Criminal Revision No. 3576 of 2019

Bhola Yadav ...Revisionist
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Revisionist:
Sri Sharad Chand Rai, Sri Shri Krishna Mishra

Counsel for the Respondents:
G.A., Sri Janardan Mishra, Sri Rajni Kant Chaube

(A) Criminal Law - Revision - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 302 -murder , The Code of criminal procedure, 1973 - Section 161 - Examination of witnesses by police , Section 319 - power to proceed against other persons appearing to be guilty of offence - Power under Section 319, Cr.P.C. is a discretionary and an extra-ordinary power - to be exercised sparingly and only in those cases where the circumstances of the case so warrant - not to be exercised because the Magistrate or the Sessions Judge is of the opinion that some other person may also be guilty of committing that offence - Only where strong and cogent evidence occurs against a person from the evidence led before the court that such power should be exercised and not in a casual and cavalier manner. (Para - 9)

Father of complainant was killed due to old enmity - Three witnesses corroborated allegations of F.I.R. - application filed by prosecution under Section 319 Cr.P.C. - trial court summoned revisionist to face trial with co-accused - Investigating Officer collected plethora of evidence regarding fact - revisionist was not present at the time of occurrence - co-accused has already been acquitted disbelieving prosecution evidence . (Para - 2,3,11)

HELD:- Impugned order failed to meet the test laid down for exercising powers under Section 319 Cr.P.C. It has been passed in a cavalier manner without taking into account all facts and circumstances of the case, making it unsustainable. (Para -12)

Criminal revision allowed. (E-7)

List of Cases cited:

1. Hardeep Singh Vs St. of Punj. , 2014(3) SCC 92

2. Soma Bhai Vs St. of Guj. , A.I.R. 1925 SC 1453

3. Brijendra Singh & anr. Vs St. of Raj. , (2017) 7 SCC 706

(Delivered by Hon'ble Syed Aftab Husain Rizvi, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the revisionist, learned counsel for opposite party no.2 as well as the learned A.G.A. and perused the material placed on record.

2. The revisionist, by way of filing the present revision, has sought to quash the impugned judgement and order dated 15.05.2019 passed by Additional Session Judge/Special Judge (POCSO Act), Court No.8, Allahabad in Session Trial No.793 of 2015 (State Vs. Lallu Ram and others) arising out of Case Crime No. 273 of 2015 under Section 302 I.P.C., Police Station Handiya, District Prayagraj/Allahabad. By the impugned order, learned trial court, on an application filed by the prosecution under Section 319 Cr.P.C., has summoned the revisionist to face trial with co-accused, Lallu Ram.

3. An F.I.R. was lodged on 22.06.2016 alleging therein that today father of complainant, Jagmal Prasad was returning from Allahabad,on the way, at 5.30 p.m. when on his Vikki motorcycle, he reached near Village Chaknandu Nahar Puliya, Lallu Ram Yadav and Bhola Yadav due to old enmity opened fire on the head of Jagmal Prasad by a country-made pistol. He died on spot. At the same time, Samar Bahadur, brother and Ram Prasad, uncle of the complainant, who were returning home, hearing the sound of fire, reached at the spot, then accused persons, waving the country-made pistols ran away from the spot. After investigation charge-sheet was submitted only against one accused, Lallu Ram Yadav. The other named accused, Bhola Yadav was exonerated. During course of trial three witnesses, Amar Bahadur PW 1, Samar Bahadur PW 2 and Ram Prasad PW 3 were examined. Thereafter, an application under Section 319 Cr.P.C. was filed by the prosecution on the grounds that the complainant in the F.I.R., in his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and in testimony before the court has corroborated the allegations of the F.I.R. that Lallu Ram Yadav on the exhortation of Bola Yadav with intention to kill has opened fire on Jagmal Prasad causing his death. There are other eye-witnesses,Samar Bahadur PW 2 and Ram Prasad PW 3, who also in their statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and before the trial court, have fully corroborated aforesaid statement. The Investigating Officer has submitted charge-sheet only against Lallu Ram while it is clear that Bhola Yadav is also involved in the incident with co-accused Lallu Ram Yadav. Prayer was made to summon the accused, Bhola Yadav. Learned trial court has allowed the application and summoned the revisionist-accused.

4. It is contended by the learned counsel for the revisionist that there is no evidence against the revisionist fulfilling conditions required for summoning under Section 319 Cr.P.C., hence the impugned order is not sustainable in the eye of law. It is further contended that from the statements of Amar Bahadur PW 1, Samar Bahadur PW 2 and Ram Prasad PW 3 who are alleged to be eye-witnesses of the incident, it is clear that they were not present at the time of the incident, but they came later on. It is next contended that Investigating Officer during the course of investigation has collected the evidence of the fact that the revisionist-accused was employed at Mumbai and at the relevant time he was at Mumbai in relation to his employment. The Investigating Officer has collected reliable and cogent evidence in this respect and on these grounds exonerated the revisionist-accused. Learned trial court while passing the impugned order has lost sight of the evidence collected by the Investigating Officer that revisionist-accused was not present in the village at the time of occurrence. Learned counsel has submitted that the Apex Court in Hardeep Singh Versus State of Punjab, 2014(3) SCC 92 has held as follows:

"though only a prima face case is to be established from the evidence led before the court not necessarily tested on the anvil of cross-examination, it requires much stronger evidence than mere probability of his complicity. The test that has to be applied is one which is more than prima facie case as exercised at the time of framing of charge, but short of satisfaction to an extent that the evidence, if goes unrebutted, would lead to conviction. In the absence of such satisfaction, the court should refrain from exercising power under Section 319, Cr.P.C. In Section 319, Cr.P.C.

the purpose of providing if 'it appears from the evidence that any person not being the accused has committed any offence" is clear from the words "for which such person could be tried together with the accused." The words used are not 'for which such person could be convicted'. There is, therefore, no scope for the Court acting under Section 319 Cr.P.C. to form any opinion as to the guilt of the accused."

5. He has further contended that trial of Lallu Ram Yadav was completed which culminated into his acquittal. The eye-witnesses account produced by the prosecution was disbelieved by the trial court, so there is no evidence against the revisionist-accused on which he could be tried. The fate of the trial is well-known and it may be a futile exercise. The impugned order suffers from material illegality and is liable to be set aside.

6. Learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 and learned A.G.A. appearing for State contended that revisionist-accused is named in the F.I.R. with specific allegations of his complicity in the heinous crime of murder in which father of the complainant lost his life. The complainant, Amar Bahadur himself is the eye-witness. There are two other eye-witnesses, Samar Bahadur and Ram Prasad. All of them in their statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. has fully corroborated the allegations of the F.I.R. establishing the complicity of the revisionist-accused in the incident. They have reiterated it before the trial court in their testimony. It is further contended that the plea of alibi is to be proved to the satisfaction of the court. Learned counsel has placed reliance on the case law of Soma Bhai Versus State of Gujrat A.I.R. 1925 SC 1453. Relevant paragraph-17 is quoted below:

"17. It was lastly contended by the learned Counsel for the appellant that as the accused was found at Surat at 9 P.M. when he lodged the report against Ratilal Deva and others regarding the concealment of smuggled silver, hence the accused could not have been present at the time of occurrence. In other words, this was a sort of plea of alibi which was sought to be taken by the appellant. There is, however, no evidence on the record to prove that the accused was seen at Surat by the police officer at 9 P.M. The evidence of Circle Inspector Rijhsinghani clearly shows that he saw the accused at about 10 P.M. The occurrence took place at Dandi a little before 9 P.M. There was ample time for the accused to have gone to Surat by a jeep. It may be mentioned that it is admitted case of the appellant that he went to Surat in a jeep and in fact he explained that he got the injuries on his head because his jeep suddenly came to a stop in view of the crowded streets of Surat and his head dashed against the window-screen of the jeep. It is well settled that a plea of alibi has got to be proved to the satisfaction of the Court."

7. Learned counsels further contended that trial court has analysed all the facts, evidence and material on record and on its basis has recorded the finding that there is sufficient and cogent evidence against the revisionist-accused and has passed summoning order. The impugned summoning order is reasoned one and there is no illegality or irregularity in it.

8. It is not disputed that revisionist-accused was named in the F.I.R., but during investigation the Investigating Officer found that he was not present in the village at the alleged time of the incident. The Investigating Officer has collected evidence in respect of it which is part of the case diary. He has also visited Mumbai and has recorded statement of his employer and collected other documents also. The statement of Samar Bahadur PW 2 and Ram Prasad PW 3 before the court are reiteration of their statement as recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C.

9. The standard of evidence required for exercising powers under Section 319 Cr.P.C. has been prescribed in the case of Hardeep Singh Versus State of Punjab (supra).The relevant paras 98 and 99 are as follows:

"98. Power under Section 319, Cr.P.C. is a discretionary and an extra-ordinary power. It is to be exercised sparingly and only in those cases where the circumstances of the case so warrant. It is not to be exercised because the Magistrate or the Sessions Judge is of the opinion that some other person may also be guilty of committing that offence. Only where strong and cogent evidence occurs against a person from the evidence led before the court that such power should be exercised and not in a casual and cavalier manner.

99. Thus, we hold that though only a prima face case is to be established from the evidence led before the court not necessarily tested on the anvil of cross-examination, it requires much stronger evidence than mere probability of his complicity, The test that has to be applied is one which is more than prima facie case as exercised at the time of framing of charge, but short of satisfaction to an extent that the evidence, if goes unrebutted, would lead to conviction. In the absence of such satisfaction, the court should refrain from exercising power under Section 319, Cr. P.C. In Section 319, Cr.P.C. the purpose of providing if 'it appears from the evidence that any person not being the accused has committed any offence is clear from the words "for which such person could be tried together with the accused." The words used are not 'for which such person could be convicted'. There is, therefore, no scope for the Court acting under Section 319, Cr.P.C, to form any opinion as to the guilt of the accused."

10. In Brijendra Singh and another Versus State of Rajasthan (2017) 7 SCC 706, the Apex Court has made following observations:

"13.In order to answer the question, some of the principles enunciated in Hardeep Singh's case may be recapitulated:Power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. can be exercised by the trial court at any stage during the trial, i.e.,before the conclusion of trial, to summon any person as an accused and face the trial in the ongoing case, once the trial court finds that there is some 'evidence' against such a person on the basis ofwhich evidence it can be gathered that he appears to be guilty of offence. The 'evidence' herein means the material that is brought before the Court during trial. Insofar as the material/evidence collected by the IO at the stage of inquiry is concerned, it can be utilised for corroboration and to support the evidence recorded by the Court to invoke the power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. No doubt,such evidence that has surfaced in examination-in-chief, without cross-examination of witnesses,can also be taken into consideration. However, since it is a discretionary power given to the Court under Section 319 Cr.P.C. and is also an extraordinary one, same has to be exercised sparingly and only in those cases where the circumstances of the case so warrants. The degree of satisfaction is more than the degree which is warranted at the time of framing of the charges against others in respect of whom chargesheet was filed. Only where strong and cogent evidence occurs against a person from the evidence led before the Court that such power should be exercised. It is not to be exercised in a casual or a cavalier manner. The prima facie opinion which is to be formed requires stronger evidence than mere probability of his complicity.

14.When we translate the aforesaid principles with their application to the facts of this case, we gather an impression that the trial court acted in a casual and cavalier manner in passing the summoning order against the appellants. The appellants were named in the FIR. Investigation was carried out by the police. On the basis of material collected during investigation, which has been referred to by us above, the IO found that these appellants were in Jaipur city when the incident took place in Kanaur, at a distance of 175 kms. The complainant and others who supported the version in the FIR regarding alleged presence of the appellants at the place of incident had also made statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. to the same effect. Notwithstanding the same, the police investigation revealed that the statements of these persons regarding the presence of the appellants at the place of occurrence was doubtful and did not inspire confidence, in view of the documentary and other evidence collected during the investigation, which depicted another story and clinchingly showed that appellants plea of alibi was correct.

15.This record was before the trial court. Notwithstanding the same, the trial court went by the deposition of complainant and some other persons in their examination-in-chief, with no other material to support their so- called verbal/ocular version. Thus, the 'evidence' recorded during trial was nothing more than the statements which was already there under Section 161 Cr.P.C. recorded at the time of investigation of the case. No doubt, the trial court would be competent to exercise its power even on the basis of such statements recorded before it in examination-in-chief. However, in a case like the present where plethora of evidence was collected by the IO during investigation which suggested otherwise, the trial court was at least duty bound to look into the same while forming prima facie opinion and to see as to whether 'much stronger evidence than mere possibility of their (i.e. appellants) complicity has come on record. There is no satisfaction of this nature. Even if we presume that the trial court was not apprised of the same at the time when it passed the order (as the appellants were not on the scene at that time), what is more troubling is that even when this material on record was specifically brought to the notice of the High Court in the Revision Petition filed by the appellants, the High Court too blissfully ignored the said material. Except reproducing the discussion contained in the order of the trial court and expressing agreement therewith, nothing more has been done. Such orders cannot stand judicial scrutiny."

11. The facts of present case are almost identical to the facts of Brijendra Singh and another Versus State of Rajasthan (supra). In this case also the Investigating Officer has collected a plethora of evidence regarding the fact that revisionist was not present at the time of occurrence. His presence was at Mumbai which is far away from the place of occurrence. Further in this case one more important factor is that co-accused, Lallu

Ram Yadav has already been acquitted disbelieving the prosecution evidence. The evidence against the revisionist-accused is the same.

12. The impugned order reveals that learned trial court has assessed only the evidence recorded before it. It has not taken into consideration every facts and material available on record. The impugned order has been passed in a cavalier manner without appreciating entire facts and circumstances of the case. It does not satisfy the test laid down for exercising powers under Section 319 Cr.P.C. So, the impugned order is not sustainable in the eye of law.

13. Accordingly, this criminal revision is allowed. The impugned order dated 15.05.2019 passed by Additional Session Judge/Special Judge (POCSO Act), Court No.8, Allahabad in Session Trial No.793 of 2015 (State Vs. Lallu Ram and others) arising out of Case Crime No. 273 of 2015 under Section 302 I.P.C., Police Station Handiya, District Prayagraj/Allahabad is hereby set aside.

Civil Law - Civil Procedure Code - Order – 41 - Rule - 17, 19: - Appeal - challenging the order passed by appellate court - whereby court below dismissed the application proffered under Order 41 Rule 17 of CPC moved by Plaintiff Appellants - Suit for permanent injunction - dismissed by trial court - Civil Appeal - dismissed-in-default - Application for restoration - rejected, by Appellate court, on the ground that several dates were fixed by the court which was in the knowledge of counsel of plaintiffs/appellants as well as plaintiffs/appellants, but they were absent and non-appearance was not bona-fide and genuine - it is settled law that court should have taken the sympathetic and liberal view to do substantial justice while deciding application instead of taking technical view in the matter while disseminating substantial justice - court, on the interpretation of the word "was prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing" - held that, where any party does not approach the court with the clean hand and with true facts and files an application to get the order of dismissal in the default set aside on a ground which was not made out from the record, and the ground has been set up with an intention to befool or defraud the court, the court should not come in aid to such a party to allow him to reap the fruits of false and frivolous explanation to get the order in favour, as done in present case - in such view of the fact, present appeal is dismissed. (Para - 29, 31, 32)

Appeal Dismissed. (E-11)

List of Cases cited:

Atar Singh & ors. Vs Lotan Singh & ors. AIR 1992 All. 59.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saral Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the appellants and learned counsel for the respondents.

2. The appellants have preferred the present appeal challenging the order dated 15.12.2018 passed by the Additional District Judge/F.T.C., Court No.2, Auraiya, whereby he has dismissed the application under Order 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C. of the plaintiffs/appellants

3. The facts, in brief, are that one Ram Swaroop Shukla had instituted an original suit no.17 of 2004 praying for a decree of permanent injunction restraining the defendants/respondents from interfering in the peaceful possession of the plaintiffs/appellants. It appears that during the pendency of the suit, Ram Swaroop Shukla had died and the plaintiffs/appellants have been substituted as his heirs.

4. As per the plaint case, one Ram Swaroop Shukla purchased a plot situated at Mohalla Hariganj, town and area Achhalda, Pargana Vidhuna, District Auraiya which has been described at the foot of the plaint (hereinafter referred to as 'suit property') from one Heera Lal S/o Bhikari Lal on 25.12.1948 for a sale consideration of Rs.300/- and he got possession over the suit property. Thereafter, he applied for the sanction of the map to the Nagar Panchayat Acchalda which was sanctioned by the Nagar Panchayat as per law.

5. Subsequently, the plaintiffs/ appellants constructed a house for his residence and his name was recorded in Nagar Panchayat. The plaintiffs/appellants started depositing house tax and other taxes. Further case of the plaintiffs/ appellants was that the defendant/ respondent no.1 was his brother and required a house in Acchalda for residence. The plaintiffs/appellants permitted the defendant/respondent no.1 to stay in the suit property. It was the further case of the plaintiffs/appellants that the plaintiffs/appellants used to give money to his brother defendant/respondent no.1 to deposit taxes with the Nagar Panchayat, but his brother in collusion with the clerk of Nagar Panchayat got his name recorded in the Nagar Panchayat. When the plaintiffs/appellants came to know about the illegal act of defendant/respondent no.1, he submitted an application in Nagar Panchayat on 22.02.2000 for removal of the name of the defendant/respondent no.1 from the record and restore his name. As per the plaint case, the plaintiffs/appellants are in possession of the suit property and the defendants/respondents based on the forged sale deed were interfering with the peaceful possession of plaintiffs/appellants which gave rise to the cause of action to the plaintiffs/appellants to institute suit.

6. The said suit was contested by the defendants/respondents denying the allegations of the plaint. The said suit of the plaintiffs/appellants was dismissed by the trial court vide judgement and order dated 01.10.2013.

7. Feeling aggrieved by the judgement and order dated 01.10.2013 passed by the trial court, the plaintiffs/appellants preferred Civil Appeal before the District Judge, Auraiya which was registered as Civil Appeal No.19 of 2013.

8. The aforesaid appeal was dismissed in default by the appellate court vide order dated 24.11.2017. The plaintiffs/appellants filed an application on 12.12.2017 under Order 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C. (Santosh Kumar and Others Vs. Jagat Narayan) for setting aside the order dated 24.11.2017 in Civil Appeal No.19 of 2013 and re-admit the appeal and hear the appeal on merit.

9. The plaintiffs/appellants stated in the said application that Santosh Kumar was the Pairokar of the case. He met with an accident in July and suffered grievous injury in the accident due to which he underwent surgery. It was further stated that as his operation was not successful, therefore, he was again operated due to which he was unable to move, and for this reason, he could not attend the case. It was further stated that when he came to the civil court on 08.12.2017, he enquired about the status of the appeal and came to know that the appeal has been dismissed in default on 24.11.2017, and immediately, he filed the present application for restoring the case.

10. The defendant/respondent no.1 filed an objection to the application of plaintiffs/appellants under Order 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C. denying the averments made in the said application. It was further stated that there are six plaintiffs/appellants in the appeal and any of them could attend the case on the date fixed i.e. 24.11.2017. It was further stated that Santosh Kumar was fit and fine on the date fixed. The defendants/respondents further stated that the medical certificate filed by Santosh Kumar was not genuine. The averments made in the application are vague inasmuch as Santosh Kumar has not stated in the application the date on which he had been operated upon second time. Consequently, it was prayed that the application under Order 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C. may be dismissed.

11. The appellate court vide order dated 15.12.2018 rejected the application under Order 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C. on the ground that several dates were fixed in the appeal which was in the knowledge of the counsel of the plaintiffs/appellants as well as plaintiffs/appellants. The appellate court recorded that the counsel of the plaintiffs/ appellants had also knowledge about the date fixed i.e. 24.11.2017 in the appeal, and if for any reason, the plaintiffs/appellants were absent, it was the duty of the counsel to attend the court and argue the appeal. The appellate court recorded that the order sheet reveals that on earlier dates also, neither the plaintiffs/ appellants nor their counsel appeared and the case was adjourned in their absence.

12. The appellate court further found that as per the averments in the application under Order 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C., Santosh Kumar met with an accident in July 2017 whereas the prescriptions relating to treatment filed on record was dated 14.06.2017, and the application of Santosh Kumar was silent as to the date on which he had been operated second time. The appellate court further found that the non-appearance of the appellant was not bone fide and genuine, consequently, it dismissed the application under Order 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C.

13. Challenging the order, learned counsel for the plaintiffs/appellants has contended that the non-appearance of the plaintiffs/appellants on the date fixed in the civil appeal was bona fide and genuine, and the plaintiffs/appellants have demonstrated that they were prevented by sufficient cause from appearing on the date fixed in the appeal, therefore, the appellate court should have allowed the application of plaintiffs/appellants under Order 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C. and restored the appeal.

14. It is submitted that Santosh Kumar, who was doing the parivi in the case met with an accident and was operated upon due to which he was incapable to move, therefore, in such circumstances, it was established that non-appearance of plaintiffs/appellants on the date fixed in the appeal was bona fide, therefore, the appellate court should have taken the sympathetic and liberal view to do substantial justice in deciding the application instead of taking a pedantic and over technical view in the matter. Thus, it is contended that the appellate court has committed manifest illegality in rejecting the application which needs to be corrected by this Court in appeal. In support of the said submission, learned counsel for the plaintiffs/appellants has placed reliance upon the judgement of this Court in the case of Atar Singh and Others Vs. Lotan Singh and Others AIR 1992 All. 59.

15. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondents has contended that there is no quarrel with the legal proposition advanced by the learned counsel for the plaintiffs/appellants that the court in deciding the application under Order 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C. read with Rule 19 of C.P.C. should take a liberal view and technicalities should not come in the way of court to do substantial justice. He submits that in the instant case, the said principle is not attracted inasmuch as it is evident from the record that a false case in the application under Order 41 Rule 17 had been set up by the plaintiffs/appellants to get the order dated 24.11.2017 set aside.

16. He further submits that in filing the application under 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C., the plaintiffs/appellants should come with clean hand and with true facts whereas in the instant case, grounds stated in the application that Santosh Kumar had suffered injuries in an accident in July 2017 and was operated upon, and since his operation was not successful, therefore, he underwent surgery second time is a false story for two reasons; the application is silent as to the date on which Santosh Kumar was operated upon second time; secondly, all the prescriptions about the treatment of Santosh Kumar filed on record were dated 14.06.2017 and no prescription in respect to the treatment of Santosh Kumar of the month of July was filed nor any document was brought on record indicating that Santosh Kumar underwent surgery second time in the month of July.

17. He further submits that in paragraph 7 of the counter affidavit, it has been specifically averred that the story stated in the application under Order 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C. is false inasmuch as Santosh Kumar had filed an affidavit sworn on 27.10.2017 in the original suit no.189 of 2012, and if the averments made in the application of the plaintiffs/appellants was taken to be true, then how he could file an affidavit dated 27.10.2017 in Original Suit No.189 of 2012. He further stated that the copy of the affidavit of Santosh Kumar dated 27.10.2017 in Original Suit No.189 of 2012 is enclosed as annexure 4 to the counter affidavit. Thus, it is submitted that as the appellants had not approached the court with clean hand and the averments made in the application under Order 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C. are false and had been made only to get the order dated 24.11.2017 set aside, the plaintiffs/appellants have failed to demonstrate that the plaintiffs/appellants were prevented by sufficient cause from appearing on the date fixed in the appeal. Thus, the appellate court has rightly dismissed the appeal.

18. I have considered the rival submissions of the parties and perused the record.

19. The facts as emanate from the record reveal that the suit had been instituted by one Ram Swaroop Shukla against defendants/respondents praying for a decree of a permanent injunction. The suit was dismissed on 01.10.2013. During the pendency of the suit, Ram Swaroop Shukla died and plaintiffs/appellants have been substituted as his heirs.

20. The plaintiffs/appellants preferred Civil Appeal No.19 of 2013 against the order dated 01.10.2013 dismissing the suit. The appeal was dismissed in default on 24.11.2017 for want of the appearance of plaintiffs/appellants. The plaintiffs/appellants filed an application under Order 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C. stating therein that Santosh Kumar plaintiff/appellant no.1 was doing the pairvi in the case and he could not appear on the date fixed i.e. 24.11.2017 as he had met with an accident in July 2017, and in the said accident, he suffered grievous injuries and he was operated, but since his operation was not successful, therefore, he was again operated and as he was unable to move, therefore, he could not attend the court on the date fixed which led the court to pass an order to dismiss the appeal in default.

21. The question as to whether the reasons given in the application under Order 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C. of the plaintiffs/appellants for non-appearance can be said to be the sufficient cause that prevented the plaintiffs/appellants from appearing on the date fixed in the appeal invites the attention of this Court in the instant appeal.

22. Prima facie reading of the application depicts a picture that the reasons stated in the application under Order 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C. would fall in the ambit of 'sufficient cause' which prevented plaintiffs/appellants from appearing on the date fixed in the case, but the record speaks otherwise.

23. The plaintiff/appellant no.1 has stated in the application that he had suffered grievous injuries in the accident in the month of July 2017 and he was operated upon, but as his operation was not successful, therefore, he again underwent surgery. There is no averment in the application as to the date on which, he was operated upon second time. Further, the prescriptions filed regarding the treatment of Santosh Kumar were dated 14.06.2017 which were before the month of July 2017, and no prescription of the month of July 2017 was filed on record indicating that he was suffering from injury and was operated upon second time in the month of July.

24. The appellate court while dismissing the application has noted the said fact.

25. In the present appeal, the prescriptions relating to the treatment of Santosh Kumar had been appended from pages 120 to 123 by the plaintiffs/appellants which reveals that all prescriptions are before July 2017.

26. The medical certificate appended on page no.120 to 123 dated 14.06.2017 issued by Dr. D.K. Dubey reveal that Santosh Kumar was advised for three and half months bed rest. The record reveals that the said certificate was not proved. Even otherwise, if the said certificate is taken to be true and correct, Santosh Kumar became fit after three and half months which is the last week of September 2017. It is further pertinent to note that the defendants/respondents had filed an affidavit of Santosh Kumar dated 27.10.2017 in Original Suit No.189 of 2012 which indicates that Santosh Kumar was hale and hearty in October 2017. Thus, the averments made in the application that Santosh Kumar was not fit due to injuries suffered in the accident on the date fixed in the appeal are false and incorrect.

27. Learned counsel for the plaintiffs/appellants has invited the attention of the Court to paragraph 7 of his reply to the counter affidavit of the defendant/respondent nos.2 to 5 wherein it is stated that Santosh Kumar did not appear on the date fixed i.e. 27.10.2017 in the Original Suit No.189 of 2012. He further placed reliance upon paragraph 8 of the affidavit wherein it has been stated that he (Santosh Kumar) was not aware of the affidavit dated 27.10.2017, whereas, on the other hand, he stated that it appears that it was sworn by somewhere else. It is pertinent to note that the plaintiffs/appellants have not denied categorically that the affidavit dated 27.10.2017 was not sworn by Santosh Kumar in their reply. Paragraph 8 of the reply to the affidavit reads as under:-

"8. That the appellant no.1 is not aware about the affidavit dated 27.10.2017 but it appears as sweared somewhere else and the respondents is not giving the correct facts."

28. The defendants/respondents have enclosed the order sheet of Original Suit No.189 of 2012 instituted by plaintiff/appellant no.1 Santosh Kumar, and the orders dated 25.10.2017, 15.11.2017, and 28.11.2017 reveals that Santosh Kumar was present in the court. Thus, it is evident from the record that a false story has been set up by the plaintiffs/appellants in the application under Order 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C. for setting aside the order dated 24.11.2017.

29. This Court is conscious of the fact that it is settled in law that the words "was prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing" in Order 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C. must be liberally construed to enable the court to do complete justice between the parties. This Court is also aware of its prime duty to do substantial justice and the technicalities should not come in the way of the court in disseminating substantial justice. If in a given case, 'sufficient cause' is made out for the non-appearance of plaintiffs/appellants, the court should take a liberal view and recall the order dismissing the appeal in default. In doing so, the courts have wide discretion in determining the 'sufficient cause' keeping in view the peculiar facts and circumstances.

30. It is also the well-established principle of law that in a case where a party approaches the court immediately and within the statutory time specified for filing the application, the discretion is normally exercised in his favour provided the absence was not mala fide or intentional as the absence of a party in case otherwise shall be compensated by heavy cost and a lis be decided on merit.

31. This Court is conscious of the law on the interpretation of the word "was prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing" but it is also settled in law that where a party does not approach the court with the clean hand and with true facts and files an application before the court to get the order of dismissal in the default set aside on a ground which was not made out from the record, and the ground has been set up with an intention to befool or defraud the court to get the order of dismissal of the appeal in the default set aside, the court should not come in aid to such a party to allow him to reap the fruits of false and frivolous explanation to get the order of dismissal of the appeal in default set aside. The present case is one such case since in the said case, the plaintiffs/appellants had approached the court under Order 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C. on the ground which is false on the face of the record.

32. In such view of the fact, this Court does not find any illegality in the order passed by the court below in rejecting the application of the plaintiffs/appellants under Order 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C.

33. So far as the judgement of this Court in Atar Singh (supra) relied upon by the learned counsel for the plaintiffs/appellants is concerned, the said judgement is not applicable in the facts of the present case inasmuch as the plaintiffs/appellants had not approached the court with clean hand in filing the application under Order 41 Rule 17 of C.P.C.

34. For the reasons given above, the appeal lacks merit and is hereby dismissed with no order as to costs.

Counsel for the Respondents:

(A) Civil Law – Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 - Section - 173, - Civil Procedure Code, 1908 - Order 41 Rule 17: - Appeals - challenging the Award - Accident - Corporation assailed the award on ground i.e. contributory negligence - quantum of compensation - appreciation of evidence - deceased died due to sustained injuries in accident - accident caused by the rash and negligent driving of the driver of a bus of UPSRTC when bus hit the scooter of deceased - res ipsa loquitur - court finds that, bus driver was driving bigger vehicle, he should have been more vigilant - scooterist was riding the scooter on its correct side - evidence adduced by the appellant did not show that the driver of bus was driving the vehicle causational - as such finding of tribunal on the issue of contributory negligence are upheld.
(Para - 9, 13)

(B) Civil Law– Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 - Section - 173 - Civil Procedure Code,1908 - Order 41 Rule 17 - Appeals - challenging the Award - Accident - Corporation assailed the award on the ground the parents (legal representative) of the deceased do not come within the definition of family - maintainability of claim petition - since, the claim petition was filed in year 1990 and accident was took placed on 30.10.1989 namely after the new Act, 1989 was came into force - the issue of legal heirs are no longer res intergra in view of decision of Hon'ble Apex court in case of Smt. Manjuri Bera VS Orinetal Insurance Company Ltd. - the plea that, claimants are not entitled for compensation, cannot be accepted as they are legal representatives of the deceased - claim petition maintainable.

challenging the Award - Accident - Corporation assailed the award also on the ground that incorrect multiplier was applied by the learned tribunal - quantum of compensation - appreciation of evidence - age of deceased was 30 and he left behind him his young widow, parents and unmarried sister who were dependent on him - as such in place of 15 multiplier would be 17 - court finds that, the compensation awarded by the tribunal is not sufficient - however, since steps in the appeal were not taken for more than 30 years - therefore, appeal stands dismissed under order 41 Rule 11 of the CPC. (Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. This appeal, at the behest of U.P.S.R.T.C. challenges the judgment and award dated 28.5.1993 passed by IXth Additional District Judge/ Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Kanpur Nagar in Claim Petition No. 55 of 1990 whereby the learned Tribunal has awarded Rs. 1,65,000/- as compensation with interest at the rate of 12% per annum with a direction upon the appellant herein to pay the above.

2. Heard Sri Sunil Kumar, learned counsel for the appellant. For a period of from 1993 till today, steps have not been taken to see that notices be served to the respondents.

3. Be that as it may, as 20 years have elapsed, this Court deems it fit to decide this appeal where the Court had granted stay vide order dated 30.9.1993 which reads as follows :

"Issue notice.

Till further orders, operation of impugned award dated 28.5.1993 passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Kanpur Nagar, will remain stayed, subject to appellants' depositing Rs. 1,65,000/- minus the amount, which has already been deposited by the appellants in this Court.

Half of the amount may be withdrawn by the claimants without furnishing security and the balance may be withdrawn subject to the furnishing adequate security to the satisfaction of the Tribunal."

4. Brief facts as culled out from the record are that deceased-Nitin Kumar who was aged about 30 years and was working as a Clerk in U.P. Bidi Agency, met with an accident on 30.10.1989 at about 10.30 a.m. He was hit by Bus No. U.H.J. 8106 owned by U.P.S.R.T.C. while he was going on his scooter No. UMF-3643. He was with another employee namely Magal Bhai Patel who was pillion rider on the said scooter. The bus was being driven rashly and negligently. The deceased died out of said vehicular accident. The claimants are the legal heirs of the deceased. The claim petition filed by the claimants were contested by the defendant. The U.P.S.R.T.C. had filed its reply contending that its bus was not involved in the accident. The Tribunal had framed five issues and decided the same in favour of the claimants and against the appellant-herein.

5. The grounds urged are that the vehicle owned by U.P.S.R.T.C. was not involved in the accident and in the alternative, even if it was involved, it was the scooterist who was negligent and, therefore, no liability can be fastened on the U.P.S.R.T.C. In the other alternative argument, it is submitted that it is a case of contributory negligence and, therefore, holding that the driver of the bus was negligent is against the record.

6. It is further submitted by learned counsel for the appellant that the parents of the deceased do not come within the definition of family and, therefore, the claim was not maintainable. It is further submitted that the deceased was 30 years of age and was newly married and, therefore, multiplier of 15 have been illegally granted and it should have been 7 or 8. There should have been lump sum deduction to the tune of 1/3rd and not 1/6th, therefore, on that count also the impugned award is bad. The award of non pecuniary damages is also bad.

7. The Apex Court in UPSRTC Vs. Km. Mamta and others, reported in AIR 2016 SC 948, has held that all the issues raised in the memo of appeal required to be addressed and decided by the first appellate court.

8. While dealing with submission on issue of negligence raised by the learned counsel for the appellant, it would be relevant to discuss the principles for deciding contributory negligence and for that the principles for considering negligence will also have to be looked into.

9. The term negligence means failure to exercise care towards others which a reasonable and prudent person would in a circumstance or taking action which such a reasonable person would not. Negligence can be both intentional or accidental though it is normally accidental. More particularly, it connotes reckless driving and the injured must always prove that the either side is negligent. If the injury rather death is caused by something owned or controlled by the negligent party then he is directly liable otherwise the principle of "res ipsa loquitur" meaning thereby "the things speak for itself" would apply.

10. The principle of contributory negligence has been discussed time and again. A person who either contributes or is co author of the accident would be liable for his contribution to the accident having taken place and that amount will be deducted from the compensation payable to him if he is injured and to legal representatives if he dies in the accident.

11. The Division Bench of this Court in First Appeal From Order No. 1818 of 2012 (Bajaj Allianz General Insurance Co.Ltd. Vs. Smt. Renu Singh And Others) decided on 19.7.2016 has held as under :

"16. Negligence means failure to exercise required degree of care and caution expected of a prudent driver. Negligence is the omission to do something which a reasonable man, guided upon the considerations, which ordinarily regulate conduct of human affairs, would do, or doing something which a prudent and reasonable man would not do. Negligence is not always a question of direct evidence. It is an inference to be drawn from proved facts. Negligence is not an absolute term, but is a relative one. It is rather a comparative term. What may be negligence in one case may not be so in another. Where there is no duty to exercise care, negligence in the popular sense has no legal consequence. Where there is a duty to exercise care, reasonable care must be taken to avoid acts or omissions which would be reasonably foreseen likely to caused physical injury to person. The degree of care required, of course, depends upon facts in each case. On these broad principles, the negligence of drivers is required to be assessed.

17. It would be seen that burden of proof for contributory negligence on the part of deceased has to be discharged by the opponents. It is the duty of driver of the offending vehicle to explain the accident. It is well settled law that at intersection where two roads cross each other, it is the duty of a fast moving vehicle to slow down and if driver did not slow down at intersection, but continued to proceed at a high speed without caring to notice that another vehicle was crossing, then the conduct of driver necessarily leads to conclusion that vehicle was being driven by him rashly as well as negligently.

18. 10th Schedule appended to Motor Vehicle Act contain statutory regulations for driving of motor vehicles which also form part of every Driving License. Clause-6 of such Regulation clearly directs that the driver of every motor vehicle to slow down vehicle at every intersection or junction of roads or at a turning of the road. It is also provided that driver of the vehicle should not enter intersection or junction of roads unless he makes sure that he would not thereby endanger any other person. Merely, because driver of the Truck was driving vehicle on the left side of road would not absolve him from his responsibility to slow down vehicle as he approaches intersection of roads, particularly when he could have easily seen, that the car over which deceased was riding, was approaching intersection.

19. In view of the fast and constantly increasing volume of traffic, motor vehicles upon roads may be regarded to some extent as coming within the principle of liability defined in Rylands V/s. Fletcher, (1868) 3 HL (LR) 330. From the point of view of pedestrian, the roads of this country have been rendered by the use of motor vehicles, highly dangerous. 'Hit and run' cases where drivers of motor vehicles who have caused accidents, are unknown. In fact such cases are increasing in number. Where a pedestrian without negligence on his part is injured or killed by a motorist, whether negligently or not, he or his legal representatives, as the case may be, should be entitled to recover damages if

20. These provisions (sec.110A and sec.110B of Motor Act, 1988) are not merely procedural provisions. They substantively affect the rights of the parties. The right of action created by Fatal Accidents Act, 1855 was 'new in its species, new in its quality, new in its principles. In every way it was new. The right given to legal representatives under Act, 1988 to file an application for compensation for death due to a motor vehicle accident is an enlarged one. This right cannot be hedged in by limitations of an action under Fatal Accidents Act, 1855. New situations and new dangers require new strategies and new remedies.

21. In the light of the above discussion, we are of the view that even if courts may not by interpretation displace the principles of law which are considered to be well settled and, therefore, court cannot dispense with proof of negligence altogether in all cases of motor vehicle accidents, it is possible to develop the law further on the following lines; when a motor vehicle is being driven with reasonable care, it would ordinarily not meet with an accident and, therefore, rule of res-ipsa loquitor as a rule of evidence may be invoked in motor accident cases with greater frequency than in ordinary civil suits (per three-Judge Bench in Jacob Mathew V/s. State of Punjab, 2005 0 ACJ(SC) 1840).

22. By the above process, the burden of proof may ordinarily be cast on the defendants in a motor accident claim petition to prove that motor vehicle was being driven with reasonable care or that there is equal negligence on the part the other side."

12. The Tribunal while deciding the issue of negligence has held as under :

"I have also perused the panchayatnama and the map prepared by the I.O. and have gone through the files summoned. It has come in the evidence that although the driver applied breaks but could not succeed in averting the accident because the bus was running at a very fast speed. Since, there was a turn at a place of incident, it was the duty of the driver to take more care and remains slow. As indicated above, there were no horns and thus, considering all the facts and circumstances, I am of the opinion that the petitioners have successfully proved that the accident in question took place because of rash and negligent driving of bus No. UHJ 8106 and the driver (deceased) of Scooter of UMF 3634 was not guilty of any contributory negligence."

13. Looking to the factual averments, the principle for deciding negligence has been properly evaluated. The evidence adduced by the appellant did not show that the driver of the bus was driving the vehicle cautiously. The Tribunal while deciding the issue of negligence has held that as deceased was on his scooter and the bus driver was driving the bigger vehicle, the bus driver should have been more vigilant. The evidence of witnesses have also supported the case of claimants. While going through the judgment impugned, it is clear that the scooterist was riding the scooter on its correct side and the driver of the bus being the driver of bigger vehicle should have taken proper care which he had not done. Hence, the finding of the Tribunal as far as negligence is concerned cannot be interfered with.

14. This takes this Court to the other issues. As far as legal heirs are concerned, this issue is no longer res integra in view of the decision in Smt. Manjuri Bera Vs. Oriental Insurance Company, Limited, AIR 2007 SC 1474. The said decision has been relied upon by this Court in FIRST APPEAL FROM ORDER No. - 199 of 2017, National Insurance Company Limited, Lucknow Vs. Lavkush and another decided on 21.3.2017.

15. The Claim Petition was filed in the year 1990. The accident took place on 30.10.1989 namely after the new Act, of 1989 came into force, hence, the said submission that the claimants are not entitled for compensation, cannot be accepted as they are legal representatives of the deceased.

16. As far as compensation part is concerned, the Tribunal has considered the case of the deceased and has granted compensation of Rs.1,65,000/- with interest at the rate of 12%. The Tribunal while awarding the above compensation has considered the income of the deceased to be Rs. 10,800/- per month, applied multiplier of 15, deduction 1/6th for life uncertainties and granted Rs.30,000/- under non pecuniary heads. The Tribunal accepted that the deceased was 30 years of age and left behind him his young widow, parents and unmarried sister who were dependent on him. In the year of accident i.e. 1989, the multiplier would be 17. Rather the Tribunal has not added any amount towards future loss of income. In all, it can be said that the compensation awarded by the Tribunal is on the lower side. However, grant of 12% interest would be sufficient as it is submitted that only sum of Rs. 1,65,000/- without interest has been deposited. The U.P.S.R.T.C. to deposit the amount within 12 weeks from today. Interim relief stands vacated forthwith.

17. In view of the above, this appeal stands dismissed under Order 41 Rule 11 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 as though notices were ordered, steps were not taken for more than 30 years.

18. This Court is thankful to Sri Sunil Kumar, learned counsel for the appellant for getting this old matter disposed of.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Bindal, C.J.
Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. Challenge in the present writ petition is to the order dated February 23, 2021 (DRC-07) Annexure-2 to the writ petition passed by respondent No.2 under Section 74(9) of the Central Goods and Service Tax Act, 2017 (hereinafter referred to as the "Act").

2. The argument raised by the learned counsel for the petitioner is that in terms of the provisions of Rule 142(1A) of the Central Goods and Service Tax Rules, 2017 (hereinafter referred to as "the Rules) as existing at the time of initiation of the proceedings against the petitioner before it was amended on October 15, 2020, before passing any order under Section 74 of the Act, a show cause notice in Part A of FORM GST DRC-01A is required to be issued. It is only thereafter that the jurisdiction is vested with the Competent Authority to pass order. In the case in hand, notice in Part A of FORM GST DRC-01A having not been issued, any subsequent proceeding will be without jurisdiction as the petitioner did not have fair opportunity to respond.

3. In support of the argument, reliance was placed on a Division Bench judgment of Delhi High Court in Gulati Enterprises v. Central Board of Indirect Taxes and Customs & others, 2022 U.P.T.C. (Vol. 111) - 1271 and order dated January 2, 2023 passed by this Court in Writ Tax No.1512 of 2022, titled as M/s Skyline Automation Industries v. State of U.P. and another.

4. On the other hand, learned counsel for the respondents, while not disputing the fact that notice in Part A of FORM GST DRC-01A was not issued, submitted that subsequent reminders had given fair opportunity of hearing to the petitioner to place his case before the authority concerned, which he failed to avail of. The impugned order now passed is appealable under Section 107 of the Act.

5. After hearing learned counsel for the parties, in our opinion, present writ petition deserves to be allowed, as admittedly for initiation of proceedings against the petitioner a notice as provided for under Rule 142(1A) of the Rules in Part A of FORM GST DRC-01A was not issued, which provided for communication of details of any tax, interest and penalties as ascertained by the officer. Any subsequent reminder will not cure inherent defect in proceedings initiated against the petitioner. Similar view has been expressed by the Delhi High Court in Gulati Enterprises' case (supra) and this Court in M/s Skyline Automation Industries' cases (supra) wherein also in identical facts pertaining to a case prior to the amendment of Rule 142(1A) of the Rules with effect from October 15, 2020, the impugned show cause notice was set aside and the matter was remitted back to authority concerned to initiate fresh proceedings in accordance with law.

6. For the reasons mentioned above, the writ petition is allowed. The impugned order dated November 10, 2022 is quashed. However, with liberty to the respondents to initiate fresh proceedings against the petitioner in accordance with law.

1. Heard Sri Abhinav Mehrotra, Sri Rahul Agarwal, Sri Ashish Bansal, Sri Shubham Agarwal, Sri Ankur Agarwal, Sri Suyash Agarwal, Sri V.K. Sabarwal, Sri R.B. Gupta and Sri Krishna Vyas learned counsels for the petitioners in the bunch cases; Sri Gaurav Mahajan, Sri Krishna Agarwal, Sri Ashish Agarwal, Sri Manu Ghildyal, learned counsels appearing for the respondent-Revenue, Sri Anant Kumar Tiwari, Sri Gopal Verma and Sri N.C. Gupta, learned counsels for the Union of India.

Introduction:-

2. The writ petitions in this bunch are directed against the orders passed by the Assessing Authority under Section 148-A(d) of the Income Tax Act' 1961 (hereinafter referred as Act' 1961) and the consequential notices issued under Section 148 of the Act' 1961. The dispute pertains to the assessment years 2013-14, 2014-15, 2015-16, 2016-17 and 2017-18. The disputed notices having been issued on or after 01.04.2021, the period concerned is between 01.04.2021 to 30.06.2021.

3. At the outset, learned counsels for the parties had agreed to address the Court on two questions framed and discussed jointly, answer to which would decide the fate of the individual notices under challenge, on factual aspects.

4. We have, therefore, not entered into the merits of the individual notices under challenge and heard the learned counsels for the parties on the following two legal issues:-

(i) Whether the reassessment proceedings initiated with the notice under Section 148 (deemed to be notice under Section 148-A), issued between 01.04.2021 and 30.06.2021, can be conducted by giving benefit of relaxation/extension under the Taxation and Other Laws (Relaxation & Amendment of Certain Provisions) Act' (TOLA)' 2020 upto 30.03.2021, and then the time limit prescribed in Section 149 (1)(b) (as substituted w.e.f. 01.04.2021) is to be counted by giving such relaxation, benefit of TOLA from 30.03.2020 onwards to the revenue.

(ii) Whether in respect of the proceedings where the first proviso to Section 149(1)(b) is attracted, benefit of TOLA' 2020 will be available to the revenue, or in other words the relaxation law under TOLA' 2020 would govern the time frame prescribed under the first proviso to Section 149 as inserted by the Finance Act' 2021, in such cases?

5. As noted above, the impugned notices have been issued between 01.04.2021 and 30.06.2021. For the assessment year 2013-14 and 2014-15, it was argued by the learned counsels for the assessees that the assessment for these years cannot be reopened, in as much as, maximum period of six years prescribed in pre-amendment provision of Section 149(1)(b) had expired on 31.03.2021. No notice under Section 148 could be issued in a case for the assessment year 2013-14 and 2014-15 on or after 01.04.2021 being time barred, on account of being beyond the time limit specified under the provisions of Section 149(1)(b) as they stood immediately before the commencement of the Finance Act' 2021. For the assessment year 2015-16, 2016-17, 2017-18, the contention is that the monetary threshold and other requirements of the Income Tax Act in the post-amendment regime, i.e. after the commencement of the Finance Act' 2021 have to be followed. The validity of the jurisdictional notice under Section 148 is, thus, to be tested on the touchstone of compliances or fulfillment of requirements by the revenue as per Section 149(1)(b) and the first proviso to Section 149(1) inserted by the amendment under the Finance Act' 2021, wef 01.04.2021.

6. Before proceeding further, it may be noticed as a clarification at this stage itself, that there is no dispute about the fact that the notices issued under Section 148 after the amendment brought by the Finance Act' 2021 i.e. on or after 01.04.2021 be treated as notices under Section 148-A as per the amended provisions. It has also been agreed by the counsel for the parties that the date of issuance of notice under Section 148 of the Income Tax Act (as per pre-amended provisions) shall be treated as the date of issuance of notice under Section 148-A (post amendment) and all notices issued under Section 148 of the Income Tax Act after 01.04.2021 shall be treated to be the notices under Section 148-A of the Income Tax Act, inserted by the Finance Act 2021, w.e.f. 01.04.2021. The jurisdictional notice under Section 148 after the amendment brought by the Finance Act 2021 will have to be issued after conclusion of the preliminary enquiry required under Section 148-A.

Legislative Scheme:-

7. To deal with the above noted issues, at the outset, we are required to note the legislative scheme of Section 148 of reopening of assessment pre and post amendment by the Finance Act 2021. The relevant provisions of TOLA 2020 are also to be noted herein:-

8. The pre-amendment Section 148 is quoted as under:-

148. Before making the assessment, reassessment or re-computation under section 147, and subject to the provisions of section 148A, the Assessing Officer shall serve on the assessee a notice, along with a copy of the order passed if required, under clause (d) of section 148A, requiring him to furnish within such period, as may be specified in such notice, a return of his income or the income of any other person in respect of which he is assessable under this Act during the previous year corresponding to the relevant assessment year, in the prescribed form and verified in the prescribed manner and setting forth such other be, apply accordingly as if such return were a return required to be furnished under section 139

Provided that no notice under this section shall be issued unless there is information with the Assessing Officer which suggests that the income charge. able to tax has escaped assessment in the case of the assessee for the relevant assessment year and the Assessing Officer has obtained prior approval of the specified authority to issue such notice.

Explanation 1. For the purposes of this section and section 148A, the information with the Assessing Officer which suggests that the income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment means,-

(i) any information flagged in the case of the assessee for the relevant assessment year in accordance with the risk management strategy formulated by the Board from time to time;

(ii) any final objection raised by the Comptroller and Auditor General of India to the effect that the assessment in the case of the assessee for the relevant assessment year has not been made in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

Explanation 2.-For the purposes of this section, where,

(i) a search is initiated under section 132 or books of account, other documents or any assets are requisitioned under section 1324, on or after the 1st day of April, 2021, in the case of the assessee; or

(ii) a survey is conducted under section 133A, other than under sub- section (2A) or sub-section (5) of that section, on or after the 1st day of April, 2021, in the case of the assessee; or

(iii) the Assessing Officer is satisfied, with the prior approval of the Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, that any money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing, seized or requisitioned under section 132 or section 132A in case of any other person on or after the 1st day of April, 2021, belongs to the assessee; or

(iv) the Assessing Officer is satisfied, with the prior approval of Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, that any books of account or documents, seized or requisitioned under section 132 or section 132A in case of any other person on or after the 1st day of April, 2021, pertains or pertain to, or any information contained therein, relate to, the assessee, the Assessing Officer shall be deemed to have information which suggests that the income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment in the case of the assessee for the three assessment years immediately preceding the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which the search is initiated or books of account, other documents or any assets are requisitioned or survey is conducted in the case of the assessee or money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing or books of account or documents are seized or requisitioned in case of any other person.

Explanation 3.-For the purposes of this section, specified authority means the specified authority referred to in Section 151.

9. Post Amendment Section 148 is quoted as under:-

"148. Issue of notice where income has escaped assessment.-- Before making the assessment, reassessment or recomputation under section 147, and subject to the provisions of section *148*A, the Assessing Officer shall serve on the assessee a notice, along with a copy of the order passed, if required, under clause (d) of section *148*A, requiring him to furnish within such period, as may be specified in such notice, a return of his income or the income of any other person in respect of which he is assessable under this Act during the previous year corresponding to the relevant assessment year, in the prescribed form and verified in the prescribed manner and setting forth such other particulars as may be prescribed; and the provisions of this Act shall, so far as may be, apply accordingly as if such return were a return required to be furnished under section 139:

Provided that no notice under this section shall be issued unless there is information with the Assessing Officer which suggests that the income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment in the case of the assessee for the relevant assessment year and the Assessing Officer has obtained prior approval of the specified authority to issue such notice.

Explanation 1.-- For the purposes of this section and section *148*A, the information with the Assessing Officer which suggests that the income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment means,--

(i) any information flagged in the case of the assessee for the relevant assessment year in accordance with the risk management strategy formulated by the Board from time to time;

(ii) any final objection raised by the Comptroller and Auditor General of India to the effect that the assessment in the case of the assessee for the relevant assessment year has not been made in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

Explanation 2.-- For the purposes of this section, where,--

(ii) a survey is conducted under section 133A, other than under sub-section (2A) or sub-section (5) of that section, on or after the 1st day of April, 2021, in the case of the assessee; or

(iii) the Assessing Officer is satisfied, with the prior approval of the Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, that any money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing, seized or requisitioned under section 132 or section 132A in case of any other person on or after the 1st day of April, 2021, belongs to the assessee; or the Assessing Officer shall be deemed to have information which suggests that the income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment in the case of the assessee for the three assessment years immediately preceding the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which the search is initiated or books of account, other documents or any assets are requisitioned or survey is conducted in the case of the assessee or money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing or books of account or documents are seized or requisitioned in case of any other person.

10. Relevant extract of Section 3(1) of TOLA 2020 is to be noted hereunder:-

3. (1) Where, any time limit has been specified in, or prescribed or notified under, the specified Act which falls during the period from the 20th day of March, 2020 to the 31st day of December, 2020, or such other date after the 31st day of December, 2020, as the Central Government may, by notification, specify in this behalf, for the completion or compliance of such action as--

(a) completion of any proceeding or passing of any order or issuance of any notice, intimation, notification, sanction or approval, or such other action, by whatever name called, by any authority, commission or tribunal, by whatever name called, under the provisions of the specified Act; or

(b) filing of any appeal, reply or application or furnishing of any report, document, return or statement or such other record, by whatever name called, under the provisions of the specified Act; or

(c) in case where the specified Act is the Income-tax Act, 1961,--

(i) making of investment, deposit, payment, acquisition, purchase, construction or such other action, by whatever name called, for the purposes of claiming any deduction, exemption or allowance under the provisions contained in--

(I) sections 54 to 54GB, or under any provisions of Chapter VI-A under the heading "B.-Deductions in respect of certain payments" thereof; or

(II) such other provisions of that Act, subject to fulfillment of such conditions, as the Central Government may, by notification, specify; or

(ii) beginning of manufacture or production of articles or things or providing any services referred to in section 10AA of that Act, in a case where the letter of approval, required to be issued in accordance with the provisions of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005, has been issued on or before the 31st day of March, 2020, and where completion or compliance of such action has not been made within such time, then, the time limit for completion or compliance of such action shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the specified Act, stand extended to the 31st day of March, 2021, or such other date after the 31st day of March, 2021, as the Central Government may, by notification, specify in this behalf:

Provided that the Central Government may specify different dates for completion or compliance of different actions:

RAJESH KUMAR BHOOT, Jt. Secy. Tax Policy & Legislation Division

Note: The principal notification was published in the Gazette of India, Extraordinary, Part II, Section 3, Sub-section (ii) vide S.O. No. 4805 dated 31st December, 2020"

12. These petitions are offshoot of the decision of the Coordinate Bench of this High Court in Writ Tax No.524 of 2021 Ashok Kumar Agarwal Vs. Union of India1, affirmed by the Apex Court in the judgement and order dated 04.05.2022 in Civil Appeal No.3005 to 3017, 3019-3020 of 2022 Union of India Vs. Ashish Agarwal2.

13. Before proceeding further, we are, thus, require to note the history of litigation inter-se parties.

History of Litigation:-

(i) Coordinate Bench Decision in Ashish Agarwal (supra)

14. Upon enforcement of the Finance Act' 2021, the pre-existing Sections 147 to 151 had been repealed and replaced by new provisions, bringing changes in the entire statutory scheme of initiating, enquiring, conducting and concluding the reassessment proceedings. The validity of the reassessment proceeding initiated against individual assessees, after 01.04.2021, came up for consideration before this Court in Ashok Kumar Agarwal (Supra). The provisions of the Income Tax Act' 1961, as they existed prior to the amendment by Finance Act' 2021, read with the provisions of TOLA/Relaxation Act No.38 of 2020 were applied in the reassessment proceedings initiated against the assessees while issuing notices under Section 148 of the Income Tax Act on or after 01.04.2021. The challenge to the notices therein was made on the ground that the pre-existing Sections 147 to 151 of the Act' 1961 stood repealed and replaced by the Finance Act 2021 and upon enforcement of the amendment, the entire statutory scheme of conducting reassessment proceedings underwent a sea change. With the substitution of old provisions, pre-existing provisions pertaining to reassessment under the Act could not be applied to conduct the proceedings after enforcement of the Finance Act' 2021.

15. The Relaxation Act/Enabling Act/TOLA, 2020 was enacted in March 2020 on account of unforeseen circumstances faced by the country due to onset of the pandemic Covid 19 which has led to enforcement of intermittent lock downs. Normal functioning of the government and its institutions had been put to halt. Because of the obstructions due to spread of the Pandemic Covid-19, the Enabling Act' 2020 was enacted solely to extend the limitation under the provisions of the IT Act' 1961.

16. It was argued therein that the Finance Act 2021, which is a latter Act does not contain any saving clause as may allow the pre-existing provisions an extended life. After the enforcement of the amendment, the pre-existing provisions, thus, could not be pressed into service by the revenue. The Enabling Act does not and could not save the pre-existing Sections 147, 148 to 151 of the IT Act, pertaining to reassessment nor overriding effect can arise or be given to the pre-existing reassessment legislative regime by the Enabling Act, since on the date of enactment of the Enabling Act, the Finance Act 2021 was not born. In absence of any saving clause in the Finance Act' 2021, there exists no power either under Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act or any other law as may validate the issuance of the impugned notification by the Central Government to apply pre-existing provisions in the reassessment proceeding initiated on or after 01.04.2021. The Enabling Act, therefore, became wholly unenforceable or unacceptable to the proceedings that would arise under the latter Act, i.e. the substituted provisions of Section 147 to 151 of the Income Tax Act' 1961, upon enactment of the Finance Act' 2021 on or after 01.04.2021.

17. The submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the petitioners therein to challenge the validity of the notice under Section 148 of the Act' 1961 after 01.04.2021, have been extracted pointwise in paragraph No.'63' as under:-

"(i) By substituting the provisions of the Act by means of the Finance Act, 2021 with effect from 01.04.2021, the old provisions were omitted from the statute book and replaced by fresh provisions with effect from 01.04.2021. Relying on the principle - substitution omits and thus obliterates the pre-existing provision, it has been further submitted, in absence of any saving clause shown to exist either under the Ordinance or the Enabling Act or the Finance Act 2021, there exists no presumption in favour of the old provision continuing to operate for any purpose, beyond 31.03.2021.

(ii) The Act is a dynamic enactment that sustains through enactment of the Finance Act every year. Therefore, on 1st April every year, it is the Act as amended by the Finance Act, for that year which is applied. In the present case, it is the Act as amended by the Finance Act 2021, that confronted the Enabling Act as was pre-existing. In absence of any legislative intent expressed either under the Finance Act, 2021 or under the Enabling Act, to preserve any part of the pre-existing Act, plainly, reference to provisions of Sections 147 and 148 of the Act and the words 'assessment' and 'reassessment' appearing in the Notifications issued under the Enabling Act may be read to be indicating only at proceedings already commenced prior to 01.04.2021, under the Act (before amendment by the Finance Act, 2021). The delegated action performed under the Enabling Act cannot, itself create an overriding effect in favour of the Enabling Act.

(iii) The Enabling Act read with its Notifications does not validate the initiation of any proceeding that may otherwise be incompetent under the law. That law only affects the time limitation to conduct or conclude any proceeding that may have been or may be validly instituted under the Act, whether prior to or after its amendment by Finance Act, 2021. Insofar as, Section 1(2)(a) unequivocally enforced Sections 2 to 88 of the Finance Act, 2021, w.e.f. 01.04.2021, there can be no dispute if any valid proceeding could be initiated under the pre-existing Section 148 read with Section 147, after 01.04.2021. In support thereof other submission also appear to exist - based upon the enactment of Section 148A (w.e.f. 01.04.2021).

(iv) The delegation made could be exercised within the four corners of the principal legislation and not to overreach it. Insofar as the Enabling Act does not delegate any power to legislate - with respect to enforceability of any provision of the Finance Act, 2021 and those provisions (Sections 2 to 88) had come into force, on their own, on 01.04.2021, any exercise of the delegate under the Enabling Act, to defeat the plain enforcement of that law would be wholly unconstitutional.

(v) It also appears to be the submission of learned counsel for the petitioners that the Parliament being aware of all realities, both as to the fact situation and the laws that were existing, it had consciously enacted the Enabling Act, to extend certain time limitations and to enforce only a partial change to the reassessment procedure, by enacting section 151-A to the Act. It then enacted the Finance Act, 2021 to change the substantive and procedural law governing the reassessment proceedings. That having been done, together with introduction of section 148-A to the Act, legislative field stood occupied, leaving the delegate with no room to manipulate the law except as to the time lines with respect to proceedings that may have been initiated under the Act (both prior to and after enforcement of the Finance Act, 2021). To bolster their submission, learned counsel for the petitioners also rely on the principle - the delegated legislation can never defeat the principal legislation.

(vi) Last, it has also been asserted, the non-obstante clause created under section 3(1) of the Enabling Act must be read in the context and for the purpose or intent for which it is created. It cannot be given a wider meaning or application as may defeat the other laws."

18. On the effect of amendment brought by the Finance Act 2021, it was observed therein that undeniably on 01.04.2021 by virtue of plain/unexcepted effect of Section 1(2)(a) of the Finance Act' 2021, the provisions of Sections 147, 148, 149, 151 (as they existed upto 31.03.2021), stood substituted and a new provision by way of Section 148-A was inserted. In absence of any saving clause, to save the pre-existing (and now substituted) provisions, the revenue authority could only initiate reassessment proceeding on or after 01.04.2021, in accordance with the substituted law and not the pre-existing laws. It was noted that the Enabling provisions, that was pre-existing, is an enactment to extend timelines only. In absence of any express provisions in the latter statute the Finance Act' 2021, to save applicability of the provisions of Section 147 to 151, as they existed upto 31.03.2021, all references to issuance of notice contained in the Enabling Act must be read as reference to the substituted provisions only, from 01.04.2021 onwards. However, there is no difficulty in applying the pre-existing provisions to pending proceeding.

19. The submission of the revenue that the provision of Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act gave overriding effect to that Act and, therefore, saved the provisions as existed under the unamended law has been turned down with the finding that the saving could arise only if jurisdiction had been validly assumed before 01.04.2021. It was observed that reassessment proceeding can be said to be pending before the Assessing Authority only upon jurisdiction being validly assumed by the Assessing Authority. All reassessment notices issued on or after 01.04.2021 cannot be dealt with by applying the pre-existing provisions, as applicable to pending proceedings. No time extension could be given under Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act, read with the Notifications issued thereunder.

20. It was held that the Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act only speaks of saving or protecting certain proceedings from being hit by the rule of limitation. The Enabling Act and the notifications issued thereunder only protected certain proceedings that may have become time barred on 20.03.2020, upto the date 30.06.2021 or till 31.03.2022, in accordance with the Notification No.3814 dated 17.09.2021 issued under Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act. But to allow the Central Government to extend such limitation by virtue of the notifications after 31.03.2021 indefinitely, would be to allow the validity of an enacted law i.e. Finance Act' 2021 to be defeated by a purely colourable exercise of power, by the delegates of the Parliament (Central Government). Hence, no extension could be made under Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act read with the notifications thereunder.

21. It was, thus, concluded in paragraph Nos.72, 73, 75, 76, 79 and 80 by this Court as under:-

72. Reference to reassessment proceedings with respect to pre-existing and now substituted provisions of Sections 147 and 148 of the Act has been introduced only by the later Notifications issued under the Act. Therefore, the validity of those provisions is also required to be examined. We have concluded as above, that the provisions of Sections 147, 148, 148A, 149, 150 and 151 substituted the old/pre-existing provisions of the Act w.e.f. 01.04.2021. We have further concluded, in absence of any proceeding of reassessment having been initiated prior to the date 01.04.2021, it is the amended law alone that would apply. We do not see how the delegate i.e. Central Government or the CBDT could have issued the Notifications, plainly to over reach the principal legislation. Unless harmonized as above, those Notifications would remain invalid.

73. Unless specifically enabled under any law and unless that burden had been discharged by the respondents, we are unable to accept the further submission advanced by the learned Additional Solicitor General of India that practicality dictates that the reassessment proceedings be protected. Practicality, if any, may lead to legislation. Once the matter reaches Court, it is the legislation and its language, and the interpretation offered to that language as may primarily be decisive to govern the outcome of the proceeding. To read practicality into enacted law is dangerous. Also, it would involve legislation by the Court, an idea and exercise we carefully tread away from.

75. As we see there is no conflict in the application and enforcement of the Enabling Act and the Finance Act, 2021. Juxtaposed, if the Finance Act, 2021 had not made the substitution to the reassessment procedure, the revenue authorities would have been within their rights to claim extension of time, under the Enabling Act. However, upon that sweeping amendment made the Parliament, by necessary implication or implied force, it limited the applicability of the Enabling Act and the power to grant time extensions thereunder, to only such reassessment proceedings as had been initiated till 31.03.2021. Consequently, the impugned Notifications have no applicability to the reassessment proceedings initiated from 01.04.2021 onwards.

76. Upon the Finance Act 2021 enforced w.e.f. 1.4.2021 without any saving of the provisions substituted, there is no room to reach a conclusion as to conflict of laws. It was for the assessing authority to act according to the law as existed on and after 1.4.2021. If the rule of limitation permitted, it could initiate, reassessment proceedings in accordance with the new law, after making adequate compliance of the same. That not done, the reassessment proceedings initiated against the petitioners are without jurisdiction.

79. As to the decision of the Chhattisgarh High Court, with all respect, we are unable to persuade ourselves to that view. According to us, it would be incorrect to look at the delegation legislation i.e. Notification dated 31.03.2021 issued under the Enabling Act, to interpret the principal legislation made by Parliament, being the Finance Act, 2021. A delegated legislation can never overreach any Act of the principal legislature. Second, it would be over simplistic to ignore the provisions of, either the Enabling Act or the Finance Act, 2021 and to read and interpret the provisions of Finance Act, 2021 as inoperative in view of the fact circumstances arising from the spread of the pandemic COVID-19. Practicality of life de hors statutory provisions, may never be a good guiding principle to interpret any taxation law. In absence of any specific clause in Finance Act, 2021, either to save the provisions of the Enabling Act or the Notifications issued thereunder, by no interpretative process can those Notifications be given an extended run of life, beyond 31 March 2020. They may also not infuse any life into a provision that stood obliterated from the statute with effect from 31.03.2021. Inasmuch as the Finance Act, 2021 does not enable the Central Government to issue any notification to reactivate the pre-existing law (which that principal legislature had substituted), the exercise made by the delegate/Central Government would be de hors any statutory basis. In absence of any express saving of the pre-existing laws, the presumption drawn in favour of that saving, is plainly impermissible. Also, no presumption exists that by Notification issued under the Enabling Act, the operation of the pre-existing provision of the Act had been extended and thereby provisions of Section 148A of the Act (introduced by Finance Act 2021) and other provisions had been deferred. Such Notifications did not insulate or save, the pre-existing provisions pertaining to reassessment under the Act.

80. In view of the above, all the writ petitions must succeed and are allowed. It is declared that the Ordinance, the Enabling Act and Sections 2 to 88 of the Finance Act 2021, as enforced w.e.f. 01.04.2021, are not conflicted. Insofar as the Explanation appended to Clause A(a), A(b), and the impugned Notifications dated 31.03.2021 and 27.04.2021 (respectively) are concerned, we declare that the said Explanations must be read, as applicable to reassessment proceedings as may have been in existence on 31.03.2021 i.e. before the substitution of Sections 147, 148, 148A, 149, 151 & 151A of the Act. Consequently, the reassessment notices in all the writ petitions are quashed. It is left open to the respective assessing authorities to initiate reassessment proceedings in accordance with the provisions of the Act as amended by Finance Act, 2021, after making all compliances, as required by law.

22. By applying the rule of harmonious construction of Statutes, it was held therein that the Explanation appended to Clauses A(a), A(b) of the impugned notifications dated 31.03.2021 and 27.04.2021; respectively, issued under Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act, must be read as applicable to reassessment proceedings as may have been in existence on 31.03.2021, i.e. before the substitution of Sections 147 to 151A of the I.T. Act' 1961. The reassessment notices issued on or after 01.04.2021 under the pre-existing provisions by applying extension of time with the help of the Enabling Act (TOLA 2020) were quashed leaving it open to the respective Assessing Authorities to initiate assessment proceedings in accordance with the provisions of the Act' 1961 as amended by the Finance Act' 2021 after making all compliances, as required by law.

(ii) The Apex Court decision:-

23. The order passed by this Court in Writ Tax No.524 of 2021 connected with other writ petitions was challenged by the revenue before the Apex Court. The Apex Court had taken note of the fact that similar decisions and orders had been passed by various High Courts quashing the reassessment notices issued by the revenue under Section 148 of the Act' 1961, in view of the amendment by the Finance Act' 2021, and that approximately 90,000/- such reassessment notices were issued by the revenue under Section 148 of the unamended Income Tax Act' 1961 after 01.04.2021. It was held therein that the order passed in the said appeal, arising out of the common judgement and order passed by this High Court shall govern all other judgements and orders passed by various High Court on the similar issue. The revenue need not to file separate individual appeals which may be more than 90,000/- in number.

24. On the merits of the challenge, the Apex Court had taken note of pre and post amendment regime of Sections 147 to 151 of the Income Tax Act and also the Enabling Act/TOLA 2020. It was observed in paragraph Nos. '6, 6.1 to 6.6' of the judgement as under:-

"6. It cannot be disputed that by substitution of sections 147 to 151 of the Income Tax Act (IT Act) by the Finance Act, 2021, radical and reformative changes are made governing the procedure for reassessment proceedings. Amended sections 147 to 149 and section 151 of the IT Act prescribe the procedure governing initiation of reassessment proceedings. However, for several reasons, the same gave rise to numerous litigations and the reopening were challenged inter alia, on the grounds such as (1) no valid "reason to believe" (2) no tangible/reliable material/information in possession of the assessing officer leading to formation of belief that income has escaped assessment, (3) no enquiry being conducted by the assessing officer prior to the issuance of notice; and reopening is based on change of opinion of the assessing officer and (4) lastly the mandatory procedure laid down by this Court in the case of GKN Driveshafts (India) Ltd. Vs. Income Tax Officer and ors; (2003) 1 SCC 72, has not been followed.

6.1 Further pre-Finance Act, 2021, the reopening was permissible for a maximum period up to six years and in some cases beyond even six years leading to uncertainty for a considerable time. Therefore, Parliament thought it fit to amend the Income Tax Act to simplify the tax administration, ease compliances and reduce litigation. Therefore, with a view to achieve the said object, by the Finance Act, 2021, sections 147 to 149 and section 151 have been substituted.

6.2 Under the substituted provisions of the IT Act vide Finance Act, 2021, no notice under section 148 of the IT Act can be issued without following the procedure prescribed under section 148A of the IT Act. Along with the notice under section 148 of the IT Act, the assessing officer (AO) is required to serve the order passed under section 148A of the IT Act. section 148A of the IT Act is a new provision which is in the nature of a condition precedent. Introduction of section 148A of the IT Act can thus be said to be a game changer with an aim to achieve the ultimate object of simplifying the tax administration, ease compliance and reduce litigation.

6.3 But prior to preFinance Act, 2021, while reopening an assessment, the procedure of giving the reasons for reopening and an opportunity to the assessee and the decision of the objectives were required to be followed as per the judgment of this Court in the case of GKN Driveshafts (India) Ltd. (supra).

6.4 However, by way of section 148A, the procedure has now been streamlined and simplified. It provides that before issuing any notice under section 148, the assessing officer shall (i) conduct any enquiry, if required, with the approval of specified authority, with respect to the information which suggests that the income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment; (ii) provide an opportunity of being heard to the assessee, with the prior approval of specified authority; (iii) consider the reply of the assessee furnished, if any, in response to the showcause notice referred to in clause (b); and (iv) decide, on the basis of material available on record including reply of the assessee, as to whether or not it is a fit case to issue a notice under section 148 of the IT Act and (v) the AO is required to pass a specific order within the time stipulated.

6.5 Therefore, all safeguards are provided before notice under section 148 of the IT Act is issued. At every stage, the prior approval of the specified authority is required, even for conducting the enquiry as per section 148A(a). Only in a case where, the assessing officer is of the opinion that before any notice is issued under section 148A(b) and an opportunity is to be given to the assessee, there is a requirement of conducting any enquiry, the assessing officer may do so and conduct any enquiry. Thus if the assessing officer is of the opinion that any enquiry is required, the assessing officer can do so, however, with the prior approval of the specified authority, with respect to the information which suggests that the income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment.

6.6 Substituted section 149 is the provision governing the time limit for issuance of notice under section 148 of the IT Act. The substituted section 149 of the IT Act has reduced the permissible time limit for issuance of such a notice to three years and only in exceptional cases ten years. It also provides further additional safeguards which were absent under the earlier regime pre Finance Act, 2021."

25. It was held that the revenue ought not to have issued notices under Section 148 after the amendment was enforced, w.e.f 01.04.2021 under the unamended Act and the notices ought to have been issued under the substituted proceedings of Section 147 to 151 of the Income Tax Act as per the Finance Act 2021. However, in order to strike a balance, noticing that the judgements of the High Courts would result in no reassessment proceeding at all, even if the same are permissible under the Finance Act' 2021 as per substituted Sections 147 to 151 of the Income Tax Act, it was directed that the notices issued under the unamended act/provisions of the Income Tax Act shall be deemed to have been issued under Section *148*A of the I.T. Act as per the substituted provisions. The act of the revenue in issuing notices under the unamended Section 148 of the Income Tax Act after 01.04.2021 was considered to be a bonafide mistake in view of the subsequent extension of time vide notifications issued by the Central Government. The judgement and order dated 30.09.2021 passed by this Court was, thus, modified and substituted as under:-

26. It was, thus, observed in paragraph '9' and '10' by the Apex Court as under:-

9. There is a broad consensus on the aforesaid aspects amongst the learned ASG appearing on behalf of the Revenue and the learned Senior Advocates/learned counsel appearing on behalf of the respective assessees.

We are also of the opinion that if the aforesaid order is passed, it will strike a balance between the rights of the Revenue as well as the respective assesses as because of a bonafide belief of the officers of the Revenue in issuing approximately 90000 such notices, the Revenue may not suffer as ultimately it is the public exchequer which would suffer.....

10. In view of the above and for the reasons stated above, the present Appeals are ALLOWED IN PART. The impugned common judgments and orders passed by the High Court of Judicature at Allahabad in W.T. No. 524/2021 and other allied tax appeals/petitions, is/are hereby modified and substituted as under:

(i) The impugned section 148 notices issued to the respective assessees which were issued under unamended section 148 of the IT Act, which were the subject matter of writ petitions before the various respective High Courts shall be deemed to have been issued under section 148A of the IT Act as substituted by the Finance Act, 2021 and construed or treated to be showcause notices in terms of section 148A(b). The assessing officer shall, within thirty days from today provide to the respective assessees information and material relied upon by the Revenue, so that the assesees can reply to the show-cause notices within two weeks thereafter;

(ii) The requirement of conducting any enquiry, if required, with the prior approval of specified authority under section 148A(a) is hereby dispensed with as a onetime measure visàvis those notices which have been issued under section 148 of the unamended Act from 01.04.2021 till date, including those which have been quashed by the High Courts. Even otherwise as observed hereinabove holding any enquiry with the prior approval of specified authority is not mandatory but it is for the concerned Assessing Officers to hold any enquiry, if required;

(iii) The assessing officers shall thereafter pass orders in terms of section 148A(d) in respect of each of the concerned assessees; Thereafter after following the procedure as required under section 148A may issue notice under section 148 (as substituted);

(iv) All defences which may be available to the assesses including those available under section 149 of the IT Act and all rights and contentions which may be available to the concerned assessees and Revenue under the Finance Act, 2021 and in law shall continue to be available

27. While exercising the power under Article 142 of the Constitution of India, it was directed by the Apex Court that the above directions shall be applicable PAN INDIA and would govern all such orders passed by different High Courts on the issue where similar notices under Section 148 of the Act issued after 01.04.2021, were quashed. It was observed that the directions issued therein shall govern all the pending matters before various High Courts wherein similar notices were under challenge. It was, thus, concluded in paragraph No.'12' as under:-

"12. The impugned common judgments and orders passed by the High Court of Allahabad and the similar judgments and orders passed by various High Courts, more particularly, the respective judgments and orders passed by the various High Courts particulars of which are mentioned hereinabove, shall stand modified/substituted to the aforesaid extent only."

The CBDT Instructions:-

28. It has been placed before us that Instructions regarding implementation of the judgement of the Apex Court dated 04.05.2022 (Union of India Vs. Ashish Agarwal) (supra), was issued in exercise of the power under Section 119 of the I.T. Act' 1961 by the Central Board of Direct Taxes, namely Instruction No. 1/2022 dated 11.05.2022 issued by the DCIT (OSD), ITJ-1. The Instructions purported to have been issued for implementation of the judgement of the Apex Court provided that the decision of the Apex Court would apply to all such cases where "extended reassessment notices" have been issued, irrespective of the fact whether such notices have been challenged or not.

29. In the opening paragraph of the said Instruction, it is noted that the reassessment notices issued by the Assessing Officers during the period beginning on 01.04.2021 and ending with 30.06.2021, within the time extended by TOLA 2020 and various notification issued thereunder, shall be referred as "extended reassessment notices". It was then directed in paragraph '6' of the Instruction that the operation of the new Section 149 of the Act where fresh notices under Section 148 of the Act can be issued, may be seen as under:-

"6. Operation of the new section 149 of the Act to identify cases where fresh notice under section 148 of the Act can be issued.

6.1 With respect of operation of new section 149 of the Act, the following may be seen:

Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that the new law shall operate and all the defences available to assessees under section 149 of the new law and whatever rights are available to the Assessing Officer under the new law shall continue to be available.

Sub-section (I) of new section 149 of the Act as amended by the Finance Act, 2021 (before its amendment by the Finance Act, 2022) reads as under:-

149. (1) No notice under section 148 shall be issued for the relevant assessment year,--

(a) if three years have elapsed from the end of the relevant assessment year, unless the case falls under clause (b):

(b) if three years, but not more than ten years, have elapsed from the end of the relevant assessment year unless the Assessing 0fficer has in his possession books of account or other documents or evidence which reveal that the income chargeable to tax, represented in the form of asset, which has escaped assessment amounts to or is likely to amount to fifty lakh rupees or more for that year:

Provided that no notice under section 148 shall be issued at any time in a case for the relevant assessment year beginning on or before 1st day of April, 2021, if such notice could not have been issued at that time on account of being beyond the time limit specified under the provisions of clause (12) of sub-section (1) of this section, as they stood immediately before the commencement of the Finance Act, 2021:

Hon'ble Supreme Court has upheld the views of High Courts that the benefit of new law shall be made available even in respect of proceedings relating to past assessment years. Decision of Hon'ble Supreme Court read with the time extension provided by TOLA will allow extended reassessment notices to travel back in time to their original date when such notices were to be issued and then new section 149 of the Act is to be applied at that point.

6.2 Based on above, the extended reassessment notices are to be dealt with as under:

(i) AY 2013-14, AY 2014-15 and AY 2015-16: Fresh notice under section 148 of the Act can be issued in these cases, with the approval of the specified authority, only if the case falls under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 149 as amended by the Finance Act, 2021 and reproduced in paragraph 6.1 above. Specified authority under section 151 of the new law in this case shall be the authority prescribed under clause (ii) of that section.

(ii) AY 16-17, AY 17-18: Fresh notice under section 148 can be issued in these cases, with the approval of the specified authority, under clause (a) of sub-section (1) of new section 149 of the Act, since they are within the period of three years from the end of the relevant assessment year. Specified authority under section 151 of the new law in this case shall be the authority prescribed under clause (i) of that section."

30. In cases where the Assessing Officer is required to provide an information and material relied upon, it was directed in clause 7.1 therein as under:-

"7.1 Hon'ble Supreme Court has directed that information and material is required to be provided in all cases within 30 days. However, it has also been noticed that notices cannot be issued in a case for AY 2013-14, AY 2014-15 and AY 2015-16, if the income escaping assessment, in that case for that year, amounts to or is likely to amount to less than fifty lakh rupees. Hence, in order to reduce the compliance burden of assessees, it is clarified that information and material may not be provided in a case for AY 2013-14, AY 2014-15 and AY 2015-16, if the income escaping assessment, in that case for that year, amounts to or is likely to amount to less than fifty lakh rupees. Separate instruction shall be issued regarding procedure for disposing these cases."

31. The procedure required to be followed by the Assessing Officer in compliance of the order of the Apex Court provided therein as under:-

"The extended reassessment notices are deemed to be show cause notices under clause (b) of 148A of the Act in accordance with the judgment of Flon'ble Supreme Court. Therefore, all requirement of new law prior to that show cause notice shall be deemed to have been complied with.

The Assessing Officer shall exclude cases as per clarification in paragraph 7.1 above. Within 30 days i.e. by 2nd June 2022, the Assessing Officer shall provide to the assessees, in remaining cases, the information and material relied upon for issuance of extended reassessment notices.

The assessee has two weeks to reply as to why a notice under section 148 of the Act should not be issued, on the basis of information which suggests that income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment in his case for the relevant assessment year. The time period of two weeks shall be counted from the date of last communication of information and material by the Assessing Officer to the assessee.

In view of the observation of Hon'ble Supreme Court that all the defences of the new law are available to the assessee, if assessee makes a request by making an application that more time be given to him to file reply to the show cause notice, then such a request shall be considered by the Assessing Officer on merit and time may be extended by the Assessing Officer as provided in clause (b) of new section 148A of the Act.

After receiving the reply, the Assessing Officer shall decide on the basis of material available on record including reply of the assessee, whether or not it is a fit case to issue a notice under section 148 of the Act. The Assessing Officer is required to pass an order under clause (d) of section 148A of the Act to that effect, with the prior approval of the specified authority of the new law. This order is required to be passed within one month from the end of the month in which the reply is received by him from the assessee. In case no such reply is furnished by the assessee, then the order is required to be passed within one month from the end of the month in which time or extended time allowed to furnish a reply expires.

If it is a fit case to issue a notice under section 148 of the Act, the Assessing Officer shall serve on the assessee a notice under section 148 after obtaining the approval of the specified authority under section 151 of the new law. The copy of the order passed under clause (d) of section 148A of the Act shall also be served with the notice u/s 148.

If it is not a fit case to issue a notice under section 148 of the Act, the order passed under clause (d) of section 148A to that effect shall be served on the assessee."

32. Before proceeding further, we may record that in some of the writ petitions, the challenge to the offending clauses of the Instruction dated 11.05.2022 issued by CBDT, in exercise of its power under Section 119 of the Act, has been raised on the ground that the same is in direct conflict/contravention of the observations and directions issued by the Apex Court in the case of Ashish Agarwal (supra).

Arguments of the counsels on behalf of the petitioners:-

33. The arguments of all the learned counsels for the petitioners are being noted, collectively, hereunder:-

(I) After the amendment brought by the Finance Act' 2021, new/amended provisions will apply to reassessment proceedings.

(ii) Enabling Act (TOLA 2020) will not extend the time limit provided for initiation of reassessment proceedings under the unamended Sections 147 to 151 of the I.T. Act from 01.04.2021 onwards.

(iii) The result is that the revenue has to comply with all the requirements of the substituted/amended provisions of Sections 147 to 151A in the reassessment proceedings, initiated on or after 01.04.2021. All compliances under the amended provisions will have to be made by the revenue.

(iv) Simultaneously, all defences under the substituted/amended provisions will be available to the assessee.

(v) About the impact of the Enabling Act (TOLA 2020) on the amendment by the Finance Act' 2021, it was argued that no time extension under Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act (TOLA 2020) can be granted in the time limit provided under the substituted unamended provisions. The contention is that Section 3(1) of TOLA 2020 saved only the reassessment proceeding as they existed under the unamended law.

(vi) The scheme of assessment underwent a substantial change with the enforcement of the Finance Act' 2021. The general provisions of the Enabling Act (TOLA 2020) cannot vary the requirements of the Finance Act' 2021, which is a special provision as the special overrides general.

(vii) It was argued that reassessment notice under Section 148 can be issued only upon the jurisdiction being validly assumed by the assessing authority, for which the compliances of substituted provisions of Sections 149 to 151A have to be made by the revenue.

(viii) New/amended provisions are beneficial in nature for the assessee and provide certain pre-requisite conditions/monitory threshold etc. to be adhered to by the revenue to issue jurisdictional notice under Section 148. The revenue has to meet higher threshold to discharge a positive burden because of the substantive changes made in the new regime.

(ix) The pre-requisite conditions to issue notice under Section 148 in the pre and post amendment regime have been placed before us to demonstrate that for the reassessment notice after elapse of the period of three years but before 10 years from the end of the relevant assessment year, notice under Section 148 cannot be issued unless the Assessing Officer has in his possession books of accounts or other documents or evidence which reveal that the income chargeable to tax, represented in the form of assets, which has escaped assessment, amount to or is likely to amount to Rs.50 lacs rupees or more for that year.

(x) It was submitted that the monetary threshold for opening of assessment after elapse of three years for the period upto ten years has, thus, been put in place.

(xi) Further, first proviso to sub-section (1) of Section 149 has been placed to assert that the cases wherein notices were not issued within the period of six years as per clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 149 under the unamended provision, reassessment notices cannot be issued on or after 01.04.2021 after the commencement of the Finance Act 2021, as such cases have become time barred.

(xii) It was argued that such cases cannot be reopened by giving extension in the time limit by applying the provisions of Enabling Act (TOLA 2020).

(xiii) It was argued that the Finance Act 2021 had limited the applicability of the Enabling Act (TOLA 2020) and after amendment, the compliances/conditions under the amended provisions have to be fulfilled.

34. In the crux, it was argued by the learned counsels for the assessees that the Apex Court in Ashish Agarwal (supra) has categorically provided that all defences which may be available to the assessee including those available under Section 149 of I.T. Act and all rights and contentions which may be available to the concerned assessee and revenue under the Finance Act' 2021 and in law, shall continue to be available. The effect of the said observation is that the revenue though may be able to maintain the notices issued under the unamended Section 148 of the I.T. Act, as preliminary notices under Section 148-A of the I.T. Act as inserted by the Finance Act' 2020, but for issuance of jurisdictional notice under Section 148 of the I.T. Act, the requirements of the amended Section 149 of the I.T. Act under the Finance Act 2021 have to be fulfilled. It was argued that the Enabling Act (TOLA 2020) was enacted by the Parliament to deal with the contingency and the extension of time limit under Section 3(1) of TOLA and was contemplated not to remain in perpetuity, TOLA had only substituted the limitation that was expiring. The extension under TOLA for the assessment year 2015/16, 2016-17, 2017-18 was not permissible as the time limit for reopening of assessment proceedings for the said assessment years even under the unamended Section 149 was not expiring at the time of enforcement of the Enabling Act (TOLA 2020). The findings returned by the Division Bench and the Apex Court as noted above have been reiterated that the relaxation granted by the Apex Court to save Section 148 notices under the unamended Act as Section *148*A preliminary notices inserted under the Finance Act' 2021, was a one time measure treating them as bona fide mistake of the revenue. However, it is evident from the said finding that the provisions of the Finance Act' 2021 have to be given their full effect.

35. It was vehemently urged that in any case, the Enabling Act 2020 cannot infuse life into the pre-existing law to provide extension of time to the revenue in the time limit therein, to reopen cases for the assessment years which have became time barred under the first proviso to Section 149.

36. As regards the Instruction issued under Section 119 of the I.T. Act' 1961, it was argued that the executive instructions cannot limit or extend the scope of the Act or cannot alter the provisions of the Act. The decision of the Apex Court in 1992 (2) SCC 231 has been placed to assert that an Instructions or Circular cannot impose burden on a tax payer higher than what the Act itself as a true interpretation envisages. However, the departmental circular/Instructions beneficial to the assessee and if it tone down the rigors of the law issued in exercise of the statutory powers under Section 119 of the Act or under corresponding provisions of the Act, are binding on the revenue in the administration of the Act.

37. The offending clauses of the Instruction dated 11.05.2022, have been placed before us to assert that the direction issued in (clause 6.1, in third bullet point) that the decision of the Apex Court read with the time extension provided by TOLA, will allow "extended reassessment notices" to travel back in time to their original date when such notices were to be issued and then new Section 149 of the Act is to be applied at that point, is based on the wrong interpretation of the judgement of the Apex Court and the High Court. In clause 6.2 (i) of the Circular, it is provided that reassessment notices for assessment years 2013-14 and 2014-15 can be issued with the approval of the specified authority, if the case falls under clauses (b) of sub section (1) of Section 149 amended by the Finance Act 2021. The submission is that by issuing such instructions contained in clauses 6.1 and 6.2 of the Circular dated 11.05.2022, the CBDT has deviced a novel method to revive the reassessment proceedings which otherwise became time barred under the amended Section 149, specifically for the assessment year 2013-14 and 2014-15 being beyond the time limit specified under the provisions of unamended clause (b) of sub section (1) of Section 149.

38. Reference has been made to the decision of the High Court of Bombay in Tata Communications Transformation Services Limited Vs. Assistant Commissioner of Income Tax3 by the learned counsels for the assessee to assert that Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act does not provide that any notice issued under Section 148 of the Act after 31.03.2021 will relate back to the original date when it ought to have been issued or that the clock is stopped on 31.03.2021 such that the provisions as existing on said date will be applicable to notices issued thereafter, relying on the provisions of the Enabling Act. It was observed therein that the purpose of Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act is not to postpone or extend the applicability of the unamended provisions of the specified Act (I.T. Act). The observations made by the Bombay High Court therein that the Enabling Act is not applicable for assessment year 2015-16 or any subsequent year as the time limit to issue notice under Section 148 of the Income Tax Act for these assessment years was not expiring within the period for which Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act was applicable and hence the Enabling Act could not apply for these assessment years, has been pressed into service. It was, thus, argued that as a consequence, there can be no question of extending the period of limitation for such assessment years, where the revenue could have issued notice of reassessment by complying with the requirements of the unamended provisions. It was urged that in a case where the revenue did not initiate proceedings within the time limit under the unamended Income Tax Act extended by the Enabling Act, further extensions for inaction of the revenue cannot be granted by the notifications issued under the Enabling Act on 31.03.2021 or thereafter, once the amendments have been brought into place on 01.04.2021, to extend the time limit under the unamended provisions.

39. It was vehemently urged that from all angles, the revenue cannot be permitted to argue that after the decision of this Court affirmed by the Apex Court, it can issue notices under the amended section 148 without making compliances of the amended provisions of Section 149 of the I.T. Act. It cannot seek extension of the time limit for taking action under the unamended provision by seeking relaxation under TOLA 2020, in turn, for further extension of the time limit under the amended Section 149 brought by the Finance Act 2021. All notices under Section 148 which were issued on or after 01.04.2021, with respect to the assessment years 2013-14 to 2017-18, therefore, have to comply with the requirements of Section 149 amended by the Finance Act' 2021.

Arguments of the Counsels on behalf of the Revenue:-

40. Sri Gaurav Mahajan learned Advocate for the revenue, in rebuttal, would submit that the Enabling Act 2020 was enacted by the Parliament to grant relaxation in the time limit provided in the 'Specified Act' defined therein, one of which is the Income Tax Act' 1961. Sub-section (1) of Section 3 of the Act provide that the time limit specified or prescribed or notified under the Specified Act shall stand extended/relaxed for completion and compliances of such action, issuance of such notice, which fall during the period prescribed therein. Clause (c) of sub section (1) of Section 3 is specific to the Income Tax Act' 1961. Section 3(1)(c)(ii) contains a 'Non-Obstante' clause and provides that time limit for completion and compliances of such action shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the Specified Act, shall stand extended to 31st March 2021 or such other date after 31.03.2021, as the Central Government may specify, by notification in this behalf. The notifications dated 27.02.2020, 31.12.2020,, 31.03.2021 and 27.04.2021 have been issued in exercise of the power under the said provision by the Central Government. The end date to which the prescribed time limit for completion and compliances of such action as per sub section (1) of Section 3 of the Enabling Act 2020 was extended upto 31.03.2021 under the notification dated 31.12.2020. In partial modification of the notification dated 31.12.2020, the time limit specified in Section 149 for issuance of notice under Section 148 or sanctions under Section 151 of the Act' 1961 has been extended upto 30.04.2021. Further, by the notification dated 27.04.2021 issued in partial modification of the previous notifications dated 31.12.2020, 22.02.2021 and 31.03.2021, the time limit was further extended upto 30.06.2021.

41. The submission, thus, is that issuance of notice under Section 148 as per the prescribed time limit in Section 149 was permissible uptil 30.06.2021. The extension of time granted by the subsequent notifications dated 31.03.2021 and 27.04.2021 would save all notices issued by the revenue on after 01.04.2021, by applying the procedure under the amended provisions. The challenge to the validity of notices issued under Section 148, in the instant case, after rejection of the objections filed by the petitioners under Section 148-A, cannot be sustained.

42. It was argued that the Explanation attached to clause A(a) of the notification dated 31.03.2021 and the explanation clause A (b) of notification dated 27.04.2021 though have been read down by this Court in Ashok Kumar Agarwal (supra) holding that the said explanations must be read as applicable to reassessment proceedings as may have been in existence on 31.03.2021, i.e. before enforcement of Finance Act' 2021, but it was held that the notice to initiate reassessment proceedings after 01.04.2021 can be issued in accordance with the provisions of the I.T. Act as amended by Finance Act' 2021. It was argued that the notices issued on or after 01.04.2021 under Section 148 of the Income Tax Act, for reassessment were issued in accordance with the substituted laws and not as per the pre-existing laws and the Enabling Act (TOLA 2020) was only applied for extension in the timeline. The Enabling Act has overriding effect over the Specified Act namely the Income tax Act and has been enacted in the exigencies due to spread of Covid 19, it will extend the time limit for issuance of notice/action under the I.T. Act. The CBDT Instructions dated 11.05.2022 has only clarified the manner in which the implementation of the judgement of the Apex Court is to be made. The extension of time granted by TOLA 2020 uptil 31.03.2021 and the subsequent notifications issued under sub section (1) of Section 3 of the Enabling Act (TOLA 2020) to further extend the timeline upto 31.06.2021 would save all notices issued on or after 01.04.2021.

43. Sri Krishna Agarwal learned Advocate for the revenue adding to the submissions of Sri Gaurav Mahajan would argue that Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act (TOLA 2020) granted extension of time limit provided for any action/compliances/issuance of notices under the I.T. Act' 1961. TOLA 2020, as it stands today, has not been read down. Substantive provisions of the Enabling Act' 2020 which is a parliamentary legislation enacted specifically to extend the limitation under I.T. Act, would extend the time limit by virute of the Notification No.20 of 2021 dated 31.03.2021 and Notification No.38 dated 27.04.2021 upto 31.06.2021 even after reading down the explanations therein. He would submit that as on 31.03.2021, the Income Tax Act' 1961 was existing on the statute book. A set of procedure of reassessment provided under the Act had been changed with the amendment brought by the Finance Act 2021 wef 01.04.2021. Only the time limit for various action/compliances/issuance of notices has been changed in the Finance Act' 2021. For instance, the timeline for issuance of notice under the pre-existing Section 148 was 4 years and 6 years, which has now been changed to 3 years and 10 years. In any case, timeline remained there under both the enactments, pre and post amendment. The reassessment notices would have been barred by time had there been no extension of the timelimit under the Income Tax Act' 1961 by the Enabling Act (TOLA 2020). The applicability of Explanation to Clause A(a) of the notification dated 31.03.2021 and Explanation to clause A(b) of the notification dated 27.04.2021, may have been restricted to reassessment proceedings as in existence on 31.03.2021 and have been read down as applicable to the pre-existing Section 147 to 151-A of the Act' 1961, but the substantive provisions of extension of time for action/compliances/issuance of notice of the notifications dated 31.03.2021 and 27.04.2021, still survive.

44. The challenge in Ashok Kumar Agarwal (Supra) before the High Court was to the applicability of the pre-amendment provisions to the notices under Section 148 issued after 01.04.2021. The Explanations which provided that for the notices issued after 01.04.2021 the time line under the pre-existing provisions would apply, have been held to be offending provisions, but this Court had left it open to the respective assessing authorities to initiate reassessment proceedings in accordance with the amended provisions by Finance Act 2021. The extension in time uptil 31.06.2021 as granted by the notifications dated 31.03.2021 and 27.04.2021 would, thus, apply to the timeline provided under the amended provisions brought by the Finance Act 2021.

45. It is submitted that when two Parliamentary Acts are on the statute book, one providing substantive provisions and procedure for initiating reassessment proceeding and the other granting extension of time for action/compliances/issuance of notices under the substantive and procedural provisions of the Act' 1961, a harmonious construction of both the provisions has to be made, as has been done by this Court in Ashok Kumar Agarwal (supra). The result would be that whatever time limit is provided under the Principal Act namely the Income Act' 1961 as on 01.04.2021, the same has to be extended uptil 31.06.2021 to enable the revenue to initiate and process the reassessment proceedings under Section 148 of the Act' 1961 amended by the Finance Act' 2021.

46. It was argued that in view of the decision of the Apex Court in saving all notices issued by the revenue PAN INDIA by treating them as notices under Section 148-A of the amended provisions of the Income Tax Act, all actions of the revenue subsequent to the issuance of notices under Section 148-A in compliance of the directions of the Apex Court would have to be saved. The reference to the date of issuance of Section 148 notices, which were quashed by different High Courts, thus, have to be the date of notices under Section 148-A of the amended provisions and extension of time, for compliances prescribed under the amended provisions, has to be granted to the revenue, accordingly. As observed by the Apex Court, when all defences remain available to the assessee, all rights of the revenue will have to be preserved/made available.

47. The observations of the Division Bench in paragraph No.'65' and '66' in Ashok Kumar Agarwal (supra) have been pressed into service to assert that even the Division Bench in Ashok Kumar Agarwal (supra) has recognized that the Enabling Act plainly is an enactment to extend timelines only. Consequently from 01.04.2021 onwards, all references to issuance of notices contained in the Enabling Act must be read as references to the substituted provisions only. This Court has observed that there is no difficulty in applying the pre-existing provisions to pending proceedings and then proceeded to harmonize two laws, i.e. the Enabling Act and the Finance Act 2021.

48. It was, thus, argued that giving this plain and simple meaning to the Enabling Act (TOLA 2020), it has to be seen by the Court that the extensions in time limit which were available to the revenue uptil 31.03.2021 under the Enabling Act, became available to the revenue after 01.04.2021 by the Notification No.20 of 2021 dated 31.03.2021 and the Notification No.38 dated 27.04.2021, which have not been quashed or held invalid by this Court or the Apex Court. The submission, thus, is that extension of three months uptil 30.06.2021 in the time limit provided under the Income Tax Act 1961, whether pre or post amendment, has to be granted. The time limit provided in the amended Section 149 of three years and 10 years has to be extended uptil 31.06.2021, by virtue of the notifications issued by the Central Government in exercise of power under Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act. The CBDT Instruction dated 11.05.2022 under Section 119 of the Income Tax Act 1961 only clarifies the above stated position of two provisions namely the Enabling Act and the Finance Act 2021, wherein it is provided in para 6.1 of the Instructions that the time extension provided by TOLA' 2020 will allow "extended reassessment notices" to travel back in time to their original date when such notices were to be issued and then the new Section 149 of the Act is to be applied at that point of time.

49. It was submitted that based on the said logic, the "extended reassessment notices" for the assessment year 2013-14, AY 2014-15 and AY 2015-16 are to be dealt with by issuance of fresh notice under amended Section 148, with the approval of the specified authority, in the cases which fall under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 149 as amended by the Finance Act' 2021. It is further clarified in the CBDT instruction that the specified authority under Section 151 of the amended provisions shall be the authority prescribed under clause (ii) of that Section. Similarly, for AY 2016-147 and AY 2017-18, fresh notice under Section 148 can be issued with the approval of the specified authority under clause (a) of sub section (1) of amended Section 149 of the Act, as they are within the period of three years from the end of the relevant assessment years because of the extension of time by TOLA' 2020. Specified authority under Section 151 of the amended provisions, in such cases, shall be the authority prescribed under clause (i) of that Section.

50. It is, thus, submitted by the learned Counsels for the revenue that doubts, if any, may arise about the implementation of the judgement of the Apex Court in Ashish Agarwal (supra), have been clarified by the Instruction No.1 of 2022 dated 11.05.2021 issued by the CBDT.

51. In support of their submissions, learned counsels for the revenue have placed the decision of the High Court of Delhi in Touchstone Holdings Pvt. Ltd Vs. Income Tax Officer, Delhi & others4 wherein the earlier decision of the Delhi High Court in Mon Mohan Vs. Assistant Commissioner5 has been relied. It was pointed out that the observation made in Mon Mohan Kohli by the Delhi High Court in paragraph No.'98', have been upheld with the decision of the Apex Court in Ashish Kumar Agarwal (supra), wherein reassessment notices issued on or after 01.04.2021 have been saved by treating them as notices under Section 148-A of the Income Tax Act. The relevant observations of Mon Mohan Kohli (supra) in para '98' as noted in Touchstone Holdings (supra) by the Delhi High Court, relied by the counsel for the revenue, are noted as under:-

"98.It is clarified that the power of reassessment that existed prior to 31st March, 2021 continued to exist till the extended period i.e. till 30th June, 2021, however, the Finance Act, 2021 has merely changed the procedure to be followed prior to issuance of notice with effect from 1st April, 2021"

52. It was, thus, noted in Touchstone (supra) that the Apex Court in Ashish Agarwal (supra) has simply held that Section 148 notice issued between 01.04.2021 to 30.06.2021 will be deemed to have been issued under Section 148-A of the Act and, therefore, Section 148 notice issued on 29.06.2021 therein, stood revived. The result is that the time period for issuance of reassessment notice for Assessment year 2013-14 stood extended until 30.06.2021 and the first proviso of Section 149 brought by the Finance Act' 2021 is not attracted in the facts of that case.

53. It was urged before us that taking note of the first proviso of Section 149 (amended), it was held by the Delhi High Court that the time limit for initiating assessment proceeding for assessment year 2013-14 stood extended till 30.06.2021. Consequently, the reassessment notice dated 29.06.2021 issued therein being well within the extended period of limitation was not time barred. The challenge to paragraph 6.2 (i) of CBDT Instruction No.1/2022 dated 11.05.2022, was turned down therein holding that with the declaration by the Apex Court that the reassessment notice issued on or after 01.04.2021 shall be deemed to be the notice under Section 148-A of the Act, the revenue was permitted to complete the reassessment proceedings in accordance with the amended provisions of Section 149. The contention of the petitioner that the assessment for AY 2013-14 became time barred on 31.03.2020 was accordingly, repelled.

54. Reliance has further been placed on the decisions of the Apex Court in Raymond Woolen Mills Ltd. Vs. Income Tax Officer6, Commissioner in Income Tax & others Vs. Chhabil Das Agarwal7, Coca Cola India Inc. Vs. Additional Commissioner of Income Tax & others8, Gian Casting Private Limited Vs. CBDT9, Anshul Jain Vs. Pr. Commissioner of Income Tax10, the judgement of Delhi High Court in Gulmuhar Silk Pvt. Ltd Vs. Income Tax Officer11, the judgement of Punjab and Haryana High Court in Gian Casting Private Limited Vs. Central Board of Direct Taxes12, in Anshul Jain Vs. Pr. Commissioner of Income Tax13, in Midland Microfin Ltd. Vs. Union of India & others14 and the decision of Mahdya Pradesh High Court in Harinder Singh Bedi Vs. Union of India & others15 to assert that the writ petitions are directed against the order of rejection of objections raised by the assessees under Section 148-A of the Act' 1961 and the consequent notice under Section 148 issued to the assessees. The assessees have right to appeal under Section 246 of the Act' 1961 to challenge the orders/notices on the grounds raised herein even with respect to the jurisdiction of the authorities. The reassessment proceedings have not even been concluded by the statutory authority, the writ Court may not interfere at such a premature stage. The correctness of the orders under Section 148-A (d), being challenged on the factual premise contending that the jurisdiction though vested has wrongly been exercised, cannot be examined at this stage. For rectification of the jurisdictional error and error of law/fact in passing orders by the authority vested with the jurisdiction to pass such orders, statutory remedy has been provided. The writ petitions in this bunch, do not warrant interference by this Court in exercise of the jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India at this intermediary stage and, as such, are liable to be dismissed.

55. At this stage of arguments, a pointed query was made to the learned counsels for the revenue to answer the effect of the first proviso to sub-section (1) of Section 149 of the amended provisions inserted by the Finance Act' 2021 which prohibits issuance of notice under Section 148, in a case where it has become time barred under the unamended (pre-existing) Section 149 clause (b) of sub section (1) of Section 149, (as they stood before the commencement of the Finance Act' 2021). The unamended Section 149(1)(b) provided that no notice under Section 148 shall be issued, if 6 years have been elapsed from the end of the relevant assessment years, which has escaped the assessment amount to one lac rupees or more for that year.

56. The answer of the learned counsels for the revenue was that time limit of 6 years provided in clause (b) of sub section (1) of Section 149 stood extended by virtue of the Enabling Act uptil 31.03.2021, and further extensions in the time limit (of six years) are to be granted under the notifications issued by the Central Government in accordance with Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act uptil 31.06.2021. The result would be that the cases for the Assessment Year 2013-14, AY 2014-15 where the period of six years had expired on 31.03.2020 and 31.03.2021: respectively, would not be hit by the first proviso to sub-section (1) of Section 149 brought by the Finance Act' 2021. The cases for these assessment years have to be evaluated and the reassessment proceedings have to be conducted for them in accordance with clause (b) of sub section (1) of Section 149 as amended by the Finance Act 2021, being beyond the period of three years but within the limitation of ten years. Similarly for the assessment year 2015-16, on the expiry of three years on 31.03.2019, the extension uptil 31.06.2021 is to be granted to bring the reassessment proceedings under amended clause (b) of sub section (1) of Section 149. For the assessment year 2016-17 and 2017-18, where the period of three years had expired on 31.03.2020 and 31.03.2021; respectively, the extension in the time limit of three years is to be granted under the Enabling Act and these cases would fall under the amended clause (a) of sub section (1) of Section 149 being within the prescribed limit of three years uptil 31.06.2021.

Analysis:-

57. Before analyzing the arguments of counsel for the parties in the light of the decisions of the Division Bench of this Court and the Apex Court in the previous rounds of litigation, interse parties, we may note at this juncture, that we find inherent fallacy in the arguments of the learned counsels for the revenue, in so far as the interpretation/implementation of the first proviso to sub-section (1) of Section 149 inserted by the Finance Act' 2021 which prohibits initiation of reassessment proceedings in cases which have became time barred under the unamended clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 149, where six years have elapsed from the end of the relevant assessment year on 01.04.2021.

58. However, to deal with the arguments of the learned counsel for the parties in detail, we deem it fit to make a comparative table of Section 149 pre and post amendment by the Finance Act 2020, to have a glance to the said provisions:-

59. We are further required to go through the Division Bench judgement of this Court in Ashok Kumar Agarwal

(supra) about the effect and applicability of the Enabling Act (TOLA 2020) on the amended provisions of the Income Tax Act' 1961 brought on the statute book by the Finance Act 2021, to understand the legal position with regard to the effect of the Enabling Act' 2020 on the pre and post amended provisions of the Income Tax Act' 1961.

60. Detailed observations of the Division Bench in Ashok Kumar Agarwal (supra) have been noted/extracted in the preceding part of this judgment. It was held, in the crux, as follows:-

(i) By its very nature, once new provision has been put in place of the pre-existing provision, earlier provision cannot survive, except for the things done or already undertaken to be done or things expressly saved to be done.

(ii) In absence of any saving clause to save preexisting provisions, the revenue authorities could only initiate proceeding on or after 01.04.2021, in accordance with the substituted laws and not the pre-existing laws. The Enabling Act, that was pre-existing, confronted the Income Tax Act as amended by the Finance Act, 2021, as it came into existence on 01.04.2021. In both the provisions, i.e the Enabling Act and the Finance Act, 2021, there is absence, both of any express provision in its effort to delegate the function, to save the applicability of provisions of pre-existing Sections 147 to 151, as they existed upto 31.03.2021.

(iii) Plainly, the Enabling Act is an enactment to extend timelines only from 01.04.2021 onwards. Consequently, from 01.04.2021 onwards all references to issuance of notice contained in the Enabling Act must be read as reference to the substituted provisions only.

(iv) There is no difficulty in applying pre-existing provisions to pending proceedings and, this is how, the laws were harmonized.

(v) For all reassessment notices which had been issued after 01.04.2021, after the enforcement of amendment by the Finance Act, 2021, no jurisdiction has been assumed by the assessing authority against the assesses under the unamended law. No time extension could, thus, be made under Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act read with the Notifications issued thereunder.

(vi) Section 3 of the Enabling Act only speaks of saving or protecting certain proceedings from being hit by the rule of limitation. That provision also does not speak of saving any proceeding from any law that may be enacted by the Parliament, in future. The non obstante clause of Section 3(1) of the Enabling Clause Act does not govern the entire scope of the said provision. It is confined to and may be employed only with reference to the second part of Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act, i.e to protect the proceedings already underway. The Act, thus, only protected certain proceedings that may have become time barred on 20.03.2021 upto the date 30.06.2021. Correspondingly, by delegated limitation incorporated by the Central Government (notifications), it may extend that time limit. That timeline alone stood extended upto 30.06.2021.

(vii) Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act does not itself speak of reassessment proceeding or of Section 147 or Section 148 of the Act as it existed prior to 01.04.2021. It only provides a general relaxation of limitation granted on account of general hardship existing upon the spread of pandemic COVID-19. After enforcement of the Finance Act, 2021, it applies to the substituted provisions and not the pre-existing provisions.

The reference to reassessment proceedings with respect to pre-existing and new substituted provisions of Sections 147 and 148 of the Act has been introduced only by the later notifications issued under the Enabling Act. It was concluded that in absence of any proceedings of reassessment having been initiated prior to the date 01.04.2021, it is the amended law alone that would apply. The notifications issued by the Central Government or the CBDT Instructions could not have been issued plainly to overreach the principal legislation. Unless harmonised as such, those notifications would remain invalid.

(viii) On the submission of the revenue that practical difficulties faced by the revenue in initiation of reassessment proceedings due to onset of pandemic COVID-19 dictates that the reassessment proceedings be protected, it was noted that practicality, if any, may lead to legislation. Once the matter reaches the Court, it is the legislation and its language and the interpretation offered to that language as may primarily be decisive to govern the outcome of the proceedings. To read practicality into enacted law is dangerous.

(ix) It would be oversimplistic to ignore the provisions of, either the Enabling Act or the Finance Act 2021 and to read and interpret the provisions of Finance Act 2021 as inoperative in view of the facts and circumstances arising from the spread of the pandemic Covid-19.

(x) In absence of any specific clause in the Finance Act 2021 either to save the provisions of the Enabling Act or the notifications issued thereunder, by no interpretative process can those notifications be given an extended run of life, beyond 31.03.2021.

(xi) The notifications issued under the Enabling Act (TOLA 2020) may also not infuse any life into a provision that stood obliterated from the statute book w.e.f 31.03.2021, in as much as, the Finance Act' 2021 does not enable the Central Government to issue any notification to reactivate the pre-existing law, which has been substituted by the principal legislature. Any such exercise made by the delegate/Central government would be dehors any statutory basis.

(xii) In absence of any express saving of the pre-existing laws, the presumption drawn in favour of that saving, is plainly impermissible.

(xiii) No presumption exists by the notifications issued under the Enabling Act that the operation of the pre-existing provisions of the Act had been extended and thereby provisions of Section *148*A of the I.T. Act (introduced by the Finance Act' 2021) and other provisions had been deferred.

61. It was, thus, declared that the Explanations appended to Clauses A(a), A(b) of the impugned notifications dated 31.03.2021, and 27.4.2021; respectively, must be read applicable to reassessment proceedings as may have been in existence on 31.03.2021 or had been initiated till that date, i.e. before the substitution of Sections 147 to 151A of the Act. The Notifications have no applicability to the reassessment proceedings initiated from 01.04.2021 onwards.

62. With the above observations, all reassessment notices, subject matter of challenge therein were quashed. It was, however, left open to the respective assessing authorities to initiate reassessment proceedings in accordance with the provisions of the Act as amended by the Finance Act, 2021 after making all compliances, as required by law.

63. In the challenge to the aforesaid decision of the Division Bench in Ashok Kumar Agarwal, the Apex Court in Ashish Agarwal (supra) has observed that:-

(I) By substitution of Sections 147 to 151 of the Income Tax by the Finance Act, 2021, radical and reformative changes are made governing the procedure for reassessment proceedings. Under pre-Finance Act, 2021, the reopening was permissible for a maximum period upto 6 years and in some cases beyond even 6 years leading to uncertainty for considerable time. Therefore, Parliament thought it fit to amend the Income Tax Act to simplify the Tax Administration, ease compliances and reduce litigation. With a view to achieve the said object, by the Finance Act, 2021, Sections 147 to 149 and Section 151 have been substituted.

(II) Section 148(A) of the I.T. Act is a new provision, which is in the nature of a condition precedent. Introduction of Section *148*A to the IT Act can, thus, be said to be a game changer with an aim to achieve ultimate object of simplifying the tax administration. By way of Section *148*A, the procedure has now been streamlined and simplified. All safeguards are, thus, provided before issuing notice under Section 148 of the IT Act. At every stage, the prior approval of the specified authority is required, even for conducting the inquiry as per Section 148(A)(a).

(III) Substituted Section 149 is the provision governing the time limit for issuance ofnotice under Section 148 of the I.T. Act. The substituted Section 149 has reduced the permissible time limit for issuance of such a notice to three years and only in exceptional cases in ten years. It also provides further additional safeguards which were absent under the earlier regime pre-Finance Act, 2021.

(IV) The new provisions substituted by the Finance Act, 2021 being remedial and benevolent in nature and substituted with a specific aim and object to protect the rights and interest of the assesses as well as and the same being in public interest, the respective High Courts have rightly held that the benefit of new provisions shall be made applicable even in respect of the proceedings related to past assessment years, provided Section 148 notice has been issued after 01.04.2021.

64. The Apex Court has, thus, expressed complete agreement with the view taken by the various High Courts in holding so.

65. The reasoning given by the Division Bench of this Court in Ashok Agarwal (supra) which was subject matter of challenge therein, thus, has been upheld.

66. However, it was further noticed that :-

I) The judgments of several High Courts would result in no assessment proceedings at all, even if the same are permissible under the Finance Act, 2021 as per substituted Sections 147 to 151 of the Income Tax Act.

To remedy the situation where revenue became remediless, in order to achieve the object and purpose of reassessment proceedings, it was observed that the notices under Section 148 after the amendment was enforced w.e.f 01.04.2021, were issued under the unamended Section 148, due to bonafide mistake in view of the subsequent extension of time by various notifications under the Enabling Act (TOLA 2020).

(II) The notices ought not to have been issued under the unamended Act and ought to have been issued under the substituted provisions of Sections 147 to 151 of the Income Tax Act as per the Finance Act, 2021.

(III) There appears to be a genuine non application of the amendments as the officers of the revenue may have been under a bonafide belief that the amendments may not yet have been enforced.

67. It was, thus, concluded that:-

68. Instead of quashing and setting aside the reassessment notices issued under the unamended provisions of IT Act, the High Courts ought to have passed order construing the notices issued under the unamended Act/unamended provision of the IT Act as those deemed to have been issued under Section 148(A) of the Income Tax Act, as per the new provision of Section 148(A). In that case, the revenue ought to have been permitted to proceed with the reassessment proceedings as per the substituted provisions of Sections 147 to 151 of the Income Tax Act as per the Finance Act, 2021, subject to compliance of all the procedural requirements and the defences which may be available to the assessee under the substituted provisions of Section 147 to 151 of the Income Tax Act, and which may be available under the Finance Act, 2021 and in law.

69. While modifying the judgment and orders passed by the High Courts in view of the observations noted hereinabove, it was noted by the Apex Court that there was a broad consensus on the proposed modification on behalf of the revenue and the counsels appearing on behalf of respective assessees.

70. From a careful reading of the judgment of the Apex Court, there remain no doubt that the view taken by the Division Bench of this Court in Ashok Agarwal on the legal principles and the reasoning for quashing the notices under Section 148 of the unamended IT Act, issued after 01.04.2021 adopted by the Division Bench had been affirmed in toto.

71. The result is that all notices issued under the unamended IT Act were deemed to have been issued under Section *148*A of the IT Act as substituted by the Finance Act, 2021 and construed to be show cause notices in terms of Section 148 A(b) of the Income Tax Act.

The inquiry as required under Section 148(B) was to be completed by the officers and after passing orders in terms of Section *148*A(d) in respect of the assessee, notice under Section 148 could be issued after following the procedure as required under Section *148*A. As one time measure, the requirement of conducting an inquiry with the approval of specified authority at the stage of Section 148 A(a) has been dispensed with.

72. In view of the above discussion, the question raised before us is as to what would be the effect and scope of the Enabling Act (TOLA' 2020) on the notices issued under Section 148 after completion of the inquiry and passing of orders in terms of Section 148 A(d). The question is as to whether the timeline provided in the unamended Section 149 would extend uptil 31.03.2021 under the Enabling Act, 2021, with further extensions by the notifications dated 31.03.2021 and 27.04.2021 issued under TOLA, in the timeline provided under the amended Section 149 of the Finance Act, 2021. The arguments of the learned counsels for the revenue is that the Enabling Act (TOLA' 2020) granted extension in the time limit provided in the pre-existing provisions of the Income Tax Act. The period of four years and six years provided in Clause (a) and (b) of the unamended Section 149 of the IT Act stood extended uptil 31.03.2021 by the extensions granted under TOLA 2020, as the reassessment notices, could have been issued, within the extended period of time uptil 31.03.2021. The amendment by the Finance Act, 2021 though have substituted the substantive and procedural amendment in the Income Tax Act 1961 and old provisions have been recasted and made applicable w.e.f 01.04.2021, but extensions already granted by the Enabling Act in the limitation prescribed under the unamended provisions of the Income Tax Act have not been curtailed. Further extensions in the limitation for issuance of reassessment notices have been made by the notifications dated 31.03.2021 and 27.04.2021 issued by the Central Government, in exercise of power conferred by Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act. The result is that the time limit for initiation of reassessment proceedings by issuance of notice under Section 148 of the Income Tax Act stood extended uptil 31.06.2021. The limitation of three years in clause (a) and (b) of sub Section (1) of Section 149, therefore, has to be extended by the extensions granted by the Enabling Act i.e 30.06.2021.

73. With the support of the observations of the Delhi High Court in para-'98' in Mon Mohan Kohli (supra), it was argued that the power of reassessment that existed prior to 31.03.2021 continued to exist till the end of the extended period, i.e 30.06.2021 and the Finance Act, 2021 has merely changed the procedure to be followed prior to issuance of notice w.e.f 01.04.2021. It was argued that the first proviso to Section 149 (brought by the Finance Act, 2021) will have no application in such a situation.

74. To test this submission of the learned counsels for the revenue, we required to reiterate some of the reasoning of the Division Bench of this Court in Ashok Kumar Agarwal in paras-'75' and '76' (as extracted above), herein. We may reiterate that the Division Bench of this Court while considering the scope of application and enforcement of the Enabling Act and the Finance Act, 2021, juxtaposed, has held that if the Finance Act, 2021 had not made the substitution of the reassessment procedure, revenue authorities would have been within their rights to claim extension of time, under the Enabling Act. The sweeping amendments made by the Parliament by necessary implication or implied force limited applicability of the Enabling Act. The power to grant time extension thereunder was limited to only such reassessment proceedings as had been initiated till 31.03.2021. It was, thus, held that amended notifications have no applicability to the reassessment proceedings initiated from 01.04.2021 without any saving of the provisions substituted, the extensions granted under the Enabling Act (TOLA' 2020). It was incumbent for the assessing officer to act according to law as existed on and after 01.04.2021.

75. It is noted at the cost of repetition that the Division Bench has observed that it would be oversimplistic to ignore the provisions of either the Enabling Act or the Finance Act, 2021 and to read and interpret the provisions of Finance Act, 2021 as inoperative in view of the facts and circumstances arising from the spread of the pandemic COVID-19. Practicality of life dehors statutory provisions, may never be a good guiding principle to interpret any taxation law. It was, thus, held that in absence of any specific clause in the Finance Act, 2021 either to save the provisions of the Enabling Act or the Notifications issued thereunder, by no interpretative process, the notifications can be said to infuse life into a provision that stood obliterated from the Statute book w.e.f 31.03.2021. It was held that the Finance Act, 2021 does not enable the Central Government to issue any notification to reactivate the pre-existing law, the exercises made by the delegate/Central Government would be dehors any statutory basis. It was, thus, categorically held by the Division Bench that the notifications did not insulate or save the pre-existing provisions pertaining to reassessment under the Act or the operation of the pre-existing provisions of the Act cannot be extended.

76. Adopting the above reasoning given by the Coordinate Bench of this Court, which is binding on us, we may further note that the contention of the revenue, if accepted, it will create conflict of laws. The limitation under the pre-existing provisions will have to be kept alive till 30.06.2021 with the aid of the extensions granted by the notifications issued by the Central Government, which have been read down by the Coordinate Bench. The time limit provided in unamended Section 149 of the Income Tax Act, as per the Division Bench judgment, cannot be extended beyond 31.03.2021, so as to render the amended provisions of Section 149 ineffective. The stand of the revenue that the Enabling Act simply extended the period of limitation uptil 31.06.2021, due to the disturbances from the spread of pandemic COVID-19, has been categorically turned down by the Division Bench with the observations noted above.

77. It was held therein that the notifications issued under the Enabling Act 2020 may extend time limit provided in the substituted provisions after enforcement of the Finance Act, 2021 but it will not extend or defer the applicability of the pre-existing provisions in view of general relaxation of limitation granted under Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act, on account of general hardship existing upon the spread of the pandemic COVID-19.

78. As noted above, sweeping amendments have been made in Sections 147 to 151 of the Income Tax Act by the Finance Act, 2021. As held by the Apex Court, the radical and reformative changes governing the procedure for reassessment proceedings in the substituted provisions are remedial and benevolent in nature.

79. To understand the nature of amendments, a comparison of pre and post amendment Section 149 has been noted in the table given above. A perusal thereof indicates that the period of notice for reassessment proceedings in pre-amended Section 149 was four years and six years. Whereas in the post-amendment sub-section (1) of Section 149, the time limit when notice for reassessment under Section 148 can be issued is three years in clause (a) and can be extended upto ten years after elapse of three years as per clause (b), but there is a substantial change in the threshold/requirements which have to be met by the revenue before issuance of reassessment notice after elapse of three years under clause (b) of sub-section (1). Not only monetary threshold has been substituted but the requirement of evidence to arrive at the opinion that the income escaped assessment has also been changed substantially. A heavy burden is cast upon the revenue to meet the requirements of clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 149 for initiation of reassessment proceedings after lapse of three years. Further four provisos have been inserted to sub-section (1) of Section 149.

80. The first proviso to sub-section (1) of Section 149 is relevant for our purposes, which provides that notice under Section 148, in a case for the relevant assessment year beginning on or before 1.4.2021, cannot be issued, if such notice could not have been issued at the relevant point of time, on account of being beyond the time limit specified under the unamended provisions of clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 149, i.e., pre-amended Section 149 prior to the commencement of Finance Act, 2021. The time limit in clause (b) of sub-section (1) of unamended Section 149 of six years, thus, cannot be extended upto ten years under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of amended Section 149, to initiate reassessment proceeding in view of the first proviso to Section (1) of Section 149. In other words, the case for the relevant assessment year where six years period has elapsed as per unamended clause (b) of Section 149 cannot be reopened, after commencement of the Finance Act, 2021 w.e.f. 1.4.2021. The view taken by the Coordinate Bench of this Court in Ashok Kumar Agarwal (supra) that the Finance Act, 2021 had limited the applicability of the Enabling Act and the power to grant extensions thereunder, was applicable to only such reassessment proceedings as had been initiated till 31.3.2021, has been affirmed by the Apex Court in Ashish Agarwal (supra). It was held by the Coordinate Bench that the impugned notifications granting extensions in time limit provided under the unamended provisions of the Income Tax Act have no applicability to the reassessment proceedings initiated from 1.4.2021 onwards. It was held that after 1.4.2021, if the rule of limitation permitted, the revenue could initiate reassessment proceedings in accordance with the new law, after making adequate compliances has also been upheld by the Apex Court.

81. As noted above, there is no specific clause in the Finance Act, 2021 to save the provisions of the Enabling Act granting extensions in the time limit under the unamended Act, or the notifications issued thereunder on or before 31.3.2021. The Enabling Act, 2020 and Finance Act, 2021 are both parliamentary legislations. On the one hand, the Enabling Act, 2020 was enacted to tide over the hardships being faced both by the assessees and the statutory authorities or their functionaries due to spread of pandemic Covid-19 but, on the other, Finance Act, 2021 has been enacted to bring reformative changes to Sections 147 to 151 of the Income Tax Act, 1961 governing reassessment proceedings, with an aim to simplify the tax administration. The amendments brought to Section 149 of the Income Tax Act, by insertion of the first proviso to sub-section (1) of Section 149 and clause (b) of said sub-section are substantive amendments which confer right upon the assessee to seek immunity from reopening of the assessment proceedings after the maximum period prescribed in the unamended Section 149, six years from the end of the relevant assessment year having elapsed on or before 1.4.2021. In a case where three years period have elapsed from the end of the relevant assessment year, as noted above, higher threshold to meet the requirement of reopening assessment proceedings by the revenue has been provided under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 149 (amended by the Finance Act, 2021).

82. In case the arguments of the learned counsels for the revenue are accepted, the benefits provided to the assessee in the substantive provisions of clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 149 and the first proviso to Section 149 have to be ignored or deferred. The defences which may be available to the assessee under Section 149 and/or which may be available under Finance Act, 2021 have to be denied. The crux of the submission of the learned counsels for the revenue is that the applicability of the amended provisions of Finance Act, 2021 will have to be postponed uptill 31.6.2021 because of the extensions granted by the Enabling Act, 2020 upto 31.3.2021 and further extensions in the time limit by the Notifications dated 31.3.2021 and 27.4.2021 thereunder.

83. The submission is that the extensions in the time limit provided under the unamended Section 149(1)(b) upto 31.3.2021, will be applicable even in those cases where reassessment notices were issued under the amended Section 148 on or after 1.4.2021, by extending the time limit provided in the unamended Section 149 by plain and simple application of the Enabling Act (TOLA)' 2020.

84. At the first blush, this argument of the learned counsels for the revenue seemed convincing by simplistic application of the Enabling Act, treating it as a statute for extension in the limitation provided under the Income Tax Act, 1961, but on a deeper scrutiny, in view of the discussion noted above, if the argument of the learned counsels for the revenue is accepted, it would render the first proviso to sub-section (1) of Section 149 ineffective until 31.6.2021. In essence, it would render the first proviso to sub-section (1) of Section 149 otiose. This view, if accepted, it would result in granting extension of time limit under the unamended clause (b) of Section 149, in cases where reassessment proceedings have not been initiated during the lifetime of the unamended provisions, i.e. on or before 31.3.2021. It would infuse life in the obliterated unamended provisions of clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 149, which is dead and removed from the Statute book w.e.f. 1.4.2021, by extending timeline for actions therein.

85. In absence of any express saving clause, in a case where reassessment proceedings had not been initiated prior to the legislative substitution by the Finance Act 2021, the extended time limit of unamended provisions by virtue of Enabling Act cannot apply. In other words, the obligations upon the revenue under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of amended Section 149 cannot be relaxed. The defences available to the assessee in view of the first proviso to sub-section (1) of Section 149 cannot be taken away. The notifications issued by the delegates/Central Government in exercise of powers under sub-section (1) of Section 3 of the Enabling Act cannot infuse life in the unamended provisions of Section 149 by this way.

86. As held by the Apex Court, all defences which may be available to the assessee including those available under Section 149 of the Income Tax Act and all rights and contentions which may be available to the assessee and revenue under Finance Act, 2021 shall continue to be available to reassessment proceedings initiated from 1.4.2021 onwards.

87. The contention of the learned counsels for the revenue that if such interpretation is given to the applicability of the Enabling Act, 2020, which has not been declared invalid by any Court of law, it would be rendered otiose is found misconceived, inasmuch as, the extensions in the time limit under the unamended Sections of the Income Tax Act prior to the amendment by the Finance Act, 2021, would still be applicable to the reassessment proceedings as may have been in existence on 31.3.2021. By harmonious construction of two parliamentary legislation, the Enabling Act, 2020 and Finance Act, 2021, the Coordinate Bench has explained the scope and limit of the Enabling Act, the Finance Act, 2021 and the Notifications issued under the Enabling Act. We are bound by the decision of the Coordinate Bench as affirmed by the Apex Court in Ashish Agarwal (supra).

88. As noted above, the view taken by the Coordinate Bench in Ashok Kumar Agarwal (supra) of this Court has been upheld by the Apex Court with the only modification that the notices issued on or after 1.4.2021 under Section 148 shall be treated as notices under Section 148-A of the Income Tax Act as substituted by the Finance Act, 2021, treating them to be show cause notices in terms of Section 148(A)(b) of the Income Tax Act.

89. At the cost of repetition, it may be noted here that the Apex Court has permitted the revenue to proceed further with the reassessment proceedings under the substituted provisions of Sections 147 to 151 of the Income Tax Act as per the Finance Act, 2021, subject to compliance of all the procedural requirements and the defences, which may be available to the assessee under the substituted provisions of the Income Tax Act and which may be available under the Finance Act, 2021 and in laws.

90. Now coming to the CBDT Instructions dated 11.5.2022 is concerned, we find that the third bullet to clause (6.1) which states that the Apex Court has allowed time extension provided by TOLA and the "extended reassessment notices" will travel back in time to their original date when such notices were to be issued and then Section 149 of the Act is to be applied at that point, is a surreptitious attempt to circumvent the decision of the Apex Court. The observations in paragraph "7' of the judgment in Ashish Agarwal (supra) of the Apex court has been noted in piecemeal in the said bullet point to clause (6.1) of the CBDT instructions dated 11.5.2022 to give it a distorted picture.

91. The directions issued in clause 6.2 to deal with the cases of the assessment years 2013-14 to 2017-18 are based on the misreading of the judgment of the Apex Court in Para 6.1 of the Instructions. Terming reassessment notices issued on or after 1.4.2021 and ending with 30.6.2021 as "extended reassessment notices", within the time extended by the Enabling Act (TOLA 2020) and various notifications issued thereunder, in Para 6.1 is an effort of the revenue to overreach the judgment of this Court in Ashok Kumar Agarwal (supra) as affirmed by the Apex court in Ashish Agarwal (supra).

92. In any case, the CBDT Instruction No. 1/2022 dated 11.5.2022, issued in exercise of its power under Section 119 of the Income Tax Act, as per own stand of the revenue, is only a guiding instruction issued for effective implementation of the judgment of the Apex Court in Ashish Agarwal (supra). The instructions issued in the offending clauses (third bullet to clause 6.1) and clause 6.2 (i) and (ii), being in teeth of the decision of the Apex Court have no binding force.

93. As regards the judgment of the Delhi High Court in Touchstone Holding Pvt. Ltd. (supra) wherein it is held that because of the extension in time granted under the Enabling Act and further extensions by the notifications issued thereunder, the first proviso to Section 149 (as amended by the Finance Act, 2021) is not attracted for the assessment year 2013-14, with all due respect to the Judges holding the Bench, suffice it to say that the said view is in direct conflict with the view taken by this Court in Ashok Kumar Agarwal (supra) affirmed by the Apex Court in Ashish Agarwal (supra). In fact, the observation in Mon Mohan Kohli (supra) by the Delhi High Court in paragraph "98' that the power of reassessment that existed prior to 31.3.2021 continue to exist till the extended period, i.e. till 30.6.2021, and the Finance Act, 2021 has merely changed the procedure to be followed prior to issuance of notice w.e.f. 1.4.2021, has been misread and misapplied in Touchstone (supra) by the Division Bench of the Delhi High Court.

94. Relevant is to note that even in Mon Mohan Kohli (supra), the Delhi High Court had quashed the reassessment notices issued on or after 1.4.2021 on the ground that the Relaxation Act (Enabling Act) does not give power to the Central Government to extend the erstwhile Sections 147 to 151 beyond 31.3.2021 and/or differ the operation of substituted provisions enacted by the Finance Act, 2021. The Delhi High Court therein concurring with the view of this Court in Ashok Kumar Agarwal (supra) has held the Explanation A(a) and A(b) to the notifications dated 31.3.2021 and 27.4.2021 as ultra vires the Enabling Act, 2020 and declared them as bad in law and null and void. The observations in paragraph '99' in Mon Mohan Kohli (supra) are relevant to be extracted hereinunder:-

"99. This Court is of the opinion that Section 3(1) of Relaxation Act empowers the Government/Executive to extend only the time limits and it does not delegate the power to legislate on provisions to be followed for initiation of reassessment proceedings. In fact, the Relaxation Act does not give power to Government to extend the erstwhile Sections 147 to 151 beyond 31st March, 2021 and/or defer the operation of substituted provisions enacted by the Finance Act, 2021. Consequently, the impugned Explanations in the Notifications dated 31st March, 2021 and 27th April, 2021 are not conditional legislation and are beyond the power delegated to the Government as well as ultra vires the parent statute i.e. the Relaxation Act. Accordingly, this Court is respectfully not in agreement with the view of the Chhattisgarh High Court in Palak Khatuja (supra), but with the views of the Allahabad High Court and Rajasthan High Court in Ashok Kumar Agarwal (supra) and Bpip Infra Private Limited (supra) respectively."

95. Learned counsels for the revenue further submitted that the Apex Court has invoked its power under Article 142 of the Constitution of India to save all reassessment notices issued on or after 1.4.2021 PAN INDIA, noticing that the revenue cannot be rendered remediless and cannot be put in a situation where it is prohibited from initiating reassessment proceedings, even if the same are permissible under Finance Act, 2021 as per the substituted Sections 147 to 151 of the Income Tax Act and the object and purpose of reassessment proceedings cannot be frustrated. The direction was, thus, issued to treat all reassessment notices under Section 148 of the amended provision as deemed notices under Section *148*A of Income Tax Act (new provision brought by amendment) as a one time measure. The result is that all assessment notices issued on or after 1.4.2021 till the decision of the Apex Court dated 4.5.2022 [in Ashish Agarwal (supra)] will have to be saved.

96. To strike a balance, the Apex Court kept all the defences available to the assessee under the amended provision open, while rights available to the assessing officer/revenue under the Finance Act, 2021 have been kept alive. The defect in the reassessment notices issued on or after 1.4.2021 had, thus, been removed. The directions issued by the Apex Court under Article 142 of the Constitution of India having a binding force PAN INDIA, will be violated if the extension in time for issuance of reassessment notices under Section 149 of the pre and post amended Income Tax Act, is not granted with the aid of the Enabling Act (TOLA 2020).

97. To deal with the said submission, we may note the decision of the Apex Court in Assistant Commissioner (CT) LTU, Kakinada & others vs. Glaxo Smith Kline Consumer Health Care Limited16, wherein the Apex Court was confronted with the exercise of writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India in a case where the statutory remedy of appeal stood foreclosed by the law of limitation. While making comparison of the powers of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution and that of the Apex Court under Article 142, it was observed that though the powers of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution are wide, but certainly not wider than the plenary powers bestowed on the Apex Court under Article 142 of the Constitution of India which is a conglomeration and repository of the entire judicial powers under the Constitution, to do complete justice to the parties. But even while exercising that power, the Apex Court is required to bear in mind the legislative intent and not to render the statutory provision otiose. The decision of the Constitution Bench in Union Carbide Corporation and others vs. Union of India and others17 was relied to note therein that in exercising powers under Article 142 and in assessing the needs of 'complete justice' of a cause or matter, the Apex Court will take note of the express prohibitions in any substantive statutory provisions based on some fundamental principles of public policy and regulate the exercise of its power and discretion, accordingly.

98. Moreover, in Ashish Agarwal (supra), the Apex Court has invoked the power under Article 142 of the Constitution of India to the limited extent to direct that the order passed in Ashish Agarwal (supra) shall govern and be made applicable to similar judgments and orders passed by the various High Courts across the country, as in the impugned judgments and orders passed by the High Court of Judicature at Allahabad. The order passed by the Apex Court in Ashish Agarwal (supra) has been applied to all similar matters in exercise of powers under Article 142 of the Constitution of India. The reassessment notices issued under the unamended Section 148 on or after 1.4.2021, were treated to be show cause notices in terms of Section 148-A(b) and the revenue was required to conduct enquiry in accordance with the amended provisions under the Finance Act, 2021, enforced w.e.f. 1.4.2021. The assessing officers are required to pass orders in accordance with the amended provisions after following the procedure as required under Section *148*A to issue notice under Section 148 (as amended). All defences available to the assessee including those available under Section 149 of the Income Tax Act and all rights and contentions available to the assessee have been made available. The right and contentions to the revenue under the Finance Act, 2021 and in law are also continued to be available.

99. The said observations of the Apex Court cannot be read to me that extensions in time under the unamended Section 149 has been granted by the Apex court by applying TOLA, 2020 to the reassessment notices in respect of the proceedings relating to the past assessment years, where such notices were not issued uptill 31.3.2021 and they can be treated as "extended reassessment notices" and allowed to travel back in time to their original date when such notices were to be issued and then to apply amended Section 149 as interpreted by the revenue in Para 6.1 of the CBDT Instructions dated 11.5.2022.

100. In case, this argument of the learned counsels for the revenue is accepted it will result in permitting the revenue to initiate reassessment proceedings in a manner which cannot otherwise be done under the Statute.

101. The last submission of the learned counsels for the revenue is based on the observations of the Division Bench in Ashok Kumar Agarwal (supra) in paragraph "71' as under:-

"71. Here, it may also be clarified, Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act does not itself speak of reassessment proceeding or of Section 147 or Section 148 of the Act as it existed prior to 01.04.2021. It only provides a general relaxation of limitation granted on account of general hardship existing upon the spread of pandemic COVID -19. After enforcement of the Finance Act, 2021, it applies to the substituted provisions and not the pre-existing provisions."

102. Placing the said observation, it was argued that even the Division Bench therein has held that after enforcement of the Finance Act, 2021, the general relaxation of limitation granted on account of general hardship existing upon the spread of pandemic Covid-19 applies to the substituted provisions. The extension of time, thus, can be granted even after amendment by the Finance Act, 2021 under Section 3(1) of the Enabling Act (TOLA 2020).

103. To deal with this submission, suffice it to say that extension in time uptill 30.6.2021 can be granted to the time limit provided in the amended Section 149 of the Income Tax Act brought by the Finance Act, 2021 by plain provisions of clause (A)(a) of the Notification No. 20 of 2021 dated 31.3.2021 ignoring Explanation to the same (quashed by this Court). Similarly extension in time as per the plain provision of clause (A)(a)(b) of the Notification No. 38 dated 27.4.2021 ignoring Explanation to it, may be granted as and when the said extensions are applicable for issuance of notice under Section 148 as per the time limit specified in Section 149 or sanctions under Section 151 of the Income Tax Act as amended by the Finance Act, 2021, after making all compliances, as required under the Income Tax Act, 1961 (amended provisions).

104. It may profitably be noted, at this stage, that it is settled law that a taxing statute must be interpreted in the light of what is clearly expressed. It is not permissible to import provisions in a taxing statute so as to supply any assumed deficiency. In interpreting a taxing statute, equitable considerations are out of place. Nor can taxing statutes be interpreted on any presumptions or assumptions. The court must look squarely at the words of the statute and interpret them; Interpreting taxing statute in the light of what is clearly expressed: it cannot imply anything which is not expressed. Before taxing any person it must be shown that he falls within the ambit of the charging section by clear words used in the section, and if the words are ambiguous and open to two interpretations, the benefit of interpretation is given to the subject. There is nothing unjust in the taxpayer escaping if the letter of the law fails to catch him on account of the legislature's failure to express itself clearly. Conclusions:-

105. Our answer to the two questions posed to us are, thus, as under:-

(i) The reassessment proceedings initiated with the notice under Section 148 (deemed to be notice under Section 148-A), issued between 01.04.2021 and 30.06.2021, cannot be conducted by giving benefit of relaxation/extension under the Taxation and Other Laws (Relaxation And Amendment of Certain Provisions) Act' (TOLA) 2020 upto 30.03.2021, and the time limit prescribed in Section 149 (1)(b) (as substituted w.e.f. 01.04.2021) cannot be counted by giving such relaxation from 30.03.2020 onwards to the revenue.

(ii) In respect of the proceedings where the first proviso to Section 149(1)(b) is attracted, benefit of TOLA' 2020 will not be available to the revenue, or in other words, the relaxation law under TOLA' 2020 would not govern the time frame prescribed under the first proviso to Section 149 as inserted by the Finance Act' 2021, in such cases.

(iii) The reassessment notices issued to the petitioners in this bunch of writ petitions, on or after 1.4.2021 for different assessment years (A.Y. 2013-14 to 2017-18), are to be dealt with, accordingly, by the revenue.

106. As noted above, we have decided the issue only on the legal principles and the factual aspects of the matter are to be agitated, accordingly, by the petitioners before the appropriate Courts/Forum, based upon the above observations.

107. All the writ petitions in this bunch are, accordingly, disposed of.

108. No order as to costs.

A. Service Law – Probation – Termination - Uttar Pradesh Government Department Driver's Service Rules, 1993 - Rule 17(1) - U.P. St. Universities Act, 1973: Section 35(2), 35(3); U.P. Higher Education Services Commission Act, 1980: Section 12, 13, 14, 30 - A teacher as defined by S. 2(19) of the 1973 Act includes a Principal of an affiliated or associated College. The first proviso deals with three separate situations as specified in clauses (a), (b) and (c). Clause (a) deals with the case of a teacher of the University; Clause (b) deals with the case of a Principal of an affiliated or associated College of the University; and Clause (c) deals with the case of any other teacher of an affiliated or associated College of the University. The requirement of placing Principal in Clause (b) and any other teacher in Clause (c) is apparent from the fact that in so far as a teacher is concerned before his termination there can be consideration of the report of the Principal and in case the teacher is not the senior most teacher of the subject, also of the senior most teacher of the subject. Such consideration cannot be there in the case of a Principal because in the hierarchy of teachers, the Principal is the highest. Therefore, by placing Principal in clause (b) and teacher in clause (c) of the first proviso, the use of the word 'teacher' in the second and third provisos does not express a legislative intent to deprive the Principal of the protection of the aforesaid two provisos. As per the provisions of section 2(19) of the 1973 Act, 'teacher' includes a Principal. (Para 27)

B. The phrase 'or otherwise' is used in sub-section (3) of section 35, cannot be read ejusdem generis to the word punishment - The legislative intent for inserting second and third proviso to sub-section (2) of Section 31 of the 1973 Act was clear to accord protection to teachers against arbitrary termination of their services during or on the expiry of the period of probation. Bearing that in mind by using the phrase "by way of punishment or otherwise" the legislative intent is further strengthened as to indicate that sub-section (3) of Section 35 of the 1973 Act would apply to termination whether it is punitive or simpliciter. In such circumstances the word "otherwise" would have to be given its ordinary meaning which is, in other manner; in other circumstances or in a different manner; in another way; differently in other respects. (Para 37)

Assigning ordinary meaning to the words "or otherwise", makes the position clear that, by virtue of sub section (3) to section 35, the provisions of sub-section (2) of Section 35 of 1973 Act shall apply to any decision to terminate the service of a teacher whether by way of punishment or by way of termination simpliciter. (Para 38)

C. Words and Phrases – (i)'Teacher' - Section 2 (19) of the 1973 Act defines 'teacher' as: 'teacher' in relation to the provisions of this Act except Chapter XI-A, means a person employed in a University or in an institute or in a constituent or affiliated or associated college of a University for imparting instructions or guiding or conducting research in any subject or course approved by that University and includes a Principal or Director.

From a plain reading of the definition of teacher in the 1973 Act it is clear that unless the context otherwise requires, wherever the word 'teacher" is used in relation to the provisions of the 1973 Act, it shall, inter-alia, include a Principal of a constituent or affiliated or associated College of a University. (Para 20, 21)

(ii) 'ejusdem generis' - The latin expression ejusdem generis is a principle of construction whereby when general words in a statutory context are flanked by restricted words, the meaning of the general words are taken to be restricted by implication with the meaning of the restricted words. This ejusdem generis principle is a facet of the principle of Noscitur a sociis. The Latin word `sociis' means `society'. Therefore, when general words are juxtaposed with specific words, general words cannot be read in isolation. Their colour and their contents are to be derived from their context. (Para 32)

The ejusdem generis rule strives to reconcile the incompatibility between specific and general words. This doctrine applies when (i) the statute contains an enumeration of specific words; (ii) the subjects, of the enumeration constitute-a class or category; (iii) that class or category is not exhausted by the enumeration; (iv) the general term follows the enumeration and (v) there is no indication of a different legislative intent.

The ejusdem generis rule is not a rule of law but is merely a rule of construction to aid the courts to find out the true intention of the legislature. If a given provision is plain and unambiguous and the legislative intent is clear, there is no occasion to call into aid that rule. (Para 35, 36)

Therefore, the decision of the management of a College affiliated or associated to the University to terminate the service of a Principal or teacher of the College, during or on expiry of the period of probation, shall not take effect unless it has been approved by the Vice-Chancellor. (Para 39)

Special appeal dismissed. (E-4)

Present special appeal challenges the judgment and order dated 29.11.2022, passed by the learned Single Judge.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manoj Misra, J.

Hon'ble Vikas Budhwar, J.)

1. The short question that arises for our consideration in this appeal is whether an order of termination of service of a Principal of a College affiliated or associated to the University governed by the provisions of U.P. State Universities Act, 1973 (1973 Act), during or on expiry of the period of probation, could take effect without the approval of the Vice-Chancellor of the University concerned.

2. The factual matrix in the context of which the above issue arises is as follows: Kanohar Lal Post Graduate Girls College, Sharda Road, Brahampuri, Meerut (hereinafter referred to as "the College') is affiliated to Chaudhary Charan Singh University, Meerut (hereinafter referred to as "the University'). As the post of Principal in the College was lying vacant, a requisition was sent to the Higher Education Services Commission (for short "the Commission') to recommend a candidate for filling up the post. Pursuant thereto, the Director of Higher Education recommended fifth respondent for appointment on the post. In pursuance thereof, letter of appointment was issued on 22.10.2021 appointing fifth respondent as Principal of the College on probation of one year by stipulating that her service shall be subject to the service conditions prescribed by the University. On strength of the letter of appointment, the fifth respondent joined her duties as Principal of the College on 23.10.2021. On 16.10.2022, the Management of the College (the appellants herein) resolved that services of the fifth respondent would neither be confirmed nor the period of probation shall be extended on expiry of probation period of one year. Consequent to this resolution, by letter dated 21.10.2022, the appellant informed the fifth respondent that her services are not confirmed and they shall stand terminated on expiry of probation period. Against termination of her service, the fifth respondent represented to the University. The In-charge Vice-Chancellor of the University, through its letter / order dated 28.10.2022, directed that the effect and operation of the termination letter dated 21.10.2022 shall remain stayed as prior to issuance of the termination letter the matter was not reported to the University and no approval was sought as is required by section 35 (2) of the 1973 Act. Accordingly, by the said letter, the management of the College was invited to explain the circumstances in which the termination letter was issued. It is this letter/order dated 28.10.2022 which was impugned in Writ A No. 19736 of 2022 filed by the appellants before the learned Single Judge.

3. Before the learned Single Judge, on behalf of the appellants, it was argued that the Vice-Chancellor is not vested with power to stay the effect and operation of the resolution, or the consequential order of termination, passed by the Committee of Management and, therefore, the order is void. Whereas, on behalf of fifth respondent it was argued that by virtue of Section 35 (2) of the 1973 Act, there could be no dispensation of service without the prior approval of the Vice-Chancellor therefore, the order terminating the services, without prior approval, was void. Thus, the order of the Vice-Chancellor impugned in the writ petition required no interference.

4. By impugned judgment and order dated 29.11.2022, the learned single Judge disposed off Writ A No. 19736 of 2022 by observing that there is no patent error in the order of the In-charge Vice-Chancellor. However, a direction was issued that if the writ petitioner files an objection to the proceedings pending before the Vice-Chancellor, the Vice-Chancellor shall proceed to pass an appropriate reasoned order, in accordance with law, within a specified period, after hearing both sides.

5. Aggrieved by the order of the learned Single Judge dated 29.11.2022, the Management of the College (i.e. the writ petitioner) has filed this intra court appeal.

6. We have heard Sri Shailendra, learned senior counsel, assisted by Sri Subhanshu and Sri Abhiuday Mehrotra, for the appellants; Sri Avneesh Tripathi for the University; the learned Standing Counsel for the State of U.P.; and Sri R. K. Ojha, learned senior counsel, assisted by Sri Hemendra Kumar, for the respondent no.1. counsel for the parties in support of their respective cases, it would be apposite for us to notice the relevant statutory provisions in the context of which those submissions have been made before us.

Relevant Statutory Provisions

8. The U.P. Higher Education Services Commission Act, 1980 (for short 1980 Act) was enacted to establish a service commission for the selection of teacher for appointment to the Colleges affiliated to or recognised by a University and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto. Section 30 of the 1980 Act provides that the provisions of this Act, shall have effect notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the Uttar Pradesh State Universities Act, 1973 or the Statutes or Ordinances made thereunder. Section 12 of the 1980 Act provides that every appointment as a teacher of any college shall be made by the management in accordance with the provisions of this Act and every appointment made in contravention thereof shall be void. Sub-section (2) of section 12 provides that the management shall intimate the existing vacancies and the vacancies, likely to be caused during the course of the ensuing academic year, to the Director at such time and in such manner, as may be prescribed. Sub-section (3) of section 12 provides that the Director shall notify to the Commission at such time and in such manner as may be prescribed a subject wise consolidated list of vacancies intimated to him from all colleges. Sub-section (4) of section 12 provides that the manner of selection of persons for appointment to the posts of teachers of a college shall be such, as may be determined by regulations. Section 13 (1) provides that the Commission shall, as soon as possible, after the notification of vacancies to it under sub-section (3) of Section 12, hold interview of the candidates and send to the Director a list recommending such number of names of candidates found most suitable in each subject as may be, so far as practicable, twenty five per cent more than the number of vacancies in that subject. Sub-section (2) of section 13 provides that the list sent by the Commission shall be valid till the receipt of a new list from the Commission. Sub-section (3) of section 13 provides that the Director shall having due regard in the prescribed manner, to the order of preference if any indicated by the candidates under the second proviso to sub-section (4) of Section 12, intimate to the management the name of a candidate from the list referred to in sub-section (1) for being appointed in the vacancy intimated under sub-section (2) of Section 12. Section 14 casts a duty on the management to issue appointment letter to the person whose name has been intimated within a period of one month from the date of receipt of intimation under sub-section (3) or sub-section (4) or sub-section (5) of Section 13. Sub-section (2) of section 14 provides that where the person referred to in sub-section (1) fails to join the post within the time allowed in the appointment letter or within such extended time as the management may allow in this behalf, or where such person is otherwise not available for appointment, the Director, shall on the request of the management intimate fresh name from the list sent by the Commission under sub-section (1) of Section 13 in the manner prescribed.

9. The provisions of the 1980 Act therefore deal with the selection of teachers for appointment to the Colleges affiliated to or recognised by the University, and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto. They do not specifically provide for the terms and conditions of appointment of such teacher or the service conditions of the teachers. As a result thereof, the terms and conditions of appointment including termination of the services continue to be governed by the provisions of 1973 Act. Chapter VI of 1973 Act provides for appointment and condition of service of teachers and officers. The relevant provisions of section 31 of the 1973 Act with which we are concerned in this appeal read as under:-

"31. Appointment of Teachers. - (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the teachers of the University and the teacher of an affiliated or associated college (other than a college maintained exclusively by the State Government) shall be appointed by the Executive Council or the management of the affiliated or associated college, as the case may be, on the recommendation of a Selection Committee in the manner hereinafter provided.

(2) The appointment of every such teacher, Director and Principal not being an appointment under sub-section (3), shall in the first instance be on probation for one year which may be extended for a period not exceeding one year;

Provided that no order of termination of service during or on the expiry of the period of probation shall be passed -

(a) in the case of a teacher of the University, except by order of the Executive Council made after considering the report of the Vice-Chancellor and (unless the teacher is himself the Head of the Department), the Head of the Department concerned;

(b) in the case of Principal of an affiliated or associated college, except by order of the Management; and

(c) in the case of any other teacher of an affiliated or associated college, except by order of the Management made after considering the report of the Principal and (unless such teacher is the senior-most teacher of the subject), also of the senior most teacher of the subject :

[Provided further that no such order of termination shall be passed except after notice to the teacher concerned giving him an opportunity of explanation in respect of the grounds on which his services are proposed to be terminated:

Provided also that if a notice is given before the expiry of the period of probation or the extended period of probation, as the case may be, the period of probation shall stand extended until the final order of the Executive Council under clause (a) of the first proviso or, as the case may be, until the approval of the Vice-

Chancellor under Section 35 is communicated to the teacher concerned.] "

10. Section 35 of the 1973 Act of which reference is there in the third proviso to sub section (2) of section 31 is reproduced below:-

"35. Conditions of service of teachers of affiliated or associated colleges other than those maintained by Government or local authority. - (1) Every teacher in an affiliated or associated college (other than a college maintained exclusively by the State Government) shall be appointed under a written contract which shall contain such terms and conditions as may be prescribed. The contract shall be lodged with the University and a copy thereof shall be given to the teacher concerned, and another copy thereof shall be retained by the college concerned.

(2) Every decision of the Management of such college to dismiss or remove a teacher or to reduce him in rank or to punish him in any other manner shall before it is communicated to him, be reported to the Vice-Chancellor and shall not take effect unless it has been approved by the Vice-Chancellor:

Provided that in the case of colleges established and administered by a minority referred to in clause (1) of Article 30 of the Constitution of India, the decision of the Management dismissing removing or reducing in rank or punishing in any other manner any teacher shall not require the approval of the Vice-Chancellor, but, shall be reported to him and unless he is satisfied that the procedure prescribed in this behalf has been followed, the decision shall not be given effect to.

(3) The provisions of sub-section (2) shall also apply to any decision to terminate the services of a teacher, whether by way of punishment or otherwise but shall not apply to any termination of service on the expiry of the period for which the teacher was appointed:

Provided that in the case of colleges established and administered by a minority referred to in clause (1) of Article 30 of the Constitution of India, the decision of the Management terminating the service of any teacher shall not require the approval of the Vice-Chancellor, but shall be reported to him and unless he is satisfied that the procedure prescribed in this behalf has been followed, the decision shall not be given effect to.

(4) Nothing in sub-section (2) shall be deemed to apply to an order of suspension pending inquiry, but any such order may be stayed, revoked or modified by the Vice-Chancellor;

Provided that in the case of colleges established and administered by a minority referred to in clause (1) of Article 30 of the Constitution of India, such order may be stayed, revoked or modified by the Vice-Chancellor only if the conditions prescribed for such suspension are not satisfied.

(5) Other conditions of service of teachers of such colleges shall be such as may be prescribed."

Submissions on behalf of Appellants

11. The learned counsel for the appellant contended that sub-section (2) of Section 31 specifically provides that the appointment of a teacher, Director and Principal in the first instance shall be on probation for one year which may be extended for a period not exceeding one year. The first proviso to sub-section (2) has three clauses. Each clause deals with a separate class of teacher. Clause (a) deals with teacher of the University; clause (b) deals with the case of a Principal of an affiliated or associated College; and clause (c) deals with the case of any other teacher of an affiliated or associated College. As the three clauses of the first proviso deal with three separate class of persons, namely, (i) a teacher of the University; (ii) Principal of an affiliated or associated College; and (iii) any other teacher of an affiliated or associated College, the provisions of the second proviso that no such order of termination shall be passed except after notice to the teacher concerned giving him an opportunity of explanation in respect of the grounds on which his services are proposed to be terminated would relate to a teacher other than the Principal. Likewise, the provisions of the third proviso would apply to a teacher other than the Principal of an affiliated or an associated College. In respect of applicability of the provisions of sub-section (2) read with sub section (3) of Section 35 of the 1973 Act it was argued that the same would apply only where the termination of service is by way of punishment and not termination simplicitor, because the words ''or otherwise' used after the word punishment would have to be interpreted ejusdem generis the word punishment. In addition to above, it was argued that the provisions of sub-section (2) of Section 35 read with sub section (3) of section 35 of the 1973 Act would not in any case apply to the case of a Principal because sub-section (3) speaks of a teacher and not a Principal.

12. In light of the above submissions, the learned counsel for the appellant contended that there was no requirement of a prior approval before terminating the services of a Principal on probation, particularly, when the termination is simplicitor and not punitive. It was also argued that there being no specific provision in the 1973 Act empowering the Vice-Chancellor to stay the effect and operation of an order of termination, the order of Vice-Chancellor is void and was therefore liable to be set aside. It was argued that the learned Single Judge fell in error while holding that there was no patent error in the order of the Incharge Vice-Chancellor.

13. In addition to above, the learned counsel for the appellant contended that the Vice-Chancellor (In-charge) has stayed the effect and operation of the communication letter which was a consequence of a resolution therefore, as there is no stay on the resolution, the consequential order would remain effective. In support of his submissions, the learned counsel for the appellant placed reliance on a Full Bench decision of this Court in P. C. Bagla (Post Graduate) College, Hathras vs. Vice-Chancellor, Agra University and another, (1980) 6 ALR 413 wherein it was held that the probationer has no right to hold a post and therefore the termination of his employment made in accordance with the terms of the contract or rules of his service does not per se amount to punishment unlike the case of a permanent and confirmed employee. Reliance has also been placed on a decision of the Apex Court in Edukanti Kistamma (dead) through Lrs. And others Vs. S. Venkatareddy (dead) through Lrs. And others, (2010) 1 SCC 756 so as to contend that where the basic order has not been questioned, the validity of consequential order is not to be examined. This decision was cited to contend that without putting a stay on the resolution, the Vice-Chancellor had no right to put in abeyance the termination letter. To buttress the submission that the words ''or otherwise' used in sub-section (3) of Section 35 of the 1973 Act were to be read ejusdem generis to the preceding word punishment, the learned counsel for the appellant cited a decision of the Apex Court in Kamlesh Kumar Sharma vs. Yogesh Kumar Gupta and others, 1998 (3) SCC 45.

Submissions on behalf of respondents

14. Per contra, the learned counsel for the respondents contended that section 2 (19) of the 1973 Act defines "teacher' as follows:-

"In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires ''teacher' in relation to the provisions of this Act except Chapter XI-A, means a person employed in a University or in an institute or in a constituent or affiliated or associated college of a University for imparting instructions or guiding or conducting research in any subject or course approved by that University and includes a Principal or Director."

15. By relying on the above definition of the word "teacher', the learned counsel for the respondents contended that section 35 falls in Chapter VI of the 1973 Act and therefore, the word "teacher' used in sub-section (3) of section 35 including sub-section (2) of section 35 of the 1973 Act would include a Principal on probation hence the protection thereunder would be available to a Principal as well. It was contended on behalf of the respondents that there is no general principle that the phrase ''or otherwise' is to be read ejusdem generis to the preceding words. It is argued that interpretation of the words ''or otherwise' has to be accorded a wider meaning so as to cover all cases, whatever might be the reason, of termination.

16. In addition to above, the learned counsel for the respondents submitted that under Section 13(1)(a) of the 1973 Act, the Vice-Chancellor being the Principal executive and academic officer of the University is empowered to exercise general supervision and control over the affairs of the University including the constituent colleges, the Institutes maintained by the University and colleges affiliated and associated to it. Sub-section (4) of section 13 casts a duty on the Vice-Chancellor to ensure the faithful observance of the provisions of the Act, the Statutes and Ordinance and provides that without prejudice to the powers of the Chancellor under Sections 10 and 68, he may exercise all such powers as may be necessary in that behalf. It was contended that by conferring general power of supervision and control on the Vice-Chancellor over the affairs of the University including constituent Colleges, the institutes maintained by the University and colleges affiliated or associated to it, the legislative intent is clear that the Vice-Chancellor shall ensure the faithful observance of the Act, the Statutes or the Ordinances. In light thereof, the provisions of section 35 of the 1973 Act have to be accorded wider interpretation so as to serve the purpose for which it is placed in the Act. Hence, the context in which the phrase ''or otherwise' is used in sub-section (3) of section 35, the same cannot be read ejusdem generis to the word punishment. Learned counsel for the respondents placed reliance on two Division Bench decisions of this Court, namely:- (a) Dr. A.P. Srivastava vs. The Committee of Management, Laxmi Narain Degree College, Sirsa, Allahabad and another, 1982 UPLBEC 25; and (b) Committee of Management Mahatama Gandhi Shanti Smarak Maha Vidyalaya, Gram

Maqsoodpur, District Ghazipur Vs. Vice-Chancellor, Gorakhpur University, Gorakhpur and others, 1988 UPLBEC 526.

17. In the aforesaid two decisions, the phrase ''whether by way of punishment or otherwise' used in sub-section (3) of Section 35 of the 1973 Act has been accorded wider interpretation as to include cases of termination of service of a teacher within the period of probation on the ground that service work and conduct was not satisfactory. The Court held that termination of services of teacher appointed on probation, without obtaining approval of the Vice-Chancellor, would be illegal.

Submissions in Rejoinder

18. In his rejoinder arguments, the learned counsel for the appellant submitted that the above two division bench decisions relied upon by the learned counsel for the respondents are per incuriam as they fail to notice the true import of the provisions of section 31 of the 1973 Act.

DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

19. Before we proceed to weigh the rival submissions, the argument of the learned counsel for the appellants that there is no specific power conferred on the Vice-Chancellor to stay the effect and operation of the order of termination need not detain us because, if we conclude that there can be no termination of the services of a Principal without the approval of the Vice-Chancellor, the order terminating the services would not operate till it is approved. Therefore, it would be immaterial whether the Vice-Chancellor had the power to stay its effect or not. We have, therefore, to examine, in light of the relevant provisions noticed above, whether the termination of service of a Principal of a College affiliated or associated to the University governed by the provisions of U.P. State Universities Act, 1973 (1973 Act) could take effect without the approval of the Vice-Chancellor of the University to which the College is affiliated or associated.

20. Section 2 (19) of the 1973 Act defines "teacher' as follows:-

"2. Definitions. - In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires: -

(19) 'teacher' in relation to the provisions of this Act except Chapter XI-A, means a person employed in a University or in an institute or in a constituent or affiliated or associated college of a University for imparting instructions or guiding or conducting research in any subject or course approved by that University and includes a Principal or Director."

21. From a plain reading of the definition of teacher in the 1973 Act it is clear that unless the context otherwise requires, wherever the word "teacher" is used in relation to the provisions of the 1973 Act, it shall, inter-alia, include a Principal of a constituent or affiliated or associated College of a University.

22. When we carefully read the provisions of section 31 of the 1973 Act, we notice that sub-section (1) of section 31 uses the word "teacher' and refrains from using the word "principal'. It is a general provision which speaks of appointment of the teachers of the University and the teachers of an affiliated or associated college other than a college maintained exclusively by the State Government. Sub-section (2) of section 31 clarifies that the appointment of every such teacher, Director and Principal not being an appointment under sub-section (3) (note: we are not concerned with appointments under sub section (3) of section 31 as they deal with appointments on a leave or short term vacancy), shall in the first instance be on probation for one year which may be extended for a period not exceeding one year. The first proviso to sub-section (2) of Section 31 of the 1973 Act specifies the authority and the manner in which an order of termination of service, during or on the expiry of the period of probation, is to be passed. The proviso has three clauses (a) , (b) and (c). Clause (a) specifies the authority and the manner in which the services of a teacher of the University, during or on the expiry of the period of probation, could be terminated. Clause (b) specifies the authority which could terminate the services of a Principal of an affiliated or associated College whereas Clause (c) not only specifies the authority which could terminate the services of a teacher other than the Principal of an affiliated or associated College but also suggests that no such order of termination is to be made by the management except after considering the report of the Principal and unless such teacher is the senior most teacher of the subject, also of the senior most teacher of the subject.

23. The second proviso to sub-section (2) of Section 31 provides a rider to the exercise of power of termination by stating that no such order of termination shall be passed except after notice to the teacher concerned giving him an opportunity of explanation in respect of the grounds on which his services are proposed to be terminated.

24. The third proviso clarifies that as and when a notice as contemplated by the second proviso is given before the expiry of the period of probation or the extended period of probation, the period of probation shall stand extended until the final order of the Executive Council as contemplated by Clause (a) of the first proviso or, as the case may be, until the approval of the Vice-Chancellor under Section 35 is communicated to the teacher concerned.

25. A plain construction of the aforesaid provisions would reveal that Clause (a) of the first proviso of sub-section (2) relates to a teacher of the University as per which no order of termination of service of such teacher can be passed during or on the expiry of the period except by order of the Executive Council made after considering the report of the Vice-Chancellor and, unless the teacher is himself the Head of the Department, the Head of the Department concerned. This implies that the service of a teacher of the University other than the Head of the Department, during or on the expiry of period of probation, can be terminated by an order of the Executive Council after considering the report of the Vice-Chancellor and the Head of the Department concerned. Whereas the services of such a teacher who is himself the Head of the Department, can be terminated by order of the Executive Council made after considering the report of the Vice-Chancellor. On a plain reading of clauses (b) and (c) of the first proviso we would notice that whether it is the case of a Principal or of any other teacher of an associated or affiliated College, the services can be terminated, during or on the expiry of the period of probation, by order of the management. The only distinction between the two clauses (i.e. (b) and (c)) is that when it relates to termination of a teacher other than the Principal of an affiliated or associated College, the order of the management must be after considering the report of the Principal and, if the teacher concerned is not the senior most teacher of the subject, also the report of the senior most teacher of the subject. The second proviso provides that no such order of termination shall be passed except after notice to the teacher concerned giving him an opportunity of explanation in respect of the grounds on which his services are proposed to be terminated. The third proviso clarifies that if a notice as contemplated by the second proviso is given before the expiry of the period of probation or the extended period of probation, as the case may be, the period of probation shall extend until the final order is passed by the Executive Council under clause (a) or, as the case may be, until the approval of the Vice-Chancellor under Section 35 is communicated to the teacher concerned. The use of phrase "as the case may be" in the third proviso is to indicate that where the notice as contemplated in the clause (b) of the second proviso is served on a teacher of an affiliated or associated College, the period of probation shall stand extended until the approval of the Vice-Chancellor under section 35 is communicated to the teacher concerned. Any other interpretation would render the phrase "until the approval of the Vice-Chancellor under Section 35" otiose as section 35 of the 1973 Act deals only with the conditions of service of teachers of affiliated or associated colleges other than those maintained by the Government or local authority.

26. At this stage we may note that the second and third proviso to sub-section (2) of Section 31 of the 1973 Act have been inserted by U.P. Act No. 5 of 1977. In the prefatory note - Statement of Objects and Reasons - it is stated as follows:-

"With a view to removing certain difficulties experienced in the working of the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh State Universities Act, 1973, it has been considered expedient to make, inter alia, the following amendments in the aforesaid Act-

(1).....

(2) It has been provided that where the services of a teacher on probation are to be terminated, he should be given an opportunity of explanation in respect of the grounds on which such action is proposed to be taken

(3) .....

(5) The Vice-Chancellor has been empowered to direct the management to reinstate and to pay the amount of salary to the teacher of a Degree College in case a decision of the management to dismiss or remove him or to terminate his services is not approved by the Vice-Chancellor. Such order shall be executable like a decree of the Civil Court and the amount of salary shall be recoverable as arrears of land revenue."

Thus, by insertion of the second and third proviso to sub-section (2) of the U.P. State Universities Act, 1973, the legislature has clearly exhibited its intent to control arbitrary termination of service of a teacher on probation.

27. The contention of the learned counsel for the appellant that the second and third provisos will only relate to a teacher of an affiliated or associated College and not to the Principal thereof is not acceptable for the reason that a teacher as defined by section 2(19) of the 1973 Act includes a Principal of an affiliated or associated College. According to the learned counsel for the appellant since the second and third provisos are placed below clause (c) therefore they would apply only with reference to a teacher other than a Principal is not acceptable because the first proviso deals with three separate situations as specified in clauses (a), (b) and (c). Clause (a) deals with the case of a teacher of the University; Clause (b) deals with the case of a Principal of an affiliated or associated College of the University; and Clause (c) deals with the case of any other teacher of an affiliated or associated College of the University. The requirement of placing Principal in Clause (b) and any other teacher in Clause (c) is apparent from the fact that in so far as a teacher is concerned before his termination there can be consideration of the report of the Principal and in case the teacher is not the senior most teacher of the subject, also of the senior most teacher of the subject. Such consideration cannot be there in the case of a Principal because in the hierarchy of teachers, the Principal is the highest. Therefore, by placing Principal in clause (b) and teacher in clause (c) of the first proviso, the use of the word "teacher' in the second and third provisos does not express a legislative intent to deprive the Principal of the protection of the aforesaid two provisos. We, therefore, find no merit in the submission of the learned counsel for the appellant that second and third provisos of sub-section (2) would not apply to the case of a Principal of an affiliated or associated College, particularly, when, as per the provisions

28. We shall now deal with the issue as to whether the prior approval of the Vice-Chancellor is required for an order of termination of service to take effect even if the termination is simpliciter. Sub-section (2) of section 35 provides that every decision of the management of an affiliated or associated College other than a College maintained exclusively by the State Government to dismiss or remove a teacher or to reduce him in rank or to punish him in any other manner shall before it is communicated to him, be reported to the Vice-Chancellor and shall not take effect unless it has been approved by the Vice-Chancellor. The requirement of prior approval is not there in the case of colleges established and administered by a minority referred to in clause (1) of Article 30 of the Constitution of India. Sub-section (3) of section 35 provides that the provisions of sub-section (2) shall also apply to any decision to terminate the services of a teacher, whether by way of punishment or otherwise but shall not apply to any termination of service on the expiry of the period for which the teacher was appointed. The proviso attached thereto states that the provisions of sub-section (3) shall not be applicable in the case of colleges established and administered by a minority referred to in clause (1) of Article 30 of the Constitution of India.

29. The argument of the learned counsel for the appellant is that in the instant case the order of termination of services is non punitive and has been passed while the incumbent was on probation therefore, the provisions of sub-section (2) of Section 35 would not get attracted and in so far as the provisions of sub-section (3) are concerned they would apply only to a case where the termination of the services is by way of punishment because the phrase ''or otherwise' should be read "ejusdem generis' to the word punishment. According to him, section 31 of the 1973 Act envisages two types of termination of service during or on the expiry of the period of probation. The first is termination simpliciter where no ground need be specified and the second is termination on certain grounds wherein a notice is required to be served upon the teacher for giving him opportunity of submitting an explanation as contemplated by the second proviso to sub-section (2) of section 31. To support the above submission, the learned counsel for the appellant has placed a number of decisions wherein the law has been settled that the services of a probationer can be terminated without specifying grounds of termination and without providing him an opportunity of hearing if he is not found suitable for the job and that an opportunity of hearing is to be offered only when the termination is punitive.

30. There can be no dispute to the legal proposition canvassed above but the general legal principles are always subject to statutory provisions and the rules applicable governing the service conditions. In the instant case, we have noticed the legislative intent in insertion of the second and third provisos to sub section (2) of section 31 of the 1973 Act which is to protect the teachers against arbitrary termination of their services by the management of an affiliated or associated colleges of the University. It is with that object in mind that the second and third provisos were inserted in section 31 of the 1973 Act so as to provide, vide the second proviso, that no order of termination could be passed except after notice to the teacher concerned giving him an opportunity of explanation in respect of the grounds on which his services are proposed to be terminated and, vide the third proviso, it is added that if a notice is given before the expiry of the period of probation or the extended period of probation, as the case may be, the period of probation shall stand extended until the approval of the Vice-Chancellor under Section 35 is communicated to the teacher concerned. This clearly implies that by using the phrase "by way of punishment or otherwise" section 35 (3) deals with termination simpliciter as well as punitive.

31. The argument of the learned counsel for the appellant that the phrase ''or otherwise' used in sub-section (3) would have to read ejusdem generis to the word "punishment' is not acceptable. The reasons are as follows:

32. The latin expression ejusdem generis is a principle of construction whereby when general words in a statutory context are flanked by restricted words, the meaning of the general words are taken to be restricted by implication with the meaning of the restricted words. This ejusdem generis principle is a facet of the principle of Noscitur a sociis. The Latin word `sociis' means `society'. Therefore, when general words are juxtaposed with specific words, general words cannot be read in isolation. Their colour and their contents are to be derived from their context. In Amar Chandra Chakraborty v. Collector of Excise, 1972 (2) SCC 442, in paragraph 9, it was held as follows:-

"The ejusdem generis rule strives to reconcile the incompatibility between specific and general words. This doctrine applies when (i) the statute contains an enumeration of specific words; (ii) the subjects, of the enumeration constitute- a class or category; (iii) that class or category is not exhausted by the enumeration; (iv) the general term follows the enumeration and (v) there is no indication of a different legislative intent."

33. In Maharastra University of Health Sciences & others v. Satchikitsa

Prasarak Mandal & others, 2010 (3) SCC 786, the Apex Court had to decide whether in respect of unapproved teachers also the Grievances Committee constituted under Section 53 of the Maharashtra University of Health Sciences Act, 1998 would have jurisdiction to entertain complaint and undertake the statutory exercise conferred on it under Section 53 of the said Act. Section 53 of the said Act provided as follows:

"53. (1) There shall be a Grievances Committee in the University to deal with the grievances of teachers and other employees of the University, Colleges, institutions and recognised institutions and to hear and settle grievances as far as may be practicable within six months, and the committee shall make a report to the Management Council.

(2) It shall be lawful for the Grievances Committee to entertain and consider grievances or complaints and report to the Management Council for taking such action as it deems fit and the decisions of the Management Council on such report shall be final.

(3) The Grievances Committee shall consist of the following members, namely:

(a) The Pro-Vice Chancellor, - Chairperson

(b) Four members of the management council nominated by the Management Council from amongst themselves - Members

(c) The Registrar - Member Secretary (4) The Registrar shall not have a right to vote."

The provisions of section 53 was thus an enabling provision wherein the Grievances Committee in the University was empowered to deal with the grievance of the teachers and other employees of University, Colleges and recognized institutions. Interpretation of the definition clause of teacher as defined in Section 2 (35) of the above noted Act was subject matter of consideration before the Apex Court in the above case, where teachers were defined as follows:-

"17. Section 2(35) of the said Act runs as under:-

"2(35) "teachers" means full time approved Demonstrators, Tutors, Assistant Lecturers, Lecturers, Readers, Associate Professors, Professors and other persons teaching or giving instructions on full time basis in affiliated colleges or approved institutions in the university;"

The High Court by construing the aforesaid two sections following the principle of ejusdem generis held that unapproved teachers would not be entitled to invoke the jurisdiction of the Grievances Committee.

Rejecting the above view, in paragraph 21, the Apex Court held as follows:-

"19. If the definition of teachers, as quoted above, is properly perused it would appear that within the definition of teachers not only full time approved Demonstrators, Tutors, Assistant Lecturers, etc., are included but the definition is wide enough to include "and other persons teaching or giving instructions on full time basis in affiliated colleges or approved institutions in the university." Similarly, the Grievance Committee which is established under Section 53 of the said Act has also been given wide powers to deal with not only the grievances of teachers but also of other employees of the University, college, institution and to settle their grievances as far as may be practicable within a certain time-frame. Sub-section (2) of Section 53 of the said Act provides for consequential steps which the Grievance Committee may take after entertaining the grievances of the category of persons named in Section 53(1). Section 53(3) provides for the constitution of the Grievance Committee and Section 53(4) is procedural in nature."

34. While holding as above, the Apex Court had the occasion to deal with the applicability of the principle of ejusdem generis. Following the decision of the Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court in Amar Chandra Chakraborty's case (supra), in paragraph 33 of the judgment, it was held as follows:-

".....where there is statutory indication to the contrary the definition of teacher under Section 2(35) cannot be read on the basis of ejusdem generis nor can the definition be confined to only approved teachers. If that is done, then a substantial part of the definition under Section 2(35) would become redundant. That is against the very essence of the doctrine of ejusdem generis. The purpose of this doctrine is to reconcile any incompatibility between specific and general words so that all words in a Statute can be given effect and no word becomes superfluous"

35. In Smt. Lila Vati Bai vs. State of Bombay, AIR 1957 SC 521, a Constitutional Bench of the Supreme Court while rejecting the rule of ejusdem generis to interpret the words "or otherwise' observed as follows:-

"The rule of ejusdem generis is intended to be applied where general words have been used following particular and specific words of the same nature on the established rule of construction that the legislature presumed to use the general words in a restricted sense; that is to say, as belonging to the same genus as the particular and specific words. Such a restricted meaning has to be given to words of general import only where the context of the whole scheme of legislation requires it. But where the context and the object and mischief of the enactment do not require such restricted meaning to be attached to words of general import, it becomes the duty of the courts to give those words their plain and ordinary meaning"

36. Similarly, in Jage Ram & Ors vs State Of Haryana & Anr, 1971 (1) SCC 671 while interpreting the provisions of sub-section (2) of Section 17 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, the Apex Court, in paragraph 13 of its judgment, held:-

"The ejusdem generis rule is not a rule of law but is merely a rule of construction to aid the courts to find out the true intention of the legislature. If a given provision is plain and unambiguous and the legislative intent is clear, there is no occasion to call into aid that rule."

37. Applying the aforesaid legal principles we are of the considered view that the legislative intent for inserting second and third proviso to sub-section (2) of Section 31 of the 1973 Act was clear to accord protection to teachers against arbitrary termination of their services during or on the expiry of the period of probation. Bearing that in mind by using the phrase "by way of punishment or otherwise" the legislative intent is further strengthened as to indicate that sub-section (3) of Section 35 of the 1973 Act would apply to termination whether it is punitive or simplicier. In such circumstances the word "otherwise" would have to be given its ordinary meaning which is, in other manner; in other circumstances or in a different manner; in another way;

38. Once, we assign ordinary meaning to the words "or otherwise", the position would be clear that, by virtue of sub section (3) to section 35, the provisions of sub-section (2) of Section 35 of 1973 Act shall apply to any decision to terminate the service of a teacher whether by way of punishment or by way of termination simpliciter. We, therefore, find no good reason to take a different view than what was taken by this court in Dr. A.P. Srivastava's case (supra) and Committee of Management Mahatama Gandhi Shanti Smarak Maha Vidyalaya's case (supra).

39. In light of the discussion above, we come to the conclusion that the decision of the management of a College affiliated or associated to the University to terminate the service of a Principal or teacher of the College, during or on expiry of the period of probation, shall not take effect unless it has been approved by the Vice-Chancellor. Having held so, as we find that in the instant case the termination of the services of respondent no. 5 was communicated without approval of the Vice-Chancellor, the same could not have taken effect therefore, we do not find any good reason to interfere with the order of the Vice-Chancellor. The appeal is dismissed.

Order on C.M. Application No.2 of 2023:

1. Heard Shri Anil Tiwari, Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Neerav Chitravanshi, learned counsel for appellants, Dr. L.P. Mishra along with Shri Amrendra Nath Tripathi, learned counsel for respondent nos.1 to 28, Shri S.B. Pandey, Assistant Solicitor General of India, appearing on behalf of respondent No.29-Union of India and Shri Indrajeet Shukla, learned Standing Counsel for State/respondent No.30.

2. This is an application for condonation of delay in filing special appeal.

3. The application is supported with an affidavit, in which the reasons for delay have been explained sufficiently.

4. Accordingly, application is allowed. Delay, if any, in moving this special appeal is hereby condoned.

Order on memo of special appeal:

5. The instant special appeal under Chapter VIII rule 5 of the Allahabad High Court rules has been filed against the judgment and order dated 12.12.2022 passed by Hon'ble single Judge allowing Civil Misc. Review Application No.187 of 2022 reviewing the judgment and order dated 20.10.2022 passed in Writ-A No. 23479 of 2019 and a further prayer has been made for dismissal of the writ petition.

6. The aforesaid writ petition was filed by the respondent nos.1 to 29 to this Special Appeal, who will be referred to as the petitioners. Briefly stated, facts pleaded in the writ petition are that the petitioners are B.A.M.S./B.U.M.S./B.H.M.S. (Aayush) Doctors and they are engaged as Ayush Doctors across the state on contractual basis. The petitioners are aggrieved by the difference in honourarium paid to them and that paid to allopathic Doctors and they claim that the M.B.B.S. Doctors and B.D.S. Doctors are not superior to the Ayush Doctors.

7. Earlier some of the petitioners had filed Writ Petition No.738 (S/B) of 2014, which was dismissed by means of an order dated 12.04.2017. Some of the petitioners filed Special Leave Petitions before the Hon'ble Supreme Court and Hon'ble Supreme Court disposed of the petitions with liberty to the petitioners to make representation for the State government. When no decision was taken on the representations, the petitioners no. 1 to 3 had filed Writ Petition No. 22529 (S/B) of 2018, which was disposed of by means of an order dated 08.08.2018 with a direction to the state workmen to take a decision on the representation. The representation was rejected by means of an order dated 16.11.2018 passed by the Mission Director, National Health Mission.

8. Some of the petitioners had challenged the order dated 16.11.2018 by filing Writ Petition No. 5633 (S/S) of 2019, which was allowed by means of an order dated 7th March 2019 and a direction was issued to the State government to take a decision on the petitioners' claim regarding parity of honourarium. The claim was rejected by means of an order dated 29th March 2019, passed by the Principal Secretary, Health and Family Welfare.

