State of U.P. & Anr.

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether the Investigating Officer was legally justified in submitting a subsequent charge sheet implicating the applicants, who had already been exonerated in the earlier charge sheet upon conclusion of investigation, without obtaining prior permission of competent Magistrate/Court for conducting further investigation as contemplated u/s 193(9) of Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023.

Headnotes

Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 - ss. 528, 193(9) - Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 - s. 110, 191(2), 191(3), 115(2), 352, 351(2), 324(4) - Further investigation - Power of Investigating Officer - Requirement of permission of Court - Commencement of trial - Scope - The instant matter arose from an application filed u/s 528 of BNSS, 2023, whereby the applicants challenged the criminal proceedings arising out of an FIR registered for offences under various sections of BNS, 2023 - Initially, several persons, including the applicants, were named as accused in the FIR - Upon investigation, the Investigating Officer submitted the first charge sheet dated 10.01.2025 only against two co-accused persons and specifically recorded that the investigation with respect to the applicants and other unnamed accused had concluded - On the basis of the said charge sheet, cognizance was taken by the Magistrate and the applicants stood exonerated - Subsequently, a another charge sheet was submitted on 14.08.2025, wherein the applicants were implicated on the basis of same facts and evidence, and cognizance was again taken against them - Aggrieved by such subsequent implication, the applicants approached the High Court contending that the Investigating Officer could not have conducted further investigation and filed a supplementary charge sheet against persons already exonerated without obtaining prior permission of competent Court as required u/s 193(9) of BNSS.

Held: The distinction of provisions as mentioned u/s 193(9) of BNSS is crystal clear that the court which is empowered for granting permission to concerned Investigating Officer for conducting further investigation is the court who took the cognizance of offence and is in way to try the matter - The wording mentioned as that the court 'trying the case' is not qualifying as provided in the provisions 'during the trial' and as such the distinction between 'trying the case' and 'during the trial' is one and the same and the stand taken up by learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 is not sustainable in the eye of law - Thus, it is the trite law that irregularity of procedure will not vitiate the entire commencement of the matter, accordingly, instant application u/s 528 BNSS allowed - The order will not preclude the Investigating Officer for taking fresh action permissible as per law. Appearances for Parties

Adv. for the Applicant(s):

Deepak Dubey

Adv. for the Opposite Party(s):

Dharmendra Kumar Dwivedi, G.A., Mridul Tripathi

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Deepak Dubey, learned counsel for applicants, Sri Pawan Srivastava, learned AGA for State and Sri P.K.Tripathi holding brief of Sri Dharmendra Kumar Dwivedi, learned counsel for opposite party no. 2.

2. Through instant application, applicants are challenging entire proceeding of Case no. 6998 of 2024 arising out of Case Crime no. 419 of 2024 in pursuance to sections 110, 191(2), 191(3), 115(2), 352, 351(2), 324(4) BNS pending before learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Jhansi along with charge sheet no. 12A of 2025 preferred by concerned Investigating Officer on dated 14.8.2025 whereupon cognizance of offence has been taken up by learned court concerned on dated 8.9.2025.

3. Learned counsel for the applicants submitted that initially 12 named persons along with 20 unknown persons were implicated as accused at the time of lodging FIR at Case Crime no. 491 of 2024 at the behest of opposite party no. 2, wherein name of the applicants were mentioned at serial nos. 5, 6, 7, and 10. The implication of all the accused in the cognizable offences culminated into conduction of inquiry by concerned Investigating Officer who preferred charge sheet on dated 10.1.2025 against two co-accused and also intimated that inquiry has now been concluded and over in respect of the applicants along with 20 unnamed persons but at the same time, it is also mentioned in the charge sheet dated 10.1.2025 that the investigation is still continuing in respect of other co-accused, whereupon cognizance of offence has been taken up by learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Jhansi vide order dated 13.1.2025 by way of summoning only two co-accused namely Satyendra Yadav and Rakesh Yadav.

4. Learned counsel for the applicants sought attention of the Court over the second paragraph of the order dated 13.1.2025 through which cognizance of offence has been taken up against two co-accused against whom charge sheet was filed namely Satyendra Yadav and Rakesh Yadav and specific explanation has been called from concerned Investigating Officer who exonerated name of the applicants and the matter has been directed to be registered as Misc. Case for seeking recall of the non-bailable warrants. Thereafter, Non-Bailable Warrant issued against the applicants has already been recalled vide order dated 27.1.2025 passed by learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court no. 1, Jhansi. The certified copy of the order dated 27.1.2025, although not filed but provided during course of the argument and being the court of record, it is taken on record, through which it is transpired that Non-Bailable Warrant issued against the applicants has already been recalled.

5. After submission of the charge sheet 10.1.2025, whereupon cognizance of offence has been taken up vide order dated 13.1.2025, another charge sheet no. 12A has been preferred on dated 14.8.2025 since there was crystal clear disclosure of the pendency of the investigation at the time of preferring first charge sheet. Learned counsel for the applicants submitted that while preferring second set of charge sheet, all the applicants have been implicated and main accused have been exonerated whereupon cognizance has been taken up vide order dated 8.9.2025 without considering the order dated 13.1.2025 and order dated 27.1.2025.

6. As legal submission, learned counsel for applicants took reliance of Section 193(9) BNSS wherein specific provision is available that further investigation during trial may be conducted with the permission of the court trying the case and the same shall be completed within a period of 90 days which may be extended with the permission of the court itself. In the instant matter, it has been submitted by learned counsel for the applicants that once the name of all the applicants have been exonerated while preferring first set of charge sheet whereupon cognizance of offence has been taken up and implicated co-accused have been summoned, on similar set of evidence and facts concerned Investigating Officer committed patent error of law which is apparent on face of record, by way of implicating all the applicants in second set of charge sheet without mentioning any permission sought from learned concerned court itself. For substantiating his arguments, learned counsel for the applicants also demonstrated certain facts which has been received in questionnaire that at no point of time, any application has ever been preferred by concerned Investigating Officer for seeking permission of learned concerned court for conducting further investigation. On above mentioned grounds, the entire proceeding of Case no. 6998 of 2024 arising out of Case Crime no. 419 of 2024 has been sought to be quashed and set aside, since there is hardly any provision provided in favour of the Investigating Officer for conduction of further investigation, especially in respect of those who have already been exonerated at the time of preferring first set of charge sheet whereupon cognizance of offence has been taken up by learned court concerned and again implicating same persons in second set of charge sheet without seeking any proper permission from learned court for investigating further against those who have already been exonerated.

7. For substantiating his arguments, learned counsel for applicants also relied upon judgment dated 4.2.2026 rendered by Hon'ble Supreme Court in case of Pramod Kumar and others vs. State of U.P. and others passed in Criminal Appeal no. nil of 2026 arising out of SLP (Criminal) no. 350 of 2024 wherein it has been held that power to direct further investigation in a case rests solely at the discretion of the Magistrate/Court concerned. In the event, the police/ investigating agency is of the opinion that further investigation is necessary in any particular case to cull out complete facts and truth in the case, it is binding upon them to file an appropriate application before the Magistrate/Court, without directing an order for further investigation by themselves.

8. Sri P.K.Tripathi, learned counsel appearing on behalf of opposite party no. 2 vehemently opposed the prayer as made through instant application and rebutted the entire stand taken up by learned counsel for the applicants. While controverting the derivation of the legal proposition as derived by learned counsel for the applicants, Sri P.K.Tripathi submitted that provisions for seeking permission for conducting further inquiry is mandatory as per the statute when the trial is proceeding, in the instant matter, the trial is still to be proceeded and as such provisions of Section 193(9) BNSS shall not be applicable and will not give any benefit to the applicants, moreover once the investigation was pending and during course of investigation, implication of the applicants was found, they were implicated at the time of preferring second set of charge sheet whereupon cognizance of offence has been taken up by learned court concerned, which is justified.

9. Sri Pawan Srivastava, learned AGA appearing for State also supported the entire action performed by concerned Investigating Officer and justified the order passed by learned concerned court which impugned the instant application and seconded the arguments as made by Sri P.K.Tripathi, learned counsel for opposite party no. 2.

10. A precise query has been made before learned counsel appearing for opposite party no. 2 in respect of "commencement of trial" and in the most fair and candid manner, it has been replied by the learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 that the commencement of trial in the instant matter is yet to be initiated since it is the stage where the charges have not been framed and only the cognizance has been taken up by learned concerned court.

11. After having the rival contentions raised by learned counsels for the parties, this Court observes that commencement of trial starts from the date when cognizance of offence is taken over the charge sheet submitted after conclusion of investigation carried out over the FIR lodged at the behest of informant. Insofar as commencement of trial in the complaint case is concerned, the same starts from the date when accused is summoned on the basis of averments made in the complaint as well as statements recorded under section 200 Cr.P.C./section 223(1) BNSS.

12. By and large the entire arguments so made by learned counsel for the applicants which has been rebutted by learned counsel for the opposite party no. 2 as well as learned AGA is based upon the provisions available under Section 193(9) of BNSS. For ready reference same provision is reproduced herein below:

"Section 193(9)- Report of Police Officer on Completion of Investigation- Nothing in this section shall be deemed to preclude further investigation in respect of an offence after a report under sub-section (3) has been forwarded to the Magistrate and, where upon such investigation, the officer in charge of the police station obtains further evidence, oral or documentary, he shall forward to the Magistrate a further report or reports regarding such evidence in the form as the State Government may, by rules, provide; and the provisions of sub-sections (3) to (8) shall, as far as may be, apply in relation to such report or reports as they apply in relation to a report forwarded under sub-section (3): Provided that further investigation during the trial may be conducted with the permission of the Court trying the case and the same shall be completed within a period of ninety days which may be extended with the permission of the Court."

13. By fine scrutiny of the provisions of Section 193(9) BNSS, two things are apparently mentioned which are as under:

(i) further investigation during the trial ...

(ii) permission of the court trying the case...

The distinction of the provisions as mentioned under Section 193(9) of BNSS is crystal clear that the court which is empowered for granting permission to concerned Investigating Officer for conducting further investigation is the court who took the cognizance of offence and is in way to try the matter. The wording mentioned in (ii) as mentioned above that the court 'trying the case' is not qualifying the above mentioned wording provided in the provisions 'during the trial' and as such the distinction between 'trying the case' and 'during the trial' is one and the same and the stand taken up by learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 is not sustainable in the eye of law.

14. In view of above mentioned facts and circumstances, it is the trite law that irregularity of the procedure will not vitiate the entire commencement of the matter which is in shape of Case no. 6998 of 2024 arising out of Case Crime no. 419 of 2024 and as such charge sheet dated 14.8.2025 preferred in Case Crime no. 491 of 2024 specifically in respect of the applicants as well as order dated 8.9.2025 passed by learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Jhansi specifically in case of the applicants are hereby set aside. The instant application u/s 528 BNSS stands allowed accordingly.

15. However, this order will not preclude the concerned Investigating Officer for taking fresh action permissible as per law.

(b) be deemed, for the purposes of exercising such jurisdiction under such law, to be a district court or, as the case may be, such subordinate civil court for the area to which the jurisdiction of the Family Court extends.

Explanation.- The suits and proceedings referred to in this sub-section are suits and proceedings of the following nature, namely:

5. Section 12 of the Gram Nyayalayas Act, 2008, is quoted hereinbelow: "Criminal Jurisdiction.-(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974) (corresponding B.N.S.S., 2023) or any other law for the time being in force, the Gram Nyayalaya may take cognizance of an offence on a complaint or on a police report and shall? 15. Learned counsel for the appellant has made the following submissions:

(a) The trial Court has illegally acquitted accused- Pappu of charges under Section 363, 376(2) (n) of IPC and under Section □ of POCSO Act.

(b) The trial Court without considering the oral and documentary evidence placed before the trial court acquitted the accused ? Pappu.

(c) The trial court has also not testified the truthfulness of averment made by the victim in support of her claim, therefore, the impugned acquittal order dated 01.12.2025 is liable to be set aside.

(d) The trial court has not considered the statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C and 164 Cr.P.C. and also overlooked the medico legal examination report of the victim dated 27.09.2021 and 08.10.2021 respectively.

16. On the other hand, learned AGA for the State supporting the impugned judgment, has submitted that there is no infirmity or illegality in the impugned order. The trial court has rightly acquitted the accused. It was further submitted that prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt, therefore, this appeal lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

17. The appellate Court is usually reluctant to interfere with a judgment acquitting an accused. The principle to be applicable is that the presumption of innocence in favour of the accused has not to be lightly disturbed. The above principle has been consistently followed by the Supreme Court while deciding appeals against acquittal by way of Article 136 of the Constitution or appeals filed under Section 378 and 386 (a) Cr.P.C. This view was taken in the judgment of in State of M.P. Vs. Sharad Goswami, (2021) 17 SCC 783; State of Rajasthan Vs. Shera Ram, (2012) 1 SCC 602, Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade Vs. State of Maharashtra, (1973) 2 SCC 793.

18. The Supreme Court in the case of Ramesh Babulal Doshi Vs. State of Gujarat, (1996) 9 SCC 225 has observed that the High Court must examine the reasons given by the trial Court for recording their acquittal before disturbing the same by re-appraising the evidence recorded by the trial court. For clarity, para 7 is extracted herein below:

"Before proceeding further it will be pertinent to mention that the entire approach of the High Court in dealing with the appeal was patently wrong for it did not at all address itself to the question as to whether the reasons which weighed with the trial Court for recording the order of acquittal were proper or not. Instead thereof the High Court made an independent reappraisal of the entire evidence to arrive at the above quoted conclusions. This Court has repeatedly laid down that the mere fact that a view other than the one taken by the trial Court can be legitimately arrived at by the appellate Court on reappraisal of the evidence cannot constitute a valid and sufficient ground to interfere with an order of acquittal unless it comes to the conclusion that the entire approach of the trial Court in dealing with the evidence was patently illegal or the conclusions arrived at by it were wholly untenable. While sitting in judgment over an acquittal the appellate Court is first required to seek an answer to the question whether the findings of the trial Court are palpably wrong, manifestly erroneous or demonstrably unsustainable. If the appellate Court answers the above question in the negative the order of acquittal is not to be disturbed. Conversely, if the appellate Court holds, for reasons to be recorded, that the order of acquittal cannot at all be sustained in view of any of the above infirmities it can then - and then only - reappraise the evidence to arrive at its own conclusions. In keeping with the above principles we have therefore to first ascertain whether the findings of the trial Court are sustainable or not."

19. Also the Supreme Court in the case of Sadhu Saran Singh Vs. State of U.P., (2016) 4 SCC 357 has observed that an appeal against acquittal has always been on an altogether different pedestal from an appeal against conviction. In an appeal against acquittal, where the presumption of innocence in favour of the accused is reinforced, the appellate court would interfere with the order of acquittal only when there is perversity.

20. Still further the Supreme Court in the case Basheera Begam Vs. Mohd. Ibrahim, (2020) 11 SCC 174 has held that the burden of proving an accused guilty beyond all reasonable doubt lies on the prosecution. If, upon analysis of evidence, two views are possible, one which points to the guilt of the accused and the other which is inconsistent with the guilt of the accused, the latter must be preferred. Reversal of a judgment and other of conviction and acquittal of the accused should not ordinarily be interfered with unless such reversal/acquittal is vitiated by perversity. In other words, the court might reverse an order of acquittal if the court finds that no person properly instructed in law could have, upon analysis of the evidence on record, found the accused to be "not guilty". When circumstantial evidence points to the guilt of the accused, it is necessary to prove a motive for the crime. However, motive need not be proved where there is direct evidence. In this case, there is no direct evidence of the crime.

21. The Supreme Court in the case of Kali Ram Vs. State of H.P., (1973) 2 SCC 808 has observed as under:

"25. Another golden thread which runs through the web of the administration of justice in criminal cases is that if two views are possible on the evidence adduced in the case, one pointing to the guilt of the accused and other to his innocence, the view which is favourable to the accused should be adopted. This principle has a special relevance in cases wherein the guilt of the accused is sought to be established by circumstantial evidence."

22. The Supreme Court again examined in State of Odisha v. Banabihari Mohapatra & Ors, (2021) 15 SCC 268 the effect of the probability of two views in cases of appeal against acquittal and held that if two views are possible on the evidence adduced in the case, one pointing to the guilt of the accused, and the other to his innocence, the view which is favourable to the accused should be adopted.

23. The Supreme Court in Sujit Biswas v. State of Assam, (2013) 12 SCC 406 has reiterated the position that suspicion, however strong, cannot replace proof. An accused is presumed to be innocent unless proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

24. In the background of the law discussed herein above and after looking closely at all the evidence, we find that there are glaring inconsistencies in the statements of Prosecution witnesses regarding date, time and manner in which the incident happened. PW-1 first of all provided conflicting dates for the incident and secondly she gave contradictory statements regarding her Medical Examination. She claimed in her statement under Section 164 that medical examination was never conducted, despite records and her own examination-in-chief which had stated otherwise. Furthermore, her allegation of repeated rape is severely weakened by the fact that no such mention was made in the tehrir despite her claiming she had informed her father of the same before the report was filed.

25. The case is further weakened by the testimony of PW2, who contradicted the victim on almost every major detail. While the victim said the incident happened at night and that they went to the police station in a police car, PW2 claimed it happened in the middle of the day and that he went to the police station by bicycle. Most importantly, PW2 claimed in court that he witnessed the incident. However, the tehrir states that he was only told about it later by his daughter. It is to be noted that applicant's family constitute 20-25 members, including children. In such a situation, the allegation that the accused alone took her away from the house appears highly unnatural. Because of these massive differences between what the witnesses said and what the documents revealed, the prosecution has failed to prove the case beyond all reasonable doubts.

26. In view of the aforesaid discussions, we are of the view that the learned trial Court has given logical and plausible findings in the impugned judgement in conformity with the evidence on record and has rightly concluded that the prosecution has miserably failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. The judgment and order of the trial court is just and proper and carries no perversity therein. Hence it does not warrant any interference by this Court. The reasoning adopted by the learned Trial Judge is based upon proper application of judicial mind. No illegality, infirmity or perversity is found in the impugned judgment and order and it needs no interference by this Court.

27. Hence the appeal is devoid of merit and deserves to be dismissed. Accordingly, it is dismissed.

Sukhdevi, Dayaram, Kallu alias Ram Kishore and Raghubar, assailing the judgment and order dated 13.04.1988 passed by VIth Additional District and Sessions Judge, Sitapur, in Sessions Trial No. 66 of 1985 ; State Versus Chhidu and others, emanating from Case Crime No. 200 of 1984, under Section 364 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 (here-in-after referred to as I.P.C.), Police Station Sandana, district Sitapur, whereby the appellants have been convicted and sentenced under Section 302 I.P.C. for life imprisonment and under Section 201 I.P.C. for seven years rigorous imprisonment, whereas appellant No.4, Daya Ram was acquitted under Section 148 and 364 read with Section 149 I.P.C. and rest of the appellants have been acquitted under Sections 147 and 364 read with Section 149 I.P.C.

(2) The prosecution case, in short, is that complainant Vijay Kumar, had submitted a written complaint (Ext. Ka.1) at police station Sandana, district Sitapur on 17.08.1984 alleging therein that his brother Ram Gopal seemed to having a secret illicit relationship with the wife of Chhidu Chamar of his village, because of which, Chhidu Chamar had beaten his wife. On 14.08.1984, at about 06:00 in the evening, wife of Chhidu took away his brother Ram Gopal to her house and Hajju son of Madhaee, Rambilash son of Badri and Ramkumar son of Amrit Lal etc. of his village saw them going towards the house of Chhidu. Since then, his brother has been missing and was not found anywhere among his relatives etc. In such circumstances, it appears that Chhidu Chamar and Rohan son of Deo and wife of Chhidu have made his brother disappear with the intention of killing him. It is possible that they have killed. Report may be written and necessary action may be taken.

(3) On the basis of the aforesaid written report, F.I.R., bearing Case Crime No. 200 of 1984, under Section 364 I.P.C. was registered at police station Sandana, district Sitapur on 17.08.1984 at 12:30 p.m.

On 18.08.1984, at 12:30 in the night, he apprehended accused Dayaram from his house and on his pointing out, police party along with witnesses proceeded further with accused Dayaram leading from the front. Upon reaching the house of Chhidu, accused Dayaram knocked at his door and called out Chhidu. However, on seeing the police, accused Chhidu fled by jumping over the back wall. Thereafter, Dayaram himself opened the door with his own hand and took the police party to eastern room where the dead body of Ram Gopal had been concealed. He recovered the dead body of Ram Gopal in the presence of witnesses Janki Prasad, Lallan and Jayram, who identified the dead body. Thereafter, he prepared recovery memo of the dead body of the deceased Ram Gopal and site plan. He prepared the Panchayatnama of the dead body of deceased Ram Gopal at 09:00 in the morning and the site plan of recovery of dead body at 09:30 in the morning. He also prepared challan lash, sample seal, photo lash, sample seal and letter to C.M.O. He, thereafter, sent the dead body of the deceased Ram Gopal for post-mortem along with Constable Bachu Lal at 09:30 in the morning. On 19.08.1984, at 06:00 in the morning, he arrested accused Chhidu, Sukhdei, Kallu and Raghubar.

(5) The post-mortem of the dead body of the deceased Ram Gopal was conducted by Dr. S.K. Srivastava, District Hospital, Sitapur on 19.08.1984 at 04:00 P.M. He found the following ante-mortem injuries on the dead body of deceased Ram Gopal :-

2. Incised wound 11 cm x 3 cm x bone cut head of Rt. humerus bone is cut on the tip of Rt. sholuder.

On external examination, Dr. S.K. Srivastava found that the deceased was of average built; rigor mortis passed from all extremities; mouth and eyes were closed; sutures of skull bones are loosed and brain matter is liquefied.

As per the opinion of Dr. S.K. Srivastava, cause of death was shock and haemorrhage due to ante-mortem injuries.

(6) On 22.08.1984, accused Rohan surrendered in Court. The Investigating Officer, after completing investigation, filed the charge sheet under Sections 364, 302, 201, 147, 148, 149 I.P.C. on 17.10.1984 against the accused persons.

(7) Learned Additional Munsif Magistrate, Sitapur took cognizance on the aforesaid charge-sheet and committed the case to the Court of Session by means of order dated 28.01.1985, where the case was registered as Sessions Trial No. 66 of 1985 : State Vs. Chiddu and others. The learned VI Additional Sessions Judge, Sitapur, by means of the order dated 28.04.1987, framed charges against accused persons, Chhidu, Rohan, Sukhdei, Dayaram, Kallu alias Ram Kishore and Raghubar. Accused persons denied their charges and claimed to be tried.

(10) After completion of the evidence of the prosecution witnesses, the statement of the accused persons were recorded under Section 313 of Cr.P.C., wherein they denied the occurrence and shown ignorance to many things placed from evidence. Accused Chhidu stated that a case under Section 107 is going on with Rajaram and Swamidayal and due to this enmity, he has been falsely implicated. He denied having any illicit relationship of his wife. He also denied that he had beaten his wife some days before on account of illicit relationship. Sukhdei also denied having any illicit relationship with Ram Gopal. Accused Chhidu and Sukhdei admitted the fact that accused Rohan is the real brother of accused Chhidu and first wife of accused Chhidu had died 15-16 years ago and thereafter he married to Sukdhei, from whom she has 4-5 minor children. From his first wife, he has a son, namely, Rampal. Accused Raghubar Dayal admitted that Rampal lives separately. He further stated that Ram Kumar had an enmity with Munna Bacchan arising out of case under Section 107. Accused Kallu alias Ram Kumar stated that he was at his maternal home on the date of the incident and he is residing there.

(11) The defence/accused persons have not produced any oral evidence, however, they produced two documents viz. (1) Certified copy of the order dated 06.03.1980 passed in case crime no. 590 of 1959, under Section 107/116 Cr.P.C. Police Station Sandana by S.D.M., Mishrikh, District Sitapur (Ext. Kha.1) and (2) Certified copy of the order dated 06.03.1980 passed in case crime no. 589 of 1958, under Section 107/116 Cr.P.C. Police Station Sandana by S.D.M., Mishrikh, District Sitapur (Ext. Kha.2).

(12) After hearing the learned Counsel for the parties and considering the evidence and material on record, the learned trial Court, by means of the impugned judgment and order dated 13.04.1988, convicted and sentenced the accused Chhidu, Rohan, Sukhdei, Dayaram, Kallu alias Ram Kishore and Raghubar under Sections 302 I.P.C. to undergo life imprisonment and under Section 201 I.P.C. to undergo 7 years R.I. Both the sentences were directed, by learned trial Court, to run concurrently.

(13) Being aggrieved by the impugned judgment and order dated 13.04.1988, accused/convict persons Chhidu, Rohan, Sukhdei, Dayaram, Kallu alias Ram Kishore and Raghubar preferred the instant appeal.

(14) It is pertinent to mention that during pendency of this appeal, appellant no.1-Chhidu, appellant no.2-Rohan, appellant no.3-Smt. Sukhdevi (wrongly mentioned, it shall be read as 'Sukhdei') and appellant no.6-Raghubar have died, therefore, the instant appeal filed on behalf of appellants no. 1, 3 and 6 stood abated by means of order dated 02.07.2001, whereas the instant appeal filed on behalf of appellant no.2 stood abated by means of order dated 16.03.2026. Hence, the present appeal survives only on behalf of appellant no. 4-Daya Ram son of Chillu and appellant no.5-Kallu alias Ram Kishore son of Shivadhar, who are in jail.

(15) Heard, Shri Narayan Dutt Tiwari holding brief of Shri Atul Bhushan Pandey, learned Counsel for the appellants and Shri Arunendra, learned A.G.A. for the State.

(16) Learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the appellants have wrongly and illegally been convicted and sentenced by means of the impugned judgment and order placing reliance on the testimony of highly inimical witnesses. He further submitted that the case is based on circumstantial evidence and the learned Trial Court failed to appreciate that the prosecution witnesses kept silence from the alleged date of incident i.e. 14.08.1984 to 17.08.1984, which creates doubt about the veracity of their testimony. He further submitted that in the F.I.R., only three persons, namely Chhidu, his wife Sukhdei and Rohan were shown alleged suspects, but the learned Trial Court has convicted all the six appellants without any evidence against them. He further submitted that the appellant No.4, Daya Ram was arrested from his house in the intervening night of 17/18.08.1984 and it has been alleged that he had admitted the guilt and got recovered the dead body, but if he would have participated in the alleged incident, he must have escaped from his house. He further submitted that the deceased was of bad character and was having affairs with several ladies, therefore, anyone could have invited him and murdered. He further submitted that the investigation was not made in proper manner and it was highly tainted and there was a long delay in lodging of F.I.R. and the prosecution story is highly improbable. He further submitted that the deceased had only two injuries, which itself creates doubt about the participation of six persons. He further submitted that the learned Trial Court, even after disbelieving the recovery under Section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, has wrongly and illegally convicted the appellants. Thus, he submitted that the impugned judgment and order has been passed in an illegal manner without considering the evidence and material on record appropriately and recording perverse findings, which is not sustainable in the eyes of law and the same is liable to be set aside and the appellants are liable to be acquitted.

(17) Learned A.G.A. vehemently opposed the submissions of learned counsel for the appellants. He submitted that delay in lodging of F.I.R. is self-explanatory as the deceased had got missing from 14.08.1984 and looking to the previous conduct of the deceased, after coming to know that he was seen going in the house of Chhidu, the F.I.R. was lodged, therefore, the delay stands explained. He further submitted that the motive behind the occurrence is apparent because the wife of the accused Chhidu had relations with the deceased Ram Gopal, which has been proved by the prosecution witnesses. He further submitted that the submissions of learned counsel for the appellants are wrong and misconceived and not tenable in the eyes of law as the learned Trial Court has rightly and in accordance with law passed the impugned judgment and order after considering and appreciating the evidence and material on record correctly. There is no illegality or error in the impugned judgment and order passed by the learned Trial Court and the appeal has been filed on misconceived and baseless grounds, which is liable to be dismissed.

(18) We have considered the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and perused the records.

(19) The complainant Vijay Kumar appeared as P.W.-1. He deposed that the deceased Ram Gopal had illicit relations with wife of Chhidu, on account of which, Chhidu had beaten his wife about a week prior to the incident. He further stated that on 14.08.1984 at about 06:00 in the evening, Sukhdei, wife of Chhidu had called his brother, Ram Gopal and took him towards her house. He further stated that at that time, he, his uncle Ram Prasad and his mother were present at home. He further stated that his brother did not return on that night, therefore, he had searched for him in the village and other villages in his relationship but his whereabouts could not be known. He also stated that his brother used to go leaving home. Sometimes he used to come back on his own, but sometimes, he used to search and call him and only then, his brother used to return, therefore, when he came to know from Hajju, Ram Kumar and Ram Bilas on 17.08.1984 that they had seen Ram Gopal going with wife of Chhidu inside her home, then he suspected that Chhidu, Rohan and Sukhdei must have killed his brother and then he got the report written from Swami Dayal and signed it after it was read over to him and gave it to Munshi in the Police Station. On the basis of said report, F.I.R. (Ex. Ka-7) vide Case Crime No.200 of 1984, under Section 364 I.P.C. was lodged at Police Station Sandana, District Sitapur on 17.08.1984 at 12:30 PM. He further stated that after taking a copy of the F.I.R., he came back to his village, where Inspector came and took his statement.

(20) In view of above, the explanation for delay in lodging of F.I.R. has been given by the complainant, which is obvious in the facts and circumstances of the case, in which, the deceased used to go leaving home time and again and used to come on his own or on being searched and called by the complainant. Even otherwise the delay in lodging the F.I.R. can not be the sole ground to disbelieve the prosecution case. The learned Trial Court, after considering the evidence and material on record, has recorded a finding that in the circumstances of case, there is no undue delay in lodging of F.I.R. and whatever is the delay, it has sufficiently been explained. This Court does not find any illegality or error in the finding recorded by the learned Trial Court in this regard. Even otherwise, this Court is of the view that in the facts and circumstances, as disclosed in the F.I.R. and the evidence of the prosecution witnesses, such delay in lodging the F.I.R. cannot be of any benefit to the defence or fatal to the prosecution case. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Baldev Singh Vs. State of Punjab; (2014) 12 SCC 473, has held that there can not be any doubt that delay in lodging of F.I.R. often results in embellishment as well as the introduction of a distorted version of what may have actually happened, but the facts of each case have to be examined to find out whether the delay in lodging the FIR is fatal for the prosecution case.

(21) The appellant No.1, Chhidu and the appellant No.3, Sukhdei, who have died, were husband and wife. The appellant No.3 was the second wife of the appellant No.1. The first wife of the appellant No.1 had died and the appellant No.1 had one son from the first wife. As per prosecution witnesses, the said son was living separately as he and the appellant No.3 were not on good terms. The appellant Nos.1 and 3 had five children. It is consistent case of the prosecution witnesses of fact that the appellant No.3, Sukhdei had illicit relations with the deceased, Ram Gopal, on account of which, about a week prior to the date of incident, the appellant No.1, Chhidu had beaten also to the appellant No.3. It has also been stated by the prosecution witnesses that the appellant No.3 had extra marital relations with many persons in the village but the most affinity was with the deceased, Ram Gopal. The motive behind the murder is the said extra-marital relationship.

(22) In regard to the illicit relations of the deceased with the appellant No.3 i.e. the wife of the appellant No.1, the P.W.-2, Hajju, P.W.-4, Ram Shankar, P.W.-5, Maiku and P.W.-6 Bachan have joined the P.W.-1, complainant in their evidence and have specifically stated that wife of the appellant No.1 i.e. the appellant No.3 was characterless and she had relations with many persons in the village, but the most affinity was with the deceased, Ram Gopal. Thus, the illicit relations of appellant No.3 with the deceased alongwith others have been proved, which can be the motive behind the murder of deceased. The learned Trial Court has recorded a finding that illicit relations of Sukhdei with the deceased was motive for her husband, Chhidu and his brother Rohan and Kallu, Raghubar and Daya Ram collided in crime not only on account of friendship with Chhidu but because of their love for Sukhdei, but she had special affinity with the deceased and Sukhdei must have been forced for calling the deceased and join them. This Court does not find any illegality or perversity in the said finding recorded by the learned Trial Court. However, motive loses its significance if the prosecution case is otherwise proved, therefore, it may not be of much significance. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Subhash Aggarwal Vs. State of NCT of Delhi; (2025) 8 SCC 440, has held that when the circumstances are very convincing and provide an unbroken chain leading only to the conclusion of guilt of the accused and not to any other hypothesis, the total absence of a motive will be of no consequence. The relevant paragraph 33 is extracted below:-

"33. The declaration in the cited decisions and the decisions relied on therein, is to the effect that if the case is built solely upon circumstantial evidence, absence of motive will be a factor that weighs in favour of the accused. Just as a strong motive does not by itself result in a conviction, the absence of motive on that sole ground cannot result in an acquittal. When the eyewitnesses are not convincing, a strong motive cannot by itself result in conviction, likewise when the circumstances are very convincing and provide an unbroken chain leading only to the conclusion of guilt of the accused and not to any other hypothesis; the total absence of a motive will be of no consequence."

(23) The P.W.-9, S.I. Radhey Shyam has stated that check F.I.R. was written by Liyakat Ali, Head Moharrir and he recognizes his writing and signatures. He further stated that the corresponding entry was made in the G.D. No.17 on the same date i.e. 17.08.1984 at 12:30 in the day by the said Liyakat Ali and the investigation of the same was entrusted to him. He further stated that after copying the check F.I.R. and entry of the G.D. in the Case Diary, he proceeded to the place of incident by cycle alongwith the force and upon reaching there, he, after lighting the lantern, recorded the statements of Constable Umesh Chandra Yadav and, thereafter, the statements of complainant, uncle of the complainant Ram Prasad, mother of the complainant Kaushalya, witnesses in the F.I.R., namely, Hajju, Ram Khelawan and Ram Kumar and inspected the spot as pointed out by the complainant and prepared the site plan (Ex. Ka-8). He further stated that he made enquiries from the villagers. The evidence of the Investigating Officer indicates that on the information received by him from an informant, he went to the house of Dayaram, found him and caught at 12:30 in the night on 18.08.1984 and on his pointing out alongwith the witnesses, he reached on the house of Chhidu and knocked the door of Chhidu and called Chhidu. Upon seeing the police, Chhidu ran away by jumping from the back wall. Then Dayaram opened the door and took them to the small room on the east side and pointed out the place, where the dead body of the Ram Gopal was hidden and hay was also put on it. In the presence of witnesses, Janki Prasad, Lallan, Mannalal and Jai Narayan, the hay was kept aside, a bad odour was coming and upon digging, a blanket (kathri) and gunny bag (tat bora) was found, where the dead body of Ram Gopal was buried. They had gas light and torch at that time and there was blood on the gunny bag and blanket. The dead body was taken out from the ditch, which was recognized by the witnesses as the dead body of Ram Gopal. The ditch was 5 feet long, 5 feet deep and 3 feet wide. It was in the residential house of Chhidu. The Investigating Officer also proved recovery memo, inquest report, challan lash, sample of seal, photo lash and letter to C.M.O. He also stated that the dead body was handed over to constable Bachu Lal at 09:30 in the morning for taking it to the Sitapur for post-mortem.

(24) The P.W.-3, Manna Lal has stated that the constable had come to call him at 12:30 in the night about 3 years back and when he reached on the door of Pradhan, he found Janki Prasad, Jai Narayan, Lallan, the accused Daya Ram and the Inspector of Police Station. He further stated that in their presence, Daya Ram admitted his guilt and stated that he can tell the place of dead body of Ram Gopal. Then the constable, Inspector and they proceeded and upon reaching the house of Chhidu, the door was found closed and when it was knocked, Chhidu ran away after jumping from the southern wall. He further stated that there was some space between the doors, from which, Daya Ram opened the door and upon reaching inside found that there was latch (कुंजी) on the door of small room on the western side of the courtyard, which was opened by Daya Ram. He further stated that after entering into the small room, Daya Ram kept aside the hay and started digging the mud, then the dead body of Ram Gopal was found in the ditch. He further stated that upon digging, the gunny bag and the blanket was found and, thereafter, the dead body was found under the same. He further stated that the Inspector had prepared the documents, which were signed and on the same, he put his thumb impression. He recognized his thumb impression on Ex. Ka-2. He further stated that the gunny bag and the blanket were also sealed and he also recognized his thumb impression on the recovery memo of the same, which is Ex. Ka-3. He also stated that the inquest report was prepared in the morning, thereafter, he had put his thumb impression on the same and recognized it, which is Ex. Ka-4. He also stated that when the dead body was found, Daya Ram was in custody. Thus, the recovery of dead body of the deceased Ram Gopal from the house of the appellant No.1 Chhidu is proved.

(25) The post-mortem of the dead body was conducted by Dr. S.K. Srivastava, who was posted as Medical Officer, E.S.I., Sitapur, on 19.08.1984. He appeared as P.W.-8. He deposed that post-mortem was conducted at 04:00 in the evening. He further stated that the dead body was brought by Constable 140 Bachu Lal of Police Station Sandana and he recognized the dead body. He further stated that the deceased had died about 5 days back. He proved the injuries in the post-mortem, which have been reproduced above. He also stated that the cause of death was shock and excess bleeding. He proved the post-mortem report as Ex. Ka-5. He also stated that the death could have been after 06:00 in the evening on 14.08.1984. In the cross-examination, nothing could be extracted which may create even a doubt on his testimony. He himself stated that brain liquefies in 5 days and it also depends on the place where the dead body was kept. No further cross-examination has been made from him.

(26) In view of above, the date and time of the death of the deceased is after six in the evening on 14.08.1984, which stands proved and the recovery of dead body was made from the house of accused-appellant No.1, who is dead now, which has been proved by the aforesaid prosecution witnesses and it is also apparent from the inquest report, which has been prepared on 18.08.1984 at 09:30 AM. It is also recorded in the inquest report that the dead body was recovered on the pointing out of the accused Daya Ram, who had admitted his guilt and also stated that the deceased was killed by cutting his neck with a knife and it was kept in the ditch. No cross-examination has been made in this regard from any of the witness. Thus, the injuries to the deceased also stand proved.

(27) Now, the question to be considered is in regard to the complicity of the accused-appellants and as to whether they were involved and what are the circumstances, on account of which, the appellants can only be said to have killed the deceased Ram Gopal and concealed the dead body of the deceased as there is no eye witness and it is a case of circumstantial evidence. The P.W.-1, complainant has stated that the house of Chhidu is about 150-200 steps away on the south of his house, where accused Chhidu (appellant No.1, now dead), accused Sukhdei (appellant No.3 and wife of appellant No.1, now dead) and their five children are residing and none else is residing. He further stated that Deo has two sons, namely, Chhidu and Rohan and both are accused. He further stated that the accused, Raghubar and Daya Ram are friends of Chhidu and Rohan and the accused, Sukhdei is the second wife of the accused, Chhidu. He further stated that first wife of Chhidu has died. Chhidu had one son from his first wife, whose name is Ram Pal, who lives separately in the old house of Chhidu. Rohan resides in half portion of that house. He further stated that wife of Chhidu and son from the first wife i.e. Ram Pal were not at good terms, therefore, about 2 □ 3 years back, Chhidu, his second wife and children from her started residing separately in new house. He further stated that wife of Chhidu, namely, Sukhdei was characterless, therefore, she was on bad terms with Ram Pal. He further stated that his brother Ram Gopal had illicit relations with Sukhdei wife of Chhidu and it was known to the whole village. He also stated that Sukhdei had relations with many persons in the village and it was known to Chhidu also and Chhidu had beaten also his wife, Sukhdei about a week prior to the date of incident. He further stated that on 18.08.1984, the wife of Chhidu had come to his house in the evening and took his brother, Ram Gopal towards her house and at that time, he, his uncle Ram Prasad and his mother were at home and when the Ram Gopal did not return on that night then he searched for him in the village and another villages in his relations but his brother was not found. However, when he came back to his village in the morning on 17.08.1984, Hajju, Ram Kumar and Ram Bilas met and informed that they had seen his brother, Ram Gopal going with the wife of Chhidu inside her house on 14.08.1984, then he suspected that Chhidu, Rohan and Sukhdei had murdered his brother and, accordingly, he lodged the F.I.R. He also deposed that the dead body of his brother was recovered from the house of Chhidu on 18.08.1984. In the cross-examination, he stated that on 14.08.1984, he had gone to the house of Chhidu alone, where Chhidu and his wife, who were sitting on the door, met and when he asked about Ram Gopal, they informed that he had gone from there, thereafter, he searched for him at the places, wherever his brother used to sit.

(28) P.W.-2, Hajju has stated that Chhidu resides for the last 15-16 years on the south of house of Kailash and the name of wife of Chhidu is Kaushalya. Seeing the accused standing in the Court, he stated that this is Kaushalya. He further stated that this lady had illicit relations with Ram Gopal and she had relations with others also in the village but she had more affinity with Ram Gopal. He further stated that prior to 7-8 days of murder, Chhidu had beaten this lady and it was known in the village that wife of Chhidu is characterless and the relations of this lady with Ram Gopal were known to whole village. He further stated that about three years and two months ago, while he was coming back from his field at about 6:00-6:30 in the evening, Ram Kumar and Ram Bilas were with him and he saw that the wife of Chhidu and Ram Gopal were going inside the house of Chhidu and, thereafter, he went to his house. He further stated that on the third day, Vinay Kumar had met and then he informed it to him. In the cross-examination, nothing was asked in this regard except a suggestion, in response to which, he stated that it is wrong to say that he had not seen the Ram Gopal coming with Chhidu with his wife to his house. However, he also stated that while he was coming from his field to his house and passing through the house of Chhidu, Ram Bilas and Ram Kumar met him in the east of the village but he does not know as to from where they were coming. He also denied that it was 7:00 in the evening.

(29) Ram Shankar, the P.W.-4 has stated that about 3 years and 3 months back, he had gone towards the house of Chhidu and it was about 05:00 - 05:30 in the evening, at that time he saw Chhidu, Daya Ram, Raghubar, Kallu and Rohan, who all were going inside the house of Chhidu and he was astonished to see it. He also stated that wife of Chhidu is of loose character. Her name is Sukhdei. She had relations with many people in the village. He further stated that the deceased, Ram Gopal had special relations with her. In the cross-examination, he stated that he had come to know from the villagers that wife of Chhidu is characterless and besides it, Ram Gopal, Daya Ram, Kallu and Raghubar used to go to the house of Chhidu. He had also come to know it from Raj Kumar Shukla and Hajju etc., who are the neighbours. He had also seen the wife of Chhidu and Ram Gopal talking with each other in a hidden manner. He also stated in the cross-examination that he knows Ram Pal, who is aged about 27-28 years and he is son of first wife of Chhidu and resides in the old house of Chhidu and Chhidu resides in his new house. He denied the suggestion that the same is not the house of Chhidu, rather his courtyard. He also stated that he is son of witness, Manna Lal, Ram Bilas is his cousin uncle and Swami Dayal is the son of Ram Bilas and his cousin brother. However, he denied any information regarding any case under Section 107 and 117, in which the parties had compromised. He reiterated that his house is on the north-west of the house of Chhidu at about 10 steps and there are three houses between their houses. He also stated that he had seen the accused persons at about 05:30 in the evening, when he was going towards his field and in return he had not passed through the house of Chhidu.

(30) The P.W.-5, Maiku has stated that it was about 3 years and three months back, he was returning after cutting grass and it was about 6:00 □ 06:30 in the evening, when he reached near the house of Chhidu, who is present in Court, he heard murmuring from the house of Chhidu and his main door was closed from inside. He further stated that he knocked on the door and asked what is the matter, then Chhidu told that children are playing and there is no matter. He also stated that wife of Chhidu, who is present in Court, is characterless and she had special relations with Ram Gopal and many others. In the cross-examination, he stated that since he brought the second lady i.e. the accused Sukhdei, therefore, Chhidu and Ram Pal live separately from 12 □ 13 years. He further stated about murmuring that he had told this in his house about it and it was not told to anybody else, however, it was told to the Inspector also. He further stated that he had seen the Ram Gopal talking with this lady and whenever Chhidu was not at home, Ram Gopal used to go to his house. In further cross-examination, he also stated that in north-eastern corner of house of Chhidu, there is house of Ram Gopal and there is no other house between their houses.

(31) P.W.-6, Bachan has stated that about 3 years and 2 □ 3 months back, when he reached near the house of Chhidu at about 07:30 in the evening when the darkness had started, he saw that Daya Ram, Kallu, Raghubar and Rohan coming out hurriedly, whereas Chhidu went inside and closed the door. He further stated that he asked from these persons as to what is the matter, in response thereof they told that there was nothing and then all the four persons went away and the P.W.-6 went to his house. He also confirmed that the wife of Chhidu had special relations with Ram Gopal alongwith others. In the cross-examination, he stated that he was coming back at 07:30 in the evening on the said date after seeing his field, which is at a distance of about half furlong from his house. He also told that his house is after about 5 □ 6 houses on the south west of the house of Ram Gopal. He further stated that on the next morning, he went to Kulai Purwa and on third day, he came back.

(32) P.W.-7, Raja Ram has stated that about 3 years back, he had gone to drop a letter in the post-box, which is at the door of Ram Kishore at about 04:30 in the evening, when Ram Kishore was sitting at his door and in the meantime, Chhidu, Rohan, Raghubar and Dayaram came and stated to Ram Kishore that the matter is fit and why they are doing late and, thereafter, all the five persons went from there and he also went. In the cross-examination, he stated that he had written a letter to his maternal uncle in response to a letter received from him about 02 days back. He also disclosed that a letter-box is on the west side of door of Ram Kishore.

(33) In view of above, all the aforesaid witnesses had seen the accused persons in the evening of 14.08.1984 either going inside the house of Chhidu or going out of the house of Chhidu and the P.W.-7 had also seen the five accused persons, namely, Chhidu, Rohan, Daya Ram, Ram Kishore and Raghubar together in front of the house of Ram Kishore and thereafter going from there on the information of Chhidu, Rohan, Raghubar and Dayaram that the matter is fit.

(34) The dead body was found on the pointing out of the appellant No.4, Daya Ram, buried in the house of Chhidu and as per Doctor, the death could have occurred after six in the evening on 14.08.1984 and as per inquest report, the deceased was killed by cutting throat with a knife and injuries show cut underneath trachea oesophagus as well as both carotid vessels and muscles were cut and cut head of right humerus bone on the tip of right shoulder, which have been proved by the doctor and nothing could be extracted from him, which may create any doubt about veracity of his testimony and testimony of other witnesses.

(35) The Investigating Officer has proved various steps of investigation made by him and if there is any negligence on the part of the Investigating Officer, it can not be said that the same goes to the root of the matter and is fatal for the prosecution case.

(36) In the statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., the accused persons have stated about enmity but it is settled law that enmity is double edged weapon, which may be a reason for false implication and/or motive. However, the defence could not adduce any evidence to show that there was any such enmity, on account of which, they could have been falsely implicated, therefore, if there was any enmity, it may be only the motive for the crime. The enmity suggested with the witnesses could not be proved. However, the enmity, on account of illicit relations between the appellant No.3 (now dead) wife of appellant No.1 (now dead) with the deceased, Ram Gopal, is apparent from the evidence and material on record, which was the motive, and nothing could also be extracted from the prosecution witnesses, on account of which, it may be said that the evidence of prosecution witnesses is not believable.

(37) In view of above, it is a case of circumstantial evidence coupled with the last seen and the panchsheel i.e. the five golden principles for completing the chain of circumstances to record the guilt of accused, as held by the Hon^{ble} Supreme Court in the case of Sharad Birdhichand Sarda Vs. State of Maharashtra; AIR 1984 SC 1622, are to be considered and seen as to whether the chain of circumstances are complete in a manner, which refers to guilt of the appellants only and there is no hypothesis of their innocence. The 5 golden principles are as under:-

"(1) The circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established. The circumstances concerned must or should and not may be established;

(2) The facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty;

(3) The circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency;

(4) They should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved; and

(5) There must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the-innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

(38) The following are the circumstances, which completes the chain of circumstances and refers to the guilt of the appellants:-

(i) The appellant No.3, Sukhdei had illicit relations with the deceased, on account of which, her husband Chhidu; the appellant No.1 had beaten her about a week ago from the date of incident.

(ii) The evidence of P.W.-7, Raja Ram, who had heard the conversation of accused persons near the letter-box, which was at the door of the accused, Raj Kishore, according to which, the matter is fit and upon hearing it, Ram Kishore also went with the accused persons.

(iii) The evidence of P.W.-4, Ram Shankar, who had seen accused persons going inside the house of Chhidu on the date of incident at 05:00 □ 05:30 in the evening.

(iv) The evidence of P.W.-1, complainant Vinay Kumar, who proved that the appellant No.3, Sukhdei wife of the appellant No.1, Chhidu had called the deceased, Ram Gopal from his house and took him with her at about 06:00 in the evening on 14.08.1984 towards her house and P.W.-2, Hajju has deposed that he had seen Ram Gopal going inside the house of Chhidu with his wife. Hajju has also stated that he met Ram Bilas and Ram Kumar at about 06:00 □ 06:30 in the evening, when he saw the wife of Chhidu i.e. Sukhdei and the deceased, Ram Gopal, going inside the house of Sukhdei.

(v) P.W.-5, Maiku has proved that on the date of incident, he heard murmuring from the house of Chhidu at about 06:00 06:30 in the evening, while he was going back after cutting grass and coming towards his house and upon his asking as to what is the matter, Chhidu had told that the children are playing.

(vi) P.W.-6, Bachan, whose house is about 5 6 house away from the house of Chhidu, has proved that when he was going back after seeing his field at about 07:00 in the evening, he saw the accused persons coming out of the house of Chhidu hurriedly.

(vii) The complainant (P.W.-1) i.e. the brother of the deceased, Ram Gopal searched his brother, when he did not return after he went with Sukhdei towards her house, when she had come to call him on 14.08.1984, in the village and in other villages in his relationship and on 17.08.1984 in the morning, when he came back to his village Hajju, Ram Kumar and Ram Bilas met him and informed that he had seen Ram Gopal going inside the house of Chhidu with his wife, Sukhdei.

(viii) The recovery of the dead body of the deceased, which was buried in a small room of Chhidu and recovery on the pointing out of the accused Daya Ram and recovery has been proved by the P.W.-9, S.I. Radhey Shyam and P.W.-3, Manna Lal and Chhidu ran away jumping wall when they reached to his house for recovery. The recovery from the house of Chhidu has not been disputed by the defence but only plea has been taken that it was brought from some other place and has been shown to have been recovered from the house of Chhidu. However, no such evidence has been adduced and no enmity could be proved, on account of which, they may have been falsely implicated.

(ix) The house, from where the dead body was recovered, was the house where Chhidu alongwith his wife Sukhdei and five minor children were residing because Ram Pal S/o of first wife of Chhidu was residing separately after the second marriage of the Chhidu as Ram Pal S/o first wife of Chhidu was residing in old house, on account of loose character of the second wife of Chhidu, which has been proved by the prosecution witnesses. The house, from where the dead body was recovered, has been proved by the Investigating Officer, who also found the elder son of Chhidu aged about 10-11 years, utensils and chapatis in the said house and grains, rice, clothes and blankets were also kept in the small room. However, a doubt has been tried to raise that it was not the residential house of Chhidu, rather it was courtyard (हत्त), but no evidence in this regard has been adduced by the defence. Consequently, the evidence adduced by the prosecution is sufficient to come to the conclusion that it was the house, where Chhidu alongwith his wife Sukhdei and children from her was residing after his second marriage and his son, Ram Pal from the first wife was residing separately.

(39) The aforesaid circumstances also leads us to consider the conduct of the appellants, particularly the appellant No.1, Chhidu, who, on account of illicit relations of his wife Sukhdei, the appellant No.3 involved with him not only other accused but his wife also for committing the murder and thereafter concealed the dead body to disappear the evidence of murder, which is relevant under Section 8 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, which alongwith illustrations (f) and (i), relevant in the case in hand are extracted herein below:-

"8. Motive, preparation and previous or subsequent conduct.- Any fact is relevant which shows or constitutes a motive or preparation for any fact in issue or relevant fact. The conduct of any party, or of any agent to any party, to any suit or proceeding, in reference to such suit or proceeding, or in reference to any fact in issue or relevant thereto, and the conduct of any person an offence against whom is the subject of any proceeding is relevant, if such conduct influences or is influenced by any fact in issue or relevant fact, and whether it was previous or subsequent thereto.

Illustration (f) The question is, whether A robbed B.

The facts that, after B was robbed, C said in A's presence - "the police are coming to look for the man who robbed B", and that immediately afterwards A ran away, are relevant.

Illustration (i) A is accused of a crime.

The facts that, after commission of the alleged crime, he absconded, or was in possession of property or the proceeds of property acquired by the crime, or attempted to conceal things which were or might have been used in committing it, are relevant."

(40) In view of above, the conduct of an accused, previous or subsequent to the committing of crime is also relevant for considering his complicity because it is commonly seen that the conduct of an accused speaks of itself, as is a maxim in Hindi "चोर की दाढ़ी में तिनका होता है". Before advertng to the relevant conduct of the appellants, particularly of appellant No.1, who is main author of crime, we would like to refer the consideration of Section 8 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 and it's effect by the Hon'ble Supreme Court.

(41) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of State (NCT of Delhi) Vs. Navjo Sandhu @ Afsan Guru; (2005) 11 SCC 600, has held that the conduct, in order to be admissible, must be such that it has close nexus with a fact in issue or relevant fact. The relevant paragraphs 205 and 206 are extracted below:-

"205. Before proceeding further, we may advert to Section 8 of the Evidence Act. Section 8 insofar as it is relevant for our purpose makes the conduct of an accused person relevant, if such conduct influences or is influenced by any fact in issue or relevant fact. It could be either a previous or subsequent conduct. There are two Explanations to the section, which explain the ambit of the word conduct. They are:

Explanation 1. The word conduct in this section does not include statements, unless those statements accompany and explain acts other than statements, but this explanation is not to affect the relevancy of statements under any other section of this Act.

Explanation 2. When the conduct of any person is relevant, any statement made to him or in his presence and hearing, which affects such conduct, is relevant.

The conduct, in order to be admissible, must be such that it has close nexus with a fact in issue or relevant fact.

Explanation 1 makes it clear that the mere statements as distinguished from acts do not constitute conduct unless those statements 'accompany and explain acts other than statements'. Such statements accompanying the acts are considered to be evidence of res gestae. Two illustrations appended to Section 8 deserve special mention:

(f) The question is, whether A robbed B.

The facts that, after B was robbed, C said in A's presence the police are coming to look for the man who robbed B, and that immediately afterwards A ran away, are relevant.

(i) A is accused of a crime.

The facts that, after the commission of the alleged crime, he absconded, or was in possession of property or the proceeds of property acquired by the crime, or attempted to conceal things which were or might have been used in committing it, are relevant.

206. We have already noticed the distinction highlighted in Prakash Chand case [(1979) 3 SCC 90 : 1979 SCC (Cri) 656 : AIR 1979 SC 400] between the conduct of an accused which is admissible under Section 8 and the statement made to a police officer in the course of an investigation which is hit by Section 162 CrPC. The evidence of the circumstance, simpliciter, that the accused pointed out to the police officer, the place where stolen articles or weapons used in the commission of the offence were hidden, would be admissible as 'conduct' under Section 8 irrespective of the fact whether the statement made by the accused contemporaneously with or antecedent to such conduct, falls within the purview of Section 27, as pointed out in Prakash Chand case [(1979) 3 SCC 90 : 1979 SCC (Cri) 656 : AIR 1979 SC 400] . In Om Prakash case [H.P. Admn. v. Om Prakash, (1972) 1 SCC 249 : 1972 SCC (Cri) 88 : AIR 1972 SC 975] this Court held that: (SCC p. 262, para 14)

[E]ven apart from the admissibility of the information under Section 27, the evidence of the investigating officer and the panchas that the accused had taken them to PW 11 (from whom he purchased the weapon) and pointed him out and as corroborated by PW 11 himself would be admissible under Section 8 of the Evidence Act as conduct of the accused.

(42) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of V. Prabhakara Vs. Basavaraj K. (Dead) by legal representatives and another; (2022) 1 SCC 115, has held that conduct of a party would be construed as a fact under Section 8 and such a conduct may either be a previous or subsequent one. It is the product of a motive or a preparation. The relevant portion of para 14 is extracted here-in-below:-

"14. Section 3 of the Evidence Act defines 'a fact'. Conduct of a party would be construed as a fact under Section 8. Such a conduct may either be a previous or subsequent one. It is the product of a motive or a preparation. When evidence is given on the conduct of a party and if it is proved to the satisfaction of the court particularly when it involves an admission, adequate weightage is required to be given. Such a conduct would include a silence emanating from a party who is expected to speak and express....."

(43) Adverting to the facts of the case in hand, the conduct of accused/appellants as discussed above and particularly of the appellant No.1. Chhidu, who had beaten his wife about a week ago of incident on account of her illicit relations with the deceased, telling the complainant that his brother has gone from house on the date of incident after his wife had taken away the deceased towards her house, which shows that he had gone to his house with his wife, upon hearing murmuring when P.W.-5 asked as to what is the matter, he told that children are playing and the most important when P.W.-9 and P.W.-3 reached at his house with the accused-appellant Daya Ram for recovery of dead body on his pointing out, he ran away jumping the wall of his house, are relevant and also shows their complicity in the murder.

(44) In view of above, this Court is of the view that the chain of circumstances is complete in the manner, which refers only towards the guilt of the appellants and the aforesaid conduct of the appellants is also in aid of those circumstances and no hypothesis of innocence of the appellants coupled with the fact that no evidence and material could be placed on record, on account of which, any inference contrary to the aforesaid could be drawn by this Court.

(45) In view of above, once it has been proved that the appellants had assembled in the house of Chhidu and thereafter the dead body of the deceased, Ram Gopal was found buried in a small room of the house of the appellant No.1, Chhidu and the appellant No.3, Sukhdei as well as brother of the appellant No.1, Rohan and that the appellant No.1, Chhidu ran away jumping the wall of his house when the police reached at his house alongwith appellant No.3, Daya Ram to recover the dead body, the appellants were required to show/prove as to why they had assembled in house of Chhidu and as to how the dead body has been found in house of Chhidu, thereafter, buried in a small room and what had happened in the said house at that time because no other person could have the access or possession over the same, in view of Section 106 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, which provides that if any fact is especially within the knowledge of any person, the burden of proving that fact is upon him but the said appellants failed to adduce any evidence to clear the cloud on the appellants in this regard.

(46) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Shivaji Chintappa Patil Vs. State of Maharashtra; (2021) 5 SCC 626, has held that Section 106 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 does not absolve the prosecution discharging its general or primary burden of proving the prosecution case beyond reasonable doubt and it is only when the prosecution has led evidence which, if believed, will sustain a conviction, or which makes out a prima facie case, that the question arises of considering facts of which the burden of proof may lie upon the accused.

(47) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of State of Madhya Pradesh Vs. Balveer Singh; (2025) 8 SCC 545, has held that Section 106 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 will apply to cases where the prosecution has succeeded in proving facts from which a reasonable inference can be drawn regarding guilt of the accused. The relevant paragraph 97 is extracted herein below:-

"97. If an offence takes place inside the four walls of a house and in such circumstances where the accused has all the opportunity to plan and commit the offence at the time and in the circumstances of its choice, it will be extremely difficult for the prosecution to lead direct evidence to establish the guilt of the accused. It is to resolve such a situation that Section 106 of the Evidence Act exists in the statute book. In the case of Trimukh Maroti Kirkan (supra), this Court observed that a Judge does not preside over a criminal trial merely to see that no innocent man is punished. The Court proceeded to observe that a Judge also presides to see that a guilty man does not escape. Both are public duties. The law does not enjoin a duty on the prosecution to lead evidence of such character, which is almost impossible to be led, or at any rate, extremely difficult to be led. The duty on the prosecution is to lead such evidence, which it is capable of leading, having regard to the facts and circumstances of the case."

(48) The learned Trial Court has also considered the evidence and material on record under the aforesaid circumstances and has recorded a finding that it is a case of circumstantial evidence, in which the motive and the opportunity of murder was with the accused persons and, consequently, the chain of circumstances has been proved, even after considering the possibilities of innocence referred by the accused persons. The learned Trial Court considered the evidence and material on record and further it found that after murder of deceased Ram Gopal, which has been proved beyond reasonable doubt, the dead body of the deceased was concealed in the house of Chhidu after digging a ditch to disappear the evidence of murder, therefore, the charge under Section 302 and 201 I.P.C. have been found proved and, accordingly, the accused-appellants have been convicted.

(49) This Court, upon considering the evidence and material on record and the aforesaid findings recorded by this Court, does not find any illegality or error in the findings recorded by the learned Trial Court and nothing could be pointed out before this Court, on account of which, there may have been even a possibility of taking any other view on the evidence and material on record in favour of the accused-appellants.

(50) Thus, this Court is of the view that the impugned judgment and order has rightly been passed in accordance with law by a speaking and reasoned order after considering the evidence and material on record and there is no illegality or error in it. This appeal has been filed on misconceived and baseless grounds, which is liable to be dismissed.

(51) The appeal is, accordingly, dismissed upholding the impugned judgment and order passed by the learned Trial Court. The conviction of the appellants for the offences punishable under Sections 302 and 201 I.P.C. is upheld and the sentences awarded to them under Sections 302 and 201 I.P.C. are confirmed.

(52) Appellant no.1-Chhidu, appellant no.2-Rohan, appellant no.3-Smt. Sukhdei and appellant no.6-Raghubar have died, whereas the appellant no. 4-Daya Ram son of Chillu and the appellant no.5-Kallu alias Ram Kishore son of Shivadhar are alive and are on bail. The appellant no. 4-Daya Ram and the appellant no.5-Kallu alias Ram Kishore shall surrender within a period of two weeks from today before the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Sitapur, who shall send them to jail to serve out the sentence, failing which, the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Sitapur shall take appropriate steps in accordance with law for their arrest to serve out the sentence.

(53) Let a copy of this judgment alongwith Trial Court's Record be transmitted to the Court concerned forthwith and in any case within a period of one week from today for compliance.

1. The present appeal under Section 374(2) Cr.P.C. has been filed against the judgement and order dated 30.07.1991 passed by the IVth Additional Sessions Judge, Hardoi in Session Trial No.412 of 1990, Police Station Sandi, District Hardoi, thereby convicting and sentencing the appellants under Section 498-A IPC for three years rigorous imprisonment with a fine of Rs.5,000/- each and in default of payment of fine to further undergo additional imprisonment of one had a half year and under Section 304-B IPC for seven years rigorous imprisonment. However, all the sentences shall run concurrently.

2. Since Desh Raj, appellant no.4 and Smt. Ram Devi, appellant no.6 have died as per the office reports dated 18.04.2023 and 05.01.2021, the appeal against them is already dismissed as abated vide orders of this Court dated 07.01.2021 and 06.07.2023.

3. The prosecution case, in brief, is that on 12.08.1989 Smt. Jagdevi, wife of Subedar, submitted an application to the Superintendent of Police, Hardoi with the allegations that her daughter Bitana was married with accused Vijai Pal about two and a half years ago and during this period, she was beaten for several times in connection with dowry. She was also subjected to cruelty and harassment and she was threatened to bring she-buffalo, cycle and Masehari from her parents. It was also asked to her that if she would not bring the dowry, she would be killed. It is alleged that about seven months ago, her daughter was carried by accused Madan Pal after performing Vidai and since then her daughter Bitana remained in the house of accused Vijai Pal, and during this period she was also beaten severally in connection with the demand for dowry and was subjected to cruelty and harassment. Complainant-Smt. Jagdevi also went to the house of accused for Vidai of her daughter, but they did not perform her Vidai and she was asked that Vidai will be not performed till the dowry is not received. The complainant went to the in-laws' place of her daughter a day before Tizian in Sawan for her Vidai and accused Vijai Pal asked her that if the dowry is not brought by her within two days, Vidai will never be performed and at that time Lala Ram, Dharm Jit Singh, Hari Singh and Shiv Kumar, residents of Village Samjalpur, P.S. Sandi and so many others were present. On 08.08.1989 at 4 A.M., the complainant came to know that her daughter has died. On suspecting that a week before her daughter was quite well, then how she died, the complainant went to the Police Station Sandi and submitted an application for lodging the FIR, but the same has not been lodged. It is alleged that at the time of post-mortem, thumb impression of her husband was taken on a blank paper without giving him any information. It is further alleged that in the night of occurrence, her daughter shouted loudly, on which Lala Ram came there and saw in the light of Torch that accused Vijai Pal and Madan Pal were throttling the neck of Bitana with Lathi and wife of Chet Ram gagged her mouth and accused Jagannath, Dash Raj and Jagat Ram were caught hold her. On being challenged by Lala Ram, body of Bitana was carried in side the Kothri by the accused by pulling it. When the complainant reached to the spot, the entire story told to her by Lala Ram.

4. On this typed report (Ext.Ka.1) of the complainant, Superintendent of Police, Hardoi Passed an order (Ext.Ka-5) for registration of the case and accordingly F.I.R. (Ext.Ka.3) was written at Police Station Sandi, District Hardoi on 17.08.1989 and the case was registered vide General Diary Report No.7 at 8 A.M., carbon copy of which is Ext.Ka.4. After conducting inquest, post-mortem was done and report (Ext.Ka.6) was prepared accordingly. During inquest, Sari of the deceased was recovered, which is Ext.Ka.13. During investigation, the Investigating Officer visited the spot and prepared site plan, which Ext.Ka.14.

5. The case was investigated by the Investigating Officer and after completing the investigation, charge sheets were filed under Sections 498-A and 304-B IPC and in the alternate under Section 306 IPC against the accused-appellants (Ext.Ka.15 and Ext.Ka.16). Charges were framed in the aforesaid sections. The accused pleaded not guilty and requested for trial.

6. The prosecution to prove its case, produced the following seven witnesses:-

P.W.1 Smt. Jagdevi (complainant)

P.W.2 Hari Singh (witnesses of fact)

P.W.3 Lala Ram (witnesses of fact)

P.W.4 C. Ram Bahadur Singh (scriber of FIR)

P.W.-5 Dr. S.S. Rathore

P.W.6 Sub-Inspector S.P. Pal

P.W-7 Sri Babu Ram, Investigating Officer

7. The accused were confronted under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and they denied the charges and pleaded before the court that they were falsely implicated in the case due to enmity.

8. P.W-1 Smt. Jagdevi has stated before the court that her daughter was married with accused Vijai Pal. Accused Madan Pal and Smt. Ram Devi are the brother and mother of accused Vijai Pal, whereas accused Jagannath and Deshraj and Jagat Ram are nephew and uncles of accused Vijai Pal and all the accused are residents of Village Samjalpur, P.S Sandi, District Hardoi, which is about five miles away from her village. She has further stated that marriage of her daughter took place with accused Vijai Pal three years ago and her daughter died one year and three months ago in the house of accused Vijai Pal and she was not having any child at the time of her death. She has also stated that when her daughter came back from her Sasural, she told her that her in-laws used to beat her and did not provide food to her and used to say to bring demanded articles from her parents. She also stated that before the death of her daughter she went to the Sasural of her daughter in the month of Baisakhi for her Vidai, then they sent her daughter with her and after a month, accused Vijai Pal took her daughter after getting her Vidai from her house. After that she again went to the house of accused persons one day prior to Tijia for Vidai of her daughter, but the accused persons did not perform her Vidai and said to bring demanded articles within ten days, otherwise they would kill her and would not perform her Vidai. Thereafter, she came back to her village. She has also stated that her daughter died a day after Tijia and information regarding which was brought by Udan, resident of the same village, who informed that her daughter has died, upon which she went to the village of accused persons, where accused persons did not allow her to see the dead body of her daughter. On the same day, she went to the Police Station Sandi, but the police asked her to bring written report, on which she went to the house of her maternal uncle Babu Lal at Sandi and with the help of Ram Sanahi, brother of Babu Lal, got her report written through Munshi and was submitted at the Police Station, but the police did not take any action on that report. Thereafter, on fourth day she came to Hardoi and in Kuchehri, she narrated the incident to a Munshi, who got her report typed, which was read over to her, then she put her thumb impression on it. She proved her report as Ext.Ka.1. She also stated that she went to the residence of Superintendent of Police, Hardoi, where she handed over that report. She further stated that her husband is not sane and she used to perform all the household works. She also stated that Sub-Inspector got thumb impression of her husband on a paper. She further stated that on getting information about the death of her daughter, she went at the house of Chet Ram, where Lala Ram and Hari Singh met her, who informed her that Vijai Pal and other inmates of his house have killed her daughter by throttling her with Lathi. She also stated that police went to the house of Chet Ram and at that time, she and her husband were present there and then she became able to see her daughter. She also stated that injury on her neck was visible.

9. P.W.-2 Hari Singh has stated that accused persons are known to him. Deceased-Bitana was the wife of Vijai Pal and her marriage was performed two and a half years before her death with Vijai Pal. Bitana was the resident of Village Baj Karehka, P.S. Bilgram and was the daughter of Subedar and she died about one year ago in the house of accused Vijai Pal in Village Sajalpur and she was killed by the accused persons. He further stated that his house is one furlong away from the house of Chet Ram and his agricultural field is near the house of Chet Ram. A day before Tijia, when mother of Bitana came at the house of Vijai Pal for her Vidai, the accused persons were talking about dowry outside their house in Galiyara and at that time, he was working in his field.

Vijai Pal and others were saying that till dowry is not provided to them, they would not perform Vidai of her daughter and when Vidai of Bitana was not performed, her mother went to her house. He further stated that a day after Tijia, he came to know that Bitana has been killed. He further stated that he did not go at the house of Chet Ram and on the noise of Lala Ram, he went at the roof of his house.

10. P.W.-3 Lala Ram has stated that accused persons are known to him and they are the residents of his Village. His house is adjacent to the house of accused persons in south and his father's name is Makrand. Daughter of Subedar, resident of Village Baj Karehka, was married with Vijai Pal one and a half year before her death. Her name was Bitana and she died one year and three months ago in the house of Vijai Pal. He further stated that on the date of incident he was lying on the roof of his house and court-yard of the house of accused persons is visible from his roof and at about 11 P.M. while he was sleeping, he heard the noise of Bitana and in the light of torch, he saw accused persons beating Bitana and on flashing his torch, accused immediately carried Bitana inside the Kothri.

11. In defence, accused-Vijai Pal stated before the court that proceedings under Section 107 Cr.P.C. took place between them and witnesses. Jagannath is his uncle and his wife used to remain ill due to severe pain in chest. In spite of so much treatment, she could not become well and, therefore, she committed suicide. Accused-Jagannath also stated that he gave statement against the witness Lala Ram. Accused-Desh Raj had further stated that proceedings under Section 107 Cr.P.C. took place between him and Lala Ram and Hari Singh. Mani Ram is his brother, who gave statement against the witness Hari Singh. He had further stated that there was a case under Section 324 IPC against Lala Ram, in which his father was witness. It has been stated under Section 313 Cr.P.C. that Lala Ram and Hari Singh have become witness only for the reason that their enmity with the appellants is established on record, otherwise they had not seen the occurrence.

12. The post-mortem of the deceased has been conducted by P.W.-5 Dr. S.S. Rathore and in the post-mortem, the following injury has been found on the body of the deceased:-

Ligature mark of size 26 cm x 1.6. cm around the neck obliquely placed between larynx and Chin with a gap of 6 cm present on left side of neck below and behind left ear. Mark grooved which had lathering on dissection along with glistening subcutaneous tissue with margin congested.

13. Cause of death is asphyxia as a result of ante-mortem hanging.

14. The trial court after examining the witnesses and adducing the evidence on record, convicted the appellants as mentioned above. Hence, the present appeal has been filed.

15. Sri Ajay Kumar Singh, counsel for the appellants has submitted that as per the FIR, the incident took place on 08.08.1989 and the inquest report was prepared on 08.08.1989 itself. Father of the deceased, namely, Subedar and her uncle Nanhe Lal were present at the time of inquest. He has further submitted that even the mother of the deceased was present at the time of inquest, which fact is also admitted by her in her cross-examination. But surprisingly no FIR was ever lodged, rather an application was given to the Superintendent of Police, Hardoi on 12.09.1989 and on whose direction, the FIR was lodged on 17.08.1989 and a vague explanation has been given that the police did not lodge the report. Counsel for the appellants has further submitted that there is inordinate delay in lodging the FIR and after nine days from the date of incident, the FIR was lodged, which is an after thought and there is no plausible explanation has come forward from the side of the prosecution, therefore, the entire prosecution case is highly doubtful on this ground alone.

16. Counsel for the appellants has invited the attention of the Court towards the post-mortem report, which indicates that there is no external or internal injury found on the person of the deceased except the ligature mark. Cause of death is asphyxia due to ante-mortem hanging. He has further submitted that post-mortem report falsifies the version of the prosecution in the FIR as well as in the statement of the fact witnesses i.e. P.W.-2 Hari Singh and P.W.-3 Lala Ram. P.W.-3 Lala Ram deposed before the court that in the light of torch, he had seen that accused Vijai Pal, Madan Pal, Desh Raj and Jagannath were assaulting the deceased-Bitana by kicks and fists. P.W.-3, Lala Ram further stated that accused had throttled the neck of the deceased with Lathi, due to which she died. However, he has changed his version before the court while he was examined by the defence side. He has further submitted that since there are material contradictions in the statements of the fact witnesses i.e. P.W.-2 Hari Singh and P.W.-3 Lala Ram and on whose persuasion, the complainant moved an application to the Superintendent of Police, Hardoi for registration of the FIR against the appellants and further the injury mentioned in the post-mortem report does not corroborate with the statements of the fact witnesses, it is clear that the appellants have been falsely implicated in the case and on this ground also the appellants cannot be convicted.

17. Counsel for the appellants has further submitted that P.W.-2 Hari Singh and P.W.-3 Lala Ram are the interested witnesses and they persuaded the complainant to lodge an FIR against the appellants on assurance that they become witnesses of the case as they wanted to settle their personal score on account of enmity between the accused and these witnesses Lala Ram and Hari Singh, which is evident from their statements. Therefore, the statements of P.W.-2 Hari Singh and P.W.-3 Lala Ram, who are interested and inimical witnesses, cannot be relied upon and on that basis, the applicants cannot be convicted in view of the settled law of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in this regard. In support of his contention, counsel for the appellants has placed reliance upon the following judgments:-

1. Babu Vs. State of U.P., 2013 SCC OnLine All 13756;
2. Ramaiah alias Rama Vs. State of Karnataka, (2014) 9 SCC 365;
3. Raju alias Balachandran and others Vs. State of Tamil Nadu, (2012) 12 SCC 701;
4. Mahesh Kumar Vs. State of Haryana, (2019) 8 SCC 128; and
5. Prahlad Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2024) 14 SCC 203.

18. Sri Piyush Kumar Singh, learned AGA while rebutting the arguments of learned counsel for the appellants has submitted that seven witnesses have been examined and they have proved their case. He has further submitted that prosecution case is corroborated with medical examination, therefore, no interference is called for by this Court and the appeal is liable to be dismissed.

19. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

20. So far the argument of counsel for the appellants regarding inordinate delay in lodging the FIR is concerned, it is to be noted that as per the FIR, the incident took place on 08.08.1989 and the inquest report was prepared on 08.08.1989 itself in the presence of father and uncle of the deceased, namely, Subedar and Nanhe Lal. Even according to the cross-examination of the complainant, who is the mother of the deceased, she was also present at the time of inquest, but surprisingly no FIR was lodged immediately, rather an application was given to the Superintendent of Police, Hardoi on 12.09.1989 by the complainant and on whose direction, the FIR was lodged on 17.08.1989. Therefore, there is inordinate delay of nine days in lodging the FIR, which is an after thought and consultation with the interested witnesses and no plausible explanation has come forward from the side of the prosecution except a vague explanation that police did not lodge the report, which cast doubt on the prosecution case.

21. The law in this regard is settled by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Ramaiah alias Rama (supra) that it was necessary for the prosecution to at least come forward with the explanation as to why the complainant kept quiet and why she did not report the matter to the police immediately. No such explanation is coming forward in the present case. Moreover, in the instant case, the delay is seen as fatal when examined in juxtaposition with other material that has come on record and discussed above, which shakes the veracity of the prosecution case, bringing it within the four corners of doubtful prosecution story. In paragraph-25 of the aforesaid judgement, it has been held as under:-

We may hasten to add here that many times in such type of cases, there can be reasons for keeping quiet at the given time and not reporting the matter immediately. Therefore, we are conscious of the legal position that delay per se may not render prosecution case doubtful as there may be various reasons for lodging the FIR with some delay (see Sahebrao v. State of Maharashtra [(2006) 9 SCC 794 : (2006) 3 SCC (Cri) 408]). Thus, there is no hard-and-fast rule that any delay in lodging the FIR would automatically render the prosecution case doubtful. However, what is emphasised is that if that was so, it was necessary for the prosecution to at least come forward with the explanation as to why the complainant kept quiet and why he did not report the matter to the police immediately. No such explanation is coming forward in the present case. Moreover, in the instant case, the delay is seen as fatal when examined in juxtaposition with other material that has come on record and discussed above, which shakes the veracity of the prosecution case, bringing it within the four corners of doubtful prosecution story.

22. In the case of Babu (supra), this Court has observed that the incident of the said case took place on 04.04.1989 while the FIR of the case was lodged on 13.04.1989. The application to the Senior Superintendent of Police was moved by the complainant on 12.04.1989 and the FIR was lodged after nine days. The delay in lodging the FIR can be one of the factors, which carries the credibility of the prosecution. In paragraphs 28 and 29 of the aforesaid judgment, it has been held as under:-

28. In the instant case the occurrence is alleged to have taken place on 4.4.1989 while the FIR of this case was lodged on 13.4.1989. The application to the SSP was moved by the complainant on 12.4.1989, therefore, the FTR was lodged after a delay of 9 days, while admittedly the occurrence had come to the notice of the complainant and other family members of the deceased on the date of occurrence and they had visited the place of occurrence, participated in the inquest proceedings and also went up to the Hospital and thereafter handed over the dead body to the appellants. In this case there is a considerable delay in lodging the FIR. Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Jitendra Kumar v. State of Haryana, (2012) 6 SCC 204 : (AIR 2012 SC 2488) has considered the effect of delay in FIR on the prosecution case and has held that "it is a settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that mere delay in lodging the FIR may not prove fatal in all cases but in the giving circumstance of the case, delay in lodging the FIR can be one of the factors which carried the credibility of the prosecution version. The delay in lodging the FIR cannot be a ground by itself for throwing away the entire prosecution case. The Court has to seek an explanation over the delay and check the truthfulness of the version to be forwarded. If the Court is satisfied with the explanation then the case of the prosecution cannot fail on this ground alone.

29. It is true that if it is so found that the FIR has been lodged after a considerable delay and no satisfactory explanation is coming forward then an inference would rightly follow that the prosecution story may involve some facts after consultation, on the contrary if it is found that there is no delay in recording the FIR the prosecution story stands immeasurably strengthened.

23. So far the argument of counsel for the appellants that there are material contradictions in the statements of the fact witnesses is concerned, it is to be noted that in the FIR, the complainant has stated that in the night when the incident took place, her daughter was shouting loudly, on which P.W.-3 Lala Ram had seen the incident in the light of torch that accused Vijai Pal and Madan Pal were throttling the neck of the deceased with Lathi and wife of Chet Ram had gagged her mouth. Jagannath and Desh Raj were dragging the body of the deceased inside the Kothri. However, during cross-examination, they have changed their version particularly P.W.-3 Lala Ram, who said the aforesaid fact, denied the version that he never gave such statement to the police that accused throttled the neck of the deceased with Lathi. The witnesses of fact i.e. P.W.-2, Hari Singh and P.W.-3 Lala Ram have changed their version during cross-examination only for the reason that post-mortem report does not indicate any external or internal injury on the person of the deceased, rather she died due to asphyxia as a result of ante-mortem hanging. The deceased might have committed suicide for the reason that she was suffering from severe illness. Therefore, the entire prosecution case, which is based on the statements of P.W.-2 Hari Singh and P.W.-3 Lala Ram, has been shattered because of material contradictions in their statements, who have set up a case at one point of time and change the same at a later point of time just to improve the prosecution case. It is settled law time and again that if there are material contradictions in the statements of the witnesses of fact, which is the basis of the prosecution case, then there is bleak chance of conviction of the accused on that basis.

24. One important fact to be noted here is that injury mentioned in the post-mortem report does not corroborate with the statements of the witnesses of fact as they have stated that appellants have beaten the deceased with fists and kicks and thereafter they throttled her neck with Lathi and dragged her body in the Kothri. However, in the post-mortem report, no external or internal injury was found on the body of the deceased except the ligature mark, which itself falsifies the prosecution case. The law in this regard is settled that if the medical evidence on record does not corroborate with the statements of the fact witnesses, the conviction of the appellants on that basis cannot be permissible in law.

25. So far the argument of counsel for the appellants that since P.W.-2 Hari Singh and P.W.-3 Lala Ram are the interested and inimical witnesses, their statements cannot be relied upon and on that basis, the appellants cannot be convicted, is concerned, it is to be noted that P.W.-1 Jagdevi admitted in her cross-examination that P.W.-2 Hari Singh and P.W.-3 Lala Ram told that her daughter was throttled by the accused with Lathi, due to which she died and on their statement, she had given information to the police. Thus, it is clear that the entire prosecution case has been set up by the complainant at the behest of these two witnesses. Lala Ram and Hari Singh are interested witnesses and the enmity between the parties is established on record. More over, P.W.-2 Hari Singh in his cross-examination has admitted that Ram Kishun is belonging to his village and one criminal case under Section 107/117 Cr.P.C. is pending between him and the accused along with Ram Kishun and he was arrested in the said case. An arm was also recovered from his possession and a false case was lodged against him. Similarly, P.W.-3 Lala Ram has also deposed before the court that Shiv Kumar is his cousin brother. Ram Kishun had lodged a case under Section 324 IPC and in the said case, accused Jagannath was witness. P.W.-1 Jagdevi has specifically admitted in her cross-examination that P.W.-2 Hari Singh and P.W.-3 Lala Ram persuaded her to lodge the FIR on assurance that they would become witnesses of the case as they wanted to settle their personal score with the appellants because of enmity between them. Both independent witnesses Hari Singh and Lala Ram are interested witnesses and their enmity with the appellants is established on record particularly they themselves have deposed before the court that enmity with the accused was going on. Thus, testimony of P.W.-2 Hari Singh and P.W.-3 Lala Ram cannot be relied upon and taken into consideration while convicting the appellants.

26. In the case of Raju alias Balachandran (supra), Hon'ble Supreme Court has considered the issue of interested and inimical witnesses and has observed that PW-5 Srinivasan is not only a related and interested witness, but also someone who has an enmity with the appellants. His evidence, therefore, needs to be scrutinised with great care and caution. In paragraphs 24, 25 and 26 of the aforesaid judgment, it has been held as under:-

24. For the time being, we are concerned with four categories of witnesses: a third party disinterested and unrelated witness (such as a bystander or passer-by); a third party interested witness (such as a trap witness); a related and therefore an interested witness (such as the wife of the victim) having an interest in seeing that the accused is punished; a related and therefore an interested witness (such as the wife or brother of the victim) having an interest in seeing the accused punished and also having some enmity with the accused. But, more than the categorisation of a witness, the issue really is one of appreciation of the evidence of a witness. A court should examine the evidence of a related and interested witness having an interest in seeing the accused punished and also having some enmity with the accused with greater care and caution than the evidence of a third party disinterested and unrelated witness. This is all that is expected and required.

25. In the present case, PW 5 Srinivasan is not only a related and interested witness, but also someone who has an enmity with the appellants. His evidence, therefore, needs to be scrutinised with great care and caution.

26. In Dalip Singh v. State of Punjab [(1953) 2 SCC 36: AIR 1953 SC 364 : 1953 Cri LJ 1465 : 1954 SCR 145] this Court observed, without any generalisation, that a related witness would ordinarily speak the truth, but in the case of an enmity there may be a tendency to drag in an innocent person as an accused?each case has to be considered on its own facts. This is what this Court had to say: (AIR p. 366, para 26)

26. A witness is normally to be considered independent unless he or she springs from sources which are likely to be tainted and that usually means unless the witness has cause, such as enmity against the accused, to wish to implicate him falsely. Ordinarily, a close relation would be the last to screen the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person. It is true, when feelings run high and there is personal cause for enmity, that there is a tendency to drag in an innocent person against whom a witness has a grudge along with the guilty, but foundation must be laid for such a criticism and the mere fact of relationship far from being a foundation is often a sure guarantee of truth. However, we are not attempting any sweeping generalisation. Each case must be judged on its own facts. Our observations are only made to combat what is so often put forward in cases before us as a general rule of prudence. There is no such general rule. Each case must be limited to and be governed by its own facts.

27. In the case of Prahlad (supra), Hon'ble Supreme Court has considered the question of veracity and credibility of the statements of the interested and inimical witnesses. In paragraph 42 of the aforesaid judgment, it has been held as under:-

42. It is also equally well settled that previous enmity is a double-edged sword. Though, it can provide a motive for the crime, it can also be a ground for false implication. Reliance in this respect, could be made on the judgment of this Court in Ramashish Rai v. Jagdish Singh [Ramashish Rai v. Jagdish Singh, (2005) 10 SCC 498 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1611], wherein this Court has observed thus: (SCC p. 501, para 7)

7. By now, it is well-settled principle of law that enmity is a double-edged sword. It can be a ground for false implication. It also can be a ground for assault. Therefore, a duty is cast upon the court to examine the testimony of inimical witnesses with due caution and diligence.

28. So far the ingredients of Sections 498-A and 304-B IPC in the case of appellants are concerned, it is to be noted that P.W.-1 Jagdevi in her statement has stated that at the time of Bidai, accused Vijai Pal, Jagannath and Madan Pal had demanded a she-Buffalo, bicycle and Masehri, on which she had told them that she will provide the aforesaid dowry later on. After fifteen days from the Gowna, the deceased came back to her parents house and told that she was being harassed and beaten by her in-laws and they were demanding the dowry. However, in spite of the aforesaid allegation, no FIR or report was ever lodged either by the deceased or by her parents. Thus, it is a case where there is no pre-demand of dowry because no FIR was ever lodged before the death of the deceased. Thus, the ingredients of Section 498-A IPC are not found in the present case. So far the offence under Section 304-B IPC is concerned, it has been submitted that the prosecution case has been shifted from the version of the FIR when the prosecution witnesses were examined before the court. In the FIR, allegation is levelled that the deceased was throttled by the accused and the incident was witnessed by the witnesses Lala Ram and Hari Singh, but during cross-examination, they have denied the aforesaid version and they have said that the deceased committed suicide because of the dowry demand and torture made by the accused. It is relevant to note here that alternative charge under Section 306 IPC was also framed, but the trial court did not find the charge was proved under Section 306 IPC, rather appellants have been convicted under Sections 498-A and 304-B IPC.

