 while dismissing writ petition of Satyawar Yadav being Writ Petition No.-44818 of 2002.

22. It is to my utter astonishment that even though this above finding was referred to with approval by this Court while allowing writ petition No. 50664 of 2000 questioning the order dated 31st December, 2008 vide order dated 19th February, 2015 pursuant to which the impugned decision has been taken and yet the Committee held that it was not clear as to whether petitioner was appointed against the vacancy of Jagat Pal Singh. Thus, the findings No. (iii) returned by the Committee is held perverse and hence unsustainable.

23. Coming to the (iv) finding of Committee, the Court finds that it was not in issue at all. No body had questioned appointment of petitioner for procedural defects or irregularities to the extent of impunity. Satyawar Yadav could have been the only rival candidate but his writ petition was discussed in the order dated 20th April, 2004 while returning finding in favour of petitioner. Satyawar Yadav's claim ended there itself and findings returned in favour of the petitioner remained intact. The only issue was to reconsider the claim of petitioner in the light of the findings returned in the order dated 20th April, 2004 upon which basis order dated 31st December, 2008 was quashed by this Court. The Committee, therefore, was not justified to go behind the orders dated 20th April, 2004 and 19th December, 2015. It is unfortunate only that instead of appreciating the documents placed by the District Inspector of Schools, his report and the orders of this Court, the Committee proceeded to nonsuit the petitioner qua his claim for regularization by demanding details of selection process. The finding No. (iv) is, therefore, held to be totally uncalled for, inasmuch as, petitioner's appointment and continuance in the institution cannot now be questioned for alleged absence of old documents as to selection moreso when there was no rival challenge. Still further, when appointment had been made as per prerequisite even prevalent before the Full Bench in Radha Raizada's case laid down the law of advertisement etc., petitioner's selection and appointment procedure that remained prevalent as per judgment in Ashika Prasad's case.

24. I would like here to refer the earlier findings returned by the Regional Joint Director of Education in his order dated 31st December, 2008 regarding advertisement etc. questioning the selection process:

"उपर्युक्त सभी नियुक्तियां वर्ष 1989से 1993 के मध्य की गयी है। ज्ञातव्य है कि श्री रामकेश यादव द्वारा पूर्व में योजित याचिका संख्या- 6623/93 में जिस पद पर उनकी नियुक्ति किये जाने का उल्लेख है वह पद 19-1-92 को दिखाया गया है किन्तु वह पद किस प्रकार रिक्त हुआ तथा पूर्व पदधारी कौन था, स्पष्ट नहीं है। बाद में उनकी नियुक्ति प्रबन्धतंत्र द्वारा श्री जगतपाल सिंह, सहायक अध्यापक के प्रधानाध्यापक पद पर नियुक्त होने से रिक्त पद पर दर्शायी जा रही है जबकि उक्त पद दिनांक 26.12.86 से रिक्त हुआ। उक्त पद पर अध्याचन जिला विद्यालय निरीक्षक जौनपुर या माध्यमिक शिक्षा सेवा चयन बोर्ड इलाहाबाद को नहीं भेजा गया और न ही उसका विज्ञापन व्यापक प्रसार वाले समाचार-पत्र में कराया गया, मात्र नोटिस बोर्ड पर विज्ञापन किया जाना दर्शाया गया है।....."

"All the aforesaid appointments were made between 1989 and 1993. It is noticeable that in the earlier writ petition No.- 6623 of 1993 that was filed by Sri Ramkesh Yadav, he had been shown to have been appointed on 9th January, 1992 but it would not made clear as to how that post had fallen vacant and who had lien against the said post. Later on it shows appointment of the petitioner against the post that had fallen vacant on account of the then Assistant Teacher Jagat Pal Singh being appointed as Headmaster whereas the said post was vacant since 26th December, 1986. No requisition was made in respect of the said vacancy either to District Inspector of Schools for U.P. Secondary Education Service Selection Board, Allahabad nor, the said post ever came to be advertised in newspaper and only advertisement on notice board has been shown"

25. I the penultimate paragraph of the order of the Director of Education dated 31st December, 2008 following findings came to be returned:

"जहां तक श्रीमती रामदुलारी देवी व अन्य बनाम संयुक्त शिक्षा निदेशक, वाराणसी व अन्य तथा श्री आशिक प्रसाद शुक्ला बनाम जिला विद्यालय निरीक्षक, इलाहाबाद में पारित आदेश का प्रश्न है याची का प्रकरण उक्त आदेश से आच्छादित नहीं है क्योंकि मा० सर्वोच्च न्यायालय द्वारा राधा रायजादा (1994) 3 यू०पी०एल०बी०ई०सी० में दिये गये निर्णय के पूर्व याची का अनुमोदन सक्षम अधिकारी द्वारा नहीं दिया गया था। संदर्भित प्रकरण में नियुक्त प्रबन्धक द्वारा कूटरचित ढंग से दिनांक 19.1.92 को पद रिक्त दिखाकर की गयी है जबकि वास्तव में उस दिनांक को कोई पद रिक्त हुआ ही नहीं है। मांग किये जाने पर भी प्रबन्धक द्वारा प्रबन्ध समिति की कार्यवाही पंजिका आदि पत्रजात प्रस्तुत नहीं किया गया। इस प्रकार याची की नियुक्ति बिना पद व विहित प्रक्रिया का पालन किये होने के कारण अवैधानिक है। जिला विद्यालय निरीक्षक जौनपुर द्वारा दिनांक 3.6.97 को माननीय उच्च न्यायालय के आदेश के अनुपालन में वेतन भुगतान का आदेश पारित किया गया है जबकि इस प्रकार का कोई आदेश माननीय उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा पारित ही नहीं है। माननीय सर्वोच्च द्वारा राधा रायजादा प्रकरण में दिये गये निर्णय में उल्लिखित मार्गदर्शी सिद्धान्तों के आधार पर परीक्षण किये बिना पद के होने के कारण तथा अध्याचन व समाचार पत्रों में विज्ञापन ने होने के कारण तथा जिला विद्यालय निरीक्षक द्वारा नियुक्ति हेतु पूर्वानुमति न दिये जाने के कारण अवैध है। जिनके वेतन भुगतान का दायित्व विभाग/ शासन का नहीं है।"

"Insofar as the judgment in the case of Smt. Ramdulari Devi and others v. Joint Director of Education, Varanasi and others and the judgment of Aashik Prasad Shukla v. District Inspector of Schools, Allahabad are concerned, the case of the petitioner is not covered by the said judgments because the appointment of the petitioner was not approved by the competent authority prior to the judgment in the case of Radha Raizada (1994) 3 UPLBEC. In this matter Manager had made appointment in fraudulent manner on 19th January, 1992 showing the post to be vacant whereas on that date no such post had fallen vacant. Despite being asked, the Manager did not submit the minutes register and other papers of the Committee of Management. Thus, petitioner having been appointed without their being any post and without following the procedure prescribed for, his appointment is illegal. District Inspector of Schools vide his order dated 3rd June, 1997 had passed the order for payment of salary in compliance of the order of High Court whereas there was no such order passed by the High Court. The appointment of the petitioner having been made without following the guidelines and principles laid down in the case of Radha Raizada and without there being any post as such and also in the absence of any advertisement in the newspaper and requisition being not sent, the approval of the selection and appointment by the District Inspector of Schools was illegal and for that reason the department/Government cannot be held liable to make payment of salary to the petitioner.”

26. These above findings and consequential order was set aside by this Court under its order dated 19th February, 2015 by allowing his Writ Petition No.-22809 of 2009 holding thus:

“It appears from the record that this submission and particular aspect was urged before this Court in the earlier round of litigation also. The judgment of this Court rendered on 28.07.2006 specifically refers to the submission in this regard made before the Court. Surprisingly, however, the same has received no consideration or notice by the respondent No.2, while passing the impugned order.

Following the law laid down in Ashika Prasad Shukla (Supra), this Court is of the opinion, that the appointment of the petitioner cannot be annulled on the ground that the vacancy against which the appointment was effected had not been advertised or that the appointment did not enjoy the prior approval of the District Inspector of Schools. This so because the appointment was admittedly made prior to the judgment pronounced by this Court in Radha Raizada (supra) on 15.07.1994.

That leaves only one other issue, which is whether the appointment of the petitioner was made against a substantive vacancy existing at the relevant time.”

27. Thus having held as above the Court remitted the matter as to ascertain whether ‘petitioner was appointed against a then subsisting substantive vacancy’. In the circumstances, the Committee was only required to ascertain availability of vacancy and so the Committee has done vide findings No. (i). Resultantly, findings No. (iv) arrived by the Committee, is hereby held perverse and accordingly unsustainable.

28. One more issue needed to be addressed to do complete justice in the matter and the issue is of Management’s right to make appointment after six years of occurrence of vacancy. It is settled law that with enforcement of U.P. Secondary Regulation Services Selection Board Act 1982, all such vacancies fall within the domain of Board constituted under the Act and requisition has to be made. In the present case requisition was made by Committee of Management on 23rd January, 1992 and so Management in April, 1992 was fully competent to make appointment on ad-hoc basis, and post would not be taken to have lapsed. In the case of Yogendra Nath Singh (supra) vide paragraph 8 this Court held thus:

“8. Another objection is that this vacancy lapsed within the meaning of Regulation 20 of Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921. Regulation 20 states that where the Committee of Management has failed to advertise any sanctioned post, which has fallen vacant, in accordance with the Regulations within a period of three months from the date of occurrence of the vacancy, such posts shall be deemed to have been surrendered and shall not be filled up, unless its creation is sanctioned afresh by the Director. No sanction having been obtained from the Director, the Respondent No. 1 stated in the impugned order that the post would be deemed to have been surrendered. This was the position before the Act, 1982, became operative. But after the enforcement of the Act, 1982, every vacancy has to be filled in only by the commission and ad hoc appointment can be made by the Management Committee only in the circumstances as contained in Section 18(1)(b). Petitioner's appointment cannot be impugned on that ground.”

29. I may observe here that whenever a matter is remanded on a question upon which the Court wants a certain finding of fact, the authority has to address that issue only and no other considerations extraneous to issue should be taken into account to reject a claim which otherwise would be valid but for a definite finding on issue under remand. In my considered view the authority having held issue No. 2 in favour of the petitioner, was required to just look into the documents and findings of the High Court in earlier round of litigation and nothing beyond that.

30. In view of the above, writ petition succeeds and is allowed. The decision taken by the Committee dated 18th November, 2015 impugned in the writ petition questioning the appointment against the vacancy of Jagat Pal Singh is set aside. Petitioner is held to be lawfully appoint against a substantive vacancy of Assistant Teacher then lying vacant. He is held entitled to regularisation vide relevant provisions and clause under Section 33-C of Act No.- 5 of 1982 and so also all other consequential benefits both in terms of salary increment in pay etc. including service period to be counted towards qualify service for pension.

31. Competent authority is directed to pass consequential order within a month from the date of production of certified copy of this order.

Counsel for the Respondents:
 C.S.C.

Held: The writ petition under Article 226 challenging the St. Public Service Tribunal's order dated 22.09.2022, dismissing the claim petition against the punishment order dated 22.12.2021 (imposing censure and stoppage of one increment for one year), is allowed. The Tribunal's order and the punishment order are set aside due to procedural irregularities in the disciplinary proceedings, including non-supply of relied-upon documents (report/tehrir of Shri Shiv Avatar Singh and NCRB dated 05.05.2021) not part of the charge-sheet, violating Rule 7 of the U.P. Government Servants (Discipline & Appeal) Rules, 1999, and failure to provide the enquiry report to the petitioner before imposing punishment, contravening Rule 9(4). The Tribunal failed to address these grounds, and the disciplinary enquiry exceeded the three-month time limit stipulated by the court without seeking an extension, rendering the proceedings unsustainable. The petitioner is entitled to all consequential reliefs as per rules. The order is not to be treated as precedent due to the peculiar facts of the case. No order as to costs.

A. INTRODUCTION

(1) Heard Shri Sameer Kalia, learned Counsel representing the appellant and Shri Anil Kumar Singh 'Visen', learned Standing Counsel for the State/respondents.

(2) The present writ petition under Article 226 has been filed assailing the judgment and order dated 22.09.2022 passed by the State Public Service Tribunal, Lucknow (hereinafter referred to as "Tribunal"), whereby Claim Petition No.370 of 2022 filed by the claimant/petitioner against the order of punishment dated 22.12.2021, by which he was awarded two minor penalties i.e. (1) Censure; and (2) stoppage of one increment for one year, has been dismissed.

B. FACTUAL MATRIX

(3) As per the records available on the file of the present case, the petitioner was initially appointed on the post of Assistant Commissioner Sales Tax under the Commissioner, Commercial Tax (respondent no.2) on 29.9.1998 after having been selected for the said post by the U.P. Public Service Commission. Subsequently, on account of his excellent services, the petitioner was promoted to the post of Deputy Commissioner in the year 2009 and thereafter again in the year 2015, he was promoted to the post of Joint Commissioner Commercial Tax. Thereafter, in the month of July 2019, the petitioner was transferred from the Headquarters at Lucknow to District - Bulandshahr where he joined and started functioning as Joint Commissioner, Commercial Tax (SIB), Bulandshahr.

(4) On 26.3.2021, the State Election Commission notified the Three Tier Panchayat Elections - 2021 held in the State of Uttar Pradesh. Apparently, prior to the aforesaid notification i.e. on 25.3.2021, the District Election Officer (Panchayat)/District Magistrate, Bulandshahr appointed the petitioner as Returning Officer for Development Block-Sikandrabad, District- Bulandshahr. However, subsequently, the District Election Officer (Panchayat)/District Magistrate Bulandshahr, vide order dated 03.04.2021, amended its earlier order dated 25.3.2021 and appointed the petitioner as Returning Officer for Development Block - Khurja in place of Development Block - Sikandarabad.

(5) Pursuant to the aforesaid order of the District Magistrate Bulandshahr dated 03.04.2021, the petitioner took charge of the post of Returning Officer, Development Block - Khurja and conducted the entire election process starting from the submission of nomination papers till the counting of votes and declaration of results (except for the Member Zila Panchayat), as per the notified election schedule, with sincerity and transparency. The polling of votes took place on 29.4.2021 at all the polling booths of Development Block - Khurja and during which reportedly no untoward incident took place and the polling was conducted in a peaceful and organized manner.

(6) According to the petitioner, on 02.5.2021, at 08:00 a.m., the counting of votes commenced under his direction and supervision at Jatiya Bal Vihar Inter College, Khurja which is situated in the said Development Block Khurja. At around 05:00 p.m., on the following date i.e. 03.5.2021, the counting of votes got concluded and subsequently, the petitioner declared the result of the concerned posts of Gram Pradhan, Member Gram Panchayat and Member Kshetra Panchayat and also handed over the prescribed certificate to the returned/elected candidates.

(7) After conclusion of counting of votes at 05:00 p.m. and declaration of result of the aforesaid three posts, the petitioner and the polling team secured all the necessary documents and completed all the formalities, which took some time and as such it was only at around 06:30 p.m., the petitioner along with his team were able to proceed to District Headquarters. Apparently, before the petitioner could reach the District Headquarters with his team, the Additional District Magistrate (Administration)/Deputy Election Officer Panchayat, Bulandshahr contacted the petitioner on his mobile no.7235001008 and directed the petitioner to return to the place where the counting took place as allegedly some dispute had to be resolved. As per the directions of the Deputy Election Officer Panchayat/ Additional District Magistrate (Administration), the petitioner reached the place of counting, where the Deputy District Election Officer, Panchayat also reached, whereafter the aforesaid officer apprised the petitioner about the complaint of one candidate for the post of Member Zila Panchayat (Ward No.25) who had made a request for re-counting. On the request having been made by the alleged complainant/candidate, the petitioner required the other counting staff to be present at the place of counting and further directed the support staff to call the other candidates of Ward No.25 also till such time the support staff and the other candidates were reaching the place of counting. The petitioner along with his team in the presence of the Deputy Election Officer Panchayat/ Additional District Magistrate (Administration) tried to sort out the objections of the aforesaid candidate and due to the efforts of the petitioner and Deputy Election Officer Panchayat/ Additional District Magistrate (Administration) and other district level officer, the objections of the candidate were sorted out and upon which the said candidate requested for declaration of the result without insisting for re-counting of votes.

(8) It was only thereafter that the District Level Election Officers left with the required counting sheet to enable them to declare the result. In all this process of consideration/ resolution of complaint / objection of the candidate (ward no.25) it took considerable time, which eventually led to some delay. It is the case of the petitioner that the delay caused was neither deliberate nor intentional and in any case the entire process and the delay therewith was well within the knowledge of the District Level Election authorities.

(9) Apparently, the Deputy Election Officer (Panchayat)/ Additional District Magistrate (Administration) on 04.5.2021 submitted a letter to the District Election Officer Panchayat/ District Magistrate narrating that the petitioner had not submitted the counting sheet to the Election Officer till 12:00 PM despite of the fact that the counting had concluded about 05:00 PM and allegedly due to which certain candidates of Ward Nos. 24, 25 and 26 created a ruckus at the Collectorate premises as well as at the place of counting in Khurja citing that the result is being allegedly manipulated and due to which there was unrest at the said places. This letter dated 04.05.2021 was forwarded to the State Election Commission by the District Election Officer Panchayat/District Magistrate vide his letter dated 04.5.2021.

(10) Thereafter, the State Election Commission, on the basis of the aforesaid letter of the District Magistrate dated 04.5.2021 forwarded a recommendation to the respondent no.2-Commissioner, Commercial Tax, Lucknow for suspension and initiation of disciplinary inquiry against the petitioner stating that the petitioner had shown indifference and had been negligent towards his duties while functioning as Returning Officer of Development Block-Khurja.

(11) Subsequently, on 13.05.2021, the Commissioner, Commercial Tax, Lucknow

(respondent no.2), on the basis of the aforesaid letter dated 12.5.2021 of the State Election Commission, forwarded a recommendation to the State Government (respondent no.1) for suspension and initiation of disciplinary inquiry against the petitioner. Thereafter, the State Government (respondent no.1) issued the order of suspension dated 21.05.2021 to the petitioner and it was also directed to initiate disciplinary enquiry with respect to the role of the petitioner as Returning Officer, Development Block – Khurja.

(12) Feeling aggrieved by the order of suspension dated 21.05.2021, the petitioner in the first round of litigation had preferred Writ Petition No. 12120 of 2021 before this Court. The learned Single Judge, on appreciating the rival submissions of the parties, arrived at a conclusion that the respondents while passing the order of suspension has failed to record reasons to arrive at a conclusion of satisfaction that the charges are serious enough to impose major penalty. In this background, the learned Single Judge, vide judgment and order dated 19.07.2021, while setting aside the order of suspension dated 21.05.2021, directed the respondents to permit the petitioner to function on the post of Joint Commissioner (SIB), Bulandshahar and pay him regular salary month by month as and when they became due, however, disciplinary proceedings pending against the petitioner was directed to be continued and the same was to be completed within three months from the date of production of certified copy of the said order. The concluding remark by the learned Single Judge vide order dated 09.07.2021 has been pressed by the petitioner, which is being extracted herein below:

“.....Respondents are directed to permit the petitioner to allow to work on the post of Joint Commissioner (SIB), Bulandshahar and pay him regular salary month by month as and when became due.

It is, however, made clear that the disciplinary proceedings pending against the petitioner shall go on and shall be completed within three months from the date of production of certified copy of this order.”

(13) According to the petitioner, he served a certified copy of the aforesaid judgment and order dated 19.07.2021 to the State Government on 06.08.2021. However, prior to it, vide letter dated 20.07.2021, the Enquiry Officer so appointed on 07.06.2021 by the State Government served a charge-sheet dated 13.07.2021 to the petitioner levelling two charges against him. In support of both the charges, two reports i.e. one of Additional District Magistrate (Administration) and the other of the District Magistrate, Bulandshahr dated 04.05.2021 were cited as evidence. On receipt of the aforesaid charge-sheet dated 29.07.2021, the petitioner, vide application/representation dated 29.07.2021, sought certain documents from the Enquiry Officer related to the charges in question, so as to enable him to give a proper reply. Although, the Enquiry Officer, on receipt of the application of the petitioner dated 29.07.2021, wrote a letter to the Additional District Magistrate (Administration)/Deputy Election Officer (Panchayat), requesting to supply the documents demanded by the petitioner vide letter dated 29.07.2021 within a week, however, allegedly no heed was paid by the aforesaid authorities and the documents demanded by the petitioner vide letter dated 29.07.2021 was never supplied to him. Thereafter, in absence of the demanded documents, the petitioner submitted his reply to the chargesheet on 08.10.2021, denying the charges levelled against him.

(14) On receipt of the aforesaid reply of the petitioner, on 11.01.2021, the Enquiry Officer again requested the Additional District Magistrate (Administration)/Deputy Election Officer (Panchayat) to supply the required documents to the petitioner. Although, on 20.10.2021, the Additional District Magistrate (Administration)/Deputy Election Officer (Panchayat) supplied certain documents to the petitioner, however, according to the petitioner, these documents were not those documents, which were demanded by the petitioner. In any case, the petitioner, in continuation of his earlier reply, again submitted a supplementary reply to the charge-sheet on 29.10.2021, denying the charges and requested that he may be exonerated from the charges so levelled against him.

(15) Apparently, the Enquiry Officer had submitted its report on 17.12.2021, holding both the charges to be proved against the petitioner.

(16) The Disciplinary Authority i.e. State Government (respondent no.1), on receipt of the enquiry report dated 17.12.2021, passed the impugned punishment order dated 22.12.2021, thereby imposing two minor penalties upon the petitioner, namely, (1) censure; and (2) stoppage of one increment for one year.

(17) Feeling aggrieved by the impugned punishment order dated 22.12.2021, the petitioner preferred Claim Petition No. 370 of 2022 before the State Public Service Tribunal, Lucknow. The learned Tribunal, vide judgment and order dated 22.09.2022, dismissed the claim petition, by upholding the punishments inflicted/imposed on the petitioner by the disciplinary authorities. It is this judgment and order passed by the learned Tribunal dated 22.09.2022, which has been assailed in the instant writ petition.

C. SUBMISSIONS

(18) The learned Counsel for the petitioner has submitted manifold grounds to impinge the impugned order and has heavily relied on a judgment of Full Bench of this Court rendered in Abhishek Prabhakar Awasthi Vs. The New India Assurance Company Limited and others: 2013 SCC OnLine All 14267 and has submitted that the learned Single Judge of this Court, while allowing the writ petition No. 12120 (S/S) of 2021 filed by the petitioner against the order of his suspension dated 21.05.2021 vide judgment and order dated 19.07.2021, in addition to other direction, had also directed that the disciplinary proceedings should be completed within three months from the date of receipt of a certified copy of the order. It is the submission of the learned Counsel for the petitioner that since the petitioner had served a certified copy of the aforesaid judgment and order dated 19.07.2021 to the State Government on 06.08.2021, the period of three months came to be expired on 05.12.2021. Thus, according to him, since the charge-sheet was prepared on 13.07.2021 and served on the petitioner vide letter of Enquiry Officer dated 20.07.2021 only, therefore, construing the date of initiation of departmental enquiry to be when the charge-sheet is prepared/ served on the petitioner, the departmental enquiry ought to have been concluded within a period of three month w.e.f. 13.07.2021 or 20.07.2021. However, the enquiry came to be concluded only on 19.12.2021. Therefore, according to him, for all practical purposes the authority concerned as having not concluded the departmental enquiry against the petitioner within three months' time as stipulated by the learned Single Judge vide order dated 19.07.2021 nor had sought for any extension of time from this Hon'ble Court, the same is bad in law. Thus, it has been argued that in view of the decision of Full Bench of this Court in the case of Abhishek Prabhakar Awasthi vs. New India Assurance Company Ltd. (Supra), after expiry of stipulated period, the departmental enquiry ought to have not been conducted and concluded against the employee. Therefore, it is submitted by him that on this ground alone, the impugned punishment order falls and is not sustainable.

(19) Elaborating his submissions, the learned Counsel has drawn our attention to para-4.10 of the claim petition to submit that though specific plea to the aforesaid aspect of the matter has been taken by the petitioner in para-4.10 of the claim petition, but the learned Tribunal has not considered the aforesaid plea of the petitioner nor has even discussed while passing the impugned judgment and order dated 22.09.2022.

(20) Learned Counsel representing the petitioner has next submitted that impugned punishment order dated 22.11.2021 has been passed in utter violation of Rule 9 (4) of the U.P. Government Servants (Discipline & Appeal) Rules, 1999 for the reason that (a) the documents as demanded by the petitioner during the course of enquiry were never supplied to him; (b) the enquiry report dated 17.12.2021 was never supplied to the petitioner; and (c) while preparing enquiry report dated 17.12.2021, though report/tehrir of Shri Shiv Avatar

Singh, Tehsildar/Counting Magistrate, Tehsil Khurja and NCRB dated 05.05.2021 were not the part of the charge-sheet, but even then the same were placed reliance by the Enquiry Officer to prove the charges, therefore, the enquiry report as well as the impugned punishment order are per se illegal. According to him, the aforesaid plea has been taken by him in para-4.5 of the claim petition, but while passing the impugned judgment/order, the Tribunal had not considered the aforesaid aspect of the matter and erred in dismissing the claim petition by means of the impugned order. Thus, the impugned order passed by the Tribunal as well as the impugned punishment order were liable to be set-aside.

(21) Per contra, learned Standing Counsel representing the State/ respondents has supported the impugned judgment/order passed by the learned Tribunal and has submitted that though in the earlier proceedings when suspension order was set-aside by the learned Single Judge of this Court vide order dated 19.07.2021 (supra), time period was given within which the disciplinary proceedings so initiated against the petitioner was supposed to be completed, which could not be done, but that by itself would not be a ground for setting aside punishment order in view of the dictum of the Full Bench of this Court rendered in Abhishek Prabhakar Awasthi Vs. New India Assurance Company Limited and others (supra). Thus, according to the learned Counsel for the respondent, the plea of the petitioner in this regard was not substantiated.

(22) Learned Standing Counsel has next submitted that the charges levelled against the petitioner is serious in nature, for which disciplinary proceedings have been initiated against the petitioner. The Enquiry Officer, after appreciating the relevant material on record and also considering the reply of the petitioner to the charge-sheet, has come to the conclusion that the petitioner is guilty for the charges levelled against him. The Departmental Authority i.e. State Government, on examining the relevant record as well as the enquiry report, has passed the impugned order of punishment against the petitioner, which is in consonance to the gravity of the charges levelled against the petitioner. The learned Tribunal, after considering the gravity of the charges and also material brought on record before him, has rightly dismissed the claim petition by means of the impugned order. Thus, according to the learned Standing Counsel, the impugned order of punishment as well as impugned judgment/order passed by the learned Tribunal do not suffer from any infirmity or illegality. Therefore, the writ petition is liable to be dismissed.

(23) Having regard to the submissions advanced by the learned Counsels for the parties and after perusing the records available, this Court has given an anxious thought to the entire gamut of facts and the law referred by both the rival parties.

(24) Apparently, the procedure with regard to holding of disciplinary proceedings against Government servants in State of U.P. is governed as per the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal), Rules 1999 (hereinafter referred to as 'Rules, 1999'). The procedure for imposing penalties, the manner in which charge-sheet is required to be given, the holding of an enquiry by the inquiry officer designated for the said purpose, the grant of opportunity to call witnesses and record their oral evidence are also provided under Rules, 1999.

(25) While assailing the impugned punishment order passed by the disciplinary authority as well as impugned judgment/order passed by the Tribunal, the learned Counsel representing the petitioner has laid much emphasis upon Rule 7 and Rule 9 (iv) of Rules, 1999, therefore, we deem it apt to reproduce Rule 7 and 9 of Rules, 1999, which are as under :-

“7. Procedure for imposing major penalties.- Before imposing any major penalty on a Government servant, an inquiry shall be held in the following manner-

(i) The Disciplinary Authority may himself inquire into the charges or appoint an Authority subordinate to him as Inquiry Officer to inquire into the charges.

(ii) The facts constituting the misconduct on which it is proposed to take action shall be reduced in the form of definite charge or charges to be called charge-sheet. The charge-sheet shall be approved by the Disciplinary Authority:

Provided that where the Appointing Authority is Governor, the charge-sheet may be approved by the Principal Secretary or the secretary, as the case may be, of the concerned department.

(iii) The charges framed shall be so precise and clear as to give sufficient indication to the charged Government servant of the facts and circumstances against him. The proposed documentary evidences and the name of witnesses proposed to prove the same along with oral evidences, if any, shall be mentioned in the charge-sheet.

(iv) The charged Government servant shall be required to put in a written statement of his defence in person on a specified date which shall not be less than 15 days from the date of issue of charge-sheet and to state whether he desires to cross-examine any witness mentioned in the charge-sheet and whether desires to give or produce evidence in his defence. He shall also be informed that in case he does not appear or file the written statement on the specified date, it will be presumed that he has none to furnish and Inquiry Officer shall proceed to complete the inquiry ex parte.

(v) The charge-sheet, along with the copy of documentary evidences mentioned therein and list of witnesses and their statements, if any shall be served on the charged Government servant personally or by registered post at the address mentioned in the official records in case the charge-sheet could not be served in aforesaid manner the charge-sheet shall be served by publication in a daily newspaper having wide circulation:

Provided that where the documentary evidence is voluminous, instead of furnishing its copy with charge-sheet, the charged Government servant shall be permitted to inspect the same before the Inquiry Officer.

(vi) Where the charged Government servant appears and admits the charges, the Inquiry Officer shall submit his report to the Disciplinary Authority on the basis of such admission.

(vii) Where the charged Government servant denies the charges the Inquiry Officer shall proceed to call the witnesses proposed in the charge-sheet and record their oral evidence in presence of the charged Government servant who shall be given opportunity to cross-examine such witnesses. After recording the aforesaid evidences, the Inquiry Officer shall call and record the oral evidence which the charged Government servant desired in his written statement to be produced in his defence;

Provided that the Inquiry Officer may for reasons to be recorded in writing refuse to call a witness.

(viii) The Inquiry Officer may summon any witness to give evidence or require any person to produce documents before him in accordance with the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Departmental Inquiries (Enforcement of Attendance of Witness and Production of Documents) Act 1976.

(ix) The Inquiry Officer may ask any question he pleases, at any time of any witness or from person charged with a view to discover the truth or to obtain proper proof of facts relevant to charges.

(x) Where the charged Government servant does not appear on the date fixed in the inquiry or at any stage of the proceeding in spite of the service of the notice on him or having knowledge of the date, the Inquiry Officer shall proceed with the inquiry ex parte. In such a case the Inquiry Officer shall record the statement of witnesses mentioned in the charge-sheet in absence of the charged Government servant.

(xi) The Disciplinary Authority, if it considers it necessary to do so, may, by an order appoint a Government servant or a legal practitioner, to be known as "Presenting Officer" to present on its behalf the case in support of the charge.

(xii) The Government servant may take the assistance of any other Government servant to present the case on his behalf but not engage a legal practitioner for the purpose unless the presenting officer appointed by the Disciplinary Authority is a legal practitioner or the Disciplinary Authority having regard to the circumstances of the case so permits

Provided that this rule shall not apply in following cases:

(i) Where any major penalty is imposed on a person on the ground of conduct which has led to his conviction on a criminal charge; or

(ii) Where the Disciplinary Authority is satisfied, that for reason to be recorded by it in writing, that it is not reasonably impracticable to hold an inquiry in the manner provided in these rules; or

(iii) Where the Governor is satisfied that, in the interest of the security of the State, it is not expedient to hold an inquiry in the manner provided in these rules."

"9. Action on Inquiry Report-

(1) The disciplinary authority may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, remit the case for re-enquiry to the same or any other inquiry officer under intimation to the charged Government Servant. The inquiry officer shall thereupon proceed to hold the inquiry from such stage as directed by the Disciplinary Authority, according to the provisions of Rule 7.

(2) The disciplinary authority shall, if it disagrees with the findings of the inquiry officer on any charge, record its own findings thereon for reasons to be recorded.

(3) In case the charges are not proved, the charged Government Servant shall be exonerated by the Disciplinary Authority of the charges and inform him accordingly.

(4) If the Disciplinary Authority, having regard to its findings on all or any or charges is of the opinion that any penalty specified in Rule 3 should be imposed on the charge Government Servant, he shall give a copy of the inquiry report and his findings recorded under sub-rule (2) to the charged Government Servant and require him to submit his representation if he so desires, within a reasonable specified time.

The disciplinary authority shall, having regard to all the relevant records relating to the inquiry and representation of the charged Government servant, if any, and subject to the provisions of Rule 16 of these rules, pass a reasoned order imposing one or more penalties mentioned in Rule 3 of these rules and communicate the same to the charged Government Servant."

(26) A bare perusal of the aforesaid provisions of Rules, 1999 would go to show that the aforesaid rules are a self-contained rules and an exhaustive procedure has been laid down for conducting a departmental inquiry. It has been the consistent stand of the petitioner that the procedure adopted by the disciplinary is vitiated due to various reasons including he was not provided with the relevant documents during the said proceedings. Although, the learned Counsel for the petitioner has asserted that relevant documents were not provided to the petitioner, however he was unable to point out from the pleading or otherwise as to what documents could not be supplied to him nor it has been argued as to how those documents could be relevant to the disciplinary proceedings. Thus, the said issue appears to be irrelevant.

(27) The next point raised by the learned Counsel for the petitioner is that while preparing enquiry report dated 17.12.2021, though report/tehrir of Shri Shiv Avatar Singh, Tehsildar/Counting Magistrate, Tehsil Khurja and NCRB dated 05.05.2021 were not the part of the charge-sheet, but even then the same were placed reliance by the Enquiry Officer to substantiate the charges against the petitioner and therefore, according to him, the enquiry report as well as the impugned punishment order are per se illegal.

(28) This Court finds substantial force in the said argument of the petitioner, even the learned Tribunal did not deal with the said aspect, although the said ground had been agitated by the petitioner in the claim petition. Since, the learned Tribunal did not deal with the said aspect of the matter, this Court is obliged to examine the said ground enunciated by the petitioner in the present writ petition.

(29) A con-joint reading of Rule 7(iii) and (v) of the Rules 1999 makes it clear that not only the proposed documentary evidences shall be mentioned in the charge-sheet, but the same shall be served upon the charged officer. The said procedure is an essential facet of the departmental proceeding as it not only gives a certainty to the allegation levelled against the erring public servant but also prevents the department from a roving enquiry. The said procedure is to serve the rule of fairness and flows in the true spirit of Article 14 and public policy. Most importantly, the said procedure prevents from pulling up a surprise at the time of departmental enquiry and also enables the delinquent public servant to prepare for his defense well in advance. In any case, supply of documents relied upon by the department in an enquiry is an inalienable right of the charged officer and is an extension of the right to equality as free and fair procedure are a part and parcel of Article 14 of the Constitution of India, which in turn serves the purpose to live with dignity.

(30) This Court is clear in its mind that the applicability of the provisions of Rule 7 of the Rules, 1999 relating to supply of documents to the charged officer is mandatory and forms essential cannons of principle of natural justice viz “audi alteram partem” i.e no person shall be condemned unheard. Apparently, the impugned judgment of the learend Tribunal has fallen short of returning any findings on the said aspect of non-supply of the report/tehrir of Shri Shiv Avatar Singh, Tehsildar/Counting Magistrate, Tehsil Khurja and NCRB dated 05.05.2021 to the petitioner, which admittedly were not the part of the charge-sheet, but were relied upon by the Enquiry Officer to substantiate the charges against the petitioner. The very non-supply of these documents vitiates the enquiry and the consequent report filed with the disciplinary authority and as such cannot be allowed to be sustained in the eyes of law.

(31) This Court finds that even at the second stage, wherein as per Rule 9 (4) of the Rules 1999, the petitioner was to be supplied with the enquiry report and called for a representation against the said representation, adequate opportunity for explanation was not given to the petitioner in that regard. Apparently, Rule 9(4) of the Rules, 1999 provides for sufficient self-guard to a delinquent officer, in case the disciplinary authority is of the view that the enquiry report submitted is against the said delinquent officer, inasmuch as it provides that the Disciplinary Authority, shall give a copy of the inquiry report and his findings to the charged Government Servant and require him to submit his representation within a reasonable specified time. Apparently the giving of such a representation is a last chance afforded to a delinquent officer to justify his misdeeds to the disciplinary authority and is again an essential facet of the disciplinary proceedings and in terms of the public policy. Further, it is only after a representation is received from the charged officer that the disciplinary authority having regard to all the relevant records relating to the inquiry and representation of the charged Government servant pass a reasoned order imposing one or more penalties.

(32) In the present case, the enquiry report was submitted by the enquiry officer on 17.12.2021 and without supplying a copy of the said report and awaiting the representation thereof, the petitioner was imposed the punishment order on 22.12.2021. Again, although these grounds had been made good by the petitioner before the learned Tribunal, however, unfortunately the same has been dealt in a very cursory manner and as such this Court has been burdened to deal with such a fundamental aspect of a departmental enquiry.

(33) The Hon’ble Supreme Court in the case of Ministry of Finance and another v. S.B. Ramesh reported in AIR 1998 SC 853 has emphasized that in case of disciplinary proceedings if Enquiry Officer relies on the documents, then, those documents should be proved in accordance with law and any inference drawn from the documents which were not proved in accordance with law, would be illegal and opposed to law.

(34) Further, there is another aspect of the matter, which has been agitated by the learned Counsel for the petitioner. This Court finds that the said issue relating to conclusion of departmental enquiry within three months of the order dated 21.07.2021 passed in the case of the petitioner by this Hon'ble Court in the earlier round of litigation has been conveniently again not dealt with the learned Tribunal. Although an effort has been made by the learned Standing Counsel before this Court in the present writ petition, by submitting that the judgment of the Hon'ble Full Bench of this Court in Abhishek Prabhakar Awasthi vs. The New India Assurance Company Limited and others (supra) by itself cannot be a ground for setting aside the punishment imposed on the petitioner. Although, the argument appears to be very attractive, however, this Court finds that the Full Bench of this Court has answered the questions in reference vide paragraph-2 of the aforesaid referred judgment by formulating the following question :-

“(a) Whether if an inquiry proceeding is not concluded within a time frame fixed by a court and concluded thereafter, without seeking extension from the Court then on the said ground the entire inquiry proceeding as well as punishment order passed, is vitiated in view of the judgment in the case of P.N. Srivastava; and

(b) Whether the law as laid down by a Division Bench of this Court in the case of P.N. Srivastava that if an inquiry proceeding is not concluded within a time frame as fixed by a Court, it stands vitiated is still a good law in view of the judgment rendered by the Supreme Court in the case of Suresh Chandra as well as a judgment dated 27.07.2009 of a Division Bench of this Court in Writ Petition No. 1056 (SB) of 2009 (Union of India and others Vs. Satendra Kumar Sahai and another).”

(35) Although, the answer to the aforesaid reference was made by the Full bench at paragraph-19 of the judgment, however, it would be significant to note that the Full Bench in that very judgment also recorded the prelude to the said judgment at paragraph-6, which makes for an enlightenment reading. Suffice to mention that the Full Bench in that paragraph observed as follows :-

“6. In the context of disciplinary proceedings, the High Court in the exercise of its writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution may in appropriate cases fix a stipulation in regard to the conclusion of an enquiry within a stipulated period. Such an order may be passed in several situations, such as when an employee moves a petition challenging an order of suspension and the Court considers it appropriate, in the interests of justice, to direct that the disciplinary proceeding should be expeditiously disposed of. Such directions are issued in other appropriate instances to obviate a delay in disposing of disciplinary proceedings. The basis and rationale for these orders is to ensure that an employee is not prejudiced by an undue delay in the conclusion of a disciplinary proceeding. Where the Court stipulates a period of time during which an enquiry must be completed, such a stipulation has to be observed. Clearly, it is not open to the employer to act in disregard of the orders of the Court and it cannot possibly be asserted that notwithstanding the time fixed by the Court, the employer is at liberty to conclude the enquiry at its own whims and fancy disregarding the stipulation of time.

(36) The Full Bench in the background of the aforesaid observation made at paragraph-6 of the judgment, went to answer the aforesaid question framed, vide para-19 of the judgment, which is being reproduced here-in-below :-

"19. In view of the above discussion, we now proceed to answer the questions which have been referred to the Full Bench.

(A) Question No. (a): We hold that if an enquiry is not concluded within the time which has been fixed by the Court, it is open to the employer to seek an extension of time by making an appropriate application to the court setting out the reasons for the delay in the conclusion of the enquiry. In such an event, it is for the court to consider whether time should be extended, based on the facts and circumstances of the case. However, where there is a stipulation of time by the Court, it will not be open to the employer to disregard that stipulation and an extension of time must be sought;

(B) Question No. (b): The judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Suresh Chandra (supra) as well as the judgment of the Division Bench of this Court in the case of Satyendra Kumar Sahai (supra) clearly indicate that a mere delay on the part of the employer in concluding a disciplinary enquiry will not ipso facto nullify the entire proceedings in every case. The court which has fixed a stipulation of time has jurisdiction to extend the time and it is open to the court, while exercising that jurisdiction, to consider whether the delay has been satisfactorily explained. The court can suitably extend time for conclusion of the enquiry either in a proceeding instituted by the employee challenging the enquiry on the ground that it was not completed within the stipulated period or even upon an independent application moved by the employer. The court has the inherent jurisdiction to grant an extension of time, the original stipulation of time having been fixed by the court itself. Such an extension of time has to be considered in the interests of justice balancing both the need for expeditious conclusion of the enquiry in the interests of fairness and an honest administration. In an appropriate case, it would be open to the Court to extend time suo motto in order to ensure that a serious charge of misconduct does not go unpunished leading to a serious detriment to the public interest. The court has sufficient powers to grant an extension of time both before and after the period stipulated by the court has come to an end."

(Emphasis Supplied)

(32) Having said so, this Court is of the view that in all fairness and as per the judgment of the Full Bench, there is no escape for the employer/disciplinary authority to disregard the stipulation of time as provided for completion of disciplinary proceedings. However, a way out as has been prescribed by the Full Bench, inasmuch as, it is always open for the disciplinary authority to seek extension of time from this court giving reasons for delay in conclusion of the enquiry. Further, suo-moto power has also been given to this Court to grant an extension of time both before or after the period stipulated by the Court.

(33) This Court finds that there is no request nor any application by the disciplinary authority seeking any extension of time for concluding the enquiry. Even during the present proceeding before this Court, there had been no such request by the disciplinary authority. Further, this Court finds that the disciplinary authority was granted three months' time to conclude the enquiry vide order dated 19.07.2021, however, apparently the punishment order came to be passed vide order dated 22.12.2021, which was well beyond the time granted by this Court. Although, in answer to issue 'B' of the reference, the Full Bench of this Court was of the view that this Court may grant suo-moto extension, if the charges are so serious, but in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the issue in question, such suo-motu extension of time cannot be granted for various reason including (i) that the charges against the petitioner is essentially for delayed declaration of result of the members of the Zila Panchayat, (ii) Although the petitioner was immediately put on suspension, however learned Single Judge of this Court has quashed the said order of suspension and allowed the petitioner to work and the said order of the learned Single Judge has attained finality as the same was never challenged by the department, (iii) the penalty imposed are minor in nature and (iv) most significantly this court has found several procedural infirmities in the conduct of enquiry as formulated under Rule 4 and 9 of the Rules 1999.

(34) This Court cannot be oblivious to the fact that the enquiry report pursuant to which the disciplinary authority has passed the punishment order was never put to the petitioner, so as to enable him to file representation. Thus, in view of the said mandatory procedure prescribed under the Rules, 1999 and several other procedural infirmities in the conduct of enquiry, the order of punishment cannot be held to be legally unsustainable, especially when there is a consistent series of authority on the point that a departmental inquiry against government servant is not to be treated as a casual exercise and the principles of natural justice are required to be observed so as to ensure not only that justice is done but is manifestly seen to be done; the object being to ensure that the delinquent is treated fairly in proceedings which may culminate in imposition of a penalty against him.

(35). The next question which comes for consideration as to what kind of relief can be granted to the petitioner under the present petition filed under Article 227 of the Constitution of India, which essentially is in the nature of Judicial review. In a series of judgments, the Apex Court has culled out the principles governing difference between Writ of Certiorari under Article 226 of the Constitution of India and supervisory jurisdiction under Article 227 of the Constitution of India. Without burdening this judgment by referring to various judgments of the Apex Court, suffice it would be to refer to the judgment of Surya Dev Rai v. Ram Chander Rai and other (2003) 6 SCC 675, wherein the Apex Court observed in paragraphs 24 and 25 as herein below:

“24. The difference between Articles 226 and 227 of the Constitution was well brought out in Umaji Keshao Meshram v. Radhikabai [1986 Supp SCC 401]. Proceedings under Article 226 are in exercise of the original jurisdiction of the High Court while proceedings under Article 227 of the Constitution are not original but only supervisory. Article 227 substantially reproduces the provisions of Section 107 of the Government of India Act, 1915 excepting that the power of superintendence has been extended by this article to tribunals as well. Though the power is akin to that of an ordinary court of appeal, yet the power under Article 227 is intended to be used sparingly and only in appropriate cases for the purpose of keeping the subordinate courts and tribunals within the bounds of their authority and not for correcting mere errors. The power may be exercised in cases occasioning grave injustice or failure of justice such as when (i) the court or tribunal has assumed a jurisdiction which it does not have, (ii) has failed to exercise a jurisdiction which it does have, such failure occasioning a failure of justice, and (iii) the jurisdiction though available is being exercised in a manner which tantamounts to overstepping the limits of jurisdiction"

25. Upon a review of decided cases and a survey of the occasions, wherein the High Courts have exercised jurisdiction to command a writ of certiorari or to exercise supervisory jurisdiction under Article 227 in the given facts and circumstances in a variety of cases, it seems that the distinction between the two jurisdictions stands almost obliterated in practice. Probably, this is the reason why it has become customary with the lawyers labelling their petitions as one common under Articles 226 and 227 of the Constitution, though such practice has been deprecated in some judicial pronouncement. Without entering into niceties and technicality of the subject, we venture to state the broad general difference between the two jurisdictions. Firstly, the writ of certiorari is an exercise of its original jurisdiction by the High Court; exercise of supervisory jurisdiction is not an original jurisdiction and in this sense it is akin to appellate, revisional or corrective jurisdiction. Secondly, in a writ of certiorari, the record of the proceedings having been certified and sent up by the inferior court or tribunal to the High Court, the High Court if inclined to exercise its jurisdiction, may simply annul or quash the proceedings and then do no more. In exercise of supervisory jurisdiction, the High Court may not only quash or set aside the impugned proceedings, judgment or order but it may also make such directions as the facts and circumstances of the case may warrant, maybe, by way of guiding the inferior court or tribunal as to the manner in which it would now proceed further or afresh as commended to or guided by the High Court. In appropriate cases the High Court, while exercising supervisory jurisdiction, may substitute such a decision of its own in place of the impugned decision, as the inferior court or tribunal should have made. Lastly, the jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution is capable of being exercised on a prayer made by or on behalf of the party aggrieved; the supervisory jurisdiction is capable of being exercised suo motu as well."

E. CONCLUSION

(36) Keeping the aforesaid dictum in mind and in view of the various reasons as enumerated herein above, we are inclined to allow the present petition and set-aside the impugned order of the learned Tribunal. Since the learned Tribunal having called upon to adjudicate the matter in its right perspective has failed to determine and return any findings on the various grounds and issue raised by the petitioner as can be borne out from the claim petition itself filed before the Tribunal, this Court accedes to the request of the petitioner that grave injustice would incur, in case the present case is remanded to the Tribunal for re-hearing.

(37) We, accordingly, allow this writ petition by setting aside the impugned judgment and order dated 22.09.2022 passed by the Tribunal in Claim Petition

No. 370 of 2022 and consequent order of punishment dated 22.12.2021 imposed by the disciplinary authority. The petitioner shall be entitled for all consequential reliefs as per the rules.

(38) It is clarified that the present order shall not be treated as precedent as the same has been rendered in the peculiar facts of the present case.

(39) There shall be no orders as to cost.

Recruitment Law – Change of Reservation Category After Application Deadline – Interpretation of ‘False or Misleading Information’ – Mid-Process Amendment in Selection Criteria – Vested Right of Consideration

The petitioner, who initially applied for the post of Civil Judge (Junior Division) under the DFF (Dependent of Freedom Fighter) and EWS (Economically Weaker Section) categories in response to Advertisement No. A-5/E-1/2022 issued by UPPSC, later sought to withdraw her DFF claim upon realizing her ineligibility. She requested correction to be treated under EWS category alone after the declaration of Preliminary Exam result. UPPSC rejected this request, citing Clauses 2 and 11(18) of the 'Necessary Information' as prohibiting any post-deadline changes to category claims. The High Court held that although the petitioner could not amend her reservation category post-deadline under Clause 11(18), the failure to substantiate her DFF claim did not constitute a 'false' or 'misleading' claim under the said clause. Relying on dictionary and judicial interpretation of the terms "false" and "misleading," the Court distinguished between incomplete/incorrect claims and deceitful submissions. As the petitioner had not filed any document to support the DFF category, and had qualified under EWS cut-off, her candidature could not be cancelled outright. Incomplete or unsubstantiated claims are not automatically 'false' or 'misleading.' Reservation claims not supported by certificates can be denied, but candidature cannot be cancelled.

1. Heard Shri Prabhav Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner, Shri G.K. Singh, Senior Advocate, assisted by Shri

M.N. Singh, learned counsel for respondent nos. 2 & 3 and Shri Mukul Tripathi, learned Standing Counsel.

2. Present petition has been filed against the communication dated 29.4.2023 issued by Under Secretary, Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission ('UPPSC' in short) and the further communication dated 10.5.2023 issued on behalf of the Appeal Authority of the UPPSC rejecting the request of the petitioner to be treated as a candidate belonging to Economically Weaker Section ('EWS' in short) category, while giving up her claim, Dependent of Freedom Fighter ('DFF' in short).

3. Facts relevant to decide the present controversy are, the UPPSC came out with the Advertisement No. A-5/E-1/2022 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Advertisement'), dated 10.12.2022, inviting applications to participate at an Open Examination to be conducted by the UPPSC, for selection on the post of Civil Judge (Junior Division). In all, 303 vacancies were advertised. Of that, 123 vacancies fell under the Unreserved (General) category, while by way of vertical reservation provided, 81 vacancies were reserved for Other Backward Classes (OBC) category, 63 vacancies were reserved for Scheduled Castes (SC) category, 6 vacancies were reserved for Scheduled Tribes (ST) category. Further, by way of horizontal reservation provided, 30 vacancies were reserved for EWS category, 15 vacancies were reserved for Ex-Servicemen category, 6 vacancies were reserved for DFF category, 60 vacancies were reserved for Women category and 12 vacancies were reserved for Persons with Disabilities category. Petitioner filled up the said form disclosing, she belonged to DFF & EWS categories.

4. Consequently, she was issued an admit card and she appeared at the Preliminary Examination on 12.2.2023. Upon declaration of the result of that examination, on 16.3.2023, she was included in the list of candidates declared successful. She was then required to fill up another form (to appear at the Mains (Written) Examination), and to submit documentary proof as to her eligibility and reservation claimed.

5. At that stage, the petitioner appears to have realized, she was not eligible to claim reservation under the DFF category. Thus, she wrote to the UPPSC on 29.3.2023, to be treated, non-DFF category candidate. It is that application moved by the petitioner that came to be rejected, by communication dated 29.4.2023, issued by the Under Secretary, UPPSC as was confirmed in appeal vide further communication dated 10.5.2023. At that stage and before the written examination could be held, the petitioner approached this Court by means of the present petition. Upon hearing, on 22.5.2023, the following order was passed:

"1. Heard Sri Prabhav Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner; Sri M.N. Singh, learned counsel for the Commission and learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondent.

2. Submission is that the petitioner while filling up the form for preliminary examination by mistake applied as 'Dependent of Freedom Fighter' (for short "DFF") though she belongs to Economically Weaker Section (for short "EWS") category. Upon qualifying the preliminary examination, she realised her mistake and tried to fill up the form as a EWS category candidate. As far as the DFF, she sought correction in the application, which has been rejected.

3. Relying on Note 6 of Clause 7 pertaining to reservation under Advertisement No.A-5/E-1/2022, dated 10.12.2022, the Commission may not have cancelled the petitioner's candidature as she did not make any false or misleading claim as may invite action under sub Clause 18 of Clause 11 of the above advertisement.

4. Prima-facie the matter requires serious consideration.

5. Upon the matter being heard in the pre-lunch session, Sri M.N. Singh was required to produce the result of the preliminary examination concerning the present petitioner, in sealed cover. After lunch that result has been produced. The petitioner has obtained more than the cut off marks under EWS category.

6. Since the examination is to be held from tomorrow onwards, as an interim measure, it is provided that the Commission would allow the petitioner to appear in the examination provisionally subject to the final out come of the present writ petition. However final result of the petitioner may not be declared except with leave of the Court.

7. Since the issue involved is purely legal, learned counsel for the Commission prays for and is granted two weeks time to file counter affidavit. Petitioner may file rejoinder affidavit within one week thereafter. Thus we expect, the pleadings would be completed in the first week of July 2023.

8. Put up on 10.07.2023, in top ten cases.

9. The result has been returned to Sri M.N. Singh in sealed cover.

10. Copy of the order be provided to learned counsel for the petitioner today itself."

6. Consequent to the above order, the petitioner appeared at the Mains (Written) Examination. Its result is awaited. Meanwhile, pleadings are complete and accordingly the matter has been heard.

7. Submission of learned counsel for the petitioner are two fold. First, relying on Clause 2 of the Advertisement read with Clause 11(14) of the 'Necessary Information to Applicants for Filling Their Applications Through On-Line', it has been submitted, the information filled by the petitioner while applying through on-line mode, was not sacrosanct. It could be edited, and any inaccuracy therein, could be corrected by the candidate through on-line mode, without inviting any adverse consequence. Since, the last date for making the online correction had expired on 10.1.2023, by virtue of Clause 11(14), the petitioner was permitted to communicate such change through off-line mode i.e., through postal communication. UPPSC has erred in not entertaining such application for correction made by the petitioner on 29.3.2023 i.e., immediately after declaration of the result of the Preliminary Examination.

8. Second, relying on Clause 7(6) pertaining to 'Reservation' read with Clause 11(30) of the 'Necessary Information to Applicants for Filling Their Applications Through On-Line', it has been submitted, as to reservation, incomplete disclosure of facts made by the petitioner (for the purpose of claiming reservation), did not invite the harsh consequence of cancellation of her candidature, rather, it invited the consequence of ineligibility to claim that (DFF) reservation, only. Thus, by way of example, it has been submitted, if a candidate claimed to be one belonging to a reserved category at the stage of preliminary examination and he failed to establish his credential as to that reservation, at the stage of filling up the form for Written (Mains) Examination, without making any 'false' or 'misleading' statement, he would remain entitled to be considered as an Unreserved (General) category candidate, but he may not lose his candidature, in entirety.

9. To bolster his submission, learned counsel for the petitioner has then referred to Clauses 7(7) and 7(23) to submit, different consequences would arise including rejection of reservation and even candidature, in different specified circumstances. Thus, a candidate who may not have annexed his eligibility certificates, to establish his 'Educational Qualifications', or a candidate who may have failed to submit his application on the prescribed form or failed to disclose his date of birth or to have not mentioned or to have disclosed wrong date of birth etc., would suffer the harsh consequence of cancellation of candidature, in entirety.

10. Last, it has been submitted, under the General Instruction no.3, that is also a part of the Advertisement, it was open to a candidate to seek reservation under more than one category. However, even in a case of proper documentation made - to claim all such reservations, such candidate would be entitled to only one reservation - which may be more beneficial, in his facts.

11. Referring to the facts of the present case, it has been submitted, the petitioner may, at most, have failed to establish her claim for reservation as a DFF candidate. Insofar as she had not filed any document in support of such claim, her claim may never be described as a 'false' and/or a 'misleading' claim. For that conclusion to arise, there must have pre-existed, a case of positive action or concealment practiced by the petitioner, in making a 'false' or 'misleading' claim. A simple case of incorrect disclosure or incomplete disclosure may never be equated to a false or misleading claim as may lead to such a harsh consequence, in law. Insofar as the petitioner is seen to have obtained more than the cut-off marks for an EWS category candidate, she did not lose her right to compete at the written examination as an EWS candidate.

12. As to the Notification dated 24.3.2023 issued after the declaration of the result of the Preliminary Examination (Clause 4 thereof), it has been submitted, that change in the eligibility for the Mains (Written) Examination was first sought to be enforced by the UPPSC vide that notification issued during the ongoing selection process. That has been resisted on the fundamental principle, UPPSC may not change its procedure (to make selections), during an ongoing selection process. The change, if at all, would apply prospectively, to fresh selections, only.

13. In support of his submissions learned counsel for the petitioner has relied on the full bench decision of this Court in Special Appeal No. 156 of 2017 (Gaurav Sharma vs State of U.P. & 3 Ors.) and connected matters, decided on 4.5.2017. He has also relied on the decisions of the Supreme Court in T. Nadu Computer SC B.Ed. G.T. Welf. Society vs Higher Sec. Sci. Computer Tech. Assn. & Ors., (2009) 14 SCC 517 and Sureshkumar Lalitkumar Patel & Ors. vs State of Gujarat & Ors., 2023 SCC OnLine SC 167.

14. On the other hand, Shri G.K. Singh, learned senior counsel for the UPPSC submits, the terms and conditions of the Advertisement are sacrosanct. Besides the Clause 4 of the Notification dated 24.3.2023, even under the original Advertisement, all candidates were mandatorily required to submit their online form, by the cut-off date 10.1.2023, clearly disclosing the category under which they were claiming their eligibility. The petitioner having claimed to be a person belonging to DFF category, she may never have changed her category, later. Therefore, the UPPSC has rightly rejected the candidature of the petitioner arising from her application dated 29.3.2023, seeking change of category.

15. Second, it has been submitted, the only provision to allow for change of category, existed under Clause 2 of the 'Necessary Information to Applicants for Filling Their Applications Through On-Line'. The date for the same expired on 10.1.2023. The petitioner failed to take benefit of the same. Then, it has been submitted, at the stage of filling the form for the Mains (Written) Examination, further requirement arose to the petitioner to file documents in support of the information furnished by her in her original application (submitted through online mode). At that stage, the petitioner could not have chosen - to not file the necessary certificates. Referring to Clause 11(7) of the 'Necessary Information to Applicants for Filling Their Applications Through On-Line', it has been submitted, the consequence of non-filing of such documents is provided by way of cancellation of the candidature, in entirety. Since the petitioner did not file the certificates/documents to establish that she belonged to DFF category, she cannot escape the consequence of cancellation of her candidature.

16. In support of above, reference has also been made to the provision of Clause 7(18) of the 'Necessary Information to Applicants for Filling Their Applications Through On-Line', to submit, change of category or sub-category was not permissible to the petitioner after 10.1.2023 i.e., after the cut-off date. Since it is the own case of the petitioner that she did not belong to DFF category, she had given 'false' and/or 'misleading' information. Therefore, her candidature was rightly rejected.

17. In support of his submission, learned senior counsel for the UPPSC has relied on two decisions of learned single Judge of this Court in Vaishali Dwivedi vs State of U.P. & 2 Ors., Writ - A No. 15413 of 2022 decided on 27.9.2022 and Satyendra Kumar Mishra vs State of U.P. & 2 Ors., Writ - A No. 3841 of 2023, decided on 17.3.2023. He has also relied on the full bench decision of this Court in Rajendra Patel vs State of U.P. & Anr., (2015) 8 ADJ 219 (FB).

18. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and having perused the record, besides the undisputed facts as noted above, it would be relevant to extract the Clauses 2, 7(6), 11(7), 11(14), 11(18), 11(23), 11(30) of the 'Necessary Information to Applicants for Filling Their Applications Through On-Line'. These clauses read as below:

"2. Modify Submitted Application: If a candidate comes to know about any error/errors in the submitted application form except in the name of exam and type of recruitment. Registered Mobile Number, E-mail ID, Aadhar Number and such cases where prescribed fee for modified category is higher (in case of error in these entries, candidate may submit new online application with prescribed fee only as previously deposited fee will neither be adjusted nor refunded) he/she will be given only one opportunity to modify it/them according to the following procedure before the last date of the submission of application form.

7(6): It is mandatory for the candidates to enclose self attested copies of all marksheets and certificates alongwith the application forms of Main (Written) Examination in support of the claims made by them in their application forms of Preliminary Examination regarding eligibility and category/sub-category for the benefit of reservation failing which their claim as a reserve category candidate shall not be entertained.

11(7): The candidates will have to enclose self attested copies of marksheets, certificates and degree alongwith the application form of main examination in support of their claims of Educational Qualifications. If they do not enclose self attested certificates/documents in support of their claims, the applications shall be rejected.

11(14): In every correspondence with the Commission, the name of Examination, Advertisement No. Registration No. Name of Candidate, Date of Birth & Roll No. (if communicated) Should be mentioned.

11(18): The claim of category, subcategory, domicile, gender, date of birth, name and address will be valid only till the last date of applying on line application. No change will be admissible after this. On submission of false/misleading information, the candidature will be cancelled. In this regard no application for error correction/modification shall be acceptable. Incomplete Application form shall be summarily rejected and no correspondence shall be entertained in this regard.

11(23): The application/candidature will be rejected/cancelled if the application is not submitted on prescribed form, date of birth is not mentioned or wrong date of birth is mentioned, overage, under age, not fulfilling the minimum educational qualifications, applications received after last date and no signature under declaration in the format.

11(30): The candidates of reserved categories will be adjusted against the Unreserved Category in the final selection only if he/she will not avail any benefit/concession in qualifying standard at the state of Preliminary/Main/Screening Examination."

19. Also, relevant to the controversy at hand, the provision of General Instructions no.3 may also be taken note of, as below:

"3. Those candidates, willing to take the benefit of the reservation/age relaxation must obtain a certificate, issued by the competent authority, in support of the reserved category, in the prescribed format printed in this detailed advertisement (Appendix-3) and submit the same to the Commission whenever required to do so. Those claiming more than one reservation/age relaxation will be given only one such concession, which will be more beneficial. The Candidates who are not originally domicile of U.P. belonging to SC, ST, O.B.C. dependants of freedom fighters, Ex-Servicemen, Skilled Players, and Persons with Disabilities (Pwds) are not entitled to benefit of reservation/age relaxation. Such candidates will be treated as unreserved (General) candidates. In case of the women candidates, the caste certificate issued from father side will be treated valid."

20. Having given our anxious consideration to the submissions advanced at the bar, we find, under the terms and conditions of the Advertisement, there was no option to the petitioner, but to submit her original/first application through the online mode, to appear at the Preliminary Examination. In view of the language of Clause 2 of 'Necessary Information to Applicants for Filling Their Applications Through On-Line', the petitioner was effectively prevented from seeking any change in her application form, after 10.1.2023. That being the last date to fill her application form, the submission of the learned counsel for the petitioner - based on Clause 11(14) does not impress us. While the UPPSC may have allowed for physical correspondence to arise through offline mode, it may never be inferred therefrom, that the mandatory condition and the timeline with respect to amendment and correction in the original application form stood extended, by necessary implication.

21. Allowing a postal correspondence to arise, in no way granted or created any right to the applicant, to correct/change the details submitted on her original/first application, submitted earlier, electronically. In absence of any inherent or recognized right existing (as to that) after the cut-off date, the first submission advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner does not merit our acceptance. It is rejected.

22. Insofar as the second submission advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner is concerned, the scheme of the selection, as contained in the

Advertisement, appears to be that the petitioner and the other candidates were allowed to appear at the Preliminary Examination on the strength of the self-disclosure made by them (in their applications submitted online), without verification made by the UPPSC, at that stage. That also appears to be the widely accepted mode at public examinations. These days, large number of candidates appear at public examinations, for a very few posts. Therefore, it does appear highly improbable and time consuming for the selection bodies to carry out due verification of all candidates, at the first stage of the selection process. It also allows the selection bodies access to higher fee collections. Thus, only after most of the candidates get screened out during the process of the Preliminary Examination, the more serious phase of the selection and verification is undertaken by UPPSC, through the Mains (Written) Examination and Interview/Viva Voce. Upon query made, the learned senior counsel for the UPPSC does not dispute this assumption.

23. Looked in that light, we first take note of Clause 7(6) of 'Necessary Information to Applicants for Filling Their Applications Through On-Line'. It appears to suggest that the benefit of reservation under any category/sub-category would fail if the self-attested certificate forming the basis of such claim were not enclosed with the offline/second application form - to be submitted before the Mains (Written) Examination. Here, it is undisputed, the offline application was to be submitted only after qualifying at the Preliminary Examination i.e., at the stage of Mains (Written) Examination.

24. Thus, in the first place, a candidate who may have first claimed reservation under any category (in the form submitted online) and failed to enclose his self-attested category certificate (with his offline application), would lose his entitlement to his claim, as a reserved category candidate. There is no quarrel between the parties, the petitioner lost her claim as a DFF category candidate, for reason of having not enclosed her self-attested certificate to claim that benefit under that category of reservation, along with her offline application form.

25. Insofar as Clause 11(7) of 'Necessary Information to Applicants for Filling Their Applications Through On-Line' is concerned, the same appears to apply solely to 'Educational Qualifications'. Though the said clause also uses the word 'certificate' in conjunction with the words 'marksheet and degree', at the same time, it qualifies the applicability of that Clause itself to 'Educational Qualifications'. Therefore, it is plain - under that Clause, failure to enclose 'such' self-attested certificates/documents would result in the application itself being rejected. Though mandatory without an exception, the said Clause applies qua 'Educational Qualifications', only. By no process of reasoning, it may ever be inferred, it would apply or be extended to reservation, also.

26. Then, coming to Clause 11(18), first, it clearly provides, no change of category/sub-category may be made by a candidate after the last date to file the original (first) application, submitted through online mode. To that also, there is no dispute or quarrel between the parties. Therefore, as noted above, the petitioner lost her right to change her category, after the last date to submit the application to appear at the Preliminary Examination. However, as to consequence, only in the event of 'false/misleading information' being provided, the candidature of such candidate may be cancelled. Therefore, meaning would have to be attributed to the words 'false' and 'misleading'.

27. Blacks Law Dictionary, Ninth Edition defines the words 'False' & 'Misleading' as below:

"false, adj. (12c) 1. Untrue 2. Deceit-ful; lying 3. Not genuine; inauthentic. What is false can be so by intent, by accident, or by mistake."

misleading, adj. (16c) (Of an instruction, direction, etc.) delusive; calculated to be misunderstood. [Cases: Fraud-13(1).]"

28. Clearly, used in conjunction - to cause the legal effect of disqualification at an open/public competitive examination, to a person otherwise qualified to participate at such examination. Since 'false/misleading information' must itself cause that disqualification, it must be such as may be intended to obtain a result/benefit that the informant i.e., the candidate must know from before, he was not entitled to. Unless that falsity is ascertained by the UPPSC and, unless that is the test applied, it would include within its sweep incomplete disclosures and innocent errors of perception as to one's status, without ever having the intent to take any benefit, of the same. In the context of the disqualification being set up against an aspirant/candidate i.e., the petitioner, since she did not file any certificate or document to claim DFF reservation, we are disinclined to give that wider meaning to the words 'false' and 'misleading' to include therein unproven or incomplete or wrong disclosures.

29. As to what may be construed as 'false', came to be considered, though in a different context arising under criminal jurisdiction, in Ravinder Singh vs Sukhbir Singh & Ors., (2013) 9 SCC 245. Yet, the same is relevant to our purpose since we are only looking to ascertain the dictionary meaning of word 'false'. That exercise has been undertaken by the Supreme Court in the above noted decision. Considering the meaning of word 'false', it was observed as below:

"18. The dictionary meaning of word "false" means that, which is in essence incorrect, or purposefully untrue, deceitful, etc. Thus, the word "false" is used to cover only unlawful falsehood. It means something that is dishonest, untrue and deceitful, and implies an intention to perpetrate some treachery or fraud. In jurisprudence, the word "false" is used to characterise a wrongful or criminal act, done intentionally and knowingly, with knowledge, actual or constructive. The word "false" may also be used in a wide or narrower sense. When used in its wider sense, it means something that is untrue whether or not stated intentionally or knowingly, but when used in its narrower sense, it may cover only such falsehoods, which are intentional. The question whether in a particular enactment, the word "false" is used in a restricted sense or a wider sense, depends upon the context in which it is used.

19. In CST v. Sanjiv Fabrics [(2010) 9 SCC 630 : (2010) 3 SCC (Cri) 1439] , this Court, after relying upon certain legal dictionaries, explained that the word false describes an untruth, coupled with wrong intention or an intention to deceive. The Court further held that in case of criminal prosecution, where consequences are serious, findings of fact must be recorded with respect to mens rea in case of falsehood as a condition precedent for imposing any punishment."

(emphasis supplied)

30. Again as to the word 'mislead', in another case arising under the criminal jurisdiction, in Ram Chandra Bhagat vs State of Jharkhand, (2013) 1 SCC 562, the Supreme Court had the occasion to consider the meaning to be given to the word 'deceit'. In its concurring judgement, Justice R.M. Lodha (as he then was) reached a conclusion that any device or false representation by which one man may mislead another to his injury and fraudulent misrepresentations would have practiced deceit. Paragraphs 17 & 18 of the report read as under:

"17. Stroud's Judicial Dictionary (5th Edn.) explains "deceit" as follows:

"Deceit." "Deceit", deceptio, fraus, dolus, is a subtle, wily shift or device, having no other name; hereto may be drawn all manner of craft, subtilly, guile, fraud, wiliness, slight, cunning, covin, collusion, practice, and offence used to deceive another man by any means, which hath none other proper or particular name but offence'."

Black's Law Dictionary (8th Edn.) explains "deceit" thus:

"Deceit, n.?(1) The act of intentionally giving a false impression

In The Law Lexicon by P. Ramanatha Aiyar (2nd Edn., Reprint 2000), "deceit" is described as follows:

"Deceit.?Fraud; false representation made with intent to deceive; 'Deceit, "deception of fraud" is a subtle, wily shift or device, having no other name. In this may be included all manner of craft, subtilty, guile, fraud, wiliness, slight, cunning, covin, collusion, practice and offence used to deceive another may be by any means, which hath none other proper or particular name but offence'."

18. "Deceit", in the law, has a broad significance. Any device or false representation by which one man misleads another to his injury and fraudulent misrepresentations by which one man deceives another to the injury of the latter, are deceit. Deceit is a false statement of fact made by a person knowingly or recklessly with intent that it shall be acted upon by another who does act upon it and thereby suffers an injury. It is always a personal act and is intermediate when compared with fraud. Deceit is sort of a trick or contrivance to defraud another. It is an attempt to deceive and includes any declaration that misleads another or causes him to believe what is false."

31. Clearly, and without any doubt, in our context, 'false' and/or 'misleading' information would imply a deliberate, wrong statement made by the petitioner to claim benefit as a DFF candidate knowingly yet wrongly. By merely claiming that benefit without filling any certificate or basis, left the claim made incomplete or unsubstantiated. Such claim may, at most, be described as wrong, yet not false or misleading.

32. By not supplying or substantiating the basis for her claim to DFF reservation (in the first/original application), the petitioner did not commit any positive and/or complete act as may ever allow any prudent person to reach a conclusion that that incomplete information was itself patently 'false/misleading', upon evaluating the inherent or intrinsic worth of that unsubstantiated claim. Per se, an incomplete or unsubstantiated claim may not involve element of 'false/misleading information'. It would not render the declaration made - 'false' and/or 'misleading', on the face of it.

33. Then, the UPPSC did not conduct any enquiry or verification exercise, to adjudge the otherwise incomplete and/or inaccurate claim made by the petitioner, false or misleading. Unless any false/misleading information was found to have been furnished by the petitioner (to claim reservation under the DFF category), and unless that satisfaction were reached by the UPPSC, on its own enquiry, it is not possible and/or permissible to reach any further conclusion that that declaration made by the petitioner was either 'false' and/or 'misleading', merely because the petitioner chose not to substantiate it at the stage of submitting her second application (through offline mode).

34. Thus, the UPPSC has neither discovered any inherent falsehood nor dishonest nor deceitful nor misleading conduct on part of the petitioner as may have exposed her to the harsh consequence of cancellation of her candidate under Clause 11(18) of 'Necessary Information to Applicants for Filling Their Applications Through On-Line'.

35. Then, Clause 11(23) of 'Necessary Information to Applicants for Filling Their Applications Through On-Line' also specifies certain conditions on which a candidature may be rejected/cancelled. Those are:

- "(i) submission of application on form other than prescribed form;*
- (ii) date of birth being not mentioned in the application;*
- (iii) mention of wrong date of birth;*
- (iv) candidate being overage;*

- (v) candidate being underage;
- (vi) not fulfilling the minimum educational qualifications;
- (viii) applications received after last date and;
- (ix) no signature on the advertisement form."

36. Thus, besides Clause 11(18) of 'Necessary Information to Applicants for Filling Their Applications Through On-Line', the UPPSC had thus chosen to specify other contingencies and circumstances in which the candidature of the candidate may be cancelled/rejected, out-rightly. A circumstance of incompleteness in the form with respect to reservation sought not being one of those conditions, it was not open to the UPPSC to contend, such condition was a part of the original Advertisement. The terms of the Advertisement had to be seen upon the plain language used therein. The terms of the Advertisement being elaborate - covering various contingencies providing for different consequences, it cannot be accepted that the candidature of the petitioner may have been cancelled for the event not specified or stipulated as one that may result in its cancellation. The language of the Advertisement that is the law between the parties, clearly works the other way, i.e., to infer, different consequences for different eventualities, with the harsh consequence of cancellation of the candidature being confined to pre-specified contingencies only.

37. In that light, it may also be noted, under Clause 11(30) of 'Necessary Information to Applicants for Filling Their Applications Through On-Line' and General Instruction no.3, UPPSC itself contemplates, a candidate who may have claimed reservation may be adjusted against Unreserved (General) category at the final selection only if such candidate may not have availed reservation at the stage of Preliminary/Mains (Written) Examination/Screening Examination. Thus, though the petitioner had lost her self-right to seek a change of category, yet, the UPPSC retained to itself a right, to consider her candidature, under the appropriate category. In the present case, the petitioner has not availed the DFF category at the stage of Preliminary Examination. As noted in the interim order itself, she qualified for the Mains (Written) Examination as an EWS category candidate but not as a DFF candidate. Therefore, the UPPSC may allow her to compete further, as an EWS candidate.

38. As to the decisions relied upon by respective learned counsel for the parties, in the full Bench decision of this Court - Gaurav Sharma vs State of U.P. & 2 Ors. (supra), a question had been framed:

"A. Whether the candidature of an OBC candidate is liable to be rejected on the ground of the caste certificate having been submitted after the last date for submission of applications?"

39. While answering that question, full Bench observed as under:

"Judging whether a particular candidate is entitled to the benefits of reservation or has rightly claimed as falling in the said category is an essential exercise liable to be undertaken. For the purposes of undertaking this exercise the selecting body must be in a position to adjudge for itself whether a particular candidate is entitled to the benefits and exemptions as claimed. If this were not read as being an inherent power in the selecting body, the process of selection itself may be completely derailed. While it is a true that a caste certificate is only a recognition of an existing status, as noted above, an OBC candidate necessarily must establish the twin conditions of belonging to a OBC group recognised by the State and also that he does not fall within the creamy layer. This requirement is liable to be judged with reference to a date prescribed in an advertisement. The certificate of OBC (non creamy layer) is issued with reference to the financial condition of the holder or his parents assessed over a period of three years. The financial condition of a holder is liable to change or fluctuate over a period of time. Viewed in this light it cannot be said that the requirement of submission of such a certificate by a particular date is not attracted to the case of an OBC candidate."

40. We do not find the dictum of the full Bench to be offering the answer to the question involved in the present case.

41. Insofar as the decisions of the learned single-Judge relied upon by learned senior counsel for UPSSC are concerned, clearly, they do not appear to take note of the second submission advanced by learned counsel for petitioner, in the present case. That we have considered above. Though terms and conditions of the Advertisement and even facts may have been similar, it would be dangerous to adopt that reasoning in the present case. Submissions advanced in the present petition have remained untested before the learned single Judge. Thus, those decisions of the learned single Judge may not persuade us.

42. Without making any observation as to the correctness or otherwise of those decisions of the learned single Judge, for reason of different arguments advanced and, upon consideration of those advanced in the present case, we find, the petitioner did not lose her eligibility to participate further, pursuant to the Advertisement, consequent to her not filing prescribed certificate to claim DFF reservation.

43. The stipulation allowing for rejection of the candidature in the event of an incomplete claim of reservation was first introduced vide Notification dated 24.3.2023. It reads as below:

"अभ्यर्थी द्वारा प्रश्नगत चयन हेतु प्रारंभिक परीक्षा के ऑनलाइन आवेदन में श्रेणी/उपश्रेणी/अहर्ता आदि के सम्बन्ध में किये गए दावे के समर्थन में अपने समस्त अभिलेख मुख्या परीक्षा के आवेदन के साथ अवश्य संलग्न करें अन्यथा उनका अभ्यर्थन स्वतः निरस्त मन जयगा "

44. Undisputedly, that condition was changed not only mid-way but after declaration of the result of the Preliminary Examination.

45. We are unable to accept the objection being raised by the learned senior counsel for the UPPSC on the strength of Notification dated 24.3.2023. The effect of Notification is not to improve the standard of the selection. It is not to pick the best over the lesser in order of merit. It seeks to completely exclude the petitioner from the zone of consideration, midway through the selection process.

46. In N.T. Devin Katti v. Karnataka Public Service Commission, (1990) 3 SCC 157, the Supreme Court had laid down a rule against change to the rules of selection, while that selection was underway. It held:

"11. There is yet another aspect of the question. Where advertisement is issued inviting applications for direct recruitment to a category of posts, and the advertisement expressly states that selection shall be made in accordance with the existing rules or government orders, and if it further indicates the extent of reservations in favour of various categories, the selection of candidates in such a case must be made in accordance with the then existing rules and government orders. Candidates who apply, and undergo written or viva voce test acquire vested right for being considered for selection in accordance with the terms and conditions contained in the advertisement, unless the advertisement itself indicates a contrary intention. Generally, a candidate has right to be considered in accordance with the terms and conditions set out in the advertisement as his right crystallises on the date of publication of advertisement, however he has no absolute right in the matter. If the recruitment Rules are amended retrospectively during the pendency of selection, in that event selection must be held in accordance with the amended Rules. Whether the Rules have retrospective effect or not, primarily depends upon the language of the Rules and its construction to ascertain the legislative intent. The legislative intent is ascertained either by express provision or by necessary implication; if the amended Rules are not retrospective in nature the selection must be regulated in accordance with the rules and orders which were in force on the date of advertisement. Determination of this question largely depends on the facts of each case having regard to the terms and conditions set out in the advertisement and the relevant rules and orders. Lest there be any confusion, we would like to make it clear that a candidate on making application for a post pursuant to an advertisement does not acquire any vested right of selection, but if he is eligible and is otherwise qualified in accordance with the relevant rules and the terms contained in the advertisement, he does acquire a vested right of being considered for selection in accordance with the rules as they existed on the date of advertisement. He cannot be deprived of that limited right on the amendment of rules during the pendency of selection unless the amended rules are retrospective in nature".

47. Then, in Maharashtra State Regional Transport Corpn. & Ors. vs Rajendra Bhimrao Mandve & Ors., (2001) 10 SCC 51, the Supreme Court further observed:

"the rules of the game, meaning thereby, that the criteria for selection cannot be altered by the authorities concerned in the middle or after the process of selection has commenced."

48. That ratio was applied by a three-Judge bench decision of the Supreme Court in K. Manjusree vs State of Andhra Pradesh & Anr. (2008) 3 SCC 512. Paragraphs nos. 32 and 33 of that report read as below:

"32. In Maharashtra SRTC v. Rajendra Bhimrao Mandve [(2001) 10 SCC 51 : 2002 SCC (L&S) 720] this Court observed that "the rules of the game, meaning thereby, that the criteria for selection cannot be altered by the authorities concerned in the middle or after the process of selection has commenced". In this case the position is much more serious. Here, not only the rules of the game were changed, but they were changed after the game had been played and the results of the game were being awaited. That is unacceptable and impermissible.

33. The Resolution dated 30-11-2004 merely adopted the procedure prescribed earlier. The previous procedure was not to have any minimum marks for interview. Therefore, extending the minimum marks prescribed for written examination, to interviews, in the selection process is impermissible. We may clarify that prescription of minimum marks for any interview is not illegal. We have no doubt that the authority making rules regulating the selection, can prescribe by rules, the minimum marks both for written examination and interviews, or prescribe minimum marks for written examination but not for interview, or may not prescribe any minimum marks for either written examination or interview. Where the rules do not prescribe any procedure, the Selection Committee may also prescribe the minimum marks, as stated above. But if the Selection Committee wants to prescribe minimum marks for interview, it should do so before the commencement of selection process. If the Selection Committee prescribed minimum marks only for the written examination, before the commencement of selection process, it cannot either during the selection process or after the selection process, add an additional requirement that the candidates should also secure minimum marks in the interview. What we have found to be illegal, is changing the criteria after completion of the selection process, when the entire selection proceeded on the basis that there will be no minimum marks for the interview."

49. Later, in T.N. Computer SC B.Ed. Govt. Welfare Society (1) Vs Higher Secondary School Computer Teachers Assn., (2009) 14 SCC 517, another three-judge bench of the Supreme Court again had the occasion to consider that issue. It was then observed:

"33. We, however, cannot hold that the subsequent decision of the Government thereby changing qualifying norms by reducing the minimum qualifying marks from 50% to 35% after the holding of the examination and at the time when the result of the examination was to be announced and thereby changing the said criteria at the verge of and towards the end of the game as justified, for we find the same as arbitrary and unjustified. This Court in Hemani Malhotra v. High Court of Delhi [(2008) 7 SCC 11 : (2008) 2 SCC (L&S) 203] has held that in recruitment process changing rules of the game during selection process or when it is over are not permissible".

50. Later, a doubt arose before another three-judge bench of the Supreme Court in Tej Prakash Pathak & Ors. vs Rajasthan High Court & Ors., (2013) 4 SCC 540, as to whether the above principle prohibiting any change to the "rules of game" could be applied to a change to the procedure to be followed at an ongoing selection. In that case, the requirement to achieve 75% marks in the competitive examination was introduced after the advertisement and that procedural requirement was not known to the candidates, under the original advertisement. That reference appears to be still pending before a larger bench of the Supreme Court.

51. Pending that reference, recently, in Ramjit Singh Kardam v. Sanjeev Kumar, (2020) 20 SCC 209, a two-judge bench of the Supreme Court again had the occasion to consider the enforceability of an amendment to the selection process, made midway through the selection. After considering the scope and pendency of the reference in Tej Prakash Pathak (supra), the Supreme Court observed:

"53. The learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that judgments of this Court laying down the criteria for selection cannot be changed during the course of selection has been referred to a larger Bench by a judgment of this Court in Tej Prakash Pathak v. High Court of Rajasthan [Tej Prakash Pathak v. High Court of Rajasthan, (2013) 4 SCC 540 : (2013) 2 SCC (L&S) 353] , hence the judgment of this Court laying down the criteria cannot be changed during the course of the selection is yet to be tested. For the purposes of the present case we proceed on the assumption that even if the criteria can be changed by selecting body from time to time, the said change cannot be affected arbitrarily. The present is a case where change in criteria has been affected and altered arbitrarily with the object of downgrading and not upgrading the standards of selection. The High Court did not commit any error in not upholding the change of criteria effected after start of selection process with which finding we fully concur".

52. It is that line of reasoning and distinction that has again been adopted and applied in the most recent decision of the Supreme Court, cited by learned counsel for the petitioner, in Sureshkumar Lalitkumar Patel (supra).

53. Here as well, the change of procedure to select has been changed not only abruptly but arbitrarily. Having first given out to the candidates (through the Advertisement), that their candidature would not be cancelled occasioned by incomplete claim as to reservation, the UPPSC could not have turned around to reject such candidature of the petitioner, after she had acted in accordance with the terms of the Advertisement. Plainly, the change made serves no purpose. The petitioner being qualified as an EWS candidate, she continues to be eligible to participate further, in the selection process. The change made to the selection process has not been shown to have any intrinsic purpose or nexus to the object of selecting the best amongst the eligible.

54. Moreover, since the present is not a case of change of procedural requirements but one of change to the substantive requirements of selection, introduced mid-way through the selection process, we find no impediment existing by virtue of the pending reference (to the larger bench), at the Supreme Court.

55. Accordingly, the present petition is allowed. The impugned communications dated 29.04.2023 and 10.05.2023 are found to have been issued contrary to the law. They are quashed. The petitioner is entitled to participate in the ongoing selection process as an EWS candidate. Let result of the petitioner for the Mains (Written) Examination be declared, along with the other candidates. No order as to costs.

Civil Law - Constitution of India, 1950 - Article 226 - U.P. Government Servant (Discipline & Appeal) Rules, 1999 - Rule 9(4) - U.P. Jail Manual - Paras 1033, 1105, 1111, 1114 & 1118(10) - U.P. Government Servants Conduct Rules, 1956 - Rule 3(1) & (2) - Unauthorized absence - Disciplinary proceedings - Principles of natural justice - Proportionality of punishment - Post facto sanction of medical leave - Petitioner, a Deputy Jailor, challenged Tribunal's order dismissing his claim against punishment of reversion in pay scale for unauthorized absence - Absence due to medical reasons (diarrhea), medical leave later sanctioned - Enquiry flawed due to lack of hearing, non-supply of documents, and failure to establish willful absence - Tribunal failed to consider sanctioned leave and non-willful nature of absence - Punishment disproportionate - Orders of Tribunal, disciplinary, and appellate authorities set aside - Petitioner entitled to consequential reliefs - Writ petition allowed - No costs - Not a precedent.

Writ petition allowed.Cases referred:

St. of Pun. Vs Dr. P.L. Singla, (2008) 8 SCC 469 - Para 24 B.C. Chaturvedi Vs U.O.I., (1995) 6 SCC 749 - Para 26

(Delivered by Hon'ble Om Prakash Shukla, J.)

(1) Heard Shri Lalit Shukla, learned Counsel representing the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel representing the respondents.

(2) This writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India has been filed by the petitioner, Jagdamba Prasad Dubey, challenging the judgment and order dated 09.10.2015 passed by the U.P. State Public Services Tribunal, (hereinafter referred to as the 'Tribunal') Lucknow, whereby Claim Petition No. 754 of 2014 filed by the petitioner has been dismissed.

The petitioner is also challenging the validity of order of punishment dated 27.06.2008, by which he was reverted to two stage below in the present pay-scale as well as the appellate order dated 28.06.2013, by which his appeal preferred against the aforesaid punishment order was dismissed.

(3) Briefly stating, the facts of the case are that the petitioner was appointed as a Deputy Jailor in the pay-scale of Rs.9300-Rs.34500/- (Grade Pay-Rs.5400/-) and was posted in the same capacity at Central Jail, Naini, Allahabad on 14.07.1997. He remained posted at different places and worked with full devotion and satisfaction of the higher authorities during his employment.

(4) Apparently, while the petitioner was posted as Deputy Jailor in District Jail, Lucknow in the year 2007, he submitted an application dated 04.04.2007 seeking to grant two days' Casual Leave on account of the fact that he was suffering from diarrhea, however, without getting the said Casual Leave sanctioned, he left the station and also he was unauthorizedly absent from duty thereafter and as such, vide order dated 26.04.2007, he was placed under suspension in contemplation of departmental enquiry.

(5) During pendency of the departmental enquiry, the petitioner joined his services on 01.05.2007 at his place of posting and has sought retrospective medical leave w.e.f. 06.04.2007 to

30.04.2007 by moving an application in this regard. Thereafter, vide order dated 20.06.2007, the services of the petitioner were reinstated and he was posted in Central Jail, Agra, however, it was directed that enquiry instituted against him would be continued as usual.

(6) Pursuant to the order dated 20.06.2007, the Enquiry Officer had served a charge-sheet dated 20.06.2007 to the petitioner, containing three charges viz. (1) the petitioner had proceeded on casual leave without getting it sanctioned from the competent authority; (2) though the District Magistrate, Lucknow, keeping in mind the Assembly Election, 2007, issued direction to officer/employee not to proceed on leave or leave the headquarter, but even then the petitioner left the station without getting his leave sanctioned; and (3) the petitioner had not given any information immediately to the Jailor about his ailment along with medical certificate.

(7) It seems that on receipt of the aforesaid charge-sheet, the petitioner had made an application/representation dated 23.07.2007, seeking supply of certain documents to him, but vide letter dated 12.08.2007, the Enquiry Officer refused to provide the demanded documents to the petitioner, however, opportunity was granted to the petitioner to visit the office of the Superintendent, District Jail, Lucknow in any working day and go through the demanded documents and then submit his reply within ten days. However, instead of availing the said opportunity, the petitioner moved another application/letter dated 22.08.2007, seeking again to supply him the documents as demanded vide letter dated 12.08.2007 and this time again his request was turned down. Thereafter, the petitioner had requested vide letter/representation dated 20.09.2007 to change the Enquiry Officer, which was also rejected vide order dated 08.10.2007. Ultimately, the petitioner had filed his reply to the charge-sheet on 01.11.2007, denying all the charges so levelled against him.

(8) According to the petitioner, after giving reply to the charge-sheet on 01.11.2007, the Enquiry Officer had neither conducted enquiry by fixing date, time and place nor charges were proved in his presence nor any Presenting Officer was appointed for proving the charges on behalf of the department nor the authenticity of the document supplied along with the charge-sheet as evidence was ever tested during the course of enquiry by associating him or any witnesses for proving the charges against him and the Enquiry Officer had straightaway submitted enquiry report dated 29.11.2007, holding that the charges stood proved against him.

(9) The Disciplinary Authority, on receipt of the enquiry report dated 29.11.2007, issued a show cause notice dated 14.02.2008 along with the enquiry report to the petitioner under the provisions of Rule 9 (4) of the U.P. Government Servant (Discipline & Appeal) Rule, 1999, calling upon his explanation within fifteen days. In response thereof, the petitioner submitted his reply on 03.03.2008. Thereafter, the Disciplinary Authority had passed the order of punishment dated 27.06.2008, by which the petitioner was reverted to two stages below in the present pay-scale.

(10) Aggrieved by the aforesaid order of punishment dated 27.06.2008, the petitioner preferred an appeal on 03.10.2008, which was dismissed by the Appellate Authority vide order dated 28.06.2013. Significantly, in the interregnum vide order dated 03.09.2008, medical leave w.e.f. 06.04.2007 to 30.04.2007 sought by the petitioner was sanctioned by the competent authority.

(11) Consequently, the petitioner dissatisfied with the aforesaid order of punishment dated 27.06.2008 as well as appellate order dated 28.06.2013, preferred Claim Petition No. 754 of 2014 before the Tribunal. The learned Tribunal, after hearing the parties, dismissed the claim petition vide order dated 09.10.2015. It is this order dated 09.10.2015, which has been challenged in the instant writ petition.

(12) Assailing the impugned judgment/order passed by the learned Tribunal, the learned Counsel representing the petitioner has contended that on 04.04.2007, while the petitioner was on duty as Deputy Jailor in District Jail, Lucknow, he became seriously ill on account of diarrhea and as such, he immediately moved an application seeking to grant him two days' Casual Leave. As his health was deteriorating and he felt acute sickness, he took treatment from the Medical Officer posted in District Jail, Lucknow, but despite that his health was not improving, hence in that peculiar situation and assuming that his Casual Leave might have been sanctioned by the department, he firstly went to Primary Health Centre, Sarojini Nagar, Lucknow for his better treatment, but when his health was not improving there, then, he went to his home town i.e. district Pratapgarh, from where he took his treatment at Primary Health Centre, Ramganj, Sultanpur. Subsequently, after becoming fit, he immediately reported for duty on 01.05.2007 along with application for grant of medical leave i.e. w.e.f. 06.04.2007 to 30.07.2007, however in the intermittent period, he was placed under suspension vide order dated 26.04.2007 in contemplation of inquiry.

(13) It has been contended by the learned Counsel for the petitioner that the absence from duty w.e.f. 06.04.2007 to 30.04.2007 was not willful or deliberate but his absence from duty for the aforesaid period was on account of medical issue faced by the petitioner and that too the department was fully aware about his serious ailment. The said medical leave w.e.f. 06.04.2007 to 30.04.2007 was later sanctioned by the competent authority vide order dated 03.09.2008. Thus, according to him, if medical leave of 24 days was sanctioned by the competent authority itself, the very imposition of the impugned punishment was unwarranted and illegal. The learned Counsel has also submitted that in any case, the said punishment has been awarded without giving a proper opportunity of hearing to the petitioner. The disciplinary authority did not consider the reply submitted by the petitioner against the show cause notice wherein it had specifically been submitted that opportunity of hearing was not afforded to the petitioner during the enquiry proceedings as no date, time and place was fixed nor any documents demanded by him were supplied to him, hence the enquiry itself stood vitiated, and it was merely in a mechanical manner, the disciplinary authority had passed the impugned punishment order, which remained disproportionate to the proved delinquency.

(14) The learned Counsel has further submitted that Appellate Authority, while confirming the order of punishment, also did not consider the plea of the petitioner that the impugned punishment order has been awarded to the petitioner in utter violation of principle of natural justice. According to him, though the learned Tribunal, while passing the impugned judgment/order, appreciated the facts that the medical leave w.e.f. 06.04.2007 to 30.04.2007 was sanctioned by the competent authority vide order dated 03.09.2008, but the Tribunal has failed to give any finding on this aspect of the matter. The learned Tribunal has also erred in not considering the Circular dated 19.04.1996, which says that the staff of the Jail were exempted from election duty, a fact which has not been denied by the respondent. Thus, it has been argued that the Tribunal has erred in dismissing the claim petition and as such the writ petition deserved to be allowed.

(15) Per contra, learned Standing Counsel representing the State of U.P. has opposed the writ petition contending that the petitioner had been the member of a disciplined force. Indiscipline therein, amounts to a very serious misconduct. Therefore, it is intolerable. Once the charge of absence stood proved, the matter does not deserve to be considered by this Court. The writ petition lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

(16) Having regard to the rival submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and gone through the record available before this Court in the instant writ petition, it is required to be noted that while the petitioner was posted as Deputy Jailor in District Jail, Lucknow, he was placed under suspension in contemplation of disciplinary proceedings vide order dated 26.04.2007 on the charge of unauthorized absence from duty. However, during pendency of the enquiry, the petitioner joined the services on 01.05.2007 and thereafter, he was reinstated in service and posted in District Jail, Agra vide order dated 20.06.2007 but enquiry was ordered to be continued as usual. Pursuant to the aforesaid order dated 20.06.2007, the petitioner submitted his joining in District Jail, Agra and an enquiry was conducted against the petitioner by serving a charge-sheet dated 20.06.2007 to the petitioner containing three charges, which are reproduced hereinbelow :-

(17) The record available before this Court would reveal that the petitioner, after submitting an application dated 04.04.2007 for grant of two days' Casual Leave on the ground of sickness, proceeded on leave without getting it sanctioned from the competent authority. Thereafter, he was unauthorizedly absent from duty w.e.f. 06.04.2007 to 30.04.2007. However, it transpires that medical leave of the petitioner w.e.f. 06.04.2007 to 30.04.2007 came to be sanctioned by the competent authority vide order dated 03.09.2008 only.

(18) It is settled principle of law that mere absence from duty does not per se amount to a serious misconduct unless it is held as deliberate and willful absenteeism, more particularly for a long period or frequent absenteeism. Therefore, the disciplinary authority requires to go into the aspects as to why and in what circumstances employee was absent, whether explanation offered by the delinquent employee was satisfactory or not or as to whether the delinquent employee is in the habit of frequently absenting from duty or as to whether the absence is for a shorter period or a longer period. Depending on the finding recorded in the departmental proceedings on the nature and period of absence, it is for the disciplinary authority to impose appropriate punishment ranging from censure to that of dismissal from service. There is no strait-jacket formulae for inflicting of punishment in a departmental proceedings and the imposition of punishment would naturally depend on the facts and circumstances of that particular case. Therefore, the basic requirement for the disciplinary authority to take a final decision to impose appropriate punishment is finding of fact on the allegation of unauthorized absence.

(19) In the instant case, in response to the charge-sheet issued by the enquiry officer, the petitioner initially requested to supply documents and also requested to provide some more time to file a detailed explanation and when his request was turned down twice, then the petitioner submitted his explanation briefly explaining the reasons for absence. He has also pointed out that his absence after 04.04.2007 was on health grounds, that he applied for leave and his application for grant of two days' casual leave were not rejected. Therefore, this particular piece of explanation offered by him was crucial to assess whether the absence of employee after 04.04.2007 was deliberate and willful.