9. It has been stated in the order dated 29th March 2019 passed by the Principal Secretary that the services of Ayush doctors under the mainstreaming of Ayush program under the National Health Mission in U.P. do not fall within the purview of emergency services. Honourarium is payable to them on the basis of their duties for six hours a day and there is a provision that no physical charge is to be given to the Ayush Doctors and no medicolegal case is to be conducted by them. The M.B.B.S. lady doctors are assigned 24 hours emergency duty for operating the first referral units and when and E.M.O. is not available the contractual M.B.B.S. lady doctors are posted as E.M.O. By means of a Government Order dated 9th October 2015, it has been provided that Ayurved and Yunani doctors will not perform medicolegal cases, post-mortem examination, I.V. injection and surgeries other than pure Ayurvedic/Yunani surgeries like Ksharsootra. The order further states that the appointment of Ayush Doctors under National Health Mission is made against posts sanctioned by the Government of India in record of proceedings under any program/scheme and these appointments are not made against any regular sanctioned posts of the State. Moreover, the honourarium paid to contractual Ayush Doctors in the State of Uttar Pradesh is equal to or higher than the honourarium paid to the Ayush Doctors of 26 States of the Union Territories. As per the directions and guidelines issued by the National Health Mission, the prescribed qualification, field of work and duties of contractual Ayush Doctors are not the same as those of contractual M.B.B.S. Doctors stop therefore, it would not be proper to pay any Ayush doctors equal to that paid to the MBBS Doctors.

10. The petitioners challenged the aforesaid order dated 29th March 2019 by filing Writ Petition No. 23479 (S/S) of 2019. The writ petition was allowed by an Hon'ble single Judge means of a judgment and order dated 19th October 2022. The Hon'ble Single Judge proceeded to decide the writ petition on the premise that:

"The instant petition is directed against the order dated 28.02.2017, passed by the first respondent, Principal Secretary, Department of Finance, Civil Secretariat, Lucknow, whereby, the representation of the first petitioner claiming the benefit of Dynamic/Special Assured Career Progression (for short "SACP') Scheme made admissible to the Medical Officers of the Provincial Medical Health Services (for short "PMHS'), has been rejected. Further, a direction has been sought to grant the Medical Officers (Ayurvedic) the benefits of SACP w.e.f. the date it has been allowed to the Medical Officers of PMHS.

18. The facts, inter se parties, are not disputed.

19. The Medical Officers PMHS practice Allopathy stream of medicine. It appears that Medical Officers PMHS made a representation to the State Government for implementation of Dynamic ACP Scheme as made admissible to the Medical Officers under the Central Government. On considering their representation, the State Government vide order dated 14.11.2014, framed a scheme on the recommendation of the Committee. The SACP, primarily, provides that the Medical Officers PMHS would be entitled to upgradation of pay on completing 4, 11, 17 and 24 years of satisfactory service. The scheme was made applicable w.e.f. 01.12.2008.

* * *

31. The issue in the given facts is not with regard to equal pay for equal work, but the Scheme formulated for Career Progression to tide over stagnation on a post."

11. The Hon'ble Single Judge concluded by holding that: -

"42. The State Government is justified in not accepting the Dynamic ACP formulated by the Central Government for its Medical Officers, instead formulated the SACP scheme falling within the realm of administrative policy. But the question is whether such a policy upon being provided can discriminate amongst different streams of medicine practiced by Medical Officers. Admittedly, the Medical Officers, irrespective of the stream of medicine (Allopathy or conventional) treat the patients which is the core underlying similarity. The comparison with regard to qualification, course of study/syllabus, nature of duty, responsibility etc. as is being pressed by the State 28 Government to carve out a class of Medical Officers i.e. PHMS being superior to other Medical Officers is misconceived and unfounded insofar it relates to conferment of SACP. The administrative policy is invariably discriminatory in keeping the Medical Officers (Ayurvedic) and other streams out of the scheme having regard to the concept of ACP as discussed earlier.

43. Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed.

44. The impugned order dated 29.03.2019, passed by the Principal Secretary, Medical and Health Department, Government of U.P., Lucknow, is hereby quashed. It is provided that the Special ACP Scheme (SACP) implemented vide Government Order dated 14 November 2014, shall be applicable to the Medical Officers of other streams also."

12. As the writ petition had been filed claiming parity in payment of honourarium to Ayush Doctors with that paid to Ayush Doctors and not claiming A.C.P. benefits, the petitioners themselves filed an application for review of the judgment passed in their favour. The review application was allowed by means of the judgment and order dated 12.12.2022. Even while allowing the review application the Hon'ble single Judge held that: -

"18. The High Court of Uttrakhand allowed the writ petition and held the AYUSH doctors should be treated at par with the Allopathic doctors and are entitled for the same honorarium. The said judgment was challenged before the Hon'ble Apex Court in Special Leave to Appeal (Civil) No. 33645 of 2018, which was dismissed by means of order dated 24.03.2022. Same issue has been raised before this Court where the AYUSH doctors have been denied the benefit of ACP, which was made admissible to the medical officers of Provincial Medical Services, there also the State Government had tried discriminate between medical officers (Ayurvedic) from AYUSH and Allopathic doctors.

19. In view of the aforesaid discussions, the writ petitions is allowed. The impugned order dated 29.03.2019, passed by the Principal Secretary, Medical and Health Department, Government of U.P., Lucknow, is hereby quashed.

20. The respondents are directed to pay honorarium to the petitioners who are working on the post of Ayush Medical Officers at par with the payments made to the Allopathic Medical Officers and Dental Medical Officers and the arrears of honorarium be paid to the petitioners from the date they were 25 discriminated in making payments of honorarium to the Allopathic Medical Officers and Dental Medical Officers."

13. While Assailing the Aforesaid Judgment passed by the Hon'ble Single Judge, Shri Anil Tiwari Senior Advocate has submitted that the issue raised by the petitioners in the Writ Petition was payment of honourarium to Ayush Doctors equal to that which is paid to the M.B.B.S. Doctors and the issue of assured career progression was not involved in the writ petition as the petitioners are working on contractual basis and the scheme of grant of assured career progression is not applicable to persons working on contract. However, the learned Single Judge has decided the writ petition as well as the review application on the premise that the issue raised before him was denial of benefit of A.C.P. to the Ayush doctors.

14. The learned counsel for the petitioners has submitted that the issue regarding payment of honourarium to Ayush Doctors under the National health Mission was duly considered by a Division Bench of this Court while dismissing the Writ Petition No. 738 (S/B) of 2018 and other connected writ petitions by means of judgment and order dated 12 April 2017. The aforesaid judgment was challenged by filing a special leave petition before the Hon'ble Supreme Court and the Hon'ble Supreme Court had merely permitted the petitioner is to move representation, without setting aside the findings given by the High Court.

15. The learned counsel for the appellants has submitted that the petitioners have been engaged on contractual basis by a society under a program called National health Mission and they have not been appointed against any regular post under the State government or under the Central government. The honourarium payable to the persons engaged on contract under the program is approved by the government of India and not by the State government. It has further been submitted by the learned counsel for the appellant that the petitioners are working under a contract and are being paid honourarium as per the terms and conditions of the contract, which are binding on them and which has rightly not been challenged by them, as the conditions of contract cannot be challenged in writ petition filed under article 226 of the Constitution of India.

16. Per contra, Dr. L.P. Mishra, the learned counsel appearing for the respondents no.1 to 28 (petitioners in the writ petition) has submitted that the mere fact that the Hon'ble Supreme Court had given the petitioners liberty to file a fresh representation implies that the order passed by this Court in Writ Petition No.738 (S/B) of 2018 was set aside and the representation ought to have been considered afresh without being influenced by the findings recorded in the judgment passed in the aforesaid writ petition.

17. In the judgment dated 12.04.2017 passed by this Court in Writ Petition Number 738 (S/B) of 2018 and several other connected writ petitions, this Court had held as follows: -

"19. Considering the qualification and duties as shown in the chart and advertisement, we are of the view that the work and qualification of the Ayush doctors are different from other MBBS or BDS doctors. The mere fact that they were doing work similar to other doctors cannot be treated as sufficient for applying the principal of equal pay for equal work. Any direction by the Court with the aid of Article 226 of the Constitution of India would burden the exchequer relating to financial and policy matter and interference in the policy decisions though the order in question does not suffer from any legal or constitutional infirmity and it is not possible to entertain the plea of the petitioners for payment of pay or honorarium or other monetary benefits at par with other employees of other cadre having separate eligibility criteria for appointment by complying the principle of equal pay for equal work.

33. After noticing the judicial precedents on the subject, we are of the view that the petitioners cannot invoke the theory of legitimate expectation for compelling the respondents to pay the honorarium which is paid to other doctors having different qualification and different duties.

34. Learned counsel for the petitioners has relied upon (1989) 2 SCC 235- Mewa Ram Kanojia v. All India Institute of Medical Sciences and others but the citation does not favour the petitioners. It has been stated in the above noted case that in judging the equality of work for the purposes of equal pay, regard must be had not only to the duties and functions but also to the educational qualifications, qualitative difference and the measures of responsibility prescribed for the respective posts. Even it the duties and functions are of similar nature but if the educational qualifications prescribed for the two posts are different and there is difference in measure of responsibilities, the principle of 'Equal pay for equal work' would not apply. There is a reasonable classification on the basis of qualification and duties and if qualification has reasonable nexus with the objective sought to be achieved, efficiency in the administration, the State would be justified in prescribing different pay scale but if the 21 classification does not stand the test of reasonable nexus and the classification is founded on unreal and unreasonable basis it would be violative of Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India. Similarly in (1989) 3 SCC 191- V. Markendeya and others v. State of Andhra Pradesh and others, which has been relied upon by the learned counsel for the petitioners, does not favour the petitioners on the ground that the citation provides that the question what scale should be provided to a particular class of service must be left to the executive and only when discrimination is practised amongst the equals, the Court should intervene to undo the wrong and to ensure equality among the similarly placed employees. The Court however cannot prescribed equal scales of pay for different class of employees."

18. The petitioners had challenged the aforesaid judgment dated 12.04.2017 by filing Special Leave Petition (Civil) No. 26625 of 2017 and Hon'ble Supreme Court disposed of the petition on 03.10.2017 by means of the following order: -

"Delay condoned.

Learned senior counsel appearing for the petitioners submits that the view of the High Court that the permission is required from the Central government for enhancement of honourarium is not correct. The petitioners are appointed by the State government. If that be so, we make it clear that it will be open to the petitioners to approach the State government for enhancement of honourarium, in which case, it will be open to the State government to consider the representation and the impugned judgment shall not stand in the way of the government taking appropriate decision.

With the aforesaid observation and directions, the special leave petitions are disposed off."

19. A bare perusal of the aforesaid order indicates that the Hon'ble Supreme Court disposed of the special leave petition without granting leave to appeal and without setting aside the judgment dated 12.04.2017 passed by this Court or the findings recorded therein. The Hon'ble Supreme Court had merely granted liberty to the petitioners to approach the State government for enhancement of honourarium and it was left open to the State were meant to consider the representation without being influenced by the judgment dated 12.04.2017. There was not even any passing reference of the claim of parity with the M.B.B.S. doctors in payment of honourarium, what to say about any finding in this regard. Therefore, we are of the view that the findings recorded by this Court in the judgment dated 12.04.2017 have not been disturbed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court and the same have attained finality.

20. Dr. L. P. Mishra, the learned counsel for the respondents, has submitted that the order dated 12.04.2017 passed by this Court in writ petition No. 738 of 2015 and other connected writ petitions, stood merged in the order dated 3 October 2017 passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court. The doctrine of merger vis-à-vis rejection of S.L.P. was summarized by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Kunhayammed v. State of Kerala, (2000) 6 SCC 359, in the following words: -

"44. To sum up, our conclusions are:

(i) Where an appeal or revision is provided against an order passed by a court, tribunal or any other authority before superior forum and such superior forum modifies, reverses or affirms the decision put in issue before it, the decision by the subordinate forum merges in the decision by the superior forum and it is the latter which subsists, remains operative and is capable of enforcement in the eye of the law.

(ii) The jurisdiction conferred by Article 136 of the Constitution is divisible into two stages. The first stage is up to the disposal of prayer for special leave to file an appeal. The second stage commences if and when the leave to appeal is granted and the special leave petition is converted into an appeal.

(iii) The doctrine of merger is not a doctrine of universal or unlimited application. It will depend on the nature of jurisdiction exercised by the superior forum and the content or subject-matter of challenge laid or capable of being laid shall be determinative of the applicability of merger. The superior jurisdiction should be capable of reversing, modifying or affirming the order put in issue before it. Under Article 136 of the Constitution the Supreme Court may reverse, modify or affirm the judgment, decree or order appealed against while exercising its appellate jurisdiction and not while exercising the discretionary jurisdiction disposing of the petition for special leave to appeal. The doctrine of merger can therefore be applied to the former and not to the latter.

(iv) An order refusing special leave to appeal may be a non-speaking order or a speaking one. In either case it does not attract the doctrine of merger. An order refusing special leave to appeal does not stand substituted in place of the order under challenge. All that it means is that the Court was not inclined to exercise its discretion so as to allow the appeal being filed.

(v) If the order refusing leave to appeal is a speaking order i.e. gives reasons for refusing the grant of leave, then the order has two implications. Firstly, the statement of law contained in the order is a declaration of law by the Supreme Court within the meaning of Article 141 of the Constitution. Secondly, other than the declaration of law, whatever is stated in the order are the findings recorded by the Supreme Court which would bind the parties thereto and also the court, tribunal or authority in any proceedings subsequent thereto by way of judicial discipline, the Supreme Court being the Apex Court of the country. But, this does not amount to saying that the order of the court, tribunal or authority below has stood merged in the order of the Supreme Court rejecting the special leave petition or that the order of the Supreme Court is the only order binding as res judicata in subsequent proceedings between the parties.

(vi) Once leave to appeal has been granted and appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court has been invoked the order passed in appeal would attract the doctrine of merger; the order may be of reversal, modification or merely affirmation.

(vii) On an appeal having been preferred or a petition seeking leave to appeal having been converted into an appeal before the Supreme Court the jurisdiction of the High Court to entertain a review petition is lost thereafter as provided by sub-rule (1) of Order 47 Rule 1 CPC."

21. Order dated 03.10.2017 was passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court disposing of the special leave petition without granting leave to appeal to the petitioners and without setting aside the findings of the High Court and recording any findings of its own, we are of the view that in light of the law summarized by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Kunhayammed (Supra), the order dated 12.04.2017 passed by this Court did not get merged in the order dated 03.10.2017 passed by the owner will Supreme Court. Therefore, the findings recorded by this Court in its previous judgment dated 12.04.2017 continues to bind the parties and the effect of the order passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court is that the State government is free to take a decision for enhancing the honourarium paid to the petitioners, although it is not bound to grant parity to the petitioners with M.B.B.S. doctors.

22. The Hon'ble Single Judge has allowed the writ petition and the review petition by extensively quoting and relying upon the judgment in the case of Dr. Om Prakash Gupta and another versus State of UP and another, Writ A No. 8366 of 2017 decided on 06/05/2022 , which was a case filed by confirmed class to officers working on the post of medical officers (Ayurvedic) challenging an order passed by the government denying the benefit of dynamic/special assured career progression scheme which was made admissible to the medical officers of the provincial medical health services. The issue of payment of honourarium doctors engaged on contractual basis was not involved in aforesaid case.

23. It is settled law that judgments are not to be read as statutes and the ratio decidendi of judgment is to be read along with the context in which the case was decided.

24. In Escorts Ltd. v. CCE, (2004) 8 SCC 335, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"8. Courts should not place reliance on decisions without discussing as to how the factual situation fits in with the fact situation of the decision on which reliance is placed. Observations of courts are neither to be read as Euclid's theorems nor as provisions of a statute and that too taken out of their context. These observations must be read in the context in which they appear to have been stated. Judgments of courts are not to be construed as statutes. To interpret words, phrases and provisions of a statute, it may become necessary for Judges to embark into lengthy discussions but the discussion is meant to explain and not to define. Judges interpret statutes, they do not interpret judgments. They interpret words of statutes; their words are not to be interpreted as statutes. In London Graving Dock Co. Ltd. v. Horton2 (AC at p. 761), Lord MacDermott observed: (All ER p. 14 C-D)

"The matter cannot, of course, be settled merely by treating the ipsissima verba of Willes, J., as though they were part of an Act of Parliament and applying the rules of interpretation appropriate thereto. This is not to detract from the great weight to be given to the language actually used by that most distinguished judge,..."

9. In Home Office v. Dorset Yacht Co.3 Lord Reid said (All ER p. 297g-h),

"Lord Atkin's speech ... is not to be treated as if it were a statutory definition. It will require qualification in new circumstances."

Megarry, J. in Shepherd Homes Ltd. v. Sandham (No. 2)4 observed: (All ER p. 1274d-e) "One must not, of course, construe even a reserved judgment of even Russell, L.J. as if it were an Act of Parliament;" And, in Herrington v. British Railways Board5 Lord Morris said: (All ER p. 761c)

"There is always peril in treating the words of a speech or a judgment as though they were words in a legislative enactment, and it is to be remembered that judicial utterances are made in the setting of the facts of a particular case."

10. Circumstantial flexibility, one additional or different fact may make a world of difference between conclusions in two cases. Disposal of cases by blindly placing reliance on a decision is not proper."

25. In Bhavnagar University v. Palitana Sugar Mill (P) Ltd., (2003) 2 SCC 111, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"59. A decision, as is well known, is an authority for which it is decided and not what can logically be deduced therefrom. It is also well settled that a little difference in facts or additional facts may make a lot of difference in the precedential value of a decision."

26. Therefore, we are of the view that the case of Dr. Om Prakash Gupta, which does not deal with the subject of payment of honourarium to doctors engaged on contract, has no application while deciding the claim of parity in payment of honourarium between Ayush doctors and M.B.B.S. doctors.

27. The learned Counsel for the respondents has relied upon the judgment in the case of North Delhi Municipal Corporation v. Ram Naresh Sharma, 2021 SCC OnLine SC 540, in which the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"23. The common contention of the appellants before us is that classification of AYUSH doctors and doctors under CHS in different categories is reasonable and permissible in law. This however does not appeal to us and we are inclined to agree with the findings of the Tribunal and the Delhi High Court that the classification is discriminatory and unreasonable since doctors under both segments are performing the same function of treating and healing their patients. The only difference is that AYUSH doctors are using indigenous systems of medicine like Ayurveda, Unani, etc. and CHS doctors are using Allopathy for tending to their patients. In our understanding, the mode of treatment by itself under the prevalent scheme of things, does not qualify as an intelligible differentia. Therefore, such unreasonable classification and discrimination based on it would surely be inconsistent with Article 14 of the Constitution. The order of AYUSH Ministry dated 24.11.2017 extending the age of superannuation to 65 Years also endorses such a view. This extension is in tune with the notification of Ministry of Health and Family Welfare dated 31.05.2016.

The doctors, both under AYUSH and CHS, render service to patients and on this core aspect, there is nothing to distinguish them. Therefore, no rational justification is seen for having different dates for bestowing the benefit of extended age of superannuation to these two categories of doctors. Hence, the order of AYUSH Ministry (F. No. D. 14019/4/2016-E-I (AYUSH)) dated 24.11.2017 must be retrospectively applied from 31.05.2016 to all concerned respondent-doctors, in the present appeals. All consequences must follow from this conclusion.

In light of the above discussion, the appellant's actions in not paying the respondent doctors their due salary and benefits, while their counterparts in CHS system received salary and benefits in full, must be seen as discriminatory. *Hence, we have no hesitation in holding that the respondent-doctors are entitled to their full salary arrears and the same is ordered to be disbursed, within 8 weeks from today. Belated payment beyond the stipulated period will carry interest, at the rate of 6% from the date of this order until the date of payment. It is ordered accordin*gly. The appeals are disposed of in above terms without any order on cost."

28. Dr. Mishra has also relied upon the decision in Sanjay Singh Chauhan and Ors. vs. State of Uttarakhand and Ors., Writ Petition No. 484 (S/B) of 2014, decided on 03.04.2018, wherein the High Court of Uttrakhand held that:-

"6. There is no intelligible differentia so as to distinguish the Ayurvedic and Homeopathic Medical Officers viz-a-viz. Allopathic and Dental Medical Officers. There is no rational why the similar situate persons have been discriminated against. The petitioners as well as Allopathic and Dental Medical Officers constitute homogenous class.

10. In the instant case, the duties discharged by the petitioners viz-a-viz. Allopathic Medical Officers and Dental Medical Officers are of equal sensitivity and quality, even the responsibility and reliability are the same. The classification made by the State Government is irrational."

29. In The State Of Uttarakhand vs Sanjay Singh Chauhan SLP (C) No.33645/2018, the Hon'ble Supreme Court was pleased to provide that: -

"... the respondents who are Ayurvedic doctors will be entitled to be treated at par with Allopathic Medical Officers and Dental Medical Officers under the National Rural Health Mission (NRHM/NHM) Scheme. After the order was passed, learned counsel for the petitioners made a statement that petitioners would like to file a review petition before the High Court. It is not for this Court to issue any such direction. It is always open to the petitioners to pursue such remedy as may be available to them in law.

30. In WRIT-A No.-8366of 2017, Dr.Om Prakash Gupta And Anr.Versus State Of U.P. it has been held that under: -

"It goes without saying that the Western medicine (Allopathy) is integral to our current health care system, but so are other alternative and complementary health care modalities that are available for the people to choose. Western medicine is sometimes at a loss when it comes to treating the patients holistically. The submission of the learned State Counsel that the classification of Medical Officer (Ayurvedic) and Medical Officers PMHS is reasonable for the purposes of SACP having regard to their qualification and the nature of duties is not convincing. The classification is discriminatory and unreasonable since Medical Officers of both the segments are primarily performing the same function i.e. treating the patients. The difference is that one stream of doctors are using indigenous system of medicine and the other stream Allopathy for treating their patients. The mode of treatment, by itself does not qualify as an intelligible differentia. At the root is treatment of patients. The Medical Officers, both Ayurvedic and Allopathy render medical service to the patients and on this aspect, there is nothing to distinguish them. Treatment of patients is the core function common to the Medical Officers of different streams, therefore, no rational justification is seen to having different ACP scheme of bestowing the benefit of career progression to Medical Officers. As discussed earlier, the ACP scheme is personal to the government servant suffering stagnation and the pay upgradation does not rest upon any other (10) consideration viz. status of post, qualification, nature of duty or seniority. The scheme is purely compensatory. In the circumstances the Medical Officers of the State cannot be discriminated against by providing different period of service to earn the benefit of career progression. Therefore, the classification on face value is discriminatory and violative of Article 14 of the Constitution of India.

The State Government is justified in not accepting the Dynamic ACP formulated by the Central Government for its Medical Officers, instead formulated the SACP scheme falling within the realme of administrative policy. But the question is whether such a policy upon being provided can discriminate amongst different streams of medicine practised by Medical Officers. Admittedly, the Medical Officers, irrespective of the stream of medicine (Allopathy or conventional) treat the patients which is the core underlying similarity. The comparison with regard to qualification, course of study/syllabus, nature of duty, responsibility etc. as is being pressed by the State Government to carve (11) out a class of Medical Officers i.e. PHMS being superior to other Medical Officers is misconceived and unfounded insofar it relates to conferment of SACP. The administrative policy is invariably discriminatory in keeping the Medical Officers (Ayurvedic) and other streams out of the scheme having regard to the concept of ACP as discussed earlier."

31. In the case of Indian Drugs & Pharmaceuticals Ltd. v. Workmen, (2007) 1 SCC 408, the Hon'ble Supreme Court clarified that "a mere direction of the Supreme Court without laying down any principle of law is not a precedent. It is only where the Supreme Court lays down a principle of law that it will amount to a precedent."

32. The reasons recorded in the order dated 29/03/2019 passed on the representation of the petitioners, that the working conditions of Ayush doctors engaged on contractual basis are not the same as those of M.B.B.S. Doctors for the reasons that their duty is for six hours today, they are not given any physical charge, they are not required to deal with medicolegal cases and to conduct post-mortem examinations, there not required to administer I.V. injections and they do not perform surgeries other than only Ayurvedic/Yunani surgeries like ksharsutra, has not been found to be perverse or unsustainable. Therefore, the law laid down in the aforesaid cases referred by the learned Counsel for the respondents would not apply to the present case.

33. In view of the aforesaid discussion, we are of the considered opinion that the order dated 29/03/2019 passed by the government rejecting the representation of the petitioners does not suffer from any such error or illegality, as warranted and interference by this Court in exercise of its extraordinary jurisdiction under article 226 of the Constitution of India.

34. The Hon'ble Single Judge has allowed the writ petition and the review petition under mistaken belief that the benefit of assured career progression was being denied to the petitioners and that they were entitled to the same whereas the petitioners having been engaged on contractual basis, are not entitled to assured career progression and they had not raised any such claim. In view of the discussion made above, we do not find ourselves in agreement with the view taken by the Hon'ble single Judge while allowing the writ petition and the review petition.

35. Accordingly, the instant special appeal is allowed. The judgment and order dated 12.12.2022 passed by the Hon'ble single Judge in Civil Miscellaneous Review Application Number 187 of 2022 as well as the judgment and order dated 20/10/2022 passed in Writ A No. 23479 of 2019 are hereby set aside and Writ A No. 23479 of 2019 is dismissed.

C/M, Alpsankhyak Shiksha Vikas Samiti, Kanpur & Anr. ...Appellants

Versus

State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellants:
Rajat Rajan Singh, Vidhu Bhushan Kalia

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., A.S.G.I., Devak Vardhan

A. Education Law – Reduction in percentile criteria for admission - National Commission for Indian System of Medicine Act, 2020: Section 10, 55(1); National Commission for Indian System of Medicine Act, 2020 (Act No. 14 of 2020); National Commission for Indian System of Medicines (Minimum Standards of Undergraduate Ayurvedic Education) Regulations, 2022; National Commission for Indian System of Medicines (Minimum Standards of Undergraduate Unani Education) Regulations, 2022 - The issue of reducing cut-off marks is a matter of academic policy and it is not possible for the Court to entertain such requests by directing reduction in the percentile. Fixing of cut-off marks etc. for the purposes of making admission in the undergraduate course, decision in respect of fixation or reducing or enhancing minimum percentile, is a matter of policy that is one of the primary functions and duties of the Commission, which is an autonomous statutory body created by an Act of parliament. (Para 27)

B. Proviso appended to Regulation 5(2) of the Regulations, is to be construed in the light of the entire scheme of the Act, 2020 and the Regulations framed thereunder - No doubt, the proviso envisages a situation where the Commission has to exercise its discretion for lowering the minimum marks required for admission, where sufficient number of students in the respective category fail to secure minimum marks in NEET, however, such provision is to be considered and construed in the light of the provisions of the Act, 2020.

The very purpose of enacting Act No. 14 of 2020 was to improve access to quality medical education and to ensure availability of adequate and high quality medical professionals of Indian System of medicines in all parts of the country. Thus, if the Commission takes into account any factor which is relevant for the purposes of improving access to quality medical education and which would ensure availability of high quality medical professionals of Indian system of medicine, the said factors will not be irrelevant even while exercising the discretion vested in the Commission under the proviso appended to Regulation 5(2) of the Regulations. But consideration of such factors will be germane to the purpose for which the Commission has been created under the 2020 Act.

In the present case, the Commission while rejecting the prayer of the appellants-petitioners has assigned the reason that the eligibility criteria was fixed to maintain the quality of education and to give opportunity to well qualified and skillful students to become professionals in the field of Indian system of Medicine. Further reason assigned therein is that such doctors have to deal with the patients' life and thus merit cannot be disregarded. (Para 28 to 30)

The reason given by the Commission in the order dated 02.03.2023 in the light of undisputed fact that though NEET UG carries 715 maximum marks and the cut-off marks for general category candidates has been fixed at 117 and those for reserved category has been fixed to be 93, there is no reason to disagree with the Commission's view that further lowering the cut-off marks will not be conducive for the purpose for which NEET is organized i.e. to select the best of the candidates to pursue medical courses in Indian systems of medicine. (Para 31)

C. The possibility of available candidates who are credited with more percentile than the cut-off percentile having not opted for the institutes run by the appellant-petitioners, cannot be denied. The submission that there exists non-availability of the candidates and because of their non-availability, seats in the institutions remained unfilled does not stand its ground as the total available candidates on the basis of existing cut of percentile are 9,93,069 whereas the total number of seats to be filled in all streams of the undergraduate courses is only 2 lakhs. (Para 32)

D. Observations about the manner in which the decision by the Commission embodied in the letter/order/circular dated 02.03.2023 has been arrived at – (i) The Commission has not followed the mandate of the proviso appended to the Regulation 5(2) of the Regulations by not consulting the Central Government. (Para 34 to 38)

(ii) Ambiguity in the proviso appended to Regulation 5(2) of the Regulations. The earlier part of the proviso St.s that the Commission will take a decision in its discretion to lower the minimum marks in consultation with the Central Government, however, the later part of the said proviso itself St.s that marks so lowered by the Central Government shall be applicable. Thus the ambiguous language in which the proviso is couched has the potential of creating confusion in as much as it is not clear as to in the matter of lowering the cut-off marks for admission which is the final authority, the Commission or the Government of India. (Para 39)

Special appeal dismissed. (E-4)

Present special appeal questions the legality and validity of the order dated 03.03.2023, passed by learned Single Judge in Writ C No. 1747 of 2023, which was filed with a prayer for quashing the order passed by the National Commission for Indian System of Medicine, dated 02.03.2023 whereby the prayer of the appellants-petitioners for reducing the percentile criteria for admission to undergraduate B.U.M.S. and B.A.M.S. courses based on NEET 2022 has been refused and further, the request for extending the date of counseling for the purposes of said admission has also not been acceded to.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Devendra Kumar Upadhyaya, J.
Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Our jurisdiction under Chapter VIII Rule 5 of the Allahabad High Court Rules has been invoked to question the legality and validity of the order dated 03.03.2023 passed by learned Single Judge in Writ C No. 1747 of 2023. By the said order learned Single Judge has dismissed the writ petition which was filed with a prayer for quashing the order passed by the National Commission for Indian System of Medicine (hereinafter referred to as the "Commission'), dated 02.03.2023 whereby the prayer of the appellants-petitioners for reducing the percentile criteria for admission to undergraduate B.U.M.S. and B.A.M.S. courses based on NEET 2022 has been refused and further, the request for extending the date of counseling for the purposes of said admission has also not been acceded to.

2. Heard Sri Rajat Rajan Singh, Sri Vidhu Bhushan Kalia and Sri. Adarsh Saxena Advocates, the learned counsel representing the appellants-petitioners and Sri Asit Chaturvedi, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Devak Vardhan Advocate for the Commission, Sri Shailendra Kumar Singh, learned Chief Standing Counsel assisted by Sri Nishant Shukla, learned Standing Counsel representing the State of UP, Sri Anand Dwivedi, learned counsel representing the Union of India.

3. In deference to our order passed on 04.03.2023 Dr. S. Sreenivasa Prasad Beduru, President, Board of Ayurveda, National Commission for Indian System of Medicines is present in person in the Court. He has also been heard in support of the case put forth before us by the Commission.

4. We have also perused the records available before us on this special appeal.

5. The appellant no. 1 is a society which runs a medical college offering undergraduate/bachelor's degree courses in Unani system of medicine, whereas the appellant no. 2 is also a society which runs a medical college offering undergraduate course in Ayurvedic system of medicine.

6. The central legislature enacted the Natioinal Commission for Indian System of Medicine Act, 2020 (Act No. 14 of 2020) for providing an appropriate medical education system that improves access to quality and affordable medical education and further ensures availability of adequate and high quality medical professionals of Indian system of medicine in all parts of the country. The functions of the said Commission, as described in Section 10 of the Act, 2020, are inter alia to lay down policies for maintaining high quality and high standards in education in Indian system of medicine and to make necessary regulations therefor. Section 55(1) of the 2020 Act empowers the Commission to make regulations to carry out the provisions of the said Act. In exercise of its powers vested in it under sub section (2) of Section 55 of 2020 Act, two separate sets of Regulations have been framed by the Commission which are known as (i) National Commission for Indian System of Medicines (Minimum Standards of Undergraduate Ayurvedic Education) Regulations, 2022 and National Commission for Indian System of Medicines (Minimum Standards of Undergraduate Unani Education) Regulations, 2022, notified respectively on 16.02.2022 and 28.02.2022. As per the scheme for making admissions available in these two regulations, admissions to undergraduate courses in Ayurvedic and Unani systems of medicine are made through National Eligibility-cum-Entrance Test (NEET) which is to be conducted by an authority to be designated for the said purpose by the Commission. The authority designated for conducting the NEET by the Commission is National Board of Examination in Medical Science, New Delhi.

7. National Eligibility-cum-Entrance Test, Undergraduate (NEET UG) was held in the month of April, 2022 for making admissions in the academic session 2022-23. On the basis of the result of NEET UG 2022, online counseling was to be held in five rounds, namely the first round, the second round, mop-up/3rd round, special mop-up round and stray vacancy round. Last date of counseling as determined by the Commission was 18.02.2023 which was extended till 04.03.2023.

8. The appellants-petitioners instituted the proceedings of Writ C No. 1313 of 2023 before this Court with the prayer that the minimum marks required for admission to the undergraduate courses in question be ordered to be reduced for the reason that sufficient number of candidates with minimum marks determined by the Commission, were not available. In terms of the provisions contained in Regulation 5(2) of the Regulations it is the Commission in consultation with the Central Government which is empowered in its discretion to lower the minimum marks required for admission to undergraduate courses where sufficient number of candidates in the respective category failed to secure the minimum marks in NEET.

9. This Court disposed of Writ C No. 1313 of 2023 by means of the order dated 17.02.2023 directing the Commission to take a decision on the representation which was preferred by the appellants. The said direction appears to have been given by the learned Single Judge keeping in view the provisions contained in Regulation 5(2) of the Regulations.

10. In compliance of the order dated 17.02.2023 the Commission took the decision which is embodied in the letter / order / circular dated 02.03.2023 whereby the prayer of the appellants-petitioners was refused.

11. Writ C No. 1747 of 2023 was filed by the appellants-petitioners on 28.04.2023 with the prayers to direct the Union of India to further extend the last date of admission up to 31.03.2023 and further, to lower the minimum percentile in NEET UG 2023 for making admissions to the courses in question. Another prayer made in the writ petition was that the respondents be directed to conduct stray round of counseling for filling up the vacant seats in the institutions run by the appellants-petitioners and for the said purpose, to conduct counseling of All India Quota seats. The writ petition has however been dismissed by the order dated 03.03.2023 passed by learned Single, Judge which is under challenge before us in this special appeal. During pendency of the writ petition, the order dated 02.03.2023 passed by the Commission was communicated to the appellants-petitioners. Accordingly, the writ petition was amended and a challenge to the said order dated 02.03.2023 with the prayer to quash the same was also made by way of amending the writ petition.

12. Sri Rajat Rajan Singh making submissions on behalf of the appellants-petitioners, has submitted that the reasons indicate by the Commission in its order dated 02.03.2023 refusing the prayer of the appellants-petitioners are not germane in as much as the reasons indicated therein are not available to the Commission to deny their prayer. He has also submitted that reliance placed by the Commission on the judgment rendered by Hon'ble Supreme Court on 20.02.2020 in the case of Union of India v. Federation of Self-Financed Ayurvedic Colleges Punjab & Ors. (Civil Appeal No. 603 of 2020) is misplaced in as much as considering the dictum of the said judgment, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in a later judgment rendered on 08.02.2021 in the case of Harshit Agarwal & Ors. v. Union of India & Ors (Writ Petition (C) No. 54 of 2021) has held that the only relevant factor to be considered by the Commission while exercising its discretion under the Proviso appended to Regulation 5(2) of the Regulations is the non-availability of eligible students and further that consideration of factors other than the said factor would be the result of influence by irrelevant or extraneous matters. Sri Rajat Rajan Singh has drawn our attention to another judgment dated 29.04.2022 of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Kunal & Ors. v. Union of India & Ors. (Writ Petition (Civil) No. 290 of 2022 decided on 29.04.2022) and has submitted that noticing the judgment in the case of Harshit Agarwal (supra) the Supreme Court in Kunal & Ors. (supra) has agreed with the dictum of Harshit Agarwal (supra).

13. Several other arguments have also been made by the learned counsel appearing for the appellants-petitioners by submitting that the State Government did not conduct the counseling so far as the privately run unaided institutions in the State of U.P. are concerned for all India quota seats to the extent of 15% as is permissible under the relevant Regulations. On the aforesaid count, submission of the learned counsel for the appellants is that learned Single Judge has completely ignored the aforesaid relevant aspects of the matter and has thus erred in dismissing the writ petition filed by the appellants-petitioner. He thus prays that the special appeal may be allowed with the direction to the Commission to lower down the minimum percentile for making admission in the institutions run by the appellants-petitioners.

14. On the other hand, the learned Senior Advocate representing the Commission and the learned counsel appearing on behalf of the Union of India have submitted that relevant factors were considered by the Commission while rejecting the prayer of the appellants-petitioners and as a matter of fact in case the minimum percentile is reduced, the same may result in producing half-baked doctors and that in the facts of the present case alleged non availability of the eligible candidates for admission to the courses in question cannot be a reason to lower down the standards prescribed by the Commission. On behalf of the respondent-Commission it has been argued that the judgment in the case of Harshit Agarwal and Kunal were rendered in the facts of the case and in fact these judgments do not lay down any ratio as a binding precedence. Reliance has been placed by the learned Senior Advocate representing the Commission on the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court rendered on 09.05.2022 in the case of NIMS University v. Union of India & Ors, reported in 2022 SCC OnLine 644 for submitting that the issue as to whether percentile should be reduced, is a matter of academic policy and the reasons which might have weighed with the Commission for declining to reduced percentile, cannot be said to be arbitrary or extraneous.

15. Our attention on behalf of the Commission and the Union of India has also been drawn to two letters- (i) the letter dated 17.02.2023 written by the Special Secretary in the Ministry of Ayush, Government of India to the Additional Chief Secretary (Health and Family Welfare Department, Government of Gujarat) and (ii) the letter dated 24.02.2023 written by the Director, Ministry of Ayush, Government of India to the Central Government Standing Counsel representing the Government of India before the Hon'ble High Court of Madras in a related matter. Sri Chaturvedi has submitted that in fact the Government of India in the aforesaid two letters gave adequate reasons which weighed with the Commission while passing the order dated 02.03.2023 refusing the prayer of the appellants-petitioners to lower the percentile for the purposes of making admission to the courses in question. According to him, one reason indicated in the said letters is that since the Central Counseling Committee had already conducted 5 rounds of counseling till 15.02.2023, as such even if the cut-off percentile is reduced, additional eligible candidates on account of reduced cut-off percentile will not get a chance to participate in the counseling. It has also been argued that the Government of India is of the opinion that the conversion algorithm has already been applied on the all India quota seats which were not opted by any candidate and hence even on account of the reduced percentile cut-off, additionally eligible candidates will not get the reserved seats as the said seats have already been occupied on the basis of such conversion algorithm. The third reason, as argued by Mr. Chaturvedi on the basis of the aforesaid two letters, is that approximately 52,274 Ayush seats were available for the current academic year as against which 9,93,069 candidates have qualified and hence there does not appear to be any shortage of qualified candidates. Sri Chaturvedi has further argued that NEET-UG is conducted not only for making admissions to the undergraduate courses in Indian systems of medicines but also to undergraduate courses in Allopathic system of medicine (M.B.B.S.) and also to the undergraduate courses in Dental Science (B.D.S.). He has further stated that as against the total seats of about 2 lakh in these courses, the candidates who were declared to have obtained the minimum cut-off percentile in NEET-2023 are 9,93,069. His further submission is that out of these 9,93,069 candidates, only two lakh seats are to be filled in. Thus about 8 lakh candidates declared successful on the basis of cut-off percentile have not taken admission anywhere and accordingly it is not a case where the candidates are not available rather it is a case where the available candidates have exercised their option not to seek admission in the institutions being run by the appellants-petitioners.

16. Further submission on behalf of the Commission is that NEET 2022 carried 715 marks and the cut-off marks for the general category candidates to qualify is 117 whereas for reserved category of Scheduled Casts, Scheduled Tribes and Other Backward Classes it is 93. The submission is that the minimum cut-off marks for admission to undergraduate courses as prescribed by the Commission itself are considerably low for the different categories of candidates and further lowering of such marks will ultimately result in compromising with the merit, which will not be in public interest also.

17. On the aforesaid counts, the submission on behalf of the Union of India and the Commission, is that the order passed by the learned Single Judge in this case need not be interfered with.

18. So far as the State of UP is concerned, our attention has been drawn to the Government Order dated 19.12.2022 according to which the State Government conducted counseling for 85% state quota seats in the Government Ayurvedic/ Unani and Homeopathic colleges and it also conducted counseling for 100% seats, which included 85% State Quota seats and 15% all India quota seats, in private colleges. It has thus been argued by the learned Chief Standing Counsel Sri Shailendra Singh that the submission of the learned counsel for the appellants-petitioners that no counseling by the State was conducted against 15% all India quota seats, is factually incorrect. Apart from the aforesaid, learned counsel representing the State has submitted that rest of the issues do not concern the State Government.

19. We have given our thoughtful consideration to the rival submissions made by the learned counsel representing respective parties. The sheet anchor of the arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the appellants-petitioners is the judgment in the case of Harshit Agarwal (supra). So far as the assertion that State Government had not conducted counselling for 15% all India quota seats is concerned, in view of the statement made by the learned Chief Standing Counsel appearing for the State as also having regard to the Government Order dated 19.12.2022, this submission appears to be incorrect which is thus not acceptable.

20. As noticed above, heavy reliance has been placed by learned counsel representing the appellants-petitioners on the judgment in the case of Harshit Agarwal (supra) where the earlier judgment in the case of Federation of Self-financed Ayurvedic Colleges (supra) has been noticed and it has been stated that consideration of factors other than availability of eligible students would be the result of the Commission being influenced by irrelevant or extraneous matters.

21. Reliance has also been placed by the learned counsel representing the appellants on Kunal & Ors. (supra) wherein a reference to Harshit Agarwal (supra) has been made. Reference to yet another judgment by Supreme Court in the case of NIMS (supra) has been made by the learned counsel representing the commission to refute the submission made on behalf of the appellants-petitioners on the basis of Harshit Agarwal (supra).

22. We now proceed to note the facts under which the aforesaid judgments in the case of Federation of Self-financed Ayurvedic Colleges (supra), Harshit Agarwal (supra) and Kunal & Ors. (supra) have been rendered.

23. The subject matter in the case of Federation of Self-financed Ayurvedic Colleges (supra) was the notification issued by the then existing Central Council of Indian Medicine (the Predecessor of the Commission) and the minimum qualifying marks prescribed therein. Hon'ble Supreme Court, while noticing the submissions made in the said case on behalf of the Council and the Government of India that minimum standards cannot be lowered even for Ayush courses, observed that doctors who are qualified in Ayurvedic, Unani and Homeopathic systems also treat patients and lack of minimum standards in education would result in half-baked doctors being turned out of professional colleges. Hon'ble Supreme Court further observed that non-availability of eligible candidates for admission to Ayush undergraduate courses cannot be a reason to lower the prescribed standards.

24. Thus Hon'ble Supreme Court did not interfere in the prescribed standards on the ground that there was non-availability of eligible candidates for admission.

25. So far as Harshit Agarwal (supra) is concerned, the said case was filed by those who had appeared in NEET 2020 for admission to BDS course and had not obtained the minimum marks prescribed by the Dental Council of India in the regulations. In the said case, in terms of the extant regulations which were in vogue at the relevant point of time, the Dental Council of India had recommended for lowering the cut-off percentile and as per the regulations consideration for lowering the minimum cut-off marks was to be made by the Government of India in consultation with the Dental Council of India. It is in this fact situation where the expert body namely Dental Council of India had recommended to the Central Government for lowering down the cut-off marks, that the judgment in the case of Harshit Agarwal was rendered by Hon'ble Supreme Court wherein the reasons given by the Central Government for not accepting the recommendation of the Dental Council of India were not found sound.

26. So far as the judgment in the case of Kunal (supra) is concerned, in the said case also the Executive Committee of the Dental Council of India had recommended to the Central Government to lower down the qualifying cut-off percentile for NEET UG. However, since the Government of India had not taken any decision on the recommendation made by the Dental Council of India, a writ petition was filed before the Supreme Court under Article 32 of the Constitution of India. During the course of pendency of the said case, it was informed to Hon'ble Supreme Court that a decision was taken by the Union of India not to reduce the minimum percentile fixed for eligibility. It is in these circumstances that referring to the judgment in the case of Harshit Agarwal, Hon'ble Court while disposing of the said matter by means of the order dated 29.04.2022, directed the Central Government to reconsider the issue relating to re-fixation of the cut-off percentile. Thus so far as the judgments in the case of Harshit Agarwal and Kunal (supra) are concerned, it is noticeable that in both the cases, the body of experts, namely Dental Council of India, had already found it appropriate to lower down the cut-off percentile for the purpose of facilitating the admission in BDS course, whereas in the present case, such a prayer has been rejected by the experts' body i.e. the Commission.

27. We may now refer to the judgment relied upon by learned counsel for the Commission in the case of NIMS University (supra). In the said judgment Hon'ble Supreme Court has clearly held that the issue as to whether cut-off marks should be reduced or not is a matter of academic policy and that it is not possible for the Court to entertain such requests by directing reduction in the percentile. Though the matter in the case of NIMS University (supra) related to admission in Super Specialty courses, however, so far as fixing of cut-off marks etc. for the purposes of making admission even in the undergraduate courses is concerned, decision in respect of fixation or reducing or enhancing minimum percentile, in our opinion, is a matter of policy that is one of the primary functions and duties of the Commission, which is an autonomous statutory body created by an Act of parliament.

28. As regards the submission of the learned counsel for the appellant that insufficiency of number of candidates is the only relevant consideration for determining as to whether the minimum marks for admission are to be lowered or not is concerned, we may deal with the said issue in the light of the provisions contained not only in the proviso appended to Regulation 5 (2) of the Regulations, but also keeping in view the entire scheme of the Act, 2020 and the Regulations framed thereunder.

29. Proviso appended to Regulation 5(2) of the Regulations runs as under:-

"Provided further that where sufficient number of candidates in the respective category fail to secure minimum marks in the National Eligibility- cum-entrance Test held for any academic year for admission to undergraduate programme, the National Commission for Indian System of Medicine in consultation with the Central Government may at its discretion lower the minimum in consultation with the Central Government may as its discretion lower the minimum marks required for admission to undergraduate programme for candidates belonging to respective category and marks so lowered by the Central Government shall be applicable for that academic year only."

30. No doubt, the said proviso envisages a situation where the Commission has to exercise its discretion for lowering the minimum marks required for admission, where sufficient number of students in the respective category fail to secure minimum marks in NEET, however, such provision is to be considered and construed in the light of the provisions of the Act, 2020. As noticed above, the very purpose of enacting Act No. 14 of 2020 was to improve access to quality medical education and to ensure availability of adequate and high quality medical professionals of Indian System of medicines in all parts of the country. Thus, if the Commission takes into account any factor which is relevant for the purposes of improving access to quality medical education and which would ensure availability of high quality medical professionals of Indian system of medicine, in our considered opinion the said factors will not be irrelevant even while exercising the discretion vested in the Commission under the proviso appended to Regulation 5(2) of the Regulations. But consideration of such factors will be germane to the purpose for which the Commission has been created under the 2020 Act. If we, thus, examine the submissions of the learned Counsel for the petitioners in the light of what we have noticed above, what we find is that the Commission while rejecting the prayer of the appellants-petitioners has assigned the reason that the eligibility criteria was fixed to maintain the quality of education and to give opportunity to well qualified and skillful students to become professionals in the field of Indian system of Medicine. Further reason assigned therein is that such doctors have to deal with the patients' life and thus merit cannot be disregarded.

31. If we further examine the reason given by the Commission in the order dated 02.03.2023 in the light of undisputed fact that though NEET UG carries 715 maximum marks and the cut-off marks for general category candidates has been fixed at 117 and those for reserved category has been fixed to be 93, though this Court is not expert in such matters, however, we have no reason to disagree with the Commission's view that further lowering the cut-off marks will not be conducive for the purpose for which NEET is organized i.e. to select the best of the candidates to pursue medical courses in Indian systems of medicine.

32. The submission made on behalf of the appellants-petitioners that there exists non-availability of the candidates and because of their non-availability seats in their institutions remained unfilled also does not impress us for the simple reason that the total available candidates on the basis of existing cut of percentile are 9,93,069 whereas the total number of seats to be filled in all streams of the undergraduate courses is only 2 lakhs. Accordingly, the possibility of available candidates who are credited with more percentile than the cut-off percentile having not opted for the institutes run by the appellant-petitioners, cannot be denied.

33. For the discussion made and the reasons given above we do not find any good ground to interfere with the order passed by the learned Single Judge. Resultantly special appeal is dismissed.

34. However, before parting with the case we may make certain observations about the manner in which the decision by the Commission embodied in the letter/order/circular dated 02.03.2023 has been arrived at.

35. We have quoted the proviso appended to Regulation 5(2) of the Regulations which vests the authority in the Commission to take a decision in its discretion for lowering the minimum marks required for admission to undergraduate programmes for the candidates belonging to respective categories. According to the said provision, the Commission has to take a decision in consultation with the Central Government in a situation where sufficient number of candidates in respective categories are not available because of the fact that they could not secure the minimum marks in NEET. However, the order dated 02.03.2023 does not make any mention of the Commission having consulted the Central Government. Even the learned Senior Advocate representing the Commission has fairly admitted that no consultation in writing was held with the Central Government, rather before taking the decision dated 02.03.2022 verbal telephonic conversation took place between the authorities of the Commission and the officers of the Central Government wherein the Commission was apprised of the Central Government stand as is contained in the two letters mentioned above, namely the letter dated 17.02.2023 from the Ministry of Ayush, Government of India addressed to the State of Gujarat and the letter dated 24.02.2023 written by the Director, Ministry of Ayush to the learned Standing Counsel representing the Central Government before the Hon'ble High Court of Madras.

36. It is to be noticed that except the proviso appended to Regulation 5(2) of the Regulations, there is no other provision which empowers the Commission to take a decision regarding lowering of cut-off marks. It is also to be noticed that it is under the directions issued by this Court vide its order dated 17.02.2023 in Writ Petition (C) No.1313 of 2023 that the Commission was to consider the issue relating to lowering of the cut-off percentile.

37. Once the proviso mandates the decision to be taken by the Commission only after consultation with the Central Government, it was mandatory and binding on the Commission to have properly and appropriately consulted the Central Government before passing the order dated 02.03.2023. Even if the Central Government had expressed its views in the letters as aforesaid, dated 17.02.2023 and 24.02.2023, that in itself would not amount to consultation for the reason that none of the letters were addressed to the Commission and even their copies were not endorsed to the Commission. While making the decision, the verbal information said to have been provided by the Central Government to the Commission regarding these two letters could have been noticed and noted.

38. In the aforesaid view of the matter it appears that the Commission has not followed the mandate of the proviso appended to the Regulation 5(2) of the Regulations by not consulting the Central Government.

39. There is yet another issue which we notice and that is in relation to the ambiguity which exists in the proviso appended to Regulation 5(2) of the Regulations. If we peruse the said proviso with care and precision, what we find is that the earlier part of the proviso states that the Commission will take a decision in its discretion to lower the minimum marks in consultation with the Central Government, however, the later part of the said proviso itself states that marks so lowered by the Central Government shall be applicable. Thus the ambiguous language in which the proviso is couched has the potential of creating confusion in as much as it is not clear as to in the matter of lowering the cut-off marks for admission which is the final authority, the Commission or the Government of India.

40. We thus call upon the Commission and the Government of India in the concerned department and ministry to look into the aforesaid aspect of the matter and take corrective measures so that ambiguity which we have noticed in the proviso appended to Regulation 5(2) of the Regulations and its earlier and later parts may be reconciled.

41. There will be no orders as to costs.

THE HON'BLE RAMESH SINHA, J.

HON'BLE SUBHASH VIDYARTHI, J.

Special Appeal No. 328 of 2014

Santosh Kumar Shukla 3531 S/S2000 ...Appellant

Versus

Syndicate Bank & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellant:
Mahendra Pratap Singh, Anuj Dayal, Mahendra Bahadur Singh

Counsel for the Respondents:
Gopal Kumar Srivastava

A. Service Law – Dismissal - If the rules for granting the advance themselves provided the consequence of the breach of conditions, it would be idle to go in search of any other consequence by initiating any disciplinary action in that behalf unless the 1975 Rules specifically incorporate a rule that the breach of House Building Advance Rules would by itself constitute a misconduct. Seeking advance and granting the same under relevant rules, is at best a loan transaction. The transaction may itself provide for repayment and the consequence of failure to repay or to abide by the rules. Any attempt to go in search of a possible other consequence of breach of contract itself appears to be arbitrary and even motivated. (Para 20)

In the present case, the appellant had taken a Housing Loan from the Bank under which he was employed as an Attendant which is a Class-IV post. The loan was granted in the year 1988. The rate of interest payable by the appellant was 5% per annum. The loan of Rs.75,000/- was payable in 24 years in monthly installment of Rs.357.15/-, which installments continued to be deducted from the appellant's salary or from his subsistence allowance during the period of his suspension and the entire loan amount has been repaid. (Para 21)

- The entire Housing Loan has been repaid by the appellant, no loss has been occasioned to the Bank by the appellant having sold away the house and, therefore, the finding

- that a serious loss was caused to the Bank by the conduct of the appellant in selling away the property, is not supported by the material available on record and is not sustainable.
- The observation that the property had been sold without permission of the Bank is correct, but the observation that the same was done without knowledge of the Bank, is incorrect as from the letter dated 27.10.1989, the appellant had informed the Assistant General Manager of the Bank confessing his guilt of making embezzlement of Rs.3,40,700/- and that he would repay the aforesaid amount of the Bank by selling away the house constructed by him and by collecting money from other sources as well. (Para 22, 25)
- Appellant's conduct has been alleged to be in violation of Clause 19.5(J) of the Bipartite Agreement amounting to misconduct. The alleged Bipartite Agreement has not been placed on record and there is nothing on record to indicate that the appellant was a party to the agreement or the conditions of the agreement were otherwise binding on the applicant. Moreover, assuming the conditions of the Bipartite Agreement were binding on the appellant, the breach of the conditions of the agreement cannot amount to a misconduct warranting disciplinary action as an agreement cannot be equated as Disciplinary Rules or Regulations through which penal consequences may be imposed upon an employee. (Para 24)
- The charge sheet did not contain a charge that any loss was caused to the Bank by the conduct of the appellant. (Para 25)

Present special appeal challenges the judgment and order dated 04.06.2014, passed by learned Single Judge, dismissing the Writ Petition No.3531 of 2000, which was filed by the appellant challenging his dismissal from services by means of an order dated 30.09.1999, as also the Appellate order dated 20.03.2000.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ramesh Sinha, J.
Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

(1) Heard Shri Anuj Dayal, learned counsel for the appellant and Shri Gopal Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for respondent.

(2) The instant Special Appeal has been filed by the appellant against the judgment and order dated 04.06.2014 passed by learned Single Judge, dismissing the Writ Petition No.3531 of 2000, which was filed by the appellant challenging his dismissal from services by means of an order dated 30.09.1999, as also the Appellate order dated 20.03.2000.

(3) Briefly stated, the facts of the case are that the appellant was appointed as an Attendant in Syndicate Bank on a Class-IV post on 01.05.1982 and after successfully completing the period of probation, his services were confirmed. The appellant had applied for a Staff Housing Loan of Rs.75,000/-, which was granted to him and the loan amount was payable along with interest of 5% per year in 24 years by paying monthly installment of Rs.357.15/-. The appellant had purchased a plot from Lucknow Development Authority for a consideration of Rs.35,000/- and the appellant was delivered the physical possession of the plot on 18.01.1989. Thereafter, the appellant submitted a building plan to construct a house over the said plot and the permission was granted to him vide order dated 10.03.1989. The appellant then was placed under suspension by means of an order dated 31.10.1989.

(4) On 06.08.1998 a charge sheet was issued to the appellant stating that he had sold away the property that was purchased by him after taking a Housing Loan from the Bank, without repaying the loan amount and without seeking permission from the Bank, in violation of the Employee Housing Loan Scheme. The charge sheet alleged that the aforesaid act of the appellant violated the Clause 19.5 of the Bipartite Agreement. The appellant submitted a reply denying the charges. The Enquiry Officer found the charges levelled against the appellant as conclusively proved and thereafter on 30.09.1999, an order was passed dismissing the appellant from the Bank's services.

(5) The appellant filed an appeal against the dismissal order dated 30.09.1999 which was dismissed by means of an order dated 20.03.2000.

(6) The aforesaid order has been challenged by filing Writ Petition No.3531 (S/S) of 2000 and on 13.07.2000, an interim order was passed whereby the dismissal order dated 30.09.1999 and the Appellate order dated 20.03.2000 were stayed.

(7) The respondent- Bank filed Special Appeal No.227 of 2000 against the interim order dated 13.07.2000 and in appeal, the interim order was modified to the effect that as the appellant had been convicted in a criminal case, he shall not be reinstated, but he shall be paid his salary regularly.

(8) Shri Anuj Dayal, learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that the appellant had taken a Housing Loan and he had purchased a residential plot from Lucknow Development Authority and possession of the plot was delivered to him. The appellant thereafter submitted a building plan to the Lucknow Development Authority and the Authority sanctioned the plan by means of an order dated 10.03.1989. He constructed a house on the plot from the said loan. On 31.10.1989, the petitioner was placed under suspension and on 09.03.1990, he had met with an accident causing grievous head injuries to him. The appellant was then admitted in the Civil Hospital, Lucknow and thereafter he was shifted to Sanjay Gandhi Postgraduate Institute of Medical Sciences, Lucknow, where he had to undergo a major surgical operation and he had to incur expenses for his treatment. For meeting out his medical expenses, the appellant had to borrow Rs.20,000/- from one Mr. Abdul Sageer Siddiqee and when the appellant could not repay the loan taken from Mr. Siddiqee, he pressurized the appellant to sell the plot and the house in favour of Smt. Sireen Rahman for a sale consideration of Rs.1,25,000/-. Mr. Siddiqee had handed over post-dated cheques towards the sale consideration of the property. However, the cheques were dishonoured. The appellant had to file a Regular Suit No.27 of 1991 in the Court of Civil Judge, Lucknow and ultimately, a compromise took place between them. It has been pleaded in the writ petition that the appellant had sold the property in compelling circumstances.

(9) Shri Dayal has drawn attention of this Court to the pleadings made in the appeal to the effect that the appellant had been suspended in a different matter by means of order dated 31.10.1981 and his suspension was revoked by means of an order dated 03.06.1998 and the appellant was reinstated in service and during the entire period the monthly installment towards the repayment of loan continued to be deducted from the salary of the appellant or from the subsistence allowance paid to him. After his reinstatement the appellant filed a representation claiming payment of arrears of salary as well as revision and fixation of his pay and, it was only thereafter that the appellant was issued a charge sheet dated 06.08.1998 stating that he had sold away the property that had been purchased after taking the Housing Loan from the Bank and he had earned profit at the cost of the Bank.

(10) Thus, it is evident that no loss was occasioned to the Bank by any act of the appellant as he had not misappropriated the loan amount. The loan was to be repaid in monthly installment in 24 years of Rs.357.15, which amount continued to be deducted regularly from the salary of the appellant and within the entire year loan amount has been repaid by the appellant.

(11) The learned Single Judge dismissed the Writ Petition filed by the appellant holding that the appellant had misutilized the funds of the Bank for personal gain as he had not created equitable mortgage in the property purchased out of the funds lent to him and the property was sold by him without permission and knowledge of the Bank. The learned Single Judge held that the conduct of the appellant in selling the property and making profit, amounted to mis-utilization of the Bank's funds causing serious loss to the Bank.

(12) While challenging the aforesaid order passed by the learned Single Judge, Shri Anuj Dayal, the learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that there was no allegation that any loss had been caused to the Bank by any act of the appellant and there was no material placed on record to prove any loss having been occasioned to the Bank. He has submitted that the findings of learned Single Judge, that serious loss had been caused to the Bank by the alleged conduct of the appellant, was not supported by any material.

(13) He has further submitted that he does not dispute the fact that selling away the property, which had been purchased from the Housing Loan given by the Bank, was not an appropriate conduct, but still, the consequence of this impropriety could be as per the conditions of the loan agreement only and such an act could not have been a foundation for the disciplinary proceedings leading to the appellant's dismissal from the services.

(14) Per contra, Shri Gopal Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the respondent has vehemently opposed the Special Appeal and he has submitted that the appellant was an employee of the Bank and any misconduct committed by a Bank's employee having adverse financial implications on the Bank, has to be dealt with seriousness. He has submitted that being a Bank employee the Housing Loan was granted to the appellant at a low interest of 2-2.5% and the appellant had availed the Housing Loan with an intention of selling away the house to earn profit and by this conduct of the appellant, the Bank has suffered loss.

(15) He has relied upon a decision of the Apex Court in the case of State Bank of India and Anr. vs. Bela Bagchi and Ors.; (2005) 7 SCC 435, which arose out of an order of dismissal of an employee of a Bank on the allegations that the employee had received money from an account holder for depositing in his Savings Bank Account, but she did not do so and made a fictitious credit entry in the pass-book of the account holder. Similar misconduct was repeated by a Bank employee on several other occasions. In the aforesaid factual backdrops, the Apex Court has held that "A Bank officer is required to exercise higher standards of honesty and integrity. He deals with money of the depositors and the customers. Every officer/employee of the Bank is required to take all possible steps to protect the interests of the Bank and to discharge his duties with utmost integrity, honesty, devotion and diligence and to do nothing which is unbecoming of a Bank officer. Good conduct and discipline are inseparable from the functioning of every officer/employee of the Bank. As was observed by this Court in Disciplinary Authority-cum-Regional Manager v. Nikunja Bihari Patnaik, [1996] 9 SCC 68, it is no defence available to say that there was no loss or profit resulted in case, when the officer/employee acted without authority. The very discipline of an organization more particularly a bank is dependent upon of its officers and officers acting and operating within their allotted sphere. Acting beyond one's authority is by itself a breach of discipline and is a misconduct. The charge against the employee were not casual in nature and were serious."

(16) However, the aforesaid dictum of the Apex Court is not applicable to the present case, as there is no allegation of misconduct having been committed by the appellant while discharging his duties as an employee of the Bank. There is no allegation of any embezzlement committed by the appellant. The sole allegation against the appellant is that he took a Housing Loan from the Bank, in which he was employed, and he sold away the house without prior permission of the Bank. There is even no allegation of non-payment of the money borrowed by the appellant from the Bank. The loan has been repaid as per the schedule and the Bank did not even an occasion to issue a demand notice for repayment of the loan, what to say about initiating any proceedings against the appellant for recovery of the loan amount. Therefore, the aforesaid decision of Bela Bagchi (supra) is of no avail to the respondent/ Bank in the present case.

(17) Shri Srivastava has next relied upon the judgment of Supreme Court in the case of Divisional Controller, KSRTC (NWKRTC) vs. A.T. Mane; (2005) 3 SCC 254, wherein the Apex Court upheld dismissal of a bus conductor on the ground that on a surprise check he was found to be in possession of unaccounted money of Rs.93/- over and above the amount of equivalent to the tickets issued by him. This decision also has no application to the facts of the present case.

(18) A copy of the loan agreement executed between the appellant and the respondent/ Bank indicates that it contained a condition that "The employee shall not sell the house without the previous permission of the Bank. If he/she sells the house, with or without the permission of the Bank or allows or suffer the house to be sold in execution of any decree against him/her the entire loan or so much thereof as may than remain unpaid shall become immediately payable on the date on which the sale is completed."

(19) From the aforesaid condition it appears that although there was a condition that the borrower will not sell the property without prior permission of the respondent, the consequences of sale without permission was also provided in the loan agreement and, therefore, it was open for the respondent to have proceeded against the appellant for breach of conditions of loan agreement in accordance with the provisions of the agreement itself.

(20) Shri Anuj Dayal, the learned counsel for the appellant has placed before us a judgment of the Apex Court in the case of A.L. Kalara vs. The Project & Equipment Corporation of India Limited; (1984) 3 SCC 316, wherein the Apex Court held that "If the rules for granting the advance themselves provided the consequence of the breach of conditions, it would be idle to go in search of any other consequence by initiating any disciplinary action in that behalf unless the 1975 Rules specifically incorporate a rule that the breach of House Building Advance Rules would by itself constitute a misconduct. That is not the case here as will be presently pointed out. Seeking advance and granting the same under relevant rules, is at best a loan transaction. The transaction may itself provide for repayment and the consequence of failure to repay or to abide by the rules. That has been done in this case. Any attempt to go in search of a possible other consequence of breach of contract itself appears to be arbitrary and even motivated."

(21) When we examine the facts and circumstances of the present case in light of the aforesaid law laid down by the Apex Court, we find that the appellant had taken a Housing Loan from the Bank under which he was employed as an Attendant which is a Class-IV post. The loan was granted in the year 1988. The rate of interest payable by the appellant was 5% per annum, and not 2-2.5% per annum as submitted by Shri Gopal Kumar Srivastava, the learned counsel for respondent-Bank. The loan of Rs.75,000/- was payable in 24 years in monthly installment of Rs.357.15/- , which installments continued to be deducted from the appellant's salary or from his subsistence allowance during the period of his suspension and the entire loan amount has been repaid.

(22) Shri Gopal Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the respondent/ Bank has drawn attention to a letter dated 27.10.1989, which was sent by the appellant to the Assistant General Manager of the Bank confessing his guilt of making embezzlement of Rs.3,40,700/- and the appellant had written that he would repay the aforesaid amount of the Bank by selling away the house constructed by him and by collecting money from other sources as well, through which he has tried to impress upon this Court that the appellant had intended to sell away the house even in the year 1989. However, from the perusal of the aforesaid letter indicates that the appellant had brought it to the knowledge of the Bank by means of his letter dated 27.10.1989 that he intended to sell his house and, therefore, the observation of the learned Single Judge that "the property was sold to third party without permission and knowledge of the Bank" is incorrect.

(23) Although Shri Srivastava has vehemently argued that the appellant's conduct has resulted in financial loss to the respondent/ Bank, but neither the charge sheet issued to the appellant contains any such charge, nor has any other material been brought on record before this Court to substantiate the submission of Shri Srivastava that the Bank has suffered any financial loss due to the conduct of the appellant. The Bank had created a Housing Loan, also on certain terms and conditions evident from the loan agreement. At the most, by selling the house purchased / constructed by the money borrowed from the Bank, the appellant has committed a breach of the conditions of the loan agreement but the Bank chose not to take any action for enforcement of the conditions of the agreement. The Bank continued to receive repayment of the loan by making deductions of the amount of monthly installment towards the repayment of the loan from the salary or the subsistence allowance paid to the appellant, for the entire duration of 24 years till the complete loan amount was repaid to the Bank.

(24) Shri Srivastava has submitted that the appellant's conduct is in violation of Clause 19.5 of the Bipartite Agreement and it amounts to a misconduct as per Clause 19.5(J) of the Bipartite Agreement. The alleged Bipartite Agreement has not been placed on record and there is nothing on record to indicate that the appellant was a party to the agreement or the conditions of the agreement were otherwise binding on the applicant. Moreover, assuming the conditions of the Bipartite Agreement were binding on the appellant, the breach of the conditions of the agreement cannot amount to a misconduct warranting disciplinary action as an agreement cannot be equated as Disciplinary Rules or Regulations through which penal consequences may be imposed upon an employee.

(25) In view of the aforesaid discussions, we are of the view that the entire Housing Loan has been repaid by the appellant, no loss has been occasioned to the Bank by the appellant having sold away the house and, therefore, the finding of the Hon'ble Single Judge that a serious loss was caused to the Bank by the conduct of the appellant in selling away the property, is not supported by the material available on record and is not sustainable. The observation of the Hon'ble Single Judge that the property had been sold without permission of the Bank is correct, but the observation that the same was done without knowledge of the Bank, is incorrect as from the letter dated 27.10.1989, the appellant had informed the Bank that he would repay the Bank's money after selling away the house. Moreover, the charge sheet did not contain a charge that any loss was caused to the Bank by the conduct of the appellant and there is nothing on record to support the finding of the Hon'ble Single Judge that serious loss was caused to the Bank by the conduct of the petitioner.

(26) In view of the aforesaid discussions the instant Special Appeal is allowed. The judgment and order dated 04.06.2014 is hereby set aside and the Writ Petition No.3531 of 2000 is allowed. The dismissal order dated 30.09.1999 and the Appellate order dated 20.03.2000 is hereby quashed.

(27) All the necessary consequences shall follow. However, there will be no order as to costs.

DATED: LUCKNOW 15.03.2023

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE KARUNESH SINGH PAWAR, J.

Durga Prasad Pathak ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Vivek Tripathi

Counsel for the Respondent:
C.S.C.

A. Service Law – Non-payment of post retiral dues – Criminal/judicial proceedings – Unless departmental proceedings have been initiated or some judicial or administrative proceedings have been initiated for the purpose of determining the guilt of the government servant during the course of his service, mere pendency of a criminal proceedings cannot be a ground for taking any action against the petitioner w.r.t. payment of his post retiral dues. (Para 9)

Perusal to the GO dated 28.10.1980 shows that respondents have misread the GO which relates only to the departmental judicial proceedings or the vigilance proceedings or the other proceedings, however, in the case in hand, it is clear from the record that no charge sheet has been filed against the petitioner, although the matter is of 1997. Speedy trial is the fundamental right of the accused and St.should promote that in concluding the criminal proceedings, if at all, initiated against the government servant. Merely by lodging an F.I.R. without there being any charge sheet, it cannot be said that judicial criminal proceedings are pending against the petitioner. The criminal case of such nature should not be allowed to linger for decades. (Para 10)

B. No provision has been cited before this Court to show that mere lodging an F.I.R. against the petitioner way back in the year 1997 without there being any progress in the investigation, the petitioner can be debarred from his pensionary benefits. There is no legal impediment in any service rules to debar the petitioner from releasing the remaining post retiral dues. Accordingly, a writ of mandamus is issued directing the opposite parties to release the remaining post retiral dues of the petitioner such as gratuity, regular pension etc. within a period of three months from the date of certified copy of this order. (Para 11)

Till the payment of post retiral dues to him, the petitioner is allowed to get the benefit of provisional pension within the aforesaid period. (Para 12)

Precedent followed:

Harnam Singh Yadav Vs St.of U.P., 2012 SCC OnLine All 3646 (Para 7)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karunesh Singh Pawar, J.)

1. Heard Shri Vivek Tripathi, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for the State.

2. Through this petition, the petitioner has sought a writ of mandamus commanding the opposite parties to release the regular pension, gratuity and insurance in favour of the petitioner along with interest.

3. Brief facts of the case is that the petitioner was initially appointed on 19.08.1970 in PAC and after training he was posted in 30th Battalion P.A.C., Gonda. The petitioner has retired on 31.05.2010 after completing the age of superannuation, however, after retirement only GPF, Leave Encashment and Interim Pension have been paid to the petitioner and regular pension, gratuity and insurance have not been paid to the petitioner.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that non-payment of the post retiral dues by the State Government is arbitrary and violative of Article 21 of the Constitution of India.

5. Per contra, Shri Vinod Singh, learned Standing Counsel has submitted that there was legal impediment in finalizing the pension as well as gratuity as an F.I.R. was lodged against the petitioner which was registered as case crime No. 774/1997 under Sections 223/224/290/294/406 I.P.C. alleging escaping of the accused persons from police custody along with other persons.

6. It has been further submitted by the learned Standing Counsel that since the investigation in that case qua the petitioner is pending, therefore, due to this legal impediment, the remaining post retiral dues could not be paid to the petitioner. In support of his submissions, he has relied on the government order 3-1679/10-80-909-79 dated 28.10.1980 which provides that during pendency of the criminal/judicial proceedings against the delinquent employee, payment of gratuity shall not be made unless the final decision is not taken upon the inquiry against the delinquent employee.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner while rebutting the argument has relied on the judgment of the Coordinate Bench of this Court passed in the case of "Harnam Singh Yadav v. State of U.P., 2012 SCC OnLine All 3646", and in the case of "Bhagwat Prasad Yadav Vs. State of U.P", Writ Petition No. 3150 (S/S) of 2011, and has submitted that pendency of mere criminal proceedings would not constitute a bar to release the post retiral dues of the petitioner.

8. Perusal of the report submitted by the District Judge, Gonda dated 17.12.2022 shows that on the complaint of the complainant Sageer Ahmad against the accused persons namely Shiv Pujan Tiwari, Durga Prasad Pathak, Abhay Nath Singh and Smt. Maya Devi, case crime No. 774/1997, under Sections 222/223/224 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Nagar, District Gonda was registered and after completion of investigation, charge sheet was filed on 07.11.1997 only against Shiv Pujan tiwari whereas investigation continued against the other accused persons including the petitioner. It is not disputed between the parties that no charge sheet has been filed against the petitioner.

9. In the case of "Harnam Singh Yadav v. State of U.P., 2012 SCC OnLine All 3646", this Court in para 4 to 9 has held that:-

"3. The submission of the learned Counsel for petitioner is that the aforementioned G.O. has been misread by the authorities concerned. The aforesaid G.O. relates only to the departmental judicial proceeding, or vigilance proceeding or service tribunal proceeding and it does not cover the criminal proceedings, which are not connected with the department.

4. It is further argued on behalf of the petitioner that mere pendency of criminal proceeding, cannot be a ground to withheld the retiremental dues because if in the trial, the case is proved against the petitioner then he shall be punished in accordance with law. He cannot be punished by withholding his retiremental dues.

5. Learned Counsel for opposite party laid emphasis upon the G.O. dated 28.10.1980 in which in para 2 provisions have been made regarding payment of interim pension. A bare perusal of the aforesaid para of the aforementioned G.O. reveals that it relates to such government servant against whom some departmental judicial or administrative inquiry is pending on the date of retirement. But it nowhere provides that if criminal proceedings are pending even then the said G.O. would be applicable. Suffice, it would be to mention that such a provision could not have been made for the simple reason that unless departmental proceedings have been initiated or some judicial or administrative proceedings have been initiated for the purpose of determining the guilt of the government servant during the course of his service, mere pendency of a criminal proceedings cannot be a ground for taking any action against the petitioner with respect to payment of his post retiral dues.

6. Learned Counsel for petitioner has placed reliance on a Division Bench pronouncement of this Court in the case of Bangali Babu Misra v. State of U.P.. [2003 (50) ALR 538.] In the said case the petitioner was caught in a trap case and subsequently he was suspended and in that case the Court directed that the entire post retiral dues of the petitioner including pension, gratuity, leave encashment, group insurance be paid to the petitioner.

7. Section 4(6) of the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972 reads as under,

"6. Notwithstanding anything contained in sub section (1),-

(a) the gratuity of an employee,- whose services have been terminated for any act, wilful omission or negligence causing any damage or loss to, or destruction of, property belonging to the employer shall be forfeited to the extent of the damage or loss so caused;

(b) the gratuity payable to an employee [may be wholly or partially forfeited]-

(i) if the services of such employee have been terminated for his riotous or disorderly conduct of any other act of violence on his part, or(ii) if the services of such employee have been terminated for any act which constitutes an offence involving moral turpitude provide that such offence is committed by him in the course of his employment."

8. A bare perusal of the aforesaid section makes it abundantly clear that the circumstances as enumerated in the aforesaid section does not extended at all in the case of the petitioner, therefore, the order of stopping the gratuity of the petitioner was not in accordance with law. This Court in the case of Amod Prasad Rai v. State of U.P., [2009 (122) FLR 350 (Alld.-L.B.).] has held that withholding of gratuity is not permissible in any circumstance other than those enumerated in section 4(6) of the Payment of Gratuity Act and held that right to gratuity is a statutory right. It is nowhere the case of the opposite party that because of the aforementioned criminal proceeding any loss was occasioned to the department or such an offence was committed during the course of his employment. It is also nowhere the case of the opposite party that any amount has to be recovered from the petitioner as outstanding dues against him towards the department. This Court in the case of Radhey Shyam Shukla v. State of U.P., [2009 (123) FLR 30 (Alld.).] has held as under:

"Normally, as urged by the learned Standing Counsel, "judicial proceedings" w, ould also include a criminal trial. However, the meaning ascribed to a word has to be given keeping in mind the intention of the legislature and the object which it sought to achieve while using it. A leading of the aforesaid provision shows that "judicial proceeding" has been used for the purpose of any administrative action or which may have given rise to a "judicial proceeding" relating to the conduct of the Government servant. One of the main object of withholding gratuity is to compensate the Government the loss caused by the Government servant in his functioning as such. In the present case the criminal case relates to two individuals and the trial cannot in any manner fix responsibility of any loss to the Government. In fact, there is no case set up in the counter affidavit that the decision in the pending criminal trial between two individuals would in any way enable the Government to realize any alleged loss. In fact no loss has even been attributed to the petitioner. A Division Bench of this Court in the case of Bangali Babu Misra v. State of U.P., [2009 (122) FLR 350 (Alld.-LB.).] has considered the effect of the Government order which has been incorporated in the Rules and has held that mere pendency of criminal proceedings would not authorise withholding of post retiral benefits including gratuity. The aforesaid decision has been followed subsequently, in the case of Mahesh Bal Bhardwaj v. U.P. Cooperative Federation Ltd.. [2007 (10) ADJ 561.] "

10. Perusal of the aforesaid Govt. Order dated 28.10.1980 shows that respondents have misread the Govt. Order which relates only to the departmental judicial proceedings or the vigilance proceedings or the other proceedings, however, in the case in hand, it is clear from the record that no charge sheet has been filed against the petitioner, although the matter is of 1997. Speedy trial is the fundamental right of the accused and the State should promote that in concluding the criminal proceedings, if at all, initiated against the government servant. Merely by lodging an F.I.R. without there being any charge sheet, it cannot be said that judicial criminal proceedings are pending against the petitioner. The criminal case of such nature should not be allowed to linger for decades.

11. No provision has been cited by the learned Standing Counsel before this Court to show that mere lodging an F.I.R. against the petitioner way back in the year 1997 without there being any progress in the investigation, the petitioner can be debarred from his pentionary benefits, therefore, I am of the view that the view taken by the opposite party that due to this legal impediment of pendency of a criminal case, non-releasing of the post retiral dues of the petitioner is not a reasonable order. There is no legal impediment in any service rules to debar the petitioner from releasing the remaining post retiral dues. Accordingly, a writ of mandamus is issued directing the opposite parties to release the remaining post retiral dues of the petitioner such as gratuity, regular pension etc. within a period of three months from the date of certified copy of this order.

12. Till the payment of post retiral dues to him, the petitioner is allowed to get the benefit of provisional pension within the aforesaid period. The final pension of the petitioner shall be fixed and shall be paid by the opposite parties to the petitioner regularly thereafter. The arrears of the post retiral dues which have not been paid to the petitioner shall also be paid within the aforeaid period of three months.

13. Considering the fact that the petitioner has retired in December, 2010 and his part post retiral dues have been withheld since then without any justified reasons, the opposite parties are directed to pay 6% simple interest on the remaining post retiral dues to the petitioner.

14. In view of the aforesaid observations, the petition is allowed.

Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Mohd. Nasir, Deo Raj Singh, Mohd. Yasin

A. Service Law – Compassionate Appointment – Suppression of material facts - Dying in Harness Rules, 1974; U.P. Recruitment of Dependents of Government Servants Dying in Harness Rules, 1974: Sub-rule C of Rule 2 - The jurisdiction of the Supreme Court u/Article 32 and of the High Court u/Article 226 of the Constitution is extraordinary, equitable and discretionary. It is well settled that a prerogative remedy is not a matter of course. In exercising extraordinary power, therefore, a writ court will indeed bear in mind the conduct of the party who is invoking such jurisdiction. If the applicant does not disclose full facts or suppresses relevant materials or is otherwise guilty of misleading the court, the court may dismiss the action without adjudicating the matter. The rule has been evolved in larger public interest to deter unscrupulous litigants from abusing the process of court by deceiving it. The very basis of the writ jurisdiction rests in disclosure of true, complete and correct facts. If the material facts are not candidly St.d or are suppressed or are distorted, the very functioning of the writ courts would become impossible. (Para 6)

In the present case, the applicant while filing the writ petition has suppressed the material facts that she is the daughter-in-law of the second wife of the deceased employee, who died in harness, so also the fact that the deceased entered into the second marriage while his first wife was surviving and therefore applicant does not come in the definition of 'family'. Therefore, the petition is liable to be dismissed. (Para 7)

Writ petition dismissed. (E-4)

Precedent followed:

1. K.D. Sharma Vs Steel Authority of India Ltd. & ors., (2008) 12 SCC 481 (Para 6)

2. G. Jayshree & ors. Vs Bhagwandas S.B.I. Bank of India, (2007) 8 SCC 449 (Para 6)

Present petition assails order dated 27.11.2014, passed by opposite party no.3. Further prayer is for issuance of writ in the nature of Mandamus to command the opposite parties to consider and take decision for appointment on compassionate ground of the petitioner and direction to pay consequential benefits including salary admissible and permissible in accordance with law.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karunesh Singh Pawar, J.)

1. The present petition has been filed by the petitioner praying for issuance of a writ in the nature of Certiorari for quashing of the impugned order dated 27.11.2014 passed by opposite party no.3 (Annexure-7 to the writ petition). He further prayed for issuance of writ in the nature of Mandamus to command the opposite parties to consider and take decision for appointment on compassionate ground of the petitioner under Dying in Harness Rules 1974 and also directed the opposite parties to pay consequential benefits including salary admissible and permissible in accordance with law.

2. Heard learned Counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for the respondent as well as perused the record.

3. This Court vide order dated 16.3.2023 has passed the following order:-

"Heard learned Counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for the State as well as perused the record.

Learned Counsel for the petitioner submits that father-in-law of the petitioner died in harness on 5.8.2007. An application was given by the son of the deceased, however, no decision was taken in the application and in the meantime, on 29.12.2012 son of the deceased/husband of the petitioner also died. Faced with this situation, the petitioner, who is widow daughter-in-law of the deceased Mewalal gave an application immediately on the second day of the death of his husband i.e. on 30.12.2012. The defect in this application was removed after the same was being asked by the department on 7.5.2014. It is submitted that an application of the petitioner has been rejected in a cursory manner by the respondent authorities on the ground that the application has been given after delay. It is submitted on behalf of the petitioner that while rejecting the application the respondents have overlooked their own conduct by which they kept pending the application given by the husband of the applicant for five years and no decision was taken by them on that application. It has also been overlooked that immediately after the death of the husband of the present applicant she has given the application on the very next day of the death of her husband. He submits that respondent authorities have power to relax the requirement of giving application in five years the same has not been exercised.

At this stage, learned Standing Counsel submits that the case may be taken up tomorrow i.e. 17.3.2023.

As prayed, put up this case tomorrow i.e. 17.3.2023."

4. Learned Standing Counsel has invited attention of this Court towards the pleadings made in paragraph 11 of the Counter Affidavit and submits that averments of the petitioner that no action was taken upon the application given by the husband of the present applicant for compassionate appointment is factually incorrect. In fact efforts were made by the authorities by conducting personal hearing on 15.6.2009 to consider the case of the husband of the present applicant for compassionate appointment. However, owing to the fact that the petitioner's father-in-law who died in harness was having two wives namely Ramjati (first wife) and Mayadevi (second wife), who is in fact the mother-in-law of the present applicant the application moved by the husband of the present petitioner could not be finalized.

He submits that the fact that the applicant is daughter-in-law of the second wife Mayadevi of the deceased employee is borne out from the succession certificate, which is on record. This fact has not been disputed by learned counsel for the petitioner.

Learned Standing Counsel further submits that the petitioner or her deceased husband does not come into the definition of 'family' as provided under Sub-rule C of Rule 2 of The U.P. Recruitment of Dependants of Government Servants Dying in Harness Rules, 1974 (in short hereinafter referred to as 'Rule 1974'.)

Learned Standing Counsel submits that earlier a Writ Petition No.2611 (SS) of 2009 was filed by husband of the petitioner, Sushil Kumar, which was disposed of vide order dated 5.5.2009 (Annexure-1 to the writ petition). The petitioner has also filed a Writ Petition No.5147 (SS) of 2014, Smt. Santosh Devi vs. State of U.P., which was disposed of vide order dated 15.9.2014. He submits that both these orders were passed by this Court.

Learned Standing Counsel further submits that the petitioner has suppressed of aforesaid facts that the petitioner as well as his deceased husband were daughter-in-law and son of the second wife of the deceased employee, who died in harness. They clearly do not come in the definition of 'family' as provided in the Rule 1974. He further submits that the petitioner has not approached this Court with clean hands and as such the petition filed by him is liable to be dismissed.

He further submits that the application on prescribed form has been given by the present applicant on 7.5.2014 i.e. after delay of six years, nine months and two days'.

He further submits that the objective of compassionate appointment is to provide immediate support to the family of deceased employee who was sole bread-earner and his sudden death in harness has caused serious financial scarcity and penury to the family and to mitigate such sufferance. The application of the compassionate appointment given by the applicant was delayed and, therefore, the impugned order has rightly been passed.

5. I have considered the arguments advanced by learned counsel for the parties. While filing the writ petition the petitioner has suppressed the material facts that petitioner is the daughter-in-law of the second wife of the deceased employee, who died in harness.

6. Hon'ble Supreme Court in K.D. Sharma vs. Steel Authority of India Ltd. and others reported in (2008) 12 SCC 481 held that the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court under Article 32 and of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution is extraordinary, equitable and discretionary and it is imperative that the petitioner approaching the Writ Court must come with clean hands and put forward all the facts before the Court without concealing or suppressing anything and seek an appropriate relief. If there is no candid disclosure of relevant and material facts or the petitioner is guilty of misleading the Court, his petition may be dismissed at the threshold without considering the merits of the claim. The same rule was reiterated in G. Jayshree and others v. Bhagwandas S. Patel and others (2009) 3 SCC 141.

Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Prestige Lights Ltd. V. State Bank of India reported in (2007) 8 SCC 449, held in para 35 as under:-

35. It is well settled that a prerogative remedy is not a matter of course. In exercising extraordinary power, therefore, a writ court will indeed bear in mind the conduct of the party who is invoking such jurisdiction. If the applicant does not disclose full facts or suppresses relevant materials or is otherwise guilty of misleading the court, the court may dismiss the action without adjudicating the matter. The rule has been evolved in larger public interest to deter unscrupulous litigants from abusing the process of court by deceiving it. The very basis of the writ jurisdiction rests in disclosure of true, complete and correct facts. If the material facts are not candidly stated or are suppressed or are distorted, the very functioning of the writ courts would become impossible.?

The aforesaid law that coming to Court with clean hands has been repeatedly reiterated the law that by this Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in a large number of cases. Some ofwhich may be noted, they are: Hari Narain v. Badri Das - AIR 1963 SC 1558, Welcome Hotel v. State of A.P. - (1983) 4 SCC 575, G. Narayanaswamy Reddy (Dead) by LRs. v. Government of Karnatka - JT 1991 (3) SC 12 : (1991) 3 SCC 261, S.P. Chengalvaraya Naidu (Dead) by LRs. v. Jagannath (Dead) by LRs. - JT 1993 (6) SC 331 : (1994) 1 SCC 1, A.V. Papayya Sastry v. Government of A.P. - JT 2007 (4) SC 186 : (2007) 4 SCC 221, Prestige Lights Limited v. SBI - JT 2007 (10) SC 218 : (2007) 8 SCC 449, Sunil Poddar v. Union Bank of India- JT 2008 (1) SC 308 : (2008) 2 SCC 326, K.D. Sharma v. SAIL - JT 2008 (8) SC 57: (2008) 12 SCC 481, G. Jayashree v. Bhagwandas S. Patel - JT 2009 (2) SC 71 : (2009) 3 SCC 141, Dalip Singh v. State of U.P. - JT 2009 (15) SC 201: (2010) 2 SCC 114.

7. On due consideration to the submissions advanced, perusal of the record, so also the fact that the applicant while filing the writ petition has suppressed the material facts that she is the daughter-in-law of the second wife of the deceased employee, who died in harness, so also the fact that the deceased entered into the second marriage while his first wife was surviving and does not come in the definition of 'family' as also considering the aforementioned judgements, the petition is liable to dismissed.

8. Accordingly, the petition being devoid of merit, is dismissed.

A. Service Law – Challenge to the date of birth at the time of retirement – It is settled law that after attaining the age of retirement or at the fag end of the service, an employee cannot dispute the entry in the service book regarding his date of birth. (Para 7)

The petitioner cannot be permitted to challenge the date of birth recorded in his service book after his retirement. (Para 6, 8)

Writ petition dismissed. (E-4)

Precedent followed:

1. Hindustan Lever Ltd. Vs S.M. Jadhav & anr., (2001) 4 SCC 52 (Para 6)

3. Prabhu Lal Son of Shri Assistant……Vs District Basic Education……, order dated 05.12.2003 (Para 6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karunesh Singh Pawar, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for petitioner as well as learned Standing Counsel for opposite parties No.1 to 4.

2. The petitioner by way of filing instant writ petition has prayed for following reliefs:-

"(i) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding the opposite parties directing them to allow the petitioner to continue in service and pay him salary regularly til the date of his actual retirement i.e. 30.6.2018 in the interest of justice.

(ii) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari thereby quashing the impugned order dated 15.2.2011 passed by opposite party no.4 against the petitioner, contained as annexure no.6 to the writ petition.

(iii) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding the opposite party no.2 directing him to decide the representation of the petitioner dated 15.3.2011 contained as annexure no.9 to this writ petition.

(iv) issue any other writ, order or direction which this Hon'ble Court may deems fit and proper in the circumstances of the case may be passed in favour of the petitioners in the interest of justice.

(v) allow the writ petition with costs."

3. During the course of the pendency of the writ petition, petitioner has passed away and petitioner Nos.1/1 to 1/5 has been substituted.

4. Brief facts of the case are that petitioner was initially appointed on daily wage basis on 26.06.1986 on the post of Beldar Class IV category. The services of the petitioner were transferred in the Work Charge Establishment by the competent authority vide order dated 10.07.2001 w.e.f. 15.08.1999. Vide office memo dated 01.05.2010, a notice was received by the petitioner wherein it has been stated that he is going to be retired on 30.06.2010 after completing 60 years of age of superannuation. It is contended by the petitioner that he is uneducated employee, he was born on 29.02.1958 which is mentioned in the family register. After receiving the notice dated 01.05.2010, petitioner represented the respondent No.4. The representations are contained in Annexure Nos.4 and 5 thereafter, by way of filing two RTIs, the petitioner got information from the office of C.M.O., Firozabad. According to which, the medical certificate is only of fitness certificate and not certificate regarding the age. The photocopy of the letter dated 11.03.2011 issued by the C.M.O., Firozabad is also on record. Again the petitioner represented the authority vide Annexure Nos.8 and 9. It is thus, submitted on behalf of the petitioner that he has been wrongly retired from the service on 30.06.2010 on the basis of the certificate of age issued by the C.M.O., Firozabad whereas according to the family register he was born in the year 1958 therefore, he should have been retired from service in the year 2018.

5. Per contra, learned Standing Counsel has submitted that medical test of the petitioner was conducted by the Chief Medical Superintendent in which his age was determined as 48 years and accordingly, his date of birth was determined as 27.06.1950 and the same was entered in his service record. This was acknowledged and accepted by the petitioner by making his signature on the service book. Thus, on the basis of the date of birth recorded in the service book of the petitioner, the order/notice dated 01.05.2010 was passed by the respondent No.4 and consequently, the petitioner was superannuated on 30.06.2010 after attaining the age of superannuation which is totally in accordance with law.

6. On due consideration to the submissions advanced and perusal of the record, it is not in dispute that the date of birth recorded in the service book is 27.06.1950, a notice of retirement was issued prior to his retirement on 01.05.2010 and the petitioner retired from service on 30.06.2010 after attaining the age of superannuation. The petitioner is raising dispute regarding the incorrect date of birth mentioned in the service book, however, law in this regard has been settled by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in following judgments:-

(i) Hindustan Lever Ltd. vs. S.M. Jadhav & Anr. reported in [(2001) 4 SCC 52]

(ii) Jagir Singh vs. State of Punjab & Ors. [CWP No.21166 of 2014]

(iii) Prabhu Lal Son of Shri Assistant.....vs. District Basic Education.....[order dated 05.12.2003].

7. A perusal of aforesaid judgments depicts that it is settled law that after attaining the age of retirement or at the fag end of the service, an employee cannot dispute the entry in the service book regarding his date of birth.

8. In view of settled law and in the peculiar facts of this case, the petitioner cannot be permitted to challenge the date of birth recorded in his service book after his retirement.

9. In view of above, the petition is dismissed.

A. Service Law – Promotion – Censure entry - In a situation where a censure is being awarded to an employee on 10.04.2017 in respect of period of 2008-09 and in the annual entry for the year 2017-18 he is being rated as a very good official/officer, denying the claim of promotion on the ground of the censure entry dated 10.04.2017 pertaining to the period 2008-09 is, thus, not only illegal being contrary to what has been prescribed in Para 2(स) of the GO dated 30.06.1993 but is also arbitrary. (Para 20)

As per Para 2(स) of the GO dated 30.06.1993, the St. Government has provided that in case any censure entry is available during the period for which the relevant service record of an employee is under consideration and no other adverse entry or punishment is awarded to such an employee within five years from the date in respect of which the censure entry is available, such censure entry shall not be considered for the purposes of evaluating satisfactory service of the employee concerned, that is to say such censure entry is to be ignored. (Para 11, 12)

Para 5(4) of the GO dated 25.03.1994 provides that any punishment order issued will be effective with immediate effect even if it is issued in respect of some irregularity committed at a prior point in time. It further provides that such punishment order shall be kept in the character roll of the employee concerned in the year in which it is awarded. Para 6 of GO dated 25.03.1994 St.s that Para 5 of GO dated 25.03.1994 shall be read in conjunction with guidelines given in GO dated 30.06.1993. (Para 14)

From perusal of provision of Para 2 of the GO dated 06.04.1999, it is clear that it has been provided therein that in case after enquiry any censure entry is awarded against an employee, such censure entry shall be kept in the character roll of the employee concerned in the year in which censure entry is awarded, however, while doing so it shall also be mentioned, while recording the censure entry in the year in which it is awarded, that censure entry related to which year or which post and what has been the nature of the mistake which resulted in award of censure entry so that the actual and natural consequence and effect such censure entry can be taken into account while evaluating an employee. Thus, GO dated 06.04.1999, appears to be in complete sync with provisions contained in Para 2(स) of the GO dated 30.06.1993 which does not get diluted by the provisions contained in Para 5(4) of the GO dated 25.03.1993 (which is fortified by the subsequent GO dated 06.04.1999). (Para 18)

In the present case, a censure entry awarded to the claimant on 10.04.2017 pertained to the period 2008-09 and the DPC was convened firstly on 13.10.2017 and thereafter on 28.03.2018 and again on 30.06.2020. As per the GOs, the censure entry awarded on 10.04.2017 is to be kept in the service record of the claimant in the year 2017-18 however simultaneously a mention is to be made that the said censure entry pertained to the year 2008-09. Since there is nothing on record which can reveal that the claimant was awarded any other censure entry or punishment within five years after 2008- 09 and the censure entry dated 10.04.2017 was the sole adverse material as such while considering his promotion to the post of Head Assistant, the DPC has unlawfully considered the censure entry dated 10.04.2017, whereas the said entry ought to have been ignored. (Para 19)

The DPCs held successively on 13.10.2017 and thereafter on 28.03.2018 and again on 30.06.2020 have repeated the mistake which has resulted in denial of right the petitioner being considered for promotion to the post of Head Assistant. (Para 20)

Writ petition dismissed. (E-4)

Present petition challenges judgment and order dated 08.06.2022, passed by U.P. Public Services Tribunal, whereby the St. authorities have been directed to consider the case of the claimant for promotion to the post of Head Assistant from the post of Senior Assistant and also to provide consequential benefits, including the benefit of third Assured Career Progression.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Devendra Kumar Upadhyaya, J.
Hon'ble SubhashVidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the State-petitioners and Sri Prateek Tewari, learned counsel representing the respondent no.1.

2. Under challenge in this petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India is the judgment and order dated 08.06.2022, passed by U.P. Public Services Tribunal (hereinafter referred to as "the Tribunal'), whereby the Claim Petition No.249 of 2021 filed by the respondent no.1-claimant has been allowed and while quashing the order dated 22.12.2020, whereby the respondent-claimant was denied promotion to the post of Head Assistant from the post of Senior Assistant, the State authorities have been directed to consider the case of the claimant for promotion to the said post and also to provide consequential benefits, including the benefit of third Assured Career Progression.

3. Submission of learned counsel for the State-petitioners is that the learned Tribunal has completely ignored the Government Order dated 25.03.1994 while allowing the claim petition and as a matter of fact on account of availability of a censure entry awarded to the claimant on 10.04.2017, he could not have been legally promoted to the post in question. It has been argued that the case of the claimant was considered by the Departmental Promotion Committed thrice i.e. on 13.10.2017, 28.03.2018 and 30.06.2020, however, because of availability of the censure entry awarded to the claimant on 10.04.2017 by all the three Departmental Promotion Committees his claim for promotion has rightly been rejected.

4. It has been argued by learned counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioners-State authorities that the learned Tribunal has not considered the Government Order dated 25.03.1994 which unambiguously provides that even if a censure entry pertains to an incident occurred previously which is awarded later on, such censure entry will be effective from the date of its award and not with effect from of the date of the incident in respect of which it is awarded. It has thus been argued that such stipulation made in the Government Order dated 25.03.1994 dis-entitles the claimant to claim his promotion to the post in question.

5. On the other hand, Sri Prateek Tewari, learned counsel representing the respondent no.1-claimant has submitted that in fact the provisions contained in Government Order dated 25.03.1994 and the Government Order dated 30.06.1993 are not in conflict with each other and both operate in different fields. He has also drawn our attention to another Government Order dated 06.04.1999 and has stated that the very purpose of issuance of the said Government Order is to not only to keep the censure entry in the service record of the employee concerned in the year in which it is awarded, but also to mention as to for which period the censure entry has been awarded so that at the time of evaluation of the character roll of the employee concerned for any purpose the natural consequence/effect of such censure entry awarded later in respect of an earlier incident may be assessed.

6. The submission made by Sri Tewari further is that though the claimant was awarded censure entry on 10.04.2017, however, since while making assessment of annual confidential report for the year 2017-18 the claimant was rated as a very good official/officer as such the censure entry awarded in the mid of 2017 i.e. on 10.04.2017 will lose its efficacy so for as the promotion of claimant to the post in question is concerned for the reason that the said censure entry pertained to the period 2008-09. The submission, thus is that the writ petition is highly misconceived and is based on complete misreading of the provisions contained in the Government Order dated 25.03.1994 and in ignorance of what has been prescribed by the Government in its Government Order dated 06.04.1999, which is liable to be dismissed at its threshold.

7. The fate of this writ petition depends on deciphering the actual purport and correct construction of the provisions contained in the Government Order dated 25.03.1994 vis-a-vis the provisions contained in the Government Orders dated 30.06.1993 and 06.04.1999.

8. The petitioner is working in the Commercial Tax Department on the post of Senior Assistant and has been claiming his promotion to the post of Head Assistant. His case though has been considered thrice by the Departmental Promotion Committee, as noted above, however, on all these three occasions he has been denied promotion to the post in question for the reason that he was awarded a censure entry on 10.40.2017.

9. First of all, we will examine as to what prescription is available in the Government Order dated 30.06.1993.

10. Learned counsel for the State authorities-petitioners has referred to the provisions contained in Para 2 (स) of the said Government Order dated 30.06.1993, which is quoted hereunder:

"(2) (स) यदि उस अवधि में, जिसके सेवाभिलेख उपरोक्तानुसार विचार क्षेत्र में आते हों, कोई निन्दा प्रविष्टि विद्यमान हो और उस निन्दा प्रविष्टि से संबंधित घटना की तिथि के बाद की अगले पांच वर्ष की अवधि में कोई अन्य प्रतिकूलता (यथा प्रतिकूल प्रविष्टि, दण्ड आदि) न हो तो उस निन्दा प्रविष्टि को संतोषजनक सेवा के मूल्यांकन हेतु विचार में न लिया जाये अर्थात् उसे नजरअन्दाज कर दिया जाये।"

11. When we peruse the afore-quoted provision, what we find is that the State Government has provided that in case any censure entry is available during the period for which the relevant service record of an employee is under consideration and no other adverse entry or punishment is awarded to such an employee within five years from the date in respect of which the censure entry is available, such censure entry shall not be considered for the purposes of evaluating satisfactory service of the employee concerned, that is to say such censure entry is to be ignored.

12. Accordingly, we are very clear in our mind that in case during the period in respect of which service record of an employee is under consideration if only solitary censure entry is available which pertains to some previous period and is not coupled with any other adverse material including the adverse entry or punishment etc. awarded within five years from the incident which had resulted in award of censure, such adverse entry is to be ignored and it will have no impact so far as the assessment of the employee concerned for the purposes of determination of satisfactory service is concerned.

13. Now, we examine the provisions as relied upon by the learned counsel representing the State authorities-petitioners contained in the Government Order dated 25.03.1994. Learned State Counsel has relied upon Para 5 (4) and Para 6 of the said Government Order, which are quoted hereunder:

"5- वर्णित परिस्थितियों में प्रश्नगत मामले में मुझे निम्नलिखित स्थिति को स्पष्ट करने व शासकीय निर्णय से आपको अवगत कराने का निर्देश हुआ है–

(4) प्रत्येक अनियमितता के सम्बन्ध में चाहे वे किसी पूर्व वर्ष की हो, जो भी दण्डादेश निर्गत किया जायेगा, उसका तात्कालिश प्रभाव होगा तथा दण्डादेश निर्गत होने के दिनांक से सम्बन्धित वर्ष की वार्षिक प्रविष्टि के साथ उसे रखा जायेगा।

6. अनुरोध है कि सन्दर्भगत शासनादेश दिनांक 30 जून, 1993 में निर्धारित सामान्य

मार्गदर्शक सिद्धान्तों को उपरोक्त प्रस्तर–5 के साथ पढ़ा जाय व उनका कृपया सभी स्तरों पर कड़ाई से अनुपालन सुनिश्चित किया जाय।"

14. Paragraph 5 (4) of the Government Order dated 25.03.1994 as afore-quoted provides that any punishment order issued will be effective with immediate effect even if it is issued in respect of some irregularity committed at a prior point in time. It further provides that such punishment order shall be kept in the character roll of the employee concerned in the year in which it is awarded. Paragraph 6 states that the Government Order dated 30.06.1993 shall be read in conjunction which para 5 of the Government Order dated 30.06.1993.

15. If we compare Paragraph 5 (4) available in the Government Order dated 25.03.1994 and Paragraph 2 (स) of the Government Order dated 30.06.1993, we do not find that there is any conflict between the said provisions. In fact both operate in different fields. So far as Paragraph 5 (4) of the Government Order dated 25.03.1994 is concerned, according to our considered opinion, the same provides as to in the character roll of which year punishment awarded to a government employee has to be kept and from what date will it be effective. Whereas so far as the provisions contained in Paragraph 2 (स) of the Government Order dated 30.06.1993 is concerned, the same, in our considered opinion, provides that even if a censure entry is available in the service record of an employee awarded in a year subsequent to the year in which any irregularity is said to have been committed which has resulted in award of censure entry, the same is to be ignored for the purposes of assessment of satisfactory service of an employee provided that during next five years from the date of incident in respect of which censure entry was awarded, the employee concerned has not been awarded with any other censure entry or punishment.

16. Accordingly, Paragraph 5 (4) of the Government Order dated 25.06.1994 does not in any manner dilute the provisions contained in Paragraph 2 (स) of the Government Order dated 30.06.1993. The said interpretation and construction of the provisions contained in the Paragraph 2 (स) of the Government Order dated 30.06.1993 has a rationale too which is that in a situation where a censure entry is awarded to an employee in respect of an incident or alleged irregularity said to have occurred or committed in past and considerable time has elapsed since then, taking into consideration award of censure entry for the purposes of reckoning the satisfactory service, in our opinion, will be highly arbitrary.

17. Our view that Paragraph 5 (4) of the Government Order dated 25.03.1994 does not in any manner dilute or rescind the provisions contained in Paragraph 2 (स) of the Government Order dated 30.06.1993, is fortified by a subsequent Government Order dated 06.04.1999. Paragraph 2 of the said Government Order dated 06.04.1999 is quoted hereunder:

"2. मुझे यह कहने का निदेश हुआ है कि ऐसे प्रकरणों पर जिसमें जांचोपरान्त सेंसर या निन्दात्मक प्रविष्टि दिये जाने का निर्णय लिया जाता है, वह प्रविष्टि संबंधित कर्मचारी/अधिकारी की चरित्र–पंजिका में उसी वर्ष की प्रविष्टि में रखी जायेगी जिस वर्ष सेन्सर अथवा निन्दात्मक प्रविष्टि दिये जाने का निर्णय लिया गया है। वह उल्लेख अवश्य कर दिया जाय कि प्रकरण संबंधित के सेवाकाल के किस पद व वर्ष से संबंधित रहा है और प्राप्त की गयी त्रुटि किस प्रकृति की रही है जिससे चरित्र पंजिका का मूल्यांकन करते समय दी गयी प्रविष्टि के स्वाभाविक असर को दृष्टिगत रखा जा सके।"

18. From a perusal of the afore-quoted provision of Paragraph 2 of the Government Order dated 06.04.1999, it is clear that it has been provided therein that in case after enquiry any censure entry is awarded against an employee, such censure entry shall be kept in the character roll of the employee concerned in the year in which censure entry is awarded, however, while doing so it shall also be mentioned, while recording the censure entry in the year in which it is awarded, that censure entry related to which year or which post and what has been the nature of the mistake which resulted in award of censure entry so that the actual and natural consequence and effect of such censure entry can be taken into account while evaluating an employee. Thus, the Government Order dated 06.04.1999, to us, appears to be in complete sync with provisions contained in Paragraph 2 (स) of the Government Order dated 30.06.1993 which, as observed above, does not get diluted by the provisions contained in Paragraph 5 (4) of the Government Order dated 25.03.1993.

19. So far as the facts of the present case are concerned, admittedly a censure entry awarded to the claimant on 10.04.2017 pertained to the period 2008-09 and the Departmental Promotion Committee was convened firstly on 13.10.2017 and thereafter on 28.03.2018 and again on 30.06.2020. As per the Government Orders as discussed above, the censure entry awarded on 10.04.2017 is to be kept in the service record of the claimant in the year 2017-18 however simultaneously a mentioned is to be made that the said censure entry pertained to the year 2008-09. Since there is nothing on record which can reveal that the claimant was awarded any other censure entry or punishment within five years after 2008-09 and the censure entry dated 10.04.2017 was the sole adverse material as such in our opinion while considering his promotion to the post of Head Assistant the Departmental Promotion Committee has unlawfully considered the censure entry dated 10.04.2017, whereas the said entry ought to have been ignored.

20. The Departmental Promotion Committees held successively on 13.10.2017 and thereafter on 28.03.2018 and again on 30.06.2020 have repeated the mistake which has resulted in denial of right the petitioner being considered for promotion to the post of Head Assistant. Even otherwise, what the learned Tribunal has noticed is that for the year 2017-18 the annual character roll entry of the claimant was "very good". In a situation where a censure is being awarded to an employee on 10.04.2017 in respect of period of 2008-09 and in the annual entry for the year 2017-18 he is being rated as a very good official/officer, denying the claim of promotion on the ground of the censure entry dated 10.04.2017 pertaining to the period 2008-09 is, thus, not only illegal being contrary to what has been prescribed in Paragraph 2 (स) of the Government Order dated 30.06.1993 but is also arbitrary.

21. For the reasons aforesaid, we are in complete agreement with the judgment passed by the U.P. State Public Services Tribunal which is under challenge herein.

22. The writ petition thus lacks merit, which is hereby

23. The judgment of the learned Tribunal shall be complied with within a period of two months from today. This order shall be communicated by learned State Counsel to the authority concerned forthwith.

THE HON'BLE ALOK MATHUR, J.

Smt. Madhavi Mishra ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
O.P. Tiwari

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Rakesh Kumar Chaudhary

A. Service Law – Compassionate Appointment - Uttar Pradesh Cooperative Society Employees' Service Regulation, 1975 - Regulation 104(V); Uttar Pradesh Dying in Harness Rules 1974 - Exclusion of married daughter from the ambit of family in the Note appended in sub clause (V) in Regulation 104 of the Regulations of 1975 is illegal, unconstitutional and violative of Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India. Accordingly, the word 'unmarried' in the said Note is struck down. (Para 14)

The definition of family occurring in the Dying in Harness Rules, 1974 is pari materia with Note appended to Regulation 104 of the Regulations of 1975 and the definition of family included the daughter but excluded married daughter. The assumption that after marriage, a daughter cannot be said to be a member of the family of her father or that she ceases to be dependent on her father irrespective of social circumstances cannot be countenanced.

B. The test in matters of compassionate appointment is a test of dependency within defined relationships. There are situations where a son of the deceased government servant may not be in need of compassionate appointment because the economic and financial position of the family of the deceased are not such as to require the grant of compassionate appointment on a preferential basis. But the dependency or a lack of dependency is a matter which is not determined a priori on the basis of whether or not the son is married. Similarly, whether or not a daughter of a deceased should be granted compassionate appointment has to be defined with reference to whether, on a consideration of all relevant facts and circumstances, she was dependent on the deceased government servant. Excluding daughters purely on the ground of marriage would constitute an impermissible discrimination and be violative of Articles 14 and 15 of the Constitution. (Para 12, 13)

A direction is issued to the respondents to consider the claim of the petitioner for compassionate appointment again in light of the decision of the Full Bench in the case of Vimla Srivastava (infra) as well as the directions issued hereinabove and the case of the petitioner would not be rejected merely on the ground that she is a married daughter. (Para 16)

Writ petition allowed. (E-4)

Precedent followed:

Smt. Vimla Srivastava Vs St. of U.P. & ors., 2016 (2) ESC 660 (AIL (DB) (Para 11)

Present petition assails the orders dated 29.06.2021 and 01.07.2022, passed by opposite party No. 2 i.e. Secretary, Uttar Pradesh Cooperative Institutional Services Board, Lucknow, rejecting the claim of the petitioner for appointment under Dying in Harness Rules.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Alok Mathur, J.)

1. Heard Sri O. P. Tiwari, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing counsel for respondent No.s 1 and Sri Rakesh Kumar Chaudhary for respondent No.s 2 to 5.

2. The short counter affidavit filed on behalf of respondent No.2 and its rejoinder affidavit filed today in the Court are taken on record.

3. With the consent of the parties the petition is being decided at the admission stage itself.

4. By means of the present writ petition the petitioner has assailed the order dated 29.6.2021 as well as the order dated 1.7.2022 passed by opposite party No.2 i.e. Secretary, Uttar Pradesh Cooperative Institutional Services Board, Lucknow thereby rejecting the claim of the petitioner for appointment under Dying in Harness Rules.

5. It is submitted on behalf of the petitioner that her father Sri Sunil Kumar Mishra, who was working on Class IV Post in District Cooperative Bank, died during service on 7.1.2021 leaving behind the petitioner and his widow. It is stated that the mother of the petitioner is also a cancer patient and the petitioner, who is a married lady is living with her mother and looking after after her. It is stated that due to sudden demise of father of the petitioner the family has fallen into financial destitution and, hence, according to Regulation 104 (V) of Uttar Pradesh Cooperative Society Employees' Service Regulation 1975 (hereinafter referred to as the Regulations of 1975) which provides for compassionate appointment, the petitioner made an application on 1st March, 2021 for compassionate appointment. It has further been submitted that the petitioner had annexed all the relevant documents for due consideration for such appointment. The case of the petitioner was considered and forwarded to the Bank Managing Committee and subsequently has been rejected by means of the impugned order solely on the ground that the petitioner is a married daughter of the deceased employee and is not included in the definition of the family as per note appended to Rule 104 of the Regulations of 1975.

6. It is stated that the petitioner being aggrieved of the aforesaid order has approached this Court challenging the impugned order whereby her candidature has been rejected and has further assailed the validity of Rule 104 (v) of the the Regulations of 1975 in as much as married daughter would be included in the definition of daughter and such a discrimination on the face of it is illegal and arbitrary.

7. It has been submitted that according to the note appended to Regulation 104 of the Regulations of 1975 "the family, for the purposes of this Regulation, shall include wife/husband, sons and unmarried or widowed daughters of the deceased employee.' It is stated that just because of the fact that unmarried and widow daughters only are included in the said definition and the petitioner being married daughter has been held to be excluded from the definiton of family.

8. Sri Rakesh Kumar Chaudhary appearing for the respondents i.e. Cooperative Institutional Services Board has supported the impugned order and submitted that there is no infirmity in the same in as much as the service Regulations of 1975 do not included a married daughter in the definition of the family and, hence, there is no infirmity in the impugned order by which the claim of the petitioner for compassionate appointment has been rejected. He has further submitted that in the counter affidavit filed by respondent No.2 it has been stated that U.P. Cooperative Institutional Services Board had already proposed an amendment to the definition of the family in the Regulation 1975 to the effect that married daughter be also included in the definition of the family. He has annexed a copy of the letter dated 22.9.2022 along with the proposed amendment. He has further submitted that had the amendment been allowed and incorporated in the Service Regulations then the claim of the petitioner could have been accepted but prior to its approval and incorporation in the said Regulations there is no infirmity in the rejection of the claim of the petitioner.

9. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

10. The only question which falls for determination before this Court is as to whether married daughter would fall into the definition of family. The note appended to Rule 104 of the Regulations of 1975 is quoted as under:-

" Note. The family, for the purposes of this Regulation, shall include the wife / husband, sons and unmarried or widowed daughters of the deceased employee."

11. This question has been elaborately considered by a Division Bench of this Court in the case of Smt. Vimla Srivastava Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2016 (2) ESC 660 (All. (DB) where a similar provision which had occurred in the Uttar Pradesh Dying in Harness Rules, 1974 came under the scrutiny of the Division Bench of this Court where also the married daughter was not included in the definition of the family. This Court held the said provision to be iin violation of the provisions of the Constitution as well as arbitrary and and held that married daughter would fall within the ambit of explanation "family'. For the sake of convenience the relevant paragraphs of the said judgment are quoted as under:-

"9. While assessing the rival submissions, it must be noted at the outset that the definition of the expression "family" in Rule 2 (c) incorporates the categories of heirs of a deceased government servant. Among them are the wife or husband, sons and adopted sons, unmarried daughters, unmarried adopted daughters, widowed daughters and widowed daughters-in-law. Clause (ii) of Rule 2 (c) brings a son as well as an adopted son within the purview of the expression "family" irrespective of marital status. A son who is married continues to be within the ambit of the expression "family" for the purpose of Rule 2 (c). But by the stroke of a legislative definition, a daughter who is married is excluded from the scope and purview of the family of a deceased government servant unless she falls within the category of a widowed daughter. The invidious discrimination that is inherent in Rule 2 (c) lies in the fact that a daughter by reason of her marriage is excluded from the ambit of the expression "family". Her exclusion operates by reason of marriage and, whether or not she was at the time of the death of the deceased government servant dependent on him. Marriage does not exclude a son from the ambit of the expression "family". But marriage excludes a daughter. This is invidious. A married daughter who has separated after marriage and may have been dependent on the deceased would as a result of this discrimination stand excluded. A divorced daughter would similarly stand excluded. Even if she is dependent on her father, she would not be eligible for compassionate appointment only because of the fact that she is not "unmarried". The only basis of the exclusion is marriage and but for her marriage, a daughter would not be excluded from the definition of the expression "family".

10. The issue before the Court is whether marriage is a social circumstance which is relevant in defining the ambit of the expression "family" and whether the fact that a daughter is married can constitutionally be a permissible ground to deny her the benefit of compassionate appointment. The matter can be looked at from a variety of perspectives. Implicit in the definition which has been adopted by the state in Rule 2 (c) is an assumption that while a son continues to be a member of the family and that upon marriage, he does not cease to be a part of the family of his father, a daughter upon marriage ceases to be a part of the family of her father. It is discriminatory and constitutionally impermissible for the State to make that assumption and to use marriage as a rationale for practicing an act of hostile discrimination by denying benefits to a daughter when equivalent benefits are granted to a son in terms of compassionate appointment. Marriage does not determine the continuance of the relationship of a child, whether a son or a daughter, with the parents. A son continues to be a son both before and after marriage. A daughter continues to be a daughter. This relationship is not effaced either in fact or in law upon marriage. Marriage does not bring about a severance of the relationship between a father and mother and their son or between parents and their daughter. These relationships are not governed or defined by marital status. The State has based its defence in its reply and the foundation of the exclusion on a paternalistic notion of the role and status of a woman. These patriarchal notions must answer the test of the guarantee of equality under Article 14 and must be held answerable to the recognition of gender identity under Article 15.

11. The stand which has been taken by the state in the counter affidavit proceeds on a paternalistic notion of the position of a woman in our society and particularly of the position of a daughter after marriage. The affidavit postulates that after marriage, a daughter becomes a member of the family of her husband and the responsibility for her maintenance solely lies upon her husband. The second basis which has been indicated in the affidavit is that in Hindu Law, a married daughter cannot be considered as dependent of her father or a dependent of a joint Hindu family. The assumption that after marriage, a daughter cannot be said to be a member of the family of her father or that she ceases to be dependent on her father irrespective of social circumstances cannot be countenanced. Our society is governed by constitutional principles. Marriage cannot be regarded as a justifiable ground to define and exclude from who constitutes a member of the family when the state has adopted a social welfare policy which is grounded on dependency. The test in matters of compassionate appointment is a test of dependency within defined relationships. There are situations where a son of the deceased government servant may not be in need of compassionate appointment because the economic and financial position of the family of the deceased are not such as to require the grant of compassionate appointment on a preferential basis. But the dependency or a lack of dependency is a matter which is not determined a priori on the basis of whether or not the son is married. Similarly, whether or not a daughter of a deceased should be granted compassionate appointment has to be defined with reference to whether, on a consideration of all relevant facts and circumstances, she was dependent on the deceased government servant. Excluding daughters purely on the ground of marriage would constitute an impermissible discrimination and be violative of Articles 14 and 15 of the Constitution.

12. A variety of situations can be envisaged where the application of the rule would be invidious and discriminatory. The deceased government servant may have only surviving married daughters to look after the widowed parent - father or mother. The daughters may be the only persons to look after a family in distress after the death of the bread earner. Yet, under the rule, no daughter can seek compassionate appointment only because she is married. The family of the deceased employee will not be able to tide over the financial crisis from the untimely death of its wage earner who has died in harness. The purpose and spirit underlying the grant of compassionate appointment stands defeated. In a given situation, even though the deceased government employee leaves behind a surviving son, he may not in fact be looking after the welfare of the surviving parents. Only a daughter may be the source of solace - emotional and financial, in certain cases. These are not isolated situations but social realities in India. A surviving son may have left the village, town or state in search of employment in a metropolitan city. The daughter may be the one to care for a surviving parent. Yet the rule deprives the daughter of compassionate appointment only because she is married. Our law must evolve in a robust manner to accommodate social contexts. The grant of compassionate appointment is not just a social welfare benefit which is allowed to the person who is granted employment. The purpose of the benefit is to enable the family of a deceased government servant, who dies in harness, to be supported by the grant of compassionate appointment to a member of the family. Excluding a married daughter from the ambit of the family may well defeat the object of the social welfare benefit.

13. The living tree - the Constitution - on which the law derives legitimacy is a liberal instrument for realising fundamental human freedoms. The law and the Constitution must account for multiple identities. Individuals - men and women - have multiple identities : as a worker in the work place; as a child, parent and spouse; identities based on preferences and orientation; those based on language, religion and culture. But from a constitutional perspective, they are protected and subsumed in the overarching privileges of citizenship and in the guarantee of individual freedoms.

14. In the judgment of this Court in Isha Tyagi vs. State of U.P.2, a Division Bench considered the legality of a condition which was imposed by the State Government while providing horizontal reservation to descendants of freedom fighters. The condition which was imposed by the State excluded the children of the daughter of a freedom fighter from seeking admission to medical colleges in the State under an affirmative action programme. Holding this to be unconstitutional, the Division Bench held as follows:

"It would be anachronistic to discriminate against married daughters by confining the benefit of the horizontal reservation in this case only to sons (and their sons) and to unmarried daughters. If the marital status of a son does not make any difference in law to his entitlement or to his eligibility as a descendant, equally in our view, the marital status of a daughter should in terms of constitutional values make no difference. The notion that a married daughter ceases to be a part of the family of her parents upon her marriage must undergo a rethink in contemporary times. The law cannot make an assumption that married sons alone continue to be members of the family of their parents, and that a married daughter ceases to be a member of the family of her parents. Such an assumption is constitutionally impermissible because it is an invidious basis to discriminate against married daughters and their children. A benefit which this social welfare measure grants to a son of a freedom fighter, irrespective of marital status, cannot be denied to a married daughter of a freedom fighter."

15. Dealing with the aspect of marriage, the Division Bench held as follows:

"Marriage does not have and should not have a proximate nexus with identity. The identity of a woman as a woman continues to subsist even after and notwithstanding her marital relationship. The time has, therefore, come for the Court to affirmatively emphasise that it is not open to the State, if it has to act in conformity with the fundamental principle of equality which is embodied in Articles 14 and 15 of the Constitution, to discriminate against married daughters by depriving them of the benefit of a horizontal reservation, which is made available to a son irrespective of his marital status."

16. The principles underlying Articles 14 and 15 of the Constitution have an important bearing on gender identity. In C.B. Muthamma vs. Union of India3, the Supreme Court considered the legality of a rule in the Indian Foreign Service (Conduct and Discipline) Rules under which a woman member of the service was required to obtain the permission of the Government before her marriage was solemnized and could be required to resign from service after her marriage, if the Government was satisfied that her family and domestic commitments are likely to come in the way of the due and efficient discharge of her duties as a member of the service. The Supreme Court held that "If a married man has a right, a married woman, other things being equal, stands on no worse footing". In the meantime the Central Government had indicated that the rule was being reconsidered and its deletion was being gazetted.

17. In Vijaya Manohar Arbat vs. Kashirao Rajaram Sawai4, the Supreme Court held in the context of the provisions of Section 125 of the Code of Criminal Procedure 1973 that "a daughter after her marriage does not cease to be a daughter of the father or mother".

18. The same principle was applied in Githa Hariharan vs. Reserve Bank of India5 while defining the ambit of the expression "the father, and after him, the mother" in Section 6(a) of the Hindu Succession Act, 1956. The Supreme Court observed that if the word 'after' was read to mean that a mother would be disqualified from acting as a guardian of a minor during the lifetime of the father, this would run counter to the constitutional mandate of gender equality and will lead to an impermissible differentiation between males and females. Interpreting the word 'after', the Supreme Court held that it does not necessarily mean after the death of the father but would mean in the absence of, whether temporary or otherwise or in a situation of the apathy of the father or his inability to maintain the child.

19. In Savita Samvedi vs. Union of India6, the Supreme Court considered the validity of a circular of the Railway Board by which a railway servant who is an allottee of service accommodation was entitled to nominate, while retiring from service, a son or unmarried daughter among other persons for allotment of the accommodation on out-of-turn basis. Holding that the circular (insofar as it precluded the nomination of a married daughter for allotment of accommodation) violated Article 14, the Supreme Court observed as follows:

"... If he has only one married daughter, who is a railway employee, and none of his other children are, then his choice is and has to be limited to that railway employee married daughter. He should be in an unfettered position to nominate that daughter for regularization of railway accommodation. It is only in the case of more than one children in Railway service that he may have to exercise a choice and we see no reason why the choice be not left with the retiring official's judgment on the point and be not respected by the railway authorities irrespective of the gender of the child. There is no occasion for the railways to be regulating or bludgeoning the choice in favour of the son when existing and able to maintain his parents. The Railway Ministry's Circular in that regard appears thus to us to be wholly unfair, gender biased and unreasonable, liable to be struck down under Article 14 of the Constitution. The eligibility of a married daughter must be placed on a par with an unmarried daughter (for she must have been once in that state), so as to claim the benefit of the earlier part of the Circular, referred to in its first paragraph, above-quoted."

20. In Air India Cabin Crew Assn. vs. Yeshaswinee Merchant7, the Supreme Court dealt with the prohibition under Article 15(2) on discrimination on the ground only of sex. Interpreting the provisions of Articles 15 and 16, the Supreme Court held that the constitutional mandate would be infringed where a woman would have received the same treatment as a man but for her sex.

26. In conclusion, we hold that the exclusion of married daughters from the ambit of the expression "family" in Rule 2 (c) of the Dying-in-Harness Rules is illegal and unconstitutional, being violative of Articles 14 and 15 of the Constitution.

27. We, accordingly, strike down the word 'unmarried' in Rule 2 (c) (iii) of the Dying-in-Harness Rules.

28. In consequence, we direct that the claim of the petitioners for compassionate appointment shall be reconsidered. We clarify that the competent authority would be at liberty to consider the claim for compassionate appointment on the basis of all the relevant facts and circumstances and the petitioners shall not be excluded from consideration only on the ground of their marital status."

12. Considering the aforesaid judgment this Court is of the considered opinion that the said judgment passed in the case of Vimla Srivastava (Supra) squarely applies to the facts of the present case. The definition of family occurring in the Dying in Harness Rules, 1974 is pari materia with Note appended to Regulation 104 of the Regulations of 1975 and the definition of family included the daughter but excluded married daughter.

13. This Court in the aforesaid Full Bench has not accepted the stand of the State which proceeds on a paternalistic notion of the position of a woman in our society and particularly of the position of a daughter after marriage. The assumption that after marriage, a daughter cannot be said to be a member of the family of her father or that she ceases to be dependent on her father irrespective of social circumstances cannot be countenanced. The test in matters of compassionate appointment is a test of dependency within defined relationships. There are situations where a son of the deceased government servant may not be in need of compassionate appointment because the economic and financial position of the family of the deceased are not such as to require the grant of compassionate appointment on a preferential basis. But the dependency or a lack of dependency is a matter which is not determined a priori on the basis of whether or not the son is married. Similarly, whether or not a daughter of a deceased should be granted compassionate appointment has to be defined with reference to whether, on a consideration of all relevant facts and circumstances, she was dependent on the deceased government servant. Excluding daughters purely on the ground of marriage would constitute an impermissible discrimination and be violative of Articles 14 and 15 of the Constitution.

14. Accordingly, it is held that exclusion of married daughter from the ambit of family in the Note appended in sub clause (V) in Regulation 104 of the Regulations of 1975 is illegal, unconstitutional and violative of Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India. Accordingly, the word 'unmarried' in the said Note is struck down.

15. The impugned orders dated 29.6.2021 and 1.7.2022 passed by opposite party No.2 are quashed.

16. A direction is issued to the respondents to consider the claim of the petitioner for compassionate appointment again in light of the decision of the Full Bench in the case of Vimla Srivastava (supra) as well as the directions issued hereinabove and the case of the petitioner would not be rejected merely on the ground that she is a married daughter.

17. In light of the above, the writ petition stands allowed.

THE HON'BLE IRSHAD ALI, J.

Aditya Kumar Singh ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
H.G.S. Parihar, Meenakshi Singh Parihar

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Ghaus Beg, R.K. Katiyar, Rajiv Singh Chauhan

A. Service Law – Extension of Appointment/Regularization – Payment of Salary – Long standing service of the petitioner is liable to be regularized in view of the said set of facts and grounds.

It is evident that Sri Rajendra Bahadur Singh went on leave on 17.09.1997. Almost 26 years have passed and he has not come back to join the post. Meaning thereby, he is not interested to come back and join the post. The petitioner is continuously discharging his duty on the post of Assistant Teacher in the vacancy due to leave granted to Sri Rajendra Bahadur Singh. Time to time approval has also been accorded by the District Basic Education Officer for extension of service of the petitioner. Lastly, vide order dated 23.06.2002 direction was issued by the District Basic Education Officer to permit continuance of the petitioner till further order passed by him. (Para 10)

Accordingly, this writ petition is finally disposed of with a direction to the District Basic Education Officer, Unnao to pass an order for regularization of service of the petitioner within a period of six weeks from the date of production of a certified copy of this order. However, the petitioner shall be permitted to continue on the post of Acting Headmaster and to pay regular monthly salary month by month. (Para 12)

Writ petition disposed of. (E-4)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Irshad Ali, J.)

1. Heard Ms. Meenakshi Parihar Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel for respondent nos.1, Shri Madhukar Dixit, learned counsel for respondent no.2 and Shri Rajiv Singh Chauhan, learned counsel for the respondent no.3.

2. By means of the present writ petition, the petitioner has prayed for issuance of a writ in the nature of Mandamus commanding the respondents to allow the petitioner to work on the post of Assistant Teacher and pay him salary regularly each and every month without any break till Sri Rajendra Bahadur Singh is on leave.

3. Factual matrix of the case is that Sri Rajendra Bahadur Singh, Assistant Teacher proceeded on leave without pay on 17.9.1997. The petitioner was granted appointment under Rule 20 of the Rules against the vacancy which was caused due to leave granted to Sri Rajendra Bahadur Singh on 13.11.1997. The appointment of the petitioner was approved by the District Basic Education Officer for a period of six months from 13.11.1997 vide order dated 20.12.1997. The District Basic Education Officer approved the extension of appointment of petitioner for a period of six months from 1.7.1998 vide order dated 25.5.1998.

The District Basic Education Officer again approved the extension of appointment of petitioner for a period of six months upto 20.5.1999 vide order dated 21.12.1998. The Committee of Management took decision for extension of appointment of petitioner upto 30.6.2007as the leave without pay of Rajendra Bahadur Singh was sanctioned by the Committee of Management upto 30.6.2007 vide resolution dated 15.5.1999. Letter was sent by the Management seeking approval of the District Basic Education Officer for extension of appointment of petitioner upto 30.6.2007 vide covering letter dated 17.5.1999. In response to the letter dated 17.5.1999, the District Basic Education Officer accorded approval to the appointment of petitioner only from 1.7.1999 to 31.12.1999.

The Manager of the Committee of Management again wrote letter to District Basic Education Officer for approval of extension of appointment of the petitioner upto 30.6.2007. In response to the letter dated 12.11.1999 the District Basic Education Officer accorded approval to the extension of the petitioner only for a period of six months i.e. upto 30.6.2000 vide order dated 31.12.1999. The Manager of the Committee of Management again wrote letter dated 27.5.2000 to the District Basic Education Officer for extension of appointment of petitioner upto 30.6.2007.

The District Basic Education Officer vide letter dated 27.5.2000 approved the extension of the petitioner only for a period of six months. Approval of the extension of the appointment of petitioner from 1.1.2001 to 20.5.2001 has been granted by the District Basic Education Officer and artificial break is being made in the service of the petitioner and his appointment is being extended only in piece meal only for a period of six months and artificial break has been given from 18.5.1998 to 30.6.1998 and 21.5.1999 to 30.6.1999. Feeling aggrieved, the petitioner has filed the present writ petition.

4. This Court vide order dated 20.4.2001 passed the following order:

"Issue notice.

Notices on behalf of respondents no.1 and 2 has been accepted by the learned Chief Standing Counsel and notice on behalf of respondent No.3 has been accepted by Sri R.K. Katiyar, Advocate. Sri Rajiv Sharma, learned STanding Counsel prays for and is granted four weeks time to file counter affidavit after serving its duplicate on the counsel for the petitioner, who may, if he so desires to file rejoinder affidavit within next two weeks.

Issue notice to respondent No.4 to show cause as to why writ petition be not admitted and if possible be not disposed of finally on the date of time of admission.

Petitioner shall take steps for notice on respondent no.4 by registered post and also by speed post and for purpose of dasti summons be issued to the learned counsel for the petitioner within three days.

List in the first week of July, 2001. Till the next date of listing status-quo exists as on today, shall be maintained by the parties to the writ petition."

5. In compliance of the order of this Court, the District Basic Education Officer passed an order on 23.6.2002 whereby it has been directed that the status quo shall be maintained till further orders of this Court. In compliance of the order of this Court as well as order of the District Basic Education Officer dated 23.6.2002, the petitioner is continuously discharging his duty and has been paid salary in pursuance thereof.

6. Supplementary affidavit has been filed by the petitioner enclosing copy of the order of the Finance & Accounts Officer, Basic Education, Unnao dated 1.7.2017 as Annexure No.A-1 wherein it has been stated that since 8.12.1997, benefits of regular salary, annual increment, G.P.F Deduction and Group Insurance etc. have been granted keeping in view past 19 years' satisfactory services of the petitioner. Vide order dated 8.12.1997 (Annexure A-2 to the supplementary affidavit), selection grade was provided with effect from 18.11.2007 and now, he is officiating Headmaster of the Junior Highschool.

7. Submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that taking into consideration the long standing service of the petitioner as Assistant Teacher in the institution, his service is liable to be regularized. She next submits that the person who went on leave, has not come back since 1997, therefore, the service of the petitioner is liable to be regularized. Her last submission is that the long standing service of the petitioner is liable to be regularized in view of the said set of facts and grounds.

8. On the other hand, learned Standing Counsel for the respondent nos.1 and 2 and Shri Rajiv Singh Chauhan, learned counsel for the respondent no.3 submit that the appointment of the petitioner was made under Rule 20 for a period of six months, but due to non-availability of the teacher who went on leave, the service of the petitioner was extended and he is continuously discharging his duty. The vacancy has not become substantive, therefore, the claim for regularization is not available to the petitioner.

9. I have considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the material available on record.

10. On its perusal, it is evident that Sri Rajendra Bahadur Singh went on leave on 17.9.1997. Almost 26 years have passed and he has not come back to join the post. Meaning thereby, he is not interested to come back and join the post. The petitioner is continuously discharging his duty on the post of Assistant Teacher in the vacancy caused due to leave granted to Sri Rajendra Bahadur Singh. Time to time approval has also been accorded by the District Basic Education Officer for extension of service of the petitioner. Lastly, vide order dated 23.6.2002 direction was issued by the District Basic Education Officer to permit continuance of the petitioner till further order passed by him.

11. In view of the above, there is no justification to keep this writ petition pending any more.

12. Accordingly, this writ petition is finally disposed of with a direction to District Basic Education Officer, Unnao to pass an order for regularization of service of the petitioner within a period of six weeks from the date of production of a certified copy of this order. However, the petitioner shall be permitted to continue on the post of Acting Headmaster and to pay regular monthly salary month by month.

THE HON'BLE RAJNISH KUMAR, J.

Uday Singh & Ors. ...Petitioners
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Avinash Tiwari

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Shubham Tripathi

A. Education/Service Law – Recruitment/Selection/Appointment - Sanjay Gandhi Post Graduate Institute of Medical Sciences Act, 1983 - The proper and appropriate remedy in a situation where enforcement of the right depends upon the acceptance of a policy of examination for admission in any particular language to the Institution on that basis, is a matter of policy and cannot be appropriately dealt with u/Article 32 of the Constitution. It is difficult to accept that in not holding entrance examination in any particular language, be it Hindi or regional language, amounts to denial of admission on the ground of language. Every Educational Institution has right to determine or set out its method of education and conditions of examination. (Para 14)

The CRT was held only in English language. Therefore, the petitioners have approached this Court by means of the present writ petition with a prayer that the CRT should be held in Hindi language also and after holding the CRT in Hindi, the result should be declared a fresh. (Para 9)

B. Uttar Pradesh Competitive Examination (Medium of Written Examination) Rules, 1994: Rule 4 - Rule 4 provides that a candidate may answer papers in English in Roman Script or Hindi in Devanagari script or Urdu in Persian script except that the language paper must be answered in the same language; provided that question paper as a whole, and not for each question separately, must be answered in any of the above script; provided further that the question paper shall be in English in Roman script and Hindi in Devanagari Script. Therefore, the rule indicates that it is not for the multiple choice questions because in multiple choice questions there is no requirement of answering the question paper in any language and it is also not the case herein. (Para 12)

C. Once the Rules/Regulations have been framed by the SGPGI with the approval of the St. Government, the selection is to be made on the basis of same and GO dates 07.08.1992 is not applicable. This Government order only indicates the consent of the Government for applicability of the Rules/Regulations of the St. Government but it does not indicate that SGPGI, which is an autonomous body created under the statue, i.e., Act 1983, has adopted and applied it. (Para 13)

D. Any condition, which is not provided under the advertisement cannot be said to have been violated in such a situation. When the language of paper was not provided in the advertisement, it cannot be said that CRT has been held in violation of the terms and conditions of the advertisement. Even otherwise, when there are 10 marks for English language, then English would be required for the post in question and it cannot be accepted that a candidate who has applied for the post knowing it well does not know the English required for multiple choice questions paper. (Para 11, 16)

E. It was not open to the appellants after participating in the selection process to question the result on being declared unsuccessful. The syllabus of the selection in question was in English and no objection was raised by the petitioners and nothing has been brought on record to show that the petitioners have ever made any request for providing the syllabus in Hindi, therefore, it cannot be said that the petitioners do not know the English language, which may have been required for multiple choice questions, particularly when there are 10 marks for General English. If the syllabus was in English language then it can safely be inferred that the question papers would be in English and if the petitioners have not raised any objection at that stage, they cannot say now that the question paper should have been in Hindi also. (Para 16, 17)

F. Words and Phrases – (i)`Examination' - The definition clause in Rule 3(b) provides that the 'Examination' means a written examination or a competitive examination for direct recruitment to any post or service under the Rule making power of the Governor under the proviso to Article 309 of the Constitution. Therefore, this Rule is applicable only to the posts or services, which are under the Rule making power of the Governor u/Article 309 of the Constitution, whereas the appointment in the SGPGI are made under the first statute of the SGPGI by the Director.

(ii) `Commission' - Rule 3(e) provides that the 'Commission' means the Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission or Uttar Pradesh Subordinate Service Selection Commission as the case may be. It indicates that this Rule is applicable on the examinations being conducted by the said commissions. Therefore, it is not applicable on the selection in question. (Para 12)

Writ petition dismissed. (E-4)

Precedent distinguished:

1. Bedanga Talukdar Vs Saifudullah Khan & ors., (2011) 12 SCC 85 (Para 5, 11)

2. Anil Chandra Vs Birbal Sahni Institute of Palaebotany, 2003 LawSuit (All) 76/2003 21 LCD 396 (Para 5, 11)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajnish Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Shri Avinash Tiwari, learned counsel for the petitioners and Shri Sanjay Bhasin, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Shubham Tripathi, learned counsel for the respondent Nos.2 to 5. Learned Standing Counsel is present for respondent No.1.

2. By means of the present writ petition, the petitioners have prayed for a direction to conduct online common recruitment test in Hindi language for selection in pursuance of the advertisement dated 06.01.2022 and declare the final result of the selection only after conducting Common Recruitment Test in Hindi language properly with all consequential benefits. The petitioners have also prayed for quashing the procedure of online Common Recruitment Test conducted on 20.06.2022 or in alternative issue a suitable direction to the opposite parties not to make any selection or appointment only in pursuance of Common Recruitment Test conducted on 20.06.2022. The petitioners have also prayed for a direction not to give effect to the marks obtained in online Common Recruitment Test conducted on 20.06.2022. The petitioners have also prayed for similar and consequential reliefs.

3. The brief facts of the case, for adjudication of the controversy raised in this petition, are that an advertisement dated 06.01.2022 was issued by the opposite party No.3/Director Sanjay Gandhi Post Graduate Institute of Medical Sciences, Lucknow for several posts. The petitioner Nos.1, 2 & 3 had applied for post of Sister Grade II, Petitioner Nos.4, 5 & 6 for the post of Medical Lab Technologist and petitioner No.7 for the post of Junior Medical Lab Technologist against the said advertisement. The petitioners, being found eligible, were called for the online Common Recruitment Test (hereinafter referred to as the 'CRT') containing multiple choice questions of 100 marks. The CRT was held on 20.06.2022 and the list of marks obtained by the candidates was declared on 21.06.2022. After being unsuccessful in the CRT, the petitioners approached this Court mainly with the prayer that CRT may be conducted in Hindi language and to declare the result on the basis of same.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioners submitted that the CRT has wrongly and illegally been conducted only in English language in violation of the terms and conditions of the advertisement for selection. The Rules and the advertisement does not provide the English language as the medium of test, therefore, the CRT should have been held in bilingual languages, i.e., in Hindi also. The advertisement and admit card were issued in bilingual languages for the said posts. He also submitted that Diploma essential for the posts in question is also being held in bilingual languages. He further submitted that as per the Government Order dated 7th August, 1992, the Rules/Regulations of the State Government in service matters of the employees would be applicable on the employees of Sanjay Gandhi Post Graduate Institute of Medical Sciences (hereinafter referred to as the 'SGPGI'). He also submitted that the State Government has issued the Uttar Pradesh Competitive Examination (Medium of Written Examination) Rules, 1994 (hereinafter referred to as the Rules of 1994), which provides that the questions paper shall be in English in Roman script and Hindi in Devanagari Script. Therefore, the question paper should have been in English as well as in Hindi.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioners relied on Bedanga Talukdar Vs. Saifudaullah Khan and others; (2011) 12 SCC 85 and Anil Chandra Vs. Birbal Sahni Institute of Palaeobotany; 2003 LawSuit (All) 76/2003 21 LCD 396.

6. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondents submitted that the petitioners have challenged the selection after participation without any demur and after being unsuccessful, therefore, the writ petition is not maintainable. He further submitted that the SGPGI is an autonomous Institute created under the statute namely Sanjay Gandhi Post Graduate Institute of Medical Sciences Act, 1983 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Act 1983'). The Director of SGPGI is the appointing authority. He further submitted that after framing of the first statute of the SGPGI in 2011, the Rules and Regulations of the Government are not applicable unless adopted by the Institute and Rules relied by the petitioners have not been adopted by the Institute. He further submitted that the CRT conducted in pursuance of the advertisement issued on 06.01.2022 was an All India Test and is being conducted in English medium only as per the policy of the Institute. He also submitted that all previous examinations (CRT) have been conducted in English language only. He further submitted that though the advertisement and the admit card were issued in bilingual languages but the syllabus for the posts in question was published in English language only and no objection was ever raised by the petitioners or any candidate. He also submitted that 10 marks were for General English in CRT. It is also not the case of the petitioners that they do not have the knowledge of the English language or English is not required for the posts in question. It is well known to the petitioners as they are working with the SGPGI through outsourcing agency.

7. Learned counsel for the respondents relied on Hindi Hitrakshak Samiti and others Vs. Union of India and others; (1990) 2 SCC 352, Judgement and order dated 03.09.2011 passed in Ashima Dwivedi Vs. Registrar General High Court Judicature at Allahabad and another; Special Appeal No.1572 of 2011 and Ashok Kumar and another Vs. State of Bihar and others; (2017) 4 SCC 357.

8. I have considered the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and perused the records.

9. The advertisement dated 06.01.2022 was issued for several posts including the posts of Sister Grade-II, Medical Lab Technologist and Junior Medical Lab Technologist for which the petitioners had applied. The CRT was held on 20.06.2022, result of which was declared on 21.06.2022. The CRT was held only in English language. Therefore, the petitioners have approached this Court by means of the present writ petition with a prayer that the CRT should be held in Hindi language also and after holding the CRT in Hindi, the result should be declared a fresh. Therefore, the issue to be decided in this case is as to whether the CRT should be held in Hindi also or not.

10. The advertisement provides that for all the posts a CRT will be held. The CRT will be of 2 hours duration and of 100 marks. It will contain multiple choice questions. It is further provided that 60 marks on the subject(s) related to the posts and of level of qualifications required; 10 marks on General English, 10 marks on General Knowledge, 10 marks on Reasoning and 10 marks on Mathematical Aptitude. It has further been provided that 1 mark will be given for the correct answer and 1/3rd mark will be deducted for the wrong answer, (i.e., there will be negative marking). Minimum qualifying marks of the CRT for all the posts will be 50% for General, EWS and OBC and 45% for SC/ST.

11. The advertisement does not provide any medium of questions paper. However, there are 10 marks on General English, therefore, a person appearing in the CRT is required to know the General English. The question paper was a multiple choice questions paper. Since the advertisement does not provide for any language for CRT, therefore, the contention of learned counsel for the petitioners that there is violation of terms and conditions of the advertisement is misconceived and not tenable. Any condition, which is not provided under the advertisement cannot be said to have been violated. Therefore, the judgements relied by the learned counsel for the petitioners in the case of Bedanga Talukdar Vs. Saifudaullah Khan and others (supra) and Anil Chandra Vs. Birbal Sahni Institute of Palaeobotany (supra) are not applicable on the facts and circumstances of the case. As per the said judgements, the selection procedure has to be conducted strictly in accordance with stipulated selection procedure and the conditions of advertisement has to be adhered.

12. So far as the Uttar Pradesh Competitive Examination (Medium of Written Examination) Rules, 1994 relied by learned counsel for the petitioners is concerned, Rule 4 of the said Rules provides that a candidate may answer papers in English in Roman Script or Hindi in Devanagari script or Urdu in Persian script except that the language paper must be answered in the same language; provided that question paper as a whole, and not for each question separately, must be answered in any of the above script; provided further that the question paper shall be in English in Roman script and Hindi in Devanagari Script. Therefore, the rule indicates that it is not for the multiple choice questions because in multiple choice questions there is no requirement of answering the question paper in any language and it is also not the case herein. The definition clause in Rule 3(b) provides that the 'Examination' means a written examination or a competitive examination for direct recruitment to any post or service under the Rule making power of the Governor under the proviso to Article 309 of the Constitution. Therefore, this Rule is applicable only to the posts or services, which are under the Rule making power of the Governor under Article 309 of the Constitution, whereas the appointment in the SGPGI are made under the first statute of the SGPGI by the Director. Rule 3(e) provides that the 'Commission' means the Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission or Uttar Pradesh Subordinate Service Selection Commission as the case may be. It indicates that this Rule is applicable on the examinations being conducted by the said commissions. Therefore, it is not applicable on the selection in question.

13. The Government Order dated 7th August, 1992 provides that in the service matters of the employees of the Institute the Government has accorded its consent for applicability of the Rules/Regulations of the State Government. Therefore, this Government order only indicates the consent of the Government for applicability of the Rules/Regulations of the State Government but it does not indicate that SGPGI, which is an autonomous body created under the statue, i.e., Act 1983, has adopted and applied it. Even otherwise, once the Rules/Regulations have been framed by the SGPGI with the approval of the State Government, the selection is to be made on the basis of same and the aforesaid Government Order is not applicable.

14. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Hitrakshak Samiti and others Vs. Union of India and others (supra), has held that the proper and appropriate remedy in a situation where enforcement of the right depends upon the acceptance of a policy of examination for admission in any particular language to the Institution on that basis, is a matter of policy and held that it cannot be appropriately dealt with under Article 32 of the Constitution. Hon'ble Supreme Court has also held that it is difficult to accept that in not holding entrance examination in any particular language, be it Hindi or regional language, amounts to denial of admission on the ground of language. It has also been held that every Educational Institution has right to determine or set out its method of education and conditions of examination. The relevant paragraph 6 is extracted herein below:-

"6. Article 32 of the Constitution of India guarantees enforcement of fundamental rights. It is well-settled that the jurisdiction conferred on the Supreme Court under Article 32 is an important and integral part of the Indian Constitution but violation of a fundamental right is the sine qua non for seeking enforcement of those rights by the Supreme Court. In order to establish the violation of a fundamental right, the Court has to consider the direct and inevitable consequences of the action which is sought to be remedied or the guarantee of which is sought to be enforced. Mr Singhvi, counsel for the petitioners, contends that under Article 29(2) of the Constitution no citizen shall be denied admission into any educational institution maintained by the State or receiving aid out of State funds on grounds only of religion, race, caste, language or any of them. He contends that by not holding the test in Hindi or other regional languages, there is breach of Article 29(2). He also draws our attention to Article 29(1) of the Constitution which enjoins that any section of the citizens residing in the territory of India or any part thereof having a distinct language, script or culture of his own, shall have right to conserve the same. It is difficult to accept that in not holding entrance examination in any particular language. be it Hindi or regional language, amounts to denial of admission on the ground of language. Every educational institution has right to determine or set out its method of education and conditions of examination and studies provided these do not directly or indirectly have any casual connection with violation of the fundamental rights guaranteed by the Constitution. It may be that Hindi or other regional languages are more appropriate medium of imparting education to very many and it may be appropriate and proper to hold the examinations, entrance or otherwise, in any particular regional or Hindi language, or it may be that Hindi or other regional language because of development of that language, is not yet appropriate medium to transmute or test the knowledge or capacity that could be had in medical and dental disciplines. It is a matter of formulation of policy by the State or educational authorities in-charge-of any particular situation. Where the existence of a fundamental right has to be established by acceptance of a particular policy or a course of action for which there is no legal compulsion or statutory imperative, and on which there arc divergent views, the same cannot be sought to be enforced by Article 32 of the Constitution. Article 32 of the Constitution cannot be a means to indicate policy preference."

15. Relying on the aforesaid judgement, this Court has dismissed the Special Appeal No.1572 of 2011; Ashima Dwivedi Vs. Registrar General High Court Judicature at Allahabad and another (supra).

16. The syllabus of the selection in question was in English and no objection was raised by the petitioners and nothing has been brought on record to show that the petitioners have ever made any request for providing the syllabus in Hindi, therefore, it cannot be said that the petitioners do not know the English language, which may have been required for multiple choice questions, particularly when there are 10 marks for General English. If the syllabus was in English language then it can safely be inferred that the question papers would be in English and if the petitioners have not raised any objection at that stage, they cannot say now that the question paper should have been in Hindi also. A thing which is not provided under the advertisement cannot be said to have been violated in such a situation. When the language of paper was not provided in the advertisement, it cannot be said that CRT has been held in violation of the terms and conditions of the advertisement. Even otherwise, when there are 10 marks for English language, then English would be required for the post in question and it can not be accepted that a candidate who has applied for the post knowing it well does not know the English required for multiple choice questions paper.

17. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Ashok Kumar and others Vs. Bihar and others (supra), as held that it was not open to the appellants after participating in the selection process to question the result on being declared unsuccessful.

18. In view of the above and considering overall facts and circumstance of the case, this Court is of the view that the writ petition has been filed on misconceived and baseless ground, which is liable to be dismissed.

19. The writ petition is, accordingly, dismissed. No order as to costs.

A. Service Law – Disciplinary proceedings – Salary - U.P. Government Servants (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 - In the matter of enquiry for awarding major punishment, no short-cut is permissible. The charge-sheet has to be furnished to the delinquent to apprise him of the charges, which should be specific along with the evidence, both oral and documentary, which the department intends to rely for upholding the charges. In case after service of charge-sheet, the delinquent needs any documents or copy thereof, such prayer has to be considered by the enquiry officer and the documents which are found relevant for enquiry are to be supplied to the delinquent. In case copies of any such document cannot be supplied for any valid reason, free access has to be afforded to the delinquent for making inspection of such records. After this stage, the reply is to be submitted by the delinquent within the given time schedule and the enquiry is to proceed, fixing the date, time and place calling the delinquent.

Normally, the evidence by the department is required to be led first to prove the charges wherein the delinquent is also allowed to participate, who can cross-examine the witnesses, with opportunity of adducing the evidence either in rebuttal or for disproving the charges. It is thereafter that the enquiry officer has to submit its report either saying that any of the charges stand proved or not. There has to be corroborating evidence to prove the charge and without any material being placed by the department to substantiate the documentary evidence, the charge cannot be found to be proved. There has to be a corroboration of facts from the documents on record and if any report is also being relied upon, the said report is also required to be authenticated by the person who has submitted the report, therefore, for this purpose the oral enquiry is required to be held for proving the charges. (Para 4)

B. Scope of Judicial Review - Judicial review is not an appeal from a decision but a review of the manner in which the decision is made. It is meant to ensure that the individual receives fair treatment and not to ensure that the conclusion which the authority reaches is necessarily correct in the eyes of the court. The court/tribunal in its power of judicial review does not act as an appellate authority; it does not re-appreciate the evidence. (Para 7)

The Writ Petition No. 4274 (S/S) of 2002 was disposed of with a direction to conduct fresh enquiry. The court had already observed that the principles of natural justice were not followed by the Enquiry Officer while conducting the enquiry. Once the matter was remanded on a specific point, there was no occasion to commit the same error by the Enquiry Officer and in the present case, second time, again it is admitted on record that the Enquiry Officer did not fix any date, time and place while proceeding in the enquiry and no oral examination was done. The Enquiry Officer completed the enquiry, ex-parte, only on the basis of reply of the Petitioner. Nowhere, St. has mentioned that any date, time or place for cross examination was fixed. Thus, it shows that enquiry was vitiated. In place of four months, they completed enquiry in four years that too without following the procedure. It would not be fit to remand the matter at this stage. It is also borne in mind that the Petitioner is retired from service in the year 2014. (Para 8, 11)

Writ petition allowed. (E-4)

Present petition challenges order dated 06.03.2013, passed by disciplinary authority, awarding major punishment to the petitioner fixing his salary to the lowest grade.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Brij Raj Singh, J.)

1. Heard Shri Yogeshwar Sharan Srivastava, learned counsel for the Petitioner and Shri Rajesh Shukla, learned Standing Counsel for the respondents.

2. The brief facts of the case are that on 05.07.2001, the Petitioner was suspended pending disciplinary proceedings against him. A Departmental enquiry was conducted and Petitioner was dismissed from service vide order dated 11.07.2002. Challenging the said dismissal order, the Petitioner filed Writ Petition (S/S) No.4274 of 2002 in which a specific stand was taken by the Petitioner that enquiry was not done in accordance with law and principles of natural justice was not followed. It is also submitted that no date, time and place was fixed by the Enquiry Officer, therefore, the impugned order could not survive. The writ petition was heard and decided and the Court passed order on 12.08.2008. The impugned order of dismissal was quashed. However, it was open for the respondents to proceed for departmental proceedings afresh.

3. The State filed Special Appeal No.63 of 2009 challenging the order dated 12.08.2008 which was disposed of with slight modification that State will complete departmental enquiry within four months. An enquiry was completed on 19.01.2011 and impugned order was passed by the disciplinary authority on 06.03.2013 and major punishment has been awarded to the petitioner fixing his salary to the lowest grade which is under challenge.

4. Learned counsel for the Petitioner in para 7 of the writ petition has submitted that Enquiry Officer did not fixed any date, time and place while proceeding in the enquiry and no oral examination was done. The Enquiry Officer completed the enquiry, ex-parte, only on the basis of reply of the Petitioner. He has submitted that the impugned order cannot survive in the eyes of law, which is a settled law and the same is violated under U.P. Government Servants (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 (hereinater referred to as "Rules'). In support of his contention, learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance on the following judgments :

(ii). Avadhesh Kumar Rastogi vs. State of U.P. and others 2004 (22) LCD 1 ;

(iii). Chamoli District Co-operative Bank Ltd through its Secretary and anor v. Raghunath Singh Rana and others in Civil Appeal No.2265 of 2011 ;

(iv). United Bank of India v. Biswanath Bhattacharjee in Civil Appeal No.8258 of 2009 2021 LiveLaw (SC) 109.

(v). In Abdul Salam (Supra), the court in Para Nos. 16 to 19 and 24 to 27 has held as under :

"16. Before coming to any conclusion, it would be relevant to mention the legal position with regard to the conduction of the departmental enquiry and award of punishment to a delinquent employee. Time and again, the Hon'ble Apex Court as well as this Court has pronounced that in the matter of enquiry for awarding major punishment, no short-cut is permissible. The charge-sheet has to be furnished to the delinquent to apprise him of the charges, which should be specific along with the evidence, both oral and documentary, which the department intends to rely for upholding the charges. In case after service of charge-sheet, the delinquent needs any documents or copy thereof, such prayer has to be considered by the enquiry officer and the documents which are found relevant for enquiry are to be supplied to the delinquent. In case copies of any such document can not be supplied for any valid reason, free access has to be afforded to the delinquent for making inspection of such records. After this stage, the reply is to be submitted by the delinquent within the given time schedule and the enquiry is to proceed, fixing the date, time and place calling the delinquent.

17. Normally, the evidence by the department is required to be led first to prove the charges wherein the delinquent is also allowed to participate, who can cross-examine the witnesses, with opportunity of adducing the evidence either in rebuttal or for disproving the charges. It is thereafter that the enquiry officer has to submit its report either saying that any of the charges stand proved or not. There has to be corroborating evidence to prove the charge and without any material being placed by the department to substantiate the documentary evidence, the charge can not be found to be proved. There has to be a corroboration of facts from the documents on record and if any report is also being relied upon, the said report is also required to be authenticated by the person who has submitted the report, therefore, for this purpose the oral enquiry is required to be held for proving the charges.

18. In the case of State of Uttar Pradesh and others Versus Saroj Kumar Sinha, the Hon'ble Apex Court has observed as under:

"26. The first inquiry report is vitiated also on the ground that the inquiry officers failed to fix any date for the appearance of the respondent to answer the charges.

Rule 7(x) clearly provides as under:

"(x) Where the charged Government servant does not appear on the date fixed in the inquiry or at any stage of the proceeding in spite of the service of the notice on him or having knowledge of the date, the Inquiry Officer shall proceed with the inquiry ex parte. In such a case the Inquiry Officer shall record the statement of witnesses mentioned in the charge- sheet in absence of the charged Government servant."

27. A bare perusal of the aforesaid sub-Rule shows that when the respondent had failed to submit the explanation to the charge sheet it was incumbent upon the inquiry officer to fix a date for his appearance in the inquiry. It is only in a case when the Government servant despite notice of the date fixed failed to appear that the enquiry officer can proceed with the inquiry ex parte. Even in such circumstances it is incumbent on the enquiry officer to record the statement of witnesses mentioned in the charge sheet. Since the Government servant is absent, he would clearly lose the benefit of cross examination of the witnesses. But nonetheless in order to establish the charges the department is required to produce the necessary evidence before the enquiry officer. This is so as to avoid the charge that the enquiry officer has acted as a prosecutor as well as a judge.

28. An enquiry officer acting as a quasi judicial authority is in the position of an independent adjudicator. He is not supposed to be a representative of the department/disciplinary authority/ Government. His function is to examine the evidence presented by the department, even in the absence of the delinquent official to see as to whether the unrebutted evidence is sufficient to hold that the charges are proved. In the present case the aforesaid procedure has not been observed. Since no oral evidence has been examined the documents have not been proved, and could not have been taken into consideration to conclude that the charges have been proved against the respondents."

19. In the case of Union of India and others Versus Prakash Kumar Tandon and others, while examining the effect of not examining the witnesses, the Hon'ble Apex Court observed as under:

"14. In the aforementioned situation, we are of the opinion that the Tribunal as also the High Court cannot be said to have erred in holding that the said Mr. Walia should have been examined as a witness.

15. The principles of natural justice demand that an application for summoning a witness by the delinquent officer should be considered by the enquiry officer. It was obligatory on the part of the enquiry officer to pass an order in the said application. He could not refuse to consider the same. It is not for the Railway Administration to contend that it is for them to consider as to whether any witness should be examined by it or not. It was for the enquiry officer to take a decision thereupon. A disciplinary proceeding must be fairly conducted. An enquiry officer is a quasi-judicial authority. He, therefore, must perform his functions fairly and reasonably which is even otherwise the requirement of the principles of natural justice."

24. In the present case it is evident from the records that the enquiry officer during the course of enquiry by order dated 03.07.2002 had come to the conclusion that it is necessary to provide opportunity of hearing to the delinquent employee and for that purpose had fixed 15.07.2002. However, on 15.07.2002 enquiry could not be held, so another date was fixed. Thereafter certain dates were fixed by the enquiry officer and it was by an order dated 29.8.2002, the enquiry officer had observed that no other document is required to be given to the delinquent employee, therefore, 07.09.2002 was fixed for submitting reply by the delinquent. It is admitted fact as borne out from the enquiry report dated 17.10.2002 that the delinquent employee had submitted his written reply on 05.10.2002. However, from the perusal of record it appears that no date, time and place was fixed by the enquiry officer for holding oral enquiry after submission of the reply to the charge-sheet by the delinquent employee and the entire enquiry proceedings were completed on the basis of charge-sheet and the reply submitted by the delinquent employee, relying on the documentary evidence submitted in support of the alleged charges.

25. The learned Single Judge in the impugned judgment has come to the conclusion that the enquiry officer did not examine any witnesses as there was no need to summon any witness for the simple reason that in support of the charges, only the documents were relied upon and the documents were so categorical that they were not required to be proved by any witness. It has been further observed by the learned Single Judge that if we examine the report of the enquiry officer, indeed, the documentary evidence seems to be so whelming that it was not obligatory for the enquiry officer to have called any witness in support of the charges.

26. The learned Single Judge, however, did not take into consideration that if the witnesses were not required to be examined in support of the charges, even then it was incumbent upon the enquiry officer to have fixed the date, time and place after submission of the reply to the charge-sheet by the delinquent for holding oral enquiry in order to appreciate the evidences filed in support of the charges in presence of the delinquent employee and call upon the department to prove the alleged charges. There is no denial about the fact that such exercise was not done by the enquiry officer in the present case.

27. In this view of the matter, we are of the considered opinion that the departmental enquiry conducted against the appellant-petitioner on the basis of which the punishment of dismissal from service was awarded, was not held in accordance with law as propounded by the Apex Court as well as this Court, as discussed above."

5. In Avadhesh Kumar Rastogi (Supra), in Para 5, the Court has held that :

5. We are of the view that the procedure followed by the Inquiry Officer and the conclusions drawn by him against the petitioner are vitiated in law. There can be no debate on the point that even if the delinquent official was not replying the charges by filing written statement and was avoiding to participate in the inquiry, it was the duty of the Inquiry Officer to fix a date, time and place of the inquiry and to intimate the delinquent official about the same and to receive oral or documentary evidence in support of the charges. In this connection, a reference may be made to a recent judgment of this Court in Radhey Kant Khare v. U.P. Coop. Sugar Factories Federation Ltd., (2003 (21) LCD 610) wherein it has been held that notice should be issued to the delinquent official indicating date, time and place of the inquiry. In the instant case, the Inquiry Officer neither held any oral inquiry nor intimated date, time and place of such inquiry to the petitioner nor received any oral or documentary evidence in support of the charges. In fact, there was no material before him, on the basis of which it could have been said that the charges were proved. It was a case where oral evidence was a must, to prove that the different sellers identified as non scheduled caste were in fact scheduled caste. The Inquiry Officer appears to have entertained the belief that if the employee was not denying the charges by filing a written statement, there was no necessity of receiving any evidence in support of the charges. Legally speaking this belief was not correct. So the order of dismissal from service is vitiated in law and deserves to be quashed. The Tribunal could not appreciate this infirmity in the inquiry and in the dismissal order. Hence, its order also deserved to be quashed."

6. In Chamoli District Co-operative Bank Ltd (Supra) in Para Nos. 19 to 21 the court has held as under :

"19. The compliance of natural justice in domestic/disciplinary inquiry is necessary has long been established. This Court has held that even there are no specific statutory rule requiring observance of natural justice, the compliance of natural justice is necessary. Certain ingredients have been held to be constituting integral part of holding of an inquiry. The Apex Court in Sur Enamel and Stamping Works Pvt. Ltd. v. Their Workmen reported in (1964) 3 SCR 616 has laid down following:-

"... An enquiry cannot be said to have been properly held unless, (i) the employee proceeded against has been informed clearly of the charges levelled against him, (ii) the witnesses are examined - ordinarily in the presence of the employee - in respect of the charges, (iii) the employee is given a fair opportunity to cross-examine witnesses, (iv) he is given a fair opportunity to examine witnesses including himself in his defence if he so wishes on any relevant matter, and (v) the inquiry officer records his findings with reasons for the same in his report."

20. The Apex Court again in State Bank of India Vs. R.K. Jain and Ors., reported in (1972) 4 SCC 304 held that if an inquiry is vitiated by violation of principles of natural justice or if no reasonable opportunity was provided to the delinquent to place his defence, it cannot be characterized as a proper domestic inquiry held in accordance with the rules of natural justice. In paragraph 23, the following was laid down:- ".....As emphasised by this Court in Ananda Bazar Patrika (P) Ltd. v. Its Workmen, (1964) 3 SCR 601, the termination of an employee's service must be preceded by a proper domestic inquiry held in accordance with the rules of natural justice. Therefore, it is evident that if the inquiry is vitiated by violation of the principles of natural justice or if no reasonable opportunity was provided to a delinquent to place his defence, it cannot be characterized as a proper domestic inquiry held in accordance with the rules of natural justice....."

21. The Apex Court in State of Uttranchal & Ors. Vs. Kharak Singh reported in (2008) 8 SCC 236 had occasion to examine various contours of natural justice which need to be specified in a departmental inquiry. The Apex Court noticed earlier judgments where principles were laid down as to how inquiry is to be conducted. It is useful to refer paragraphs 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 15, which are to the following effect:-

".....9. Before analyzing the correctness of the above submissions, it is useful to refer various principles laid down by this Court as to how enquiry is to be conducted and which procedures are to be followed.

10. The following observations and principles laid down by this Court in Associated Cement Co. Ltd. vs. The Workmen and Anr. [1964] 3 SCR 652 are relevant:

"... ... In the present case, the first serious infirmity from which the enquiry suffers proceeds from the fact that the three enquiry officers claimed that they themselves had witnessed the alleged misconduct of Malak Ram. Mr. Kolah contends that if the Manager and the other officers saw Malak Ram committing the act of misconduct, that itself would not disqualify them from holding the domestic enquiry. We are not prepared to accept this argument. If an officer himself sees the misconduct of a workman, it is desirable that the enquiry should be left to be held by some other person who does not claim to be an eye- witness of the impugned incident. As we have repeatedly emphasised, domestic enquiries must be conducted honestly and bona fide with a view to determine whether the charge framed against a particular employee is proved or not, and so, care must be taken to see that these enquiries do not become empty formalities. If an officer claims that he had himself seen the misconduct alleged against an employee, in fairness steps should be taken to see that the task of holding an enquiry is assigned to some other officer. How the knowledge claimed by the enquiry officer can vitiate the entire proceedings of the enquiry is illustrated by the present enquiry itself. ... .

..... It is necessary to emphasise that in domestic enquiries, the employer should take steps first to lead evidence against the workman charged, give an opportunity to the workman to cross-examine the said evidence and then should the workman be asked whether he wants to give any explanation about the evidence led against him. It seems to us that it is not fair in domestic enquiries against industrial employees that at the very commencement of the enquiry, the employee should be closely cross- examined even before any other evidence is led against him. In dealing with domestic enquiries held in such industrial matters, we cannot overlook the fact that in a large majority of cases, employees are likely to be ignorant, and so, it is necessary not to expose them to the risk of cross- examination in the manner adopted in the present enquiry proceedings. Therefore, we are satisfied that Mr. Sule is right in contending that the course adopted in the present enquiry proceedings by which Malak Ram was elaborately cross-examined at the outset constitutes another infirmity in this enquiry."

11) In ECIL v. B. Karunakar (1993) 4 SCC 727, it was held:

"(1) Where the enquiry officer is other than the disciplinary authority, the disciplinary proceedings break into two stages. The first stage ends when the disciplinary authority arrives at its conclusions on the basis of the evidence, enquiry officer's report and the delinquent employee's reply to it. The second stage begins when the disciplinary authority decides to impose penalty on the basis of its conclusions. If the disciplinary authority decides to drop the disciplinary proceedings, the second stage is not even reached.

While the right to represent against the findings in the report is part of the reasonable opportunity available during the first stage of the inquiry viz., before the disciplinary authority takes into consideration the findings in the report, the right to show cause against the penalty proposed belongs to the second stage when the disciplinary authority has considered the findings in the report and has come to the conclusion with regard to the guilt of the employee and proposes to award penalty on the basis of its conclusions. The first right is the right to prove innocence. The second right is to plead for either no penalty or a lesser penalty although the conclusion regarding the guilt is accepted. It is the second right exercisable at the second stage which was taken away by the Forty- second Amendment. The second stage consists of the issuance of the notice to show cause against the proposed penalty and of considering the reply to the notice and deciding upon the penalty. What is dispensed with is the opportunity of making representation on the penalty proposed and not of opportunity of making representation on the report of the enquiry officer. The latter right was always there. But before the Forty-second Amendment of the Constitution, the point of time at which it was to be exercised had stood deferred till the second stage viz., the stage of considering the penalty. Till that time, the conclusions that the disciplinary authority might have arrived at both with regard to the guilt of the employee and the penalty to be imposed were only tentative. All that has happened after the Forty-second Amendment of the Constitution is to advance the point of time at which the representation of the employee against the enquiry officer's report would be considered. Now, the disciplinary authority has to consider the representation of the employee against the report before it arrives at its conclusion with regard to his guilt or innocence in respect of the charges.

 * * Article 311(2) says that the employee shall be given a "reasonable opportunity of being heard in respect of the charges against him". The findings on the charges given by a third person like the enquiry officer, particularly when they are not borne out by the evidence or are arrived at by overlooking the evidence or misconstruing it, could themselves constitute new unwarranted imputations. The proviso to Article 311(2) in effect accepts two successive stages of differing scope. Since the penalty is to be proposed after the inquiry, which inquiry in effect is to be carried out by the disciplinary authority (the enquiry officer being only his delegate appointed to hold the inquiry and to assist him), the employee's reply to the enquiry officer's report and consideration of such reply by the disciplinary authority also constitute an integral part of such inquiry.*

Hence, when the enquiry officer is not the disciplinary authority, the delinquent employee has a right to receive a copy of the enquiry officer's report before the disciplinary authority arrives at its conclusions with regard to the guilt or innocence of the employee with regard to the charges levelled against him. That right is a part of the employee's right to defend himself against the charges levelled against him. A denial of the enquiry officer's report before the disciplinary authority takes its decision on the charges, is a denial of reasonable opportunity to the employee to prove his innocence and is a breach of the principles of natural justice."

12) In Radhey Shyam Gupta vs. U.P. State Agro Industries Corporation Ltd. and Another, (1999) 2 SCC 2, it was held:

"34. But in cases where the termination is preceded by an enquiry and evidence is received and findings as to misconduct of a definitive nature are arrived at behind the back of the officer and where on the basis of such a report, the termination order is issued, such an order will be violative of the principles of natural justice inasmuch as the purpose of the enquiry is to find out the truth of the allegations with a view to punish him and not merely to gather evidence for a future regular departmental enquiry. In such cases, the termination is to be treated as based or founded upon misconduct and will be punitive. These are obviously not cases where the employer feels that there is a mere cloud against the employee's conduct but are cases where the employer has virtually accepted the definitive and clear findings of the enquiry officer, which are all arrived at behind the back of the employee -- even though such acceptance of findings is not recorded in the order of termination. That is why the misconduct is the foundation and not merely the motive in such cases."

13) In Syndicate Bank and Others vs. Venkatesh Gururao Kurati, (2006) 3 SCC 150, the following conclusion is relevant:

"18. In our view, non-supply of documents on which the enquiry officer does not rely during the course of enquiry does not create any prejudice to the delinquent. It is only those documents, which are relied upon by the enquiry officer to arrive at his conclusion, the non-supply of which would cause prejudice, being violative of principles of natural justice. Even then, the non-supply of those documents prejudice the case of the delinquent officer must be established by the delinquent officer. It is well-settled law that the doctrine of principles of natural justice are not embodied rules. It cannot be put in a straitjacket formula. It depends upon the facts and circumstances of each case. To sustain the allegation of violation of principles of natural justice, one must establish that prejudice has been caused to him for non-observance of principles of natural justice."

15. From the above decisions, the following principles would emerge:

(i) The enquiries must be conducted bona fide and care must be taken to see that the enquiries do not become empty formalities.

(ii) If an officer is a witness to any of the incidents which is the subject matter of the enquiry or if the enquiry was initiated on a report of an officer, then in all fairness he should not be the Enquiry Officer. If the said position becomes known after the appointment of the Enquiry Officer, during the enquiry, steps should be taken to see that the task of holding an enquiry is assigned to some other officer.

(iii) In an enquiry, the employer/department should take steps first to lead evidence against the workman/delinquent charged and give an opportunity to him to cross-examine the witnesses of the employer. Only thereafter, the workman/delinquent be asked whether he wants to lead any evidence and asked to give any explanation about the evidence led against him.

(iv) On receipt of the enquiry report, before proceeding further, it is incumbent on the part of the disciplinary/punishing authority to supply a copy of the enquiry report and all connected materials relied on by the enquiry officer to enable him to offer his views, if any."

7. In United Bank of India v. Biswanath Bhattacharjee in Civil Appeal No.8258 of 2009, in paras 17 and 19 the Court has held as under :

17. Apart from cases of "no evidence", this court has also indicated that judicial review can be resorted to. However, the scope of judicial review in such cases is limited10. In B.C. Chaturvedi v. Union of India11 a three-judge bench of this court ruled that judicial review is not an appeal from a decision but a review of the manner in which the decision is made. It is meant to ensure that the individual receives fair treatment and not to ensure that the conclusion which the authority reaches is necessarily correct in the eyes of the court. The court/tribunal in its power of judicial review does not act as an appellate authority; it does not re-appreciate the evidence. The court held that:

"12. Judicial review is not an appeal from a decision but a review of the manner in which the decision is made. Power of judicial review is meant to ensure that the individual receives fair treatment and not to ensure that the conclusion which the authority reaches is necessarily correct in the eye of the court. When an enquiry is conducted on charges of misconduct by a public servant, the Court/Tribunal is concerned to determine whether the enquiry was held by a competent officer or whether rules of natural justice are complied with. Whether the findings or conclusions are based on some evidence, the authority entrusted with the power to hold enquiry has jurisdiction, power and authority to reach a finding of fact or conclusion. But that finding must be based on some evidence. Neither the technical rules of the Evidence Act nor of proof of fact or evidence as defined therein, apply to disciplinary proceeding. When the authority accepts that evidence and conclusion receives support therefrom, the disciplinary authority is entitled to hold that the delinquent officer is guilty of the charge. The Court/Tribunal in its power of judicial review does not act as appellate authority to reappreciate the evidence and to arrive at its own independent findings on the evidence. The Court/Tribunal T.N.C.S. Corpn. Ltd. v. K. Meerabai, (2006) 2 SCC 255. (1995) 6 SCC 749. may interfere where the authority held the proceedings against the delinquent officer in a manner inconsistent with the rules of natural justice or in violation of statutory rules prescribing the mode of enquiry or where the conclusion or finding reached by the disciplinary authority is based on no evidence. If the conclusion or finding be such as no reasonable person would have ever reached, the Court/Tribunal may interfere with the conclusion or the finding, and mould the relief so as to make it appropriate to the facts of each case.

13. The disciplinary authority is the sole judge of facts. Where appeal is presented, the appellate authority has co-extensive power to reappreciate the evidence or the nature of punishment. In a disciplinary enquiry, the strict proof of legal evidence and findings on that evidence are not relevant. Adequacy of evidence or reliability of evidence cannot be permitted to be canvassed before the Court/Tribunal. In Union of India v. H.C. Goel [Union of India v. H.C. Goel, (1964) 4 SCR 718], this Court held at p. 728 that if the conclusion, upon consideration of the evidence reached by the disciplinary authority, is perverse or suffers from patent error on the face of the record or based on no evidence at all, a writ of certiorari could be issued."

19. The bank is correct, when it contends that an appellate review of the materials and findings cannot ordinarily be undertaken, in proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution. Yet, from H.C. Goel onwards, this court has consistently ruled that where the findings of the disciplinary authority are not based on evidence, or based on a consideration of irrelevant material, or ignoring relevant material, are mala fide, or where the findings are perverse or such that they could not have been rendered by any reasonable person placed in like circumstances, the remedies under Article 226 of the Constitution are available, and intervention, warranted. For any court to ascertain if any findings were beyond the record (i.e., no evidence) or based on any irrelevant or extraneous factors, or by ignoring material evidence, necessarily some amount of scrutiny is necessary. A finding of "no evidence" or perversity, cannot be rendered sans such basic scrutiny of the materials, and the findings of the disciplinary authority. However, the margin of appreciation of the court under Article 226 of the Constitution would be different; it is not appellate in character."

8. Learned counsel for the Petitioner has submitted that the enquiry is vitiated. He has further submitted that though the Division Bench has directed to conclude the enquiry within four months but the same was completed within four years beyond stipulated time by the Court. He has further submitted that disciplinary proceedings as well as Enquiry Officer have committed grave error by not considering the fact that no date, time and place was fixed and earlier stand of the petitioner which was already adjudicated by Single Judge was again reiterated by them. He has submitted that respondents have lost their right to continue their enquiry, that too after remand. He has further submitted that the Petitioner has retired from service in the year 2014. It would not be feasible to remand the matter at this moment.

9. Shri Rajesh Shukla, learned Standing Counsel for the respondents has submitted that the Petitioner had committed misconduct and his reply was considered by the Enquiry Officer and thereafter enquiry report was submitted on the basis of which final order has been passed. He has submitted that there is no illegality and infirmity in the proceedings and order impugned is justified.

10. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

11. It is admitted on record that earlier, the petition was allowed. The Writ Petition no. 4274 (S/S) of 2002 was disposed of with a direction to conduct fresh enquiry. The court had already observed that the principles of natural justice was not followed by the Enquiry Officer while conducting the enquiry. Once the matter was remanded on a specific point, there was no occasion to commit the same error by the Enquiry Officer and in the present case, second time, again it is admitted on record that the Enquiry Officer did not fixed any date, time and place and completed the enquiry only on the basis of reply submitted by the petitioner and stand has been taken by the petitioner in para 7 of the writ petition and same has been replied in para 8 of the counter affidavit. Nowhere, State has mentioned that any date, time or place for cross examination was fixed. Thus, it goes to show that enquiry was vitiated. In place of four months, they completed enquiry in four years that too without following the procedure. It would not be fit to remand the matter at this stage. It is also borne in mind that the Petitioner is retired from service in the year 2014.

12. In view of the above discussions made above, the writ petition deserves to be allowed.

13. The writ petition is allowed. The impugned order dated 06.03.2013 passed by respondent no. 2 is quashed. Consequences to follow.

A. Service Law – Termination - Article 311 of the Constitution of India makes no distinction between the permanent and temporary posts. In case a show cause notice has been issued on the allegation regarding the misconduct or the charges such as charges of corruption or taking bribe in listing cases, then consequential order of termination howsoever innocuously worded may be, is not a termination simplicitor but it is a termination by way of punishment and in view of the settled proposition of law, it is always open for the court to lift veil in such cases to find out the real basis of the order so passed.

A perusal of the impugned order (dated 21.9.2012) vis-a-vis the letter/notice (dated 27.6.2012 sent by respondent No.3 to the petitioner), shows that the charge of taking bribe by the applicant has been levelled, which is a misconduct. Even though the appointment of the petitioner was temporary in nature, the very language of the notice, is such which entitles the petitioner to protection of Article 311(2) of the Constitution of India as a permanent employee in spite of the fact that temporary government servants have no right to hold the post and their services are liable to be terminated any time by giving them a month's notice without assigning any reason. The termination order, though has been passed innocuously, however, if it is read along with the show cause notice, coupled with the pleadings made in the counter affidavit leaves no doubt that it has been passed as a punishment and is stigmatic. (Para 8)

The petitioner was entitled for the protection of Article 311(2) of the Constitution of India and since the order of termination is punitive in nature, as such regular enquiry should have been conducted by respondents in accordance with relevant rules after affording opportunity of hearing to the petitioner, as provided u/Art. 311(2) of the Constitution of India, either in terms of the contract of service or under the relevant statutory rules. (Para 8)

B. Denial of back wages to an employee, who has suffered due to an illegal act of the employer would amount to indirectly punishing the concerned employee and rewarding the employer by relieving him of the obligation to pay back wages including the emoluments. The very idea of restoring an employee to the position which he held before dismissal or removal or termination of service implies that the employee will be put in the same position in which he would have been but for the illegal action taken by the employer. The reinSt.ment of such an employee, which is preceded by a finding of the competent judicial/quasi judicial body or Court that the action taken by the employer is ultra vires the relevant statutory provisions or the principles of natural justice, entitles the employee to claim full back wages. If the employer wants to deny back wages to the employee or contest his entitlement to get consequential benefits, then it is for him/her to specifically plead and prove that during the intervening period the employee was gainfully employed and was getting the same emoluments. (Para 11)

The impugned order of termination is liable to be and is hereby set aside. The petitioner shall be entitled to all consequential benefits, including 50% back wages subject to his giving an undertaking that he was not employed in any other department and not getting salary equal to the salary he was drawing prior to termination of his services or more than it. Present petition challenges the termination order dated 21.9.2012, passed by Chief Information Commissioner, U.P. St. Information Commission, Indira Bhawan, Lucknow (respondent No.2).

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karunesh Singh Pawar, J.)

1. Heard Dr. L.P. Mishra, learned counsel for the petitioner, assisted by Mr. A.K. Mishra and Mr. Shikhar Anand, learned counsel for respondents 2 and 3.

2. Under challenge in this writ petition is the termination order dated 21.9.2012, passed by Chief Information Commissioner, U.P. State Information Commission, Indira Bhawan, Lucknow (respondent No.2). Further, a writ of mandamus has been sought commanding the respondents not to give effect to the impugned termination order, Annexure No.1.