29. In the case of Mahesh Kumar (supra), the issue of soon before death where dowry demand report is lodged has been considered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court, wherein it has been held that for the offence under Section 304-B IPC, the prosecution has to prove that harassment and cruelty were related to the demand of dowry soon before the death. In paragraphs 10, 11 and 12 of the aforesaid judgment, it has been held as under:-

10. This Court in Satvir Singh v. State of Punjab [Satvir Singh v. State of Punjab, (2001) 8 SCC 633 : 2002 SCC (Cri) 48] examining the significance and implication of the use of the words 'soon before her death' in Section 304-B, has held as under: (SCC pp. 642-43, paras 20 & 22)

20. Prosecution, in a case of offence under Section 304-B IPC cannot escape from the burden of proof that the harassment or cruelty was related to the demand for dowry and also that such cruelty or harassment was caused 'soon before her death'. The word 'dowry' in Section 304-B has to be understood as it is defined in Section 2 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961. That definition reads thus:

2. Definition of 'dowry'.? In this Act, 'dowry' means any property or valuable security given or agreed to be given either directly or indirectly?

(a) by one party to a marriage to the other party to the marriage; or

(b) by the parents of either party to a marriage or by any other person, to either party to the marriage or to any other person;

at or before or any time after the marriage in connection with the marriage of the said parties, but does not include dower or mahr in the case of persons to whom the Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) applies.

22. It is not enough that harassment or cruelty was caused to the woman with a demand for dowry at some time, if Section 304-B is to be invoked. But it should have happened soon before her death. The said phrase, no doubt, is an elastic expression and can refer to a period either immediately before her death or within a few days or even a few weeks before it. But the proximity to her death is the pivot indicated by that expression. The legislative object in providing such a radius of time by employing the words soon before her death? is to emphasise the idea that her death should, in all probabilities, have been the aftermath of such cruelty or harassment. In other words, there should be a perceptible nexus between her death and the dowry-related harassment or cruelty inflicted on her. If the interval which elapsed between the infliction of such harassment or cruelty and her death is wide the court would be in a position to gauge that in all probabilities the harassment or cruelty would not have been the immediate cause of her death. It is hence for the court to decide, on the facts and circumstances of each case, whether the said interval in that particular case was sufficient to snuff its cord from the concept ?soon before her death

11. In Hira Lal v. State (NCT of Delhi) [Hira Lal v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2003) 8 SCC 80 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 2016] , this Court held that there must be material to show that soon before her death the victim was subjected to cruelty or harassment. The prosecution has to rule out the possibility of a natural or accidental death so as to bring it within the purview of death occurring otherwise than in normal circumstances. It was held as under:(SCC pp. 86-87, para 9)

9. A conjoint reading of Section 113-B of the Evidence Act and Section 304-B IPC shows that there must be material to show that soon before her death the victim was subjected to cruelty or harassment. The prosecution has to rule out the possibility of a natural or accidental death so as to bring it within the purview of death occurring otherwise than in normal circumstances. The expression ?soon before? is very relevant where Section 113-B of the Evidence Act and Section 304-B IPC are pressed into service. The prosecution is obliged to show that soon before the occurrence there was cruelty or harassment and only in that case presumption operates. Evidence in that regard has to be led by the prosecution. ?Soon before? is a relative term and it would depend upon the circumstances of each case and no straitjacket formula can be laid down as to what would constitute a period of soon before the occurrence. It would be hazardous to indicate any fixed period, and that brings in the importance of a proximity test both for the proof of an offence of dowry death as well as for raising a presumption under Section 113-B of the Evidence Act. The expression ?soon before her death? used in the substantive Section 304-B IPC and Section 113-B of the Evidence Act is present with the idea of proximity test. No definite period has been indicated and the expression ?soon before? is not defined. A reference to the expression ?soon before? used in Section 114 Illustration (a) of the Evidence Act is relevant. It lays down that a court may presume that a man who is in the possession of goods ?soon after the theft, is either the thief or has received the goods knowing them to be stolen, unless he can account for their possession?. The determination of the period which can come within the term ?soon before? is left to be determined by the courts, depending upon facts and circumstances of each case. Suffice, however, to indicate that the expression ?soon before? would normally imply that the interval should not be much between the cruelty or harassment concerned and the death in question. There must be existence of a proximate and live link between the effect of cruelty based on dowry demand and the death concerned. If the alleged incident of cruelty is remote in time and has become stale enough not to disturb the mental equilibrium of the woman concerned, it would be of no consequence.

12. In Sakatar Singh v. State of Haryana [Sakatar Singh v. State of Haryana, (2004) 11 SCC 291 : 2004 SCC (Cri) Supp 58] , the Court was examining as to whether, letter written by the deceased discloses an offence under Section 304-B IPC. It was held that: (SCC p. 297, para 11)

11. In the above background, we will now consider the evidence led by the prosecution to establish the charge levelled against the appellants. In this process, we will first examine the letter written by the deceased to her mother. Though this letter does not mention the date, there is no dispute that the same was posted on 20-5-1986 which is evident from the postal seal found on the envelope which would be a date prior to the incident leading to the death of Devinder Kaur and the children. The contents of the letter indicate what transpired during her mother's visit to her in-laws' house and does not anywhere even remotely indicate any demand made by her in-laws. It only reflects the attitude of the deceased towards her in-laws and that she entertained a feeling that her mother was not properly treated by her mother-in-law during her last visit.

30. After going through the contents of the FIR, statements of P.W.-1, Jagdevi, P.W.-2 Hari Singh and P.W.-3 Lala Ram and their cross-examination, it is amply clear that there are material contradictions in their statements and further they have shifted the version of the FIR only for the reason that in the report of the post-mortem, no mark of injury external or internal was found on the person of the deceased, rather the deceased committed suicide by hanging herself due to severe illness.

31. Considering the over all facts and circumstances of the case and the evidence on record, it transpires that the prosecution has miserably failed to prove the case by leading cogent and credible evidence. The trial court has failed to appreciate the evidence on record in the correct perspective. Therefore, conviction of the appellants is not sustained in law and it amounts to abuse of process of law.

32. Accordingly, the appeal is allowed and the impugned judgement and order dated 30.07.1991 passed by the IVth Additional Sessions Judge, Hardoi in Session Trial No.412 of 1990, Police Station Sandi, District Hardoi is hereby quashed. The appellants no.1, 2, 3 and 5 are on bail. Their bail bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged. They need not surrender unless required in any other case. However, appellants are directed to comply the provisions of Section 437A Cr.P.C.

33. Let lower court record be sent back forthwith along with a copy of this judgement and order for compliance.

Headnotes

Indian Penal Code-sec. 201, 149-Ocular evidence clearly establishes the presence and participation of the accused-appellants in the commission of the offence- death of the deceased is established-the prosecution has failed to prove the crucial ingredient of "causing disappearance of evidence" by the accused persons-mere fact that the dead body was found at a place different from the alleged place of occurrence is not sufficient to hold that the accused had caused disappearance of evidence- in the absence of proof of such act and the requisite intention to screen themselves-charge under Section 201 I.P.C. is not made out-the prosecution has failed to establish the charge under Section 201 read with Section 149 I.P.C.-conviction under Sections 302 read with Section 149 I.P.C.; Section 147 I.P.C.; Section 325 read with Section 149 I.P.C.; and Section 323 read with 149 I.P.C. is affirmed-Appeal partly allowed. (E-9)

Prosecution Story in Nutshell:

4. The prosecution story, in brief, is that on 05.09.1982 complainant Shyam Shankar Tripathi s/o Surya Narayan r/o Gogaur, Police Station Badhrai, District Pratapgarh submitted a written report stating therein that a land dispute was pending between the informant's uncle, Chandra Prakash Tiwari, son of Mewalal Tiwari, and Ramapati and Salik Ram Agayara of his village, on account of which the accused persons were harbouring enmity against the deceased. On 05.09.1982 at around 6:00 P.M., while the deceased was sitting at his door and talking to Salik Ram Pradhan and Pati Ram Upadhyay, Radhe Krishna s/o Ram Khelawan came and called him on the pretext that a peon from the Tehsil was calling for him. Thereafter when he reached the southern road near the house of Ram Khelawan, he was surrounded by Ramapati Mishra, Salik Ram Misra, Ram Khelawan, and Triveni Prasad Mishra (sons of Devata Din), Ram Khelawan (son of Suraj Din), Ram Asray Radhe Shyam, Radhey Mohan and Randhey Krishna (sons of Ram Khelawan), Mithlesh Kumar, Dharendra Kumar and Rakesh Kumar (sons of Salik Ram) and Om Prakash (son of Triveni Prasad), who caught hold of him and started assaulting him with lathis. On hearing the cries of the deceased, the complainant along with his father Suryanarayan, Dhruv Prakash, Satya Prakash, Salik Ram (Pradhan), Pati Ram Upadhyay, Jagan, Jagdev, his two aunts (chachi) and one paternal aunt (bua) reached the spot and attempted to intervene but the accused persons threatened them of dire consequences and prevented them from rescuing the deceased. It is alleged that even the women, who tried to shield the deceased, were assaulted and forcibly pushed aside. It is further stated that Ram Pratap, brother-in-law of Ram Asrey, who was present at the spot with other associates, threatened the witnesses with firearms, due to which they could not come near. The accused persons continued to beat the deceased with lathis in the presence of the witnesses, as a result of which he succumbed to the injuries. It is also alleged that the accused persons attempted to conceal the dead body.

5. On the basis of the written report, an F.I.R was registered by Head Moharrir Irshad Ahmad and the corresponding GD entry was also made. The investigation of the case was entrusted to S.I. Raj Deo Yadav, who proceeded to the place of occurrence and reached there at around 1:45 A.M. on 06.09.1982. Upon arrival, the dead body was not found at the alleged place of occurrence; however, after a brief search, the same was recovered from the field of Gaya Prasad. Owing to insufficient light, the inquest proceedings could not be conducted at that time and a constable along with a chaukidar was deputed to guard the dead body. Thereafter, information was received that some of the accused persons were hiding in the house of Ram Khelawan, whereupon S.I. Shyam Mani Singh along with police personnel was deputed to keep surveillance. On the morning of 06.09.1982 at about 6:00 A.M., the Investigating Officer conducted the inquest proceedings and prepared the panchayatnama (Ext. Ka-18), along with relevant papers including challan lash, photo lash, and sample seal, and sealed the dead body, which was sent for post-mortem to District Hospital, Pratapgarh in the custody of Constable Satyendra Yadav and Constable Kanhaiya Lal.

6. Upon completion of investigation, charge-sheet was submitted under Sections 147, 148, 149, 323, 325, 302 and 201 IPC against accused Ram Khelawan, Salik Ram, Triveni Prasad, Ram

Asrey, Rakesh Kumar, Radhey Krishna, Dharendra Kumar, Ramapati, Radhey Mohan, Radhey Shyam, Mithilesh Kumar, Om Prakash and Ram Pratap. The trial court framed charges under Sections 148, 302/149, 325/149, 323/149 and 201/149 IPC against accused Ram Pratap, while separate charges under Sections 147, 302/149, 325/149, 323/149 and 201/149 IPC were framed against the remaining twelve (Ram Khelawan, Rakesh Kumar, Rmapati Misra, Salik Ram Misra, Triveni Prasad Misra, Mithilesh Kumar, Dharendra Kumar, Om Prakash, Ram Asray, Radhey Shyam, Radhey Mohan and Radehy Krishna) accused persons.

11. The statements of the accused persons were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., wherein they denied the prosecution case and pleaded false implication on account of prior enmity. Accused Ram Pratap stated that accused Ram Khelawan is his relative and that the brother of Ram Pratap, namely Sheo Prasad, had earlier deposed against the deceased Chandra Prakash in a case relating to a sale deed, thereby indicating pre-existing enmity. The other accused persons, namely Radhey Krishna, Dharendra Kumar, Ram Asrey, Triveni Prasad, Salik Ram and Rakesh Kumar stated that they came to know about the incident only in the morning and when they reached near the dead body, the police personnel, particularly the Investigating Officer, subjected them to beating and pressurized them to disclose as to who had committed the murder, with a threat that otherwise the entire family would be falsely implicated in the case. Accused Ram Khelawan further stated that Radhey Krishna was not present at the place of occurrence and had gone to Allahabad for admission in B.A. classes; Radhey Mohan was also at Allahabad in connection with his service and Radhey Shyam was accompanying him there. It was further stated that Mithilesh Kumar was at Banaras pursuing L.T. studies, Om Prakash was a student and was not present at the house at the relevant time due to flood conditions in the river, and that accused Ram Pratap himself was not present at the place of occurrence and was at his village at the relevant time. Accused Radhey Mohan specifically stated that he was not absconding and that he was serving at Allahabad, and upon gaining knowledge of the case, he voluntarily appeared before the Court.

12. In defence, the accused persons produced portions of the statements of prosecution witnesses, namely Jagan and Smt. Susheela Devi, as well as injury reports of Salik Ram, Ram Asrey, Triveni Prasad, Radhey Krishna and Ram Khelawan. They also filed certain documents comprising copies of judicial records to establish prior enmity with the complainant. Additionally, Dr. A.K. Sahoo was examined as D.W.-1 in defence.

13. For convenience and clarity, the accused-appellants shall hereinafter be referred to, as per their array before the Trial Court, namely: A1 Ram Pratap; A2 Ram Khelawan; A3 Rakesh Kumar ; A4 Ramapati Misra; A5 Salik Ram Misra ; A6 Triveni Prasad Misra; A7 Mithilesh Kumar; A8 Dharendra Kumar; A9 Om Prakash; A10 Ram Asray; A11 Radhey Shyam; A12 Radhey Mohan; and A13 Radhey Krishna.

14. During the pendency of these appeals, it has been reported that accused-appellants A2 (Ram Khelawan), A5 (Salik Ram Misra), A6 (Triveni Prasad Misra), A9 (Om Prakash), A10 (Ram Asray) and A13 (Radhey Krishna) have died. Accordingly, the appeals on the behalf of the aforesaid accused-appellants stands abated. Thus, the appeal survives on behalf of A1 (Ram Pratap), A3 (Rakesh Kumar), A4 (Ramapati Misra), A7 (Mithilesh Kumar), A8 (Dhirendra Kumar), A11 (Radhey Shyam) and A12 (Radhey Mohan). It has also been brought on record that accused-appellant A3 (Rakesh Kumar) has been declared a juvenile at the time of occurrence.

Submissions made by learned counsel for the accused-appellants:-

15. Learned counsel for the accused-appellants has assailed the impugned judgment on the ground that the same is contrary to the evidence on record and suffers from serious legal and factual infirmities. It is contended that so far as accused-appellant A1 (Ram Pratap) is concerned, no overt act has been attributed to him in the commission of the offence. As per the prosecution case itself, his role is limited to that of an alleged instigator, and he is stated to have been present at the spot armed with a firearm. It is submitted that in the absence of any specific act of assault, his conviction with the aid of Section 149 I.P.C. is unsustainable. It is further submitted that the testimony of PW-3 Smt. Sushila Devi creates doubt regarding the prosecution version, inasmuch as while the incident is alleged to have occurred in the evening, the dead body was recovered in the morning from the field of Guru Prasad. According to the learned counsel, this circumstance renders the place and manner of occurrence doubtful. Learned counsel has further contended that the F.I.R and other related documents are ante-timed and have been prepared after deliberation, as is evident from the inconsistencies between the version in the FIR and the testimonies of PW-1 and PW-2. It is submitted that such discrepancies go to the root of the prosecution case. It is also argued that there exist material contradictions between the ocular version and the medical evidence. According to the learned counsel, the nature of injuries as reflected in the post-mortem report does not fully support the manner of assault as alleged by the prosecution witnesses. It is further contended that although the prosecution case suggests that the dead body was dragged from the place of occurrence to the field where, it was recovered, but there is no clear medical evidence indicating injuries consistent with such dragging, thereby creating doubt in the prosecution story. Lastly, it is submitted that though several blood-stained articles, soil and grass were allegedly recovered during investigation, no conclusive forensic analysis has been brought on record to establish that the blood found on such articles belonged to the deceased. This omission, according to the learned counsel, weakens the chain of circumstances sought to be established by the prosecution.

Submissions made by learned A.G.A : -

16. Per contra, learned A.G.A. has supported the impugned judgment and submitted that the prosecution has successfully established the guilt of the accused-appellants beyond reasonable doubt and no interference is warranted. It is contended that the presence and participation of the accused-appellants in the occurrence stand proved from the consistent and reliable testimonies of the prosecution witnesses, and so far as accused-appellant A1 is concerned, his liability is clearly attracted with the aid of Section 149 I.P.C., being a member of the unlawful assembly. It is further submitted that the alleged discrepancies regarding the time of occurrence and recovery of the dead body are minor in nature and do not affect the substratum of the prosecution case. The contention regarding ante-timing of the F.I.R. is also denied, it being submitted that the F.I.R. was promptly lodged and duly proved. It is further argued that there is no material contradiction between the ocular and medical evidence, rather the same are in consonance with each other. The absence of specific injuries suggestive of dragging of the dead body, as well as the non-conducting of forensic examination of certain articles, are not fatal to the prosecution case, particularly when the ocular version is cogent and trustworthy.

Oral Testimonies:

In order to appreciate the issues arising in the present appeal, it is appropriate to examine, in brief, the oral evidence adduced by the prosecution.

17. PW-1 Shyam Shankar Tripathi, in his examination-in-chief, deposed that prior enmity existed between the parties. He further deposed that on the date of occurrence at about 6:00 P.M., the deceased Chandra Prakash was taken by A13 towards the house of A2, where the other accused persons were already present. He further deposed that when the deceased reached near the said place, the accused persons caught hold of him and dragged him towards the house of A2. Upon hearing his cries, PW-1 along with other family members and villagers reached the spot and saw the accused persons assaulting the deceased with lathis, while A1 was standing armed with a gun and threatening them from intervening. He further deposed that when the women of the family attempted to intervene, they were pushed aside and PW-3 sustained injury. He further deposed that due to fear, no one could intervene and the accused continued the assault, resulting in the death of the deceased. He proved the written report (Ext. Ka-1) and further deposed that the dead body was subsequently recovered from the field of Guru Prasad.

18. During cross-examination, he admitted that he saw the accused persons present near the dead body while going to lodge the report, but he did not state that he had seen them removing the body. He also admitted that certain facts regarding the injury to Smt. Sushila Devi were not stated in the written report. He denied the suggestion of false implication and reiterated the presence of A1 at the spot armed with a firearm.

19. PW-2 Jagannath, a neighbour of the deceased, deposed that on the date of occurrence at about 6:00 P.M., while he was sitting at his door, he heard cries of the deceased shouting for help. Upon looking towards the place of occurrence near the house of A2, he saw about 12-13 accused persons, including A1, assaulting the deceased with lathis. He further deposed that A1 was armed with a gun and was threatening that anyone who came forward would be killed. He further deposed that upon hearing the cries, other witnesses including PW-1 and family members reached the spot, but due to threats extended by A1, no one could intervene. He further deposed that when the women attempted to rescue the deceased, they were pushed back by the accused persons.

20. During cross-examination, he deposed that his house is situated at a distance of about 80 steps from the place of occurrence and that the spot was visible from where he was sitting. He admitted that he had not seen the events prior to the cries and reached the occurrence only upon hearing the alarm. He further deposed that he had not seen the accused removing or concealing the dead body and denied the suggestion of false implication.

21. PW-3 Smt. Sushila Devi, wife of Dhruv Prakash, deposed that on the date of occurrence at about 6:00 P.M., upon hearing cries of the deceased, she, along with other family members, rushed outside and saw the accused persons taking the deceased towards the house of A2. She further deposed that the accused persons thereafter assaulted the deceased with lathis near the house of A2, while A1 was armed with a gun and was threatening that anyone who came forward would be shot. She further deposed that when she and other women attempted to intervene, A5 caught hold of her hand, twisted and assaulted it, due to which she fell down and sustained injuries, including fracture. She further deposed that the deceased died on the spot due to the assault and that she was medically examined subsequently, where her hand was X-rayed.

22. During cross-examination, she deposed that she had seen the accused persons taking the deceased prior to the assault and that all accused were armed with lathis. She admitted that though she stated that the accused had taken away the dead body, she had not seen them concealing it. She also admitted certain omissions in her statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. regarding the role of some accused. She denied the suggestion of false implication and maintained that she had sustained injuries in the same incident.

23. PW-4 Dr. D.C. Srivastava, Surgeon, District Hospital, Pratapgarh, deposed that on 07.09.1982 at about 12:30 P.M., he conducted the post-mortem examination of the deceased Chandra Prakash Tiwari and found the following ante-mortem injuries:

- Injury No. 1: Lacerated wound measuring $1\frac{1}{2}$ " $\times$ $\frac{1}{2}$ " $\times$ scalp deep on the right side of the forehead, 1 inch above the eyebrow.
- Injury No. 2: Contusion measuring $2"$ $\times$ $\frac{3}{4}"$ $\times$ scalp deep on the left side of the face below the eyelid.
- Injury No. 3: Lacerated wound measuring $\frac{3}{4}"$ $\times$ ear lobule involving the entire thickness of the ear pinna, 1 inch above the ear lobule on the right ear.
- Injury No. 4: Lacerated wound measuring $2"$ $\times$ $\frac{1}{2}"$ $\times$ scalp deep on the right side of the head, $1\frac{1}{2}"$ above the ear.
- Injury No. 5: Lacerated wound measuring $2"$ $\times$ $\frac{1}{2}"$ $\times$ scalp deep on the right side of the head, 4 inches above the corner.
- Injury No. 6: Lacerated wound measuring $1"$ $\times$ $\frac{1}{2}"$ $\times$ cranial cavity deep on the right side of the head, exactly behind injury no. 4, and brain matter was oozing out from the wound.
- Injury No. 7: Lacerated wound measuring $2"$ $\times$ $1"$ $\times$ cranial cavity deep on the back of the head towards the right; brain matter was oozing out from this wound.

- Injury No. 8: Lacerated wound measuring 1" × ½ " × scalp deep on the back of the head in the midline, exactly above the occipital.
- Injury No. 9: Several contusions on the left arm, on the front and outer side, 2 inches below the shoulder in an area of 5"×4".
- Injury No. 10: Lacerated wound measuring 1" × ½ " × muscle deep on the left arm, on the back side, exactly above the elbow.
- Injury No. 11: Lacerated wound measuring ½ " × ¼ " × skin deep on the front of the left ring finger on the last phalanx; the finger bone was fractured.
- Injury No. 12: Abrasion measuring 7"×3" on the left side of the lower part of the chest, 3" below the nipple.
- Injury No. 14: Abrasion measuring 5 "×3" on the right side of the lower chest and abdomen, 3 ½ " below the nipple.
- Injury No. 15: Contusion measuring 2 "× ¾" on the inner side of the right elbow.
- Injury No. 16: Several contusions on the left side of the back in an area measuring 1"×6", starting from the lower part of the shoulder blade, in downward directions.
- Injury No. 17: Contusion measuring 5 "×2 " on the right side of the back, 2 " below the lower edge of the shoulder blade.

He further deposed that on internal examination, multiple skull fractures were present beneath injury nos. 4 to 8, with brain matter oozing out. He opined that the cause of death was coma resulting from head injuries, and that the injuries were sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. He further stated that all injuries could have been caused by a lathi at about 6:00 P.M. on 05.09.1982. He proved the post-mortem report (Ext. Ka-2).

24. No cross-examination of PW-4 was conducted.

25. PW-5 Dr. Sampurnanand, Pathologist, District Hospital, Pratapgarh, deposed that on 07.09.1982 he was posted as Medical Officer at District Hospital, Pratapgarh. He stated that on the same day at about 10:10 A.M., he medically examined Smt. Sushila Devi and found a traumatic swelling measuring 3 inches □ 1 □ inches on the front and back of the right wrist, though there was no visible external mark of injury. He further deposed that Smt. Sushila Devi complained of pain in her back, though no visible injury was found there. He further deposed that the above injury was kept under observation and X-ray was advised. He further deposed that the duration of injury could not be ascertained due to absence of visible marks. He proved the Ext. Ka-3 and opined that the above injury could be caused if the hand is forcibly caught, twisted or jerked.

26. During cross-examination, he deposed that he could not definitively comment on flexibility of bones at the age of 25□30 years, as the same would fall within the domain of a bone specialist. He further deposed that if the above stated injury had been caused by a blow of a lathi (stick) resulting in fracture, there would ordinarily be visible external signs. He further clarified that fracture in the above injury depends upon the force applied in catching and jerking the hand, and that such fracture could occur either by forceful twisting or even by comparatively lesser jerking force. He further deposed that he could not determine whether the injury was 24 hours or 3-4 days old. He denied the suggestion that he was deposing under tutoring or that such injury could not occur by a simple jerk.

27. P.W-6 Lallan Singh, Constable, deposed that on 20.10.1982 he was posted as Constable in Police Station, Badhrai and on the same day he brought the articles recovered in S.T. No 227/82, Case Crime No. 46/82, from Police Station, Badhrai to Sadar Hospital, Pratapgarh so that the same can be sent to Agra for chemical test. He confirmed that articles remained in a sealed condition and none was allowed to tamper with the same. He further deposed that on 14.02.83, the articles of the above case after being produced before the court of CJM Pratapgarh were then deposited in Sadar Malkhana, Pratapgarh. He further deposed that after chemical testing, these goods came to the court of CJM from Agra.

28. No cross-examination of PW- 6 was conducted.

29. PW-7 Indra Bahadur Singh, Constable, Sadar Maal Khana Pratapgarh deposed that on 14.02.1983, he was posted as Assistant Malkhana Moharrir. He further deposed that the articles recovered in this case were brought and submitted CP Lallan Singh from Police Station Badhrai. He confirmed that articles remained in a sealed condition and none was allowed to tamper with the same.

30. No cross-examination of PW-7 was conducted.

31. P.W-8 Satyendra Yadav, CP 76, Police Station Badhrai, District Pratapgarh deposed that on 09.08.1982 he was posted as constable in Police Station Badhrai. He further deposed that in case no. 146/82 dated 06.09.82, he along with CP Kanhaiya Lal were handover the sealed dead body of deceased Chandra Prakash for the purpose of taking the same for post-mortem examination at Sadar Mal Hospital. He confirmed that the dead body remained in a sealed condition and none was allowed to tamper with the same. He further deposed that after the post mortem of the deceased was completed, he took a copy of the post mortem report in a sealed envelope along with a sealed bundle containing clothes, etc. and submitted the same in the police station.

32. No cross-examination of PW-7 was conducted.

33. PW-9 Rajdev Yadav, Sub-Inspector, deposed that the FIR was lodged in his presence and the investigation was entrusted to him. He stated that after recording the statement of the complainant, he proceeded to the place of occurrence, where he did not find the dead body at the place of assault. Thereafter, upon receiving information, he reached the field of Guru Prasad, where the dead body was found. He conducted the inquest proceedings and proved the same (Ext. Ka-18) along with related documents. He further deposed that he inspected the place of occurrence and prepared the site plan (Ext. Ka-40). He collected blood-stained and plain soil from the place of occurrence (Ext. Ka-41), seized the blood-stained benia (door frame) from the house of A2 (Ext. Ka-42), collected blood-stained grass from the alleged dragging path (Ext. Ka-11), and also collected blood-stained and plain soil along with leaves from the field, where the dead body was found (Ext. Ka-12). He further proved recovery of a country-made pistol from A10 (Ext. Ka-8), seizure of gun of A1, and recovery of a blood-stained shirt from the house of A11 and A12 (Ext. Ka-25). He also proved seizure of the clothes of the deceased (Ext. Ka-9 and Ext. Ka-10). He further deposed that some of the accused persons were arrested during investigation, while others absconded, whereupon attachment proceedings were initiated and properties of such absconding accused persons were attached on different dates.

34. During cross-examination, he admitted that although signs of dragging were noticed, he did not ascertain as to who had dragged the body and no direct evidence in that regard was collected. He further stated that certain statements recorded during investigation regarding dragging and concealment were not fully supported by witnesses in Court. He denied the suggestion that the investigation or recoveries were fabricated.

35. DW-1 A.K. Sahu, AMO District Jail Pratapgarh, deposed that on 06.09.1982 he was posted as Medical Officer in the District Jail and on the same day at around 5:05 PM he examined and recorded the injuries of A5 and also proved Exhibit Ka-6. He further deposed that on 07.09.1982 at around 8:05 AM he examined and recorded the injuries of A2, at around 8:20 AM the injuries of A6, at 8:35 AM the injuries of A13 and at around 10:30 AM the injuries of A2. Thus, proving Exhibit Kha-7 to Kha-10. He opined that such injury could occur by lathi blows and could have been inflicted at around 6:00 PM. He further deposed that injury to the above-mentioned people could have occurred on 06.09.1982 at around 8:00 or 9:00 A.M. and such injury could have been caused if they were arrested in a violent manner.

36. No cross-examination of DW-1 was conducted.

Court Analysis:

Credibility and reliability of ocular evidence

37. The prosecution case rests substantially upon the ocular testimonies of PW-1 Shyam Shankar Tripathi, PW-2 Jagannath and PW-3 Smt. Sushila Devi. It is a well settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that conviction can be based solely on ocular evidence, provided the same is found to be cogent, reliable and trustworthy. The Court is required to assess such evidence on the touchstone of its intrinsic worth, consistency, probability and natural conduct of the witnesses. Minor discrepancies or omissions which do not go to the root of the matter are to be ignored, as they are but natural consequences of human fallibility.

38. In the present case, PW-1 and PW-2 are natural witnesses, whose presence at the place of occurrence at the relevant time stands duly established. PW-1 has given a vivid account of the incident, stating that the deceased was called out and thereafter surrounded and assaulted by the accused persons with lathis, while A1 stood armed with a firearm and extended threats to prevent intervention. PW-2, who is an independent witness, has corroborated the version of PW-1 and has categorically deposed that upon hearing the cries, he reached the spot and saw the accused persons assaulting the deceased, while A1 was threatening the onlookers. Their testimonies are consistent on material particulars, namely the presence of the accused, the manner of assault and the role played by A1.

39. The argument of the appellant that these witnesses are interested or not wholly reliable does not merit acceptance. It is well settled that the evidence of a related witness cannot be discarded merely on the ground of relationship, if it is otherwise credible and trustworthy. In the present case, the testimony of PW-1 stands corroborated by PW-2, who is an independent witness and has no reason to falsely implicate the accused. The law does not require a particular number of witnesses to prove a fact, and the quality of evidence is of paramount importance.

40. The learned counsel for the accused-appellants has further contended that PW-2 Jagannath could not have witnessed the incident from his house inasmuch as, as per the site plan, there existed structures obstructing his view and therefore his presence as an eyewitness is doubtful. This Court has carefully examined the said contention in light of the site plan (Ext. Ka-40) as well as the evidence on record.

41. A perusal of the site plan and the deposition of PW-2 indicates that the place marked as point □B□, lies in direct line of sight of the place of assault. The Trial Court, has recorded a finding that the place of occurrence was visible from the position of PW-2. This finding is borne out from the material on record and does not suffer from any perversity.

42. PW-2 has consistently stated in his testimony that upon hearing the cries, he looked towards the place marked as point B on the site plan and saw the accused persons taking the deceased towards the house of A2. His presence at his door at the relevant time is natural and has not been seriously disputed. Merely because certain portions of the area may have been partially obstructed does not render his entire testimony unreliable, particularly when the core of his version regarding the assault and presence of the accused remains intact and finds corroboration from other prosecution witnesses. In such cases, we are of the view that unless the defense proves a physical impossibility of observation, minor variations in visibility or vantage point shall not be fatal to the prosecution. Since the appellants have failed to establish any such impossibility in the present case, the ocular evidence remains unshaken.

43. Moreover, PW-3 Smt. Sushila Devi, being an injured witness, lends further assurance to the prosecution case. The testimony of an injured witness is accorded a higher degree of credibility, as such a witness is a natural witness to the occurrence and ordinarily would not falsely implicate innocent persons. PW-3 has clearly deposed that she witnessed the accused persons assaulting the deceased and that when she intervened, she was also assaulted and sustained injuries. Her presence at the place of occurrence is thus beyond doubt and stands corroborated by the medical evidence relating to her injuries.

44. Upon careful scrutiny of the evidence of these witnesses, this Court finds that their testimonies are natural, consistent and inspire confidence. No material contradiction or infirmity has been brought on record which may render their evidence unreliable. The minor discrepancies pointed out by the defence are inconsequential and do not affect the substratum of the prosecution case.

45. Thus, the ocular evidence on record clearly establishes the presence and participation of the accused-appellants in the commission of the offence. The role of A1, though not of direct assault, is clearly brought out inasmuch as he was present armed with a firearm and facilitated the commission of the offence by extending threats, thereby attracting liability under Section 149 I.P.C. The evidence of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3, therefore, forms a reliable and credible foundation for the prosecution case.

Charge under Section 201 I.P.C.

46. The learned counsel for the accused-appellants has contended that the conviction under Section 201 I.P.C. is unsustainable inasmuch as the prosecution has failed to establish that the accused persons had caused disappearance of evidence or had attempted to screen themselves from legal punishment.

47. For convenience Section 201 I.P.C. is being reproduced as under:

201. Causing disappearance of evidence of offence, or giving false information to screen offender. Whoever, knowing or having reason to believe that an offence has been committed, causes any evidence of the commission of that offence to disappear, with the intention of screening the offender from legal punishment, or with that intention gives any information respecting the offence which he knows or believes to be false, if a capital offence shall, if the offence which he knows or believes to have been committed is punishable with death, be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine;

if punishable with imprisonment for life and if the offence is punishable with imprisonment for life, or with imprisonment which may extend to ten years, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to three years, and shall also be liable to fine;

if punishable with less than ten years' imprisonment and if the offence is punishable with imprisonment for any term not extending to ten years, shall be punished with imprisonment of the description provided for the offence, for a term which may extend to one-fourth part of the longest term of the imprisonment provided for the offence, or with fine, or with both.

48. The Supreme Court, in Sukhram v. State of Maharashtra; (2007) 7 SCC 502, has, in paragraph 18, explained the essential ingredients required to constitute an offence under Section 201 I.P.C. as follows:

(i) committal of an offence;

(ii) person charged with the offence under Section 201 must have the knowledge or reason to believe that an offence has been committed;

(iii) person charged with the said offence should have caused disappearance of evidence; and

(iv) the act should have been done with the intention of screening the offender from legal punishment or with that intention he should have given information respecting the offence, which he knew or believed to be false. It is plain that the intent to screen the offender committing an offence must be the primary and sole aim of the accused. It hardly needs any emphasis that in order to bring home an offence under Section 201 IPC, a mere suspicion is not sufficient. There must be on record cogent evidence to prove that the accused knew or had information sufficient to lead him to believe that the offence had been committed and that the accused has caused the evidence to disappear in order to screen the offender, known or unknown.

49. Furthermore, in Palvinder Kaur v. State of Punjab; (1952) 2 SCC 177, the Supreme Court has cautioned that while considering a charge under Section 201 I.P.C., the Court must guard against basing its conclusions on suspicion, however strong, and that the prosecution must prove all necessary ingredients including the intention to screen the offender.

50. Applying the aforesaid settled principles to the facts of the present case, this Court finds that although the death of the deceased is established, the prosecution has failed to prove the crucial ingredient of causing disappearance of evidence by the accused persons.

51. PW-1 has deposed that after the incident, he went to lodge the report and on the way he saw the accused persons standing near the dead body. Significantly, he has not stated that he had seen the accused persons removing or dragging the dead body from the place of occurrence to the field, where it was ultimately found.

52. Similarly, PW-3 Smt. Sushila Devi has also deposed that when they reached, the accused persons were standing near the dead body. She too has not stated that she had witnessed the accused persons taking or shifting the body.

53. Thus, none of the material witnesses has seen the accused persons causing disappearance of evidence. There is no direct evidence nor any cogent circumstantial evidence to show that it was the accused who had removed the dead body from the place of occurrence.

54. Further, the post-mortem report does not indicate any injury which could be attributed to dragging of the dead body. In absence of any ocular or circumstantial evidence regarding removal of the body, this aspect assumes significance.

55. The mere fact that the dead body was found at a place different from the alleged place of occurrence is not sufficient to hold that the accused had caused disappearance of evidence, in the absence of proof of such act and the requisite intention to screen themselves.

56. In view of the law laid down in Sukhram (supra) and Palvinder Kaur (supra), it is clear that suspicion, however strong, cannot take the place of proof. The prosecution has failed to establish by cogent evidence that the accused persons had caused disappearance of evidence with the intention of screening themselves from punishment.

57. Accordingly, this Court is of the considered view that the charge under Section 201 I.P.C. is not made out against the accused-appellants, and the conviction recorded under the said provision is liable to be set aside

Role of accused-appellant A1 and applicability of Section 149 I.P.C.

58. Learned counsel for the accused-appellants has contended that so far as accused-appellant A1 (Ram Pratap) is concerned, no overt act of assault has been attributed to him and his role is confined merely to instigation; therefore, his conviction with the aid of Section 149 I.P.C. is unsustainable. Before examining the individual role of A1, it is necessary to first determine whether the prosecution has been able to establish the existence of an unlawful assembly within the meaning of Sections 141-149 I.P.C.

59. The Supreme Court, in Vinubhai Ranchhodbhai Patel v. Rajivbhai Dudabhai Patel, (2018) 7 SCC 743, has elaborately explained the scheme of unlawful assembly. In paragraph 31 and 33, it has been held:

31. The concept of an unlawful assembly as can be seen from Section 141 has two elements:

(i) The assembly should consist of at least five persons; and

(ii) They should have a common object to commit an offence or achieve any one of the objects enumerated therein.

33. The common object of assembly is normally to be gathered from the circumstances of each case such as the time and place of the gathering of the assembly, the conduct of the gathering as distinguished from the conduct of the individual members are indicative of the common object of the gathering. Assessing the common object of an assembly only on the basis of the overt acts committed by such individual members of the assembly, in our opinion is impermissible. For example, if more than five people gather together and attack another person with deadly weapons eventually resulting in the death of the victim, it is wrong to conclude that one or some of the members of such assembly did not share the common object with those who had inflicted the fatal injuries (as proved by medical evidence); merely on the ground that the injuries inflicted by such members are relatively less serious and non-fatal.

60. In the present case, from the consistent testimonies of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3, it stands clearly established that:

- a. as many as 12-13 accused persons assembled together,
- b. they surrounded the deceased,
- c. collectively caught hold of him,
- d. and assaulted him with lathis, while
- e. A1 stood armed with a firearm, preventing intervention.

61. The conduct of the accused persons clearly demonstrates that they were acting in concert and shared a common object to commit an offence, namely to assault the deceased.

62. Applying the above principle, the common object in the present case is evident from:

- a. the number of persons assembled,
- b. the manner of assault,
- c. the weapons carried, and
- d. the collective conduct during the occurrence.

63. Thus, the existence of an unlawful assembly stands fully established. Once the existence of unlawful assembly is established, the next question is the applicability of Section 149 I.P.C. It would be apposite to refer paragraph 28 and 34 of Vinubhai (supra) in this reference:

28. Section 149 propounds a vicarious liability in two contingencies by declaring that (i) if a member of an unlawful assembly commits an offence in prosecution of the common object of that assembly, then every member of such unlawful assembly is guilty of the offence committed by the other members of the unlawful assembly, and (ii) even in cases where all the members of the unlawful assembly do not share the same common object to commit a particular offence, if they had the knowledge of the fact that some of the other members of the assembly are likely to commit that particular offence in prosecution of the common object.

34. For mulcting liability on the members of an unlawful assembly under Section 149, it is not necessary that every member of the unlawful assembly should commit the offence in prosecution of the common object of the assembly. Mere knowledge of the likelihood of commission of such an offence by the members of the assembly is sufficient. For example, if five or more members carrying AK 47 rifles collectively attack a victim and cause his death by gunshot injuries, the fact that one or two of the members of the assembly did not in fact fire their weapons does not mean that they did not have the knowledge of the fact that the offence of murder is likely to be committed.

64. In the present case, the evidence on record clearly establishes that A1:

- a. was present at the place of occurrence,
- b. was armed with a firearm (country made pistol),
- c. was threatening the witnesses, and
- d. facilitated the assault by preventing intervention.

Though A1 did not inflict any injury, his role was crucial in ensuring that the other accused persons could carry out the assault without resistance. In view of the law laid down in Vinubhai (supra), it is not necessary that A1 must have caused any injury. His presence and active facilitation clearly bring him within the fold of Section 149 I.P.C.

65. Moreover, the charge under Section 147 I.P.C. (rioting) with respect to all the appellants is also fully made out. In paragraph 26 of Vinubhai (supra), it has been held:

26. If force or violence is used by an unlawful assembly or any member thereof in prosecution of the common objective of such assembly, every member of such assembly is declared under Section 146 to be guilty of the offence of rioting punishable with two years' imprisonment under Section 147. To constitute the offence of rioting under Section 146, the use of force or violence need not necessarily result in the achievement of the common object. In other words, the employment of force or violence need not result in the commission of a crime or the achievement of any one of the five enumerated common objects under Section 141.

66. In the present case:

- a. the assembly consisted of more than five persons,
- b. force and violence were used,
- c. the act was committed in prosecution of the common object.

67. Therefore, all ingredients of Sections 141, 146 and 147 I.P.C. stand satisfied. In view of the aforesaid discussion, this Court holds that, the prosecution has successfully established the existence of an unlawful assembly; the accused persons, including A1, were members of such assembly; the offence was committed in prosecution of the common object; A1, though not an assailant, actively facilitated the offence and therefore, his liability under Section 149 I.P.C. is clearly attracted. The conviction of A1 cannot be faulted merely on the ground that no specific injury has been attributed to him.

Alleged Contradiction between Ocular and Medical Evidence

68. Learned counsel for the accused-appellants has urged that the testimony of PW-3 Smt. Sushila Devi is unreliable on account of an alleged inconsistency between her ocular version and the medical evidence, particularly with regard to the injury sustained by her wrist. It is contended that while PW-3 has stated that her hand was forcefully caught and twisted, the absence of visible external injury at the initial stage renders her version doubtful.

69. This Court has carefully examined the said submission in the light of the evidence on record and finds no substance in the same. PW-3, an injured witness, has consistently deposed that when she intervened to save the deceased, one of the accused caught hold of her hand and twisted it with force, causing her to fall and sustain injury. Her testimony, read as a whole, clearly establishes that the injury was sustained in the course of the same transaction as the assault on the deceased. Her presence at the place of occurrence is thus natural and stands firmly corroborated.

70. The version of PW-3 finds assurance from the testimonies of other prosecution witnesses. PW-1 and PW-2 have both deposed about the presence of PW-3 at the place of occurrence and the fact that she attempted to intervene during the assault. Their evidence lends corroboration to the assertion that PW-3 sustained injuries during the incident while trying to rescue the deceased.

71. The medical evidence further supports the ocular account. PW-5, the doctor who examined PW-3, found traumatic swelling on the wrist and opined that such injury could be caused by catching hold of the hand and twisting or jerking it. The injury was kept under observation and X-ray examination was advised. It has come on record that the X-ray subsequently revealed fracture, thereby confirming the seriousness of the injury. Furthermore, in cross-examination, the doctor has categorically stated that fracture can occur due to twisting or jerking of the hand and that the absence of visible external injury does not negate the possibility of such fracture. He has also clarified that the nature of injury described by PW-3 is medically possible.

72. Thus, the inconsistency pointed out by the defence is more apparent than real. The absence of an external mark at the initial stage does not contradict the ocular testimony when the internal injury (fracture) stands established through X-ray and medical opinion. On the contrary, the medical evidence lends assurance to the version of PW-3.

73. It is well settled that medical evidence is corroborative in nature and unless it completely rules out the prosecution version, the ocular testimony, if found credible, must prevail. In the present case, the medical evidence does not in any manner negate the version of PW-3; rather, it supports the mechanism of injury as narrated by her.

74. It is also trite that the testimony of an injured witness carries great evidentiary value. The fact that PW-3 sustained injury during the occurrence is an inbuilt guarantee of her presence at the scene and ordinarily such a witness would not falsely implicate the accused while sparing the real offenders.

75. Upon a cumulative appreciation of the ocular and medical evidence, this Court finds that there is no material contradiction between the two. The testimony of PW-3 stands corroborated not only by medical evidence but also by the evidence of other witnesses regarding her presence and participation in the incident.

Juvenility of Accused A3

76. The issue of juvenility of accused A3 falls for consideration in the present appeal. From the material available on record, it stands established that on the date of occurrence, A3 was approximately 14 years of age and, therefore, was a juvenile in conflict with law at the relevant time. This factual position is not in dispute, having been fairly conceded by the learned counsel for the accused-appellant as well as by the learned AGA.

77. It is a settled principle that the age of the accused has to be reckoned on the date of commission of the offence. Once it is found that the accused was a juvenile on the date of occurrence, he cannot be subjected to the rigors of a regular criminal trial or punishment in the same manner as an adult offender.

78. However, the peculiar facts of the present case warrant careful consideration. The occurrence in question pertains to a period more than four decades prior, and as of now, A3 has long since attained majority and is presently an adult. In such a situation, the question arises as to the appropriate course to be adopted by this Court at this stage.

79. In the considered view of this Court, directing A3 to be sent to any correctional or reformatory institution at this belated stage would neither be practicable nor serve the ends of justice, as such institutions are intended for children and adolescents and not for persons, who have already crossed the age of majority by a considerable margin. Equally, subjecting A3 to any sentence as an adult would be impermissible in law, in view of his established status as a juvenile on the date of occurrence.

80. It is also borne out from the record that A3 has already undergone incarceration for a period of approximately eleven months during the course of investigation, trial and pendency of the appeal.

81. Having regard to the totality of facts and circumstances, particularly the long passage of time, the present age of A3, and the period of custody already undergone by him, this Court is of the opinion that no useful purpose would be served by directing any further proceedings in respect of sentence.

82. Accordingly, while sustaining the finding regarding the involvement of A3 in the occurrence, it is directed that the period of detention already undergone by him shall be treated as sufficient.

Conclusion

83. In view of the foregoing discussion and upon a comprehensive re-appreciation of the entire evidence on record, this Court finds that the prosecution has successfully established the formation of an unlawful assembly and the participation of the accused persons therein. The involvement of the accused in the occurrence stands proved beyond reasonable doubt, and the findings of the learned Trial Court to that extent call for no interference.

84. Accordingly, all the appeals are partly allowed, the conviction of the accused-appellants (A1, A3, A4, A7, A8, A11, A12) under Sections 302 read with Section 149 I.P.C.; Section 147 I.P.C.; Section 325 read with Section 149 I.P.C.; and Section 323 read with 149 I.P.C. is affirmed. The conviction of accused A1 (Ram Pratap) under Section 148 I.P.C. is also affirmed. However, for the reasons recorded hereinabove, the prosecution has failed to establish the charge under Section 201 read with Section 149 I.P.C. beyond reasonable doubt. The conviction of the accused-appellants (A1, A3, A4, A7, A8, A11, A12) under the said provision is, therefore, set aside.

85. Insofar as accused A3 (Rakesh Kumar) is concerned, having been found to be a juvenile on the date of occurrence and having already undergone a period of incarceration, it is directed that the period already undergone by him shall be treated as sufficient.

86. Accused-appellants A1(Ram Pratap) , A4 (Ramapati Misra) , A7 (Mithilesh Kumar), A8 (Dhirendra Kumar) , A11 (Radhey Shyam) and A12 (Radhey Mohan) are on bail. They shall surrender within 15 days from today before the court concerned and shall be sent to jail to serve out the sentence imposed upon them, failing which the concerned court shall take appropriate action in this regard. The bail bond is cancelled and sureties are discharged.

87. Let a copy of this judgment, along with the trial court record, be transmitted forthwith and in any case within one week from today to the court concerned for necessary compliance.

FACTS

(2) The prosecution case, in brief, is that on 09.06.1984, the complainant, Santosh Kumar Pandey, had submitted a written report (Ext. Ka.1) at police station Baghrai, district Pratapgarh, stating therein that on 09.06.1984, at 08:00 in the morning, watering the field from the drain of orchard of Satya Narain Dwivedi located on west of the house and looking after the water with a spade (फावड़ा), his uncle, Raj Narain Pandey son of Bechu Ram Pandey armed with single barrel gun and one box cartridge and Kamlesh Kumar Pandey son of Raj Narain Pandey armed with lathi and Rajendra Prasad Pandey son of Sarda Prasad Pandey armed with spade (QkoMk) and lathi came and cut their water course and diverted it towards their field. His father, Sri Jagat Narain Pandey son of late Bechu Ram Pandey prevented them from taking away the water, upon which Kamlesh Kumar Pandey and Rajendra Prasad Pandey exhorted that $\square$ vkt lkys dks tku ls ekj Mkyks ns[k yxsxsa $\square$ (Today, bastard be killed, they would saw them). On their exhortation, Raj Narain Pandey fired from his gun at his father, which stuck his father on the right side of his chest and his father fell down there and died. During this quarrel, he and his brother-in-law Shri Shiv Prakash Mishra son of Shri Sitla Prasad Mishra resident of Chetaoo-Ka-Poora (Post Kasinpur) police station Holagarh, Allahabad and Kailash Narain Dwivedi son of Shri Badri Prasad Dwivedi, resident of Dubepur, Post Sakardaha ran and reached the spot. By that time, accused Raj Narain Pandey after firing shot, all the three persons fled towards north. On hue and cry, villagers came there but as the accused persons had gun, no one chased them on account of fear. The dead body of his father is lying at the place of occurrence. He gave information and requested that necessary legal action be taken.

(3) On the basis of the aforesaid written report (Ext. Ka.1), check F.I.R., bearing Case Crime No. 141 of 1984, under Sections 302 and 504 I.P.C. was prepared and registered on 09.06.1984 at 12:10 P.M. at Police Station Baghrai, District Pratapgarh, by Head Moharrir Rameshwar (P.W.5) against accused Raj Narain, Kamlesh Kumar and Rajendra Prasad, in the presence of S.I. Syed Maqsood Ahmad (P.W.6), who, after taking up the investigation, copying F.I.R., G.D., recording the statement of complainant at the police station, reached the place of occurrence, where he prepared the inquest report of the body of the deceased Jagat Narain Pandey, photo nash, challan lash, letter to Chief Medical Officer, sample of seal, Thereafter, he sealed the dead body of the deceased and sent it to District Hospital, Pratapgarh through Constable Kaji Mohd. Layak and Kamleshwar Chowidar for post-mortem. He recovered blood stained soil and plain soil from the place of occurrence in separate containers and prepared the recovery memo. He also recovered one live cartridge and spade (QkoMk) from the spot and prepared the recovery memos. He also prepared site plan.

(4) The postmortem of the dead body of the deceased Jagat Narain Pandey was conducted by Dr. R.B. Pandey (P.W.3) on 10.06.1984 at 12:30 P.M. The doctor found the age of the deceased about 35 years and probable time of death was about 28 hours; the deceased was of strong built; both eyes were closed and rigor mortis passed on in upper limbs but present in the lower limbs. He found following ante-mortem injuries on the body of the deceased Jagat Narain Pandey:-

1. Fire arm injury $1\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{1}{2}$ x cavity deep on the Rt. side of chest $1\frac{1}{2}$ above from Rt. nipple at 1 O'clock position. Margins inverted, charring present. Wound of entry.

2. Fire arm injury $1\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{1}{2}$ x cavity deep on right side of the chest. 1" from Rt. nipple at 3.30 O'clock position. Charring present.

On internal examination, Dr. R.B. Pandey found five big pellets and one piece of wad from the body of the deceased; 3rd, 4th and 5th ribs of right side were found fractured; right lung was ruptured and cavity containing two litres of blood; 250 C.C. semi-digested food was also found.

As per the opinion of Dr. R.B. Pandey, the cause of death was due to shock and haemorrhage due to inflicted fire arm injury.

(5) The Investigating Officer, Syed Maqsood Ahmad (P.W.6), after taking the statements of the witnesses and after completion of due investigation, submitted the charge-sheet against the accused persons, Raj Narain, Kamlesh Kumar and Rajendra Prasad, under Sections 302 and 504 I.P.C. on 19.06.1984.

(6) The Chief Judicial Magistrate, Pratapgarh, took the cognizance on the charge-sheet on 28.06.1984 and after making compliance of Section 207 Cr.P.C., committed the case to the Court of Sessions by means of order dated 08.05.1985, where the case was registered as Sessions Trial No. 52 of 1985 and on 18.07.1985, accused Kamlesh Kumar Pandey and Rajendra Prasad Pandey were charged for the offence punishable under Section 302 read with Section 34 I.P.C., whereas accused Raj Narain Pandey was charged under Section 302 I.P.C. (15) It is pertinent to mention that during pendency of the instant appeal, convict/appellant no.1-Raj Narain died and as such, the instant appeal filed on his behalf stood abated by means of order dated 18.11.2023. ARGUMENTS

(16) Heard, Shri R.B.S. Rathore, learned Counsel for the appellant no.2, Shri Rajendra Prasad Mishra, learned Counsel for the appellant no.3 and Shri Umesh Verma, learned A.G.A. for the State.

(17) Learned Counsel appearing on behalf of the convict/appellant no.2 submitted that appellant No.2 has wrongly and illegally been convicted by means of the impugned judgment and order. He submitted that none has seen the occurrence and the investigation has also not been conducted in proper manner and the Investigating Officer had not made any effort to recover the gun used in the crime. Thus, he submitted that the investigation was tainted. Even otherwise, he submitted that the F.I.R. is ante-time because semi-digested food was found in the post- mortem report, therefore, the alleged occurrence could not have been of 08:00 in the morning and the deceased may have been murdered any time in the night but on account of enmity, the appellants have been implicated in the case and there is no F.S.L. report. He further submitted that there was only one gun fire as stated by the P.W.-1, whereas the doctor has given opinion that there may have been two fires. He further submitted that the appellant No.1 has been shown the main assailant but all ingredients of crime could not be proved and the evidence on record does not show that the alleged crime was committed by the common intention of all and there was no involvement of appellant No.2 in the crime, therefore, he could not have been convicted.

(18) On the basis of above, learned Counsel for the appellant no.2 submitted that the impugned judgment and order is not sustainable in the eyes of law and the same is liable to be set-aside and the appellant no.2 is liable to be acquitted. He relied upon Pandurang and others Vs. State of Hyderabad; AIR 1955 SC 216 (Vol. 42, C.N. 37) and Babu Alias Balasubramaniam and Another Vs. State of Tamil Nadu; (2013) 8 SCC 60.

(19) Sri Rajendra Prasad Mishra, learned counsel for the appellant No.3 submitted that the F.I.R. is ante-time because semi-digested food was found in the post mortem report and it is not possible that the deceased would have taken food at 06:00 in the morning. Even otherwise, he submitted that in the village, the food is not taken at such an early hour. He further submitted that it is not disputed that two injuries are not possible from one fire but the doctor has opined that the injuries may be of two fires and the fire has been said to have been made from 10 steps, whereas charring has been found, which is not possible from such a distance and is possible only in the case of firing from three to four feet, therefore, the medical report does not support the prosecution case. He further submitted that there was no meeting of mind between the appellants because they live separately, therefore, the conviction with the aid of Section 34 I.P.C. is not sustainable. He also submitted that admittedly there was no enmity between the parties, therefore, the question of murder of the deceased by the appellants does not arise. He also submitted that the P.W.-2 is a chance witness, therefore, unless his presence on the spot could have been proved by cogent evidence, his testimony is not reliable. He also submitted that there was no overt act of the appellant No.3 and it was a case of sudden fight, therefore, Section 34 I.P.C. will not apply. Thus, Counsel for the appellant no.3 submitted that since there was no prior meeting of mind, therefore, it can not be said that the crime has been committed with common intention of all and the appellant no.3 has been falsely implicated. Even otherwise, his submission is that it may have been a case of sudden fight, in case the Court comes to the conclusion that the appellant No.3 was involved in the occurrence. He also submitted that statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. was recorded on proforma under old Cr.P.C., therefore, the trial itself vitiated and judgment passed in pursuance thereof is liable to be set aside. (20) Per contra, Shri Umesh Verma, learned A.G.A. for the State submitted that impugned judgment and order has rightly been passed in accordance with law and there is no illegality or infirmity in the impugned order. He further submitted that the conviction of the appellant Nos.2 and 3 with the aid of Section 34 I.P.C. has rightly been made in accordance with law because the appellants had committed the crime with common intention and in furtherance thereof, which is apparent from the fact that they came together on the spot armed with weapons and deliberately cut water of the field of the deceased and diverted it towards their field and on being confronted, the appellant Nos.2 and 3 exhorted to kill the deceased and in pursuance thereof, the appellant No.1 killed the deceased by gun, which he was carrying and, thereafter, all ran away from the scene of occurrence. He further submitted that the intention remains locked in the mind of the accused persons and it can be perceived only with previous conduct, conduct at the time of incident and subsequent conduct and the aforesaid conduct of the appellants clearly indicates their common intention and the crime in furtherance thereof. He further submitted that though on the suggestion of the defence, the doctor has stated that two fires may be possible but no evidence in this regard has been adduced, therefore, the appellants are not entitled for any benefit of it. He further submitted that even in the statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., nothing substantive could be disclosed or adduced in evidence. He further submitted that the defence had tried to create a doubt on the incident making question regarding illicit relation of the deceased, which has been specifically denied by the P.W.-1. He further submitted that it is a constant case of the prosecution that the appellant No.1 had come with a gun and a bandolier (belt of cartridges) but there is no cross-examination on the said point, therefore, non recovery of gun is not fatal to the case of prosecution. He further submitted that the prosecution case, as disclosed in the first information report, has been proved by the post mortem report also, which has been proved by the doctor and the evidence adduced during the trial, which is covered under the Clause 3 of Section 300 I.P.C. and proved by the evidence in accordance with Section 137 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 and nothing could be extracted contrary to the manner of assault proved by the prosecution, therefore, even if there may be any negligence in the investigation, it is of no benefit to the appellants. He also submitted that merely by recording statement on the proforma under old Cr.P.C., the trial cannot be said to be vitiated. Thus, learned A.G.A. submitted that the impugned judgment and order has rightly been passed in accordance with law and there is no illegality or error in it, which may call for any interference by this Court.

(22) We have considered the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and perused the records.

(23) The prosecution case, as emerged from the first information report, indicates that on 09.06.1984 at 08:00 in the morning, the father of the complainant was watering the field from drainage of orchard of Satya Narain Tiwari in the west of house and looking after the water with a spade, when his uncle Raj Narain Pandey armed with single barrel gun and a bandolier and Kamlesh Kumar Pandey having lathi and Rajendra Prasad having spade and lathi came on the spot and cut the water course and diverted it towards their field, which shows that the convicted appellants have come on the spot armed with weapons and cut the course of water to the field of the complainant and diverted it to their field and when his father Jagat Narain Pandey confronted them from taking away the water, the appellant No.2, Kamlesh Kumar Pandey and the appellant No.3, Rajendra Prasad exhorted आज सले को जान से मार डालो देख लेंगे and on their exhortation, Raj Narain Pandey fired from his gun at his father, which hit his father on the right side of his chest and he fell down and died. During this quarrel, the complainant, his brother-in-law, Shiv Prakash Mishra and Kailash Narain Dwivedi ran and reached on the spot but by that time, after firing shot, all the three persons fled away towards the north. In view of above, the conduct prior to the occurrence, at the time of occurrence and subsequent conduct of the appellants shows that they had come on spot armed with weapons and prepared to cut the course of water to the field of the complainant and to divert it to their field and on being confronted, the appellant Nos.2 and 3 exhorted to kill, on which, the appellant No.1 killed, thereafter, when the complainant and other witnesses ran and reached near the deceased, the accused persons fled away.

(24) The complainant appeared as P.W.-1, who proved the prosecution case, as disclosed in the F.I.R. He also stated that alongwith him, his brother-in-law, Shiv Prakash Mishra was also present on the spot. He also stated that Kailash Narain Dwivedi has also seen the incident but he has been win over and not ready to give the impartial evidence. He proved the written report as Ex. Ka-1 and also stated that his statement was recorded by the Inspector at the police station and the Inspector visited the place of occurrence in his presence. In the cross-examination, nothing could be extracted, which may created any doubt on the testimony of P.W.-1 given in the examination-in-chief. The cross-examination also indicates that no cross-examination has been made in regard to the presence of the accused appellants, about the manner in which the crime was committed as well as exhortation by the appellant Nos.2 and 3, in pursuance of which, the appellant No.1 had fired from his gun and killed the deceased.

(25) The brother-in-law of the complainant, Shiv Prakash Mishra appeared as P.W.-2, who is also an eye witness and proved the prosecution case. The cross-examination made from him also could not extract anything, which may create any doubt about his testimony, rather he reiterated the evidence given in the examination-in-chief and the fact that the appellant Nos.2 and 3, Kamlesh and Rajendra had exhorted. He also stated that he had come a day before to his in-laws' house and accompanied them to field on the said day. His presence on spot has been proved by P.W.-1 and P.W.-4, an independent eye witness, therefore, his evidence cannot be discarded on the ground of chance witness. Thus, the prosecution case has been proved by two eye witnesses, who appeared as P.W.-1 and P.W.-2.

(26) The post mortem of the deceased was conducted on the next day i.e. on 10.06.1984 at 12:30 PM by Dr. R.B. Pandey, who appeared as P.W.-3 and proved the post mortem report as Ex. Ka-2 as well as the injuries recorded therein. He also stated that the deceased could have died on 09.06.1984 at 08:00 in the morning. He also disclosed that the cause of death was shock and hemorrhage due to inflicted fire arm injuries. He also stated that ante-mortem injuries were sufficient for death in normal course. In the cross-examination, he stated that 250 C.C. semi-digested food was found in the stomach of the deceased, therefore, he would have eaten about two or two and half hours before the death. He also disclosed that the firing would have been done from a distance of 3 - 4 feet and he is in agreement with the opinion of Dr. Modi. He also stated that it is possible that the injuries may have been caused by one or two fires and there may be difference of 6 - 7 hours in the time of death on either side. On the written request, he was further cross-examined by the defence, in which, he stated that the injury Nos.1 and 2 are possible to have come by one fire. Thus, the post-mortem and the injuries have also supported the prosecution case except for the doubt, which has been tried to be created as to how two injuries could have been caused by one fire and the doctor has opined that both the injuries could have been caused by one fire, though he stated there may have been two fires, however, it was merely an opinion on suggestion and no evidence has been adduced in this regard, therefore, the appellants are not entitled for any benefit of it. However, time of death and duration, after which the post-mortem was done, remained un rebutted.

(27) Kailash Narain Dwivedi has been shown as an eye witness in the F.I.R. He filed an application dated 09.07.1985 alongwith an affidavit stating therein that he was not present on the place of spot and had gone to Agra near the son of his brother in connection with a job and he does not want to give false evidence to implicate an innocent person, thus, he may be relieved from giving evidence. However, he appeared during trial as P.W.-4. In the examination-in-chief, he stated that at the time of murder of Jagat Narain, he was at home and he has not seen the incident and the Inspector had not taken his statement. He was declared hostile and cross-examined by the prosecution. In the cross-examination, he stated that it is wrong to say that he has collided with the accused persons and does not want to state the correct things. He further stated that upon hearing hue and cry, he reached on the spot and at that time 2 - 3 hours have been passed on opening of the day, when he reached there, where Jagat Narain was lying on the east of the drainage. Thus, he supported the time of incident at about 08:00 in the morning. He also stated that when he reached on the spot, son of Jagat Narain i.e. Santosh Kumar Pandey and brother-in-law of Santosh i.e. Shiv Prakash Mishra and other villagers were present and on reaching the spot, he asked as to what has happened. Then Santosh and his brother-in-law informed that the accused persons, who are present in the Court, have killed the Jagat Narain. He also stated that he had seen two persons fleeing away in east from the spot, where Jagat Narain was lying, out of which, one was having gun in his hand and other was having lathi. He also stated that he was told that on account of change of course of water, the quarrel took place. He also stated that he had seen water flowing in the drainage. He also stated that the Inspector had come at about 02:00 and prepared the inquest, in which, he is a witness. He also proved his signatures on the inquest. Thus, his presence on the spot can not be doubted and he supported the prosecution case.

(28) The P.W.-4 also stated that it is true that he is being pressurized in the village as to why Raj Narain would be got hanged by giving the evidence because the deceased and Raj Narain were real brothers. He also stated that it is true that on account of it, he is not giving any evidence against Raj Narain. In the cross-examination by the defence, he accepted his signatures on paper Nos. 6 Kha, 7 Kha and 8 Kha and that they were made in the premises of Court. However, he stated that he had made signatures without reading the affidavit because he is illiterate. He further stated that the accused Kamlesh and father-in-law of his sister were with him when he had made the said signatures. He also stated that they had brought him for the affidavit and the said affidavit was neither read before him nor typed before him nor it was told to him in the village that the affidavit is to be given in regard to seeing or not seeing the incident and he had also not asked before proceeding from the village as to what is to be written in the affidavit. He also stated that he does not dispute that his nephew is residing in Agra and he had gone to Agra in search of a job but he specifically stated that he had not got written any paper Nos.7 Kha and 8 Kha mentioning that he had not seen any incident and he was not present on the spot, while truth is that the aforesaid persons stated that give the evidence because who knows that he was in Agra or not and it has wrongly been written and he was only told that he would not have to give any evidence and he had come to know it on the date of affidavit. He denied the suggestion to have given the affidavit i.e. paper No. 7 Kha correctly and he is deviating from the affidavit under the pressure of the brother-in-law of the Santosh and police.

(29) The aforesaid evidence of P.W.-4 indicates that though he has been declared hostile and may have not seen the incident but he has proved the place of occurrence and the persons, who were present on the spot at the time of occurrence. He has also proved the presence of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 and also the evidence given by them, which was told to him upon his reaching on the spot. He has also proved that at least two persons were fleeing away from the spot, out of which, one was having a gun and another lathi, which were with the appellants. The evidence of P.W.-4 also shows the conduct of the appellants subsequent to the incident, i.e. running away from the place of incident and particularly that of the appellant No.2, Kamlesh, who got a false affidavit of P.W.-2 prepared in favour of the appellants and to show that he was neither present in the village nor on the place of occurrence, whereas the P.W.-4 has discarded the statements made in the affidavit, therefore, he had not gone to Agra on the date of incident. It also shows that the false affidavit was got prepared by misleading the P.W.-4 on the ground that he would not have to come to the Court to adduce the evidence, so that the correct position may not come before Court. The swearing of affidavit by P.W.-4 with a view that he may not have to appear in evidence cannot be disbelieved, firstly, because nothing could be extracted from him in the cross-examination and, secondly, it is a natural human conduct that normally the persons, who have seen the incident, avoid to give any evidence in Court of law because they remain afraid of the questions, which may be asked in the cross-examination and they or their family may have any difficulty in future.

(30) The main thrust of the arguments of learned counsel for the appellants was that there was no meeting of mind of the appellant Nos.1, 2 and 3, therefore, their conviction has wrongly and illegally been made. It was also argued that the charge against the appellant No.1 was made under Section 302 I.P.C., whereas charge against the appellant Nos.2 and 3 was made under Section 302 I.P.C. read with Section 34 I.P.C., therefore, since the charge against the appellant No.1 was not made under Section 302 I.P.C. read with Section 34 I.P.C., therefore, the appellant Nos.2 and 3 could not have been convicted with the appellant No.1 with the aid of Section 34 I.P.C. on the basis of constructive liability.

(31) Section 34 of I.P.C. provides that when a criminal act is done by several persons with a pre-meditated mind of committing crime, each of them is liable for the said criminal act in the same manner as if it was done by him alone. Section 34 I.P.C. is extracted here-in-below:-

"34. Acts done by several persons in furtherance of common intention. - When a criminal act is done by several persons in furtherance of the common intention of all, each of such persons is liable for that act in the same manner as if it were done by him alone."

(32) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Ramesh Singh @ Photti Vs. State of A.P. (Supra), held that essence of the liability under Section 34 I.P.C. is to be found in the existence of a common intention connecting the accused leading to the doing of a criminal act in furtherance of such intention and the inference can be gathered by the manner in which the accused arrived at the scene, mounted the attack, determination and concert with which the attack was made, from the nature of injury caused by one or some of them. It has further been held in this regard that an illegal omission on the part of such accused can indicate the sharing of common intention. Thus, the totality of circumstances is to be taken into consideration in each case. The relevant paragraph 12 is extracted here-in-below:-

"12. To appreciate the arguments advanced on behalf of the appellants it is necessary to understand the object of incorporating Section 34 in the Indian Penal Code. As a general principle in a case of criminal liability it is the primary responsibility of the person who actually commits the offence and only that person who has committed the crime can be held to guilty. By introducing Section 34 in the penal code the Legislature laid down the principle of joint liability in doing a criminal act. The essence of that liability is to be found in the existence of a common intention connecting the accused leading to the doing of a criminal act in furtherance of such intention. Thus, if the act is the result of a common intention then every person who did the criminal act with that common intention would be responsible for the offence committed irrespective of the share which he had in its perpetration. Section 34 IPC embodies the principles of joint liability in doing the criminal act based on a common intention. Common intention essentially being a state of mind it is very difficult to procure direct evidence to prove such intention. Therefore, in most cases it has to be inferred from the act like, the conduct of the accused or other relevant circumstances of the case. The inference can be gathered by the manner in which the accused arrived at the scene, mounted the attack, determination and concert with which the attack was made, from the nature of injury caused by one or some of them. The contributory acts of the persons who are not responsible for the injury can further be inferred from the subsequent conduct after the attack. In this regard even an illegal omission on the part of such accused can indicate the sharing of common intention. In other words, the totality of circumstances must be taken into consideration in arriving at the conclusion whether the accused had the common intention to commit an offence of which they could be convicted."

(33) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Pandurang and others Vs. State of Hyderabad (Supra), has held that it is well established that a common intention presupposes prior concert. It requires a pre-arranged plan because before a man can be vicariously convicted for the criminal act of another, the act must have been done in furtherance of the common intention of them all:- 'Mahbub Shah v. Emperor; AIR 1945 PC 118 at pp. 120 & 121 (B). Accordingly there must have been a prior meeting of minds. It has further been held that the plan need not be elaborate, nor is long interval of time required, it could arise and be formed suddenly either by their words or their acts. It has further been held that prior concert and arrangement can, and indeed often must, be determined from subsequent conduct.

(34) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Vijayanti Vs. State of Maharashtra (Supra), has held that common intention can be formed even on the spot but for the said purpose, it is essential to consider the role played by the accused.

(35) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Virendra Singh Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh (Supra), considered the scope of Section 34 I.P.C. and observed that the vicarious or constructive liability under section 34 I.P.C. can arise only when two conditions stand fulfilled, i.e., the mental element or the intention to commit the criminal act conjointly with another or others; and the other is the actual participation in one form or the other in the commission of the crime. This participation need not in all cases be by physical presence. Section 34 I.P.C. does not create any distinct offence but it lays down the principle of constructive liability. The relevant paragraph 47 is extracted herein below:-

"47. Section 34 IPC does not create any distinct offence, but it lays down the principle of constructive liability. Section 34 IPC stipulates that the act must have been done in furtherance of the common intention. In order to incur joint liability for an offence there must be a pre-arranged and pre- meditated concert between the accused persons for doing the act actually done, though there might not be long interval between the act and the pre-meditation and though the plan may be formed suddenly. In order that section 34 IPC may apply, it is not necessary that the prosecution must prove that the act was done by a particular or a specified person. In fact, the section is intended to cover a case where a number of persons act together and on the facts of the case it is not possible for the prosecution to prove as to which of the persons who acted together actually committed the crime. Little or no distinction exists between a charge for an offence under a particular section and a charge under that section read with section 34."

(36) A division Bench of this Court, in the case of Vijai @ Babban Vs. State of U.P. (Supra), relied on several reports of the Hon'ble Supreme Court and has held that in general, principle of criminal law is that the person who commits the offence be held guilty. Yet, Section 34 I.P.C. introduces joint liability. The relevant paragraph 29 is extracted herein below:-

"29. In general, principle of criminal law is that the person who commits the offence be held guilty. Yet, section 34 of Indian Penal Code introduces joint liability. The essence of joint liability is in existence of a common intention connecting all the accused to the doing of a criminal act, in furtherance of such common intention. Upon existence of common intention being established, individual acts of the principal offenders, in the actual occurrence, loses relevance. All participants who may act with that common intention would become equally liable for the offence committed. Common intention essentially is a state of mind. Therefore, it is very difficult to procure direct evidence to prove its existence. Hence, in majority of cases it has to be inferred from the overt or covert act, other relevant circumstances of the case and conduct of the accused in the totality of circumstances of the case. In this regard gainfully, para 12 of the judgment of apex court in the case of Ramesh Singh @ Photti VS State Of A. P. AIR 2004 (SC) 4545, is reads as under:"

(37) In view of above, a person can be held liable for the offence, which he may not have committed directly but the crime has been committed in furtherance of the common intention of the said person also and he also had intention to commit the crime, which has been committed and in case it may not have been committed by the person, who committed, he may have committed that crime and on proof of the fact that there was a joint meeting of mind, which may be prior to the incident or on the spot or may be even if he was not present on the spot, he can be convicted in the same manner, in which the person who has committed the crime. Thus, Section 34 I.P.C. is only an enabling provision for convicting a person, who is not directly connected with the crime, but participated in any manner in commission of crime and even if the charge of offence with the aid of said Section 34 I.P.C. has not been framed, he may be convicted. Thus, the contention of learned counsel for the appellants that since charge against the appellant No.1 has been made only under Section 302 I.P.C. and the appellant Nos.2 and 3 under Sections 302 I.P.C. read with Section 34 I.P.C., therefore, they could not have been convicted with the appellant No.1 as it cannot be said that they had meeting of mind or common intention of committing the crime i.e. murder in the instant case and the appellant No.1 has committed the crime in furtherance thereof, which is misconceived and not tenable because even if the charge under Section 302 I.P.C. read with Section 34 I.P.C. would not have been made against the appellant Nos.2 and 3 and they would have been found to have common intention of committing the crime, which has been committed by the appellant No.1 and the appellant No.1 has committed the crime in furtherance thereof, they would have been convicted with the aid of Section 34 I.P.C. because it only provides the condition, in which the persons, who have common intention to commit the crime, are liable to be convicted and separate living and no enmity cannot be grounds of escape, if it is otherwise proved.

(38) Adverting to the facts of the present case, the common intention and meeting of mind of the appellant Nos.1, 2 and 3 is apparent from the prior conduct of the appellants of reaching on the spot armed with single barrel gun, bandolier, lathi and spade for the purpose of stopping the course of water towards the complainant and for opening it towards their field and it shows that they had come with intention that in case they are stopped from doing it, they may use the weapons, which they had brought and they used the deadly weapons, which they had brought. The conduct at the time of incident discloses that they had all meeting of mind to commit the crime either since prior to the incident or it was on the spot because on being prevented from changing the course of water from opening the course of water towards their field by stopping it towards the complainant's field, the appellant Nos.2 and 3 exhorted for opening the course of water towards their field and also exhorted to kill the deceased and upon their exhortation, the appellant No.1, who was on the other side of the drainage, fired on the deceased, who was standing on the south of the appellant No.1. The subsequent conduct of fleeing away from the sight, when the complainant and other witnesses ran towards the deceased also shows that they had accomplished their motive, therefore, left the spot and the appellant No.2 made an attempt also to prevent P.W.-4 from giving evidence.

(39) The learned Trial Court, after considering the evidence and material on record, has recorded a finding that the statements of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 that the accused Raj Narain, Kamlesh and Rajendra Prasad were present on the spot is trustworthy and Kamlesh and Rajendra Prasad exhorted and on their exhortation, Raj Narain made fire, which hit deceased and he died. Thus, these two accused persons are guilty of offence of murder with the aid of Section 34 I.P.C., although they have not caused any injury to the deceased by the lathi or legs and fists. It has further been recorded that the statements of aforesaid two witnesses found corroboration with the F.I.R. and cutting of the water and diverting it from the drain is not possible unless there is instrument like spade (fawda) with the accused. The F.I.R. narrates that accused Rajendra Prasad had a fawda alongwith lathi and others also had lathi and gun and this fact is proved by the evidence of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2. It has also been recorded that the aforesaid evidence of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 are corroborated with the statement of P.W.-4 on the point of their presence on the spot, running of water in the drain, time and place. The statement of P.W.-4 is relevant under Section 8 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. The evidence of the witnesses has been recorded in accordance with Section 137 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. The learned Trial Court has relied upon a judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court rendered in the case of Nachhattar Singh Vs. State of Punjab; 1976 S.C.C.(Cri.) Page 182, in which their Lordships of the Hon'ble Supreme Court have held that one could find all the appellants guilty with the aid of Section 34 I.P.C.

(40) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Patai @ Krishna Kumar Vs. State of U.P. (Supra), has held that Section 34 I.P.C. lays down that when a criminal act is done by several persons in furtherance of the common intention of all, each of such persons is liable for that act in the same manner as if it were done by him alone.

(41) The judgment rendered in the case of Babu Alias Balasubramaniam and Another Vs. State of Tamil Nadu (Supra) is not applicable in the facts and circumstances of the present case because in the said case the accused was charged for the offence punishable under Section 302 I.P.C. read with Section 34 I.P.C. and there was no charge under Section 109 I.P.C., which by itself is an independent offence though punishable in the context of other offence, therefore, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that she cannot, therefore, be convicted for offence punishable under Section 304 Part I of the I.P.C. with the aid of Section 109 of the I.P.C.

(42) A contention was raised that at the most, it can be said to be an incident occurred on sudden provocation, which has no legs to stand and liable to be repelled only in view of Section 300 (thirdly) and Exception 1 (first) of the I.P.C. for the reason that the appellants had come prepared with arms and instrument for cutting and changing course of water and cut the water of deceased and opened towards them and on being confronted, after committing crime fled away from the spot leaving the deceased real brother of appellant No.1. The site plan, Ex. Ka-10, prepared by the Investigating Officer on the pointing out of the complainant, clearly discloses the position of the place of closing of drainage and opening of drainage as well as the places of the deceased, the appellant No.1 and the appellant Nos.2 and 3 and their way of fleeing away from the spot and witnesses, which could not be disputed in the trial or before this Court in any manner.

(43) The incident had occurred on account of a dispute over diverting of water by the accused persons forcibly and the deceased asked the accused not to do so, on account of which, the appellant Nos.2 and 3 exhorted and the appellant No.1 opened fire on the deceased, on account of which, he sustained injuries and died. Thus, the motive for the crime also stands proved. The appellant Nos.1 and 2 have also alleged that the deceased was a man of loose character and some unknown persons have murdered him and when the accused, Kamlesh went for natural call, some persons raised hue and cry and he has been falsely implicated in the case. Besides it, he and his father did not help P.W.-1 in Gurudin's murder case, therefore, they have been falsely implicated in the case. However, neither it could be proved nor this enmity, which is too remote and can be said to have a call for false implication of appellant Nos.2 and 3. The learned Trial Court, after considering it, has recorded a finding that there is no reason why the real nephew would involve his real uncle and would spare the real assailants and it further recorded a finding that contention of learned counsel for the accused persons that the motive has not been proved or they had no motive to commit the murder is of no help to the defence. Thus, this Court finds no illegality or error in the findings recorded by the learned Trial Court in this regard.

(44) It has also been submitted that there is discrepancy between the medical evidence and the statements of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 as only single fire has been shown, whereas two injuries were found on the body of the deceased and the fire has been shown to have been made from a distance of about 10 steps, therefore, the blackening and charring are not possible. The P.W.-3, Dr. R.B. Pandey has stated that these injuries may also be caused by one fire and the learned Trial Court has found it to be correct because if one injury either injury No.1 or No.2 is caused first, second injury in this close range is not possible as the person would fall down after receiving any injury, out of the two injuries first, therefore, injury No.2 is nothing but a part of injury No.1, which is on account of dispersal of pellets. The learned Trial Court has also recorded that the cartridge did not appear to be of standard size and it was a self loaded cartridge. The wadding piece is of extra-ordinary width and appears to be of polyster or of some very hard substance. In a standard weapon, the wadding piece is of cardboard. It also appears that the wadding piece recovered from the body of the deceased also worked as a pellet and in case if a cartridge is self loaded the material or the powder which was used cannot be ascertained. From Ex. Ka-2, it is apparent that charring was present in injury No.1 as well as in injury No.2. Nowhere it is written that charring was present on the wound of entry only as the distance between the two wounds is very less, therefore, charring all around these two injuries is most probable. It is also noticed that country made pistol was used, therefore, principles of medical jurisprudence of Dr. Modi in regard to standard weapon and bullet may not of much help. On internal examination, third, fourth and fifth ribs were found fractured and right lung was also found ruptured, which shows that fire was very heavy and some extra-ordinary material i.e. gun powder or blastic powder was used.

(45) The learned Trial Court has also recorded a finding that during the course of argument, it has come that the accused Raj Narain is compulsory retired police personnel but evidence to this effect is not there on the record but this fact that he was in police department is not denied, therefore, he being a police personnel was considered to have a licensed gun. Thereafter, the learned Trial Court, after considering the evidence of P.W.-1, P.W.-2 and P.W.-4 and the circumstances of the incident, has recorded a finding that the alleged conflict between the direct and medical evidence are not applicable on the facts of the present case.

(46) An argument was also raised on the basis of post-mortem report that 250 C.C. semi-digested food was found inside the body of the deceased, therefore, he could not have been murdered at 08:00 in the morning because it is highly improbable that he would have taken the food at 06:00 in the morning. The contention of learned counsel for the appellants is misconceived and not tenable for the reason that in natural course once the person leaves the home for work, he normally takes something and in the villages, people before going to the field usually eat something. The learned Trial Court has recorded that if a person takes a cup of tea and biscuits, it would be 250 C.C. in the measurement and it is just possible that before leaving the house in the morning, the deceased might have taken a glass of milk or half glass of tea or some other liquid and a piece of bread and, therefore, the contention of learned counsel for the accused is of no help to the accused and it cannot be said that F.I.R. was ante-time. This Court does not find any illegality or error in the aforesaid findings recorded by the learned Trial Court on the point of alleged conflict between the medical and the oral testimony and is in agreement with the findings recorded by the learned Trial Court.

(47) The judgments rendered in the case of Parshuram Singh Vs. State of Bihar (Supra), State of Uttar Pradesh Vs. Farid Khan (Supra), Nagaraja Vs. State of Karnataka (Supra), Anand Mohan Vs. State of Bihar (Supra), Garib Singh and others Vs. The State of Punjab (Supra) and Jainul Haque Vs. State of Bihar (Supra) relied by learned counsel for the appellant No.3 are of no assistance to his case as the same have been passed in the facts and circumstances of those cases and are distinguishable on the facts and circumstances of the present case.

(48) One of the grounds urged by learned counsel for the appellant No.3 was that the investigation was tainted and was not done in proper manner, therefore, the appellants could not have been convicted. However, merely on account of some discrepancy in the investigation and fault on the part of Investigating Officer, it could not be a ground for acquittal if the charge is otherwise proved beyond reasonable doubt during the trial. Our view is supported by judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court, rendered in the case of Leela Ram (Dead) Through Duli Chand Vs. State of Haryana and Another (Supra), in which the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that it is now a well settled principle that any irregularity or even an illegality during investigation ought not to be treated as a ground to reject the prosecution case.

"all notifications published, proclamations issued, powers conferred, forms prescribed, local jurisdictions defined, sentences passed and orders, rules and appointments, not being appointments as Special Magistrates, made under the Old Code and which are in force immediately before the commencement of this Code, shall be deemed, respectively, to have been published, issued, conferred, prescribed, defined, passed or made under the corresponding provisions of this Code;

(50) Section 8 of The General Clauses Act, 1897 provides Construction of references to repealed enactments. It provides that where this Act, or any Central Act or Regulation made after the commencement of this Act, repeals and re-enacts, with or without modification, any provision of a former enactment, then references in any other enactment or in any instrument to the provision so repealed shall, unless a different intention appears, be construed as references to the provision so re-enacted. In view of above, the object of the provision is that where any act is repealed and re-enacted, references in any other enactment or instrument to provisions of the repealed former enactment must be read and construed as references to the corresponding provision of re-enacted new provision, unless a different intention appears. Thus, the reference to the provision in the format, on which the statement under Section 364 Cr.P.C., 1898 was recorded, would be referable to Section 313 Cr.P.C., 1973.

(51) In view of above, the forms prescribed under the old Act have been deemed to have been prescribed under the corresponding provisions of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. Perusal of the records indicates that though the statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. of the accused/appellants were recorded, but it started on the proforma prescribed for statement under Section 364 of the Criminal Procedure Code, 1898, whereas it is mentioned in the order dated 06.08.1986 passed by the learned Trial Court that the case is fixed on the next date i.e. on 13.08.1986 for statement of accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

(52) Learned counsel for the appellants failed to point out any discrepancy, illegality or error in the statements of the appellants under Section 313 Cr.P.C. except above. This Court is of the view that it may be an irregularity and cannot be said to an illegality affecting the trial or merit of case in itself, on account of which the whole trial may be said to have vitiated. Even otherwise, learned counsel for the appellants has failed to point out any discrepancy or illegality in the statements of the appellants recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., as referred in the order sheet of the said date, in any manner or it may have caused any prejudice to the appellants in any manner. It is also settled in law that merely by mentioning of wrong provision, the order or any proceeding etc. cannot be said to be vitiated and set aside. Even otherwise, it may have been a procedural violation only, therefore, the appellants have to show that on account of it, they could not get proper opportunity to defend them and it prejudiced them in any manner, but they failed to do so. Thus, the contention in this regard is wholly misconceived and not tenable and liable to be repelled, repelled accordingly.

(53) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of State of Uttar Pradesh Vs. Sudhir Kumar Singh and Others; (2021) 19 SCC 706, held that breach of the audi alteram partem rule cannot by itself, without more, lead to the conclusion that prejudice is thereby caused. Where procedural and/or substantive provisions of law embody the principles of natural justice, their infraction per se does not lead to invalidity of the orders passed.

(54) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of State of Madhya Pradesh Vs. Ramesh and Another (Supra), has held that statement of the accused made under Section 313 Cr.P.C. can be taken into consideration to appreciate the truthfulness or otherwise of the prosecution case. The relevant paragraph No.28 is extracted herein below:-

"28. Statement of the accused made under Section 313 Cr.P.C. can be taken into consideration to appreciate the truthfulness or otherwise of the prosecution case. However, as such a statement is not recorded after administration of oath and the accused cannot be cross-examined, his statement so recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. can not be treated to be evidence within the meaning of Section 3 of the Evidence Act, 1872. Section 315 Cr.P.C. enables an accused to give evidence on his own behalf to disprove the charges made against him. However, for such a course, the accused has to offer in writing to give his evidence in defence. Thus, the accused becomes ready to enter into the witness box, to take oath and to be cross-examined on behalf of the prosecution and/or of the accomplice, if it is so required. (Vide: Tukaram G. Gaokar v. R.N. Shukla & Ors., AIR 1968 SC 1050; and Dehal Singh v. State of Himachal Pradesh, (2010) 9 SCC 85). In such a fact-situation, the accused being a competent witness, can depose in his defence and his evidence can be considered and relied upon while deciding the case."