(20) It is also apparent from the record that absence of petitioner whether deliberate and willful was not established. Petitioner's absence could have been termed as deliberate and willful if the case of the department was that any of the medical prescription produced by the petitioner while joining the duty was forged, however, it is not the case of the department that they had examined these medical records during the course of enquiry and during such examination had found that the medical prescription produced by the petitioner was forged. It is also not a case of the department that the ailment complained of by the petitioner was false or that he was never suffering from any serious ailment. It is interesting to note that in the order of punishment, there is discussion on applications made by petitioner for casual leave.

(21) It is borne out from the order of appellate authority that though the petitioner raised several grounds in his appeal, the appellate authority failed to consider any of the grounds and simply affirmed the decision of the disciplinary authority. Apparently, the appellate authority acted teeth less and without any application of mind.

(22) It is apt to mention that no employee can remain absent from duty without permission. He can be absent from duty only by submitting leave application and only after leave is sanctioned. Without prior intimation and sanction of leave, if employee does not attend to duties, such absence may be treated as unauthorised, which may amount to misconduct and warrant disciplinary action. However, gravity of misconduct depends on period of absence and conduct of employee. Different yardsticks may apply if absence was in continuation to sanctioned leave. Thus, mere absence from duty does not automatically amount to grave misconduct. Only if absence is wilful, deliberate and without any justification, it would be a grave misconduct. Thus, it is necessary for the disciplinary authority to find out first whether the absence was deliberate and wilful. For this, enquiry is necessary. If the absence was proved to be deliberate and wilful, the next question is what punishment can be imposed. On a proved allegation of unauthorized absence punishment may vary from case to case and depending on various aspects.

(23) In the instant case, there is no discussion in the order of punishment as to the conduct of petitioner prior to initiation of disciplinary proceedings resulting in imposing the impugned punishment, nor there is any discussion on endeavour made to secure the presence of employee nor it is the case of the department that despite repeated instructions to attend to duty, the employee refused to resume his work. It is not alleged that petitioner was in the habit of absenting from duty. It is also not placed on record that he was indulging in misconduct earlier and was imposed punishments. Perforce, application of mind to the issue and taking conscious decision is paramount. The same is palpably missing. The whole exercise appears to be vindictive.

(24) Having noticed the aforesaid, what we find from the impugned judgment/order passed by the Tribunal that the Tribunal has not recorded any finding with regard to sanctioned medical leave of the petitioner w.e.f. 06.04.2007 to 30.04.2007 by the competent authority nor any discussion has been made whether the absence of the petitioner from duty was willful or deliberate. This court would find profitable to quote the observation of the Apex court in the given facts and circumstances of the present case as was made in the case of State of Punjab Vs Dr. P.L. Singla: (2008) 8 SCC 469, wherein the Apex Court observed:

“8. Unauthorized absence (or overstaying leave), is an act of indiscipline. Whenever there is an unauthorised absence by an employee, two courses are open to the employer. The first is to condone the unauthorized absence by accepting the explanation and sanctioning leave for the period of the unauthorized absence in which event the misconduct stood condoned. The second is to treat the unauthorized absence as a misconduct, hold an enquiry and impose a punishment for the misconduct.

9. An employee who remains unauthorisedly absent for some period (or who overstays the period of leave), on reporting back to duty, may apply for condonation of the absence by offering an explanation for such unauthorized absence and seek grant of leave for that period. If the employer is satisfied that there was sufficient cause or justification for the unauthorized absence (or the overstay after expiry of leave), the employer may condone the act of indiscipline and sanction leave post facto. If leave is so sanctioned and the unauthorized absence is condoned, it will not be open to the employer to thereafter initiate disciplinary proceedings in regard to the said misconduct unless it had, while sanctioning leave, reserved the right to take disciplinary action in regard to the act of indiscipline. We may note here that a request for condoning the absence may be favourably considered where the unauthorized absence is of a few days or a few months and the reason for absence is stated to be the sudden, serious illness or unexpected bereavement in the family. But long unauthorized absences are not usually condoned. In fact in Security services where discipline is of utmost importance, even a few of days overstay is viewed very seriously. Be that as it may”

(25) Apparently, in the present case, the department had condoned the act of absence by granting the sanction of leave post facto. No doubt, the department, even thereafter can take action against the petitioner, subject to reservation of its rights, however, the point to be noted is that the Apex Court has also observed in the said case, that in case the unauthorized absence is for a few days or few months and the reasons for absence is stated to be serious illness, the said request can be considered favorably by the department. This court finds that although the petitioner had given an adequate explanation for his absence of 26 days, however the same was not considered favorably by the department in a very pedantic manner. As seen from the record, the explanation of the petitioner for his absence from duty for 26 days justifies his case. Hence, in the light of the explanation submitted by the petitioner, the punishment imposed on him appears to be disproportionate to the charges leveled against him.

(26) As to what kind of relief can be granted by this Court in the present matter, the Apex court at paragraph No. 18 of the judgment in B.C. Chaturvedi V/s Union of India: (1995) 6 SCC 749 has held that

"18. A review of the above legal position would establish that the disciplinary authority, and on appeal the appellate authority, being fact-finding authorities have exclusive power to consider the evidence with a view to maintain discipline. They are invested with the discretion to impose appropriate punishment keeping in view the magnitude or gravity of the misconduct. The High Court/Tribunal, while exercising the power of judicial review, cannot normally substitute its own conclusion on penalty and impose some other penalty. If the punishment imposed by the disciplinary authority or the appellate authority shocks the conscience of the High Court/Tribunal, it would appropriately mould the relief, either directing the disciplinary/appellate authority to reconsider the penalty imposed, or to shorten the litigation, it may itself, in exceptional and rare cases, impose appropriate punishment with cogent reasons in support thereof."

(27) Having regard to the aforesaid judgment passed by the Apex Court and in the peculiar facts of the present case, this Court cannot be oblivious of the fact that the present litigation is more than 15 years old and as such any direction to the disciplinary/appellate authority to reconsider the punishment imposed to the petitioner would be a travesty of justice. Thus, for the cogent reasons as explained herein above, we are of the view that the punishment imposed is wholly unfounded and is a serious error of law, therefore, the restitution of financial benefit of which the petitioner was deprived, deserved to be restored. The learned Tribunal having been approached to adjudicate the matter in its right perspective has failed to provide any solace to the petitioner. Therefore, the judgment of the Tribunal confirming the orders of the disciplinary and appellate authority calls for interference.

(28) We, accordingly, allow this writ petition by setting aside the judgment and order passed by the learned Tribunal dated 09.10.2015 in Claim Petition No. 754 of 2014 and consequent punishment order passed by the disciplinary authority dated 27.06.2008 as well as appellate authority dated 28.06.2013. The petitioner shall be entitled for all consequential reliefs as per the rules.

(29) It is clarified that the present order shall not be treated as precedent as the same has been rendered in the peculiar facts of the present case.

DATED: ALLAHABAD 31.07.2023

THE HON'BLE SARAL SRIVASTAVA, J

Writ A No. 21430 of 2022

Renu		...Petitioner
	Versus
State of U.P. & Ors.		...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:

Sri Shantanu Khare, Sri Siddharth Khare,
Sri Ashok Khare (Sr. Advocate)

Counsel for the Respondents:

C.S.C., Sri M.N. Singh, Sri Nisheeth Yadav, Sri G.K. Singh (Sr. Advocate)

Held:

The petitioner challenged the revised result dated 23.08.2022 excluding her from selection for the post of Staff Nurse/Sister Grade-II and the order dated 16.11.2022 rejecting her representation, on the ground that the experience certificate submitted incorrectly mentioned 'Nurse Mentor' instead of 'Staff Nurse' due to an error by the issuing authority.

Possession of essential qualifications by the last date of application is mandatory, but submission of proof is procedural and ancillary. Relying on Food Corporation of India Vs Rimjhim (2019) 5 SCC 793, Dolly Chhanda Vs Chairman JEE (2005) 9 SCC 779, and Charles K. Skaria Vs Dr. C. Mathew (1980) 2 SCC 752, the Court held that technicalities should not override equity where justice is at stake.

The error in the experience certificate dated 09.11.2021, issued by the Chief Medical Officer, Rampur, was corrected by certificates dated 24.08.2022 and 30.08.2022, confirming the petitioner's contractual service as Staff Nurse from 01.04.2015 to 18.10.2019. The Commission's rejection of candidature for late submission of the corrected certificate was arbitrary.

Clause 10 of the advertisement, empowering the Commission to cancel candidature, must be exercised judicially. The absence of a negative stipulation, unlike Gaurav Sharma Vs St. of U.P. (2017 SCC Online All. 1286), distinguished the case.

The impugned order dated 16.11.2022 was quashed, and the Commission was directed to grant the benefit of the experience certificate and consider the petitioner's candidature for appointment on merit, subject to other conditions.

Result: Writ petition allowed. No order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saral Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Siddharth Khare, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri G.K. Singh, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Nisheeth Yadav, learned counsel for the respondents and learned Standing Counsel for the State.

2. The petitioner through the present writ petition has prayed for a writ of certiorari quashing the revised result dated 23.08.2022 for the post of Staff Nurse/Sister Grade-II in so far as it excludes the petitioner therefrom, and order dated 16.11.2022 passed by the Secretary, Public Service Commission, U.P. Pryagaraj (hereinafter referred to as 'Commission') rejecting the representation of the petitioner dated 27.08.2022. The petitioner has further prayed for a writ of mandamus directing the respondents to grant appointment to the petitioner as Staff Nurse/Sister Grade-II and pay regular monthly salary on the said post.

3. The facts, in brief, are that under Advertisement No.A-4/E-1/2021 issued by the Commission notifying the selection for the post of Staff Nurse/Sister Grade-II (Male/Female), the petitioner applied for consideration in the aforesaid selection. The aforesaid selection consisted of total 100 marks, out of which 85 marks stood allocated for the written examination and 15 marks for the experience of working as a Staff Nurse on a contractual basis. Marks for the experience to be awarded in a manner that three marks were to be allocated for the first completed year of service on a contract basis followed by three additional marks for each succeeding year subject to a maximum of 15 marks. The petitioner in support of experience filed an experience certificate dated 09.11.2021 issued by the Chief Medical Officer, Rampur.

4. The petitioner appeared in the written examination held on 01.10.2021. The result thereof was published on 04.01.2022. In the result so published, the petitioner was shown to be selected in the aforesaid examination. The petitioner got the marks sheet downloaded from the official website of the Commission in which the petitioner was shown to have secured 28.50 marks in the written examination, 12 marks based on experience. Thus, the petitioner secured 40.50 marks in aggregate.

5. It appears that after the declaration of the result, Writ-A No.1815 of 2022 (Preeti Patel & Another Vs. State of U.P. and Others)

was filed challenging the result on the ground that there were certain discrepancies in scrutinizing the experience certificates of the candidates. In the said petition, counsel for the Commission made a statement that the Commission had decided to re-scrutinize the experience certificate of 814 selected candidates whose recommendations were not sent till date to the State Government as well as other candidates.

6. Thereafter, Commission proceeded to re-scrutinize the experience certificate and issued a notification dated 23.08.2022 declaring a revised result in which the name of the petitioner did not appear.

7. Aggrieved by her non-selection, the petitioner submitted a representation to the Commission on 05.09.2022 enclosing therewith a certificate dated 24.08.2022 issued by the Chief Medical Officer certifying that the petitioner had worked as 'Staff Nurse' from 01.04.2015 to 18.10.2019 on contract basis. The petitioner also enclosed another certificate dated 30.08.2022 issued by the Chief Medical Officer certifying that inadvertently 'Nurse Mentor' has been mentioned in the certificate dated 09.11.2021 whereas the petitioner has worked as 'Staff Nurse (contractual) in Community Health Centre, Tanda, Rampur from 01.04.2015 to 18.10.2019.

8. The Commission did not pay any heed to the representation of the petitioner which led the petitioner to file Writ-A No.15147 of 2022 which was disposed off by this Court by order dated 18.10.2022 directing the Commission to consider and decide the representation of the petitioner.

9. Pursuant to the direction of this Court dated 18.10.2022 in Writ-A No.15147 of 2022, Commission vide order dated 16.11.2022 rejected the candidature of the petitioner on the ground that the petitioner submitted a working experience certificate of 'Staff Mentor' and not of 'Staff Nurse', therefore, she was not selected.

10. The respondent-Commission has placed an instruction on record. According to instructions, a complete procedure for selection was specified in the advertisement. The instruction further states that Rule 15(3) (appears to have been wrongly typed as 'Rule 10(3)' in the instruction) of Uttar Pradesh State Subordinate Nursing (Non-Gazetted) Service (Fourth Amendment), Rules, 2016 (hereinafter referred to as 'Rules, 2016') provides the procedure for selection. Rule 15(3) is reproduced below:-

“चयन एक सौ अंकों का होगा। अभ्यर्थियों की योग्यता सूची निम्नलिखित रीति में तैयार की जायेगी:-

(क) लिखित परीक्षा पच्चीस अंकों की होगी।

(ख) चिकित्सा एवं स्वास्थ्य सेवाएं विभाग उत्तर प्रदेश में संविदा के आधार पर कार्यरत किसी व्यक्ति को अधिकतम पन्द्रह अंकों के अध्याधीन निम्नलिखित रीति में अंक प्रदान किये जायेगे:-

(एक) संविदा के आधार पर सेवा में प्रथम पूर्ण वर्ष के लिए ... तीन अंक।

(दो) संविदा के आधार पर सेवा के अगले एवं प्रत्येक पूर्ण वर्ष के लिए तीन अंक प्रति वर्ष के लिए।

(ग) खण्ड (क) के अधीन प्रत्येक अभ्यर्थी द्वारा प्राप्त अंकों को, जहाँ लागू हो, खण्ड (ख) के अधीन प्राप्त अंकों के साथ जोड़ दिया जायेगा।

तदुसार उपरोक्त संगत सेवा नियमावली के अधीन संविदा के अनुभव के लिए अधिकतम 15 अंक निर्धारित हैं।”

11. The instruction further states that after the written examination, a notification dated 03.11.2021 was published inviting online applications in respect of preference of the candidate from 20,181 candidates. The cut-off marks for the General, E.W.S.

& O.B.C. category was 25 marks out of 85 marks whereas the cut-off marks for Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribes was 20 marks out of 85 marks. The said application was to be uploaded by a candidate along with the photocopy of all relevant documents on the website of the Commission by 18.11.2021.

12. The Commission further stated that the last date of submitting online application mentioned in the advertisement no.807/07/एस-6/2019-20 टी०सी०, dated 03.11.2021 was 18.11.2021 which was further extended till 22.11.2021 by amended notification no.815/एस-6/2019-20 टी०सी० dated 15.11.2021.

13. In response to the said notification, 18693 candidates logged in to the website of the Commission for uploading online applications, out of which only 15830 candidates completed all stages of uploading with educational certificates and experience certificates within the time prescribed in the notification.

14. The instructions further stated that the petitioner submitted a hard copy of the experience certificate (परिशिष्ट-6) of 'Nurse Mentor' as a contractual employee due to which the benefit of experience was not extended to the petitioner. However, the petitioner after the declaration of result dated 23.08.2022, submitted representation dated 27.08.2022 informing that the Chief Medical Officer, Rampur inadvertently mentioned 'Nurse Mentor' in place of 'Staff Nurse' in the experience certificate, but since the said representation was submitted by the petitioner after declaration of result dated 23.08.2022, therefore, representation of the petitioner dated 27.08.2022 being not maintainable was rejected.

15. It is stated that since the petitioner has not submitted the experience certificate within the time prescribed in the notification dated 03.11.2021 and amended notification dated 15.11.2021, therefore, she could not be extended the benefit of the experience certificate.

16. Challenging the aforesaid order, Sri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner has invited the attention of this Court to Clause 4 of the General Instruction of advertisement which states that the candidate must possess all the requisite qualifications till the last date of submission of application. It is submitted that the respondent Commission is not denying the fact that the petitioner possessed essential qualifications on the last date of submission of application, but has refused to grant the benefit of working experience to the petitioner as 'Staff Nurse' on a contractual basis on the ground that said experience certificate was not presented within the time prescribed in the notification dated 03.11.2021 and amended notification dated 15.11.2021.

17. He submits that possession of essential qualification before the last date of submitting the application form and proof/mode of proof thereof is two separate things. Accordingly, he submits that if it is not disputed that the petitioner possessed essential qualifications before the last date of submission of the application form, the petitioner's candidature cannot be cancelled on the ground of non-production of requisite experience certificate which can be said to be a mere irregularity. He submits that possession of essential qualification before the last date/cut-off date as mentioned in the notification dated 03.11.2021 and amended notification dated 15.11.2021 is a mandatory requirement, whereas the submission of proof in support thereof cannot be treated to be mandatory for invalidating the candidature of the petitioner. Accordingly, it is submitted that the action of the respondent Commission in rejecting the candidature of the petitioner is arbitrary and cannot be sustained in law.

18. In support of the aforesaid contention, learned Senior Counsel has placed reliance upon the judgments of Apex Court in the case of Food Corporation of India Vs. Rimjhim (2019) 5 SCC 793; Dolly Chhanda Vs. Chairman JEE and Others (2005) 9 SCC 779 and Charles K. Skaria and Others Vs. Dr. C. Mathew and Others (1980) 2 SCC 752.

19. Countering the aforesaid submission, learned counsel for the respondent-Commission has submitted that the last date for submitting the application form along with all requisite documents was 22.11.2021 as per amended notification dated 15.11.2021, and if the application of the candidate was not complete in all respect, the Commission reserved its right to cancel the candidature of a candidate. He has placed Clause 10 of the important instructions of the advertisement and contended that the right of the Commission to cancel the candidature emanates from the said clause which stipulates that the Commission may admit the candidates provisionally after summarily checking the applications, but if it is found at any stage that candidate was not eligible or that his/her application should have been rejected or was not entertainable initially, his/her candidature will be rejected, and if the candidate is selected, the recommendation of the Commission for the appointment shall be withdrawn. Accordingly, it is submitted that admittedly, the petitioner has not submitted the experience certificate before the last date of submission of the application form, therefore, she could not be granted the benefit of experience as a 'Staff Nurse'. It is submitted that since the petitioner could not secure minimum cut-off marks, therefore, her candidature has rightly been rejected by the Commission.

20. In support of his aforesaid submission, he has placed reliance upon the Full Bench judgment of this Court in the case of Gaurav Sharma Vs. State of U.P. and Others 2017 SCC Online All. 1286 and Rajendra Patel Vs. State of U.P. and Another 2015(8) ADJ 219 (Full Bench).

21. I have considered the rival submissions of the parties and perused the record.

22. The undisputed facts which emanate from the record are that the petitioner under an advertisement dated 16.07.2021 submitted an application for consideration for appointment on the post of 'Staff Nurse/Sister Grade II. The petitioner uploaded her application form along with all required documents within the time prescribed in the notification dated 03.11.2021 and amended notification dated 15.11.2021. The petitioner appeared in the written examination held on 01.10.2021 and was declared successful in the result published on 04.01.2022. However, the name of the petitioner stood excluded in the revised result dated 23.08.2022 which was published after re-scrutiny of the experience certificate of the candidates in compliance with the order of this Court dated 26.04.2022 passed in Writ-A No.1815 of 2022.

23. The petitioner claims that the exclusion of her name from the select list is arbitrary inasmuch as she possessed essential qualifications for the post of 'Staff Nurse' on the last date of submission of the application form and is entitled to award of marks for experience as 'Staff Nurse', as discrepancy occurred in the experience certificate dated 09.11.2021 issued by the Chief Medical Officer, Rampur was an inadvertent error on the part of the Chief Medical Officer, Rampur which had been corrected by him by issuing another certificate dated 24.08.2022 and 30.08.2022, and petitioner cannot be penalised for the fault of Chief Medical Officer, Rampur.

24. According to the petitioner, the mistake which had crept in issuing the experience certificate dated 09.11.2021 by the Chief Medical Officer, Rampur is only an irregularity, and therefore, cancellation of the candidature of the petitioner in the instant case is an arbitrary exercise of power by the Commission.

25. Now, this Court proceeds to analyse whether the action of the Commission in excluding the name of the petitioner from the select list is arbitrary and whether the petitioner is entitled to marks for experience certificate as 'Staff Nurse' on a contractual basis.

26. In the case of Food Corporation of India (supra), the Apex Court considered a case where the respondent (Rimjhim) was not selected as she did not produce any experience certificate to show that she had one year of experience in translation from English to Hindi and vice versa. The facts as stated in the said case reveal that the original writ petitioner (respondent before Apex Court) produced her experience certificate issued by her erstwhile employer certifying that she had one year of experience in translation from English to Hindi and vice versa before the learned Single Judge. However, the learned Single Judge dismissed the writ petition holding that as the original writ petitioner did not have the requisite experience certificate of one year of translation from English to Hindi and vice versa, the Food Corporation of India was justified in denying the employment to her. The letters patent appeal preferred by the original writ petitioner was allowed by the Division Bench on the basis of certificates produced by the original writ petitioner dated 14.01.2015 and 18.07.2016 before the learned Single Judge holding that since the original writ petitioner possessed requisite experience before the last date prescribed in the advertisement, therefore, she possessed essential qualification as prescribed in the advertisement. Consequently, Division Bench held that the Food Corporation of India was not justified in denying appointment to the original writ petitioner.

27. In the Special Leave Petition preferred by the Food Corporation of India against the judgment of the Division Bench, it was argued that as per the advertisement, one of the essential qualifications was that a candidate must have one year experience in translation from English to Hindi and vice versa which the candidate was required to submit at the time of submitting the application form. It was argued that admittedly, the original writ petitioner did not produce any experience certificate, and therefore, the candidature of the original writ petitioner has rightly been rejected. The said contention has been dealt with by the Apex Court in paragraph 13 of the judgment which reads as under:-

“13. Now so far as the submission on behalf of the FCI that a candidate must and/or ought to have produced the experience certificate along with the application is concerned, at this stage, a decision of this Court in Charles K. Skaria Vs. Dr. C. Mathew (1980) 2 SCC 752 and the subsequent decision of this Court in Dolly Chhanda v. Chairman, Jee and others (2005) 9 SCC 779 are required to be referred to. In Charles K. Skaria, this Court had an occasion to consider the distinction between the essential requirements and the proof/mode of proof. In the aforesaid case, this Court had an occasion to consider the distinction between a fact and its proof. In the aforesaid case before this Court, a candidate/student was entitled to extra 10% marks for holders of a diploma and the diploma must be obtained on or before the last date of the application, not later. In the aforesaid case, a candidate secured diploma before the final date of application, but did not produce the evidence of diploma along with the application. Therefore, he was not allowed extra 10% marks and therefore denied the admission. Dealing with such a situation, this Court observed and held that what was essential requirement was that a candidate must have obtained the diploma on or before the last date of application but not later, and that is the primary requirement and to submit the proof that the diploma is obtained on or before a particular date as per the essential requirement is secondary. This Court specifically observed and held that “What is essential is the possession of a diploma before the given date; what is ancillary is the safe mode of proof of the qualification”. This Court specifically observed and held that “To confuse between a fact and its proof is blurred perspicacity". This Court further observed..."

28. In the said judgment, the Apex Court followed the ratio laid down in the two earlier judgments namely, Charles K. Skaria (supra) and Dolly Chhanda (supra), and held that the original writ petitioner had acquired one year experience in translation from English to Hindi and vice versa before the cut-off date prescribed in the advertisement, therefore, Division Bench rightly set aside the action of the Food Corporation of India in rejecting the candidature of the original writ petitioner and directing the Food Corporation of India to consider the case of the original writ petitioner for appointment on merit, if other conditions are satisfied.

29. In the case of Dolly Chhanda (supra), the appellant-Dolly Chhanda submitted the application for appearing in the Joint Entrance Examination-2003 (hereinafter referred to as 'J.E.E-2003') under the reservation of M.I. category being the daughter of Ex-Service Man, who was discharged from Armed Forces on the ground of permanent disability. A certain percentage of seats were reserved for children or widows of personnel of armed/paramilitary forces of Orissa killed/disabled in action during war or peacetime operation under clause 2.1.4 of the information brochure of J.E.E-2003. The appellant's rank in the reserved M.I. category in the medical stream was 20, and she was called for counselling for admission to a medical college. During scrutiny, it was found that in column no.3 in the certificate given to her father by Zilla Sainik Board which pertained to "disabled/killed in war/hostilities", the words "not eligible" were written. Since the said certificate did not satisfy the requirement of the M.I. category, the appellant's candidature was rejected. Subsequently, on the request of the appellant's father, a fresh certificate dated 16.07.2003 was issued by the Zila Sainik Board rectifying the mistake in the certificate dated 29.06.2003. The appellant on coming to know that another round of counselling was fixed due to an increase in the seat approached the concerned center and requested for grant of admission on the basis of the fresh certificate issued by the Zilla Sainik Board. However, she was denied admission. The appellant's case as noted by the Apex Court in paragraph 3 of the judgment was that it was the mistake of Zila Sainik Board in not issuing the correct certificate and said mistake having been rectified in the second certificate issued on 16.07.2003, she was entitled to admission in a medical college. The Apex Court in paragraph 7 of the judgement has observed as under:-

"7. The general rule is that while applying for any course of study or a post, a person must possess the eligibility qualification on the last date fixed for such purpose either in the admission brochure or in application form, as the case may be, unless there is an express provision to the contrary. There can be no relaxation in this regard i.e. in the matter of holding the requisite eligibility qualification by the date fixed. This has to be established by producing the necessary certificates, degrees or marksheets. Similarly, in order to avail of the benefit of reservation or weightage etc. necessary certificates have to be produced. These are documents in the nature of proof of holding of particular qualification or percentage of marks secured or entitlement to benefit of reservation. Depending upon the facts of a case, there can be some relaxation in the matter of submission of proof and it will not be proper to apply any rigid principle as it pertains in the domain of procedure. Every infraction of the rule relating to submission of proof need not necessarily result in rejection of candidature.”

30. The Apex Court in the aforesaid case noted in paragraph 9 of the judgment that as the appellant came from a very humble background as her father was only a Naik in the armed forces, he might not have noticed the mistake committed by the Zila Sainik Board while issuing the first certificate dated 29.06.2003. Accordingly, it held that it cannot be a ground to deny admission to the appellant, more so when the candidates, who have secured less marks than the appellant have been given admission.

31. In the case of Charles K. Skaria (supra), a notification inviting the application for admission to postgraduate in various streams including ophthalmology was published. Under the advertisement, a weightage of 10% marks was to be given to the candidates who possessed a 'Diploma' in the relevant stream in the selection of candidates in M.S. and M.D. courses. The appellants possessed a diploma in ophthalmology but were denied the benefit of 10% marks on the ground that they did not produce diploma certificate along with the application form. The High Court refused to grant relief to the appellant. The Apex Court did not agree with the opinion of the High Court and held that possession of essential qualification on or before the last date of submission of the application form is mandatory, but proof thereof is secondary, as the purpose of production of such certificate is to have instant proof of qualification. Paragraphs 20 to 23 are reproduced herein below:-

“20. There is nothing unreasonable or arbitrary in adding 10 marks for holders of a diploma. But to earn these extra 10 marks, the diploma must be obtained at least on or before the last date for application, not later. Proof of having obtained a diploma is different from the factum of having got it. Has the candidate, in fact, secured a diploma before the final date of application for admission to the degree course? That is the primary question. It is prudent to produce evidence of the diploma alongwith the application, but that is secondary. Relaxation of the date on the first is illegal, not so on the second. Academic excellence, through a diploma for which extra marks is granted, cannot be denuded because proof is produced only later, yet before the date of actual selection. The emphasis is on the diploma; the proof thereof subserves the factum of possession of the diploma and is not an independent factor. The prospectus does say:

(4)(b) 10% to diploma holders in the selection of candidates to M.S., and M.D. courses in the respective subjects or sub-specialties.

13. Certificate to be produced :- In all cases true copies of the following documents have to be produced:-

(k). Any other certificates required alongwith the application.

This composite statement cannot be read formalistic fashion. Mode of proof is geared to the goal of the qualification in question. It is subversive of sound interpretation and realistic decoding of the prescription to telescope the two and make both mandatory in point of time. What is essential is the possession of a diploma before the given date; what is ancillary is the safe mode of proof of the qualification. To confuse between a fact and its proof is blurred perspicacity. To make mandatory the date of acquiring the additional qualification before the last date for application makes sense. But if it is unshakeably shown that the qualification has been acquired before the relevant date, as is the case here, to invalidate this merit factor because proof, though indubitable, was adduced a few days later but before the selection or in a manner not mentioned in the prospectus, but still above board, is to make procedure not the handmaid but the mistress and form not as subservient to substance but as superior to the essence.

21. Before the selection committee adds special marks to a candidate based on a prescribed ground it asks itself the primary question: has he the requisite qualification? If he has, the marks must be added. The manner of proving the qualification is indicated and should ordinarily be adopted. But, if the candidate convincingly establishes the ground, though through a method different from the specified one, he cannot be denied the benefit. The end cannot be undermined by the means. Actual excellence cannot be obliterated by the choice of an incontestable but unorthodox probative process. Equity shall overpower technicality where human justice is at stake.

22. The present case is a capital illustration of nominalism battling with realism for judicial success. Both sides admit that the appellants before us had secured diplomas. They further admit (ignoring for a moment the submission on 2% for outsiders) that if the diploma scores were added, the applicants, by the measure of marks, deserve to be selected, provided the diploma obtained in the examination held in 1979 is within time. Then, why did the High Court upset their selection? Because the certificates of diploma were not attached to the applications and communication by the Registrar of the University to the selection committee was an unauthorised mode of proof, deviating from the prospectus, though authentic in fact. Two flaws vitiate this verbally virtuous approach. True, the prospectus directs that certificates shall be produced along with the applications for admission. The purpose obviously is to have instant proof of the qualification.

23. We are aware that when a statute vests a public power and conditions the manner of exercise of that power than the law insists on that mode of exercise alone. We are here unconcerned with that rule. A method of convenience for proving possession of a qualification is merely directory. Moreover, the prospectus itself permits government to modify the method, as the learned Single Judge has pointed out. In this view, we see nothing objectionable with the government directive to the selection committee, nor in the communication to the selection committee by the university, nor even in their taking into consideration and giving credit for diplomas although the authentic copies of the diplomas were not attached to the application for admission. A hundred examples of absurd consequences can be given if the substance of the matter were to be sacrificed for mere form and prescriptions regarding procedures."

32. In the aforesaid cases, the Apex Court held that possession of essential qualification by a candidate on or before the last date of submission of the application form or cut-off date provided in the brochure or the advertisement is a must, and there cannot be any deviation from the same. However, for the ends of justice, it would not be apposite to apply rigid principles in the matter of submission of proof of possession of qualification before the cut-off date in the advertisement as it pertains in the domain of procedure and equity shall overpower technicalities where human justice is at stake.

33. Now in the instant case, the Commission does not dispute the fact that the petitioner possessed requisite experience for receiving additional marks for experience, however, the said benefit has been denied to her only on the ground that she did not produce correct experience certificate along with application form before the last date of submission of the application form. The experience certificate dated 09.11.2021 was issued by the Chief Medical Officer, Rampur. The mistake which had crept in the certificate dated 09.11.2021 was solely due to the fault of the Chief Medical Officer, Rampur which was later on corrected by him by issuing a fresh certificate dated 30.08.2022.

34. The Commission also did not notice the said mistake while declaring the first select list on 04.01.2022 in which the petitioner was shown selected. It is only on re-scrutiny of the experience certificate in compliance with the order of this Court dated 26.04.2022 passed in Writ-A No.1815 of 2022, the experience certificate of the petitioner was found defective resulting in the exclusion of the petitioner from the select list published on 23.08.2022. The petitioner, thereafter, submitted the correct experience certificate issued by the Chief Medical Officer, Rampur along with the representation, but her representation was rejected on the ground of non-production of the experience certificate in time.

35. At this stage, it would also be apt to refer to the condition no.4 of the general instructions which reads as under:-

“4. The Commission do not advise to candidates about their eligibility. Therefore, they should carefully read the advertisement and when satisfied about their eligibility as per conditions of the advertisement, only then apply. The candidates must possess all the requisite qualifications till the last date for submitting the applications.”

36. Thus, as per condition no.4 of general instructions, a candidate must possess essential qualifications till the last date for submitting the application form. In the present case, it is not disputed that the petitioner possessed the required essential qualification before the last date of submitting the application form.

37. It is submitted by the learned Senior Counsel for the Commission that the Commission under clause 10 of the important instructions of the advertisement reserved its right to cancel the candidature of a candidate at any stage of selection in case it is found that the candidate is not eligible. Clause 10 of the important instructions of the advertisement reads as under:-

“10. The Commission may admit the candidates provisionally after summarily checking of the applications but if it is found at any stage that applicant was not eligible or that his/her application should have been rejected or was entertainable initially, his/her candidature will be rejected and if the candidate is selected, the recommendation of the Commission for the appointment shall be withdrawn.”

38. Thus, it is contended that there is no illegality in cancelling the selection of the petitioner.

39. It is no doubt true that under clause 10 of the important instructions of the advertisement, the Commission has the power to cancel or reject the candidature or selection of a candidate at any stage of selection and if the candidate has been selected and appointed, the Commission can withdraw the recommendation, but such power should be exercised by the Commission judicially, reasonably and on sound principles of law and not in arbitrary manner.

40. Now, coming to the Full Bench judgment of this Court in the case of Gaurav Sharma (supra) on which reliance has been placed by the learned counsel for the respondents, this Court was considering a case where the petitioner (Gaurav Sharma) submitted altogether different caste certificate than what was required under the advertisement. Subsequently, he submitted a certificate as per the requirement under the advertisement. His candidature was rejected on the ground that he had submitted a caste certificate after the last date of submission of the application form. The Full Bench of this Court noticed paragraph 5.4(10) of the advertisement and found that there is a negative stipulation in the advertisement which in unequivocal terms placed all candidates seeking the benefit of reservation to notice that in case the original caste certificate is not produced, it would be presumed that they do not claim the benefit of reservation and their claim for reservation shall consequently be rejected. The said clause also provided that no further opportunity will be provided to any candidate to seek any amendment or modification. The Full Bench further noticed that the date of issuance of such a certificate is crucial in case a candidate is claiming the benefit of reservation under the O.B.C. quota because an O.B.C. candidate necessarily must establish twin conditions; that he belongs to the O.B.C. group recognised by the State, and also that he does not fall within the creamy layer. These requirements are liable to be judged with reference to the date prescribed in the advertisement.

41. Apart from the aforesaid, the Full Bench further proceeded to distinguish the Apex Court judgment in the case of Ram Kumar Gijroya Vs. Delhi Subordinate Services Selection Board & Another 2016 (4) SCC 754 on the ground that in the said case, the advertisement did not prescribe the cut-off date at all. In such factual backdrop and after interpreting a negative stipulation contained in clause 5.4(10) in the advertisement, this Court laid down that the caste certificate submitted after the date prescribed in the advertisement cannot be accepted, and the candidature of a candidate is liable to be rejected.

42. The facts of the case of Gaurav Sharma (supra) are not akin to the facts of the present case. One further fact that distinguishes the case of Gaurav Sharma (supra) from the present case is that in the instant case, a notification dated 03.11.2021 was published asking the candidates belonging to General, E.W.S., O.B.C. quota, who have secured 25 marks in written examination and the candidates belonging to Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, who have secured 20 marks in written examination, to submit their complete application form by 5:00 P.M. on 18.11.2021. The notification dated 03.11.2021 reads as under:-

संख्या-807(I)/ 07/एस-6/ 2019-20टी०सी०

प्रयागराज, दिनांक-03 नवम्बर, 2021

विज्ञप्ति

उ०प्र० लोक सेवा आयोग, प्रयागराज द्वारा विज्ञापन संख्या-ए-4/ई-1/2021 के अन्तर्गत दिनांक-03.10.2021 को आयोजित स्टाफ नर्स/ सिस्टर ग्रेड-2 (पुरुष / महिला) परीक्षा-2021 में सम्मिलित सामान्य, ई०डब्ल्यू०एस० व अन्य पिछड़ा वर्ग के ऐसे अभ्यर्थी जिन्होंने उक्त लिखित परीक्षा (कुल-85 अंक) में 25 अंक व उससे अधिक एवं अनुसूचित जाति व अनुसूचित जनजाति श्रेणी के ऐसे अभ्यर्थी जिन्होंने 20 अंक व उससे अधिक अंक प्राप्त किए हैं की सूची आयोग के वेबसाइट- <https://uppsc.up.nic.in> पर उपलब्ध है।

2-सूची में सम्मिलित समस्त अभ्यर्थियों को निर्देशित किया जाता है कि वे आवेदन पत्र पूर्णरूप से भरकर समस्त अभिलेखों सहित अंतिम तिथि दिनांक 18 नवम्बर, 2021 अपराह्न 5.00 वजे तक आयोग कार्यालय में जमा करना सुनिश्चित करें। अंतिम तिथि के बाद प्राप्त आवेदन पत्र किसी भी दशा में स्वीकार नहीं किये जायेंगे। इस संबंध में कोई प्रत्यावेदन विचारणीय नहीं होगा।”

43. Later on, an amended notification dated 15.11.2021 was issued extending the period of submission of the application form till 22.11.2021. The relevant extract of the notification dated 15.11.2021 as noted in the instruction is reproduced herein below:-

“ऐसे अभ्यर्थी जिन्होंने प्रथम चरण (ऑनलाइन प्रक्रिया) पूर्ण किये बिना केवल समस्त अभिलेख आयोग कार्यालय में प्रेषित किये हैं, ऐसे प्रकरणों पर कोई भी कार्यवाही नहीं की जायेगी। उपरोक्त वर्णित संशोधित तिथियां अन्तिम रूप से बढ़ाई जा रही हैं। संशोधित अन्तिम तिथि के पश्चात प्राप्त किसी भी आवेदन पर कोई भी कार्यवाही नहीं की जाएगी।”

44. Reading of aforesaid two notifications suggests that a candidate has to submit his/her complete application form within the time prescribed in the aforesaid notifications dated 03.11.2021 and 15.11.2021. Learned counsel for the Commission could not place any negative stipulation in the advertisement as was in the case of Gaurav Sharma to justify the rejection of candidature of the petitioner. Thus, the said judgment is of no help to the respondent-Commission.

45. It is also pertinent to note that the principle of law elucidated in the judgment of Apex Court in the case of Ram Kumar Gijroya (supra), which was distinguished by the Full Bench in the case of Gaurav Sharma (supra), has again been reiterated by the three Judges of Apex Court in the case of Karan Singh Yadav Vs. Government of NCT of Delhi and Others 2022 SCC Online SC 1341.

46. Similarly, the case of Rajendra Patel (supra) is also of no help to the respondents since it was a case where the controversy was whether the submission of a hard copy of the online application form was mandatory or not. The Full Bench after noticing the stipulations in the advertisement and further noticing the fact that if a candidate is allowed to submit a hard copy at any time, that would dislocate the selection process and would render the process conducted by the Commission in a peripheral stage of uncertainty. Consequently, it was held that such a requirement is mandatory.

47. Applying the principles of law enunciated by the Apex Court in the judgment referred above, that possession of essential qualification before the last date prescribed in the advertisement is a must, and proof of qualification is ancillary, and that the facts of the present case are almost akin to the facts in the case of Food Corporation of India (supra) where original writ petitioner did not file experience certificate along with the application, but presented before the High Court, and the Division Bench having found that original writ petitioner possessed essential qualification before the last date of submission of the application form set aside the action of the Food Corporation of India in rejecting the candidature of the original writ petitioner, this Court for the reasons given above is of the view that rejection of the candidature of the petitioner is arbitrary exercise of power by the respondent in the facts of the present case. Consequently, the argument of learned counsel for the Commission based on clause 10 of the important instructions of the advertisement which gives power to the Commission to cancel the candidature of a candidate or withdraw the recommendation for appointment in the facts of the present case is not sustainable since this Court has held that action of the Commission in rejecting the representation of the petitioner is an arbitrary exercise of power.

48. Thus, for the reasons given above, this Court is of the view that the impugned order dated 16.11.2022 passed by the Secretary, Public Service Commission, Prayagraj cannot be sustained in law and is hereby set aside. Further, a direction is issued to respondent no.4 to grant the benefit of experience certificate and consider the candidature of the petitioner for appointment on merit, if all other conditions stand satisfied.

49. Consequently, the writ petition is allowed. There shall be no order as to costs.

Writ A No. 44003 of 2016

Shri Krishna Mishra ...Petitioner
Versus
L.I.C. of India, Central Office, Mumbai & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:

Sri P.K. Singhal, Sri Vinay Kumar Mishra, Sri Vishesh Rajvanshi

Counsel for the Respondents:

Sri Manish Goyal, Sri Pramod Kumar Dubey, Sri Sanjit Singh, Sri Sanjeev Singh (Senior Adv.)

Civil Law - Life Insurance Corporation of India (Staff) Regulations, 1960 - Constitution of India, 1950 - Articles 14 & 226 - The petitioner, a Class I officer with LIC, faced disciplinary proceedings for approving maturity claims under two policies allegedly without proper verification. Charges included improper execution of surety and indemnity bonds by agents from different branches, differences in policyholder signatures, and premature claim disbursement, allegedly causing financial loss to LIC. The enquiry officer exonerated the petitioner on most charges, finding no evidence of fraud or loss, but held charge 1-A partially valid due to the absence of the original policy bond. The disciplinary authority disagreed, imposed penalties (reduction in pay scale and recovery of Rs. 50,508), and the appellate authority upheld this. The petitioner challenged these orders under Article 226.

Held: No evidence of fraud or financial loss to LIC. No rule requiring sureties or witnesses to be from the same branch. Lack of complaints from policyholders. Disciplinary authority's failure to provide cogent reasons or evidence to contradict the enquiry officer's findings. The charge regarding the absence of the original policy bond was irrelevant as it was not part of the chargesheet. Since the petitioner had retired, remand was deemed unnecessary. The petitioner was entitled to reinstatement in the same pay grade, arrears, and refund of recovered amounts. Writ petition allowed; orders quashed; consequential benefits granted.

Writ petition allowed.

5. Ram Krishna @ Ram Krishna Yadav Vs Indian Oil Corporation & ors. (2023) 8 ILRA 61055

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajit Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Sri Vishesh Rajvanshi, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri P.K.Dubey, learned counsel for respondent nos. 1,2 and 3.

2. The petitioner who was working with respondent Life Insurance Corporation (hereinafter referred to as "Corporation") as class I officer and was posted at the District Branch Office, Kanpur in the capacity of Senior Branch Manager was subjected to disciplinary proceedings in the matter of disbursement of maturity claim under police no. 058472150 in favour of Jagdip Kumar Anand and also payment of maturity claim under policy no. 058472329 in favour of one Pradeep Kumar Agarwal.

3. The chargesheet issued to the petitioner in connection with payment made to Jagdip Kumar Anand was to the effect that surety form subject to which payment settlement was made, was signed by one Sri P.K.Gautam an agent of another branch and the indemnity bond and discharge voucher were signed by one Mr. S.C. Tiwari an agent also of another branch. Further these two documents were witnessed by one Dr. R.K.Gupta, Veterinary Officer of Kanpur. Since payment was issued by C.B.O. 4 (Kanpur Branch Office of Corporation), the issue was raised that beneficiary of the maturity stood impersonated.

4. Yet another offshoot of the charge was that signatures of Jagdip Kumar Anand upon receipt were different from those made on the proposal form.

5. The second charge was that petitioner while working as Senior Branch Manager failed to verify the authenticity of the claim of policy holder before approving payment of Rs. 64,975/- maturity amount vide cheque dated 6.3.2006 drawn in favour of Sri Jagdip Kumar Anand and so with the encashment of the said amount, Corporation suffered with financial loss.

6. The third charge was also similar in nature in respect of payment of maturity claim of Rs. 57,700/- by issuing a cheque dated 1.6.2006 in favour of Sri P.K.Agarwal. Here in this charge, the issue was that policy bond and discharge vouchers were submitted by policy holder only on 16.06.2006 whereas claim voucher was issued on 28th March, 2006 stood encashed. The cheque was issued on 31st March, 2006 which would encashed on 2nd May, 2006. Thus in substance, the charge got impersonated and Corporation stood defrauded and suffered financial loss of Rs. 57,700/-.

7. The petitioner submitted his reply to the chargesheet. In respect of charge no. 1, he stated that surety was signed by Sri P.K.Gautam who was a CM Club member with an authorized agency code bearing no. 67/23S registered at CBO 9 and had sound financial backing of 30,000/- monthly income as an agent, he owned independent house and car worth valuation of Rs. 20,00,00/- for just a claim of Rs. 64,975/-. The sureties were witness by a respectable citizen R.K. Gupta, a Veterinary Officer in Kanpur. Officer admitted that indemnity bond and discharge vouchers were witnessed by one Sri S.C.Tiwari, an another CM Club member with an authorized agency code being no. 05901/232 registered at CBO 1, and the charge was that these two agents did not belong to CBO-4 was not maintainable because there was no such requirement that such surety be filed and so also indemnity bond and discharge voucher be witnessed by an agent of the same branch. He referred to the claim manual and other instructions of the Corporation in that regard, and therefore, pleaded that charge was absolutely ill founded. He claimed to have taken protection while approving security regarding difference in signatures of Jagdip Kumar Anand on the claim document and that on the proposal form. He claimed that signatures as per his own eyes appeared to be identical and would be so visible from the naked eyes. He pleaded that in the month of 2006, he had settled more than 800 maturity as he claims, and therefore, involvement of the two CM Club members not belonging to the branch did not give him any reason to doubt about correctness of the claim.

8. He repelled the second charge for the same reason as second charge was sequel to the first charge and thus submitted that there was as a no question of any financial loss being caused to the Corporation. He asserted in his reply that documents were carrying correct address of the policy holder as both on the bond and the claim form were same and the cheque of claim was dispatched also at the same address. He also disclosed that later on he came to know that the cheque was received by one Sri V.K.Pandey a sub staff of CBO-4 itself, and therefore, any responsibility of misuse or abuse of cheque would be of V.K.Pandey and not of the petitioner.

9. Regarding charge no. 3, the petitioner claimed that entire papers were first verified by the officer and then were placed before him in respect of claim of one Sri P.K.Agarwal, he submitted that it was primary duty of the claim department to have checked all those papers and then to forward to the Senior Branch Manager for passing the same. He submitted that papers were placed before him with all documents in fact and it was upon that he had approved payment. The cheque of Rs. 57,700/- after approval was prepared by accounts department and sent for dispatch. This cheque, he claimed was also received by Sri Uday Narayan Singh Chauhan, the Development Officer with Code 9025 of CBO-4, a third party and he put his signatures in endorsement of receipt upon dispatch register. Any use of misuse of cheque for payment if was by a third party then that real claimant would be a question of enquiry from Sri Uday Narayan Singh Chauhan only and not the petitioner. The enquiry officer Sri Anup Kumar Agarwal conducted an enquiry and in the enquiry report that he submitted, he had exonerated the petitioner from charge nos. 1-B, 2 and 3 having found them not proved so the charge regarding payment of person other than the real claimant Sri Jagdip Kumar Anand and Sri Pradeep Kumar Agarwal were found not proved and hence there was no financial loss caused to the Corporation.

10. Regarding charge no. 1-A, which was regarding the fact that surety was not of the same branch and so also witness being not agent of the same branch from where policy claim was to be disbursed, the enquiry officer while did not agree with the stand of the department that agent should be of the same branch from where payment was released, but he concluded that, had the original policy bond been there, the surety papers would not have been required to be submitted at all, and therefore, he claimed that payment was made upon maturity claim without original policy bond being there. The findings to certain extent virtually questioned of disbursement of claim even in the absence of policies bond.

11. The disciplinary authority while concurred with enquiry officer's report in respect of charge no. 1-A, it disagreed with the findings of enquiry officer in respect of charge no. 1-B, 2 and 3 and held that from the perusal of the documents and other evidence on record, the charges stood established and accordingly a show cause notice was issued to the petitioner of the proposed penalty of lowering by a stage in time scale of pay applicable to his cadre and recovery of Rs. 50,508/- in terms of Regulation 39 (1)(d) Regulation 39(1) (c) of the Life Insurance Corporation of India Staff Regulation, 1960. The petitioner did submit his reply to the show cause notice and reiterated stand already taken in reply to the chargesheet. The disciplinary authority having found itself not satisfied with the reply submitted by the petitioner imposed penalty, as proposed, vide order dated 25th January, 2016. The petitioner unsuccessfully appealed against the said order before the appellate authority as his appeal also came to be dismissed vide order dated 2nd August, 2016 and hence this petition.

12. The argument advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner is that once enquiry officer had returned a finding that charges 1-B, 2 and 3 were not proved, but it was necessary to have placed reliance and discussed those material and documents which compelled the disciplinary authority to disagree with the findings of the enquiry officer but disciplinary authority did not do so and merely by referring facts has established the charge holding petitioner guilty of those charges, which finding is, therefore, liable to be rendered perverse.

13. In support of his above argument, learned counsel for the petitioner submits that all those documents that have been referred to in the chargesheet were very much before the enquiry officer and the departmental agents/ officers who deposed before the enquiry officer in support of the charge could not establish firstly that surety and indemnity bond were fake surety and notarized indemnity bond were fake or that authorized agents may be of a different branch signing those documents as surety witnesses were not authorized agents, nor it could cite any rule or manual providing for a particular category of person to be surety and witness to the indemnity bond and were also required to belong to the same branch. He argued that CM Club membership is common to all and only registered and authorized agents are members. He further submitted that the enquiry officer while holding the petitioner guilty of charge no. 1-A only assigned a reason that policy bond in original was not available and had that been there, indemnity bond would have not been required.

14. He argued that the charge was not that the original policy bond was not available but the charge was that indemnity bond was signed by witnesses who belonged to another branch. He submitted, therefore, that when a document of policy was not in issue, the enquiry officer could not have returned a finding against him, and on the question of surety, indemnity bond, no such rule was cited that such agent must belong to the same branch and this has been carefully noticed by enquiry officer in his report, and so, he could not have taken view in favour of the department.

15. Regarding charge no. 1-B , learned counsel argued that enquiry officer had tallied the signatures and admission of the own departmental witnesses and returned finding to the effect that style and flow of signature of two signatures was the same . The enquiry officer also returned a finding that there was gap of 21 years between execution of the policy bond and the indemnity bond, therefore, a little variance would not render the subsequent signature to be doubtful. He further argued that as far as charge no. 2 was concerned, verification regarding authenticity of the policy holder was not to be doubted because it was the claim department that was to forward papers. Had this formalities of verification etc. had not been done by the claim department, it would certainly not have processed file for approval before the petitioner. It is argued regarding third charge that enquiry officer returned a finding that payment of maturity claim was made on document P-16 which bore maturity paid stamp and the officer of the department failed to provide dispatch form which according to the banks' case had been received on 16.06.2006. He, therefore, submitted, when the crucial evidence relied upon by the bank was not produced before the enquiry officer, the enquiry officer could not have relied upon any such document not produced to hold the petitioner guilty of the charge.

16. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that all these aspects were required to be dealt with by the disciplinary authority in the first instance, prima facie, while disagreeing with enquiry officer's report and requiring the petitioner to submit reply to the prima facie findings of the disciplinary authority, afresh. He submitted that in the entire show cause notice all that was stated in the charge sheet had been reiterated and petitioner had been held to be guilty of negligence as well, but no document had been discussed, which could be said to have escaped the scanning eyes of the enquiry officer. He submitted that in order to defer from the findings of the enquiry officer, the disciplinary authority was not required to merely refer to the minutes of the proceedings but to take a prima facie view with reasons as to why it was deferring from the findings.

17. Learned counsel for the petitioner, therefore, summed up his arguments by submitting that disciplinary authority did not rely upon any departmental Life Insurance Corporation Manual or Rules, which would have held the surety signed by an agent of different branch or an indemnity bond by an agent of different branch would not be admissible so as to clear the maturity claims. Even on the question of difference in signatures, the disciplinary authority could not give a sound reasoning to disagree with the findings of the enquiry officer, more especially relating to the style and flow already admitted by its own witnesses to be the same in respect of both the signatures. The disciplinary authority according to learned counsel could not refer to any such document available with the department so as to create doubt about signatures and if any, it failed to supply copy thereof to the petitioner alongwith show cause notice so as to enable him to defend the findings as far as charge no. 3 is concerned.

18. Assailing the order of the appellate authority, counsel for the petitioner has argued that appellate authority has simply affirmed the decision taken by the disciplinary authority without recording any independent finding as to the documents and report that could be said to be sufficient enough to bring the charges home so as to punish the petitioner. One more argument has been advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner is that, had it been a case of complaint at the end of the policy holders or their heirs or successors that maturity amount had been got encashed fraudulently by a third party, there would have arisen an occasion for the Corporation to take a suo motu notice of the disbursal of the claim styling it to be a fraudulent act on the part of the petitioner but it was not so.

19. He further argued that the loss would have been caused to the Corporation, had the maturity claim gone in favour of the petitioner who might not have been entitled to the same or in the event of any excess amount than due amount had been got paid. Neither of the situation being there, the department failed to make out a case of fraudulent payment by the petitioner. He, therefore, submitted that besides the fact that the charges could not be proved, even punishment was disproportionate to the charges made, there being no loss caused to the Corporation as there was not complaint as such. So the Corporation was not justified to assume loss and accordingly penalize the petitioner with recovery. He further submitted that in the entire service career of the petitioner he had cleared hundreds of maturity claims and never any finger was raised. Here also the maturity claim had been released, but the finger was raised for technical reason that surety bond was signed by an agent not belonging to the branch and so witness agent of indemnity bond was not belonging to the branch. He, therefore, argued that at the most, petitioner could have been visited with penalty of censure and caution and to be more responsible and careful in future. The punishment of reduction of one stage in the time scale was too excessive. He submitted that negligence if at all was there, it was not deliberate one and if, in the event Corporation could have proved that agent of different branch could not have executed surety, nor could have signed indemnity bond as witness, it would have been at the most on irregularity and illegality not to the extent of impunity because the persons who signed it both as executant of surety and then as a witness to the indemnity bond were not denied to be authorized agents of the Corporation though belonging to another branch in the same city.

20. It is also submitted by learned counsel for the petitioner that petitioner has attained the age of superannuation and recovery has already been made pursuant to the order impugned.

21. Sri Sanjeev Singh, learned Senior Counsel appearing for the respondent in the first instance submits that the disciplinary authority had every right to disagree with the findings returned in enquiry report of enquiry officer and accordingly issued a show cause notice. He submits that the findings of the enquiry officer on charge no. 1-A, 2 and 3 were even not correct for the sufficient material available on record. He argued that disciplinary authority in its final order imposing penalty has discussed all those documents and then assigned reasons why it disagreed with the findings of the enquiry officer and held the petitioner guilty of the charges. He submitted that no procedural flaw has been claimed by the petitioner in the entire disciplinary proceedings and merely because this Court may come to a different conclusion from what has been arrived at by the disciplinary authority on the basis of documents available before it, this Court would not sit in appeal over and above findings returned. He argued that both the disciplinary authority well as appellate authority have dealt in detail with every aspect of the matter and have correctly held petitioner to be guilty of the charges.

22. On the question of penalty imposed upon the petitioner, learned Senior Advocate argued that the penalty has been imposed as per relevant rules which authorized the authority to impose penalty and the nature of negligence that has been committed by the petitioner which can be taken to be quite serious lapse in nature because it involved disbursement of the maturity claim against a policy. It is always duty of officer in the rank which petitioner was to be doubly sure that in the absence of policy bond, indemnity bond was being signed alongwith maturity claim form by the same person who had signed the policy bond and that surety filed by an agent should have been very carefully examined and verified. Thus, he submitted that penalty imposed is commensurate to the charge levelled and findings returned upon the charges by the disciplinary authority. He further argued, alternatively, if the court is of the view that penalty imposed is not proportionate to the charges proved, it may remand the matter to the disciplinary authority to take decision afresh as far as penalty part is concerned.

23. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and having perused the records relating to disciplinary proceedings brought on record and also the order passed by the disciplinary authority as well as appellate authority and the respective arguments raised across the bar, I am of the view that this Court would certainly be interfering in a case where findings returned by enquiry officer or disciplinary authority are found to be perverse for there being documents speaking otherwise or for there being no document at all to support the findings.

24. Normally the rule is that the matter is remitted to be decided afresh from the stage, it is found that procedural steps have gone wrong requiring interference by this Court or even in matters where the Court concludes that the matter required to be examined afresh by the disciplinary authority or by the appellate authority and also in matters of proportionality as to the penalty imposed considering the charge levelled and proved.

25. I have no reason to disagree with the argument advanced by learned Senior Advocate appearing for the Corporation that in matters of disciplinary authority, the Court would not be interfering as a rule but there is no thumb rule either. If the findings of the enquiry officer is found to be perverse and disciplinary authority has agreed or concurred with the same, and resultant punishment/penalty such a situation would certainly require interference by this Court to arrest any miscarriage of justice.

26. In service jurisprudence there is no scope for an order by administrative authority to be sustained even if not well informed one. An employee is never in a bargaining position with the employer for the simple reason that its employer who offers appointment, it is he who lays down conditions, it is he who frames the rules and it is he who also controls the game, period of service. The employee once appointed stands virtually caged in, and therefore, every action of the employer is not only to be within the four corners of the rules but within the parameters laid in administrative law to test an action of administrative authority. When it comes to the state, its instrumentality, its agency, then an order has to pass testing anvil of Article 14 of the Constitution, and if it fails, it would be arbitrary action, which would be required to be arrested to avoid any miscarriage of justice.

27. In the present case since petitioner has already attained the age of superannuation, I proceed to decide the matter taking it not to be a case which should be remanded at this stage.

28. From the entire facts of the disciplinary proceedings, the charges that have been levelled against the petitioner can be reproduced as under:

a). One Jagish Kumar Anand ensured with Life Corporation of India, was paid the maturity claim under policy, on the basis of surety form signed by LIC agent of a different branch and witnessed by veterinary doctor and then on the basis of indemnity bond and discharge voucher witnessed by another agent of a different branch and so also witnessed by veterinary doctor . The payment was questioned on three grounds:

a). that surety and indemnity bonds were not properly executed and signatures of the ensured on the original policy proposal form were different from that of indemnity bond and discharge voucher;

b). as a consequence of the above, it was claimed that there was lack of verification on the part of the petitioner regarding due verification of the authenticity of the policy holder who got paid the amount and resultantly Corporation suffered a loss of Rs. 64,965/- the maturity amount; and

c).The claim of maturity amount in favour of P.K.Agarwal got cleared and encashed on 2.5.2006 whereas the policy bond and discharge voucher claim to have been submitted by policy holder subsequently on 16.06.2006 and so it was a case where Life Insurance Corporation is claimed again to have suffered loss of Rs. 57,700/- the claim amount.

29. In order to establish this above charges, the Corporation had no other document except those mentioned in the charges but a crucial document relating to the third charge, the discharge voucher dated 16.06.2006 was not produced.

30. Yet another aspect is equally important here to be noticed that Corporation did not turn up to show that any such claim made before it was complained of by either insured persons or their successors that maturity claim got encashed by a third party and they had been defrauded. It is equally worth noticing that during disciplinary enquiry, presenting officer of the Corporation did not produce any manual or rules which would have supported the charge that an agent to sign surety or to sign the indemnity bond and discharge voucher as witness must belong to the same branch from where maturity claim was to be issued. Learned Senior Advocate appearing for the Corporation, on a pointed query could not produce any such manual or the rules.

31. Now it is in the backdrop of the above, I proceed to examine the case, more especially relating to the findings returned by the Enquiry officer and disagreement expressed by the disciplinary authority so as to justify its stand in passing the order of punishment.

32. In order to establish that surety bond could not have been signed by the agent not belonging to the branch from where maturity claim was to be disbursed and /or an indemnity bond and discharge voucher could not have been witnessed by an agent who did not belong to the said branch, it was primarily a duty of the Corporation to have presented the relevant provisions of the manual/ or the rules of the Corporation and in the absence thereof or if there was no rule and manual, the Corporation was required to prove that these agents were fraudulent persons. In the enquiry report regarding this aspect of the matter, a finding returned is that “P.O.’ has also confirmed that there is no circular that states that the agent should be of the same branch”. In other words, no guidelines / circular that may have prohibited the agent of other branch to be of surety was produced. The enquiry officer recorded that P.O. (Presenting Officer) sought to frame a new charge of indemnity bond by the surety. The enquiry officer refused to give any acknowledgement to such new charge, it not being part of the charge-sheet.

33. On the question of indemnity bond, the reply by the petitioner was “in view of document P-1 (i.e. copy of the original policy bond already available with the Corporation) submitted by P.O. itself, the lapse in execution of indemnity bond has no meaning at all.” The enquiry officer held “if policy bond was there, the surety papers would not have been submitted at all” but he found it to be not clear as to when policy bond was submitted and so observed “I am constrained to accept when policy bond was available at the time of settling maturity claim”.

34. This above finding does not hold the document of policy bond bearing insurance stamp to be bad. This rather strengthens petitioner’s case that maturity was claimed in respect of genuine bond. Still further, enquiry officer has not held indemnity bond and the surety to be forged or fake document and so charge 1-A cannot be said to have been proved at all. The only conclusion in regard to this charge by enquiry officer is that it was not acceptable that policy bond was available at the time of settling maturity claim .

35. Regarding charge 1-B, the enquiry officer held that “presenting officer (of the bank) could not find out any difference particularly in the letter ‘K’ in its style and flow from one signature to the other signature”. Moreover, he held that “here is important to mention that P.O. himself has admitted that style of signature appears to be same” Moreover a period of 21 years has elapsed from the date of first signature (on the proposal form) and second signature and naturally both the signatures cannot match in to to, may be similar (similarity on style) has been acknowledged by P.O. but exact match of signature was not possible. Thus, charge 1-B was also held as not proved.

36. Regarding charge no. 2, the enquiry officer held that “cheque was prepared by accounts department favouring policy holder and forwarding letter carries address given in the policy bond/discharge cheque and then sent the dispatch through moment register.” It was Sri V.K.Pandey (sub staff) who received this cheque (referred the document as D-5) without any authority or any approval from the competent authority that can at the most be said to have led fraudulent misappropriation for which petitioner could not be blamed. Thus, charge 2 was also held as not proved.

37. Regarding charge no. 3, the enquiry officer held that in March, 2006, the claim was processed whereas discharge form no. 3825, and the policy bond was received only on 16.06.2016 but the presenting officer of the Corporation failed to produce any such discharge form which was claimed to have been presented on 16.06.2006. The enquiry officer further held that as per presenting officer's own document, P-16, it bore maturity paid stamp. Thus, charge no. 3 was also held as 'not proved'.

38. The disciplinary authority while agreed with the findings of enquiry officer on charge 1-A disagreed with the findings on other charges and observed that there was some difference in signatures which was noticeable to prove the charge 1-B and then proceeded to prove charge 2 merely on the basis that surety form no. 3507 was approved by the petitioner and indemnity bond also without verifying credentials of the policy holder. Thus petitioner was held to be guilty of facilitating perpetration of fraud and resultant fraudulent acknowledgement of cheque.

39. Regarding charge no. 3, disciplinary authority has expressed its view that policy bond and discharge voucher having been received on 16.6.2006 the maturity claim could not have been released in March, 2006 and again negligence was cited on the part of the petitioner.

40. These above are bare statements made in the show cause notice to defer with the findings. The reply of the petitioner has been noticed in the show cause notice and then a reference has been made to the findings on charge no. 1-A of the enquiry officer to the following effect:

"1. There is no documentary evidence of the financial status of the surety, in this case, agent Shri P.K. Gautam.

2. Indemnity Bond though notarized, has not been executed by the surety."

41. Regarding charge nos. 2 and 3, no further documents have been referred to so as to justify that findings returned by the enquiry officer were not worth to be reckoned with. The petitioner's reply as usual has not been held to be satisfactory to the show cause notice. Despite statement made by the petitioner in his reply that both the cheques were received by the persons of Corporation whose identity was well established and yet they were not questioned.

42. Regarding execution of the surety and signing of the indemnity bond and discharge voucher, same legal plea was taken by the petitioner. The disciplinary authority in its ultimate final order has though referred to the reply of the petitioner to the chargesheet but has failed to reverse the findings of enquiry officer on the issue of execution of surety and signing of indemnity bond and discharge voucher by witnesses who were authorized agents of the Corporation though belonging to the other branch, whereas it was fair admission on the part of presenting officer that there was no such rule or manual available that such agent should of the same branch.

43. The disciplinary authority could not refer to any document by which it could be said that the surety was not duly executed and signed by the authorized person or that indemnity bond and discharge vouchers were not signed by the policy holder and not witnessed by the authorized persons. Thus reply of petitioner has been repelled for no justifiable reason. A mere statement that the officer should shoulder his share of responsibility very consciously would not bring home the charge. The disciplinary authority, instead, was required to rely upon the rule that such surety and indemnity bond could not have been signed by a agent of another branch and should have held that such surety and indemnity bond and discharge voucher were forged documents. The disciplinary authority was also required to test finding addressing the question, whether merely for indemnity bond that was filed, it would have dis-entitled the policy holder of the maturity claim. Having not held so, neither findings of enquiry officer on charge no. 1-A nor, of the disciplinary authority on such charge would be said to have been well informed with the reasons and supported by documents and rules.

44. Regarding charge nos. 2 and 3, the disciplinary authority has not been able to assign any reason for disagreeing with the findings of the enquiry officer as to difference in signatures. The disciplinary authority has not been able to establish as to how it finds that the signatures upon the discharge voucher of the policy claimants Mr. J.K.Anand were forged. Similarly, therefore, the question of verification of indemnity bond and surety would arrive provided the insured/ policy holder or his legal heirs and successors come to lodge complaint that they have not received payments and that they had not executed such bond and that agents have virtually committed fraud. In the absence of any such finding, petitioner has rightly replied that the entire papers processed through a different department, namely claim department were placed before him for final approval. He would see the documents placed and would believe the noting done by the claim department to approve the same. Once the approval is accorded, the duty of payment is of accounts department and if the cheque had been received by a third party, petitioner could not have been held liable for the same.

45. Similarly, again in respect of charge no. 3 the disciplinary authority failed to record a findings that report of the enquiry officer was perverse and that discharge voucher and policy bond were received on 16.6.2006 and he had perused the same and that enquiry officer failed to notice this document. On this aspect, regarding charge no. 3, there is no finding by disciplinary authority. Thus, in my considered view the disciplinary authority had disagreed with the findings returned by the enquiry officer without recording any independent finding of fact relying upon any material which may be said to have gone unnoticed by the enquiry officer or noticed but was ignored by the enquiry officer. There being no such finding, the disciplinary authority was not justified in taking a different view from that of the enquiry officer.

46. Coming to the order of the appellate authority, I find that the appellate authority has proceeded to hold that the enquiry officer had held that policy bond was not available, therefore, in the absence of policy bond, the correctness of the indemnity bond was to be verified. The appellate authority has failed to record any reason as to what compelled him to hold that surety and indemnity bonds were forged documents and were not duly executed. It is worth noticing that neither disciplinary authority, nor the appellate authority has held that those documents to be forged documents. Regarding difference in signatures also the appellate authority came to conclusion that it had come to observe that there was difference in signatures and whether there was slight or major difference, it was quite noticeable which should not have been ignored by the petitioner and had he been vigilant, he would have arrested the fraud.

47. In my considered view, this above finding is not tenable for the simple reason that the bank's presenting officer himself has found style and flow of the signatures to be same. What difference it found/noticed to record finding to the contrary has not been mentioned either in the order of disciplinary authority or the decision of the appellate authority that has affirmed the findings of disciplinary authority.

44. Supporting the plea of differences in signatures vide paragraph 45 of the counter affidavit, it has been averred as under:

"That the contents of paragraph no. 51 of the writ petition are vehemently denied. It is further stated that the charges were levelled against the petitioner for having checked the claim payment Vr. No. 998 dated 06.03.2006 for Rs. 64,975 under Policy No. 058472150 where signatures of Shri Jagdip Kumar Anand the policy holder in the Indemnity Bond and Discharge Voucher was different from the one on the proposal form. On the basis of the documents adduced during the enquiry proceedings it has been observed that there was difference in the questioned signatures.

Difference being slight or major, the fact is that difference in signature was noticeable, which was ignored by the petitioner at the time of checking of the voucher. The entire allegations contrary to the facts stated above are vehemently denied."

48. The stand of the authority is that difference between two signatures slight or major would not weigh much if difference is apparent to naked eyes. In my view once the presenting officer of Corporation himself noticed flow and style of this signatures to be same before enquiry officer and finding has been returned accordingly, the disciplinary authority could not have deferred merely because it appeared to him so without calling for an expert opinion. Even if the authority had its conviction, it must have penned down the difference in the backdrop of the fact that two signatures were with the gap of 21 years and there was no complaint by the insured. Thus vide paragraph 23, this has been reiterated in rejoinder affidavit as under:

"That the contents of paragraph 45 of the counter affidavit are wholly wrong and are denied and the contents of paragraph 51 of the writ petition are reiterated and reaffirmed. The signature of Jagdip Kumar Anand was strikingly similar. The flow and style of signature was the same to the naked eyes. The difference, if any, was due to a gap of 21 years and all these aspects were considered by the enquiry officer who has held the charge no. 1 (b) as not proved."

49. Regarding other charges, I find that the appellate authority has concurred with the findings of the disciplinary authority, holding petitioner to be guilty of negligence in discharge of his official duty but failed to give one independent reason to justify such a reasoning despite good grounds taken by the appellant-petitioner to assail the findings of disciplinary authority.

50. Regarding payment made in respect of Mr. Agarwal of the maturity claim, the appellate authority could also not disclose as to where the discharge voucher and policy bond alleged to have been received on 16.6.2006, had gone. This would have been the only statement of fact without there being any evidence on record that such a bond was received on 16.06.2006 subsequent to the disbursement of the maturity claim. Besides above, the appellate authority has also not discussed anywhere as to why those two employees, namely, V.K.Pandey and Uday Narayan Singh Chauhan who were employees of the Corporation and their identity was known, were not enquired by the Corporation for receiving cheques and no enquiry was held against them.

51. In view of above, therefore, I find that the orders passed by the appellate authority as well disciplinary authority cannot be sustained in law. As far as enquiry officer is concerned, though, I am not satisfied with the findings returned by the enquiry officer that, had the original policy bond been filed, there would have been no occasion to file indemnity bond as this by itself would not be sufficient enough to question the disbursement of maturity claim. It was never an issue as far as charge nos. 1 and 2 are concerned that payment was made without there being original policy bond. The payment was made on indemnity bond because original policy bond was not presented and charge was only that surety and indemnity bond was not properly executed as the agents were from a different branch. Since the Corporation failed to place any rule or provision under manual either before enquiry officer or even before this Court, which would have disclosed an act of fraud in execution of surety and indemnity bond and resultant discharge voucher to be illegal, I hold that that there was no finding of the enquiry officer that indemnity bond and surety were not properly executed. There is a finding in favour of the petitioner and not against the petitioner in enquiry report. In such circumstances, therefore, the disciplinary authority was required to record a cogent and convincing finding to bring the charge home. Now, in this case, I find therefore, that the charges could not be established by the Corporation and findings returned by the appellate authority as well disciplinary authority are perverse for want of substantive piece of evidence. In the counter affidavit, nothing has been disclosed additionally in support of the findings returned so as to compel this Court to remand the matter. The most relevant paragraph of the counter affidavit is paragraph no. 44 that runs as under:

“ That the contents of paragraph no. 49 and 50 of the writ petition are vehemently denied. It is further stated that the charge I was levelled against the petitioner that without proper verification and identification he allowed and approved the Surety Form 3807 and Indemnity Bond filled in the name of Shrie Jagdip Kumar Anad for payment of Maturity Claim under Policy No. 058472150. While allowing and approving the Surety Form No. 3807 and Indemnity Bond petitioner had veerified the witness who did not belong to the Branch concerned. He should have been vigilant and raised doubt. The contentions raised by him do not alter the fact that based on his approval the maturity claim was passed and fraudulently encashed by person other than the policy holder.

Further as per the documents adduced during the enquiry proceeding P-15 (Guidelines for Maturity Claim payment in case of lost Policy) Indemnity bond was also not executed by Surety. The entire allegations contrary to the facts stated above are vehemently denied.”

52. This paragraph has been sworn on the basis of perusal of record but no record has been annexed. Upon repeated query being made, learned Senior Advocate appearing for the Corporation could not place any rule/regulation or manual for executing indemnity/surety bonds, in support of the allegations made. In so far as allegations regarding fact of Policy not being placed, in my considered view when this was not the charge, this aspect was not open to be enquired into. Even otherwise, the Corporation failed to make out a case that even while original policy bond was available, there was no need to furnish surety bond and indemnity bond. So even this ground was not available to the disciplinary authority. There was no such charge that persons executing surety and indemnity bond were fraudulent persons. A very correct reply has been submitted in the rejoinder affidavit vide paragraph 25 that runs as under:

“25- That the contents of paragraph 47 of the counter affidavit are wholly wrong and are denied and the contents of paragraph 53 of the writ petition are reiterated and reaffirmed. The verification and identification was proper and there was nothing wrong in it. Further, when the original policy bond was itself submitted on 6.3.2006, there was no necessity of submitting the Surety Form and Indemnity Bond. After due process of the maturity claim the cheque was prepared and subsequently if cheque is fraudulently encashed the petitioner cannot be punished by searching fault in the approval of Surety Form and Indemnity Bond.”

53. Thus the case in hand is one such case where I find that the enquiry officer having found no evidence to support the charges exonerated the petitioner from all the charges except one charge being no. 1-A. Even though, this charge was also not proved by evidence but the enquiry officer expressed his view, had original insurance policy been there, indemnity and surety bonds would not have been required. This in my view there is no finding to bring home the charge as even a man of ordinary prudence would not come to conclude that charge no. 1-A stood proved upon the available evidence. Regarding other charge, if the disciplinary authority was taking the view contrary to the findings of enquiry officer, it was required to appreciate the same evidence as substantial piece of evidence but there has been no appreciation worth calling it as such. I have discussed the findings in detail for not appreciate or re-appreciate but to find out as to whether there was any evidence to support findings or legal provision in support of the charge as to witnesses to indemnity/surety bonds were required to belong to same branch that had issued the Insurance Policy and I found there to none. Under the circumstances findings if sustained would only lead to miscarriage of justice.

54. Constraints and self discipline in exercise of power of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution are sine qua non as principle to be followed when it comes to judicial review of an administrative or executive action. One must remember that judicial review is a legal process through which the Courts examine the action or decision to ensure that they are lawful and constitutional. This process allows judiciary to assess the legality of actions taken by the Government and its instrumentalities and determine if they complied with constitution or other laws. So judicial review is a fundamental principle that provides a system of cheques and balances. It enables judiciary to safeguard individual rights uphold the rule of law and prevent abuse of power by execute/government or its instrumentalities. When a person or organization challenges an action through judicial review, to be specific under Article 226 of the Constitution, the Court is under obligation to evaluate whether action is consistent with law and constitution. If the Court finds that action is unconstitutional or unlawful, it may declare action null and void or may pass appropriate order to rectify situation.

55. It is true that power of judicial is not akin to the power of appeal and in exercise of power High Court cannot appreciate evidence to arrive at its own findings to substitute findings of the enquiry officer in a disciplinary proceeding. The disciplinary authority is the sole judge of fact but in the event conclusion of finding by the disciplinary authority is barred as no evidence or conclusion of finding is such that a reasonable person would have reached, this Court may interfere with the conclusion or finding (B.C.Chaturvedi v. Union of India and Others (1995) 6 SCC 749).

56. Supreme Court in its recent judgment in the case of Union of India and Others v. Subrata Nath (Special Leave to Appeal Nos. 3524- 25 of 2022 decided on 23.11.2022) referred to the judgment of Union of India v. H.C. Goel AIR 1964 SC 364, wherein it was held that “if conclusion drawn by the disciplinary authority is perverse or suffers from error on the face of record or barred as no evidence at all, a writ of certiorari will be issued.”

57. In view of above, I am not able to sustain the action of disciplinary authority. Accordingly, since I am not able to uphold the findings of disciplinary authority and consequential orders of punishment. The Court would have in ordinary circumstances remitted the matter to the stage of enquiry officers or at disciplinary authority as held by the Constitution bench that “where after following the above procedure the Courts/Tribunals sets aside the order of punishment, the proper relief that should be granted is to direct reinstatement of the employee with liberty to the authority, management to proceed with the inquiry, by placing the employee under suspension and continuing the inquiry from the stage of furnishing him with the report. The question whether the employee would be entitled to the back-wages and other benefits from the date of his dismissal to the date of his reinstatement if ultimately ordered should invariably be left to be decided by the authority concerned according to law, after the culmination of the proceedings and depending on the final outcome (Managing Director, ECIL, Hyderabad and Others v. B.Karunakar and Others (1993) 4 SCC 727),” but since petitioner has already retired from service so no useful purpose now would be served to remand the matter to be examined afresh.

58. In my considered view, there was no material available which would have established the charge, nor was there any complaint by ensured persons that claim had been got disbursed to a third party to their disadvantage and that they had been defrauded.

59. In view of above, writ petition succeeds and is allowed. The order passed by the disciplinary authority as well as appellate authority dated 25th January, 2016 and 2nd August, 2016 are hereby quashed. The petitioner is held entitled to all consequential benefits treating him to in service in the same pay grade and pay scale in which he was at the time of passing of the order dated 25th January, 2016 and all consequential benefits in terms of pay fixation etc. and arrears of pay. Further the amount already recovered from the petitioner under the order dated 25th January, 2016 shall also be refunded to him.

A. Civil Law - Indian Trusts Act, 1882 –
 Section – 73 - Private Trust Vs Public Charitable Trust – Determination

Held: The nature of a trust is determined by the trust deed and tests laid down in Radhakant Deb Vs Commissioner of Hindu Religious Endowments, Orissa, (1981) 2 SCC 226. Where the trust deed retains control with the founder, his family, or nominated trustees, excludes public management, and lacks provision for public contributions, it is a private trust. The respondent trust's deed vested control in the founder, his wife, and named trustees, with no public participation. An application under Section 73 of the Indian Trusts Act, 1882, for trustee appointment further confirmed its private nature. The courts below erroneously held it a public charitable trust based solely on its charitable hospital activities, rendering their findings perverse. [Paras 9-14, 19-27]

B. Landlord and Tenant – Eviction –
 Jurisdiction under U.P. Urban Buildings
 (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction)
 Act, 1972

Held: As the respondent trust is a private trust, the U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972, applies. The ejectment suit filed before the Small Causes Court was not maintainable, as eviction proceedings should have been initiated under the Act before the prescribed authority. The courts below erred in assuming jurisdiction, and their orders were unsustainable. [Paras 5, 38, 40]

C. Landlord and Tenant – House Tax Payment by Tenant – Adjustment Against Rent

Held: Under Section 108(g) of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, read with Sections 149 and 177 of the U.P. Municipalities Act, a tenant paying house tax, primarily the landlord's liability, may deduct it from rent if recoverable against the leased property. The petitioner paid Rs. 1500/- towards house tax demanded by Lucknow Nagar Nigam, exceeding the alleged rent arrears of Rs. 1260/-. The courts below wrongly held that this payment could not be adjusted, and the petitioner was not a defaulter. [Paras 4, 28-37]

Result: Writ petition allowed. Orders dated 09.02.2012 (Additional District Judge, Court Room No. 13, Lucknow in SCC Revision No. 39 of 2011) and 05.05.2011 (2nd Additional Judge, Small Causes, Lucknow in SCC Suit No. 222 of 2001) set aside. [Para 41]

(Delivered by Hon'ble Alok Mathur, J.)

1. Heard Sri Brijesh Kumar Saxena, learned counsel for the petitioner; Sri Prashant Jaiswal, learned Advocate for the opposite party nos. 2 and 3, and perused the record.

2. By means of the present writ petition the petitioner has assailed the order dated 05.05.2011 passed by the IIInd Addl. Judge, Small Causes Court, Lucknow, thereby decreeing the suit of ejectment filed by the respondents.

3. The facts in brief are that the petitioner was a tenant in respect of premises situated at 253/103 Nandan Mahal Road, Yahiaganj, Lucknow at the rent of Rs. 45.00 per month. The said premises are owned by Sriman Thakurji Maharaj Virajman Thakurdwara Lal Shanker Lala Dosar Vaish Trust. The petitioner did not pay rent from July 1999 to October 2001 amounting to Rs. 1260.00 and consequently notice in this regard was also given by the respondents on 24.09.2001, but despite the notice the rent was not paid and, hence, the said suit for ejectment was filed.

4. The petitioner put in appearance before the Trial Court. It was submitted that he had in fact deposited an amount of Rs.

1500.00 towards House Tax on the aforesaid property for the benefit of the landlord in pursuance to recovery notice issued by the Lucknow Nagar Nigam. It was further stated that as per Section 108(g) of the Transfer of Property Act the said amount, which was paid towards the House-Tax, could have been appropriated by the tenant towards the outstanding amount of rent and accordingly the entire rent was paid and, hence, he was not a defaulter.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner has further submitted that the said suit itself was not maintainable before the Judge, Small Causes, in as much as the plaintiff/respondent is a Private Trust and according to the provisions of Uttar Pradesh Urban Building (Regulation of Letting Rent and Eviction) Act 1972 (hereinafter referred as 'Act no.13 of 1972'), Section 2(bb), the operation of the said Act does not bar any dispute pertaining to any building belonging to/vested in a Private Charitable Trust. The findings of both the courts below holding that the respondent is a of 'Public Charitable Trust' is perverse and contrary to record and therefore requires interference. It has been accordingly submitted that the proper remedy for the respondent was by filing an application for eviction under the Act no. 13 of 1972 before the prescribed authority, and the proceedings not having been initiated under the Act no. 13 of 1972 were without jurisdiction.

6. The Trial Court while deciding the said suit had framed seven issues. Amongst others, Issue Nos. 3 and 4 related to the nature of Trust and as to whether the provisions of the Act of 13 of 1972 would be applicable in the present case. It was considered that the said Trust was involved in working for the benefit of poor children, providing education and scholarships to such students, providing for wedding of poor persons and other welfare related activities and it also does not take any donations from the State Government. It was further stated that the said Trust is running a Homeopathic Hospital and no money is charged from the patients, except Rs. 1/-, that is charged towards registration and accordingly the Court was of the considered view that the respondent was a Public Charitable Trust. Issue No. 5 was in relation to the amount paid by the petitioner towards House Tax, which was due on the respondents and the Trial Court was of the considered view that the payment of the said amount could not be appropriated towards the outstanding amount of rent and decided the issue in favour of the respondents.

7. The petitioner has confined his arguments to Issue Nos. 3, 4 and 5, which have been dealt with by the Trial Court.

8. Sri B.K. Saxena, Learned Advocate, has vehemently submitted that a perusal of the Trust Deed would indicate that the nature of the said Trust is a Private Trust, rather than a Public Trust.

9. A perusal of the Trust-Deed, which has been annexed alongwith the Short Counter Affidavit, and a Hindi Translation of the original Urdu Version, indicates that the creator of the Trust was one Shankar Lal S/o Narayan Das, who had created the said Trust, with the following objects-

(1) Shankar Lal would continue to be absolute owner and in control of the entire Trust and its properties.

(2) After his death, the entire properties of Trust would vest in his wife, who will own the same on the same terms and conditions, as the original Trustee.

(3) Instructions were given to the wife that whatever amount is received, she should spend first on herself. Whatever money is left, the Thakurdwara will be maintained, and if anything is left thereafter, the same would be deposited in the name of Thakurdwara;

(4) It was indicated that after his death, it will be duty of his wife to maintain Thakurdwara for its development,;

(5) His wife would be entitled to run the trust according to her wishes. She can use a part of the rental income for daan-punya, i.e. charity, and nobody will have any objection;

(6) After his death, his cremation shall be carried out from the income earned from Thakurdwara;

(7) After the death of his wife, the entire property shall be owned and possessed by Thakur Ji Maharaj and he gave instructions to the Trustees from No. 3 to 7 to look after the properties in the manner he wished and keep the account of income and expenditure; and

(8) It was also provided that in case his wife, after his death, does not implement the terms of this Trust-Deed, then in that condition the Trustees No. 3 to 7 shall be entitled to keep possession, use income for purposes indicated by him, i.e., in case his wife do not implement the terms of this Trust Deed, which he has provided and does not agree with his wishes, then Trustees No. 3 to 7 shall be entitled to take-over the control.

10. It was submitted that a bare perusal of the Trust-Deed would indicate that the intention of Creator of the Trust was to create the same for benefit of Thakur Ji Maharaj Virajman and during his lifetime he was to retain the entire control of the said Trust. After his death, his wife would have the similar control and after her death he had nominated certain persons, who were to have full control over the said Trust. In case any of the Trustees dies, then the other Trustees would have a right to nominate a Trustee in his place. It was urged that in the aforesaid circumstances the Trust-Deed would be determinative of the fact that the said Trust was a Private Trust, rather than a Public Trust. In support of his contentions, he relied upon a judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Radhakant Deb & anr. v. The Commissioner of Hindu Religious Endowments, Orissa, (1981) 2 SCC 226. He submitted that guidelines have been framed by the Supreme Court in para-14 of the said judgment, from which it would be determined as to whether any Trust would be classified as a Public Trust or a Private Trust.

11. It was further submitted that Clauses 2 & 3 of paragraph-14 of the aforesaid judgment are applicable in the facts of the present case. It was stated that neither the Management vests with a large body of persons and the Founder and Trustees retained control over the Management and, therefore, as held by the Supreme Court, the aforesaid facts would be conclusive proof to show that the endowment was of a private nature. He further argued that to answer the question as to whether the said Trust would be a Public Trust or a Private Trust, it has to be demonstrated that the Founder has totally ceased control over the said Trust, and only then such a Trust can be called a Public Trust. He further relied upon the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Kuldip Chand & anr. v. Advocate General to Govt. of H.P. & ors., (2003) 5 SCC 46, relevant paragraphs 37 and 38 of which read as under-

“37. From the materials brought on record by the parties, as noticed hereinbefore, the following facts emerge: (1) That the shops were let out to other people. (2) People could come and stay in the Dharamshala but for stay of more than three days, only upon seeking permission therefor. (3) Rent received from the shops was being used by the owners for their own purpose. (4) The Dharamshala was being managed/maintained from the personal funds of the owner. (5) The management and control of the Dharamshala was all along with the owners. (6) A school was opened in the Dharamshala. (7) A chowkidar was appointed by Ranzor Singh to look after the Dharamshala and his salary used to be paid by the owner from his own pocket. (8) The Dharamshala could be used for marriage purpose but only with the permission of the owners. (9) The first-floor rooms could be used only by the officers or by others with the permission of the owner. (10) The Dharamshala was ordinarily being used by the pilgrims only during fair. (11) The public never contributed anything for maintenance of the Dharamshala. (12) No member of the public had any say as regards management of the Dharamshala and had no legal right to use the same. (13) No member of public the ever participated in the management of the Dharamshala. (14) No manager had ever been appointed to look after and manage the property. (15) The Dharamshala was not registered under the Sarais Act. (16) There is no evidence to show that the owners acted as shebaites or trustees.

38. A dedication for public purposes and for the benefit of the general public would involve complete cessation of ownership on the part of the founder and vesting of the property for the religious object. In absence of a formal and express endowment, the character of the dedication may have to be determined on the basis of the history of the institution and the conduct of the founder and his heirs. Such dedication may either be complete or partial. A right of easement in favour of a community or a part of the community would not constitute such dedication where the owner retained the property for himself. It may be that right of the owner of the property is qualified by public right of user but such right in the instant case, as noticed hereinbefore, is not wholly unrestricted. Apart from the fact that the public in general and/or any particular community did not have any right of participation in the management of the property nor for the maintenance thereof any contribution was made is a matter of much significance. A dedication, it may bear repetition to state, would mean complete relinquishment of his right of ownership and proprietary. A benevolent act on the part of a ruler of the State for the benefit of the general public may or may not amount to dedication for charitable purpose.”

12. It is in the aforesaid circumstances that the learned counsel for the petitioner has vehemently submitted that a perusal of the Trust-Deed indicates that the said Trust was of a Private Nature as the Creator of the said Trust had retained control with themselves at all stages and subsequently, the trustees were mere successors of the Original Trustee and, hence, there is no doubt that the said Trust Deed pertain to a Private Trust.

13. The nature of the Trust being a Private Trust is also demonstrated by the fact that for the appointment of the Trustee Hori Lal, an application was made by the respondent-Trust invoking the provisions of Section 73 of the Indian Trust Act 1882. He stated that had the respondent been a Public Trust, they would have filed an application under Section 92 of the Code of Civil Procedure (C.P.C.) and the aforesaid application could have been filed by the Advocate General, or two or more persons having interest in the Trust, having obtained the leave of the Court. He submits that the Indian Trust Act applies only to private trust and an application for appointment of a trustee was moved under Section 73 of the Indian Trust Act which clearly shows that the respondent themselves have held themselves to be a private trust and cannot be permitted to resile from the said stand. The said application was filed by the Trustees seeking to fillup the vacancy arising amongst themselves and the present application was filed by one Gaya Prasad Gupta, one of the Trustees of the Trust. He submits that the respondents have all along considered themselves to be a Private Trust and, accordingly, had invoked the provisions of Section 73 of the Trust Act for appointment of a Trustees.

14. It was further submitted that though a perusal of the said Trust-Deed may indicate to be a Private Trust, but now the Trust is being run by the Trustees, who are involved in Public related activities and, hence, now the said Trust can be said to be a Public Trust rather than a Private Trust.

15. The writ petition has been opposed by Mr. Jaiswal, learned Counsel appearing for the respondents. He has submitted that the respondent Trust is a Public Trust and is working for the welfare of the Public at large. He has submitted that the Trust is running a Hospital and no money is charged from the patients and the Trial Court has adequately considered the material before it and correctly come to the conclusion that the Trust is a Public Trust. He further submitted that the nature of the respondent cannot be considered in such proceedings. Lastly with regard to the question as to whether the petitioner had paid rent, when they deposited outstanding amount of dues towards the house-tax recovery by Lucknow Nagar Nigam, he submitted that the payment of the said amount cannot be appropriated towards the rent. He submitted that it was the duty of the landlord to pay the House Tax and if the tenant has voluntarily paid the said amount, the same cannot be adjusted towards his rent, and prayed for dismissal of writ petition.

16. In this writ petition, the first important question that falls for consideration is whether the respondent is a private charitable trust as alleged by the petitioner or a Public Trust as alleged by the respondents.

17. In pith and substance, the argument of the learned counsel for the respondent is that the Trust in question is maintained by the trust money which put therein "Thakur ji Maharaj Virajman" and that money is used to maintain "Hospital" which is meant for public. Only Rs.1/- is charged from the patients towards registration and it is actively working for the welfare of general public and, hence, the said trust would qualify as "Public Charitable Trust".

18. Needless to mention that concept of a private endowment or a private trust is unknown to English law where all trusts are public trusts of a purely charitable and religious nature but in India, the Trusts are divided into private Trust or Public Trust, as observed by Dr. Mukherjee in his Tagore Law Lectures on the Hindu Law of Religious and Charitable Trusts (1952 Edition) p.12 that-

"The question as to whether the religious endowment is of a private nature or of a public nature has to be decided with reference to the facts proved in each case and it is difficult to lay down any test or tests which may be of universal application. It is manifest that where the endowment is lost in antiquity or shrouded in mystery, there being no document or revenue entry to prove its origin, the task of the court becomes difficult and it has to rely merely on circumstantial evidence regarding the nature of the user of the temple.

19. Accordingly, the essential distinction between a private and a public endowment is that whereas in the former, the beneficiaries are specified individuals, in the latter, they are the general public or class of unascertained people. This being the essential distinction between the nature of a public or a private endowment, it follows that one of the crucial tests to determine the nature of the endowment would be to find out if the management of the property dedicated is in the hands of the strangers or members of the public or in the hands of the founders or their descendants.

20. After all, an idol is a juristic person capable of holding property and the property dedicated to the temple vests in the deity. If the main worshippers are the members of the public who worship as a matter of right then the real purpose is to confer benefit on God. Some of the circumstances from which a public endowment can be inferred may be whether an endowment is made by a person who has no issue and who after installing the deity entrusts the management to members of the public or strangers which is a clear proof of the intention to dedicate the temple to public and not to the members of the family. Where, however, it is proved that the intention of the testator or the founder was to dedicate the temple merely for the benefit of the members of the family or their descendants, the endowment would be of a private nature.

21. The mere fact that members of the public are allowed to worship by itself would not make an endowment public unless it is proved that the members of the public had a right to worship in the temple. In Deoki Nandan vs. Murlidhar, AIR 1957 SC 133, Hon'ble Apex Court observed as follow:

"The distinction between a private and a public trust is that whereas in the former the beneficiaries are specific individuals, in the latter they are the general public or a class thereof. While in the former the beneficiaries are persons who are ascertained or capable of being ascertained, in the latter they constitute a body which is incapable of ascertainment."

22. The counsel for petitioner relied on the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Radhakant Deb & anr (Supra) where the test has been laid down as providing sufficient guidelines to determine on the facts of case whether an endowment is of a private or of a public nature. The test can be summarized in the context of present case.

The guidelines framed in the said judgment in para-14 are quoted hereunder:

"(1) Where the origin of endowment cannot be ascertained, the question whether the user of the temple by members of the public is as of right.

(2) The fact that the control and management vests either in a large body of persons or in the members of the public and the founder does not retain any control over the management. Allied to this may be a circumstance where the evidence shows that there is provision for scheme to be framed by associating the members of the public at large.

(3) Where, however, a document is available to prove the nature and origin of the endowment and the recitals of the document show that the control and management of the temple is retained with the founder or his descendants, and that extensive properties are dedicated for the purpose of the maintenance of the temple belonging to the founder himself, this will be a conclusive proof to show that the endowment was of a private nature.

(4) Where the evidence shows that the founder of the endowment did not make any stipulation for offerings or contributions to be made by members of the public to the temple, this would be an important intrinsic circumstance to indicate the private nature of the endowment."

23. In the first test in order to determine the nature of the trust, it is to be ascertained as to whether the user of the temple by members of public is as of rights. The Trust deed by which the trust in question came into existence nowhere provides that user of temple by the members of the public will be as of right. Even otherwise the public has no say in the user of temple in question as of right.

24. In the second test, it has to be ascertained as to whether the control and management vests in large body of persons are members of the public or the founder did not retain any control over the management. A perusal of the Trust deed would show that the control and management was retained by the founder in himself and his own family and subsequently the named trustees. Thus in view of the second test the trust in question is only a private trust.

25. The third test as laid down is to see from the document, the nature and origin of the trust and if the control and management of the temple is retained with the founder and his descendants, and that extensive properties are dedicated for the maintenance of the temple belonging to the founder himself. It will be a conclusive proof to determine that the trust is a private trust. In the present case, a perusal of the Trust deed shows that the control and management of the temple was retained by the founder in himself and after his death his wife and subsequently with the named trustees.

26. The fourth test is where the founder of the trust did not make any stipulation for contribution to be made by members of the public. It will be an important circumstance to indicate the private nature of the trust. A perusal of the trust deed by means of which the trust in question came into existence reflects that no stipulation for offering or contributions to be made by the members of the public was made by the founder in the deed.

27. Thus on examining the nature of the trust by applying the aforementioned tests it would be crystal clear that the trust in question is a private trust. As per the trust deed the control of the trust at all times vested initially with the creator / founder of the trust, and subsequent to his death his wife and thereafter the trustees. The management of the trust accordingly vested with the founder and subsequently with the trustees. No member of the public could be associated or appointed as a trustee, and coupled with the fact that the members of the trust have all along been running the same is a private trust, due to which for appointment of the trustees they had approached the court of District Judge under Section 73 of the Indian Trust Act and of themselves treated to be a private trust and accordingly this Court is of the considered view that due to the aforesaid reasons the trust would fulfill all the qualifications to be recognized as a private trust. Both the courts below have failed to examine the nature of the trust in light of the law propounded by Hon'ble Supreme Court and, therefore, have not dealt with the said issue correctly and merely on the basis that the said trust was running a charitable hospital, have held the trust to be a public trust. As discussed above elaborately, the said finding is perverse and is accordingly set aside.

28. The other question with which we are concerned in this writ petition is whether the defendant appellant was entitled to claim deduction of the amounts paid by him to the Municipal Board in pursuance of the demands made by the Municipal Board upon the defendant for taxes. The Courts below took the view that the defendant appellant was not entitled to deduct those amounts with the result that the plaintiffs' suit for possession by ejectment of the defendant stands decreed on the finding that the defendant appellant had failed to comply with the notice of demand served upon him by the plaintiff.