3. Brief facts of the case are that the petitioner was appointed on the post of Peshkar vide office order dated 1.2.2007 by respondent No.2 along with eighteen other employees on various posts in the department of the respondent. The appointment of the petitioner was temporary in nature. On 27.6.2012, the Deputy Secretary, respondent No.3 sent an official letter No./303 Nazarat Camp Upsachiv wherein he apprised the petitioner that on a complaint made by an anonymous person, the respondent No.2 had directed the respondent No.3 to conduct an enquiry against the petitioner.

Mainly two allegations were levelled against the petitioner in the letter dated 27.6.2012 (Annexure No.2). The first allegation is that the amendment in the cause list has been made after accepting money from the litigants in violation of the rules and secondly, he purchased a house worth Rs.15 lacs. The petitioner was required to submit his reply within two days. The petitioner submitted a detailed reply on 12.6.2012. The petitioner was again required to provide copy of the cause list w.e.f. 1.3.2012 to 31.3.2012 vide letter dated 4.7.2012 by the respondent No.3 for the purpose of enquiry. In compliance of the said letter, the petitioner vide letter dated 5.7.2012 submitted copy of the entire cause list and also tendered apology for his omission in listing of few cases in the cause list due to inadvertence. Consequently, an enquiry was conducted by the respondent No.3, allegedly at the back of the petitioner without affording proper opportunity of hearing to him. The enquiry report was submitted by the respondent No.3, however, a copy thereof was not supplied to the petitioner.

4. The petitioner's counsel submits that the impugned order dated 21.9.2012 whereby services of the petitioner have been terminated apparently seems to be innocuously worded. A perusal of the letter dated 27.6.2012 sent by respondent No.3 to the petitioner and its language clearly demonstrates that the letter/order is, in fact, by way of punishment which is punitive in nature and stigmatic. It is submitted that Article 311 of the Constitution of India makes no distinction between the permanent and temporary posts. In case a show cause notice has been issued on the allegation regarding the mis- conduct or the charges such as charges of corruption or taking bribe in listing cases, then consequential order of termination howsoever innocuously worded may be, is not a termination simplicitor but it is a termination by way of punishment and in view of the settled proposition of law, it is always open for the court to lift veil in such cases to find out the real basis of the order so passed. In support of this contention, learned counsel has relied on High Court of Punjab & Haryana through R.G. versus Ishwar Chand Jain and another (relevant para 24). He has further relied on judgment of Supreme Court in Chandra Prakash Shahi versus State of U.P. and others (2000)5 SCC 152 (relevant para 12).

It is further submitted that not only Annexure No.2 but the counter affidavit filed by respondents, particularly para 9 thereof leaves no doubt that the impugned order has been passed by way of punishment, therefore, in view of the settled law as held in the aforesaid cases, the order is not sustainable and is liable to be quashed.

Learned counsel for the petitioner has further submitted that the petitioner who has been terminated from service for no fault on his part and the order being illegal is entitled to back wages from the date of his termination. In this context, learned counsel has relied on Deepali Gundu Surwase vs. Kranti Junior Adhyapak Mahavidyalaya (D.ED.) and others (2013)10 SCC 324 (relevant para 20) and the judgment of Supreme Court dated 23.2.2022 passed in Civil appeal Nos. 1575-1576 of 2022 Gowramma C (Dead) by LRS vs. Manager (Personnel) Hindustan Aeronautical Ltd and another (paras 11 and 12).

5. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondents has vehemently opposed the petition and it is submitted that it is always open for the employer to assess/ascertain the suitability of an employee who is temporarily appointed as to whether to continue him in service or not, and for that purpose, an enquiry was conducted. It is submitted that the order impugned is simplicitor and not punitive. It support of his contention, learned counsel has relied on State of U.P. and another versus Kaushal Kishore Shukla (1991)1 SCC 691 (relevant para 7) and State of U.P. and others versus Rekha Rani (2011)11 SCC 441.

6. I have considered the submission advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

7. Before scrutinising the issue involved in the petition, it would be appropriate to reproduce the allegations as levelled in the letter dated 27.6.2012 issued by Deputy Secretary, U.P. State Information Commission. The letter is quoted below :

"श्री शिवेन्द्र त्रिपाठी

8. A perusal of the letter, above extracted reveals that the allegation/charge was made against the petitioner that he has taken bribe and has manipulated cause list and listed the cases according to his own whims. A further allegation was made that he has purchased a house worth Rs.15 lacs. The letter/notice dated 27.6.2012 reveals that it is undoubtedly a stigmatic charge relating to the mis-conduct of the petitioner and therefore, the termination order has been passed as a measure of punishment. Law in this regard is well settled as held in the aforesaid judgments of Supreme Court. It has been clearly held that veil can be lifted by the court to find out whether the order is based on any misconduct of the employee concerned or the order has been made bona fide and not with any oblique or extraneous purposes.

A perusal of the impugned order vis-a-vis the letter, Annexure No.2 shows that the charge of taking bribe by the applicant has been levelled, which is a mis-conduct. The impugned order, though is very cleverly worded but nevertheless, it is stigmatic and punitive in nature. Since the very language of the notice, Annexure No.2 is such which entitles the petitioner to protection of Article 311(2) of the Constitution of India as a permanent employee in spite of the fact that temporary government servants have no right to hold the post and their services are liable to be terminated any time by giving them a month's notice without assigning any reason. The termination order, though has been passed innocuously, however, if it is read along with the show cause notice, contained in Annexure-2 to the petition, coupled with the pleadings made in the counter affidavit leaves no doubt that it has been passed as a punishment and is stigmatic. In view of the settled law, thus, the petitioner was entitled for the protection of Article 311(2) of the Constitution of India and since the order of termination is punitive in nature, as such regular enquiry should have been conducted by respondents in accordance with relevant rules after affording opportunity of hearing to the petitioner, as provided under Art. 311(2) of the Constitution of India, either in terms of the contract of service or under the relevant statutory rules.

9. As regards the judgment in Kaushal Kishore Shukla's case (supra) relied on by learned counsel for the respondents, para 7 of the judgment itself shows that if the authority decides to take a punitive action, it may hold a formal enquiry by framing charges and giving opportunity to the government servant in accordance with the provisions of Art. 311 of the Constitution. It further says that a temporary government servant is also entitled to the protection of

Art. 311(2) of the Constitution in the same manner as a permanent government servant. It further provides that the form of the order of termination is not conclusive and it is open for the court to determine the true nature of the order as held by Supreme Court in Parshotam Lal Dhingra versus Union of India AIR 1958 SC 36. Thus, the judgment in the aforesaid case is of no help to the respondents.

The other judgment of the Supreme Court in State of U.P. and others versus Rekha Rani (2011)11 SCC 441 relied on by respondents' counsel is also of no help as the Supreme Court in that case has held that the respondent's service was not terminated as a measure of punishment. The facts of the said case were quite distinct to the present case. Hence, the judgment in Rekha Rani's case (supra) is distinguishable on the peculiar facts of the present case.

11. As regards back wages, the Supreme Court in the case of Deepali Gundu Surwase (supra) held in para 22 as follows :

"The very idea of restoring an employee to the position which he held before dismissal or removal or termination of service implies that the employee will be put in the same position in which he would have been but for the illegal action taken by the employer. The injury suffered by a person, who is dismissed or removed or is otherwise terminated from service cannot easily be measured in terms of money. With the passing of an order which has the effect of severing the employer employee relationship, the latter?s source of income gets dried up. Not only the concerned employee, but his entire family suffers grave adversities. They are deprived of the source of sustenance. The children are deprived of nutritious food and all opportunities of education and advancement in life. At times, the family has to borrow from the relatives and other acquaintance to avoid starvation. These sufferings continue till the competent adjudicatory forum decides on the legality of the action taken by the employer. The reinstatement of such an employee, which is preceded by a finding of the competent judicial/quasi judicial body or Court that the action taken by the employer is ultra vires the relevant statutory provisions or the principles of natural justice, entitles the employee to claim full back wages. If the employer wants to deny back wages to the employee or contest his entitlement to get consequential benefits, then it is for him/her to specifically plead and prove that during the intervening period the employee was gainfully employed and was getting the same emoluments. Denial of back wages to an employee, who has suffered due to an illegal act of the employer would amount to indirectly punishing the concerned employee and rewarding the employer by relieving him of the obligation to pay back wages including the emoluments."

Likewise, the Supreme Court in the case of Gowramma C (supra) has enhanced the back wages while modifying the judgment of the High Court and provided enhanced back wages to the employee. Relevant paragraphs 11 and 12 are extracted below :

"11.In regard to interference in such matters, i.e., cases relating to back wages, we find similar approach adopted in other decisions which no doubt the respondent lays store by [see in this regard 2007 (5) SCC 742]. Though the decision reported in Canara Bank v. Damodar Govind Idoorkar 2009 (4) SCC 323 again relied upon by the respondent did involve the service of the employee being terminated as he had secured employment in the reserved category using a false caste certificate and the court modified direction of the High Court which ordered full back wages by substituting the order by reducing it to 50%, we do not find that any principle has been laid down which could be treated as constituting it as a precedent. The decision in Deepali Gundu Surwase v. Kranti Junior Adhyapak Mahavidyalaya (D.Ed.) 2013 (10) SCC 324 involved the High Court setting aside the award of back wages on the ground that the appellant had not proved the factum of non-employment. The court inter alia laid down as follows:

?(vi) In a number of cases, the superior courts have interfered with the award of the primary adjudicatory authority on the premise that finalization of litigation has taken long time ignoring that in majority of cases the parties re not responsible for such delays. Lack of infrastructure and manpower is the principal cause for delay in the disposal of cases. For this the litigants cannot be blamed or penalized. It would amount to grave injustice to an employee or workman if he is denied back wages simply because there is long lapse of time between the termination of his service and finality given to the order of reinstatement. The courts should bear in mind that in most of these cases, the employer is in an advantageous position vis--vis the employee or workman. He can avail the services of best legal brain for prolonging the agony of the sufferer i.e. the employee or workman, who can ill-afford the luxury of spending money on a lawyer with certain amount of fame. Therefore, in such cases it would be prudent to adopt the course suggested in Hindustan Tin Works (P) Ltd., (1979) 2 SCC 80

12. The most important question is whether the employee is at fault in any manner. If the employee is not at all at fault and she was kept out of work by reasons of the decision taken by the employer, then to deny the fruits of her being vindicated at the end of the day would be unfair to the employee. In such circumstances, no doubt, the question relating to alternative employment that the employee may have resorted to, becomes relevant. There is also the aspect of discretion which is exercised by the Court keeping in view the facts of each case. As we have already noticed, this is a case where apart from the charge of the employee having produced false caste certificate, there is no other charge. Therefore, we would think that interests of justice, in the facts of this, would be subserved, if we enhance the back wages from 50% to 75% of the full back wages, which she was otherwise entitled. The appeals are partly allowed. The impugned judgments will stand modified and the respondents shall calculate the amount which would be equivalent to 75% of the back wages and disburse the amount remaining to be paid under this judgment within a period of six weeks from today to the additional appellants."

12. As observed above, the impugned order of termination of services of the petitioner is punitive in nature, it is liable to be interfered with and the petitioner would be entitled to the back wages in view of the law laid down by the Supreme Court in the aforesaid cases

13. Keeping all what has been discussed hereinabove, I am of the view that the impugned order of termination, Annexure No.1, is punitive in nature and is not an order simplicitor and thus, the petitioner is entitled to the protection of

Art. 311 (2) of the Constitution of India. The order is liable to be and is hereby set aside. The petitioner shall be entitled to all consequential benefits, including 50% back wages subject to his giving an undertaking that he was not employed in any other department and not getting salary equal to the salary he was drawing prior to termination of his services or more than it.

14. The writ petition is accordingly allowed.

A. Service Law – Suspension/Punishment - U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999: Rule 4 - On a plain reading of Rule 4(i), it is clear that the life of a suspension order survives only till the conclusion of the inquiry and not thereafter. In the present case, the suspension order had come to an end on 19.10.2022, the date on which the inquiry was concluded against the petitioner. Merely because the order dated 19.10.2022 was set aside and liberty was granted to the respondent to proceed afresh, there can be no presumption that the suspension order would stand revived except when the same is traceable to the conditions u/Rule 4(vi), where the order of dismissal or removal from services has been imposed upon the government servants. (Para 9)

B. Continuation of passing of suspension order can be justified only when the charges leveled can lead to award of a major penalty whereas in the present case the respondents themselves on the conclusion of the inquiry imposed a 'minor penalty'. Admittedly, the order dated 19.10.2022 has not imposed the punishment of dismissal or removal from the service. (Para 10)

The suspension order dated 06.08.2022 is declared to have come to an end on 19.10.2022 when an order was passed against the petitioner as conclusion of inquiry. Order dated 19.11.2022 was set aside by the Court on 21.11.2022 and liberty was granted to respondents to proceed afresh. Therefore, the respondents shall be at liberty to pass such order as may be in accordance with law. The respondent no.2 is directed to pass fresh orders w.r.t. the claim of the petitioner for payment of salary and all consequential service benefits within a period of six weeks. (Para 11)

Present petition challenges suspension order dated 06.08.2022, whereby the petitioner was placed under suspension pending an inquiry.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Bhatia, J.)

1. The present petition has been filed challenging the suspension order dated 06.08.2022, whereby the petitioner was placed under suspension pending an inquiry.

2. The contention of the counsel for the petitioner is that vide order dated 06.08.2022, the petitioner was placed under suspension in contemplation of an inquiry in exercise of powers conferred by Rule 4 of the U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 (Hereinafter referred to as the "Rules 1999"). It is argued that in pursuance of the suspension order, an order came to be passed against the petitioner whereby the petitioner was awarded the punishment of stoppage of two increments and censure.

3. It is argued that the punishment order passed against the petitioner on 19.10.2022 was challenged by the petitioner by filing Writ A No.7318 of 2022. The same writ petition was allowed. The order dated 19.10.2022 was quashed and liberty was granted to the respondents to proceed afresh in accordance with law and to conclude the inquiry within a period of three months.

4. It is argued that in the light of the directions given by this Court on 21.11.2022, fresh inquiry has been initiated, however, the same has not culminated and no order has been passed thereupon in accordance with law.

5. In light of the said facts, the submission of counsel for the petitioner is that the suspension order passed against the petitioner on 06.08.2022, it is still being acted upon and the petitioner is not being permitted to work. He argues that in terms of Rule 4, the suspension order is to remain live till the conclusion of the inquiry and, thus, on the conclusion of the inquiry which led to passing of the order dated 19.10.2022, the suspension order immediately came to an end. Thus, it was incumbent upon the respondents to have permitted to continue the petitioner to work.

6. He further argues that the continuance of suspension order is further unjustified in view of the first proviso to Section 4(1), which itself prescribes that the suspension should not be resorted to unless the allegations are so serious that in the event of they being established may ordinarily warrant awarding major penalty. He argues that even as per the own showing of the respondents, the allegations leveled against the petitioner ultimately led to passing of an order imposing 'minor penalty' as prescribed in Rule 3 and, thus, the continuation of suspension is also in violation of the proviso to Section 4(1).

7. Shri Ran Vijay Singh, Additional Chief Standing Counsel, appeared on behalf of the State and Shri Neeraj Chaurasiya, learned counsel for the respondent no.2 argue that the order dated 19.10.2022 was set aside by this Court on 21.11.2022 and in the said order, liberty was granted to proceed afresh. In the light of the said, he argues that as the order dated 19.10.2022 stood quashed, the suspension order would get automatically revived. He further argues that Section 4(vi) also makes a provision for automatic revival of the suspension order. He, thus, argues that the petition is liable to be dismissed.

8. In the light of the said submission, this Court is to analyze the scope of Rule 4 of the Rule of 1999 which are quoted herein below:-

"4. Suspension- (1) A Government servant against whose conduct an inquiry is contemplated, or is proceeding may be placed under suspension pending the conclusion of the inquiry in the discretion of the Appointing Authority:

Provided that suspension should not be resorted to unless the allegations against the Government servant are so serious that in the event of their being established may ordinarily warrant major penalty:

Provided further that concerned Head of the Department empowered by the Governor by an order in this behalf may place a Government Servant or class of Government servants belonging to Group 'A' and 'B' posts under suspension under this rule:

Provided also that in the case Government servant or class of Government servants belonging to Group 'C' and 'D' posts, the appointing authority may delegate its power under this rule to the next lower authority.

(2) A Government servant in respect of, or against whom an investigation, inquiry or trial relating to a criminal charge, which is connected with his position as a Government servant or which is likely to embarrass him in the discharge of his duties or which involves moral turpitude, is pending, may at the discretion of the appointing authority or the authority to whom the power of suspension has been delegated under these rules, be placed under suspension until the termination of all proceedings relating to that charge.

(3) (a) A Government Servant shall be deemed to have been placed or as the case may be, continued to be place under suspension by an order of the authority competent to suspend, with effect from the date of his detention, if he is detained in custody, whether the detention is on criminal charge or otherwise, for a period exceeding forty eight hours.

(b) The aforesaid Government servant shall after the release from the custody, inform in writing to the competent authority about his detention and may also make representation against the deemed suspension. The competent authority shall after considering the representation in the light of the facts and circumstances of the case as well as the provision contained in this rule, pass appropriate order continuing the deemed suspension from, the date of release from custody or revoking or modifying it.

(4) Government servant shall be deemed to have placed, or as the case may be, continued to be under suspension by an order of the authority competent to suspend under these rules, with effect from the date of his conviction if in the event of a conviction for an offence he is sentenced to a term of imprisonment exceeding forty eight hours and is not forthwith dismissed or removed consequent to such conviction.

Explanation- A period of forty eight hours referred to in sub-rule (1) be computed from the commencement of the imprisonment after the conviction and for this purpose, intermittent period of imprisonment, if any, shall be taken to account.

(5) Where a penalty of dismissal or removal from service imposed upon a Government servant is set aside in appeal or on review under these rules or under rules rescinded by these rules and the case is remitted for further inquiry or action or with any other directions-

(a) if he was under suspension immediately before the penalty was awarded to him, the order of his suspension shall, subject to any such direction as aforesaid, be deemed to have continued in force on and from the date of the original order of dismissal or removal;

(b) if he was not under suspension, he shall, if so directed by the appellate or reviewing authority, be deemed to have been placed under suspension by an order of the appointing authority on and from the date of the original order of dismissal or removal:

Provided that nothing in this sub-rule shall be construed as affecting the power of the disciplinary authority in a case where a penalty of dismissal or removal in service imposed upon a Government servant is set aside in appeal or on review under these rules grounds other than the merits of the allegations which, the said penalty was imposed but the case remitted for further inquiry or action or with any other directions to pass an order of suspension pending further inquiry against him on those allegations so however, that any such suspension shall not have retrospective effect.

(6) Where penalty of dismissal or removal from service imposed upon Government servant is set aside or declared or rendered void in consequence of or by a decision of a court of law and the appointing authority, on a consideration of the circumstances of the case, decides to hold a further inquiry against him on the allegation on which the penalty of dismissal or removal was originally imposed, whether the allegations remain in their original form or are clarified or their particulars better specified or any part thereof a minor nature omitted:

(a) if he was under suspension immediately before the penalty was awarded to him, the order of his suspension shall, subject to any direction of the appointing authority, be deemed to have continued in force on and from the date of the original order of dismissal or removal.

(b) if he was not under such suspension, he shall, if so directed by the appointing authority, be deemed to have been placed under suspension by an order of the competent authority and from the date of the original order of dismissal or removal.

(7) where a Government servant is suspended or is deemed to have been suspended (whether in connection with any disciplinary proceeding or otherwise) and any other disciplinary proceeding is commenced against him during the continuance of that suspension, the authority competent to place him under suspension may, for reasons to be recorded by him in writing direct that the Government servant shall continue to be under suspension till termination of all or any such proceedings.

(8) any suspension ordered or deemed to have been ordered or to have continued to remain in force under this rule shall continue in force until it is modified or revoked by the competent authority.

(9) A Government servant placed under suspension or deemed to have been placed under suspension under this rule shall be entitled to subsistence allowance in accordance with the provisions of Fundamental Rule 53 of the Financial Hand Book, Volume II, Parts II to IV."

9. On a plain reading of Rule 4(i), it is clear that the life of a suspension order survives only till the conclusion of the inquiry and not thereafter. In the present case, the suspension order had come to an end on 19.10.2022, the date on which the inquiry was concluded against the petitioner. Merely because the said order was set aside and liberty was granted to the respondent to proceed afresh, there can be no presumption that the suspension order would stand revived except when the same is traceable to the conditions under Rule 4(vi), where the order of dismissal or removal from services has been imposed upon the government servants.

10. In the present case, admittedly, the order dated 19.10.2022 has not imposed the punishment of dismissal or removal from the service. As such, the submission of the counsel for the respondents based upon interpretation of Rule 4(vi) of the said Rule cannot be accepted. Even otherwise, the second submission of counsel for the petitioner merits acceptance that continuation of passing of suspension order can be justified only when the charges leveled can lead to award of a major penalty whereas in the present case the respondents themselves on the conclusion of the inquiry imposed a 'minor penalty', as such, even if for the sake of arguments, the contention of counsel for the respondents is accepted, the suspension order would be hit by the proviso to Rule 4(i).

11. Thus, on both the grounds, writ petition deserves to be allowed. The suspension order dated 06.08.2022 is declared to have come to an end on 19.10.2022 when an order was passed against the petitioner as conclusion of inquiry. The liberty granted by this Court to respondents to conclude the inquiry in terms of the judgment dated 21.11.2022 shall continue and the respondents shall be at liberty to pass such order as may be in accordance with law. The respondent no.2 is directed to pass fresh orders with regard to the claim of the petitioner for payment of salary and all consequential service benefits within a period of six weeks.

U.P.P.C.L. & Anr. ...Petitioners
Versus
U.P. State Public Service Tribunal & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Vikrant Raghuvanshi, Neerav Chitravanshi

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Deo Raj Singh, P.K. Srivastava, Renu Mishra

A. Service Law – Punishment – Limitation - U.P. St. Public (Tribunals) Act, 1976 - Section 5(1)(b) - The point of limitation goes to the root of the matter. It involves a jurisdictional issue. The Limitation Act has been made applicable to the Tribunal, as it was applicable to a suit, thus, Section 5 thereof has no application to a reference filed under Section 4 of the Act. If a claim petition is barred by limitation, then irrespective of its merits, the Tribunal has no other option but to decline to entertain it. It does not have the power to condone the delay. (Para 13)

As S. 5(1)(b) provides that the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Act 1963 shall mutatis mutandis apply to reference u/s 4, as the reference were a suit filed in the civil court, S. 3 of the Limitation Act would apply to it, which provides that a suit instituted after the prescribed period of limitation, shall be dismissed, although limitation has not been set up as a defence. The Tribunal has no power to condone the delay in filing the claim petition. Therefore, the claim petition filed after the expiry of the limitation period has to be dismissed and it cannot be entertained and adjudicated on its merits merely because it had been admitted. (Para 24, 25)

B. A decision as is well known, is an authority for which it decides, and not what can logically be deduced therefrom. A little difference in facts or additional facts may make a lot of difference in the precedential value of a decision. (Para 19)

C. When a belated representation in regard to a stale or dead issue/dispute is considered and decided, in compliance with a direction of the Court or Tribunal to do so. The date of the said decision cannot be considered as furnishing a cause-of-action for reviving the dead issue or time-barred dispute. The issue of limitation or delay and latches should be considered with reference to the original cause-of-action, and not with reference to the date on which an order is passed in compliance with a Court's direction. (Para 21, 22)

In the present case, punishment order was passed on 5.5.2006. The respondent no. 2 submitted a representation against the aforesaid order on 12.6.2006 to the U.P. Power Corporation Ltd. The representation was treated as an appeal and was rejected by means of an order dated 22.5.2008. Thereafter, the respondent no. 2 again submitted representations dated 17.11.2008 and 30.3.2016 to the same authority, without making mention of the provision under which the same were filed. The representations were disposed of by stating that as the appeal filed by the respondent no. 2 had already been rejected, no action was warranted on his representations. The representations were not filed under any Rule governing the service conditions of the respondent no. 2. In such circumstances, filing of successive representations would not extend the period of limitation. The Tribunal has erred in law in not deciding the plea of limitation merely on the ground that the claim petition had been admitted. (Para 23)

Present petition challenges the judgment and order dated 06.02.2018, passed by the St. Public Service Tribunal, whereby the claim petition No. 1624 of 2016, which was filed by the opposite party no. 2, was allowed and punishment order was set aside.

Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Neerav Chitravanshi Advocate, the learned Counsel for the petitioner - Power Corporation, Ms. Renu Mishra Advocate, the learned Counsel for the opposite party, and Sri Anand Kumar Singh, the learned Standing Counsel for the State and and perused the records.

2. By means of the instant writ petition the petitioner- U.P. Power Corporation Ltd. has approached this court challenging the judgment and order dated 6.2.2018 passed by the State Public Service Tribunal (hereinafter referred as 'the Tribunal') whereby the claim petition No. 1624 of 2016, which was filed by the opposite party no. 2, was allowed.

3. The aforesaid claim petition had been filed by the opposite party no. 2 challenging an order dated 5.5.2006 passed by the Chairman, U.P. Power Corporation

Ltd./opp. party no. 2, whereby the punishment of Censure entry and stoppage of two annual increments with cumulative effect was imposed upon the respondent no. 2.

4. On 12.6.2006 the respondent no.2 had submitted a representation to the U.P. Power Corporation Ltd. against the punishment order dated 5.5.2006 and the said representation was treated as an appeal and the same was also rejected by means of an order dated 22.5.2008. Thereafter, the respondent no. 2 submitted two representations dated 17.11.2008 and 30.3.2016 against the aforesaid orders, which were disposed of by means of an order dated 6.6.2016 stating that the appeal filed by the respondent no. 2 had already been rejected by means of an order dated 22.5.2008 and, therefore, no action was warranted on his representation dated 17.11.2008 or 30.3.2016.

5. The respondent no.2 had filed the claim petition challenging all the aforesaid orders dated 5.5.2006 imposing punishment of Censure entry and stoppage of annual increments, order dated 22.5.2008 rejecting his appeal and the order dated 6.6.2016 on his representation, by filing Claim Petition No. 1624 of 2016 before the Tribunal.

6. The petitioner- U.P. Power Corporation Ltd., which was an opposite party in the claim-petition, opposed the claim-petition on the preliminary ground that the punishment order was passed on 5.5.2006 and the claim-petition was barred by the period of limitation provided in section 5 of the U.P. State Public (Tribunals) Act.

7. The Tribunal held that the respondent no. 2 had challenged the latest order dated 6.6.2016 and the claim-petition had been filed on 16.8.2016, which was admitted on 27.10.2016 and in such circumstances there was hardly any need to re-open the question. Thus, apparently the plea of limitation was not gone into by the Tribunal for the mere reason that the claim petition had been admitted.

8. Section 5 (1) (b) of the State Public Service Tribunal Act provides as follows: -

"(b) The provisions of the Limitation Act, 1963 shall mutatis mutandis apply to reference under section 4 as if a reference were a suit filed in civil court so, however, that:-

(i) Notwithstanding the period of limitation prescribed in the Schedule to the said Act, the period of limitation for such reference shall be one year;

(ii) In computing the period of limitation the period beginning with the date on which the public servant makes a representation or prefers an appeal, revision or any other petition (not being a memorial to the Governor), in accordance with the rules or orders regulating his conditions of service, and ending with the date on which such public servant has knowledge of the final order passed on such representation, appeal, revision or petition, as the case may be, shall be excluded"

9. From a bare perusal of the aforesaid statutory mandate it is apparent that the period of limitation for filing a claim-petition is one year and in computing the period of limitation, the period on which the employee makes a representation or prefers an appeal, revision or any other petition in accordance with the Rules or orders regulating his conditions of service and ending with the date on which such Public Servant has knowledge of the final order passed on such representation, appeal, or revision or petition, shall be excluded.

10. In the present case, the punishment order was passed on 5.5.2006 and the period of limitation starts running from the immediate following day.

11. The petitioner had submitted a representation against the aforesaid order on 12.6.2006 and the same was rejected by means of an order dated 22.5.2008. Thereafter, the petitioner claims to have submitted repetitive representations on 17.11.2008 and on 30.3.2016. No Rule or any other provision of law has been mentioned in the representation dated 17.11.2008 under which the same was filed. After sleeping over the matter for about eight years the respondent no. 2 submitted another representation on 30.3.2016 for re-consideration of the order dated 22.5.2008. The said representations were rejected by means of the order dated 6.6.2016 stating that the representation dated 17.11.2008 had been consigned, as his appeal had already been rejected by means of an order dated 22.5.2008 and no action was warranted on the representation. The order dated 6.6.2016 further stated that no action was warranted on the request made by him through his letter dated 30.3.2016 for setting aside the punishment order.

12. Section 5 of the U.P. Public Service (Tribunals) Act provides for exclusion of time spent in decision of disposal of representation, appeal, revision or any other petition submitted "in accordance with the Rules or orders regulating his conditions of service" as the repetitive representations submitted by the respondent no. 2 did not refer to any Rules or orders regulating his conditions of services, the filing of repetitive representations against the punishment order dated 5.5.2006 will not extend the period of limitation prescribed under section 5(1) of the U.P. State Public Service (Tribunals) Act.

13. In this regard, Sri Neerav Chitravanshi, the petitioner's counsel, has placed before this Court the judgment dated 29.5.2015 rendered by a Coordinate Bench of this Court in the State of U.P. v. Vivekanand Singh & anr., MANU/ UP/1557/2015 wherein this court held that the original order having been passed on 28.12.2012 and no statutory remedy having been preferred against it the period of limitation for filing a claim-petition was one year from the date of passing of the original order. This Court further held that "The point of limitation goes to the root of the matter. It involves a jurisdictional issue. The Limitation Act has been made applicable to the Tribunal, as it was applicable to a suit, thus, Section 5 thereof has no application to a reference filed under Section 4 of the Act. If a claim petition is barred by limitation, then irrespective of its merits, the Tribunal has no other option but to decline to entertain it. It does not have the power to condone the delay."

14. Per contra, Ms. Renu Mishra, learned counsel for the respondent no. 2, has opposed the writ petition and she has placed reliance on a decision of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of Union of India v. Tarsem Singh, (2008) 8 SCC 648, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that:-

"4. The principles underlying continuing wrongs and recurring/successive wrongs have been applied to service law disputes. A "continuing wrong" refers to a single wrongful act which causes a continuing injury. "Recurring/successive wrongs" are those which occur periodically, each wrong giving rise to a distinct and separate cause of action. This Court Balakrishna Savalram Pujari Waghmare v. Shree Dhyaneshwar Maharaj Sansthan explained the concept of continuing wrong (in the context of Section 23 of the Limitation Act, 1908 corresponding to Section 22 of the Limitation Act, 1963): (AIR p. 807, para 31)

"31.... It is the very essence of a continuing wrong that it is an act which creates a continuing source of injury and renders the doer of the act responsible and liable for the continuance of the said injury. If the wrongful act causes an injury which is complete, there is no continuing wrong even though the damage resulting from the act may continue. If, however, a wrongful act is of such a character that the injury caused by it itself continues, then the act constitutes a continuing wrong. In this connection, it is necessary to draw a distinction between the injury caused by the wrongful act and what may be described as the effect of the said injury.'

8. In this case, the delay of sixteen years would affect the consequential claim for arrears. The High Court was not justified in directing payment of arrears relating to sixteen years, and that too with interest. It ought to have restricted the relief relating to arrears to only three years before the date of writ petition, or from the date of demand to date of writ petition, whichever was lesser. It ought not to have granted interest on arrears in such circumstances."

15. The aforesaid case initiated from the denial of Disability Pension to a person, who was invalidated out of Army Service in Medical category and the aforesaid observations were made by the Hon'ble Supreme Court with reference to denial of Disability Pension to an Ex Serviceman, which was treated to be a "continuing wrong", however, the challenge in the present case was against a punishment order of awarding a censure entry and stoppage of two annual increments with cumulative effectives, which is not the same as denial of Disability Pension.

16. In Regional Manager v. Pawan Kumar Dubey, (1976) 3 SCC 334, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"7.... It is the rule deducible from application of law to the facts and circumstances of a case, which constitutes its ratio decidendi and not some conclusion based upon facts, which may appear to be similar. One additional or different fact can make a world of difference between conclusions in two cases even when principles are applied in each to similar facts."

(Emphasis by the Court)

17. In Commissioner of Income Tax v. Son Engineering Works Pvt. Ltd., (1992) 4 SCC 363, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"39... It is neither desirable nor permissible to pick out a word or a sentence from the judgment of this court divulged from the context of the question under consideration and treat it to be the complete "Law declared by this court." The judgment must be read as a whole and the observations of the judgment have to be considered in the light of the questions which were before this court. A decision of this Court takes its colour from the questions involved in the case in which it is rendered and while applying the decision to a later case, the Court must carefully try to ascertain the true principle laid down by a decision of this Court, and not to pick out words or sentences from the judgment, divulged from the context of the questions under consideration by this court, to support their reasonings...".

18. Again in Ambica Quarry Works v. State of Gujrat, (1987) 1 SCC 203, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that "The ratio of any decision must be understood in the background of the facts of that case. It has been said long time ago that a case is only an authority for what it actually decides, and not what logically follows from it."

19. The Hon'ble Supreme Court reiterated the aforesaid principles in Bhav Nagar University v. Palitana Sugar Mills Pvt. Ltd. , (2003) 2 SCC 211, by stating that - "59... A decision as is well known, is an authority for which it decides, and not what can logically be deduced therefrom." It is also well settled that "a little difference in facts or additional facts may make a lot of difference in the precedential value of a decision."

20. Therefore, the aforesaid decision rendered in a case arising out of denial of Disability Pension to an Ex Serviceman would have no application to the instant case, which arises out of imposition of punishment of censure entry and stopage of two annual increments.

21. In C. Jaqab v. Director of Geology and Mining Indus. Est. & anr., (2008) 10 SCC 115, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that "When an order is passed considering and rejecting the claim or representation in compliance with direction of the Court or Tribunal, such an order does not revive the stale claim, nor amount to some amount of "acknowledgement of a jural relationship' to give rise to a fresh cause of action."

22. In Union of India & ors. V. M.S. Sarkar, (2010) 2 SCC 59, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that "when a belated representation in regard to a stale or dead issue/dispute is considered and decided, in compliance with a direction of the Court or Tribunal to do so. The date of the said decision cannot be considered as furnishing a cause-of-action for reviving the dead issue or time-barred dispute. The issue of limitation or delay and latches should be considered with reference to the original cause-of-action, and not with reference to the date on which an order is passed in compliance with a Court's direction."

23. Examining the facts of the present case in the light of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court and mentioned above, it is apparent that the punishment order was passed on 5.5.2006. The respondent no. 2 submitted a representation against the aforesaid order on 12.6.2006 to the U.P. Power Corporation Ltd. The representation was treated as an appeal and was rejected by means of an order dated 22.5.2008. Thereafter, the respondent no. 2 again submitted representations dated 17.11.2008 and 30.3.2016 to the same authority, without making mention of the provision under which the same were filed. The representations were disposed of by stating that as the appeal filed by the respondent no. 2 had already been rejected, no action was warranted on his representations. The representations were not filed under any Rule governing the service conditions of the respondent no. 2.

In such circumstances, filing of successive representations would not extend the period of limitation. The Tribunal has erred in law in not deciding the plea of limitation merely on the ground that the claim petition had been admitted.

24. As section 5 (1) (b) of the U.P. Public Service (Tribunals) Act 1976 provides that the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Act 1963 shall mutatis mutandis apply to reference under section 4, as the reference were a suit filed in the civil court, Section 3 of the Limitation Act would apply to it, which provides that a suit instituted after the prescribed period of limitation, shall be dismissed, although limitation has not been set up as a defence. The Tribunal has no power to condone the delay in filing the claim petition. Therefore, the claim petition filed after the expiry of the limitation period has to be dismissed and it cannot be entertained and adjudicated on its merits merely because it had been admitted.

25. In view of the aforesaid discussions, we are of the view that the claim petition which was filed by the respondent no. 2 before the Tribunal on 13.08.2016 challenging the punishment order dated 05.05.2006 and the appellate order dated 22.05.2008 was barred by the period of limitation prescribed under section 5 of the U.P. Public Service (Tribunals) Act 1976 and the Tribunal erred in entertaining the claim-petition and allowing the same, without deciding the plea of limitation on the ground that the claim petition had been admitted. The claim petition being barred by limitation was liable to be dismissed as such.

26. In view of the aforesaid discussion, the writ petition is allowed. The judgment and order dated 06.02.2018 passed by Tribunal allowing the Claim Petition No. 1624 of 2016 is hereby set aside and the claim petition is dismissed.

THE HON'BLE KARUNESH SINGH PAWAR, J.

Devi Singh ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Prabhat Kumar

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. Service Law – Complying with directions/Execution of order - Promotion – Arrears of salary - Whenever the authorities are directed to extend all the benefits which the petitioner would have obtained, had he not been illegally deprived of them, it is not open for the authorities to urge that he has not worked and therefore he should not be paid salary or be granted benefits. The proper course for the authorities is to challenge that order in the appeal. They cannot take this plea in execution of that order. (Para 8)

In case the authorities are aggrieved by any order passed by the Court of law, it is always open for the authorities to challenge the same in appropriate Court. However, in the facts of the present case, the order dated 23.02.2012 has not been assailed, admittedly, by the opposite parties, hence it has become final. Without challenging the said order dated 23.02.2012, it is not open for the authorities, at the time of execution, to assert that since the petitioner has not worked, he would not be granted the benefits. (Para 12)

Once the direction is issued by the competent court, it should be obeyed and implemented without any reservation. The authorities cannot be permitted to not comply the direction issued by the writ Court or to ignore it. The only remedy available to the party is that if he is aggrieved by the order passed by the writ Court, he may challenge the same by taking appropriate course under law. (Para 12)

The order impugned dated 03.04.2012 is hereby quashed. Respondents are directed to grant all the consequential benefits including the pensionary benefits as well as arrears of salary, to the petitioner, as directed by the writ Court in its order dated 23.02.2012. (Para 13)

Writ petition allowed. (E-4)

Precedent followed:

1. Commissioner, Karnataka Housing Board Vs C. Muddaiah, 2007 (7) SCC 689 (Para 8)

2. Food Corporation of India Vs S.N. Nagarkar, AIR 2002 Supreme Court 808 (Para 9)

3. St. of Kerala & ors. Vs E.K. Bhaskaran Pillai, (2007) 6 SCC 524 (Para 10)

Present petition challenges order dated 03.04.2012, passed by opposite party no. 2, which only provides notional promotion without arrears of salary against Subordinate Agriculture Service Group-II (Class III) post since 24.01.1980 to the petitioner.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karunesh Singh Pawar, J.)

1. Heard Sri Prabhat Kumar, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel for the State-opposite parties and perused the record.

2. By means of this petition, the petitioner has prayed for the following final reliefs:

"a. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari thereby quashing the part of impugned order dated 3.4.2012 passed by opposite party no. 2 as contained in Annexure No. 1 to this writ petition, which only provides notional promotion without arrears of salary against Subordinate Agriculture Service Group-II (Class III) post since 24.01.1980 to the petitioner.

b. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding and directing the opposite party no. 2 to provide the petitioner regular promotion in Subordinate Agriculture Service GroupII(Class-III) post since 24.01.1980 along with 12% interest."

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that petitioner was appointed on 24.06.1966 in the Subordinate Agriculture Service (S.A.S.) Group-III as Assistant Soil Conservation Inspector in the office of Bhomi Sanrakshan Adhikari, Etawah. He was confirmed on 01.01.1974. He was given promotion on 20.11.1999 in the higher post of Group-II and he retired on 30.06.2005 in the pay Scale of Rs. 5000-8000/-. However, the petitioner was not considered for promotion in time. The opposite parties while considering the promotion of the petitioner, have adopted the pick and choose policy and given promotion to number of employees who were junior to the petitioner since 1980. Similarly situated some persons filed Claim Petition No. 613/(I)/(II)/80; Shiv Shanker Tripathi and others Vs.State of U.P. and others before the U.P. Public Service Tribunal, which was allowed on 07.12.1985 and a direction for promotion including pay allowances etc. was also given with retrospective effect.

4. The order passed by the Tribunal dated 07.12.1985 was challenged before this Court by filing a Writ Petition No. 1782 of 1988; State of U.P. and another Vs. Sri Sheo Shankar Tripathi and Others which was upheld vide order dated 01.08.1991 passed by this Court. The order of this Court dated 01.08.1991 was challenged before Hon'ble Apex Court in Special Leave Petition no.10199/92 which was also dismissed on 30.08.1996 confirming the order passed by the High Court and the learned Tribunal.

5. In the meantime, some other superseded employees filed a Claim Petition No. 1079 of 2012 before the learned Tribunal and that Claim Petition was also allowed vide judgment and order dated 19.10.2012 passed by the Tribunal. The order of the Tribunal dated 19.10.2012 was again assailed by filing a Writ Petition No. 384(SB) of 2013; State of U.P. and another Vs. Satya Pal Singh and Another. The Division Bench of this Court vide order dated 18.03.2013 had again upheld the order passed by the learned Tribunal.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that some more employees who were similarly situated, like the petitioner, had approached directly to this Court by filing Writ Petition No. 6368 (SS) of 1997; Gokaran Prasad Kanaujia and others Vs. State of U.P. and Others, which was allowed vide judgment and order dated 19th of May, 2006. The order is on record (Annexure No. 3). After this, the petitioner after representing the department had filed a Writ Petition No. 986(SS) of 2012 which was disposed of in terms of the judgment and order dated 19th of May, 2006 passed in Writ Petition No. 6368(SS) of 1997, vide order dated 23.02.2012. The order dated 23.02.2012 passed by this Court in Writ Petition No. 986(SS) of 2012 is extracted below:

"Notice on behalf of opposite parties has been accepted by the learned Chief Standing Counsel.

The petitioners have approached this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India with the grievance that they are entitled for the promotional pay-scale from the date their juniors were given in Subordinate Agriculture Services Group-II (Class-III).

It is not disputed at the Bar that identical controversy has been settled at rest vide judgment and order dated 19.05.2006, passed in Writ Petition No.6368 (S/S) of 1997.

The operative portion of the judgment and order dated 19.05.2006 is reproduced as under:-

"In the result, the writ petition succeeds and is allowed. The order dated 03.03.1998 are hereby quashed and the respondents are directed to consider the claim of the petitioners to the post of S.A.S. Group-II w.e.f. the date the juniors to the petitioners have been promoted. Since the petitioners have retired from service and they are losers of pensionery benefits on account of non-consideration of their promotion, their cases for promotion be considered with all consequential benefits within a period of two months, from the date a certified copy of this order is produced before the authority concerned. No order as to costs."

In view of the above, it is not necessary to deal with the entire controversy at length again.

This writ petition is, therefore, disposed of finally in terms of the judgment & order dated 19.05.2006, passed in Writ Petition No. 6368 (SS) of 1997. The petitioners shall also be entitled for service benefits provided by this Court while deciding the controversy vide judgment and order dated 19.05.2006 (supra).

No order as to costs."

7. In compliance of the order dated 23.02.2012, the impugned order dated 03.04.2012 has been passed by making partial compliance and consequential benefits regarding arrears of salary, from the date of promotion of juniors to the petitioners, have been denied on the principal of 'no work no pay' relying on the Government Order dated 28.05.1997.

8. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that law in this regard has been settled by plethora of judgments and it has been held time and again by the Supreme Court that whenever the authorities are directed to extend all the benefits which the petitioner would have obtained, had he not been illegally deprived of them, it is not open for the authorities to urge that he has not worked and therefore he should not be paid salary or be granted benefits. The proper course for the authorities is to challenge that order in the appeal. They cannot take this plea in execution of that order. Learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon the judgment of Supreme Court reported in 2007(7) SCC 689; Commissioner, Karnataka Housing Board Vs. C. Muddaiah. Para 32 and 33 of the judgment are quoted herein below:

"32. We are of the considered opinion that once a direction is issued by a competent Court, it has to be obeyed and implemented without any reservation. If an order passed by a Court of Law is not complied with or is ignored, there will be an end of Rule of Law. If a party against whom such order is made has grievance, the only remedy available to him is to challenge the order by taking appropriate proceedings known to law. But it cannot be made ineffective by not complying with the directions on a specious plea that no such directions could have been issued by the Court. In our judgment, upholding of such argument would result in chaos and confusion and would seriously affect and impair administration of justice. The argument of the Board, therefore, has no force and must be rejected.

33. The matter can be looked at from another angle also. It is true that while granting a relief in favour of a party, the Court must consider the relevant provisions of law and issue appropriate directions keeping in view such provisions. There may, however, be cases where on the facts and in the circumstances, the Court may issue necessary directions in the larger interest of justice keeping in view the principles of justice, equity and good conscience. Take a case, where ex facie injustice has been meted out to an employee. In spite of the fact that he is entitled to certain benefits, they had not been given to him. His representations have been illegally and unjustifiably turned down. He finally approaches a Court of Law. The Court is convinced that gross injustice has been done to him and he was wrongfully, unfairly and with oblique motive deprived of those benefits. The Court, in the circumstances, directs the Authority to extend all benefits which he would have obtained had he not been illegally deprived of them. Is it open to the Authorities in such case to urge that as he has not worked (but held to be illegally deprived), he would not be granted the benefits? Upholding of such plea would amount to allowing a party to take undue advantage of his own wrong. It would perpetrate injustice rather than doing justice to the person wronged."

9. Learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon another judgment of Supreme Court reported in AIR 2002 Supreme Court 808; Food Corporation of India Vs. S.N. Nagarkar. Para 15 of the judgment is as under:

"Learned counsel appearing on behalf of the appellant submitted that this was a case where notional promotion and seniority was given to the respondent. In such a case the concerned employee is entitled to the pay scale of the promotional post only with effect from the date he joins the post and not from the date of his promotion. He sought to rely on two judgments of this Court reported in : (1996) 7 SCC 533, State of Haryana and others vs. O.P. Gupta and others and (1989) 2 SCC 541, Paluru Ramkrishnajah and others etc. vs. Union of India and another. On the other hand counsel for the respondent submitted that this is not a case where this Court is called upon to consider the submission urged on behalf of the appellant. In the instant case, the writ petition filed by the respondent was allowed by judgment and order dated 6th May, 1994 passed in Civil Writ Petition No.4983 of 1993. That order attained finality as it was not appealed from. In execution proceedings, the appellant cannot go beyond the order passed by the Court in the writ petition and, therefore, what has to be considered is whether the High Court was right in holding that in terms of the order of the Court dated 6th May, 1994 passed in Civil Writ Petition No.4983 of 1993, the respondent is entitled to the arrears of pay and allowances with effect from the date of promotions. If the answer is in the affirmative, the question whether such relief ought to have been granted cannot be agitated in execution proceeding. We find considerable force in the submission urged on behalf of the respondent. In these proceedings it is not permissible to go beyond the order of the learned Judge dated 6th May, 1994 passed in Civil Writ Petition No.4983 of 1993. The execution application giving rise to the instant appeal was filed for implementing the order dated 6th May, 1994 and in such proceeding, it was not open to the appellant either to contend that the judgment and order dated 6th May, 1994 was erroneous or that it required modification. The judgment and order aforesaid having attained finality, has to be implemented without questioning its correctness. The appellant therefore, cannot be permitted to contend in these proceedings that the judgment and order dated 6th May, 1994 was erroneous in as much as it directed the appellant to pay to the respondent arrears of salary with effect from the dates of promotion, and not from the dates the respondent actually joined the promotional posts."

10. Learned counsel for the petitioner further relied upon the judgment of Supreme Court reported in (2007) 6 SCC 524; State of Kerala and Others Vs. E.K. Bhaskaran Pillai. Para 4 of the judgment is quoted hereunder:

"Learned counsel for the State has submitted that grant of retrospective benefit on promotional post cannot be given to the incumbent when he has not worked on the said post. Therefore, he is not entitled to any benefit on the promotional post from 15.6.1972. In support thereof, the learned counsel invited our attention to the decisions of this Court *in Paluru Ramkrishnaiah & Ors. Vs. Union of India & Anr. [(1989) 2 SCC 541], Virender Kumar, G.M., Northern Railways Vs. Avinash Chandra Chadha & Ors.[(1990) 3 SCC 472] , State of Haryana & Ors. Vs. O.P. Gupta & Ors. [(1996) 7 SCC 533], A.K. Soumini Vs. State Bank of Travancore & Anr.[(2003) 7 SCC 238] and Union of India & Anr. Vs. Tarsem Lal & Ors. [(2006) 10 SCC 145]. As against this, the learned counsel for the respondent has invited our attention to the decisions given by this Court in Union of India & Ors. Vs. K.V. Jankiraman & Ors.[(1991) 4 SCC 109], State of A.P. Vs. K.V.L. Narasimha Rao & Ors.[(1999) 4 SCC 181], Vasant Rao Roman Vs. Union of India & Ors. [1993 Supp. (2) SCC 324] and State of U.P. & Anr. Vs. Vinod Kumar Srivastava [(2006) 9 SCC 621]. We have considered the decisions cited on behalf of both the sides. So far as the situation with regard to monetary benefits with retrospective promotion is concerned, that depends upon case to case. There are various facets which have to be considered. Sometimes in a case of departmental enquiry or in criminal case it depends on the authorities to grant full back wages or 50 per cent of back wages looking to the nature of delinquency involved in the matter or in criminal cases where the incumbent has been acquitted by giving benefit of doubt or full acquittal. Sometimes in the matter when the person is superseded and he has challenged the same before Court or Tribunal and he succeeds in that and direction is given for reconsideration of his case from the date persons junior to him were appointed, in that case the Court may grant sometime full benefits with retrospective effect and sometimes it may not. Particularly when the administration has wrongly denied his due then in that case he should be given full benefits including monetary benefit subject to there being any change in law or some other supervening factors. However, it is very difficult to set down any hard and fast rule. The principle 'no work no pay' cannot be accepted as a r*ule of thumb. There are exceptions where courts have granted monetary benefits also."

11. Learned Standing Counsel has opposed the writ petition and has submitted that since the petitioner has not worked for the period, therefore he has rightly been granted notional promotion, however he could not dispute the settled legal position as argued by learned counsel for the petitioner.

12. On due consideration to the submissions advanced, perusal of the record so also the aforesaid judgments of the Supreme Court, I am of the view that the law is settled in this regard. In case the authorities are aggrieved by any order passed by the Court of law, it is always open for the authorities to challenge the same in appropriate Court. However, in the facts of the present case, the order dated 23.02.2012 passed in Writ Petition No. 986(SS) of 2012 has not been assailed, admittedly, by the opposite parties, hence it has become final. Without challenging the said order dated 23.02.2012, it is not open for the authorities, at the time of execution, to assert that since the petitioner has not worked, he would not be granted the benefits as held by the Supreme Court in the case of C. Muddaiah (supra). Law in this regard has been settled time and again that once the direction is issued by the competent court, it should be obeyed and implemented without any reservation. The authorities cannot be permitted to not comply the direction issued by the writ Court or to ignore it. The only remedy available to the party is that if he is aggrieved by the order passed by the writ Court, he may challenge the same by taking appropriate course under law.

13. In view of the aforesaid settled law, the writ petition succeeds and is allowed. The order impugned dated 03.04.2012 is hereby quashed. Respondents are directed to grant all the consequential benefits including the pensionery benefits as well as arrears of salary, to the petitioner, as directed by the writ Court in it's order dated 23.02.2012.

A. Service Law – Disciplinary Proceedings – Recovery from Retiral Benefits - Uttar Pradesh Cooperative Societies Employees Service Regulations, 1975 - There is no provision in the Uttar Pradesh Cooperative Societies Employees Service Regulations, 1975 for initiation or continuation of disciplinary proceeding after retirement nor is there any provision stating that in case misconduct is established, a deduction could be made from the retiral benefits. (Para 19)

Once the petitioner has retired from service on 31.12.2001, there was no authority vested in the corporation for continuing the departmental proceeding even for the purpose of imposing any reduction in the retiral benefits payable to the petitioner. In absence of such an authority, it is held that enquiry/disciplinary proceeding had lapsed and the petitioner was entitled to full retiral benefits on retirement. As the enquiry has lapsed, it is obvious that the petitioner would have to get the balance of the emoluments payable to him. (Para 20)

Writ petition allowed. (E-4)

Precedent followed:

4. U.P. St.Sugar Corp. Ltd. Vs Kamal Swaroop Tondon, (2008) 2 SCC 41 (Para 15)

Present petition challenges order dated 20.02.2007, passed by respondent No. 3 and order dated 30.09.2003 with a further prayer to issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondent No. 3 to release the amount of Rs. 42,403/- along with interest of 14% that has been illegally deducted.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Irshad Ali, J.)

1. Heard Sri Desh Deepak Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for respondent No.1- State and Sri Balram

Yadav, learned counsel for respondent Nos.2&3.

2. The present writ petition has been filed before this Court seeking a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned order dated 20.02.2007 (Annexure No.1) passed by respondent No.3 and order dated 30.09.2003 (annexure-5) with a further prayer to issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondent No.3 to release the amount of Rs.42,403/- along with interest of 14% that has been illegally deducted in respect of loan case of Sri Ishaq Ali.

3. Brief facts of the case are that the petitioner was working as Branch Manager in U.P. Sahkari Gram Vikas Bank Ltd., who after completion of service on attaining the age of superannuation retired from service on 31.12.2001.

4. The petitioner filed Writ Petition No.1840 (S/B) of 2001 before this Court against his date of superannuation fixed by the bank at the age of 58 years and claimed parity of 60 years in parity with government employees. The writ petition was admitted and an interim order was passed therein on 21.12.2001, whereby following direction was issued:

"Admit.

Issue notice.

List in the week commencing 14.1.2002. In the meantime it would be open for the U.P. Cooperative Development Bank to consider the Government G.O. with regard to enhancement of age of superannuation of the petitioners to be 60 years. The retirement of the petitioners shall be subject to the decision of the writ petition."

5. The Managing Director of the Bank passed an order on 30.09.2003 on the basis of which an order was passed on 20.02.2007, whereby the disciplinary initiation against the petitioner in the year 1997 was concluded after about two years of his retirement and a recovery of Rs.1,15,000/- along with upto date interest was directed against the petitioner from the dues payable to the petitioner.

6. Against the order dated 30.09.2003, the petitioner preferred appeal before the Board of Directors on 27.10.2003, which was rejected by the appellate authority and information in this regard was furnished to the petitioner by the General Manager (Administration) vide letter No.151609/ karmik/2004-05 dated 13.12.2004.

7. For payment of retiral benefits, the petitioner preferred representation dated 18.07.2005 before the Managing Director, however, no heed was paid to the same. When, the request made by the petitioner vide representation dated 18.07.2005 was not replied with, he again filed another representation on 29.08.2006. Thereafter, he filed another representation before respondent No.3 on 19.07.2007 and when no response was received from the department, he contacted the concerned officials of the Bank, where he came to know that his all retiral benefits viz. gratuity, insurance, security and leave encashment etc. were adjusted against the liabilities fixed upon the petitioner and no amount was paid to the petitioner.

8. The petitioner filed an application under Right to Information Act asking the action taken in respect of deductions made against his retirement dues and asked to provide copy of the decisions taken in respect thereof. Thereafter, the Jan Suchna

Adhikari of the bank supplied the information sought by the petitioner vide letter dated 03.12.2007. By the information so provided, the petitioner came to know that the deductions were made against certain loan amounts disbursed by him in favour of certain persons.

9. In regard to aforesaid deductions, the petitioner made several representations / communications with the bank authorities and when there was no response, the present writ petition has been filed before this Court.

10. Submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that the deductions made from gratuity, leave encashment, security and insurance claim of the petitioner is in violation of Rule 79(1)(d) of the Bank Service Rules, 1976. He further submitted that the gratuity cannot be adjusted / attached even against a decree obtained from a civil, criminal or revenue Court as it is protected under the Payment of Gratuity Act.

11. He further submitted that even if the version of the respondents is accepted on its face value, even then deductions made against the petitioner are premature, as the recovery proceeding is still pending at Revenue Department of R.C. sent by the bank.

12. He next submitted that the respondent - bank has illegally deducted an amount of Rs.42,403/- along with interest from dues of the petitioner against the loan of one Ishaq Ali, as the petitioner has no concern with the aforesaid loan granted.

13. He lastly submitted that there is no pension scheme in the bank and retiral dues are the only source of livelihood after the retirement and the respondent - bank has committed gross illegality in delaying / deducting the same. In support of his submissions, he placed reliance upon following judgments:

a) Dev Prakash Tewari Vs. U.P. Co-operative Institutional Service Board, Lucknow and others; (2014) 7 SCC 260.

b) Bhagirathi Jena Vs. Board of Directors, OSFG and others; (1999) 3 SCC 666.

c) Brij Mohan V. State of U.P. and 5 Ors.; Writ-A No.42071 of 2016, order dated 16.01.2017.

14. On the other hand, learned counsel for the respondent Nos. 2&3 oppose the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner and submitted that the order dated 30.09.2003 passed by the Managing Director of the respondent - bank was passed on the basis of disciplinary proceedings, in which the petitioner was found guilty for loss of Rs.1,15,000/- with interest and accordingly, recovery was directed to be made from post-retiral benefits of the petitioner.

15. He further submitted that it is settled proposition of law that the recovery of amount / loss caused to the department by the employee is recoverable from the gratuity and other payable post-retiral dues and therefore, there is no illegality in the recovery made by the respondent - bank from retiral benefits of the petitioner. In support of his submissions, he placed reliance upon following judgments:

a) U.P. State Sugar Corporation Ltd. Vs. Kamal Swaroop Tondon; (2008) 2 SCC 41.

16. Learned A.C.S.C. also adopted the submissions advanced by learned counsel for respondent Nos.2&3.

17. I have considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the material on record.

18. To resolve the controversy involved in the matter, the judgments relied upon by learned counsel for the parties are being quoted below:

a) Judgments relied upon by learned counsel for the petitioner:

i) Dev Prakash Tewari (Supra):

"5. We have carefully considered the rival submissions. The facts are not in dispute. The Hihg Court while quashing the earlier disciplinary proceedings on the ground of violation of principles of natural justice in its order dated 10-1-2006 granted liberty to initiate the fresh inquiry in accordance with the Regulations. The appellant who was reinstated in service on 26-4-2006 and fresh disciplinary proceeding was initiated on 7-7-2006 and while that was pending, the appellant attained the age of superannuation and retired on 31-3-2009. There is no provision in the Uttar Pradesh Cooperative Societies Employees Service Regulations, 1975 for initiation or continuation of disciplinary proceeding after retirement of the appellant nor is there any provision stating that in case misconduct is established a deduction could be made from his retiral benefits."

ii) Bhagirathi Jena (Supra):

"In view of the absence of such a provision in the abovesaid regulations, it must be held that the Corporation had no legal authority to make any reduction in the retiral benefits of the appellant. There is also no provision for conducing a disciplinary enquiry after retirement of the appellant and nor any provision stating that in case misconduct is established, a deduction could be made from retiral benefits. Once the appellant had retired from service on 30-6-1995, there was no authority vested in the Corporation for continuing the departmental enquiry even for the purpose of imposing any reduction in the retiral benefits payable to the appellant. In the absence of such an authority, it must be held that the enquiry had lapsed and the appellant was entitled to full retiral benefits on retirement."

iii) Brij Mohan (Supra):

"A perusal of the aforesaid judgment it is manifestly clear that the facts of this case are squarely covered by the judgment in Dev Prakash Tewari (Supra). Learned counsel for the petitioner has failed to point out any provision under the Regulations, 1975 or any other guidelines under the Act, 202 to continue the disciplinary proceedings after the employee has retired. Accordingly, the order dated 22.06.2016 is set aside and it is held that the disciplinary proceedings initiated vide order dated 22.06.2016 stand lapsed. Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed."

b) Judgments relied upon by learned counsel for respondent Nos.2&3:

i) U.P. State Sugar Corporation Ltd. (Supra):

"In our opinion, Mahadevan does not held the respondent. No rigid, inflexible or invariable test can be applied as to when the proceeding should be allowed to be continued and when they should be ordered to be dropped. In such cases there is neither lower limit nor upper limit. If on the facts and in the circumstances of the case, the Court is satisfied that there was gross, inordinate and unexplained delay in initiating departmental proceedings and continuation of such proceedings would seriously prejudice the employee and would result in miscarriage of justice, it may quash them. We may, however, hasten to add that it is an exception to the general rule that once the proceedings are initiated, they must be taken to the logical end. It, therefore, cannot be laid down as a proposition of law or a rule of universal application that if there is delay in initiation of proceedings for a particular period, they must necessarily be quashed."

19. On perusal of the case laws cited by learned counsel for the parties, it is evident that there is no provision in the Uttar Pradesh Cooperative Societies Employees Service Regulations, 1975 for initiation or continuation of disciplinary proceeding after retirement nor is there any provision stating that in case misconduct is established, a deduction could be made from the retiral benefits.

20. Once the petitioner has retired from service on 31.12.2001, there was no authority vested in the corporation for continuing the departmental proceeding even for the purpose of imposing any reduction in the retiral benefits payable to the petitioner. In absence of such an authority, it is held that enquiry / disciplinary proceeding had lapsed and the petitioner was entitled to full retiral benefits on retirement. As the enquiry has lapsed, it is obvious that the petitioner would have to get the balance of the emoluments payable to him.

21. In view of reasons recorded above, the impugned orders dated 20.02.2007 (Annexure No.1) and 30.09.2003 (annexure-5) are hereby quashed.

22. The writ petition succeeds and is allowed.

23. The respondents are directed to pay the allowances / post retiral benefits to the petitioner as claimed in the writ petition in accordance with the rules and regulations within a period of eight weeks from the date of production of a certified copy of this order.

Civil Law - U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 – Sections 80, 80 (1), 80 (4), 116 & 210 - Constitution of India, 1950 – Article 226 – Board of Revenue - It is settled principle of law that issuance of a writ or quashing /setting aside of an order if revives another pernicious or wrong or illegal order - in that eventuality the writ court should not interfere in the matter and should refuse to exercise its discretionary power conferred upon it under Article 226 - Reference has been made to the judgment decided on 24.02.2020 in Atul Kumar Singh Vs St. of U.P. - Where orders impugned are equitable and substantial justice seems to have been done to the parties, the Writ Court would not be inclined to interfere merely on the ground that such orders are wrong in law - Hence, Court refuse to interfere in the impugned order. (Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Lavania, J.)

1. Heard Mohammad Arif Khan, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri P.V.Chaudhary, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri R.D.Shahi and Sri Rakesh Kumar Singh, learned counsel for opposite party No.3, Sri Harishchandra, learned counsel for the opposite party No.2 and Sri Mohan Singh, learned counsel for the Gaon Sabha and Avneesh Kumar, learned counsel for the State.

2. By means of present petition, petitioner has impeached the order dated 11.01.2023 passed by the respondent No.1-Board of Revenue, U.P., Lucknow in revision, registered as Revision No.REV/2686/2022/Ayodhya, Computerized Case No.R20220423002686 (Devesh Singh vs. Maya Singh) filed under Section 210 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 (in short "Code of 2006").

3. Brief facts, admitted between the parties, are to the effect that the dispute relates to Gata No. 853 situated at Village-Madna Uparhar Amsin, Tehsil-Sadar, District-Ayodhya. In Gata No.853, in issue, respondent No.4-Smt. Sukhmeena Singh was having 3/4th share and Rukmani Singh was having 1/4th share. Undisputed area of the Gata in issue is 0.449 Hect., out of which, petitioner purchased 0.11225 Hectare by means of registered sale deed dated 18.03.2021 and in the said sale deed, boundaries of the property purchased by the petitioner are described as "पूरब–चकरोड कच्चा 1 लट्ठा बादहू खेत नं0–849, 850 आदि, पश्चिम–सीमा ग्राम जलालुदीन नगर, उत्तर–सीमा ग्राम जलालुदीननगर, दक्षिण–गाटा सं0 857 अन्य व्यक्ति।"

4. Further, Respondent No.4-Smt. Sukhmeena Singh also executed sale deed(s) in favour of respondent No.2-Girish Kumar Singh and respondent No.3-Devesh Singh, which were registered on 23.05.2022 and 24.05.2022, respectively. After these sale deeds, indicated hereinabove, petitioner became owner of 1/4 part of the property in issue and the respondent Nos.2 and 3 became owner of 3/4 part.

5. It would be apt to refer here that the boundaries indicated in the subsequent sale deed(s) executed on 23.05.2022 and 24.05.2022 are similar as indicated in the sale deed of the petitioner. The boundaries indicated in the sale deed(s) subsequent to the sale deed of the petitioner are as "पूरब–चकरोड कच्चा 1 लट्ठा बादहू खेत नं0–849, 850 आदि, पश्चिम–सीमा ग्राम जलालुदीन नगर, उत्तर–सीमा ग्राम जलालुदीननगर, दक्षिण–गाटा सं0 857 अन्य व्यक्ति।"

6. Petitioner preferred an application under Section 80 of the Code of 2006 for declaration of holding/for use for non-agricultural purposes on 04.01.2022, which was registered as Case No.16 of 2022, Computerized Case No.T2022423450116 (Maya Singh vs. State of U.P.), and for the purposes of disposal of the said case, a report was called for, which was subsequently submitted by the Revenue Official on 20.04.2022 and thereafter, based upon the report of the Revenue Official, Sub Divisional Magistrate, Sadar, Ayodhya, allowed the application vide its order dated 21.04.2022.

7. It would be apt to refer here that one application was moved by the petitioner under Section 80 of the Code of 2006 with regard to Gata Nos.853 and 854, situated at Village-Madna Uparhar Amsin, Tehsil-Sadar, District-Ayodhya, with the prayer that the portion purchased by the petitioner in both these Gata(s) be declared so as to use it for non-agricultural purposes. In other words, composite application was filed for both the Gata(s).

8. On coming to know about the order dated 21.04.2022, an application for setting aside the order dated 21.04.2022 and restoration of the Case No.16 of 2022 was preferred by the respondent Nos.2 and 3, which was registered as Case No.RST/4456/2022, Computerized Case No.T202204230104456 (Devesh Singh & Others vs. Maya Singh). The Sub Divisional Magistrate, Sadar, Ayodhya, after due notice and hearing the parties dispose of the application vide its order dated 10.10.2022 in following terms:-

"पत्रावली प्रस्तुत। पत्रावली का अवलोकन किया गया। पत्रावली के अवलोकन से यह स्पष्ट है कि वादीगण देवेश सिंह पुत्र श्यामलाल सिंह व सुखमीना पत्नी स्व0 करुण कुमार सिंह द्वारा आदेश दिनाँक 21.04.2022 के विरुद्ध प्रस्तुत आपत्ति में कहा गया कि प्रश्नगत भूमि गाटा संख्या 853 का बंटवारा नहीं हुआ है तथा बिना बंटवारा हुए प्रश्नगत भूमि को अकृषिक घोषित नहीं किया जा सकता है, तत्पश्चात दिनाँक 16.06.2022 को प्रश्नगत आदेश दिनाँक 21.04.2022 का क्रियान्वयन स्थगित कर दिया गया।

अतः उपरोक्त विवेचना के आधार पर देवेश सिंह पुत्र श्यामलाल सिंह आदि द्वारा प्रस्तुत आपत्ति निरस्त करते हुए स्थगन आदेश दिनाँक 16.06.2022 वापस लिया जाता है। आदेश की प्रति राजस्व अभिलेखों में अंकन हेतु तहसीलदार सदर को भेजी जाय। वाद अनुपालन पत्रावली राजस्व अभिलेखागार संचित हो। ठ

9. Being aggrieved by the order(s) dated 10.10.2022 and 21.04.2022, a revision under Section 210 of the Code of 2006 was filed by the respondent No.2, in which, the impugned order dated 11.01.2023 has been passed by the respondent No.1-Board of Revenue, U.P., Lucknow. The relevant portion of the order dated 11.01.2023 reads as under:-

"6– तत्क्रम में उभय पक्षों के विद्वान अधिवक्ताओं को सुना एवं पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध सुसंगत अभिलेखों का परिशीलन/परीक्षण किया। पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध सुसंगत अभिलेखों के परिशीलन/परीक्षण से विदित है कि सुखमीना सिंह ने प्रश्नगत भूमि के सम्बन्ध में धारा–116 के तहत वाद संख्या 4762/2022 कम्प्यूटरीकृत वाद संख्या–टी202204230104762 सुखमीना सिंह बनाम श्रीमती माया सिंह आदि योजित किया जिसमें दिनांक 16.06.2022 को प्रारम्भिक डिक्री का आदेश पारित किया गया तथा उप जिलाधिकारी द्वारा अन्तिम आदेश दिनांक 10.10.2022 पारित किया गया। इसके पूर्व प्रश्नगत भूमि के सम्बन्ध में श्रीमती माया सिंह ने उप जिलाधिकारी के न्यायालय में धारा–80 के तहत अकृषिक प्रख्यापित किये जाने हेतु वाद योजित किया, जिस पर तहसीलदार ने दिनांक 20.04.2022 को आख्या प्रस्तुत की। इस आख्या के आधार पर उप जिलाधिकारी ने अगले ही दिन दिनांक 21.04.2022 को

7–पश्चात आवश्यक कार्यवाही पत्रावली दाखिल–दफ्तर हो।"

10. Impeaching the order dated 11.01.2023, Sri M.A.Khan, Senior Advocate assisted by Sri P.V.Chaudhari, appearing for the petitioner stated as under:-

(i) The application for recall of the order dated 21.04.2022 was not maintainable by Devesh Singh.

(ii) The property in issue i.e. Gata No. 853 was purchased by the petitioner based upon the mutual partition/family settlement. As such, no interference was required by the authority concerned in the order passed on the application under Section 80 of the Code of 2006.

(iii) The revision filed by Devesh Singh alone itself was not maintainable as he was not the recorded tenure holder. As such, the order passed by the Revisional Authority is without jurisdiction. The Revisional Authority erred in law and fact both in interfering in the order of the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Sadar, Ayodhya passed on 21.04.2022, subsequently, clarified on 10.10.2022 on the application preferred by the respondent No.3 and respondent No.4 for restoration of case.

(iv) Preliminary decree filed by respondent No.4-Smt. Sukhmeena Singh in the suit for partition, under Section 116 of the Code of 2006, was passed on 16.06.2022 and in terms of the preliminary decree, the map was prepared and thereafter, final decree was passed on 10.10.2022 against which first appeal i.e. Appeal No.2010 of 2022, Computerized Case No.C202204000002010 (Sukhmeena Singh & Others vs. Smt. Maya Singh & Others) was filed and the First Appellate Court dismissed the appeal vide its order dated 24.01.2023 and now the second appeal is pending, wherein, no interim order has been passed in favour of respondent Nos.2 and 3 and being so, the order dated 10.10.2022 based upon the order in partition suit was just and proper and interference in the same in the revision is unjustified.

(v) Map prepared by the Advocate Commissioner also proves that the land was partitioned.

(vi) If it is presume that no partition took place regarding Gata No.853 even in that event, the order regarding Gata No.854 ought not to have been interfered with.

11. Per contra, Sri R.D.Shahi and Sri Rakesh Kumar Singh, learned counsel for opposite party No.3, Sri Harishchandra, learned counsel for the opposite party No.2 stated that:-

(i) Application under Section 80 of the Code of 2006 by the petitioner alone regarding un-partitioned land itself was not maintainable, as such, no order could have been passed by any of the authorities including the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Sadar, Ayodhya. A reference has been made in this regard to Proviso to Section 80(1) and Sub Section 4 of Section 80 of the Code of 2006.

(ii) Respondent No.3-Devesh Singh, after execution of sale deed by respondent No.4-Smt. Sukhmeena Singh, in his favour entered into the shoes of Smt. Sukhmeena Singh, who admittedly, was co-sharer of the petitioner, as such, respondent No.3-Devesh Singh was having right to move the application for restoration as also to file a revision.

(iii) Any interference in the impugned order dated 11.01.2023 by this Court would revive the illegal order dated 21.04.2022 passed by the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Sadar, Ayodhya on the application preferred by the petitioner under Section 80 of the Code of 2006 as also the subsequent order dated 10.10.2022.

12. It is settled principle of law that issuance of a writ or quashing/setting aside of an order if revives another pernicious or wrong or illegal order then in that eventuality the writ court should not interfere in the matter and should refuse to exercise its discretionary power conferred upon it under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. In this regard, a reference has been made to the judgment decided on 24.02.2020 passed by this Court in Writ Petition No.343 of 1999 (Atul Kumar Singh vs. State of U.P.).

(iv) The second appeal challenging the order(s) passed in the proceedings related to Section 116 of the Code of 2006 has been filed wherein records have been summoned and the matter is still sub-judice before the statutory forum. Prayer is to dismiss the petition.

13. Considered the aforesaid submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the parties and perused the records including the order impugned.

14. In order to appreciating and deciding the controversy involved in the present petition, this court is of the view that in the instant case Section 80 of the Code of 2006, as applicable on the date of preferring the application, is relevant and being so, the same is extracted hereinbelow:-

"[80] Use of holding for Industrial, Commercial or Residential purposes.-

(1) Where a bhumidhar with transferable rights uses his holding or part thereof, for industrial, commercial or residential purposes, the Sub-Divisional Officer may, suomotu or on an application moved by such bhumidhar, after making such enquiry as may be prescribed, ether make a declaration that the land is being used for the purpose not connected with agriculture or reject the application. The Sub-Divisional Officer shall take a decision on the application within forty five working days from the date of receipt of the application. In case the application is rejected, the Sub-Divisional Officer shall state the reasons in writing for such rejection and inform the applicant of his decision.

[Provided that if the application for declaration is accompanied with the prescribed fee and in case of joint holding, no objection of co-tenure holders is attached in case of co-tenure holder and if the declaration is not made by the Sub-Divisional Officer with forty-five days as aforesaid, then the declaration shall be deemed to have been made. Tehsildar will make a record of it in the revenue records, with the comment "subject to the order of the Sub-Divisional Officer".*

If any affected party wants to file an objection in relation to the said declaration, it may file an objection in the competent court].

(2) Where a bhumidhar with transferable rights proposes to use in future his holding or part thereof, for industrial, commercial or residential purposes, the Sub-Divisional Officer may on an application moved by such bhumidhar, after making such enquiry as may be prescribed, either make a declaration that the land may be used for the purpose not connected with agriculture or reject the application, within forty five working days from the date of receipt of the application. In case the application is rejected, the Sub-Divisional officer shall state the reasons in writing of such rejection and inform the applicant of his decision:

Provided further that if the bhumidhar fails to start the proposed non agricultural activity within a period of five years from the date of declaration under this sub-section, then the declaration under sub-section (2) for the holding or part thereof shall lapse:

Provided also that a declaration under this sub-section shall not amount to change of land use and the land shall continue to be treated as agricultural land only. However, the bhumidhar shall be entitled to obtain loan and other necessary permissions, clearances etc. for the activity or project, proposed on the holding or part thereof, for which declaration under this sub-section has been obtained.

(3) A bhumidhar possessing declaration under sub-section (2) for his holding or part thereof, may apply to Sub-Divisional officer for converting declaration under sub-section (2) to a declaration under sub-section (1), after completion of construction activity or start of the proposed non-agricultural activity, within a period of five years from declaration under sub-section (2). On receipt of such an application, the Sub-Divisional officer, after making such enquiry as necessary, shall approve or reject the application within a period of 15 days from the receipt of the application. In case of rejection, he shall record in writing the reasons for such rejection;

Provided that for conversion of declaration under sub-section (2) to a declaration under sub-section (1), the bhumidhar shall be liable to pay only the balance amount of fee payable, calculated at prevailing circle rate, after adjusting the amount already paid by him for declaration under sub-section (2) earlier.

(4) No application for a declaration under sub-section (1) or (2), moved by any co-bhumidhar having undivided interest in bhumidhari land shall be maintainable, unless application is moved by all the co-bhumidhars of such bhumidhari land. In case only one of the co-bhumidhar wants to get a declaration for his share in the land with joint interest, then such an application shall be entertained only after the respective shares of the co-bhumidhars in the land have been divided in accordance with the provisions of law.

(5) The application for declaration [under sub-section (1) or sub-section(2)] shall contain such particulars and shall be made in such manner as may be prescribed.

(6) Where the application under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) is made in respect of a part of the holding, the sub-divisional officer may, in the manner prescribed, demarcate such part for purposes of such declaration.

(7) No declaration under this section shall be made by the sub-divisional officer, if he is satisfied that the land or part thereof is being used or is proposed to be used for a purpose which is likely to cause a public nuisance or to affect adversely public order, public health, safety or convenience or which is against the uses proposed in the master plan.

(8) In case the land or part thereof for which a declaration under this section is being sought falls within the area notified under any Urban or Industrial Development Authority, then prior permission of the concerned Development Authority shall be mandatory.

(9) The State Government may fix the scale of fees for declaration under this section and different fees may be fixed for different purposes:

Provided that if the applicant uses the holding or part thereof, for his own residential purpose, no fee shall be charged for the declaration under this section.""

15. In view of Proviso to Section 80(1) as also Sub Section 4 of Section 80 of the Code of 2006, this Court has to see as to whether the application preferred by the petitioner under Section 80(1) of the Code of 2006 was maintainable or not.

16. It would be apt to say here that from the Proviso to Sub Section 1, it appears that to maintain an application "no objection of co-tenure holders is required" and from the Sub Section 4, it appears that "No application for a declaration by any co-bhumidhar having undivided interest in bhumidhari land shall be maintainable, unless application is moved by all the co-bhumidhars of such bhumidhari land and in case only one of the co-bhumidhar wants to get a declaration for his share n the land with joint interest, then such an application shall be entertained only after the respective shares of the co-bhumidhars in the land have been divided in accordance with the provisions of law."

17. From the above indicated facts of the case and sale deed(s), referred above, this Court finds that the boundaries indicated in all the sale deed(s) including the sale deed executed by respondent No.4-Smt. Sukhmeena Singh in favour of respondent Nos. 2 and 3 are the same and described as "पूरब–चकरोड कच्चा 1 लट्ठा बादहू खेत नं0–849, 850 आदि, पश्चिम–सीमा ग्राम जलालुदीन नगर, उत्तर–सीमा ग्राम जलालुदीननगर, दक्षिण–गाटा सं0 857 अन्य व्यक्ति।"

18. No other document, except referred above, has been placed before this Court to substantiate the fact that the petitioner purchased part of the Gata No. 853 after due partition by metes and bounds.

19. Further, if there was a partition between Smt. Sukhmeena Singh and Rukmani then the said fact ought to have been mentioned in the sale deed(s) and the same ought to have been explained by the boundaries indicated in the sale deed(s). However, the sale deed(s) are silent on this aspect. Meaning thereby that no settlement took place prior to execution of sale deed(s), indicated above.

20. Thus, from the aforesaid including the boundaries indicated in the sale deed(s), this Court is of the view that without actual partition by metes and bounds, the concerned sold their share in Gata No. 853.

21. So as the map prepared by the advocate commissioner in the injunction suit filed by respondent No.3-Devesh Singh annexed at Page No. 143 of the Paper book is concerned, this Court is of the view that the same can not be relied upon to record a finding that the property was partitioned prior to filing of application under Section 80 of the Code of 2006.

22. Regarding submissions related to Gata No.854 made by Sri Khan, this Court, from the record particularly Annexure No.3 to the petition, finds that total area of Gata No.854 appears to be 0.2870 Hect. and out of the same, the petitioner purchased 0.10790 Hect. land and therefrom, it further appears that despite joint holding no objection of co-tenure holder was filed nor in the petition it has been specifically stated that the shares of the co-bhumidhars in the land have been divided in accordance with the provisions of law prior to filing of application under Section 80 of the Code of 2006.

23. In view of aforesaid, this Court is of firm view that prior to preferring the application under Section 80 of the Code of 2006, the land/plot(s) in issue i.e. Gata Nos.853 and 854 were not partitioned by metes and bounds, as such, the same was not maintainable in view of proviso to Section 80(1) as also 80(4) of the Code of 2006 and being so, no order could have been passed by the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Sadar, Ayodhya on the said application. The order of Sub Divisional Magistrate, Sadar, Ayodhya would be within jurisdiction under Section 80 of the Code of 2006 if the order is passed on an application which is maintainable as per Section 80 else would be without jurisdiction. In passing the order on an application which itself was not maintainable, the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Sadar, Ayodhya exceeded its jurisdiction. Thus, the order dated 21.04.2022 was an illegal and non-est order as was passed on an application which was not maintainable, as such, subsequent order dated 10.10.2022 passed on an application for setting aside the order dated 21.04.2022, registered as Case No.RST/4456/2022, though passed on the basis of decree in partition suit which is sub-judice in second appeal, can not be said to be a valid/legal order.

24. Regarding maintainability of the revision by Devesh Singh (respondent No.3) alone, this Court is of the view that revision was maintainable. It is in view of the fact that after purchasing some part of Gata No.853, Devesh Singh became the co-bhumidhar/co-tenure holder and being so as also considering the rights of a co-bhumidhar/co-tenure holder in the land in issue, in the proceedings initiated under Section 80 of the Code of 2006 an opportunity of hearing to Devesh Singh was required.

25. If the submissions of Sri Khan on the issue of maintainability are taken on its face value, even then no interference is required in the impugned order. It is for the reason that it is settled principle of law that issuance of a writ or quashing/setting aside of an order if revives another pernicious or wrong or illegal order then in that eventuality the writ court should not interfere in the matter and should refuse to exercise its power conferred upon it under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

26. In addition to above, in A.M.Allison vs. B.L.Sen; AIR 1957 SC 227, an objection was raised that the Deputy Collector had no Jurisdiction to determine the question. The Supreme Court refused to entertain this objection on the ground that the order was challenged in writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution. It was observed:-

"Proceedings by way of certiorari are "not of course". (Vide Halsbury's 'Laws of England', Hailsharn Edition, Vol. 9, paras 1480 and 1481, pp. 877-878). The High Court of Assam had the power to refuse the writs if it was satisfied that there was no failure of justice, and in these appeals which are directed against the orders of the High Court in applications under Article 226, we could refuse to interfere unless we are satisfied that the justice of the case requires to. But we are not so satisfied. We are of opinion that, having regard to the merits which have been concurrently found in favour of the respondents both by the Deputy Commissioner, Sibsagar, and the High Court, we should decline to interfere."

27. In Bux Singh vs. Joint Director of Consolidation, U.P. Lucknow and others; AIR 1966 All 156, this Court observed "Where orders impugned are equitable and substantial Justice seems to have been done to the parties, the High Court would not be inclined to interfere in its writ jurisdiction merely on the ground that such orders are wrong in law."

28. In Om Prakash vs. U. P. Secondary Education Service Commission, Allenganj, Allahabad and others, (1990) UPLBEC 983, the Court observed as under:-

"It is well settled that a decision of an authority, even though without jurisdiction, may not be quashed in proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution if by the decision the substantial justice is done between the parties."

29. For the reasons aforesaid, this Court is not inclined to interfere in the order impugned dated 11.01.2023 passed by the respondent No.1-Board of Revenue, U.P., Lucknow Accordingly, the petition is dismissed. No order as to costs.

Civil Law - U.P. Consolidation of Holding Act, 1953 - Section 48 - Revision and reference - scope/power of Deputy Director of Consolidation u/s 48 - Remand of case - Section 48 of the Act of 1953 provides ample power to the D.D.C. to examine the correctness/ legality/ propriety of any order which includes the power to examine any finding, whether of fact or law, recorded by any subordinate authority so as the power to re-appreciate any oral or documentary evidence - order remanding the case to the Consolidation Officer when the entire evidence was before him was not proper and the DDC should have decided the matter himself as he was exercising very comprehensive power under section 48 of the Act - remand of the case causes delay and prolongs litigation as well as harassment to the parties - In the instant case the remand order passed by D.D.C. was quashed and as entire material was available before D.D.C. , the matter was remanded to the D.D.C. to decide the matter afresh after affording proper opportunity of hearing to the parties (Para 26, 27)

1. Heard Sri Nazim Ali Siddique, learned counsel for the petitioners and Sri Hemant Kumar Pandey, learned State counsel appearing for the respondent Nos. 1 and 2.

2. In view of order proposed to be passed, issuance of notice to respondent Nos. 3 to 26 is hereby dispensed with. Liberty is also provided to these respondents to file an appropriate application of recall of this order, if they are aggrieved by it.

3. By means of this petition, the petitioners have assailed the order dated 22.12.2022, whereby, the respondent No. 1/Deputy Director of Consolidation/ Additional District Magistrate (F/R), Lakhimpur Kheri remanded the matter back to the Consolidation Officer concerned for deciding the case afresh after providing opportunity of hearing to the parties to the litigation. The operative portion of the order dated 22.12.2022 is quoted hereunder for ready reference:-

"मैंने निगरानीकर्तागणों व विपक्षीगणों के विद्वान अधिवक्तागणों को सुना तथा ग्राम के अभिलेखों व भूचित्र आदि का भली–भांति अवलोकन किया। अवलोकन से स्पष्ट है कि प्रश्नगत वाद गाटा संख्या–96 मि0 से संबंधित है, जिसमें मा0 उच्च न्यायालय के रिट याचिका संख्या–20 (सीलिंग)/1993 में पारित आदेश दिनांक 02.08.2004 द्वारा विपक्षीगणों के पिता तरसेम सिंह मृतक को गाटा संख्या–96/1/20.00, 94/1/1.90, 94/4/3.10 पर संक्रमणीय भूमिधर अंकित किया गया है। इस आदेश के अनुपालन में चकबन्दी अधिकारी के बाद संख्या–82/2020–21 अन्तर्गत धारा–21 (1) जोत चकबन्दी अधिनियम में पारित आदेश दिनांक 03.02.2021 द्वारा विपक्षीगण अंगद प्रताप सिंह आदि को गाटा संख्या–96/1/20.00 के सापेक्ष मूल्यांकन का चक प्रदिष्ट किया गया, परन्तु इस आदेश के अनुपालन में तैयार की गयी संशोधन तालिका में निगरानीकर्तागण जो वर्ष 1976 से प्रश्नगत भूमि के पट्टाधारक हैं, उनका चक समाप्त करके सीलिंग में दर्ज किया गया है, जिसका क्षेत्राधिकार चकबन्दी प्राधिकारियों को नहीं है। प्रश्नगत गाटा संख्या–96, जिसका बन्दोबस्ती क्षेत्रफल 44.22 एकड़ अभिलेखों में अंकित है तथा बाद में इसका क्षेत्रफल चकबन्दी में बढ़कर 48.28 एकड़ अंकित किया गया। गाटा संख्या–96 में ही वन भूमि 24.50 एकड़ सम्मिलित है। चकबन्दी अधिकारी द्वारा पारित आदेश में कितना क्षेत्रफल सीलिंग के समय वन भूमि में आरक्षित थी तथा कितनी भूमि सीलिंग से अवमुक्त हुई तथा उनमें

से कितनी भूमि पर किन–किन पट्टेदारों को कितने क्षेत्रफल का पट्टा किया गया ? इस तथ्य का कोई उल्लेख नहीं है। यद्यपि मा0 उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा पारित आदेश के अनुपालन में विपक्षीगणों को गाटा संख्या–96/1/20.00 एकड़ के सापेक्ष चक प्रदिष्ट किया जाना उचित है, परन्तु उससे प्रभावित होने वाले पट्टाधारकों के हितों को भी ध्यान रखना आवश्यक है। गाटा संख्या–96/1/20.00 एकड़ को छोड़कर शेष वन भूमि व पट्टेधारकों के सम्बन्ध में तथ्यपरक विस्तृत आदेश किया जाना आवश्यक है, जिससे कि सम्बन्धित पक्षकारों को अपना पक्ष व साक्ष्य प्रस्तुत करने का अवसर मिल सके। चकबन्दी अधिकारी द्वारा पारित आदेश में प्रभावित पट्टेदारों से आनुपातिक मूल्यांकन खारिज करने का आदेश पारित किया गया है, परन्तु अनुपालन करते समय किसी–किसी पट्टेदार का पूरा चक ही समाप्त कर दिया गया है, जो उचित नहीं है। चकबन्दी अधिकारी द्वारा पारित आदेश की पुष्टि करके बन्दोबस्त अधिकारी चकबन्दी द्वारा भी त्रुटि की गयी है। इसलिए न्यायिक दृष्टिकोण से उचित होगा कि प्रश्नगत वाद परीक्षण न्यायालय को इस निर्देश के साथ प्रत्यावर्तित किया जाये कि वह सभी सम्बन्धित पक्षकारों को सुनकर प्रत्येक बिन्दु पर तथ्यपरक विस्तृत आदेश पारित करते हुए मा0 उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा पारित आदेश का अनुपालन करना सुनिश्चित करें। तद्नुसार सभी निगरानियां स्वीकार किये जाने योग्य हैं। उपरोक्त विवेचनानुसार आदेश हुआ कि :–

4. From the order impugned dated 22.12.2022 including the operative portion of the same, quoted above, it is apparent that the Consolidation Officer has to provide only proper opportunity of hearing to the parties to the litigation and thereafter he has to pass a reasoned order on each issue.

5. While assailing the impugned order dated 22.12.2022, learned counsel for the petitioner stated that the order of remand, under challenge, dated 22.12.2022 is unsustainable in the eye of law particularly in view of explanation given in Section 48(3) of U.P. Consolidation of Holding Act, 1953 (hereinafter referred to as the "Act of 1953"). As such, indulgence of this Court is required in the matter.

6. In continuation, it is further stated that all the material was available before the Consolidation Officer and the Act of 1953 itself provides wide power to the Consolidation Officer, as appears from the explanation given under Section 48(3) of the Act of 1953 and he ought to have decided the case of the parties on merits after providing proper opportunity of hearing to them. Thus, the respondent No. 1 erred in law and fact while passing the order impugned dated 22.12.2022.

7. Sri Pandey, learned State counsel assisted this Court on the issue involved in the present petition. He also could not dispute the power of respondent No. 1 under Section 48(3) of the Act of 1953.

Considered the submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

8. In order to decide the present petition, this Court feels it appropriate to reproduce Section 48 of the Act of 1953, which is as under:-

"[48. Revision and reference. - (1) The Director of Consolidation may call for and examine the record of any case decided or proceedings taken by any subordinate authority for the purpose of satisfying himself as to the regularity of the proceedings; or as to the correctness, legality or propriety of any order] [other than an interlocutory order] passed by such authority in the case or proceedings, may, after allowing the parties concerned an opportunity of being heard, make such order in the case or proceedings as he thinks fit.

(2) Powers under sub-section (1) may be exercised by the Director of Consolidation also on a reference under sub-section (3).

(3) Any authority subordinate to the Director of Consolidation may, after allowing the parties concerned an opportunity of being heard, refer the record of any case or proceedings to the Director of Consolidation for action under sub-section (1).

[Explanation. -] [(1)] For the purposes of this section, Settlement Officers, Consolidation, Consolidation Officers, Assistant Consolidation Officers, Consolidator and Consolidation Lekhpals shall be subordinate to the Director of Consolidation.

Explanation (2) - For the purposes of this section the expression 'interlocutory order' in relation to a case or proceeding, means such order deciding any matter arising in such case or proceeding or collateral thereto as does not have the effect to finally disposing of such case or proceeding.

[Explanation (3). - The power under this section to examine the correctness, legality or propriety of any order includes the power to examine any finding, whether of fact or law, recorded by any subordinate authority, and also includes the power to re-appreciate any oral or documentary evidence.]

9. At this stage, it is also appropriate to refer various pronouncements on the scope/power of Deputy Director of Consolidation under Section 48 of the Act of 1953.

10. In the judgment dated 24.09.2014 passed by this Court in the case of Ram Udit v. D.D.C. reported in MANU/UP/1768/2014, this Court considering the Scheme of the Act of 1953 and Section 48 observed as under:-

"10. The Scheme of the statute contemplates a tentative plan, inviting objection from stake-holder, i.e. tenure holder, and, after considering the same, finalization of plan, i.e., allotment of Chaks. There against appellate power has been conferred upon SOC under Section 21(2) of Act 1953. The power which is exercised by DDC, is termed "Revision and reference" under Section 48 of Act, 1953.

11. The original Section 48, as enacted initially, read as under:

"48. Revision.-Director of Consolidation may call for the record of any case if the Officer (other than the Arbitrator) by whom the case was decided appears to have exercised a jurisdiction not vested in him by law or to have failed to exercise jurisdiction so vested, or to have acted in the exercise of his jurisdiction illegally or with substantial irregularity and may pass such orders in the case as it thinks fit."

12. It was amended by substitution by U.P. Act No. 24 of 1956 as under:

"48. Powers of Director of Consolidation to call for records and to revise orders.-The Director of Consolidation may call for the record of any case or proceeding if the Officer (other than the Arbitrator) by whom the case was decided or proceeding taken appears to have exercised jurisdiction not vested in him by law or to have failed to exercise jurisdiction so vested, or to have acted in the exercise of his jurisdiction illegally or with substantial irregularity and may pass such orders in the case as it thinks fit."

(amendment in bold)

13. Within a short period, it was again amended by U.P. Amendment Act No. 38 of 1958 as under:

"48. Revision.-The Director of Consolidation may call for the record of any case decided or proceedings taken, where he is of opinion that a Deputy Director, Consolidation has-

(i) exercised jurisdiction not vested in him in law, or

(ii) failed to exercise jurisdiction vested in him, or

(iii) acted in the exercise of his jurisdiction illegally or with substantial irregularity, and as a result of which, substantial injustice appears to have been caused to a tenure-holder and he may 4, after affording reasonable opportunity of hearing to the parties concerned, pass such order in the case or proceeding as he thinks fit."

(amendment in bold)

14. Section 48 underwent a minor amendment vide Section 39 of U.P. (Amendment) Act No. VIII of 1963. An Explanation was added by Act No. 4 of 1969 with retrospective effect. Major amendment came to be made by U.P. Act No. 20 of 1982 inasmuch as, in sub section(1) the words "other than an interlocutory order" were inserted w.e.f. 10.11.1980. The explanation inserted in 1969 was re-numbered as Explanation- (1) by Act No. 20 of 1982 w.e.f. 10.11.1980 and then Explanation(2) was added w.e.f. 10.11.1980.

15. Presently, Section 48 reads as under:

"48. Revision and reference.-(1) The Director of Consolidation may call for and examine the record of any case decided or proceedings taken by any subordinate authority for the purpose of satisfying himself as to the regularity of the proceedings; or as to the correctness, legality or propriety of any order [other than interlocutory order] passed by such authority in the case of proceedings and may, after allowing the parties concerned an opportunity of being heard, make such order in the case of proceedings as he thinks fit.

(2) Powers under Sub-section (1) may be exercised by the Director of Consolidation also on a reference under Sub-section (3).

(3) Any authority subordinate to the Director of Consolidation may, after allowing the parties concerned an opportunity of being heard, refer the record of any case or proceedings to the Director of Consolidation for action under subsection (1).

Explanation (1)-For the purposes of this section, Settlement Officer, Consolidation, Consolidation Officers, Assistant Consolidation Officers, Consolidator and Consolidation Lekhpals shall be subordinate to the Director of Consolidation.

Explanation (2). For the purpose of this section the expression 'interlocutory order' in relation to a case or proceedings, means such order deciding any matter arising in such case or proceeding or collateral thereto as does not have the effect of finally disposing of such case or proceeding.

Explanation (3).-The power under this section to examine the correctness, legality or propriety of any order includes the power to examine any finding, whether of fact or law, recorded by any subordinate authority, and also includes the power to re-appreciate any oral or documentary evidence."

16. Section 48 as it was initially enacted came to be considered in Sher Singh (dead) Vs. Joint Director of Consolidation and others MANU/SC/0514/1978 : (1978) 3 SCC 172. The Court observed that a bare reading show that it is pari materia with Section 115 CPC which confines revisional jurisdiction of High Court to cases of illegal or irregular exercise or non exercise or illegal assumption of jurisdiction by subordinate Courts. If a subordinate court is found to possess the jurisdiction to decide a matter, it cannot be said to exercise it illegally or with' material irregularity even it decides the matter wrongly. Relying on the cases interpreting Section 115 CPC, the Court held that whatever revisional jurisdiction was available to High Court under Section 115, the same was the scope of revisional jurisdiction of DDC under Section 48 and it has no jurisdiction to go into errors of facts. The Court said that an erroneous decision on a question of fact or of law reached by subordinate court which has no relation to question of jurisdiction of that court, cannot be corrected by High Court under Section 115 CPC and same would apply to DDC under Section 48. The Court further observed that consolidation authorities subordinate to Joint Director possess plenary jurisdiction and competence to go into the question of correctness or otherwise of entries in revenue records. If there are concurrent findings of fact of two Courts, which do not leave any ground, as observed above, in revisional jurisdiction, interference by Joint Director of Consolidation would not be competent. In para 16 of the judgment, the Court said:

"Thus the subordinate Consolidation authorities not having acted illegally in exercising their jurisdiction, the Joint Director of Consolidation was not competent to interfere with their decisions."

17. Section 48 as amended in 1963 then came to be considered in Ramakant Singh Vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation, U.P. and others MANU/UP/0026/1975 : AIR 1975 All 126 but therein the Court while considering Section 48(1), to the question, whether Deputy Director of Consolidation, once has called for record, is it incumbent on him to decide the matter on merit or it can decline and dismiss the revision on any technical ground like lack of impleadment of proper party etc.

18. Amended section 48 in 1963, then came to be considered in Shanti Prakash Gupta Vs. DDC 1981 SCC (Suppl) 73. Therein the Court observed that Section 48 as then stood, vide amendment of 1963, was wider than Section 115 CPC. However, it proceeded to hold that Director should not lightly interfere with discretion of C.O. unless the order sought to be reversed is palpably erroneous or likely to cause miscarriage of justice. To the same effect and imposing similar restriction, observations were made in Ram Dular Vs. Dy. Director of Consolidation MANU/SC/1004/1994 : (1994) Supp(2) SCC 198 as under:

"It is clear that the Director had power to satisfy himself as to the legality of the proceedings or as to the correctness of the proceedings or correctness, legality or propriety of any order other than interlocutory order passed by the authorities under the Act. But in considering the correctness, legality or propriety of the order or correctness of the proceedings or regularity thereof it cannot assume to itself the jurisdiction of the original authority as a fact-finding authority by appreciating for itself of those facts de novo. It has to consider whether the legally admissible evidence had not been considered by the authorities in recording a finding of fact or law or the conclusion reached by it is based on no evidence, any patent illegality or impropriety had been committed or there was any procedural irregularity, which goes to the root of the matter, had been committed in recording the order or finding."

19. A slight different observation came to be made in Preetam Singh Vs. Assistant Director of Consolidation and others MANU/SC/0742/1996 : (1996) 2 SCC 270 where the Court said:

"When the matter was in revision before the Assistant director (Consolidation), he had the entire matter before him and his jurisdiction was unfettered. While in seisin of the matter in his revisional jurisdiction, he was in complete control and in position to test the correctness of the order made by the Settlement Officer (Consolidation) effecting remand. In other words, in exercise of revisional jurisdiction the Assistant Director (Consolidation) could examine the finding recorded by the Settlement Officer as to the abandonment of the land in dispute by those tenants who had been recorded at the crucial time in the Khasra of 1359 Fasli. That power as a superior court the Assistant Director (Consolidation) had, even if the remand order of the Settlement Officer had not been specifically put to challenge in separate and independent proceedings. It is noteworthy that the Court of the Assistant Director (Consolidation) is a court of revisional jurisdiction otherwise having suo moto power to correct any order of the subordinate officer. In this situation the Assistant Director (Consolidation) should not have felt fettered in doing complete justice between the parties when the entire matter was before him. The war of legalistics fought in the High Court was of no material benefit to the appellants. A decision on merit covering the entire controversy was due from the Assistant Director (Consolidation). (para-6)

20. Yet in Ram Avtar Vs. Ram Dhani, MANU/SC/0034/1997 : AIR 1997 SC 107, the Court, in para 8, observed:

"This Court has repeatedly pointed out that howsoever wide the power under statutory revision may be in contrast to Section 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure, still while exercising that power the authority concerned cannot act as a Court of appeal so as to appreciate the evidence on record for recording findings on question of fact."

21. These observations again put the things in the shape bringing the scope of jurisdiction under Section 48 nearer to jurisdiction as contained in Section 115 CPC.

22. Section 48(1) as it stood before its amendment in 1963 and subsequent thereto, both came to be noticed in Sheshmani and another vs. The Deputy Director of Consolidation, District Basti, U.P. and others MANU/SC/0079/2000 : 2000(2) SCC 523. Referring to earlier decision in Sher Singh Vs. Joint Director of Consolidation (supra) and Ram Dular Vs. DDC (supra) and the intervening amendment, the Court followed the observations made in Ram Dular, as noticed above and then upheld the order passed by DDC holding that orders of CO. and Additional Settlement Consolidation Officer were against settled principles of law, therefore, DDC was justified in exercise of revisional power, for coming to a different conclusion.

23. It is in these circumstances, Legislature intervened by inserting Explanation-3, by U.P. Act No. 3 of 2002, giving effect from 10.11.1980 but in Karan Singh Vs. DDC 2003(94) RD 382 this Court said that even after addition of Explanation-3, DDC cannot substitute its own finding in place of subordinate authorities.

24. Recent decision in Jagdamba Prasad Vs. Kripa Shankar MANU/SC/0274/2014 : (2014) 5 SCC 707 which has also considered Section 48 as amended in 1963, in para 15, following the earlier decision in Sher Singh Vs. Joint Director of Consolidation (supra) it has said:

"15. According to the legal principle laid down by this Court in the case mentioned above, the power of the Revisional Authority under Section 48 of the Act only extends to ascertaining whether the subordinate courts have exceeded their jurisdiction in coming to the conclusion. Therefore, if the Original and Appellate Authorities are within their jurisdiction, the Revisional Authority cannot exceed its jurisdiction to come to a contrary conclusion by admitting new facts either in the form of documents or otherwise, to come to the conclusion. Therefore, we answer point no. 1 in favour of the appellants by holding that the Revisional Authority exceeded its jurisdiction under Section 48 of the Act by admitting documents at revision stage and altering the decision of the subordinate courts."

25. It is thus difficult to observe that Explanation III to Section 48 has brought the scope of revision at par with the appellate jurisdiction so as to assess the evidence on pure issue of fact and recording findings de novo. Revisional power is not a power of first or second appellate Court which are final Courts of fact and findings recorded therein would be possible to be interfered under Section 48 on the ground discussed in Ram Dular (Supra), Sheshmani (Supra) and Jagdamba Prasad (supra).

26. Impugned orders in these matters are all subsequent to 1980 and, therefore, could be governed by aforesaid provision as it is. Sub Section (1) of Section 48 in effect deals revisional power while sub sections (2) and (3) relate to reference made by an authority subordinate to Director of Consolidation. From a bare and plain reading of Section 48(1) it is evident that Director of Consolidation has been given power to call for and examine any case decided or proceedings taken by any subordinate authority for the purpose of satisfying himself (i) to the regularity of the proceedings and (ii) to the correctness, legality or propriety of any order."

11. In the judgment dated 18.06.2015 passed in Writ Petition No. 436 (Consolidation) of 2015 (Prem Nath and others vs. D.D.C., Barabanki and others), this Court observed as under:-

"Appeal under Section 11 and Revision under Section 48 of Act 1953 are two distinct statutory remedies. The scope of the two remedies is also different. Powers of revision under Section 48 and appeal under Section 11 are distinct. The appellate powers are of wider amplitude. Howsoever wide the power under Section 48 may be, even after amendment made in the year 2002, it does not permit the revisional authority to summon the records and decide the merits of an appeal pending before the SOC under Section 11 without the appellate authority having passed any order deciding the appeal or an order deciding any matter which has the effect of disposing of the appeal. Such action is destructive of the statutory remedy of appeal under the Act 1953. No doubt, the DDC has suo moto powers under Section 48 but it does not mean that he can call for the record of appeal pending before the SOC and decide the same on merits without the appellate authority having decided the same. Reference may be had in this regard to a decision of this Court in the case of Ranjeet and others Vs. Dy. Director of Consolidation Ballia and others reported in 1999(90) RD 363 wherein during pendency of appeal against an order of subordinate authority a revision was filed before the DDC under Section 48 against the same order. Reliance was placed by the respondents therein upon various decision including a Full Bench decision of this Court in the case of Ramakant Singh Vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation, reported in 1974 (suppl.) RD 262. This Court, after considering the said Full Bench and other decisions, held as under:--

"6. The facts of these three cases relied upon by the learned counsel for the respondent no. 2 are different, in all these three cases the appeal before the Settlement Officer was not pending, in the instant case, as seen above the appeal and cross-appeals were pending before the Settlement Officer (Consolidation), the petitioners specifically urged before the Deputy Director of Consolidation that in view of the pendency of the appeal, the revision was not maintainable. The present case is a case where the jurisdiction exercised by the Deputy Director of Consolidation is destructive of the statutory remedy of appeal and it is a fit case which calls for interference in petitions under Articles 226/227 of the Constitution of India."

In another case reported in [2007 (102) RD 250] Chhakku Ram and others Vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation, Varanasi and others a revision was filed under Section 48 challenging the order of SOC dismissing the appeal on the ground of limitation. The issue was as to whether while considering validity of the order passed by the SOC the revisional authority could have considered and decided the merits of the controversy also. This Court again after considering the Full Bench decision in Ramakant Singh's case (supra) held as under:--

"3. Counsel for the respondents Sri Sankatha Rai assisted by Sri Pradip Rai made two submissions on the point of maintainability. First that even if the Deputy Director of Consolidation has not given any specific finding regarding the condonation of delay the delay would be deemed to have been condoned by him when he entered into the merits of the case. On this point he relied a decision in M. B. Shah V. B. N. Agarwal (AIR 2002 SC 451). This decision has no application to the present case. It is not in dispute that the revision, which was filed by respondent No. 2 was within time against the order of the Settlement Officer Consolidation. It was the appeal before the Settlement Officer Consolidation, which had been dismissed on the ground of limitation. It is also submitted that the record of the case was before the Deputy Director of Consolidation and he could, therefore, decide the case on merits. In support reliance is placed upon the Full Bench decision of this Court in Ramakant Singh V. Deputy Director of Consolidation (AIR 1975 Alld. 126). In that case the question referred was whether after the record is called for under section 48 the Deputy Director of Consolidation can dismiss the revision for non-impleadment of a necessary party in the memorandum of revision or he can decide the case after hearing the party not impleaded. It was held that after the record has been examined the Deputy Director of Consolidation can exercise the revisional jurisdiction suo moto and take appropriate decision after hearing the affected parties. The Full Bench further holds that if the revision application is not defective the exercise of the revisional jurisdiction shall be at the instance of the parties and not suo moto. In the present case the revision was not defective. The exercise of jurisdiction was therefore at the instance of the petitioner and not suo moto. The Deputy Director of Consolidation was therefore required to examine the correctness of the order of the Settlement Officer Consolidation dismissing the appeal on the ground of limitation, which was the order challenged and not the merits of the chak allotment. Counsel for the petitioners relied upon a decision of this Court in Bashir Ahmad Khan V. Deputy Director of Consolidation, Ghazipur and others (2005(98) RD 378) in which this Court in similar circumstances has taken the view that the proper course for the Deputy Director of Consolidation in a revision against an order of Settlement Officer Consolidation dismissing the appeal on the question of limitation is to examine the correctness of that order. It appears from the facts and circumstances of this case too the proper course to be adopted by the Deputy Director of Consolidation was to examine the correctness of the order of the Settlement Officer Consolidation, which he failed to do. As regards the merits also I find that the order of the Deputy Director of Consolidation cannot be sustained. The contention of the learned counsel for the petitioners is that the loss, which would be occasioned to the petitioners by the modification in the chaks made by the Deputy Director of Consolidation has not been considered. Reliance is placed upon the averments made in paragraph 6 of the writ petition in which it is stated that there is a house of the petitioner No. 2 adjoining plot No. 368. If it be true that the petitioner No. 2 does have his house adjoining plot No. 368 it would be a circumstance in favour of the petitioner No. 2 for allotment of a chak near his abadi. No opinion, however, is being expressed by this Court upon this point as it is proposed to remand the case to the Deputy Director of Consolidation for fresh decision."

In the case at hand there has been no adjudication by the SOC either of the appeal in entirety or of any matter/issue. Even after amendment in the year 2002 and addition of explanation 3 to Section 48 the revisional authority is not empowered to adopt the course of action as done by him in this case. Explanation 3 only empowers him to enter into the question of fact to examine any finding recorded by the subordinate authority whether on fact or law and in this context it includes the power to re-appreciate the evidence for the purpose of examination of correctness, legality or propriety of any such finding. It does not mean that the revisional authority can call for the records of the appellate authority and decide the appeal himself in exercise of his revisional powers without any finding having been recorded by the appellate authority or appeal itself having been decided. Reference may be made in this regard to the pronouncement made by this Court in the case of Karan Singh (Dead) Through L. Rs. Vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation, Aligarh and others, reported in [2003(94) RD 382 wherein after noticing the decision of the apex court in Gaya Deen (D) through L.Rs and others Vs. Hanuman Prasad (D) through L. Rs and others reported in [2001 (92) RD 79 (SC) as also the amendment of 2002 the Court held in para 6 as under:-- "..... The amendment of Section 48 of the Act has widened the scope of the powers of the Deputy Director of Consolidation. It has given power to him to reappraise the evidence but it nowhere provided that the Deputy Director of Consolidation will have jurisdiction to reverse the findings recorded by the authorities below and can substitute his own findings. The Apex Court in Gaya Din (D) through L.Rs. and others Vs. Hanuman Prasad (D) through L.Rs. and others [(2001(92) RD 79 (SC)] specifically laid down that the Deputy Director of Consolidation has got no jurisdiction to act as the Consolidation Officer or the Settlement Officer Consolidation, otherwise there will remain no difference in the powers of the Consolidation Officer, the Settlement Officer Consolidation and the Deputy Director of Consolidation while dealing with the cases originally, in appeal and revision. In case the Deputy Director of Consolidation was of the opinion that the findings recorded were bad in law, he could set aside the same after reappraisal of the evidence and could remand the case for decision afresh."

Reference may also be made to another decision of this Court in the case of Bashir Ahmad Khan (D) through L. Rs. V. Deputy Director of Consolidation and others reported in 2005(1) AWC 924 (Alld) wherein the question which arose for consideration was regarding jurisdiction of the revisional authority to decide a revision challenging the order of the appellate authority dismissing the appeal on the ground of limitation, on merits. A learned single Judge of this Court referring to a Division Bench judgment of this Court in the case of Tirath V. Joint Director of Consolidation reported in 1985 RD 276 held as under:--

"10. A Division Bench of this Court vide judgment in the case of Tirath V. Deputy Director of Consolidation (supra), answered the question in negative. While repealing the contention that authority exercising the power under Section 48 of the Act have very wide power including suo moto power and can look into the record and if there is any defect it can be corrected by him, it was observed by the Division Bench as follows:

"In this view of the matter, the revisional authority was called upon to examine the record of the case as it pertain to the appeal before appellate authority. The principal reason given by the appellate authority for dismissing the appeal was that it was barred by time. The revisional authority had to see whether the order was justified in law or not. It had to examine whether any application has been made for condonation of delay and whether any adequate reason has been given for the same or not, and whether the order dismissing the appeal as time barred was justified in the circumstances of the case and we would observe here that in a revision under Section 48 (1) of the Act where there is no defect in the revision itself to merit its rejection in limine, the revisional authority has to confine itself to the decision in the appeal and the ground given for the decision in that order. We are further of the opinion that it was not open to the revisional authority to go into the question of merits while exercising the powers conferred under Section 48 (1) in the above circumstances."

The law laid down by the Division Bench in the case of Tirath V.

Deputy Director of Consolidation (supra) is squarely applicable to the facts of this case.

11. In the present case also the order passed by Settlement Officer Consolidation was not an adjudication of the claim of the parties on merits, but an order dismissing the appeal as barred by limitation. The Deputy Director of Consolidation without considering the legality or otherwise, of the order passed by the Settlement Officer Consolidation and without setting aside his findings straightway proceeded to decide the revision on merits. It was incumbent upon the Deputy Director of Consolidation to have considered the order of Settlement Officer Consolidation refusing to condone the delay in filing the appeal on its own merit and if satisfied about the sufficiency of the ground for delay ought to have set aside the order of the Settlement Officer Consolidation dismissing the appeal as time barred and remand the case back to him to be decided on merits. It was not open to him to proceed and decide the revision on merits."

Thus clearly the scope of revision under Section 48 and that of appeal under Section 11 being different and two separate statutory remedies having been provided, there being no adjudication of the appeal nor of any substantial issue involved therein by the appellate authority, it was not open for the Deputy Director of Consolidation to decide the merits of the pending appeal in exercise of his powers under Section 48. It was clearly not the scope of revision except to the limited extent pointed out hereinabove. The entire dispute was not available for adjudication before the revisional authority. The revision itself was not maintainable as the orders impugned were purely interlocutory."

12. This Court in the judgment dated 30.04.2019 passed in the case of Gulab Chand v. D.D.C. reported in 2019 SCC OnLine All 4756 has observed as under:-

"14. This Court has given a thoughtful consideration to rival submissions advanced on both sides. It is true, no doubt, that powers of the Deputy Director of Consolidation under Section 48 of the Act have always been regarded as wide, though inhibited in some regard, being a Court of Revision. The import of the powers of the Deputy Director of Consolidation under Section 48 of the Act as they have been always understood has been succinctly laid down by the Supreme Court in Sheo Nand v. Deputy Director of Consolidation, Allahabad, (2000) 3 SCC 103, where in para graphs 20 & 21 of the report, it has been held:

"20. The section gives very wide powers to the Deputy Director. It enables him either suo motu on his own motion or on the application of any person to consider the propriety, legality, regularity and correctness of all the proceedings held under the Act and to pass appropriate orders. These powers have been conferred on the Deputy Director in the widest terms so that the claims of the parties under the Act may be effectively adjudicated upon and determined so as to confer finality to the rights of the parties and the revenue records may be prepared accordingly.

21. Normally, the Deputy Director, in exercise of his powers, is not expected to disturb the findings of fact recorded concurrently by the Consolidation Officer and the Settlement Officer (Consolidation), but where the findings are perverse, in the sense that they are not supported by the evidence brought on record by the parties or that they are against the weight of evidence, it would be the duty of the Deputy Director to scrutinise the whole case again so as to determine the correctness, legality or propriety of the orders passed by the authorities subordinate to him. In a case, like the present, where the entries in the revenue records are fictitious or forged or they were recorded in contravention of the statutory provisions contained in the U.P. Land Records Manual or other allied statutory provisions, the Deputy Director would have full power under Section 48 to reappraise or re-evaluate the evidence-on-record so as to finally determine the rights of the parties by excluding forged and fictitious revenue entries or entries not made in accordance with law."

13. The Supreme Court in the case of Sheo Nand vs. D.D.C., Allahabad, (2000) 3 SCC 103 also said that, "it would be the duty of the Deputy Director to scrutinise the whole case so as to determine the correctness, legality or propriety of the orders passed by the authorities subordinate to him."

Regarding the scope of the revisional powers of the Deputy Director of Consolidation under Section 48 of the Act, this Court in Ram Jeet v. Deputy Director of Consolidation, Jaunpur and others, Writ - B No. 42465 of 1999, decided on 31.05.2013, observed as under:-

"17. ..... Supreme Court in Ram Dular v. DDC, 1994 Supp (2) SCC 198, Preetam Singh v. DDC, (1996) 2 SCC 270, Sheo Nand v. DDC, (2000) 3 SCC 103, Gulzar Singh v. DDC, (2009) 12 SCC 590 has consistently held that Deputy Director of Consolidation has very wide power to decide issue relating to fact and law both under Section 48 of the Act after re-appreciating the evidence on record. Apart from it Explanation III has been added in Section 48 of the Act with retrospective effect from 10.11.1980 which provides that the power under this Section to examine the correctness, legality or propriety of any order includes the power to examine any finding, whether of fact or law, recorded by any subordinate authority and also includes the power to re-appreciate any oral or documentary evidence. The case law relied upon by the counsel for the petitioner does not hold a good law and contrary to the decision of the Supreme Court."

14. As in this case, the remand order passed by Deputy Director of Consolidation is in issue, this Court also feels it appropriate to refer some judgments on this aspect.

15. In the case of Bashir Ahmad Vs. DDC reported in 1986 RD 164, it has been held that an order remanding the case to the Consolidation Officer when the entire evidence was before him was not proper and the DDC should have decided the matter himself as he was exercising very comprehensive power under section 48 of the Act.

16. In the judgment rendered in the case of Ram Autar and others vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation and others, 1991 Supp (1) SCC 552, the Supreme Court has observed that the High Court should have remanded the matter to the Deputy Director of Consolidation and not to the Consolidation Officer as that would have saved the parties from fighting at three stages and would have expedited the final disposal of the matter. The question before the Supreme Court was with regard to the objections under Section 9-A of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act being decided by the Consolidation Officer in favour of one party against which, the other party went in appeal. In the appeal, the objections that were rejected by the Consolidation Officer, were said to be valid objections and were allowed. The appellants after unsuccessfully moving the Deputy Director of Consolidation in revision filed a writ petition before the High Court, which was dismissed by the Writ Court and the appellants thereafter filed an appeal, which was also dismissed by the Division Bench. The Supreme Court observed that the case of the respondents was that no notice was ever sent to them at the final stage when the order was passed in favour of the appellants and without hearing the order being ex-parte, ought to have been set aside and the matter was rightly remanded. The Supreme Court, however, observed that the High Court should have remanded the matter to the Deputy Director of Consolidation and not to the Consolidation Officer as that would have saved the parties from fighting at three stages before the revenue officers and would have expedited the final disposal of the case.

17. Further, the Supreme Court in the judgment passed in the case of Ashwin Kumar Patel vs. Upendra J. Patel, AIR 1999 SC 1125, observed that exercising power of remand is a luxury exercise of jurisdiction. The Court should refrain from remanding the case and should make endeavour to decide the case finally instead of remanding the case.

18. This Court again in the case of Bhagwat Prasad Vs. DDC reported in 2006 RD (101) 383 has held that the revisional court is fully empowered to examine the findings on fact or on law and there is no need to remand the case. Under the circumstances, directions were issued to the revisional court to decide the revision itself. Same view has been taken in the case of Pheku Vs. DDC reported in 2007 RD (103) 402.

19. In the Case of Sitaram Vs. DDC reported in 2007 RD (102) 113, this Court set aside the order of remand and directed the DDC to decide the matter himself after taking additional evidence, if necessary.

20. In the case of Babu Lal Vs. DDC reported in 2008 RD (104) 521, this Court has held that order of remand is to be resorted to in very exceptional cases/ circumstances as it consumes precious time of the Court and causes monetary loss to both sides, besides unwarranted harassment.

21. In the case of Sheikh Nathu Vs. DDC reported in (2009) 106 RD 96, this Court has found that the Consolidation Officer and the Settlement Officer of Consolidation on the basis of the material available on record held the objection of the respondents to be meritless. The DDC remanded the matter without setting aside the findings of the subordinate authorities. This Court, therefore, held that this order of remand amounted to giving a fresh lease of life to the litigation and that remand order should not be passed in a routine manner.

22. In Deena Nath and others vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation and others, 2010 (110) RD 584, wherein it has been held that an order of remand cannot be treated as an interlocutory order within the meaning of Explanation-2 of Section 48 of the Act and a revision was maintainable and also observed that since the entire record was available, instead of remanding the matter, it should have been decided on merits by the revisional court.

23. A coordinate Bench of this Court in Writ-B No.4377 of 2014 (Santosh Kumar vs. D.D.C. and others), decided on 29.1.2014, has observed that in case the order of the Settlement Officer of Consolidation suffered from errors, the Deputy Director of Consolidation could have considered the matter on his own and passed suitable orders instead of remanding the case. The remand of the case causes delay and prolongs litigation as well as harassment to the parties.

24. A coordinate Bench of this Court in Vijay Nath and others vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation and others, 2019 (9) ADJ 85, has observed that after insertion of Explanation 3 to Section 48 of the Act, the Deputy Director of Consolidation is empowered to examine any finding whether of fact or law recorded by the subordinate authority and also to reappreciate any oral or documentary evidence. This Court has observed that instead of remanding the matter to the Consolidation Officer, the Deputy Director of Consolidation should have exercised his jurisdiction under Section 48(3) and should have decided the matter on merits.

25. In the judgment dated 06.05.2014 passed in Writ-B No. 23608 of 2014 (Ram Sewak and others vs. D.D.C. and others), this Court refused to interfere in the order of remand after observing as under:-

"It is admitted case that two separate wills were set up by the parties. The objection was decided by the Asstt. Consolidation Officer (The ACO) on the basis of a compromise. It is settled legal position that the Asstt. Consolidation Officer is empowered to pass order only on the basis of conciliation and not on merits. Under these circumstances, it can be safely stated that the validity of the wills set up was not examined by the ACO when he passed the order on the basis of compromise. In this connection, it is also relevant to note that the compromise was not accepted as a whole.

The order passed on the basis of compromise was challenged by means of a reivision without any intermediate appeal having been preferred. The DDC remanded the matter for a decision afresh after affording opportunity to the parties to adduce evidence.

From the narration of the above facts, it is clear that no evidence was led by the parties. Even if, evidence, if any, was filed, no occasion arise for appreciation of the same. Moreover, in view of the fact that the parties were settling their dispute by means of an alleged compromise there was no occasion for them to have adduced evidence as regards their respective claims on merits.

Explanation-3 to section 48 of the Act empowers the DDC to reappreciate the evidence on record and further empowers him to record a finding contrary to one that has been recorded by the Court below. However, in the instant case that there has been no previous appreciation of evidence . Therefore, the DDC cannot be said to have failed to exercise his jurisdiction to reappreciate the evidence in the absence of any appreciation of the same by the subordinate courts.

Under these circumstances, I am of the opinion that the order of remand is not liable to be interfered with.

In my considered opinion, there is another reason on account of which the order passed by the DDC requires no interference.

While deciding WP No. 42 (Cons) of 2007; Hari Lal & others Vs. DDC, Barabanki which involved a similar controversy, I have recorded as under:

"Even otherwise, it is evident from the scheme of the Act itself that the orders passed by the first court, namely, the Assistant Consolidation Officer or Consolidation Officer, whether in title proceedings or in allotment proceedings, are subject to appeal before the SOC and, thereafter, subject to the revisional jurisdiction of the DDC under section 48 of the Act. It is also well settled that the right of appeal is a statutory right and no appeal can be filed unless the statute provides for the same. However, once the statute provides for an appeal against any order passed in the proceedings under the Act, which is further subject to the revisional jurisdiction under section 48, in case the contention of the learned counsel for the respondent is accepted, the petitioners would stand deprived of their right to appeal or revision, as is provided under the Act. Since this statutory remedy of appeal is provided under the Act, allowing the order of the DDC to stand, in my opinion, it would deprive the petitioners not only of the statutory remedy of appeal but also a subsequent revision, which for all practical purposes is a second appeal available to a party under the scheme of the Act. In any case, every party should be provided at least one appeal in the proceedings in view of the scheme of the Act itself, and this requirement would stand fulfilled if the matter is remanded to the SOC for a fresh decision. Against the order passed by the SOC, the aggrieved party will have the remedy of filing a revision, a second innings, which would be in accordance with the general scheme of the Act itself. In view of the same and also in view of the fact that the DDC has passed the order without considering the case of the petitioners and without adverting to the evidence filed by them, the impugned order is liable to be set aside".

Thus, is the facts and circumstances of this case, setting aside the order of remand and directing the DDC to decide the case himself would, in my considered opinion, amount to doing violence to the basic scheme of the Act itself."

26. In view of the law, referred above, on the issue of power of Deputy Director of Consolidation under Section 48 of the Act of 1953 as also regarding justification of remand of a case by Deputy Director of Consolidation, this Court considered the order impugned dated 22.12.2022 and a bare perusal thereof, reflects that for the purposes of remanding the case to the Consolidation Officer, the respondent No. 1 has pointed out some errors in the order(s) impugned before him, which to the view of this Court, ought to have been looked into in exercise of power under Section 48 of the Act of 1953 by the respondent No. 1 himself, as entire material was available before him for which, as per law enunciated on the power of Deputy Director of Consolidation, he was empowered to look into. In nutshell, Section 48 of the Act of 1953 provides ample power to examine the correctness/legality/propriety of any order which includes the power to examine any finding, whether of fact or law, recorded by any subordinate authority so as the power to re-appreciate any oral or documentary evidence.

27. For the reasons aforesaid, this Court is of the view that interference in the impugned order is requuired. Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed. The order impugned dated 22.12.2022 is hereby quashed. The matter is remanded back to the respondent No. 1/Deputy Director of Consolidation/Additional District Magistrate, (F/R) Lakhimpur Kheri to decide the matter afresh after affording proper opportunity of hearing to the parties to the litigation preferably within a period of six months from the date of production of certified copy of this order, if there is no other legal impediment in this regard. While conducting the proceedings, the Authority concerned is directed to avoid unnecessary adjournments to either party.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

U.P. Land Revenue Act,1901 - Section 219 - Revision - Board or the Commissioner may call for the record of any case decided or proceeding held by any revenue Court subordinate to him for the purpose of satisfying himself as to the legality or propriety of the order passed or proceeding held - the expression "legality or propriety of the order passed or proceeding held" in Section 219 of the Act of 1901, empowers the revisional authority to consider the legality or propriety of an order passed by the revenue court subordinate to him, if the same is allowed to stand, results in failure of justice or causes irreparable injury, to the party against whom it is made - if an order passed by subordinate revenue court on any application is allowed to stand affecting the rights of the parties, it would cause failure of justice or cause irreparable injury to the party against whom it is made - if the said condition is present, the revision against any order passed by the subordinate revenue court would be maintainable under Section 219 of the Act of 1901 - revision is maintainable against the order rejecting the application for amendment – In the instant an application for amendment in a mutation case u/s 34 of Act of 1901 to incorporate one Gata was rejected, against which a Revision u/s 219 of Act of 1901 was filed which was dismissed being not maintainable It was held that that revision was maintainable - matter remanded back to the Revisional Authority to decide the Revision, afresh, on merits (Para 13, 14)

List of Cases cited:

1. Raja Ram & ors. Vs Additional Commissioner Faizabad Division Faizabad & Others rendered in Writ Petition 3 No.3301 (M/S) of 2006

2. Raj Shri Agarwal and Ors. vs. Sudheer Mohan & ors. MANU/UP/2351/2022

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Lavania, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri Hemant Kumar Pandey, learned standing counsel for the State-respondents.

2. In view of order proposed to be passed, notice to opposite party no.4 is dispensed with.

3. By means of the present Writ Petition, the petitioner has challenged the order dated 24.11.2020 passed in Revision Case No.1542 of 2020/Rai Bareli, Computerized Case No.R20201058001542 (Jagdish Prasad vs. Shiv Pyari) filed under Section 219, U.P. Land Revenue Act, 1901 (hereinafter referred to as ' Act of 1901').

4. The brief facts of the case to that effect are that the petitioner preferred an application for amendment before opposite party no.3, Nayab Tehsildar, Dalmau, District-Rai Bareli in a mutation case which was filed based upon the Will dated 02.04.1991 under Section 34 of Act of 1901 registered as Case No.49/SS/57158/72/102/2010 (Jagdish Prasad vs. Jhoori[died]). The said application for amendment, whereby, the amendment was sought to incorporate Gata No.265 Area 0.232 hectare, was rejected vide order dated 20.02.2020.

5. Being aggrieved by the order dated 20.02.2020, the petitioner preferred a Revision under Section 219 of Land Revenue Act, 1901, which was dismissed by the impugned order dated 24.11.2020 being not maintainable. The Revisional Court observed that the order under Revision is interlocutory in nature and as such, the same is not maintainable.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner says that the Revisional Authority/Opposite party no.2-Board of Revenue U.P., Lucknow has erred in exercising the jurisdiction vested in it. Further, the order rejecting the application seeking amendment in the plaint/application for mutation would be covered under the expression 'case decided' and being so, taking note of the same and also the language couched under Section 219 of Act of 1901, the revision was maintainable and ought to have been decided on the merits and not on the issue of maintainability. He further submitted that the Gata No.265 Area 0.232 hectare indicated in the application for amendment in the plaint ought to have been allowed as it would avoid the multiplicity of proceedings and would not change the nature of the case, as such, also the Revisional Authority should exercise its jurisdiction vested in it by virtue of Section 219 of Act of 1901.

7. Learned Standing counsel, has assisted this Court on the issue involved in the present petition.

8. Considered the submissions made by learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

9. In order to decide the issue involved in the present petition this Court deems it appropriate to reproduce Section 219 of Act of 1901, which reads as under:-

"219. Revision. - (1) The Board or the Commissioner or the Additional Commissioner or the Collector or the Record Officer, or the Settlement Officer, may call for the record of any case decided or proceeding held by any revenue Court subordinate to him in which no appeal lies or where an appeal lies but has not been preferred, for the purpose of satisfying himself as to the legality or propriety of the order passed or proceeding held and if such subordinate revenue Court appears to have -

(a) exercised a jurisdiction not vested in it bylaw, or

(b) failed to exercise a jurisdiction so vested, or

(c) acted in the exercise of jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity,

The Board or the Commissioner or the Additional Commissioner or the Collector or the Record Officer, or the Settlement Officer, as the case may be, pass such order in the case as he thinks fit.

(2) If an application under this section has been moved by any person either to the Board, or to the Commissioner, or to the Additional Commissioner, or the Collector or to the Record Officer or to the Settlement Officer, no further application by the same person shall be entertained by any other of them."

10. In the case of Raja Ram and Ors. vs Additional Commissioner Faizabad Division Faizabad & Others rendered in Writ Petition No.3301 (M/S) of 2006, this court after considering Section 219 of Act of 1901 observed as under:-

"From the bare perusal of Section 219 of U.P. L. R. Act, the position which emerges out is that "the Board or the Commissioner or the Additional Commissioner or the Collector or the Record Officer, or the Settlement Officer, may call for the record of any case decided or proceeding held by any revenue court subordinate to him in which no appeal lies."

So keeping in view the above said facts, as per mandate of the Legislature as provided under Section 219 of U.P. Z.A. & L.R. Act any order passed in a proceeding held by revenue court subordinate to the opposite party no.1/Additional Commissioner (Admn.), Lucknow Division, Lucknow, revision is maintainable and if the Legislature has legislate as a mandate while framing Section 219 of the said Act, the same should be implemented in its letter and spirit because it is not the duty of the Court either to enlarge the scope of the legislation or the intention of the legislature when the language of the provision is plain and unambiguous. The Court cannot rewrite, recast or re-frame the legislation for the very good reason that it has no power to legislate. The power to legislate has not been conferred on the Courts. The Court cannot add words to a statute or read words that are not there.

The Courts decide what the law is and not what it should be. The Courts of course adopt a construction which will carry out the obvious intention of the legislature but cannot legislate. But to invoke judicial activism to set at naught legislative judgment is sub serve of the constitutional harmony and comity of instrumentalities. (See Union of India and another V. Deoki Nandan Agarwal, AIR SC 96, All India Radio V Santosh Kumar and another 71 (1998) 3 SCC 237, Sakshi V. Union of India and others,(2004) 5 SCC 518, Pandian Chemicals Ltd. V. CIT (2003) 5 SCC 590, Bhavnagar University Vs. palitana Sugar Mills (P) and others, AIR 2003 SC 511 and J.P. Bansal V. State of Rajasthan, 2003) 5 SCC 134)

In Nasiruddin v. Sita Ram Agarwal, (2003) 4 SCC 753, the Supreme Court has held that the Court can iron cut of the creases but cannot change the texture of the fabric. It cannot enlarge the scope of legislation or intention when the language of provision is plain, unambiguous. It cannot add or subtract words to statute or read something into in which is not there. It cannot rewrite or recast the legislation. "

11. It would be apt to refer that remedy of revision is also available in the Code of Civil Procedure (in short 'C.P.C.'). Section 115 of C.P.C. provide remedy of revision. In the judgment dated 22.04.2022 passed in the case of Raj Shri Agarwal and Ors. vs. Sudheer Mohan and Ors. reported in MANU/UP/2351/2022, this Court after considering Section 115 of C.P.C. and various judgments on the scope of the same has held that petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India is not maintainable as remedy by way of revision is available to the petitioner. The relevant part of the Judgment dated 25.04.2022 is reproduced hereunder:-

"8.For better appreciation of facts, Section 115 defining revision in the Code of Civil Procedure is reproduced here-inbelow:-

"(1) The High Court may call for the record of any case which has been decided by any Court subordinate to such High Court and in which no appeal lies thereto, and if such subordinate Court appears

(a) to have exercised a jurisdiction not vested in it by law, or

(b) to have failed to exercise a jurisdiction so vested, or

(c) to have acted in the exercise of its jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity, the High Court may make such order in the case as it thinks fit: [Provided that the High Court shall not, under this section, vary or reverse any order made, or any order deciding an issue, in the course of a suit or other proceeding, except where the order, if it had been made in favour of the party applying for revision, would have finally disposed of the suit or other proceedings.]

(2) The High Court shall not, under this section, vary or reverse any decree or order against which an appeal lies either to the High Court or to any Court subordinate thereto.

(3) A revision shall not operate as a stay of suit or other proceeding before the Court except where such suit or other proceeding is stayed by the High Court."

9. It is also apt to reproduce Section 115 of C.P.C. as applicable in the State of U.P. which have been substituted w.e.f. July, 1st, 2002.

"115. Revision (1) A superior court may revise an order passed in a case decided in an original suit or other proceeding by a subordinate court where no appeal lies against the order and 4 where the subordinate court has --

(a) exercised a jurisdiction not vested in it by law ; or

(b) failed to exercise a jurisdiction so vested ; or

(c) acted in exercise of its jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity.

(2) A revision application under sub-section (1), when filed in the High Court, shall contain a certificate on the first page of such application, below the title of the case, to the effect that no revision in the case lies to the district court but lies only to the High Court either because of valuation or because the order sought to be revised was passed by the district court.

(3)The superior court shall not, under this section, very or reverse any order made except where,--

(i) the order, if it had been made in favour of the party applying for revision, would have finally disposed of the suit or other proceeding ; or (ii) the order, if allowed to stand, would occasion a failure of justice or cause irreparable injury to the party against whom it is made."

10. An emphasis has been laid by the learned counsel for the petitioners that reading of proviso to Section 115 of C.P.C. of Central Act clearly suggests that revision is barred against any order of the trial Court in a suit unless and until the conditions enumerated in the proviso, namely, where the order, if it had been made in favour of the party applying for revision, would have finally disposed of the suit or other proceedings exist. Accordingly, he submits that as the rejection of application of amendment in the plaint does not bring the suit to an end, thus, the suit being not decided, the order rejecting the amendment application would not fall within the ambit of case decided. Therefore, the revision is barred and petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India is maintainable.

11. Now, to appreciate the aforesaid argument of learned counsel for the petitioners, it would be apt to compare two sections as incorporated in Central Act of the C.P.C. and its applicability in the State of U.P.

12. From the comparison of proviso of Section 115 of C.P.C. in the Central Act and Section 115 (3) (i) of C.P.C. as applicable in the State of U.P., it is manifest and clear that revision is maintainable against any order if it had been in favour of the party applying for revision would have finally disposed of the suit or other proceeding. Thus, it is manifest that the proviso to Section 115 of Central Act has been adopted by the State of U.P. under sub-section (3) (i) of Section 115 of C.P.C. and are common, but by U.P. Amendment, (ii) to Section 115 (3) has been incorporated which provides that the revision will also lie against any order passed by the trial Court if the conditions elucidated in Section 115 (3) (ii) of C.P.C. exists, i.e., if the order is allowed to stand, it would occasion a failure of justice or cause irreparable injury to the party against whom it is made. So in either of the two contingencies, as referred in Section 115 (3) (i) & (ii) as applicable in U.P., revision is maintainable.

13. The learned counsel for the petitioners has laid emphasis upon paragraph no.32 of the judgment of Shiv Shakti Cooperative House Society, Nagpur (supra), to buttress his submission, paragraph no.32 is reproduced herein-below:-

"32. A plain reading of Section 115 as it stands makes it clear that the stress is on the question whether the order in favour of the party applying for revision would have given finality to suit or other proceeding. If the answer is 'yes' then the revision is maintainable. But on the contrary, if the answer is 'no' then the revision is not maintainable. Therefore, if the impugned order is interim in nature or does not finally decide the lis, the revision will not be maintainable. The legislative intent is crystal clear. Those orders, which are interim in nature, cannot be the subject matter of revision under Section 115. There is marked distinction in the language of Section 97(3) of the Old Amendment Act and Section 32(2)(i) of the Amendment Act. While in the former, there was clear legislative intent to save applications admitted or pending before the amendment came into force. Such an intent is 6 significantly absent in Section 32(2)(i). The amendment relates to procedures. No person has a vested right in a course of procedure. He has only the right of proceeding in the manner prescribed. If by a statutory change the mode of procedure is altered, the parties are to proceed according to the altered mode, without exception, unless there is a different stipulation. "

14. In the opinion of the Court, the said judgment is not applicable in the facts of the present case, inasmuch as it was a case dealing with an issue where application under Order 39 Rule 1 C.P.C. has been rejected, against which revision was preferred and the Apex Court in those facts and circumstances held that no revision is maintainable against the order passed by the trial Court, if the order is interlocutory in nature.

15. So far as the judgment in the case of Uttam Chand Kothari (supra) is concerned, the said judgment is also not applicable in the facts of the present case inasmuch as it was not considering the case under Section 115 of C.P.C. as applicable to the State of U.P. and further the judgment and arguments raised by the respondents which shall be dealt with in later part of this judgment were also not considered by the Gauhati High Court.

16. Similar is the case in the case of Punjab Small Industries and Export Corporation (supra).

17. Now coming to the judgment of Five Judges Bench of this Court in the case of Rama Shanker Tiwari Vs. Mahadeo and others, reported in 1968 A.W.R. 103 (FB) relied upon by the learned counsel for the respondents, the Full Bench considered the meaning of the 'case decided' and held that the order allowing or disallowing an application for amendment in pleading is a case decided and is revisable in this Section, if the amendment sought has or is likely to have direct bearing on the rights and obligation of the parties. Paras 23 & 24 of the said 7 judgment is reproduced here-in-below:-

"23. I am, therefore, of opinion that every order granting or dismissing an application for amendment of pleading will not give rise to a case decided revisable u/S. 115 of the Code. An order allowing or disallowing an application for amendment of pleading may however, give rise to a case decided revisable under that Section if the amendment sought has or is likely to have a direct bearing on the rights and obligations of the parties and affects or is likely to affect the jurisdiction of the Court. To this extent the decision in Mst. Suraj Pali's case can, in may opinion, be said to be no longer good law.

24. The opinion of the majority of Judges constituting the Full Bench is that an order passed u/O. VI R.17 of the CPC, either allowing an amendment or refusing to allow an amendment, is a "case decided" within the meaning of that expression in S.115, Code of Civil Procedure."

18. The five Judges Bench judgment concludes the controversy in the instant case, since the order deciding the amendment application would have a direct bearing on the right of either parties, if it is allowed or rejected. Thus, the decision on an application under Order 6 Rule 17 of C.P.C. would amount to a case decided and revision would lie. The said finding is also supported by the first line of Section 115 (1) which states that " superior Court may revise an order passed in a case decided in an original suit",reading of said line suggests that legislation has envisaged cases where there may be circumstances where an order passed in original suit may amount to a case decided, though the suit has not been decided, and revision is maintainable against the said order.

19. Similarly, para-17 of the judgment reported in 2006 (1) AWC 825 (LB) in the case of Sultan Leather Finishers Pvt. Ltd. and others Vs. A.D.J. Court no.4, Unnao and others being relevant in the context of present case is reproduced herein-below:-

"In one another case in Sambhaunath Digambar Jain v. Mohanlal and Ors. 2003 (9) SCC 219, where the application under Order VI, Rule 17 and Order VIII, Rule 6A of the Code of Civil Procedure was rejected by the trial court declining to permit the defendant to amend the written statement and counter-claim, it was held by Hon'ble Supreme Court that such application can be challenged by invoking revisional jurisdiction.

For convenience paras 3 and 4 of the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sambhavnath's case (supra) is reproduced as under : the said order of the Registrar. On 13.9.1982, the appellant filed written statement wherein an averment was made that the portion of property where the girl's school was running was the property of the trust. It may be mentioned that the Registrar did not include the said portion of the school as trust property. On 15.9.1982, the appellant filed an application under Order VI, Rule 17 and Order VIII, Rule 6A of the Code of Civil Procedure read with Section 151 of the Code of Civil Procedure and sought to incorporate in its counter-claim the said school as a trust property. On 15.9.1982, the appellant filed an application under Order VI, Rule 17 and Order VIII, Rule 6A of the Code of Civil Procedure read with Section 151 of the Code of Civil Procedure and sought to incorporate in its counter-claim the said school as a trust property by way of an amendment to its written statement. The said application was rejected by the trial court and being aggrieved by the said order, the appellant filed a revision which was dismissed as not maintainable. That is how the parties are before us.

"The respondents herein filed a suit against the appellant for setting aside

Learned counsel for the appellant has urged that the order passed by the trial court was revisable and view taken by the High Court is erroneous. We are of the view that the High Court for ends of justice ought to have considered the application on merit keeping in view Rule 6A of Order VIII of the Code of Civil Procedure and in accordance with the law. We, therefore, hold that the above order rejecting the application of the appellant by the trial court was revisable. "

20. In this regard, it may also be apt to refer to paragraph-8 of the judgment of this Court reported in 2006 (3) AWC 2182, Mukhtar Ahmad vs. Sirajul Haw and Others, wherein this Court has quashed the order of revisional Court rejecting the revisioin against the order passed in the amendment application. Paragraph-8 of the said judgment is reproduced herein-below:-

"8. In view of the aforesaid, the District Judge was not correct in holding that a revision against an order rejecting the amendment application is not maintainable. The District Judge was under law obliged to see as to whether the order passed by the court below rejecting the amendment application amounts to case decided or as to whether in the facts of the case revisional authority should vary or reverse the order passed by the court below in view of sub-section (3) of Section 115 of the Civil Procedure Code. It is needless to point out that this Court in the Judgment in Smt. Pushpa alias Pooja v. State of U.P. and Ors. 2005 (3) AWC 2587:AIR 2005 All 187, has taken note of the judgment in the case of Shiv Shakti Co-operative Housing Society, Nagpur v. Swaraj Developers, and has explained the legal proposition laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Shiv Shakti (supra) in paragraphs 15 and 16 of the said Judgment, which may be reproduced here in below:

"15. The judgment of the Apex Court relied by the counsel for the petitioner in Shiv Shakti Cooperative Housing Society, Nagpur v. Swaraj Developers and Ors. (supra) lays down that the revision is not maintainable against an interlocutory or interim order. The Apex Court while considering provisions of Section 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure, made following observation in paragraph 32: .....(at page 2442 of AIR).

"32. A plain reading of Section 115, as it stands makes it clear that the stress is on the question whether the order in favour of the party applying for revision would have given finality to suit or other proceeding. If the answer is "yes" then the revision is maintainable. But on the contrary, if the answer is "no" then the revision is not^ maintainable. Therefore, if the impugned order is of interim nature or does not finally decide the lis, the revision will not be maintainable. The legislative intent is crystal clear. Those orders, which are interim in nature, cannot be the subject-matter of revision under Section 115."

16. As noted above, the order passed under Section 24 disposed of finally the issue of interim maintenance to a spouse during pendency of proceedings. After passing the order under Section 24 of the Act nothing more is required to be done with regard to question of interim maintenance during pendency of proceedings and the fact is that the order passed under Section 24 finally disposes the application for interim maintenance; hence as laid down by the Apex Court in above quoted paragraph the revision shall be maintainable against an order under Section 24 of Hindu Marriage Act, 1955."

21. Section 115 (iii) of C.P.C. as applicable in Uttar Pradesh clearly states that the order, if allowed to stand, results in failure of justice or causes irreparable injury to the party against 10 whom it is made, the revision under Section 115 of C.P.C as applicable in the State of U.P. is maintainable.

22. Viewed from this angle, if any order illegally passed by the Court below on any application is allowed to stand affecting rights of parties, it is obvious that it would cause failure of justice or cause irreparable injury to the party against whom it is made, therefore, if said condition is present, the revision against any order passed by the Court below vide Section 115 (3) (ii) of C.P.C. as applicable in U.P. would lie."

12. From the aforesaid observation(s) of the Co-ordinate Bench of this Court, it is apparent that the order allowing or rejecting the application seeking amendment would come within the purview of expression "case decided", if the amendment sought has or is likely to have direct bearing on the rights and obligations of the parties and affects or is likely to affect the jurisdiction of the Court, even if an order is passed under the proceedings initiated under the Act of 1901. The expression "case decided" finds place in Section 219 of the Act of 1901. As such, revision against an order passed on application seeking amendment would be maintainable.

13. Moreover the expression "legality or propriety of the order passed or proceeding held" in Section 219 of the Act of 1901, empowers the revisional authority to consider the legality or propriety of an order passed by the revenue court subordinate to him if the same is allowed to stand, results in failure of justice or causes irreparable injury to the party against whom it is made. Further, if an order passed by subordinate revenue court on any application is allowed to stand affecting the rights of the parties, it would cause failure of justice or cause irreparable injury to the party against whom it is made, therefore, if the said condition is present, the revision against any order passed by the subordinate revenue court would be maintainable under Section 219 of the Act of 1901. As per Section 219 of the Act of 1901, if the subordinate revenue court exceeds its jurisdiction, or exercise its jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity, the revision would be maintainable.

14. For the foregoing reasons, this Court is of the view that revision was maintainable against the order dated 20.02.2020 passed by Nayab Tehsildar, rejecting the application for amendment, as such, the order dated 24.11.2020 is liable to be interfered with. Accordingly, the order dated 24.11.2020 is set aside. The matter is remanded back to the Revisional Authority to decide the Revision, afresh, on merits, after giving proper opportunity of hearing to opposite party no.4-Smt. Shiv Pyari wife of late Gokaran R/o Village-Purey Valli H/o Murshidabad presently residing at Krishna Nagar, Murari ka Bagh, Pargana & Tehsil Dalmau, District- Rai Bareli, as early as possible, say within a period of six months from the date of production of certified copy of this order, if there is no other legal impediment in this regard, without giving unnecessary adjournments for the purpose of concluding the proceedings, within the stipulated time.

15. In view of the above, the present writ petition stands allowed.

A. Civil Law - Will - Indian Succession Act, 1925 - Section 63 - Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Sections 68, 69, 90 & 90-A - Will - A Will executed u/s 63 of the Act, 1925 has to be proved, that it was executed, at least by one of the attesting witnesses u/s 68 - where attesting witnesses of the Will have died or not available to prove the execution of the Will, then the alleged Will is required to be proved by the handwriting of one of the witnesses of attesting witnesses and the executant u/s 69 - Onus - onus of proving the Will is on the propounder - in the absence of suspicious circumstances surrounding the execution of the Will, proof of testamentary capacity and signature of the testator is sufficient to discharge the onus - Where, there are suspicious circumstances, the onus would be on the propounder to explain them to the satisfaction of the Court before the Will could be accepted as genuine - where the execution of a will is shrouded in suspicion, it is a matter essentially of the judicial conscience of the court and the party which sets up the will has to offer cogent and convincing explanation of the suspicious circumstances surrounding the will (Para 19, 24, 25, 28)

B. Civil Law - Will - In the instant case, petitioner stated that Will dated 26.06.1986 was duly proved by the witnesses namely Bachchu Lal and Bechan Lal before the Consolidation Authorities - Bachchu Lal stated that one Narmatta brought the Will, before him and after considering the thump impression of testator of the Will namely Kishun and signature of Jagganath (Up-Pradhan) and thump impression of Tulsiram (Panch), he put his signature over the Will - Held - Bachchu Lal cannot be considered as an atttesting witness of the Will - Bechan Lal's testimony was found unreliable due to inconsistencies, such as conflicting times for when the Will was written and discrepancies about who purchased the stamp paper – High Court held that the petitioners failed to prove the Will before the Consolidation Officer, as such, their claim based upon the Will was not justified - writ petition is dismissed. (Para 34, 35, 36)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Lavania, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ajey Singh, learned counsel for the petitioners and Dr. Krishna Singh, learned counsel for the State/respondent Nos. 1 to 3 and perused the record.

2. By means of this petition, the petitioners have assailed the order(s) dated 05.09.2012, 12.10.2012 and 16.01.2020 passed by the respondent No. 2/Settlement Officer of Consolidation, Kheri, District- Kheri and respondent No. 1/Additional District Magistrate, Finance and Revenue, Kheri, District-Kheri.

3. Brief facts of the case are to the effect that based upon a Will dated 26.06.1986 written by Kishun Goria S/o Safaru R/o of Village- Jangal Matera, Pargana and Tehsil- Dhaurahara, District- Kheri, the name of the petitioners was entered in the revenue records in compliance of the order dated 05.06.1992 passed by the Tehsildar, Tehsil- Dhaurahara, District- Kheri on an application preferred under Section 34 of U.P. Land Revenue Act, 1901 (in short "Act of 1901").

4. It would be apt to notice here that regarding the claim over the property, in issue, which is the subject matter of Will dated 26.06.1986, a suit for declaration under Section 229-B of U.P. Zamidari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 (in short "Act of 1950") was filed and on account of consolidation proceedings started in the village concerned, the said suit was abated. Thereafter, an objection under Section 9-A(2) of U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 (in short "Act of 1953") was filed before the respondent No. 3/Consolidation Officer, Kheri, District-Kheri. The petitioners also appeared before the respondent No. 3 and raised their claim over the property, in issue, on the basis of Will dated 26.06.1986. Before the respondent No. 3, the objections of the parties concerned were registered as Case No. 504 (Surra v. Vidyawati) and 489 (Summat v. Ghuru). Both these cases were clubbed together and decided by the common order dated 21.10.2009. This order finds favour of the petitioners.

5. Being aggrieved by the order dated 21.10.2009, an Appeal No. 736 of 2009 (Chandrakali v. Ghuru and others) was filed under Section 11(1) of the Act of 1953. The Appellate Authority/respondent No. 2 allowed the appeal vide order, in issue, dated 05.09.2012. The relevant observations of the Appellate Authority in the order dated 05.09.2012 on reproduction reads as under:-

"प्रस्तुत अपील में उभय पक्षों की ओर से दिये गये तर्क एवं अपील सहित अवर न्यायालय को पत्रावली के अवलोकन से स्पष्ट है कि प्रस्तुत अपील चकबन्दी अधिकारी के आदेश दिनांक 21–10–09 के विरूद्ध योजित की गयी है। प्रश्नगत अपील जिस आराजी के सम्बन्ध में प्रस्तुत की गयी है उसके सम्बन्ध में उल्लेख करना है ग्राम जंगलमटेरा परगना व तहसील धौरहरा के खाता सं0 70 किशुन पुत्र सकरू के नाम दर्ज था तथा खाता सं0 71 किशुन व महिपाल पुत्रगण सकरू के नाम दर्ज था। किशुन के कोई पुत्र नही था। उनके चार पुत्रियां थी विद्यावती, सुर्रा, दुर्रा व नरमत्ता थी। चारों पुत्रियों की शादी किशन के जीवन काल में हो गयी थी जो कि उभय पक्षों को स्वीकार है। किशनु के मृत्यु के उपरान्त किशुन के नाम दर्ज आराजी पर तहसील से प0क0–11 द्वारा बतौर वारिस महिपाल का नाम दर्ज हुआ। महिपाल के दो पत्नियां थी। एक का नाम सुम्मति व दूसरी का नाम चन्द्रकली था। प0क0–11 में आदेश पारित होने के उपरान्त किशुन की पुत्रियों नरमत्ता व विद्यावती द्वारा एक अपंजीकृत वसीयत तैयार कर तथा अपंजीकृत वसीयत के आधार पर धारा–34 एल0आर0एक्ट के अन्तर्गत तहसील में वाद योजित किया गया जिसकी जानकारी महिपाल को नही हो सकी तथा धारा–34 में पारित आदेश के द्वारा विवादित आराजी पर वसीयत के आधार पर महिपाल का नाम निरस्त कर किशुन के स्थान पर घुरू व लल्लू पुत्रगण कामता व विद्यावती पत्नी सुन्दरलाल का नाम दर्ज किया गया। जिसके विरूद्ध महिपाल ने धारा–229बी जमींदारी विनाश एवं भूमिव्यवस्था अधिनियम के अन्तर्गत वाद योजित किया गया तथा दौरान वाद विचाराधीन रहते ही महिपाल की मृत्यु हो गयी महिपाल की मृत्यु के उपरान्त महिपाल के स्थान पर प्रतिस्थानी नियुक्त किये जाने हेतु दिये गये प्रार्थना पत्र पर महिपाल की दोनों पत्नियों को प्रतिस्थानी नियुक्त किया गया। लेकिन उपरोक्त वाद के विचाराधीन रहते तथा ग्राम चकबन्दी क्रियाओ के प्रकाशन हेतु ग्राम अजट होकर ग्राम में चकबन्दी क्रियायें प्रारम्भ हो गयी। ग्राम में चकबंदी क्रियायें प्रारम्भ हो जाने के कारण उपरोक्त वाद को अवेट कर दिया गया तथा दौरान चकबन्दी धारा–9 के प्रकाशन के समय अपीलकर्ता व सुम्मत द्वारा एक वाद योजित किया गया तथा दूसरा वाद सुर्रा द्वारा योजित किया गया दोनो वाद चकबन्दी अधिकारी न्यायालय में योजित किये गये। चकबन्दी अधिकारी न्यायालय में उक्त दोनो वादो के विचाराधीन रहते ही वादिनी सुम्मत की मृत्यु हो गयी तथा चकबन्दी अधिकारी द्वारा सुम्मत के बाद चन्द्रकली को प्रतिस्थानी नियुक्त किया गया। तथा तदोपरान्त वाद को पैरवी चन्द्रकली द्वारा प्रारम्भ की गयी। चकबन्दी अधिकारी ने चन्द्रकला व सुर्रा की आपत्ति को सुनवाई के उपरान्त अपने पारित आदेश में प्रस्तुत दोनों आपत्तियों को निरत्त किया है तथा अपंजीकृतक वसीयत के आधार पर खाता सं0 70 रकबा 1–329 हे0 में 4 बीघा अर्थात 0–320 हे0 पर विद्यावती पुत्री किशुन का नाम तथा शेष आराजी के 1/2 भाग पर घुरू व 1/2 भाग पर लल्लू का नाम दर्ज किये जाने का आदेश किया गया है तथा इसी प्रकार खाता सं0 71 में महिपाल मृतक के स्थान पर चन्द्रकली बेवा महिपाल का नाम बतौर वारिस दर्ज होने तथा खाते से घुरू, लल्लू पुत्रगण कामता व विद्यावती पुत्री किशुन का नाम खारिज करके मृतक किशुन के वारिस के आधार पर नाम दर्ज किये जाने सम्बन्धी चन्द्रकली बेवा महिपाल को आपत्ति किया है। तथा खाता सं0 71 का विभाजन चकबन्दी बाहर भूमि को छोड़कर घुरू, लल्लू व विद्यावती प्रत्येक 1/8 तथा चन्द्रकली 1/2 अंश दर्ज किया है। इसी आदेश के विरूद्ध अपीलकर्ता चन्द्रकली द्वारा यह अपील योजित की गयी है। जिसमें अपीलकर्ता द्वारा अपंजीकृत वसीतय को जाली एवं फर्जी कहा जा रहा है तथा अपंजीकृत वसीयत के आधार पर अवर न्यायालय द्वारा विपक्षीगण का नाम विवादित आराजी पर जो दर्ज किया गया है उसे निरस्त कर खाता सं0 70 व खाता सं0 71 पर बतौर वारिस एवं उत्ताराधिकारी अपना नाम दर्ज करने की मांग की गयी है। प्रस्तुत अपील में की गयी मांग के सम्बन्ध में अवर न्यायलय को पत्रावली व उसमें संलग्न आदेश व संलग्न वसीयत जिसके आधार पर चकबन्दी अधिकारी द्वारा प्रश्नगत आदेश पारित किया गया है के अवलोकन से स्पष्ट है कि जिस वसीयत को अवर न्यायालय ने आधार पर मानकर आदेश पारित किया है वह स्टाम्प पॉच रूपये का है तथा वह स्टाम्प दिनांक 26–6–86 को घुरू पुत्र कामता के नाम खरीदा गया है तथा यह स्टाम्प तहसील नानपारा जिला बहराइच से खरीदा गया है। तथा दिनांक 26–6–86 को ही वसीयत लिखे जाने का उल्लेख है। यहां यह उल्लेखनीय है कि जिस स्टाम्प पेपर पर विपक्षीगण द्वारा वसीयत को लिखा जाना कहा गया है उस पर वसीयत शब्द का कोई उल्लेख नही किया गया है। जिस से यह स्पष्ट नहीं

सिद्ध कर सके। लेकिन प्रश्नगत आराजी के सम्बन्ध में जो वसीयत निष्पादित की गयी है उसमें लेखक जिला बहराइच का है जबकि ग्राम जंगलमटेरा में भी पढ़े लिखे लोग होगे तब जनपद बहराइच से लेखक को बुलाने की आवश्यकता पड़ी। अतः प्रश्नगत आराजी के सम्बन्ध में जो वसीयत विपक्षीगण द्वारा अपने पक्ष में कराई गई है वह एक सोची समझी राजनीति एवं कूट रचान कर फर्जी तौर पर तैयार की गयी प्रतीत होती है। क्योंकि वसीयत के हासिया गवाह व वसीयत धारक के द्वारा जो बयान अवर न्यायालय के समक्ष दिये गये उनमें आपस में विरोधाभाष है तथा दिये गये बयानों एवं स्टाम्प पेपर पर लिखी वसीयत की लेखनी से यही स्पष्ट होता है कि जो वसीयत विपक्षी द्वारा तैयार की गयी है वह जाली एवं फर्जी है। जिसके आधार पर विपक्षीगण को आराजी निजाई पर स्वत्य प्रदान करना उचित नहीं है। अवर न्यायालय द्वारा जो आदेश दिनांक 21–10–2009 को पारित किया गया है वह भी विपक्षीगण द्वारा प्रस्तुत उक्त अपंजीकृत एवं फर्जी वसीयत के आधार पर पारित किया गया है जो स्थिर रखे जाने योग्य नही है। अपीलकर्ता द्वारा किये गये कथन एवं विद्वान अधिवक्ता द्वारा दिये गये तर्क से स्पष्ट है कि अपीलकर्ता ही विवादित आराजी की जायज उत्तराधिकारी है। अतः अपीलकर्ता को विवादित आराजी पर स्वत्व प्रदान किया जाना उचित प्रतीत होता है। अतः उपरोक्तानुसार प्रस्तुत अपील स्वीकार किये जाने योग्य है।"

6. Thereafter, the petitioners approached the Revisional Authority/respondent No. 1 under Section 48(1) of the Act of 1953 by means of a Revision No. 677 of 2014 (Ghuru and others v. Chandrakali), computerized Case No. D2014104300677. The Revisional Authority dismissed the revision vide order dated 16.01.2020. The relevant portion of the order dated 16.01.2020 on reproduction reads as under:-

"प्रश्नगत वाद प्रकरण में मुख्य बिन्दु यह है कि खातेदार किशनु मृतक द्वारा निगरानीकर्तागण के हक में की गयी अपंजीकृत वसीयत दिनांक 26–06–1986 विधिवत सिद्ध मानी जा सकती है अथवा नहीं? इस सम्बन्ध में अपंजीकृत वसीयत के पाठन में प्रथम दृष्टया परिस्थितजन्य साक्ष्य के रूप में यह बिन्दु उभरता है कि किशुन के चार पत्रियां थी, लेकिन वसीयत में इस महव्वपूर्ण बिन्दु का कोई उल्लेख नहीं किया गया है कि किन कारणों से किशुन ने अपनी अन्य पुत्रियों को अपने उत्तराधिकार से वंचित रखा। मात्र एक नरमत्ता के दो पुत्रों एवं एक पुत्री विद्यावती को अपनी सम्पत्ति दिये जाने का उल्लेख वसीयत में है और अन्य पुत्रियों का कोई उल्लेख तक वसीयत में नही है। यह विचार बिन्दु प्रथम दृष्टया वसीयत की विश्वसनीयता पर परिस्थितिजन्य संशय उत्पन्न करता है। इसके अतिरिक्त अपंजीकृत वसीयत को सही साबित करने के लिए गवाहान घूरू, बच्चू लाल, बेचन व अशर्फी के जो बयान कराये गये है, उनमें परस्पर विरोधाभास है जो कि वसीयत को संदिग्ध बनाते है। वसीयत जिस स्टाम्प पेपर पर लिखी गयी होना बताया गया है, वह स्टाम्प जिला बहराइच से दिनांक 26.6.1986 को घूरू के द्वारा खरीदा गया, जबकि स्वयं घुरू उस स्टाम्प को वसीयत लिखे जाने के दिनांक 26–6–1986 से 2–3 दिन पहले का खरीदा जाना बताते हैं। घुरू ने वसीयत अपने सामने लिखे जाने से भी इनकार किया है और उसी के बयान अनुसार घुरू को वसीयत निष्पादन के दिन, महीना या वर्ष का भी संज्ञान नहीं है। इसलिये वसीयत के बावत् उसकी सत्यता के सम्बन्ध में उनके द्वारा दिये गये बयान वसीयत सिद्ध मानने के लिए विश्वसनीय नहीं माने जा सकते। अन्य गवाह बच्चू लाल पुत्र बृजलाल ने भी अपने बयान में स्पष्ट माना है कि वसीयत उनके सामने नहीं लिखी गयी, बल्कि घुरू व लल्लू की माता नरमत्ता वसीयत को लिखवा कर बाद में उसके पास मात्र तस्दीक कराने के लिए लेकर आयी थी। यही बच्चू लाल ने वसीयत अपने सामने लिखा जाना कहा था। स्पष्ट है कि बच्चू लाल के ही तहसील स्तर पर एवं चकबन्दी अधिकारी न्यायालय में दिये गये बयानो में परस्पर विरोधाभास है, इसलिये बच्चू लाल के बयान को वसीयत की प्रमाणिकता के लिए स्वीकार नही किया जा सकता। जहां घुरू वसीयत के लिये स्टाम्प पेपर खरीदा जाना वसीयत लिखे जाने से 2–3 दिन पहले बताते है, वही बच्चू लाल का कथन दिनांक 26–6–1986 को ही स्टाम्प खरीदे जाने व लिखे जाने का है, जबकि दोनो ही गवाहान अपने सामने वसीयत न लिखा जाना स्वीकार करते है। एक अन्य गवाह बेचन लाल का कथन है कि बच्चू लाल के सामने वसीयत लिखी गयी थी, जबकि स्वयं बच्चू लाल द्वारा अपने सामने वसीयत लिखे जाने से इनकार किया गया है। बेचन लाल के द्वारा बयान में कहा गया है कि वसीयतकर्ता किशुन ने उनके सामने वसीयत पर निशानी अंगूठा लगाया और वसीयत उन्हे पढ़कर सुनाई गयी थी, लेकिन बेचन लाल द्वारा वसीयत किये जाने का समय रात 10 बजे बताया गया है, जबकि वसीयत पर समय 7 बजे का है। इसके अतिरिक्त बेचन लाल ने वसीयत हेतु स्टाम्प पेपर की खरीदारी स्वयं किशुन द्वारा किया जाना बताया है, जबकि स्टाम्प पेपर की खरीदारी पर खरीदने वाले का नाम घुरू है, न कि किशुन। इसके अतिरिक्त बेचन लाल ने घुरू व लल्लू के पिता कामता से अपनी रिश्तेदारी होना भी स्वीकार किया है, जिससे भी वसीयत को सही

उपरोक्तानुसार घुरू, लल्लू पुत्रगण कामता निवासीगण ग्राम प्रतापपुर मजरा जगल मटेरा व श्रीमती विद्यावती पुत्री किशुन पत्नी सुन्दर लाल निवासिनी ग्राम बबुरी द्वारा योजित निगरानी निरस्त की जाती है। बन्दोबस्त अधिकारी चकबन्दी के आदेश दिनांक 05–09–2012 व 12–10–2012 की पुष्टि की जाती है। पत्रावली बाद आवश्यक कार्यवाही दाखिल दफ्तर हो।"

7. Assailing the orders impugned dated 05.09.2012 and 16.01.2020, learned counsel for the petitioners stated that the claim of the petitioners raised on the basis of Will dated 26.06.1986 was considered and allowed by the Revenue Authority/Tehsildar concerned under the Act of 1901 vide order dated 05.06.1992 (Annexure No. 6 to this petition) and in compliance thereof, the name of the petitioners were recorded in revenue records. He submitted that before the Revenue Authority/Tehsildar concerned, the Will dated 26.06.1986, though unregistered, was duly proved by the witnesses namely Bachchu Lal s/o Brijlal and Bechan Lal and while dealing with the appeal as also the revision, the Authorities concerned ignored this aspect of the case.

8. He further submitted that before the Consolidation Officer concerned to prove the Will, the statement of witnesses namely Bachchu Lal s/o Brijlal and Bechan Lal were recorded and they proved the Will as required under the law, however, their statements were not considered by the respondent Nos. 1 and 2 while passing the orders dated 05.09.2012 and 16.01.2020. He also submitted that the entire case of the petitioners is based upon the Will dated 26.06.1986, which was proved before the Authority concerned in the proceedings under the Act of 1953, as such, claim of the petitioners is sustainable and the orders impugned in this petition are liable to the interfered with by this Court.

9. Opposing the present petition and assisting this Court on the issues involved in this petition, Dr. Krishna Singh, learned counsel for the State/respondent Nos. 1 to 3 stated that the Will dated 26.06.1986 has to be proved in view of Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (in short "Act of 1872") and in the instant case, the Will was not proved as required under the law.

10. Dr. Singh further stated that Bachchu Lal before the Consolidation Authority concerned specifically stated that one Narmatta brought the Will, in issue, before him and after considering the thump impression of testator of the Will namely Kishun and signature of Jaggannath (Up-Pradhan) and thump impression of Tulsiram (Panch), he put his signature over the Will. Thus, in this view of the matter, the alleged witnesses of the Will failed to prove it, as such, the observations made by the Consolidation Authorities in the orders impugned, in issue, dated 05.09.2012 and 16.01.2020 are justified.

11. He further submitted that the statement of Bechan Lal before the Consolidation Officer was also disbelieved by the Authorities concerned as this witness was not intact. This witness before the Consolidation Authority concerned stated that the Will was written at 10 P.M., however, the Will was written at 7 P.M. Bechan Lal stated that the Will was written in presence of one Bachchu Lal and Bachchu Lal stated that the Will was not written in his presence. Bechan Lal before the Authority concerned also stated that the testator of Will namely Kishun himself purchased the stamp for the Will, however, the stamp paper itself speaks that it was purchased by one Ghuru, in whose favour, the Will was executed by Kishun. Thus, the testimony of this witness is also not reliable and being so, the observations of the Consolidation Authorities in the orders impugned are justified and are not liable to be interfered with by this Court.

12. He further stated that Bechan Lal in his statement stated that the Will was written in presence of Bachchu Lal and as per the statement of Bachchu Lal, the Will was written in presence of Bechan Lal. Thus, both these witnesses are not truthful witnesses. For these reasons, the Will was not proved and the Authority concerned rightly interfered in the order of Consolidation Officer vide its order dated 05.09.2012 and the revision assailing this order was rightly dismissed by the Revisional Authority vide order dated 16.01.2020.

13. Considered the submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the parties and perused the records.

14. Before proceeding further, as the present case is based on the 'Will', this Court feels it appropriate to refer the relevant provisions namely Section 63 of the Indian Succession Act, 1925 (in short "Act of 1925") and Sections 68, 69, 90 & 90-A of the Act of 1872 being necessary for the better appreciation, which are extracted hereasunder:-

The Indian Succession Act, 1925

"S.63. Execution of unprivileged wills.- Every testator, not being a soldier employed in an expedition or engaged in actual warfare, 1 [or an airman so employed or engaged,] or a mariner at sea, shall execute his will according to the following rules:--

(a) The testator shall sign or shall affix his mark to the will, or it shall be signed by some other person in his presence and by his direction.

(b) The signature or mark of the testator, or the signature of the person signing for him, shall be so placed that it shall appear that it was intended thereby to give effect to the writing as a will.

(c) The will shall be attested by two or more witnesses, each of whom has seen the testator sign or affix his mark to the will or has seen some other person sign the will, in the presence an d by the direction of the testator, or has received from the testator a personal acknowledgement of his signature or mark, or of the signature of such other person; and each of the witnesses shall sign the will in the presence of the testator, but it shall not be necessary that more than one witness be present at the same time, and no particular form of attestation shall be necessary.

The Indian Evidence Act, 1872

"S. 68. Proof of execution of document required by law to be attested. - If a document is required by law to be attested, it shall not be used as evidence until one attesting witness at least has been called for the purpose of proving its execution, if there be an attesting witness alive, and subject to the process of the Court and capable of giving evidence:

[Provided that it shall not be necessary to call an attesting witness in proof of the execution of any document, not being a will, which has been registered in accordance with the provisions of the Indian Registration Act, 1908 (16 of 1908), unless its execution by the person by whom it purports to have been executed is specifically denied.]

S. 69. Proof where no attesting witness found. - If no such attesting witness can be found, or if the document purports to have been executed in the United Kingdom, it must be proved that the attestation of one attesting witness at least is in his handwriting, and that the signature of the person executing the document is in the hand writing of that person.

S. 90. Presumption as to documents thirty years old. - Where any document, purporting or proved to be thirty years old, is produced from any custody which the Court in the particular case considers proper, the Court may presume that the signature and every other part of such document, which purports to be in the handwriting of any particular person, is in that person's handwriting, and, in the case of a document executed or attested, that it was duly executed and attested by the persons by whom it purports to be executed and attested.

Explanation.- Documents are said to be in proper custody if they are in the place in which, and under the care of the person with whom, they would naturally be; but no custody is improper if it is proved to have had a legitimate origin, or if the circumstances of the particular case are such as to render such an origin probable.

S. 90A. Presumption as to electronic records five years old. - Where any electronic record, purporting or proved to be five years old, is produced from any custody which the Court in the particular case considers proper, the Court may presume that the 2 [electronic signature] which purports to be the 2 [electronic signature] of any particular person was so affixed by him or any person authorised by him in this behalf.

Explanation. - Electronic records are said to be in proper custody if they are in the place in which, and under the care of the person with whom, they naturally be; but no custody is improper if it is proved to have had a legitimate origin, or the circumstances of the particular case are such as to render such an origin probable."

15. Chapter III of Act 1925 is in regard to the execution of unprivileged Wills. Section 63 provides the manner in which a testator shall execute his Will:--

(a) The testator shall sign or shall affix his mark to the Will, or it shall be signed by some other person in his presence and by his direction,

(b) The signature or mark either of the testator, or the signature of the person signing for him, shall be placed and shall appear that it was intended to give effect to the writing as a Will,

(c) the Will has to be attested by two or more witnesses, each of whom has seen the testator sign or affix his mark on the Will. Further, each of the witnesses shall sign the Will in the presence of the testator, but it shall not be necessary that more than one witness be present at the same time.

16. Thus, the Act of 1925 prescribes the methodology for execution of a Will.

The Act of 1872 is a procedural law and Section(s) 68 and 69 of the Act of 1872 provides for the proof of execution of a document which is required by law to be attested.

17. The legislature had prescribed the procedure for proving the execution of a Will through an attesting witness. In cases where the attesting witnesses are not available, as in the case of death or out of the jurisdiction of the Court or kept out of the way by the adverse party or cannot be traced despite diligence search, the Will is required to be proved in the manner provided in Section 69 of the Act of 1872.

18. The law relating to the manner and onus of proof and also the duty cast upon the court while dealing with a case based upon a Will has been examined in considerable detail in a catena of judgments. The Constitution Bench in Shashi Kumar Banerjee v. Subodh Kumar Banerjee, AIR 1964 SC 529, observed as under:

"The mode of proving a Will does not ordinarily differ from that of proving any other document except as to the special requirement of attestation prescribed in the case of a Will by Section 63 of the Indian Succession Act. The onus of proving the Will is on the propounder and in the absence of suspicious circumstances surrounding the execution of the Will, proof of testamentary capacity and the signature of the testator as required by law is sufficient to discharge the onus. Where however there are suspicious circumstances, the onus is on the propounder to explain them to the satisfaction of the court before the court accepts the Will as genuine. Where the caveator alleges undue influence, fraud and coercion, the onus is on him to prove the same. Even where there are no such pleas but the circumstances give rise to doubts, it is for the propounder to satisfy the conscience of the court. The suspicious circumstances may be as to the genuineness of the signature of the testator, the condition of the testator's mind, the dispositions made in the Will being unnatural, improbable or unfair in the light of relevant circumstances or there might be other indications in the Will to show that the testator's mind was not free. In such a case the court would naturally expect that all legitimate suspicion should be completely removed before the document is accepted as the last Will of the testator. If the propounder himself takes part in the execution of the Will which confers a substantial benefit on him, that is also a circumstance to be taken into account, and the propounder is required to remove the doubts by clear and satisfactory evidence. If the propounder succeeds in removing the suspicious circumstances the court would grant probate, even if the Will might be unnatural and might cut off wholly or in part near relations."

19. In the cases related to Will, the Will has to be proved by the propounder according to principles settled in this regard, which are no more res-integra and can be deduced from the judgments referred hereunder.

20. In the case of H. Venkatachala Iyengar v. B.N. Thimmajamma, AIR 1959 SC 443, the Hon'ble Supreme Court enunciated a few fundamental guiding principles that have consistently been followed and applied, the synthesis and exposition of which has been reproduced hereunder:-

"18. What is the true legal position in the matter of proof of wills? It is well known that the proof of wills presents a recurring topic for decision in courts and there are a large number of judicial pronouncements on the subject. The party propounding a will or otherwise making a claim under a will is no doubt seeking to prove a document and, in deciding how it is to be proved, we must inevitably refer to the statutory provisions which govern the proof of documents. S. 67 and 68, Evidence Act are relevant for this purpose. Under S. 67, if a document is alleged to be signed by any person, the signature of the said person must be proved to be in his handwriting, and for proving such a handwriting under Ss. 45 and 47 of the Act the opinions of experts and of persons acquainted with the handwriting of the person concerned are made relevant. Section 68 deals with the proof of the execution of the document required by law to be attested; and it provides that such a document shall not be used as evidence until one attesting witness at least has been called for the purpose of proving its execution. These provisions prescribe the requirements and the nature of proof which must be satisfied by the party who relies on a document in a Court of law. Similarly, Ss. 59 and 63 of the Indian Succession Act are also relevant. Section 59 provides that every person of sound mind, not being a minor, may dispose of his property by will and the three illustrations to this section indicate what is meant by the expression "a person of sound mind" in the context. Section 63 requires that the testator shall sign or affix his mark to the will or it shall be signed by some other person in his presence and by his direction and that the signature or mark shall be so made that it shall appear that it was intended thereby to give effect to the writing as a will. This section also requires that the will shall be attested by two or more witnesses as prescribed. Thus the question as to whether the will set up by the propounder is proved to be the last will of the testator has to be decided in the light of these provisions. Has the testator signed the will? Did he understand the nature and effect of the dispositions in the will? Did he put his signature to the will knowing what it contained? Stated broadly it is the decision of these questions which determines the nature of the finding on the question of the proof of wills*. It would prima facie be true to say that the will has to be proved like any other document except as to the special requirements of attestation prescribed by S. 63 of the Indian Succession Act. As in the case of proof of other documents so in the case of proof of wills it would be idle to expect proof with mathematical certainty. The test to be applied would be the usual test of the satisfaction of the prudent mind in such matters.*

19. However, there is one important feature which distinguishes wills from other documents. Unlike other documents the will speaks from the death of the testator, and so, when it is propounded or produced before a Court, the testator who has already departed the world cannot say whether it is his will or not; and this aspect naturally introduces an element of solemnity in the decision of the question as to whether the document propounded is proved to be the last will and testament of the departed testator. Even so, in dealing with the proof of wills the Court will start on the same enquiry as in the case of the proof of documents. The propounder would be called upon to show by satisfactory evidence that the will was signed by the testator, that the testator at the relevant time was in a sound and disposing state of mind, that he understood the nature and effect of the dispositions and put his signature to the document of his own free will. Ordinarily when the evidence adduced in support of the will is disinterested, satisfactory and sufficient to prove the sound and disposing state of the testator's mind and his signature as required by law, Courts would be justified in making a finding in favour of the propounder. In other words, the onus on the propounder can be taken to be discharged on proof of the essential facts just indicated.

22. It is obvious that for deciding material questions of fact which arise in applications for probate or in actions on wills, no hard and fast or inflexible rules can be laid down for the appreciation of the evidence. It may, however, be stated generally that a propounder of the will has to prove the due and valid execution of the will and that if there are any suspicious circumstances surrounding the execution of the will the propounder must remove the said suspicions from the mind of the Court by cogent and satisfactory evidence..."

21. The Supreme Court in Babu Singh v. Ram Sahai @ Ram Singh, (2008) 14 SCC 754 had the occasion to consider the effect of Sections 68 and 69 of the Act of 1872. Relevant paras 17 and 18 are extracted hereasunder:-

"17. It would apply, inter alia, in a case where the attesting witness is either dead or out of the jurisdiction of the court or kept out of the way by the adverse party or cannot be traced despite diligent search. Only in that event, the Will may be proved in the manner indicated in Section 69, i.e., by examining witnesses who were able to prove the handwriting of the testator or executant. The burden of proof then may be shifted to others.

18. Whereas, however, a Will ordinarily must be proved keeping in view the provisions of Section 63 of the Indian Succession Act and Section 68 of the Act, in the event the ingredients thereof, as noticed hereinbefore, are brought on record, strict proof of execution and attestation stands relaxed. However, signature and handwriting, as contemplated in Section 69, must be proved."

22. The Apex Court in Bharpur Singh v. Shamsher Singh, (2009) 3 SCC 687, held that in case, the provisions of Section 68 of the Act 1872 could not be complied with, then the other provisions contained therein, namely, Section 69 and 70 would be attracted. Relevant Paras 18 and 19 are extracted hereasunder:-

"18. Respondent was a mortgagee of the lands belonging to the testatrix. He is also said to be the tenant in respect of some of the properties of the testatrix. It has not been shown that she was an educated lady. She had put her left thumb impression. In the aforementioned situation, the question, 15 which should have been posed, was as to whether she could have an independent advice in the matter. For the purpose of proof of will, it would be necessary to consider what was the fact situation prevailing in the year 1962. Even assuming the subsequent event, viz., the appellants had not been looking after their mother as has been inferred from the fact that they received the news of her death only six days after her death took place, is true, the same, in our opinion, would be of not much significance.

19. The provisions of Section 90 of the Indian Evidence Act keeping in view the nature of proof required for proving a Will have no application. A Will must be proved in terms of the provisions of Section 63(c) of the Indian Succession Act, 1925 and Section 68 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. In the event the provisions thereof cannot be complied with, the other provisions contained therein, namely, Sections 69 and 70 of the Indian Evidence Act providing for exceptions in relation thereto would be attracted. Compliance with statutory requirements for proving an ordinary document is not sufficient, as Section 68 of the Indian Evidence Act postulates that execution must be proved by at least one of the attesting witness, if an attesting witness is alive and subject to the process of the Court and capable of giving evidence."

23. The Division Bench of Delhi High Court in Jagdeesh Prasad v. State, 2015 SCC OnLine Del 14461 in paras 13, 14 and 15 observed as under:-

"13. The legislature was conscious of the fact that a situation may arise where both attesting witnesses have taken the train to the heaven before the testator died or before the beneficiary propounds the Will. The consciousness of the legislature can be found in Section 69 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, which reads as under:--

69. Proof where no attesting witness found - If no such attesting witness can be found, or if the document purports to have been executed in the United Kingdom, it must be proved that the attestation of one attesting witness at least is in his handwriting, and that the signature of the person executing the document is in the handwriting of that person.

14. Section 69 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, while dealing with a situation where no attesting witness can be found, requires evidence to be led that the signatures on a document which law requires to be attested by one or more witnesses are that of the executant with further proof that there is attestation in his handwriting by one attesting witness.

15. Law does not envisage that if both attesting witnesses to a Will have died or for some reason are not available, that would be the end of the Will. The way forward has been guided by the legislature under Section 69 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872."

24. A Will executed under Section 63 of the Act, 1925 has to be proved that it was executed, at least by one of the attesting witnesses under Section 68, the requirement of Section 63 of Act, 1925 read with Section 68 of Act, 1872 has already been considered and upheld by the Apex Court in case of B. Venkatamuni v. C.J. Ayodhya Ram Singh, (2006) 13 SCC 449.

25. It is only in case where plaintiffs come up with a case that the attesting witnesses of the Will have died or not available to prove the execution of the Will as required under Section 68, then the alleged Will is required to be proved by the handwriting of one of the witnesses of attesting witnesses and the executant under Section 69.