(55) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Shivaji Sahebrao Bobade and Another Vs. State of Maharashtra (Supra), has held that it is trite law, nevertheless fundamental that the prisoner's attention should be drawn to every inculpatory material so as to enable him to explain it. This is the basic fairness of a criminal trial and failures in this area many gravely imperil the validity of the trial itself, if consequential miscarriage of justice has flowed. However, where such an omission has occurred it does not ipso facto vitiate the proceedings and prejudice occasioned by such defect must be established by the accused. In the event of evidentiary material not being put to the accused, the court must ordinarily eschew such material from consideration. The relevant portion of paragraph 16 is extracted herein below:-

"16. It is trite law, nevertheless fundamental that the prisoner's attention should be drawn to every inculpatory material so as to enable him to explain it. This is the basic fairness of a criminal trial and failures in this area many gravely imperil the validity of the trial itself, if consequential miscarriage of justice has flowed. However, where such an omission has occurred it does not ipso facto vitiate the proceedings and- prejudice occasioned by such defect must be established by the accused. In the event of evidentiary material not being put to the accused, the court must ordinarily eschew such material from consideration. it is also open to the appellate court to call has as regards the circumstances established against him but not put to him and if the accused is unable to offer the appellate court any plausible or reasonable explanation of Such circumstances, the court may assume that no acceptable answer exists and that even if the accused had been questioned at the proper time in the trial court he would not have been able to furnish any good ground to get out of the circumstances on which the trial court had relied for its conviction. In such a case, the court proceeds on the footing that though a grave irregularity has occurred as regards compliance with section 342, Cr. P.C., the omission has not been shown to have caused prejudice to the accused....."

(56) Similar view has been taken by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Aejaz Ahmad Sheikh Vs. State of U.P. and Another (Supra).

(57) In view of above and considering the over all facts and circumstances of the case, this Court does not find any illegality or error in the impugned judgment and order passed by the learned Trial Court, which has been passed by a reasoned and speaking order after considering the evidence and material on record appropriately as the charge under Section 302 I.P.C. read with Section 34 I.P.C. has rightly and in accordance with law been found proved against the appellants. The appeal has been filed on misconceived and baseless grounds, which lacks merit.

(58) The appeal is, accordingly dismissed, upholding the impugned judgment and order passed by the learned Trial Court. The conviction of the appellants for the offence punishable under Section 302 I.P.C. read with Section 34 I.P.C. is upheld and the sentence awarded is confirmed.

(59) The appellant No.1, Raj Narain has died and the appeal on his behalf has abated, whereas the appellant No.2, Kamlesh and the appellant No.3, Rajendra Prasad are on bail. The appellant No.2, Kamlesh and the appellant No.3, Rajendra Prasad are directed to surrender within a period of two weeks from today before the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Pratapgarh, who shall send them to jail to serve out the sentence, failing which, the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Pratapgarh shall take appropriate steps in accordance with law for their arrest to serve out the sentence.

(60) Let a copy of this judgment alongwith Trial Court's Record be transmitted to the Court concerned forthwith and in any case within a period of one week from today for compliance.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for Appellant(s) : R.B. Sahai, Raj Kumar Sharma, Sunil Kumar Counsel for Respondent(s): A.G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Jai Krishna Upadhyay, J.)

1. Heard Sri Raj Kumar Sharma, learned counsel for the appellants, the learned AGA for the State, and perused the material available on record and the judgment of the trial court.

2. The present criminal appeal has been preferred against the judgment and order dated 01.09.1987 passed by the Vth Additional Sessions Judge, Fatehpur, in Sessions Trial No. 173 of 1987 (State vs. Bachan Singh and others) u/s 302/34 IPC, Police Station - Khaga, District Fatehpur.

3. During the pendency of this appeal, accused-appellant no. 2 Ram Kumar died and, therefore, appeal against him is abated vide order dated 02.02.2026.

4. A brief narrative of the prosecution story, as discernible from the F.I.R., is that the informant is the son of the deceased. He stated that the deceased, Kunjal Prasad, accompanied by his son and one Udaibhan, R/o village Bharkhana, were going to call for labourers for planting their paddy crop. In the meantime, they decided to call labourers from village Sangrampur. As soon as they reached nearby a pond known as 'Gaviyan Talab', they saw that the accused persons, namely Bachan Singh, Jageshwar, Jagdish, and Ram Kumar, were surrounding the deceased. The accused Bachan Singh and Jagdish were armed with guns, Jageshwar was with a lathi, and Ram Kumar was with a 'tamanchha' in their hands. It was about 8:00 am when Jageshwar challenged them to kill the deceased, shouting that he must not be allowed them to escape. Upon the exhortation, accused Bachan Singh opened fire with an intention to kill the deceased Kunjal Prasad. The other accused persons also started firing by their 'tamanchhas' and guns from a very close distance. The deceased received gunshot injuries and fell down on the ground. Upon hearing the sound of the gunshots, Sukhlal and Ram Prasad came there and also saw the entire incident. The accused persons, after opening fire, ran away. Thereafter, the FIR was lodged on 18.07.1986 at 8:00 am under Section 154 Cr.P.C. at police station - Khaga, District-Fatehpur.

5. During the course of investigation, the Investigating Officer prepared the site plan and inquest report of the dead body, recorded the statements of witnesses, and thereafter submitted the charge sheet on which cognizance was taken, and the case was committed to the Court of Sessions Judge.

6. The accused persons Bachan Singh, Jagdish, and Ram Kumar were charged by the Vth Additional Sessions Judge, Fatehpur, for an offence punishable under section 302 IPC on 01.05.1987. They denied the charges and claimed to be tried.

7. To prove the prosecution case, the prosecution examined a total of 5 witnesses: P.W.-1, Shiv Sahai @ Khoonti; P.W.-2, Udai Bhan; P.W.-3, Ram Deen Tiwari; P.W.-4, Shrinath Pathak; and P.W.-5, Dr. R.J. Khare. The accused persons were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. No evidence in defence was led by the accused persons.

8. PW-1, Shiv Sahai @Khunti, has stated that Kunjal Prasad was his father and he was killed 11 months ago. On the date of the incident, the witness and his father Kunjal Prasad, along with Udai Bhan, were going to call for labourers from village Sangrampur and when they reached near 'Gaviyan Talab'; there, the witness and Udai Bhan stopped to urinate. While they were urinating, they saw the accused persons Bachan, Jageshwar, Jagdish, and Ram Kumar surrounding the witness's father. The accused Bachan Singh and Jagdish were armed with guns, Jageshwar was with a lathi, and Ram Kumar was with a tamanchha. It was about 8:00 am when Jageshwar exhorted the other accused persons to kill the deceased. He was shouting that the deceased must not be allowed to escape, Hearing this the accused Bachan Singh opened fire with an intention to kill the deceased Kunjal Prasad. Thereafter, the other accused persons also started opening fire by tamanchha and gun while they had from a very close distance. His father received gunshot injuries and fell down on the ground.

Hearing the sound of the gunshots, Sukhlal and Ram Prasad came there and also saw the entire incident. After coming to know about the incident, the witness's younger brother Pappu also came there. He got a report written by Jagannath and on that basis, the FIR was registered. There were some existing agricultural disputes between Dwarika Pandit and the accused persons, and because the witness's father was doing pairavi on behalf of Dwarika Pandit and he had won the case, the accused persons were inimical with his father. Due to that rivalry Bachan Singh had lodged a false report against them, and for making a false complaint against them, the witness's father was having a personal grudge with Bachan Singh. His grandfather's son is Nanga alias Ram Sahai. was the accused in the murder case of Kedar and Lallu. The accused Bachan Singh was a witness in that case. Nanga was also a named accused in the robbery that took place in Kanhai Lal's house and was also an accused in the murder case of Badlu Chamar. The witness stated that he did not know whether Nanga was an accused in the 325 case of Sangrampur. It is wrong to say that Nanga used to misbehave because of the influence of his father's position as Pradhan and hence people were angry with his father. Village Sangrampur was 22 or 23 furlongs away from his village to the west. Gabiyan pond is located somewhere near his village. People from his village went to Gabiyan pond for nature's call.

In cross examination, he had stated that, Ram Kumar's village, Tesahi Pur, was 2 to 2 1/2 kms away from his village. Accused Jageshwar's village was 6-7 kms away. He knew Jageshwar from before the incident. There were many residents of his village who worked as labourers. They also worked at his house. But whenever there was a shortage, they had to go to Sangrampur, which was a larger village with lots of workers available. Udai Bhan came on the 17th. He also needed some labourers. He had taken many available workers with him so that they could work in his fields. The witness did not write this in the report and could not tell any reason for not writing the same. It is wrong to say that they did not go to call any labourer. He had left and thereafter had again come back on the 18th. He came back as soon as the sun rose on the 18th. He drank tea and ate paan and had left. Pradhan had gargled; that is why he left at 8 o'clock. He did not have breakfast with tea.

He never came to his place for the people before the 17th. It is wrong to say that Udai Bhan was a close friend of his father and hence his name was falsely written in the report. There were a total of 4-5 fires shot and his father got injured by three of them. Sukhlal and Ram Prasad were present at the place of occurrence before the incident. He rightly wrote the name of Udai Bhan and Ram Prasad. The accused persons ran away when several other persons gathered there. It is wrong to say that he, due to enmity with Ram Gopal Tripathi, had implicated him. It is true that he implicated Jageshwar because there were talks of a marriage relation between Bachan Singh's brother and the house of Jageshwar.

9. PW-2, Udai Bhan, has submitted that this incident occurred approximately 11 months ago. It was around 8:00 am when Kunjal Pradhan, the witness, and the elder son of the deceased were traveling to village Sangrampur to hire labourers. The witness stated that he and the son of the deceased both started urinating near a mango tree on the way. After urinating, they observed two men emerging from the bushes on both sides of the road and they stood in front of Kunjal Prasad. Jageshwar, who was armed with a lathi, shouted, "Kill the bastard." Following this exhortation, Bachan fired his gun, and Ram Kumar and Jagdish also fired their weapons at Kunjal Prasad. Kunjal Prasad was struck, wounded, and fell to the ground. The witness and Khunti shouted, after which the accused fired again and fled from the spot. Other villagers arrived thereafter. After the accused left, they saw that Kunjal Prasad was dead. Khunti prepared a report and went to the police station while the other villagers remained near the body. The Inspector subsequently took the witness's statement regarding the incident.

The witness further submits that although some people in his own village are labourers, they were going to call additional labour from village Sangrampur. He states that he had met the Pradhan by chance and did not go to his home initially. On the 18th, he reached the Pradhan's house at 7:30 am; the Pradhan had tea but did not have breakfast, as he had already attended to nature's call. The witness denies that the 'roos' tree is higher than one and a half feet. He sat down to urinate near a mango tree about 15?20 paces from the edge of the orchard. A Sirsa tree was located about 7?8 paces west of that spot, and it was near this tree that Kunjal Prasad was shot. Bachan fired the first shot, which had hit Kunjal Prasad in the chest. The other two accused were standing next to him and also fired. In total, five shots were fired. The witness does not remember whether he specifically mentioned the number of shots to the police. He states that he studied up to class 8th and did not instruct Khunti on how to write the report. He denies that Kunjal Prasad was his friend and claims he did not know why the Inspector recorded in his statement that his friends had surrounded Kunjal Prasad.

10. PW-3, Ram Deen Tiwari, Head Constable at Police Station Khaga, District Fatehpur, had submitted that on 18-07-1986, he was posted as Head Constable at the Khaga Police Station. On that day, based on the complaint provided by Shiv Sahay alias Khunti, he prepared the Chik F.I.R. He had stated that the document, marked as Ex-Ka-2, was in his own handwriting and bore his signature. Following the preparation of the Chik F.I.R., the case was formally registered as G.D. No. 17 at 10:00 am. The witness confirmed that the carbon copy of the General Diary (G.D.), marked as Ex-Ka-3, was prepared in his handwriting and carried his signature. He denied the suggestion that the report was written several days later after consultation with others.

11. PW-4, Shri Nath Pathak, had submitted that on 18-07-1986, he was posted as the SSI at Police Station Khaga, District Fatehpur. He had stated that the case was filed in his presence and he commenced the investigation on the same day. After recording the statement of Head Mohrir Ram Deen Tiwari, he proceeded to the scene of the incident, arriving at approximately 14:30 hours. Upon arrival, he prepared the Panchayatnama (inquest report) of the deceased and, acting on the opinion of the Panchan, sent the body for post-mortem. After reviewing the Shamil Misil, he identified the Panchayatnama (Ex-Ka-5) as being in his own handwriting and signature. He further confirmed that the Challan of the dead body, the photo of the dead body, the letter to the CMO, the letter to the R.I., and the sample seal stamp were all prepared in his handwriting and signature and they were all marked as Exhibits Ex-Ka-6 to Ex-Ka-9.

On the same day, the witness inspected the spot and prepared a Nazri map (Ex-Ka-10). He confirmed its accuracy and his signature. He recorded the statements of eyewitnesses Sukhlal, Udai Bhan, and Ram Prasad. He also collected samples of blood-stained and plain soil from the spot, which were sealed in separate boxes and marked as Ex-Ka-11. Additionally, he took possession of pellets, Tikli, blood-stained clothes, and shoes, documenting the recovery in a Fard (Ex-Ka-12). During the proceedings, various sealed bundles were opened containing plain soil (Ex-1), blood-soaked soil (Ex-2), six ticklies (Ex-3/1 to 3/6), two empty cartridges (Ex-4/1 to 4/2), and one pellet (Ex-5). He also identified the shoes, towel, and pyjama recovered from the deceased (Ex-Ka-6, 7, and 8).

The witness submitted that after searching for the accused without success, the police returned to the station at night. He recorded the statement of accused Jageshwar on 30-07-1986 and the statements of accused Bachan, Jagdish, and Ram Kumar on 02-08-1986. The investigation concluded with the submission of the charge sheet (Ex-Ka-13) on 03-08-1986. He denied that the informant failed to come to the station. He noted that witness Udai Bhan did not mention going to call labour, nor did he mention that two shots were fired in the air; instead, Udai Bhan stated that his friend Kunjal Pradhan was surrounded from the front. The witness clarified that he prepared the Panchayatnama after observing the injuries, though the photo was later destroyed. He noted that Sukhlal was first seen at place 'C' outside the road, arriving from Sangrampur. Finally, he stated that he recovered six bullets from the seven paces north of the body, though he could not specify the number of pellets typically found in a 12-bore cartridge.

12. PW-5, Dr. R.J. Khare, has submitted that on 19-07-1986, he was posted as a Medical Officer at District Hospital, Fatehpur. On that day, he conducted the post-mortem examination on the body of Shri Kunjal Prasad, which was brought by Constable Mahadev Prasad. The witness stated that the post-mortem report, marked as Ex-Ka-14, was in his handwriting and bore his signature. Upon external examination, the deceased was identified as a 65-year-old male of average built and wheatish complexion. Rigor mortis had set in from both sides of the body at the time of the examination.

The witness found the following ante-mortem injuries on the body of the deceased:

(i) Gunshot wound of entrance 1 cm x 1 cm bone deep, on the inner side of the middle part of the right ear, on the temple of the right ear. The edges of the wound were cut and turned inwards. There was lichen and charring around the wound.

(ii) Bullet wound 5 cm x 2 cm deep up to the bone on the right side of the lower lip. The edges of the wound were torn and irregular and there was no blackness or burn in it. There was a fracture on the right side of the jaw up and down. On examining this wound I found that the bullet entered from the lower lip and went up to the throat cavity, breaking the jaw and went down to the throat. The exit wound of this bullet is 4 cm from the right ear in an area of 8 cm x 8 cm, from here the bullet came out. The edges of the wound were crushed and irregular.

(iii) Bullet intrusion wound 3 cm x 2 cm deep up to the flesh, 3 cm above the nipple, the edges of the wound were torn and irregular. The bullet entered the throat cavity and ruptured the internal organs. The exit wound of the bullet that entered from this wound is 4 cm x 3 cm, 5 cm downwards from the left nipple. The edges of the wound were crushed and irregular.

(iv) Bullet entry wound measuring 8 cm x 8 cm on the root of the penis, each measuring 1 cm x 1 cm deep into the flesh on the left thigh. There were six bullet exit wounds, each measuring 2 cm x 2 cm, just near injury No. 4, with irregular and crushed margins

On internal examination, the witness noted that the right upper and lower jaws and the right temple bone were fractured. The brain and both lungs were congested with blood, the heart was empty, and the stomach cavity contained blood. While the stomach and small intestine were empty, the large intestine was filled with faeces. The liver, pancreas, spleen, and kidneys were all found to be congested.

The witness expressed the opinion that the deceased died from shock and haemorrhage resulting from these gunshot wounds. At the time of the autopsy, the deceased had been dead for approximately one and a half days, placing the time of death around 8:00 am on 18-07-1986, though he noted it could potentially have been between 3:00 am and 4:00 am. He clarified that all injuries were caused by firearms. He further explained that "lacerated" and "contused" described the nature of wounds found in injuries No. 2 to 4. He stated that while entry wounds typically have inverted margins and exit wounds have everted margins, he found the margins in injuries No. 2, 3, and 4 to be irregular or similar. He maintained that he recorded these observations after direct inspection and noted that the absence of clean-cut margins ruled out the use of sharp-edged weapons.

13. Learned counsel for the appellant submits that:

The F.I.R. is the result of consultation with police officials in collusion with each other. There was every occasion for the false implication of the accused-appellant by the informant. In a previous incident, one Ram Dulare was murdered in which the accused Bachan Singh was an eye-witness, which ended in conviction. Further, about three months prior to this incident, the father of accused Bachan Singh was beaten, and an F.I.R. was lodged by Bachan Singh against PW1 Shiv Sahai @ Khunti and his brother Har Sahai. The father of accused Bachan Singh died one month after that incident, and the present incident took place one month after his death.

There was no clear motive to commit the murder of the father of the informant, and had there been any existing grudge the informant (PW1) would have been forgotten instead. Furthermore, it was highly improbable that the accused would have spared the informant if he was actually present at the scene as claimed. The prosecution has failed to establish that the deceased, the informant, and Udai Bhan (PW2) were going to arrange labor for planting the paddy crop in their field.

PW1 is an interested witness, and his presence at the time of occurrence is doubtful. The claim that PW1 accompanied the deceased and PW2 while they were leaving for another village appears unnatural. PW2 Udai Bhan is a chance witness, and his testimony is also not reliable.

There are material contradictions between the oral testimony and the medical evidence. The post-mortem report shows that the lower large intestine was full of fecal matter. This contradicts the circumstances of the case because the prosecution claims the deceased was going to village Sangrampur after relieving himself. The deceased must have been killed in the morning when he had gone to relieve himself in the field by unknown persons who were not seen by anyone, and the accused persons have been falsely implicated by the informant due to enmity.

PW5 Dr. R. J. Khare has accepted that the injuries could be the result of four fires, but both eye-witnesses have stated that only three shots were fired. Both eye-witnesses stated that the firing took place from 7 to 10 steps away. However, the doctor has opined that Injury No. 1 was inflicted from close range specifically from within four feet.

14. On the other hand, learned AGA for the State supporting the impugned judgment, has submitted that there is no infirmity or illegality in the impugned order. He vehemently opposed the appeal, contending that the first informant was an eyewitness whose testimony cannot be easily brushed aside, and argued that minor discrepancies should not be allowed to vitiate the prosecution's case. The trial court has rightly convicted the accused persons. It was further submitted that prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt, therefore, this appeal lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

15. Having considered the rival submissions of the parties and perused the material available on record we find that the case of the prosecution primarily rests on the testimony of two eyewitnesses, PW1 (the informant) and PW2 (Udai Bhan) and on the medical evidence. . The learned counsel for the appellants has strongly argued that the entire story was created after the incident had occurred previously in consultation with police officials. A look at the history between the parties reveals a deep-rooted enmity. The accused, Bachan Singh, was an eyewitness in a previous murder case involving one Ram Dulare, which resulted in a conviction against the informant's side. Furthermore, just three months before this incident, Bachan Singh had lodged an F.I.R. against PW1 and his brother for assaulting his father. In criminal law, motive is a double-edged weapon, while enmity can provide a motive for a crime, it also provides a very strong motive for the false implication of innocent persons. We find the story hard to believe because if the accused truly wanted to take revenge against PW1, it made no sense that they would short his father and left PW1 completely untouched even when he was standing right there.

16. The presence of the eyewitnesses at the crime scene is surrounded by serious doubt as PW2 admitted that his own village had a population of 100- 150 people including women and children, who work as labourers and in such circumstance his explanation of going to another village to hire labourers appeared to be suspicious. Moreover, there is a direct contradiction between the two witnesses: PW1 in his testimony had stated that PW2, Udai Bhan came to his house, while PW2 had stated that they met suddenly on the road while he was going to Ranipur to hire labourers. These inconsistencies, combined with the fact that PW1 is an "interested witness" makes it dangerous to rely on their testimony alone without strong supporting evidence. This doubt is further strengthened by PW1's admission during cross-examination that one of the accused, Jageshwar, was falsely implicated in this matter because of a family marriage dispute. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of S.Govindaraju vs State Of Karnataka (2013) 15 SCC 315 stated that:

23. It is well settled legal proposition that while appreciating the evidence, the court has to take into consideration whether the contradictions/omissions were of such magnitude so as to materially affect the trial. Minor contradictions, inconsistencies, embellishments or improvements in relation to trivial matters, which do not effect the core of the case of the prosecution, must not be made a ground for rejection of evidence in its entirety. The trial court, after going through the entire evidence available, must form an opinion about the credibility of the witnesses, and the appellate court in the normal course of action, would not be justified in reviewing the same, without providing justifiable reasons for doing so. Where the omission(s) amount to a contradiction, creating a serious doubt regarding the truthfulness of a witness, and the other witnesses also make material improvements before the court in order to make the evidence acceptable, it would not be safe to rely upon such evidence. The discrepancies in the evidence of eyewitnesses, if found not to be minor in nature, may be a ground for disbelieving and discrediting their evidence. In such circumstances, the witnesses may not inspire confidence and if their evidence is found to be in conflict and contradiction with other evidence available or with a statement that has already been recorded, then in such a case, it cannot be held that the prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt.

17. While discrepancies in the witness evidence often occur in criminal cases, if these contradictions create such serious doubt in the mind of the Court about truthfulness of the witness, then these contradiction go to the root of the matter and in such a case the accused get the benefit of doubt. As such evidence of PW-1 and PW-2 is filled with the discrepancies/contradictory versions, it leads to the irresistible conclusion that evidence of witness cannot be a base to convict the accused-appellant.

18. In this regard, reference may be made to the decision of Hon'ble Apex Court in Pankaj v. State of Rajasthan,(2016) 16 SCC 192 wherein it was emphasised that when the genesis and manner of the incident itself are doubtful, conviction cannot be sustained. The Court held as under:

25. It is a well-settled principle of law that when the genesis and the manner of the incident is doubtful, the accused cannot be convicted. Inasmuch as the prosecution has failed to establish the circumstances in which the appellant was alleged to have fired at the deceased, the entire story deserves to be rejected. When the evidence produced by the prosecution has neither quality nor credibility, it would be unsafe to rest conviction upon such evidence. After having considered the matter thoughtfully, we find that the evidence on record in the case is not sufficient to bring home the guilt of the appellant. In such circumstances, the appellant is entitled to the benefit of doubt.

19. Another most significant evidence that casts a shadow on the prosecution's case is the direct conflict between the testimony of ocular witnesses and of the medical evidence. The eyewitnesses claimed that only three shots were fired from a distance of about 7 to 10 steps. However, the Dr. R.J. Khare, PW5, found injuries caused by four separate shots. More importantly, the doctor stated that Injury No. 1 was a "close-range" shot, fired from within four feet. The Prosecution witnesses also stated the accused fired from the front, but the post-mortem report shows the entry wound was on the right side of the head near the ear. This means the accused had to be standing to the right of the deceased, not in front of him. These contradictions that go to the very root of the case.

20. Further, the medical condition of the deceased's body reveals circumstances that are inconsistent with the account given by the prosecution witnesses. The prosecution claimed the deceased was killed while traveling to another village after having already relieved himself. However, the post-mortem report clearly shows that his large intestine was full of fecal matter. This strongly suggests that the deceased was killed very early in the morning, perhaps while he was out in the fields to relieve himself, and was likely attacked by unknown persons when no one else was around. It appears the informant discovered the body later and used the opportunity to name his enemies as the killers.

21. It is true that where there is a conflict between medical and oral evidence, preference is often given to oral evidence as medical evidence is simply an opinion. However, this principle is not applicable in the instant case because the oral evidence and medical evidence are poles apart and do not reconcile with each other. It cannot be said that there is only a minor discrepancy between the oral and medical evidence; under these circumstances, preference cannot be given to the oral testimony.

22. In Solanki Chimanbhai Ukabhai v. State of Gujarat AIR 1983 SC 484, Hon'ble Court observed, Ordinarily, the value of medical evidence is only corroborative. It proves that the injuries could have been caused in the manner alleged and nothing more. The use which the defence can make of the medical evidence is to prove that the injuries could not possibly have been caused in the manner alleged and thereby discredit the eye-witnesses. Unless, however the medical evidence in its turn goes so far that it completely rules out all possibilities whatsoever of injuries taking place in the manner alleged by eyewitnesses, the testimony of the eye-witnesses cannot be thrown out on the ground of alleged inconsistency between it and the medical evidence.

23. In State of U.P. v. Hari Chand (2009) 13 SCC 542, Hon'ble Apex Court re-iterated the aforementioned position of law and stated that, "In any event unless the oral evidence is totally irreconcilable with the medical evidence, it has primacy.

Thus, the position of law in cases where there is a contradiction between medical evidence and ocular evidence can be crystallized to the effect that though the ocular testimony of a witness has greater evidentiary value vis-a-vis medical evidence, when medical evidence makes the ocular testimony improbable, that becomes a relevant factor in the process of the evaluation of evidence. However, where the medical evidence goes so far that it completely rules out all possibility of the ocular evidence being true, the ocular evidence may be disbelieved.

24. In the view of the facts and circumstances discussed above, we are of the opinion that the prosecution has failed to establish its case beyond the reasonable doubt. Hence, the benefit of doubt would have to be extended to the accused-appellant no. 1, Jagdish. The appeal deserves to be allowed.

25. Accordingly, the appeal is allowed qua appellant no. 1, Jagdish.

26. Appellant no. 1, Jagdish, is on bail. His bail bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged. .

27. Let a certified copy of the judgment alongwith trial court record be sent to the concerned Chief Judicial Magistrate/Trial Court for compliance.

1. This criminal appeal has been filed against judgement dated 07.10.2015 and order dated 08.10.2015 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge (E.C. Act), Meerut in Sessions Trial No. 207 of 2010, arising out of Case Crime No. 170 of 2009, under Section 302/201 IPC, Police Station Saroorpur, district Meerut whereby the learned Judge convicted and sentenced the appellant to life imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 20,000/- and in case of default in payment of fine, the appellant shall further undergo rigorous imprisonment for two years.

2. However, by the same judgement, the learned Judge acquitted co-accused Omkar under Section 302/201 IPC and appellant Vinod under Section 201 IPC.

Facts of the case

3. The facts that formed the bedrock of the present criminal appeal are that a written report was given by Kartar Singh (hereinafter referred to as the first informant) at the police outpost Khiwai of police station Saroorpur mentioning therein that the applicant is the resident of village and post Sarauli, district Ghaziabad. His daughter Chanchal (hereinafter referred to as the deceased) aged about 13 years was living with Rati Ram, uncle (Phupha) of his wife since her birth. On 06.06.2009, Rati Ram informed him on telephone that he sustained injuries in his leg due to fall from cart. On that information, when the first informant along with his brother and uncle reached there, enquired Rati Ram about his injury, then he told the first informant that his daughter is missing since 4 O'clock. The first informant asked Rati Ram to accompany him to get the first information report lodged and when the brother of Rati Ram went to his house to wear Kurta, he found the dead body of Chanchal lying at his door.

4. On the basis of the aforesaid report, a case was registered at case crime No. 53 of 2009, under Section 302 IPC at the police outpost Khiwai, police station Saroorpur, district Meerut. However, the case was renumbered as case crime No. 170 of 2009, at Police Station Saroorpur, which was entered in GD vide report No. 31 at 18:35 hours.

5. On the next day, the first informant submitted another written report Paper No. Aa 10/1, which was not proved before the Court, alleging therein that in addition to previous written report that his daughter was murdered on 6th June, 2009 between 04:00 PM and 1:10 AM, after the post-mortem examination, when he took the dead body of her daughter to his village, his cousin Pradeep, son of Vijendra and Jalindra, son of Rajbir also reached his village and told him that on 06.06.2009, they had gone to village Kinauni at the house of Rati Ram and met their niece Chanchal. They remained at the house of Rati from 4 to 5 PM and in their presence Vinod, son of Chandru called Chanchal to prepare 2-3 cup of tea stating that her aunt is not at home and his friend has come. At about 5:00 PM Chanchal went there with tea. Thereafter, both of them had left for village Maharampur. The first informant has made a suspicion that Vinod, son of Chandru had killed her.

6. On 12.06.2009, the first informant had submitted another application Paper No. Aa 10/3 mentioning therein that his brother-in-law Sube Singh and Kadam, resident of Mukeem Pura, district Baghpat had come to his house and told him that on the date of incident when they went to make water, they saw that Vinod and Omkar alias Suda, son of Chandru throwing the dead body of Chanchal at the door of Yashpal taking from the house of Vinod. This paper has also not been proved before the Court.

7. After registration of the case, the law set into motion and investigation of the case was entrusted to PW-8, Pramod Kumar Sharma. PW-7, SI Tej Singh Yadav, who was present at the police station rushed to the spot and conducted the inquest on the dead body of the deceased and prepared inquest report and other papers, Ext. After receiving the post mortem report of the deceased, he converted the case to one under section 302 IPC. He recorded the statement of Clerk Constable Sukhbir Singh and left for the house of the deceased, but no one was present. On 08.6.2009, he recorded the statement of the first informant and also copied the post-mortem report and inquest report in the CD. On the pointing out of Rati Ram he inspected the spot and prepared site plan. He also recorded the statement of the witnesses. On 15.6.2009, the first informant made another application, on the basis whereof Section 201 was added and name of Omkar has been added in the array of accused. After culmination of investigation and completing necessary formalities, the investigating officer submitted charge sheet No. 153 of 2009, Ext. Ka-10 on 16.8.2009.

9. As the case was exclusively triable by the Court of Sessions, the learned Magistrate committed the case to the Court of Sessions where case was registered as Sessions Trial No. 207 of 2010. Learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 5, Meerut framed the charges against the appellant-Vinod and co-accused Omkar under Section 302/34 and 201 IPC, which were read over and explained to them. The accused pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

Kartar, Jalendra and Pradeep reached at about 1-1/2 hours to whom he told about the missing of the deceased. He further deposed that when the first informant asked him to accompany him to get the first information report lodged and when Yashpal, brother of Rati Ram went to his house to wear Dhoti, he found the dead body of Chanchal lying at the brick kiln near the house of Yashpal. There was mark of dragging from the house of Vinod up to brick kiln. The house of Vinod was locked. Submission on behalf of State

29. Per contra Shri S.K. Ojha, learned Additional Government Advocate-I supported the findings of the learned trial court by stating that the learned trial court has correctly martialled the evidence and considered each and every aspect of the case while convicting the appellant and that the prosecution has proved its case beyond all reasonable doubt.

Analysis and conclusion

30. Heard Shri Sandeep Kumar Rai, learned counsel for the appellant and Shri S.K. Ojha, learned Additional Government Advocate-I, representing the State of U.P.

31. A witness in a crime is a vital component in the administration of justice. By providing evidence related to the allegation of the offence, the witness fulfils a holy obligation of aiding the court in discovering the truth or rather facts. That is why before presenting testimony, a witness takes an oath in the name of God or makes a solemn statement that he/she will narrate the truth, the entire truth and nothing but the truth. In our justice system, witnesses play a critical role in assisting courts in making effective judgements, ensuring that justice is given to those who need it the most.

32. In the instant case, the first information report has been lodged by PW-1, Kartar Singh on 07.6.20209 at 07.00 AM in respect of the death of his daughter (deceased). On this application, case crime No. 53 of 2009, under Section 302 IPC was registered at outpost Khiwai of Police Station Saroorpur, district Meerut. However, the case was renumbered as case crime No. 170 of 2009, at Police Station Saroorpur, which was entered in GD vide report No. 31 at 18:35 hours. In the first information report, no one was made as accused.

33. On the next day (08.6.2009) the first informant submitted another written report Paper No. Aa 10/1 alleging therein that in addition to previous written report that his daughter was murdered on 6th June, 2009 between 04:00 PM and 1:10 AM, after the post-mortem examination, when he took the dead body of her daughter to his village, his cousin Pradeep, son of Vijendra and Jalindra, son of Rajbir also reached his village and told him that on 06.06.2009, they had gone to village Kinauni at the house of Rati Ram and met their niece Chanchal. They remained at the house of Rati from from 4 to 5 PM and in their presence Vinod, son of Chandru called Chanchal to prepare 2-3 cup of tea stating that her aunt is not at home and his friend has come. At about 5 PM Chanchal went there with tea. The first informant has made a suspicion that Vinod, son of Chandru had killed her.

34. Again on 12.06.2009, the first informant had submitted third application Paper No. A 10/3 mentioning therein that his brother-in-law Sube Singh and Kadam, resident of Mukeem Pura, district Baghpat told him that on the date of incident when they went to make water, they saw that Vinod and Omkar alias Suda, son of Chandru throwing the dead body of Chanchal at the door of Yashpal taking from the house of Vinod.

35. From the perusal of all the applications submitted by Kartar Singh, the first informant of the case, it is clear that he has nominated the accused on the basis of information gathered in piecemeal from his relatives and friends.

36. It is admitted facts that all the prosecution witnesses are related to each other. The rule of prudence of the point of related and interested witnesses is that their evidence should be meticulously and carefully examined. Before discussing the evidence prosecution witnesses, it would be useful to refer to certain pronouncement of Hon'ble Supreme Court on the point of related witnesses.

37. In Masalti Vs. State of U.P. (1964) 8 SCR 133 the Supreme Court observed:

"But it would, we think, be unreasonable to contend that evidence given by witnesses should be discarded only on the ground that it is evidence of partisan or interested witnesses. The mechanical rejection of such evidence on the sole ground that it is partisan, would invariably lead to failure of justice. No hard and fast rule can be laid down as to how much evidence should be appreciated. Judicial approach has to be cautious in dealing with such evidence; but the plea that such evidence should be rejected because it is partisan cannot be accepted as correct."

38. In Raju Vs. State of Tamil Nadu (2012)4 SCC (Cri) 184, Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

The sum and substance is that the evidence of a related or interested witness should be meticulously and carefully examined. In a case where the related and interested witness may have some enmity with the assailant, the bar would need to be raised and the evidence of the witness would have to be examined by applying a standard of discerning scrutiny.

39. The aforesaid decision in Raju (Supra) was followed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Edakkandi Dineshan alias P. Dineshan and others Vs. State of Kerala, (2025) 3 SCC 273.

40. In Criminal Appeal No. 2490 of 2014 (Chhote Lal Vs. Rohtash and others), decided on 14.12.2023, Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

It may not be out of context to mention that the appellant/complainant, a sole eyewitness, happens to be the most interested witness being the father of the deceased and having long enmity with the group to which the accused persons belong, therefore, his testimony was to be examined with great caution and the High Court was justified in doing so and in doubting it so as to uphold the conviction on his solitary evidence.

41. It would also be apt to refer certain pronouncement of Hon'ble Supreme Court on the point of reliability of witnesses.

42. In Vadivelu Thevar Vs. State of Madras, AIR 1957 SC 614, is the celebrated judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court, in which it has been held as under:

Hence, in our opinion, it is a sound and well-established rule of law that the court is concerned with the quality and not with the quantity of the evidence necessary for proving or disproving a fact. Generally speaking, oral testimony in this context may be classified into three categories, namely:

- (1) Wholly reliable.
- (2) Wholly unreliable.
- (3) Neither wholly reliable nor wholly unreliable.

In the first category of proof, the court should have no difficulty in coming to its conclusion either way - it may convict or may acquit on the testimony of a single witness, if it is found to be above reproach or suspicion of interestedness, incompetence or subornation. In the second category, the court equally has no difficulty in coming to its conclusion. It is in the third category of cases, that the court has to be circumspect and has to look for corroboration in material particulars by reliable testimony, direct or circumstantial. There is another danger in insisting on plurality of witnesses. Irrespective of the quality of the oral evidence of a single witness, if courts were to insist on plurality of witnesses in proof of any fact, they will be indirectly encouraging subornation of witnesses. Situations may arise and do arise where only a single person is available to give evidence in support of a disputed fact. The court naturally has to weigh carefully such a testimony and if it is satisfied that the evidence is reliable and free from all taints which tend to render oral testimony open to suspicion, it becomes its duty to act upon such testimony. The law reports contain many precedents where the court had to depend and act upon the testimony of a single witness in support of the prosecution. There are exceptions to this rule, for example, in cases of sexual offences or of the testimony of an approver; both these are cases in which the oral testimony is, by its very nature, suspect, being that of a participator in crime. But, where there are no such exceptional reasons operating, it becomes the duty of the court to convict, if it is satisfied that the testimony of a single witness is entirely reliable. We have therefore, no reasons to refuse to act upon the testimony of the first witness, which is the only reliable evidence in support of the prosecution.

43. Keeping in view the observations of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the judgements referred to above, we shall now proceed to discuss the evidence of prosecution witnesses.

44. PW-1, Kartar Singh is the father of the deceased and he lodged the first information report and made applications dated 08.6.2009 and 12.06.2009 on the information furnished by the witnesses. He was not the eyewitness of the case.

45. PW-2, Rati Ram, in whose house, the deceased was living, in his evidence PW-2, Rati Ram has stated that on the date of occurrence at about 05:00 PM, accused-Vinod called the deceased to his house for making tea as his wife was not at home. At that time, Pradeep, Jalendra and his wife were also present there. Chanchal went to the house of Vinod. When Chanchal did not come back, they made a search in the neighbourhood. He also went at the house of Vinod, but the house was locked and Omkar and Vinod were not at home. Thereafter on receiving the phone call, Kartar (PW-1), Jalendra (PW-4), Rajvir and Pradeep (PW-5) rushed to the spot at about 01:30 AM. The dead body of Chanchal was lying at the brick kiln near the house of Yashpal. There was mark of dragging from the house of Vinod up to brick kiln. The house of Vinod was locked. The door of southern side of the house was opened and green paint which was on the room, was also got on the clothes of the deceased. In his cross examination, PW-2 has stated that when he started search, first of all, he went to the house of Tejpal and thereafter he went to the house of Jhunde, Satpal and Bhukhan and in last he went to the house of Vinod.

46. From the perusal of evidence of PW-2, it transpires that when he had the knowledge about dragging of the deceased from the house of Vinod up to the brick kiln before lodging the first information report as well as going of the deceased to the house of Vinod, this Court failed to understand as to why he has not told this fact to PW-1, Kartar Singh and why he had not gone to the house of Vinod first when he was sure that the deceased had gone to the house of Vinod. Further, as per the examination-in-chief of PW-2, at about 01:30 in the night Jalendra (PW-4), Rajvir and Pradeep (PW-5) reached his house along with first informant Kartar Singh, whereas in the application given to the police by the first informant on 08.6.2009, paper No. Aa 10/1 has stated that he received information from PW-4 Jalendra that Vinod called the deceased for preparing tea at 05:00 PM on 06.6.2009.

47. PW-4, Jalendra Singh claims himself to be uncle of the deceased. In this case the incident in question took place at about 05:00 PM on 06.06.2009 and the dead body of the deceased was recovered at about 01:30 AM in the night intervening 06/07.6.2009 and the first information report of the incident was lodged at 07:00 in the morning of 07.6.2009. In his cross-examination, PW-4, Jalendra Singh has stated he did not receive any information by 07:00 PM on 07.6.2009 that Chanchal has been killed and that he has not received any information from the house of Rati Ram about the death of the deceased. Whereas PW-2, Rati Ram in his evidence has stated that PW-4 Jalendra Singh reached the spot in the night intervening 6/7.6.2009 at about 01:30. It is unlikely that PW-4, Jalendra Singh, who is uncle of the deceased had no knowledge about the death of the deceased, who was his niece even after recovery of the dead body. Further, there is contradiction in the statement of PW-2 Rati Ram and PW-4, Jalendra Singh.

48. PW-5, In his cross-examination, which was recorded on 06.1.2012, has stated that on the date of incident he went to the house of Rati Ram alone on motorcycle, which belonged to his neighbour Robi. He does not have any motorcycle. He further stated that on the date of incident he went to the house of Rati Ram on the motorcycle, which belongs to the friend of Jalendra. On the date of incident (06.06.2009) before going to village Kinauni, he met Kartar Singh, who asked him to visit Kinauni. However, at other place of his cross-examination, he stated that till 07:00 PM on 07.6.2009, he did not have any conversation with Kartar Singh. In view of the above discrepancies in his evidence, it can safely be inferred that he is totally unreliable witness.

49. PW-6, Sube Singh is the brother-in-law (Sala) of the first informant. In this examination-in-chief, he stated that on 06.6.2009 at about 09:30 PM, he received a call from Kartar Singh to go and find out about the injury of Rati Ram. When he along with Kadam Singh went to village Kanauni, they came to know that every body was searching the deceased. They also started searching the deceased. When they were searching the deceased they saw accused Omkar and Vinod going with long stride at about 12:30 in the night. He told the said fact to Kartar Singh on 12.06.2009. The aforesaid statement of PW-6, Sube Singh, who is brother-in-law (Sala) of the first informant is too hard to swallow inasmuch as he has informed the first informant about the said fact only on 12.06.2009.

50. PW-9, Premo, wife of Rati Ram in her evidence has stated that when it was discovered that the body of the deceased was lying at the heap of bricks, every body went to see the dead body. There was mark of dragging from the house of Vinod up to brick kiln/heap of bricks.

51. From the perusal of evidence of PW-9 also, it transpires that she had got the knowledge about dragging of the deceased from the house of Vinod up to the brick kiln before lodging the first information report as well as going of the deceased to the house of Vinod, but this Court failed to understand as to why s has not told this fact to PW-1, Kartar Singh.

52. PW-11, Yashpal is the brother of PW-2, Rati Ram. He has only seen the dead body lying beside his house on the heap of bricks.

53. From the perusal of the above evidence of the witnesses, it can be safely be inferred that their evidences are full of discrepancies and they can be termed as wholly unreliable witnesses. It can also be held that this is a case of no evidence and the evidence has been fabricated in piecemeal to drag the appellant in the present case.

54. In view of the above, the judgement dated 07.10.2015 and order dated 08.10.2015 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge (E.C. Act), Meerut in Sessions Trial No. 207 of 2010, arising out of Case Crime No. 170 of 2009, under Section 302/201 IPC, Police Station Saroorpur, district Meerut are set aside. The appellant-Vinod is acquitted of the charge levelled against him.

55. The appeal is allowed.

56. The appellant is on bail. His bail bond is cancelled and sureties are discharged.

57. Office is directed to send a copy of this order to the court concerned for compliance and compliance report be submitted to this Court within two months.

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION: Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. - 10039 of 2022

From the Order dated 28.07.2022 passed by the Magistrate in Case No. 3217 of 2022.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Petitioner(s):

Raghav Dev Garg, Senior Advocate

Adv. for the Respondent(s):

G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sandeep Jain, J.)

1. The instant writ petition has been filed by the petitioner for the following reliefs:-

"(i) Issue writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing the impugned notice dated 14.07.2022 issued by the respondent no.2;

(ii) Issue writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing the impugned order dated 28.07.2022 passed by the respondent no.2;

(iii) Issue writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing the entire proceedings initiated and registered as Case No.3217/2022 under Section 133(1) of Cr.P.C. against the petitioner by the respondent no.2;

(iv) Issue writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing the respondent no.2 to refrain from taking any coercive action and from interfering in the day to day functioning of the petitioner company;

(v) Issue any other writ, order or direction as this Hon'ble court may deem fit and necessary;

(vi) Award cost of the petition to the petitioner."

2. The factual matrix of the case is that the petitioner has been operating a factory, namely Merino Industries Ltd., since 1981. Adjacent to the said factory, after a lapse of about 25 years, land was allotted by the Hapur-Pilkhua Development Authority for establishment of a school, upon which Delhi Public School was subsequently established.

3. During the process of renewal of the No Objection Certificate from the Fire Department, the school premises were inspected, and it was opined that since the school is adjoining the petitioner's factory, there exists a possibility of an accident due to explosion of the boiler installed in the petitioner's factory.

4. In view thereof, a notice dated 14.07.2022 under Section 133(1) Cr.P.C. was issued to the petitioner directing removal of the boiler by 18.07.2022 and to show cause.

5. The petitioner submitted replies to the show cause notice on 25.07.2022, and 01.09.2022 was fixed as the next date in the proceedings under Section 133 Cr.P.C. However, in the meantime, on 28.07.2022, considering the alleged threat to public safety and based on the report of the Chief Fire Officer, Hapur, the petitioner was directed to immediately shut down the operation of the boiler. The said order has been impugned in the present writ petition.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that the factory has been operational since 1981, whereas the school was established much later. It was contended that the school management was fully aware of the existence of the factory at the time of establishing the institution.

7. It was further submitted that the boiler installed in the petitioner's factory is duly certified and all necessary precautions and statutory compliances have been undertaken for its operation. All requisite certificates have been annexed with the writ petition. Despite this, the Magistrate failed to consider the material on record and abruptly ordered closure of the boiler, which is illegal and unsustainable.

8. It was also argued that since the factory existed prior to the establishment of the school, it was incumbent upon the school authorities to select an appropriate location. Further, the impugned order was passed without affording adequate opportunity of hearing and without proper appreciation of the evidence, rendering it legally unsustainable.

9. Learned AGA could not advance any substantial argument in defence of the impugned order.

10. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the impugned order as well as the material on record.

11. The record indicates that the petitioner's factory has been functional since 1981, whereas Delhi Public School was established in the year 2005. It is also evident that the petitioner has placed on record documents demonstrating that the boiler is maintained in accordance with law and that all necessary certifications have been obtained from time to time.

12. It further appears that although the petitioner submitted replies to the show cause notice dated 14.07.2022, the same were not considered, and the order directing closure of the boiler was passed abruptly on 28.07.2022.

13. The Division Bench of this Court in M/s Hindustan Glue and Gelatin Factory vs. State of Uttar Pradesh 1997 SCC OnLine All 1085, has held that where a person appears before the Magistrate and submits a reply to the show cause notice under Section 133 Cr.P.C., it is incumbent upon the Magistrate to take evidence in the manner prescribed for summons cases under Section 138(1) Cr.P.C. It was further held that an order made absolute under Section 138(2) Cr.P.C. without affording opportunity to lead evidence is erroneous.

14. Similarly, in Jagdamba Prasad Tewari & Another vs. State of U.P. & Others 1990 SCC OnLine All 723, this Court held that the provisions of Section 138(1) Cr.P.C. are mandatory in nature, and before making an order absolute under sub-section (2), it is imperative for the Magistrate to take evidence in the manner as required in summons case.

15. This Court again in the case of Mool Chandra and others vs. State of UP and another 2005 SCC OnLine All 1476, held as under:-

"8. Whilst at the initial stage under Section 133(1) when a conditional order for removing of nuisance is passed, (in this case the said order was passed on 21-10-2000), it may not be necessary to take oral evidence of the parties because the relevant requirement at that stage is only for the Magistrate to take such evidence (if any) as he thinks fit for passing the conditional order requiring the person to remove the obstruction or nuisance or if he objects to do so, to appear before the Magistrate to show cause why the order be not made absolute.

9. In this connection, the first clause of Section 133 of the Code reads as under:

133(1) Whenever a District Magistrate or a Sub-divisional Magistrate or any other Executive Magistrate specially, empowered in this behalf by the State Government, on receiving the report of a police officer or other information and on taking such evidence (if any) as he thinks fit.

10. However, after the person has shown cause as has been done in this case, then the procedure of Section 138 has to be followed where the Magistrate is required to take evidence in the matter as in a summons case and if he satisfies that the order as originally made or subject to such modification was proper, then he may make the same absolute on such terms as he deems proper or drop the proceedings if he is not satisfied that the order should be made absolute. In this connection, Section 138(1) of the Code reads as follows:

If the person against whom an order under Section 133 is made appears and shows cause against the order, the Magistrate shall take evidence in the matter as in a summons case.

16. The High Court of Punjab and Haryana in the case of Krishan Lal Bhutani vs. Municipal Corporation Rohtak and Another 2024 SCC OnLine P&H 4649, held as under:-

"5. Challenging the aforesaid orders, the sole submission made before this Court by ld. counsel is that since the petitioner had raised objection against the conditional order, so opportunity to produce evidence was required to be given to him under Section 138 CrPC, which was not afforded to him...

6. Ld. counsel for the respondents could not refute the aforesaid contention to the effect that opportunity under Section 138 CrPC was not afforded to the petitioner to produce his evidence.

9. Bare perusal of above provisions would make it clear that Section 133 Cr. P.C. provides for issuance of conditional order only for removal of the nuisance. By way of the conditional order, the opposite party is asked to show cause as to why the said order should not be made absolute. Once such a conditional order is passed, Section 138 of the Code of Criminal Procedure clearly provides that upon appearance of the person, against whom conditional order has been passed under Section 133 Cr. P.C. and who show causes against the order, the Magistrate is required to take evidence in the matter as in summons case.

10. In the present case, conditional order had been passed against the petitioner. He had appeared before the SDM, Rohtak against the said show cause. He had filed his objections. Despite the same, opportunity of producing evidence was not given to him as required under Section 138 CrPC.

11. Consequently, impugned order dated 17.02.2012 (Annexure P4) passed by Id. Additional Sessions Judge/Fast Track Court, Rohtak dismissing the revision against the order dated 05.09.2011 (Annexure P3), passed by Id. Sub Divisional Magistrate, Rohtak, whereby petitioner was directed to close down his shop of fodder cutting machine under Section 133 CrPC, is hereby set aside. The matter is remanded back to the Court of SDM, Rohtak with the direction to provide opportunity to the parties, so as to produce evidence as per Section 138 CrPC and then dispose of the matter in accordance with law."

17. In the present case, it is apparent that the Magistrate has failed to comply with the mandatory provisions of Section 138 Cr.P.C. The impugned order has been passed without affording opportunity to the parties to adduce evidence. Such action is contrary to the statutory mandate as well as the settled legal position.

18. Accordingly, the impugned order dated 28.07.2022 is legally unsustainable and is hereby set aside.

19. The writ petition is allowed.

20. The matter is remanded to the concerned Magistrate to decide afresh, after affording due opportunity to the parties to adduce evidence in support of their respective contentions, in accordance with law, within a period of three months from the date of production of a certified copy of this order.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether the Reference Court, while deciding a reference under the Act of 2013, has jurisdiction to set aside the award of the Collector and remand the matter for fresh determination of compensation?

Civil Law – Land Acquisition Act, 1894 – Section 4(1), 6, 17, 18, - Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act, 2013 – Section 74:- First Appeal filed under Section 74 of the Act, 2013 – for seeking quashing of the judgment of the Reference Court, whereby the Collector's award was set-aside and matter was remanded back - Land acquired in 2010 - compensation awarded in 2019 - challenged by landowners in reference court - reference Court exceeded its jurisdiction by setting-aside and remanding instead of determining compensation itself – court finds that, Reference Court is a court of original jurisdiction, not appellate, hence cannot exercise remand powers – Power of remand is not vested in Reference Court under Land Acquisition Act, 1894 or Act of 2013 – held - Reference Court can only affirm or enhance compensation, not set-aside Collector's award – hence, impugned judgment is unsustainable in law, accordingly, Appeal allowed – with direction to the Reference Court to decide reference on merits within six months, without unnecessary adjournments.

CASE ARISING FROM

Appeal filed under Section 74 of the 2013 Act against judgment dated 25.03.2023 in L.A.R. No.1 of 2021 (Iftekhar Ahmad & another v. State of U.P. & others), passed by Presiding Officer, Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Authority, Basti.

APPEARANCE OF PARTIES

Counsel for Appellant(s): Shri Amit Manohar.

Counsel for Respondent(s): Shri Indrakesh Kumar Sharma (brief held by Sri Anirudh Singh)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sandeep Jain, J.)

1. The instant appeal has been filed by the State under Section 74 of the Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act, 2013 against the impugned judgment and award dated 25.03.2023 passed by the Presiding Officer, Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Authority, Basti in Land Acquisition Case No.1 of 2021 (Iftekhar Ahmad and another vs. State of U.P. and others), whereby the Reference Court has partly allowed the reference and has set aside the award of the Collector dated 13.11.2019 and remanded the matter to the Collector for determining the compensation in accordance with the observations made in the judgment.

2. Learned counsel for the appellant-State submitted that in the instant case, land for construction of the Maina Rajwaha in village Tenua Grunt, Pargana Bansi West, Tehsil Itwa, District Siddharth Nagar was acquired through notification under Section 4(1) of the Land Acquisition Act 1894 dated 27.01.2010, declaration under Section 6 was made on 09.08.2010 and the possession of the land was taken under urgency clause under Section 17 of the above Act on 28.09.2010 and the award of the Collector was made on 13.11.2019, whereby compensation of Rs.1,14,39,264/- was awarded to the claimants on the basis of exemplar on record.

3. Learned counsel further submitted that the award of the Collector was challenged by the land owners for enhancement of compensation by filing reference, which has been allowed by the impugned judgment by the Reference Court on the ground that the Collector should have determined compensation under the Act of 2013, which came into effect from 01.01.2014. On this ground, the award of the Collector dated 13.11.2019 was set aside and the matter was remanded to the Collector for determination of compensation afresh in accordance with the observations made by the Reference Court.

4. Learned counsel further submitted that in no circumstances, the Reference Court could have set aside the award of the Collector and remanded the matter to the Collector for determining the compensation afresh. It was further submitted that either the Collector could have affirmed the award or enhanced the compensation payable to the land owners, but in no circumstances the award of the Collector could have been set aside. In support of his submission, learned counsel has relied upon the judgment of this Court passed in First Appeal No.670 of 1992 (State of UP and others vs. Rahmullah) decided on 23.07.2013.

5. Learned counsel for the landlord-respondent also very fairly accepts that the Reference Court has exceeded its jurisdiction in setting aside the award of the Collector and remanding the matter to him for determining the compensation afresh. Learned counsel further submitted that the Reference Court should have itself determined the compensation as per the provisions of the Act of 2013, if it was applicable in the facts and circumstances of the case.

6. I have heard Sri Amit Manohar, learned counsel for the appellants and Sri Anirudh Singh holding brief of Sri Indrakesh Kumar Sharma and perused the impugned judgment and documents submitted with the appeal. Appeal is admitted.

7. From the above facts, it is evident that the Reference Court has set aside the award of the Collector dated 13.11.2019 on the ground that the Collector has determined the compensation in accordance with the provisions of Land Acquisition Act, 1894, whereas the compensation should have been determined under the Act of 2013, which came into effect from 01.01.2014 and on this basis the Reference Court has set aside the award of the Collector and remanded the matter to the Collector for deciding the compensation afresh.

8. The Land Acquisition Act, 1894, in a complete Code in itself, containing provisions as to how the land is to be acquired and how the award is to be made by the Collector as well as how the award of the Collector can be challenged and what are the factors, which are to be considered for determining the compensation. The Land Acquisition Act only mentions that if the land owner is not satisfied with the amount of compensation awarded by the Collector, then it can get the matter referred by the Collector to the Reference Court, which will then determine the compensation in accordance with law. The Act does not vest the Reference Court with the power to set aside the award of the Collector and remand back the matter for determining the compensation afresh. It is apparent that the power of remand is only exercised by an appellate court, but it is well settled that the Reference Court is not an appellate court and is only an original court for determining the compensation in land acquisition cases. In view of this, the power of remand could not have been exercised by the Reference Court.

9. This Court in the case of Rahmullah (supra) has precisely dealt this controversy and after relying upon the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Chimmanlal Hargovinddas vs. SLAO, Puna and another, (1988) 3 SCC 751, has held that the reference under Section 18 of the Act is not an appeal against the award of the SLAO. It is in the nature of original proceedings, wherein the claimant is in the position of a plaintiff, who is supposed to establish that the price offered for his acquired land is inadequate by producing material evidence before the Reference Court. It was specifically held by this Court that the Reference Court acts as a court of original jurisdiction, which does not exercise appellate powers while deciding references under Section 18 of the Land Acquisition Act, as such, it is denuded of any power to remand the matter.

10. Similarly, the High Court of Andhra Pradesh in the case of Special Tahsildar, Land Acquisition Railways, Vishakhapatnam vs. Sri Varabalakshmi Narasimhaswamivaru the deity of Simachalam, represented by the hereditary trustee the Rajah of Vizianagaram 1973 SCC OnLine AP 44, held as under:-

"I have no doubt that a court to which a reference is made under section 18 of the Land Acquisition Act has no power to remand the matter to the Land Acquisition Officer. The jurisdiction given to the court under section 18 of the Land Acquisition Act and the subsequent provisions is a special jurisdiction and the power of remand, if any, must be found within the statute. There is no such power to be discovered in any of the provisions. Nor is there any inherent power of remand such as an Appellate Court might have since the Court functioning under the Land Acquisition Act does not function as an appellate Court, If authority is necessary for the proposition that a Court to which, a reference is made under section 18 of the Land Acquisition Act has no power of remand, it is to be found in the case of Revenue Divisional Officer v. Villa Raja [AIR 1944 Mad 539.] In that case Wadsworth, J., held that the Act did not empower the Court to remand the case to the Collector for fresh enquiry and for a further award.

In the present case the reference was properly made. All that the lower Court said was that compensation for the land should have been determined first and then-apportioned between the melwaram-dar and kudiwaramdar instead of compensation for the melwaram and kudiwaram interests being separately determined as was supposed to have been done by the Land Acquisition Officer. If the lower Court thought that the Land Acquisition Officer went wrong in determining the value of the melwaram and kudiwaram interests separately then it was upto the lower Court to value the land as such and apportion the compensation towards the two interests. The learned Subordinate Judge had no jurisdiction to remand the case for that purpose." (emphasis supplied)

11. The High Court of Madhya Pradesh in the case of Gabbar Singh and Ors. vs. Collector, Gwalior and Ors. 2007 SCC OnLine MP 55, held as under:-

‘10. After hearing parties and perusing the award I find that the Land Acquisition Officer has passed the award in respect of the land only, so that the claimants can get compensation without any delay. He has specifically mentioned that he is not passing award in respect of crops and trees standing on the land, as it will delay the matter of passing the award in respect of the land and therefore he reserved his rights to pass supplementary award in respect of the trees and the crops standing on the land.

11. Even otherwise if the District Court come to the conclusion that it was incumbent on the Land Acquisition Officer to pass award in respect of the trees and crops then he could have to be passed award for the trees and crops standing on the land as he has already recorded evidence on this point. Therefore, he has committed error in remanding the matter. Thus, I find that the District Court has committed error in treating the award as interim award.

12. Moreover, as per the provisions of law, discussed above the District Court has no power of remand while hearing the application under section 18 of the Land Acquisition Act because it is a reference Court and not an appellate Court. (emphasis supplied)

12. Similarly, in the Act of 2013, the Reference Court can only affirm the award of the Collector or enhance the compensation awarded by it, but it cannot set aside the award of the Collector and remand the matter to the Collector for deciding it afresh.

13. It is apparent that the Reference Court has acted beyond its jurisdiction by setting aside the award of the Collector and remanding the matter to it for deciding it afresh, which is contrary to the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 as well as the Act of 2013. In no circumstances whatsoever, the Reference Court could have passed the impugned order, which is unsustainable in law.

14. Accordingly, the appeal is allowed. Consequently, the impugned judgment and award dated 25.03.2023 is set aside and L.A.R. No.1 of 2021 stands restored on its original number before the Reference Court.

15. The Reference Court is directed to decide the reference on merits in accordance with law after hearing the parties within a period of six months from the date of production of certified copy of this order, without affording any unnecessary adjournments to either of the parties.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether the First Appellate Court was justified in dismissing the first appeal without framing points for determination under Order XLI Rule 31 CPC; and whether the appeal involved any substantial question of law warranting interference under Section 100 CPC.

HEADNOTE

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 – s.100 – Order XLI Rule 31 – Second appeal admitted on grounds treated as substantial questions of law – Challenge on the ground that First Appellate Court had not framed points for determination and that trial court lacked pecuniary jurisdiction – Maintainability of second appeal.

Held: Section 100 CPC provides appeals from appellate decrees and it shall lie only if the High Court is satisfied that the case involves a substantial question of law – To be “substantial”, a question of law must be debatable, not previously settled by law of the land or a binding precedent, and must have a material bearing on the decision of the case, if answered either way, insofar as the rights of the parties before it are concerned – The High Court should be satisfied that the case involves a substantial question of law, and not a mere question of law. It is settled law that findings of fact howsoever erroneous cannot be reopened and disturbed in second appeal which is required to be adjudicated only upon a substantial question of law, if any, arisen therein – Once the Court found that no substantial question of law or even a question of law worth consideration arose in the second appeal, there is no occasion to re-appreciate the evidence so as to come to a different conclusion.

It is not always mandatory to frame points for determination and it would depend how the judgment was written – Whether in a particular case there has been substantial compliance with Order XLI Rule 31 CPC should be determined on the nature of the judgment delivered in each case – Non-compliance with the provisions, by itself, may not vitiate the judgment and make it wholly void and may be ignored if there has been substantial compliance with it. If First Appellate Court has display conscious application of mind and record findings supported by reasons on all issues and contentions, the object of Section 96 CPC got satisfied. In the instant case the First Appellate Court considered the order passed in suit whereby it was decreed and rejected all grounds – It was a judgment where there was no necessity to frame points for determination since it were not involved – Issue regarding valuation and court fee was corrected after amendment of plaint and deficiency was made good – It was held that suit was not under valued – No such issue was pressed in first appeal . Second appeal dismissed. (E-5)

CASE ARISING FROM

Judgment and decree of the Trial Court dated 18.08.1973, affirmed by the judgment of the First Appellate Court dismissing the defendants' first appeal.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Petitioner: R.U. Ansari

Advs. for the Respondents: Hari Narayan Singh, Pankaj Kumar Mishra, Rajendra Kumar Srivastava

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Shyam Shamshery, J.)

1. Heard Sri R.U. Ansari, learned counsel for appellants. None appeared on behalf of respondents.

2. This is a defendants' second appeal of the year 1978 and pending for last more than 48 years.

3. Present second appeal was admitted vide order dated 07.04.1979 on substantial questions of law as stated in Grounds No. 1 and 6 of memo of appeal, which are reproduced hereinafter:

'i) Because the provisions of Order 41 Rule 31 C.P.C. are mandatory, the Court below has acted illegally and in excess of its jurisdiction in completely violating the provisions of aforesaid Rule, therefore, the judgment and decree passed by the court below is not sustainable in law.

vi) Because the Valuation of the suit for the purpose of the jurisdiction was fixed Rs. 19,500/-, the learned Munsif where the suit was instituted by the plaintiff could entertain the suit upto valuation of Rs. 5000/- only. The suit was instituted by the plaintiffs in a court which had no pecuniary jurisdiction to entertain the suit. The defect of institution could not be cured by transfer of case to the court of S.C.C. under Section 24 C.P.C., the view taken to the contrary by the trial court and the finding recorded on issue no. 5 was wholly illegal, the court below has acted illegally in completely ignoring this aspect of the matter in spite of the fact that the same was pressed before him.

4. Section 100 CPC provides appeals from appellate decrees and it shall lie only if the High Court is satisfied that the case involves a substantial question of law. Sub-clause 3 of Section 100 CPC further provides that memorandum of appeal shall precisely state substantial question of law involve in appeal, whereas in present case in memorandum of appeal only grounds were mentioned and no substantial question of law was even mentioned therein. Therefore, the way this second appeal was admitted on basis of grounds treating them to be substantial questions of law was not appropriate (See, R. Nagaraj (Dead) Through Lrs. and another vs. Rajmani and others, 2025 INSC 478).

5. Still considering that this second appeal is pending for last more than 48 years, the Court proceed that above grounds are deemed to be substantial questions of law mentioned in memo of appeal but one consideration is still left that, whether said questions are substantial questions of law or not in terms of a judgment passed by Supreme Court in the case of Chandraban (deceased) through Lrs. and others vs. Saraswati and others, 2022 SCC OnLine SC 1273 wherein the law with regard to ‘what is the substantial question of law’ was discussed and relevant part of the judgment is reproduced hereinafter:

‘31. To be ‘substantial’, a question of law must be debatable, not previously settled by law of the land or a binding precedent, and must have a material bearing on the decision of the case, if answered either way, insofar as the rights of the parties before it are concerned. To be a question of law ‘involving in the case’ there must be first, a foundation for it laid in the pleadings and the question should emerge from the sustainable findings of fact arrived at by court of facts and it must be necessary to decide that question of law for a just and proper decision of the case. An entirely new point raised for the first time before the High Court is not a question involved in the case unless it goes to the root of the matter. It will, therefore, depend on the facts and circumstances of each case whether a question of law is a substantial one and involved in the case or not, the paramount overall consideration being the need for striking a judicious balance between the indispensable obligation to do justice at all stages and impelling necessity of avoiding prolongation in the life of any lis. (See Santosh Hazari v. Purushottam Tiwari [Santosh Hazari v. Purushottam Tiwari, (2001) 3 SCC 179] .)

32. The principles relating to Section 100CPC relevant for this case may be summarised thus:

32.1. An inference of fact from the recitals or contents of a document is a question of fact. But the legal effect of the terms of a document is a question of law. Construction of a document involving the application of any principle of law, is also a question of law. Therefore, when there is misconstruction of a document or wrong application of a principle of law in construing a document, it gives rise to a question of law.

32.2. The High Court should be satisfied that the case involves a substantial question of law, and not a mere question of law. A question of law having a material bearing on the decision of the case (that is, a question, answer to which affects the rights of parties to the suit) will be a substantial question of law, if it is not covered by any specific provisions of law or settled legal principle emerging from binding precedents and involves a debatable legal issue. A substantial question of law will also arise in a contrary situation, where the legal position is clear, either on account of express provisions of law or binding precedents, but the court below has decided the matter, either ignoring or acting contrary to such legal principle. In the second type of cases, the substantial question of law arises not because the law is still debatable, but because the decision rendered on a material question, violates the settled position of law.

32.3. The general rule is that the High Court will not interfere with findings of facts arrived at by the courts below. But it is not an absolute rule. Some of the well-recognised exceptions are where (i) the courts below have ignored material evidence or acted on no evidence; (ii) the courts have drawn wrong inferences from proved facts by applying the law erroneously; or (iii) the courts have wrongly cast the burden of proof. When we refer to □decision based on no evidence□, it not only refers to cases where there is a total dearth of evidence, but also refers to any case, where the evidence, taken as a whole, is not reasonably capable of supporting the finding.

33. In this case, it cannot be said that the first appellate court acted on no evidence. The respondents in their second appeal before the High Court did not advert to any material evidence that had been ignored by the first appellate court. The respondents also could not show that any wrong inference had been drawn by the first appellate court from proved facts by applying the law erroneously.

6. Learned counsel for appellants vehemently pressed the first purported question of law, i.e., whether First Appellate Court was justified in dismissing first appeal without framing points for determination and has placed reliance on a judgment passed by Supreme Court in the case of Nafees Ahmad and another vs. Soinuddin and others, 2025 INSC 520, however, the Court finds that said judgment is in fact against the submission of counsel for appellants.

7. In Nafees Ahmad (supra) the High Court while considering a second appeal has formulated a similar nature of question of law and held that since First Appellate Court has not framed points for determination, therefore, appeal was returned back for fresh consideration. However, a challenge to it before Supreme Court was allowed and it was held that it is not always mandatory to frame points for determination and it would depend how the judgment was written. For reference entire judgment passed by Supreme Court in Nafees Ahmad (supra) is quoted hereinafter:

‘1. Leave granted.

2. This appeal arises from the judgment and order passed by the High Court of Judicature at Allahabad, Lucknow Bench dated 4-9-2017 in Second Appeal No.69/2008, by which the Second Appeal filed by the respondents □ herein came to be partly allowed and the matter was remitted to the First Appellate Court on the ground that the First Appellate Court failed to comply with the provisions of Order 41 Rule 31 of the Code of Civil Procedure (CPC).

3. The High Court, while deciding the Second Appeal, formulated the following substantial question of law:-

‘Whether it is incumbent upon the Appellate Court to frame the point of determination as per the provisions of Order 41 Rule 31 CPC while deciding the first appeal or not?

4. Order 41 Rule 31 CPC reads thus:

‘Rule 31. Contents, date and signature of judgment.—

The judgment of the Appellate Court shall be in writing and shall state —

- (a) the points for determination;
- (b) the decision thereon;
- (c) the reasons for the decision; and

(d) where the decree appealed from is reversed or varied, the relief to which the appellant is entitled, and shall at the time that it is pronounced be signed and dated by the Judge or by the Judges concurring therein.

5. It appears that the High Court relying upon few decisions took the view that Order 41 Rule 31 CPC is mandatory and the failure on the part of the Appellate Court to frame the points for determination as per the provisions of Order 41 Rule 31 CPC would vitiate the entire judgment and make it wholly void.

6. Having heard the learned counsel appearing for the parties and having gone through the materials on record, we are in complete disagreement with the view taken by the High Court.

7. We propose to follow the dictum as laid by this Court in the case of ‘G. Amalorpavam And Others v. R.C. Diocese of Madurai And Others’ reported in (2006) 3 SCC 224, wherein this Court observed that whether in a particular case, there has been substantial compliance, with the provisions of Order 41 Rule 31 CPC should be determined on the nature of the judgment delivered in each case. Non-compliance with the provisions, by itself, may not vitiate the judgment and make it wholly void and may be ignored if there has been a substantial compliance with it.

8. We may elaborate the issue a little further from a different angle.

9. The Privy Council observed in ‘Mt. Fakrunisa v. Moulvi Izarus’ reported in AIR 1921 PC 55, at p. 56, as under:

‘In every appeal it is incumbent upon the appellants to show reason why the judgment appealed from should be disturbed; there must be some balance in their favour when all the circumstances are considered, to justify the alteration of the judgment that stands. Their Lordships are unable to find that this duty has been discharged.

10. The Privy Council decision referred to above was looked into by a three-Judge Bench in the case of ‘Thakur Sukhpal Singh v. Thakur Kalyan Singh and Anr.’ reported in (1963) 2 SCR 733, wherein this Court observed as under:

‘With respect, we agree with this and hold that it is the duty of the appellant to show that the judgment under appeal is erroneous for certain reasons and it is only after the appellant has shown this that the appellate court would call upon the respondent to reply to the contention. It is only then that the judgment of the appellate court can fully contain all the various matters mentioned in Ruel 31, Order 41.

11. This Court observed in ‘Sangram Singh v. Election Tribunal, Kotah, Bhurey Lal Baya’ reported in (1955) 2 SCR 1, at page 8: ‘Now a code of procedure must be regarded as such. It is procedure, something designed to facilitate justice and further its ends: ... Too technical construction of sections that leaves no room for reasonable elasticity of interpretation should therefore be guarded against (provided always that justice is done to both sides) lest the very means designed for the furtherance of justice be used to frustrate it.

12. The provisions of Rule 31 should therefore be reasonably construed and should be held to require the various particulars to be mentioned in the judgment only when the appellant has actually raised certain points for determination by the Appellate Court, and not when no such points are raised.

13. We must also look into the provisions of Rule 30 of Order 41 for the purpose of fortifying our interpretation of Rule 31. Order 41 Rule 30 CPC reads thus:

‘30. Judgment when and where pronounced.— (1) The Appellate Court, after hearing the parties or their pleaders and referring to any part of the proceedings, whether on appeal or in the court from whose decree the appeal is preferred, to which reference may be considered necessary, shall pronounce judgment in open Court, either at once or on some future day of which notice shall be given to the parties or their pleaders.

(2) Where a written judgment is to be pronounced, it shall be sufficient if the points for determination, the decision thereon and the final order passed in the appeal are read out and it shall not be necessary for the Court to read out the whole judgment, but a copy of the whole judgment shall be made available for the perusal of the parties or their pleaders immediately after the judgment is pronounced.

14. Thus, this Rule does not make it incumbent on the Appellate Court to refer to any part of the proceedings in the court from whose decree the appeal is preferred. The Appellate Court can refer, after hearing the parties and their pleaders, to any part of these proceedings to which reference be considered necessary. It is in the discretion of the Appellate Court to refer to the proceedings. It is competent to pronounce judgment after hearing what the parties or their pleaders submit to it for consideration.

It follows therefore that if the appellant submits nothing for its consideration, the Appellate Court can decide the appeal without any reference to any proceedings of the courts below and, in doing so, it can simply say that the appellants have not urged anything which would tend to show that the judgment and decree under appeal were wrong. [See : ‘Thakur Sukhpal Singh’ (supra)]

15. In the aforesaid view of the matter, we allow this appeal.

16. The impugned judgment and order of the High Court is set aside.

17. Pending applications, if any, also stand disposed of.

8. In order to consider above submissions including a submission that Trial Court has returned a perverse finding and has not appreciated the evidence on record, Court also takes note of judgment passed by First Appellate Court which has considered the order passed in suit whereby it was decreed and has rejected all grounds, as such, it was a judgment where there was no necessity to frame points for determination since it were not involved.

9. In above background Court also takes note of a judgment passed by Supreme Court in Malluru Mallappa (D) Thru. Lrs. vs. Kuruvathappa and others, 2020 INSC 173 that if First Appellate Court has display conscious application of mind and record findings supported by reasons on all issues and contentions, the object of Section 96 CPC got satisfied.

10. So far as second purported ground/ question of law is concerned that the suit was decided by Trial Court vide order dated 18.08.1973, that concerned issue in suit was under valued and Court fee paid was insufficient, however, later on plaintiffs have amended suit and thereby corrected valuation and also made good deficiency, therefore, it was held that suit was not under valued. No such issue was pressed in first appeal. Memo of First Appeal is not on record. Otherwise also, it cannot be considered as a substantial question of law.

11. The Court also takes note of a very recent judgment passed by Supreme Court in the case of Rusi Fisheries Pvt. Ltd. and another vs. Bhavna Seth and others, 2026 INSC 339 that it is settled law that findings of fact howsoever erroneous cannot be reopened and disturbed in second appeal which is required to be adjudicated only upon a substantial question of law, if any, arisen therein. Therefore, once this Court has found that no substantial question of law or even a question of law worth consideration in present second appeal, there is no occasion for this Court to re-appreciate the evidence so as to come to a different conclusion.

12. In aforesaid circumstances, this second appeal is dismissed, since it does not involve substantial question of law purportedly framed when present second appeal was admitted. Interim order, if any, is vacated.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether non-teaching employees of an affiliated college of a State University are entitled to the benefit of leave encashment admissible to similarly placed Government servants.

HEADNOTE

U.P. State Universities Act, 1973, s.50 – First Statutes, Cl.36.01 – Fundamental Rules – r.81(b) – Leave encashment – Petitioners initially appointed as Routine Grade Clerks and subsequently promoted to the posts of Junior Assistant and Senior Assistant – Petitioners retired from service and were granted all post-retiral benefits except amount payable towards leave encashment – Clause 36.01 of the First Statutes provided that leave rules applicable to Government servants from time to time shall mutatis mutandis apply to employees of like status – Respondents denied the benefit on the ground that no specific approval of the State Government existed for extending leave encashment to non-teaching employees – Justification:

Held: Clause 36.01 of the First Statutes provides that leave rules applicable to Government servants from time to time shall mutatis mutandis apply to employees of like status – Rule 81(b) of the Fundamental Rules, which provides that leave shall be admissible to Government servants and if such Government servant surrenders such leave he shall be entitled to encashment of leave - the phrase "mutatis mutandis" implies that a provision contained in other part of the statute or other statutes would have application as it is with certain changes in points of detail – Applicability of leave rules upon non-teaching staff of the University concerned would, therefore, be such as are meant for Government servants from time to time of like status – In absence of any provision excluding applicability of leave rules or provisions of leave encashment admissible to similar employees of the State Government, respondents would not be justified in denying the benefit of leave encashment to the petitioners.

Court further held that specific approval of the State Government is not required for grant of leave benefits as the Statutes themselves specifically apply leave rules to non-teaching employees mutatis mutandis – Petitioners held to be entitled to all benefits otherwise admissible to similarly placed Government employees regarding grant of leave – Fundamental Rule 81(b), which provides that a Government servant surrendering earned leave shall be entitled to encashment thereof, held to be applicable – Law is settled that in the hierarchy of laws, a provision contained in the Statute stands on a higher pedestal and in the event of conflict with a Government Order, the provision of the Statute would prevail – Respondents were not justified in denying petitioners the benefit of leave encashment – Writ petition allowed – Writ of mandamus issued directing respondents to extend benefit of leave rules including benefit of leave encashment in accordance with Rule 81(b) of the Fundamental Rules as available to similarly placed Government employees and to disburse consequential benefits within the stipulated period. On 01.08.1988 petitioner No.1 was granted promotion to the post of Junior Assistant and petitioner No.2 was granted promotion to the post of Junior Assistant w.e.f. 1.1.1990 and they were further granted promotion to the posts of Senior Assistant w.e.f. 25.6.1998 and 17.3.1990 respectively and on the post of Senior Assistant they were confirmed w.e.f. 25.6.1999 and 31.12.1992 respectively.

3. On 30.09.2012 petitioner No.1 retired from service while working on the posts of Senior Assistant and petitioner No.2 was retired as such w.e.f. 30.6.2011 and after their retirement the petitioners were granted all the post retiral benefits including pension, gratuity, group insurance and amount of G.P.F. except the amount payable to the petitioners in lieu of the benefit of leave encashment.

4. On 19.02.1974 respondent No.5 issued circular that service rules as applicable to the government employees shall be implemented till framing of service rules for the employees of the respondent No.3. However, no service rule has been framed for regulating the services of non teaching staff of the University and as such the service rules as applicable to the Government employee are still being implemented in respect of them.

5. On 01.07.1999 a Government Order was issued for granting leave encashment of 300 days (maximum) in place of 240 days (maximum) on the basis of the recommendations of Pay Committee, 1997. On 03.07.2000 another Government Order was issued whereby power to grant leave encashment for 300 days (maximum) in place of 240 days (maximum) was delegated to the head of departments of the State Government and the said benefit was made effective w.e.f. 1.7.1999.

6. On 31.08.2006 the Executive Council of the University held meeting wherein it was decided that the benefit of leave encashment of 300 days be made available to the non teaching staff of the University w.e.f. 1.7.1999 in accordance with Government Order dated 3.7.2000 mentioned above.

7. On 20.06.2007 the Finance Committee of the University held meeting in presence of the respondent N^o.2 wherein also the proposal of grant of leave encashment for 300 days in accordance with Government Order dated 3.7.2000 to the non teaching staff of the University was approved.

8. On 21.04.2012, petitioner No.1 submitted an application before the respondent No.5 thereby making prayer that he may be granted benefit of leave encashment after his retirement. On 03.07.2012, the Executive Council of the University held meeting wherein the matter of grant of benefits of leave encashment towards 25 employees who had retired prior to the date of meeting were considered.

9. On 19.07.2012, the Executive Council of the University further held another meeting in which matter of grant of benefit of leave encashment towards 10 employees who retired prior to 31.7.2012 was also considered. However, consideration in respect of petitioner No.1 was postponed for future as he was not retired prior to 31.07.2014. Moreover, in furtherance of the aforesaid meetings held on 3.7.2012 and 19.7.2012 several persons were granted benefits of leave encashment.

10. On 22.08.2012, respondent No.1 issued a Government Order with a direction for recovery of the amount of leave encashment given to the employees of the State Universities after initiating departmental inquiry against the erring officers/employees as the same was said to given in absence of any order passed by the State Government and as such the Uttar Pradesh Rajya Vishwavidhyalay Karmchari Mahasangh raised agitation.

11. On 21.08.2014, respondent No.1 issued another Government Order, whereby the implementation of the previous Government Order dated 22.8.2012 mentioned above was stayed till further orders. On 17.11.2014, a meeting of respondent No.4 and Karmchari Parishad of respondent No.3 was held in which it was decided that the proceedings for grant of leave encashment would be initiated and the same would be granted in accordance with law after making review of the same within a period of one month.

12. In the year 2014, another meeting of Registrars/Finance Officers of all State Universities U.P. in the Chairmanship of the Special Secretary State Government of U.P. was held in which it was directed that all those Universities who make payment of leave encashment from their sources and those who can not make payment will submit a resolution to the State Government after getting approval from their Executive Council.

13. On 15.12.2014, the meeting of Executive Council of respondent No.3 was held in pursuance of the aforesaid direction of the State Government in which it was decided that the previous arrangement of leave encashment be made applicable in respect of the non teaching staff of respondent No.3 and the State Government may be informed accordingly and matter be referred to the State Government that the University is running in loss and the matter may also be placed before the Finance Committee of the University for examining as to whether the University is competent to bear the expense in question. Moreover it was decided that status quo be maintained for leave encashment as it was earlier. However, till date no action whatsoever has been taken regarding payment of amount of leave encashment to the petitioners despite the repeated representations made by them, though the petitioners have a legal right of being paid amount of leave encashment for 300 days consequent upon their retirement. Hence, the present writ petition has been filed.

14. In a similar matter in the case of Vidyotma Dwivedi and Another Vs. State of U.P. and others, was subject matter of challenge in Special Appeal (Defective) No.43 of 2022 by the State, which has been dismissed against which Special Leave to Appeal (C) No.20622 of 2022; State of U.P. and others Vs. Vidyotma Dwivedi and another, was filed which has also been dismissed vide judgment and order dated 20.11.2025.

15. It would be worth noticing that Statutes 22 to 38 forms part of Chapter XXII, which deals with qualification and conditions of service of non-teaching staff of the affiliated colleges. Clause 36.01 clearly provides that leave rules applicable to the Government servants from time to time shall mutatis mutandis apply to the employees of like status. The First Statutes of the University have been framed by the State Government itself in exercise of its power under Section 50 of the U.P. State Universities Act, 1973. Clause 36.01 of the Statutes of University is not shown to have been amended or modified later in point of time. The expression 'mutatis mutandis' has been interpreted by the Apex Court in Rajasthan State Industrial Development and Investment Corporation and another Vs. Diamond & Gem Development Corporation Limited and another, reported in (2013) 5 SCC 470. Paragraphs 17 and 18 of the report are relevant for the present purposes, and therefore, are reproduced hereinafter:-

"17. In Ashok Service Centre v. State of Orissa, AIR 1983 SC 394, this court held as under:(SCCp. 93, para 17)

"17. Earl Jowitt's 'The Dictionary of English Law (1959)' defines 'mutatis mutandis' as 'with the necessary changes in points of detail'. Black's Law Dictionary (Revised 4th Edn.1968) defines 'mutatis mutandis' as:

'With the necessary changes in points of detail, meaning that matters or things are generally the same, but to be altered when necessary, as to names, offices, and the like.'

... Extension of an earlier Act 'mutatis mutandis' to a later Act brings in the idea of adaptation, but so far only as it is necessary for the purpose, making a change without altering the essential nature of the things changed, subject of course to express provisions made in the later Act.... In the circumstances the conclusion reached by the High Court that the two Acts were independent of each other was wrong. We are of the view that it is necessary to read and to construe the two Acts together as if the two Acts are one, and while doing so to give effect to the provisions of the Act which is a later one in preference to the provisions of the Principal Act wherever the Act has manifested an intention to modify the Principal Act."

Similarly, in Prahlad Sharma v. State of U.P., (2004) 4 SCC 113, the phrase "mutatis mutandis" has been explained as under: (SCCp. 120, para 11)

"11. The expression 'mutatis mutandis' itself implies applicability of any provision with necessary changes in points of detail." (See also: Mariyappa v. State of Karnataka, AIR 1998 SC 1334; and Janba (dead) thr. Lrs. v. Gopikabai (Smt.), AIR 2000 SC 1771).

18. Thus, the phrase "mutatis mutandis" implies that a provision contained in other part of the statute or other statutes would have application as it is with certain changes in points of detail."

16. The applicability of leave rules upon the non-teaching staff of the University concerned would, therefore, be such as are meant for the Government Servant, from time to time, of like status. It would, however, be subject to any changes that may have been introduced under the Statutes or the Act of 1973 or any other applicable provision in law. Attention of the Court has not been invited to any provision in the Act of 1973 or the Statutes or Ordinances, which limits the applicability of leave rules meant for State Government employees of like status, upon the non-teaching staff of colleges affiliated to the State University in question.

17. The respondents stand throughout has been that the retiral benefits, which are admissible to such employees, do not include provision of leave rules, so as to extend the benefit of leave encashment to the employees concerned. This argument cannot be accepted inasmuch as grant of retiral benefits would be a separate and distinct aspect from the admissibility of leave rules applicable upon the employees concerned. The grant of retiral benefits to employee of the institution concerned would be in accordance with Section 33 of the Act of 1973 as well as any other provision contained in the Statutes or the Government Order issued in that regard.

18. So far as leave rules are concerned they constitute a separate aspect relating to conditions of service and would not, by necessary implication, be included in the retiral benefits due and payable to an employee concerned. It is otherwise not in issue that benefit of leave encashment has been extended to employees of the State Government, who are of similar status as that of the present petitioners. Clause 36.01 otherwise is clearly applicable in the facts of the present case. In absence of any other provision which excludes the applicability of leave rules or the provisions of leave encashment admissible to similar employees of the State Government, the respondents would not be justified in denying benefit of leave encashment or other benefits of leave rules to the present petitioners.

19. So far as argument of learned Additional CSC, with reference to Section 21(3) and 21(4) of the Act of 1973 is concerned, it would be worth noticing that Sub-clause (3) of Section 21 merely provides that no expenditure in respect of which approval of the State Government is required by this Act or the Statutes or Ordinances shall be incurred except with such approval previously obtained, and no post shall be created either in the University or in any Institute or constituent college maintained by the University except with the prior approval of the State Government. Sub-clause (3), therefore, would have no applicability, inasmuch as the Act, Statutes or Ordinances do not require any specific approval of the State Government for grant of approval to leave rules upon the employees. Sub-clause (4) of Section 21 also deals with the pay and other allowances to various categories of the employees, as may be approved by the State Government. The respondents would have been justified in resisting petitioners' claim in case a provision like Clause 36.01 was not in existence in the First Statutes and no approval was granted by the State in that regard. The provisions of sub-clause (4) of Section 21 cannot be pressed into service to deny petitioners' entitlement once the Statutes of the University are specific in applying provisions of leave rules upon non-teaching employees mutatis mutandis.