29. Learned counsel for the appellant has urged that according to the findings recorded by the court below, the defendant-appellant's claim that he was entitled to deduct the amounts paid by him to the Municipal Board was not liable to be adjusted towards the outstanding amount of rent, but the court below erred in taking the contrary view.

30. There is no controversy that the defendant-appellant is a tenant of a portion only of a large building. The finding of the court below is that a total sum of Rs. 1500/- was paid by the defendant-appellant to the Municipal Board and that the receipt as proof of payment made by the appellant to the Municipal Board pursuant to the notices of demand. It is also clear from the findings that the Municipal Board had served upon the appellant demands for payment of taxes in relation to the portion of which the appellant was a tenant.

31. Learned counsel has founded his contention in trial the appellant/defendant was entitled to deduct the amounts covered by the receipts from the rent due from him to the plaintiff-respondents as per provisions of clause (g) of Section 108 of the Transfer of Property Act, read with the provision contained in Section 177 of the U.P. Municipalities Act. Section 108 of the Transfer of Property Act is in two parts viz. rights and liabilities of the lessor, and rights and liabilities of the lessee. Clause (g) falls within the latter portion embodying the rights and liabilities of the lessee, and runs as follows:--

"If the lessor neglects to make any payment which he is bound to make, and which, if not made by him, is recoverable from the lessee or against the property, the lessee may make such payment himself, and deduct it with interest from the rent, or otherwise recover it from the lessor."

Section 177 of the U.P. Municipalities Act runs as follows:--

"All sums due on account of a tax imposed on the annual value of building or lands or of both shall, subject to the prior payment of the land revenue (if any) due to Government thereupon be a first charge upon such building or lands."

32. Learned counsel for the petitioner has urged that, under the provision contained in Section 177 of the U. P. Municipalities Act, the Municipal Board has been invested with the authority to treat arrears of taxes as constituting a charge upon the entire property, including the portion which was in the possession of the defendant-appellant as a tenant, with the result that those arrears of taxes were recoverable against the property in the possession of the defendant-appellant as a lessee, as contemplated by Clause (g) of Section 108 of the Transfer of Property Act. His contention is, that in these circumstances, the defendant-appellant having made the payment himself, was entitled to deduct the same from the rent.

33. Learned counsel for the petitioner has also relied upon the provision contained in Section 149 of the U.P. Municipalities Act whereunder an occupier who makes payment of tax for which the lessor is primarily liable, is entitled, in the absence of any contract to the contrary, to be reimbursed by the lessor who, according to the provisions contained in Section 149 aforesaid, is the person primarily liable to pay the taxes. I have heard learned counsel for the parties. In my opinion the contention of the learned counsel for the appellant is sustainable on both the grounds.

34. The provisions contained in Section 177 of the U. P. Municipalities Act make it clear that the powers with which the Municipal Board is invested for the purpose of recovering Municipal dues includes the power to sell the property in respect of which taxes may be due, and for that purpose the tax due constitutes a first charge upon the building. It is, therefore, clear that the Municipal Board could, if it so liked, recover the tax due by sale of the property which included the property in the possession of the defendant-appellant. That being so, and there being no controversy that the lessor had neglected to make payment of the total amount of Rs. 1500/- paid by the petitioner to the Municipal Board, that amount was recoverable against the property in the possession of the defendant-appellant. The defendant-appellant was, therefore, entitled to make the payments himself and deduct the same from the rent, in exercise of his rights under Clause (g) of Section 108 of the Transfer of Property Act.

(1) Except when otherwise provided by rule, every tax other than a scavenging tax or tax for the cleansing of latrines and privies on the annual value of buildings or lands or of both shall be leviable primarily from the actual occupier of the property upon which the said taxes are assessed, if he is the owner of the buildings or lands or holds them on a building or other lease from the Government or from the board, or on a building lease from any person.

(2) In any other case the tax shall be primarily leviable as follows, namely:--

(a) if the property is let, from the lessor;

(b) if the property is sub-let, from the superior lessor

(c) if the property is unlet, from the person in whom the right to let the same vests.

(3) On failure to recover any sum due on account of such tax from the person primarily liable, the board may recover from the occupier of any part of the buildings or lands in respect of which it is due that portion thereof which bears to the whole amount due the same ratio as the rent annually payable by such occupier bears to the aggregate amount of rent payable in respect of the whole of the said buildings or lands, or to the aggregate amount of the letting value thereof in the authenticated assessment list (4) An occupier who makes any payment for which he is not primarily liable under the foregoing provisions shall in the absence of any contract to the contrary, be entitled to be reimbursed by the person primarily liable."

36. There is no controversy that the taxes demanded did not include scavenging tax or tax for the cleansing of latrines and privies. From the above provision it is clear that, so far as the personal liability of the petitioner was concerned, it was confined, under Clause (3) of Section 149, to the proportionate amount of tax due in respect only of the portion which was in the occupation of the petitioner as a tenant. Under Clause (4), however, the right of reimbursement embodied therein is not confined to the extent of the personal liability of the occupier, but extends to any payment made by him so long as it is payment of an amount for which the plaintiff respondents were primarily liable. The substance of a right to be reimbursed a sum of money implies, to my mind, a right to deduct that sum from monies which the person entitled to reimbursement may owe to the person liable to reimburse. The view that the expression 'any payment' in Clause (4) should be interpreted to include payment of any tax for which the lessor was primarily liable, even though under Clause (3) the Board may have been entitled to recover only part thereof from the occupier, seems also to be in accord with the rule of equitable construction, for, if it were held that the occupier is entitled to pay and be reimbursed only to the extent of the proportionate liability in respect of the portion in his occupation, it would lead to anomalies and hardship on the occupier. The Municipal Board may refuse to accept part payment and deprive the occupier of municipal amenities enjoyed by him in common with other occupiers.

37. Therefore, keeping in view the provisions of Section 149 of the Municipalities Act, the petitioner cannot be held to have defaulted in payment of any arrears of rent when the appellant has established that he had paid an amount of Rs.1500/- which exceeded Rs.1260/- in respect of which he was alleged to have defaulted had been paid by him to the Municipal Board under notices of demand served upon him in respect of taxes due against property including the portion of which he was the tenant.

38. The Hon'ble Apex Court has already observed in the case of Deoki Nandan (supra) that the mere fact that members of the public are allowed to worship by itself would not make an endowment as public. Thus, it appears that the present Trust is a Private Trust and the concurrent finding recorded by the lower courts are erroneous and liable to be interfered. Consequently, the trust in question is not exempted from and the provisions of Sec 13 of Act, 1972 and the same are applicable to it.

39. Moreover, the petitioner himself has admitted that there is relationship of tenant and landlord between him and the opposite-party no.3. The petitioner is regularly paying the rent. Thus, there is undisputed relationship of the landlord and tenant between them.

40. In view of the above the concurrent findings of the courts below are erroneous and the provisions Section 13 of the Act of 1972 are applicable in the instant case. Hence, in this regard, the orders of the lower courts are hereby set aside.

41. In these circumstances, the writ petition is allowed and the impugned order dated 9.2.2012 passed by Additional District Judge, Court Room No.13, Lucknow in SCC Revision No.39 of 2011 as well as the judgment dated 5.5.2011 passed by 2nd Additional Judge, Small Causes, Lucknow in SCC Suit No.222 of 2001 are set aside.

Civil Law - Oriental Bank of Commerce - Regulation 4(i) - Articles 14, 16 & 21 -

Removal from service, Disciplinary Authority, Natural Justice, Non-speaking order, Appellate Authority, Proportionality of punishment.

Reta Gupta was appointed/promoted as Manager (MMG Scale-II) on 12.07.1995 by the Deputy General Manager, Oriental Bank of Commerce (OBC). On 25.09.2000, she received a letter from the Deputy General Manager, Lucknow, regarding a complaint by Shri Dushyant Singh alleging financial irregularities. The petitioner responded on 09.10.2000. The petitioner was appointed as an Officer (JMGS-I) by the Deputy General Manager, Lucknow, and confirmed on 15.04.1999. On 10.10.2000, she was issued a letter alleging irregularities during her posting at Gorakhnath, Gorakhpur, to which she admitted lapses and complied by depositing the amount as advised. In both cases, the Assistant General Manager (Personnel), Head Office, New Delhi, issued a show cause notice and a charge-sheet. The Assistant General Manager imposed a major penalty of "Removal from service which shall not be a disqualification for future employment" under Regulation 4(i) of the OBC (Discipline & Appeal) Regulations, 1982, in both cases, without providing reasons (non-speaking order).

- The Assistant General Manager lacked jurisdiction to impose the penalty, as only an authority not below the rank of the appointing authority (Deputy General Manager) could impose a major penalty like removal.
- The Disciplinary Authority's orders were non-speaking and failed to provide reasons for disagreeing with the Enquiry Officer's findings, violating natural justice.
- The Appellate Authority's orders were arbitrary, lacking reasoned analysis and opportunity for the petitioner to rebut adverse findings.

- The penalty was disproportionate, and the process violated constitutional protections under Articles 14, 16, and 21.

Reliefs Granted:

- The orders of removal in both writ petitions were quashed.
- The court directed respondent no. 4 to treat the petitioner as continuing in service with all consequential benefits.

The orders dated 21.09.2002 passed by the Assistant General Manager (Personnel), imposing the penalty of "Removal from service which shall not be a disqualification for future employment" under Regulation 4(i) of the Oriental Bank of Commerce (Discipline & Appeal) Regulations, 1982, in both Writ-A No. 2000700 of 2003 and Writ-A No. 2000699 of 2003, were quashed as they were non-speaking orders and failed to provide reasons for disagreeing with the Enquiry Officer's findings, violating principles of natural justice.

The Disciplinary Authority, being lower in rank than the Appointing Authority (Deputy General Manager), lacked competence to impose a major penalty like removal from service, as per the analogy with Regulation 68(II) of the S.B.I. Officers Service Rules, rendering the orders void ab initio.

The Appellate Authority's orders dated 03/04.02.2003, dismissing the petitioner's appeals without reasoned findings or opportunity to rebut adverse observations, were held to be arbitrary and passed without application of mind.

The penalty of removal was found to be disproportionate and violative of Articles 14, 16, and 21 of the Constitution of India, as the petitioner was not placed under suspension despite alleged irregularities, and the Disciplinary Authority failed to adhere to procedural fairness.

The petitioner was entitled to be treated as continuing in service with all consequential benefits.

Reliefs Granted:

Writs of certiorari issued quashing the orders of removal dated 21.09.2002 and appellate orders dated 03/04.02.2003.

Writ of mandamus issued directing respondent no. 4 to treat the petitioner as continuing in service with all consequential benefits.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Irshad Ali, J.)

1. Heard Shri Rajiv Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri Vinay Shankar, learned counsel for the respondent.

2. Since both the writ petitions involves similar controversy, they are being decided collectively by this common judgement and Writ-A No. 2000700 of 2003 is being treated as leading case.

3. By means of the present writ petition, the petitioner has prayed for the following reliefs:

(Personnel), Head Office, New Delhi, dated September 21, 2002.*

(ii) Issue a writ of certiorari or a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the order of Appellate Authority opposite party no.3 as contained in letter no. H.O.: PER (DAD): 620 dated February 3/4, 2003 (Annexure-2) upholding the punishment imposed by opposite party no.1 vide his letter dated 21.9.2002.

(iii) Issue a writ of mandamus or a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the opposite party no.4 to continue to treat the petitioner in service with consequential benefits treating the order passed by opposite party no.1 removing the petitioner from service vide (Annexure-1) and the order of the Appellate Authority, opposite party no.3 upholding vide letter H.O.: PER(DAD) 620, Annexure-2 the order of removal against the petitioner passed by opposite party no.1 as void abinitio.

(iv) Issue a writ of mandamus or a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the opposite party no.5 to deem the mandatory statutory provision of consultation provided under Section 19 of the Banking Companies (Acquisition and Transfer of undertaking) Act, 1980 as not having taken place to the extent Regulation 3(g) does not expressly provide for imposing a major penalty like removal from service by an authority not lower in rank and graded than the Appointing Authority as it is provided in the proviso to Regulation 68(II) of State Bank of India, Officers Service Rules.

(v) A writ of mandamus or a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the opposite party no.6 to deem as if the previous sanction to the making of Oriental Bank of Commerce, Officer Employees Discipline and Appeal Regulations, 1982 has not been accorded to the extent Regulation 3(g) of the said Regulations does not expressly contain the provision to Regulation 68(II) of State Bank of India Officers Service Rules, which provides, "Where the Disciplinary Authority is lower in rank than the Appointing Authority in respect of the category of officers to which the petitioner belongs, no order for imposing any of the major penalties specified in clauses

(e),(f),(g) and (h) of rule 67 shall be made except by the Appointing Authority or any authority higher than it on the recommendations of the Disciplinary Authority."

(vi) Any other appropriate writ, order or direction which this Hon'ble Court may deem just, and proper in the facts and circumstances of the case.

(vii) Allow the writ petition with costs in favour of the petitioner."

5. Facts of Writ-A No.2000700 of 2013 are that the petitioner was appointed/promoted on 12.7.1995 as Manager in MMG II by Deputy General Manager in terms of "Competent Authority" designed by the Board of Directors of the Bank for the purpose of an appointment of an officer in the rank and grade of the petitioner. On 25.9.2000, the petitioner was served upon a letter by Deputy General Manager, Lucknow with reference to a complaint made by one Shri Dushyant Singh alleging therein certain financial irregularities against the petitioner.

On 9.10.2000, the petitioner submitted her reply to the Deputy General Manager, Regional Office, Lucknow. On 27.1.2001, opposite party no.1- Assistant General Manager (Personnel), Head Office, New Delhi served a show cause notice upon the petitioner on the subject matter of the complaint already having been taken cognizance of by the Deputy General Manager, Regional Office, Lucknow.

On 27.6.2001, the petitioner was served upon a charge-sheet by opposite party no.1, Assistant General Manager (Personnel), Head Office, New Delhi to which the petitioner submitted her reply on 11.7.2001. On 8.8.2001, the opposite party no.1 instituted the enquiry against the petitioner. On 6.5.2002, the complainant

(Shri Dushyant Singh) confirmed having written to the petitioner his letter dated 25.1.2000 absolving her of any responsibility in respect of any of the accounts held in the name of his mother or in his own name jointly with his mother in Oriental Bank of Commerce as well as in banks mentioned in the aforesaid letter.

On 1.7.2002, the opposite party no.1, Assistant General Manager (Personnel), Head Office, New Delhi asked from the petitioner to make his representation to the report of the inquiry officer received by the petitioner enclosed with the letter of the opposite party no.1. On 23.7.2002, the petitioner submitted her representation with opposite party no.1 on the report of Inquiring Authority.

On 21.9.2002, opposite party no.1 imposed a major penalty of "Removal from service which shall not be a disqualification for future employment" on the petitioner in terms of Regulation 4(i) of the (Discipline and Appeal) Regulations, 1982 by a non-speaking order.

The opposite party no.1, at no point of time, neither when he served upon the petitioner the charge sheet nor when he imposed upon the petitioner the punishment of removal was the competent Disciplinary Authority in respect of the petitioner much less competent was he to impose the major penalty of removal from service.

In terms of schedule as providing for Disciplinary Authority in respect of the petitioner appended to the Discipline and Appeal Regulations, 1982 as amended upto 30.06.2002, Disciplinary Authority specified in the schedule which is competent to impose any of the penalties in Regulation 4 is Deputy General Manager, Regional Office, Lucknow. But, as on the date of imposition of the penalty by opposite party no.1 the amended schedule dated 8.2.2002 had come into force.

Again, Deputy General Manager, Regional Office, Lucknow is the authority specified in the schedule competent to impose any of the penalties upon the petitioner in terms of Regulation 4 as read with Regulation 5(3). Also Regulation 3(g) of Oriental Bank of Commerce Discipline and Appeal Regulations, 1982 is in pari materia with Regulation 68 of State Bank of India Officers Service Rules. Therefore, the protection of not being subjected to the infliction of a major penalty like removal from service by an authority lower than the Appointing Authority as available to Officers in State Bank of India is available to the petitioner also.

The order under challenge passed by opposite party no.1 of removal from service which shall not be disqualification for future employment and rejection of the appeal is violative of Articles 14, 16, 19 and 21 of the Constitution of India.

On 7.1.2003, the writ petition no.1/2003 (SB) filed by the petitioner against the order of removal from service was relegated to statutory Appellate Authority by this Hon'ble Court with the direction to the Appellate Authority to decide the appeal on merits and in accordance with law.

On 15.1.2003, the petitioner filed her comprehensive appeal to the Appellate Authority, opposite party no.3, General Manager (Personnel) Head Office, New Delhi which has been dismissed upholding the order of the Disciplinary Authority.

6. Facts in Writ-A No.2000699 of 2003 are that the petitioner was appointed/promoted as Officer in JMGS I by Deputy General Manager, Regional Lucknow. On 15.4.1999, the petitioner was confirmed as Officer in JMGS I by Deputy General Manager, Regional Lucknow with effect from 20.3.1999.

On 10.10.2000, the Deputy General Manager, Regional Lucknow, opposite party no.2 issued a letter No.ROL/I&C/4163 dated 10.10.2000 captioned "Irregularities committed by you during your posting at Gorakhnath, Gorakhpur" and advised the petitioner to deposit the amount fraudulently withdrawn by him.

On 23.10.2000, the petitioner's letter of compliance dated 23.10.2000 addressed to opposite party no.2, Deputy General Manager, Regional Lucknow admitting his lapses therein. The Deputy General Manager, Regional Lucknow, the competent Disciplinary Authority in terms of Regulation 3(g) of Oriental Bank of Commerce Discipline and Appeal Regulations, 1982 took his decision as to the alleged lapses and admission of guilt in respect of those lapses by advising to deposit the amount and to certify that no such lapses have been committed by the petitioner in any office he has worked at.

On 27.6.2001, the petitioner was served with a charge sheet by opposite party no.1, Assistant General (Personnel) Head Office, New Delhi. On 8.8.2001, the opposite party no.1, Assistant General Manager (Personnel), Head Office, New Delhi instituted the inquiry proceedings. On 1.7.2002, the opposite party no.1, Assistant General Manager (Personnel) Head Office, New Delhi asked from the petitioner to make his representation to the report of the inquiry officer received by the petitioner enclosed with the letter of the opposite party no.1.

On 23.7.2002, the petitioner submitted his representation with opposite party no.1 on the report of Inquiring Authority. On 21.9.2002, the opposite party no.1 imposed a major penalty of "Removal from service which shall not be a disqualification for future employment" on the petitioner in terms of Regulation 4(i) of the (Discipline and Appeal) Regulations, 1982 by a non-speaking order.

The opposite party no.1, at no point of time, neither when he served upon the petitioner the charge-sheet nor when he imposed upon the petitioner the punishment of removal, was the competent Disciplinary Authority in respect of the petitioner, much less competent was he to impose the major penalty of removal from service.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that the order dated 21.9.2002 passed by Assistant General Manager (Personnel), Head Office, New Delhi imposing a major penalty of "Removal from service which shall not be a disqualification for future employment", passed under Regulation 4(i) of Discipline and Appeal Regulations, 1982 is not an order supported by reasons and is thus not a speaking order. Against the finding of the Inquiring Authority in respect of charge no.1 as unauthorized and highly irregular act the opposite party no.1 has treated the petitioner as having fraudulently got credited the proceeds of Transfer Payment Order to her own account. To the extent the opposite party no.1 has differed with the finding of the Inquiring Authority, he is liable to afford an opportunity to the petitioner to explain her conduct in respect to charge no.1.

8. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the finding of the Inquiring Authority in respect of charge-2 is perverse inasmuch as the said finding is based on disregard of the evidence given in the proceedings in respect of the said charge. The charge has been proved in complete disregard and violation of the provision to Regulation 15 of the Discipline and Appeal Regulations, 1982.

The opposite party no.1 vide his order dated 21.9.2002 passed his order in respect of charge no.2 in spite of the proviso to Regulation 15 without assigning any reason. Thus, opposite party no.1 has passed a non-speaking order in respect of charge no.2 also.

9. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the Appellate Authority (opposite party no.3) has not passed a reasoned order and has summarily rejected the appeal filed by the petitioner in pursuance of the orders passed by this Hon'ble Court in Writ Petition No.1(SB) of 2003 in spite of the direction of this Hon'ble court to decide the appeal filed by the petitioner on merits, the opposite party no.3 has failed to do so.

10. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the order of the opposite party no.1 in imposing a major penalty of removal from service which shall not be a disqualification for future employment, in terms of Regulation 4(i) was wholly without jurisdiction as an Officer below the rank of a Deputy General Manager, in the Bank was never the competent Disciplinary Authority to impose the major penalty of removal from service which shall be a disqualification for future employment in terms of Regulation 4(i).

11. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the penalty of removal from service in terms of Regulation 4(i) imposed on the petitioner is disproportionately excessive as even after it was prima facie established that the petitioner could be responsible for an irregular act, she was not placed under suspension as contemplated under Regulation 12(1) a by the competent Disciplinary Authority.

12. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the Discipline & Appeal Regulations framed for State Bank of India and Oriental Bank of Commerce by their respective Boards are in Pari Materia, the words “Competent to impose” occurring in the definition of Disciplinary Authority in terms of Regulation 3(g) of Discipline & Appeal regulations of Oriental Bank of Commerce has to be read with the proviso to Regulation 68(ii) of the State Bank of India Officers’ Service Rules.

13. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the definition of competent authority in terms of Regulation 3(g) does not merely provide for an authority specified in the schedule as the Disciplinary Authority. It also clearly mandates that the Disciplinary Authority has to have the competence to impose any of the penalties specified in Regulation 4 of the Discipline & Appeal Regulations. The competence to impose a major penalty like removal from service upon the petitioner is conferred only when such authority is not below the rank of the appointing authority as is the case applicable to the officers of State Bank of India.

14. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the petitioner has got the vested right to be judged in respect of the security of tenure in the service of the Bank which is an instrumentality of the State by an Authority/ Officer not below the rank of her Appointing Authority.

15. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the State Bank of India being a public sector bank as per Regulation 3(1)(iii) for the purpose of Discipline &

Appeal Regulations of Oriental Bank of Commerce, the words ‘competent to impose’ as given in the definition of Disciplinary Authority in terms of regulation 3(g) have to be construed so as not to render them redundant. By reading the proviso to Regulation 68 (II) of State Bank of India Officers Service Rules which provides that a major penalty can be imposed only by an authority not lower in rank and grade than the Appointing Authority in Regulation 3(g) of Oriental Bank of Commerce, the words ‘competent to impose’ can be given meaning and substance.

16. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the Discipline & Appeal Regulations in State Bank of India and Oriental Bank of Commerce have been framed in consultation with Reserve Bank of India and with previous sanction of Central Government, the protection of not, being subjected to the imposition of a major penalty applicable to Officers in State Bank of India in terms of the proviso to Regulation 68(II) of State Bank of India Officers Service Rules by an authority not lower in rank than the Appointing Authority has to be read in the definition of Disciplinary Authority provided in regulation 3(g) of Oriental Bank of Commerce Officer Employees (Discipline & Appeal) Regulation, 1982 in order to safeguard the rights of the petitioner as contained in Articles 14, 16, 19 and 21 of the Constitution of India.

17. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the punishment imposed upon the petitioner of removal from service is grossly unfair and disproportionate to the finding of the Inquiring Authority.

18. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the impugned order of removal which shall not be a disqualification for future employment imposed upon the petitioner in terms of Regulation 4 (i) by opposite party no.1 is void abinitio and cannot be cured by rejection of her appeal vide order dated 3/4 February, 2003 of the Appellate Authority.

19. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the removal of the petitioner from the service of the Bank by an authority lower than her appointing authority is clearly violative of Article 14, 16 and 21 of the Constitution of India.

20. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the order of the Appellate Authority, opposite party no.3, contained in Annexure CA-9 to the counter affidavit filed on behalf of the opposite parties has been passed in complete disregard of the change in jurisdiction of the competent disciplinary authority in respect of the petitioner vide Circular No.PER/12/02/347 dated 8.2.2002 (page 95 of the writ petition), which rendered the impugned order passed by the opposite party no.1 wholly without jurisdiction thereby rendering the said impugned order void ab initio.

21. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the order of the Appellate Authority, opposite party no.3 contained in Annexure CA-9 to the counter affidavit filed on behalf of the opposite parties has been passed without any application of mind on the most material grounds taken in the appeal of the petitioner, thereby rendering the aforesaid order as patently illegal, being arbitrary and discriminatory.

22. In support of his submissions, learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance upon the following judgments:

(i) State Bank of India v. S. Vijay Kumar, decided on 18.7.1990 passed in Civil Appeal Nos.3392-3394 of 1990

(ii) Sirsilk Ltd. v. Textile Committee and Ors. reported 1989 Supp (1) SCC 168

(iii) Kirshna Kumar v. Divisional Assistant, Electrical Engineer, Central Railway and others reported in (1979) 4 SCC 289

(iv) Punjab National Bank and others v. Kunj Behari Mishra reported in (1998) 7 SCC 84

(v) Dr. Har Kishan Singh v. State of Punjab and others, decided on 25.3.1971 passed in Civil Appeal No.430 of 1970

(vi) Union of India and others and J.A. Munaff, decided on 7.12.1967 passed in Civil Appeal No.995 of 1967

23. Per contra, Shri Vinay Shanker, learned counsel for the respondents submitted that the petitioner was promoted by the Interview committee and not by the Deputy General Manager as per provisions of Promotion Policy of the respondent Bank and promotion letter dated 17.7.1995 was issued by the Assistant General manager (Per.) Competent Authority for Scale-II officers is Regional Head/ Chief Manager. Thus, Scale-IV officer is appointing authority for Scale-II officers.

24. Learned counsel for the respondents next submitted that actually the petitioner was not appointed in MMGS-II instead she was appointed as Clerk/ Typist and her Appointing Authority for the said post is Assistant Regional Manager i.e. an officer in MMGS-III. She was promoted to the post of Manager as per promotion policy of the respondent Bank.

25. Learned counsel for the respondent next submitted that at the relevant point of time, the Deputy General Manager, Regional Office, Lucknow was controlling the Lucknow Region administratively but the Disciplinary Authorities for all employees of the respondent-Bank were at Head Office and Assistant General Manager (Per.) was the Disciplinary Authority for the Officers in JMG Scale-I and MMG Scale-II. Since the petitioner was an officer in MMG Scale-II, the Asstt. General Manager (Per.) at Head Office was his Disciplinary Authority under OBC Officer employees (Discipline & Appeal) Regulations, 1982.

26. Learned counsel for the respondents next submitted that even in circular dated 8.2.2002, it is clarified that in the cases where Award Staff/ Officers in JMG Scale-I and MMG Scale-II have been placed under suspension/ charge-sheeted prior to 8.2.2002 the competent authority in all such cases will be the Head Office. Since the petitioner was charge sheeted on 27.6.2002 her Disciplinary Authority was the Assistant General manager (Per) at Head Office.

27. Learned counsel for the respondent next submitted that the Asstt. General Manager (Per.) was/ is the competent Disciplinary Authority for the petitioner and the same is as per schedule to the OBC Officer Employees (Discipline & Appeal) Regulations, 1982 at the relevant time. The schedule to the above said regulations amended upto 30.06.2002 was inserted vide circular dated 8.2.2002 whereas the petitioner was charge sheeted on 27.6.2001 and as per the schedule to the said Regulations existing as on 27.06.2001, the opposite party no.1 Asstt. General Manager (Per.) was the competent Disciplinary Authority for the petitioner..

28. I have considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and law-reports cited by learned counsel for the petitioner.

29. Perusal of the material on record reveals that the petitioner was appointed/ promoted on 12.7.1995 as Manager in MMG II by Deputy General Manager. On 25.9.2000, the petitioner was served upon a letter by the Deputy General Manager with reference to a complaint made by Shri Dushyant Singh alleging certain allegation, to which petitioner submitted reply on 9.10.2000. Respondent no.1 (Assistant General Manager (Personnel), Head Office, New Delhi served a show cause notice upon the petitioner on 27.1.2001 of the complaint already having been taken cognizance of by the Deputy General Manager, Regional Office, Lucknow.

It also reveals that on 27.6.2001, the petitioner chargesheeted by respondent no.1, to which the petitioner submitted her reply on 11.7.2001. On 8.8.2001, the respondent no.1 instituted enquiry against the petitioner. On 1.7.2002, respondent no.1 asked from the petitioner to make his representation to the report of the inquiry officer received by the petitioner, to which petitioner submitted her representation on 23.7.2002. On 21.9.2002, respondent no.1 imposed a major penalty of "Removal from service which shall not be a disqualification for future employment. Against which, the petitioner filed a writ petition bearing Writ Petition No.1/2003 (SB) which has been disposed of with the direction to the Appellate Authority to decide the appeal on merits and in accordance with law. On 15.1.2003 the petitioner filed comprehensive appeal before respondent no.3 i.e. General Manager (Personnel) Head Office, New Delhi which has been dismissed while upholding the order of the Disciplinary Authority.

30. Learned counsel for the petitioner relied upon the several judgments in support of his submissions, relevant portions of which are being quoted below:

(i) State Bank of India (supra):-

20. All the employees of the bank in the cases before us were appointed by the Executive Committee. Order of dismissal in their cases has been passed by the Chief General Manager. It is an admitted position that on the date of passing the order of dismissal the Chief General Manager was the appointing authority. According to the Bank though the employees were appointed by the Executive Committee, but at the time when inquiry was held and the order of dismissal passed, the Chief General Manager had become the appointing authority. On the other hand the contention on behalf of the employees is that the Executive Committee being the appointing authority, no authority lower than the Executive Committee can pass the order of dismissal in their cases. According to their contention the Chief General Manager, being a lower authority than the Executive Committee, he had no competence to pass the order of dismissal. Learned counsel for the employees in this regard referred to Article 311 of the Constitution of India and placed reliance on a plethora of cases decided on the basis of guarantee enshrined under Article 311 of the Constitution.

22. Now so far as the right which has been conferred on the employees of the

State Bank contained in Regulation 55(2)(a) is that such officers or employees shall not be dismissed from service of the State Bank by an authority lower than the appointing authority. Thus a comparison of the provisions contained in Article 311(1) of the Constitution and the right guaranteed to the employees of the State Bank under Regulation 55(2)(a) shows that there is a material difference between the language used in the two provisions. Under Article 311(1) the words used are "by which he was appointed" In Regulation 55(2)(a) there are no such words "By which he was appointed" and in its place the only right guaranteed is that the employee shall not be dismissed by an authority lower than the appointing authority. Thus the right guaranteed in case of the officers or employees of the State Bank is that the order of dismissal cannot be passed by an authority lower than the appointing authority. A perusal of the relevant Regulations and Rules mentioned above clearly go to show that the Chief General Manager had become the appointing authority of the employees in question under Regulation 55(2)(a) with effect from 1.7.24. Admittedly the orders of dismissal have been passed long after these amendments when the Chief General Manager had already become their appointing authority under the Regulations and the Rules. The right that an officer or employee of the State Bank of India cannot be dismissed from service by an authority lower than the appointing authority is a creation of statutory rules and regulations. So far as the right or protection guaranteed under Article 311 of the Constitution is concerned, it applies to members of the Civil Service of the Union or an All India service or a Civil Service of the Union or an All India service or a Civil Service of a State of who holds a Civil Post under the Union or a State. Admittedly the employees of the State Bank do not fall under any one of these categories and they cannot seek any protection under Article 311(1) of the Constitution. The employees of the State Bank can only claim such rights which have been conferred under Regulation 55(2)(a) of the General Regulations. The only right conferred under the said provision is that the officers or employees of the State Bank cannot be dismissed by an authority lower than the appointing authority. With the risk of repetition it may be stated that on the date when the order of dismissal has been passed, Chief General Manager had already become the appointing authority and as such the order of dismissal has not been passed by an authority lower than the appointing authority.

(ii) Sirsilk Ltd. (supra):-

28. The Industries (Development and Regulation) Act, 1951 and the Textiles Committee Act, with which we are concerned, may properly be considered to be statutes in pari materia. According to Sutherland:

“Statutes are considered to be in pari materia to pertain to the same subject-matter when they relate to the same person or things, or to the same class of persons or thing, or have the same purpose or object. (Statutes and Statutory Construction, Vol. 2, p. 535, 3rd Edn.)”

The object of either of these two Acts is to protect and to assist in the development of Textile Industry inter alia. “Assistance in ascertaining the meaning of an enactment may be obtained by comparing its language with that used in earlier statutes relating to the same subject” (Craies on Statute Law, p. 140, 1971 Edn.). Maxwell also in The Interpretation of Statutes (1976 Edn. p. 66) states that:

“light may be thrown on the meaning of a phrase in a statute by reference to a specific phrase in an earlier statute dealing with the same subject-matter.”

The Industries (Development and Regulation) Act, 1951 is an Act earlier in point of time and we see no reason why if a subsequent statute by the same legislature can be pressed in aid for the purpose of interpreting in the event of any doubt, the provisions of an earlier statute, the earlier statute cannot be made use of for the purpose of construing, in the event of ambiguity, the provisions of a later statute.

(iii) Krishna Kumar (supra):-

4. Article 311(1) of the Constitution provides that no person who is a member of a civil service of the Union or an all-India service or a civil service of a State or holds a civil post under the Union or a State shall be dismissed or removed by an authority subordinate to that by which he was appointed. The simple question for determination is whether, as alleged by the appellant, he was removed from service by an authority subordinate to that which had appointed him. The relevant facts are but these and these only: The appellant was appointed as a Train Lighting Inspector under an order issued by the Chief Electrical Engineer and was removed from service under an order passed by the Divisional Assistant Electrical Engineer, Central Railway, Nagpur. The narrow question, therefore, for consideration is whether the Divisional Assistant Electrical Engineer is subordinate in rank to the Chief Electrical Engineer. None of the affidavits filed by Shri Sarathy, who passed the order of removal says that the post of Divisional Assistant Electrical Engineer is equivalent to that of the Chief Electrical Engineer in the official hierarchy. That the former is not higher in rank than the latter is self-evident. In the circumstances, it seems clear that the appellant was removed from service by an authority which is subordinate in rank to that by which he was appointed.

(iv) Punjab National Bank (supra) :-

18. Under Regulation 6, the enquiry proceedings can be conducted either by an enquiry officer or by the disciplinary authority itself. When the enquiry is conducted by the enquiry officer, his report is not final or conclusive and the disciplinary proceedings do not stand concluded. The disciplinary proceedings stand concluded with the decision of the disciplinary authority. It is the disciplinary authority which can impose the penalty and not the enquiry officer. Where the disciplinary authority itself holds an enquiry, an opportunity of hearing has to be granted by him. When the disciplinary authority differs with the view of the enquiry officer and proposes to come to a different conclusion, there is no reason as to why an opportunity of hearing should not be granted. It will be most unfair and iniquitous that where the charged officers succeed before the enquiry officer, they are deprived of representing to the disciplinary authority before that authority differs with the enquiry officer's report and, while recording a finding of guilt, imposes punishment on the officer. In our opinion, in any such situation, the charged officer must have an opportunity to represent before the disciplinary authority before final findings on the charges are recorded and punishment imposed. This is required to be done as a part of the first stage of enquiry as explained in Karunakar case [(1993) 4 SCC 727 : 1993 SCC (L&S) 1184 : (1993) 25 ATC 704].

19. The result of the aforesaid discussion would be that the principles of natural justice have to be read into Regulation 7(2). As a result thereof, whenever the disciplinary authority disagrees with the enquiry authority on any article of charge, then before it records its own findings on such charge, it must record its tentative reasons for such disagreement and give to the delinquent officer an opportunity to represent before it records its findings. The report of the enquiry officer containing its findings will have to be conveyed and the delinquent officer will have an opportunity to persuade the disciplinary authority to accept the favourable conclusion of the enquiry officer. The principles of natural justice, as we have already observed, require the authority which has to take a final decision and can impose a penalty, to give an opportunity to the officer charged of misconduct to file a representation before the disciplinary authority records its findings on the charges framed against the officer.

(v) Dr. Harkishan Singh (supra):-

11. Rule 9(2) does not contain any restrictive word that only members of the service shall be eligible to promotion to a selection grade. The proviso to rule 9(2) contains a word of limitation and it is that no member of the service shall be entitled to such promotion. To exclude appointment to selection grade would be to rule 5 as well as rules 9(2) and 9(3) of their contents because rule 5 speaks of appointment to the service to be either by promotion or by direct recruitment. Rule 9(2) speaks of eligibility of members of the service for promotion to the selection grade and rule 9(3) speaks of number of appointments in the selection grade and rule 9(3) speaks of number of appointments in the selection grade not to exceed 25 per cent of appointments in the service; The service as defined in rule 2(c) means the Punjab Civil Medical Service Class I Selection grade in the Punjab Civil Medical Service Class I. That is not disputed. Therefore, rule 5 which specifically speaks of appointment to the service by direct recruitment embraces Class I and the Selection grade which is a part and parcel of Class I. The word 'Appointment' in rule 9(3) in regard to selection grade as not exceeding 25 per cent of the total number of appointments in the service contemplates both promotion and direct appointment in that service contemplates both promotion and direct appointments in the service to the selection grade. The word 'appointment' cannot mean only promotion. It means appointment both by promotion and by direct recruitment; That is why the word 'appointment' is used in the sense once in relation to selection grade and again in relation to the total number of appointments to the service. Direct appointment to selection grade is not only contemplated in the rules particularly rules 5, 9(2) and 9(3) but is also the implicit idea inherent in the word direct recruitment and direct appointment' in Rule 5 for purpose of attracting able and meritorious persons to the service including the selection grade. The fallacy in the appellant's contention is that though selection grade will be within the definition of the service in rule 2(c) wherever the word 'service' occurs in rules 5 and 9 the construction put upon the word 'service' is members of the service who are in class I on time scale appointment and who alone can be promoted to the selection grade and that there cannot be any direct appointment to selection grade.

(vi) Union of India (supra):-

10. The situation here seems to be different. The expression 'Disciplinary Authority' has a two-fold meaning. For the purpose of imposing penalties of compulsory retirement, removal or dismissal, it can only be the appointing authority, whereas in relation to the is sue of charge-sheets etc., under rules 1709 to 1712 and 1716 it can be any authority competent to impose any of the penalties specified in rule 1707. Rule 1707, as already noted, enumerates the various penalties which can be imposed on a railway servant including those mentioned above. Rule 1705 read with Schedule II (for the purpose of this case) shows that the Head of the Department is competent to impose some of the penalties on class IV artisans and class III staff. If, therefore, the charge-sheet issued to the respondent in this case was in conformity with rule 1705 read with Schedule II, there was nothing irregular in the enquiry and it was open to the appointing authority, namely, the General Manager, to impose on the respondent the penalty of dismissal from service. In the absence of all the available material, we find ourselves unable to accept the judgment of the High Court in this case. We therefore set aside the judgment appealed from and remand the matter to the High Court for consideration of the point canvassed before us afresh, if necessary by giving the parties opportunity of adducing evidence by affidavit as to whether the respondent belonged to class IV or class III staff or was an artisan and whether the charge-sheet was issued by the Head of the Department to which the respondent belongs.

31. On perusal of the above-extracted judgments, it is crystal clear that the right guaranteed in case of the officers or employees of the State Bank is that the order of dismissal cannot be passed by an authority lower than the appointing authority. Article 311 (1) of the Constitution provides that no person who is a member of a civil services of the Union or an all-India service or a civil service of a State or holds a civil post under the Union or a State shall be dismissed or removed by an authority subordinate to that by which he was appointed.

It is also crystal clear that when the disciplinary authority disagrees with the findings of the inquiry Authority and is required to record its own reasons for such disagreement and also to record its own finding on such charges, it is required to give a hearing to the delinquent officer.

32. I have carefully examined the material on record in the light of the law-reports cited by learned counsel for the petitioner.

33. While passing the order dated 21.9.2002 imposing the major penalty of "Removal from Service which shall not be a disqualification for future employment", the respondent no.1 [Assistant General Manager (Personnel), Head Office, New Delhi] has differed with the finding of the Inquiry Officer with respect of charge no.1 that the petitioner has been found to have committed an unauthorized and highly irregular Act, and has recorded finding that the petitioner has been found guilty of committing a fraud. In the order, the Disciplinary Authority has not given any reason as to why he did not accept the finding of the enquiry officer. In this view of the matter, this Court is of the opinion that in case the Disciplinary Authority has disagreed with the finding of the enquiry officer, the Disciplinary Authority would have given opportunity to the petitioner to submit her representation as to why her act was not a fraud and only a irregularity, and to explain her conduct in respect to charge no.1 which has not been done.

34. In the order passed by the respondent no.3 i.e. Appellate Authority rejecting the appeal, the Appellate Authority without assigning any reason in regard to disagreement of the Disciplinary Authority with the finding of the enquiry officer, passed the order upholding the order of the Disciplinary Authority without application of mind. The Appellate Authority has also not given opportunity to the petitioner to rebut the adverse observations. In this view of the matter, this Court is of the opinion that the order has been passed by the Appellate Authority without any application of mind.

35. It has been well settled law that when the disciplinary authority disagrees with the finding of the enquiry authority, and is required to record its own reasons, for such disagreement and to record its own finding on such charge, it is required to give a hearing to the delinquent officer.

36. It may be remembered that the Enquiry Officer's report is not binding upon the Disciplinary Authority to come to its conclusion on the charges. It is not in the nature of an appeal from the inquiry officer to the Disciplinary Authority. It is one and the same proceedings. It is open to a disciplinary authority to hold the inquiry himself. It is equally open to him to appoint an inquiry officer to conduct the inquiry and place the entire record before him with or without his findings.

37. The Hon'ble Supreme Court as well as this Court in catena of judgments repeatedly observed that whenever the disciplinary authority disagrees with the enquiry authority on any article of charge then before it records its own findings on such charge, it must record its tentative reasons for such disagreement and give to the delinquent officer an opportunity to represent before it records its finding. The report of the inquiry officer containing its findings will have to be conveyed and the delinquent officer will have an opportunity to persuade the disciplinary authority to accept the favourable conclusion of the inquiry officer. The principles of natural justice require the authority which has to take a final decision and can impose a penalty, to give an opportunity to the charged officer to file a representation before the disciplinary authority records its finding on the charges framed against the officer.

38. Considering in totalities of facts and circumstances of the case, both the writ petition are allowed. Order of “Removal from service which shall not be a disqualification for future employment”, as contained in Letter No.H.O.: PER(DAD): 22991 (Annexure-1) passed by A.G.M. (Personnel), Head Officer, New Delhi dated September 21, 2002 as well as order of the Appellate Authority (Opposite Party No.3) as contained in letter no.H.O.: PER(DAD) 620 dated February 3/4, 2003 (Annexure no.2) [both the orders have been challenged in Writ-A No.2000700 of 2003] and order of “Removal from service which shall not be a disqualification for future employment” as contained in Letter No.H.O.: PER (DAD): 2292 (Annexure-1) passed by the A.G.M. (Personnel), Head Office, New Delhi, dated September 21, 2002 as well as order of the Appellate Authority (Opposite Party no.3) contained in letter no. H.O.: PER(DAD) 620 dated February 3/4, 2003 (Annexure-2) [both the orders have been challenged in Writ-A No.2000699 of 2003] are hereby quashed. However, the respondent no.4 is directed to continue to treat the petitioner in service with all consequential benefits.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Lavania, J.)

1. Heard Sri Pradeep Kumar Tiwari, learned counsel for the petitioners, Sri Hemant Kumar Pandey, learned State counsel appearing for the respondent Nos. 1 to 3 & 13, Sri Mohan Singh, Advocate, who has received notice on behalf of respondent No. 12/Gaon Sabha concerned and Sri Pankaj Kumar Pandey, Advocate, appearing for the respondent No. 4, who has also filed his Valakathnama on behalf of respondent Nos. 5 to 11 in the Court today, which is taken on record.

2. By means of this petition, the petitioners have assailed the order dated 15.05.2023 passed by the respondent No. 1/Board of Revenue, U.P., at Lucknow in Second Appeal registered as Case No. SA/205/2022/Ayodhya, Computerized Case No. R2022042300205 (Mirza Khalid Beg and others vs. Mirza Shahid Beg) filed by the private respondents Nos. 4 to 11 under Section 331 of U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 (in short "Act of 1950").

3. By order dated 15.05.2023, the second appeal has been allowed at the admission stage and the matter has been remanded back to the trial Court concerned for deciding the case afresh on merits after framing the relevant issues.

4. The brief facts of the case, which are required for disposal of this petition, are to the effect that a suit for declaration of rights over certain plots/gatas was instituted by Khursida Begum registered as Case No. 68/192/22/44/61 (Khurshida Begum and others vs. Mirza Zulfikar Beg and others), which was dismissed vide order dated 05.09.2007 based on the plea related to Section 49 of U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 (in short "Act of 1953"), which creates bar in relation to suit filed subsequent to notification published under Section 52 of the Act of 1953.

5. The order dated 05.09.2007 was assailed by the original plaintiffs namely Khurshida Begum and Sayeeda Begum, who expired during pendency of appeal and in their place, the legal heirs were substituted, who are the private respondent Nos. 4 to 11 in this petition. This first appeal was registered as Case No. 1248/2007-2008, Computerized Case No. C2007040000615 (Khurshida Begum vs. Mirza Zulfikar Beg) under Section 331(3) of the Act of 1950. The First Appellate Court affirmed the order dated 05.09.2007 vide its order dated 18.12.2021.

6. Challenging the orders dated 05.09.2007 and 18.12.2021, the Second Appeal registered as Case No. SA/205/2022/Ayodhya, Computerized Case No. R2022042300205 (Mirza Khalid Beg and others vs. Mirza Shahid Beg) was preferred by the private respondents No. 4 to 11, which has been allowed vide impugned order dated 15.05.2023 and matter has been remanded back by the second Appellate Court/respondent No. 1 with a direction to the trial Court to decide the case on merits after framing the issues.

7. The order impugned dated 15.05.2023 has been challenged on several grounds. The main ground is to the effect that the Second Appellate Court has not proceeded in the matter as required under the law.

8. Elaborating this aspect of the case, learned counsel for the petitioners stated that a second appeal under Section 331 of the Act of 1950 has to be decided strictly in terms of mode and manner prescribed under Section 100 CPC read with Order 41 and Order 42 CPC. According to these provisions, a second appeal under Section 331 of the Act of 1950 can be allowed after formulating/framing substantial question law(s) and thereafter fixing a day for hearing on the same.

9. In the instant case, without formulating/framing substantial question of law(s), the second appeal was heard on 17.04.2023 and judgment was reserved on the same day and thereafter, the judgment was pronounced. As such, the second Appellate Court failed to exercise the jurisdiction vested in it in accordance with the mode and manner prescribed. In these circumstances, interference of this Court is required in the matter.

10. He further stated that there is concurrent finding of fact against the private respondents on the issue related to Section 49 of the Act of 1953 and the manner in which the appeal has been decided would prejudice the rights of the petitioners.

11. In support of his submissions, learned counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance on the judgment passed by this Court in the case of Matashiromani vs. State of U.P. and another reported in AIR Online 2022 ALL 543 as also the judgments passed by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the cases of Surat Singh (dead) vs.

Siri Bhagwan and others reported in [2018 (141) RD 300], Arulmighu Nellukadai Mariamman Tirukkoil vs. Tamilarasi (Dead) reported in AIR 2019 SC 3027 and Chandrabhan (Deceased) through LRs. and others vs. Saraswati and others reported in AIR 2022 SC 4601.

12. Opposing the present petition, learned counsel for the private opposite parties stated that a perusal of impugned order dated 15.05.2023 reflects that the second appeal was heard on 17.04.2023 on the issue involved i.e. the issue related to Section 49 of the Act of 1953 and after considering the law settled on the same, the second appeal has been allowed and being so, the order dated 15.05.2023 is not liable to be interfered with by this Court.

13. Considered the submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

14. In order to consider the issue involved in the present petition which is to the effect that as to 'whether the second appeal under Section 331 of the Act of 1950 can be allowed without formulating/framing the substantial question of law and without fixing a date of hearing on the same', it would be appropriate to refer the judgment dated 12.09.2012 passed by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of State of Uttarakhand (previously State of Uttar Pradesh) v. Mohan Singh and others, reported in (2012) 13 SCC 281, wherein, the Hon'ble Apex Court observed as under:-

"11. In order to examine the contentions raised by the counsel on either side, it is necessary to first examine the scope of Sections 331(3) and 331(4) of the U.P. Act and those provisions are extracted below for our easy reference:

“331. Cognizance of suits, etc. under this Act.—(1)-(2)

(3) An appeal shall lie from any decree or from an order passed under Section 47 or an order of the nature mentioned in Section 104 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908) or in Order 43 Rule 1 of the First Schedule to that Code passed by a court mentioned in Column 4 of Schedule II to this Act in proceedings mentioned in Column 3 thereof to the court or authority mentioned in Column 5 thereof.

(4) A second appeal shall lie on any of the grounds specified in Section 100 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908) from the final order or decree, passed in an appeal under sub-section (3), to the authority, if any, mentioned against it in Column 6 of the Scheduled aforesaid.”

12. Sub-section (4) of Section 331 of the U.P. Act also refers to Column 6 of Schedule II. Hence, the relevant portion of the Schedule is also extracted hereunder:

“schedule ii
(section 331)

Sl. No.	Section	Description of proceedings	Court of original jurisdiction	Court of
				First Appeal	Second Appeal
(1)	(2)	(3)	(4)	(5)	(6)
	*	*	*
34.	229, 229-B, 229-C	Suit for declaration of rights	Assistant Collector 1st Class		Commissioner Board

13. Sub-section (4) of Section 331 of the U.P. Act states that a second appeal shall lie on “any of the grounds” specified in Section 100 CPC, 1908. Section 100 CPC, as it stood prior to 1-2-1977, reads as follows:

“100. (1) Save where otherwise expressly provided in the body of this Code or by any other law for the time being in force, an appeal shall lie to the High Court from every decree passed in appeal by any court subordinate to a High Court on any of the following grounds, namely—(a) the decision being contrary to law or to some usage having the force of law;

(b) the decision having failed to determine some material issue of law or usage having the force of law;

(c) a substantial error or defect in the procedure provided by this Code or by any other law for the time being in force, which may possibly have produced error or defect in the decision of the case upon the merits.

(2) An appeal may lie under this section from an appellate decree passed ex parte.”

14. After Section 100 was substituted by Act 104 of 1976 with effect from 1-2-1977, it reads as follows:

“100. Second appeal.—(1) Save as otherwise expressly provided in the body of this Code or by any other law for the time being in force, an appeal shall lie to the High Court from every decree passed in appeal by any court subordinate to the High Court, if the High Court is satisfied that the case involves a substantial question of law.

(2) An appeal may lie under this section from an appellate decree passed ex parte.

(3) In an appeal under this section, the memorandum of appeal shall precisely state the substantial question of law involved in the appeal.

(4) Where the High Court is satisfied that a substantial question of law is involved in any case, it shall formulate that question.

(5) The appeal shall be heard on the question so formulated and the respondent shall, at the hearing of the appeal, be allowed to argue that the case does not involve such question:

Provided that nothing in this subsection shall be deemed to take away or abridge the power of the court to hear, for reasons to be recorded, the appeal on any other substantial question of law, not formulated by it, if it is satisfied that the case involves such question."

15. The U.P. Act received the assent of the President on 24-1-1951. It was published in the U.P. Gazette (Extraordinary) dated 26-1-1951. Sub-section (4) of Section 331 has incorporated the unamended Section 100 CPC.

16. The question that calls for consideration is: whether sub-section (4) of Section 331 carries with it the amended Section 100 CPC as well, consequently, making it obligatory for the Board of Revenue to frame substantial questions of law? The question, therefore, calls for consideration is: whether reference to Section 100 in sub-section (4) of Section 331 is by way of referential legislation or legislation by incorporation?

17. A subsequent legislation often makes a reference to earlier legislation so as to make the provisions of the earlier legislation applicable to matters covered by later legislation. Such a legislation may either be (i) a referential legislation which merely contains a reference to or the citation of the provisions of the earlier statute; or (ii) a legislation by incorporation whereunder the provisions of the earlier legislation to which reference is made are incorporated into the later legislation by reference.

18. The question how the above two principles operate came up for consideration in U.P. Avas Evam Vikas Parishad v. Jainul Islam [(1998) 2 SCC 467] before a three-Judge Bench of this Court and it was held as follows: (SCC pp. 480-81, para 17)

"17. A subsequent legislation often makes a reference to the earlier legislation so as to make the provisions of the earlier legislation applicable to matters covered by the later legislation. Such a legislation may either be (i) a referential legislation which merely contains a reference to or the citation of the provisions of the earlier statute; or (ii) a legislation by incorporation whereunder the provisions of the earlier legislation to which reference is made are incorporated into the later legislation by reference. If it is a referential legislation the provisions of the earlier legislation to which reference is made in the subsequent legislation would be applicable as it stands on the date of application of such earlier legislation to matters referred to in the subsequent legislation. In other words, any amendment made in the earlier legislation after the date of enactment of the subsequent legislation would also be applicable. But if it is a legislation by incorporation the rule of construction is that repeal of the earlier statute which is incorporated does not affect operation of the subsequent statute in which it has been incorporated. So also any amendment in the statute which has been so incorporated that is made after the date of incorporation of such statute does not affect the subsequent statute in which it is incorporated and the provisions of the statute which have been incorporated would remain the same as they were at the time of incorporation and the subsequent amendments are not to be read in the subsequent legislation. In the words of Lord Esher, M.R., the legal effect of such incorporation by reference 'is to write those sections into the new Act just as if they had been actually written in it with the pen or printed in it, and, the moment you have those clauses in the later Act, you have no occasion to refer to the former Act at all'. (See Wood's Estate, In re [(1886) 31 Ch D 607 (CA)] , Ch D at 615.) As to whether a particular legislation falls in the category of referential legislation or legislation by incorporation depends upon the language used in the statute in which reference is made to the earlier legislation and other relevant circumstances. The legal position has been thus summed up by this Court in State of M.P. v. M.V. Narasimhan [(1975) 2 SCC 377 : 1975 SCC (Cri) 589] : (SCC p. 385, para 15 : SCR p. 14)

'15. ... Where a subsequent Act incorporates provisions of a previous Act then the borrowed provisions become an integral and independent part of the subsequent Act and are totally unaffected by any repeal or amendment in the previous Act. This principle, however, will not apply in the following cases:

(a) where the subsequent Act and the previous Act are supplemental to each other;

(b) where the two Acts are in pari materia;

(c) where the amendment in the previous Act, if not imported into the subsequent Act also, would render the subsequent Act wholly unworkable and ineffectual; and

(d) where the amendment of the previous Act, either expressly or by necessary intendment, applies the said provisions to the subsequent Act."

19. The law is, therefore, clear that a distinction has to be drawn between a mere reference or citation of one statute into another and incorporation. In the case of mere reference or citation, a modification, repeal or re-enactment of the statute that is referred will also have effect for the statute in which it is referred; but in the latter case any change in the incorporated statute by way of amendment or repeal has no repercussion on the incorporating statute.

20. We need not further elaborate this point, since almost identical question came up for consideration before a three-Judge Bench of this Court in Mahindra and Mahindra Ltd. v. Union of India [(1979) 2 SCC 529] wherein this Court dealt with the scope of Section 55 of the Monopolies and Restrictive Trade Practices Act, 1969 read with Section 100 CPC, which reads as follows:

"55. Appeals.—Any person aggrieved by any decision on any question referred to in clause (a), clause (b) or clause (c) of Section 2-A, or any order made by the Central Government under Chapter III or Chapter IV, or, as the case may be, or the Commission under Section 12-A or Section 13 or Section 36-D or Section 37, may, within sixty days from the date of the order, prefer an appeal to the Supreme Court on one or more of the grounds specified in Section 100 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908)."

21. This Court in the abovementioned case examined the scope of Section 55 read with Section 100 CPC, both amended and unamended. Section 55 provides inter alia that any person aggrieved by an order made by the Commissioner under Section 13 may prefer an appeal to this Court on "one or more of the grounds" specified in Section 100 CPC, 1908. When Section 55 was enacted, namely, 27-12-1969, being the day of coming into force of the Act, Section 100 CPC specified three grounds on which a second appeal could be brought to the High Court on one of those grounds was that the decision appealed against was contrary to law. Therefore, if the reference in Section 55 was to the grounds set out in the then existing Section 100, there can be no doubt that an appeal would lie to this Court under Section 55 on a question of law. The above aspects have been elaborately dealt with in Mahindra and Mahindra Ltd. [(1979) 2 SCC 529] The relevant portion of the judgment is as follows: (SCC pp. 547-48, para 8)

“8. ... It was sufficient under Section 100 as it stood then that there should be a question of law in order to attract the jurisdiction of the High Court in second appeal and, therefore, if the reference in Section 55 were to the grounds set out in the then existing Section 100, there can be no doubt that an appeal would lie to this Court under Section 55 on a question of law. But subsequent to the enactment of Section 55, Section 100 of the Code of Civil Procedure was substituted by a new section by Section 37 of the Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Act, 1976 with effect from 1-2-1977 and the new Section 100 provided that a second appeal shall lie to the High Court only if the High Court is satisfied that the case involves a substantial question of law. The three grounds on which a second appeal could lie under the former Section 100 were abrogated and in their place only one ground was substituted which was a highly stringent ground, namely, that there should be a substantial question of law. This was the new Section 100 which was in force on the date when the present appeal was preferred by the appellant and the argument of the respondents was that the maintainability of the appeal was, therefore, required to be judged by reference to the ground specified in the new Section 100 and the appeal could be entertained only if there was a substantial question of law. The respondents leaned heavily on Section 8(1) of the General Clauses Act, 1897 which provides:

‘8. Construction of references to repealed enactments.—(1) Where this Act, or any Central Act or Regulation made after the commencement of this Act, repeals and re-enacts, with or without modification, any provision of a former enactment, then references in any other enactment or in any instrument to the provision so repealed shall, unless a different intention appears, be construed as references to the provision so re-enacted.’

and contended that the substitution of the new Section 100 amounted to repeal and re-enactment of the former Section 100 and, therefore, on an application of the rule of interpretation enacted in Section 8(1), the reference in Section 55 to Section 100 must be construed as reference to the new Section 100 and the appeal could be maintained only on ground specified in the new Section 100, that is, on a substantial question of law. We do not think this contention is well founded. It ignores the distinction between a mere reference to or citation of one statute in another and an incorporation which in effect means bodily lifting a provision of one enactment and making it a part of another. Where there is mere reference to or citation of one enactment in another without incorporation, Section 8(1) applies and the repeal and re-enactment of the provision referred to or cited has the effect set out in that section and the reference to the provision repealed is required to be construed as reference to the provision as re-enacted. Such was the case in Collector of Customs v. Nathella Sampathu Chetty [AIR 1962 SC 316 : (1962) 1 Cri LJ 364 : (1962) 3 SCR 786] and New Central Jute Mills Co. Ltd. v. CCE [(1970) 2 SCC 820]. But where a provision of one statute is incorporated in another, the repeal or amendment of the former does not affect the latter. The effect of incorporation is as if the provision incorporated were written out in the incorporating statute and were a part of it. Legislation by incorporation is a common legislative device employed by the legislature, where the legislature for convenience of drafting incorporates provisions from an existing statute by reference to that statute instead of setting out for itself at length the provisions which it desires to adopt. Once the incorporation is made, the provision incorporated becomes an integral part of the statute in which it is transposed and thereafter there is no need to refer to the statute from which the incorporation is made and any subsequent amendment made in it has no effect on the incorporating statute. Lord Esher, M.R., while dealing with legislation by incorporation in Wood's Estate, In re [(1886) 31 Ch D 607 (CA)] pointed out at p. 615:

‘... If a subsequent Act brings into itself by reference some of the clauses of a former Act, the legal effect of that, as has often been held, is to write those sections into the new Act just as if they had been actually written in it with the pen, or printed in it, and, the moment you have those clauses in the later Act, you have no occasion to refer to the former Act at all.’

Lord Justice Brett, also observed to the same effect in Clarke v. Bradlaugh [(1881) 8 QBD 63 : (1881-85) All ER Rep 1002 (CA)] : (QBD p. 69)

of the first statute by a third [statute] does not affect the second.’”

22. The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in Secy. of State for India in Council v. Hindustan Coop. Insurance Society Ltd. [(1930-31) 58 IA 259] also applied the same rule. The Judicial Committee pointed out that the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 having been incorporated in the Calcutta Improvement Trust Act, 1911 had become an integral part of it, the subsequent amendment of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 by the addition of sub-section (2) in Section 26 had no effect on the Calcutta Land Improvement Trust Act, 1911 and could not be read into it. Sir George Lowndes delivering the opinion of the Judicial Committee observed: (IA p. 267)

“... In this country it is accepted that where a statute is incorporated by reference into a second statute, the repeal of the first statute does not affect the second: see the cases collected in Craies on Statute Law, 3rd Edn., pp. 349 and 350. ... The independent existence of the two Acts is therefore recognised; despite the death of the parent Act, its offspring survives in the incorporating Act. ...

It seems to be no less logical to hold that where certain provisions from an existing Act have been incorporated into a subsequent Act, no addition to the former Act, which is not expressly made applicable to the subsequent Act, can be deemed to be incorporated in it, at all events if it is possible for the subsequent Act to function effectually without the addition.”

23. This Court in Ram Sarup v. Munshi [AIR 1963 SC 553 : (1963) 3 SCR 858] held that since the definition of “agricultural land” in the Punjab Alienation of Land Act, 1900 was bodily incorporated in the Punjab Pre-emption Act, 1913, the repeal of the former Act had no effect on the continued operation of the later. Rajagopala Ayyangar, J., speaking for the Court observed at pp. 868-69 of the Report: (AIR p. 558, para 11)

“11. ... Where the provisions of an Act are incorporated by reference in a later Act the repeal of the earlier Act has, in general, no effect upon the construction or effect of the Act in which its provisions have been incorporated. ...

In the circumstances, therefore, the repeal of the Punjab Alienation of Land Act of 1900 has no effect on the continued operation of the Pre-emption Act and the expression ‘agricultural land’ in the later Act has to be read as if the definition in the Alienation of Land Act had been bodily transposed into it.”

24. In Bolani Ores Ltd. v. State of Orissa [(1974) 2 SCC 777], this Court proceeded on the same principle. There the question arose in regard to the interpretation of Section 2(c) of the Bihar and Orissa Motor Vehicles Taxation Act, 1930 (hereinafter referred to as “the Taxation Act”). This section when enacted adopted the definition of “motor vehicle” contained in Section 2(18) of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939. Subsequently, Section 2(18) was amended by Act 100 of 1956 but no corresponding amendment was made in the definition contained in Section 2(c) of the Taxation Act. The argument advanced before the Court was that the definition in Section 2(c) of the Taxation Act was not a definition by incorporation but only a definition by reference and the meaning of “motor vehicle” in Section 2(c) must, therefore, be taken to be the same as defined from time to time in Section 2(18) of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939. This argument was negatived by the Court and it was held that this was a case of incorporation and not reference and the definition in Section 2(18) of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939 as then existing was incorporated in Section 2(c) of the Taxation Act and neither repeal of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939 nor any amendment in it would affect the definition of “motor vehicle” in Section 2(c) of the Taxation Act. It is, therefore, clear that if there is mere reference to a provision of one statute in another without incorporation, then, unless a different intention clearly appears, Section 8(1) would apply and the reference would be construed as a reference to the provision as may be in force from time to time in the former statute. But if a provision of one statute is incorporated in another, any subsequent amendment in the former statute or even its total repeal would not effect the provision as incorporated in the latter statute. The question is as to which category the present case belongs.

25. In Mahindra and Mahindra Ltd. [(1979) 2 SCC 529] after referring to the abovementioned judgment, this Court held as follows: (SCC pp. 550-51, para 9)

“9. We have no doubt that Section 55 is an instance of legislation by incorporation and not legislation by reference. Section 55 provides for an appeal to this Court on ‘one or more of the grounds specified in Section 100’. It is obvious that the legislature did not want to confer an unlimited right of appeal, but wanted to restrict it and turning to Section 100, it found that the grounds there set out were appropriate for restricting the right of appeal and hence it incorporated them in Section 55. The right of appeal was clearly intended to be limited to the grounds set out in the then existing Section 100. Those were the grounds which were before the legislature and to which the legislature could have applied its mind and it is reasonable to assume that it was with reference to those specific and known grounds that the legislature intended to restrict the right of appeal. The legislature could never have intended to limit the right of appeal to any ground or grounds which might from time to time find place in Section 100 without knowing what those grounds were. The grounds specified in Section 100 might be changed from time to time having regard to the legislative policy relating to second appeals and it is difficult to see any valid reason why the legislature should have thought it necessary that these changes should also be reflected in Section 55 which deals with the right of appeal in a totally different context. We fail to appreciate what relevance the legislative policy in regard to second appeals has to the right of appeal under Section 55 so that Section 55 should be inseparably linked or yoked to Section 100 and whatever changes take place in Section 100 must be automatically read into Section 55. It must be remembered that the Act is a self-contained code dealing with monopolies and restrictive trade practices and it is not possible to believe that the legislature could have made the right of appeal under such a code dependent on the vicissitudes through which a section in another statute might pass from time to time. The scope and ambit of the appeal could not have been intended to fluctuate or vary with every change in the grounds set out in Section 100. Apart from the absence of any rational justification for doing so, such an indissoluble linking of Section 55 with Section 100 could conceivably lead to a rather absurd and startling result. Take for example a situation where Section 100 might be repealed altogether by the legislature—a situation which cannot be regarded as wholly unthinkable. If the construction contended for on behalf of the respondents were accepted, Section 55 would in such a case be reduced to futility and the right of appeal would be wholly gone, because then there would be no grounds on which an appeal could lie. Could such a consequence ever have been contemplated by the legislature? The legislature clearly intended that there should be a right of appeal, though on limited grounds, and it would be absurd to place on the language of Section 55 an interpretation which might, in a given situation, result in denial of the right of appeal altogether and thus defeat the plain object and purpose of the section. We must, therefore, hold that on a proper interpretation the grounds specified in the then existing Section 100 were incorporated in Section 55 and the substitution of the new Section 100 did not affect or restrict the grounds as incorporated and since the present appeal admittedly raises questions of law, it is clearly maintainable under Section 55. We may point out that even if the right of appeal under Section 55 were restricted to the ground specified in the new Section 100, the present appeal would still be maintainable, since it involves a substantial question of law relating to the interpretation of Section 13(2)."

26. We are of the view that the principle laid down in Mahindra and Mahindra Ltd. [(1979) 2 SCC 529] and the judgments referred to earlier clearly apply when we interpret sub-section (4) of Section 331 of the U.P. Act. Sub-section (4), as we have already indicated, has used the expression "on any of the grounds" specified in Section 100 CPC. Consequently, the then existing Section 100 (i.e. Section 100, as it existed in 1908 unamended) was incorporated in sub-section (4) of Section 331 and substitution of the new Section 100 does not affect or restrict the grounds as incorporated. The right of appeal to the Board of Revenue under sub-section (4) of Section 331 clearly intended to be limited to the grounds set out in the then existing Section 100, since those were the grounds which were before the legislature and to which the legislature could have applied its mind and it is reasonable to assume that it was with reference to those specific and known grounds that the legislature intended to limit the right of appeal.

27. The appeal before the Board of Revenue would, therefore, lie on a question of law. This legal aspect was not considered properly either by the Board of Revenue or by the High Court. Further, we also notice that the Board of Revenue has not examined the provisions of the land record and Lekhpal diary number, date and P.A. 10. The Additional Commissioner had specifically noticed that P.A. 10 which had been filed pertaining to year 1976 did not bear any signature and the same was found to be doubtful, as to whether the original "Kashtkar" (tillers) of the land in dispute belonged to Tharu tribe, was also not properly examined. Further, the Board of Revenue also should have examined whether the land belonged to Tharu tribe and the plaintiff could claim the benefit of Section 210 of the U.P. Act. All these aspects are very vital for a proper and just adjudication of the dispute, which has not been done.

28. In such circumstances, we are inclined to allow the appeals and set aside the order passed by the High Court as well as that of the Board of Revenue and the matter is remanded to the Board of Revenue for fresh consideration, in accordance with law. However, we are not expressing any opinion on the merits of the case, since we are remitting the matter to the Board of Revenue. The Board of Revenue will pass the final orders within a period of three months from the date of receipt of this order."

15. From the aforesaid, it is apparent that the second appeal before the Board of Revenue would lie on a substantial question of law. Requirement of formulating/framing of substantial question of law(s) has been held to be mandatory for deciding the appeal, as would appear from the judgment passed in the case of Surat Singh (supra), followed in the judgment passed in the case of Arulmighu Nellukadai Mariamman Tirukkoil (supra), wherein, the Hon'ble Apex Court has observed as under:-

"19. In our considered opinion, the manner and the procedure adopted by the High Court while allowing the second appeal are against the procedure laid down in Section 100. Section 100 of the Code reads as under:

"100. Second appeal.—(1) Save as otherwise expressly provided in the body of this Code or by any other law for the time being in force, an appeal shall lie to the High Court from every decree passed in appeal by any court subordinate to the High Court, if the High Court is satisfied that the case involves a substantial question of law.

(2) An appeal may lie under this section from an appellate decree passed ex parte.

(3) In an appeal under this section, the memorandum of appeal shall precisely state the substantial question of law involved in the appeal.

(4) Where the High Court is satisfied that a substantial question of law is involved in any case, it shall formulate that question.

(5) The appeal shall be heard on the question so formulated and the respondent shall, at the hearing of the appeal, be allowed to argue that the case does not involve such question:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall be deemed to take away or abridge the power of the court to hear, for reasons to be recorded, the appeal on any other substantial question of law, not formulated by it, if it is satisfied that the case involves such question.”

20. Sub-section (1) of Section 100 says that the second appeal would be entertained by the High Court only if the High Court is “satisfied” that the case involves a “substantial question of law”. Sub-section (3) makes it obligatory upon the appellant to precisely state in memo of appeal the “substantial question of law” involved in the appeal. Sub-section (4) provides that where the High Court is satisfied that any substantial question of law is involved in the case, it shall formulate that question. In other words, once the High Court is satisfied after hearing the appellant or his counsel, as the case may be, that the appeal involves a substantial question of law, it has to formulate that question and then direct issuance of notice to the respondent of the memo of appeal along with the question of law framed by the High Court.

21. Sub-section (5) provides that the appeal shall be heard only on the question formulated by the High Court under sub-section (4). In other words, the jurisdiction of the High Court to decide the second appeal is confined only to the question framed by the High Court under sub-section (4). The respondent, however, at the time of hearing of the appeal is given a right under sub-section (5) to raise an objection that the question framed by the High Court under sub-section (4) does not involve in the appeal. The reason for giving this right to the respondent for raising such objection at the time of hearing is because the High Court frames the question at the admission stage which is prior to issuance of the notice of appeal to the respondent. In other words, the question is framed behind the back of the respondent and, therefore, sub-section (5) enables him to raise such objection at the time of hearing that the question framed does not arise in the appeal. The proviso to sub-section (5), however, also recognises the power of the High Court to hear the appeal on any other substantial question of law which was not initially framed by the High Court under sub-section (4). However, this power can be exercised by the High Court only after assigning the reasons for framing such additional question of law at the time of hearing of the appeal.

22. Adverting to the facts of this case at hand, we are at a loss to understand as to how the High Court while passing a final judgment in its concluding para could frame the substantial question of law for the first time and simultaneously answered the said question in the appellant's favour. Obviously, the learned Judge must have done it by taking recourse to sub-section (4) of Section 100 of the Code.

23. Here is the case where the High Court was under a legal obligation to frame the substantial question at the time of admission of the appeal after hearing the appellant or/and his counsel under sub-section (4) of Section 100 of the Code, but the High Court did it while passing the final judgment in its concluding para.

24. Such novel procedure adopted by the High Court, in our considered opinion, is wholly contrary to the scheme of Section 100 of the Code and renders the impugned judgment legally unsustainable.

25. In our considered opinion, the High Court had no jurisdiction to frame the substantial question at the time of writing of its final judgment in the appeal except to the extent permitted under sub-section (5). The procedure adopted by the High Court, apart from it being against the scheme of Section 100 of the Code, also resulted in causing prejudice to the respondents because the respondents could not object to the framing of substantial question of law. Indeed, the respondents could not come to know on which question of law, the appeal was admitted for final hearing.

26. In other words, since the High Court failed to frame any substantial question of law under sub-section (4) of Section 100 at the time of admission of the appeal, the respondents could not come to know on which question of law, the appeal was admitted for hearing.

27. It cannot be disputed that sub-section (5) gives the respondents a right to know on which substantial question of law, the appeal was admitted for final hearing. Sub-section (5) enables the respondents to raise an objection at the time of final hearing that the question of law framed at the instance of the appellant does not really arise in the case.

28. Yet, the other reason is that the respondents are only required to reply while opposing the second appeal to the question formulated by the High Court under sub-section (4) and not beyond that. If the question of law is not framed under sub-section (4) at the time of admission or before the final hearing of the appeal, there remains nothing for the respondent to oppose the second appeal at the time of hearing. In this situation, the High Court will have no jurisdiction to decide such second appeal finally for want of any substantial question(s) of law.

29. The scheme of Section 100 is that once the High Court is satisfied that the appeal involves a substantial question of law, such question shall have to be framed under sub-section (4) of Section

100. It is the framing of the question which empowers the High Court to finally decide the appeal in accordance with the procedure prescribed under sub-section (5). Both the requirements prescribed in sub-sections (4) and (5) are, therefore, mandatory and have to be followed in the manner prescribed therein. Indeed, as mentioned supra, the jurisdiction to decide the second appeal finally arises only after the substantial question of law is framed under sub-section (4). There may be a case and indeed there are cases where even after framing a substantial question of law, the same can be answered against the appellant. It is, however, done only after hearing the respondents under sub-section (5).

30. If, however, the High Court is satisfied after hearing the appellant at the time of admission that the appeal does not involve any substantial question of law, then such appeal is liable to be dismissed in limine without any notice to the respondents after recording a finding in the dismissal order that the appeal does not involve any substantial question of law within the meaning of sub-section (4). It is needless to say that for passing such order in limine, the High Court is required to assign the reasons in support of its conclusion.

31. It is, however, of no significance, whether the respondent has appeared at the time of final hearing of the appeal or not. The High Court, in any case, has to proceed in accordance with the procedure prescribed under Section 100 while disposing of the appeal, whether in limine or at the final hearing stage.

32. It is a settled principle of rule of interpretation that whenever a statute requires a particular act to be done in a particular manner then such act has to be done in that manner only and in no other manner. (See Interpretation of Statutes by G.P. Singh, 9th Edn., p. 347 and Baru Ram v. Prasanni [Baru Ram v. Prasanni, AIR 1959 SC 93].)

33. The aforesaid principle applies to the case at hand because, as discussed above, the High Court failed to follow the procedure prescribed under Section 100 of the Code while allowing the second appeal and thus committed a jurisdictional error calling for interference by this Court in the impugned judgment.

34 [Ed. : Para 34 corrected vide Official Corrigendum No. F-3/Ed.B.J./14/2018 dated 8-5-2018.]

While construing Section 100, this Court in Santosh Hazari v. Purushottam Tiwari [Santosh Hazari v. Purushottam Tiwari, (2001) 3 SCC 179] succinctly explained the scope, the jurisdiction and what constitutes a substantial questions of law under Section 100 of the Code.

35. It is, therefore, the duty of the High Court to always keep in mind the law laid down in Santosh Hazari [Santosh Hazari v. Purushottam Tiwari, (2001) 3 SCC 179] while formulating the question and deciding the second appeal."

16. Mode and manner to be adopted for deciding a second appeal has also been explained by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Chandrabhan (Deceased) through LRs. and Ors. vs. Saraswati and Ors. reported in 2022 SCC OnLine SC 1273. Relevant paras are as under:-

"23. It is well settled that a Second Appeal under Section 100 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908 (CPC) can only be entertained on a substantial question of law. In H.P. Pyarejan v. Dasappa (Dead) by LRs. (2006) 2 SCC 496, this Court held:—

"16. In our opinion, therefore, the judgment of the High Court suffers from serious infirmities. It suffers from the vice of exercise of jurisdiction which did not vest in the High Court under the law. Under Section 100 of the Code (as amended in 1976) the jurisdiction of the High Court to interfere with the judgments of the courts below is confined to hearing on substantial questions of law. Interference with finding of fact by the High Court is not warranted if it involves reappreciation of evidence (see Panchugopal Barua v. Umesh Chandra Goswami [(1997) 4 SCC 713] and Kshitish Chandra Purkait v. Santosh Kumar Purkait [(1997) 5 SCC 438]). The High Court has not even discussed any evidence. No basic finding of fact recorded by the courts below has been reversed much less any reason assigned for taking a view contrary to that taken by the courts below. The finding on the question of readiness and willingness to perform the contract which is a mixed question of law and fact has been upset. It is statutorily provided by Section 16(1)(c) of the Act that to succeed in a suit for specific performance of a contract the plaintiff shall aver and prove that he has performed and has always been ready and willing to perform the essential terms of the contract which were to be performed by him other than the terms the performance of which has been prevented or waived by the defendant."

24. In Ram Prasad Rajak v. Nand Kumar & Bros. (1998) 6 SCC 748, this Court held that, "Once the proceeding in the High Court is treated as a Second Appeal under Section 100 CPC, the restrictions prescribed in the said Section would come into play. The High Court could and ought to have dealt with the matter as a Second Appeal and found out whether a substantial question of law arose for consideration. Unless there was a substantial question of law, the High Court had no jurisdiction to entertain the Second Appeal and consider the merits.”

25. In Kshitish Chandra Purkait v. Santosh Kumar Purkait (1997) 5 SCC 438, this Court held that existence of substantial question of law was the sine qua non for the exercise of jurisdiction under Section 100 of the CPC.

26. In Kshitish Chandra Purkait (supra), this Court held:—

“10. We would only add that (a) it is the duty cast upon the High Court to formulate the substantial question of law involved in the case even at the initial stage; and (b) that in (exceptional) cases, at a later point of time, when the Court exercises its jurisdiction under the proviso to sub-section (5) of Section 100 CPC in formulating the substantial question of law, the opposite party should be put on notice thereon and should be given a fair or proper opportunity to meet the point. Proceeding to hear the appeal without formulating the substantial question of law involved in the appeal is illegal and is an abnegation or abdication of the duty cast on court; and even after the formulation of the substantial question of law, if a fair or proper opportunity is not afforded to the opposite side, it will amount to denial of natural justice. The above parameters within which the High Court has to exercise its jurisdiction under Section 100 CPC should always be borne in mind. We are sorry to state that the above aspects are seldom borne in mind in many cases and second appeals are entertained and/or disposed of, without conforming to the above discipline.”

27. The guidelines to determine what is a substantial question of law within the meaning of Section 100 CPC has been laid down by this Court in Sir Chunnilal V.

Lal Mehta & Sons v. Century Spinning and Manufacturing Co. Ltd. AIR 1962 SC 1314.

28. In Sir Chunilal V. Mehta and Sons (supra), this Court agreed with and approved a Full Bench judgment of the Madras High Court in Rimmalapudi Subba Rao v. Noony Veeraju AIR 1951 Mad 969 which laid down the principles for deciding when a question of law becomes a substantial question of law.

29. In Hero Vinoth v. Seshammal (2006) 5 SCC 545, this Court followed Sir Chunilal v. Mehta & Sons (supra) and other judgments and summarized the tests to find out whether a given set of questions of law were mere questions of law or substantial questions of law.

30. The relevant paragraphs of the judgment of this Court in Hero Vinoth (supra) are set out herein below:

“21. The phrase “substantial question of law”, as occurring in the amended Section 100 CPC is not defined in the Code. The word substantial, as qualifying “question of law”, means of having substance, essential, real, of sound worth, important or considerable. It is to be understood as something in contradistinction with technical, of no substance or consequence, or academic merely. However, it is clear that the legislature has chosen not to qualify the scope of “substantial question of law” by suffixing the words “of general importance” as has been done in many other provisions such as Section 109 of the Code or Article 133(1)(a) of the Constitution. The substantial question of law on which a second appeal shall be heard need not necessarily be a substantial question of law of general importance. In Guran Ditta v. Ram Ditta (1927-28) 55 IA

235 : AIR 1928 PC 172] the phrase “substantial question of law” as it was employed in the last clause of the then existing Section 100 CPC (since omitted by the Amendment Act, 1973) came up for consideration and their Lordships held that it did not mean a substantial question of general importance but a substantial question of law which was involved in the case. In Sir Chunilal case [1962 Supp (3) SCR 549 : AIR 1962 SC 1314] the Constitution Bench expressed agreement with the following view taken by a Full Bench of the Madras High Court in Rimmalapudi Subba Rao v. Noony Veeraju [AIR 1951 Mad 969 : (1951) 2 Mad LJ 222 (FB)] : (Sir Chunilal case [1962 Supp (3) SCR 549 : AIR 1962 SC 1314], SCR p. 557) “[W]hen a question of law is fairly arguable, where there is room for difference of opinion on it or where the Court thought it necessary to deal with that question at some length and discuss alternative views, then the question would be a substantial question of law. On the other hand if the question was practically covered by the decision of the highest court or if the general principles to be applied in determining the question are well settled and the only question was of applying those principles to the particular fact of the case it would not be a substantial question of law.”

31. The proper test for determining whether a question of law raised in the case is substantial would be, whether it is of general public importance or whether it directly and substantially affects the rights of the parties and if so, whether it is either an open question in the sense that it is not finally settled by this Court. If the question is settled by the highest court or the general principles to be applied in determining the question are well settled and there is a mere question of applying those principles or the question raised is palpably absurd, the question would not be a substantial question of law.

32. To be ‘substantial’, a question of law must be debatable, not previously settled by law of the land or a binding precedent, and must have a material bearing on the decision of the case, if answered either way, insofar as the rights of the parties before it are concerned. To be a question of law “involving in the case” there must be first, a foundation for it laid in the pleadings and the question should emerge from the sustainable findings of fact arrived at by court of facts and it must be necessary to decide that question of law for a just and proper decision of the case. An entirely new point raised for the first time before the High Court is not a question involved in the case unless it goes to the root of the matter. It will, therefore, depend on the facts and circumstance of each case whether a question of law is a substantial one and involved in the case or not, the paramount overall consideration being the need for striking a judicious balance between the indispensable obligation to do justice at all stages and impelling necessity of avoiding prolongation in the life of any lis. (See Santosh Hazari v. Purushottam Tiwari (2001) 3 SCC 179).

33. The principles relating to Section 100 of the CPC relevant for this case may be summarised thus:

(i) An inference of fact from the recitals or contents of a document is a question of fact. But the legal effect of the terms of a document is a question of law. Construction of a document involving the application of any principle of law, is also a question of law. Therefore, when there is misconstruction of a document or wrong application of a principle of law in construing a document, it gives rise to a question of law.

(ii) The High Court should be satisfied that the case involves a substantial question of law, and not a mere question of law. A question of law having a material bearing on the decision of the case (that is, a question, answer to which affects the rights of parties to the suit) will be a substantial question of law, if it is not covered by any specific provisions of law or settled legal principle emerging from binding precedents and involves a debatable legal issue. A substantial question of law will also arise in a contrary situation, where the legal position is clear, either on account of express provisions of law or binding precedents, but the court below has decided the matter, either ignoring or acting contrary to such legal principle. In the second type of cases, the substantial question of law arises not because the law is still debatable, but because the decision rendered on a material question, violates the settled position of law.

(iii) The general rule is that the High Court will not interfere with findings of facts arrived at by the courts below. But it is not an absolute rule. Some of the well-recognised exceptions are where (i) the courts below have ignored material evidence or acted on no evidence; (ii) the courts have drawn wrong inferences from proved facts by applying the law erroneously; or (iii) the courts have wrongly cast the burden of proof. When we refer to “decision based on no evidence”, it not only refers to cases where there is a total dearth of evidence, but also refers to any case, where the evidence, taken as a whole, is not reasonably capable of supporting the finding.

34. In this case, it cannot be said that the First Appellate Court acted on no evidence. The Respondents in their Second Appeal before the High Court did not advert to any material evidence that had been ignored by the First Appellate Court. The Respondents also could not show that any wrong inference had been drawn by the First Appellate Court from proved facts by applying the law erroneously.

35. In this case, as observed above, evidence had been adduced on behalf of the Original Plaintiff as well as the Defendants. The First Appellate Court analysed the evidence carefully and in effect found that the Trial Court had erred in its analysis of evidence and given undue importance to discrepancies and inconsistencies, which were not really material, overlooking the time gap of 34 years that had elapsed since the date of the adoption. There was no such infirmity in the reasoning of the First Appellate Court which called for interference.

36. Right of appeal is not automatic. Right of appeal is conferred by statute. When statute confers a limited right of appeal restricted only to cases which involve substantial questions of law, it is not open to this Court to sit in appeal over the factual findings arrived at by the First Appellate Court."

17. Now coming to the impugned order dated 15.05.2023. In order to examine as to whether the impugned order passed by the Board of Revenue in the second appeal preferred by the opposite party is sustainable, it would be appropriate to extract the relevant portion of the same, which reads as under:-

"2. सुनवाई तिथि 17.04.2023 को अपीलकर्ता एवं प्रतिपक्षी के विद्वान अधिवक्तागण को सुनकर निम्नलिखित रूप से अन्तरिम आदेश पारित किया गया था-

"1. पुकार करायी गयी। पत्रावली प्रस्तुत हुई। उभयपक्ष के विद्वान अधिवक्ता उपस्थित हुए। मा० उच्च न्यायालय के

2. अपीलकर्ता का तर्क है कि उसके द्वारा निर्मित किये गये बिन्दुओं को स्वीकार किया जाये। विपक्षी का तर्क है कि अपीलकर्ता द्वारा निर्मित किये गये विधि के सारवान बिन्दु के स्थान पर मुकदमे के तथ्य को लिखा गया है।

3. उभयपक्ष द्वारा की गयी बहस के परिप्रेक्ष्य में पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध कागजातों के अवलोकन से यह विदित है कि प्रकरण में धारा-49 उ०प्र० जोत चकबन्दी अधिनियम का बिन्दु विधिक रूप से इस द्वितीय अपील में विचारणीय है।

4. परिषद न्यायालय के पूर्व पारित अन्तरिम अनुतोष विषयक आदेश दिनांक 18.04.2022 परिषद न्यायालय द्वारा सारवान विधिक बिन्दु का विनिश्चय किये जाने से पूर्व पारित किया गया था। अतएव विपक्षी का यह तर्क कि विधि के सारवान बिन्दु के विनिश्चय से पूर्व अन्तरिम अनुतोष विषयक आदेश दिनांक 18.04.2022 प्रथमदृष्ट्या त्रुटिपूर्ण होने के कारण निरस्त किया जाता है।

5. उ०प्र० जोत चकबन्दी अधिनियम की धारा-49 का बिन्दु इस द्वितीय अपील में विचारणीय होने के दृष्टिगत उभयपक्ष को सुनकर पत्रावली दिनांक 15.05.2023 को आदेश हेतु सुरक्षित की जाती है।"

18. A perusal of impugned order dated 15.05.2023 including the above quoted portion of the same reflects that without formulating/framing substantial question of law, the second appeal was heard on 17.04.2023 on the issue related to Section 49 of the Act of 1953 and thereafter, on the same day, the judgment was reserved and subsequently, the second appeal was allowed.

19. Whereas, according to law settled as also mode and manner prescribed for deciding the appeal from appellate decree under Order 42 CPC, as applicable in State of U.P., which says that Rules of Order 41 and 41-A shall apply, so far as may be, to appeals from appellate decree and accordingly the second appeal, if not dismissed in limine in terms of under Rule 11 of Order 41, should be decided after formulating/framing substantial question of law and thereafter fixing a day for hearing on the same, as would appear from a conjoint reading of Section 100, Rule 11 and 12 of Order 41 and Rule 2 of Order 42 CPC.

20. Thus, the Board of Revenue/respondent No. 1 ought to have first formulated/framed the substantial question of law(s) and thereafter, ought to have fixed a day/date for hearing on the same. Accordingly, in the instant case, the Board of Revenue/respondent No. 1 failed to follow the mandatory procedure prescribed for deciding a second appeal.

21. For the reasons aforesaid, this Court is of the view that interference in the matter is required. Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed. The order impugned dated 15.05.2023 is hereby quashed. The matter is remanded back to the respondent No. 1/Board of Revenue, U.P. at Lucknow to decide the second appeal afresh strictly in accordance with the mode and manner prescribed under Section 100 CPC read with Order 41 and Order 42 CPC, as the same has to be followed in view of the provisions of the Act of 1950 while dealing with second appeal, after affording proper opportunity of hearing to the parties to the litigation preferably within a period of four months from 28.08.2023, if possible and if there is no other legal impediment in this regard. While conducting the proceedings, the Authority concerned is directed to avoid unnecessary adjournments to either party. It is in order to decide the appeal within the time specified in this order. The parties present before this Court are directed to appear before the Board of Revenue on 28.08.2023.

22. It is open for the appellants, who are private respondents in this petition, to prefer an application for interim protection within a week w.e.f. 28.08.2023, which shall be considered and decided expeditiously.

23. It is provided that till disposal of the application seeking interim protection, the parties are directed to maintain status-quo regarding the property in issue. It is in view of substantial justice between the parties. However, this protection would be available if the application seeking interim protection is filed in terms of this order.

The petition is allowed in above terms.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Shyam Shamschery J.)

1. This case is arising out of consolidation proceedings of village Ratanpur Rai, Tappa Puraina, Tehsil Haraiya, District Basti.

2. The case of original petitioner (Mata Din Singh (since deceased)) was that in the basic year, name of Jairaj Singh (his father) and Ram Nihal Singh were recorded as tenure holders, whereas name of Rambadan Singh (since deceased and predecessors of original respondent nos. 4 to 7) was recorded in Clause (9) of revenue records.

3. Predecessors of contesting respondents have claimed sirdar rights on basis of their alleged continuous possession of more than 25 years.

4. During proceedings, witnesses were examined from both sides. From the side of petitioner, objector has examined himself whereas contesting respondent did not appeared before Authority and one Ramjanam Singh appeared being a mukhtar-e-khas of respondent Rambadan Singh and another witness Anshuman Singh also appeared for respondent. Certain revenue records were also placed by both the parties.

5. The Consolidation Officer vide order dated 24.01.1978 has rejected the objections of petitioner and allowed the objections filed on behalf of contesting respondents and their names were directed to be entered into revenue records as sirdar. The relevant findings of the Consolidation Officer are as follows :-

“प्रतिवादी गण की ओर से जो भी कागजी प्रमाण दाखिल है वे दौरान चक्रबन्दी के है अतः वे प्रतिवादी गण के पक्ष में अधिक सहायक नहीं हो सकता और चक्रबन्दी के पूर्व का कोई ऐसा प्रमाण कागजी या कोई निष्पक्ष गवाह नहीं प्रस्तुत किया गया है जिससे वादी के बयान पर अविश्वास किया जाय यद्यपि कि वादी का कब्जा प्रमाणों के आधार पर केवल 10 साल का ही साबित होता है किंतु निष्पक्ष गवाह के बयान से यह साबित है कि कब्जा 12 साल से अधिक का है और किसी निष्पक्ष गवाह द्वारा उसमें विरुद्ध बयान नहीं हुआ है और जैराम सिंह के विरुद्ध दिनांक 29.1.76 प्रभावी है अतः वादी के कागजी प्रमाणों व साक्ष्यों के आधार पर वादी को सीरदार घोषित करने का अवचित्य प्रमाणित है तदनुसार

वाद विन्दु सकारात्मक निर्णीत किया जाता है वादी मृतक है उसके वारिश विश्वनाथ सिंह दर्शन नाथ सिंह, अजय कुमार आयु 13 वर्ष विजय कुमार सिंह अवस्था आयु 8 वर्ष संरक्षिका सोमारी माता है जो निर्विवाद है”

6. The petitioner and others filed an appeal before Settlement Officer of Consolidation, however, same was dismissed by an order dated 18.02.1982. Relevant part of order is mentioned hereinafter :-

“जहाँ तक अपील कर्ता के विद्वान अभिभाषक के इस तर्क का प्रश्न है कि 1369फ० के एस०के० के आदेश का अमल दरामद है। एस०के० ने स्वयं आदेश खतौनी में अंकित नहीं किया है। इसलिये यह आदेश सही नहीं है। मैं उनके इस तर्क में (अस्पष्ट) एस०के० के आदेश प०क० 10 पर पारित होता है तथा अमल दरामद भी उस समय खतौनी पर किया जाता था। इसलिये इस अमल दरामद में कोई संदिग्ध होने की बात नहीं है। अपीलकर्ता के विद्वान अभिभाषक ने यह तर्क रखा कि ए०आर०के० के बयान में यह बात आई है कि खसरे के इन्द्राजों में भिन्नता है परन्तु उन्होंने अपने मूल बयान तथा जिरह दोनों में यह बात कही है कि भिन्नता स्याही के कारण है इसलिये केवल इस आधार पर इतने लम्बे इन्द्राजों को संदिग्ध या गलत नहीं माना जा सकता।”

“जहाँ तक रामबदन सिंह के अदालत में हाजिर होकर स्वयं बयान न देने का सवाल है, रामबदन सिंह उस समय पुलिस विभाग में नौकरी करते थे तथा उन्हें छुट्टी न मिलने के कारण यह बयान देने नहीं आ सके। उनके स्थान पर उनके मुख्तार तथा भाई राम जन्म सिंह बयान देने के लिये अदालत में हाजिर हुये, इसलिये रामबदन सिंह के अदालत में हाजिर न आने के कारण उनके अधिकारों पर कोई अन्तर नहीं पड़ता। उत्तर वादी की ओर से यह बहस की गयी कि यह मोकदमा 26.9.78 को एक तरफ हुआ था तथा 18.3.81 के बाद यह आदेश 10/- रुपये हरजा अदा करने पर रेस्टोर हुआ था और यह हरजा अभी तक अदा नहीं किया गया है उनका यह तर्क भी सही है कि इस आधार पर यह अपील खारिज होने योग्य है।

नाम बतौर सीरदार दर्ज करने में कोई भूल नहीं की है। अपील में कोई बल नहीं है।”

7. Both the above referred orders were challenged by petitioner before Deputy Director of Consolidation by way of filing a revision petition, however, same was also dismissed by an order dated 09.02.1983 and relevant part of order is mentioned hereinafter :-

“इसके अतिरिक्त निगरानी कर्ता के विद्वान अधिवक्ता की तरफ से यह तर्क किया गया कि खाता नं० 48 के नम्बरान 236, 244 पर कोई हक नहीं मांगा गया है जिस पर उन्हें कोई अधिकार बिना उज्रदारी नहीं दिया जाना चाहिये तथा 236,244 नम्बरान विवादित खाते के नहीं है और न ही विवादित खातेदारों का पारीक मुकदमा ही बनाया गया है अतः उस पर अधिकार नहीं मिलना चाहिये। पत्रावली के अवलोकन से स्पष्ट है कि गाटा सं० 236,244 पर हक नहीं मांगा गया है किन्तु कार्यवाही चक्रबन्दी प्रक्रियाओं में धारा 9 के प्रकाशन के बाद की गयी है। अतः निगरानीकर्ता को इससे कोई लाभ नहीं मिल सकता। यह भी तर्क किया गया कि कब्जा गासवाना बिना किसी आधार के है किन्तु निगरानी कर्ता द्वारा स्वयं रंजिश की बात स्वीकार की गयी है। निगरानीकर्ता के विद्वान अधिवक्ता ने यह भी तर्क किया कि कोई पं०क० 24 नहीं बना है आरन जारी हुआ है किन्तु पं०क० 24 जारी करने का प्राविधान 1965 के संशोधन से लागू हुआ है अतः 1373 पं० में जारी होने का कोई औचित्य नहीं था तथा उस समय नियमानुसार पं०क० 10 जारी होता था जो 1369 पं० में जारी है इसके अतिरिक्त यह भी तर्क किया गया कि निगरानीकर्ता पर अधीनस्थ न्यायालय द्वारा जो हर्जाना लगाया गया था उसे अदा भी नहीं किया गया। निगरानीकर्ता द्वारा हर्जाना न अदा करने का कोई कारण नहीं दर्शाया गया और न हर्जाना अदा करने का प्रयास किया गया इस प्रकार सम्पूर्ण वाद पर गौर करने से यह स्पष्ट है कि विवादित आराजी पर विपक्षीगण का अनाधिकार कब्जा सबित है जो काफी लम्बे अरसे से तथा अधिकार पाने के मियाद से भी अधिक समय से है। निगरानीकर्ता की तरफ से केवल जैराज सिंह के वारिसों द्वारा आपत्ति की गयी है। आधार वर्ष में दर्ज राम निहाल की तरफ से कोई आपत्ति नहीं दाखिल की गयी है। जो इन्द्राज है वह नियमानुकूल है जिसके आधार पर विद्वान चक्रबन्दी अधिकारी एवं विद्वान सहायक बन्दोबस्त अधिकारी चक्रबन्दी ने विपक्षी गण का नाम विवादित आराजी में बतौर सीरदार अंकित होने के आदेश किये हैं जो न्यायोचित है अतः निगरानी में कोई बल नहीं है। निगरानी निरस्त होने योग्य है।”

8. Above referred orders dated 24.01.1978, 18.02.1982 and 09.02.1983 are impugned in this writ petition.

9. Sri V.K. Singh, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Santosh Kumar, Advocate appearing for petitioners has submitted that undisputedly original petitioner was tenure holder and contesting respondents were in unauthorized possession of land in dispute and their names being mutated on basis of such nature of possession which would not create any substantive right in their favour. There was a finding of Consolidation Officer that according to revenue records, even in some of years, respondents were not in possession over the land in dispute as well as the Consolidation Officer has recorded a finding that respondents' possession was proved upto 10 years only and only on surmises, it was held that they were in possession for 12 years, therefore, all three Authorities have erroneously accepted the argument of respondents that they have perfected their rights on basis of alleged unopposed possession of twelve years over the land in dispute.