26. No requirement to prove the execution of Will under Section 68, as presumption in favour of the execution of Will is there, under Section 90 is a fallacy and has no merit. A Co-ordinate Bench of this Court in Santosh Kumar Gupta v. Harvinder Nath Gupta, 1996 SCC OnLine All 1325 while deciding the testamentary suit held that in case, the attesting witnesses are dead or not available, the execution of the Will can be proved in accordance with mode prescribed under Section 69 of the Act, then Court should not raise presumption under Section 90 of the Act and admit the document in evidence, but direct the party to prove the document by leading evidence. (See para 15 of the report).

27. A Will which has been executed under Section 63 of the Act 1925, the mandatory provision has been provided under Section 68 for proving its execution in case of non-compliance of Section 68, Section 69 is attracted.

28. It is evident that the mode of proving a Will does not ordinarily differ from that of proving any other document except as to the special requirement of attestation prescribed in the case of a Will by Section 63 of the Indian Succession Act. The onus of proving the Will is on the propounder and in the absence of suspicious circumstances surrounding the execution of the Will proof of testamentary capacity and signature of the testator as required by law is sufficient to discharge the onus. Where, however, there are suspicious circumstances, the onus would be on the propounder to explain them to the satisfaction of the Court before the Will could be accepted as genuine.

29. In the case of Rabindra Nath Mukherjee v. Panchanan Banerjee (dead) by LRs., (1995) 4 SCC 459 : AIR 1995 SC 1684, it was observed that the circumstance of deprivation of natural heirs should not raise any suspicion because the whole idea behind execution of the Will is to interfere with the normal line of succession and so, there is no wonder that the natural heirs would be debarred in every case of Will. A Will is executed to alter the ordinary mode of succession and by the very nature of things it is bound to result in earlier reducing or depriving the share of natural heirs. If a person intends his property to pass to his natural heirs, there is no necessity at all of executing a Will.

30. In the case of Shivakumar v. Sharanabasppa, Civil Appeal No. 6076 of 2009, decided by the Hon'ble Supreme Court on 24.04.2020, summarizes the principles governing the adjudicatory process concerning proof of a Will as follows:-

31."1. Ordinarily, a Will has to be proved like any other document; the test to be applied being the usual test of the satisfaction of the prudent mind. Alike the principles governing the proof of other documents, in the case of Will too, the proof with mathematical accuracy is not to be insisted upon.

2. Since as per Section 63 of the Succession Act, a Will is required to be attested, it cannot be used as evidence until at least one attesting witness has been called for the purpose of proving its execution, if there be an attesting witness alive and capable of giving evidence.

3. The unique feature of a Will is that it speaks from the death of the testator and, therefore, the maker thereof is not available for deposing about the circumstances in which the same was executed. This introduces an element of solemnity in the decision of the question as to whether the document propounded is the last Will of the testator. The initial onus, naturally, lies on the propounder but the same can be taken to have been primarily discharged on proof of the essential facts which go into the making of a Will.

4. The case in which the execution of the Will is surrounded by suspicious circumstances stands on a different footing. The presence of suspicious circumstances makes the onus heavier on the propounder and, therefore, in cases where the circumstances attendant upon the execution of the document give rise to suspicion, the propounder must remove all legitimate suspicions before the document can be accepted as the last Will of the testator.

5. If a person challenging the Will alleges fabrication or alleges fraud, undue influence, coercion et cetera in regard to the execution of the Will, such pleas have to be proved by him, but even in the absence of such pleas, the very circumstances surrounding the execution of the Will may give rise to the doubt or as to whether the Will had indeed been executed by the testator and/or as to whether the testator was acting of his own free will. In such eventuality, it is again a part of the initial onus of the propounder to remove all reasonable doubts in the matter.

6. A circumstance is "suspicious" when it is not normal or is "not normally expected in a normal situation or is not expected of a normal person'. As put by this Court, the suspicious features must be "real, germane and valid' and not merely the "fantasy of the doubting mind.'

7. As to whether any particular feature or a set of features qualify as "suspicious" would depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. A shaky or doubtful signature; a feeble or uncertain mind of the testator; an unfair disposition of property; an unjust exclusion of the legal heirs and particularly the dependants; an active or leading part in making of the Will by the beneficiary thereunder et cetera are some of the circumstances which may give rise to suspicion. The circumstances above-noted are only illustrative and by no means exhaustive because there could be any circumstance or set of circumstances which may give rise to legitimate suspicion about the execution of the Will. On the other hand, any of the circumstance qualifying as being suspicious could be legitimately explained by the propounder. However, such suspicion or suspicions cannot be removed by mere proof of sound and disposing state of mind of the testator and his signature coupled with the proof of attestation.

8. The test of satisfaction of the judicial conscience comes into operation when a document propounded as the Will of the testator is surrounded by suspicious circumstance/s. While applying such test, the Court would address itself to the solemn questions as to whether the testator had signed the Will while being aware of its contents and after understanding the nature and effect of the dispositions in the Will?

9. In the ultimate analysis, where the execution of a Will is shrouded in suspicion, it is a matter essentially of the judicial conscience of the Court and the party which sets up the Will has to offer cogent and convincing explanation of the suspicious circumstances surrounding the Will."

37. Having considered the provisions pertaining to the proof of Will as well as the various landmark judgments discussed hereinabove, this Court shall now proceed to apply the settled principles in the facts and circumstances of the instant case."

31. Further, the Apex Court in the judgment passed in the case of Raj Kumari and Others v. Surinder Pal Sharma reported in 2019 SCC OnLine SC 1747 has observed as under:-

"12. We would first expound the law relating to the execution and proof of Wills under the Indian Succession Act and the Evidence Act. Clause (c) of Section 63 of the Indian Succession Act reads as follows:

"63. Execution of unprivileged wills.--Every testator, not being a soldier employed in an expedition or engaged in actual warfare, or an airman so employed or engaged, or a mariner at sea, shall execute his will according to the following rules--

(c) The will shall be attested by two or more witnesses, each of whom has seen the testator sign or affix his mark to the will or has seen some other person sign the will, in the presence and by the direction of the testator, or has received from the testator a personal acknowledgment of his signature or mark, or of the signature of such other person; and each of the witnesses shall sign the will in the presence of the testator, but it shall not be necessary that more than one witness be present at the same time, and no particular form of attestation shall be necessary."

13. As per the mandate of clause (c), a Will is required to be attested by two or more witnesses each of whom should have seen the testator sign or put his mark on the Will or should have seen some other person sign the Will in his presence and by the direction of the testator or should have received from the testator a personal acknowledgment of his signature or mark, or of the signature of such other person. The Will must be signed by the witness in the presence of the testator, but it is not necessary that more than one witness should be present at the same time. No particular form of attestation is necessary. Thus, there is no prescription in the statute that the testator must necessarily sign the Will in the presence of the attesting witnesses only or that the attesting witnesses must put their signatures on the Will simultaneously, that is, at the same time, in the presence of each other and the testator.

14. The need and necessity for stringent requirements of clause (c) to Section 63 of the Indian Succession Act has been elucidated and explained in several decisions. In H. Venkatachala Iyengar v. B.N. Thimmajamma; AIR 1959 SC 443 dilating on the statutory and mandatory requisites for validating the execution of the Will, this Court had highlighted the dissimilarities between the Will which is a testamentary instrument vis-à-vis other documents of conveyancing, by emphasising that the Will is produced before the court after the testator who has departed from the world, cannot say that the Will is his own or it is not the same. This factum introduces an element of solemnity to the decision on the question where the Will propounded is proved as the last Will or testament of the departed testator. Therefore, the propounder to succeed and prove the Will is required to prove by satisfactory evidence that (i) the Will was signed by the testator; (ii) the testator at the time was in a sound and disposing state of mind; (iii) the testator understood the nature and effect of the dispositions; and (iv) that the testator had put his signature on the document of his own free will. Ordinarily, when the evidence adduced in support of the Will is disinterested, satisfactory and sufficient to prove the sound and disposing state of mind of the testator and his signature as required by law, courts would be justified in making a finding in favour of the propounder. Such evidence would discharge the onus on the propounder to prove the essential facts. At the same time, this Court observed that it is necessary to remove suspicious circumstances surrounding the execution of the Will and therefore no hard and fast or inflexible rules can be laid down for the appreciation of the evidence to this effect.

15. In Jaswant Kaur v. Amrit Kaur; (1997) 1 SCC 369, it was held that suspicion generated by disinheritance is not removed by mere assertion of the propounder that the Will bears the signature of the testator or that the testator was in sound and disposing state of mind when the Will disinherits those like the wife and children of the testator who would have normally received their due share in the estate. At the same time, the testator may have his own reasons for excluding them. Therefore, it is obligatory for the propounder to remove all the legitimate suspicions before a Will is accepted as a valid last Will of the testator. Earlier, in Surendra Pal v. Dr. (Mrs.) Saraswati Arora; (1974) 2 SCC 600, this Court had observed that the propounder should demonstrate that the Will was signed by the testator and at the relevant time, the testator was in a sound and disposing state of mind and had understood the nature and effect of the dispositions, that he had put his signature on the testimony of his own free will and at least two witnesses have attested the Will in his presence. However, suspicion may arise where the signature is doubtful or when the testator is of feeble mind or is overawed by powerful minds interested in getting his property or where the disposition appears to be unnatural, improbable and unfair or where there are other reasons to doubt the testator's free will and mind. The nature and quality of proof must commensurate with such essentiality so as to remove any suspicion which a reasonable or prudent man may, in the prevailing circumstances, entertain. Where coercion and fraud are alleged by an objector, the onus is on him to prove the same and on his failure, probate of the Will must necessarily be granted when it is established that the testator had full testamentary capacity and had in fact executed the Will with a free will and mind. In Rabindra Nath Mukherjee v. Panchanan Banerjee (Dead) by LRs.; (1995) 4 SCC 459, this Court had observed that the doubt would be less significant if the Will is registered and the Sub-Registrar certifies that the same was read over to the executor who, on doing so, had admitted the contents. In each case, the court must be satisfied as to the mandate and requirements of clause (c) to Section 63 of the Indian Succession Act.

16. In Jagdish Chand Sharma v. Narain Singh Saini (Dead) Through LRs.; (2015) 8 SCC 615, this Court referring to Section 63 of the Indian Succession Act had illustrated that the provisions contemplate that in order to validly execute the Will, the testator would have to sign or affix his mark to it or the same has to be signed by some other person in his presence and on his direction. Further, the signature or mark of the testator or signature of the person signing for him has to be so placed that it was intended to give effect to the writing as a Will. Section 63 mandates that the Will should be attested by two or more witnesses each of whom has seen the testator sign or affix his mark to it or has seen some other person sign it in the presence and on the direction of the testator, or has received from the testator a personal acknowledgement of his signature or mark, or the signature of such other person and each of the witnesses has signed the Will in the presence of the testator, though it is not necessary that more than one witness be present at the same time and that no particular form of attestation is necessary. The execution and attestation of the Will are mandatory in nature and any failure and deficiency in adhering to the essential requirements would result in invalidation of the instrument of disposition of the property.

17. Sections 68 and 71 of the Evidence Act, which relate to proof of documents required by law to be attested, read as under:

"68. Proof of execution of document required by law to be attested.--If a document is required by law to be attested, it shall not be used as evidence until one attesting witness at least has been called for the purpose of proving its execution, if there be an attesting witness alive, and subject to the process of the Court and capable of giving evidence:

Provided that it shall not be necessary to call an attesting witness in proof of the execution of any document, not being a will, which has been registered in accordance with the provisions of the Indian Registration Act, 1908 (16 of 1908), unless its execution by the person by whom it purports to have been executed is specifically denied.

71. Proof when attesting witness denies the execution.--If the attesting witness denies or does not recollect the execution of the document, its execution may be proved by other evidence."

18. In Jagdish Chand Sharma (supra) referring to Sections 68 and 71 of the Evidence Act, it was observed:

"22.2. These statutory provisions, thus, make it incumbent for a document required by law to be attested to have its execution proved by at least one of the attesting witnesses, if alive, and is subject to the process of the court conducting the proceedings involved and is capable of giving evidence. This rigour is, however, eased in case of a document also required to be attested but not a will, if the same has been registered in accordance with the provisions of the Registration Act, 1908 unless the execution of this document by the person said to have executed it denies the same. In any view of the matter, however, the relaxation extended by the proviso is of no avail qua a will. The proof of a will to be admissible in evidence with probative potential, being a document required by law to be attested by two witnesses, would necessarily need proof of its execution through at least one of the attesting witnesses, if alive, and subject to the process of the court concerned and is capable of giving evidence.

22.3. Section 71 provides, however, that if the attesting witness denies or does not recollect the execution of the document, its execution may be proved by the other evidence. The interplay of the above statutory provisions and the underlying legislative objective would be of formidable relevance in evaluating the materials on record and recording the penultimate conclusions. With this backdrop, expedient it would be, to scrutinise the evidence adduced by the parties.

57.1. Viewed in premise, Section 71 of the 1872 Act has to be necessarily accorded a strict interpretation. The two contingencies permitting the play of this provision, namely, denial or failure to recollect the execution by the attesting witness produced, thus a fortiori has to be extended a meaning to ensure that the limited liberty granted by Section 71 of the 1872 Act does not in any manner efface or emasculate the essence and efficacy of Section 63 of the Act and Section 68 of the 1872 Act. The distinction between failure on the part of an attesting witness to prove the execution and attestation of a will and his or her denial of the said event or failure to recollect the same, has to be essentially maintained. Any unwarranted indulgence, permitting extra liberal flexibility to these two stipulations, would render the predication of Section 63 of the Act and Section 68 of the 1872 Act, otiose. The propounder can be initiated to the benefit of Section 71 of the 1872 Act only if the attesting witness/witnesses, who is/are alive and is/are produced and in clear terms either denies/deny the execution of the document or cannot recollect the said incident. Not only, this witness/witnesses has/have to be credible and impartial, the evidence adduced ought to demonstrate unhesitant denial of the execution of the document or authenticate real forgetfulness of such fact. If the testimony evinces a casual account of the execution and attestation of the document disregardful of truth, and thereby fails to prove these two essentials as per law, the propounder cannot be permitted to adduce other evidence under cover of Section 71 of the 1872 Act. Such a sanction would not only be incompatible with the scheme of Section 63 of the Act read with Section 68 of the 1872 Act but also would be extinctive of the paramountcy and sacrosanctity thereof, a consequence, not legislatively intended. If the evidence of the witnesses produced by the propounder is inherently worthless and lacking in credibility, Section 71 of the 1872 Act cannot be invoked to bail him (the propounder) out of the situation to facilitate a roving pursuit. In absence of any touch of truthfulness and genuineness in the overall approach, this provision, which is not a substitute of Section 63(c) of the Act and Section 68 of the 1872 Act, cannot be invoked to supplement such failed speculative endeavour.

57.2. Section 71 of the 1872 Act, even if assumed to be akin to a proviso to the mandate contained in Section 63 of the Act and Section 68 of the 1872 Act, it has to be assuredly construed harmoniously therewith and not divorced therefrom with a mutilative bearing. This underlying principle is inter alia embedded in the decision of this Court in CIT v. Ajax Products Ltd."

19. After referring to H. Venkatachala Iyengar (supra), this Court in Jaswant Kaur (supra) had laid down the following propositions of law:

"(1) Stated generally, a will has to be proved like any other document, the test to be applied being the usual test of the satisfaction of the prudent mind in such matters. As in the case of proof of other documents, so in the case of proof of wills, one cannot insist on proof with mathematical certainty.

(2) Since Section 63 of the Succession Act requires a will to be attested, it cannot be used as evidence until, as required by Section 68 of the Evidence Act, one attesting witness at least has been called for the purpose of proving its execution, if there be an attesting witness alive, and subject to the process of the court and capable of giving evidence.

(3) Unlike other documents, the will speaks from the death of the testator and therefore the maker of the will is never available for deposing as to the circumstances in which the will came to be executed. This aspect introduces an element of solemnity in the decision of the question whether the document propounded is proved to be the last will and testament of the testator. Normally, the onus which lies on the propounder can be taken to be discharged on proof of the essential facts which go into the making of the will.

(4) Cases in which the execution of the will is surrounded by suspicious circumstances stand on a different footing. A shaky signature, a feeble mind, an unfair and unjust disposition of property, the propounder himself taking a leading part in the making of the will under which he receives a substantial benefit and such other circumstances raise suspicion about the execution of the will. That suspicion cannot be removed by the mere assertion of the propounder that the will bears the signature of the testator or that the testator was in a sound and disposing state of mind and memory at the time when the will was made, or that those like the wife and children of the testator who would normally receive their due share in his estate were disinherited because the testator might have had his own reasons for excluding them. The presence of suspicious circumstances makes the initial onus heavier and therefore, in cases where the circumstances attendant upon the execution of the will excite the suspicion of the court, the propounder must remove all legitimate suspicions before the document can be accepted as the last will of the testator.

(5) It is in connection with wills, the execution of which is surrounded by suspicious circumstances that the test of satisfaction of the judicial conscience has been evolved. That test emphasises that in determining the question as to whether an instrument produced before the court is the last will of the testator, the court is called upon to decide a solemn question and by reason of suspicious circumstances the court has to be satisfied fully that the will has been validly executed by the testator.

(6) If a caveator alleges fraud, undue influence, coercion, etc. in regard to the execution of the will, such pleas have to be proved by him, but even in the absence of such pleas, the very circumstances surrounding the execution of the will may raise a doubt as to whether the testator was acting of his own free will. And then it is a part of the initial onus of the propounder to remove all reasonable doubts in the matter."

20. In M.B. Ramesh (supra) reference was made to the view expressed by the Division Bench of the Bombay High Court in Vishnu Ramkrishna v. Nathu Vithal; AIR 1949 BOM 266 wherein it was observed:

"27. [...] We are dealing with the case of a will and we must approach the problem as a court of conscience. It is for us to be satisfied whether the document put forward is the last will and testament of Gangabai. If we find that the wishes of the testatrix are likely to be defeated or thwarted merely by reason of want of some technicality, we as a court of conscience would not permit such a thing to happen. We have not heard Mr. Dharap on the other point; but assuming that Gangabai had a sound and disposing mind and that she wanted to dispose of her property as she in fact has done, the mere fact that the *propounder*s of the will were negligent--and grossly negligent--in not complying with the requirements of Section 63 and proving the will as they ought to have, should not deter us from calling for the necessary evidence in order to satisfy ourselves whether the will was duly executed or not." (emphasis supplied)

21. The judgment in M.B. Ramesh (supra) also refers to Janki Narayan Bhoir v. Narayan Namdeo Kadam; (2003) 2 SCC 91 in which with reference to Sections 68 and 71 of the Evidence Act, it was observed:

"22. [...] 6. ... It is true that although a will is required to be attested by two witnesses it could be proved by examining one of the attesting witnesses as per Section 68 of the Evidence Act.

xxxxxxxxx

11. ... Aid of Section 71 can be taken only when the attesting witnesses, who have been called, deny or fail to recollect the execution of the document to prove it by other evidence. ...

12. ... Section 71 has no application when the one attesting witness, who alone has been summoned, has failed to prove the execution of the will and the other attesting witness though available has not been examined."

22. Highlighting the aforesaid aspects in M.B. Ramesh (supra), it was held that:

"28. As stated by this Court also in H. Venkatachala Iyengar and Jaswant Kaur, while arriving at the finding as to whether the will was duly executed, the Court must satisfy its conscience having regard to the totality of circumstances. The Court's role in matters concerning wills is limited to examining whether the instrument propounded as the last will of the deceased is or is not that by the testator, and whether it is the product of the free and sound disposing mind [as observed by this Court in para 77 of Gurdev Kaur v. Kaki]. In the present matter, there is no dispute about these factors."

23. In Jagdish Chand Sharma (supra) reference was made to the facts of the case in M.B. Ramesh (supra) to observe that on consideration of the totality of circumstances emerging from the narration given by the attesting witness, the omission on the part of this witness to specifically state about the signature by the other attesting witness on the Will in the presence of the testatrix would amount to failure to recollect the fact which deficiency could be replenished with the aid of Section 71 of the Evidence Act. It was observed that the validity of the Will in M.B. Ramesh (supra) was upheld in the context of the attendant singular facts.

24. On the question of need to examine the second attesting witnesses when one attesting witness falters, way back in 1921 in Dhira Singh v. Moti Lal; 63 Ind. Cas. 266, two judges of the Patna High Court had held that where the attesting witness was neither summoned nor examined under the provisions of Section 68 of the Evidence Act, recourse to Section 71 is impermissible. Under the provisions of Section 68 of the Evidence Act, it is incumbent on the plaintiff/propounder to call the attesting witness even though he may be the defendant/opposite side. It was observed:

1. [...] Section 68 requires that a document which is required by law to be attested shall not be used as evidence until one attesting witness at least has been called for the purpose of proving its execution, and Section 71 enacts that if the attesting witness denies or does not recollect the execution of the document, its execution may be proved by other evidence.

2. A case on all fours with the present case is that of Tula Singh v. Gopal Singh 38 Ind. Cas. 604 : 1 P.L.J. 389 : 2 P.L.W. 353. In that case the learned Judges decided that Section 68 of the Evidence Act was imperative and so long as there was a witness alive and subject to the process of the Court, no document which is required by law to be attested can be used in evidence until such witness has been called. The fact that, when sailed (sic - assailed), he will prove hostile, does not excuse the party producing the document from this duty. The learned Subordinate Judge was, therefore, wrong in thinking that it was not necessary to call the defendant No. 2.

25. Majority of earlier judgments like Vishnu Ramkrishna (supra) follow the ratio in Dhira Singh (supra), with a few exceptions like Mt. Manki Kaur v. Hansraj Singh1; AIR 1938 Pat 301. The issue was resolved beyond controversy and debate in Janki Narayan Bhoir (supra) wherein it has been held that clause (c) of Section 63 of the Indian Succession Act requires and mandates attestation of a Will by two or more persons as witnesses, albeit Section 68 of the Evidence Act gives concession to those who want to prove and establish a Will in the court of law by examining at least one attesting witness who could prove the execution of the Will viz., attestation by the two witnesses and its execution in the manner contemplated by clause (c) to Section 63 of the Indian Succession Act. However, where one attesting witness examined fails to prove due execution of the Will, then the other available attesting witness must be called to supplement his evidence to make it complete in all respects to comply with the requirement of proof as mandated by Section 68 of the Evidence Act. It was held:

"11. Section 71 of the Evidence Act is in the nature of a safeguard to the mandatory provisions of Section 68 of the Evidence Act, to meet a situation where it is not possible to prove the execution of the will by calling the attesting witnesses, though alive. This section provides that if an attesting witness denies or does not recollect the execution of the will, its execution may be proved by other evidence. Aid of Section 71 can be taken only when the attesting witnesses, who have been called, deny or fail to recollect the execution of the document to prove it by other evidence. Section 71 has no application to a case where one attesting witness, who alone had been summoned, has failed to prove the execution of the will and other attesting witnesses though are available to prove the execution of the same, for reasons best known, have not been summoned before the court. It is clear from the language of Section 71 that if an attesting witness denies or does not recollect execution of the document, its execution may be proved by other evidence. However, in a case where an attesting witness examined fails to prove the due execution of will as required under clause (c) of Section 63 of the Succession Act, it cannot be said that the will is proved as per Section 68 of the Evidence Act. It cannot be said that if one attesting witness denies or does not recollect the execution of the document, the execution of will can be proved by other evidence dispensing with the evidence of other attesting witnesses though available to be examined to prove the execution of the will. Yet another reason as to why other available attesting witnesses should be called when the one attesting witness examined fails to prove due execution of the will is to avert the claim of drawing adverse inference under Section 114 Illustration (g) of the Evidence Act. Placing the best possible evidence, in the given circumstances, before the Court for consideration, is one of the cardinal principles of the Indian Evidence Act. Section 71 is permissive and an enabling section permitting a party to lead other evidence in certain circumstances. But Section 68 is not merely an enabling section. It lays down the necessary requirements, which the court has to observe before holding that a document is proved. Section 71 is meant to lend assistance and come to the rescue of a party who had done his best, but driven to a state of helplessness and impossibility, cannot be let down without any other means of proving due execution by "other evidence" as well. At the same time Section 71 cannot be read so as to absolve a party of his obligation under Section 68 read with Section 63 of the Act and liberally allow him, at his will or choice to make available or not a necessary witness otherwise available and amenable to the jurisdiction of the court concerned and confer a premium upon his omission or lapse, to enable him to give a go-by to the mandate of law relating to the proof of execution of a will."

26. This judgment overruled the judgment of Manki Kaur (supra) and approved the ratio of Vishnu Ramakrishna (supra) to the effect that Section 71 of the Evidence Act can be requisitioned when the attesting witnesses who were being called have failed to prove the execution of the Will by reason of either denying their own signatures, denying the signature of the testator or due to bad recollection as to the execution of the document. Section 71 has no application when only one attesting witness who was called and examined has failed to prove the execution of the Will and the other available attesting witness was not summoned.

27. The ratio in Janki was reiterated in Benga Behera v. Braja Kishore Nanda; (2007) 9 SCC 728. This judgment also examines the issue and question whether a Sub-Registrar in the matter of registration of documents under the provisions of Indian Registration Act, 1908 can possibly be treated as a witness. Reference was made to Sections 52 and 58 of the Registration Act to observe that the duty of the Registering Officer is to endorse the signature of every person presenting the document for registration and to make an endorsement to that effect, that is, to endorse only the admission or execution by the person who presented the document for registration. The Registering Officer can also endorse and certify the payment of money or delivery of goods made in the presence of the Registering Officer in reference to the execution of the document. The expression "attesting witness' within the meaning of Section 3 of the Transfer of Property Act and Section 63 of the Indian Succession Act means "bearing witness to a fact". The two valid conditions of attestation of documents are - (i) two or more attesting witnesses have seen the executant sign the instrument; (ii) each of them has signed the instrument in the presence of the executant. Further and importantly, attestation requires animus attestandi, that is, a person puts his signature on a document with the intent to attest it as a witness. If a person puts his signature on a document only in discharge of a statutory duty, he may not be considered as an attesting witness as was held in Dharam Singh v. Aso; 1990 Supp SCC 684. Similarly, a scribe or an advocate who has drafted the document may not be the attesting witness as was held by this Court in Jagdish Chand Sharma (supra), for attestation requires that the witness should have put his signature animus attestandi, that is, for the purpose of attesting that he has seen the executant sign or has received from him a personal acknowledgement of his signature."

32. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Kavita Kanwar v. Pamela Mehta reported in (2021) 11 SCC 209, has observed as under:-

"23. It remains trite that a will is the testamentary document that comes into operation after the death of the testator. The peculiar nature of such a document has led to solemn provisions in the statutes for making of a will and for its proof in a court of law. Section 59 of the Succession Act provides that every person of sound mind, not being a minor, may dispose of his property by will. A will or any portion thereof, the making of which has been caused by fraud or coercion or by any such importunity that has taken away the free agency of the testator, is declared to be void under Section 61 of the Succession Act; and further, Section 62 of the Succession Act enables the maker of a will to make or alter the same at any time when he is competent to dispose of his property by will. Chapter III of Part IV of the Succession Act makes the provision for execution of unprivileged wills (as distinguished from privileged wills provided for in Chapter IV) with which we are not concerned in this case.

23.1. Sections 61 and 63 of the Succession Act, relevant for the present purpose, could be usefully extracted as under:

"61. Will obtained by fraud, coercion or importunity.--A will or any part of a will, the making of which has been caused by fraud or coercion, or by such importunity as takes away the free agency of the testator, is void. ...

63. Execution of unprivileged wills.--Every testator, not being a soldier employed in an expedition or engaged in actual warfare, or an airman so employed or engaged, or a mariner at sea, shall execute his will according to the following rules--

(a) The testator shall sign or shall affix his mark to the will, or it shall be signed by some other person in his presence and by his direction.

(b) The signature or mark of the testator, or the signature of the person signing for him, shall be so placed that it shall appear that it was intended thereby to give effect to the writing as a will.

(c) The will shall be attested by two or more witnesses, each of whom has seen the testator sign or affix his mark to the will or has seen some other person sign the will, in the presence and by the direction of the testator, or has received from the testator a personal acknowledgment of his signature or mark, or the signature of such other person; and each of the witnesses shall sign the will in the presence of the testator, but it shall not be necessary that more than one witness be present at the same time, and no particular form of attestation shall be necessary."

23.2. Elaborate provisions have been made in Chapter VI of the Succession Act (Sections 74 to 111), for construction of wills which, in their sum and substance, make the intention of legislature clear that any irrelevant misdescription or error is not to operate against the will; and approach has to be to give effect to a will once it is found to have been executed in the sound state of mind by the testator while exercising his own free will. However, as per Section 81 of the Succession Act, extrinsic evidence is inadmissible in case of patent ambiguity or deficiency in the will; and as per Section 89 thereof, a will or bequest not expressive of any definite intention is declared void for uncertainty. Sections 81 and 89 read as under:

"81. Extrinsic evidence inadmissible in case of patent ambiguity or deficiency.--Where there is an ambiguity or deficiency on the face of a will, no extrinsic evidence as to the intentions of the testator shall be admitted. ...

89. Will or bequest void for uncertainty.--A will or bequest not expressive of any definite intention is void for uncertainty."

Moreover, it is now well settled that when the will is surrounded by suspicious circumstances, the Court would expect that the legitimate suspicion should be removed before the document in question is accepted as the last will of the testator.

23.3. As noticed, as per Section 63 of the Succession Act, the will ought to be attested by two or more witnesses. Hence, any document propounded as a will cannot be used as evidence unless at least one attesting witness has been examined for the purpose of proving its execution, if such witness is available and is capable of giving evidence as per the requirements of Section 68 of the Evidence Act, that reads as under:

"68. Proof of execution of document required by law to be attested.-- If a document is required by law to be attested, it shall not be used as evidence until one attesting witness at least has been called for the purpose of proving its execution, if there be an attesting witness alive, and subject to the process of the Court and capable of giving evidence:

Provided that it shall not be necessary to call an attesting witness in proof of the execution of any document, not being a will, which has been registered in accordance with the provisions of the Indian Registration Act, 1908 (16 of 1908), unless its execution by the person by whom it purports to have been executed is specifically denied."

24. We may now take note of the relevant principles settled by the consistent decisions in regard to the process of examination of a will when propounded before a court of law.

24.1. In H. Venkatachala Iyengar [H. Venkatachala Iyengar v. B.N. Thimmajamma, AIR 1959 SC 443 : 1959 Supp (1) SCR 426] , a three-Judge Bench of this Court traversed through the vistas of the issues related with execution and proof of will and enunciated a few fundamental guiding principles that have consistently been followed and applied in almost all the cases involving such issues. The synthesis and exposition by this Court in paras 18 to 22 of the said decision could be usefully reproduced as under : (AIR pp. 451-52)

"18. What is the true legal position in the matter of proof of wills? It is well known that the proof of wills presents a recurring topic for decision in courts and there are a large number of judicial pronouncements on the subject. The party propounding a will or otherwise making a claim under a will is no doubt seeking to prove a document and, in deciding how it is to be proved, we must inevitably refer to the statutory provisions which govern the proof of documents. Sections 67 and 68, Evidence Act are relevant for this purpose. Under Section 67, if a document is alleged to be signed by any person, the signature of the said person must be proved to be in his handwriting, and for proving such a handwriting under Sections 45 and 47 of the Act the opinions of experts and of persons acquainted with the handwriting of the person concerned are made relevant. Section 68 deals with the proof of the execution of the document required by law to be attested; and it provides that such a document shall not be used as evidence until one attesting witness at least has been called for the purpose of proving its execution. These provisions prescribe the requirements and the nature of proof which must be satisfied by the party who relies on a document in a court of law. Similarly, Sections 59 and 63 of the Indian Succession Act are also relevant. Section 59 provides that every person of sound mind, not being a minor, may dispose of his property by will and the three illustrations to this section indicate what is meant by the expression "a person of sound mind" in the context. Section 63 requires that the testator shall sign or affix his mark to the will or it shall be signed by some other person in his presence and by his direction and that the signature or mark shall be so made that it shall appear that it was intended thereby to give effect to the writing as a will. This section also requires that the will shall be attested by two or more witnesses as prescribed. Thus the question as to whether the will set up by the propounder is proved to be the last will of the testator has to be decided in the light of these provisions. Has the testator signed the will? Did he understand the nature and effect of the dispositions in the will? Did he put his signature to the will knowing what it contained? Stated broadly it is the decision of these questions which determines the nature of the finding on the question of the proof of wills. It would prima facie be true to say that the will has to be proved like any other document except as to the special requirements of attestation prescribed by Section 63 of the Indian Succession Act. As in the case of proof of other documents so in the case of proof of wills it would be idle to expect proof with mathematical certainty. The test to be applied would be the usual test of the satisfaction of the prudent mind in such matters.

19. However, there is one important feature which distinguishes wills from other documents. Unlike other documents the will speaks from the death of the testator, and so, when it is propounded or produced before a Court, the testator who has already departed the world cannot say whether it is his will or not; and this aspect naturally introduces an element of solemnity in the decision of the question as to whether the document propounded is proved to be the last will and testament of the departed testator. Even so, in dealing with the proof of wills the Court will start on the same enquiry as in the case of the proof of documents. The propounder would be called upon to show by satisfactory evidence that the will was signed by the testator, that the testator at the relevant time was in a sound and disposing state of mind, that he understood the nature and effect of the dispositions and put his signature to the document of his own free will. Ordinarily when the evidence adduced in support of the will is disinterested, satisfactory and sufficient to prove the sound and disposing state of the testator's mind and his signature as required by law, Courts would be justified in making a finding in favour of the propounder. In other words, the onus on the propounder can be taken to be discharged on proof of the essential facts just indicated.

20. There may, however, be cases in which the execution of the will may be surrounded by suspicious circumstances. The alleged signature of the testator may be very shaky and doubtful and evidence in support of the propounder's case that the signature in question is the signature of the testator may not remove the doubt created by the appearance of the signature; the condition of the testator's mind may appear to be very feeble and debilitated; and evidence adduced may not succeed in removing the legitimate doubt as to the mental capacity of the testator; the dispositions made in the will may appear to be unnatural, improbable or unfair in the light of relevant circumstances; or, the will may otherwise indicate that the said dispositions may not be the result of the testator's free will and mind. In such cases the Court would naturally expect that all legitimate suspicions should be completely removed before the document is accepted as the last will of the testator. The presence of such suspicious circumstances naturally tends to make the initial onus very heavy; and, unless it is satisfactorily discharged, Courts would be reluctant to treat the document as the last will of the testator. It is true that, if a caveat is filed alleging the exercise of undue influence, fraud or coercion in respect of the execution of the will propounded, such pleas may have to be proved by the caveators; but, even without such pleas circumstances may raise a doubt as to whether the testator was acting of his own free will in executing the will, and in such circumstances, it would be a part of the initial onus to remove any such legitimate doubts in the matter.

21. Apart from the suspicious circumstances to which we have just referred in some cases the wills propounded disclose another infirmity. Propounders themselves take a prominent part in the execution of the wills which confer on them substantial benefits. If it is shown that the propounder has taken a prominent part in the execution of the will and has received substantial benefit under it, that itself is generally treated as a suspicious circumstance attending the execution of the will and the propounder is required to remove the said suspicion by clear and satisfactory evidence. It is in connection with wills that present such suspicious circumstances that decisions of English Courts often mention the test of the satisfaction of judicial conscience. It may be that the reference to judicial conscience in this connection is a heritage from similar observations made by ecclesiastical Courts in England when they exercised jurisdiction with reference to wills; but any objection to the use of the word "conscience" in this context would, in our opinion, be purely technical and academic, if not pedantic. The test merely emphasises that, in determining the question as to whether an instrument produced before the Court is the last will of the testator, the Court is deciding a solemn question and it must be fully satisfied that it had been validly executed by the testator who is no longer alive.

22. It is obvious that for deciding material questions of fact which arise in applications for probate or in actions on wills, no hard-and-fast or inflexible rules can be laid down for the appreciation of the evidence. It may, however, be stated generally that a propounder of the will has to prove the due and valid execution of the will and that if there are any suspicious circumstances surrounding the execution of the will the propounder must remove the said suspicions from the mind of the Court by cogent and satisfactory evidence. It is hardly necessary to add that the result of the application of these two general and broad principles would always depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case and on the nature and quality of the evidence adduced by the parties. It is quite true that, as observed by Lord Du Parcq in Harmes v. Hinkson [Harmes v. Hinkson, 1946 SCC OnLine PC 20 : AIR 1946 PC 156 : (1945-46) 50 CWN 895] , "where a will is charged with suspicion, the rules enjoin a reasonable scepticism, not an obdurate persistence in disbelief. They do not demand from the Judge, even in circumstances of grave suspicion, a resolute and impenetrable incredulity. He is never required to close his mind to the truth". It would sound platitudinous to say so, but it is nevertheless true that in discovering truth even in such cases the judicial mind must always be open though vigilant, cautious and circumspect."

24.2. In Purnima Debi [Purnima Debi v. Kumar Khagendra Narayan Deb, (1962) 3 SCR 195 : AIR 1962 SC 567] ,

this Court referred to the aforementioned decision in H. Venkatachala Iyengar [H. Venkatachala Iyengar v. B.N. Thimmajamma, AIR 1959 SC 443 : 1959 Supp (1) SCR 426] and further explained the principles which govern the proving of a will as follows : (Purnima Debi case [Purnima Debi v. Kumar Khagendra Narayan Deb, (1962) 3 SCR 195 : AIR 1962 SC 567] , AIR p. 569, para 5)

"5. Before we consider the facts of this case it is well to set out the principles which govern the proving of a will. This was considered by this Court in H. Venkatachala Iyengar v. B.N. Thimmajamma [H. Venkatachala Iyengar v. B.N. Thimmajamma, AIR 1959 SC 443 : 1959 Supp (1) SCR 426] . It was observed in that case that the mode of proving a will did not ordinarily differ from that of proving any other document except as to the special requirement of attestation prescribed in the case of a will by Section 63 of the Indian Succession Act. The onus of proving the will was on the propounder and in the absence of suspicious circumstances surrounding the execution of the will proof of testamentary capacity and signature of the testator as required by law was sufficient to discharge the onus. Where, however, there were suspicious circumstances, the onus would be on the propounder to explain them to the satisfaction of the Court before the will could be accepted as genuine. If the caveator alleged undue influence, fraud or coercion, the onus would be on him to prove the same. Even where there were no such pleas but the circumstances gave rise to doubts, it was for the propounder to satisfy the conscience of the Court. Further, what are suspicious circumstances was also considered in this case. The alleged signature of the testator might be very shaky and doubtful and evidence in support of the propounder's case that the signature in question was the signature of the testator might not remove the doubt created by the appearance of the signature. The condition of the testator's mind might appear to be very feeble and debilitated and evidence adduced might not succeed in removing the legitimate doubt as to the mental capacity of the testator; the dispositions made in the will might appear to be unnatural, improbable or unfair in the light of relevant circumstances; or the will might otherwise indicate that the said dispositions might not be the result of the testator's free will and mind. In such cases, the Court would naturally expect that all legitimate suspicions should be completely removed before the document was accepted as the last will of the testator. Further, a propounder himself might take a prominent part in the execution of the will which conferred on him substantial benefits. If this was so it was generally treated as a suspicious circumstance attending the execution of the will and the propounder was required to remove the doubts by clear and satisfactory evidence. But even where there were suspicious circumstances and the propounder succeeded in removing them, the Court would grant probate, though the will might be unnatural and might cut off wholly or in part near relations." (emphasis supplied)

24.3. In Indu Bala Bose [Indu Bala Bose v. Manindra Chandra Bose, (1982) 1 SCC 20] , this Court again said : (SCC pp. 22-23, paras 7-8)

"7. This Court has held that the mode of proving a will does not ordinarily differ from that of proving any other document except to the special requirement of attestation prescribed in the case of a will by Section 63 of the Succession Act. The onus of proving the will is on the propounder and in the absence of suspicious circumstances surrounding the execution of the will, proof of testamentary capacity and the signature of the testator as required by law is sufficient to discharge the onus. Where however there are suspicious circumstances, the onus is on the propounder to explain them to the satisfaction of the court before the court accepts the will as genuine. Even where circumstances give rise to doubts, it is for the propounder to satisfy the conscience of the court. The suspicious circumstances may be as to the genuineness of the signatures of the testator, the condition of the testator's mind, the dispositions made in the will being unnatural, improbable or unfair in the light of relevant circumstances, or there might be other indications in the will to show that the testator's mind was not free. In such a case the court would naturally expect that all legitimate suspicions should be completely removed before the document is accepted as the last will of the testator. If the propounder himself takes a prominent part in the execution of the will which confers a substantial benefit on him, that is also a circumstance to be taken into account, and the propounder is required to remove the doubts by clear and satisfactory evidence. If the propounder succeeds in removing the suspicious circumstances the court would grant probate, even if the will might be unnatural and might cut off wholly or in part near relations. [Ed. : See Shashi Kumar Banerjee v. Subodh Kumar Banerjee, AIR 1964 SC 529; H. Venkatachala Iyengar v. B.N. Thimmajamma, AIR 1959 SC 443 : 1959 Supp (1) SCR 426; Rani Purnima Devi v. Kumar Khagendra Narayan Dev, AIR 1962 SC 567 : (1962) 3 SCR 195]

8. Needless to say that any and every circumstance is not a "suspicious" circumstance. A circumstance would be "suspicious" when it is not normal or is not normally expected in a normal situation or is not expected of a normal person."

24.4. We may also usefully refer to the principles enunciated in Jaswant Kaur [Jaswant Kaur v. Amrit Kaur, (1977) 1 SCC 369] for dealing with a will shrouded in suspicion, as follows : (SCC p. 373, para 9)

"9. In cases where the execution of a will is shrouded in suspicion, its proof ceases to be a simple lis between the plaintiff and the defendant. What, generally, is an adversary proceeding becomes in such cases a matter of the court's conscience and then the true question which arises for consideration is whether the evidence led by the propounder of the will is such as to satisfy the conscience of the court that the will was duly executed by the testator. It is impossible to reach such satisfaction unless the party which sets up the will offers a cogent and convincing explanation of the suspicious circumstances surrounding the making of the will."

24.5. In Uma Devi Nambiar [Uma Devi Nambiar v. T.C. Sidhan, (2004) 2 SCC 321] , this Court extensively reviewed the case law dealing with a will, including the Constitution Bench decision of this Court in Shashi Kumar Banerjee v. Subodh Kumar Banerjee [Shashi Kumar Banerjee v. Subodh Kumar Banerjee, AIR 1964 SC 529] , and observed that mere exclusion of the natural heirs or giving of lesser share to them, by itself, will not be considered to be a suspicious circumstance. This Court observed, inter alia, as under : (Uma Devi Nambiar case [Uma Devi Nambiar v. T.C. Sidhan, (2004) 2 SCC 321] , SCC pp. 332-34, paras 15-16)

"15. Section 63 of the Act deals with execution of unprivileged wills. It lays down that the testator shall sign or shall affix his mark to the will or it shall be signed by some other person in his presence and by his direction. It further lays down that the will shall be attested by two or more witnesses, each of whom has seen the testator signing or affixing his mark to the will or has seen some other person sign the will, in the presence and by the direction of the testator and each of the witnesses shall sign the will in the presence of the testator. Section 68 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (in short "the Evidence Act") mandates examination of one attesting witness in proof of a will, whether registered or not. The law relating to the manner and onus of proof and also the duty cast upon the court while dealing with a case based upon a will has been examined in considerable detail in several decisions [H. Venkatachala Iyengar v. B.N. Thimmajamma, AIR 1959 SC 443 : 1959 Supp (1) SCR 426] , [Purnima Debi v. Kumar Khagendra Narayan Deb, (1962) 3 SCR 195 : AIR 1962 SC 567] , [Shashi Kumar Banerjee v. Subodh Kumar Banerjee, AIR 1964 SC 529] of this Court. ... A Constitution Bench of this Court in Shashi Kumar Banerjee case [Shashi Kumar Banerjee v. Subodh Kumar Banerjee, AIR 1964 SC 529] succinctly indicated the focal position in law as follows : (AIR p. 531, para 4)

"4. ... The mode of proving a will does not ordinarily differ from that of proving any other document except as to the special requirement of attestation prescribed in the case of a will by Section 63 of the Indian Succession Act. The onus of proving the will is on the propounder and in the absence of suspicious circumstances surrounding the execution of the will, proof of testamentary capacity and the signature of the testator as required by law is sufficient to discharge the onus. Where however there are suspicious circumstances, the onus is on the propounder to explain them to the satisfaction of the court before the court accepts the will as genuine. Where the caveator alleges undue influence, fraud and coercion, the onus is on him to prove the same. Even where there are no such pleas but the circumstances give rise to doubts, it is for the propounder to satisfy the conscience of the court. The suspicious circumstances may be as to the genuineness of the signature of the testator, the condition of the testator's mind, the dispositions made in the will being unnatural, improbable or unfair in the light of relevant circumstances or there might be other indications in the will to show that the testator's mind was not free. In such a case the court would naturally expect that all legitimate suspicion should be completely removed before the document is accepted as the last will of the testator. If the propounder himself takes part in the execution of the will which confers a substantial benefit on him, that is also a circumstance to be taken into account, and the propounder is required to remove the doubts by clear and satisfactory evidence. If the propounder succeeds in removing the suspicious circumstances the court would grant probate, even if the will might be unnatural and might cut off wholly or in part near relations.'

16. A will is executed to alter the ordinary mode of succession and by the very nature of things, it is bound to result in either reducing or depriving the share of natural heirs. If a person intends his property to pass to his natural heirs, there is no necessity at all of executing a will. It is true that a propounder of the will has to remove all suspicious circumstances.

Suspicion means doubt, conjecture or mistrust. But the fact that natural heirs have either been excluded or a lesser share has been given to them, by itself without anything more, cannot be held to be a suspicious circumstance especially in a case where the bequest has been made in favour of an offspring. As held in P.P.K. Gopalan Nambiar v. P.P.K. Balakrishnan Nambiar [P.P.K. Gopalan Nambiar v. P.P.K. Balakrishnan Nambiar, 1995 Supp (2) SCC 664] , it is the duty of the propounder of the will to remove all the suspected features, but there must be real, germane and valid suspicious features and not fantasy of the doubting mind. It has been held that if the propounder succeeds in removing the suspicious circumstances, the court has to give effect to the will, even if the will might be unnatural in the sense that it has cut off wholly or in part near relations. ... In Rabindra Nath Mukherjee v. Panchanan Banerjee [Rabindra Nath Mukherjee v. Panchanan Banerjee, (1995) 4 SCC 459] , it was observed that the circumstance of deprivation of natural heirs should not raise any suspicion because the whole idea behind execution of the will is to interfere with the normal line of succession and so, natural heirs would be debarred in every case of will. Of course, it may be that in some cases they are fully debarred and in some cases partly."

24.6. In Mahesh Kumar [Mahesh Kumar v. Vinod Kumar, (2012) 4 SCC 387 : (2012) 2 SCC (Civ) 526] , this Court indicated the error of approach on the part of the High Court while appreciating the evidence relating to the will as follows : (SCC pp. 405-06, paras 44-46)

"44. The issue which remains to be examined is whether the High Court was justified in coming to the conclusion that the execution of the will dated 10-2-1992 was shrouded with suspicion and the appellant failed to dispel the suspicion? At the outset, we deem it necessary to observe that the learned Single Judge misread the statement of Sobhag Chand (DW 3) and recorded something which does not appear in his statement. While Sobhag Chand categorically stated that he had signed as the witness after Shri Harishankar had signed the will, the portion of his statement extracted in the impugned judgment gives an impression that the witnesses had signed even before the executant had signed the will.

45. Another patent error committed by the learned Single Judge is that he decided the issue relating to validity of the will by assuming that both the attesting witnesses were required to append their signatures simultaneously. Section 63(c) of the 1925 Act does not contain any such requirement and it is settled law that examination of one of the attesting witnesses is sufficient. Not only this, while recording an adverse finding on this issue, the learned Single Judge omitted to consider the categorical statements made by DW 3 and DW 4 that the testator had read out and signed the will in their presence and thereafter they had appended their signatures.

46. The other reasons enumerated by the learned Single Judge for holding that the execution of the will was highly suspicious are based on mere surmises/conjectures. The observation of the learned Single Judge that the possibility of obtaining signatures of Shri Harishankar and attesting witnesses on blank paper and preparation of the draft by Shri S.K. Agarwal, Advocate on pre-signed papers does not find even a semblance of support from the pleadings and evidence of the parties. If Respondent 1 wanted to show that the will was drafted by the advocate after Shri Harishankar and the attesting witnesses had signed blank papers, he could have examined or at least summoned Shri S.K. Agarwal, Advocate, who had represented him before the Board of Revenue."

24.7. Another decision cited on behalf of the appellant in Leela Rajagopal [Leela Rajagopal v. Kamala Menon Cocharan, (2014) 15 SCC 570 : (2015) 4 SCC (Civ) 267] may also be referred wherein this Court summarised the principles that ultimately, the judicial verdict in relation to a will and suspicious circumstances shall be on the basis of holistic view of the matter with consideration of all the unusual features and suspicious circumstances put together and not on the impact of any single feature. This Court said : (SCC p. 576, para 13)

"13. A will may have certain features and may have been executed in certain circumstances which may appear to be somewhat unnatural. Such unusual features appearing in a will or the unnatural circumstances surrounding its execution will definitely justify a close scrutiny before the same can be accepted. It is the overall assessment of the court on the basis of such scrutiny; the cumulative effect of the unusual features and circumstances which would weigh with the court in the determination required to be made by it. The judicial verdict, in the last resort, will be on the basis of a consideration of all the unusual features and suspicious circumstances put together and not on the impact of any single feature that may be found in a will or a singular circumstance that may appear from the process leading to its execution or registration. This, is the essence of the repeated pronouncements made by this Court on the subject including the decisions referred to and relied upon before us."

24.8. We need not multiply the references to all and other decisions cited at the Bar, which essentially proceed on the aforesaid principles while applying the same in the given set of facts and circumstances. Suffice would be to point out that in a recent decision in Shivakumar v. Sharanabasappa [Shivakumar v. Sharanabasappa, (2021) 11 SCC 277] , this Court, after traversing through the relevant decisions, has summarised the principles governing the adjudicatory process concerning proof of a will as follows : (SCC pp. 309-10, para 12)

"12. ... 12.1. Ordinarily, a will has to be proved like any other document; the test to be applied being the usual test of the satisfaction of the prudent mind. Alike the principles governing the proof of other documents, in the case of will too, the proof with mathematical accuracy is not to be insisted upon.

12.2. Since as per Section 63 of the Succession Act, a will is required to be attested, it cannot be used as evidence until at least one attesting witness has been called for the purpose of proving its execution, if there be an attesting witness alive and capable of giving evidence.

12.3. The unique feature of a will is that it speaks from the death of the testator and, therefore, the maker thereof is not available for deposing about the circumstances in which the same was executed. This introduces an element of solemnity in the decision of the question as to whether the document propounded is the last will of the testator. The initial onus, naturally, lies on the propounder but the same can be taken to have been primarily discharged on proof of the essential facts which go into the making of a will.

12.4. The case in which the execution of the will is surrounded by suspicious circumstances stands on a different footing. The presence of suspicious circumstances makes the onus heavier on the propounder and, therefore, in cases where the circumstances attendant upon the execution of the document give rise to suspicion, the propounder must remove all legitimate suspicions before the document can be accepted as the last will of the testator.

12.5. If a person challenging the will alleges fabrication or alleges fraud, undue influence, coercion et cetera in regard to the execution of the will, such pleas have to be proved by him, but even in the absence of such pleas, the very circumstances surrounding the execution of the will may give rise to the doubt or as to whether the will had indeed been executed by the testator and/or as to whether the testator was acting of his own free will. In such eventuality, it is again a part of the initial onus of the propounder to remove all reasonable doubts in the matter.

12.6. A circumstance is "suspicious" when it is not normal or is "not normally expected in a normal situation or is not expected of a normal person'. As put by this Court, the suspicious features must be "real, germane and valid" and not merely the "fantasy of the doubting mind".

12.7. As to whether any particular feature or a set of features qualify as "suspicious" would depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. A shaky or doubtful signature; a feeble or uncertain mind of the testator; an unfair disposition of property; an unjust exclusion of the legal heirs and particularly the dependants; an active or leading part in making of the will by the beneficiary thereunder et cetera are some of the circumstances which may give rise to suspicion. The circumstances abovenoted are only illustrative and by no means exhaustive because there could be any circumstance or set of circumstances which may give rise to legitimate suspicion about the execution of the will. On the other hand, any of the circumstances qualifying as being suspicious could be legitimately explained by the propounder. However, such suspicion or suspicions cannot be removed by mere proof of sound and disposing state of mind of the testator and his signature coupled with the proof of attestation.

12.8. The test of satisfaction of the judicial conscience comes into operation when a document propounded as the will of the testator is surrounded by suspicious circumstance(s). While applying such test, the court would address itself to the solemn questions as to whether the testator had signed the will while being aware of its contents and after understanding the nature and effect of the dispositions in the will?

12.9. In the ultimate analysis, where the execution of a will is shrouded in suspicion, it is a matter essentially of the judicial conscience of the court and the party which sets up the will has to offer cogent and convincing explanation of the suspicious circumstances surrounding the will."

33. In the instant case, it is stated that Will dated 26.06.1986 was duly proved by the witnesses namely Bachchu Lal and Bechan Lal. Accordingly, this Court considered the statements of these witnesses, which are on record.

34. From the statements of the witnesses namely Bachchu Lal and Bechan Lal produced before the Consolidation Authorities concerned, it is apparent that Bachchu Lal before the Consolidation Authority concerned specifically stated that one Narmatta brought the written Will, in issue, before him and after considering the thump impression of testator of the Will namely Kishun and signature of Jagganath (Up-Pradhan) and thump impression of Tulsiram (Panch), he put his signature over the Will. Thus, Bachchu Lal cannot be considered as an atttesting witness of the Will. The statement of Bechan Lal before the Consolidation Officer is also liable to be disbelieved as this witness was not intact. This witness before the Consolidation Authority concerned stated that the Will was written at 10 P.M., whereas, as per writer of Will namely Hari Prasad, the Will was written on 26.06.1986 at 7 P.M. He also stated that the Will was written in presence of one Bachchu Lal, whereas, Bachchu Lal during corss examination specifically stated that the Will was not written in his presence. Bechan Lal before the Authority concerned also stated that the testator of Will namely Kishun himself purchased the stamp for the Will, however, the stamp paper itself speaks that it was purchased by Ghuru, one of the beneficiaries. Thus, the testimony of this witness is not reliable and being so, the observations of the Consolidation Authorities in the orders impugned are justified and are not liable to be interfered with by this Court.

35. Having considered the aforesaid as also the observations made by the Hon'ble Apex Court and the relevant provisions of the Act of 1925 and the Act of 1872, this Court finds that the petitioners failed to prove the Will before the Consolidation Officer, as such, their claim based upon the Will is not justified. Accordingly, this Court is of the view that the findings recorded by the Consolidation Authorities concerned in the orders impugned herein are justified and are not liable to be interfered with by this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

36. For the foregoing reasons, the writ petition is dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Shyam Shamshery, J.)

1. The issue which requires consideration in present case is, "whether Prescribed Authority under Working Journalists and other Newspaper Employees (Conditions of Service) and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1955 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1955") can consider a claim filed by workmen under Section 17(1) of Act, 1955 despite the it being a disputed claim?"

2. Learned counsel for parties have not seriously disputed the legal position with regard to above referred issue that application by a newspaper employees is to be filed under sub-section (1) of Section 17 of Act, 1955 as per Rule 36 of Working Journalists (Conditions of Service) and Miscellaneous Provisions Rules, 1957 (hereinafter referred to as "Rules, 1957"). That application can be filed before State Government or such authority, as the State Government may specify in that behalf. Where there exists no dispute, the State Government or authority, so specified, upon being satisfied that any amount is so due, shall issue a certificate for that amount to Collector and Collector would, thereafter, recover that amount as an arrears of land revenue. Where a question or dispute arises then a reference is to be made to Labour Court for adjudication of dispute. After adjudicating the dispute, Labour Court has to forward its decision to State Government or authority which made the reference, upon which the amount is to be recovered in the manner provided by sub-section (1) of Section 17 of Act, 1955. Since Section 17, as a whole, creates a single seamless scheme, the State Government, in exercise of its power under sub-section (1) can specify an authority to do all acts which it has power to do under Section 17 of Act, 1955.

3. Respondents-workmen of petitioner-Company, i.e., Indian Express Pvt. Ltd., have claimed that they have provided their services even during period in question, i.e., 01.04.2020 to 28.02.2021, when the country was facing adverse situation due to Covid-19 Pandemic, however, still employer has deducted certain percentage of their monthly salary and since amount was pre-determined, therefore, Prescribed Authority under Section 17(1) of Act, 1955 has jurisdiction to allow claim.

4. Sri Sunil Kumar Tripathi, learned counsel for petitioner has vehemently argued that it is not the question about determination of amount deducted as there is no dispute that said amount was deducted. Question before Prescribed Authority was that when employer has come up with a case that deduction was legal and contrary to it respondents-workmen have submitted that it was an illegal deduction, therefore, a dispute arose about legality of deduction, which could not be decided by Prescribed Authority under Section 17(1) of Act, 1955 and correct procedure was to refer a reference to Labour Court for adjudication of dispute.

5. Learned counsel for petitioner has further submitted that petitioner has also challenged notification dated 29.03.2020 issued by Ministry of Home Affairs, New Delhi in exercise of powers conferred under Section 10(2)(I) of Disaster Management Act, 2005 that District Magistrate shall take measures that all the employees, be it in industry or in the shops and commercial establishments, shall make payment of wages of their workers, at their work places, on due date, without any deduction, for the period their establishments are under closure during lockdown.

6. Learned counsel has further submitted that impugned notification is arbitrary and without considering that employer has suffered financial loss due to irregular publication of newspapers and magazines during lockdown period, therefore, they cannot be forced not to deduct any salary. He, however, fairly submitted that direction in impugned notification was not considered either directly or indirectly in impugned order.

7. Sri Ramesh Chandra Tiwari, learned counsel for respondents-workmen, also vehemently argued that workmen have continuously worked even during the period of lockdown and thereafter also and ensured that publication may not be discontinued and that newspapers were published and circulated effectively initially through online mode and thereafter by physical circulation. Period of deduction of salary was beyond the lockdown period also. No reason was afforded prior to deduction and no prior notice was issued. Amount was not disputed as well as employer has not disputed that during relevant period publication was regular and in this regard he referred the finding returned in impugned order. Learned counsel also referred a gazette notification dated 12.11.2014 that Prescribed Authority has power to consider application filed under Section 17(1) of Act, 1955. In support of above submission learned counsel has placed reliance on Supreme Court's judgment in Ficus Fax Private Ltd. and others vs. Union of India and others (Writ Petition (C) Diary No. 10983 of 2020, decided on 20.06.2020 and this Court's judgment in Pradhan Prabandhak/ Uniot head M/s Amar Ujala vs. State of U.P. and others (Writ-C No. 11856 of 2018), decided on 31.05.2018.

8. Heard learned counsel for parties and perused the material available on record.

9. As referred above, position of law with regard to power under Section 17(1) of Act, 1955 is unambiguous that in case there is a dispute with regard to determination of amount the Prescribed Authority shall refer a reference to Labour Court.

10. In the present case, it is not in dispute that certain percentage of salary was deducted for relevant period, therefore, amount deducted was not in dispute. However, since a controversy was arose before Prescribed Authority that, whether or not employer has power to deduct the amount as well as whether or not deduction was legally permissible and for that parties before Prescribed Authority have exchanged pleadings and led oral evidence also. Prescribed Authority has entered into arena of disputed questions and considered pleadings and oral evidence and recorded a finding that since undisputedly publication was regular and respondents-workmen were working regularly, therefore, deduction was illegal or not permissible and proceeded to pass order against petitioner and in favour of respondents-workmen. Since Prescribed Authority has entered into arena of dispute to determine legality of deduction, therefore, it has acted beyond its jurisdiction provided under Section 17(1) of Act, 1955 and committed legal error by not making reference to Labour Court.

11. Accordingly, impugned order dated 07.12.2022 is hereby set aside. Prescribed Authority is directed to refer dispute to Labour Court within a period of two weeks from today in accordance with provisions of Act, 1955 for its determination. The Labour Court is also directed to conclude proceedings within a period of six months thereafter, subject to other business of Court.

12. Petitioner-Employer is also at liberty to have a meeting with respondents-workmen, who have supported their employer during Covid-19 Pandemic, to settle the dispute with regard to deduction of salary even beyond lockdown period and if possible refund a proximate money to them.

13. So far as challenge to notification dated 29.03.2020 is concerned, no reference was made during impugned proceedings and there is no challenge to power under which said notification was issued. Nothing has been brought on record that any adverse order has been passed in pursuance of said notification. Accordingly, prayer to quash notification dated 29.03.2020 is hereby rejected.

14. With aforesaid directions/ observations the writ petition is disposed of.

8. Uttamrao Shivdas Jankar Vs Ranjitsinh Vijaysinh Mohite Patil (2009) 13 SCC 131

(Delivered by Hon'ble Abdul Moin, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri Purusottam Awasthi, learned counsel for the respondent no. 2.

2. The instant petition has been filed praying for the following main relief:

"(i) Issue writ, order or direction in nature of certiorari, this Hon'ble Court may graciously be pleased to set aside / quash the impugned order dated 05.01.2023 passed by the opposite party no. 1 in revision no. 15/2022 (Murali Prasad Verma vs Smt Subodh Kanti and others) as contained in annexure no. 1 to this petition."

3. The case set forth by the petitioner is that the petitioner was declared elected as Gram Pradhan of Village Fatehur, Block Pargana and Tehsil Safipur, District Unnao in the elections of the year 2021. The respondent no. 2 was one of the candidates in the said election. The respondent no. 2 filed an election petition before the prescribed authority under provisions of Section 12C of the U.P. Panchayat Raj Act, 1947 (hereinafter referred to as the Act, 1947) challenging the election of the petitioner. The election petition was dismissed vide the order dated 23.05.2022, a copy of which is annexure 9 to the petition. The respondent no. 2, being aggrieved, filed a revision before the learned District Judge, Unnao vide Civil Revision No. 15 of 2022 in re: Murali Prasad Verma vs Subodh Kanti and others and learned revisional court vide the order impugned dated 05.01.2023, a copy of which is annexure 1 to the petition, set aside the order passed by the prescribed authority and remanded back the matter to the prescribed authority for deciding afresh in the light of the given directions.

4. The ground which prevailed on the revisional court in setting aside the order of the prescribed authority was that prior to passing of the order dated 23.05.2022 by the prescribed authority, no issues were framed. In this regard learned revisional Court has placed reliance on the judgement of Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Makhan Lal Bangal vs Manas Bhunia and others reported in (2001) 2 SCC 652.

5. Raising a challenge to the order impugned by which the revisional court has remanded the matter to prescribed authority for deciding afresh on the ground of non framing of issues, the argument is that framing of issues is not a sine qua non to an election petition being decided in as much as the provisions of Civil Procedure Code are not strictly applicable on an election petition filed under the provisions of the Act, 1947. In this regard reliance has been placed on judgements of Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Kailas vs Nanhku and others reported in (2005) 4 SCC 480, Kalyan Singh Chouhan vs C. P. Joshi reported in AIR 2011 Supreme Court 1127, Samar Singh vs Kedar Nath @ K. N. Singh and others reported in 1987 (supp) SCC 663, Tarlok Singh vs Municipal Corporation of Amritsar and another reported in (1986) 4 SCC 27 and K Venkateswara Rao and anothers vs Bekkam Narasimha Reddi and others reported in (1969) 1 SCR 679.

6. Placing reliance on the aforesaid judgments the argument is that in all the aforesaid cases Hon'ble the Apex Court has held that provisions of the C.P.C. are not strictly applicable in an election petition and consequently the order of the revisional court whereby the matter has been remanded to the prescribed authority simply on the ground that no issues were framed prior to the prescribed authority dismissing the election petition calls for interference by this Court.

7. On the other hand, Shri Purusottam Awasthi, learned counsel appearing for the respondent no. 2 contends that the provisions of the Act 1947 read with the rules which have been framed for deciding of the election petition namely the U.P. Panchayat Raj (Settlement of Election Disputes) Rules, 1994 (hereinafter referred to as the Rules 1994) categorically provide the manner in which hearing of an election petition is to take place. He contends that this aspect of the matter has been considered by this Court in the case of Kulsum vs State of U.P. and others reported in 2018 (8) ADJ 182 wherein this Court after placing reliance on the Supreme Court judgement in the case of Makhan Lal Bangal (supra) as well as Uttamrao Shivdas Jankar vs Ranjitsinh Vijaysinh Mohite Patil reported in (2009) 13 SCC 131 has held that the prescribed authority has to first frame issues prior to deciding of an election petition or prior to directing for recounting as was the case involved in the case of Kulsum (supra).

8. Placing reliance on the judgement of Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Makhan Lal Bangal (supra) the argument of Shri Purusottam Awasthi, learned counsel for the respondent no. 2 is that the Apex Court has categorically held that an election petition is like a civil trial and the stage of framing of issues is an important one in as much as on that day the scope of trial of the case is determined by laying a path on which the trial shall proceed excluding divergence and departure. The Apex Court has also held that the issues shall be framed and recorded on which the decision of the case shall depend.

9. Placing reliance on the aforesaid observations of Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Makhan Lal Bangal (supra) the argument of Shri Purusottam Awasthi, learned counsel for the respondent no. 2 is that unless and until the issues were framed by the prescribed authority on which the election petition filed by the respondent no. 2 was to be decided, the summary and cursory dismissal of the election petition filed by the respondent no. 2 could not be said to be in accordance with law and as such the learned revisional court has not erred in law in remitting back the matter to the prescribed authority for framing of issues and for deciding the election petition.

10. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

11. From a perusal of record it is apparent that upon the petitioner being declared elected as the Gram Pradhan of the village in question, an election petition was filed by the respondent no. 2 challenging the election of the petitioner. The prescribed authority, vide the order dated 23.05.2022 without admittedly framing issues, dismissed the election petition. The respondent no. 2, being aggrieved, filed a revision and the learned revisional court, vide order impugned dated 05.01.2023, after considering the law laid down by the Apex Court in the case of Makhan Lal Bangal (supra) and holding that as no issues have been framed by the prescribed authority prior to dismissing the election petition, has remitted back the matter to the prescribed authority for passing of a fresh order.

12. The issue for consideration before the Court is that as to whether framing of issues in an election petition is a sine qua non prior to deciding an election petition?

13. The said issue is no longer res-integra having been decided by a three judges bench of Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Makhan Lal Bangal (supra) where it has been held as under:

"An election petition is like a civil trial. The stage of framing the issues is an important one inasmuch as on that day the scope of the trial is determined by laying the path on which the trial shall proceed excluding diversions and departures therefrom. The date fixed for settlement of issues is, therefore, a date fixed for hearing. The real dispute between the parties is determined, the area of conflict is narrowed and the concave mirror held by the court reflecting the pleadings of the parties pinpoints into issues the disputes on which the 'two sides differ. The correct decision of civil lis largely depends on correct framing of issues, correctly determining the real points in controversy which need to be decided. The scheme of order XIV of the Code of Civil Procedure dealing with settlement of issues shows that an issue arises when a material proposition of fact or law is affirmed by one party and denied by the other. Each material proposition affirmed by one party and denied by other should form the subject of distinct issue. An obligation is cast on the court to read the plaint/petition and the written statement/counter, if any, and then determine with the assistance of the learned counsel for the parties, the material propositions of fact or of law on which the parties are at variance. The issues shall be framed and recorded on which the decision of the case shall depend. The parties and their counsel are bound to assist the court in the process of framing of issues. Duty of the counsel does not belittle the primary obligation cast on the court. It is for the Presiding Judge to exert himself so as to frame sufficiently expressive issues. An omission to frame proper issues may be a ground for remanding the case for retrial subject to prejudice having been shown to have resulted by the omission. The petition may be disposed of at the first hearing if it appears that the parties are not at issue on any material question of law or of fact and the court may at once pronounce the judgment. If the parties are at issue on some questions of law or of fact, the suit or petition shall be fixed for trial calling upon the parties to adduce evidence on issues of fact. The evidence shall be confined to issues and the pleadings. No evidence on controversies not covered by issues and the pleadings, shall normally be admitted, for each party leads evidence in support of issues the burden of proving which lies on him. The object of an issue is to tie down the evidence and arguments and decision to a particular question so that there may be no doubt on what the dispute is. The judgment, then proceeding issue-wise would be able to tell precisely how the dispute was decided."

14. Likewise Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Uttamrao Shivdas Jankar (supra) has held as under:

"48. In an election petition, the High Court acts as a Court of original jurisdiction and the election petition is a civil trial and the jurisdiction in such a trial, stricto sensu cannot be said to be appellate in nature. Clearly, the High Court acted illegally in treating its power only as an appellate authority and not as an original authority for it only proceeded to try and determine as to whether or not the decision making process is legal. That approach of the High court in our considered opinion was illegal and unjustified.

49. The High court was duty bound to treat the matter on merits by framing issues and thereafter calling for production of evidence in support of their respective cases. The High court should have examined the veracity of the rival claims based on the evidence produced by the parties and should have tested the correctness of the affidavits. The opinion of the hand writing expert in that regard would have been sufficient and on the basis of the same it could be possible for the High court to decide the entire lis between the parties. The High Court despite being the Court of original jurisdiction acted as a court of appellate jurisdiction and dismissed the petition without allowing the parties to produce evidence in support of their contention."

15. Considering the judgments of Hon'ble the Apex Court in the cases of Makhan Lal Bangal (supra) and K Venkateswara Rao (supra) this Court in the case of Kulsum (supra) has held as under:

"Therefore, in view of the law laid down by the Supreme Court in the case of Uttamrao Shivdas Jankar (supra) and Makhan Lal Bangal (supra), in my opinion, the order of the prescribed authority directing the recounting of votes without first framing of issues is wholly illegal and unsustainable in law and is accordingly, set aside."

(emphasis by the Court)

16. Thus from a perusal of the aforesaid judgments it emerges that while trying an election petition, the election tribunal is required to frame issues prior to deciding the election petition.

17. The Apex Court in the judgement of Kailash (supra), over which much reliance has been placed by learned counsel for the petitioner has held, while considering the provisions of Section 87(1) of the Representation of People Act, 1950 that the applicability of the procedure provided for the trial of elections petition is not attracted with all its rigidities and technicalities and the rules of procedure contained in C.P.C. apply to the trial of election petitions under the Act 1947 with flexibility and only as guidelines.

18. From a perusal of the provisions of the Act 1947 more particularly Section 12-C(5) it comes out that sub-section (5) of Section 12-C of the Act 1947 has provided that without prejudice to the generality of the powers to be prescribed under sub-section (4) of Section 12-C of the Act 1947, the rules may provide for summary hearing and disposal of an application under sub-section (1) of Section 12-C of the Act, 1947. Subsequent thereto, the Rules 1994 have been framed which give the procedure for hearing of the election petition. Nowhere do the rules or Act prohibit the election tribunal from framing issues prior to deciding the election petition which has been filed before it.

19. Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Kalyan Singh Chouhan (supra) over which reliance has been placed by the petitioner, after considering the earlier judgement of Kailash (supra), has held as under:

"24. Therefore, in view of the above, it is evident that the party to the election petition must plead the material fact and substantiate its averment by adducing sufficient evidence. The court cannot travel beyond the pleadings and the issue cannot be framed unless there are pleadings to raise the controversy on a particular fact or law. It is, therefore, not permissible for the court to allow the party to lead evidence which is not in the line of the pleadings. Even if the evidence is led that is just to be ignored as the same cannot be taken into consideration."

20. Thus, in effect the judgement of Kalyan Singh Chouhan (supra) supports the order passed by the revisional court instead of supporting the argument of learned counsel for the petitioner.

21. The case of Samar Singh (supra) was a case in which the Apex Court has held that where a complaint or an election petition does not disclose any cause of action it does not stand to reason as to why the defendants of the respondents should incur cost in wasting public time producing evidence when the proceedings can be disposed of on preliminary objections.

22. It is not the case of the petitioner, from the pleadings on record, that there were certain preliminary objections that were raised before the prescribed authority on which basis the election petition should have been dismissed summarily. Moreover, the judgement of Samar Singh (supra) does not pertain to an election petition and as such does not have relevance to the facts of the instant case.

23. The judgements of Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of K Venkateswara Rao (supra) and Tarlok Singh (supra) are judgements of two Hon'ble judges and obviously would have to give way to the three judges judgement of Makhan Lal Bangal (supra).

24. Keeping in view the aforesaid discussion as well as the judgments of Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Makhan Lal Bangal (supra) and Uttamrao Shivdas Jankar (supra) and the judgement of this Court in the case of Kulsum (supra), it is apparent that in an election petition filed under Section 12C of the Act 1947 the issues are to be framed by the prescribed authority unless the prescribed authority proceeds to dismiss the election petition on a preliminary objection raised on behalf of the respondents.

25. Keeping in view the aforesaid discussion, no illegality and infirmity is found with the order impugned, as such no interference is required in the order impugned. Accordingly, the writ petition is disposed of directing the prescribed authority to proceed to decide the matter in terms of the directions issued by the revisional court.

Writ C No. 2478 of 2022

M/S Radhika Constructions ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Mr. Shishir Chandra

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Mr. Tushar Verma

A. Civil Law - Mining - Illegal Mining - Uttar Pradesh Minor Minerals (Concessions) Rules, 1963 - Rule 58, 60 & 67 - Consequences of non-payment of royalty rent or other dues- State Government may terminate the mining lease after serving a notice on the lessee to pay within thirty days of the receipt of the notice any amount due to the State Government if it was not paid within fifteen days next after the date fixed for such payment - in the instant case thirty days from the date of notice expired on 11.05.2021 and fifteen days beyond the said date expired on 26.05.2021, however the order of cancellation was passed on 26.4.2021 before the expiry of the statutory period - Rule 58 flagrantly violated by the respondents in cancellation of the lease - Cancellation order set aside(Para 30)

B. Civil Law - Mining - Illegal Mining - Uttar Pradesh Minor Minerals (Concessions) Rules, 1963, Rule 58, 60, 67 - Consequences of contravention of rules and conditions of lease - If the allegations are of illegal mining beyond the leased area, the inspection report must provide the GPS coordinates of both the inspected area and the area beyond the lease alleged to have been illegally mined - It must be established that illegal mining had, in fact, been done on area beyond the leased area (Para 19, 23)

C. Civil Law - Illegal Mining - cancellation of the Mining lease licenses - Violation of Principles of Natural Justice - show cause notice issued to the petitioner contained only allegations of illegal mining recorded by the inspection team - culpability of the petitioner was decided solely on the inspection report, however, the inspection report was never supplied to the petitioner - inquiry proceedings were conducted in clear violation of the principles of natural justice, severely prejudicing the petitioner's defense - No other evidence or statements were recorded during the inquiry, and no documents were taken on record – the inspection report did not mention when and where the inspection was carried out, who was present, or whether it was conducted at the location allotted to the petitioner - there was no mention of GPS coordinates used for identifying the plot - There was no sufficient and cogent material linking the petitioner to the charge of illegal mining - cancellation order passed by the District Magistrate, without application of any mind at the dictates of the higher authority i.e. of Director, Mining and Geology - the grounds / defence taken by the petitioner in the reply have not even been considered either by the appellate or revisional authority rendering the impugned order illegal and arbitrary (Para 20, 23, 24)

D. Civil Law - Illegal Mining - cancellation of the Mining lease licenses - Bias - Dr. Roshan Jacob, who was the Director, Geology and Mining directed the District Magistrate to proceed against the petitioner and to cancel his mining lease, which order was duly complied - subsequently she herself as the revisional authority, against the order of cancellation of the mining lease, proceeded to hear and reject the revision - Held Revisional order hit by the vice of bias (Para 27)

2. Mustafa Vs .U.O.I., (2022) 1 SCC 294

1. Heard Mr. Shishir Chandra, learned counsel for the petitioner as well as Sri Rakesh Bajpai, learned Standing counsel, Sri Tushar Verma, Special Counsel and Sri Ramesh Kumar Singh, Additional Advocate General for the respondents.

2. By means of the present writ petition the petitioner has challenged the order dated 16.3.2022 passed by the State Government thereby rejecting the revision preferred by the petitioner against the cancellation of mining lease vide orer dated 26.4.2021 passed by District Magistrate, Banda.

FACTS OF THE CASE :-

3. The facts in brief necessary for adjudication of the present case are that the petitioner in response to an e-tender/e-auction for mining participated in the auction and his bid was adjudged to be the highest and lease deed was executed in favor of the petitioner on 6.6.2020 for the period from 6.6.2020 to 5.6.2025. After execution of the mining lease the petitioner started mining operations but suddenly the One Time Password (O.T.P.) was stopped by the District Magistrate, Banda on 19.3.2021. Subsequently, it is stated that an inspection was conducted by a team of officers of the Directorate, Mining and Geology, Uttar Pradesh between 13.3.2021 and 18.3.2021 and some allegations with regard to the irregularities pertaining to illegal mining were found correct and on the basis of the aforesaid inspection report a show cause notice was served on the petitioner on 22.3.2021. According to the said show cause notice issued by the District Magistrate, Banda it was mentioned that an inspection was conducted by a team where it has been found that the petitioner is involved in illegal mining and he has extracted minor minerals from the area not allotted to him and extracted mineral to a depth which was not permissible as per the lease deed. Accordingly, a notice was given as to why the lease be not cancelled. In the said show cause notice, penalty for the same offence has also been fixed as Rs.50,000/- and recovery of royalty for an amount of Rs.7,81,61,400/- has also been proposed in the said notice.

4. The petitioner in pursuance of the aforesaid show cause notice submitted reply on 30.3.2021 where they have denied the allegations leveled in the show cause notice and have stated that apart from the show cause notice no material was provided to the petitioner as directed by the court in the case of Ranveer Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2017 (1) ADJ 240 passed in writ C No.51986 of 2016 and further submitted that there was no credible evidence in support of the allegations and, hence, requested for setting aside the show cause notice.

5. After considering the reply of the petitioner the District Magistrate by means of its order dated 26th April, 2021 has cancelled the mining lease of the petitioner. While rejecting the reply of the petitioner the District Magistrate has recorded that the petitioner has extracted minor minerals from an area not allotted to him and extracted 12,970 cubic meters of sand/maurang in excess and 73,876 cubic meters illegally which fact has been reported by the Enforcement Team in its report dated 19.3.2021. He has further noticed that the petitioner was asked to deposit the amount of royalty of an amount of Rs.7,81,61,400/- but even the said amount has not been deposited by the petitioner and accordingly he was of the view that the said outstanding amount needs to be recovered from the petitioner along with penalty as provided under Rule 41 (H) (1) and 59 (2) of Uttar Pradesh Minor Minerals (Concessions) Rules, 1963. He has further considered the fact that the Director, Mining and Geology, Uttar Pradesh had constituted enforcement team for physical inspection which conducted the spot inspection on 14.3.2021 which submitted report on 19.3.2021 where it was found that the petitioner had conducted mining operations of an area 3.358 hect. and extracted 73,876 cubic meters of sand beyong the area allotted to him apart from other illegal mining alleged in the said order and even the bank of the river has been extracted to a depth which is beyond the prescribed limit. In this regard a first information report was also lodged against the petitioner.

6. The District Magistrate has relied upon the inspection report and has stated that the petitioner could not produce any evidence or prove his case contrary to the findings recorded by the inspection team and, hence, rejected the reply of the petitioner and proceeded to pass order for recovery of an amount of Rs.7,81,61,400/- and also cancelled the lease deed issued in favour of the petitioner and further placed him in black list for a period of two years.

7. The petitioner being aggrieved by the order of the District Magistrate dated 26th April, 2021 had preferred a revision before the State Government which has also been decided and rejected by means of the impugned order dated 16.3.2022. The revisional authority while rejecting the revision of the petitioner and passing the impugned order has noticed the fact that an inspection was carried out on which the mining lease was granted to the petitioner and certain allegations have come forth on the basis of which the show cause notice was given to the petitioner to which reply was submitted by him on 30.3.3021. The reply of the petitioner was not found satisfactory and merely on account of the fact that the allegations against the petitioner stood concluded by the inspection team no infirmity was found in the order of District Magistrate and accordingly the revision was rejected.

8. The petitioner in the present petition has assailed the cancellation of the lease deed as well as revisional order dated 16.3.2022 and the recovery as well.

GROUNDS OF CHALLENGE :-

9. Learned counsel for the petitioner has firstly submitted that no proper opportunity of hearing was given to the petitioner before passing the order of cancellation and recovery against the petitioner. In support of his submissions he has submitted that, in fact, no inspection was actually carried out and a perusal of the show cause notice dated 22.3.2021 would indicate that no material including the copy of inspection report was supplied to the petitioner along with the show cause notice and in absence of the relevant documents and material constituting the basis of the allegationsagainst the petitioner the entire proceedings was conducted in violation of the principles of natural justice and accordingly the same are illegal, arbitrary and deserve to be set aside.

10. Learned Standing counsel Sri Rakesh Bajpai, on the other hand, supporting the impugned orders submitted that a perusal of the show cause notice indicates that entire contents of the inspection report have been reproduced in the show cause notice. He does not dispute the fact that copy of the inspection report dated 19.3.2021 was never supplied to the petitioner.

11. Learned counsel for the petitioner has further submitted that the inspection report and all other relevant documents have been annexed by the State Government along with the counter affidavit. It is further submitted that the inspection report was submitted on 19.3.2021 to the Director, Mining and Geology, Government of Uttar Pradesh who by means of letter dated 20.3.2021 addressed to the District Magistrate, Banda forwarded a copy of the inspection report for proceedings against the petitioner. Along with the said report he had categorically given directions to the District Magistrate to pass orders as mentioned therein. The name of the petitioner finds mention at serial No.15 of the said letter where the District Magistrate was directed to register F.I.R. against the petitioner, cancel his mining lease and place his name in the black list and with regard to the allegations of illegal mining recovery be made from him. For the sake of convenience the directions of the Director are reproduced as under:-

''स्वीकृत क्षेत्र से बाहर एवं सटे खण्ड के क्षेत्र में अवैध खनन तथा अन्य अनियमितता पाये जाने पर पट्टेधारक के विरूद्ध थ्र दर्ज कराते हुए नियमानुसार पट्टा निरस्तीकरण एवं पट्टेधारक का नाम काली सूची में डाला जाय तथा अवैध खनन के विरूद्ध पट्टाधारक से नियमानुसार राजस्व क्षति की धनराशि वसूल किये जाने की कार्यवाही की जाय।

12. It has also been submitted by the petitioner that entire proceedings have been held without any application of mind by the District Magistrate and from a perusal of the directions issued by the Director, Mining and Geology, the District Magistrate, who is the subordinate to the Secretary (Mining and Geology) was duty bound to comply and, in fact, complied with the directions and consequently it is a clear case of bias and non application of mind by the District Magistrate.

13. Learned counsel for the petitioner has further assailed the impugned orders on the ground that the inspection was conducted by Team A with regard to 19 persons who were the lease holders of the lease licenses issued in their favour and in pursuance of inspection report dated 19.3.2021 action was taken against all the 19 persons and in all the cases the directions / dictates of the Director, Mining and Geology, as contained in his letter dated 20.3.2021 were duly followed and complied by the District Magistrate and the leases of all the persons included in the said list was cancelled. It is further stated that against all the cancellation orders the respective persons had filed revisions before the State Government which were again decided by the Director (Mining and Geology), the same officer who had authored the letter dated 20.3.2021 in his capacity as Secretary (Mining and Geology) of Government of Uttar Pradesh and rejected all the revisions except the revision of the revisionist at serial No.16, namely of VAR Enterprises Pvt. Ltd. A copy of the order passed in Revision No.128 (R)/SM/2021 filed by VAR Enterprises Pvt. Ltd has been annexed along with writ petition wherein on he basis of the same report the revision of VAR Enterprises Pvt. Ltd. has been allowed holding that the inspection report had clear infirmity and could not be relied upon and there is no material to indicate that the delinquent lease holder had, in fact, was involved or has indulged in any illegal mining and in the aforesaid circumstances, the Secretary, Government of Uttar Pradesh (Mining and Geology) in exercise of the power of the revisional authority on the basis of the same material allowed the said revision vide order dated 24.2.2022.

14. Learned counsel for the petitioner claims parity of the order dated 24.2.2022 and submits that the revisional authority has discriminated against the petitioner in as much as while considering the revision in the case of of VAR Enterprises Pvt. Ltd. on the basis of the same facts and for the same reason the revision of the petitioner has been dismissed.

15. Sri Rakesh Bajpai, per contra, has submitted that due opportunity of hearing was given to the petitioner before passing the impugned orders. He submits that as per the provisions contained under Rule 60 and 67 of Uttar Pradesh Minor Mineral (Concession) Rules, 1963 reasonable opportunity of hearing has to be given to the petitioner before passing any cancellation or blacklisting order. He submits that the inspection was conducted by the authority prescribed under the said Rules and according to the said inspection it can safely be stated that as per the inspection report the petitioner was found to have indulged in illegal mining and, hence, was subjected to show cause notice and it is only after receiving the reply to the said show cause notice that action has been taken in accordance with the provisions contained in the said Act for cancellation of the lease deed and for imposition of the penalty. He submits that due opportunity of hearing was given to the petitioner and consequently it cannot be said that the proceedings are dehors the law and thus supported the entire proceedings as well as the impugned orders. He has further vehemently submitted that not providing copy of the inspection report dated 19.3.2021 has not prejudiced the case of the petitioner nor prejudice has been caused to the petitioner by not supplying the inquiry report and, as such, it cannot be said that there is any violation of the principles of natural justice.

DISCUSSION :-

16. I have heard learned counsel for the respective parties and perused the record.

17. The State Government after receiving certain complaints with regard to illegal mining by various persons in District Banda proceeded to constitute three enforcement teams for inspecting various areas for which the lease was granted for the purpose of mining. The order dated 12.3.2021 passed by Director, Mining & Geology, which is on record, indicates that the said team consisted of three officers from the same department along with Surveyor. It is further submitted that the said teams conducted inspection and submitted their inspection reports on 19.3.2021 to the Director. In the said report only finding is limited to the extent of area which has been mined and the quantity of mineral extracted with regard to each of the leases has been indicated. It is further noticed that there is no mention in the said report as to when the said inspection was carried out or as to whether the lease holders were ever informed about the said inspection or the manner in which the inspection was carried out are some of the factors which did not find mention in the said inspection reports. The inspection report with regard to each of the license holders in an extremely cryptic manner has only recorded that the license holders are involved in illegal mining and the quantities have been mentioned which have been illegally extracted by all the lease holders.

18. Learned Standing counsel, on the other hand, has stated that the said inspection was carried out and entries made in the diary of the surveyorwhich have also included in the counter affidavit. It is noticed that only the surveyor has signed on the reprot. It is surprising that even if this fact is accepted that certain irregularities with regard to the petitioenr was found on 17.3.2021 why the remaining members of inspection team did not sign on the said survey report is one aspect whose answer has neither been given by the respondents in the counter affidavit nor has been satisfactorily responded by the Standing counsel and, therefore, the inspection itself becomes doubtful. It is on the basis of the said inspection report which was submitted to the Secretary, Mining and Geology that the entire proceedings have been conducted against the petitioner and also against all other lease holders. It is further noticed that as per lease deed dated 6th June, 2020 the petitioner was allotted following areas:-

B	25º43.350 N	80º 33.977 E
C	25º 43.074 N	80º 33.810 E
D	25º43.157 N	80º 33.701 E

19. Further, the said mining area was described with reference to the other plots on the North, South, East and West of the leased area which has been described therein. It is noticed that the inspection report only records that the petitioner has made excavation and extracted minor minerals from the areas outside the mining area. It is nowhere mentioned when and where the inspection was carried out, who were present during the inspection and most importantly whether the inspection was carried out at the location allotted to the petitioner is also doubtful as the plot is identifiable by G.P.S. Coordinates and there is no mention that G.P.S. Coordinates were used for identification of the plot. These are the essential facts which go to the root of the matter. If the allegations against the petitioner is that they have illegally mined beyond the leased area then it was the duty of the inquiry team to have identified/pointed out the same but there is no attempt to establish the case that illegal mining had, in fact, been done on area beyond the leased area. All these facts should have been given in detail as the report recorded a finding that the said extraction have been conducted in the area beyond the leased area then it should have been described by giving their coordinates in the inspection report which was not done.

20. It is in the aforesaid facts and circumstances that this Court is of the view that the allegations against the petitioner for illegal mining could not be clearly established and merely stating that large quantity of the minerals have been extracted by them would not ipso facto prove that the petitioner had been involved in illegal mining. It is the duty of the State to obtain and produce credible evidence in support of th eallegations to bring home the charges. The arguments in this regard have force, specially, relying on the judgment of this Court in the case of Ranveer Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2017 (1) ADJ 240 where this Court has held as under:-

"33. Once the liability was to be fastened on the shoulder of the petitioner, then it was the obligation of the State to prove by way of credible evidence available that it was the petitioner, who has indulged in illegal mining and in the said direction, apart from issuing show-cause notice, all the evidence that was sought to be relied upon, i.e., the incumbents who have carried out the search and survey and the incumbents who have come forward to depose against the petitioner their names ought to have been disclosed and they ought to have been produced to support the case of the State that petitioner, in fact, has indulged in illegal mining. Not only this, as a part of process, the petitioner was entitled to have reasonable opportunity of defending himself by questioning the veracity of evidence produced against him and by adducing his own evidence, if any. Decision maker is bound to act fairly, as under the scheme of things provided for the determination made by him will entail civil consequences, as qua the person charged with illegal mining, on charges being proved, financial liability would be shouldered and in contra situation, the State would be at loss."

21. It is further noticed that no further evidence was adduced during the proceedings apart from the inspection report which could indicate that the petitioner or the other persons were involved in illegal mining. No evidence in this regard has either been placed on record before this Court or during the course of inquiry conducted by the respondents culminating into cancellation of the lease licenses.

NON-SUPPLY OF DOCUMENT :-

22. With regard to non-supply of the inspection report in the present case, it is not disputed that show cause notice contained only allegations with regard to illegal mining as recorded by the inspection team. Copy of the inspection report was never supplied to the petitioner. Though there are several judgments including the judgments cited by the Standing counsel in the case of Gorkha Security Services Vs. Government (NCT of Delhi) and others, (2014) 9 Supreme Court Cases 105 where it has been held that in case inquiry report is not supplied to the delinquent then the proceedings would not ipso facto be illegal and arbitrary and in violation of principles of natural justice but delinquent will have to show that prejudice was caused to him by not supplying a copy of the inquiry report.

23. It is noticed that in the present case the proceedings have been conducted against the petitioner only on the basis of inspection report. Undisputedly, no other material was adduced during the said inquiry nor any evidence or statement was recorded during the inquiry. No documents were ever taken on record during the said inquiry and the culpability of the petitioner with regard to illegal mining and other allegations has been decided only on the basis of inspection report. Needless to say that the inspection report, in the present circumstances of the case, constitutes an essential material / document which ought to have been supplied to the petitioner as even in the impugned orders the petitioner has been held guilty of illegal mining relying upon the inspection report dated 19th March, 2021. Once it is noticed that action is taken solely on the basis of inspection report then non supply of the said report to the person against whom proceedings are to be carried out necessarily constitutes miscarriage of justice in as much as he has a right to receive all the material which constitutes the charge/allegations against him so as to adequately respond to the charges and defend himself effectively, while in the present case the only material/document on the basis of which the petitioner has been proceeded against has not been provided to him and, hence, it can be safely concluded that the inquiry proceedings against the petitioner in this regard are in clear violation of the principles of natural justice and the defence of the petitioner has been severely prejudiced. Even though the sum and substance of the allegations did find mention in the show cause notice but inspection report apart from establishing the allegations against the petitioner also does not explain about other aspects as to how and where (location) the inspection was conducted, as to in what manner the inspection was undertaken by the committee and as to whether the persons allegedly involved in the illegal mining were ever put to notice before conducting the said inspection, are certain factors which are very material facts for the persons, who have been proceeded against have a right to defend their actions and they have right to know all material facts and only thereafter ssail the said report. In absence of inspection report their defence was seriously prejudiced and as vested right has been snatched away which undoubtedly has civil consequences. It is not clear from perusal of the records as to what were the coordinates, where the inspection was conducted and merely recording that inquiry was conducted on the plots on which the lease has been executed are some of the factors which are necessarily to be proved by the prosecution before saddling the delinquent lease holders with penal consequences like cancellation of their leases and recovery of penalty. In the lease the area allottted for mining has been described with G.P.S. coordinates and, therefore, it was incumbent to provide the G.P.S. coordinates of the area on which inspectdion was carried out and also the coordinates of area beyond the leased area on which the petitioner has been alleged to hvae illegally mined. In absence of any cogent material or document the charge of illegal mining has sought to be proved. This Court is of the considered view that there was no sufficient cogent material linking the petitioner with the charge of illegal mining and as per the judgment of Ranveer Singh Vs. State of U.P. (supra), the onus on the State has not been discharged and consequently the proceedings against the petitioner only on the basis of inspectdion report is arbitrary.

BIAS :-

24. Apart from violation of the principles of natural justice, it is further noticed that the proceedings itself became doubtful the moment the Director, Geology & Mining directed the District Magistrate to proceed against the lease holders in a particular manner and to cancel the license and place them in black list. It would have been appropriate for the Director, Mining and Geology to have merely forwarded the inspection report and directed the competent authority i.e. the District Magistrate to proceed in accordance with law after giving reasonable opportunity of hearing to the lease holders but by specifically directing the District Magistrate to proceed to cancel the lease of the petitioner and other similarly situated persons and put them under the black list, clearly reveals that the respondents had premeditated and preordained the result of the inquiry proceedings which the District Magistrate obediently complied with and, hence, the cancellation order has been passed without application of any mind and at the dictates of the higher authority and a perusal of the same clearly indicates that the grounds / defence taken by the petitioner in the reply have not even been considered either by the appellate or revisional authority rendering the impugned orders illegal and arbitrary.

25. While assailing the impugned order dated 16.03.2022 passed in revision by the Secretary, Government of U.P. it is submitted that the same has been decided by Dr. Roshan Jacob, who was also holding the charge of Director, Geology & Mining at the time when she had issued later dated 20.03.2021 whereby clear directions were issued to the District Magistrate to proceed against and to blacklist him. To consider the argument regarding bias, it would be fruitful to consider the rendition of the Supreme Court in this regard.

36.More appropriate for our case would be an earlier decision inG. Saranav.University of Lucknow[G. Saranav.University of Lucknow, (1976) 3 SCC 585 : 1976 SCC (L&S) 474] , wherein a similar question had come up for consideration before a three-Judge Bench of this Court as the petitioner, after having appeared before the selection committee and on his failure to get appointed, had challenged the selection result pleading bias against him by three out of five members of the selection committee. He also challenged constitution of the committee. Rejecting the challenge, this Court had held : (SCC p. 591, para 15)

"15. We do not, however, consider it necessary in the present case to go into the question of the reasonableness of bias or real likelihood of bias as despite the fact that the appellant knew all the relevant facts, he did not before appearing for the interview or at the time of the interview raise even his little finger against the constitution of the Selection Committee. He seems to have voluntarily appeared before the committee and taken a chance of having a favourable recommendation from it. Having done so, it is not now open to him to turn round and question the constitution of the committee. This view gains strength from a decision of this Court inManak Lal case[Manak Lalv.Prem Chand Singhvi, AIR 1957 SC 425] where in more or less similar circumstances, it was held that the failure of the appellant to take the identical plea at the earlier stage of the proceedings created an effective bar of waiver against him. The following observations made therein are worth quoting : (AIR p. 432, para 9)

"9. ... It seems clear that the appellant wanted to take a chance to secure a favourable report from the tribunal which was constituted and when he found that he was confronted with an unfavourable report, he adopted the device of raising the present technical point.' "

37.The aforesaid judgment inG. Sarana[G. Saranav.University of Lucknow, (1976) 3 SCC 585 : 1976 SCC (L&S) 474] was referred inMadras Institute of Development Studiesv.K. Sivasubramaniyan[Madras Institute of Development Studiesv.K. Sivasubramaniyan, (2016) 1 SCC 454 : (2016) 1 SCC (L&S) 164] , in which selection to the post of Assistant Professor was challenged on the ground that shortlisting of candidates was contrary to the Faculty Recruitment Rules. The challenge was declined on the ground of estoppel as the respondent, without raising any objection to the alleged variations in the contents of the advertisement and the Rules, had submitted his application and participated in the selection process by appearing before the committee of experts.

38.Equally appropriate would be a reference to the decision of this Court inP.D. Dinakaran (1)v.Judges Inquiry Committee[P.D. Dinakaran (1)v.Judges Inquiry Committee, (2011) 8 SCC 380] , in which the allegation was that one of the members of the committee constituted by the Chairman of the Council of States (Rajya Sabha) under Section 3(2) of the Judges (Inquiry) Act, 1968 was biased. This judgment extensively recites and assimilates from both domestic and foreign judgments on the question of bias and prejudice and quotes the following observations inG. Sarana[G. Saranav.University of Lucknow, (1976) 3 SCC 585 : 1976 SCC (L&S) 474] case : (G. Sarana case[G. Saranav.University of Lucknow, (1976) 3 SCC 585 : 1976 SCC (L&S) 474] , SCC p. 590, para 11)

"11. ... the real question is not whether a member of an administrative board while exercising quasi-judicial powers or discharging quasi-judicial functions was biased, for it is difficult to probe the mind of a person. What has to be seen is whether there is a reasonable ground for believing that he was likely to have been biased. In deciding the question of bias, human probabilities and ordinary course of human conduct have to be taken into consideration."

39.Thereafter, reference is made to*Ashok Kumar Yadavv.State of Haryana[Ashok Kumar Yadavv.State of Haryana, (1985) 4 SCC 417 : 1986 SCC (L&S) 88]* , which refers to the Constitution Bench judgment in*A.K. Kraipakv.Union of India[A.K. Kraipakv.Union of India, (1969) 2 SCC 262] .Ashok Kumar Yadav[Ashok Kumar Yadavv.State of Haryana, (1985) 4 SCC 417 : 1986 SCC (L&S) 88]* was a case of selection by UPSC and following extract from this judgment is of some significance : (Ashok Kumar Yadav case[Ashok Kumar Yadavv.State of Haryana, (1985) 4 SCC 417 : 1986 SCC (L&S) 88] , SCC pp. 442-43, para 18)

"18. We must straightaway point out thatA.K. Kraipak[A.K. Kraipakv.Union of India, (1969) 2 SCC 262] is a landmark in the development of administrative law and it has contributed in a large measure to the strengthening of the rule of law in this country. We would not like to whittle down in the slightest measure the vital principle laid down in this decision which has nourished the roots of the rule of law and injected justice and fair play into legality. There can be no doubt that if a Selection Committee is constituted for the purpose of selecting candidates on merits and one of the members of the Selection Committee is closely related to a candidate appearing for the selection, it would not be enough for such member merely to withdraw from participation in the interview of the candidate related to him but he must withdraw altogether from the entire selection process and ask the authorities to nominate another person in his place on the Selection Committee, because otherwise all the selections made would be vitiated on account of reasonable likelihood of bias affecting the process of selection. But the situation here is a little different because the selection of candidates to the Haryana Civil Service (Executive) and Allied Services is being made not by any Selection Committee constituted for that purpose but it is being done by the Haryana Public Service Commission which is a Commission set up under Article 316 of the Constitution. It is a Commission which consists of a Chairman and a specified number of members and is a constitutional authority. We do not think that the principle which requires that a member of a Selection Committee whose close relative is appearing for selection should decline to become a member of the Selection Committee or withdraw from it leaving it to the appointing authority to nominate another person in his place, need be applied in case of a constitutional authority like the Public Service Commission, whether Central or State. If a member of a Public Service Commission were to withdraw altogether from the selection process on the ground that a close relative of his is appearing for selection, no other person save a member can be substituted in his place. And it may sometimes happen that no other member is available to take the place of such member and the functioning of the Public Service Commission may be affected. When two or more members of a Public Service Commission are holding a viva voce examination, they are functioning not as individuals but as the Public Service Commission. Of course, we must make it clear that when a close relative of a member of a Public Service Commission is appearing for interview, such member must withdraw from participation in the interview of that candidate and must not take part in any discussion in regard to the merits of that candidate and even the marks or credits given to that candidate should not be disclosed to him."

40."Real likelihood test" applied inRanjit Thakurv.Union of India[Ranjit Thakurv.Union of India, (1987) 4 SCC 611 : 1988 SCC (L&S) 1] , is elucidated in the following words : (SCC pp. 617-18, paras 15-17)

"15. ... The test of real likelihood of bias is whether a reasonable person, in possession of relevant information, would have thought that bias was likely and whether Respondent 4 was likely to be disposed to decide the matter only in a particular way.

16. It is the essence of a judgment that it is made after due observance of the judicial process; that the court or tribunal passing it observes, at least the minimal requirements of natural justice; is composed of impartial persons acting fairly and without bias and in good faith. A judgment which is the result of bias or want of impartiality is a nullity and the trial "coram non judice"....

17. As to the tests of the likelihood of bias what is relevant is the reasonableness of the apprehension in that regard in the mind of the party. The proper approach for the Judge is not to look at his own mind and ask himself, however, honestly, "Am I biased?"; but to look at the mind of the party before him."

27. In light of the settled law and the pronouncements of the Supreme Court on bias, examining the facts of the present case, this Court is of the view that Dr. Roshan Jacob, who was also the Director, Geology and Mining had directed the District Magistrate to proceed against the petitioner and to cancel his mining lease, which order was duly complied, and subsequently she herself as the revisional authority against the order of cancellation of the mining lease proceeded to hear and reject the revision, which order would certainly be hit by the vice of bias. It is the particular officer who initiated proceedings against the petitioner and other similarly situated persons, who can be said to have already made up her mind with regard to the penalty to be imposed upon the petitioner which is evident from her letter dated 20.03.2021 and further proceeded to decide the revision and, therefore, she was a Judge of her own cause deciding a matter which was initiated by her and also the revision challenging the order of District Magistrate which was passed on her dictates.The ground of bias squarely applies to the facts of the present case and the order dated 16.03.2022 rejecting the revision is clearly illegal, arbitrary and is hit with vice of bias.

28. This Court has also examined the revisional order passed in the case of VAR Enterprises Private Limited in Revision No.128 (R)/SM/2021. It is noticed that the revisionist therein was also confronted with the same inspection report where he was also held guilty of illegal mining in an area beyond the leased area allotted to him. The revisional authority has allowed the revision only on the ground that there is no material to indicate that the lease holder was, in fact, involved in or has indulged in illegal mining. It is clear that the same revisional authority in one case has sought to distinguish the inspection report and declined to fasten any liability upon VAR Enterprises Private Limited while on the basis of the same material have held the petitioner to be guilty of illegal mining. This clearly shows the discriminatory nature in which the impugned order of punishment has been passed and, as such, the action of the administrative authority cannot be sustained.

VIOLATIONS OF RULE 58 OF THE RULES OF 1963 :-

29. The impugned order has also been assailed on the ground that the same is in violation of Rule 58 of the Rules of 1963. By means of the impugned order the District Magistrate has passed final orders in pursuance of the show cause notice dated 25.2.2021, 20.3.2021 and 12.4.2021. It is stated that the said notice was only with regard to recovery of the outstanding amount of royalty, for non payment of 2 per cent TCS amounting to Rs. 1,52,400/- and also 10 per cent of the District Mining Fund (D.M.F.) amounting to Rs.7,62,000/-.

30. In this regard Rule 58 of the Rules of 1963 provides that in consequence of non - payment of royalty or other dues the same can be recovered by the respondents only after service of notice to the lessee, to pay within thirty days of the receipt of the notice and if not paid within thirty days then on expiry of fifteen days of the notice the lease can be cancelled. In this regard it has been submitted that thirty days from the date of notice would expire only on 11.05.2021 and fifteen days beyond the said date would expire on 26.05.2021 and even according to the statutory provisions cancellation of the lease of the petitioner could not have been ordered prior to expiry of the said period i.e. 26.05.2021 while in the present case the order of cancellation has been passed on 26.4.2021 before the expiry of statutory period, as such, it is clearly noticed that Rule 58 of the Rules of 1963 has been flagrantly violated by the respondents in cancellation of their lease in pursuance of the show cause notice dated 12.4.2021. Therefore, on this ground also the cancellation order is illegal, arbitrary and violative of Rule 58 of the Rules of 1963.

31. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, this Court is of the considered view that the impugned order dated 16.3.2022 passed by the State Government in Revision No.104 (R)/SM/2021 as well as order 26.4.2021 passed by opposite party No.3 i.e. District Magistrate, Banda are illegal and arbitrary, hence, set aside.

32. Considering the seriousness of the allegations and the amount of recovery the respondents are given liberty to proceed against the petitioner in accordance with law, if they so choose.

33. In view of the above, the writ petition stands allowed.

Hon'ble Manish Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Shri Akhilesh Kumar Kalra, learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri Kartikey Dubey, learned counsel for the respondents and perused the record.

2. This petition has been filed by the petitioner for quashing of the order dated 10.3.2008, as contained in Annexure-1 to the petition and for the direction to the respondent not to interfere in the peaceful possession of the land in the license agreement dated 30.4.1992, as contained in Annexure-4 to the petition.

3. It is the case of the petitioner as argued by his counsel that the respondent-Uttar Pradesh State Industrial Development Corporation Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as the "Corporation") had, for the purpose of encouraging industrialization in the backward District of Hardoi, developed an industrial area, in which the petitioner company with an intent to establish a chemical industry applied for allotment of an industrial plot for the said purpose. Respondent-Corporation allotted Plot No. B-9-10-11 & D-11 to the petitioner company on 17.7.1991. Although the petitioner had applied for 72 acres of land but final area of 119416.30 sq. mt. was allotted, for which a total amount of Rs. 14,76,601.25 was deposited by the petitioner in lump-sum before the respondent. Pursuant to such deposit, the lease agreement was executed on 30.4.1992. Subsequently, the Chemical Industry which the petitioner intended to set up could not established because of ban on import of finished goods. Later on, the Export Import Policy of the Government of India was liberalized and the Central Government permitted such import of finished products which resulted in the steep fall in the prices of the product. Thus, the industry which the petitioner was going to set up became unviable.

4. The petitioner informed the respondent-Corporation that the industry which was initially intended to be set up could not be set up because of various reasons and the project had become unviable. They had communicated the decision to put up some other project in the field of horticulture which would require some time. The petitioner applied for extension which was given. Subsequently, the petitioner was issued a notice by the respondent-Corporation in 2005 to show cause as to why its allotment may not be cancelled as the petitioner had not complied with the terms of the agreement and had not utilized the industrial plot for the purpose for which it was allotted to it. The petitioner immediately replied to the said notice and communicated that it was now intending to set up a Medicinal and Aromatic Crop based industry and the necessary soil testing, etc. would be carried out which would need sometime. Accordingly, a further time of three years may be permitted to it for utilizing the land as per the new proposal made by it. The petitioner made all efforts to set up the new industry but the respondent by the impugned order dated 10.3.2008 informed the petitioner that it had cancelled the allotment made in their favour on 17.7.1991 and also the license agreement dated 30.4.1992 as the petitioner had failed to comply with stipulation under Clause 4(e) of the agreement. It was also informed by the said impugned order that the Junior Engineer posted at the site has been directed to re-enter in the plot and submit the re-entry memo within a week.

5. It has been argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that when the petitioner had made an application for extension of time in 2005 in response to show cause notice issued to it, it was under the bonafide impression that respondent-Corporation would consider and decide such application for extension of time and the Corporation would follow the due process for re-enter. Even thereafter, the impugned order was passed. However, the employees of the Corporation came on the site on 31.3.2008 and informed the petitioner that it should immediately dismantle the barbed wire fencing and harvest its crop so that the possession of the plot may be taken by the respondent-Corporation.

6. It has been argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that when the matter was brought before this Court as fresh on 1.4.2008, the Court directed the counsel for the respondent to seek instruction and in the meantime if crops are there, the Court observed that the same shall not be removed or cut. When the matter was taken up on 30.4.2008, the protection given on 1.4.2008 was directed to be continued till the next date of listing. The writ petition was dismissed for want of prosecution twice but had been restored thereafter and interim order was still continue in favour of the petitioner and it is still in possession of the plot in question.

7. It has been argued on the basis of judgment rendered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in State Of U.P. & Ors vs Maharaja Dharmander Prasad Singh [1989 SCC (2) 505] that once a lease agreement is signed, then it could be only cancelled through a civil suit and by adopting due process of law for resuming the possession. The respondents could not have cancelled the allotment when the application of the petitioner for extension of time was pending.

8. Shri Kartikey Dubey, learned counsel for the respondents, on the other hand, has taken this Court through the contents of the counter affidavit filed on behalf of respondent no. 3. In the said counter-affidavit, it has been stated that the petitioner had submitted an application dated 18.4.1991 for allotment of plot in Sandila Industrial Area, Hardoi for setting up of an Alcohol based Chemical Industry along with a project report. Four plots of land were allotted to the petitioner on 17.7.1991. Four plots of land were initially allotted and the petitioner made an application for surrender of one plot, the same was accepted. The petitioner and the Corporation signed an agreement on 30.4.1992, the petitioner had to commence construction of the manufacturing unit within nine months from the date of giving possession. The possession was handed over to the petitioner on 9.7.1992. The petitioner made no attempt to construct the manufacturing unit which ought to have been started within nine months and manufacturing was to be started within two years of the same. The petitioner has been issued show cause notice dated 8.2.1996 for showing cause within thirty days as to why allotment in favour of the petitioner be not cancelled. In reply to the same, the petitioner requested for extension of time for three years further time to start manufacturing an Alcohol based Chemical Industry. Copies of the representation of the petitioner and its reply have been annexed as Annexure No. C-4 and C-5 respectively to the counter affidavit. The petitioner's application was considered and the Managing Director of the Corporation allowed one years' time to the petitioner to set up Alcohol based Chemical Industry through its letter dated 27.6.1996 communicated to the Regional Office, Lucknow.

9. The petitioner was accordingly granted extension of time through letter dated 17.7.1996 but just before the expiry of the said period, the petitioner submitted another representation on 25.6.1997 requesting therein for extension of time for completion of construction and commencement of manufacturing and production of Alcohol based Chemical Industry within a period of three years. The representation of the petitioner was considered and an order passed on 19.11.1997 granting further one year period as extension. When the petitioner did not start any construction on the land in question, a show cause notice was again issued to the petitioner on 6.10.2005 to show cause within a period of sixty days why the allotment as well as the agreement dated 30.4.1992 be not cancelled because of violation of terms of the agreement. In reply thereof, the petitioner did not make any representation and at last the Regional Office, Lucknow sent a proposal to Head Office, Kanpur for cancellation of the allotment and agreement dated 30.4.1992 through letter dated 30.6.2006. The Head Office took sometime to clarify the situation and the order impugned had not passed after survey of the plot in question was made and it was found that petitioner had not made any attempt to raise any construction on the plots allotted to it and the aforesaid plots are lying vacant.

10. It has also been submitted by the learned counsel for the Corporation that the Corporation is a statutory corporation established by the State Government for industrial development of the State of Uttar Pradesh. The land is acquired by the State for the Corporation for allotment to deserving applicants for setting up Small and Medium Scale Industries. The land which is acquired has been given at subsidized rate to applicants who are genuinely interest for raising industrial units as stipulated in the agreement. Learned counsel for the respondent has taken this Court through a relevant clauses of the agreement which have been quoted in the order impugned. Clause 4(e) and Clause 5 of the agreement signed between the parties are relevant for the purpose herein and are being quoted here-in-below.

4(e). That the Licensee at his own cost shall erect on the plot of land in accordance with the lay out plan, elevation and design and in a position to be approved both by the Grantor and the municipal or other authority in writing and in a substantial and workman like manner a building to be used as industrial factory, with all necessary out houses, sewers drains and other appurtenances and proper conveninces thereto according to the local authority's rules and bye-laws in respect of building, drains latrines and communication with severs and will commence such construction within a period of nine months or within such extended time as may be allowed by the Grantor in writing in its discretion at the request of the Licensee from the date hereof and shall completely finish the same fit for use and start the manufacturing and production with in the period of 24 months from the date of these presents or within such extended time as may be allowed by the Grantor in writing in its discretion or the request of the Licensee.

5. If the Licensee fails to commence and complete the building fit for use and start the manufacturing and production in the time and manner herein before provided (time in this respect being essence of contract) or shall not proceed with the works with due diligence or shall have failed to make payment of the interest installment of premium on or before the due date, the Grantor shall have the right and power to re-enter upon and resume possession of the said land and everything thereon, and thereupon this Agreement shall cease and terminate and all erection and materials, plant and things upon the said plot and land shall belong to the Grantor without payment of any compensation or allowance to the Licensee for the same without prejudice nevertheless to all other legal right and remedies of the Grantor, against the licensee the Grantor may permit the continuation of the occupation of the Licensee upon the said land on payment of such money and/or on such terms and conditions, as may be decided upon by the Grantor and/or to direct removal or alteration of any building or structure errected or used contrary to the conditions of the grant within the time prescribed, cause the same to be carried out and recover the cost of carrying out the same from the licensee and an amount equal to 20% of the total premium together with out standing interest due till date, use and occupational charges due, and other dues, if any, shall stand forfeited to the Grantor and the licensee shall not be entitled to any compensation whatsoever.

Provided that the Licensee shall be at liberty to remove and appropriate to himself all building, erections and structures, if any, made by him and all material thereof from the plot of the land after paying up all dues, rent and all municipal and other taxes, rates and assessment then due and all damages and other dues, occurring to the Grantor and to remove the materials from the plot of land within three months of the date of revocation or termination of this Agreement.

11. It has been argued by the learned counsel appearing on behalf of the respondent that after the cancellation of allotment and agreement by the order dated 10.3.2008, the land in question was taken in re-possession thereof on 17.3.2008 at 12:30 P.M., the copy of re-entry memo has been filed as Annexure C-10 to counter affidavit filed by the respondent no. 3. The interim order that was granted by this Court did not stay the order impugned but only directed the crop of the petitioner if they were standing thereon. It cannot be said that the petitioner is in possession of the plots in question.

12. The learned counsel for the respondent-Corporation has placed reliance on judgment rendered the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in ITC Limited Vs. State of U.P. [2011 (7) SCC 493] and the order dated 7.1.2016 passed by the Division Bench of this Court in Writ - C No. 68500 of 2015 (Rakesh Kumar Garg Vs. State of U.P. and Others). The question before the Court was with regard to leases of plot allotted by New Okhla Industrial Development Authority (hereinafter referred to as "NOIDA") for construction of hotels in District Gautam Buddh Nagar. NOIDA is constituted under the UP Industrial Area Development Act, 1976 for development of industrial and urban township in Uttar Pradesh and neighboring city New Delhi to encourage tourism. Certain plots were allotted but because of non-compliance with the conditions of the lease agreement, a cancellation order was issued. The Court was considering the question whether "plot leased can be cancelled?" The Court observed in Para 21, 22, 23 as follows:

21. A lease governed exclusively by the provisions of Transfer of Property Act, 1882 (`TP Act' for short) could be cancelled only by filing a civil suit for its cancellation or for a declaration that it is illegal, null and void and for the consequential relief of delivery back of possession. Unless and until a court of competent jurisdiction grants such a decree, the lease will continue to be effective and binding. Unilateral cancellation of a registered lease deed by the lessor will neither terminate the lease nor entitle a lessor to seek possession. This is the position under private law.

22. But where the grant of lease is governed by a statute or statutory regulations, and if such statute expressly reserves the power of cancellation or revocation to the lessor, it will be permissible for an Authority, as the lessor, to cancel a duly executed and registered lease deed, even if possession has been delivered, on the specific grounds of cancellation provided in the statute.

23. NOIDA is an authority constituted for development of an industrial and urban township (also known as Noida) in Uttar Pradesh under the provisions of the Act. Section 7 empowers the authority to sell, lease or otherwise transfer whether by auction, allotment or otherwise, any land or building belonging to it in the industrial development area, on such terms and conditions as it may think fit to impose, on such terms and conditions and subject to any rules that may be made. Section 14 provides for forfeiture for breach of conditions of transfer. The said section empowers the Chief Executive Officer of the Authority to resume a site or building which had been transferred by the Authority and forfeit the whole or part of the money paid in regard to such transfer, in the following two circumstances: a) non-payment by the lessee, of consideration money or any installment thereof due by the lessee on account of the transfer of any site or building by the Authority; or b) breach of any condition of such transfer or breach of any rules or regulations made under the Act by the lessee. Sub-section (2) provides that where the Chief Executive Officer of the Authority resumes any site or building under sub-section (1) of section 14, on his requisition, the Collector may cause the possession thereof to be taken from the transferee by use of such force as may be necessary and deliver the same to the Authority. This makes it clear that if a lessee commits default in paying either the premium or the lease rent or other dues, or commits breach of any term of the lease deed or breach of any rules or regulations under the Act, the Chief Executive Officer of NOIDA can resume the leased plot or building in the manner provided in the statute, without filing a civil suit. The authority to resume implies and includes the authority to unilaterally cancel the lease.

13. This Court finds that the facts as mentioned in this Case before us are almost the same as the land in question has been given to the petitioner on lease by statutory Corporation under the fixed terms of the lease agreement and twice extension was granted to the petitioner. The allotment of these plots having been done in 1991 and lease agreement having been signed in 1992, The Corporation waited till 2008 for cancellation of the lease agreement. The petitioner had to make construction and start manufacturing within a period of two years from the date of lease agreement, as admittedly the lease agreement was executed on 30.4.1992 and the two years' period expired on 30.4.1994. Even after that on the request of the petitioner, twice the time was extended but the petitioner has neither made any construction nor started manufacturing which is in violation of Clause 4(e) and Clause 5 of the lease agreement.

14. The Corporation has been created for encouraging industrialisation coupled with the aim to generate employment and for betterment of the economy. Due to the non-adherence to the conditions in the lease deed by the petitioner, the industrial development for which the land was allotted to the petitioner has been affected..

15. This Court finds no infirmity in such order impugned.

16. Accordingly, the Writ Petition stands dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Suneet Kumar, J.
Hon'ble Rajendra Kumar-IV, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the Shri H.R. Mishra, learned counsel assisted by Shri Krishna Mohan Mishra, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel.

2. Petitioners by the instant writ petition seek a direction to the State-respondent/competent authority to release 3,480 square feet of land of arazi (khasra) No. 24, situated in Village-Muhai Sugharpur, Tappa Haveli, Post Haveli, (Parwatia Shivpuri Colony), Tehsil Sadar, District Gorakhpur, declared surplus under the Urban Land (Ceiling & Regulation) Act 1976, (for short "Act'), in view of the Repeal Act No. 15 of 1999, w.e.f., 31 March 1999.

3. The facts giving rise to the instant writ petition, as pleaded are that the petitioners are subsequent purchasers of the land declared excess, i.e., arazi khasra No. 24. The original land owner was one Ram Kisun, son of Kodai, duly recorded in the revenue record.

4. It appears the original land owner submitted statement under Section 6(1) of the Act, being case No. 3658, wherein, khasra No. 62 and 85 at Village-Chilmapur; khasra No. 42 and 43 at Village-Mohai Sugharpur, and khasra No. 43 and 44, at Mirzapur, was filed in the return, including the residential building. Upon survey and inspection, a draft statement came to be prepared under Section 8(1) which was duly served upon the land owner on 17 June 1979, by registered post which appears to have return undelivered, consequently, another notice along with the draft statement was issued on 3 June 1981, duly served on the land owner on 25 June 1981. The land owner did not file any objections with respect to the draft statement. The competent authority noted that the name of the original land owner is recorded in khasra No. 24 of Village-Mohai Sugharpur. Similarly, in respect of other plots, the competent authority passed an order under Section 8(4). Thereafter, final statement came to be issued under Section 9 on 24 August 1981. After the stage of Section 9 of the Act, notifications under Section 10(1) was published in the State Gazette on 17 July 1982, followed by notification under Section 10(3) on 28 July 1990. Consequently, the excess vacant land came to vest with the State, including, khasra No. 24. Thereafter, notice came to be issued under Section 10(5) by the competent authority on 19 December 1992. The authorized representative of the competent authority on 3 August 1996, had taken possession of the surplus vacant land from the original land owner.

5. In paragraph 6 of the writ petition, it is pleaded that arazi khasra No. 24, came to be transferred to the mother of the petitioner, i.e., Smt. Ahilya Devi, in 1985, by registered sale-deed. It is alleged that the name of the Ahilya Devi, came to be mutated in the revenue record, it is claimed that since then petitioners are in possession and have constructed their residential house. It is further submitted that the mother of the petitioner died in 2020, thereafter, petitioners approached the Nagar Mahapalika, Gorakhpur, to get their names mutated in the revenue record. However, since the land in question which originally belonged to Ram Kisun, was declared surplus and vested in the State Government vide notification dated 28 July 1990, it appears that the name of the petitioner was not mutated.

6. Aggrieved, petitioners approached the District Magistrate, Gorakhpur, claiming to be owner in possession of the disputed land over which residential house was constructed in 1985, after purchasing the plot from a Housing Society in the name and style Parvati Housing Co-operative Society Limited. In the representation, petitioner sought release of the property from the ceiling proceedings.

7. In this factual backdrop, it is submitted that in view of Section 3 of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Repeal Act, 1999 (for short "Repeal Act'), which came into effect on 18 March 1999, the land and property of the petitioner be released.

8. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that petitioner is in possession of the plots even after repeal of the principal Act. It is urged that at this stage, petitioner cannot be dispossessed from the land declared surplus. Reliance has been placed on the decisions rendered by Supreme Court in State of U.P. Vs. Hari Ram1, as well as, decisions rendered by this Court in Ram Singh Vs. State of U.P. and Others2, Ikrar & Others Vs. State of U.P. and Others3 and State of U.P. Vs. Jagdish Chandra4.

9. It is not the case of the petitioner that the original land owner at any stage had protested with the declaration of surplus land or had objected before the authorities with regard to dispossession not being in accordance with the law.

10. In State of Assam vs. Bhaskar Jyoti Sharma and others5, the Supreme Court was of the view that any grievance based on Section 10(5) ought to have been made within a reasonable time of dispossession and the land owner in not doing so must be deemed to have waived his right under Section 10(5) of the Act. Paragraph 16, 17, and 19 is extracted:

"16. The issue can be viewed from another angle also. Assuming that a person in possession could make a grievance, no matter without much gain in the ultimate analysis, the question is whether such grievance could be made long after the alleged violation of Section 10(5). If actual physical possession was taken over from the erstwhile land owner on 7th December, 1991 as is alleged in the present case any grievance based on

Section 10(5) ought to have been made within a reasonable time of such dispossession. If the owner did not do so, forcible taking over of possession would acquire legitimacy by sheer lapse of time. In any such situation the owner or the person in possession must be deemed to have waived his right under Section 10(5) of the Act. Any other view would, in our opinion, give a licence to a litigant to make a grievance not because he has suffered any real prejudice that needs to be redressed but only because the fortuitous circumstance of a Repeal Act tempted him to raise the issue regarding his dispossession being in violation of the prescribed procedure.

17. Reliance was placed by the respondents upon the decision of this Court in Hari Ram's case (supra). That decision does not, in our view, lend much assistance to the respondents. We say so, because this Court was in Hari Ram's case (supra) considering whether the word 'may' appearing in Section 10(5)gave to the competent authority the discretion to issue or not to issue a notice before taking physical possession of the land in question under Section 10(6). The question whether breach of Section 10(5)and possible dispossession without notice would vitiate the act of dispossession itself or render it non est in the eye of law did not fall for consideration in that case. In our opinion, what Section 10(5)prescribes is an ordinary and logical course of action that ought to be followed before the authorities decided to use force to dispossess the occupant under Section 10(6). In the case at hand if the appellant's version regarding dispossession of the erstwhile owner in December 1991 is correct, the fact that such dispossession was without a notice under Section 10(5) will be of no consequence and would not vitiate or obliterate the act of taking possession for the purposes of Section 3 of the Repeal Act. That is because Bhabadeb Sarma-erstwhile owner had not made any grievance based on breach of Section 10(5) at any stage during his lifetime implying thereby that he had waived his right to do so.

19. In support of the contention that the respondents are even today in actual physical possession of the land in question reliance is placed upon certain electricity bills and bills paid for the telephone connection that stood in the name of one Mr. Sanatan Baishya. It was contended that said Mr. Sanatan Baishya was none other than the caretaker of the property of the respondents. There is, however, nothing on record to substantiate that assertion. The telephone bills and electricity bills also relate to the period from 2001 onwards only. There is nothing on record before us nor was anything placed before the High Court to suggest that between 7th December, 1991 till the date the land in question was allotted to GMDA in December, 2003 the owner or his legal heirs after his demise had continued to be in possession. All that we have is rival claims of the parties based on affidavits in support thereof. We repeatedly asked learned counsel for the parties whether they can, upon remand on the analogy of the decision in the case of Gyanaba Dilavarsinh Jadega (supra), adduce any documentary evidence that would enable the High Court to record a finding in regard to actual possession. They were unable to point out or refer to any such evidence. That being so the question whether actual physical possession was taken over remains a seriously disputed question of fact which is not amenable to a satisfactory determination by the High Court in proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution no matter the High Court may in its discretion in certain situations upon such determination. Remand to the High Court to have a finding on the question of dispossession, therefore, does not appear to us to be a viable solution."

11. In Bhaskar Jyoti Sharma (supra) followed by a coordinate Bench of this Court in Shiv Ram Singh vs. State of U.P. and others6, the writ petition was dismissed on the ground of laches, observing as under:

"We must also advert to another aspect of the matter particularly having regard to the recent decision of the Supreme Court in Bhaskar Jyoti Sarma (supra). The petitioner moved the first writ petition in 2002 nearly three years after the Repeal Act had come into force. After the earlier writ petition was disposed of by directing the District Magistrate to pass an order on the representation of the petitioner, an order was passed by the District Magistrate on 10 May 2007. The petitioner thereafter waited for a period of over two years until the present writ petition was filed in July 2009. If the petitioner had been dispossessed of the land without due notice under Section 10(5), such a grievance could have been raised at the relevant time. As a matter of fact, it has been the case of the State all along that a notice under Section 10(5) was, in fact, issued in the present case which would be borne out from the original file which has been produced before the Court. The issue is whether such a grievance could be made long after, before the Court. The petitioner had waited for nearly three years after the Repeal Act came into force to file the first writ petition and thereafter for a period of over two years after the disposal of the representation despite the finding of the District Magistrate that possession was taken over on 25 June 1993. In our view, such a belated challenge should not, in any event, be entertained."

(Emphasis supplied by us)

12. In Shivgonda Anna Patil Vs. State of Maharashtra, 7wherein, the Supreme Court while dealing with Section 10 of the Act held that the writ petition under Article 226 for reopening the proceeding on the ground that the competent authority had not taken into consideration certain fact, filed after ten years, after the excess land was vested in the State Government was rightly summarily dismissed by the High Court.

13. While deciding the question of delay and laches in preferring the petition under Article 226, the Supreme Court in Municipal Council, Ahmednagar Vs. Shah Hyder Beig8, held that the equitable doctrine, namely, "delay defeats equity" has its fullest application in the matter of grant of relief under Article 226 of the Constitution. The discretionary relief can be had provided one has not by his act or conduct given a go-by to his rights. Equity favours a vigilant rather than an indolent litigant and this being the basic tenet of law.

14. Recently, in Kapilaben Ambalal Patel and Others Vs. State of Gujarat9, Supreme Court declined to accept the pleas setup by the legal heirs/representatives of the original land holder on the ground of inordinate delay. The Court noted the submission of the land owner:

"Feeling aggrieved, the landowners have approached this Court. It is urged that there is no tittle of evidence to substantiate the fact asserted by the respondent State that physical possession of the land in question has been taken over on 20-3-1986. It was merely a paper-possession in the form of possession panchnama. According to the appellants, de facto possession of the subject land as on the date of the Repeal Act is crucial and entails in abatement of all the actions of the State authorities under the 1976 Act. Mere issuance of notification under Section 10(3) of the 1976 Act regarding deemed vesting of the land in the State is not enough for the purposes of the Repeal Act. Reliance has been placed on Vinayak Kashinath Shilkar Vs. Collector & Competent Authority, (2012) 4 SCC 718, State of U.P. Vs. Hari Ram (2013) 4 SCC 280, Gajanan Kamlya Patil vs. Additional Collector & Competent Authority (ULC) (2014) 12 SCC 523 and Mangalsen Vs. State of U.P. (2014) 15 SCC 332. The consistent view of this Court is that physical possession must be taken by the State authorities, failing which the proceedings shall abate on account of the Repeal Act. The appellants have relied on revenue records to show that the continued possession remained with the appellants/landowners even after the possession panchnama was made on 20-3-1986. The revenue entries have presumptive value and the respondent State had failed to rebut the same."

15. In Paragraph 25 of Kapilaben Ambalal Patel (supra), the Court noted the delay and declined to interfere with the order of the High Court. Relevant portion reads thus:

"Furthermore, in the grounds all that is asserted is that the High Court erred in holding that there was delay of 14 years in filing of writ petition and in not appreciating that the notice under Section 10(5) of the 1976 Act dated 23-1-1986, was not served upon Ambalal Parsottambhai Patel as he had already expired on 31-12-1985 and notice sent to him was returned bacy on 2-2-1986 unserved with remark "said owner has expired". Further, the legal heirs of Ambalal Parsottambhai Patel ought to have been served with the said notice.....Be that as it may, we are not inclined to reverse the conclusion recorded by the Division Bench of the High court that the writ petition filed by the appellants was hopelessly delayed and suffered from laches. That is a possible view in the facts of the present case."

16. The decisions relied upon by the learned counsel for the petitioner rendered by the co-ordinate Bench of this Court is based on the decision of the Supreme Court in Hari Ram (supra). The Supreme Court in Bhaskar Jyoti Sharma (supra), on considering Hari Ram (supra), was of the view that the word "may' appearing in Section 10(5) gave the competent authority the discretion to issue or not to issue a notice before taking physical possession of the land in question under Section 10(6). The question whether breach of Section 10(5) and possible dispossession without notice would vitiate the act of dispossession itself or render it non est in the eye of law did not fall for consideration in Hari Ram (supra). Thereafter, the Court proceeded that even taking a case of the appellant regarding dispossession was without a notice under Section 10(5) will be of no consequence and would not vitiate or obliterate the act of taking possession for the purposes of Section 3 of the Repeal Act. That is because the erstwhile land owner had not made any grievance based on breach of Section 10(5) at any stage during his lifetime implying thereby that he had waived his right to do so.

17. The predecessor in interest of the petitioners is a subsequent purchaser, probably, from a Housing Society. In any case, the excess land declared surplus pursuant to notification under Section 10(1) could not have been transferred in view of Sub-clause (4) of Section 10. The transfer is a nullity in the eye of law.

18. The relevant portion of Section 10(4) is extracted:

"10(4) During the period commencing on the date of publication of the notification under sub-section (1) and ending with the date specified in the declaration made under sub-section (3)-

(i) no person shall transfer by way of sale, mortgage, gift, lease or otherwise any excess vacant land (including any part thereof) specified in the notification aforesaid and any such transfer made in contravention of this provision shall be deemed to be null and void; and

(ii) no person shall alter or cause to be altered the use of such excess vacant land."

19. It is evident from the facts pleaded by the petitioners themselves that the notification under Section 10(1) was notified on 17 July 1982, followed by notification under Section 10(3) notified on 28 July 1990. The predecessor in interest of the petitioner purchased the property in 1985, i.e., after notification issued under Section 10(1). Accordingly, the transfer would be null and void, no right would accrue to the petitioners in respect of the said property. As per the Scheme of the Act, the excess land beyond the ceiling limit is to be determined on the date when the Act came into force, requiring every person holding vacant land in excess of ceiling limit to file statement of his holding (Section 6). The other persons/third party/subsequent purchasers have no locus or authority to file objection until then. The provisions of Section 8 and Section 9 of the Act, make it incumbent on the competent authority to issue notice to or provide opportunity to be heard only to the "person concerned', i.e., person who has filed the statement under Section 6 of the Act, (Refer paragraph 14 of U.A. Basheer Thr. G.P.A. Holder Vs. State of Karnataka and Another10). It is only after notification under Section 10(1) of the Act, the claim of other persons/subsequent purchasers are to be considered.

20. In the given facts, petitioners are subsequent purchasers of the declared excess land after notification under Section 10(1). They have no locus, nor, the transfer of excess land after the stage of Section 10(1) is permissible in law [Section 10(4)]. The possession/reoccupation of the excess surplus land at the hands of the petitioners is of on consequence.

21. The instant writ petition has been filed after 22 years from the date of the Repeal Act and after a lapse of over three decades since notice under Section 10(5). The only stand taken is based on a bald statement that petitioners are in possession of the declared excess land. Petitioners admittedly are subsequent purchaser having purchased the surplus land after issuance of notification under Section 10(1), in view of Sub-section 4 of Section 10 of the Act, the transfer of the declared excess land is a nullity and does not confer any right, title or authority upon the petitioners.

22. Having regard to the facts and circumstances of the case, petition being devoid of merit is, accordingly, dismissed.

A. Civil Law - Mining - Illegal Mining - Uttar Pradesh Minor Minerals (Concessions) Rules, 1963 - Rules 58, 60 & 67 - Consequences of non-payment of royalty rent or other dues- State Government may terminate the mining lease after serving a notice on the lessee to pay within thirty days of the receipt of the notice any amount due to the State Government if it was not paid within fifteen days next after the date fixed for such payment - in the instant case thirty days from the date of notice expired on 11.05.2021 and fifteen days beyond the said date expired on 26.05.2021, however the order of cancellation was passed on 26.4.2021 before the expiry of the statutory period - Rule 58 flagrantly violated by the respondents in cancellation of the lease - Cancellation order set aside(Para 30)

B. Civil Law - Mining - Illegal Mining - Uttar Pradesh Minor Minerals (Concessions) Rules, 1963, Rule 58, 60, 67 - Consequences of contravention of rules and conditions of lease - If the allegations are of illegal mining beyond the leased area, the inspection report must provide the GPS coordinates of both the inspected area and the area beyond the lease alleged to have been illegally mined - It must be established that illegal mining had, in fact, been done on area beyond the leased area (Para 19, 23)

C. Civil Law - Illegal Mining - cancellation of the Mining lease licenses - Violation of Principles of Natural Justice - show cause notice issued to the petitioner contained only allegations of illegal mining recorded by the inspection team - culpability of the petitioner was decided solely on the inspection report, however, the inspection report was never supplied to the petitioner - inquiry proceedings were conducted in clear violation of the principles of natural justice, severely prejudicing the petitioner's defense - No other evidence or statements were recorded during the inquiry, and no documents were taken on record – the inspection report did not mention when and where the inspection was carried out, who was present, or whether it was conducted at the location allotted to the petitioner - there was no mention of GPS coordinates used for identifying the plot - There was no sufficient and cogent material linking the petitioner to the charge of illegal mining - cancellation order passed by the District Magistrate, without application of any mind at the dictates of the higher authority i.e. of Director, Mining and Geology - the grounds / defence taken by the petitioner in the reply have not even been considered either by the appellate or revisional authority rendering the impugned order illegal and arbitrary (Para 20, 23, 24)

D. Civil Law - Illegal Mining - cancellation of the Mining lease licenses - Bias - Dr. Roshan Jacob, who was the Director, Geology and Mining directed the District Magistrate to proceed against the petitioner and to cancel his mining lease, which order was duly complied - subsequently she herself as the revisional authority, against the order of cancellation of the mining lease, proceeded to hear and reject the revision - Held Revisional order hit by the vice of bias (Para 27)

2. Mustafa Vs U.O.I., (2022) 1 SCC 294

1. Heard Ms. Pushpila Bisht, learned counsel for the petitioner as well as Sri Rakesh Bajpai, learned Standing counsel, Sri Tushar Verma, Special Counsel and Sri Ramesh Kumar Singh, Additional Advocate General for the respondents.

2. By means of the present writ petition the petitioner has challenged the order dated 29.6.2022 passed by the State Government thereby rejecting the revision preferred by the petitioner against the cancellation of mining lease vide order dated 26.4.2021 passed by District Magistrate, Banda.

FACTS OF THE CASE :-

3. The facts in brief necessary for adjudication of the present case are that the petitioner in response to an e-tender/e-auction for mining participated in the auction and his bid was adjudged to be the highest and lease deed was executed in favor of the petitioner on 1.6.2020 for the period from 1.6.2020 to 31.5.2025. After execution of the mining lease the petitioner started mining operations but suddenly the One Time Password (O.T.P.) was stopped by the District Magistrate, Banda on 19.3.2021. Subsequently, it is stated that an inspection was conducted by a team of officers of the Directorate, Mining and Geology, Uttar Pradesh between 13.3.2021 and 18.3.2021 and some allegations with regard to the irregularities pertaining to illegal mining were found correct and on the basis of the aforesaid inspection report a show cause notice was served on the petitioner on 22.3.2021. According to the said show cause notice issued by the District Magistrate, Banda it was mentioned that an inspection was conducted by a team where it has been found that the petitioner is involved in illegal mining and he has extracted minor minerals from the area not allotted to him and extracted mineral to a depth which was not permissible as per the lease deed. Accordingly, a notice was given as to why the lease be not cancelled. In the said show cause notice, penalty for the same offence has also been fixed as Rs.50,000/- and recovery of royalty for an amount of Rs.10,39,68,500/- has also been proposed.

4. The petitioner in pursuance of the aforesaid show cause notice submitted reply on 30.3.2021 where it has denied the allegations leveled in the show cause notice and has stated that apart from the show cause notice no material was provided to the petitioner as directed by this Court in the case of Ranveer Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2017 (1) ADJ 240 passed in writ C No.51986 of 2016 and further submitted that there was no credible evidence in support of the allegations and, hence, requested for setting aside the show cause notice.

5. After considering the reply of the petitioner the District Magistrate by means of its order dated 26th April, 2021 has cancelled the mining lease of the petitioner. While rejecting the reply of the petitioner the District Magistrate has recorded that the petitioner has extracted minor minerals from an area not allotted to him and extracted 1,15,465 cubic feet of sand/maurang illegally which fact has been reported by the Mining Officer in its report dated 12.11.2020. He has further noticed that the petitioner was asked to deposit the amount of royalty of Rs.10,39,68,500/- but even the said amount has not been deposited by the petitioner and accordingly he was of the view that the said outstanding amount needs to be recovered from the petitioner along with penalty as provided under Rule 41(H)(1) and 59 (2) of Uttar Pradesh Minor Minerals (Concessions) Rules, 1963. He has further considered the fact that the Director, Mining and Geology, Uttar Pradesh had constituted an enforcement team for physical inspection which conducted the spot inspection on 19.3.2021 and submitted report on 19.3.2021 where it was found that the petitioner had conducted mining operations of an area 7.555 hect. and extracted 1,88,875 cubic feet of sand beyond the area allotted to him apart from other illegal mining alleged in the said order and even the bank of the river has been extracted to a depth which is beyond the prescribed limit. In this regard a first information report was also lodged against the petitioner.

6. The District Magistrate has relied upon the inspection report and has stated that the petitioner could not produce any evidence or prove his case contrary to the findings recorded by the inspection team and, hence, rejected the reply of the petitioner and proceeded to pass order for recovery of an amount of Rs.10,39,68,500/- and also cancelled the lease deed issued in favour of the petitioner and further placed him in black list for a period of two years.

7. The petitioner being aggrieved by the order of the District Magistrate dated 26th April, 2021 had preferred a revision before the State Government which has also been decided and rejected by means of the impugned order dated 29th June, 2022. The revisional authority while rejecting the revision of the petitioner and passing the impugned order has noticed the fact that an inspection was carried out on which the mining lease was granted to the petitioner and certain allegations have come forth on the basis of which the show cause notice was given to the petitioner to which reply was submitted by him on 30.3.2021. The reply of the petitioner was not found satisfactory and merely on account of the fact that the allegations against the petitioner stood concluded by the inspection team no infirmity was found in the order of District Magistrate and accordingly the revision was rejected.

8. The petitioner in the present petition has assailed the cancellation of the lease deed as well as revisional order dated 29th June, 2022 and the recovery as well.

GROUNDS OF CHALLENGE :-

9. Learned counsel for the petitioner has firstly submitted that no proper opportunity of hearing was given to the petitioner before passing the order of cancellation and recovery against the petitioner. In support of his submissions he has submitted that, in fact, no inspection was actually carried out and a perusal of the show cause notice dated 22.3.2021 would indicate that no material including the copy of inspection report was supplied to the petitioner along with the show cause notice and in absence of the relevant documents and material constituting the basis of the allegationsagainst the petitioner the entire proceedings was conducted in violation of the principles of natural justice and accordingly the same are illegal and arbitrary and deserve to be set aside.

10. Learned Standing counsel Sri Rakesh Bajpai, on the other hand, supporting the impugned orders submitted that a perusal of the show cause notice indicates that entire contents of the inspection report have been reproduced in the show cause notice. He does not dispute the fact that copy of the inspection report dated 19.3.2022 was never supplied to the petitioner.

11. Learned counsel for the petitioner has further submitted that the inspection report and all other relevant documents have been annexed by the State Government along with the counter affidavit. It is further submitted that the inspection report was submitted on 19.3.2021 to the Director, Mining and Geology, Government of Uttar Pradesh who by means of letter dated 20.3.2021 addressed to the District Magistrate, Banda forwarded a copy of the inspection report for proceedings against the petitioner. Along with the said report he had categorically given directions to the District Magistrate to pass orders as mentioned therein. The name of the petitioner finds mention at serial No.7 of the said letter where the District Magistrate was directed to register F.I.R. against the petitioner, cancel his mining lease and place his name in the black list and with regard to the allegations of illegal mining recovery be made from him. For the sake of convenience the directions of the Director are reproduced as under:-

''स्वीकृत क्षेत्र से बाहर एवं सटे खण्ड के क्षेत्र में अवैध खनन तथा अन्य अनियमितता पाये जाने पर पट्टेधारक के विरूद्ध थ्त दर्ज कराते हुए नियमानुसार पट्टा निरस्तीकरण एवं पट्टेधारक का नाम काली सूची में डाला जाय तथा अवैध खनन के विरूद्ध पट्टाधारक से नियमानुसार राजस्व क्षति की धनराशि वसूल किये जाने की कार्यवाही की जाय।''

12. It has also been submitted by the petitioner that entire proceedings have been held without any application of mind by the District Magistrate and from a perusal of the directions issued by the Director, Mining and Geology, the District Magistrate, who is the subordinate to the Secretary (Mining and Geology) was duty bound to comply and, in fact, complied with the directions and consequently it is a clear case of bias and non application of mind by the District Magistrate.

13. Learned counsel for the petitioner has further assailed the impugned orders on the ground that the inspection was conducted by Team A with regard to 19 persons who were the lease holders of the lease licenses issued in their favour and in pursuance of inspection report dated 19.3.2021 action was taken against all the 19 persons and in all the cases the directions / dictate of the Director, Mining and Geology, as contained in his letter dated 20.3.2021 were duly followed and complied by the District Magistrate and the leases of all the persons included in the said list was cancelled. It is further stated that against all the cancellation orders the respective persons had filed revisions before the State Government which were again decided by the Director (Mining and Geology), the same officer who had authored the letter dated 20.3.2021 in his capacity as Secretary (Mining and Geology) of Government of Uttar Pradesh and rejected all the revisions except the revision of the revisionist at serial No.16, namely of VAR Enterprises Pvt. Ltd. A copy of the order passed in Revision No.128 (R)/SM/2021 filed by VAR Enterprises Pvt. Ltd has been annexed along with writ petition wherein on the basis of the same report the revision of VAR Enterprises Pvt. Ltd. has been allowed holding that the inspection report had clear infirmity and could not be relied upon and there is no material to indicate that the delinquent lease holder had, in fact, was involved or has indulged in any illegal mining and in the aforesaid circumstances, the Secretary, Government of Uttar Pradesh (Mining and Geology) in exercise of the power of the revisional authority on the basis of the same material allowed the said revision vide order dated 24.2.2022.

14. Learned counsel for the petitioner claims parity of the order dated 24.2.2022 and submits that the revisional authority has discriminated against the petitioner in as much as while considering the revision in the case of VAR Enterprises Pvt. Ltd. on the basis of the same facts and for the same reason the revision of the petitioner has been dismissed.

15. Sri Rakesh Bajpai, per contra, has submitted that due opportunity of hearing was given to the petitioner before passing the impugned orders. He submits that as per the provisions contained under Rule 60 and 67 of Uttar Pradesh Minor Mineral (Concession) Rules, 1963 reasonable opportunity of hearing has to be given to the petitioner before passing any cancellation or blacklisting order. He submits that the inspection was conducted by the authority prescribed under the said Rules and according to the said inspection it can safely be stated that as per the inspection report the petitioner was found to have indulged in illegal mining and, hence, was subjected to show cause notice and it is only after receiving the reply to the said show cause notice that action has been taken in accordance with the provisions contained in the said Act for cancellation of the lease deed and for imposition of the penalty. He submits that due opportunity of hearing was given to the petitioner and consequently it cannot be said that the proceedings are dehors the law and thus supported the entire proceedings as well as the impugned orders. He has further vehemently submitted that not providing copy of the inspection report dated 19.3.2021 has not prejudiced the case of the petitioner nor prejudice has been caused to the petitioner by not supplying the inquiry report and, as such, it cannot be said that there is any violation of the principles of natural justice.

DISCUSSION :-

16. I have heard learned counsel for the respective parties and perused the record.

17. The State Government after receiving certain complaints with regard to illegal mining by various persons in District Banda proceeded to constitute three enforcement teams for inspecting various areas for which the lease was granted for the purpose of mining. The order dated 12.3.2021 passed by Director, Mining & Geology, which is on record, indicates that the said team consisted of three officers from the same department along with Surveyor. It is further submitted that the said teams conducted inspection and submitted their inspection reports on 19.3.2021 to the Director. In the said report only finding is limited to the extent of area which has been mined and the quantity of mineral extracted with regard to each of the leases has been indicated. It is further noticed that there is no mention in the said report as to when the said inspection was carried out or as to whether the lease holders were ever informed about the said inspection or the manner in which the inspection was carried out are some of the factors which did not find mention in the said inspection reports. The inspection report with regard to each of the license holders in an extremely cryptic manner has only recorded that the license holders are involved in illegal mining and the quantities have been mentioned which have been illegally extracted by all the lease holders.

18. Learned Standing counsel, on the other hand, has stated that the said inspection was carried out and entries made in the diary of the surveyorwhich have also included in the counter affidavit. It is noticed that only the surveyor has signed on the report. It is surprising that even if this fact is accepted that certain irregularities with regard to the petitioner was found on 17.3.2021 why the remaining members of inspection team did not sign on the said survey report is one aspect whose answer has neither been given by the respondent in the counter affidavit nor has been satisfactorily responded by the Standing counsel and, therefore, the inspection itself becomes doubtful. It is on the basis of the said inspection report which was submitted to the Secretary, Mining and Geology that the entire proceedings have been conducted against the petitioner and also against all other lease holders. It is further noticed that as per lease deed dated 1st June, 2020 the petitioner was allotted following areas:-

B	25º37' 15.62" N	80º 16' 51.93" E
C	25º37' 20.56" N	80º 16' 37.64" E

19. Further, the said mining area was described with reference to the other plots on the North, South, East and West of the leased area which has been described therein. It is noticed that the inspection report only records that the petitioner has made excavation and extracted minor minerals from the areas outside the mining area. It is nowhere mentioned when and where the inspection was carried out, who were present during the inspection and most importantly whether the inspection was carried out at the location allotted to the petitioner is also doubtful as the plot is identifiable by G.P.S. Coordinates and there is no mention that G.P.S. Coordinates were used for identification of the plot. These are the essential facts which go to the root of the matter. If the allegations against the petitioner is that they have illegally mined beyond the leased area then it was the duty of the inquiry team to have identified/pointed out the same but there is no attempt to establish the case that illegal mining had, in fact, been done on area beyond the leased area. All these facts should have been given in detail as the report recorded a finding that the said extraction have been conducted in the area beyond the leased area then it should have been described by giving their coordinates in the inspection report which was not done.

20. It is in the aforesaid facts and circumstances that this Court is of the view that the allegations against the petitioner for illegal mining could not be clearly established and merely stating that large quantity of the minerals have been extracted by them would not ipso facto prove that the petitioner had been involved in illegal mining. It is the duty of the State to obtain and produce credible evidence in support of the allegations to bring home the charges. The arguments in this regard have force, specially, relying on the judgment of this Court in the case of Ranveer Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2017 (1) ADJ 240 where this Court has held as under:-

"33. Once the liability was to be fastened on the shoulder of the petitioner, then it was the obligation of the State to prove by way of credible evidence available that it was the petitioner, who has indulged in illegal mining and in the said direction, apart from issuing show-cause notice, all the evidence that was sought to be relied upon, i.e., the incumbents who have carried out the search and survey and the incumbents who have come forward to depose against the petitioner their names ought to have been disclosed and they ought to have been produced to support the case of the State that petitioner, in fact, has indulged in illegal mining. Not only this, as a part of process, the petitioner was entitled to have reasonable opportunity of defending himself by questioning the veracity of evidence produced against him and by adducing his own evidence, if any. Decision maker is bound to act fairly, as under the scheme of things provided for the determination made by him will entail civil consequences, as qua the person charged with illegal mining, on charges being proved, financial liability would be shouldered and in contra situation, the State would be at loss."

21. It is further noticed that no further evidence was adduced during the proceedings apart from the inspection report which could indicate that the petitioner or the other persons were involved in illegal mining. No evidence in this regard has either been placed on record before this Court or during the course of inquiry conducted by the respondents culminating into cancellation of the lease licenses.

NON-SUPPLY OF DOCUMENT :-

22. With regard to non-supply of the inspection report in the present case, it is not disputed that show cause notice contained only allegations with regard to illegal mining as recorded by the inspection team. Copy of the inspection report was never supplied to the petitioner. Though there are several judgments including the judgments cited by the Standing counsel in the case of Gorkha Security Services Vs. Government (NCT of Delhi) and others, (2014) 9 Supreme Court Cases 105 where it has been held that in case inquiry report is not supplied to the delinquent then the proceedings would not ipso facto be illegal and arbitrary and in violation of principles of natural justice but delinquent will have to show that prejudice was caused to him by not supplying a copy of the inquiry report.

23. It is noticed that in the present case the proceedings have been conducted against the petitioner only on the basis of inspection report. Undisputedly, no other material was adduced during the said inquiry nor any evidence or statement was recorded during the inquiry. No documents were ever taken on record during the said inquiry and the culpability of the petitioner with regard to illegal mining and other allegations has been decided only on the basis of inspection report. Needless to say that the inspection report, in the present circumstances of the case, constitutes an essential material / document which ought to have been supplied to the petitioner as even in the impugned orders the petitioner has been held guilty of illegal mining relying upon the inspection report dated 19th March, 2021. Once it is noticed that action is taken solely on the basis of inspection report then non supply of the said report to the person against whom proceedings are to be carried out necessarily constitutes miscarriage of justice in as much as he has a right to receive all the material which constitutes the charge/allegations against him so as to adequately respond to the charges and defend himself effectively, while in the present case the only material/document on the basis of which the petitioner has been proceeded against has not been provided to him and, hence, it can be safely concluded that the inquiry proceedings against the petitioner in this regard are in clear violation of the principles of natural justice and the defence of the petitioner has been severely prejudiced. Even though the sum and substance of the allegations did find mention in the show cause notice but inspection report apart from establishing the allegations against the petitioner also does not explain about other aspects as to how and where (location) the inspection was conducted, as to in what manner the inspection was undertaken by the committee and as to whether the persons allegedly involved in the illegal mining were ever put to notice before conducting the said inspection, are certain factors which are very material facts for the persons, who have been proceeded against have a right to defend their actions and they have right to know all material facts and only thereafter assail the said report. In absence of inspection report their defence was seriously prejudiced and as vested right has been snatched away which undoubtedly has civil consequences. It is also not clear from perusal of the records as to what were the coordinates, where the inspection was conducted and merely recording that inquiry was conducted on the plots on which the lease has been executed are some of the factors which are necessarily to be proved by the prosecution before saddling the delinquent lease holders with penal consequences like cancellation of their leases and recovery of penalty. In the lease the area allotted for mining has been described with G.P.S. Coordinates and, therefore, it was incumbent to provide the G.P.S. Coordinates of the area on which inspection was carried out and also the coordinates of area beyond the leased area on which the petitioner has been alleged to have illegally mined. In absence of any cogent material or document the charge of illegal mining has sought to be proved. This Court is of the considered view that there was no sufficient cogent material linking the petitioner with the charge of illegal mining and as per the judgment of Ranveer Singh Vs. State of U.P. (supra), the onus on the State has not been discharged and consequently the proceedings against the petitioner only on the basis of inspection report is arbitrary.

BIAS :-

24. Apart from violation of the principles of natural justice, it is further noticed that the proceedings itself became doubtful the moment the Director, Geology & Mining directed the District Magistrate to proceed against the lease holders in a particular manner and to cancel the license and place them in black list. It would have been appropriate for the Director, Mining and Geology to have merely forwarded the inspection report and direct the competent authority i.e. the District Magistrate to proceed in accordance with law after giving reasonable opportunity of hearing to the lease holders but by specifically directing the District Magistrate to proceed to cancel the lease of the petitioner and other similarly situated persons and put them under the black list, clearly reveals that the respondents had premeditated and preordained the result of the inquiry proceedings which the District Magistrate obediently complied with and, hence, the cancellation order has been passed without application of any mind at the dictates of the higher authority and a perusal of the same clearly indicates that the grounds / defence taken by the petitioner in the reply have not even been considered either by the appellate or revisional authority rendering the impugned order illegal and arbitrary.

25. While assailing the impugned order dated 29.06.2022 passed in revision by the Secretary, Government of U.P. submitted that the same has been decided by Dr. Roshan Jacob, who was also holding the charge of Director, Mining and Geology at the time when he had issued letter dated 20.03.2021 whereby clear directions were issued to the District Magistrate to proceed against and to blacklist him. To consider the argument regarding bias, it would be fruitful to consider the rendition of the Supreme Court in this regard.

36.More appropriate for our case would be an earlier decision inG. Saranav.University of Lucknow[G. Saranav.University of Lucknow, (1976) 3 SCC 585 : 1976 SCC (L&S) 474] , wherein a similar question had come up for consideration before a three-Judge Bench of this Court as the petitioner, after having appeared before the selection committee and on his failure to get appointed, had challenged the selection result pleading bias against him by three out of five members of the selection committee. He also challenged constitution of the committee. Rejecting the challenge, this Court had held : (SCC p. 591, para 15)

"15. We do not, however, consider it necessary in the present case to go into the question of the reasonableness of bias or real likelihood of bias as despite the fact that the appellant knew all the relevant facts, he did not before appearing for the interview or at the time of the interview raise even his little finger against the constitution of the Selection Committee. He seems to have voluntarily appeared before the committee and taken a chance of having a favourable recommendation from it. Having done so, it is not now open to him to turn round and question the constitution of the committee. This view gains strength from a decision of this Court inManak Lal case[Manak Lalv.Prem Chand Singhvi, AIR 1957 SC 425] where in more or less similar circumstances, it was held that the failure of the appellant to take the identical plea at the earlier stage of the proceedings created an effective bar of waiver against him. The following observations made therein are worth quoting : (AIR p. 432, para 9) secure a favourable report from the tribunal which was constituted and when he found that he was confronted with an unfavourable report, he adopted the device of raising the present technical point.' "

37.The aforesaid judgment inG. Sarana[G. Saranav.University of Lucknow, (1976) 3 SCC 585 : 1976 SCC (L&S) 474] was referred inMadras Institute of Development Studiesv.K. Sivasubramaniyan[Madras Institute of Development Studiesv.K. Sivasubramaniyan, (2016) 1 SCC 454 : (2016) 1 SCC (L&S) 164] , in which selection to the post of Assistant Professor was challenged on the ground that shortlisting of candidates was contrary to the Faculty Recruitment Rules. The challenge was declined on the ground of estoppel as the respondent, without raising any objection to the alleged variations in the contents of the advertisement and the Rules, had submitted his application and participated in the selection process by appearing before the committee of experts.

38.Equally appropriate would be a reference to the decision of this Court inP.D. Dinakaran (1)v.Judges Inquiry Committee[P.D. Dinakaran (1)v.Judges Inquiry Committee, (2011) 8 SCC 380] , in which the allegation was that one of the members of the committee constituted by the Chairman of the Council of States (Rajya Sabha) under Section 3(2) of the Judges (Inquiry) Act, 1968 was biased. This judgment extensively recites and assimilates from both domestic and foreign judgments on the question of bias and prejudice and quotes the following observations inG. Sarana[G. Saranav.University of Lucknow, (1976) 3 SCC 585 : 1976 SCC (L&S) 474] case : (G. Sarana case[G. Saranav.University of Lucknow, (1976) 3 SCC 585 : 1976 SCC (L&S) 474] , SCC p. 590, para 11)

"11. ... the real question is not whether a member of an administrative board while exercising quasi-judicial powers or discharging quasi-judicial functions was biased, for it is difficult to probe the mind of a person. What has to be seen is whether there is a reasonable ground for believing that he was likely to have been biased. In deciding the question of bias, human probabilities and ordinary course of human conduct have to be taken into consideration."

39.Thereafter, reference is made toAshok Kumar Yadavv.State of Haryana[Ashok Kumar Yadavv.State of Haryana, (1985) 4 SCC 417 : 1986 SCC (L&S) 88] , which refers to the Constitution Bench judgment inA.K. Kraipakv.Union of India[A.K. Kraipakv.Union of India, (1969) 2 SCC 262] .Ashok Kumar Yadav[Ashok Kumar Yadavv.State of Haryana, (1985) 4 SCC 417 : 1986 SCC (L&S) 88] was a case of selection by UPSC and following extract from this judgment is of some significance : (Ashok Kumar Yadav case[Ashok Kumar Yadavv.State of Haryana, (1985) 4 SCC 417 : 1986 SCC (L&S) 88] , SCC pp. 442-43, para 18)

"18. We must straightaway point out thatA.K. Kraipak[A.K. Kraipakv.Union of India, (1969) 2 SCC 262] is a landmark in the development of administrative law and it has contributed in a large measure to the strengthening of the rule of law in this country. We would not like to whittle down in the slightest measure the vital principle laid down in this decision which has nourished the roots of the rule of law and injected justice and fair play into legality. There can be no doubt that if a Selection Committee is constituted for the purpose of selecting candidates on merits and one of the members of the Selection Committee is closely related to a candidate appearing for the selection, it would not be enough for such member merely to withdraw from participation in the interview of the candidate related to him but he must withdraw altogether from the entire selection process and ask the authorities to nominate another person in his place on the Selection Committee, because otherwise all the selections made would be vitiated on account of reasonable likelihood of bias affecting the process of selection. But the situation here is a little different because the selection of candidates to the Haryana Civil Service (Executive) and Allied Services is being made not by any Selection Committee constituted for that purpose but it is being done by the Haryana Public Service Commission which is a Commission set up under Article 316 of the Constitution. It is a Commission which consists of a Chairman and a specified number of members and is a constitutional authority. We do not think that the principle which requires that a member of a Selection Committee whose close relative is appearing for selection should decline to become a member of the Selection Committee or withdraw from it leaving it to the appointing authority to nominate another person in his place, need be applied in case of a constitutional authority like the Public Service Commission, whether Central or State. If a member of a Public Service Commission were to withdraw altogether from the selection process on the ground that a close relative of his is appearing for selection, no other person save a member can be substituted in his place. And it may sometimes happen that no other member is available to take the place of such member and the functioning of the Public Service Commission may be affected. When two or more members of a Public Service Commission are holding a viva voce examination, they are functioning not as individuals but as the Public Service Commission. Of course, we must make it clear that when a close relative of a member of a Public Service Commission is appearing for interview, such member must withdraw from participation in the interview of that candidate and must not take part in any discussion in regard to the merits of that candidate and even the marks or credits given to that candidate should not be disclosed to him."

40."Real likelihood test" applied inRanjit Thakurv.Union of India[Ranjit Thakurv.Union of India, (1987) 4 SCC 611 : 1988 SCC (L&S) 1] , is elucidated in the following words : (SCC pp. 617-18, paras 15-17)

"15. ... The test of real likelihood of bias is whether a reasonable person, in possession of relevant information, would have thought that bias was likely and whether Respondent 4 was likely to be disposed to decide the matter only in a particular way.

16. It is the essence of a judgment that it is made after due observance of the judicial process; that the court or tribunal passing it observes, at least the minimal requirements of natural justice; is composed of impartial persons acting fairly and without bias and in good faith. A judgment which is the result of bias or want of impartiality is a nullity and the trial "coram non judice"....

17. As to the tests of the likelihood of bias what is relevant is the reasonableness of the apprehension in that regard in the mind of the party. The proper approach for the Judge is not to look at his own mind and ask himself, however, honestly, "Am I biased?"; but to look at the mind of the party before him."

27. In light of the settled law and the pronouncements of the Supreme Court on bias, examining the facts of the present case, this Court is of the view that Dr. Roshan Jacob, who was also the Director, Geology and Mining had directed the District Magistrate to proceed against the petitioner and to cancel his mining lease, which order was duly complied, and subsequently she herself as the revisional authority against the order of cancellation of the mining lease proceeded to hear and reject the revision, which order would certainly be hit by the vice of bias. It is the particular officer who initiated proceedings against the petitioner and other similarly situated persons, who can be said to have already made up her mind with regard to the penalty to be imposed upon the petitioner which is evident from her letter dated 20.03.2021 and further proceeded to decide the revision and, therefore, she was a Judge of her own cause deciding a matter which was initiated by her and also the revision challenging the order of District Magistrate which was passed on her dictates. The ground of bias squarely applies to the facts of the present case and the order dated 29.06.2022 rejecting the revision is clearly illegal and arbitrary and is hit with vice of bias.

28. This Court has also examined the revisional order passed in the case of VAR Enterprises Private Limited in Revision No.128 (R)/SM/2021. It is noticed that the revisionist therein was also confronted with the same inspection report where he was also held guilty of illegal mining in an area beyond the leased area allotted to him. The revisional authority has allowed the revision only on the ground that there is no material to indicate that the lease holder was, in fact, involved in or has indulged in illegal mining. It is clear that the same revisional authority in one case has sought to distinguish the inspection report and declined to fasten any liability upon VAR Enterprises Private Limited while on the basis of the same material have held the petitioner to be guilty of illegal mining. This clearly shows the discriminatory nature in which the impugned order of punishment has been passed and, as such, the action of the administrative authority cannot be sustained.

29. The impugned order has also been assailed on the ground that the same is in violation of Rule 58 of the Rules of 1963. By means of the impugned order the District Magistrate has passed final orders in pursuance of the show cause notice dated 13.11.2020, 10.3.2021 and 23.2.2021. It is stated that the said notice was only with regard to recovery of the outstanding amount of royalty, for non payment of 2 per cent TCS amounting to Rs. 20, 74, 860/- and also 10 per cent of the District Mining Fund (D.M.F.) amounting to Rs.2, 21, 61, 600/-.

30. In this regard Rule 58 of the Rules of 1963 provides that in consequence of non - payment of royalty or other dues the same can be recovered by the respondents only after service of notice to the lessee, to pay within thirty days of the receipt of the notice and if not paid within thirty days then on expiry of fifteen days of the notice the lease can be cancelled. In this regard it has been submitted that thirty days from the date of notice would expire only on 11.05.2021 and fifteen days beyond the said date would expire on 26.05.2021 and even according to the statutory provisions cancellation of the lease of the petitioner could not have been ordered prior to expiry of the said period i.e. 26.05.2021 while in the present case the order of cancellation has been passed on 26.4.2021 before the expiry of statutory period, as such, it is clearly noticed that Rule 58 of the the Rules of 1963 has been flagrantly violated by the respondents in cancellation of their lease in pursuance of the show cause notice dated 12.9.2021. Therefore, on this ground also the cancellation order is illegal and arbitrary and violative of Rule 58 of the Rules of 1963.

31. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, this Court is of the considered view that the impugned order dated 29.6.2022 passed by the State Government in Revision No.11 (R)/VSM/2022 as well as order 26.4.2021 passed by opposite party No.3 i.e. District Magistrate, Banda are illegal and arbitrary, hence, set aside.

32. Considering the seriousness of the allegations and the amount of recovery the respondents are given liberty to proceed against the petitioner in accordance with law, if they so choose.

33. In view of the above, the writ petition stands allowed.

THE HON'BLE ALOK MATHUR, J.

Writ C No. 4897 of 2022

Smt. Shivani Singh ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
In Person

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Divyarth Singh Chuahan, Meenakshi Singh Parihar

A. Civil Law - Custody of Minor daughter - The Juvenile Justice (Care And Protection Of Children) Act, 2015 - Section 101 - Appeal - Power of Appellate Authority to take Additional Evidence - the Juvenile Justice Act does not given any power to the Appellate Authority to receive additional evidence - It can only examine and decide the appeal on the grounds, on which the same has been filed - In case the appellate authority is of the view that the order of the committee is incorrect and that it should have taken/considered more evidence/material, then it could have remanded the matter back to the committee to decide the matter afresh, but it certainly did not have any power to receive "additional evidence" (Para 42)

B. Civil Law - Custody of minor child, in need of care and protection - Family Courts Act, Sections 7 (1)(a), (g) & 20 - The Juvenile Justice (Care And Protection Of Children) Act, 2015 - Child Welfare Committee (CWC) - jurisdiction in relation to the proceedings qua the custody or access to any minor lies with the Family Court - the Child Welfare Committee, under The JJ Act, neither has the jurisdiction nor the power to decide contested claims pertaining to guardianship and custody of minor - If at the behest of one of the parents, a complaint is made before the CWC, with regard to abuse of the child by the other parent or person, and custody is also sought by such parent or person, then the Committee would be within its powers to declare the child to be in need of care and protection, and send him to a fit facility of children's home etc. pending determination/adjudication by court of competent jurisdiction on questions of custody - Power exercised by the committee is administrative in nature, rather than judicial (Para 30, 34)

C. Civil Law - Procedure in Relation to Children in Need Of Care And Protection - the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015 (2 of 2016) - Sections 31 & 36 - the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Model Rules, 2016 - Rule 18 & 19 - Any child in need of care and protection is to be produced before the Committee - the Committee is to hold an inquiry and after interaction with the child may issue directions for placing the child with the parent or guardian or Children's Home, or direct the placing of the child in safe custody of a fit person or a fit facility - the objective of the committee is rehabilitation of the child - Held - in the instant case, there is no mention of the child being examined by the committee which was the primary duty and responsibility (Para 40)

D. The Juvenile Justice (Care And Protection Of Children) Act, 2015 - Child Welfare Committee - In the instant case, procedure and manner adopted by the was absolutely arbitrary - Committee, without giving any opportunity of hearing to the petitioner (mother), to defend herself, decided the matter of custody of her minor daughter and held that she was unable to look after the welfare of the child - The copy of the complaint was never supplied to the petitioner (mother) nor was she supplied any documents which were relied upon by the complainant before the committee - Committee relied upon information published in newspaper articles, and attributed disease of "fbing", still unknown to the medical science, to the petitioner (mother) - Committee was fully aware that the grandfather who was the complainant was 78 years' old and still proceeded to declare him a fit person only to hand over the custody of the minor child while respondent No.5 was a resident of NOIDA living with her husband and would not be in a position to look after the minor child at Sultanpur but she was also declared a fit person and custody handed over - order of the Committee was illegal and arbitrary and suffered from non application of mind (Para 40)

2. Tasleema Begum Vs The State Of West Bengal & Ors (Cal HC) W.P. No.19557(W) of 2017 04.01.2018

1. Heard the petitioner in person, Sri H. G. S. Parihar, Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Divyarth Singh for private respondents and learned Standing counsel for the State-respondents.

2. The petitioner, who is the mother of a minor girl child, has assailed the order dated 17/08/2021 passed by the Child Welfare Committee, Sultanpur whereby the custody of the minor has been handed over to her father-in-law, husband and sister-in-law and has also assailed the order dated 06/12/2021 passed by the appellate authority upholding the order of the Child Welfare Committee (hereinafter referred to as the Committee), and dismissing the appeal preferred by the petitioner.

3. The present controversy is an outcome of an embittered matrimonial relationship between the petitioner and her husband, respondent No. 4. The marriage between the petitioner and respondent No. 4 was solemnised on 21/01/2014 and out of the said wedlock a daughter was born on 30/10/2015. The petitioner and respondent

No. 4 lived for 2 years at Sultanpur, where respondent No. 4 is running nursing schools, and sometimes in 2017 the petitioner along with minor daughter shifted to Lucknow, while respondent no.4 continued to live and work at Sultanpur visiting the petitioner and his daughter during the weekends. The minor child was admitted to a school at Lucknow and according to the petitioner the relationship between her and her husband as well as her in-laws was cordial prior to 25/08/2021, on which date the petitioner was directed to appear before the Committee, Sultanpur.

4. A complaint was made by respondent No. 3, father-in-law of the petitioner to the Committee, Sultanpur seeking custody of his grand daughter. He stating in his complaint that his granddaughter was born on 30/10/2015 at Lucknow. His son and daughter-in-law were living with him after their marriage, when after 2 years the petitioner pressurised her husband to shift to Lucknow to secure better education for the child and subsequently the petitioner and the minor child shifted to Lucknow. Number of allegations have been levelled in the said complaint against the petitioner for not looking after and neglecting the minor daughter. In support of the complaint CCTV images, certificates of various specialist in medical field were also submitted and accordingly prayed for interim custody of the minor child.

5. The Chairman of the Committee issued notices to the petitioner on 02/08/2021 to appear on 04/08/2021. On 04/08/2021 the District Probation Officer was directed to conduct counselling of the minor and submit his report. Again on 04/08/2021 notice was sent to the petitioner for appearance before the Committee on 06/08/2021. Another notice was sent on 06/08/2021 directing the petitioner to appear along with minor daughter on 11.08.2021. It was ordered that the notice be served on the petitioner through Smt Geeta Verma, the Counsellor. The order sheet of 12/08/2021 indicates that the Committee noted that service could not be affected upon the petitioner and hence she was telephonically informed to appear before the Committee on 13/08/2021 and again on 13/08/2021 she was directed to appear on 16/08.2021.

6. On 16/08/2021 the petitioner along with the minor child appeared before the Committee, where according to the order sheet the petitioner refused to sign on the statement made by her, and the entire proceedings were concluded on 16/08/2021 itself, and the matter was reserved for orders, which was delivered on 17/08/2021.

7. The Committee by means of impugned order dated 17/08/2021 accepted and allowed the complaint made by respondent no.3 and returned a finding that the petitioner is a victim of mental illness due to which she becomes violent. Even the adjournments sought by her before the Committee were attributed to her mental illness. The petitioner denied the medical reports submitted by her father-in-law as the same at been prepared under his influence as he had retired as Director General Medical and Health. The Committee also relied upon an article published in a local newspaper on 06/07/2021 with regard to "Paranoid Personality Disorder" and concluded that the petitioner also is suffering from the same disorder due to which she can become violent and such persons do not accept their fault.

8. In the impugned order the Committee has also held that the petitioner is suffering from "Fbing" which according to them is a disease where a person uses his phone excessively and consequently held that due to "Fbing" she neglects her minor daughter.

9. The Committee considered the fact that the complainant, who is father-in-law of the petitioner, retired from a very high post of Director General, Medical and Health Services, Uttar Pradesh and is financially capable of looking after the minor child. Though he is 78 years old and therefore for looking after the minor he will be supported by his son, respondent No. 4 and his daughter Ruchi Singh - respondent No. 5, who is living with her husband in NOIDA, gave an undertaking that they will look after the minor child effectively and accordingly the custody of the minor child was taken away from the petitioner and given to respondent no. 3, 4 and 5.

10. The petitioner being aggrieved by the order of the Committee, Sultanpur dated 17/08/2021 preferred an appeal before the District Magistrate, Sultanpur specially on the ground that the Committee had in the most illegal and arbitrary manner without giving any opportunity of hearing to the petitioner decided the matter of custody of her minor daughter and no procedure was followed apart from the fact that she was never given the copy of the complaint, nor was he supplied any documents which were relied upon by the complainant before the committee. She further submitted that she was never given any opportunity to defend herself, which is evident from the fact that even some statement was not signed by her, and entire proceedings were concluded in extremely hurried manner on 16/08/2021 itself. She denied that Councillor Geeta Verma had ever met her, and no document was examined by the Committee which would indicate that she was mentally unstable and unable to look after her daughter.

11. The petitioner being aggrieved with the order of Committee preferred an appeal before the District Magistrate, who has dismissed the appeal vide order dated 06.12.2021. The District Magistrate has admitted that the order of the Committee does not refer to any CCTV footage, but proceeded to take on record himself additional evidence holding that under the Civil Procedure Code as well as under the Criminal Procedure Code there was expressed provision of taking additional evidence at the appellate stage, and considering himself to be clothed with all the powers and authority of "appellate court" proceeded to examine the additional evidence placed by the respondents and only on the basis of the additional evidence came to conclusion that the petitioner was suffering from mental illness and was also subjecting the minor child with physical assault and abuse. The District Magistrate rejected the arguments of the petitioner that respondent no.3 was responsible for divorce of his elder son, and that respondent no.4, her husband was addicted to liquor and a drunkard and hence custody her minor daughter could not be given to either of them, as no evidence was adduced be her in this regard. He also concluded that the petitioner was informed telephonically about the date fixed before the Committee and hence she was sufficiently served. On the basis of the material produced before him he was satisfied that the conditions exist where living of the minor child with mother may be harmful for the child and dismissed the appeal but granted her visiting rights.

12. The petitioner has assailed the impugned orders passed by the Committee as well as the appellate order passed by the District Magistrate on the ground that the Committee has exceeded its jurisdiction in taking the custody away from the natural mother and handing it over to his grandfather was not the natural guardian of the minor child. It was submitted that in case the respondents wanted the custody of the minor child then the appropriate forum is only under the provisions of Family Courts Act, Hindu Minority and Guardianship Act, or under the provisions of the Guardians and Wards act 1890, before the appropriate Court and not before the Committee under the juvenile Justice act. It was submitted that the entire proceedings are without jurisdiction and liable to be set aside as such.

13. Sri H. G. S. Parihar, Senior Advocate appearing for the respondents, on the other hand, has vehemently opposed the writ petition. He supported the impugned orders passed by the Committee as well as the District Magistrate and submitted that the Committee had exercised the jurisdiction vested in it. It was submitted that various CCTV footages and other documentary evidence was available and submitted before the appellate authority and after proper examination of the same, concluded that the minor was a "child in need of care and protection" as she was physically abused by her mother, who was also found to be suffering from mental illness.

14. A divorce petition filed by the respondent no.4 is pending before the Family Court, Lucknow being case no.2497of 2021 and also a criminal case has been lodged against the petitioner being FIR no.0499/2021 has been lodged against the petitioner under sections 323,504 and 506 IPC.

15. Sri H.G.S. Parihar, Senior Advocate has submitted that according to the definition of "child in need of care" as provided in section 2(14) Of the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 the daughter of the petitioner would fall in definition in subclause (iii) therein as the petitioner is alleged to have injured, neglected the child. Once the child is declared to be a child in need of care, then the child is to produced before the committee as provided for in section 31 Juvenile Justice Act, and after enquiry conducted under section 36 of the act, custody can be given to a fit person. In the present case the report of councillor Smt Geeta Verma was sought for and only thereafter, order for custody has been passed in terms of section 37 for placing the child with her grandfather, father and Bua (aunt) who have been declared to be fit persons.

16. Considering the argument of the petitioner with regard to be jurisdiction of the Committee to consider and decide the aspect of the custody of minor child, specially removing the child from the custody of the mother, and handing the same to the grandfather, it is necessary to examine the statutory provisions as Provided for in the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) act 2015.

17. Section 2(14)(iii) of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015 provides to the effect:

2. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires- .....

.....

(14) "child in need of care and protection" means a child--

(i).....

(ii).....

(iii) who resides with a person (whether a guardian of the child or not) and such person--

(a) has injured, exploited, abused or neglected the child or has violated any other law for the time being in force meant for the protection of child; or

(b) has threatened to kill, injure, exploit or abuse the child and there is a reasonable likelihood of the threat being carried out.

(c) has killed, abused, neglected or exploited some other child or children and there is a reasonable likelihood of the child in question being killed, abused, exploited or neglected by that person;"

18. It is essential to observe that in terms of Section 2(23) of the very same enactment provides to the effect:

2(23) "Court" means a civil court, which has jurisdiction in matters of adoption and guardianship and may include the District Court, Family Court and City Civil Courts."

19. The petitioner has placed reliance on the provisions of Section 26 of the Hindu Marriage Act, 1955 which provides as follows:

"Section 26. In any proceeding under this Act, the court may, from time to time, pass such interim orders and make such provisions in the decree as it may deem just and proper with respect to the custody, maintenance and education of minor children, consistently with their wishes, wherever possible, and may, after the decree, upon application by petition for the purpose, make from time to time, all such orders and provisions with respect to the custody, maintenance and education of such children as might have been made by such decree or interim orders in case the proceeding for obtaining such decree were still pending, and the court may also from time to time revoke, suspend or vary any such orders and provisions previously made."

20. Inter alia the petitioner places reliance on the provisions of Sections 6(a) & 13 of the Hindu Minority and Guardianship Act, 1956, which read to the effect:-

"Section 6. The natural guardians of a Hindu minor; in respect of the minor's person as well as in respect of the minor's property (excluding his or her undivided interest in joint family property), are--

(a) in the case of a boy or an unmarried girl--the father, and after him, the mother: provided that the custody of a minor who has not completed the age of five years shall ordinarily be with the mother;

and

Section 13. (1) In the appointment of declaration of any person as guardian of a Hindu minor by a court, the welfare of the minor shall be the paramount consideration.

(2) No person shall be entitled to the guardianship by virtue of the provisions of this Act or of any law relating to guardianship in marriage among Hindus, if the court is of opinion that his or her guardianship will not be for the welfare of the minor."

21. The petitioner has also placed reliance on the provisions of Sections 12 &

25 of the Guardians and Wards Act, 1890, which reads to the effect:-

"12. (1) The Court may direct that the person, if any, having the custody of the minor shall produce him or cause him to be produced at such place and time and before such person as it appoints, and may make such order for the temporary custody and protection of the person or property of the minor as it thinks proper. (2) If the minor is a female who ought not to be compelled to appear in public, the direction under subsection (1) for her production shall require her to be produced in accordance with the customs and manners of the country.

(3) Nothing in this section shall authorise--

(a) the Court to place a female minor in the temporary custody of a person claiming to be her guardian on the ground of his being her husband, unless she is already in his custody with the consent of her parents, if any, or

(b) any person to whom the temporary custody and protection of the property of a minor is entrusted to dispossess otherwise than by due course of law any person in possession of any of the property.

25. (1) If a ward leaves or is removed from the custody of a guardian of his person, the Court, if it is of opinion that it will be for the welfare of the ward to return to the custody of his guardian, may make an order for his return, and for the purpose of enforcing the order may cause the ward to be arrested and to be delivered into the custody of the guardian.

(2) For the purpose of arresting the ward, the Court may exercise the power conferred on a Magistrate of the first class by section 100 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882 (10 of 1882).

(3) The residence of a ward against the will of his guardian with a person who is not his guardian does not of itself terminate the guardianship."

22. Significantly, Section 7 of the Family Courts Act, 1984 provides for the jurisdiction conferred on a Family Court and spells to the effect:-

"7. (1) Subject to the other provisions of this Act, a Family Court shall--

(a) have and exercise all the jurisdiction exercisable by any district court or any subordinate civil court under any law for the time being in force in respect of suits and proceedings of the nature referred to in the Explanation; and

(b) be deemed, for the purposes of exercising such jurisdiction under such law, to be a district court or, as the case may be, such subordinate civil court for the area to which the jurisdiction of the Family Court extends.

Explanation.--The suits and proceedings referred to in this sub-section are suits and proceedings of the following nature, namely:--

(a) a suit or proceeding between the parties to a marriage for a decree of nullity of marriage (declaring the marriage to be null and void or, as the case may be, annulling the marriage) or restitution of conjugal rights or judicial separation or dissolution of marriage;

(b) a suit or proceeding for a declaration as to the validity of a marriage or as to the matrimonial status of any person;

(c) a suit or proceeding between the parties to a marriage with respect to the property of the parties or of either of them;

(d) a suit or proceeding for an order or injunction in circumstance arising out of a marital relationship;

(e) a suit or proceeding for a declaration as to the legitimacy of any person;

(f) a suit or proceeding for maintenance.

(g) a suit or proceeding in relation to the guardianship of the person or the custody of, or access to, any minor. (2) Subject to the other provisions of this Act, a Family Court shall also have and exercise--

(a) the jurisdiction exercisable by a Magistrate of the first class under Chapter IX (relating to order for maintenance of wife, children and parents) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974); and

(b) such other jurisdiction as may be conferred on it by any other enactment."

23. Section 20 in Chapter-6 of the Family Courts Act, 1984 provides to the effect:-

"20. The provisions of this Act shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any other law for the time being in force or in any instrument having effect by virtue of any law other than this Act."

24. It is apparent thus that in view of the Family Courts Act, the provisions of Section 7 (1)(a) and (g) read with Section 20 of the said enactment makes it apparent that jurisdiction in relation to the proceedings qua the custody or access to any minor has to be essentially determined by the Family Court and cannot fall within domain of the Committee in terms of Section 2(14)(iii) of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children), Act, 2015.