20. Applicability of leave rules, therefore, cannot be denied or disputed by the respondents, in so far as non-teaching staff of affiliated colleges are concerned. Leave rules otherwise are not shown to have been modified in its applicability to such class of employees by virtue of any provisions contained in the Statutes or any other applicable provisions of law. In that circumstances petitioners would clearly be entitled to all benefits which are otherwise admissible to similarly placed employees of the Government regarding grant of leave. The applicable provisions of the financial rules contained in Financial Handbook in Volume 2 Part 4 under Fundamental Rules 58 to 104 including Sub-rule (1)(12) of Rule 81(b) of the Fundamental Rules, which provides that leave shall be admissible to Government servants and if such Government servant surrenders such leave he shall be entitled to encashment of leave, would be applicable in the facts of the present case also.

21. So far as respondents' objection with reference to Government Order is concerned, a perusal thereof would go to show that a specific approval of the State has been found to be wanting for the purpose of extending benefit of leave rules to non-teaching staff of the University. This Government Order apparently would have no applicability in the facts of the present case, inasmuch as service conditions of non-teaching staff of the University are governed by a separate set of rules contained in Chapter 34 of the Ordinances framed for the University, wherein no such provision is shown to exist as is contained under Clause 36.01, meant for non-teaching staff of the affiliated college. Law is otherwise settled that in hierarchy of laws a provision contained in Statute would stand on a higher pedestal and in the event of conflict with the Government Order, the provision of the Statute would prevail. This Government Order, therefore, cannot be relied upon to deny consideration to petitioners' claim.

22. In view of the discussions aforesaid, this writ petition succeeds and is allowed.

23. A writ of mandamus is issued to the respondents including State of U.P. to extend benefit of leave rules to the petitioners including the benefit of leave encashment in accordance with Rule 81(b) of the Fundamental Rules as are available to similarly placed employees of the Government.

24. A specific order would be passed in that regard and the benefits due thereunder would be disbursed to petitioners, within a period of four months from the date of presentation of certified copy of this order.

25. The respondents while calculating the benefits due and payable to petitioners would take note of any subsequent modification, which may have been made in leave rules or the Government Orders, which may have been issued specifying the entitlement in that regard including Government Orders.

26. No order is passed as to costs.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether, when the only charge proved against the petitioner was that he was not diligent in procuring information from earlier Accountants and failed to pursue recovery proceedings initiated about six years prior to his posting, he could be held entirely responsible for the outstanding dues of Rs. 214.87 lakhs and subjected to recovery of the entire amount by way of punishment; and whether such punishment was shockingly disproportionate.

U.P. Government Electrical Undertakings (Dues Recovery) Act, 1958 – ss.3, 5 – Departmental proceedings – Punishment – Petitioner while working as Accountant at Electricity Distribution

Division-III, Shamli during the period 31.07.2016 to 19.07.2021 was chargesheeted on the allegation that he failed to pursue recovery proceedings in respect of outstanding electricity dues of Rs. 214.87 lakhs against M/s Sikka Papers Ltd. and also failed to pursue claim in insolvency proceedings initiated against the consumer – Temporary Inquiry Committee exonerated petitioner from both charges – Disciplinary Authority disagreed with exoneration in respect of charge no.1 and held the same partly proved – Punishment of 'Censure', stoppage of one annual increment with cumulative effect and recovery of Rs. 214.87 lakhs imposed upon petitioner – Challenge in writ jurisdiction :

Held: Maximum proved charge against petitioner was that he was not diligent in procuring information from earlier Accountants and failed to pursue recovery proceedings initiated about six years prior to his posting – Though charge no.1 was partly proved, there was no finding that petitioner's conduct resulted in the financial loss or that he was solely responsible therefor – No responsibility was fixed upon earlier Accountants or higher authorities – There was no charge that the department had suffered financial loss and no finding that petitioner had gained any monetary or other benefit – Punishment of censure and stoppage of one annual increment with cumulative effect could be treated as proportionate punishment – However, recovery of the entire outstanding amount of Rs. 214.87 lakhs from petitioner alone, without any reason, basis or charge to that effect, was shockingly disproportionate – Impugned order set aside to the extent it directed recovery of Rs. 214.87 lakhs from petitioner. Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Petitioner: Pranesh Kumar Mishra

Advs. for the Respondents: C.S.C., Kartikeya Saran, Krishna Agrawal.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Shyam Shamshery, J.)

1. Petitioner before this Court was initially appointed on the post of Assistant Accountant in U.P. Power Corporation Ltd. on 28.02.2008 and till 22.02.2013 he was posted at Electricity

Distribution Division-I, Muzaffarnagar. Petitioner thereafter was promoted on the post of Accountant on 23.02.2013 and was transferred and posted at Electricity Distribution Division-I, Baraut, Baghpat and he remained there till 31.07.2016.

2. Later on petitioner was transferred on 31.07.2016 at Electricity Distribution Division-III, Shamli and he remained there till 19.07.2021 and subsequently transferred at Electricity Urban Distribution Division Town Hall, Muzaffarnagar and presently he is working there as an Accountant.

3. Petitioner has suffered with a disciplinary proceeding for an alleged misconduct when he was posted at Electricity Distribution Division-III Shamli from 31.07.2016 to 19.07.2021 and present case is arising of a punishment order passed in pursuance of said disciplinary proceeding.

4. Few facts which are not disputed so far as charges are concerned, are that in 2009-10 a huge electricity bill remained outstanding against a consumer, namely, M/s Sikka Papers Ltd. and its connection was disconnected on 01.11.2009. Subsequently notices for recovery as required under Sections 3 and 5 of Uttar Pradesh Government Electrical Undertakings (Dues Recovery) Act, 1958 (hereinafter referred to as Act, 1958) were issued to realize the electricity dues of Rs. 214.87 lacs. Demand notice under Section 3 was issued on 13.11.2009 and under Section 5 was issued on 14.12.2009 however, it appears that recovery was not executed and nothing happened thereafter.

5. At later stage, M/s Sikka Papers Ltd. approached National Company Law Tribunal under I.B. Code 2016 to declare it insolvent. Accordingly vide order dated 22.05.2019 a Resolution Professional was appointed and a notice was published in a newspaper, namely, "The Pioneer" on 26.04.2019, however, the Electricity Department does not participate in it in the capacity of Financial Creditor, as such a loss was occurred.

6. In aforesaid circumstances, a disciplinary proceeding was initiated against petitioner, the then Accountant at Shamli that when he was working at Shamli between 2016 to 2021, he was not diligent to pursue the huge recovery of Rs. 214.87 lacs since neither he pursued the demand notices issued under Sections 3 and 5 of Act, 1958 nor he pursued the remedy to file claim in insolvency proceeding, despite a notice was published on 26.04.2019 when petitioner was Accountant at Shamli.

7. Petitioner submitted his reply to charge sheet and a Temporary Inquiry Committee-5 considered the charges and reply to it and finally submitted an inquiry report dated 16.10.2024 whereby petitioner was exonerated from both charges. Relevant part of inquiry report, so far as charges no. 1 and 2 is concerned, is reproduced hereinafter:

विवेचना आरोप संख्या 01-

आरोपी ने निम्नवत् संज्ञानित किया है:-

आरोपी की तैनाती विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-तृतीय शामली में अवधि 31.07.2016 से 19.07.2021 तक रही थी।

उपभोक्ता मैसर्स सिक्का पेपर्स लि० वृहद एवं भारी उपभोक्ता है जिसके बकाया धनराशि रू0 214.87 लाख के विषय में आरोप पत्र जारी हैं। उक्त बकाया धनराशि आरोपी के कार्यकाल से 07 वर्ष पूर्व के हैं एवं बकाया वसूली हेतु तत्कालीन कार्मिक / लेखाकार, अधिशासी अभियन्ता द्वारा कृत कार्यवाही आरोपी के कार्यभार ग्रहण करने से पूर्व ही संपादित की जा चुकी थी।

उपभोक्ता पर बकाया धनराशि माह 01/2009 से सृजित हुई है जबकि आरोपी की तैनाती 31.07.2016 को हुई है। अतः आरोप के कार्यकाल से पूर्व की घटना है।

उपभोक्ता का संयोजन बकाया धनराशि पर दिनांक 01.11.2009 को विच्छेदित किया गया था (आरोपी के कार्यभार ग्रहण करने से पूर्व)।

उपभोक्ता को दिनांक 13.11.2009 को धारा-03 एवं दिनांक 14.12.2009 को धारा-05 का नोटिस जारी किया गया था, उल्लेखनीय है कि नियमानुसार संयोजन विच्छेदन के उपरान्त ही धारा-03 एवं धारा-05 के नोटिस जारी किये जाते हैं (आरोपी के कार्यभार ग्रहण करने से पूर्व)।

विशेष:- उपरोक्त बिन्दुओं के साक्ष्य में अधिशासी अभियन्ता, विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-प्रथम, शामली के टिप्पणी आदेश / वि०वि०ख० शामली / दिनांक 28.04.2010 जो मुख्य अभियन्ता, (स्तर-1) सहारनपुर क्षेत्र, सहारनपुर को सम्बोधित है तथा धारा-03 एवं धारा-05 के प्रपत्र की छायाप्रति संलग्न हैं।

उक्त के संबंध में आरोपी ने स्पष्ट किया है कि उसके कार्यकाल से पूर्व ही धारा-03 एवं धारा-05 के नोटिस जारी किये जा चुके थे एवं आरोपी के कार्यकाल में धारा-05 का नोटिस बिना वसूली अथवा वसूली/आंशिक वसूली के उपरांत वापस नहीं आया था। साक्ष्य स्वरूप तहसीलदार शामली का पत्रांक 320/वा0वा0न0 दिनांक 19.04.2023 एवं अधिशासी अभियन्ता विद्युत वितरण खण्ड तृतीय, शामली का जिलाधिकारी शामली को जारी पत्र संख्या 1596 वि०वि०ख०तृ० शामली दिनांक 12.04.2023 संलग्न हैं। इसके अतिरिक्त व्यक्तिगत सुनवाई में प्रस्तुत अभिकथन में उक्त एच.वी. उपभोक्ता का नाम आनलाईन बिलिंग डाटा में भी प्रदर्शित ना होना अंकित किया है।

समिति का मतव्य है कि आरोपी ने अपने अभिकथन एवं साक्ष्यों के आधार पर यह अंकित किया है कि उसकी तैनाती अवधि के पूर्व में ही संबंधित उपभोक्ता का संयोजन विच्छेदित करते हुए विद्युत राजस्व बकाया के सापेक्ष धारा 03 एवं धारा 05 निर्गत की जा चुकी थी साथ ही उक्त उपभोक्ता के संबंध में अधिशासी अभियन्ता, विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-प्रथम, शामली के टिप्पणी एवं आदेश दिनांक 28.04.2010 जोकि मुख्य अभियन्ता (स्तर-1), सहारनपुर क्षेत्र, सहारनपुर को संबोधित है जिसमें धारा 03 एवं धारा 05 की प्रति संलग्न की गयी है। आरोपी द्वारा प्रस्तुत स्वहस्ताक्षरित एच.वी. उपभोक्ताओं की बिलिंग डाटा सूची के अनुसार उपभोक्ता का विद्युत बकाया प्रदर्शित ना होने के स्वरूप राजस्व वसूली की कार्यवाही नहीं की जा सकी। उक्त कथन स्वीकार योग्य एवं उचित प्रतीत होता है। अतः आरोपी को दोषमुक्त पाया जाता है।

आरोपी का निम्नवत् कहना है कि:-

अखबार में प्रकाशित विज्ञप्ति जो आरोप पत्र के साथ संलग्न है। आरोपी को उसके कार्यकाल में संज्ञानित / उपलब्ध नहीं करायी गयी।

निगम आदेश सं० 1653 / जी०सी०ए०ओ० दिनांक 10.04.1997 के अनुसार आरोपी का उत्तरदायित्व बकायेदार उपभोक्ता के विरुद्ध मात्र धारा - 03 एवं धारा-05 का प्रपत्र जारी करने तक है। जो आरोपी के कार्यभार ग्रहण करने से पूर्व ही जारी हो चुका था।

निगम आदेश सं० 87 / प्र०सु० / 01 / णकालि / 2002-20- प्र०से / 2000 दिनांक 25.02.2002 की कणिका 3क- 4, के अनुसार राजस्व वसूली हेतु प्रारम्भिक उत्तरदायित्व उपखण्ड अधिकारी, पर्यवेक्षणीय उत्तरदायित्व अधिशासी अभियन्ता एवं प्रशासनिक उत्तरदायित्व अधीक्षण अभियन्ता का है।

पूर्ववर्ती परिषद आदेश सं०-334 - विनियम - 23 / राविट - 97 - 5 विनियम / 90 (टी०सी०) 11 दिनांक 30.11.1997 का कणिका 1.36 के अनुसार धारा - 05 का प्रपत्र जारी होने के उपरान्त जिलाधिकारी से वसूली हेतु अनुस्मरण करना तथा धारा -05 की आपत्तियों के निस्तारण करने का उत्तरदायित्व अधिशासी अभियन्ता का है।

पूर्ववर्ती परिषद आदेश सं० 924 - वी०एस०वी० / राविट उन्तीस - 22 वी०एस०वी० / 91 दिनांक 30.07.1999 के अनुसार अधिशासी अभियन्ता, अधीनस्थों के कार्यों हेतु उत्तरदायी हैं। अधिशासी अभियन्ता, का उत्तरदायित्व था कि वे जिलाधिकारी को अपने अधीनस्थ कार्यालय सहायकों से पत्राचार कराना चाहिए था।

निगमादेश सं० 555 - ज०श० एवं प्र०मु०-01 / 41 कराने / 2017-29- प्र०मु० / 2001 दिनांक 30.06.2017 की कणिका 01 के अनुसार राजस्व संग्रह का प्रशासनिक उत्तरदायित्व अधिशासी अभियन्ता, पर्यवेक्षणीय उत्तरदायित्व, अधीक्षण अभियन्ता तथा डिस्कॉम स्तर पर निदेशक वाणिज्य का है। उल्लेखनीय है कि वृहद एवं भारी उपभोक्ता के रु० 100 लाख से अधिक से बकाया की धनराशि की सूचना प्रत्येक माह डिस्कॉम स्तर तक प्रेषित की जाती है। अतः सभी उच्च अधिकारी उपभोक्ता पर बकाया राशि से संज्ञानित थे एवं उनका उत्तरदायित्व दिशा निर्देशन का था।

रेगुलेशन ऑफ़ Insolvency and Bankruptcy के अनुसार Interim Resolution Professional विद्युत विभाग को सूचना देने का प्रावधान नहीं है। अतः विद्युत विभाग में सूचना प्राप्त नहीं है और ना तदनुसार अधिशासी अभियन्ता द्वारा इस संबंध में आरोपी को कोई निर्देश जारी किये गये।

उपरोक्त बिन्दुओं के सन्दर्भ में उल्लेखनीय है कि Interim Resolution Professional द्वारा सम्बन्धित जिलाधिकारी को सूचना प्रेषित की जानी है। चूंकि उक्त प्रकरण में धारा-05 प्रपत्र जारी हो चुका था। अतः लम्बित राजस्व बकाया की कार्यवाही खण्ड स्तर पर धारा-05 के लम्बित रहने तक नहीं की जा सकती है। उक्त कार्यवाही जिलाधिकारी के स्तर पर संपादित होनी थी। अतः आरोपी के स्तर पर कोई कार्यवाही वांछित नहीं थी। आरोपी को Interim Resolution Professional के यहाँ दावा प्रस्तुत करने हेतु किसी भी स्तर से कोई आदेश जारी नहीं किये गये थे। उक्त से स्पष्ट है कि धारा-03 एवं धारा-05 जारी होने के उपरान्त आरोपी के स्तर पर कोई भी कार्यवाही वांछित नहीं थी एवं आरोपी के कार्यकाल में धारा 05 की नोटिस किसी आपत्ति के साथ जिलाधिकारी कार्यालय से वापस प्राप्त नहीं हुआ।

समिति का मतव्य है कि संबंधित उपभोक्ता के विरुद्ध बकाया राजस्व धनराशि की वसूली हेतु दावा प्रस्तुत करने हेतु आरोपी ने अपने अभिकथन में स्पष्ट किया है कि धारा 03 एवं धारा 05 के नोटिस पूर्व में ही निर्गत किये गये थे। निगमादेश के अनुसार राजस्व वसूली का दायित्व अन्य अधिकारियों का है। धारा 05 निर्गत होने पर वसूली जिलाधिकारी द्वारा किया जाना है। एन.सी.एल.टी. द्वारा विद्युत विभाग को उपभोक्ता के संयोजन के विरुद्ध बकाया राजस्व की वसूली के दावे हेतु कोई सूचना ना प्राप्त होना, दिल्ली से प्रकाशित समाचार पत्र का शामिली कस्बे में उपलब्ध ना होना भी अंकित किया है जो कि स्वीकार योग्य है। अतः आरोपी को दोषमुक्त पाया जाता है।

8. Inquiry report of Temporary Inquiry Committee-5 was submitted to Managing Director, who disagreed with exoneration so far as charge no. 1 is concerned and held that it was proved in part and, therefore, a notice dated 28.12.2024 was issued to petitioner, to which petitioner submitted reply dated 10.01.2025 and again denied charge and specifically stated that it was not sole responsibility of him to pursue the notices issued under Sections 3 and 5 of Act, 1958 and notices were issued much prior to when petitioner remained posted as Accountant at Shamli.

9. In aforesaid circumstances, impugned order dated 02.05.2025 was passed by way of an Office Memorandum, whereby petitioner was found partly guilty of charge no. 1 that when he was working between 2016 to 2021, i.e., for five years as an Accountant at Shamli, he did not notice the huge outstanding of Rs. 214.87 lacs of a consumer namely, M/s Sikka Paper Ltd. and has not pursued thereafter. However, no reference was made so far as proceeding under Insolvency Act is concerned. By means of impugned order not only punishment of "Censure" and "withholding of one financial increment with cumulative effect" was passed but a punishment to recover Rs. 214.87 lacs was also imposed on petitioner. Relevant part of impugned order is mentioned hereinafter:

प्राप्त जांच आख्या के उपरान्त की गयी कार्यालय समीक्षा

आरोप संख्या-01 :- आरोपी की तैनाती 31.07.2016 से 19.07.2021 तक 05 वर्षों तक रही। परन्तु इतने बड़े बकाया रु 214.87 लाख के सम्बन्ध में कोई जानकारी नहीं थी, ऐसा सम्भव नहीं है। यदि नहीं थी, तो घोर लापरवाही है। लगातार Pursuance करना तथा जिला प्रशासन से सम्पर्क करके वसूली की कार्यवाही किया जाना था। धारा-05 निर्गत करने के उपरान्त उसकी Monitoring करना लेखाकार का प्रथम दायित्व है। पूर्व में निर्गत धारा-03 एवं धारा-05 का अनुश्रवण करना लेखाकार (राजस्व) की पूर्ण जिम्मेदारी है। बड़े बकायेदारों उपभोक्ता एच0वी0-02 श्रेणी कू सूचना पूर्ववर्ती अधिशासी अभियन्ता से भी प्राप्त करना आवश्यक था। संलग्न सूची में Inoperative श्रेणी के उपभोक्ता का विवरण नहीं है। लेखाकार (राजस्व) सभी आरोपों से अपने को मुक्त करवाने हैं। जैसे इनकी किसी प्रकार की जिम्मेदारी नहीं है। अतः आरोपी को आरोप संख्या-01 के लिए आंशिक दोषी पाया जाता है।

आरोप संख्या:-02 :- उपभोक्ता के विरुद्ध बकाया राजस्व धनराशि की वसूली के धारा 03 तथा धारा 05 का नोटिस आरोपी की तैनाती अवधि से पूर्व ही निर्गत कराया जा चुका था। धारा 05 निर्गत होने पर वसूली जिलाधिकारी द्वारा की जाती है। एन.सी.एल.टी. द्वारा विद्युत विभाग को उपभोक्ता के संयोजन के विरुद्ध बकाया राजस्व की वसूली के दावे हेतु कोई सूचना ना प्राप्त होना, दिल्ली से प्रकाशित समाचार पत्र का शामली कस्बे में उपलब्ध ना होना भी अंकित किया है जो कि उचित प्रतीत होता है।

अतः कार्यालय समीक्षा में जांच समिति के निष्कर्ष से सहमति की स्थिति पायी जाती है। तथा आरोपी आरोप संख्या-02 के लिए दोषमुक्त पाया जाता है।

आरोपी श्री सत्यवृत्त (सैम आई0डी0-14700047) तत्कालीन लेखाकार अन्तर्गत, विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-तृतीय, शामली सम्प्रति लेखाकार, अन्तर्गत विद्युत नगरीय वितरण खण्ड-प्रथम, मुजफ्फरनगर के विरुद्ध प्रकरण में अस्थायी जांच समिति-पंचम से प्राप्त जांच आख्या एवं निष्कर्ष का कार्यालय स्तर पर की समीक्षोपरान्त आरोप सं0-01 आंशिक सिद्ध पाये जाने के दृष्टिगत निगमिय पत्रांक 6518/प०वि०वि०नि०लि०/मे०/डी०पी०/1775 दिनांक 28.12.2024 द्वारा अभ्यावेदन निर्गत किया गया। जिसके संदर्भ में प्रतिउत्तर आरोपी द्वारा पत्रांक शून्य दिनांक 10.01.2025 के माध्यम से प्रेषित किया गया। जोकि निम्नवत् है:-

"उपरोक्त विषयक अवगत कराना है कि अभ्यावेदक की तैनाती अवधि 31.07.2016 से 19.07.2021 में वि०वि०ख० तृतीय, शामली में थी, वृहद उपभोक्ता की राजस्व बकाया के सम्बन्ध में जांच समिति (अस्थायी) प०वि०वि०नि०लि०, मुरादाबाद के पत्र सं० 9003-मु०अ०मु०क्षे०/अस्थायी जांच समिति-5 दिनांक 26.09.2024 के द्वारा आरोप-पत्र जारी किया गया था, जिसमें 2 नग आरोप से आरोपित किया गया था। अभ्यावेदक द्वारा प्रति उत्तर प्रस्तुत करने एवं व्यक्तिगत सुनवाई के उपरान्त जांच समिति द्वारा जांच विवेचना प्रस्तुत की गई। जांच में अपनी जांच विवेचना में अभ्यावेदक को दोनों आरोपों से मुक्त पाया था अनुशासनात्मक समीक्षा में निम्न आधार पर अभ्यावेदक को आरोप सं0-1 में आंशिक दोषी मान लिया गया।"

अनुशासनात्मक समीक्षा का अंश:- "अभ्यावेदक की तैनाती 31.07.2016 से 19.07.2021 तक 5 वर्षों तक रही, परन्तु इतने बड़े बकायेदार रु० 214.87 लाख के विरुद्ध बकाया की कोई जानकारी नहीं थी। ऐसा सम्भव नहीं है यदि नहीं थी तो घोर लापरवाही है।"

अनुशासनात्मक समीक्षा का उक्त अंश पूर्ण रूपेण अस्वीकार्य है तथा खंडित किये जाने योग्य है, जो निम्न से स्पष्ट है:-

(i) प्रश्रगत उपभोक्ता विद्युत वितरण खण्ड प्रथम, शामली से सम्बन्धित था एवं जैसा कि प्रत्यावेदन में वर्णित किया जा चुका है। उपभोक्ता पर बकाया राशि के विरुद्ध में विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-प्रथम, शामली के स्तर पर कार्यवाही हो चुकी थी, जो निम्न हैं-

(ii) धारा-3 के प्रपत्र की छायाप्रति।

(iii) धारा-5 के प्रपत्र व बिना वसूल प्रपत्र की छायाप्रति।

(iv) अधिशासी अभियन्ता, विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-प्रथम, शामली एवं अधीक्षण अभियन्ता, विद्युत वितरण मण्डल, शामली की टिप्पणी एवं आदेश दिनांक 28.11.2010 (छायाप्रति)।

(v) अधिशासी अभियन्ता, विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-प्रथम, शामली के पत्र सं० 291/वि०वि०-प्र०/शामली, दिनांक 08.07.2010 (छायाप्रति)।

(vi) विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-प्रथम, शामली का कुछ क्षेत्र दिनांक 25.05.2012 को हस्तांतरित कर विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-तृतीय, शामली में पुनर्गठित किया गया जबकि अभ्यावेदक की तैनाती 31.07.2016 से 19.07.2021 तक रही है। उल्लेखनीय है कि उक्त प्रश्रगत उपभोक्ता का संयोजन स्थल विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-तृतीय, शामली में पुनर्गठन के फलस्वरूप आया था, परन्तु उपभोक्ता का स्थायी विच्छेदन एवं धारा-5 आदि का प्रपत्र विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-प्रथम, शामली से ही दिया जा चुका था। अतः उक्त बकाया धनराशि विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-प्रथम, शामली के अभिलेखों में ही वर्णित रही एवं बकाया धनराशि तथा उपभोक्ता का प्रकरण विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-तृतीय, शामली को हस्तान्तरित नहीं हुआ। अतः अनुशासनात्मक समीक्षा का उक्त अंश भी लेखाकार (राजस्व) को संज्ञानित होना चाहिए था सम्भव ही नहीं है एवं अस्वीकार्य है।

(vii) अनुशासनात्मक समीक्षा का अंश लगातार Pursuance करना तथा जिला प्रशासन से सम्पर्क करके वसूली की कार्यवाही किया जाना था।

(viii) अनुशासनात्मक समीक्षा का अन्य अंश भी अस्वीकार्य है क्योंकि बकाया धनराशि का प्रकरण विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-प्रथम, शामली में था, जब कि अभ्यावेदक की तैनाती विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-तृतीय, शामली में थी।

अभ्यावेदक द्वारा उक्त तथ्यों को व्यक्तिगत सुनवाई के समय भी अवगत कराया गया था। परन्तु जांच समिति ने अपनी विवेचना में सम्मिलित नहीं किया और न ही अनुशासनात्मक समीक्षा में संज्ञानित किया गया जिस कारण अनुशासनात्मक समीक्षा त्रुटि पूर्ण हो गयी।

अतः स्पष्ट है कि उपभोक्ता की बकाया राशि विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-प्रथम, शामली में वांछित थी एवं सभी अभिलेख विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-प्रथम, शामली में थे जबकि अभ्यावेदक की तैनाती विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-तृतीय, शामली में थी।

(IX) यह भी उल्लेख करना अनिवार्य है कि विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-तृतीय, शामली के गठन के समय (जो अभ्यावेदक के कार्यभार से पूर्व हुआ है) वृहद एवं भारी उपभोक्ता जो कार्यशील थे एवं विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-तृतीय, शामली के कार्य क्षेत्र में आते थे हस्तान्तरित किये गये थे जबकि प्रश्रुत उपभोक्ता का स्थायी विच्छेदन एवं धारा 5 आदि की कार्यवाही विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-प्रथम, शामली में हो चुकी थी एवं अभिलेख तथा उपभोक्ता विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-तृतीय, शामली में हस्तान्तरित नहीं था। साक्ष्य में वृहद एवं भारी उपभोक्ता के वर्ष-2019 व वर्तमान की संगणक डाटा की छायाप्रति संलग्न हैं।

अतः उक्त प्रकरण अभ्यावेदक से सम्बन्धित नहीं हैं अभ्यावेदक पर आरोप तथा अनुशासनात्मक समीक्षा सिद्ध नहीं हैं।"

प्राप्त अभ्यावेदन के विश्लेषण से संज्ञानित है कि विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-तृतीय, शामली के अन्तर्गत दिनांक 31.07.2016 से 19.07.2021 तक 05 वर्षों की तैनाती की समयवधि के दौरान आरोपी श्री सत्यवृत्त, लेखाकार के द्वारा उपभोक्ता मैसर्स सिक्का पेपर्स लि०, सिक्का से धनराशि 214.87 लाख की राजस्व वसूली सम्बन्धी प्रकरण में कार्यभार ग्रहण करते समय पूर्ववर्ती लेखाकार से खण्ड के अन्तर्गत बड़े बकायेदारों (HV-2) की जानकारी प्राप्त कर उचित कार्यवाही करने में असमर्थ रहने के दृष्टिगत विभागीय कार्यों एवं दायित्वों के प्रति लापरवाही/शिथिलता प्रदर्शित होती है।

यद्यपि उक्त उपभोक्ता से राजस्व वसूली हेतु धारा-3 व धारा-5 आरोपी की तैनाती अवधि से पूर्व विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-प्रथम, शामली से निर्गत किया गया था, परन्तु आरोपी द्वारा उक्त उपभोक्ता से सम्बन्धित अभिलेखों को विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-तृतीय, शामली में हस्तान्तरित कराकर एवं उसकी वसूली हेतु लगातार अनुसरण करने का उल्लेख अभ्यावेदन में नहीं किया गया।

अतः प्रबन्ध निदेशक, पश्चिमांचल विद्युत वितरण निगम लि०, मेरठ के उक्त प्रकरण में सक्षम अधिकारी होने के नाते श्री सत्यवृत्त (सैम आई0डी0-14700047) तत्कालीन लेखाकार अन्तर्गत, विद्युत वितरण खण्ड-तृतीय, शामली सम्प्रति लेखाकार, अन्तर्गत विद्युत नगरीय वितरण खण्ड-प्रथम, मुजफ्फरनगर के विरुद्ध आरोप सं0-01 आंशिक सिद्ध पाये जाने के दृष्टिगत "परिनिन्दा एवं संचयी प्रभाव से एक वार्षिक वेतन वृद्धि पर रोक तथा धनराशि ₹0 214.87 लाख विविध अग्रिम के रूप में प्रत्याप्ति" का दण्ड प्रदत्त करते हुए उनके विरुद्ध आरोप पत्र के माध्यम से प्रचलित प्रकरण को एतद्द्वारा "समाप्त" किया जाता है।

10. Sri Pranesh Kumar Mishra, learned counsel for petitioner has submitted that demand notices against consumer under Sections 3 and 5 of Act, 1958 were issued on 13.11.2009 and 14.12.2009 whereas petitioner took charge as an Accountant at Shamli on 31.07.2016, i.e., notices were issued about more than six years ago. No allegation was made against earlier posted Accountants. Impugned order was passed mainly on a premise that petitioner was not careful and diligent to identify the huge outstanding and to inform it to Higher Authorities and failed to pursue it. However, an Accountant cannot be held entirely responsible that he was not able to point out a recovery for which demand notices were issued more than six years back when he took charge. The Higher Authorities have also not taken note of any huge outstanding or call for record from Accountant, i.e., petitioner during his tenure of about five years at Shamli. A reason was assigned in impugned order that billing data list was not published, however, it was not the entire responsibility of petitioner.

11. Learned counsel for petitioner further submitted that so far insolvency proceeding is concerned, notice was published in a nationalized newspaper which does not has much circulation at Shamli and otherwise also it cannot be entire responsibility of petitioner to take note of notice published in newspaper.

12. Learned counsel further submitted that the charge was partially proved and without any specific finding about loss the punishment of recovery of entire amount, i.e., Rs. 214.87 lacs, from petitioner alone is a punishment which is shockingly disproportionate.

13. Per contra, Sri Krishna Agrawal, Advocate and Sri Vinayak Ranjan, Advocate holding brief of Sri Kartikeya Saran, Advocate for respondents, have supported the impugned order that petitioner was granted opportunity not only before Temporary Inquiry Committee but before Disciplinary Authority also. He was put on notice of disagreement and after considering his reply, it was held that petitioner was required to be more diligent towards recovery and it was his duty to procure information of consumers having huge outstanding, i.e., under HV-02 category, from his earlier Accountants or Executive Engineer, however, he was failed to take requisite information. Due procedure was followed and punishment is not shockingly disproportionate.

14. Heard learned counsel for parties and perused the material on record.

15. In the present case, admitted position of facts, as already mentioned in earlier paragraphs, are that demand notices against a consumer for demand of Rs. 214.87 lacs was issued in the year 2009, however, it was not pursued either by earlier Accountants or by Higher Authorities or by petitioner when he was posted between 2016 to 2021. Similarly, no application was filed in insolvency proceeding of consumer. The Temporary Inquiry Committee has exonerated petitioner from both charges, however, Disciplinary Authority put a disagreement so far as charge no. 1 is concerned that it was proved in part and notice was issued to petitioner, which was replied by him and finally impugned order was passed. Therefore, the Court is of the view that principle of natural justice and due procedure was complied with.

16. Now the only question is, whether charge is proved in part on a perverse finding and in case charge is found to be partly proved, whether punishments, specifically the punishment of recovery of amount of Rs. 214.87 lacs from petitioner, is shockingly disproportionate.

17. First charge was proved in part and for that the Court takes note of impugned order that during tenure of five years between 2016 to 2021 petitioner was required to get information from his earlier Accountants, specifically about the consumers having huge outstanding under HV-02 category, however, petitioner remained careless since he has not sought information.

18. Therefore, if impugned order is taken on face of it, the maximum proved charge against petitioner is that he was not diligent to procure information from his earlier Accountants and failed to pursue recovery process initiated about six years ago. It may be a case that petitioner was not diligent enough but whether it would be sufficient to hold that he was entirely responsible so much as that a recovery of entire outstanding amount of Rs. 214.87 lacs be recovered from petitioner by way of punishment. For that the Court takes note of a judgment passed by Supreme Court in the case of Punjab & Sind Bank vs. Sh. Raj Kumar, 2026 INSC 313 and relevant paras 9 and 10 of the judgment are reproduced hereinafter:

9. What follows from the precedents noted above is that courts should exercise restraint while interdicting orders of punishment. Normally, no court in exercise of its power of judicial review should interfere with an order of punishment imposed on a delinquent as a measure of disciplinary action by the competent authority and substitute its own judgment for that of the former. This is premised on the reason that the disciplinary authority is the best judge of the situation, and the requirements of maintaining discipline within the work force. While it is not the law that the courts should invariably stay at a distance when legality and/or propriety of a particular punishment is questioned, judicial scrutiny of the disciplinary action by way of punishment could arise only if the circumstances are such that no reasonable person would impose the punishment which is questioned and/or such punishment has the effect of shocking the conscience of the court. To put in simpler words, interference could be warranted if it appears to the court that the disciplinary authority has 'used a sledgehammer for cracking a nut'. A punishment, which is strikingly or shockingly disproportionate and is not commensurate with the gravity of misconduct, proved to have been committed in course of inquiry or otherwise, would border on arbitrariness and offend Article 14 of the Constitution.

10. Where a court, upon due consideration, arrives at the conclusion that the punishment imposed is disproportionate, its intervention is circumscribed in nature. Judicial scrutiny and interference, if at all, has to be based on reasons in support of the court's ultimate satisfaction that the disciplinary authority has faltered in the exercise of his discretion. In such a situation, the court may adopt one of two courses: it may remit the matter to the competent authority for reconsideration of the punishment; or, in the rarest of cases, it may substitute the punishment while supporting such a course with cogent reasons.

19. The Court finds that though charge no. 1 is found to be proved in part but there is no reason assigned why punishment of recovery of entire amount is imposed only against petitioner. There is no finding that petitioner does not remain diligent so much as it resulted into aforesaid financial loss and for that petitioner was solely responsible. No responsibility was imposed on earlier Accountants and Higher Authorities. There was no charge that department has suffered financial loss. There is no finding that due to misconduct petitioner has gained monetary or any other benefit. Therefore, the Court finds that punishment of Censure and stoppage of one financial increment with cumulative effect might have proportionate punishment but punishment of recovery of Rs. 214.87 lacs only from petitioner without any reason and without even a charge to this effect, the Court is of the view that this punishment is shockingly disproportionate.

20. In view of above, though in normal circumstances matter can be remanded for consideration afresh but on consideration of above reason, punishment of recovery of a huge amount, being without any reason or basis, cannot sustain. Accordingly, impugned order dated 02.05.2025, to the extent of recovery of Rs. 214.87 lacs from petitioner, is hereby set aside, without interfering with other two punishments.

21. The writ petition is accordingly disposed of.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether disciplinary proceedings could be initiated after an inordinate and unexplained delay of about ten years; and whether such proceedings could be initiated without any independent subjective satisfaction, preliminary inquiry or fact-finding exercise by the disciplinary authority to connect the petitioner with the alleged misconduct.

HEADNOTE

U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 – r.7 – Civil Service Regulations – Art.351-A – On the eve of retirement on 30.06.2025, disciplinary proceedings initiated against petitioner under Rule 7 of the U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 on allegation that he had forged recovery notice dated 22.10.2016 – Petitioner contended that alleged incident pertained to year 2015 and proceedings had been initiated after inordinate and unexplained delay of about ten years – Further contended that at relevant time he was not posted in District Saharanpur and had neither authority nor occasion to issue alleged recovery notice – Challenge in writ jurisdiction – Justification:

Held: On the eve of retirement on 30.06.2025, disciplinary proceedings were initiated against the petitioner under Rule 7 of the U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 on the allegation that he had forged recovery notice dated 22.10.2016 – Court held that the impugned order had been issued after an inordinate delay of about ten years from the date of the alleged incident and such extraordinary delay in initiating departmental proceedings had not been explained at all in the counter affidavit – Unexplained delay in initiation of disciplinary proceedings makes it virtually impossible for an employee to gather relevant documents and evidence in his defence – Inordinate and unexplained delay in initiating disciplinary proceedings can be a ground for quashing such proceedings even at the stage of charge-sheet.

Court further held that no independent subjective satisfaction, preliminary inquiry or fact-finding exercise was conducted by the disciplinary authority to arrive at a conclusion that the petitioner had forged or issued the alleged recovery notice dated 22.10.2016 – Disciplinary authority had not independently applied its mind nor recorded any satisfaction to connect the petitioner with the alleged forgery – There was no explanation in the counter affidavit as to how the petitioner could have issued or fabricated the recovery notice when, he was not posted in District Saharanpur at the relevant time and was serving elsewhere – Impugned order set aside – Writ petition allowed – Liberty granted to the petitioner to move representation regarding claim for notional promotion to the post of Senior Mining Officer.(E-5)

Challenge in this writ petition

By means of this petition, the petitioner has assailed the impugned order dated 30.06.2025, as contained in Annexure-1 to the writ petition, passed by respondent no. 2.

Brief Facts of the Case

The brief facts of the case are that the petitioner was initially appointed to the post of Mining Inspector on 02.03.1993 and was subsequently promoted to the post of Mining Officer on 01.07.1998. While working as Mining Officer in Districts Mainpuri and Kannauj, the petitioner was transferred to District Saharanpur vide order dated 05.06.2015, and in compliance thereof, he joined at District Saharanpur.

During his posting at Saharanpur, one Manipal Singh made a complaint to the District Magistrate, Saharanpur, regarding illegal mining in the Yamuna River in villages Allaharpur and Panchkuwan, pursuant to which an order dated 05.07.2015 was passed. The District Magistrate, Saharanpur, vide letter dated 08.07.2015, directed the petitioner to inspect and verify the genuineness of the complaint on the spot.

In compliance with the said direction, the petitioner conducted an inspection at villages Allaharpur and Panchkuwan and found that one Ranvir Singh was engaged in illegal mining. Consequently, the petitioner addressed a letter to the Station House Officer, Police Station Chilkana, District Saharanpur, for lodging an FIR against the said Ranvir Singh.

In the meantime, the petitioner was transferred from District Saharanpur to District Jalaun vide order dated 19.05.2016. Thereafter, on 29.09.2016, the petitioner was again transferred from District Jalaun to District Saharanpur; however, before he could join at Saharanpur, the said transfer order was cancelled vide order dated 07.10.2016. Both the aforesaid orders are on record as Annexure-6 and Annexure-7 to the writ petition.

Subsequently, on a complaint made by one Maniram, the District Magistrate passed an order of recovery dated 22.10.2016, which is contained in Annexure-10 to the writ petition.

Submissions on Behalf of the Petitioner

Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the petitioner, after attaining the age of superannuation, retired on 30.06.2025 from the post of Mining Officer in District Azamgarh. On the eve of his retirement, the impugned order dated 30.06.2025 (contained in Annexure-1 to the writ petition) was passed by opposite party no. 2, whereby disciplinary proceedings have been initiated against the petitioner under Rule 7 of the U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999.

It is further submitted that the said proceedings have been initiated in relation to an alleged incident of the year 2015, i.e., after an inordinate and unexplained delay. While passing the impugned order, opposite party no. 2 has recorded a finding that the petitioner had forged a recovery notice dated 22.10.2016 (Annexure-10 to the writ petition).

It is further submitted that no proper inquiry or exercise was conducted by respondent no. 2 before arriving at the conclusion that the alleged recovery notice was forged. The impugned order has been passed in a mechanical and arbitrary manner without any cogent material on record.

It is also submitted that the impugned action has been taken only with a view to wreak vengeance against the petitioner. The petitioner had earlier filed Writ-A No. 8131 of 2024, which was allowed by this Court vide order dated 15.4.2025, and while allowing the said writ petition, certain adverse observations were made against the opposite parties in paragraph 7 of the judgment. Being aggrieved and annoyed by the said observations, respondent no. 2 has maliciously initiated disciplinary proceedings against the petitioner vide impugned order (Annexure-1).

It is, thus, evident that the disciplinary proceedings have been initiated with a mala fide intention to harass the petitioner and to ensure that he is deprived of his rightful post-retiral dues. As such, the petitioner is being illegally prevented from receiving his post-retiral benefits.

Learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance upon the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Amresh Shrivastava vs. State of Madhya Pradesh and others, reported in 2025 SCC OnLine SC 693 (paragraph 17), wherein it has been held that initiation of disciplinary proceedings after an inordinate delay, particularly at the verge of retirement or post-retirement, is liable to be interfered with, especially when no satisfactory explanation for such delay is forthcoming.

Reliance has also been placed upon the judgment passed by this Hon'ble Court in Writ-A No. 9033 of 2024, Rakesh Kumar Nayak vs. State of U.P. and others (paragraphs 18, 19 and 20), wherein it has been held that belated initiation of disciplinary proceedings and withholding of post-retiral dues without due justification is arbitrary and unsustainable in law.

Although the impugned order alleges that the petitioner committed forgery while issuing the recovery notice, the said allegation is wholly misconceived and unsupported by the record. A perusal of the recovery notice itself clearly demonstrates that the same was not issued by the petitioner, but by the competent authority.

It is further submitted that, at the relevant point of time, the petitioner was not posted in District Saharanpur and, therefore, had neither the authority nor any occasion to issue the alleged recovery notice addressed to the District Magistrate. In absence of any role, authority, or connection with the issuance of the said notice, the allegation of forgery levelled against the petitioner is patently arbitrary and unsustainable.

It is further submitted that even in the counter affidavit filed on behalf of the State Government, there is no specific pleading or averment to the effect that the recovery certificate dated 22.10.2016 was forged by the petitioner. In absence of any such categorical assertion in the pleadings, the allegation of forgery levelled against the petitioner is wholly unsubstantiated and liable to be rejected.

On the strength of the aforesaid judgments, it is contended that there was no occasion or justification for opposite party no. 2 to initiate disciplinary proceedings against the petitioner in respect of an alleged incident of the year 2015, particularly on the eve of his retirement on 30.06.2025.

It is submitted that initiation of disciplinary proceedings after an inordinate delay of more than ten years is wholly arbitrary, unreasonable, and bad in law. Such belated action has been consistently deprecated by the Hon'ble Supreme Court, especially in cases where no plausible explanation for the delay is forthcoming.

Submissions on Behalf of the Respondents

Learned Standing Counsel, while rebutting the submissions advanced on behalf of the petitioner, submits that an FIR bearing No. 587 of 2019 has been registered against the petitioner under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 167 and 120-B IPC, and pursuant thereto, a charge-sheet has already been filed by the police.

It is further submitted that the petitioner had prepared a forged recovery memo and used the same for unlawful purposes, and thus, the allegations against him are of grave misconduct, warranting imposition of a major penalty.

It has also been submitted that a charge-sheet in the departmental proceedings has been duly served upon the petitioner in March, 2026, wherein five charges have been levelled against him.

Lastly, it is contended that a writ petition challenging the initiation of departmental proceedings is not maintainable at this stage, and therefore, the present writ petition is liable to be dismissed.

Rejoinder Submissions

In reply to the submissions advanced by the learned Standing Counsel, learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the Hon'ble Supreme Court, in Amresh Shrivastava vs State of Madhya Pradesh and others, has categorically held that inordinate and unexplained delay in initiating departmental proceedings, particularly where the alleged misconduct was within the knowledge of the department, constitutes a valid ground for interference by the Court even at the stage of issuance of the charge-sheet.

It is submitted that where the proceedings are vitiated on account of gross delay, mala fide, or lack of jurisdiction, the writ petition is clearly maintainable, notwithstanding the stage of the proceedings. Therefore, the contention of the respondents that the writ petition is not maintainable is misconceived and liable to be rejected.

On a specific query made by this Court, learned Standing Counsel has fairly admitted that no independent subjective satisfaction, preliminary inquiry, or fact-finding exercise was conducted by the disciplinary authority to arrive at a conclusion that the petitioner had forged or issued the alleged recovery notice dated 22.10.2016 (Annexure-10 to the writ petition). It has also not been clarified as to who, in fact, issued or prepared the said recovery notice, which forms the very basis of the impugned order dated 30.06.2025.

A perusal of the counter affidavit further reveals that there is no specific and categorical denial or pleading to the effect that the petitioner himself had forged the recovery notice dated 22.10.2016. The stand of the State primarily rests upon the investigation conducted in Case Crime No. 587 of 2019 under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 167 and 120-B IPC, wherein the Investigating Officer is stated to have found the charges to be proved and, on that basis, the matter was referred by the Directorate of Geology and Mining to the State Government, culminating in the initiation of disciplinary proceedings under Rule 7 of the U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999, read with Article 351-A of the Civil Service Regulations.

However, this Court finds that the disciplinary authority has not independently applied its mind nor recorded any satisfaction on the basis of cogent material to connect the petitioner with the alleged forgery. Furthermore, there is no explanation in the counter affidavit as to how the petitioner could have issued or fabricated the recovery notice when, admittedly, he was not posted in District Saharanpur at the relevant time and was serving elsewhere, namely in District Jalaun.

Conclusion on Delay and Merits

The issue of inordinate delay in initiating departmental proceedings is also of significance. The proceedings have been initiated in the year 2025 in respect of an alleged incident of the year 2015, i.e., after a lapse of about ten years, without any satisfactory explanation.

In this regard, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Amresh Shrivastava vs. State of Madhya Pradesh and others (supra) has categorically held that inordinate and unexplained delay in initiating disciplinary proceedings can be a ground for quashing such proceedings even at the stage of charge-sheet. Paragraph 17 of the said judgment, being relevant, is extracted below:- "As to the second question, regarding whether delay is a ground for stopping the departmental proceedings at the stage of the chargesheet itself, suffice it to say that this varies from case to case. However, in the instant case where there is unexplained inordinate delay in initiating departmental proceedings despite the alleged misconduct being within the knowledge of the department, but still no departmental proceedings are initiated, the answer must go in favour of the employee. However, there may be cases where the department was not even aware of such irregularities or the misconduct, which is of such a nature that it is indicative, based on material considerations of factors other than merit, such as extraneous influences and gratifications. In such cases, such a delay, by itself would not be a valid ground to scuttle the initiation of the process of departmental proceedings."

A Coordinate Bench of this Court, while relying upon the judgments of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of Madhya Pradesh vs. Bani Singh and another, AIR 1990 SC 1308, as well as State of Andhra Pradesh vs. N. Radhakrishnan, reported in (1998) 4 SCC 154, has held that in cases involving inordinate and unexplained delay in initiation of disciplinary proceedings, prejudice to the delinquent employee is writ large on the face of the record. It has further been observed that such delay makes it virtually impossible for the employee to gather relevant documents and evidence in his defence.

In the present case, it is an admitted position that the petitioner was not posted in District Saharanpur at the time when the alleged recovery notice dated 22.10.2016 (Annexure-10) was issued; rather, he was posted in District Jalaun. This factual aspect is not in dispute, as fairly conceded by the learned Standing Counsel.

Further, it is evident that while issuing the impugned order, no subjective satisfaction has been recorded by the competent authority, nor has any preliminary or fact-finding inquiry been conducted to arrive at even a prima facie conclusion that it was the petitioner who was involved in the alleged forgery of the recovery notice dated 22.10.2016.

Coupled with the aforesaid, the impugned order (Annexure-1) has been issued after an inordinate delay of about ten years from the date of the alleged incident, that too on the eve of the petitioner's retirement on 30.06.2025. Such extraordinary delay in initiating the departmental proceedings has not been explained at all in the counter affidavit.

Final order

Thus, in view of the aforesaid judgments and the discussion made herein-above, the writ petition is allowed and this Court has no hesitation in holding that the impugned order dated 30.6.2025 contained in Annexure-1 to the writ petition cannot be sustained in the eyes of law and is hereby set aside.

So far as the second relief prayed for by the petitioner is concerned, it is evident that a specific pleading has been made in paragraph 22 of the writ petition. However, in the counter affidavit filed by the State dated 28.11.2025, there is virtually no reply to the averments made in the said paragraph, and the same remains unrebutted.

Liberty is granted to the petitioner to move a representation before the competent authority/opposite parties for consideration of his claim for notional promotion to the post of Senior Mining Officer, in case his juniors have been promoted to the said post.

In the event such a representation is filed, the competent authority shall consider and decide the same, strictly in accordance with law, by passing a reasoned and speaking order, within a period of three months from the date of production of a certified copy of this order.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether a compromise recorded under Rule 25-A of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Rules, 1954 could be held binding upon tenure holders who were not parties to the compromise and whose objections under Section 9-A(2) of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 were pending consideration; and Whether a compromise disputed by affected parties and alleged to have been obtained on blank papers without notice could be sustained in law.

HEADNOTE

U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953, s.9-A(2), s.11 – U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Rules, 1954 – r.25-A – Petitioners, Shanker and Jagdish, filed objections under Section 9-A(2) claiming co-tenure rights in disputed holdings – Chunni, father of petitioners along with Pancham and Ram Ghulam, filed separate objections claiming rights as co-tenure holders and further sought deletion of the names of Ram Prasad, Ram Dev and Sukh Dev from the record of rights – Assistant Consolidation Officer recorded a compromise and decided the objections in terms thereof – Petitioners challenged the compromise on the ground that they were not parties to such compromise, nor had they any notice of such compromise being reached between one set of objectors and the opposite parties and hence the direction issued for recording the names of Ram Prasad, Ram Dev and Sukh Dev as co-tenure holders was illegal – It was further pleaded that signatures/thumb impressions had been obtained on blank papers on the representation that the matter would be referred to a higher authority – Gram Pradhan filed an affidavit disputing the compromise and stating that no compromise had been recorded in his presence – Appeals and revision dismissed by the consolidation authorities – Challenge in writ jurisdiction – Justification:

Held: Rule 25-A contemplates that the terms of conciliation shall be reduced into writing in the presence of at least two members of the Consolidation Committee, shall be read over to the parties concerned and thereafter their signatures or thumb impressions shall be obtained – No ex parte order or order in default can be passed by the Assistant Consolidation Officer.

Admittedly, there were no signatures or thumb impressions of petitioners, Shanker and Jagdish, on the compromise document though their objections in respect of the same holdings were pending consideration – Such compromise could not be binding upon Shanker and Jagdish – Gram Pradhan stated in his affidavit that the alleged agreement was a forged document and that no compromise terms were read out and explained – Compromise was not the one as contemplated under Rule 25-A because two petitioners, Shanker and Jagdish, were not parties to the compromise and as such the compromise order could not have brushed aside their objections. If there are parties who have filed their objections, then in law all such parties have to be signatories to the compromise, to claim a valid enforceable conciliation. Merely because the father had signed the document of compromise, though he disputed it, the sons cannot be held to be bound by the same. Court held that the findings based upon the document, the veracity of which was disputed by the parties, could not have been arrived at unless and until the document stood proved – If the parties said that they had signed blank sheets of paper, and were given the impression that those papers shall be used to make a reference and in the event, instead of making a reference to a higher authority, those papers formed a compromise, it would be presumable that their hands did not accompany their minds, to wit, they had never intended to reach a compromise. The Settlement Officer, Consolidation could not have presumed the terms and conditions to be justified only in order to uphold a compromise, once the compromise itself stood seriously disputed – Also, Settlement Officer, Consolidation did not record any finding regarding service of notice and also did not record any finding as to how, when there was no service of notice, a compromise could be taken to have been read out to the parties – Findings regarding the factum of co-tenure holdership could have been reached by the Settlement Officer only after discussing the case and hearing the parties on merits afresh instead of resting his findings on a disputed compromise document – Orders passed by the Settlement Officer, Consolidation and Deputy Director of Consolidation held unsustainable – Writ petition allowed – Orders dated 08.02.1982 and 13.04.1987 quashed – Objections restored for decision on merits after affording full opportunity of hearing to the parties. CASE ARISING FROM

From the orders dated 08.02.1982 passed by the Assistant Consolidation Officer, 31.08.1985 passed by the Settlement Officer, Consolidation and 13.04.1987 passed by the Deputy Director of Consolidation, Sultanpur upholding the compromise recorded in consolidation proceedings.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Petitioner: S.K. Mehrotra, Balram Yadava, Purnima Upadhyay.

Advs. for the Respondents: Chief Standing Counsel, Bajrang Bahadur Singh, G.D. Pandey, Sunil Kumar Singh, Vivek Kumar Dwivedi.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajit Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Sri Balram Yadava, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Bajrang Bahadur Singh, learned counsel for the respondent.

2. Petitioners before this Court have seriously questioned the orders passed by, Assistant Consolidation Officer dated 08.02.1982, Settlement Officer, Consolidation dated 31st August, 1985 as well as order passed by Deputy Director, Consolidation, Sultanpur dated 13th April, 1987 whereby their appeal as well as revision have come to be rejected upholding the compromise order passed by the Assistant Consolidation Officer dated 8th February, 1982.

3. Briefly stated facts of the case are that petitioner nos. 1 and 2, namely, Shanker and Jagdish had filed objections under Section 9A (2) of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 setting up their claim of share by virtue of sale deed executed by original tenure holder dated 30th December, 1978 in respect of plot nos. 727, 1046, 1093, 1094, 1095 and 1096 situate in village Hinduwabad, Pargana Aldemau, Tehsil Kadipur, District Sultanpur. Thus in short their names were to be recorded as co-tenure holder in respect of land in question.

4. Yet another objection was filed by one Chunni who happened to be father of Shanker and Jagdish, one Pancham and Ram Ghulam, petitioner nos. 3 and 4 respectively under Section 9A (2) of Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 and claimed to have right as a co tenure holders of Jagdish S/o Chunni and Suresh and so also Dalsingar and Shankar with further direction that respondent nos. 7 and 8, and 9 namely, Ram Prasad, Ram Dev, Sukh Dev, now represented by their heirs in this petition, to be deleted from the records of rights of the land in question .

5. Further Ram Prasad, Ram Dev and Sukh Dev were claimed to be not entitled to any right in respect of land in question . It was claimed by the original respondents now substituted by the heirs to have had reached between amongst Chunni, Ramghulam, Bansi Lal, Pancham, Ram Prasad, Ram Dev and Sukh Dev by virtue of which in respect of Khata No. 367 and 315, Ram Prasad Ram Dev and Sukh Dev, the original opposite parties in the objection were directed to be having 1/6th share each and 1/8th share of Chunni, Pancham, Ramghulam and Dalsingar each and objections of others were prayed to be rejected. This document of compromise allegedly reached between the parties on 8th February, 1982 was signed by Chunni Pancham, Dalsingar and Ramghulam, Ram Prasad Ram Dev and Sukh Dev, Gram Pradhan Mahabir Singh and Ram Ekbal, member of Consolidation Committee. The ACO passed the order in terms of compromise on 08th February, 1982 itself. However, said compromise came to be challenged in appeal by Ram Ghulam , Pancham Chunni on one hand under Section 11 of the Consolidation of Holding Act, 1953 and Shanker and Jagdish on the other hand under Section 11 of the Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953. In both the appeals a common ground was taken that parties had never reached to any compromise whatsoever. In the circumstances plea was taken that Assistant Consolidation Officer had got signatures on blank-sheet of paper of the appellants that he would make a reference before higher Consolidation authority and they will get justice but wholly illegally he got Ram Prasad Ram Dev, Sukh Dev S/o Jiu Rakhan co-tenureholder in compromise got written on blanksheet paper in h appeal filed by Chunni.

6. In so far as the appeal filed by Shankar and Jagdish is concerned, a plea was taken that they were not party to such compromise, nor they had any notice of such compromise being reached between one set of objectors and opposite parties and hence direction issued for recording the name of three persons Ram Prasad, Ram Dev and Sukh Dev as co-tenure holder was absolutely unjustified illegal and void order . Both the appeals were tagged and heard together by Settlement Officer Consolidation .

7. The Pradhan Mahabir Singh also filed an affidavit in the Court of appeal before Settlement Officer, Consolidation on 16th August, 1982 that Assistant Consolidation Officer had obtained signatures on blank-sheet of paper with this understanding that he would refer the matter to higher consolidation authority and that he would have to appear before Consolidation Officer. It was stated in the affidavit that alleged agreement was forged document and unsustainable in law. He further claimed in the affidavit that no compromise terms were read out and explained. This affidavit is part of the record as annexure 7 to the petition. The Consolidation Officer proceeded to decide both the appeals by holding that Chunni could not deny his thumb impression on the compromise document and hence compromise cannot be disbelieved and since parties had agreed to accept Ram Prasad and others to be co-tenure holder, there was nothing passed in the order of Assistant Consolidation Officer on same terms and Deputy Director of Consolidation affirm and order of Settlement officer of and hence petitioners are before this Court.

8. Two fold arguments have been advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner that:

(i) one set of objectors under Section 9-A(2) of the U.p. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953, namely, Jagdish and Shanker wanted their objections to be heard and decided and were admittedly not party to the compromise, compromise reached between their father and other parties, respondents to the objectors could not have been held binding upon them.

(ii) Parties having claimed that they were not served with notice of the compromise and that they were not heard in the matter, Assistant Consolidation Officer was not justified in rejecting the objection filed by Shanker and Jagdish and thus Settlement Officer, Consolidation manifestly erred in rejecting the appeal without meeting the point regarding notice and the point of binding effect of compromise within petitioners Shanker and Jagdish being not party to the compromise.

9. Learned counsel for the petitioner further states that Deputy Director of Consolidation also fell in error of law in affirming the order of Settlement Officer Consolidation without meeting those very points, inasmuch as, findings returned by the Deputy Director of Consolidation are based on surmises and conjectures .

10. Learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance upon the judgment of this Court in the case of Ram Deo and Others v. Deputy Director of Consolidation, Basti 1996 (Suppl) 209, Bhooley v. Anjeet, 2013 (121) RD 532, Vijay Pal Singh @ Brij Raj Singh and Another v. DDC 2014(122) RD 720, and Smt. Basmati v. DDC and Others, 2019 (145) RD 832.

11. Meeting the above arguments, learned counsel for the authority/respondents submitted that there was no conflicting interest between petitioners Shanker and Jagdish where their father

Chunni, uncle Pancham and Ram Ghulam who were other objectors under Section 9-A(2) of the Act, 1953, they had reached to a compromise while Shanker was still minor and so merely for Jagdish was not heard in the matter, it would not vitiate compromise. It is further submitted that parties had full notice of the compromise being entered and so compromise having been reached in terms of Rule 25-A of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Rules, 1954, there was no occasion to prefer the appeal against compromise. He has also asserted that blank paper or paper or in black and white if bore signatures and thumb impression, then validity of document would be presumed, more especially in the circumstances when it bore signature of Assistant Consolidation Officer, the Pradhan of Village and a member of the Consolidation Committee.

12. He has taken the Court to the relevant finding part of the order of the Settlement Officer, Consolidation as well of the Deputy Director of Consolidation and asserted that findings are not vitiated in law, nor there is any manifest error of law or the fact. In the circumstances, therefore if there was no error apparent on the face of record, this Court may not issue a writ in the nature of certiorari exercising power under Article 226 of the Constitution. It is sought to be urged that once findings of fact have been arrived by Consolidation authorities in their respective orders, merely because, this Court may arrive at different conclusion reading down papers and appreciating them, it would not be proper to issue writ of certiorari.

13. Having heard learned counsel for the respective parties and having perused the records, the point that emerge for consideration of this Court is as to whether compromise reached amongst the parties in the court of Assistant Consolidation Officer was sustainable in the face of a fact that notice of which was absolutely disputed by the tenure holders who had stakes in the matter and who had denied the claim of sons of Jiu Rakhan and whether a mere format being fulfilled as prescribed by Rule 25-A would suffice to hold compromise to be valid even it is disputed by affected parties. In order to reach out to the conclusion to find answer to the above question, I proceed first to examine Rule 25A of Consolidation of Holding Rules, 1954. Rule 25A of 1954 Rules are reproduced hereunder:

[25A. Sections 9-A, 9-B and 9-C. - (1) The Assistant Consolidation Officer shall, as far as possible, deal with all the objections filed by a tenure holder with regard to matters referred to in clause (i) of sub-section (1) of Section 9-A and sub-section (1) of Section 9-B in village itself. In deciding disputes on the basis of conciliation in terms of sub-section (1) of Section 9-A, he shall record the terms of conciliation in the presence of at least two members of the Consolidation Committee of the village. These terms shall then be read over to the parties concerned and their signatures or thumb impressions obtained. The members of the Consolidation Committee present shall also sign the terms of conciliation. The Assistant Consolidation Officer shall then pass orders deciding the dispute in terms of conciliation specifying the precise entries to be made in the records. Details of the operative part of the orders passed by the Assistant Consolidation Officer shall be noted in the Misilbandregister. No ex parte order or orders in default shall be passed by the Assistant Consolidation Officer.

(2) In all cases in which the Assistant Consolidation Officer sends a report, under the provisions of sub-section (2) of Section 9-A, or sub-section (1) of Section 9-B to the Consolidation Officer for disposal, he may fix a date and place for the disposal of the cases by the Consolidation

Officer and communicate the same to the parties present before him and issue notices in C.H. Form 6-A to the parties not so present. The report of the Assistant Consolidation Officer in such cases clearly brings out the points in dispute between the parties and the efforts made by him to reconcile them.]

14. From a bare reading of the aforesaid Rules following legal position emerges to maintain compromise:

(i) The terms of conciliation in presence of at-least two members of the Consolidation Committee of village shall be reduced in writing.

(ii) The terms and conditions reached between /amongst the parties concerned shall be read out to the parties and then their thumb impression/signature shall be obtained .

(iii) Two members of Consolidation Committee would sign the terms of conciliation.

(iv) The Assistant Consolidation Officer then would be deciding the dispute in terms of Conciliation reached.

(v) No ex parte order or order in default shall be passed by ACO, the proposal made by ACO shall be in the form of the report of Consolidation Officer under Section 9A (2) and then Consolidation Officer will be passing final order on the basis of compromise.

15. Applying the above tests to the document of compromise, that has been brought on record as annexure 3 to the petition, I find that it clearly records the name of Chunni, Pancham, Dalsingar, Ramghulam, Ram Prasad, Sukh Dev, Ram Dev on one side as signatories while Gram Pradhan of the village Mahabir Singh of village and Ram Ekbal, member of Consolidation committee on the the other side.

16. Admittedly, there is no signatures/thumb impression of Shanker and Jagdish, who had filed their objection and that was also pending consideration in respect of same holdings with a prayer that they be recorded as a co-tenure holder . The compromise document states that other objections are dismissed ,so naturally this compromise cannot be binding under any circumstances upon Shanker and Jagdish. Still further, I notice that Gram Pradhan of village Mahabir Singh also denied his signatures by filing an affidavit before Settlement Officer Consolidation on 16.8.1982 and asserted that there was no such agreement reached between /amongst the parties and that compromise was forged document. So technically, compromise was not the one as contemplated under Rule 25-A because those two petitioners Shanker and Jagdish who were not parties to the compromise, so the compromise order could not have brushed aside their objections.

17. In paragraph 7 of the writ petition, it has been clearly averred that the Gram Pradhan denied of any compromise being reached between the parties and claimed that terms of compromise ever read out to him. There is not denial as such of these averments made in paragraph 10 to the petition. Paragraph 10 to the writ petition runs as under: " That before the appellate court an affidavit was also filed by Mahavir Singh, Pradhan of the Gaon Sabha stating that no compromise had taken place regarding the above property in dispute and the Assistant Consolidation Officer had obtained signatures of the contesting parties on a blank paper telling them that the above dispute would be referred to the Consolidation Officer for decision and the parties will be informed about the date of the proceedings before the Consolidation Officer by notice. It was further stated that the above compromise was absolutely fictitious and no compromise had been recorded in his presence. A certified copy of the above affidavit is annexed here to Annexure No.7"

18. In the order passed Settlement Officer, Consolidation since Chunnu, Pancham, Ramghulam had stated in appeal that ACO got their signatures on the blank-sheet of paper, he arrived at conclusion that signatures had not been denied upon a compromise and hence compromise was valid. He has gone on merit to discuss the share of the respective parties to arrive at conclusion that compromise was correctly drawn and further held that Chunnu, Pancham, Dalsingar and Ramghulam having admitted co tenure-holdership of Ram Prashad etc. there was nothing wrong in the order.

19. In my considered view, the findings based upon the document, veracity of which was disputed by parties, could not have been arrived unless and until, the document stood proved. If the parties said that they had signed blank-sheet of paper, and were given the impression that those papers shall be used to make a reference and in the event instead of making reference to a higher authority, those papers formed a compromise, it would be presumable that their hands did not accompany their mind, to wit, they had never intended to reach to a compromise. The Settlement Officer, Consolidation could not have presumed the terms and conditions to be justified one only in order to uphold a compromise, once the compromise itself stood seriously disputed. There is no recital contained in the any part in the entire order of the Settlement Officer Consolidation that gram Pradhan had himself disputed the compromise and this statement Consolidation was not worth belief . The Settlement Officer, Consolidation has also not recorded any finding regarding service of notice and also failed to record any finding as to when there was no service of notice, how a compromise be taken to have been read out to the parties.

20. The conflict of interest or no conflict of interest , if there are parties who have filed their objections, then in law all such parties have to be signatories to the compromise, to claim a valid enforceable conciliation. Merely because father had signed the document of compromise though he disputed, son cannot be held to be bound by the same. A plea taken that Shanker and Jagdish had also only prayed that their names to be recorded as co-tenure holders could not have been taken to mean that they had accepted sons of Jiu Rakhan also as co-tenure holders. All these findings regarding factum of co-tenure-holdership could have been reached by Settlement Officer only after discussing the case and hearing the parties on merits afresh instead of resting his findings on a disputed compromise document.

21. In view of above, therefore, it is difficult to accept the findings arrived at by Settlement Officer , Consolidation in rejecting the appeals.

22. In the matter of Ram Deo and Others (supra) the Court held that merely because minor was a party, if no guardian was appointed to take care of his interest such compromise would not be held binding upon him. The two members of Consolidation Committee also required to sign the document, but Pradhan in this case having disputed the compromise, it was bound to be held not tenable in view of Rule 25-A of 1954 Rules.

23. In the case of Vijay Pal Singh @ Brij Raj Singh and Another (supra) the Court has categorically held that the father cannot enter into compromise on behalf of the minor son.

24. In the case of Bhooley (supra), it was held that notice to the parties was first to be made at the initial stage and then only any conciliation can be struck. Thus stage under Rule 25 A would come later but herein this case, there is no on record to demonstrate that notices were ever issued to the petitioners before compromise could be reduced to writing.

25. In the case of Smt. Basmati (supra), there was an issue of joint tenure holdership with certain shares and hence it was held that merely on the basis of compromise rights would not have been accepted were it did not accept in law. Herein this case rights since taken objection was that respondent no. 7 to 9 clearly heirs of Late Jio Lakhan, the same could not have been said to have been valid except in compromise, in the circumstances when it was pleaded that no such compromise was reached.

26. In view of above legal position, the order passed by Settlement Officer, Consolidation is held also unsustainable. Since I am not upholding the order of Settlement Officer Consolidation, there is no point in upholding the order of affirmation passed by the Deputy Director of Consolidation. However, since learned Advocate appearing for the respondent has placed finding part of the order of Deputy Director, Consolidation, I proceed to examine the same. I find that Deputy Director of Consolidation has affirmed the order of Settlement Officer, Consolidation also on the ground that father of the Shanker and Jagdish, namely, Chunni had signed the document of compromise. The Deputy Director Consolidation thus proceeded to assume that compromise was valid in view of findings returned by the Settlement Officer Consolidation. I have already held that order of Settlement Officer, Consolidation was unsustainable, and therefore, there is no reason to uphold the findings returned by the Deputy Director, Consolidation.

27. In view of above, writ petition succeeds and is allowed. The order passed by Assistant Consolidation Officer dated 8.2.1982 and the order of Deputy Director Consolidation dated 13.4.1987 are hereby quashed. The objections of the parties stands restored at the level of Consolidation Officer to be decided on merits. Since the matter is old one, parties may, if they so desire, reach to conciliation agreement or may contest the matter on merits. Parties are directed to appear before the Consolidation Officer within three weeks from today and the Consolidation Officer shall be disposing of the objections `after giving full opportunity of hearing to the parties within next three months.

Whether blacklisting of the petitioner firm for an indefinite period without following the natural justice is legally sustainable?

HEADNOTES

Civil Law – Constitution of India – Article 226:- Writ Petition under Article 226 - seeking reliefs for quashing show-cause notices as well as for quashing the impugned order whereby the petitioner's contract was terminated and the firm was blacklisted indefinitely – Tender Notice - for construction of Government Girls Degree College – Termination of contract disputes - firm was blacklisted for an indefinite period - petitioner pleaded that no notice of termination or blacklisting was ever served and payments for completed work were withheld - respondents contended that notices were issued but refused by the petitioner - Court finds that contract termination and payment disputes are governed by tender terms and arbitration clause, but blacklisting for indefinite period without proper show-cause notice or opportunity of hearing is arbitrary and violative of principles of natural justice - relying on precedents including Kulja Industries Ltd., Gorkha Security Services, and UMC Technology Pvt. Ltd., the Court held that, indefinite blacklisting is impermissible and transparency at the stage of show-cause notice is mandatory – hence, the impugned order insofar as it relates to blacklisting is quashed and set aside - writ petition disposed of with liberty to petitioner to pursue contractual remedies under arbitration

2. This is a writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India filed by the petitioner wherein the petitioner is seeking following main reliefs:-

"I. To issue a writ, order or direction, in the nature of Certiorari quashing the impugned Order dated 08.01.2025 passed by the Respondent No.3 Le. Executive Engineer. UP. Waqf Vikas Nigam Limited, in the interest of justice. (Annexure No.1).

II. To issue a writ, order or direction, in the nature of Certiorari quashing the show-cause notices dated 19.02.2024 and 20.08.2024 and 21.12.2024 [Annexure No. 2 (Colly)] and other communications issued by the Respondent No. 3 which were not served upon the Petitioner;

III. To issue a writ, order or direction, in the nature of Mandamus directing the Respondents to allow Petitioner to continue work allotted in pursuant to tender bearing Tender Notice No. 4715 for construction of the Government Girls Degree College at Najibabad. District Bijnor

IV. To issue a writ, order or direction, in the nature of Mandamus directing the Respondents to supply a copy of the tender bearing Tender Notice No. 4715 for construction of the Government Girls Degree College at Najibabad, District Bijnor and the contract entered into between the parties for the execution of work thereof."

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that no notice was received with regard to termination of contract and proposed blacklisting by the respondents-authorities. This assertion made by the petitioner has been controverted by learned counsel for the respondent-authorities by submitting that several notices were issued to the petitioner but the petitioner refused to accept any of the them. The impugned order dated January 8, 2025 does not indicate whether any notice was served upon the petitioner by the respondent-authorities and is silent on this aspect. By the impugned order, firstly the contract with the petitioner has been terminated and secondly, the petitioner has been blacklisted for an indefinite period.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submitted that petitioner was made aware of the order dated January 8, 2025 only vide letter dated January 2, 2026, that is, after approximately one year. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the respondents-authorities have not made payments to them with regard to the works that have been completed by the petitioner.

5. We are of the view that with regard to the first issue of termination of contract and alleged non payment of dues to the petitioner, the petitioner is at liberty to proceed as per the terms and conditions in the tender documents that includes an arbitration clause.

6. With regard to blacklisting for an indefinite period that has been issued by the respondents-authorities, we are of the view that such an action is not allowed and the Hon'ble Supreme Court in a catena of judgments has held that blacklisting for an indefinite period is not permissible in the eyes of law. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Kulja Industries Ltd. Vs. Chief General Manager, Western Telecom Project Bharat Sanchar Nigam Litimited & Others: (2014) 14 SCC 731; has held as under:-

“22. As regards the period for which the order of debarment will remain effective, the guidelines state that the same would depend upon the seriousness of the case leading to such debarment.

23. Similarly in England, Wales and Northern Ireland, there are statutory provisions that make operators ineligible on several grounds including fraud, fraudulent trading or conspiracy to defraud, bribery etc.

24. Suffice it to say that □debarment□ is recognised and often used as an effective method for disciplining deviant suppliers/contractors who may have committed acts of omission and commission or frauds including misrepresentations, falsification of records and other breaches of the regulations under which such contracts were allotted. What is notable is that the □debarment□ is never permanent and the period of debarment would invariably depend upon the nature of the offence committed by the erring contractor.

[Emphasis supplied by us]

7. We also find that in a Co-ordinate Bench Judgment of this Court dated August 5, 2024 in the case of M/s Hi Tech Pipe Limited Vs. State Of U.P. And 4 Others; (Writ-C No. 11037 of 2024); one of us (Hon'ble Shekhar B. Saraf,J.) held that debarment or blacklisting cannot be done for an indefinite period. The Court further held as follows:-

“5. We have considered the rival arguments advanced by the learned counsels appearing for the parties and we find that before passing the impugned order dated 23.1.2024 petitioner was issued a show cause notice, to which petitioner submitted a detailed reply and also made a request for re-testing of pipes supplied by the petitioner. The reply submitted by the petitioner has not been considered at all while passing the impugned order dated 23.1.2024 and only this much has been said that the reply submitted by the petitioner has not been found satisfactory. We are of the view that once proper reply was submitted, it was obligatory on the respondents to consider the entire reply and thereafter by recording reasons the order of blacklisting/debarment could have been passed. We also find that the impugned order dated 23.1.2024 proceeds to debar the petitioner firm for an indefinite period as it is the routine phenomenon that the term of the Schemes/Missions is extended from time to time.

8. Furthermore, we are of the view that the respondent - authorities are not able to indicate as to whether a proper show cause notice was served upon the petitioner before passing of the impugned ex-parte order of blacklisting.

9. As to the significance of issuance of show cause notice, prior to an order of blacklisting and providing an opportunity of hearing, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Ragunath Thakur Vs. State of Bihar and others; reported in (1989) 1 SCC 229; has held as follows:-

“4. Indisputably, no notice had been given to the appellant of the proposal of blacklisting the appellant. It was contended on behalf of the State Government that there was no requirement in the rule of giving any prior notice before blacklisting any person. Insofar as the contention that there is no requirement specifically of giving any notice is concerned, the respondent is right. But it is an implied principle of the rule of law that any order having civil consequence should be passed only after following the principles of natural justice. It has to be realised that blacklisting any person in respect of business ventures has civil consequence for the future business of the person concerned in any event. Even if the rules do not express so, it is an elementary principle of natural justice that parties affected by any order should have right of being heard and making representations against the order. In that view of the matter, the last portion of the order insofar as it directs blacklisting of the appellant in respect of future contracts, cannot be sustained in law. In the premises, that portion of the order directing that the appellant be placed in the blacklist in respect of future contracts under the Collector is set aside. So far as the cancellation of the bid of the appellant is concerned, that is not affected. This order will, however, not prevent the State Government or the appropriate authorities from taking any future steps for blacklisting the appellant if the Government is so entitled to do in accordance with law i.e. after giving the appellant due notice and an opportunity of making representation. After hearing the appellant, the State Government will be at liberty to pass any order in accordance with law indicating the reasons therefor. We, however, make it quite clear that we are not expressing any opinion on the correctness of otherwise of the allegations made against the appellant. The appeal is thus disposed of.

10. Further this Court finds that not only the issuance of show cause notice is a condition precedent for any blacklisting order, even the mention of material and ground, necessitating the contemplated blacklisting has to be mentioned in the show cause notice. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Gorkha Security Services vs Govt. Of NCT Of Delhi & Others; reported in (2014) 9 SCC 105; mandated the contents of the proposed show cause notice in the following words:-

in all cases, even if there is such a power. It is left to the Department to inflict any such penalty or not depending upon as to whether circumstances in a particular case warrant such a penalty. There has to be due application of mind by the authority competent to impose the penalty, on these aspects. Therefore, merely because of the reason that clause 27 empowers the Department to impose such a penalty, would not mean that this specific penalty can be imposed, without putting the defaulting contractor to notice to this effect.

26) We are, therefore, of the opinion that it was incumbent on the part of the Department to state in the show cause notice that the competent authority intended to impose such a penalty of blacklisting, so as to provide adequate and meaningful opportunity to the appellant to show cause against the same. However, we may also add that even if it is not mentioned specifically but from the reading of the show cause notice, it can be clearly inferred that such an action was proposed, that would fulfill this requirement. In the present case, however, reading of the show cause notice does not suggest that noticee could find out that such an action could also be taken. We say so for the reasons that are recorded hereinafter.

11. In the same breath, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of UMC Technology Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Food Corporation of India; reported in MANU/SC/0858/2020 : AIR 2021 SC 166; quashed a blacklisting order not on the ground of non-issuance of show cause notice or the show cause notice lacked any material ground but on the ground that it was silent on the proposed blacklisting actions.

12. Thus, this Court finds that the recent trend of this Court in blacklisting matter had been on transparency and clarity at the stage of issuance of show cause notice itself. As far as the present case is concerned, we do not find any cogent evidence of issuance of any show cause notice to the petitioner or any opportunity of hearing granted to the petitioners.

13. In light of the same, the impugned order dated January 8, 2025 so far as it relates to blacklisting of the petitioner-firm as being arbitrary and in violation of principal of natural justice cannot be sustained in the eyes of law and as such is hereby quashed and set-aside.

14. With the above directions, the writ petition is disposed of.

(Order on Writ Petition)

1. Heard Shri Jaideep Narain Mathur, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Anupras Singh, learned counsel appearing for the petitioners, Shri Shailendra Kumar Singh, learned Chief Standing Counsel assisted by Shri Pankaj Khare, Additional C.S.C. and Shri Rahul Kapoor, learned State Counsel as well as Ms. Anantika Singh, S/Shri Shantanu Sharma, Utkarsh Singh, Sukrit Singh and Siddharth Mishra, learned counsels appearing for the intervenor/respondent and perused the materials available on record.

2. This is a writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, wherein the petitioner is aggrieved by order dated 23.01.2026 and 28.01.2026 passed by the Respondents-State. Apparently, vide the first order dated 23.02.2026, the technical bid of the petitioner with respect to procurement of various wireless equipments viz digital VHF Base/Mobile Transceiver sets, digital handheld VHF transceiver etc. for the Uttar Pradesh Police department, has been rejected by the Technical Evaluation Committee and subsequently vide the second order dated 28.01.2026, the representation preferred by the petitioner against the first order of rejection i.e dated 23.01.2026 was also rejected. It is these two orders which has been sought to be interdicted by the petitioner and certain other consequential reliefs of seeking re-evaluation of their technical and financial bid as well as to permit them to participate in the tendering process has been prayed for in the present petition.

3. At the outset, it may be noted that admittedly, the tendering process has culminated with the declaration of M/s Mobile Communications (India) Pvt. Limited as the Lowest bidder (L-1) on 30.01.2026, however before a contract could be entered between the said successful bidder and the respondent, a coordinate bench of this court vide an interim order dated 24.02.2026 had restrained the respondent from entering into the contract, till the next date of hearing, that is, on 06.04.2026. However, in view of an Application (IA No. 5/2026), filed by the learned counsel for the Respondent-State on 31.03.2026, the present matter was directed to be heard today i.e 01.04.2026 at 2:15 pm. and that is how the present matter has been taken up on board, and accordingly, with the consent of both the parties and keeping in view the urgency involved in the present Tender Matter, the present writ petition is being finally heard.

4. The facts of the present case relevant to the context lie in a narrow compass. Admittedly, the petitioner participated in the Tender, wherein the last date for submission of bid was 02.01.2026 and the date of opening of the technical bid was 13.01.2026, which came to be extended to 15.01.2026. Apparently before 13.01.2026, the petitioner was not encumbered in any manner in participating in the tendering process. However, vide an order dated 13.01.2026, the State of Maharashtra, wherein the petitioner had participated in a similar wireless equipment procurement tender for Police Commissionerate, Amravati City, Chattrapati Sambhajanagar City, Nashik City and Pimpri-Chinchwad Units floated by the Home Department, State of Maharashtra, suffered a suspension order with immediate effect, pending the enquiry, inter-alia on the alleged ground that the quality of the earlier supplied equipment of similar nature to Mumbai Railways, Ratnagiri and Sindhudurg Police units was found to be substandard and the response of the petitioner during the warranty period after supply of these equipments was unsatisfactory. The said suspension order having come to the knowledge of the respondents, the technical Evaluation committee disqualified the petitioners vide an order dated 23.01.2026, in the following words:

“With reference to the Home Department of the Government of Maharashtra, vide letter No. PEQ 0226 P.No.18 Pol 4 dated 13.01.2026, has mentioned that the VHF sets supplied by Ms Vertel Digital Pvt. Ltd. to Maharashtra Police units are of inferior quality, during the warranty period. The supplier response after supply of VHF Radio sets has been unsatisfactory. Accordingly, the Government of Maharashtra has suspended Ms Vertel Digital Pvt. Ltd. until completion of the inquiry, and the said suspension order has come into effect with immediate effect. Hence the bid has been technically disqualified.”

5. On the heels of their aforesaid rejection, the petitioner immediately made a representation dated 25.01.2026 as per the terms & conditions of the Bid Document, which however did not find any favour with the respondent as the same was also rejected on 28.01.2026 and the response stated the reasons for rejection as herein under:-

“3. M/s Vertel Digital has presented its case by citing the order issued by the Government of Maharashtra.”

4. The Home Department of the Government of Maharashtra, vide letter No. PEQ 0226/P.No.18/Pol-4 dated 13-01-2026, has stated that the quality of the equipment supplied by M/s Vertel Digital Pvt. Ltd. to Maharashtra Police units (VHF sets) was found to be of inferior standard and that the supplier's response during the warranty period after supply of the material was unsatisfactory. Accordingly, the Government of Maharashtra has suspended M/s Vertel Digital Pvt. Ltd. until completion of the inquiry, and the said suspended order has been made effective with immediate effect.

5. In the aforesaid order issued by the Government of Maharashtra, a question has arisen regarding the quality of the products of M/s Vertel Digital Pvt. Ltd, as well as the credibility of the firm's after-sales service and support following the supply of radio sets.

6. In such circumstances, allowing M/s Vertel Digital Pvt. Ltd, to participate in the bid, as against other participating firms whose credibility is not under question, would not be appropriate from the perspective of maintaining a level playing field.

7. In view of the doubts regarding the product quality of M/s Vertel Digital Pvt. Ltd, if the firm were to emerge as L-1, the transparency and fairness of the procurement would be adversely affected.

8. It is pertinent to note that under Point No. 04, Clause xiii, "e-Bidding and Reverse Auction (RA) on GeM", Point (e) of the GeM GTC, it is stipulated that: "The decision of the Buyer/GeM regarding technical/commercial eligibility of the individual Seller to be invited for e-Bidding/RA shall be final,

"In view of the above, the firm's bid was not found suitable for evaluation. Therefore, the firm's bid has not been found technically eligible."

6. After passing of the aforesaid rejection order dated 28.01.2026 by the respondent-State, the petitioner interestingly did not approach this Court and instead filed writ petition before the Bombay High Court, vide Writ Petition (L) No. 3038 of 2026 (Vertel Digital Private limited & Anr. V/s Union of India & Ors.), wherein a Division Bench of the said Court vide an order dated 29.01.2026 refused to pass any interim order in favour of the petitioner, so as to permit them to participate in the forthcoming tenders. Obviously, the petitioner was not happy with the said order of the Bombay High Court and as such the issue was further precipitated by them by way of a Special Leave Petition before the Hon'ble Supreme court. The said S.L.P. (Civil) No. 5508 of 2026 came to be decided by the Supreme Court vide an order dated 09.02.2026, which is being delineated as herein below:-

"1. Mr. Guru Krishna Kumar, learned senior counsel has brought to our notice the findings of the suspension order dated 13.01.2026 and has submitted that these findings will have adverse affect on the petitioner as well as its sister concerns in other tenders.

2. While we are not inclined to interfere with the judgment and order passed by the High Court, we clarify that the observations made in the suspension order dated 13.01.2026 will be confined to the present tender and will not have the bearing on other tenders issued by other States.

3. We make it clear that we have not expressed any opinion on the merits of the matter.

4. With these observations, the Special Leave Petition is disposed of.

5. Pending application(s), if any, shall stand disposed of.

7. In the interregnum, the tendering process of the Respondent-State came to be concluded with the declaration of M/s Mobile Communications (India) Pvt. Limited as the Lowest bidder (L-1) on 30.01.2026, as narrated herein above. However, the petitioner armed with the aforesaid order dated 09.02.2026 of the Hon'ble Supreme Court, filed the present Writ Petition, wherein a coordinate bench of this Court passed an order dated 24.02.2026 directing exchange of affidavits and restraining the State from entering into a contract with the said L-1 till the next date of listing. The relevant portion of the said order is being extracted as herein below:-

“xxx xxx ..xxx

8. Accordingly, it is from the aforesaid facts, a case for interference is made out. It is noticed that, firstly, there is no order of blacklisting passed by the State of Maharashtra and only certain deficiencies have led to the initiation of proceeding against the petitioner, due to which he has been suspended from participating in the said State. We further find that as per the terms and conditions of the bid, only an order of blacklisting has to be in existence before a person can be disqualified and lastly the Hon'ble Supreme Court has removed the embargo of the adverse effect of the order dated 13.01.2026 in its application to other States including the State of U.P.

9. Let a counter affidavit be filed by the State within next three weeks. Rejoinder affidavit, if any, may be filed by the petitioners within two weeks thereafter.

10. We have been informed that the bids have been finalised but the contract has not been entered into till date.

11. In light of the above, the State is restrained from entering into contract in furtherance of the advertisement dated 02.01.2026 till the next date of listing.

12. List this case on 06.04.2026.

13. The Office of the learned Standing Counsel shall inform the State Authorities about the order passed today.

“8. Having narrated the background, in which the present writ petition came to be filed and is being heard today, this court finds that the issue engaging the attention of this court in the present petition is twofold:

(A) Whether the order of suspension dated 13.01.2026 passed by the Home Department, Government of Maharashtra amounts to a blacklisting order

(B) If the answer to the above question is in the negative, can any relief be provided to the petitioner in the present facts & circumstances

9. It is to be noted that a perusal of the relevant clauses in the Bid Document would show that the word "suspension order" for cancellation of a bid is conspicuously absent and the said document merely mentions the word ☐blacklisting☐ and as such allows for cancellation of the bid of an entity, if there is a blacklisting order against the said entity. Admittedly, the Government of Maharashtra has merely passed a suspension order, which has been made subject to further enquiry and thus technically one can argue that there is no blacklisting order. However, the fact remains that the suspension order has been made with immediate effect and in view of the supervening circumstances of unfavorable orders passed by the Bombay High Court and no interference by the Supreme Court, one can argue that the suspension order has the trappings of a Blacklisting order.