10. Learned Senior Advocate also submitted that evidence given by mukhtar-khas was not acceptable and that entries were not made in terms of provisions of U.P. Land Records Manual (for short “the Manual”).

11. In order to buttress the arguments, he has placed reliance upon judgments of Supreme Court and this Court in Hemaji Waghaji Jat vs. Bhikhabhai Khengarbhai Harijan and others, AIR 2009 SC 103; Vidhyadhar vs. Manik Rao and others, (1999) 3 SCC 573; Smt. Bitiya Bano vs. DDC, 1979 SCC Online All 502, 1980 RD 190; Janki Vashdeo

Bhojwani and another vs. IndusInd Bank Ltd. And others, AIR 2005 SC 439 : (2005) 2 SCC 217; Gaya Prasad vs. Nathu Singh and others, 2019 (4) AWC 3600; Sunehri Lal vs. Smt. Premwati, 2015 All. C.J. 738 and Ganga Ram and others vs. DDC and another, 1982 RD Page 1.

12. Per contra, Sri Anil Sharma, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri P.K. Singh, Advocate appearing for respondents has referred provisions of Clause (9) of Part-II of Para A-124 of the Manual, which states that :-

“Occupiers of land without the consent of the person entered in column 4 of the khasra.”

13. Learned Senior Advocate has further submitted that contesting respondents were in possession of land and it was in the knowledge of petitioners but no proceedings were initiated against them, therefore, they have perfected their title on the strength of their uninterrupted possession for twelve years.

14. Learned Senior Advocate further urged that claim of rival parties was decided on the basis of revenue records placed by Ramjanam Singh being mukhtar-khas of respondent Rambadan Singh, being legally permissible. It was not the case that mukhtar-khas had given some evidence of a fact which was exclusive in the knowledge of respondent Rambadan Singh. According to revenue records, contesting respondents were shown under the category of Clause 9, a substantive piece of evidence that they were in possession of land without consent of persons whose name was entered in column 4 of the khasra. Learned Senior Advocate has placed reliance upon a judgment of Supreme Court passed in the case of Ramdular vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation, Jaunpur, 1994 Supp 2 SCC 198: 1994 1 SCR 735.

15. Learned Senior Advocate appearing for respondents has further submitted that petitioners have created absolutely a new case for the first time before this Court.

16. In rejoinder, learned Senior Advocate appearing for petitioner has submitted that respondents are outsiders and normally lived in other village and they have never been in possession over the land in dispute as well as their cultivatory possession over the land in dispute was not proved.

17. Heard learned Senior Advocates appearing for rival parties, perused record and written submissions.

18. On basis of above referred facts, rival submissions and judgments relied upon, issues for consideration before this Court are as follows :-

(a) Whether statement made by mukhtar-khas as a witness is admissible or not, if yes, to what extent?

(b) Whether entry under Clause-9 of Part-II of Para A-124 of ‘the Manual’ and khasra of relevant period would itself be sufficient to prove adverse possession, and, if no?

(c) Whether contesting respondents have perfected their rights on basis of their possession of twelve years on land in dispute i.e. whether their possession was nec vi, nec clam, nec precario, i.e. adequate in continuity, adequate in publicity and adverse to a competitor in denial of title and his knowledge?

19. In reference to above referred issue (a), i.e. nature of evidence of a mukhtar-khas, it would be relevant to refer few paragraphs of a judgement passed by Supreme Court in the case of Janki Vashdeo Bhojwani (supra) :-

“13. Order 3 Rules 1 and 2 CPC empower the holder of power of attorney to “act” on behalf of the principal. In our view the word “acts” employed in Order 3 Rules 1 and 2 CPC confines only to in respect of “acts” done by the power-of-attorney holder in exercise of power granted by the instrument. The term “acts” would not include deposing in place and instead of the principal. In other words, if the power-of-attorney holder has rendered some “acts” in pursuance of power of attorney, he may depose for the principal in respect of such acts, but he cannot depose for the principal for the acts done by the principal and not by him. Similarly, he cannot depose for the principal in respect of the matter of which only the principal can have a personal knowledge and in respect of which the principal is entitled to be cross-examined.

14. xxxxxx

16. xxxxxx

17. On the question of power of attorney, the High Courts have divergent views. In the case of Shambhu Dutt Shastri v. State of Rajasthan [(1986) 2 WLN 713 (Raj)] it was held that a general power-of-attorney holder can appear, plead and act on behalf of the party but he cannot become a witness on behalf of the party. He can only appear in his own capacity. No one can delegate the power to appear in the witness box on behalf of himself. To appear in a witness box is altogether a different act. A general power-of-attorney holder cannot be allowed to appear as a witness on behalf of the plaintiff in the capacity of the plaintiff.

18. The aforesaid judgment was quoted with approval in the case of Ram Prasad v. Hari Narain [AIR 1998 Raj 185 : (1998) 3 Cur CC 183] . It was held that the word “acts” used in Rule 2 of Order 3 CPC does not include the act of power-of-attorney holder to appear as a witness on behalf of a party. Power-of-attorney holder of a party can appear only as a witness in his personal capacity and whatever knowledge he has about the case he can state on oath but he cannot appear as a witness on behalf of the party in the capacity of that party. If the plaintiff is unable to appear in the court, a commission for recording his evidence may be issued under the relevant provisions of CPC.

19. In the case of Pradeep Mohanbay (Dr.) v. Minguel Carlos Dias [(2000) 1 Bom LR 908] the Goa Bench of the Bombay High Court held that a power of attorney can file a complaint under Section 138 but cannot depose on behalf of the complainant. He can only appear as a witness.

20. However, in the case of Humberto Luis v. Floriano Armando Luis [(2002) 2 Bom CR 754] on which reliance has been placed by the Tribunal in the present case, the High Court took a dissenting view and held that the provisions contained in Order 3 Rule 2 CPC cannot be construed to disentitle the power-of-attorney holder to depose on behalf of his principal. The High Court further held that the word “act” appearing in Order 3 Rule 2 CPC takes within its sweep “depose”. We are unable to agree with this view taken by the Bombay High Court in Floriano Armando [(2002) 2 Bom CR 754].

21. We hold that the view taken by the Rajasthan High Court in the case of Shambhu Dutt Shastri [(1986) 2 WLN 713

(Raj)] followed and reiterated in the case of Ram Prasad [AIR 1998 Raj 185 : (1998) 3 Cur CC 183] is the correct view. The view taken in the case of Floriano Armando Luis [(2002) 2 Bom CR 754] cannot be said to have laid down a correct law and is accordingly overruled.”.

(emphasis supplied)

20. In present case, Rambadan Singh, original contesting respondent has not appeared to depose before the Consolidation Officer and on his behalf his mukhtar-khas, Ramjanam Singh has appeared and got recorded his statement and also produced relevant revenue records.

21. As referred in Janki Vashdeo Bhojwani (supra), power of attorney holder (mukhtar-khas) can only appear in his personal capacity and could depose only whatever knowledge he has about the case but, cannot depose as a witness on behalf of the party and cannot depose for the acts done by the principal. Therefore, evidence of mukhtar-khas would be admissible only to the extent to which he has personal knowledge. However, since only the original respondent had personal knowledge about his cultivatory possession, therefore, any evidence in that regard as deposed by his mukhtar-khas would not be admissible and further that documents placed on record by mukhtar-khas are the documents from the revenue records, therefore they would be admissible according to law and consequence thereof only would fall.

22. In reference to issue (b) i.e. about entries in the revenue records, it would be relevant to refer a judgment passed by the co-ordinate Bench in Gurmukh Singh and Another vs. DDC/ADM (F&R), 1996

SCC Online All 823 : (1997) 88 RD 276 and relevant paragraphs 7, 8 and 9 thereof are reproduced below:-

“7. Similar view was expressed by this Court in Ganga Ram v. D.D.C., 1982 RD 1, wherein it was observed that the person who alleges that P.A. 10 was prepared and served upon the recorded tenure holder has to prove that fact. Learned counsel for the petitioner has referred to the decision of the Board of Revenue in Ranvir Singh v. (Smt.) Satyawati, 1990 RD 435, wherein the Board of Revenue distinguished the case of this Court in the case of Jamuna Prasad (supra). It was held therein that there was presumption with regard to the correctness of public document and correctness of the entries made in the annual register when the papers relating to compliance of Para 80-A and A-81 of the Land Records Manual is proved on evidence available on the record and it is proved that P.A. 10 was issued, its service is to be presumed on the recorded tenure-holder. It was, on the facts of that case, it was found that adverse possession was proved. The Board of Revenue could not have taken a contrary view already expressed by the Court in the case of Jamuna Prasad (supra).

8. Learned counsel for the petitioner has further placed reliance upon a decision of Board of Revenue in Hazari v. Mathura, 1992 RD 79, wherein it was held that where a person being not a rank trespasser is in continuous possession to the full knowledge of the recorded tenure holder, issuance of P.A. 10 is not necessary. This decision is not an authority on the question that where the person is claiming adverse possession and relies upon the recorded entries, he is not to establish that the entries were made in accordance with law.

9. The petitioners led evidence to prove adverse possession. They relied upon the Khatauni 1375-1377 F and also twelve year Khasra, 1386-1397 F. Surjan Singh, father of the petitioners also tendered oral evidence. Khatauni 1375 F indicated that respondent No. 3 Mangal Singh, father of respondent No. 4 was recorded as sirdar of the land in dispute. In column No. 9 there is entry that Jagtar Singh is in possession and has been shown in column No. 9 in respect of plot No. 150. This entry is alleged to have been made by the Supervisor Qanungo. The petitioners did not lead any evidence to show that before making such entry the Supervisor Qanungo had issued any notice to the recorded tenure-holder. The petitioner did not file any copy of Khasra which could show that in the remarks column the date of the Partial and the date of issuance of P.A. 10 was made. The diary of the Lekhpal was also not summoned. The petitioner was relying upon these entries to prove his adverse possession. The person who is recorded as tenure-holder is otherwise entitled to notice when an authority makes an entry regarding possession against him, which in effect creates a right in favour of another person in respect of the and for which the entry is made in the Khasra. Secondly, respondent No. 2 has believed the oral evidence adduced on behalf of the respondents 3 and 4 that Jagtar Singh was related to them. Respondent No. 3 is brother in law of Jagtar Singh and respondent No. 4 is his nephew. The findings recorded by the respondents are not illegal.”

23. In a recent judgment passed by a coordinate Bench in Bhagwati Deen vs. Sheetladi and others, (2022) 156 RD 602 : 2022 SCC Online All 349, the issue in hand was considered and it was observed in paragraph 28 of aforesaid judgment that -:

“28. Lately, this Court also had the occasion to consider the aforesaid issue of adverse possession in the case of Chit Bahal Singh v. Joint Director of Consolidation, decided on 29.04.2022 and by relying upon the decision of Babu Ali v. D.D.C. (Supra) the plea of adverse possession was rejected. The relevant paras explaining the law and the preparation of entries and what ingredients have to be met are being extracted hereinafter:—

“11. The para-89-A, 89-B and 102-B of the Land Records Manual (herein-after referred as “the manual”), relevant for the purpose, are extracted below:—

“89-A. List of changes.-After each Kharif and rabi portal of a village the Lekhpal shall prepare in triplicate a consolidated list of new and modified entries in the Khasra in the following form:

(iii) The Revenue Inspector shall ensure at the time of his partial of the village the extract have been issued in all the cases and signatures obtained of the recipients.

89-B. Report of changes.- The copy of the list with the Lekhpal containing the signatures of the recipients of the extracts shall be attached to the Khasra concerned and filed with the Registrar (Revenue Inspector) alongwith it on or before 31st July, of the following year (sub-paragraph (iv) of the paragraph 60).

102-B. Entry of possession (Column 22) (Remarks column).- (1) The Lekhpal shall while recording the fact of possession in the remarks Column of the Khasra, write on the same day the fact of possession with the name of the person in possession in his diary also, and the date and the serial number of the dairy in the remarks Column of the Khasra against the entry concerned.

(2) As the list of changes in Form p-10 is prepared after the completion of the patal of village, the serial number of the list of changes shall be noted in red ink below the entry concerned in the remarks column of the Khasra in order to ensure that all such entries have been brought on the list.

(3) If the Lekhpal fails to comply with any of the provisions contained in paragraph 89-A, the entry in the remarks Column of the Khasra will not be deemed to have been made in the discharge of his official duty.”

12. Reading of the aforesaid provisions makes it clear that if any entry is made in PA-10, the same shall be communicated to the person or persons concerned recorded in columns 3 and 4 or their heirs and obtain their signatures. Records on being submitted to the Revenue Inspector, he shall ensure at the time of Patal i.e. verification of the village that it has been issued in all the cases and the signatures obtained by the recipients. Therefore, in case, any entry made on the basis of adverse possession the same was to be communicated to the person concerned and the person claiming is required to prove that it was in accordance with the manual and as to what was nature of possession and when it started in the knowledge of the tenant and the possession was continuous and how long it continued.

13. This Court considered this issue in the case of Mohd. Raza v. Deputy Director of Consolidation, 1997 RD 276 and held that the entries in the revenue papers not prepared by following the procedure prescribed under the Uttar Pradesh Land Records Manual and PA-10 notice was not served on the main tenant, such entries are of no evidentiary value and would not confer any right.

14. This court, in the case of Gurumukh Singh v. Deputy Director of Consolidation, Nainital, (1997) 80 RD 276, has also held that the entries will have no evidentiary value if they are not in accordance with the provisions of Land Records Manual and the burden to prove is on the person who is asserting the possession on the basis of adverse possession. Relevant paragraphs 6 and 7 are extracted below:—

“6. It is clear from Para A-102C of the Land Records Manual that the entries will have no evidentiary value if they are not made in accordance with the provisions of Land Records Manual. There is presumption of correctness of the entries provided it is made in accordance with the relevant provision of Land Records Manual and secondly, in case where a person is claiming adverse possession against the recorded tenure-holder and he denies that he had not received any P.A. 10 or he had no knowledge of the entries made in the revenue records, the burden of proof is further upon the person claiming adverse possession to prove that the tenure-holder was duly given notice in prescribed Form P.A. 10. Para A-81 itself provides that the notice will be given by the Lekhpal and he will obtain the signature of the Chairman, Land Management Committee as well as from the recorded tenure-holder. It is also otherwise necessary to be provided by the person claiming adverse possession. The law of adverse possession contemplates that there is not only continuity of possession as against the true owner but also that such person had full knowledge that the person in possession was claiming a title and possession hostile to the true owner. If a person comes in possession of the land of another person, he cannot establish his title by adverse possession unless it is further proved by him that the tenure-holder had knowledge of such adverse possession.

7. In Jamuna Prasad v. Deputy Director of Consolidation, Agra, this Court repelled the contention that the burden of proof was upon the person who challenges the correctness of the entries. It was observed:

“Learned counsel for the Petitioner argued that there was a presumption of correctness about the entries in the revenue records and the onus lay upon the Respondent to prove that the entries showing the Petitioner's possession had not been in accordance with law. This contention is untenable. Firstly, it is not possible for a party to prove a negative fact. Secondly, the question as to whether the notice in Form P.A. 10 was issued and served upon the Petitioner also is a fact which was within his exclusive knowledge.”

“Petitioner's contention that the burden lay on the Respondents to disprove the authenticity and destroy the probative value of the entry of possession cannot be accepted. In my opinion, where possession is asserted by a party who relies mainly on the entry of adverse possession in his favour and such possession is denied by the recorded tenure-holder, the burden is on the former to establish that the entries in regard to his possession was made in accordance with law.”

15. This Court, in the case of Sadhu Saran v. Assistant Director of Consolidation, Gorakhpur, (2003) 94 RD 535, has held that it is well settled in law that the illegal entry does not confer title. Therefore even if the entry has been made, it does not confer right title or interest if it is not in accordance with law and the prescribed procedure. This Court and the counsel for the parties also could not get the same in the Lekhpal diary. The provision of PA-24 has come vide notification dated 03.07.1965, therefore it is also of no assistance because entry could not have been made on the basis of PA-24 in Khatauni of 1373 fasli and it is also without number and year.”

24. In the present case, no finding was returned that PA-10 was served upon the recorded tenure holders and contesting respondents have failed to prove that fact and have also not able to show that there was a reference of PA-10 in the revenue entries and all Courts under Consolidation Act have not returned any finding in regard to preparation of PA-10 and whether entries of possession were made in terms of and observing procedure prescribed in ‘the Manual’ and for reference, relevant procedure and paragraphs of 'the Manual' are quoted below:-

"A80. List of Changes :- After each kharif and rabi partal of a village, the Lekhpal shall prepare in triplicate a consolidated list of the entries mentioned in paragraphs A71 to A73 and A84 in following form

A81. List how to be utilized :-

(1) The lekhpal shall fill in first five columns and handover a copy of the list to the Chairman of Land Management Committee. He shall also prepare extracts from the list and issue to the person or persons recorded in column 3, 4 and 5 thereof or to their heirs, if the person or persons concerned have died, obtaining their signatures in the copy of list retained by him. Another copy shall be sent to the supervisor kanungo.

(2) The supervisor kanungo shall deal with the list in the manner prescribed in sub paragraph (iv) of paragraph 423. He shall also ensure that extracts have been issued in all the cases, and signature of recipients obtained. If he finds that an extract has not been issued in any case, he shall get it issued in his presence. This is important so that the person affected, if he is aggrieved, may apply for correction of papers to the tehsildar or the Sub Divisional Officer, as the case may be.

A82. Report of Changes :- The copy of the list with the lekhpal containing the signatures of the recipients of the extract shall be attached to the khasra concerned and filed with the registrar kanungo along with it on or before 31 July, of the following year [sub-paragraph (iv) of paragraph A60].

A83. Immediately after the kharif partal the lekhpal shall submit to the supervisor kanungo a statement in duplicate showing all holdings in his halka of a bhumidhar, sirdar or asaami of Gaon Samaj whose cultivable area has decreased or increased by diluvion of alluvian. The supervisor kanungo shall by personal inspection check all the entries in the statement and after making such corrections, as may be necessary, submit the statement in duplicate to the tehsildar for taking action under rule 205-B of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Rules, 1952.

102C. Entry of possession column 21 (Remarks column) :-

(1) The lekhpal shall, while recording the fact of possession in the remarks column of the khasra write on the same day the fact of possession with the name of the person in possession in his diary also, and note the date and serial number of the diary in the remarks column of the khasra against the entry concerned.

(2) As the list of changes in form PA-10 is prepared after the completion of the partal of a village, the serial number of the list of changes shall be noted in red ink below the entry concerned in the remarks column of the khasra in order to ensure that all such entries have been brought on the list.

(3) If the lekhpal fails to comply with any of the provisions contained in paragraphs A80 and A81, the entry in the remarks column of the khasra will not be deemed to have been made in the discharge of his official duty."

25. In this regard, it would be relevant to reiterate the observations made in Gurmukh Singh (supra) that the entries will have no evidentiary value, if are not entered, in accordance with the provisions of 'the Manual'. As referred above, in the present case, no finding was returned by Courts below that the procedure prescribed in 'the Manual' was duly followed. Even there is no material before this Court to hold that while making the entries, procedure prescribed under 'the Manual', such as whether the lekhpal has prepared the changes in triplicate, a copy thereof was handed over to the Chairman, Land Management Committee, changes were reported, statement was submitted to the supervisor kanungo, partial of the village was conducted, procedure prescribed under Para 102-C, etc. were duly followed. Therefore, only on basis of entries being under clause (9) of Part II of Para A-124 of 'the Manual', it could not be held that c JurisprudenceJurisprudenceJurisprudence ontesting respondents were in continuous possession on the land in dispute for a period of 12 years and thus perfected their right on the strength of adverse possession.

26. In view of above discussion and conclusion, there is no necessity for this Court to consider the third issue. However, since certain arguments were raised in this regard, therefore, now this Court proceeds further to consider issue (c) i.e. nature of possession also.

27. In this regard, it would be apposite to refer a judgment of Supreme Court in Hemaji Waghaji Jat (supra) wherein following relevant paragraphs of P.T. Munichikkanna Reddy and others Vs. Revamma and others, 2007 (6) SCC 59 were reiterated with approval that -:

“24. In a relatively recent case in P.T. Munichikkanna Reddy v. Revamma [(2007) 6 SCC 59] this Court again had an occasion to deal with the concept of adverse possession in detail. The Court also examined the legal position in various countries particularly in English and American systems. We deem it appropriate to reproduce relevant passages in extenso.

The Court dealing with adverse possession in paras 5 and 6 observed as under : (SCC pp. 66-67)

“5. Adverse possession in one sense is based on the theory or presumption that the owner has abandoned the property to the adverse possessor on the acquiescence of the owner to the hostile acts and claims of the person in possession. It follows that sound qualities of a typical adverse possession lie in it being open, continuous and hostile. (See Downing v. Bird [100 So 2d 57 (Fla 1958)] ; Arkansas Commemorative Commission v. City of Little Rock [227 Ark 1085 : 303 SW 2d 569 (1957)] ; Monnot v. Murphy [207 NY 240 : 100 NE 742 (1913)] ; City of Rock Springs v. Sturm [39 Wyo 494 : 273 P 908 : 97 ALR 1 (1929)] .)

6. Efficacy of adverse possession law in most jurisdictions depends on strong limitation statutes by operation of which right to access the court expires through efflux of time. As against rights of the paper-owner, in the context of adverse possession, there evolves a set of competing rights in favour of the adverse possessor who has, for a long period of time, cared for the land, developed it, as against the owner of the property who has ignored the property. Modern statutes of limitation operate, as a rule, not only to cut off one's right to bring an action for the recovery of property that has been in the adverse possession of another for a specified time, but also to vest the possessor with title. The intention of such statutes is not to punish one who neglects to assert rights, but to protect those who have maintained the possession of property for the time specified by the statute under claim of right or colour of title. (See American Jurisprudence, Vol. 3, 2d, p. 81.) It is important to keep in mind while studying the American notion of adverse possession, especially in the backdrop of limitation statutes, that the intention to dispossess cannot be given a complete go-by. Simple application of limitation shall not be enough by itself for the success of an adverse possession claim.”

(Italic part is emphasised in original and underline part is emphasised by this Court)

28. Recently the Supreme Court in Uttam Chand (Dead) through LRs vs. Nath Ram (Dead) through LRs and others, 2020 (11) SCC 263 has reiterated earlier judgments and observed that -:

“15. The matter has been examined by a Constitution Bench in M. Siddiq (Ram Janmabhumi Temple-5 J.) v. Suresh Das [M. Siddiq (Ram Janmabhumi Temple-5 J.) v. Suresh Das, (2020) 1 SCC 1] wherein, it has been held that a plea of adverse possession is founded on the acceptance that ownership of the property vests in another, against whom the claimant asserts possession adverse to the title of the other. The Court held as under: (SCC pp. 703-706, paras 1142-1143 & 1147-1150)

“1142. A plea of adverse possession is founded on the acceptance that ownership of the property vests in another against whom the claimant asserts a possession adverse to the title of the other. Possession is adverse in the sense that it is contrary to the acknowledged title in the other person against whom it is claimed.

1143. A person who sets up a plea of adverse possession must establish both possession which is peaceful, open and continuous possession which meets the requirement of being nec vi nec claim and nec precario. To substantiate a plea of adverse possession, the character of the possession must be adequate in continuity and in the public because the possession has to be to the knowledge of the true owner in order for it to be adverse. These requirements have to be duly established first by adequate pleadings and second by leading sufficient evidence. Evidence, it is well settled, can only be adduced with reference to matters which are pleaded in a civil suit and in the absence of an adequate pleading, evidence by itself cannot supply the deficiency of a pleaded case. Reading Para 11(a), it becomes evident that beyond stating that the Muslims have been in long, exclusive and continuous possession beginning from the time when the Mosque was built and until it was desecrated, no factual basis has been furnished. This is not merely a matter of details or evidence. A plea of adverse possession seeks to defeat the rights of the true owner and the law is not readily accepting of such a case unless a clear and cogent basis has been made out in the pleadings and established in the evidence.

1147. In Supt. & Remembrancer of Legal Affairs v. Anil Kumar Bhunja [Supt. & Remembrancer of Legal Affairs v. Anil Kumar Bhunja, (1979) 4 SCC 274 : 1979 SCC (Cri) 1038], R.S. Sarkaria, J. speaking for a three-Judge Bench of this Court noted that the concept of possession is “polymorphous” embodying both a right (the right to enjoy) and a fact (the real intention). The learned Judge held: (SCC p. 278, para 13)

‘13. ... It is impossible to work out a completely logical and precise definition of “possession” uniformly applicable to all situations in the contexts of all statutes. Dias and Hughes in their book on Jurisprudence say that if a topic ever suffered from too much theorising it is that of “possession”. Much of this difficulty and confusion is (as pointed out in Salmond's Jurisprudence, 12th Edn., 1966) caused by the fact that possession is not purely a legal concept. "Possession", implies a right and a fact; the right to enjoy annexed to the right of property and the fact of the real intention. It involves power of control and intent to control. (See Dias and Hughes, ibid.)'

These observations were made in the context of possession in Section 29(b) of the Arms Act, 1959.

1148. In P. Lakshmi Reddy v. L. Lakshmi Reddy [P. Lakshmi Reddy v. L. Lakshmi Reddy, 1957 SCR 195 : AIR 1957 SC 314] , Jagannadhadas, J. speaking for a three-Judge Bench of this Court dwelt on the "classical requirement" of adverse possession: (AIR pp. 317-18, para 4)

'4. Now, the ordinary classical requirement of adverse possession is that it should be nec vi nec clam nec precario. (See Secy. of State for India in Council v. Debendra Lal Khan [Secy. of State for India in Council v. Debendra Lal Khan, 1933 SCC OnLine PC 65 : (1933-34) 61 IA 78] IA at p. 82.) The possession required must be adequate in continuity, in publicity and in extent to show that it is possession adverse to the competitor.'

The Court cited the following extract from U.N. Mitra's Tagore Law Lectures on the Law of Limitation and Prescription: (AIR p. 319, para 7)

'7. ... "An adverse holding is an actual and exclusive appropriation of land commenced and continued under a claim of right, either under an openly avowed claim, or under a constructive claim (arising from the acts and circumstances attending the appropriation), to hold the land against him (sic) who was in possession. (Angell, Sections 390 and 398). It is the intention to claim adversely accompanied by such an invasion of the rights of the opposite party as gives him a cause of action which constitutes adverse possession." ' [6th Edn., Vol. I, Lecture VI, at p. 159]

This Court held: (AIR p. 319, para 7)

'7. ... Consonant with this principle the commencement of adverse possession, in favour of a person implies that the person is in actual possession, at the time, with a notorious hostile claim of exclusive title, to repel which, the true owner would then be in a position to maintain an action. It would follow that whatever may be the animus or intention of a person wanting to acquire title by adverse possession his adverse possession cannot commence until he obtains actual possession with the requisite animus.'

1149. In Karnataka Board of Wakf v. Union of India [Karnataka Board of Wakf v. Union of India, (2004) 10 SCC 779] , S. Rajendra Babu, J. speaking for a two-Judge Bench held that: (SCC p. 785, para 11)

'11. ... Physical fact of exclusive possession and the animus possidendi to hold as owner in exclusion to the actual owner are the most important factors that are to be accounted in cases of this nature. Plea of adverse possession is not a pure question of law but a blended one of fact and law. Therefore, a person who claims adverse possession should show: (a) on what date he came into possession, (b) what was the nature of his possession, (c) whether the factum of possession was known to the other party, (d) how long his possession has continued, and (e) his possession was open and undisturbed.'

The ingredients must be set up in the pleadings and proved in evidence. There can be no proof sans pleadings and pleadings without evidence will not establish a case in law.

1150. In Annakili v. A. Vedanayagam [Annakili v. A.

Vedanayagam, (2007) 14 SCC 308] , this Court emphasised that mere possession of land would not ripen into a possessory title. The possessor must have animus possidendi and hold the land adverse to the title of the true owner. Moreover, he must continue in that capacity for the period prescribed under the Limitation Act.”

(Italic part is emphasised in original and underline part is emphasised by this Court)

29. In the present case, Consolidation Officer has returned a finding on the issue of adverse possession that name of respondents were recorded under Clause 9 in khasra no. 1366F-1377F and that on the basis of such revenue records, it was held that they were in possession for at least 10 years. However, Consolidation Officer accepted the oral evidence and returned a finding that they were in possession over land for more than 12 years.

30. On the face of it, the above approach of Consolidation Officer appears to be contrary to the settled position of law. As referred above, there must be a finding on the basis of clear and unequivocal evidence that possession was hostile to real owner and to denial of his title and knowledge, to the property claimed. There must be animus of the person doing those acts which must be ascertained from the facts and circumstances of the case. However, the Consolidation Officer has in very cursory manner has decided the issue of adverse possession, without reference of above referred essential pleadings and nature of evidence being on record.

31. The Settlement Officer of Consolidation, while deciding appeals, has also placed reliance on entries in revenue records, for that it has already been referred above that those entries were not prepared in terms of the procedure prescribed in ‘the Manual’. The Appellate Court has also not returned any finding in regard to above referred essential and necessary factors of adverse possession. Therefore, error as committed by the Consolidation Officer continued in the order passed by the Settlement Officer of Consolidation.

32. The Deputy Director of Consolidation has placed heavy reliance again only on the entries made in revenue records and has not considered factors relevant for taking decision in regard to adverse possession that the possession was adequate in continuity, publicity and adverse to competitor. Adverse possession requires that all three essential requirements to co-exist at the same time, viz., it should be adequate in continuity, adequate in publicity and adverse to competitors in denial of the title and his knowledge. There must be physical fact of exclusive possession and the animus possidendi to hold as owner in exclusion to the actual owner. However, these important factors also skipped from consideration of Deputy Director of Consolidation as well as two Courts below.

33. I have carefully perused the contents of memo of counter affidavit filed by the respondents, however, they have not stated any averment in regard to any of the factors referred above. Even during the course of argument, learned Senior Advocate appearing for respondents has not pointed out any relevant detail or factor on record that claim of adverse possession was positively proved in terms of the above referred factors. The Ramdular (supra) relied upon by learned Senior Advocate for respondent would not be helpful since it is on the issue of power under Section 48 of U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953,

34. In view of discussion and findings on above referred issues, I am of the considered opinion that all the Authorities under the Consolidation Act have erred and miserably failed to return a finding whether mandatory procedure for recording revenue entries under 'the Manual' was followed and have also erred in returning a finding about adverse possession only on the basis of revenue entries which only indicates the possession of the respondents for less than 12 years as well as that PA-10 was not prepared in terms of the procedure prescribed under 'the Manual' and further erred in placing reliance on the evidence of mukhtar-khas who was not competent to give evidence in regard to facts which were in exclusive knowledge of the original respondent qua to adverse possession. Lastly, the Authorities have also failed to give finding that possession of respondent was nec vi, nec clam, nec precario.

36. Accordingly, all impugned orders referred above are set aside and the writ petition is allowed, with no order as to costs.

38. By this judgment, this Court has decided a writ after forty years.

Held:

Repudiation of life insurance claim by L.I.C. on ground of non - disclosure of previous policy upheld - Disclosure regarding earlier policy no. 224492798 was deliberately omitted in one proposal form and inaccurately denied in another by mentioning "कोई नहीं" - Insurance contract is based on utmost good faith - Insured is duty - bound to disclose all material facts within his knowledge - Insurance company rightly repudiated claim as per law and guidelines - Judgment in Manmohan Nanda Vs United India Assurance Co. (2022) 4 SCC 582 not applicable in absence of factual foundation that agent failed in duty - Mere payment of premium does not create estoppel against Corporation where material concealment is proved - Court drew adverse inference under Section 114(g) Evidence Act and applied principle of estoppel under Section 115.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Kshitij Shailendra, J.)

1. Heard Shri Rajendra Pratap Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri Udai Shankar Mishra, learned counsel for the respondent-Life Insurance Corporation.

2. The instant writ petition has been filed by one Smt. Parul Agarwal, wife of late Vishal Agarwal challenging the impugned order dated 10.09.2015 (annexed as "Annexure No.6" to the writ petition) whereby the Insurance Ombudsman, (Western U.P. and Uttarakhand), has dismissed the complaint filed by the petitioner against rejection of her claim by the Senior Divisional Manager of the Life Insurance Corporation (hereinafter referred to as "the Corporation") concerning the insurance policy Nos.256487214 and 256487400 vide order dated 14.03.2014 which has also been challenged. Further prayer is to issue a direction to the respondent no.1 to pay to the petitioner the amount payable under policy Nos.256487214 and 256487400.

Facts of the Case

3. The facts culled out from the pleadings contained in the writ petition are that Vishal Agarwal, i.e. husband of the petitioner, was holder of three insurance policies bearing nos.224492798, 256487214 and 256487400 issued by the Corporation and he died on 11.11.2013, whereafter, the petitioner, as his widow, preferred a claim against the aforesaid three policies. It is pleaded that the claim of the petitioner in respect of policy Nos.256487214 and 256487400 was rejected by the Corporation vide impugned order dated 14.03.2014 on the ground that the husband of the petitioner did not disclose the previous policy No.224492798 in the proposal form. After rejection of her claim concerning the aforesaid two insurance policies, the petitioner filed a review application before the Zonal Manager of the respondent-Corporation and, thereafter, filed an application before the respondent no.4 i.e. Insurance Ombudsman on 01.11.2014, however, the application/complaint of the petitioner was rejected by the impugned order dated 10.09.2015.

4. The writ petition is founded on the premise that the impugned order dated 14.03.2014 was passed with a pre-determined mind and smells of deep-rooted prejudice against the petitioner; that the Corporation, accepting the personal statement of the deceased to be correct, issued the policies without any protest and that there is nothing on record from which it can be inferred that the insured ever made any concealment or misrepresentation at the time of commencement of insurance policy and, therefore, the impugned orders of the Corporation as well as the Insurance Ombudsman are unsustainable.

5. A counter affidavit dated 18.04.2016 has been filed on behalf of the Insurance Company stating that claim under policy nos.256487214 and 256487400 was repudiated on account of non-disclosure of previous policy No.224492798. It is further pleaded in the counter affidavit that as the Corporation works on the basis of utmost good faith by relying on the statement of insured in the proposal form, repudiation of claim was done as per rules on account of non-disclosure of previous policy in the proposal form.

6. The petitioner has filed rejoinder affidavit reiterating her stand taken in the writ petition.

7. A Supplementary affidavit dated 17.04.2022 has also been filed by the petitioner substantially relying upon the judgement of the Apex Court in Civil Appeal No.8386 of 2015 (Manmohan Nanda v. United India Assurance Co. Ltd. & Anr.) reported in (2022) 4 SCC 582 and referring to the provisions of the Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority (Protection of Policyholders' Interests) Regulations-2002 (in short "the Regulations-2002"), it has been pleaded that the proposal form was rightly filled up by the insured with full satisfaction of the respondent-Corporation.

8. As against the supplementary affidavit, supplementary counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of the Corporation taking the same stand as was taken in the main counter affidavit. Another rejoinder affidavit has been filed by the petitioner reiterating the ratio of Supreme Court in the case of Manmohan Nanda (Supra).

9. Perusal of order sheet indicates that this Court, on 16.11.2022, passed the following order:-

"Supplementary counter affidavit and rejoinder affidavit filed today are taken on record.

Sri U.S. Mishra, learned counsel appearing for the Life Insurance Corporation states that original insurance application form duly filled in and signed by the petitioner is required to be examined along with original insurance policy cover for deciding this case.

Accordingly, he is granted two weeks' time to produce the original insurance application form and insurance policy cover.

List this matter again on 7th December, 2022 amongst top 10 cases. "

10. Pursuant to the aforesaid order, original file concerning the claim of the petitioner was produced on 14.03.2023, during the course of arguments, by Shri Udai Shankar Mishra, learned counsel for the respondent-Corporation which was retained on record for the purposes of pronouncing the final judgement which was reserved on the said date.

11. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record on the file as well as original record produced by Shri Mishra.

Contention of Petitioner

12. The contention of learned counsel for the petitioner is to the effect that while claim concerning one policy was allowed by the Corporation, rejection of claim in respect of two policies bearing nos.256487214 and 256487400 was wholly unsustainable and the impugned order dated 14.03.2014 has been passed taking a wrong and unsustainable ground. He further contends that no fraud/misrepresentation/concealment was made by the insured and, moreover, the proposal form is filled up by the agents of the insurance company themselves and, in case, there was something left blank in "Column No.9", the petitioner cannot be non-suited on such ground, rather, the same would be attributable to the insurance company whose agent had filled up the form and left something blank. It has further been argued that as per the decision of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Manmohan Nanda (Supra), it was the duty of the agent of the Corporation to make specific queries from the insured while filling up the form and, if no such query was made and something was left blank in the form, whatever omission took place while filling up the proposal form, the same would not constitute a ground for repudiation of claim of the petitioner.

13. Learned counsel for the petitioner has placed strong reliance upon paragraph Nos.34, 35, 36, 40 and 55 of the aforesaid judgement that are reproduced hereinbelow:-

"34. Under the provisions of Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority (Protection of Policyholders' Interests) Regulations, 2002 the explanation to Section 2(d) defining "proposal form" throws light on what is the meaning and content of "material." For an easy reference the definition of "proposal form" along with the explanation under the aforesaid Regulations has been extracted as under:

"2. Definitions:-In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires:

(d) "Proposal Form" means a form to be filled in by the proposer for insurance, for furnishing all material information required by the insurer in respect of a risk, in order to enable the insurer to decide whether to accept or decline, to undertake the risk, and in the event of acceptance of the risk, to determine the rates, terms and conditions of a cover to be granted.

Explanation:- "Material" for the purpose of these Regulations shall mean and include all important, essential and relevant information in the context of underwriting the risk to be covered by the insurer."

Thus, the Regulation also defines the word "material" to mean and include all "important", "essential" and "relevant" information in the context of guiding the insurer in deciding whether to undertake the risk or not.

35. Just as the insured has a duty to disclose all material facts, the insurer must also inform the insured about the terms and conditions of the policy that is going to be issued to him and must strictly conform to the statements in the proposal form or prospectus, or those made through his agents. Thus, the principle of utmost good faith imposes meaningful reciprocal duties owed by the insured to the insurer and vice versa. This inherent duty of disclosure was a common law duty of good faith originally founded in equity but has later been statutorily recognised as noted above. It is also open to the parties entering into a contract to extend the duty or restrict it by the terms of the contract.

36. The duty of the insured to observe utmost good faith is enforced by requiring him to respond to a proposal form which is so framed to seek all relevant information to be incorporated in the policy and to make it the basis of a contract. The contractual duty so imposed is that any suppression or falsity in the statements in the proposal form would result in a breach of duty of good faith and would render the policy voidable and consequently repudiate it at the instance of the insurer.

40. If a fact, although material, is one which the proposer did not and could not in the particular circumstances have been expected to know, or if its materiality would not have been apparent to a reasonable man, his failure to disclose it is not a breach of his duty.

55. On a consideration of the aforesaid judgments, the following principles would emerge:

55.1. There is a duty or obligation of disclosure by the insured regarding any material fact at the time of making the proposal. What constitutes a material fact would depend upon the nature of the insurance policy to be taken, the risk to be covered, as well as the queries that are raised in the proposal form.

55.2 What may be a material fact in a case would also depend upon the health and medical condition of the proposer.

55. 3. If specific queries are made in a proposal form then it is expected that specific answers are given by the insured who is bound by the duty to disclose all material facts.

55.4. If any query or column in a proposal form is left blank then the Insurance Company must ask the insured to fill it up. If in spite of any column being left blank, the Insurance Company accepts the premium and issues a policy, it cannot at a later stage, when a claim is made under the policy, say that there was a suppression or non-disclosure of a material fact, and seek to repudiate the claim.

55.5 The Insurance Company has the right to seek details regarding medical condition, if any, of the proposer by getting the proposer examined by one of its empanelled doctors. If, on the consideration of the medical report, the Insurance Company is satisfied about the medical condition of the proposer and that there is no risk of pre-existing illness, and on such satisfaction it has issued the policy, it cannot thereafter, contend that there was a possible pre-existing illness or sickness which has led to the claim being made by the insured and for that reason repudiate the claim.

55.6 The insurer must be able to assess the likely risks that may arise from the status of health and existing disease, if any, disclosed by the insured in the proposal form before issuing the insurance policy. Once the policy has been issued after assessing the medical condition of the insured, the insurer cannot repudiate the claim by citing an existing medical condition which was disclosed by the insured in the proposal form, which condition has led to a particular risk in respect of which the claim has been made by the insured.

55.7. In other words, a prudent insurer has to gauge the possible risk that the policy would have to cover and accordingly decide to either accept the proposal form and issue a policy or decline to do so. Such an exercise is dependant on the queries made in the proposal form and the answer to the said queries given by the proposer. "

14. The contention of learned counsel for the petitioner is to the effect that while claim concerning one policy was allowed by the Corporation, rejection of claim in respect of policy nos.256487214 and 256487400 was wholly unsustainable on the ground that as the insured had not made disclosure of policy No. 224492798 in "Columns No.9' of the proposal form, therefore, the claim was rejected "on the ground of concealment'.

Contention of Respondent-L.I.C.

15. On the other hand, Shri Uday Shankar Mishra, learned counsel for the respondent-Corporation, apart from the defence taken in the counter affidavit in support of the orders impugned, has specifically referred to the proposal forms of the two disputed policies, i.e. policy nos.256487214 and 256487400 with specific reference to the "Column 9' of the proposal forms. For a ready reference, "Columns No.9' of the both the policies are quoted hereinbelow:-

16. The submission of learned counsel for the respondent-Corporation is that the existence of the aforementioned two policies was well within the knowledge of insured but in one of the forms, disclosure of only one policy bearing no. 256487214 was made whereas in another form, the words "कोई नहीं" were mentioned. It is, therefore, contended that the Insurance Ombudsman has rightly taken a view that the policy holder did not want to undergo special medical examinations at the time of taking insurance policy. Such non-disclosure prevented the Corporation from conducting certain additional checks and precautions specially with respect to the medical condition of the insured such as ECG, FBS, RUA, Hb% & Elisa etc.

17. Learned counsel for the respondent-Corporation has placed reliance upon the judgement of Supreme Court in Satwant Kaur Sandhu v. New India Assurance Company Limited reported in (2009) 8 Supreme Court Cases 316 and has argued that in the matter of insurance, parties must act in utmost good faith and the insured is under a solemn obligation to make a true and full disclosure of the information on the subject which is within his knowledge.

Analysis of rival contentions

18. There is no dispute about the fact that there were three insurance policies issued in favour of Late Vishal Agarwal (husband of the petitioner) bearing nos.224492798, 256487214 and 256487400. The parties are not at dispute about the fact that claim for policy no.224492798 was allowed, whereas the claim for remaining policies was rejected under the orders impugned.

19. The dispute between the parties is as to whether non-disclosure of two policies in "Columns 9" of the two proposal forms was fatal to the claim made by the petitioner.

20. The decision of Apex Court relied upon by the learned counsel for the petitioner in Manmohan Nanda (supra) deals with the definition of proposal form under the aforesaid Regulations-2002 and the definition in "paragraph 34" is clear to the effect that "Proposal Form" means a form to be filled in by the proposer for insurance, for furnishing all material information required by the insurer in respect of a risk, in order to enable the insurer to decide whether to accept or decline, to undertake the risk, and in the event of acceptance of the risk, to determine the rates, terms and conditions of a cover to be granted.

21. Insofar as, the contention of learned counsel for the petitioner to the effect that the insurance agent sent by the Corporation, who had allegedly filled up the proposal form, must have informed the insured about the terms and conditions of the policy and also must have raised specific query from the insured regarding entries in the relevant Columns (in the present case Columns No.9), this Court finds that there is no pleading in the entire writ petition or in the supplementary affidavit that the insurance agent or officer of respondent-Corporation did not raise any query from the insured regarding policy numbers to be filled up in Column 9. Further, there is no pleading to the effect that the insured had, in fact, informed the agent/officer of the Corporation about existence of policy no.224492798, rather, it is the plea of the petitioner that it was agent/officer who did not fill up the same in the proposal form. The Court finds that mere principle of law laid down in the decision of Supreme Court in the case of Manmohan Nanda (Supra) has been argued on behalf of the petitioner without any factual background. Moreover, even from the perusal of "paragraph 55" of the judgment of the Supreme Court in Manmohan Nanda (supra), it is clear that Supreme Court has clearly laid down the principle regarding what may constitute a "material fact".

22. The present case is not the one where "Column No.9" was left blank. Rather, it is a case where, as aforesaid, in one of the forms, disclosure of one policy No.256487214 was made without disclosing anything about policy No.224492798 and in, another form, words "कोई नहीं" were mentioned. "Columns 9" as such, in both the proposal forms were not left blank.

23. The case can be viewed from another angle. This Court, from perusal of the proposal form, finds a clear declaration by the insured Vishal Agarwal at the end of the form in the following words:-

प्रस्तावक द्वारा घोषणा/ DECLARATION
BY THE PROPOSER

"मैं विशाल अग्रवाल जिसे इसमें जीवन बीमा के लिये प्रस्तावित किया गया है एतद् द्वारा घोषणा करता हूँ कि उपरोक्त प्रकथन एवं उत्तर मेरे द्वारा प्रश्नों को पूरी तरह समझ लेने के बाद दिये गये हैं और वह सही है तथा प्रत्येक विवरण पूर्ण है और मैंने कोई सूचना छिपाई नहीं है। मैं एतद् द्वारा इस बात से सहमत हूँ और घोषित करता/ करती हूँ कि ये प्रकथन और घोषण मेरे एवं भारतीय जीवन बीमा निगम के अनुबन्ध के आधार पर होंगे और यदि कोई इसमें असत्य कथन पाया जायेगा तो वह अनुबन्ध पूर्ण रूप से रद्द हो जायेगा तथा इस सम्बन्ध में चुकाई गई समस्त धनराशि निगम द्वारा जब्त कर ली जायेगी।

I..... the person whose life Insurance is herein being proposed to be assured, do hereby declare that the fore going statement and answers have been given by me after fully understanding the questions and the same are true and complete in every particular and that I have not withheld any information and I do hereby agree and declare that these statements and this declaration shall be the basis of the contract of assurance between me and the Life Insurance Corporation of India and that if any untrue averment be contained therein the said contract shall be absolutely null and void and moneys which shall have been paid in respect thereof shall stand forfeited to the corporation."

24. The aforesaid declaration has been signed by the insured-Vishal Agarwal. Therefore, this Court has no reason to repel the contention of the Insurance Corporation that existence of policy bearing no.224492798 was deliberately concealed in one of the forms, whereas in other form, by mentioning words "कोई नहीं ", both the policies were concealed.

25. In the facts and circumstances of the present case, I find it appropriate to refer three important provisions of the Indian Evidence Act-1872 which would be useful for deciding the present controversy.

26. Section 106 of the Evidence Act-1872 deals with provision for burden of proving a fact especially within knowledge. It is quoted hereinbelow:-

"106. Burden of proving fact especially within knowledge.--When any fact is especially within the knowledge of any person, the burden of proving that fact is upon him."

27. Section 114 of the Evidence Act-1872 is a provision wherein the Court may draw inferences in any proceedings which include inferences favourable or unfavourable (adverse) to any party. Section 114 alongwith relevant illustration (g) is quoted hereinbelow:-

"114 Court may presume existence of certain facts. --The Court may presume the existence of any fact which it thinks likely to have happened, regard being had to the common course of natural events, human conduct and public and private business, in their relation to the facts of the particular case."

Illustrations

The Court may presume-

(b)....

(e)....

(f)...

(h).....

(i).....

28. Section 115 of the Evidence Act contains principle of "Estoppel" which reads as follows:-

"115 Estoppel. --When one person has, by his declaration, act or omission, intentionally caused or permitted another person to believe a thing to be true and to act upon such belief, neither he nor his representative shall be allowed, in any suit or proceeding between himself and such person or his representative, to deny the truth of that thing. "

29. Apart from the aforesaid, reference to Section 37 of the Indian Contract Act-1872, contained in Chapter IV, may also be made. This Chapter relates to performance of contracts and Section 37 provides for obligation of parties to contract and reads as follows:-

"37. Obligation of parties to contracts.--The parties to a contract must either perform, or offer to perform, their respective promises, unless such performance is dispensed with or excused under the provisions of this Act, or of any other law.

Promises bind the representatives of the promisors in case of the death of such promisors before performance, unless a contrary intention appears from the contract. "

30. In the present case, the contract of insurance between Vishal Agarwal and Corporation would certainly bind legal representative of late Vishal Agarwal, i.e. the petitioner herein, and proposal forms described hereinabove would certainly fall within the category of "contract of insurance" and, therefore, if, on account of any false declaration or concealment made by the deceased, the claim has been rejected, the petitioner, being a successor/representative of her husband, would not get any relief in the totality of the facts and circumstances of the present case.

Conclusion-I

31. Considering the aforesaid provisions in the light of the material available on record, particularly the proposal form, I find that existence of two policies bearing nos.256487214 and 224492798 was in special knowledge of the insured Vishal Agarwal but only existence of policy No.256487214 was disclosed in one form and the policy bearing No.224492798 was not disclosed in either of the proposal forms and, therefore, by invoking the principle of adverse inference and estoppel, respectively contained in Section 114(g) and Section 115 of the Act-1872, which would apply to the representative of the deceased Vishal Agarwal, i.e. the petitioner herein, no advantage of non-disclosure can be given to the petitioner so as to claim any relief regarding the two policies repudiated under the impugned orders.

32. The contention of the learned counsel for the petitioner to the effect that insurance company accepted the premium and, therefore, it was unjustified in dislodging the claim, is of no consequence in view of the fact that the proposal forms were filled in the year 2012 and Vishal Agarwal died in the year 2013 due to cardio-respiratory failure and payment might have been made only once during this period. Even otherwise, mere payment of premium would not estop the insurance company from repudiating the claim as it is well within its rights to repudiate or reject the claim on the ground of non-disclosure of existence of previous policies at the time of taking any fresh policy as there are various factors, administrative, medical as well as financial which need to be analyzed by the Corporation, while issuing any fresh insurance policy to a person who was already insured.

33. Regarding the principles of insurance law with respect to action in good faith, the Apex Court in the Case of Satwant Kaur Sandhu (supra), relied upon by learned counsel for the Corporation, has held that insurance policy is a contract of insurance falling in the category of contract uberrimae fidei, meaning a contract of utmost good faith on the part of the assured. Thus, it needs little emphasis that when an information on a specific aspect is asked for in the proposal form, an assured is under a solemn obligation to make a true and full disclosure of the information on the subject which is within his knowledge. It is not for the proposer to determine whether the information sought for is material for the purpose of the policy or not. Of course, the obligation to disclose extends only to facts which are known to the applicant and not to what he ought to have known. The obligation to disclose necessarily depends upon the knowledge one possesses. His opinion of the materiality of that knowledge is of no moment. {See: Joel Vs. Law Union & Crown Ins. Co. (1908) 2KB 863 (CA)}.

34. In United India Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. M.K.J. Corporation, (1996) 6 SCC 428, the Supreme Court has observed that it is a fundamental principle of insurance law that utmost faith must be observed by the contracting parties. Good faith forbids either party from non-disclosure of the facts which the party privately knows, to draw the other into a bargain, from his ignorance of that fact and his believing the contrary. (Also see: Modern Insulators Ltd. Vs. Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. (2002) 2 SCC 734).

35. MacGillivray on Insurance Law (10th Edition) has summarised the assured's duty to disclose stating that the assured must disclose to the insurer all facts material to an insurer's appraisal of the risk which are known or deemed to be known by the assured but neither known nor deemed to be known by the insurer. Breach of this duty by the assured entitles the insurer to avoid the contract of insurance so long as he can show that the non-disclosure induced the making of the contract on the relevant terms.

36. In Carter Vs. Boehm (1558-1774) ALL ER Rep 183: (1766) 3 Burr 1905, Lord Mansfield had succinctly summarised the principles necessitating a duty of disclosure by the assured by stating that insurance is a contract of speculation. The special facts upon which the contingent chance is to be computed lie most commonly in the knowledge of the assured only; the underwriter trusts his representation, and proceeds upon confidence that he does not keep back any circumstance in his knowledge to mislead the underwriter into a belief that the circumstance does not exist. The keeping back of such circumstance is a fraud, and therefore the policy is void. Although the suppression should happen through mistake, without any fraudulent intention, yet still the underwriter is deceived, and the policy is void; because the risque run is really different from the risque understood and intended to be run at the time of the agreement...The policy would be equally void against the underwriter if he concealed...Good faith forbids either party, by concealing what he privately knows, to draw the other into a bargain from his ignorance of the fact, and his believing the contrary.

37. The term "material fact" is not defined in the Act and, therefore, it has been understood and explained by the courts in general terms to mean as any fact which would influence the judgment of a prudent insurer in fixing the premium or determining whether he would like to accept the risk. Any fact which goes to the root of the Contract of Insurance and has a to be returned to him by the office immediately.

Writ C No. 3818 of 2023

40. The original record produced by Shri Udai Shankar Mishra, learned counsel for the respondent-Corporation, is directed

3. The Collector's rejection of the petitioner's application for correction of the revenue map, despite reports from Naib Tehsildar and Tehsildar confirming the need for correction, was a failure to discharge statutory duty.

4. The Revisional Authority erred in law by failing to consider the statutory provisions of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006, and Rules, 2016, while dismissing the petitioner's revision.

5. The impugned orders dated 05.12.2022 and 06.03.2023 were set aside, and the matter was remanded to the Collector, Ambedkar Nagar, for a fresh decision with a reasoned and speaking order, considering the statutory duty to correct errors in revenue records.

Writ petition allowed; impugned orders set aside; matter remanded to Collector, Ambedkar Nagar, for fresh decision.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Lavania, J.)

1. Heard Shri Sanjay Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner assisted by Shri Akshat Kumar, Advocate and Shri Hemant Kumar Pandey, learned Standing Counsel for State-respondents.

2. By means of this petition, the petitioner has assailed the order dated 05.12.2022 passed in the case instituted under Section 30 of U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 (hereinafter referred to as 'Code, 2006') for correction of map registered as Case No. 189 of 2022, Computerized Case No.D202204040000189 (Ravindra Kumar Vs. Krishna Murari), whereby the application preferred by the petitioner for correction of map was rejected by the respondent no. 3 i.e. Collector/District Magistrate, Ambedkar Nagar.

3. The petitioner has also assailed the order dated 06.03.2023 passed by the respondent no. 2 i.e. Additional Commissioner (Administration), Ayodhya Division, Ayodhya, whereby the respondent no. 2 has rejected the Case No. 2544 of 2022, Computerized No. C202204000002544 (Ravindra Kumar Vs. Krishna Murari And Others) preferred by the petitioner under Section 210 of Code, 2006, being aggrieved by the order dated 05.12.2022 passed by the respondent no. 3.

4. Considering the dispute pertaining to difference between the area of Gata No. 408 recorded as pond in revenue records situated at Village-Jainuddinpur, Perghana-Bidahar, Tehsil- Tanda, District – Ambedkar Nagar and in the map and khatauni i.e. 0.477 hectares and 0.455 hectares respectively, this Court, vide order dated 12.05.2023, protected the interest of the petitioner and directed the learned Standing Counsel to seek instructions in the matter.

5. It would be apt to clarify that area indicated in khatauni of Gata No. 408 is 0.455 hectares and in the revenue map, the same has been indicated as 0.477 hectares and in view of same, the area inadvertently transcribed in the order dated 12.05.2023 passed by this Court be accordingly read.

6. Today, when the case was called out, Shri Hemant Kumar Pandey, learned

Standing Counsel, based upon instructions, stated that there is a difference between area mentioned in khatauni i.e. 0.455 hectares and the revenue map i.e. 0.477 hectares.

7. It is also not in dispute that on an application for correction of map, the report(s) were called from the concerned revenue official(s) and in response, the report(s) were submitted by Naib Tehsildar, Tanda and Tehsildar, Tanda and as per these reports, the revenue map pertaining to Gata No. 408 area 0.455 hectares mentioned in the khatauni requires correction. The reports are annexed with the present petition as Annexure Nos. 5 & 4, respectively and the contents of these reports were taken note of by the respondent no. 3, as appears from the impugned order dated 05.12.2022. However, it appears from the impugned order dated 05.12.2022 that the respondent no. 3 rejected the application after observing that no correction is required on account of the difference of area, in issue, between khatauni and revenue map.

8. The Revisional Authority also, taking note of the area, in issue, rejected the revision of the petitioner. The impugned order dated 06.03.2023 of the Revisional Authority also shows that Revisional Authority failed to take note of the facts mentioned in the report(s) submitted by Naib Tehsildar, Tanda and Tehsildar, Tanda.

9. In the aforesaid background of the case assailing the orders impugned, Shri Sanjay Kumar Srivastava, Advocate and Shri Akshat Kumar, Advocate stated that impugned orders are liable to be interfered by this Court as Section 30 of the Code, 2006 read with U.P. Revenue Rules, 2016 (hereinafter referred to as 'Rules, 2016') ought to have been taken note of by the respondent no. 3 while considering the application for correction of map and in the instant case, the respondent no. 3 has considered the provisions of 'Chakbandi Manual', which would not apply after promulgation of Code, 2006 and Rules made thereunder.

10. He further submitted the provisions of Code, 2006 and Rules, 2016 have also not been considered by respondent no. 2 while dealing with the revision preferred by the petitioner challenging the order dated 05.12.2022.

11. Further submitted that the admitted position is that there is a difference between area indicated in the khatauni and the revenue map as such District Magistrate/Collector, being the revenue head of the district, is under obligation to correct the revenue map so as to resolve dispute related to area in revenue record and map.

12. He further submitted that it is the duty of the District Magistrate/Collector to correct the revenue entries and no application for this purpose is required. In the instant case, application for correction of map was preferred by the petitioner on account of the proceedings initiated under Section 67 of Code, 2006, against the petitioner for eviction alleging that the petitioner is an encroacher of the land recorded as pond though the house of the petitioner is situated, as indicated in the revenue map, over abadi land. As such, the petitioner was compelled to prefer the application for correction of map.

13. It is also stated that in case under Section 67 of Code, 2006, during the pendency of the application for correction of map, an order has already been passed as per which execution, if any, would be carried out against the petitioner only after order passed on the application for correction of map and as per the report(s) of Naib Tehsildar, Tanda and Tehildar, Tanda, the correction of map is required in revenue records and the same has been declined by the authorities under the Code, 2006.

14. Shri Hemant Kumar Pandey, learned Standing Counsel for State-respondents stated that impugned order dated 05.12.2022 and also the order dated 06.03.2023 are basically based upon the provisions of 'Chakbandi Manual' particularly para 101 as also that the petitioner was not having any locus to prefer an application for correction of map with regard to land recorded as pond. The difference of area is negligible i.e. less than three biswa accordingly, no correction in map is required as per para 101 of 'Chakbandi Manual'.

15. But he could not dispute that revenue authorities are under obligation to correct the revenue entries including the entries related to map and in the instant case, there is a difference between area indicated in the 'khatauni' and also in the revenue map.

16. Considered the submissions made by learned counsel for the contesting parties and having perused the record including the orders impugned, as also the instructions dated 15.05.2023, provided by the District Magistrate, Ambedkar Nagar, placed before this Court, a copy of which is taken on record.

17. The difference between area of Gata No. 408, detailed above, indicated in the revenue map and in the khatauni is undisputed which as per map is 0.477 hectares and as per khatauni is 0.455 hectares. Thus, the issue is that as to whether the Collector concerned has failed to discharge his statutory duties by declining to correct the error or omission in revenue map.

18. From the impugned order dated 05.12.2022, it is apparent that the respondent no. 3 i.e. Collector/District Magistrate, Ambedkar Nagar has not recorded reasons/findings for rejecting the reports of Naib Tehsildar, Tanda and Tehsildar, Tanda, whereas according to these reports, the correction of map is required. These reports have not been dealt with by recording reasons.

19. The Collector/District Magistrate, Ambedkar Nagar, only taking note of difference in area, in issue, i.e. 0.022 (1.73 biswa) and Para 101 of 'Chakbandi Manual' has rejected the report of Naib Tehsildar, Tanda dated 18.01.2022 and also of Tehsildar, Tanda dated 01.12.2021 by saying that reports are not based upon evidence though the facts are otherwise,

20. Para 101 of 'Chakbandi Manual' based upon which impugned order has been passed does not say in specific terms that if the area is less than three biswas then the revenue map would not be corrected and this aspect is evident from the language couched in the same and being relevant, the same reads as under:

“101. भुजाओं की नाप से निकाला हुआ क्षेत्रफल आधार.....खसरे में दिए गए क्षेत्रफल से मिलाया जाए। इन दोनों क्षेत्रफलों में अन्तर का प्रतिशत हर गाटे के लिए निकालकर 'गट्टा बुक' के स्तम्भ 14 में दर्ज किया जाये। आधे एकड़ या उसे कम के खेतों में दस प्रतिशत तक का अन्तर नगण्य होगा।

आधे एकड़ से अधिक वाले खेतों में पाँच प्रतिशत तक का अन्तर नहीं माना जायेगा। परन्तु कोई भी अन्तर जिसे नगण्य माना जाये, तीन बिस्वा से अधिक न होना चाहिए। जिन खेतों में अन्तर ऊपर दी गई सीमाओं से कम है, उनका आधार-वर्ष के खसरे में दिया गया क्षेत्रफल सही माना जायेगा और उसे गट्टाबुक के स्तम्भ 15 में अंकित किया जायेगा। अन्य दशाओं में, मौके पर भुजाओं की नाप में पाया गया क्षेत्रफल सही माना जायेगा और उसे गट्टा-बुक के स्तम्भ 15 में लाल स्याही से लिखा जायेगा। चकबन्दी कर्ता मौके पर शत प्रतिशत गाटों की जांच करेंगे। चकबन्दी का की जांच के बाद, गट्टा-बुक के स्तम्भ 15 का क्षेत्रफल, खसरा-चकबन्दी (जी-च-आकार-पत्र 2-क स्तम्भ 4 में हर गाटे के सामने, लिखा जायेगा जो क्षेत्रफल जोत चकबन्दी आकार-पत्र के स्तम्भ 2 में दिए गए क्षेत्रफल से भिन्न हों, उन्हें लाल स्याही से दिखाया जायेगा। ऐसे गाटों के पुराने और नये क्षेत्रफल का अन्तर गलती माना जायेगा और उसे जोत चकबन्दी आकार-पत्र 4 में गलती मानकर लिखा जायेगा। पड़ताल की जांच के समय, चकबन्दी अधिकारी ऐसे सभी गाटों की मौके पर जांच आवश्यक करें। चकबन्दी अधिकारी भी अपने क्षेत्र के गांवों में इनमें से कुछ गाटों की मौके पर पैमाइश कर लें।"

21. The relevant provision in the Code, 2006 is Section 30 which casts a duty upon the Collector. It provides that the Collector shall maintain a map and a field book (khasra) for each such village and shall cause to be recorded therein, all changes in the boundaries of the village or survey numbers, and shall also cause to be corrected any errors or omissions which are, from time to time, detected in such map or field book (khasra). This Section reads as under:

“Section 30 - Maintenance of map and Field Book : (1) The Collector shall maintain, in the manner prescribed, a map and a field book (khasra) for each such village and shall cause to be recorded therein, annually, or at such longer intervals as may be prescribed, all changes in the boundaries of the village or survey numbers, and shall also cause to be corrected, any errors or omissions which are, from time to time, detected in such map or field book (khasra).

(2) The minimum number shall be divided physically in the manner prescribed and revenue records including map and khasra shall be corrected accordingly.”

22. Other relevant provisions are Section 32 & 38, both these sections also as per language couched relate to correction of revenue record including a map and a field book (khasra). The same are as under:

“Section 32 : (1) Subject to the control of the Collector, the Sub-Divisional Officer, the Tahsildar, or the Revenue Inspector shall record, in the manner hereinafter provided in this Chapter, all changes in the record of rights (khatauni), the field book (Khasra) and the map that may take place, and all transactions that may affect any of the rights or interests recorded, and correct therein any errors proved to have been made in the records previously prepared: Provided that order for correction in map shall be passed by the Collector.

(2) No application for correction of error under sub-section (1) where the claim is based solely on possession as well as involving intricate question of title shall be maintainable.”

“Section 38 : (1) An application for correction of any error or omission in the map, filed-book (khasra) or record of rights (khatauni) shall be made to the Tahsildar in the manner prescribed.

(2) On receiving an application under sub-section (1) or on any error or omission otherwise coming to his knowledge, the Tahsildar shall make such inquiry as may appear to him to be necessary, and refer the case along with his report to the Collector in the case of map correction and the Sub-Divisional Officer in matter of other correction.

(3) The case shall be decided by the Collector or the Sub-Divisional Officer, as the case may be, after considering any objection filed and evidence produced before him or before the Tahsildar.

(4) Any person aggrieved by an order of the Collector or the Sub-Divisional Officer, as the case may be, under sub-section (3), may prefer an appeal to the Commissioner within a period of thirty days from the date of such order, and the decision of the Commissioner shall, 1 [subject to the provisions of section 210], be final.

(5) Any forged or manipulated entry in the map, the khasra or the record of rights (khatauni) may be expunged under this section.

(6) Notwithstanding anything contained in other provisions of this Code, the Revenue Inspector may correct any undisputed error or omission in the record of rights (khatauni) or khasra in such manner and after making such inquiry, as may be prescribed. Explanation. - The power to correct any error or omission under this section shall not be construed to include the power to decide a dispute involving question of title.”

23. The procedure for correction of map has been provided in Rules, 2016. Rule 25 and Rule 36, being relevant, the same are being extracted herein-under:

“Rule 25 - map and Field Book [Section 30(1)]. - For every village, the Collector shall cause to be prepared and maintained a Field Book (khasra) in R.C. Form-4 and also a map (showing the boundaries of survey number) wherein the changes referred to in section 30 shall be recorded.

[(1) The Collector will get prepared and maintained a Field Book (khasra) in R.C. Form 4 for each village, and keep a map (showing boundaries of khasra numbers or gata number) wherein the changes referred to in Section 30 shall be recorded.

(2) The Field Book (khasra) for the years before Fasli year 1428 shall be kept in R.C. Form 4 and it shall be maintained and preserved according to Governments Orders and Board Orders issued from time to time.

(3) In the areas where U.R Zamindari Abolition and Land Management Act, 1950 was in force, the Field Books (khasra) of Fasli year 1428 and thereafter shall be kept in R.C. Form 4-A in Computerized(digital) form.

(4) At the end of Fasli Year, Khasra entries will be made unchangeable (be frozen) and the copy of Field Book (khasra) in PDF or any other unchangeable format shall be eternally preserved at State Data Centre at Board level, or at Government Electronic Cloud, like Meghraj etc. one printed copy of the same will be preserved at Tehsil level as record till 12 years.(5) Entries in R.C. Form 4-A will be recorded in computerized (digital) form as per Governments Orders and Board Orders issued from time to time.]”

“Rule 36. Correction of error or omission (Section 38). - (1) Every application for correction of any error or omission in the map, field-book (khasra) or record-of-rights (khatauni) referred to in section 38(1) shall contain the following particulars:-

(a) Name, parentage and address of the applicant.

(b) The document for the correction whereof the application is being made.

(c) Particulars of the land to which the error or omission relates.

(d) The precise nature of the error or omission.

(e) The application shall be accompanied by a certified copy of the map, khasra or khatauni to which the alleged error or omission relates.

(2) Proceedings for correction of the map, field book or record-of-rights may be initiated even without any application under sub-rule (1), if the error or omission otherwise comes to the knowledge of the Tahsildar.

(3) If during the preparation of new khatauni, partial, spot verification and local visit or inquiry, the Lekhpal, Naib Tahsildar, Revenue Inspector or any other revenue officer has reasons to believe that any error or omission (including any fake or fraudulent entry but excluding the errors or omissions referred to in the explanation to section 38) has crept in the map, field book or the record of rights, he shall refer the matter to the Tahsildar who shall initiate necessary proceedings under this rule.

(4) In proceedings for correction of errors and omission under this rule, the Tahsildar shall call for a report from the Revenue Inspector or the Lekhpal and after affording reasonable opportunity of hearing to the parties concerned and making summary inquiry, refer the case to the Collector in the case of map correction and to the Sub-Divisional Officer in the case of other correction along with his report within a period of thirty days from the date of registration of the application.

(5) The Collector or the Sub-Divisional Officer, as the case may be, shall allow the parties to file objection, if any, against the report of the Tahsildar submitted under sub-rule (4), and then decide the dispute. If the Collector or the Sub-Divisional Officer, as the case may be, is of the opinion that the map, field book or record of rights contains any error or omission, he shall direct for the correction thereof.

(6) An endeavor shall be made to conclude the proceeding for correction under section 38 within the period of 45 days from the date of receiving the application with the report and if the proceeding is not concluded within such period the reasons for the same shall be recorded.

(7) The Revenue Inspector may correct any undisputed error or omission in the Record of Rights (khatauni) or khasra after making such inquiry in the manner contained in the Land Record Manual."

24. Similar provision i.e. Section 28 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act, 1901 (now repealed), being relevant to the view of this Court is also extracted herein-under:

"Section 28. Maintenance of map and field-book. - The Collector shall in accordance with rules made under Section 234, maintain a map and field-book of each village in his district and shall cause annually, or at such longer intervals as the [State Government] may prescribe, to be recorded therein all changes in the boundaries of each village or field and shall correct any errors which are shown to have been made in such map or field-book".

25. This Court, after considering Section 28, quoted above, as also Section 52 of U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1953"), in the following judgments specifically observed that it is the duty of the Collector to correct any error in the revenue map, field book or the record of rights:

A. In the the judgment passed in the case of Ghafoor Vs. Adl. Commissioner and Ors., reported in MANU/UP/0670/1978, this Court observed as under:

“2. Thus after consolidation operations are over and the notification under Section 52 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act is published it is the Collector who is to maintain the map, field-book etc., and such a map and field-book can be corrected under the Land Revenue Act and under such circumstances the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act does not go to the extent of rendering the provisions of the U.P. Land Revenue Act nugatory, so far as correction of map prepared during consolidation operations is concerned.

3. Our attention has been drawn to another case Mohammad Raza v. Board of Revenue 1973 AWR 621 in which it was held that a map prepared by the consolidation authorities is not necessarily final and conclusive and a map incorrectly drawn up cannot be treated as final and conclusive and can be corrected under Section 28 of the Land Revenue Act.

4. Looking to the provisions of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act and the Land Revenue Act, we are in agreement with the view expressed in Mohammad Raza v. Board of Revenue (supra) and we hold that if a map is subsequently found incorrect and it is not in conformity with the document prepared by the consolidation authorities, the same can in suitable cases be corrected subsequent to the publication of the notification under Section 52 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act by the Collector in exercise of power under Section 28 of the Land Revenue Act. Thus we are of the view that the law laid down in Ganga Glass Works (Private) Ltd., Balawali v. State of U.P. (supra) is not a good law.

5. Thus the powers of the Collector under Section 28 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act for correcting the map in suitable cases are intact notwithstanding the map has been prepared by the consolidation authorities who have adjudicated the rights and title of the parties. In case there is any discrepancy in the map and final document has been prepared by the consolidation authorities, the same can be corrected in proceedings under Section 28 of the Land Revenue Act provided the right, interest and title of the party which have been finally adjudicated or have become final are not involved.

6. In the present case after notification under Section 52 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act was published, an application was moved by the Petitioner for correction of the map and the Petitioner tendered evidence that the map was not in conformity with the entries which were made in C.H. Form 45. It was obligatory on the authorities to correct the map in case they were satisfied that there was some discrepancy between the map and the entries in C.H. Form 45 and it is on a mistaken view of law that they have refused to grant this relief to the Petitioner.”

B. In the judgment passed in the case of Ali Khan Vs. Ram Prasad and Ors., reported in MANU/UP/0589/1980, this Court observed as under:

“6. The only point for consideration in this appeal is whether the Civil Court has the jurisdiction to make corrections in the map prepared by the consolidation authorities.

7. If the village had not been denotified under Section 52 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, the obvious mistake in the map could have been rectified by moving an application under Section 42A of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act. It is, however, admitted on all hands that the village had already been denotified under Section 52 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act. In this situation, there was no remedy open to the Appellant for getting the needful correction done. Section 27 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act provides for the preparation of the revenue records after the enforcement of the final consolidation scheme. Section 27 reads:

27. As soon as may be after the final Consolidation Scheme has come into force, the District Deputy Director of Consolidation shall cause to be prepared for each village a new map, field book and record of rights in respect of the consolidation area, on the basis of the entries in the map as corrected under Section 7, the khasra chakbandi, the annual register prepared under Section 10 and the allotment orders as finally made and issued in accordance with the provisions of this Act. The provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Land Revenue Act, 1901, shall subject to such modifications and alterations as may be prescribed be followed in the preparation of the said map and records.

(2) All entries in the record of rights prepared in accordance with the provisions of Sub-section (1) shall be presumed to be true until the contrary is proved.

(3) After the issue of notification under Section 52, the Collector shall, instead of the map, field-book and record of rights previously maintained by him, maintain the map, field-book and record of rights prepared in accordance with the provisions of Sub-section (1) and the provisions of Sections 28 and 33 of the U.P.

Land Revenue Act, 1901 shall apply to the maintenance of such map, field book and record of rights, as the case may be.

8. In view of Sub-section (3) of Section 27 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, after the denotification of the village under Section 52, the Collector has been enjoined to maintain the map, field-book and record of rights prepared in accordance with the provisions of Sub-section (1) of Section 27. The provisions of Sections 28 and 33 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act have been made applicable for the maintenance of such map, field book and record of rights.

9. Consequently, the Appellant moved an application under Section 28 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act for making a correction in the map to bring it in line with the record of rights. The revenue Court, however, took the view that it had no jurisdiction. The same was confirmed even by the appellate authority. The Appellant was, under the circumstances, compelled to file a regular suit in the Civil Court for injunction restraining the Respondent from interfering with his possession over the disputed area of plot No. 320 and also for the correction of the map. As stated earlier the trial Court decreed the suit, but the appellate Court took the view that the Civil Court had no jurisdiction to entertain the suit.

10. It may be pointed out that if the Appellant had remedy under the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, Section 49 would bar the suit. But the Appellant had no remedy before the consolidation authorities on account of the denotification of the village under Section 52 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act. Besides, the title of the parties had already been determined by the consolidation authorities. But while preparing the record, the area shown in the map was not in conformity with the area shown in the annual register. This was an obvious mistake to be rectified. The Appellant tried to get the same rectified by the revenue Court, further failed. He next attempted to get the same relief in the Civil Court, but there also he failed. Thus, he has been running from pillar to post to get an obvious mistake rectified, but of no avail.

11. The learned Counsel for the appellants cited Smt. Rekha Singh v. The State of U.P. (supra). In that case, Justice O.P. Trivedi (as he then was) took the view :

Under Section 28, the Collector is empowered to cause to be recorded annually or of such intervals as may be prescribed by Government all changes in the map regarding boundaries of each village and field. He has also been empowered to correct any errors which are shown to have been made in such map or field book. It is clear that Section 28 does not empower the Collector to make any changes or alterations in the entries of 'khatauni'. He can make changes in the field book or khasra and the map only under specified conditions.

He also found that the power exercised under Section 28 by the Collector is a non-judicial power, which is well settled by a Full Bench of this Court (? Board of Revenue) in Raj Kumar v. Bhagwat Singh, 1956 AWR 202. He further found:

This implies that the power which may be exercised under Section 28 administratively should not adversely affect the rights of any one. The moment a certain error is a disputed one, the Collector cannot obviously decide it u/S. 28 without affecting the rights of the disputants. In conferring power of correcting errors in the field-book and the map under Section 28 in a unilateral manner by a executive order the Legislature clearly did not intend to confer on the Collector power to make correction in the field book and the map in respect of disputed entries. Where there is a disputed error in the map or khasra it is the Civil Court only which is competent to adjudicate upon it. under Section 57 of the Act, all entries in the record of rights prepared in accordance with the provisions of Chapter IV of the Act are presumed to be true until the contrary is proved and the entries which are binding on all Revenue Courts can be challenged only before the Civil Court. The presumption of correctness about these entries must hold until the contrary is proved before the Civil Court. It is, therefore, clear from Section 57 of the Act that in the case of a disputed error in the field book and the map or the record of rights prepared in accordance with Chapter IV of the Act the Collector has no power to decide whether there is an error or there is no error and it is the Civil Court alone which can adjudicate upon a disputed error.....All disputes regarding the annual registers and records of rights must have been disposed of and decided by the Record Officer under Section 51 of the Act in accordance with the procedure laid down in Section 41 and after the close of these operations the khasras, khataunis and the maps of these villages became final." In the instant case, in the first instance, the error has crept in only in the map which was not in conformity with the annual register. Therefore, the case is fully covered by Section 28 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act and the mistake could have been rectified. Section 49 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act would also not stand as a bar inasmuch as the rights and title of the parties had already been decided by the consolidation authorities in respect of the disputed plot. The only dispute was that the map prepared by the consolidation authorities at the close of the consolidation scheme was not in accordance with the record of rights.

12. In Ganga Glass Works (Private) Ltd. Balwali v. The State of U.P., MANU/UP/0040/1972MANU/UP/0040/1972 : AIR 1972 All. 158 Justice B. N. Lokur (as he then was) took the view that a map prepared by the consolidation authorities can be corrected by those authorities alone and the revenue authorities cannot resort to Section 28 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act to make corrections in that map. Section 42A of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act does enable the authorities concerned to correct the size and shape of the plots in the map prepared with the size recorded in the record of rights. Similarly, the shape also would be an error which would come within the purview of Section 42A of the Act and can be corrected by the consolidation authorities.

13. The case is also distinguishable inasmuch as, in the instant case, there had already been a denotification under Section 52 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act and, therefore, there was no question of making an application under Section 42A for the correction of the map and, in this situation, it was open to the Appellant to have got the map corrected by moving an application under Section 28 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act.

14. In Jaggu v. Patan Din 1960 RD 63 the boundaries of chak Nos. 287 and 272 shown by the consolidation authorities in the map prepared by them did not accord with the record of rights prepared by them. Taking advantage of this mistake, the Defendants interfered with the Plaintiff's possession. The Plaintiff, therefore, applied to the Collector concerned for correction of the map after the close of the consolidation operation. The Additional Collector dismissed the Plaintiff's application on the ground that the map had become final and conclusive under Section 28 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act and he had no jurisdiction to correct it. The Plaintiff then filed the suit giving rise to the present second appeal. The Defendant raised the plea that the suit was barred by Section 49 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act. The argument was repelled. Reference was made to Section 27 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act. It contemplates that the entries in the record of rights prepared in accordance with the provisions of Sub-section (1) shall be presumed to be true until the contrary is proved. Thus, presumption of correctness is only rebuttable. There is no such presumption of correctness with regard to the map. Section 49 of the U.P. Tenancy Act also speaks of the rights of tenure holders to land. If the map does not accord with the record of rights, the error could certainly be corrected by the revenue authorities after the close of the consolidation operations.

15. On an analysis of the relevant provisions of the Act and the cases cited before us, we are satisfied that the mistake could have been rectified by the Revenue Court and the cases cited on behalf of the Appellant in support of the contention that the Civil Court has the jurisdiction are distinguishable.

16. There is, however, another aspect of the matter which cannot be lost sight of. The Revenue Court, which was competent to entertain the application under Section 28, however, erroneously held that it had no jurisdiction to entertain the application under Section 28. The order was confirmed even in revision by the Additional Commissioner, Bareilly, by his order dated 2nd March, 1977.

17. It is now well settled that even an erroneous judgment by a competent Court between the parties can operate res-judicata. In Avtar Singh v. Jagjit Singh 1979 AWC 635 (SC), the Appellant filed a civil suit claiming one fourth share on the ground that he was the fourth son of his father. An objection was raised by the Respondents that the Civil Court had no jurisdiction. A preliminary issue was framed and it was held by the Subordinate Judge that the Civil Court had no jurisdiction to try the suit and directed the return of plaint for presentation to the proper revenue Court. When the Appellant filed the suit in the revenue Court, the petition was returned holding that the revenue Court had no jurisdiction to try the suit. Thereupon, the Appellant again instituted Suit No. 13 of 1960 in the Court of the Civil Judge. That suit failed throughout on the ground of res-judicata. It was contended before the Supreme Court that the appellants were driven from pillar to post for the redress of their grievances. When they instituted the suit in the Civil Court, the Court held that it had no jurisdiction to try. When the suit was filed in the revenue Court, the said Court took a contrary view. Where could the Appellant go then ? The Supreme Court repelled the argument and observed as under :

We do sympathise with the appellant's dilemma but they were wrongly advised to do as they did. Either they ought to have followed the matter in the First Civil suit and insisted upto the end that the suit was triable by a Civil Court, or they would have taken the matter further before the higher authorities and Court from the order of the Revenue Court and persisted that the matter whether the Civil Court had jurisdiction to decide the dispute between the parties or not was res-judicata, the Revenue Court had no jurisdiction to go behind the decision of the Civil Court. The appellants did neither. It is unfortunate that due to the wrong paths which they followed under wrong advice they have ultimately to fall on the technical ground of res-judicata but there is no way out.

Again, in Upendra Nath Bose v. Lall 1940 AWR (PC) 147 the Privy Council laid down that there would be res-judicata in regard to the question of lack of jurisdiction of the Civil Court to try the matter. If the Defendant appears and an issue is raised and decided then the decision on the question of jurisdiction will operate as res-judicata.

18. In this view of the law enunciated by the Supreme Court, the judgment of the Revenue Court that it had no jurisdiction would operate as res-judicata between the parties and it was not open to the Civil Court to take a contrary view and hold that the Civil Court had no jurisdiction. After all the error in the map prepared by the consolidation authorities is obvious. The area of plot No. 320 shown in the map is not in conformity with the area shown in the record of rights prepared by the consolidation authorities. Such an obvious error has got to be rectified and it will be a sad commentary in judicial proceeding that despite the fact that the obvious mistake is there in the map but the Court is helpless to rectify the same. We, therefore, hold that in view of the finality of the decision of the Revenue Court on the question of jurisdiction, the Civil Court had no jurisdiction to hold to the contrary and should have decided the appeal on merits”.

C. In the judgment passed in the case of Surji Devi Vs. Additional Commissioner (1st) and Ors., reported in MANU/UP/1594/2012, this Court observed as under:

"10. After having heard learned counsel for the parties and perusal of the record, it is clear that the application moved by the petitioner under Section 28 of LR Act read with Section 27(3) of CH Act was for correction of map prepared after the consolidation operation. Provisions of Section 28 of the LR Act and Section 27(3) of the CH Act art as under:

28. Maintenance of map and field-book.-- The Collector shall in accordance with rules made under Section 234, maintain a map and field-book of each village in his district and shall cause annually, or at such longer intervals as the State Government may prescribe, to be recorded therein all changes in the boundaries of each village or field and shall correct any errors which are shown to have been made in such map or field-book.

27(3) After the issue of notification under Section 52, the Collector shall, instead of the map, field-book and record-of-rights previously maintained by him, maintain the map, field-book and record of rights prepared in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1)(and the provisions of the U.P. Land Revenue Act, 1901, relating to the maintenance and correction of such map, field-book and record-of-rights shall mutatis mutandis apply).

11. A combined reading of aforesaid provisions shows that the Collector is under obligation to maintain the map, field book and record of rights of each village in his district in accordance with the rules made under Section 234. Section 27(3) states that in maintenance of map and field book, the provision as contained in LR Act relating to maintenance and correction of such map, field book and record of rights shall mutatis mutandis apply. Section 28 of the LR Act states that the Collector shall correct any errors which are shown to have been made in such map or field book maintained by him.

12. It is well-settled that the correction of map cannot be refused on the ground that consolidation operation had already been over. The Collector has power under Section 28 of the LR Act to correct clerical error or omission of the clerical error in the existing map. The proceedings under Section 28 of the LR Act are judicial in nature. The intention of the legislature appears to have prescribed the maintenance of map and its indexes, the field book by observation on the spot. The word used under Section 28 is "shown" and not "proved". Thus, in view of the said legal position, only the previous error shown on the spot are to be corrected in the summary proceeding. In view thereof, it is bounden duty of the Collector to correct any defect in the map, if it is found by him.

13. In the present case, the application was moved by the petitioner on 3.2.1999 for correction of map on the ground that the position of plot i.e. 240 (E) area 12 Decimal has incorrectly been shown in the map prepared after the consolidation operation. The application of the petitioner was rejected by the Additional District Magistrate only on the ground that in absence of the chak map, no correction can be made in the map prepared on the basis of documents produced by the petitioner. The said application has been rejected by the Additional District Magistrate on the ground that the petitioner has failed to produce the copy of the chak map. The view taken by the Additional District Magistrate in rejection of the application moved by the petitioner for correction of map is incorrect in as much as the chak map is the part of the revenue record maintained by the authorities. In the event, the chak map was not filed by the petitioner, it is incumbent upon the Additional District Magistrate to call for the record i.e. chak map and pass an appropriate order after looking to the merits of the application moved by the petitioner. The Additional District Magistrate in its order recorded that the basis of correction of final map prepared after the consolidation operation is the Chak map and the same has not been mentioned in the report submitted by the Tehsildar. It further recorded the finding that an effort has been made by the petitioner to get the corrections done by the concealment of the relevant document i.e. chak map. The said findings of Additional District Magistrate are totally perverse and cannot be sustained. In so far as the ground for rejection of application for correction of final map in absence of chak map is concerned, suffice is to say that ground taken by the Additional District Magistrate is technical in nature and the Additional District Magistrate has failed to discharge his duty in not calling for the record himself and pass an appropriate order on the merits of the application moved by the petitioner. In view thereof, the order of Additional District Magistrate dated 15.6.2002 cannot be sustained.

21. As far as the question raised by the petitioner with regard to maintainability of the application moved under Section 28 of the Act by the petitioner for correction of the map after the consolidation operations were over in the village and its notification under Section 52 issued on 10.8.1985 is concerned, it is well-settled that the power and scope of the Collector under Section 28 of the Act to make corrections in the map is confined to the clerical errors in the existing map after observation on the spot. The combined reading of provisions of Section 28 of the LR Act and Section 27(3) of CH Act clearly shows that after the map is prepared and maintained by the Collector. In case, any error is pointed out which is an error shown on the spot, the same can be corrected and the Collector is bound to make necessary corrections in the summary proceedings under section 28 of the Act. The rectification of mistake/corrections can be done at any stage, and in view thereof, the objection of the respondents that the application under Section 28 of LR Act read with Section 27(3) of CH Act for correction of map moved by the petitioner is not maintainable after the consolidation operations are over, is unsustainable.”

D. In the judgment passed in the case of Gaya Prasad and Ors. Vs. Yadunath and Ors. reported in MANU/UP/1457/2017, the Court observed as under:

“13. The counsel for petitioners has stated that since the map had been prepared after the consolidation proceedings, it could not be corrected at all by exercising the powers under Section 28 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act. In the case of Mohd. Raza and others v. Board of Revenue, U.P. at Allahabad and others, MANU/UP/0414/1971MANU/UP/0414/1971 : 1973 (8) AWR 621 it has been observed that it is wrong to assume that the map prepared under Section 27 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act must necessarily be treated as final and conclusive. Later on, relying upon the same judgment in Nanbudda v. Latif Ahmad, 1982 RD 170 it has been further observed in paragraph - 6 thus :-

"It may further be added that even Section 27(2) of the U.P. C.H. Act states about the presumption of correctness subject to contrary being proved. The right of rebuttal must be admissible. Secondly, this presumption applied to 'all entries in the record of rights' only and not for the Shajra. Admittedly, the Shajra is not a record of rights. Section 27(3) of the U.P. C.H. Act itself provides that the provisions of Sections 28 and 33 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act shall apply to the maintenance of such map, field-book etc. Under these provisions, any errors which are shown to have been made in such map or field-book, shall be corrected. Thus there is no scope left for the application of bar under Section 49 of U.P. C.H. Act."

14. This view expressed by the Board of Revenue is in line with the judgment rendered by this Court by a Division Bench in the case of Ali Khan v. Ram Prasad and another, MANU/UP/0589/1980MANU/UP/0589/1980 : 1981(1) Alld. Law Journal 271 wherein this Court has considered a similar question raised as to whether after denotification of the village under Section 52 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, correction of errors can be made by moving an application under Section 28 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act. This Court has observed that the Revenue Court was competent to entertain the application under Section 28 and it had erroneously held that it had no jurisdiction to entertain the same. It further observed that if error in the map prepared by the Consolidation Authorities is obvious and the area of the plot in question shown in the map is not in conformity with the area shown in the Record of Rights prepared by the Consolidation Authorities, "Such an obvious error has got to be rectified" and it will be a sad commentary in judicial proceeding that despite the fact that the obvious mistake is there in the map but the Court is helpless to rectify the same..... "

15. A similar view has been taken by another Division Bench of this Court in Ghafoor v. Additional Commissioner, Lucknow, MANU/UP/0670/1978MANU/UP/0670/1978 : 1978 AWC, 836 (by Hon'ble U.C. Srivastava and Hon'ble K.N. Goyal, JJ.) wherein the Hon'ble Division Bench has observed in paragraphs - 3, 4, 5 and 6 as thus:-

"3. Our attention has been drawn to another case Mohammad Raza V. Board of Revenue, MANU/UP/0414/1971MANU/UP/0414/1971 : 1973 AWR 621 in which it was held that a map prepared by the consolidation authorities is not necessarily final and conclusive and a map incorrectly drawn up cannot be treated as final and conclusive and can be corrected under Section 28 of the Land Revenue Act.

4. Looking to the provisions of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act and the Land Revenue Act, we are in agreement with the view expressed in Mohammad Raza v. Board of Revenue (supra) and we hold that if a map is subsequently found incorrect and it is not in conformity with the document prepared by the consolidation authorities, the same can in suitable cases be corrected subsequent to the publication of the notification under Sec. 52 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act by the Collector in exercise of power under Section 28 of the Land Revenue Act. Thus we are of the view that the law laid down in Ganga Glass Works (Private) Ltd., Balawali v. State of U.P. (supra) is not a good law.

5. Thus the powers of the Collector under Section 28 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act for correcting the map in suitable cases are intact notwithstanding the map has been prepared by the consolidation authorities who have adjudicated the rights and title of the parties. In case there is any discrepancy in the map and final document has been prepared by the consolidation authorities, the same can be corrected in proceedings under Section 28 of the Land Revenue Act provided the right, interest and title of the party which have been final are not involved.

6. In the present case after notification under Section 52 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act was published, an application was moved by the petitioner for correction of the map and the petitioner tendered evidence that the map was not in conformity with the entries which were made in C.H. Form 45. It was obligatory on the authorities to correct the map in case they were satisfied that there was some discrepancy between the map and the entries in C.H. Form 45 and it is on a mistaken view of law that they have refused to grant this relief to the petitioner."

16. A Full Bench of Board of Revenue (Five Members) has also held in Suraj Narain and others v. Bhawani Prasad and others, 1977 RD 234 after noticing the amendments made in the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act by U.P. Act No. 24 of 1956 and U.P. Act No. 38 of 1958 and the amendment made by the U.P. Act No. 12 of 1965 that in the case of Ganga Glass Works Pvt. Limited Baliwali v. State of U.P. MANU/UP/0040/1972 MANU/UP/0040/1972 : 1972 (All.) AIR 158 the impact of Section 27(3) of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act was not considered and hence, this judgment cannot help in arriving at a correct conclusion in respect to the questions referred to it. The questions referred to the Full Bench aforesaid were as follows :

• Whether the provisions of Sub-section (3) of Section 27 of the U.P.

Consolidation of Holdings Act empower the Collector to rectify such mistakes occurring during the consolidation operation and noticed after the denotification under Section 52 of the Act?.

• Whether the word 'Collector' mentioned in Section 27(3) of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act read with Section 28 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act includes 'Assistant Collector First Class' also?, and

• Whether the proceedings in such cases are barred by the provisions of Section 49 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act?"

17. The Board of Revenue held that after the amendments made in the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, Section 27 of itself now empowers the Collector to correct under Section 28 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act any errors found subsequently in the map and Field Book preferred during the consolidation operation. The proceedings for correction of map under Section 27 (3) of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act read with Section 28 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act are not barred by the provisions of Section 49 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act.

18. It is, thus, clear from the law as settled by a Full Bench of the Board of Revenue and by Division Benches of this Court, correction of mistakes apparent in the village map can be made under Section 28 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act even after the consolidation operations are over and final notification has been issued under Section 52 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act.

19. From a perusal of the orders impugned it is evident that the amendment proposed in the map by the Assistant Consolidation Officer by adjustment of lands of three plots in question to bring them in consonance with the verified map and the orders passed by the Collector and the Additional Commissioner cannot be said to be erroneous either on facts or on law."

E. In the judgment pronounced in the case of Smt. Shyam Raji & Ors. Vs. Board of Revenue Lko Thru Chairman & Ors., passed on 20.2.2019 in Misc. Single No. 7638 of 2015, the Court observed as under:

"Section 28 of U.P. Land Revenue Act is extracted herein under:-

"28. Maintenance of map and field-book. - The Collector shall in accordance with rules made under Section 234, maintain a map and field-book of each village in his district and shall cause annually, or at such longer intervals as the [State Government] may prescribe, to be recorded therein all changes in the boundaries of each village or field and shall correct any errors which are shown to have been made in such map or field-book".

A perusal of the aforesaid quoted provision of Section 28 of U.P. Land Revenue Act shows that Collector has been cast with the statutory duty to maintain the map and filed book of the villages in his District. He is also cast with another statutory duty of causing annually or at such longer intervals as may be prescribed, recording of all changes in the boundaries of each village or filed and correcting any errors which are shown to have been made in such map or field book.

As a matter of fact, for making any correction in the map or in the field-book, no application is mandatorily required to be moved. Such correction has to be necessarily made by the Collector where any mistake or discrepancy is noticed by him on an application preferred by a person or if any mistake comes to his knowledge by any other mode or means. If a mistake comes to the notice of the Collector either on any application or even otherwise, he is duty bound to make correction in the map. Tenure holder is not even bound to make any application for effecting corrections in the map, if the same exists.

It is further noticeable that the applicability of the principles of res-judicata as enunciated in Section 11 of Code of Civil Procedure in respect of the duty discharged by the Collector under Section 28 of U.P. Land Revenue Act is very doubtful. While exercising the authority/jurisdiction under Section 28 of U.P. Land Revenue Act, the Collector does not decide any issue between the parties. To term the provision of Section 28 of U.P. Land Revenue Act as some power or authority or jurisdiction would be a misnomer. In fact, it casts a duty to incorporate correction in the map or the field book, if any such mistake or discrepancy comes to his notice. The provision of Section 28 of U.P. Land Revenue Act cannot be described to be a remedy available to a person in the traditional sense of the word. As observed above, it is rather a duty to be performed by the Collector mandatorily in terms of the mandate given to him by the Legislature by enacting Section 28 of U.P. Land Revenue Act.

The submissions of the learned counsel for the petitioners thus carries weight. The grounds taken by learned counsel representing the respondent nos. 3 and 4 for suggesting that the second application dated 6th March, 2013 was barred to principles of res-judicata, are hereby rejected.

Additional Commissioner has thus failed to properly understand the actual purpose of Section 28 of U.P. Land Revenue Act and mandate given to the Collector by the State Legislature.”

26. Thus, from the above quoted provisions particularly the expression ‘any error or omission’ used in Section 30 of Code, 2006 and Rule 36(5) of Rules, 2016 as also the expression ‘any error proved to have been made in the records previously prepared’ indicated in Section 32 of Code, 2006 and the judgments referred above, it is crystal clear that if the Collector or Sub-Divisional Officer, as the case may be, is of the opinion that the map, field book (khasra) or record of rights (khatauni) contains ‘any error or omission’, he shall direct for the correction thereof. The Collector or Sub-Divisional Officer, as the case may be, is under obligation to correct ‘any error or omission’ in relation to map, field book (khasra) or record of rights (khatauni). As per provisions quoted above, the order of correction of map shall be passed by Collector and in the matter of other correction by Sub-Divisional Officer. Statutory provisions above referred do not say that any error or omission in the map if is of three biswas or less then the Collector can refuse to correct the map.