25. Considering the aforesaid, it is noticed that the procedure in relation to children in need of care and protection is provided in Chapter VI of the Act. The procedure commences with Section 31 which deals with production of the child in need of care and protection before the Committee by any of the authorities specially mentioned therein which are police officer Special Juvenile Police Unit, Designated Child Welfare Police Officer, any Officer of the District Child Protection Unit, Inspector appointed under Labour law, any public officer, Childline services or any volunteer non-governmental organisation or any agency as recognised by the State government, Child Welfare Officer or Probation Officer, and the social worker or a public spirited citizen, by the child himself or any nurse, doctor or management of a nursing home, hospital or maternity home.

26. According to Section 36 of the Act enquiry is to be conducted by the committee on production of a child or receipt of a report under section 31. A conjoint reading of section 36 and section 31 would make it clear that the child firstly, has to be produced before the Committee by the authorities mentioned therein, and on such production of the child before the Committee an enquiry is to be conducted, and after consideration of the said enquiry appropriate order has to be passed whether to send the child to children's home or in a fit facility or fit person. At this stage we may also like to observe that the enquiry can be conducted by the committee even on the basis of a report under section 31 of the Act. A perusal of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) model rules, 2016 also provide in rule 18 about production of the child before the committee, and only after the child is produced before the committee and the report in this regard is submitted, the committee proceeds to conduct the enquiry, and thereafter if the facts warrant, declare the child to be a child in need of care and protection.

27. The scheme of the Act also indicates that the enquiry commences only after the production of the child before the committee as per section 36 of the act, and appropriate orders can be passed which are provided for in section 37 of the Act.

28. After examining the various provisions of the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015, it becomes clear that the golden thread underlying the scheme is the rehabilitation of the minor child. In section 36(3) it is provided that after completion of the enquiry the committee is of the opinion that the child has no family or ostensible support or is in continued need of care and protection, it may send the child to specialised adoption agency. Section 37 provides that after the committee declares the child to be in need of care and protection, its primary task is to restore the child to the parent or guardian or family, failing which the minor is to be placed with Children's Home, fit facility, specialized adoption agency etc. Section 38 of the act further provides with regard to the orphaned or abandoned child where the Committee is required to make all efforts for placing such children with their parents or guardians failing which they are declared as child legally free for adoption. Chapter VII is entirely dedicated towards rehabilitation and social reintegration of the children, where it is provided that the restoration and protection of a child shall be the primary objective of any children's home, specialised adoptive agency or orphan shelter. Considering aforesaid provisions contained in the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 it becomes abundantly clear that the objective of the committee is rehabilitation of the child. When a child is produced before the committee, an enquiry is initiated by the committee. In the said enquiry all the available details regarding the child are gathered. His medical and psychological examination may be conducted, pursuant to which the declaration is required to be made that the child is in need of care and protection, and thereafter in accordance provisions laid down the child can be sent any of the places including children's home, fit institution or for fit person etc.

29. The jurisdiction of the Committee is limited to passing necessary orders after making an "enquiry". If the child is found to be a child in need of care and protection necessary orders as envisaged in the act can be passed. There may be cases where there are allegations of abuse of the child by his own parents, or the child may be voluntarily handed over/surrendered by the parents as provided in section 35 of the act, in which case the committee can send the child appropriate place including fit person, fit institution, children's home etc., after following the due process.

30. A bare perusal of the statutory scheme clearly indicates that it the Committee as constituted and empowered under the Act of 2015, does not envisage judicial determination of disputed facts, where at the behest of one of the parents a complaint is made with regard to abuse of the child by the other parent or person, and custody is also sought by such parent or person. If such a case arises then the Committee would be within its powers to declare the child to be in need of care and protection, and send him to a fit facility of children's home etc. pending determination/adjudication by court of competent jurisdiction on questions of custody but handing over of the custody to the other parent or relative, would amount to deciding a matter regarding custody of minor, and as such, it cannot be done merely on basis of a limited enquiry as envisaged in section 31 of the Act. Disputed questions of fact and law would have to be judicially determined, which matter, as discussed earlier would be only for the regular Courts exercising jurisdiction under the Family Courts Act, Hindu Minority and Guardianship Act or the Guardians and Wards Act to decide the issue of custody of a minor child from one parent to another or from one parent to another person in the interest of the child. This is also in consonance with the definition of "Court"provided in Section 2 (23) of the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 where in matters of adoption and guardianship court would means the civil court which has jurisdiction in the matter.

31. Section 40 of the juvenile Justice act would also indicate that it would be the primary duty of the committee to restore a child in need of care and protection, to its parents. Even section 40 of the Act cannot be interpreted to mean that the custody can be taken away from one parent and given to another, as under the said section the word used is "restoration" and "parents" and hence only where the child has fled from home, or is found in illegal custody of third person etc. can he be restored to his parents after following the procedure. It is clear that custody of a child with one parent cannot be transferred to another parent or relative in exercise of power under section 40 of the Act.

32. A petition under Section 13 of the Family Courts Act in case no.2479 of 2021 is pending before the Family Court, Lucknow filed by respondent no.4 against the petitioner, where the issue of custody of the minor child can be appropriately dealt with and decided.

33. Another important aspect which persuades us from holding that the Committee is not empowered to decide contentious custody matters is the scheme of the Juvenile Justice Act, where the procedure provided is limited to holding an enquiry as per section 37 of the Act of 2015 on the production of the child who is in "need of care and protection". On the completion of the enquiry if the committee is of the opinion that the child has no family or ostensible support and continued need of care and protection it may send the child to special adoptive agency. While exercising such power, the welfare of the child is of the utmost importance, which has to be objectively determined by the Committee on the basis of the material on record.

34. A perusal of the provisions dealing with the manner of exercise of power vested in the Committee is limited to passing necessary orders for the protection of the child keeping in mind his/her best interest. The power exercised by the committee is administrative in nature, rather than judicial, which involves determination disputed questions of law and fact. Only the facts have to be ascertained in an enquiry, and orders have to be passed in the best interest of the child. Matters pertaining to grant of custody to either of the parents where the matter is contested between the husband-and-wife, where both claim to be in a better position to have the custody of the minor, then the issues have to be determined judicially after due process and not in a summary manner as per the provisions contained in the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015, and for this reason also, matters of guardianship and custody of minors are to be decided by the competent civil courts after taking evidence and giving proper opportunity of hearing to either side. In this regard Section 2(23) of the juvenile justice act has also to be taken account of which defines the "Court" to be a civil court which has jurisdiction in the matters of adoption and guardianship and may include District court, Family court and City Civil Courts. Therefore, with regard to matters pertaining to guardianship, even according to Juvenile Justice Act, 2015, it is the civil courts which would have precedence and exclusive jurisdiction in deciding such matters, and hence this Court is of the considered view that the Committee neither has the jurisdiction nor the power to decide contested claims pertaining to guardianship and custody of minor.

35. The Delhi High Court in the case of Geetanjali Dogra Vs State and Others CM(M) 1140/2018 while considering the powers of the Committee with regards to its powers to deal with the matters regarding visitation rights of one of the parent, after examining the provisions of the Juvenile Justice act held as under:-

"30. It is apparent thus that in terms of provisions of the Guardians and Wards Act, 1890 powers are conferred on the Court of competent jurisdiction to decide the aspects of guardianship, visitation and access to a minor child and as observed elsewhere hereinabove, in the circumstances of the instant case where there is litigation pending between the parties i.e. the petitioner and the respondent no.2 before the Family Courts, Delhi, the respondent no.2 could not have resorted to a mode to detract from the adjudication qua the rights of access to the minor child, which are to be made by a Court of law.

31. On a consideration of the submissions that have been made on behalf of either side, as observed hereinabove, in terms of Section 7(1) of the Family Courts Act, 1984, taking the same into account and the aspect that there is a litigation pending in the Family Court between the mother of the minor child and the father of the minor child as has been submitted on behalf of the petitioner and not refuted on behalf of the respondent no.1 in as much as the proceedings for maintenance are pending before the said Court, it is apparent that jurisdiction to grant permission or access to the respondent no.2 to the minor child in the circumstances of the instant case is vested with the Family Court concerned alone.

32. Furthermore, it cannot be overlooked that Article 9(1) of the UNCRC which reads to the effect:

"1. States Parties shall ensure that a child shall not be separated from his or her parents against their will, except when competent authorities subject to judicial review determine, in accordance with applicable law and procedures, that such separation is necessary for the best interests of the child. Such determination may be necessary in a particular case such as one involving abuse or neglect of the child by the parents, or one where the parents are living separately and a decision must be made as to the child's place of residence."

also makes it apparent that it cannot be read in isolation and cannot be read in disregard of the domestic law.

36. The Calcutta High Court in the case of Tasleema Begum vs The State Of West Bengal & Ors W.P. No.19557(W) of 2017 decided on 4 January, 2018 in similar circumstances has held:-

"In the present case, there is a lis pending for the custody of the children before the District Judge. Such proceedings, however, will decide the person who will be treated as a guardian of the children concerned. The Committee can in the interregnum provide for the welfare of the children.

Priya Yadav (supra) is of the view that, the Act of 2015 read with the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Rules, 2016 does not confer power to give custody of a child taking it from the mother and giving it to the father in the facts of that case."

37. A perusal of the aforesaid judgement is passed by the Delhi High Court as well as the Calcutta High Court would indicate that both the High Court's have also taken a similar view that the provisions of the Juvenile Justice Act does not give it the power to decide contested and disputed matters pertaining to custody, while it can only as an interim measure, pass appropriate orders in the welfare of the child.

38. Though the finding recorded hereinabove would have been sufficient to conclude/decide the present case, but the manner in which the Committee has proceeded to decide the case as well as the District Magistrate exercising his power of appeal, requires a special mention.

39. The Committee constituted under the Juvenile Justice Act is tasked with the sole objective of acting in the best interest of the child. The individuals manning the Committee are expected to be objective in their approach, be sensitive to the needs of the child and take a holistic view of the situation presented before them and are required to deal with regard to the children in need of care and protection with great circumspection and exploring all possible solutions, before reaching an informed decision with regard to the minor. Any decision short of the above attributes, is liable to be infirm and may turn out to be counter-productive to the best interest of the child. In present Case the complaint was made by the grandfather of the child levelling allegations against his daughter-in-law (petitioner) about abuse and mistreatment of the child, and in turn had sought custody of the minor. It is only after directions were issued by this court on 22.07.2021 that the Committee decided to take up the issue. Notices were issued to the petitioner on 02.08.2021 and 04.08.2021 directing her to appear on 04.08.2021 and 06.08.2021 respectively. It is not understood as to how the Committee expected the notices to be served within two day's by speed post. According to the order-sheet the petitioner was informed on telephone to appear on 16.08.2021. The petitioner appeared along with her minor daughter on the said date. She claims to have denied the allegations made by the complainant. She has denied the meeting with the councillor, she refused to sign the statement made by her and stated that all the medical reports submitted by the complainant were under influence of the father-in-law who retired senior post of Director general medical and health. The committee interacted with the child, and thereafter concluded the proceedings and reserved its orders.

40. A perusal of the impugned order passed by the Committee dated 17/08/2021 would reveal that the entire enquiry and discussion is regarding conduct and behaviour of the petitioner. There is no mention or even a whisper with regard to the issue being dealt by them regarding the minor's custody which was being determined by the Committee. The Committee has relied upon information published in newspaper articles, and attributed disease of "fbing" still unknown to the medical science to the petitioner and held that she is unable to look after the welfare of the child. The procedure and manner adopted by the committee for deciding the controversy, on the face of it, is absolutely arbitrary coupled with the fact that even the copy of the complaint was never supplied to the petitioner, the medical reports sought to be used against her were never verified by the committee and most importantly there is no mention of the child being examined by the committee which was the primary duty and responsibility. There is no reason as to why the proceedings were concluded in such a hurry manner on 16/08/2021 itself when the petitioner had appeared along with her daughter. We have also perused the original records but could not find the proceedings relating to 16/08/2021. Initially a photocopy of the order-sheet was produced before us, as the order contained therein were cryptic and did not disclose the true proceedings of the Committee and therefore this Court was constrained to call for the entire original records and we found that the typed order-sheet produced before us was at variance with the order-sheet maintained by the committee in the original file. Such procedure is not appreciated and does not inspire confidence in the way the Committee seems to be functioning. No proper proceedings were held to declare the respondent No. 3, 4 and 5 to be fit persons, before handing over the custody of the minor. The procedures prescribed in the model rules have also not been followed. Even though respondent No. 3 had prayed for temporary custody of the minor child, but the custody has been granted without any boundation of time or any other contingency, as if it is a final determination with regard to the custody. The Committee has proceeded totally in violation of the statutory provisions and the rules in the present case. We also take cognizance of the fact that an application for exemption has been moved by the private respondents on 22.3.2023 on the ground that respondent No.3 is old and infirm and is suffering of various ailments while respondent No.5 is living with her husband in NOIDA. The above facts were also there before the Committee before it proceeded to declare respondent No.s 3 & 5 fit persons. The facts themselves reveal that the order of the Committee was was illegal and arbitrary and suffered from non application of mind. They were fully aware that respondent No.3 (grandfather) who was the complainant was 78 years' old and still proceeded to declare him a fit person only to hand over the custody of the minor child while respondent No.5 was a resident of NOIDA living with her husband and would not be in a position to look after the minor child at Sultanpur but she was also declared a fit person and custody handed over.

41. The District Magistrate, on the other hand, deciding the appeal against the order of the Committee has assumed the role of an "appellate court" under the Civil Procedure Code as well as Criminal Procedure Code. He has admitted that there was no reliable material before the Committee to give the custody to the respondents, but decided to entertain additional evidence, which was filed only by the respondents, and on the basis of the CCTV images and on the basis of the evidence adduced it returned a finding that the petitioner was abusing the child and mistreating her and consequently granted custody to the respondents.

42. With regard to the validity of the impugned appellate order, firstly, we would like to observe, that an administrative officer hearing in appeal has to decide the same in consonance with the statutory provisions which have clothe him with such power. Under the Juvenile Justice Act Section 101 provides for appeals, against the orders of the Committee. The Act does not given any power to the appellate authority to receive additional evidence, and therefore in absence of any such power the appellate authority under the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 would not have any power to receive additional evidence. It can only examine and decide the appeal on the grounds on which the same has been filed. Even otherwise, the Committee, who's order are appealed against does not take evidence, but only passes orders on the basis of "enquiry" as provided in Section 31 of the act, and certainly the appellate authority would not have any more powers than that of the body empowered to decide the matter originally. It is in this regard that the District Magistrate has exceeded its jurisdiction and clearly misdirected himself while deciding the appeal. In case the appellate authority was of the view that the order of the committee was incorrect and that it should have taken/considered more evidence/material, then it could have remanded the matter back to the committee to decide the matter afresh, but it certainly did not have any power to receive "additional evidence". The provision of appeal is also provided in various other statutes to the higher authority against the orders passed by authorities prescribed therein, where they decide about matters pertaining to creation, extinguishment or defining rights under the said statutes, but such appeals cannot be equated to the power of appeal as provided to the regular courts under the Civil Procedure Code or the Criminal Procedure Code. The appellate authority under these special statutes, are in fact Tribunals is of limited jurisdiction, and are vested with the power of deciding the appeal against the order of the prescribed authority and nothing more. Such appellate authorities are, in fact, Tribunals of limited jurisdiction exercise of powers of which are circumscribed in the statute itself and they cannot arrogate to themselves the powers of an appellate court under the Civil Procedure Code or Criminal Procedure Code.

43. After examining the orders of the Committee as well as of the District Magistrate, this Court is of the considered view that both the orders are illegal and arbitrary and deserve to be set aside. Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed. Order dated 17/08/2021 passed by the Child Welfare Committee, Sultanpur as well as the order dated 06/12/2021 passed by the appellate authority are hereby quashed.

44. The custody of the minor daughter of the petitioner is restored to the petitioner forthwith. It would be open for the petitioner as well as respondent No. 4 to approach the competent court to seek custody of their minor daughter in accordance with law.

U.P. Avas Evam Vikas Parishad Adhiniyam, 1965 - Power to levy mutation fee - In the instant case by the impugned order Parishad demanded a fee of 5% of the total consideration of the deed of assignment towards Mutation Fee - Held - purpose of mutation is to register the transfer in the records of the Parishad so as to recover taxes from such taxpayers - Once the application for mutation is made, the same is to be examined by the department concerned viz Parishad and after hearing objection, if any entry in the record is directed to be changed in favour of the transferee, such exercise is only for fiscal purpose to determine the liability to pay as tax - fee is levied essentially for services rendered and there is no element of quid pro quo between the petitioner and the Parishad as Avas Evam Vikas Parishad does not render any service to its allottees or transferees, except for correction to be made in the records that are maintained by it for its own purposes - Even if any fee can be charged by the Parishad to correct the entries in its record, it cannot be ex-propriatory in nature, and calculated ad valorem as the expenses incurred in all such cases are nominal in nature - function of the Parishad with regard to the mutation remains the same whether the applicant is a transferee under a conveyance or a lessee or a beneficiary under a will or in case of intestate succession - Impugned order set aside by court. 1. Calcutta Municipal Corp. & ors. Vs Shrey Mercantile Pvt. Ltd. & ors. (2005) 4 SCC 245

Hon'ble Manish Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Shri Deepak Seth, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Manish Jauhari, learned counsel appearing for the respondent Nos. 2 and 3 and learned Standing Counsel appearing for the State respondents.

2. This writ petition has been filed praying for quashing of the orders dated 16.05.2008 and 15.04.2004 passed by the respondent nos. 2 and 3 filed as annexure nos. 1 and 2 to the writ petition respectively. A Direction has also been sought to the respondents not to realize or demand any mutation fee from the petitioner in pursuance to the impugned orders dated 16.05.2008 and 15.04.2004.

3. It has been argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that the petitioner is a Company incorporated under the Companies Act. The present petition has been filed through its Managing Director. The Company purchased a commercial Plot No. 5/C.P.-105 Indira Nagar, Lucknow admeasuring 3722.10 Sq. Mtrs for a total consideration of Rs. 10,42,80,800/- through registered deed of assignment dated 06.12.2008 registered in the office of Sub Registrar-3 Lucknow from Mansarovar Urban Cooperative Bank Limited (hereinafter referred to as, the Bank) which in turn had purchased the same from U.P. Awas Evam Vikas Parishad, Lucknow (hereinafter referred to as, the Parishad) through registered lease deed dated 25.08.1995 for a total premium of Rs. 68,52,258/-.

4. Immediately after the execution of the deed of assignment dated 06.12.2006 in favour of the petitioner, the petitioner started paying House Tax, Water Tax and the Sewer Tax etc to the Nagar Nigam, Lucknow after due assessment. As the land was purchased for raising a commercial building, the petitioner submitted a building plan to the Parishad, which was approved by the Parishad and thereafter the petitioner raised construction over the land in question. All of a sudden, the Parishad vide its order impugned dated 15.04.2004 decided to levy mutation fee from subsequent purchaser of a property, which had initially been alloted by the Parishad to some other person. It demanded a fee of 5% of the total consideration of the deed of assignment towards Mutation Fee. A demand was raised by the Parishad and the petitioner represented to the respondent no. 3 on 12.04.2007 stating therein that there was no justification for imposition of 5% mutation fee ad valorem as it was very excessive, as compared to the mutation fee charged by the other local authorities including the L.D.A., which was at that time only 1% charging of the sale consideration.

5. Moreover, the L.D.A. may levy mutation fee on deriving power from the Uttar Pradesh Urban Planning & Development Act, 1973 but no such power could be usurped by the Parishad as the U.P. Avas Evam Vikas Parishad Adhiniyam, 1965 does not give such power to the Parishad to charge mutation fee, as aforesaid.

6. In pursuance of the representation of the petitioner, the Parishad ordered mutation of the name of the petitioner in its record subject to the condition that petitioner would pay the requisite fee within fifteen days, if any, after finalization of the matter and the petitioner was required to furnish an Indemnity Bond in the said circumstances. The Indemnity Bond was submitted by the petitioner on 25.04.2007. No further action was taken by the Parishad till April, 2008 but on 16.05.2008, the Parishad served a notice upon the petitioner to deposit Rs. 52,10,940/- as a mutation fee within a fortnight or else recovery proceedings would be initiated against the petitioner for recovery of same, as arrears of the land revenue.

7. It has been argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that a fee is levied essentially for services rendered and there is no element of quid pro quo between the petitioner and the Parishad as the Parishad is not rendering any service to the petitioner in pursuance of the payment of such mutation fee except for maintaining its record correctly. All services relating to maintaining of the colony are being provided by the Lucknow Nagar Nigam for which the petitioner is paying the fee and taxes levied by the Nagar Nigam. There are no bylaws, Rules or Regulation or any other provision in the Act, 1965 itself for imposition or realization of mutation fee. Such a mutation fee without rendering any service amounts to imposition of tax for which the Parishad has no authority delegated to it by the State Government or the State Legislature. The Act, 1965 confers power to make Rules upon the Government and the power to make Regulation subject to the provisions of the Act and the Rules by the Board of the Parishad. The impugned orders have been passed without jurisdiction and hence liable to be set aside.

8. It has also been argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that when the petition was filed, the Court had been pleased to stay the operation and enforcement of the order dated 16.05.2008 demanding Rs. 52,10,940/- from the petitioner to be paid by it within 15 days or else to face recovery proceedings till further orders. Time was granted also to the respondents to file their counter affidavit.

9. A counter affidavit has been filed by the Parishad along with an application for vacation of interim order wherein it has been stated that the order dated 15.04.2004 has been passed in pursuance of a meeting convened by the Housing Commissioner in the interest of Parishad and taking into account power conferred upon him under Regulation 18 of Avas Evam Vikas Parishad ki Sampatti Ke Nistaran Sambandhi Viniyam, 1980, which provides that the decision of the Housing Commissioner shall be final in any case and he shall be competent to take decision in the interest of Parishad. Therefore, the Housing Commissioner has taken a decision to levy 5% mutation charges of transfer of commercial property.

10. It has been stated that initially the commercial plot in question had been allotted in favour of the Bank and the lease deed was executed in favour of the Bank by the Parishad on 16.08.1995. Although the Indira Nagar Scheme has been transferred to Lucknow Nagar Nigam, Lucknow, it is only for maintaining the services of the road, Sewer and Parks etc but the right relating to the properties has not been transferred and the Parishad continues to be the owner of the property and the allottees are lessees thereof and any lessee, who further leases out the property must do so with prior intimation to the Parishad. The allotment in respect of the Bank had been made subject to the condition that it may transfer the said land, but only for the same purpose for which it was originally allotted. Under Section 95 of the Act, 1965, the Board of the Parishad is authorized to frame Regulations and the Regulations have been framed in 1980. Power under Regulation 18 was available to the Housing Commissioner to issue the order levying 5% mutation fee.

11. It has further been stated that the petitioner had furnished Indemnity Bond on 25.04.2007 and therefore it cannot deviate from its liability of making payment and it also cannot challenge the order passed by the Housing Commissioner dated 15.04.2004. It is only after obtaining the Indemnity Bond that the name of the petitioner was mutated on the property in question by the Parishad.

12. A supplementary counter affidavit has also been filed by the respondents wherein mention has been made of the Government Order dated 06.02.1997 issued by the Principal Secretary directing all the Vice-Chairman of development authorities to determine mutation fee at their level. The aforesaid Government Order has been stated to be placed in the 198th Board meeting of Uttar Pradesh Awas Evam Vikas Parishad held on 21.07.2007 and it was decided to refer the matter relating to the Parishad to the State Government.

13. There is no mention of any decision being taken by the State Government conferring such power on Parishad.

14. It has also been stated that the order dated 15.04.2004 was amended by an another order dated 29.04.2011 in pursuance of the decision taken in the 216th Board meeting held on 14.03.2011 and it was decided that only 1% mutation charges shall be taken in future but earlier matters shall not be reopened. Copy of the order dated 29.04.2011 and the Minutes of Meeting of the Board held on 14.03.2011 are annexed as annexure no. 2 to the Supplementary Counter Affidavit.

15. In the rejoinder affidavit filed by the petitioner, the contents of the writ petition have been reiterated relating to lack of power in the Housing Commissioner to issue the order impugned herein dated 15.04.2004 and also to levy mutation fees on ad valorem basis, which is in the nature of tax, which requires sanction of law by the competent legislature. It has also been submitted that mere furnishing of Indemnity Bond would not mean that petitioner has agreed by the charging of such mutation fee ad valorem by the Parishad.

16. In the case of Calcutta Municipal Corporation & Others Vs. Shrey Mercantile Pvt Limited & Others reported in (2005) 4 SCC 245 where the question which arose for determination has been mentioned in paragraph 1 of the report, which has been framed as under:

" whether the imposition for the process of change in the name of the owner, in the assessment books of the Corporation is in the nature of "a fee" or "tax"?.

17. Thereafter, the facts of the particular Civil Appeal that was being considered, have been discussed, where certain property belonging to some persons was sold by a deed of conveyance to the respondents. The building was very old and was in a dilapidated condition. The developers decided to construct a new building after demolishing the existing old structure. The developers submitted the building plan for sanction which the Corporation refused to accept without the names of the developers being brought on record by way of mutation. The developers applied for mutation by deletion of names of the previous owners and substitution of their name for which the Corporation demanded mutation fee of Rs.3 lakhs under the Calcutta Municipal Corporation (Taxation) Regulations, 1989, which was challenged by filing of writ petition before the Calcutta High Court. By judgement and order dated 31.01.2000, the learned Single Judge held that mutation was the process of change of name of the owner in the books of the Corporation; that the impugned Regulations had failed to satisfy the requirement of quid pro quo; and that the Corporation was not justified in using its power to levy fees on mutation by charging large sums which partake the character of taxation. Learned Single Judge was of the considered opinion that in the garb of imposition of mutation fees, the Corporation had done nothing other than to impose the tax. Accordingly, the writ application was allowed.

18. Aggrieved by the said judgement of the learned Single Judge, the Corporation approached the Division Bench and the Division Bench rejected the appeal by observing that the essential purpose of Section 183 of the Calcutta Municipal Corporation Act was to mutate somebody's name and that no other service of any kind whatsoever was rendered to the ratepayers, and that under Section 183 (5), mutation fee was merely to be prescribed by Regulations and not to impose a tax in the garb of fees, that no such delegation was ever made in favour of the Corporation; that the rate of levy on ad valorem basis itself indicated that the levy was in the nature of a tax; that the different rates prescribed for mutation in the case of transfers vis a vis intestate succession indicated that the levy was a tax and not a fee; that the said provision was not for the benefit of the owner of the premises but it was for statutory compliance, failure to comply wherewith was to attract penal consequences; that no benefit was conferred on the ratepayers and on the contrary, the said provision was for the benefit of the Corporation; that the nature of the services rendered to the ratepayers for mutation had no connection with the quantum of fees sought to be levied; that the fee was neither regulatory nor compensatory; and that the impugned Regulations were discriminatory inasmuch as the purchasers were subjected to a higher fee than those who got the ownership of property by way of intestate succession, wholly overlooking the fact that both these groups for all practical purposes of taxation constituted one class by themselves. Accordingly, the impugned Regulations were held to be arbitrary and violative of Article 14 and 246 of the Constitution.

19. The said judgement of the Division Bench was affirmed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court and while affirming the said judgement, the Supreme Court has referred to binding precedents for example, the State of West Bengal Vs. Kesoram Industries Ltd reported in (2004) 10 SCC 201; Synthetics and Chemicals Ltd Vs. State of U.P. reported in (1990) 1 SCC 109 and CCE Vs. Chhata Sugar Company Limited reported in (2004) 3 SCC 466, wherein reference was made to distinction made between Fee and Tax and it was observed that in the garb of exercising the power to regulate, any fee or levy which has no connection with the cost or expenses of administering the Regulation, cannot be imposed and only such levy can be justified as can be treated as a part of regulatory measure. The power to regulate, develop, or control would not include within its ken, a power to levy tax or fee, except when it is only regulatory in nature.

20. The Court has also observed that undisputedly the appellant-Corporation was collecting Tax from general public for water supply, street light and approach roads etc. and thus the Tax that was sought to be imposed in the garb of service charges or mutation fee could not be allowed. The Court also observed in paragraphs 19, 20, 21 and 22 as follows:

19. In the case of Nand Kishwar Bux Roy v. Gopal Bux Rai [AIR 1940 PC 93] the Court,

"[M]utation proceedings are merely in the nature of fiscal inquiries, instituted in the interest of the State for the purpose of ascertaining which of the several claimants for the occupation of the property may be put into occupation of it with the greater confidence that the revenue for it will be paid."

20. Therefore, it is clear that mutation enquiry is instituted in the interest of the Corporation for tax purposes and not for the benefit of the taxpayer.

21. Now coming to the question of challenge to the levy as arbitrary and discriminatory and violative of Article 14, we find that the functions of the Corporation with regard to mutation remain the same, whether the applicant is a transferee under a conveyance or a lessee or a beneficiary under a Will or an heir in the case of intestate succession. Once an application for mutation is made, the same is examined by the department and after hearing the objections, if any, the record is ordered to be changed. Ultimately, the exercise is for fiscal purpose. Similarly, the property valuation may be below Rs 50,000 or above Rs 2 lakhs, the function of the Corporation in making the mutation entry remains the same. Similarly, whatever may be the cause of mutation, whether it is a case of transfer or devolution, the activity of mutation remains constant in all the cases. The expenses incurred in all the cases also cannot vary, whatever be the value of the property or the cause of mutation. In the circumstances, there is no reason given for charging different rates depending on the value of the property and the cause of transfer. By doing so, the incidence of the levy falls differently on persons similarly situated resulting in violation of Article 14 of the Constitution. Moreover, the quantum of fees is disproportionate to the so-called "services" which is one more circumstance showing arbitrariness in the levy of such imposition. So far as Article 14 is concerned, the courts in India have always examined whether the classification was based on intelligible differentia and whether the differentia had a reasonable nexus with the object of legislation. (See Om Kumar v. Union of India [(2001) 2 SCC 386] .)

22. Applying the said tests to the impugned levy, we find that the levy is irrational, arbitrary, discriminatory and beyond Section 183(5) of the said 1980 Act."

21. It is clear from the arguments and the judgement of the Supreme Court, the purpose of mutation is to register the transfer in the records of the Parishad so as to recover taxes from such taxpayers. When no such taxes are payable to the Parishad after the transfer of the colony to the Nagar Nigam, there is no question of mutation fee to be paid to the Parishad. The function of the Parishad with regard to the mutation remains the same whether the applicant is a transferee under a conveyance or a lessee or a beneficiary under a will or in case of intestate succession. Once the application for mutation is made, the same is to be examined by the department concerned viz Parishad and after hearing objection, if any entry in the record is directed to be changed in favour of the transferee, such exercise is only for fiscal purpose to determine the liability to pay as tax.

22. Even if any fee can be charged by the Parishad to correct the entries in its record, it cannot be expropriatory in nature, and calculated ad valorem as the expenses incurred in all such cases are nominal in nature. This fact can also be ascertained from the circumstances which existed prior to the order dated 15.04.2004 as no mutation fee was being charged by the Parishad earlier.

23. This Court has found that the judgment rendered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Calcutta Municipal Corporation (supra) squarely applies. The Parishad does not render any service to its allottees or transferees, except for correction to be made in the records that are maintained by it for its own purposes. Hence, the impugned order dated 15.04.2004 & 16.05.2008 are liable to be set aside and are hereby set aside.

24. Consequences to follow.

25. In view of the discussion made hereinabove, the present writ petition is allowed.

Writ petition allowed . (E-1)

List of Cases cited :-

1. Ananthesh Bhakta Vs Nayana S Bhakta; (2017) 5 SCC 185

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Bhatia, J.)

1. The present petition has been filed by the petitioner challenging the order dated 03.01.2023 whereby the restoration application filed by the petitioner has been rejected on the ground of limitation.

2. The facts in brief are that the proceedings were initiated by the respondent Bank against the petitioner before the Debts Recovery Tribunal, Patna which was decided against the petitioner. Against the order of DRT, Patna, the petitioner preferred an Appeal before the Debts Recovery Appellate Tribunal, Allahabad, however, the petitioner had not made any deposit along with the appeal as is required under Section 21 of The Recovery of Debts and Bankruptcy Act, 1993.

3. From the documents as on record, it appears that the petitioner was granted time to make the deposit, however, he has not deposited which led to the dismissal of the appeal. Subsequently, when the petitioner arranged the funds, he moved an application for deposit of an amount of Rs.20,00,000/- and sought recall of the order dated 21.01.2020 whereby the appeal was dismissed for want of pre-deposit and prayed that the said order be recalled and decided on merit. The said recall application has been dismissed by means of the impugned order dated 03.01.2023 mainly on the ground that the restoration application has been filed after expiry of two and a half years and the same is highly belated.

4. The contention of the Counsel for the petitioner Shri Sanjay Kumar Gupta, is that under the Act in question, there is a provision of filing of an appeal as contained under Section 21 of the RDB Act. 1993. He argues that condition specified in Section 21 is only for entertaining the Appeal and the provisions of said does not provide any power to the DRAT to direct the pre-deposit and in any case, even if, no deposit is made, as specified in Section 21, the appeal cannot be dismissed. The only effect of Section 21 of the RDB Act, 1993 is that the appeal would not be entertained unless the deposit as required is made. Before discussing the said controversy, it is necessary to reproduce the said Section 21 of the RDB Act, which is as under:

"21. Deposit of amount of debt due, on filing appeal. Where an appeal is preferred by any person from whom the amount of debt is due to a bank or a financial institution or a consortium of banks or financial institutions, such appeal shall not be entertained by the Appellate Tribunal unless such person has deposited with the Appellate Tribunal fifty per cent. of the amount of debt so due from him as determined by the Tribunal under section 19:

Provided that the Appellate Tribunal may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, reduce the amount to be deposited by such amount which shall not be less than twenty-five per cent. of the amount of such debt so due to be deposited under this section."

5. On a plain reading of Section 21, it is clear that it provides for a statutory appeal, with a rider that the appeal can not be entertained, if the deposit, as specified, subject to the exercise of powers under the proviso, is not made.

6. The phrase "shall not be entertained", came up for consideration in various judgments of Supreme Court as the said expression is used in many statutes. The Supreme Court in the Judgment of Ananthesh Bhakta vs. Nayana S Bhakta (2017) 5 SCC 185 considered the meaning of the said expression and laid as under.

"20. There is one another aspect of the matter which is sufficient to uphold the order of the District Judge. Section 8(2) uses the phrase "shall not be entertained". Thus, what is prohibited is the entertainment of the application unless it is accompanied by the original arbitration agreement or a duly certified copy thereof.

21. The word "entertained" has specific meaning in P. Ramanatha Aiyar's Advanced Law Lexicon. The word "entertained" has been defined as:

"Entertain.--(1) To bear in mind or consider; esp., to give judicial consideration to (the court then entertained motions for continuance). (2) To amuse or please. (3) To receive (a person) as a guest or provide hospitality to (a person).

The expression "entertain" means to "admit a thing for consideration" and when a suit or proceeding is not thrown out in limine but the court receives it for consideration and disposal according to law it must be regarded as entertaining the suit or proceeding, no matter whatever the ultimate decision might be."

22. The Black's Law Dictionary also defines this word "entertain" as follows:

"entertain, vb. (1) To bear in mind or consider; esp., to give judicial consideration to

23. In Hindusthan Commercial Bank Ltd. v. Punnu Sahu [Hindusthan Commercial Bank Ltd. v. Punnu Sahu, (1971) 3 SCC 124] , the word "entertained" came for consideration as occurring in Order 21 Rule 90 proviso of the Civil Procedure Code. Para 2 of the judgment notices the amended proviso which was to the following effect: (SCC p. 125)

"2. The amended proviso with which we are concerned in this appeal reads thus:

"Provided that no application to set aside a sale shall be entertained--

(a) upon any ground which could have been taken by the applicant on or before the date on which the sale proclamation was drawn up; and

(b) unless the applicant deposits such amount not exceeding twelve-and-half per cent of the sum realised by the sale or furnishes such security as the court may, in its discretion, fix except when the court for reasons to be recorded dispenses with the requirements of this clause:

Provided further that no sale shall be set aside on the ground of irregularity or fraud unless upon the facts proved the court is satisfied, that the applicant has sustained substantial injury by reason of such irregularity or fraud.'"

24. The contention of the appellant in Punnu Sahu case [Hindusthan Commercial Bank Ltd. v. Punnu Sahu, (1971) 3 SCC 124] was that the word "entertain" refers to initiation of the proceedings and not to the stage when the court takes up the application for consideration. The High Court had rejected the said contention. The above view of the High Court was approved by this Court in para 4 of the judgment. Following was stated: (SCC pp. 125-26)

"4. Before the High Court it was contended on behalf of the appellant and that contention was repeated in this Court, that clause (b) of the proviso did not govern the present proceedings as the application in question had been filed several months before that clause was added to the proviso. It is the contention of the appellant that the expression "entertain" found in the proviso refers to the initiation of the proceedings and not to the stage when the Court takes up the application for consideration. This contention was rejected by the High Court relying on the decision of that Court in Kundan Lal v. Jagan Nath Sharma [Kundan Lal v. Jagan Nath Sharma, 1962 SCC OnLine All 38 : AIR 1962 All 547] . The same view had been taken by the said High Court in Dhoom Chand Jain v. Chaman Lal Gupta [Dhoom Chand Jain v. Chaman Lal Gupta, 1962 SCC OnLine All 29 : AIR 1962 All 543] and Haji Rahim Bux and Sons v. Firm Samiullah and Sons [Haji Rahim Bux and Sons v. Firm Samiullah and Sons, 1962 SCC OnLine All 156 : AIR 1963 All 320] and again in Mahavir Singh v. Gauri Shankar [Mahavir Singhv. Gauri Shankar, 1963 SCC OnLine All 221 : AIR 1964 All 289]. These decisions have interpreted the expression "entertain" as meaning "adjudicate upon" or "proceed to consider on merits". This view of the High Court has been accepted as correct by this Court in Lakshmiratan Engg. Works Ltd. v. CST[Lakshmiratan Engg. Works Ltd. v. CST, AIR 1968 SC 488] . We are bound by that decision and as such we are unable to accept the contention of the appellant that clause (b) of the proviso did not apply to the present proceedings."

25. Another relevant judgment is Martin and Harris Ltd. v. Addl. District Judge [Martin and Harris Ltd. v. Addl. District Judge, (1998) 1 SCC 732] . In the above case Section 21(1) proviso of the U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 (13 of 1972) word "entertain" came for consideration. The proviso to Section 21(1) was to the following effect: (SCC p. 741, para 8)

"8. ... "Provided that where the building was in the occupation of a tenant since before its purchase by the landlord, such purchase being made after the commencement of this Act, no application shall be entertained on the grounds, mentioned in clause (a) unless a period of three years has elapsed since the date of such purchase and the landlord has given a notice in that behalf to the tenant not less than six months before such application, and such notice may be given even before the expiration of the aforesaid period of three years:'

26. In the above case, the application under Section 21(1) was filed by the landlord before expiry of period of three years from the date of purchase. It was held by this Court that word "entertained" as employed in the first proviso under Section 21(1) could not mean "institution" of such proceedings. In paras 9 and 10, following was laid down: (Martin and Harris case [Martin and Harris Ltd. v. Addl. District Judge, (1998) 1 SCC 732] , SCC pp. 744-46)

"9. Even that apart there is an internal indication in the first proviso to Section 21(1) that the legislature has made a clear distinction between "entertaining" of an application for possession under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act and "filing" of such application. So far as the filing of such application is concerned it is clearly indicated by the legislature that such application cannot be filed before expiry of six months from the date on which notice is given by the landlord to the tenant seeking eviction under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act. The words, "the landlord has given a notice in that behalf to the tenant not less than six months before such application", would naturally mean that before filing of such application or moving of such application before the prescribed authority notice must have preceded by at least six months. Similar terminology is not employed by the legislature in the very same proviso so far as three years' period for entertaining such application on the grounds mentioned in clause (a) of Section 21(1) a stage must be reached when the court applied its judicial mind and takes up the case for decision on merits concerning the grounds for possession mentioned in clause (a) of Section 21(1) of the Act. Consequently on the very scheme of this Act it cannot be said that the word "entertain" as employed by the legislature in the first proviso to Section 21(1) of the Act would mean "institution" of such proceedings before the prescribed authority or would at least mean taking cognizance of such an application by the prescribed authority by issuing summons for appearance to the defendant-tenant. It must be held that on the contrary the term "entertain" would only show that by the time the application for possession on the grounds mentioned in clause (a) of Section 21(1) is taken up by the prescribed authority for consideration on merits, at least minimum three years' period should have elapsed since the date of purchase of the premises by the landlord.

10. ... The learned Senior Counsel, Shri Rao, for the appellant then invited our attention to two decisions of this Court in Lakshmiratan Engg. Works Ltd. v. CST [Lakshmiratan Engg. Works Ltd. v. CST, AIR 1968 SC 488] and Hindusthan Commercial Bank Ltd. v. Punnu Sahu [Hindusthan Commercial Bank Ltd. v.Punnu Sahu, (1971) 3 SCC 124]. In Lakshmiratan Engg. [Lakshmiratan Engg. Works Ltd. v. CST, AIR 1968 SC 488] this Court was concerned with the meaning of the word "entertain" mentioned in the proviso to Section 9 of the U.P. Sales Tax Act, 1948. Hidayatullah, J., speaking for the Court observed in the light of the statutory scheme of Section 9 of the said Act that the direction to the Court in the proviso to Section 9 was to the effect that the Court shall not proceed to admit to consideration an appeal which is not accompanied by satisfactory proof of the payment of the admitted tax. In Hindusthan Commercial Bank [Hindusthan Commercial Bank Ltd. v. Punnu Sahu, (1971) 3 SCC 124] the term "entertain" as found in the proviso to Order 21 Rule 90 of the Code of Civil Procedure (CPC) fell for consideration of the Court. Hegde, J., speaking for a Bench of two learned Judges of this Court in this connection observed that the term "entertain" in the said provision means "to adjudicate upon" or "to proceed to consider on merits" and did not mean "initiation of proceeding". The aforesaid decisions, in our view, clearly show that when the question of entertaining an application for giving relief to a party arises and when such application is based on any grounds on which such application has to be considered, the provision regarding "entertaining such application" on any of these grounds would necessarily mean the consideration of the application on the merits of the grounds on which it is base. In the present case, therefore, it must be held that when the legislature has provided that no application under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act shall be entertained by the prescribed authority on grounds mentioned in clause (a) of Section 21(1) of the Act before expiry of three years from date of purchase of property by the landlord it must necessarily mean consideration by the prescribed authority of the grounds mentioned in clause (a) of Section 21(1) of the Act on merits."

27. In the present case as noted above, the original retirement deed and partnership deed were filed by the defendants on 12th May and it is only after filing of the original deeds that the court proceeded to decide the application IA No. IV.

28. Section 8(2) has to be interpreted to mean that the court shall not consider any application filed by the party under Section 8(1) unless it is accompanied by the original arbitration agreement or duly certified copy thereof. The filing of the application without such original or certified copy, but bringing original arbitration agreement on record at the time when the court is considering the application shall not entail rejection of the application under Section 8(2).

29. In the present case it is relevant to note that the retirement deed and partnership deed have also been relied upon by the plaintiffs. Hence, the argument of the plaintiffs that the defendants' application IA No. IV was not accompanied by the original deeds, hence, liable to be rejected, cannot be accepted. We are thus of the view that the appellants' submission that the application of the defendants under Section 8 was liable to be rejected, cannot be accepted."

7. Thus what transpires from the plain reading of Section 21, the phrase "shall not be entertained" used therein and the law as explained by Supreme Court and as recorded above it is clear that the Tribunal is barred from adjudicating/ deciding/ applying its mind to the the appeal and the petitioner/ appellant would not be entitled to any benefit which accrue in terms of the Act only on the ground of filing of appeal as the appeal technically has not even been entertained, if the deposit is not made.

8. The interesting question that arises is whether the appeal can be dismissed only on the ground that the same is without the mandatory pre-deposit? From the law with regards to bar of entertainment of appeal as explained above, it is clear that what cannot be entertained cannot be dismissed either. The only benefit of filing an appeal without the mandatory deposit under Section 21 will be that the appellant would be entitled to the benefit of limitation and nothing more and the Bank or the Financial Institution would be at liberty to initiate and prosecute recovery proceedings against the borrower.

9. In the present case the DRAT has erred in law rejecting the application only on the ground of inordinate delay. From the order, it is clear that the appeal is dismissed for want of pre-deposit which action of the Tribunal itself is bad, as for want of pre-deposit, the appeal technically could not be entertained and thus could not be dismissed either.

10. The Counsel for the respondent Bank, Sri P.N. Tripathi argues that the petitioner has not paid the dues and is adopting dilatory tactic and when steps were taken to recover the dues of the Bank, he made the application after depositing the amount as stated above.

11. In view of the said rival submission, coupled with the fact that the issue raised in the present writ petition pertains to the interpretation of Section 21 of the RDB Act, 1993, I am not inclined to keep the matter pending, as such, the order impugned dated 03.01.2023 is set aside with directions to the Appellate Tribunal to hear and decide the appeal on merit, in accordance with law, with all expedition, preferably within a period of four months from the date of production of certified copy of this order.

12. It is provided that no unnecessary adjournment shall be granted to either of the parties.

13. The amount of Rs.20,00,000/- in the form of demand draft(prepared but not accepted by DRAT) shall be deposited within two weeks from today.

14. It will also be open to the petitioner to approach the respondent Bank for any settlement in accordance with law, if so advised.

16. The writ petition is allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Suneet Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ravi Kant, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Sanjeev Kumar, learned counsel appearing for the petitioners and Sri Ajit Kumar Singh, learned Additional Advocate General assisted by Sri Amit Verma, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents.

2. The property in issue pertains to Nazul Plot No. 10 Civil Station, Allahabad (Prayagraj), admeasuring 11761.41 sq. meters. The petitioners claim freehold right of the property.

3. The admitted, facts, inter se, parties are that a lease came to be executed by the State-respondents in favour of Smt. Khetar Dasi for a period of 50 years w.e.f. 1 April, 1914. Thereafter, the afore-noted plot came to be recorded in the name of Lala Mattu Mal in the Nazul register. After the death of Lala Mattu Mal, on the basis of a registered family partition dated 04 December, 1935, area admeasuring 4211 sq. meters, fell in the share of Ganesh Prasad Seth, son of, Lala Mattu Mal. The property devolved on the death of Ganesh Prasad Seth upon his widow Smt. Tara Devi. Smt. Tara Devi executed a Will in favour of petitioners on 26 June, 1972.

4. It is not in dispute, inter se, parties that the terms of the lease expired on 15 March, 1963. As per the stand of the State-respondents the Nazul plot in question was initially allotted to one A.M. Zeller on 16 March, 1863, for a period of 20 years on lease, duly executed by the then Commissioner, Allahabad Division, Allahabad. The lease expired on 16 March, 1930, which came to be renewed for another 50 years w.e.f. 01 April, 1914. On expiry of the lease in 1963, after a lapse of 27 years, the petitioners herein field an application on 28 February, 1999 for freehold rights.

5. As per the State-respondents, freehold rights has already been granted to the petitioners for 1427 sq. meters of the Nazul land on 26 March, 2002. Further, freehold rights on an additional area admeasuring 612 sq. meters was granted to the petitioners on 30 March, 2002. In other words 2084 sq. meters of the Nazul land was made freehold in favour of petitioners. The petitioners claim freehold right on the remaining part of the Nazul plot.

6. It appears that on a part of the Nazul land a building was standing, which was in the occupation of the Department of Food and Supply of Government of Uttar Pradesh, that portion of the Nazul land, the petitioners claim freehold rights from the State. The applications of the petitioners seeking freehold rights on the constructed portion of the Nazul land came to be rejected by the State Government by passing an order dated 12 October, 2006, wherein, it has been noted that the building was in occupation of the Department of the State Government. Consequently, pursuant to the Government Order referred therein, the lease for freehold rights for the land over which building stands cannot be granted to the petitioners. Pursuant to the impugned order, the second respondent District Magistrate, Allahabad (Prayagraj), by order dated 30 November, 2006, resumed the building / land admeasuring 1513.10 sq. meters. The petitioners by the instant writ petition are assailing the afore-noted orders and claim freehold rights on the said portion of the Nazul land.

7. It is submitted that on 28 February, 1999, petitioners filed an application for freehold right for an area admeasuring 1289.20 sq. meters. As per the Government Order, 25% of the self assessment of valuation of the plot came to be deposited by the petitioners vide Treasury Challan No. DP-2 at Rs. 1,54,704/-. Pursuant thereof, a demand notice was issued by the Additional District Magistrate for the balance amount at Rs. 3,16,700.84 for conversion of the Nazul land into freehold. The amount came to be deposited by the petitioners on 05 June, 2000. A proposed freehold deed, thereafter, was supplied to the petitioner by the office of the Additional District Magistrate. On 05 June, 2000, petitioners submitted a freehold deed along with stamp papers. It appears, thereafter, neither the deed was executed by the second respondent on behalf of the State Government, nor, did the occasion for registration arise.

8. In the meantime, by the impugned communication dated 12 October, 2006, issued by the Special Secretary to the State Government, addressed to the second respondent that part of the Nazul land admeasuring 1513.10 sq. meter over which the office of the District Supply Officer and Additional District Magistrate (Na. Aa.) were functioning, pursuant to the Government Order dated 14 December, 2004, came to be allotted for the office of District Supply Officer, Allahabad, on the terms and conditions specified therein. Pursuant thereof, the District Magistrate passed the consequential order dated 30 November, 2006, resuming the property, admeasuring 1513.10 sq. meter, after demarcation.

9. Relying upon the Government Order dated 14 December, 2004, the application of the petitioners, herein, for freehold rights, on part of the property admeasuring 1289.20 sq. meters, sought vide applications dated 28 February, 1999, came to be rejected. Further, order was passed to refund the amount deposited by the petitioners towards freehold rights along with interest. Nazul land admeasuring 1513.10 sq. meters, accordingly, came to be resumed, as per Government Order dated 12 October, 2006, for the purposes of office of the District Supply Officer.

10. Learned counsel for the petitioners submits that since the second respondent acted upon the application submitted by the petitioners for freehold rights, the demand amount raised by the office of the second respondent came to be deposited, along with the freehold deed and stamp papers, it is urged that the second respondent cannot, thereafter retreat, rather, was bound to execute the deed and got it duly registered. It is further submitted that the second respondent is estopped from retracting and resuming the property in favour of the office of the State Government. It is, therefore, submitted that the respondents be directed to execute the freehold deed for the area of the plot for which the papers was duly completed and submitted for execution and registration.

11. Learned counsel for the petitioners placed reliance on the following judgements in support of his submission.

(i) Sharif Ahmad vs. Regional Transport Authority, Meerut 1;

(ii) Gujrat Pottery Works vs. B.P. Sood2;

(iii) Virendra Sahney & Another vs. District Officer / Collector, Mau & others3;

(iv) Sangam Upnivashan Avas Evam Nirman Sahkari Samiti Ltd. vs. State of U.P. & State of U.P. & others4 and;

(v) Shyam Lal vs. Deepa Dass Chela Ram Chela Garib Das5.

12. In rebuttal, the learned counsel appearing for the State-respondents submits that the lease, admittedly, came to expire in the year 1963. It is not in dispute that the office of the State Government exists on the constructed area of the Nazul plot and has continuously been in possession of the State, until the building was declared dilapidated and not fit for habitation. Consequently, the office came to be shifted to another tenanted building, in view of the status quo order passed by this Court.

13. It is further submitted that the application for renewal of lease came to be filed by the petitioners almost after three decades, the petitioners do not have any vested right and authority to insist upon the State Government to declare a part of the Nazul plot freehold in favour of petitioners.

14. Rival submissions fall for consideration.

15. The facts, inter se, parties are not in dispute. Admittedly, the entire plot belongs to the State and it is also not in dispute that an area admeasuring 2084 sq. meters, in two parts (1472 + 612 sq. meters) has already been made freehold in favour of the petitioners. The claim of the petitioners on that part of the Nazul plot over which, admittedly, office of the State Government was operational and functional, has been refused as per the Government Orders applicable on the date of the decision. Government Order dated 14 October, 2004, mandates allotment of Nazul plot in favour of Government, over which offices has been setup. In other words, that portion of the land would not be made freehold in favour of the lease holder. Further, the construction of the office of the District and Supply Officer, after demolition of the dilapidated building is pending since 2010, due to the pendency of the present writ petition.

16. The sole question that arises for determination is as to whether the State Government was justified, in view of Government Order dated 14 October, 2004, refusing freehold right in favour of the petitioners for the Nazul plot on which office of the State Government was functional.

17. 'Nazul' is an Arabic word. It refers to a land annexed to Crown (Rajbhoomi) i.e. Government land. It is only such land which is owned and vested in the State on account of its capacity of sovereign, and application of right of bona vacantia, which is covered by the expression 'Nazul', as the term is known for the last more than one and half century.

18. Article 296 of the Constitution of India, has retained power of State to get ownership of such land, in respect whereof principle of 'escheat', 'lapse' or 'bona vacantia' would have been applicable prior to the enforcement of Constitution of India. The above power continued to apply after enactment of the Constitution with the only modification that if such land is situate within the territory of State Government, it will vest in State and in other cases, it will vest in Union of India. (Ref : Pierce Leslie and Co. Ltd. vs. Miss Violet Ouchterlony Wapsnare6; State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad7 and Prakati Rai and others vs. State of U.P. and others8.

19. The Government Order dated 14 October, 2004, addressed to all the Divisional Commissioners, District Magistrates and Vice Chairman of the Development Authority, pertains to the offices standing on leased Nazul plot, accordingly, mandating allotment of that portion of the Nazul land to the respective State departments free of cost.

20. The above noted Government Order and the relevant paragraphs for the purposes of the this case is being extracted :-

विषय- प्रदेश के विभिन्न जनपदों में पट्टागत नजूल भूमि पर अवस्थित राजकीय कार्यालयों के पक्ष में नजूल भूमि का आवंटन निःशुल्क किया जाना।

21. On bare perusal of the afore-noted Government Order, it mandates that wherever, on leased Nazul land government office, residential accommodation or any other activities are continuing and the term of the lease has expired, freehold / renewal of the lease would not be renewed / granted without obtaining prior approval from the concerned department as to whether, the property is required for the State. The Government Order further provides that where on the leased Nazul land, Government Offices are situated and in possession of the State department, and that the property is required for the purposes of the office, the same would be allotted to the concerned department, upon expiry of the lease. In other words, freehold right would not be granted.

22. Paragraph 6 of the Government Order mandates and clarifies that where the lease holder of the Nazul property has deposited the amount of the self assessment valuation, but the freehold deed is yet to be executed or has not been executed, the same would not be executed for the portion of the Nazul land over which government office is situated. In that event, the amount, so deposited would be returned to the lease holder along with interest.

23. On specific query, learned counsel appearing for the petitioners fairly admits that the Government Order dated 14 October, 2004 is not under challenge in the present writ petition.

24. On the contrary, reliance has been placed by the learned counsel for the petitioners on the Government Order dated 31 December, 2002, clarifying the earlier Government Order dated 10 December, 2002. In paragraph 3 of Government Order dated 31 December, 2002, it has been provided that the lease holders of expired lease, who have deposited 25% of the self assessment valuation amount prior to 10 December, 2002, and pursuant thereof the entire formalities were been completed, as per government policy, in that event all the applications pending for freehold should be processed and completed pursuant to the Government Order dated 10 December, 2002.

25. The relevant portion of the Government Order dated 31 December, 2002, is extracted :-

विषयः- नजुल भूमि के प्रबन्ध एवं निस्तारण के सम्बन्ध में जारी शासनादेश। दिनांक 10 दिसम्बर 2002 के सम्बन्ध में मार्ग दर्शन।

2- उक्त सम्बन्ध में यह स्पष्ट किया जाता है कि शासनादेश संख्या - 2873 / 9 - आ - 4 - 2002 - 152 एन / 2000 टी०सी०दिनांक 10 दिसम्बर 2002 द्वारा प्रतिपादित नीति तत्काल प्रभाव से लागू की गयी है। अतः दिनांक 10.12.2002 से पूर्व में जिन आवेदको ने स्वमुल्यांकन की 25 प्रतिशत धनराशि जमा करते हुए चालान की प्रति के साथ प्रार्थना पत्र प्रस्तुत कर दिया था तथा फ्री होल्ड की पात्रता सम्बन्धी समस्त निर्धारित औपचारिकतायें पूर्णकर दी थी, उन प्रकरणो में तत्कालीन

नीति अनुसार दरे व शर्तें लागू होगी। ऐसे मामलो में शासनादेश दिनांक 10.12.2002 लागू नही होगा।"

26. Further, reliance was placed by the learned counsel for the petitioners on the order dated 24 March, 2003, issued by the Special Secretary, Government of Uttar Pradesh, addressed to the District Magistrate, Allahabad, in respect of Nazul land No. PP Civil Station, Allahabad, wherein, it has been directed that in the event, the lease holder has deposited the self assessment valuation amount in the State Treasury, in the year 2000, it was incumbent that as per the Government Policy pertaining to Nazul land freehold right could not have been refused.

27. In view of the afore-noted Government Orders and communications, it is submitted that the petitioners, admittedly, completed the formalities pursuant to their application dated 28 February, 1999, and the deed came to be prepared on the proposed draft supplied by the second respondent on 05 June, 2000, upon deposit of the self assessment valuation amount of the plot. It is urged that the petitioners could not be discriminated against and freehold rights should be executed as per Government Order dated 31 December, 2002.

28. In support of the submissions reliance has been placed on Sangam Upnivashan Avas Evam Nirman Sahkari Samiti Ltd. (supra), wherein, petitioners seeking freehold rights, the Division Bench after referring to the Full Bench decision in Anand Kumar Sharma9, was of the view that once there is a decision to grant freehold rights then the element of discrimination between the same set of applicants and any arbitrary act would give rise to violation of fundamental rights, judicial review whereof would be permissible. Relevant portion of judgement is extracted :-

"The Full Bench, however, did not proceed further and, we therefore, find that it necessary to indicate that once there is a decision to grant freehold rights then the element of discrimination between the same set of applicants and any arbitrary act would give rise to violation of fundamental rights, judicial review whereof would be permissible. This would remove any element of uncertainly possibility of arbitrariness as and when the occasion arises."

29. In this backdrop, learned counsel for the petitioners submits that petitioners cannot be discriminated as it is admitted that petitioners had completed all the formalities for freehold right pursuant to Government Order dated 31 December 2002 and in view of the decision rendered in Sangam Upnivashan Avas Evam Nirman Sahkari Samiti Ltd. (supra), petitioners are entitled to freehold right of the remaining Nazul plot.

30. We do not find merit in the submission of learned counsel for the petitioners. Upon careful perusal of the Government Orders, relied upon by the petitioners, we find that it is of no assistance to the petitioners. The Government Order dated 10 December, 2002 and 31 December, 2002, merely, mandates that in the event, the lease holders of Nazul plot have complied their part by depositing self assessment valuation for freehold rights before 10 December, 2002, freehold deed be executed in their favour. The Government Order does not, however, refer to or advert to such Nazul land over which Government Office or any other accommodation is standing and is in possession of the Government department / Office. The petitioners herein have been declined allotment of the Nazul land over which government office was functioning, in view of Government Order dated 14 December, 2004. It is also not being disputed by the learned counsel for the petitioners that petitioners have already been granted freehold rights of the Nazul land in respect of 2084 sq. meters. A part of the Nazul land admeasuring 1513.10 sq. meters, over which the Government office was functional and in possession of the Government department, in view of the Government Order dated 14 October, 2004, the District Magistrates have been restrained from converting the Nazul plot into freehold, if the department has sought allotment of the property for the purposes of office / accommodation.

31. The question referred to the Full Bench of this Court in Anand Kumar Sharma (supra) is extracted :-

"1. Whether the application of the petitioner dated 25.07.2005 submitted for grant of freehold right on the basis of the Government Order dated 01.12.1998 (Paragraph 7) and the Government Order dated 10.12.2002 (paragraph 5) was entitled to be considered in accordance with the Government policy as was in existence on the date of application or the Government policy as amended by Government Order dated 04.08.2006, was to be taken into consideration while deciding the application while deciding the application on 18.12.2006?

32. In other words, the question posed to the Court was as to whether, the Government policy applicable on the date of application for freehold right would apply or the Government policy applicable on the date of decision of the Government.

33. In paragraphs 41 and 42, the Court clarified that by merely making an application for grant of freehold rights, petitioners did not acquire a vested right.

34. Paragraphs 41 and 42 are extracted :-

"41. Vested right can be different kind of vested right in context of different variety or nature of right. It is true that the words "vested right" are generally used in context of a right in a property, but the concept of vested right cannot be confined only to right of enjoyment of possession of land. The issue in the present case is as to whether by submitting an application for grant of freehold right any vested right has been acquired by the petitioner.

42. We after considering the relevant Government Orders on the subject and pronouncements of the Apex Court as noted above, are of the view that merely by making an application for grant of freehold right, petitioner did not acquire a vested right.

35. The Court, thereafter, answered the reference in the following terms :-

(i) The application of the petitioner dated 25.07.2005 submitted for grant of free hold right on the basis of the Government Orders dated 01.12.1998 and 10.12.2002 was entitled to be considered in accordance with the Government's policy as was in existence at the time of passing of the order. The Government Order dated 04.08.2006 was rightly relied on by the Collector while rejecting the application on 18.12.2006.

36. The Full Court was of the view that by making an application for grant of freehold right, petitioner did not acquire vested right. The Government policy applicable on the date of decision of the Government would apply while disposing off the applications of the petitioners for freehold right.

37. Accordingly, in view of the law laid down in Anand Kumar Sharma (supra), the application submitted by the petitioners for freehold rights, was entitled to be considered in accordance with the Government policy as was in existence on the date of passing of the order on the application. The State respondents were justified in disposing of the application submitted by the petitioners as per the Government policy mandated vide Government Order dated 14 December, 2004.

38. It is noted in the impugned order that the District Supply Officer had demanded the premises to continue the office in the same building, after removing the dilapidated structure and constructing a new building, thereupon. It is informed that budget was also sanctioned for the construction but due to pendency of the present writ petition, the same could not be executed. The office was shifted to another rented accommodation.

39. The plea of the petitioners that petitioners have been discriminated, is unfounded. It is not being disputed by the learned counsel for the petitioners that petitioners have been granted freehold right on 2084 sq. meters of the same Nazul plot, like being the case of other occupants of the plot. Further, parity claimed by the petitioners with lease holder of Nazul plot No. PP Civil Station, Allahabad, contending that since they were granted freehold rights, petitioners being similarly placed should also be granted freehold right. The claim based on parity lacks merit. On Nazul plot No. 10, Civil Station, a Government Office was in occupation of the building, whereas, there is no such building in the possession and occupation of the Government department on Nazul plot No. PP Civil Station, Allahabad. The Government Order dated 14 October, 2004, would govern all such Nazul land over which Government Office / Department is in occupation. That is not the case with Nazul plot No. PP Civil Station, Allahabad. In any case, petitioners are not the lease holder / occupant of Nazul plot No. PP Civil Station, Allahabad, therefore, it is not open for the petitioners to submit that they have been discriminated against after allottees of Nazul plot No. PP Civil Station, Allahabad. The ratio of Sangam Upnivashan Avas Evam Nirman Sahkari Samiti Ltd. (supra), would not apply in the case of the petitioners.

40. The learned counsel for the petitioners failed to point out any illegality, irregularity or perversity in the impugned order.

41. The writ petition being devoid of merit, is accordingly, dismissed.

42. The State respondent to proceed with the construction of the Government office in accordance with law.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Bindal, C.J.

Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. The three petitioners have come together and instituted the present writ petition, because their distinct and individual causes of action are not different. The causes of action of the petitioners involve common question of facts and law, prompting them to combine against the same set of respondents, against whom they want relief. In substance, the petitioners' prayer is two fold: firstly, that the respondents be commanded by a mandamus not to demolish the petitioners' houses, standing over their respective plots of land until consideration of their case by the respondents, canvassed through a representation dated 31.05.2022; and secondly, an order restraining the respondents not to interfere with the petitioners' peaceful possession over their respective plots of land, except in accordance with law.

2. The facts giving rise to this petition are these: Nasir Ali, the first petitioner is a resident of Village Harungala, Post R.K. University, District Bareilly and currently resides at Village Dohariya, Tehsil and District Bareilly. The second petitioner, Smt. Hasina is a resident of Village Chandpur Bichpuri, Tehsil and District

Bareilly and presently resides at Village Dohariya, Tehsil and District Bareilly. The third petitioner, Smt. Taslim Jahan is a resident of Jagatpur, Nai Basti, Talab, Bareilly and presently also resides at Village Dohariya, Tehsil and District Bareilly. The first petitioner purchased a plot measuring 83.61 square meters, located in Village Dohariya from one Anwar Miyan son of Mohd. Taqi Painter through a registered sale deed dated 07.05.2018. The said plot is located in Khasra No. 58 of the village. It was purchased by Anwar Miyan from the original recorded owner of the land, Naresh son of Gendan Lal through a registered sale deed dated 18.01.2004. The second petitioner, Smt. Hasina purchased a plot measuring 167.22 square meters, also part of Khasra No. 58 of Village Dohariya from Naresh son of Gendan Lal, through a registered sale deed dated 17.11.2011. The third petitioner, Smt. Taslim Jahan purchased a plot measuring 83.61 square meters, part of Khasra No. 60 of Village Dohariya from Riyasat Ali and Anis Ahmad, sons of Mohd. Bachchan, through a registered sale deed dated 30.07.2019. Riyasat Ali and Anis Ahmad, vendors of petitioner No. 3, had in turn purchased the land from one Lal Bahadur through a registered sale deed dated 11.10.2010. It is asserted that the name of Lal Bahadur continues to be recorded in the revenue records, relating to Khasra No. 60.

3. It is the petitioners' case that they are in continuous and uninterrupted possession of their respective plots, whereon they have raised their residential houses in the years 2018, 2011 and 2019, respectively. The petitioners live in the said houses along with their families. It is also asserted that the name of Naresh, son of Gendan Lal, the original owner of Khasra No. 58, whose rights ultimately petitioners Nos. 1 and 2 had purchased, continues to be recorded in the revenue records. The land comprising the plots of each of the three petitioners, two located in Khasra No. 58 and one in Khasra No. 60 of Village Dohariya, Tehsil and District Bareilly, shall hereinafter be collectively referred to as 'the land in dispute'.

4. It is common ground between parties that a notification under Section 4(1) read with Section 17(1) of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (for short, 'the Act of 1894') was issued on 3rd June, 2004. The aforesaid notification under Section 4(1) was followed by a declaration under Section 6(1) read with Section 17(4) of the Act of 1894, which came to be issued by the State Government on 4th July, 2005. The two notifications aforesaid were issued by the State Government in order to acquire land for the purpose of development of a residential colony, going by the name Ram Ganga Nagar Awasiya Yojna, Bareilly. The aforesaid project was to be executed by the Bareilly Development Authority, Bareilly (for short, 'the B.D.A.'). It is to be noticed here that vide the two notifications issued under the Act of 1894, a total area of 259.361597 hectares of lands in the Villages of Ahirola, Chandpur Bichpuri, Manohar alias Ramnagar and Dohariya came to be acquired by the State Government for the purpose of development by the B.D.A. It is also not in issue between parties that the two land acquisition notifications under reference were challenged before this Court through a number of writ petitions, which were tagged and heard together with Writ-C No. 17542 of 2010, Sharawan Kumar and others v. State of U.P. and others as the leading case. The said batch of writ petitions was heard and dismissed vide judgment and order dated 06.09.2016 passed by this Court. This Court upheld the acquisition. The judgment of this Court dated 06.09.2016, above referred, was challenged by means of a petition for Special Leave to Appeal being SLP (Civil) No. 25147 of 2016, Piyush Kumar Agarwal and others v. State of U.P. and others. The Special Leave Petition was also dismissed by the Supreme Court vide order dated 09.01.2017. The parties, therefore, appear to be ad idem that the acquisition of the land in dispute was upheld up to the Supreme Court.

5. The Special Land Acquisition Officer (Joint Organization), Bareilly proceeded to make an award in respect of the acquired land at Village Dohariya, Tehsil and District Bareilly. It is the petitioners' case that possession of the land in dispute has not been taken from any of them nor any compensation paid. The residential houses still stand on the land in dispute and the petitioners are living there peaceably. The petitioners also hold electricity connections in their names and pay water tax to the Municipal Authorities. The petitioners say that on 15.03.2022, and thereafter in quick successions, on 20.04.2022 and 26.04.2022, some officials of the B.D.A. came over to their homes and harassed the petitioners with the intention of extorting money. They threatened the petitioners with illegal demolition of their houses. The petitioners were told that their houses would be demolished by the B.D.A.

6. It is in the aforesaid circumstances that the present writ petition has been instituted.

7. Heard Mr. Surya Prakash Dubey, learned Counsel for the petitioners, Mr. Hare Ram, learned Standing Counsel appearing on behalf of respondent Nos. 1 and 2 and Mr. Dharmendra Singh Chauhan, learned Counsel appearing on behalf of respondent Nos. 3 and 4.

8. It is submitted by the learned Counsel for the petitioners that the B.D.A. and its officials are acting in a most arbitrary and illegal manner. They are out to demolish the petitioners' houses without recourse to legal proceedings for the purpose. It is emphasized that the land was acquired for the Ram Ganga Nagar Awasiya Yojna, Bareilly, and at present the petitioners' houses stand over the land in dispute, including its vicinity. It is urged that the purpose of acquisition was to pro*vide* residential apartments and not to destroy preoccupied houses. It is suggested that in case the constructions raised are not found in accordance with law, the petitioners' case be considered for compounding. It is also said that compensation, which has not been paid, may also be directed to be adjusted against the compounding charges for the constructions. It is urged that the petitioners' constructions, that may not be found to be in violation of the law, may be exempted from acquisition on the ground that the residential houses already exist there and the purpose of the acquisition was ultimately to pro*vide* housing. It is also pointed out that the purpose of acquisition has failed since the proposed residential scheme has not at all been implemented. The development, if any, has taken place in chunks with no uniformity.

9. It is argued that the B.D.A. have no business under the circumstances to demolish the petitioners' houses and forcibly take possession of their land, which they have lawfully purchased through registered sale deeds. It is also urged that though the State Government had acquired the land for the purpose of development as a residential colony, the B.D.A. is now commercializing the scheme and constructing schools, shopping malls, parks and allotting plots for industries, after illegally taking possession of properties of poor villagers and ordinary men, like the petitioners. It is emphasized that the land in dispute with the individual plots of the three petitioners are very small, whereon their humble dwelling units exist. Demolishing those dwelling units and taking forcible possession, amounts to depriving the petitioners of their right to roof and shelter, besides an infraction of their constitutional right under Article 300-A of the Constitution.

10. The learned Standing Counsel appearing for the State and Mr. Chauhan, learned Counsel appearing for the B.D.A. have strongly opposed the motion to admit this petition to hearing. They submit in one voice that this petition is misconceived. It is argued that the land in dispute is acquired land of the B.D.A., where the petitioners are rank-trespassers and encroachers. It is within the respondents' right to expel them and abate the encroachment.

11. We have carefully considered the submissions made at the Bar and perused the record.

12. We must at once say that the submissions advanced by the petitioners are only to be noticed and rejected. Each of the three petitioners or their immediate predecessors-in-title have secured the land in dispute through registered sale deeds, all of which were executed after 3rd June, 2004, that is to say, the date on which the notification under Section 4(1) read with Section 17(1) of the Act of 1894 was issued. There is hardly any cavil about the law that any sale deed of a land executed by its owner after the issue of a notification under Section 4(1) of the Act of 1894 is void. It confers no title on the transferee. At best, it may afterwards confer on the transferee a right to stake his claim to compensation in the owner's stead. No interest whatsoever is created in the transferee by a conveyance executed after the issue of a notification under Section 4(1) of the Act of 1894.

13. Here, what this Court finds is that the notification under Section 4(1) of the Act of 1894 was issued invoking the provisions of Section 17(1) and the declaration under Section 6(1) invoked Section 17(4). The two notifications aforesaid were issued on 3rd June, 2004 and 4th July, 2005. Since Section 17(1) was invoked, it is e*vide*nt that the inquiry under Section 5-A of the Act of 1894 was dispensed with and immediate possession was taken on ground of urgency. The land in dispute along with all those covered by the notification and the declaration under Sections 4(1) and 6(1), respectively, would stand vested in the State, free from all encumbrances. The sale deeds, therefore, that the petitioners claim to confer title on them, are all void. The petitioners' act in raising constructions over the land in dispute, which is acquired land of the State, entrusted to the B.D.A. for development, is a naive and reckless act. The petitioners cannot capitalize on their own wrong by invoking equities to create title, where nothing but a void transaction stairs them in the face.

14. In regard to the validity of sale deeds executed after issue of a notification under Section 4(1) of the Act of 1894, that is followed by a declaration under Section

6(1), reference may be made to the decision of the Supreme Court in Meera Sahni v. Lieutenant Governor of Delhi and others, (2008) 9 SCC 177. In Meera Sahni (supra), it has been held:

17. When a piece of land is sought to be acquired, a notification under Section 4 of the Land Acquisition Act is required to be issued by the State Government strictly in accordance with law. The said notification is also required to be followed by a declaration to be made under Section 6 of the Land Acquisition Act and with the issuance of such a notification any encumbrance created by the owner, or any transfer made after the issuance of such a notification would be deemed to be void and would not be binding on the Government. A number of decisions of this Court have recognised the aforesaid proposition of law wherein it was held that subsequent purchaser cannot challenge acquisition proceedings and also the validity of the notification or the irregularity in taking possession of the land after the declaration under Section 6 of the Act.

18. In U.P. Jal Nigam v. Kalra Properties (P) Ltd. [(1996) 3 SCC 124] it was stated by this Court that : (SCC p. 126, para 3)

"3. ... Having regard to the facts of this case, we were not inclined to further adjourn the case nor to remit the case for fresh consideration by the High Court. It is well-settled law that after the notification under Section 4(1) is published in the gazette any encumbrance created by the owner does not bind the Government and the purchaser does not acquire any title to the property."

19. In Sneh Prabha v. State of U.P. [(1996) 7 SCC 426] it is stated as under : (SCC p. 430, para 5)

"5. ... It is settled law that any person who purchases land after publication of the notification under Section 4(1), does so at his/her own peril. The object of publication of the notification under Section 4(1) is notice to everyone that the land is needed or is likely to be needed for public purpose and the acquisition proceedings point out an impediment to anyone to encumber the land acquired thereunder. It authorises the designated officer to enter upon the land to do preliminaries, etc. Therefore, any alienation of the land after the publication of the notification under Section 4(1) does not bind the Government or the beneficiary under the acquisition. On taking possession of the land, all rights, title and interests in land stand vested in the State, under Section 16 of the Act, free from all encumbrances and thereby absolute title in the land is acquired thereunder."

20. The said proposition of law was also reiterated in Ajay Krishan Shinghal v. Union of India [(1996) 10 SCC 721] and Star Wire (India) Ltd. v. State of Haryana [(1996) 11 SCC 698].

15. Though, there is already a reference to it in the decision of the Supreme Court in Meera Sahni (supra), the locus classicus on the point is the enunciation of the law in U.P. Jal Nigam, Lucknow through its Chairman and another v. Kalra Properties (P) Ltd., Lucknow and others, (1996) 3 SCC 124, where it has been held:

3. ... It is settled law that after the notification under Section 4(1) is published in the Gazette any encumbrance created by the owner does not bind the Government and the purchaser does not acquire any title to the property. In this case, notification under Section 4(1) was published on 24-3-1973, possession of the land admittedly was taken on 5-7-1973 and pumping station house was constructed. No doubt, declaration under Section 6 was published later on 8-7-1973. Admittedly power under Section 17(4) was exercised dispensing with the enquiry under Section 5-A and on service of the notice under Section 9 possession was taken, since urgency was acute, viz., pumping station house was to be constructed to drain out flood water. Consequently, the land stood vested in the State under Section 17(2) free from all encumbrances. It is further settled law that once possession is taken, by operation of Section 17(2), the land vests in the State free from all encumbrances unless a notification under Section 48(1) is published in the Gazette withdrawing from the acquisition. Section 11-A, as amended by Act 68 of 1984, therefore, does not apply and the acquisition does not lapse. The notification under Section 4(1) and the declaration under Section 6, therefore, remain valid. There is no other provision under the Act to have the acquired land divested, unless, as stated earlier, notification under Section 48(1) was published and the possession is surrendered pursuant thereto. That apart, since M/s Kalra Properties, respondent had purchased the land after the notification under Section 4(1) was published, its sale is void against the State and it acquired no right, title or interest in the land. Consequently, it is settled law that it cannot challenge the validity of the notification or the regularity in taking possession of the land before publication of the declaration under Section 6 was published.

16. This Court finds that in the garb of relief sought against demolition and dispossession, otherwise than in accordance with law, read together with the pleas raised in the writ petition, what the petitioners intend to do, is to efface the acquisition that has attained finality and its validity affirmed right up to the Supreme Court. For one, the petitioners cannot be permitted to do in a direct and insidious manner what they cannot achieve directly under the law.

17. That apart, the petitioners being purchasers subsequent to the issue of a notification under Section 4(1) of the Act of 1894, followed by a declaration under Section 6(1), where land has vested in the State under Section 17(2), free from all encumbrances. They cannot be permitted to question that acquisition in an indirect manner, as they are not permitted to challenge it directly, being purchasers subsequent to the issue of Section 4(1) notification. About the right of purchasers, who take under conveyances after the issue of a notification under Section 4(1) of the Act of 1894, the Supreme Court repelled the existence of any such rights in subsequent purchasers in Shiv Kumar and another v. Union of India and others, (2019) 10 SCC 229, reiterating a steady line of precedent. Shiv Kumar (supra) was also a case where an unauthorized colony had come up and its members, who were the petitioners, claimed that they were in actual physical possession of the subject land despite passing of the award. The Government of N.C.T. had provisionally regularized the unauthorized colony, after the Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act, 2013 came into force w.e.f. 01.01.2014. The settlers in the unauthorized colony claimed that since the State or their Authorities never took actual physical possession, the acquisition had lapsed. It was in the context of the aforesaid facts that in Shiv Kumar, it was held by their Lordships of the Supreme Court:

8. It has been laid down that the purchasers on any ground whatsoever cannot question proceedings for taking possession. A purchaser after Section 4 notification does not acquire any right in the land as the sale is ab initio void and has no right to claim land under the policy.

18. In aid of the second relief, which the petitioners claim, it is argued that the petitioners are in settled possession and have constructed residential houses, where their families live. The respondent Authorities, including the B.D.A., are threatening them with forcible dispossession, otherwise than in accordance with law. It is argued that even a trespasser in settled possession cannot be dispossessed or evicted, except in accordance with law. This injunction of the law, in the submission of the learned Counsel for the petitioners, applies in a case where the trespasser is sought to be dispossessed by the true owner as well. For a general proposition of law, the submission may be sound, but in case of the land acquisition by the State, where after the issue of notifications under Section 4(1) of the Act of 1894 read with Section 17(1) and a declaration under Section 6(1) read with Section 17(4), land has vested under Section 17(2) in the State, free from all encumbrances, every person in occupation of such land is a trespasser, liable to ejectment by the State. The aforesaid principle has been authoritatively laid down by the Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court in Indore Development Authority v. Manoharlal and others, AIR 2020 SC 1496. A Division Bench of this Court in Shyoraj Singh and another v. State of U.P. and others, 2021 SCC OnLine All 873, following the principle laid down by the Supreme Court in Indore Development Authority (supra) has held:

"20. The issue as to what is meant by "possession of the land by the State after its acquisition" has also been considered by Constitution Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Indore Development Authority Vs. Manoharlal and others AIR 2020 SC 1496. It is opined therein that after the acquisition of land and passing of award, the land vests in the State free from all encumbrances. The vesting of land with the State is with possession. Any person retaining the possession thereafter has to be treated trespasser. When large chunk of land is acquired, the State is not supposed to put some person or police force to retain the possession and start cultivating on the land till it is utilized. The Government is also not supposed to start residing or physically occupying the same once process of the acquisition is complete. If after the process of acquisition is complete and land vest in the State free from all encumbrances with possession, any person retaining the land or any re-entry made by any person is nothing else but trespass on the State land. Relevant paragraphs 244, 245 and 256 are extracted below:

"244. Section 16 of the Act of 1894 pro*vide*d that possession of land may be taken by the State Government after passing of an award and thereupon land vest free from all encumbrances in the State Government. Similar are the provisions made in the case of urgency in Section 17(1). The word "possession" has been used in the Act of 1894, whereas in Section 24(2) of Act of 2013, the expression "physical possession" is used. It is submitted that drawing of panchnama for taking over the possession is not enough when the actual physical possession remained with the landowner and Section 24(2) requires actual physical possession to be taken, not the possession in any other form. When the State has acquired the land and award has been passed, land vests in the State Government free from all encumbrances. The act of vesting of the land in the State is with possession, any person retaining the possession, thereafter, has to be treated as trespasser and has no right to possess the land which vests in the State free from all encumbrances.

245. The question which arises whether there is any difference between taking possession under the Act of 1894 and the expression "physical possession" used in Section 24(2). As a matter of fact, what was contemplated under the Act of 1894, by taking the possession meant only physical possession of the land. Taking over the possession under the Act of 2013 always amounted to taking over physical possession of the land. When the State Government acquires land and drawns up a memorandum of taking possession, that amounts to taking the physical possession of the land. On the large chunk of property or otherwise which is acquired, the Government is not supposed to put some other person or the police force in possession to retain it and start cultivating it till the land is used by it for the purpose for which it has been acquired. The Government is not supposed to start residing or to physically occupy it once possession has been taken by drawing the inquest proceedings for obtaining possession thereof. Thereafter, if any further retaining of land or any re-entry is made on the land or someone starts cultivation on the open land or starts residing in the outhouse, etc., is deemed to be the trespasser on land which in possession of the State. The possession of trespasser always inures for the benefit of the real owner that is the State Government in the case.

256. Thus, it is apparent that vesting is with possession and the statute has pro*vide*d under Sections 16 and 17 of the Act of 1894 that once possession is taken, absolute vesting occurred. It is an indefeasible right and vesting is with possession thereafter. The vesting specified under Section 16, takes place after various steps, such as, notification under Section 4, declaration under Section 6, notice under Section 9, award under Section 11 and then possession. The statutory provision of vesting of property absolutely free from all encumbrances has to be accorded full effect. Not only the possession vests in the State but all other encumbrances are also removed forthwith. The title of the landholder ceases and the state becomes the absolute owner and in possession of the property. Thereafter there is no control of the landowner over the property. He cannot have any animus to take the property and to control it. Even if he has retained the possession or otherwise trespassed upon it after possession has been taken by the State, he is a trespasser and such possession of trespasser enures for his benefit and on behalf of the owner." (emphasis supplied)

19. In the present case, the petitioners are nobodies so far as the land in dispute is concerned. They are trespassers on State land, of which possession had already been taken in proceedings for acquisition. Merely because in the large tract of land acquired for a big scheme, some remote corner has remained unguarded, would not entitle the petitioners to claim on the basis of void sale deeds, even the semblance of a right based on possession. The assertion of the right to possession over such acquired land of the State is inherently so illegal that it cannot be regarded as a settled possession of the occupier, which can only be removed through the judicial process.

20. In the circumstances, there is no force in this writ petition. It fails and is dismissed.

2. Grievance of the petitioners are either:-

(a) against the rejection of application for character certificate; or

(b) suspension or cancellation of their character certificates; or

(c) non-providing of any modalities for issuance of character certificate; or

(d) non-providing of any forum to challenge the orders passed by the District Magistrate adversely disposing of a character certificate application.

3. Since the controversy involved in the present writ petitions is mainly on the above noted points and the State has filed personal affidavit of respondent no.1 providing for a forum and the learned Additional Advocate General has stated that modalities for grant or refusal to grant character certificate are under preparation, therefore, with the consent of learned counsel for the parties, all these writ petitions are being finally heard.

4. In paragraph nos. 3 and 4 of his personal affidavit dated 20.02.2023 Shri Sanjay Prasad, Principal Secretary, Department of Home, Government of U.P., Lucknow filed on behalf of respondent no.1, has stated, as under:

"3. That in this regard, it is submitted here that after due consideration with regard to the guidelines for character certificate, a Government Order dated 02.02.2023 had been issued by the Government of U.P., in which it is stated that in context of Government Order dated 02.11.2006, 12.12.2007 and 20.05.2013, in case any application for new character certificate is rejected by the concerned District Magistrate/Collector, such information along with reasons would be served upon the applicant and the applicant may within one month approach the concerned Divisional Commissioner by way of representation, upon which the concerned Divisional Commissioner would pass a reasoned order, after affording opportunity of hearing to both the sides and the same would be communicated to the concerned District Magistrate/Collector who would act accordingly. A true Photostat copy of Government Order dated 02.02.2023 is being annexed herewith and marked as Annexure No. PA-1 to this affidavit.

4. That further it is also provided that with regard to character certificates already issued, if the same would be cancelled by any District Magistrate/Collector, then the concerned person would be served with the information of cancellation of his character certificate and within one month he may file his representation before the concerned Divisional Commissioner and after giving opportunity to both the sides and the same would be communicated to the concerned District Magistrate/Collector who would act accodingly."

5. Learned counsel for the petitioners jointly submit that although a forum has now been provided by the State Government vide G.O. No.47/6-iq0-14-23-50(07)/2006 dated 02.02.2023 and yet modalities have not been finalized by the State Government for issuance or rejection of a character certificate application or for cancellation of a character certificate. Learned counsel for the petitioners have also drawn our attention to the law laid down by learned Single Bench of this Court in Chandrika Prasad Nishad vs. State of U.P. and others (Writ Petition No.5018 (MS)/2005 decided on 12.07.2006 (paragraph nos. 30, 31 and 101) and pursuant thereto issuance of Government Order dated 05.01.2007.

6. Learned Additional Advocate General has drawn our attention to Government Order dated 02.11.2006 and Note no.6 of the PWD-T-4 (Form of character certificate).

1. Heard Shri Abhay Raj Yadav, learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri Anurag Sharma, learned Central Government Standing Counsel.

2. The petitioner has filed the present writ petition for a direction to the respondent to permit the petitioner to function as Paramedical Council to grant recognition and to register the Institutions, imparting education in the field of Paramedical Courses until the formation of any Regulatory Body for Paramedicals by the respondents and not to interfere in peaceful functioning of the petitioner in imparting the paramedical education and training.

3. A perusal of this writ petition reveals that the petitioner is infact seeking legitimacy to exercise a function that is within the domain of the legislative power of the Parliament exerciseable under the Union List of the Seventh Schedule of the Constitution of India.

4. The learned Central Government Standing Counsel has placed before us a copy of the Gazette notification of the National Commission for Allied and Healthcare Professions Act, 20211. Sections 2(d) and 2(j) of the Act define "allied health professional" and "healthcare professional" respectively as follows:-

"(d) "allied health professional" includes an associate, technician or technologist who is trained to perform any technical and practical task to support diagnosis and treatment of illness, disease, injury or impairment, and to support implementation of any healthcare treatment and referral plan recommended by a medical, nursing or any other healthcare professional, and who has obtained any qualification of diploma or degree under this Act, the duration of which shall not be less than two thousand hours spread over a period of two years to four years divided into specific semesters.

2(j) "healthcare professional" includes a scientist, therapist or other professional who studies, advises, researches, supervises or provides preventive, curative, rehabilitative, therapeutic or promotional health services and who has obtained any qualification of degree under this Act, the duration of which shall not be less than three thousand six hundred hours spread over a period of three years to six years divided into specific semesters."

5. Chapter II of the Act provides for constitution of a Commission called the National Commission for Allied and Healthcare Profession for exercising such powers and discharging such duties as may be laid down under the Act. Under Section 10 of the Act, the Commission is empowered to constitute Professional Council for every recognised category of the allied and healthcare professionals specified in the Schedule to the Act. Under Section 11, the duty of the Commission is to take all such steps as it may think fit for ensuring coordinated and integrated development of education and maintenance of the standards of delivery of services under the Act and for purposes of performing its functions, the Commission may frame policies and standards for the governance of allied and healthcare related education and professional services; regulate the professional conduct, code of ethics and etiquette to be observed by the allied and healthcare professionals; to create and maintain an up-to-date online and live Central Register; provide scope of practice of each profession; provide basic standards of education, courses, curricula, etc.; provide for qualification, uniform entry examination with common counselling for admission into institutions at the diploma, undergraduate, postgraduate and doctoral level; provide for exit or licensing examinations for professional practice or entrance into postgraduate or doctoral level and National Teachers Eligibility Test for academicians, etc. Under Section 12 of the Act, the Central Government is empowered to constitute an Advisory Council to advise the Commission on the issues relating to allied and healthcare professionals.

6. Chapter III of the Act deals with State Allied and Healthcare Council. Section 22 of the Act authorises the State Government to constitute a State Council for exercising such powers and discharging such duties as may be laid down under the Act. Section 29 empowers the State Council to constitute the specified Autonomous Board for regulating the allied and healthcare professionals.

7. Sections 29, 30, 31 and 32 of the Act read as follows:-

"29. (1) The State Council shall, by notification, constitute the following Autonomous Boards for regulating the allied and healthcare professionals, namely,--

(a) Under-graduate Allied and Healthcare Education Board,

(b) Post-graduate Allied and Healthcare Education Board,

(c) Allied and Healthcare Professions Assessment and Rating Board, and

(d) Allied and Healthcare Professions Ethics and Registration Board.

(2) The Autonomous Boards constituted under sub-section (1) shall consist of a president and such number of members from each recognised category as may be specified by the regulations and shall be appointed by the State Government.

(3) The Under-graduate Allied and Healthcare Education Board and Post-graduate Allied and Healthcare Education Board shall determine standards of allied and healthcare education at the graduate, postgraduate level and super-speciality level, develop competency based on dynamic curriculum content, reviewing institutional standards against norms, faculty development, approval of courses of recognised qualification and other functions as entrusted by the State Council for Under Graduate Education and Post Graduate Education.

(4) The Allied and Healthcare Profession Assessment and Rating Board shall determine the procedure for the assessment and rating of allied and healthcare institutions by providing for inspection of institutions, grant permission for establishment of new allied and healthcare institutions and seat capacity, empanelling assessors, imposing warnings or fines, recommend for withdrawal of recognition of institutions and any other function as entrusted by the State Council to ensure maintenance of minimum essential standards.

(5) The Allied and Healthcare Profession Ethics and Registration Board shall maintain online and live State

Registers of all licensed allied and healthcare practitioners in the State, regulate the professional conduct and promotion of ethics and undertake any other function as entrusted by the State Council.

(6) The Under-graduate Allied and Healthcare education or Post-graduate Allied and Healthcare education or Allied and Healthcare Professions Assessment and Rating or Allied and Healthcare Professions Ethics and Registration shall perform such other functions as may be specified by regulations.

30. It shall be the duty of the State Council to take all such steps as it may think fit for ensuring the co-ordinated and integrated development of education and maintenance of the standards of delivery of services under this Act and, for the purposes of performing its functions, the State Council shall-

(a) enter the name of the recognised categories, enforce the professional conduct, code of ethics and etiquette to be observed by the allied and healthcare professionals in the State and take disciplinary action, including the removal of a professionals' name from the State Register;

(b) ensure minimum standards of education, courses, curricula, physical and instructional facilities, staff pattern, staff qualifications, quality instructions, assessment, examination, training, research, continuing professional education;

c) ensure uniform entry examination with common counselling for admission into the allied and healthcare institutions at the diploma, undergraduate, postgraduate and doctoral level under this Act;

(d) ensure uniform exit or licensing examination for the allied and healthcare professionals under this Act;

(e) inspect allied and healthcare institutions and register allied and healthcare professionals in the State;

(f) ensure compliance of all the directives issued by the Commission;

(g) provide minimum standards framework for machineries, materials and services;

(h) approve or recognise courses and intake capacity for courses;

(i) impose fine upon institutions in order to maintain standards; and

(j) perform such other functions as may be entrusted to it by the State Government for implementation of the provisions of this Act.

31. The State Council may constitute as many professional Advisory Boards as may be necessary to examine the issues relating to one or more recognised categories and to recommend the State Council and also to undertake any other activity as may be authorised by the State Council.

32. (1) The State Council shall maintain online and live State Register of persons in separate parts for each of the recognised categories to be known as the State Allied and Healthcare Professionals' Register which shall contain information including the name of person and qualifications relating to any of their respective recognised categories in such manner as may be specified by regulations.

(2) The State Register shall contain the details of academic qualification institutions, training, skill and competencies of Allied and Healthcare Professionals related to their profession in the manner as may be specified by regulations.

(3) The State Register shall be deemed to be a public document within the meaning of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, and may be proved by a certified copy provided by the State Council."

8. Chapter V of the Act deals with establishment of new allied and healthcare institutions. Section 40 reads as follows:-

"40. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act or any other law for the time being in force, on and from the date of commencement of this Act-

(a) no person shall establish an allied and healthcare institution; or

(b) no allied and healthcare institution shall--

(i) open a new or higher course of study or training (including post-graduate course of study or training) which would enable students of each course of study or training to qualify himself for the award of any recognised allied and healthcare qualification; or

(ii) increase its admission capacity in any course of study or training (including post-graduate course of study or training); or

(iii) admit a new batch of students in any unrecognised course of study or training (including post-graduate course of study or training), except with the previous permission of the State Council obtained in accordance with the provisions of this Act:

Provided that the allied and healthcare qualification granted to a person in respect of a new or higher course of study or new batch without previous permission of the State Council shall not be a recognised allied and healthcare qualification for the purposes of this Act:

Provided further that where there is no State Council constituted by a State Government, the Commission shall give the previous permission for the purposes of this section.

(2)(a) Every person or allied and healthcare institution shall, for the purpose of obtaining permission under sub-section (1), submit to the State Council a scheme in accordance with the provisions of clause (b).

(b) The scheme referred to in clause (a) shall be in such form and contain such particulars and be preferred in such manner and be accompanied with such fee as may be prescribed by the Central Government.

(3) On receipt of a scheme under sub-section (2), the State Council may obtain such other particulars as may be considered necessary by it from the person or the allied and healthcare institution concerned, and thereafter, it may,--

(a) if the scheme is defective and does not contain any necessary particulars, give a reasonable opportunity to the person or allied and healthcare institution concerned for making a written representation and it shall be open to such person or allied and healthcare institution to rectify the defects, if any, specified by the State Council;

(b) consider the scheme, having regard to the factors referred to in sub-section (5).

(4) The State Council may, after considering the scheme and after obtaining, where necessary, such other particulars under sub-section (2) as may be considered necessary by it from the person or allied and healthcare institution concerned, and having regard to the factors referred to in sub-section (5), either approve with such conditions, if any, as it may consider necessary or disapprove the scheme and any such approval shall constitute as a permission under sub-section (1):

Provided that no such scheme shall be disapproved by the State Council except after giving the person or allied and healthcare institution concerned a reasonable opportunity of being heard:

Provided further that nothing in this sub-section shall prevent any person or allied and healthcare institution whose scheme has not been approved by the State Council to submit a fresh scheme and the provisions of this section shall apply to such scheme, as if such scheme had been submitted for the first time under sub-section (2).

(5) The State Council shall, while passing an order under sub-section (4), have due regard to the following factors, namely:--

(a) whether the proposed allied and healthcare institution or the existing allied and healthcare institution seeking to open a new or higher course of study or training, would be in a position to offer the basic standards of education as specified by regulations;

(b) whether the person seeking to establish an allied and healthcare institution or the existing allied and healthcare institution seeking to open a new or higher course of study or training or to increase its admission capacity has adequate financial resources;

(c) whether necessary facilities in respect of staff, equipment, accommodation, training, hospital and other facilities to ensure proper functioning of the allied and healthcare institution or conducting the new course of study or training or accommodating the increased admission capacity have been provided or would be provided as may be specified in the scheme;

(d) whether adequate facilities, having regard to the number of students likely to attend such allied and healthcare institution or course of study or training or as a result of the increased admission capacity, have been provided or would be provided as may be specified in the scheme;

(e) whether any arrangement has been made or programme drawn to impart proper training to students likely to attend such allied and healthcare institution or the course of study or training by the persons having the recognised allied and healthcare qualifications;

(f) the requirement of manpower in the allied and healthcare institution; and

(g) any other factors as may be specified by regulation.

(6) Where the State Council passes an order under sub-section (4), a copy of the order shall be communicated to the person or allied and healthcare institution as the case may be.

Explanation.--For the purposes of this section,--

(a) "person" includes any University, institution or a trust, but does not include the Central Government or State Government;

(b) "admission capacity", in relation to any course of study or training (including post-graduate course of study or training) in an allied and healthcare institution, means the maximum number of students as may be decided by the State Council from time to time for being admitted to such course of study or training."

9. A perusal of the entire Act reveals that it is a comprehensive enactment dealing with the aspect of education, registration and licencing of allied and healthcare professional, regulation of allied and healthcare institutions and other related matters.

10. Given the mandate of the Act in general and of Section 40 of the Act in particular, the petitioner cannot be permitted to grant recognition to institutions imparting education and training or register any such institution, except in accordance with, and to the extent permissible under the scheme and terms of the Act. No mandamus, as sought for, can be issued.

11. For all the reasons stated above, the writ petition is dismissed.

Hon'ble Manish Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Sri Vijay Dixit, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel appearing for the State of U.P. i.e. respondent no. 3, Sri Madhukar Ojha, learned counsel for the respondent no. 4, Sri Sanjeev Singh, learned counsel for the respondent no. 6, Sri Satyajit Banerji, learned counsel for respondent no. 7 and there is a request for adjournment on the ground of illness on behalf of Sri Taranjeet Singh Makkar, who appears for the HDFC Ergo General Insurance Co. Ltd-respondent no. 8. Learned counsel for the petitioner has stated that all payments due from respondent no. 8 have been received by the petitioner no lis survives in so far as the respondent no. 8 is concerned, therefore, this Court has proceeded to hear the matter finally.

2. It is the case of the petitioner that for providing social security and welfare of the unorganized workers and for matters connected therewith and incidental thereto, the Government of India introduced the Unorganized Workers' Social Security Act, 2008, and introduced a Welfare Scheme for unorganized workers in the name of Rashtriya Swastha Bima Yojana (hereinafter referred to as 'the RSBY') to cover a number of non BPL categories of informal Sector including street vendors, domestic workers, Beedi workers, building and construction workers and workers who had worked for more than 15 days in MNREGA for covering diseases which involved hospitalization. The beneficiaries under the Scheme were entitled to hospitalization coverage of upto Rs. 30,000/- for most of the diseases and the coverage was extended upto five Members of the same family. The Scheme was sponsored by the Central Government which had to pay 75 per cent of the premium and 25 per cent of the premium was to be paid by the State Government, in most of the States of the Country.

3. Under the RSBY, the ICICI Lombard General Insurance Company Ltd. was empaneled for various districts including the District Lucknow and the ICICI Lombard General Insurance Company Ltd. entered into an agreement with the Government of U.P. to provide health insurance services to the persons below poverty line and also beneficiaries covered under the RSBY. The guidelines were issued by the Government of India and also by the State Government for settlement of claim, the latest being the one issued on 17.07.2012 by the Government of India and under Clause 2(iii), it has been provided that in case the Insurance Company has not received the necessary premium, then also they had to settle the claim of the hospital. However, liberty was granted to the Insurance Company to indicate that payment will be made after premium is received. The Insurance Company had to make a settlement of the claim within thirty days of receipt of the same but actual payment had to be made after premium was received. Since the ICICI Lombard General Insurance Company Ltd. was nominated for the District of Lucknow, the petitioner-Hospital entered into an agreement with ICICI Lombard General Insurance Company Ltd.

4. The contract between the petitioner and the ICICI Lombard General Insurance Company Ltd. was for the financial year 2012-13, 2013-14 & 2014-15 and each year a fresh contract was signed. The petitioner provided health services to various beneficiaries and bills for payment were raised which was cleared by the Insurance Company up to 31.10.2014. In the year 2015, various Grievance Redressal Committees were constituted by the RSBY in order to effectively address the grievance raised by any of the parties. Since certain claims of the petitioner were not settled by the ICICI Lombard General Insurance Company Ltd. in time, it raised a claim before the respondent no. 5 i.e. the Chairman, District Grievance Redressal Committee/Chief Medical Officer, Lucknow, and also sent repeated e-mails to the respondent no. 5 for settlement of claims.

5. On 06.11.2015, the respondent no. 5 informed the petitioner that the claim of the petitioner-Hospital could not be settled as the Insurance Company had not received the premium from the Government and as soon as the premium is received, the claim will be settled. The respondent no. 5 on being approached in this regard passed an order after hearing both parties on 07.09.2016 directing the respondent no. 6 to make all payments to the petitioner within a fortnight of the order. The payment was still not made by the respondent no. 6 on the ground that the premium have not been paid by the State Government.

6. It is the case of the petitioner that once the respondent no. 5 has passed the order dated 07.09.2016 directing the respondent no. 6 to make payment to the petitioner within a fortnight irrespective of the fact whether the premium was paid to it by the Government or not, it was incumbent upon the Insurance Company to comply with the directions of respondent no. 5 and make payments as are due to the petitioner. When no heed wad paid, the petitioner approached this Court with the following main prayers:-

" I. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the part of the clause 2(iii) of the Government Order dated 17.07.2012 issued by the Opposite party no. 1, as contained in Annexure No. 1 to the writ petition, as far it empowers the Insurance Company to withheld the payment of the Hospital even after verification of claims till the premium is received by the Insurance Company from the Government.

II. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding the opposite party nos. 6 to 8 to make the payment of the claims authenticated and verified by the opposite parties immediately alongwith interest @ 8 % p.a. on delayed payment."

7. It has been argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that because the Insurance Company is taking shelter of the provisions of the Government Order dated 17.07.2012, which entitles it to settle the claim of the Hospital within a month but to refuse to make payment till it receives premium from the Government. The Government Order dated 17.07.2012 and its relevant clause has also been challenged.

8. The learned Counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance upon Annexure 14 to the writ petition, which is a copy of the decision taken by the C.M.O. as Chairman of the District Grievance Redressal Committee. The representative of the hospital and the Insurance Company were heard and it was observed that the hospital had provided free healthcare services to the beneficiaries under the agreement with the Insurance Company, and that reimbursement of its claim by the Insurance Company had been withheld only on the ground that there was a dispute between the State Nodal Agency and the Insurance Company and no premium has been paid to it by the State Nodal Agency; the Insurance Company could not withhold the amount claimed by the hospital only on the ground that no insurance premium had been paid by the State Government/State Nodal Agency to the Company. The C.M.O. had directed that Insurance Company should pay the hospital bills raised by it within 15 days. The Chief Executive Officer of the State Nodal Agency also wrote to the Insurance Company on 25.11.2016 directing it to make payments of dues to the petitioner as soon as possible.

9. In the counter affidavit filed by the State Government, it has come out that the National Grievance Redressal Committee by its order dated 08.01.2018 had directed payment of Rs.3.63 crores by the State Nodal Agency to the Insurance Agencies for settling of claims of various hospitals. However, these figures were not final as a high-powered committee of U.P. Swasthya Bima Kalyan Samiti had decided to constitute a third-party audit through expert IT professionals of the State Government, to accurately identify the correct figure of smart cards prepared by Insurance Companies and thereafter final payment would be done by the State Nodal Agency to the Insurance Companies. In the agreement dated 01.10.2012, extended from time to time between the Insurance Company and the petitioner, the State Government is not a party and the aforesaid agreement did not contain any clause for holding the State Government responsible for any claim of the petitioner, in any dispute between the State Nodal Agency and the Insurance Company. The Government of India also in its order dated 17.07.2013 had directed all claims to be settled mandatorily by Insurance Company within one month from the receipt of such claims from the treating hospitals and wherever necessary premium had not been received by the Insurance Company and it becomes the reason for delay in claim settlement, the Insurance Company would still take a decision on the claims within the stipulated time limit and convey to the concerned hospital clearly that payment would be made after premium is received.

10. Sri Sanjeev Singh, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the respondent no. 6 has pointed out from the copy of the Contract entered into between the petitioner-Hospital and respondent no. 6 Article 16 which relates to miscellaneous provisions and Clause 7 thereof which relates to the law applicable to the agreement and Arbitration clause. He has pointed out sub Clause (ii) & (iii) of Clause 7 wherein it has been provided that any dispute, controversy or claim arising out of or in relation to the agreement or the breach, termination or irregularity thereof, shall be settled by Arbitration in accordance with the provisions of Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996. The Arbitral Tribunal would be comprised of three Arbitrators, one Arbitrator appointed by each party and one another Arbitrator appointed by mutual consent of the Arbitrators, so appointed. It has been pointed out that the place of Arbitration would be Mumbai and any award whether interim or final shall be made only in Mumbai.

11. It has further been argued by Sri Sanjeev Singh, on the basis of counter affidavit filed on behalf of the respondent no. 6 that in terms of the Advisory issued by the Central Government dated 17.07.2012, the Insurance Company can withhold payment to the Hospital in case it does not receive premium amount. In the absence of payment of premium by the Central and State Government, the Insurance Company had informed the petitioner that the claim raised by it will only be considered after such premium is paid by the Government under the RSBY. It is the case of the Insurance Company that since payment of premium has not been made, the Insurance Company cannot be held liable. Moreover, the petitioner on its own cannot assume that the bills raised by it are genuine and authenticated by the answering respondents, as the claims have not been processed by the Insurance Company in the absence of premium being paid to it. Also, the State Nodal Agency and the Government have raised questions regarding the correct number of verified Smart Card for the beneficiaries under the RSBY and the State Nodal Agency and the Government have been denying the premium amount claimed by the Insurance Company and unless the issue of verification of Smart Cards is settled by the Government/State Nodal Agency, it cannot be said that the entire claim raised by the petitioner-Hospital on the basis of treatment of Smart Card beneficiaries is genuine and authenticated. It has been further been argued that the petitioner has not submitted any document to establish that the entire claim raised by the petitioner has been verified and authenticated by the Insurance Company.

12. It has also been argued that the order passed by the District Grievance Redressal Committee dated 07.09.2016 was passed ignoring the provisions contained in Clause 2(iii) of the Government Order dated 17.07.2012 issued by the Central Government and outstanding premium amount of Rs. 62.63 crores for Phase 4 & 5 of the RSBY still remains to be paid.

13. The arguments advanced by Sri Sanjeev Singh, learned counsel for the respondent no. 6 have been adopted by Sri Satyajit Banerji, learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent no. 7- National Insurance Company Ltd.

14. Sri Madhukar Ojha, learned counsel for the RSBY, on the other hand, has referred to the counter affidavit and supplementary counter affidavit filed on behalf of respondent no. 4 wherein it has been stated that the ICICI Lombard General Insurance Company Ltd. has participated in the 4th & 5th rounds of RSBY launched by the Government of India in the State of U.P. and the State Nodal Agency was appointed to implement the aforesaid Scheme with the help of Insurance Companies nominated/empaneled in this regard. The State Government/Nodal Agency had to make payment of State's share of premium of 25 per cent to the Insurance Company and the remaining 75 per cent had to be paid by the Central Government on the basis of verified enrollment data of the identified beneficiaries. The Insurance Company enrolled the 1,06,680 beneficiaries and in the 4th round, raised invoice for payment of Insurance premium to the State Nodal Agency. Only 85,452 beneficiaries were found to be correctly identified, for which the Insurance premium of Rs. 2.78 crores was paid to the ICICI Lombard General Insurance Company Ltd., in between December 2012 to May, 2013.

15. The Insurance Company aggrieved by the decision of the State Nodal Agency regarding number of verified beneficiaries Smart Cards and premium paid on that basis approached the State Grievance Redressal Committee for rectifying the same. The State Grievance Redressal Committee found genuine grant of enrolled beneficiaries as 84,291, for which Rs. 2.77 crores was to be paid to the Insurance Company and therefore, Rs. 1,00,000/- that was paid in excess by the State Nodal Agency was to be recovered from the Insurance Company.

16. The Insurance Company also participated in the 5th round of RSBY in the State of U.P. and the Insurance Company provided enrollment to 75,587 beneficiaries for which Rs. 1.72 crore was claimed as premium amount. On verification by the State Nodal Agency, the figure of 53,810 beneficiaries was found to be correct for which premium of Rs. 1.23 crores was paid to the Insurance Company between March 2014 to March, 2015. The Insurance Company again approached the State Grievance Redressal Committee for rectifying the alleged wrong verification but it was found that Rs. 6.03 crore was recoverable from the ICICI Lombard General Insurance Company Ltd. and Rs. 9.66 crore was payable to the respondent no. 6 at the end of 5th round of RSBY. As per the orders of the National Grievance Redressal Committee dated 08.01.2018, an amount of Rs. 3.63 crore has to be conditionally paid to the Insurance Company on production of affidavit that this amount would be used only to pay the outstanding dues of Hospitals like that of the petitioner and after due verification of the Smart Card, prepared by the Insurance Company of identified beneficiaries.

17. The High powered Committee of U.P. Swastha Bima Kalyan Samiti had decided to constitute a Third Party Audit through expert IT professionals of the State Government to accurately access the correct figure of Smart Cards prepared by the Insurance Companies and thereafter final payments shall be made by the State Nodal Agency to the Insurance Company concerned.

18. In the counter affidavit filed by the State Nodal Agency, the respondent no.4, it has been stated that the Insurance Company has generated several fraudulent smart cards for unidentified and ineligible beneficiaries, and that respondent no.4 has made payment of the enrolled beneficiaries by the Insurance Company after due verification process which has been found to be correct by the Social Audit Team of the Government of India constituted on the directions of the Secretary, Health and Family Welfare, Union of India, for the purpose of verification of enrolment software processes. The verification process adopted by the State Nodal Agency was challenged by the Insurance Company before the State Grievance Redressal Committee and State Grievance Redressal Committee made minor enhancement in the verified figures and such order was later on upheld by the National Grievance Redressal Committee. A copy of the recommendations of the Social Audit Team have been filed as Annexure to the counter affidavit where it was noted that rejection by the State Nodal Agency of the figures provided by the Insurance Companies for reimbursement was mainly on account of change in the name of the head of the family, other than one indicated in the pre-enrolment data. The Social Audit Team had found the Insurance Company's claims unconvincing. The Committee observed that the enrolment figure for all such smart cards where there was a change in the name of the head of the family should be disallowed, and no premium was required to be paid to the concerned Insurance Company in all such cases. It was also found that the Insurance Company had issued multiple smart cards on single Unique Relationship Number (URN). The State Nodal Agency had stressed that these duplicate cards were the result of not following of prescribed procedures by the Insurance Company in the field during enrolment as such the possibility of mischief could not be ruled out. The team observed that the issue of multiple cards under the same URN is prohibited. The State Nodal Agency was directed to identify beneficiaries of duplicate cards by analysis of the URN data and payment should be made to the Insurance Companies only for one single card thereafter by the State Nodal Agency. Also, delivery of smart cards to beneficiaries on the spot i.e. on the date of enrolment itself was not ensured by the Insurance Company. Insurance companies were demanding premium on pro rata basis for all such cards, because according to them, such cards had been delivered to the beneficiaries. The State Nodal Agency emphasised that the Tender Document itself provided that payment of premium for only delivered cards is to be made on pro rata basis. The onus to prove the delivery of cards to the correct beneficiary was not delayed beyond the specified period by the Insurance Company.

19. With regard to the agreement dated 01.10.2012, which has been made the basis of the writ petition, it has been argued on behalf of the State Nodal Agency that the agreement was exclusively between the petitioner and the Insurance Company and the State Nodal Agency was not a party to the said agreement. With regard to the Government of India Advisory dated 17.07.2012, it has been submitted that the Insurance Company has to settle/verify all claims mandatorily within one month of receipt of such claims from the Hospitals, and even if necessary premium has not been received by the Insurance Company, it may still verify the claim but make payment after premium is received. The Insurance Company has not verified the claim of the petitioner. Although, no such advisory was issued by the Government to withhold even verification of the hospital's claim.

20. The Social Audit Team constituted by the State Nodal Agency is on the directions of the Secretary, Health and Family Welfare, Union of India for the purpose of verification of enrollment, software processing especially with respect to possibility of fictitious enrollment, examination of enrolled figures by the Insurance Companies. The verification process adopted by the State Nodal Agency was challenged in State Grievance Redressal Committee, which was disposed of with minor enhancement in verified figure of beneficiaries and such order was upheld by the National Grievance Redressal Committee. The payment cannot be made by the State Nodal Agency without verification of beneficiaries Smart Card as prepared by the Insurance Companies.

21. In the supplementary counter affidavit filed on behalf of respondent no. 4, subsequent developments have been mentioned wherein the order passed by the District Grievance Redressal Committee and the order passed by the State Nodal Agency to make payment only after verification, has been brought on record and it has been pointed out that none of the orders so passed have been challenged by any of the Insurance Companies, the respondent nos. 6, 7 & 8 before any higher Forum i.e. the National Grievance Redressal Committee or any court of law.

22. In a supplementary counter affidavit filed by the State Nodal Agency, it has been stated that during the operation of the RSBY Scheme, the ICICI Lombard General Insurance Company had reported certain anomalies to the State Nodal Agency. On further enquiry, discrepancies were found true and the same find mention in the report and in the observations of the NGRC regarding possibility of fraudulent claims raised during enrolment process. The State Nodal Agency, after due verification and enquiry of all such data requested the Government of U.P., which has released 7.27 crores of the State's share in favour of various Insurance Companies to be paid to various hospitals/service providers on 26.03.2021.

23. Sri Sanjeev Singh has stated on the basis of affidavit filed by the parties that although the respondent no. 6 has claimed more than Rs. 64 crores as premium. The State Nodal Agencies and the State Governments have admitted an amount of around Rs. 10 crores only, which contains part of State share and Central Government's share.

24. Certain other paragraphs of the supplementary counter affidavit have been pointed out by Sri Sanjeev Singh to show that there is a dispute with regard to premium being paid and since there is a dispute with regard to the premium being paid, the respondent no. 6 has rightly withheld the payment to the petitioner for treatment of beneficiaries and claims made by it. In any case, if the petitioner is aggrieved by any breach of condition of the agreement between the Insurance Company and the petitioner, the appropriate remedy would be under Clause 16.7 of the agreement.

25. Learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance upon the judgment rendered by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Ram Barai Singh and Co. vs. State of Bihar and Ors. [(2015) 13 SCC 592] wherein it has been observed that the constitutional remedy of writ petition is always available to an aggrieved party and an arbitration clause in an agreement between the parties cannot ipso facto render a writ petition not maintainable.

26. Learned counsel for the petitioner has also placed reliance upon the judgment rendered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in M/s. Surya Constructions vs. The State of U.P. and Ors. [(2019) 16 SCC 794] where the amount payable to the appellant being wholly undisputed and in fact admitted in contempt proceedings before the High Court, still the High Court refused to interfere in the matter on the ground of contractual obligations and disputed questions of facts. Hon'ble Supreme Court placed reliance upon the judgment rendered in ABL International Ltd. and Anr. vs. Export Credit Guarantee Corporation of India Limited and Ors. [(2004) 3 SCC 553] to say that once the amount that was payable was admitted, in pursuance of agreement entered into between the parties, then it was not right for the High Court to refuse the relief prayed for by the appellant and to relegate the parties to remedies available under the agreement.

27. Learned counsel for the petitioner has also placed reliance upon the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Gas Authority of India Ltd. vs. Indian Petrochemicals Corporation Ltd. and Ors. passed in CIVIL APPEAL Nos. 3504-3505 OF 2010, decided on 08.02.2023 and paragraph 20 thereof, where the Court observed that although the dispute arises from a commercial contract, the writ petition challenging the clauses of such contract was maintainable as it was not disputed that Gas Authority of India Ltd. is a Public Sector Undertaking and qualifies under the definition of State under Article 12 of the Constitution. At the time of entering into contract, GAIL was enjoying a monopolistic position with respect to the supply of natural gas in the country. The Indian Petrochemicals Corporation Ltd., having incurred a significant expense in setting up appropriate infrastructure, had no choice but to enter into agreement with GAIL. Thus, there was a clear public element involved in the dealings between the parties and writ jurisdiction can be exercised when the State, even in its contractual dealings, fails to exercise a degree of fairness or practices any discrimination.

28. Learned counsel for the petitioner has also placed reliance upon the judgment rendered by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Maharashtra Chess Association vs. Union Of India and Anr. [(2020) 13 SCC 285] and paragraph 11 thereof, where it has been held that Article 226 of the Constitution confers on High Courts the power to issue writs, and consequently, the jurisdiction to entertain actions for the issuance of writs not only for enforcement of fundamental rights but for any other purpose.

29. Learned counsel for the petitioner has referred to various paragraphs in the said judgment to say that the Hon'ble Supreme Court has reiterated that the High Court's powers are plenary in nature and are purely discretionary and no limits can be placed upon their discretion and that the bar relating to alternative remedy has to be considered to be a rule of self imposed limitation and it is essentially a Rule of policy, convenience and discretion and never a Rule of law. Despite existence of an alternative remedy, it is within the jurisdiction or discretion of the High Court to grant relief under Article 226 of the Constitution.

30. The learned Counsel for the petitioner has pointed out from the Supplementary Counter Affidavit filed by the State Nodal Agency that a Coordinate Division Bench at Allahabad had directed payment to be made to various hospitals/petitioners by the Insurance Company, and direction has been issued also for payment of interest at the rate of 9% per annum for delay in releasing such amount. One such writ petition, namely, Writ-C No.18949 of 2019 was decided on 07.08.2019.

31. This Court has gone through Annexures 5, 6 and 7 pointed out by the counsel for the petitioner. It is apparent from SCA 5, which is an order dated 07.08.2019 passed in Writ-C No. 18949 of 2019, Anand Polyclinic and Trauma Centre and another versus State of U.P. and three others, that the writ petition was filed for a direction to the Oriental Insurance Company to pay more than Rs.13 lakhs claimed by the petitioners under the RSBY within a reasonable time. The Court passed an Interim Order on 08.07.2019 directing the Managing Director to appear and explain why a direction be not issued to make payment with interest at the rate of 12% per annum, and for exemplary cost for compelling the petitioner to approach the Court. In pursuance of the same, the Deputy Manager was present in Court and filed an affidavit that the amount had been paid through NEFT/ RTGS after deducting TDS. The Court directed interest to be paid from December 2018 as the Chief Executive Officer of State Nodal Agency had directed such payment to be made to the hospital on 05.11.2018.

32. The order dated 08.08.2019 is not a judgement as no issue was raised regarding maintainability of the writ petition for contractual obligations when the agreement between the parties, none of whom was State within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution of India, clearly provided for arbitration for settlement of disputes arising out of contract.

33. This Court has also gone through Interim Order passed by the same Coordinate Bench dated 05.07.2019 in Writ-C No. 1048 of 2019:Jeevan Dhara Hospital and Research Centre and another versus State of U.P. and three others, and Interim Order dated 21.05.2019 in Writ-C No.17347 of 2019: M/s Ashirwad Hospital and Research Centre and another versus Union of India and others. All the Interim Orders refer to the directions issued by the State Grievance Redressal Committee to the Regional Manager of Oriental Insurance company to make payment to the petitioner's hospitals and, thereafter, direct to make payments within one month or to appear in person before the Court. None of such interim orders are binding upon this Court.

34. This Court has considered the judgments as have been cited before us and finds that the judgment in the case of Ram Barai Singh and Co. (supra), a writ petition was filed for interest on delayed refund of security deposit and against direction for recovery of labour escalation costs after completion of contract and the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the High Court failed to notice that the agreement itself had worked out long back and in the earlier round of litigation as well as in the instant round of litigation, the respondents never raised any objection on the basis of arbitration clause, therefore, the High Court should not have remitted the matter on the ground of alternative remedy where no such objection was raised by the respondent at any stage. Availability of arbitration clause did not always forfeit the right of aggrieved party to file a writ petition. This Court has carefully considered the facts and finds that in the case of Ram Barai Singh and Co. (supra), it was a question of satisfactory performance of contract entered into between the Superintending Engineer of the Government of Bihar and the petitioner-company.

35. In the case of M/s. Surya Constructions (supra), the admitted dues for extra work done by the petitioner for U.P. Jal Nigam was claimed. The High Court had asked the U.P. Jal Nigam to decide the representation of the petitioner and in the decision on such representation, it had come out that the dues were admitted and were not being paid on account of various reasons.

36. In the case of Gas Authority of India Ltd. (supra), the dispute was between two Public Sector Undertakings, GAIL being the monopoly holder in supply of gas had entered into a contract for supply for such natural gas with IPCL which had set up and installed a Plant investing more than Rs. 4500/- crore in laying down pipelines between Hazira and the Plant at Gandhar. There was a dispute regarding the methodology of supply of gas and the price of gas. Hon'ble Supreme Court therefore in the context of such facts had made observations in paragraph 20, which has been read before us by the counsel for the petitioner.

37. In the case of Maharashtra Chess Association (supra), a private agreement was entered into between the appellant and affiliated Society registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 and the second respondent, also a registered Society and the Governing Authority for Chess in India in the form of the Constitution and bye-laws of the latter. The question was with regard to the place/jurisdiction of Court to entertain the settlement of any dispute. The Court had observed that where several courts would have jurisdiction to try the subject matter of the dispute, the parties to a Contract can stipulate that a suit be brought exclusively before one of the several courts, to the exclusion of the others. The judgment rendered in the case of Maharashtra Chess Association (supra), is clearly inapplicable to the facts of the petitioner's case.

38. This Court has found from the arguments raised by the counsel for the parties and from the affidavits filed on their behalf that there is a serious dispute with regard to the verification of the beneficiaries/Smart Cards in between the State Nodal Agency and the Insurance Company. Learned Counsel for the Insurance Company, on the other hand, says that since premium has not been given due to dispute being raised regarding verification of Smart Card beneficiaries, it shall not make any payment to the petitioner.

39. The petitioner has no doubt challenged clause 2(iii) of the Central Government Advisory dated 17.07.2012 which empowered and entitle the Insurance Company to withhold payment of compensation in case of non-payment of premium. But this Court is of the opinion that such an Advisory/policy decision is of a routine nature which is found in all Insurance Policies.

40. Insurance coverage of the insured is as per the premium paid. Existence/continuance of any policy is dependant on payment of premium and non payment of the same would result in the end of the Insurance Policy and claim could be repudiated on that ground alone. Therefore, the clause in the Government of India advisory is not arbitrary or unreasonable or violative of Article 14 of the Constitution.

41. Learned counsel for the petitioner has pointed out that the petitioner is claiming payment for services rendered by it under the agreement.

42. While considering the question of scope of judicial review of action by the State in a matter arising from a contract, and what is the effect of the contract not being statutory, and as to what constitutes public law element to bring in judicial review in contractual matters, the Supreme Court in M.P. Power (supra), considered the observations made by it in Radhakrishna Agarwal versus State of Bihar (1977) 3 SCC 457; where petitions were filed against orders of the State Government revising the rate of royalty under a lease and the cancellation of the lease on various grounds. The Court was of the opinion that the only question which normally arose in such cases was as to whether the action complained of was in conformity with the agreement. It referred to the earlier judgements rendered, where the Supreme Court had observed that any duty or obligation falling upon a public servant out of a contract entered into by him as such public servant, cannot be enforced by the machinery of a writ under Article 226 of the Constitution.

43. In Banchhanidhi Rath versus State of Orissa (1972) 4 SCC 781, the Supreme Court had observed that if a right is claimed in terms of a contract such a right cannot be enforced in a writ petition. In Har Shankar versus Deputy Excise and Taxation Commissioner (1975) 1 SCC 737; the Constitution Bench had observed that "a writ petition is not an appropriate remedy for impeaching contractual obligations.'

44. The Court also took the view that it is the contract and not the executive power regulated by the Constitution which governs the relations of the parties. The Supreme Court in the case of M.P. Power (supra) referred to the observations made by it in Mahavir Auto Stores Versus Indian oil Corporation (1990) 3 SCC 752; where while referring to judgements in earlier cases, the Supreme Court had observed that the rule of reason and rule against arbitrariness and discrimination, rules of fair play and natural justice are part of the Rule of Law applicable in situation or action by the State instrumentality in dealing with the citizens. Even though the rights of citizens are in the nature of contractual rights, the manner, the method and motive of a decision of entering or not entering into a contract, are subject to judicial review on the touchstone of relevance and reasonableness, fair play, natural justice equality and non-discrimination in the type of transactions and nature of the dealing as evident in the facts and circumstances of a particular case.

45. In State of U.P. versus Bridge and Roof Company India Ltd (1996) 6 SCC 22; the Supreme Court was dealing with a case of a writ petition filed by the respondent therein which was a Public Sector Corporation seeking payment allegedly due from the appellant State. The Court noted that the contract in question contained articles providing inter-alia for settlement of disputes by reference to arbitration. The very resort to Article 226 was found to be misconceived in the circumstances. The Court observed as follows:-

"Firstly, the contract between the parties is a contract in the realm of private law. It is not a statutory contract. It is governed by the provisions of the Contract Act or maybe, also by certain provisions of the Sale of Goods Act. Any dispute relating to interpretation of the terms and conditions of such a contract cannot be agitated, and could not have been agitated, in a writ petition. That is a matter either for arbitration as provided by the contract or for the civil court, as the case maybe. Whether any amount is due to the respondent from the appellant - Government under the contract and, if so, how much and further the question whether retention or refusal to pay any amount by the Government is justified or not, are all matters which cannot be agitated in or adjudicated upon in a writ petition."

46. In M.P. Power (supra), the Supreme Court also considered judgement rendered in Verigamto Naveen Vs Government of A.P. (2001) SCC 344; which involved mining leases granted to a Corporation and sub lease, which was permitted by the Government which permission was later on sought to be withdrawn. The Supreme Court observed in paragraph 21 as follows: -

"21 ..... where the breach of contract involves breach of statutory obligation, when the order complained of was made in exercise of the statutory power by a statutory authority, though cause of action arises out of or pertains to contract, brings it within the sphere of public law because the power exercised is apart from contract. The freedom of the Government to enter into business with anybody it likes is subject to the condition of reasonableness and fair play as well as public interest. After entering into a contract, in cancelling the contract which is subject to the terms of the statutory provisions, as in the present case, it cannot be said that the matter falls purely in a contractual field..."

47. In paragraph 46 of the judgement in M.P. Power (supra), the Supreme Court dealt with the observations made in ABL International Ltd versus Export Credit Guarantee Corp of India Ltd (2004) 3 SCC 553; which involved a company incorporated under the Companies Act repudiating insurance claim made by the writ petitioner, in paragraph 27 as follows: -

"27. From the above discussion of ours, the following legal principles emerge as to the maintainability of the writ petition:

(a) In an appropriate case, a writ petition as against the State Or an instrumentality of the State arising out of a contractual obligation is maintainable.(b)Merely because some disputed questions of fact arise for consideration, same cannot be a ground to refuse to entertain a writ petition in all cases as a matter of rule. (C) A Writ petition involving a consequential relief of monetary claim is also maintainable."

48. At the same time the Supreme Court in paragraph 28 of the same judgement had made the following observations : -

"28. However, while entertaining and objection as to the maintainability of the writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, the Court should bear in mind the fact that the power to issue prerogative writs under Article 226 of the Constitution is plenary in nature and is not limited by any other provision of the Constitution. The High Court having regard to the facts of the case has a discretion to entertain or not to entertain a writ petition. The Court has imposed upon itself certain restrictions in the exercise of this power. - - - And this plenary right of the High Court to issue a prerogative Writ will not normally be exercised by the court to the exclusion of other available remedies unless such action of the state or its instrumentalities is arbitrary and unreasonable so as to violate the constitutional mandate of Article 14 or for other valid and legitimate reasons, for which the Court thinks it fit and necessary to exercise the said jurisdiction."

49. The Supreme Court steered clear of the criticism that it was not following the principles laid down by it in the State of U.P. versus Bridge and Roof Corporation (supra), by noting that in the said case there was a contract which contained an arbitration clause but in ABL International (supra) there was no arbitration clause.

50. The Supreme Court in the case of M.P. Power (supra) thereafter considered recent developments in law and culled out certain principles where High Court in exercise of the powers under Article 226 can interfere in contractual matters also. It observed in paragraph 55 to 60 as follows: -

"55. We may now notice the judgment of this court in Joshi Technologies International Inc. v. Union of India, which is also relied upon by the learned Additional Solicitor General. The said case actually involved the complaint of the writ petitioner therein that it was entitled to the benefit of Section 42 of the Income Tax Act, 1961 which provided for certain deductions. The petitioner had entered into an agreement with the respondent, the Government of India. The case of the respondent, inter alia, was one denying the case of the petitioner that the omission of Section 42 was by oversight. The prayer in the writ petition itself inter alia was essentially to declare entitlement to the deduction under Section 42, inter alia. It is while dealing with the said case that this court no doubt proceeds to, inter alia, lay down as following after adverting to ABL limited (supra) also:--"69. The position thus summarised in the aforesaid principles has to be understood in the context of discussion that preceded which we have pointed out above. As per this, no doubt, there is no absolute bar to the maintainability of the writ petition even in contractual matters or where there are disputed questions of fact or even when monetary claim is raised. At the same time, discretion lies with the High Court which under certain circumstances, it can refuse to exercise. It also follows that under the following circumstances, "normally", the Court would not exercise such a discretion:

69.1. The Court may not examine the issue unless the action has some public law character attached to it.

69.2. Whenever a particular mode of settlement of dispute is provided in the contract, the High Court would refuse to exercise its discretion under Article 226 of the Constitution and relegate the party to the said mode of settlement, particularly when settlement of disputes is to be resorted to through the means of arbitration.

69.3. If there are very serious disputed questions of fact which are of complex nature and require oral evidence for their determination.

69.4. Money claims per se particularly arising out of contractual obligations are normally not to be entertained except in exceptional circumstances."

"70. Further, the legal position which emerges from various judgments of this Court dealing with different situations/aspects relating to contracts entered into by the State/public authority with private parties, can be summarised as under:

70.1. At the stage of entering into a contract, the State acts purely in its executive capacity and is bound by the obligations of fairness.

70.2. State in its executive capacity, even in the contractual field, is under obligation to act fairly and cannot practise some discriminations.

70.3. Even in cases where question is of choice or consideration of competing claims before entering into the field of contract, facts have to be investigated and found before the question of a violation of Article 14 of the Constitution could arise. If those facts are disputed and require assessment of evidence the correctness of which can only be tested satisfactorily by taking detailed evidence, involving examination and cross-examination of witnesses, the case could not be conveniently or satisfactorily decided in proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution. In such cases the Court can direct the aggrieved party to resort to alternate remedy of civil suit, etc.

70.4. Writ jurisdiction of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution was not intended to facilitate avoidance of obligation voluntarily incurred.

70.5. Writ petition was not maintainable to avoid contractual obligation. Occurrence of commercial difficulty, inconvenience or hardship in performance of the conditions agreed to in the contract can provide no justification in not complying with the terms of contract which the parties had accepted with open eyes. It cannot ever be that a licensee can work out the licence if he finds it profitable to do so : and he can challenge the conditions under which he agreed to take the licence, if he finds it commercially inexpedient to conduct his business.

70.6. Ordinarily, where a breach of contract is complained of, the party complaining of such breach may sue for specific performance of the contract, if contract is capable of being specifically performed. Otherwise, the party may sue for damages.

70.7. Writ can be issued where there is executive action unsupported by law or even in respect of a corporation there is denial of equality before law or equal protection of law or if it can be shown that action of the public authorities was without giving any hearing and violation of principles of natural justice after holding that action could not have been taken without observing principles of natural justice.

70.8. If the contract between private party and the State/instrumentality and/or agency of the State is under the realm of a private law and there is no element of public law, the normal course for the aggrieved party, is to invoke the remedies provided under ordinary civil law rather than approaching the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India and invoking its extraordinary jurisdiction.

70.9. The distinction between public law and private law element in the contract with the State is getting blurred. However, it has not been totally obliterated and where the matter falls purely in private field of contract, this Court has maintained the position that writ petition is not maintainable. The dichotomy between public law and private law rights and remedies would depend on the factual matrix of each case and the distinction between the public law remedies and private law field, cannot be demarcated with precision. In fact, each case has to be examined, on its facts whether the contractual relations between the parties bear insignia of public element. Once on the facts of a particular case it is found that nature of the activity or controversy involves public law element, then the matter can be examined by the High Court in writ petitions under Article 226 of the Constitution of India to see whether action of the State and/or instrumentality or agency of the State is fair, just and equitable or that relevant factors are taken into consideration and irrelevant factors have not gone into the decision-making process or that the decision is not arbitrary.

70.10. Mere reasonable or legitimate expectation of a citizen, in such a situation, may not by itself be a distinct enforceable right, but failure to consider and give due weight to it may render the decision arbitrary, and this is how the requirements of due consideration of a legitimate expectation forms part of the principle of non-arbitrariness.70.11. The scope of judicial review in respect of disputes falling within the domain of contractual obligations may be more limited and in doubtful cases the parties may be relegated to adjudication of their rights by resort to remedies provided for adjudication of purely contractual disputes."

56. In State of Kerala v. M.K. Jose, the specific question with which we are concerned with, namely, entertaining a writ petition in a contractual matter and where the specific question was the validity of the termination of the contract, fell for consideration. We may notice the following:

"13. A writ court should ordinarily not entertain a writ petition, if there is a breach of contract involving disputed questions of fact. The present case clearly indicates that the factual disputes are involved."

57. Thereafter, the court went on to consider in detail the judgment of this Court in ABL (supra) and found that it was a case where the court granted relief as the facts were absolutely clear from the documentary evidence and it pertained to interpretation of such clauses of the contract of insurance. We need notice only paragraph 20 in M.K. Jose (supra). It reads as under:

"20. We have referred to the aforesaid authorities to highlight under what circumstances in respect of contractual claim or challenge to violation of contract can be entertained by a writ court. It depends upon facts of each case. The issue that had arisen in ABL International [(2004) 3 SCC 553] was that an instrumentality of a State was placing a different construction on the clauses of the contract of insurance and the insured was interpreting the contract differently. The Court thought it apt merely because something is disputed by the insurer, it should not enter into the realm of disputed questions of fact. In fact, there was no disputed question of fact, but it required interpretation of the terms of the contract of insurance. Similarly, if the materials that come on record from which it is clearly evincible, the writ court may exercise the power of judicial review but, a pregnant one, in the case at hand, the High Court has appointed a Commission to collect the evidence, accepted the same without calling for objections from the respondent and quashed the order of termination of contract."

58. In State of U.P. v. Sudhir Kumar Singh, the first respondent the successful tenderer had worked the contract for a year when he was visited with cancellation. This Court exhaustively referred to the earlier case law including

ABL (supra) and Joshi Technology (supra) and held, inter alia, as follows:--"23. It may be added that every case in which a citizen/person knocks at the doors of the writ court for breach of his or its fundamental rights is a matter which contains a "public law element", as opposed to a case which is concerned only with breach of contract and damages flowing therefrom. Whenever a plea of breach of natural justice is made against the State, the said plea, if found sustainable, sounds in constitutional law as arbitrary State action, which attracts the provisions of Article 14 of the Constitution of India - see Nawabkhan Abbaskhan v. State of Gujarat, (1974) 2 SCC 121 at paragraph 7. The present case is, therefore, a case which involves a "public law element" in that the petitioner (Respondent No. 1 before us) who knocked at the doors of the writ court alleged breach of the audi alteram partem rule, as the entire proceedings leading to cancellation of the tender, together with the cancellation itself, were done on an ex parte appraisal of the facts behind his back."

59. We have already concluded that PPA is not a Statutory Contract. However, that would not be the end of enquiry. Dr. A.M. Singhvi, learned Senior Counsel, would point out that the contract, not being a statutory contract, assumes relevance only for the purpose of deciding as to whether the Court should relegate the writ applicant, to alternate remedies. In other words, while the Court would retain its discretion to entertain the petition or decline to do so, in the facts of each case, there is no absolute taboo against the Court granting relief, even if the challenge to the termination of a contract is made in the case of a contract, which is not statutory in nature, when the offending party is the State. In other words, the contention is that the law in this field has witnessed an evolution and, what is more, a revolution of sorts and a transformatory change with a growing realisation of the true ambit of Article 14 of the Constitution of India. The State, he points out, cannot play the Dr. Jekyll and Hyde game anymore. Its nature is cast in stone. Its character is inflexible. This is irrespective of the activity it indulges in. It will continue to be haunted by the mandate of Article 14 to act fairly. There has been a stunning expansion of the frontiers of the Court's jurisdiction to strike at State action in matters arising out of contract, based, undoubtedly, on the facts of each case. It remains open to the Court to refuse to reject a case, involving State action, on the basis that the action is, per se, arbitrary.

60. We may cull out our conclusions in regard to the points, which we have framed:

i. It is, undoubtedly, true that the writ jurisdiction is a public law remedy. A matter, which lies entirely within a private realm of affairs of public body, may not lend itself for being dealt with under the writ jurisdiction of the Court.

ii. The principle laid down in Bareilly Development Authority (supra) that in the case of a non-statutory contract the rights are governed only by the terms of the contract and the decisions, which are purported to be followed, including Radhakrishna Agarwal (supra), may not continue to hold good, in the light of what has been laid down in ABL (supra) and as followed in the recent judgment in Sudhir Kumar Singh (supra).

iii. The mere fact that relief is sought under a contract which is not statutory, will not entitle the respondent-State in a case by itself to ward-off scrutiny of its action or inaction under the contract, if the complaining party is able to establish that the action/inaction is, per se, arbitrary.

iv. An action will lie, undoubtedly, when the State purports to award any largesse and, undoubtedly, this relates to the stage prior to the contract being entered into [See R.D. Shetty (supra)]. This scrutiny, no doubt, would be undertaken within the nature of the judicial review, which has been declared in the decision in Tata Cellular v. Union of India.

v. After the contract is entered into, there can be a variety of circumstances, which may provide a cause of action to a party to the contract with the State, to seek relief by filing a Writ Petition.

vi. Without intending to be exhaustive, it may include the relief of seeking payment of amounts due to the aggrieved party from the State. The State can, indeed, be called upon to honour its obligations of making payment, unless it be that there is a serious and genuine dispute raised relating to the liability of the State to make the payment. Such dispute, ordinarily, would include the contention that the aggrieved party has not fulfilled its obligations and the Court finds that such a contention by the State is not a mere ruse or a pretence.

vii. The existence of an alternate remedy, is, undoubtedly, a matter to be borne in mind in declining relief in a Writ Petition in a contractual matter. Again, the question as to whether the Writ Petitioner must be told off the gates, would depend upon the nature of the claim and relief sought by the petitioner, the questions, which would have to be decided, and, most importantly, whether there are disputed questions of fact, resolution of which is necessary, as an indispensable prelude to the grant of the relief sought. Undoubtedly, while there is no prohibition, in the Writ Court even deciding disputed questions of fact, particularly when the dispute surrounds demystifying of documents only, the Court may relegate the party to the remedy by way of a civil suit.

viii. The existence of a provision for arbitration, which is a forum intended to quicken the pace of dispute resolution, is viewed as a near bar to the entertainment of a Writ Petition (See in this regard, the view of this Court even in ABL (supra) explaining how it distinguished the decision of this Court in State of U.P. v. Bridge & Roof Co., by its observations in paragraph-14 in ABL (supra)].

ix. The need to deal with disputed questions of fact, cannot be made a smokescreen to guillotine a genuine claim raised in a Writ Petition, when actually the resolution of a disputed question of fact is unnecessary to grant relief to a writ applicant.

x. The reach of Article 14 enables a Writ Court to deal with arbitrary State action even after a contract is entered into by the State. A wide variety of circumstances can generate causes of action for invoking Article 14. The Court's approach in dealing with the same, would be guided by, undoubtedly, the overwhelming need to obviate arbitrary State action, in cases where the Writ remedy provides an effective and fair means of preventing miscarriage of justice arising from palpably unreasonable action by the State.

xi. Termination of contract can again arise in a wide variety of situations. If for instance, a contract is terminated, by a person, who is demonstrated, without any need for any argument, to be the person, who is completely unauthorised to cancel the contract, there may not be any necessity to drive the party to the unnecessary ordeal of a prolix and avoidable round of litigation. The intervention by the High Court, in such a case, where there is no dispute to be resolved, would also be conducive in public interest, apart from ensuring the Fundamental Right of the petitioner under Article 14 of the Constitution of India. When it comes to a challenge to the termination of a contract by the State, which is a non-statutory body, which is acting in purported exercise of the powers/rights under such a contract, it would be over simplifying a complex issue to lay down any inflexible Rule in favour of the Court turning away the petitioner to alternate Fora. Ordinarily, the cases of termination of contract by the State, acting within its contractual domain, may not lend itself for appropriate redress by the Writ Court. This is, undoubtedly, so if the Court is duty-bound to arrive at findings, which involve untying knots, which are presented by disputed questions of facts. Undoubtedly, in view of ABL Limited (supra), if resolving the dispute, in a case of repudiation of a contract, involves only appreciating the true scope of documentary material in the light of pleadings, the Court may still grant relief to an applicant. We must enter a caveat. The Courts are today reeling under the weight of a docket explosion, which is truly alarming. If a case involves a large body of documents and the Court is called upon to enter upon findings of facts and involves merely the construction of the document, it may not be an unsound discretion to relegate the party to the alternate remedy. This is not to deprive the Court of its constitutional power as laid down in ABL (supra). It all depends upon the facts of each case as to whether, having regard to the scope of the dispute to be resolved, whether the Court will still entertain the petition.

xii. In a case the State is a party to the contract and a breach of a contract is alleged against the State, a civil action in the appropriate Forum is, undoubtedly, maintainable. But this is not the end of the matter. Having regard to the position of the State and its duty to act fairly and to eschew arbitrariness in all its actions, resort to the constitutional remedy on the cause of action, that the action is arbitrary, is permissible (See in this regard Kumari Shrilekha Vidyarthi v. State of U.P.). However, it must be made clear that every case involving breach of contract by the State, cannot be dressed up and disguised as a case of arbitrary State action. While the concept of an arbitrary action or inaction cannot be cribbed or confined to any immutable mantra, and must be laid bare, with reference to the facts of each case, it cannot be a mere allegation of breach of contract that would suffice. What must be involved in the case must be action/inaction, which must be palpably unreasonable or absolutely irrational and bereft of any principle. An action, which is completely malafide, can hardly be described as a fair action and may, depending on the facts, amount to arbitrary action. The question must be posed and answered by the Court and all we intend to lay down is that there is a discretion available to the Court to grant relief in appropriate cases.

xiii. A lodestar, which may illumine the path of the Court, would be the dimension of public interest subserved by the Court interfering in the matter, rather than relegating the matter to the alternate Forum.

xiv. Another relevant criteria is, if the Court has entertained the matter, then, while it is not tabooed that the Court should not relegate the party at a later stage, ordinarily, it would be a germane consideration, which may persuade the Court to complete what it had started, provided it is otherwise a sound exercise of jurisdiction to decide the matter on merits in the Writ Petition itself.

xv. Violation of natural justice has been recognised as a ground signifying the presence of a public law element and can found a cause of action premised on breach of Article 14. [See Sudhir Kumar Singh (supra)]."

(emphasis supplied)

51. This Court has carefully gone through the agreement and finds that it is an agreement between a private Insurance Company and the petitioner and the main relief sought by the petitioner is with respect to giving of a direction to the Insurance Company to make payment to the petitioner for the service provided in treating the beneficiaries.

52. This Court also finds that it is a non statutory contract which has an arbitration clause appended to it which had been signed by the petitioner with open eyes. If the petitioner claims any breach of such contract, the appropriate remedy for the petitioner is to approach the alternative Dispute Redressal Forum/Arbitral Tribunal as mentioned in clause 16.7 of the agreement signed between the private Insurance Company and the petitioner. The State Government is not a party to such Contract.

53. This Court therefore finds no good ground to show interference moreso, looking into the disputed questions of fact raised in the form of various affidavits filed by the parties.

54. In the result, the writ petition stands dismissed, leaving it open for the petitioner to approach the appropriate forum.

Writ petition dismissed. (E-1)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J.
Hon'ble Jayant Banerji, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and the learned standing counsel.

2. Petitioner has filed a supplementary affidavit dated 31.01.2023, which is taken on record.

3. The petitioner had moved an Amendment Application No.2 of 2022 dated 09.11.2022 which was allowed by order dated 08.12.2022 but the amendments were not incorporated. On the request of learned counsel for the petitioner, today we permitted him to incorporate the amendments in the writ petition.

4. This writ petition has been filed praying for the following relief:

"I. Issue a writ order or direction in the nature of mandamus by direct the respondents nod. 2 & 3 to renew the E.W.S. certificate of the petitioner.

(I-a) Issue a writ order or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing the order dated 23rd of June 2022 passed by respondent no.3 whereby his application for grant of E.W.S. (Economically Weaker Section) certificate has been rejected.

II. Issue a writ order or direction in the nature of mandamus by directing the respondent no.3 to lodged the first information report against the Lekhpal, Jogendra Singh Solanki."

5. Briefly stated facts of the present case are that the petitioner had earlier obtained a certificate of "Economically Weaker Section" (EWS) being Certificate No.1252 dated 28.09.2021 valid for the year 2021-22, on a declaration made by him that annual income of his family is below eight lacs rupees and his family does not possess any of the specified assets. Subsequently, some complaint was made and a verification was carried in which it was found by the authorities that the petitioner's family possesses a 183 square yard residential house with 100 square yards "Gher' at village Khandeha and also owns a residential plot of 150 square yards in village Chhajjupur which is much more than the maximum limit of area of land/ house prescribed to be owned by a family of a person intending to obtain a certificate of EWS. Consequently, EWS certificate issued by the authorities to the petitioner was cancelled by order dated 23.06.2022 passed by the Tehsildar, Khair, Aligarh which is reproduced below:

6. Aggrieved with the aforesaid order dated 23.06.2022, the petitioner has filed the present writ petition.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that house at village Khandeha is an ancestral house in which his father's brother and two sisters have shares and, therefore, the share of the petitioner's father comes to only 20 square yards and the petitioner is not in possession of 100 square yards "Gher'. Referring to paragraph-6 of the supplementary affidavit dated 31.01.2023, he submits that thus, the petitioner's family does not own residential plot/ house of more than 200 square yards and therefore, the cancellation of EWS certificate of the petitioner by the impugned order dated 23.06.2022 is wholly arbitrary and illegal.

8. Learned standing counsel supports the impugned order.

9. We have carefully considered the submissions of the learned counsel for the parties and perused the records of the writ petition.

10. Before we proceed to consider rival submissions of learned counsel for the parties, it would be useful to reproduce the Office Memorandum No.36039/1/2019-Estt. (Res) issued by Government of India, Ministry of Personnel, Public Grievances and Pensions Department & Training, New Delhi, dated 31.01.2019, which provides for reservation for economically weaker sections, as under:

"No.36039/1/2019-Estt (Res)
Government of India
Ministry of Personnel, Public Grievances & Pensions
Department of Personnel & Training

North Block, New Delhi
dated the 3lst January, 2019

OFFICE MEMORANDUM

Subject: Reservation for Economically Weaker Sections (EWSs) in direct recruitment in civil posts and services in the Government of India.

In continuation of this Department's Office Memorandum of even number dated 19.01.2019, the following instructions are issued in consultation with Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment and Department of Legal Affairs regarding reservation for EWSs not covered under the reservation scheme for SCs/STs/OBCs in respect of direct recruitment in civil posts and services in' the Government of India.

2. QUANTUM OF RESERVATION

The persons belonging to EWSs who, are not covered under the scheme of reservation for SCs, STs and OBCs shall get 10% reservation in direct recruitment in civil posts and services in the Government of India.

3. EXEMPTION FROM RESERVATION:

3.1 "Scientific and Technical" posts which satisfy all the following conditions can be exempted from the purview of the reservation orders by the Ministries/ Departments:

(i) The posts should be in grades above the lowest grade in Group A of the service concerned.

(ii) They should be classified as "scientific or technical" in terms of Cabinet Secretariat [OM No. 85/11/CF-61(1) dated 28.12.1961], according to which scientific and technical posts for which qualifications in the natural sciences or exact sciences or applied sciences or in technology are prescribed and, the incumbents of which have to use that knowledge in the discharge of their duties.

(iii) The posts should be 'for conducting research' or 'for organizing, guiding and directing research'.

3.2 Orders of the Minister concerned should be obtained before exempting any posts satisfying the above condition from the purview of the scheme of reservation.

4. CRITERIA OF INCOME & ASSETS:

4.1 Persons who are not covered under the scheme of reservation for SCs, STs and OBCs and whose family has gross annual income below Rs 8.00 lakh (Rupees eight lakh only) are to be identified as EWSs for benefit of reservation. Income shall also include income from all sources i.e. salary, agriculture, business, profession, etc. for the financial year prior to the year of application.

Also persons whose family owns or possesses any of the following assets shall be excluded from being identified as EWS, irrespective of the family income:-

i. 5 acres of agricultural land and above;

ii. Residential flat of 1000 sq ft. and above;

iii. Residential plot of 100 sq. yards and above in notified municipalities;

iv. Residential, plot of 200 sq. yards and above in areas other than the notified municipalities.

4.2. The property held by a "Family" in different locations or different places/cities would be clubbed while applying the land or property holding test to determine EWS status.

4.3 The term "Family" for this purpose will include the person who seeks benefit of reservation, his/her parents and siblings below the age of 18 years as also his/her spouse and children below the age of 18 years.

5. INCOME AND ASSET CERTIFICATE ISSUING AUTHORITY AND VERIFICATION OF CERTIFICATE:

5.1 The benefit of reservation under EWS can be availed upon production of an Income and Asset Certificate issued by a Competent Authority. The Income and Asset Certificate issued 'by any one of the following authorities in the prescribed format as given in Annexure -I shall only be accepted as proof of candidate's claim as 'belonging to EWS: -

(i) District Magistrate/Additional District Magistrate/ Collector/ Deputy Commissioner/Additional' Deputy Commissioner/ 1st Class Stipendary Magistrate/ Sub-Divisional Magistrate/ Taluka Magistrate/ Executive Magistrate/ Extra Assistant Commissioner

(ii) Chief Presidency Magistrate/Additional Chief Presidency Magistrate/ Presidency Magistrate

(iii) Revenue Officer not below the rank of Tehsildar and

(iv) Sub-Divisional Officer or the area where the candidate and/or his family normally resides.

5.2 The Officer who issues the certificate would do the same after carefully verifying all relevant documents following due process as prescribed by the respective State/UT.

5.3 The crucial date for submitting income and asset certificate by the candidate may be treated as the closing date for receipt of application for the post, except in cases where crucial date is fixed otherwise.

5.4 The appointing authorities should, in the offer of appointment to the candidates claiming to be belonging to EWS, include the following clause :-

"The appointment is provisional and is subject to the Income and asset certificate being verified through the proper channels and if the verification reveals that the claim to belong to EWS is fake/false the services will be terminated forthwith without assigning any further reasons and without prejudice to such further action as may be taken under the provisions of the Indian Penal Code for production of fake/false certificate."

The appointing authority should verify the veracity of the Income and asset certificate submitted by the candidate through the certificate issuing authority

5.5 Instructions referred to above should be strictly followed so that it may not be possible for an unscrupulous person to secure employment on the basis of a false claim and if any person gets an appointment on the basis of such false claim, her/his services shall be terminated invoking the conditions contained in the offer of appointment

6. EFFECTING RESERVATION - MAINTENANCE OF ROSTERS:

6.1 Department of Personnel and Training had circulated Office Memorandum No.36012/2/96-Estt(Res) dated July 2, 1997 regarding implementation of post based reservation roster. The general principles for making and operating post based reservation roster would be as per the principles laid down in the said Office Memorandum.

6.2 Every Government establishment shall now recast group-wise post-based reservation roster register for direct recruitment in accordance with format given in Annexure II, III, IV and V, as the case may be, for effecting 10% reservation for EWSs interpolating them with the SCs, STs and OBCs. While fixing roster point, if the EWS roster point coincides with the roster points of SCs/STs/OBCs the next available UR roster point has been allotted to the EWSs and also the principle of "squeezing" has been kept in view. While drawing up the rosters, the cadre controlling authorities may similarly "squeeze" the last points of the roster so as to meet prescribed 10% reservation.

6.3 Where in any recruitment year any vacancy earmarked for EWS cannot be filled up due to non availability of a suitable candidate belonging to EWS, such vacancies for that particular recruitment year shall not be carried forward to the next recruitment year as backlog.

6.4 Persons belonging to EWS selected against the quota for persons with benchmark disabilities/ex-servicemen shall be placed against the roster points earmarked for EWS.

7. ADJUSTMENT AGAINST UNRESERVED VACANCIES:

A person belonging to EWS cannot be denied the right to compete for appointment against an unreserved vacancy. Persons belonging to EWS who are selected on the basis of merit and not on account of reservation are not to be counted towards the quota meant for reservation.

8. FORTNIGHTLY/ANNUAL REPORTS REGARDING REPRESENTATION OF EWS:

The Ministries/Departments shall send single consolidated fortnightly report including their attached/subordinate offices beginning from 15.2.2019 as per format at Annexure-VI.

From 01.01.2020, the Ministries/Departments shall upload data on representation of EWSs in respect of posts/services under the Central Government on the URL i.e. www.rrcps.nic.in as on 1st January of every year. All Ministries/Departments have already been provided respective usercode and password with guidelines for operating the URL.

9. MAINTENANCE OF REGISTER OF COMPLAINTS BY THE GOVERNMENT ESTABLISHMENT:

9.1 Every Government establishment shall appoint a senior officer of the Department as the Grievance Redressal Officer.

9.2 Any person aggrieved with any matter relating to discrimination in employment against any EWS may file a complaint with the Grievance Redressal Officer of the respective Government establishment. The name, designation and contact details of the Grievance Redressal Officer may be displayed prominently on the website and in the office of the concerned establishment.

10. LIAISON OFFICER:

Ministries/Departments/Attached and Subordinate Offices shall appoint Liaison Officer to monitor the implementation of reservation for EWSs.

11. The above scheme of reservation will be effective in respect of all direct recruitment vacancies to be notified on or after 01.02.2019.

12. All the Ministries/Departments are requested to bring the above instructions to the notice of all appointing authorities, under their control. In case of any difficulty with regard to implementation of the provisions of this OM, the concerned authorities may consult DOP&T through their administrative Ministry/Department.

Encl: As above.

11. The definition of the word "family' given in the aforesaid Office Memorandum dated 31.01.2019 (hereinafter referred to as the "EWS Scheme") provides that the family for the purposes of the EWS Scheme will include the person who seeks benefit of reservation, his/her parents and siblings below the age of 18 years as also his/her spouse and children below the age of 18 years. Thus, the family in the matter of the petitioner would include his parents. The petitioner claims himself to be aged about 21 years. Clause 4.2 of the aforesaid EWS Scheme provides that the property held by a "Family" in different locations or different places/cities would be clubbed while applying the land or property holding test to determine EWS status.

12. In paragraphs-26 and 27 of the writ petition, the petitioner has stated as under:

"26. That, the father of the petitioner has only one plot/ property measuring area 150.05 Sq.Meters, which is situated at Pargana- Tappal, Village Chhajupur. For kind perusal of this Hon'ble Court, the copy of the registered sale deed of the aforesaid property is being filed herewith and marked as Annexure No.10 to this writ petition.

27. That, as per guideline of E.W.S., any person who has more than 200

Sq. Meter and more than 5 acre, where as the father of the petitioner has only 150.05 Sq. Meters, and the petitioner has two persons."

13. In paragraphs-4, 5 and 6 of the supplementary affidavit dated 23.01.2023, the petitioner has stated as under:

"4- That, so for as the property mention in the order dated 23.06.2022 are concerned, the house which is alleged to belong to the petitioner is infact an ancestral house situated in Abadi land belonging to grandfather of the petitioner and father of the petitioner is 2 brother and 2 sister, who all have partition the said house in five shares, therefore father of the petitioner has got only one fifth share. The house only small house of absent 100 squire yard and thereafter share of father of the petitioner only 20 gaj and not beyond.

5- That, there is no Gher of 100 Square Gaj in possession of the petitioner.

6- That, the other land which is in the name of the father in Chhajupur village is only of 150 Squire Yard Village Chhajupur is a Gram Panchayat and is not a Municipality."

14. Thus, from the facts as admitted by the petitioner in aforequoted paragraphs of the writ petition and the supplementary affidavit, it is evident that a residential plot measuring 150 square yards is owned by father of the petitioner. The petitioner has also admitted that there is a residential house in 183 square yards but he vaguely alleged it to be an ancestral house belonging to his grandfather in which one brother of his father and two sisters have shares. Neither any proof of recording of the name of the father's brother and sisters over the house in question nor their names have been disclosed either in the writ petition or in the supplementary affidavit. No proof has been filed that house in village Khandeha is an ancestral house in which some persons other than the petitioner's father have shares. With regard to "Gher' of 100 square yards, the petitioner has merely stated that he is not in possession over the "Gher' of 100 square yards and thus, has not denied the possession of his family over 100 square yards Gher. Thus, it is admitted to the petitioner that his family owns 150 square yards residential plot in village Chhajupur and 100 square yards residential land/ Gher at Khandeha besides a house standing on 183 square yards residential land in village Khandeha of which the father of the petitioner is the owner or, according to the petitioner, that 183 square yards house is apparently owned by his father. Thus, the total residential plot owned by the family of the petitioner is much more than the maximum asset specified in paragraph 4.1 of the EWS Scheme.

15. Since as per own admitted case of the petitioner, the assets owned by his family is more than the specified maximum assets under Para-4 of the EWS Scheme, therefore, the petitioner is not entitled for the EWS certificate.

16. Where the State seeks to make provision for reservation in appointments or posts in respect of certain class of citizens (in present case the EWS), any scheme that is framed by the Government for identification of EWS and issuance of certificate of EWS, such scheme has to be strictly construed and interpreted. A perusal of the aforesaid EWS scheme leaves no manner of doubt that criteria for income and assets mentioned therein have to be strictly interpreted. As already held above, the term "Family" has been specified in the scheme and the property held by a "Family" in different locations or different places/cities would be clubbed while applying the land or property holding test to determine EWS status. The EWS scheme enjoins the officer who issues EWS certificate to do so only after careful verification of the relevant documents following due process as prescribed by the respective State/Union Territory. The appointing authorities are also enjoined to include a clause in the offer of appointment to the candidate belonging to EWS as follows:-

"The appointment is provisional and is subject to the Income and asset certificate being verified through the proper channels and if the verification reveals that the claim to belong to EWS is fake/false the services will be terminated forthwith without assigning any further reasons and without prejudice to such further action as may be taken under the provisions of the Indian Penal Code for production of fake/false certificate."

17. The EWS scheme also specifically mentions that the instructions should be strictly followed so that it may not be possible for an unscrupulous person to seek employment on the basis of false claim and if any person gets an appointment on the basis of such false claim, his/her services shall be terminated invoking conditions contained in the offer of appointment.

18. Any vacillation or dilution of the strict provisions of the EWS scheme regarding issuance of EWS certificate would hit the root of the very purpose of the EWS scheme rendering such an act abhorrent to the scheme of the Constitution of India.

19. For all the reasons aforestated, we do not find any merit in this writ petition. Consequently, the writ petition fails and is hereby dismissed.

A. Local body Law – UP Kshettra Panchayat and Zila Panchayat Act, 1961 – Section 15(13) – No confidence motion against Pramukh – Amendment on 04.10.2022 – Caveat of not receiving notice of no confidence within period of 'one year' was changed by 'two years' – Applicability – Prospective or retrospective – Held, general rule against retrospective operation of statute does not apply to amendments in procedural provisions/statute – Action of the Collector concerned in cancelling the motion expressing want of confidence in the Pramukh of Kshettra Panchayat received by him, 'within two years' 'of the assumption of office by the Pramukh' cannot be said to be illegal. (Para 44 and 59)

B. Interpretation of Statute – Rules against retrospectivity – Applicability – Distinction between procedural and substantive provisions drawn – Exception to the rules explained – Held, it is fundamental rule that no statute shall be construed so as to have a retrospective operation, unless its language is such as plainly to require such a construction. A statute is not to be construed so as to have a greater retrospective operation than its language renders necessary – Held further, rigid rule against retrospectivity does not apply in relation to procedural provisions. There is distinction between procedural and substantive provisions for the purpose of application of rule relating to retrospectivity – Indeed, a general presumption is that the statutory change in procedure applies to pending as well as future proceedings. (Para 33, 35 and 36)

C. Interpretation of Statute – Literal rules – Applicability – Any interpretation of statute which leads to absurdity should be avoided. It is presumed that the legislature does not intend an absurdity, or that absurd consequences shall follow from its enactment – If by applying the literal rule of interpretation, the construction is being absurd then it should be avoided. 1. Heard Sri Navin Sinha learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Saiful Islam Siddiqui and Ms. Tahira Kazmi, Sri Rakesh Pandey, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Ramesh Chandra Tiwari and Sri G.K. Singh, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Sunil Kumar Singh, learned counsels appearing for the petitioners; Sri Ajit Kumar Singh, learned Additional Advocate General assisted by Sri Sudhanshu Srivastava, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel on behalf of the State and Sri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri K.S. Kushwaha and Sri B.K. Shukla, Sri Sanjeev Kumar Tyagi, Sri Prabhakar Dubey, Sri A.R. Siddiqui, learned counsels appearing for the private-respondents

2. In this batch of writ petition, a common question arises about the applicability of the amendment brought by the Ordinance No.8 of 2022, in Section 15 (13) of U.P. Kshettra Panchayat and Zila Panchayat Act, 1961, (in short as 'the Act' 1961') whereby the period of "one year" prescribed therein has been substituted to "two years". The said amendment has been enforced on 04.10.2022 and published in the official gazette dated 06.10.2022. In all the connected matters, the application to make the motion of No Confidence was received by the District Magistrate/ Collector concerned, in accordance with sub-section (2) of Section 15 and the date to convene the meeting for consideration of the motion had been fixed prior to the enforcement of the amendment. But before the motion could be tabled, due to the amendment brought by the Ordinance in Sub-Section (13) of Section 15, the Collector concerned passed individual orders that the motion cannot be carried out in view of the amendments. The motion of No-Confidencce were, thus, cancelled.

3. Challenging the said action of the Collector concerned, it was argued by Sri Navin Sinha learned Senior Counsel that the application to make a motion of No-Confidence was duly received by the Collector. The date of the meeting was intimated to the elected members, the meeting was adjourned for one or other reasons and before the date fixed for the adjourned meeting, the amendment by way of Ordinance No.8 of 2022 has been brought into force. The date of enforcement of the ordinance is 04.10.2022. The elected members, who moved the motion of No-Confidence have a right to bring the said motion. The requirements of Section 15 (2) and (3) to carry out the motion of No-Confidence had been fulfilled, summary enquiry by the Collector concerned had been concluded, the right accrued to the elected members to carry out No-Confidence motion after the scrutiny of the notice of intention in writing, in the form prescribed under the rule framed under the 1961 Act, cannot be taken away. The Ordinance No.8 of 2022 does not express intention to make the substituted provisions retrospective. The repeal/substitution of sub-section (13) of Section 15 can only be given prospective effect. Section 6(c) of the General Clauses Act' 1897 has been pressed before us to submit that where any statutory provisions/Act or regulation is repealed by any enactment made, unless a different intention appears, the repeal shall not affect any right, privilege, obligation or liability acquired, accrued, or incurred under the enactment so repealed. It was argued that the right to bring No-Confidence Motion by elected members has been accrued in their favour with the steps taken by them in exercise of their right. The applications moved by the elected members before the repeal of the old provisions/enactment of new provisions is the expression of No-Confidence which has to be brought to its logical end by convening a meeting for the purpose.

4. The aid of the decision of the Apex Court in Isha Valimohamed & another Vs. V. Haji Gulam Mohamad & Haji Dad Trust1; Bansidhar & others Vs. State of Rajasthan & others2 has been taken, to place the effect of the repeal in view of Section 6 of the General Clauses Act, to assert that an accrued right would survive the repeal of that enactment as the right accrued are saved unless they are taken away expressly.

5. It was argued that it would have been another case, had the right conferred upon the members by Section 15 to bring No-Confidence Motion not been exercised and the repeal was made effective. Even otherwise, it is held in a catena of decisions of this Court that the provisions of Section 15 (3) of the Act' 1961 are mandatory in nature, the Collector has no option but to fix a meeting to carry out No-Confidence Motion, after scrutiny of the written notice of intention, delivered to him in accordance with sub-section (2) of Section 15. The Full Bench decision in Vikas Trivedi & others Vs. State of U.P. & others3 has been relied to substantiate the said submissions. It was argued that the Collector could not have withheld the motion brought by the elected members or cancel the same on account of changes in the then existing laws.

6. Sri Rakesh Pande learned Senior Advocate adding to the submission of Sri Navin Sinha, learned Senior Counsel would argue that the No-Confidence Motion in the cases before us was moved by the elected members after one year of assumption of office of the Pramukh, Kshettra Panchayat. The motion was brought in accordance with sub-section (2) of Section 15, the meeting fixed by the Collector was postponed, the old provisions providing period of 'one year' has been substituted wef 04.10.2022 by an ordinance which was notified on 06.10.2022. It is a case of substitution of the old provisions and not a case of repeal or saving. The normal rule is that the substituted provisions are to be considered prospective in nature; retrospectivity by implication is only an exception. Section 15 is a substantive provision prescribing the entire structure of process for No-Confidence Motion. Section 15(11) amended by the Ordinance No.8 of 2022 is procedural whereas Section 15 (13) is substantive. The rider or prohibition on the power of the District Magistrate/Collector under Section 15(13) is to receive notice of a motion within the prescribed period therein, from the assumption of office by a Pramukh and not to proceed with it. At the relevant point of time, the date, when the motion of No-Confidence was delivered to the Collector or received by him, the period prescribed was "one year", which was adhered to by the elected members. Once the motion is moved, the substituted provisions of sub-section (13) prescribing 'two years' instead of old provision of 'one year' would have no application, either to reject or return the motion of No-Confidence moved by the elected members presuming that the Collector has no power to receive it after the amendment. The undisputed position is that when the motion was moved, the Collector was well within its power to receive and process the same. Moreover, once the motion has been processed, the substitution provisions will have no application, in as much as, presumption is about the prospectivity of the substituted provisions and against the implied retrospectivity. Reliance is placed on the decision of the Apex Court in Municipal Council Palai Vs. T.J. Joseph4; to substantiate the above noted submissions.

7. The arguments of Sri Navin Sinha and Sri Rakesh Pande learned Senior Counsels have been adopted by Sri G.K. Singh learned Senior Advocate appearing for the petitioner in the connected matters.

8. Sri Ajit Kumar Singh learned Additional Advocate General for the State respondents would submit, in rebuttal, that the question is not as to whether the Ordinance to substitute the provisions of Section 15(13) of the Act' 1961 is retrospective or not. It was contended that the Ordinance brought substitution of the existing provisions. The words used in the Ordinance No.8 of 2022 "shall be substituted" have been highlighted with the aid of decision of the Apex Court in Zile Singh Vs. State of Haryana5 to assert that the substitution by amendment Act deleted the old provisions and made the new provisions operative. The old ceases to exists and new rule comes into existence. The substitution is different from "super-session" or "repeal". With the substitution of one text in the Statute, the pre-existing text cannot be kept alive.

9. Reference has further been made to the decisions of the Apex Court in Bhagat Ram Sharma Vs. Union of India6, State of Rajasthan Vs. Mangilal Pindwal7, Fibre Boards Private Limited, Banglore Vs. Commissioner of Income Tax, Banglore8, Cheveti Venkannya Yadav Vs. State of Telangana & others9 and Dharam Dutt & others Vs. Union of India & others10 to substantiate the said submissions.

10. With the aid of the decision in Mohan Lal Tripathi Vs. District Magistrate, Rae Bareilly11, it was argued that the right to remove an elected representative stem out of the statute and its existence can be decided on the basis of the provisions of the Act. In the facts of that case, reduction of period from 'two years' to 'one year' during which vote of No-Confidence Motion could be tabled against a President of the Municipal Board by Ordinance, which later became Act, was challenged on the ground that there was absence of any discernible and rational principle and the legislature had resorted to as "spoils system", the amendment was thus, constitutionally invalid. It was held therein that but for lack of legislative competence or for being arbitrary, a legislative action cannot be struck down on the ground of malafide. The amendment about the period during which a No-Confidence Motion could be brought against the elected President is a matter of legislative policy, the wisdom of which cannot be scanned by the Apex Court.

11. It was also argued by the learned Additional Advocate General that the Apex Court has noted therein that the right to continue in office of an elected representative is neither a fundamental right nor a common law right, but a special right created by the statute or a political right or privilege and not a natural or absolute or vested right. Similarly, the right to remove an elected official from his office before his or her term expires is a statutory right, which can be exercised only within the limits of the statute, i.e. within the ambit of the existing provisions prevailing on the date of exercise of the right to move the No-Confidence Motion. As in the instant case, the right to move No-Confidence Motion conferred upon the elected members has been altered by the legislative amendment brought within the legislative competence, No-Confidence Motion cannot be carried out as the elected members have lost their right to carry out the No-Confidence Motion on or after 04.10.2022.

12. Reliance has further been placed on the decision of the Karnatka High Court in Smt. Geetha Pandit Rao vs The State Of Karnataka12 to submit that in a challenge to the amendment brought by the State of Karnataka to reduce the period for moving No-Confidence Motion against President/Vice President of Zila Panchayat from '30 months' to '15 months' under the Ordinance No.2 of 2020, the question considered by the Karnatka High Court was as to whether the impugned amendment to the Act and rules are prospective or retrospective in nature. Considering the decision of the Apex Court with regard to the interpretation to the word "substitution", it was held therein that the amendment which is procedural in nature is retrospective in nature and not prospective as the 'vested right' or 'accrued right' of the member of the Zila Panchayat to retain the elected office would begun from the date of their assumption of office as member of Zila Panchayat. The reduction in the period to bring No-Confidence Motion against an elected President/Vice President of Zila Panchayat from '30 months' to '15 months' under the Ordinance No.2 of 2020 would be operative from the date of assumption of the office by such President/Vice President.

13. Reliance has been placed therein on the decision of the Apex Court in Mohan Lal Tripathi (supra) to hold that the provisions of No-Confidence Motion, the recall of the elected representative, so long it is in accordance with law, cannot be assailed on abstract law of democracy. The challenge to the validity of the Ordinance in curtailing the period barring No-Confidence motion by the elected representative, thus, was turned down.

14. On the same analogy, it was argued by the learned Additional Advocate General, that by interpretation of the amendment in sub-section (13) of Section 15, it may be held that the elected representative has a 'vested right' or 'accrued right' to remain in his elected office for a period of 'two years' which would begun from the date of his assumption of office as Pramukh, Kshettra Panchayat and in that view of the matter, the amendment with that perspective has to be given retrospectivity. From another angle, on the right of elected members to bring No-Confidence Motion, it may be held that they have left with no right to carry out the No-Confidence Motion after the amendment wef 04.2.2010, as the Collector is prohibited from proceedings with the same. The submission thus, is that from both the angles, No-Confidence Motion moved by the petitioners, the elected members of the Kshettra Panchayat, cannot be carried out. The District Magistrate/Collector, therefore, cannot be said to have committed any illegality in cancelling the motion of No-Confidence brought by them.

15. Sri Ashok Khare learned Senior Advocate appearing for the elected Pramukhs has relied on the decision of the Apex Court in Trimbak Damodhar Rajpurkar Vs. Assaram Hiraman Patil & Ors.13 to elaborate and would submit that the expression of the right of elected member to bring the motion has to be given its true meaning in terms of the scheme of the statute. It was argued that the right to bring a No-Confidence Motion under Section 15 would not be a "vested right" or "right accrued" only on the motion being received by the Collector. Such a right accrued only on the motion being put to vote, i.e. on the date of discussion on voting by the elected members on the motion of No-Confidence. Before such a right could be accrued upon the elected members, the amendment came into force. Sub-section (1) of Section 15 only speaks of a contingent right by stating that a motion expressing want of confidence in Pramukh of a Kshettra Panchayat may be made, in accordance with the procedure laid down in the sub section (2) to (13) followed thereafter. The written notice of intention to make the motion though received and scrutinized by the Collector but after the amendment brought in sub-section (13) of Section 15, it became impossible for the District Magistrate/Collector to process the motion of intention. There is no discretion with the District Magistrate to carry out the motion of No-Confidence as restriction by the legislature has been put in place on the power of the District Magistrate to process the No-Confidence Motion, for a period of 'two years', against an elected Pramukh from the date of his assumption of the office.

16. The discussion in Trimbak Damodhar Rajpurkar (supra) has been placed before us, as an instance, to argue that on the same analogy, it was held therein that the right of landlord to eject the tenant was subject to termination of tenancy under the Amendment Act. Unless and until the notice was served upon the tenant with the intention to terminate the tenancy, no right to eject the tenant could be accrued in favour of the landlord, under the unamended provisions by serving a notice to vacate the premises on expiry of the tenure of the lease.

17. Sri S.K. Tyagi learned counsel appearing for the elected representatives, has relied upon the decisions of the Apex Court in Gajraj Singh and others versus State Transport Appellate Tribunal and others14, Vijay Vs. State of Maharashtra15; University of Kerala & others Vs. Merlin J.N. & another etc. etc16 to assert that purposive interpretation has to be given to an enactment or an amendment, depending upon the scheme of the enactment, the legislative intend to bring the amendment. If a legislation confers a benefit on some persons but without inflicting a corresponding detriment on some other persons or on the public generally, and where to confer such benefit appears to have been the legislature's object, then the presumption would be that such a legislation, giving it a purposive construction, would warrant it to be given a retrospective effect. A procedural provision has to be interpreted keeping in mind of the above principle to give it retrospectivity, to apply on the pending applications.

18. In rejoinder, learned Senior Counsels for the petitioners would submit that the answer to the issue pertaining to impossibility of action on the part of the Collector after amendment, as agitated by Sri Ashok Khare learned Senior Counsel for the elected Pramukh, lies in the provision of the Section 6 of the General Clauses Act, which saves the right of the elected members to carry out the No-Confidence Motion moved by them prior to the amendment. The doctrine of impossibility cannot be invoked in the facts and circumstances of the case, in as much as, the elected members have right to effectuate the motion. Reference has been made to the decision of the Apex Court in N. T. Devin Katti vs. Karnataka Public Service Commission17 to draw an analogy that a person who has applied for selection against the post has a vested right to be considered for selection in accordance with the existing rule or order applicable on the date of the application. He cannot be deprived of the limited right of being considered for selection in accordance with the rules as they existed on the date of advertisement, on the amendment of the rules during the pendency of the selection unless the amended rules are retrospective in nature.

19. Learned counsels for the State-respondents adding to their submissions, as noted above hereinabove, relied upon the decisions of the Apex Court in Ajay Makan Vs. Adesh Kumar Gupta18, Shilpa Mittal Vs. NET Delhi19 to place the principles of interpretation of statute, to assert that for giving purposive interpretation, it has to be kept in mind that interpretation is best which makes the textual interpretation match the contextual. Reference has also placed to the decision of the Apex Court in P. Suseela and others Vs. University Grants Commission and others20 to narrate the distinction between an 'existing right' and the 'vested right' and the circumstances in which such rights can be asserted in case of amendment/substitution of the existing provisions.

20. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

21. To deal with the rival arguments of the learned counsel for the parties, we are required to understand the legislative scheme, the set up in which Section 15 has been put in place in the Act' 1961.

22. With the introduction of Article 243 to 243-O, by the Constitution 73rd Amendment Act' 1992 w.e.f. 24.04.1993, the word "Panchayat" has been defined in Article 243 (d) to mean an institution (by whatever name called) of self government constituted under Article 243-B for the rural areas. As per Article 243-B, the Panchayats are constituted in every State, at the village level, intermediate and district level in accordance with the provisions of Part IX of the Constitution of India. Prior to the Constitution (73rd Amendment) Act' 1992, the constitutional provisions relating to Panchayat were confined to Article 40, in the Directive principles of State policy.

23. The introduction of Article 243 to 243-O provided for self governance in the pyramidical structure of local self government. Under the 73rd Amendment of the Constitution, Panchayat became an `institution of self governance' which was previously a mere unit under Article 40. Decentralization is perceived as a pre-condition for preservation of the basic values of a free society. The 73rd amendment has been termed as a very powerful `tool of social engineering' which has unleashed tremendous potential of social transformation to bring about a sea-change in the age-old, oppressive, anti human tradition of Indian society. (Reference Bhanumati Vs. State of U.P. & others21). It was observed by the Apex Court in paragraph No.26 therein as under:-

"26.In other representative democracies of the world committed to a written Constitution and rule of law, the principles of self Government are also part of the Constitutional doctrine. It has been accepted in the American Constitution that the right to local self- Government is treated as inherent in cities and towns. Such rights cannot be taken away even by legislature. The following excerpts from American Jurisprudence are very instructive:-

"Stated differently, it has been laid down as a binding principle of law in these jurisdictions that a statute which attempts to take away from a municipal corporation its power of self-Government, except as to matters which are of concern to the State as a whole, is in excess of the power of the legislature and is consequently void. Under this theory, the principle of home rule, or the right of self-Government as to local affairs, is deemed to have existed before the constitution."

24. The democratically organized unit have been conferred power of governance and the purpose as envisioned is to instill a sense of satisfaction in the people at the grass root level. With this idea of decentralization of power, giving it at the hands of the people at the grassroot level, the Constitution requires the State to make law providing for structure of the Panchayat, the concept of Gram Sabha, the composition of Panchayats, reservation of seats, term of Panchyats, disqualification for membership, powers, authority and responsibility of Panchayats and conferment of power to impose taxes, duties, toll and fees, election to the Panchayats and creation of bar for courts to interfere in electoral matter, under Article 243 to 243-O.

25. The Act' 1961 was enacted for establishment of Kshettra Panchayat and Zila Panchayat in the districts of U.P. to undertake certain government function at Kshettra and district level, respectively in furtherance of the principle of democratic decentralization of government function and for ensuring, proper Municipal Government in rural areas, and to correlate the powers and functions of Gram Sabhas under the U.P. Panchayat Raj Act' 1947, with Kshettra Panchayats and Zila Panchayats. The Act provides for constitution and incorporation of Kshettra Panchayats, Composition, election to the office of Pramukhs, tenure of Pramukh, disqualifications for membership of Kshettra Panchayat and the method for motion of No-Confidence. The term of the office of Pramukh of Kshettra Panchayat which shall commence upon his election, shall extend upto the term of the Kshettra Panchayat (as per Section 9) which shall be for five years from the date appointed for the first meeting of Kshettra Panchayat. The elected Pramukh, thus, retains his office until the expiry of the term of the Kshettra Panchayat, subject to disqualifications and a motion of No-Confidence.

26. Section 15(1) confers a right on the members of the Kshettra Panchayat to bring a motion expressing want of confidence in the Pramukh. The motion so made is to be proceeded in accordance with the procedure laid down in sub-sections (2) to (13) of Section 15. The provisions of sub-sections (2) to (13) as is evident are procedural in nature, as they provide the manner in which the motion of No-Confidence brought by the elected members would be received by the Collector and shall be carried out. The Full Bench of this Court in Vikas Trivedi Vs State of U.P. others 2013 (8) ADJ 523 (FB); 2013 SCC Online Alld 14264 has held that Section 15 of the 1961' Act is a statutory provision recognizing the right of an elected members to bring the motion of No-Confidence against the Pramukh. The Collector is entrusted with public duty to issue notice.

27. A Division Bench of this Court in Radhey Shyam Maurya Vs. State of U.P.22 decided on 01.05.2012 while considering the legislative aspect of the motion of No-Confidence under Section 15 of the 1961' Act, has held that no ground has to be disclosed while moving the motion. It was held that the right to motion or to participate in the debate is a statutory right in the members, conferred by Section 15 of the Act. The legislature to its wisdom has conferred power on the members of the Kshettra Panchayats to move requisition in the prescribed format for motion of No-Confidence. The elected representative are accountable to their electorate and electorate chose their members as well as Pramukh. It is the right of the elected representatives to show their lack of confidence by moving motion of No-Confidence in accordance with the statutory provisions. This is inherent philosophy in the policy of the motion of No Confidence. Election for five years does not mean that the elected representative has got blanket power to move on his/her own way without taking care of public interest. Persons holding public office as a leader of elected body are elected to discharge public obligation and can continue till the confidence reposed in them by the people.

28. The Full Bench in Vikas Trivedi (supra) having noted the above observations of the Division Bench has put a note of caution that all provisions of the statute are required to be complied with and there is no discretion in the authorities and they are not free to disregard the provisions of statute to carry out No-Confidence motion at their whims. The question before the Full Bench was, however, with regard to the mandatory or directory nature of the prescribed procedure, the requirement of giving notice by the Collector under Section 15(3) (ii) in the prescribed form as required by the rule.

29. The above noted observations about the import of Section 15 of the 1961' Act, are relevant to understand that the provisions of Section 15 are procedural provisions and the right to carry out a motion of No-Confidence brought by the elected members against the Pramukh of Kshettra Panchayat has to be, exercised within the framework of the statute. The statutory provisions are to be followed strictly.