10. Moreover, upon reading the contents of the order dated 13.01.2026 passed by the Government of Maharashtra, wherein suspension has been made out with immediate effect, there is clearly a good case that would be made out against the petitioner with regard to standard of goods that had been supplied by the petitioner. Apparently, even the Bombay High Court and the Supreme Court have not interfered with the said suspension order owing to the alleged quality of equipment supplied to be substandard which technically has put on hold any participation of the petitioner in any forthcoming tender in the State of Maharashtra. However, it does appear that the Supreme Court has clarified that the suspension by the Government of Maharashtra would not apply to tenders issued by other States, which in effect meant that the Supreme Court has clarified that this suspension order should not be treated as a blacklisting order.

11. Having said so, one can also clearly understand the reasons why the respondent-authorities in U.P. treated the said suspension letter as an order of blacklisting, as the contents of the order suspending the petitioner prima facie make out a good case against the petitioner. This is the same reason as to why the Bombay High Court did not interfere against the said order of suspension and no interim relief was granted to the petitioner. Be that as it may, we need not go into this issue in more details at this point and in the present petition, as the same is subject to inquiry that is to be carried out by the Government of Maharashtra.

12. Further, this court finds that although in the present facts & circumstances, it can be well argued that a suspension order is a step before the blacklisting order, however this court has no hesitation in holding that any suspension order by itself may not amount to an order of blacklisting as normally the process of blacklisting has the principles of natural justice ingrained in it as held in a catena of Judgments passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court and the High Courts. Apparently, the principle of natural Justice has not been followed before the passing of the suspension order by the Government of Maharashtra and as such this court fails to equate and place the suspension order and a Blacklisting order on an equal pedestal. Furthermore, a simpliciter order of suspension with regard to some work order could be a result of various reasons and the same may not amount to a blacklisting per se.

13. In our view, the order of suspension that is subject to inquiry does not amount to a blacklisting order, keeping in mind the long chain of precedents, which have held that any blacklisting order carries grave and serious consequences and at times has been even termed to be a civil death of an entity by the constitutional courts. Thus, any order of suspension, of the kind in the present matter, cannot be casually & liberally interpreted to also mean a blacklisting order, as is being sought to be done in the present case.

14. As a sequel to the above discussions, we hold that the order of suspension, subject to inquiry being carried out by the Government of Maharashtra, may not be equated to be an order of blacklisting, as has already been clarified by the Supreme Court.

15. It may further be noted that the Supreme Court also was not inclined to interfere with the Judgment and order passed by the Bombay High Court and only clarified that the observations made in the suspension order would be confined to the present tender and would not have bearing on tenders issued by other States. However, by the time the said clarification was passed by the Supreme Court on 09.02.2026, admittedly by that date M/S Mobile Communications (India) Pvt. Ltd. had been declared as L-1 bidder on 30.01.2026.

16. Thus, the action of the respondent-State in rejecting the technical bid of the petitioner is based on a bonafide assumption that the suspension order amounted to a blacklisting order and as such cannot be treated to be an arbitrary order or having been passed with any malafide intention. The authorities in the order dated 28.01.2026 have clearly observed that since the Government of Maharashtra has noted that the goods being supplied by the petitioner were substandard in nature and the fact that proper technical co-operation was not being provided by the petitioner during the warranty period in Maharashtra, did give rise to an apprehension and reasonable doubt in the mind of the Respondent authority that the petitioner may act in a similar manner in the State of Uttar Pradesh. We do not find any irrationality in the said decision-making process nor does the action smack of any malafide.

17. Further, it may also be mentioned that essentially the equipment being procured in the present tender is meant for police functioning in the State of Uttar Pradesh. Since police communication is a significant module from the perspective of maintaining law and order in an area as large as the State of Uttar Pradesh, the quality of the equipments and after supply service maintenance standard cannot be tweaked and/or compromised with in any circumstances. Further, time and again the Courts have held that there is a certain degree of latitude and freedom granted to the tenderer/owner in choosing its equipment and its supplier. The Courts have always taken a consistent stand that tender process should not be interfered with until and unless specific grounds of malafide, arbitrariness and irrationality has been pleaded and/or displayed by the party effected. We do not find any such grounds having been pleaded or demonstrated by the petitioner in the present petition.

18. We also find that the scope of judicial review in matters relating to tender is minimal. The threshold of malafide intention to favour someone or arbitrariness, irrationality or perversity must be met before the constitutional court interferes with the decision-making process or the decision. The Supreme Court in the celebrated judgment of Montecarlo Ltd. vs. NTPC Ltd. reported in (2016) 15 SCC 272, expressed a word of caution emphasizing that judicial review should be confined to ensuring that there is no arbitrariness or malafide in the process of tender evaluation. The relevant extracts of the judgment is reproduced herein below:

“26. We respectfully concur with the aforesaid statement of law. We have reasons to do so. In the present scenario, tenders are floated and offers are invited for highly complex technical subjects. It requires understanding and appreciation of the nature of work and the purpose it is going to serve. It is common knowledge in the competitive commercial field that technical bids pursuant to the notice inviting tenders are scrutinised by the technical experts and sometimes third-party assistance from those unconnected with the owner's organisation is taken. This ensures objectivity. Bidder's expertise and technical capability and capacity must be assessed by the experts. In the matters of financial assessment, consultants are appointed. It is because to check and ascertain that technical ability and the financial feasibility have sanguinity and are workable and realistic. There is a multi-prong complex approach; highly technical in nature. The tenders where public largesse is put to auction stand on a different compartment. Tender with which we are concerned, is not comparable to any scheme for allotment. This arena which we have referred requires technical expertise. Parameters applied are different. Its aim is to achieve high degree of perfection in execution and adherence to the time schedule. But, that does not mean, these tenders will escape scrutiny of judicial review. Exercise of power of judicial review would be called for if the approach is arbitrary or mala fide or procedure adopted is meant to favour one. The decision-making process should clearly show that the said maladies are kept at bay. But where a decision is taken that is manifestly in consonance with the language of the tender document or subserves the purpose for which the tender is floated, the court should follow the principle of restraint. Technical evaluation or comparison by the court would be impermissible. The principle that is applied to scan and understand an ordinary instrument relatable to contract in other spheres has to be treated differently than interpreting and appreciating tender documents relating to technical works and projects requiring special skills. The owner should be allowed to carry out the purpose and there has to be allowance of free play in the joints.

19. Further, this Court finds that the rejection of the technical bid of the petitioner was not only actuated by the suspension order of the Government of Maharashtra but was also based on technical evaluation done by the Technical Evaluation Committee of the respondent-State. Apparently, the Committee being an expert body has taken a decision which best suited to them as a tenderer, who does not want any issues in maintenance service of the procured equipment nor does it wish to compromise on the quality in any manner. This Court is bereft of any expertise to step into the shoes of the committee and examine the specific needs and requirement of the tender.

20. In any case, this Court does not sit as a Court of Appeal but merely reviews the manner in which the decision was made. The Court does not have the expertise to correct the administrative decision. If a review of the administrative decision is permitted, it will be substituting its own decision without the necessary expertise which itself may be fallible. The Supreme Court in a similar situation, when faced to exercise its power of judicial review in a technical issue involving a tender matter held in Tata Motors Ltd. vs. Brihan Mumbai Electric Supply & Transport Undertaking (BEST), (2023) 19 SCC 1:

“50. (...) In contracts involving technical issues the courts should be even more reluctant because most of us in Judges' robes do not have the necessary expertise to adjudicate upon technical issues beyond our domain. The courts should not use a magnifying glass while scanning the tenders and make every small mistake appear like a big blunder. In fact, the courts must give □ fair play in the joints □ to the government and public sector undertakings in matters of contract. Courts must also not interfere where a magnifying glass while scanning the tenders and make every small mistake appear like a big blunder.

21. In any case, this Court is clear in its mind that it cannot set the clock back, which would not only amount to tweaking with the decision and choice of the tenderer/owner, but would also set at naught the entire tender process, forcing the authority to initiate a fresh tender process consuming more time and also loss to the public exchequer due to price rise etc. Recently, the Hon^{ble} Supreme Court in M/S Steag Energy Services (India) Pvt. Ltd. vs. GSPC Pipavav Power Company Ltd. (GPPC) and others reported in 2026 SCC OnLine SC 478; decided on March 25, 2026 evaluating such a situation, had been pleased to hold as inter-alia:-

“55. Ordinarily, a writ court should refrain itself from imposing its decision over the decision of the employer as to whether or not to accept the bid of a tenderer unless something very gross or palpable is pointed out. The court ordinarily should not interfere in matters relating to tender or contract. To set at naught the entire tender process at the stage when the contract is well underway, would not be in public interest. Initiating a fresh tender process at this stage may consume lot of time and also loss to the public exchequer to the tune of crores of rupees. The financial burden/implications on the public exchequer that the State may have to meet with if the Court directs issue of a fresh tender notice, should be one of the guiding factors that the Court should keep in mind. This is evident from a three-Judge Bench decision of this Court in Assn. of Registration Plates v. Union of India [Assn. of Registration Plates v. Union of India, (2005) 1 SCC 679]

56. (..) Even when some defect is found in the decision-making process, the court must exercise its discretionary powers under “Article 226” with great caution and should exercise it only in furtherance of public interest and not merely on the making out of a legal point. The court should always keep the larger public interest in mind in order to decide whether its intervention is called for or not. Only when it comes to a conclusion that overwhelming public interest requires interference, the court should interfere.

22. Faced with the aforesaid legal precedents, it has been vehemently argued as a last resort, by Shri J.N. Mathur, learned Senior Advocate for the petitioner that since there had been no independent analysis of the quality of the equipment to be supplied in the present tender and the Technical Evaluation Committee has merely relied on the alleged substandard material supplied in the Maharashtra tender to reject the technical bid, the petitioner should be at least given a chance to demonstrate their quality before the respondent-State. Although, the submission of Shri Mathur, seems to be attractive in the first blush, however, on a deep analysis of the facts, we are unable to subscribe to the views and submissions of the learned Senior Counsel for the simple reason that this Court has already held that it cannot substitute its view with the technical expertise of the Technical Evaluation Committee and it is too late in the day to grant any relief, when the entire tendering process has been completed. Further, as to the submission of Mr. Mathur, learned Sr. Counsel, that the Respondent-State has rejected the technical bid merely taking a cue of the non-performance in the Maharashtra tender is concerned, this Court finds that a similar argument of non-performance in another tender having been made a ground of rejection in the ongoing tender process was raised before the Supreme Court in the case of Municipal Corporation, Ujjain and another vs. BVG India Limited and others reported in (2018) 5 SCC 462, wherein the non-performance of the contractor on some other previous contract was made a basis for rejection in the ongoing tender. The Supreme Court in the said case recorded the issue in the following words: -

“Whether under the scope of judicial review, the High Court could ordinarily question the judgment of the expert consultant on the issue of technical qualifications of a bidder when the consultant takes into consideration various factors including the basis of non-performance of the bidder.

Thereafter, the Supreme Court tracing the entire precedent of cases on the said subject went on to hold and conclude as follows :-

“60. In the matter on hand, we do not find either the decision-making process or the decision to be arbitrary or irrational.

61. The authority concerned is in the best position to find out the best person or the best quotation depending on the work to be entrusted under the contract. If a bidder had faced a number of show-cause notices from various municipal corporations in the matter of non-performance of door-to-door collection of garbage, etc. the court cannot compel the authority to choose such undeserving person/company to carry out the work. Ultimately, the public interest must be safeguarded. The public would be directly interested in the timely fulfilment of the contract so that the services become available to the public expeditiously and effectively. The public would also be interested in the quality of work undertaken. Poor quality of work or goods can lead to tremendous public hardship and substantial financial outlay either in correcting mistakes or in rectifying defects or even at times in re-doing the entire work.

62. Lethargy or tardiness in collecting door-to-door garbage on a day-to-day basis would definitely lead to increased collection of garbage on the roads and public properties, which leads to health hazards and also reduces the cleanliness of the city. Since the public is directly interested and would be affected if the work entrusted is not carried out appropriately, and as the technical expert has found that Respondent 1 would not be a suitable company to be entrusted the work inasmuch as it had faced 73 show-cause notices from different municipal corporations, the High Court could not have interfered with the decision taken by the authority. In our considered opinion, the High Court has ignored the element of public interest involved in the matter.

63. As aforementioned, unless the Court concludes that the decision-making process or the decision taken by the authority bristles with mala fides, arbitrariness, or perversity, or that the authority has intended to favour someone, the constitutional court will not interfere with the decision-making process or the decision.

64. Thus, the questions to be decided in this appeal are answered as follows:

64.1. Under the scope of judicial review, the High Court could not ordinarily interfere with the judgment of the expert consultant on the issues of technical qualifications of a bidder when the consultant takes into consideration various factors including the basis of non-performance of the bidder;

64.2. A bidder who submits a bid expressly declaring that it is submitting the same independently and without any partners, consortium or joint venture, cannot rely upon the technical qualifications of any third party for its qualification.

64.3. It is not open to the court to independently evaluate the technical bids and financial bids of the parties as an appellate authority for coming to its conclusion inasmuch as unless the thresholds of mala fides, intention to favour someone or bias, arbitrariness, irrationality or perversity are met, where a decision is taken purely on public interest, the court ordinarily should exercise judicial restraint.

23. In any event, we would like to clarify that the petitioner had been not diligent in pursuing his cause as they having received the rejection order on their representation dated 28.01.2026 did not approach this Court instantaneously and only approached this Court on 24.02.2026 after going to the Bombay High Court and thereafter to the Supreme Court. By this time, a lot of water had flown under the bridge. Not only the L-1 bidder had been declared with the culmination of tendering process on 30.01.2026, but the appropriate permission, etc. had been obtained by the State Government, keeping in mind that the tender had been finalized, as submitted by learned counsel Shri Pankaj Khare appearing on behalf of the Respondent-State.

24. In view of the aforesaid analysis, the rejection of the technical bid of the petitioner and their subsequent representation in the present tender by the Respondent-State cannot be faulted with.

25. For all the aforesaid reasons, the writ petition is disposed of, with the aforesaid observations.

26. We make it clear that the State of U.P. shall not treat the suspension order of Government of Maharashtra dated 13.01.2026 as a blacklisting order in future tenders that they may issue and the petitioner shall be at liberty to participate in the same, in accordance with law, as also clarified by the Hon'ble Supreme Court.

27. Interim order, if any, stands vacated.

28. There would be no order as to cost(s).

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether the tender constituted the "second tender" within the meaning of Clause 2 of the Circular dated 30.09.2020, thereby obliging the respondents to open bids even if less than three were received?

HEADNOTES

Civil Law – Constitution of India – Article 226 : Writ Petition under Article 226 – filed against the impugned order passed by Chairman and Additional Chief Officer, Zila Panchayat, Pilibhit and for quashing of cancellation of 25 works and mandamus to open bids under e-tender – Tender notice - Initial tender was annulled due to serious irregularities - a fresh tender was issued, in which petitioner succeeded in 4 works but challenged cancellation of 25 works where less than three bids were received - The petitioner pleaded that the initial tender should be treated as the first tender, making the subsequent tender the second, thereby requiring opening of bids as per Clause 2 of Circular in question - respondents objected that the earlier tender was void ab initio and non est, hence the subsequent tender was the first valid tender - Court finds that, Clause 2 applies only when a tender fails due to insufficient bids, not when annulled for illegality, and therefore the subsequent tender was the first valid tender – held, judicial review in tender matters is limited and that interpretation by tendering authority deserves primacy - hence, cancellation of bids for 25 works was valid, not arbitrary or mala fide – consequently, writ petition dismissed.

CASE ARISING FROM

Order dated 10.02.2026 passed by Chairman, Zila Panchayat, Pilibhit and Additional Chief Officer, Zila Panchayat, Pilibhit cancelling bids for 25 works and inviting fresh tender.

APPEARANCE OF PARTIES

Counsel for Appellant(s): - Shri Alok Kumar Yadav with Sri Rakesh Pathak.

Counsel for Respondent(s): - Shri Anil Kumar Baghel, Counsel for Respondent Nos. 3 & 4, C.S.C.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Garima Prashad, J.)

1. Heard Sri Alok Kumar Yadav with Sri Rakesh Pathak, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel for the State respondents and Sri Anil Kumar Baghel, learned counsel for the respondent Nos. 3 & 4.

2. The present writ petition has been filed seeking the following reliefs:

“I. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari for quashing the order dated 10.02.2026 (Annexure No. 9) passed by Chairman, Zila Panchayat, Pilibhit (respondent no. 3) and Additional Chief Officer, Zila Panchayat, Pilibhit (respondent no. 4).

II. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to open the e-tender in pursuance of notification of e-tender dated 12.12.2025 for the works shown at serial nos. 17, 19, 20, 73, 79 and 144.

3. The facts, as borne out from the record, are that pursuant to the Government Order dated 24.07.2020 issued by the Panchayati Raj Department, Uttar Pradesh, an e-auction notice was published on 30.10.2025 by respondent no. 4 for execution of various works under the Zila Panchayat, Pilibhit. Though 95 works were advertised for online bidding, 112 works were tendered manually.

4. Complaints were received regarding irregularities in the said tender process. A specially constituted inquiry committee examined the matter and found that the entire tender process stood vitiated on account of serious irregularities in the online bidding mechanism. The committee recommended cancellation of the entire tender process and fresh invitation of bids. Acting upon the said report, the entire tender process was declared illegal and cancelled by order dated 09.12.2025.

5. Thereafter, a fresh e-tender notice dated 12.12.2025 was issued inviting bids for all 207 works, including those earlier advertised. The petitioner participated in the said tender process and submitted bids for approximately 10 works after depositing the requisite tender fee and security. It is undisputed that the petitioner was declared successful in 4 works out of the bids submitted by it and was accordingly allotted those works.

6. After completion of the online bidding process held on 28.12.2025, it was found that out of 207 works, bids in respect of 182 works satisfied the requirement of competition and were opened. However, in respect of 25 works, less than three bids were received. Consequently, by the impugned order dated 10.02.2026, the said 25 works were cancelled and a fresh e-tender was invited.

7. The grievance of the petitioner is confined to these 25 works. It is contended that since two rounds of tendering had already taken place, the respondents could not have issued a fresh (third) tender and were obliged to open the bids even if less than three bids were received, in view of Clause 2 of the Circular dated 30.09.2020.

8. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the tender dated 30.10.2025 constituted the first tender and the subsequent tender dated 12.12.2025 constituted the second tender. Therefore, in terms of Clause 2 of the Circular dated 30.09.2020, even a single technically qualified bid in the second tender ought to have been considered and opened.

9. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondents submits that the tender dated 30.10.2025 having been cancelled in entirety on account of illegality and irregularities cannot be treated as a valid tender at all. It is submitted that the tender dated 12.12.2025 was in fact the first valid tender process and the impugned notice dated 10.02.2026 constitutes the second tender in respect of the said 25 works.

10. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

11. The sole question which arises for consideration in the present case is as to whether the tender dated 12.12.2025 was the "second tender" within the meaning of Clause 2 of the Circular dated 30.09.2020. Clause 2 of the said Circular is reproduced hereunder:

"2. In this regard, it is clarified that adequate competition must be ensured in the tendering process, and ordinarily, there should be three or more technically qualified bidders. However, if upon inviting tenders for the second time only a single bid is received and the same is technically qualified, its financial bid may be opened. If the rates quoted in the financial bid are higher than those prescribed in the BOQ (Bill of Quantities) and DPR (Detailed Project Report), a decision shall be taken at the competent level after comparing such rates with prevailing market rates. (Translated from Hindi)

12. From the material on record, it is evident that the tender process initiated by notice dated 30.10.2025 was cancelled in its entirety not on account of lack of competition or insufficiency of bids, but on account of serious irregularities vitiating the entire process. The said process was thus rendered non est in the eyes of law. Once a tender process is annulled on the ground of illegality and foundational defects, it cannot be treated as a valid tender for the purposes of counting the number of tender attempts under Clause 2 of the Circular dated 30.09.2020.

13. Clause 2 operates in a situation where a tender process has failed on account of lack of adequate competition, i.e., where less than three bids are received. It is only such a tender which can be treated as the "first tender" for the purposes of applying Clause 2. A tender which is cancelled or rejected on any other ground, including illegality or procedural irregularity, cannot be reckoned as the first tender for the said purpose. It is, accordingly, held that only where the earlier tender has failed due to insufficient bids would the subsequent tender qualify as the "second tender" within the meaning of Clause 2.

14. In the present case, the tender dated 12.12.2025 was thus the first valid tender process undertaken by the respondents in accordance with law. Insofar as the 25 works in question are concerned, the bids received therein were less than three and, therefore, the same were not opened and were cancelled by the impugned order dated 10.02.2026.

15. It is evident that the decision of the respondents to cancel the bids in respect of 25 works and to issue a fresh tender does not suffer from any arbitrariness, mala fides or irrationality. The earlier tender dated 30.10.2025 having been cancelled in entirety on account of serious irregularities stood vitiated and rendered non est in the eyes of law. The tender dated 12.12.2025 was thus the first valid tender process, and the cancellation of bids for the said 25 works on account of lack of adequate competition constitutes a valid and recognized ground in public procurement.

16. Consequently, the impugned tender issued thereafter in respect of these 25 works would constitute the "second tender" within the meaning of Clause 2 of the Circular dated 30.09.2020.

17. In such circumstances, the submission of the petitioner that the earlier tender dated 30.10.2025 should be treated as the first tender cannot be accepted.

18. The law relating to judicial review in contractual and tender matters is now well settled. In Tata Cellular v. Union of India, (1994) 6 SCC 651, the Supreme Court has authoritatively held that the Court does not sit as a court of appeal over administrative decisions in contractual matters and that the scope of interference is confined to examining whether the decision-making process is vitiated by arbitrariness, irrationality or mala fides. It was further held that the terms of invitation to tender fall within the realm of contract and the Government must be allowed a fair degree of latitude in such matters.

19. Further, in Afcons Infrastructure Ltd. v. Nagpur Metro Rail Corporation Ltd., (2016) 16 SCC 818, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that the interpretation of tender documents by the employer must be accorded due deference, and unless such interpretation is found to be perverse, arbitrary or actuated by mala fides, the Court ought not to interfere. The employer, being the author of the tender, is the best judge of the meaning, scope and intent of its conditions, and its understanding is entitled to primacy. It has further been held that even if two interpretations are possible, the Court should not substitute its own view in place of that of the tendering authority, so long as the interpretation adopted is a plausible and reasonable one.

20. Applying the aforesaid principle, this Court holds that even otherwise, the interpretation placed by the respondent authorities upon Clause 2 of the Circular dated 30.09.2020 does not warrant substitution. The said interpretation, namely that only such earlier tender which failed on account of lack of adequate bids can be treated as the first tender, is a reasonable and purposive interpretation.

21. In the absence of any material to demonstrate mala fides, favouritism, bias or violation of any statutory provision, this Court finds no ground to interfere in the tender process in exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

22. The action of the respondents in cancelling the bids in respect of the aforesaid 25 works and issuing a fresh tender is in consonance with the settled principles governing public procurement and does not suffer from any illegality, arbitrariness or infirmity warranting interference by this Court. The tendering authority is entitled to ensure adequate competition and transparency in the bidding process, and such decision cannot be faulted in the facts of the present case.

23. Accordingly, the writ petition lacks merit and is dismissed. No order as to costs.

CASE ARISING FROM

Rejection order dated 25.09.2025 denying refund of stamp duty as time-barred, despite earlier Division Bench judgment dated 06.03.2025 in Writ-C No.39180 of 2024 granting refund benefit.

APPEARANCE OF PARTIES

Counsel for Appellant(s): - Shri Rahul Sahai, Advocate, Counsel for Respondent(s): - Shri Kaushalendra Nath Singh (for respondent no. 6), learned Standing Counsel.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Siddharth Nandan, J.)

1. Instructions dated 16.04.2026 has been filed by learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel. The same is taken on record.

2. Heard Shri Rahul Sahai, learned counsel for the petitioners, Shri Kaushalendra Nath Singh, learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent no.6 and learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents.

3. The petitioners have sought quashing of the order dated 25.09.2025, by way of which the claim for refund of the stamp has been rejected, being time barred while deciding the refund application of the petitioners, in pursuance of the order dated 06.03.2025 passed in Writ-C No.39180 of 2024. Learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance on para-9 of the said judgment dated 06.03.2025, to submit that this Court had given a positive finding in favour of the petitioners' claim, that the benefit of refund of the stamp duty would be applicable in the case of the petitioners. For ready reference para-9 is reproduced below:

"9. Upon perusal of the averments made, the documents annexed and after going through the ratio of Supreme Court in Harshit Harish Jain & Anr (supra), we are of the view that in the present case the impugned order rejecting the refund of the petitioners is passed on technical reasons only. From the facts, it is clear that the agreement between the parties has taken place prior to the amendment that has been carried in the stamp papers, and accordingly, following the ratio of the Supreme Court Judgment, it is crystal clear that the benefit of refund of the stamp duty would be applicable in the present case. "

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner has further placed reliance on the unamended Rule 218 to submit that the proviso provides that the State Government may irrespective of any time limit, disposed off the application for relief of refund of the stamp, even in cases in which period of 2 years has expired.

5. Per contra, learned Standing Counsel has submitted that Chapter-V of Indian Stamp Act, 1899 (herein after referred to as Act, 1899), provides for "allowance for stamp in certain cases".

6. Section 49(d)(4) of the Act states as under:

"49. Allowance for spoiled stamps: Subject to such rules as may be made by [the [State Government]] as to the evidence to be required, or the enquiry to be made, the Collector may, on application made within the period prescribed in section 50, and if he is satisfied as to the facts, make allowance for impressed stamps spoiled in the cases herein after mentioned, namely:

(d) the stamp used for an instrument executed by any party thereto which

(4) for want of the execution thereof by some material party, and his inability or refusal to sign the same, is in fact incomplete and insufficient for the purpose for which it was intended:""

7. Learned Standing Counsel has submitted that Collector may, on application made with the period prescribed in Section 50, and if he satisfied to make such allowances, for impressed stamps spoiled, in the cases mentioned under sub-clause (d); and in the facts of the present case, the Section 49(d) read with Section 50(3). For ready reference Section 50(3) is also reproduced below:

50. Application for relief under section 49 when to be made The application for relief under Section 49 shall be made within the following periods, that is to say –

(3) in the case of a stamped paper in which an instrument has been executed by any of the parties thereto, within six months after the date of the instrument, or, if it is not dated, within six months after the execution thereof by the person by whom it was first or alone executed: ""

8. It is not disputed between the parties that the stamp was purchased in the year 2015 and the same was done so with an expectation that the tripartite agreement which was contemplated after the deposit of the requisite fee, shall be executed between the petitioners, Noida Authority and the developer. But however, the respondent no.6 i.e. the Noida Authority had not signed the said agreement, though was executed between the petitioner and the developer, on the ground that the developer had not paid the dues to the development authority and also the completion certificate has not been issued.

9. From the aforesaid fact, it is evident that the act of purchase of the stamp was with a legitimate expectation that the tripartite agreement shall be executed but the same was not executed on account of the fact, that there was inaction on the part of the developer, for which the Noida Authority had refused to sign the agreement.

Issues :-

10. This Court has to examine the following issues:

i. Whether the conditions in relation to the time period prescribed under Rule 218, prior to the amendment dated 20.12.2017, shall be applicable or the amended Rule 218 will be applicable in the facts of the case.

ii. Once this Court vide its judgment dated 06.03.2025, had specifically given the benefit of refund of the stamp duty, to the petitioner, whether it was open for the authorities to deny the claim of the petitioner on the ground of limitation having expired.

Discussion :

Since the issues are co-related, the same are being jointly dealt with:-

11. Learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that vide order dated 16.05.2024, the claim of the petitioner was rejected on the ground that vide notification dated 25.03.2021, [U.P. Stamp Amendment Rules, 2021], Rule 218 was amended; wherein, it was provided that from the date of purchase of the stamp, after 8 years the stamp shall not be returned; and the same was treated to be time barred.

12. He further submits that the order dated 16.05.2024 was challenged before this Court in Writ-C No.39180 of 2024 and this Court vide its order dated 06.03.2025 placing reliance on various decisions of this Court, as well as, the Apex Court had set aside the impugned order dated 16.05.2024

13. This Court had held that the order rejecting the refund of the stamp, being passed on technical reasons only, and the fact that the agreement between the parties had taken place prior to the amendment, that has been carried in the stamp papers, and accordingly, the ratio of the judgment of the Apex Court, in Harshit Harish Jain vs. State of Maharashtra, reported in 2025 LawSuit (SC) 105, is applicable.

14. At this juncture, it may be relevant to take note of the 2 amendments, which were made to Rule 218. For ready reference the amendment dated 20.12.2017 and 25.03.2021 is reproduced below:

in above rule, where the period of two years has expired or where the stamp is purchased two years ago and after the expiry of two years the action was to be taken by the state government regarding refund of the value of such stamp or the stamps which are not required.

15. Learned counsel for the petitioner has fairly submitted, if the amendment dated 20.12.2017 and 25.03.2021 applies to the facts of the present case, the claim of the petitioner shall be ousted on the ground of limitation; but however, he submits placing reliance on Section 50 that the scheme of Act contemplates that the application for relief under Section 49 shall be made within a period, in case of a stamp paper in which an instrument has been executed by "any" of the parties thereto, of 6 months, after the date of instrument; and as such the cause of action accrues within 6 months from the date of the instrument.

16. He further refers to Rule 218 which provides that the refund shall be made strictly in accordance with Section 49 to 53 Chapter-V of the Act, 1899, and an application must be made within the period prescribed by Section 50. However, in cases where the period operates as a serious hardship and the holder of the stamp, without any fraudulent motive, is unavoidably prevented from applying for relief within the prescribed period, the Collector is authorized to allow refund and the period of 2 years provided therein can also be relaxed, at the instance of the State Government.

17. In view of the aforesaid, he submits that the scheme of Act, itself contemplates that the cause of action would arise within 6 months and once the cause of action has arisen, the law applicable on the said date shall be applicable i.e. the unamended Rule 218, as it existed prior to 20.12.2017.

18. Though at the first instance, the aforesaid argument seems to be attractive but in the facts of the case, admittedly, the application for refund was filed on 27.04.2024; and accordingly the said argument cannot be accepted, as the date of commencement of the cause of action and the initiation of proceedings are distinct.

19. However, this Court cannot lose sight of the fact that the situation, herein, clearly spells out that the petitioner with a legitimate expectation, for execution of the tripartite agreement, had purchased the stamp and the builder had also entered into an agreement; and only the signature of the representative of the Noida Authority was required to complete the tripartite agreement.

20. It is the specific case of the petitioner, that he was continuously pursuing with the Noida Authority and eventually when his claim was rejected on 16.05.2024, he had approached this Court; and this Court vide judgment dated 06.03.2025, had recorded a specific finding that "the benefit of refund of stamp duty would be applicable in the present case".

21. Now I come to the second issue. It has not been disputed by the parties that the Division Bench judgment of this Court, dated 06.03.2025 in Writ-C No.39180 of 2024, between the same parties, has attained finality; and it is also trite law that the laws relating to forum and limitation is procedural in nature, and is presumed to be retrospective in its application, unless such a construction is textually impossible. However, a procedural statute should not generally speaking be applied retrospective, where the result would be to create new disabilities or obligations or the impose new duties in respect of transactions already accomplished (Reference: Hitendra Vishnu Thakur vs. State of Maharashtra, reported in 1994 SCC (4) 602).

22. In the case of Hitendra Vishnu Thakur (supra) the Hon'ble Apex Court held as follows in Paragraph No. 26:

26. The Designated Court has held that the amendment would operate retrospectively and would apply to the pending cases in which investigation was not complete on the date on which the Amendment Act came into force and the challan had not till then been filed in the court. From the law settled by this Court in various cases the illustrative though not exhaustive principles which emerge with regard to the ambit and scope of an Amending Act and its retrospective operation may be culled out as follows:

(i) A statute which affects substantive rights is presumed to be prospective in operation unless made retrospective, either expressly or by necessary intendment, whereas a statute which merely affects procedure, unless such a construction is textually impossible, is presumed to be retrospective in its application, should not be given an extended meaning and should be strictly confined to its clearly defined limits.

(ii) Law relating to forum and limitation is procedural in nature, whereas law relating to right of action and right of appeal even though remedial is substantive in nature.

(iii) Every litigant has a vested right in substantive law but no such right exists in procedural law.

(iv) A procedural statute should not generally speaking be applied retrospectively where the result would be to create new disabilities or obligations or to impose new duties in respect of transactions already accomplished.

(v) A statute which not only changes the procedure but also creates new rights and liabilities shall be construed to be prospective in operation, unless otherwise provided, either expressly or by necessary implication."

23. The question of limitation which was earlier available, now in cases where there was hardship and without any fraudulent motive, the purchaser of the stamp was prevented from applying for relief within the prescribed period, Rule 218 prescribed that the State Government may irrespective of any time limit, dispose off the application for relief, even in cases the 2 years had lapsed.

24. By way of the amendments dated 25.03.2021 and 20.12.2017, created a new disability, by virtue of which the said relaxation at the instance of the State Government, was confined eventually to a period of 8 years from the date of purchase of the stamp.

25. In view of the principles laid down by the Apex Court in the case of Hitendra Vishnu Thakur (supra) and the undisputed position that the judgment dated 06.03.2025 has attained finality, which in clear terms provided, that the petitioners' claim cannot be avoided for technical reasons and is entitled to the benefit of refund of the stamp duty, this Court is inclined to hold that the disability which is created by the amendment dated 20.12.2017 and 25.03.2021 cannot be applied, even retrospectively.

26. In the facts of the present case, though by the time the petitioner had moved their application for refund, the new amendments were already in place, but the time spent in pursuing the authorities to enter into a Tripartite Agreement and eventually being rejected, for no fault of their own but that of the builder, the disability which is created by the subsequent amendment, cannot be enforced, against the petitioners, in the facts of the present case, as also held by the Apex Court, in the case of Hitendra Vishnu Thakur (Supra); and for the reasons stated in the judgment dated 06.03.2025, more particularly in para-9 in Writ-C No.39180 of 2024, between the same parties, which has attained finality, the order dated 29.09.2025 is hereby set aside with a direction to the respondents to refund the stamp in terms of the application dated 27.04.2024 within a period of 2 months from the date of production of certified copy of this order.

27. With the aforesaid observations/directions, the writ petition stands disposed of.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether cancellation of the petitioner's highest bid in e-auction for mining lease under Rule 28(3) of the U.P. Minor Minerals (Concession) Rules, 2021 was arbitrary?

HEADNOTES

Civil Law – Constitution of India - Articles 21, 226 – U.P. Minor Minerals (Concession) Rules, 2021 - Rules 23(4), 28(3): - Writ Petition under Article 226 - against order of the District Magistrate cancelling petitioner's highest bid in e-auction and subsequent notification for fresh auction, seeking quashing of the cancellation as arbitrary - petitioner had bid Rs. 361/- per cubic meter against reserved price of Rs. 140/- for Arazi no. 12MI, which was more than double the reserve and higher than past bids in 2023-2025 - The authority cancelled auction relying on comparative higher bids in other plots - whether such cancellation under Rule 28(3) was arbitrary or justified - Petitioner pleaded arbitrariness and violation of Rule 23(4) - State countered relying on Indore Vikas Praadhikaran that highest bidder has no vested right - Court finds that, cancellation lacked nexus to rationale, as comparative bids were from dissimilar plots and no counter was filed to petitioner's factual averments - court emphasize that things were done in a proper manner - held, cancellation arbitrary and unsustainable - hence, impugned order and subsequent notification are quashed - writ petition, allowed with consequences to follow.

CASE ARISING FROM

Cancellation of petitioner's highest bid in e-auction dated 17.02.2026 for mining lease in Arazi no. 12MI, Village Chakalathia, Tehsil Chunar, District Mirzapur.

Impugned order dated 19.03.2026 by District Magistrate cancelling auction and fresh notification dated 20.03.2026.

APPEARANCE OF PARTIES

Counsel for Appellant(s): - Shri Ashok Khare, Sr. Advocate assisted by Mr. Vijay Kumar Srivastava, Counsel for Respondent(s): - Dr. Rajeshwar Tripathi, Chief Standing Counsel.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Arindam Sinha, J.)

1. Petitioner has challenged order dated 19th March, 2026 made by respondent no.2 (the District Magistrate) under rule 28(3) in Uttar Pradesh Minor Minerals (Concession) Rules, 2021 as well as subsequent notification for e-tender-cum-auction dated 20th March, 2026. Petitioner says, she was highest bidder in the auction for mining lease in respect of area under serial no. 15 in e-auction notice dated 17th February, 2026. Reserved price was Rs. 140/- per cubic meter. She had made bid of Rs. 361/- per cubic meter. The entire process was cancelled, purportedly based on opinion formed by the authority. Arbitrariness is contended. Mr. Ashok Khare, learned senior advocate assisted by Mr. Vijay Kumar Srivastava, learned advocate appear on behalf of petitioner. Dr. Rajeshwar Tripathi, learned advocate, Chief Standing Counsel appears on behalf of State.

2. The writ petition was moved on 1st April, 2026. Paragraphs 2 to 4 from order made that day are reproduced below.

"2. Dr. Rajeshwar Tripathi, learned advocate, Chief Standing Counsel appears on behalf of State and submits, petitioner can put in her bid against the fresh tender. He opposes interference.

3. There are requisites for putting in bids. Petitioner has already complied with the requisitions in putting her earlier bid against the cancelled tender. Furthermore, on query we have ascertained that reserved price was fixed. After fixation of reserved price and getting petitioner's bid declared highest at more than double of it, State needs to explain basis of its opinion.

4. The fresh tender process will remain stayed till next date of hearing. State will be heard on adjourned date."

Today, Dr. Tripathi submits, contention of his client is supported by declaration of law made by the Supreme Court. On query regarding counter he submits, he will proceed to argue on basis of instructions received. He hands them up. He submits, clear declaration of law was that a highest bidder does not have vested right to have the lease granted in her favour. There was no arbitrariness in the decision taken in interest of public revenue.

3. Dr. Tripathi relies on judgment of the Supreme Court in Indore Vikas Praadhikaran (IDA) Vs. Shri Humud Jain Samaj Trust reported in AIR 2025 SC 322, paragraphs 12 to 15. He submits, there is clear declaration of law that a highest bidder does not have a vested right for her bid to be accepted nor to restrain the authority from cancelling the process in interest of public revenue. This was done upon evaluation of the bids received in the auction held pursuant to said notification dated 17th February, 2026. It came to notice of the authority that similar areas had yielded bids for mining lease at excess of Rs. 400/- per cubic meter. It was good basis for cancelling the auction process, on opinion duly formed. On query he hands up his instructions dated 7th April, 2026 with copy to Mr. Khare and submits, pages 3 to 5, in the instructions brief, contain a chart of leases granted for minor minerals. 20 leases have been tabulated. Revenue generated on premium for the leases is in excess of Rs. 400/- per cubic meter for every lease granted. In fact, some leases were granted for premium calculated at excess of Rs. 700/- per cubic meter. Thus, there was tangible basis for cancelling the process and issuing fresh notice for auction.

4. Mr. Khare in reply draws attention to paragraph 17 in the writ petition. The paragraph is reproduced below.

"17. That earlier in the same arazi no 12MI, situated at village chakalathia (Bhulie), tehsil-chunar, District-Mirzapur, 3 mining lease were allotted through e tender cum e-auction in the year 2025, 2023, by the respondents authorities, in which highest bid were Rs.-151, and Rs.-123, and Rs.-112, on fixed reserve price of Rs.110."

He submits, no counter has been filed. The tabulation of other leases cannot be relied upon as basis for the auction to be cancelled. It was done arbitrarily considering highest bids received in previous years (2023-2025) were at maximum Rs. 151/- per cubic meter. He lays emphasis that reserved price for auction of lease granted for aforesaid periods was Rs. 110/- per cubic meter. He lays emphasis that said reserved prices and earlier bids were in respect of the Arazi. Mr. Khare then draws attention to rule 23(4). The sub-rule is reproduced below.

"Rule 23.

.....(4) The District Officer shall get the area or areas declared under sub-rule (1), evaluated for quality and quantity of mineral for fixing minimum bid or offer by the Director, Geology and Mining, Uttar Pradesh or by an officer authorised by him before the date fixed for e-tender/e-auction/e-tender-cum-e-auction."

(emphasis supplied)

Mr. Khare relies on Golden Food Products India vs. State of U.P. reported in AIR 2026 SC 335, paragraphs 25, 27 and 32. He submits, there be interference for issuance of certiorari.

5. Rule 28(3) is reproduced below.

"Rule 28.

.....(3) If any bid or offer in e-tender/e-auction/e-tender-cum-e-auction is not satisfactory in the opinion of the District Magistrate, he may reject all the bids and offers in e-tender/e-auction/e-tender-cum-e-auction and order for fresh."

State contends that its functionary duly acted on opinion formed, to exercise discretion for rejecting all the bids and offers in the e-auction, to order for fresh. For purpose of the writ petition, instructions were issued and handed up, followed through by argument made upon reliance on Indore Vikas Praadhikaran (supra). The chart of premiums on leases granted are in respect of areas other than the Arazi, in respect of which the cancelled auction was notified. No counter has been filed on specifically denying statements made in paragraph 17 of the writ petition, nor is there any reference thereto in the instructions brief. We have been shown rule 23(4), requiring fixation of reserved price, upon evaluation of quality and quantity of minerals. From averments made in said paragraph of the petition, we see that bids received in years 2023-2025 were a little above the reserved price at Rs. 110/- per cubic meter. Said reserved price stood revised at Rs. 140/- per cubic meter. Petitioner's highest bid was more than double of the revised reserved price. We must presume that there was necessity to re-evaluate and the revised reserved price was duly fixed.

6. In Indore Vikas Praadhikaran (supra), declaration of law was that a highest bidder does not have vested right to have contract declared as made pursuant thereto. In that case, there was fact of arrears outstanding, not noticed by the authority fixing the reserved price. Apart from that, the facts also included conscious omission of State in not having issued allotment letter. The Supreme Court found that the Tender Evaluation Committee had discovered the former omission and therefore did not allot, to proceed to cancel. The Supreme Court said that judicial review cannot be used to substitute such decision made in interest of public revenue. There were several authorities relied upon to make the declaration. Consistently, the Supreme Court also said that judicial review is possible, where the procedure or manner adopted for cancellation was found to be, amongst others, arbitrary.

7. In Golden Food Products India (supra), Indore Vikas Praadhikaran (supra) was referred to. Dispute in that case was, auction was held and notices issued in respect of plots, which were dissimilar in size but carrying same reserved price. The Supreme Court found, smaller plots had many bidders, while there were few in respect of the larger plots. Appellant before the Supreme Court made bid a little in excess of the reserved price. The bid was cancelled on the basis of bids received in excess of appellant's bid but, in respect of smaller plots. The Supreme Court, in those facts found, the basis of action of the authority to cancel not having nexus to rationale or reason. Paragraph 32 from the judgment is reproduced below.

"32. An auction process has a sanctity attached to it and only for valid reasons that the highest bid can be discarded in an auction which is otherwise held in accordance with law. If a valid bid has been made which is above the reserve price, there should be a rationale or reason for not accepting it. Therefore, the decision to discard the highest bid must have a nexus to the rationale or the reason. Merely because the authority conducting the auction expected a higher bid than what the highest bidder had bid cannot be a reason to discard the highest bid. In the instant case, no other party had placed a bid higher than the appellant herein. There was no infirmity in the conduct of the auction. No other party had complained about the process of auction conducted by the GDA-respondent No.2. The bid offered by the appellant herein was the highest and above the reserve price. In the circumstances, the said bid ought to have been accepted by GDA-respondent No.2 rather than cancelling the same without notice to the appellant herein. Hence, the cancellation of the bid submitted by the appellant herein is quashed." (emphasis supplied)

8. We have demonstration on facts undisputed that reserved price was presumably duly fixed, at Rs. 140/- per cubic meter for the Arazi in question. It was notified for auction on aforesaid notice dated 17th February, 2026, listed under serial no. 15. Immediately preceding earlier years had brought in bids less than that of petitioner, who had bid Rs. 361 per cubic meter. As aforesaid, the bid was more than double than the revised reserved price fixed. Reliance by State on higher bids received against other plots have not been demonstrated to be on same basis of quantity or quality, in respect of the mineral to be mined. As such, we do find arbitrariness in the opinion formed. Impugned cancellation itself does not disclose any basis for the opinion. The subsequent instructions have also not met with the requirement of demonstration that things were done in a proper manner.

9. Impugned order dated 19th March, 2026 as well as notification for e-tender-cum-auction dated 20th March, 2026 are set aside and quashed. Consequences to follow.

10. The writ petition is allowed and disposed of.

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether the prosecution sanction orders issued u/s 19 of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 for prosecuting the applicants u/s 7 of the Prevention of Corruption Act and s. 61(2) of Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023, were vitiated on account of alleged non-application of mind, and whether such alleged defect in sanction could be examined at the pre-trial stage so as to discharge the applicants and quash the proceedings.

Headnotes

Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 - ss. 7, 17-A(1), 19 - Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 - s. 61(2) - Challenge to prosecution sanction - Validity - Discharge application - Trap case - Scope of interference at pre-trial stage - The case arose from a complaint made by one Rohan Gupta, a selected candidate for the post of Assistant Branch Post Master (ABPM) under Grameen Dak Sewa, alleging that certain officials demanded illegal gratification of Rs. 25,000/- for permitting him to join his post - Upon verification, the CBI registered an FIR u/s 7 of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 and s. 61(2) of Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 - A trap operation was conducted wherein one accused allegedly received the bribe amount on the instructions of another accused, while the remaining accused were also present at the spot, resulting in their arrest - After investigation, a charge-sheet was submitted alleging demand and acceptance of undue advantage in connivance with the applicants - The competent authority thereafter granted sanction for prosecution - The applicants moved discharge applications before the trial court contending absence of involvement and invalidity of sanction, which were rejected and charges were framed - Aggrieved thereby, the applicant filed instant application before the High Court challenging the said orders.

Held: In the present case, as per the prosecution case, the applicant Achche Lal was caught red handed while accepting bribe money and the other applicant Brikesh Pandey was also arrested during the trap proceedings - In view of the provision contained in the first proviso appended to s. 17-A of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, and the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of CBI v. Santosh Karnani (infra), it appears that no previous sanction for prosecution of the applicants was required and the submission of the learned Counsel for the petitioner that the entire proceedings stand vitiated for the defect in prosecution sanction order, has no force and the same is rejected - Thus, there is no error or illegality in the impugned orders, accordingly, petitions lack merits and are dismissed. Briefly stated, facts of the case are that on 03.02.2025, one Rohan Gupta gave a complaint to the Superintendent of Police, C.B.I., Lucknow stating that he had been selected on the post of ABPM (Assistant Branch Post Master) under GDS (Grameen Dak Sewa) and he had completed three days' training. Ramesh Kumar and Brikesh Pandey (the applicant in Application No. 1352 of 2026) had demanded Rs.25,000/- for permitting him to join the post. After discreet verification, CBI registered FIR bearing No. RC0062025A0001 under Section 7 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 and 61(2) of Bhartiya Nagrik Suraksha Sanhita (BNSS) against Ramesh Kumar and Brikesh Pandey.

4. A trap was laid on 04.02.2025 during which on the instructions of the named accused Ramesh Kumar, Achche Lal (the applicant in Application No. 1346 of 2026) demanded bribe from the complainant through gesture and he received the amount from the complainant. The other named accused Brikesh Pandey (the applicant in Application No. 1346 of 2026) was also present there alongwith them. All the three persons were caught on the spot.

5. A charge-sheet was submitted on 29.03.2025 against (1) Ramesh Kumar Tudu, (2) Brikesh Pandey and (3) Achche Lal for offences under Section 61(2) BNS and Section 7 of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 stating that the investigation has revealed that for allowing the complainant to join the post, Ramesh Kumar Tudu demanded and accepted undue advantage from the complainant in connivance with Brikesh Pandey and Achche Lal.

6. On 30.07.2025, the competent authority issued separate orders granting sanction for prosecution of the applicants. The prosecution orders are detailed orders containing narration of the facts of the case. The sanctioning authority states that after carefully examining the material placed on record including copy of complaint, FIR, verification memo, pre trap memo, post trap memo, transcription of recorded conversation made between the complainant and the accused persons Ramesh Kumar Tudu and Brikesh Pandey during verification and trap proceeding, statement of witnesses, other relevant materials placed before the authority regarding the allegations, circumstances of the case and after being fully satisfied after applying his mind, the authority considered that the applicants have committed the offences 61(2) BNS and Section 7 PC Act, and they should be prosecuted for the said offences.

7. The applicants filed applications before the trial Court seeking their discharge. Achche Lal sought his discharge mainly on the ground that he had received the bribe amount on the instructions of Ramesh Kumar Tudu. Brikesh Pandey sought his discharge on the ground that there was no evidence of his involvement in demanding and receiving the bribe.

8. The applications seeking discharge have been rejected by means of an order dated 20.01.2026. The trial court held that the call records, trap memorandum, involvement of Achche Lal in the conversation and recovery of tainted money from the Achche Lal do not warrant his discharge. Regarding Brikesh Pandey, the trial Court held that the material indicates that he was involved in demanding money from the complainant to permit him to join the duties of the post on which he has been appointed. Brikesh Pandey was an integral part of the entire process. Whether he was in fact involved or not, would be determined after scrutiny of evidence during the trial.

9. The trial Court has framed charges against the applicants by means of an order dated 21.02.2026.

10. The validity of the prosecution sanction order has been challenged on the ground that in the verbatim similar prosecution sanction orders, the sanctioning authority has stated that he accords sanction under Section 19 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 for the prosecution of the applicants for the offences punishable under Section 61(2) of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS) 2023, and Section 7 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 (as amended in 2018) and for any other offences made out from the aforesaid facts and circumstances for taking cognizance of the said offences against the said accused by the Court of competent jurisdiction.

11. The learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that Section 19 of the Prevention of Corruption Act prohibits taking cognizance of the offences punishable under Sections 7, 11, 13, and 15 of the Act. Section 19 of the aforesaid Act does not provide for a grant of sanction for prosecution of the offence under Section 61(2) of BNS. The mention of Section 61(2) of BNS indicates that the sanction order has been passed in a mechanical manner, without application of mind.

12. In support of this contention, the learned counsel for the applicant has placed reliance on a judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of State of Mohammed Iqbal Ahmed versus State of Andhra Pradesh; (1979) 4 SCC 172, wherein the Honorable Supreme Court held that it is incumbent on the prosecution to prove that a valid sanction had been granted by the sanctioning authority after it was satisfied that a case for sanction had been made out constituting the offence. The Court has to see whether or not the sanctioning authority at the time of giving sanction, was aware of the facts constituting the offence and applied its mind to the same.

13. The learned counsel for the applicant has also placed reliance on a decision of this Court rendered in the case of Sushant Gupta v. CBI, 2025 SCC OnLine All 3138, wherein this Court had set-aside a similarly worded prosecution sanction order.

14. Per contra, the learned counsel for the respondent-CBI has submitted that what is required in Section 19 of the Prevention of Corruption Act is that no court shall take cognizance of any offence under section 7, 11, 13 and 15 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 without previous sanction by the competent authority. It does not prohibit grant of sanction for any other offence and the mere mention of the offence of criminal conspiracy along with the offence under Section 7 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, would not invalidate the sanction for prosecution for the offence under Section 7 of the Prevention of Corruption Act.

15. In support of his contentions, the learned counsel for respondent CBI has placed reliance on the decision rendered by a Full Bench of this Court in the case of Neera Yadav v. C.B.I. (Bharat Sangh): 2005 SCC OnLine All 1217. He has also placed reliance on the judgments of this Court in Surendar Singh v. CBI: 2026 SCC OnLine All 2049 and Ashok Kumar Choudhary versus Central Bureau of Investigation: 2026:AHC-LKO:22051.

16. In Mohd. Iqbal Ahmed v. State of A.P.: (1979) 4 SCC 172, the appellant was said to have been caught red handed while receiving Rs.125/- as bribe. The resolution of the Standing Committee read as follows: -

"As per note of the Commissioner, M.C.H., the Standing Committee unanimously accords sanction for prosecution of Shri Mohd. Iqbal Ahmed (in the scale of 110?180) Section Officer of town Planning Section (under suspension) in a competent Court for the offence mentioned in the note of the Commissioner M.C.H., dated January 18, 1969 so as to enable the Commissioner to sign the prosecution order and send it to the Director, Anti-Corruption Bureau for taking further action at the earliest."

The Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"3. A perusal of the resolution of the Sanctioning Authority clearly shows that no facts on the basis of which the prosecution was to be sanctioned against the appellant are mentioned in the sanction nor does this document contain any ground on which the satisfaction of the Sanctioning Authority was based and its mind applied. This document merely mentions that the sanction has been given on the basis of a note of the Commissioner, Municipal Corporation which appears to have been placed before the Committee. It is obvious, therefore, that this note, if any, must have come into existence either on March 31, 1969 or at any date prior to this. The prosecution could have proved the facts constituting the offence which were placed before the Sanctioning Authority by producing the note at the trial. But no such thing has been done. What the prosecution did was merely to examine two witnesses PWs 2 and 7. PW 2 has produced the order implementing the Resolution of the Sanctioning Authority which is Ex. P10 and is dated April 21, 1969, that is to say after the sanction was given. This document no doubt contains the facts constituting the offence but that does not solve the legal issues that arise in this case. It is incumbent on the prosecution to prove that a valid sanction has been granted by the Sanctioning Authority after it was satisfied that a case for sanction has been made out constituting the offence. This should be done in two ways; either (1) by producing the original sanction which itself contains the facts constituting the offence and the grounds of satisfaction and (2) by adducing evidence aliunde to show that the facts placed before the Sanctioning Authority and the satisfaction arrived at by it. It is well settled that any case instituted without a proper sanction must fail because this being a manifest difficulty in the prosecution, the entire proceedings are rendered void ab initio?."

(Emphasis added)

17. The aforesaid judgment was given while examining the validity of a judgment passed by the High Court allowing an appeal against a judgment of acquittal passed by the trial Court where the prosecution had failed to adduce evidence to show the facts placed before the sanctioning authority and the satisfaction arrived by it. In the present case, this stage has not yet arrived and the petitioner has challenged the validity of the prosecution sanction order before commencement of the trial. Therefore, the ratio laid down in Mohd. Iqbal Ahmed v. State of A.P. (supra) would not apply to the present case.

18. In Neera Yadav v. C.B.I. (Bharat Sangh): 2006 SCC OnLine All 141, the following questions had been referred to the Full Bench: -

"1. Whether in the case of public servant which can be removed only by the Central Government and sanction under section 19 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 is also given, further sanction under section 197 of the Criminal Procedure Code is also required because at the relevant time the said public servant was also employed in connection with the affairs of the State Government.

2. Whether public servant who is charged under section 13 of the Prevention of Corruption Act as also under section 120-B IPC and the sanction u/s 19 of the Prevention of Corruption Act is already given by the Central Government, yet the sanction by the State Government under section 197 of the Code of Criminal Procedure is necessary since he is being charged under section 120-B IPC also.

3. If the answer to the above two questions is in affirmative, then, whether the alleged act or omission for which the petitioner are being charged had reasonable connection to the discharge of their official duty calling for applicability of section 197 of the Code of Criminal Procedure."

The Full Bench gave the following answers to the aforesaid questions: -

"(I) For prosecution under Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, once sanction under Section 19 of the said Act is granted, there is no necessity for obtaining further sanction under Section 197 of the Code of Criminal Procedure.

(II) Where a public servant is sought to be prosecuted under the provisions of Prevention of Corruption Act read with Section 120-B, I.P.C. and sanction under Section 19 of Act of 1988 has been granted, it is not at all required to obtain sanction under Section 197 Cr.P.C. from the State Government or any other authority merely because the public servant is also charged under Section 120-B, I.P.C.

(III) The offences under the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 as well as charge of criminal conspiracy, cannot be said to constitute "acts in discharge of official duty."

(Emphasis added)

19. In Surendar Singh v. CBI, 2026 SCC OnLine All 2049, the petitioner had challenged the validity of a prosecution sanction order, a charge-sheet for offences under Section 120-B read with Sections 409, 420, 468, 471, 460, 477, 201 IPC, Section 13(2) read with Section 13(1)(d) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 and Sections 65 and 66 of Information Technology Act. This Court referred to the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Parkash Singh Badal v. State of Punjab: (2007) 1 SCC 1, wherein it has been held that: -

"48. The sanction in the instant case related to the offences relatable to the Act. There is a distinction between the absence of sanction and the alleged invalidity on account of non-application of mind. The former question can be agitated at the threshold but the latter is a question which has to be raised during trial."

20. This Court also relied upon the judgment in the case of Dinesh Kumar v. Airport Authority of India: (2012) 1 SCC 532, in which the Hon'ble Supreme Court followed the aforesaid law laid down in Parkash Singh Badal (supra) and held that: -

"9. While drawing a distinction between the absence of sanction and invalidity of the sanction, this Court in Parkash Singh Badal expressed in no uncertain terms that the question of absence of sanction could be raised at the inception and threshold by an aggrieved person. However, where sanction order exists, but its legality and validity is put in question, such issue has to be raised in the course of trial. Of course, in Parkash Singh Badal, this Court referred to invalidity of sanction on account of non-application of mind.

10. In our view, invalidity of sanction where sanction order exists, can be raised on diverse grounds like non-availability of material before the sanctioning authority or bias of the sanctioning authority or the order of sanction having been passed by an authority not authorised or competent to grant such sanction. The above grounds are only illustrative and not exhaustive. All such grounds of invalidity or illegality of sanction would fall in the same category like the ground of invalidity of sanction on account of non-application of mind? a category carved out by this Court in Parkash Singh Badal, the challenge to which can always be raised in the course of trial.

13. In our view, having regard to the facts of the present case, now since cognizance has already been taken against the appellant by the trial Judge, the High Court cannot be said to have erred in leaving the question of validity of sanction open for consideration by the trial court and giving liberty to the appellant to raise the issue concerning validity of sanction order in the course of trial. Such course is in accord with the decision of this Court in Parkash Singh Badal and not unjustified."

21. Both the aforesaid judgments have been followed in CBI v. Ashok Kumar Aggarwal: (2014) 14 SCC 295, in which it was held that: -

"59. Undoubtedly, the stage of examining the validity of sanction is during the trial and we do not propose to say that the validity should be examined during the stage of inquiry or at pre-trial stage."

22. This Court also took into consideration the judgment in the case of State (Inspector of Police) v. Surya Sankaram Karri: (2006) 7 SCC 172, wherein the Hon'ble the Supreme Court relied upon the judgment in State of Karnataka v. C. Nagrajswami: (2005) 8 SCC 370 wherein it was held that: -

"14. Ordinarily, the question as to whether a proper sanction has been accorded for prosecution of the accused persons or not is a matter which should be dealt with at the stage of taking cognizance. But in a case of this nature where a question is raised as to whether the authority granting the sanction was competent therefor or not, at the stage of final arguments after trial, the same may have to be considered having regard to the terms and conditions of service of the accused for the purpose of determination as to who could remove him from service.

15. Grant of proper sanction by a competent authority is a sine qua non for taking cognizance of the offence. It is desirable that the question as regards sanction may be determined at an early stage. (See Ashok Sahu v. Gokul Saikia [1990 Supp SCC 41] and Birendra K. Singh v. State of Bihar [(2000) 8 SCC 498].)"

23. This Court noted in Surender Singh (supra) that the judgment in State of Karnataka v. C. Nagrajswami (supra) does not take into consideration the precedents in the cases of Parkash Singh Badal, Dinesh Kumar and Ashok Kumar Aggarwal (supra) and it does not mandate that in all cases, it is mandatory to examine the validity of the prosecution sanction order at the inception of trial. In view of the aforesaid legal position, this Court declined to examine the validity of the prosecution sanction order at the stage when examination of prosecution witnesses was already in progress. This Court had also weighed the factor that the petition had been filed after a delay of 10 years from the date of the prosecution sanction order. This Court left it open for the petitioner to raise the plea of validity of the prosecution sanction order before the trial court at the appropriate stage.

24. In Sushant Gupta v. CBI, 2025 SCC OnLine All 313, the prosecution sanction order stated that after fully and carefully examining the documents, copies of the statements of witnesses under Section 161 CrPC and other materials placed before him and having applied his mind properly in regard to the said allegations and circumstances of the case, the sanctioning authority considered that offences under Section 120-B read with Sections 409, 418, 419, 420, 467, 468, 471, 477(A) IPC and Section 13(2) read with Section 13(1)(d) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 and substantive offences thereof are made out against the applicants and other persons and therefore the authority accorded sanction under Section 19 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 for prosecution of the applicants and other persons for the said offences and for any other offence(s) punishable under any other provisions of law in respect of the said acts and for taking cognizance of the said offences by a court of competent jurisdiction. The applicants filed an application for discharge on the ground that no sanction of prosecution had been granted under Section 197 CrPC and it was granted only under Section 19 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988. This Court held that: -

"41. The applicants were working in Axis Bank, which is not even a nationalised bank, and it is not disputed that the applicants were not holding a post where they could not be removed from service except by or with the sanction of the government. In this view of the matter the provisions of Section 197 are not attracted to the case of the applicants. The prosecution sanction order dated 2-2-2022 issued by the President and Head Corporate Affairs of Axis Bank, Mumbai, states that the allegations levelled against 20 persons, including the applicants, have been corroborated by the statements recorded under Section 161 CrPC and the documents collected during investigation of the case. After careful examination and perusal of the documents and statements of the witnesses it has been found that offences under Section 120-B read with Section 409, 418, 419, 420, 468, 471 and 477-A IPC and Section 13(2) read with Section 13(1)(d) of the PC Act and substantive offence thereof are made out against 20 persons, including the applicants. The sanctioning authority proceeded to state that after fully and carefully examining the documents, copies of the statements of witnesses under Section 161 CrPC and other materials placed before him and having applied his mind properly in regard to the said allegations and circumstances of the case, considered that offences under Section 120-B read with Section 409, 418, 419, 420, 467, 468, 471 and 477-A IPC and Section 13(2) read with Section 13(1)(d) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1998 and substantive offence thereof are made out against the applicants and other persons and therefore the authority has accorded sanction under Section 19 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 for prosecution of the applicants and other persons "for the said offences and for any other offence(s) punishable under any other provisions of law in respect of the said acts and for taking cognizance of the said offences by a court of competent jurisdiction".

43. ... The sanction of prosecution "for the said offences and for any other offence(s) punishable under any other provisions of law in respect of the said Acts" for which no sanction was obtained, indicates a total non-application of mind to the facts of the case and the law applicable. It indicates that the sanctioning authority has acted as a mere rubber stamp. Non-application of mind by the sanctioning authority vitiates the sanction order dated 2-2-2023 as also the order dated 28-7-2023 passed by the trial court rejecting the discharge application.

44. The order of sanction after a proper application of mind to the relevant facts and circumstances of the case and the material-on-record is a prerequisite for prosecution of a public servant, as it is intended to provide a safeguard to a public servant against frivolous and vexatious litigants. This safeguard cannot be dealt with in a casual and mechanical manner."

25. The learned Counsel for the respondent CBI informed that a challenge made to the aforesaid order by filing S.L.P. (Criminal) No. 15225 of 2025, which is pending consideration of the Hon'ble Supreme Court.

26. In the present case, the only charges are of commission of offence under Section 61(2) BNS and Section 7 of the PC Act. There is no allegation of commission of the offences under Sections 409, 418, 419, 420, 467, 468, 471 and 477-A IPC.

27. In Neera Yadav v. C.B.I. (supra), the Full Bench has held that sanction granted under Section 19 would be sufficient for prosecution for the offence under Section 120-B IPC also, which is equivalent to Section 61(2) BNS. Further, the offences under Section 7 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 and Section 61(2) BNS cannot be said to constitute "acts in discharge of official duty" and, therefore, no sanction is required for those acts.

28. As per the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Parkash Singh Badal v. State of Punjab, Dinesh Kumar v. Airport Authority of India and CBI v. Ashok Kumar Aggarwal the validity of sanction order has to be examined during the trial and not at pre-trial stage.

29. It is also relevant to note that Section 17-A(1) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 provides as follows: -

"17-A. Enquiry or Inquiry or investigation of offences relatable to recommendations made or decisions taken by public servant in discharge of official functions or duties. -

No police officer shall conduct any enquiry or inquiry or investigation into any offence alleged to have been committed by a public servant under this Act, where the alleged offence is relatable to any recommendation made or decision taken by such public servant in discharge of his official functions or duties, without the previous approval?

(a) in the case of a person who is or was employed, at the time when the offence was alleged to have been committed, in connection with the affairs of the Union, of that Government;

(b) in the case of a person who is or was employed, at the time when the offence was alleged to have been committed, in connection with the affairs of a State, of that Government;

(c) in the case of any other person, of the authority competent to remove him from his office, at the time when the offence was alleged to have been committed:

Provided that no such approval shall be necessary for cases involving arrest of a person on the spot on the charge of accepting or attempting to accept any undue advantage for himself or for any other person:

Provided further that the concerned authority shall convey its decision under this section within a period of three months, which may, for reasons to be recorded in writing by such authority, be extended by a further period of one month."

30. In CBI v. Santosh Karnani: 2023 SCC OnLine SC 427, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"33... Section 17A merely contemplates that police officers shall not conduct any enquiry, inquiry or investigation into any offence alleged to have been committed by a public servant where the alleged offence is relatable to any recommendation made or decision taken in discharge of official functions or duties, without the previous approval of the competent authority. The first proviso to the section states that such approval is not necessary in cases involving arrest of the person on the spot on the charges of accepting undue advantage.

34. As may be seen, the first proviso to Section 17A refers to cases wherein a public servant is charged with acceptance of an undue advantage or attempt thereof. A prior approval or sanction to investigate such an officer in a trap case is likely to defeat the very purpose of trap and the investigation, which is not the underlying intention of the legislature. The investigation against Respondent No. 1, being an accused of demanding a bribe, did not require any previous approval of the Central Government. That apart, the accusation against Respondent No. 1 does not revolve around any recommendations made or decisions taken by him in his quasi-judicial or administrative capacity."

31. In CBI v. Santosh Karnani (supra), the accused could not be arrested at the spot during the trap and he had absconded, yet the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the investigation against a person accused of demanding a bribe does not require any previous approval of the Central Government.

32. CBI v. Santosh Karnani (supra) has been followed in the case of Surendra Dhariwal Vs. State of Rajasthan and another: CrI. Appeal Nos.3717-3718 of 2025, decided on 25.08.2025.

33. In Ashok Kumar Choudhary v. Central Bureau Of Investigation /Anti Corruption Bureau Lko, Neutral Citation: 2026:AHC-LKO:22051, this Court after relying on Hon'ble Supreme Court's precedents on this aspect has held that under Section 17-A of the Prevention of Corruption Act 1988, grant of prosecution sanction is not required in case an accused is arrested during the trap proceedings.

34. In the present case also, as per the prosecution case, the applicant Achche Lal was caught red handed while accepting bribe money and the other applicant Brikesh Pandey was also arrested during the trap proceedings. In view of the provision contained in the first proviso appended to Section 17-A of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, and the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of CBI v. Santosh Karnani (supra), it appears that no previous sanction for prosecution of the applicants was required and the submission of the learned Counsel for the petitioner that the entire proceedings stand vitiated for the defect in prosecution sanction order, has no force and the same is rejected.

35. In view of the foregoing discussion, I am of the considered view that there is no error or illegality in the orders dated 30.01.2026 passed by the learned Special Judge, Anti Corruption, CBI, Court No.2, Lucknow in Session Trial No.1604 of 2025 arising out of RC No.00620025A0001 under Section 61 (2) to Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS) read with Section 7 Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, Police Station- CBI/ACB, Lucknow, whereby the applications filed by the applicants seeking their discharge, have been rejected and in the orders dated 21.02.2026 passed by the trial Court framing charges against them. The petitions lack merits and are dismissed.

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SAMIT GOPAL, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 1158 of 1989

Ram Palat & Anr.

...Appellants

Versus

State of U.P.

...Respondent

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether, after acquittal of four accused out of the named members of the alleged unlawful assembly and the trial having ultimately resulted in conviction of only two accused, conviction for the offence under S. 323/149 I.P.C. could legally be sustained with the aid of S. 149 I.P.C., which requires an unlawful assembly consisting of five or more persons. (Paras 25-33)

Headnotes

Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss.141 and 149 - Unlawful Assembly - Essential requirement - Membership must be five or more persons - S. 149 creates vicarious or constructive criminal liability only when offence is committed by a member of an unlawful assembly - For constituting an unlawful assembly one of the main and important ingredients is that the assembly should consist of five or more persons. (Paras 27-29)

Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss.141 and 149 - Applicability of S. 149 - Where prosecution case names five or more persons as members of unlawful assembly and evidence is confined to those named persons - If acquittal of two or more accused reduces the number below five, S. 149 cannot be invoked unless evidence establishes participation of other unnamed or unidentified persons constituting the unlawful assembly. (Paras 30-31)

Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss.323/149, 141 and 149 - Conviction with aid of S. 149 - Trial of seven accused - One accused died during trial - Four accused acquitted - Remaining two accused acquitted of charges under Ss.147, 307/149 and 379 I.P.C. but convicted under S. 323/149 I.P.C. - Acquittal of four accused attained finality - No case of unnamed or unidentified members of unlawful assembly - Conviction under S. 323/149 I.P.C. unsustainable. (Paras 25-33)

Criminal Law - Acquittal of co-accused - Effect on charge under S. 149 I.P.C. - Acquittal of four accused rendered S. 149 I.P.C. inapplicable in the case as only two accused were convicted - Impugned judgment and order convicting accused with aid of S. 149 I.P.C. liable to be set aside. (Paras 32-33)

Criminal Appeal - Conviction and sentence under S. 323/149 I.P.C. - Legality - Since only two accused stood convicted and no circumstance existed warranting application of S. 149 I.P.C., conviction and sentence held totally illegal - Appeal allowed - Surviving appellant acquitted. (Paras 33-35)

Held: S. 149 I.P.C. applies only where an unlawful assembly consists of five or more persons - In the present case, out of seven named accused, one died during trial and four were acquitted, leaving only two convicted accused - Since no unnamed or unidentified persons were shown to be members of the assembly, S. 149 I.P.C. was inapplicable - Consequently, the conviction under S. 323/149 I.P.C. was illegal and was set aside - The appeal was allowed and the surviving appellant was acquitted. (Paras 26-35) (E-7)

12. Vide order dated 17.10.1987 the Special Judge, Basti, framed charge against all the seven accused under Sections 147, 307/149, 379 I.P.C. The accused were read and explained about the charge who pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

13. The trial in the matter started in which Ramdas, the first informant was examined as P.W.-1, Raghuvansh Upadhyay the injured was examined as P.W.-2, Hasnain an alleged eye witness and driver of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2, was examined as P.W.-3, Dr. A.K. Srivastava, Medical Officer, who conducted medical examination of Raghuvansh, was examined as P.W.-4, Kapil Dev Singh Head Constable who transcribed the Chik F.I.R. and prepared corresponding G.D. was examined as P.W.-5, Shrinath Sub-Inspector the Investigating Officer of the matter was examined as P.W.-6 who concluded it and filed a charge sheet.

14. The accused in the statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. denied the prosecution case and stated the prosecution case to be false. They stated of their implication in the matter due to conspiracy. The situation of the plot of the informant and the accused was admitted by them. It is stated that the informant had got forged sale deed executed for a public pond besides which the land of the accused is situated and thus with the police the present false case has been lodged. They stated that the accused received injuries by falling on the ground and not by assault. In defense documents were filed. No defense evidence was led.

15. The trial court finding implication of the four accused as stated above to be false acquitted them of charges levelled against them and further acquitted the accused/appellants also for the charges framed against them but convicted them as aforesaid. The present appeal thus has been filed before this Court.

16. P.W.-1 Ramdas is the first informant of the present matter. He states that his land is situated in Gidhi near petrol pump besides which the land of Ram Palat, Paras Nath and others is situated. There is a dispute between them with regards to boundary of the land. On the day of the incident at about 7.00 a.m. Lekhpal and others were called for measurements for which he and his son Raghuvansh and driver Hasnain were waiting for the said officers. The disputed land is surrounded by wall on three sides. On that day for the officers he had arranged a sofa-set, one dari, buckets etc. at the field. Ram Palat and Paras Nath have their house and hotel on one side of the land which is situated at a distance of about 10-12 kathha. When they reached the land, Ram Palat and his son Raja Ram, Paras Nath, Bigranchoo came there and immediately Ram Palat exhorted as to how they could purchase the land besides his land, after which they ran to assault Raghuvansh. They then ran towards the basti. After running about 2-4 kathha, Mata Badal, Suresh and Janardan came from the front and surrounded them and assaulted them with lathi and danda. His son was being assaulted. He ran to save him on which the accused caught hold of him and assaulted him with 2 fist blows and told him to keep away or else he would also be assaulted. His driver was also there. On shouts by him and his driver, Ramchandrar and many other people of the village came there and saw the accused assaulting. During assault on his son, Bigranchoo took away his two rings (one gold and one silver), wrist watch, a bag containing papers of vehicle, money from the pocket of jacket and papers of land. From the disputed land they took away a sofa-set, dari, bucket, lota etc. When the accused ran away, then Kapil Muni came there to whom the informant stated about the incident and got an application written on which he signed and gave it to the police for lodging a report, the same was proved by him as Ext. Ka-1 to the records. His son was medically examined but since he did not receive any visible physical injury, he was not medically examined.

17. P.W.-2 Raghuvansh Upadhyay is the injured of the matter. He states that he had purchased land besides the land of Ram Palat in the name of his wife Smt. Girja Devi and sister Smt. Kamal Upadhyay. The land was occupied by Ram Palat and others and thus he was getting wall constructed around it. The accused stated that their land falls in the said area and had stopped construction of wall. On 09.03.1986 Ram Palat and others had broken the wall. Its report was given at the Police Station Kotwali. He had requested Lekhpal and Circle Officer to get the land measured and they had stated to come on 13.03.1986 for it. On 10.1.1986 he got an order on the basis of the sale deed for getting the land measured. The same is being filed by him. On the day of incident at about 7.00 a.m. he was waiting for Lekhpal and other officers along with his father and driver Hasnain. At the said land a bucket, sofa-set, dari etc. were arranged for officers. In the meantime, the accused Ram Palat, Paras Nath, Raja Ram and Bigranchoo reached there and Ram Palat exhorted as to how they could dare to purchase the land besides his land and they ran to assault him on which he ran towards Kotwali, Basti. After running about 30-35 steps the accused Mata Badal, Bigrail @ Janardan and Suresh armed with lathi and danda came from the hotel of Ram Palat and surrounded him and assaulted him. In the meantime, the other accused came from behind and assaulted him with lathi and danda. His father ran to save him who was also assaulted with fist blows. Hasnain, Virendra Bahadur Pandey and many other persons had come there and saw the incident and intervened. Bigranchoo took away his rings, wrist watch, bag and money. They also took away the items kept in the field. He received many injuries. Kapil Muni came there who transcribed the application on the dictation of his father which was given at the police station. He was taken by the police for medical examination. He remained admitted in the hospital for about 5-6 days. He is filing papers of sale deed of the land.

18. P.W.-3 Hasnain is the driver of P.W.1 and P.W.2 and an alleged eye witness. He states of being present at the place of occurrence and states of the incident as that of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2.

19. P.W.-4 A.K. Srivastava is Medical Officer of District Hospital, Basti. He medically examined Raghuvansh Upadhyay and prepared the injury report, the details of which have already been stated above. He proves the said injury report as Ext. Ka-2 to the records. He states that the injuries could have been caused on 13.03.1986 at about 07.00 a.m. In his cross-examination he states that except for the injury no. 1 all other injuries were on non-vital parts of the body. The injury no. 1 was kept under observation and referred for X-ray but he does not know any further regarding it.

20. P.W.-5 Kapil Dev Singh is the Head Constable. He states of transcribing the Chik F.I.R. on the basis of written report given at the Police Station and also prepared the corresponding G.D. He proves the same as Ext. Ka-3 and Ext. Ka-4 respectively.

21. P.W.-6 Srinath, Sub-Inspector, is the Investigating Officer of the matter. He took up investigation and sent Raghuvansh Upadhyay for medical examination. He prepared site plan, recorded statements of the witnesses, took the clothes of the injured Raghuvansh Upadhyay in his possession and then filed a charge sheet against 7 accused which is Ext. Ka-10 to the records.

22. Heard Sri Pradeep Narayan Pandey, learned counsel for the appellant no. 2-Bighanchoo, Sri Ajay Singh, learned A.G.A.-I for the State and perused the records. The trial court records have been received, which are tagged with the present appeal which have also been perused.

23. Learned counsel for the appellant no. 2/Bigranchoo submitted as under: -

(A) The appellant has been falsely implicated in the present case.

(B) The appellants although were charged for offences under Sections 147, 307/149 and 379 I.P.C. but they were acquitted of the said charges and instead convicted for offence under Section 323/149 I.P.C.

(C) 04 other accused namely Paras Nath, Suresh, Mata Badal and Bigrail@Janardan who were also tried with the appellants for the charges under Sections 147, 307/149, 379 I.P.C., were acquitted of the said charges levelled against them.

(D) Acquittal of the said four accused and also of the accused-appellants for offences under Sections 147, 307/149, 379 I.P.C. is not under challenge and the same has attained finality.

(E) The present appeal has been preferred against conviction and sentence of the appellants for offence under Section 323/149 I.P.C.

(F) Conviction of the accused-appellants with the aid of Section 149 I.P.C. is totally illegal inasmuch as unlawful assembly must consist of minimum number of five persons for conviction with the aid of Section 149 I.P.C. In the present matter four accused have been acquitted and only two accused-appellants have been convicted under Section 323 I.P.C. with the aid of Section 149 I.P.C. which is illegal and they could not have been convicted with the aid of Section 149 I.P.C. since only two accused have been convicted.

(G) Conviction and sentence is illegal and cannot be sustained since it is with the aid of Section 149 I.P.C. and only two accused have been convicted and sentenced.

(H) The appeal be allowed and conviction and sentence of the surviving accused-appellant no. 2 Bigranchoo be set aside.

24. Learned A.G.A., per contra, opposed the submissions and the appeal and submitted as under: -

(A) The accused-appellants are named in the F.I.R. and also in the evidence as collected during investigation.

(B) One person namely Raghuvansh Upadhyay is an injured of the incident who has received injuries and thus his presence at the place of occurrence cannot be doubted.

(C) The accused are of the same village and previously known persons and thus there was no chance of false implication.

(D) Trial in the matter was of 7 accused out of which one Raja Ram died during pendency of the trial but as a matter of fact there were 7 accused in all and thus implication of Section 149 I.P.C. is proper.

(E) Trial court finding evidence to be beyond reasonable doubt in so far as it relates to the accused-appellants, convicted them and sentenced them as above.

(F) The appellants have been assigned specific role in the matter and even injuries as sustained could not have been false, fabricated or self - sustained injuries and thus conviction and sentence is well founded without any error.

(G) The present appeal is devoid of any merit and deserves to be dismissed.

25. After having heard learned counsels for the parties and perusing the records, the fact that stems out in the matter are that 7 accused were committed to the Court of Sessions for offences under Sections 147, 307/149, 379 I.P.C., out of 7 accused one accused Raja Ram died and thus his trial stood abated. Charges were framed vide order dated 17.10.1987 against 7 accused for offences under Sections 147, 307/149, 379 I.P.C. Thus after death of one accused during trial 6 (six) accused were tried for the said charges. Out of the said 6 accused, 4 accused namely Paras Nath, Suresh, Mata Bada, Bigrail@Janardan were acquitted of the charge levelled against them for offences under Sections 147, 307/149, 379 I.P.C. and two accused namely Ram Palat and Bigranchoo (who were the appellants before this Court) were also acquitted of the charges levelled against them for offences under Sections 147, 307/149, 379 I.P.C. but were convicted for offence under Sections 323/149 I.P.C. and sentenced for it.

26. For the purpose of discussions, it would be relevant to state herein that out of the said two convicted accused, who had preferred appeal before this Court, one of the appellant being Ram Palat (appellant no. 1) died during pendency of this appeal before this Court and thus his appeal stood abated vide order dated 13.09.2022. In so far as acquittal of the accused for charges under Sections 147, 307/34, 379 I.P.C. is concerned, the same attained finality. Acquittal of 4 accused namely Paras Nath, Suresh, Mata Bada, Bigrail @ Janardan, is not under challenge. Even acquittal of the accused-appellants under the said charges is also not under challenge. The moot question thus which arises before this Court is as to whether only 02 (two) accused can be convicted by a court for an offence with the aid of Section 149 I.P.C. The prosecution case in the present matter is that seven (7) named persons were members of an unlawful assembly out of whom one (1) died during trial and then six (6) persons were tried out of whom four (4) have been acquitted and thus it raises a question as to whether after acquittal of four (4) persons it leaves open to the prosecution to rely upon Section 149 I.P.C. against the appellants (now only one (1) is surviving amongst the two (2)).

27. At this stage it would be relevant to revert back to Section 149 I.P.C. which deals with an offence, if committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of common object of that assembly, or that such members of the assembly knew to be likely to be committed in the prosecution of that object wherein every person who at the time of committing of that offence, is a member of the same assembly, is guilty of that offence. Section 149 I.P.C. reads as under:-

“149. Every member of unlawful assembly guilty of offence committed in prosecution of common object. If an offence is committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly, or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person who, at the time of the committing of that offence, is a member of the same assembly, is guilty of that offence.”

28. Unlawful assembly as referred to in Section 149 I.P.C. is defined in Section 141 I.P.C. which reads as under:-

“141. Unlawful assembly. - An assembly of five or more persons is designated an ‘unlawful assembly’, if the common object of the persons composing that assembly is-

First.-To overawe by criminal force, or show of criminal force, 11[the Central or any State Government or Parliament or the Legislature of any State], or any public servant in the exercise of the lawful power of such public servant; or

Second.-To resist the execution of any law, or of any legal process; or Third.-To commit any mischief or criminal trespass, or other offence; or

Fourth.-By means of criminal force, or show of criminal force, to any person, to take or obtain possession of any property, or to deprive any person of the enjoyment of a right of way, or of the use of water or other incorporeal right of which he is in possession or enjoyment, or to enforce any right or supposed right; or

Fifth.-By means of criminal force, or show of criminal force, to compel any person to do what he is not legally bound to do, or to omit to do what he is legally entitled to do.

Explanation.-An assembly which was not unlawful when it assembled, may subsequently become an unlawful assembly.”

29. Thus for constituting an unlawful assembly one of the main and important ingredient is that the said assembly should consist of 5 (five) or more persons.

30. The applicability of Section 149 I.P.C. has been discussed and explained by the Apex Court in the following cases:

A. Mohan Singh v. State of Punjab, 1962 SCC OnLine SC 82 (a five Judge Bench of the Apex Court):-

“8. The true legal position in regard to the essential ingredients of an offence specified by Section 149 are not in doubt. Section 149 prescribes for vicarious or constructive criminal liability for all members of an unlawful assembly where an offence is committed by any member of such an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object. It would thus be noticed that one of the essential ingredients of Section 149 is that the offence must have been committed by any member of an unlawful assembly, and Section 141 makes it clear that it is only where five or more persons constituted an assembly that an unlawful assembly is born, provided, of course, the other requirements of the said section as to the common object of the persons composing that assembly are satisfied. In other words, it is an essential condition of an unlawful assembly that its membership must be five or more. The argument, therefore, is that as soon as the two Piara Singhs were acquitted, the membership of the assembly was reduced from five to three and that made Section 141 inapplicable which inevitably leads to the result that Section 149 cannot be invoked against the appellants. In our opinion, on the facts of this case, this argument has to be upheld. We have already observed that the point raised by the appellants has to be dealt with on the assumption that only five persons were named in the charge as persons composing the unlawful assembly and evidence led in the course of the trial is confined only to the said five persons. If that be so, as soon as two of the five named persons are acquitted, the assembly must be deemed to have been composed of only three persons and that clearly cannot be regarded as an unlawful assembly.

9. In dealing with the question as to the applicability of Section 149 in such cases, it is necessary to bear in mind the several categories of cases which come before the criminal courts for their decision. If five or more persons are named in the charge as composing an unlawful assembly and evidence adduced by the prosecution proves that charge against all of them, that is a very clear case where Section 149 can be invoked. It is, however, not necessary that five or more persons must be convicted before a charge under Section 149 can be successfully brought home to any members of the unlawful assembly. It may be that less than five persons may be charged and convicted under Section 302/149 if the charge is that the persons before the Court along with others named constituted an unlawful assembly; the other persons so named may not be available for trial along with their companions for the reason, for instance, that they have absconded. In such a case, the fact that less than five persons are before the Court does not make Section 149 inapplicable for the simple reason that both the charge and the evidence seek to prove that the persons before the Court and others number more than five in all and as such, they together constitute an unlawful assembly. Therefore, in order to bring home a charge under Section 149 it is not necessary that five or more persons must necessarily be brought before the court and convicted. Similarly, less than five persons may be charged under Section 149 if the prosecution case is that the persons before the Court and others numbering in all more than five composed an unlawful assembly, these others being persons not identified and so not named. In such a case, if evidence shows that the persons before the Court along with unidentified and un-named assailants or members composed an unlawful assembly, those before the Court can be convicted under Section 149 though the un-named and un-identified persons are not traced and charged. Cases may also arise where in the charge, the prosecution names five or more persons and alleges that they constituted an unlawful assembly. In such cases, if both the charge and the evidence are confined to the persons named in the charge and out of the persons so named two or more are acquitted leaving before the court less than five persons to be tried, then Section 149 cannot be invoked. Even in such cases, it is possible that though the charge names five or more persons as composing an unlawful assembly, evidence may nevertheless show that the unlawful assembly consisted of some other persons as well who were not identified and so not named. In such cases, either the trial court or even the High Court in appeal may be able to come to the conclusion that the acquittal of some of the persons named in the charge and tried will not necessarily displace the charge under Section 149 because along with the two or three persons convicted were others who composed the unlawful assembly but who have not been identified and so have not been named. In such cases, the acquittal of one or more persons named in the charge does not affect the validity of the charge under Section 149 because on the evidence the Court of facts is able to reach the conclusion that the persons composing the unlawful assembly nevertheless were five or more than five. It is true that in the last category of cases, the court will have to be very careful in reaching the said conclusion. But there is no legal bar which prevents the court from reaching such a conclusion. The failure to refer in the charge to other members of the unlawful assembly un-named and un-identified may conceivably raise the point as to whether prejudice would be caused to the persons before the court by reason of the fact that the charge did not indicate that un-named persons also were members of the unlawful assembly. But apart from the question of such prejudice which may have to be carefully considered, there is no legal bar preventing the Court of facts from holding that though the charge specified only five or more persons, the unlawful assembly in fact consisted of other persons who were not named and identified. That appears to be the true legal position in respect of the several categories of cases which may fall to be tried when a charge under Section 149 is framed.