27. Under Section 30 of Code, 2006, the Collector is required to maintain a map of each village in his district. The importance of the correct maintenance of village maps cannot be over-emphasized as the map is the starting point of the land records of a village and an error in it is likely to render all the records of the village erroneous. It defines the boundaries of the village and also of each field in the village.

28. It also reflects from the aforesaid that revenue records viz. map, field book (khasra) or record of rights (khatauni) can be corrected even after publication of notification under Section 52 of the Act, 1953 by the Collector or Sub-Divisional Officer, as the case may be.

29. In the light of the aforesaid, this Court is of the view that it is the duty of the Collector to correct the map if ‘any error or omission’ is apparent and Code, 2006 or Rules, 2016 do not provide any discretion to the Collector to refuse the said correction based upon the Para 101 of ‘Chakbandi Manual’.

30. As per statutory provisions indicated above particularly in view of Section 38 of Code, 2006, the proceedings regarding the correction of revenue records including the map should be initiated on an application preferred in this regard or on ‘any error or omission’ is otherwise come to the knowledge of Tehsildar concerned. Further, in the statutory provisions, it has not been indicated that who can prefer an application for correction of revenue records including the application for correction of map. Thus, a person having knowledge of discrepancy in revenue records can provide the information in this regard to Tehsildar concerned who shall thereafter make such inquiry as may appear to him to be necessary, and refer the case along with his report to the Collector in the case of map correction and the Sub-Divisional Officer in matter of other correction.

31. For aforesaid reasons as also taking note of the observations made by this Court in the judgments referred above, this Court is of the view that the application preferred by the petitioner for correction of map was maintainable as he, being a resident of the vicinity, pointed out the error in the revenue map.

32. Thus, for the reasons aforesaid, this Court is of the view that the Collector, Ambedkar Nagar/respondent no. 3, by rejecting the application for correction of map vide order dated 05.12.2022, failed to discharge his statutory duty, which in the present case relates to correction of map in regard to error therein was indicated in the reports submitted by Naib Tehsildar, Tanda and Tehsildar, Tanda and the respondent no. 2, while dismissing the revision filed by the petitioner vide order dated 06.03.2023, failed to take note of relevant statutory provisions and being so committed error in law.

33. Accordingly, the impugned orders dated 06.03.2023 and 05.12.2022 (Annexure Nos. 1 & 2 to the petition) are set aside. The matter is remanded back to Collector/District Magistrate, Ambedkar Nagar to decide the matter afresh by passing reasoned and speaking order.

34. While deciding the case, the Collector/District Magistrate, Ambedkar Nagar is expected to take note of statutory provisions according to which it is the duty of the Collector to maintain the revenue records including the map and to correct 'any error or omission' therein and proceedings of correction of revenue records including the map may be initiated even without any application if 'any error or omission' therein comes to the notice of Tehsildar, the Sub-Divisional Magistrate or the Collector.

35. Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed.

6. Roshan Singh @ Bunti Vs Board of Revenue & ors., 2019 (145) RD 411

(Delivered by Hon'ble Chandra Kumar Rai, J.)

1. Heard Sri R.C. Singh, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri R.S. Nagvanshi, learned counsel for petitioner, Sri Anoop Trivedi, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Anurag Tripathi, learned counsel for respondent no.5, Sri Abhishek Shukla, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for state-respondents and Sri Sudhir Bharti, learned counsel for Gaon Sabha.

2. Brief facts of the case are that one Naipal and Raghunath sons of Dev Narayan were bhumidhar in possession of old plot nos. 43/1.93, 44/1.64, 54/50, 55/48, and 56/48 New No. 514, 515, 529. The recorded tenure holders as mentioned above transferred the aforesaid plots to the Junior High School Tarya Sujan, District Deoria (now district Kushinagar) vide registered sale deed dated 09-08-1965.

3. On the basis of the aforementioned sale deed dated 09-08-1965 name of the college was accordingly recorded in the revenue records. The village in question where the aforementioned plots were situated was brought under consolidation operation by means of notification issued under Section 4 of U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act (hereinafter referred as U.P.

C.H. Act). Basic year entry according to petitioner was in the name of petitioner and no objection under Section -9A (2) of U.P. C.H. Act was filed by anybody but according to respondent no.5 her husband was recorded in the basic year of consolidation but petitioner got his name recorded fraudulently subsequent to C.H. form 23 stage without any basis..

4. According to petitioner the name of the contesting respondent no.5 or her predecessor-in-interest was not recorded in the revenue records at any point of time over the plots in dispute.

5. Respondent no.5 filed a suit under Section 144 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 for declaration in respect of the plots in dispute which was numbered as Case No. T201905440303976, stating that plots in dispute was self-acquired property of her husband (Raj Kishore) and after the death of her husband in the year 2011, she came in possession of the plots in dispute.

6. The Trial Court vide ex-parte judgment dated 26-07-2019 decreed the plaintiff's suit under Section 144 of the U.P. Revenue Code 2006.

7. Petitioner filed an application under Order IX Rule 13 of the Civil Procedure Code (hereinafter referred as CPC) against the ex-parte judgment and decree dated 26-07-2019, which was allowed vide order dated 16-12-2019 and the suit was again restored to its original number for decision afresh.

8. Against the order dated 16-12-2019, respondent no.5 filed an appeal before the Appellate Court, which was dismissed vide judgment and dated 05-04-2021.

9. Petitioner filed an application dated 01-07-2022 before the Trial Court to dismiss the suit as not maintainable as no proceeding has been taken during consolidation operation as such the suit under Section 144 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 is barred by Section 49 of the U.P. C.H. Act.

10. The Sub Divisional Officer, Tamkuhiraj, Kushinagar vide order dated 26-08-2022 rejected the application filed by the petitioner.

11. Against the order dated 26-08-2022 passed by the Trial Court, petitioner filed a revision being Revision No. C202205000001466 before the Commissioner Gorakhpur Division, Gorakhpur.

12. The aforementioned revision was dismissed by Commissioner/respondent no.2 vide order dated 24-03-2023, hence, this writ petition.

13. Learned Senior Counsel appearing for petitioner submitted that application under Order VII Rule 11 of the CPC filed by petitioner in the pending suit has been rejected in an arbitrary manner. He further submitted that for deciding an application under Order VII Rule 11 of the CPC filing of the written statement and framing of the issue is not a condition precedence rather plaintiff allegation is relevant. He further submitted that if the suit is frivolous and is barred by provisions of law, the same can be considered at the very initial stage. He further submitted that no objection under Section 9 of the U.P. C.H. Act was filed by respondent no.5, as such the suit under Section 144 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 is barred under Section 49 of the U.P. C.H. Act. He further submitted that petitioner who is an educational institution has been unnecessarily dragged into litigation, as such the application under Order VII Rule 11 of the CPC filed by petitioner should be allowed in view of the provisions contained under Order VII Rule 11 of the CPC .

14. Learned Senior Counsel for petitioner has placed reliance upon the judgments in Church of Christ Charitable Trust & Educational Charitable Society, represented by its Chairman Vs. M/S Ponniamman Educational Trust represented by its Chairperson/Managing Trustee in Civil Appeal No. 4841 of 2012 (Arising out of SLP (c) NO. 30632 of 2011) dated 03-07-2012 ; Madanuri Sri Rama Chandra Murthy Vs. Syed Jalal in Civil Appeal No. 5368 of 2017 (Arising out of S.L.P. (Civil) No. 35352 dated 19-04-2017; K. Akbar Ali Vs. K. Umar Khan and Others, AIR 2021 SC 1114 and Charu Kishor Mehta Vs. Prakash Patel and Others in Special Leave Petition © No. 11030 of 2022 dated 22-06-2022 on the scope of Order VII Rule 11 of the CPC .

15. On the other hand Sri Anoop Trivedi, learned Senior Counsel appearing for respondent no.5 submitted that suit under Section 144 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 filed by respondent no.5 is not barred under Section 49 of the U.P. C.H. Act. He further submitted that suit under Section 144 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 are suit of special character, as such the same cannot be dismissed without framing issue and giving opportunity to the parties to lead evidence. He further submitted that the name of respondent no.5 was recorded in the revenue records up to the preparation of CH- Form 23, but the name of petitioner came in CH- Form 45 in the fraudulent manner. He further submitted that petitioner is claiming the rights on the basis of sale deed, however, the vendor of petitioner has died before the alleged execution of sale deed in favour of the petitioner. He submitted that petitioner is not the rightful owner of the plots in dispute as such the suit for declaration filed by respondent no.5 cannot be dismissed as not maintainable. He further submitted that the claim of the petitioner can be very well examined on merit as to whether the suit is barred under Section 49 of U.P. C.H.Act or not after framing issues in the suit. He further submitted that after framing issues in the suit the matter will be decided in accordance with law including the issue relating to Section 49 of U.P. C.H.Act. He further submitted that argument advanced by the counsel for petitioner on the point of under Order VII Rule 11 of the CPC is misconceived as the allegation made in the plaint discloses the cause of action for filing the suit under Section 144 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006. He further submitted that no interference is required in the matter and the writ petition is liable to be dismissed.

16. I have considered the arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

17. There is no dispute about the fact that the suit under Section 144 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 filed by respondent no.5 is pending before the Trial Court/respondent no.3.. There is also no dispute about the fact that application filed by petitioner for dismissing the suit as not maintainable being barred by Section 49 of U.P. C.H. Act has been rejected by the Trial Court and the order has been maintained in revision.

18. In order to appreciate the controversy a perusal of Section 144 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 is necessary, which is as under:

144. Declaratory suits by tenure holders.—(1) Any person claiming to be a bhumidhar or asami of any holding or part thereof, whether exclusively or jointly with any other person, may sue for a declaration of his rights in such holding or part.

(2) In every suit under sub-section (1) instituted by or on behalf of—

(a) a bhumidhar, the State and the [Gram Panchayat] shall be necessary parties;

(b) an asami, the landholder shall be a necessary party.

19. On the scope of Section 144 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006/Section 229-B of U.P. Z.A & L.R. Act, this Court in the case of Pan Kumari Vs. Board of Revenue, U.P. at Allahabad and Others, reported in [2005 (99) RD 529] has held that suit under Section 229-B of U.P. Z.A. & L.R. Act are the suit of special character and even no limitation is provided for filing a declaratory suit before the Revenue Court. The paragraph no.6 of the judgment is relevant, which is as under:-

“6. Sri R.C. Singh submits that the suit under Section 229-B was barred by limitation. In support of this contention he relies upon Section 341 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, which provides that the Limitation Act would be applicable to proceedings under the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act and limitation in a suit for declaration would be governed by Article 137 of Schedule 1 of the Limitation Act as there is no period prescribed for such a suit under the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act. Section 341 itself provides that the provisions of certain

Acts including the Limitation Act shall remain stayed. ply to the proceedings under the U.P. Z.A. & L. R. Act unless otherwise provided in the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act. Rule 338 of the U.P.Z.A. and L.R. Rules provides that the suits, applications and Ors. proceedings specified in Appendix III shall be instituted within the time specified therein for them respectively. Recourse to the provisions of the Limitation Act would be available only if there is no provision under Rules in respect of the period of limitation for the different classes of suits or proceedings mentioned therein. In Appendix III the period of limitation provided for different classes of suits has been given. As regards suits under Limitation Act column 4, which prescribes the period of limitation for different classes of suit says "none". It would therefore be treated that there is no limitation for filing a suit under Limitation Act. Section 9 of the Civil Procedure Code provides that all suits of civil nature shall be instituted in the civil court except those, which have been accepted. A suit under Section 229-B falls within the excepted category and such suits even though they involve declaration are suits of a special character. Article 137 of the Limitation Act relied upon by Sri Singh in any case is applicable only to applications and not to suits and therefore has no play. When the rule making authority has provided different periods of limitation for different classes of suits it would be treated that provisions prescribing period of limitation in the Limitation Act would not be applicable to suits under the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act. Section 189 U.P.Z.A. & L. R. Act sets out the circumstances in which the interest of a bhumidar is extinguished. Clauses (a) (aa) and (b) relate to cases where the bhumidar dies leaving no heir, or where he has let out his holding in contravention of the provisions of the Act or where the land is acquired. Sub-section (C) of Section 189 provides that where a bhumidar has lost possession the bhumidari right would extinguish when the right to recover possession is lost. In Ram Naresh vs. Board of Revenue, 1985 R.D. 444 relied upon by Sri R. C. Singh it was held that the provisions of Section 27 of the Limitation Act would be attracted to suits instituted under Section 229-B. Section 27 provides that on the determination of the period limited for instituting a suit for possession the right to such property shall be extinguished. The rule is an exception to the general rule that limitation bars the remedy but does not extinguish the right. If however a person is in possession his right can not be extinguished unless the case is covered by Clauses (a) (aa) and (b) of Section 189. He can therefore seek a declaration of his right at any point of time. If a person has been dispossessed he would have to institute a suit under Section 209 U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act. Appendix III provides the period for limitation for filing a suit under Section 209. It would follow therefore that a suit under Section 229-B would be barred by limitation the bhumidar is out of possession and his right to file a suit under Section 209 is barred by limitation. The finding of fact recorded on the question of possession is that the plaintiffs have established their continuous possession over the disputed land. The finding is not shown to be vitiated by any error. As the rights of the plaintiff were never extinguished no question of limitation arises. For the reasons given above the writ petition lacks merit and is dismissed."

20. The exercise of jurisdiction under Order VII Rule 11 C.P.C. in respect to the suit under Section 229-B of U.P. Z.A. & L.R. Act, this Court in the case reported in 2019(145) RD 411 Roshan Singh @ Bunti Vs. Board of Revenue and Others has held that jurisdiction under Order VII Rule 11 C.P.C. is not to be utilised as a trial before the trial. Paragraph No.6 of the judgment is relevant for perusal which is as under:-

“6.This Court has perused the plaint, a copy of which is annexed as Annexure-3 to the writ petition. A perusal of paragraphs 5, 6, 7 and 8 of the plaint shows that the plaintiff has come forward seeking declaration of his rights to Khasra No.213, admeasuring 1 Bigha, 9 Biswa and 6 biswansi situate at Village Kheda, Pargana Dasna, District Hapur, (then Ghaziabad) and to hold the Will dated 06.06.1977 void. The cause of action clearly indicates that the petitioner alleges fraud played upon him by the defendants. It has been averred in paragraph-6 of the plaint that the fact that the name of the defendants had been recorded over the property in dispute, was kept back from the plaintiff until the month of May, 2006. It is claimed that the plaintiff Charan Singh, never knew it before the said date. It is claimed by the plaintiff that he is a co-sharer along with deceased, Balbeer Singh through whom the defendants claim, on the basis of a Will. It is also averred in paragraph-8 that the entire mutation proceedings, wherein the order dated 18.11.1998 has been passed in favour of the defendant, were all taken behind his back. These are pleadings which prima facie require to be examined on the basis of evidence, even if the cause of action is ultimately held to be barred by limitation. It is not a case where on a reading of the plaint, the cause of action is ex facie barred by limitation. The law about exercise of jurisdiction under Order VII Rule 11 CPC is settled beyond the slightest doubt. It is that, that allegations in the plaint alone are to be seen, in order to determine whether the plaint is to be rejected, on any of the grounds mentioned in Order VII Rule 11 CPC. The defence put forward by the defendant or the evidence is not at all to be considered. The jurisdiction under Order VII Rule 11 CPC is not to be utilized as a trial before the trial.

21. In the instant case paragraph nos. 3 to 7 of the plaint of the suit under Section 144 of U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 are relevant for perusal which are as under:-

Act and to lead evidence on the issue in accordance with law.

24. The case law cited by learned senior counsel for the petitioner will not be applicable in the circumstances of the case as indicated above.

26. Considering the entire facts and circumstances as well as ratio laid down by this Court in Pan Kumari (supra) and Roshan Singh @ Bunti (supra), no interference is required against the impugned orders. The writ petition is dismissed. However, the Trial Court shall frame issue in the matter in accordance with law including the issue of Section 49 of the U.P. C.H. THE HON'BLE AJAY BHANOT, J.

Writ C No. 21339 of 2020

Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:

Sri Siddharth Khare, Sri Jigar Khare, Sri Ashok Khare (Sr. Advocate)

Counsel for the Respondents:

C.S.C., Sri Rahul Chaudhary, Sri Rahul Chaubey, Sri Rizwan Ali Akhtar

Civil Law-Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226 Petitioner has assailed the punishment of rustication imposed by the respondents-University- Petitioner was never served a charge-sheet containing a St.ment of charges along with the adverse material which was relied upon by the respondents-authorities while passing the impugned order- Enquiry against the petitioner which culminated in the impugned orders was passed by adopting a procedure not known to law- Enquiry report does not discuss the nature of the St.ments and the manner in which they indicted the petitioner- impugned orders of punishment perverse and illegal.

Respondent-university is directed to issue a fresh mark-sheet to the petitioner treating him as a regular student. The fresh mark sheet shall evaluate the applicant out of the 100 marks. The respondent-University shall remove the B cap and shall also refrain from making any reference to the disciplinary action against the petitioner and delete the endorsement "reappearance in September, 2020" in the fresh mark-sheet. The disciplinary action against the petitioner shall not be disclosed by the university to any other authority. (E-15)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajay Bhanot, J.)

1. The petitioner has assailed the punishment of rustication imposed by the respondents-University for a period of six months by order dated 25.02.2020, and the order dated 16.03.2020 in appeal reducing the punishment of rustication for a period of three months. The petitioner has also prayed for issuance of fresh marks-sheet reflecting the evaluation of the petitioner's performance out of 100 marks, and to delete the endorsement marks "Reappearance September 2020" and to remove the B Cap on the marks secured by the petitioner. Further, the prayer is that the marks-sheet should not reference the rustication of the petitioner.

2. The petitioner is a student of B.Tech (CSE) in the respondent-University. The petitioner was charged by the university for various acts of indiscipline. The substance of the charges against the petitioner as disclosed in the impugned order 25.02.2020 are extracted hereunder:

"The Students Disciplinary Committee (SDC) in its meeting held on 11th February, 2020 discussed the case of student Mr. Prakhar Nagar student of B.Tech (CSE), Batch 2016-20, Enrollment No.A2305216644, Institute-Amity School of Engineering & Technology, who was alleged to have committed an act of indiscipline during earlier and current academic years.

The SDC examined all the available information with respect to the case and after due deliberation concluded that he had committed the following act of indiscipline-

Violation of student code of conduct - para ii, xiv, xviii.

R4/3/6/(g) Indulging in or encouraging in a conduct which involves moral turpitude.

R4/3/6/(m) Any attempt at bribing or corruption of any manner or description.

R4/3/6/(q) Causing disruption of any manner of the academic functioning of the University system.

R4/3/6/(r) Indulging in or encouraging any form of disruptive activity connected with tests, examinations or any other activity of the University or the college or the institution, as the case may be."

3. Shri Siddharth Khare, learned counsel assisted by Shri Jigar Khare, learned counsel for the petitioner makes the following submissions:

I. The charges against the petitioner are vague and of a general nature.

II. The impugned orders were passed in violation of the principles of natural justice.

III. There is no material in the record to justify the imposition of the aforesaid punishment.

IV. The punishment is disproportionate.

4. Per contra, Shri Rahul Chaudhary, learned counsel for the respondents-University submits that the charges constitute a grave act of indiscipline. An inquiry was duly conducted into the matter. The punishment is proportionate and has been imposed with a view to deter others from wrong doings. The charges are supported by material in the record.

5. Heard learned counsel for the respective parties.

6. The petitioner has specifically asserted that the petitioner was never served a charge-sheet containing a statement of charges along with the adverse material which was relied upon by the respondents-authorities while passing the impugned order.

7. The specific pleadings in the writ petition in this regard are not traversed by the respondents in their counter affidavits. Failure to serve a charge-sheet disclosing charges with material particulars upon the petitioner disabled him from tendering an effective defence of his case. The omission constitutes a grave violation of principles of natural justice. The vague nature of the charges vitiates the disciplinary proceedings.

8. The second faultline in the impugned orders is that they were passed on the foot of an ex parte enquiry. The pleadings in the writ petition in regard to the enquiry being conducted in violation of principles of natural justice too have not been traversed in the counter affidavit. The enquiry against the petitioner which culminated in the impugned orders was passed by adopting a procedure not known to law.

9. Attention has been called by the respondents to the certain proceedings chart appended to the counter affidavit to contend that the petitioner participated in the enquiry proceedings. However, in absence of pleadings in the counter affidavit in regard to the participation of the petitioner in the enquiry proceedings, the document is of no avail to the respondents.

10. Even if the aforesaid documents are taken in the face value, the pleadings of the respondents-university do not disclose that the said documents were served upon the petitioner or that the petitioner was noticed on the aforesaid adverse material at any point in time. The said adverse material including the report appended to the writ petition became the basis of punitive action against the petitioner. The prejudice caused to the petitioner by the said procedure followed by the respondents is beyond recall.

11. The submission that the enquiry report too was not served upon the petitioner precluding him from refuting the same shall now be considered. The counter affidavit baldly asserts that the said enquiry report was sent to the petitioner along with the suspension order. There is no proof of service upon the petitioner. However, in the interest of justice, the Court has perused the report. The said report merely references some students who had mentioned the name of the petitioner. It is noteworthy that the enquiry report does not discuss the nature of the statements and the manner in which they indicted the petitioner. Indictment of the petitioner on the basis of the enquiry report is perverse.

12. In this wake in the absence of such consideration the enquiry report is vitiated by violation of principles of natural justice and non application of mind.

13. The impugned orders of punishment passed on the foot of the said enquiry report are consequently perverse and illegal.

14. There is another aspect of the matter.

15. The scheme of punitive action in an institution of higher learning is an indispensable feature of its administration. The penal regime in a system has to amalgamate essential elements to maintain discipline in the University which is conducive to its academic atmosphere and a reformatory approach which is critical to transformation of the students. The key to an effective system of disciplinary action is the balance between deterrent effect and reformatory possibilities.

16. This Court in Anant Narayan Mishra v. The Union of India and 4 others¹ set its face against adoption of solely punitive regime to deal with the indiscipline or aberrant behaviour by the students to the complete exclusion of a reformist approach. Anant Narayan Mishra (supra) directed a composite scheme to deal with matters relating to indiscipline or aberrant behaviour by young scholars wherein a penal system is duly integrated with a reformatory approach. The UGC in compliance of the directions of this Court issued appropriate guidelines on 13.04.2023 to all University for creating a scheme for reformation and self development for students accused of misconduct to supplement the penal regime for correcting misconduct.

17. The Court is informed that the University is implementing the guidelines of UGC dated 13.04.2023. The University is developing a comprehensive reform and self development program to deal with such matters in compliance of UGC guidelines dated 13.04.2023.

18. The petitioner passed B.Tech course in the year 2020. The marks-sheet issued to him evaluated his performance out of 70 marks instead of 100 marks for all other students while applying the B Cap. Secondly the mark-sheet also references the rustication of the petitioner.

19. The said action visits the petitioner with enduring penal consequences and will blight his future no end. The petitioner had undergone the punishment of rustication. There was no occasion to disable him perpetually by making the assailed endorsements in the marks-sheet and marking him on 70 marks instead of 100 while applying B Cap formulae.

20. The petitioner it is stated that the petitioner is a young adult person with a bright future. The university-authorities failed to leaven the punitive action with a reformatory programme which would have enabled the petitioner to turn a new leaf and make amends for his errors if any.

21. Purely punitive action was taken by the University against the petitioner, to the exclusion of opportunities to reform his

(Delivered by Hon'ble Kshitij Shailendra, J.)

1. Heard Sri Krishnam Pandey, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel for the respondent no.1, Sri H.N. Pandey, learned counsel for the respondents no.2 and 3, Sri Bharat Pratap Singh, learned counsel for the respondent no.3 and perused the record.

2. The grievance raised by the writ petitioner is that her name be changed from Pooja Devi to Pooja Yadav in Class 10th and 12th Marks-sheet as well as certificate.

3. It is contended that the petitioner now wants to be known by the name of Pooja Yadav in place of Pooja Devi.

4. The writ petition has been opposed by all the respondents and it has been argued that the identical controversy has been dealt with by the Supreme Court in the judgment dated 03.06.2021 passed in Civil Appeal No.3905 of 2011 (Jigya Yadav (Minor) through guardian/father Hari Singh Vs. Central Board of Secondary Education and others), reported in (2021) 7 SCC 535. In fact, learned counsel for both sides have placed reliance upon the same judgment and it has been argued that even if the Apex Court has permitted change of name, different categories have been spelt out in the judgment of Jigya Yadav (supra). Reference to paragraph no.171 has been made, which reads as follows:-

"171. As regards request for "change" of particulars in the certificate issued by the CBSE, it presupposes that the particulars intended to be recorded in the CBSE certificate are not consistent with the school records. Such a request could be made in two different situations. The first is on the basis of public documents like Birth Certificate, Aadhaar Card/Election Card, etc. and to incorporate change in the CBSE certificate consistent therewith. The second possibility is when the request for change is due to the acquired name by choice at a later point of time. That change need not be backed by public documents pertaining to the candidate.

(a) Reverting to the first category, as noted earlier, there is a legal presumption in relation to the public documents as envisaged in the 1872 Act. Such public documents, therefore, cannot be ignored by the CBSE. Taking note of those documents, the CBSE may entertain the request for recording change in the certificate issued by it. This, however, need not be unconditional, but subject to certain reasonable conditions to be fulfilled by the applicant as may be prescribed by the CBSE, such as, of furnishing sworn affidavit containing declaration and to indemnify the CBSE and upon payment of prescribed fees in lieu of administrative expenses. The CBSE may also insist for issuing Public Notice and publication in the Official Gazette before recording the change in the fresh certificate to be issued by it upon surrender/return of the original certificate (or duplicate original certificate, as the case may be) by the applicant. The fresh certificate may contain disclaimer and caption/annotation against the original entry (except in respect of change of name effected in exercise of right to be forgotten) indicating the date on which change has been recorded and the basis thereof. In other words, the fresh certificate may retain original particulars while recording the change along with caption/annotation referred to above (except in respect of change of name effected in exercise of right to be forgotten).

(b) However, in the latter situation where the change is to be effected on the basis of new acquired name without any supporting school record or public document, that request may be entertained upon insisting for prior permission/declaration by a Court of law in that regard and publication in the Official Gazette including surrender/return of original certificate (or duplicate original certificate, as the case may be) issued by CBSE and upon payment of prescribed fees. The fresh certificate as in other situations referred to above, retain the original entry (except in respect of change of name effected in exercise of right to be forgotten) and to insert caption/annotation indicating the date on which it has been recorded and other details including disclaimer of CBSE. This is so because the CBSE is not required to adjudicate nor has the mechanism to verify the correctness of the claim of the applicant."

5. A perusal of the aforesaid judgment shows that the Supreme Court had dealt with two categories of situations under which change of name could be sought. The first category relates to those cases where, on the basis of public documents like Birth Certificate/ Adhaar Card/ Election Card, etc., change of name is sought in the CBSE certificate consistent to the said record and the second category relates to those situations where a person wants to acquire name by choice at a later point of time. The Apex Court has held that such change need not be backed by public documents pertaining to the candidate, but request in this regard may be entertained upon insisting for prior permission/declaration by a Court of law in that regard and publication in the Official Gazette including surrender/return of original certificate (or duplicate original certificate, as the case may be) issued by CBSE and upon payment of prescribed fees. The fresh certificate as in other situations referred to above, retain the original entry (except in respect of change of name effected in exercise of right to be forgotten) and to insert caption/annotation indicating the date on which it has been recorded and other details including disclaimer of CBSE. This is so because the CBSE is not required to adjudicate nor has the mechanism to verify the correctness of the claim of the applicant.

6. Learned Standing Counsel has also referred to paragraphs no.156 and 157 of the same judgment and has argued that the Apex Court has insisted upon obtaining a declaration by the civil court.

7. Though the learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance upon another decision of this Court contained in the order dated 18.07.2022 passed in Writ-C No.16056 of 2021 (Rashmi Srivastava Vs. State of U.P. and others), I find that this Court, even in the said judgment, has referred to the judgment of Supreme Court in the case of Jigya Yadav (supra) and issued a direction for making an application before the Board in consonance with the said judgment.

8. Section 34 of the Specific Relief Act, 1963 needs to be referred here in so far as the power of civil court to grant a declaration with regard to status of a person is concerned. The said provision reads as under:-

"34. Discretion of court as to declaration of status or right. Any person entitled to any legal character, or to any right as to any property, may institute a suit against any person denying, or interested to deny, his title to such character or right, and the court may in its discretion make* therein a declaration that he is so entitled, and the plaintiff need not in such suit ask for any further relief: Provided that no court shall make any such declaration where the plaintiff, being able to seek further relief than a mere declaration of title, omits to do so."

9. It is clear from Section 34 of the Act, 1963, that power to grant or declare status as the petitioner desires, vests exclusively in Civil Court that is competent enough to grant such decree.

10. Once the Apex Court in the case of Jigyda Yadav (supra) has emphasized upon obtaining a declaration from a civil court with regard to the name which a person wants to adopt by choice, this Court cannot take a different view and therefore deciding this case on the same lines, the writ petition is disposed off permitting the petitioner to obtain a declaration from the civil court with regard to her claim and once such a declaration is obtained, she is at liberty to approach the Board with appropriate documents.

11. In case such requirements are completed at the end of petitioner and the representation is made along with necessary documents through proper channel i.e. through Principal of the College before the Board, the Board shall consider the same in the light of ratio laid down by the Apex Court in the case of Jigyda Yadav (supra).

Writ C No. 23513 of 2022

Prescribed Authority/Mirzapur & Ors.

SDO Sadar,
...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:

Sri Abhishek Kumar Yadav, Sri Bhola Nath Yadav, Sri Prem Prakash

Counsel for the Respondents:

C.S.C., Kanchan Keshri, Sri Kuldeep Mishra

Held:

In election petitions under the U.P. Panchayat Raj Act, 1947, the application of the Code of Civil Procedure is limited by Rule 4 of the Uttar Pradesh Panchayat Raj (Settlement of Election Disputes) Rules, 1994. The Sub - Divisional Officer is not required to record evidence in full and may restrict evidence to only what is deemed relevant. Reliance on Order 18 Rule 4 CPC and Section 137 of the Evidence Act is misplaced, as Rule 4 (Proviso ii & iv) forms a complete special procedure which overrides the general provisions of CPC. Earlier judgment in Arunesh Vs Prescribed Authority/S.D.O. Gonda and Ram Adhar Singh Vs District Judge not applicable being rendered per incuriam as they did not consider the said specific provisos.

Key Case Law Discussed:

1. Arunesh Vs Prescribed Authority/S.D.O. Gonda, Writ C No. 2904 of 2004

2. Ram Adhar Singh Vs District Judge, 1985 All WC 246

Petition dismissed with direction to the Prescribed Authority to decide the pending election petition expeditiously, preferably within two months.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Anish Kumar Gupta, J.)

1. Heard Shri Bhola Nath Yadav, learned counsel for the petitioner and Dr.

Kuldeep Mishra, learned counsel for respondent No.2 and Shri Surya Bhan Singh, learned Standing Counsel appearing for respondent Nos.1, 9, 10, 11 and 12.

2. The petitioner is aggrieved by the impugned order dated 08.06.2022 passed by the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Sadar, Mirzapur in Case No.7424 of 2021, Surta Nath @ Surat Nath Vs. Dinesh Kumar and others, under Section 12-C of U.P. Panchayat Raj Act, 1947, whereby an application of the petitioner dated 27.04.2022 seeking cross examination of the witnesses, has been rejected in view of Rule 4 Proviso (ii) & (iv) of the Uttar Pradesh Panchayat Raj (Settlement of Election Disputes) Rules, 1994 (hereinafter referred as '1994 Rules).

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner relied upon the judgment of this Court in Writ Petition No.2904 of 2004 (Arunesh Vs. Prescribed Authority/S.D.O. Gonda) to contend that while recording the evidence as per Rule 4 of 1994 Rules, opportunity of cross-examination is required to be given.

4. He has further relied upon the provision of Order 18 Rule 4 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 to contend that evidence submitted by way of affidavit cannot be taken on record without granting an opportunity of cross-examination.

5. He has further relied upon the Full Bench judgment of this Court in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.11079 of 1983, Ram Adhar Singh Vs. The District Judge and others decided on 14.03.1985 reported in 1985 All.W.C. 246 and the provisions of Section 137 of the Evidence Act to contend that the evidence cannot be taken on record, without giving an opportunity of cross examination.

6. On the other hand, learned counsel for the respondent No.2 has relied upon the proviso (ii) & (iv) of Rule 4 of Rules 1994 and contends that in the election petition under U.P. Panchayat Raj Act, 1947, application of Code of Civil Procedure is permitted to the limited extent. So far as recording of evidence is concerned, the provision of Code of Civil Procedure as contained in Order 18 Rule 4 of CPC are not applicable. He further submits that the provisions of C.P. C. are general in nature and the provisions of 1994 Rules are special statute which shall prevail over the general law.

7. Learned counsel for the State-respondents submits that none of the judgment cited by the learned counsel for the petitioner deals with the proviso (ii) and (iv) of the Rule 4 of 1994 Rules and the 1994 Rules being the special law has to prevail over the provisions of Code of Civil Procedure.

8. Rule 4 of the Uttar Pradesh Panchayat Raj (Settlement of Election Disputes) Rules, 1994, reads as under:-

"4. Hearing of the petition.-(1)

Subject to the provisions of the Act and these rules, every election petition shall be tried by the Sub-Divisional Officer, as nearly as may be, in accordance with the procedure applicable under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for the trial of suits:

Provided that -

(i) the Sub-Divisional Officer may hear the petitioner or his counsel and if he finds that the petitioner has no substance, reject the same without the issue of any notice to the opposite parties;

(ii) it shall not be necessary for the Sub-Divisional Officer to reord the evidence in full and he may maintain only a memorandum of evidence produced by the parties before him;

(iii) if there is a sole petitioner and he dies, or there is a sole respondent and he dies, the petition shall be abate;

(iv) the Sub-Divisional may allow only such evidence to be produced as he deems relevant for the purpose of deciding the petition.

(v) the District Magistrate may at any stage on sufficient cause being shown transfer an application made under sub-section (1) of Section 12-C for hearing to another Sub-Divisional Officer;

(vi) an application not presented within time or unaccompanied by a treasury challan as required under sub-rule (1) of Rule 3 may, at any time, be dismissed by the Sub-Divisional Officer; and

(vii) the Sub-Divisional Officer may, on an application of either party made within five days after the date of his decision, review his order.

(2) If the Sub-Divisional after hearing finds in respect of any person whose election is called in question by the petition, that his election was valid, he shall dismiss the petition as against such person and may award costs at his discretion and in case he finds the application to be altogether frivolous he may also order that the security deposit shall in part or whole be forfeited to the concerned Gram Panchayat.

(3) If the Sub-Divisional Officer finds that the election of any person was invalid he shall either-

(a) declare a casual vacancy to have been created; or

(b) declare another candidate to have been duly elected, whichever course appears, in the particular circumstances of the case, to be appropriate, and in either case may award costs at his discretion:

Provided that no such declaration shall be made unless a claim for it has been made in the application.

(4) The security deposit or portion thereof, as the case may be, not forfeited under sub-rule (2) and not required for payment of any costs awarded to any opposite party shall be refunded by the District Panchayat Officer to the person depositing the same or in case of his death, to his legal representative. "

9. Rule 4 of 1994 Rules provides for hearing of the election petition arising out Panchayat Election.

10. From bare reading of the aforesaid provision of 1994 Rules, it is crystal clear that the application of Civil Procedure Code has been made to a limited extent and so far as recording of evidence is concerned the proviso (ii) and (iv) of Rule 4 of 1994 Rules, are complete code in itself.

11. The reliance placed by the learned counsel for the petitioner upon Order 18 Rule 4 of CPC and Section 137 of CPC is misconceived. The aforesaid provision being general in nature shall not apply where Special Law provides specific procedure.

12. The learned counsel for the petitioner has heavily placed reliance upon the judgment Arunesh Vs. Prescribed Authority/S.D.O. Gonda (supra), wherein this Court has issued the following directions;

"5. I may point out that Uttar Pradesh Panchayat Raj (Disposal of Election Disputes) Rules, 1994 have been framed under section 12-C, 12- D read with section 110 of the Uttar Pradesh Panchayat Raj Act. Rule 4 of these Rules provides that the procedure of Civil Procedure Code shall be applied in the hearing of election petitions subject to the rules made under these Rules. Rule 4 makes it clear that the procedure of CPC shall be applied. Therefore, the opposite party No.1 is directed to dispose of the pending applications for the amendment of the written statement and for summoning the documents and after disposal of these applications opposite party No.1 is directed to frame issues and after framing of tire issues, he will record the statement of the witnesses of the election petitioner and opportunity of cross-examination shall be given to the opposite parties. After that the opposite parties shall be given opportunity to adduce oral evidence. All the documents of both the parties shall be taken on the date of framing the issues. Either of the party shall be at liberty to request the Presiding Officer to summon the specific document which are required to be proved in the election petition and the Presiding Officer may pass appropriate order for summoning of the documents if those documents are required to ascertain whether a prima facie case is made out or not. The question of summoning the ballot papers or recounting be disposed of after hearing both the parties if it is found that prima facie case is made out to summon the ballot papers or the recounting of the votes. So far as the impugned order is concerned, this order will not be implemented unless the due procedure as directed above, is followed by the opposite party No. 1 and if this order is to be implemented, there will be a specific order pointing out the particular documents after hearing both the parties"

13. From perusal of the aforesaid directions, it is apparent that the learned Single Judge has not considered the specific provision of proviso (ii) and (iv) of Rule 4 of 1994 Rules, while passing the directions regarding the cross-examination of witnesses. Therefore, in my considered view, the aforesaid judgment is per incuriam likewise judgment in Ram Adhar Singh (supra) also did not deal with the proviso (ii) and (iv) of Rule 4 of 1994 Rules, therefore, the same cannot be applicable in the instant case.

14. In view of the aforesaid, the instant writ petition is dismissed being devoid of merits.

15. In view thereof, it is hereby directed that the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sadar, Mirzapur shall decide the instant Election Petition at the earliest expeditiously, preferably within a period of two months from the date of production of a certified copy of this order after following due procedure of law.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Manju Rani Chauhan, J.)

1. List revised. No one has appeared on behalf of the petitioner to press this case.

2. Mr. Anuradha Sundram, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel is present.

3. At very outset, learned Standing Counsel states that this is complainant's petition and the petitioner being complainant has no locus to file such petition, therefore, this petition is not maintainable. In support of his contention, he has relied upon the Full Bench judgment of this Court in the case of *Vivekanand Yadav vs. State of U.P. and another*¹ and the judgment of Co-ordinate Bench of this Court in the case of *Narendra Kumar vs. State of U.P. and Ors.*²

4. In view of the above, the petitioner being complainant has no locus to file the petition.

5. Accordingly, the writ petition is dismissed as not maintainable.

6. Before parting with the order, this Court feels it necessary to deal with practice of affidavits filing in such petitions that today, two petitions, i.e. Writ-C Nos.26718 of 20233 and 26639 of 20234 are listed. Affidavits in both of the cases are sworn by one Kamas Singh, who in one petition, i.e. Writ-C Nos.26718 of 2023, described himself to be family member of the petitioner therein, namely, Rahul Kumar and in Writ-C No. 26639 of 2023, which is dismissed as not pressed, as friend of the petitioner therein, namely, Jaidev. It is strange that the petitioner, Rahul Kumar has shown his address, i.e. resident of Vill-Muzaffarnagar Keshon, Block Mohd. Pur Devmal, Tehsil & District-Bijnor, whereas the residence of deponent is of different place, i.e. Vill-Bhamourapatti, Bhamori Patti, District-Sambhal. Thus the relation mentioned by the deponent as family member of the petitioners appears to be doubtful.

7. The address of the deponent mentioned in both the cases with respect to his relation with the petitioners stinks upon genuineness. To divulge the real fact, affidavit of the deponent; Kamas Singh is necessary. Accordingly, he is required to file an affidavit explaining his relation, specifically, with both the petitioners in the aforementioned writ petitions, within two weeks, which shall be kept on record by the office.

8. The Stamp Reporter shall take care of the fact that in such cases the affidavit be filed by the petitioner himself/herself or his/her family member.

9. Here, it is also pertinent that the stamp reporter will also adhere to the directions with respect to filing of affidavits in view of the directions issued by this Court in the case of *Smt. Shabista Praveen vs. State of U.P. and Another*⁵.

10. Mr. Rajesh Yadav, learned counsel for the petitioner is expected to remain attentive while verifying affidavits in such cases.

11. Registrar Compliance is directed to communicate this order to all concerned for its compliance forthwith.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Siddhartha Varma, J.
 &
 Hon'ble Manoj Bajaj, J.)

1. Instructions filed today by learned Standing Counsel be kept on record.

2. In pursuance of an e-tender notice dated 9.6.2017, the petitioner applied and when he was found to be the highest bidder for the mining of morum of 30,351 cubic meters in Plot no. 6 of Zone-10, area 10 acre, he was given a six months permit from 9.6.2017 to 8.12.2017. While the petitioner was excavating the morum, he got a notice dated 25.6.2017, which was numbered as Letter No. 356, and he was to give an explanation with regard to non submission of environmental clearance certificate and non installation of CCTV camera etc. Simultaneously, another notice was served upon the petitioner on 5.7.2017, wherein, the same notice number being Letter No. 356 was given and he was required to show cause as to why royalty and penalty for illegal mining of 5436 cubic meters be not taken from him.

3. On 12.7.2017, the petitioner's reply to the notice with regard to the illegal mining was submitted wherein it was stated that the petitioner had not done any illegal mining but in fact had carved out a certain path for reaching the place of mining. When the petitioner's reply was not being considered, he filed a writ petition being Writ-C No. 55531 of 2017 and challenged the notice dated 25.6.2017. However, this Court on 22.11.2017 passed an order that the petitioner's reply be considered within a period of four weeks from the date of receipt of a certified copy of order dated 22.11.2017.

4. Pursuant to the order dated 22.11.2017 passed in Writ-C No. 55531 of 2017, an order was passed on 25.1.2018, wherein, it was alleged that since the petitioner had accepted that he had done illegal mining by depositing a penalty of Rs.5 lacs, it had to be concluded that the petitioner had done illegal mining. In between the passing of the order dated 25.1.2018 and the issuing of the notices/orders dated 31.5.2018 and 18.8.2018 for depositing of Rs.38,88,000/- towards royalty, the petitioner had also filed an application on 6.2.2018 stating that the order was a non- speaking one and that it was based upon no inspection report etc.

5. Aggrieved by the order dated 25.1.2018 and the notice for depositing the penalty etc. dated 31.5.2018, the instant writ petition has been filed.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner has argued that respondents have acted in a most mala fide manner. There were two notices issued on 25.6.2017 and 5.7.2017 and both were numbered as Letter No. 356. Learned counsel for the petitioner states that without any inspection and without any application of mind, notices were sent. Further, it has been submitted that after the notices were sent, an assurance was given to the petitioner that if he deposited Rs.5 lacs, then the matter would be compounded and no further action would be taken and therefore, the petitioner had deposited the Rs.5 lacs on 28.9.2017 on the basis of an oral assurance given by respondents.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner states that petitioner on the oral assurance had deposited the money and had therefore, virtually been duped of Rs.5 lacs as it was not even taken into account while passing the impugned order dated 25.1.2018. Learned counsel for the petitioner further states that the notice dated 25.6.2017 had stated that illegal mining was to the extent of 5436 cubic meters but the order had stated that the illegal mining was to the tune of 4320 cubic meters. It is further submitted by learned counsel for petitioner that categorically in the reply, which the petitioner had given in pursuance to the notice dated 25.6.2017 with regard to illegal mining, he had stated that he had only carved out a passage through the plot in which it was alleged that illegal mining had taken place, but this aspect of the matter was not even remotely considered.

8. With regard to the depositing of Rs.5 lacs on the oral assurance of the respondents, mention has been made by the petitioner in paragraph nos.30 to 32 of the writ petition. They are thus being reproduced herein as under:-

"30. That the petitioner has deposited Rs. 5 lacs on the assurance given by respondent no.3 that matter will be compounded under Rule 75 and notices dated 19.6.2017 and 25.6.2017 will be dropped.

31. That the petitioner has already paid the price of the mineral and has not exceeded the permitted quantity and has extracted less quantity than the quantity permitted, therefore, the demand is illegal.

32. That instead of considering the petitioner's representations, a notice was sent on 18.3.2019 by the respondent no.2. A copy of the notice dated 18.3.2019 is being filed as Annexure No.14 to this writ petition."

9. In reply, Sri Sandeep Kumar Singh, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel has relied upon the counter affidavit and the instructions, which have been produced by him today.

10. Sri Sandeep Kumar Singh, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel states that when the petitioner had admitted that illegal mining had been done and had deposited Rs.5 lacs then there was no other option but to conclude that illegal mining had taken place. The other notice dated 25.6.2017 with regard to non submission of environment clearance certificate and non installation of CCTV camera etc., learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel has given a statement on the basis of instructions received from the Mining Officer that the notice was dropped and no action was taken.

11. Upon a pointed question being asked as to what reply had been given by respondents with regard to paragraph nos.30 to 32 of the writ petition, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel drew the attention of the Court to paragraph no.12 of the counter affidavit. For convenience, paragraph no.12 of the counter affidavit is being reproduced hereas under:-

"12. That the contents of paragraph nos. 30, 31, 32, 33 of the writ petition are not admitted as stated, hence denied. In reply thereto, it is submitted that the petitioner admitted the allegation of illegal mining and deposited Rs.5,00,000/- through Challan No.MO10080 dated 28.9.2017. The petitioner received MM-11 from office of the District Magistrate, Kaushambi for transportation of 5436 cubic meter sand upto 19.6.2017. The notices were rightly issued to the petitioner."

12. A perusal of paragraph no.12 of the counter affidavit shows that allegations made in paragraph nos.30, 31, 32 & 33 have not been denied in so many words and only a vague denial had been made. In fact, it has been admitted that the petitioner was made to deposit Rs.5,00,000/- even before the notices were sent.

13. In the Court, however, the Mining Officer, Sri Ajeet Kumar Pandey was present with the instructions and he has stated that Rs.5 lacs were not taken towards compounding but in fact they were taken towards the royalty and penalty for illegal mining.

14. Having heard learned counsel for the parties, we are of the view that the impugned order dated 25.1.2018 was passed without any application of mind. Only because the petitioner had deposited Rs.5 lacs on 28.9.2017 it had been concluded that the petitioner had done illegal mining. Further, we find that the notice had stated that 5436 cubic meter of sand was excavated whereas the order states that 4302 cubic meters were illegally excavated. All this goes to show that there was no application of mind. Still further we find that there was neither any inspection nor was there any report present on the basis of which order was passed. Apart from the fact that the order is based on no evidence, we are also pained to find that Rs.5 lacs were accepted from the petitioner without any adjudication and without any quantification of the penalty etc. This amount as per the learned counsel for petitioner was paid by the petitioner on the oral assurance that compounding would be done but no specific denial has been made in the counter affidavit.

15. The very fact that the money was taken prior to the adjudication definitely gives credence to the submission made by learned counsel for petitioner that the Rs.5 lacs were taken by the department on an assurance that compounding would be done. This reflects a deplorable state of affairs in the mining department.

16. For the reasons stated above, we do consider that the impugned order dated 25.1.2018, which was followed by the order dated 31.5.2018 cannot be sustained in the eyes of law and therefore, they have to be quashed. The subsequent notice dated

18.8.2018 is also being quashed. Before the adjudication take place, we also direct that the amount of Rs.5 lacs, which was taken from the petitioner be returned to him and interest be paid on that amount at the rate of 6% per annum from the date of deposit.

17. Needless to say that the respondents may re-adjudicate the matter on the basis of the reply given by the petitioner within a period of one month from the presentation of certified copy of this order after taking into account whatever local inspection etc. was done before the notice dated 25.6.2017 was issued.

18. With the aforesaid directions, the writ petition stands partly allowed.

Held -
Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Act, 2007 - Sections 4(3) & 16 - Eviction of son from parental house - Jurisdiction of Tribunal and District

Magistrate - Scope - Property owned by father - Petitioner, son, residing in one room with wife - No hindrance to peaceful living of parents in rest of the house - Father now deceased, mother in possession - Eviction order passed without considering petitioner's maintenance obligations already being fulfilled - Order suffers from illegality and without application of judicial mind - Eviction cannot be simplicitor unless senior citizen's "need" under the Act is obstructed - Appellate order quashed - Liberty to mother to apply afresh in case of genuine hindrance.

Held: The Tribunal under Chapter - II of the Act, 2007 cannot direct eviction simplicitor. The District Magistrate, as appellate authority, must ensure no hindrance is caused to the peaceful enjoyment of senior citizens in their property, and eviction is warranted only as a last resort when the "needs" of the senior citizen are obstructed. In the present case, where the petitioner - son is residing peacefully in one room and not interfering with the mother's possession, the appellate order directing eviction was not sustainable.

1. Heard Sri Amol Kumar, Advocate assisted by Sri Shivanshu Mishra, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Vidyabhushan Pandey, learned counsel for the opposite party, Sri S.P. Singh, learned Standing Counsel for the State.

2. By means of the instant writ petition, the petitioner has prayed for quashing of the impugned order dated 22-11-2019 passed by the learned District Magistrate, Sultanpur, vide appeal No. 1333 of 2019 and Computer Case No. D 2019046800133, titled as 'Kallumal and another Vs. Krishna Kumar', while exercising powers under section 16 of the Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizen Act, 2007.

3. The factual matrix of the case is that on 16-07-1971, the grandfather of the petitioner namely late Ramdhani purchased a part of land of Gata No. 179 having area, 2 Biswa vide sale deed, from Ram Dulare and Shiv Dulare, both sons of Jagrup, in favour of the opposite party no. 4 and thereafter, the rest part of the same Gata admeasuring 2 Biswa was purchased by the father of the petitioner on 17-07-1971, out of the income of the Hindu Undivided Family(HUF), in favour of his younger son, who was minor at that period of time and thus, the same was purchased under the guardianship of his father. After purchase of aforesaid land, the grandfather of the petitioner constructed a house over the said land with the earning of HUF and was living in the same house. In between, the younger brother of opposite party no. 4 expired and thus, the property owned by late Om Prakash was divulged to opposite party no. 4 and the children of opposite party no. 4, in equal shares. The private opposite parties have three sons and two daughters namely Rajendra Prasad, Krishna Kumar, Janardan, Sushila and Anjali. The widow of Rajendra Prasad re-married after the death of Rajendra Prasad and is living with her husband, whereas the minor son born out of the wedlock of Rajendra Prasad and Savita Devi is residing with the petitioner.

4. On 16-08-2018, the petitioner married with Rajpati in a Arya Samaj Mandir who belongs to Scheduled Caste Community and thus the father of the petitioner was annoyed and never accepted the marriage aforesaid. Due to annoyance, an F.I.R. was lodged against the petitioner so as to dissolve the marriage, whereafter, the petitioner filed a case namely Writ Petition no. 25345 (M/B) of 2018, (Smt. Rajapati and another Vs. State of U.P. and Others), wherein, an interim relief was granted in their favour, though later on, the same was disposed of.

5. The private-opposite parties filed an application before the learned Principal Judge, Family Court, Sultanpur under section 125 of Cr.P.C., for grant of maintenance against the petitioner and his brother and the interim maintenance was fixed @ Rs. 8,000/-p.m. and half of the amount was to be given by the present petitioner.

6. In the house in question, there was a shop which was let out by the father of the petitioner to Sadab & Izhar, on a monthly rent of Rs. 26,500/-, but, the same was concealed while instituting an application under section 125 of Cr.P.C. Thereafter, the private opposite parties have also filed an application for maintenance under section 7(1) of the Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Act 2007 (hereinafter referred as Act 2007), wherein the Sub. Divisional Magistrate passed an order in favour of the private opposite parties though, the same was not challenged by the petitioner and the petitioner is paying the amount of maintenance to his parents on each and every month.

7. Thereafter, an appeal has been filed before the District Magistrate on 14-12-

2017, whereby the petitioner has been directed to evict the house. The private opposite parties vide sale deed dated 14-12-2017, sold out a part of the property of Gata No. 179 and being aggrieved, the petitioner filed a civil suit to declare him to be co-sharer of 1/6 share in the land in question, which is registered as Regular Suit No. 140 of 2019, (Krishna Kumar and Another Vs Kallu Mal and Others).

8. On 13-03-2019, the father of the petitioner, executed gift deed of the property to Sushila and Anjali, who are the daughters of the executor and sisters of the petitioner and the rest of the property was sold out in favour of one Suresh Narotam Das and being aggrieved, another suit was filed by the petitioner alongwith minor son, for setting aside the gift deed dated 08-02-2019 and the sale deed dated 13-03-2019, vide Regular Suit No. 944 of 2019. The present petitioner is still residing in one portion of the house, but, the Sub. Divisional Magistrate and the Appellate Authority without application of judicial mind and without considering the evidences in a right perspective, passed the impugned order, thereby directing the petitioner to evict the house in question. Thus, the petitioner being aggrieved, has filed the instant petition.

9. Contention of learned counsel for the petitioner is that admittedly, the present petitioner is son of the private opposite parties and even assuming that the property in question is the property of private opposite parties, the present petitioner being son is entitled for 1/6 part of the property and therefore, without considering all these facts, the order for eviction has been passed while exercising power under Act 2007.

10. He argued that learned District Magistrate has exceeded his jurisdiction, while deciding the appeal, thereby passing an order of eviction and dispossession. He emphasized that Section 2(b) of the Act, 2007, which includes provision for food, clothing, residence and medical attendance and treatment, has never been denied by the petitioner to his parents, at any point of time. He next added that the appellate court has also failed to appreciate that the property which is owned by the father of the petitioner is an ancestral property.

11. Further contention is that under the proceedings of Section 125 of Cr.P.C., the maintenance has already been fixed by the court, as an amount of Rs. 8,000/- per month out of which, Rs. 4,000/- per month is to be paid by the petitioner and there is also income of Rs. 26,500/- per month to opposite parties from a shop, which was let out by the father of the petitioner.

12. Submission is that in fact the story is otherwise as the father of the petitioner was annoyed with the marriage of the petitioner and his wife, as wife belongs to Scheduled Caste Community, which is infact root cause of initiating legal proceedings against the petitioner for evicting him from the house in question and to dislodge the marriage in between the petitioner and his wife. He submits that the petitioner is taking all care of his parents, on each and every occasion prior to the marriage and due to annoyance of his father, several cases have been lodged against him and he is running pillar to post for doing pairavi.

13. In support of his contentions, he has placed reliance on a case reported in Manu/UP/1742/2019, Randhir Singh Vs. District Magistrate, Faizabad and Others and has referred paragraphs nos. 24, 28 & 29 of the aforesaid Judgment, which are extracted hereinunder :-

“24. The question is whether the respondent no. 3, who is daughter-in-law of the petitioner, has a right to reside in the house, which is self-acquired property of the petitioner against the wishes of the petitioner, in view of the provisions of the aforesaid 2017 Act read with Uttar Pradesh Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Rules, 2014 (hereinafter referred to as the “Rules of 2014”)

28. While passing the impugned order, the District Magistrate has gone through the enquiry report submitted by the Sub-Divisional Magistrate and on finding that the petitioner inspite of having five rooms in the house, is living with his elder daughter-in-law on his own sweet will; the matrimonial dispute between petitioner’s son and respondent no. 3 is pending; and the petitioner has not produced any evidence which could establish that the respondent No. 3 has restrained the petitioner from living in other five rooms of the house in question. In the backdrop of the aforesaid fact, the District Magistrate has recorded specific findings of fact on the basis of cogent material on record and the judgment relied by the learned Counsel for the petitioner is not applicable under the facts and circumstances of the case.

29. From the perusal of the impugned order, it reflects that the District Magistrate, on the basis of enquiry report submitted by the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, has recorded specific finding that there is no evidence on record, which establishes that the respondent No. 3 is trying to restrain the petitioner from living in other five rooms of the house in question. In fact the petitioner is residing with his elder daughter-in-law on his own sweet will at Faizabad. In order to protect the interest of the petitioner being a senior citizen, the District Magistrate in its order has specifically directed the concerned police station to see both the parties from time-to-time and it is also expected from the parties that they live in congenial atmosphere without interfering in the peaceful life of each other."

14. Referring the aforesaid, he submits that the Division Bench of this court has held that since the senior citizen, leaving their house, were residing somewhere else whereas there was space to live and none had restrained them to live in the house, thus, no interference is warranted. He submits that the case of the petitioner is also covered with the ratio of the above said judgment as he is residing in one room of the house and he has never restrained his parents to live over there.

15. Concluding his arguments, he submits that this is a peculiar case where the parents are not infact aggrieved but the son is being harassed for his no fault. He submits that the father of the petitioner namely Kallu Mal died and now the greedy sisters and their husbands are trying to sell out the property and that's why, they are doing pairavi in the matter, yet the petitioner and his wife is residing in one portion of the house, which is on the first floor and one of the shops, beneath his room, which is under his possession and the rest of the house is in the possession of the private opposite parties. He added that it is not the intent of the act to dislodge or to harass the son but it is for protection of the interest of the old age parents, which infact, in the present case is not applicable. He thus, submits that the private opposite parties did not come with clean hands before the appellate authority as well as before the Sub. Divisional Magistrate and thus, the impugned orders assail illegality and infirmity.

16. Per contra, learned counsel appearing for the opposite parties has opposed the contentions aforesaid and submits that no substantial or legal ground has been divulged by the learned counsel for the petitioner and only factual dispute has been raised. He added that the father of the petitioner namely, Kallu Mall was aged about 75 years and his mother namely, Samtula Devi, was about 68 years of age at the time of the alleged incident and now, Kallu Mall is no more. Further submitted that the petitioner and his wife beat his parents brutally and abused them and because of the unbearable harassment perpetrated by the petitioner and his wife, the father and mother, who were of old age and sick and infirm, felt helplessness and pain. He added that facing the trouble at every point of time, the father of the petitioner and the mother moved an application before the Sub. Divisional Magistrate, which was decided vide order dated 08-07-2019 and thereafter, an appeal was instituted wherein an order was passed on 22-11-2019. The operative portion of the order dated 22-11-2019 is quoted hereinunder :-

17. Referring the aforesaid, he submits that there is no erroneousness in the order passed by the appellate authority and considering the facts and circumstances of the case and the law prevailing thereof, the order with respect to eviction of the petitioner has rightly been passed.

18. He further submits that so far as the claim of the petitioner is that he is a co-sharer of the House No. 778, from which eviction has been ordered by the learned District Magistrate, is infact not correct as the petitioner does not come in the category of co-sharer as per section 6 of the Hindu Succession Act. With the intention to claim his right as co-sharer, the petitioner made several kind of forgery and once he could not succeed, then he prepared a forged will deed executed by late Om Prakash in the year 1992. He added that the petitioner committed all kind of forgery so as to remain continue in the house of his father, but, he could not substantiate the same. It is also added that the petitioner is a person of criminal character and has got no respect to his parents and more so, he misbehaved with them in course of grabbing the property and once, it became impossible to live with the petitioner namely, Krishna Kumar and his wife, the proceedings under Act, 2007 were invoked by the opposite parties, whereupon the opposite parties have rightly passed the orders. He also added that the petitioner has beaten several times to his father and mother and they have received injuries, which is also evident from the CCTV Camera installed.

19. Further submission is that learned trial courts have passed the orders impugned after thoroughly considering the facts and circumstances of the case and after coming to the conclusion that the opposite parties no. 4 & 5, are being ill treated by his son i.e. the petitioner and his wife and it has become impossible for the parents to live, in the same house, alongwith them. He added that there is no unlawfulness and erroneousness in the order passed by the Sub.Divisional Magistrate or the appellate court. Therefore, he submits that there is no merit in the instant petition and the writ petition is liable to be dismissed.

20. Considering the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and after perusal of material placed on record, it emerges that the present petitioner and his wife are living in the house of his parents. From the application, which was instituted by the opposite parties no. 4 & 5, it is evident that the present petitioner used to beat his father and mother, who were of old age and he was also not properly maintaining them. Further this incident is said to happen usually with opposite parties no. 4 & 5 and therefore, being aggrieved, they moved an application under section 5 of the Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Act, 2007 (hereinafter referred as the ‘Act, 2007’). After the aforesaid application moved, the Sub. Divisional Magistrate concerned passed the order on 08-07-2019 with the following directions :-

21. Being aggrieved with the order dated 08-07-2019, an appeal was instituted by the opposite parties no. 4 & 5, wherein the appellate court admitted the appeal and set aside the order passed by the Sub. Divisional Magistrate directing the petitioner to evict the house of opposite parties no. 4 & 5 within a period of 45 days from the date of the order received and in case of non eviction, it was also directed that the same shall get evicted forcibly with the help of the local police.

22. It has been stated in so many words by the petitioner that he is living in a room and there is one shop in his possession and the rest of the part of the house is in the possession of his mother and sister. It was also submitted that since the petitioner performed marriage with a lady of Scheduled

Caste and being annoyed, the parents started the proceedings for getting evicted the house of the opposite parties no. 4 & 5 and no cruelty or injury has ever been caused by the petitioner or his wife.

23. Before any discussions or coming to the conclusion in this matter, it is essential to look into the object of promulgating the Act, 2007. The Act, 2007, namely the Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Bill, 2007 was introduced in Lok Sabha on 20-03-2007 and the objective of Bill was to provide for more effective provisions for the maintenance and welfare of parents and the senior citizens guaranteed and recognized under the Constitution of India and for the matters connected therewith or the incidental thereto. It is for the maintenance of the parents, and to provide appropriate mechanism, which is need based maintenance to the parents and senior citizens including the medical facilities to the senior citizens and institutionalizing a suitable mechanism for the protection of life and property of the older persons and old age homes in every district. Now-a-days, because of steady rise in the population, the older persons in India are used to see suffering with the malnutrition and unavailability of medicines and treatment which expected to decrease the life expectancy. The traditional norms and values of the Indian society lays stress on showing respect and providing care for the aged members of the family, were normally cared for by the family itself, but, in the recent time, the society is witnessing a gradual definite withering of joint family system and therefore, a large number of parents are not being maintained by their children.

24. It is an established fact that the family is the most desired environment for senior citizens/parents to lead a life of security, care and dignity and keeping in view of this fact and to ensure that the children should perform their moral obligation towards their parents, the Act, 2007 aims to create an enabling mechanism for the older persons 'To Claim Need Based Maintenance From Their Children'.

25. So far as the definition of maintenance is concerned, that has been envisaged under section 2(b) of the Act, 2007. This says that the maintenance includes the provisions for food, clothing, residence and medical attendant and treatment. If it is seen in context with the present case, it is evident that opposite parties no. 4 & 5 are the house owners, wherein their son and daughter-in-law are residing in a room and one shop is also in their possession, which is source of their livelihood. Though, it has been alleged as a factual matter that the house in question has been sold out, on the instigation of the sisters and brother-in-laws of the petitioner, but, without going into this factual dispute, it remains undisputed that the present petitioner is residing in a room. It is also a fact that at this stage, the opposite party no. 4 i.e. the father of the present petitioner died and only the opposite party no. 5 i.e. the mother of the petitioner is alive. While bare reading of Section 4(3) of the Act, 2007, it is evident that the obligation of the children to maintain his/her parents extends to the needs of such parents either father or mother or both, so that they may lead a normal life. Section 4(3) of the Act, 2007 is quoted hereunder :-

"4.(3) The obligation of the children to maintain his or her parent extends to the needs of such parent either father or mother or both, as the case may be, so that such parent may lead a normal life."

26. The explanation and meaning of Section 4(3) of the Act, 2007, can more particularly be derived from the heading that says 'maintenance of parents and senior citizens', meaning thereby that the maintenance of parents and senior citizens so far as they can lead a normal life by extending to the needs well fulfilled. Such maintenance of parents is objective of this Act. The present petitioner is residing in a room and one more shop is in his possession and the rest of the house is in possession of his late father now the mother, then this could not be said that there is any further need regarding residence/house to the parents of the present petitioner and more particularly, when the father is no more and being the son, he is residing in one of the room and the mother is residing with her daughters.

27. Taking note of the fact that as per the social structure of the society, sometimes, a son may not be in a position to maintain the parents, as particularly, in the present matter, the petitioner is residing in one room and there are other rooms, where the other can live, therefore, it is needed to revisit the whole scenario that as to whether the present petitioner, is actually avoiding to maintain the parents.

28. This court has also noticed the fact as was contended during course of the arguments that the sister of the petitioner is colluded with the mother and she is trying to sell out the property in question as that is the valuable property and therefore, they tried to oust the present petitioner and the hurdle is that once he remains in one room of the said house, no one will purchase the same.

29. Further, this court is of considered opinion that a Tribunal, under Chapter-II of Act, 2007 cannot direct eviction simpliciter from the property at the instance of senior citizens, though the Tribunal can direct the children and relatives to make available a residence to such senior citizens in pursuance of an application, filed under the abovesaid chapter. It further emerges that the District Magistrate as an appellate authority under the Act, 2007, can ensure that no one should make any hindrance to a senior citizen to enjoy the property as per his 'need' and the right to eviction is the last step, where such authority finds that the need of a senior citizen is not being fulfilled. The case in hands is that the present petitioner is living in one room with his wife and he is not making any hindrance in the peaceful living of the parents, in other part of the house and therefore, so far as the objective of the Act, 2007 is concerned, is no way hampered by the petitioner.

30. Further the procedure of eviction is not at par to the procedure as prescribed in the Civil Procedure Code, where the rights and titles are determined, as the provisions of Act, 2007 is for ensuring the needs of the senior citizens and that is to be handled, carefully, so that the structure of the family may not be abrupted.

31. In view of the aforesaid submissions and discussions, the order passed by the appellate authority, so far as the eviction of the present petitioner is concerned, is not sustainable, in the eyes of law.

32. Consequently, the impugned order dated 22-11-2019 passed in Appeal No. 1333 of 2019, is hereby quashed.

33. Liberty is given to opposite party no. 5, (mother of the petitioner), to move an appropriate application, if any sort of hindrance is been made, in furtherance to the need of her residence.

34. The petitioner is also directed, not to make any inconvenience in the needful living of the opposite party no. 5, in the house in question.

35. With the aforesaid observations, the instant petition is hereby disposed of.

36. No order as to costs.

List of Cases cited:-

Prithvipat Vs St. of U.P. & ors. , Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.5212 of 1987

(Delivered by Hon'ble Arun Kumar Singh
Deshwal, J.)

1. Heard Shri Ajay Pratap Singh Vatsa, learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri R. K. Maurya, learned Standing Counsel representing the State-Opposite parties.

2. No one appears on behalf of opposite parties no.6 to 11.

3. By means of the present petition, the petitioner has challenged the auction proceeding of the assets of the company held on 13.06.1992 as well as sale confirmation order dated 17.07.1992 of Sub Divisional Magistrate, Ghaziabad and also the order of Commissioner, Meerut Division, Meerut dated 23.03.1993 by which an objection against the auction sale dated 13.06.1992 filed under Rule 285-I of Uttar Pradesh Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Rules, 1952 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Rules, 1952') was rejected and also the order of Board of Revenue, Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow dated 06.11.1995 by which the revision of the petitioner against the order of Commissioner, Meerut Division, Meerut was rejected.

4. Factual matrix of the case is as follows:-

5. The petitioner-company is a registered company engaged in the production of transformer, bulb and other electrical goods and because of labour unrest in the factory, production in the company was put in halt and company suffered huge loss. Therefore the company could not clear outstanding towards sales tax, electricity dues and dues of Small Scale Industries Corporation.

6. On failing to clear the outstanding of electricity dues as well as Small Scale Industry Corporation, a recovery certificate was issued by the Collector, Ghaziabad of the amount of Rs.1,39,663.58/- to recover the electricity dues as well as the dues of Small Scale Industry. Thereafter in pursuance of the recovery citation issued by the Tehsildar, Ghaziabad property of the petitioner-company was attached and subsequently same was auctioned on 13.06.1992 which was subsequently confirmed by the Sub Divisional Magistrate on 17.07.1992 along with delay condonation application. Against the aforesaid auction proceeding, the petitioner-company has filed an objection dated 19.08.1992 under Rule 285-I of the Rules, 1952 to set aside the sale on the ground of material irregularity and violation of statutory provisions but the Commissioner, Meerut Division, Meerut rejected the objection of the petitioner by the order dated 23.03.1993 on the ground that objection dated 19.08.1992 filed by the petitioner is time barred because as per rule 285-I of the Rule 1952 it could be filed within 30 days from the date of sale.

7. Feeling aggrieved by the order dated 23.03.1993 of the Commissioner, Meerut Division, Meerut, the petitioner preferred Revision No.15-92-93, Zenith Electricals Private Limited vs. State of U.P and others before the Board of Revenue, U.P. Lucknow.

8. Contention of the counsel for the petitioner is that the objection of the petitioner was rejected only on the ground that objection of the petitioner is time barred or the same was filed after 30 days of sale and delay condonation application of the petitioner was not considered. It is further submitted that if there is no bar for condoning the delay then the Limitation Act applies and delay can be condoned if the application is filed along with affidavit giving sufficient explanation of filing the delay.

9. It is further submitted by the counsel for the petitioner that the order of the Board of Revenue is absolutely cryptic in nature and no reasoning was given. Lastly, it has been submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioner that the entire auction proceeding deserves to be set aside being conducted in violation of Rule 283A, Rule 285-A and Rule 285-J of the Rules, 1952.

10. Per contra, learned Standing Counsel submits that there is no provision for condoning the delay in Rule 285-I of the Rules, 1952, therefore Limitation Act does not apply. It was further contended by the learned Standing Counsel that auction proceedings was conducted as per the procedure prescribed in the Rules, 1952 therefore the present petition deserves to be dismissed.

11. After hearing the parties and on perusal of record, two questions arises for consideration of this Court :

(I) Whether delay condonation application under Section-5 of the Limitation Act, 1963 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Act, 1963') is maintainable in the proceeding under Rule 285-I of the Rules, 1952 before the Commissioner and Commissioner has power to condone the delay in filing the objection which were filed beyond the period of thirty days ?

(II) Whether the auction proceedings in question has been conducted in violation of Rules 285-II and 285-H of the Rules, 1952 ?

12. The first question mentioned above came into consideration before the Division Bench of this Court in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.5212 of 1987 (Prithvipat Vs. State of U.P. & Ors.). That Division Bench in decision dated 04.09.1997 clearly observed in paragraph no.3 that proceedings before the Commissioner under Rule 285-I of the Rules, 1952 is judicial proceeding and application under Section 5 of the Act, 1963 is maintainable for condoning the delay in filing the objection. Paragraph no.3 of the Prithvipat Vs. State of U.P. & Ors. (supra) is being reproduced as under :

"3. As the judgment of Division Bench in Indu Engineering (supra) relied on by the Commissioner for rejecting the application under Section 5 of the Limitation Act and objection of the petitioner by the impugned order dated 19.2.1987 has been reversed by the Full Bench, the impugned order cannot be sustained. The proceedings initiated on an objection filed under Rule 285-I of U. P. Z. A. and L. R. Rules have been held to be Judicial proceeding. Hence we hold that Section 5 of the Limitation Act shall be applicable to the proceedings under Rule 285-I and the application of the petitioners filed for condonation of delay ought to have been decided on merits which has not been done by the Commissioner."

13. Rule 285-I of the Rules, 1952 itself mentioned that within thirty days from the date of sale, an application/objection may be made to Commissioner to set-aside the sale on the ground mentioned in the Rules, 1952. But this Rule itself does not prohibit the Commissioner to condone the delay if aforesaid application/objection against the sale is filed beyond thirty days, therefore, in the provision itself, there is no prohibition for condoning the delay in filing objection beyond thirty days. Rule 285-I of the Rules, 1952 is being reproduced as under :

"285-I. (i) At any time within thirty days from the date of the sale, application may be made to the Commissioner to set aside the sale on the ground of some material irregularity or mistake in publishing or conducting it; but no sale shall be set aside on such ground unless the applicant proves to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that he has sustained substantial injury by reason of such irregularity or mistake."

14. Considering the above legal position, this Court is of the view that if any objection under Section-285-I of the Rules, 1952 is filed before the Commissioner then application under Section-5 of the Act, 1963 is very well applicable and Commissioner has an authority to condone the delay in filing an objection.

15. So far as second question is concerned regarding violation of provision of Rules, 1952 in conducting the impugned auction proceeding/sale, same can very well be dealt with by the Commissioner while considering the objection of the petitioner, therefore, this Court is of the view that no finding is required at this stage.

16. The Hon'ble Apex Court in number of judgements already observed that reason must be recorded by the judicial or quasi-judicial authority while passing an order. This Court also expressed its strong displeasure about the order passed by Board of Revenue in revision because no finding was recorded while dismissing the revision it was dismissed only on the ground that it has no force therefore order of Board of Revenue passed in revision also deserves to be set-aside.

17. In view of the above legal position, this Court is of the view that order dated 23.03.1993 passed by Commissioner,

1. Both the aforementioned cases are taken up together, as they arise of common proceedings.

2. Sri Shyam Mohan Pradhan, Advocate along with Dr. R.K. Srivastava, Advocate for the petitioner and the learned counsel for the respondent are present.

3. By means of the instant petition the petitioner has challenged the proceedings and orders passed in proceedings under the provisions of the U.P. Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act 1960 (hereinafter referred as 'Act of 1960').

4. It has been submitted that a notice under Section 10(2) of the Act of 1960 was issued to the original tenure holder Sri Labh Singh S/o Mehtab Singh, which was served on him on 03.12.1974. As per the said notice, it was proposed to declare 83.57 Acres of land as 'Surplus'.

5. The original tenure holder filed his objections to the said notice and stated that he had sold major portion of the said land by executing registered sale-deeds of 12.05 Acres on 03.06.1970 in favour of Gur Bachan Kaur; of 12.05 Acres on 08.04.1970 in favour of Jitendra Singh; of 12.05 Acre on 08.04.1970 in favour of Binder Kaur; of 12.05 Acre on 03.06.1970 in favour of Gurmeet Singh; of 12.05 Acre on 03.06.1970 in favour of Beayant Singh Kaur; of 12.30 Acre on 03.06.1970 in favour of Indrapal Singh; of 11.24 Acre on 18.04.1970 in favour of Arvind Kaur; and he further submitted that all these sale-deeds have been executed prior to the cut-of-date, i.e. 24.01.1971, prescribed in the Act of 1960 and hence the said land ought to be excluded from the holdings of the original holder. It was further submitted that after excluding the said lands there was no land, which exceeded the ceiling-limit, which is prescribed in the said Act, and accordingly prayed for discharge of the notice issued to him. The original tenure holder had filed evidence of all sale-deeds before the Prescribed Authority and also examined himself in support of the objections raised by him.

6. The Prescribed Authority after considering all the material on record and also going through the sale-deeds, agreed with the objections filed by the original tenure holder and excluded all the lands, which have been alienated on the basis of the aforesaid sale-deeds and discharged the notices issued to the original tenure holder.

7. The controversy in the present case has started on issuance of another notice under Section 10(2) of the Act of 1960 on 08.07.1991 to Dheeraj Singh, who is the son of the original tenure holder. The objections were filed by taking the plea that this aspect of the matter has already been considered by the Prescribed Authority, when he had issued notice with regard to the same holding to the then original tenure holder Labh Singh and on the basis of the sale-deeds he had discharged the notices. It has been submitted that once notices were discharged, proceedings under the Act of 1960 came to an end and the Prescribed Authority had discharged the notices after due consideration of all the evidence on record, especially the sale-deeds where his holding was sold to seven persons prior to the cut-of-date.

8. The State, on the other hand, submitted that the sale-deeds executed by Labh Singh were Sham and fictitious and have been entered into only to evade the ceiling proceedings under the Act of 1960. It has also been stated that all the vendees were minor, at the time the sale-deeds were executed and they were also minor on the date of coming into effect of the said Act and, in fact, the land had at all times been vested in the original tenure holder and subsequently in the petitioner, who is his son. In this way, it has been submitted that the petitioner held land more than the land as prescribed under the Act of 1960 and consequently, there was no infirmity in subjecting him to the proceeding under the said Act.

9. The Prescribed Authority by means of an order dated 22.06.1993 rejected all the objections raised by the petitioner and declared 59.182 Acre as the 'Surplus Land'. He returned a finding that all the vendees were minor on the date when the sale-deeds were executed and that Labh Singh had sold the land to his grand-children, while he continued to be in possession of the said land even pursuant to the sale-deeds. With regard to the plea that proceedings under section 10(2), Act of 1960 had been finalized, the Prescribed Authority has no power to re-open the same, as the proceedings were bad considering the principle of res-judicata, he rejected the contention of the petitioner stating that the parties are different and the land is also different, while deciding Issue No. 5.

10. Being aggrieved by order of the Prescribed Authority dated 22.06.1993, two appeals were preferred by the petitioner and decided by the common judgment by the Addl. Commissioner (Judicial)-I, Lucknow Mandal, Lucknow, by means of order dated 22.06.1994. The said appeals were rejected and the order of the Prescribed Authority was confirmed. While rejecting the said appeals, the Appellate Authority noticed that the State had not given any details about the age of the vendees to whom sale-deeds had been executed by Labh Singh and further gave a categorical finding that the notices issued under section 10(2) were defective in as much as the details of the family were not properly shown and it was also not indicated as to whether they were minor or not.

11. Learned counsel for the petitioner while assailing the findings recorded by the Prescribed Authority as well as the Appellate Authority has submitted that institution of the proceedings was illegal, arbitrary and contrary to the statutory provision. He further stated that once the proceedings had previously been initiated under Section 10(2), Act of 1960 against the original tenure holder Labh Singh and his objections were sustained in as much as all these sale-deeds were found to be genuine and correct and were excluded from the original holding of Labh Singh, then the same land could not again be subjected to the provisions of the Act of 1960 and once the sale-deeds have been executed without demur, they cannot be subjected to challenge under fresh proceedings under section 10(2) of the Act of 1960. He also submitted that the principle of res-judicata applies with full force even to the ceiling proceedings under the Act of 1960 and any finding recorded by the Prescribed Authority binds him in subsequent proceedings. He submitted that once the objections raised by Labh Singh were found to be genuine and correct and the lands which had been alienated on the basis of the sale-deeds were excluded from his holding, same can not again be considered, as part of the holding of the petitioner.

12. Learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon the various judgments, details of which are given below:

(1) Devendra Nath Singh (Dead), through legal heirs & ors. V.

Civil Judge & anr., AIR 1999 SC 2264, para-3 of which reads as under:

"3. Having examined the provisions of Section 13-A and Section 38-B of the Act, we are of the considered opinion that under Section 13-A the Prescribed Authority has the power to reopen the matter within two years from the date of the notification under sub-section (4) of Section 14 to rectify any apparent mistake which was there on the face of the record. That power will certainly not include the power to entertain fresh evidence and re-examine the question as to whether the two sons, namely, Hamendra and Shailendra were major or not. The power under Section 38-B merely indicates that if any finding or decision was there by any ancillary forum prior to the commencement of the said Section in respect of a matter which is governed by the Ceiling Act then such findings will not operate as res judicata in a proceeding under the Act. That would not cover the case where findings have already reached its finality in the very case under the Act. In this view of the matter we have no hesitation to come to the conclusion that the Prescribed Authority had no jurisdiction to reopen the question of majority of the two sons in purported exercise of the power under Section 13-A. If the Authority had no jurisdiction, question of waiver of jurisdiction does not arise, as contended by learned counsel for the respondent."

(2) In the case of Pyare and ors. V. Dy. Director of Consolidation, Camp at Faizabad & ors., Writ Petition No. 423 of 1977 the following has been observed:

"8. Learned counsel for the petitioners has contended that the rule of res judicata is a technical rule and the technicalities of law should not be allowed to override the interest of justice. The rule of res judicata may be technical, but the basis on which the said rule rests is founded on consideration of public at large that finality should attach to the binding decisions pronounced by the courts of competent jurisdiction and that individuals should not be vexed twice over with the same kind of litigation. The principles of constructive res judicata also apply to the writ proceedings. The omission to raise a point in an earlier petition, which could have been raised, would debar the litigant from raising that point in the subsequent petition. (See Devilal Modi Vs. Sales Tax Officer and others, AIR 1965 SC 1150); (T. Govindraja Mudaliar Vs. The State of Tamil Nadu & others, AIR 1973 SC 974)."

13. He submits that once the finding was recorded by the Prescribed Authority that the land sold by the original tenure holder by means of the sale-deeds, ought to have been excluded, the same lands could not have been clubbed together at the hands of the petitioner, who is legal heir of the original tenure holder, now to declare the said land as falling within the ambit of Act of 1960.

14. Learned Standing Counsel, on the other hand has opposed the writ-petition. He submits that there is no infirmity in the re-initiation of proceedings under Section 10(2) of the Act of 1960. The State derived subsequent knowledge that the petitioners were minor at the time, when the sale-deeds were entered into and also on the date of coming into force of the Act of 1960 and, consequently, from the face of it is evident that the said sale-deeds were fraud and subterfuge, with a view to evade the clutches of Act of 1960. He also submits that once it is shown that all the grand-children of the original tenure holder to whom the lands were transferred, were minor, then it would be assumed that they fell into the family of the petitioner and, consequently, all their holding have to be considered collectively as per the provisions of Section 2(7) of the Act of 1960.

15. The said argument has been contested by the learned counsel for the petitioner by stating that this aspect was considered partially in the proper perspective by the Appellate Authority, and only Indra Pal, who was born in 1949, has been held to be a major and 2.00 Hectares of land has been excluded as such. He submits that even the findings recorded by the Appellate Court in this regard are arbitrary and illegal. In his written statement, he clearly indicated that though Indra Pal was born in 1949, while Devendra/Dil Binder Kaur was born in 1952, Gur Bachan Kaur was born in 1954; Gurmeet Singh was born in 1955 and, hence all the said persons were major on the date of coming into force of the same Act, i.e., 08.06.1973 and even the finding in this regard recorded by the Appellate Authority is clearly illegal and arbitrary and contrary to records.

16. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and perused the records.

17. The main controversy, which has engaged attention of this Court is as to whether notice under Section 10(2) of the Act of 1960 can be issued again with regard to the same holding, whereas previously the notices have been discharged, after receiving the objections of the original tenure holder, and the land has been found to be not within the ambit of Act of 1960. In the present case, undoubtedly notices were issued previously to the original tenure holder Labh Singh and on his submitting an objection, stating that the said land had been sold prior to the cut-of-date by means of seven registered sale-deeds and the land remaining with the original tenure holder does not fall within the Act of 1960, the Prescribed Authority duly examined the said objections and dropped the proceedings. The only difference, which has been made since issue of the first notice, is that Labh Singh has died in the meanwhile and now the notice has been issued to his son, the present petitioner for the same holding. Now the stand of the respondents has changed dramatically and whereas on the first occasion they did not challenge or assailed the validity of the sale-deeds, now they have said that the said sale-deeds have been entered only to evade the provisions of the Act of 1960. It is stated that the vendees were minor at the time of execution of the sale-deeds and the Deeds have been entered only with a view to reduce the original holding of the original tenure holder. The said grounds raised by the State have been accepted by both the parties.

18. Learned counsel for the petitioner, on the other hands, has submitted that apart from the fact that he notice cannot be issued again for the same holding, it is also stated that once a finding has been returned, the validity of the sale-deeds entered into prior to the cut-of-date cannot be examined by the Prescribed Authority. In support of his submissions he has relied upon a judgment in the case of Ramadhar Singh v. Prescribed Authority & ors., 1994 Supp. (3) SCC 702, wherein the following has been held:

"??? The existence of the sale deed being not disputed and it having taken place, as said before, on February 24, 1969, prior to the appointed day that is January 24, 1971, the inquiry regarding the validity of the sale deed under sub-section (6) of Section 5 was totally misplaced. Thereunder, as it appears to us, the appropriate authority had no jurisdiction to be put the validity of the sale deed to test since his jurisdiction arose only when the deed of transfer had been effected on or after the appointed day. Not only the first and the appellate authority under the Act persisted in that view, but the High Court too proceeded on that basis. The effort of the appellant to have it declared that the authorities had no jurisdiction to invalidate the sale under sub-section (6) of Section 5 when read with Explanation II to sub-section (1) of Section 5 also was a futile attempt because the High Court followed the path, as did the authorities under the Act, and rejected the writ petition. We are of the view that this was a wholly erroneous approach. Sub-section (6) of Section 5 did not confer jurisdiction on the authorities to determine the validity of the sale and if that is so, any finding of theirs as to the contents of the sale, is of no assistance. In the result the appeal must succeed. Accordingly, allowing the same we set aside all the orders of the authorities below as also that of the High Court. No costs."

19. He further relies upon a judgment of this court in the case of Indrapal Singh & ors. v. Prescribed Authority, Meerut & anr., 2007(103) RD 102, wherein the following has been observed:

"8. The Supreme Court in Ram Adhar Singh v. The Prescribed Authority and others,' has held that no inquiry regarding the va- lidity of the sale-deed under section 5(6) of the Act could be made with regard to the genuineness of the sale-deed executed prior to 24.1.1971. The Supreme Court further held that appellate authority had no jurisdiction to put the validity of the sale-deed to test since its jurisdiction arose only when the deed of transfer had been effected on or after the appointed day, i.e., 24.1.1971. Consequently, this Court holds that the prescribed authority could not consider the genuineness of the sale-deed dated 9.1.1970 and the land transferred vide sale-deed is liable to be excluded from the holding of the petitioner."

20. Rebutting the arguments of the petitioner, it is stated by the learned Standing Counsel that in the present proceedings the sale-deeds cannot be relied upon and read, as sought by the petitioner and all the lands, which have been alienated by the said sale-deeds, in fact should be taken and added as part of the original holdings of the petitioner and subjected to the provisions of the Act of 1960.

21. This court has also examined the said contention. Apart from the fact that the sale-deeds were presented before the Prescribed Authority, wherein he had issued notice in 1970 to the original tenure holder Sri Labh Singh and he had dropped the proceedings, accepting the sale-deeds and excluded the lands from the original holdings of Labh Singh. The validity of the sale-deeds, which were entered into prior to the coming into force of the Act of 1960 could not have been looked into. The judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Ramadhar Singh (supra) lays down the law in this regard and there cannot be any deviation from the same.

22. In the light of the above, this court also finds itself bound to follow the aforesaid provision enunciated by the

U.O.I Vs N. Murugesan, (2022) 2 SCC 25

(Delivered by Hon'ble Alok Mathur, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ankit Pande, learned counsel for petitioner as well as learned Standing Counsel for respondents.

2. By means of the present writ petition, the petitioner has challenged the order dated 09.04.2001 passed by the Additional Commissioner (Judicial) Faizabad Division, Faizabad thereby dismissing the appeal preferred by the petitioner and declaring 9.702 irrigated land as surplus land.

3. Brief facts necessary for adjudication of present case are that a notice under Section 10(2) of the U.P. Imposition of Ceiling of Land Holdings Act, 1960 was issued to the petitioner who had filed his objection on 22.11.1974 wherein he has stated that a family settlement had taken place with regard to ancestral land about 20 years back between his father and his other brothers. In pursuance of the said partition, his father was not allotted any share of land situated at in Villages Maraila, Ranipur and Pure Chakpihani and the land in all the four villages were allotted to his uncles.

4. During the proceedings pending under Section 10(2) before the prescribed authority, Sri Dukh Haran Singh one of the real uncle of the petitioner moved an application for being impleaded and also filed written objection before the prescribed authority. He had also stated that a family partition had taken place with his three other real brothers and they have been in exclusive possession of the respective lands ever since then. He further stated that a partition suit has also been filed in respect of villages Ranipur, Maraila and Pureprasad in the revenue court on 20.03.1970 in which a preliminary decree was passed on 21.08.1971 and a final decree was also passed sometimes in the year 1972.

5. He admitted that pursuant to the said partition, mutation has not been carried out in the revenue records. It was further stated that during the said period fire had broken out in the revenue record room of the Collectorate, Bahraich and all the papers were burnt and hence they had filed another partition suit in the year 1974 and a final decree of partition has also been passed on 31.01.1976 and as per the said partition, lands of village Benipur, district Gonda and also 20 acres of land of village Bankati was allotted to Sri Sukhraj Singh whereas the entire land of village Maraila, Pura Parasad and Ranipur was allotted to him and other brother Baijnath Singh and that no share was given to Sri Sukhraj Singh in the land of all the three villages.

6. The said application for impleadment was allowed by the prescribed authority by order dated 22.03.1979 and evidence was also adduced by the tenure holders including the petitioner as well as Dukh Haran Singh. By means of order dated 31.03.1979 the prescribed authority had dismissed all the objections holding that the said partition was not genuine partition but was entered into only for the purpose of protecting the lands from ceiling proceedings and further returned a finding that the said partition had taken place after the cut off date and consequently would not be of any assistance to a tenure holder. He accordingly declared 9.702 acre land in terms of irrigated land as surplus land of the tenure holder of the petitioner and directed that the entire surplus land be taken from the lands of the petitioner from village Bankati.

7. Aggrieved by the aforesaid order dated 31.03.1979, the petitioner filed a Rent Appeal No. 130/1979 and Dukh Haran Singh filed Rent Appeal No. 123/1979. Both these appeals were heard and decided by the District Judge by means of judgment dated 27.11.1979. The District Judge has allowed the appeal of Dukh Haran Singh bearing Rent Appeal No. 123 of 1979 and partly allowed the appeal of the petitioner hearing Rent Appeal No. 130 of 1979 and only allowed his appeal to the extent that no surplus land Sukharaj Singh shall be taken from village Bankati as has been originally ordered by the prescribed authority vide its order dated 31.03.1979.

8. Being aggrieved by the order of District Judge dated 27.11.1979, the petitioner did not file any writ petition before the High Court. His uncle, Dukh Haran Singh filed a writ petition being Writ petition No. 145 of 1980 before this Court. The said writ petition was allowed by this court by judgement dated 12.01.1984 quashing the order dated 27.11.1979 and restored the appeal of Dukh Haran Singh to its original number and directed the appellate authority to decide in terms of order of the court.

9. The appeal of the Sri Dukh Haran Singh bearing Rent Appeal No. 123 of 1979 was heard by District Judge and it was allowed by means of order dated 28.11.1984. While allowing the said appeal the order of prescribed authority dated 31.03.1979 was upheld to the extent only that 9.702 acres of land in terms of irrigated land is declared surplus land of the petitioner and the prescribed authority was directed to take out surplus land of the petitioner either from his exclusive land of village Benipur or out of his exclusive 28 acres land of village Bankati.

10. The petitioner after a lapse of 5 years filed a writ petition before this court being aggrieved by the fact that the area of village Benipur is only 20 acres and not 28 acres while the District Judge while allowing the appeal of the petitioner has maintained the same surplus area. This Court while dismissing the writ petition i.e. Writ Petition No. 2167 of 1985 preferred by the petitioner given liberty to the petitioner to approach District Judge only with regard to operative portion of the order to consider whether area of the land of the petitioner at Benipur was 20 acres or 28 acres.

11. In pursuance to the direction of this Court dated 16.10.1985, the appellate authority has upheld his previous findings and held that no interference is required with the same while dismissing the claim of the petitioner by means of impugned judgement dated 09.04.2001.

12. The petitioner has vehemently urged that the appellate authority while deciding the appeal No. 123 of 1979 has accepted the fact that the property was partitioned and by metes and bounds specific lands were allotted in favour of all the brothers and accordingly exempted the land from operation of Act of 1960. He submits that once the said findings has been returned by the District Judge then the petitioner would also be entitled to the same.

13. Learned Standing Counsel on the other hand has opposed the writ petition. He submits that the issue which has been canvassed before this Court was also considered by the District Judge while deciding the appeal of the petitioner. He submits that against the appellate order dated 27.11.1979 which was common to appeal No. 123 of 1979 and 130 of 1970 only Dukh Haran Singh being aggrieved had approached this court by filing writ petition No. 450/1980. It is only at the instance of Dukh Haran Singh, this Court interfered with the appellate order and remanded the matter to the appellate authority for consider the same and to consider the aspect of partition as canvassed by the writ petitioner.

14. The petitioner did not challenge the order dated 27.11.1979 and accordingly the order passed in his appeal NO. 123 of 1979 became final and binding upon the petitioner. Further, the petitioner had an occasion to come again before this Court assailing the appellate order passed by the District Judge by filing writ petition being Writ Petition No. 2167 of 1985. Even by approaching this Court after such a long lapse of time the petitioner did not assail the findings recorded by the appellate authority in its judgment dated 27.11.1979 but challenged only the limited findings with regard to area to be declared surplus in Benipur. It was open for the petitioner to assail the findings of the appellate court dated 27.11.1979 but he was satisfied with the findings recorded therein and hence the said judgment became final and binding. In its order dated 27.11.1979 the only benefit given to the petitioner was that as per his choice lands other than Bankati may be taken as surplus land.

15. In the case in hand, the petitioner is estopped from challenging an order on the ground that he cannot be permitted to both approbate and reprobate after acquiescence of the order which has not been challenged by the petitioner. The present circumstances of the case attract the principle of acquiescence and principle of approbate and reprobate. The concept of Acquiescence, Approbate and Reprobate has been aptly explained by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case titled as Union of India v. N. Murugesan, (2022) 2 SCC 25. The relevant paragraphs are as follows:

"25. Acquiescence would mean a tacit or passive acceptance. It is implied and reluctant consent to an act. In other words, such an action would qualify a passive assent. Thus, when acquiescence takes place, it presupposes knowledge against a particular act. From the knowledge comes passive acceptance, therefore instead of taking any action against any alleged refusal to perform the original contract, despite adequate knowledge of its terms, and instead being allowed to continue by consciously ignoring it and thereafter proceeding further, acquiescence does take place. As a consequence, it reintroduces a new implied agreement between the parties. Once such a situation arises, it is not open to the party that acquiesced itself to insist upon the compliance of the original terms. Hence, what is essential, is the conduct of the parties. We only dealt with the distinction involving a mere acquiescence.

Approbate and reprobate

26. These phrases are borrowed from the Scots law. They would only mean that no party can be allowed to accept and reject the same thing, and thus one cannot blow hot and cold. The principle behind the doctrine of election is inbuilt in the concept of approbate and reprobate. Once again, it is a principle of equity coming under the contours of common law. Therefore, he who knows that if he objects to an instrument, he will not get the benefit he wants cannot be allowed to do so while enjoying the fruits. One cannot take advantage of one part while rejecting the rest. A person cannot be allowed to have the benefit of an instrument while questioning the same. Such a party either has to affirm or disaffirm the transaction. This principle has to be applied with more vigour as a common law principle, if such a party actually enjoys the one part fully and on near completion of the said enjoyment, thereafter questions the other part. An element of fair play is inbuilt in this principle. It is also a species of estoppel dealing with the conduct of a party.

27. We would like to quote the following judgments for better appreciation and understanding of the said principle:

27.2.State of Punjab v. Dhanjit Singh Sandhu [State of Punjab v. Dhanjit Singh Sandhu, (2014) 15 SCC 144] : (SCC pp. 153-54, paras 22-23 & 25-26)

“22. The doctrine of ?approbate and reprobate? is only a species of estoppel, it implies only to the conduct of parties. As in the case of estoppel it cannot operate against the provisions of a statute. (Vide CIT v. MR. P. Firm Muar [CIT v. MR. P. Firm Muar, AIR 1965 SC 1216] .)

23. It is settled proposition of law that once an order has been passed, it is complied with, accepted by the other party and derived the benefit out of it, he cannot challenge it on any ground. (Vide Maharashtra SRTC v. Balwant Regular Motor Service [Maharashtra SRTC v. Balwant Regular Motor Service, AIR 1969 SC 329] .) In R.N. Gosain v. Yashpal Dhir [R.N. Gosain v. Yashpal Dhir, (1992) 4 SCC 683] this Court has observed as under : (R.N. Gosain case [R.N. Gosain v. Yashpal Dhir, (1992) 4 SCC 683] , SCC pp. 687-88, para 10)

‘10. Law does not permit a person to both approbate and reprobate. This principle is based on the doctrine of election which postulates that no party can accept and reject the same instrument and that ?a person cannot say at one time that a transaction is valid and thereby obtain some advantage, to which he could only be entitled on the footing that it is valid, and then turn round and say it is void for the purpose of securing some other advantage?..?’