30. We may further note that while sub-section (1) of Section 15 confers statutory right upon the elected members of Kshettra Panchayat to bring a motion expressing want of confidence in the Pramukh of a Kshettra Panchayat, the said right is curtailed by sub-section (13) of Section 15 itself which provides a caveat that no notice of motion under Section 15 shall be received within the time prescribed therein of the assumption of office by the Pramukh. This time period prescribed in sub-section (13), which was 'one year' has been substituted by Ordinance No.8 of 2022 w.e.f. 4.10.2022 to 'two years' of the assumption of office by a Pramukh. The Collector concerned is, thus, prohibited from receiving a motion expressing want of confidence in a Pramukh of Kshettra Panchayat within 'two years' of his assumption of office since the date of enforcement of the amendment which is 04.10.2022.

31. The dispute is that whether the substitution of words "two years" in place of "one year' would operate prospectively or retrospectively. The argument of learned counsels for the petitioners is that once the motion of No Confidence has been received by the Collector, having been moved by the elected members in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) & (2) of Section 15, there was no option before the Collector but to proceed, to carryout the motion, in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (5) to (11) of Section 15, as the date fixed by the Collector, after scrutiny of the written motion, to consider the motion of No-Confidence had been adjourned and the amendments were brought in between. The submission is that with the moving of the motion of No-Confidence, the elected members have exercised their right to vote in the meeting to be convened by the Collector in accordance with the procedure prescribed in the Section 15. With the right exercised by the elected members created a further right in favour of them which is a "vested right" or "right accrued/acquired". The effect of repeal without any saving clause of the existing provisions, would imply the application of the substituted provisions as prospective. With the substitution of the old provisions, the normal rule is to give prospective effect to the new provisions and the retrospectivity, by implication is an exception. There is presumption against implied retrospectivity, with the effect of repeal, the 'accrued right' would survive by virtue of Section 6 of the General Clauses Act, unless they are taken away expressly. We are, thus, required to consider the effect of the right exercised by the petitioner/elected members, which is a statutory right, by bringing the motion of No-Confidence, before the Collector in the prescribed format.

32. Having noted above that the provisions of Section 15 are based on democratic principles, in order to preserve the rule of self-governance at the grassroot level, and that they are procedural in nature, we are first required to consider the principles of application of procedural amendments.

33. It is fundamental rule that no statute shall be construed so as to have a retrospective operation, unless its language is such as plainly to require such a construction. A statute is not to be construed so as to have a greater retrospective operation than its language renders necessary. Generally, there is strong presumption that a legislature does not intent to impose a new liability in respect of something that has already happened, because generally it would not be reasonable for a legislature to do that. But this presumption may be overcome not only by express words in the Act but also by circumstances sufficiently strong to displace it.

34. The principle applied by the Court in construing legislation as expressed in Craies on Legislation 9th Edition is that retrospective application is to be rebuttably presumed not to be intended, that retrospectivity should be avoided except where necessary. However, this rule both fundamentally and in a straightforward manner cannot be applied as a number of difficulties arise in determining its precise extent and how to apply it. One of such is in determining whether a statute is retrospective concerns the possibility of action under a statute which has effect not only for the future but is brought about in part by reference to past events i.e. future action in relation to past events. A further necessary distinction is that retrospective operation is one matter, interference with existing rights is another. As noted in the Craise on Legislation 9th Edition at placitum 10.3.7 in Chapter 10:-

"Distinction between retrospectivity and affecting existing rights

A further necessary distinction between what is and is not retrospectivity is illustrated in the following passage of the judgment of Buckley L.J. In West v Gwynne Retrospective operation is one matter. Interference with existing rights is another. If an Act provides that as at a past date the law shall be taken to have been that which it was not, that Act I understand to be retrospective. That is not this case..... As a matter of principle an Act of Parliament is not without sufficient reason taken to be retrospective. There is, so to speak, a presumption that it speaks only as to the future. But there is no like presumption that an Act is not intended to interfere with existing rights. Most Acts of Parliament, in fact, do interfere with existing rights."

35. However this rigid rule against retrospectivity does not apply in relation to procedural provisions. There is distinction between procedural and substantive provisions for the purpose of application of rule relating to retrospectivity. As noted in 'Craise at placitum 10.3.9 at page No.436,' the nature of exception and its justification are clearly encapsulated in the passage from the speech of Lord Brightman in noted in Craise on Legislation (9th Edition):-

"Apart from the provisions of the interpretation statutes, there is at common law a prima facie rule of construction that a statute should not be interpreted retrospectively so as to impair an existing rights or obligation unless that result is unavoidable on the language used. A statute is retrospective if it takes away or impairs a vested right acquired under existing laws, or creates a new obligation, or imposes a new duty, or attaches a new disability, in regard to events already past. There is, however, said to be an exception in the case of a statue which is purely procedural, because no person has a vested right in any particular course of procedure, but only a right to prosecute or defend a suit according to the rules for the conduct of an action for the time being prescribed."

36. The general rule against the retrospective operation of statute does not apply to procedural provisions. Indeed, a general presumption is that the statutory change in procedure applies to pending as well as future proceedings.

37. The distinction between the substance and procedure is, however, not always easy to ascertain or apply as stated by Lord Brightman in his speech noted at placitum 10.3.9 at page '437' in Craise on Legislation (9th Edition):-

"But these expressions 'retrospective' and 'procedural', though useful in a particular context, are equivocal and therefore can be misleading. A statute which is retrospective in relation to one aspect of a case (e.g. because it applies to a pre-statute cause of action) may at the same time be prospective in relation to another aspect of the same case (e.g. because it applies only to the post-statute commencement of proceedings to enforece that cause of action); and an Act which is procedural in one sense may in particular circumstances do far more than regulate the course of proceedings, because it may, on one interpretation, revive or destroy the cause of action itself."

38. The general preposition outlined above in Craise on Legislation is that for the consideration of retrospectivity, there is no substitute for consideration of the substance of the provisions concerned, and taking all the circumstances into account, considering what result the legislature can reasonably be presumed to have wanted or not wanted to achieve.

39. As stated by Lord Denim in Blyth and Blyth23, the rule that an Act of Parliament is not to be given retrospective effect applies only to statutes which affects vested right. It does not apply to statute which only alter the form or procedure or the admissibility of evidence or the effect which the courts give to evidence.

40. In stating the principle that "a change in the law of procedure operates retrospectively and unlike the law relating to vested right is not only prospective" the Supreme Court has quoted with approval the reason of the rule as expressed in Maxwell:- In Anand Gopal Vs. State of Bom24

"No persons has a vested right in any course of procedure. He has only the right of prosecution or defence in the manner prescribed for the time being by or for the Court in which the case is pending, and if, by an Act of Parliament, the mode of procedure is altered, he has no other right than to proceed according to the altered mode".

41. In Commissioner of Police, Delhi & another Vs. Dhaval Singh25, it has been said that:-

"The law relating to forum and limitation is procedural in nature whereas law relating to right of action and right of appeal even though remedial is substantive in nature; that a procedural statute should not generally speaking be applied retrospectively where the result would be to create new disabilities or obligation or to impost new duties in respect of transaction already accomplished; that statute which not only changes the procedure but also creates new right and obligation shall be construed to be prospective, unless otherwise provided either expressly or by necessary implication."

42. It was, thus, expressed that in deciding the question of applicability of a particular statute to past events, the language used is no doubt the most important factor to be taken into account but the real issue in each case is as to the dominant intention of the legislature to be gathered from the language used, the object indicated, the nature of rights affected, and the circumstances under which the statute is passed.

43. Keeping in mind of the above legal principles, we are required to examine the nature of amendments in the instant case, considering the arguments of Sri Rakesh Pande one of the learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner that the effect of "substitution" of the words "two years" in place of "one year" would be to apply the amendments prospectively. This argument is plainly based on the general principle of presumption against retrospectivity.

44. As noted above, general rule against retrospective operation of statute does not apply to amendments in procedural provisions/statute. If simplistic interpretation of amendment with the words "substitution" of the old provisions, as asserted, is applied, the result would be that an elected Pramukh in the last election, against whom the motion of No Confidence has not been brought till the amendment enforced in sub-section (13) will be able to continue for a period of 'two years' from the date of assumption of his office. Whereas another Pramukh who is elected in the same election, against whom the motion of No Confidence has been brought prior to the amendments i.e. 04.10.2022, may be removed before expiry of period of 'two years' from assumption of his office, if the motion is carried out in the meeting called by the Collector.

45. It would be quixotic to suppose that the State legislature intended to curtail the right of members to move No-Confidence motion against a Pramukh for a period of 'two years' of the assumption of office, only of such members who did not or could not bring such a motion after expiry of period of one year, under the pre-existing provisions. And simultaneously, it will allow the elected members to carry out or vote on the motion of No-Confidence brought by them within the period of 'two years' (as per the amended provisions), simply because the motion was moved prior to the amendment. It is settled rule of interpretation that any interpretation of statute which leads to absurdity should be avoided. It is presumed that the legislature does not intend an absurdity, or that absurd consequences shall follow from its enactment. Such a result will, therefore, be avoided, if the terms of the Act admit it, by reasonable construction of the statute. It is applicable, like all other presumptions, thus if by applying the literal rule of interpretation, the construction is being absurd then it should be avoided.

46. In our considered opinion, having gone through the object and substance of the provision concerned, the legislature can reasonably be assumed to have wanted to curtail the right of an elected members to bring motion of No-Confidence within a period of 'two years' of the assumption of office by a Pramukh, by bringing amendment in sub-section (13) of Section 15.

47. The arguments against retrospectivity of the amendments by applying the normal rule of prospectivity or rule of presumption against implied retrospectivity, are liable to be turned down.

48. Now the question remains as to the nature of the rights, conferred by the legislature by virtue of sub-section (1) of Section 15 on the elected members to bring a motion expressing want of Confidence in the Pramukh.

49. The contention of Sri Navin Sinha learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner is that with the moving of the motion of No Confidence by elected members before the Collector and the Collector having fixed a date to convene the meeting of Kshettra Panchayat for consideration of the motion thereon, a "vested right" is created in favour of the elected members. The rights accrued to the elected members cannot be curtailed with the repeal of the existing provisions. Section 6 of the General Clauses Act has been pressed into service to assert that such a right has to be saved by considering the effect of repeal without any retrospective operation of the substituted provisions.

50. This submission though seemed convincing at the first blush but on a deeper scrutiny of the same, we find that no "vested right" or "accrued right" can be said to have been created in favour of the elected members by mere moving of the motion of No-Confidence against the Pramukh. The observations of the Apex Court in Mohan Lal Tripathi Vs. District Magistrate, Rae Bareilly26 while dealing with the challenge to the amendment for reduction of period during which a motion of No Confidence could be tabled against the President of the Municipal Board, from 'two' to 'one' year are relevant to be noted here:-

"2.....Right to remove an elected representative, too, must stem out of the statute as `in the absence of a constitutional restriction it is within the power of a legislature to enact a law for the recall of officers'. (American Jurisprudence Vol. 63 2nd Edn. p.238.) Its existence or validity can be decided on the provision of the Act and not, as a matter of policy....."

51. It was observed therein that the validity or otherwise of a No-Confidence Motion for removal of a President would have to be examined on the applicability of statutory provisions; so long as it is in accordance with law, the recall of an elected representative cannot be assailed either on political philosophy or on abstract notions of democracy.

52. In Usha Bharti Vs. State of U.P27, the Apex Court had considered the concept of the provisions of No-Confidence Motion under Section 28 of the Act' 1961. It was observed therein that:-

"45. .....The provision of No Confidence Motion, in our opinion, is not only consistent with Part IX of the Constitution, but is also foundational for ensuring transparency and accountability of the elected representatives, including Panchayat Adhyakshas. The provision sends out a clear message that an elected Panchayat Adhyaksha can continue to function as such only so long as he/she enjoys the confidence of the constituents.

53.In our opinion, the provision for removing an elected representative such as Panchayat Adhyaksha is of fundamental importance to ensure the democratic functioning of the Institution as well as to ensure the transparency and accountability in the functions performed by the elected representatives."

53. In light of the above, it can be seen that the object for making provisions for removing an elected Pramukh though is to ensure the transparency and accountability in the functions performed by an elected representatives but the right conferred on the elected members to bring a motion expressing want of Confidence in the Pramukh, can be exercised only in accordance with the provisions of the statute, Section 15 of the Act' 1961.

54. The exercise of such a right by moving a motion of No-Confidence as conferred under sub-section (1) and (2) of Section 15, in our considered opinion, is only an expression of intention to bring the motion. The intention to make the motion, does not confer any 'vested right' with the elected members to carry-out the motion of No-Confidence in the meeting convened by the Collector. The obligation cast upon the Collector for compliance of mandatory provisions of sub-section (3) of Section 15, would have no bearing on the right of an elected members to bring the motion. No "vested right" or "accrued right" can be said to be created in favour of elected members for consideration of motion by mere fixing a date to convene the meeting in accordance with sub-section (3) and (4-B) of Section 15.

55. Moreover, carrying out a motion of No-Confidence would depend upon the result of voting thereon. It would be another case where the meeting had been held and the motion was considered, the elected members in that case will have a right to carry-out the motion of No-Confidence according to the result of the meeting fixed by the Collector. "Vested right" would have been created in that case with the elected members, which could not have been curtailed by substitution of sub-section (13) of Section 15.

56. Mere exercise of right to bring the motion by the elected members would come within the meaning of "existing right" to proceed with the motion of No-Confidence received by the Collector as on the date of amendment. The said right has been curtailed by the substitution of the period during which a No-Confidence motion could be tabled against the Pramukh, from 'one year' to 'two years'. With the coming into force of the amendment w.e.f 04.10.2022, it became impermissible for the Collector/Presiding Officer to table the motion for consideration by convening a meeting and declare it to be open for debate. The right of the elected members to debate on the motion in the meeting convened by the Collector/Presiding Officer, being mere "existing rights", has been curtailed by retrospective operation of the procedural amendment, wherein No-Confidence Motion cannot be brought against a Pramukh within 'two years' of the assumption of office by him.

57. Moreover, in light of language of sub-section (13) of Section 15, because of the words "of the assumption of office by a Pramukh", the period of two years" prescribed therein would relate back to the date of the assumption of office by a Pramukh.

58. From all angles, taking into consideration of the substance of the provisions, taking all circumstances into account, considering what result the legislature can reasonably be presumed to have wanted to achieve, we find that the substitution of procedural provisions under sub-section (13) of Section 15 has to be applied retrospectively. The No-Confidence moved by the elected members cannot be tabled for discussion or declare open to debate by the Collector after substitution of the period from "one year" to "two year" during which such a motion could be moved.

59. For the above discussion, on all counts, the action of the Collector concerned in cancelling the motion expressing want of confidence in the Pramukh of Kshettra Panchayat received by him, "within two years" "of the assumption of office by the Pramukh" cannot be said to be illegal. There is no merit in the challenge.

60. All the writ petitions are, accordingly, dismissed.

State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Ashok Kumar Tripathi, Sri Rahul Agarwal

Counsel for the Respondents:

A. Local body Law – Constitution of India – Article 226, 243O & 243ZG – Writ – Maintainability – Alternative remedy – No confidence motion – Validity thereof challenged – Objection of alternative remedy of Election petition – Permissibility – Held, as regards the validity of the meeting dated 30.09.2022 being in contravention of the provisions of S. 15 of the Act, 1961, the issue of resultant vacancy being dependent upon the 'No-confidence motion', cannot be subject matter of election petition – In case, the challenge raised by the petitioner to the validity of meeting convened on 30.8.2022 is sustained being in violation of the mandatory provisions of Section 15(3)(ii) of the Act, the resolution passed on said date has to be quashed. The result is that there would be no removal of the petitioner and, thus, no vacancy. The subsequent notification dated 14.10.2022 has to fall on its own – High Court turned down the objection regarding the maintainability of the writ petition. (Para 10)

B. Local body Law – UP Kshettra Panchayat and Zila Panchayat Act, 1961 – Sections15 (3) & (4B) – No confidence motion against Pramukh – Notice dated 23.08.2022 for convening the meeting on 08.09.2022 was issued by the D.M. – However, leave was sought by the Presiding Officer expressing inability due to illness of his mother, which was duly granted – Validity of adjourned meeting held on 30.09.2022 was challenged on the ground that the Notice dated 23.08.2022 fixing 08.09.2022 would be the mandatory valid notice of fifteen days as per clause (ii) of Sub-Section (3) of S. 15 of the Act, 1961 – Permissibility – Motion carried out in meeting on 30.09.2022 – Validity challenged – Held, on account of the unprecedented adverse situation faced by the Presiding Officer to preside at the meeting fixed by the Collector on 8.9.2022, the mere fact that he himself did not adjourn the meeting or did not fix the date and time of the meeting at the time of adjournment itself but intimated it later on assumption of his office after leave, would not invalidate the motion carried out in the meeting held on 30.9.2022. The defect in adjournment of the meeting fixed on 8.9.2022, if any, in not fixing the date and time of the adjourned meeting, is curable. (Para 23 and 29)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sunita Agarwal, J.

Hon'ble Vipin Chandra Dixit, J.)

1. Heard Sri Rahul Agarwal and Sri Ashok Kumar Tripathi learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Ajit Kumar Singh learned Additional Advocate General assisted by Sri Sudhanshu Srivastava learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for State-respondents and Sri Ashok Khare learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Aditya Kumar Singh learned Counsel for respondent No. 6.

2. This writ petitioner is challenging the 'No-confidence motion' carried out against her in the meeting held on 30.9.2022 as also the resultant notification issued by the Election Commission of India notifying the vacancy of the post of Block Pramukh/Pramukh, Kshettra Panchayat Haisar Bazar, District Sant Kabir Nagar.

3. The relevant facts to determine the controversy at hands are that a notice to bring 'No-confidence' motion against the petitioner herein, signed by 76 members out of total 99 members of the constituency namely Kshettra Panchayat Haisar Bazar was received by the District Magistrate, Sant Kabir Nagar. The District Magistrate by a notice dated 23.8.2022 called a meeting to consider 'No-confidence motion' on 8.9.2022. It is submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioner that the said notices were dispatched on 24.8.2022 by registered post. The period between the date of dispatch and the schedule date of meeting being less than 15 days, 'No-confidence motion' could not have been carried out on the date fixed, i.e. 8.9.2022 in view of mandatory provisions of Section 15(3)(ii) of the U.P. Kshettra Panchayats and Zila Panchayats Adhiniyam, 1961 (hereinafter referred to as "the Act, 1961").

4. It is an admitted fact of the matter that the meeting could not be convened on 8.9.2022. It was adjourned on account of an emergency leave applied by the Sub-Divisional Officer, Dhanghata, District Sant Kabir Nagar who was to preside over the meeting. The emergency leave application dated 6.9.2022 was moved by the Presiding Officer due to ill health of his mother with the prayer that he may be permitted to leave the station to go to District Meerut. Another leave application dated 7.9.2022 was moved by the Presiding Officer for extension of leave till 11.9.2022 due to prolonged illness of his mother. The leave was duly granted to the Sub-Divisional Officer, Dhanghata, Sant Kabir Nagar namely the Presiding Officer as per the service rules, by the competent Authority.

The District Magistrate, Sant Kabir Nagar has issued an office order dated 7.9.2022 intimating that the meeting of 'No-confidence' scheduled on 8.9.2022 could not be held due to unavoidable circumstances and had been postponed. Further, the Sub-Divisional Officer, Dhanghata/the Presiding Officer intimated the District Magistrate, Sant Kabir Nagar by the letter dated 15.9.2022 that the next date of the meeting was fixed on 30th September, 2022 to be held at 11:30 AM in the meeting hall in the office of Kshettra Panchayat, Haisar Bazar. The intimation of the date fixed of the meeting had been given to all the members, Kshettra Panchayat and the minutes of the meeting dated 30.9.2022, the result of the voting, shows that out of total 99 members, 95 had participated in the meeting and exercised their franchise. Out of 95 votes, 72 were in favour of "No-confidence motion' and hence it was passed with the strength of more than 50% of the members present and voting.

There is no dispute about the above noted facts. Sri Rahul Agarwal learned Advocate appearing for the petitioner, however, argued that the initial notice dated 23.8.2022 fixing 8.9.2022 for the meeting was dispatched on 24.8.2022 and hence the mandatory requirement of 15 days of intimation of the date fixed for meeting had not been fulfilled. Two terminal days, i.e. the first and the last date, i.e. the date of dispatch of notice and the date fixed for meeting have to be excluded from the time to be reckoned for compliance of Sub-Section (3) of clause (ii) of Section 15 of the Act, 1961.

Reliance is placed on the decisions of this Court in Yadu Nath Pandey vs. District Panchayat Raj Officer1; Kamla Devi vs. State of U.P. and others2; Kamal Sharma vs. State of U.P. and other3; Kiran Singh vs. State of U.P. and others4; Surendra Kumar Yadav vs. State of U.P. and others5; Adesh Singh Yadav vs. Collector Bareilly6 and Niyazuddin vs. State of U.P. and others7 to assert that 15 days clear notice is mandatory in terms of Section 15(3)(ii) and non-compliance of the said provision would vitiate the proceeding.

5. The contention is that since the initial notice dated 23.8.2022 (dispatched on 24.8.2022) was bad in law, the subsequent adjournment of meeting and the motion carried out on 30.9.2022 within the extended time provided under Sub-Section (4-B) of Section 15 would have to be held bad in law. The entire proceeding being in contravention of the provisions of Section 15 of the Act, 1961. It is argued that the provisions of Section 15(3)(ii) are mandatory in nature and any violation thereof is not curable defect and cannot be rectified by adjournment of the meeting scheduled on 8.9.2022.

Moreover, as per Sub-Section (4-B), the Officer who is to preside at such meeting is to record his reasons for adjournment of the meeting, if he is unable to preside at such meeting. While adjourning such meeting, he has to fix the date and time which shall not be later than 25 days for the date appointed for such meeting. The requirement of Sub-Section (4-B), thus, is that only the Presiding Officer himself can adjourn the scheduled meeting by fixing date and time of the adjourned meeting recording reasons for his inability to preside at such meeting. The intimation by the Collector of the next meeting as per Sub-Section (4-B) of Section 15 is, thus, followed by the intimation given by the Presiding Officer of the date and time of the adjourned meeting. The recording of reasons and fixing date and time of the adjourned meeting are simultaneous acts to be performed by the Presiding Officer. The deferment of meeting on 7.9.2022 with the office order issued by the District Magistrate, thus, is in contravention of the provisions of Section 4-B of the Act, 1961. Further the meeting dated 30.9.2022 has been held under the directions issued by this Court in the order dated 13.9.2022. The Presiding Officer himself failed to follow the mandatory procedure of adjournment. The contention is that the Executive Authorities namely the Presiding Officer and the Collector had given the provisions of Section 15 to a toss to buy time to hold the meeting as an adjourned meeting. The result of such an illegally convened meeting cannot be sustained in the eyes of law.

6. The submission, thus, is that since the entire process of carrying out 'No-confidence motion' in the meeting held on 30.9.2022 was per se illegal. The consequent vacancy and the notification issued by the State Election Commission, U.P., Lucknow dated 14.10.2022 for the post of Pramukh Kshettra Panchayat are also liable to be set aside. The submission is that the vacancy cannot be presumed to be validly existing if the meeting itself was invalid and the consequential 'No-confidence motion' is illegal, as any consequential election is dependent upon the result of the 'No-confidence motion'.

7. Sri Ashok Khare learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Aditya Kumar Singh learned Advocate for respondent No. 6 has challenged the maintainability of the writ petition with the assertion that in view of the second prayer made in the present writ petition, challenging the notification issued by the State Election Commission with the election of respondent no. 6, the only remedy before the petitioner is to file an election petition as issue of validity of the election can be raised only by way of an election petition in view of the bar under Article 243-O read with Article 243ZG of the Constitution of India. The writ petition is, thus, liable to be dismissed as not maintainable.

Reliance is placed on the decisions of the Apex Court in Hari Shankar Jain vs. Sonia Gandhi8; Amar Nath Jaiswal vs. State of U.P. and others9 and of this Court in Aijaz Ahmad vs. Niyaz Ahmad and others10; Sardar Gyan Singh vs. District Magistrate Bijnore and others11 and Akhilesh Kumar Katiyar vs. State of U.P. and others12 to substantiate the said assertion.

8. Learned Standing Counsel for the State respondents, however, has relied upon the averments in the personal affidavit of the District Magistrate, Sant Kabir Nagar to assert that there is no infirmity in the process of carrying out 'No-confidence motion'. The meeting was validly held on 30.9.2022 and the fact that 95 out of 99 members had participated in the meeting prove that information giving adequate time had been given to all the members. With regard to the meeting scheduled on 8.9.2022, it is submitted that the District Magistrate, Sant Kabir Nagar on receipt of the notice of intention to move the motion of 'No-confidence' against the petitioner, signed by 76 members of Kshettra Panchayat along with the notary affidavit on 22.8.2022, had formed a Committee comprising of three officers for scrutiny/verification of signatures/thumb impressions on the said written notice. All 76 members of Kshettra Panchayat Haisar Bazar who signed the written notice of intent dated 22.8.2022 were asked to present their credible and attested identity cards for verification of their signatures on the notice as also the affidavits filed by them, on 23.8.2022 at about 3:00 PM. On prima facie satisfaction of the signatures/thumb impressions of 76 members, three Member Committee recorded satisfaction of matching of signatures on the written notice of intent dated 22.8.2022 and the notary affidavits. The District Magistrate then directed the Sub-Divisional Officer, Dhanghata, Sant Kabir Nagar to preside at the meeting scheduled on 8.9.2020 at 11:30 AM at the designated place mentioned therein by issuing a letter dated 23rd August, 2022.

Simultaneously, notices were issued to 99 members on 23rd August, 2022 giving them intimation of the date fixed for motion of 'No confidence' on 8.9.2022 at 11:00 AM and the designated place of the meeting. The Block Development Officer was directed to serve notice to all 99 members and submit a report. Vide letter dated 24.8.2022, the Block Development Authority had submitted a report that out of 99 members, 78 had received the notice and out of remaining 21, the notice was pasted at the conspicuous places of the house of 15 members. The remaining members had assured to receive notice within one or two days. It is submitted by the learned Standing Counsel that adjournment of the meeting scheduled on 8.9.2022 was on account of unavoidable circumstances faced by the Presiding Officer and on the intimation given by the Presiding Officer, the District Magistrate had issued the Office Order dated 7.9.2022 intimating the reason for adjournment of the date fixed. The intimation about the date and time fixed for the meeting as 30.9.2022 at 11:30 AM was sent by the Presiding Officer to the District Magistrate pursuant to which the notices were sent and received by the members. No infirmity, therefore, can be attached to the 'No-confidence motion' carried out on 30.9.2022.

9. Dealing with the above submissions of the learned counsels for the parties, we are required to first deal with the submissions of Sri Ashok Khare learned Senior Advocate for the respondent no. 6 about the maintainability of the writ petition, on the plea that the writ petition challenging the no confidence motion cannot be entertained as after election as against the vacancy, the only remedy before the petitioner is to challenge the election petition.

10. Dealing with this submission, suffice it to note that the issue raised in the present writ petition is about the validity of the 'No-confidence motion' carried out in the meeting held on 30.9.2022 against the petitioner herein. As regards the validity of the same being in contravention of the provisions of Section 15 of the Act, 1961, the issue of resultant vacancy being dependent upon the 'No-confidence motion', cannot be subject matter of election petition. Suffice it to note that the vacancy cannot be presumed to be existing if the meeting itself was invalid and the consequent 'No-confidence motion' is illegal. The consequential election against the resultant vacancy if found illegal, would itself fall. The vacancy in the present case undoubtedly occurred on account of the motion having been passed on the strength of a meeting, validity of which is subject matter of challenge herein. The filling up of such a vacancy is dependent upon the availability of the vacancy itself, which arises out of the 'No-confidence motion'. In our opinion, the question of validity of 'No-confidence motion' or the consequent vacancy occurring after the meeting held on 30.9.2022 cannot be subject matter of an election petition. Further on the date when the present writ petition has been filed, only the notification dated 14.10.2022 was issued by the State Election Commission and the date fixed for voting was 21st October, 2022. The lis before the Court was about the validity of the 'No-confidence motion' and notification of the consequent vacancy by the State Election Commission. In case, the challenge raised by the petitioner to the validity of meeting convened on 30.8.2022 is sustained being in violation of the mandatory provisions of Section 15(3)(ii) of the Act, the resolution passed on said date has to be quashed. The result is that there would be no removal of the petitioner and, thus, no vacancy. The subsequent notification dated 14.10.2022 has to fall on its own. The view taken by us is supported with the decision of the Division Bench of this Court in Kamla Devi (supra).

The objection as to the maintainability of the writ petition, for invoking jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, thus, is liable to be turned down.

11. Coming on the merits of the instant case, in order to deal with the contentions of the learned counsel for the petitioner, we are required to look to the scheme of the Act. The procedure for carrying out 'No-confidence motion' provided under Section 15 of the Act, 1961.

12. Before adverting to the provisions of the Act, we may note that to decide the question as to whether the statutory provisions are mandatory or directory in nature, no universal rule can be laid down. The use of the word "shall" or "may" is also not a decisive factor in determining this question. In considering the question, the purpose and the object of the provision as contained in the statute, the setting and the context in which the provisions occur and the purpose which is sought to be achieved by the provisions and the legislative intent in making the provision are necessary to be considered. [Reference State of U.P. vs. Manbodhan Lal Srivastava13]

at length, certain principles were laid down which are relevant to be noted as under:-

"Para 7 The question whether a particular provision of a statute which on the face of it appears mandatory, inasmuch as it uses the word "shall" as in the present case-is merely directory cannot be resolved by laying down any general rule and depends upon the facts of each case and for that purpose the object of the statute in making the provision is the determining factor. The purpose for which the provision has been made and its nature, the intention of the legislature in making the provision, the serious general inconvenience or injustice to persons resulting from whether the; provision is read one way or the other, the relation of the particular provision to other provisions dealing with the same subject and other considerations which may arise on the facts of a particular case including the language of the provision, have all to be taken into account in arriving at the conclusion whether a particular provision is mandatory or directory."

13. Before a Full Bench of this Court in Gyan Singh vs. the District Magistrate, Bijnor and others15, the question was referred as to whether the second part of sub-Section (3) of Section 87A of the U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916 which provides the procedure for sending notice of meeting for consideration of "No-confidence motion' by the District Magistrate is mandatory or directory.

Considering the principles laid down in Raza Buland Sugar Co. Ltd. Rampur (supra), having gone through the scheme of the said statute, the setting and the context in which the provisions occur and the purpose which is sought to be achieved by the provisions, it was held therein that though the first part of Sub-Section (3) of Section 87-A which requires the District Magistrate to convene meeting of the Board for considering the motion of No-confidence against a President is mandatory. The District Magistrate is required to perform a public- duty in convening a meeting of the Board for consideration of the motion at the office of the Board on the date and time as fixed by him, he has no choice in the matter. He has to convene a meeting on a date within 30 and 35 days from the date of presentation of the motion to him. The District Magistrate is further enjoined to perform a public duty of sending notice of the meeting to the members, this again is a mandatory requirement of law which must be strictly complied with. But the second part of the Sub-Section (3) of Section 87-A which lays down the manner required to be followed in sending notices to the members and lays down that notice of the meeting shall be sent by registered post to every member of the Board at his place of residence, is directory. It was observed that the essence of this provision is to give information to the members to enable them to avail opportunity of participating in the meeting convened for the purpose of considering the "No-confidence motion'. It was held that the first part of Sub-Section (3) of Section 87-A requiring the District Magistrate to convene meeting and to send notices to the members being mandatory, any disregard of that provision would defeat the very purpose of the meeting. However, the manner of service of notice and publication of the same being directory in nature, a substantial compliance of the same would meet the requirement of law. It is held therein that the purpose of service of notice by registered post and publication of the notice otherwise is to ensure that members should get adequate notice, of the meeting to enable them to participate in the debate over the "No-confidence motion' at the meeting. That purpose is not defeated if the notice is sent to the members not by registered post but by other methods and seven clear days are given to the members. The legislature never intended that unless notice is sent by registered post to the members, the proceedings of the meeting would be vitiated.

14. In Sharif-Ud-Din vs. Abdul Gani Lone16, it was held that the difference between a mandatory rule and a directory rule is that while the former must be strictly observed, in the case of the latter substantial compliance may be sufficient to achieve the object regarding which the rule is enacted. The broad propositions regarding the rules of construction that should be followed in determining whether a provision of law is directory or mandatory have been summarised as under:-

"Para 9. ...xxxxxxxx...The fact that the statute uses the word 'shall' while laying down a duty is not conclusive on the question whether it is a mandatory or directory provision. In order to find out the true character of the legislation, the Court has to ascertain the object which the provision of law in question is to subserve and its design and the context in which it is enacted. If the object of a law is to be defeated by non-compliance with it, it has to be regarded as mandatory. But when a provision of law relates to the performance of any public duty and the invalidation of any act done in disregard of that provision causes serious prejudice to those for whose benefit it is enacted and at the same time who have no control over the performance of the duty, such provision should be treated as a directory one. Where however, a provision of law prescribes that a certain act has to be done in a particular manner by a person in order to acquire a right and it is coupled with another provision which confers an immunity on another when such act is not done in that manner, the former has to be regarded as a mandatory one. A procedural rule ordinarily should not be construed as mandatory if the defect in the act done in pursuance of it can be cured by permitting appropriate rectification to be carried out at a subsequent stage unless by according such permission to rectify the error later on, another rule would be contravened. Whenever a statute prescribes that a particular act is to be done in a particular manner and also lays down that failure to comply with the said requirement leads to a specific consequence, it would be difficult to hold that the requirement is not mandatory and the specified consequence should not follow."

15. A Full Bench of this Court in Vikas Trivedi vs. State of U.P. & others17 has considered the questions about the validity of the notice sent by the Collector under Section 15(2) and (3) of the Act, 1961 as follows:- (i) whether the notice can be held invalid because the copy of the notice with the names of persons who had signed the written notice of their intention to bring motion of No-confidence was not sent along with the same; (ii) whether the notices convening the meeting can be invalidated merely on the ground that some pages of the proposed motion containing signatures of some members only were not included in the copy of the proposed motion of no confidence sent along with the said notice.

As regards the earlier decision of the Full Bench in Gyan Singh (supra), an issue was raised with regard to the relevance of the said decision after insertion of Part IX-A of the Constitution of India by 74th Amendment Act, 1992. Considering the constitutional scheme in Articles 243P to 243ZG regarding the Municipalities, it was held by the Full Bench in Vikas Trivedi (supra) that the interpretation of Section 87-A of the U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916 by the Full Bench in Gyan singh (supra) is very much relevant and in no manner its precedencial value can be ignored after 74th Amendment of the Constitution.

16. Further having gone through the relevant statutory provisions, the principles of statutory interpretation, it was considered as to whether the requirement of sending the notice in accordance with the prescribed proforma with annexures is mandatory and non-compliance of the same would vitiate the entire proceeding.

It was further held that "As noted above, Section 15 of the 1961 Act is a statutory provision recognising the right of elected members to bring motion of no confidence against the Pramukh. The Collector is entrusted with public duty to issue notice. As noted above, the Apex Court in Dattaraya Moreshwar vs. the State of Bombay and others case (supra) had laid down that provisions of statute creating public duty are directory and those conferring private rights imperative. If the contention is accepted that while sending notice by the Collector although relevant information regarding date, time and place of meeting has been given and notice also mentions that no confidence motion has been proposed against such and such officer bearers but the copy of the motion of no confidence is not annexed, whether the same shall frustrate the very object of the Act or shall advance the object and purpose of the statutory provision, is the question to be answered. Obviously, if the members are given notice and information which is primary object and purpose of giving notice by the Collector of the meeting and the motion of no confidence is read as soon as the meeting is convened, we are of the view that to hold that not sending of copy of no confidence motion shall vitiate the entire proceeding, shall be defeating the very purposes and object of Section 15 of the 1961 Act. "

The ratio of the judgment of the Apex court in Raza Buland Sugar Co. Ltd. Rampur (supra) has been held to be applicable for interpretation of Section 15 of the Act, 1961 and considering the provisions of Section 15(3) of the 1961 Act, it was held that the manner of sending notice in the prescribed proforma as per the rules framed under the Act, 1961 cannot be said to be mandatory, breach of which shall vitiate the entire proceeding. It was held that the proceeding of "No-confidence motion' shall be carried out if there is a substantial compliance of the provisions of Rule 2 read with Form-2, the prescribed format of sending notice under the rules. The substantial compliance of the said provision shall not vitiate the proceeding of No-confidence.

17. It was, thus, held that:- (1) The requirement of giving notice by the Collector under Section 15(3)(ii) in the prescribed form as required by Rule 2 and Form-2 is not mandatory and on substantial compliance of the provisions, the proceedings shall not be vitiated. However, the question whether there has been substantial compliance of the said provision would depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. It was, thus, concluded that when proposed motion of No-confidence is signed by the requisite members, the notice convening the meeting cannot be invalidated merely on the ground that some pages of the proposed motion containing signatures of some members only, were sent along with the notice.

18. In Kiran Pal Singh vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others18, the Apex Court was considering a challenge to the second notice of No-confidence motion, at the instance of an elected Pramukh Kshettra Panchayat. In the facts of that case, an application under Section 15(2) of the U.P. Kshettra Panchayat and Zila Panchayat Adhiniyam, 1961 intimating intention to bring No-confidence motion against a Pramukh was received by the District Magistrate/Collector of the District concerned. As no action was taken by the District Magistrate/Collector, one of the applicants moved the High Court at Allahabad seeking a direction to the Collector to accept the notice under Section 15(2) of the Act and to take appropriate steps for bringing the proceeding of the No-confidence motion to its logical end. During pendency of the said writ petition, another written notice of intention to make the motion of No-confidence was delivered to the District Magistrate/Collector concerned. The Collector issued notice to convene a meeting of Kshettra Panchayat for consideration of the motion of No-confidence at the date and time fixed therein in the office of Kshettra Panchayat. The No-confidence motion was carried out after casting of votes. The elected Pramukh Kshettra Panchayat against whom No-confidence motion was carried out assailed the second notice on the foundation of statutory impermissibility during pendency of the first notice. It was contended therein that during pendency of first notice, second notice could not have been issued and the meeting could not be carried out as per the provisions of sub-Section (2) of Section 15.

19. Having considered the scheme of sub-Section (2) of Section 15, it was held by the Apex Court therein that on receipt of a written notice of intention to make the No-confidence motion in such form as may be prescribed, signed by at least half of the total number of elected members of Kshettra Panchayat for the time being together with a copy of the proposed motion, to be delivered in person, by any one of the members signing the notice, to the Collector having jurisdiction over the Kshettra Panchayat, the requirement under sub-Section (3) to convene the meeting by the Collector is fulfilled. At this stage, the jurisdiction that the Collector is only to scan the notice to find out whether it fulfills the essential requirements of a valid notice. The exercise of the said discretion, is summary in nature and there cannot be a detail inquiry with regard to the validity of the notice. Sub-Section (3) of Section 15 mandates that a meeting has to be convened not later than 30 days from the date of delivery of the notice and further there should be at least 15 days' notice to be given to all the elected members of the Kshettra Panchayat. The Collector, therefore, has no power to enter into an arena to record a finding on seriously disputed questions of facts relating to fraud, undue influence or coercion. His only duty is to determine whether there has been a valid notice as contemplated under Sub-Section (2) of Section 15. His delving deep to conduct a regular inquiry would frustrate the provision. He must function within his own limits and leave the rest to be determined in the meeting. The submission that once a notice was given under Section 15(2), another notice of no confidence should not be received until after expiration of one year, was turned down being without any substance, inasmuch as, the prohibition under Section 15(12) would come into play only when there is a meeting and the motion is "not carried out" as per the provisions of Section 15 or meeting could not be held for want of quorum.

20. Taking note of the above decisions laying down principles for determination of the nature of the statutory provisions being mandatory or directory, the scheme of the Articles 243 to 243-O in Part IX of the Constitution which require for Constitution of Panchayats in every State at the village and district level in accordance with the provisions of Part IX, it was observed therein that Article 243(d) defines "Panchayat' to mean an institution (by whatever name called) of self-government (constituted under Article 243B) for the rural areas. The said articles ignited the spirit of self-governance in the pyramidical structure of local self-government. The purpose as envisioned in conferring power of governance in the democratically organized units is to instill a sense of satisfaction in the people at the grass root level.

The observation of the Apex Court in Bhanumati and others vs. State of Uttar Pradesh Through Its Principal Secretary and others19 while considering the 73rd Constitutional Amendment in paragraph '26' has been noted therein as under:-

"26. What was in a nebulous state as one of Directive Principles under Article 40, through 73rd Constitutional Amendment metamorphosed to a distinct part of Constitutional dispensation with detailed provision for functioning of Panchayat. The main purpose behind this is to ensure democratic decentralization on the Gandhian principle of participatory democracy so that the Panchayat may become viable and responsive people's bodies as an institution of governance and thus it may acquire the necessary status and function with dignity by inspiring respect of common man. In our judgment, this 73rd Amendment of the Constitution was introduced for strengthening the perambular vision of democratic republicanism which is inherent in the constitutional framework."

21. Considering the purpose of the statutory scheme framed under U.P. Kshettra Panchayat and Zila Panchayat Adhiniyam, 1961, the Apex Court in Kiran Pal Singh (supra) delve into the scheme of Article 243-243O. It was noted that the source of power on the States to frame law, thus, has been incorporated in the Constitution. The legislations made by the State legislatures, inter alia, have fixed the tenure of the panchayats and also grant protection for continuance of the elected members subject to the disqualifications and further the method for vote of No-confidence. The provisions of Sub-Section (13) of Section 15 which provides that no notice of a motion under Section 15 shall be received within the time prescribed therein, from the assumption of office by a Pramukh is in consonance with the principle of stability of rural governance. There are provisions for removal in case of misconduct by an elected person. The statutory scheme, thus, has been framed to bring stability in the governance at the grass root level in furtherance of the principles of democratic decentralisation of Governmental functions. It also provides that the democracy at the rural level must cherish the values of democracy and, therefore, a Pramukh can be removed when a vote of No-confidence is passed against him and once the No-confidence motion fails, it cannot be brought again for one year.

22. Considering the above principles of construction of statute as mandatory or directory and the statutory scheme as envisaged by the State Legislature as discussed in Kiran Pal Singh (supra), we are required to note the procedure for carrying out No-confidence motion as laid down in Section 15 of the Act, 1961 which reads as under:-

"15. Motion of non-confidence in Pramukh or [] (1) A motion expressing want of confidence in the Pramukh or any [] of a Kshettra Panchayat may be made and proceeded with in accordance with the procedure laid down in the following sub-sections.

(2) A written notice of intention to make the motion in such form as may be prescribed, singed by at least half of the total number of elected members of the Kshettra Panchayat for the time being together with a copy of the proposed motion, shall be delivered in person, by any one of the members signing the notice, to the Collector having jurisdiction over the Kshettra Panchayat.

(3) The Collector shall thereupon-

(i) convene a meeting of the Kshettra Panchayat for the consideration of the motion at the office of the Kshettra Panchayat on a date appointed by him, which shall not be later than thirty days from the date on which the notice under sub-section (2) was delivered to him; and

(ii) give to the elected members of the Kshettra Panchayat notice of not less than fifteen days of such meeting in such manner as may be prescribed.

Explanation- In computing the period of thirty days specified in this sub-section, the period during which a stay order, if any, issued by a Competent Court on a petition filed against the motion made under this section is in force plus such further time as may be required in the issue of fresh notices of the meeting to the members, shall be excluded.

(4) The sub-divisional officer of the sub-division in which the Kshettra Panchayat exercises jurisdiction shall preside at such meeting:

Provided that if the Kshettra Panchayat exercises jurisdiction in more than one sub-division or the sub-divisional officer cannot for any reason preside, any stipendiary additional or Assistant Collector named by the Collector shall preside at the meeting:

(4-A) If within an hour from the time appointed for the meeting such officer is not present to preside at the meeting, the meeting shall stand adjourned to the date and time to be appointed by him under sub-section (4-B).

(4-B) If the officer mentioned in sub-section (4) is unable to preside at the meeting, he may, after recording his reasons, adjourn the meeting to such other date and time as he may appoint, but not later than 25 days from the date appointed for the meeting under sub-section (3). He shall without delay inform the Collector in writing of the adjournment of the meeting. The Collector shall give to the members at least ten days notice of the next meeting in the manner prescribed under sub-section (3).

(5) Save as provided in sub-sections (4-A) and (4-B), a meeting convened for the purpose of considering a motion under this section, shall not be adjourned.

(6) As soon as the meeting convened under this section commences, the Presiding Officer shall read to the Kshettra Panchayat the motion for the consideration of which the meeting has been convened and declare it to be open for debate.

(7) No debate on the motion under this section shall be adjourned.

(8) Such debate shall automatically terminate on the expiration of two hours from the time appointed for the commencement of the meeting, if it is not concluded earlier. On the conclusion of the debate or on the expiration of the said period of two hours, whichever is earlier, the motion shall be put to vote which shall be held in the prescribed manner by secret ballot.

(9) The Presiding Officer shall not speak on the merits of the motion and he shall not be entitled to vote thereon.

(10) A copy of the minutes of the meeting, together with a copy of the motion and the result of the voting thereon, shall be forwarded forthwith on the termination of the meeting by the Presiding Officer to the State Government and the Zila Panchayat having jurisdiction.

(11) If the motion is carried with the support of [more than half] of the total number of elected members of the Kshettra Panchayat for the time being-

(a) the Presiding Officer shall cause the fact to be published by affixing a notice thereof on the notice board of the office of the Kshettra Panchayat and also by notifying the same in the Gazette; and

(b) the Pramukh or [], as the case may be, shall cease to hold office as such vacate the same on and from the date next following that on which the said notice is fixed on the notice board of the office of the Kshettra Panchayat.

(12) If the motion is not carried as aforesaid or if the meeting could not be held for want of quorum, no notice of any subsequent motion expressing want of confidence in the same Pramukh or [] shall be received until after the expiration of [one year] from the date of such meeting.

(13) No notice of a motion under this section shall be received within [one year] of the assumption of office by a Pramukh or [], as the case may be."

The sub-Section (1) of Section 15 of the Act, 1961 provides that a motion expressing want of confidence in the Pramukh of a Kshettra Panchayat can be made and proceeded with in accordance with the procedure laid down in sub-Sections (2) to (13) of Section 15. Sub-Section (2) of Section 15 requires the manner in which a written notice of intention to make motion can be moved to the Collector having jurisdiction over the Kshettra Panchayat. Sub-Section (3) mandates the Collector to convene a meeting of the Kshettra Panchayat for the consideration of the motion, at the office of the Kshettra Panchayat on a date appointed by him, not later than thirty days from the date of delivery of notice under sub-Section (2) to him. It also mandates the Collector to give notice to the elected members of Kshettra Panchayat of such meeting in not less than fifteen days, in the manner as prescribed (under the Rules). Sub Section (4) further states that the Sub-Divisional Officer of the concerned sub-division in which the Kshettra Panchayat exercises jurisdiction shall preside at such meeting. The procedure for adjournment of meeting fixed by the Collector in accordance with the provisions of Sub-Section (3)(i), has been provided in Sub-Sections (4-A) and (4-B) of the Act, 1961. Sub-Section (5) further provides that a meeting convened for the purpose of considering a motion under Section 15 cannot be adjourned save as provided in Sub-Sections (4-A) and (4-B). The procedure as to how the motion shall be carried out in a meeting convened under Section 15 has been provided in Sub-Section (6) to Sub-Section (11). The consequence, in case the motion is not carried out or the meeting could not be held for want of quorum has been provided in Sub-Section (12). Sub-Section (13) puts the embargo on receiving a notice of motion of No-confidence within one year of the assumption of office by a Pramukh.

We may note that the provisions of Sub-Section (13) have been amended to change the period of one year to two years by amendments brought on 4.10.2022. But we are not concerned with the said amendment as motion of No-confidence, in this case, has been carried out prior to the said amendment.

23. The question before us in the facts of the instant case are as to whether the notice dated 23.8.2022 fixing 8.9.2022 would be the mandatory valid notice of fifteen days as per clause (ii) of Sub-Section (3) of Section 15 of the Act, 1961 intimating the elected members of Kshettra Pahchayat of the date and time fixed for convening a meeting by the Collector. We are further required to consider in view of the arguments of the counsel for the petitioner that in case, the notice under Sub-Section (3)(ii) of Section 15 was given fixing a date of meeting in a period of less than 15 days as against the requirement of the said provision, whether the No-confidence motion carried out in the adjourned meeting held on 30.9.2022 would fall being in violation of the statutory requirement.

As per the stand of the District Magistrate, Sant Kabir Nagar, the meeting of No-confidence motion was initially fixed on 8.9.2022 at 11:00 AM in the meeting hall of the office of the Kshettra Panchayat, Haisar Bazar and a notice in that regard was issued on 23.8.2022. The report dated 24.8.2022 of the Block Development Officer, Sant Kabir Nagar who was deputed to serve the notice has been brought on record wherein it is indicated that out of 99 members, 78 members of Kshettra Panchayat had been served with the notice on 23.8.2022 itself. Fifteen members out of remaining 21 had refused to receive the notice and hence it was pasted at the conspicuous places of their house. For the remaining 6 members, who had refused to receive notice by saying that they will receive it within one or two days, the directions have been issued to the Gram Panchayat Secretary and Assistant Development Officer (Panchayat). Further the notice through post had been sent on 24.8.2022 to 99 members of Kshettra Panchayat.

24. In reply to the said assertion of the District Magistrate in his personal affidavit dated 31.10.2022, it is asserted in the rejoinder affidavit that it was not possible for the petitioner to able to collect the proof of the averments made in the paragraph under reply. The contention is that no other procedure had been given in the Act for service of notice of no confidence motion except the dispatch of notice through registered post. The averments with regard to the personal service of notice is an afterthought and it could not be proved in any manner which is known to the proceedings under the Act, 1961. As such, in computing the period of 15 days as per Sub-Section (3)(ii) of Section 15, the date of dispatch of notice, i.e. 24.8.2022 and the date fixed for meeting i.e. 8.9.2022 are to be excluded. As the said period would fall short of fifteen days as against the mandatory requirement of the aforesaid provision, the initial notice dated 23.8.2022 fixing the date of meeting as 8.9.2022 would fall being in violation of the mandatory provisions of the statute.

25. In support of this submission, reliance has been placed by the learned counsel for the petitioner on the decisions noted above wherein the motion of No-confidence was carried out in violation of the mandatory provision which requires fifteen days clear notice, have been held to be invalid.

26. We may note that the position in this case is different, inasmuch as, the meeting for No-confidence motion could not be held on the date fixed by the Collector i.e. 8.9.2022, because of emergency situation faced by the Presiding Officer, the Sub-Divisional Officer of the sub-division concerned, on account of illness of his mother.

27. The reliance placed by the learned counsel for the petitioner on the above noted decisions to challenge the validity of the No-confidence motion which has been carried out on 30.9.2022 in the instant case, therefore, is of no benefit. Even if it is accepted for a moment that the notice of No-confidence motion was not served personally on the elected members of the Kshettra Panchayat on 23.8.2022 as per the report of the Block Development Officer dated 24.8.2022 and the period of clear fifteen days was not given to the elected members to discuss on the motion of No-confidence in accordance with the provisions of Sub-Section (3)(ii) of Section 15, the same will not have any bearing on the validity of the subsequent meeting held on 30.9.2022, inasmuch as, motion of No-confidence had not been carried out on the date fixed by the Collector on 8.9.2022.

28. As regards the non-adherence to the requirement of Sub-Section (4-B) by the Presiding Officer at the time of adjournment of the meeting, it may be noted that Sub-Section (4-B) is in two parts. The first part mandates the Presiding Officer to record his reasons for adjournment of the meeting fixed by the Collector in the notice given under Sub-Section (3) of Section 15. While adjourning the meeting, on account of his inability to preside at such meeting, he is required to fix a date and time which shall not be later than 25 days from the date appointed for the meeting under Sub-Section (3). He is further required to intimate the Collector in writing without delay of the adjournment of the meeting. The recording of reasons for adjourning the meeting fixed by the Collector at the end of the Presiding Officer is mandatory. It is also mandatory that the adjourned meeting is held within the period prescribed under clause (4-B) which is not later than 25 days from the date of meeting fixed by the Collector. The intimation of the adjournment of meeting to the Collector by the Presiding Officer is also mandatory. The mandatory procedure prescribed by the legislature is to restrict the power of the Presiding Officer/Sub-Divisional Officer to adjourn the meeting fixed by the Collector under Sub-Section (3) of Section 15 at his own whims and fancies and to adhare the timeline provided in the meeting to carry out the No-confidence motion. Under sub-Section (4-B), the Collector is required to give notice to the members with clear 10 days of the next meeting fixed by the Presiding Officer in the manner prescribed under sub-Section (3). The intimation by the Collector to the members of the adjourned meeting with 10 clear days of notice is also mandatory, being in the spirit of the provision, but the requirement of fixing the date and time of the adjourned meeting by the Presiding Officer, i.e. Sub-Divisional Officer of the sub-division concerned at the time of adjournment itself is directory. The setting and the context in which the Sub-Section (4-B) occur and the purpose which is sought to be achieved by the said provision and the legislative intent in making the provision can be found as:-

(i) The Presiding Officer shall unless there are reasons recorded in writing showing his inability, not adjourn the meeting fixed by the Collector under Sub-Section (3) of Section 15;

(ii). The notice of intention to make the motion moved by the elected members in accordance with Sub-Section (2) of Section 15, the motion of confidence, shall be considered within the period of thirty days prescribed in Sub-Section (3)(i) of Section 15;

(iii) However, in a case of adjournment of meeting fixed under Sub-Section (3), the date of the adjourned meeting has to be fixed in not later than twenty five days from the date appointed for the meeting under sub-Section (3).

(iv) The purpose and the legislative intent for providing the period of adjourned meeting and requirement to record reasons by the Sub-Divisional Officer to adjourn the meeting is to ensure that the motion of No-confidence moved by the elected members is considered in the spirit of the democratic principles on the foundation of which the provision of Section 15 has been construed and it shall not be delayed on account of any slackness on the part of the administrative authorities such as the Collector or the Presiding Officer, who are mandated to receive the motion and preside over the meeting; respectively.

The phrase "adjourn the meeting to such other date and time as he may appoint" occurring in Sub-Section (4-B) of Section 15 cannot be held to be mandatory so as to affect the validity of the meeting held within 25 days from the date appointed for the meeting under Sub-Section (3), as required under Sub-Section (4-B) of Section 15.

29. In the instant case, the Sub-Divisional Officer who was required to preside at the meeting in accordance with Sub-Section (4) could not hold the meeting on 8.9.2022 because of having proceeded on leave due to emergent situation of sudden illness of his mother. The leave application was duly submitted by the Sub-Divisional Officer giving intimation of the reason of his inability to preside at the meeting. The leave application moved by the said officer on 7.9.2022, a day prior to the meeting was allowed and the leave was granted as per the leave rules. The intimation of the adjournment of meeting was given to the members by issuing an office order dated 7th September, 2022 by the Collector/District Magistrate, Sant Kabir Nagar. The date and time of the adjourned meeting fixed by Sub-Divisional Officer/Presiding Officer as on 30.9.2022 at 11:30 AM had been intimated to the Collector, Sant Kabir Nagar soon after he returned from leave. Clear ten days notice had been given to the elected members of Kshettra Panchayat and the motion of No-confidence was carried out by majority votes on 30.9.2022, at the date and time fixed by the Sub-Divisional Officer. On account of the unprecedented adverse situation faced by the Presiding Officer to preside at the meeting fixed by the Collector on 8.9.2022, the mere fact that he himself did not adjourn the meeting or did not fix the date and time of the meeting at the time of adjournment itself but intimated it later on assumption of his office after leave, would not invalidate the motion carried out in the meeting held on 30.9.2022. The defect in adjournment of the meeting fixed on 8.9.2022, if any, in not fixing the date and time of the adjourned meeting, is curable for the fact that the date of the adjourned meeting had been fixed by the Presiding Officer at the earliest opportunity, within the period of twenty five days prescribed in Sub-Section (4-B) and intimation of the adjourned meeting had been duly given by the Collector to the elected members within the time prescribed under the said provision.

30. The contention of the learned counsel for the petitioner that the adjournment of meeting by the Presiding Officer on 7.9.2022 by giving intimation to the District Magistrate, Sant Kabir Nagar was a device to get over the provisions of Sub-Section (3)(ii) of Section 15 as clear notice of fifteen days initially was not given to the elected members does not impress us, inasmuch as, nothing could be brought before us to contend that the Presiding Officer did not apply for leave or leave was not duly granted to him. The truth of the circumstance faced by the Presiding Officer, the reason for adjourning the meeting, cannot be examined by us.

For the above discussion, we find that there is no violation of the mandatory provisions of Sub-Section (4-B) of Section 15 of the Act, 1961 on the part of the Presiding Officer. There is no error in the decision making process. The challenge to the resolution dated 30.9.2022, therefore, cannot be sustained.

The writ petition is dismissed being devoid of merits.

List of Cases cited :-

1. Seema Mansoor Vs U.P. Power Corporation & ors.; 2014 (6) ADJ 672

(Delivered by Hon'ble Anish Kumar Gupta, J.)

1. Heard Sri Prashant Pandey, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel for the State respondent no.1 and Sri Udit Chandra, learned counsel for the respondents no.2 and 3.

2. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the petitioner is tenant of a small shop measuring 7'4" x 7' in House No. CK-48/207 Rehmat Market, Hadha Saray, Varanasi. It is alleged that he is tenant of the aforesaid shop since 1997 and he uses alternative sources of energy. Now, he wants an electric connection and for that purpose moved an application on 22.2.2022 before the respondent no.3 for electric connection in the aforesaid premises, but the respondents are not granting electric connection on the pretext that there are certain dues in respect of the building in which the shop of the petitioner is situated.

3. Aggrieved with the non-grant of electricity connection by the respondents, the petitioner has filed the present writ petition praying for the following relief:-

"i. issue, a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent no.3 to provide the electricity connection in the shop of the petitioner i.e. Shop at CK-48/207 Rehmat Market, Hadaha Saray, Varanasi in accordance with the provisions."

4. Learned counsel for the respondents no.2 and 3 submits that since there are dues with respect to the building in question, therefore, no new electric connection can be granted for the shop occupied by the petitioner.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that there are no electricity dues either against the petitioner or in respect of premises in question i.e. shop occupied by the petitioner, therefore, there is no legal impediment to grant new electric connection to the petitioner.

6. We have carefully considered the submission of learned counsel for the parties.

7. We find that para 4.1 of the Uttar Pradesh Electricity Supply Code, 2005 (hereinafter referred to as "the Code, 2005") provide for grant of supply of electricity, which is reproduced below:-

"CHAPTER 4

PROCEDURE FOR GRANT OF SUPPLY

4.1 Licensee's Obligation to Supply :

The Licensee shall on an application by the owner or occupier of any premises, located in his area of supply, give supply of electricity to such premises within the one month after receipt of completed application showing payments of necessary charges and other compliances :

Provided also in case of application for supply from a village or hamlet or areas wherein no provision for supply of electricity exists, the Commission shall extend the time period for provision of supply appropriately on a case-to-case basis:

Provided further that, in case of arrears of electricity dues in respect of any of old consumers / premises where ownership has changed, the new connection shall be released to the new owners only after submission of No-Dues Certificate as provided in clause 4.3(f): and

Provided that, if there are arrears of electricity dues on a premises, a new connection shall not be released to a new applicant/or the old consumer on the same premises. The connection shall also not be released if--

(i) The applicant (being an individual) is an associate or relative (as defined in Section 2 and 6 respectively of the Companies Act, 1956) of the defaulting consumer,

(ii) Or where the applicant being a company or body corporate or association or body of individuals, whether incorporated or not, or artificial juridical person, is controlled, or having controlling interest in the defaulting consumer, provided, the Licensee shall not refuse electric connection on this ground, unless an opportunity to present his case is provided to the applicant and a reasoned order is passed by an officer as designated by the licensee."

8. Learned counsel for respondent nos. 2 and 3 has heavily relied upon the third proviso to para 4.1 of the Code, 2005 and submits that since there are electricity dues on the premises i.e. the building in question, therefore, no new connection can be granted with respect to the shop occupied by the petitioner.

9. We find that the submissions made by learned counsel for the respondent nos.2 and 3 is totally misplaced.

10. The word "Occupier" and the word "Premises" have been defined in para 2(oo) and para 2(ss) of the Code, 2005 as under:-

"(oo) "Occupier" means the owner or authorised person in occupation of the premises where energy is used or proposed to be used.

(ss) "Premises" means the area / portion of the building / shed / field etc., for which, the electric connection has been applied for or sanctioned for a single consumer."

11. Restriction on a new electric connection on account of dues in respect of the same premises, has been provided in the third proviso to para 4.1 of the Code, 2005. The word "premises" has been defined in Section 2(ss) of the Code, 2005, that premises is an area/portion of the building/shed/field etc., for which the electric connection has been applied for or sanctioned for a single consumer. Thus, the shop occupied by the petitioner is a premises within the meaning of para 2(ss) of the Code, 2005, and if the petitioner is a tenant of the shop then he being a tenant i.e. the authorised person in occupation shall be the occupier within the meaning of para 2(oo) of the Code, 2005.

12. In Seema Mansoor v. U.P. Power Corporation and 3 Others reported in 2014 (6) ADJ 672, this Court, relying upon the Statement of Objects and Reasons and Section 42 and 43 of Electricity Act, 2003, read with Clause 4.4 of the Electricity Supply Code, 2005, observed as under:

"7. Electrical undertakings have acquired the character of public utility by reason of their monopolistic position. The State in exercise of its legislative power has enacted the Electricity Act 2003 to consolidate the laws relating to generation, transmission, distribution, trading and use of electricity and generally for taking measures conducive to development of electricity industry as also to protect the interest of consumers and supply of electricity to all areas. The same is reflected from the statement of objects and reasons of Electricity Act, 2003.

8. Section 42 of the Act deals with duties of distribution licensee. The said section reads as under :

"42. Duties of distribution licensee and open access. - (1) it shall be a duty of a distribution licensee to develop and maintain an efficient, coordinated and economical distribution system in his area of supply and to supply electricity in accordance with the provisions contained in this Act.

9. Section 43 of the Act cast duty upon licensee to supply electrical energy on request. Sub-section (1) of the said section reads as under :

"43. Duty to supply on request. - (1) Every distribution licensee, shall, on an application by the owner or occupier of any premises, given supply of electricity to such premises, within one month after receipt of the application requiring such supply:

Provided that where such supply requires extension of distribution mains, or commissioning of new sub-stations, the distribution licensee shall supply the electricity to such premises immediately after such extension or commissioning or within such period as may be specified by the Appropriate Commission:

Provided further that in case of a village on hamlet or area wherein no provision for supply of electricity exists, the Appropriate Commission may extend the said period as it may consider necessary for electrification of such village or hamlet or area.

(2). It shall be the duty of every distribution licensee to provide, if required, electric plant or electric line for giving electric supply to the premises specified in sub-section (1):

Provided that no person shall be entitled to demand, or to continue to receive, from a licensee a supply of electricity for any premises having a separate supply unless he has agreed with the licensee to pay to him such price as determined by the Appropriate Commission.

(3). If a distribution licensee fails to supply the electricity within the period specified in sub-section (1), he shall be liable to a penalty which may extend to one thousand rupees for each day of default.

10. A bare reading of the provisions of the Electricity Act, 2003 go to show that every distribution licensee is under an obligation not only to develop but also to maintain efficient, coordinated and economical distribution system in the area of its supply. The provision of Section 43 of the Electricity Act cast a statutory duty upon the distribution licensee to supply electricity not only to owner but also occupier of premises located within the limits of the area of its supply subject to an application being made by owner or occupier in this regard and correspondingly the owner or occupier of any premises, as the case may be, has statutory right to supply and obtain such electricity supply from the distribution licensee. Of course, the right is subject to completion of formalities provided for the purpose.

11. Electricity Supply Code, 2005 reference of which has been made by learned counsel for the respondents to contend that electricity connection cannot be granted without consent from the owner enforced in 2005 enlists the obligations of the licensee and consumers vis-a-vis each other and specifies the set of practices to provide efficient, cost effective and consumer friendly service to the consumers. Under Clause 2.2 (oo) of 2005 Code 'Occupier' means the owner or authorized person in occupation of the premises where energy is used or proposed to be used. Clause 4.4 prescribes procedure for processing of application for supply. Clause 4.4 (a) which is relevant for the purpose of the present case reads as under :

"4.4. Processing of Application for Supply.

(a) Application for new connections, in prescribed form (Annexure 4.1) and complete in all respects and accompanied by the prescribed Registration-cum-processing fee, shall be filed in duplicate in the office, specified by the Licensee, along with attested true copies of the following documents:

(i)Proof of ownership of the premises in the form of registered sale deed or partition deed or succession or heir ship certificate or deed of last will or proof of occupancy such as valid power of attorney or latest rent paid receipt or valid lease deed or indemnity form as per Annexure 4.2. Order copy of appropriate court, in case of litigation regarding ownership of the premises, has to be enclosed.

(ii)Approval/permission/NOC of the local authority, if required under any law/statute.

(iii)In case of a partnership firm, partnership deed.

(iv) In case of a Limited Company, Memorandum, articles of Association, Certificate of incorporation and list of Directors/certificate addresses.

Owner's consent for getting new supply connection (Annexure 4.3).

12. Reference at this stage may also be made to the relevant annexure of Electricity Supply Code 2005. Annexure 4.3 in reference to clause 4.4 is a formate of owner consent for getting new supply connection. Annexure 4.2 in reference to clause 4.4 is a form of indemnity bond which is to be given in case the intending consumer is not the owner of the premises. The same is reproduced herein below :

13. Section 43 of the Act enjoins a duty upon the licensee not only to supply electrical energy on an application in this behalf not only by a owner of a premises but also a occupier which has been defined under the Code 2005 to include any authorized person in occupation of the premises. A tenant would be an authorized person in occupation of a premises.

14. A perusal of Clause 4.4 of the Code 2005 goes to show that indemnity form as per Annexure 4.2 can also be filed along with an application for new connection. The purpose is to enable such tenants, in respect of whom the owner or landlord refuses to give no objection for a new connection.

15. A perusal of Annexure 4.2 reproduce herein-above goes to show that the purpose as is obvious from the reading of the aforesaid form is to indemnify the licensee for any loss that may accrue on account of any act of a person in occupation of the building though he may not be owner. Thus, the Code 2005 provides either for consent letter of owner of the premises or in the absence thereof indemnity bond by the lessee/tenant or occupier of the premises. Intention is, thus, clear that either there should be owner's consent to indemnify the licensees in case the tenant/lessee or occupier vacates and vanishes without leaving his address or in the alternative tenant/lessee or occupier may give an undertaking indemnifying any loss or damage to licensee on account of electricity connection being given to him without the consent of the owner of the land or premises making it recoverable from him and his property under the provisions of the Revenue Act in force at the time of such recovery, or by such other proceedings as the Licensee may deem fit to initiate.

16. From the reading of the aforesaid provisions, it is clear that licensee is under an obligation to supply electrical energy on a proper application being made and every owner or occupier, which will include a tenant, of the premises has statutory right to apply and obtain electricity supply from the licensee subject to his fulfilling requirements under the provisions of the Electricity Act, 2003 and the Electricity Supply Code 2005. ..."

13. Thus, from the observations made in the aforequoted judgment in the case of Seema Mansoor (supra) and as per Scheme of the Act, 2003, an occupier of the premises is entitled for electricity connection and licensee cannot deny the electric connection to such an occupier of the premises.

14. The above conclusion also finds support from the sub clause (f) (v) and (h) of Clause 4.3 of the Code, 2005, which read as follows:

"(f) (i) .....
(ii) .....
(iii) .....
(iv) .....
(v) The recovery proceedings against the defaulting consumer, and where there defaulting consumer is a company, from the Directors of the company, shall be ensured. Where a financial institution has auctioned the property without consideration to licensees charge on assets, claims may be lodged with the concerned financial institution with diligent pursuance.

(h) A new connection to such sub-divided premises shall be given only after the share of outstanding dues attributed to such sub-divided premises, is duly paid by the applicant. Licensee shall not refuse connection to an applicant only on the ground that, due on the other portions(s)

of such premises have not been paid, nor shall the licensee demand record of last paid bills of other portion(s) from such applicants."

15. It is admitted case of the respondent no. 3 that there are no dues specific to the shop in question occupied by the petitioner. The dues which are alleged were against M/s Rajasthan Thread, Azamul Khan, Sri Sharda Pd Singh, Mohiuddin Ahmed. Those persons are stated to have no connection with the shop in question occupied by the petitioner.

16. If there were dues against the aforesaid persons as alleged by respondent nos. 2 and 3, then they could have initiated proceedings for recovery of the dues against the defaulting consumers in terms of sub-clause (f) (v) of Clause 4.3 of the Code, 2005.

17. Under sub-clause (h) of Clause 4.3 of the Code, 2005, it has been mandated that licensee shall not refuse electric connection to an applicant on the ground that dues on other portions of such premises have not been paid, nor shall the licensee demand record of last paid bills of other portions from such applicants. The counsel for the respondents have not been able to produce any material as to any dues specifically to the premises occupied by the petitioner.

18. Therefore, in view of the scheme as enumerated from the aforesaid provisions of the Act and the Code, the applicantion of the petitioner for electric connection in the specific premises in question occupied by the petitioner cannot be rejected by the respondent nos. 2 and 3 and instead it needs to be considered and processed by the respondent nos. 2 and 3 in accordance with law.

19. For all the reasons aforestated, this writ petition is finally disposed of with a direction to the respondent no.3-Sub Divisional Officer, Urban Electricity Distribution Sub Division, Hathua Market, Varanasi to consider the application of the petitioner for new electric connection and take appropriate decision in accordance with law within four weeks from the date of submission of a certified copy of this order, after affording reasonable opportunity of hearing to the petitioner and the owner of the building.

20. It is made clear that any of the observations made in the body of this order shall not be treated as a finding on landlord-tenant relationship between the landlord of the building, who is not before us, and the petitioner.

2. Harinam Singh & ors. Vs St. of U.P.; 2018 (4) ADJ 749

(Delivered by Hon'ble Siddhartha Varma, J.
Hon'ble Ajit Singh, J.)

1. This writ petition has been filed with a prayer that the surplus land comprised in Gata No. 61 areas 204.8 square meter, Gata No. 219 areas 8106.10 square meters, Gata No. 220 areas 1638.80 square meters, Gata No.62 areas 1229.10 square meters, Gata No. 63 areas 4199.10 square meters, Gata No. 64 areas 13127.37 square meters and Gata No. 61 areas 1024.25 square meters of village Teeklapura, Majra Bingawan, Pargana and Tehsil and District- Kanpur Nagar may be entered in the Khataunis in the name of the petitioner. A further prayer has been made that the possession of the total area of 30512.63 sq. meter contained in Gata No. 61 areas 204.8 square meter, Gata No. 219 areas 8106.10 square meters, Gata No. 220 areas 1638.80 square meters, Gata No.62 areas 1229.10 square meters, Gata No. 63 areas 4199.10 square meters, Gata No. 64 areas 13127.37 square meters and Gata No. 61 areas 1024.25 square meters of village Teeklapura, Majra Bingawan, Pargana and Tehsil and District - Kanpur Nagar (herein after referred to as "the land in question) may not be taken away from the petitioner.

2. The petitioner's case is that when the petitioner's predecessor-in-interest, and thereafter the petitioner, had remained in possession over the land in question which was earlier declared surplus and which was never taken away from the petitioner, then the Ceiling Authorities were wrongly treating the land as that of the State.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner has stated that the Khasras of the year 1398F to 1401F(annexure 3 to the writ petition) and thereafter the khasras of the year 1420F(Annexure SA-3 to the supplementary affidavit filed on 7.2.2017) would go to indicate that the petitioner's predecessor-in-interest and thereafter the petitioner had continued to be in possession over the land in question.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that if under the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976, (hereinafter referred to as "the Act of 1976'), the land in question was declared surplus under Section 8(4) of the Act of 1976, and the possession of the land had not been taken over on or before the commencement of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Repeal Act, 1999 (hereinafter referred to as "the Act of 1999'), the petitioner shall not be dispossessed in pursuance of any orders whatsoever of the Ceiling Authorities. Since the learned counsel for the petitioner has read out Section 3 of the Act of 1999, the same is being reproduced here as under:-

"3. Saving. - (1) The repeal of the principal Act shall not affect -

(a) the vesting of any vacant land under sub-section (3) of Section 10, possession of which has been taken over the State Government or any person duly authorized by the State Government in this behalf or by the competent authority;

(b) the validity of any order granting exemption under sub-section (1) of Section 20 or any action taken thereunder, notwithstanding any judgement of any court to the contrary;

(c) any payment made to the State Government as a condition for granting exemption under sub-section (1) of Section 20.

(2) Where -

(a) any land is deemed to have vested in the State Government under sub-section(3) of Section 10 of the principal Act but possession of which has not been taken over by the State Government or any person duly authorized by the State Government in this behalf or by the competent authority; and

(b) any amount has been paid by the State Government with respect to such land

then, such land shall not be restored unless the amount paid, if any, has been refunded to the State Government.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner, therefore, has submitted that since the petitioner had continued to be in physical possession of the aforesaid khatas, which were earlier declared surplus under the Act of 1976, because of the coming of the Act of 1999, the petitioner shall continue to be the owner of the land in question and the petitioner shall continue to be in possession.

6. In the instant case, learned counsel for the petitioner has stated that the petitioner whose predecessor-in-interest was Sri Bheekhu son of Deshraj and who was the owner in possession over the land in question, at no point of time, was dispossessed in pursuance of any of the orders passed by the Ceiling Authorities.

7. In the paragraph no. 13 of the writ petition, the petitioner has stated that the predecessor-in-interest, in fact, had no knowledge about any of the orders being passed under Section 8(3) and 8(4) of the Act of 1976 and in fact the predecessor-in-interest only came to know about the various proceedings under the Act of 1976 when he was sought to be dispossessed in the month of April 2003. It has been stated that, thereafter, unfortunately he died on 9.6.2003.

8. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that thereafter the petitioner who had stepped into the shoes of Bheekhu because of an unregistered Will dated 27.5.2003 started contesting the matter and when the dispossession was being effected, he filed the instant writ petition. Learned counsel submitted that the petitioner was thereafter made aware of the order dated 28.5.1985, certified copy of which was obtained on 6.2.2004. This document was an order under Section 10(5) of the Act of 1976 and by this order under Section 10(5) of the Act of 1976, learned counsel for the petitioner submits the predecessor-in-interest of the petitioner was sought to be dispossessed from the plots in question, the area of which was 30512.60 square meters.

9. Learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that the order under Section 10(5) of the Act of 1976 was not preceded by any notice under Section 10(5) of the Act of 1976. He further submitted that, in fact, the possession from the petitioner or his predecessor-in-interest was never taken and that all transfer of possession was only paper transaction.

10. Upon being confronted by a document which has been filed in the counter affidavit as annexure no. CA-1 which as per the State was an order by which the possession was taken under Section 10(6) of the Act of 1976, learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that this document again was only a paper transaction. He submits that under Section 10(6) of the Act of 1976 if possession was to be taken then it ought to have been preceded by a notice and also the possession ought to have been given by the land owner/tenure holder to the Collector. He submits that by this document possession was given by the District Magistrate, Kanpur Nagar, to the supervisor Kanoongo on 22.1.1987. Learned counsel also submitted that there was no signature of any independent witness on this document who might have evidenced the transfer of possession.

11. Learned counsel for the petitioner relied upon paragraphs no. 36 and 37 of the judgement reported in 2013 (4) SCC 280 (State of U.P. vs. Hari Ram) and submitted that if a peaceful transfer of possession did not take place under Section 10(5) of the Act of 1976 then the State could have taken a forcible possession. He submitted that as per paragraph no. 37 of the aforementioned judgement, no dispossession of the tenure holder could be done under Section 10(6) of the Act of 1976 without any notice. Learned counsel since has relied heavily upon paragraphs no.36 & 37 of the judgement they are being reproduced here as under:-

"36. The Act provides for forceful dispossession but only when a person refuses or fails to comply with an order under Sub-section (5) of Section 10. Sub-section (6) of Section 10 again speaks of "possession" which says, if any person refuses or fails to comply with the order made under Sub-section (5), the competent authority may take possession of the vacant land to be given to the State Government and for that purpose, force - as may be necessary - can be used. Sub-section (6), therefore, contemplates a situation of a person refusing or fails to comply with the order under Sub-section (5), in the event of which the competent authority may take possession by use of force. Forcible dispossession of the land, therefore, is being resorted to only in a situation which falls under Sub-section (6) and not under Sub-section (5) of Section 10. Sub-sections (5) and (6), therefore, take care of both the situations, i.e. taking possession by giving notice, that is "peaceful dispossession" and on failure to surrender or give delivery of possession under Section 10(5), than "forceful dispossession" under Sub-section (6) of Section 10.

37. The requirement of giving notice under Sub-sections (5) and (6) of Section 10 is mandatory. Though the word "may" has been used therein, the word "may" in both the Sub-sections has to be understood as "shall" because a court charged with the task of enforcing the statute needs to decide the consequences that the legislature intended to follow from failure to implement the requirement. Effect of non-issue of notice under Sub-section (5) or Sub-section (6) of Section 10 is that it might result in the land holder being dispossessed without notice, therefore, the word "may" has to be read as "shall"."

12. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submitted that as per the judgement of this Court report in 2018 (4) ADJ 749 (Harinam Singh and others vs. State of U.P.), the memo of possession was absolutely a sham documents as it did not bear the signature of the tenure holder. Further learned counsel for the petitioner submits that as has been stated in the judgement reported in 2018 (4) ADJ 749, the transfer of the land in question from the District Magistrate to the Supervisor Kanoongo was absolutely inconceivable. Learned counsel submitted that there was no provision under any law that the District Magistrate himself would transfer the land to another State Authority i.e. the Supervisor Kanoongo. He submits that if at all there was a transfer then the District Magistrate himself or someone on his behalf ought to have taken the possession. Since the learned counsel heavily relied upon paragraphs no. 19, 20 and 21 of the judgement reported in 2018 (4) ADJ 749, they are being reproduced here as under:-

"19. Applying the above law to the facts of the present case, in the first instance, we find that there has been no notice as contemplated under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976 to the father of the petitioners who was recorded tenure holder. After notice under Section 10(5) since tenure holder did not surrender possession, it was mandatory for the respondents to have issued notice under Section 10(6) authorizing taking forceful possession. In the second instance we find that memo of possession which has been heavily relied by the respondents and which has been presented in the counter-affidavit as document evidencing delivery of possession under Section 10(6) and has been strongly defended by learned Additional Advocate General, we find that this document does not bear signature of tenure holder and apart from this, the document also acknowledges such statement which is inconceivable in the case of possession of memo of forceful dispossession of tenure holders. The document bears the recital that District Magistrate is delivering possession under orders of Prescribed Authority to Supervisor Kanoongo. We fail to understand as to how District Magistrate would deliver possession to the Supervisor Kanoongo whereas in law it is District Magistrate on whose behalf possession has to be taken. The possession memo certifies only that possession of land is taken in presence of so and so witnesses. From the authorities cited herein above, we are sure that in matters of forceful dispossession the witnesses who have signed should be from public. If a Revenue Officer signs as a witness and other Revenue Officer delivers land to another Revenue Officer, such document would be a sham. It is indeed a sorry state of affairs that Revenue Authorities have not only defended this document but referred it in their pleadings that delivery of possession has been effectively taken on the basis of this document. The contention raised in the writ petition was that the signatures of the person delivering the possession in the alleged possession memo is not of Ram Singh father of the petitioners. The District Magistrate in his letter dated 9.7.2017 has acknowledged this fact that the person who delivered the possession is Nayab Tehsildar namely Ram Asre Verma. Thus, contention raised in the writ petition stands admitted that it was not Ram Singh, the tenure holder, who had delivered the possession. Under the circumstances, we are bound to hold that no forceful dispossession as contemplated under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976 had taken of petitioners' father and he continued in possession and after his death the petitioners came into possession and have continued to be in actual physical possession of land in question and are entitled to the benefit of Repeal Act.

20. Thus, in view of the above, in respect of land in question, ceiling proceedings have stood abated under the Repeal Act, 1999 and respondents are restrained from interfering with the possession of petitioners of the land in question in any manner whatsoever and Revenue Authorities are directed to carry out necessary correction in the land records accordingly.

21. In this case, we find very peculiar circumstance existing where Revenue Authorities prepared a manipulated document showing delivery of possession and then thereafter, contested the matter on the basis of said document knowing fully that the document does not constitute a valid document of Memo of possession and that there has never been a notice under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976. The petitioners have not only been unnecessarily harassed and forced for the present litigation but the respondents have in a most mischievous manner contested the issue on a fraudulent document. We would be failing in our duty, if we let State respondents' conduct go unnoticed. State authorities are expected to present correct facts and with utmost sense of sincerity, but we find it most lacking in present case. To present a document purported to be one prepared under law may be incorrect for many defects but to present a document as one lawfully executed knowing it to be illegal is something impermissible act and conduct during judicial proceedings. We are shocked that instead of giving up its stand in given facts and circumstances of the case, the State respondents not only defended the document through pleadings but also advanced arguments in defense thereof. We are of considered opinion that this litigation has been forced by State authorities as they did not allow petitioners' claim illegally treating the ceiling proceedings as not abated and hence petitioner is entitled for exemplary cost. The petitioners are entitled to cost which we quantify as Rs. 2 lakhs. The cost shall be paid at the first instance by the State to the petitioners. However, it will be open for the State to recover the said amount from the persons who have been responsible for such act of carelessness and negligence and deliberate act of playing fraud and forging a document meant to be official one."

13. Further learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that there was absolutely a non-compliance of the direction which was issued in the year 1983 which was called the Uttar Pradesh Urban Land Ceiling (Taking of Possession payment of amount and Allied Matters) Directions, 1983.

14. Since the U.L.C. Form-I, II and III were produced in the Court by the learned Standing Counsel, the Court perused them and found that definitely the clauses where it had to be mentioned that the possession had been taken were not filled in accordance with law and on this fact the learned counsel for the petitioner heavily laid stress upon.

15. Further learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that in paragraph no.

11 of the writ petition, the petitioner had stated the following:

"11. That, the petitioner is still in physical possession of the disputed land and doing agriculture work."

16. He submitted that this paragraph had been replied to in paragraph no. 16 of the counter affidavit. Since learned counsel for the petitioner relied upon paragraph no. 16 of the counter, the same is being reproduced here as Under:

"16. That the contents of paragraph no. 11 of the writ petition stands denied. The alleged possession of the petitioner is illegal and on the basis of that possession the petitioner is not entitled for any relief under the Repeal Act."

17. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submitted that in paragraph no. 6 of the Supplementary Affidavit which the petitioner had filed on 7.2.2017 it was stated that the petitioner was in possession over the land in question. The paragraph no. 6 of the supplementary affidavit is being reproduced here as under:

"6. That the actual possession of petitioner over the land in dispute is apparent from the Khasra 1420 Faseli. Copy of which obtained by the petitioner on 26.11.2016. The extract of Khasra 1420 faseli is being filed herewith and marked as Annexure No. S.A.-3 to this supplementary affidavit. In the Khasra cultivation of crop is already recorded are shows the actual possession of the petitioner predecessor over the land in dispute."

18. In paragraph no. 9 of the supplementary counter affidavit, the reply was that the possession though was there it was illegal. Since learned counsel for the petitioner read out paragraph 9 of the counter affidavit the same is being reproduced here as under:

"9. That the contents of paragraph no. 6 of the supplementary affidavit, as stated, are not admitted hence denied. The correct facts are that in the khasra for the year 1420 fasli, the agriculture as well as urban ceiling both is recorded. From the aforesaid it is evident that the agriculture on the land in question is illegal and amounts to encroachment and any possession of the petitioner are illegal. The aforesaid facts also gets strength from the decision of this Hon'ble Court in Writ Petition No. 28180 of 2007 (Suresh Kumar vs. State of U.P. and others) and Writ Petition No. 37193 of 2017 (Suresh Kumar vs. State of U.P. and others) in which the Hon'ble Court has been pleased to hold that such kind of agricultural use would be treated and deemed as illegal and unauthorized."

19. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submitted that the petitioner had the locus standi to file the writ petition as he had stated in the writ petition itself that he had inherited the property in question because of the will dated 27.5.2003. This fact was mentioned in paragraph no. 9of the writ petition. Paragraph no. 9 of the writ petition which states this fact is being reproduced here as under:-

"9. That, the Bheekhu has executed a un-resgistered will in favour of the petitoiner on 27.5.2003. The true/photostat copy of the un-registered will dated 27.5.2003 executed by the Bheekhu in favour of the petitioner, is being filed here with and marked as Annexure no.6 to this writ petition."

20. In the counter affidavit of the State, learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that the State had only vaguely denied the contents of paragraphs no. 8 & 9 in paragraph no. 14 of the counter affidavit. The paragraph no. 14 of the counter affidavit is being reproduced here as under:-

"14. That the contents of paragraph no. 8 and 9 of the writ petition are within the specific knowledge of the petitioner as such he is to put strict proof in respect thereto."

21. The State was represented by the Additional Advocate General Sri M.C. Chaturvedi, Senior Counsel, who was assisted by Sri Mohan Srivastava and Ms. Shubhra Singh learned Standing Counsel. Sri M.C. Chaturvedi, Senior Counsel, submitted that firstly the petitioner had no locus standi as he was only a legatee of the original tenure holder Sri Bheekhu who had died on 9.6.2003. He had submitted that if at all any objection had to be made to the possession being taken by the State then it was Bheekhu who should have come forward. Secondly, the learned Additional Advocate General submitted that the possession of the plots in question was taken way back on 22.1.1987 and, therefore, the petitioner had approached the High Court very belatedly .

22. The record of the case was produced by the learned Additional Advocate General in sealed cover and he showed the original documents by which the possession was taken over. This document was also filed as annexure no. CA-1 to the counter affidavit which was filed on 19.3.2005. Learned Additional Advocate General, therefore, submitted that the petitioner could not argue that he was in possession.

23. Learned Additional Advocate General thereafter further submitted that as per the statutory mandate there was no requirement to issue a notice after an order was passed under Section 10(5) of the Act of 1976. Learned Additional Advocate General, therefore, submitted that there was no merit in the case and the writ petition be accordingly dismissed.

24. Having heard Sri M.D. Singh Shekhar, Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Vaibhav Goswami learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri M.C. Chaturvedi, learned Additional Advocate General, assisted by Ms. Shubhra Singh for the State and Sri Abhinava Krishna Srivastava learned counsel for the Kanpur Development Authority, this Court is of the view that the writ petition deserves to be allowed.

25. The petitioner is a legatee of the original tenure holder. He had inherited the property by means of a Will. The Will had not been questioned in any court of law. Therefore, the objection of the learned Additional Advocate General that the petitioner had no locus standi has no legs to stand. Further from the record, we find that the petitioner had throughout been in possession over the plots in question. Even in the counter affidavit which was filed on 19.3.2005 in paragraph 16 the State had admitted the possession of the petitioner. So also was the case in paragraph no. 9 of the Supplementary Affidavit which had been filed by the State on 16.5.2018. Under the Act of 1999, the only determining factor was whether the State Government had taken actual physical possession of the excess land before 18.3.1999. The question whether the land holders had accepted the orders passed under Section 8(4) of the Act of 1976 was irrelevant. What had to be only looked into was as to whether the petitioner was in possession. In the instant case, we find that the document dated 22.1.1987 which has been filed as annexure-I to the Counter Affidavit, and the original of it was also seen by us when the record was produced by the Additional Advocate General, was a sham document. No possession definitely was taken over by the State and there was no de facto transfer of possession. Even though under Section 10(6) of the Act of 1976, we find that there is no requirement of a notice before action is taken under Section 10(6) of the Act of 1976, but as per the Supreme Court decision in 2013 (4) SCC 280 (paragraph 37) a notice before action is taken under Section 10(6) of the Act of 1976 is mandatory.

26. Under such circumstances, we find that when there was no notice under Section 10 (6) of the Act of 1976, transfer of possession also could not have taken place. The document annexure CA-I was also a document which evidenced a sham transfer. The tenure holder had not handed over possession. Instead the District Magistrate had handed over the possession to the Supervisor Kanoongo. This could not be done. Also there was no independent witness to witness the transfer. Also, we find that the ULC Forms I, II and III have not been filled in accordance with law. Everything appears to have been done in the most inappropriate manner. Also since the document dated 22.1.987 has been held to be a sham document, definitely no transfer had taken place. What is more even in the counter affidavit there is an admission that the petitioner was in possession, though illegal.

27. Under such circumstances, the writ petition is allowed. The petitioner may not be dispossessed from the land in question which had been declared as excess land. Also in the revenue entries if the petitioner's name had been deleted the same may be restored vis-a-vis Gata No. 61 areas 204.8 square meter, Gata No. 219 areas 8106.10 square meters, Gata No. 220 areas 1638.80 square meters, Gata No.62 areas 1229.10 square meters, Gata No. 63 areas 4199.10 square meters, Gata No. 64 areas 13127.37 square meters and Gata No. 61 areas 1024.25 square meters village Teekapurva, Majra Bingawan, Pargana and District Kanpur Nagar.

28. We are conscious of the fact that during the pendency of the writ petition there was no interim order operating. Under such circumstances, not only should the petitioner's name be entered in the revenue record but also the State Authorities should ensure that the petitioner should be given possession over the land in question if he has been forcibly dispossessed during the pendency of the writ petition. Also we provide that if the dispossession has resulted in certain irreversible changes i.e. to say that the petitioner cannot be given possession then the petitioner may be compensated treating the land to have been acquired.

29. The original documents which were handed over to the Court be put in sealed cover and be returned to the Registrar General for being handed over to the relevant authorities.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mahesh Chandra Tripathi, J.
Hon'ble Vivek Kumar Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Raj Karan Yadav, learned counsel for the petitioners; Sri Raj Mohan Upadhyay, learned Standing Counsel for State respondent nos.1 to 2 and Sri Ravi Prakash Pandey, learned counsel for Varanasi Development Authority.

2. By means of this petition, the petitioners have prayed for following reliefs:-

"A. Issue a writ, order or direction in nature of certiorari for quashing the order dated 18.03.1998 as well as 20.04.2022 passed by respondent No.2 as Annexure Nos.4 &5 in the aforesaid writ petition.

B. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondents to abate the proceeding of Case No.323/1613/2166/80-81 (State vs. Musamat, wife of Bachchan Singh) Village Susuwahi, Pargana Dehat Ammanat, District Varanasi under Section 3 (2) (A) of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Repeal Act, 1999 (Act No.15 of 1999).

C. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondents to correct the revenue record in name of the land holder situated in Village Susuwahi, Pargana Dehat Ammanat, District Varanasi."

3. This writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India has been reported by the office to be 142 days beyond the usual period of 90 days of passing of the impugned order.

4. The facts of the case in short are that father of petitioner nos.1 to 4 and grand-father of petitioner nos.5-12 Bachchan died before 17.02.1976. For declaring the land of original owner namely Bachchan to be surplus, the Collector/Competent Authority, Urban Land Ceiling, Varanasi instituted a case under the provisions of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 19761 and therefore, mother of the petitioner nos.1 to 4 filed ceiling return under Section 6 (1) of the Ceiling Act. The case was registered as Case No.323/1613/2166/80-81 (State vs. Musamat Kewali, Village Susuwahi, Pargana Dehat Ammanat, District Varanasi) and a notice under Section 8 (3) of the Ceiling Act was served upon the original owner on 10.3.1981. She did not submit any objection to the notice within 30 days and as such, it was presumed that she did not have any objection to the said notice. Finally, the Competent Authority declared the land owned by the original owner to the extent of 7097.49 square meters to be surplus on 03.6.1981 and published a draft statement under Section 9 of the Ceiling Act and a notification in the official gazette as per the requirement of Section 10(1) of the Ceiling Act. Thereafter, describing the details of surplus land in letter dated 03.6.1981 (Annexure-1 to the writ petition), the Collector was directed to carry out the proceeding of taking possession over the land in question.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioners submits that father/grand father of petitioners died before 17.02.1976. The mother of the petitioner nos.1 to 4 filed ceiling return under Section 6 (1) of the Ceiling Act. The petitioners are in actual possession over the land in question. Neither the respondents have taken possession of the said land from the original owner nor she had given possession to the respondents. No third party interest has been created by the respondents in the aforesaid land till date. The State Government issued a Government order on 02.4.1994 directing to all competent authorities of the State of U.P. to stop further proceedings in respect of agricultural land, which is declared as ceiling land under Section 8 (4) and notice issued under Section 10 (5) but no proceeding under Section 10 (6) for taking possession has been initiated. In pursuance of the said Government order, the Competent Authority has not completed proceeding under Section 10 (6) in respect of all agricultural land of the petitioners till 18.3.1999 and during the pendency of proceeding under Section 10 (6), the Act No.33 of 1976 has been repealed by Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Repeal Act, 19992 with effect from 18.3.1999 and hence, all the proceedings of this case against the original owner are liable to be abated under Section 3/4 of the Repeal Act. It is submitted that earlier the petitioners had also approached this Court by preferring Writ C No.35232 of 2021 (Mithai Lal and 11 others vs. State of UP and 2 others) for a mandamus commanding the respondents not to dispossess them from the land in dispute and a coordinate Bench of this Court had disposed of the writ petition on 12.1.2022 with liberty to the petitioners to approach authority by filing representation within two months. In support of his submission, he has placed reliance on the judgements rendered in the case of Lalla and ors vs. State of UP and ors3 and State vs. Hari Ram4.

6. Per contra, learned Standing Counsel has raised a preliminary objection regarding maintainability of the writ petition on the issue of latches that the present writ petition has been filed after almost 40 years of the taking over of the possession and consequently, the same does not deserve to be entertained. He has submitted that against the predecessor-in-interest of the petitioners, the proceeding under the the Ceiling Act was drawn and notification under Section 10 (3) of the Ceiling Act was duly notified, followed by notice under Section 10 (5) of the Ceiling Act. The proceedings were finalised way back under the Ceiling Act and as such, the writ petition is liable to be dismissed on the ground of delay and laches. In support whereof, he has placed reliance upon a decision of Supreme Court reported in State of Assam Vs. Bhaskar Jyoti Sarma and others5. He has further placed reliance upon a decision of Division Bench of this Court passed in Lalji Choubey Vs. The State of M.P. and another6 wherein it was observed that once a compliance under Section 10(5) of the Act, 1976 has been done then it can be considered that possession has been duly taken over. He has also placed reliance on the judgments in Smt. Kalawati Devi v. State of U.P. & Ors.7 and Lal Singh & Ors. v. Competent Authority Urban Land Ceiling and Regulation & Ors.8

7. We have considered the rival submissions and perused the material placed on record.

8. We find that the father/grand father of petitioners died before 17.02.1976 and therefore, mother of the petitioner nos.1 to 4 filed ceiling return under Section 6 (1) of the Ceiling Act. The proceeding under the Ceiling Act was initiated by the Competent Authority, registered as Case No.323/1613/2166/80-81 (State vs. Musamat Kewali). Thereafter, the notice under Section 8 (3) of the Ceiling Act was served upon the original owner on 10.3.1981 to which she did not submit any objection. Finally, the Competent Authority had declared the land owned by the original owner to the extent of 7097.49 square meters to be surplus on 03.6.1981 and published the draft statement under Section 9 of the Ceiling Act and a notification in the official gazette as per the requirement of Section 10(1) of the Ceiling Act. The Collector was directed to carry out the proceeding for taking possession over the land in questioner vide letter dated 03.6.1981.

9. It is not disputed that the notice under Section 10 (5) of the Ceiling Act was issued and the same was not objected by the land owner. Therefore, there was no occasion for issuing notice under Section 10 (6) to the land owner. Record also reflects that Mithai Lal (petitioner No.1), Lalman, Rakesh Bahadur, Man Bahadur, Lal Bahadur, Vijai Bahadur sons of late Bachchan and widow Kewali Devi, wife of late Bachchan had moved applications supported by an affidavit on 07.2.1997 and 21.1.1998 in the ceiling proceeding stating therein that they had not received notices under Section 8 (3) and Section 9 of the Ceiling Act. They were entitled to have 1500 sq. meters land individually and further as there was certain discrepancy in the land use report, therefore, after summoning the master plan the authority has to confer rights to the applicants qua to their individual shares and accordingly, the order dated 05.7.1981 under Section Section 8 (4) of the Ceiling Act was liable to be set aside. Suffice to indicate that the said relief was pressed under Section 45 of the Ceiling Act, which pertains to correction of clerical errors. While considering the said application on 18.03.1998 the Prescribed Authority, Urban Land Ceiling had opined that the matter in fact would not fall under Section 45 of the Ceiling Act but in case the petitioners are aggrieved with the order dated 05.6.1981 the efficacious remedy is to prefer an appeal under Section 33 and further observed that the notification under Section 10 (3) is already notified and the disputed land was declared surplus way back on 03.6.1981 and vested in the State free from all encumbrances and accordingly, the applications dated 07.2.1992 and 21.1.1998 were rejected on 18.3.1998.

10. We further find that there is nothing on record to indicate that aforementioned orders were ever subjected to challenge by the petitioners and admittedly, the appeal under Section 33 of the Ceiling Act was also not preferred. We may also observe that the first petitioner moved the aforementioned applications alongwith other claimants under Section 45 of the Ceiling Act, which were rejected in the year 1998 and the same was in fact attained finality. Since then they have not agitated the matter and they all waited for long time. All of sudden they woke up from the deep slumber and preferred Writ C No.35232 of 2021 (Mithai Lal and 11 others vs. State of UP and 2 others) for mandamus commanding the respondents not to dispossess the petitioners from the land in dispute in pursuance of the provisions of the Ceiling Act and the same was disposed of by the Division Bench on 12.1.2022 with liberty to the petitioners to approach the respondents by filing representation. In response to the said order, the order dated 20.4.2022 has been passed by the Prescribed Authority indicating therein that after compliance of Sections 9, 10 (1), 10 (3) and 10 (5) the land was declared surplus. Even the names of the erstwhile owners were also expunged and the name of the State was mutated on 25.1.1992. Consequently, through letter No.147 dated 12.12.1997 the surplus land was also handed over to the Varanasi Development Authority. Therefore, the Prescribed Authority under Urban Land Ceiling, Varanasi has no jurisdiction to proceed further in the matter and accordingly, the representation was disposed of on 20.4.2022. It is evident that the petitioners have raised the issue of possession and notice under Section 10 (6) of the Ceiling Act after lapse of more than 40 years and there is no explanation for the delay.

11. The said aspect of the matter has been considered in detail in Dehri Rohtas Light Railway Vs. District Board Bhojpur and Others9, wherein Hon'ble Supreme Court observed in paragraph No. 13 as under :-

"The rule which says that the Court may not inquire into belated and stale claim is not a rule of law but a rule of practice based on sound and proper exercise of discretion. Each case must depend upon its own facts. It will all depend on what the breach of the fundamental right and the remedy claimed are and how the delay arose. The principle on which the relief to the party on the grounds of laches or delay is denied is that the rights which have accrued to others by reason of the delay in filing the petition should not be allowed to be disturbed unless there is reasonable explanation for the delay. The real test to determine delay in such cases is that the petitioner should come to the writ court before a parallel right is created and that the lapse of time is not attributable to any laches or negligence. The test is not to physical running of time. Where the circumstances justifying the conduct exists, the illegality which is manifest cannot be sustained on the sole ground of laches. The decision in Trilok Chand (supra) relied on is distinguishable on the facts of the present case. The levy is based on the net profits of the railway undertaking was beyond the authority and the illegal nature of the same has been questioned though belatedly in the pending proceedings after the pronouncement of the High Court in the matter relating to the subsequent years. That being the case, the claim of the appellant cannot be turned down on the sole ground of delay. We are of the opinion that the High Court was wrong in dismissing the writ petition in limine and refusing to grant the relief sought for. We however agree that suit has been rightly dismissed."

(Emphasis added)

12. Similarly, Hon'ble Apex Court has also considered the delay and laches pertaining to ceiling matters in Shivgonda Anna Patil Vs. State of Maharashtra10 wherein the petitioner had approached after considerable delay of ten years after the land was declared surplus and vested in the State Government and the writ petition was summarily dismissed by the High Court and the same was also approved by the Apex Court. Hon'ble Apex Court has also considered the delay and laches in preferring the petition under Article 226 of Constution of India in Municipal Council, Ahmednagar Vs. Shah Hyder Beig11 and held that the equitable doctrine, namely, "delay defects equity" has its fullest application in the matter of grant of relief under Article 226 of the Constitution.

13. The Supreme Court in U.P. Jal Nigam and Another Vs. Jaswant Singh and Another12 referred, with approval the law relating to laches, as summarized in Halsbury's Law of England. The relevant extract from the aforesaid judgement is reproduced below :-

"12. The statement of law has also been summarized in Halsbury's Laws of England, Para 911 , pg. 395 as follows :

"In determining whether there has been such delay as to amount to laches, the chief points to be considered are :

(i) acquiescence on the claimant's part; and

(ii) any change of position that has occurred on the defendant's part.

Acquiescence in this sense does not mean standing by while the violation of a right is in progress, but assent after the violation has been completed and the claimant has become aware of it. It is unjust to give the claimant a remedy where, by his conduct, he has done that which might fairly be regarded as equivalent to a waiver of it; or where by his conduct and neglect, though not waiving the remedy, he has put the other party in a position in which it would not be reasonable to place him if the remedy were afterwards to be asserted. In such cases lapse of time and delay are most material. Upon these considerations rests the doctrine of laches."

(Emphasis added)

14. In Tukaram Kana Joshi and others Vs. MIDC and others13, the Supreme Court observed as follows :-

"12. The State, especially a welfare State which is governed by the Rule of Law, cannot arrogate itself to a status beyond one that is provided by the Constitution. Our Constitution is an organic and flexible one. Delay and laches is adopted as a mode of discretion to decline exercise of jurisdiction to grant relief. There is another facet. The Court is required to exercise judicial discretion. The said discretion is dependent on facts and circumstances of the cases. Delay and laches is one of the facets to deny exercise of discretion. It is not an absolute impediment. There can be mitigating factors, continuity of cause action, etc. That apart, if whole thing shocks the judicial conscience, then the Court should exercise the discretion more so, when no third party interest is involved. Thus analysed, the petition is not hit by the doctrine of delay and laches as the same is not a constitutional limitation, the cause of action is continuous and further the situation certainly shocks judicial conscience.

13. The question of condonation of delay is one of discretion and has to be decided on the basis of the facts of the case at hand, as the same vary from case to case. It will depend upon what the breach of fundamental right and the remedy claimed are and when and how the delay arose. It is not that there is any period of limitation for the Courts to exercise their powers under Article 226, nor is it that there can never be a case where the Courts cannot interfere in a matter, after the passage of a certain length of time. There may be a case where the demand for justice is so compelling, that the High Court would be inclined to interfere in spite of delay. Ultimately, it would be a matter within the discretion of the Court and such discretion, must be exercised fairly and justly so as to promote justice and not to defeat it. The validity of the party's defence must be tried upon principles substantially equitable. (Vide: P.S. Sadasivaswamy vs. State of T.N. AIR 1974 SC 2271; State of M.P. & Others. vs. Nandlal Jaiswal & Others., AIR 1987 SC 251; and Tridip Kumar Dingal & Others. vs. State of West Bengal & Others, (2009) 1 SCC 768;)

14. No hard and fast rule can be laid down as to when the High Court should refuse to exercise its jurisdiction in favour of a party who moves it after considerable delay and is otherwise guilty of laches. Discretion must be exercised judiciously and reasonably. In the event that the claim made by the applicant is legally sustainable, delay should be condoned. In other words, where circumstances justifying the conduct exist, the illegality which is manifest, cannot be sustained on the sole ground of laches. When substantial justice and technical considerations are pitted against each other, the cause of substantial justice deserves to be preferred, for the other side cannot claim to have a vested right in the injustice being done, because of a non- deliberate delay. The court should not harm innocent parties if their rights have infact emerged, by delay on the part of the Petitioners. (Vide: Durga Prasad v. Chief Controller of Imports and Exports & Others, AIR 1970 SC 769; Collector, Land Acquisition, Anantnag & Another vs. Mst. Katiji & Others, AIR 1987 SC 1353; Dehri Rohtas Light Railway Company Ltd. vs. District Board, Bhojpur & Others, AIR 1993 SC 802; Dayal Singh & Others vs. Union of India & Others, AIR 2003 SC 1140; and Shankara Co-op Housing Society Ltd. vs. M. Prabhakar & Others, AIR 2011 SC 2161)."

15. In State of Assam vs. Bhaskar Jyoti Sharma and others14 it was held by the Apex Court as under:-

"16. The issue can be viewed from another angle also. Assuming that a person in possession could make a grievance, no matter without much gain in the ultimate analysis, the question is whether such grievance could be made long after the alleged violation of Section 10(5). If actual physical possession was taken over from the erstwhile land owner on 7th December, 1991 as is alleged in the present case any grievance based on Section 10(5) ought to have been made within a reasonable time of such dispossession. If the owner did not do so, forcible taking over of possession would acquire legitimacy by sheer lapse of time. In any such situation the owner or the person in possession must be deemed to have waived his right under Section 10(5) of the Act. Any other view would, in our opinion, give a licence to a litigant to make a grievance not because he has suffered any real prejudice that needs to be redressed but only because the fortuitous circumstance of a Repeal Act tempted him to raise the issue regarding his dispossession being in violation of the prescribed procedure.

17. Reliance was placed by the respondents upon the decision of this Court in Hari Ram's case (supra). That decision does not, in our view, lend much assistance to the respondents. We say so, because this Court was in Hari Ram's case (supra) considering whether the word 'may' appearing in Section 10(5)gave to the competent authority the discretion to issue or not to issue a notice before taking physical possession of the land in question under Section 10(6). The question whether breach of Section 10(5)and possible dispossession without notice would vitiate the act of dispossession itself or render it non est in the eye of law did not fall for consideration in that case. In our opinion, what Section 10(5)prescribes is an ordinary and logical course of action that ought to be followed before the authorities decided to use force to dispossess the occupant under Section 10(6). In the case at hand if the appellant's version regarding dispossession of the erstwhile owner in December 1991 is correct, the fact that such dispossession was without a notice under Section 10(5) will be of no consequence and would not vitiate or obliterate the act of taking possession for the purposes of Section 3 of the Repeal Act. That is because Bhabadeb Sarma-erstwhile owner had not made any grievance based on breach of Section 10(5) at any stage during his lifetime implying thereby that he had waived his right to do so.

19. In support of the contention that the respondents are even today in actual physical possession of the land in question reliance is placed upon certain electricity bills and bills paid for the telephone connection that stood in the name of one Mr. Sanatan Baishya. It was contended that said Mr. Sanatan Baishya was none other than the caretaker of the property of the respondents. There is, however, nothing on record to substantiate that assertion. The telephone bills and electricity bills also relate to the period from 2001 onwards only. There is nothing on record before us nor was anything placed before the High Court to suggest that between 7th December, 1991 till the date the land in question was allotted to GMDA in December, 2003 the owner or his legal heirs after his demise had continued to be in possession. All that we have is rival claims of the parties based on affidavits in support thereof. We repeatedly asked learned counsel for the parties whether they can, upon remand on the analogy of the decision in the case of Gyanaba Dilavarsinh Jadega (supra), adduce any documentary evidence that would enable the High Court to record a finding in regard to actual possession. They were unable to point out or refer to any such evidence. That being so the question whether actual physical possession was taken over remains a seriously disputed question of fact which is not amenable to a satisfactory determination by the High Court in proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution no matter the High Court may in its discretion in certain situations upon such determination. Remand to the High Court to have a finding on the question of dispossession, therefore, does not appear to us to be a viable solution."

16. The aforesaid judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Bhaskar Jyoti Sharma and others (supra) has been followed by a coordinate Bench of this Court in the case of Shiv Ram Singh vs. State of U.P. and others15 wherein the writ petition was dismissed on the ground of laches with following observations:-

"We must also advert to another aspect of the matter particularly having regard to the recent decision of the Supreme Court in Bhaskar Jyoti Sarma (supra). The petitioner moved the first writ petition in 2002 nearly three years after the Repeal Act had come into force. After the earlier writ petition was disposed of by directing the District Magistrate to pass an order on the representation of the petitioner, an order was passed by the District Magistrate on 10 May 2007. The petitioner thereafter waited for a period of over two years until the present writ petition was filed in July 2009. If the petitioner had been dispossessed of the land without due notice under Section 10(5), such a grievance could have been raised at the relevant time. As a matter of fact, it has been the case of the State all along that a notice under Section 10(5) was, in fact, issued in the present case which would be borne out from the original file which has been produced before the Court. The issue is whether such a grievance could be made long after, before the Court. The petitioner had waited for nearly three years after the Repeal Act came into force to file the first writ petition and thereafter for a period of over two years after the disposal of the representation despite the finding of the District Magistrate that possession was taken over on 25 June 1993. In our view, such a belated challenge should not, in any event, be entertained."

17. In Kapilaben Ambalal Patel and Others Vs. State of Gujarat16, the Apex Court has considered the delay and laches in detail and declined to accept the pleas setup by the legal heirs/representatives of the original land holder on the ground of inordinate delay. Relevant paragraph of the judgement is reproduced herein below:-

"Feeling aggrieved, the landowners have approached this Court. It is urged that there is no tittle of evidence to substantiate the fact asserted by the respondent State that physical possession of the land in question has been taken over on 20-3-1986. It was merely a paper-possession in the form of possession panchnama. According to the appellants, de facto possession of the subject land as on the date of the Repeal Act is crucial and entails in abatement of all the actions of the State authorities under the 1976 Act. Mere issuance of notification under Section 10(3) of the 1976 Act regarding deemed vesting of the land in the State is not enough for the purposes of the Repeal Act. Reliance has been placed on Vinayak Kashinath Shilkar Vs. Collector & Competent Authority, (2012) 4 SCC 718, State of U.P. Vs. Hari Ram (2013) 4 SCC 280, Gajanan Kamlya Patil vs. Additional Collector & Competent Authority (ULC) (2014) 12 SCC 523 and Mangalsen Vs. State of U.P. (2014) 15 SCC 332. The consistent view of this Court is that physical possession must be taken by the State authorities, failing which the proceedings shall abate on account of the Repeal Act. The appellants have relied on revenue records to show that the continued possession remained with the appellants/landowners even after the possession panchnama was made on 20-3-1986. The revenue entries have presumptive value and the respondent State had failed to rebut the same.

"Furthermore, in the grounds all that is asserted is that the High Court erred in holding that there was delay of 14 years in filing of writ petition and in not appreciating that the notice under Section 10(5) of the 1976 Act dated 23-1-1986, was not served upon Ambalal Parsottambhai Patel as he had already expired on 31-12-1985 and notice sent to him was returned bacy on 2-2-1986 unserved with remark "said owner has expired". Further, the legal heirs of Ambalal Parsottambhai Patel ought to have been served with the said notice.....Be that as it may, we are not inclined to reverse the conclusion recorded by the Division Bench of the High court that the writ petition filed by the appellants was hopelpessly delayed and suffered from laches. That is a possible view in the facts of the present case." .

18. Recently, the coordinate Bench of this Court has also considered the Ceiling Act and Repeal Act qua to the subsequent purchaser in Smt. Kalawati Devi vs. State of UP and others17 and dismissed the writ petition on 18.1.2023 on the ground that the owner never protested or agitated his dispossession before any authority or Court. In the circumstances, the subsequent purchaser cannot raise challenge to the procedure of dispossession at belated stage on the strength of a sale deed being void ab-initio. Relevant paragraph nos.22, 23 and 24 of the judgement are reproduced herein below:-

"22. The question of issuing notice under Section 10(5) to the petitioner after 16 years from the date of notice under Section 10(1) of the Act does not arise. The State had taken possession from the land owner way back in 1981. The subsequent transfer of the land in 1994, followed by mutation of the name of the petitioner, would have no bearing on the right of the petitioner. The transfer of the surplus land by the erstwhile owner, in the eye of law being nullity i.e. void ab-initio would not confer any right or title upon the petitioner. The possession of the petitioner after the proceedings concluding under the Act, upon the State taking possession, would merely be a case of encroachment of State land. The Repeal Act would not come to the assistance of the petitioner, rather, the case of the petitioner would not fall within the ambit and scope of the Repeal Act being subsequent purchaser of the surplus land after notification under Section 10(1) / 10(3) of the Act.

23. Having regard to the facts and circumstances of the case, petitioner lacks locus, and any case, the proceedings came to be set up belatedly by the petitioner in 2006 by approaching this Court and filing a petition, being Writ Petition No. 14698 of 2006, which came to be disposed of directing the Collector to take a decision. Pursuant thereof, the impugned order came to be passed on 27.04.2011, whereby, the second respondent after recording the facts arrived at a conclusion that the transfer of the land by the erstwhile owner, declared surplus, vesting in the State, is a void document and does not confer any right and title upon the petitioner. The erstwhile tenure holder (Khelai), had no title or ownership to transfer the land, the petitioner on the strength of alleged possession on State land cannot agitate his dispossession in view of Repeal Act. The surplus land vested with the State upon notification under Section 10(3) followed by dispossession of the erstwhile owner of the land (Khelai) under Section 10(5) way back in 1981. The owner never protested or agitated his dispossession before any authority or Court. In the circumstances, the subsequent buyer (Petitioner) cannot raise challenge to the procedure of dispossession at belated stage on the strength of a sale deed being void ab-initio.

24. The writ petition being devoid of merit, is accordingly, dismissed."

19. For the reasons aforestated and also in view of the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Bhaskar Jyoti Sharma (supra), Kapilaben Ambalal Patel (supra) and a coordinate Bench decision of this Court in the case of Shiv Ram Singh (supra), we do not find any merit in the writ petition. This writ petition is also highly time barred and no reason for the inordinate delay has been given in the writ petition.

20. Consequently, the writ petition is dismissed.

A. Ceiling Law – UP Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act 1976 – Section 6(1) –

Surplus land – No objection was filed within the stipulated time from the date of receipt of the notice u/s 8(3) – Order u/s 8(4) declaring land in excess of the ceiling limit was passed – Pursuant to notice u/S 10(5), the possession of the land was taken – Land owner at no stage had protested implying thereby that he waived his right to do so – Effect – Plea of being in possession over the surplus land – Permissibility – Held, only stand taken is based on a bald St.ment that he is in possession of the surplus land. But, petitioner is silent as to whether any objection at any point of time on being dispossessed, the land owner had filed objection/protest before the authorities. (Para 18 and 19)

B. Constitution of India – Article 226 – Writ – Maintainability – Laches – Writ petition was filed after 13 years from the Repeal Act, and after a lapse of over three decades (36 years) since the notice under Section 10(5) – Effect – Held, equitable doctrine, namely, "delay defeats equity" has its fullest application in the matter of grant of relief under Article 226 of the Constitution. The discretionary relief can be had provided one has not by his act or conduct given a go-by to his rights. Equity favours a vigilant rather than an indolent litigant and this being the basic tenet of Law. (Para 13)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Suneet Kumar, J.
Hon'ble Rajendra Kumar-IV, J.)

1. Heard Shri P.K. Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner, Ms. Manisha Chaturvedi holding brief of Ms. Chandra Kala Chaturvedi, learned counsel appearing for the State-respondents and Shri Abhinav Krishna Srivastava, learned counsel appearing for the Development Authority.

2. Petitioner by the instant writ petition, inter alia, seeks direction to the State-respondent not to interfere in the peaceful possession of Plot Nos. 1356, 1723, 1112, 1104 and 1163, situated in Village- Bara Sirohi, Tehsil and District-Kanpur Nagar. Petitioner has also sought quashing of the order dated 27 July 2011, passed by District Judge/Appellate Authority, Kanpur Nagar, in Misc. Appeal No. 20/70 of 1999 (Kailash Prasad Vs. Competent Authority).

3. The facts of the instant case, briefly stated, is that the predecessor in interest of the petitioner filed statement/return under Section 6(1) of U.P. Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act 1976 (for short 'Act'), giving details of his land/property being case No. 8683. Upon survey, the land/property, admeasuring 5758.81 square meter, was found in excess of the ceiling limit in possession of the petitioner.

4. Consequently, a draft statement came to be served upon the land owner under Section 8(3), along with notice dated 04 August 1979. Petitioner did not respond to the notice by filing objection, consequently, order under Section 8(4) came to be passed on 26 March 1983, declaring 5758.81 square meter of land in excess of the ceiling limit under the Act. On completion of proceedings under Sections 9 and 10(1) of the Act, on receiving no objection from the land owner or any other interested person under Section 10(2) of the Act, a notification under Section 10(3) of the Act was issued on 31 October 1985, duly published in the Official Gazette on 15 January 1986, vesting the surplus vacant land in the State. Thereafter, a notice under Section 10(5) of the Act was issued on 16 December 1986, pursuant, thereof, the authorized person of the competent authority had taken possession of the surplus land on 12 November 1991.

5. It appears that later on, one Ashok Kumar Kushwaha, son of Shri Babu, filed a representation on 1 April 2006, requesting that Plot No. 1192, declared surplus was not owned by the petitioner. It appears that the representation was accepted by the competent authority vide order dated 13 July 2006, consequently, the Plot No. 1192, was released in favour of Ashok Kumar Kushwaha and his name was duly mutated in the revenue record.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that petitioner is in possession of the plots even after repeal of the principal Act, w.e.f. 18 March 1999. It is urged that at this stage, petitioner cannot be dispossessed from the land declared surplus. Reliance has been placed on the decisions rendered by Supreme Court in State of U.P. Vs. Hari Ram1, as well as, decisions rendered by this Court in Ram Singh Vs. State of U.P. and Others2, Ikrar & Others Vs. State of U.P. and Others3 and State of U.P. Vs. Jagdish Chandra4.

7. It is not the case of the petitioner that the land owner at any stage had protested with the declaration of surplus land or had objected before the authorities with regard to dispossession not being in accordance with the law.

8. It appears that an appeal being appeal no. 20/70 of 1999, came to be filed by the petitioner before the District Judge on 18 February 1999. The cause of action set up in the appeal is that on 30 December 1998, the Kanpur Development Authority was demarcating the land. Thereafter, petitioner approached the Lekhpal on 4 January 1999, and on perusal of the revenue record, it transpired that the name of the Kanpur Development Authority was mutated in the revenue record. Thereafter, petitioner contacted his lawyer and got inspected the file pertaining to urban ceiling and obtained copy of the order dated 6 March 1982, on 12 February 1999, thereafter, instituted the appeal. In the memo of appeal, it was pleaded that Plot Nos. 1356, 1723, 1104, 1112 and 1163, predecessor in interest of the petitioner was the land owner. On perusal of the pleadings set up in the writ petition, as well as, memo of appeal instituted on 18 February 1999, it is not the case of the petitioner that the petitioner or the predecessor in interest of the petitioner at any stage of the proceedings under the Act had protested their dispossession or declaration/acquisition of land declared in excess of the ceiling limit.

9. The Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Repeal Act, 1999 (for short "Repeal Act'), came into effect on 18 March 1999, on the said date pending proceedings/appeal stood abated. Consequently, the appeal instituted by the petitioner stood abated by operation of law and the order dated 27 July 2012, passed on the said appeal rejecting the delay condonation application of the petitioner is nullity being void ab initio.

10. In State of Assam vs. Bhaskar Jyoti Sharma and others5, the Supreme Court was of the view that any grievance based on Section 10(5) ought to have been made within a reasonable time of dispossession and the land owner in not doing so must be deemed to have waived his right under Section 10(5) of the Act. Paragraph 16, 17, and 19 is extracted:

"16. The issue can be viewed from another angle also. Assuming that a person in possession could make a grievance, no matter without much gain in the ultimate analysis, the question is whether such grievance could be made long after the alleged violation of Section 10(5). 17. Reliance was placed by the respondents upon the decision of this Court in Hari Ram's case (supra). That decision does not, in our view, lend much assistance to the respondents. We say so, because this Court was in Hari Ram's case (supra) considering whether the word 'may' appearing in Section 10(5)gave to the competent authority the discretion to issue or not to issue a notice before taking physical possession of the land in question under Section 10(6). The question whether breach of Section 10(5)and possible dispossession without notice would vitiate the act of dispossession itself or render it non est in the eye of law did not fall for consideration in that case. In our opinion, what Section 10(5)prescribes is an ordinary and logical course of action that ought to be followed before the authorities decided to use force to dispossess the occupant under Section 10(6). That is because Bhabadeb Sarma-erstwhile owner had not made any grievance based on breach of Section 10(5) at any stage during his lifetime implying thereby that he had waived his right to do so.

11. In Bhaskar Jyoti Sharma (supra) followed by a coordinate Bench of this Court in Shiv Ram Singh vs. State of U.P. and others6, the writ petition was dismissed on the ground of laches, observing as under:

"We must also advert to another aspect of the matter particularly having regard to the recent decision of the Supreme Court in Bhaskar Jyoti Sarma (supra). 12. In Shivgonda Anna Patil Vs. State of Maharashtra, 7wherein, the Supreme Court while dealing with Section 10 of the Act held that the writ petition under Article 226 for reopening the proceedings on the ground that the competent authority had not taken into consideration certain facts, filed after ten years, after the excess land was vested in the State Government was rightly summarily dismissed by the High Court.

13. While deciding the question of delay and laches in preferring the petition under Article 226, Supreme Court in Municipal Council, Ahmednagar Vs. Shah Hyder Beig8, held that the equitable doctrine, namely, "delay defeats equity" has its fullest application in the matter of grant of relief under Article 226 of the Constitution. The discretionary relief can be had provided one has not by his act or conduct given a go-by to his rights. Equity favours a vigilant rather than an indolent litigant and this being the basic tenet of law.

14. Recently, in Kapilaben Ambalal Patel and Others Vs. State of Gujarat9, Supreme Court declined to accept the pleas setup by the legal heirs/representatives of the original land holder on the ground of inordinate delay. The Court noted the submission of the land owner:

"Feeling aggrieved, the landowners have approached this Court. 15. In Paragraph 25 of Kapilaben Ambalal Patel (supra), the Court noted the delay and declined to interfere with the order of the High Court. Relevant portion reads thus:

"Furthermore, in the grounds all that is asserted is that the High Court erred in holding that there was delay of 14 years in filing of writ petition and in not appreciating that the notice under Section 10(5) of the 1976 Act dated 23-1-1986, was not served upon Ambalal Parsottambhai Patel as he had already expired on 31-12-1985 and notice sent to him was returned bacy on 2-2-1986 unserved with remark

"said owner has expired". Further, the legal heirs of Ambalal Parsottambhai Patel ought to have been served with the said notice.....Be that as it may, we are not inclined to reverse the conclusion recorded by the Division Bench of the High court that the writ petition filed by the appellants was hopelessly delayed and suffered from laches. That is a possible view in the facts of the present case."

16. The decisions relied upon by the learned counsel for the petitioner rendered by the co-ordinate Bench of this Court is based on the decision of the Supreme Court in Hari Ram (supra). The Supreme Court in Bhaskar Jyoti Sharma (supra), on considering Hari Ram (supra), was of the view that the word "may' appearing in Section 10(5) gave the competent authority the discretion to issue or not to issue a notice before taking physical possession of the land in question under Section 10(6). The question whether breach of Section 10(5) and possible dispossession without notice would vitiate the act of dispossession itself or render it non est in the eye of law did not fall for consideration in Hari Ram (supra). Thereafter, the Court proceeded that even taking a case of the appellant regarding dispossession was without a notice under Section 10(5) will be of no consequence and would not vitiate or obliterate the act of taking possession for the purposes of Section 3 of the Repeal Act. That is because the erstwhile land owner had not made any grievance based on breach of Section 10(5) at any stage during his lifetime implying thereby that he had waived his right to do so.

17. As per the Scheme of the Act, the excess land beyond the ceiling limit is to be determined on the date when the Act came into force, requiring every person holding vacant land in excess of ceiling limit to file statement of his holding (Section 6). The other persons/third party/subsequent purchasers have no locus or authority to file objection until then. The provisions of Section 8 and Section 9 of the Act, make it incumbent on the competent authority to issue notice to or provide opportunity to be heard only to the "person concerned', i.e., person who has filed the statement under Section 6 of the Act, (Refer paragraph 14 of U.A. Basheer Thr. G.P.A. Holder Vs. State of Karnataka and Another10). It is only after notification under Section 10(1) of the Act, the claim of other persons/subsequent purchasers are to be considered.

18. As per the record, it is not in dispute that notice under Section 8(3) along with draft statement dated 4 August 1979, was duly served upon the land owner. No objection was filed within the stipulated time from the date of receipt of the notice, thereafter, an order under Section 8(4) of the Act came to be passed on 26 March 1982, declaring land in excess of the ceiling limit. The final statement under Section 9 followed, thereafter by notification under Sections 10(1) and 10(3) of the Act, duly published in the Official Gazette. Thereafter, pursuant to notice under Section 10(5), the possession of the land was taken. The land owner at no stage had protested implying thereby that he waived his right to do so.

19. The instant writ petition has been filed after 13 years from the Repeal Act, and after a lapse of over three decades (36 years) since the notice under Section 10(5). The question of possession is being raised for the first time in writ jurisdiction. The petitioner has not pleaded all the relevant facts, rather, suppressed material facts brought on record in the counter affidavit filed by the State-respondent. The only stand taken is based on a bald statement that he is in possession of the surplus land. But, petitioner is silent as to whether any objection at any point of time on being dispossessed, the land owner had filed objection/protest before the authorities. Neither, it is the case of the petitioner in the memo of appeal filed in 1999, that petitioner is in possession of the surplus land, nor, that his predecessor in interest had not voluntary surrendered the surplus vacant land or had protested the State action.

20. Further, the name of Development Authority, after possession was duly mutated in the revenue record as per the case setup by the petitioner. The issue of possession/dispossession being a question of fact cannot be raised belatedly after 13 years in writ jurisdiction.

21. In view thereof, the writ petition being devoid of merit is, accordingly, dismissed.

22. No cost.

10. Civil Appeal no. 6890 of 2022; Jeetubha Khansangji Jadeja Vs Kutchh District Panchayat decided by Supreme Court on 23.09.2022

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajit Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Sri Amit Manohar, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel assisted by Sri R.M. Vishwakarma, learned Standing Counsel for the petitioners and Sri Sudhanshu Narain, learned Advocate appearing for the respondent No.1.

2. The petitioner no.1 is a Forest Department of the Government of Uttar Pradesh and petitioner no.2 is the Forest Range Officer of the Sohagibarwa Range (Shivpur), Maharajganj. The petitioners are aggrieved against the award passed by the Industrial Tribunal dated 04.11.2011 directing for reinstatement of respondent-workman namely Komal Yadav @ Ram Komal (herein after referred to as 'workman') with backwages alongwith interest at the rate of 9%.

3. Three-fold argument has been advanced before the Court:-

(A) The reference was highly barred by time as having been made after almost a decade of the alleged retrenchment dated 09.08.1991 of the workman;

(B) The department being a Forest Department and having no history of unfair labour practice, could not have been directed to reinstate the workman and the one time compensation should have been ordered instead; and

(C) The Tribunal was not justified in directing for payment of backwages alongwith interest at the rate of 9% without assigning any special reason so as to direct for payment of interest.

4. The petitioner department has argued that instead of reinstatement, it could have been directed for payment of compensation only. He has relied upon the judgment in the case of State of Uttarakhand & anr vs. Raj Kumar; 2019 (14) SCC 353.

5. Per contra, it is argued by the learned counsel appearing for the respondent-workman, Mr. Sudhanshu Narain that mere delay in making reference by the State Government would by itself not be a ground to reject the reference as barred by time, inasmuch as, the petitioner was pursuing the matter with the department that was already busy in absorption of certain daily rated workers employed within a cut off date, inasmuch as, matter was already engaging attention of conciliation officer and even in the year 2000 he had reiterated his claim with the department. It is argued that if State has taken time in making a reference, the time taken was in his control so he should not be penalised for the same. He submits that neither the petitioner, nor the State Government can be said to be in any manner responsible for any delay and latches. In support of his argument, learned Advocate has relied upon a judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Chief Engineer, Ranjeet Sagar Dam & another vs. Sham Lal 2006 (9) SCC 124.

6. Counsel for the contesting respondent-workman has secondly argued that the department has a history of hiring labour and firing them at its sweet will and this is the reason why for many decades the department is faced with a large number of litigations before the High Court wherein ultimately directions were issued to consider the absorption of such daily wage workers/casual workers. He submits that still a number of petitions are pending where directions have been issued for payment of minimum wages to such daily rated workers who could not have been absorbed in the regular cadre. In support of his above argument, the respondent-workman has relied upon an order of High Court in the case of State of Uttar Pradesh & others vs. Ram Swarup & another 2003 (99) FLR 665 and State of Uttar Pradesh & others vs. Shri Prahalad & others passed in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.28491 of 2006. Counsel for the respondent-workman has also argued that if the workman had worked for 240 days, he deserved to be reinstated but he had been fired. Such an act on the part of the department would certainly be in violation of Sections 6N, 6P and 6Q of the Industrial Disputes Act, 197 (in short 'the Act of 1947') and, therefore, such a workman would deserve reinstatement.

7. The third argument advanced by the learned counsel for the contesting respondent-workman is that once the termination of the workman was found to be an illegal retrenchment, the workman became entitle to not only reinstatement but also backwages. He submits that the Tribunal has been reasonable enough in giving only 50% of the backwages with interest and, therefore, the award passed by the Tribunal cannot be faulted with in the given facts and circumstances of the case of the department in particular. In support of his argument, learned Advocate has relied upon the judgement of the Supreme Court in the case of Deepali Gundu Surwase vs. Kranti Junior Adhyapak; 2013 (139) FLR 541. He has also been relied upon by the judgment of a co-ordinate bench of this Court in the case of Standard Chartered Bank vs. Presiding Officer, Central Government Industrial Tribunal & others; 2014 LawSuit (All) 3872. He has also relied upon a judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Allahabad Bank & others vs. Avtar Bhushan Bhartiya rendered in Special Leave Petition No.32554 of 2018 on 22.04.2022 by which the 50% backwages order passed by the High Court was upheld.

8. Counsel for the respondent-workman has further placed a judgment in the case of Abhimanyu & others vs. The Principal Secretary State of UP & anr of the same forest department passed in where reinstatement with 50% of the backwages was upheld by the High Court being similarly circumstanced with such two other workers of the same department decided on 28.02.2018. The special leave petition filed against the said judgment being Special Leave Petition (Civil) Diary No.5426 of 2020, was also dismissed.

9. Before dealing with the rival submissions made on behalf of the respective parties, it becomes imperative to refer to the facts of the case in a nutshell.

10. The respondent-workman claimed before the Tribunal to have been engaged as a gate-man in the month of February, 1987 initially, in the Nichlaul Range of the Forest Department of the then district of Gorakhpur (now District Maharajganj). Later on, he was transferred to Sohagibarwa Unit which was earlier part of the Nichlaul Range but later on became an independent range and the petitioner discharged his duties at the barrier in the capacity of a gate-man. It was claimed that certain officials were got annoyed with him as he demanded the prescribed payscale and upon his insistence, he was suddenly fired on 09.08.1991 orally by the officials of the department and, therefore, he was never permitted to work. So, the respondent-workman claimed to have worked with the department of forest as a gate-man upon a barrier in the forest range from February, 1987 to August, 1991 i.e. more than 4 years regularly without even a break of single day.

11. The department, on the contrary, denied the claim of the respondent that he was hired and then fired. There was no record traceable with the department, inasmuch as, the reference having been made after more than 12 years of his alleged retrenchment from employment, the industrial dispute deserved to be rejected. It was pleaded before the Tribunal that the department had its own selection committee and whenever the vacancy arose, its due publication was made and a person was employed through prescribed selection process. The department also took the plea before the Tribunal that the settled law was that there would be no back door entry in the employment as had been held by the Supreme Court in number of decisions and, thus, the department submitted that the respondent-workman did not deserve any relief.

12. The respondent-workman filed a number of documents like demand letter dated 06.04.2000 raised by him, the registry receipts signed by him, the certificate of working, the transfer order, the register containing entry of the vehicles that were checked at the barrier and the copies of the attendance register maintained since April, 1991. The workman deposed before the Tribunal that he was appointed on 02.02.1987 and that he worked at Nichlaul Range since April, 1987. When he was transferred to Sohagibarwa Range, he used to check the vehicle. He deposed that the work used to be done in three shifts and was permitted to work only till 08.08.1991 i.e. a day before he was orally fired by the officials of the department on 09.08.1991. He claimed that he was not given any employment letter and he was engaged for Rs.299/- per month and later on it was raised to Rs.750/- per month and that amount he was getting at the time he was fired from the department. One Jairam Yadav also entered into witness-box on behalf of the workman. This gentlemen was working as Nikasi Munshi (Niryat Muharrir) who later on retired. He deposed that Komal Yadav had worked with him and that Komal Yadav was engaged at Nichlaul Range in February, 1987. He also deposed that the duty of the gate-man at the barrier was to lift the barrier when the vehicle came to carry out checking and then down the barrier after vehicle was given passage. He further deposed that later on he (workman) was transferred to Sohagibarwa Range where he worked till August, 1991 i.e. till the date when the workman was fired. He deposed that the duty used to be done in shifts and Komal Yadav used to perform 12 hours duty in a shift. He deposed that he was not taking any attendance of Komal Yadav and it was an official of the department who used to take attendance.

13. From the petitioner-department's side, One Vijaykant Pandey was produced before the Tribunal as a witness who was working in the Forest Department as Forest Ranger. He deposed that there was a World Bank Scheme to plant trees on the roadside, on the station of the railways in the Gram Samaj road and other public places and since there was more workload with the department, so in order to meet the requirement and utilise the fund given by the World Bank, that engagement used to be done for plantation work. With the end of the plantation work, the services of the labourer would come to an end and no labourer was employed on a permanent basis. They were engaged on daily wage basis and since the project of the world bank came to an end in 1991. He deposed that he was posted in Shivpur Range on the post of Forest Officer since the year 2005 and during the relevant period 1987 to 1991, he was working in Ballia range. He admitted documents of list of daily rated workers of the range to have been prepared by the department but refused to recognise the respondent-workman. He admitted that since he was not working in the range in question, he could say nothing about the respondent-workman.

14. The Tribunal having appreciated the documentary evidence brought on record and the depositions made by the witnesses of the parties, the register which showed subsequent engagement of two daily wage workers namely Rajaram and Gaffar etc., came to conclude that the depositions made by the workman and his witnesses could not be rebutted by the departmental witness, inasmuch as, the documents revealed that the respondent-workman worked as daily rated employee for 240 days with the department and the officials of the department fired him without giving him any notice in advance. The Tribunal concluded that the respondent having worked for more than 240 days, as was reflected from the depositions made and that could not be rebutted by the departmental witness, so the inevitable conclusion was that the respondent-workman was wholly illegally retrenched. The Tribunal concluded that if the workman was working in some project of the World Bank, he ought to have been posted on one place to do some plantation work but the evidence demonstrated otherwise as the workman worked at some barrier in one place and then transferred to some other place within the forest range. The Tribunal, therefore, held that the retrenchment of the workman was illegal in violation of Section 6-N, 6-P and 6-Q of the Act of 1947 and he having worked for more than 240 days definitely deserved notice before termination from service. Thus, the oral termination of the respondent-workman was held null and void and workman was directed to be reinstated in service. Since, the respondent-workman worked for 240 days and retrenchment was held illegal as null and void in compliance of the statutory provisions of the industrial laws, he was held entitled to backwages also to the extent of 50%. The Tribunal also directed for payment of interest.

15. Having heard the learned counsel for the respective parties, their submissions raised across the bar and perusing the award of the Tribunal, two issues needed to be addressed:-

(i) Whether the reference was highly belated one and deserved rejection?; and

(ii) Whether payment of backwages with interest is justifiable.

16. The contention advanced by the learned counsel appearing for the petitioner-department that such a delayed reference ought to have been rejected. In my considered view, merely because there was delay in making reference would not by itself be a ground to reject the reference. In the case of Chief Engineer Ranjeet Sagar Dam (supra), the Supreme Court has held that no universal formula can be laid down to refuse the reference on the ground of delay as there was no time limit prescribed for the Government to exercise power of making reference. The Court was of the view that there must be some rational basis upon which the power should be exercised after lapse of such a period which otherwise could be said to be sufficient enough to hold the parties seeking for reference, guilty of delay and latches. While it is true that such a stale case cannot be opened taking recourse to the powers of the State Government to make a reference but this will all depend upon the facts of the case. Vide paragraphs 9 & 10, the Court held thus:

9. So far as delay in seeking the reference is concerned, no formula of universal application can be laid down. It would depend on facts of each individual case.

10. However, certain observations made by this Court need to be noted. In Nedungadi Bank Ltd. vs. K.P. Madhavankutty and Ors. (2000 (2) SCC 455) it was noted at paragraph 6 as follows:

"6. Law does not prescribe any time-limit for the appropriate Government to exercise its powers under Section 10 of the Act. It is not that this power can be exercised at any point of time and to revive matters which had since been settled. Power is to be exercised reasonably and in a rational manner. There appears to us to be no rational basis on which the Central Government has exercised powers in this case after a lapse of about seven years of the order dismissing the respondent from service. At the time reference was made no industrial dispute existed or could be even said to have been apprehended. A dispute which is stale could not be the subject-matter of reference under Section 10 of the Act. As to when a dispute can be said to be stale would depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. When the matter has become final, it appears to us to be rather incongruous that the reference be made under Section 10 of the Act in the circumstances like the present one. In fact it could be said that there was no dispute pending at the time when the reference in question was made. The only ground advanced by the respondent was that two other employees who were dismissed from service were reinstated. Under what circumstances they were dismissed and subsequently reinstated is nowhere mentioned. Demand raised by the respondent for raising an industrial dispute was ex-facie bad and incompetent."

17. A workman working in a government department if retiring from his services, he cannot be in a bargaining position. A poor daily rated worker is fired suddenly in one fine morning can only lament for his sorry tale for the treatment given to him. Matter if remained pending with Conciliation Officer and State took its own time in making reference, the workman concerned should not be denied adjudication only for delay, more especially in the circumstances when no time limit is prescribed for making reference. In my equitable jurisdiction under Article 226, I do not intend to interfere with the award on this ground and hence argument raised by the petitioner is rejected.

18. Coming to the second aspect that the Tribunal ought not to have directed for reinstatement with backwages and interest and should have ordered for payment of one-time compensation as the department does not have any history of unfair labour practice, I find the present case is of the Forest Department and it is an open secret that in the department of forest, there is a practice of engaging people for the forest work on a daily wage basis. Thousands of daily wagers/casual labours have sought regularisation by moving to this Court through writ petitions under Article 226 of the Constitution and still number of writ petitions are pending for absorption. The case of State of Uttarakhand vs. Raj Kumar (supra) relates to department of Bharat Sanchar Nigam Ltd. whereas the petitioner's case is of the forest department where the history has been to hire casual labourers or daily rated workers on a regular basis and then illegally fire them. A series of reference has been made in respect of various such workers where reinstatement has been ordered with 50% backwages and, therefore, in my considered view, the judgment cited by the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel, Mr. Amit Manohar is distinguishable on the facts of the case and is of no help to him. The case of Abhiumnayu and others (supra) , State of UP & ors vs. Ram Swarup & anr (supra) and State of UP & ors vs. Shri Prahalad & ors (supra) are all related to forest department. So, the history is otherwise what has been argued by the learned counsel appearing for the department. As a matter of fact, department failed to produce any officer as witness who might have worked either at Nichlaul Range or Sohagibarwa Unit now range. The departmental witness referred to some plantation scheme of World Bank in which daily rated workers used to be engaged but failed to even state that respondent-workman was engaged there. He admitted list of workers of the concerned range but said he did not know the workman so he would not say anything. It is quite obvious that if an officer had never worked in the concerned range during relevant period, he would not be knowing any thing about engagement of daily rated workers there. This officer admitted to be working at Ballia at relevant time and so he should not have been produced. The department virtually failed to rebut the claim set up and their claim led by the respondent-workman. On a pointed query being made, learned Additional Chief Sanding Counsel could neither dispute the documentary evidence led, nor could dispute that the workman's witness who supported the working of the workman at the barrier of the range, was not employee of the department. The learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel also could not dispute history of litigation by such workers with the forest department as cited by learned counsel for the respondent-workman. Thus, I do not find any such flaw like manifest error of law and flaw in the award of the Industrial Tribunal directing for reinstatement of the workman in the department.

19. As far as the payment of backwages is concerned, in all these cases, 50% of the backwages has been directed and the matter relates to the forest department. In the case of Abhiumnayu and others (supra) also, 50% of the backwages was ordered against which SLP was dismissed, may be on the ground of delay only but on the legal proposition relating to the backwages, I find that in the case of Allahabad Bank & ors (supra), the this High Court had directed for payment of 50% of backwages upon reinstatement of officer/employee of the bank. The SLP was filed before the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court in the said case, referred to a number of judgements and then justified payment of 50% of the backwages as an act of striking balance between the department and its employee. In the said case, the officer-employee was found to be out of employment for an illegal and wrongful act of the department in terminating his services.

20. Elaborating the principle for payment of backwages in the case of Deepali Gundu Surwase vs. Kranti Junior Adhyapak Mahavidyalaya (D.Ed.) and ors.; 2013 (10) SCC 324, vide paragraph 33, the Court has held thus:

"33. The propositions which can be culled out from the aforementioned judgments are:

i) In cases of wrongful termination of service, reinstatement with continuity of service and back wages is the normal rule.

ii) The aforesaid rule is subject to the rider that while deciding the issue of back wages, the adjudicating authority or the Court may take into consideration the length of service of the employee/workman, the nature of misconduct, if any, found proved against the employee/workman, the financial condition of the employer and similar other factors.

iii) Ordinarily, an employee or workman whose services are terminated and who is desirous of getting back wages is required to either plead or at least make a statement before the adjudicating authority or the Court of first instance that he/she was not gainfully employed or was employed on lesser wages. If the employer wants to avoid payment of full back wages, then it has to plead and also lead cogent evidence to prove that the employee/workman was gainfully employed and was getting wages equal to the wages he/she was drawing prior to the termination of service. This is so because it is settled law that the burden of proof of the existence of a particular fact lies on the person who makes a positive averments about its existence. It is always easier to prove a positive fact than to prove a negative fact. Therefore, once the employee shows that he was not employed, the onus lies on the employer to specifically plead and prove that the employee was gainfully employed and was getting the same or substantially similar emoluments.

iv) The cases in which the Labour Court/Industrial Tribunal exercises power under Section 11-A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 and finds that even though the enquiry held against the employee/workman is consistent with the rules of natural justice and / or certified standing orders, if any, but holds that the punishment was disproportionate to the misconduct found proved, then it will have the discretion not to award full back wages. However, if the Labour Court/Industrial Tribunal finds that the employee or workman is not at all guilty of any misconduct or that the employer had foisted a false charge, then there will be ample justification for award of full back wages.

v) The cases in which the competent Court or Tribunal finds that the employer has acted in gross violation of the statutory provisions and/or the principles of natural justice or is guilty of victimizing the employee or workman, then the concerned Court or Tribunal will be fully justified in directing payment of full back wages. In such cases, the superior Courts should not exercise power under Article 226 or 136 of the Constitution and interfere with the award passed by the Labour Court, etc., merely because there is a possibility of forming a different opinion on the entitlement of the employee/workman to get full back wages or the employer's obligation to pay the same. The Courts must always be kept in view that in the cases of wrongful / illegal termination of service, the wrongdoer is the employer and sufferer is the employee/workman and there is no justification to give premium to the employer of his wrongdoings by relieving him of the burden to pay to the employee/workman his dues in the form of full back wages.

vi) In a number of cases, the superior Courts have interfered with the award of the primary adjudicatory authority on the premise that finalization of litigation has taken long time ignoring that in majority of cases the parties are not responsible for such delays. Lack of infrastructure and manpower is the principal cause for delay in the disposal of cases. For this the litigants cannot be blamed or penalised. It would amount to grave injustice to an employee or workman if he is denied back wages simply because there is long lapse of time between the termination of his service and finality given to the order of reinstatement. The Courts should bear in mind that in most of these cases, the employer is in an advantageous position vis-à-vis the employee or workman. He can avail the services of best legal brain for prolonging the agony of the sufferer, i.e., the employee or workman, who can ill afford the luxury of spending money on a lawyer with certain amount of fame. Therefore, in such cases it would be prudent to adopt the course suggested in Hindustan Tin Works Private Limited v. Employees of Hindustan Tin Works Private Limited (supra).

vii) The observation made in J.K. Synthetics Ltd. v. K.P. Agrawal (supra) that on reinstatement the employee/workman cannot claim continuity of service as of right is contrary to the ratio of the judgments of three Judge Benches referred to hereinabove and cannot be treated as good law. This part of the judgment is also against the very concept of reinstatement of an employee/workman."

(emphasis added)

21. Relying upon the above judgment, the Supreme Court in the case of Jeetubha Khansangji Jadeja vs. Kutchh District Panchayat decided on 23.09.2022, vide paragraph 12 has held thus:

"12. In a more recent decision, Deepali Gundu Surwase v. Kranti Junior Adhyapak Mahavidyalaya and Others,3 this court highlighted the need to adopt a restitutionary approach, when a court has to consider whether to reinstate an employee and if so, the extent to which backwages is to be ordered. The court observed:

"22. The very idea of restoring an employee to the position which he held before dismissal or removal or termination of service implies that the employee will be put in the same position in which he would have been but for the illegal action taken by the employer. The injury suffered by a person, who is dismissed or removed or is otherwise terminated from service cannot easily be measured in terms of money. With the passing of an order which has the effect of severing the employer-employee relationship, the latter's source of income gets dried up. Not only the employee concerned, but his entire family suffers grave adversities. They are deprived of the source of sustenance. The children are deprived of nutritious food and all opportunities of education and advancement in life. At times, the family has to borrow from the relatives and other acquaintance to avoid starvation.

These sufferings continue till the competent adjudicatory forum decides on the legality of the action taken by the employer. The reinstatement of such an employee, which is preceded by a finding of the competent judicial/quasi-judicial body or court that the action taken by the employer is ultra vires the relevant statutory provisions or the principles of natural justice, entitles the employee to claim full back wages. If the employer wants to deny back wages to the employee or contest his entitlement to get consequential benefits, then it is for him/her to specifically plead and prove that during the intervening period the employee was gainfully employed and was getting the same emoluments. The denial of back wages to an employee, who has suffered due to an illegal act of the employer would amount to indirectly punishing the employee concerned and rewarding the employer by relieving him of the obligation to pay back wages including the emoluments.""

22. Applying the above principle where neither the department could dispute the working of the petitioner with it, nor could produce any witness to dispute the testimony of a fellow workman who had deposed in his favour, the approach of the department was rightly held to be unlawful in firing the workman suddenly on one fine morning. I, therefore, do not find any unreasonableness or perversity in the order of the Labour Court directly for payment of backwages.

23. So also I find here to be case where a poor Class-IV employee, say a daily wage worker/casual employee, working at a barrier in the forest range concerned nearly for about four years without any complaint regarding his work and conduct and yet he was fired for demanding regular pay. This approach of a government department cannot be approved of absolutely. Government is a model employer. I find that in a number of judgments not only the workmen have been directed to be reinstated in the department of forest with backwages but a number of petitions is before this Court where the daily rated workers, those who were to absorbed in service, have been directed to be paid for minimum of the pay scale.

24. The findings having been returned that the respondent-workman was out of employment ever since he was fired from the department and had no gainful employment and nothing shown in rebuttal, the labour Court could not be said to have faulted in issuing direction for backwages. Under the circumstances, direction for 50% of the backwages cannot be said to be totally irrational so as to warrant interference in exercise of power under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. However, I do not find any special reason to be assigned for payment of interest upon the backwages by the Tribunal under its award.

25. Therefore, the interest part of the award dated 04.11.2011 is held to be unsustainable.

26. In view of the above, while I decline to interfere with the award dated 04.11.2011 passed by the Industrial Tribunal directing for reinstatement of the respondent-workman with backwages, I set aside the award in so far as it directs for payment of interest upon the back wages.

27. The cost part of the award is also not interfered with.

28. Thus, writ petition stands partly allowed as above with no order as to cost.

THE HON'BLE MANISH MATHUR, J.

Writ C No. 1000609 of 2003

Hari Narain Shukla ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
G.M. Kamil

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Pt. S. Chandra

A. Civil Law – Indian Stamp Act, 1899 – Section 33 (1), (4), and Proviso to Clause (5) – Proceeding initiated after four years – Maintainability – Instrument of Sale-deed was impounded u/s 33(1) – Applicability of limitation period – Distinction between proceeding of S. 33(1) and 33(4) – Effect – Held, in cases where an instrument is produced as evidence which is not duly stamped and is impounded u/s 33(1) of the Act of 1899, the provision required to be followed is only under Section 38 and not under Sections 33(4) & (5) of the Act of 1899. As such, the limitation period provided under Section 33(5) of the Act would not be applicable in case proceedings are drawn under Section 33(1) of the Act and would be available only if proceedings are drawn by Collector under Section 33(4) of the Act of 1899. (Para 16)

B. Civil Law – Indian Stamp Act, 1899 – Section 33 (1), (4), (5) and Proviso to Clause (5) – Limitation period of four years – Date of its applicability – Held, where an instrument of transfer is not produced before any designated court or authority as envisioned under Sections 33 or 47-A of the Act of 1899, the aforesaid period of limitation would run from the date when such an unregistered instrument of transfer is first produced before any such designated authority – Further held, limitation can only run from the date when a person becomes aware of any proceedings against such a person and not from the date of such proceedings or instrument. (Para 18 and 20)

C. Civil Law – Indian Stamp Act, 1899 – Ss. 33, 40 and 47A – Proceeding – Maintainability – No benefit was derived by petitioner from the unregistered instrument – Effect – Held, there is no provision under the Act of 1899 that proceedings under Section 33/40/47A can be initiated only in case a person derives benefit from an unstamped or under-valued instrument of transfer – Proceedings under Section 33/40/47A of the Act of 1899 are maintainable even if no benefit has been derived from the unregistered instrument of transfer. {Para 23 and 29(iii)}

D. Civil Law – Indian Stamp Act, 1899 – S. 33 – Calculation of deficiency – Appropriate date, on which calculation can be drawn – Held, valuation of under-valued or unstamped instrument and deficiency thereof is to be calculated as on the date of execution of the deed and not from the date when it is impounded or presented. {Para 27 and 29(iv)}

2. Rajendra Prasad Garg Vs Chief Controlling Revenue Authority & ors.; (2002) 93 RD 198

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manish Mathur, J.)

1. Heard Mr. G.M. Kamil, learned counsel for petitioner and Mr. Devendra Mohan Shukla as well as Mr. Ajay Kumar Singh, learned State Counsel on behalf of opposite parties.

2. Petition has been filed challenging order dated 09.08.2002 impounding sale deed dated 12.08.1985 executed in favour of petitioner, under Section 33 of the Indian Stamp Act,1899 (hereinafter referred to as the Act of 1899). Also under challenge is order dated 17.02.2003 rejecting petitioner's preliminary objections regarding maintainability of proceedings under the Act of 1899. Further prayer for quashing entire proceedings initiated under Sections 33/40 of the Act of 1899 has also been sought.

3. Learned counsel for petitioner submits that a sale deed was executed in favour of petitioner by means of an unregistered instrument of transfer dated 12.08.1985. It is submitted that subsequently a suit for declaration under Section 229-B of U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 (herein after referred to as the Act of 1950) was filed by petitioner and registered as Case No.87. It is submitted that aforesaid suit was decreed vide judgment and order dated 17.05.2002 whereafter an application for recall was filed and by means of order dated 20.08.2002, the initial judgment and order dated 17.05.2002 was recalled. It is submitted that proceedings thereafter ensued in aforesaid declaration suit but he does not have any instructions with regard to its current status.

4. It has been submitted that in the meantime since judgment and decree dated 17.05.2002 was passed on the basis of an unregistered sale deed dated 12.08.1985, the same was impounded under Section 33 of the Act of 1899 and an authenticated copy of the same was forwarded to the authority concerned by means of reference order dated 09.08.2002 whereafter proceedings under Section 47-A read with Sections 33 and 40 of the Act were instituted against petitioner numbered as Case No.318/343/2002. It is submitted that a preliminary objection was filed by petitioner with regard to maintainability of aforesaid proceedings primarily on the ground that such proceedings cannot be initiated after a period of four years from the date of execution of the deed as provided in proviso to Section 33 (5) of Act of 1899. Second ground taken in the objections was that since the petitioner did not derive any benefit from aforesaid deed, stamp duty even otherwise was not payable. Third objection taken was that in referal order dated 09.08.2002, the deficiency of stamp duty has been wrongly indicated since valuation as per year 2002 was recorded instead of valuation as on the date of execution of the instrument.

5. It is submitted that aforesaid submissions as raised by petitioner has been rejected by means of impugned order dated 17.02.2003 primarily on the ground that limitation of four years for initiation of proceedings from the date of execution of the instrument would not be applicable in the present case since the instrument after execution was never presented before any authority and was kept hidden by petitioner and as such limitation would be applicable only from the date of presentation of document. The order also states that since the document was produced only in year 2002, there is no error in the valuation recorded taking year 2002 as the year for indicating deficiency in stamp duty.

6. Learned counsel for petitioner submits that in passing impugned order, the authority concerned has come to an erroneous conclusion particularly with regard to applicability of limitation period since such a limitation has been clearly indicated in Section 33 of the Act under which the document itself was impounded and therefore no cogent reason has been indicated in impugned order for inapplicability of limitation period. It is also submitted that no reason at all has been indicated for taking the valuation of deed with effect from the year 2002 and not from the date of its execution in August, 1985. The authority has also not adverted to the fact that no benefit has been derived by petitioner from the aforesaid deed.

7. Mr. Devendra Mohan Shukla, learned State Counsel appearing on behalf of opposite parties while refuting submissions advanced by learned counsel for petitioner has submitted that limitation period of four years as provided in the proviso to Section 33(5) of the Act of 1899 would be inapplicable in the present case since impounding has taken place in terms of Section 33(1) of the Act of 1899 and therefore the procedure as indicated in Section 38 of the Act of 1899 would be applicable instead of the procedure indicated in Section 33(4) of the Act of 1899. Since Section 38 of the Act of 1899 does not provide for any limitation period, no error has been committed by authority concerned in rejecting the said submission of petitioner. It is submitted that even otherwise, once a document for transfer of immovable property has been executed and is not presented either for registration or before any public authority, no knowledge with regard to such execution can be obtained by revenue authorities and therefore in the alternative, the provision of limitation of four years should be made applicable from the date of knowledge of the document and not from the date of its execution.

8. It has been further submitted that once petitioner had filed a suit for declaration and the same was decreed on the basis of an unregistered sale deed dated 12.08.1985, clearly the petitioner has already derived benefit from aforesaid instrument and as such also submissions of learned counsel for petitioner on that account were rightly rejected. It is also submitted that petitioner has also admitted in paragraph-4 of writ petition that petitioner is deriving title and possession over the property in question on the basis of the said sale deed dated 12.08.1985. It has also been submitted that since the deed was kept hidden from authorities for seventeen years and was produced in declaratory proceedings only in year 2002, no error has been committed in taking valuation from year 2002 instead of year 1985.

9. For the proper adjudication of the present dispute, the following questions would require adjudication:-

(i) Whether the limitation period of four years as prescribed in the Proviso to Section 33(5) of the Act of 1899 would be applicable in cases where document is impounded under Section 33(1) of the Act of 1899?

(ii) Whether in case limitation period as provided under Section 33(5) of the Act of 1899 would be applicable, it would be applicable from the date of execution of an instrument of transfer or from the date when it is produced in proceedings as indicated under Section 33(1) or 33(4) of the Act of 1899?

(iii) Whether proceedings against an assessee can be initiated in terms of Section 33/40/47A of the Act of 1899 when he has not derived any benefit from an unregistered instrument of transfer?

(iv) Whether valuation of instrument of transfer and deficiency of stamp duty thereon is to be assessed as on date of execution of instrument or when it is impounded?

10. Upon consideration of submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties, it is evident and admitted that a sale deed was executed in favour of petitioner pertaining to immovable property on 12.08.1985. The aforesaid document was never produced for registration or even in any other proceedings before any public authority prior to its production in declaratory proceedings in year 2002 whereupon the court concerned finding it to be unstamped, impounded the same under Section 33(1) of the Act of 1899 and made a Reference vide order dated 09.08.2002 to the Prescribed Authority for proceedings under Sections 40 & 47A of the Act of 1899. A perusal of order dated 09.08.2002 indicates that valuation of the deed has been taken as on 17.05.2002 and deficiency of stamp duty has been indicated in the referal order whereafter an authenticated copy of instrument of transfer has been sent to the Prescribed Authority for initiating proceedings against petitioner under relevant provisions of the Act.

Question (i): Whether the limitation period of four years as prescribed in the Proviso to Section 33(5) of the Act of 1899 would be applicable in cases where document is impounded under Section 33(1) of the Act of 1899?.

11. For the aforesaid purpose, it is relevant to advert to Sections 33, 38 and 47A of the Act of 1899 which are as follows:-

"33. Examination and impounding of instruments - (1) Every person having by law or consent of parties authority to receive evidence, and every person in charge of a public office, except an officer of police, before whom any instrument chargeable, in his opinion, with duty, is produced or comes in the performance of his functions, shall, if it appears to him that such instrument is not duly stamped, impound the same.

(2) For that purpose every such person shall examine every instrument so chargeable and so produced or coming before him, in order to ascertain whether it is stamped with a stamp of the value and description required by the law in force in India when such instrument was executed or first executed :

Provided that--

(a) nothing herein contained shall be deemed to require any Magistrate or Judge of a criminal Court to examine or impound, if he does not think fit so to do, any instrument coming before him in the course of any proceeding other than a proceeding under Section 125 to 128 and sections 145 to 148 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (5 of 1898)12;

(b) in the case of a Judge of a High Court, the duty of examining and impounding any instrument under this section may be delegated to such officer as the Court appoints in this behalf.

(3) For the purposes of this section, the State Government may, in cases of doubt, determine what offices shall be deemed to be public offices and who shall be deemed to be persons-in-charge of public offices.

(4) Where deficiency in stamp duty paid is noticed from the copy of any instrument, the Collector may suo motu or on a reference from any Court or from the Commissioner of Stamps or an Additional Commissioner of Stamps or a Deputy Commissioner of Stamps or an Assistant commissioner of Stamps or any officer authorised by the Board of Revenue in that behalf, call for the original instrument for the purpose of satisfying himself as to the adequacy of the duty paid thereon, and the instrument so produced before the collector shall be deemed to have been produced or come before him in the performance of his functions.

(5) In case the instrument is not produced within the period specified by the Collector, he may require payment of deficit stamp duty, if any together with penalty under Section 40 on the copy of the instrument.

Provided that no action under sub-section (4) or sub-section (5) shall be taken after a period of four year from the date of executionn of the instrument Provided further that with the prior permission of the State Government an action under sub-section (4) or sub-section (5) may be taken after a period of four years but before a period of eight years from the date of execution of the instrument. "

"38. Instruments impounded, how dealt with -(1) When the person impounding an instrument under section 33 has by law or consent of parties, authority to receive evidence and admits such instrument in evidence upon payment of a penalty as provided by section 35 or of duty as provided by section 37, he shall send to the Collector an authenticated copy of such instrument, together with a certificate in writing, stating the amount of duty and penalty levied in respect thereof, and shall send such amount to the Collector, or to such person as he may appoint in this behalf.

(2) In every other case, the person so impounding an instrument shall send it in original to the Collector."

"47A. Under-valuation of the instrument - (1) (a) If the market value of any property which is the subject of any instrument, on which duty is chargeable on the market value of the property as set forth in such instrument, is less than even the minimum value determined in accordance with the rules made under this Act, the registering officer appointed under the Registration Act, 1908 shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the said Act, immediately after presentation of such instrument and before accepting it for registration and taking any action under Section 52 of the said Act require the person liable to pay stamp duty under Section 29, to pay the deficit stamp duty as computed on the basis of the minimum value determined in accordance with the said rules and return the instrument for presenting again in accordance with Section 23 of the Registration Act, 1908.*

(b) When the deficit stamp duty required to be paid under clause (a), is paid in respect of any instrument and the instrument is presented again for registration, the registering officer shall certify by endorsement thereon, that the deficit stamp duty has been paid in respect thereof and the name and the residence of the person paying them and register the same.

(c) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provisions of this Act, the deficit stamp duty may be paid under clause (a) in the form of impressed stamps containing such declaration as may be prescribed.

(d) If any person does not make the payment of deficit stamp duty after receiving the order referred to in clause (a) and presents the instrument again for registration, the registering officer shall, before registering the instrument, refer the same to the Collector, for determination of the market value of the property and the proper duty payable thereon.

(2) On receipt of a reference under sub-section (1) the Collector shall, after giving the parties a reasonable opportunity of being heard and after holding an inquiry in such manner as many be prescribed by rules made under this Act, determine the market value of the property which is the subject of such instrument and the proper duty payable thereon.

(3) The Collector may, suo motu, or on a reference from any court or from the Commissioner of Stamps or an Additional Commissioner of Stamps or a Deputy Commissioner of Stamps or an Assistant Commissioner of Stamps or any officer authorized by the State Government in that behalf, within four years from the date of registration of any instrument on which duty is chargeable on the market value of the property not already referred to him under sub-section (1) call for and examine the instrument for the purpose of satisfying himself as to the correctness of the market value of the property which is the subject for of such instrument, and the duty payable thereon and if after such examination he has reason to believe that market value of such property has not been truly set forth in such instrument, he may determine the market value of such property and the duty payable thereon :

Provided that, with the prior permission of the State Government, an action under this sub-section may be taken after a period of four years but before a period of eight years from the date of registration of the instrument on which duty is chargeable on the market value of the property.

Explanation : The payment of deficit stamp duty by any person under any order of registering officer under sub-section (1) shall not prevent the Collector from initiating proceedings on any instrument under sub-section (3).

(4) If on enquiry under sub-section (2) and examination under sub-section (3) the Collector finds the market value of the property :

(i) truly set forth and the instrument duly Stamped, he shall certify by endorsement that it is duly stamped and return it to the person who made the reference ;

(ii) not truly set forth and the instrument not duly stamped, he shall require the payment of proper duty or the amount required to make up the deficiency in the same, together with a penalty of an amount not exceeding four times the amount of the proper duty or the deficient portion thereof.

(4-A) The Collector shall also require along with the deficit stamp duty or penalty required to be paid under clause (ii) of sub-section (4), the payment of a simple interest at the rate of one and a half per cent per mensem on the amount of deficit stamp duty calculated from the date of the execution of the instrument till the date of actual payment;

Provided that the amount of interest under this sub-Section shall be recalculated if the amount of deficit stamp duty is varied on appeal or revision or by any order of a competent court or authority.

(4-B) The amount of interest payable under sub section (4-A) shall be added to the amount due and be also deemed for all purposes to be part of the amount required to be paid.

(4-C) Where realization of the deficit stamp duty remained stayed by any order of any court or authority and such order of stay is subsequently vacated, the interest referred to in sub-section (4-A) shall be payable also for any period during which such order of stay remained in operation.

(4-D) Any amount paid or deposited by or recovered from, or refundable to, a person under the provision of this Act, shall first be adjusted towards the deficit stamp duty or penalty outstanding against him and the excess if any, shall then be adjusted towards the interest, if any, due from him."

(5) The instrument produced before the Collector under sub-section (2) or under sub-section (3) shall be deemed to have come before him in the performance of his functions.

(6) In case the instrument is not produced within the period specified by the Collector, he may require payment of deficit stamp duty, if any, together with penalty on the copy of the instrument in accordance with the procedure laid down in sub-sections (2) and (4)."

12. A reading of Section 33(1) of the Act indicates certain authorities who have been granted the power to impound an instrument which is produced before them or comes in the performance of their functions and is not duly stamped. The procedure prior to its reference to Prescribed Authority is indicated in Section 33(2) of the Act while Sub-section (3) indicates the power of State Government to determine which offices would be deemed to be public offices.

13. A conjoint reading of Section 33(1) and Section 33(4) clearly brings out the distinction between aforesaid two provisions. While in Section 33(1), certain authorities have been granted the power to impound an instrument which is produced as evidence and is not duly stamped, sub-section (4) of Section 33 indicates the power of Collector where deficiency in stamp duty paid is noticed from a copy of instrument and where a Reference is made from court or authorities indicated therein. It is relevant that the provisions of Section 33(4) of the Ac of 1899 is only for the purpose of satisfaction of Collector with regard to adequacy of duty paid on instrument so produced and for that purpose only, the Collector has the power to call for original document. In case of applicability of Section 33(1) of the Act of 1899, the said satisfaction regarding adequacy of stamp duty is required to be seen by authorities indicated in the said sub-section itself and upon a conclusion that the instrument is not duly stamped, power to impound the same has been given. As such, the clear distinction between Subsections (1) and (4) of Section 33 of the Act of 1899 is that in sub-section (1), the authority before whom document is produced has been given the power to impound the same upon coming to satisfaction regarding inadequacy of stamp duty whereas under sub-section (4), the power to determine inadequacy of stamp duty has been conferred only upon the Collector without any power to impound the document.

The distinction between Section 33(1) and 33(4) read with Section 47-A(3) of the Act of 1899 also brings out distinction between the said provisions where Section 33(1) primarily pertains to an unstamped or under-valued instrument being produced as evidence. Even the period of limitation for initiation of proceedings under Section 33 and Section 47A(3) is quite distinct with Section 33(5) initiating limitation from the date of execution of instrument while Section 47-A(3) initiates the limitation period with effect from the date of registration of instrument.

14. The aforesaid distinction would be clearer upon a perusal of Sections 38 which clearly indicates the provision regarding procedure to be followed once instruments not duly stamped are impounded. Section 38(1) clearly indicates that in case the inadequacy of stamp duty is found by authority concerned, the said inadequacy of stamp duty is to be indicated by the said authority whereafter an authenticated copy of instrument is to be sent to Collector. Under Section 38(2) of the Act of 1899, in every other case, the instrument is to be sent in original to Collector. The distinguishing feature under Sub-sections (1) and (2) of Section 38 appear to be that an authenticated copy of instrument is required to be sent in terms of sub-section (1) where the deficiency of stamp duty has been calculated and where it has not been so calculated, the original instrument is required to be sent to Collector for further proceedings.

15. The distinction between Section 33(1) and Section 33(4) & (5) is also evident from a reading of Section 47A of the Act of 1899 which does not make any reference whatsoever to documents which have been impounded by designated authorities and only indicates the procedure to be followed by Collector himself under Section 47-A(2) & (3) of the Act of 1899.

16. Even otherwise, if it is held that Section 33(4) and (5) follow Section 33(1) of the Act of 1899, the same will render the provisions of Section 38 of the Act of 1899 otiose, which cannot be the intention of Legislature while enacting the particular provisions of the Act. As such it is evident that in cases where an instrument is produced as evidence which is not duly stamped and is impounded under Section 33(1) of the Act of 1899, the provision required to be followed is only under Section 38 and not under Sections 33(4) & (5) of the Act of 1899. As such, the limitation period provided under Section 33(5) of the Act would not be applicable in case proceedings are drawn under Section 33(1) of the Act and would be available only if proceedings are drawn by Collector under Section 33(4) of the Act of 1899.

17. In view of discussions made herein above, it being evident that the limitation period was not available to petitioner since his document had been impounded under Section 33(1) of the Act of 1899, the Question no.(i) is answered negatively against petitioner.

Question no.(ii): Whether in case limitation period as provided under Section 33(5) of the Act of 1899 would be applicable, it would be applicable from the date of execution of an instrument of transfer or from the date when it is produced in proceedings as indicated under Section 33(1) or 33(4) of the Act of 1899?

18. With regard to aforesaid aspect, it is evident that the proviso to Section 33(5) of the Act makes a specific stipulation that no action under Sub-sections (4) or (5) of the Act can be taken after a period of four years from the date of execution of the instrument. However, although the aforesaid provision is couched in negative terms, there may be a scenario as envisioned in the present case where a document is executed between the parties and is kept with them for a period of more than four years without its production before any of the designated authorities either under Section 33 or even under Section 47-A of the Act of 1899. The proviso does not take any such scenario into account but in the present case, it is clearly evident and admitted that although the instrument of transfer was executed on 12.08.1985, it was produced in declaratory proceedings for the first time in year 2002. In such circumstances, it cannot be said that revenue authorities would have any knowledge with regard to execution of any such unregistered and therefore unstamped instrument of transfer. Naturally, authorities cannot derive any such information regarding execution of unregistered documents between private individuals particularly in case where such documents are kept in safe custody of the executor or the beneficiary of the instrument without its production before any designated authority. In such circumstances, it cannot be said that the limitation period of four years under Proviso to Section 33(5) of the Act would be applicable from the date of execution of the instrument. In the considered opinion of this Court, in such cases where an instrument of transfer is not produced before any designated court or authority as envisioned under Sections 33 or 47-A of the Act of 1899, the aforesaid period of limitation would run from the date when such an unregistered instrument of transfer is first produced before any such designated authority.

19. Hon?ble the Supreme Court in Saibabba v. Bar Council of India and another reported in (2003) 6 SCC 186 has read down such strict provisions in following manner:-

"9. So far as the commencement of the period of limitation for filing the review petition is concerned we are clearly of the opinion that the expression ?the date of that order? as occurring in Section 48-AA has to be construed as meaning the date of communication or knowledge of the order to the review petitioner. Where the law provides a remedy to a person, the provision has to be so construed in case of ambiguity as to make the availing of the remedy practical and the exercise of power conferred on the authority meaningful and effective. A construction which would render the provision nugatory ought to be avoided. True, the process of interpretation cannot be utilized for implanting a heart into a dead provision; however, the power to construe a provision of law can always be so exercised as to give throb to a sinking heart."

"10. An identical point came up for the consideration of this Court inRaja Harish Chandra Raj Singhv.Dy. Land Acquisition Officer[AIR 1961 SC 1500 : (1962) 1 SCR 676] . Section 18 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 contemplates an application seeking reference to the court being filed within six months from the date of the Collector's award. It was held that ?the date of the award? cannot be determined solely by reference to the time when the award is signed by the Collector or delivered by him in his office. It must involve the consideration of the question as to when it was known to the party concerned either actually or constructively. If that be the true position, then placing a literal and mechanical construction on the words ?the date of the award? occurring in the relevant section would not be appropriate. It is fair and just that a decision is communicated to the party whose rights will ultimately be affected or who will be affected by the decision. The knowledge, either actual or constructive, of the party affected by such a decision, is an essential element which must be satisfied before the decision can be brought into force. Thus construed, the making of the award cannot consist merely of the physical act of writing an award or signing it or even filing it in the office of the Collector; it must involve the communication of the said award to the party concerned either actually or constructively. A literal or mechanical way of construing the words ?from the date of the Collector's award? was held to be unreasonable. The Court assigned a practical meaning to the expression by holding it as meaning the date when the award is either communicated to the party or is known by him either actually or constructively."

"14. How can a person concerned or a person aggrieved be expected to exercise the right of review conferred by the provision unless the order is communicated to or is known to him either actually or constructively? The words ?the date of that order?, therefore, mean and must be construed as meaning the date of communication or knowledge, actual or constructive, of the order sought to be reviewed."

20. Upon applicability of aforesaid judgment to the question framed, it is evident that limitation can only run from the date when a person becomes aware of any proceedings against such a person and not from the date of such proceedings or instrument as in the present one from its initiation or execution.

It is trite that revenue authorities cannot know about execution of any document which is not produced either as evidence in proceedings under Section 33 of the Act of 1899 or even for presentation under Section 47A of the Act of 1899 since they are not expected to know about execution of such document which after execution remain with either of the parties who may very well await passing of four years in order to avail themselves of the limitation period on a malafide basis.

21. In view of aforesaid discussion, no benefit can be derived by petitioner with regard to aforesaid limitation and Question no.(ii) as such is answered negatively against petitioner.

Question No.(iii): Whether proceedings against an assessee can be initiated in terms of Section 33/40/47A of the Act of 1899 when he has not derived any benefit from an unregistered instrument of transfer?

22. With regard to aforesaid question, learned counsel for petitioner has specifically submitted that although the sale deed was executed in favour of petitioner on 12.08.1985 but the suit for declaration under Section 229-B of the Act of 1950 initially decreed in favour of petitioner vide judgment and order dated 17.05.2002, did not bring any benefit to petitioner since aforesaid judgment and order was thereafter recalled vide order dated 20.08.2002. The submission as such is that when benefit of such an unregistered instrument was never provided to petitioner, there was no occasion to have initiated such proceedings.

23. Considering submissions advanced, it is evident from material on record that suit for declaration under Section 229-B of the Act of 1950 was filed primarily on the basis of sale deed dated 12.08.1985. The said proceedings also culminated in passing of a decree in favour of petitioner on 17.05.2002. As such, it can not be said that no benefit was derived by petitioner from the sale deed dated 12.08.1985. Even otherwise, there is no provision under the Act of 1899 that proceedings under Section 33/40/47A can be initiated only in case a person derives benefit from an unstamped or under-valued instrument of transfer. As such, the submissions of learned counsel for petitioner are clearly misconceived and therefore rejected.

24. Question no.(iii) as such is answered negatively against petitioner.

Question no.(iv): Whether valuation of instrument of transfer and deficiency of stamp duty thereon is to be assessed as on date of execution of instrument or when it is impounded?

25. Petitioner in his preliminary objection has clearly taken a plea that since the document was executed in August, 1985, the referral authority has erred in taking valuation of the instrument as of 2002. Learned counsel for petitioner has submitted that in case of proceedings being initiated under Section 33 or under Section 47A of the Act, deficiency in stamp duty is to be seen as per valuation of the instrument as on the date of execution thereof and not on the date it is presented or impounded.

26. With regard to aforesaid submission, it is evident that Section 33(2) of the Act stipulates that in order to ascertain adequate stamp duty having been paid, it is the date when the said instrument was executed or first executed, which would be relevant. Similarly, Section 47A(1)(a) prescribes that duty chargeable on the market value of a property is to be set forth in accordance with the rules made under the Act with Section 47A(4-A) also stipulating simple interest imposeable upon deficiency from the date of execution of the instrument, which is also in consonance with Section 40 of the Act of 1899. There does not appear to be any provision under the Act of 1899 where valuation or deficiency of stamp duty thereupon is required to be calculated from the date of presentation or impounding of the document.

27. In view of specific provisions of Section 33 of the Act of 1899 as indicated herein above, it is the considered opinion of this court that valuation of such under-valued or unstamped instrument and deficiency thereof is to be calculated as on the date of execution of the deed and not from the date when it is impounded or presented.

The said aspect has already been considered by a coordinate Bench of this court in Rajendra Prasad Garg v. Chief Controlling Revenue Authority and others reported in (2002) 93 RD 198 in the following manner:-

"6. Section 3 of the Indian Stamp Act provides for instrument which are chargeable with duty. Section 3 of the Act came to be considered and interpreted in the case of Sri Kirti Ram reported in AIR 1954 HP 51. In the said case, after perusing the relevant provisions of the Act, it was ruled as under:

"Now, the certificate of enrolment being an instrument falling under Article 30 of Schedule I, it is compulsorily chargeable with stamp duty under Section 3 of the Act. And since "chargeable" means, under Section 2(6) of the Act, chargeable when the instrument in question is executed, it is clear that the crucial date which determines the law in force is the date of the execution of instrument."

7. Sub-section (6) of Section 2 which defines the term chargeable, no amendment has been made by the State of Uttar Pradesh, therefore, the decision in the case of Sri Kirti Ram, (supra) is fully applicable to the facts of the present case. Similar view was taken by a Full Bench of Madras High Court in the case in ILR (5) Mad Series 394 (FB), wherein it was observed that duty should be calculated with reference to the requirement of law at the time of execution of the document."

28. Question no.(iv) as such is answered affirmatively in favour of petitioner.

29. In view of aforesaid, the answers to the questions are as follows:-

(i) limitation period of four years as prescribed in the Proviso to Section 33(5) of the Act, 1899 would be inapplicable where a document is impounded under Section 33(1) of the Act of 1899.

(ii) evidently, limitation as envisaged under Section 33(5) of the Act would be applicable only from the date when an instrument/document is produced in proceedings as indicated under Section 33(1) or 33(4) of the Act, 1899 and not from the date of its execution.

(iii) Proceedings under Section 33/40/47A of the Act of 1899 are maintainable even if no benefit has been derived from the unregistered instrument of transfer.

(iv) Valuation of the instrument of transfer/document and deficiency of stamp duty thereupon is to be assessed as on the date of execution of such instrument and not from the date when proceedings are initiated under the Act of 1899.

30. In view of the answers to aforesaid questions, particularly regarding question no.(iv), it is evident that the authorities have erred in determining valuation of the instrument of transfer and deficiency thereupon from the date when it was impounded while it should have actually been taken from the date of its execution on 12.08.1985.

31. Considering aforesaid, the petition succeeds to aforesaid extent. The case is remitted to the Prescribed Authority for determination of valuation and deficiency of stamp duty required to be paid as on 12.08.1985.

32. Accordingly, the petition is partly allowed and findings recorded by the authorities regarding valuation, deficiency of stamp duty and penalty stand set aside for re-determination in accordance with directions made herein above.

3. Avinash Chandra Tewari Vs Additional District Judge, Court No. 3, Unnao & ors.; 2011 (86) ALR 662

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shree Prakash Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Mohd. Arif Khan, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Mohammad Aslam Khan, leaned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Shailendra Kumar Singh, learned Chief Standing Counseel-II assisted by Sri Sunil Kumar Khare, lerned counsel for the State.

2. By means of instant petition, the petitioner has assailed the order dated 13-04-1992 passsed by the Additional Commissioner, Faizabad Division, Faizabad and the order dated 29-06-1987 passed by the Prescribed Authority (Ceiling),District-Barabanki.

3. The factual matrix of the case is that a notice under section 10(2) of the Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act, 1960(hereinafter referred to as Act,1960) was issued to the petitioner on 11-09-1974. By the aforesaid notice, the petitioner was required to show cause as to why the statement under section (1) of Section 10 of the Act,1960 be not taken as correct. As per the version of the petitioner, the notice was not served upon him and therefore, he could not file objections as a result whereof, the Prescribed Authority(Ceiling) District-Barabanki passed an order on 25-11-1974, whereby the land in question was declared as surplus land.

4. As soon as, the aforesaid fact came into the knowledge of the petitioner, he submitted an application dated 02-01-1975 before the prescribed authority, under section 11(2) of Act,1960. Just thereafter, on 09-01-1975, the petitioner moved another appliation for spot inspection. He again moved an application on 20-01-1975 mentioning therein that "Baba Guru Charan Das' is "Mahant' of "Kuti-Manipur' and the property in question belongs to a "Math' and this property belongs to a trust and there is possession of "Math' over there. He also submitted that income of "Math' is wholly utilised for realigous and charitable purposes and not for the petitioner or his decendants. The Prescribed Authority, on the aforesaid application passed an order and directed the Naib Tehsildar, Haidergarh to make an inspection and submit a report by 25-01-1975. In pursuance thereof, the Naib Tehsildar, enquired into the matter and submitted a report to the effect that the land in question is unirrigated as the same is not within the Command Area of the Canal or Tubewell. He also reported that plot no. 1024 is a "Jheel' and in most of the area, paddy crops are sown and the land belongs to a "Math' and the petitioiner is "Mahant'. On the aforesaid report, the Prescribed Authority vide order dated 10-03-1975, discharged the notices issued against the petitioner. Being aggrieved with the order dated 10-03-1975, the State of U.P. instituted an appeal under section 13 of the "Act 1960', which was allowed by the Additional Commissioner, Faizabad Division, Faizabad vide order dated 26-04-1976 and the matter was remanded back to the opposite party no. 3 i.e. the Prescribed Authority for deciding the matter afresh.

5. After the matter remitted back to the Prescribed Authority, the Prescribed Authority rejected the application of the petitioner, filed under section 11(2) of the "Act 1960', as the explanation with respect to the delay was not found sufficient. Being aggrieved with the aforesaid order, the present petitoner again filed an appeal which was allowed on 27-08-1977 and case was remanded back to opposite party no. 3 for decision afresh.

6. While deciding the matter, the Prescribed Authority vide order dated 26-03-1981 held that the property belongs to a "Math'of "Baba Shahab Kabir Panti Saint' and the income of the property is being utilized for religious and chartiable purposes. While passing the order aforesaid, the Prescribed Authority has considered the report of the Naib Tehsildar and entries of Khatauni of 1359 Fasli and Form 23 and Form 41 of Consolidation of Holdings Act.

7. Assailing the order dated 26-03-1981, the State of U.P. filed an appeal, which was allowed on 13-03-1984 and the case was again transmitted back to the opposite party no. 3 with direction to decide the case after framing the additional issues whether Math/Trust in question is a public chartiable or religious trust or not. After the aforesaid order, the opposite party no. 2 framed five issues in addition to three issues framed earlier. The Objector filed Khataunis of 1359,1380,1390 and 1392 Faslis and the witnesses also deposed that the property in suit belongs to a "Math' in the name of "Baba Guru Charan Das' as the trustee and this is not the personal property. The State of U.P. also got examined Prabhu Nath Tewri, Lekhpal and Durga Baksh Singh, Naib Tehsildar. On consideration of evidences and statements of the witnesses, the Prescribed Authority passed an order and denied the benefit of section 6(f) of the "Act 1960' and thereby declared the area of 10-15-3 Bighas as surplus land. Being aggrieved with the order aforesaid, an appeal was filed by the petitioner before the Commissioner, Faizabad Division, Faizabad on 01-08-1987 and that was dismissed vide order dated 13-04-1992, which is under challenge in this writ petition.