10. In this connection, we may refer to three representative decisions of this Court. In Dalip Singh v. State of Punjab, (1953) 2 SCC 36 this Court has held that before Section 149 can be applied, the Court must be satisfied that there were at least five persons sharing the common object. It has also been held that this does not mean that five persons must always be convicted before Section 149 can be applied. If the Judge concludes that five persons were unquestionably present and shared the common object, though the identity of some of them is in doubt, the conviction of the rest would be good. In that case, this Court took the view that the evidence adduced by the prosecution did not satisfactorily prove the fact that the unlawful assembly was composed of five or more persons, and so, Section 149 was held to be inapplicable. In other words, on facts relevant for the purpose of applying Section 149 this case is similar to the case with which we are concerned in the present appeal.

11. In Bharwad Mepa Dana v. State of Bombay, (1960) 2 SCR 172 this Court was dealing with a case where twelve named persons were charged with having formed an unlawful assembly with the common object of committing the murder of three persons. At the trial before the Sessions Judge, seven of the named persons were acquitted and five were convicted under Section 302/149 and Section 302/34. On appeal, the High Court acquitted one of the convicted persons but maintained the conviction and sentence passed on the rest. The validity of the said order of conviction and sentence was challenged before this Court on several grounds, one of which was that Section 149 became inapplicable as soon as eight out of the twelve persons named as members of the unlawful assembly were acquitted. In rejecting this argument, this Court referred to the finding recorded by the High Court that the unlawful assembly in question consisted of ten to thirteen persons out of whom only four were identified and not the rest; and held that it was open to the High Court to come to such a finding. The argument which was urged against the validity of such finding was put alternatively in two forms. It was first contended that the prosecution case must be confined to the charge framed against the accused persons and the charge in the Sessions Court referred to twelve named persons as composing the unlawful assembly, and so, as soon as eight of them were acquitted, Section 149 became inapplicable. It was also urged that in coming to the conclusion that the unlawful assembly consisted of ten to thirteen persons, the High Court was making out a case of a new unlawful assembly and that was not permissible in a criminal trial. Both these arguments were repelled by this Court and it was held that there was no legal bar which prevented the High Court from coming to the conclusion that apart from the persons who were acquitted and excluding them, evidence adduced by the prosecution showed the presence of more than five persons who composed the unlawful assembly. The assembly about the existence of which the High Court has made a finding is not a new assembly but the same assembly as alleged by the prosecution. The only difference is that according to the charge, all the members of the assembly were alleged to be known, whereas on the evidence the High Court has reached the conclusion that the identity of all the members of the assembly has not been established, though the number of the members composing the assembly is definitely found to be five or more. It is on this reasoning that this Court confirmed the conviction of the appellants under Section 302/149. Thus, this decision illustrates how Section 149 can be applied even if two or more of the persons actually charged are acquitted.

12. The same principle has been enunciated by this Court in Kartar Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR 1961 SC 1787. According to this decision, it is only when the number of alleged assailants is definite and all of them are named and the number of persons found to be proved to have taken part in the incident is less than five, that it cannot be held that the assailants' party must have consisted of five or more persons. It is true that having stated this position, this Court has also observed that the fact that certain persons are named in the charge as composing an unlawful assembly, excludes the possibility of other persons to be in the said assembly especially when there is no occasion to think that the witnesses who named all the accused could have committed mistakes in recognising the assailants. It is on this observation that Mr Raghurir Singh relies. We, however, think that it would be unreasonable to read this statement as laying down an unqualified proposition that whenever persons named in the charge are alleged to constitute an unlawful assembly it is legally not permissible to the prosecution to prove during the trial that persons in addition to those named in the charge also were members of the said assembly. In other words, what this observation intends to suggest is that where persons named in the charge are alleged to compose an unlawful assembly, the Court of facts would be slow to come to the conclusion that persons other than those named in the charge were members of the said assembly. If, however, it appears on evidence that persons not so named in the charge were members of the unlawful assembly, there is no legal bar which prevents the courts from reaching that conclusion. This position can and does arise where some of the persons composing the unlawful assembly are not identified by the witnesses and they are not named. In fact, the decision in the case of Kartar Singh itself shows that this Court rejected the appellants' contention that their conviction under Sections 302 and 307, read with Section 149 was invalid. Therefore, we see no inconsistency between the observations made in this case and the earlier decisions to which we have just referred. The result is that in the circumstances of the present case, the appellants are entitled to contend that Section 149 cannot be invoked against them.”

B. Subran v. State of Kerala : (1993) 3 SCC 32:-

“8. Admittedly, none of the accused persons individually had been charged for the substantive offence of murder under Section 302 IPC. In the trial court all the six accused were charge-sheeted for an offence under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC. Other charges were also framed against the accused but only with the aid of Section 149 IPC. After the acquittal of the two accused, could the High Court convict appellant 1 for the substantive offence under Section 302 IPC (with which he had not been charged) and the appellants 2 to 4 for an offence under Sections 326/149 IPC?

9. Section 141 IPC defines an unlawful assembly to be an assembly of five or more persons, where the common object of the persons comprising that assembly is to commit any of the acts enumerated in the five clauses of that Section. Section 149 IPC reads as under:

“149. Every member of unlawful assembly guilty of offence committed in prosecution of common object. If an offence is committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly, or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person who, at the time of the committing of that offence, is a member of the same assembly, is guilty of that offence.”

10. A combined reading of Section 141 and Section 149 IPC (supra) show that an assembly of less than five members is not an unlawful assembly within the meaning of Section 141 and cannot, therefore, form the basis for conviction for an offence with the aid of Section 149 IPC. The effect of the acquittal of the two accused persons by the High Court and without the High Court finding that some other known or unknown persons were also involved in the assault, would be that for all intent and purposes the two acquitted accused persons were not members of the unlawful assembly. Thus, only four accused could be said to have been the members of the assembly but such an assembly which comprises less than five members is not an “unlawful assembly” within the meaning of Section 141 IPC. The existence of an unlawful assembly is a necessary postulate for invoking Section 149 IPC. Where the existence of such an unlawful assembly is not proved, the conviction with the aid of Section 149 IPC cannot be recorded or sustained. The failure of the prosecution to show that the assembly was unlawful must necessarily result in the failure of the charge under Section 149 IPC. Consequently, the conviction of appellants 2 to 4 for an offence under Sections 326/149 IPC cannot be sustained and the same would be the position with regard to the conviction of all the appellants for other offences with the aid of Section 149 IPC also.

14. Coming now to the case of the other three appellants. Since, their conviction for an offence under Section 326 with the aid of Section 149 is not sustainable in law, we set aside their conviction under Sections 326/149 IPC. They would be responsible for their individual acts. The injuries caused by Rajan and Preman appellants 2 and 3, were with a torch, iron rod and a cycle chain. None of the injuries caused by them according to the post-mortem report were on any vital part of the body, though some of the injuries caused by blunt weapons were grievous in nature. We, therefore, convict each of the two appellants Rajan and Preman, for an offence under Section 325 IPC and sentence them to suffer rigorous imprisonment for two years each.

C. Mahendra v. State of M.P. : 2022 SCC OnLine SC 1348:-

“12. It may be noticed that the essential ingredients of Section 149 are that the offence must have been committed by any member of an unlawful assembly, and Section 141 makes it clear that it is only where five or more persons constituted an assembly that an unlawful assembly is born, provided, of course, the other requirements of the said section as to the common object of the persons composing that assembly are satisfied. To say in other words, it is an essential condition of an unlawful assembly that its membership must be five or more.

13. At the same time, it may not be necessary that five or more persons necessarily be brought before the Court and convicted. Less than five persons may be charged under Section 149 if the prosecution case is that the persons before the Court and other numbering in all more than five composed an unlawful assembly, these others being persons not identified and unnamed.

14. However, in the instant case, the persons are specifically named by the complainant and against them, after the investigation, charge-sheet was filed and all the 20 accused persons faced trial.

15. It was not the case of the prosecution that there are other unnamed or unidentified persons other than the one who are charge-sheeted and faced trial. When the other co-accused persons faced trial and have been given benefit of doubt and have been acquitted, it would not be permissible to take the view that there must have been some other persons along with the appellant in causing injuries to the victim. In the facts and circumstances, it was as such not permissible to invoke Section 149 IPC.

31. In the present matter although as per the prosecution case at the inception at the time of lodging of the F.I.R. 07 (seven) persons were made accused. Charge sheet was submitted against all the seven persons. During pendency of trial one of the said accused died (however this does not make any difference in the nomenclature of the incident). In the trial four (04) accused were acquitted of the charges levelled against them. Two appellants who had preferred this appeal were also acquitted of the charges levelled against them but were convicted for an offence under Section 323 I.P.C. with the aid of Section 149 I.P.C. This appeal thus has been preferred by them.

The several categories of cases which come before the criminal courts for their decision with regard to the essential ingredients of an offence specified by Section 149 I.P.C. can be listed as under:

- A. By any member of an unlawful assembly,
- B. It is only where five or more persons constituted an assembly that an unlawful assembly is born,
- C. The common object of the persons composing that assembly are satisfied.
- D. Five persons or more were named in the charge as persons composing the unlawful assembly and evidence led in the course of the trial is confined only to the said five persons or more.
- E. As soon as two of the five named persons are acquitted, the assembly must be deemed to have been composed of only three persons and that clearly cannot be regarded as an unlawful assembly.
- F. If five or more persons are named in the charge as composing an unlawful assembly and evidence adduced by the prosecution proves that charge against all of them.

G. The other persons so named may not be available for trial along with their companions for the reason, for instance, that they have absconded. In such a case, the fact that less than five persons are before the Court does not make Section 149 inapplicable.

H. In order to bring home a charge under Section 149 it is not necessary that five or more persons must necessarily be brought before the court and convicted. Similarly, less than five persons may be charged under Section 149 if the prosecution case is that the persons before the Court and others numbering in all more than five composed an unlawful assembly, these others being persons not identified and so not named. In such a case, if evidence shows that the persons before the Court along with unidentified and un-named assailants or members composed an unlawful assembly, those before the Court can be convicted under Section 149 though the un-named and un-identified persons are not traced and charged.

I. The prosecution names five or more persons and alleges that they constituted an unlawful assembly. In such cases, if both the charge and the evidence are confined to the persons named in the charge and out of the persons so named two or more are acquitted leaving before the court less than five persons to be tried, then Section 149 cannot be invoked. Even in such cases, it is possible that though the charge names five or more persons as composing an unlawful assembly, evidence may nevertheless show that the unlawful assembly consisted of some other persons as well who were not identified and so not named. In such cases, either the trial court or even the High Court in appeal may be able to come to the conclusion that the acquittal of some of the persons named in the charge and tried will not necessarily displace the charge under Section 149 because along with the two or three persons convicted were others who composed the unlawful assembly but who have not been identified and so have not been named. In such cases, the acquittal of one or more persons named in the charge does not affect the validity of the charge under Section 149 because on the evidence the Court of facts is able to reach the conclusion that the persons composing the unlawful assembly nevertheless were five or more than five.

J. The failure to refer in the charge to other members of the unlawful assembly un-named and un-identified may conceivably raise the point as to whether prejudice would be caused to the persons before the court by reason of the fact that the charge did not indicate that un-named persons also were members of the unlawful assembly. But apart from the question of such prejudice which may have to be carefully considered, there is no legal bar preventing the Court of facts from holding that though the charge specified only five or more persons, the unlawful assembly in fact consisted of other persons who were not named and identified.

32. The acquittal of four accused rendered Section 149 I.P.C. inapplicable in this case as only two accused were convicted.

33. In the present matter since no such situation arose warranting charging of the accused under Section 149 I.P.C. and none of the characters are involved this Court holds that the accused-appellants cannot be convicted with the aid of Section 149 I.P.C. as only two (2) accused were convicted by the trial court. This Court thus finds that the impugned judgement and order is totally illegal and such the same is hereby set aside.

34. The appeal is allowed.

Criminal Law - Appreciation of evidence - Procedural safeguards in recovery cases - Investigating agency must follow statutory procedure scrupulously - Failure to comply with safeguards affecting fairness of trial - Conviction set aside and appellant acquitted. (Paras 42, 43, 44, 45, 47)

Held: The question for consideration was whether the conviction under S. 25 Arms Act, 1959, was justified being founded on the same evidence that led to the acquittal of the appellant of the charge under Ss. 399/402 IPC - the trial court itself noted discrepancies in the evidence and acquitted the accused under Ss. 399/402 IPC on the ground that the witnesses could not have heard what the accused were discussing and thereby disbelieved the prosecution case to that extent - the court cannot act selectively and pick and choose between the evidence - no independent witness from the place around the place of arrest was examined though the place was adjacent to a busy road - the Ravangi GD entry was not proven by the prosecution and no cogent explanation was forthcoming for its non-production - no armourer or ballistic expert's report was produced to establish that the seized firearms were functional - sanction under S. 39 of the Arms Act is not a mere formality and it must be shown that the sanction was granted after applying mind - the sanction order suffers from infirmities and lacuna and cannot be upheld - the prosecution failed to prove that the seized arms were properly sealed at the time of recovery - there is no evidence on record to show that the objects recovered satisfied the definition of arm, ammunition or firearm as contained in the Arms Act - the absence of corroborative and technical evidence creates reasonable doubt and conviction under S. 25 Arms Act cannot be sustained merely on police testimony and that of an independent witness procured by the police - the judgment and order of conviction passed by the trial court is not sustainable and is liable to be set aside and the appellant is acquitted of the charge under S. 25 of the Arms Act – Appeal allowed. 1. The present criminal appeal had been preferred by the appellant Chandrapal Yadav, son of Nanha Singh and Azad Singh son of Ujagar Lal under s. 374(2) Cr.P.C., being aggrieved by the Judgment and order dated 27-05-1988 by which the appellant Chandrapal Yadav and Azad Singh, along with co accused/non appellant Sheo Dutt were convicted of the charge under s.25 Arms Act,1959, in consolidated Sessions Trial case number 133 to 136 of 1987, State Vs. Sheo Dutt & Others, under sections.25 Arms Act and ss.399/402 IPC. by the Court of Special Judge (Dacoity Affected Area Act), Police Station Sikandra, District Kanpur Dehat, and were sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of 1 year and no default sentence was imposed.

2. The appellants were acquitted of the Charges under s.399/402 IPC, and no State appeal has been filed against the order of acquittal. During the pendency of the appeal, the appellant Chandrapal Yadav died and by order dated 08-01-2026 of this court, the appeal against appellant number 1 Chandrapal son of Nanha Singh stands abated.

3. The appellant, along with one other co-accused, were arrested by a police party on receiving information from an informant that a few persons had assembled and were making preparations for committing dacoity in the house of someone. The other two co-accused had made good their escape from the place of assembly, who were identified by the leader of arresting police party, PW-2 SSO Chandrapal Singh. The accused Digvijay and Gopal Singh, who had earlier escaped from the spot, later on surrendered before the court. The arrest and recovery memorandum has been proved as Exhibit Ka'1 by the prosecution. The case was investigated, and charge sheets were submitted separately under s.399/402 IPC bearing case crime number 140/87 against accused Sheo Dutt, Chandrapal Yadav, Azad Singh, and Digvijay Singh on 27-10-87 before the Court of Special Judge(Dacoity Affected Areas)Act,1981, and cognizance of the offence under the sections was taken by the court on 16-11-87 and against accused Gopal Singh on 28-11-87 and cognizance was taken on 07-12-87. Charge sheet in case crime number 141/87 under the Arms Act was filed before the court of Special Judge(Dacoity Affected Areas)Act,1981 against the accused Sheo Dutt on 27-10-87, and cognizance was taken by the court on 16-11-87. Charge sheet in case crime number 142/87 under the Arms Act was filed before the court of Special Judge(Dacoity Affected Areas)Act, 1983 against the accused Chandrapal Yadav on 27-10-87 and cognizance was taken by the court on 16-11-87. Charge sheet in case crime number 143/87 under the Arms Act was filed before the court of Special Judge(Dacoity Affected Areas)Act, 1983, against the accused Azad Singh on 27-10-87, and cognizance was taken by the court on 16-11-87.

4. The accused appeared before the court, and charges were framed against the accused under sections 399/402 IPC in case crime number 140/87 and under section 25 Arms Act in case crime numbers 141/87. 142/87 and 143/87 respectively on 08-01-1988. The accused denied the charge and claimed to be tried.

5. The accused were on bail during the trial. The proceedings under s.399/402 IPC and those under s.25 Arms Act, against the three accused viz. Sheo Dutt, Chandrapal Yadav and Azad Singh were consolidated as they were founded on the same evidence.

6. The prosecution examined 4 witnesses in support of their case, the details of which are as follows: ?

7. After the conclusion of the prosecution's evidence, statements of the accused were recorded under s.313 Cr.P.C wherein the witnesses alleged false implication in the case by the police and have stated that no recovery of any firearm from their possession was made.

8. The accused were given an opportunity to give evidence in their defence but no evidence was produced.

9. Arguments were heard, and the trial court acquitted all accused of charges under Sections 399/402 of the IPC but convicted accused Sheo Dutt, Chandrapal Yadav and Azad Singh under Section 25 of the Arms Act. Hence the present appeal.

10. The State preferred no appeal against the order of acquittal of the appellant under s.399/402 IPC, and acquittal under Sections 399/402 IPC has attained finality.

11. PW-1 SI Sharda Prasad Tripathi, in his Examination in Chief, has stated that on 4/5-10-1987, he was posted as SI at Police Station Sikandara and at 10:05 pm, he received information from a Mukhbir that in the vicinity of, towards south of Sikandara Chauraha, a group of 5-6 persons was to assemble in a Berry Orchard and were preparing to commit dacoity in house of Mithesh Kumar of Sikandra and on information received, he, along with SO Sikandra(PW-3) and a contingent of Inspector Hari Shankar, HC Devi Charan and 7 other constables proceeded towards the spot and also procured the presence of Ram Suresh, Ravindra Kumar to the place indicated and when they reached the place near Microwave tower, they all divided themselves into three teams and surrounded the people assembled there and after a brief challenge, two of the five persons succeeded in escaping and three persons were arrested from the spot and illegal fire arms and cartridges were recovered from their possession. The three arrested persons were Sheo Dutt, Chandrapal and Azad Singh. The memorandum of recovery of the illegal weapons seized and arrest was prepared by him under the directions of the SO Chandrapal Singh(PW-2). The names of two persons who had escaped were disclosed by the arrested persons as Gopal Singh and Digvijay Singh.

12. PW-2 Chandra Pal Singh was the Station Officer on 5/6-10-1987 and led the police party to the place where he had arrested 3 persons from the spot, viz. Sheo Dutt, Chandrapal and Azad Singh, as per the information received, 5-6 persons were to assemble in preparation for dacoity and has proved recovery and arrest memorandum as Exhibit Ka'1.

13. PW-3 is the investigation officer of the case and has prepared the site plan of the place of recovery and arrest of accused, and has obtained sanction to prosecute co accused Sheo Dutt accused/appellant Chandrapal Yadav, Azad Singh and has filed charge sheets against the accused after concluding the investigation.

14. PW-4 is a witness of fact and in his examination in Chief, has stated that he was summoned by the SO Chandrapal Singh, when he had gone to the shop of one Rakesh, to accompany them, and there, he witnessed three accused being arrested from a place near the microwave tower by the police party while two persons had made good their escape. At around 11 pm at night he also witnessed the recovery of weapons made from the arrested persons. In his cross-examination, the witness stated that he did not know the accused persons prior to the day of arrest, and no test identification was conducted by him in regard to the accused Gopal Singh and Digvijay Singh. In his cross-examination, the witness stated that the place of arrest was 3-4 furlongs from the police station Sikandra, and the orchard abuts a road where traffic moves 24 hrs.

15. Heard learned Counsel for the appellant Azad Singh and learned AGA for the respondents/State of UP and perused the record.

16. The appellant along with the other two co-accused Chandrapal and Sheo Dutt was convicted of an offence under Section 25 of the Arms Act, and acquitted of the charge under Section 399/402 IPC. Hence the present appeal.

17. Learned counsel for appellant has submitted that the appellant, along with other co-accused in aforesaid case crime number, have been falsely implicated in the case and the fact of false implication is strengthened by factum of acquittal recorded by the trial court acquitting the appellant of charge under sections 399/402 IPC by reaching a conclusion that in absence of independent corroborative evidence in regard to the fact that the appellant, along with the other co-accused, had assembled in preparation to commit offence of dacoity but conviction of appellant on same evidence under s.25 of Arms Act manifests non application of Judicial Mind, is total ignorance of the fact that there was no independent witness of recovery of the alleged illegal fire arms from possession of the appellant and there was no report of ballistic expert to corroborate the fact that the recovered fire arms were in a functional state to classify them as weapon. The fact of the matter is that the police had wrongly roped in the appellant as accused due to personal grudge that the police had against the accused persons.

18. Learned AGA has strongly contradicted the arguments forwarded by the counsel for the appellant and has submitted that the trial court has rightly convicted the appellant of charge under s.25 Arms Act, 1959, as the fact of possession of illicit firearms by the appellant is substantiated by evidence and the recovery of weapons is duly proved and the sanction to prosecute was granted by the District Magistrate after due examination of weapons and due application of mind.

19. Perusal of the judgment of the trial court shows that the trial court has acquitted the accused of the charge under sections 399/402 IPC and no appeal has been preferred by the State against the order of acquittal and the order of acquittal under sections has attained finality.

20. Now the question that comes up for consideration is as to whether the conviction of the appellant under section 25 Arms Act, 1959, is justified, being founded on the same evidence that led to the acquittal of the appellant of the charge under section 399/402 IPC ?

21. Perusal of the record of the trial court reveals that the prosecution did not tender the Ravangi GD and the report of the ballistic expert in evidence before the trial court.

22. The question now arises as where the prosecution's case rests solely on the recovery of alleged illegal firearms and cartridges from the physical possession of the accused, to what extent it would affect the prosecution's case?

23. Learned counsel argued that the conviction under Section 25 of the Arms Act is unsustainable, as it rests on the same evidence which led to the acquittal under Sections 399/402 IPC. He emphasised that the PW-4 Ram Suresh is a chance witness or rather a witness procured by the police to lend credence to the proceeding although the place of arrest is an orchard adjacent to a busy road, but the recovery memo nowhere suggests that the arresting party had made an effort to obtain evidence of people passing by and the dacoits, though armed, did not fire at the police party to save themselves from arrest and to escape. Absence of independent witnesses, non-production of Ravangi GD entries before the court and absence of ballistic verification create serious doubts regarding the prosecution's case. It was submitted that the trial court's approach, while convicting the appellant under s.25 Arms Act reflects the non-application of the judicial mind.

24. Learned AGA contended that the conviction was rightly recorded. He argued that the recovery of illicit firearms was duly proved, the weapons were produced before the court, and sanction to prosecute was granted by the District Magistrate after due examination and application of mind. The learned AGA further submits that the prosecution's case is substantiated by the recovery of illegal arms and ammunition from the appellant and the non-production of Ravangi GD before the trial Court is merely a lapse on the part of the prosecution, and the appellant will not get any advantage.

25. Perusal of record shows that the prosecution's case rests on police testimony and the testimony of sole independent witness, PW-4 Ram Suresh, who was summoned by the police before arresting the alleged miscreants/dacoits, and he was with the police from 10:15 pm onwards and remained with the police till ten minutes after the arrest of the appellant. In his cross-examination, the witness stated that he had heard the accused persons talking for around 45 minutes and had supported the prosecution's case. As per the recovery memorandum Exhibit Ka'1 and evidence of PW-2, the accused Digvijay and Gopal Singh, who were able to escape from the spot, were known to the SO Chandrapal Singh since before the incident which led to registration of the present case and were identified by him while escaping.

26. The trial Court Judge, in its Judgment, himself noted discrepancies in the evidence of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-4 regarding what had transpired between the accused while they were planning and preparing to commit dacoity on the date of arrest of the accused persons, and the trial court has acquitted the appellant and the accused Sheo Dutt and the other two accused of charges under s.399/402 IPC on the ground that the witnesses were at such a distance that they could not have heard what the accused were discussing and thereby disbelieved the prosecution's case to that extent and did not find evidence of an independent witness worthy to convict the accused under section 399/402 IPC. The court cannot act selectively and pick and choose between the evidence.

27. No independent witness from the place around the place of arrest was examined, though recovery allegedly took place late at night from a secluded place, but the place is adjacent to a busy road. The Ravangi GD entry, which is a procedural safeguard against fabrication, was not proven by the prosecution and is not on record, and no cogent explanation has been forthcoming from the prosecution side for non-production thereof. No armourer or ballistic expert's report was produced to establish that the seized firearms were functional. Insofar as the sanction to prosecute under s.39 of the Arms Act is concerned, the prosecution has proved the same as Exhibit Ka'4 to Exhibit Ka 5.

28. So far as the question of grant of sanction is concerned, mere filing of a document along with other papers submitted at the time of police report, cannot be said to be a proper compliance with giving evidence to prove the requirement of Section 39 of the Arms Act. Section 39 of the Arms Act provides that a previous sanction of the District Magistrate is necessary for the prosecution against any person in respect of any offence under Section 39. Sanction under Section 29 of the Arms Act is not a mere formality. It has to be proved that it was granted by the District Magistrate after applying his mind. It must be shown that the firearm or weapon with respect to which the sanction was prayed was actually taken to the authority concerned, and after looking at the relevant papers, understanding and after applying his mind, the sanction was granted.

29. In the present case, there is no due application of mind by the sanctioning authority. It must appear from the sanction order itself that actually application of mind has been made, and the Officer granting the sanction order was fully aware of the facts of the case. It does not speak any word about the date on which the offence was committed, the manner in which the accused was arrested or the manner of making search and seizure and recovery of the arms. Sanctioning the prosecution of a person could not be an act to issue a licence for the sale of arms or any commodity, as is done by the officers of the Executive.

30. At this juncture, Section 3(4) Cr.P.C. assumes relevance and is being reproduced below ?

"s.3(4) Where, under any law, other than this Code, the functions exercisable by a Magistrate relate to matters-

(a) which involve the appreciation or sifting of evidence or the formulation of any decision which exposes any person to any punishment or penalty or detention in custody pending investigation, inquiry or trial or would have the effect of sending him for trial before any Court, they shall, subject to the provisions of this Code, be exercisable by a Judicial Magistrate; or

(b) which are administrative or executive in nature, such as, the granting of a licence, the suspension or cancellation of a licence, sanctioning prosecution or withdrawing from a prosecution, they shall, subject as aforesaid, be exercisable by an Executive Magistrate."

31. Order granting Sanction under s.39 of the Arms Act, 1959, an act which forms part of the judicial function of an officer of the Executive, which is defined by Section 3(4) of the Cr.P.C. It might be an administrative executive action, but the function ultimately being of putting a person on trial for a particular offence, it could really be quasi-judicial in nature, which could have an administrative tinge. It was required that the District Magistrate, Kanpur Dehat, ought to have indicated facts of the case and other details of it sufficiently in his sanction order, to indicate that the order has been passed on due application of mind, but the sanction order suffers from infirmities and lacuna, and it cannot be upheld.

32. The Investigating officer of the case, PW-3 Rameshwar Singh, in his examination in chief, has stated that he had obtained the Sanction orders to prosecute on 26-10-87, and he nowhere states that he had produced the recovered seized weapons before the District Magistrate in a sealed state for his examination at the time of obtaining the sanction order.

33. The recovery memorandum Exhibit Ka'1 shows that the weapons and cartridges recovered were sealed separately on the spot but the fact that the weapons were produced in sealed state is not verifiable from the statement of PW-1 or PW-2 and nowhere it is mentioned, either in the recovery memorandum or statements of PW-1, PW-2 or PW-4 as to whose seal had been applied on the sealed items and the seals have not been produced before the trial court for its examination and comparison with seals that had been applied to the seized weapons and cartridges.

34. Production of seal is necessary before the trial court to establish authenticity of recovery. Non-production is generally fatal unless corroborated by strong independent evidence. The seal impression must be produced in court and compared with the seal on seized property. If seals are not produced, courts presume possibility of tampering, and benefit of doubt goes to the accused.

35. The prosecution's failure to prove that the seized arms were properly sealed at the time of recovery is a serious evidentiary lapse. Courts have consistently emphasized that sealing is not a mere formality?it is a safeguard against tampering, substitution, or fabrication of material evidence. Since conviction under Section 25 Arms Act hinges on authenticity of recovery, absence of sealing proof undermines the prosecution's case. In firearm cases, this lapse is compounded if there is also no armourer/ballistic report or no independent witnesses, making conviction under the Arms Act highly vulnerable.

36. Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of State of Rajasthan v. Daulat Ram (AIR 1980 SC 1314), wherein recovery of contraband opium was the subject matter in issue, held that the failure to prove proper sealing and safe custody of seized contraband fatally undermines the prosecution case, as it creates a serious doubt about tampering or substitution. This principle has since been applied to Arms Act cases as well, and the Court held that the absence of proof regarding sealing and safe custody of seized articles creates a fatal gap in the prosecution case.

37. The trial Court has ignored the aforementioned important aspects regarding the procedure that the arresting officer was to comply at the time of recovery. The whole process of recovery of alleged illegal arms and ammunition and sanction of prosecution comes under the shadow of doubt.

38. There is no evidence on record to show that the investigating officer asked for sanction, and nothing has been brought on record to suggest that the country-made pistol was made available to the District Magistrate at the time of granting sanction under section 39 of the Arms Act. The investigating officer nowhere states that he had produced the recovered items in a sealed state before the District Magistrate. Perusal of the sanction order clearly reveals the fact of the absence of a description of the weapons that were produced before the District Magistrate, and in the absence thereof, the court comes to the conclusion that the sanction to prosecute was given mechanically, without due application of mind and is unreliable and defective, but the same was not considered by the trial court.

39. In the present case, the objects allegedly seized from the appellant were not sent for any expert opinion, either to any ballistic expert or to any armourer. There is no evidence about the recovered articles sent for an FSL report or opinion of a ballistic expert to ascertain whether the bullet could have been fired from the recovered weapon. There is no evidence on record to show that the objects recovered from the appellant satisfied the definition of "arm" ", ammunition", or "firearm" as contained in the Arms Act.

40. Thus, the absence of corroborative and technical evidence creates reasonable doubt. Conviction under Section 25 Arms Act cannot be sustained merely on police testimony and that of an independent witness who has been procured by the police from the very onset when police received the information that a few miscreants were to assemble at a particular place, without making any effort to obtain independent witnesses of arrest and recovery near the place of arrest, when the place abuts a busy road with ongoing traffic, particularly when the same evidence was found insufficient to prove the charge under Sections 399/402 IPC.

41. Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Buta Singh Vs State of Punjab, 1997 SCC (Cri.) 1217, in para 4, has observed that -

"4. We need not detain ourselves to consider the statements of PW 1 and PW 2, the recovery witnesses, as we find that the prosecution's case suffers from a serious infirmity in this case. The objects allegedly seized from the appellant were not sent for any expert opinion, either to the ballistic expert or to any armourer. There is no evidence on the record to show that the objects recovered from the appellant satisfied the definition of "arm" "ammunition" or "firearm" as contained in the Arms Act. In the absence of any such evidence, the conviction of the appellant cannot be sustained. This appeal consequently succeeds and is allowed. The conviction and sentence of the appellant are set aside, and he is hereby acquitted."

42. Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of D. K Basu v. State Of W.B . (1997) 1 SCC 416 opined: "We are conscious of the fact that the police in India have to perform a difficult and delicate task, particularly in view of the deteriorating law and order situation, communal riots, political turmoil, student unrest, terrorist activities, and among others the increasing number of underworld and armed gangs and criminals. Many hard-core criminals like extremists, terrorists, drug peddlers, smugglers who have organized gangs, have taken strong roots in society. It is being said in certain quarters that with more and more liberalisation and enforcement of fundamental rights, it would lead to difficulties in the detection of crimes committed by such categories of hardened criminals by soft peddling interrogation. It is felt in those quarters that if we lay too much of emphasis on the protection of their fundamental rights and human rights, such criminals may go scot-free without exposing any element or iota of criminality, with the result that the crime would go unpunished and in the ultimate analysis, the society would suffer. The concern is genuine, and the problem is real. To deal with such a situation, a balanced approach is needed to meet the ends of justice. This is all the more so in view of the expectation of society that police must deal with criminals in an efficient and effective manner and bring to book those who are involved in the crime. The cure cannot, however, be worse than the disease itself."

43. In the case of State of Punjab v. Baldev Singh, 1999 INSC 282 (Jul 21, 1999), in para 57, sub-para 4, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has drawn a conclusion that ?

"(4) That there is indeed a need to protect society from criminals. The societal intent in safety will suffer if persons who commit crimes are let off because the evidence against them is to be treated as if it does not exist. The answer, therefore, is that the investigating agency must follow the procedure as envisaged by the statute scrupulously, and the failure to do so must be viewed by the higher authorities seriously, inviting action against the official concerned so that the laxity on the part of the investigating authority is curbed. In every case, the result is important, but the means to achieve it must remain above board. The remedy cannot be worse than the disease itself. The legitimacy of the judicial process may come under a cloud if the court is seen to condone acts of lawlessness conducted by the investigating agency during search operations, and may also undermine respect for the law and may have the effect of unconscionably compromising the administration of justice. That cannot be permitted. An accused is entitled to a fair trial. A conviction resulting from an unfair trial is contrary to our concept of justice. The use of evidence collected in breach of the safeguards provided by Section 50 at the trial would render the trial unfair."

44. The principles laid down in the aforementioned case laws are guiding principles that the trial courts must adhere to while scrutinizing recovery evidence, be it in an Arms Act case or a case involving narcotics, and so on and so forth.

45. In the light of the above discussion, the judgment and order of conviction passed by the trial court is not sustainable and is liable to be set-aside.

46. Hence, criminal appeal filed by appellant, Azad Singh is allowed.

47. The judgment and order dated 27.05.1988 of the trial court convicting the appellant under Section 25 of the Arms Act, is hereby set-aside, and the appellant is acquitted of the said charge.

48. The appellant, Azad Singh, is already on bail. He need not surrender. His bail bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged.

49. Let a copy of this judgment and order be sent to the trial court along with the trial court record for information and necessary compliance.

THE HON'BLE JAI KRISHNA UPADHYAY, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 1618 of 2008

Ajai Pal
State of U.P.

...Appellant
Versus
...Respondent

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether the conviction of the appellant under Ss. 364A, 302 and 201 IPC and S. 25 of the Arms Act could be sustained on the basis of circumstantial evidence, namely recovery of the deceased's kurta, alleged recovery of ransom money, recovery of weapon, and test identification parade, when the appellant was not named in the FIR, no disclosure statement was recorded prior to recovery, the FSL report did not conclusively connect the weapon with the crime, and the identification proceedings were alleged to be vitiated. (Paras 12-21)

Headnotes

Criminal Law - Circumstantial Evidence - Conviction based on recoveries and identification - Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - S. 27 - Requirement of disclosure statement leading to discovery - Recovery of deceased's kurta allegedly at instance of accused - No disclosure statement of appellant recorded before recovery - Without recorded statement proving information supplied by accused, discovery becomes a simple recovery - Recovery rendered doubtful and prosecution failed to establish discovery in accordance with law. (Paras 14-15)

Criminal Law - Murder and Kidnapping for Ransom - Recovery of weapon - Forensic evidence - FSL report not conclusively linking recovered pistol with pellets recovered from body - Expert only stating that it was "possible" that pellets were from recovered pistol - Legally insufficient to connect weapon with murder - Benefit of doubt available to accused. (Para 16)

Criminal Law - Recovery of articles - Ransom money - Requirement of proving nexus between recovered currency and crime - Currency notes being unidentifiable articles of common use - No identification marks, serial numbers, stains or other distinguishing features proved - Prosecution failed to establish recovered amount as exact ransom money - Recovery could not legally be treated as ransom money. (Para 17)

Criminal Law - Evidence - Recovery proceedings - non-examination of independent witnesses - Independent witnesses to recovery available but not produced before trial court - Creates doubt regarding authenticity of recovery and prosecution version. (Para 16)

Criminal Law - Test Identification Parade - Evidentiary value - Identification parade intended only as corroborative evidence - Duty of prosecution to establish accused was kept baparda and not shown to witnesses before TIP - Investigating Officer failed to state that appellant was kept veiled while in custody or on remand - Contention that witnesses had seen appellant before TIP gained substantial weight - Evidentiary value of TIP diminished. (Paras 18-20)

Criminal Law - Circumstantial Evidence - Complete chain of circumstances - Conviction - Entire prosecution case resting on circumstantial evidence - Omission to record disclosure statement, failure to link ransom money, insufficient proof regarding pellets and weapon, and vitiated identification process - Chain of circumstances not complete - Findings of trial court not in conformity with evidence on record - Conviction unsustainable and liable to be set aside. (Paras 21-22)

Held: The prosecution failed to prove the recovery of the deceased's kurta in accordance with S. 27 of the Evidence Act, as no disclosure statement of the appellant was recorded prior to the alleged recovery. (Paras 14-15)

The FSL report did not conclusively connect the recovered pistol with the pellets found in the deceased's body, and non-examination of independent recovery witnesses created further doubt. (Para 16)

The prosecution failed to establish any nexus between the recovered ₹40,000 and the alleged ransom amount, as the currency notes were not identifiable. (Para 17)

The prosecution also failed to prove that the appellant was kept baparda before the test identification parade, thereby diminishing the evidentiary value of the identification proceedings. (Paras 18-20)

Since the prosecution case rested entirely on circumstantial evidence and the chain of circumstances was incomplete, the conviction was held unsustainable. The impugned judgment was set aside and the appellant was acquitted of all charges. Appeal allowed. (Paras 21-23) (E-7)

All the sentences will run concurrently.

5. Prosecution case in nutshell is as follows: -

(i) The complainant Ramesh Chandra Gupta has given a written complaint (Ex-ka-1) to the SHO, PS- Deoria Kalan, to the effect that on 21.03.02, at 4.30 pm, his brother, Suresh Chand Gupta was returning home from Bhatta (brick kiln) on his Hero Honda motorcycle. On the way, at the canal bridge of Bada gaon, a white coloured Maruti van bearing number UP 14/9119 was parked there, three men and a woman with short hair cut came out of the Van and they stopped his brother and took him away in that Maruti van which was seen by many people. They would identify them, if appear before them.

(ii) According to the complainant, his brother Suresh Chand was kidnapped at 5 o'clock. On the basis the written complaint, submitted by the complainant, an First Information Report was lodged on the very same day on 21.03.2002 at 18:20 pm bearing Case No. 86/02 at Deoria Kalan Police Station under Section 364A IPC. The FIR is marked as Ex-ka-2./. Investigation was subsequently initiated. During the investigation, on 30.04.2002, the Investigating Officer ensured to arrest three accused persons namely Awdhesh Gujar, Harish Shankar and Kamini Kasyap and recovered a Maruti van bearing No. UP 26A/8125 and an illegal country made pistol of 315 bore. At the same time, other accused involved in the incident came to light. Thereafter, during the further investigation on 06.05.2002, a kurta (belonging to the deceased), an illegal country-made pistol, and a ransom amount of '49,500 were recovered from the possession of the accused, Jugendra Gujar. From the accused, Ajaypal, a ransom amount of '40,000 and the weapon used in the murder were recovered. Furthermore, a ransom amount of '18,000 was recovered from the possession of the accused, Omveer. Thus, the Investigating Officer prepared the site plans-delineating the location from where the deceased was abducted, the scene where the body of the deceased, Suresh Chand Gupta, was recovered, the place of the accused's arrests and the recovery of the murder weapons (pistols), and the location where the Maruti van was recovered-and prepared the Panchayatnama (inquest report) and post-mortem report of the deceased.

(iii) The Investigating Officer identified a total of 10 accused persons involved in the case; consequently, a charge sheet was submitted to the court for trial against accused Nos. 1 to 9

(including Jugendra) following their arrest, and against the accused Guddu Yadav, who remained absconding.

(iv) Thereafter, the Magistrate took cognizance of the case after receiving the charge-sheet against the accused Jugendra and ors. on 29.07.2002, and providing the copies to the accused persons U/s 207 CrPC and finding the case to be exclusively triable by the Court of Sessions, the case of the accused Pawan was committed to the Court for trial on 03.01.2003, and the cases of the remaining accused-Jugendra, Awdhesh, Ajaypal, Ahlakar, and Omveer-were committed on 14.01.2003.

(v) Pursuant to the order dated 14.01.2003, passed by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Pilibhit, directions were issued to separate the case files of three accused persons namely Kamini Kashyap, Veerpal @ Chhote, and Harishankar, from the original case record and to forward them to the Principal Judge, Juvenile Court, Bareilly, for trial, as a result of their being juvenile delinquents. Furthermore, a charge sheet was submitted against another accused, Guddu Yadav, while he was absconding and neither he appeared before the court nor has he been arrested and produced before the court.

(vi) During the course of the trial, the proceedings against the accused persons Jugendra and Omveer have stood abated due to their demise. And currently, the case remains pending for adjudication against only four accused persons-Ajaypal, Awdhesh, and Ahlakar and Pawan.

(vii) The Court framed charges on 09.05.2003, against the accused-Ajaypal, Awdhesh, and Pawan-as well as against Jugendra (deceased) and Omveer (deceased), under Sections 364A, 302/34, and 201 of IPC. Additionally, separate charges were framed against the accused Ajaypal and Awdhesh under Section 25 of the Arms Act. The accused denied the charges levelled against them and claimed trial.

6. The prosecution has examined a total of 16 witnesses from among those proposed in the charge sheet. The details of their evidence are as follows: -

6.1. PW-1, Head Moharrir, Ramdas, has stated that on 21.3.2002, he was posted as Head Moharrir at PS Deoria kalan. On that day at 18:20 pm, on the basis of the written complaint filed by the complainant Ramesh Chand Gupta, he had prepared the copy of the report which is Ex-ka-2 (entered in GD) and chik FIR which is Ex-ka-1 A) related to the case crime no. 86/02 u/s 364A IPC in his hand-writing and signature.

6.2. PW-1 A, Ramesh Chand Gupta, the complainant and informant, stated that he lodged the FIR (Ex-ka-A) regarding the kidnapping of his real brother, Suresh Chand Gupta. He stated that on March 21, 2002, at 4:30 p.m., while returning home from his brick kiln on a motorcycle, he observed a white Maruti van bearing number UP 14/9119, parked at the Bada village canal culvert. Inside the van were three men and a woman with short hair. At approximately 5:00 p.m., these individuals kidnapped his brother and fled in the vehicle. The witness was informed of the incident by witnesses Ramu, Ajay, Babu Ram, Om, and Prakash, after which he lodged the FIR (Paper ka4/2) at the Deoria Kalan Police Station. He also stated that on March 25, 2002, Satyapal, the clerk of his brick kiln, showed him a ransom letter (Paper 9/1 and 9/2) instructing the witness to wear a white kurta-pyjama and a red scarf and meet at the bridge ahead of Mala station. Upon arriving there with Satyapal, a short, dark-complexioned man led them into the forest where they met three other armed men. Two men surrounded him from behind while two stood in front, demanding '15 lakh. After pleading, the ransom was settled at '8 lakh, to be paid on the Friday of Holi. The witness noted that two of the four men appeared to be neighbors and identified them in court. On the agreed Friday, he returned to the location with Satyapal on a motorcycle, carrying '5,37,000 in a black bag, but no one arrived to collect the money. Following this, a towel, spectacle case, documents, and another letter were found at the Bhagwatipur canal bridge. The letter claimed the miscreants did not appear because the witness had brought the police and directed him to Shamshipur village for the payment. On April 1st, the witness and seven or eight other villagers arrived at Budhana Bridge in a Tata Sumo with the '5,37,000. The miscreants met Babu Ram and Om Prakash at Shamshipur, took the money, and promised to release Suresh at the Bhadariya turn. When his brother failed to return after five days of waiting, the witness informed the Sub-Inspector. On May 6, 2002, the dead body of Suresh Chand Gupta was found. Subsequently, on June 19, 2002, the witness attended a jail identification parade where he correctly identified the accused: Jugendra, Ajaypal, Omveer, and Kamini Kashyap.

6.3. PW-2, Ramu Gupta, stated that he knew the deceased, Suresh Chand Gupta. On March 21, 2002, while traveling to Bareilly in a Gypsy with Satish Gupta and Mahip Singh, they stopped at Madhavapur around 1:00 p.m. to fill air in the tires. There, he observed a white Maruti van near the distillery; two men were outside eating eggs, while a man and a girl with short hair were sitting inside. All appeared to be outsiders. Upon returning from Bareilly at approximately 5:30 p.m., he learned in Deoria Kalan that miscreants in a Maruti van had kidnapped Suresh Chand Gupta about half an hour earlier at the Bada village canal culvert. At 5:45 p.m. that same day, he informed Ramesh Chandra Gupta about the van and the individuals he had seen in Madhavapur. The witness later attended identification proceedings at the District Jail, Pilibhit, where he identified the accused Jugendra Gujar, Kamini Kashyap, and Ajaypal. Subsequently in another identification proceedings, he identified Veerpal and Harishankar. Pointing to the accused present in court, he identified Jugendra and Ajaypal by name.

6.4. PW-3, Om Prakash, stated that he worked at the brick kiln of Mahipal Singh, who was in partnership with the kidnapped victim, Suresh Chand Gupta. Following the receipt of a ransom letter, the witness traveled to Budhanapul, District Shahjahanpur, on April 1, 2002, in a Marshall vehicle and a motorcycle. Leaving the vehicle at Budhanapul, he and Babu Ram carried '5,37,000 in a black bag to Shamshipur Ghat as instructed. After crossing the river around 4:00 p.m., they encountered three miscreants, while two others remained hidden behind trees. The miscreants directed them to a specific location with a Paakad tree and a high-plinth well on Gadhia Road to deliver the money. He and Babu Ram handed over the black bag containing the '5,37,000 to the three miscreants. Upon receiving the ransom, the men claimed Suresh Gupta would be released at Gadaria Mod, Bisalpur, at 1:00 a.m. that night. However, when the witness and his companion reached the location, Suresh was not there. The witness later identified two of the miscreants during an identification parade at District Jail, Pilibhit. Identifying the accused present in court, the witness confirmed that the individual, who identified himself as Ajaypal, was among the miscreants present when the money was taken.

6.5. PW-4, Rajnish Sharma, the Sub-District Magistrate who conducted the identification proceedings, stated that on June 19, 2002, he presided over the identification of the accused, Jugendra Gujar, Awadhesh Gujar, Ajaypal, Omveer, and Kamini Kashyap at the District Jail, Pilibhit. He stated that witness Ajay Singh correctly identified Ajaypal and Kamini Kashyap; witness Ramu Gupta identified Jugendra Gujar, Ajaypal, Omveer, and Kamini Kashyap; and witness Satish Gupta identified Awadhesh Gujar and Kamini Kashyap. Witness Babu Ram correctly identified only Omveer, while witness Om Prakash identified Jugendra and Ajaypal. Witness Rakesh Kumar failed to identify any of the accused. The witness proved the identification memo (Ex-Ka-3), confirming it was prepared in his own handwriting and bears his signature.

6.6. PW-5, Satish Gupta, stated that the deceased, Suresh Chand Gupta, was his cousin. On March 21, 2002, at approximately 1:00 p.m., while traveling toward Bareilly with Ramu Gupta, they stopped at Madhwapur to inflate their tires. Near a distillery, he observed a white Maruti van (UP 14/9119) containing two men eating eggs and a dusky-complexioned girl with short hair sitting inside; he noted they all looked like outsiders. Upon returning that evening, he learned that Suresh had been kidnapped at the Bada village canal culvert just half an hour prior. Approximately three months later, he attended identification proceedings at the Pilibhit jail, where he identified three of the five accused: Awadhesh, Omveer, and Kamini Kashyap. He confirmed he had seen them only twice'once before the kidnapping and once during the jail identification. In court, the witness identified the accused Awadhesh, noting that the other accused, including the female, were not present.

6.7. PW-6, Dr. Saubhagya Prakash, the Medical Officer at District Hospital, Pilibhit, stated that he conducted the post-mortem examination on the body of Suresh Chand Gupta on May 7, 2002, at 12:30 p.m.

General Examination: The body was approximately one month old, of average build, with rigor mortis completely subsided. Advanced decomposition was evident: soft parts were missing, eyeballs were absent, and the face was reduced to a skull. The skin had decayed and whitened in places, four teeth were missing from the upper right jaw, hair had fallen out, and maggots were present.

Ante-Mortem Injuries:

1. A circular wound mark measuring 2.5 cm x 2.5 cm, extending deep to the cavity, located on the right side of the abdomen approximately 5 cm above the navel, with surrounding blackening present.

2. A circular wound measuring 3 cm x 3 cm, deep to the cavity, and was situated on the right side of the abdomen, towards the midline, 16 cm above the navel.

3. An incised wound, measuring 9 cm x 3 cm deep to the cavity, was present on the right side of the chest, 11 cm below the right nipple.

Upon internal examination of the wounds, the organs (brain, lungs, heart, intestines, kidneys, spleen, and liver) were found to have undergone liquefaction. Fractures were detected in the 9th, 10th, and 11th ribs on the right side. Eight pellets and wads were recovered from the abdomen. The witness concluded that the cause of death was shock and hemorrhage resulting from firearm injuries. The post-mortem report (Ex-Kh-3A) was prepared in his own handwriting.

6.8. PW-7, Senior Sub-Inspector, stated that on 24.03.2003, he was posted as SHO at Deoria Kalan, succeeding SI Yashpal Singh. After initial searches in March 2002, he interrogated witnesses Satish and Shriram Gupta on 04.04.2002. On 06.04.2002, the complainant submitted ransom letters marked as Exhibits Kha/9/1 to Kha/9/4. Acting on the information of the informer, police intercepted a Maruti Van bearing number UP 26A/8125 at 2:25 AM on 30.04.2002, arresting Avdhesh Gujar, Harishankar Verma, and Kamini. From Avdhesh, a 315-bore rifle (Material Ex-1) and cartridges (Material Ex-2 and 3) were seized. From Harishankar, a 315-bore pistol (Material Ex-4) and cartridges (Material Ex-5 and 6) were recovered. Arrest and recovery memos were marked Ex-ka-3B. He stated that when the aforementioned three accused persons were interrogated separately, they led the police to the specific spot marked as 'A' in Gadha Range, where a blood-stained leaf was recovered (Ex-Ka-4 and site map Ex-Ka-5). Following the arrest of accused Ahlakar on 01.05.2002, the witness raided the residences of Jugendra Gujar, Ajaypal, and Pawan. On 06.05.2002, Jugendra Gujar was apprehended with an unlicensed 315 bore pistol and a '50 note, leading to charges under Sections 364A, 302, 201 IPC and under Section 25 Arms Act (Ex-Ka-6). A 315 bore rifle and 12 bore pistols were proved as Material Ex-7 and 8. At Jugendra's instance, Suresh Chand Gupta's body was recovered in Gadha Forest (Ex-Ka-7 and site map Ex-Ka-8). They also facilitated the recovery of '49,500/- in ransom money (Ex-Ka-9) site map (Ex-Ka-11) and photocopies (Ex-Ka-10). After recording statements from Veerpal and Ajaypal, the witness led the recovery of the deceased's kurta on 18.05.2002 (Ex-Ka-12) and site map (Ex-Ka-13). Ajaypal further led police to his house, unearthing a 12 bore pistol (Ex-Ka-14) and '40,000/- in ransom money (Ex-Ka-15) and site map (Ex-Ka-16). On 20.05.2002, accused Omveer was arrested with '18,000/- ransom money (Ex-Ka-17). In court, the witness identified '40,000/- in photocopies from Ajaypal (Material Ex-11 and 12), '18,000/- from Omveer (Material Ex-13 and 14), Ajaypal's 12 bore pistol Material (Ex-15), and the deceased's green kurta Material (Ex-16). The witness was transferred on 29.05.2002.

6.9. PW-8, Ramji Lal, final investigating officer stated that in June 2002, he took over the investigation of the case from the previous Investigating Officer, P.K. Sharma, while serving as the SHO at Deoria Kalan. He conducted identification proceedings for the accused persons, Jugendra, Awadhesh, Ajay Pal, Omveer, Kamini Kashyap, Harishankar, Veerpal alias Chhota, and Pawan Kumar, and dispatched seized articles to the Forensic Science Laboratory (FSL) in Agra. Following the investigation, he submitted a charge sheet (C.S. No. 71/02), proved as Ex-K-18, and a separate charge sheet against Pawan Kumar, proved as Ex-Ka-19. He identified the handwriting and signatures of P.K. Sharma on the site maps for the victim's "kurta" (Ex-Ka-20) and the recovery of the murder weapon and ransom money (Ex-Ka-21). He also confirmed that the identification of the accused Pawan was conducted on July 29, 2002. Furthermore, he proved the scientific reports from the FSL regarding the soil and blood-stained leaves (Ex-Ka-22) and the firearms and pellets (Ex-Ka-23).

6.10. PW-9, Constable Jitendra Pal Singh, stated that on May 7, 2002, he was serving as a Constable Clerk at the Deoria Kalan Police Station. On that day, based on a memo from SHO P.K. Sharma, he prepared the Chik FIR for Crime No. 117/02 under Section 25 of the Arms Act and recorded the General Diary (G.D.) entry, both in his own handwriting; these were proved as Ex-Ka-24 and Ex-Ka-25, respectively. On May 18, 2002, he similarly prepared the Chik FIR and G.D. entry for Crime No. 125/02, proved as Ex-Ka-26 and Ex-Ka-27. Additionally, testifying as a secondary witness, he identified the handwriting and signatures of the Constable Clerk Mahendra Singh. He affirmed that the Chik FIRs and G.D. entries for Crime Nos. 109/02 to 111/02, involving the accused Awadhesh Gujar and Harishankar Verma, were written by Mahendra Singh and proved them as Ex-Ka-31 and Ex-Ka-32.

6.11. PW-10, H.C.P. Israr Ali, stated that on May 18, 2002, he was posted at the Deoria Kalan Police Station and was assigned the investigation of Case No. 125/02 against Ajaypal under Section 25 of the Arms Act. After recording statement of witnesses and preparing a site plan of the incident spot, he submitted a charge sheet against the accused. The witness proved the charge sheet as Ex-Ka-28, the site plan as Ex-Ka-29, and the formal prosecution sanction issued by the District Magistrate as Ex-Ka-30.

6.12. PW-11, Sub-Inspector Puland Singh, stated that on May 6, 2002, while conducting vehicle checks at the Manpur T-junction, he intercepted a Maruti Van approaching from Bilsanda around 12:40 PM. The driver, identified as Veerpal alias Chhote, son of Tularam confessed that he and his accomplices had used that specific van to abduct Suresh Gupta eight days before Holi. The witness took the accused and the vehicle (Registration No. UP 14/9119), which was linked to Case Crime No. 86/02 under Section 364-A IPC, into police custody. He prepared and signed the seizure memo at the spot, which he identified and proved as Exhibit Ka-33.

6.13. PW-12, Sub-Inspector Vishanram Arya, stated that on 7.05.2002 he was posted as sub-inspector at Police Station Deoria Kalan entrusted with the investigations of Crime Nos. 109/02, 110/02, and 117/02 under Section 25 of the Arms Act against accused Avdhesh, Harishankar, and Jugendra Gujar, respectively. During the investigation, he recorded witness statements and prepared a site map of recovery for Avdhesh and Harishankar in his own handwriting (Ex-Ka-34). He proved the prosecution sanction order for Avdhesh Gujar (Ex-Ka-35) and the corresponding charge sheet (Ex-Ka-36). Regarding the country-made pistol recovered from Jugendra, he proved the site map prepared at the complainant's indication (Ex-Ka-37), the prosecution sanction order (Ex-Ka-38), and the charge sheet submitted against Jugendra (Ex-Ka-39).

6.14. PW-13, Sub-Inspector Yashpal Singh, stated that on 21.03.2002 he was posted as Sub-Inspector at the Police Station Deoria kalan and the case was registered in his presence. He initiated the investigation by communicating the information to all district police stations via wireless setup. On March 22, 2002, he recorded the complainant's statement and interrogated witnesses at the place of occurrence in Bargaon. He proved the site map of the occurrence, prepared in his own handwriting, as Ex-Ka-26. He noted that the further investigation was subsequently taken over by Station In-charge P.K. Mishra.

6.15. PW-14, Sub-Inspector Yashveer Singh, stated that on May 6, 2002; while serving as Station In-charge at Gajraula, he received a written complaint regarding the body of Suresh Kumar Gupta, which was located in the Gadha Range forest. He proceeded to the spot and conducted the inquest proceedings in the presence of witnesses (Panchan). The inquest report, dictated to H.C.P. Ranveer Singh, was proved as Ex-Ka-40. He also proved the related police documents, including the challan of the dead body (Ex-Ka-41), letter to R.I. (Ex-Ka-42), photograph of the body (Ex-Ka-43), letter to C.M.O. (Ex-Ka-44), Form No. 33 (Ex-Ka-45), and the sample seal (Ex-Ka-46). Following the inquest, the body was dispatched for post-mortem examination.

6.16. PW-15, Constable Badshah Singh, stated that on April 30, 2002, he was posted at Police Station Deoria Kalan, along with Station In-charge P.K. Sharma. On the same day at approximately 2:25 a.m., they arrested accused persons Awadhesh Gujar and Harishankar, who were found in possession of a 315-bore country-made rifle, a 315-bore country-made pistol, and several cartridges. Additionally, they apprehended Kamini Kashyap, a wanted accused in the kidnapping of Suresh Chand Gupta. The recovery and arrest memo (Ex-Ka-3-Ba) was prepared on the spot by P.K. Sharma. The witness identified and proved this document as evidence against the three accused.

6.17. PW-16, Awadhesh Kumar Tiwari, the then S.D.M. stated that on July 29, 2002; while serving as the Sub-District Magistrate in Pilibhit, he conducted a test identification parade for the accused Pawan Kumar son of Jhankar Singh, in connection with case no. 86\02 under section 364 IPC at the Government Observation Home. Witnesses Ajay Singh and Ramu Gupta correctly identified Pawan Kumar during the parade. The witness proved the identification memo (Ex-Ka-48), confirming it was prepared in his own handwriting.

7. Thereafter the statements of the accused persons, Awadhesh Gujar, Ahlakar, Ajaypal, and Pawan were recorded under Section 313 of the Cr.P.C. The accused denied all allegations, labeling the entire prosecution story as false. They specifically challenged the integrity of the identification proceedings, claiming the process was flawed because the witnesses had already seen and identified them prior to the official parade.

8. The accused persons were provided an opportunity to present evidence in their defence. In defence only Ajay Pal and his father, Ganga Ram (DW-1), were examined. Ganga Ram testified that his son, Ajaypal, is innocent and was falsely implicated. Regarding the '40,000 recovered from Ajaypal, Ganga Ram claimed the money was intended for his daughter's marriage. He explained that '20,000 had been raised by mortgaging land to Ram Vilas, while the remaining '20,000 was borrowed from his brother-in-law, Omkar. He asserted that the police staged a fake recovery of the cash to provide merit to a false case.

9. By the impugned judgment, learned trial Court has convicted and sentenced the appellant, hence this appeal is preferred by appellant Ajay Pal.

10. Learned counsel for the appellant has made the following submissions: -

(a) The appellant is neither named in the FIR nor he had abducted the deceased - Suresh Chandra Gupta, brother of the complainant and there was no evidence against the appellant while lodging the FIR by the complainant.

(b) No disclosure statement of appellant has been recorded before recovery of 'kurta' of the deceased.

(c) The recovery of alleged 'ransom money' as well as weapon are fabricated and have been falsely shown from the possession of the appellant.

(d) The witnesses were shown the appellant prior to the identification, and the Investigating Officer failed to confirm that the appellant's face was veiled (baparda) while in police custody or at the station.

(e) The witnesses of alleged recovery namely Anil Kumar Gupta and Jitendra Kumar Gupta were not produced before the trial Court.

(f) The Forensic Science Laboratory (FSL) report does not give definite opinion that the pellets recovered from body of the deceased were from the alleged country made pistol.

11. On the other hand, learned AGA for the State supporting the impugned judgment, has submitted as follows:

(a) The recovery memo regarding weapon used in the murder (Ex. Ka-14) was related to appellant Ajay Pal has been proved by Investigating Officer, P.K. Sharma (PW-7) and it was also proved by him that ransom money of Rs. 40,000/-was recovered from the 'kothari' on the indication of the appellant.

(b) The 'kurta' of the deceased was recovered at the instance of the appellant.

(c) The FSL report indicates that it is possible that the pellets recovered from the body of the deceased were from the recovered country made pistol.

(d) There is no infirmity or illegality in the impugned judgment and order. The trial court has rightly convicted the accused-appellant.

(e) The prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt; therefore, this appeal lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

12. We have considered rival contentions and have perused the trial court record in the light of raised contentions. Admittedly entire foundation of the prosecution's case against the appellant rests upon circumstantial evidence, specifically subsequent recoveries and identification during the trial.

13. It is evident from the record that the appellant, Ajaypal, was not named in the First Information Report (FIR). The complainant, Ramesh Chandra Gupta, lodged the FIR against unknown persons who were seen in a white Maruti van. At the time of the report, there was no specific evidence or information linking the appellant to the abduction of the deceased. His name and alleged involvement only surfaced much later during the police investigation.

14. The prosecution relies on the recovery of the deceased's 'kurta' at the instance of appellant as a key link in the case. We find that no disclosure statement of appellant was recorded before the recovery of such 'kurta'. Keeping in mind the aforesaid evidence, we proceed to consider whether the prosecution has been able to prove and establish the discovery in accordance with the law. Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Subramanya v. State of Karnataka, (2023) 11 SCC 255 held that:

'76. Section 27 of the Evidence Act reads thus:

'27. How much of information received from accused may be proved. 'Provided that, when any fact is deposed to as discovered in consequence of information received from a person accused of any offence, in the custody of a police officer, so much of such information, whether it amounts to a confession or not, as relates distinctly to the fact thereby discovered, may be proved.'

81. The conditions necessary for the applicability of Section 27 of the Act are broadly as under:

(1) Discovery of fact in consequence of an information received from accused;
 (2) Discovery of such fact to be deposed to;
 (3) The accused must be in police custody when he gave information; and
 (4) So much of information as relates distinctly to the fact thereby discovered is admissible ‘ Mohd. Inayatullah v. State of Maharashtra [Mohd. Inayatullah v. State of Maharashtra, (1976) 1 SCC 828: 1976 SCC (Cri) 199]. Two conditions for application:

(1) information must be such as has caused discovery of the fact; and
 (2) information must relate distinctly to the fact discovered ‘ Earabhadrapa v. State of Karnataka [Earabhadrapa v. State of Karnataka, (1983) 2 SCC 330: 1983 SCC (Cri) 447] .

83. The scope and ambit of Section 27 of the Evidence Act were illuminatingly stated in Pulukuri Kotayya v. King Emperor [Pulukuri Kotayya v. King Emperor, 1946 SCC OnLine PC 47: (1946-47) 74 IA 65: AIR 1947 PC 67], which have become locus classicus, in the following words: (SCC OnLine PC: AIR p. 70, para 10).

‘10. ‘ it is fallacious to treat the ‘fact discovered’ within the section as equivalent to the object produced; the fact discovered embraces the place from which the object is produced and the knowledge of the accused as to this, and the information given must relate distinctly to this fact. Information as to past user, or the past history, of the object produced is not related to its discovery in the setting in which it is discovered. Information supplied by a person in custody that ‘I will produce a knife concealed in the roof of my house’ does not lead to the discovery of a knife; knives were discovered many years ago. It leads to the discovery of the fact that a knife is concealed in the house of the informant to his knowledge, and if the knife is proved to have been used in the commission of the offence, the fact discovered is very relevant. But if to the statement the words be added ‘with which I stabbed A’ these words are inadmissible since they do not relate to the discovery of the knife in the house of the informant.’

84. What emerges from the evidence of the investigating officer is that the appellant-accused stated before him while he was in custody, ‘I may get discovered the murder weapon used in the incident’. This statement does not indicate or suggest that the appellant-accused indicated anything about his involvement in the concealment of the weapon. It is a vague statement. Mere discovery cannot be interpreted as sufficient to infer authorship of concealment by the person who discovered the weapon. He could have derived knowledge of the existence of that weapon at the place through some other source also. He might have even seen somebody concealing the weapon, and, therefore, it cannot be presumed or inferred that because a person discovered the weapon, he was the person who had concealed it, least it can be presumed that he used it. Therefore, even if discovery by the appellant is accepted, what emerges from the substantive evidence as regards the discovery of weapon is that the appellant disclosed that he would show the weapon used in the commission of offence.

85. In Dudh Nath Pandey v. State of U.P. [Dudh Nath Pandey v. State of U.P., (1981) 2 SCC 166: 1981 SCC (Cri) 379] , this Court observed that the evidence of discovery of pistol at the instance of the appellant cannot, by itself, prove that he who pointed out the weapon wielded it in the offence. The statement accompanying the discovery was found to be vague to identify the authorship of concealment and it was held that pointing out of the weapon may, at the best, prove the appellant's knowledge as to where the weapon was kept.

86. Thus, in the absence of exact words, attributed to an accused person, as statement made by him being deposed by the investigating officer in his evidence, and also without proving the contents of the panchnama, the High Court was not justified in placing reliance upon the circumstance of discovery of weapon.

87. In the aforesaid context, we may also refer to a decision of this Court in Bodhraj v. State of J&K [Bodhraj v. State of J&K, (2002) 8 SCC 45 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 201] , as under : (SCC pp. 58-59, para 18).

'18. ' It would appear that under Section 27 as it stands in order to render the evidence leading to discovery of any fact admissible, the information must come from any accused in custody of the police. The requirement of police custody is productive of extremely anomalous results and may lead to the exclusion of much valuable evidence in cases where a person, who is subsequently taken into custody and becomes an accused, after committing a crime meets a police officer or voluntarily goes to him or to the police station and states the circumstances of the crime which lead to the discovery of the dead body, weapon or any other material fact, in consequence of the information thus received from him. This information which is otherwise admissible becomes inadmissible under Section 27 if the information did not come from a person in the custody of a police officer or did come from a person not in the custody of a police officer. The statement which is admissible under Section 27 is the one which is the information leading to discovery. Thus, what is admissible being the information, the same has to be proved and not the opinion formed on it by the police officer. In other words, the exact information given by the accused while in custody which led to recovery of the articles has to be proved. It is, therefore, necessary for the benefit of both the accused and the prosecution that information given should be recorded and proved and if not so recorded, the exact information must be adduced through evidence. The basic idea embedded in Section 27 of the Evidence Act is the doctrine of confirmation by subsequent events. The doctrine is founded on the principle that if any fact is discovered as a search made on the strength of any information obtained from a prisoner, such a discovery is a guarantee that the information supplied by the prisoner is true. The information might be confessional or non-inculpatory in nature but if it results in discovery of a fact, it becomes a reliable information. It is now well settled that recovery of an object is not discovery of fact envisaged in the section. Decision of the Privy Council in Pulukuri Kotayya v. King Emperor [Pulukuri Kotayya v. King Emperor, 1946 SCC OnLine PC 47 : (1946-47) 74 IA 65 : AIR 1947 PC 67] is the most-quoted authority for supporting the interpretation that the 'fact discovered' envisaged in the section embraces the place from which the object was produced, the knowledge of the accused as to it, but the information given must relate distinctly to that effect. (See State of Maharashtra v. Damu [State of Maharashtra v. Damu, (2000) 6 SCC 269: 2000 SCC (Cri) 1088] .) No doubt, the information permitted to be admitted in evidence is confined to that portion of the information which 'distinctly relates to the fact thereby discovered'. But the information to get admissibility need not be so truncated as to make it insensible or incomprehensible. The extent of information admitted should be consistent with understandability. Mere statement that the accused led the police and the witnesses to the place where he had concealed the articles is not indicative of the information given.'

15. Therefore, Under Section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act, only the specific information given by an accused that leads directly to the discovery of a fact is admissible in court. Without a recorded statement to prove the appellant actually provided this information, the discovery becomes a simple recovery. As no disclosure statement was recorded in the instant matter, it becomes highly doubtful that recovery of the 'kurta' was actually made at his instance or it was planted.

16. Further, as per prosecution, a country-made pistol was recovered from Ajaypal (Ex. Ka-14) but the Forensic Science Laboratory (FSL) reports (Ex. Ka-22 and Ka-23) could not positively match the pellets found in the deceased's body to the recovered pistol. The expert only stated it was "possible" that the pellets found in the body were from the recovered pistol, which is legally insufficient to link the weapon to the murder. In Mahmood v. State of U.P. (1976) 1 SCC 542, when the expert's report is vague or provides no definite opinion, the accused cannot be linked to the murder, and the benefit of the doubt must go to the accused. It is to be noted that although two independent witnesses (Anil Kumar Gupta and Jitendra Kumar Gupta) were mentioned in the recovery memo, the prosecution never brought them to court to testify. This omission created a doubt as to the authenticity of such recovery. It is settled law that non-examination of independent witnesses to a recovery, especially when they are available, creates a doubt in the prosecution's version.

17. Regarding the recovery of '40,000 from the appellant, the prosecution is mandated to prove a clear 'nexus' between the recovered object and the alleged crime. It is a settled principle of law that currency notes are unidentifiable articles of common use; therefore, unless the prosecution can prove that the specific notes recovered carried unique identification marks, such as recorded serial numbers, distinctive stains, or other markings, that match the description of the ransom, the recovery remains unsubstantiated. In the instant matter, since there is no identification as to the currency notes and the prosecution has failed to establish that the recovered amount is the exact money given by the witnesses to the accused person, it cannot be legally held that the recovered amount was ransom money. In 2000s, while '40,000 was a significant sum, it was not an "impossible" amount for a citizen to possess, and the burden remains on the prosecution to prove the criminal origin of the money. Hence, we do not find merit in this contention of learned A.G.A..

18. Finally, a primary pillar of the prosecution's case was the identification of the appellant. It has been contended by the learned counsel for the appellant that the witnesses were deliberately shown the appellant prior to the formal identification proceedings, thereby vitiating the entire process. This contention gains substantial weight from the glaring omission in the testimony of the Investigating Officer, PW-7, who completely failed to state that the appellant was kept veiled (Baparda) when he was taken on remand or while he was at the police station. As established by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Mulla v. State of U.P., (2010) 3 SCC 508 has held:

'43. As was observed by this Court in Matru v. State of U.P. [(1971) 2 SCC 75 : 1971 SCC (Cri) 391] identification tests do not constitute substantive evidence. They are primarily meant for the purpose of helping the investigating agency with an assurance that their progress with the investigation into the offence is proceeding on the right lines. The identification can only be used as corroboration of the statement in court. (Vide Santokh Singh v. Izhar Hussain [(1973) 2 SCC 406 : 1973 SCC (Cri) 828].)

44. The necessity for holding an identification parade can arise only when the accused persons are not previously known to the witnesses. The whole idea of a test identification parade is that witnesses who claim to have seen the culprits at the time of occurrence are to identify them from the midst of other persons without any aid or any other source. The test is done to check upon their veracity. In other words, the main object of holding an identification parade, during the investigation stage, is to test the memory of the witnesses based upon first impression and also to enable the prosecution to decide whether all or any of them could be cited as eyewitnesses of the crime.

45. The identification proceedings are in the nature of tests and significantly, therefore, there is no provision for it in the Code and the Evidence Act, 1872. It is desirable that a test identification parade should be conducted as soon as possible after the arrest of the accused. This becomes necessary to eliminate the possibility of the accused being shown to the witnesses prior to the test identification parade. This is a very common plea of the accused and, therefore, the prosecution has to be cautious to ensure that there is no scope for making such allegation. If, however, circumstances are beyond control and there is some delay, it cannot be said to be fatal to the prosecution.'

19. Recently in the case of Gireesan Nair v. State of Kerala, (2023) 1 SCC 180, Hon'ble Apex Court reiterated that:

'28. We may, at the outset, note that the eyewitnesses questioned by the prosecution did not give out the names or identities of the accused participating in the riot and involved in the destruction of public property. Therefore, the IO (PW 84) had to necessarily conduct a TIP. The object of conducting a TIP is threefold. First, to enable the witnesses to satisfy themselves that the accused whom they suspect is really the one who was seen by them in connection with the crime. Second, to satisfy the investigating authorities that the suspect is the real person whom the witnesses had seen in connection with the said occurrence. Third, to test the witnesses' memory based on first impression and enable the prosecution to decide whether all or any of them could be cited as eyewitnesses to the crime (Mulla v. State of U.P. [Mulla v. State of U.P., (2010) 3 SCC 508, paras 44, 45 & 55 : (2010) 2 SCC (Cri) 1150]).

29. TIPs belong to the stage of investigation by the police. It assures that investigation is proceeding in the right direction. It is a rule of prudence which is required to be followed in cases where the accused is not known to the witness or the complainant (Matru v. State of U.P. [Matru v. State of U.P., (1971) 2 SCC 75, para 17 : 1971 SCC (Cri) 391] ; Mulla v. State of U.P. [Mulla v. State of U.P., (2010) 3 SCC 508, paras 41 & 43 : (2010) 2 SCC (Cri) 1150] and C. Muniappan v. State of T.N. [C. Muniappan v. State of T.N., (2010) 9 SCC 567, para 42 : (2010) 3 SCC (Cri) 1402]). The evidence of a TIP is admissible under Section 9 of the Evidence Act. However, it is not a substantive piece of evidence. Instead, it is used to corroborate the evidence given by witnesses before a court of law at the time of trial. Therefore, TIPs, even if held, cannot be considered in all the cases as trustworthy evidence on which the conviction of an accused can be sustained (State of H.P. v. Lekh Raj [State of H.P. v. Lekh Raj, (2000) 1 SCC 247, para 3 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 147] and C. Muniappan v. State of T.N. [C. Muniappan v. State of T.N., (2010) 9 SCC 567, para 42 : (2010) 3 SCC (Cri) 1402]).

31. In cases where the witnesses have had ample opportunity to see the accused before the identification parade is held, it may adversely affect the trial. It is the duty of the prosecution to establish before the court that right from the day of arrest, the accused was kept 'baparda' to rule out the possibility of their face being seen while in police custody. If the witnesses had the opportunity to see the accused before the TIP, be it in any form i.e. physically, through photographs or via media (newspapers, television, etc.), the evidence of the TIP is not admissible as a valid piece of evidence (Lal Singh v. State of U.P. [Lal Singh v. State of U.P., (2003) 12 SCC 554 : 2004 SCC (Cri) Supp 489] and Suryamoorthi v. Govindaswamy [Suryamoorthi v. Govindaswamy, (1989) 3 SCC 24 : 1989 SCC (Cri) 472]).

32. If identification in the TIP has taken place after the accused is shown to the witnesses, then not only is the evidence of TIP inadmissible, even an identification in a court during trial is meaningless (Sk. Umar Ahmed Shaikh v. State of Maharashtra [Sk. Umar Ahmed Shaikh v. State of Maharashtra, (1998) 5 SCC 103 : 1998 SCC (Cri) 1276]). Even a TIP conducted in the presence of a police officer is inadmissible in light of Section 162 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (Chunthuram v. State of Chhattisgarh [Chunthuram v. State of Chhattisgarh, (2020) 10 SCC 733 : (2021) 1 SCC (Cri) 9] and Ramkishan Mithanlal Sharma v. State of Bombay [Ramkishan Mithanlal Sharma v. State of Bombay, (1955) 1 SCR 903 : AIR 1955 SC 104]).

34. It is for the prosecution to prove that a TIP was conducted in a fair manner and that all necessary measures and precautions were taken before conducting the TIP. Thus, the burden is not on the defence. Instead, it is on the prosecution (Rajesh Govind Jagesha v. State of Maharashtra [Rajesh Govind Jagesha v. State of Maharashtra, (1999) 8 SCC 428, para 4 : 1999 SCC (Cri) 1452]).’

20. Accordingly, in the instant case where appellant was shown to the witnesses before any formal identification, and PW’7 (the Investigating Officer) did not say anywhere that the appellant was kept veiled (baparda) while in custody or on remand, the value of TIP diminishes.

21. In view of the aforesaid discussions and the facts and circumstances of the case, we are of the view that the findings recorded by the learned Trial Court in the impugned judgment are not in conformity with the evidence on record. The prosecution case rests entirely on circumstantial evidence; however, the chain of circumstances is far from complete. Notably, omission to record the disclosure statement of the appellant, failure to link the ransom money to the appellant, insufficient proof as to the fact that pellets found in the body of deceased were of the pistol of accused and finally vitiated process of test identification parade goes to the root of the prosecution.

22. Consequently, the judgment of conviction of learned trial Court is found to be unsustainable in the eyes of the law and is liable to be set aside. Accordingly, impugned judgment and order dated 28.02.2008 is hereby set aside and the appellant Ajay Pal is acquitted of all the charges and bail bond of the appellant is discharged.

23. Criminal appeal is allowed.

24. Let a copy of this judgment alongwith trial court record be sent to the concerned Chief Judicial Magistrate/Trial Court for compliance.

25. Sri Abhishek Kumar Jaiswal, Advocate appointed by the High Court Legal Services Committee is held entitled to his professional fee of Rs. 15,000/- which shall be paid to him within two weeks of raising of bill by him.

Criminal Appeal No. 2034 of 1984

Ranvir Singh & Ors.

...Appellants

Versus

State of U.P.

...Respondent

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether conviction under Ss. 302/34 IPC could be sustained on the basis of prosecution evidence in view of doubtful ocular testimony, admitted enmity, material contradictions, non-examination of a material witness and lack of reliable corroboration. (Paras 16-38)

Headnotes

Criminal Law - Murder - Sustainability of conviction based on testimony of alleged eye-witnesses whose presence at the place of occurrence was doubtful and whose evidence contained material contradictions and improvements - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 302, 34 - Informant admittedly not present at the place of occurrence at the time of incident; alleged eye-witnesses found unreliable; conduct of witnesses unnatural; testimony not inspiring confidence - Conviction cannot be sustained on doubtful ocular evidence. (Paras 17-24, 36-38)

Criminal Law - Appreciation of Evidence - Effect of material improvements and contradictions in statements of prosecution witnesses - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - S. 161 - Where witnesses introduce material facts in Court which were not stated before the Investigating Officer, such improvements affect credibility and render evidence unsafe for reliance. (Paras 18, 20, 21, 33, 36)

Criminal Law - Benefit of Doubt - Whether suspicion arising from previous hostility can substitute legal proof - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 302, 34 - Suspicion, however grave, cannot take the place of proof; conviction must rest upon clear, cogent and unimpeachable evidence proving guilt beyond reasonable doubt. (Paras 25-29)

Criminal Law - Enmity - Effect of admitted civil and criminal litigation between parties - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 302, 34 - Enmity is a double-edged weapon; while it may furnish motive for commission of offence, it may equally furnish motive for false implication; in absence of reliable evidence conviction cannot be founded merely on existence of enmity. (Paras 18, 24-29)

Criminal Law - Recovery Evidence - Evidentiary value of articles allegedly belonging to accused recovered from place of occurrence - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 302, 34 - Recovery of cap (topa), muffler and waist-cloth (tahmad) from spot not conclusively connected with accused; no witness capable of identifying such articles as regularly used by accused examined - Recovery held insufficient to connect accused with crime. (Paras 31-33)

Criminal Law - Investigation - Non-examination of material witness and failure to recover weapon of offence - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Investigation proceedings - non-production of material witness named in charge-sheet and absence of recovery of firearm or knife from accused constitute circumstances creating serious doubt regarding prosecution version. (Paras 34-35)

Criminal Law - Assessment of Ocular Evidence - Occurrence allegedly witnessed at 06:30 A.M. in first week of January amidst heavy fog - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 302, 34 - Claim of witnessing occurrence held doubtful where surrounding circumstances relating to visibility rendered prosecution version suspect. (Para 30)

Criminal Law - Appeal Against Conviction - Failure of Trial Court to properly appreciate evidence - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 302, 34 - Trial Court having ignored major contradictions, doubtful conduct of witnesses and infirmities in prosecution case, conviction held unsustainable; accused entitled to acquittal by extending benefit of doubt. (Paras 37-39)

Held: The prosecution failed to establish guilt beyond reasonable doubt - The alleged eye-witnesses were found unreliable due to doubtful presence, material contradictions, improvements and unnatural conduct - Recovery evidence was inconclusive and a material witness was withheld. (Paras 17-24, 31-36)

Suspicion, however grave, cannot take the place of proof - Mere enmity, in the absence of cogent and reliable evidence, cannot sustain conviction. (Paras 25-29)

Conviction under Sections 302/34 IPC was set aside and the appellant acquitted -appeal allowed. (Paras 37-39) (E-7)

APPELLATE JURISDICTION: Criminal Appeal arising out of the judgment and order dated 26.07.1984 passed in Sessions Trial No. 163 of 1979 arising out of Case Crime No. 4 of 1979, under Section 302/34 IPC, Police Station Muradnagar, District Ghaziabad, whereby the accused-appellants were convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Appellant:

Mr. Rahul Misra, learned counsel for the surviving appellant.

Advs. for the Respondents:

Mr. G.N. Kanaujiya, learned A.G.A.-I for the State/opposite party.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vinai Kumar Dwivedi, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Rahul Misra, learned counsel for the surviving appellant, Omkar; Mr. G.N. Kanaujiya, learned A.G.A.-I for the State/opposite party and perused the record.

2. This criminal appeal has been filed by accused-appellants, Ranvir Singh, Omkar, Mangey Ram and Hem Raj Singh against the judgment and order dated 26.07.1984 of learned Trial Court passed in Sessions Trial No. 163 of 1979 (State v. Ranvir Singh and others) arising out of Case Crime No. 4 of 1979, under Section 302/34 IPC, Police Station Muradnagar, District Ghaziabad.

3. Brief facts of the case are that informant Gajraj Singh (PW-7) got scribed the written report, Exhibit Ka-10, by Bhanwar Singh and lodged an F.I.R., Exhibit Ka-2, on 05.01.1979 at 07:00 A.M. against Ranvir Singh, Omkar Singh, Mangey Ram and Hem Raj Singh alleging inter alia that "litigation is going on between us and our uncle Ranvir and grandfather Chunni, who have been living for some time in village Pathauli, and they have executed an agreement of the land in favour of Mangey Ram and Hem Raj of our village, and now both the parties have joined together. My father, who was pursuing the land case, while he was alive, these people had no hope of winning the case. Therefore, they were planning to kill my father (Shyam Singh). Today on 05.01.1979 at about 6:30 A.M., my father and my maternal uncle (Segram) were coming from the jungle when they reached near Mahavir's chak and the fields of Brahmapal Singh, then from the sugar-cane field of Mahavir Singh, Ranvir Singh s/o Chunni, Omkar Singh s/o Ranvir Singh, Mangey Ram and Hem Raj s/o Chhajju Singh came out and all four surrounded my father. Ranvir Singh and Hem Raj had knives in their hands. Mangey Ram and Omkar Singh had country-made pistols. These persons said that today we will give you taste of litigation. All of them suddenly attacked upon him with country-made pistols and knives and caused injuries to him. After receiving injuries, he fell down and succumbed to death. This incident was witnessed by Segram s/o Dharm Singh, resident of village Saidpur, Balkishan s/o Harpal Singh, Veersen s/o Aman Singh, Jhabbar Singh s/o Itwara, resident of village Abupur. My father's dead body is lying at the spot. Please get my report lodged and appropriate action be taken."

4. After lodging the written report, Exhibit Ka-10, an F.I.R. was registered against the accused-appellants at Case Crime No. 4 of 1979, under Section 302 IPC by Constable 498 Satyapal Singh (PW-2) on 05.01.1979 at 07:00 AM. On receiving information about the incident, Ram Charan Lal Sharma (PW-11) reached at the spot with police team including S.I. Ramraj and S.I. P.D. Sharma. On the direction of Ram Charan Lal Sharma (PW-11), S.I. P.D. Sharma conducted panchayatnama of the dead body of deceased, Shyam Singh, and prepared the same, Exhibit Ka-5. S.I. P.D. Sharma also prepared challan nash, Exhibit Ka-6, letter to C.M.O., Exhibit Ka-7, photo nash, Exhibit Ka-8, letter to R.I., Exhibit Ka-9. S.I. P.D. Sharma also took sample of bloodstained soil and plain soil and prepared fard memo as Exhibit Ka-20 and Ka-21. He also collected four live cartridges, two empty cartridges, one plastic tikli (button), five chindi, one striped waist-cloth (tahmad dharidar), one muffler and one cap (topa) from the place of occurrence and prepared recovery memo, Exhibit Ka-13. From the place of occurrence, S.I. P.D. Sharma collected burnt clothes, hair and two teeth stuck with muscle of deceased, Shyam Singh. He also collected kheru of white colour bloodstained on which mark of cut and burn was present and prepared fard, Exhibit Ka-14, and burn clothes, Exhibit Ka-22. Investigating Officer Ram Charan Lal Sharma (PW-11) prepared site plan of the place of occurrence as Exhibit Ka-11. The dead body of the deceased, Shyam Singh, was sent for conducting post mortem examination. The Investigating Officer recorded the statement of the witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C. He also sent all articles and objects collected from the place of occurrence for chemical examination to Forensic Science Laboratory. After completing all formalities of the investigation, Investigating Officer Ram Charan Lal Sharma (PW-11) submitted charge-sheet, Exhibit Ka-15, against the accused-appellants.

5. Dr. S.C. Goyal (PW-1) conducted autopsy of the dead body of the deceased, Shyam Singh, and prepared the post mortem report, Exhibit Ka-1. He found following ante mortem injuries on the dead body of the deceased, Shyam Singh:

- “1. Incised wound 1 cm *1/2 cm bone deep on the middle part of the forehead, 2 cm from the root of the nose; margins clearly placed.
- 2. Lacerated wound 2 cm *1/2 cm bone deep on the right-side head 8 cm above.
- 3. Lacerated wound 3cm *1/4cm bone deep on right side head, 10 cm above the right ear.
- 4. Lacerated wound 2 cm *1 cm scalp deep on left side head 8 cm above left ear.
- 5. Lacerated wound 2 1/2 cm *1 1/2 cm bone deep on the left side head, 10 cm above the left ear.
- 6. Lacerated wound 1 cm *1 cm bone deep on left side head, 9 cm above from the left ear; margins irregular.
- 7. Incised wound 2 cm *1/2cm muscle deep on the left mastoid region, 3 cm behind the left ear; margins clearly cut.
- 8. Incised wound 1 cm *1/2 cm muscle deep on the left angle of mouth.
- 9. Gunshot wound of entry 3 cm *2 1/2 cm bone deep on right side of face middle of the lower mandible blackening and scorching present around the injury in an area of 8 cm 6 cm six big pellets recovered from the wound.*
- 10. Blackening and scorching present on right upper arm (upper third), extending up to injury no. 9.*
- 11. Blackening and scorching present in an area of 12 cm* 8 cm on the back of the right forearm.*
- 12. Gunshot wound of entry 2 cm *2 cm * chest cavity deep on left side front of chest, 5 cm above the nipple at 1 o'clock.*
- 13. Incised wound 2 cm *1 cm chest cavity deep left side back of chest, 9 cm below the lower border of scapula.”