25. The Supreme Court in Rajasthan State Industrial Development & Investment Corpn. v. Diamond & Gem Development Corpn. Ltd. [Rajasthan State Industrial Development & Investment Corpn. v. Diamond & Gem Development Corpn. Ltd., (2013) 5 SCC 470 : (2013) 3 SCC (Civ) 153] , made an observation that a party cannot be permitted to ?blow hot and cold?, ?fast and loose? or ?approbate and reprobate?. Where one knowingly accepts the benefits of a contract or conveyance or an order, is estopped to deny the validity or binding effect on him of such contract or conveyance or order. This rule is applied to do equity, however, it must not be applied in a manner as to violate the principles of right and good conscience.

26. It is evident that the doctrine of election is based on the rule of estoppel, the principle that one cannot approbate and reprobate is inherent in it. The doctrine of estoppel by election is one among the species of estoppel in pais (or equitable estoppel), which is a rule of equity. By this law, a person may be precluded, by way of his actions, or conduct, or silence when he has to speak, from asserting a right which he would have otherwise had.?’

27.3.Rajasthan State Industrial Development & Investment Corpn. v. Diamond & Gem Development Corpn. Ltd.

[Rajasthan State Industrial Development & Investment Corpn. v. Diamond & Gem Development Corpn. Ltd., (2013) 5 SCC 470 : (2013) 3 SCC (Civ) 153] : (SCC pp. 480-81, paras 15-16)

?I. Approbate and reprobate

15. A party cannot be permitted to ?blow hot-blow cold?, ?fast and loose? or ?approbate and reprobate?. Where one knowingly accepts the benefits of a contract, or conveyance, or of an order, he is estopped from denying the validity of, or the binding effect of such contract, or conveyance, or order upon himself. This rule is applied to ensure equity, however, it must not be applied in such a manner so as to violate the principles of what is right and of good conscience. [Vide Nagubai Ammal v. B. Shama Rao [Nagubai Ammal v. B. Shama Rao, 1956 SCR 451 : AIR 1956 SC 593] , CIT v. V. MR. P. Firm Muar [CIT v. MR. P. Firm Muar, AIR 1965 SC 1216] , Ramesh Chandra Sankla v. Vikram Cement [Ramesh Chandra Sankla v. Vikram Cement, (2008) 14 SCC 58 : (2009) 1 SCC (L&S) 706] , Pradeep Oil Corpn. v. MCD [Pradeep Oil Corpn. v. MCD, (2011) 5 SCC 270 : (2011) 2 SCC (Civ) 712] , Cauvery Coffee Traders v. Hornor Resources (International) Co. Ltd. [Cauvery Coffee Traders v. Hornor Resources (International) Co. Ltd., (2011) 10 SCC 420 : (2012) 3 SCC (Civ) 685] and V. Chandrasekaran v. Administrative Officer [V. Chandrasekaran v. Administrative Officer, (2012) 12 SCC 133 : (2013) 2 SCC (Civ) 136 : (2013) 4 SCC (Cri) 587 : (2013) 3 SCC (L&S) 416] .]

16. Thus, it is evident that the doctrine of election is based on the rule of estoppel?the principle that one cannot approbate and reprobate is inherent in it. The doctrine of estoppel by election is one among the species of estoppel in pais (or equitable estoppel), which is a rule of equity. By this law, a person may be precluded, by way of his actions, or conduct, or silence when it is his duty to speak, from asserting a right which he would have otherwise had."

16. In pursuance of the remand order dated 28.11.1984 the matter was heard by Additional Commissioner (Judicial), Faizabad Mandal, Faizabad who again examined the matter and all the orders passed in the said proceedings and held that the order dated 27.11.1979 has become final against the petitioner and a surplus of 9.702 acres has been declared to be surplus to be deducted from the holdings of the petitioner and hence no interference is required in the said findings and rejected the application of the petitioner.

17. The only grievance of the petitioner is that none of lands from village Bankati should be taken as surplus and the choice given by him should be adhered to and respected by the prescribed authority.

18. Learned Standing Counsel on the other hand has relied upon the averments made in the counter affidavit where the order dated 14.05.1980 passed by the prescribed authority has been annexed where a detail of the surplus land has also been shown from which some land from village Bankati has also been declared to be surplus.

19. The findings recorded by the District Judge while dismissing the appeal of the petitioner by judgment dated 27.11.1979 had categorically held that no land from village Bankati would be taken as surplus as per the choice given by the petitioner.

20. Accordingly, respondents are directed not to deduct any land form village

Bankati and in case some land from village Bankati has been taken as surplus the same be restored to the petitioner and as per his choice land of the petitioner in other villages may be taken as surplus. In this regard liberty is given to the petitioner to move an appropriate application to the prescribed authority within next four weeks from today. In case such an application is made, the prescribed authority shall pass appropriate orders within two months thereafter strictly in accordance with the directions issued by this Court.

21. Subject to the aforesaid observations, there is no merits in the writ petition filed by the petitioner which is accordingly dismissed.

2. Satnam Kaur Vs Commissioner Division, Writ C No. 1000541 of 1992	Lucknow

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajay Bhanot, J.)

1. Heard Shri V. K. Pandey, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for the State.

2. The writ petition arises out of a judgement dated 10.04.2003 rendered by the appellate authority under the U.P. Imposition Ceiling (Amendment) Act (hereinafter referred to as 'the Ceiling Act') upholding the order of the prescribed authority declaring the disputed parcels of land to be surplus and discarding the sale deed executed in favour of the petitioner.

3. The petitioners are in possession of the disputed parcels of land.

4. The facts recited in the impugned order are that an agreement to sale was executed in favour of the petitioner by the original tenure holder on 14.12.1970 after payment of full consideration. The sale deed came to be registered subsequently on 10.06.1975 in favour of the petitioner.

5. The appellate authority has recorded that the cause for delay of one and a half year in executing the sale deed after execution of the agreement to sale has not been disclosed. On this footing the impugned orders finds that the sale deed was not executed in a good faith but only with an intent to defeat the provisions of the Ceiling Act.

6. The sale deed which is the subject matter of dispute has to be examined in light of under clause (b) of sub-section (6) and (8) of Section 5 of the U.P. Imposition Ceiling (Amendment) Act. The relevant provision is extracted hereinunder:

"5. Imposition of Ceiling.....

(b) a transfer proved to the satisfaction of the prescribed authority to be in good faith and for adequate consideration and under an irrevocable instrument not being a benami transaction or for immediate or deferred benefit of the tenure holder or other members of his family.

8) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-sections (6) and (7), no tenure-holder shall transfer any land held by him during the continuance of proceedings for determination of surplus land in relation to such tenure-holder and every transfer made in contravention of this sub-section shall be void."

7. These are two categories of sale deeds which arise for consideration in proceedings under the U.P. Imposition Ceiling (Amendment) Act. The validity of sale deeds executed prior to and after 24.01.1971 (the disputed sale deed falls in the category) and those after 10.10.1975 fell for consideration before this Court in Pramod Kumar and Others Vs. Additional Commissioner (Administration) Gorakhpur Division and others, reported at 1999 (1) AWC 875, wherein it was held:

"8. It may be noted that prescribed authority could look into the validity of the sale deeds not only executed after 24.1.1971 but also of the sale deeds executed prior to it. The sale deeds which are covered by sub-section (8) of Section 5 of the Act are to be treated as void.

9. The sale deeds executed after 24.1.1971 are to be ignored unless they are saved under clause (b) of sub-section (6) of Section 5. A reference in this regard may be made to the decision rendered in the case of Raghuvir Singh v. State of U. P. and others, 1996 AWC 1380 and Raghuvir Singh v. State of U. P. and others, 1979 AM 767.

10. Sub-section (8) of Section 6 has been added in the Statute by U. P. Imposition of Ceiling (Amendment] Act, 1976 (Act No. XX of 1976) which came into force with effect from 10.10.1975. Thus all sale deeds relied upon by the petitioners, i.e., dated 13.4.1973, 5.11.1974 and 20.9.1975 were executed before the enactment and enforcement of sub-section (8) of Section 5. Therefore, the said sale deeds cannot be said to be void in terms of sub-section (8) of Section 5. View taken to the contrary by the authorities below is thus, manifestly erroneous. Illegal. A reference in this regard may be made to the decision rendered by a Division Bench in the case of Om Prakash Agarwal v. A.D.J, and others, 1981 AWC 775. It was thus obligatory upon the authority below to look into the validity or otherwise of the sale deeds in question before discarding the same. The authorities below committed an error which is apparent on the face of record in holding that the aforesaid sale deeds were void and were hit by sub-section (8) of Section 5."

8. In Pramod (supra) this Court delineated the statutory duty of the appellate authority while examining the disputed sale deeds as under:

"11. The prescribed authority after going through the evidence on the record, recorded findings on the issues framed in the case against petitioners while dealing with sale deeds dated 5.11.1974 and 29.9.1975. It has taken the view that the said sale deeds were void on the basis of sub-section (8) of Section 5, which as stated above had no application in the present case. The appellate authority did not apply Its mind to the question as to whether the said sale deeds were executed in good faith, and for adequate consideration, under Irrevocable Instrument and as to whether they were benami or were executed for Immediate and deferred benefit of the tenure holder and other members of his family. In accordance with law, it had to apply Its mind to the said questions before discarding the said sale deeds and rejecting the claim of the petitioners."

9. Similarly this Court in Satnam Kaur Vs. Commissioner Lucknow Division rendered in Writ C No. 1000541 of 1992 while determining a similar issue regarding the bona fides of a sale deed in the context of the Ceiling Act stated thus:

"8. Considering the arguments of learned counsel for the petitioners as well as learned Standing Counsel and going through the contents of pleadings as well as impugned orders, it is evident that Section 5 (6) (b) of the Act, clearly provides that transfer by tenure holder, if made after 27.01.1971, its bona fide consideration as per market value and in good faith. It is not disputed that the agreement to sale related to the property in question were executed in between 31.03.1970 to 01.01.1971 as all the consideration was paid at the time of agreement and possession was also given in pursuance of the agreement, and thereafter, sale deed in respect of the property in question were executed in between 26.07.1971 to 17.10.1973. Agreements to sale with possession are not disputed and all these facts were not considered by the Prescribed Authority. Hence, the petition is allowed and the impugned orders are hereby set aside."

10. The recitals in the sale deed disclose that the delay in executing the sale deed after execution of the agreement to sale was occasioned on account of the continued ill health of the vendor. The sale deed was admittedly in the records before the appellate authority as well as prescribed authority. However, both the authorities neglected to consider the reasons for delay in execution of the sale deed as cited in the said document.

11. In this wake, the impugned orders are vitiated due to non application of mind and it cannot be stated that the sale deed was not in a good faith. The adequacy as well as payment of consideration in regard to the lands comprised in the sale deed are not disputed. There is no material in the record for both the authorities to hold that the sale deed lacked bona fides or was not executed in good faith.

12. In light of the preceding discussion and the findings of fact made above, the judgement rendered by this Court in Pramod (supra) and Satnam Kaur (supra) also cover the facts of this case.

13. The appellate authority as well as prescribed authority while passing the impugned orders 10.04.2003 and 31.03.1999 fell into errors of facts and law.

14. The impugned order passed by the appellate authority dated 10.04.2003 as well as the order passed by the prescribed authority dated 31.03.1999 are liable to be set aside and are set aside.

15. The writ petition is allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Arun Kumar Singh
Deshwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Anoop Trivedi, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Ami Tandon and Sri Abhinav Gaur, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Naveen Chandra Gupta, learned counsel for the respondent Department.

2. By means of the present writ petition, the petitioner has challenged the order dated 25.8.2022 passed by respondent No.3 by which the application of the petitioner for condoning the delay of three days in depositing the balance amount payable by him under the Direct Tax Vivad Se Vishwas Act, 2020 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 2020"), has been rejected.

3. Contentions of learned counsel for the petitioner is that the Parliament enacted the Act 2020 for the resolution of disputed tax. As per the above Act, 2020, the declarant should submit his declaration u/s 4 of the Act, 2020 before the designated authority, and thereafter the designated authority, after receiving the declaration submitted by the declarant, will grant a certificate to the declarant containing particulars of the tax arrears and the amount payable after such determination. It is further contended by learned counsel for the petitioner that in pursuance of the scheme of the above Act 2020, for the resolution of the tax for the Assessment Year 2010-11, the petitioner submitted his declaration on 5.6.2020 as required u/s 4 of the Act, 2020. After submission of the aforesaid declaration certificate of designated authority in Form-III as per Section 5 of the Act, 2020 was also uploaded on the portal on 9.11.2020, which was also downloaded by the petitioner on the same day. As per this certificate, the petitioner was required to pay Rs. 18,67,137/- on or before 31.12.2020. Before the expiry of the last date, the Ministry of Finance issued a notification dated 27.10.2020, by which the last date of submission of the balance amount was extended up to 31.3.2021. Subsequently, the aforesaid notification dated 27.10.2020 was amended by the Central Government by issuing another notification extending the last date of payment of balance tax and lastly, by notification dated 25.6.2021, the last date for payment of balance tax was extended till 31.10.2021. On 31.10.2021, it was Sunday. Therefore, to deposit the balance tax as mentioned in the certificate issued by the designated authority u/s 5 of the Act, 2020, the petitioner dropped a cheque for the amount of Rs. 8,67,137/- (after adjusting Rs. 10 Lakh which was already deposited by him prior to issuance of Form - III) in the drop box of the bank on Sunday itself, but the receipt for the payment (Challan) was issued by the bank on 3.11.2021, on encashment of the above cheque.

4. It was further submitted by the counsel for the petitioner that petitioner also met with an unfortunate accident on

1.11.2021 in which serious injuries were caused in his right knee and he was advised complete bed rest for a period of three days i.e. from 1.11.2021 to 3.11.2021 and in support of his claim, the petitioner has also annexed the medical certificate issued by the doctor as Annexure-8 to the writ petition. However, despite depositing the money in the account of the Income Tax Department, he was not permitted to submit/file Form-IV so as to entirely avail the benefit of the scheme under the Act 2020 because of the delay of three days in the generation of challan by the bank. Feeling aggrieved by the above action of the Income Tax Department, the petitioner moved an application before the Chairman of the Central Board of Direct Taxes on 15.11.2021 with a prayer that appropriate order be issued for condoning the delay of three days in depositing the balance amount towards his tax liability, but the above application was rejected by the impugned order dated 25.8.2022 on the ground that once last date has been mentioned in the notification to deposit the balance tax liability; therefore, the same cannot be extended.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner challenged the impugned order dated 25.8.2022 on the ground that there was a delay of three days in depositing the balance amount of tax, firstly for the reason that the last date for depositing the balance tax fell on Sunday. Secondly, because of the injury in his knee he could not approach the bank from 1.11.2021 to 3.11.2021. In support of his contention, learned counsel for the petitioner heavily relied upon the judgement of Delhi High Court passed in Writ Petition (C) No. 3560 of 2022 (I.A. Housing Solution Pvt. Ltd. vs. Principal Commissioner of Income Tax-4) decided on 2.11.2022 in which the present scheme issued under the Act, 2020 was under consideration regarding extension of date. While allowing this petition, the Delhi High Court condoned the delay in depositing the balance amount of tax and directed the Income Tax Department to accept the balance amount as stipulated in Form-III on the ground that unforeseen and extraneous circumstances which were beyond the control of the petitioner and resulted in delayed depositing the balance tax can be condoned considering the lockdown period on account of COVID-19 from 25.3.2020.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner further relied upon the judgement of Apex Court in the case of Shekhar Resorts Ltd. vs. Union of India and others, reported in (2023) 3 SCC 220. In the above judgement, Hon'ble Apex Court, after condoning the delay, permitted the petitioner to deposit the balance outstanding on the ground that the petitioner had already submitted his declaration but he could not make the payment due to legal impediment, therefore, condoning the said delay in depositing the balance amount is not the extension of the scheme, but it is taking a remedial measure.

7. Per contra, learned counsel for the Income Tax Department had submitted that after getting the declaration of the petitioner, certificate u/s 5 of the Act 2020 in Form-III was issued to the petitioner on 9.11.2020, but the petitioner by skipping the dates for depositing balance outstanding, kept on waiting for the extension of date and even could not deposit the balance outstanding of tax till last extended date. In support of his contention, learned counsel heavily relied upon the judgement of Apex Court in SLP (C) No. 2116 of 2023 (M/s Ken Computek

Pvt. Ltd. vs. Designated Committee (SVLDRS) and others) decided on 6.2.2023 in which the Apex Court observed that the last date to deposit the balance of tax, prescribed under the scheme under the Act, 2020, cannot be extended and confirmed the impugned judgement of the High Court and dismissed the writ petition of the petitioner on the ground that last date prescribed under SVLDR Scheme cannot be extended.

8. In reply to the averments of learned Standing Counsel, learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that judgement relied upon by learned Standing Counsel deserves to be ignored being sub silentio as no finding was recorded in the aforesaid judgement regarding the issue involved in the present petition. In support of his contention, learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon the judgement of Municipal Corporation of Delhi vs. Gurnam Kaur reported in (1989) 1 SCC 101, Arnit Das vs. State of Bihar, reported in (2000) 5 SCC 488 as well as the judgement of Tungabhadra Industries Ltd. vs. Union of India and others, reported in (2000) 5 SCC 501. In the above-cited judgements by learned counsel for the petitioner, the Apex Court observed that when a particular point is not consistently determined by the court, that does not form part of the ratio decidendi and is not binding.

9. From the pleadings of the parties and after perusal of the record, it appears that the Ministry of Finance, Government of India, has issued the “Vivad se Vishvash” Scheme in pursuance of the Act 2020. In section 2(1), the last date means such date as may be notified by the Central Government in the official gazette. As per Section 3 of the Act 2020, if the declarant for resolution, for resolution of disputed tax, files a declaration to designated authority in accordance with the provision of Section 4 in respect of tax arrears as mentioned in the chart before the last date, then the designated authority within 15 days from the date of receipt of declaration will determine the amount payable by the declarant and grant certificate to the declarant containing particulars of tax arrears and the amount payable after such declaration as per Form-III then the declarant shall pay the amount determined within 15 days from the date of receipt of certificate. Paragraph Nos. 3 and 5 of the Act 2020 are quoted as below:-

“3. Subject to the provisions of this Act, where a declarant files under the provisions of this Act on or before such date as may be notified, a declaration to the designated authority in accordance with the provisions of section 4 in respect of tax arrear, then, notwithstanding anything contained in the Income-tax Act or any other law for the time being in force, the amount payable by the declarant under this Act shall be as under, namely:—

Sl. No.	Nature of tax arrear.	Amount payable under this Act on or before the 31st day of December, 2020 or such later date as may be notified	Amount payable under this Act on or after the 1st day of January, 2021 or such later date as may be notified but on or before the last date
(a)	where the tax arrear is the aggregate amount of disputed tax, interest chargeable or charged on such disputed tax and penalty leviable or	amount of the disputed tax.	the aggregate of the amount of disputed tax and ten per cent. of disputed tax: provided that where the ten per cent. of disputed tax exceeds the aggregate amount of interest chargeable or levied on such disputed tax.		charged on such disputed tax and penalty leviable or levied on such disputed tax, the excess shall be ignored for the purpose of computation of amount payable under this Act.

(b)	where the tax arrear includes the tax, interest or penalty determined in any assessment on the basis of search under section 132 or section 132A of the Income-tax Act.	the aggregate of the amount of disputed tax and twenty-five per cent. of the disputed tax: provided that where the twenty-five per cent. of disputed tax exceeds the aggregate amount of interest chargeable or charged on such disputed tax and penalty leviable or levied on such disputed tax, the excess shall be ignored for the purpose of computation of amount payable under this Act.	the aggregate of the amount of disputed tax and thirty-five per cent. of disputed tax: provided that where the thirty-five per cent. of disputed tax exceeds the aggregate amount of interest chargeable or charged on such disputed tax and penalty leviable or levied on such disputed tax, the excess shall be ignored for the purpose of computation of amount payable.
(c)	where the tax arrear relates to disputed interest or disputed penalty or disputed fee.	twenty-five per cent. of disputed interest or disputed penalty or disputed fee.	thirty per cent. of disputed interest or disputed penalty or disputed fee:

Provided that in a case where an appeal or writ petition or special leave petition is filed by the income-tax authority on any issue before the appellate forum, the amount payable shall be one-half of the amount in the Table above calculated on such issue, in such manner as may be prescribed:

Provided further that in a case where an appeal is filed before the Commissioner (Appeals) or objections is filed before the Dispute Resolution Panel by the appellant on any issue on which he has already got a decision in his favour from the Income-tax Appellate Tribunal (where the decision on such issue is not reversed by the High Court or the Supreme Court) or the High Court (where the decision on such issue is not reversed by the Supreme Court), the amount payable shall be one-half of the amount in the Table above calculated on such issue, in such manner as may be prescribed:

Provided also that in a case where an appeal is filed by the appellant on any issue before the Income-tax Appellate Tribunal on which he has already got a decision in his favour from the High Court (where the decision on such issue is not reversed by the Supreme Court), the amount payable shall be one-half of the amount in the Table above calculated on such issue, in such manner as may be prescribed.

5. (1) The designated authority shall, within a period of fifteen days from the date of receipt of the declaration, by order, determine the amount payable by the declarant in accordance with the provisions of this Act and grant a certificate to the declarant containing particulars of the tax arrear and the amount payable after such determination, in such form as may be prescribed.

(2) The declarant shall pay the amount determined under sub-section (1) within fifteen days of the date of receipt of the certificate and intimate the details of such payment to the designated authority in the prescribed form and thereupon the designated authority shall pass an order stating that the declarant has paid the amount.

(3) Every order passed under sub-section (1), determining the amount payable under this Act, shall be conclusive as to the matters stated therein and no matter covered by such order shall be reopened in any other proceeding under the Income-tax Act or under any other law for the time being in force or under any agreement, whether for protection of investment or otherwise, entered into by India with any other country or territory outside India.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby clarified that making a declaration under this Act shall not amount to conceding the tax position and it shall not be lawful for the income-tax authority or the declarant being a party in appeal or writ petition or special leave petition to contend that the declarant or the income-tax authority, as the case may be, has acquiesced in the decision on the disputed issue by settling the dispute.”

10. In the present case, the petitioner had filed his declaration as required u/s 3 of the Act 2020 before the designated authority before the last date, i.e. 5.6.2020 and on receiving the declaration of the petitioner, the designated authority had also issued a certificate as required u/s 5 of the Act, 2020 on 9.11.2020 after adjusting the tax paid by the petitioner and also informed him the tax payable by him about Rs. 18,67,137/- before 31.12.2020 and it was also mentioned in the above certificate that after 31.12.2020 the petitioner would be liable to pay the arrears of tax of Rs. 20,84,351/-. It further appeared from the record that the last date for depositing the arrears of tax was extended from time to time and lastly by notification dated 25.6.2021 till 31.10.2021. But on the last date i.e. 31.10.2021, it was Sunday; therefore, as per the petitioner's contention, he dropped the cheque in the drop box of the bank of Rs. 8,67,137/-, after adjusting Rs.10 Lakh already deposited by him on 4.2.2019, which was cleared on 3.11.2021 and duly deposited in the account of the Income Tax Department. And the delay of three days occurred because on 1.11.2021, the petitioner met with an accident and suffered a knee injury, and, therefore, he could not approach the bank to clear the cheque or credit the amount on 1.11.2021. For this delay of three days, the Income Tax Department did not accept the amount deposited by the petitioner under the “Vivad is Vishwas” Scheme. Thereafter, the petitioner's application for condonation of delay of three days was also rejected by the Chairman of the Central Board of Direct Tax by order dated 25.8.2022. The fact of dropping of cheque in the drop box as well as the accident of the petitioner was not disputed by the respondent in the counter affidavit. Now the fact remained is whether the delay of three days in depositing the arrears of tax can be condoned, considering the fact of unforeseen circumstances which were beyond the control of the petitioner.

11. In the judgement of the Delhi High Court passed in Writ Petition (C) No. 3560 of 2022, a similar issue was under consideration. Delhi High Court, after considering the aforesaid issue, decided the same by judgement dated 2.11.2022 and observed that the delay in payment of arrears of tax is attributable to unforeseen and extraneous circumstances that were beyond the control of the petitioner; therefore, same is deserved to be condoned and directed the Income Tax Department to accept the declaration of the petitioner. Paragraphs No. 12 and 22 of the aforesaid judgement are being quoted as below:-

“12. This Court is further of the opinion that the delay in payments of the amounts, in the present cases are attributable to unforeseen and extraneous circumstances that were beyond control of the Petitioners. In fact, the country was intermittently in lockdown on account of the COVID-19 pandemic from 25th March, 2020. In recognition of these difficulties as pointed out hereinabove, the scheme was amended several times to extend the deadline for payment. Moreover, death of the Managing Director of the companies was an extraordinary and exceptional event which would render non-grant of relief on equitable consideration irrational.

22 This is also a fit case where no prejudice will be caused to the Respondents by accepting the prayer of the Petitioners. Rather, the Respondents benefit and achieve the purpose of the Scheme, namely, to reduce pendency of cases, generate timely revenue for the government and provide certainty and savings of resources that would be spent on the long-drawn litigation process.”

12. Similarly, another judgement relied upon by the counsel for the petitioner in Shekhar Resorts Ltd. (supra), the Apex Court in paragraph 25 of the aforesaid judgement observed that if delay in depositing the arrears of tax in resolution of scheme is caused due to extraordinary circumstance like sickness of the declarant and there was nobody to look after his affairs, then the court cannot close its eyes and will permit the declarant to deposit the same. The Apex Court also observed that while condoning the delay caused due to extraordinary circumstances in depositing the arrears of tax in the resolution scheme, the court will not amount to extending the scheme, but it is a remedial measure, considering the extraordinary circumstances of the declarant. Paragraphs No. 23, 24 and 25 are quoted below:-

“23. Applying the law laid down by this Court in the aforesaid decisions to the facts of the case on hand, the appellant cannot be punished for not doing something which was impossible for it to do. There was a legal impediment in the way of the appellant to make any payment during the moratorium. Even if the appellant wanted to deposit settlement amount within the stipulated period, it could not do so in view of the bar under the IBC as, during the moratorium, no payment could have been made. In that view of the matter, the appellant cannot be rendered remediless and should not be made to suffer due to a legal impediment which was the reason for it and/or not doing the act within the prescribed time.

24. Now so far as the observations made by the High Court to the effect that the High Court cannot, in exercise of powers under Article 226 of the Constitution of India extend the period under the scheme, 2019, to some extent the High Court is right. The High Court while exercising the powers under Article 226 of the Constitution of India cannot extend the scheme. However, in the present case it is not a case of extension of the scheme by the High Court; It is a case of taking remedial measures. It is not a case where the appellant did not make any application within the stipulated time under the scheme. This is not a case where the Form No.3 determining the settlement amount was not issued during the validity of the scheme. It is not a case where the appellant deliberately did not deposit the settlement amount and/or there was any negligence on the part of the appellant in not depositing the settlement amount within the stipulated time. As observed hereinabove it is a case where the appellant was unable to make the payment due to the legal impediment and the bar to make the payment during the period of moratorium in view of the provisions of the IBC.

25. In a given case it may happen that a person who has applied under the Scheme and who was supposed to make payment on or before 30.06.2020, became seriously ill on 29.06.2020 and there was nobody to look after his affairs and therefore he could not deposit the amount; such inability was beyond his control and thereafter, immediately on getting out of sickness he tried to deposit the amount and/or approached the Court - can the Court close its eyes and say that though there may be valid reasons and/or causes for that person's inability to make the payment, still no relief can be granted to him? There may be extra ordinary cases which are required to be considered on facts of each case. The Courts are meant to do justice and cannot compel a person to do something which was impossible for him to do. "

13. While in the judgement of M/s Ken ComputeK Pvt. Ltd. vs. Designated Committee (SVLDRS) and others, passed in SLP (C) No. 2116 of 2023, the Apex Court did not consider the issue of condoning the delay in extraordinary circumstances but only observed that benefit of scheme cannot be extended from the time prescribed under the scheme.

14. In view of the law mentioned above, as well as considering the pleadings and perusal of record, this Court is of the view that a delay of three days in depositing the arrears of tax of Rs. 8,67,137/- deserves to be condoned, and the amount balance tax deposited by the petitioner be accepted by the respondents treating the same well within time as per the scheme of Act, 2020 and also the impugned order /letter dated 25.8.2022, passed by Central Board of Direct Tax, is hereby quashed.

15. Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed.

2. Heard Shri N.I Jafri, learned Senior Advocate for the petitioners and learned AGA for the State-respondents.

3. Writ Petition No.6174 of 2023 seeks quashing of the first information report dated 28.03.2023 giving rise to Case Crime No.76 of 2023 seeks quashing of the first information reports dated 25.03.2023, under Section 2/3 of Uttar Pradesh Gangsters and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Rules, 2021, Police Station Saiyan, District Agr and Writ Petition Nos.5725 of 2023, 5373 of 2023, 5502 of 2023 and 5947 of 2023 seeks quashing of the first information reports dated 25.03.2023, under Section 2/3(1) of Uttar Pradesh Gangsters and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986, Police Station Kotwali, District Ballia.

4. The contention of counsel for the petitioners is that there is violation of Rule 16(3) of the Uttar Pradesh Gangster and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986 as the District Magistrate has granted approval to the gang chart mindlessly without proper perusal of the facts. Such violation vitiates the impugned first information report.

5. The next contention is that the petitioners do not constitute a gang as they are not covered by the definition of the gang as provided under Section 2(b) of the Act.

6. It is next submitted that a dumper belonging to the petitioner no.3 was seized at Saiyan Toll Plaza by the Toll Barrier Staff and the police during checking as is alleged in the first information report in the base case. The dumper was over-loaded with mineral dust. It was being driven by Achal Singh and his co-driver was B.S. Parmar. The truck was owned by Amit Mittal and that there is no documentation regarding a sand stone dust being transported. The number plate had been blackened to hide the registration number. It was also alleged that the driver was in constant touch with the owner of the dumper through a whatsapp group whose admins are petitioner nos.1 and 3.

7. It is next contended that the impugned First Information Report under the Gangsters Act is malicious prosecution as the police has not been able to collect any material during investigation of the base case to justify invocation of the provisions of the Gangsters Act against the petitioners. There is no independent witness of the alleged seizure. The vehicle has in any case being released in favour of the petitioner no.3. The minerals being loaded in the dumper was being transported with a valid pass for the same and the royalty of these minerals had been duly paid.

8. It is lastly contended that since the mineral and sand were loaded on the dumper, the same flow out obscured the number plate and had not been obfuscated deliberately.

9. Learned AGA has refuted the submissions made by learned counsel for the petitioners and has submitted that the petitioners fall within the definition of a gang as provided under Section 2(b), which includes persons, who acting either singly or collectively, by violence, or threat or show of violence, or intimidation, or coercion or otherwise with the object of disturbing public order or of gaining any undue temporal, pecuniary, material or other advantage.

10. It is submitted that the allegation in the base case is of transportation of the minerals and the same is necessarily for pecuniary advantage. The petitioners are therefore, fully covered by the definition of the word gang in Section 2(b) of the Act. The First Information Report therefore, cannot be quashed.

11. We have considered the submissions made by learned counsel for the parties and have perused the record.

12. We have substance in the submission of learned AGA that any illegal transportation of minerals would entail undue pecuniary or material or other advantage to the persons responsible for the transportation and therefore, the petitioners are covered by definition of the word gang in Section 2(b) of the Act. This is so because the word "Gang" means a group of persons, who act singly or collectively, by violence, or threat or show of violence, or intimidation, or coercion. These terms are not exclusive. The relevant word for the purposes of this writ petition occurring in Section 2(b) is the 'word otherwise'. Therefore, if pecuniary or material advantage is sought to be obtained, it is not necessarily required to be by violence, or threat or show of violence, or intimidation, or coercion, alone. The aforementioned words are qualified by the word 'otherwise' and therefore violence, threat or show of violence, intimidation and coercion alone are the necessary ingredients either singly or collectively. Any other manner of disturbing public order of gaining undue material or pecuniary advantage would also bring it within the definition of a 'gang' due to the use of the word 'otherwise' in Section 2(b) of the Act. Therefore, the submission of learned counsel for the petitioners in this regard is not liable to be accepted.

13. In so far as, the other submissions made by learned counsel for the petitioners are concerned, they are in our considered opinion are the defence of the petitioners, which cannot be looked into while dealing with a writ petition seeking quashing of the first information report.

14. The submission that approval has been granted to the gang chart by the District Magistrate mindlessly and without proper perusal of the documents accompanying it also does not impress this Court.

15. Perusal of the gang chart reveals that it has been approved by the Commissioner of Police, Commissionerate, Agra, who is authorized to approve the same. The submission that such approval has been granted without perusal of the requisite documents is an assertion and without any basis and therefore, cannot be accepted.

16. Since, the submissions of counsel for the petitioners do not find favour of this

17. Accordingly, these writ petitions fail and are hereby dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Jyotsna Sharma, J.)

1. Heard Sri Rishikesh Tripathi, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Manish Dwivedi, learned counsel for respondent no.2, Sri O.P. Mishra, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

2. By means of this criminal misc. writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, the petitioner- Smt. Zahida Anjum has prayed for issuance of writ of certiorari to quash the judgment and order dated 06.05.2005 passed by Additional District & Sessions Judge in Criminal Revision No.173/2004 (connected with criminal revision no.212 of 2004) and also seeking issuance of mandamus commanding respondent no.2 to pay maintenance amount of Rs.5000/- per month to the petitioner from the date of application under Section 125 Cr.P.C.

3. Relevant facts giving rise to this petition are as below:-

The petitioner moved an application seeking maintenance from her husband-respondent no.2, Atiqur Rahman before the Magistrate concerned in 2001. The trial court passed an order on 30.06.2004 and awarded Rs.1500/- per month in her favour as maintenance, payable from the date of the order. Challenging above order the petitioner as well as respondent no.2 preferred separate criminal revisions, Criminal Revision no.212 of 2004 seeking enhancement of maintenance amount by the petitioner and Criminal Revision No.173 of 2004 filed by her husband seeking to set aside the maintenance order. The learned revisional court dismissed revision filed by the petitioner and allowed the revision of respondent no.2 quashing the maintenance order by passing a common order dated 06.05.2005.

4. Following contentions are raised by the petitioner:-

Petitioner was never divorced and false plea of divorce was taken by her husband in written statement for the purpose of stalling the grant of maintenance. Respondent no.2, to stress his plea of divorce could only file photocopy of talaqnama that too at a very late stage of the trial, hence the plea of divorce was quite doubtful; learned trial court took correct view that the petitioner was entitled for maintenance; the petitioner was never paid any amount of dower nor any other amount to maintain her during “iddat” period; learned revisional court wrongly set-aside the order of Magistrate on the basis of assumptions and conjunctures; the view taken by revisional court was not supported by the evidence on record.

5. On the other hand, respondent no.2 has averred that he divorced his wife by pronouncing talaq three times (triple talaq) in a Panchayat held on 20.04.2004; the Panchayat was attended by father and relatives of his wife; the plea of triple talaq was categorically mentioned in his written statement filed before the trial court; no replication/additional reply to counter the above averment was ever given by his wife; he paid amount of dower and maintenance for “iddat” period; that because she is a divorcee, therefore, she is not entitled for any relief under the provisions of section-125 Cr.P.C.; section- 3 of Muslim Women (Protection of Rights on Marriage) Act, 2019 shall apply in such circumstances.

6. The petitioner has filed “written arguments” before this Court. In addition to the contentions mentioned in para-4, it is argued that:-

(i) *The plea of divorce is not acceptable and further such plea cannot impinge upon her right to obtain maintenance under Section 125 Cr.P.C. in the light of pronouncement of judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Shamim Ara vs. State of U.P., 2002 Cr.L.J. 4726.

(ii) It was mandatory to attempt for reconciliation between the parties, hence, any divorce without such attempt is illegal.

(iii) The revisional court gave the findings ignoring both the points of law just mentioned above.

(iv) If for argument sake, the petitioner is considered as divorcee, she has not re-married till yet. And therefore, in view of the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Shabana Bano vs. Imran Khan, 2009 AIR SCW 7490, she is entitled for maintenance so long she did not re-marry.

(v) Grant of divorce by pronouncing triple talaq is illegal in view of the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Shayara Bano vs. Union of India in Writ Petition No.118 of 2016, therefore, triple talaq cannot be a ground for denial of maintenance under Section 125 Cr.P.C.

7. First and foremost objection has been raised by the learned A.G.A. and learned counsel for the respondent no.2 that a judicial order is not amenable to the original writ jurisdiction of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. It is pointed out by the State that in this case the prayer is to quash the judgement and order dated 06.05.2005 passed in a revision.

8. To stress above point, judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Radhey Shyam and another vs. Chhabi Nath and others, (2015) 5 SCC 423 has been referred to. The apex court in the aforesaid judgment held that writ of certiorari lies to bring decisions of an "Inferior court", tribunal, public authority or any other body of persons for review so that the court may determine whether they should be quashed or not. However, expression "interference" the court is not referable to the judicial courts Writ of certiorari lies against patently erroneous or without jurisdiction orders of tribunals or authorities or courts other than judicial courts. The Apex Court in para 25 further observed as below:-

"25. All courts in the jurisdiction of a High Court are subordinate to it and subject to its control and supervision under Article 227. Writ jurisdiction is constitutionally conferred on all High Courts. Broad principles of writ jurisdiction followed in England are applicable to India and a writ of certiorari lies against patently erroneous or without jurisdiction orders of Tribunals or authorities or courts other than judicial courts. There are no precedents in India for High Courts to issue writs to subordinate courts. Control of working of subordinate courts in dealing with their judicial orders is exercised by way of appellate or revisional powers or power of superintendence under Article 227. Orders of civil court stand on different footing from the orders of authorities or Tribunals or courts other than judicial/civil courts. While appellate or revisional jurisdiction is regulated by statutes, power of superintendence under Article 227 is constitutional. The expression "inferior court" is not referable to judicial courts."

9. Thus, it has been clearly laid down that order of civil court could be challenged under Article 227 of the Constitution of India and not under original writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

10. At the same time, it is conceded that a writ petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India may be maintainable against such an order and that there is no legal bar in converting the writ petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India to one under Article 227 of the Constitution of India in the peculiarity of the circumstances to serve interest of justice.

11. I glanced over the facts and circumstances of this case. The most important facts which draw my attention are; the petitioner Zahida filed an application under section- 125 Cr.P.C. with a prayer to grant maintenance in the year 2001, the same was decided in the year 2004; the opposite party no.2 (her husband) filed a revision in 2004 which came to be decided on 06.05.2005; the wife (present petitioner) challenged that order on 14.07.2005 and the matter is pending before this Court since then i.e. last 17 years. All this while, this legal point was neither raised nor realized that this writ petition seeks to invoke powers under Article 226 instead of Article 227 Constitution of India . This is settled law that non-mentioning or wrong mentioning of provisions of law should not come in the path of granting appropriate relief, if the litigant otherwise is entitled for the same. In my view, an ordinary litigant cannot be expected of having too minute knowledge of provisions of law. This question has always been troubling my judicial conscience that what a common man or ordinary litigant has to do with the provision of law under which he may be entitled for relief. This should be the concern of the Court of law or Court of justice or his counsel/advocate. Where no other deterrent except non mentioning or wrong mentioning of law poses a hurdle in the winding path to justice, the judge ought to play its expected role. The Judge or the Court shall be failing in its duty towards an ordinary man/litigant by not looking for solutions and dismissing the writ on technical ground. In this view of the matter, I find it fit to treat this petition as one moved under Article 227 of the Constitution of India.

12. In this regard I draw support from another judgement of Supreme Court in Pepsi Foods Ltd. and Another vs. Special Judge Magistrate and Others, (1998) 5 SCC 749, in which it has been held that:-

“Nomenclature under which petition is filed is not quite relevant and that does not debar the court from exercising its jurisdiction which otherwise it possesses unless there is special procedure prescribed which procedure is mandatory. If in a case like the present one the court find that the appellants could not invoke its jurisdiction under Article 226, the court can certainly treat the petition one under Article 227 or Section 482 of the Code, it may not however, be lost sight of that provisions exist in the Code of revision and appeal but sometime for immediate relief Section 482 of the Code or Article 227 may have to be resorted to for correcting some grave errors that might be committed by the subordinate courts. The present petition though filed in the High Court as one under Articles 226 and 227 could well be treated under Article 227 of the Constitution.”

In view of the facts and circumstances of the case, I am treating this petition as one under Article 227 of the Constitution of India.

13. Two fold legal questions are involved in this case. Firstly, whether the revisionist (the instant petitioner herein) could have been treated as a divorcee and in case such a claim, if found acceptable, whether she will be entitled for grant of maintenance under section- 125 Cr.P.C.? I went through the submissions of both the sides and the laws pronounced by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Shamim Ara (supra), Shabana Bano (supra) and Shayara Bano (supra).

14. I choose to look at the law chronologically; in Shamim Ara vs. State of U.P. pronounced in the year 2000, the Apex Court had to deal with the question of pronouncement/proclamation of "Talaq", its proof and the repercussions in a case before it. It may be noted that in that case before the Apex Court, the contention was that husband pronounced "Talaq" on 11.07.1987; the plea was mentioned in the written statement filed on his behalf on 05.12.1990; it was argued by the other side that by filing a written statement in which the fact of "Talaq" has been mentioned, the communication as to pronouncement of "Talaq" stood completed on that date itself, therefore she shall be treated as divorcee from the date of filing of written statement. The Apex Court held as below:-

"16. We are also of the opinion that the talaq to be effective has to be pronounced. The term 'pronounce' means to proclaim, to utter formally, to utter rhetorically, to declare to, utter, to articulate (See Chambers 20th Century Dictionary, New Edition, p.1030). There is no proof of talaq having taken place on 11.7.1987. What the High Court has upheld as talaq is the plea taken in the written statement and its communication to the wife by delivering a copy of the written statement on 5.12.1990. We are very clear in our mind that a mere plea taken in the written statement of a divorce having been pronounced sometime in the past cannot by itself be treated as effectuating talaq on the date of delivery of the copy of the written statement to the wife. The respondent No.2 ought to have adduced evidence and proved the pronouncement of talaq on 11.7.1987 and if he failed in proving the plea raised in the written statement, the plea ought to have been treated as failed. We do not agree with the view propounded in the decided cases referred to by Mulla and Dr. Tahir Mahmood in their respective commentaries, wherein a mere plea of previous talaq taken in the written statement, though unsubstantiated, has been accepted as proof of talaq bringing to an end the marital relationship with effect from the date of filing of the written statement. A plea of previous divorce taken in the written statement cannot at all be treated as pronouncement of talaq by the husband on wife on the date of filing of the written statement in the Court followed by delivery of a copy thereof to the wife. So also the affidavit dated 31.8.1988, filed in some previous judicial proceedings not inter parte, containing a self-serving statement of respondent no.2, could not have been read in evidence as relevant and of any value."

15. The Calcutta High Court in Saheda Khatoon vs. Gholam Sarwar, 2002 Cri.L.J. 4150, took a similar view regarding proof of pronouncement of "Talaq". In para-6 of the judgement, the High Court observed as below:-

"It will be a dangerous proposition to say that now that the O.P. has given a statement in his written objection to the effect that he divorced his wife on any particular date, that statement should be taken to indicate that the alleged fact of divorce is thereby being communicated to the wife. The question of such communication through the averments in the pleadings could arise only if it was held that the alleged giving of divorce has been proved by the husband. But since in this case it has been held by him that the story of divorce has not been substantiated by trustworthy evidence, the question of its communication loses significance."

16. I perused the judgement of the revisional court; the learned revisional court decided two revisions; one filed by the wife and the other filed by the husband. Even a casual glance on the judgement given by the revisional court gives a clear indication that revisional court re-evaluated and re-assessed the evidence given by the parties in the proceeding under section- 125 Cr.P.C. and gave a clear finding that the husband had divorced his wife by pronouncing "Talaq" three times, therefore the wife shall not be entitled for any maintenance under the provisions of section- 125 Cr.P.C. and that from that moment, the provisions of section-3 of Muslim Women (Protection of Rights on Divorce) Act, 1986 shall come into play. After evaluating evidence afresh, the revisional court set-aside the judgement of the trial court and allowed the revision filed by husband and dismissed the revision filed by the wife.

17. In my view, a legal question therefore obviously arises whether it was legally permissible for a revisional court to re-evaluate the evidence afresh and set-aside the judgement of the trial court and reverse the finding? It may be noted that the core issues involved in the case were firstly whether the wife should be treated as a divorcee, in other words whether the plea of divorce taken by the husband was proved? Secondly, whether even if she is treated as a divorcee, her right to obtain maintenance under section- 125 Cr.P.C. came to an end?

18. In my view, on both the issues, the findings given by the revisional court were against law of precedents and against settled principles of law. The judgement was pronounced by the revisional court in 2005, therefore it was imperative upon the revisional court to follow the judgement given by Apex Court in Shamim Ara (supra) in 2002. It may also be noted that in Danial Latifi and Another vs. Union of India, 2001 AIR SCW 3932, the Constitution Bench had held by then that even a divorced Muslim woman would be entitled to claim maintenance from her former husband as long as she does not re-marry. The Constitution Bench observed that being a beneficial piece of legislation, the benefit thereof must accrue to the divorced Muslim woman. That judgement was followed in many of the subsequent cases and the law still holds good. The revisional court instead pronounced the judgment as regard plea of divorce in disregard of law laid down by Apex Court. The laws pronounced by Apex Court are binding under Article 142 of the Constitution of India on all judicial authorities. The impugned judgement is therefore not sustainable in law and is liable to be set-aside.

19. The next question which remains to be seen in this writ petition is what shall be the effect of the judgement of the Supreme Court in Shayara Bano vs. Union of India (supra) on the issues involved in this case. It may be recalled that in the above noted case, the Supreme Court set-aside the practice of “talaq-e-biddat” i.e. triple talaq, by majority of 3:2.

20. Ordinarily, the law declared by Supreme Court under Article 141 of the Constitution of India shall be assumed to be law from very inception unless expressly or by necessary implication indicated otherwise.

21. In Major General A.S. Gauraya and Another vs. S.N. Thakur and Another (1986) 2 SCC 709, it has been held in para-13 that :-

“The sweep of Article 141 of the Constitution, so far as the Judgments of this Court are concerned, came up for consideration before this Court recently in Shenoy and Co. v. Commercial Tax Officer, [1985] (2) S.C.C. 512 to which one of us was a party. It is not necessary to refer to the facts of that case, in detail. Suffice it to say that the contention that the law laid down by this Court in an appeal filed by the State would not bind the other parties against whom the State of Karnataka did not file appeals from a common Judgment, was repelled by this Court in the following words:

“....It is, therefore, idle to contend that the law laid down by this Court in that Judgment would bind only the Hansa Corporation and not the other petitioners against whom the State of Karnataka had not filed any appeal. To do so is to ignore the binding nature of a judgment of this Court under Article 141 of the Constitution. Article 141 reads as follows :

“The law declared by the Supreme Court shall be binding on all courts within the territory of India.” A mere reading of this article brings into sharp focus its expanse and is all pervasive nature.”

22. In Shayara Bano vs. Union of India (supra), the Supreme Court took a view that such a practise of triple talaq, though largely prevalent in certain sects of the Muslim community, but it was never legal or supported by Sharia.

23. Hence, in the matters, where the issue of rights of the parties are yet to be adjudicated, the law pronounced by the Supreme Court shall be applicable. In this case, the issues involved herein cannot be treated as already adjudicated, hence the law laid down by the Supreme Court would apply.

24. The matter can be seen from another perspective as well; firstly, that merely saying in a written statement that the husband pronounced triple talaq on such and such date, could not have been taken at its face value and that the husband had a burden to prove the same. Secondly, even if for the sake of arguments, it is assumed that the husband was able to prove that he indeed divorced his wife by pronouncing triple talaq, wife’s right to obtain maintenance shall continue till she does not re-marry. In such circumstances, from whatever angle the matter is taken up, the wife had right to obtain maintenance and a reasonable amount for subsistence, which should have been paid to her within the prescribed time, but could not be limited for that period only. She was having right to obtain maintenance for the period subsequent to “iddat” period as well.

25. On the basis of above discussion, I am of a firm view that the judgement dated 06.05.2005 passed by the revisional court in Criminal Revision No.173 of 2004 was bad in law and is therefore liable to be set-aside. It may be noted as a matter of precaution that the consequent upon setting-aside the judgment of the revisional court, the issue of enhancement of the maintenance amount as was claimed by the wife in Criminal Revision No.217 of 2004 opens up. As the matter is probably one of the oldest, hence the concerned court is directed to decide the same as per law within a period of three months from the date of filing of certified copy of this judgment.

26. Accordingly, this petition is allowed.

Criminal Law – Constitution of Indian, 1950 - Article – 226 - UP Gangsters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986 - Sections 2, 2(b), 2(b)(iv) & 3 - Public Gambling Act, 1867 - Sections 3 & 4
- Petition – challenging the impugned FIR lodged under the Gangsters Act – based on the single case pending under section 3/4 P.G. Act, - wherein accused-petitioner was on bail - Definition of word "Gang" – court finds that, charge-sheet in base case against the petitioners had been filed on 29.04.2023 and the impugned FIR has been lodged against them on 30.06.2023 - Court do not find any illegality in manner in which the first information report had been lodged - Moreover, allegations in first information report, in considered opinion, contain ingredients of a cognizable offence - held, provisions of the Gangsters Act can be slapped against a person on the basis of a single case – hence writ petition, dismissed. Writ Petition Dismissed. (E-11) (Delivered by Hon'ble Anjani Kumar Mishra, J.

Hon'ble Shiv Shanker Prasad, J.)

1. Heard Shri Manish Tiwari, Learned Senior Advocate for the petitioners and Shri Pankaj Saxena, learned AGA for the State.

2. Challenge in the writ petition is to the first information report dated 30.6.2023 giving rise to Case Crime No. 441 of 2023 under Section 2/3 of the U.P. Gangsters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986, Police Station-Kasganj, District-Kasganj.

3. The submission of learned counsel for the petitioners is that the offences alleged in the first information report do not fall within the category of offences specified in the Act of 1986. In any case, the petitioner does not fall within the definition of the word 'gang' as occurring in Section 2(b) of the Act. Another ground taken in the writ petition is that the proceedings under the Gangsters Act are mala fide. No cognizable offence is disclosed from the allegations made in the first information report.

4. The petitioners in the writ petition are Deepak Kumar @ Deepak Maratha and Monu Maheshwari @ Manoj Kumar. The provisions of the Gangsters Act have been imposed against them on the basis of a single case being Case Crime No. 256 of 2023 under Sections 3/4 of the Public Gambling Act wherein the petitioners are stated to be on bail.

5. The word "gang" is defined in Section 2(b) of the Act which reads as follows:-

"2(b) "Gang" means a group of persons, who acting either singly or collectively, by violence, or threat or show of violence, or intimidation, or coercion or otherwise with the object of disturbing public order or of gaining any undue temporal, pecuniary, material or other advantage for himself or any other person, indulge in anti-social activities, namely-

(i) offences punishable under Chapter XVI or Chapter XVII or Chapter XXII of the Indian Penal Code (Act No. 45 of 1860), or

(ii) distilling or manufacturing or storing or transporting or importing or exporting or selling or distributing any liquor, or intoxicating or dangerous drugs, or other intoxicants or narcotics or cultivating any plant, in contravention of any of the provisions of the U.P. Excise Act, 1910 (U.P. Act No. 4 of 1910), or the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 (Act No. 61 of 1985), or any other law for the time being in force, or

(iii) occupying or taking possession of immovable property otherwise than in accordance with law, or setting-up false claims for title or possession of immovable property whether in himself or any other person, or

(iv) preventing or attempting to prevent any public servant or any witness from discharging his lawful duties, or

(v) offences punishable under the Suppression of Immoral Traffic in Women and Girls Act, 1956 (Act No. 104 of 1956), or

(vi) offences punishable under Section 3 of the Public Gambling Act, 1867 (Act No. 3 of 1867), or

(vii) preventing any person from offering bids in auction lawfully conducted, or tender, lawfully invited, by or on behalf of any Government department, local body or public or private undertaking, for any lease or rights or supply of goods or work to be done, or

(viii) preventing or disturbing the smooth running by any person of his lawful business, profession, trade or employment or any other lawful activity connected therewith, or

(ix) offences punishable under Section 171-E of the Indian Penal Code (Act No. 45 of 1860), or in preventing or obstructing any public election being lawfully held, by physically preventing the voter from exercising his electoral rights, or

(x) inciting others to resort to violence to disturb communal harmony, or

(xi) creating panic, alarm or terror in public, or

(xii) terrorising or assaulting employees or owners or occupiers of public or private undertakings or factories and causing mischief in respect of their properties, or

(xiii) inducing or attempting to induce any person to go to foreign countries on false representation that any employment, trade or profession shall be provided to him in such foreign country, or

(xiv) kidnapping or abducting any person with intent to extort ransom, or

(xv) diverting or otherwise preventing any aircraft or public transport vehicle from following its scheduled course;

[(xvi) offences punishable under the Regulation of Money Lending Act, 1976;

(xvii) illegally transporting and/or smuggling of cattle and indulging in acts in contravention of the provisions in the Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955 and the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act, 1960;

(xviii) human trafficking for purposes of commercial exploitation, bonded labour, child labour, sexual exploitation, organ removing and trafficking, beggary and the like activities.

(xix) offences punishable under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, 1966:

(xx) printing, transporting and circulating of fake Indian currency notes;

(xxi) involving in production, sale and distribution of spurious drugs;

(xxii) involving in manufacture, sale and transportation of arms and ammunition in contravention of Sections 5, 7 and 12 of the Arms Act, 1959;

(xxiii) felling or killing for economic gains, smuggling of products in contravention of the Indian Forest Act, 1927 and Wildlife Protection Act, 1972;

(xxiv) offences punishable under the Entertainment and Betting Tax Act, 1979;

(xv) indulging in crimes that impact security of State, public order and even tempo of life."

6. The contention of learned counsel for the petitioners is that a person singly or collectively can constitute a gang only if (i) by violence, or threat or show of violence, or intimidation, or coercion or otherwise tries to gain any undue temporal, pecuniary, material or other advantage for himself or any other person. The emphasis of learned counsel for the petitioners is on the words "violence, threat or show of violence, or intimidation or coercion".

7. In our considered opinion, bare reading of the provision itself would show that violence, threat or show of violence, or intimidation or coercion are not the only conditions specified under Section 2(b) of the Act. What is important and material at least for the case at hand, is the word "otherwise". The word "otherwise" in our opinion means that the words in Section 2(b) occurring before it namely violence, or its threat, intimidation & coercion are not exhaustive but only indicative or illustrative. The word "otherwise" would include within its ambit any act which disturbs public order or is aimed at acquiring temporal, pecuniary, material or other advantage and such act is anti-social. Thus, in view of the word "otherwise" a person who disturbs public order or gains undue temporal, pecuniary or material advantage for himself by indulging any anti-social activities would fall within the scope of the word "gang" occurring in Section 2(b) of the Gangsters Act.

8. Section 2(b)(vi) of Gangsters Act provides that an offence punishable under Section 3 of the Public Gambling Act, 1867 also falls within the definition of the word "gang". It is not in dispute that the base case against the petitioners is one under Section 3/4 of the Public Gambling Act.

9. Under the circumstances, therefore, the submission, that the petitioners do not fall within the definition of the word "gang" as occurring in Section 2(b) of the Act, cannot be accepted.

10. It is also not in dispute that the provisions of the Gangsters Act can be slapped against a person on the basis of a single case.

11. The charge-sheet in the base case against the petitioners had been filed on 29.04.2023 and the impugned FIR has been lodged against them on 30.06.2023.

12. Under the circumstances, we do not find any illegality in the manner in which the first information report had been lodged. Moreover, the allegations in the first information report, in our considered opinion, contain the ingredients of a cognizable offence.

13. In view of the foregoing, we do not find any ground to interfere in the impugned first information report. The writ petition is without merit and is dismissed.

1. Jayant Vs St. of M.P., (2021) 2 SCC 670,
2. St. (NCT of Delhi) Vs. Sanjay, (2014) 9 SCC 772.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vivek Kumar Birla, J.
&
Hon'ble Rajendra Kumar-IV, J.)

1. Heard Sri Kripa Shankar Singh, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Mahipal Singh, learned counsel for the petitioners and Sri Ratan Singh alongwith Sri Vibhav Ojha, learned AGA for the State.

2. Present petition has been filed seeking quashing of the first information report dated 28.04.2023, arising out of case crime no.85 of 2023, under sections 379, 411 IPC and Section 4/21 Mines and Minerals (Development and Regulation) Act, 1957, Police Station Nagina Dehat, District Bijnor. Further, the petitioners are seeking a direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to take appropriate action/departamental inquiry against the responsible respondents, who were involved in the proceeding of seizing of the vehicles concern as well as false arresting of said drivers in pursuance of the impugned first information report.

3. Sole submission of the learned counsel for the petitioners is that in view of Section 22 of the Mines and Minerals (Development and Regulation) Act, 1957 (hereinafter referred to 'MMDR Act') the FIR could not have been registered as it provides that only a complaint could have been lodged by the authorized person.

4. In support, it is submitted that a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court on this ground itself in the same case crime no.85 of 2023 has granted interim order vide order dated 29.05.2023 passed in Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No.7806 of 2023 (Kalyan Singh and 8 Others vs. State of U.P. and 18 Others). The said interim order reads as under:-

"1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioners and learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. This writ petition has been preferred to quash the First Information Report dated 28.4.2023 being Case Crime No.85 of 2023, under Sections 379, 411 and 4/21 of Mines and Minerals (Development and Regulations) Act, 1957, Police Station Nagina, District Bijnor with a further prayer not to arrest the petitioners.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioners relying upon section 22 of the Mines and Minerals (Development and Regulations) Act, 1957 has stated that the First Information Report itself could not have been registered.

4. Matter requires consideration.

5. Learned Standing Counsel appears for respondent nos.1, 2 and 3. Issue notice to respondent no.4 by registered post. Steps may be taken within ten days. At this stage, we are not issuing notices to respondent nos.5 to 19.

6. Respondent nos.1 to 4 may file their counter affidavits within a period of three weeks. Rejoinder affidavit, if any, may be filed within two weeks thereafter.

7. List thereafter.

8. Until further orders, no coercive action shall be taken against the petitioners."

(Emphasis Supplied)

5. It is further submitted that no cognizance can be taken by the Magistrate as per Clause 21(4) of the paragraph 21 of the judgment rendered in Jayant Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2021) 2 SCC 670.

6. Per contra, learned AGA opposed the prayer for quashing of the first information report and submits that the present first information report is clearly maintainable in view of the judgment of Jayant (supra).

7. We have considered the rival submissions and perused the records. Interestingly, both sides have placed reliance on law laid down in Jayant (supra).

8. Shorn of details facts as contained in the FIR are that on 28.04.2023 at 11:35 pm, the respondent No.4 lodged first information report against unknown persons. It is alleged in the first information report that the complainant came to Police Station- Nagina Dehat for prevention of illegal mining. He accompanied by the Station House Officer of concerned Police Station alongwith other police personnels reached at Kho river on 28.04.2023 at 08:15 pm. The complainant found that continuous illegal mining was being done. Some JCBs, dumpers, and tractor were found on the spot, drivers whereof ran away from the spot after seeing the Police team. 11 dumpers were found on the spot of which 8 dumpers were full of minerals and 3 dumpers were empty and 6 tractors trolley were standing for taking minerals. The details of all the dumpers and tractor trolley are also mentioned in the impugned first information report. The FIR was filed against unknown persons as alleged accused ran away from the spot.

9. Admittedly, the petitioners are the owners of the concerned vehicles/dumpers found on the spot and seized by the police. It is alleged that the petitioners on being harassed by the police, moved applications before the Court concern and wanted reports were submitted by the police. It has been stated in the petition that all the petitioners are legally involved in transportation of minerals, having valid transit pass (Ravanna).

10. Before proceeding further it would be appropriate to take note of Section 22 and 23-A of the MMDR Act, 1952, which is quoted as under:-

“22. Cognizance of offences.—
No Court shall take cognizance of any offence punishable under this Act or any rules made thereunder except upon complaint in writing made by a person authorised in this behalf by the Central Government or the State Government.”

23-A. Compounding of offences.-

Any offence punishable under this Act or any rule made thereunder may, either before or after the institution of the prosecution, be compounded by the person authorised under section 22 to make a complaint to the court with respect to that offence, on payment to that person, for credit to the Government, of such sum as that person may specify: Provided that in the case of an offence punishable with fine only, no such sum shall exceed the maximum amount of fine which may be imposed for that offence. (2) Where an offence is compounded under sub-section (1), no proceeding or further proceeding, as the case may be, shall be taken against the offender in respect of the offence so compounded, and the offender, if in custody, shall be released forthwith.”

11. We find that the interim order that is being relied on by the learned counsel for the petitioners nowhere reflects that the judgment of Jayant (supra) was placed before the Co-ordinate Bench, therefore, the sole argument, placing reliance on the interim order dated 29.05.2023 quoted above that FIR could not be registered in the light of Section 22 of the MMDR Act, has no force. Admittedly, the aforesaid order of the Co-ordinate Bench is only an interim order and is not a final decision/order.

12. We, therefore, proceed to consider the argument of learned Senior Counsel independently of the interim order passed by the Co-ordinate Bench..

13. In State (NCT of Delhi) v. Sanjay, (2014) 9 SCC 772 the Hon'ble Apex Court in paragraphs 60, 69, 72 and 73 has held as under :-

“60. There cannot be any two opinions that natural resources are the assets of the nation and its citizens. It is the obligation of all concerned, including the Central and the State Governments, to conserve and not waste such valuable resources. Article 48-A of the Constitution requires that the State shall endeavour to protect and improve the environment and safeguard the forests and wild life of the country. Similarly, Article 51-A enjoins a duty upon every citizen to protect and improve the natural environment including forests, lakes, rivers and wild life, and to have compassion for all the living creatures. In view of the Constitutional provisions, the Doctrine of Public Trust has become the law of the land. The said doctrine rests on the principle that certain resources like air, sea, waters and forests are of such great importance to the people as a whole that it would be highly unjustifiable to make them a subject of private ownership.

69. Considering the principles of interpretation and the wordings used in Section 22, in our considered opinion, the provision is not a complete and absolute bar for taking action by the police for illegal and dishonestly committing theft of minerals including sand from the river bed. The Court shall take judicial notice of the fact that over the years rivers in India have been affected by the alarming rate of unrestricted sand mining which is damaging the eco-system of the rivers and safety of bridges. It also weakens river beds, fish breeding and destroys the natural habitat of many organisms. If these illegal activities are not stopped by the State and the police authorities of the State, it will cause serious repercussions as mentioned hereinabove. It will not only change the river hydrology but also will deplete the ground water levels.

72. From a close reading of the provisions of MMDR Act and the offence defined under Section 378, IPC, it is manifest that the ingredients constituting the offence are different. The contravention of terms and conditions of mining lease or doing mining activity in violation of Section 4 of the Act is an offence punishable under Section 21 of the MMDR Act, whereas dishonestly removing sand, gravels and other minerals from the river, which is the property of the State, out of State's possession without the consent, constitute an offence of theft. Hence, merely because initiation of proceeding for commission of an offence under the MMDR Act on the basis of complaint cannot and shall not debar the police from taking action against persons for committing theft of sand and minerals in the manner mentioned above by exercising power under the Code of Criminal Procedure and submit a report before the Magistrate for taking cognizance against such person. In other words, in a case where there is a theft of sand and gravels from the Government land, the police can register a case, investigate the same and submit a final report under Section 173, Cr.P.C. before a Magistrate having jurisdiction for the purpose of taking cognizance as provided in Section 190 (1)(d) of the Code of Criminal Procedure.

73. After giving our thoughtful consideration in the matter, in the light of relevant provisions of the Act vis-à-vis the Code of Criminal Procedure and the Indian Penal Code, we are of the definite opinion that the ingredients constituting the offence under the MMDR Act and the ingredients of dishonestly removing sand and gravel from the river beds without consent, which is the property of the State, is a distinct offence under the IPC. Hence, for the commission of offence under Section 378 Cr.P.C., on receipt of the police report, the Magistrate having jurisdiction can take cognizance of the said offence without awaiting the receipt of complaint that may be filed by the authorized officer for taking cognizance in respect of violation of various provisions of the MMRD Act. Consequently the contrary view taken by the different High Courts cannot be sustained in law and, therefore, overruled. Consequently, these criminal appeals are disposed of with a direction to the concerned Magistrates to proceed accordingly."

(Emphasis Supplied)

14. The offence of illegal mining was clearly noticed by the Apex Court in the case of Jayant (supra) as well and it is only thereafter conclusion was drawn that the first information report involving offences under Indian Penal Code alongwith offences under MMDR Act is maintainable. Paragraphs 17, 18, 19, 20 and 21 of the said judgment reads as under:

17. Now so far as the submission on behalf of the private appellants-violators that in view of the fact that violators were permitted to compound the violation in exercise of powers under Rule 53 of the 1996 Rules or Rule 18 of the 2006 Rules and the violators accepted the decision and deposited the amount of penalty determined by the appropriate authority for compounding the offences/violations, there cannot be any further criminal proceedings for the offences under Sections 379 and 414 IPC and Sections 4/21 of the MMDR Act and the reliance placed on Section 23A of the MMDR Act is concerned, it is true that in the present case the appropriate authority determined the penalty under Rule 53 of the 1996 Rules/Rule 18 of the 2006 Rules, which the private appellants-violators paid and therefore the bar contained in subsection 2 of Section 23A of the MMDR Act will be attracted.

17.1 Section 23A as it stands today has been brought on the Statute in the year 1972 on the recommendations of the Mineral Advisory Board which provides that any offence punishable under the MMDR Act or any rule made thereunder may, either before or after the institution of the prosecution, be compounded by the person authorised under section 22 to make a complaint to the court with respect to that offence, on payment to that person, for credit to the Government, of such sum as that person may specify. Subsection 2 of Section 23A further provides that where an offence is compounded under subsection (1), no proceeding or further proceeding, as the case may be, shall be taken against the offender in respect of the offence so compounded, and the offender, if in custody, shall be released forthwith. Thus, the bar under subsection 2 of Section 23A shall be applicable with respect to offences under the MMDR Act or any rule made thereunder.

17.2 However, the bar contained in subsection 2 of Section 23A shall not be applicable for the offences under the IPC, such as, Section 379 and 414 IPC. In the present case, as observed and held hereinabove, the offences under the MMDR Act or any rule made thereunder and the offences under the IPC are different and distinct offences.

17.3. Therefore, as in the present case, the mining inspectors prepared the cases under Rule 53 of the 1996 Rules and submitted them before the mining officers with the proposals of compounding the same for the amount calculated according to the concerned rules and the Collector approved the said proposal and thereafter the private appellants violators accepted the decision and deposited the amount of penalty determined by the Collector for compounding the cases in view of subsection 2 of Section 23A of the MMDR Act and the 1996 rules and even the 2006 rules are framed in exercise of the powers under Section 15 of the MMDR Act, criminal complaints/proceedings for the offences under Sections 4/21 of the MMDR Act are not permissible and are not required to be proceeded further in view of the bar contained in subsection 2 of Section 23A of the MMDR Act. At the same time, as observed hereinabove, the criminal complaints/proceedings for the offences under the IPC – Sections 379/414 IPC which are held to be distinct and different can be proceeded further, subject to the observations made hereinabove.

18. However, our above conclusions are considering the provisions of Section 23A of the MMDR Act, as it stands today. It might be true that by permitting the violators to compound the offences under the MMDR Act or the rules made thereunder, the State may get the revenue and the same shall be on the principle of person who causes the damage shall have to compensate the damage and shall have to pay the penalty like the principle of polluters to pay in case of damage to the environment. However, in view of the large scale damages being caused to the nature and as observed and held by this Court in the case of Sanjay (supra), the policy and object of MMDR Act and Rules are the result of an increasing awareness of the compelling need to restore the serious ecological imbalance and to stop the damages being caused to the nature and considering the observations made by this Court in the aforesaid decision, reproduced hereinabove, and when the violations like this are increasing and the serious damage is caused to the nature and the earth and it also affects the ground water levels etc. and it causes severe damage as observed by this Court in the case of Sanjay (supra), reproduced hereinabove, we are of the opinion that the violators cannot be permitted to go scot free on payment of penalty only. There must be some stringent provisions which may have deterrent effect so that the violators may think twice before committing such offences and before causing damage to the earth and the nature.

19. It is the duty cast upon the State to restore the ecological imbalance and to stop damages being caused to the nature. As observed by this Court in the case of Sanjay (supra), excessive in stream sand and gravel mining from river beds and like resources causes the degradation of rivers. It is further observed that apart from threatening bridges, sand mining transforms the riverbeds into large and deep pits, as a result, the groundwater table drops leaving the drinking water wells on the embankments of these rivers dry. Even otherwise, sand/mines is a public property and the State is the custodian of the said public property and therefore the State should be more sensitive to protect the environment and ecological balance and to protect the public property the State should always be in favour of taking very stern action against the violators who are creating serious ecological imbalance and causing damages to the nature in any form. As the provisions of Section 23A are not under challenge and Section 23A of the MMDR Act so long as it stands, we leave the matter there and leave it to the wisdom of the legislatures and the concerned States.

20. Now so far as the appeal preferred by the State on the premise that the order passed by the learned Magistrate, confirmed by the High Court, affects the powers of the authorised person to compound the offence, in exercise of powers under Rule 53 of the 1996 Rules and Rule 18 of the 2006 Rules is concerned, the same is absolutely misconceived. By the order passed by the learned Magistrate, confirmed by the High Court, by no stretch of imagination, it can be said that directing to file the first information report/crime case for the offences under the IPC and even for the offences under the MMDR Act and the rules made thereunder, it affects any of the powers of the authorised person to compound the offence. In fact, in view of the decision of this Court in the case of Sanjay (supra), in which this Court has specifically observed and held that so far as the offence under the IPC is concerned, there shall not be any bar under Section 22 of the MMDR Act and when before the High Court the State supported the order passed by the learned Magistrate and rightly so and when the impugned judgment and order passed by the High Court is in favour of the State, as such, the State ought not to have filed the special leave petition/appeal.

"21. After giving our thoughtful consideration in the matter, in the light of the relevant provisions of the MMDR Act and the Rules made thereunder visàvis the Code of Criminal Procedure and the Penal Code, and the law laid down by this Court in the cases referred to hereinabove and for the reasons stated hereinabove, our conclusions are as under:

21.1. that the learned Magistrate can in exercise of powers under Section 156(3) of the Code order/direct the concerned In charge/SHO of the police station to lodge/register crime case/FIR even for the offences under the MMDR Act and the Rules made thereunder and at this stage the bar under Section 22 of the MMDR Act shall not be attracted;

21.2. the bar under Section 22 of the MMDR Act shall be attracted only when the learned Magistrate takes cognizance of the offences under the MMDR Act and Rules made thereunder and orders issuance of process/summons for the offences under the MMDR Act and Rules made thereunder;

21.3 for commission of the offence under the IPC, on receipt of the police report, the Magistrate having jurisdiction can take cognizance of the said offence without awaiting the receipt of complaint that may be filed by the authorised officer for taking cognizance in respect of violation of various provisions of the MMDR Act and Rules made thereunder; and

21.4 that in respect of violation of various provisions of the MMDR Act and the Rules made thereunder, when a Magistrate passes an order under Section 156(3) of the Code and directs the concerned Incharge/SHO of the police station to register/lodge the crime case/FIR in respect of the violation of various provisions of the Act and Rules made thereunder and thereafter after investigation the concerned Incharge of the police station/investigating officer submits a report, the same can be sent to the concerned Magistrate as well as to the concerned authorised officer as mentioned in Section 22 of the MMDR Act and thereafter the concerned authorised officer may file the complaint before the learned Magistrate along with the report submitted by the concerned investigating officer and thereafter it will be open for the learned Magistrate to take cognizance after following due procedure, issue process/summons in respect of the violations of the various provisions of the MMDR Act and Rules made thereunder and at that stage it can be said that cognizance has been taken by the learned Magistrate.

21.5. in a case where the violator is permitted to compound the offences on payment of penalty as per subsection 1 of Section 23A, considering subsection 2 of Section 23A of the MMDR Act, there shall not be any proceedings or further proceedings against the offender in respect of the offences punishable under the MMDR Act or any rule made thereunder so compounded. However, the bar under subsection 2 of Section 23A shall not affect any proceedings for the offences under the IPC, such as, Sections 379 and 414 IPC and the same shall be proceeded with further."

(Emphasis Supplied)

15. In view of the decisions made hereinabove it can be safely concluded that:

(i) bar under section 22 of the MMDR Act is not attracted in case FIR is lodged/registered for offences under IPC and even for offences under the MMDR Act and Rules made thereunder, the competent magistrate in exercise of power under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. can order/direct registration of FIR;

(ii) bar under Section 22 of the MMDR Act shall be attracted only when the learned magistrate takes cognizance of the offences under the MMDR Act and the Rules framed thereunder;

(iii) for commission of an offence under the IPC, on police report, the competent magistrate can take cognizance of the said offences WITHOUT awaiting the receipt of complaint that may be filed by the authorised officer regarding offences under the MMDR Act and Rules framed thereunder;

(iv) in a case where violator is permitted to compound the offences on payment of penalty as per Section 23A(1), in view of Section 23A(2) of the MMDR Act, there shall not be any proceeding or further proceedings against the offender in respect of offence under the MMDR Act or Rules framed thereunder;

(v) however, importantly bar under sub-section (2) of Section 23-A of the MMDR Act shall not affect and proceedings for the offences under the IPC such as sections 379, 411, 414 and the same shall be proceeded further;

(vi) the above decisions leave no reason to doubt that as per the law settled by the Hon'ble Apex Court, offences under the MMDR Act and Rules framed thereunder and offences under the IPC stands on different footing and are procedurally distinguishable and can be differently initiated and proceeded with;

(vii) finally, it can be safely concluded that FIR involving offences under IPC alongwith offences under the MMDR Act and the Rules framed thereunder as in the present case, is clearly maintainable and can be validly registered and bar under section 22 of the MMDR Act is not attracted.

16. In such view of the matter, we are not inclined to place reliance upon the interim order granted by this Court without noticing the law laid down by Hon'ble Apex Court in Sanjay (supra) and in Jayant (supra). The petitioners are the owners of the vehicles which were found to be involved in the present case, therefore, a cognizable offence is made out.

17. One can take judicial notice of the fact that everyday newspapers are flooded with news of illegal mining from every corners of the country, raiding parties/officials/even officers are attacked and due to illegal mining, there can be no dispute about the fact that State Exchequer must be losing huge revenue apart from damage to the public property as well. The ecological part of such damage has already been discussed and taken note of Hon'ble Apex Court in the above noted judgments in the case of Sanjay (Supra) and Jayant (supra). Observations made by Hon'ble Apex Court judgment in Jayant (supra) also gives an impression that the existing provisions of the MMDR Act are falling short of expectations in view of the volume of illegal mining. Therefore, before we part, we express our concern by highlighting concern of the Hon'ble Apex Court expressed specifically in para 18 and 19 of Jayant (supra) and observe that it is high time for the Government concern to take a call on the larger issue and do the needful as Hon'ble Apex Court has left in to the wisdom of the legislature to do the needful and the concerned State to perform its public duty/obligation being an elected Government.

18. To attract the attention of the State Government and for doing the needful in its own wisdom, in larger public interest, learned AGA is directed to forward a copy of this order to the respondent no.1-State of U.P. through its Secretary, Home Department, U.P. Government, Lucknow as well as to the Chief Secretary Government of U.P. within a week.

19. For similar reasons, office is also directed to serve a copy of this order on the Additional Solicitor General of India representing Union of India in this Court for being forwarded to the Secretary of the concerned Department/Ministry, Union of India within a week.

20. From the discussions made hereinabove, we find that the writ petition is devoid of merit and is accordingly dismissed, however, with the observations as made above.

Civil Law - Uttar Pradesh Apartment (Promotion, Ownership and Maintenance) Act, 2010 – Indian Easements Act, 1882 - Easementary Rights – Temporary Injunction —

8 All. Chaudhary Chandra Veer Singh & Anr. Vs. President Ark City Residents Welfare Association, 2017 (5) SCC 627
Meerut & Anr.

Common Areas and Facilities – No Objection Certificate (NOC) – Appellate Court's Jurisdiction.

Held:

1. The petitioners, claiming easementary rights over a 40 - feet road within the Ark City Housing Society based on an alleged No Objection Certificate (NOC) dated 11.12.2016, failed to establish a prima facie case for a temporary injunction. The existence and validity of the NOC were disputed, requiring evidence to prove the grant of easementary rights.

2. The trial court's order granting a temporary injunction was set aside by the appellate court, as it selectively relied on the Amin Commissioner's report and ignored alternative access routes to the petitioners' land, as indicated in the report and site map.

3. The provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Apartment Act, 2010, prevail over the Indian Easements Act, 1882, due to its overriding effect under Section 31. The 40 - feet road, part of the common areas and facilities of Ark City, cannot be used without the consent of all apartment owners and approval of the competent authority, as per Section 5 of the Apartment Act.

4. The appellate court's order dated 28.02.2023, setting aside the temporary injunction, was upheld as it was based on cogent reasons, including the absence of evidence supporting the petitioners' claim to easementary rights and the presence of alternative access routes.

5. The petitioners' failure to obtain a sanctioned layout plan for developing Plot No. 291 and their attempt to claim access to Ark City's amenities without legal basis disentitled them to equitable relief under Article 227.

Versus

1. President Ark City Residents Welfare Association, Ark City, N.H. 58, Kankerkheda, Meerut, District Meerut.

2. Secretary Ark City Residents Welfare Association, Ark City, N.H. 58, Kankerkheda, Meerut, District Meerut.

.....Respondent/Defendant”

2. This petition impugns the order dated 28.02.2023, corrected on 09.03.2023 passed by the Additional District Judge, Court No.5, Meerut in Misc. Appeal No.27 of 2020 (President Ark Society vs. Chandra Veer Singh), whereby the appeal has been allowed and the order of temporary injunction granted by the trial court on 15.01.2020 has been set aside. It may be mentioned at the outset that though the order of correction dated 09.03.2023 has been mentioned to have been filed along with the impugned order of 28.02.2023, however, the same is not enclosed. In any view of the matter, the order of correction has not been referred to by learned counsel for the petitioners.

3. The petitioners claim to be tenure-holders being bhumidhar with transferable rights over Plot No.291 admeasuring about 0.6070 hectares of land located in Village-Dayampur, District Meerut which land is stated to have been purchased by them by means of a registered sale-deed of 11.08.2016. It is stated that the petitioners are the owners in possession of the aforesaid Plot No.291 and to the north of the petitioners' land is located a Housing Society by the name of Ark Society. It is stated that the respondents are members of the said Housing Society. It is alleged that to the north of the petitioners' land is a common 12 meters (40 feet) wide path/road¹ which goes through the Society and leads into the petitioners' land. That the predecessor-in-interest of the petitioners as well as the petitioners have been using the 40 feet road in question for their entry into the aforesaid Plot No.291 and that there is no other approach road. In view of a dispute between the petitioners and residents of the respondent-Society regarding use of the path in question, it was resolved by the intervention of Ark City Welfare Association², a Society duly registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860³ and which, as per the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Apartment (Promotion, Ownership and Maintenance) Act, 2010⁴, is authorised to manage the affairs in relation to the apartments and the properties appurtenant thereto and common areas and facilities, to permit use of the 40 feet road by the petitioners. It is alleged that in this regard, on 11.12.2016, the Welfare Association issued a No Objection Certificate⁵ in favour of the petitioners whereby the petitioners were permitted to use the 40 feet road as also the sewerage and electricity lines of the Society.

4. It is alleged that when on 04.07.2019, objections were raised and hurdles were created, the petitioners instituted a civil suit for permanent injunction before the court of the Civil Judge (Senior Division), Meerut, being Original Suit No.73 of 2019. An application for temporary injunction was also filed. On 06.09.2019, the trial court granted an ad-interim ex-parte temporary injunction to the petitioners. Thereafter, the respondents, who were the defendants in the aforesaid suit, filed objection to the application for temporary injunction. On an application moved by the petitioners, the trial court appointed an Amin Commissioner to carry out an inspection. The Amin Commissioner made his inspection and submitted a report on 11.11.2019 enclosing therewith a site map. The petitioners also filed their reply to the objections raised by the respondents to the application for temporary injunction. The petitioners filed photographs on 18.12.2019 to evince that no boundary wall of Ark City exists to the north of the gate of Plot No.291, which is the land of the petitioners. They also filed an affidavit dated 16.12.2019 of one Sudhir Verma, who was alleged to be a former President of the Welfare Association, stating that the NOC was issued by the then office bearers of the Welfare Association and the signatures appended by him on that NOC, in capacity of the President are, in fact his signatures. By an order dated 15.01.2020, the trial court granted temporary injunction in favour of the petitioners. Against that order of temporary injunction, the respondents filed an appeal being Misc. Case No.27 of 2020 alongwith a stay application. The petitioners filed objections against the application of the respondent seeking stay of temporary injunction.

5. It is further alleged that when the respondents violated the order of temporary injunction, an application under Order XXXIX Rule 2-A of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 was filed and an Amin Commissioner was appointed who is stated to have submitted his spot inspection report on 14.12.2020. By an order dated 17.12.2021, the trial court rejected the application filed by the petitioners under Order XXXIX, Rule 2-A of the CPC. Against that rejection, the petitioners filed a revision before the District Judge, which is stated to be pending.

6. By the order impugned dated 28.02.2023, the aforementioned appeal filed by the respondents was allowed and the order of temporary injunction dated 15.01.2020 passed by the trial court was set aside.

7. The contention of Shri Kunal Shah, learned counsel for the plaintiff-petitioners, is that the predecessor-in-interest of the petitioners had a permissive right of usage of the 40 feet road and the petitioners came to acquire an easementary right of usage of the 40 feet road, by way of an express grant dated 11.12.2016 made by the Welfare Association. It is stated that the reliance placed by the appellate court on the layout plan of the Ark City sanctioned by the Meerut Development Authority⁷ disclosing the presence of a boundary wall on the northern side of the petitioners' land, is by no means the actual factual position as would be existing at the spot. Learned counsel has referred to the report of the Amin Commissioner dated 11.11.2019 in which it was stated that to the north of Plot No.291, both, Ark City as well as the 40 feet road are located, and that he reached the site for inspection using that path and had used the same path while returning. It is stated that the 40 feet road is not a public road or a chak road but an internal path over which the petitioners have easementary right of usage which they came to acquire by way of an express grant dated 11.12.2016. It is alleged that the layout plan which was sanctioned on 29.01.2010, logically cannot contain the description of the 40 feet road.

It is next contended by the learned counsel that the appellate court did not consider the Amin Commissioner's report dated 11.11.2019 on the ground that the said report had not been proved and confirmed before the trial court, which is an error in law, inasmuch as under Order XXVI, Rules 9 and 10 of the CPC, the report of the Commission is not required to be proved or confirmed for it to be treated as evidence as juxtaposed to the report of the Commissioner prepared under Order XXVI, Rule 14 of the CPC for purposes of making partition. It is stated that in view of the observations of the appellate court regarding the report of the Amin Commissioner, the appellate court ought not to have relied on the report reflecting that the petitioners have two alternative access to Plot No.291 on its west and southern side. It is stated that the finding recorded by the appellate court regarding alternative routes to Plot No.291 is manifestly perverse as the unpaved road mentioned on the western side of the petitioners' land leads nowhere. It is stated that the appellate court has been swayed by the fact that easementary right with regard to the 40 feet road has not been expressly claimed in the suit, whereas in view of the settled law, easement by way of an express grant can be adduced by implication. It is contended that it is not appropriate for the appellate court to hold a mini trial at the stage of grant of temporary injunction, when the fact was that prima facie case regarding easementary right of the petitioners was established. It is stated that it is not open to the appellate court to reassess the material and reach a conclusion different from the one reached by the trial court if the one reached by the trial court was reasonably possible on the basis of material on record. In support of his contentions, learned counsel for the petitioners has relied upon the following decisions :-

1. Wander Ltd. & Anr. vs. Antox India Pvt. Ltd.8
2. Dalpat Kumar & Anr. vs. Prahlad Singh & Ors.9
3. Anand Prasad Agarwalla vs. Tarkeshwar Prasad & Ors.10
4. Zenit Mataplast Pvt. Ltd. vs. State of Maharashtra & Ors.11
5. Misrilal Ramratan & Ors. Mansukhlal & Ors. vs. A.S. Shaik Fathimal & Ors.12
6. Santosh Dubey & Anr. vs. Lala Ram Pal @ Lalloo Pal13
7. Levi Strauss & Co. vs. Rajesh Agarwal14
8. ML Brother LLP vs. Maheshkumar Bhuralal Tanna15

12. Wasudeo & Anr. vs. Shri Ashok19
13. Ram Swarup Gupta vs. Bishun Narain Inter College & Ors.20

8. Shri Ashish Kumar Singh, learned counsel appearing for the respondent-Welfare Society, has stated that the Amin Commissioner's report of 11.11.2019 itself reflects the presence of two alternative access roads to Plot No.291 on its western and southern sides. It is stated that the trial court completely overlooked this aspect of the matter and only relied upon the statement in the report regarding the 40 feet road existing on the north of plot no.291 which the Amin Commissioner had used to reach and leave plot no.291. It is emphatically stated that the Amin Commissioner's report is not a report under Order XXVI, Rule 9 of the CPC but a report submitted by the Amin Commissioner, who is an employee of the court, to conduct an inspection under Order XXXIX, Rule 7 of the CPC for purposes of consideration of the aforesaid application for temporary injunction. Learned counsel has placed reliance on the order of the trial court dated 07.12.2021, which was passed on the application for the petitioners moved under Order XXXIX, Rule 2-A of the CPC alleging violation of the order of temporary injunction, to contend that the trial court has observed therein that no amendment application was filed by the petitioners to amend their plaint seeking mandatory injunction which renders the statement by the petitioners suspicious that the respondents are obstructing the path of the petitioners by creating the wall and, therefore, the trial court observed that no direction can be issued for police assistance in removing the wall. It is contended that it has also been observed in the order that the report of the Amin Commissioner dated 11.11.2019 has not been approved. It is stated that the case of the petitioners claiming easementary right is completely false and has been made only for purpose of gaining unauthorised access to the Plot No.291 by using the wide road of Ark City. It is stated that due to this fraudulent claim by the petitioners, the interest and security of the residents of Ark City would be jeopardized. In support of his contentions, learned counsel has relied on the following judgments:-

1. Anand Prasad Agarwalla
(supra)

2. Prataprai N. Kothari vs. John Braganza²¹

3. Tamil Nadu Hosing Board vs. A. Viswam²²

9. A perusal of the plaint dated 06.09.2019 filed by the plaintiff-petitioners that is enclosed as Annexure-3 to the petition reveals that plot No.291 is an agricultural land which had been purchased by means of a sale-deed dated 11.08.2016. Allegations have been made therein regarding usage of the 40 feet road by the predecessors of the plaintiff-petitioners, and that when objection was raised by the defendant-respondents with regard to road usage, then on the plaintiff-petitioners' request, the defendant-respondents issued the NOC. It has been stated that the defendant-respondents are well read and rich people who keep threatening the plaintiff-petitioners. Other than the 40 feet road there is no means of ingress and egress to and from Plot No.291. It is stated that in case the plaintiff-petitioners are restrained from using the 40 feet road, they will suffer irreparable harm and the crops grown by the plaintiff-petitioners for their sustenance would be destroyed which cannot be compensated in future.

10. The contents of the alleged NOC provide a carte blanche to the plaintiff-petitioners not only to use the road but also to use the drain, the sewer and the electricity of Ark City and the admitted purpose being that the plaintiff-petitioners would demarcate plots on Plot No.291 and sell it to the third party. But on the contrary, the plaint case, despite reference to the NOC in paragraph no.4 of the plaint, is that the plaintiff-petitioners are growing crops for their sustenance. The plaint case is repeated in the affidavit filed in support of the application for temporary injunction.

11. On 06.09.2019, an ad interim ex-parte injunction order was granted in favour of the plaintiff-petitioners and, on an application (paper No. 16 Ga-2) moved by the plaintiff-petitioners before the trial court, a direction was issued to the Court Amin to furnish a report with regard to the situation on the spot in respect of the property in dispute in the light of the application 16-Ga-2.

12. The objection to the application for temporary injunction was filed on 30.10.2019 by the defendants-respondents in which it was denied that any farming activity is being carried out by the plaintiff-petitioners and it was stated that as per the information available with the defendants-respondents, the plaintiff-petitioner may carry on plotting activities over the aforesaid plot. To reach the aforesaid Plot No. 291, they are paving the existing road on the western side of the plot. It was denied that the plaintiff-petitioners have any concern with the 40 feet road and its usage by the plaintiff-petitioners was denied. The issuance of NOC was denied and it was alleged that the NOC is misleading and prepared in a fraudulent manner and that neither the defendants-respondents nor any previous President or Secretary of the Welfare Association had issued any such NOC. It was stated that the plaintiff-petitioner no.1 is a former Member of Legislative Assembly and keeps threatening the residents of the Colony managed by the Welfare Association. It was stated that the plaintiff-petitioners had satisfied themselves with regard to the existence of a road on the western side of plot No. 291 prior to its purchase for ingress and egress, but only to harass the defendants-respondents, they are attempting to use the 40 feet road by breaking the boundary wall of the Ark City.

It was stated that Ark City is an approved colony of the Development Authority and the plaintiff-petitioners are seeking to mislead by stating that plot No. 291 is also part of Ark City and thus, with malafide intention, is trying to jeopardize the existence of Ark City. It was stated that the plaintiff-petitioners have deliberately not shown the path on the western side of plot no. 291 in the plaint map. In the month of August 2019, there was an altercation with the plaintiff-petitioners with the residents of Ark City residing near the 40 feet road, in respect of which proceedings under Sections 107/116 of the Code of Criminal Procedure were initiated. It was stated that the boundary wall of Ark city exists and the plaintiff-petitioners are on the lookout for demolishing it to use the 40 feet road.

13. It was denied that the 40 feet road was ever used by the plaintiff-petitioners or their predecessors and in case the boundary wall does not exist on the road, the security of the residents of Ark City would be jeopardized. It was stated that Ark City is an approved colony and the plaintiff-petitioners are attempting to set up an illegal colony in plot No. 291 whose road they want to create through Ark City. It was stated that when attempt was made by the plaintiff-petitioners to demolish the boundary wall forcibly, the defendant-respondents filed a complaint against the plaintiff-petitioners and an FIR was lodged under the provisions of Section 147, 427, 506 IPC. It was stated that the names of the President and Secretary of the defendants-respondents, who keep changing from time to time, have not been stated in the plaint.

14. On 11.11.2019, the Court Amin submitted his report alongwith a map, as follows:-

(कोर्ट अमीन) सिविल कोर्ट, मेरठ

respondents are not lawful President and Secretary of the so-called Society and neither is the management committee duly registered and, therefore, they are not eligible to object or oppose the suit. In paragraph 4 of the rejoinder affidavit, the plaintiff-petitioners changed their stand which they professed in their plaint and affidavit. It was stated that initially after purchase of plot No. 291, farming was started. Thereafter, the plaintiff-petitioners stopped farming activities and created a boundary wall and they are using the 40 feet road for ingress and egress and there is no road on the western side of plot no. 291 and neither are plaintiff-petitioners paving road on the western side. It was stated that the former President and Secretary of the Welfare Association had given NOC which has not been cancelled and is still in effect.

16. It was stated that in the report of the Amin, the agricultural land of the plaintiff-petitioners and the road to and from Plot No.291 has been shown, and the 40 feet road was used by the Amin to reach the site and even at that point of time, there was no wall in front of the iron gate of Plot No.291. It was stated that in five other places in Ark City, roads were open with no boundary walls through which people from nearby villages pass. Alongwith the rejoinder affidavit, the information received by the plaintiff-petitioners pursuant to an application filed by them under the Right to Information Act from the Deputy Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, Meerut Division, Meerut23 dated 30.10.2019 was also enclosed in which it was stated that the present Board of the Welfare Association is not registered under Section 4(1) of the Societies Act. An affidavit dated 16.12.2019 allegedly sworn by a former President of the Welfare Association was also enclosed in which he affirmed the execution of the NOC.

15. A rejoinder affidavit was filed by the plaintiff-petitioner no.2 on 18.12.2019, in which it was stated that the defendants-

17. While allowing the application for temporary injunction, the trial court refers to the NOC issued in favour of the plaintiff-petitioners and the affidavit executed by the former alleged President of the Welfare Association. Also referred by the trial court are several documents filed by various other persons of the Board of the Welfare Association in which it was denied that any NOC was issued in 2016 regarding usage of the road belonging to Ark City in favour of the plaintiff-petitioners. The trial court observes that in case a wrong NOC was issued, then the defendant-respondents have not demonstrated what proceedings were initiated against the former President of the Welfare Association. It is observed that conflicting affidavits have been filed with regard to the NOC pertaining to the usage of the road and, therefore, the facts can be determined after evidence. It is then observed that at present the NOC supports the case of the plaintiff-petitioners. The trial court states that there is no Society working with regard to Ark City and some persons of the colony are opposing the usage of the road due to their self-interest. The information supplied by the Deputy Registrar is referred to. The trial court goes on to observe that without registration, the present Board has no authority to question the issuance of NOC by the former President of the Welfare Association. The trial court notices that both parties had filed photographs and in some photographs, a wall is reflected on the 40 feet road and in some photographs it is shown as open and that without evidence, it could not be held that which photographs are correct.

18. With regard to the Amin report, the trial court observes that neither party had filed any objection to that report. It is stated that a perusal of the Amin report makes it clear that on the north side of the Plot No.291, there is a road going through Ark City and a gate is also shown on the 40 feet road from which it can be guessed that the plaintiff-petitioners use that road for coming to their plot from Ark City. It is stated that in his report, the Amin has shown brick 'malba' (debris) on the north of the gate and has also said about the existence of the 40 feet road. The trial court observes that the defendant-respondents have said that the plaintiff-petitioners' land is surrounded by boundary wall and goes on to state that definitely after getting assurance from Welfare Association, the plaintiff-petitioners got a boundary wall constructed on their land and constructed a gate on the north side of that plot for usage of the 40 feet road but at present the defendant-respondents are opposing its usage even though they have not got their Board registered. It is stated that contrary to that, the plaintiff-petitioners had got consent of the Welfare Association to use the 40 feet road as a result of which they got a gate constructed on the 40 feet road and have been using that path to reach and leave their property. It is stated that since the former Board of the Welfare Association had issued an NOC which has not been rescinded by any other Board, therefore, there is a prima facie case in favour of the plaintiff-petitioners. It is further held that irreparable injury would be caused to the plaintiff-petitioners if they are not permitted to use the 40 feet road. Accordingly, the temporary injunction was granted that during pendency of the suit, neither the defendant-respondents nor any representative, employee, associate, supervisor or anti-social elements would interfere in the usage of the 40 feet road by the plaintiff-petitioners.

19. Challenging the aforesaid order of temporary injunction, the defendant-respondents filed the appeal. After considering the reply of the plaintiff-petitioners, the appellate court allowed the appeal and set aside the order dated 15.01.2020 passed by the trial court. The appellate court observed that Plot No.291 is stated to have been owned and occupied by the plaintiffs on the basis of the sale-deed dated 11.08.2016 and the said plot has been shown in the site-map attached with the plaint. Plot No. 291 and Ark City to the north of this land, are separate plots. Plaintiffs have not stated in their application that they have any right/ownership over the property of Ark City, but only in the maps displayed at the end of the plaint it has been stated that they use the 40 feet road located in Ark City. It is observed that according to the plaintiffs, the former owner of Plot No. 291 was also using the 40 feet road. From perusal of a certified copy of the sale-deed dated 11.08.2016 which was filed by the plaintiffs in the trial court, the appellate court observed that the subject matter of the said sale-deed is Plot No. 291 measuring 0.6070 hectares which is agricultural land whose description is mentioned on the page no. 14 of the deed, and that there is no path shown to the north of the said land and nor such path has been mentioned anywhere in the entire sale-deed. It is observed that the sale-deed available on the trial court's record alongwith the revenue map also does not show any such path on the north side of plot no. 291. Contrary to this, the defendants have stated that Ark City is a colony approved by the Development Authority and the wall of Ark City has been constructed on the disputed site, the map of which is approved by the Development Authority. It was stated by defendants that the boundary walls are for the convenience of the residents of Ark City. The appellate court further observed that a copy of the map approved by the Development Authority was filed alongwith the counter-affidavit on the record of the trial court in which the side boundary of Ark City has been shown in the map, from which it appeared that the 40 feet road ends at the side boundary of the Ark City, that is, it appears to be restricted for the use of the residents of Ark City. It is noted that in the Amin report with map, a brick paved path has been shown to the south of Plot No. 291, from west to east. It is observed by the appellate court that although, the Amin report was available in the trial court's file, the same had not been confirmed, but it is evident from the Amin Report and the map that brick paths are situated to the south and west of plot No.291. Therefore, the statement made by the plaintiffs in paragraph No.5 of the application for temporary injunction, that other than the disputed route, there is no other path to reach Plot No. 291, is prima facie not acceptable. It is observed by the appellate court that from the perusal of the file of the trial court, it is also evident that there is no mention of the rights/ground in the application, as to on which basis the plaintiffs are demanding the right of way on the land of the defendants, which does not belong to the plaintiffs, for the gainful use of the land owned by them in Plot No. 291. Whereas, the right to an easement on the path situated in the colony of the defendants, had not been claimed by the plaintiffs. Merely on the ground that the 40 feet road has been used or is stated to have been used by the former owner and that the 40 feet road is also stated to have been used by the plaintiff himself, it is a question of evidence and prima facie evidence of any such 40 feet road had not been placed before the trial court by the plaintiffs. It is observed by the appellate court that as far as the NOC is concerned, in this regard, the defendants have clearly denied to have given any such NOC. Then in such a situation, the evidence of the parties is yet to come in relation to the said NOC. Merely on the basis of the NOC having been issued on the letter pad, prima facie no case is found to exist in favour of the plaintiffs and the balance of convenience was also not in favour of the plaintiffs. An FIR against the plaintiffs had been lodged. It is observed by the appellate court that the impugned order of the trial court has been passed mainly on the basis of the NOC and report of the Amin, whereas the evidence of the parties regarding the NOC in question is yet to come before the trial court. It is held by the appellate court that the order of the trial court had been passed on the basis of possibilities contrary to the evidence available on record of the trial court, which is not sustainable. The appeal was accordingly allowed.