8. Contention of learned Senior Counsel appearing for the petitioner is that initially without serving a notice under section 10(2) of the "Act 1960', the order was passed and thereafter, the petitioner challenged the same and he was allowed to be heard. He added that it is a well settled law that a "trust' may be unregistered and further a property can be dedicated orally for charitable or religious purposes and the opposite party i.e. the State of U.P. has failed to contradict the same before the prescribed authority.

9. Learned Senior Counsel in support of the contentions aforesaid has placed reliance on a Judgment reported in 1979(5) ALR, 132, Shri Radhaji Brijman Mandir and Others Vs. District Judge, Banda and Others and has referred the extract of the Judgment aforesaid as under :-

"In the instant csae the endowment in question was for religious and charibtable purposes and there was no indication that any part of the income was for the benefit of the settler or any other person. The question is whether land covered by the endowment is exempt from consideration in the proceeding under the Act. Admittedly, the endowmewnt in question was created from before the 1st day of May,1959. Since then the land is held by the deities under a public religious and charitable endowment. That is clear from the terms of the document also. Under the endowment, no part of the income of the endowment was reserved for the benefit wholly or partly of the settler or members of his family or his descendants. The endowmenet in question fully satisifes the test laid down in calsue (f) and consequently land held under the endowment had to be exempted from considreartion for the purposes of detremining the ceiling area applicable to the surplus land of the tenure-holder, namely, Radha Krishna Ji Mahraj. Section 6(1)(f) is attracted where the land is held by the tenure holder. The law does not reuire that endowment should be created by the tenure-holder himself. Its only requirement is that the land must be held by the tenure-holder under a public religisous trust or endowmenet or institution. Land which was the subject-matter of the endowmenet in the present case, there is no dispute that the settler and his wife died issueless and, thereore, the question of income of the endowment being spent wholly or partly for the benefit of the settler or members of his family or his descendants does not arise. Even if the income of the property is not properly maintained by the present trustees that would not be ground for denying the tenure-holder the benefit of the provisions contained in clause (f) to sub-section (1) of Section 6."

10. Referring the aforesaid, he submits that it has been held by the court that if there is any discrepancies in the maintenance of the record of income of the "trust', that would not prevent the benefit of the provisions contained in clause (f) of sub. Section (1) of Section 6 of the "Act 1960'.

11. He has further placed reliance on a case reported in 1979 RD 32(Allahabad High Court),Matloob Ali Vs. Ist Addl. Distt. & Sessions Judge and Others and submitted that it has been held that the first part of the requirement mentioned in Section 6(1)(f) of "Act 1960' is that the land be held before the first day of May, 1959, by or under a public religious or charitable Waqf, trust endowmenet or institution and so far as the present matter is concerned, the "Math' was in existence on the first day of May,1959.

12. He further submitted that though certain plots have been declared as irrigated land, but, the evidence, which are on record, shows that the plots in question are not in Command Area of Canal or any Tubewell owned by the State. He submits that if the income of the property is not maintained by the trustee, even then that would not be a ground for denial of the benefit of section 6(f) of "Act 1960', to a tenure holder and in the instant matter, there is a report of the Naib Tehsildar and the statement of a village person, which say that the property in question belongs to a "Math', which has been established for religious and chartibale purposes and the income of the property was not utilizsed by the petitioner or his decedants and the State of U.P. could not succeed to prove before the prescribed authority or appellate authority that the property was not being used for charitable or religious purposes.

13. He further contended that the land in question was recorded in 1359 Fasli in the name of the "Baba Math' and the property was inherited by "Guru' of the present petitioner and the entries in the revenue record also denotes the word "Chela' and thus, this could not be said to be a personal property of the petitioner. He submits that the State government has not only been failed to contradict the evidences and the statements of the witnesses, but, also has failed to show any document that the land in question was not being utilised for charitable purposes. Thus, the submission of learned cousel for the petitioner is that the order passed by the Prescribed Authority as well as Appellate Authority are not sustainable and the same are liable to be set aside.

14. On the other hand, learned Chief Standing Counsel-II appearing for the State has vehemently opposed the contenions aforesaid and submitted that the land in question was not being utilised for charitable or religious purposes and it is not a property of "Math' or "Trust', but, it was being utilised for personal purposes and benefits. In support his contentions, he added that the report dated 13-02-1975, which was submitted by the Naib Tehsildar, was not examined while affording opportunity of cross-examination to the State.

15. He also added that though the petitioner is claiming the benefit of the provisions of Section 6 (1) (f) of the Act, 1960, but,he has failed to establish that he is Manager of a religious and chartiable Trust/Math and it is prima-facie, evident that the land in questioin is recorded in the name of an individual and this is not recorded in the name of any "Trust' or "Math'. He added that the petitioner has also failed to prove that the whole income of the land in question is being utilised for religious and charitable purposes,which is one of the conditions precedent for getting the benefit of Section 6 (1) (f) of the "Act,1960'.

16. Adding his arugments, he submits that the petitioner could not substantiate that the "Trust/Math' was registered at any point of time and if it is been claimed as "Trust', the same should be registered as per the provisions of Section 5 of the Indian Trusts Act, 1882.

17. He further added and has drawn attention of this court towards the case reported in [2011 (86) ALR 662], Avinash Chandra Tewari Vs. Additional District Judge, Court No. 3, Unnao and Others and has referred paragraph no. 27 and added that the Hon'ble court has held that mere on the fact that the members of the public are allowed to worship or visit the place, would not be the proof of a public' Trust'.

18. Further contention is that it is evident from the order dated 29-06-1987 that the Prescribed Authority has properly framed five questions in compliance of the direction of the appellate order dated 20-03-1984 and there was no direction with respect to framing of question on the issue of the land being irrigated or non-irrigated. He submits that the property is not of a "Math' or "Trust',but, it is the property recorded in the name of a person and the same is being used for individual and not for religious or charitable purposes and therefore, there is no merit in the case of the petitioner and the instant petition is liable to be dismissed.

19. Having heard learned counsels for the parties and after perusal of material placed on record, it emerges that a dispute arose with respect to declaration of the land in question as a surplus land. Initially, a notice was issued to the petitioner on 11-09-1974, which as per the averment of the petitioner, was never served upon him and therefore, a set of litigation was instituted and ultimately, the petitioner succeeded and his objections were entertained under section 11(2) of the Act,1960. Thereafter, the matter goes upto the appellate court and the same was remanded back to the Prescribed Authority vide order dated 30-03-1984 with a direction to formulate additional issues and thereafter, the issues were formulated by the Prescribed Authority and the order was passed on 29-06-1987, whereby the claim of the petitioiner with respect to according benefit of Section 6(f) of the Act,1960 was rejected. An appeal was also instituted that too was decided vide order dated 13-04-1992 upholding the order passsed by the Prescribed Authority as the appellate authority found no illegality or infirmity in the order passed by the Prescribed Authority.

20. When this court examined the order passed by the Prescribed Authority dated 29-06-1987, it reveals that five additional questions were framed including the question as to whether the property in question belongs to a religious "Math' and whether the same was recorded as a "Math' prior to 01-05-1959 and whether the income arising out of the aforesaid property is being utilised for religious and charitable purposes coupled with the issue that whether the decendants are also beneficiaries of the alleged "Trust' or "Math'.

21. On the perusal of the discussions of court below while deciding the aforesaid issue is clear that the land in question is recorded in the name of the present petitioner and not in the name of any "Math' or "Trust' and there is no written terms or conditions thereof. The Prescribed Authority while examining the evidences and the statements of the witnesses, has come to the conclusion that no evidence could be placed by the petitioner that the income of the property in question was being utilised for religious or charitable purposes or the family members/descendants of the petitioner are not the beneficiaries of the land in question. He has also considered the statements of the Naib Tehsildar and the Lekhpal of the area concerned that the property in quesion is the private property of Guru Sharan Das.

22. This court has also noticed that there is a contradiction in the Nakal Khatauni of 1359 Fasli with the present Khataunis and the origin of the alleged "Math' could not be proved prior to 01-05-1959, which is the cut of date mentioned in section 6(1)(f) of "Act 1960'. While examining the report of the Naib Tehsildar dated 13-04-1975, it is answered that the Naib Tehsildar did not mention the fact that what is the basis of his satisfaction that the land in question is land of a "Math' and when it was constituted and the land was recorded in the name of the "Math'.

23. The appellante authority has recorded findings that the Naib Tehsildar has also not mentioned any fact in its report that whether the income of the property in question was not being utilized for "Mahant' as well as his family members and though much emphasis has been placed upon the report of the Naib Tehsildar by the petitioner on every stage.

24. In fact, substantially, there were two questions, which were to be dealt with by the Prescribed Authority and the Appellate Authority. The first issue is that whether the property in question is a property of "Math' or "Trust' and the income of which was being utilised for religious or charitable purposes and the second issue is that whether for according the benefits of Section 6 (1) (f) of the "Act 1960', a "Trust' or "Math' is essentially to be registered or not.

25. The first issue, which has been answered by the Prescribed Authority is that the report of the Naib Tehsildar dated 13-02-1975, was vehemently relied upon by the petitioner though, it is apparent that except apart from a line report of the Naib Tehsildar that the property in question is the property of a "Math', there is no other details that what was the evidence and record, on the basis of which, the Naib Tehsildar reported that the property belongs to a "Math'. It has also not been disclosed by the Naib Tehsildar in his report dated 13-04-1975 that the income of the property in question was being utilized for charitable or religious purposes, except the fact that usually the saints of "Kabir Panti' were kept on visiting and the expenditure incurred upon the religious ceremonies were fulfilled by the income of the property in question, but, this does not disclose that whether all the income of the property in question was being utilised for the charitable and religious purposes as it is sellted law that even if the part of the income of land is not utilised for the charitable purposes, then the benefit of the provisions of section 6(1)(f) of the "Act 1960' cannot be given.

26. Further the petitioner also could not prove by any of the documents that the income of the property in question was utilized for charitable and religious purposes and he has also failed to prove that he or his family members are not the beneficiaries of the income of the property in question. Further, there is a material contradiction in the Nakal Khatauni of 1359 Fasli as well as well as the Nakal Khatauni of the present year and therefore, this could not be proved that the property in question was being utilized for charitable and religious purposes, being a "Math' before 01-05-1959.

27. This court has also noticed the fact that the petitioner has also failed to show any document wih respect to any "Math' or "Trust', recorded in the name of "Baba Guru Sharan Das', which prima-facie, shows that it is a personal property and it is not being used for any religious or charitable purposes and all these issues have very exhaustively been dealt with by the Prescribed Authoriy as well as by the Appellate Authority. Therefore, there is no merit in the instant matter.

28. Resultantly, the writ petition is hereby dismissed.

29. Consinged to record.

On 18.1.2009, election of the committee of management was held in which the petitioner No.2 was again elected as Manager and respondent No.3 was elected as President. This meeting dated 18.1.2009 was confirmed in the meeting dated 8.9.2009. On 10.2.2009, the resolution dated 21.12.2008, 18.1.2009, 3.2.2009 and list of the office bearers along with the list of the members of the general body was submitted before the respondent No.2 along with other documents duly signed by respondent No.3 and the petitioner.

A letter dated 6.11.2012 was sent for registration of the office bearers as per election dated 18.1.2009. The same was duly registered by the respondent No.2. The respondent No.3 after enjoying the status of president of the society for more than four years of election moved an application for declaration of the society time barred by concocting story, to which a detailed reply dated 16.5.2013 was filed by the petitioner against notice sent by respondent No.2. On 6.1.2012, a first information report was lodged against respondent No.3 under sections 467, 468, 471, 419, 420 I.P.C. at police station Dewan. The respondent No.2 by the impugned order dated 23.9.2013, has declared the society time barred holding that the election of the society ought to have been concluded by 20.12.2008 which has not been conducted and on this ground has declared the committee of management of the society time barred w.e.f. 20.12.2008, with a further direction to hold election of the time barred committee of management from 12 members of the general body.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that it is not disputed that the election of the committee of management of the society was held from the list of 74 members which was recognised by the respondent No.2 himself by registering list of office bearers of the society by passing order dated 6.11.2012, contained in Annexure no.17 to the writ petition. Hence the election dated 18.1.2009 was recognised and was in knowledge of respondent No.2.

It is submitted that from a joint reading of the provisions of section 25(2) and (3) of the Act, it is evident that till the Deputy Registrar does not pass order under section 25(2) of the Act, the society will not be defunct and the outgoing committee of management has all the powers and authority to hold the election accordingly. He has relied on judgment of this Court in Committee of Management, Vidyawati Higher Secondary School, Shahpur, Sarain, Azamgarh and another versus Asstt. Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, Azamgarh Region, Azamgarh and others 2005(3)UPLBEC 2410 (relevant paras 6, 7 and 8). He has also relied on judgment of the Division Bench of this Court in Vinod Kumar Varsnay versus State of U.P. and others (D.B.) 2017 (3) E.S.C. 1529 (relevant paras 17, 18 and 19).

5. Learned Addl. Chief Standing Tiwari and Mr. Rakesh Tewari, learned Senior Advocate appearing for respondent No.3 have opposed the petition.

6. It is not disputed that the election of the society was held in the year 2008. List of office bearers of the society was registered for the year 2008-09 by the Deputy Registrar vide order dated 22.10.2008. The term of the committee of management came to an end on 20.12.2008. It is also not disputed that no orders were passed after expiry of the term of the committee of management by the Deputy Registrar under section 25(2) of the Act. The law in this regard has been settled by this Court in the aforesaid referred cases. For convenience paras 6, 7 and 8 of Committee of Management and another versus Asstt. Registrar, Firm Societies and others (supra) are reproduced below :

"6. For appreciating the controversy raised in the present writ petition it would be relevant to refer to Sections 25(2) and (3) of the Societies Registration Act, 1960, which are quoted below:

"25. Disputes regarding election of office bearers-(1) ??????..

(2) Where an order made under sub-section (1), an election is set aside or an office-bearer is held no longer entitled to continue in office or where the Registrar is satisfied that any election of office bearers of a society has not been held within the time specified in the rules of that society/ he may call meeting of the general body of such society for electing such office-bearer or office-bearers, and such meeting shall be presided over and be conducted by the Registrar or by any officer authorized by him in this behalf, and the provisions in the rules of the society relating to meetings and elections shall apply to such meeting and election with necessary modifications.

(3) Where a meeting is called by the Registrar under sub-section (2), no other meeting shall be called for the purpose of election by any other authority or by any person claiming to be an office-bearer of the society.

Explanation For the purposes of this section, the expression 'prescribed authority' means an office or Court authorized in this behalf by the State Government by notification published in the Official Gazette." 7. A bare reading of the aforesaid section would establish that the right to convene a meeting for the purposes of holding elections of the office-bearers of the society.

Explanation For the purposes of this section, the expression 'prescribed authority' means an office or Court authorized in this behalf by the State Government by notification published in the Official Gazette."

7. A bare reading of the aforesaid section would establish that the right to convene a meeting for the purposes of holding elections of the office-bearers of the outgoing Committee of Management and after expiry of the term of the office bearers the society is lost only when the Registrar passes order under Section 25(2) of the Act for convening a meeting of the general body of the society for the purposes of holding fresh election of the Committee of Management. It is at t stage only that outgoing office bearers are debarred from convening any meeting for the said purpose.

8. In the facts of the present case it is admitted position that no such order was passed by the Registrar under Section 25(2). Thus the power to convene a meeting of General Body for holding fresh elections was not lost and there is no bar either in the byelaws of the society or under the Societies Registration Act in holding of fresh elections by the outgoing office-bearers. In such circumstances the clections which have been held on 2.3.2003, even after expiry of the term of the office- bearers of the society, cannot be said to be illegal or invalid in any manner and the objections raised in that regard canot be legally sustained.?

Paras 17, 18, and 19 of Vinod Kumar Varshney?s case (supra) is reproduced below :

17. Having given our thoughtful consideration in the matter and upon considering the language of Section 25(2) and 25(3) of the Act and upon a conjoint reading of Section 25(2) and 25(3) of the Act, it is apparently clear that the Registrar has the power and jurisdiction to call a meeting for the purpose of holding an election if he is satisfied that the election has not been held within the time specified in the rules of the society. However, Section 25(3) of the Act recognises that a meeting for the purpose of holding an election can be convened by any other authority or by any other person claiming to be an office bearer of the society, meaning thereby that if the term of the Committee of Management expires, the Committee of Management can still convene a meeting and hold an election unless an order is passed by the Registrar under Section 25(2) of the Act for holding an election.

18. We are of the view that upon a conjoint reading of Section 25(2) and Section 25(3) of the Act, the power of the Committee of Management to convene a meeting for the purpose of holding an election gets eclipsed only when the Registrar has assumed jurisdiction and has taken steps to convene a meeting under Section 25(2) of the Act. We make it further clear that so long as an order for convening a meeting and for holding an election is not passed by the Registrar under Section 25(2) of the Act, the power to convene a meeting for the purpose of holding an election continues with the Committee of Management, even after the expiry of its terms unless it is specifically prohibited in the Rules of that society. In this regard, our view is fortified by a decision of a Full Bench of this Court in Committee of Management, Dadar Ashram Trust Society and others Vs. Mahatma Gandhi Kashi Vidyapeeth, Varanasi and others, 2017 (1) ADJ 1, wherein the Full Bench held:-

"As would be evident from a reading of sub-section (3), the power and jurisdiction of any other authority or person to call a meeting for the purpose of elections stands eclipsed only in a situation where a meeting has already been called by the Registrar under sub-section (2). In fact sub-section (3) recognises that a meeting for the purposes of elections may in fact be convened by any other authority or by any other person. The power of that other authority or person to convene such a meeting stands taken away only if the Registrar has assumed jurisdiction and steps under sub-section (2) to convene a meeting." 19. In the light of the aforesaid, the answer to question no.1 is, that the Committee of Management even after the expiry of its term can convene a meeting for the purpose of holding an election unless it is specifically barred under the Rules of its society. Such right continues till such time the Registrar passes an order under Section 25(2) of the Act after which no further meeting could be convened thereafter by the Committee of Management in view of sub-Section (3) of Section 25 of the Act. ?

7. A perusal of the aforesaid judgments passed by this Court makes it evident that the committee of management even after expiry of its term can convene a meeting for the purpose of holding election unless it is specifically barred under the rules of the society. This right continues till such time the Registrar passes an order under section 25(2) of the Act after which no other meeting can be convened by the committee of management in view of sub section (3) of Section 25 of the Act.

8. In the case in hand, admittedly, no order was passed after expiry of the term of the committee of management in the year 2008, hence election convened by the outgoing committee of management on 18.1.2009 was perfectly legal. The committee of management for this reason does not become time barred also as no order under section 25(2) of the Act was passed by the Registrar. Hence, for this reason, the impugned order is unsustainable.

9. The writ petition is accordingly allowed and the impugned order dated 23.9.2013 (supra) is set aside.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Singh Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Sri Vimal Srivastava, learned Government Advocate, assisted by Sri Alok Saran, Sri Rajesh Kumar Singh, learned AGA, Sri Manoj Kumar Misra, learned counsel for respondents no.1 & 3, Sri A.M. Tripathi, learned counsel for respondents no.2 & 6 and Sri Roshan Babu Gupta as well as Ms. Purnima Mishra, learned counsel for respondents no.4 & 5.

2. Learned AGA has filed supplementary affidavit, the same is taken on record. Sri Manoj Kumar Misra has filed objection against the appeal and objection against the interim relief application, both the objections are also taken on record.

3. This appeal has been filed under Section 18 of the Uttar Pradesh Gansters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986 (hereinafter referred to as "the Gangsters Act") against the order dated 23.12.2022 passed by the Special Judge (Gangster Act)/ Special Judge (POCSO Act), Balrampur in Criminal Misc. Reference Case No.984 of 2022, State Vs. Arif Anwar Hashmi and Others, arising out of Case Crime No.156 of 2020, under Section 3 (1) of U.P. Gansters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986, Police Station- Sadullanagar, District-Balrampur.

4. The first and foremost submission of the learned Government Advocate Sri Vimal Srivastava is that the issue in question relating to the party, who has been MLA of Utraula and being pensioned from the State Government, which is admissible for the Ex-MLA. The aforesaid fact has been considered vide para-35 of the aforesaid impugned order. It has been further submitted that the impugned order dated 23.12.2022 has been passed by the Special Judge (Gangster Act)/ Special Judge (POCSO Act), Balrampur. As per learned Government Advocate, the aforesaid court may not adjudicate any issue or may not pass such order in the light of the dicutm of the Apex Court in re; Ashwini Kumar Upadhyay Vs. Union of India & Anr., Writ Petition (Civil) No.699 of 2016. Relevant paragraphs 5 & 9 of the aforesaid judgment are being reproduced herein below:-

"5. On 4.12.2018 this Court issued the following directions :-

"1. Instead of designating one Sessions Court and one Magisterial Court in each District we request each High Court to assign/allocate criminal cases involving former and sitting legislators to as many Sessions Courts and Magisterial Courts as the each High Court may consider proper, fit and expedient. This, according to us, would be a more effective step instead of concentrating all the cases involving former and sitting legislators in a Special Court(s) in the district.

2. The procedural steps indicated by the learned Amicus Curiae, narrated above, will be followed by each of the designated Court allocated in terms of the directions above except that to whom work would be offences punishable with imprisonment for life/death against sitting M.Ps./M.L.As. M.Ps./M.L.As. would be taken as well as former up on first priority followed by sequential order indicated above without creating any distinction between cases involving sitting legislators and former legislators.

3. At this stage, we are of the view that the above directions should be made applicable to cases involving former and sitting legislators in the States of Bihar and Kerala.

The National Capital Territory of Delhi where the position is somewhat different and the difficulties of distance and territories do not come in the way the trial of cases by the Special Courts (both Sessions Court and Magisterial Court) will continue.

4. So far us the cases involving States of Kerala and Bihar are concerned, such of the case records which have been transmitted to the Special Courts in the two states will be re-transmitted to the jurisdictional courts wherefrom the records have been sent for being dealt with in the manner indicated above. This will be done forthwith.

5. The registry of the High Courts of Kerala (State of Kerala) and Patna (State of Bihar) will initiate necessary action in this matter without any delay.

6. Rest of the Special Courts already set up shall continue to work and try cases assigned to it until further orders are passed in this regard by this Court.

7. The designated Courts in the districts in the aforesaid two States of Kerala and Bihar will submit monthly report to the High Court with regard to the cases where charge-sheets have not yet been filed; cases where charges have not yet been framed giving reasons therefor; and the progress of the trial where the cases are ready. The High Courts, in turn, will forward the said reports to the registry of this Court with a copy to Shri Vijay Hansaria, learned Amicus Curiae who is requested to go through the said reports and assist the Court by placing the information conveyed before this Court in an appropriate manner on the next date/dates of hearing."

9. The above directions do not mandate the High Courts to transfer cases which are triable by Magistrates to Sessions Courts. The directions contained in the Order dated 4 December 2018 do not supplant the jurisdictional provisions contained either in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 or in other special enactments governing the trial of offences governed by those enactments. The directions of this Court mandate the assigning and allocation of criminal cases involving former and sitting legislators to Sessions Courts or, as the case may be, Magisterial Courts. This has to be in accordance with the governing provisions of the law as applicable. Consequently, where a case is triable by a Magistrate under the Penal Code, the case would have to be assigned/allocated to a Court of a Magistrate vested with jurisdiction and the Order of this Court dated 4 December 2018 cannot be construed as a direction requiring the trial of the case by a Sessions Court. In the State of Uttar Pradesh, no Magisterial Courts have been designated as Special Courts for the trial of cases triable by Magistrates in terms of the directions of this Court dated 4 December 2018. The Notification issued by the High Court of Judicature at Allahabad on 16 August 2019 is based on an evident misconstruction of the directions contained in the Order of this Court."

5. Learned Government Advocate, who is counsel for the appellant, has stated that in the light of the aforesaid dictum of the Apex Court, the impugned order is without jurisdiction, therefore, the same is liable to be set aside/ quashed. Learned counsel for the appellant has also raised some objections challenging the impugned order to the effect that the relevant provisions of the Gangsters Act have not been followed but I am not considering those objections at this stage since the order impugned has been passed by the court, which was not having jurisdiction to pass such order, therefore, such order is liable to be set aside/ quashed.

6. However, learned counsel for the respondents, more particularly Sri Manoj Kumar Misra, has drawn attention of this Court towards Sections 462 & 465 Cr.P.C. by submitting that only for the reason that the impugned proceedings have been concluded by the wrong court, the impugned order may not be set aside for that reason alone. He has also submitted that if the proceedings were running before the wrong court, the Public Prosecutor should have taken specific objection before the court concerned but no such objection has been raised by the Public Prosecutor till passing of the impugned order. He has, therefore, submitted that lapse on the part of the Public Prosecutor/ State, the respondents should not suffer. Sri Manoj Kumar Misra has also raised objection that in this appeal, this ground has not been taken specifically that the order impugned has been passed by the court, which was not having jurisdiction to pass such order, therefore, the present appeal may be dismissed.

7. Be that as it may, after the judgment of the Apex Court in re; Ashwini Kumar Upadhyay (supra), the courts have been designated to deal with the issue relating to the MPs/MLAs and if the matter pertains to the issue relating to any MP/MLA, the designated court would have jurisdiction to adjudicate such issue strictly in accordance with law. Notably, it has not been disputed by the parties that the impugned order has been passed by the court, which was not having such jurisdiction, therefore, even if this ground has not been raised in this appeal, after noticing the aforesaid fact which discloses that this is an error apparent on the face of record, the order impugned may not be liable to be sustained in the eyes of law.

8. So far as Section 462 Cr.P.C. is concerned, it has been made clear in the aforesaid section that the proceedings, if concluded by the wrong court, may not be set aside only for the reason that it has been concluded by the wrong court unless it appears that such error has, in fact, occasioned failure of justice. In the judgment of the Apex Court in re; Ashwini Kumar Upadhyay (supra), the purpose has been interpreted as to why for dealing cases relating to MP/MLA should be adjudicated by the designated court only. Therefore, if there is any specific designated court to deal and adjudicate such issue, the jurisdiction vests with that court only to deal and adjudicate that issue and if the issue in question has been adjudicated by another court, to me, it would be an error, which may be considered as failure of justice. Besides, the judgment being passed by the Apex Court is the law of the land and if in compliance of the order of the Apex Court, any guidelines have been formulated and circulated and being followed in the entire State, deviation thereof would be a disobedience of the order of the Apex Court and would frustrate the purpose of formulating the guidelines issued by the High Court at Allahabad to deal with and to adjudicate the issue relating to the MPs/MLAs. Therefore, the provisions of Section 465 (2) Cr.P.C. would not be applicable, which provides that if specific objection has not been taken by the either side at the appropriate stage and order is passed by the court not having jurisdiction may not be set aside. In the present cases, the District/ Sessions Judge was duty bound to transfer the case to the designated court dealing with the issues relating to the MP/MLA. Likewise, if the court where the matter has been transferred by the District/ Sessions Judge concerned is having no locus or jurisdiction to deal with or to adjudicate the issue relating to the MP/MLA should have not proceeded further. Notably, the Court concerned has considered the fact in para 35 of the impugned order that one of the parties has been MLA and getting pension admissible for the MLA. In the present case, the order impugned has been passed by the court, which is not having jurisdiction to pass such order, therefore, the aforesaid order may not sustain in the eyes of law. At the same time, it is also observed that there is no fault on the part of the respondents inasmuch as they have participated in the proceedings and they did not try to linger on the issue.

9. Considering the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and perusing the material available on record, I find that there is an error apparent on the face of the order dated 23.12.2022 as the same has been passed by the court, which was not having jurisdiction to pass such order in the light of the dictum of the Apex Court in re; Ashwini Kumar Upadhyay (supra) and the subsequent guidelines so issued by the High Court at Allahabad.

10. Therefore, the instant application for leave to appeal is allowed.

11. The impugned order dated 23.12.2022 passed by the Special Judge (Gangster Act)/ Special Judge (POCSO Act), Balrampur in Criminal Misc. Reference Case No.984 of 2022 is hereby set aside/ quashed only on the ground of jurisdictional error as I have not entered into the merit of the issue. The matter is remanded back to the designated court concerned at Balrampur to adjudicate the issue on merits promptly, strictly in accordance with law, by affording opportunity of hearing to the parties concerned, with expedition, preferably, within a period of three months from the date of production of certified copy of this order.

12. Accordingly, the appeal is also allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Singh Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Sri P. Chakravarty and Sri Pranshu Agarwal, learned counsel for the applicant and Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the C.B.I.

2. By means of this application the applicant has prayed for quashing of the impugned order dated 24.1.2023 by means of which Non-Bailable Warrant was ordered to be issued and also for quashing the order dated 08.02.2023 by means of which Non-Bailable Warrant as well as the process u/s 82 Cr.P.C. was ordered to be issued by the Court of Special Judge, CBI, Court No. 2, Lucknow in Criminal Case No. 01/2023, C.B.I. vs. Bhagwati Prasad Verma and others, arising out of R.C. No. 8(A)/2014, u/s 120B/409, 420, 511 IPC and section 13(2) r/w 13(1)(d) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, P.S. CBI / ACB, Lucknow.

3. At the very outset learned counsel for the applicant has drawn attention of this Court towards the order dated 10.1.2023 whereby the learned trial court has issued bailable warrant against the applicant presuming that despite the summons having been served upon him he did not appear. Learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that summon has not been served on the petitioner in terms of section 64 Cr.P.C. which provides that if the person whose presence is required in the Court is not present in the house such summon should be served upon any male member of the family but the same has been served upon one female member of the family. If it is presumed for the argument sake that such summon has been served on the family member (Bhabhi) of the applicant and the petitioner did not appear on that summon the learned trial court may issue summons against him but on the basis of presumption that same has been served on the applicant through his relative the bailable warrant should not have been issued against him as this exercise is in derogation of section 64 Cr.P.C.

4. Further, attention has been drawn towards the next date fixed i.e. 24.1.2023. On that date a straightaway Non-Bailable Warrant has been issued without verifying the fact as to whether the applicant has been informed about the date fixed i.e. 24.1.2023 and about the bailable warrant being issued against him on 10.1.2023. Sri Chakravarty has further drawn attention of this Court towards the third order dated 8.2.2023 whereby the learned trial court straightaway issued N.B.W. and proclamation of section 82 Cr.P.C. again without verifying the fact as to whether the applicant is aware about the N.B.W. being issued on 24.1.2023.

5. Sri Chakravarty has placed reliance of the dictum of Apex Court in re: Inder Mohan Goswami and Anr. vs. State of Uttaranchal and Ors., 2007 AIR SCW 6679 whereby the Hon'ble Apex Court has deprecated such exercise being adopted by the learned trial court. The Hon'ble Apex Court in re: Inder Mohan Goswami (supra) has observed that if the appearance of any person / accused person is required before the court concerned, he should have been first issued summons and the court should remain careful on the aspect that if the person concerned has not appeared before the court concerned on the summons when such summons have not been served upon him, however, upon his family member, again summons should have been issued and if the learned trial court is convinced that despite the service of the summons upon the person concerned he is deliberately trying to avoid the process of law, bailable warrant may be issued but before issuing N.B.W. against such person the Court should remain very careful inasmuch as issuing N.B.W. against any accused person directly affects his fundamental right to life and liberty. The Apex Court in Inder Mohan Goswami (supra) has issued guidelines to the effect that under what circumstances the strict process should be issued as under :

"....Personal liberty and the interest of the State Civilized countries have recognized that liberty is the most precious of all the human Personal liberty and the interest of the e State Civilized countries nights The American Declaration of Independence 1776, French Declaration of the Rights of Men and the Citizen 1789, Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the International Covenant of Civil and Political Rights 1966 all speak with one voice - liberty is the natural and inalienable right of every human being Similarly, Article 21 of our Constitution proclaims that no one shall be deprived of his liberty except in accordance with the procedure prescribed by law...

The issuance of non-bailable warrants involves interference with personal liberty. Arrest and imprisonment means deprivation of the most precious right of an individual. Therefore, the courts have to be extremely careful before issuing non-bailable warrants.

The warrants either bailable or non-bailable should never be issued without proper scrutiny of facts and complete application of mind, due to the extremely serious consequences and ramifications which ensue on issuance of warrants...."

[Emphasis Supplied]

6. Sri Chakravarty has submitted that if the facts and circumstances of the present case are tested on the touchstone of the guidelines of the Hon'ble Apex Court in re: Inder Mohan Goswami (supra) the impugned orders whereby the Non-Bailable Warrant and proclamation u/s 82 Cr.P.c. has been issued, those orders would be liable to be set aside. Sri Chakravarty has also placed reliance on the judgment and order dated 10.12.2021 passed in Case :- U/s 482/378/407 No. 5195 of 2021 (Vinod Kumar Singh @ Vinod Singh vs. State of U.P.) whereby this Court placing reliance of the order of co-ordinate Bench of this Court has directed that before issuing proclamation u/s 82 Cr.P.C. there must be an application supported with an affidavit of the prosecution to show and convince the learned court below that despite all possible efforts being taken by the prosecution serving summons, bailable warrants and non-bailable warrants upon him or her such person is not appearing before the Court concerned, therefore, the proclamation u/s 82 Cr.P.C. may be issued and the learned trial court after being satisfied on the contents of such application which is supported by an affidavit may issue proclamation u/s 82 Cr.P.C. but such proclamation may not be issued in a cursory manner infringing the fundamental right of any person enshrined under Article 21 of the Constitution of India.

7. Therefore, Sri Chakravarty has stated that the impugned orders dated 10.1.2023, 24.1.2023 and 8.2.2023 are patently illegal and unwarranted, the same may be set aside. The applicant undertakes that he shall appear before the learned trial court concerned on the next date fixed i.e. 13.3.2023 and shall participate in the proceedings. Sri Chakravarty has also apprised the Court that since the marriage of the daughter of the applicant was fixed on 25.1.2023, therefore, he could not appear before the learned trial court concerned on 10.1.2023 and 24.1.2023 and this fact has been apprised by the family members of the applicant to the Process Server as such report has been enclosed with the petition as Annexure no. 5. However, in such report the subsequent part thereof which indicates that the applicant has given undertaking that he shall appear on the date fixed before the court is not correct rather the applicant has not given any undertaking to the Process Server through his family member that he shall be appearing before the court concerned on 10.1.2023. In any case he shall be appearing on the next date and shall participate in the proceedings properly.

8. Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the C.B.I. has tried to defend the impugned orders dated 10.1.2023, 24.1.2023 and 8.2.2023 by submitting that when the Process Server approached the family members of the present applicant on 8.1.2023 and apprised that the next date has been fixed as 10.1.2023, such process has been served upon the sister-in-law (Bhabhi of the present applicant) and the Process Server talked with the applicant, who assured that he shall appear on the next date fixed, therefore, avoiding the process of law despite knowing the fact that next date is fixed before the trial court is already uncalled for, for the applicant itself, therefore, the learned trial court has rightly issued bailable warrant on 10.1.2023, however, on being further confronted as to whether the present applicant was informed about the bailable warrant being issued against him on 10.1.2023 fixing next date for 24.1.2023, Sri Singh has stated that he has no specific instructions on that point.

9. On being confronted as to whether the summon has been served in the light of section 64 Cr.P.C., Sri Singh has fairly stated that such summon has not been served on any male family member of the applicant. On being further confronted as to whether the present applicant was informed the dates fixed in the court and the subsequent date 8.2.2023 has been fixed and on 24.1.2023 N.B.W. has been issued against him, Sri Singh has again stated that he has no specific instructions to the effect that as to whether the earlier date and orders have been intimated to the applicant or not. Lastly, Sri Singh has been asked as to whether any application supported by an affidavit has been filed before the learned trial court seeking proclamation against the applicant u/s 82 Cr.P.C., Sri Singh has stated that on that point too he has no specific instructions.

10. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and having perused the material available on record, I am of the considered opinion that if the appearance of any person / accused person is required before the learned trial court firstly summons should have been issued and if the person concerned does not appear before the court concerned on the date fixed the court concerned should first verify as to whether such summon has been served upon the applicant or not and if such summon has not been served on him personally at least one more summon should have been issued to him and on the next date this fact must be verified as to whether such summon has been served o the person concerned or not and if the court is convinced that despite the summons being served upon the person concerned he is avoiding the process of law, the bailable warrant can be issued but at the stage of non-bailable warrant the court should take proper care and precaution convincing itself that despite the service of bailable warrant on couple of dates the process of law is being avoided only in that extreme circumstance the Non-Bailable Warrant should be issued as such process of law directly relates with the liberty of a person which is guaranteed under Article 21 of the Constitution of India. In other words before issuing N.B.W. due care and precaution is warranted for the learned trial court and N.B.W. should not be issued in a cursory manner. Further, if the learned trial court is willing to issue proclamation u/s 82 and 83 Cr.P.C. against such accused persons, the degree of carefulness and precaution would be increased and such orders relating to the proclamation may be issued only on the application of the prosecution supported with an affidavit that despite all reasonable efforts being taken against the accused person to serve upon the summon the bailable warrant and N.B.W. he / she is avoiding the process, the court by assigning specific and cogent reasons to the effect that now there is no other way out except to initiate proceedings u/s 82 Cr.P.C. and 83 Cr.P.C. such proclamation can be issued but that proclamation cannot be issued in a cursory manner in view of the dictum of Apex Court in re: Inder Mohan Goswami (supra).

In the present case the summon has not been served upon the applicant in terms of section 64 Cr.P.C. which provides that if the person whose presence is required in the Court is not present in the house such summon should be served upon any male member of the family but the same has been served upon one female member of the family.

11. If the facts and circumstances of the present case are tested on the touchstone of dictum of Apex Court in re: Inder Mohan Goswami (supra) I find that the impugned order dated 10.1.2023, 24.1.2023 and 8.2.2023 suffers from illegality, therefore, those orders are liable to be set aside.

12. Accordingly, the order dated 10.1.2023, 24.1.2023 and 8.2.2023 are hereby set aside.

13. Since the next date has been fixed on 13.3.2023, therefore, the present petitioner is directed to appear before the learned court concerned on 13.3.2023 to face the further proceedings and the learned trial court may proceed further strictly in accordance with law ignoring the impugned orders dated 10.1.2023, 24.1.2023 and 8.2.2023. However, it is made clear that if the petitioner does not appear before the learned trial court on 13.3.2023, the benefit of this order shall not be available to him and the learned trial court may take any appropriate step against him which is permissible under the law.

14. It is made clear that the petitioner may take other appropriate remedy before the appropriate court of law for that no liberty is required.

15. In view of aforesaid terms, the petition is allowed.

2. Anil Kumar & ors. Vs M.K. Aiyappa & anr., (2013) 10 SCC 705

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Kumar Singh, J.)

1. The present petition under Section 482 CrPC has been filed, impugning the order dated 11.10.2022 passed by the Additional District & Sessions Judge (Rape and POCSO)-3, Gorakhpur in Final Report No.1230 of 2017 (Parvez Parwaz Vs. Yogi Adityanath and others), arising out of Case Crime No.2776 of 2008, under Sections 153, 153-A, 153-B, 295, 295-B, 147, 148, 395, 436, 435, 302, 427 and 452 IPC read with Section 7 Criminal Law Amendment lodged at Police Station Cantt., District Gorakhpur.

2. The learned trial Court has rejected the protest petition filed by the petitioner by holding that as the sanction for prosecuting the accused was already refused under Section 196 CrPC and the said order was challenged by the petitioner/complainant up-to the Supreme Court and the Supreme Court had dismissed the appeal, therefore, the protest petition could not be accepted and the trial Court could not interfere with the order, refusing the sanction for prosecution of the alleged accused. There is a checkered history of litigation and a brief survey is required to be mentioned. The petitioner had initially approached this Court by filing Criminal Writ Petition No.16095 of 2007. The Division Bench of this Court by means of order dated 24.10.2007 dismissed the writ petition by observing that the the petitioner, if so advised, may file an application under Section 156(3) CrPC for a direction to lodge the FIR against Sri Yogi Adityanath and others. The petitioner, thereafter, filed an application under Section 156(3) CrPC for lodging of the FIR against the accused under Sections under Sections 120-B, 153-A, 153-B, 295-A, 295-B, 143, 147, 435, 436, 452, 427, 395, 302 and 307 IPC and 3/4 Prevention of Damage to Public Property Act and Railways Act.

3. The said application was rejected by the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate vide order dated 29.07.2008. The petitioner, thereafter, filed Criminal Revision No.2346 of 2008 before this Court. This Court vide order dated 26.09.2008 set-aside the order dated 29.07.2008 passed by the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Gorakhpur and remitted back the matter to the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate to pass a fresh order in accordance with law. It was also directed that after registration of the FIR, on the basis of the application filed by the petitioner under Section 156(3) CrPC, proper investigation should be ensured.

4. On remand, the FIR was registered on 02.11.2008 at Police Station Cantt., District Gorakhpur against five accused persons, including Sri Yogi Adityanath, the then Member of Parliament from Gorakhpur Parliamentary Constituency.

5. The accused approached the Supreme Court by filing Criminal Appeal No. 2039 of 2012 against the order dated 26.09.2008 passed by this Court in Criminal Revision No. 2346 of 2008. The Supreme Court vide order dated 13.12.2012 dismissed the said appeal.

6. The petitioner, perceived that the investigation was not being properly conducted by the investigating agency in the FIR, therefore, approached this Court by filing Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No.21733 of 2008 for following prayers:-

"i. issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing and commanding the investigate case crime respondents to No.2776 of 2008 (Annexure No.1) in fair and impartial manner by an independent investigating agency and not by Crime Branch of Criminal Investigation Department as per order dt. 3.11.2008 (Annexure No. 9).

ii. issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing and commanding the respondents to include appropriate section of Indian Penal Code i.e. 120-B, 121, 121-A, 122 IPC section 3/4 Prevention of Damages to Public Property Act, 1984 and provision of Religious Institution (Prevention of Misuse) Act, 1988 in crime No.2776 of 2008 and to investigate the issue of conspiracy also;

iii. issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing and commanding the respondents to take disciplinary action against the officers who at the relevant point of time failed to act in accordance with law and had not taken any action to initiate criminal action against the culprits;

iv. issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing and commanding the respondent No. 1 to provide adequate security to the petitioners;

v. issue a writ, order or direction, which this Hon'ble Court may deem fit and propert in the circumstances of the case;

vi. award the cost of the petition in favour of the petitioners;

vii. issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned letter dt. 3.5.2017 (Annexure No. 16 to this writ petition) issued under the signature of Joint Secretary (Home), Government of U.P. to the S.P. CBCID Lucknow whereby state prosecution sanction of the accused persons has been refused; and viii. issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the letter dt. 9.5.2017 (Annexure No. 17) issued by the respondent No. 2 addressed to the respondent No. 1 whereby it is mentioned that vide final report dt. 6.5.2017 case has been closed."

7. Prayer nos. 7 and 8 were added during the pendency of the writ petition as on 03.05.2017 prosecution sanction under Section 196 CrPC was refused by the State Government and final report was submitted. The Division Bench of this Court vide judgment and order dated 22.02.2008 decided the said writ petition. The Division Bench framed following three issues for determination:

"(1) When the State fails to perform its statutory and constitutional duty to investigate a crime in a fair and impartial manner, whether the High Court in exercise of its jurisdiction conferred by Article 226 of the Constitution is vested with the power to transfer the investigation to be conducted by any other investigating agency.

(2) Whether in the facts and circumstances of the instant case, the State has failed to perform its statutory duty to conduct a fair investigation in the matter and the same is liable to be transferred to some other independent agency to ensure fair investigation.

(3) Whether the State can pass an order under Section 196 Cr.P.C. in respect of a proposed accused in a criminal case who in the meantime gets elected as the Chief Minister and is the Executive Head as per the scheme provided under Article 163 of the Constitution of India."

8. Issue no. 3 was answered as under:-

"In view of above discussions and the authoritative judicial pronouncements, whenever it is established that investigation has not been fair, proper and impartial there is power vested with the High Court to transfer the investigation to be conducted by any other investigating agency and the same can be invoked by the informant/victim or an aggrieved person. Issue no. 1 stands answered accordingly."

9. While answering the issue no. 2, the Division Bench has held that direction for transferring investigation by any other investigating agency should not be given in absence of sufficient material on record to arrive at a conclusion that such material would disclose prima facie case for transferring the investigation from the agency which had been entrusted by the State to investigate the offence to another agency, but such power should not be exercised casually, as a routine manner or merely on some allegations made by the complainant. The Division Bench noted that there was no averment much less any other material placed on record of the petition on the basis of which a conclusion could be drawn that the investigation was not proceeding fairly, independently and impartially calling for transferring of the same to any other agency.

10. The Division Bench took pains to extract the averments made in the writ petition and factual foundation laid, seeking relief for transfer of the investigation to some other agency. The Division Bench had called for the original record of the case, including the case diary to satisfy conscience of the Court as to whether proper investigation had been carried out or not and had discussed the evidence brought on record in detail. The Division Bench noted that statements of 21 witnesses were recorded, including the petitioner no. 1 and certain other witnesses named by him. Statements of four accused, including, Sri Yogi Adityanath were also recorded. The investigating agency also recorded statements of two police officers, Shyam Narain Singh, Station Officer and Brijendra Singh, who were allegedly present at the time of the incident and were on duty. The case diary would further go to show that another compact disk (DVD) containing alleged speech of Sri Yogi Adityanath was provided as evidence by the petitioner on 14.03.2013 to the CBCID at the time of recording his statement under Section 161 CrPC. The investigating agency obtained second a compact disk on 25.05.2014, containing the admitted voice of Sri Yogi Adityanath from Circle Officer, Pipraich for comparison with voice recorded in the compact disc handed over by the petitioner. Both the compact discs (DVD) were sent by the investigating agency for forensic examination on 02.07.2014 to Forensic Science Laboratory, Lucknow. However, the Laboratory returned back the compact discs to the investigating agency, stating that the lab was not equipped to carry out the required forensic analysis. Subsequently, the investigating agency again sent the two compact discs to Forensic Science Laboratory, Madhuvan Chowk, New Delhi. The said lab returned back the compact discs to investigating agency on the ground that it was only authorized to carry out analysis of incident(s) within the territorial jurisdiction of Delhi. Thereafter, the investigating agency, after obtaining order from the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate on 14.08.2014, sent the compact discs to the Laboratory of Central Bureau of Investigation, CGO Complex, New Delhi along with case diary containing the admitted sample voice of Sri Yogi Adityanath. The CBI Lab, after carrying out examination of compact discs, submitted reports dated 13.10.2014 and 14.10.2014 respectively. After receiving the report as well as other evidence which came on record, including the statements of witnesses, the investigating agency prepared and sent draft final report on 09.04.2015, charging the accused for offence under Sections 143, 153, 153-A, 295-A read with Section 505 IPC, and the said report was forwarded to the superior officers for its approval by the competent authority. In the draft final report prepared under Section 173 (2) CrPC for offence under Sections 143, 153, 153-A, 295-A read with Section 505 IPC there was no evidence found in support of allegations for other offences for which the FIR was registered.

11. The allegation of the petitioner that the compact disc (DVD) filed by the petitioner in the Court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate along with affidavit on 05.05.2008 in proceeding under Section 156(3) CrPC was not sent for forensic examination, but a fake compact disc was sent, as such, the report submitted by the Laboratory was of no consequence and, thus, the investigating agency failed to perform its statutory duty to carry out fair, impartial and judicious investigation, the Division Bench had held that it was the petitioner who had supplied another compact disc to the CBCID at the time of recording his statement under Section 161 CrPC, and the said disc was sent for forensic examination. After analysis, the CBI Laboratory submitted two reports dated 13.10.2014, in respect of video contents, and the other dated 14.10.2014 in respect of voice examination. The forensic examination of the compact discs would reveal that the DVD containing videos were not original and they were edited and tampered. The forensic examination report has been extracted in the judgment delivered by the Division Bench. The Division Bench had held that from perusal of the case diary and in depth analysis of the investigation carried out, as depicted from the case diary, there was no failure on behalf of the investigating agency to perform its statutory duty for carrying out investigation in a fair, impartial and independent manner and, therefore, found no ground to transfer the investigation to some other agency. In respect of issue no. 3, the Division Bench did not find any procedural error, either in the conduct of the investigation or in the decision making process regarding refusal to grant sanction for prosecution or any other illegality in the order which required an interference by this Court in exercise of its extra-ordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

12. The Division Bench noted that the record revealed that all the material collected by the investigating agency during the course of investigation, was placed before the sanctioning authority, and its subjective satisfaction was arrived upon perusal of the entire material. Therefore, it could not be said that no objective assessment was made to arrive at subjective satisfaction recorded by the sanctioning authority. The order, refusing the sanction, had been passed by the competent authority after due application of mind. Section 196 CrPC is a shield for public servants against vexatious and malicious prosecution.

13. The Division Bench of this Court did not find any procedural error, either, in the conduct of the investigation or in the decision making process, refusing prosecution sanction or any other illegality in the order which could have been interfered with by this Court in exercise of its extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. Resultantly, the writ petition was dismissed.

14. The petitioner did not stop and, being dissatisfied with the judgment and order dated 22.02.2018 passed by the Division Bench of this Court, he approached the Supreme Court by filing Criminal Appeal No.1343 of 2022, arising out of SLP (Crl.) No.6190 of 2018.

15. During the hearing of the appeal, learned counsel for the petitioner did not press issue nos. 1 and 2, as framed by the Division Bench in its judgment and order dated 22.02.2018. The arguments were advanced only on issue no. 3 relating to denial of sanction for prosecution under Section 196 CrPC. The Supreme Court noted the fact that the investigation was over and closure report (F.R. No.01 of 2017) dated 06.05.2017 was filed in the Court by the investigating agency. Against the final/closure report, a protest petition was filed. The same was pending for consideration before the trial Court.

16. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, the Supreme Court did not think it necessary to go into the contentions raised by both sides on issue of denial of sanction for prosecution and the legal submissions made in relation to the said issue. However, the legal question, on the issue of sanction for prosecution, was left open to be considered in an appropriate case. The Supreme Court had dismissed the appeal, observing as under:-

"12. In the instant case, a short affidavit was filed on behalf of the second respondent wherein it is stated that the investigation was closed vide FR No.1/17 dated 06.05.2017. This position is not disputed by the appellants. Thus, as of now, the position that emerges is that the investigation has culminated in a closure/refer report. Learned counsel for the appellants has informed us that a protest petition has been filed which is pending considering before the trial Court.

13. In the aforesaid circumstances, we do not think it necessary to go into the contentions raised by both sides on the issue of denial of sanction for prosecution and the legal pleas sought to be raised in relation to the said issue. However, we think it appropriate that the legal questions on the issue of sanction be left open to be considered in an appropriate case."

17. As noted above, the challenge in this petition under Section 482 CrPC is to the decision of the learned trial Court dated 11.10.2022 wherein the learned trial Court has rejected the protest petition against the final/closure report no. 1 of 2017 dated 06.05.2017. The impugned order would disclose that the petitioner had again raised the same issue i. e. legality / validity of the order, refusing sanction for prosecution and the issue of compact disc which had attained finality upto the Supreme Court. The learned trial Court, in its well considered impugned judgment, has held that once the issue of legality/validity of sanction for prosecution had attained finality upto the Supreme Court, the same issue could not be re-opened. The issue of improper investigation was also decided by the High Court in its judgment and order dated 22.02.2018 passed in Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No.21733 of 2008, and before the Supreme Court, the petitioner did not raise the said issue before the Supreme Court and the only issue, which was raised before the Supreme Court, was of validity of order of refusal for prosecution sanction. In view thereof, the trial Court has held that there is no ground to interfere with the final/closure report no.01 of 2017 and dismissed the protest petition.

18. Mr. S.F.A. Naqvi, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Ms. Fatma Anjum and Mr. Manauvar Husain, Advocates has submitted that the question of legality of order, refusing sanction for prosecution, was left open by the Supreme Court and, therefore, it cannot be said that the issue had attained finality. It has been further submitted that while deciding the protest petition filed by the petitioner against the closure/final report no.01 of 2017, the trial Court could/ought to have decided the issue of legality of the order, refusing prosecution sanction. The learned Senior Advocate has again raised the issue of alleged improper investigation by the investigating agency and submitted that considering the aforesaid, the impugned order is to be set-aside and the trial Court should be directed to decide the issue of final/closure report afresh.

19. On the other hand, Mr. Manish Goyal, learned Additional Advocate General, assisted by A.K. Sand, learned Additional Government Advocate, representing the respondent - State, has submitted that the issues raised in the protest petition and in this petition had attained finality upto the Supreme Court. The petitioner cannot be permitted to raise the same issues time & again. The Supreme Court had left open the question of sanction and legal submissions to be decided in an appropriate case, but not in this case again. The learned Additional Advocate General has further submitted that the contention raised by the learned Senior Advocate for the petitioner that the trial Court should have decided the question of validity of order, refusing sanction is completely incorrect. Once the Supreme Court has not entertained the plea of validity of order, refusing prosecution sanction, the trial Court has rightly refused to go into the said issue. It has been further submitted that it does not lie in mouth of the petitioner to raise the question of improper investigation inasmuch as out of three issues, two issues were not pressed by the petitioner before the Supreme Court. It has been further submitted that the petitioner has been indulging in vexatious prosecution of the elected and popular Chief Minister of this State, who has changed the face of the State since he assumed the charge of the State in the year 2017. It has been further submitted that some forces are working against the popular Chief Minister to derail the progress of the State. Such a vexatious prosecution should be dealt with sternly. It has been further submitted that the petitioner has a long criminal history of 14 cases, which would read as under:-

"1.FIR/Crime No. 0430 of 1992, U/S 10/13 (1) The Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, 1967 read with Section 153A/188 IPC, Police Station Rajghat, District Gorakhpur;

10. FIR/Crime No.0303 of 1983, U/S 2 Prevention of Nation Insult Act, Police Station Kotwali, District Gorakhpur;

11. FIR/Crime No.0101 of 2001, U/S 279/304 IPC, Police Station Kotwali, District Gorakhpur;

12. FIR/Crime No.0479A of 2004, U/S 395, 147, 148, 149, 307 and 504 IPC read with Sections 3(II)(v) SC/ST Act,

Police Station Rajghat, District Gorakhpur;

13. FIR/Crime No.01063 of 2018, under Sections 120-B, 193, 195, 196, 419, 420, 467, 468, 469, 474 and 481 IPC, Police Station Cantt., District Gorakhpur; and

14. FIR/Crime No.0679 of 2019, U/S 120-B, 347, 365, 392, 452 and 506 IPC, Police Station Cantt., District Gorakhpur."

20. It is submitted on behalf of the State that the petitioner claims to be a social worker as per his application under Section 156(3) CrPC. Such a person having criminal history of serious offences, as mentioned, cannot be said to be a social worker. It appears that the petitioner is an impostor who has been set up by the forces, who are adverse to Sri Yogi Adityanath, State and India. When they could not succeed to contain his rise in politics they had set up an impostor, the petitioner to be indulged in vexatious prosecution. The petitioner's resources, to fight such a litigation, should be investigated. It is, therefore, submitted that the present petition is nothing but an abuse of process of the Court, and it is required to be dismissed with an exemplary cost.

21. I have considered the submissions advanced by the learned Senior Advocate for the petitioner as well as learned Additional Advocate General for the respondent - State.

22. The facts and issues have been extracted in detail herein above which are not in dispute. The question, which would require to be answered, is that whether it could have been opened to the learned trial Court to decide the issue of validity of the order, refusing prosecution sanction of the respondent when the Supreme Court had dismissed the criminal appeal and left the question of sanction to be answered in an appropriate case. As mentioned above, the only question which was raised by the learned counsel for the petitioner before the Supreme Court was regarding the validity of order, refusing sanction for prosecution under Section 196 CrPC. The Supreme Court, however, taking note of the facts & circumstances, did not answer the issue and dismissed the appeal and, thus, the judgment of the Division Bench had attained finality. The said issue could not have been decided by the learned trial Court again. I find that the trial Court has rightly refused to go into the said question once it got decided by the Supreme Court. Once the question of sanction got finally settled, the trial Court could not have taken cognizance on the police report or on the protest petition as the accused, being a public servant, no cognizance could be taken without there being sanction by the competent authority for prosecution.

23. The Supreme Court in the case reported in 1972 (2) SCC 466 (Bhagat Ram Vs. State of Rajasthan) has held that the principle of res judicata is also applicable to criminal proceedings, and it is not permissible in the subsequent stage of the same proceedings to convict a person for an offence in respect of which an order for his acquittal has already been passed. The provisions of Section 403 CrPC is based upon the same principle of res judicata. Paragraphs 12, 13 and 14 of the said judgment would read as under:-

"12. It would appear from the resume of facts given above that both Bhagat Ram and Ram Swaroop were acquitted by the special judge. On appeal filed by the State of Rajasthan against the acquittal of the two accused, Tyagi and Lodha, JJ. maintained the order relating to the acquittal of Ram Swaroop. As regards Bhagat Ram, though there was a difference between the two judges regarding the correctness of his acquittal for offenses under Section 5(1) (a) of Prevention of Corruption Act and Section 161 of Indian Penal Code, they concurred with regard to the acquittal of Bhagat Ram in respect of the charges under Sections 120-B, 218, 347 and 389 I.P.C. The State appeal against the acquittal of Bhagat Ram was dismissed to that extent. The order which was made by the learned judges of the Division Bench reads as under :

"By the Court. The result is that the appeal of the State against the order of acquittal of respondent Ram Swaroop is dismissed. The appeal of the State so far as it relates to the acquittal of respondent Bhagat Ram under Sections 347, 218, 389 and 120-B Indian Penal Code is also dismissed. In view of the difference of opinion about the acquittal of Bhagat Ram under Section 161 Indian Penal Code and Section 5(1)(a) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, the matter may be laid before Hon'ble the Chief Justice for referring it to the third Judge."

13. In view of the fact that the State appeal against the acquittal of Bhagat Ram for offenses under Sections 120B, 218, 347 and 389 I.P.C. had been dismissed by the Division Bench, it was, in our opinion, not permissible for the third judge to reopen the matter and convict Bhagat Ram for offenses under Sections 347, 389 and 120B I.P.C. The matter had been referred under Section 429 of the Code of Criminal Procedure to Jagat Narayan, J. because there was a difference of opinion between Tyagi, J. and Lodha, J. regarding the correctness of the acquittal of Bhagat Ram for offenses under Section 161 I.P.C. And Section 5(1)(a) of Prevention of Corruption Act. Jagat Narayan, J. could go only into this aspect of the matter and arrive at his conclusion. The present was not a case wherein the entire matter relating to the acquittal or conviction of Bhagat Ram had been left open because of a difference of opinion between the two judges. Had that been the position the whole case relating to Bhagat Ram could legitimately be considered by Jagat Narayan, J. and he could have formed his own view of the matter regarding the correctness of the order of acquittal made by the trial judge in respect of Bhagat Ram. On the contrary, as mentioned earlier, an express order had been made by the Division Bench upholding the acquittal of Bhagat Ram for offenses under Sections 120-B, 218,347 and 389 I.P.C. and the State appeal in that respect had been dismissed. The above decision of the Division Bench was binding upon Jagat Narayan, J. and he was in error in convicting Bhagat Ram for offenses under Sections 120-B, 218 and 347 I.P.C. despite the order of the Division Bench. It was, in our opinion, not within the competence of the learned judge to reopen the matter and pass the above order of conviction in the face of the earlier order of the Division Bench whereby the order of acquittal of Bhagat Ram made by the trial judge in respect of the said three charges had been affirmed. The order of the Division Bench unless set aside in appeal to this Court, was binding and conclusive in all subsequent proceedings between the parties. The principle of res judicata is also applicable to criminal proceedings and it is not permissible in the subsequent stage of the same proceedings or in some other subsequent proceedings to convict a person for an offence in respect of which an order for his acquittal has already been recorded.

The plea of autrefois acquit as a bar to prosecution embodied in Section 403 of the Code of Criminal Procedure is based upon the above wholesome principle.

14. In the case of Sambasivam v. Public Prosecutor, Federal of Malaya, Lord MacDermott observed:

"The effect of a verdict of acquittal pronounced by a competent court on a lawful charge and after a lawful trial is not completely stated by saying that the person acquitted cannot be tried again for the same offence. To that it must be added that the verdict is binding and conclusive in all subsequent proceedings between the parties to the adjudication.

The maxim 'res judicata proveritate ascipitur' is no less applicable, to criminal than to civil proceedings. Here, the appellant having been acquitted at the first trial on the charge of having ammunition in his possession, the prosecution was bound to accept the correctness of that verdict and was precluded from taking any steps to challenge it at the second trial."

The above observations were quoted with approval by this Court in the case of Pritam Singh v. State of Punjab. We are, therefore, of the opinion that the judgment of Jagat Narayan, J., in so far as he has convicted Bhagat Ram for offenses under Sections 120-B, 218 and 347 I.P.C. cannot be sustained."

24. In the present case, the question of validity of sanction got decided by the Division Bench of this Court against which the Supreme Court had dismissed the appeal and, therefore, the question of validity of order, refusing sanction for prosecution under Section 196 CrPC of the accused got finally settled, and the said issue is barred by principle of res judicata in subsequent proceedings of the same case. The trial Court has, therefore, correctly held that the said issue could not be re-opened while deciding the protest petition.

25. The Supreme Court in the case reported in (2013) 10 SCC 705 (Anil Kumar and others Vs. M.K. Aiyappa and another) has held that on the plea of proper sanction the Magistrate cannot order investigation against the public servant while invoking the power under Section 156 CrPC. Paragraphs 21 and 22 of the said judgment would read as under:-

"21. The learned Senior Counsel appearing for the appellants raised the contention that the requirement of sanction is only procedural in nature and hence, directory or else Section 19(3) would be rendered otiose. We find it difficult to accept that contention. Sub-section (3) of Section 19 has an object to achieve, which applies in circumstances where a Special Judge has already rendered a finding, sentence or order. In such an event, it shall not be reversed or altered by a court in appeal, confirmation or revision on the ground of absence of sanction. That does not mean that the requirement to obtain sanction is not a mandatory requirement. Once it is noticed that there was no previous sanction, as already indicated in various judgments referred to hereinabove, the Magistrate cannot order investigation against a public servant while invoking powers under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. The above legal position, as already indicated, has been clearly spelt out in Paras Nath Singh and Subramanium Swamy cases..

22. Further, this Court in Army Headquarters v. CBI opined as follows: (SCC p. 261, paras 82-83)

"82. Thus, in view of the above, the law on the issue of sanction can be summarized to the effect that the question of sanction is of paramount importance for protecting a public servant who has acted in good faith while performing his duty. In order that the public servant may not be unnecessarily harassed on a complaint of an unscrupulous person, it is obligatory on the part of the executive authority to protect him.....

83. If the law requires sanction, and the court proceeds against a public servant without sanction, the public servant has a right to raise the issue of jurisdiction as the entire action may be rendered void ab-initio."

26. Once the sanction for prosecution was refused, the investigation, even otherwise could not have been carried out by an order under Section 156(3) CrPC as in the present case. The petitioner appears to be a busy body who himself is facing several criminal cases, and he has been fighting this case since 2007. The petitioner must have been incurring huge expenses in engaging counsels to contest this case before the trial Court, this Court and the Supreme Court. His resources to fight/contest the litigation should be a matter of investigation. There may be some force in the submission raised by Mr. Manish Goyal, learned Additional Advocate General that the petitioner is an impostor who has been set up by the forces, which are opposing Sri Yogi Adityanath, the present Chief Minister of the State of Uttar Pradesh, and the forces, which do not want progress of the State of Uttar Pradesh and India. It is for the State to investigate the said aspect, however, this Court does not want to say anything further or give any direction in this regard.

27. With the aforesaid observations, this petition stands dismissed *with an exemplary cost of Rs. 1,00,000/- (Rupees (One Lakh) to be deposited in the "Army Welfare Fund Battle Casualties" within four weeks from today, failing which the same shall be recovered as arrears of land revenue from estates/assets of the petitioner.

Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Section 482- Victim married the applicant out of her own free will, leading the court to quash the proceedings–the parties had already settled their dispute–inherent powers under Section 482 CrPC to quash criminal proceedings- even in certain cognizable and non-compoundable offences–in cases with a predominantly civil flavour, such as those arising from commercial, financial, matrimonial, or family disputes- if the possibility of conviction is remote and continuation would cause oppression and injustice.

1. Mr. Chandra Bhan Dubey, learned for the opposite party no.2 has not appeared even in the revised call.

2. Heard Mr. Sachin Kanaujiya, learned counsel for the applicant, Mr. Amit Singh Chauhan, learned AGA for the State and perused the records.

3. This application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed to quash the charge sheet dated 25.06.2015 and the cognizance order dated 30.07.2015 as well as the entire proceedings of Criminal Case No. 36 of 2015 (State Vs. Rajiv Kumar), arising out of Case Crime No.118 of 2015, under Sections 363, 366 and 376 I.P.C. and Section 3/4 of POCSO Act, P.S. Doghat, District-Baghpat, Additional District and Sessions Judge, Baghpat.

4. On 13.09.2022, the following order was passed:-

"As per office report dated 13.09.2022, notice has been personally served upon opposite party no.2.

Learned counsel for the applicant submits that the applicant has married opposite party no.3 and they are living a happy married life.

An FIR has been lodged by opposite party no.2 (maternal uncle of opposite party no.3) who is trying to ruin the married life of the parties by not appearing before the Court. In such a situation and in view of various judgments of the Hon'ble Apex Court, continuance of proceedings in the present case would amount to abuse of process of law.

In view of the above, let the applicant as well as opposite party no.3 be present before the Court on the next date.

List on 21.09.2022.

Interim order is extended till the next date of listing."

5. In compliance of the order of the Court dated 13.09.2022, the applicant, namely, Rajiv Kumar and the opposite party no.3, namely, Upasana are present alongwith her son, who is four and half years old, in the Court today, who have been identified and signatures have also been attested by learned counsel for the applicant.

6. The rejoinder affidavit has been filed by Mr. Sachin Kanaujia, learned counsel for the applicant, in which, deponent is Upasana, who is wife of applicant.

7. On query being raised, the opposite party no.3, namely, Upasana has stated that she has married the applicant out of her own sweet will and is living happy married life. Out of their wedlock, they are blessed with a male child, who is presently four and half years old. As per her date of birth, she was nearly 17 and half years old at the time of marriage. She has also stated that her in-laws have accepted their marriage and she is staying happily with them. She has also stated that FIR has been lodged by her maternal uncle, i.e. opposite party no.2, who is trying to ruin the married life of Upasana. She has further stated that she has entered into compromise and deposed before this Court, out of her free will, consent and without any external pressure, coercion or threat of any kind.

8. Learned counsel for the applicants submits that on account of compromise entered into between the parties concerned, all disputes between them have come to an end, and therefore, further proceedings against the applicant in the aforesaid case is liable to be quashed by this Court. In support of his contention, learned counsel for the applicant has relied upon the judgment of this Apex Court in the case of Mafat Lal and another vs. State of Rajasthan report on 2022 LawSuit(SC) 463 and also relied upon the judgment of this Court in the case of Gufran Shaikh @ Gani Munawwar vs. State of U.P. and another decided on 28.07.2022 passed in Application U/s 482 No.10258 of 2021.

9. Learned A.G.A. does not dispute the aforesaid fact and submitted at the Bar that since the parties concerned have settled their dispute as mentioned above, therefore, he has no objection in quashing the impugned criminal proceedings against the applicants.

10. Before proceeding any further it shall be apt to make a brief reference to the case of Gian Singh Vs. State of Punjab reported in (2012) 10 SCC 303, wherein the Apex Court has categorically held that the compromise can be made between the parties even in respect of certain cognizable and non compoundable offences. The relevant portion of the said judgment of the Apex Court reads as follows:-

"57. The position that emerges from the above discussion can be summarised thus: the power of the High Court in quashing a criminal proceeding or FIR or complaint in exercise of its inherent jurisdiction is distinct and different from the power given to a criminal court for compounding the offences under Section 320 of the Code. Inherent power is of wide plenitude with no statutory limitation but it has to be exercised in accord with the guideline engrafted in such power viz; (i) to secure the ends of justice or (ii) to prevent abuse of the process of any Court. In what cases power to quash the criminal proceeding or complaint or F.I.R may be exercised where the offender and victim have settled their dispute would depend on the facts and circumstances of each case and no category can be prescribed. However, before exercise of such power, the High Court must have due regard to the nature and gravity of the crime. Heinous and serious offences of mental depravity or offences like murder, rape, dacoity, etc. cannot be fittingly quashed even though the victim or victim's family and the offender have settled the dispute. Such offences are not private in nature and have serious impact on society. Similarly, any compromise between the victim and offender in relation to the offences under special statutes like Prevention of Corruption Act or the offences committed by public servants while working in that capacity etc; cannot provide for any basis for quashing criminal proceedings involving such offences. But the criminal cases having overwhelmingly and pre-dominatingly civil flavour stand on different footing for the purposes of quashing, particularly the offences arising from commercial, financial, mercantile, civil, partnership or such like transactions or the offences arising out of matrimony relating to dowry, etc. or the family disputes where the wrong is basically private or personal in nature and the parties have resolved their entire dispute. In this category of cases, High Court may quash criminal proceedings if in its view, because of the compromise between the offender and victim, the possibility of conviction is remote and bleak and continuation of criminal case would put accused to great oppression and prejudice and extreme injustice would be caused to him by not quashing the criminal case despite full and complete settlement and compromise with the victim. In other words, the High Court must consider whether it would be unfair or contrary to the interest of justice to continue with the criminal proceeding or continuation of the criminal proceeding would tantamount to abuse of process of law despite settlement and compromise between the victim and wrongdoer and whether to secure the ends of justice, it is appropriate that criminal case is put to an end and if the answer to the above question(s) is in affirmative, the High Court shall be well within its jurisdiction to quash the criminal proceeding."

11. The Apex Court in Parbatbhai Aahir alias Parbhathbhai Bhimsinghbhai Karmur and others vs. State of Gujarat and another, (2017) 9 SCC 641, summarizing the broad principles regarding inherent powers of the High Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has recognized that these powers are not inhibited by provisions of Section 320 Cr.P.C.

12. The Apex Court in the case of Narinder Singh and others vs. State of Punjab and others reported in (2014)6 SCC 466 and also in State of Madhya Pradesh vs. Laxmi Narayan and others reported in (2019) 5 SCC 688, has summed up and laid down principles by which the High Court would be guided in giving adequate treatment to the settlement between the parties and exercise its power under Section 482 of the Code while accepting the settlement and quashing the proceedings or refusing to accept the settlement with direction to continue with criminal proceedings.

13. In the present case, no doubt offence under the relevant sections 363, 366 and 376 of IPC and Sections 3/4 of POCSO Act are not compoundable under Section 320 Cr.P.C. However, as explained by Hon'ble Apex Court in Gian Singh's, Narinder Singh's, Parbatbhai Aahir's and Laxmi Narayan's cases (supra), power of High Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C is not inhibited by the provisions of Section 320 Cr.P.C and FIR as well as criminal proceedings can be quashed by exercising inherent powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C, if warranted in given facts and circumstances of the case for ends of justice or to prevent abuse of the process of any Court, even in those cases which are not compoundable where parties have settled the matter between themselves.

14. In the case of Madan Mohan Abbot vs. State of Punjab, reported in (2008) 4 SCC 582, the Apex Court emphasized and advised that in the matter of compromise in criminal proceedings, keeping in view of nature of this case, to save the time of the Court for utilizing to decide more effective and meaningful litigation, a commonsense approach, based on ground realities and bereft of the technicalities of law, should be applied.

15. In the aforesaid judgments, the Apex Court has categorically held that compromise can be made between the parties even in respect of certain cognizable and non compoundable offences. The present case is also a case where two societal interests are in clash. To punish the offenders for a crime, involved in present case, is in the interest of society, but, at the same time, husband is taking care of his wife and in case, husband is convicted and sentenced for societal interest, then, wife will be in great trouble and their future would be ruined. It is also in the interest of society to settle and resettle the family for their welfare.

16. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case, as noted herein above, and also the submissions made by the counsel for the parties, the court is of the considered opinion that the victim/opposite party no.3, herself, has stated before this Court that she has married the applicant out of her own sweet will and is living happy married life. Out of their wedlock, they are blessed with a male child, who is presently four and half years old. Therefore, no useful purpose shall be served by prolonging the proceedings of the above mentioned criminal case as the parties have already settled their dispute.

17. Accordingly, the charge sheet dated 25.06.2015 and the cognizance order dated 30.07.2015 as well as the entire proceedings of Criminal Case No. 36 of 2015 (State Vs. Rajiv Kumar), arising out of Case Crime No.118 of 2015, under Sections 363, 366 and 376 I.P.C. and Section 3/4 of POCSO Act, P.S. Doghat, District-Baghpat, Additional District and Sessions Judge, Baghpat are hereby quashed.

18. The application is, accordingly, allowed. There shall be no order as to costs.

19. A copy of this order be certified to the lower court forthwith.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Kumar Singh, J.)

1. These seven petitioners under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (hereinafter referred to as the "CrPC") have been filed, impugning the summoning order dated 07.07.2022 passed by the learned Special Judicial Magistrate, C.B.I., Lucknow in Complaint Case No. 3845 of 2019.

2. The facts, giving rise to these petitioners briefly stated are that the Government of India launched a scheme, named and styled as 'National Rural Health Mission' (hereinafter referred to as the "NRHM") on 12.04.2003 with a view to provide accessible, adequate and affordable health service to all persons, particularly, to vulnerable section of the society, residing in remote areas. The separate Memorandum of Understandings were entered into between the Central Government and the State Governments for decentralizing the implementation of the scheme and mobilizing the resources for implementing the said scheme. Such a Memorandum of Understanding with the Government of Uttar Pradesh was entered into on 12.11.2006. As per the said Memorandum, 85% funds were to be provided by the Central Government whereas the State Government was to contribute 15% of the total funds for the Mission.

3. The State Health Society (hereinafter referred to as the "SHS") was established under the Chairmanship of Chief Secretary, Government of Uttar Pradesh and the existing State Agencies involved in implementation of tuberculous, blindness and leprosy eradication as well as other State Empowered Committee for RCH etc. were merged with he SHS.

4. On the allegation of large scale bungling, misappropriation and cheating of public funds, while implementing the NRHM by the government officials, in active connivance and conspiracy with private persons, Public Interest Litigation Petition Nos. 3611 (M/B) of 2011, 3301 (M/B) of 2011 and 2647 (M/B) of 2011 came to be filed. This Court vide order 15th November, 2011 directed as under:-

".....We are prima facie convinced that gross irregularities financial and administrative appear to have been committed in the execution and implementation of NRHM including the matter of award of contracts, procurement of goods, article and etc. at various levels.

.....The facts and circumstances, aforesaid make out a case for reference to CBI for making a preliminary enquiry in the affairs of NRHM in the entire State of U.P. right from the very inception of the NRHM.

We, therefore, direct the Director, CBI to conduct a preliminary enquiry in the matter of execution and implementation of the NRHM and utilization of funds at various levels during such implementation in the entire State of U.P. and register regular case in respect of persons against whom prima facie cognizable offence is made out and proceed in accordance with law. The preliminary enquiry shall be conducted from the period commencing year 2005-06 till date....."

5. In compliance of the directions issued by this Court, the CBI, after making preliminary inquiries, registered FIR bearing RC No.01(A)/2012 dated 02.01.2012 in the matter of irregularities in utilization of funds allocated to the UP Small Scale Industries Corporation for supply/procurement of various items under the NRHM during the year 2009-2010.

6. In May, 2010, the State Government of U.P. vide Government Order No.1570/Sec-2-5-10-7(109) dated 05.05.2010 bifurcated the post of Chief Medical Officer (hereinafter referred to as the "CMO") into District Project Officer (Family Welfare) and CMO (Health). Considerable funds under NRHM Scheme were placed at the disposal of the CMO (Family Welfare) of various districts of U.P. for procurement of medicines and equipments, hiring contractual manpower and ambulances, expenditure on information, education and communication which included publicity through wall-writings, banners, posters and advertisements etc.

7. Dr. Y.S. Sachan had remained posted as Deputy Chief Medical Officer in the office of CMO, Lucknow from 26.07.2007 to 08.09.2010 when Dr. Anil Kumar Shukla was working as CMO, Lucknow. After bifurcation, Dr. A.K. Shukla was posted as CMO (Health), Lucknow, whereas on 15.05.2010 Dr. Rajendra Prasad Kushwaha was posted as District Project Officer (Family Welfare), Lucknow. On 24.07.2010, Dr. Vinod Kumar Arya (hereinafter referred to as "V.K. Arya") was posted as successor of Dr. Rajendra Prasad Kushwaha. Dr. Y.S. Sachan was transferred from office of the CMO (Health), Lucknow to the office of District Project Officer (Family Welfare), Lucknow vide Order No.1529/5-9-2010-09(221/10) dated 09.09.2010. In the month of October, 2010, the post of District Project Officer (Family Welfare) was re-designated as CMO (Family Welfare).

8. Dr. V.K. Arya was shot dead in the morning of 27.10.2010, while he was taking morning walk near his house at Vikas Nagar, Lucknow by some unidentified motorcycle borne assailants. First Information Report (hereinafter referred to as the "FIR") vide Case Crime No.0322 of 2010 was registered at Police Station Vikas Nagar, Lucknow under Section 302 IPC on the complaint of Dr. (Smt) Shashi Kumari, wife of Dr. V.K. Arya. In this case, local police initially arrested Vijay Dubey, Abhay Singh, Anshu Dixit, Amit Kumar Dixit and Ajay Mishra. After murder, the charge of CMO (Family Welfare), Lucknow was given to Dr. Y.S. Sachan on 22.11.2010, who worked as In-charge CMO (Family Welfare), Lucknow till 25.02.2011 in the absence of regular CMO. During the Financial Year 2010-2011, a total amount of Rs. 32.49 Crores were received by the Lucknow District under different heads of NRHM Schemes from State Health Society, out of which a total amount of Rs.19.35 Crores were spent. Dr. Y.S. Sachan, during his tenure as In-charge CMO (Family Welfare), Lucknow, spent an amount of Rs. 8 Crores 21 Lac under different heads.

9. After murder of Dr. V.K. Arya, Dr. B.P. Singh was posted as CMO (Family Welfare), Lucknow on 25.02.2011 and Dr. Y.S. Sachan continued to work as his Deputy CMO. In the morning of 02.04.2011, Dr. B.P. Singh was also shot dead by motorcycle borne unidentified assailants near his house, while he was taking morning walk in similar fashion as was the case in committing murder of Dr. V.K. Arya. In this regard, FIR vide Case Crime No.0269 of 2011 dated 02.04.2011, under Section 302 IPC was registered at Police Station Gomti Nagar, Lucknow. Investigation was taken up by Sub-Inspector, Mr. Abhimanyu Dhar Dwivedi, Sation Officer. On 04.04.2011, Mr. Abhimanyu Dhar Dwivedi, Station Officer of Police Station Gomti Nagar and I.O of the case examined Dr. Y.S. Sachan and recorded his statement in order to get some clue in murder case of Dr. B.P. Singh, but without any success.

10. After murder of Dr. B.P. Singh on 02.04.2011, an FIR vide Case Crime No.0112 of 2011 was registered at Police Station Wazirganj, Lucknow on 05.04.2011, under Sections 409, 419, 420, 467, 468 and 471 IPC against Dr. Y.S. Sachan and two others for bungling, misappropriation, cheating and forgery etc of NRHM funds during the Financial Year 2010-2011. On 05.04.2011, Dr. Y.S. Sachan was summoned in Crime Branch, Hazratganj, Lucknow. Dr. Y.S. Sachan was arrested on the same day in relation to Case Crime No.0112 of 2011 and sent to District Jail, Lucknow on 06.04.2011.

11. In view of murders of the two CMOs, both the Ministers for Health and Family Welfare resigned on 07.04.2011 and Mr. Pradeep Shukla, Principal Secretary (Health) was also transferred on the same day. Another FIR vide Case Crime No.0115 of 2011 was also registered at Police Station Wazirganj, Lucknow under Sections 409, 419, 420, 467, 468 and 471 IPC on 07.04.2011 against Dr. Y.S. Sachan and Dr. A.K. Shukla for misappropriation, bungling, cheating of NRHM funds in CMO Office, Lucknow during the Financial Year 2009-2010. Dr. Y.S. Sachan remained in judicial custody from 05.04.2011 to 06.04.2011. On account of high blood pressure and diabetes, Dr. Y.S. Sachan was admitted in District Jail Hospital, Lucknow on 06.04.2011. On 08.04.2011, Dr. Y.S. Sachan was taken on police custody remand for 48 hours in Case Crime No.0112 of 2011 lodged at Police Station Wajirganj, Lucknow, but again he got hospitalized in Balrampur District Hospital at 5.30 p.m. Dr. Y.S. Sachan was discharged from Balrampur District Hospital on 10.04.2011 and sent to District Jail, Lucknow where he was admitted in District Jail Hospital and discharged on 11.04.2011. Dr. Y.S. Sachan was again taken on police custody remand for one day on 13.04.2011 in Case Crime No.0112 of 2011. The Jail Doctor, however, opined that his police custody was subject to clearance from the expert of Balrampur District Hospital. Dr. Y.S. Sachan was admitted in Balrampur District Hospital and discharged on the next day i.e. 14.04.2011 and again sent back to District Jail, Lucknow. Dr. Y.S. Sachan remained hospitalized in District Jail Hospital, Lucknow from 10.04.2011 to 11.04.2011, from 16.04.2011 to 07.06.2011 and from 11.06.2011 to 22.06.2011 (till his death).

12. It would be relevant to take note that after two months from initial arrest on 05.04.2011, when Dr. Y.S. Sachan was again taken in police custody remand for 24 hours on 10.06.2011 in relation to Case Crime No.0115 of 2011 lodged at Police Station Wazirganj his statement was recorded for the second time by the Investigating Officer, Mr. Abhimanyu Dhar

Dwivedi on 15.06.2011 in relation to Case Crime No.0269 of 2011 lodged at Police Station Gomti Nagar (Dr. B.P. Singh murder case) after taking permission from the Court. On 17.06.2011, Special Task Force (hereinafter referred to as the "STF"), Lucknow of U.P. Police arrested Anand Prakash Tiwari, Ram Krishan Verma and Vinod Sharma for murder of Dr. B.P. Singh and during interrogation, they had disclosed complicity of Dr. Y.S. Sachan in the said case. On the same day i.e. 17.06.2011, in the evening, the then Cabinet Secretary of Government of U.P. convened a press conference and claimed that the two CMOs were murdered at the instance of Dr. Y.S. Sachan. On 18.06.2011, Sub-Inspector, Mr. Abhimanyu Dhar Dwivedi filed an application in the Court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Lucknow for production of Dr. Y.S. Sachan before the Court so that he might be remanded in judicial custody in relation to Case Crime No.0269 of 2011. Accordingly, Dr. Y.S. Sachan was produced in the Court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Lucknow on 20.06.2011. Sub-Inspector, Mr. Abhimanyu Dhar Dwivedi recorded further statement of Dr. Y.S. Sachan on 21.06.2011 in District Jail, Lucknow after permission from the Court. On 22.06.2011, dead-body of Dr. Y.S. Sachan was found on 1st Floor of unused toilet of Jail Hospital, Lucknow. On 23.06.2011, Dr. Malti Sachan, wife of Dr. Y.S. Sachan, sent a complaint to the Station Officer, Police Station Gosainganj, Lucknow, alleging therein murder of her husband on 22.06.2011 in Jail Hospital, Lucknow. On the basis of the complaint sent by Dr. Malti Sachan, wife of Dr. Y.S. Sachan, FIR vide Case Crime No.0276 of 2011 dated 26.06.2011 was lodged against unknown person(s) under Sections 120-B and 302 IPC.

13. Dr. Malti Sachan, in her complaint, alleged that on 05.04.2011 her husband was summoned by the Wazirganj Police, Lucknow for interrogation in the case relating to large scale financial irregularities in Family Welfare Department and that there appeared to be involvement of high ranking officers. Earlier two CMOs were also murdered. Her husband was sent to prison pursuant to a well-designed criminal conspiracy hatched by the responsible officers of the State Government on the allegations of bungling of Crores of rupees in Family Welfare Department. Initially, there were allegations of financial irregularities against him but later on, he was also linked to the murders of Dr. V.K. Arya and Dr. B.P. Singh, both were the then CMOs (Family Welfare), Lucknow. On 23.06.2011, her husband was to appear in the Court and he could have disclosed involvement of high influential persons in the Government. Her husband was done to death in a planned manner by inflicting grievous injuries in order to shield the high influential persons.

14. This Court vide order dated 14.07.2011 passed in Writ Petition No.6601 (M/B) of 2011 (PIL) filed by (Sachchidanand Sachchay Vs. State of U.P. and others) directed the CBI to investigate reasons, circumstances and cause of death of Dr. Y.S. Sachan. FIR vide Case Crime No.0276 of 2011, lodged at Police Station Gosaiganj, was re-registered as FIR No.RC0532011S0004 of 2011, under Sections 302 and 120-B IPC, Police Station CBI/SCB/Lucknow on 15.07.2011.

15. The CBI took cognizance pursuant to the said order passed by this Court in respect of death of Dr. Y.S. Sachan.

16. As per statement recorded on 15.06.2011 by the Investigating Officer (hereinafter referred to as the "IO"), Abhimanyu Dhar Dwivedi, Dr. Y.S. Sachan admitted his complicity in the murder case of both the CMOs. In case of Dr.V.K. Arya, he admitted that after issuance of Government Orders dated 14.10.2010 and 18.10.2010 he was not made second signatory to sign cheques by Dr. V.K. Arya due to which he was not getting any monetary benefit. In case of Dr. B.P. Singh, he (Dr. Y.S. Sachan) admitted that Dr. B.P. Singh had humiliated him for various payments made during his tenure as CMO (Family Welfare), Lucknow towards hiring of vehicles, maintenance of official buildings and hiring security guards etc. He was also accused of making fraudulent payment of Rs. 1.05 Lac to his associate, Ram Krishna Verma. Dr. B.P. Singh was bent upon fixing him for the financial irregularities. He also visited house of Dr. B.P. Singh to sort out the matter but in vain. He confined ill-treatment meted out to him at the hands of Dr. B.P. Singh to his associate, Mr. Ram Krishna Verma, who assured him that he would get rid of Dr. B.P. Singh as was done in the case of Dr. V.K. Arya.

17. The STF, Lucknow of UP Police was working in tandem with Lucknow Police to solve the murder cases of the two CMOs. On 17.06.2011, the STF, Lucknow arrested three accused persons, namely, Ram Krishna Verma, Anand Prakash Tiwari and Vinod Sharma for their involvement in the murder of Dr. B.P. Singh. During interrogation, the trio admitted before the STF that both the CMOs were murdered at the instance of Dr. Y.S. Sachan and thereafter the Cabinet Secretary, Government of U.P., in the evening of 17.06.2011, held a press conference and said that as per the police investigation both the CMOs (Dr. V. K. Arya and Dr. B. P. Singh) were murdered at the instance Dr. Y.S. Sachan. The said conference was given wide coverage by both Electronic and Print Media.

18. It is said that as per police statement of Dr. Y.S. Sachan recorded on 21.06.2011, Ram Krishna Verma, friend of Dr. Y.S. Sachan, introduced him to Anand Prakash Tiwari. Anand Prakash Tiwari was offered Rs. 7 Lac for committing murder of Dr.B.P. Singh. Anand Prakash Tiwari was given Rs.50,000/- as an advance for the job. Dr. Y.S. Sachan took Anand Prakash Tiwari to his office and showed him the target i.e. Dr. B.P. Singh. He also provided residential address to Dr. B.P. Singh to Anand Prakash Tiwari and showed his house to him. Dr. Y.S. Sachan was not talking to his accomplices over phone to chalk out the strategy but would convey the modalities through Ram Krishna Verma or in person. In the morning of 02.04.2011, Anand Prakash Tiwari came to him to collect the remaining amount after committing the murder of Dr. B.P. Singh. Anand Prakash Tiwari handed over him the pistol used in commission of the crime, which Dr. Y.S. Sachan concealed in his office and was ready to get it recovered to the police.

19. The CBI, in its investigation, in respect of death of Dr. Y.S. Sachan, found that on 22.06.2011, while locking the jail in the evening, Dr. Y.S. Sachan was found missing. On being searched, his dead-body was found at about 20.15 hours under mysterious circumstances on 1st floor in an unused toilet of minor operation theater of the jail hospital which was under construction. There were cut-marks on his body, and a leather belt was found tied around his neck. Buckle end of the belt was found entangled in the ventilator of toilet. The dead-body was taken out from the toilet and kept in the corridor at 1st floor for examination by doctor of jail hospital. On examination, Dr. V.V. Tripathi declared him dead at about 20.30 hours. The information was given to the Station Officer, Police Station Gosaiganj, Lucknow about death of Dr. Y.S. Sachan and the inquest proceedings were conducted by Mr. Jitendra Srivastava, Tehsildar, Mohanlalganj on the same day. The inquest proceedings were conducted from 23:15 hours of 22.06.2011 to 01:30 hours of 23.06.2011. After inquest proceedings got concluded FSL Team, comprising of the experts from biology, serology, physics, ballistics, photography and their supporting staff reached at the spot and sniffer dogs were also pressed into service. The place of occurrence and dead-body were photographed and video recorded by the experts of the FSL, Lucknow in the night of 22/23.06.2011.

20. A panel of doctors was constitute for conducting autopsy. As per postmortem report, there were 8 antemortem incised wounds and one postmortem ligature mark on neck of body of Dr. Y.S. Sachan. Cause of death was opined to be shock and hemorrhage.

21. The FSL submitted its report dated 18.07.2011 regarding inspection of scene of occurrence on 22.06.2011 and 23.06.2011 and as per the FSL report a leather belt was found tied around the neck of the deceased with a slipping knot, blood was spread all over the floor of the toilet and clotted. One plastic bottle, half filled with water like liquid, was also fond on the door of the toilet, blood was detected on the iron rod of the ventilator and also recovered one half shaving blade under questionable circumstances.

22. Dr. B.S. Arora, Additional Director and Dr. S.C. Mittal, Joint Director, State Forensic Medicine Experts, Government of U.P. vide their report dated 22.07.2011 opined that the death of Dr. Y.S. Sachan did not appear to be a case of suicide.

23. The CBI, during the course of investigation, requisitioned the services of experts of CFSL, CBI, New Delhi, along with Dr. T.D. Dogra, Professor & Head, Department of Forensic Medicine and Toxicology, AIIMS, New-Delhi. The experts collected certain samples from the scene of occurrence and the place was also photographed. During inspection, jail hospital premises was also searched to trace any physical clue/chance, however, nothing incriminating was found. Dr. M.S. Dahiya, Deputy Director, FSL, Gandhinagar, Gujarat also inspected the place of occurrence. CCTV footage of cameras installed in District Jail, Lucknow were scanned/scrutinized for movement of any person and vehicle.

24. The CBI sought constitution of a medical board of experts at AIIMS, New-Delhi for opinion on the nature of injuries and cause of death. Expert opinion of the hand-writing experts of documents seized/recovered during investigation was also sought. Polygraph examination of suspected persons was conducted.

25. The Medical Board of AIIMS, New-Delhi was of the opinion that the deceased could have first attempted to kill himself by inflicting incised wounds on the known suicidal sites where arteries and veins were situated i.e. writs, elbow, neck and inguinal region. The injuries inflicted did not cut any artery or vein instead of superficial veins were cut from which there was bleeding, but it was very slow. Hence, after sometime, when the deceased realized that the injuries were not killing him fast, he could have attempted to hang himself with the help of belt in which he had succeeded and, therefore, the immediate cause of death in this case was asphyxia as a result of hanging associated with the bleeding from the injuries inflicted. This observation was made by the Board of Doctors of AIIMS, New-Delhi after perusing/examining postmortem report, video recording of postmortem examination and photographs of dead-body and place of occurrence taken on 22/23.06.2011-. The Board answered the questions framed by the CBI in detail which is part of the investigation report of the CBI.

26. As many as seven jail officials and one Ajmat Ullah Beg, convict, who was working in Jail Hospital, were subjected to polygraph examination and they denied their involvement in any foul play relating to murder of Dr. Y.S. Sachan, and the CBI did not find their involvement on any of the material issues. The CBI, after analyzing its evidence and opinion of the experts, was of the view that the deceased had committed suicide.

27. The final/closure report submitted under Section 173(2) CrPC by the CBI had included the detailed scientific investigation with the help of experts carried bout by the CBI which runs into several pages and on the basis of the said detailed scientific investigation, the CBI had concluded that Dr. Y.S. Sachan had committed suicide, and it was not a case of homicidal death. The closure report would also disclose that the experts, who conducted serological autopsy in respect of death of Dr. Y.S. Sachan had found that Dr. Y.S. Sachan was under tremendous pressure/stress after seeing newspaper reports dated 18.06.2011 wherein his involvement in murder of two CMOs was widely reported. He was highly disturbed and shown less interest in eating food after 18.06.2011. His blood pressure was very high. He had written typical suicide note, which was recovered among his belongings on the date of incident, suggests that it was in his hand-writing. The injuries would suggest self-inflicted one, specially in absence of definite wounds.

28. The CBI also investigated the procedure/practice for locking and unlocking jail and counting of inmates and jail staff in District Jail, Lucknow and actual events in this regard on 22.06.2011.

29. It is mentioned in the report that Dr. Y.S. Sachan was present in Ward No. 2 at the time of unlocking of jail at 6 hours on 22.06.2011. He used to wake up early in morning for morning walk. On the date of incident, he was seen in the ward in the morning by co-inmates, namely, Furkan, Ramkpal Verma and Kailash. Inmate Shripal Verma had seen Dr. Y.S. Sachan going out of Ward No. 2 with water bottle in his hand. Inmate, Ram Pal Verma who was allotted Bed No. 14 in Ward No. 2 had seen Dr. Y.S. Sachan washing/cleaning his face. He collected water in the bottle at about 7.30 hours in morning of 22.06.2011. Dr. Y.S. Sachan was wearing pant and shirt.

30. During evening counting and locking of the jail hospital, when strength of inmates was communicated by the Head Warder, Mr. Babu Ram Dubey to the Control Room, Chief Head Warder on duty detected discrepancy of shortage of one inmate of Jail Hospital. Control Room informed the same to Mr. Babu Ram Dubey and called him in Control Room. When Mr. Babu Ram Dubey pointed out about Dr. Y.S. Sachan went on remand, he was asked about the slip issued by the office of Deputy Jailer, Under Trial Section, for sending Dr. Y.S. Sachan on remand. On search, the said slip was not found available. When this fact was cross-checked from office of Deputy Jailer (Under Trial) and main gate, it was confirmed that Dr. Y.S. Sachan was not sent on remand on 22.06.2011. Thereafter, search was started for tracing Dr. Y.S. Sachan out.

31. While searching Dr. Y.S. Sachan in this jail hospital premises, the Head Warder, Mr. Babu Ram Dubey went to 1st floor of jail hospital and he found door of the unused toilet attached with the operation theater partly opened. He pushed the door and found a person in sitting posture above the commode of the toilet. The 1st floor of the jail hospital had no electricity supply, but there was visibility due to percolation of lights through glass window panes of the operation theater and toilet ventilator. Head Warder Babu Ram Dubey shouted from 1st floor that Dr. Y.S. Sachan had been found in toilet. On hearing shouts of Mr. Dubey, Mr. Bhimsen Mukund along with Warder Dan Singh and others rushed to 1st floor of the jail hospital.

32. On reaching 1st floor, Mr. Bhimsen Mukund checked inside the toilet. Dr. Y.S. Sachan was taken out from toilet and his body was kept in corridor. Dr. V.V. Tripathi, after examination, declared him dead. The information was given over phone to Mr. V.K. Gupta, IGP (Jail Administration & Reform Services); Mr. Anil Sagar, District Magistrate, Lucknow; Mr. D.K. Thakur, DIG, Lucknow; FSL, Lucknow and to the Station Officer of Police Station Gosaiganj by Mr. S.H.M. Rizvi, Senior Jail Superintendent. Sniffer dogs reached to the spot.

33. On receiving information, Mr. V.K. Gupta, IGP (Jail Administration & Reform Services); Mr. Anil Sagar, District Magistrate, Lucknow; Mr. D.K. Thakur, DIG, Lucknow; experts of FSL and others reached to the spot and inspected the site. Inquest proceedings were conducted by Mr. Jitendra Srivastava, Tehsildar, Mohanlalganj. Mr. V.K. Gupta made inquiries from inmates of Ward No. 2. Thereafter, he searched personal belongings of Dr. Y.S. Sachan lying on the side steel rack of his bed. He took out a note/paper from the belongings of Dr. Y.S. Sachan and after perusing it kept the same in his pocket. Thereafter, Mr. V.K. Gupta again went to 1st floor and read out contents of the said note to someone over phone. Some contents of the note were also overheard by Mr. J.P. Srivastava. During examination, Mr. J.P. Srivastava stated that he overheard that "mujhe apne parivar se koi shikayat nahi hai, na hi karagar ke adhikariyo se"

34. Mr. V.K. Gupta, in the intervening night of 22/23.06.2011 gave a brief interview to electronic media regarding death of Dr. Y.S. Sachan, and he told that note/paper which could be said to be suicide note was found. Something written by hand had been found but till hand-writing was examined and other things were not verified, nothing definite could be said about it.

35. The Lucknow Police was under tremendous pressure to solve the murder case of Dr. B.P. Singh, therefore, various teams were formed and assigned the task of working out the cases. One team, comprising of Inspectors, Mr. Anil Singh and D.K. Shahi and Sub-Inspector, K.N. Singh was also formed under supervision of the then IGP, Lucknow Zone, Lucknow for the said purpose. Dr. Y.S. Sachan was taken on remand for 24 hours by Sub-Inspector, Mr. Shajaur Rahim in 2nd NRHM Scam (Case Crime No.115 of 2011, lodged at Police Station Wazirganj) in the morning of 10.06.2011. In the intervening night of 10/11/06/2011, he was taken to Police Station Chinhat where he was interrogated by team of Inspector, Mr. Anil Singh and others. In the morning of 11.06.2011, he was lodged back at District Jail, Lucknow where he was again interrogated by Inspector, Mr. Anil Singh and Sub-Inspector, Mr. K.N. Singh.

36. During interrogation, Dr. Y.S. Sachan gave a hand-written note/letter meant to be given to Dr. A.K. Shukla, to Inspector, Mr. Anil Singh, who in turn handed over the said letter to Mr. Subeh Kumar Singh, the then IGP, Lucknow Zone, Lucknow. During investigation, the said letter was produced by Mr. Subesh Kumar Singh before the CBI. The letter dated 11.06.2011 written by Dr. Y.S. Sachan addressed to Dr. A.K. Shukla would read as "CMO Dr. A.K. Shukla mai jail me bahut pareshan go gaya hon. Mere pariwar ki halat kharab hai. Ap ne meri kuchh madad nihi kiya. Agar aap ne madad nahi ki to agli remand ki tarikh par police va midia to bata donga ki dono CMO ki hatya apne karwaya hai. Mere parivar ki suraksha ka dhyan rakhiyega. Apka".

37. The said note would indicate that both Dr. Y.S. Sachan and Dr. A.K. Shukla were privy to murder of both the CMOs.

38. The CBI concluded after thorough, detailed and scientific investigation from all angles, including the opinion of the experts, that no evidence had come on record indicating death of Dr. Y.S. Sachan in jail hospital on 22.06.2011 to be a homicide and no evidence could come, pointing out presence of second person on 1st floor of the toilet of jail hospital. The evidence collected during investigation, included statements of witnesses, expert opinion of Board of Directors of AIIMS, New-Delhi, the reports of CFSL experts including biological reports, physics, fingerprint, hand-writing experts, chemical examiner & forensic psychologist all of which indicated that Dr. Y.S. Sachan had committed suicide.

39. The evidence included circumstantial evidence which emerged during investigation revealed that Dr. Y.S. Sachan was extremely disturbed and stressed after disclosure of his complicity in the murder cases of CMOs and he even stopped taking meals. The opinion of the Board of Doctors of AIIMS, New-Delhi that the cause of death in case of Dr. Y.S. Sachan was antemortem hanging associated with multiple suicidal wounds was also fully got corroborated by the oral as well as documentary evidence which came on record during investigation. There was some omissions and commissions on the part of Pahender Singh the then warder and Babu Ram Dubey the then head warder for failing to do actual head count of inmates and maintain correct entries as well as failure on the part of Mr. V.K. Gupta then then IGP (Jail Administration and Reform Services) for bringing on record the note written by Dr. Y.S. Sachan and causing disappearance of the same in view of which matter was taken up by the CBI with the Government of Uttar Pradesh for taking an appropriate departmental action against them.

40. The closure report dated 27.09.2012 was filed by CBI under Section 173 (2) CrPC after reaching to the conclusion that death of Dr. Y.S. Sachan was not homicide, but suicide. The complainant filed a protest petition alleging therein various gaps in the investigation and prayed for further investigation.

41. The CBI filed reply to the protest petition, however, the learned Magistrate vide order dated 22.02.2013 directed the CBI for further investigation of the offence.

42. The CBI undertook the further investigation and filed a supplementary closure report after investigating all the aspects highlighted in the order of learned Magistrate as well as on each of the allegations made by the complainant in the said protest petition; viz. (i) the injuries were not self-inflicted (ii) recovery of blade doubtful (iii) difference of opinion between panel of Board of Forensic Medicine Experts, AIIMS and panel of Doctors who conducted postmortem examination (iv) no proper investigation on belt (v) no report on the surgical knife taken by the police from the pharmacist (vi) statements under Section 161 CrPC of Anil Kumar Singh and petitioner, Subesh Kumar Singh, which were recorded for the note in question (vii) CBI's approach had been abinitio towards the conclusion as a case of suicide (viii) CJM inquiry report; and (ix) second opinion from Board of Experts (AIIMS).

43. The complainant was not satisfied even with the supplementary closure report and again filed a protest petition for summoning of seven accused persons (the petitioners) for trial of murder of Dr. Y.S. Sachan and for causing disappearance of evidence.

44. The CBI filed reply to the protest petition.

45. The learned Magistrate vide order dated 19.11.2019 had rejected the second final report, treating the protest petition as a complaint case. The statement of complainant, Malti Sachan got recorded under Section 200 CrPC and statement of six witnesses got recorded under Section 202 CrPC. Thereafter, the impugned order was passed, summoning the petitioners to face trial under Section 302 read with Section 120-B IPC.

46. The petitioners are Ex-serving government servants. There is no prior sanction under Section 197 CrPC. Absence of sanction, as mandated under Section 197 CrPC, would otherwise vitiate the impugned order. In sum & substance, the allegation is for disappearance of evidence.

47. In the case reported in (2020) 7 SCC 695 (D. Devaraja Vs. Owais Sabeer Hussain), in respect of police officer (accused of offence), while discharging duties, has held in paragraphs 65 to 75, which read as under:-

"65. The law relating to the requirement of sanction to entertain and/or take cognizance of an offence, allegedly committed by a police officer under Section 197 of the Code of Criminal Procedure read with Section 170 of the Karnataka Police Act, is well settled by this Court, inter alia by its decisions referred to above.

66. Sanction of the Government, to prosecute a police officer, for any act related to the discharge of an official duty, is imperative to protect the police officer from facing harassive, retaliatory, revengeful and frivolous proceedings. The requirement of sanction from the Government, to prosecute would give an upright police officer the confidence to discharge his official duties efficiently, without fear of vindictive retaliation by initiation of criminal action, from which he would be protected under Section 197 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, read with Section 170 of the Karnataka Police Act. At the same time, if the policeman has committed a wrong, which constitutes a criminal offence and renders him liable for prosecution, he can be prosecuted with sanction from the appropriate Government.

67. Every offence committed by a police officer does not attract Section 197 of the Code of Criminal Procedure read with Section 170 of the Karnataka Police Act. The protection given under Section 197 of the Criminal Procedure Code read with Section 170 of the Karnataka Police Act has its limitations. The protection is available only when the alleged act done by the public servant is reasonably connected with the discharge of his official duty and official duty is not merely a cloak for the objectionable act. An offence committed entirely outside the scope of the duty of the police officer, would certainly not require sanction. To cite an example, a policeman assaulting a domestic help or indulging in domestic violence would certainly not be entitled to protection. However, if an act is connected to the discharge of official duty of investigation of a recorded criminal case, the act is certainly under colour of duty, no matter how illegal the act may be.

68. If in doing an official duty a policeman has acted in excess of duty, but there is a reasonable connection between the act and the performance of the official duty, the fact that the act alleged is in excess of duty will not be ground enough to deprive the policeman of the protection of the government sanction for initiation of criminal action against him.

69. The language and tenor of Section 197 of the Code of Criminal Procedure and Section 170 of the Karnataka Police Act makes it absolutely clear that sanction is required not only for acts done in discharge of official duty, it is also required for an act purported to be done in discharge of official duty and/or act done under colour of or in excess of such duty or authority.

70. To decide whether sanction is necessary, the test is whether the act is totally unconnected with official duty or whether there is a reasonable connection with the official duty. In the case of an act of a policeman or any other public servant unconnected with the official duty there can be no question of sanction. However, if the act alleged against a policeman is reasonably connected with discharge of his official duty, it does not matter if the policeman has exceeded the scope of his powers and/or acted beyond the four corners of law.

71. If the act alleged in a complaint purported to be filed against the policeman is reasonably connected to discharge of some official duty, cognizance thereof cannot be taken unless requisite sanction of the appropriate Government is obtained under Section 197 of the Code of Criminal Procedure and/or Section 170 of the Karnataka Police Act.

72. On the question of the stage at which the trial court has to examine whether sanction has been obtained and if not whether the criminal proceedings should be nipped in the bud, there are diverse decisions of this Court.

73. While this Court has, in D.T. Virupakshappa [D.T. Virupakshappa v. C. Subash, (2015) 12 SCC 231 : (2016) 1 SCC

(Cri) 82] held that the High Court had erred [D.T. Virupakshappa v. C. Subash, 2013 SCC OnLine Kar 10774] in not setting aside an order of the trial court taking cognizance of a complaint, in exercise of the power under Section 482 of the Criminal Procedure Code, in Matajog Dobey [Matajog Dobey v. H.C. Bhari, AIR 1956 SC 44 : 1956 Cri LJ 140] this Court held that it is not always necessary that the need for sanction under Section 197 is to be considered as soon as the complaint is lodged and on the allegations contained therein. The complainant may not disclose that the act constituting the offence was done or purported to be done in the discharge of official duty and/or under colour of duty. However, the facts subsequently coming to light in course of the trial or upon police or judicial enquiry may establish the necessity for sanction. Thus, whether sanction is necessary or not may have to be determined at any stage of the proceedings.

74. It is well settled that an application under Section 482 of the Criminal Procedure Code is maintainable to quash proceedings which are ex facie bad for want of sanction, frivolous or in abuse of process of court. If, on the face of the complaint, the act alleged appears to have a reasonable relationship with official duty, where the criminal proceeding is apparently prompted by mala fides and instituted with ulterior motive, power under Section 482 of the Criminal Procedure Code would have to be exercised to quash the proceedings, to prevent abuse of process of court.

75. There is also no reason to suppose that sanction will be withheld in case of prosecution, where there is substance in a complaint and in any case if, in such a case, sanction is refused, the aggrieved complainant can take recourse to law. At the cost of repetition, it is reiterated that the records of the instant case clearly reveal that the complainant alleged of police excesses while the respondent was in custody, in the course of investigation in connection with Crime No. 12/2012. Patently, the complaint pertains to an act under colour of duty."

48. The learned Magistrate, while issuing summoning order, has failed to record reasons for summoning the petitioners under Sections 302 read with Section 120-B IPC. The impugned order neither reflects an application of mind nor it deals with the investigation reports submitted by the CBI on every aspects and allegations.

49. As mentioned above, the CBI had filed the first closure report, and thereafter, under the direction of learned Magistrate carried out further investigation other than the points highlighted and had again filed the closure report. However, the learned Magistrate has rejected both the closure reports and treated the protest petition as a 'complaint case'.

50. The learned Magistrate, while taking cognizance on the basis of the complaint, has to be more cautious and careful than taking cognizance on police report as in the latter scenario, the Magistrate had an advantage of police report, which would be filed after collecting evidence and material by the investigating agency. In the case in hand, the Magistrate did not have the benefit of police reports, which are against the theory of the complainant. It was the duty of the learned Magistrate to be more careful inasmuch as he would summon the persons on the allegations of the complaint to face trial for an offence under Section 302 IPC.

There must be compelling reasons and overwhelming material to discard conclusion of the investigation reports submitted by the CBI. However, the statement of the complainant and witnesses recorded under Section 200 and 202 CrPC respectively would suggest that those are in respect of same allegations which got investigated thoroughly, impartially, fairly and scientifically by the CBI and found no substance in the theory of the complaint. No new evidence and material has been brought on record. There was nothing new before the learned Magistrate to take cognizance for an offence under Section 302 IPC.

51. The allegations are against the retired/serving public/police officers, who were acting in discharge of their official duty when the police was carrying out investigation. The Magistrate should not have acted on guess of the complainant. The complainant is obsesses with new theory of gaps in the investigation by the CBI. Existence of overwhelming material and compelling reasons is a must before summoning a person. Summoning of a person to face trial for a criminal case is a serious matter. The complaint in the present case would not disclose commission of offence under Sections 302 and 120-B IPC.

52. In the case reported in (1998) 5 SCC 749 (Pepsi Foods Ltd. and another Vs. Special Judicial Magistrate and others) in paragraph-28 it has been held as under:-

"28. Summoning of an accused in a criminal case is a serious matter. Criminal law cannot be set into motion as a matter of course. It is not that the complainant has to bring only two witnesses to support his allegations in the complaint to have the criminal law set into motion. The order of the Magistrate summoning the accused must reflect that he has applied his mind to the facts of the case and the law applicable thereto. He has to examine the nature of allegations made in the complaint and the evidence both oral and documentary in support thereof and would that be sufficient for the complainant to succeed in bringing charge home to the accused. It is not that the Magistrate is a silent spectator at the time of recording of preliminary evidence before summoning of the accused. The Magistrate has to carefully scrutinise the evidence brought on record and may even himself put questions to the complainant and his witnesses to elicit answers to find out the truthfulness of the allegations or otherwise and then examine if any offence is prima facie committed by all or any of the accused."

53. In the case report in (2015) 12 SCC 420 (Mehmood Ul Rehman Vs. Khazir Mohammad Tunda and others) in paragraphs 21, 22 and 23 it has been held as under:-

"21. Under Section 190(1)(b) CrPC, the Magistrate has the advantage of a police report and under Section 190(1)(c) CrPC, he has the information or knowledge of commission of an offence. But under Section 190(1)(a) CrPC, he has only a complaint before him. The Code hence specifies that "a complaint of facts which constitute such offence". Therefore, if the complaint, on the face of it, does not disclose the commission of any offence, the Magistrate shall not take cognizance under Section 190(1)(a) CrPC. The complaint is simply to be rejected.

22. The steps taken by the Magistrate under Section 190(1)(a) CrPC followed by Section 204 CrPC should reflect that the Magistrate has applied his mind to the facts and the statements and he is satisfied that there is ground for proceeding further in the matter by asking the person against whom the violation of law is alleged, to appear before the court. The satisfaction on the ground for proceeding would mean that the facts alleged in the complaint would constitute an offence, and when considered along with the statements recorded, would, prima facie, make the accused answerable before the court. No doubt, no formal order or a speaking order is required to be passed at that stage. The Code of Criminal Procedure requires speaking order to be passed under Section 203 CrPC when the complaint is dismissed and that too the reasons need to be stated only briefly. In other words, the Magistrate is not to act as a post office in taking cognizance of each and every complaint filed before him and issue process as a matter of course. There must be sufficient indication in the order passed by the Magistrate that he is satisfied that the allegations in the complaint constitute an offence and when considered along with the statements recorded and the result of inquiry or report of investigation under Section 202 CrPC, if any, the accused is answerable before the criminal court, there is ground for proceeding against the accused under Section 204 CrPC, by issuing process for appearance. The application of mind is best demonstrated by disclosure of mind on the satisfaction. If there is no such indication in a case where the Magistrate proceeds under Sections 190/204 CrPC, the High Court under Section 482 CrPC is bound to invoke its inherent power in order to prevent abuse of the power of the criminal court. To be called to appear before the criminal court as an accused is serious matter affecting one's dignity, self-respect and image in society. Hence, the process of criminal court shall not be made a weapon of harassment.

23. Having gone through the order passed by the Magistrate, we are satisfied that there is no indication on the application of mind by the learned Magistrate in taking cognizance and issuing process to the appellants. The contention that the application of mind has to be inferred cannot be appreciated. The further contention that without application of mind, the process will not be issued cannot also be appreciated. Though no formal or speaking or reasoned orders are required at the stage of Sections 190/204 CrPC, there must be sufficient indication on the application of mind by the Magistrate to the facts constituting commission of an offence and the statements recorded under Section 200 CrPC so as to proceed against the offender. No doubt, the High Court is right in holding that the veracity of the allegations is a question of evidence. The question is not about veracity of the allegations, but whether the respondents are answerable at all before the criminal court. There is no indication in that regard in the order passed by the learned Magistrate."

54. The findings of the CBI have been mentioned-herein above in detail to highlight that how detail scientific, meticulous and fair investigation was carried out by the CBI for reaching to the conclusion that it was not a case of homicide, but suicide. There should have been overwhelming material and evidence to discard/ignore such a report before the learned Magistrate. At the cost of repetition, it is mentioned here that there has been nothing before the learned Magistrate to discard the reports submitted by the CBI.

55. In view of the aforesaid discussion, in absence of order of sanction for prosecution of the petitioners for the offence in question, the order of cognizance is bad in law and is liable to be set-aside. Even otherwise, the impugned order, which would disclose non-application of mind by the learned Magistrate and without there being any overwhelming evidence and material to discard the closure reports filed by the CBI under Section 173 (2) CrPC, summoning the petitioners, who are retired/serving government officers to face trial for such a serious offence under Section 302 read with Section 120-B IPC, is preposterous and to some extent outrageous. The impugned order is, therefore, set-aside.

56. Accordingly, all the petitions are allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Syed Aftab Husain Rizvi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Preet Pal Singh Rathore, learned counsel for the applicant and learned A.G.A. for the State of U.P.- opposite party no.1.

2. This application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is filed to quash the order dated 8.02.2021 passed by Additional Session Judge, Court No.04/Gangsters Act, Gorakhpur in G. T. No.148 of 2011 arising out of Case Crime No.406 of 2010 under Sections 419, 420 I.P.C. and 3(1) of U.P. Gangster and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986, Police Station Khorabar, Disrict Gorakhpur as well as entire proceedings of aforesaid case.

3. First Information Report dated 25.03.2010 was lodged by opposite party no.2 bearing Case Crime No.406 of 2010 under Sections 419, 420, 272, 273 I.P.C. and 7/16 of Food Adulteration Act, 1954 at Police Station Khorabar, District Gorakhpur. As per the allegations of the F.I.R. a police party led by Inspector, Rajendra Prasad Pandey on information received from informer that spurious Khoya obnoxious to health is being prepared in Ahata of Ram Dulare Paswan by Nand Kishor Gupta for making sweets and supplying it to Gorakhpur city and other cities, conducted a raid at about 2 p.m., Pramod Kumar, Ramesh Kumar Kewat, Ranjeet Verma, Rameshwar Giri and Zaiki Verma were arrested. One vehicle U.P. 53 AT 0995 Tata Magic was also found on the spot on which 11 bundles milk cake, 30 bundles of barfi and packing box on which Shiv Shanker Sweets Special P.G. Group was scribed and on the cartons Barfi, Muskan Ka Deshi Ghee, Dry Fruit Kaju and Pistawala Donda Barfi is printed was recovered. The arrested persons told that they are workers. They also informed that in process of sweet making Suji mixed with sugar and refined is used for making spurious Khoya from which milk cake and Doda barfi is prepared and packed for supplying by Nand Kishor Gupta. Utensils and gas cylinder used for preparation of spurious Mawa along with Suji, sugar, refined, milk powder, empty cartons and empty sweetmeat packets were also recovered, no date of manufacturing was printed on the packets. Arrested persons could not show the license. The arrested persons also informed that Nand Kishor Gupa is involved in business of manufacturing spurious Khoya and milk cake and Doda barfi prepared from it, which he used to supply as pure sweetmeat of Desh Ghee and it is harmful for health. The sample was collected and recovery memo was prepared on the spot. A report dated 31.03.2010 was forwarded to the District Magistrate for initiation of proceeding under Section 3(1) of U.P. Gangsters and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act. After its approval by District Magistrate vide order dated 06.04.2010, Section 3(1) of U.P. Act No. 7 of 1986 was also added. The sample collected was sent for chemical examination. In chemical examination report it was noted that sample is not adulterated. The Investigating Officer recorded statements of witnesses and after investigation submitted charge sheet under Sections 419, 420 I.P.C. and 3(1) of U.P. Gangsters and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act only. Before the trial court a discharge application 12-Kha under Section 227 of Cr.P.C. was filed by accused Nand Kishor Gupta. It is alleged in the application that the applicant-accused is innocent, there is no evidence on record that accused was arrested on the spot or anything incriminating was recovered from his possession, the offence of U.P. Gangsters and Anti Social Activities

(Prevention) Act has been added without any evidence, there is no evidence to frame charge against the accused for the offence under Sections 419 and 420 I.P.C., in the gang chart no other case is mentioned, at the time of approval of gang charge only single case under Sections 419, 420, 272, 273 I.P.C. and 7/16 of Food Adulteration Act, 1954 is mentioned and approval is granted without obtaining chemical examiner's report, there is no evidence against the applicant for offence under Sections 16, 17 and 22 of Food Adulteration Act, no sanction has been obtained from District Magistrate for filing the charge-sheet, the name of the applicant-accused has been added on the basis of confessional statement of arrested accused, while proceeding under Gangsters Act has been initiated only against two accused persons without any satisfactory and sufficient explanation. On the aforesaid grounds the discharge was claimed. Learned trial court vide order dated 08.02.2021 has rejected the discharge application.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant submitted that the applicant is doing business of sweetmeat/mawa which is registered in accordance with law and he has valid license. The applicant has been falsely implicated by the opposite party no.2 and his associates misusing their power and position. Just after lodging the F.I.R. opposite party no.2 submitted a report to the District Magistrate for seeking recommendation for initiation of proceeding against the applicant under Section 3(1) of U.P. Gangsters and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act which was recommended by him on 06.04.2010 and Section 3(1) of U.P. Act No.7 of 1986 was added. The sample collected by the Investigating Officer was sent for chemical examination. The report of Public Analyst submitted on 27.04.2010 confirms that no adulteration was reported. Thereafter the Investigating Officer interrogated prosecution witnesses. He examined first informant on 08.05.2010, Sub Inspector Suraj Nath Singh on 24.05.2010 and other police personnel and Food Inspector Ajit Kumar Mishra, Shiv Kumar Gupta on 05.06.2010 and Food Inspector Chandra Bhan, Amardeo Maheshwari, Constable Amaresh Yadav on 05.12.2010, but their statement does not corroborate the prosecution case and there is considerable contradiction amongst them. After 05.06.2010 no further investigation was conducted and on the basis of material available the Investigating Officer filed charge-sheet. It is further contended that no recovery memo was prepared on the spot and it has no signature of independent witness. There is no independent witness in the entire charge-sheet. Learned counsel further submitted that initially F.I.R. was lodged under Sections 7/16 of Food Adulteration Act also while this Act was repealed by the new Act i.e. Food Safety and Standards Act, 2006. Once Food Adulteration Act was replaced by Food Safety and Standards Act, no F.I.R. ought to have been lodged under Sections 7/16 of Food Adulteration Act. Further in chemical examination no adulteration was found by the Public Analyst and the Investigating Officer removed Sections 272, 273 I.P.C. and 7/16 of Food Adulteration Act and filed charge-sheet only under Sections 419, 420 I.P.C. and 3(1) of U.P. Gangsters and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act. When in recovered articles no adulteration was found, then there was no reason to file charge-sheet against the applicant. It is further contended that no offence under Sections 419 and 420 I.P.C. against the applicant is made out. In chemical examination report it is mentioned that sample in question is only plain cake and not of milk cake. The applicant never forged and claimed so called cake to be a milk cake but at the most it may be a case of misbranding which is covered by Section 52 of Food Safety and Standards Act and can be adjudicated under Section 68 of Food Safety and Standards Act and is compoundable under Section 69 of the Act. An order passed under Section 52 is appealable under Section 70 of the Act before Food Safety Appellate Tribunal and second appeal lies to the High Court. Learned counsel submitted that the Food Safety and Standards Act, 2006 is complete Code for that very purpose. This is special law while Indian Penal Code is general law. Sections 419 and 420 I.P.C. cannot be attracted for misbranding. Only a complaint can be filed in accordance with law and the provisions provided in Food Safety and Standards Act. It is also contended that except confessional statement of co-accused, there is no evidence against the applicant and confessional statement of co-accused is not admissible in evidence. It is next contended that there is no cogent, credible and concrete evidence in support of prosecution case, even then learned court below without properly considering facts and circumstances of the case and without carefully scrutinizing the material on case diary has rejected the discharge application. The impugned order is illegal and has been passed without application of judicial mind. While rejecting the discharge application, learned court below has completely relied on prosecution case and has completely ignored and discarded the plea taken by the applicant without recording any reason of doing so. Learned court below has failed to consider that no proper investigation has been conducted and without collecting sufficient material, charge-sheet has been submitted. Learned trial court has also not considered legal aspect of the matter and has not recorded any finding on it. Throughout the case diary there is no material against the applicant with regard to his connection with any gang or his indulgence in gangster activities. The Investigating Officer has misused his power and invoked the provisions of Gangsters Act against the applicant on the basis of a solitary case which was under investigation. The whole prosecution case is false and baseless. The story set up is cooked one and motivated. The entire proceedings of the case are illegal, arbitrary, unjust and manifestly discriminatory and erroneous. Learned counsel has placed reliance on following case laws:

(1) . Smt. Shiv Kumari Versus State of U.P. 2012 (78) ACC 605,

(2) . Ajay Singh and another Versus State of Chhattishgarh and another (2017) 3 SCC 330,

(3) . P. Vijayan Versus State of Kerala and another (2010) 2 SCC 398,

(4) . Yogesh alias Sachin Jagdish Joshi Versus State of Maharashtra (2008) 10 SCC 394,

(5) . Pancho Versus State of Haryana (2012) (77) ACC 269,

(6) . Sharat Babu Digumarti Versus Government (NCT of Delhi (2017) 2 SCC 18,

(7) . CBI Versus Akhilesh (2005) 1 SCC 478,

(8) . Pradeep Kumar alias Pradeep Kumar Verma Versus State of Bihar and another (2007) 7 SCC 413,

(9) . Siyaram alias Shiva Ram Versus State of U.P. 2022 (118) ACC 877, (10). Smt. Shila Devi Versus State of U.P. and another 2022 (119) ACC 482.

5. Learned A.G.A. contended that F.I.R. has been lodged against six named accused including the applicant accused and substance of prosecution story is that they were preparing spurious Mawa and adulterated sweets dangerous for human life. Various articles have been recovered and co-accused has been arrested on the spot. The first informant and his companions have supported the prosecution case in their statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. The Investigating Officer has also recorded the statements of various Food Inspectors. After thorough investigation credible and cogent evidence has been collected showing the complicity of the accused-applicant and charge-sheet has been submitted in the relevant sections. It is further contended that chemical examiner's report corroborates the prosecution case that the applicant was involved in business of sweetmeats which were not of prescribed standards as printed on its packaging. So, the offence under Sections 419, 420 I.P.C. and under Section 3(1) of U.P. Gangsters and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act is made out against the applicant. Considering the evidence and material available on record cognizance has been taken on charge-sheet. The discharge application has rightly been rejected by the trial court after recording specific finding that there is sufficient evidence against the accused-applicant for framing of charge. The impugned the order dated 8.02.2021 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.02 (Gangsters Act), Gorakhpur is just, legal and proper and it does not suffer from any illegality or infirmity.

6. The allegations of F.I.R. are that police party took action on information that spurious mawa is being prepared for supplying and preparation of adulterated and obnoxious sweetmeats. Initially F.I.R. was lodged under Sections 419, 420, 272, 273 I.P.C. and 7/16 of Food Adulteration Act, 1954. This fact is uncontroverted that after lodging of the F.I.R. on 25.03.2021 the Investigating Officer submitted a report to District Magistrate on 31.03.2021 seeking his approval for implication of the accused for the offence under Section 3(1) of U.P. Gangster and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act. Approval was granted on 06.04.2010 and aforesaid section was added. It is also not disputed that the sample sent for chemical examination has not been found to be adulterated. It only indicates that the sample was not milk cake but only simple cake. The Investigating Officer has omitted Sections 272, 273 I.P.C. and 7/16 of Food Adulteration Act, 1954 and has submitted charge-sheet under Sections 419, 420 I.P.C. and under Section 3(1) of U.P. Gangster and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act. It is also not disputed that at the time of lodging of the F.I.R. provisions of Food Adulteration Act was not in force and it was replaced by Food Safety and Standards Act, 2006. Misbranding of food articles has been dealt with under the provisions of Food Safety and Standards Act and it is punishable under Section 52 of the Act. The Act is a complete Code itself and it being special law will override provisions of Indian Penal Code. The proceeding under Section 3(1) of U.P. Gangster and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act has been initiated on the allegations of the F.I.R. that the applicant is involved in preparation and sale of spurious mawa and sweetmeats obnoxious to human health. Except present case no other case is shown in the gang-chart. The chemical examiner's report has not corroborated the prosecution case of adulteration of food articles obnoxious for health. At the most it only points towards misbranding.

7. Learned trial court while rejecting the discharge application by the impugned order has only narrated the allegations of prosecution version as per the F.I.R. and without properly appreciating the evidence available on case diary has observed that at this stage the case is not being considered on merits, only prosecution evidence is to be considered for framing of charge, it is to be seen whether on the basis of evidence available on record, the prima case is made out or not and even only on the basis of suspicion charge can be framed, has rejected the discharge application. Learned trial court has not dealt with any of the factual and legal points raised by the accused-applicant in his discharge application. Learned trial court has also failed to appreciate the legal aspect of the entire matter.

8. It is settled law that trial court while considering the discharge application is not acting as mere post office. It is to sift through evidence in order to find out whether there is sufficient grounds to try a suspect, the court has to consider the broad probability, total effect of evidence and basic infirmities. The Apex Court in P. Vijayan Versus State of Kerala and another (2010) 2 SCC 398 has held that the words "no sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused" clearly show that judge is not a mere post-office to frame the charge at the behest of prosecution, but has to exercise his judicial mind to the facts of the case in order to determine whether a case for trial has been made out by the prosecution.

9. In Yogesh alias Sachin Jagdish Joshi Versus State of Maharashtra (2008) 10 SCC 394, the Apex Court in para-16 has observed as follows:

"It is trite that the words "not sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused" appearing in the Section postulate exercise of judicial mind on the part of the Judge to the facts of the case in order to determine whether a case for trial has been made out by the prosecution. However, in assessing this fact, the Judge has the power to sift and weigh the material for the limited purpose of finding out whether or not a prima facie case against the accused has been made out. The test to determine a prima facie case depends upon the facts of each case and in this regard it is neither feasible nor desirable to lay down a rule of universal application. By and large, however, if two views are equally possible and the Judge is satisfied that the evidence produced before him gives rise to suspicion only as distinguished from grave suspicion, he will be fully within his right to discharge the accused. At this stage, he is not to see as to whether the trial will end in conviction or not. The broad test to be applied is whether the materials on record, if unrebutted, makes a conviction reasonably possible."

10. Learned court below has not considered each and every relevant contents of the discharge application and rejected the same in a cursory manner. Although while disposing of discharge application the trial court may not appreciate the defence of the accused, but at the same time it is incumbent upon the trial court to consider and adjudicate the contents and contentions of the discharge application after perusing the material available on record. If any specific plea has been taken, the trial court must consider it and address the same by speaking and reasoned order. The trial court may accept or reject the pleas, but it should be clear and unambiguous and it should be seen that the trial court has applied its judicial mind while disposing of discharge application. The trial court while disposing discharge application by the impugned order has not considered the relevant contentions and has rejected the same in a mechanical manner, therefore, a fresh order is required to be passed by the trial court on the discharge application.

11. Accordingly, this application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is allowed. The impugned order dated 8.02.2021 passed by Additional Session Judge, Court No.04/Gangsters Act, Gorakhpur in G. T. No.148 of 2011 arising out of Case Crime No.406 of 2010 under Sections 419, 420 I.P.C. and 3(1) of U.P. Gangster and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986, Police Station Khorabar, Disrict Gorakhpur is hereby set aside. The trial court is directed to pass a fresh order on the discharge application of the applicant by a speaking and reasoned order, expeditiously strictly in accordance with law, after affording an opportunity of hearing to the parties.

1. आवेदक की ओर से विद्वान अधिवक्ता श्री अमरेंद्र नाथ सिंह, श्री प्रमोद कुमार सिंह और सुजीत कुमार एवं विपक्षी संख्या-2 की तरफ से विद्वान अधिवक्ता श्री मनोज कुमार एवम् राज्य की ओर से विद्वान अपर शासकीय अधिवक्ता को सुना गया तथा पत्रावली का परिशीलन किया गया।

2. प्रार्थी ने धारा 482 दण्ड प्रक्रिया संहिता के अंतर्गत जी. टी. वाद संख्या-55 सन् 2007, राज्य विरुद्ध दारा निषाद एवं अन्य अपराध संख्या-253, सन् 2006, अंतर्गत धारा 147, 148, 149, 302 भारतीय दण्ड संहिता तथा धारा-3(1), उत्तर-प्रदेश गुण्डा अधिनियम, थाना बडहलगंज, जिला-गोरखपुर में अपर सत्र न्यायाधीश न्यायालय संख्या-3, विशेष न्यायाधीश, गुण्डा अधिनियम को निरस्त करने के लिए प्रस्तुत किया गया है।

3. संक्षेप में याचिका के तथ्य यह है कि विपक्षी संख्या-2 द्वारा दर्ज कराये गये प्रथम सूचना रिपोर्ट, दिनांकित 10.06.2006 के अंतर्गत विपक्ष संख्या-2 का बयान बारा-161 दण्ड प्रक्रिया संहिता में अंकित किया गया, जिसमें उन्होंने प्रार्थी के विरुद्ध कोई विशिष्ट आरोप नहीं लगाया है। आरोपपत्र प्रस्तुत करने के उपरांत मुख्य न्यायिक दण्डाधिकारी गोरखपुर द्वारा संज्ञान लिया गया तथा मामले को सत्र सुपुर्द किया गया तथा सत्र वाद का विचारण प्रारम्भ हुआ। प्रार्थी को झूठा फंसाया गया है। प्रार्थी के पास शस्त्र अनुज्ञप्ति के आधार पर एक राइफल है, अतः राजनीतिक व्यक्ति होने के कारण उसे दूषित आशयों से राइफल का प्रयोग करते हुए दिखाया गया है। शस्त्र विशेषज्ञ की आख्या विधि विज्ञान प्रयोगशाला लखनऊ से मंगाई गई। बचाव में साक्ष्य प्रस्तुत करने के अवसर पर यह ज्ञात हुआ कि विशेषज्ञ की आख्या नहीं मंगाई गई है। तदुपरांत शस्त्र • विशेषज्ञ को साक्षी के रूप में आहूत करने के लिए प्रार्थनापत्र प्रस्तुत किया गया। क्योंकि वही बता सकते हैं कि किस प्रकार का आग्नेयास्त्र प्रयोग हुआ है। उक्त प्रार्थनापत्र को विचारण न्यायालय ने यह कहते हुए दिनांक 17.10.2022 को खारिज कर दिया कि यह बिलंब करने के लिए दूषित प्रार्थनापत्र है जिससे न्यायिक अपहानि होगी। अंततः परीक्षक/ चिकित्सक अशोक कुमार यादव का साक्ष्य प्रस्तुत किया गया है, अतः उपरोक्त परिस्थितियों में प्रश्नगत आदेश निरस्त साक्ष्य हेतु शस्त्र विशेषज्ञ को परीक्षित करने का आदेश पारित किया जाए।

4. पत्रावली पर संलप्रक-5 के रूप में विधि विज्ञान प्रयोगशाला के आग्नेयास्त्र विशेषज्ञ की आख्या दिनांकित 24.02.2007 भी प्रस्तुत की गई है। आप्रेयास्त्र के संबंध में पृष्ठ संख्या-55 पर मूल आख्या की छायाप्रति संलग्न की गई है। धारा -293 दण्ड प्रक्रिया संहिता के अनुसार विधि विज्ञान प्रयोगशाला की आख्या प्रदर्श डालने योग्य एवं साक्ष्य में स्वतः ग्राह्य होती है, परंतु न्यायालय उचित समझे तो ऐसे विशेषज्ञ को उसके द्वारा प्रस्तुत आख्या के संबंध में साक्षी के रूप में आहूत कर सकता है। धारा -293(4) के अनुसार यह धारा आग्नेयास्त्र विशेषज्ञ के संबंध में भी प्रयुक्त होती है। आग्नेयास्त्र विशेषज्ञ की आख्या में देशी पिस्तौल से विवादित कारतूस, चिह्नित ई.सी. -1, देशी पिस्तौल चिह्नित 1/07 द्वारा चलाये जाने का परिणाम दिया गया है तथा अन्य मत भी दिए गए हैं। प्रार्थी के अनुसार अभियोजन ने उसके द्वारा राइफल से फायर कर हत्या करने एवं राइफल को घटना में प्रयुक्त करने का कथन किया है। वर्ष 2005 में संशोधन के द्वारा मुख्य विस्फोटक नियंत्रक का नाम भी विशेषज्ञों की सूची में सम्मिलित किया गया है। वैसे भी आग्नेयास्त्र विशेषज्ञ विधि विज्ञान प्रयोगशाला के वैज्ञानिक एवम् विशेषज्ञ माने जाएंगे। रामदयाल विरुद्ध दिल्ली कार्पोरेशन ए.आई.आर. 1970, उच्चतम न्यायालय 366, में यह अवधारित किया गया है कि अभियुक्त को जन विश्लेषक को परीक्षित एवं प्रतिपरीक्षित करने का अधिकार विद्यमान है। भूपिंदर सिंह विरुद्ध पंजाब राज्य, ए.आई.आर. 1988, उच्चतम न्यायालय 1011, में अवधारित किया गया कि रासायनिक परीक्षक मृत्यु के कारणों के बारे में मात्र एक आख्या देता है, जिसके अनौपचारिक साक्ष्य की आवश्यकता नहीं है, परंतु न्यायालय यदि उचित समझे, तो रासायनिक परीक्षक को आख्या के संबंध में बुलाकर उसे परीक्षित करा सकती है। जयमाल सिंह विरुद्ध उत्तर- प्रदेश राज्य, 1987 (1), क्राइम्स 760 इलाहाबाद उच्च न्यायालय में अवधारित किया। गया कि जहां शस्त्र विशेषज्ञ की आख्या निदेशक अथवा उप निदेशक द्वारा हस्ताक्षरित नहीं है, ऐसी आख्या शस्त्र विशेषज्ञ के साक्ष्य के बिना ग्राह्य नहीं है। ऐसे मामले हो सकते हैं, जिनमें न्याय हित में रासायनिक विशेषज्ञ को साक्षी के रूप में आहूत करना तथा उनका परीक्षण आवश्यक हो। धारा-293 (3) के अंतर्गत न्यायालय को शक्ति प्राप्त है कि ऐसे विशेषज्ञ को साक्षी स्वरूप आहूत कर सके।

5. गुलाब बनाम उत्तर प्रदेश राज्य, 2021 एस.सी.सी. ऑनलाइन (उच्चतम न्यायालय) 1211 के निर्णय का पैरा 19 से 23 महत्वपूर्ण है, जिसे निम्नवत् अंकित किया जाता है-

"19. The deceased had sustained a gun-shot injury with a point of entry and exit. The non-recovery of the weapon of offences would therefore not discredit the case of the prosecution which has relied on the eyewitness accounts of PWs 1, 2 and 3. In Sukhwant Singh v. State of Punjab, Dr

A S Anand (as the learned Chief Justice then was) speaking for a two-judge Bench held:

"21. There is yet another infirmity in this case. We find that whereas an empty [sic] had been recovered by PW 6, ASI Raghubir Singh from the spot and a pistol along with some cartridges were seized from the possession of the appellant at the time of his arrest, yet the prosecution, for reasons best known to it, did not send the recovered empty [sic] and the seized pistol to the ballistic expert for examination and expert opinion. Comparison could have provided link evidence between the crime and the accused. This again is an omission on the part of the prosecution for which no explanation has been furnished either in the trial court or before us. It hardly needs to be emphasised that in cases where injuries are caused by firearms, the opinion of the ballistic expert is of a considerable importance where both the firearm and the crime cartridge are recovered during the investigation to connect an accused with the crime. Failure to produce the expert opinion before the trial court in such cases affects the creditworthiness of the prosecution case to a great extent."

(emphasis supplied)

20. The above extract which has been relied upon by the learned Counsel for the appellant emphasises that in a case where injury has been caused by a firearm, the opinion of the ballistic expert is of considerable importance where both the firearm and the crime cartridge had been recovered during the investigation. Failure to produce the expert opinion in such a case affects the creditworthiness of the prosecution case.

21. However, a three-judge Bench of this Court, in Gurucharan Singh v. State of Punjab, has analysed the precedents of this Court and held that examination of a ballistic expert is not an inflexible rule in every case involving use of a lethal weapon. Speaking through Justice P B Gajendragadkar (as the learned Chief Justice then was), this Court held:

"41. It has, however, been argued that in every case where an accused person is charged with having committed the offence of murder by a lethal weapon, it is the duty of the prosecution to prove by expert evidence that it was likely or at least possible for the injuries to have been caused with the weapon with which, and in the manner in which, they have been alleged to have been caused; and in support of this proposition, reliance has been placed on the decision of this Court in Mohinder Singh v. State [(1950) SCR 821] . In that case, this Court has held that where the prosecution case was that the accused shot the deceased with a gun, but it appeared likely that the injuries on the deceased were inflicted by a rifle and there was no evidence of a duly qualified expert to prove that the injuries were caused by a gun, and the nature of the injuries was also such that the shots must have been fired by more than one person and not by one person only, and there was no evidence to show that another person also shot, and the oral evidence was such which was not disinterested, the failure to examine an expert would be a serious infirmity in the prosecution case. It would be noticed that these observations were made in a case where the prosecution evidence suffered from serious infirmities and in determining the effect of these observations, it would not be fair or reasonable to forget the facts in respect of which they came to be made. These observations do not purport to lay down an inflexible Rule that in every case where an accused person is charged with murder caused by a lethal weapon, the prosecution case can succeed in proving the charge only if an expert is examined. It is possible to imagine cases where the direct evidence is of such an unimpeachable character and the nature of the injuries disclosed by post-mortem notes is so clearly consistent with the direct evidence that the examination of a ballistic expert may not be regarded as essential. Where the direct evidence is not satisfactory or disinterested or where the injuries are alleged to have been caused with a gun and they prima facie appear to have been inflicted by a rifle, undoubtedly the apparent inconsistency can be cured or the oral evidence can be corroborated by leading the evidence of a ballistic expert. In what cases the examination of a ballistic expert is essential for the proof of the prosecution case, must naturally depend upon the circumstances of each case. Therefore, we do not think that Mr Purushottam is right in contending as a general proposition that in every case where a firearm is alleged to have been used by an accused person, in addition to the direct evidence, prosecution must lead the evidence of a ballistic expert, however good the direct evidence may be and though on the record there may be no reason to doubt the said direct evidence."

22. Similarly, a two-judge Bench of this Court in State of Punjab v. Jugraj Singh6 had noticed that surrounding circumstances in the prosecution case are sufficient to prove a death caused by a lethal weapon, without a ballistic examination of the recovered weapon. The Court, speaking through Justice R P Sethi, had noted:

"18. In the instant case the investigating officer has categorically stated that guns seized were not in a working condition and he, in his discretion, found that no purpose would be served by sending the same to the ballistic expert for his opinion. No further question was put to the investigating officer in cross-examination to find out whether despite the guns being defective the fire pin was in order or not. In the presence of convincing evidence of two eyewitnesses and other attending circumstances we do not find that the non-examination of the expert in this case has, in any way, affected the creditworthiness of the version put forth by the eyewitnesses."

23. The present case is not one where despite the recovery of a firearm, or of the cartridge, the prosecution had failed to produce a report of the ballistic expert. Therefore, the failure to produce a report by a ballistic expert who can testify to the fatal injuries being caused by a particular weapon is not sufficient to impeach the credible evidence of the direct eye-witnesses."

6. इस न्यायालय के मतानुसार प्रस्तुत वाद के तथ्यों एवम् परिस्थितियों में यदि विशेषज्ञ की प्रति परीक्षा की बाँछा अभियुक्त द्वारा की जाती है, तो कोई कारण नहीं है कि उसे खारिज किया जाए। यह उचित होगा कि शस्त्र विशेषज्ञ जिसने शस्त्र संबंधी आख्या प्रस्तुत किया है, को मुख्य एवं प्रति परीक्षा के लिए आहूत किया जाए। इस न्यायालय के मतानुसार प्रस्तुत बाद के तथ्यों एवं परिस्थितियों में आयुध विशेषज्ञ, जिन्होंने इस अपराध संख्या में आख्या प्रस्तुत किया है, उनको साक्ष्य के लिए आहूत किये जाने का पर्याप्त आधार विद्यमान है। अतः यह याचिका स्वीकार की जाती है तथा आदेश दिनांकित 17.10.2022 खण्डित किया जाता है तथा विचारण न्यायालय को आदेशित किया जाता है कि वह अभियुक्त द्वारा प्रस्तुत 117 ख प्रार्थनापत्र को स्वीकार कर शस्त्र विशेषज्ञ को विशेष वाहक द्वारा अथवा सामान्य प्रकार से आहूत कर उसे परीक्षित कर प्रार्थी/ अभियुक्त को उसकी प्रति परीक्षा का अवसर प्रदान करे।

(Delivered by Hon'ble Siddharth, J.)

1. Heard Smt. Isha Agrawal, applicant in person; Sri Manu Sharma, learned counsel for opposite party no.2; learned AGA for the State and perused the material placed on record.

2. This bail cancellation application has been filed by the applicant praying for cancellation of bail granted to the accused-opposite party no.2, Abhay Pratap, in Case Crime No. 577 of 2022, under Sections 186, 228, 352, 353, 354, 354-D, 506, 509 IPC and Section 67 I.T Act, Police Station Kotwali, District- Maharajganj by the court of Sessions Judge, Maharajganj, in Bail Application No.1927 of 2022, Abhay Pratap Vs. State of U.P. on 17.12.2022 wrongly relying upon the judgement of Apex Court in the case of Satendra Kumar Antil Vs. C.B.I. & Another, passed in

S.L.P.(Crl.) No. 5191 of 2021, judgement dated 11.7.2022.

3. The applicant is posted as Metropolitan Magistrate, Kanpur Nagar at present. At the time of the incident in question, she was posted as Civil Judge (Junior Division)/Judicial Magistrate in District Court Maharajganj. While she was performing her judicial duty, the opposite party no.2, Abhay Pratap, who is also a practicing Advocate in the same court, started sending obnoxious messages and casting certain remarks through messages on facebook account of the applicant. On noticing the messages of opposite party no.2, the applicant blocked the opposite party no.2 from sending messages. Thereafter opposite party no.2 got the official mobile number of the applicant and started sending messages on the same. He used to come to her court without any work and gazed her continuously. When the limit to tolerance was crossed by the opposite party no.2, applicant lodged the FIR against him at the police station Kotwali Maharajganj, on 11.11.2022 and also sent a representation to this Court through District Judge, Maharajganj, on 11.11.2022. Opposite party no.2 was never connected to the applicant on facebook or through any media platform nor his friend request was ever accepted by the applicant. Opposite party no.2 started sending messages to the applicant w.e.f. 29.9.2021 and thereafter he sent various messages to her, which were never replied by the applicant. On 17.7.2022 at about 1:58 a.m. he sent message, "I love you Isha", then again he sent "Is janam me nahi to agle janam me tujhe pane ki koshish prayas karta rahunga aur ho sake to sato janam". Being fed up with the conduct of the opposite party no.2, applicant blocked the opposite party no.2 on facebook account on 17.7.2022. On her CUG mobile number, he sent the message on 8.11.2022 at 4:31 a.m., "Good Morning" and then "I love you Baby". The opposite party no.2 was arrested on 23.11.2022 and the learned Sessions Judge granted him bail on 17.12.2022 relying upon the case Satendra Kumar Antil (Supra).

4. The applicant has appeared in person in Court and submitted that she is a Judicial Officer and was posted as Civil Judge (Junior Division), in District Court, Maharajganj, when the opposite party no.2 indulged in the undesirable and objectionable behaviour against her. She was not in a position to concentrate on her work and was apprehensive towards her security. She was distracted from discharge of her judicial duties freely and was in constant fear of maligning of her reputation by the opposite party no.2. Her marriage was settled and these messages could have destroyed her marital life in future and may have affected her prospective marital life. The opposite party no.2 is setting up dangerous trend and should be dealt with severely and bail granted to him should be cancelled. She has further submitted that the reliance of learned Sessions Judge on the judgment of Satendra Kumar Antil (supra) in the bail order is not correct since the charge-sheet was not filed against the opposite party no.2, when he was granted bail on 17.12.2022. Learned Sessions Judge has stated that charge-sheet against the opposite party no.2 is ready. It was not filed till then. All the offences against the opposite party no.2 are not bailable in nature. She has submitted that the findings of the learned Sessions Judge that the charge-sheet against the opposite party no.2 is ready is incorrect. By means of rejoinder affidavit dated 15.2.2023 applicant has brought on record the questionnaire issued by the court of Judicial Magistrate, Maharajganj, which shows that charge-sheet was not filed in the Case Crime No.577 of 2022 till 17.12.2022 nor cognizance was taken thereon till that date. She has submitted that the benefit of the judgment of Satendra Kumar Antil (supra) of the Apex Court has wrongly been extended to the applicant since he was arrested prior to the submission of the charge-sheet by the Investigating Officer.

5. Learned counsel for opposite party no.2 has submitted that opposite party no.2 is seeking unconditional apology from the applicant since he has highest regard for the law of the land and every member of the judicial fraternity. He has stated that he may be pardoned for any act which has hurt the position, respect, feelings or emotions of the applicant. He has undertaken not to repeat the misdeeds committed by him earlier. He has further submitted that all the offences alleged are punishable upto seven years and he has not violated any condition of bail granted to him.

6. Learned AGA has submitted that from the mobile phone of the opposite party no.2 recovered by the Investigating Officer, it was found that the aforesaid phone was used in the commission of the alleged crime against the applicant by the opposite party no.2.

7. After hearing the rival contentions, this Court finds that the learned Sessions Judge has neither considered the correct, legal and factual position of the case while granting bail to the opposite party no.2 nor has applied mind to the future repercussions of granting bail to an accused involved in committing such offences against a female Presiding Officer of a Court of Law. of It is clear from the record that the charge-sheet was not submitted against the opposite party no.2, when he was granted bail by the learned Sessions Judge, Maharajganj, relying upon the judgment of Apex Court in the case of Satendra Kumar Antil (supra). The investigation was in progress when the opposite party no.2 was put behind bars on 23.11.2022 and sent to jail. It may be true that all the offence against opposite party no.2 are punishable with terms of imprisonment below 7 years, but all offences are not bailable. At least two of the alleged offences punishable under Sections 353 and 354 IPC are non bailable. It is not a case where bail should have been granted on a matter of right. Normally lenient view in matters of bail pending trial are taken where offences are punishable with terms below 7 years. The facts of this case are different from ordinary course. There is a case where a Judicial Officer/ Presiding Officer of a court of law, has been harassed on the basis of gender. Onerous conduct on the part of opposite party no.2, who is no other than very responsible officer of the court, was expected. The impact of the conduct attributed to opposite party no.2 is such that it will have deleterious effect on the functioning of the judicial system at the grass root of level. It ought to have considered by the Sessions Judge in that context. This has not been done. This Court is of the view that given aforesaid circumstances and the fact that Investigation was under progress, grant of bail to opposite party no.2 cannot be countenanced. Hence bail granted by the court below to opposite party no.2 is hereby cancelled. The opposite party no.2 is directed to surrender forthwith before the court concerned.

8. The trial court is directed to conclude the trial against opposite party no.2, within six months.

9. Before parting with this case, this Court finds that the conduct of the opposite party no.2, namely, Abhay Pratap, was not only criminal in nature and unbecoming of an Officer of the court, but he also committed criminal contempt of court since his act amounted to interference with course of justice and obstruction in the administration of justice.

10. "Criminal contempt" means the publication (whether by words, spoken or written or by signs, or by visible representation, or otherwise) of any matter or the doing of any other act whatsoever which: 1. scandalises or tends to scandalise, or lowers or tends to lower the authority of, any court, or 2. prejudices, or interferes or tends to interfere with, the due course of any judicial proceeding; or 3. interferes or tends to interfere with, or obstructs or tends to obstruct, the administration of justice in any other manner. Section 2(c) of the Act emphasizes to the interference with the courts of justice or obstruction of the administration of justice or scandalizing or lowering the authority of the court. Section 10 deals with power of High Court to punish contempts of subordinate courts. Section 12 deals with the punishment for the contempt of court. Section 14(2) permits a person charged with the contempt to have charge against him tried by some Judge other than the judge or judges in whose presence or hearing the offence is alleged to have been committed and the court is of opinion that it is practicable to do so. Section 15 of the Act empowers the court to take suo moto action for cognizance of Criminal Contempt.

11. Conduct of opposite party no.2 against the applicant amounted to creation of fear in the minds of the female Presiding Officers of District Court faced with the acts of sexual harassment. No Presiding Officer of a court can be expected to discharge her official duties of administration of justice freely and fairly with a balanced and composed state of mind, if such acts or the mere apprehension thereof are there. The apprehension of harassment through spoken words and written words and stalking in court will always loom large over her psyche. In a situation where Presiding Officer of the court is herself not secure, it cannot be expected that she would be able to protect the litigants, who appear before her for protection of their modesty from unwarranted incursions and outrage by accused, like opposite party no.2. This Court has come across another such case of another district, wherein a future date has been fixed and it appears that this malice is spreading fast in the district courts. The case which came before this Court earlier also involved a lawyer of District Court committing such offences against a female Presiding Officer. In such a situation, this Court is of the firm view that before this meance spreads further the accused, like the opposite party no.2, ought to be dealt with iron hands through initiation of proceedings for criminal contempt. Policy of Zero Tolerance in such matters has become imperative.

12. Accordingly, the Registry of this Court is directed place this case before the appropriate Bench, within two weeks for taking suo moto cognizance of the criminal contempt committed by the opposite party no.2., Abhay Pratap.

3. K.Rajapandian Vs St. of NCT of Delhi (2022) LawSuit (Del) 1085

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Jyotsna Sharma, J.)

1. Heard Sri Shaghir Ahmad, Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Ajeet Singh, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Prashant Pandey, learned counsel for the first informant, Sri O.P. Mishra, learned AGA for the State and perused the papers on record.

2. The present application has been moved on behalf of the applicant-Srijan Singh seeking anticipatory bail in Case Crime no. 0421 of 2022, under Sections 307 and 506 I.P.C., Police Station Bhelupur, District Varanasi.

3. As per allegations in the FIR on the day of occurrence i.e., at about 1 pm on 26.12.2022, one Ashutosh Tiwari alongwith his friend Shariq was going on his motorbike; the moment he reached near R.P.F barrack, Srijan Singh S/o Manoj (present applicant), with the intention to kill him, over an old enmity deliberately and intentionally ran his four wheeler over Ashutosh Tiwari; it is alleged in the FIR that this act was done purposefully and knowingly; three other co-accused were also sitting in that four wheeler; Ashotosh and his friend Shariq sustained number of serious injuries; Srijan Singh and Manoj Singh escaped in their four wheeler thinking that they have died; whole of the incident was recorded in C.C.T.V. camera; they were hospitalized and were referred to another hospital for further management; the injuries sustained by them were dangerous to life.

4. It is contended on behalf of the applicant that he was not driving the vehicle and that he has been falsely implicated in this case out of enmity; one Rajesh Singh, who is family driver of the applicant has stated that in fact it was he who was driving the four wheeler at the time of occurrence; it is next contended that at the most it was a case of rash and negligent driving and no offence under Sections 307 and 506 I.P.C. is made out; the investigation has not been conducted in a fair manner; it has been twisted to make out a case under Section 307 IPC.

To stress the above point, a judgment of Supreme Court given in Ravi Kapur vs. State of Rajasthan; AIR 2012

SC 2986 has been cited before me. I went through the above judgment. It appears that the Supreme Court has analyzed the meaning of words 'negligence', 'culpable negligence', 'reasonable care', 'doctrine of res ipsa loquitur', 'difference between rashness and culpable rashness' and certain other matters in the light of Section 279 IPC. On the basis of above judgment, it is argued that this case essentially fell within the scope of Section 279 IPC only and not Section 307 IPC. I fail to understand how this judgment can be of any utility on the point stressed before this Court. Incidentally, in Para-15 of the judgment, the Supreme Court has referred to its own judgment in Alister Anthony Pareira vs. State of Maharashtra; (2012) 2 SCC 648, highlighting the fact that if a person doing an act of rash and negligent driving, is aware of the risk that a particular consequences is likely to follow and that consequences indeed occurs, he may be held guilty not only for the act but also for the consequences. In my view where the act is either intentional or done with conscious awareness of the consequences there is no need to go into finer points of differences between the rash and negligent act and any rash or negligent act with the knowledge of likelihood of dangerous consequences. In my view no benefit of this judgment can be derived by the applicant in view of the fact that the accused applicants act was allegedly intentional and deliberate.

Another judgment which has been cited before me is K. Rajapandian vs. State of NCT of Delhi; 2022 LawSuit (Del) 1085 decided on 06.05.2022. I went through the above judgment too. Again I failed to understand how this judgment can give any benefit to the applicant.

5. The anticipatory bail application is vehemently opposed by other side pointing out certain facts, circumstances and also the reply in response to the point raised by the applicant which are as below:-

(i) There are number of independent witnesses including Chandrashekhar, Shariq, Ritesh Kumar and injured one, who have clearly stated that the applicant was driving the four wheeler and that he intentionally caused/changed the direction of his vehicle and ran over them; It is with god's grace that they have been saved;

(ii) The injured sustained a number of injuries which could have been proved fatal had timely medical assistance not given to them;

(iii) Not only the inculpatory oral evidence, there are other pieces of evidence like C.C.T.V. footage, the spot inspection report which corroborate the prosecution theory;

(iv) In this case, the FIR has been lodged in a prompt manner ruling out probability of introduction of any colored or exaggerated version or false implication;

(vii) Both the parties had strained relationship; This fact finds ample strength from the previous FIR lodged by Srijan Singh (the present applicant) against Shariq Khan and 2 others under Sections 279, 504, 323, 427, 506, 342 IPC. It is further argued that if enmity can be one of the causes for false implication, it can be one of the reasons which motivated the accused to try to kill the persons of the other side;

(viii) The admission of guilt by his man indicates that applicant can exert his influence over others to turn things in his favour;

(ix) It is argued that there is more than sufficient evidence to show the complicity of the applicant in this case and that he is one of the main accused persons, hence this is not a fit case for grant of anticipatory bail.

6. I considered the nature of allegations, the submissions of both the sides and went through all the material on record. It may be noted that an anticipatory bail is not a substitute for regular bail. The parameters for grant of anticipatory bail are fundamentally different from the grant of regular bail in certain respects. The exercise of this extra-ordinary powers calls for existence of some circumstances which may prompt this court to intervene in the regular process of law for the purpose of furthering the ends of justice and for preventing abuse/misuse of process of law. I do not find any material to form an opinion that the name of the applicant has been dragged in to merely bring disgrace to his name. I do not find any ground good enough to give benefit of anticipatory bail to the applicant, hence, the present anticipatory bail application is rejected.

7. It is made clear that observations made herein shall not in any way affect the learned trial Judge in forming his independent opinion based on material before him at any stage of the trial.

Crl. Misc. Anticipatory Bail Application (U/S 438 Cr.P.C.) No. 1348 of 2023

Vinod Bihari Lal ...Applicant
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Opposite Parties

Counsel for the Applicant:
Sri Rajiv Lochan Shukla, Sri Kumar Vikrant

Counsel for the Opposite Parties:
G.A.

A. Criminal Law -Code of Criminal Procedure,1973-Section 438 - Indian Penal Code, 1860-Sections 153-A, 506, 420, 467, 468 & 471 - U.P. Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Act, 2021-Sections 3 & 5(1) - allegations of conversion with regard to vulnerable segments of society –applicants being influential persons are channelizing the funds collected from overseas group-the applicants are not cooperating with the police even after having knowledge of non-bailable warrants-Protection was granted but the applicants failed to ensure appearance before the Investigating Officer which shows that they do not have any intention to cooperate in the investigation-More so, the applicants cannot be excused only that they have not been named in the FIR-In the present case, sentiments of public at large are involved wherein any secular country like India the same would amount in shattering the peace and harmony-Hence, the power u/s 438 Cr.P.C. cannot be utilized in a routine manner as a substitute for regular bail.(Para 1 to 47)

B. The power of granting 'anticipatory bail' is extraordinary in character and only in exceptional cases where it appears that a person is falsely implicated or a frivolous case is launched against him or there are reasonable grounds for holding that a person accused of an offence is not likely to abscond, or otherwise misuse his liberty while on bail, such power is to be exercised. (Para 9)

The application is rejected. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Manju Rani Chauhan, J.)

1. Both anticipatory bail applications have been moved for grant of anticipatory bail in Case Crime No. 224 of 2022, under Sections 153-A, 506, 420, 467, 468, 471 Indian Penal Code, 1860 and 3 & 5(1) U.P. Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Act, 2021 (U.P. Act No. 3 of 2021), Police Station Kotwali, District Fatehpur.

2. Instant case, as the prosecution version, is that; a first information report was lodged by the informant- Himanshu Dixit with the allegations that about 90 persons of Hindu religion have been congregated at Evangelical Church of India, Hariharganj, Fatehpur for the purpose of their conversion to Christianity by putting them under undue influence, coercion and luring them by playing fraud and promise of easy money etc.; on receiving this information, the Government officers reached the place and interrogated the pastor Vijay Massiah; he disclosed that the process for conversion was going on for the last 34 days and that this process shall be completed within 40 days; that they have been trying to convert even the patients admitted to the Mission Hospital and the employees have played an active role in the same; the Government officers found 35 persons (named in the F.I.R.) and 20 unknown persons as having been involved in this conversion of 90 persons of Hindu community to Christianity. The F.I.R. was registered under Sections 153A, 506, 420, 467, 468 I.P.C. and Sections- 3/5(1) of Uttar Pradesh Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Act and the matter was investigated upon.

3. Facts & Arguments of learned Counsel for the Applicant in Anticipatory Bail Application No. 1346 of 2023:

3.1. Sri Rajiv Lochan Shukla and Sri Kumar Vikrant, learned counsel appear for the applicant.

3.2. Learned counsel appearing for the applicant submits that the applicant is, at present, working as Director (Administration), Sam Higginbottom University of Agriculture, Technology and Sciences, Naini, Prayagraj (Allahabad), a Christian Minority Institution. He keeps a long stint of 37 years of unblemished service career in SHUATS, however, due to political change in State, he has been embroiled in 11 criminal cases between 2017 and 2018. The applicant professes Christian faith. He is being implicated in a false case of mass conversion, whereas on 14.4.2022 the applicant and his family members were peacefully congregated to participate in Special Prayer of Maundy Thursday which is attended by Christian community in respective Churches to offer special prayer. However, the informant along with his close associates barged into the Church and created chaos and turbulence. A first information report was lodged by the informant under Sections 153A, 506, 420, 467, 468 I.P.C. and Sections- 3/5(1) of Uttar Pradesh Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Act. Remand of few arrested accused was sought in various Sections, however, the learned Magistrate granted remand only under Sections 153-A and 506 IPC.

3.3. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that after about eight months from the date of incident, the applicant has been issued notice under Section 41(1) The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, dated 16.12.2022 (Annexure-1), giving rise to apprehension of the applicant's arrest. Ostensibly, the said notice appears to have been issued for the purposes of getting statements recorded. To substantiate his submission regarding apprehension of arrest, he draws attention of the Court to Section 41(1) of Cr.P.C. which says any police officer may without an order from a Magistrate and without warrant, arrest any person who commits a cognizable offence.

3.4. Learned counsel for the applicant has drawn attention of the Court to the statements of witnesses, Issac Frank and Dinesh Shukla, recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. He submits that star witness of prosecution, Issac Frank, himself belongs to Christian religion and resides in Prayagraj, thus, no occasion arises for him to be converted. Since Issac Frank was chargesheeted and dismissed from services and later on he was reinstated after tendering apologies, thus, he is an interested witness. Second witness Dinesh Shukla is an ex-student who was suspended on the allegations of misbehaving with female students. Learned counsel questions the fairness of Sri Dinesh Shukla also as a witness in this case.

3.5. The Investigating Officer - Amit Kumar Mishra, has also been mistrusted by the learned counsel for the applicant as being the Chawki Incharge of the Police Station Naini, Prayagraj because of friendly relations with other prosecution witnesses.

3.6. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that there is no allegation against the applicant regarding mass conversion, as admittedly, the applicant was not present at Fatehpur on the date specified in FIR.

3.7. Learned counsel for the applicant has placed emphasis on Section 3 of the Act, 2021 which provides prohibition of conversion from one religion to another religion by misrepresentation, force, fraud, undue influence, coercion and allurement, clearly specifying that conversion on the aforesaid grounds from one religion to another religion is prohibited. False allegations regarding allurement and undue influence for the purposes of mass conversion have been made. It has also been alleged that free treatment was being provided to patients in the hospital which can not be said to be a temptation for purposes of mass conversion.

3.8. Learned counsel for the applicant emphasised upon the definition of "allurement' and "undue influence'. He submits that providing free treatment to patients who are in immediate need of it, does not amount to undue influence or allurement, rather it would be a failure on the part of the State to provide basic facilities to individuals in need of the same.

3.9. Emphasizing upon Section 5 of the Act, 2021 wherein punishment for contravention of provisions of Section 3 of the Act, 2021 is provided, learned counsel for the applicant submits that the punishment for allurement shall not be less than one year, which may extend up to three years. Placing the said provision forth, he tried to submit that the offence is not serious in nature and there being no allegation to be proved against the applicant, who is a respectable person, however, concerted efforts are being made to implicate him in the offence and he is being victimized for reasons best known to the persons concerned.

3.10. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that as per Section-7 of the Act, 2021 all the offences under the Act, 2021 are considered to be cognizable and triable by the courts of Sessions, therefore, issuance of notices in this regard to ensure compliance of the Section leads to apprehension of arrest of the applicant. To brief the apprehension of arrest, he has also placed the provisions of Sections 209 and 437 Cr.P.C.

3.11. In paragraph-13 of the anticipatory bail application, it has been averred that six cases have been lodged against the applicant by office bearers of a political organization, namely, Diwakar Nath Tripathi and Dr. Shyam Prakash Dwivedi, which shows that the applicant is being dragged into the case.

3.12. In paragraph-37 of the affidavit filed in support of anticipatory bail application, learned counsel for the applicant has mentioned about the procedure which is to be adopted for conversion through Baptism.

3.13. From the evidences collected during the course of investigation, certain C.D. Parchas have been placed by the learned A.G.A., wherein statements under Sections 161 and 164 Cr.P.C. of some persons have been recorded, however, learned counsel for the applicant submits that the statements under Section 164 Cr.P.C. should be given importance over statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. As already submitted, name of the applicant has surfaced in the matter on the basis of statements of two interested witnesses and the Investigating Officer, who are biased against the applicant. Reliance cannot be placed upon Section 164 Cr.P.C., as the same is an afterthought and the persons who earlier did not utter any such allegation, are turning up with fallacious application after a number of days since lodging of the FIR. He also submits that no material connecting the applicant has been placed till date to show involvement of the applicant in the aforesaid case.

3.14. Mr. Shukla relied upon the judgements of this Court in the case of Manish Yadav v. State of U.P. and Suresh Babu v. State of U.P. and another, dated 14.7.2022 and 16.7.2022 respectively, wherein it has been observed that in case at the time of filing of anticipatory bail application the applicant was not a proclaimed offender, the bar imposed by the Apex Court for entertaining the anticipatory bail application of proclaimed offender would not attract.

3.15. Learned counsel for the applicant also apprised the Court of filing a a writ petition being Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. 1814 of 2023 challenging the FIR dated 23.1.2023 filed by the victim, giving rise to Case Crime No. 54 of 2023, under Sections 420, 467, 468, 506, 120-B IPC & Section 3/5(1) of the Act, 2021, wherein the judgement was informed to have been reserved by Hon'ble Division Bench.

3.16. Some photographs showing the apprehension of arrest have been placed by learned counsel for the applicant.

4. Facts & Arguments of learned Counsel for the Applicant in Anticipatory Bail Application No. 1348 of 2023:

4.1. Sri G.S. Chaturvedi, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Kumar Vikrant, learned counsel appears for the applicant.

4.2. Learned Senior Counsel submits that the applicant is a Scientist and Vice Chancellor of SHUATS. He is not aware of the chain of events alleged to have occurred on the date of incident. The applicant has no concern with Evangelical Church of India, Hariharganj, Fatehpur or Mission Hospital. He has illegally been dragged into controversy due to preconceived notion of Police Officials against the applicant.

4.3. It has also been argued by learned counsel for the applicant that the offence is punishable with only imprisonment up to five years, thus, as per the provisions of First Schedule of Cr.P.C., five years sentence is in minor offences, hence the applicant should not be denied anticipatory bail. He next argued that conversion to another religion is not an offence per se. It is open for everybody to follow the procedure to get himself or herself converted, however, it should not be by tempting or alluring. Allurement is an offer and it is of two types: one either by force or by temptation.

4.4. Learned Senior Counsel further submits that the applicant has been implicated to add fun in the case. If the confession is ignored for the time being, there is nothing to show that conversion took place. He also submits that after about nine months, name of the applicant, surfaced in the statement of Issac Frank, came into picture. In regard to criminal history, he submits that criminal history of accused is relevant but where no evidence is against the accused, criminal history should not be taken into consideration for grant of bail. It has also been submitted by learned Senior Counsel that insofar as confessional statements are concerned, these are wholly inadmissible as also the statements of 65-70 persons are verbatim reproduction of FIR.

4.5. It is further argued that the allegations regarding conversion going on, can, at the utmost, be said to be preparation of conversion and it cannot be said that even an attempt was being made for converting persons from one religion to another religion. Placing reliance on Sections 8 and 9 of the Act, 2021 which is a Special Act, he further submits that provisions of the Act, 2021 should be strictly applied because safeguards have been provided in aforesaid Sections to prevent forceful conversion of any person.

4.6. Learned Senior Counsel submits that keeping in mind Sections 8 and 9 of the Act, 2021, no allegation in this regard has been found against the applicant. The Act of 2021 came into force on 27.11.2020. The allegations regarding funding for the purposes of alluring persons for mass conversion is lacking as no activity of applicant has been found in syphoning of funds for the purposes of mass conversion.

4.7. Learned Senior Counsel for the applicant submitted that earlier a writ petition was filed by the applicant challenging the FIR dated 15.4.2022 giving rise to Case Crime No. 224 of 2022, under Sections 153A, 506, 420, 467, 468 IPC and Section 3/5(1) of the Act, 2021 which was dismissed on the ground of locus as the applicant was not named in first information report.

4.8. Lastly, while placing reliance upon a judgement passed by the Supreme Court in the case of Nathu Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh & Ors learned Senior Counsel submits that it is necessary to protect the person apprehending arrest for sometime due to exceptional circumstances as in the present case and as few persons have already been released on anticipatory bail, the applicant is entitled for the same on the ground of parity also.

5. SUBMISSIONS OF STATE:

5.1. Sri Manish Goel, learned Additional Advocate General/ learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri A.K. Sand and Sri Amit Singh Chauhan, learned Additional Government Advocate-I, appears for the State.

5.2. Mr. Manish Goel, learned Addl. Advocate General, appearing for the State submits that it is a case of mass conversion, thus, the proviso to the Section - 5 of the Act, 2021 would be applicable, wherein the punishment up to ten years is prescribed. He submits that the object of Act, 2021 is to provide for prohibition of unlawful conversion from one religion to another religion by misrepresentation, force, undue influence, coercion, allurement or by any fraudulent means. The FIR has been lodged under Section 153A IPC, which envisages acts prejudicial to maintenance of harmony and since it is an offence against public tranquillity, therefore, insofar as legality concerning process of lodging FIR by third party, victims had also lodged FIR that made separate cause of action as also FIR has been lodged under several sections of IPC, therefore, third party cannot be ousted from lodging FIR for the offence against public tranquillity. He further argues that offences for which present FIR has been lodged have warring ramifications as some offences are those which violate fundamental rights of an individual whereas the other affect the mass i.e. public at large. There is abundance of details showing applicants' complicity with other persons who were regularly connected for the purposes of promoting mass conversion.

5.3. Mr. Goel further submits that the police found that there were about 100 application forms including that of minors, along with pamphlets for adopting and propagating Christianity mentioning therein that Rs. 35000/- would be paid if one adopts Christianity; there were trainers to educate how to propagate Christianity and to visit different places for gathering people and bringing them to motivate for conversion purpose.

5.4. Learned Addl. Advocate General emphasized over the ingredients of Section 2 of the Act, 2021 which elaborates the definitions of Allurement, Coercion, Conversion, Fraudulent means, Mass Conversion, Minor, Religion, Religion Convertor and Undue Influence. Next, he submits that statement of Issac Frank (CD-51) shows how the money was being received from various countries and subsequently channelized. There are different kinds of organizations and the present one is run by Mr. R.B. Lal. It has also been argued that Section 4 of Cr.P.C. provides for investigation to be done by same provisions, subject to enactment of provision in the Special Act. Here, the Act, 2021 does not provide any mechanism for investigation, and, if so, the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure would apply as also the Act, 2021 does not prohibits operation of Cr.P.C.

5.5. Replying to the submission regarding a writ petition filed by the applicant - R.B. Lal, Sri Manish Goel submits that though the petition was dismissed on the ground that the applicant was not named in FIR, however, it has been observed by the Division Bench in the said case that as per settled position of law, if upon perusal of FIR accepting every word therein to be correct, if no offence is disclosed, the FIR is liable to be quashed. In the present case though the petition was dismissed being not maintainable as the applicant being not named in the aforesaid case, a perusal of the FIR discloses offence against the applicant and during the course of investigation pursuant to said FIR, material evidence has been collected to point out the culpability of the applicant.

5.6. In regard to the submissions of police raid in the office of the applicant - V.B. Lal by the SIT, learned Addl. Advocate General submits that the team was constituted for investigating the matter regarding allegations in FIR with respect to syphoning of funds.

5.7. Stressing upon applicant's complicity in mass conversion, learned AAG shows that the statement of Santosh

Kumar Saini, an independent witness of the offence & employee of the Hospital since 2017 who disclosed names of several persons belonging to Hindu family of poor economic condition were forced to adopt other religion by conversion. He stated about the allurements provided to persons belonging to marginal section of the society for conversion. He also revealed Hariharganj incident dated 24.1.2023 pointing out the identity of influential persons (CD-68).

5.8. Mr. Goel submits that the applicants have been issued non-bailable warrants and it is a well settled law of the Apex Court that wherein non-bailable warrants are in operation, the accused-applicants in such cases are not entitled for anticipatory bail. It is the culpability of the applicant only to establish that he is entitled for grant of anticipatory bail. He has drawn attention of the Court to the statements of Sayapal and Kishanpal further stating that charge-sheet has been submitted against 43 persons on 27.1.2023 and Section 8 of the Act, 2021 has also been added. Thus, culpability of the applicants is well established from the sort of work which he was doing as also the funds in the manner being channelized.

5.9. Learned counsel for the applicants also placed on record a judgement of the Apex Court in the Case of Rev. Stainislaus v. State of Madhya Pradesh and others, wherein the term "allurement' fell for consideration and expression "public order' has been dealt with extensively.

5.10. To demonstrate defiance by the applicants, learned Additional Advocate General sought attention of the Court to the interim order granted by this Court on 09.2.2023, in the following terms:

"It is provided that, if the applicant appears before the Investigating Officer on 13th & 15th February, 2023 and files an undertaking to that effect before the Investigating Officer on 13th February, 2023 itself surrendering his passport, if any, to further the investigation, Investigating Officer shall ensure that neither the applicant be arrested nor any coercive action is taken in the present case till 15.2.2023. It is also directed that the Senior Officials as well as Investigating Officer concerned shall ensure that the applicant be not arrested on 13th and 15th February, 2023 when he comes to cooperate in the investigation."

5.11. It is next submitted that the applicants were expected to cooperate in the investigation appearing before the Investigating Officer on the dates given in the order itself i.e. 13th February and 15th February, 2023, but they failed to abide by the directions of this Court whereas the Investigating Officer waited for them on 13th February, 2023 up till 11:40 p.m. and on 15th February, 2023 up till 11:21 p.m., thus demeanour of the applicants amounts to breach of the order passed by this Court which shows sheer disrespect of the spirit of Section 438 Cr.P.C. and also amounts to misuse of liberty, hence the applicants are not entitled to be released on anticipatory bail on this ground itself.

5.12. Relying upon a judgement of this Court in the case of Ali @ Ali Ahmad v. State of U.P. and 2 Others Mr. Manish Goel submits that it is not necessary that the accused be declared proclaimed offender, but, intention of not cooperating in the investigation is sufficient, as in the present case, even after having knowledge of non-bailable warrants the applicants are not cooperating with the police and thus they are not entitled for consideration to be released on anticipatory bail.

5.13. Learned AAG further relied upon the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Amish Devgan v. Union of India and others pressing upon the principles of diminished autonomy wherein underprivileged section of society in terms of money, caste, gender have to be protected. He submits that hospital in question which is a Mission Hospital is the best example of diminished autonomy.

5.14. It is argued that the following material has been collected to show the involvement of the applicants in the present case:

(i) Statements of witness Pramod Kumar Dixit, Sanjay Singh and Rajesh Kumar Trivedi, which form part of CD Parcha No. 9 and of independent witnesses, namely, Keshan and Satya Pal forming part of CD Parch No. 12, stated to have been allured for conversion.

(ii) CD Parcha Nos. 15, 16, 20 and 29 show that the remand was accepted in all Sections mentioned in FIR.

(iii) In CD Parcha No. 18, victims Keshan and Satyapal have narrated the entire version in detail.

(iv) CD Parcha No 26 shows statements of ten witnesses, namely, Honey S/o Rampal; Suresh S/o Kallu; Riya D/o Govind; Brijesh Kumar S/o Rajnesh Prasad; Ramesh S/o Pannalal; Rampal S/o Late Bajpali; Ashok Kumar S/o Late Sualal; Vijay S/o Late Chunku Prasad; Vijay S/o Late Vishkarma Lohar, and Amit Maurya S/o Ram Shriomani Maurya. They have stated that Church along with Vijay Massiah (Pastor) and other accused persons are involved in unlawful conversion of large number of persons to Christianity.

(v) In CD Parcha No. 29 statement of victim Sanjay Singh has been recorded. CD Parcha No. 36 shows that 39 accused persons have obtained orders under Section 82 Cr.P.C.

(vi) Statement of victim Virendra Kumar has been recorded in CD Parcha No. 38. CD Parcha No. 41, which shows that notice under Section 91 Cr.P.C. was given to Dr. Mathew Samuel, Chairman, Broadwell Christian Hospital Society, Fatehpur. Replying to the said notice, he supplied copy of Aadhar Cards of 17 accused persons being employee of the Society, Bank Account details along with society registration papers.

(vi) Daud Massiah and Ratna Massiah co-accused persons have confessed about conversion being carried out with the assistance of applicants and other accused persons naming various organizations including the applicants for being involved in such offence which are recorded in CD Parcha No. 46.

(vii) Parcha No. 48 is statement of independent witness Dinesh Shukla, examined on 19.12.2022 who has stated complicity of the applicants. In CD Parcha No. 50 statements of persons who have mentioned the names of applicants and have shown their complicity in the offence has been recorded.

(viii) CD Parcha No. 54 shows a list of beneficiaries who were converted and their photographs were found from Broadwell Christian Hospital.

(ix) In spite of notice under Section 41(2) Cr.P.C. to Dr. Mathew Samuel and Parminder Singh, Clerk, they did not turn up as is evident from CD Parcha No. 55.

(x) In CD Parcha No. 61 names of various institutions involved in conversion have been revealed.

(xi) CD Parcha No. 64 is a collection of various documents regarding mass conversion found from Broadwell

Christian Hospital wherein material with regard to religious conversion has also been found.

(xii) Statements and details of SHUATS Bank account were taken by the I.O. which forms part of CD Parcha No. 67. Charge-sheet has been filed against 44 accused persons on 27.1.2023.

5.15. Apart from the above grounds, learned AAG has opposed the anticipatory bail applications on the following grounds:

(i) The incident created a lot of flutter and tension amongst the persons of one community and also created a law and order situation. In aftermath, the persons of one community collected at a place and raised slogans and the police had difficult time in controlling them and any untoward incident could have taken place if they were not sufficiently prepared and alert.

(ii) It is stated by one of the witnesses Shri Keshan that on same kind of assurances like free of cost medical assistance, education and employment to his children and monetary benefits once he is converted to their faith, he was lured into this process; that his Aadhaar card was taken and his name was changed from Shri Keshan to Keshan Joseph; he was also threatened by the accused persons that in case he disclosed the incident to anybody, his life will be at risk.

(iii) There was a bigger conspiracy hatched by the applicants and their associates with wider ramifications; they were acting in an organized manner for mass conversion. This is not a case where an individual was driven by his conscience to convert to a different faith, but, the accused persons in tandem with each other systematically went on to influence the persons who usually came in their contact for medical treatment or otherwise. Their poor socio-economic condition was exploited to lure them into participating in mass conversion. The offer for easy money, jobs etc. were used as a bait to tempt them in this incident. The incident might seem not so grave on surface but had a hidden agenda behind it.

(iv)) It is also argued that there is no substance in the argument that applicants have been falsely implicated or that F.I.R. was motivated one.

(v) The bail at this stage may prove a hurdle in effective investigation in this case.

5.16. Learned AAG submits that while rejecting the anticipatory bail application, the Sessions Court has discussed in details about non-cooperation of the applicants in investigation in an offence which is affecting the public at large.

6. I have considered the rival submissions advanced by learned counsel appearing for the parties and perused the material available on record.

7. The gravamen of the matter, wherein the applicants before this Court are for grant anticipatory bail, is "Conversion'. Party titled as applicant in both applications calls it "conversion by law', however, the party - Respondent worded it as "conversion for allurement'.

8. This Court finds it more appropriate to align the arguments advanced by learned counsel for the applicants and learned Additional Advocate General for the State, factual and legal aspects, object and principles, with the ingredients of conditions for the grant of anticipatory bail as well as the law settled in respect thereof.

9. Object and purposes of Anticipatory Bail are summarized as under:

(i) The power of granting `anticipatory bail' is extraordinary in character and only in exceptional cases where it appears that a person is falsely implicated or a frivolous case is launched against him or there are reasonable grounds for holding that a person accused of an offence is not likely to abscond, or otherwise misuse his liberty while on bail, such power is to be exercised. Therefore, the power being `unusual and extraordinary in nature' is entrusted only to the higher echelons of judicial service, i.e. a Court of Session and a High Court.

(ii) The conflict of judicial opinion whether a High Court had inherent powers to make an order of bail in anticipation of arrest and the need to curb the acts of, influential persons trying to implicate their rivals in false cases for the purpose of disgracing them or for other purposes by getting them detained in jail for some days were the necessities, carved out by Law Commission of India in its 41st Report to introduce provision relating to Anticipatory bail.

(iii) As most things have a dark side, so do this provision of the Code. The object behind enacting this law was to prevent the innocent from getting trapped, but with time, the picture has changed and now persons accused of heinous offences and even habitual offenders are invoking it repeatedly, which was not the intent of the relief sought to be given by this section.

(iv) The Courts have felt that wide discretionary power conferred by the Legislature on the higher echelons in the criminal justice delivery system cannot be put in the form of strait-jacket rules for universal application as the question whether to grant bail or not depends, for its answer upon a variety of circumstances, the cumulative effect of which must enter into the judicial verdict. A circumstance which, in a given case, turns out to be conclusive may or may not have any significance in another case. Nonetheless, the discretion under the Section has to be exercised with due care and circumspection depending on circumstances justifying its exercise.

(v) Section 438(1) of the Code lays down a condition which has to be satisfied before anticipatory bail can be granted. The applicant must show that he has reason to believe that he may be arrested for a non-bailable offence. The use of the expression "reason to believe" shows that the belief that applicant may be so arrested must be founded on reasonable grounds. Mere fear is not belief, for this reason, it is not enough for the applicant to show that he has some sort of a vague apprehension that someone is going to make an accusation against him, in pursuance of which he may be arrested.