7. Charge-sheet was filed by the Investigating Officer in the concerned Magistrate Court. Since the case was exclusively triable by the Court of Session, learned Magistrate committed the case to the Court of Session.

8. Charges were framed against the accused-appellants on 19.07.1982 under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC by the Trial Court. The accused-appellants denied from the charges framed against them and claimed trial.

9. To substantiate the charges against the accused-appellants, prosecution adduced Dr. S.C. Goyal (PW-1), Satyapal Singh (PW-2), Shyam Sundar Dubey (PW-3), Madan Pal (PW-4), Sanjay Gupta (PW-5), Tikam Singh (PW-6), Gajraj Singh (PW-7), Bir Sen (PW-8), Balkishan (PW-9), Sewag Ram (PW-10) and Ramcharan Lal Sharma (PW-11). Apart from the above ocular evidence, prosecution also relied on documentary evidence from Exhibits Ka-1 to Ka-16.

10. Trial Court recorded evidence of the prosecution witnesses. Thereafter, accused-appellants were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. In their statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C., accused-appellants denied from all allegations levelled by the prosecution against them. They have also stated that they have falsely been implicated in this case due to village rivalry and enmity between them. The surviving accused-appellant, Omkar, has stated that he lived in village Pathauli. A case relating to attempt to murder him was instituted against Mangey and Gajraj, in which they were convicted. From that time, I left the village. Due to this enmity, I had been falsely implicated in this case.

11. After hearing the arguments of the prosecution and defence and perusing the evidence, learned Trial Court found the accused-appellants guilty under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC and convicted them for life imprisonment.

12. Aggrieved by the judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 26.07.1984, accused-appellants preferred this criminal appeal before this Court.

13. During pendency of this criminal appeal, appellant nos. 1, 3 and 4, Ranvir Singh, Mangey Ram and Hem Raj Singh have died. Therefore, the criminal appeal against appellant nos. 1, 3 and 4 stands dismissed as abated. Now, the criminal appeal is being adjudicated only in respect of appellant no. 2, Omkar.

14. Learned counsel for surviving accused-appellant, Omkar, has submitted that the date and time of the incident is 05.01.1979 at 06:30 A.M. However, informant Gajraj Singh (PW-7) lodged a written report, Exhibit Ka-10, naming all accused-appellants, with surprising promptness within half an hour at 07:00 A.M. at Police Station Muradnagar, District Ghaziabad. The distance of police station from the place of occurrence is about two miles. It is also submitted that it is surprising that only within half an hour, informant so quickly and rapidly got scribed a written report from his brother, Bhanwar Singh, and reached the police station Muradnagar and lodged written report, Exhibit Ka-10. This fact made the prosecution story doubtful. Apart from this, the date 05.01.1979 falls in the winter season. In the first week of January, at 06:30 A.M., the sun generally does not rise. In the month of January, even during the first week, there is usually heavy fog in the atmosphere. Learned counsel for surviving accused-appellant, Omkar, has also submitted that although prosecution produced informant Gajraj Singh (PW-7), Bir Sen (PW-8), Balkishan (PW-9) and Sewag Ram (PW-10) as eye-witnesses of the incident, however, from the perusal of their evidence, it is clear that they have not seen the occurrence with their own eyes. Evidence of these prosecution witnesses speaks these facts loudly itself. Prosecution projected these prosecution witnesses, Gajraj (PW-7), Bir Sen (PW-8), Balkishan (PW-9) and Sewag Ram (PW-10) as projected witnesses with due consideration, deliberation and afterthoughts. From the place of occurrence and the material articles recovered therefrom, it appears that the deceased, Shyam Singh, was killed at night by some unknown persons. When dead body of the deceased, Shyam Singh, was found lying at the place of occurrence and this news reached his house, then due to previous enmity because a large number of litigation including civil and criminal nature was pending between the deceased, Shyam Singh, and prosecution witnesses on one side and accused-appellants on other, prosecution, on the ground of suspicion, has falsely implicated the accused-appellants in the alleged crime after deliberation and afterthought, with a view to take revenge. The testimonies of the prosecution witnesses are not trustworthy and reliable. By their evidence itself, it is clear that so called eye-witnesses of prosecution have not witnessed the happening of the occurrence with their own eyes. It is also submitted that prosecution was unable to prove that so called muffler, cap (topa) and waist-cloth (tahmad), which were recovered from the place of occurrence, were surely of the appellant. The prosecution was unable to produce any witness, who could prove and testify by their evidence that he has seen Omkar wearing the above muffler, cap (topa) and waist-cloth (tahmad) regularly. However, without considering and discussing these material facts in its judgment and order, learned Trial Court only on the ground of evidence of so-called eye-witnesses of prosecution, held the surviving accused-appellant, Omkar, and the deceased appellants guilty for commission of the crime. There is no reasonable discussion regarding the culpability and liability of the appellant that inspires confidence in the mind of the learned Trial Court, on the basis of which the Trial Court was convinced that the surviving accused-appellant, along with the other deceased appellants, had committed the alleged crime. Learned Trial Court has not appreciated the evidence in proper perspective and in legal manner and delivered a wrong judgment and order against surviving accused-appellant, Omkar, wholly against the settled principles of law. Therefore, in view of the above facts and circumstances, surviving accused-appellant, Omkar, is liable to be acquitted and judgment and order of conviction and sentence passed by learned Trial Court is liable to be set aside.

15. Per contra, learned A.G.A. for the respondent-State has vehemently opposed the arguments of learned counsel for the accused-appellant and submitted that this is a case of direct evidence. Prosecution witness Gajraj Singh (PW-7), Bir Sen (PW-8), Balkishan (PW-9) and Sewag Ram (PW-10) were present at the place of occurrence at the time when incident happened. Surviving accused-appellant, Omkar, with other dead appellants have brutally committed murder of the deceased, Shyam Singh, by assaulting with knife and by firing upon him with country-made pistol in front of the prosecution witnesses. There are no major or material contradictions in the evidence of the prosecution witnesses by reason of which the prosecution evidence could be doubted. Learned Trial Court has appreciated the evidence in proper prospective and delivered a reasonable judgment and order, which is based on cogent evidence and according to the settled principles of law in this respect. There is no force in this criminal appeal of the accused-appellant, Omkar. The appeal is devoid of merits, hence is liable to be rejected.

16. In the light of the above arguments of learned counsel for the surviving appellant, Omkar, and the learned A.G.A. for the State, it is appropriate and judicious to peruse and analyse the prosecution evidence to determine whether the prosecution has been able to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt.

17. From the perusal of the evidence of informant Gajraj Singh (PW-7), who is son of deceased Shyam Singh, it is revealed that this witness is not an eye-witness of the incident. At the time of the incident, this witness was not present at the place of occurrence but he was at his home. This fact was itself admitted by this witness in his evidence that at the time of incident, I was at my home and Jhabbar has come home and informed me that accused-appellants, Mangey, Hem Raj, Ranvir and Omkar, have killed your father Shyam Singh and he also told that Ranvir and Hem Raj had knife in their hand and rest of the accused had country-made pistols in their hand." According to this witness as told by Jhabbar, he went to the spot. Thus, from the evidence of this witness, it is established that informant Gajraj Singh (PW-7) is not an eye-witness of the incident because at the time of happening of the incident, he was not present at the spot. Written report, Exhibit Ka-10, has been got scribed by this witness by his brother, Bhanwar Singh. All the facts written by writer Bhanwar Singh on the dictation of Gajraj Singh (PW-7), were stated by Jhabbar and other prosecution witnesses. In other words, Jhabbar and other prosecution witnesses have narrated the happening of the incident to informant Gajraj Singh (PW-7) and he in the same way has narrated the prosecution story in the written report, Exhibit Ka-10.

18. From the evidence of the informant, Gajraj Singh (PW-7), it appears that, according to this witness, a civil litigation was pending and continuing between the prosecution side on one hand and the accused-appellants on the other. From the evidence of this witness, it emerges that not only civil litigation was pending between the prosecution and defence sides, but several criminal cases were also pending between them. In some cases, the prosecution witnesses supported the prosecution story, while in other cases, the accused-appellants also appeared as witnesses in support of their prosecution version. It also revealed that there was bitter enmity between both sides due to civil and criminal litigations between them. Gajraj Singh (PW-7) stated that before three days of the incident, accused-appellants have threatened his father, Shyam Singh, to kill him and they have also threatened that we will teach you about the litigation. From the evidence of this witness as submitted by him in the Court, it emerged that at the time of the incident, maternal uncle of this witness, Sewag Ram, Bir Sen and Balkishan, were present at the place of occurrence when accused-appellants have committed the crime. Thus, from the evidence of this witness, it is revealed that this witness is not an eye-witness of the incident. There was bitter enmity between both sides since civil and criminal litigation were pending between them. Apart from the above facts, in his cross-examination, this witness has stated that I had told the Investigating Officer that the accused had told my father that they would give him the taste of litigation. If the Investigating Officer had not written this fact in my statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C., I cannot tell reason for this. I had stated in tehri report that Jhabbar had come to my home and told about the incident and I told these things to the Investigating Officer. If the Investigating Officer had not written in my statement and Bhanwar Singh had not written these things in the tehri report, then I cannot tell reason for this. In this way, we find that this witness has made major improvement in his evidence against the statement given to the Investigating Officer under Section 161 Cr.P.C. Meaning thereby, this witness with a view to give force to the prosecution story stated those facts and things in the Court which were not stated by this witness to the Investigating Officer under Section 161 Cr.P.C. Thus, from the perusal of the whole evidence of informant Gajraj Singh (PW-7), we find that this witness only after happening of the incident and receiving information about the incident has lodged the written report at the police station naming accused-appellants as accused for the commission of the crime. Apart from this, we find no other relevancy in the evidence of this witness.

19. Bir Sen (PW-8) is also said to be the eye-witness of the incident. This witness has stated that at the place of occurrence on 05.01.1979 at 06:30 A.M., this witness was going to water his field from the tube-well. Then he heard the noise in the sugar-cane field of Brahmamal. Jhabbar was also present with him. According to him, when he reached near the field of Brahmapal then he had seen that Hem Raj and Ranvir Singh were assaulting Shyam Singh with knives. Shyam Singh was retreating in order to defend himself. Mangey fired a shot from a country-made pistol at Shyam Singh, but the shot missed. Thereafter, Mangey struck Shyam Singh on the head with the butt of the country-made pistol. By the assault of the accused, Shyam Singh fell down. Omkar fired a shot from the country-made pistol at Shyam Singh, which hit in his chest. Mangey wanted to shoot from the country-made pistol but the cartridge fell down. Then Mangey loaded second cartridge and fired shot near the right ear of Shyam Singh, which hit him. This witness also stated that along with him, Singh Ram, Jhabbar Singh and Balkishan had also seen this incident at the place of occurrence. According to this witness, □at the time of committing of the offence, cap (topa), muffler and waist-cloth (tahmad) of Omkar had fell down on the spot. From the evidence of this witness, it is emerged that Chunni, father of the deceased Shyam Singh and accused Ranvir, had left the village Abupur before this incident and went to village Pathauli. From this fact, it is clear that at the time of the incident, surviving accused-appellant, Omkar, and his father deceased-appellant, Ranvir, was not living in the same village where incident happened. In other words, surviving accused-appellant, Omkar, and his father, Ranvir, and his grandfather, Chunni, were living in other village Pathauli at the time of the incident. From the evidence of this witness, it is revealed that the incident happened for about 3-4 minutes. From the perusal of the cross-examination of this witness, it is revealed that he has stated that the Investigating Officer had taken my statement. I had told him that Jhabbar also went on tube-well with me. I could not tell any reason that why the Investigating Officer has not written this thing in my statement. This witness has also stated that I had told the Investigating Officer that the noise was coming from the field of Brahmapal. If the Investigating Officer had not written this thing, I cannot tell any reason for this.

20. Thus, from the perusal of the evidence of Bir Sen (PW-8), this fact is revealed that according to this witness, four accused-appellants including surviving accused-appellant, Omkar, were attacking Shyam Singh by knife and country-made pistol. However, the statement of Bir Sen (PW-8) appears to be doubtful because if four accused persons simultaneously attacked the deceased Shyam Singh with knives and country-made pistols, there is a possibility that some pellets from the firearms could also have hit the accused persons, since according to this witness, all the accused persons were assaulting. All the accused surrounded the deceased Shyam Singh and were assaulting from very close range. However, there is no evidence of this kind in the record that some injuries were also caused on the body of the accused persons. From the evidence of this witness, it is also revealed that this witness has also improved his statement in the Court against the statement which was given by him to the Investigating Officer under Section 161 Cr.P.C. Evidence of this witness appears to be concocted and afterthought. From the perusal and appreciation of the whole evidence, it is apparent that the prosecution tried to project this witness as an eye-witness of the incident. However, from the perusal of the evidence of this witness, it is clear that this witness has not seen the happening of the incident with his own eyes. Although this witness has stated that incident happened for 3-4 minutes but this witness has not made any attempt by calling people of the nearby area to save life of the deceased, Shyam Singh, from assailants. Despite the fact that incident happened for 3-4 minutes but this witness has not made any attempt to save the deceased Shyam Singh. This witness has also not made any noise and hue and cry so that people of the nearby houses could come at the place of the occurrence to save the life of the deceased, Shyam Singh. In this way, conduct of this witness Bir Sen (PW-8) does not inspire confidence. This witness has stated the happening of the incident in the way which appears to be concocted and artificial and creates reasonable doubt about his presence at the place of occurrence. Due to this reason, we find that testimony of this witness is suspicious and unworthy of credit. Hence, we would not rely on the evidence of this witness in support of the prosecution story.

21. Balkishan (PW-9) has also stated the happening of the incident in the same way in which Bir Sen (PW-8) has stated the prosecution story. The only difference is that according to this witness on the day of the incident on 05.01.1979 at 06:30 A.M., he was returning on his cart (buggi) from Modi Nagar Sugar Mill after delivering his sugar-cane at the mill. When this witness reached his village near the field of Brahmapal, he heard Bir Sen, Jhabbar, and Segram shouting to run towards Shyam Singh and save him. However, if we believe the statement of Balkishan (PW-9) that Bir Sen, Segram, and Jhabbar made a noise and called upon people to reach the place of occurrence to save the life of Shyam Singh, it is surprising that despite the noise made by these three persons, none of the neighbours or persons from nearby houses heard the noise or came to the place of occurrence to save Shyam Singh. Only this witness Balkishan (PW-9) has heard the noise of Bir Sen, Segram and Jhabbar. It is also surprising that other prosecution witness Jhabbar was not produced by the prosecution in the Court. Jhabbar ran towards the house of Shyam Singh and informed Gajraj Singh (PW-7) about the incident, but none of the prosecution eye-witnesses called for any help from the neighbours or persons residing nearby. This witness has also stated that during the incident, cap (topa), muffler and waist-cloth (tahmad) of Omkar have fell down on the spot. From the evidence of this witness, it is also revealed that this witness was also accused in other cases and appellants were prosecution witnesses in that cases. According to this witness, the sun had not risen at the time of the incident, but it was daylight and the sun was about to rise. It was a winter day, and there was moonlight at the time of the incident. This witness has also stated during cross-examination that I had not told to the Investigating Officer that cap (topa), muffler and waist-cloth (tahmad) of Omkar had fell down on the spot because he has not questioned me.

22. Thus, from the perusal of the evidence of Balkishan (PW-9), it appears that this witness has also stated in the same way, style and manner as was stated by Bir Sen (PW-8) in the Court. From this fact, it is revealed that prosecution witness Balkishan (PW-9) was also not present at the place of occurrence when incident happened. The prosecution also projected Balkishan (PW-9) to support its case. Due to this reason, Balkishan (PW-9) has stated the happening of the incident in the same way and manner as was stated by Bir Sen (PW-8). From the evidence of this witness, it is also revealed that the sun had not risen at the time of the incident but was about to rise. It is also surprising fact that none of the people from the nearby area or neighbours, who were residing in houses near or at some distance from the place of occurrence, heard the noise of Bir Sen, Segram, and Jhabbar, whereas only this witness, Balkishan (PW-9), has heard them shouting to run towards the spot and save Shyam Singh. From the perusal of the evidence of Balkishan (PW-9), it appears that this witness is also a projected witness by the prosecution to support its case. However, from the evidence of this witness, we find that statement of this witness also does not inspire confidence. In this way, we find that presence of this witness Balkishan (PW-9) is also doubtful at the place of occurrence when the incident happened.

23. Prosecution witness Sewag Ram (PW-10) is brother-in-law of the deceased, Shyam Singh. In other words, he is real brother of wife of the deceased, Shyam Singh. From perusal of the evidence of this witness, it is revealed that this witness has stated that he had come to the house of Shyam Singh two days prior to the incident upon hearing that a quarrel was going on between Shyam Singh and his brother over agricultural land. According to this witness, he along with deceased, Shyam Singh, had gone to ease themselves towards jungle. As per the statement of this witness, when he and Shyam Singh after easing themselves were returning towards village and reached at the field of Brahmapal then from the sugar-cane field of Mahabir, Ranvir and Hem Raj with knives and Mangey and Omkar with country-made pistols came out. Hem Raj and Ranvir assaulted with knives on Shyam Singh. According to this witness, when he made a noise then Omkar and Mangey have said that go away otherwise we will shoot you. Thereafter, in his evidence, nearly in the same way, this witness has also stated the prosecution story as was stated by other prosecution witness, Bir Sen (PW-8) and Balkishan (PW-9). From the evidence of this witness, this fact again emerged and corroborated that deceased-appellant, Ranvir, with his father Chunni and children were living in village Pathauli. Thus, from the above statement of this witness, this fact emerged that the deceased-appellant, Ranvir, and surviving accused-appellant, Omkar, were not living in the same village where incident happened but they were living in village Pathauli, away from village Abupur. This witness has accepted in his cross-examination that village of this witness is eight kosh away from the place of occurrence. This witness has also stated in his cross-examination that he has not stayed at the place of occurrence. From there, he went to the house of Shyam Singh and from there he went to his village. According to this witness, after one month, Investigating Officer called him at the police station and recorded his statement. From the perusal of the whole evidence of Sewag Ram (PW-10), it is also apparent that this witness is also not an eye-witness of the incident. This witness has not seen the incident with his own eyes. The prosecution with consideration and afterthought projected this witness to be present at the home of Shyam Singh prior to two days of the incident. Prosecution tried unsuccessfully to project this witness with this story that he went to ease himself with the deceased Shyam Singh and when he along with deceased, Shyam Singh, were returning from jungle to their home, then incident happened. In this way, prosecution although tried to project this witness as an eye-witness of the incident, however, he has himself stated that he has not stayed at the place of occurrence and had went to the home of Shyam Singh and from there, he went to his village. This witness is a real brother-in-law of the deceased, Shyam Singh, and maternal uncle of the informant Gajraj Singh (PW-7) and Bhanwar Singh. In spite of this fact and his close relationship with the deceased Shyam Singh and his family, being the real brother of the deceased's wife, this witness did not consider it proper to stay at the place of occurrence, accompany the dead body to the post-mortem house, or participate in the cremation proceedings of the deceased Shyam Singh. The above conduct of this witness clearly indicates that he was later, upon consideration and afterthought, projected by the prosecution as an eye-witness to support and strengthen the prosecution story and to falsely implicate the surviving accused-appellant, Omkar, along with the other deceased-appellants. From the conduct and behaviour of this witness, it is also explicitly clear that he was not present with the deceased, Shyam Singh, at the time of the incident. Thus, from the overall perusal and analysis of the statement of Sewagram (PW-10), we find that evidence and statement of this witness creates a doubt and suspicion about the facts as stated by this witness in the Court in the support of the prosecution story. Due to this reason, we are unable to believe the testimony of this witness as reliable and trustworthy.

24. From the perusal of the whole evidence of the prosecution witness as available on record and as stated by the informant Gajraj Singh (PW-7), Bir Sen (PW-8), Balkishan (PW-9) and Sewagram (PW-10), it is clear that many civil and criminal cases were pending between the prosecution and defence sides. The litigation was both civil and criminal in nature. Cases under Section 307 IPC were pending against the prosecution side, in which prosecution witnesses were arrayed as accused persons. There were also criminal cases in which one side was the prosecution and the other side was arrayed as the accused. There was civil litigation pending between them relating to agricultural land of Chunni Lal, father of deceased, Shyam Singh, and deceased-appellant, Ranvir Singh. Cases were also pending in Revenue Court. It is also revealed that there was bitter enmity between the prosecution sides and accused-appellants. From the perusal of the entire prosecution evidence, it is apparent that due to bitter enmity and suspicion between the prosecution side and the defence side, the surviving accused-appellant, Omkar, along with the other deceased appellants, has been falsely implicated in the present case for the commission of the alleged crime.

25. However, only on the ground of suspicion and doubt without cogent and reliable evidence which must be beyond reasonable doubt, no accused persons could be held guilty for commission of the crime.

26. The Supreme Court in Sujit Biswas v. State of Assam; (2013) 12 SCC 406 has held in para-13 as under:

“13. Suspicion, however grave it may be, cannot take the place of proof, and there is a large difference between something that may be proved, and something that will be proved. In a criminal trial, suspicion no matter how strong, cannot and must not be permitted to take place of proof. This is for the reason that the mental distance between may be and must be is quite large, and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions. In a criminal case, the court has a duty to ensure that mere conjectures or suspicion do not take the place of legal proof. The large distance between may be true and must be true, must be covered by way of clear, cogent and unimpeachable evidence produced by the prosecution, before an accused is condemned as a convict, and the basic and golden rule must be applied. In such cases, while keeping in mind the distance between may be true and must be true, the court must maintain the vital distance between mere conjectures and sure conclusions to be arrived at, on the touchstone of dispassionate judicial scrutiny, based upon a complete and comprehensive appreciation of all features of the case, as well as the quality and credibility of the evidence brought on record. The court must ensure, that miscarriage of justice is avoided, and if the facts and circumstances of a case so demand, then the benefit of doubt must be given to the accused, keeping in mind that a reasonable doubt is not an imaginary, trivial or a merely probable doubt, but a fair doubt that is based upon reason and common sense.”

27. The Supreme Court recently in State of Odisha v. Banabihari Mohapatra And Another; (2021) 15 SCC 268 has held:

“It is well settled by a plethora of judicial pronouncement of this Court that suspicion, however strong cannot take place of proof. An accused is presumed to be innocent unless proved guilty beyond reasonable doubt.”

28. It is also a settled principle of law that mere enmity, in the absence of cogent, reliable, and foolproof evidence, is not sufficient to hold a person guilty of a heinous crime such as murder.

29. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Sushil And Others v. State of U.P.; 1995 SSC (Cri.) 388 and in the case of State of Punjab v. Sucha Singh; (2003) 3 SCC 153, has held that:

"Enmity is a double-edged weapon which cut both ways. It may constitute motive for the commission of the crime and at the same time it may also provide a motive for false implication."

30. From the written report, Exhibit Ka-10, and from the evidence of Bir Sen (PW-8), Balkishan (PW-9) and Sewag Ram (PW-10), it is clear that date and time of the incident is 05.01.1979 at 06:30 am. The month of January is a very cold season. Generally, in the first week of January, heavy fog is present in the atmosphere. Due to the dense fog during this period, visibility of nearby places is reduced to a few feet. In other words, due to heavy fog in the atmosphere covering the ground also, visibility in all directions, i.e., front, back, and other sides, is extremely poor. However, in spite of the happening of the incident on 05.01.1979 at 06:30 am, eye-witnesses of the prosecution are stating in the Court that they had seen the happening of the incident with their own eyes. These statements of the prosecution witnesses appear to be doubtful and suspicious due to the heavy fog present in the month of January. Hence, due to the above reason, testimonies of the above witnesses do not inspire confidence, as such, we do not rely on them.

31. In the evidence of Bir Sen (PW-8) and Balkishan (PW-9), it has been stated that during the course of the incident, cap (topa), muffler, and waist-cloth (tahmad) of the accused-appellant, Omkar, fell on the ground at the place of occurrence, which has been mentioned in the recovery memo (Exhibit Ka-13). Cap (topa) is exhibited as material Exhibit-17, muffler is exhibited as material Exhibit-18 and waist-cloth (tahmad) is exhibited as material Exhibit-19.

32. Investigating Officer, Ramcharan Lal Sharma (PW-11) has stated in his evidence that on his direction, S.I. P.D. Sharma took into custody from the place of occurrence, one striped waist-cloth (tahmad dharidar), one muffler and one cap (topa) However, prosecution witnesses Bir Sen (PW-8) and Balkishan (PW-9) have stated in their evidence that these cap (topa), muffler and waist-cloth (tahmad) are of accused-appellant, Omkar. It is an admitted fact by the prosecution witnesses that at the time of the incident, surviving accused-appellant, Omkar, and deceased-appellant, Ranvir, were not living in village Abupur where incident happened but they were living in village Pathauli, situated in district Meerut. In the above condition, how these facts could be regarded conclusively to be proved that above cap (topa), muffler and waist-cloth (tahmad) were of accused-appellant, Omkar. This fact can be proved only by a person who had seen the accused-appellant, Omkar, usually wearing the aforesaid cap (topa), muffler, and waist-cloth (tahmad), and who may be his neighbour. Since cap (topa), muffler and waist-cloth (tahmad) are commonly worn in every house during the winter season, only a person residing in village Pathauli who regularly meets the accused-appellant, Omkar, could verify that the recovered cap (topa), muffler, and waist-cloth (tahmad) were used and worn by the accused-appellant, Omkar. Thus, in view of the above facts, it could not be conclusively presumed that recovered cap (topa), muffler, and waist-cloth (tahmad) from the place of occurrence surely are of the accused-appellant, Omkar. These facts also create a doubt about veracity of the prosecution story.

33. Prosecution witness Balkishan (PW-9) has stated in his cross-examination that I had not told the Investigating Officer that on the spot, cap (topa), muffler, and waist-cloth (tahmad) of Omkar, had been left on the ground because he had not asked from me. From the above statement of prosecution witness Balkishan (PW-9), suspicion about the recovery of so-called cap (topa), muffler, and waist-cloth (tahmad) of accused-appellant, Omkar, also become doubtful.

34. It is also a clear fact that the Investigating Officer could not recover any weapon of assault like fire-arm or knife from the possession or on the pointing out of the surviving accused-appellant, Omkar.

35. It is also a noteworthy fact that prosecution has not adduced and examined Jhabbar, who has informed about the incident to the informant Gajraj Singh (PW-7) and is also an eye-witness of the incident. The prosecution withheld this very material witness by not producing and examining in the Court since Jhabbar whose name as a prosecution witness has been mentioned in the charge-sheet at Sl. No. 5. Non-production by the prosecution and examination of this witness Jhabbar in the Court is a very material fact which raise a serious doubt about the veracity and truthfulness of the prosecution story.

36. Thus, from the above discussions and analysis of the prosecution evidence, it is clear that evidence of prosecution witness Gajraj Singh (PW-7), Bir Sen (PW-8), Balkishan (PW-9) and Sewag Ram (PW-10) does not inspire confidence. The presence of above these prosecution witnesses at the place of occurrence is very doubtful. From the perusal of the evidence of the above witnesses, it is clear that there are major and material contradictions in the evidence of the above witnesses. Apart from the above, conduct of the witnesses is also highly doubtful and unnatural.

37. In view of the above discussions, we find that learned Trial Court has not appreciated the evidence of the prosecution in right prospective and without observing major and material contradictions only relying on the evidence of the prosecution witnesses Gajraj Singh (PW-7), Bir Sen (PW-8), Balkishan (PW-9) and Sewag Ram (PW-10) held the surviving accused-appellant, Omkar, with other deceased-appellants guilty. The finding and reasoning of the learned Trial Court are not supported by cogent and reasonable finding in this regard.

38. In view of the above facts, judgment and order of the learned Trial Court dated 26.07.1984 is not sustainable in the eyes of law. Hence, we find that judgment and order of learned Trial Court dated 26.07.1984 is liable to be set aside and the appeal of the surviving appellant, Omkar, is liable to be allowed.

39. The criminal appeal is allowed. Accordingly, we set aside the impugned judgment and order dated 26.07.1984 of conviction and sentence passed against the accused-appellant, Omkar, by learned Trial Court in Sessions Trial No. 163 of 1979 (State v. Ranvir Singh and others) arising out of Case Crime No. 4 of 1979, under Section 302/34 IPC, Police Station Muradnagar, District Ghaziabad. The appellant is acquitted of the charge under Sections 302/34 IPC. The appellant, Omkar, is on bail. He need not surrender. His bail bonds are cancelled and sureties stand discharged. However, he shall comply with the provisions of Section 437-A Cr.P.C.

40. Let a copy of this judgment be sent to the learned Trial Court forthwith along with the Trial Court record for compliance.

Criminal Appeal No. 5148 of 2025

Ram Bhawan Harijan

...Appellant

Versus

State of U.P.

...Respondent

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether in a case resting entirely upon circumstantial evidence, the alleged recovery and identification of a shawl said to belong to the accused, found wrapped around the dead body of the deceased, constituted a complete and reliable chain of circumstances sufficient to sustain conviction under Ss. 302 and 201 I.P.C., particularly in light of contradictions in evidence, procedural lapses and the evidentiary value of identification of property under S. 9 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. (Paras 19-30)

Headnotes

Criminal Law - Murder and Causing Disappearance of Evidence - Circumstantial Evidence - Indian Penal Code - Ss. 302 and 201 - Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - S. 9 - Conviction based solely on recovery and identification of a shawl allegedly belonging to accused - Circumstances must be of a conclusive nature and should be so complete as to not leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused - Prosecution case rested entirely upon circumstantial evidence and there were no eyewitnesses to the alleged occurrence - Held, chain of circumstances was not complete and failed to establish guilt beyond reasonable doubt. (Paras 19, 31)

Evidence - Identification of Thing - Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - S. 9 - Recovery of article allegedly belonging to accused from body of deceased - Contradiction between ocular testimony and contemporaneous documentary evidence regarding presence of shawl during inquest and autopsy - PW2 and PW3 stated that body was wrapped in appellant's shawl whereas testimony of PW5 and inquest report prepared by PW6 omitted presence of any such shawl - Held, discrepancy suggested that link of shawl may have been an afterthought to connect appellant to crime and rendered recovery highly doubtful. (Paras 20, 31)

Evidence - Identification of Property - Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - S. 9 - Absence of specific description of article sought to be identified - No description regarding colour, pattern, fabric or unique identifying marks of shawl - Generic identification as a spotted shawl belonging to accused - Held, without distinct characteristics, formal Test Identification Parade for property or detailed forensic description, it was hazardous to conclude that shawl found was exact one owned by accused. (Para 21)

Evidence - Chain of Custody - Recovery of Material Object - Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - S. 9 - Procedural lapse in handling physical evidence - Shawl allegedly carried by police officer and shown to villagers instead of being preserved in sealed forensic custody - Chain of custody found broken - Held, article lost evidentiary value as Court could not be certain that item was not planted or altered and such casual approach to vital physical evidence created serious doubt in prosecution case. (Para 22)

Evidence - Facts Necessary to Explain or Introduce Relevant Facts - Identification of Thing - Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - S. 9 - Scope and applicability - Provision recognizes facts establishing identity of any person or thing whose identity is relevant - Recovery of any article of accused person from body of deceased relevant and admissible under provision - However, facts establishing identity must satisfy legal requirements and be tested within judicial process. (Paras 23-25)

Evidence - Test Identification Parade and Identification of Property - Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - S. 9 - Evidentiary value - Identification evidence whether of person or thing is inherently weak and only corroborative in nature - Identification cannot serve as sole basis of conviction and requires support of strong independent links to complete chain of circumstances - Held, evidence of shawl being corroborative in nature was insufficient to establish guilt of accused. (Paras 26-30)

Criminal Trial - Appreciation of Evidence - Circumstantial Evidence - Conviction and Sentence - Trial Court failed to appreciate that circumstances must leave no room for any hypothesis except guilt of accused - Recovery of shawl doubtful, serious lapses in investigation and lack of independent witnesses created significant gap in prosecution version - Held, judgment of conviction unsustainable in eyes of law and liable to be set aside - Appeal allowed and conviction quashed. (Paras 31-33)

Held: The present case rests entirely upon circumstantial evidence and admittedly there are no eyewitnesses to the alleged occurrence - the recovery of the dead body allegedly wrapped in a shawl belonging to the appellant was the cornerstone of the prosecution case but a fatal contradiction existed between the ocular testimony and the contemporaneous documentary evidence as the testimony of PW5 and the inquest report prepared by PW6 categorically omitted the presence of any such shawl during the inquest and autopsy - even otherwise there was a total absence of any specific description concerning the shawl's color, pattern, fabric or unique identifying marks and the witnesses merely offered a generic identification - the prosecution narrative was further marred by a significant procedural lapse as the chain of custody was broken and the article lost its evidentiary value - although the alleged shawl was relevant as a thing and facts establishing its identity were relevant under S. 9 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, identification is a weak and corroborative piece of evidence and cannot serve as the sole basis of conviction - the chain of circumstances was far from complete and the recovery of the shawl was highly doubtful and lacked evidentiary value - serious lapses in the investigation process and lack of independent witnesses created a significant gap in the prosecution version and the judgment of conviction was not in conformity with the evidence on record and was liable to be set aside - Allowed partly. Sri Ajay Sharma, learned A.G.A. (for the State)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Jai Krishna Upadhyay, J.)

1. Heard Sri Sushil Kumar Dwivedi, learned counsel for the appellant; Smt. Kiran Bala, learned counsel appearing for the informant and Sri Ajay Sharma, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the trial Court record as well as the judgment and order passed by the trial Court.

2. Initially the learned counsel for the appellant was pressing the bail application but subsequently when the learned counsel for the first informant opposed the same and insisted that the case be finally heard, learned counsel for the appellant argued the case finally. The paper book in the case had already been prepared.

3. This criminal appeal has been preferred by the appellants against the judgment and order dated 18.04.2025 passed by the Additional District and Sessions Judge, Prayagraj arising out of Case Crime No. 81 of 2021, registered as Sessions Trial No. 2103 of 2021 (State Vs. Ram Bhawan Harijan), whereby the learned District and Sessions Judge had convicted appellant under Section 302/201 I.P.C. and sentenced him under Section 302 I.P.C. to undergo life imprisonment with fine of Rs. 20,000/-. In case of default in the payment of fine, he was sentenced to undergo additional sentence of one year. Further, he was sentenced three years rigorous imprisonment with fine of Rs. 2,000/- for under Section 201 I.P.C. In case of default in the payment of fine, he has been sentenced to undergo additional sentence of 15 days.

4. The prosecution story in nutshell is as under:-

4.1. Informant Mukesh alias Virendra, son of Harilal, resident of Semri Tarhar, Police Station Lalapur, District-Prayagraj, had given a tehrir at Police Station Lalapur on 29.07.2021 and lodged first information report to the effect that on 27.07.2021 at 4 pm, his daughter Mohini Devi, aged about 5 years, had gone to play near the pond on the south side of the village and she did not return home. Her description is as follows: Age 5 years, fair complexion, height 2.5 feet, short hair on the head, a pimple on the right foot, wearing a blue frock, yellow leggings, and a white handkerchief, and was barefoot. When she did not return, he searched for her extensively but she was not found. Thereafter, the informant went to the police station for registering the F.I.R. On 29.07.2021, the F.I.R. was registered at Police Station Lalapur.

4.2. The informant again submitted an application dated 31.07.2021 to the Station House Officer, Bara, District Prayagraj, to the effect that his daughter, Mohini, had gone to the pond to play on 27.07.2021 at around 4:00 p.m., however she had not returned and had gone missing. After a thorough search, he submitted a written application on 29.07.2021, registering a case under Section 363 of I.P.C. He, subsequently heard that a body of an unidentified girl had been recovered at the Bara police station. Upon receiving this information, the informant reached the Bara police station. Upon viewing the body, he identified it as that of his daughter, Mohini, aged around 5 years. He suspected that Ram Bhawan Harijan, a resident of his village in the district of Prayagraj, had murdered his daughter Mohini and had thrown her body in the canal to conceal it.

4.3 Thereafter, in the instant case, an inquest was prepared by S.I. Ajit Singh and other documents were prepared. The inquest report and other documents were exhibited as Ex. Ka-3 and Ex. Ka7 to Ex. Ka11. After the inquest report was prepared, the body of the deceased Mohini was sent for postmortem, which was conducted by Dr. Uttam Singh Yadav. A total of three injuries on the body of the deceased were found and the cause of death was asphyxia due to strangulation and smothering. The post-mortem report is exhibited as Ex. Ka6.

4.4. This case was investigated by SI Ajay Kumar Gupta, who prepared the site plan Ex. Ka-7 and recorded the statements of witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C. After completion of investigation, a charge sheet against accused-appellant Ram Bhawan Harijan was submitted and thereafter, the matter was committed to the Court of Session and charges under Sections 302/201 I.P.C. were framed against the accused. The accused denied the charges and claimed trial.

5. During the course of trial as many as 9 prosecution witnesses were examined. The incriminating circumstances appearing in the prosecution evidence were put to the appellant while recording his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. The appellant denied the incriminating circumstances and claimed that he had been falsely implicated in the present case.

6. By the impugned judgment, the learned trial judge convicted the appellant. Hence, this appeal.

7. Sri Sushil Kumar Dwivedi, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the appellant submitted that:-

(i) PW1, PW2 and PW3 are not eye witnesses of the incident. The prosecution has not examined any eye witness of the incident. He further submitted that the prosecution has not been able to prove the intention/motive to commit the murder of the deceased.

(ii) This case is based upon circumstantial evidence and the chain of circumstances has not been established by the prosecution. In the present case, there is no evidence regarding the last seen. The accused has been only identified by the so called 'shawl' of the accused. However, it has also been submitted that the shawl was not belonging to the accused. Moreover, PW6 Ajit Singh, who prepared the inquest report has stated that the body was not wrapped in Shawl due to which the statement related to the shawl also become false and doubtful.

8. Per contra, Smt. Kiran Bala, learned counsel for the informant and Sri Ajay Sharma, learned A.G.A. for the State submitted that prosecution has successfully proved that the accused had enmity with the informant and had threatened him a few days immediately before the incident. They submitted that in the present case, the accused was identified by his shawl. Prosecution witnesses had supported the version of the prosecution. They lastly submitted that the trial Court has rightly convicted and sentenced the accused-appellant. Therefore, the appeal lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

9. Having considered the rival submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the parties, it would be appropriate to first analyze the testimony of witnesses.

10. PW1 Virendra alias Mukesh is the informant who has stated that he is illiterate and he can only sign. The incident occurred approximately one year and four months ago at 4 p.m. On that day, his daughter Mohini, aged around 5 to 6 years, went to play in a pond situate on the south side of the village. When she did not return, he searched for her everywhere, but failed to trace her out. On the next day, he again searched everywhere for her. His father, Hari Lal, and the village Pradhan Naresh, also searched for her. When the whereabouts of her daughter were not found, he along with his father and village Pradhan went to the police station Lalapur to register a missing report. After four days of filing the missing report, the police Inspector of Police Station Lalapur informed him that a dead body of a girl had been found. On receiving the said information he along with his father Hari Lal, elder brother of his father Baijnath, Village Pradhan Naresh and Ibrahim went to the police Station concerned. The concerned Inspector of Police took all of them to the Canal where they saw that the dead body of his daughter Mohini was lying. He recognized the dead body by looking at her face and clothes. The body was swollen and was wrapped in a Shawl which belonged to the accused Ram Bhawan Harijan. He knew the accused Ram Bhawan from before the incident since he was his neighbour. He suspected that Ram Bhawan had murdered his daughter and had thrown her body into the canal to hide it. Before this incident, there was a dispute with Ram Bhawan. He had said, "You call me 'Katli-Katli', and I will destroy you."

11. PW2 Hari Lal is the grandfather of the deceased who had stated that incident is of the year 2021. About 27 to 28 months back at around 4 pm, his grand-daughter Mohini, had gone to play in the pond, south of the house and did not return. When she did not return, he along with others searched for her but could not find her. When his granddaughter had gone to play, she was wearing speckled sky blue and yellow leggings. She was wearing a dark dull scarf in her neck. His son Virendra and Mukesh had reported the incident to the police station about the fact that her granddaughter had gone missing. The police came and inquired. After that, he, Baijnath, Naresh, Doctor Pradhan, and a few other people from the village went to Pratappur with the police. He had said that all of them had searched extensively but couldn't find the girl. On the fourth day, the police inspector informed them that a dead body had been found on the canal track near Bhodi village Bara police station. They asked him to go and identify the body. His elder brother Baijnath, Harilal, Swayam Ibrahim, Doctor Pradhan and Mukesh went there to identify the body. When they reached there, they saw that it was his granddaughter's body, which was swollen and the tongue was sticking out. They had seen that the dead body was wrapped in a shawl, which belonged to Ram Bhawan. Ram Bhawan used to walk around the village wearing it. All this, completely convinced him that Ram Bhawan had murdered his granddaughter. The body was sealed at the spot where it was found, and the Panchayatnama proceedings were conducted and it was sent for post-mortem. He had stated that along with him there were people namely, Dr. Naresh Kumar, my elder brother Bajinath, Virendra alias Mukesh, and Ibrahim. He had put his thumb impression on the Panchayatnama. He had further stated that 3 to 4 months prior to the incident, Ram Bhawan had threatened him that he would kill him, ruin his sons and leave them worthless. He has proved the inquest paper nos. 7A/2 to 7A/3, which is exhibited as Ex. Ka3. He stated that four days after filing the report, the dead body of his granddaughter was found. He had gone to the place where the dead body was found, in connection with this incident.

12. PW 3 Bajinath stated that Mukesh alias Virendra is his nephew. His daughter's name was Mohini. The incident occurred on 27.07.2021, at around 4 p.m. Mohini was five years old at that time. She went to play near the pond to the south of his house that day from where, she did not return. They began searching for her, but could not find her. The next day, their family and villagers searched again. On 29.07.2021, Mukesh lodged a report at the police station. The police searched his house and surrounding areas. His nephew, Surendra, circulated Mohini's posters throughout the village and via mobile phone. On 31.07.2021, the police called them to the police station and took them to the canal in Bhodi village, where the dead body of a young girl was found. Upon seeing the dead body, they recognized it as that of Mohini. She was wearing a spotted kurti, a sky-blue shirt, and a dull white scarf wrapped around her neck. The dead body was swollen and her tongue was protruding. The body was wrapped in a spotted shawl. He recognized that shawl, but did not tell anyone. Then the body was taken to Police Station Bara. At the police station, the dead body was sealed in a white cloth and the formalities were done. A Panchayatnama was done. His signature is on Panchayatnama paper no. 7A which is exhibited as Ex. Ka3. Then the body was taken to the mortuary. After the post-mortem, they brought the dead body to Daraganj and performed the last rites. After that, when the Inspector came to the village, his brother Hari Lal called for the shawl which was with Mohini's body. He did not tell anything on the spot but went to the police station and told that the shawl belonged to the accused Ram Bhawan.

13. PW4 HC Samarendra Singh stated that on 29.07.2021, he was posted in the Police Station Lalapur, District Prayagraj. On that day, on the basis of written report of informant Mukesh alias Virendra, son of Hari Lal Raidas, resident of Semri Tarhar, Police Station Lalapur, District Prayagraj, FIR No. 81/21 was registered at 15.31 PM against unknown, under section 363 of IPC. He has proved the chick F.I.R. which is exhibited as Ex. Ka4.

14. PW5 is the Dr. Uttam Singh Yadav who had stated that on 31.07.2021, he was posted as Medical Officer in Tej Bahadur Sapru Hospital. On that day, he was on duty with Medical Officer Dr. Suryabhan Singh Yadav in the mortuary for postmortem. On that day, he conducted post-mortem of the dead body. The dead body was 112 cm tall, of medium built, and had been decapitated. The skin could be easily removed.

1. Abrasion 1 cm X 0.5 cm above the lip
2. Contusion 1 x 0.5 cm in the middle of the lower lip

3. A ligature mark measuring approximately 3 cm wide was found around the neck. The ligature mark was located 6 cm below the groin and 6 cm below the left shoulder. Inspection of the ligature mark revealed blood clots within the muscle, and the hyoid bone, the killing chest bone, was found to be broken.

Note-Pelvic content coming out through vaginal opening.

Internal injury ‘ found on opening the brain.

14.2. The fifth and sixth vertebrae on the right side of the chest were found broken. The pleura was congested. Both lungs were congested. The stomach contained 200 grams of food. Intestinal mucus and gases were present. The large intestine contained the liver, spleen, pancreas, and both kidneys. Objects were protruding from the vagina and the inside of the cavity. The probable time of death was approximately four days prior. The cause of death was asphyxia, strangulation, and smothering. There was a cleft, a leggings, and a towel on the deceased's body. The post-mortem was started at 2:20 and concluded at 2:50. The seal was found to be intact.

15. PW6 Ajeet Singh was the Sub-Inspector who has stated in his statement that on 30.07.2021, the body of an unidentified deceased was found in the Bhodi Canal. The information was provided by Vimlesh, son of Bhagirathi, a resident of Bhodi village, Bara police station. Since he was the station in-charge, the responsibility of preparing inquest report was assigned to him. He has proved the inquest report paper nos. 7A/2 to 7A/4 which is exhibited as Ex. Ka3. He has also proved the documents relating to the inquest report i.e. the Challan Nash, Photonash, letter of R.I. and letter of C.M.O., which are exhibited as Ex. Ka7 to Ka11.

16. PW7 Inspector Ajay Kumar Gupta was the Investigating Officer, who has prepared the site plan of the incident which is exhibited as Ex. Ka-8.

17. PW8 Manish Kumar Tripathi was one of the Investigating Officers in the instant case who had stated that investigation of the instant case was transferred to him by the earlier Investigating Officer, namely, Vrandavan Rai, who stated that on the instruction of S.I. Ajeet Singh, he prepared the site plan of the place where the dead body was recovered. He has proved the site plan which is exhibited as Ex. Ka8. He has also proved the charge sheet submitted against the accused-appellant, which is exhibited as Ex. Ka9.

18. PW9 Manoj Kumar was the Head Constable who has proved the recovered articles i.e. Shawl, Frock, Leggings and Scarf as material exhibits 1, 2, 3 and 4 respectively.

19. Evidently, the present case rests entirely upon circumstantial evidence, as admittedly there are no eyewitnesses to the alleged occurrence. It is a fundamental principle of criminal law that in cases where direct evidence is absent, the court must meticulously examine the chain of circumstances to determine if they lead to the sole conclusion of the guilt of the accused. As held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the landmark case of Sharad Birdhichand Sarda vs. State of Maharashtra (1984) 4 SCC 116, circumstances must be of a conclusive nature and should be so complete as to not leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused. Accordingly, we shall now proceed to discuss the specific circumstances and the evidence produced by the prosecution to see whether they established a complete chain as whether they indicated, beyond a reasonable doubt, the guilt of the accused.

20. In the present case, there is only one circumstance against the accused and it is also the cornerstone of the prosecution's case i.e. recovery of the dead body, allegedly wrapped in a "shawl" belonging to the appellant. However, a fatal contradiction exists between the ocular testimony and the contemporaneous documentary evidence. While PW2 and PW3 emphatically stated that the body was found wrapped in the appellant's shawl, the testimony of Dr. Uttam Singh Yadav (PW5) and the Inquest Report prepared by SI Ajeet Singh (PW6) categorically omit the presence of any such shawl during the inquest and autopsy. This discrepancy suggests that the "link" of the shawl may have been an afterthought to connect the appellant to the crime.

21. Even if the court were to momentarily overlook the contradiction regarding the presence of the shawl, the prosecution's reliance on its identification is legally unsound. A perusal of the record reveals a total absence of any specific description concerning the shawl's color, pattern, fabric, or unique identifying marks. The witnesses merely offered a generic identification, claiming it to be a 'spotted shawl' belonging to the accused without explaining how they distinguished it from any other common garment. It is a settled principle of law that for a piece of clothing to serve as a link in a circumstantial chain, it must possess distinct characteristics that preclude the possibility of it belonging to anyone else. In a rural setting where mass-produced garments are common, there is no "hard and fast rule" that a particular type of shawl is unique to one individual. Without a formal Test Identification Parade (TIP) for the property or a detailed forensic description in the seizure memo, it is hazardous to conclude that the shawl found, if it existed, was the exact one owned by the appellant.

22. The prosecution's narrative regarding the shawl is further marred by a significant procedural lapse during the Panchayat Nama (inquest) conducted on 31.07.21. According to the PW-3, a police officer later came to the village on 01.08.2021 claiming he had "brought this shawl" to show them. As a matter of standard legal procedure, whenever a Panchayat Nama is conducted, every article of clothing or material found on the deceased must be immediately seized, documented in the recovery memo, and sealed on the spot to be sent for forensic examination (FSL). This protocol is mandatory to ensure that the evidence is protected from any form of tampering or planting. However, in this case, the fact that the shawl was allegedly being carried around by a police officer to be shown to villagers, rather than being in a sealed forensic cover, raises a grave concern. This suggests that the "chain of custody" was broken. If the shawl was not sealed at the scene and was instead handled loosely by the police, it loses all its evidentiary value, as it becomes impossible for the Court to be certain that the item was not planted or altered to falsely implicate the accused. Such a casual approach to vital physical evidence creates a serious doubt in the prosecution's story.

23. Having addressed the factual inconsistencies surrounding the recovery of the shawl, it is imperative to evaluate the legal framework under which such a recovery, if accepted, would operate. The prosecution relies on the identification of this 'shawl' to bridge the gap between the accused and the deceased. In the eyes of the law, such a link is governed by Section 9 of the Indian Evidence Act, which renders relevant any of those facts necessary to explain or introduce a relevant fact, or those which establish the identity of any "thing" whose identity is relevant. Here, the shawl is the "thing" through which the prosecution seeks to establish the identity of the accused.

Consequently, the admissibility and weight of this evidence must be scrutinized under Section 9 of Indian Evidence Act, 1872 which is as follows:

‘9. Facts necessary to explain or introduce relevant facts.

Facts necessary to explain or introduce a fact in issue or relevant fact, or which support or rebut an inference suggested by a fact in issue or relevant fact, or which establish the identity of anything or person whose identity is relevant, or fix the time or place at which any fact in issue or relevant fact happened, or which show the relation of parties by whom any such fact was transacted, are relevant in so far as they are necessary for that purpose.’

24. Therefore, it can be concluded that Section 9 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 is a provision, designed to ensure that the evidentiary narrative is complete and intelligible. It recognizes five distinct categories of facts as relevant:

- (i) those necessary to explain or introduce a fact in issue or relevant fact,
- (ii) those which support or rebut an inference suggested by a fact in issue or relevant fact,
- (iii) those which establish the identity of any person or thing whose identity is relevant,
- (iv) those which fix the time or place at which any fact in issue or relevant fact occurred,
- and
- (v) those which show the relation of parties by whom any such fact was transacted.

25. The importance of Section 9 lies in its dual nature; while sometimes much of the focus in criminal trials often rests on the identification of the accused, the law places equal emphasis on the identification of things. The inclusion of ‘thing’ alongside ‘person’ makes clear that the provision is not confined to human identification alone. Courts have consistently applied Section 9 to the identification of stolen property, forged documents, handwriting, or other material objects, recognizing that such identification is often crucial to linking circumstantial evidence with the fact in issue. For instance, recovery of stolen articles from the accused, verification of signatures on disputed documents, or determination of the genuineness of a will are all admissible under this section. In the same manner recovery of any article of accused person from the body of deceased is also relevant and admissible under this provision. Thus, Section 9 operates as a connective tissue in the law of evidence, bridging facts in issue with explanatory or corroborative circumstances, and ensuring that both persons and things are properly identified, contextualized, and tested within the judicial process. Accordingly, in the instant matter the alleged ‘shawl’ is relevant as a thing and facts establishing its identity are also relevant.

26. Further, the primary legal question is whether the mere recovery of an article, and its subsequent identification by witnesses is sufficient to sustain a conviction under the law. It is pertinent to note here that Section 9 requires that the circumstances surrounding the identification should be beyond reproach. If, as the witnesses stated, the police officer simply brought the shawl to the village and claimed it was the one used in the crime, the act of identification is no longer an independent act of recognition; it becomes a guided suggestion. Without a distinct and recorded description that matches the appellant’s specific property, the shawl fails to meet the threshold of a "fact that establishes identity."

27. Following this legal logic, even when the shawl is relevant under Section 9 of the Indian Evidence Act, it cannot serve as the sole basis for a conviction. It is a well-settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that the evidence of identification, whether of a person or a thing as contemplated under Section 9, is inherently a weak type of evidence and only corroborative in nature. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Munshi Singh Gautam v. State of M.P., (2005) 9 SCC 631 stated:

'16. As was observed by this Court in Matru v. State of U.P. [(1971) 2 SCC 75 :1971 SCC (Cri) 391] identification tests do not constitute substantive evidence. They are primarily meant for the purpose of helping the investigating agency with an assurance that their progress with the investigation into the offence is proceeding on the right lines. The identification can only be used as corroborative of the statement in court. (See Santokh Singh v. Izhar Hussain [(1973) 2 SCC 406: 1973 SCC (Cri) 828] .) The necessity for holding an identification parade can arise only when the accused are not previously known to the witnesses. The whole idea of a test identification parade is that witnesses who claim to have seen the culprits at the time of occurrence are to identify them from the midst of other persons without any aid or any other source. The test is done to check upon their veracity. In other words, the main object of holding an identification parade, during the investigation stage, is to test the memory of the witnesses based upon first impression and also to enable the prosecution to decide whether all or any of them could be cited as eyewitnesses of the crime. The identification proceedings are in the nature of tests and significantly, therefore, there is no provision for it in the Code and the Evidence Act. It is desirable that a test identification parade should be conducted as soon as after the arrest of the accused. This becomes necessary to eliminate the possibility of the accused being shown to the witnesses prior to the test identification parade. This is a very common plea of the accused and, therefore, the prosecution has to be cautious to ensure that there is no scope for making such an allegation. If, however, circumstances are beyond control and there is some delay, it cannot be said to be fatal to the prosecution.

17. It is trite to say that the substantive evidence is the evidence of identification in court. Apart from the clear provisions of Section 9 of the Evidence Act, the position in law is well settled by a catena of decisions of this Court. The facts, which establish the identity of the accused persons, are relevant under Section 9 of the Evidence Act. As a general rule, the substantive evidence of a witness is the statement made in court. The evidence of mere identification of the accused person at the trial for the first time is from its very nature inherently of a weak character. The purpose of a prior test identification, therefore, is to test and strengthen the trustworthiness of that evidence. It is, accordingly, considered a safe rule of prudence to generally look for corroboration of the sworn testimony of witnesses in court as to the identity of the accused who are strangers to them, in the form of earlier identification proceedings. This rule of prudence, however, is subject to exceptions, when, for example, the court is impressed by a particular witness on whose testimony it can safely rely, without such or other corroboration. The identification parades belong to the stage of investigation, and there is no provision in the Code which obliges the investigating agency to hold or confers a right upon the accused to claim a test identification parade. They do not constitute substantive evidence and these parades are essentially governed by Section 162 of the Code. Failure to hold a test identification parade would not make inadmissible the evidence of identification in court. The weight to be attached to such identification should be a matter for the courts of fact. In appropriate cases it may accept the evidence of identification even without insisting on corroboration. (See Kanta Prashad v. Delhi Admn. [AIR 1958 SC 350: 1958 Cri LJ 698], Vaikuntam Chandrappa v. State of A.P. [AIR 1960 SC 1340: 1960 Cri LJ 1681], Budhsen v. State of U.P. [(1970) 2 SCC 128: 1970 SCC (Cri) 343: AIR 1970 SC 1321] and Rameshwar Singh v. State of J&K [(1971) 2 SCC 715: 1971 SCC (Cri) 638: AIR 1972 SC 102].'

28. Then Recently in Vinod @ Nasmulla v. State of Chhattisgarh, (2025) 4 SCC 312 Hon'ble Supreme Court again reiterated that:

'21. A test identification parade under Section 9 of the Evidence Act, 1872[] is not substantive evidence in a criminal prosecution but is only corroborative evidence. The purpose of holding a test identification parade during the stage of investigation is, firstly, to ensure that the investigating agency is proceeding in the right direction where the accused is unknown and, secondly, to serve as a corroborative piece of evidence when the witness identifies the accused during trial. [Umesh Chandra v. State of Uttarakhand, (2021) 17 SCC 616, para 9; Iqbal v. State of U.P., (2015) 6 SCC 623, para 15: (2015) 3 SCC (Cri) 301] The evidence of identification merely corroborates and strengthens the oral testimony in court which alone is the primary and substantive evidence as to identity. [Hari Nath v. State of U.P., (1988) 1 SCC 14, para 19: 1988 SCC (Cri) 14]

22. In Rameshwar Singh v. State of J&K [Rameshwar Singh v. State of J&K, (1971) 2 SCC 715: 1971 SCC (Cri) 638], a three-Judge Bench of this Court succinctly summarised the evidentiary value of the TIP as under: (SCC p. 719, para 6) '6. 'The identification during police investigation' is not substantive evidence in law and it can only be used for corroborating or contradicting evidence of the witness concerned as given in Court. The identification proceedings 'must be so conducted that evidence with regard to them when given at the trial, enables the court safely to form appropriate judicial opinion about its evidentiary value for the purpose of corroborating or contradicting the statement in Court of the identifying witness.'

Thus, if the witness who identified a person or an article in the TIP is not examined during trial, the TIP report which may be useful to corroborate or contradict him would lose its evidentiary value for the purposes of identification.

23. The rationale behind the aforesaid legal principle is that unless the witness enters the witness box and submits himself for cross-examination how can it be ascertained as to on what basis he identified the person or the article. Because it is quite possible that before the TIP is conducted the accused may be shown to the witness or the witness may be tutored to identify the accused. Be that as it may, once the person who identifies the accused during the TIP is not produced as a witness during trial, the TIP is of no use to sustain an identification by some other witness.'

29. The legal character of a Test Identification Parade (TIP) as a non-substantive piece of evidence has been firmly established through a long line of Supreme Court jurisprudence, extending from early precedents to very recent rulings. In foundational cases like Kanta Prashad v. Delhi Administration (1958) SCC Online SC 10 and Sheikh Hasib v. State of Bihar (1972) 4 SCC 773, it has been clarified that TIP is primarily an investigative tool intended to reassure the police that their inquiry is moving in the right direction. This principle was further elaborated in cases like Dana Yadav v. State of Bihar (2002) 7 SCC 295 and Munshi Singh (supra), where the Court observed that while dock identification is the only substantive evidence, a prior TIP is a "rule of prudence" necessary to corroborate the witness's memory. Most recently, in Vinod @ Nasmulla (supra) the Supreme Court reaffirmed that TIP cannot be the sole basis of conviction.

30. The collective findings of these judgments and law laid down in Section 9 of Indian Evidence Act, 1972 (Section 7 of the Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam, 2023) establishes that the primary purpose of a Test Identification Parade (TIP) or the identification of property under this section is to provide corroborative value to the investigation; it is not a substantive piece of evidence that can stand alone as be the basis of conviction. In the eyes of law, identification is a matter of opinion and memory, which are susceptible to error, influence, or suggestion, especially when the object in question is a common article like a shawl. A "weak" or "corroborative" piece of evidence as per Section 9 requires the support of other strong, independent links to complete the chain of circumstances. Therefore, the evidence of the shawl, being corroborative in nature, is insufficient to establish the guilt of the accused.

31. In view of the aforesaid discussions and the facts and circumstances of the case, we are of the view that the findings recorded by the learned Trial Court in the impugned judgment are not in conformity with the evidence on record. The prosecution case rests entirely on circumstantial evidence; however, the chain of circumstances is far from complete. Notably, the recovery of the "shawl" is highly doubtful and lacks evidentiary value. Furthermore, the serious lapses in the investigation process and the lack of independent witnesses create a significant gap in the prosecution's version of events. The learned Trial Judge failed to appreciate that in a case of circumstantial evidence, the circumstances must be of a conclusive nature, leaving no room for any other hypothesis except the guilt of the accused. Consequently, the judgment of conviction of learned trial Court is found to be unsustainable in the eyes of the law and is liable to be set aside.

32. Accordingly, the appeal is allowed, and the judgment of conviction is hereby set aside.

33. The appellant is in jail. If the appellant is not required in any other case, he be released forthwith.

34. Let a copy of the judgment and order alongwith trial court record be sent to the concerned Chief Judicial Magistrate/Trial Court for compliance.

35. Before parting with the judgment, I would like to express my appreciation to my Research Associate, Ms. Anjali Singh for her thorough research and assistance to the Court in the instant case.

Sri Vinay Saran, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Avijit Saxena for Respondent No. 2; Sri Acharya Rajesh Tripathi, learned A.G.A. for the State.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Abdul Shahid, J.)

1. Heard Sri H.N. Singh, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Vineet Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the appellant, Sri Vinay Saran, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Avijit Saxena, learned counsel for the Respondent No. 2 and Sri Acharya Rajesh Tripathi, learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. The present Criminal appeal under Section 14-A(1) of the Scheduled Castes Act and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 has been filed against the impugned order dated 14.10.2025 passed by Special Judge (SC/ST Act)/Additional District & Sessions Judge, Mahoba in Special Case No.86 of 2025 (State Vs. Mahesh Tiwari and Another) under Sections 221, 132, 352, 351(2), 127(1) of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 and Sections 3(1)(r), 3(1)(s), 3(2)(5a) of the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 arising out of Case Crime No.0277 of 2025, Police Station Kotwali Nagar, District Mahoba and the entire proceedings of Special Case No.86 of 2025 (State Vs. Mahesh Tiwari and Another) pending in the Court of Additional District & Sessions Judge/Special Judge (SC/ST Act), Mahoba.

3. The genesis of the case, as per the complainant/opposite party no. 2, Jai Prakash Anuragi, is that he lodged an F.I.R. regarding an incident dated 28.06.2025 at 16:50 hours. The F.I.R. was registered with a delay on 29.06.2025 at 13:26 hours under Sections 221, 132, 352, and 351(2) of the IPC, and Sections 3(1)(r), 3(1)(s), and 3(2)(va) of the SC/ST Act, 1989. The complainant lodged the F.I.R. against two accused persons, namely, (1) Mahesh Tiwari, son of unknown, and (2) Ankit Shukla, son of Devendra Shukla.

4. It is stated in the complaint that on 28.06.2025, during the tender process at the Zila Panchayat, when documents were being deposited in the tender box, at about 4:50 p.m., Mahesh Tiwari (resident of Kabrai, Mahoba) and Ankit Shukla (resident near Vikas Bhawan, Mahoba), along with their associates, entered the premises and approached the tender box. They allegedly instructed that water be poured into the box. Upon protest by a government employee present there, Mahesh Tiwari pushed the employee aside, while Ankit Shukla allegedly caught hold of the complainant/Jai Prakash Anuragi from behind and abused him using caste-based remarks in a loud voice and said where is Kuriya Chairman.

5. On hearing this noise, the complainant, along with Zila Panchayat member Shri Mrityunjay Pratap Ahirwar, came out and questioned the accused. It is further alleged that Mahesh Tiwari threatened the complainant and used caste-based remarks against both the complainant and the said member, and thereafter left the spot, extending threats of future consequences.

6. The present criminal appeal has been filed against the summoning order dated 14.10.2025 issued after submission of the charge sheet against the appellant, Mahesh Tiwari. The charge sheet was also filed against Shailendra Singh, who is not before this Court.

7. At the outset, learned counsel for the opposite party no. 2 raised a preliminary objection that the summoning order has been issued on the basis of the investigation, followed by submission of the charge sheet; hence, the relief sought by the appellant for quashing of the charge sheet, the summoning order, and the entire proceedings is not liable to be quashed.

8. Learned counsel for the opposite party no. 2/complainant had relied on the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of Gujarat Versus Afroz Mohammed Hasanfatta (reportable judgement) passed in Criminal Appeal No. 224 of 2019 dated 05.02.2019. The said appeal was filed before the Honb'ble Supreme Court against the order of the High Court of Gujarat dated 03.05.2017 allowing the Criminal Revision No.264 of 2017 and by which the High Court has set aside the order dated 15.11.2014 passed by the Chief Judicial Magistrate at Surat by which the Magistrate had taken cognizance of the offences punishable under Sections 420, 465, 467, 468, 471, 477A and 120-B IPC on the basis of the second supplementary charge sheet filed by the police in Criminal Case No.62851/2014 and ordered issuance of process to the respondent-accused. The impugned judgment which was challenged before the Hon'ble Supreme Court was against the criminal revision.

9. Learned counsel for the appellant has objected that the present criminal appeal is maintainable and the entire relief sought by him in the said appeal could be granted by this Court. This is not a criminal revision rather this is a criminal appeal under section 14-A(1) of the Scheduled Castes Act and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989. (later referred as 'Act, 1989' for the sake of brevity). It is as follows:

‘Section 14A. Appeals.’(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974), (corresponding B.N.S.S., 2023) an appeal shall lie, from any judgment, sentence or order, not being an interlocutory order, of a Special Court or an Exclusive Special Court, to the High Court both on facts and on law.’

10. There is legal force in the submission made by learned counsel for the appellant. Undoubtedly, the present matter is a criminal appeal under Section 14-A(1) of the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989, wherein the High Court has jurisdiction to review the order passed by the Special Court, as defined under the said provision, on both facts and law.

11. Learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that there is a considerable delay in lodging the F.I.R. The opposite party is neither illiterate nor uneducated; rather, he is the Chairman of the Zila Panchayat. The F.I.R. was lodged against Mahesh Tiwari (appellant) as well as Ankit Shukla; however, no specific role was subsequently assigned to Ankit Shukla, who has been exonerated during the investigation, and no charge sheet has been filed against him. Ankit Shukla was named in the F.I.R. along with the name of his father; hence, it may be presumed that Jai Prakash Anuragi (opposite party no. 2) was well aware of him. The F.I.R. was lodged on the next day of the incident, with a delay of approximately 24 hours.

12. Learned counsel for the appellant has further submitted that there are material inconsistencies in the statements made by the complainant during the investigation, and none of the independent witnesses has supported his version.

13. It is further submitted that as per the complainant’s own averments, the ingredients of the offences under the SC/ST Act could not be fulfilled as the alleged incident did not occur in a public view. It is contended that the Chairman came out of his chamber only for two minutes and returned shortly thereafter. It is also alleged that the complainant did not want the appellant to participate as a competitor in the tender process and attempted to prevent him from submitting his tender.

14. Per contra, learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 has submitted that there is consistency in the complainant’s statements and there is ocular evidence supporting the prosecution case. It is further submitted that the appellant has failed to prove any motive, prima facie case is made out against him and the charge sheet has been duly filed and cognizance taken by the learned Special Court. Accordingly, the present criminal appeal is liable to be dismissed.

15. Learned counsel for the appellant has further submitted that the appellant is a contractor registered with various departments. A tender notice inviting e-tender/e-auction was published by the Zila Panchayat, Mahoba on 11.06.2025 for various tender items and last extended date was fixed 28.06.2025 on that date the appellant went to submit his tender in the tender box. The appellant though is qualified for submitting his tender but was being illegally prevented from submitting his tender in the tender box because the Chairman of Zila Panchayat i.e. the informant was interested in handing over the contract to the person of his choice and for that purpose, he was preventing the appellant from submitting the tender and thereafter to participate in bid. The appellant showed his objection for not permitting to submit the tender, consequently, the Chairman of Zila Panchayat i.e. the informant became annoyed and in spite of that, the appellant had submitted the tender, hence the informant has lodged an FIR.

16. Learned counsel for the appellant has further submitted that the statement of the complainant was recorded under section 161 Cr.P.C. but he has failed to make any statement about the specific use of language relating to caste and further, it is not disputed that the alleged incident has not taken place in public view but is said to have happened in the office of the Zila Panchayat.

17. The statement of the complainant/opposite party no. 2 was first recorded on 29.06.2025 under Section 161 Cr.P.C., wherein he stated that Mahesh Tiwari threatened a government employee and pushed him, while Ankit Shukla caught hold of the complainant from behind and, after issuing threats, hurled abuses and used casteist remarks, stating, 'Where is that Kuriya Chairman'' This was heard inside, whereupon the complainant and his associate, Mrityunjay Pratap Ahirwar, came outside and questioned the accused as to why they were abusing. Thereafter, Mahesh Tiwari and Ankit Shukla allegedly said, 'Kuriya, we will see, how you run the Zila Panchayat,' and further addressed Mrityunjay Pratap Ahirwar, who was standing beside the complainant, with caste-based remarks, threatening him as well. Thereafter, they left the place after extending threats.

18. The informant further stated that Mahesh Tiwari and Ankit Shukla had threatened the government employee, Ram Milan Verma, and had interfered with the tender process and official work. He also stated that the CCTV footage could be examined for verification. In response to a specific query as to how he knew Mahesh Tiwari and Ankit Shukla, the informant stated that he had known both of them for a long time and that they were well acquainted with each other, including knowledge of each other's caste.

19. In reply to a further question as to whether any physical assault (marpeet) had taken place with him or any other person, he stated that no such incident had occurred. When asked whether he was willing to undergo a medical examination, he stated that, since no physical assault had taken place, he did not wish to undergo any medical examination of his own accord.

20. Learned counsel for the appellant has further submitted that another relevant witness, Shiv Shankar Vyas, who was posted as Nazir in the office of the Zila Panchayat, has narrated the incident dated 28.06.2025 only to the extent of submission of the tender and has not supported the allegations made by the Chairman of the Zila Panchayat regarding the use of caste-related language or any humiliation on the basis of caste.

21. Learned counsel for the appellant has further submitted that another relevant statement of Ram Milan an employee of the Zila Panchayat do admit that the appellant had got an apprehension that he is being prevented from submitting his tender, in the circumstances, he was caught hold by Ankit Shukla and the appellant has submitted his tender in tender box but regarding other alleged incident of use of language relating to caste was not supported by Ram Milan and Rajesh Kumar.

22. Learned counsel for the appellant has further submitted that the police recorded the statement of Opposite Party No. 2/complainant on 21.07.2025 vide CD-8, wherein he stated that he had omitted to mention the name of Ravi Tiwari in the First Information Report along with the appellant and Ankit Shukla, and that Ravi Tiwari was also present at the scene of occurrence. In this regard, a true copy of the statement of the complainant recorded vide CD-8 dated 21.07.2025, along with the statement of witness Mrityunjay, has been jointly filed by the appellant.

23. Further, the third statement of the informant was recorded by the Investigating Officer on 19.09.2025 vide CD-17, wherein he stated that Ankit Shukla, who was earlier alleged to have caught hold of Ram Milan Verma, was not present at the scene of occurrence, and that the person who had caught hold of Ram Milan Verma was some other individual. He further stated that Ankit Shukla was not involved in the offence.

24. The statement of Ram Milan Verma was again recorded on 19.09.2025, wherein he also changed the prosecution version by stating that Ankit Shukla was not the person who had caught hold of him, but that the said person was Shailendra Singh, the driver of Mahesh Tiwari.

25. After concluding the investigation, the Investigating Officer submitted the charge sheet on 22.09.2025 against the appellant and Shailendra Singh, and concluded that Ankit Shukla and Ravi Tiwari were not involved in the alleged offence and were not present at the scene of occurrence.

26. Learned A.G.A. has filed a counter affidavit sworn by Arun Kumar Singh, who is the Circle Officer (City), District Mahoba. He has deposed that the Zila Panchayat, Mahoba, had invited tenders on 11.06.2025, and the last extended date for submission was fixed as 28.06.2025. On that date, the appellant and other persons were present at about 4:50 p.m.

27. It is further submitted that the Investigating Officer conducted further investigation. On 06.09.2025, the deponent, being the Deputy Superintendent of Police, was given charge of the Circle (City), and the investigation of the present case was taken up by him on 08.09.2025. Thereafter, the case diary and other evidence were examined. In the course of investigation, further statements of the complainant, Shri Jaiprakash Anuragi, the victim, and other witnesses were recorded. The CCTV footage of the spot was also examined and the site was inspected.

28. During investigation, it was found that on 28.06.2025, in the premises of the District Panchayat, Mahoba, after being pushed by the accused Mahesh Tiwari, the victim Ram Milan Verma above was pushed.

29. The person who hold the above mentioned person, it was Ankit Shukla son of Devendra Shukla has been told to be some other person Shailendra Singh (driver of Mahesh Tiwari) and the person involved (holding) has been identified by the accused and witnesses as Shailendra Singh, the complainant and witnesses above have confirmed that Ankit Shukla son of Devendra Shukla above named and Ravi Tiwari son of Ram Manohar Tiwari above named who came to light, were not involved (participants) in the said incident. From the consideration of CCTV footage related to the above mentioned case, all the persons seen except the named Mahesh Tiwari and Shailendra Singh above named were found to be in normal posture and their expressions appeared to be normal.

30. Thereafter, Ankit Shukla and accused Ravi Tiwari have been exonerated and the charge sheet was filed against Shailendra singh and Mahesh Tiwari and section 127(1) B.N.S. has been added. The Investigation Officer had relied on the third statement of the complainant under section 161 Cr.P.C. (corresponding section 180 B.N.S.S., 2023) dated 19.09.2025 where in the third statement of the complainant, the complainant stated that I closely minutely observed the video related to the incident and enquired from other people, then I came to know that I have written and mentioned the name of the person who caught the employee Rammilan Verma after pushing him, as Ankit Shukla. However, that person is not Ankit Shukla, the person who caught him is someone else, about whom not much information is available, perhaps he was the driver of Mahesh Tiwari, Ankit Shukla was not involved in the incident.

31. However, in his earlier statements dated 29.06.2025 and 21.07.2025 recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C., as well as in the F.I.R. lodged by him, the complainant had specifically named Ankit Shukla along with his father's name, Devendra Shukla. When the I.O. has specifically questioned, then the complainant stated that he knows very well to Mahesh Tiwari and Ankit Shukla for a long time and also aware of their caste identities.

32. The complainant is neither illiterate nor uneducated; rather, he is a responsible person holding the position of Chairman of the Zila Panchayat. It cannot be assumed that such a person would make statements that change materially over time. However, from 29.06.2025 to 21.07.2025 and thereafter on 19.09.2025, there have been material changes in his statements, despite the F.I.R. having been lodged one day after the incident by himself.

33. The tender process was to be completed by 5:00 p.m. on 28.06.2025, and the alleged incident is stated to have occurred at about 16:50 hours. It is evident that the appellant came, submitted his tender, and thereafter left the premises.

34. When a specific query was put to the complainant in his third statement dated 19.09.2025 by the Investigating Officer as to why he had earlier named Ankit Shukla in the F.I.R., in his statements, and in the supplementary statement, and had even identified him in the video, but was now stating that another person was involved and Ankit Shukla had no role in the incident, the complainant replied that Ankit Shukla had approached him and asked him to verify the video. Upon re-examining the footage, he realized that Mahesh Tiwari had pushed Ram Milan and the person holding him was not Ankit Shukla but another individual/wearing a round-neck black T-shirt, lowers, and slippers. He then stated that Ankit Shukla is innocent and declined to say anything further.

35. Thus, the entire genesis of the prosecution case has been materially altered during the course of investigation. There is no question of relying solely upon subsequent perusal of video footage for identification of the accused, when the complainant was admittedly present at the spot and had initially named and assigned specific roles to each accused in the F.I.R.

36. While electronic evidence is admissible, it is ordinarily considered in addition to ocular or circumstantial evidence. In the present case, the complainant/Opposite Party No. 2 was present at the spot and had made serious allegations against the appellant under the provisions of the B.N.S.

as well as the special provisions of the Act of 1989. The consistent changes in his version and his increasing reliance on electronic evidence over his own ocular account cast serious doubt on the prosecution case.

37. Similarly, the injured Ram Milan Verma, an employee of the Zila Panchayat, has also recorded two statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C., dated 29.06.2025 and 19.09.2025, which are contradictory to each other. Being an employee under the administrative control of Opposite Party No. 2/complainant, who is the Chairman of the Zila Panchayat, the possibility of influence cannot be completely ruled out, particularly in the facts and circumstances of the present case.

38. Thus, both the complainant and the injured witness have consistently changed their versions from their earlier statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C., as well as from the contents of the F.I.R., which was lodged on the next day of the incident by complainant/opposite party no. 2 himself.

39. The State has filed a counter affidavit and has relied more upon the CCTV footage than the ocular evidence. It is stated that the CCTV footage dated 28.06.2025 is available from 16:00 hours to 17:40:19 hours, though the footage does not contain any audio.

40. As per the version in the F.I.R., the alleged incident took place at 16:50 hours. However, as per the CCTV footage, which forms the basis of the filing of the charge sheet, it is recorded that at 16:51:09 hours certain persons entered the office of the Zila Panchayat, namely Mahesh Tiwari, Himanshu Shukla, Sanjay Tiwari and Mohit Tiwari. Thereafter, at 16:51:45 hours, Himanshu Shukla took some papers from Mohit Tiwari and dropped in the box. On which some objections has been raised by the injured Ram Milan then Mahesh Tiwari had pushed injured Ram Milan Verma at 16.51.49 hours and another person wearing a black colour half round-neck T-shirt, appeared to be holding Ram Milan. The CCTV footage shows that Mohit Tiwari dropped the papers at 16:52:09 hours.

41. The complainant, Jai Prakash Anuragi failed to identify the person who was holding the injured Ram Milan and specifically stated that the said person was not Ankit Shukla, who had been previously named in the F.I.R. On the other hand, the injured Ram Milan stated that the person holding him was Shailendra Singh, the driver of Mahesh Tiwari. Thus, the prosecution story has undergone a material change.

42. Since the registration of the F.I.R. on 29.06.2025 and the statements of the complainant recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. on 29.06.2025, 21.07.2025 and 19.09.2025 as well as the statement of Ram Milan was recorded on 29.06.2025 and on 19.09.2025, there have been material inconsistencies. Another person standing near Sanjay Tiwari, wearing a sky-blue shirt, has been identified by all as Ankit Shukla, and another person wearing a saffron (bhagwa) kurta has been identified as Krishna Kant Mishra.

43. As per CCTV footage, at 16:52:47 hours, two persons were seen coming outside the office of the Chairman of the Zila Panchayat; the complainant has stated that one of them was himself and the other was Mrityunjay Pratap Ahirwar, a Member of the Zila Panchayat. Thereafter, some conversation appeared to took place between the complainant/Chairman and his colleague, Mrityunjay Pratap Ahirwar, with Mahesh Tiwari and his associates, and their demeanor appeared normal.

44. Thereafter, at 16:54:50 hours, Mrityunjay Pratap Ahirwar was seen entering the office of the Zila Panchayat, and at the same time the complainant/Opposite Party No. 2 also entered his office. Subsequently, Mahesh Tiwari and his associates remained present in the premises, standing and sitting there, and ultimately left the premises at 16:57:27 hours.

45. This forms the basis of the filing of the charge sheet after the third statement of the complainant/Opposite Party No. 2 under Section 161 Cr.P.C., which is based on the CCTV footage. The complainant has thereby denied and materially departed from the ocular averments made at the time of registration of the F.I.R. and in his earlier statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. dated 29.06.2025 and 21.07.2025.

46. The said CCTV footage is also contrary to the ocular evidence of the injured Ram Milan himself, an employee of the Zila Panchayat. His first statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C., based on ocular evidence, and his subsequent statement dated 19.09.2025 based on CCTV footage, are contradictory to each other.

47. As per the F.I.R., the incident occurred at 16:50 hours, whereas the CCTV footage, which forms the basis of the charge sheet, shows that at 16:52:47 hours the complainant/Chairman and Mrityunjay Pratap Ahirwar came outside their office. A brief conversation then took place between them and Mahesh Tiwari and his associates, during which their appearance, demeanor and conditions are appeared to be absolutely normal.

48. Thereafter, at 16:54:50 hours, both Mrityunjay Pratap Ahirwar and the complainant/Opposite Party No. 2 are seen re-entering their office. Thus, they remained outside for approximately two minutes, during which only a normal conversation took place with the appellant and his associates and the behaviour and demeanor of the appellant was normal. Even thereafter, the appellant and his associates remained present at the Zila Panchayat premises and left the Zila Panchayat office premises at 16:57:27 hours.

49. These CCTV recordings have ultimately become the basis for filing the charge sheet against the appellant. Whereas, the ocular statement of the complainant and Ram Milan recorded in F.I.R., and their statements under section 161 Cr.P.C. on 19.06.2025, 21.07.2025 and 19.09.2025, respectively, are contradictory to their statement under section 161 Cr.P.C. after seeing C.C.T.V. recording on 19.09.2025. Both are contradictory. It is the ocular evidence which has to prevail, whereas, both are relying on statement after seeing C.C.T.V. footage, which raises serious doubt on entire prosecution story.

50. A counter affidavit has also been filed by Opposite Party No. 2/complainant, wherein it is stated that the said counter affidavit is dated 15.02.2026. He has deposed that the appellant ought to have taken legal recourse against the answering Opposite Party instead of using caste-offensive words and engaging in manhandling with the staff of the answering Opposite Party, which, according to him, shows that the appellant committed the alleged act knowingly and intentionally with the intent to tarnish the reputation of the answering Opposite Party.

51. However, in his statement, the answering Opposite Party has disclosed that specific caste-related words were used by the appellant, namely 'Koriya' towards him and 'Chamra' towards the Member of the Zila Panchayat, Mrityunjay Pratap Ahirwar. This indicates that, according to the complainant, the appellant used caste-related expressions towards both the answering Opposite Party and the said Member of the Zila Panchayat.

52. In paragraph 8 of the counter affidavit, it is deposed that the appellant was not prevented from depositing his tender document; rather, he was advised by the employee on duty at the tender box to insert the tender envelope directly without folding it. This was allegedly misconstrued by the appellant and his associate, Ankit Shukla, who then pushed the said employee and used caste-offensive words towards the answering Opposite Party as well as the Member of the Zila Panchayat, Mrityunjay Pratap Ahirwar, referring to him as 'Chamra.'

53. The complainant, in his third statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. on 19.09.2025, which is based on the CCTV footage, stated that Ankit Shukla was not involved. However, while filing the counter affidavit dated 15.02.2026, he again named Ankit Shukla.

54. The complainant is not consistent in his version; neither his averments based on ocular evidence nor those based on CCTV footage are consistent, and both are contradictory to each other. He has further deposed in paragraph 9 that the presence of the appellant and his associates at the place of occurrence, as well as the alleged manhandling committed by them, was captured in the CCTV camera installed inside the Zila Panchayat office, where the incident allegedly took place. The footage, which is without audio, is stated to show that a heated exchange and manhandling took place by the appellant and his associates.

55. However, as per the CCTV footage, the entry of Mahesh Tiwari into the premises is recorded at 16:51:09 hours, which has already been clearly explained in detail earlier.

56. The complainant/opposite Party No. 2, along with Mrityunjay Pratap Ahirwar, came outside their office at 16:52:47 hours and returned to their office at 16:54:50 hours. During this interval, the complainant and his associate, Mrityunjay Pratap Ahirwar, were seen talking to Mahesh Tiwari and his associates, and their demeanor appeared normal. The complainant remained outside his office for only about two minutes, as mentioned above, and there was no apparent altercation between them; rather, their conduct and demeanor appeared entirely normal.

57. Even after 16:54:50 hours, when the complainant and his associate had returned to their office, Mahesh Tiwari and his associates remained seated and standing in the premises and left the premises peacefully at 16:57:27 hours. Thus, the complainant has materially changed his averments, which were earlier based on ocular evidence.

58. He has further relied on the CCTV footage and has changed the complete averments. There is neither consistency nor corroboration in the contentions made in the F.I.R., which was lodged after a delay of about one day. Thereafter, the complainant recorded his statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. on 29.06.2025 and 21.07.2025. Subsequently, he recorded another statement on the basis of CCTV footage on 19.09.2025. All these statements are contradictory to each other.

59. The statement of Ram Milan Verma (injured), an employee of the Zila Panchayat, was first recorded on the basis of ocular evidence on 29.06.2025, and thereafter his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C., based on CCTV footage, was recorded on 19.09.2025. Both statements are contradictory to each other.

60. The complainant has further contended that the CCTV footage should prevail over the ocular evidence, which is contrary to the settled principles of law. It is the CCTV footage which ultimately became the basis for the filing of the charge sheet, and thereafter cognizance was taken by the learned Special Court and summons were issued.

61. The statement of the complainant suffers from inherent inconsistencies. No person is permitted to invoke the process of law according to his own wishes, surmises, and conjectures. Such inconsistencies go to the very root of the matter. The entire incident, as narrated and recorded by the complainant in his complaint, is contradicted by his subsequent deviations from his own statements and averments based on alleged ocular evidence.

62. Furthermore, the F.I.R. was lodged on the next day of the incident, after a reasonable lapse of time from the alleged occurrence. The F.I.R. has been lodged by a responsible person, who is the Chairman of the Zila Panchayat, therefore, the subsequent improvements and inconsistencies in the prosecution story cannot be judicially accepted.

63. In view of all the facts, reasons, circumstances and the provisions of law, the impugned summoning order dated 14.10.2025 passed by the Special Judge (SC/ST) Act/Additional District & Sessions Judge, Mahoba in Special Case No.86 of 2025 (State Vs. Mahesh Tiwari and Another), is hereby set aside and the entire proceedings against the appellant in the said session case is hereby quashed.

64. The criminal appeal is hereby allowed.

65. However, it is observed by this Court that the term 'court below' does not appear to be the correct legal terminology for the Special Court or the Exclusive Special Court as defined under Section 14 of the Act, 1989.

66. The impugned order challenged before this Court has been passed by the Special Court as defined under Section 14 of the Act, 1989.

67. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in SLP (Criminal) No. 1936 of 2019 (Sakhawat and Another v. State of U.P.), dated 08.02.2024, has held as under:

'The Registry to call for the soft copy of the record of the Trial Court. The soft copies thereof be provided to the learned counsel appearing for the parties.

The learned counsel appearing for the petitioners shall place on record the printed version of all the depositions of the prosecution witnesses and other relevant documents.'

It will be appropriate if the Registry of this Court stops referring to the Trial Courts as 'Lower Courts'. Even the record of the Trial Court should not be referred to as Lower Court Record (LCR). Instead, it should be referred as the Trial Court Record (TCR). The Registrar (Judicial) to take a note of this order. A copy of this order be sent to him.'

68. In view of the aforesaid order passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court, the terminology 'court below' may be replaced with 'trial court.' or the concerned court, as in the present case, is the Special Court under the SC/ST Act.