20. The contents of the NOC are as under :-

हस्ताक्षर अध्यक्ष समिति: हस्ताक्षर सचिव समिति:"

21. In the NOC it is stated that the plaintiff-petitioners want to develop Plot No.291 and to build certain plots thereon; that the plaintiff-petitioners want to join their land to the 12 meters wide road situated in Ark City and also with the drains and sewer lines for which they requested the developer of Ark City, who then said that decision may be taken by them; on that basis, with the consent of all, the 40 feet road has been provided and the 40 feet road would not be closed by means of any other order because the plaintiff-petitioners have no other path and they are being provided with the benefit of using the 40 feet road and permitted to use the sewer, the drains and electricity, and, in this regard, the Welfare Association would have no objection in the present or in future. It is further mentioned in the NOC that in respect of the plots which would be sold by the plaintiff-petitioners, those third parties will not form any other society but would be registered in the Welfare Association itself.

22. It is not in dispute that the 40 feet road is part of the sanctioned plan of the Development Authority in respect of Ark City. The plaintiff-petitioners are claiming their right of its usage on the basis of an alleged grant that flows from the NOC. Given the dispute being raised by the defendant-respondents, the grant has to be proved by evidence before the court can give its imprimatur to the existence of the alleged easement by grant.

23. Learned counsel for the plaintiff-petitioners has relied upon the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Hero Vinoth (supra), to contend that an easement by way of grant does not get extinguished even though another passage is available to the dominant owner. However, in that case, the Supreme Court was considering a Civil Appeal that arose from a judgment of a High Court in second appeal, that is to say, after the trial and regular first and second appeals had concluded, and not a matter arising out of an application for temporary injunction.

The Supreme Court has observed as follows:-

“25. In the case at hand the High Court found that the approach of the trial court and the first appellate court was erroneous inasmuch as they proceeded on the basis as if it is a case of easement of necessity. Had the trial court and the first appellate court considered the evidence in the light of the respective stands of the parties and then concluded one way or the other, the position would have been different. When the approach was fundamentally wrong the High Court cannot be faulted for having gone into the question as to what was the proved intention of the party as culled out from the partition deed. The relevant (translated) portion reads as follows:

“Aravamutha Chettiar commonly enjoy the well situate on the portion allotted to Purushothaman Chettiar, likewise Purushothaman Chettiar commonly enjoy the lane situate on the portion allotted to Aravamutha Chettiar. Well is the exclusive property of Purushothaman Chettiar and lane is the exclusive property of Aravamutha Chettiar.”

26. Though an attempt was made by learned counsel for the appellant to contend that the quoted portion was only the preamble and not the intention of the parties, the same is clearly untenable. Earlier to the quoted portion it has been noted as follows:

“As per the above arrangement we decided to enter into the partition deed and hence we are writing this partition deed. We should take possession of our respective shares and enjoy the same uninterruptedly forever.”

27. Therefore, there is no manner of doubt that the intention was clear that it was a grant and not an easement of necessity which could be extinguished.

28. The question whether an easement is one acquired by grant (as contrasted from an easement of necessity) does not depend upon absolute necessity of it. It is the nature of the acquisition that is relevant. Many easements acquired by grant may be absolutely necessary for the enjoyment of the dominant tenement in the sense that it cannot be enjoyed at all without it. That may be the reason for the grant also. But easement of grant is a matter of contract between the parties. In the matter of grant the parties are governed by the terms of the grant and not by anything else. Easement of necessity and quasi-easement are dealt with in Section 13 of the Act. The grant may be express or even by necessary implication. In either case it will not amount to an easement of necessity under Section 13 of the Act even though it may also be an absolute necessity for the person in whose favour the grant is made. Limit of the easement acquired by grant is controlled only by the terms of the contract. If the terms of the grant restrict its user subject to any condition the parties will be governed by those conditions. Anyhow the scope of the grant could be determined by the terms of the grant between the parties alone. When there is nothing in the term of the grant in this case that it was to continue only until such time as the necessity was absolute; in fact even at the time it was granted, it was not one of necessity. If it is a permanent arrangement uncontrolled by any condition, that permanency in user must be recognised and the servient tenement will be recognised and the servient tenement will be permanently burdened with that disability. Such a right does not arise under the legal implication of Section 13 nor is it extinguished by the statutory provision under Section 41 of the Act which is applicable only to easement of necessity arising under Section 13.

29. An easement by grant does not get extinguished under Section 41 of the Act which relates to an easement of necessity. An easement of necessity is one which is not merely necessary for the reasonable enjoyment of the dominant tenement, but one where dominant tenement cannot be used at all without the easement. The burden of the servient owner in such a case is not on the basis of any concession or grant made by him for consideration or otherwise, but it is by way of a legal obligation enabling the dominant owner to use his land. It is limited to the barest necessity however inconvenient it is irrespective of the question whether a better access could be given by the servient owner or not. When an alternate access becomes available, the legal necessity of burdening the servient owner ceases and the easement of necessity by implication of law is legally withdrawn or extinguished as statutorily recognised in Section 41. Such an easement will last only as long as the absolute necessity exists. Such a legal extinction cannot apply to an acquisition by grant and Section 41 is not applicable in such case.”(emphasis supplied)

24. As noted above, in view of the objections filed by the defendant-respondents to the application for temporary injunction, the very existence of the NOC, which document, the plaintiff-petitioners are claiming to be a grant of an easementary right, is under a cloud and it is matter of evidence whether there was a valid grant. Therefore, no benefit of that judgment can be derived by the plaintiff-petitioners.

The alleged NOC reflects permission for usage of the 40 feet road, the sewer, drain and electricity lines but the plaintiff case is that plot no.291 is being used for agriculture purposes and there is no averment therein of any proposed or existing plotting activity, despite the NOC being mentioned in the plaint.

25. Learned counsel for the plaintiff-petitioners has relied upon several judgments to contend that for want of any objection to the Amin Commissioner's report by the opposite parties, it cannot be said that the courts erred in relying upon the report of the Amin Commissioner. It is noted that the Amin was a court Amin who was appointed by the court pursuant to an application for the purpose moved by the plaintiff-petitioners. Moreover, the Amin Commissioner's report is yet to be proved. It may always be open to the parties to file objection to the Amin Commissioner's report unless it is at a belated stage and would be subject to any order of the trial court. It does not appear that a written statement has been filed by the defendant-respondents. It is an early stage in the suit.

26. Be that as it may, the plaintiff-petitioners are relying on the report of the Amin Commissioner. In the case at hand, as is evident from the order of the trial court, the trial court has selectively referred to one part of the report of the Amin Commissioner, that is to say with regard to the 40 feet road existing on the north side of Plot No.291 and has, strangely, not referred to the paths shown as existing on the west and south side of the Plot No.291. The map enclosed with the Amin Commissioner's report reflects a path and an access from the western side of Plot No.291 that is shown perpendicular to the boundary wall of Plot No.291 marked as A, B. It also reflects a path existing on the south side of Plot No.291 that is alongside the boundary wall of Plot No.291 marked as A, D. With regard to the contention of the learned counsel for the plaintiff-petitioners that the path shown on western side of plot no.291 leads nowhere, it is noted that neither is there any such averment in the plaint nor in the affidavits filed by the plaintiff-respondents. The plaint is completely silent about the existence of any alternate routes which are reflected in the report of the Amin Commissioner. The aforesaid report also shows brick debris lying on the north side of plot no.291 in front of an iron gate belonging to the plaintiff-petitioners.

27. It is not disputed by the plaintiff-petitioners that the provisions of the Apartment Act are applicable to Ark City, which is managed by a Welfare Association, and the plans of Ark City are sanctioned by the Development Authority. In the Apartment Act, the following terms, inter alia, are defined in Section 3, which are :-

(b) “apartment” means a part of any property, intended for any type of independent use, including enclosed spaces located on one or more floors or any part or parts thereof, in a building to be used for residential or official purposes or for the purpose of practicing any profession, or for carrying on any occupation, trade or business (excluding shopping malls, multiplexes and commercial complexes which are maintained as single unit by the promoter or the maintenance agency) or for such other use as may be prescribed, and with a direct exit to a public street, road or to a common area leading to such street, road and includes any Parking space, or room (whether or not adjacent to the building in which such apartment is located) provided by the promoter for use by the owner of such apartment for parking or, as the case may be, for the residence of any domestic aide employed in such apartment;

(d) "apartment owner" means the person or persons owning an apartment or the promoter or his nominee in case of unsold apartments and an undivided interest in the common areas and facilities appurtenant to such apartment in the percentage specified in the Deed of Apartment and includes the lessee of the land on which the building containing such apartment has been constructed, where the lease of such land is for a period of thirty years or more;

(e) "association of apartment owners" means all the owners of the apartments therein, acting as a group in accordance with the bye-laws;

(f) "board" means the Board of Management of an Association of Apartment Owners elected by its members under the bye-laws;

(g) "building" means a building constructed on any land, containing four or more apartments, or two or more buildings in any area designated as a block, each containing two or more apartments with a total of four or more apartments in all such buildings;

Provided that an independent house constructed in a row with independent entry and exit, whether or not adjoining to other independent houses, shall not constitute a building.

(h) "bye-laws" means the bye-laws made under this Act;

(i) "common areas and facilities" means—

(i) the land on which the building is located and all easements, rights and appurtenances belonging to the land and the building;

(ii) the foundations, columns, girders, beams, supports, main walls, roofs/terraces and halls of common use, corridors, lobbies, stairs, stairways, fire-escapes and entrances and exits of the building.

(iii) The basements (area of common use only), cellars, yards, parks, gardens, community centers and common parking areas;

(iv) the premises for the lodging of janitors or persons employed for the management of the property;

(v) installations of central services, such as, power, light, gas, hot and cold water, heating, refrigeration, air conditioning, incinerating and sewerage;

vi) the elevators, tanks, pumps, motors, fans, cable pipe line (TV, gas, electricity etc.) rain water harvesting system, compressors, ducts and in general all apparatus and installations existing for common use;

(vii) such other common areas and community facilities as may be specified in the bye-laws; and;

(viii) all other parts of the property necessary or convenient to its existence, maintenance and safety, or normally in common use;

.....

(l) "competent authority" means any person or authority authorised by the government by notification to perform the functions of the competent authority under this Act for such areas as may be specified in the notification;

.....

(x) "property" means the land, the building, and all improvements and structures thereon, and all easements, rights and appurtenances belonging thereto, and all articles of personal property intended for use in connection therewith, which have been, or are intended to be submitted to the provisions of this Act;"

28. Chapter III of the Apartment Act deals with the rights and obligations of the apartment owners. Sections 5 and 6 read as under:-

“5. Rights of Apartment Owners.- (1) Every person to whom any apartment is sold or otherwise transferred by the promoter shall subject to the other provisions of this Act, be entitled to the exclusive ownership and possession of the apartment so sold or otherwise transferred to him.

(2) Every person who becomes entitled to the exclusive ownership and possession of all apartment shall be entitled to such percentage of undivided interest in the common areas and facilities as may be specified in the Deed of the Apartment and such percentage shall be computed by taking, as a basis, the area of the apartment in relation to the aggregate area of all the apartments of the building.

(3)(a) The percentage of the undivided interest of each apartment owner in the common areas and facilities shall have a permanent character, and shall not be altered without the written consent of all the apartment owners and approval of the competent authority.

(b) The percentage of the undivided interest in the common areas and facilities shall not be separated from the apartment to which it appertains and shall be deemed to be conveyed or encumbered with the apartment, even though such interest is not expressly mentioned in the conveyance or other instrument.

(4) The common areas and facilities shall not be transferred and remain undivided and no apartment owner or any other person shall bring any action for partition or division of any part thereof, and any covenant to the contrary shall be void.

(5) Each apartment owner may use the common areas and facilities in accordance with the purposes for which they are intended without hindering or encroaching upon the lawful rights of the other apartment owners.

(6) The necessary work relating to maintenance, repair and modification or relocation of the common areas and facilities and the making of any additions or improvements thereto, shall be carried out only in accordance with the provisions of this Act and the bye-laws.

(7) The Association of the Apartment Owners shall have the irrevocable right, to be exercised by the Board or Manager to have access to each Apartment from time to time during reasonable hours for the maintenance, repairs or replacement of any of the common areas or facilities therein, or accessible there from, or for making emergency repairs therein necessary to prevent damage to the common areas and facilities or to any other apartment or apartments.

6. Obligation of Apartment Owners- (1) Each apartment owner shall comply strictly with the bye-laws and with the covenants, conditions and restrictions set forth in the Deed of Apartment, and failure to comply with any of them shall be a ground for action to recover sums due for damages, or for injunctive relief, or both, by the Manager or Board on behalf of the Association of the Apartment Owners or in a proper case, by an aggrieved apartment owner.

2) No apartment owner shall do any work which would be prejudicial to the soundness or safety of the property or reduce the value thereof or impair any easement or hereditament or shall add any material structure or excavate any additional basement or cellar or alter the external facade without first obtaining the consent of all the apartment owners.

Explanation: In this section, reference to the apartment owners shall be construed, in relation to a building in any block, pocket or other designated area, the apartment owners of the concerned building in such block, pocket or other designated area.”

29. Chapter VI of the Apartment Act deals with an association of apartment owners and bye-laws for the registration of the affairs of such association. Section 14 reads as under:-

“14. Association of apartment owners and bye-laws relating thereto. -

(1) There shall be an Association of Apartment Owners for the administration of the affairs in relation to the apartments and the property appertaining thereto and for the management of common areas and facilities :

Provided that where any area has been demarcated for the construction of buildings, whether such area is called a block or pocket or by any other name, there shall be a single Association of Apartment Owners in such demarcated area.

(2) It shall be the joint responsibility of the promoter and the apartment owners to form an Association. The Promoter shall get the Association registered when such numbers of apartments have been handed over to the owners which are necessary to form an association or 60% of apartments, whichever is more, by way of sale, transfer or possession, provided the building has been completed along with all infrastructure services and completion certificate obtained from the concerned local authority:

Provided that in case of an independent area or and independent commercial area the promoter may form a separate Association for its management, if required.

(3) In a case, where an association of the apartments owners of a building has not been formed, on the intended date of execution of a deed of apartment in favour of prospective apartment owner, it shall be obligatory for a prospective apartment owner to become member of the association within a period of 4 weeks on receipt of a written intimation about the formation of such association.

(4) Where an association of an apartment owners exist on the intended date of transfer of an apartment, it will be obligatory for the prospective apartment owner to become member of such association before execution of a deed of an apartment in his favour.

(5) On formation of the Association of the Apartment Owners under sub-section (2) above, the management of the affairs of the apartments regarding their common areas and facilities shall be deemed to be transferred from the promoter to the Association, which shall thereupon maintain them:

Provided that, till all the apartments are sold or transferred, the promoter shall proportionately share the maintenance cost of common areas and facilities:

Provided further that the amount collected by the promoter towards interest free maintenance security shall be transferred to the association at the time of handing over the common areas and facilities.

(6) The Government may by notification in the gazette frame model bye-laws in accordance with which property referred to in subsection (1) shall be administered by the Association of Apartment Owners and the Association shall, at its first meeting, make its byelaws in accordance with the model bye-laws so framed, and in making its bye-laws the Association of Apartment Owners shall not make any departure from, variation of, addition to, or omission from, the model bye-laws aforesaid except with the prior approval of the competent authority.

(7) The model bye-laws framed under sub-section (6) shall provide for the following, among other matters, namely:

(a) the manner in which the Association of Apartment Owners is to be formed;

(b) the election, from among apartment owners, of a Board of Management by the members of the Association of Apartment Owners;

(c) the number of apartment owners constituting the Board, the composition of the Board and that one-third of members of the Board shall retire annually;

(d) the powers and duties of the Board;

(e) the honorarium, if any, of the members of the Board;

(f) the method of removal from office of the members of the Board;

(g) the powers of the Board to engage the services of a Manager;

(h) delegation of powers and duties of the Board to such Manager;

(i) method of calling meetings of the Association of Apartment Owners and the numbers of the members of such Association of Apartment Owners;

(j) election of a President of the Association of Apartment Owners from amongst the apartment owners, who shall preside over the meeting of the Board and of the Association of Apartment Owners;

(k) election of a Secretary to the Association of Apartment Owners from among the apartment owners, who shall be an ex-officio member of the Board and shall keep two separate minutes books, one for the Association of the Apartment Owners and the other for the Board, pages of each of which shall be consecutively numbered and authenticated by the President of the Association of the Apartment Owners, and shall record, in the respective minutes books, the resolutions adopted by the Association of the Apartment Owners or the Board, as the case may be;

(l) election of a Treasurer from among the apartment owners, who shall keep the financial records of the Association of Apartment Owners as also of the Board;

(m) maintenance, repair and replacement of the common areas and facilities and payment therefor;

(n) manner of collecting from the apartment owners or any other occupant of the apartments, share of the common expenses;

(o) resignation and removal of persons employed for the maintenance, repair and replacement of the common areas and facilities;

(p) restrictions with regard to the use and maintenance of the apartments and the use of the common areas and facilities, as may be necessary to prevent unreasonable interference in the use of each apartment and of the common areas and facilities by the several apartment owners;

(q) any matter which may be required by the Competent Authority to be provided for in the bye-laws for the proper or better administration of the property;

(r) such other matters as are required to be, or may be, provided for in the bye-laws.

(8) The bye-laws framed under sub-section (6) may also contain provisions, not inconsistent with this Act:

(a) enabling the Board to retain certain area of the building for commercial purposes and to grant lease of the areas so retained, and to apply the proceeds of such lease for the reduction of the common expenses for maintaining the building, common areas and facilities, and if any surplus is left after meeting such expenses, to distribute such surplus to the apartment owners as income;

(b) relating to the audit of the accounts of the Association of Apartment Owners and of the Board, and of the administration of the property;

(c) specifying the times at which and the manner in which annual general meetings and special general meetings of the Association of Apartment Owners shall be held and conducted;

(d) specifying the time at which and the manner in which, the annual report relating to the activities of the Association of Apartment Owners shall be submitted;

(e) specifying the manner in which the income derived and expenditure incurred by the Association of Apartment Owners shall be dealt with or as the case may be, accounted for.”

30. Chapter VIII of the Apartment Act deals with miscellaneous matters and Section 24 reads as under:-

“24. Act to be binding on apartment owners, tenants etc. - (1) All apartment owners, tenants of owners, employees of owners and tenants, or any other person who may, in any manner, use the property or any part thereof to which this Act applies, shall be subject to the provision of this Act and the bye-laws and the rules made thereunder :

Provided that, nothing contained in this sub-section shall effect the right, title or interest acquired by any allottee or other person in common areas and facilities from any promoter on or before the date of commencement of this Act.

(2) All agreements, decisions and determinations lawfully made by the Association of Apartment Owners in accordance with the provisions of this Act and the bye-laws shall be deemed to be binding on all apartment owners.”

31. The control of the State Government for the efficient administration of the Apartment Act is provided in Section 27 thereof. Sections 31 of the Apartment Act reads as follows:-

“31.Overriding effect of this Act.- (1) The provisions of this Act shall have effect, notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any other law for the time being in force.

(2) Save as otherwise, expressly provided in sub-section (1) the provisions of this Act, shall be in addition to, and not in derogation of any other law for the time being in force.”

32. Thus, an association of apartment owners is required to be constituted under the provisions of the Apartment Act and would remain subject to the provisions of the Apartment Act. However, registration of association of apartment owners is governed by the provisions of the Societies Act as held by two division bench decisions of this court in:- (i) M/s. Designarch Infrastructure Pvt. Ltd. and another v. Vice Chairman, Ghaziabad Development Authority and others24, and, (ii)

Management Board, Windsor Park Residents Welfare Association v. State of U.P. and others²⁵.

33. As is evident from the definition of 'common areas and facilities' existing in clause (i) of Section 3, the definition is wide enough to cover the 40 feet road. Sub-section (2) of Section 24 of the Apartment Act provides for all agreements, decisions and determinations lawfully made by the association of apartment owners in accordance with the provisions of the Apartment Act and the bye-laws shall be deemed to be binding on all the apartment owners.

34. The various rights of the apartment owners specified in Section 5 of the Apartment Act include entitlement to such percentage of undivided interest in the common areas and facilities as may be specified in the deed of the apartment. The percentage of the undivided interest of each apartment owner in the common areas and facilities shall have a permanent character, and shall not be altered without the written consent of all the apartment owners and approval of the competent authority. The percentage of the undivided interest in the common areas and facilities shall not be separated from the apartment to which it appertains and shall be deemed to be conveyed or encumbered with the apartment, even though such interest is not expressly mentioned in the conveyance or other instrument. The common areas and facilities shall not be transferred and remain undivided and no apartment owner or any other person shall bring any action for partition or division of any part thereof, and any covenant to the contrary shall be void. Each apartment owner may use the common areas and facilities in accordance with the purposes for which they are intended without hindering or encroaching upon the lawful rights of the other apartment owners.

35. In the present case, the plaintiff-petitioners are claiming the right of permissive usage of the 40 feet road by way of a grant. Therefore, for such a decision to be binding on all apartment owners, it has to be demonstrated that the decision was taken by the association of apartment owners in a regularly summoned meeting in accordance with the Apartment Act and bye-laws and after due deliberation, the resolution having carried through. This would assume importance in view of the strong denial made by the defendant-respondents in their objections filed to the temporary injunction. And, particularly, in the light of the undivided interest of each apartment owner in the common areas and facilities that are mandated to have a permanent character, and which shall not be altered without the written consent of all the apartment owners and approval of the competent authority.

36. At this stage, it is relevant to quote the provisions of Section 2 of the Indian Easements Act, 1882²⁶, which are as under :-

“2. Saving.- Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to affect any law not hereby expressly repealed; or to derogate from—

(a) any right of the Government to regulate the collection, retention and distribution of the water of rivers and streams flowing in natural channels, and of natural lakes and ponds, or of the water flowing, collected, retained or distributed in or by any channel or other work constructed at the public expense for irrigation;

(b) any customary or other right (not being a license) in or over immovable property which the Government, the public or any person may possess irrespective of other immovable property; or

(c) any right acquired, or arising out of a relation created, before this Act comes into force.” (Emphasis supplied)

37. Given the opening line of the aforesaid Section 2 of the Easements Act, its provisions would not affect any law that is in force. Therefore, the Apartment Act would not be affected by the Easements Act. Thus, the provisions of the Easements Act would have no bearing on the statutory rights of apartment owners under the provisions of the Apartment Act and the rules and bye-laws made thereunder. In any view of the matter, given the provision of Section 31 of the Apartment Act, which provides for its overriding effect, any inconsistencies in the Easements Act with the Apartment Act, would stand overridden by the provisions of the Apartment Act. The provisions of sub-section (2) of Section 31 of the Apartment Act would not inure to the benefit of the plaintiff-petitioners in respect of any claim they may set up under the Easements Act which is inconsistent with the Apartment Act.

38. The decision of the trial court noted above, is fraught with illegalities and arbitrariness. Instances include the fact that a part of the Amin Commissioner's report has been relied upon for purpose of grant of injunction and the other parts have been overlooked. Further, the trial court has referred to the affidavit filed by the alleged former President, Sudhir Verma, and has observed that in case a wrong NOC was issued by the former President, then what action was taken against him has not been specified by the defendant-respondents. The trial court was apparently searching for weaknesses in the case of defendant-respondents to grant temporary injunction to the plaintiff-petitioners, rather than considering the own case of the plaintiff-petitioners set up in the application for temporary injunction. The trial court seems to have lost sight of the fact that the property of Ark City is distinct from plot no.291 having separate ownership.

39. Further, the trial court has referred to the documents procured by the plaintiff-petitioners under the Right to Information Act from the office of the Deputy Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, which allegedly show that the Board of the Welfare Association is not registered and, therefore, the present Board has no authority to question the NOC issued in favour of the plaintiff-petitioners. In my opinion, such an observation is completely arbitrary and illegal, as on coming to such a finding, the first question that ought to have arisen was whether the suit would be defeated for non-joinder of necessary parties.

40. It is pertinent to mention here that, apparently, the plaintiff-petitioners have not obtained any sanctioned lay-out plan from the Development Authority for carving out plots over plot no.291 for selling to third parties. But, they are demanding access to the amenities and facilities of Ark Society including membership of third parties in the Welfare Association on the basis of the alleged NOC that purports to provide all facilities and amenities to the plaintiff-petitioners in aid of plotting and sale of the plot No.291. Such a conduct cannot entitle the plaintiff-petitioner to any indulgence of this court in exercise of equity jurisdiction.

41. The aforesaid discussion on the Apartment Act and the Easements Act, and the interplay of these enactments has been necessitated in the facts and circumstances of the present case.

42. The impugned order passed by the appellate court dated 28.02.2023 is based on cogent reasons and deserves no interference under the facts and circumstances of the case. The defendant-respondents are entitled to maintain the boundary wall of Ark City in accordance with the plan sanctioned by the Development Authority.

43. In view of the facts and circumstances mentioned above, the impugned order of the appellate court dated 28.02.2023 calls for no interference in this petition.

44. This petition is, accordingly, dismissed.

1. Heard Sri P.K. Chaurasia, Sri Anil Kumar Shukla, Sri Prem Chandra Saroj, Ms. Sarita Jhingan Shukla, Sri Anil Kumar Mehrotra, Sri Pankaj Dubey. No other counsel has appeared to argue on behalf of the petitioners in this Bunch. Sri Manish Goyal, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Kamaljeet Singh, Sri Suresh Singh, Sri Aditya Bhushan Singhal, Sri Shashi Prakash Rai has made his submissions on behalf of Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority. Sri Ajit Kumar Singh, learned Additional Advocate General assisted by Sri Sudhanshu Srivastava, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel, Sri Amit Verma, Sri Apurva Hajela and Sri D.K. Mishra, learned Standing Counsels for the State respondents has adopted the arguments of Sri Manish Goyal, learned Senior Advocate appearing for the Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority.

2. The present bunch of writ petitions are arising out of the acquisition proceedings initiated by the State Government under the Land Acquisition Act' 1894 (hereinafter referred as the Act' 1894) for acquisition of lands of nine villages vide acquisition notifications published under Section 4 and 6 read with Section 17(1) and (4) of the Act' 1894. A bird's eye view of the status of acquisition of lands of nine villages in tabulation form is as under:-

I. The Challenge:-

3. The writ petitions have been filed with the main relief of quashing of the acquisition notifications issued under Section 4 and 6 read with Section 17(1) and (4) of the Act' 1894 and the main ground of challenge is the invocation of urgency clause to dispense with the enquiry under Section 5-A of the Act' 1894.

4. Amongst various grounds raised in the writ petitions, only issue pressed before us by the learned counsels for the petitioners was that there was no justification with the State Government for invocation of urgency clause and denial of opportunity of hearing to the tenure holders had resulted in deprivation of valuable rights of the tenure holders, which makes the entire exercise of acquisition arbitrary and illegal. The purpose of acquisition as stated in the notifications under challenge was 'planned development through Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority', for which urgency clause cannot be invoked in view of the law laid down by the Apex Court in the case of Radhy Shyam(D) Thr. Lrs & Ors vs State Of U.P.& Ors1.

5. The question, thus, is as to whether the invocation of urgency clause by the State Government, in the facts and circumstances of the instant writ petition, was an illegal exercise. In an effort to answer this question, we have conducted the hearing village wise and heard learned counsels for the parties on the facts of the acquisition of each village and also perused the original record produced by the State village-wise for each acquisition notification, so as to examine as to whether the exercise of power on the part of the State Government was such which would require interference in exercise of the power of judicial review under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

6. At the outset, it may be noted that the dispossession of the petitioners from the acquired land had been stayed by this Court at the time of admission while calling for the counter affidavit. Under various interim orders passed by this Court in the writ petitions in this bunch, parties were directed to maintain status-quo. One such order dated 12.05.2010 in Writ-C No. 26767 of 2010 is noted hereinunder:-

“Notices on behalf of respondent no.1,2 and 3 have been accepted by the learned standing counsel and behalf of respondent no. 4 by Sri R.P.Singh learned counsel for the respondents.

Let counter affidavit be filed within a period of two weeks.

List thereafter.

In the meantime parties shall maintain status quo.”

7. The interim order dated 28.09.2011 in Writ C no. 56629 of 2011 is also reproduced hereinunder:-

“Issue notice pending admission.

Notice on behalf of respondent nos. 1 and 2 has been accepted by learned Standing Counsel. Notice on behalf of respondent no. 3 has been accepted by Sri Suresh Singh, learned counsel for the said respondent. Therefore, no notice need to be sent to the respondents.

Counter affidavit on behalf of respondents may be filed within four weeks. Rejoinder affidavit may be filed within three weeks thereafter.

List before appropriate Bench after expiry of the aforesaid period.

Heard on the question of grant of interim relief.

Having regard to the facts and circumstances of the case and having considered the submissions made by learned counsel for the parties, we direct that till the next date of listing, the parties shall maintain status quo as of the date in respect of nature and possession of the property in question.”

II. The arguments of the counsels for the petitioners:-

8. Sri P.K. Chaurasiya and Sri Pankaj Dubey learned Counsels appearing for the petitioners in the bunch of writ petition relating to acquisition notification of Village Pachokra have extended arguments on behalf of the writ petitioners.

9. It was argued by the learned counsels appearing for the petitioners that there was no occasion for the State Government to invoke the urgency clause under Section 17 (1) of the Act to dispense with the enquiry under Section 5-A of the Act' 1894, in as much as, the acquisition notifications for Village Pachokra were dated 26.02.2009 and 19.02.2010 under Section 4 and 6 of the Act' 1894. The above dates themselves demonstrate that about one year time was taken for issuance of the declaration notification after the proposal under Section 4 of the Act was published. There was both pre and post notification delay which is to be taken into account to examine as to whether there was any justification to deprive the tenure holders of their right to file objection against the acquisition of their lands. Only 30 days time from the date of the publication of Section 4 notification is provided under the Act' 1894 to file objection to the acquisition and when the State Government itself had taken one year time to notify the declaration notification under Section 6, there cannot be any justification for dispensation of only 30 days time to file objection on the plea of urgency. This fact is sufficient to disbelieve existence of any urgency.

10. Further, no material was before the State Government to show existence of any unforeseen urgency to invoke the urgency clause under Section 17(4) of the Act to deny the rights of the land holders to file objections. Only 198 tenure holders were affected by acquisition of Village Pachokra for which acquisition notifications were published on 26.02.2009 and 09.02.2010 under Section 4 and 6; respectively. Moreover, the purpose of acquisition as stated in the notification under Section 4 and 6 was that the land was needed for planned development under Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority (in short 'YEIDA') in District Gautam Budh Nagar. The urgency clause under Section 17(1) can be invoked only in the eventualities which are mentioned in Sub-section (2) of Section 17, i.e. if the immediate possession of the land is needed for the purpose of maintaining any structure or system pertaining to irrigation, water supply, drainage, road communication or electricity, or for reference, or any other unforeseen emergency such as sudden change in the channel of any navigable river. For publication of notice under sub-section (1) of Section 17, invoking urgency clause, previous opinion of the State Government is required. With the invocation of the urgency clause, though no award has been made, possession of the land needed for the public purpose can be taken after 15 days from the publication of notice under Section 9, and on such possession being taken, the land vests absolutely in the State Government free from all encumbrances. The consequence of acquisition by invocation of urgency clause being too harsh, much care and circumspection was required to exercise such power.

11. In the case at hands, the lands of Village Pachokra were to be utilized for commercial and residential purposes and the project has no relevance to the project of construction of Yamuna Expressway. For such development work, which obviously would take sufficient time in the planning and execution, there can be no justification for invocation of urgency though the purpose for which acquisition was made can still be treated as public purpose within the meaning of Section 4.

A. Judgements relied by the counsels for the petitioners:-

(i) Radhy Shyam (supra)

12. Heavy reliance has been placed on the decision of the Apex Court in Radhy Shyam (supra) to argue that it was held therein that Section 17(1) read with Section 17(4) confer extraordinary power upon the State to acquire private property without complying with the mandate of Section 5-A. These provisions can be invoked only when the purpose of acquisition cannot brook the delay of even few weeks or months. Therefore, before excluding the application of Section 5-A, the concerned authority must be fully satisfied that time of few weeks or months likely to be taken in conducting inquiry under Section 5-A will in all probability, frustrate the public purpose for which land is proposed to be acquired. It was held therein that the acquisition of land for residential, commercial, industrial or institutional purposes can be treated as an acquisition for public purposes within the meaning of Section 4 but that, by itself, does not justify the exercise of power by the Government under Section 17(1) and/or 17(4). The Apex Court therein had taken judicial notice of the fact that planning, execution and implementation of the schemes relating to development of residential, commercial, industrial or institutional areas usually take few years. It was held that the private property, therefore, cannot be acquired for such purposes by invoking the urgency provision contained in Section 17(1). In any case, exclusion of the rule of audi alteram partem embodied in Section 5-A (1) and (2) is not at all warranted in such matters.

13. The Apex Court having taken note of the pre-notification delay of more than one year time taken by the State Government to issue proposal under Section 4 read with Section 17(1) and 17(4) has observed that it was not possible to accept the argument that four to five weeks within which the objections could be filed under Sub-section (1) of Section 5-A and the time spent by the Collector in making inquiry under Sub-section (2) of Section 5-A would have defeated the object of acquisition. The apprehension raised by the respondent therein that delay in the acquisition of land will lead to enormous encroachment was held totally unfounded, noticing that it was beyond comprehension of any person of ordinary prudence to think that the land owners would encroach their own land with a view to frustrate the project of planned industrial development of the district.

14. Post notification delay of about one year, the time consumed between the issuance of the notification Section 4 and 6 was noted to observe that the said delay would demonstrate that the State Government could complete the exercise under Section 5-A and Section 6 both in a shorter period.

15. With the above facts noted from the material on record, it was held therein that the only possible conclusion which could be drawn was that that there was no real and substantive urgency which could justify invoking of the urgency provision under Section 17(1) and, in any case, there was no warrant to exclude the application of Section 5-A.

(ii) Dev Sharan and others versus State of UP and others²

16. Reference had been made to the decision of the Apex Court in Dev Sharan and others (supra) to submit that while answering the question therein whether, in the facts of that case, invoking the urgency clause under Section 17(4) was justified, the Apex Court having noted the post-notification delay, the time elapsed between publication of Section 4(1) and 17 notifications and Section 6 declaration of almost one year, has held that at the slow pace at which the Government machinery had functioned in processing the acquisition, clearly evinced that there was no urgency for acquiring the land so as to warrant invoking of Section 17 (4) of the Act. It was held therein that valuable rights of the tenure holder under Section 5-A of the Act cannot be flattened and steamrolled on the 'ipsi dixit' of the executive authority while quashing the acquisition notification. The decision of the Apex Court in *Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Limited vs. Darius Shahpur Chennai and ors*³ was noted therein [in Dev Sharan (supra)] to note that the right which is conferred under Section 5A has to be read considering the provisions of Article 300-A of the Constitution and, such right so construed, should be interpreted as being akin to a Fundamental Right. It was held that the same being the legal position, the procedures which have been laid down for depriving a person of the said right must be strictly complied with.

(iii) Devendra Kumar Tyagi v. State of U.P.⁴,

17. In Devendra Kumar Tyagi (supra) post notification delay, the time of nearly two years taken in declaration under Section 6, after issuance of proposal under Section 4 of the Act, 1894 was viewed seriously to hold that the State Government was not justified to invoke urgency provision of Section 17(4) of the Act' 1894.

It was observed that the lackadaisical attitude of the State Government or the lethargy on the part of the official does not exhibit or depict any kind of urgency. The dereliction of responsibility being on the part of the State Government, cannot be equated with urgency contemplated in the Act' 1894. It was argued that expropriatory legislation like the Land Acquisition Act' 1894 must be given strict consideration. Section 5-A is a substantial right and akin to fundamental right which embodies a principle of giving a proper and reasonable opportunity to the land loser to persuade the authorities against the acquisition of their lands which can be dispensed with only in exceptional cases of real urgency and not by side-wind. The decisions of the Apex Court in Radhy Shyam (supra) and Dev Sharan (supra) were relied to arrive at the above noted conclusion.

(iv) Devendra Singh & Ors. Vs. State of U.P. & Ors⁵.

18. In another decision in Devendra Singh (supra) it was held that it is well settled that acquisition of land for public purpose, by itself, shall not justify the exercise of power of eliminating enquiry under Section 5-A in terms of Section 17 (1) and Section 17 (4) of the Act. The decisions in Radhy Shyam (supra) and Dev Sharan (supra) and Devendra Kumar Tyagi (supra) were relied to hold therein that the pre-notification delay by itself cannot justify invocation of urgency clause for acquisition, but it only accelerates or increases the urgency of need of acquisition, only in case it already exists in the nature of public purpose. It was held that that the State Government was not justified, in the facts of the said case, to invoke the emergency provision of Section 17(4) of the Act. The land holders could not have been denied of their valuable right under Section 5-A of the Act.

(v) Darshan Lal Nagpal & Ors vs Govt.Of Nct Of Delhi & Ors⁶

19. Reliance has been placed upon the decision of the Apex Court in Darshan Lal Nagpal (supra) to submit that the Apex Court therein taking note of a catena of decisions ranging from Narayan Govind Gavate Vs. State of Maharashtra⁷ to Devendra Kumar Tyagi (supra), has noted that the acquisition of land by invoking the urgency provisions for the public purposes like, planned residential, commercial, industrial or institutional development has been disapproved in various decisions, noted therein ranging from 1977 to 2011. The judgement of the Apex Court in Anand Singh Vs. State of UP⁸, has been considered therein to note that pre and post notification delay will have a material bearing on the question of invocation of urgency power, particularly in a situation where no material has been placed by the appropriate Government before the Court justifying that urgency was of such nature that necessitated elimination of enquiry under Section 5-A. It was argued therein that the decision of the government on the issue of urgency is a condition precedent to the exercise of power under Section 17(1) and the State must exercise this power with greater care and circumspection as compulsory acquisition of land is likely to make the owners landless. Compulsory acquisition of the property belonging to a private individual is a serious matter and has grave repercussions on their Constitutional right of not being deprived of his property without the sanction of law Article 300A and the legal rights. The degree of care required to be taken by the State is greater when the power of compulsory acquisition of private land is exercised by invoking the provisions of urgency under Section 17 of the Act as it results in depriving the owner of his property without being afforded an opportunity of hearing. Pre-notification delay was held fatal to the invoking of the urgency provision. Reliance was placed upon the decision of the Apex Court in Radhy Shyam (supra) therein to hold that there was no justification to dispense with the application of Section 5-A, which represents two facets of the rule of hearing, i.e. the right of the land owner to file objection against the proposed acquisition of land and of being heard in the inquiry required to be conducted by the Collector. The scope of the rule of hearing i.e. audi alteram partem was noted to hold that it could not be established that the urgency was such that even few months time, which may have been consumed in the filing of objections by the land owners under Section 5A(1) and holding of inquiry by the Collector under Section 5A(2), would have frustrated the project.

(vi) Hamid Ali Khan (D) Thr. Lrs. vs State Of U.P & others⁹.

20. A recent decision of the Apex Court in Hamid Ali Khan (D) (supra) has been placed before us to assert that taking note of the above referred decisions, the Apex Court has held therein that the facts considered by the State for invocation of urgency, being specifically within the exclusive knowledge of the State must be laid before the Court on the basis of the principle in Section 106 of the Evidence Act. The challenge to the notification under Section 17(4) must be approached in the matter of discharging the burden of proof. Existence of the exceptional circumstances justifying invoking of Section 17(4) must be established in the wake of a challenge on an appreciation of the evidence made available by all the parties, it is open to the Court to conclude that no occasion arose for resorting to the power under Section 17 (4) which indeed must be read as an exception to the general rule. The observation in paragraph No. '22' of the said decision has been placed before us, which is relevant to be extracted hereinunder:-

"We may cull out the principles at play. What is required of the authority is to form a subjective opinion. This does not mean that the opinion can be whimsical or capricious. There must be materials before the authority. The materials must be relevant. The authority must apply his mind to the material. This is apart from the requirement that action must not be mala fide. Undoubtedly the purpose must be a public purpose. But merely because the purpose of the acquisition is found to be a public purpose, the duty of the authority does not end. He must be satisfied that there is real agency such that the invaluable right vouchsafed to a person to ventilate his grievances against the acquisition is not unjustifiably extinguished. Section 5A of the Act guarantees a right to the person interested in the property which was the only statutory safeguard to stave off of a compulsory acquisition of his property. The power under Section 17 (4) is discretionary. Being a discretion it must be exercised with due care. It is true that if there is relevant material however meagre it may be and the authority has without being guided by extraneous considerations applied his mind and taken a decision, then the court would adopt a hands-off approach. In the ultimate analysis as with any other decision a balancing of conflicting interests is inevitable. The authorities must remain alive and alert to the precious right created in favour of the citizens which is not meant to be a mere empty ritual”.

(vii) Narayan Govind Gavate Vs. State of Maharashtra

21. The decision in Narayan Govind Gavate (supra) has been read over to vehemently argue that the burden of proving the existence of circumstances which could justify invocation of urgency clause was upon the State. It was held therein that the particular onus of proving facts and circumstances lying especially within the knowledge of the official who formed the opinion which resulted in the notification under Section 17(4) of the Act rests upon that official. The recital in the order or notification, if not defective, may obviate the need to record further. There may be circumstances in the case which impel the Court to look beyond it. And, at that stage, Section 106 Evidence Act can be invoked by the party assailing an order or notification. It is most unsafe in such cases for the official or authority concerned to rests content with non-disclosure of facts especially within his or its knowledge by relying on the substantiality of a recital. Such an attitude may itself justify further scrutiny. It was held that if, in addition to the bare assertions made by the petitioners, that the urgency contemplated by Section 17(4) did not exist, there were other facts and circumstances including the failure of the State to indicate facts and' circumstances which it could have easily disclosed if they existed, the petitioners could be held to have discharged their general onus. Indeed, even if a recital in a notification is defective or does not contain the necessary statement that the required conditions have been fulfilled, evidence can be led to show that conditions precedent to the exercise of a power' have been actually fulfilled. It must be proved that the mind of the Officer or the Authority concerned had been applied to the question whether there was an urgency of such a nature that even the summary proceedings under Section 5A of the Act should be eliminated. It is not just the existence of an urgency but the need to dispense with an inquiry under Section 5A which has to be considered. It was observed that it offers no difficulty in applying Section 17(4) in public interest and the particulars of what is obviously to be done in public interest need not be concealed when its validity is questioned in a Court of justice. There may arise questions involving consideration of facts which are especially within the knowledge of the authorities concerned, and, if they do not discharge their special burden, imposed by Section 106 Evidence Act, without even disclosing a sufficient reason for their abstention from disclosure, they have to take the consequences which flow from the non-production of the best evidence which could be produced on behalf of the State if its stand was correct.

22. It was, thus, held therein that the provision of Section 106 of the Evidence Act have to be applied to place the burden upon the State to prove those special circumstances, to discharge the burden of disclosure of the attendant facts and circumstances to show that some exceptional circumstances which necessitated the elimination of an enquiry under Section 5-A of the Act were existing and the mind of the Competent authority/State was applied to this essential question.

(viii) Ram Singh & another Vs. State of U.P. & others¹⁰

23. Reliance has further been placed upon the decision of this Court in Ram Singh (supra) to assert that the acquisition notifications under Section 4 and 6 of the Land Acquisition Act were quashed therein taking note that the pre-notification delay will have a material bearing on the question of invocation of urgency powers particularly when no material was produced by the appropriate Government to justify elimination of enquiry envisages under Section 5-A of the Act.

B. Reliance on similar Dispute decided:-

(ix) Shyoraj Singh & others Vs. State of U.P. & others¹¹

24. After making the above noted submissions on the legal principles applicable to examine the question whether invocation of urgency clause, in the facts and circumstances of the case, is justified, it was urged by the learned counsels for the petitioners that in the similar facts and circumstances as that of the instant case, the acquisition notifications of Village Chandpur issued on 26.02.2009 and 19.02.2010 under Section 4 and 6; respectively, by invocation of the urgency clause with the aid of Section 17(1) & 17(4) of the Land Acquisition Act, have been held to be bad.

(a) In the said case, the purpose of acquisition in the acquisition notifications of Village Chandpur, for 'Planned development of the area by YEIDA', was noted by the Division Bench of this Court in the judgement and order dated 24.04.2017, to hold that the purpose shown in the notification would itself, cannot justify invocation of urgency clause in view of the law laid down by the Apex Court in the case of Radhy Shyam (supra). Further, the Court having gone through the original records pertaining to the notification in question had held therein that the grounds mentioned in the reports of the authorities placed on record, for recording satisfaction for invoking the power under Section 17 of the Land Acquisition Act, for dispensing with the enquiry contemplated under Section 5-A of the said Act that:- (a). there were chances of unauthorised occupations/encroachment of the land; (b). large number of farmers would be affected by the acquisition and hearing of such large number of farmers would delay the project, were untenable.

It was further noted that the period of nearly one year taken in the publication of Section 6 notification after the proposal under Section 4 was published itself was sufficient to return a finding that there was absolutely no urgency which could have justified the invoking of power under Section 17 of the Act' 1894, so as to deprive the farmers of an opportunity of hearing under Section 5A.

It is, thus, argued by the learned counsels for the petitioners herein that the findings returned by this Court in the aforesaid decision for discarding the justification given by the State for dispensation of enquiry under Section 5-A, are binding on this Court being a Co-ordinate Bench of the same Court. As in the similar facts and circumstances, a decision has already rendered by another Division Bench holding the notifications under Section 4 and 6 of the Land Acquisition Act as bad, this Court may not reach at any contrary opinion. Following binding precedent of the Co-ordinate bench of this Court, the acquisition notifications, in the instant bunch, pertaining to nine villages published between November 2009 to March 2011, cannot but be held to be bad for invoking the power under Section 17(1) and 17(4) of the Act, 1894, without any material to justify the denial of hearing to the land holders.

Further, on the operative portion of the order in Shyoraj Singh (supra) wherein the Court did desist from quashing the acquisition notifications, it was argued that the ultimate relief granted therein of providing higher compensation under the provision of Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act' 2013, treating the date of the decision of the Writ Court as the date of acquisition, may not be followed, in as much as, with respect to the acquisitions before us, much development has not been carried out by the YEIDA subsequent to the acquisition notifications. It is vehemently argued that the petitioners are not interested in taking higher compensation, rather they want their land/property back, as most of them are having their dwelling units wherein they are residing with their families.

(b) Similar judgments of this Court dated 29.05.2017, deciding Writ-C No. 46776 of 2010 with respect to the acquisition notifications dated 26.02.2009 and 01.02.2010 under Section 4 and 6 of the Act' 1894, pertaining to Village Rabupura; the judgment and order dated 22.12.2016 in Writ C No. 56451 of 2011 (Kunwar Shlivahan Singh and others Vs. State of U.P. & others) connected with other 68 petitions challenging acquisition notifications dated 13.5.2010 and 28.07.2010 under Section 4 and 6 of the Act' 1894 pertaining to Village Mirzapur;

the judgement and order dated 22.11.2016 in Writ-C No. 44741 of 2010 (Harpal Singh And Anr. Vs. State Of U.P. And Others) challenging acquisition notifications dated 26.2.2009 and 01.02.2010 under Section 4 and 6 of the Act' 1894 pertaining to Village Niloni Shahpur, have been placed before us to argue that once this Court decided that invocation of urgency clause with the help of Section 17(1) and 17(4) of the Act' 1894, in the similar facts and circumstances as that of the instant cases, was bad in law, no further deliberation in the instant matter is required. All the writ petitions deserve to be allowed in light of the above noted decisions of this Court and the acquisition notifications under challenge are liable to be quashed.

C. Aid to the above arguments by other counsels in the bunch:-

26.

(i) Some of the counsels appearing for the writ petitioners, however, expressed the wish of the petitioners to whom they represent that the notifications under challenge in their cases be held bad in light of the above noted decisions of this Court in similar acquisitions made by YEIDA, with the help of urgency clause, but if higher compensation be directed to be paid as in the case of Shyoraj Singh (supra) to the petitioners, they would be more than satisfied.

On legal principles, the other counsels appearing in the bunch for different villages have adopted the above noted arguments.

(ii) One of the learned counsels for the petitioners Sri Pankaj Dubey has placed the decision of the Apex Court in Greater Noida Vs. Devendra Kumar & others¹² to assert that there was lack of bona-fides on the part of the State Government and the acquiring authority, which is evinced from the fact that Section 17(1) and (4) was invoked without any tangible emergency, which could justify the exercise of power under Section 17(1) and warrant exclusion of the inquiry envisaged under Section 5-A. The decision of this Court in Ram Singh (supra), has been placed to assert that invocation of urgency clause was found bad therein.

(iii) The Division Bench of this Court in Rajeev & others Vs. State of U.P.¹³ has been placed to assert that even when this Court found that the challenge to acquisition was for a small piece of land, the Court had examined the validity of the decision of the State for invocation of urgency. It was held therein that mere acceptance of the compensation or transfer of their lands by the tenure holders, would not amount to waiver of rights by such person to challenge the acquisition proceedings. No inference of implied consent or acquiescence can be drawn unless the facts of the individual case are examined. In order to constitute waiver, there must be intentional relinquishment of right to challenge the acquisition. However, in order to balance the equities noticing that the major chunks of lands had been developed and allotted to third-party after possession of the land was delivered to the acquiring authority, balancing the statutory rights of the tenure holders and the rights of allottees, the Court had concluded therein that it would not be in public interest to topple the entire acquisition at the behest of those few petitioners. Without quashing the acquisition, it was directed therein that any of the person interested who had not accepted the compensation as per the Karar Niyamawali and was before the Court in that batch of petitions, notwithstanding the fact that the declaration made under Section 6 of the Act was held to be bad, would be entitled to the compensation according to the provisions of the Act' 1894 as per the rate prevailing on the date of the judgment as the awards in respect of the acquisition were made under the Act' 1894 before the enforcement of the Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act, 2013.

Sri Pankaj Dubey learned counsel for the petitioners would lastly submit that the petitioners to whom he is representing, would be satisfied if they are awarded compensation at the market value of the land determined on the date of the judgement in the cases where award had been made during the pendency of this litigation before the enforcement of the Act, 2013. However, in cases where no award has been made, compensation under the Act, 2013 is liable to be determined. It was placed before us the aforesaid decision in Rajeev (supra) has been affirmed by the Apex Court vide judgement and order dated 9.5.2022 with the dismissal of the appeal filed by NOIDA, in Civil Appeal No. 3762 of 2022 arising out of Special Leave Petition (C) No.5863 of 2020.

Sri Anil Kumar Shukla learned Advocate for the petitioner in writ petition, no.20716 of 2010 pertaining to the acquired land of Village Usmanpur would submit that the invocation of urgency clause dispensing with enquiry under Section 5-A, in the instant case, cannot be justified as the purpose of acquisition was for planned development, for which there cannot be any urgency.

Reference has been made to the decision of the Apex Court in Munshi Singh Vs. Union of India & others¹⁴ to submit that Section 5-A embodies a very just and wholesome principle that a person whose property is being or intended to be acquired should have an appropriate and reasonable opportunity of persuading the authorities concerned that acquisition of the property belonging to that person should not be made. The legislature has, therefore, made complete provisions for the persons interested to file objection against the proposed acquisition and for the disposal of their objection against the same. It is only in case of urgency that special powers have been conferred on the appropriate Government to dispense with the provision of Section 5-A. The submission is that no such case of urgency could be shown/established by the respondent justifying the invocation of urgency clause.

(iv) Sri Anil Kumar Mehrotra, the learned Counsel for the petitioners appearing in Writ C No.18539 of 2013 of Village Rampur Bangar and Writ Petition No.20716 of 2010 of Village Usmanpur assailing the decision of the State Government for invoking urgency provision under the Act' 1894 would submit that there was pre-notification delay, which is evident from the facts that the proposal for acquisition was sent in the year 2006 by the development authority, three years time had been taken in finalizing the proposal. The land of village Ramapur Bangar was acquired in two phases, the first notification was issued in February-2009 and the second notifications were issued in the year 2010. It was argued that in view of the decision of the Apex Court in Devendra Singh (supra), the pre-notification delay of three years shows that there was no real urgency. The right of the tenure holders to file objection and hearing granted under the Act could not be dispensed with.

Reference has been made to the decision of the Apex Court in Anand Singh (supra) to submit that pre and post notification delay would have a material bearing on the claim of the State justifying invocation of urgency clause. Reference has been made to the decision in Dev Sharan (supra) to place observation in paragraph '15' therein to urge that in the context of recent trends in land acquisition, the concept of public purpose has to be viewed from an angle which is consistent with the concept of a welfare State. No material particulars has been placed by the State to justify urgency. The land holdings of the poor villagers had been taken in violation of Article 300-A of the Constitution of India. Burden of proving urgency on the State has not been discharged. The material which was placed by the State in other matter was similar and had been considered by the Division Bench rejecting it as non-existent so as to justify invocation of urgency.

It was urged that in the matter of dispensation of enquiry under Section 5 -A, the law laid down by the Apex Court in Radhy Shyam (Supra) holds the field and in view of the law laid down therein in paragraph No. '77', '78', '79', there remains no scope of doubt that in an acquisition for residential purpose, invocation of urgency clause is not permitted. It was argued that it is an admitted case of the respondents in the counter affidavit that the acquired lands would be used for residential purposes.

The attention of the Court is invited to a map appended with the affidavit filed on 15.10.2022 by the appellant at page No. '48' thereof to assert that the contention of the respondent in the counter affidavit that the lands in question is required for the integrated development is misleading, in as much as, plot No. '152' adjacent to the Peripheral Road as indicated in the map at page No. '48' has been allotted to the tenure holders whose land has been acquired under the acquisition for YEIDA. The integrated plan cannot be executed if the land is being leased out to the villagers. The lands of the other tenure holders had been released on the premise that there exists Rural Abadi site, in view of the Greater Noida Industrial Development Rural Abadi Sites (Management and Regularization) Regulation, 2011 framed by the YEIDA for regularization of Rural Abadi sites. The leaseback policy to regularize Abadi of certain villagers is being practiced as per the whims and fancies of the officers. The development Authority (YEIDA), on the one hand, had acquired the lands of various villagers on the premise that the lands were needed for integrated development of the industrial area under the jurisdiction of the authority and, on the other, by permitting the lease back policy, pick and choose method has been adopted to release lands of certain villagers on the premise that the same were Rural Abadi sites. The malafide intention of the Authority (YEIDA) to grab the agriculture lands and existing Abadi of poor farmers/villagers is writ large on the face of the record.

About the scope of inquiry under Section 5- A of the Act, 1894, it was argued by Sri Mehrotra that the proceeding of the inquiry under Section 5-A is a quasi-judicial proceeding which requires application of mind on each and every objection of the tenure holders, including that the land is not required for the purpose stated in the acquisition notification. Inspection can be directed to ascertain existence of Abadi. The tenure holder can argue that the only right to file objection given to him under the Act' 1894, being a valuable right, hardship which would be caused to him by denial of the said right cannot be compensated in any terms. The provision of objection and hearing is compulsory being in the line of principles of natural justice. Thus, there could be no casual denial of such an opportunity by invocation of urgency clause in acquisition where the purpose stated is residential.

It is submitted that the petitioners are in possession of the acquired lands and their claim for release of the same being Abadi site has to be considered. It is vehemently reiterated that a large chunks of lands beyond the village envisaged Yamuna Expressway has been leased out as rural Abadi site and left out from the award. The story set up by YEIDA that the lands in question are needed for integrated development of the area is wholly unbelievable. The acquisition is only for profiteering purposes.

III. On factual aspects, arguments of learned counsels for the parties:-

27. Sri Prem Chand Saroj learned advocate appearing for the petitioners in two connected Writ petition No.19406 of 2011 and Writ petition No. 19408 of 2007 would submit that both the writ petitions relate to the acquisition of plot No. 484 area 0.2930 hectares and plot No. 486 area 0.3030 hectares situated at Village Dhanauri, Pargana Dankaur, Tehsil and District Gautam Budh Nagar. The petitioners herein are recorded tenure holders and they are utilizing the plots in question as Abadi. The assertion is that the land use of the lands in question in the revenue records before establishment of YEIDA is Abadi with respect to both the plots in question. The petitioners have constructed their houses and using them as Abadi for a long time. The development authority has illegally acquired the plots in question by invoking urgency clause denying opportunity of hearing to the petitioners. It was asserted that similarly situated plots adjacent to the lands in question had not been included in the acquisition notifications. Prayer has, thus, been made to quash the acquisition with respect to the plots in question.

28. The submission of the learned counsel for the petitioners, thus, is that the above referred facts indicate that the entire acquisition was malafide in nature and there was no justification for acquisition of Abadi plots.

29. It was further submitted by Shri Prem Chand Saroj learned counsel for the petitioners in the above noted writ petitions that the petitioners are entitled for the relief as in respect to their lands neither possession had been taken nor award has been made.

30. Refuting to the above submissions, it was urged by Sri Manish Goyal learned Senior Advocate appearing for the YEIDA, inviting attention of the Court to the counter affidavit of the State, that the possession of the acquired land has been handed over to the acquiring body on 28.06.2011. 86% of the total affected tenure holders had received compensation. Out of total acquired land of 442.3016, the possession of 414.2312 hectares of the land had been handed over to the development authority. The authority under Section 11(2) was declared on 9.5.2012 for an area of 282.5438 hectares, another award dated 20.12.2012 under Section 11(2) was declared for an area of 86.2005 hectares. The award under Section 11(1) dated 31.12.2013 has been declared for an area of 45.3834 hectares. The awarded amount of those tenure holders who have not received the same has been deposited in the Court by the Land Acquisition Officer.

31. As regards the claim of the petitioners with respect to their existing Abadi over the plots in question prior to their acquisition, the attention of the Court is invited to paragraph No. '11' of the counter affidavit of the State to assert that a survey was conducted at the time of preparation of the proposal for acquisition and in Prapatra-16, the form for description of assets over the land in the proposal for acquisition, there was no description of Abadi, construction or trees over the plots in question. The petitioners though claim there exists Abadi over the plots in question, but no Khatauni or record of entry of Abadi has been annexed with the writ petitions. With regard to Gata No. 484, it is pointed out that the Khatauni appended at page '25' of the writ petition shows that the land in question is agriculture land and it was mortgaged by the petitioner for obtaining loan from the Oriental Bank of Commerce. With respect to the above noted plots, a categorical statement has been made in the counter affidavit of the Authority (YEIDA) in both the writ petitions, that in the joint survey conducted on 20.10.2010, no construction for living purposes was found over the plots in question. With regard to the adjacent plot No. 483, 485, 487, which were not acquired, the explanation has been given in the counter affidavit of the State that in the revenue records, plot No.483, area 0.0180 hectares and plot No.485 area 0.0270 hectares were recorded as Nali, Plot No. 487 area 0.1764 hectares was recorded as Rasta and, as such, these plots could not be acquired.

IV. Argument of the Respondent's counsel:-

32. Sri Manish Goyal learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Kamaljeet Singh, Sri Suresh Singh, Sri Aditya Bhushan Singhal, Sri Shashi Prakash Rai learned counsels appearing for the respondent Authority would submit that the acquisition in question was made for an integrated development of the Notified area which came within the jurisdiction of Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority (YEIDA), vide notification dated 11.07.2008 and the subsequent notifications for inclusion of Villages in District Agra, Gautam Budh Nagar, Aligarh, Mathura, Mahamaya Nagar (Hathras) within the jurisdiction of YEIDA. The YEIDA was authorized to perform various functions to secure planned development of the area including allocation and transfer by way of sale or lease or otherwise the plots of the lands for industrial, commercial, residential and other purposes. The Authority enjoys powers to sell, lease or transfer the land under Section 7 of the UP Industrial Area Development Act' 1976. For integrated development of the Notified area, a Master plan (phase-1-2031) for the Notified area of Gautam Buddh Nagar and Bulandshahr districts was prepared. For overall development of the area under the Master plan, total 22 acquisitions notifications for 16 villages were published between 22.6.2009 to 7.12.2010, within the span of 22 months, i.e. One year ten months.

33. The integrated development of the area under the Master plan-2031 is alongside Yamuna Expressway, for construction of which various notifications were issued earlier for acquiring the lands in the District of Gautam Buddh Nagar, Mathura, Aligarh, Mahamaya Nagar (Hathras) and Agra. The copy of Master plan phase-1-2031 has been placed before us to demonstrate that the acquired lands of the villages-in-question lie on both sides of Yamuna Expressway. Placing the counter affidavit of the Development Authority in the leading case in Writ C No. 26767 of 2010, it was submitted that the development plan prepared by the Authority clearly lays down the land use. The land use within the industrial development area is not merely industrial as is sought to be contended by the learned counsel for the petitioner but, according to the development plan, the land use includes residential, commercial, industrial, institutional, greens, amenities, and such other usage as may be mentioned. With the issuance of the notification declaring the area as industrial development area, it became imminent that the acquired land would be put to such use as is set out in the plan prepared by the Authority (YEIDA). It needs to be emphasized that the acquisition is not being made for further development of the existing or old city. With the acquisition under the Master plan, an integrated newly planned city is being developed. Such development in accordance with the development plan prepared by the development Authority obviates haphazard growth and/or non-confirming use by the land owners.

34. The village wise details of acquisition, award made under the Karar Niyamawali' 1997 and contested awards, the details of lands under litigation as on the date of awards, details of compensation, development and land use for the acquired land as stated in the counter affidavit filed by the Authority (YEIDA) and the State in the writ petitions in this bunch, has been placed before us during the course of arguments in the tabular form, giving statistical figures about acquisition and development. The said village-wise charts are being enclosed with this judgement as Addendum 'A'.

35. The Master plan placed on record, showing the position of the planned development Sector wise, is also made part of this judgement as Addendum- 'B'.

36. We may refer, at this juncture, to the affidavit dated 04.10.2021 filed by the State respondents in Writ Petition No.26767 of 2010 wherein under the directions issued by the Court, a chart has been given to indicate the position as to in how many cases the State has taken possession of the land and deposited estimated compensation of 80% in compliance of Section 17 of the Act' 1894. The Chart of the acquired lands of 14 villages acquired by 21 notifications admeasuring 2671.0871 hectares, disclosing the deposit of estimated compensation of 80% deposited under Section 17 and also the position of the transferred possession of land to YEIDA has been appended therein which is made part of the judgement as Addendum 'C'.

37. Placing the above noted facts brought on record, it was submitted by Sri Manish Goyal learned Senior Counsel for YEIDA that the nature and purpose of acquisition in question is to be taken into consideration to examine as to whether the declaration of the acquisition of land under Section 6 without giving opportunity to the tenure holders to raise objection to the purpose of acquisition under Section 5-A, was justified.

38. The area-wise breakup in order to show the land use of each area under the Master Plan-2031 Phase-1, District Gautam Buddh Nagar and Bulandshahr given in the above noted supplementary counter affidavit dated 14.5.2018, has been placed before us to demonstrate that out of the total acquired area under the Master plan of 18450.43 hectares, namely urban area excluding Village Abadi, an area of 2480.24 hectares to the extent of 13.4% has been allocated for transport. Under the category of mixed use "75% area shall be industrial/institutional/recreational as the main activity and the remaining area can be used for other support activities such as residential/Commercial and facilities".

39. It was urged that the Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority has been declared a Municipality within the meaning of Article 243-Q of the Constitution of India entrusting it for development and maintenance of the township. The development of the Village Abadi by YEIDA has been made compulsory. The township having been conceived as an integrated project under the Phase-1 of the Master plan-2031, will be a newly planned city. The State is duty-bound to secure and ensure planned development and other facilities to all the residents and this can be achieved only when plan is permitted to be permeated in its fullest extent.

40. That under the YEIDA Phase-1, Master Plan-2021, area wise breakup is being given below in order to show the land use of each area.

41. Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority area breakup for Master Plan (Phase-1) District Gautam Buddha Nagar & Bulandshahr.

Sr. No.	Land Use Category	Year 2021
		Area (ha)	%
1.	Residential	4569.52	24.8
2.	Commercial	1275.12	6.9
3.	Industrial	2394.15	13
4.	Institutional	1617.02	8.8
5.	Greens	3751.59	20.3
6.	Transport	2480.34	13.4

7.	Mixed use	1219.82	6.6
8.	SDZ	1142.87	6.2
Total (Urban Area excluding village abadi)		18450.43	100
Village abadi areas		1124.69
Urbanisable Area		19575.12

42. It was argued that with respect to the challenge to the acquisition of lands for construction of Yamuna Expressway and for interchange of Expressway, mainly on the ground that there was no urgency much less any special urgency for construction of road, to acquire fertile agricultural land, the Division Bench of this Court had considered all aspects of the project in Nand Kishore Gupta & others Vs State of UP & others¹⁵ to examine as to whether there was justification for invocation of urgency.

43. It was placed that the Taj Expressway project conceived by the State Government in the year 2001 was an integrated project involving construction of Excess Control Expressway stretching over 160 k.m. from NOIDA to Agra and for development of 25 million square meters of land along the Expressway. The validity of the project was challenged in a Public Interest Litigation. The State Government, exercising power under the Commissioner of Inquiries Act, initiated an enquiry. The said project which was notified by the State under Built, Operate and Transfer (BOT scheme) came up under scrutiny in Balbair Singh Vs. State of UP & others¹⁶ wherein the acquisition was challenged on the ground that it was for the purposes of company and, thus, the provisions of Chapter VII of the Act were required to be followed. The allegations of mala fide in dispensing with the enquiry under Section 5-A were made. The notifications dated 15.10.2007 and 04.01.2008 under Section 4 and 6 of the Act' 1894 of the land situated in a Village in Mathura were subject matter of consideration therein. The writ petition was dismissed vide judgement and order dated 05.10.2009 noticing that in order to provide infrastructural facilities for developing industries throughout the Yamuna belt, the project of National importance was taken up connecting various cities of Uttar Pradesh to the National Capital.

44. It was argued that considering the mammoth scale of the project, it was opined by the State Government that the integrated project which was to cover a large area of land would be stalled, in case, the State had undertaken an enquiry into the disposal of individual objection as contemplated under Section 5-A of the Act. The satisfaction formed by the State with regard to the exercise of power under Section 17(1) and (4) of the Act had been found to be justified noticing that the exercise of power of judicial review is not concerned with the sufficiency of material, but with the issue as to whether there was material before the State justifying the formation of opinion in dispensing with the enquiry contemplated under Section 5-A of the Act. It was observed that there was sufficient compelling reasons existed in justifying the action of the State in dispensing with the enquiry under the Act. The said opinion was formed considering the statements in the counter affidavit of the State as well as the Development Authority therein. By the notification dated 11.07.2008, the name of Taj Expressway Industrial Development Authority was amended and changed into the Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority (YEIDA).

45. The submission is that in these facts and circumstances of the case in Nand Kishore Gupta (supra), where challenge was to the acquisition of land for construction of Expressway, the Court having examined the record of the State, the proposal justifying invocation of urgency, had opined that the record clearly demonstrated that after considering the project and making enquiries and spot inspection including the survey of the revenue records, the District Magistrate had recommended that looking to the purpose of acquisition and the large area involved, and further the fact that the land was needed for construction of road and interchange and planned development, as well as, the fact that in future, there was strong possibility of encroachment over the subject land, Section 17(4) was required to be invoked for dispensing with the enquiry. The pre-notification delay of five years from the date of Concession agreement till the publication of the proposal under Section 4 of the Act, 1894 was found to have been explained on account of intervention at every stage of the proceedings. It was noted that after dismissal of the PIL, the Board of the Authority started making surveys and the proposal for acquisition was, thereafter, submitted. The satisfaction of the State to invoke urgency clause had been found to be justified noticing that there was sufficient material and the project was in public interest. A minuscule number of the writ petitioners representing only a small piece of land were challenging the acquisition stalling a project of construction of a fast moving road.

46. It was placed before us that the Division Bench judgement of this Court in Nand Kishore Gupta (supra) was upheld by the Apex Court in Nand Kishore Gupta Vs State of UP & others¹⁷ wherein noticing the above noted findings of the High Court, the Apex Court had expressed complete agreement stating that there was necessity in the said project, considering the enormousness of the project, likelihood of the encroachment, number of tenure holders, who would have required to be heard and the time taken for that purpose as also the pre-notification delay on account of the above noted reasons where the project had lingered from 2001 till 2008, it was held that there was no reason to take a different view than what was taken by the High Court. The reason for invocation of urgency given by the District Magistrate that the delay may result in encroachment was considered to be a relevant factor for invocation of urgency. It was noted that a large chunk of land of 25 million square meters was liable to be acquired for the purpose of development of five land parcels. There was interlinking between the acquisition of land for the highway and acquisition of land for establishing five townships.

47. It was argued by the learned Senior Counsel for YEIDA that in the case of Radhy Shyam (supra) heavily relied by the learned counsel for the petitioners, while answering the issue of invocation of urgency clause under Section 17 (4) of the Act' 1894, for the acquisition of land for residential/commercial/or industrial purpose, the above decision in Nand Kishore Gupta (supra) was distinguished noticing that the acquisition in the said case was upheld because the land was urgently needed for construction of Yamuna Expressway and by the time, the matter was decided by the Apex Court, huge amount had been spent on the project.

48. The decision of the Apex Court in the case of Radhy Shyam (supra) has been read over at length to submit before us that the entire judgement has to be read in light of the facts of that case to cull out the ratio and when the same is considered with Nand Kishore Gupta (supra), in light of the facts of that case and that of the instant case, the enormousness of the project, huge number of affected tenure holders as a result of acquisition for execution of the integrated project, the reasonable time taken in filing and disposal of objections followed by litigation that may arise of such decisions cannot be perceived to be irrelevant factors. The land in question, in the instant case was urgently needed for planned development of the area, with respect to which the lands parcels of Villages on both sides of the Expressway were being acquired for the purposes of development of the area alongside Expressway.

49. The decision of this Court in Narendra Road lines Limited Vs state of UP and others¹⁸ has been placed before us to submit that it was noted therein that the State had acquired 2500 hectares of land of 25 million square meters (for development at five locations along side Expressway) namely at Site-I: Noida (Sultanpur) (500 hectares); Site-II: between Greater Noida & Dankaur (500 hectares); Site-III: between Dankaur and proposed TEZ (500 hectares); Site IV: between proposed Airport and Tappal (500 hectares) and Site-V: near Agra (500 acres).

50. The challenge in the said case was for the acquisition of the notified land for public purpose, namely “for development under Yamuna Expressway Project through Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority”. The notifications were issued recording the opinion of the Governor that the provisions of Subsection

(1) of Section (17) of the Act were applicable to the land, in as much as, the land was urgently required for development. In the said case, taking note of the factual aspects of the matter, for invoking urgency, it was noted in paragraph ‘96’ as under:-

“96. In the present case, we find that the land for development for 'Yamuna Expressway Project' through 'Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority' is an integrated project. The land was initially acquired for the expressway and thereafter the land has been acquired for developing five parcels, as townships, as an integrated plan of development, both for compensating the concessionaire for the cost of the expressway, as well as the development of the area. The agreement provides that the parcels shall be developed strictly in accordance with the plan prepared by the YEIDA, by adhering to the bye-laws of YEIDA, and other laws applicable to development. The Jaippee Infratech Ltd. will be developing these five parcels strictly in accordance with the concessionaire agreement. The State Government was, therefore, not required to particularise, or to specify the public purpose by pointing out to the nature of the development on each plot of the land acquired for 'Yamuna Expressway Project.'”

51. The writ petition challenging invocation of urgency clause was dismissed therein noticing that the majority of the tenure holders had signed the settlement and had accepted the compensation. It was held that the acceptance of the compensation by the majority of the tenure holders was also a ground on which the challenge to the acquisition could not be interfered with.

52. In the Writ C No. 20585 of 2010 (Natthi Vs. State of U.P. & others) decided by this Court on 12.11.2010, in a challenge to the notifications dated 16.10.2009 and 01.12.2009, under Section 4 and 6 of the Act, 1894; respectively, on the plea that there was no material before the State Government for invocation of urgency, it was noted by this Court that the land acquired was for contiguous part of Yamuna Expressway. The land needed for road to connect Yamuna Expressway to residential sectors was urgently needed. The observations of the Apex Court in Nand Kishore Gupta (supra) were noted therein to record that it was part of an integrated project covering a large area of land and being complimentary to the creation of the Expressway, the challenge was upturned. It was specifically noted therein that though the land-in-question was not for the purposes of Yamuna Expressway or five land parcels, as noted in Nand Kishore Gupta (supra), but the acquisition was for the planned development which included construction of approach road for linking Yamuna Expressway with the land parcels. The public purpose stated in the notification under Section 4 of the Act' 1894 therein be noted as under:-

“Planned development in District Gautam Budh Nagar through Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority”, to record that:-

“In notification under Section 4 of the Act the public purpose was mentioned as "Planned Development in District Gautam Budh Nagar through Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority". The planned development of the area is the object for which Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority has been constituted. In planned development providing for amenities is one of the functions of the Authority and it was not necessary to mention the details of the planned development in the notification under Section 4 of the Act. Mention of planned development in notification under Section 4 of the Act was sufficient to cover all categories of planned development including providing for construction of approach-road/road. Thus non mentioning of the construction of the approach road in the notification under Section 4 of the Act was not imperative.”

53. Placing the said decision, it is argued by the learned Senior Counsel for YEIDA that the language of the notifications in the instant case, under consideration, being the same, it is also to be considered in this case that the acquisition of the lands-in-question being part of an integrated project of development of the Notified area alongside Expressway through Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority (YEIDA), the reasons given in the certificate in Prapatra-10 justifying urgency were sufficient to form opinion by the State Government that the proposed land was urgently needed and dispensation of enquiry under Section 5-A of the Act was necessitated.

54. The Apex Court decision in Kedarnath Yadav¹⁹ has been placed to submit that the purpose of acquisition in Nand Kishore Gupta (supra) was noted therein and it was held that the acquisition of land for planned development of this otherwise industrial backward area with the construction of the Expressway will be complementary to each other and can be viewed as part of the integrated scheme and, thus, held to be a public purpose.

55. The Division Bench judgement of this Court in Dharmendra & others Vs. State of U.P. & others²⁰ dated 04.08.2021 had been placed before us to submit that in the similar facts and circumstances, this Court had refused to interfere in the acquisition of land in the writ petitions pending for a long time wherein award had been passed with tendering of compensation. It was submitted that the Special Leave Petition against the said judgement has been dismissed on 27.9.2021.

56. Reliance has further been placed upon the decisions in Meena Devi Jindal Medical Institute & Research Centre Vs. Lieutenant Governor, Delhi & others²¹ to submit that noticing the decision in Nand Kishore Gupta (supra), that the purpose of acquisition “for planned development through Yamuna Expressway” in the said case was complimentary to the construction of Expressway and being a part of the integrated project. The Apex Court decision in Munshi Singh (supra) has been distinguished therein noticing that in the said case there was no master plat/zonal plat in vogue in the area. Thus, when there was no plan for the area, in that context, the Court has observed that mention in the notification that it was acquisition for the purpose of planned development of the area was vague. Whereas in the said case the Master plan was in existence and the development had taken place in accordance with the Master plan, the vagueness in the notification under Section 4 of the Act' 1894 was, thus, held to be of no consequence.

57. It was vehemently argued by the learned Senior Counsel that the Court has to be conscious of the purpose that when huge chunk of lands was acquired, time taken in identification and deciding the suitability of the land which caused pre-notification delay would have to be considered, to arrive at the decision as to whether the same would affect the statement of invocation of urgency. It was argued that the meticulous planning and preparation of Master plan had taken time in execution of the project. However, in the instant case, with the constitution of Yamuna Expressway Authority vide notification dated 11.07.2008, the Master plan was approved on 24.07.2009, the proposal for acquisition was prepared in the meantime, after survey to assess the suitability of the land for the purpose stated in the acquisition proposal. The acquisition proceedings had been commenced in the shortest possible time with the publication of the first notification on 26.02.2009. It was an acquisition for an integrated project where lands of different villages had been acquired with separate proposals, in each case, where satisfaction has been recorded by the State Government for invocation of urgency clause, for each of the acquisition proposal.

58. It is argued that the purpose of acquisition has substantially been achieved, in as much as, major area under the Master plan has already been developed. About 95% of the land owners are satisfied and received compensation, 90% did not approach this Court being satisfied. Reasons for invocation of the urgency clause had been spelled out, in each case, in the requisite form Prapatra-10. The statement in the reasons that there was likelihood of encroachment in the area in case of delay cannot be said to be extraneous consideration, in as much as, the construction of Yamuna Expressway had been completed by the time, the acquisition notifications for development of the surrounding area alongside the Expressway were issued. It is of common knowledge that around the Highways, encroachment do take place. Expansiveness of the land required for execution of the project was a valid reason for dispensation of Section 5-A as hearing for such a huge number of tenure holders was not a viable option.

59. It was urged that sufficient material was on record and has already been placed before the Court in the shape of the original record by the State for each village, which demonstrated that there has been due application of mind at the level of the State Government and it was not a mechanical exercise. The Government has taken note of the reasons, spelled out reasons for dispensation of enquiry, justification of the same and, thereafter, granted approval/sanction. Pre-notification delay has been satisfactorily explained and noted in Nand Kishore Gupta (supra). There was practically no post notification delay, as in many cases, the declaration notification under Section 6 had been issued in a span of 3-4 months. Only in one or two cases in this bunch, acquisition notification was issued in a gap of approximately one year and in those cases, the State Government had taken a serious view calling for explanation over the delay. This shows that the State was conscious of the urgent need of the land for the project in question.

60. The post notification delay was, however, explained by bringing on record that the time taken had been consumed in arranging loan for deposit of 80% of the estimated compensation. Being a huge project, YEIDA needed thousand crores of money to deposit 80% of compensation and approached different banks. Lands of NOIDA and Greater NOIDA Authorities had been mortgaged as collateral security as banks were not ready to extend loan without security. The explanation, in this regard, can be found in the affidavit filed on behalf of the Development Authority and one such affidavit in Writ Petition No. 23542 of 2010 had been placed before us to substantiate the said submissions.

61. It was argued that the petitioners have failed to establish that;-(i) the land in question was not suitable for the project; (ii). the land was not required for public purposes; (iii) malafide in acquisition, or; (iv) public purpose would be subserved by any other land.

62. No prejudice caused to the petitioners could have been shown by dispensation of enquiry under Section 5-A. In absence of prejudice, no valuable rights of the petitioner can be said to have been violated.

63. It was further argued that Article 300-A will have no application in the present case, in as much as, the entire exercise of acquisition is in furtherance of the public policy for the public at large in accordance with the provisions of Article 39(b) saved by the protection of Article 31-C.

64. It was argued that right to compensation provided under the second proviso to Article 31-A stood duly balanced by giving a No-litigation incentive of 64.7%, grant of 7% of the Abadi Land (developed land) as also the relief granted to the tenure holders under the leaseback policy dated 10.10.2011 modified in 2011 who opted for it besides compensation for the land and superstructure computed under the award. The judgement of Radhy Shyam (supra), Anand Singh (supra), having been given in different set of facts, legal principles stated therein, if considered in the facts of the instant case, will have no application. The facts of the instant case, are identical to the case of Nand Kishore Gupta (supra), principle stated therein have even been followed in Radhy Shyam (supra) as on the fact of Radhy Shyam (supra), Nand Kishore Gupta (supra) was distinguished.

65. The decisions of this Court in Smt. Manju Lata Agarwala Vs. State of U.P.²² and Smt. Varsha Lakhmani Vs. Hitesh Wadhwa²³, have been relied to assert that the principle of prejudice stated therein in a case of invocation of urgency under Section 5-A, thus, would be attracted in the instant case.

66. It was urged that a categorical statement has been made in the affidavit filed in the leading writ petition noted above, to establish that before publication of Section 6 notification in each case (relating to each Village), due deposit of 80% of estimated compensation of the acquired land had been made. There is no violation of the procedure prescribed in the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 for acquisition of the lands in question.

67. As regards the submission of the learned counsels for the petitioners that the controversy, in the instant case, is covered by the decision of this Court in Shyoraj Singh (supra), in as much as, it has been held therein that the invocation of urgency for acquisition for public purpose “planned development of area” was bad in view of the decision of the Apex Court in Radhy Shyam (supra), it was argued by the learned Senior Counsel for the Authority (YEIDA) that the decision in the said case had been rendered ignoring the material brought on record in the shape of the counter affidavit and rejoinder affidavit. Further the fact that it was an integrated development for creation of a new township and not a development of existing or old city, was completely ignored, though the said fact was established from the record placed before the Court. The legal principle stated in Radhy Shyam (supra) were simply applied by this Court while rendering decision in Shyoraj Singh (supra) that there existed no facts before the State Government to invoke urgency. Even in Radhy Shyam (supra) while laying down the principle to examine the illegality and/or justification of the exercise of power under Section 17(1) and/or 17(4) for the acquisition of land for residential, commercial or industrial purpose, it was held that the Court has to scrutinize the relevant record before adjudicating upon the legality of such acquisition. Meaning thereby, in the facts of a given case, the records and all relevant material have to be considered to examine as to whether invocation of urgency clause was justified and the authorities concerned applied their mind to the relevant factors for taking such decision. The legal position stated in the Radhy Shyam (supra) has been mechanically applied by the Division Bench in Shyoraj Singh (supra) and, hence, the said decision cannot be applied to the dispute before us. It was argued that it cannot be said that the judgement in the case of Shyoraj Singh (supra) would squarely cover the dispute before us. It was vehemently argued that the position stated in the said case is distinguishable, in as much as, the aspect of integrated development of the area under Master plan was not placed and the wholesomeness of the project had not been brought before the Court.

68. The opinion expressed by the Court in the case of Shyoraj Singh (supra) for providing higher compensation to the tenure holders in view of the decision in the case of Sahara India (supra) had been termed as inapplicable in view of the subsequent decision of the Apex Court in Indore Development Authority Vs. Manoharlal and others²⁴ wherein the applicability of Section 24 of the Act' 2013 has been considered. It was urged that in the acquisitions in question, award had been declared for the entire land, possession of which had been handed over to the development authority. The tenure holders who did not receive compensation under the award, the compensation amount had been deposited in the Court. However, for the land in question, subject matter of challenge, in the instant bunch, award could not be declared on account of the interim order of status quo passed by this Court. The status quo order, as indicated above, was not confined to the possession only. The authority could not proceed with the acquisition with respect to the land-in-question because of the interference by this Court. Any delay in making the award because of the interim order of this Court cannot be attributed to the authorities. Acquisition proceedings on the dates of filing of the writ petitions were underway and having not been completed because of interference of this Court, Section 24 of the Act' 2013 will have no application. The provision of 2013' Act cannot be applied in these cases in the matter of determination of compensation. Further, No-litigation Incentive can only be granted to those persons who have accepted compensation without protest or have withdrawn their writ petition as per the statement in the policy under the Government order dated 29.8.2014 and 04.11.2015.

69. To counter the submissions of Sri Anil Mehrotra learned Advocate appearing for the petitioner in writ petition 18539 of 2013, the counter affidavit filed on behalf of the development authority therein has been placed before us to assert that 10% of the cost of acquisition and compensation was deposited on 17.2.2010 at the time of submission of the proposal, after which notification under Section 4(1) read with Section 17(4) of the Act, 1894 was issued on 19.4.2010. The remaining 70% of the estimated compensation was deposited on 24.6.2010 before issuance of the declaration under Section 6(1) read with Section 17(1) of the Act, 1894 on 28.07.2010. The amount under the National Rehabilitation Policy was also deposited on 08.07.2010. It was submitted that the land of Village Rampur Bangar had been acquired through different notifications for different uses like Yamuna Expressway project, acquisition of which has been upheld by the Apex Court as also for residential scheme 2009 (1).

70. As regards the claim of the petitioner namely Narendra Kumar therein in paragraph No. '5' and '6' of the writ petition that the dwelling units/houses constructed by the petitioner on the aforesaid land exists and, as such, the petitioner is entitled for exemption of his property from acquisition, in the counter affidavit of the respondent No.3, while giving parawise reply to the said statement, it is submitted that under the leaseback policy, an area of 0.2100 hectares of land of plot No. 152, (area 0.8950 hectares) had been offered to the petitioner vide letter dated 04.06.2011 informing him that the said area can be excluded under the leaseback policy and the remaining area will be treated as acquired and under possession of the authority.

71. In the rejoinder affidavit, while replying to the above noted paragraph No.'33' of the counter affidavit of YEIDA, it is stated that the averments in paragraph No.'33' of the affidavit of YEIDA itself disclose that the dwelling unit of the petitioner was found on the spot and the respondents themselves has agreed to withdraw the acquisition proceedings of the petitioner's land.

72. Reference has been made by the learned Senior Counsel for YEIDA to the decision of this Court dated 4.8.2021 in PIL No. 40484 of 2012, dismissing the petitions seeking for quashing of the similar notifications on the ground of wrongful invocation of urgency provision. It was placed before us from the affidavit dated 26.8.2012 filed, in the instant writ petition, that the said PIL has been dismissed as infructuous noticing that the award had been passed long back with acquisition of land with tender of compensation. The Special Leave Petition No. 14753 of 2020, arising out of the decision of this Court in PIL has been dismissed on 27.09.2021. Another Special Leave Petition No.20352 of 2021 challenging the order of PIL has also been dismissed on 17.12.2021.

73. We may note, at this juncture, that the original record pertaining to the proposal of acquisitions of each notification, subject matter of challenge herein, with regard to dispensation of enquiry under Section 5-A, has been placed before us during the course of hearing and have been perused by us, carefully.

V. Record of the State and counter affidavits:-

74. We are required to record at this juncture, the factual aspects of dispensation of Section 5-A noted by us from the record of the State tallied with the statement in the counter affidavits of the respondent, village wise.

(i) Village Pachokra:-

75. In the counter affidavit in Writ Petition No. 26767 of 2010 relating to acquisition of land for Village Pachokra, it was brought on record that the proposal for acquisition of 50.9390 hectares of land in revenue Village Pachokra, Tehsil Jewar, District Gautam Buddh Nagar was submitted by the Authority/Additional District Magistrate (Land Acquisition), Gautam Buddh Nagar, vide Office order No. 1383 dated 28.01.2009. In the said proposal, the acquiring body recommended for invoking urgency clause "keeping in view the possibility of large time being consumed in the disposal of objections under Section 5-A of the Act' 1894, and the possibility of delay in implementation of the public interest project". Vide letter No. 21 dated 13.2.2009, the said proposal was forwarded by the Additional District Magistrate (Land Acquisition)/Special Executive Officer, Yamuna Expressway Authority to the Director Land Acquisition Directorate, Board of Revenue, UP Camp Greater Noida, Gautam Buddh Nagar, after obtaining required approval in the meeting of the Land Use Committee for acquisition of land and completion of requisite formalities. The Director, Land Acquisition Directorate, Board of Revenue, U.P. by the letter No. 219 dated 14.2.2009, sent the said proposal to the State Government with his recommendation for acquisition of the land. The report of the Collector in the requisite format Prapatra 10 for justification for invocation of urgency under Section 17 of the Act, 1894 reads as under:-

धारा 4/17 औचित्य की टिप्पणी

यमुना एक्सप्रेसवे औद्योगिक विकास प्राधिकरण का गठन उत्तर प्रदेश औद्योगिक क्षेत्र विकास अधिनियम 1976 के अन्तर्गत का उद्देश्य राज्य के निर्दिष्ट क्षेत्रों में से औद्योगिक विकास तथा उससे सम्बद्ध मामलो हेतु प्राधिकरण की संरचना करना है। उक्त अधिनियम के अन्तर्गत यमुना एक्सप्रेसवे प्राधिकरण को अपने अधिसूचित क्षेत्र में भूमि अधिग्रहित करने, योजना बनाने, औद्योगिक इकाईयों हेतु भूमि चिह्नित करने, आधारभूत सुविधाएं विकसित करने, विक्रय द्वारा अथवा पट्टे पर अथवा अन्य प्रकार से औद्योगिक भू उपयोग हेतु भूमि का निस्तारण क्पेचवेंसद्ध करने, भवनों एवं औद्योगिक ईकाईयों की स्थापना को नियमित करने भू उपयोग निर्धारित करने का अधिकार दिया गया है। ग्राम पचोकरा परगना-जेवर तहसील-जेवर जिला गौतमबुद्धनगर यमुना एक्सप्रेसवे प्राधिकरण के अधिसूचित क्षेत्र में स्थित है। यमुना औद्योगिक विकास प्राधिकरण के माध्यम से जनपद गौतमबुद्धनगर में सुनियोजित विकास हेतु तत्काल आवश्यकता है। अर्जन में विलम्ब की दशा में प्रस्तावित भूमि पर अतिक्रमण बढ़ने की प्रबल सम्भावना है जिस कारण यमुना एक्सप्रेसवे की लोक हित की परियोजना पर प्रतिकूल प्रभाव पड़ेगा।

ग्राम पचोकरा की 50.9390 है० भूमि सुनियोजित विकास हेतु अर्जन प्रस्तावित है। लिखित/मौखिक आपत्ति सुने जाने तथा निस्तारण में निश्चित रूप से वर्षों लगेगें तथा अप्रत्याशित विलम्ब होगा जिससे सुनियोजित विकास ठप हो जायेगा। विधि द्वारा धारा 4(1)/17 की अधिसूचना तथा धारा-6/17 की अधिसूचना में मध्य एक वर्ष का समय निर्धारित है।

अतः जनपद गौतमबुद्धनगर में यमुना औद्योगिक विकास प्राधिकरण के माध्यम से सुनियोजित विकास हेतु भूमि का अर्जन किया जाना अपरिहार्य है। अतः राजस्व ग्राम पचोकरा परगना-जेवर, तहसील-जेवर जनपद गौतमबुद्धनगर की 50.9390 हैक्टेयर भूमि

तत्काल अधिग्रहित किया जाना है। अधिग्रहण हेतु अनुमानित प्रतिकर की 10 प्रतिशत धनराशि अर्जन निकाय से प्राप्त करके अपर जिलाधिकारी (भू०अ०), गौतमबुद्धनगर द्वारा निर्धारित लेखा शीर्षक में जमा की जा चुकी है। प्रस्तावित भूमि में कोई धार्मिक स्थल/समारक आदि नहीं बताया गया है। इस ग्राम में अर्जन से कुल 63 परिवार प्रभावित होंगे। अर्जन के फलस्वरूप 46 कृषक भूमिहीन बताये गये हैं। प्रस्तावित भूमि में अनुसूचित जाति/ जनजाति के खातेदारों की संख्या 40 है। छोटे खातेदारों की संख्या 40 है। प्राधिकरण पर कोई प्रतिकर/डिक्रीटल की धनराशि बकाया न होने का प्रमाण पत्र अपरा जिलाधिकारी (भू०अ०), गौतमबुद्धनगर द्वारा दिया गया है। उक्त को दृष्टिगत रखते हुए चयनित भूमि के अधिग्रहण हेतु भूमि अर्जन अधिनियम 1894 के अंतर्गत धारा-40 (1) के साथ पठित धारा-17 की अधिसूचना निर्गत कराये जाने का पूर्ण औचित्य है तदनुसार संस्तुति की जाती है।

76. The State Government found justification regarding urgency and recorded satisfaction that it found sufficient ground for invocation of urgency clause under Section 17 (4) of the Act' 1894. The proposal for acquisition was, thus, published on 26.02.2009. It may be noted that Village Pachokra came in the regulated area of the then Taj Expressway Authority, renamed as Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority, on 12.11.2007.

77. As regards the details of compensation paid to the tenure holders and development carried out by YEIDA during the pendency of the litigation, it may be noted that out of total 198 affected tenure holders, 151 had received compensation. Total number of 18 petitioners are before us, who are agitating for the correctness of the decision of the State Government in invocation of urgency clause. Out of the total area of 41.6525 hectares possession of which has been handed over to the development authority, the percentage of land in litigation is 40.50%.

(ii) Village Achheja Bujurg:-

78. From the counter affidavit of the State filed in Writ-C No. 10785 of 2012, relating to acquisition of the land of Village Achheja Bujurg included in the Notified area on 24.4.2001, it may be noted that the State Government had taken a policy decision for planned development of the area identified as Special Development Zone vide Government Order dated 29.12.2007. For the said development, Taj Expressway Industrial Development Authority was created vide notification dated 24.4.2001. Clause 3.0 of the said Government Order prescribes for development of Special Development Zone (SDZ). The land use of Special Development Zone as provided therein is that the Core activity, roads and open spaces shall not be less than 35%. The complementary activities such as institutional, commercial, residential (group housing etc.) were complementary to the Core activity which was included in 35% of the total area planned for development.

79. In furtherance of the said object, the authority (YEIDA) sent a proposal on 30.12.2009, for acquisition of 217.6342 hectares of land situated at village Achheja Bujurg, Pargana Dankaur, Tehsil Sadar, District Gautam Buddh Nagar for residential plot scheme. The 10% of the estimated acquisition cost and estimated compensation was deposited on 24.02.2010. For invoking the provisions of Section 17(4) of the Act' 1894, dispensation of enquiry under Section 5-A, justification contained in Prapatra-10 with the certificate of the Collector, Gautam Buddh Nagar, placed before the State Government, on record, reads as under:-

4. आत्मिकता का औचित्य- यमुना एक्सप्रेसवे औद्योगिक विकास प्राधिकरण द्वारा आवासीय भूखण्ड योजना 2009 का डा किया जा चुका है। योजना के अंतर्गत पड रही भूमि में से 13 ग्रामो की लगभग 2042 हे० भूमि के संबंध में धारा 4/17 भूमि अध्याप्ति अधिनियम 1894 के अंतर्गत विज्ञप्ति उ०प्र० शासन द्वारा जारी की जा चुकी है। ग्राम अच्छेजा बुजुर्ग की यह प्रस्तावित भूमि धारा 4/17 से विज्ञप्ति भूमि से लगी हुयी (Contiguous) तथा आवासीय भूखण्ड योजना हेतु विस्तारित सेक्टर प्लान के अंतर्गत पड रही है। अतः इस भूमि का आवासीय भूखण्ड योजना के विकास हेतु अधिग्रहण किया जाना अपरिहार्य है

आवासीय भूखण्ड योजना 2009 प्राधिकरण द्वारा जनसामान्य को वाजिब दरों पर डा द्वारा आवासीय भूखण्ड सुलभ कराने हेतु प्रारंभ की गई है। इस योजना के अंतर्गत विभिन्न आकार के आवासीय भूखण्ड नियोजित किये गये हैं जिसका उद्देश्य समाज के प्रत्येक वर्ग को उसकी आकांक्षा एवं आर्थिक क्षमता के अनुरूप आवासीय भूखण्ड उपलब्ध कराया जाना है। इस योजना के विकास से आस पास के क्षेत्र का सुनियोजित विकास होने के साथ साथ विकास से संबंधित अन्य गतिविधियों को भी प्रोत्साहन मिलेगा जिससे क्षेत्र का समग्र एवं सुनियोजित विकास हो सकेगा। प्रकारान्तर में क्षेत्र के विकास से प्रदेश के विकास का मार्ग प्रशस्त होगा। इस प्रकार परियोजना के विकास से प्रदेश में विकास एवं पूंजी निवेश को प्रोत्साहन मिलेगा।

आवासीय भूखण्ड योजना 2009 एक समयबद्ध परियोजना है। अतः इस योजना के लिए भूमि अधिग्रहण की तत्काल आवश्यकता

है। यदि निर्धारित प्रक्रिया के अनुसार धारा 5 के अंतर्गत कृषकों की आपत्तियों को सुना जाता है तो उससे भूमि अधिग्रहण में विलंब होना संभावित है। इसके अतिरिक्त परियोजना की लागत में वृद्धि होने तथा विकास एवं पूंजीनिवेश की प्रक्रिया बाधित होने की आशंका है। इसके अतिरिक्त कृषकों की आपत्तियां सुने जाने के क्रम में विधिक जटिलताएँ उत्पन्न होने तथा आवासीय भूखण्ड योजना हेतु Contiguous भूमि प्राप्त न हो पाने की आशंका है। अतः भूमि का तत्काल अधिग्रहण किये जाने हेतु धारा 17 (4), भू अध्याप्ति अधिनियम के अंतर्गत आत्ययिकता संबंधी प्रावधान (Urgency Clause) लागू करते हुये तथा धारा 5ए भूमि अध्याप्ति अधिनियम के प्रावधानों को विवर्जित रखा जाकर भूमि अधिग्रहण कराया जाना अपरिहार्य है।

80. The 70% of the estimated compensation was deposited on 17.7.2010 and after completing all the formalities, the proposal for issuance of notification under Section 6 read with Section 17 was sent on 14.7.2010 by the Director, Land Acquisition to the State Government. The notification under Section 6 read with Section 17 for an area of 209.7736 hectares was issued on 28.7.2010.