(vi) It cannot be laid down as an inexorable rule that anticipatory bail cannot be granted unless the proposed accusation appears to be actuated by mala fides; and equally, that anticipatory bail must be granted if there is no fear that the applicant will abscond.' The nature and seriousness of the proposed charges, the context of the events likely to lead to the making of the charges, a reasonable possibility of the applicant's presence not being secured at the trial, a reasonable apprehension, that witnesses will be tampered with and the larger interests of the public or the State, are some of the considerations which the court's keep in mind while deciding an application for anticipatory bail.'

(vii) In evaluation of the consideration whether the applicant is likely to abscond, there can be no presumption that the wealthy and the mighty will submit themselves to trial and that the humble and the poor will run away from the course of justice, and more than there can be a presumption that the former are not likely to commit a crime and the latter are more likely to commit it. In considering a petition for grant of bail necessarily, if public interest requires, detention of citizen in custody for purpose of investigation could be considered and rejected, as otherwise, there could be hurdles in investigation even resulting in tempering of evidence.

(viii) The Apex Court has held that anticipatory bail cannot be granted as a matter of right. It is essentially a statutory right conferred long after the coming into force of the Constitution and that it cannot be considered as an essential ingredient of Article 21 of the Constitution. Therefore its non-application to a certain special category of offences cannot be considered as violative of Article 21.

(ix) A duty has been thrust on the courts, to examine the facts carefully and to ensure that no prejudice is caused to investigation. It is a delicate balance whereby the liberty of citizen and the operation of criminal justice system have both to be safeguarded. Custodial interrogation of such accused is indispensable necessary for the investigating agency to unearth all the links involved in the criminal conspiracies committed by the persons which ultimately led to capital tragedy.

(x) Where it is pointed out that the action is malafide or tainted the courts are required to reach out the conclusion and do justice by preventing harassment and unjustified detention. Specific events and facts must be disclosed by the applicant in order to enable the court to judge the reasonableness of his belief, the existence of which is the sine qua non of the exercise of power conferred by the section.

(xi) But, while granting such anticipatory bail, the Court may impose such conditions as it thinks fit, but the object of putting conditions should be to avoid the possibility of the person hampering investigation. Harsh, onerous and excessive conditions which frustrate the very object of anticipatory bail cannot to be imposed. Subjecting an accused to any condition other than conditions mentioned in the Section is beyond the jurisdiction of the court.

(xii) Filing of F.I.R is not a condition precedent to the exercise of the power under Section 438 and the imminence of a likely arrest founded on a reasonable belief can be shown to exist even if an F.I.R. is not yet filed. Anticipatory bail can be granted even after an F.I.R. is filed, so long as the applicant has not been arrested. The provision cannot be invoked after the arrest of an accused. Moreover the salutary provision contained in Section 438 Cr.P.C. were introduced to enable the Court to prevent the deprivation of personal liberty. It cannot be permitted to be jettisoned on technicalities such as the challan having been presented anticipatory bail cannot be granted.

10. In the present case, apart from offences fall amongst other Sections of IPC i.e. Sections 153-A, 506, 420, 467, 468, 471 IPC, allegation of religious conversion by use of allurement, deception or force involved under Section 3 & 5 (1) of the Act, 2021 is involved. Allegation of conversion is with regard to vulnerable segments of society. The applicants herein are praying for grant of anticipatory bail, thus, before adverting to facts and law settled applicable on the present case, it is apposite to quote Section 438 Cr.P.C.:

"438. Direction for grant bail to person apprehending arrest.--(1) Where any person has reason to believe that he may be arrested on accusation of having committed a non-bailable offence, he may apply to the High Court or the Court of Session for a direction under this section that in the event of such arrest he shall be released on bail; and that Court may, after taking into consideration, inter alia, the following factors, namely:--

(i) the nature and gravity of the accusation;

(ii) the antecedents of the applicant including the fact as to whether he has previously undergone imprisonment on conviction by a Court in respect of any cognizable offence;

(iii) the possibility of the applicant to flee from justice; and

(iv) where the accusation has been made with the object of injuring or humiliating the applicant by having him so arrested; either reject the application forthwith or issue an interim order for the grant of anticipatory bail:

Provided that where the High Court or, as the case may be, the Court of Session, has not passed any interim order under this sub-section or has rejected the application for grant of anticipatory bail, it shall be open to an officer in-charge of a police station to arrest, without warrant, the applicant on the basis of the accusation apprehended in such application.

(2) Where the High Court or, as the case may be, the Court of Session, considers it expedient to issue an interim order to grant anticipatory bail under sub-section (1), the Court shall indicate therein the date, on which the application for grant of anticipatory bail shall be finally heard for passing an order thereon, as the Court may deem fit, arid if the Court passes any order granting anticipatory bail, such order shall include inter alia the following conditions, namely--

(i) that the applicant shall make himself available for interrogation by a police officer as and when required;

(ii) that the applicant shall not, directly or indirectly, make any inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the Court or to any police officer;

(iii) that the applicant shall not leave India without the previous permission of the Court; and

(iv) such other conditions as may be imposed under sub-section (3) of Section 437, as if the bail were granted under that section.

Explanation.--The final order made on an application for direction under sub-section (1); shall not be construed as an interlocutory order for the purpose of this Code.

(3) Where the Court grants an interim order under sub-section (1), it shall forthwith cause a notice being not less than seven days notice, together with a copy of such order to be served on the Public Prosecutor and the Superintendent of Police, with a view to give the Public Prosecutor a reasonable opportunity of being heard when the application shall be finally heard by the Court.

(4) On the date indicated in the interim order under sub-section (2), the Court shall hear the Public Prosecutor and the applicant and after due consideration of their contentions, it may either confirm, modify or cancel the interim order.

(5) The High Court or the Court of Session, as the case may be, shall finally dispose of an application for grant of anticipatory bail under sub-section (1), within thirty days of the date of such application;

(6) Provisions of this section shall not be applicable,--

(a) to the offences arising out of,--

(i) the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, 1967;

(ii) the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985;

(iii) the Official Secret Act, 1923;

(iv) the Uttar Pradesh Gangsters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986.

(b) in the offences, in which death sentence can be awarded.

(7) If an application under this section has been made by any person to the High Court, no application by the same person shall be entertained by the Court of Session. [U.P. Act 4 of 2019, S. 2 (w.e.f. 1-6-2019).

11. The words ''allurement' and ''undue influence', to which the entire issue encircles, as defined in Section 2 of the Act, 2021, reads thus:

(a) "Allurement" means and includes offer of any temptation in the form of--

(i) any gift, gratification, easy money or material benefit either in cash or kind;

(ii) employment, free education in reputed school run by any religious body; or

(iii) better lifestyle, divine displeasure or otherwise;

*** *** ***

(j) "Undue influence" means the unconscientious use by one person of his/her power or influence over another in order to persuade the other to act in accordance with the will of the person exercising such influence;

12. A Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in the case of Shri Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia and Others v. State of Punjab, dealt with the considerations for grant of anticipatory bail in detail. Relying upon the Constitution Bench judgement in Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia (supra), the Supreme Court in the case of Siddharam Satlingappa Mhetre v. State of Maharashtra and others, laid down parameters and factors to be considered while dealing with application for anticipatory bail:

"112. ...

(i) The nature and gravity of the accusation and the exact role of the accused must be properly comprehended before arrest is made;

(ii) The antecedents of the applicant including the fact as to whether the accused has previously undergone imprisonment on conviction by a court in respect of any cognizable offence;

(iii) The possibility of the applicant to flee from justice;

(iv) The possibility of the accused's likelihood to repeat similar or other offences;

(v) Where the accusations have been made only with the object of injuring or humiliating the applicant by arresting him or her;

(vi) Impact of grant of anticipatory bail particularly in cases of large magnitude affecting a very large number of people;

(vii) The courts must evaluate the entire available material against the accused very carefully. The court must also clearly comprehend the exact role of the accused in the case. The cases in which the accused is implicated with the help of Sections 34 and 149 of the Penal Code, 1860 the court should consider with even greater care and caution because overimplication in the cases is a matter of common knowledge and concern;

(viii) While considering the prayer for grant of anticipatory bail, a balance has to be struck between two factors, namely, no prejudice should be caused to the free, fair and full investigation and there should be prevention of harassment, humiliation and unjustified detention of the accused;

(ix) The court to consider reasonable apprehension of tampering of the witness or apprehension of threat to the complainant;

(x) Frivolity in prosecution should always be considered and it is only the element of genuineness that shall have to be considered in the matter of grant of bail and in the event of there being some doubt as to the genuineness of the prosecution, in the normal course of events, the accused is entitled to an order of bail."

13. Guiding principles in dealing with applications under Section 438 Cr.P.C. have been laid down by another Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court in the case of Sushila Aggarwal and others v. State (NCT of Delhi) and another. Said concluding factors read thus:

"92. This Court, in the light of the above discussion in the two judgments, and in the light of the answers to the reference, hereby clarifies that the following need to be kept in mind by courts, dealing with applications under Section 438 CrPC.

92.1. Consistent with the judgment in Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia v. State of Punjab, when a person complains of apprehension of arrest and approaches for order, the application should be based on concrete facts (and not vague or general allegations) relatable to one or other specific offence. The application seeking anticipatory bail should contain bare essential facts relating to the offence, and why the applicant reasonably apprehends arrest, as well as his side of the story. These are essential for the court which should consider his application, to evaluate the threat or apprehension, its gravity or seriousness and the appropriateness of any condition that may have to be imposed. It is not essential that an application should be moved only after an FIR is filed; it can be moved earlier, so long as the facts are clear and there is reasonable basis for apprehending arrest.

92.2. It may be advisable for the court, which is approached with an application under Section 438, depending on the seriousness of the threat (of arrest) to issue notice to the Public Prosecutor and obtain facts, even while granting limited interim anticipatory bail.

92.3. Nothing in Section 438 CrPC, compels or obliges courts to impose conditions limiting relief in terms of time, or upon filing of FIR, or recording of statement of any witness, by the police, during investigation or inquiry, etc. While considering an application (for grant of anticipatory bail) the court has to consider the nature of the offence, the role of the person, the likelihood of his influencing the course of investigation, or tampering with evidence (including intimidating witnesses), likelihood of fleeing justice (such as leaving the country), etc. The courts would be justified -- and ought to impose conditions spelt out in Section 437(3) CrPC [by virtue of Section 438(2)]. The need to impose other restrictive conditions, would have to be judged on a case-by-case basis, and depending upon the materials produced by the State or the investigating agency. Such special or other restrictive conditions may be imposed if the case or cases warrant, but should not be imposed in a routine manner, in all cases. Likewise, conditions which limit the grant of anticipatory bail may be granted, if they are required in the facts of any case or cases; however, such limiting conditions may not be invariably imposed.

92.4. Courts ought to be generally guided by considerations such as the nature and gravity of the offences, the role attributed to the applicant, and the facts of the case, while considering whether to grant anticipatory bail, or refuse it. Whether to grant or not is a matter of discretion; equally whether and if so, what kind of special conditions are to be imposed (or not imposed) are dependent on facts of the case, and subject to the discretion of the court.

92.5. Anticipatory bail granted can, depending on the conduct and behaviour of the accused, continue after filing of the charge-sheet till end of trial.

92.6. An order of anticipatory bail should not be "blanket" in the sense that it should not enable the accused to commit further offences and claim relief of indefinite protection from arrest. It should be confined to the offence or incident, for which apprehension of arrest is sought, in relation to a specific incident. It cannot operate in respect of a future incident that involves commission of an offence.

92.7. An order of anticipatory bail does not in any manner limit or restrict the rights or duties of the police or investigating agency, to investigate into the charges against the person who seeks and is granted pre-arrest bail.

92.8. The observations in Sibbia regarding "limited custody" or "deemed custody" to facilitate the requirements of the investigative authority, would be sufficient for the purpose of fulfilling the provisions of Section 27, in the event of recovery of an article, or discovery of a fact, which is relatable to a statement made during such event (i.e. deemed custody). In such event, there is no question (or necessity) of asking the accused to separately surrender and seek regular bail. Sibbia had observed that: (SCC P. 584, para 19)

"19. ... if and when the occasion arises, it may be possible for the prosecution to claim the benefit of Section 27 of the Evidence Act in regard to a discovery of facts made in pursuance of information supplied by a person released on bail by invoking the principle stated by this Court in State of U.P. v. Deoman Upadhyaya."

92.9. It is open to the police or the investigating agency to move the court concerned, which grants anticipatory bail, for a direction under Section 439(2) to arrest the accused, in the event of violation of any term, such as absconding, non-cooperating during investigation, evasion, intimidation or inducement to witnesses with a view to influence outcome of the investigation or trial, etc."

14. The Apex Court in the case of Sumitha Pradeep v. Arun Kumar C.K. & Another noticing common argument being canvassed in numerous anticipatory bail matters that no custodial interrogation is required, observed that there appears to be a serious misconception of law that if no case of custodial interrogation is made out by the prosecution, then that alone would be a good ground to grant anticipatory. Relevant part of the said judgements reads thus:

"16. ...In many anticipatory bail matters, we have noticed one common argument being canvassed that no custodial interrogation is required and, therefore, anticipatory bail may be granted. There appears to be a serious misconception of law that if no case for custodial interrogation is made out by the prosecution, then that alone would be a good ground to grant anticipatory bail. Custodial interrogation can be one of the relevant aspects to be considered along with other grounds while deciding an application seeking anticipatory bail. There may be many cases in which the custodial interrogation of the accused may not be required, but that does not mean that the prima facie case against the accused should be ignored or overlooked and he should be granted anticipatory bail. The first and foremost thing that the court hearing an anticipatory bail application should consider is the prima facie case put up against the accused. Thereafter, the nature of the offence should be looked into along with the severity of the punishment. Custodial interrogation can be one of the grounds to decline anticipatory bail. However, even if custodial interrogation is not required or necessitated, by itself, cannot be a ground to grant anticipatory bail."

15. Power of Section 438 while granting anticipatory bail should not be exercised sub silentio as to reasons or on considerations relevant or germane to the determination. The Supreme Court in the case of Pokar Ram v. State of Rajasthan and others has held that the anticipatory bail to some extent intrudes in the sphere of investigation of crime. Relevant excerpt of the said case is reproduced as under:

11. ...Anticipatory bail to some extent intrudes in the sphere of investigation of crime and the court must be cautious and circumspect in exercising such power of a discretionary nature. ...."

Applicability of settled law on the facts of the present cases:

16. Insofar as factor no. (i) as enumerated in Section 438 - ''the nature and gravity of the accusation', learned Counsel appearing for both the applicants tried to convince the Court pressing that since the punishment, as provided under Section 5 of the Act, 2021, for contravention of provisions of Section-3 of the Act, 2021, attracts only one year imprisonment which may extend to five years, therefore, the offence does not fall under the category which may impinge on granting anticipatory bail.

16.1. This Court finds though the offence warrants only five year imprisonment, however, the proviso to Section 5 also envisages that contravention in respect of mass conversion shall attract imprisonment for a term not less than three years but may extend to ten years as also the FIR in addition to Section 3/5(1) of the Act, 2021 includes offences under Sections 153A, 506, 420, 467, 468, 471 IPC for which the Magistrate did not issue remand at initial stage, however, subsequently the remand has been accorded in the remaining sections also.

17. Second factor which the Section 438 requires for consideration is ''that the applicant shall not, directly or indirectly, make any inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the Court or to any police officer'. Learned counsel for the applicants have demonstrated the profile of the respective applicants stating that they do not have any connection with the offence and can never think to induce, threat or promise to dissuade anyone thus the condition as factored is not presumed to be affected.

17.1. Arguments weighed in with regard to the applicants' position show that hardly it can be ensured that no such effect would be undertaken where the offence in question is of allurement as the victims belong to marginal section of society and are coming forward to lodge FIR. The arguments advanced by learned AAG outpaced the contention of the applicants.

18. With regard to the third factor that the applicants will not flee from justice and will extend cooperation at their end, they have shaken assurance by not adhering to the directions of this Court issued in the interim order passed on 09.02.2023. Issuance of non-bailable warrants due to non-cooperation and failing in ensuring presence before the Investigating Officer even after interim protection was granted by this Court also smashes the trustworthiness of the applicants which they tried to pose in arguments.

19. Regarding the fact that the FIR has not been lodged by a competent person as required under the relevant Sections of the Act, 2021. This Court feels that the FIR was lodged under other Sections of IPC also including Section 153-A IPC, therefore, it is not liable to be ousted only on the ground that same has been lodged by a person who is Secretary of some political organization.

20. It was pointed out by learned counsel for the applicant that the FIR has been lodged by victims being Case Crime No. 54 of 2023 and Case Crime No. 55 of 2023 under relevant Sections including Sections 3/5(1) of the Act, 2021, one of them i.e. Case Crime No. 54 of 2023 was under challenge before the Division of this Court, in which judgement was reserved 03.2.2023. Judgement in the present case was reserved on 17.2.2023 before lunch hours, after which it came to be known that the Division Bench of this Court has delivered the judgement in Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. 1814 of 2023 on the same day i.e. 17.2.2023. While passing the aforesaid judgement, the Division Bench has made an observation that the FIR dated 15.4.2022 bearing Case Crime No. 224 of 2023 was not lodged by a person competent to make it.

21. The FIR itself reveals that it has been lodged in Sections 153-A, 506, 420, 467, 468, 471 IPC including Section 3/5(1) of the Act, 2021 which was challenged before the Division Bench of this Court in Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. 324 of 2023 wherein while dismissing the writ petition as not maintainable, an observation came from the Bench that as per settled position, upon bare perusal of the FIR and keeping every word, therein, to be correct, if no offence is disclosed, FIR is liable to be quashed. It was also observed that if during the course of investigation any evidence is collected, the same cannot be considered or appreciated by the writ court. In the present case FIR, apart from Section 3/5(1) of the Act, 2021 includes other Sections for offences under IPC, therefore, the averments in the FIR cannot be ignored when material evidence has been collected against the applicants for offence affecting a large section of society which disturbs public order and the fact that the victims have also come forward to lodge FIR.

22. Be that as it may, the observation of the Division Bench of this Court in Jose Prakash George (supra) regarding the FIR being of no consequence (when the same is not in question before the writ court in Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. 1814 of 2023 as well as in the present case), is that there can be no apprehension with respect to the aforesaid FIR which is of no consequence and is not in existence. Even otherwise it is not necessary that the FIR should be in existence against the applicants when their involvement is being shown in the offence of mass conversion by the victims who have now come forward to lodge an FIR against the applicants.

23. The object of arrest and detention of the accused is primarily to secure his appearance at the time of trial and to ensure that if he is found guilty he is available to receive sentence. If presence at the relevant time could be ensured otherwise, it would be unfair and unjust to deprive the accused of liberty during the pendency of criminal proceedings.

24. Keeping in mind the object of Section 438 Cr.P.C., the Court vide order dated 09.2.2023 had protected the applicants with condition that they will cooperate in the investigation and appear before the Investigating Officer on 13th and 15th February, 2023. As pointed out by learned AAG the applicants did not appear which has not been disputed by learned counsel for the applicants. However, Mr. Shukla, learned counsel for the applicant - Vinod Bihari showed photographs to the Court, proving bonafide of the applicant, that a team of police officials had entered the office of one of the applicants hence there was apprehension of arrest, to which the learned A.G.A. has already submitted that a team of SIT has been constituted for investigation in the matter, wherein criminal cases regarding channelization of funds are already pending.

25. The Court finds that the applicants have misused the liberty which was one of the conditions while granting protection to the applicants, therefore, they are not entitled for the relief as claimed.

26. While arguing the matter, period of punishment has been stressed upon in order to make out a case where offence is not serious in nature. Looking into the provisions of relevant Sections, period of punishment has been pointed out, which is up to ten years but it is not only the period of punishment, but, the nature of offence which is to be taken into consideration as the same is affecting human body or society at large and that is what matters and has relevance. In the present case, as has already been pointed out by learned AGA, material evidence regarding mass conversion has been collected which affects society at large and hence is a serious offence and cannot be taken lightly.

27. Substantial evidence has been unearthed which proves involvement of the applicants in the offence pertaining to the cause of affecting public at large, thus, such offence cannot be taken up in a normal course. Efforts regarding collection of evidence pertaining to channelizing funding being done by the Investigating Officer wherein the applicants are required to cooperate with the investigation. In such cases, the investigation must proceed without the applicants being under the protection of this Court through the Investigating Officer who is well versed with the process of law and is a part of law enforcement machinery. Reference may be made to the judgement of the Supreme Court in the case of Sadhna Chaudhary v. The State of Rajasthan & Anr, wherein the Apex Court has observed that being a law-abiding person (accused therein), adherence to law has to be stringent than expected in general by a common man. The applicants herein bears high position, thus, they should have been diligent about the conditions of interim protection whereby they were asked to appear before the Investigating Officer on the scheduled dates mentioned therein.

28. As discussed in various judgements, certain relevant factors have to be considered while granting anticipatory bail, one of them, being the gravity of offence, this Court finds that the present case has transcended and gone beyond a simple case for anticipatory bail, where, during pendency of present application several first information reports have been lodged by the victims who have been converted by undue influence or allurement. This Court cannot close its eyes to the fact that the material evidence has been collected regarding mass conversion of persons and this case has taken a far more serious turn where the victims are coming forward to give evidence, thus, in case protection is granted, same would hamper process of investigation.

29. While considering the guidelines regarding grant of anticipatory bail the Supreme Court in case of Pokar Ram v. State of Rajasthan and others discussed about the judgement of a Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in the case of Shri Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia and Others v. State of Punjab28 and observed that a caution was voiced in the evaluation of consideration whether the applicant is likely to abscond, there can be no presumption that the wealthy and the mighty will submit themselves to trial and that the humble and the poor will run away from the course of justice, and more than that, there can be a presumption that the former are not likely to commit a crime and the latter are more likely to commit it: Relevant paragraph of said judgement in Pokar Ram (supra) reads thus:

"6. The decision of the Constitution Bench in Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia v. State of Punjab clearly lays down that "the distinction between an ordinary order of bail and an order of anticipatory bail is that whereas the former is granted after arrest and therefore means release from the custody of the police, the latter is granted in anticipation of arrest and is therefore effective at the very moment of arrest". Unlike a post-arrest order of bail, it is a pre-arrest legal process which directs that if the person in whose favour it is issued is thereafter arrested on the accusation in respect of which the direction is issued, he shall be released on bail. A direction under Section 438 is intended to confer conditional immunity from the touch as envisaged by Section 46(1) or confinement. In para 31, Chandrachud, C.J. clearly demarcated the distinction between the relevant considerations while examining an application for anticipatory bail and an application for bail after arrest in the course of investigation. Says the learned Chief Justice that in regard to anticipatory bail, if the proposed accusation appears to stem not from motives of furthering the ends of justice but from some ulterior motive, the object being to injure and humiliate the applicant by having him arrested, a direction for the release of the applicant on bail in the event of his arrest would generally be made. It was observed that "it cannot be laid down as an inexorable rule that anticipatory bail cannot be granted unless the proposed accusation appears to be actuated by mala fides; and, equally, that anticipatory bail must be granted if there is no fear that the applicant will abscond". Some of the relevant considerations which govern the discretion, noticed therein are "the nature and seriousness of the proposed charges, the context of the events likely to lead to the making of the charges, a reasonable possibility of the applicant's presence not being secured at the trial, a reasonable apprehension that witnesses will be tampered with and "the larger interests of the public or the State', are some of the considerations which the court has to keep in mind while deciding an application for anticipatory bail". A caution was voiced that "in the evaluation of the consideration whether the applicant is likely to abscond, there can be no presumption that the wealthy and the mighty will submit themselves to trial and that the humble and the poor will run away from the course of justice, any more than there can be a presumption that the former are not likely to commit a crime and the latter are more likely to commit it".

30. It is a settled law that while considering the case for granting anticipatory bail, the Court must not overlook the possibility of accused to influence the prosecution witnesses, threatening family members, fleeing from justice, creating other impediments and fair investigation. In the case of Vipin Kumar Dhir v. State of Punjab and another the Apex Court has held that even if there is any procedural irregularity in declaring the accused an absconder that by itself was not a justifiable ground to grant pre-arrest bail. Relevant part of the judgement is quoted hereinbelow:

"13. Even if there was any procedural irregularity in declaring the Respondent-Accused as an absconder, that by itself was not a justifiable ground to grant pre-arrest bail in a case of grave offence save where the High Court on perusal of case-diary and other material on record is, prima facie, satisfied that it is a case of false or over-exaggerated accusation. Such being not the case here, the High Court went on a wrong premise in granting anticipatory bail to the Respondent-Accused."

31. Non-bailable warrants have been issued on 04.2.2023, however, presuming that proper procedure was not followed for issuance of the same, protection was granted after 04.2.2023 with condition to appear before the Investigating Officer, which the applicants failed to ensure. Non-appearance of the applicants shows that they do not have any intention to cooperate in the investigation.

32. The offence as per present FIR as well as the material collected during investigation and the FIR as lodged by the victims, sentiments of public at large are involved wherein any secular country like India the same would amount in shattering the peace and harmony which would affect public order. The applicants cannot be excused only considering the fact that they have not been named in the first information report.

33. Though object of Section 438 Cr.P.C. is to safeguard the personal liberty of individual. A delicate balance is required to be established between the two rights i.e. safeguarding the personal liberty of an individual and societal interest as has been held in the case of P. Chidambaram v. Directorate of Enforcement. Relevant paragraphs of the said judgement are reproduced hereunder:

"72. We are conscious of the fact that the legislative intent behind the introduction of Section 438 CrPC is to safeguard the individual's personal liberty and to protect him from the possibility of being humiliated and from being subjected to unnecessary police custody. However, the court must also keep in view that a criminal offence is not just an offence against an individual, rather the larger societal interest is at stake. Therefore, a delicate balance is required to be established between the two rights - safeguarding the personal liberty of an individual and the societal interest. It cannot be said that refusal to grant anticipatory bail would amount to denial of the rights conferred upon the appellant under Article 21 of the Constitution of India.

74. Ordinarily, arrest is a part of the process of the investigation intended to secure several purposes. There may be circumstances in which the accused may provide information leading to discovery of material facts and relevant information. Grant of anticipatory bail may hamper the investigation. Pre-arrest bail is to strike a balance between the individual's right to personal freedom and the right of the investigating agency to interrogate the accused as to the material so far collected and to collect more information which may lead to recovery of relevant information. In State v. Anil Sharma31, the Supreme Court held as under : (SCC p. 189, para 6)

"6. We find force in the submission of CBI that custodial interrogation is qualitatively more elicitation-oriented than questioning a suspect who is well-ensconced with a favourable order under Section 438 of the Code. In a case like this, effective interrogation of a suspected person is of tremendous advantage in disinterring many useful informations and also materials which would have been concealed. Success in such interrogation would elude if the suspected person knows that he is well protected and insulated by a pre-arrest bail order during the time he is interrogated. Very often interrogation in such a condition would reduce to a mere ritual. The argument that the custodial interrogation is fraught with the danger of the person being subjected to third-degree methods need not be countenanced, for, such an argument can be advanced by all accused in all criminal cases. The Court has to presume that responsible police officers would conduct themselves in a responsible manner and that those entrusted with the task of disinterring offences would not conduct themselves as offenders."

34. With respect to the arguments that Section 4 of Cr.P.C. provides for investigation to be done by same provisions, subject to enactment of provision in the Special Act (the Act, 2021 does not provide any mechanism for investigation), reference to a judgement of the Supreme Court is made in the case of K.H. Nazar v. Mathew K. Jacob and others wherein it has been held that provisions of beneficial legislation have to be construed with a purpose-oriented approach and literal construction of the provisions of a beneficial legislation has to be avoided:

"11. Provisions of a beneficial legislation have to be construed with a purpose-oriented approach. The Act should receive a liberal construction to promote its objects. Also, literal construction of the provisions of a beneficial legislation has to be avoided. It is the court's duty to discern the intention of the legislature in making the law. Once such an intention is ascertained, the statute should receive a purposeful or functional interpretation.

12. In the words of O. Chinnappa Reddy, J., the principles of statutory construction of beneficial legislation are as follows: (Workmen case, SCC p. 76, para 4)

"4. The principles of statutory construction are well settled. Words occurring in statutes of liberal import such as "social welfare legislation and human rights' legislation are not to be put in Procrustean beds or shrunk to Lilliputian dimensions. In construing these legislations the imposture of literal construction must be avoided and the prodigality of its misapplication must be recognised and reduced. Judges ought to be more concerned with the "colour", the "content" and the "context" of such statutes (we have borrowed the words from Lord Wilberforce's opinion in Prenn v. Simmonds). In the same opinion Lord Wilberforce pointed out that law is not to be left behind in some island of literal interpretation but is to enquire beyond the language, unisolated from the matrix of facts in which they are set; the law is not to be interpreted purely on internal linguistic considerations. In one of the cases cited before us, that is, Surendra Kumar Verma v. Central Govt. Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court33, we had occasion to say: (Surendra Kumar Verma, SCC p. 447, para 6)

"6. ...Semantic luxuries are misplaced in the interpretation of "bread and butter" statutes. Welfare statutes must, of necessity, receive a broad interpretation. Where legislation is designed to give relief against certain kinds of mischief, the court is not to make inroads by making etymological excursions.' "

13. While interpreting a statute, the problem or mischief that the statute was designed to remedy should first be identified and then a construction that suppresses the problem and advances the remedy should be adopted. ..."

35. Aforesaid judgement has been recently followed by the Apex Court in the case of Deepika Singh v. Central Administrative Tribunal and Others.

36. To the submissions as raised by learned counsel for the applicants regarding the fact that the applicants were not proclaimed offenders at the time of filing of the application, this Court, from the record, finds that they had knowledge of non-bailable warrants having been issued against them on 04.2.2022. The applicants were also well aware of the offence as a notice under Section 41(1) Cr.P.C. given to them to which reply was submitted and after collecting material evidence when remand of few persons was taken under the relevant Sections. The applicants were required to cooperate with the investigation but they have been absconding since then which resulted in issuance of non-bailable warrants on 04.2.2023.

37. Here in the present case, the applicants even after interim protection granted to them on 09.2.2023 did not cooperate in the investigation, therefore, they cannot be allowed to take stand that the bar as held by the Apex Court in connection with proclaimed offender is not applicable in the case of the applicants.

38. The Supreme Court in the case of Lavesh v. State (NCT of Delhi) has held that normally in the matter of absconding, power to grant anticipatory bail is not exercised. The said judgement has been followed in the case of State of Madhya Pradesh v. Pradeep Sharma.

39. Insofar as the arguments of the learned AAG regarding diminished autonomy of underprivileged are concerned, it is duty of the State to check such activities which are threatening, insulting, intimidating to such persons and affect rights and interest of weaker section of the society in every respect and on the other hand affect the majority of persons.

40. It can also be interpreted in a manner that the allegations of mass conversion as levelled against the applicants, who are influential persons, and they are channelizing the funds collected from overseas groups for the above purpose, such act shows the gravity of offence, therefore, instant case is not fit for grant of anticipatory bail as the issue of security and violation of citizens' right to freedom of conscience and right to freely profess, practice and propagate religion is involved.

41. I find it appropriate to mention the reference of a case pending before the Apex Court regarding conversion of religion which is titled as ''In Re: The Issue Of Religion Conversion', wherein the Court on 14.11.2022 while calling counter affidavit observed as under:

"The issue with respect to the alleged conversion of religion if it is found to be correct and true, is a very serious issue which may ultimately affect the security of the nation and violate citizens' right to freedom of conscience and right to freely profess, practice and propagate religion.

Therefore, it is better that the Union Government may make their stand clear and file a counter on what further steps can be taken by the Union of India and/or others to curb such forced conversion, may be, by force, allurement or fraudulent means.

42. In the case of Badshah v. Urmila Badshah Godse, the Apex Court has held that role of the Court is to understand the purpose of law in society and to help the law achieve its purpose. But the law of a society is a living organism. It is based on a given factual and social reality that is constantly changing. The Supreme Court has also observed that there are number of social justice legislations giving special protection and benefits to vulnerable groups in the society. Relevant paragraphs of the judgement in Badshah (supra) are reproduced below:

14. Of late, in this very direction, it is emphasised that the courts have to adopt different approaches in "social justice adjudication", which is also known as "social context adjudication" as mere "adversarial approach" may not be very appropriate. There are number of social justice legislations giving special protection and benefits to vulnerable groups in the society. Prof. Madhava Menon describes it eloquently:

"It is, therefore, respectfully submitted that "social context judging' is essentially the application of equality jurisprudence as evolved by Parliament and the Supreme Court in myriad situations presented before courts where unequal parties are pitted in adversarial proceedings and where courts are called upon to dispense equal justice. Apart from the social-economic inequalities accentuating the disabilities of the poor in an unequal fight, the adversarial process itself operates to the disadvantage of the weaker party. In such a situation, the Judge has to be not only sensitive to the inequalities of parties involved but also positively inclined to the weaker party if the imbalance were not to result in miscarriage of justice. This result is achieved by what we call social context judging or social justice adjudication." ....

16. The law regulates relationships between people. It prescribes patterns of behaviour. It reflects the values of society. The role of the court is to understand the purpose of law in society and to help the law achieve its purpose. But the law of a society is a living organism. It is based on a given factual and social reality that is constantly changing. Sometimes change in law precedes societal change and is even intended to stimulate it. In most cases, however, a change in law is the result of a change in social reality. Indeed, when social reality changes, the law must change too. Just as change in social reality is the law of life, responsiveness to change in social reality is the life of the law. It can be said that the history of law is the history of adapting the law to society's changing needs. In both constitutional and statutory interpretation, the court is supposed to exercise discretion in determining the proper relationship between the subjective and objective purposes of the law.

43. The applicants are influential persons who are also required in other matters wherein SIT has been constituted to investigate channelization of funds of the Institution which according to the material collected till date by the Investigating Officer, is being used for the purposes of mass conversion.

44. As regards the fact that number of persons have already been released on anticipatory bail, therefore, parity has been claimed, this Court finds that while granting bail, focus should be upon role of the accused, position of the accused in relation to the incident as well as to the victims, are utmost important factors to be considered, as has been held by the Supreme Court in the case of Mahadev Meena v. Praveen Rathore and another.

45. This Court finds that accused are influential persons who are involved in mass conversion as the evidence in this regard has already been collected by the Investigating Officer, therefore, they cannot claim parity with other persons who have been released on anticipatory bail.

46. It may be kept in mind that anticipatory bail is an extraordinary remedy to be exercised in suitable cases only. The power under section 438 Cr.P.C. cannot be utilized in a routine manner as a substitute for regular bail. This discretionary power calls for existence of facts of the kind where the court is satisfied that its interference is necessary to further the cause of justice and to prevent misuse of process of law.

47. Having gone through the submissions of learned counsel for the parties, nature of accusation of offence, role of the applicants being highly influential person, their intent behind the charitable works, appears to be dubious, affecting the interest of marginal section of society, object of the law and the impact of the same on society, I do not find it a fit case for granting anticipatory bail.

48. The anticipatory bail applications stand rejected.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Manju Rani Chauhan, J.)

1. Both anticipatory bail applications have been moved for grant of anticipatory bail in Case Crime No. 224 of 2022, under Sections 153-A, 506, 420, 467, 468, 471 Indian Penal Code, 1860 and 3 & 5(1) U.P. Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Act, 2021 (U.P. Act No. 3 of 2021), Police Station Kotwali, District Fatehpur.

2. Instant case, as the prosecution version surfaces, is; a first information report was lodged by the informant- Himanshu Dixit with the allegations that about 90 persons of Hindu religion have been congregated at Evangelical Church of India, Hariharganj, Fatehpur for the purpose of their conversion to Christianity by putting them under undue influence, coercion and luring them by playing fraud and promise of easy money etc.; on receiving this information, the Government officers reached the place and interrogated the pastor Vijay Massiah; he disclosed that the process for conversion was going on for the last 34 days and that this process shall be completed within 40 days; that they have been trying to convert even the patients admitted to the Mission Hospital and the employees have played an active role in the same; the Government officers found 35 persons (named in the F.I.R.) and 20 unknown persons as having been involved in this conversion of 90 persons of Hindu community to Christianity. The F.I.R. was registered under Sections 153A, 506, 420, 467, 468 I.P.C. and Sections- 3/5(1) of Uttar Pradesh Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Act and the matter was investigated upon.

3. Sri Dilip Kumar, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Rizwan Ahmad, learned counsel appears for the applicants, Sri Manish Goel, learned Additional Advocate General/ learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Amit Singh Chauhan, learned AGA-I, and Sri Pankaj Srivastava, learned AGA, appears for the State - respondent.

4. Brief facts in Anticipatory Bail Application No. 1425 of 2023:

4.1 The applicants are not named as accused in first information report. The applicant no. 1 is a Sikh. He performs his duties as a Clerk/ Cashier in Broadwell Christian Hospital, Fatehpur, while the applicant no. 2 is Bishop of Bible Ceremony at Allahabad. The applicant no. 2 is about 64 years old person and has no concern with Broadwell Christian Hospital, Fatehpur in any manner. However, he happened to be a Member of Broadwell Christian Society and his name was reflected from the documents furnished in response to the notice under Section 91 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 that once upon a time he happened to be a Member of that Society.

5. Brief facts in Anticipatory Bail Application No. 1376 of 2023:

5.1. The applicant is not named as an accused in first information report. He is a Doctor by profession and working as Senior Orthopedic Surgeon (MS) in Harbertpur Christian Hospital Society at Dehradun after being transferred from Mussoorie since 07.3.2010. He possesses Diploma of National Board (DNB) to his credit.

6. Arguments on behalf of Applicants:

6.1 In regard to applicants - Parminder Singh and Paul Sigamony Rjmony in Criminal Misc. Anticipatory Bail Application No. 1425 of 2023, learned counsel for the applicants invited attention of the Court to a notice dated 22.11.2022 issued under Section 91 Cr.P.C. (Annexed at Page-34 of applicants' anticipatory bail application), to Manager, Broadwell Christian Mission Hospital, Hariharganj, District Fatehpur requiring documents mentioned therein i.e. (1) Name, address and present status of accused persons relating to Hospital; (2) Registration Certificate of the Hospital; (3) Account Number of Hospital and, (3) Details of persons/ institutions who provided aid to the Hospital since 01.01.2022. Further, he required the Court's attention to another notice which was subsequently issued to the applicants under Section 41(1) Cr.P.C. on 31.1.2023. He submits that on issuance of the said notice, the applicants apprehended arrest, thereafter anticipatory bail application was filed before the District Judge, Fatehpur, which was dismissed on 19.1.2023.

6.2 Insofar as applicant - Mathew Samuel in Criminal Misc. Anticipatory Bail Application No. 1376 of 2023 is concerned, learned Senior Counsel appearing for the applicant submits that applicant is not named as an accused in first information report. He is a Doctor by profession and working as Senior Orthopedic Surgeon (MS) in Harbertpur Christian Hospital Society at Dehradun after being transferred from Mussoorie since 07.3.2010. He possesses Diploma of National Board (DNB) to his credit. Learned counsel for the applicant has invited attention of the Court to a notice dated 22.11.2022 issued under Section 91 Cr.P.C. (Annexed at Page - 34 of co-accused Perminder's Anticipatory Bail Application), to Manager, Broadwell Christian Mission Hospital, Hariharganj, District Fatehpur to the persons who have been added subsequently requiring documents mentioned therein i.e. (1) Name, address and present status of accused persons relating to Hospital; (2) Registration Certificate of the Hospital; (3) Account Number of Hospital and, (3) Details of persons/ institutions who provided aid to the Hospital since 01.01.2022. Further, he required the Court's attention to another notice which was issued to the applicant under Section 41(1) Cr.P.C. on 31.1.2023, Annexed as Annexure-4 to the instant application. He submits that on issuance of the said notice the applicant apprehended his arrest, thereafter anticipatory bail application was filed before the District Judge, Fatehpur, which was dismissed on 19.1.2023. The applicant happens to be the Member of Broadwell Christian Society. The said Society runs various hospitals in different places including hospitals at Fatehpur as well as Dehradun where the applicant is posted. The applicant was inducted as a member sometimes in the year 2005. He very occasionally used to visit different places including Fatehpur in meetings of the Society, which is the only connection of the applicant with the Broadwell Hospital.

6.3 Learned Senior Counsel next submits that apart from the merits of this case in actual sphere, there is a legal submission that the FIR has been registered at the instance of Sri Himanshu Dixit, Sah-Mantri, Vishwa Hindu Parishad, who is not the person competent to lodge first information report in view of the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Act, 2021. He further advanced that there is no averment to this effect in the FIR nor has any material been made available which establishes competence of the person on whose instance the FIR is lodged, which defects the FIR on legal spectrum.

6.4 Learned counsel of the applicants has drawn attention of the Court to a remand order whereby the Chief Judicial Magistrate concerned refusing the remand in other Sections, granted it only under Sections 153A/ 506 of IPC. The investigation is in process. The applicants are not, at all, connected with the present incident. They were not present at the place of incident where the mass conversion was being carried out, however, merely because of their association with the Society which runs as many as five hospitals would not attract complicity in commission of the offence and the applicants are not feeling shy to cooperate the process of investigation but instead of effecting custodial interrogation, they seeks indulgence to grant anticipatory bail.

6.5 Insofar as Sections 153A and 506 IPC are concerned, learned counsel for the applicants submits that the applicants are proved to be not present at the place of incident. There is no material to prove prior meeting of minds.

6.6 Learned counsel for the applicants furthers his argument stating that nine persons who were produced on that date have been enlarged on bail by the Magistrate.

6.7 Learned Senior Counsel also points out that few other persons have already been released on anticipatory bail, thus the applicants are entitled for the same on the ground of parity.

6.8 Learned counsel next submits that Section 4 Cr.P.C. provides if there is any special Statute, the investigation would be conducted as per the Special Statute along with enquiry and the trial. For the purposes of Section 4 it should be a legal first information report, however, in the present case the informant is not competent as per the provisions of the Act, 2021. The Legislature bearing in mind the expected misuse kept a general person at bay from lodging first information report and it, in itself, is the case of the State that FIR was lodged under the Act, 2021. However, the informant has no authority to initiate FIR.

7. SUBMISSIONS BY STATE:

7.1 Sri Manish Goel, Addl. Advocate General submits that it is a case of mass conversion, thus, the proviso to the Section - 5 of the Act, 2021 would be applicable, wherein the punishment up to ten years is prescribed. He submits that the object of Act, 2021 is to provide for prohibition of unlawful conversion from one religion to another by misrepresentation, force, undue influence, coercion, allurement or by any fraudulent means. The FIR has been lodged under Section 153A IPC, which envisages acts prejudicial to maintenance of harmony and since it is an offence against public tranquillity, therefore, insofar as the legality concerning process of lodging FIR by third party, victims had also lodged FIR that made separate cause of action as also FIR has been lodged under several sections of IPC, therefore, third party cannot be ousted from lodging FIR for the offence against public tranquillity. He further argues that offences for which present FIR has been lodged have warring ramifications as some offences are those which violate fundamental rights of an individual, whereas, the other affect the mass i.e. public at large. There is abundance of details showing applicants' complicity with other persons who were regularly connected for the purposes of promoting mass conversion.

7.2 Mr. Goel further submits that the police found that there were about 100 application forms including that of minors, along with pamphlets for adopting and propagating Christianity mentioning therein that Rs. 35000/- would be paid if one adopts Christianity; there were trainers to educate how to propagate Christianity and to visit different places for gathering people and bringing them to motivate for conversion purpose.

7.3 Learned Addl. Advocate General in the course of his arguments emphasized over the ingredients of Section 2 of the Act, 2021 which elaborates the definitions of Allurement, Coercion, Conversion, Fraudulent means, Mass Conversion, Minor, Religion, Religion Convertor and Undue Influence. Next, he submits that statement of Issac Frank (CD-51) shows how the money was being received from various countries and subsequently channelized. There are different kinds of organizations and the present one is run by Mr. R.B. Lal. It has also been argued that Section 4 of Cr.P.C. provides for investigation to be done by same provisions, subject to enactment of provision in the Special Act. Here, the Act, 2021 does not provide any mechanism for investigation, and, if so, the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure would apply as also the Act, 2021 does not prohibits operation of Cr.P.C.

7.4 Stressing upon applicant's complicity in mass conversion, learned AAG shows that the statement of Santosh Kumar Saini, an independent witness of the offence & employee of the Hospital since 2017 who disclosed names of several persons belonging to Hindu family of poor economic condition were forced to adopt other religion by conversion. He stated about the allurements provided to persons belonging to marginal section of the society for conversion. He also revealed Hariharganj incident dated 24.1.2023 pointing out the identity of influential persons (CD-68).

7.5 Mr. Goel next submits that the applicants have been issued non-bailable warrants and it is a well settled law of the Apex Court that wherein non-bailable warrants are in operation, the accused-applicants in such cases are not entitled for anticipatory bail. It is the culpability of the applicant only to establish that he is entitled for grant of anticipatory bail. He has drawn attention of the Court to the statements of Sayapal and Kishanpal further stating that charge-sheet has been submitted against 43 persons on 27.1.2023 and Section 8 of the Act, 2021 has also been added. Thus, culpability of the applicant is well established from the sort of work which he was doing, as also, the funds in the manner being channelized.

7.6 Learned counsel for the applicants also placed on record a judgement of the Apex Court in the Case of Rev. Stainislaus v. State of Madhya Pradesh and others, wherein the term ''allurement' fell for consideration and expression ''public order' has been dealt with extensively.

7.7 Relying upon a judgement in the case of Ali @ Ali Ahmad v. State of U.P. and 2 Others Mr. Manish Goel submits that it is not necessary that the accused be declared proclaimed offender, but, intention of not cooperating in the investigation is sufficient, as in the present case even after having knowledge of non-bailable warrants the applicants are not cooperating with the police and thus they are not entitled for consideration to be released on anticipatory bail.

7.8 Learned AAG further relied upon the judgement in the case of Amish Devgan v. Union of India and others pressing upon the principles of diminished autonomy wherein underprivileged section of society in terms of money, caste, gender have to be protected. He submits that hospital in question which is a Mission Hospital is the best example of diminished autonomy.

7.9 It is argued that the following material has been collected to show the involvement of the applicants in the present case:

(i) Statements of witness Pramod Kumar Dixit, Sanjay Singh and Rajesh Kumar Trivedi, which form part of CD Parcha No. 9 and of independent witnesses, namely, Keshan and Satya Pal forming part of CD Parch No. 12, stated to have been allured for conversion.

(ii) CD Parcha Nos. 15, 16, 20 and 29 show that the remand was accepted in all Sections mentioned in FIR.

(iii) In CD Parcha No. 18, victims Keshan and Satyapal have narrated the entire version in detail.

(iv) CD Parcha No 26 shows statements of ten witnesses, namely, Honey S/o Rampal; Suresh S/o Kallu; Riya D/o Govind; Brijesh Kumar S/o Rajnesh Prasad; Ramesh S/o Pannalal; Rampal S/o Late Bajpali; Ashok Kumar S/o Late Sualal; Vijay S/o Late Chunku Prasad; Vijay S/o Late Vishkarma Lohar, and Amit Maurya S/o Ram Shriomani Maurya. They have stated that Church along with Vijay Massiah (Pastor) and other accused persons are involved in unlawful conversion of large number of persons to Christianity.

(v) In CD Parcha No. 29 statement of victim Sanjay Singh has been recorded. CD Parcha No. 36 shows that 39 accused persons have obtained orders under Section 82 Cr.P.C.

(vi) Statement of victim Virendra Kumar has been recorded in CD Parcha No. 38. CD Parcha No. 41, which shows that notice under Section 91 Cr.P.C. was given to Dr. Mathew Samuel, Chariman, Broadwell Christian Hospital Society, Fatehpur. Replying to the said notice, he supplied copy of Aadhar Cards of 17 accused persons being employee of the Society, Bank Account details along with society registration papers.

(vi) Accused Daud Massiah and Ratna Massiah - co accused have confessed about conversion being carried out with the assistance of applicants and other accused persons naming various organizations including the applicants for being involved in such offence which are recorded in CD Parcha No. 46.

(vii) Parcha No. 48 is statement of independent witness Dinesh Shukla, examined on 19.12.2022 who has stated complicity of the applicants. In CD Parcha No. 50 statements of persons who have mentioned the names of applicants and have shown their complicity in the offence has been recorded.

(viii) CD Parcha No. 54 shows a list of beneficiaries who were converted and their photographs were found from Broadwell Christian Hospital.

(ix) In spite of notice under Section 41(2) Cr.P.C. Dr. Mathew Samuel and Parminder Singh, Clerk, they did not turn up as is evident from CD Parcha No. 55.

(x) In CD Parcha No. 61 names of various institutions involved in conversion have been revealed.

(xi) CD Parcha No. 64 is a collection of various documents regarding mass conversion found from Broadwell Christian Hospital wherein material with regard to religious conversion has also been found.

(xii) Statements and details of SHUATS Bank account were taken by the I.O. which forms part of CD Parcha No. 67. Charge-sheet has been been filed against 44 accused persons on 27.1.2023.

7.10 Apart from the above grounds, learned AAG has opposed the anticipatory bail applications on the following grounds:

(i) The incident created a lot of flutter and tension amongst the persons of one community and also created a law and order situation. In aftermath, the persons of one community collected at a place and raised slogans and the police had difficult time in controlling them and any untoward incident could have taken place if they were not sufficiently prepared and alert.

(ii) It is stated by one of the witnesses Shri Keshan that on same kind of assurances like free of cost medical assistance, education and employment to his children and monetary benefits once he is converted to their faith, he was lured into this process; that his Aadhaar card was taken and his name was changed from Shri Keshan to Keshan Joseph; he was also threatened by the accused persons that in case he disclosed the incident to anybody, his life will be at risk.

(iii) There was a bigger conspiracy being hatched by the applicants and their associates with wider ramifications; they were acting in an organized manner for mass conversion. This is not a case where an individual was driven by his conscience to convert to a different faith, but, the accused persons in tandem with each other systematically went on to influence the persons who usually came in their contact for medical treatment or otherwise. Their poor socio-economic condition was exploited to lure them into participating in mass conversion. The offer for easy money, jobs etc. were used as a bait to tempt them in this incident. The incident might seem not so grave on surface but had a hidden agenda behind it.

(iv)) It is also argued that there is no substance in the argument that applicants have been falsely implicated or that F.I.R. was motivated one.

(v) The bail at this stage may prove a hurdle in effective investigation in this case.

7.11 Learned AAG submits that while rejecting the anticipatory bail application, the Sessions Court has discussed in details about non-cooperation of the applicants in investigation in an offence which is affecting the public at large.

8. I have considered the rival submissions advanced by learned counsel appearing for the parties and perused the material available on record.

9. The gravamen of the matter, wherein the applicants before this Court are for grant of anticipatory bail, is "Conversion'. Party titled as applicant in both applications calls it "conversion by law', however, the party - Respondent worded it as "conversion for allurement'.

10. This Court finds it more appropriate to align the arguments advanced by learned counsel for the applicants and learned Additional Advocate General for the State, factual and legal aspects, object and principles, with the ingredients of conditions for the grant of anticipatory bail as well as the law settled in respect thereof.

11. Object of section 438 Cr.P.C. is that a person should not be unnecessarily harassed or humiliated in order to satisfy personal vendetta or grudge of complainant or any other person operating the things directly or from behind the curtains. It is well settled that discretionary power conferred by the legislature on this Court cannot be put in a straitjacket formula, but such discretionary power either grant or refusal of anticipatory bail has to be exercised carefully in appropriate cases with circumspection on the basis of the available material after evaluating the facts of the particular case and considering other relevant factors (nature and gravity of accusation, role attributed to accused, conduct of accused, criminal antecedents, possibility of the applicants to flee from justice, apprehension of tampering the witnesses or threat to the complainant, impact of grant of anticipatory bail in investigation, trial or society, etc.) with meticulous precision maintaining balance between the conflicting interest, namely, sanctity of individual liberty and interest of society.

12. In the present case, apart from offences fall amongst other Sections of IPC i.e. Sections 153-A, 506, 420, 467, 468, 471 IPC, allegation of religious conversion by use of allurement, deception or force involved under Section 3 & 5 (1) of the Act, 2021 is involved. Allegation of conversion is with regard to vulnerable segments of society. The applicants herein are praying for grant of anticipatory bail, thus, before adverting to facts and law settled applicable on the present case, it is apposite to quote Section 438 Cr.P.C.:

"438. Direction for grant bail to person apprehending arrest.--(1) Where any person has reason to believe that he may be arrested on accusation of having committed a non-bailable offence, he may apply to the High Court or the Court of Session for a direction under this section that in the event of such arrest he shall be released on bail; and that Court may, after taking into consideration, inter alia, the following factors, namely:--

(i) the nature and gravity of the accusation;

(ii) the antecedents of the applicant including the fact as to whether he has previously undergone imprisonment on conviction by a Court in respect of any cognizable offence;

(iii) the possibility of the applicant to flee from justice; and

(iv) where the accusation has been made with the object of injuring or humiliating the applicant by having him so arrested;

either reject the application forthwith or issue an interim order for the grant of anticipatory bail:

Provided that where the High Court or, as the case may be, the Court of Session, has not passed any interim order under this sub-section or has rejected the application for grant of anticipatory bail, it shall be open to an officer in-charge of a police station to arrest, without warrant, the applicant on the basis of the accusation apprehended in such application.

(2) Where the High Court or, as the case may be, the Court of Session, considers it expedient to issue an interim order to grant anticipatory bail under sub-section (1), the Court shall indicate therein the date, on which the application for grant of anticipatory bail shall be finally heard for passing an order thereon, as the Court may deem fit, arid if the Court passes any order granting anticipatory bail, such order shall include inter alia the following conditions, namely--

(i) that the applicant shall make himself available for interrogation by a police officer as and when required;

(ii) that the applicant shall not, directly or indirectly, make any inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the Court or to any police officer;

(iii) that the applicant shall not leave India without the previous permission of the Court; and

(iv) such other conditions as may be imposed under sub-section (3) of Section 437, as if the bail were granted under that section.

Explanation.--The final order made on an application for direction under sub-section (1); shall not be construed as an interlocutory order for the purpose of this Code.

(3) Where the Court grants an interim order under sub-section (1), it shall forthwith cause a notice being not less than seven days notice, together with a copy of such order to be served on the Public Prosecutor and the Superintendent of Police, with a view to give the Public Prosecutor a reasonable opportunity of being heard when the application shall be finally heard by the Court.

(4) On the date indicated in the interim order under sub-section (2), the Court shall hear the Public Prosecutor and the applicant and after due consideration of their contentions, it may either confirm, modify or cancel the interim order.

(5) The High Court or the Court of Session, as the case may be, shall finally dispose of an application for grant of anticipatory bail under sub-section (1), within thirty days of the date of such application;

(6) Provisions of this section shall not be applicable,--

(a) to the offences arising out of,--

(i) the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, 1967;

(ii) the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985;

(iii) the Official Secret Act, 1923;

(iv) the Uttar Pradesh Gangsters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986.

(b) in the offences, in which death sentence can be awarded.

(7) If an application under this section has been made by any person to the High Court, no application by the same person shall be entertained by the Court of Session. [U.P. Act 4 of 2019, S. 2 (w.e.f. 1-6-2019).

13. The the words ''allurement' and ''undue influence', to which the entire issue encircles, as defined in Section 2 of the Act, 2021, reads thus:

(a) "Allurement" means and includes offer of any temptation in the form of--

(i) any gift, gratification, easy money or material benefit either in cash or kind;

(ii) employment, free education in reputed school run by any religious body; or

(iii) better lifestyle, divine displeasure or otherwise;

*** *** ***

(j) "Undue influence" means the unconscientious use by one person of his/her power or influence over another in order to persuade the other to act in accordance with the will of the person exercising such influence;

14. A Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in the case of Shri Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia and Others v. State of Punjab, dealt with the considerations for grant of anticipatory bail in detail. Relying upon the Constitution Bench judgement in Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia (supra), the Supreme Court in the case of Siddharam Satlingappa Mhetre v. State of Maharashtra and others, laid down parameters and factors to be considered while dealing with application for anticipatory bail:

"112. ...

(i) The nature and gravity of the accusation and the exact role of the accused must be properly comprehended before arrest is made;

(ii) The antecedents of the applicant including the fact as to whether the accused has previously undergone imprisonment on conviction by a court in respect of any cognizable offence;

(iii) The possibility of the applicant to flee from justice;

(iv) The possibility of the accused's likelihood to repeat similar or other offences;

(v) Where the accusations have been made only with the object of injuring or humiliating the applicant by arresting him or her;

(vi) Impact of grant of anticipatory bail particularly in cases of large magnitude affecting a very large number of people;

(vii) The courts must evaluate the entire available material against the accused very carefully. The court must also clearly comprehend the exact role of the accused in the case. The cases in which the accused is implicated with the help of Sections 34 and 149 of the Penal Code, 1860 the court should consider with even greater care and caution because overimplication in the cases is a matter of common knowledge and concern;

(viii) While considering the prayer for grant of anticipatory bail, a balance has to be struck between two factors, namely, no prejudice should be caused to the free, fair and full investigation and there should be prevention of harassment, humiliation and unjustified detention of the accused;

(ix) The court to consider reasonable apprehension of tampering of the witness or apprehension of threat to the complainant;

(x) Frivolity in prosecution should always be considered and it is only the element of genuineness that shall have to be considered in the matter of grant of bail and in the event of there being some doubt as to the genuineness of the prosecution, in the normal course of events, the accused is entitled to an order of bail."

15. Guiding principles in dealing with applications under Section 438 Cr.P.C. have been laid down by another Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court in the case of Sushila Aggarwal and others v. State (NCT of Delhi) and another. Said concluding factors read thus:

"92. This Court, in the light of the above discussion in the two judgments, and in the light of the answers to the reference, hereby clarifies that the following need to be kept in mind by courts, dealing with applications under Section 438 CrPC.

92.1. Consistent with the judgment in Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia v. State of Punjab, when a person complains of apprehension of arrest and approaches for order, the application should be based on concrete facts (and not vague or general allegations) relatable to one or other specific offence. The application seeking anticipatory bail should contain bare essential facts relating to the offence, and why the applicant reasonably apprehends arrest, as well as his side of the story. These are essential for the court which should consider his application, to evaluate the threat or apprehension, its gravity or seriousness and the appropriateness of any condition that may have to be imposed. It is not essential that an application should be moved only after an FIR is filed; it can be moved earlier, so long as the facts are clear and there is reasonable basis for apprehending arrest.

92.2. It may be advisable for the court, which is approached with an application under Section 438, depending on the seriousness of the threat (of arrest) to issue notice to the Public Prosecutor and obtain facts, even while granting limited interim anticipatory bail.

92.3. Nothing in Section 438 CrPC, compels or obliges courts to impose conditions limiting relief in terms of time, or upon filing of FIR, or recording of statement of any witness, by the police, during investigation or inquiry, etc. While considering an application (for grant of anticipatory bail) the court has to consider the nature of the offence, the role of the person, the likelihood of his influencing the course of investigation, or tampering with evidence (including intimidating witnesses), likelihood of fleeing justice (such as leaving the country), etc. The courts would be justified -- and ought to impose conditions spelt out in Section 437(3) CrPC [by virtue of Section 438(2)]. The need to impose other restrictive conditions, would have to be judged on a case-by-case basis, and depending upon the materials produced by the State or the investigating agency. Such special or other restrictive conditions may be imposed if the case or cases warrant, but should not be imposed in a routine manner, in all cases. Likewise, conditions which limit the grant of anticipatory bail may be granted, if they are required in the facts of any case or cases; however, such limiting conditions may not be invariably imposed.

92.4. Courts ought to be generally guided by considerations such as the nature and gravity of the offences, the role attributed to the applicant, and the facts of the case, while considering whether to grant anticipatory bail, or refuse it. Whether to grant or not is a matter of discretion; equally whether and if so, what kind of special conditions are to be imposed (or not imposed) are dependent on facts of the case, and subject to the discretion of the court.

92.5. Anticipatory bail granted can, depending on the conduct and behaviour of the accused, continue after filing of the charge-sheet till end of trial.

92.6. An order of anticipatory bail should not be "blanket" in the sense that it should not enable the accused to commit further offences and claim relief of indefinite protection from arrest. It should be confined to the offence or incident, for which apprehension of arrest is sought, in relation to a specific incident. It cannot operate in respect of a future incident that involves commission of an offence.

92.7. An order of anticipatory bail does not in any manner limit or restrict the rights or duties of the police or investigating agency, to investigate into the charges against the person who seeks and is granted pre-arrest bail.

92.8. The observations in Sibbia regarding "limited custody" or "deemed custody" to facilitate the requirements of the investigative authority, would be sufficient for the purpose of fulfilling the provisions of Section 27, in the event of recovery of an article, or discovery of a fact, which is relatable to a statement made during such event (i.e. deemed custody). In such event, there is no question (or necessity) of asking the accused to separately surrender and seek regular bail. Sibbia had observed that: (SCC P. 584, para 19)

"19. ... if and when the occasion arises, it may be possible for the prosecution to claim the benefit of Section 27 of the Evidence Act in regard to a discovery of facts made in pursuance of information supplied by a person released on bail by invoking the principle stated by this Court in State of U.P. v. Deoman Upadhyaya."

92.9. It is open to the police or the investigating agency to move the court concerned, which grants anticipatory bail, for a direction under Section 439(2) to arrest the accused, in the event of violation of any term, such as absconding, non-cooperating during investigation, evasion, intimidation or inducement to witnesses with a view to influence outcome of the investigation or trial, etc."

16. The Apex Court in the case of Sumitha Pradeep v. Arun Kumar C.K. & Another noticing common argument being canvassed in numerous anticipatory bail matters that no custodial interrogation is required, observed that there appears to be a serious misconception of law that if no case of custodial interrogation is made out by the prosecution, then that alone would be a good ground to grant anticipatory.

Relevant part of the said judgements reads thus:

"16. ...In many anticipatory bail matters, we have noticed one common argument being canvassed that no custodial interrogation is required and, therefore, anticipatory bail may be granted. There appears to be a serious misconception of law that if no case for custodial interrogation is made out by the prosecution, then that alone would be a good ground to grant anticipatory bail. Custodial interrogation can be one of the relevant aspects to be considered along with other grounds while deciding an application seeking anticipatory bail. There may be many cases in which the custodial interrogation of the accused may not be required, but that does not mean that the prima facie case against the accused should be ignored or overlooked and he should be granted anticipatory bail. The first and foremost thing that the court hearing an anticipatory bail application should consider is the prima facie case put up against the accused. Thereafter, the nature of the offence should be looked into along with the severity of the punishment. Custodial interrogation can be one of the grounds to decline anticipatory bail. However, even if custodial interrogation is not required or necessitated, by itself, cannot be a ground to grant anticipatory bail."

17. Power of Section 438 while granting anticipatory bail should not be exercised sub silentio as to reasons or on considerations relevant or germane to the determination. The Supreme Court in the case of Pokar Ram v. State of Rajasthan and others has held that the anticipatory bail to some extent intrudes in the sphere of investigation of crime. Relevant excerpt of the said case is reproduced as under:

11. ...Anticipatory bail to some extent intrudes in the sphere of investigation of crime and the court must be cautious and circumspect in exercising such power of a discretionary nature. ...."

Applicability of settled law on the facts of the present cases:

18. Insofar as factor no. (i) as enumerated in Section 438 - ''the nature and gravity of the accusation', learned Counsel appearing for both the applicants tried to convince the Court pressing that since the punishment, as provided under Section 5 of the Act, 2021, for contravention of provisions of Section-3 of the Act, 2021, attracts only one year imprisonment which may extend to five years, therefore, the offence does not fall under the category which may impinge on granting anticipatory bail.

19. This Court finds though the offence warrants only five year imprisonment, however, the proviso to Section 5 also envisages that contravention in respect of mass conversion shall attract imprisonment for a term not less than three years but may extend to ten years as also the FIR in addition to Section 3/5(1) of the Act, 2021 includes offences under Sections 153A, 506, 420, 467, 468, 471 IPC for which the Magistrate did not issue remand at initial stage, however, subsequently the remand has been accorded in the remaining sections also.

20. Second factor which the Section 438 requires for consideration is ''that the applicant shall not, directly or indirectly, make any inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the Court or to any police officer'. Learned counsel for the applicants have demonstrated the profile of the respective applicants stating that they do not have any connection with the offence and can never think to induce, threat or promise to dissuade anyone thus the condition as factored is not presumed to be affected.

21. Arguments weighed in with regard to the applicants' position show that hardly it can be ensured that no such effect would be undertaken where the offence in question is of allurement as the victims belong to marginal section of society and are coming forward to lodge FIR. The arguments advanced by learned AAG outpaced the contention of the applicants.

22. With regard to the third factor that the applicants will not flee from justice and will extend cooperation on their end, it has already been discussed by the court below that the applicants are not cooperating in the investigation and presently NBW has been issued against the applicants.

23. Regarding the fact that the FIR has not been lodged by a competent person as required under the relevant Sections of the Act, 2021. This Court feels that the FIR was lodged under other Sections of IPC also including Section 153-A IPC, therefore, it is not liable to be ousted only on the ground that same has been lodged by a person who is Secretary of some political organization.

24. The object of arrest and detention of the accused is primarily to secure his appearance at the time of trial and to ensure that if he is found guilty he is available to receive sentence. If presence at the relevant time could be ensured otherwise, it would be unfair and unjust to deprive the accused of liberty during the pendency of criminal proceedings.

25. While arguing the matter, period of punishment has been stressed upon in order to make out a case where offence is not serious in nature. Looking into the provisions of relevant Sections, period of punishment has been pointed out, which is up to ten years but, it is not only the period of punishment, but, the nature of offence which is to be taken into consideration as the same is affecting human body or society at large and that is what matters and has relevance. In the present case, as has already been pointed out by learned AGA, material evidence regarding mass conversion has been collected which affects society at large and hence is a serious offence and cannot be taken lightly.

26. Substantial evidence has been unearthed which proves involvement of the applicants in the offence pertaining to the cause of affecting public at large, thus, such offence cannot be taken up in a normal course. Efforts regarding collection of evidence pertaining to channelizing funding being done by the Investigating Officer wherein the applicants are required to cooperate with the investigation. In such cases, the investigation must proceed without the applicants being under the protection of this Court through the Investigating Officer who is well versed with the process of law and is a part of law enforcement machinery. Reference may be made to the judgement of the Supreme Court in the case of Sadhna Chaudhary v. The State of Rajasthan & Anr, wherein the Apex Court has observed that being a law-abiding person, adherence to law has to be stringent than expected in general by a common man.

27. As discussed in various judgements, certain relevant factors have to be considered while granting anticipatory bail, one of them, being the gravity of offence, this Court finds that the present case has transcended and gone beyond a simple case for anticipatory bail, where, during pendency of present application several first information reports have been lodged by the victims who have been converted by undue influence or allurement. This Court cannot close its eyes to the fact that the material evidence has been collected regarding mass conversion of persons and this case has taken a far more serious turn where the victims are coming forward to give evidence, thus, in case protection is granted, same would hamper process of investigation.

28. While considering the guidelines regarding grant of anticipatory bail Supreme Court in case of Pokar Ram v. State of Rajasthan and others discussed about the judgement of a Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in the case of Shri Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia and Others v. State of Punjab and observed that a caution was voiced in the evaluation of consideration whether the applicant is likely to abscond, there can be no presumption that the wealthy and the mighty will submit themselves to trial and that the humble and the poor will run away from the course of justice, and more than that there can be a presumption that the former are not likely to commit a crime and the latter are more likely to commit it: Relevant paragraph of said judgement in Pokar Ram (supra) reads thus:

"6. The decision of the Constitution Bench in Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia v. State of Punjab clearly lays down that "the distinction between an ordinary order of bail and an order of anticipatory bail is that whereas the former is granted after arrest and therefore means release from the custody of the police, the latter is granted in anticipation of arrest and is therefore effective at the very moment of arrest". Unlike a post-arrest order of bail, it is a pre-arrest legal process which directs that if the person in whose favour it is issued is thereafter arrested on the accusation in respect of which the direction is issued, he shall be released on bail. A direction under Section 438 is intended to confer conditional immunity from the touch as envisaged by Section 46(1) or confinement. In para 31, Chandrachud, C.J. clearly demarcated the distinction between the relevant considerations while examining an application for anticipatory bail and an application for bail after arrest in the course of investigation. Says the learned Chief Justice that in regard to anticipatory bail, if the proposed accusation appears to stem not from motives of furthering the ends of justice but from some ulterior motive, the object being to injure and humiliate the applicant by having him arrested, a direction for the release of the applicant on bail in the event of his arrest would generally be made. It was observed that "it cannot be laid down as an inexorable rule that anticipatory bail cannot be granted unless the proposed accusation appears to be actuated by mala fides; and, equally, that anticipatory bail must be granted if there is no fear that the applicant will abscond". Some of the relevant considerations which govern the discretion, noticed therein are "the nature and seriousness of the proposed charges, the context of the events likely to lead to the making of the charges, a reasonable possibility of the applicant's presence not being secured at the trial, a reasonable apprehension that witnesses will be tampered with and "the larger interests of the public or the State', are some of the considerations which the court has to keep in mind while deciding an application for anticipatory bail". A caution was voiced that "in the evaluation of the consideration whether the applicant is likely to abscond, there can be no presumption that the wealthy and the mighty will submit themselves to trial and that the humble and the poor will run away from the course of justice, any more than there can be a presumption that the former are not likely to commit a crime and the latter are more likely to commit it".

29. It is a settled law that while considering the case for granting anticipatory bail, the Court must not overlook the possibility of accused to influence the prosecution witnesses, threatening family members, fleeing from justice, creating other impediments and fair investigation. In the case of Vipin Kumar Dhir v. State of Punjab and another the Apex Court has held that even if there is any procedural irregularity in declaring the accused an absconder that by itself was not a justifiable ground to grant pre-arrest bail. Relevant part of the judgement is quoted hereinbelow:

"13. Even if there was any procedural irregularity in declaring the Respondent-Accused as an absconder, that by itself was not a justifiable ground to grant pre-arrest bail in a case of grave offence save where the High Court on perusal of case-diary and other material on record is, prima facie, satisfied that it is a case of false or over-exaggerated accusation. Such being not the case here, the High Court went on a wrong premise in granting anticipatory bail to the Respondent-Accused."

30. The present FIR as well as the FIR lodged by victims and the material collected during investigation, sentiments of public at large are involved wherein any secular country like India the same would amount to breaking the harmony which would affect public order. The applicants cannot be excused only considering the fact that they have not been named in the first information report.

31. Though object of Section 438 Cr.P.C. is to safeguard the personal liberty of individual. A delicate balance is required to be established between the two rights i.e. safeguarding the personal liberty of an individual and societal interest as has been held in the case of P. Chidambaram v. Directorate of Enforcement. Relevant paragraphs of the said judgement are reproduced hereunder:

"72. We are conscious of the fact that the legislative intent behind the introduction of Section 438 CrPC is to safeguard the individual's personal liberty and to protect him from the possibility of being humiliated and from being subjected to unnecessary police custody. However, the court must also keep in view that a criminal offence is not just an offence against an individual, rather the larger societal interest is at stake. Therefore, a delicate balance is required to be established between the two rights - safeguarding the personal liberty of an individual and the societal interest. It cannot be said that refusal to grant anticipatory bail would amount to denial of the rights conferred upon the appellant under Article 21 of the Constitution of India.

74. Ordinarily, arrest is a part of the process of the investigation intended to secure several purposes. There may be circumstances in which the accused may provide information leading to discovery of material facts and relevant information. Grant of anticipatory bail may hamper the investigation. Pre-arrest bail is to strike a balance between the individual's right to personal freedom and the right of the investigating agency to interrogate the accused as to the material so far collected and to collect more information which may lead to recovery of relevant information. In State v. Anil Sharma26, the Supreme Court held as under : (SCC p. 189, para 6)

"6. We find force in the submission of CBI that custodial interrogation is qualitatively more elicitation-oriented than questioning a suspect who is well-ensconced with a favourable order under Section 438 of the Code. In a case like this, effective interrogation of a suspected person is of tremendous advantage in disinterring many useful informations and also materials which would have been concealed. Success in such interrogation would elude if the suspected person knows that he is well protected and insulated by a pre-arrest bail order during the time he is interrogated. Very often interrogation in such a condition would reduce to a mere ritual. The argument that the custodial interrogation is fraught with the danger of the person being subjected to third-degree methods need not be countenanced, for, such an argument can be advanced by all accused in all criminal cases. The Court has to presume that responsible police officers would conduct themselves in a responsible manner and that those entrusted with the task of disinterring offences would not conduct themselves as offenders."

32. With respect to the arguments that Section 4 of Cr.P.C. provides for investigation to be done by same provisions, subject to enactment of provision in the Special Act (the Act, 2021 does not provide any mechanism for investigation), reference to a judgement of the Supreme Court is made in the case of K.H. Nazar v. Mathew K. Jacob and others wherein it has been held that provisions of beneficial legislation have to be construed with a purpose-oriented approach and literal construction of the provisions of a beneficial legislation has to be avoided.

"11. Provisions of a beneficial legislation have to be construed with a purpose-oriented approach. The Act should receive a liberal construction to promote its objects. Also, literal construction of the provisions of a beneficial legislation has to be avoided. It is the court's duty to discern the intention of the legislature in making the law. Once such an intention is ascertained, the statute should receive a purposeful or functional interpretation.

12. In the words of O. Chinnappa Reddy, J., the principles of statutory construction of beneficial legislation are as follows: (Workmen case, SCC p. 76, para 4)

"4. The principles of statutory construction are well settled. Words occurring in statutes of liberal import such as "social welfare legislation and human rights' legislation are not to be put in Procrustean beds or shrunk to Lilliputian dimensions. In construing these legislations the imposture of literal construction must be avoided and the prodigality of its misapplication must be recognised and reduced. Judges ought to be more concerned with the "colour", the "content" and the "context" of such statutes (we have borrowed the words from Lord Wilberforce's opinion in Prenn v. Simmonds). In the same opinion Lord Wilberforce pointed out that law is not to be left behind in some island of literal interpretation but is to enquire beyond the language, unisolated from the matrix of facts in which they are set; the law is not to be interpreted purely on internal linguistic considerations. In one of the cases cited before us, that is, Surendra Kumar Verma v. Central Govt. Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court28, we had occasion to say: (Surendra Kumar Verma, SCC p. 447, para 6)

"6. ...Semantic luxuries are misplaced in the interpretation of "bread and butter" statutes. Welfare statutes must, of necessity, receive a broad interpretation. Where legislation is designed to give relief against certain kinds of mischief, the court is not to make inroads by making etymological excursions.' "

13. While interpreting a statute, the problem or mischief that the statute was designed to remedy should first be identified and then a construction that suppresses the problem and advances the remedy should be adopted. ..."

33. Aforesaid judgement has been recently followed by the Apex Court in the case of Deepika Singh v. Central Administrative Tribunal and Others.

34. To the submissions as raised by learned counsel for the applicants regarding the fact that the applicants were not cooperating in investigation, this Court feels that they had knowledge of the offence as notice under Section 41(1) Cr.P.C. was given to them, to which reply was submitted and after collecting material evidence, when remand of few persons was taken under the relevant Sections, the applicants were required to cooperate in the investigation but they have been absconding since then which resulted in issuance of non-bailable warrants on 04.2.2023.

35. The Supreme Court in the case of Lavesh v. State (NCT of Delhi) has held that normally in the matter of absconding, power to grant anticipatory bail is not exercised. The said judgement has been followed in the case of State of Madhya Pradesh v. Pradeep Sharma.

36. Insofar as the arguments of the learned AAG regarding diminished autonomy of underprivileged are concerned, it is duty of the State to check such activities which are threatening, insulting, intimidating to such persons and affect rights and interest of weaker section of the society in every respect and on the other hand affect the majority of persons.

37. It can also be interpreted in a manner that the allegations as levelled against the applicants are of mass conversion and the complicity of the applicants has been found on the basis of material collected by the Investigating Officer, the applicants being connected with the Society, such act shows the gravity of offence, therefore, instant case is not fit for grant of anticipatory bail as the issue of security and violation of citizens' right to freedom of conscience and right to freely profess, practice and propagate religion is involved.

38. I find it appropriate to mention the reference of a case pending before the Apex Court regarding conversion of religion which is titled as ''In Re: The Issue Of Religion Conversion', wherein the Court on 14.11.2022 while calling counter affidavit observed as under:

"The issue with respect to the alleged conversion of religion if it is found to be correct and true, is a very serious issue which may ultimately affect the security of the nation and violate citizens' right to freedom of conscience and right to freely profess, practice and propagate religion.

Therefore, it is better that the Union Government may make their stand clear and file a counter on what further steps can be taken by the Union of India and/or others to curb such forced conversion, may be, by force, allurement or fraudulent means.

39. In the case of Badshah v. Urmila Badshah Godse, the Apex Court has held that role of the Court is to understand the purpose of law in society and to help the law achieves its purpose. But the law of a society is a living organism. It is based on a given factual and social reality that is constantly changing. The Supreme Court has also observed that there are number of social justice legislations giving special protection and benefits to vulnerable groups in the society. Relevant paragraphs of the judgement in Badshah (supra) are reproduced below:

14. Of late, in this very direction, it is emphasised that the courts have to adopt different approaches in "social justice adjudication", which is also known as "social context adjudication" as mere "adversarial approach" may not be very appropriate. There are number of social justice legislations giving special protection and benefits to vulnerable groups in the society. Prof. Madhava Menon describes it eloquently:

"It is, therefore, respectfully submitted that "social context judging' is essentially the application of equality jurisprudence as evolved by Parliament and the Supreme Court in myriad situations presented before courts where unequal parties are pitted in adversarial proceedings and where courts are called upon to dispense equal justice. Apart from the social-economic inequalities accentuating the disabilities of the poor in an unequal fight, the adversarial process itself operates to the disadvantage of the weaker party. In such a situation, the Judge has to be not only sensitive to the inequalities of parties involved but also positively inclined to the weaker party if the imbalance were not to result in miscarriage of justice. This result is achieved by what we call social context judging or social justice adjudication." ....

16. The law regulates relationships between people. It prescribes patterns of behaviour. It reflects the values of society. The role of the court is to understand the purpose of law in society and to help the law achieve its purpose. But the law of a society is a living organism. It is based on a given factual and social reality that is constantly changing. Sometimes change in law precedes societal change and is even intended to stimulate it. In most cases, however, a change in law is the result of a change in social reality. Indeed, when social reality changes, the law must change too. Just as change in social reality is the law of life, responsiveness to change in social reality is the life of the law. It can be said that the history of law is the history of adapting the law to society's changing needs. In both constitutional and statutory interpretation, the court is supposed to exercise discretion in determining the proper relationship between the subjective and objective purposes of the law.

40. As regards the fact that number of persons have already been released on anticipatory bail, therefore, parity has been claimed, this Court finds that while granting bail, focus should be upon role of the accused, position of the accused in relation to the incident as well as to the victims, are utmost important factors to be considered, as has been held by the Supreme Court in the case of Mahadev Meena v. Praveen Rathore and another.

41. This Court finds that accused are persons connected with Broadwell Christian Society and involved in mass conversion as the evidence in this regard has been collected by the Investigating Officer, who found them to be custodian of the premises from where recovery of relevant material proving offence of mass conversion has been done.

42. It may be kept in mind that anticipatory bail is an extraordinary remedy to be exercised in suitable cases only. The power under section 438 Cr.P.C. cannot be utilized in a routine manner as a substitute for regular bail. This discretionary power calls for existence of facts of the kind where the court is satisfied that its interference is necessary to further the cause of justice and to prevent misuse of process of law.

43. Having gone through the submissions of learned counsel for the parties, nature of accusation of offence, role of the applicants being persons connected with the Society, their intent behind the charitable works, appears to be dubious, affecting the interest of marginal section of society, object of the law and the impact of the same on society, I do not find it a fit case for granting anticipatory bail.

44. The anticipatory bail applications stand rejected.

A. Criminal Law -Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973-Section 439 - Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002-Sections 3 & 4-In the present case, there was no requirement to take the applicant into custody when he appeared before the learned trial court pursuant to the summons being issued inasmuch as he has never flouted the process of law, he cooperated in the investigation throughout, the Investigating Agency has never thought to arrest him under Section 19 of the PMLA despite he appeared before the E.D. to record his statement twice pursuant to the summons being issued u/s 50 of the PMLA and there was no request of the E.D. before the learned trial court to the effect that arrest of the present applicant is warranted-the applicant's bail application was rejected observing that the twin conditions of Section 45 of the PMLA are not being satisfied, without considering the relevant aspect that the Investigating Agency has never arrested the applicant u/s 19 of the PMLA-Hence, the rigour of Section 45 of the PMLA would not be attracted in the present case-Learned trial court has taken the custody of the present applicant without following the settled proposition of law of the Apex Court in Aman Preet Singh and Satender Kumar Antil.(Para 1 to 29)

B. The twin conditions provided u/s 45 of the 2002 Act, though restrict the right of the accused to grant of bail, but it cannot be said that the conditions provided u/s 45 impose absolute restraint on the grant of bail. The discretion vests in the Court which is not arbitrary or irrational but judicial, guided by the principles of law as provided u/s 45 of the 2002 Act...."(Para 26)

The bail application is allowed. (E-6)

1. Heard Sri Jaideep Narain Mathur, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Ritwick Rai, Sri Rajiv Shaker Bhatnagar, Sri Birendra Kumar Mishra, Sri Anshuman Mohit Chaturvedi, Sri Agni Sen, Sri Vaibhav Tiwari and Sri Aviral Rai, learned counsel for the applicant as well as Sri Rohit Tripathi, learned counsel for the Enforcement Directorate.

2. Sri Rohit Tripathi has filed counter affidavit, the same is taken on record.

3. As per learned counsel for the applicant, the present applicant is in jail since 10.01.2023 in Sessions Case No.2791 of 2022, arising out of ECIR No.ECIR/04/PMLA/LZO/2012, under Sections 3 & 4 of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002, currently pending in the Court of learned Special Judge, PMLA, Lucknow.

4. Brief facts of the case are that the present case pertains to the National Rural Health Mission (hereinafter referred to as "NRHM") in the State of U.P., which was floated on the joint efforts of the Central Government and State Government. One M/s. Jagran Solutions was established in the year 2005 as a unit of Jagran Prakashan Ltd. (for short "JPL"). Jagran Solutions is a reputed concern involved in business activities of brand activation, Meetings Incentives Conferences and Events (for short "M.I.C.E"), retail & ISP, Rural Marketing and Activation Consulting. Jagran Solutions has so far executed more than 4500 projects with total turn-over of over Rs.500 Crores and has to its credit, 63 National-level and 76 International-level Awards.

5. The Applicant joined Jagran Solutions in the year 2007 as Senior Accounts Manager and is presently working as the business head of Jagran Solutions. As a part of his official duties, the applicant undertook business development and client servicing for Jagran Solutions.

6. The Director General, Family Welfare, U.P., published an advertisement seeking private bidders to operate MMUs in selected districts of U.P. for a period of three years. Jagran Solutions submitted a proposal for providing MMUs in all 15 districts as advertised in the Request For Proposal (for short "RFP"). The financial proposal submitted by Jagran Solutions quoted a composite price (Capital Expenditure plus Recurring Expenditure) of INR 1,36,97,098/- as the cost per MMU. The financial proposals of Jagran Solutions were approved and the Firm entered into four different agreements with the Director General, Family Welfare. On the complaint of huge bungling, fraud and forgery in the issue relating to the NRHM, the matter was referred to the CBI and CBI registered preliminary enquiry on 19.11.2011 pursuant to the order being passed by the High Court in Writ Petitions No.3611 (MB) of 2011, 3301 (MB) of 2011 and 2647 (MB) of 2011, dated 15.11.2011. Pursuant to the report of preliminary enquiry, CBI registered FIR No.RC 04(A)/2012, SCU-V/SC-II, New Delhi (FIR) on 05.02.2012, inter alia, against M/s. Jagran Solutions, under Section 420 IPC, Sections 13(2) r/w Section 13(1)(d) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 (hereinafter referred to as "PC Act".

7. The Enforcement Directorate also registered ECIR/04/PMLA/LZO/2012 (ECIR) on 14.04.2012.

8. Notably, after some litigations at the High Court and the Apex Court, the present applicant was sent to the judicial custody on 03.07.2014 by the Special Judge, P.C. Act in relation to the predicate offence due to his non-appearance in the court on the date fixed owing to death of the father of the applicant. However, his counsel was duly appeared before the learned trial court. Thereafter, vide order dated 28.08.2015 passed in Criminal Misc. Second Bail Application No.934 of 2015 (Annexure No.11), the present applicant was granted bail by this Court. In the aforesaid order dated 28.08.2015, this Court has observed that the applicant has throughout cooperated in the investigation, has not absconded and there is no likelihood of tampering with the evidence by the applicant. This Court further directed the applicant to deposit a sum of Rs.4.89 Crores, the alleged misappropriated amount before the learned trial court. The applicant has deposited the aforesaid amount of Rs.4.89 Crores in compliance of the order dated 28.08.2015.

9. Since the Enforcement Directorate (hereinafter referred to as "E.D.") was continuing with its investigation under the Prevention of Money-Laundering Act, 2002 (hereinafter referred to as "PMLA") in furtherance of ECIR, the applicant duly cooperated in the investigation and his statement was recorded by the E.D. under Section 50 of PMLA on 23.12.2016 and 10.06.2019. Since the present applicant was properly cooperating in the investigation, therefore, he was not arrested by the E.D. under Section 19 of the PMLA during the course of the investigation.

10. After more than 10 years from the registration of ECIR, the E.D. on 05.12.2022 filed a prosecution complaint under Section 44 read with Section 45 of the PMLA, inter alia, making the present applicant and JPL as accused no.3 & 4 therein. The Special Judge, PMLA took cognizance of the prosecution complaint on 17.12.2022 and issued summons on 22.12.2022 to the applicant for appearance on 10.01.2023, however, no proper service of summons was effected on the applicant and only a constructive service was effected. Learned Senior Advocate has stated that no property of the applicant or JPL has been attached by the E.D.

11. On 22.12.2022, summons have been issued against the applicant. Learned Senior Advocate has stated that the aforesaid summons issued to the applicant did not contain copy of the prosecution complaint filed by the E.D., copy of statements and relevant documents of the complaint, which is a clear cut violation of Sections 204 (3) & 208 Cr.P.C. For the convenience, Sections 204 (3) & 208 Cr.P.C. are being reproduced herein below:-

"204. (3) In a proceeding instituted upon a complaint made in writing, every summons or warrant issued under sub- section (1) shall be accompanied by a copy of such complaint.

208. Supply of copies of statements and documents to accused in other cases triable by Court of Session. Where, in a case instituted otherwise than on a police report, it appears to the Magistrate issuing process under section 204 that the offence is triable exclusively by the Court of Session, the Magistrate shall without delay furnish to the accused, free of cost, a copy of each of the following:-

(i) the statements recorded under section 200 or section 202, of all persons examined by the Magistrate;

(ii) the statements and confessions, if any, recorded under section 161 or section 164;

(iii) any documents produced before the Magistrate on which the prosecution proposes to rely:

Provided that if the Magistrate is satisfied that any such document is voluminous, he shall, instead of furnishing the accused with a copy thereof, direct that he will only be allowed to inspect it either personally or through pleader in Court."

12. Specific recital to this effect has been given in para-8 (xxix) of the bail application.

13. Sri Mathur has stated that the aforesaid fact has been admitted in the counter affidavit in para-37 thereof indicating that while proceedings were being conducted, the accused or his counsel never asked for the copies, however, the E.D. is always willing to provide copies of the documents to the accused-applicant and those copies can be collected from the office of E.D. As per Sri Mathur, despite the summons having not been served upon the applicant, he came to know the date, therefore, he appeared before the learned trial court on 10.01.2023 where he has been taken into custody. Admittedly, copies of the complaint and other relevant documents have not been provided to the applicant or his counsel. On the same date, the application for bail was pressed on behalf of the applicant; on that, learned counsel for the E.D. prayed time to file objection, therefore, the applicant pressed ad-interim bail apprising that the present applicant has not been arrested by the E.D. under Section 19 of the PMLA, he cooperated in the investigation, he never flouted the process of law and he further undertakes to cooperate with the proceedings, therefore, in the light of the dictum of the Apex Court in re; Satender Kumar Antil Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation & Another, (2022) 10 SCC 51, he may be given ad-interim bail but his ad-interim bail application was rejected by the learned trial court on 10.01.2023 and the applicant was sent to the judicial custody fixing the date as 18.01.2023. The regular bail application of the present applicant was rejected by the learned trial court on 24.01.2023 by observing that the twin conditions of Section 45 of PMLA are necessary and those conditions are not satisfied, therefore, the applicant is not entitled for bail.

14. Sri Jaideep Narain Mathur, learned Senior Advocate, has submitted that the Apex Court in re; Aman Preet Singh vs. C.B.I. Through Director, 2021 SCC OnLine SC 941, has held that if during investigation, the accused has cooperated in the investigation and has not been arrested by the Investigating Agency, merely because charge sheet has been filed, he should not be arrested. He has referred paragraphs 10, 11 & 12 of the aforesaid judgment, which are as under:-

"10. A reading of the aforesaid shows that it is the guiding principle for a Magistrate while exercising powers under Section 170, Cr.P.C. which had been set out. The Magistrate or the Court empowered to take cognizance or try the accused has to accept the charge sheet forthwith and proceed in accordance with the procedure laid down under Section 173, Cr.P.C. It has been rightly observed that in such a case the Magistrate or the Court is required to invariably issue a process of summons and not warrant of arrest. In case he seeks to exercise the discretion of issuing warrants of arrest, he is required to record the reasons as contemplated under Section 87, Cr.P.C. that the accused has either been absconding or shall not obey the summons or has refused to appear despite proof of due service of summons upon him. In fact the observations in Sub-para (iii) above by the High Court are in the nature of caution.

11. Insofar as the present case is concerned and the general principles under Section 170 Cr.P.C., the most apposite observations are in sub-para (v) of the High Court judgment in the context of an accused in a non-bailable offence whose custody was not required during the period of investigation. In such a scenario, it is appropriate that the accused is released on bail as the circumstances of his having not been arrested during investigation or not being produced in custody is itself sufficient to entitle him to be released on bail. The rationale has been succinctly set out that if a person has been enlarged and free for many years and has not even been arrested during investigation, to suddenly direct his arrest and to be incarcerated merely because charge sheet has been filed would be contrary to the governing principles for grant of bail. We could not agree more with this.

12. If we may say, the observation hereinabove would supplement our observations made in Siddharth v. State of Uttar Pradesh, 2021 SCC OnLine SC 615 and must be read together with that judgment.

15. Sri Mathur has further drawn attention of this Court towards the dictum of the Apex Court in re; Satender Kumar Antil (supra) referring para-2 where three categories have been indicated for applying the judgment; para-2 reads as under:-

"2. After allowing the application for intervention, an appropriate order was passed on 7-10-2021 [Satender Kumar Antil v. CBI, (2021) 10 SCC 773 : (2022) 1 SCC (Cri) 153] . The same is reproduced as under : (Satender Kumar Antil case [Satender Kumar Antil v. CBI, (2021) 10 SCC 773 : (2022) 1 SCC (Cri) 153] , SCC pp. 774-76, paras 2-11)

"2. We have been provided assistance both by Mr S.V. Raju, learned Additional Solicitor General and Mr Sidharth Luthra, learned Senior Counsel and there is broad unanimity in terms of the suggestions made by the learned ASG. In terms of the suggestions, the offences have been categorised and guidelines are sought to be laid down for grant of bail, without fettering the discretion of the courts concerned and keeping in mind the statutory provisions.

3. We are inclined to accept the guidelines and make them a part of the order of the Court for the benefit of the courts below. The guidelines are as under:

"Categories/Types of Offences

(A) Offences punishable with imprisonment of 7 years or less not falling in Categories B & D.

(B) Offences punishable with death, imprisonment for life, or imprisonment for more than 7 years.

(C) Offences punishable under Special Acts containing stringent provisions for bail like NDPS (Section 37), PMLA (Section 45), UAPA [Section 43-D(5)], Companies Act, [Section 212(6)], etc.

(D) Economic offences not covered by Special Acts.

REQUISITE CONDITIONS

(1) Not arrested during investigation.

(2) Cooperated throughout in the investigation including appearing before investigating officer whenever called.

(No need to forward such an accused along with the charge-sheet (Siddharth v. State of U.P. [Siddharth v. State of U.P., (2022) 1 SCC 676 : (2022) 1 SCC (Cri) 423])

CATEGORY A

After filing of charge-sheet/complaint taking of cognizance

(a) Ordinary summons at the 1st instance/including permitting appearance through lawyer.

(b) If such an accused does not appear despite service of summons, then bailable warrant for physical appearance may be issued.

(c) NBW on failure to appear despite issuance of bailable warrant.

(d) NBW may be cancelled or converted into a bailable warrant/summons without insisting physical appearance of the accused, if such an application is moved on behalf of the accused before execution of the NBW on an undertaking of the accused to appear physically on the next date/s of hearing.

(e) Bail applications of such accused on appearance may be decided without the accused being taken in physical custody or by granting interim bail till the bail application is decided.

CATEGORIES B/D

On appearance of the accused in court pursuant to process issued bail application to be decided on merits.

CATEGORY C

Same as Categories B and D with the additional condition of compliance of the provisions of Bail under NDPS (Section 37), Section 45 of the PMLA, Section 212(6) of the Companies Act, Section 43-D(5) of the UAPA, POSCO, etc.'

4. Needless to say that Category A deals with both police cases and complaint cases.

5. The trial courts and the High Courts will keep in mind the aforesaid guidelines while considering bail applications. The caveat which has been put by the learned ASG is that where the accused have not cooperated in the investigation nor appeared before the investigating officers, nor answered summons when the court feels that judicial custody of the accused is necessary for the completion of the trial, where further investigation including a possible recovery is needed, the aforesaid approach cannot give them benefit, something we agree with.

6. We may also notice an aspect submitted by Mr Luthra that while issuing notice to consider bail, the trial court is not precluded from granting interim bail taking into consideration the conduct of the accused during the investigation which has not warranted arrest. On this aspect also we would give our imprimatur and naturally the bail application to be ultimately considered, would be guided by the statutory provisions.

7. The suggestions of the learned ASG which we have adopted have categorised a separate set of offences as "economic offences" not covered by the special Acts. In this behalf, suffice to say on the submission of Mr Luthra that this Court in Sanjay Chandra v. CBI [Sanjay Chandra v. CBI, (2012) 1 SCC 40 : (2012) 1 SCC (Cri) 26 : (2012) 2 SCC (L&S) 397] has observed in para 39 that in determining whether to grant bail both aspects have to be taken into account:

(a) seriousness of the charge, and

(b) severity of punishment.

Thus, it is not as if economic offences are completely taken out of the aforesaid guidelines but do form a different nature of offences and thus the seriousness of the charge has to be taken into account but simultaneously, the severity of the punishment imposed by the statute would also be a factor.

8. We appreciate the assistance given by the learned counsel and the positive approach adopted by the learned ASG.

9. The SLP stands disposed of and the matter need not be listed further.

10. A copy of this order be circulated to the Registrars of the different High Courts to be further circulated to the trial courts so that the unnecessary bail matters do not come up to this Court.

11. This is the only purpose for which we have issued these guidelines, but they are not fettered on the powers of the courts."

16. Sri Mathur has stated that the present case is relating to the category "C', which has been dealt in para-86 of the judgment, which reads as under:-

"Special Acts (Category C)

86. Now we shall come to Category C. We do not wish to deal with individual enactments as each special Act has got an objective behind it, followed by the rigour imposed. The general principle governing delay would apply to these categories also. To make it clear, the provision contained in Section 436-A of the Code would apply to the Special Acts also in the absence of any specific provision. For example, the rigour as provided under Section 37 of the NDPS Act would not come in the way in such a case as we are dealing with the liberty of a person. We do feel that more the rigour, the quicker the adjudication ought to be. After all, in these types of cases number of witnesses would be very less and there may not be any justification for prolonging the trial. Perhaps there is a need to comply with the directions of this Court to expedite the process and also a stricter compliance of Section 309 of the Code."

17. Sri Mathur has also drawn attention of this Court towards the judgment and order dated 09.01.2023 passed by the Apex Court in re; Katar Singh Vs. Directorate of Enforcement, Petition(s) for Special Leave to Appeal (Crl.) No(s).12635 of 2022, to submit that the Apex Court protected the liberty of that accused considering the fact that the Investigating Agency did not arrest the accused under Section 19 of the PMLA when investigation begins. For the convenience, the order dated 09.01.2023 reads as under:-

"Applications for exemption from filing documents/facts/annexures and exemption from filing O.T. are allowed.

Learned counsel for the petitioners submit that the petitioners have already suffered pre trial custody for more than four years in respect of the scheduled offence, the investigating agency did not arrest the petitioners under Section 19 PMLA when investigation begins, that they are senior citizens of approximately 66,70, 68 and 67 years of age respectively and properties of petitioners in SLP (Crl.) Nos. 12635/2022 and 12615/2022 have even attached worth Rs. 8,00,000/- and Rs. 5,50,000/- and petitioners in SLP (Crl.) Nos. 12646/2022 and 12919/2022 have deposited the alleged amount of Rs. 11,88,000/- and 50,00,000/- in the respective matters. It is further submitted that the total period of incarceration in case of conviction is only seven years and Section 45 PMLA will not be applicable as it is pre-amendment.

Issue notice.

In the meantime, the petitioners be not arrested but shall continue to cooperate with further investigation."

18. Sri Mathur has also referred the judgment of the High Court of Delhi in re; Rana Kapoor Vs. Directorate of Enforcement, 2022 SCC OnLine Del 4065, to submit that in more or less in similar facts and circumstances, the Delhi High Court has granted bail to the accused persons. The ratio of the judgment has been indicated in paras 33 & 34, which reads as under:-

"33. The applicant was not implicated in FIR bearing RC No.2232021A0005 registered by CBI. The applicant was implicated in present criminal complaint filed by the respondent/ED and arrayed as accused no 2. The investigating officer consciously did not arrest the applicant. The applicant participated in investigation as his three statements under section 50 PMLA were recorded. The respondent also did not allege that the applicant neither participated nor cooperated in investigation. The concerned Special Court after taking cognizance on present criminal complaint ordered for summoning of the accused persons including the applicant. The investigating officer even after filing of present complaint did not apply for custody of the applicant. The co-accused Gautam Thapar was arrested consciously by the investigating officer during investigation and was denied bail by the Special Court and High Court and as such the applicant is standing on different footing from co-accused Gautam Thapar. The applicant was taken into custody due to dismissal of bail application vide order dated 20.01.2022 passed by the court of Sh. Sanjeev Aggarwal, Special Judge (PC Act)(CBI)-02 Rouse Avenue District Court, New Delhi. The applicant primarily not seeking bail on merit but on basis of observation made by the Supreme Court in para no 65 of Satinder Kumar Antil decision and as such applicant is not required to pass the test of section 45 PMLA. The conditions as per section 45 PMLA would be applicable, had the applicant filed an application either under section 439 of the Code after arrest during investigation or under section 438 of the Code apprehending his arrest during investigation. As mentioned in present criminal complaint filed by the respondent, the applicant was not arrested during investigation by the investigating agency. There is legal force in argument advanced by the learned Senior Counsel of the applicant that applicant is entitled to bail in view of observations/legal proposition as laid down by the Supreme Court in Satinder Kumar Antil. It is not mandate of section 170 of the Code that if the accused is not taken into custody or arrested during investigation can be arrested or taken into custody after appearance in court post summoning order particularly when neither investigation agency nor prosecution agency sought arrest of accused.

34. The arguments advanced by the learned Special Counsel for the respondent that the applicant has misinterpreted para no 65 of Satinder Kumar Antil is misplaced. There is no force in argument advanced by the learned Special Counsel for the respondent that the applicant before grant of bail required to pass test of 45 of PMLA. The position would have been different, had the applicant arrested during investigation. The investigating agency as mentioned hereinabove consciously preferred not to arrest the applicant during investigation or post filing of charge sheet. The arguments advanced and case law relied on by the Special Counsel for the respondent are considered in right perspective to the given facts and circumstances but they do not provide much legal help to the respondent in opposing present bail application."

19. Therefore, to sum up, Sri Mathur, learned Senior Advocate, has submitted that while granting the bail to the present applicant in the predicate offence, this Court has observed that the applicant has never flouted the process of law and has cooperated in the investigation properly. The direction was issued to deposit a sum of Rs.4.89 Crore, which has been deposited by the applicant in the year 2015 itself. Since then, the applicant is cooperating in the investigation being conducted by the Enforcement Directorate as he has been called twice to record his statement under Section 50 of the PMLA and the present applicant has recorded his statement. The E.D. did not arrest the applicant under Section 19 of the PMLA as the Investigating Agency did not find it appropriate to arrest the applicant during investigation as he was cooperating. After filing of the prosecution complaint, the learned trial court took cognizance and issued summons to the applicant without making compliance of the mandatory provisions of Section 204 (3) Cr.P.C. as neither copy of the complaint has been supplied to the applicant nor any relevant documents have been provided. Even when the present applicant appeared before the learned trial court on 10.01.2023, none of the documents either the prosecution complaint or its supporting documents have been provided. Not only the above, copies of statements and other documents have not been provided to the applicant in compliance of Section 208 Cr.P.C. when the applicant appeared before the learned trial court. The present applicant could have been given ad-interim bail in the light of the dictum of the Apex Court in re; Aman Preet Singh (supra) and Satender

Kumar Antil (supra), but his ad-interim bail application has been rejected and he has been sent to the judicial custody in a sheer illegal and unwarranted manner. Thereafter, his bail application has been rejected observing that the twin conditions of Section 45 of the PMLA are not being satisfied, without considering the relevant aspect that the Investigating Agency has never arrested the applicant under Section 19 of the PMLA nor any request was made before the learned trial court on 10.01.2023 when the applicant appeared before the learned trial court. Therefore, as per Sri Mathur, in such circumstances, the rigour of Section 45 of the PMLA would not be attracted in the present case. The present applicant undertakes that he shall cooperate in the trial proceedings and shall not misuse the liberty of bail and shall abide by all terms and conditions of the bail order, if he is enlarged on bail.

20. Per contra, Sri Rohit Tripathi, learned counsel for the E.D. has submitted that a person accused of the offence of money laundering can only be released when the conditions stipulated under Section 45 of the PMLA are satisfied i.e. prosecution/E.D. is given an opportunity to oppose the release/bail of the accused applicant and if the accused is released, reasons have to be recorded that there is a reasonable satisfaction that the accused has not committed the offence of money laundering. In support of his aforesaid submission, he has placed reliance upon paragraphs 398 & 399 of the dictum of the Apex Court in re; Vijay Madanlal Choudhary and Others Vs. Union of India and Others, 2022 SCC OnLine SC 929, which reads as under:-

"398. Thus, it is well settled by the various decisions of this Court and policy of the State as also the view of international community that the offence of money-laundering is committed by an individual with a deliberate design with the motive to enhance his gains, disregarding the interests of nation and society as a whole and which by no stretch of imagination can be termed as offence of trivial nature. Thus, it is in the interest of the State that law enforcement agencies should be provided with a proportionate effective mechanism so as to deal with these types of offences as the wealth of the nation is to be safeguarded from these dreaded criminals. As discussed above, the conspiracy of money-laundering, which is a three-staged process, is hatched in secrecy and executed in darkness, thus, it becomes imperative for the State to frame such a stringent law, which not only punishes the offender proportionately, but also helps in preventing the offence and creating a deterrent effect.

399. In the case of the 2002 Act, the Parliament had no reservation to reckon the offence of money-laundering as a serious threat to the financial systems of our country, including to its sovereignty and integrity. Therefore, the observations and in particular in paragraph 47 of Nikesh Tarachand Shah vs. Union of India, (2018) 11 SCC 1, are in the nature of doubting the perception of the Parliament in that regard, which is beyond the scope of judicial review. That cannot be the basis to declare the law manifestly arbitrary."

21. Sri Tripathi has also cited para-37 of the judgment of the Apex Court in re; Gautam Kundu v. Directorate of Enforcement (Prevention of Money-Laundering Act), Government of India through Manoj Kumar, Assistant Director, Eastern Region, (2015) 16 SCC 1, which reads as under:-

"37. We do not intend to further state the other facts excepting the fact that admittedly the complaint was filed against the appellant on the allegation of committing offence punishable under Section 4 of PMLA. The contention made on behalf of the appellant that no offence under Section 24 of the SEBI Act is made out against the appellant, which is a scheduled offence under PMLA, needs to be considered from the material collected during the investigation and further to be considered by the competent court of law. We do not intend to express ourselves at this stage with regard to the same as it may cause prejudice to the case of the parties in other proceedings. We are sure that it is not expected at this stage that the guilt of the accused has to be established beyond reasonable doubt through evidence. We have noted that in Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy v. CBI [Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy v. CBI, (2013) 7 SCC 439 : (2013) 3 SCC (Cri) 552] , this Court has observed that: (SCC p. 449, para 34)

"34. ... The economic offences having deep-rooted conspiracies and involving huge loss of public funds need to be viewed seriously and considered as grave offences affecting the economy of the country as a whole and thereby posing serious threat to the financial health of the country...."

22. On being confronted Sri Rohit Tripathi as to whether the Investigating Agency has ever thought to arrest the applicant during investigation on the basis of material, evidences and allegations against the applicant, Sri Tripathi has fairly stated that during investigation, the Investigating Agency did not think to arrest the applicant pursuant to the ECIR dated 14.04.2012. He has also submitted that the summons were issued to the applicant to cooperate in the investigation and to record his statement under Section 50 of the PMLA and the applicant duly appeared before the E.D. on 23.12.2016 and 10.06.2019, therefore, Sri Tripathi has submitted that the present applicant has not been arrested under Section 19 of the PMLA.

23. On being further confronted as to why the applicant has not been provided copy of complaint and copies of statements and relevant documents to the applicant in compliance of Section 204 (3) and 208 Cr.P.C., Sri Tripathi has stated that such copies have not been demanded by the applicant or his counsel, therefore, the same were not provided. However, he has submitted that the same shall be provided to the applicant or his counsel but at this juncture, he could not dispute that the mandatory compliance of Sections 204 (3) & 208 Cr.P.C. has not been made.

24. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the material available on record.

25. At the very outset, it would be apt to deal the rigours of Section 45 of the PMLA, which provides that before granting bail, the twin conditions have to be seen carefully. In the present case, this is an admitted case of the prosecution that after lodging the ECIR on 14.04.2012, the E.D. has not tried to arrest the present applicant under Section 19 of the PMLA. Even after release of the present applicant from jail in the predicate offence in the year 2015, the present applicant was called twice by the E.D. under Section 50 of the PMLA to record his statement on 23.12.2016 and 10.06.2019 where the applicant appeared and recorded his statement but the E.D. has not arrested the applicant under Section 19 of the PMLA. Therefore, it is clear that considering the proper cooperation of the present applicant in the investigation and evidences, material and allegations against the applicant, the Investigating Officer did not find it proper to arrest the applicant under Section 19 of the PMLA. In other words, his arrest was not warranted during investigation. It is also clear from the records that after proper cooperation of the applicant in the investigation, the prosecution compliant was filed by the E.D. where the learned trial court took cognizance and issued summons to the applicant and the applicant appeared before the learned trial court pleading his bonafide conduct apprising each facts and circumstances seeking bail giving undertaking that he shall cooperate in the trial proceedings in the same manner as he has cooperated in the investigation, but on the request of learned counsel for the E.D. to file objection, the bail application was adjourned; then the applicant prayed for ad-interim bail making submission regarding his bonafide but ad-interim bail application of the applicant has been rejected without considering the dictums of the Apex Court in re; Aman Preet Singh (supra) and Satender Kumar Antil (supra). Even his regular bail application has been rejected on the ground that the twin conditions of Section 45 of the PMLA are not being satisfied whereas in the present case, the applicant has not been arrested by the Investigating Agency under Section 19 of the PMLA and the counsel for the E.D. was properly heard by the trial court, therefore, rigours of Section 45 of the PMLA should not be made applicable in the present case.

26. Sub-clause (2) of Section 44 of PMLA provides that nothing contained in this section shall be deemed to affect the special power of the High Court regarding bail under Section 439 Cr.P.C. The Apex Court vide para 400 in re; Vijay Madanlal Choudhary (supra) has observed as under:-

"400. It is important to note that the twin conditions provided under Section 45 of the 2002 Act, though restrict the right of the accused to grant of bail, but it cannot be said that the conditions provided under Section 45 impose absolute restraint on the grant of bail. The discretion vests in the Court which is not arbitrary or irrational but judicial, guided by the principles of law as provided under Section 45 of the 2002 Act...."

27. Notably, the statutory rights of the present applicant defined under Section 204 (3) & 208 Cr.P.C. have been violated by the Investigating Agency inasmuch as he has not been provided copy of complaint, copy of statements and other relevant documents.

28. The Apex Court in re; Aman Preet Singh (supra) and Satender Kumar Antil (supra) has categorically observed that arrest of any person is not mandatory in each and every case but before curtailing the liberty of an accused person, the relevant facts and circumstances should be visualized. In the present case, prima facie, there was no requirement to take the applicant into custody when he appeared before the learned trial court pursuant to the summons being issued inasmuch as he has never flouted the process of law, he cooperated in the investigation throughout, the Investigating Agency has never thought to arrest him under Section 19 of the PMLA despite he appeared before the E.D. to record his statement twice pursuant to the summons being issued under Section 50 of the PMLA and there was no request of the E.D. before the learned trial court to the effect that arrest of the present applicant is warranted. Therefore, it appears that the learned trial court has taken the custody of the present applicant without following the settled proposition of law of the Apex Court in re; Aman Preet Singh (supra) and Satender Kumar Antil (supra).

29. Therefore, in view of the above, the bail application is allowed.

30. Let applicant- Govind Prakash Pandey be released on bail in the aforesaid crime case on his furnishing a personal bond and two sureties of Rs.1,00,000/- each before the Trial Court concerned with the following conditions:-

(i) The applicant shall file an undertaking to the effect that he shall not seek any adjournment on the dates fixed for evidence when the witnesses are present in court. In case of default of this condition, it shall be open for the trial court to treat it as abuse of liberty of bail and pass orders in accordance with law.

(ii) The applicant shall remain present before the trial court on each date fixed, either personally or through his counsel. In case of his absence, without sufficient cause, the trial court may proceed against him under Section 229-A of the Indian Penal Code.

(iii) In case, the applicant misuses the liberty of bail during trial and in order to secure his presence proclamation under Section 82 Cr.P.C. is issued and the applicant fails to appear before the court on the date fixed in such proclamation, then, the trial court shall initiate proceedings against him, in accordance with law, under Section 174-A of the Indian Penal Code.

(iv) The applicant shall remain present, in person, before the trial court on the dates fixed for (i) opening of the case, (ii) framing of charge and (iii) recording of statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. If in the opinion of the trial court absence of the applicant is deliberate or without sufficient cause, then it shall be open for the trial court to treat such default as abuse of liberty of bail and proceed against him in accordance with law.

(v) The applicant shall not leave India without previous permission of the court.

31. Before parting with, it is made clear that I have not entered into merits of the issue, therefore, learned trial court shall conduct and conclude the trial without being influenced from any observation or finding of this order as the observations are only confined to the disposal of this bail application.

A. Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973-Section 439 - Indian Penal Code, 1860- Sections 272, 273, 34, 420, 467, 468, 471 - Excise Act-Section 60-A - Nine innocent persons had died by consuming poisonous liquor purchased from the shop allegedly under the control of the accused-applicant-the accused has 48 criminal history-co-accused has been granted bail-But the nine persons died because of greed and inhuman act of the accused-Such criminals have accumulated wealth by committing such offences – Thus, the applicant is not entitled to be enlarged on bail.(Para 1 to 19)

The bail application is rejected. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Kumar Singh, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Gopal S. Chaturvedi, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Ms. Somya Chaturvedi, Advocate, representing the accused-applicant, and Mr. Mahesh Chandra Chaturvedi, learned Senior Advocate/Additional Advocate General, assisted by Mr. Sanjay Singh, learned Additional Government Advocate, representing the respondent - State.

2. These two bail applications under Section 439 CrPC seeks bail in the following cases:-

"i. Crime/FIR No.060 of 2022, under Section 60A Excise Act read with Sections 272,273 and 34 IPC lodged at Police Station Phoolpur, District Azamgarh; and

ii. Crime/FIR No.039 of 2022, under Sections 272, 273, 34, 420, 467, 468, 471 and 60-A Excise Act lodged at Police Station Ahraula, District Azamgarh."

3. The FIRs came to be registered by the family of the victims, who had died after consuming country-made liquor allegedly purchased from the liquor shop of co-accused, Rangesh Yadav, a licensee, who is grand-son of sister of the accused-applicant, his close relative. Though co-accused, Rangesh Yadav is resident of District Jaunpur, but he has been issued license for country-made liquor shop at Town Mahul, District Azamgarh. It is alleged that though the licensee is co-accused, Rangesh Yadav, but real control of the shop is under the present accused-applicant.

4. It is alleged that nine persons had died by consuming spurious liquor purchased from the licensed shop in the name of co-accused, Rangesh Yadav. It is further alleged in the FIRs that co-accused, Rangesh Yadav with other accused, Suryabhan, Punit Kumar Yadav, Rambhoj and Ashok Yadav are manufacturing and selling spurious country-made liquor from the licensed shop which has resulted into death of nine persons. In the forensic examination of the VISCERA of the deceased, who had died after consuming liquor purchased from the shop allegedly under the control of the accused-applicant, methyl alcohol/ethyl alcohol poisonous substance was found. Viscera reports have been placed on record along with the bail applications.

5. The name of the accused-applicant has come into light in commission of the offence during investigation, however, he was not initially named in the FIRs.

6. After completing investigation, charge-sheets have been filed against the accused-applicant and co-accused under Sections 272, 273, 34, 420, 467, 468 and 471 IPC read with Section 60-A of the Excise Act. It is important to mention here that an offence under Section 272 IPC entails imprisonment upto life as per Uttar Pradesh Amendment.

7. The accused-applicant had been four times Member of Parliament from Azamgarh Parliamentary Constituency and was elected five times as Member of Legislative Assembly from Phoolpur-Pawai Legislative Assembly Constituency. At present also, he represents the said Constituency in Uttar Pradesh Legislative Assembly.

8. The accused-applicant is another Bahubali, a dreaded criminal and mafia don of Eastern Uttar Pradesh where Bahubali and Mafia culture is prevalent. This part of the Uttar Pradesh is adjacent to Bihar and to some extent political discourse and culture is similar to that of Bihar This region is dominated by Mafias Dons. These Mafias Dons have accumulated mind-boggling wealth and properties from proceeds of crimes. They have been enjoying patronage and shield from law by the Ruling Elite of the State. After entering into world of crime, these Mafias Dons and criminals have been exercising influence, terror and fear over the poor, law abiding citizens and have acquired forcibly/illegally properties worth thousand of crores of rupees. They have been successful in going scot-free, despite committing hundreds of heinous offences. They also get elected and become law-maker. It is a slur on Indian Democratic Policy.

9. The inglorious criminal history of the accused-applicant would suggest that he had been involved in as many as 48 other criminal cases and heinous offences, which would include eight cases of murder, registered under Section 302 IPC, besides cases of murder, the cases include offence under Section 307, 364 and 376 IPC, Gangsters Act, Goonda Act and SC/ST Act etc. Such a rich criminal background of the accused-applicant, which has been placed on record by means of Annexure-11 to the bail application, is extracted herein-below:-

10. The aforesaid detail of the criminal cases would disclose that the first offence, which the accused-applicant committed, relates to the year 1977 and first murder, in which he was accused, relates to the year 1983. Such a dreaded criminal, gangster, bahubali and mafia got elected time & again as a Member of Lok Sabha and Member of Legislative Assembly. This shows that something is seriously wrong and amiss with the electoral system of the largest democracy of the world where criminals, like the present accused-applicant, get elected time & again as a Member of Lok Sabha/ Legislative Assembly and become law-makers.

11. This Court, while rejecting the bail application of another Bahubali, Sitting Member of Parliament, Atul Kumar Singh, vide order dated 07.06.2022 passed in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.5473 of 2022 had noted the increasing trend of criminals entering into politics and Parliament. It has been reported that 43% of the present Member of the Lok Sabha who got elected in 2019 General Elections are having criminal background, including the case of heinous offences. Some of the relevant paragraphs of the order passed in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.5473 of 2020 are extracted hereunder:-

" 14. A constitution Bench of the Supreme Court in the case of Public Interest Foundation & Ors vs Union of India & Anr : (2019) 3 SCC 224 has taken note of 244th Law Commission report in which it was said that 30 per cent or 152 sitting M.P.s were having criminal cases pending against them, of which about half i.e. 76 were having serious criminal cases. This phenomenon has increased with every general election. In 2004, 24 per cent of Lok Sabha M.Ps. had criminal cases pending, which increased to 30 per cent in 2009 elections. In 2014, it went up to 34 per cent and in 2019 as mentioned above, 43 per cent Members of Parliament who got elected for Lok Sabha are having criminal cases pending against them. The Supreme Court has taken judicial notice of criminalization of politics and imperative needs of electoral reforms. There have been several instances of persons charged with serious and heinous offences like murder, rape, kidnapping and dacoity got tickets to contest election from political parties and even got elected in large number of cases.

15. The Supreme Court has said that this leads to a very undesirous and embarrassing situation of law breakers becoming law makers and moving around police protection. The Supreme Court in the said case has directed the Election Commission of India to take appropriate measures to curb criminalization in politics but unfortunately collective will of the Parliament has not moved in the said direction to protect the Indian Democracy going in the hands of criminals, thugs and law breakers. If the politicians are law breakers, citizens cannot expect accountable and transparent governance and the society governed by the rule of law be an utopian idea. After independence with every election, role of identities such as caste, community, ethnicity, gender, religion etc, has been becoming more and more prominent in giving tickets to winnable candidates. These identities coupled with money and muscle power has made entry of criminals in politics easy and every political party without exception (may be with some difference in degree and extent) uses these criminals to win elections. Giving tickets to candidates with serious criminal charges would break the confidence and trust of the civil society, law abiding citizens of this country in the electoral politics and elections.

16. No one can dispute that the present day politics is caught in crime, identity, patronage, muscle and money network. Nexus between crime and politics is serious threat to democratic values and governance based on rule of law. Elections of Parliament and State Legislature and even for local bodies and panchayats are very expensive affairs. The record would show that the elected members of Lok Sabha with criminal records are extremely wealthier candidates. For example, in 2014 Lok Sabha election 16 out of 23 winners having criminal charges in their credit related to murder were multi-millionaire. After candidates get re-elected, their wealth and income grows manyfold which is evident from the fact that in 2014, 165 M.Ps. who got re-elected, their average wealth growth was Rs.7.5 Crores in 5 years.

17. Earlier, "Bahubalis' and other criminals used to provide support to candidates on various considerations including caste, religion and political shelter but now criminals themselves are entering into politics and getting elected as the political parties do not have any inhibition in giving tickets to candidates with criminal background including those having heinous offence(s) registered against them. Confirmed criminal history sheeters and even those who are behind bars are given tickets by different political parties and surprisingly some of them get elected as well.

18. It is the responsibility of the Parliament to show its collective will to restrain the criminals from entering into the politics, Parliament or legislature to save democracy and the country governed on democratic principles and rule of law.

19. There is responsibility of civil society as well to rise above the parochial and narrow considerations of caste, community etc and to ensure that a candidate with criminal background does not get elected. Criminalization of politics and corruption in public life have become the biggest threats to idea of India, its democratic polity and world's largest democracy. There is an unholy alliance between organized crime, the politicians and the bureaucrats and this nexus between them have become pervasive reality. This phenomenon has eroded the credibility, effectiveness, and impartiality of the law enforcement agencies and administration. This has resulted into lack of trust and confidence in administration and justice delivery system of the country as the accused such as the present accused-applicant win over the witnesses, influence investigation and tamper with the evidence by using their money, muscle and political power. Alarming number of criminals reaching Parliament and State Assembly is a wake up call for all. Parliament and Election Commission of India are required to take effective measures to wean away criminals from politics and break unholy nexus between criminal politicians and bureaucrats.

20. This unholy nexus and unmindfulness of political establishment is the result of reaching person like the accused-applicant, a gangster, hardened criminal and "Bahubali' to the Parliament and becoming a law maker. This Court, looking at the heinousness of offence, might of the accused, evidence available on record, impact on society, possibility of accused tampering with the evidence and influencing/ winning over the witnesses by using his muscle and money power does not find that there is a ground to enlarge the accused-applicant on bail at this stage. This bail application is thus, rejected."

12. In another case i.e. Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.46494 of 2021 vide order dated 13.06.2022, in respect of another Bahubali, mafia don and the most dreaded criminal, a Coordinate Bench of this Court has mentioned that the said mafia had managed his affairs in such a way that he has not received any conviction against him, which, in fact, is a challenge to the judicial system that such a dreaded and white colour criminal had remained undefeated and unabated.

13. This Court, in its judgment and Order dated 21.02.2023 passed in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.22865 of 2020, after noting the criminal history of more than 80 cases of the brother of the accused-applicant, who had also been got elected several times as Member of Lok Sabha and Member of Legislative Assembly, has said that the phenomena of hard-core criminals and *mafia don*s going scot-free in heinous offences and then getting elected and becoming law-makers, does not augur well for democracy, rule of law and society, which is to be governed by rule of law. Paragraph-9 of the order dated 21.02.2023 passed in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.22865 of 2020 filed by brother of the accused-applicant would read as under:-

"9. The accused applicant had allegedly committed the first offence of murder in the year 1974 and in 48 years of his long and henious journey in world of crime, he could be convicted only in two cases recently in the year 2022. This phenomena is very perturbing and does not auger well for a democratic polity and a society which is governed by rule of law. All wings of the government i.e. executive, legislative and judiciary, must share the blame for allowing such a dreaded criminal to go scot-free in several henious offences which have been noted hereinabove. Such a criminal should not have any place in the society."

14. Mr. Gopal S. Chaturvedi, learned Senior Advocate, representing the accused-applicant, submits that the accused-applicant has been falsely implicated in the present cases as he has nothing-to-do with the business of liquor shop of his relative. It is further submitted that five and half months, after lodging of the FIRs, statements of families of the deceased got recorded, which are stereotype, alleging therein that the accused-applicant is the real person behind the liquor shop and, under his umbrella, co-accused, Rangesh Yadav runs the liquor shop. The accused-applicant has overall control over manufacturing and selling of spurious liquor. It is submitted that these statements have no evidentiary value and, they are hear-say evidence, without there being anything on record to corroborate and suggest the involvement of the accused-applicant in running the liquor shop, manufacturing and selling the spurious liquor, as alleged, or otherwise. It is further submitted that though the accused-applicant has criminal history of several cases, however, he cannot be denied bail, as a long criminal history cannot be the sole ground to deny an accused bail, if there is no evidence to suggest his involvement in commission of offence, for which he seeks bail. It is, therefore, submitted that the accused-applicant, who has been languishing in jail since 27.07.2022, should be enlarged on bail.

15. On the other hand, on behalf of the respondent - State, Mr. Mahesh Chandra Chaturvedi, learned Additional Advocate General, vehemently opposes the bail application and submits that co-accused, Rangesh Yadav is resident of district Jaunpur and, he is only a mask and, real face, behind liquor shop, manufacturing and selling of spurious liquor, is of the accused-applicant. It is further submitted that the accused-applicant whenever had been enlarged on bail in a case, had committed one after another offence and, had misused the liberty of bail granted to him. It is further submitted that after committing a heinous offence, he could secure acquittal as the witness for his terror, fear and influence turned hostile. It is, therefore, submitted that there is every likelihood of the accused-applicant influencing the witnesses or terrorizing them, if enlarged on bail, and such a criminal is not entitled to be enlarged on bail.

16. It is further submitted by Mr. Mahesh Chandra Chaturvedi, learned Additional Advocate General, that the accused-applicant could secure acquittal in several heinous offences as no witness would dare to depose against such a dreaded criminal, gangster and mafia don. He strikes unparallel terror and fear in the hearts and minds of the people of district Azamgarh, and nearby districts. The witnesses would turn hostile or the trial would be dragged so that the witnesses get tired or eliminated.

17. I have considered the submissions advanced on behalf of the accused-applicant and the respondent - State.

18. Though the charge-sheets would disclose that the statements of the witnesses, who have taken name of the accused-applicant, could be recorded after five and a half months from the date of incident, but it appears to be true that opening mouth against such a dreaded criminal, mafia don and gangster could be to be peril of life and liberty of the witnesses and their families. Only when the witnesses could have been assured of their well-being, safety and security, they would have come forward to make statements against the accused-applicant.

- In the FIRs, it has specifically been mentioned that for the shop of co-accused, Rangesh Yadav, from-where the liquor was purchased by the deceased and, after its consumption, they became seriously ill and ultimately died. The witnesses have specifically said that shop in question is under the control of the accused-applicant and Rangesh is only a front-man but real person behind the scene is the accused-applicant. It was the accused-applicant who could secure the license for liquor shop in the name of Rangesh Yadav, who is grand-son of sister of the accused-applicant. Nine innocent persons had died by consuming poisonous liquor purchased from the shop allegedly under the control of the accused-applicant. The accuse-applicant has a long criminal history and, no one could have any sympathy for such a dreaded criminal of heinous offences. This Court should not take a lenient view in such a heinous offence. Nine persons had died because of greed and inhuman act of the accused. The criminals like present accused-applicant have accumulated mind-boggling wealth and properties by committing offences. Liquor is profitable business and is mostly controlled by mafias. Though, co-accused, Rangesh Yadav has been granted bail by a Coordinate Bench of this Court vide order dated 07.09.2022 passed in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.26822 of 2022, however, in the said order merit, heinousness of the offence and its societal impact have not been considered, which reads as under:-

"Heard Ms. Tanisha Jahangir Monir, the learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Shashi Shekhar Tiwari, the learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

2.The present bail application has been filed by the applicant with the prayer to enlarge him on bail in Case Crime No. 0039 of 2022, under Sections 272, 273, 34, 420, 467, 468, 471 I.P.C. and Section 60-A of Excise Act, P.S. Ahraula, District Azamgarh.

3.The aforesaid case has been registered on the basis of an F.I.R. dated 21.02.2022 lodged against the applicant Rangesh Yadav and four other named accused persons, alleging that on 20th February, 2022, the informant's father had purchased country liquor from the shop of the applicant, after consuming which the informant's father died. The other accused persons implicated in this case are said to be salesmen employed by the applicant.

4.In the affidavit filed in support of the bail application, it has been stated that the applicant is innocent and has been falsely implicated in the present case.

5.Learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that on the basis of similar allegations, Case Crime No. 60 of 2022, under Sections 272, 273, 302, 34 IPC and Section 60(A) of UP Excise Act and Case Crime No. 40 of 2022, under Section 272, 273 IPC and Section 60(A) of UP Excise Act were lodged against the applicant and in both the aforesaid cases, the applicant has been granted bail by means of orders dated 29.06.2022 and 25.07.2022 passed by this Court in Criminal Misc. Bail Application Nos. 26819 of 2022 and 31534 of 2022, respectively. She has further submitted that besides the applicant all the other accused persons have been granted bail in the present case.

6.The learned A.G.A. has opposed the prayer for grant of bail to the applicant, but could not dispute the aforesaid facts.

7.Having considered the aforesaid facts and submissions and keeping in view the fact that applicant has been granted bail in two other cases involving similar allegations as also the fact that all the other co-accused have been granted bail, whereas the applicant is languishing in jail since 23.02.2022, I am of the view that the applicant is entitled to be released on bail on the ground of parity. The bail application is accordingly allowed.

8.Let the applicant - Rangesh Yadav be released on bail in Case Crime No. 0039 of 2022, under Sections 272, 273, 34, 420, 467, 468, 471 I.P.C. and Section 60-A of Excise Act, P.S. Ahraula, District Azamgarh on his furnishing a personal bond and two reliable sureties each of the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned subject to following conditions:-

(i) The applicant will not tamper with the evidence during the trial.

(ii) The applicant will not influence any witness.

(iii) The applicant will appear before the trial court on the date fixed, unless personal presence is exempted.

(iv) The applicant shall not directly or indirectly make inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the Court to any police officer or tamper with the evidence.

9.In case of breach of any of the above condition, the prosecution shall be at liberty to move an application bail before this Court seeking cancellation of bail."

19. Considering the aforesaid facts, this Court finds that the accused-applicant is not entitled to be enlarged on bail. Thus, these applications are hereby rejected at this stage.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Jyotsna Sharma, J.)

1. It appears that name of the applicant-juvenile has been disclosed in the memo of revision. This fault from the side of applicant escaped detection by the Registry. The concerned section of Registry is directed to remove the name of the applicant-minor from the title of the revision as fed and shown in the data on official website and represent him as "Minor 'X' Through His Guardian/Father, District Prayagraj."

2. Heard Sri Rakesh Pathak, learned counsel for the applicant and Sri O.P. Mishra, learned AGA for the State on the point of maintainability of this anticipatory bail application.

3. The present application has been filed on behalf of minor "X' through his guardian/father seeking anticipatory bail in F.I.R./Case Crime No. 0362 of 2022, under Sections 307, 504 and 506 IPC, Police Station Karchhana, District Prayagraj.

4. It is contended on behalf of the applicant (who admittedly is a minor) that a minor cannot be deprived of protection available under Section 438 Cr.P.C. just because he is not an adult. The contention is ardently opposed by the State.

5. Before coming into effect of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000 was applicable. In the statement of objects and reasons for enactment of the new Act of 2015, it is mentioned that numerous changes were required in the existing Act of 2000 to address several issues. It was proposed that the existing Act of 2000 shall be repealed as the need for comprehensive legislation was felt intensely inter alia to provide for general principles of care and protection; the procedure to be applied; rehabilitation and social re-integration measures for such children, adoption of orphan, abandoned and surrendered children, and offences committed against children. It was expected that the legislation would thus ensure proper care, protection, development, treatment and social re-integration of children in difficult circumstance by adopting a child-friendly approach keeping in view the best interest of the child. The statement of objects and reasons clearly indicate that the legislature intended to provide for exhaustive statutory provisions to deal with children involved in offences with certain far reaching object in mind while carefully treading a path illuminated by the principle of best interest of the child.

6. Section 1(4) of the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 contains a non-obstante clause and is being reproduced for ready reference as below:-

"(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, the provisions of this Act shall apply to all matters concerning children in need of care and protection and children in conflict with law, including -

(i) apprehension, detention, prosecution, penalty or imprisonment, rehabilitation and social re-integration of children in conflict with law;

(ii) procedures and decisions or orders relating to rehabilitation, adoption, re-integration, and restoration of children in need of care and protection."

Besides using the phrase "Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law", Section 1 (4) uses two more phrases which are meaningful in present context. They are "all matters" concerning the child in conflict with law and secondly the word "including" apprehension, detention, prosecution, penalty or imprisonment rehabilitation and social investigation of children in conflict with law. The provisions are clear, plain and free from obscurity. The unmistakable conclusion which can be drawn is that this Act seeks to deal exhaustively with all matters concerning child offenders including their apprehension, detention and prosecution. No doubt the broader objective of the Act is to bring back the child in main stream of the society while applying a reformative approach without forgetting the need to balance the demands of justice of the victim and the society at large. Lets briefly see how this objective is sought to be achieved by this Act.

7. Before jumping to any conclusion, it shall be useful to go through some provisions of this enactment which will shed light on the line of difference which has been scrupulously maintained by the legislature while giving a final shape to this law as compared to the provisions of Cr.P.C.

8. It may be noted that Section 4(2) of the Cr.P.C. says that all the offences under any other law shall be investigated, inquired into, tried, and otherwise dealt with according to the provisions of Cr.P.C., but subject to any enactment for the time being in force regulating the manner or place of investigating, inquiring into, trying or otherwise dealing with such offences. On the basis of above provisions, it can be said that the provisions of Cr.P.C. shall apply only where the special enactment is silent on a particular issue.

9. Now a question arises whether the applicability of Section 438 Cr.P.C. is ruled out by implication or otherwise in cases where the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 is applicable?

First lets go through Section 438(1) Cr.P.C. which is as below:-

"Where any person has reason to believe that he may be arrested on accusation of having committed a non-bailable offence, he may apply to the High Court or the Court of Session for a direction under this section that in the event of such arrest he shall be released on bail; and that Court may, after taking into consideration, inter alia, the following factors, namely:-

(i) the nature and gravity of the accusation;

(ii) the antecedents of the applicant including the fact as to whether he has previously undergone imprisonment on conviction by a Court in respect of any cognizable offence;

(iii) the possibility of the applicant to flee from justice; and

(iv) where the accusation has been made with the object of injuring or humiliating the applicant by having him so arrested, either reject the application forthwith or issue an interim order for grant of anticipatory bail:

Provided that, where the High Court or, as the case may be, the Court of Session, has not passed any interim order under this sub-section or has rejected the application for grant of anticipatory bail, it shall be open to an officer in-charge of a police station to arrest, without warrant the applicant on the basis of the accusation apprehended in such application"

Section 438 Cr.P.C. speaks of "apprehension of arrest".

10. Chapter V of the Cr.P.C. deals with the arrest of persons. There are number of provisions from Sections 41 to 60(A) dealing with arrest, who may arrest; how an arrest can be affected; the matters incidental thereto. The provisions of Juvenile Justice Act consciously, couspicously and deliberately avoided the use of word "arrest", instead the word "apprehension" has been used in relation to a child in conflict with law. And this replacement is not without reason.

11. Chapter IV of the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 deals with the procedure in relation to child in conflict with law; this Chapter also contains most important Section 10 to Section 12 which inter-alia provide for "first appearance" before the Board (this word is being used in its comprehensive sense here).

Sections 10, 11 and 12 of the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 are being reproduced herein below to give a clearer picture which has been envisaged in the Act in relation to children in conflict with law.

"Section 10. Apprehension of child alleged to be in conflict with law. (1) As soon as a child alleged to be in conflict with law is apprehended by the police, such child shall be placed under the charge of the special juvenile police unit or the designated child welfare police officer, who shall produce the child before the Board without any loss of time but within a period of twenty-four hours of apprehending the child excluding the time necessary for the journey, from the place where such child was apprehended:

Provided that in no case, a child alleged to be in conflict with law shall be placed in a police lockup or lodged in a jail.

(2) The State Government shall make rules consistent with this Act,--

(i) to provide for persons through whom (including registered voluntary or non-governmental organisations) any child alleged to be in conflict with law may be produced before the Board;

(ii) to provide for the manner in which the child alleged to be in conflict with law may be sent to an observation home or place of safety, as the case may be.

Section 11. Role of person in whose charge child in conflict with law is placed. Any person in whose charge a child in conflict with law is placed, shall while the order is in force, have responsibility of the said child, as if the said person was the childs parent and responsible for the childs maintenance:

Provided that the child shall continue in such persons charge for the period stated by the Board, notwithstanding that the said child is claimed by the parents or any other person except when the Board is of the opinion that the parent or any other person are fit to exercise charge over such child.

Section 12. Bail to a person who is apparently a child alleged to be in conflict with law- (1) When any person, who is apparently a child and is alleged to have committed a abailable or non-bailable offence, is apprehended or detained by the police or appears or brought before a Board, such person shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974) or in any other law for the time being in force, be released on bail with or without surety or placed under the supervision of a probation officer or under the care of any fit person:

Provided that such person shall not be so released if there appears reasonable grounds for believing that the release is likely to bring that person into association with any known criminal or expose the said person to moral, physical or psychological danger or the persons release would defeat the ends of justice, and the Board shall record the reasons for denying the bail and circumstances that led to such a decision.

(2) When such person having been apprehended is not released on bail under sub-section (1) by the officer-in-charge of the police station, such officer shall cause the person to be kept only in an observation home 1[or a place of safety, as the case may be] in such manner as may be prescribed until the person can be brought before a Board.

(3) When such person is not released on bail under sub-section (1) by the Board, it shall make an order sending him to an observation home or a place of safety, as the case may be, for such period during the pendency of the inquiry regarding the person, as may be specified in the order.

(4) When a child in conflict with law is unable to fulfil the conditions of bail order within seven days of the bail order, such child shall be produced before the Board for modification of the conditions of bail."

It is conspicuous that just after apprehension, he shall be put either in observation home or place of safety and neither in jail nor lockup and shall be treated with care.

This too is quite clear that this Chapter of the Act of 2015 contains all the provisions right from apprehension of child alleged to be in conflict with law; appearance of such child before the Board; grant of bail to him; how to deal with a child when bail is not granted; where to place the child allegedly in conflict with law before his production (without apprehension) or production after apprehension before the Board; before grant of bail or after grant of bail; the holding of an inquiry (which commences from the very first production before the Board under Section 14); the manner and the time limit for completion of an inquiry; the orders which may be passed against him; the orders which cannot be passed against him; the places where he can be detained; and several other matters in relation to all the above. The word arrest is conspicuous by its absence.

12. It is quite apparent from reading of Section 8(1) of the Juvenile Justice Act 2015 that the Juvenile Justice Board has been given exclusive power to deal with all the proceedings under the Act relating to children in conflict with law.

Section 8(1) of Juvenile Justice Act is as below:-

"Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force but save as otherwise expressly provided in this Act, the Board constituted for any district shall have the power to deal exclusively with all the proceedings under this Act, relating to children in conflict with law, in the area of jurisdiction of such Board."

Section 8(2) of Juvenile Justice Act is as below:-

"The powers conferred on the Board by or under this Act may also be exercised by the High Court and the Children's Court, when the proceedings come before them under section 19 or in appeal, revision or otherwise."

On the one hand the powers given to the Board are exclusive unless saved by any express provisions in the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 itself. On the other hand no window appears to have been left open for meddling with the affairs of juvenile offenders in terms of provisions of Section 438 Cr.P.C. The Juvenile Justice Act has no where said that Section 438 Cr.P.C. shall have application to the children in conflict with law. Though Section 8(2) of the Juvenile Justice Act gives similar powers to the High Court or the Children Court but only when matter is brought before it in appeal or revision or otherwise. There is no express provision empowering Children Court or Sessions Court or High Court to assume jurisdiction on itself for grant of anticipatory bail by virtue of provisions of Section 8(2) of the Juvenile Justice Act.

13. Under the scheme of adjudicating hierarchy under the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 the Board functions as court of original jurisdiction, the Children Court functions at intermediary level and in certain cases also as a trial Court (for children who are tried as adult). The appeals shall ordinarily lie to Children Court (Section 101) and the revision to High Court (Section 102). It may also be usefully noticed that the Children's Court here is not equal to a Sessions Court or vice versa. The Children Court has been defined under Section 2(20) of the Juvenile Justice Act as a Court established under the Commissions for Protection Of Child Right's Act, 2005 or a Special Court under the POCSO Act, 2012 and where there are no such Courts, then only the Court of Sessions. While the powers under Section 438 Cr.P.C. are available to the High Court or to the Court of Sessions only. It does not stand to reason to assume that powers under Section 438 Cr.P.C. shall be exercisable by Children Court (or shall be exercisable by the Sessions Court) in relation to children in conflict with law just because the Section 438 Cr.P.C. mentions Sessions Court. If such an interpretation is done, it shall disturb the whole of the scheme of the "Courts' in Juvenile Justice Act, 2015.

14.(i). It may further be noted that while an adult can ordinarily be arrested for every offence which is cognizable by the police but in case of child in conflict with law, he cannot ordinarily be apprehended/arrested in a cognizable cases. It will be the narrowest interpretation possible to say that legislature replaced the word "arrest' with "apprehension' merely to sound child friendly. This replacement is purposeful in line with the objectives of the Act.

14(ii). The reasons/grounds enabling arrest of child offender as provided in Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 are qualitatively different from reasons/grounds of arrest of adults and a paradigm shift is quite discernible. It may simultaneously be noted that there is an express bar against registration of even an FIR except where the case is of heinous nature or where it is alleged to have been committed jointly with adults. Rule 8 of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection) Model Rules, 2016 speaks of registration of FIR and also of apprehension:-

"8. Pre-Production action of Police and other Agencies.- (1) No First Information Report shall beregistered except where a heinous offence is alleged to have been committed by the child, or when such offence is alleged to have been committed jointly with adults. In all other matters, the Special Juvenile Police Unit or the Child Welfare Police Officer shall record the information regarding the offence alleged to have been committed by the child in the general daily diary followed by a social background report of the child in Form 1 and circumstances under which the child was apprehended, wherever applicable, and forward it to the Board before the first hearing:

Provided that the power to apprehend shall only be exercised with regard to heinous offences, unless it is in the best interest of the child. For all other cases involving petty and serious offences and cases where apprehending the child is not necessary in the interest of the child, the police or Special Juvenile Police Unit or Child Welfare Police Officer shall forward the information regarding the nature of offence alleged to be committed by the child along with his social background report in Form 1 to the Board and intimate the parents or guardian of the child as to when the child is to be produced for hearing before the Board.

14(iii). The reasons/cause of arrest/apprehension may not have much to do with the nature of the offence. The line of difference maintained between cognizable and non-cognizable offence is some what blurred in case of juveniles. He/she can only be apprehended (arrested) where offence is heinous in nature or where such a step is necessary for best interest of the child. The proviso to Section 8(1) thereafter adds a provision about apprehension in petty offences and serious offences. There is clear implication that power of apprehension is to be exercised in suitable cases only irrespective of its congnizability and rather it shall depend on other considerations. And in my view if we try to induct this provisions of Section 438 Cr.P.C. in the scheme of things, it will be akin to forgetting correct path before reaching the destination.

15(i). An FIR cannot be registered where offence fell in the category of petty or serious offence. Here no distinction has been maintained on the lines as provided in Cr.P.C. The provisions do not say that FIR can be registered if the offence is cognizable. Moreover as discussed earlier a child allegedly in conflict with law cannot be apprehended unless it is in the best interest of the child or in a cases of heinous offence. He cannot ordinarily be legally apprehended in a case of petty and serious offence.

15(ii). Where the powers of apprehension are legally exercisable, the child is to be placed under the charge of the Special Juvenile Police Unit or the Child Welfare Police Officer. In no case the child can be lodged in a police lockup. Even before production of the child before the Board, if required, he shall be kept in an observation home not in a lockup. He cannot be hand-cuffed, chained or otherwise fettered. Even the Child Welfare Police Officer is required to be in plain clothes and not in uniform.

15(iii). All the provisions referred to above clearly point out that though there is some commonality between the term arrest and apprehension, however a milder term of apprehension has been preferred over the other to clinch the idea behind enactment of this special law and to bring home the essential difference with the term arrest in the sense used in other statutes. To summarise ordinary implications of an "arrest' are missing. The custody of a juvenile is not punitive in nature and is a protective one.

15(iv). Rule 9 of the Model Rules, 2016 becomes applicable only when a child in conflict with law is apprehended. When such apprehended child is produced before the Board, the Board may send him to an observation home or a place of safety or a fit facility or a fit person. He cannot be sent to jail.

16. After noting down the above provision, I come back to Section 12 of the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015. (It has been reproduced in Para-10).

As is very clear from the language of Section 12 that no distinction has been maintained for applicability of provisions of bail on the lines as has been maintained under the provision of Section 436 to 439 of Cr.P.C.; Section 12 of the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 is equally applicable to bailable and non-bailable offences. Secondly, this provision of law speaks of three situations which are as below:-

(i) where a child allegedly in conflict with law is apprehended and detained by the police;

(ii) where he appears (definitely such a situations arises when he is not apprehended and the information is sent to his/her guardian for appearing before the Board as per proviso to Rule 8(1) of the Model Rules, 2016); and

(iii) when he brought before the Board (that situation arises when he has been put in charge of the Child Welfare Police Officer or the Special Juvenile Police Unit).

Section 12 again uses phrase in middle of sub-section (1) which says that "Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 for the time being in force' be released on bail with or without surety or placed under the supervision of a probation officer or under the care of any fit person. The natural and literal meaning of this provision indicate that notwithstanding with the category of offences for which the child in conflict with law has been produced or brought before or appeared before the Board, he may be released on bail or he may not be so released and placed under the supervision of a probationary officer or under the care of any fit person. When he is not being released, he can only be kept in an observation home or a place of safety. The provisions as discussed above are fundamentally different from the provisions of bail under Cr.P.C. The apprehension of arrest which is a necessary pre-requisite for applicability of Section 438 Cr.P.C. is altogether out of place in cases of juveniles. In my view the word "arrest" is not replaceable by the word "apprehension" in the sense used under the provisions of the Juvenile Justice Act.

17. In my firm view, a distinct and special procedure with regard to a child offender has been put in place in the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 so as to comprehensively deal with all the aspects which may arise where a criminal case, whether initiated by filing of FIR or not begins. There are many indicators which rule out forming of a view or an opinion that provisions of anticipatory bail shall apply to protect the liberty of a juvenile. The Act has a scheme which deals with such juveniles at pre-production and post-production stages. Some of the points have already been dealt with and some more points can be added. The factors which ought to be taken into consideration while dealing with the release of a child on bail, expressly include the likelihood of his coming into association with known criminals, likelihood of his exposure to physical, moral or psychological danger or otherwise defeating the ends of justice. Above factors are enough to deduce that the provisions of Section 12 have been enacted keeping in mind the best interest of a child. It may be noted that there may be circumstances where keeping a child in a child care institution may be the best option to serve the best interest of a child, a principle which finds place in the opening of this Act under Section 3. Chapter II of Section 3 enumerates 16 principles which are necessarily to be kept in mind by the Central Government or the State Government and other agencies, as the case may be including the Board while implementing the provisions of this Act. These principles, very importantly include the principle of safety which says that all measures shall be taken to ensure that the child is safe and is not subjected to any harm, abuse or maltreatment while in contact with the care and protection system, and thereafter. In my view, a holistic machinery of law has been put in place to deal with the child in conflict with law. By implication, such gaps, if any, need to be excluded where a child can be dealt with under regular law of procedure. In case, the provisions of Section 438 Cr.P.C. are allowed to hold field in the matters of juvenile, the aim and object of the Act shall be defeated. The interpretation of law cannot be devised in a way, so as to put a hurdle in the broader and solemn aim which is sought to be achieved by this enactment.

18. The applicant, while stressing the point of maintainability of this anticipatory bail application has placed before me, the judgment of High Court of Bombay, Aurangabad Bench given in Raman and Others vs. State of Maharashtra and Another; 2022 SCC OnLine Bom 1470 in which the question of maintainability was considered and was answered by the Division Bench as below:-

"A "child' and a "child in conflict with law" as defined under the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015 can file an application under Section 438 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973."

19. In view of the discussion above, I respectfully disagree with the opinion of High Court of Bombay. My opinion finds ample support from the judgment of Allahabad High Court in Shahaab Ali and Another vs. State of U.P.; 2020 (2) ADJ 130. I am of the firm view that the Juvenile Justice Act is a comprehensive legislation containing all provisions with regard to children in conflict with law and that the provisions of Section 438 Cr.P.C. have no application being extraneous and incompatible with the scheme as well as aim and objective sought to be achieved by the Act.

20. The anticipatory bail application is dismissed as not maintainable.

The bail application is rejected. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Jyotsna Sharma, J.)

1. Heard Sri Vidit Narayan Mishra, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri O.P. Mishra, learned AGA for the State and perused the papers on record.

2. The present application has been moved seeking anticipatory bail in Case Crime no.255 of 2021, under Sections 380, 427 and 457 I.P.C., P.S.Dankaur, District Gautam Budh Nagar.

3. As per prosecution case, an A.T.M. of Punjab National Bank standing at Bilaspur was ripped open by gas a cutter, in the night between 13.07.2021/14.07.2021 and cash was stolen from there. On the basis of this information an F.I.R. was registered and investigated upon. Three persons namely, Nasir, Sahid and Imran were arrested and cash of about more than Rs. 80,000/- from each one of them was recovered by the police. The name of present applicant has been taken in the statement of one of the arrested person, recorded by the police as having been involved in this incident and the investigation against him is pending.

4. It is contended on behalf of the applicant that his name is disclosed in the statement given by one of the arrested persons on which legally no reliance can be placed as having a nil evidentiary value. It is further said that the present applicant has inimical relation with one of the arrested person Nasir, therefore, he has taken his name. He is absolutely innocent and his liberty deserves to be protected by grant of anticipatory bail application.

5. The application for anticipatory bail is opposed with vehemence by the State following facts and circumstances have been placed before me in this connection.

(i). A total of more than 17 Lakhs was looted from the A.T.M. in an organized manner by cutting the A.T.M. by a gas cutter. The evidence collected so far showed that a number of persons were involved and their names have been disclosed by the arrested ones.

(ii). It is also argued that though a confession or a statement given by co-accused may not pass the test of credible evidence during trial but it definitely plays a very important role as far as investigation is concerned.

(iii). It is further argued that the pre-arrest bail to the applicant shall not only hamper proper and effective investigation but may play role in defending the real culprits. The probability of recovery of rest of the amount is also ruled out in case anticipatory bail application is granted at this stage.

6. Prima facie it does not appear that he is entangled in this case with the purpose of bringing disgrace or cause humiliation to him by having him arrested in a mala fide manner. It may also be kept in mind that anticipatory bail is an extraordinary remedy to be exercised in suitable cases only. The powers under Section 438 Cr.P.C. cannot be utilized in a routine manner as a substitute for regular bail. This discretionary power calls for existence of facts of the kind where the court is satisfied that its interference is necessary to further the cause of justice and to prevent misuse of process of law. Further where an intense and skillful interrogation may have been required for unearthing the cash stolen and for effective opening of a case a pre-arrest bail may not be a conducive step.

7. In view of the facts and circumstances of the case I do not find it fit case to grant benefit of anticipatory bail.

8. Hence the anticipatory bail application is rejected.

9. It is made clear that observations made in rejecting anticipatory bail to the applicant shall not in any way affect the learned trial Judge in forming his independent opinion at any stage of the case based on material before him.

1. Heard Sri I.B. Singh, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Amit Sinha, Sri Aditya Vaibhav Singh and Sri M.G. Khan, learned counsel for the applicant and Sri Rohit Tripathi, learned counsel for the Enforcement Directorate (E.D.).

2. As per learned counsel for the applicant, the present applicant (Shiv Priya) is languishing in jail since 03.12.2019 in Sessions Case No.1266 of 2020 arising out of Crime/ ECIR No.06/PMLA/LKZO/ U/s 3/4 of Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002, Police Station-ED/Lucknow titled as Assistant Director Enforcement Directorate vs. Ajay Kumar & Ors., pending before the learned Special Judge-PMLA, Lucknow (U.P.).

3. As per Sri I.B. Singh, learned Senior Advocate for the applicant, the present applicant happens to be erstwhile Director in Amrapali Group of Companies (here-in-after referred to as "AGC") which was into real estate and allied business in Noida/ Greater Noida, Uttar Pradesh. The role of the present applicant being qualified Civil Engineer by qualification was limited to conceiving Architectural Planning and Engineering thereof and was not involved in financial planning of the Company. The present applicant on account of being Director in Ultra-Home Construction Pvt. Ltd. i.e. flagship company of AGC was drawing salary and was receiving professional fee from other companies on account of rendering professional services related to their project being permissible under law. So many buyers of the said company feeling themselves aggrieved as they have not been provided the flats/ plots despite those buyers deposited their huge amount in the company, as many as 30 F.I.Rs. have been registered against the Directors of the Company including the present applicant under Sections 406, 420, 409 & 120-B I.P.C. in the year 2018 and the Economic Offences Wing, Delhi Police (in short EOW) has arrested the Directors of the Company including the present applicant. The present applicant was taken into custody by Noida Police on 11.10.2018. The aforesaid arrest was made pursuant to the order of Apex Court passed in Writ Petition (Civil) No.940 of 2017; Bikram Chaterjee vs. Union of India & others to assist / complete the Forensic Auditor's relating to the allegations of the F.I.Rs. On 26.02.2019 EOW, Delhi Police has taken custody of the present applicant.

4. On 01.07.2019, the E.D. has filed Enforcement Cases Information Report (here-in-after referred to as the "ECIR") No. ECIR/06/PMLA/LKZO/2019. The E.D. has taken custody of the present applicant on 03.12.2019.

5. On 16.03.2020, the Session Case No.1266 of 2020 was filed against the present applicant. On 13.08.2020 a Criminal Complaint / Session Case No.1234 of 2021 was filed against 04 co-accused persons. On 06.04.2022, 03 Criminal Complaint/ Session Case No.1266 of 2020, 1234 of 2021 and 1219 of 2022 were consolidated involving the present applicant. On 26.04.2022, the charges were framed against the present applicant.

6. Sri I.B. Singh, learned Senior Advocate for the applicant has submitted that with effect from 21.05.2022 till date as many as 15 dates have been fixed, and only two prosecution witnesses could be examined and the chief-examination of PW-3 has been completed on 01.02.2023 but he could not be cross-examined till date. Sri Singh has filed certified copy of the order-sheet to show that the examination of the prosecution witness/ witnesses could not be done properly on account of non-cooperation on the part of the prosecution inasmuch as the case is being regularly attended from the side of the present applicant/ defence.

7. Learned Senior Advocate has further submitted that there are 150 Prosecution Witnesses which are to be examined and if the progress of trail is seen with effect from 21.05.2022, wherein the prosecution witnesses are not co-operating, the trial in question cannot be completed in further five or six years. Further, if the total period of judicial custody of the present applicant is considered, it is about four years and four months with effect from his first date of custody i.e. 11.10.2018 and if the period of custody taken by the E.D. is considered, it is more than three years and three months and maximum punishment for the offence wherein the trial is going on is seven years. Therefore, in the first situation the present applicant has served much more than half of the sentence and in the second situation the present applicant has served about half of the sentence.

8. Learned Senior Advocate for the applicant has further submitted that the present applicant is in judicial custody with effect from 11.10.2018 for the same allegations in the same issue, however, the agencies are different. Therefore, his total custody period may be considered as more than four years and four months. If the progress of trial remains the same, there is likelihood that the present applicant will have to serve the maximum period of punishment i.e. seven years.

9. Sri Singh has apprised that the present applicant was granted an interim bail by the Apex Court vide order dated 22.08.2022 passed in Writ Petition (Cril.) No.311 of 2022; Shiv Priya vs. N.C.T. Delhi and another and he remained on interim bail till 07.11.2022. Thereafter, he surrendered before the Court of C.M.M. East District, Karkardooma Court, Delhi. He did not misuse the the liberty of interim bail granted by the Apex Court. He is again under custody with effect from 07.11.2022. Sri Singh has referred Annexure No.RA-3 which is a custody certificate of the present applicant relating to his custody in the matter of E.D. from 03.12.2019 to 24.08.2022.

10. Sri I.B. Singh, learned Senior Advocate for the applicant has referred the dictum of Apex Court rendered in re:- Union of India vs. K.A. Najeeb reported in (2021) 3 SCC 713 referring paras-14, 15 & 17 to submit that since there is no likelihood to conclude the trial with expedition and the applicant has suffered incarceration for a significant period of time, so he may be enlarged on bail. Paras-14, 15 & 17 read as under:-

"14. The facts of the instant case are more egregious than these two above cited instances. Not only has the respondent been in jail for much more than five years, but there are 276 witnesses left to be examined. Charges have been framed only on 27.11.2020. Still further, two opportunities were given to the appellant -NIA who has shown no inclination to screen its endless list of witnesses. It also deserves mention that of the thirteen co--accused who have been convicted, none have been given a sentence of more than eight years' rigorous imprisonment. It can therefore be legitimately expected that if found guilty, the respondent too would receive a sentence within the same ballpark. Given that two -third of such incarceration is already complete, it appears that the respondent has already paid heavily for his acts of fleeing from justice.

15. This Court has clarified in numerous judgments that the liberty guaranteed by Part III of the Constitution would cover within its protective ambit not only due procedure and fairness but also access to justice and a speedy trial. In Supreme Court Legal Aid Committee (Representing Undertrial Prisoners) v. Union of India15, it was held that undertrials cannot indefinitely be detained pending trial. Ideally, no person ought to suffer adverse consequences of his acts unless the same is established before a neutral arbiter. However, owing to the practicalities of real life where to secure an effective trial and to ameliorate the risk to society in case a potential criminal is left at large pending trial, Courts are tasked with deciding whether an individual ought to be released pending trial or not. Once it is obvious that a timely trial would not be possible and the accused has suffered incarceration for a significant period of time, Courts would ordinarily be obligated to enlarge them on bail.

16. ...

17. It is thus clear to us that the presence of statutory restrictions like Section 43-D (5) of UAPA per -se does not oust the ability of the Constitutional Courts to grant bail on grounds of violation of Part III of the Constitution. Indeed, both the restrictions under a Statue as well as the powers exercisable under Constitutional Jurisdiction can be well harmonised. Whereas at commencement of proceedings, Courts are expected to appreciate the legislative policy against grant of bail but the rigours of such provisions will melt down where there is no likelihood of trial being completed within a reasonable time and the period of incarceration already undergone has exceeded a substantial part of the prescribed sentence. Such an approach would safeguard against the possibility of provisions like Section 43-D (5) of UAPA being used as the sole metric for denial of bail or for wholesale breach of constitutional right to speedy trial."

11. Sri I.B. Singh, learned Senior Advocate for the applicant has also referred the dictum of Apex Court rendered in re:- Ramchand Karunakaran vs. Directorate of Enforcement & anr. (Criminal Appeal No.1650 of 2022, arising out of SLP (Crl.) No.6061 of 2020) dated 23.09.2022 by submitting that in the aforesaid case the Apex Court granted bail to the said accused person noticing the fact that the said accused person has completed more than three years of actual custody in connection with the offence in respect of PMLA. The aforesaid accused person was however the Senior Citizen. In the present case, the applicant has completed more than three years of actual custody in connection with the offence relating to the PMLA. Therefore, he may be enlarged on bail. The relevant para-6 reads as under:-

"6. We are presently concerned with the proceedings arising out of the complaint filed under the provisions of PML Act. In the instant case, the appellant was taken in custody on 19.06.2019 and has remained in custody since then. Thus, the appellant has completed more than three years of actual custody in connection with the offence in respect of PML Act."

12. Sri I.B. Singh, learned Senior Advocate for the applicant has also submitted that the present applicant was granted an opportunity of hearing by the Apex Court in respect of the issue regularly vide order dated 21.02.2022, the Receiver was appointed by the Apex Court and the Receiver has prima-facie found discrepancy with respect to recovery relating to the present applicant. The amount was substantially reduced by the Forensic Auditors.

13. Sri Singh has submitted that the amount alleged by the E.D. was Rs.95.54 crores. The amount removed by the Forensic Auditors was 68.88 crores. Therefore, the actual remaining amount is Rs.26.66 crores. A sum of Rs.28.95 crores has already been recovered from the applicant. Therefore, the present applicant is very much hopeful that after the conclusion of trial, he may not only be acquitted from the charges but a sum of Rs.2.29 crores would be refunded to him. Therefore, in view of the above, no amount is recoverable from the present applicant.

14. Learned Senior Advocate has also submitted that the learned counsel for the E.D. has incorrectly mentioned that as many as 19 cases involving the scheduled offences have been registered against the present applicant on the basis of which investigation in the present matter was undertaken and the applicant continuous to be in judicial custody in most of the cases. However, the present ECIR was registered on the basis of 14 cases i.e. FIR Nos. 336 of 2018, 273 of 2017, 561 of 2017, 563 of 2017, 565 of 2017, 566 of 2017, 118 of 2018, 70 of 2018, 219 of 2018, 783 of 2017, 44 of 2018, 213 of 2017, 767 of 2017 and 123 of 2018. The copy of the ECIR is already on record and filed as Annexure No.4 of the bail application. The applicant has not been arrested in any of the predicate offence as the chart to that effect is already on record and filed as Annexure No.20 of the bail application.

15. Per contra, Sri Rohit Tripathi, learned counsel for the E.D. has submitted that the applicant by means of the instant application has prayed for bail in Session Case No.1266 of 2020, arising out of ECIR/06/PMLA/LKZO/2019. He has also submitted that the inquiry/ investigation in the present matter was initiated/ monitored by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India by means of Writ Petition (Civil)No.940 of 2017; Bikram Chaterjee vs. UOI and others. It has also been submitted that the bail application of the co-accused, namely, Anil Kumar Sharma has been rejected by this Hon'ble Court on three occasions despite the fact that the said applicant had extensively pleaded medical grounds. On that Sri I.B. Singh, learned Senior Advocate has submitted that his bail applications were rejected either during investigation or before framing of the charges but now the stage is altogether different as demonstrated above.

16. Sri Tripathi has further submitted that as per the complaint, as amount of Rs.5982.84 crores have been diverted by the various accused persons and the present applicant had a major role not only as a beneficiary of the loot of public money but also for being actively involved n the decision making exercise regarding diversion of funds raised as a consequence of deposits by thousands of prospective home buyers. The role of the present applicant in the process of diversion of funds and his consequent enrichment out of the laundered money have been convincingly established by the documentary and oral evidence collected by E.D. The modus operandi adopted by the accused persons including the present applicant and the proceeds of crime, the evidence is rather overwhelming. In this regard, Sri Tripathi has drawn attention of this Court towards paras-4.12 to 4.21 and paras-5.1.17, 5.1.24, 5.1.26, 5.1.50, 5.1.52, 5.1.54 & 5.1.55 to 5.1.65 of the memorandum of complaint (Annexure No.7).

17. Sri Tripathi has submitted that the above mentioned evidence is mostly in form of bank accounts and statements of the accused persons, which have not been disputed. In any case, in view of the reverse presumption stipulated in Section 24 of the PMLA, it is the applicant's duty to discharge the burden of proof regarding these documents. The applicant/ accused has miserably failed to place on record any cogent or reliable material which can even prima facie dislodge the presumption against him.

18. Sri Tripathi has further submitted that the present case is one where accused persons have been charged for various offences for having carried out mass loot of public money deposited by innocent prospective home buyers and have laundered the said money and have used it for their personal enrichment. Therefore, in view of the overwhelming and irrebutable evidence against the present applicant, the present application does not pass the twin test stipulated in Section 45 (i) of the PMLA. This, coupled with the fact that the act complained of involves diversion of funds of thousands of innocent prospective home buyers dis-entitles the present applicant to be released on bail. Therefore, the present bail application deserves to be rejected.

19. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the material available on record.

20. At the very outset, it is clear that I am not entering into merits of the issue inasmuch as this is a domain of the learned trial court to look into the entire issue, contentions of the parties and perused the entire material and evidences available on the record. The consideration and observation of this order would only be confined to disposal of the bail application. Therefore, the learned trial court shall not influence from any observations or findings of this order and shall conduct and conclude the trial independently strictly in accordance with law with expedition without giving any unnecessary adjournment to any of the parties by fixing short dates and if any of the parties do not co-operate in the trial proceedings properly any appropriate coercive steps which are permissible under law may be taken.

21. In the present case, undoubtedly, the present applicant was taken into custody on 11.10.2018 for the same allegations for which the E.D. has filed ECIR in question. However, EOW of Delhi Police has taken custody of the present applicant on 26.10.2019 and the E.D. has taken custody on 03.12.2019. Therefore, for all practical purposes the present applicant is in judicial custody for more than four years and four months and if the period of judicial custody, so taken by the E.D. is considered, it is more than three years and three months. Undisputedly, the maximum punishment for the offence wherein the trial is going on is seven year. Therefore, in both the situations the present applicant has served half of the sentence.

22. The certified copy of the order-sheet of the learned trial court shows that charges were framed on 26.04.2022, thereafter with effect from 21.05.2022 the prosecution witness was to be examined. Notably, with effect from 21.05.2022 till date as many 15 dates have been fixed but only 02 prosecution witnesses could be examined and the chief examination of the prosecution witness No.3 has been completed on 01.02.2023 but he could not cross-examine in subsequent dates. The order-sheet reveals that the prosecution witnesses are not co-operating properly and there is no report to the effect that from the side of the applicant/ defence any adjournment has been sought. Notably, there are 150 prosecution witnesses, out of which, the examination of 02 prosecution witnesses have been completed. Therefore, if the progress of trial remains the same, there is no possibility or likelihood to conclude the trial with expedition, at least it may not likely be completed in further five or six years and in that case the present applicant will have to serve the maximum punishment of seven years even before completion of trial. In view of the aforesaid circumstances, I would like to refer the dictum of Apex Court in re: K.A. Najeeb (supra) wherein the Apex Court has held that once it is obvious that admittedly the trial would not be possible and the accused has suffered incarceration for a significant period of time, the court would ordinarily be obligated to be enlarged him on bail. The case before the Apex Court in re: K.A. Najeeb (supra) was relating to the offence of Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, 1967 (in short UAPA) wherein the punishment is more severe than the punishment prescribed under PMLA.

23. In the present case, I find that admittedly trial would not be possible and the present applicant has suffered incarceration for a significant period of time, as considered above, therefore, the present applicant may be given the benefit of dictum of Apex Court in re: K.A. Najeeb (supra).

24. In the subsequent judgment of Apex Court rendered in re: Ramchand Karunakaran (supra) wherein the case is relating to the offence of PMLA wherein the complaint has been filed by the E.D. The Apex Court has granted bail to the accused persons considering the fact that the said accused persons have completed more than three years of actual custody in connection with offence of PMLA. One more fact may be considered that the present applicant was granted interim bail by the Apex Court and as soon as the period of interim bail expired, he immediately surrendered before the trial court and during the period of his interim bail he did not misuse the liberty of bail and has abide by all terms and conditions of bail order.

25. At this stage, I am not considering the arguments of learned Senior Advocate Sri I.B. Singh that more than actual amount has already been recovered from the applicant inasmuch as the said amount has been determined by the Forensic Auditor in compliance of order of Apex Court and those things shall remain subject matter of the trial proceedings. Therefore, what is the actual amount and what is to be recovered from the present applicant would be determined by the learned trial court by considering all the relevant evidences and material as well as appreciating the arguments of learned counsel for the parties. The opinion of the Forensic Auditor shall be tested by the learned trial court in the light of the strict principles of the Evidence Act, however, the opinion of the Forensic Auditor being an opinion of an expert, it shall be considered by the learned trial court carefully.

26. Learned counsel for the E.D., Sri Rohit Tripathi, has been asked as to whether there is any possibility to conclude the trial with expedition where there are total 150 prosecution witnesses are to be examined and only two prosecution witnesses have been examined with effect from 21.05.2022 till date, Sri Tripathi has stated that he shall instruct the learned counsel for E.D. who is conducting the case before the learned trial court to do the needful to expedite the trial however he has fairly stated that it will take some substantial time to examine total 150 prosecution witnesses. He has been further confronted as to whether the present applicant has misused the liberty of interim bail so granted by the Apex Court, he has submitted that there is no adverse information against the present applicant to that effect.

27. On being further confronted regarding the case of Ramchand Karunakaran (supra) where the Apex Court granted bail to the accused person for an offence of PMLA considering the fact that the said accused has completed more than three years of actual custody, Sri Tripathi has stated that since the Apex Court has granted bail to the accused person, therefore, he has nothing to say on that but there was one more fact noticed by the Apex Court that the said accused person was a senior citizen.

28. Since the learned counsel for the E.D. has been heard at good length and a some of Rs.28.95 crores have already been recovered from the applicant in furtherance of the proceed of crime and considering the statement that nothing remains to be recovered from him now, I find it appropriate that the present applicant may be enlarged on bail as rigour of Section 45 of PMLA are satisfied, particularly in view of the fact that the present applicant has already served more than half of the punishment, has not misused the liberty of interim bail granted by the Apex Court and there is no possibility or likelihood to conclude the trial with expedition inasmuch as there are total 150 prosecution witnesses and only two prosecution witnesses have been examined by now. The Apex Court in para-86 of the dictum of Satender Kumar Antil vs. CBI and others, Special Leave to Appeal (Criminal) No.5191 of 2021 has held as under:-

"Special Acts (Category C)

86. Now we shall come to Category C. We do not wish to deal with individual enactments as each special Act has got an objective behind it, followed by the rigour imposed. The general principle governing delay would apply to these categories also. To make it clear, the provision contained in Section 436-A of the Code would apply to the Special Acts also in the absence of any specific provision. For example, the rigour as provided under Section 37 of the NDPS Act would not come in the way in such a case as we are dealing with the liberty of a person. We do feel that more the rigour, the quicker the adjudication ought to be. After all, in these types of cases number of witnesses would be very less and there may not be any justification for prolonging the trial. Perhaps there is a need to comply with the directions of this Court to expedite the process and also a stricter compliance of Section 309 of the Code."

29. Accordingly, the bail application is allowed.

30. Let the present applicant (Shiv Priya) be released on bail in the aforesaid case crime number on his furnishing a personal bond of Rs.2,00,000/- with two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned with the following conditions:-

(i) The applicant shall file an undertaking to the effect that he shall not seek any adjournment on the dates fixed for evidence when the witnesses are present in court. In case of default of this condition, it shall be open for the trial court to treat it as abuse of liberty of bail and pass orders in accordance with law.

(ii) The applicant shall remain present before the trial court on each date fixed, either personally or through his counsel. In case of his absence, without sufficient cause, the trial court may proceed against him under Section 229-A of the Indian Penal Code.

(iii) In case, the applicant misuses the liberty of bail during trial and in order to secure his presence proclamation under Section 82 Cr.P.C. is issued and the applicant fails to appear before the court on the date fixed in such proclamation, then, the trial court shall initiate proceedings against him, in accordance with law, under Section 174-A of the Indian Penal Code.

(iv) The applicant shall remain present, in person, before the trial court on the dates fixed for (i) opening of the case, (ii) framing of charge and (iii) recording of statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. If in the opinion of the trial court absence of the applicant is deliberate or without sufficient cause, then it shall be open for the trial court to treat such default as abuse of liberty of bail and proceed against him in accordance with law.

(v) The applicant shall not leave the country without prior permission of the Court and shall surrender his passport to the court concerned.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Kumar Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Amrendra Nath Singh, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Ram Pratap Yadav, learned counsel for the applicant as well as Sri Hanuman Deen Verma, learned counsel for the complainant and Sri J.P.S. Chauhan, learned Additional Government Advocate for the State.

2. The present bail application under Section 439 Cr.P.C. has been filed seeking bail by the accused applicant in Case Crime No. 260 of 2019, under Sections 120-B, 454, 380, 447 I.P.C. and Section 3(2)(ka) of the Prevention of Damage to Public Property Act, 1984, Police Station - Phoolpur, District - Azamgarh.

3. The F.I.R. in question got registered on a written complaint of Lal Chand Yadav S/o Ram Bujharat on 04.10.2019 on the allegation that on 27.09.2019 at around 5-6 p.m. on exhortation of present accused applicant, his sons, namely, Ravikant Yadav and Dineshkant Yadav and several unknown accomplices broke open the locks of Gandhi Ashram and stolen the government property and documents. The said Gandhi

Ashram was constructed by funds given by the World Bank and mobilized by the Ashram itself. After looting the government property and the documents, the said Ashram was painted by the accused applicant in pink paint and the Ashram building got occupied by the accused applicant and his sons. At the time of incident, no one was present in the premises from the Ashram.

4. On the next day, when the complainant who was In-Charge of the Gandhi Ashram came to the office and only then he could know about the incident. On the basis of the said complaint the F.I.R. in question came to be registered.

5. The said Gandhi Ashram had been constructed on the land bearing Gata No. 113 which is a nazool land and said building had been in the possession of the Gandhi Ashram since 1963 when its construction got completed. The accused applicant, his sons and other co-accused, had taken forcible possession and occupied the said property of Gandhi Ashram.

6. The accused applicant is another Bahubali, gangster and dreaded criminal of Eastern Uttar Pradesh which is adjacent to State of Bihar and is known for having bahubali, mafia and gangster culture. The accused applicant is a dreaded criminal which is evident from his long, rich but inglorious criminal history of henious offences which would include 15 murder cases under Section 302 I.P.C. He had been convicted very recently in two cases. One case, for which he has been conviced, is an offence under Section 302 I.P.C., and the other one for which he has been convicted is an offence under Section 420 I.P.C.

7. The accused applicant was two times Member of Parliament and one time Member of Lagislative Assembly of Uttar Pradesh. The rich but inglorious criminal history of the accused applicant of henious offences would disclose that he had accumulated wealth and properties of several hundred crore from the proceeds of crime, using his political clout, muscle power, mafia and don image. He had been acquitted in several cases of henious offences as he would winover the witnesses or making the witnesses tired or got them eliminated, a phenomenon which was taken note of by the Supreme Court. The people could not dare to complain against him because of his close proximity to the ruling elite, power and terror and fear, which he strikes in the hearts and mind of the people of the area. The rich but inglorious criminal history of the accused applicant of 80 cases is extracted hereunder:

8. The trial court has taken note of the long criminal antecedents of the accused applicant while rejecting the application for bail vide order dated 11.06.2020 passed in Bail Application No. 935 of 2020. The accused applicant is a land mafia besides a don, gangster and dreaded criminal. This Court while rejecting the bail application of another Bahubali and sitting Member of Parliament, namely, Atul Kumar Singh Alias Atul Rai S/o Shri Bharat Singh, vide order dated 07.06.2022 passed in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 5473 of 2022, had noted the greatest irony of the largest democracy of the world and said that 43% of the Members of Lok Sabha who got elected in 2019 General Elections, are having criminal cases including cases related to henious offences. The relevant paragraphs of the said judgment dated 07.06.2022 passed in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 5473 of 2022, are quoted hereinbelow:

"14. A constitution Bench of the Supreme Court in the case of Public Interest Foundation & Ors vs. Union of India & Anr : (2019) 3 SCC 224 has taken note of 244th Law Commission report in which it was said that 30 per cent or 152 sitting M.P.s were having criminal cases pending against them, of which about half i.e. 76 were having serious criminal cases. This phenomenon has increased with every general election. In 2004, 24 per cent of Lok Sabha M.Ps. had criminal cases pending, which increased to 30 per cent in 2009 elections. In 2014, it went up to 34 per cent and in 2019 as mentioned above, 43 per cent Members of Parliament who got elected for Lok Sabha are having criminal cases pending against them. The Supreme Court has taken judicial notice of criminalization of politics and imperative needs of electoral reforms. There have been several instances of persons charged with serious and heinous offences like murder, rape, kidnapping and dacoity got tickets to contest election from political parties and even got elected in large number of cases.

15. The Supreme Court has said that this leads to a very undesirous and embarrassing situation of law breakers becoming law makers and moving around police protection. The Supreme Court in the said case has directed the Election Commission of India to take appropriate measures to curb criminalization in politics but unfortunately collective will of the Parliament has not moved in the said direction to protect the Indian Democracy going in the hands of criminals, thugs and law breakers. If the politicians are law breakers, citizens cannot expect accountable and transparent governance and the society governed by the rule of law be an utopian idea. After independence with every election, role of identities such as caste, community, ethnicity, gender, religion etc, has been becoming more and more prominent in giving tickets to winnable candidates. These identities coupled with money and muscle power has made entry of criminals in politics easy and every political party without exception

(may be with some difference in degree and extent) uses these criminals to win elections. Giving tickets to candidates with serious criminal charges would break the confidence and trust of the civil society, law abiding citizens of this country in the electoral politics and elections.

16. No one can dispute that the present day politics is caught in crime, identity, patronage, muscle and money network. Nexus between crime and politics is serious threat to democratic values and governance based on rule of law. Elections of Parliament and State Legislature and even for local bodies and panchayats are very expensive affairs. The record would show that the elected members of Lok Sabha with criminal records are extremely wealthier candidates. For example, in 2014 Lok Sabha election 16 out of 23 winners having criminal charges in their credit related to murder were multi-millionaire. After candidates get re-elected, their wealth and income grows manyfold which is evident from the fact that in 2014, 165 M.Ps. who got re-elected, their average wealth growth was Rs.7.5 Crores in 5 years.

17. Earlier, "Bahubalis' and other criminals used to provide support to candidates on various considerations including caste, religion and political shelter but now criminals themselves are entering into politics and getting elected as the political parties do not have any inhibition in giving tickets to candidates with criminal background including those having heinous offence(s) registered against them. Confirmed criminal history sheeters and even those who are behind bars are given tickets by different political parties and surprisingly some of them get elected as well.

18. It is the responsibility of the Parliament to show its collective will to restrain the criminals from entering into the politics, Parliament or legislature to save democracy and the country governed on democratic principles and rule of law.

19. There is responsibility of civil society as well to rise above the parochial and narrow considerations of caste, community etc and to ensure that a candidate with criminal background does not get elected. Criminalization of politics and corruption in public life have become the biggest threats to idea of India, its democratic polity and world's largest democracy. There is an unholy alliance between organized crime, the politicians and the bureaucrats and this nexus between them have become pervasive reality. This phenomenon has eroded the credibility, effectiveness, and impartiality of the law enforcement agencies and administration. This has resulted into lack of trust and confidence in administration and justice delivery system of the country as the accused such as the present accused-applicant win over the witnesses, influence investigation and tamper with the evidence by using their money, muscle and political power. Alarming number of criminals reaching Parliament and State Assembly is a wake up call for all. Parliament and Election Commission of India are required to take effective measures to wean away criminals from politics and break unholy nexus between criminal politicians and bureaucrats.

20. This unholy nexus and unmindfulness of political establishment is the result of reaching person like the accused-applicant, a gangster, hardened criminal and "Bahubali' to the Parliament and becoming a law maker. This Court, looking at the heinousness of offence, might of the accused, evidence available on record, impact on society, possibility of accused tampering with the evidence and influencing/ winning over the witnesses by using his muscle and money power....."

9. The accused applicant had allegedly committed the first offence of murder in the year 1974 and in 48 years of his long and henious journey in world of crime, he could be convicted only in two cases recently in the year 2022. This phenomena is very perturbing and does not auger well for a democratic polity and a society which is governed by rule of law. All wings of the government i.e. executive, legislative and judiciary, must share the blame for allowing such a dreaded criminal to go scot-free in several henious offences which have been noted hereinabove. Such a criminal should not have any place in the society.

10. This Court, therefore, does not think that such a dreaded criminal should be allowed to be set free by enlarging him on bail. Such a person is a constant threat to the civil society governed by the rule of law. He is a threat to the society and peace living and law abiding citizens.

11. On an overall conspectus of the aforesaid facts, this Court does not find any ground to enlarge the accused applicant on bail.

12. Consequently, the bail application is hereby rejected.

A. Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973-Section 439 - Indian Penal Code, 1860-Section 306-deceased committed suicide in his matrimonial home after 10 years of her marriage due to unwanted circumstances created by in-laws-false application was given to SSP and Magistrate against the deceased and divorce was also filed by the husband stating that the wife/deceased is a mental patient while she was qualified M.A. and was teaching for last ten years-applicant made false allegations against his wife publicly on facebook too, she was deeply hurt with the false allegations undermining her dignity, eventually the circumstances compelled her to commit suicide-More so, a false prescription of the Varanasi Mental Hospital is presented by the applicant while the deceased was never admitted in such hospital-When she was beaten she informed the police with a digital complaint and the contents of complaint itself shows the sound mental status of deceased.(Para 1 to 19)

B. If the accused by his acts and by his continuous course of conduct creates a situation which leads the deceased perceiving no other option except to commit suicide, the case may fall within the four-corners of Section 306 IPC. If the accused plays an active role in tarnishing the self-esteem and self-respect of the victim, which eventually draws the victim to commit suicide, the accused may be held guilty of abetment of suicide.(Para 18)

The application is rejected. (E-6)

1. Compliance affidavit filed by learned AGA is taken on record.

2. Heard Sri Shailendra Singh, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri S.K. Ojha, learned A.G.A. for the State and A.K. Mishra, learned counsel for the complainant and perused the record.

3. The present bail application has been filed on behalf of the applicant in Case Crime No. 119 of 2022, under Section 306 of IPC, Police Station Kotwali, Prayagraj with the prayer to enlarge the applicant on bail.

4. The brief facts of the case are that the informant Amarnath Tripathi, father of the deceased, lodged the first information report against the applicant and other family members stating therein that the marriage of his daughter Nisha Tripathi was solemnized with the applicant in the year 2011 according to the Hindu rituals. He spent Rs.14 lacs and gave one Hyundai i-10 car in the marriage. After one month of the marriage, mother-in-law of his daughter started quarrelling with the deceased and threatened her to break the marriage. His daughter was serving as a teacher in Jagat Taran Intermediate College, Prayagraj. The applicant was having illicit relations with another lady. This fact was narrated to the informant by his daughter but he asked her to have patience. Two years prior to the date of incident the applicant beat his daughter. A complaint was made to the police regarding this. Prior to the date of the incident, his daughter came to his house and at that time she was not keeping in good health. She was scared of ghosts. After one week, the applicant took her with him. The applicant switched off his own and her mobile. On 19.05.2022 at around 6.00 pm he got the information that his daughter has died. He rushed to the house of his daughter and found that the dead body of his daughter was lying on the floor. The Applicant was torturing his daughter and treating her with cruelty. The other family members of the applicant were also indulged in the same activities.

5. It has been argued by learned counsel for the applicant that the applicant is innocent and he has been falsely implicated in the present case. It is submitted that initially the first information report was lodged under Section 302 of IPC but on the basis of the post mortem report the matter was converted under Section 306 of IPC and the charge sheet had already been filed. The applicant is the husband of the deceased Nisha Tripathi. The marriage of the applicant was solemnized with the deceased in the year 2011. The allegations made in the first information report are false and concocted and have no substance. The deceased was never subjected to any cruelty. It is submitted that the mental condition of the deceased started deteriorating from the year 2019-20 and she was suffering from intermittent