81. The acquisition for the land of village Achcheja Bujurg was made for extension of Sector 16, a residential sector, which was part of the same project. The acquisitions were made by different notifications for one project, which was for comprehensive development of the industrial township, as conceived by the State under the Development Policy dated 29.12.2007, through the then Taj Expressway Industrial Development Authority. Out of total area, notified under Section 6, the possession of an area of 197.2842 hectares had been handed over to the authority and compensation under Karar Niyamawali was disbursed for an area of 178.4222 hectares. The total area involved in the writ petitions pertaining to the acquisition of Village Achheja Bujurg, on the date of filing of the counter affidavit, was approximately 17.2210 hectares. It was placed before us that the contiguous land to the parcel of the land acquired for the Expressway of Village Achheja Bujurg had been upheld by the Apex Court in the case of Nand Kishore Gupta (supra). We may record, at this juncture that we have perused the original record of the State regarding satisfaction for invocation of urgency clause, and the reasoning, noted here in above were found therein.

(iii) Village Rampur Bangar:-

82. The counter affidavit of the Authority with respect to acquisition of Village Rampur Bangar in Writ C No. 23542 of 2010, shows that the acquisition in question was the second acquisition of Village Rampur Bangar. The total approximately 20 hectares of land of village Rampur Bangar proposed vide notification dated 26.02.2009 under Section 4(1) read with Section 17 of the Act, 1894, was to be utilized for construction of the approach roads passing through Village Rampur Bangar to connect Yamuna Expressway. 80% of the estimated compensation was deposited prior to the declaration notification dated 01.02.2010, issued under Section 6 read with Section 17 of the Act, 1894. The reason for delay in declaration of Section 6 notification has been explained in the counter affidavit that the authority receives no financial grant from the State and it has to organize its own finances. It require more than 1000 crores for the project which was an integrated project and, as such, it had approached different banks who took time in processing the request. These banks demanded Collateral security in terms of the land and since the authority (YEIDA) had no land to be mortgaged, it approached the neighboring Authority namely the Greater NOIDA who had agreed to mortgage its land towards the security. The advance of 500 crores was then released by the Oriental Bank of Commerce on 24.04.2009, but still it was short. Amongst various proposals, the NOIDA had also agreed for creation of mortgage of its land located in Sector 94 valued at Rs.600 crores. The Oriental Bank of Commerce then agreed to release the remaining 500 crores. The time consumed in arranging finances was the reason for the delay in declaration of Section 6 notification, as without deposit of 80% of estimated compensation, it was not possible for the State government to publish the declaration notification. It is demonstrated before us that the piece of land acquired under the notification in question was only for a part of the project which was an integrated project, and since contiguous land was needed to complete the project, it was not possible to give opportunity of hearing to the villagers, as in that eventuality, acquisition of Contiguous land was not possible.

83. The original record of Village Rampur Bangar pertaining to the acquisition in question had been placed before us and perused. The acquisition of another parcel of land of 104.9705 hectares of Village Rampur Bangar is subject matter of challenge in Writ C No. 11839 of 2012.

(iv) Village Usmanpur:-

84. For village Usmanpur, justification for acquisition by invoking the urgency clause has been given in the affidavit of the State filed in Writ C No. 20716 of 2010. The original record has also been produced and perused by us. An area of 161.3900 hectares of Village Usmanpur was proposed to be acquired by notification under Section 4 read with Section 17(4) of the Act, 1894 dated 4.11.2009. 80% of the estimated compensation was deposited prior to the declaration notification under Section 6 read with section 17(1) dated 18.3.2010. By possession memo dated 17.7.2010, possession of an area of 141.580 hectares and the possession memo dated 22.12.2010 for an area of 7.2630 hectares were prepared and possession was handed over to the Authority (YEIDA). Out of the total area of 149.5160 hectares handed over to the development authority, the compensation of 86% of the land, i.e. 128.2950 hectares had been disbursed to the affected tenure holders till 19.5.2011. The land under the acquisition notification falling in Sector planning was needed urgently, justification for which has been given in Prapatra 10 along with Certificate of the Collector which was found in the record of the State as under:-

"आत्यिकता का औचित्य"

यमुना एक्सप्रेसवे प्राधिकरण के डवलपमेंट प्लान के अनुसार एक्सप्रेसवे के साथ-साथ यमुना एक्सप्रेसवे प्राधिकरण द्वारा जनपद गौतमबुद्धनगर में लोकहित की ढांचागत एवं आधारभूत परियोजनाओं का सुनियोजित विकास किया जाना है जिसके लिए भूमि अधिग्रहण की तत्काल आवश्यकता है। उल्लेखनीय है कि आर्थिक रूप से सीमित

संसाधनों के दृष्टिगत राज्य सरकार का मूल उद्देश्य प्रदेश में औद्योगिक एवं संगठनात्मक संरचना को अधिक मजबूत बनाना है। इसी उद्देश्य की पूर्ति हेतु राज्य में बाह्य पूंजी निवेश एवं क्रियाशील पूंजी के निवेश को बढ़ावा देकर राज्य में आर्थिक विकास को अपरिहार्य मानते हुये विकास परियोजनाओं का स्वरूप सरकार के उद्देश्यानुसार प्राधिकरण द्वारा महायोजना निर्मित करते हुये निर्धारित किया जाता है। पूंजी निवेश के फलस्वरूप आर्थिक रूप से रोजगार उन्मूलक संस्थाओं की स्थापना से क्षेत्र में रोजगार के पर्याप्त अवसर प्राप्त होने के साथ-साथ समाजिक रूप से मानव जीवन की आधारभूत आवश्यकताओं यथा आवास, सामाजिक सुविधाएं, व्यापार, शिक्षा, चिकित्सा व जनस्वास्थ्य जैसी प्राथमिक आवश्यकताओं की पूर्ति भी होती है। इसी विस्तृत लोकहित को दृष्टिगत रखते हुये प्रस्तावित भूमि अधिग्रहण हेतु निर्धारित प्रक्रिया के अनुसार धारा 5 के अंतर्गत कृषकों की आपत्तियों को सुना जाता है तो उससे भूमि अधिग्रहण में विलंब होना संभावित है। इसके अतिरिक्त परियोजना की लागत में वृद्धि होने तथा विकास एवं पूंजीनिवेश की प्रक्रिया बाधित होने की आशंका है। इसके अतिरिक्त कृषकों की आपत्तियां सुने जाने के क्रम में विधिक जटिलताएं उत्पन्न होने तथा प्रस्तावित योजना हेतु Contiguous भूमि प्राप्त न हो पाने की आशंका है। अतः भूमि का तत्काल अधिग्रहण किये जाने हेतु भू-अध्याप्ति अधिनियम की धारा 17 उपधारा 4 के अंतर्गत आत्ययिकता संबंधी प्रावधान (Urgency Clause) लागू करते हुये तथा धारा 5ए भूमि अध्याप्ति अधिनियम के प्रावधानों को विवर्जित रखा जाकर भूमि अधिग्रहण कराया जाना अपरिहार्य है।"

85. The statement in the counter affidavit of the State is that on consideration of all relevant factors and the documents including certificate of the Collector issued in Prapatra 10, the State Government recorded a satisfaction according approval to issuance of notification by invoking urgency clause keeping in view the urgent need of the 'Contiguous land for Planned Development' in District Gautam Budh Nagar through YEIDA.

(v) Village Raunija:-

86. For the acquisition of the land of Village Raunija, the counter affidavit of the State and YEIDA Authority in Writ C No. 60651 of 2011 demonstrates that the land under the impugned notifications of the said village was needed for mixed use like residential, institutional, greens and recreational etc. under Sector 22-D and 22-E in the Master plan. In view of the policy decision of the State for development of SDZ vide Government Order dated 29.12.2007, a proposal was sent by the Authority to the competent authority on 31.8.2010 for acquisition of the land of Village Raunija. A revised proposal was sent on 16.9.2010 for acquiring the land admeasuring 255.4975 hectares of the said Village. 10% of the estimated compensation and the acquisition cost was deposited on 13.10.2010. It is stated in the counter affidavit of the Authority, that with the establishment of the area as an Industrial Development Area, it has to be assured physical, social and economic integration of the existing Village Abadi and its population. The State government had sufficient material before it for dispensing with the enquiry under section 5-A of the Act, 1894. There is no allegation of mala fide nor malice can be attributed to the acquisition proceedings. The land has been acquired for the purpose of planned development for which it is being used. The notification under Section 4(1) read with Section 17(1) and 17(4) was issued on 02.11.2010 after completion of the necessary formalities. After deposit of 70% of the estimated compensation and the compensation towards a National Rehabilitation Policy on 6.12.2010, the proposal for issuance of notification under Section 6 read with Section 17 was sent by the Director, Land Acquisition vide letter dated 13.12.2010 to the State Government and ultimately, the declaration notification under Section 6 read with Section 17 was published on 07.01.2011.

87. It was submitted before us that No pre-or post notification delay can be attributed to the entire exercise completed by the Authority therein. Placing the averments in the counter affidavit, it was urged that the acquisition of different parcels of land for development for industries, residence, amusement etc was complimentary to the creation of Yamuna Expressway. The present scheme is also of mixed use around the Expressway and it cannot be viewed in isolation. Development of an area alongside Expressway would be complementary to each other. Out of the total area of 255.1185 hectares acquired through the Notifications-in-question of Village Raunija, the possession of 236.6860 hectares had been transferred to the YEIDA Authority. Out of 492 persons/tenure holders affected by the acquisition under the notifications in question, 476 tenure holders had received compensation under Karar Niyamawali/agreement Rules, 1997, award of which was made on 09.05.2012. The award for the remaining area, of which possession had been taken, under Section 11(1), was declared on 31.12.2013. It was, thus, submitted that the challenge to the acquisition, in piecemeal, cannot be entertained and the comprehensive scheme has to be seen to decide the question of urgency. The land of Village Raunija acquired through the acquisition-in-question forms part of Sector 22-E and Sector 22-D which are contiguous to Yamuna Expressway. A small part of this Village falls in planning of Sector 22-D and has been utilized for creation of approach roads to the Expressway. Being strategically located, the acquisition of land of Village Raunija is demonstrated to be part of the integrated scheme of development of the Townships conceived by YEIDA, complimentary to the construction of Yamuna Expressway.

(vi) Village Dungarpur Reelka:-

88. In the counter affidavit of the State in Writ C No. 6666 of 2011 for acquisition of the land of Village Dungarpur Reelka vide Notifications dated 01.12.2010 and 24.03.2011 under Section 4 and 6 of the Act, 1894; respectively. It is stated that the proposal for acquisition of 198.6320 hectares of land of the said village in furtherance of the object of development of Special Development Zone, conceived by the State Government under the Government Order dated 29.12.2007, was sent to the competent authority on 04.11.2010. 10% of the estimated cost of acquisition and compensation was deposited on 30.10.2010. The justification of urgency as disclosed in Prapatra-10, the certificate dated 04.11.2010 submitted by the Collector, Gautam Budh Nagar, can be found in Annexure No. CA-'4' to the counter affidavit, which was relatable to the original record of the State placed before us. The justification in Prapatra-10 reads as under:-

“आत्यिकता का औचित्य

यमुना एक्सप्रेसवे प्राधिकरण के डवलपमेंट प्लान के अनुसार एक्सप्रेस के साथ-साथ यमुना एक्सप्रेसवे प्राधिकरण द्वारा जनपद गौतमबुद्धनगर में लोकहित की ढांचागत एवं आधारभूत परियोजनाओं का सुनियोजित विकास किया जाना है जिसके लिए भूमि अधिग्रहण की तत्काल आवश्यकता है। उल्लेखनीय है कि आर्थिक रूप से सीमित संसाधनों के दृष्टिगत राज्य सरकार का मूल उद्देश्य प्रदेश में औद्योगिक एवं संगठनात्मक संरचना को अधिक मजबूत बनाना है। इसी उद्देश्य की पूर्ति हेतु राज्य में बाह्य पूंजी निवेश एवं क्रियाशील पूंजी के निवेश को बढ़ावा देकर राज्य में आर्थिक विकास को अपरिहार्य मानते हुये विकास परियोजनाओं का स्वरूप सरकार के उद्देश्यानुसार प्राधिकरण द्वारा महायोजना निर्मित करते हुये निर्धारित किया जाता है। पूंजी निवेश के फलस्वरूप आर्थिक रूप से रोजगार उन्मूलक संस्थाओं की स्थापना से क्षेत्र में रोजगार के पर्याप्त अवसर प्राप्त होने के साथ-साथ समाजिक रूप से मानव जीवन की आधारभूत आवश्यकताओं यथा आवास, सामाजिक सुविधाएं, व्यापार, शिक्षा, चिकित्सा व जनस्वास्थ्य जैसी प्राथमिक आवश्यकताओं की पूर्ति भी होती है। इसी विस्तृत लोकहित को दृष्टिगत रखते हुये प्रस्तावित भूमि अधिग्रहण हेतु निर्धारित प्रक्रिया के अनुसार धारा 5 के अंतर्गत कृषकों की आपत्तियों को सुना जाता है तो उससे भूमि अधिग्रहण में विलंब होना संभावित है। इसके अतिरिक्त परियोजना की लागत में वृद्धि होने तथा विकास एवं पूंजीनिवेश की प्रक्रिया बाधित होने की आशंका है। इसके अतिरिक्त कृषकों की आपत्तियां सुने जाने के क्रम में विधिक

जटिलताएं उत्पन्न होने तथा प्रस्तावित योजना हेतु Contiguous भूमि प्राप्त न हो पाने की आशंका है। अतः भूमि का तत्काल अधिग्रहण किये जाने हेतु भू-अध्याप्ति अधिनियम की धारा 17 उपधारा 4 के अंतर्गत आत्ययिकता संबंधी प्रावधान (Urgency Clause) लागू करते हुये तथा धारा 5ए भूमि अध्याप्ति अधिनियम के प्रावधानों को विवर्जित रखा जाकर भूमि अधिग्रहण कराया जाना अपरिहार्य है।”

89. From a perusal of the statement in Form 10, it can be seen that the acquisition was proposed for the integrated project, to provide basic infrastructural facilities and the need for contiguous land was pressed with the assertion that in case of grant of opportunity of hearing to the land holders, there was likelihood of non-availability of the contiguous land for the proposed project which may frustrate the project itself. Total 80% of the estimated compensation was deposited on 02.02.2011, out of total 612 affected tenure holders, 437 tenure holders for a total area of 96.1808 hectares had received compensation under Karar Niyamawali/agreement rules, 1997 and the award for the said area under Section 11(2) of the Act, 1894 had been declared on 14.3.2012, copy of which is appended as Annexure No. '6' to the said affidavit.

(vii) Village Rustampur:-

90. The counter affidavit of the State in Writ C No. 61244 of 2011 for acquisition of land of Village Rustampur by the notifications dated 26.02.2009 and 26.02.2010 under Section 4 and 6 of the Act, 1894; respectively, shows that it was an acquisition for a large area of land admeasuring 360.6642 hectares. The copy of the Certificate/report of the Collector, Gautam Buddh Nagar in Prapatra-10 shows that it was mentioned therein that the village-in-question being in the Notified area of Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority, its development in a planned manner as per the Master Plan was to be made. About suitability of the land, it was specifically stated therein that no other land was available for the purpose of acquisition. From the original record of the State in the matter of invocation of urgency of Village Rustampur, it could be noted that the delay in sending papers for issuance of declaration under Section 6 before the State government, in the instant acquisition, was viewed seriously by the State and direction was given to fix the accountability of the officer concerned. It was urged that this fact demonstrated from the record shows the sensitivity of the State Government to the fact that on account of dereliction of the official in-charge of the proceedings, lapse of acquisition of such a large area would hamper development of the whole project.

(viii) Village Kadarapur:-

91. For village Kadarapur, the counter of the State and the records pertaining to recording satisfaction by the State shows that it was an acquisition for a large area of 120.8221 hectares. On the proposal submitted on 29.10.2010 before the State carrying a certificate of the Collector, the copy of the office noting on which approval of the State Government for invocation of urgency clause was given has been appended with the counter affidavit as Annexure No. '10'. The material brought before the State namely a certificate of the District Level Committee regarding grant of consent for acquisition of the land, the certificates that total 175 families will be affected by the proposed acquisition and that 10% of the estimated compensation as well as 10% of the acquisition cost submitted alongwith the proposal, and a statement that no land except the proposed agriculture land was available, which was required for development as per the Master Plan of the area, could be found. It was stated in the counter that the land was required immediately to complete the development plan for Green belt Area to be maintained on either sides of the Expressway. It was brought before the State that, in case of grant of opportunity of hearing to the farmers/tenure holders, there was likelihood of the acquisition being entangled in litigation and the apprehension was that the authority may not be able to procure 'Contiguous land', needed for integrated development of the area. The statement in paragraph '19' of the said affidavit are relevant to be extracted hereunder:-

"19. That it will not out of place to mention here that the State Government was satisfied by looking at enormity of the number of tenure holders, the disposal of objections will cause a delay of years. Hence, the acquisition of land possession was of paramount importance. It was accordingly satisfied that the provisions of Section 5-A need to be dispensed with. A true copy of the noting of the State Government evidencing application of mind by the State Government is being annexed herewith and marked as Annexure No. CA-10 to this counter affidavit."

92. It may further be noted that 80% of the estimated compensation for the acquired land was deposited before the publication of Section 6 notification. Out of total 120.8221 hectares, possession of 113.8074 hectares was given to YEIDA.

Out of total 561 affected tenure holders, 503 tenure holders had received compensation under the Agreement rules. It has further been stated in the counter affidavit that under three writ petitions filed by the tenure holders with respect to acquisition of land of village Kadarpur, out of total six petitioners, three had received compensation. The affected area under litigation is only 5.592 hectares which comes to about 4.91% of the total acquired and possessed area. We may further note that at the time of hearing of this bunch, only two writ petitions of Village Kadirpur comprising of three petitioners remained for consideration and it seems that the other three petitioners who had received compensation had withdrawn their petition.

(ix) Village Dhanauri:-

93. For acquisition of village Dhanauri, vide notification dated 16.11.2010 and 22.3.2011 under Section 4 and 6 of the Act, 1894; respectively, in the counter affidavit of the State it was brought on record that the justification for acquisition by invocation of urgency clause had been given in Prapatra-10 in the proposal submitted by the development authority upon which satisfaction had been recorded by the State. From the record of the State and the copy of Prapatra-10 appended with the counter affidavit as Annexure No.C.A.-'3', we find justification as under:-

आत्ययिकता का औचित्य-

यमुना एक्सप्रेसवे औद्योगिक विकास प्राधिकरण द्वारा जनपद गौतमबुद्धनगर में लोकहित की परियोजनाओं के विकास हेतु अर्जुन की कार्यवाही की जा रही है जिसके अंतर्गत राजस्व ग्राम धनौरी की वांछित भूमि के अर्जन की कार्यवाही की जानी है।

यमुना एक्सप्रेसवे प्राधिकरण के डवलपमेंट प्लान के अनुसार एक्सप्रेसवे के साथ-साथ यमुना एक्सप्रेसवे प्राधिकरण द्वारा जनपद गौतमबुद्ध नगर में लोकहित की ढांचागत एवं आधारभूत परियोजनाओं का सुनियोजित विकास किया जाना है जिसके लिए भूमि अधिग्रहण की तत्काल आवश्यकता है। उल्लेखनीय है कि आर्थिक रूप से सीमित संसाधनों के दृष्टिगत राज्य सरकार का मूल उद्देश्य प्रदेश में औद्योगिक एवं संगठनात्मक संरचना को अधिक मजबूत बनाना है। इसी उद्देश्य की पूर्ति हेतु राज्य में बाह्य पूंजी निवेश एवं क्रियाशील पूंजी के निवेश को बढ़ावा देकर राज्य में आर्थिक विकास को अपरिहार्य मानते हुये विकास परियोजनाओं का स्वरूप सरकार के उद्देश्यानुसार प्राधिकरण द्वारा महायोजना निर्मित करते हुये निर्धारित किया जाता है। पूंजी निवेश के फलस्वरूप आर्थिक रूप से रोजगार उन्मूलक संस्थाओं की स्थापना से क्षेत्र में रोजगार के पर्याप्त अवसर प्राप्त होने के साथ-साथ समाजिक रूप से मानव जीवन की आधारभूत आवश्यकताओं यथा आवास, सामाजिक सुविधाएं, व्यापार, शिक्षा, चिकित्सा व जनस्वास्थ्य जैसी प्राथमिक आवश्यकताओं की पूर्ति भी होती है। इसी विस्तृत लोकहित को दृष्टिगत रखते हुये प्रस्तावित भूमि अधिग्रहण हेतु निर्धारित प्रक्रिया के अनुसार धारा 5 के अंतर्गत कृषकों की आपत्तियों को सुना जाता है तो उससे भूमि अधिग्रहण में विलंब होना संभावित है। इसके अतिरिक्त परियोजना की लागत में वृद्धि होने तथा विकास एवं पूंजीनिवेश की प्रक्रिया बाधित होने की आशंका है। इसके अतिरिक्त कृषकों की आपत्तियां सुने जाने के क्रम में विधिक जटिलताएं उत्पन्न होने तथा प्रस्तावित योजना हेतु Contiguous भूमि प्राप्त न हो पाने की आशंका है। अतः भूमि का तत्काल अधिग्रहण किये जाने हेतु भू-अध्याप्ति अधिनियम की धारा 17 उपधारा 4 के अंतर्गत आत्ययिकता संबंधी प्रावधान (Urgency Clause) लागू करते हुये तथा

धारा 5ए भूमि अध्याप्ति अधिनियम के प्रावधानों को विवर्जित रखा जाकर भूमि अधिग्रहण कराया जाना अपरिहार्य है।

94. It is stated therein that the land in question was required for the purpose of development, complimentary to the Expressway, for structural and foundational purposes of the planned development, which cannot be said to be alien to the concept of invocation of urgency. Out of total 1983 affected tenure holders under the impugned notifications, 618 tenure holders for an area 232.1773 hectares had received compensation under Karar Niyamawali, award of which under Section 11(2) was made.

(VI) Analysis:-

95. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record, on the issues raised before us, the questions before us to examine in the instant case, is (i) Whether for the acquisition of lands of nine villages made between 26.02.2009 to 02.12.2010, for the integrated development of the township by YEIDA under the Master plan-2031 (Phase-1), as alleged herein, there was any justification before the State Government for invocation of urgency clause under Section 17(1) read with Section 17(4) of the Act' 1894, to dispense with the enquiry under Section 5-A of the Act' 1894, denying opportunity of hearing to the tenure holders/land holders. (ii) Whether denial of opportunity of hearing to the tenure holders would be an illegal exercise on the part of the State which would render the entire acquisition proceedings bad in law.

96. To answer these questions, while entering into the merits of the rival submissions of the learned counsel for the parties, at the beginning, we would be required to examine the legal aspects relating to the Scope and Object of Section 5-A.

(A) Nature, scope and ambit of Section 5-A of the Act, 1894:-

(a) Constitutional Scheme:-

97. It was argued by Sri Manish Goyal learned Senior Advocate appearing for the respondent-YEIDA that for understanding the scope and object of Section 5-A, we must look to the Constitutional scheme, right to property enshrined in Article 300-A which provides that "no person shall be deprived of his property save by authority of law". The word "law" is defined in Article 13(3)(a) which includes any Ordinance, order, bye-law, rule, regulation, notification, custom or usage having in the territory of India the force of law.

98. Article 31-A saves the law providing for acquisition by the State of any estate or of any rights therein. Article 31-A(1) starts with a Non-obstante clause and provides that no such law shall be deemed to be void on the ground that it is inconsistent with, or takes away or abridges any of the rights conferred by Article 14 or Article 19. The Second proviso to Article 31-A, however, provides that where any law makes any provision for the acquisition by the State of any estate and where any land comprised therein is held by a person under his personal cultivation, it shall not be lawful for the State to acquire any portion of such land, as is within the ceiling limit applicable to him, under any law for the time being in force or any building or structure standing thereon or appurtenant thereto, unless the law relating to acquisition of such land, building or structure, provides for payment of compensation at a rate which shall not be less than the market value thereof.

99. Article 31-C saves the law giving effect to the policy of the State towards securing all or any of the principles laid down in Part IV of the Constitution and states that it shall not be deemed to be void on the ground that it is inconsistent with, or takes away or abridges any of the rights conferred by Article 14 or Article 19. It further provides that no law containing a declaration that it is for giving effect to such policy shall be called in question in any Court on the ground that it does not give effect to such policy.

100. Article 39(b), containing in Part IV “Directive Principles of the State Policy” mandates the State to direct its policy, in particular, towards securing that the ownership and control of the material resources of the community are so distributed as best to sub-serve the common good.” Sovereign power of Eminent domain of the State has, thus, been exercised by the State for framing policy for development of Special Economic Zone by the Government Order dated 29.12.2007.

101. The decision of the Apex Court in State of Karnataka and another etc. vs. Ranganatha Reddy & another etc.²⁵ has been placed before us to submit that in a challenge to the State Act namely Karnataka Contract Carriages (Acquisition) Act, 1976, it was held therein that the Act was brought into force to implement Directive principles contained in Article 39(b), the infraction of Article 14 is, thus, cured by Article 31-C. It was noted that Article 39(b) and (c) enjoins upon the State to see that the ownership and control of the material resources of the community are so distributed as best to subserve the common good and that the operation of the economic system does not result in the concentration of wealth to the Common detriment.

102. Reference has been made to the observations of the Apex Court in Sanjeev Coke Manufacturing Company vs. M/s Bharat Coking Coal Limited and another²⁶ to bring before us as to what would be the valid exercise of Eminent domain. It was observed therein that the law seeking the immunity afforded by Article 31-C must be a law directing the policy of the State towards securing a Directive Principle, where Article 31-C comes in Article 14 goes out. There is no scope for bringing in Article 14 by a side-wind as it were, that is, by equating the rule of equality before the law of Article 14 with the broad egalitarianism of Article 39(b) or by treating the principle of Article 14 as included in the principle of Article 39(b). To insist on nexus between the law for which protection is claimed and the principle of Article 39(b) is not to insist on fulfillment of the requirement of Article 14. They are different concepts and in certain circumstances, may even run counter to each other. That is why the need for the immunity afforded by Article 31-C is there. The argument that any law seeking the protection of Article 31-C must not be a law founded on discrimination, had been turned down therein. The submission that the law founded on arbitrariness and discrimination could never be said to be a law to further the Directive Principles in clauses (b) and (c) of Article 39, had been held untenable. It was held that the expression ‘material resources of the community’ in Article 39(b) is not confined to natural resources; it is not confined to resources owned by the public; it means and includes all resources, natural and man-made, public and private-owned.

103. The purport, significance, scope, ambit and rationale of Article 31-C has been discussed by the Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in State of Tamil Nadu and others vs. L. Abu Kavur Bai and others²⁷, it was observed in paragraphs '19, '20' and '21' as under:-

"19. Thus, it would appear from a combined reading of Bharati's and Minerva Mills cases as also of the subsequent decisions that the undisputed position is that Art.31C, as introduced by the twenty fifth amendment, is constitutionally valid in all respects and has survived the stormy decision of Bharati's case.

20. Similar observations were made in Waman Rao & Ors. etc. v. Union of India & Ors., where one of us (Chandrachud, CJ) observed thus:

"...Article 31 is now out of harm's way. In fact, far from damaging the basic structure of the Constitution, laws passed truly and bona fide for giving effect to directive principles contained in clauses (b) and (c) of Article 39 will fortify that structure."

(Emphasis supplied)

21. In the latest Constitution Bench decision of this Court in Sanjeev Coke Manufacturing Co. v. M/s. Bharat Coking Coal Ltd. & Anr., it has been emphasised that the constitutional validity of Art.31C is now beyond challenge and in this connection one of us (Reddy, J.) speaking for the Court made the following observations:

In the second place, the question of the constitutional validity of Art.31C appears to us to be concluded by the decision of the Court in Kesavananda Bharati case."

104. It was further observed therein that another important facet of Article 31-C which has been emphasized by the Apex Court, is that there should be a close nexus between the Statute passed by the legislature and the twin objects mentioned in clauses (b) and (c) of Article 39, so as to make the protection of Article 31-C complete and irrevocable. By close nexus, what is meant is that there must be a reasonable connection between the Act passed and the objects mentioned in Article 39(b) and (c) before the Article 31-C can apply. The observation in paragraph '26' of the said decision, noticing the earlier decision in Sanjeev Coke Manufacturing Company (supra), adverting to the conflict of Article 31-C and Article 14 is relevant to be extracted hereunder:-

"In a later decision in Sanjay Coke Manufacturing Co.'s case (supra), adverting to this very point, one of us (Reddy, J.) made the following observations:

"We are firmly of the opinion that where Article 31C comes in Article 14 goes out. There is no scope for bringing in Article 14 by a side wind as it were, that is, by equating the rule of equality before the law of Article 14 with the broad egalitarianism of Article 39 (b) or by treating the principle of Article 14 as included in the principle of Article 39 (b)."

105. In State of Maharashtra and another vs. Basantibai Mohanlal Khetan and others²⁸, taking note of the above decisions, the interplay of Article 300-A & Article 31-C had been noticed. Relying upon the Constitution Bench decision in Sanjeev Coke Manufacturing Company (supra), it was held therein that the Act was brought into force to implement the Directive Principle contained in Article 39(b) and hence even if there is any infraction of Article 14, it is cured by Article 31-C which gives protection to the Act, even if it enshrined the protection granted by the then Article 31(1) of the Constitution which was couched in the same language as that of Article 300-A, which came into force after enactment of the Act challenged therein. It was observed that even if the action of acquiring private properties should satisfy new Article 300-A because the proceedings to acquire the land started after Article 300-A came into force, the law cannot be tested on the standards of principles of fairness and reasonableness enshrined in Article 14. It was held that the purpose for which the lands were acquired was the public purpose. All the requirements of valid exercise of the power of Eminent domain had been fulfilled under the Act, the High Court, therefore, fell in error in holding that the impugned provisions of the Act were required to be struck down as they were neither just nor fair nor reasonable though they are protected from challenge under Articles 14, 19 and 31 of the Constitution due to the applicability of Article 31-C of the Constitution.

106. On the arguments based on Article 21 of the Constitution of the respondent, it was observed that it has little to do with the right to own property as such. Land ceiling laws, laws providing for acquisition of land for providing housing accommodation, laws imposing ceiling on urban property etc. cannot be struck down by invoking Article 21 of the Constitution.

107. The submission of the learned Senior Counsel for YEIDA, in the instant case, thus, is that the acquisition of the lands in question by the notifications under Section 4 read with Section 17 and Section 6/17 of the Act, 1894 is a matter of public policy and it is to be left to the legislative wisdom, the State to decide as to how a development policy is framed and whether a particular scheme of development, to take over the land, should be undertaken. The preparation of Master plan by the State for development of the area being governed by Article 39(b) contained in Chapter IV of the 'Directive Principles of State Policy', the decision of the State to develop the area by creation of Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority and preparation of Master plan being an Act of the State under the constitutional mandate would be saved by Article 31-C. Challenge to the law which includes the notifications issued by the State under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 on the plea of discrimination or lack of public purpose or against the public policy cannot be sustained.

108. Once the acquisition of land is made in exercise of power of Eminent domain of the State, infraction of Article 14 shall not be attracted. Individual grievances cannot be raised to assail the acquisition being made by the law of the State which is saved by Article 31-C of the Constitution. The scope of objection under Section 5-A and challenge to the deprivation of it is covered under the statutory scheme.

(b) Statutory Scheme:-

109. As regards the invocation of urgency clause, dispensation of Section 5-A of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, it was urged that the legislative scheme of the Act, 1894 has to be considered. Section 16 provides that after the Collector has made an award under Section 11, he may take possession of the land, which shall thereupon vest absolutely in the State, free from all encumbrances. Section 17 is in the nature of exception. Section 17(1) provides that in case of urgency, though no award has been made, on expiration of fifteen days from the publication of notice under Section 9(1), it can take possession of any land needed for a public purpose. Such land shall thereupon vest absolutely in the State, free from all encumbrances. Section 17(2) also empowers the Collector to enter upon and take possession of such land, immediate possession of which is needed for the purposes prescribed therein, in the opinion of the State Government and on such action of the Collector with the previous sanction of the State, the land shall vest absolutely in the State, free from all encumbrances. Sub-section (3) of Section 17 provides the damages which is to be offered by the Collector to the persons interested as compensation for the Standing Crops and trees or any other damage sustained by them caused by the sudden dispossession. In case, the offer is not accepted, the value of such crops and trees and such damages shall be incorporated in the award made under the provisions of the Act. Sub-section (3A) further protects interest of the tenure holders to the extent that before taking possession under Sub-section (1) or Sub-section (2) of Section 17, the Collector has to tender 80% of the estimated compensation to the persons interested entitled thereto. In case of refusal, or any dispute relating to the entitlement of the person interested, the compensation has to be deposited in accordance with the provisions of Section 31 of the Act, 1894.

110. Sub-section (4) of Section 17, however, provides that where the State Government has formed opinion that the provisions of Sub-section (1) or Sub-section (2) are applicable, it may direct for dispensation of enquiry under Section 5-A and if it does so, a declaration may be made under Section 6 in respect of the land at any time, after the publication of the notification under Section 4(1) of the Act, 1894. Section 5-A is the stage of making objection by the person interested in any land after the intention of the State to acquire the land has been notified under Section 4(1). The Collector is obliged to make an enquiry on the objections made to him in writing and submit his recommendations on the objections together with the record of the proceedings held by him for the decision of the State Government, approval of which on the objections of the person interested/tenure holders shall be final.

111. The Land Acquisition Act is a complete Code in itself. Being an expropriatory legislation, it is settled that its provisions are to be strictly followed. The procedure for acquisition prescribed under the Land Acquisition Act shall be subject to strict interpretation by the Court of law, whenever there is a challenge raised to any of the proceedings conducted under it. Sections 17(1) and 17(4) of the Act are independent. In case of a notification issued under Section 17(1), it is not necessary to issue notification under Section 17(4) as well. The enquiry under Section 5-A is dispensed with only when the notification both under Sections 17(1) and 17(4) are issued. With the issuance of the notification under Section 4 read with Section 17(1) and 17(4), the expression of intention of the State Government to take possession of the land without making an award is notified. In the legislative scheme, the State Government is empowered to issue notification to notify that in view of Section 17(1), in its opinion, invocation of Section 17(4) is needed, with the result that enquiry under Section 5-A or opportunity of hearing to the tenure holder under the said provision stands dispensed with.

112. In the constitutional scheme, the right to property is protected under Article 300-A, to the extent, that no one can be expropriated of its property saved by authority of law. Article 31-A and 31-C contained in Part III of the Constitution are in the nature of exception to Article 14 or Article 19. The acquisition notifications under Sections 17(1) and 17(4), invocation of urgency and dispensation of enquiry, being under the statutory scheme of the Act, 1894 are saved by the Constitution, if they confirm to the requirements of Article 31-A and 31-C, contained in Part III of the Constitution. With the exclusion of Article 14 and Article 19 from the purview of Article 31-A and 31-C, right of the tenure holder to object to the acquisition provided under Section 5-A of the Act, 1894 cannot be said to be a fundamental right or a right akin to fundamental right protected by the Constitution. Section 5-A is a statutory right conferred on the tenure holders/person interested to object in writing to the acquisition of the land within the time provided therein. Deprivation of it by invocation of urgency clause vide notifications under Section 17(1) and 17(4) being within the statutory scheme, thus, is not hit by the Article 300-A of the Constitution. The expropriation of land by invocation of urgency clause, by itself, cannot be said to be in violation of Article 300-A. The act of the Government in deprivation of statutory right of hearing while notification issued under Section 17(4), cannot be challenged on the ground that fundamental rights of the tenure holders under Articles 14 and 19 have been violated or it amounts to violation of Article 300-A of the Constitution, without any challenge to the procedure adopted by the State Government in issuance of the notification under Section 17(4). Indeed, there cannot be a quarrel that the notifications under Section 17(1) readwith 17(4) of the Act, 1894 can be challenged and validity can be tested on all legal parameters as is available under law, on the ground that it amounts to violation of Statutory scheme or contrary to it.

113. “Eminent domain” is the right or power of a sovereign State to appropriate the private property within the territorial sovereignty to public uses or purposes. It is exercise of strong arm of government to take property for public uses without the owner's consent. It requires no constitutional recognition; it is an attribute of sovereignty and essential to the sovereign government. The power of Eminent domain, being inherent in the government, is exercisable in the public interest, general welfare and for public purpose. Acquisition of private property by the State in the public interest or for public purpose is nothing but an enforcement of the right of Eminent domain. The Act, 1894 provides directly for acquisition of particular property for public purpose. Though the right to property is no longer a fundamental right but Article 300-A of the Constitution mandates that no person shall be deprived of his property save by authority of law. [Reference paragraphs ‘40’ and ‘41’ of Anand Singh and another vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others²⁹]

114. As held by the Apex Court in Delhi Administration vs. Gurdip Singh Uban and others³⁰, a person interested can file objections under Section 5-A, substantially on the following grounds:-

(i) The purpose for which the land is acquired is not a public purpose;

(ii) That even if the purpose is a public purpose, the land of the objector is not necessary to be taken as the purpose could be served by other land already proposed or some other land to which the objector may refer; or

(iii) In any event, even if the land is necessary for the public purpose, in the special facts and circumstances, in which the objector is placed, it is a fit case for omitting his land from acquisition.

(c) The Precedence:- Legal Position:-

115. There has been a long debate on the nature of right conferred on the land holders to file objection under Section 5-A to the acquisition of their property in exercise of power of Eminent domain of the State. The discussion of various decisions of the Apex Court beginning from the year 1964, at this juncture, will throw some light on the same.

116. In Nandeshwar Prasad vs. State of U.P.³¹, it was observed that the right to file objections under Section 5-A is a substantial right when a person's property is being threatened with acquisition and that right cannot be taken away as if by a side-wind.

117. While noticing the above observations in Nandeshwar Prasad (supra), it was held in Munshi Singh and others vs. Union of India³² in paragraph '7' that:

"7. Section 5-A embodies a very just and wholesome principle that a person whose property is being or is intended to be acquired should have a proper and reasonable opportunity of persuading the authorities concerned that acquisition of the property belonging to that person should not be made. xxxxxxx....."

118. Noticing the provisions of Sub-section (2) of Section 5-A of the Act, it was held in Munshi Singh that:-

"7. xxxxxxxxxxxxx..... The legislature has, therefore, made complete provisions for the persons interested to file objections against the proposed acquisition and for the disposal of their objections. It is only in cases of urgency that special powers have been conferred on the appropriate Government to dispense with the provisions of Section 5-A."

119. In Union of India and others vs. Mukesh Hans, etc.³³, noticing the earlier decisions of the Apex Court, it was held that:-

"36. Right of representation and hearing contemplated under Section 5-A of the Act is a very valuable right of a person whose property is sought to be acquired and he should have appropriate and reasonable opportunity of persuading the authorities concerned that the acquisition of the property belonging to that person should not be made. Therefore, in our opinion, if the appropriate Government decides to take away this minimal right then its decision to do so must be based on materials on record to support the same and bearing in mind the object of Section 5-A".

120. In Hindustan Petroleum Corp. Ltd. vs. Darius Shapur Chenai and others³⁴, while dealing with the nature of right under Section 5-A, noticing the observations in the above noted decisions, it was observed by the Apex Court in paragraphs '7' and '10' as under:-

"7. It is not in dispute that Section 5-A of the Act confers a valuable right in favour of a person whose lands are sought to be acquired. Having regard to the provisions contained in Article 300A of the Constitution of India, the State in exercise of its power of 'eminent domain' may interfere with the right of property of a person by acquiring the same but the same must be for a public purpose and reasonable compensation therefor must be paid.

10. It is trite that hearing given to a person must be an effective one and not a mere formality. Formation of opinion as regard the public purpose as also suitability thereof must be preceded by application of mind as regard consideration of relevant factors and rejection of irrelevant ones. The State in its decision making process must not commit any misdirection in law. It is also not in dispute that Section 5-A of the Act confers a valuable important right and having regard to the provisions contained in Article 300A of the Constitution of India has been held to be akin to a fundamental right. "

121. In Anand Singh (supra), it was observed that:-

"42. When the government proceeds for compulsory acquisition of particular property for public purpose, the only right that the owner or the person interested in the property has, is to submit his objections within the prescribed time under Section 5A of the Act and persuade the State authorities to drop the acquisition of that particular land by setting forth the reasons such as the unsuitability of the land for the stated public purpose; the grave hardship that may be caused to him by such expropriation, availability of alternative land for achieving public purpose etc. Moreover, right conferred on the owner or person interested to file objections to the proposed acquisition is not only an important and valuable right but also makes the provision for compulsory acquisition just and in conformity with the fundamental principles of natural justice.

43. The exceptional and extraordinary power of doing away with an enquiry under Section 5A in a case where possession of the land is required urgently or in unforeseen emergency is provided in Section 17 of the Act. Such power is not a routine power and save circumstances warranting immediate possession it should not be lightly invoked. The guideline is inbuilt in Section 17 itself for exercise of the exceptional power in dispensing with enquiry under Section 5A. Exceptional the power, the more circumspect the government must be in its exercise. The government obviously, therefore, has to apply its mind before it dispenses with enquiry under Section 5A on the aspect whether the urgency is of such a nature that justifies elimination of summary enquiry under Section 5A. "

122. The right of property is now considered to be not only a Constitutional or Statutory right but also a human right. [Reference P.T. Munichikkanna Reddy v. Revamma³⁵ and State of Haryana vs. Mukesh Kumar and others³⁶

123. In Babu Ram and another vs. State of Haryana and another³⁷, the observations made by the Apex Court in Om Prakash and another vs. State of U.P. and others³⁸ were noted to emphasize that a right under Section 5-A is not merely statutory but also has a flavour of fundamental rights under Articles 14 and 19 of the Constitution. It was noted therein that such observation in Om Prakash (supra) were made in light of the observations of the Apex Court in earlier decision in State of Punjab and another vs. Gurdial Singh and Others³⁹.

124. In Om Prakash (supra), the Apex Court referring to the observations in State of Punjab vs. Gurdial Singh (supra), about the nature of right under Section 5-A, itself noted that right to property has no longer remained a fundamental right and is saved by Article 300-A of the Constitution. It was, however, noted that the observation in State Of Punjab vs. Gurdial Singh (supra) regarding Article 14 vis-a-vis Section 5-A of the Act would remain apposite.

125. The relevant observations in paragraph '21' in Om Prakash (supra) with reference to the statement in paragraph '16' of State Of Punjab vs Gurdial Singh (supra) is noted hereinunder:-

"21. Our attention was also invited by shri Shanti Bhushan, learned senior counsel for the appellants to a decisions of a two Judge Bench of this Court in the case of State of Punjab and Anr. vs. Gurdial Singh and Ors. [(1980) 2 SCC 471] wherein Krishna Iyer, J. dealing with the question of exercise of emergency powers under section 17 of the Act observed in para 16 of the Report that save in real urgency where public interest did not brook even the minimum time needed to give a hearing land acquisition authorities should not, having regard to Articles 14 and 19 burke an enquiry under Section 17 of the Act. Thus, according to the aforesaid decision of this Court, inquiry under Section 5-A is not merely statutory but also has a flavour of fundamental rights under Articles 14 and 19 of the Constitution though right to property has now no longer remained a fundamental right, at least observation regarding Article 14, vis-a-vis, Section 5-A of the Land Acquisition Act would remain apposite."

126. Simultaneously, the observations in paragraph '16' in State Of Punjab vs. Gurdial Singh (supra) are also noted hereinunder:-

"Without referring to supportive case-law it is fundamental that compulsory taking of a man's property is a serious matter and the smaller the man the more serious the matter. Hearing him before depriving him is both reasonable and preemptive of arbitrariness, and denial of this administrative fairness is constitutional anathema except for good reasons. Save in real urgency where public interest does not brook even the minimum time needed to give a hearing land acquisition authorities should not, having regard to Arts. 14 (and 19), burke an enquiry under Sec. 17 of the Act. Here a slumbering process, pending for years and suddenly exciting itself into immediate forcible taking, makes a travesty of emergency power."

127. A careful and conjoint reading of both the above observations of the Apex Court makes it clear that the analogy to Articles 14 and 19 had been drawn in the case of State Of Punjab vs. Gurdial Singh (supra) to borrow the principles of reasonableness and administrative fairness in the acquisition proceedings, to observe that save in real urgency where public interest does not brook even the minimum time needed to give a hearing, the Land Acquisition Authorities should not, having regard to Articles 14 (and 19), burke an enquiry under Section 17 of the Land Acquisition Act.

128. The abovenoted observations in Gurdial Singh (supra) cannot be read to mean that the right of hearing under Section 5-A of a tenure holder has been elevated to fundamental rights under Articles 14 and 19 of the Constitution from that of a statutory right as sought to be contended by the learned counsels for the petitioners.

129. In view of the above discussion, it is evident that objections under Section 5-A of the Act, if filed, have to be dealt with in accordance with law by providing opportunity of effective hearing to every objector, as it cannot be said to be an empty formality and, in case, such a hearing is not provided, the subsequent proceedings would stand vitiated. The enquiry required under Section 5-A of the Act can be dispensed with in exercise of the power under Section 17(4) of the Act, only in grave urgency and in exceptional circumstances, and the decision of the State must be based on material on record to support the same, otherwise, it would amount to arbitrary exercise of power and denial of administrative fairness would be a constitutional anathema. The exercise of power of 'Eminent domain' may interfere with the right of property of a person by acquiring the same, but it should be made only for public purpose and should not violate the constitutional rights guaranteed under Article 300-A of the Constitution of India. Denial of enquiry under Section 5-A of the Act, without any justifiable cause, could be violative of Article 14 of the Constitution, as it cannot withstand the test of fairness and reasonableness required in the administrative process. In absence of real and genuine urgency, it would not be appropriate to deprive a land holder (aggrieved person) of a fair and just opportunity of putting forth his objection for due consideration of the Authority concerned. [emphasis be made to the observations of the Apex Court in the above noted decisions]

B. The Procedure for invocation of Urgency Clause under Section 17(4):-

130. Now the question would be as to what procedure is required to be followed by the State for invoking the urgency clause under Section 17(4) to dispense with the enquiry required under Section 5-A of the Act.

131. In Union of India and others vs. Mukesh Hans (supra), there is a discussion with regard to the procedure which is required to be followed by the State while invoking the provisions of Sections 17(1) and 17(4) of the Act, 1894.

132. It was observed that Section 17(1) only contemplates that the authorities may take possession of the land even before passing of an award after expiration of 15 days of publication of Section 9(1) notice. Sub-section (2) of Section 17 contemplates a different type of urgency, which should be an unforeseen emergency. Under this Section, if Appropriate Government is satisfied that there is such unforeseen emergency, it can take possession of the land even without waiting for 15 days period contemplated under Section 9(1), as against the provisions of Sub-section (1) of Section 17. Section 17(4), however, can be invoked in cases, where the Appropriate Government has come to the conclusion that there exists an urgency or unforeseen urgency as required under Sub-sections (1) and (2) of Section 17; respectively, and, thus, may direct that the provisions of Section 5-A shall not apply. On issuance of such direction, the enquiry under Section 5-A can be dispensed with. It is, held that Section 17(4) is an exception to the normal mode of acquisition contemplated under the Act and that mere existence of urgency or unforeseen urgency though is a condition precedent for invoking Section 17(4), but that by itself is not sufficient to direct the dispensation of 5-A enquiry. It is observed that mere existence of an urgency under Section 17(1) or unforeseen emergency under Section 17(2) would not by themselves be sufficient for dispensing with 5-A enquiry. The existence of urgency or unforeseen emergency provision in Section 17(1) and (2) would not automatically dispense with the enquiry under Section 5-A.

133. The result is that there would be requirement of application of mind by the appropriate Government while dispensing with 5-A enquiry and it is possible that in a given case the urgency noticed by the Appropriate Government under Section 17(1) or the unforeseen emergency under Section 17(2), itself may be of such decree that it could require the Appropriate Government on that very basis to dispense with the enquiry under Section 5-A. But the need for application of mind by the Appropriate government that such an urgency for dispensation of 5-A enquiry is inherent in the two types of urgencies contemplated under Section 17(1) and (2) of the Act. The nature and right under Section 5-A, thus, has been explained in paragraphs '34' and '35' as under:-

"34. A careful reading of the above judgment shows that this Court in the said case of Nandeshwar Prasad's case (supra) has also held that there should an application of mind to the facts of the case with special reference to this concession of 5A inquiry under the Act.

35. At this stage, it is relevant to notice that the limited right given to an owner/person interested under Section 5A of the Act to object to the acquisition proceedings is not an empty formality and is a substantive right, which can be taken away for good and valid reason and within the limitations prescribed under Section 17(4) of the Act. The object and importance of 5A inquiry was noticed by this Court in the case of Munshi Singh & Ors. vs. Union of India {(1973) 2 SCC 337 where this Court held thus:-

"Section 5-A embodies a very just and wholesome principle that a person whose property is being or is intended to be acquired should have a proper and reasonable opportunity of persuading the authorities concerned that acquisition of the property belonging to that person should not be made. The legislature has made complete provisions for the persons interested to file objections against the proposed acquisition and for the disposal of their objections . It is only in cases of urgency that special powers have been conferred on the appropriate Government to dispense with the provisions of Section 5-A."

134. It was further held that formation of opinion and application of mind on invocation of urgency cannot be assessed except by looking into the proceeding which culminated in the impugned order. The records of the State is, thus, required to be looked into.

135. The extract of paragraph '32' of Union of India vs. Mukesh Hans (supra) noted in Anand Singh (supra) reads as under:-

“34.....xxxxxxx 32. A careful perusal of this provision which is an exception to the normal mode of acquisition contemplated under the Act shows that mere existence of urgency or unforeseen emergency though is a condition precedent for invoking Section 17(4), that by itself is not sufficient to direct the dispensation of the Section 5-A inquiry. It requires an opinion to be formed by the Government concerned that along with the existence of such urgency or unforeseen emergency there is also a need for (2004) 8 SCC 14 dispensing with Section 5-A inquiry which indicates that the legislature intended the appropriate Government to apply its mind before dispensing with Section 5-A inquiry. It also indicates that mere existence of an urgency under Section 17(1) or unforeseen emergency under Section 17(2) would not by itself be sufficient for dispensing with Section 5-A inquiry. If that was not the intention of the legislature then the latter part of sub-section (4) of Section 17 would not have been necessary and the legislature in Sections 17(1) and (2) itself could have incorporated that in such situation of existence of urgency or unforeseen emergency automatically Section 5-A inquiry will be dispensed with. But then that is not the language of the section which in our opinion requires the appropriate Government to further consider the need for dispensing with Section 5-A inquiry in spite of the existence of unforeseen emergency. This understanding of ours as to the requirement of an application of mind by the appropriate Government while dispensing with Section 5-A inquiry does not mean that in each and every case when there is an urgency contemplated under Section 17(1) and unforeseen emergency contemplated under Section 17(2) exists that by itself would not contain the need for dispensing with Section 5-A inquiry. It is possible in a given case the urgency noticed by the appropriate Government under Section 17(1) or the unforeseen emergency under Section 17(2) itself may be of such degree that it could require the appropriate Government on that very basis to dispense with the inquiry under Section 5-A but then there is a need for application of mind by the appropriate Government that such an urgency for dispensation of the Section 5-A inquiry is inherent in the two types of urgencies contemplated under Sections 17(1) and (2) of the Act.”

C. Scope of Judicial review:-

136. As to the scope of judicial review, in Hindustan Petroleum Corp. Ltd. (supra) it is held that the conclusiveness contained in Section 6 of the Act indisputably is attached to a need as also the purpose and in this regard ordinarily, the jurisdiction of the Court is limited but it is equally true that when an opportunity of being heard has expressly been conferred by a Statute, the same must scrupulously be complied with. For the said purpose, “the Court in a case, where there has been total non-compliance or substantial non-compliance of the provisions of Section 5-A of the Act, cannot fold its hands and refuse to grant a relief to the writ petitioner. Sub-section (3) of Section 6 of the Act renders a declaration to be a conclusive evidence. But when the decision making process itself is in question, the power of judicial review can be exercised by the Court in the event the order impugned suffers from well-known principles, viz., illegality, irrationality and procedural impropriety. Moreover, when a statutory authority exercises such enormous power it must be done in a fair and reasonable manner”.

137. From Anand Singh (supra), relevant discussion in paragraphs ‘45’, ‘46’ and ‘47’ are to be noted hereinunder:-

“45. It is true that power conferred upon the government under Section 17 is administrative and its opinion is entitled to due weight, but in a case where the opinion is formed regarding the urgency based on considerations not germane to the purpose, the judicial review of such administrative decision may become necessary.

46. As to in what circumstances the power of emergency can be invoked are specified in Section 17(2) but circumstances necessitating invocation of urgency under Section 17(1) are not stated in the provision itself. Generally speaking, the development of an area (for residential purposes) or a planned development of city, takes many years if not decades and, therefore, there is no reason why summary enquiry as contemplated under Section 5A may not be held and objections of land owners/persons interested may not be considered. In many cases on general assumption, likely delay in completion of enquiry under Section 5A is set up as a reason for invocation of extraordinary power in dispensing with the enquiry little realizing that an important and valuable right of the person interested in the land is being taken away and with some effort enquiry could always be completed expeditiously.

47. The special provision has been made in Section 17 to eliminate enquiry under Section 5A in deserving and cases of real urgency. The government has to apply its mind on the aspect that urgency is of such nature that necessitates dispensation of enquiry under Section 5A. We have already noticed few decisions of this Court. There is conflict of view in the two decisions of this Court viz.; Narayan Govind Gavate³ and Pista Devi⁶. In Om Prakash¹⁰ this Court held that decision in Pista Devi⁶ must be confined to the fact situation in those days when it was rendered and the two-Judge Bench could not have laid down a proposition contrary to the decision in Narayan Govind Gavate. We agree.”

138. In an earlier decision of the Apex Court in Union of India and others vs. Praveen Gupta and others⁴⁰, it is held that the “language” of the notification is not conclusive but the Court is required to consider the material whether there is any urgency to exercise the power under Section 17(4) of the Act. It is settled legal position that decision on urgency is an administrative decision and is a matter of subjective satisfaction of the Appropriate Government on the basis of the material available on record. Therefore, there was no need to pass any reasoned order to reach the conclusion that there is urgency so as to dispense with the enquiry under Section 5-A in exercise of power under Section 17(4).

139. In Rajasthan Housing Board and others vs. Shri Kishan and others⁴¹, the Apex Court has explained as to what kind of material was required for forming an opinion for invoking the urgency powers. It was noted therein that the Division Bench of the High Court therein was impressed more by the fact that the notification did not state that the Government was of the opinion that it was a case where the inquiry under Section 5-A ought to be dispensed with under Section 17(4). The material placed before the Court in the said case, however, disclosed the reasons for invocation of urgency clause that the government, on due verification, found that holding an inquiry under Section 5-A would have resulted in uncalled for delay endangering the entire scheme and time schedule of the Housing Board. In the context of material placed before the Court therein, it was observed that :-

“It must be remembered that the satisfaction under Section 17(4) is a subjective one and that so long as there is material upon which the government could have formed the said satisfaction fairly, the Court would not interfere nor would it examine the material as an appellate authority. This is the principle affirmed by decisions of this Court not only under Section 17(4) but also generally with respect to subjective satisfaction.”

140. In Om Prakash (supra), the Apex Court has referred to the material placed before it, as was available to the Government therein for forming opinion under Section 5-A of the Act and then concluded that the action of dispensing with the enquiry under Section 5-A in the said case was not based on any real and genuine subjective satisfaction, depending upon any relevant data available to the State Authorities at the time, when they issued the impugned notification under Section 4(1) of the Act and dispensed with Section 5-A enquiry by resorting to Section 17(4) thereof.

141. In Om Prakash (supra) the Apex Court has referred to an earlier decision in A.P. Sareen and others vs. State of U.P. and others⁴² to observe that the observation with regard to existence of urgency in a case of acquisition for planned development of the city or town etc. therein [A.P. Sareen (supra)], was made on the facts of that particular case. It was further observed that it only mean that, in appropriate cases, when acquisition is needed for planned development of any city or town, the urgency provision can be invoked, which is legislatively recognized by the enactment of Section 17(1-A) by the U.P. Legislature. However, it cannot be read to mean that in every case of planned development of city or town, necessarily and almost automatically the urgency clause has to be invoked and enquiry under Section 5-A is to be dispensed with.

142. It was, thus, held:-

“23. xxxxxxxxxxxx.....It will all depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case. The aforesaid observations cannot be held to be laying down any absolute proposition that whenever any acquisition is to take place for planned development of city or town, Section 5-A should be treated to be almost otiose or inoperative. Such is not the ratio of the aforesaid decision and nothing to that effect can even impliedly be read in aforesaid observation which is of a general nature. It only suggests that in appropriate cases, the urgency clause can be invoked when the land is proposed to be acquired for planned development of city or town.

143. The Division Bench of this Court in Smt. Manju Lata Agrawal vs. State of U.P. and others⁴³ while considering the law laid down in the abovenoted decisions of the Apex Court has held that:-

“39. It is a settled legal proposition that the scope of judicial review is limited to the decision making procedure and not against the decision of the authority. The Court could review to correct errors of law or fundamental procedural requirements, which may lead to manifest injustice and can interfere with the impugned order in exceptional circumstances. In judicial review, the Court cannot trench on the jurisdiction to appreciate the evidence and arrive at its own conclusion as it is not an appeal from a decision. Review of the decision is not permissible where the findings are recorded by an authority on the basis of legal evidence and the said findings are not based either on ipsi dixit or conjectures or surmises. The Court cannot interfere on the ground that the matter requires appraisal of evidence. "Between appraisal of evidence and total lack of evidence, there is an appreciable difference which could never be lost sight of."

144. It was observed therein that the power of judicial review of the Writ court is limited, but it has competence to examine as to whether there was material to form such an opinion as required by law or the findings recorded by the authority concerned are perverse. It is settled law that non-consideration of relevant material renders an order perverse. A finding is said to be perverse when the same is not supported by evidence brought on record or they are against the law or where they suffer from the vice of procedural irregularities.

145. On the question of enquiry under Section 5-A of the Act, it was observed in Smt. Manju Lata Agrawal (supra) that a review on the merits of the decision making process is fundamental to the Court's jurisdiction. The power of review may even extend to a decision on a question of fact.

The error sought to be corrected must be undeniably a significant factor in the decision making process. It was further observed that:-

"43. The question whether inquiry under Section 5-A of the Act is necessary or not is a question of fact and it requires to be determined by the Government in the facts and circumstances of each case for the reason that no straight jacket formula can be evolved as under what circumstances the urgency clause should be invoked. The role of the Court is very limited and it can only see as to whether there was any material to form an opinion about invoking the urgency clause or whether the Government exercised the power in a mala fide manner. The question as to whether urgency exists or not, is primarily a matter for determination of the Government subject to the scope of judicial review by the courts of law."

146. As to the scope of judicial review in a matter where the decision is based on subjective satisfaction of the Government, the observations of the Apex Court in Rajasthan Housing Board (supra) was noted in Smt. Manju Lata Agrawal (supra) as under:-

"44. In Rajasthan Housing Board (supra) the Hon'ble Supreme Court, while dealing with the issue involved herein, held as under:

"It must be remembered that the satisfaction under Section 17(4) is a subjective one and so long as there is material upon which the Government could have formed the said satisfaction fairly, the Court would not interfere nor would it examine the material as an appellate authority. This is the principle affirmed by decisions of this Court not under Section 17(4) but also generally with respect to subjective satisfaction.”

147. It was further noted in paragraph ‘45’ as under:-

“45. The adequacy and reliability of the material on the basis, of which the conclusion is reached, cannot be permitted to be canvassed before the Court in writ jurisdiction. Vide Rajinder Kumar Kindra v. Delhi Administration Through Secretary (Labour) and Ors., (1984) 4 SCC 635; The General Court Martial and Ors. v. Col. Aniltej Singh Dhaliwal, AIR 1998 SC 983 and R.S. Saini v. State of Punjab and Ors., (1999) 8 SCC 90”

148. In paragraphs ‘47’, ‘48’, ‘49’, ‘50’, ‘51’, ‘53’, ‘55’, ‘56’ and ‘57’, it was noted that:-

“47. In Bombay Dyeing & MFG Co. Ltd. (3) v. Bombay Environmental Action Group and Ors., AIR 2006 SC 1489, the Apex Court considered the scope of judicial review in a case of urban development, maintaining the ecological balance and after considering all aspects of town planning, came to the conclusion that in case of an executive action, the Court can look into and consider several factors, namely:

(i) whether the discretion conferred upon the statutory authority had been properly exercised;

(ii) whether exercise of such discretion is in consonance with the provisions of the Act;

(iii) whether while taking such action, the executive Government had taken into consideration the purport and object of the Act;

(iv) whether the same subserved other relevant factors which would affect the public at large;

(v) whether the principles of sustainable development which have become part of our constitutional law have been taken into consideration; and

(vi) whether in arriving at such a decision, both substantive due process and procedural due process had been complied with.

48. In Sawarn Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR 1976 SC 232 while dealing with such a issue, the Court held as under:

“In view of this, the deficiency or reference to some irrelevant matters in the order of the Commissioner, had not prejudiced the decision of the case on merit either at the appellate or revisional stage. There is authority for the proposition that where the order of a domestic tribunal makes reference to several grounds, some relevant and existent, and others irrelevant and non-existent, the order will be sustained if the court is satisfied that the authority would have passed the order on the basis of the relevant and existing ground, and the exclusion of irrelevant or non-existing ground could not have affected the ultimate decision.” (Emphasis added)

49. A similar view has been reiterated by the Hon'ble Apex Court in Dwarka Das Bhatia v. The State of Jammu and Kashmir, AIR 1957 SC 164; State of Orissa and Ors. v. Bidyabhushan Mohapatra, AIR 1963 SC 779; The State of Maharashtra v. Babulal Kriparam Takkamore and Ors., AIR 1967 SC 1353; Binny Ltd. v. Their Workmen and Anr., AIR 1972 SC 1975 and P.D. Agrawal v. State Bank of India and Ors., AIR 2006 SC 2064

50. In view of the above, it is apparent that if the order assed by an Authority is based on a consideration of certain relevant material and some other irrelevant and non-existing material, the order can be sustained, provided the relevant existing material was sufficient for formation of such an opinion. Thus, if the order can be passed on relevant and existing grounds, the consideration of irrelevant or non-existent material becomes immaterial.

51. However, the aforesaid legal proposition applies only in a case where the Authority has to pass an order on objective satisfaction. It carves out an exception that such a proposition would not apply where the decision is to be taken by the Authority on subjective satisfaction.

53. In Zora Singh v. J.M. Tandon, AIR 1971 SC 1537, the Court considered a similar issue and held as under:

“The principle that if some of the reasons relied on by a Tribunal for its conclusion turn out to be extraneous or otherwise unsustainable, its decision would be vitiated, applies to cases in which the conclusion is arrived at not on assessment of objective satisfaction. The reason is that whereas in cases where the decision is based on subjective satisfaction if some of the reasons turn out to be irrelevant or invalid, it would be impossible for a superior Court to find out which of the reasons, relevant or irrelevant, valid or invalid, had brought about such satisfaction. But in a case where the conclusion is based on objective facts and evidence, such a difficulty would not arise. If it is found that there was legal evidence before the Tribunal, even if some of it was irrelevant, a superior Court would not interfere if the finding can be sustained on the rest of the evidence. The reason is that in a writ petition for certiorari, the superior Court does not sit in appeal, but exercises only supervisory jurisdiction, and therefore, does not enter into question of the sufficiency of evidence.” (Emphasis added)

55. Thus, in case where the order is based on subjective satisfaction, consideration of irrelevant or non-existent material becomes fatal and vitiates the order itself. Such a view stands fortified by the judgments of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Keshav Talpade v. Emperor, AIR 1943 FC 1; Shibban Lal v. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 1954 SC 179; Rameshwar Lal v. State of Bihar, AIR 1968 SC 1303; Puspadevi v. M.L. Wadhavan AIR, 1987 SC 1748; and Vashisth Narain v. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 1990 SC 1272.

56. Same remains the position where the Authority fails to consider the vital facts, for the reason that if the material or vital facts which would influence the mind of the Authority one way or the other, are not placed or are not considered by the Authority, it would vitiate the subjective satisfaction. The Authority must exercise due care and caution and act fairly and justly in exercise of its powers. However what is a vital fact would depend on the facts of each case. Therefore, only those matters alone should be regarded as vital which are reasonably likely to affect the decision of the Authority. Non-consideration of the vital fact may taint the satisfaction of the Authority. (Vide Tushar Govindji v. Union of India, AIR 1985 SC 511; Sitaram v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 1986 SC 1072; and Ahmed Nissar v. State of Tamil Nadu, AIR 1999 SC 3897).

57. In Swadeshi Cotton Hills Co. Ltd. v. State Industrial Tribunal, U.P. and Ors., AIR 1961 SC 1381, a Constitution Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court considered a case where forming the opinion after considering the material was not recited in the order and held as under:

“...The validity of the order therefore does not depend upon the recital of the formation of the opinion in the order but upon the actual formation of the opinion and the making of the order in consequence. It would therefore follow that if by inadvertence or otherwise the recital of the format on of the opinion is not mentioned in the preamble to the order the defect can be remedied by showing by other evidence in proceedings where challenge is made to the validity of the order, that in fact the order was made after such opinion had been formed and was thus a valid exercise of the power conferred by the law. The only exception to this course would be where the statute requires that there should be a recital in the order itself before it can be validly made.

...The presumption as to the regularity of public acts would apply in such a case; but as soon as the order is challenged and it is said that it was passed without the conditions precedent being satisfied the burden would be on the authority to satisfy by other means (in the absence of recital in the order itself) that the conditions precedent had been complied with....” (Emphasis added).

149. The distinction in exercise of power of judicial review of an order based on objective assessment and another order based on subjective consideration had been considered therein to note that the principle, if an order wherein some of the reasons relied for its conclusion turn out to be extraneous or otherwise unsustainable, its decision would be vitiated, applies to cases in which conclusion is arrived at not on assessment of subjective satisfaction. The reason is that in cases where the decision is based on subjective satisfaction, if some of the reasons turn out to be irrelevant or invalid, it would be impossible for a Superior Court to find out which of the reasons, relevant or irrelevant, valid or invalid, had brought about such satisfaction. Thus, in cases where the order is based on subjective satisfaction, consideration of irrelevant or non-existent material becomes fatal and vitiates the order itself. However, in a case, where the conclusion is based on objective facts and evidence, such difficulty would not arise, inasmuch as, there if the order of the Court or Tribunal is based on some legal evidence, even if some of it was irrelevant, a Superior Court would not interfere if the finding can be sustained on the rest of the evidence. The reason being that in a writ petition for Certiorari, the superior Court does not sit in appeal but exercises only supervisory jurisdiction and, therefore, does not enter into question of the sufficiency of evidence.

150. Another Division Bench of this Court in Sudhir Chandra Agarwala vs. State of U.P. and others⁴⁴ considered the law laid down in Smt. Manju Lata Agrawal (supra) in the matter of recording subjective satisfaction and the scope of judicial review to hold that:-

“ 25. The sufficiency or insufficiency of the material, and the names of industries, which may have applied with concrete proposals for establishment of industrial units, is not material for the purposes of judicial review of the subjective satisfaction of the State Government. When there exists material before the State Government, in the shape of recommendations and that material is relevant for applying the mind for recording subjective satisfaction of invoking the urgency clause for acquisition of the land, the law does not permit the Court to consider the material as it was weighing the evidence for the purposes of recording subjective satisfaction of invoking the urgency clause for acquisition of the land. If the material is relevant, on which competent authority, as reasonable person may invoke the urgency clause for acquisition of the land, the Court would not put such material on the scales, to weigh or measure such urgency. The Court is not competent to carry out judicial review of the sufficiency or insufficiency on the material placed before it. What the Court required to see is; whether such material is relevant, and that the competent authority in the State Government could have formed an opinion without their being any motive or ill will for invoking the urgency clause. In the present case the State has given in the counter affidavit, the material on which it had placed reliance and has produced the material before us, which we find to be relevant for the purpose of invoking urgency clause. Even if we may, after perusing the record arrive on different conclusion, we would restrain ourselves from interfering, as in such case we would be substituting our opinion in place of opinion of the competent authority in the State Government. If we do so, we would be sitting in appeal over the subjective satisfaction recorded by the State Government. The legal position obtained from the judicial precedents restrain us from doing so.

151. The principle to exercise the power of judicial review in the matter of dispensation of enquiry under Section 5-A of the Act, 1894, within the scope of Article 226 of the Constitution, thus, can be summarized as under:-

(i) In exercise of discretion conferred upon the statutory authority, while arriving at a decision under Section 5-A, both substantive due process and procedural due process has to be complied with.

(ii) The question whether enquiry under Section 5-A of the Act is necessary or not is a question of fact which would be required to be examined by the State Government in the facts and circumstances of each case before invocation of urgency clause under Section 17(4) of the Act. No straight jacket formula, as such, can be evolved as to under what circumstances, the urgency clause should be invoked.

(iii) The role of the Court is limited and it can only see as to whether there was any material to form an opinion about invoking the urgency clause or whether the Government exercised the power in a malafide manner.

(iv) The question as to whether urgency exists or not, is primarily a matter for determination of the Government, subject to the scope of judicial review by the Court of law.

(v) The satisfaction under Section 17(4) is a subjective one and, so long as, there is material upon which the Government could have formed the said satisfaction fairly, the Court would not interfere nor would it examine the material as an appellate authority.

(vi) The adequacy and reliability of the material on the basis of which the conclusion is reached, cannot be permitted to be canvassed before the Court in writ jurisdiction. The truth or correctness of the material will not be questioned by the Court.

(vii) In a case where the order is based on subjective satisfaction, consideration of irrelevant or non-existent material becomes fatal and vitiates the order itself.

(viii) Same remains the position where the authority fails to consider the vital facts, for the reason that if the material or vital facts which would influence the mind of the authority, one way or the other, were not placed or were not considered by the authority, it would vitiate the subjective satisfaction.

(ix) What is vital fact would depend on the fact of each case.

(x) The authority must exercise due care and caution and act fairly and justly in exercise of its powers.

(xi) Non-consideration of the vital fact may taint the satisfaction of the authority.

(xii) The validity of the order does not depend upon the recital of the formation of the opinion in the order but upon the actual formation of the opinion and the making of the order in consequence.

152. As in a case of subjective satisfaction, authority is not required to pass a reasoned order, there is no need to pass any reasoned order to reach at the conclusion that there is urgency so as to dispense with the enquiry under Section 5A in exercise of power under Section 17(4). The power of judicial review in a matter of invocation of urgency under Section 17(4) in dispensing with the enquiry under Section 5-A is limited to the extent as to whether there is any fault in the decision making process, to examine that the opinion of the State is not guided by any irrelevant or non-existent material, rather is based on relevant material to record its satisfaction. The Court can interfere, in a case, where there was no material at all or the material relied upon was irrelevant or non-existent. The adequacy and reliability of the material on the basis of which conclusion is arrived is beyond the scope of power of judicial review. The Court can also look into as to whether in formation of opinion, the Government has exercised the power in a malafide manner. The question as to whether urgency exists or not is primarily a matter for determination of the Government, subject to the scope of judicial review by the Court of law.

D. On Pre-Post Notification Delay:-

153. On the issue whether the pre or post notification delay would be fatal to the exercise of power by the State in invocation of urgency clause, there is no consistency in the decisions of the Apex court.

154. In Union of India and others vs. Krishan Lal Arneja and others⁴⁵, the Apex Court has held that while applying the urgency clause, the State should indeed act with due care and responsibility. Invoking urgency clause cannot be a substitute or support for the laxity, lethargy or lack of care on the part of the State Administration.

155. In First Land Acquisition Collector & Ors. Vs. Nirodhi Prakash Gangoli & another⁴⁶, the Apex Court has observed that the post notification delay, i.e. delay in making declaration under Section 6 after invocation of urgency clause dispensing with enquiry under Section 5-A would not be fatal, specially when no mala fide on the part of the government or its officers are alleged. Opinion of the State Government can be challenged in a Court of law if it could be shown that the State Government never applied its mind to the matter or that action of the State Government is mala fide.

156. In Deepak Pahwa Vs. Lt. Governor of Delhi & Ors.⁴⁷, the Apex Court had rejected the argument that pre-notification delay would render the invocation of the urgency provisions void.

157. It was held that:-

“The other ground of attack is that if regard s had to the considerable length of time spent on interdepartmental discussion before the notification und, Section 4(1) was published, it would be apparent that there was no justification for invoking the urgency clause under Section 17(4) and dispensing with the inquiry under Section 5-A. We are afraid, we cannot agree with this contention. Very often persons interested in the land proposed to ha acquired make various representations to the concerned authorities against the proposed acquisition. This is bound to result in a multiplicity of enquiries, communications and discussions leading invariably to delay in if execution of even urgent projects. Very often the delay makes the problem more and more acute and increases the urgency of the necessity for acquisition. It is, therefore, net possible to agree with the submission that mere pre-notification delay would render the invocation of the urgency provisions void. We however wish to say nothing about pos notification delay. In Jage Ram v. State of Haryana , this Court pointed out the fact that the State Government or the party concerned was lethargic at an earlier stage is not very relevant for deciding the question whether o the date on which the notification was issued, there was urgency or not. In Kasireddy Papaiah v. Government of Andhra Pradesh , it was held, "...delay on the part of tardy officials to take the further action in the matter of acquisition is not sufficient to nullify the urgency which exited at the time of the issue of the notification and to hold that there was never any urgency. (Emphasis added)”

158. Having discussed the legal position with regard to invocation of urgency clause under Section 17(4), dispensation of enquiry under Section 5-A and the scope of judicial review in exercise of power of writ jurisdiction by this Court, we are now required to discuss the legal position in the decisions relied upon by the counsels for the writ petitioners.

E. On the Apex Court decisions relied by the rival parties:-

(i) Radhy Shyam (supra):-

159. Heavy reliance has been placed on the decision of the Apex Court in Radhy Shyam (Dead) Through LR. And others vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others⁴⁸ to vehemently argued that in any eventuality, the urgency clause cannot be invoked in an acquisition made for planned development. The statement in the acquisition notifications under Section 4 pertaining to the villages in question have been read and re-read to assert that from the statement therein itself, it is evident that the land was needed for planned development of the area through the Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority. The issue as to whether the exercise of power under Section 17(1) and/or 17(4) for the acquisition of land for residential, commercial or industrial purpose was legal and justified has been answered by the Apex Court in Radhy Shyam (supra), wherein it is categorically held in paragraph 77(viii) that:-

“77 (viii). The acquisition of land for residential, commercial, industrial or institutional purposes can be treated as an acquisition for public purposes within the meaning of Section 4 but that, by itself, does not justify the exercise of power by the Government under Section 17(1) and/or 17(4). The Court can take judicial notice of the fact that planning, execution and implementation of the schemes relating to development of residential, commercial, industrial or institutional areas usually take few years. Therefore, the private property cannot be acquired for such purpose by invoking the urgency provision contained in Section 17(1). In any case, exclusion of the rule of audi alteram partem embodied in Section 5-A (1) and (2) is not at all warranted in such matters.”

160. It was vehemently argued that in view of the mandate of the Apex Court, the acquisition of land for planned development through Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority, in the instant case, for residential, commercial, industrial or institutional purpose cannot be said to urgent. There cannot be any real or grave urgency in the nature of the proposed use of the land, the dispensation of enquiry, exclusion of hearing to the land holders was, thus, unwarranted in the instant matter. The submission, thus, is that on this ground itself, the acquisition notifications are liable to be quashed.

161. We are afraid to accept the submission of the learned counsel for the petitioners, having gone through the principles laid down by the Apex Court in the case of Radhy Shyam (supra), wherein all the above noted points in the matter of acquisition by invocation of urgency clause, culled out from the decisions of the Apex Court noted, in the foregoing paragraphs of this judgment, has been reiterated.

162. While reading sub-para (viii) of para ‘77’, we are further required to note the principles noted in sub-paras (iii), (vi) and (ix) of Para ‘77’ as under:-

“(iii) Though, in exercise of the power of eminent domain, the Government can acquire the private property for public purpose, it must be remembered that compulsory taking of one's property is a serious matter. If the property belongs to economically disadvantaged segment of the society or people suffering from other handicaps, then the Court is not only entitled but is duty bound to scrutinize the action/decision of the State with greater vigilance, care and circumspection keeping in view the fact that the land owner is likely to become landless and deprived of the only source of his livelihood and/or shelter.

(vi) The satisfaction of the Government on the issue of urgency is subjective but is a condition precedent to the exercise of power under Section 17(1) and the same can be challenged on the ground that the purpose for which the private property is sought to be acquired is not a public purpose at all or that the exercise of power is vitiated due to mala fides or that the concerned authorities did not apply mind to the relevant factors and the records.

(ix) If land is acquired for the benefit of private persons, the Court should view the invoking of Section 17(1) and/or 17(4) with suspicion and carefully scrutinize the relevant record before adjudicating upon the legality of such acquisition.”

163. The statement in sub-para (viii) has to be seen in the context of the statements in sub-paras (vi) and (ix) of Para ‘77’.

164. The legal position which can be understood from the discussion of law in the Radhy Shyam (supra) is that:-

(i) the satisfaction of the Government on the issue of urgency is subjective, but is a condition precedent, to the exercise of power under Section 17(1);

(ii) the same can be challenged on the ground that (a) the purpose for which the private property is sought to be acquired is not a public purpose at all; (b) that the exercise of power is vitiated due to malafides; (c) The authorities concerned did not apply their mind to the relevant factors and records;

(iii) if the land is acquired for the benefit of private persons, the Court is required to view the invocation of urgency clause with suspicion and carefully scrutinized the relevant record before adjudicating upon the legality of such acquisition.

165. The principle stated in sub-para (viii) of Para ‘77’, thus, requires the Court to make a strict scrutiny of the record upon which the State has proceeded to acquire private property without complying with the mandate of Section 5-A. The enquiry, thus, has to be made in the facts of the particular case. The Court has to exercise the power of judicial review by carefully scrutinizing the relevant record, to adjudicate upon the legality of the acquisition.

166. Learned Senior Counsel appearing for the respondent-YEIDA tries to draw a distinction from the case of Radhy Shyam (supra) on factual aspects on the present case. It was argued that the entire decision of the Apex Court in Radhy Shyam (supra) has to be carefully read to cull out the ratio of the case. It (Radhy Shyam) was a case where only a substantially small area of 205.0288 hectares of a village situated in the Notified area of Greater NOIDA was acquired for planned industrial development in District Gautam Budh Nagar through Greater NOIDA.

167. The appellants therein (Radhy Shyam) had challenged the acquisition on several grounds, noted in paragraph ‘4’ therein, extracted as under:-

“4. The appellants challenged the acquisition of their land on several grounds including the following:

(i) That the land cannot be used for industrial purposes because in the draft Master Plan of Greater NOIDA (2021), the same is shown as part of residential zone.

(ii) That they had already constructed dwelling houses and as per the policy of the State Government, the residential structures are exempted from acquisition.

(iii) That the State Government arbitrarily invoked Section 17(1) read with Section 17(4) of the Act and deprived them of their valuable right to raise objections under Section 5-A.

(iv) The acquisition of land is vitiated by arbitrariness, mala fides and violation of Article 14 of the Constitution inasmuch as lands of the Member of Legislative Assembly and other influential persons were left out from acquisition despite the fact that they were not in abadi, but they were not given similar treatment despite the fact that their land was part of abadi and they had constructed dwelling units.”

168. We are required to note that the plea of arbitrariness of the State Government in invoking urgency clause under Section 17(4) of the Act to dispense with the enquiry under Section 5-A, depriving the tenure holders of their valuable rights, was examined on the objections of the tenure holders noted therein which were (i) the land in question falls in part of a residential zone in the draft Master plan of Greater NOIDA and cannot be used for industrial purposes; (ii) there existed dwelling houses and as per the policy of the State, the residential structures were exempted from acquisition.

169. The High Court therein negated the challenge of the appellants, at the threshold, mainly on the ground that the averments contained in the writ petition were not supported by proper affidavit. The petitioners therein had neither pleaded that there existed no material before the State Government to come to the conclusion that the enquiry under Section 5-A should be dispensed with by invoking Section 17(4) of the Act nor the learned counsel for the petitioners therein could place before the Court any such averment in the writ petition. Even counter affidavit of the respondents was not called upon to see as to whether there existed any material for exercising power under Section 17(1) and (4) of the Act by the High Court, saying that the question of requiring of respondents to produce the original record did not arise in view of the statements made in the writ petition which were not sworn in the affidavit at all.

170. The Apex Court, however, granted time to the respondents to file counter and had examined the record of the State and, in the facts and circumstances of that case, having noted the factors which were cited in justification of invoking the urgency provision therein, it has been observed in paragraph '79' that none of the factors noted therein furnished legally acceptable justification for the exercise of power by the State Government under Section 17(1) because the acquisition was primarily meant to cater private interest in the name of industrial development of the district. Even if, planned development of the District was treated as public purpose within the meaning of Section 4, there was no urgency which could justify exercise of power by the State Government under Sections 17(1) and 17(4). The conclusion arrived therein that there was no real and substantive urgency which could justify invoking of the urgency provisions under Section 17(1) and, in any case, there was no warrant to exclude the application of Section 5-A, to deny the opportunity of hearing to the land holders, was in the facts and circumstances of the said case.

171. On a careful reading of the decision of the Apex Court in Radhy Shyam (supra), it cannot be accepted that on the mere statement made in the notification under Section 4(1) read with Section 17(1) and (4) that the land in question is needed "for planned development of the area through YEIDA", it can be concluded that there was no urgency, much less real and substantive urgency, to invoke the provisions of Section 17(1) and 17(4).

172. We may remind ourselves to the decisions of the Apex Court noted above that the statement in the notification is not a determinative factor, the language of the notification is not conclusive, nor there is any need to give any reason in the notification itself for invocation of urgency. The Court has to see the record, to examine as to whether there exists material on record, upon which the State Government had formed subjective satisfaction, to arrive at a conclusion that urgency clause be invoked and enquiry under Section 5-A be dispensed with. We cannot quash the notifications merely by the statement contained therein without looking to the record of the State and the relevant material which has weighed the mind of the State in exercise of its inherent power of Eminent domain to acquire the land in question, denying opportunity of hearing to the land holders. [emphasis Union of India and others vs. Praveen Gupta (supra)]

(ii) Nand Kishore Gupta (supra):-

173. As noted above, the acquisition-in-question is part of an integrated project. For contiguous land to the parcels of land acquired for Yamuna Expressway, acquisition has been upheld by this Court and the Apex Court in Nand Kishore Gupta (supra). The project for construction of Expressway was conceived by the State in the year 2001. It was an integrated project involving construction of Excess Controlled Expressway, stretching over 160 kilometers from NOIDA to Agra and for development of 25 million sq. mtrs. of land alongside Expressway. Bids were invited but before the construction could commence, the validity of the project was challenged in a Public Interest Litigation. The State Government exercising power under the Commission of Enquiries Act, 1956 appointed a Commission in the name of Justice Siddheshwar Narain Commission. The Civil Misc. Writ Petition (PIL) No. 30322 of 2007 (Ashutosh Srivastava vs. State of U.P. and others) was dismissed vide judgment and order 14th March, 2008, reported in 2008 (3) ADJ 427 (DB).

174. The State Government, thereafter, issued various notifications acquiring the lands in the Districts of Gautam Budh Nagar, Mathura, Aligarh, Mahamaya Nagar (Hathras) and Agra for the purposes of Expressway. The notifications under Sections 4 and 6 of the Act dated 15.10.2007 and 4.1.2008 acquiring land situated in a Village in District Mathura came up for consideration in Balbair Singh & another vs. State of U.P. & others (Writ Petition No. 48978 of 2008), on the grounds that the actual purpose of acquisition was for the benefit of the Company and, therefore, the invocation of the provision under Section 17(4), dispensation of Section 5-A of the Land Acquisition Act was illegal. By the judgment and order dated 5.10.2009, the Court had dismissed the writ petition with the findings that the acquisition for construction of Expressway was otherwise for the benefit of the public at large. It was noted therein that there is tremendous growth in the population and that the roads and other facilities available to the public are seriously lacking. In order to provide infrastructural facilities for developing industries throughout the Yamuna belt, the project of National importance was taken up connecting various cities of Uttar Pradesh to the national capital. The acquisition was, thus, held to be for public purpose.

175. In the third round of litigation before this Court in Nand Kishore Gupta (supra), the land holders of Mathura and Agra had challenged the acquisition of land for construction of Expressway and for interchange of Expressway, mainly on the ground that there was no urgency much less special urgency, for construction of road, to acquire fertile land. The writ petitions were filed agitating that the petitioners were owners of the lands since long and had raised constructions and were using part of land for business and Abadi purposes after declaration as Abadi. The notifications under Sections 4 and 6 of the Act had been challenged having been issued in colourable exercise of power, that there was no urgency and since no project had been specified, the notifications being vague, the action of the State in dispensing with enquiry under Section 5-A was malafide. It was brought before the Court in the case of Nand Kishore Gupta (supra) and noted therein that “the Taj Expressway” Project conceived by the State Government in 2001 is an integrated project involving construction of Excess Controlled Expressway project spread over 160 kilometers from NOIDA to Agra for development of 25 million sq. mtrs. of the land along with the Expressway.

176. This Court has noted therein that from the material on record it was reflected that the entire development was being carried out by the State Government through Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority (YEIDA) which is an instrumentality of the State. On a challenge to the acquisition by the petitioners on the ground that Delhi was connected with Agra by National Highway No.-2 and that the need for another road connecting the two great cities at a little faster speed is not a public purpose. The development of 25 million sq. mtrs. of land by the company on the selected sites along the Expressway is for the purposes of profits of Public Limited Company and, therefore, it cannot be said that the land was needed for public purpose. In any case, there was no such urgency to acquire the land, to dispense with the enquiry and to take away the valuable right of the petitioners and farmers to object to the acquisition. It was argued that the right to property may not be a fundamental right, it is a Constitutional right and has now been recognised as human right under Article 21 of the Constitution of India, should be protected by the court. Where large tracts of fertile land with constructions used for business purpose and agriculture as source of livelihood of the citizens is being acquired for building an alternate road, the urgency of the purpose cannot be assumed. The project was already delayed from the year 2001 till 2008 and therefore, there was no such urgency to invoke Sub-section (4) of Section 17 for acquisition of the land, dispensing with the valuable right of the citizens to have a say in the matter.

177. In order to verify whether there was any material with the State Government to form an opinion and to exercise its powers under Sections 17(1) and 17(4) of the Act, dispensing with enquiry under Section 5-A of the Act, and that the State Government had applied its mind on such material, the records of three notifications under challenge were summoned by the Court.

178. Having recorded the material of the State found from the record, it was held therein that:-

“the record clearly demonstrates that after considering the project and making enquiries and spot inspections including the survey of the revenue records, District Magistrate had recommended that looking into the purpose of the acquisition and the large area involved, and further the fact that the land is needed for construction of road and interchange and planned development, as well as the fact that in future there is strong possibility of encroachments over the subject land, Section 17(4) was required to be invoked for dispensing with the enquiry”.

179. With regard to the plea of pre-notification delay of about five years, it was noted therein that:-

“The pre-notification delay of about five years from the date of agreement i.e. 7.2.2003 to the date of Notification under Section 4 of the Act dated 28.2.2009 has been sufficiently explained in the country affidavit of the State Government and YEIDA. The State Government was conscious of its accountability and referred the matter for enquiry under the Commission of Enquiry Act, 1956 appointing Justice Siddheshwari Narain, a retired judge of Patna/ Calcutta High Court in the year 2003. The report was submitted on 12.10.2006 and was thereafter subjected to a public interest litigation. In Ashutosh Srivastava Vs. State of U.P. (Supra) the writ petition was dismissed by the Court on 14th March, 2008. The State Government, thereafter, started making surveys and that the District Magistrate made proposals for acquisition of the land for the project dispensing with the enquiry under Section 5A of the Act.”

180. It was further noted that:-

“The record produced before us by the State Government enclosing the material of invoking urgency clause and the satisfaction of the State Government on the said material, has satisfied us that the State Government had sufficient material and had applied its mind to record its opinion that there was urgency to acquire the land and to dispense with the enquiry under Section 5A of the Act. The writ petition filed in public interest was dismissed and that the Court has also rejecting the challenge on the ground that acquisition was made for the company. The requisite 80% of the cost of acquisition of the land under the agreement was deposited in the year 2007. Out of 12282 land owners of the area of 1604 hecets., 11397 have accepted the compensation. In these 9 writ petitions, there are 35 petitioners representing only 21.03 hecets. The cost of project according to Shri Navin Sinha, Sr. Advocate has increased from initially 1700 crore in the year 2001, to 9700 crore and is going on increasing per day. The road has been laid from Noida to Greater Noida and the work is going on, on the entire road except on a small portions on which the Court had passed orders to maintain status quo. According to Shri Navin Sinha in addition to thousands of tourists, who visit Agra from all over the world every day, there is likely to be great influx of sports tourists visiting India at the time Commonwealth games. They all need a fast moving road connection to reach Agra to cut down the travelling time. The National Highway No.2 on the western bank of Yamuna passes through busy areas in the State of Haryana and Rajasthan, through the cities of Faridabad, Ballabhgarh and Palwal. The fast moving road on the eastern side of Yamuna crossing through the areas falling only in the State of U.P., with modern facilities is a felt necessity in public purpose. The construction is on the verge of completion. It will be ironical for the tourism sector and residents of the area looking for development and opportunity for employment, to be deprived of the project at such an advance stage.”

181. On pre-notification delay, it was concluded that:-

“The respondents have fully explained the pre-notification delay. The pendency of the proceedings of the Commission holding enquiry and the public interest litigation, is sufficient explanation of the delay in issuing notifications, after the agreement was signed. The fact situation as exists today, also leaves us with no choice to exercise discretion. Out of 12282 land owners 11397 have received compensation under agreement, and that the land owners of only 21.03 hectares out of 1604 hectares are aggrieved by the acquisition of their land. The scales of justice must tilt towards the right to development, of the millions, who will be benefited from the road and the development of the area, as against the human rights of 35 petitioners, who have approached the Court complaining that they were not heard before the declaration under Section 6 of the Act acquiring the land was issued on 15.6.2009."

182. In the Special Leave Petition filed before the Apex Court to challenge the decision of the Division Bench of this Court, the findings returned by this Court on the pre-notification delay was noted to record its approval by the Apex Court for the fact that the project had lingered from 2001 to 2008 and the material before the State Government to dispense with the enquiry under Section 5-A of the Act had been mechanically examined by the High Court and there was no reason to take a different view.

183. The factors for invocation of urgency clause which weighed in the mind of the State, noted with approval by the Apex Court, in the said case were:-(i) enormousness of the project; (ii) likelihood of the encroachments; (iii) large number of appellants who would have required to be heard; (iv) the time taken for that purpose; and (v) the fact that the project had lingered already from 2001 till 2008.

184. The legal position stated in Tika Ram and others vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others⁴⁹ was discussed by the Apex Court therein to note as under:-

"94. This situation was considered, firstly, in Satendra Prasad Jain & Ors. Vs. State of U.P. & Ors. reported in 1993 (4) SCC 369. It was held therein that once the possession is taken as a matter of fact, then the owner is divested of the title to the land. The Court held that there was then no question of application of even Section 11-A. Commenting upon Section 11-A, it was held that that Section could not be so construed as to leave the Government holding title of the land without an obligation to determine the compensation, make an award and pay to the owner the difference between the amount of the award and the amount of the 80% of the estimated compensation. The three Judges' Bench of the Court took the view that even where 80% of the estimated compensation was not paid to the land owners, it did not mean that the possession was taken illegally or that the land did not vest in the Government. In short, this Court held that the proceedings of acquisition are not affected by the non-payment of compensation. In that case, the Krishi Utpadan Mandi Samiti, for which the possession was made, sought to escape from the liability to make the payment. That was not allowed. The Court, in para 17, held as under:-

"17. In the instant case, even that 80% of the estimated compensation was not paid to the appellants although Section 17(3-A) required that it should have been paid before possession of the said land was taken but that does not mean that the possession was taken illegally or that the said land did not thereupon vest in the first respondent. It is, at any rate, not open to the third respondent, who, as the letter of the Special Land Acquisition Officer dated June 27, 1990 shows, failed to make the necessary monies available and who has been in occupation of the said land ever since its possession was taken, to urge that the possession was taken illegally and that, therefore, the said land has not vested in the first respondent and the first respondent is under no obligation to make an award."

95. Further, in a judgment of this Court in Pratap & Anr. Vs. State of Rajasthan & Ors. etc. etc. reported in 1996 (3) SCC 1, similar view was reported. That was a case under the Rajasthan Urban Improvement Act, 1987, under which the acquisition was made using Section 17 of the Act. The Court took the view that once the possession was taken under Section 17 of the Act, the Government could not withdraw from that position under Section 18 and even the provisions of Section 11-A were not attracted. That was of course a case where the award was not passed under Section 11-A after taking of the possession. A clear cut observation came to be made in that behalf in Para 12, to the effect that the non-compliance with Section 17 of the Act, insofar as, payment of compensation is concerned, did not result in lapsing of the land acquisition proceedings. The law laid down by this Court in Satendra Prasad Jain & Ors. Vs. State of U.P. & Ors. (cited supra) was approved. The Court also relied on the decision in P. Chinnanna Vs. State of A.P. reported in 1994 (5) SCC 486 and Awadh Bihari Yadav Vs. State of Bihar reported in 1995 (6) SCC 31, where similar view was taken regarding the land acquisition proceedings not getting lapsed. The only result that may follow by the non-payment would be the payment of interest, as contemplated in Section 34 and the proviso added thereto by 1984 Act. In that view, we do not wish to further refer the matter, as suggested by Shri Trivedi, Learned Senior Counsel and Shri Qamar Ahmad, Learned Counsel for the appellants. Therefore, even on the sixth question, there is no necessity of any reference."

185. It was further noted in paragraph '96' therein that the arguments based on the decision of the Apex Court in Om Prakash (supra) that the encroachment issue was not a relevant factor for invocation of urgency, was not convincing, inasmuch as, actual scenario in that case [Om Prakash (supra)] was different.

186. It was noted that in Om Prakash (supra), the Apex Court was considering the acquisition of area of about 500 acres comprising of 437 plots, whereas in Nand Kishore Gupta (supra), the area to be acquired for the Expressway alone was more than 1600 hectares, apart from the 25 million square meters of land which was liable to be acquired for the purposes of development of 5 land parcels. It was held that "there was interlinking between the acquisition of land for the Highway and the acquisition of land for establishing five townships. The post notification delay in Om Prakash (supra) held to be a relevant factor vital to the decision of the State for invocation of urgency clause, had been distinguished therein in the following manner:-

"96. We are not impressed by the argument that the encroachment issue was not a relevant factor. This argument was based on the reported decision in Om Prakash & Anr. Vs. State of U.P. & Ors. (cited supra). It must be said that the actual scenario in that case was different. In that case, the Court was considering the acquisition of area of about 500 acres comprising of 437 plots, whereas, in the