69. In view of the aforesaid order passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court, this may be included in the procedure of this Court.

70. A copy of this order, for this purpose only, may be placed before the learned Registrar General for perusal and may be considered for implementation of these directions of the Supreme Court after due procedure on the administrative side.

Issue for Consideration

Issue pertains to whether an application u/s 173(4) of Bhartiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023, seeking a direction for registration of an FIR in respect of alleged financial irregularities under the MNREGA Act, 2005, was maintainable at the instance of the revisionist, and whether the learned A.C.J.M.-I was justified in refusing to direct registration of an FIR in view of the statutory scheme contained in s. 28 r/w Sch.-I Paragraphs 26, 29(f) and 32 of MNREGA Act, 2005.

Headnotes

Bhartiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 - s. 173(4) - Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act, 2005 - s. 28, paragraph 26, 29(f), 32 of Sch. I - The Uttar Pradesh Panchayat Raj Act 1947 - s. 26 - Registration of FIR - Magistrate's discretion - Financial irregularity - Alleged misappropriation of Government funds - Gram pradhan - Ward member - Locus standi - Revisional jurisdiction - Supervisory power - Administrative Inquiry - CDO report - Criminal proceedings - Statutory remedy - Maintainability - The revisionist, an elected Ward Member of Gram Panchayat Majhauva Bakunth, moved an application u/s 173(4) of Bhartiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 seeking a direction for registration of an FIR against the Gram

Pradhan and other officials, alleging financial irregularities, fraudulent preparation of job cards, misappropriation of MNREGA funds and misuse of government money - During the proceedings, an inquiry report submitted by the Chief Development Officer, Basti, recorded that no major financial embezzlement had been found, though certain procedural irregularities relating to issuance of job cards to relatives of Gram Pradhan were noticed and had already been addressed departmentally - Relying upon the statutory mechanism provided under the MNREGA Act, 2005, the learned A.C.J.M.-I rejected the application as not maintainable - Aggrieved thereby, the revisionist filed instant criminal revision challenging the said order.

Held: Consequently, on a holistic consideration of inquiry report, the statutory bar under MNREGA Act, and absence of authorisation in favour of revisionist, the conclusion arrived at that the application was not legally maintainable cannot be faulted -The impugned order, thus, neither suffers from any jurisdictional error nor from any material illegality or perversity warranting interference in exercise of revisional jurisdiction - There are catena of judgments to the effect that when a Statute is a complete Code in itself and have the provision for overriding effect then the interpretation is to be given in a way that it gives prominence to subsequent legislation - The application u/s 173(4) BNSS is not maintainable at the instance of the revisionist, and the learned A.C.J.M.-I was justified in declining to direct registration of an FIR on her application - Consequently, the impugned order is justified, having duly considered all allegations for which registration of FIR was sought, and rightly relying on report of CDO, which records that opposite party nos. 1 and 2 did not commit any irregularities, while noting that the minor procedural lapse identified has already resulted in appropriate action against the concerned secretary - Accordingly, criminal revision petition is devoid of merit and dismissed. Case Arising From

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION: Criminal Revision No. - 247 of 2026

From the Judgment and Order dated 20.12.2024 passed by the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, 1st, Basti, in Criminal Misc. Case No. 2043 of 2024 arising out of Misc. Case No. 173/12/2024.

Appearances for Parties

Adv. for the Revisionist(s):

Adarsh Kumar, Subahsh Chandra Yadava

Adv. for the Opposite Party(s):
G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Swarupama Chaturvedi, J.)

1. The present criminal revision petition has been preferred assailing the order dated 20.12.2024, passed by the learned A.C.J.M., 1st, Basti in Criminal Misc. Case No. 2043 of 2024, Sushila Singh Vs. Resham Singh and others whereby the application filed by the revisionist under Section 173(4) of the Bhartiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 (hereinafter referred to as 'B.N.S.S.') has been rejected.

2. This Court has condoned the delay in filing this revision petition vide its order dated 13.01.2026, and thereafter the matter was listed for hearing today.

3. The undisputed facts in this case are that the revisionist is an elected ward member of Gram Panchayat Majhauva Bakunth, Block- Saltauva Gopalpur, who moved an application no Misc. Case No. 173/12/2024 dated 30.09.2024 under Section 173(4) B.N.S.S. before the court of A.C.J.M.-I, Basti, seeking a direction for registration of a First Information Report ((hereinafter referred to as 'FIR') at Police Station Rudhauhi.

4. During the course of proceedings before learned A.C.J.M.-I, Basti, an inquiry report dated 26.11.2024, bearing No. 756/MNREGA/Shi. Janch/2024-25, was submitted by the Chief Development Officer (hereinafter referred as 'CDO'), Basti, before the court concerned. Thereafter, learned A.C.J.M.-I, Basti, by order dated 20.12.2024, passed in Criminal Misc. Case No. 2043 of 2024, arising out of Misc. Case No. 173/12/2024, rejected the said application of the revisionist, which has given rise to the present revision.

5. Heard Sri Subhash Chandra Yadav, learned counsel appearing for the revisionist, who submits that prior to the year 2021 elections, job cards under the MNREGA scheme were created in the names of family members of the Gram Pradhan. He further submits that during the period 2021-2022, the said Gram Pradhan, in collusion with the Village Development Officer and other block level officers, committed financial irregularities by re-billing for works already completed in the year 2018- 19 and by withdrawing funds against fictitious MNREGA works, particularly on canal bandh.

6. Sri Yadav further submits that on 22.10.2022, the Gram Pradhan transferred MNREGA funds into her personal account. In addition, she also made fraudulent payments by preparing fake job cards in the names of her husband Vipin Singh, brothers-in-law Vikas Kumar and Vishal, and father-in-law's brother Ramchandra, thereby embezzling government funds. Specific amounts have been attributed to such alleged transfers and withdrawals.

7. Sri Yadav contends that upon a complaint made to the District Magistrate, an inquiry was conducted by the Block Development Officer, Saltauva Gopalpur, culminating in the issuance of a show-cause notice dated 06.12.2022 to the Gram Pradhan regarding the use of substandard materials in the construction of a school boundary wall. He further contends that the aforesaid acts collectively disclose cognizable offences involving misappropriation and misuse of MNREGA funds, however, despite the said allegations and material, no FIR was registered, compelling the revisionist to invoke the jurisdiction of the Magistrate under Section 173(4) BNSS.

8. On the other hand, Sri Chandan Singh, learned A.G.A. appearing for the State supports the impugned order and submits that no error has been committed by the learned Magistrate in rejecting the application of the revisionist and the order is well reasoned and based upon established principles of law.

9. Sri Singh contends that the allegations made by the revisionist were duly investigated in an administrative inquiry conducted by the competent authority, and the CDO, Basti, and in the report dated 26.11.2024, it is recorded that there is no sign of significant financial embezzlement of government funds by the Gram Pradhan, however, certain procedural irregularities were noticed with respect to the issuance of job cards in favour of family members of the Gram Pradhan, which was stated to have been prepared prior to the 2021 elections. In that regard, appropriate action had already been taken against the then Gram Panchayat Secretary, who delayed in handing over of documents, which led to providing of benefits as alleged but as soon as documents got handed over, the concerned job cards were cancelled, thereby addressing the irregularity at the departmental level itself.

10. Learned A.G.A. further contends that the controversy in question is governed by the special enactment, namely the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act, 2005 (hereinafter referred to as 'MNREGA Act'), which constitutes a complete Code in itself. Placing reliance upon Section 28 of the said Act, he argues that the provisions of the MNREGA Act have an overriding effect over other laws. He further referred to Schedule-I, Paragraph 26, which provides for recovery of misappropriated funds as arrears of land revenue, and Paragraphs 29(f) and 32 of Schedule-I, which specifically vest authority in the District Programme Coordinator to take disciplinary action and to initiate criminal proceedings, including lodging of an FIR, upon finding prima facie financial irregularities.

11. Relying upon above-mentioned statutory scheme, Sri Singh submits that the revisionist, being a private person, has no locus to seek direction for registration of an FIR under Section 173(4) BNSS in absence of any recommendation or authorization by the competent authority under the MNREGA framework. It is thus submitted that the learned Magistrate has rightly decided the application to be not maintainable.

12. In view of the rival submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and upon perusal of the record, the point for consideration before this Court is whether the application under Section 173(4) BNSS was maintainable at the instance of the revisionist in light of the statutory scheme provided under Section 28 read with Schedule I paragraphs 26, 29 (f) and 32 of MNREGA Act, 2005, and whether the learned A.C.J.M.-I was justified in declining to issue a direction for registration of FIR or the order suffers from illegality, material irregularity or patent error warranting interference by this Court.

13. To begin with it is important to understand the objective behind providing the power of criminal revision. The Supreme Court has analysed the object of the revisional jurisdiction under Section 401 Code of Criminal Procedure (1973), which now corresponds to Section 442 of the BNSS, in Janata Dal v. H.S. Chowdhary, (1992) 4 SCC 305 and held that:

"130. The object of the revisional jurisdiction under Section 401 is to confer power upon superior criminal courts ? a kind of paternal or supervisory jurisdiction ? in order to correct miscarriage of justice arising from misconception of law, irregularity of procedure, neglect of proper precaution or apparent harshness of treatment which has resulted, on the one hand, or on the other hand in some underserved hardship to individuals. The controlling power of the High Court is discretionary and it must be exercised in the interest of justice with regard to all facts and circumstances of each particular case, anxious attention being given to the said facts and circumstances which vary greatly from case to case."

14. Regarding scope of the revision jurisdiction, Supreme Court has held in Sanjaysinh Ramrao Chavan v. Dattatray Gulabrao Phalke, (2015) 3 SCC 123 that:

"14. In the case before us, the learned Magistrate went through the entire records of the case, not limiting to the report filed by the police and has passed a reasoned order holding that it is not a fit case to take cognizance for the purpose of issuing process to the appellant. Unless the order passed by the Magistrate is perverse or the view taken by the court is wholly unreasonable or there is non-consideration of any relevant material or there is palpable misreading of records, the Revisional Court is not justified in setting aside the order, merely because another view is possible. The Revisional Court is not meant to act as an appellate court. The whole purpose of the revisional jurisdiction is to preserve the power in the court to do justice in accordance with the principles of criminal jurisprudence. The revisional power of the court under Sections 397 to 401 CrPC is not to be equated with that of an appeal. Unless the finding of the court, whose decision is sought to be revised, is shown to be perverse or untenable in law or is grossly erroneous or glaringly unreasonable or where the decision is based on no material or where the material facts are wholly ignored or where the judicial discretion is exercised arbitrarily or capriciously, the courts may not interfere with decision in exercise of their revisional jurisdiction."

15. The basic jurisprudence of the power of revision is same while exercising revisional jurisdiction in all revision cases, and the Court does not sit in appeal over the decision of the Magistrate in any revision petition. Unless the order under challenge is shown to be perverse, manifestly illegal, or resulting in miscarriage of justice, interference is not warranted. The revisional jurisdiction of this Court is supervisory in nature and is intended to correct jurisdictional errors, perversity or gross illegality. It is not an appellate forum for re-evaluating facts or substituting another possible view. None of these parameters are attracted in the present case.

16. The Supreme Court in Sanjaysinh Ramrao Chavan (supra) held that the revisional court is not to interfere with the order of the Magistrate merely because it does not agree with the conclusion arrived at. If the Magistrate's order is based on material on record and suffers from no patent illegality or jurisdictional error, the High Court should not disturb the findings in its revisional capacity and here, the CDO report and MNREGA Act provisions are discussed and applied correctly in the order passed by learned A.C.J.M.-I, which makes it clear that the impugned order does not warrant interference under revision jurisdiction.

17. Moving further, to understand the power of the Magistrate under Section 173(4) BNSS, it is necessary to note that the provision is to ensure that no incident goes without investigation and if there is such situation with anyone, then this provision provides the remedy. For ready reference Section 173(4) BNSS is reproduced below:

"Any person aggrieved by a refusal on the part of an officer in charge of a police station to record the information referred to in sub-section (1), may send the substance of such information, in writing and by post, to the Superintendent of Police concerned who, if satisfied that such information discloses the commission of a cognizable offence, shall either investigate the case himself or direct an investigation to be made by any police officer subordinate to him, in the manner provided by this Sanhita, and such officer shall have all the powers of an officer in charge of the police station in relation to that offence failing which such aggrieved person may make an application to the Magistrate."

18. A careful reading of Section 173(4) BNSS shows that while the legislature has used the expression "any person aggrieved", thereby conferring a remedy, the same is qualified by the use of the expression "may" and the requirement that the authority must be "satisfied" that the information discloses a cognizable offence. Thus, the provision is to be understood as enabling in nature and does not mandate mechanical exercise of power by the Magistrate.

19. It is a settled principle of interpretation, embodied in the Latin maxim "noscitur a sociis", that the meaning of words used in a statutory provision must be derived from the context in which they occur and from the words surrounding them. A provision cannot be read in fragments by isolating individual expressions, rather, it must be construed as a whole so as to give coherent and consistent meaning to all words in it. Applying this principle to Section 173(4) of BNSS, the expressions "may", "satisfied", and "any person aggrieved", though occurring at different places, are required to be read together and in conjunction with the scheme of the provision, so as to ascertain the true legislative intent and to avoid an interpretation that renders any part internally inconsistent.

20. Harmonious reading of Section 173(4) BNSS demonstrates a balance between ensuring access to justice and preventing misuse of the criminal process. It contemplates application of mind and a judicious assessment of the facts and circumstances of each case. The scheme of the Section 173(4) BNSS indicates a mechanism, where recourse to the Magistrate arises only upon failure in getting earlier remedy, hence, the magistrate is required to assess the circumstance led to the filing of the application. The expression "may" used in the provision, as per Black's Law Dictionary, is to confers discretion, rather than imposing a mandatory obligation. It indicates that the authority is empowered to act, but is not bound to do so in every case, the exercise of such power being dependent upon the facts and circumstances presented.

21. In the light of the above interpretation, the facts of the present case is to be seen which gives right to any person aggrieved but the discretion remains with the Magistrate. The exercise of power under Section 173(4) BNSS is not automatic and requires due consideration of the surrounding circumstances, including the sequence of events and the conduct of the parties. Where the application is moved for which the departmental action is concluded as per Statute, the Magistrate would be justified in exercising restraint. The requirement of satisfaction under the provision necessarily entails such scrutiny and precludes mechanical directions for registration of an FIR.

22. Considering the impugned order in the backdrop of the rival submissions, statutory framework and established principles of law, it is evident that the learned A.C.J.M.-I has proceeded on a correct understanding of law and material on record, warranting no interference in revisional jurisdiction.

23. Learned A.C.J.M.-I has duly considered the inquiry report dated 26.11.2024 submitted by the CDO, Basti. The said report does not disclose any case of major financial embezzlement of State or Central Finance Commission funds. However, it records a limited irregularity pertaining to issuance of job cards in favour of relatives of the Gram Pradhan prior to the 2021 elections, which was already addressed at the administrative level by fastening responsibility upon the then Gram Panchayat Secretary and by cancellation of the said job cards. The impugned order records that the job cards provided to the relatives of the Gram Pradhan was due to delay in document transfer by the Secretary and the moment it was identified the said cards were cancelled. Thus, the foundational factual premise for directing registration of FIR on allegations of large-scale embezzlement was not substantiated at the level of inquiry.

24. The learned A.C.J.M.-I has correctly appreciated the statutory scheme of the MNREGA Act, 2005, which is a special enactment containing a self-contained mechanism for dealing with allegations arising under it. Schedule-I, Paragraph 26 provides that misappropriated amounts are recoverable as arrears of land revenue, while Paragraphs 29(f) and 32 specifically vest authority in the District Programme Coordinator as the competent authority to initiate disciplinary action and to direct criminal proceedings, including registration of FIR, upon satisfaction of prima facie irregularity. In view of this special statutory mechanism, the competence for initiating such action is not left open-ended but it has prescribed the designated authority. Relevant provisions read as under:

"Schedule I

Minimum Features of a Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme

26. Any misappropriation of amounts spent under the Act shall be recoverable under the Revenue Laws for recovery prevailing in the State.

...

29. Establish an effective grievance redressal mechanism consisting of :

....

(f) In case of a prima facie evidence regarding financial irregularities are noticed after preliminary enquiry of the complaint or of findings in the social audit report, the District Programme Coordinator after obtaining legal advice will ensure that a First Information Report is lodged;

32. Wherever contravention of the provisions of the Act has been proved after due enquiry by the State Government or the District Programme Coordinator or the Programme Officer or the Ombudsperson or any other authority authorized by the State Government, action in accordance with the provisions of section 25 of the Act shall be taken."

25. Further, Section 28 of the MNREGA Act, 2005, gives overriding effect to its provisions over other laws. For ready reference the provisions mentioned above are quoted below :

"28. Act to have overriding effect. The provisions of this Act or the Schemes made thereunder shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any other law for the time being in force or in any instrument having effect by virtue of such law:

Provided that where a State enactment exists or is enacted to provide employment guarantee for unskilled manual work to rural households consistent with the provisions of this Act under which the entitlement of the households is not less than and the conditions of employment are not inferior to what is guaranteed under this Act, the State Government shall have the option of implementing its own enactment:

Provided further that in such cases the financial assistance shall be paid to the concerned State Government in such manner as shall be determined by the Central Government, which shall not exceed what the State would have been entitled to receive under this Act had a Scheme made under this Act had to be implemented. "

26. Since the revisionist has asserted its locus being the elected ward member of the Gram Panchayat, the status which she has earned as per provisions of The Uttar Pradesh Panchayat Raj Act 1947, therefore, it is relevant to see that whether the provisions of The Uttar Pradesh Panchayat Raj Act 1947 would have primacy or the MNREGA Act, 2005, which is a subsequent special enactment having the provision of overriding effect.

27. Panchayat Raj Act enumerates rights of individual members which includes that a member of a Gram Panchayat may at any meeting, move any resolution and put question to the Pradhan and Up-Pradhan on matters connected with the administration of the Gram Panchayat in the manner prescribed. The plain reading of the Section 26 of Panchayat Raj Act makes it clear that the provision does not extend right to members for filing an FIR as attempted by the revisionist.

28. Although, there seems to be no inconsistency in between both enactments regarding filing of FIR against the Gram Pradhan in case of allegations of financial irregularity, the analysis by the Supreme Court in case of primacy to be given to the subsequent enactment can be referred. In Solidaire India Ltd. v. Fairgrowth Financial Services Ltd., (2001) 3 SCC 71, the Supreme has held that:

"9. It is clear that both these Acts are special Acts. This Court has laid down in no uncertain terms that in such an event it is the later Act which must prevail. The decisions cited in the above context are as follows: Maharashtra Tubes Ltd. v. State Industrial & Investment Corp'n. of Maharashtra Ltd. [(1993) 2 SCC 144 : (1993) 78 COMP CAS 803]; Sarwan Singh v. Kasturi Lal [(1977) 1 SCC 750 : (1977) 2 SCR 421]; Allahabad Bank v. Canara Bank [(2000) 4 SCC 406 :

(2000) 101 Comp Cas 64] and Ram Narain v. Simla Banking & Industrial Co. Ltd. [(1956) 2 SCC 75 : (1956) 26 Comp Cas 280 : AIR 1956 SC 614 : 1956 SCR 603].

10. We may notice that the Special Court had in another case dealt with a similar contention. In Bhoruka Steel Ltd. v. Fairgrowth Financial Services Ltd. [1996 SCC OnLine Bom 717 : (1997) 89 Comp Cas 547 (Special Court)] it had been contended that recovery proceedings under the Special Court Act should be stayed in view of the provisions of the 1985 Act. Rejecting this contention, the Special Court had come to the conclusion that the Special Court Act being a later enactment would prevail. The headnote which brings out succinctly the ratio of the said decision is as follows:

"Where there are two special statutes which contain non obstante clauses the later statute must prevail. This is because at the time of enactment of the later statute, the legislature was aware of the earlier legislation and its non obstante clause. If the legislature still confers the later enactment with a non obstante clause it means that the legislature wanted that enactment to prevail. If the legislature does not want the later enactment to prevail then it could and would provide in the later enactment that the provisions of the earlier enactment continue to apply."

29. It is in this context that the learned Magistrate has rightly held that the revisionist, even being a ward member, she will be considered as a private individual, and not being authorised by the District Programme Coordinator under the statutory framework, and hence, she lacked locus standi to seek a direction for registration of FIR under Section 173(4) BNSS. The finding on locus standi, therefore, flows directly from the statutory scheme and cannot be said to suffer from any legal infirmity.

30. Consequently, on a holistic consideration of the inquiry report, the statutory bar under the MNREGA Act, and the absence of authorisation in favour of the revisionist, the conclusion arrived at that the application was not legally maintainable cannot be faulted. The impugned order, thus, neither suffers from any jurisdictional error nor from any material illegality or perversity warranting interference in exercise of revisional jurisdiction. There are catena of judgements to the effect that when a Statute is a complete Code in itself and have the provision for overriding effect then the interpretation is to be given in a way that it gives prominence to the subsequent legislation.

31. In view of the above, the application under Section 173(4) BNSS is not maintainable at the instance of the revisionist, and the learned A.C.J.M.-I was justified in declining to direct registration of an FIR on her application. Consequently, the impugned order dated 20.12.2024 is justified, having duly considered all allegations for which registration of the FIR was sought, and rightly relying on the report of the CDO, which records that opposite party nos. 1 and 2 did not commit any irregularities, while noting that the minor procedural lapse identified has already resulted in appropriate action against the concerned secretary.

32. Therefore, there is no error in the impugned order dated 20.12.2024. The criminal revision petition is devoid of merit and is hereby dismissed. However, it is clarified that if any proceeding regarding the identified irregularity is ongoing under MNREGA Act the same shall continue independent to the observation made in this order.

Issue for Consideration

Issue pertains to whether a vehicle could be confiscated u/s 5-A(7) of the Uttar Pradesh Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955 in the absence of any conclusive evidence or authorized laboratory report establishing that the meat allegedly recovered from the vehicle was "beef" within the meaning of s. 2(a) of the Act, and whether the confiscation orders passed by District Magistrate and affirmed by Commissioner were legally sustainable.

Headnotes

Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 - s. 109 - Uttar Pradesh Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955 - ss. 2(a), 3, 5, 5A/8 - Arms Act, 1959 - ss. 25, 27 and 3 - Confiscation of vehicle - Transportation of Beef - Burden of proof upon State authorities to prove that seized meat was "beef" - Arbitrary action of State - Seizure of commercial vehicle - Compensation - Award of damages - Release of vehicle - The petitioner challenged the confiscation of his Mahindra Pickup, which was allegedly intercepted by police on 18.10.2024 and found carrying meat purported to be beef of five cows - Consequent thereto, an FIR was registered under the various provisions of Uttar Pradesh Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955, the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 and the Arms Act, 1959 - Relying upon the alleged recovery, the District Magistrate, Baghpat initiated confiscation proceedings u/s 5-A of Act of 1955 and ordered confiscation of the vehicle - The petitioner's statutory appeal was dismissed by the Commissioner, Meerut Division - Before the High Court, the petitioner contended that the veterinary examination report merely expressed suspicion regarding the origin of meat and no authorized laboratory report conclusively established that the seized substance was beef - While the State submitted meat examination report, which also disclosed that the seized meat was suspected of cow or its progeny - State admitted that there is no documentary evidence on record to conclusively establish that the said seized meat was beef.

Held: It is evident that the Examiner was not confident whether the seized meat was beef or not, as such, without conclusively proving that the seized meat was beef, the vehicle of petitioner could not have been confiscated - The Authorities below without examining this issue has proceeded to confiscate the vehicle of petitioner, which is arbitrary, illegal and unwarranted under the provisions of Act of 1955 - It is apparent that due to illegal and arbitrary action of functionaries of State, the petitioner has suffered serious economic loss because the vehicle was a transport vehicle, which was the source of livelihood of petitioner - The petitioner has been deprived from earning through this vehicle, since 18.10.2024, when it was illegally seized by respondents - A period of more than 18 months has elapsed since then - In the facts and circumstances of the case, for the economic loss/deprivation caused to petitioner and to compensate for arbitrary action of State, it would be appropriate to award damages of Rs. 2 lacs to petitioner - The instant writ petition has merit and allowed - Impugned orders quashed, direction to State to pay damages to petitioner within seven days, to release the vehicle of petitioner within three days. [Paras 10, 12 to 16] (E-13)

Chand vs. State of U.P. and others), under Section 5-A(8) of the Act of 1955, whereby the appeal preferred by the petitioner has been dismissed and consequently the order of the District Magistrate, Baghpat dated 16.06.2025 has been affirmed.

2. Factual matrix is that on 18.10.2024 at 1:40 hours while checking suspecting vehicles and persons, the police on getting information, stopped the Bolero Vehicle No.DL-1L-AL1964, in which, on search made beef of five cows were found. According to the FIR, the head and legs of the cows were visible. Accordingly, the police also arrested the persons travelling in the above vehicle after a brief encounter. An FIR in this matter was registered on 18.10.2024 at 5:33 hours, being Case Crime No.347 of 2024, under Sections 109 of the B.N.S., 2023, Sections 3, 5, 5A/8 of the Uttar Pradesh Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955 and Section 25, 27 and 3 Arms Act, 1959 against the accused Chand and Saddam.

3. Since beef was found in the above vehicle, the District Magistrate, Baghpat issued notice to the petitioner for confiscating the above vehicle and after hearing the parties by order dated 16.06.205, the vehicle was confiscated/seized on the ground that it was transporting beef of five cows, which was prohibited. The petitioner challenged the above order by filing appeal, which was also dismissed by the Commissioner, Meerut Division, Meerut by impugned order dated 14.11.2025. By way of the instant writ petition, both the above orders have been challenged by the petitioner.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that according to the prosecution case, the vehicle of the petitioner having Registration No.DL-1L-AL1964 was transporting beef of five cows on 18.10.2024, but as per the report of the veterinary doctor, no conclusive opinion was expressed regarding the origin of the above meat.

5. Learned counsel submitted that the burden lies upon the prosecution to prove that the alleged meat seized from the vehicle of the petitioner was beef and unless and until, this fact was proved beyond doubt, the vehicle of the petitioner cannot be confiscated by the State.

6. Per contra, learned AGA submitted that he has filed his counter affidavit on behalf of the State enclosing meat examination report, which also disclosed that the seized meat was suspected of cow or its progeny. Learned AGA admitted that there is no documentary evidence on record to conclusively prove that the seized meat was beef.

7. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and perused the documents on record.

8. Section 2(a), 5 and 5-A of the Uttar Pradesh Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955 reads as under:

"2(a) beef means flesh of cow but does not include such flesh contained in sealed containers and imported as such into Uttar Pradesh;"

"5. Prohibition on sale of beef-Except as herein excepted and notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, no person shall sell or transport or offer for sale or transport or cause to be sold or transported beef or beef-products in any form except for such medicinal purposes as may be prescribed.

Exception.-A person may sell and serve or cause to be sold and severed beef or beef-products for consumption by a bonafide passenger in an aircraft or railway train."

"5-A. Regulation on transport of cow, etc. - (1) No person shall transport or offer for transport or cause to be transported any cow, or bull or bullock, the slaughter whereof in any place in Uttar Pradesh is punishable under this Act, from any place within the State to any place outside the State, except under a permit issued by an officer authorised by the State Government in this behalf by notified order and except in accordance with the terms and conditions of such permit.

(2) Such officer shall issue the permit on payment of such fee not exceeding [five hundred rupees] for every cow, bull or bullock as may be prescribed :

Provided that no fee shall be chargeable where the permit is for transport of the cow, bull or bullock for a limited period not exceeding six months as may be specified in the permit.

(3) Where the person transporting a cow, bull or bullock on a permit for a limited period does not bring back such cow, bull or bullock into the State within the period specified in the permit, he shall be deemed to have contravened the provision of sub-section (1).

(4) The form of permit, the form of application therefor and the procedure for disposal of such application shall be such as may be prescribed.

(5) The State Government or any officer authorised by it in this behalf by general or special notified order, may, at any time, for the purpose of satisfying itself, or himself, as to the legality or propriety of the action taken under this section, call for and examine the record of any case and pass such orders thereon as it or he may deem fit].

(6) Where the said conveyance has been confirmed to be related to beef by the competent authority or authorised laboratory under this Act, the driver, operator and owner related to transport, shall be charged with the offence under this Act, unless it is not proved that the transport medium used in crime, despite all its precautions and without its knowledge, has been used by some other person for causing the offence.*

(7) The vehicle by which the beef or cow and its progeny is transported in violation of the provisions of this Act and the relevant rules, shall be confiscated and seized by the law enforcement officers. The concerned District Magistrate/Commissioner of Police will do all proceedings of confiscation and release, as the case may be.

(8) The cow and its progeny or the beef transported by the seized vehicle shall also be confiscated and seized by the law enforcement officers. The concerned District Magistrate/Commissioner will do all proceedings of the confiscation and release, as the case may be.

(9) The expenditure on the maintenance of the seized cows and its progeny shall be recovered from the accused for a period of one year or till the release of the cow and its progeny in favour of the owner thereof whichever is earlier.

(10) Where a person is prosecuted for committing, abetting, or attempting to an offence under Sections 3, 5 and 8 of this Act and the beef or cow-remains in the possession of accused has been proved by the prosecution and transported things are confirmed to be beef by the competent authority or authorised laboratory, then the Court shall presume that such person has committed such offence or attempt or abetment of such offence, as the case may be, unless the contrary is proved.

(11) Where the provisions of this Act or the related rules in context of search, acquisition, disposal and seizure are silent, the relevant provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 shall be effective thereto."

9. It is clear from Section 2(a) of the Act, 1955 that "beef" means flesh of cow and as per Section 5 of the Act, the transportation of the beef is prohibited. It is also apparent that under Section 5-A (7) of the Act, 1955, the vehicle can only be confiscated if beef is transported in it. The burden lies upon the State to prove that the meat seized from the vehicle of the petitioner was beef, but as per the meat examination report dated 18.10.2024, the seized meat was suspected to be of cow or its progeny. The meat was examined at Veterinary Hospital, Baghpat, but the Examiner was not confident about the origin of the meat and for this reason, he requested for confirmatory diagnosis of meat samples, but a report in that behalf is not available on record. As per Section 5-A(6) of the Act, a report of authorized laboratory confirming beef is mandatory for initiating proceedings under this Act.

10. It is evident that the Examiner was not confident whether the seized meat was beef or not, as such, without conclusively proving that the seized meat was beef, the vehicle of the petitioner could not have been confiscated in the instant case. The Authorities below without examining this issue has proceeded to confiscate the vehicle of the petitioner, which is arbitrary, illegal and unwarranted under the provisions of the Act of 1955.

11. The Apex Court in the case of Indibly Creative Private Ltd. And Others vs. Government of West Bengal And Others (2020) 12 SCC 436, has granted compensation for consequential financial losses caused by State authorities. In this case the petitioner has suffered violation of fundamental rights under Articles 19(1)(a) & (g), 14 and 21. The respondent State authorities were directed to pay compensation of Rs 20 lakhs, which was a huge amount. The relevant para is extracted hereinbelow:-

“52. As a consequence of the pulling off of the film from the theatres where it was screened on 16-2-2019, the petitioners have suffered a violation of their fundamental right to free speech and expression and of their right to pursue a lawful business. This has been occasioned by the acts of commission and, in any event, of omission on the part of the State in failing to affirm, fulfil and respect the fundamental freedoms of the petitioners. We are clearly of the view that a remedy in public law for the grant of remedial compensation is required in the present case. We order and direct the respondents to pay to the petitioners compensation which we quantify at Rs 20 lakhs within a period of one month from the date of the present judgment.”

12. It is apparent that due to illegal and arbitrary action of the functionaries of the State, the petitioner has suffered serious economic loss because the vehicle was a transport vehicle, which was the source of livelihood of the petitioner. The petitioner has been deprived from earning through this vehicle, since 18.10.2024, when it was illegally seized by the respondents. A period of more than 18 months has elapsed since then. In the facts and circumstances of this case, for the economic loss/deprivation caused to the petitioner and to compensate for the arbitrary action of the State, it would be appropriate to award damages of Rs. 2 lacs to the petitioner.

13. In view of the above facts, the instant writ petition has merit and is liable to be allowed.

14. Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed and the impugned order dated 16.06.2025 passed by the District Magistrate, Baghpat and 14.11.2025 passed by the Commissioner, Meerut Division, Meerut, are hereby quashed.

15. The State is directed to pay damages of Rs.2 lacs (two lacs) to the petitioner within a period of seven days. The State is at liberty to recover the above amount of damages from the respondent no.2,3 and 4, in accordance with law.

16. The respondents are directed to release the Vehicle No.DL-1L-AL1964 within three days to the petitioner.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SANDEEP JAIN, J.

First Appeal No. 306 of 2026

Poonam Pandey & Anr.

...Appellants
Versus

Kulsum & Ors.

...Respondents

Issue for consideration

The matter pertains to execution of decree for possession of immovable property and the right of third-party/strangers to resist execution under Order XXI Rules, 97,99, 101, 103 CPC.

Headnotes

A. Code of Civil Procedure,1908-Order XXI Rules 97, 99, 101 & 103-Execution of decree for possession-Stranger's/third party objection maintainable under Order XXI Rules 97/99 CPC-Independent right must be prima facie established-Mere claim without documentary support insufficient-Objections filed to obstruct execution liable to rejection-Appeal dismissed. (Para 16 to 25)

Held

The court ruled that A stranger claiming independent right, title or interest in the decretal property is entitled to resist execution and seek adjudication of such claim in execution proceedings itself. Rejection of objections solely on the ground that the objector is neither a decree-holder under Rule 97 nor a person already dispossessed under Rule 99 is legally unsustainable. However, where the objector fails to produce any material establishing a prima facie independent right or interest in the property and the objections appear intended merely to frustrate execution of a decree that has attained finality, the executing court is justified in rejecting such objections. Though the executing court erred on the question of maintainability, the appellants having failed to substantiate their alleged ownership or inheritance rights, the order rejecting their objections was liable to be affirmed. Appeal dismissed. (E-6)

From the judgment and order dated 23.04.2026 of the High Court of judicature at Allahabad.

Appearances for Parties

Advs, for Appellant

Arpit Malviya, Awadesh Kumar Malviya

Adv. for Respondent:-

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sandeep Jain, J.)

1. Supplementary affidavit filed is taken on record.
2. The instant appeal has been filed by the appellants under Order 21 Rule 103 C.P.C. challenging the impugned order dated 06.01.2026 passed by the Court of Civil Judge (Senior Division)/Fast Track Court, Ghazipur in Misc. Case No.57 of 2023 (Poonam Pandey and others vs. Nizamuddin and others), whereby appellants' application under Order 21 Rule 97 and 99 C.P.C. was rejected on the ground that it was not maintainable.
3. Earlier, the appellants had preferred a writ petition being Matters Under Article 227 No.2578 of 2026 (Smt. Poonam Pandey and another vs. Kalrun and others) before this Court, which was disposed of by order dated 25.02.2026 on the ground that it was not maintainable since the impugned order was a decree under Order 21 Rule 103 CPC, which was appealable.
4. Learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the appellants were residing in the disputed property, who are having ownership in it being the legal heirs of their deceased father Paramhans Pandey, but they were not made a party to the suit no.348 of 1988 and as such, the decree passed in that suit was not binding upon them. It was further submitted that the decree passed in the above suit was a collusive decree, which has been passed in collusion with the defendants.
5. Learned counsel submitted that since the appellants were having vested independent right in the property, as such, they cannot be evicted from the property in the execution proceedings initiated by the decree holder of Original Suit No.348 of 1988.
6. I have heard the learned counsel for the appellants and perused the documents submitted with the appeal.
7. It is apparent from the documents submitted with the appeal that the plaintiff/decreed holder Nizamuddin filed O.S. No.348 of 1988 against defendants Shivanand Bharti son of Raja Ram Bharti, Shri Ram, Ramji and Basant Kumar sons of Shivanand Pandey(Bharti) for the relief of permanent injunction and for getting possession of the disputed property on the ground that he is the owner of the disputed property and the defendants are threatening to dispossess him and the defendants have also made encroachment on his land to which he is entitled to reclaim the possession. The defendants submitted their written statement in this suit with the averments that they are the owners on the basis of adverse possession in the disputed property.

8. It was further averred by the defendants that the plaintiff is neither the owner nor in possession of the disputed property. The defendants admitted that they are in possession of the disputed property. It is relevant to mention here that the dispute is in relation to Arazi No.2299 situated in Village Karimuddinpur, Pargana Muhammadabad, District Ghazipur.

9. The trial court decreed the suit on 22.12.2011 and it has recorded a specific finding that the plaintiff is the owner of the disputed property on the basis of sale deed executed in his favour, in which the defendants have made illegal construction and in view of the evidence on record, the original suit of the plaintiff was decreed and the defendants were directed to remove their illegal construction on the disputed property and hand its possession to the plaintiff, failing which, the plaintiff was held entitled to get the relief through court.

10. It is further apparent that the defendants challenged the impugned decree of the trial court by filing Civil Appeal No.7 of 2012 (Shivanand Bharti and others vs. Nizamuddin), which was dismissed on merits on 21.10.2019 by the Additional District Judge, Court No.1, Ghazipur, as such, the decree passed by the trial court has been affirmed.

11. The appellate court also specifically concluded that the defendants failed to prove their ownership of the disputed property.

12. It is further apparent that the decree passed in Original Suit No.348 of 1988 was put in execution by the plaintiff/decreed holder by filing Execution Case No. 03 of 2020 for getting possession of the disputed land, which was illegally in possession of the defendants in which the appellants moved an application under Order 21 Rule 97 and 99 C.P.C. on the basis that they are the owners of the disputed property, they are having vested right in it, but they were not impleaded in the original suit as defendants, as such, the decree passed in the original suit, which was affirmed by the appellate court, was not binding on them.

13. The appellants' application under Order 21 Rule 97 and 99 C.P.C. has been dismissed by the execution court by impugned order dated 06.01.2026 on the ground that the appellants are alleging to be in possession of the disputed property. A finding has been recorded that since the appellants were never dispossessed from the disputed property, as such, the application moved by them was not legally maintainable. It was further held that the appellants are not decree holders as per Order 21 Rule 97 C.P.C. and as per Rule 99, they have not been dispossessed from the disputed property, hence, they have no right to raise objection in execution proceedings under Order 21 Rule 97 and 99 C.P.C. Aggrieved against which, the instant appeal has been filed by the appellants.

14. The Apex Court in the case of Periyammal (Dead) Through LRs. And Others vs. V. Rajamani and Another 2025 SCC OnLine SC 507 while interpreting Order 21 Rule 97 and Rule 99 C.P.C., held as under:-

"43. It is a settled position of law that an application under Order 21 Rule 97 may be made in respect of obstruction raised by any person in obtaining possession of the decretal property. The courts adjudicating such application have to do so in accordance with Rule 101 and hold a full-fledged inquiry to determine all questions including questions relating to right, title or interest in the property arising between the parties.

44. This Court in Brahmddeo Chaudhary v. Rishikesh Prasad Jaiswal (1997) 3 SCC 694, has held that: (SCC pp. 701-703 & 705, paras 8-10)

"8. A conjoint reading of Order 21 Rules 97, 98, 99 and 101 projects the following picture:

(1) If a decree-holder is resisted or obstructed in execution of the decree for possession with the result that the decree for possession could not be executed in the normal manner by obtaining warrant for possession under Order 21 Rule 35, then the decree-holder has to move an application under Order 21 Rule 97 for removal of such obstruction and after hearing the decree-holder and the obstructionist the court can pass appropriate orders after adjudicating upon the controversy between the parties as enjoined by Order 21 Rule 97 sub-rule (2) read with Order 21 Rule 98. It is obvious that after such adjudication if it is found that the resistance or obstruction was occasioned without a just cause by the judgment-debtor or by some other person at his instigation or on his behalf then such obstruction or resistance would be removed as per Order 21 Rule 98 sub-rule (2) and the decree-holder would be permitted to be put in possession. Even in such an eventuality the order passed would be treated as a decree under Order 21 Rule 101 and no separate suit would lie against such order meaning thereby the only remedy would be to prefer an appeal before the appropriate appellate court against such deemed decree.

(2) If for any reason a stranger to the decree is already dispossessed of the suit property relating to which he claims any right, title or interest before his getting any opportunity to resist or offer obstruction on spot on account of his absence from the place or for any other valid reason then his remedy would lie in filing an application under Order 21 Rule 99CPC claiming that his dispossession was illegal and that possession deserves to be restored to him. If such an application is allowed after adjudication then as enjoined by Order 21 Rule 98 sub-rule (1) CPC the executing court can direct the stranger applicant under Order 21 Rule 99 to be put in possession of the property or if his application is found to be substanceless it has to be dismissed. Such an order passed by the executing court disposing of the application one way or the other under Order 21 Rule 98 sub-rule (1) would be deemed to be a decree as laid down by Order 21 Rule 103 and would be appealable before appropriate appellate forum. But no separate suit would lie against such orders as clearly enjoined by Order 21 Rule 101.

5. In short the aforesaid statutory provisions of Order 21 lay down a complete code for resolving all disputes pertaining to execution of the decree for possession obtained by a decree-holder and whose attempts at executing the said decree meet with rough weather. Once resistance is offered by a purported stranger to the decree and which comes to be noted by the executing court as well as by the decree-holder the remedy available to the decree-holder against such an obstructionist is only under Order 21 Rule 97 sub-rule (1) and he cannot bypass such obstruction and insist on reissuance of warrant for possession under Order 21 Rule 35 with the help of police force, as that course would amount to bypassing and circumventing the procedure laid down under Order 21 Rule 97 in connection with removal of obstruction of purported strangers to the decree. Once such an obstruction is on the record of the executing court it is difficult to appreciate how the executing court can tell such obstructionist that he must first lose possession and then only his remedy is to move an application under Order 21 Rule 99CPC and pray for restoration of possession. The High Court by the impugned order and judgment has taken the view that the only remedy available to a stranger to the decree who claims any independent right, title or interest in the decretal property is to go by Order 21 Rule 99. This view of the High Court on the aforesaid statutory scheme is clearly unsustainable. It is easy to visualise that a stranger to the decree who claims an independent right, title and interest in the decretal property can offer his resistance before getting actually dispossessed. He can equally agitate his grievance and claim for adjudication of his independent right, title and interest in the decretal property even after losing possession as per Order 21 Rule 99. Order 21 Rule 97 deals with a stage which is prior to the actual execution of the decree for possession wherein the grievance of the obstructionist can be adjudicated upon before actual delivery of possession to the decree-holder. While Order 21 Rule 99 on the other hand deals with the subsequent stage in the execution proceedings where a stranger claiming any right, title and interest in the decretal property might have got actually dispossessed and claims restoration of possession on adjudication of his independent right, title and interest dehors the interest of the judgment-debtor. Both these types of enquiries in connection with the right, title and interest of a stranger to the decree are clearly contemplated by the aforesaid scheme of Order 21 and it is not as if that such a stranger to the decree can come in the picture only at the final stage after losing the possession and not before it if he is vigilant enough to raise his objection and obstruction before the warrant for possession gets actually executed against him. With respect the High Court has totally ignored the scheme of Order 21 Rule 97 in this connection by taking the view that only remedy of such stranger to the decree lies under Order 21 Rule 99 and he has no locus standi to get adjudication of his claim prior to the actual delivery of possession to the decree-holder in the execution proceedings. The view taken by the High Court in this connection also results in patent breach of principles of natural justice as the obstructionist, who alleges to have any independent right, title and interest in the decretal property and who is admittedly not a party to the decree even though making a grievance right in time before the warrant for execution is actually executed, would be told off the gates and his grievance would not be considered or heard on merits and he would be thrown off lock, stock and barrel by use of police force by the decree-holder. That would obviously result in irreparable injury to such obstructionist whose grievance would go overboard without being considered on merits and such obstructionist would be condemned totally unheard. Such an order of the executing court, therefore, would fail also on the ground of non-compliance with basic principles of natural justice. On the contrary the statutory scheme envisaged by Order 21 Rule 97CPC as discussed earlier clearly guards against such a pitfall and provides a statutory remedy both to the decree-holder as well as to the obstructionist to have their respective say in the matter and to get proper adjudication before the executing court and it is that adjudication which subject to the hierarchy of appeals would remain binding between the parties to such proceedings and separate suit would be barred with a view to seeing that multiplicity of proceedings and parallel proceedings are avoided and the gamut laid down by Order 21 Rules 97 and 103 would remain a complete code and the sole remedy for the parties concerned to have their grievances once and for all finally resolved in execution proceedings themselves.

10. " "5. " A reading of Order 21 Rule 97CPC clearly envisages that "any person" even including the judgment-debtor irrespective whether he claims derivative title from the judgment-debtor or sets up his own right, title or interest dehors the judgment-debtor and he resists execution of a decree, then the court in addition to the power under Rule 35(3) has been empowered to conduct an enquiry whether the obstruction by that person in obtaining possession of immovable property was legal or not. The decree-holder gets a right under Rule 97 to make an application against third parties to have his obstruction removed and an enquiry thereon could be done. Each occasion of obstruction or resistance furnishes a cause of action to the decree-holder to make an application for removal of the obstruction or resistance by such person." [Ed.: As observed in Bhanwar Lal v. Satyanarain, (1995) 1 SCC 6, p. 9, para 5.] "

45. In Shreenath [Shreenath v. Rajesh], (1998) 4 SCC 543, the application under Order 21 Rule 97 was filed by the tenants who were not parties to the suit. The question was whether the tenants could maintain an application under Order 21 Rule 97. This Court while interpreting the words "any person" held that any person includes even persons not bound by the decree. Paras 10 and 11 read thus: (SCC pp. 548-49, paras 10-11)

"10. Under sub-clause (1) Order 21 Rule 35, the executing court delivers actual physical possession of the disputed property to the decree-holder and, if necessary, by removing any person bound by the decree who refuses to vacate the said property. The significant words are by removing any person bound by the decree. Order 21 Rule 36 conceives of immovable property when in occupancy of a tenant or other person not bound by the decree, the court delivers possession by fixing a copy of the warrant in some conspicuous place of the said property and proclaiming to the occupant by beat of drum or other customary mode at some convenient place, the substance of the decree in regard to the property. In other words, the decree-holder gets the symbolic possession. Order 21 Rule 97 conceives of resistance or obstruction to the possession of immovable property when made in execution of a decree by "any person". This may be either by the person bound by the decree, claiming title through the judgment-debtor or claiming independent right of his own including a tenant not party to the suit or even a stranger. A decree-holder, in such a case, may make an application to the executing court complaining such resistance for delivery of possession of the property. Sub-clause (2) after 1976 substitution empowers the executing courts when such claim is made to proceed to adjudicate upon the applicant's claim in accordance with the provisions contained hereinafter. This refers to Order 21 Rule 101 (as amended by the 1976 Act) under which all questions relating to right, title or interest in the property arising between the parties under Order 21 Rule 97 or Rule 99 shall be determined by the court and not by a separate suit. By the amendment, one has not to go for a fresh suit but all matter pertaining to that property even if obstruction by a stranger is adjudicated and finality given even in the executing proceedings. We find the expression "any person" under sub-clause (1) is used deliberately for widening the scope of power so that the executing court could adjudicate the claim made in any such application under Order 21 Rule 97. Thus by the use of the words "any person" it includes all persons resisting the delivery of possession, claiming right in the property even those not bound by the decree, includes tenants or other persons claiming right on their own including a stranger.

11. So, under Order 21 Rule 101 all disputes between the decree-holder and any such person is to be adjudicated by the executing court. A party is not thrown out to relegate itself to the long-drawn-out arduous procedure of a fresh suit. This is to salvage the possible hardship both to the decree-holder and other person claiming title on their own right to get it adjudicated in the very execution proceedings. We find that Order 21 Rule 35 deals with cases of delivery of possession of an immovable property to the decree-holder by delivery of actual physical possession and by removing any person in possession who is bound by a decree, while under Order 21 Rule 36 only symbolic possession is given where the tenant is in actual possession. Order 21 Rule 97 as aforesaid, conceives of cases where delivery of possession to decree-holder or purchaser is resisted by any person. "Any person", as aforesaid, is wide enough to include even a person not bound by a decree or claiming right in the property on his own including that of a tenant including a stranger."

46. In Silverline Forum (P) Ltd. v. Rajiv Trust (1998) 3 SCC 723, a three-Judge Bench of this Court has observed that a third party to the decree including the transferee pendente lite can offer resistance or obstruction and his right has to be adjudicated under Order 21 Rule 97CPC. The relevant portion of the said judgment is reproduced below: (SCC pp. 727-29, paras 9-10 & 14)

"9. At the outset, we may observe that it is difficult to agree with the High Court [Silverline Forum (P) Ltd. v. Rajiv Trust, 1997 SCC OnLine Cal 152] that resistance or obstructions made by a third party to the decree of execution cannot be gone into under Order 21 Rule 97 of the Code. Rules 97 to 106 in Order 21 of the Code are subsumed under the caption "Resistance to delivery of possession to decree-holder or purchaser". Those rules are intended to deal with every sort of resistance or obstructions offered by any person. Rule 97 specifically provides that when the holder of a decree for possession of immovable property is resisted or obstructed by "any person" in obtaining possession of the property such decree-holder has to make an application complaining of the resistance or obstruction. Sub-rule (2) makes it incumbent on the court to proceed to adjudicate upon such complaint in accordance with the procedure laid down.

10. It is true that Rule 99 of Order 21 is not available to any person until he is dispossessed of immovable property by the decree-holder. Rule 101 stipulates that all questions "arising between the parties to a proceeding on an application under Rule 97 or Rule 99" shall be determined by the executing court, if such questions are "relevant to the adjudication of the application". A third party to the decree who offers resistance would thus fall within the ambit of Rule 101 if an adjudication is warranted as a consequence of the resistance or obstruction made by him to the execution of the decree. No doubt if the resistance was made by a transferee pendente lite of the judgment-debtor, the scope of the adjudication would be shrunk to the limited question whether he is such a transferee and on a finding in the affirmative regarding that point the executing court has to hold that he has no right to resist in view of the clear language contained in Rule 102. Exclusion of such a transferee from raising further contentions is based on the salutary principle adumbrated in Section 52 of the Transfer of property Act.

14. It is clear that the executing court can decide whether the resister or obstructor is a person bound by the decree and he refused to vacate the property. That question also squarely falls within the adjudicatory process contemplated in Order 21 Rule 97(2) of the Code. The adjudication mentioned therein need not necessarily involve a detailed enquiry or collection of evidence. Court can make the adjudication on admitted facts or even on the averments made by the resister. Of course the court can direct the parties to adduce evidence for such determination if the court deems it necessary."

47. This Court in N.S.S. Narayana Sarma v. Goldstone Exports (P) Ltd. (2002) 1 SCC 662, has held as under: (SCC pp. 668-69, paras 15 & 19)

"15. Provision is made in the Civil Procedure Code for delivery of possession of immovable property in execution of a decree and matters relating thereto. In Order 21 Rule 35 provisions are made empowering the executing court to deliver possession of the property to the decree-holder if necessary, by removing any person bound by the decree who refuses to vacate the property. In Rule 36 provision is made for delivery of formal or symbolical possession of the property in occupancy of a tenant or other person entitled to occupy the same and not bound by the decree to relinquish such occupancy. Rules 97 to 101 of Order 21 contain the provisions enabling the executing court to deal with a situation when a decree-holder entitled to possession of the property encounters obstruction from "any person". From the provisions in these Rules which have been quoted earlier the scheme is clear that the legislature has vested wide powers in the executing court to deal with "all issues" relating to such matters. It is a general impression prevailing amongst the litigant public that difficulties of a litigant are by no means over on his getting a decree for immovable property in his favour. Indeed, his difficulties in real and practical sense, arise after getting the decree. Presumably, to tackle such a situation and to allay the apprehension in the minds of litigant public that it takes years and years for the decree-holder to enjoy fruits of the decree, the legislature made drastic amendments in provisions in the aforementioned Rules, particularly, the provision in Rule 101 in which it is categorically declared that all questions including questions relating to right, title or interest in the property arising between the parties to a proceeding on an application under Rule 97 or Rule 99 or their representatives, and relevant to the adjudication of the application [Ed.: The matter between two asterisks has been emphasised in original.] shall be determined by the Court dealing with the application and not by a separate suit [Ed.: The matter between two asterisks has been emphasised in original.] and for this purpose, the court shall, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any other law for the time being in force, be deemed to have jurisdiction to decide such questions. On a fair reading of the Rule it is manifest that the legislature has enacted the provision with a view to remove, as far as possible, technical objections to an application filed by the aggrieved party whether he is the decree-holder or any other person in possession of the immovable property under execution and has vested the power in the executing court to deal with all questions arising in the matter irrespective of whether the court otherwise has jurisdiction to entertain a dispute of the nature. This clear statutory mandate and the object and purpose of the provisions should not be lost sight of by the courts seized of an execution proceeding. The court cannot shirk its responsibility by skirting the relevant issues arising in the case.

19. From the principles laid down in the decisions noted above, the position is manifest that when any person claiming title to the property in his possession obstructs the attempt by the decree-holder to dispossess him from the said property the executing court is competent to consider all questions raised by the persons offering obstruction against execution of the decree and pass appropriate order which under the provisions of Order 21 Rule 103 is to be treated as a decree."

48. In Sameer Singh v. Abdul Rab [(2015) 1 SCC 379 : (2015) 1 SCC (Civ) 509] , this Court, after considering its previous judgment in Brahmdeo Chaudhary [Brahmdeo Chaudhary v. Rishikesh Prasad Jaiswal, (1997) 3 SCC 694] has held thus: (SCC p. 389, para 26)

"26. The aforesaid authorities clearly spell out that the court has the authority to adjudicate all the questions pertaining to right, title or interest in the property arising between the parties. It also includes the claim of a stranger who apprehends dispossession or has already been dispossessed from the immovable property. The self-contained code, as has been emphasised by this Court, enjoins the executing court to adjudicate the lis and the purpose is to avoid multiplicity of proceedings. It is also so because prior to 1976 amendment the grievance was required to be agitated by filing a suit but after the amendment the entire enquiry has to be conducted by the executing court. Order 21 Rule 101 provides for the determination of necessary issues. Rule 103 clearly stipulates that when an application is adjudicated upon under Rule 98 or Rule 100 the said order shall have the same force as if it were a decree. Thus, it is a deemed decree. If a court declines to adjudicate on the ground that it does not have jurisdiction, the said order cannot earn the status of a decree. If an executing court only expresses its inability to adjudicate by stating that it lacks jurisdiction, then the status of the order has to be different."

49. A conjoint reading of the relevant provisions and the principles laid down by this Court makes it clear that in execution of decree for possession of immovable property, the executing court delivers actual physical possession of the decretal land to the decree-holder. Rule 35 confers jurisdiction on the executing court to remove any person, who is bound by the decree and who refuses to vacate the property. The words "any person who is bound by the decree", clearly mandate that removal can only be of a person who is bound by the decree. Rules 97 to 101 deal with situation when execution is obstructed or resisted by "any person" claiming right, title or interest in the property. The words "any person" include even a stranger to a decree resisting the decree of possession as not being bound by a decree or by claiming independent right, title or interest to the property.

50. Thus, Rule 97 not only provides to a decree-holder in obtaining possession of an immovable property but also to a stranger who obstructs or resists delivery of possession of the property by claiming derivative title from the judgment debtor or independent right, title or interest in the decretal property. Whereas, Rule 99 gives right to a third party claiming right, title or interest in the property to seek restoration of the decretal property. Suffice it to say that the remedy under Rule 99 is available when a person claiming right to the decretal property is already dispossessed.

51. Rule 101 enjoins upon the executing court dealing with application under Rule 97 or 99 to determine all questions including questions relating to right, title or interest in the property, arising between the parties and relevant to the adjudication of the application. As held by this Court in Silverline Forum (P) Ltd. v. Rajiv Trust, (1998) 3 SCC 723 the question that the executing court is obliged to determine under Rule 101 must possess two adjuncts viz. (i) that such question should have legally arisen between the parties, and (ii) such question must be relevant for consideration and determination between the parties. Upon adjudication of such questions, the executing court is under an obligation to pass appropriate order as contemplated under Rule 98 or 100, as the case may be. When eventually such order is passed, it would be treated as decree and no separate suit would lie against such order. It therefore follows that the only remedy is to prefer an appeal before the appropriate court against such deemed decree.

(iii) Section 47CPC vis-à-vis Order 21 Rule 97CPC

52. Under Section 47CPC, questions arising between the parties to the suit relating to the execution, discharge or satisfaction of the decree are covered whereas under Order 21 Rule 97 read with Rule 101 CPC, questions including those relating to right, title or interest in the property arising between the parties to the proceeding on an application under Rule 97 or Rule 99 of Order 21 are to be determined by the executing court. The language of Rule 97 provides that where the holder of a decree for possession of immovable property is resisted or obstructed by any person in obtaining possession of the property, he may make an application to the court complaining of such resistance or obstruction. The language used is "obstructed by any person". It may be by the judgment-debtor or by a third person. Sub-rule (2) of the said Rule 97 further provides that where an application is made under sub-rule (1), the court shall proceed to adjudicate upon the application in accordance with the provisions thereunder contained. Sub-rule (2) of Rule 98 of Order 21 further provides that where upon such determination, the court is satisfied that the resistance or obstruction was occasioned without any just cause by the judgment-debtor or by some other person at his instigation or on his behalf, he shall direct that the applicant be put into possession of the property.

53. Rule 101 of Order 21 provides as under:

"101. Question to be determined."

All questions (including questions relating to right, title or interest in the property) arising between the parties to a proceeding on an application under Rule 97 or Rule 99 or their representatives, and relevant to the adjudication of the application, shall be determined by the court dealing with the application and not by a separate suit and for this purpose, the court shall, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any other law for the time being in force, be deemed to have jurisdiction to decide such questions."

54. Thus the cumulative effect of all these rights read together is that if an application under Order 21 Rule 97 is made, then its determination will be under Rule 101 and then Rule 103 further provides that where any application has been adjudicated upon under Rules 98 or 100, the order made thereon shall have the same force and will be subject to the same conditions as to an appeal or otherwise as if it were a decree. Under Section 47CPC all questions relating to the execution, discharge or satisfaction of the decree, have to be determined by the executing court whereas under Rule 101 all questions including question relating to right, title or interest in the property arising between the parties to the proceedings have to be determined by the executing court. Section 47 is a general provision whereas Order 21 Rules 97 and 101 deal with a specific situation. Moreover, Section 47 deals with executions of all kinds of decrees whereas Order 21 Rules 97 and 101 deal only with execution of decree for possession. Apart from that, earlier i.e. prior to the amendment, every order falling under Section 47 was appealable (as the terms "decree" included the order under Section 47CPC) whereas now only certain orders as provided for under Order 21 have been made appealable.

56. This Court in Bhanwar Lal v. Satyanarain (1995) 1 SCC 6, has held that even an application filed under Section 47 would be treated as an application under Order 21 Rule 97 and an adjudication is required to be conducted under Rule 98. Dispossession of the applicant from the property is not a condition for declining to entertain the application. The relevant portion of the judgment is reproduced below: (SCC p. 9, paras 5-7)

"5. The procedure has been provided in Rules 98 to 103. We are not, at present, concerned with the question relating to the procedure to be followed and question to be determined under Order 21 Rules 98 to 102. A reading of Order 21 Rule 97CPC clearly envisages that "any person" even including the judgment-debtor irrespective whether he claims derivative title from the judgment-debtor or set up his own right, title or interest dehors the judgment-debtor and he resists execution of a decree, then the court in addition to the power under Rule 35(3) has been empowered to conduct an enquiry whether the obstruction by that person in obtaining possession of immovable property was legal or not. The decree-holder gets a right under Rule 97 to make an application against third parties to have his obstruction removed and an enquiry thereon could be done. Each occasion of obstruction or resistance furnishes a cause of action to the decree-holder to make an application for removal of the obstruction or resistance by such person.

6. When the appellant had made the application on 25-5-1979 against Satyanarain, in law it must be only the application made under Order 21 Rule 97(1)CPC. The executing court, obviously, was in error in directing to make a fresh application. It is the duty of the executing court to consider the averments in the petition and consider the scope of the applicability of the relevant rule. On technical ground the executing court dismissed the second application on limitation and also the third application, on the ground of res judicata which the High Court has in the revisions now upheld. The procedure is the handmaid of substantive justice but in this case it has ruled the roost.

7. In the above view we have taken, the High Court has committed grievous error of jurisdiction and also patent illegality in treating the application filed by the appellant as barred by limitation and the third one on res judicata. Once the application, dated 25-5-1979 was made, the Court should have treated it to be one filed under Order 21 Rule 97(1)CPC. The question of res judicata for filing the second and third applications does not arise. Under these circumstances the appellate court, though for different reasons was justified in directing an enquiry to be conducted for removal of the obstruction or resistance caused by Satyanarain under Order 21 Rules 35(3) and 97(2) and Order 21 Rules 101 and 102CPC."

65. What flows from the position of law, as aforesaid, is that the issues that ought to have been raised by the parties during the adjudication of the original suit cannot be determined by the executing court as such adjudication may undermine the decree itself. This Court in Rahul S. Shah v. Jinendra Kumar Gandhi [(2021) 6 SCC 418 : (2021) 3 SCC (Civ) 569] has held that the benefit of Section 47 cannot be availed to conduct a retrial causing failure of realisation of fruits of the decree. The relevant portion of the judgment is reproduced below: (SCC p. 430, paras 24-27)

"24. In respect of execution of a decree, Section 47CPC contemplates adjudication of limited nature of issues relating to execution i.e. discharge or satisfaction of the decree and is aligned with the consequential provisions of Order 21CPC. Section 47 is intended to prevent multiplicity of suits. It simply lays down the procedure and the form whereby the court reaches a decision. For the applicability of the section, two essential requisites have to be kept in mind. Firstly, the question must be the one arising between the parties and secondly, the dispute relates to the execution, discharge or satisfaction of the decree. Thus, the objective of Section 47 is to prevent unwanted litigation and dispose of all objections as expeditiously as possible.

25. These provisions contemplate that for execution of decrees, executing court must not go beyond the decree. However, there is steady rise of proceedings akin to a retrial at the time of execution causing failure of realisation of fruits of decree and relief which the party seeks from the courts despite there being a decree in their favour. Experience has shown that various objections are filed before the executing court and the decree-holder is deprived of the fruits of the litigation and the judgment-debtor, in abuse of process of law, is allowed to benefit from the subject-matter which he is otherwise not entitled to.

26. The general practice prevailing in the subordinate courts is that invariably in all execution applications, the courts first issue show-cause notice asking the judgment-debtor as to why the decree should not be executed as is given under Order 21 Rule 22 for certain class of cases. However, this is often misconstrued as the beginning of a new trial. For example, the judgment-debtor sometimes misuses the provisions of Order 21 Rule 2 and Order 21 Rule 11 to set up an oral plea, which invariably leaves no option with the court but to record oral evidence which may be frivolous. This drags the execution proceedings indefinitely.

27. This is antithesis to the scheme of the Civil Procedure Code, which stipulates that in civil suit, all questions and issues that may arise, must be decided in one and the same trial. Order 1 and Order 2 which relate to parties to suits and frame of suits with the object of avoiding multiplicity of proceedings, provides for joinder of parties and joinder of cause of action so that common questions of law and facts could be decided at one go."

75. It is worthwhile to revisit the observations in Rahul S. Shah [Rahul S. Shah v. Jinendra Kumar Gandhi, (2021) 6 SCC 418 : (2021) 3 SCC (Civ) 569] wherein this Court has provided guidelines and directions for conduct of execution proceedings. The relevant portion of the said judgment is reproduced below: (SCC pp. 433-35, para 42)

"42. All courts dealing with suits and execution proceedings shall mandatorily follow the below mentioned directions:

42.1. In suits relating to delivery of possession, the court must examine the parties to the suit under Order 10 in relation to third-party interest and further exercise the power under Order 11 Rule 14 asking parties to disclose and produce documents, upon oath, which are in possession of the parties including declaration pertaining to third-party interest in such properties.

42.2. In appropriate cases, where the possession is not in dispute and not a question of fact for adjudication before the court, the court may appoint Commissioner to assess the accurate description and status of the property.

42.3. After examination of parties under Order 10 or production of documents under Order 11 or receipt of Commission report, the court must add all necessary or proper parties to the suit, so as to avoid multiplicity of proceedings and also make such joinder of cause of action in the same suit.

42.4. Under Order 40 Rule 1CPC, a Court Receiver can be appointed to monitor the status of the property in question as custodia legis for proper adjudication of the matter.

42.5. The court must, before passing the decree, pertaining to delivery of possession of a property ensure that the decree is unambiguous so as to not only contain clear description of the property but also having regard to the status of the property.

42.6. In a money suit, the court must invariably resort to Order 21 Rule 11, ensuring immediate execution of decree for payment of money on oral application.

42.7. In a suit for payment of money, before settlement of issues, the defendant may be required to disclose his assets on oath, to the extent that he is being made liable in a suit. The court may further, at any stage, in appropriate cases during the pendency of suit, using powers under Section 151CPC, demand security to ensure satisfaction of any decree.

42.8. The court exercising jurisdiction under Section 47 or under Order 21CPC, must not issue notice on an application of third party claiming rights in a mechanical manner. Further, the court should refrain from entertaining any such application(s) that has already been considered by the court while adjudicating the suit or which raises any such issue which otherwise could have been raised and determined during adjudication of suit if due diligence was exercised by the applicant.

42.9. The court should allow taking of evidence during the execution proceedings only in exceptional and rare cases where the question of fact could not be decided by resorting to any other expeditious method like appointment of Commissioner or calling for electronic materials including photographs or video with affidavits.

42.10. The court must in appropriate cases where it finds the objection or resistance or claim to be frivolous or mala fide, resort to sub-rule (2) of Rule 98 of Order 21 as well as grant compensatory costs in accordance with Section 35-A.

42.11. Under Section 60CPC the term "" in name of the judgment-debtor or by another person in trust for him or on his behalf" should be read liberally to incorporate any other person from whom he may have the ability to derive share, profit or property.

42.12. The executing court must dispose of the execution proceedings within six months from the date of filing, which may be extended only by recording reasons in writing for such delay.

42.13. The executing court may on satisfaction of the fact that it is not possible to execute the decree without police assistance, direct the police station concerned to provide police assistance to such officials who are working towards execution of the decree. Further, in case an offence against the public servant while discharging his duties is brought to the knowledge of the court, the same must be dealt with stringently in accordance with law.

42.14. The Judicial Academies must prepare manuals and ensure continuous training through appropriate mediums to the court personnel/staff executing the warrants, carrying out attachment and sale and any other official duties for executing orders issued by the executing courts."

15. The Apex Court in the case of Alka Shrirang Chavan and Another vs. Hemchandra Rajaram Bhonsale and Others 2026 SCC OnLine SC 55, held as under:-

"59. In Silverline Forum Pvt. Ltd. v. Rajiv Trust [(1998) 3 SCC 723] , a sub-tenant, who was not a party to a decree for eviction, resisted execution of the decree and the court ordered an inquiry under Section 151CPC. The High Court upheld that order and that was challenged in appeal before this Court. While disagreeing with the view taken by the High Court that resistance or obstruction made by a third party to the decree for execution cannot be gone into under Order XXI Rule 97CPC, this Court observed as under:

9. "...Rules 97 to 106 in Order 21 of the Code are subsumed under the caption "Resistance to delivery of possession to decree-holder or purchaser". Those rules are intended to deal with every sort of resistance or obstructions offered by any person. Rule 97 specifically provides that when the holder of a decree for possession of immovable property is resisted or obstructed by "any person" in obtaining possession of the property such decree-holder has to make an application complaining of the resistance or obstruction. Sub-rule (2) makes it incumbent on the court to proceed to adjudicate upon such complaint in accordance with the procedure laid down.

10. It is true that Rule 99 of Order 21 is not available to any person until he is dispossessed of immovable property by the decree-holder. Rule 101 stipulates that all questions "arising between the parties to a proceeding on an application under Rule 97 or Rule 99" shall be determined by the executing court, if such questions are "relevant to the adjudication of the application". A third party to the decree who offers resistance would thus fall within the ambit of Rule 101 if an adjudication is warranted as a consequence of the resistance or obstruction made by him to the execution of the decree. No doubt if the resistance was made by a transferee pendente lite of the judgment-debtor, the scope of the adjudication would be shrunk to the limited question whether he is such a transferee and on a finding in the affirmative regarding that point the execution court has to hold that he has no right to resist in view of the clear language contained in Rule 102. Exclusion of such a transferee from raising further contentions is based on the salutary principle adumbrated in Section 52 of the Transfer of Property Act.

11. When a decree-holder complains of resistance to the execution of a decree it is incumbent on the execution court to adjudicate upon it. But while making adjudication, the court is obliged to determine only such question as may be arising between the parties to a proceeding on such complaint and that such questions must be relevant to the adjudication of the complaint.

12. The words "all questions arising between the parties to a proceeding on an application under Rule 97" would envelop only such questions as would legally arise for determination between those parties. In other words, the court is not obliged to determine a question merely because the resister raised it. The questions which the executing court is obliged to determine under Rule 101, must possess two adjuncts. First is that such questions should have legally arisen between the parties, and the second is, such questions must be relevant for consideration and determination between the parties, e.g., if the obstructor admits that he is a transferee pendente lite it is not necessary to determine a question raised by him that he was unaware of the litigation when he purchased the property. Similarly, a third party, who questions the validity of a transfer made by a decree-holder to an assignee, cannot claim that the question regarding its validity should be decided during execution proceedings. Hence, it is necessary that the questions raised by the resister or the obstructor must legally arise between him and the decree-holder. In the adjudication process envisaged in Order 21 Rule 97(2) of the Code, the execution court can decide whether the question raised by a resister or obstructor legally arises between the parties. An answer to the said question also would be the result of the adjudication contemplated in the sub-section.

13. In the above context we may refer to Order 21 Rule 35(1) which reads thus:

"35. (1) Where a decree is for the delivery of any immovable property, possession thereof shall be delivered to the party to whom it has been adjudged, or to such person as he may appoint to receive delivery on his behalf, and, if necessary, by removing any person bound by the decree who refuses to vacate the property."

59.1. This Court held that it is clear that the executing court can decide whether the resister or obstructor is a person bound by the decree and whether he refuses to vacate the property. It has been held thus:

14. It is clear that the executing court can decide whether the resister or obstructor is a person bound by the decree and he refuses to vacate the property. That question also squarely falls within the adjudicatory process contemplated in Order 21 Rule 97(2) of the Code. The adjudication mentioned therein need not necessarily involve a detailed enquiry or collection of evidence. The court can make the adjudication on admitted facts or even on the averments made by the resister. Of course the court can direct the parties to adduce evidence for such determination if the court deems it necessary.

60. NSS Narayana Sarma v. Goldstone Exports (P) Ltd. (2002) 1 SCC 662, also makes an analysis of Order XXI Rules 97 to 101 CPC. In this case, the contest was between two sets of transferees of the subject property, including the appellants. The objections filed by the appellants under Order XXI Rule 99 read with Rule 101 CPC having been dismissed by the High Court as non-maintainable, the appellants were before this Court assailing the judgment of the High Court. In that context, this Court examined the aforesaid provisions in the following manner:

15. Provision is made in the Civil Procedure Code for delivery of possession of immovable property in execution of a decree and matters relating thereto. In Order 21 Rule 35 provisions are made empowering the executing court to deliver possession of the property to the decree-holder if necessary, by removing any person bound by the decree who refuses to vacate the property. In Rule 36 provision is made for delivery of formal or symbolical possession of the property in occupancy of a tenant or other person entitled to occupy the same and not bound by the decree to relinquish such occupancy. Rules 97 to 101 of Order 21 contain the provisions enabling the executing court to deal with a situation when a decree-holder entitled to possession of the property encounters obstruction from "any person". From the provisions in these Rules which have been quoted earlier the scheme is clear that the legislature has vested wide powers in the executing court to deal with "all issues" relating to such matters. It is a general impression prevailing amongst the litigant public that difficulties of a litigant are by no means over on his getting a decree for immovable property in his favour. Indeed, his difficulties in real and practical sense, arise after getting the decree. Presumably, to tackle such a situation and to allay the apprehension in the minds of litigant public that it takes years and years for the decree-holder to enjoy fruits of the decree, the legislature made drastic amendments in provisions in the aforementioned Rules, particularly, the provision in Rule 101 in which it is categorically declared that all questions including questions relating to right, title or interest in the property arising between the parties to a proceeding on an application under Rule 97 or Rule 99 or their representatives, and relevant to the adjudication of the application shall be determined by the court dealing with the application and not by a separate suit and for this purpose, the court shall, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any other law for the time being in force, be deemed to have jurisdiction to decide such questions. On a fair reading of the Rule it is manifest that the legislature has enacted the provision with a view to remove, as far as possible, technical objections to an application filed by the aggrieved party whether he is the decree-holder or any other person in possession of the immovable property under execution and has vested the power in the executing court to deal with all questions arising in the matter irrespective of whether the court otherwise has jurisdiction to entertain a dispute of the nature. This clear statutory mandate and the object and purpose of the provisions should not be lost sight of by the courts seized of an execution proceeding. The court cannot shirk its responsibility by skirting the relevant issues arising in the case.

60.1. After adverting to Silverline and other decided cases, this Court concluded as under:

19. From the principles laid down in the decisions noted above, the position is manifest that when any person claiming title to the property in his possession obstructs the attempt by the decree-holder to dispossess him from the said property the executing court is competent to consider all questions raised by the persons offering obstruction against execution of the decree and pass appropriate order which under the provisions of Order 21 Rule 103 is to be treated as a decree""

61. The next case on this issue is Usha Sinha v. Dina Ram [(2008) 7 SCC 144] . After agreeing with the proposition of law laid down in Silverline, this Court held as under:

25. We are in respectful agreement with the proposition of law laid down by this Court in Silverline Forum. In our opinion, the doctrine is based on the principle that the person purchasing property from the judgment-debtor during the pendency of the suit has no independent right to property to resist, obstruct or object execution of a decree. Resistance at the instance of transferee of a judgment-debtor during the pendency of the proceedings cannot be said to be resistance or obstruction by a person in his own right and, therefore, is not entitled to get his claim adjudicated.

26. For invoking Rule 102, it is enough for the decree-holder to show that the person resisting the possession or offering obstruction is claiming his title to the property after the institution of the suit in which decree was passed and sought to be executed against the judgment-debtor. If the said condition is fulfilled, the case falls within the mischief of Rule 102 and such applicant cannot place reliance either on Rule 98 or Rule 100 of Order 21."

Conclusion of this Court

16. It is apparent from the above law laid down by the Apex Court in the case of Periyammal (supra) and Alka Shrirang Chavan (supra) that even a stranger is entitled to obstruct the execution of a decree of possession by claiming independent right in the disputed property and such right is to be adjudicated by the executing court under Order 21 Rule 97 and 99 C.P.C. It is further apparent that for adjudicating the right of the stranger under Order 21 Rule 99 C.P.C., it is not mandatory that he had been dispossessed by the decree holder from the disputed property before his objections can be considered by the executing court. The trial court in the instant case has dismissed the application of the appellants on the ground that they are neither the decree holder under Order 21 Rule 97 C.P.C. nor they have been dispossessed under Order 21 Rule 99 C.P.C., hence, their application is not legally maintainable. In the light of the law laid down by the Apex Court in the above mentioned cases, certainly the reasoning of the executing court is erroneous and legally unsustainable. It is apparent that the appellants application could not have been dismissed on the ground of maintainability. But the question remains whether the appellants have proved any prima facie independent right, title and interest in the disputed property, entitling them to resist their dispossession from it?

17. The Apex Court in the case of Rahul S. Shah (supra) has held that the Court should refrain from entertaining an application of the third party claiming rights in the disputed property, in a mechanical manner and should only take evidence in execution proceedings in exceptional and rare cases. It was further held that where the Court finds the objections or resistance or claim to be frivolous or malafide, it can resort to Order 21 Rule 98(2) C.P.C. for granting compensatory costs in accordance with Section 35-A.

18. It is alleged by the appellants/applicants in their application under Order 21 Rule 97 and 99 C.P.C. that the predecessor/grandfather of the applicants was Rajaram and after his death, a partition took place between the sons of Rajaram namely Shivanand Bharti and Paramhans Pandey, about 10 years back. The applicants have not disclosed when Rajaram died and when partition took place between his sons, but have mentioned that their father died in the year 2009.

19. It is also apparent that the plaintiff in O.S. No.348 of 1988 claimed ownership of disputed property on the basis of sale deed, whereas, no documentary proof of ownership could be produced by defendants in that case.

20. It is apparent that the appellants have failed to produce any documentary evidence to establish their ownership or any independent right in the disputed property. The appellants allege that the disputed property was allotted to their father, Paramhans Pandey, in a family partition, and upon his death, they became the owners in possession of the property. It is apparent that if the partition took place during the pendency of the original suit, then on this basis no rights can be claimed by the appellants. The appellants further contend that the plaintiffs and defendants in O.S. No. 348 of 1988 were neither the rightful owners nor in possession of the disputed property, and, as such, the decree passed in O.S. No. 348 of 1988 was collusive but no documentary evidence has been submitted in this regard by the appellants.

21. It is further evident that the suit was contested by Paramhans Pandey's brother, Shivanand Bharti, and his sons, namely Sri Ram, Ramji, and Basant Kumar. It is also apparent that Shivanand Bharti and his family and Paramhans Pandey and his family were residing in the same disputed house, as alleged by the appellants, hence, it is improbable that the appellants were unaware of the pendency of O.S. No.348 of 1988 and Civil Appeal No.7 of 2012.

22. Since the defendants and the appellants were residing in the same disputed house, if they had any right in the property, they could have moved an impleadment application in the original suit. However, despite being aware of the suit, no such application was ever filed by them.

23. It is further apparent that no independent right has vested in the appellants to challenge the decree passed in that suit. The application under Order 21 Rules 97 and 99 C.P.C. appears to have been filed merely to frustrate the decree passed in O.S. No. 348 of 1988, in collusion with the judgment debtors. Since the appellants have failed to demonstrate any independent right or interest in the disputed property, they are not entitled to resist the decree passed in O.S. No. 348 of 1988.

24. Accordingly, the appeal lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed at the admission stage.

25. The appeal is dismissed at the admission stage.

26. Consequently, the impugned order dated 06.01.2026 is affirmed, albeit on a different ground.

Special Appeal No. 84 of 2025

Saurav Raj

...Appellant

Versus

Sonakshi Verma

...Respondent

Issue for Consideration

(1) Maintainability of Special Appeal against an order disposing of contempt application with the direction to pursue the proceeding filed u/s 379, BNSS before the competent court.

Headnotes

(A) Practice and Procedure – Special Appeal – Maintainability – Contempt application was filed for filing false affidavit in maintenance case – Single Judge declined to proceed contempt application in order to curtail the multiplicity of proceedings as a proceeding u/s 379, BNSS was already filed and pending before the competent court – Validity challenged – Plea of violation of judgment rendered in Rajnish v. Neha case was raised – Permissibility: (E-1)

Held: In Rajnesh v. Neha, the Hon'ble Supreme Court laid down a general caution that irresponsible pleadings may invite action under Section 340 Cr.P.C. or contempt, but did not mandate automatic initiation of such proceedings, particularly in cases of inadvertent or immaterial errors in disclosure affidavits. [Para 15]

Further held: An appeal is a creation of statute and once the legislature in its wisdom has chosen not to provide for any remedy of appeal against an order passed, whereby the contempt court has declined to initiate contempt proceeding, then appeal cannot be construed to be maintainable as the proceedings under the Contempt of Courts Act are self-contained – The learned Single Judge by observing that multiple proceedings cannot be permitted as a proceeding under Section 379 BNSS was already pending and giving liberty to approach the competent court to pursue the grievance therein exercising contempt jurisdiction has neither entered into the merits of dispute nor decided any question, inter alia, which may affect the valuable rights of the parties as filing contempt against a contemnor does not confer any right against which a special appeal can be filed. [Para 19 and 21]

(B) Interpretation of statute – Quando aliquid prohibetur ex directo, prohibetur et per obliquum – Meaning – Applicability: (E-1)

Held: If there is no provision of appeal in the statute, one cannot take aid of any other provisions as such of the Rules as quando aliquid prohibetur ex directo, prohibetur et per obliquum, that is, what cannot be done directly cannot be done indirectly. [Para 21]

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shekhar B. Saraf, J.)

The present Special Appeal has been filed by the appellant under Chapter VIII Rule 5 of the Allahabad High Court Rules, 1952 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Rules, 1952') against the order dated August 13, 2024 passed by the learned Single Judge in Contempt Application No. 3201 of 2024 whereby the learned Single Judge disposed of the contempt application on the ground that proceeding under Section 379 of Bharatiya Nagarik Surakhsha Sanhita, 2023 (hereinafter referred to as 'BNSS' ; formerly Section 340 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973) has already been filed and is pending before the trial court.

FACTS

1. The factual matrix giving rise to the present special appeal has been delineated below:

a. The marriage between the appellant and the respondent, Sonakshi Verma was solemnized on February 15, 2021 in accordance with Hindu rites and rituals. Disputes arose soon thereafter which led respondent to file multiple cases against the appellant and his family members, including maintenance application under Section 12 of the Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act, 2005 (hereinafter referred to as 'DV Act') registered as Case No. 3288 of 2022 (P.S. Aliganj, Lucknow) before the Court of Civil Judge (J.D.)/F.T.C., Lucknow.

b. In the said proceedings, the respondent filed an Affidavit of Assets and Liabilities (A.O.A.) dated June 27, 2022 in accordance with the directions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Rajnesh v. Neha reported in AIR 2021 SC 569. In the said affidavit, the respondent stated her income as 'NA' (Non-Applicable) and stated 'NA' against properties/assets even though the respondent at that time was a serving judicial officer of the Bihar Judiciary (Civil Judge/Judicial Magistrate-I, presently posted as Registrar, Bihar Land Tribunal, Patna).

c. The maintenance application was decided ex-parte against the appellant on November 2, 2023, whereby maintenance of ₹10,000 per month was granted alongwith a restraint order in respect of a matrimonial house and compensation of Rs.2,00,000/-.

d. Aggrieved by allegedly false affidavit filed by the respondent in maintenance proceedings, the appellant initiated proceedings under Section 340 Cr.P.C. by filing Misc. Application No. 83439 of 2024 before the court of ACJ (J.D.) (Crime Against Women) F.T.C. 50.

e. Thereafter, the appellant also filed Contempt Application (Civil) No. 3201 of 2024 before this Hon'ble Court, seeking initiation of contempt against the respondent for deliberately filing a false affidavit in violation of the mandate given in Rajnesh v. Neha (Supra), which expressly provides that false statements and misrepresentations in maintenance affidavits may invite proceedings under Section 340 Cr.P.C. and contempt of court. The learned Single Judge disposed of the contempt application by the judgment and order dated August 13, 2024 without recording any finding whether prima facie contempt was made out or not and directed the appellant to pursue the application under Section 340 Cr.P.C. before the learned trial court. It is this judgment dated 13.08.2024, which has been impugned in the present intra-court appeal.

CONTENTIONS OF THE APPELLANT

2. The learned counsel appearing on behalf of the appellant has made the following submissions:

a. The learned Single Judge erred in failing to decide the core issue as to whether contempt was made out against the respondent in light of the clear dictum of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Rajnesh v. Neha (Supra), particularly para (h) of the guidelines, which mandates initiation of contempt proceedings for making false statements in the affidavit of assets and liabilities.

b. There is no bar against proceeding simultaneously under Section 379 of BNSS and Contempt of Court.

c. A Special Appeal is maintainable against an order of the Contempt Court where it has overstepped its jurisdiction. In the present case, the Hon'ble Single Judge exceeded the bounds of contempt jurisdiction by directing the appellant to file a transfer application and pursue proceedings under Section 340 Cr.P.C. and inter alia holding that multiple litigations cannot be permitted, thereby delving into the merits of the original controversy. Such an order is therefore liable to be challenged by way of the present Special Appeal.

d. If the learned Single Judge, for any reason, decides an issue or issues any direction relating to the merits of the dispute between the parties in contempt proceedings, then the aggrieved party is not without a remedy and may challenge the same by way of an intra-court appeal, where such a remedy is available.

e. The swearing of a false affidavit in judicial proceedings not only has the tendency to obstruct the due course of justice but also to impede, obstruct, and interfere with the administration of justice.

f. The respondent has deliberately and intentionally filed a false affidavit before the learned Civil Court which is in gross violation of the directions issued by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Rajnesh v. Neha (Supra). The specific false statements include:

i. Stating her source of income as 'N/A' (Non-Applicable), despite being a serving Civil Judge/Judicial Magistrate-I in the Bihar Judiciary since 2018 and drawing a regular salary from the State exchequer.

ii. Stating 'N/A' against properties/assets, despite having purchased a four-wheeler car (Hyundai Creta, Reg. No. UP 32 NX 2057) on 12-09-2023 while the PWDVA proceedings were still pending.

iii. Stating her mother and brother as dependents without any supporting documentary evidence, when in fact her brother is a married man, practicing lawyer, and manager/managing director of a hotel.

iv. Projecting medical expenses of Rs. 40,000/- as a personal liability, when as a judicial officer, her medical expenses are borne out by the State.

g. The respondent, by filing a false affidavit, misled the learned Civil Judge F.T.C., Lucknow, who passed the ex-parte order dated November 2, 2023 on the basis of such affidavit. The appellant being aggrieved party, is left without any remedy, which is contrary to the well-settled maxim 'Ubi jus ibi remedium'.

h. To buttress her arguments, counsel has placed reliance on the following judgments:

(i) Subhash Chandra v. Srikant Goswami, Managing Director, Sahkari Gram Vikas Bank Ltd., Lucknow in Special Appeal No. 372 of 2023; to contend that a special appeal would be maintainable against the order of contempt court if it has overstepped its jurisdiction.

(ii) Midnapore Peoples Cooperative v. Chunni Lal Nanda and Others reported in (2006) 5 SCC 399; to contend that special appeal would be maintainable, if the learned Single Judge has made any direction relating to merits of the dispute in contempt jurisdiction .

(iii) Pratibha v. Kunwar Singh Tanwar & Ors.; RFA 695/2016 (Delhi High Court); to contend that misleading statements made before the court can invoke its contempt jurisdiction.

(iv) Secretary, Hailkandi Bar Association v. State of Assam and Anr. reported in AIR 1996 SC 1925; to contend that contempt of court and proceedings under Section 340 CrPC can run simultaneously.

(v) Board of Cricket Control in India v. Cricket Association of Bihar and Ors. in (Civil Appeal No. 4235 of 2014); wherein the court has issued notice to explain as to why proceedings under Section 340 CrPC and contempt of court should not be initiated against the contemnors.

(vii) M.S. Ahlawat v. State of Haryana and another reported in AIR 2000 SC 168; to contend that petitioner therein was prosecuted for giving false evidence as well as for contempt of court.

(viii) Dhananjay Sharma v. State of Haryana reported in (1995) 3 SCC 757; to contend that swearing of false affidavit in judicial proceedings had the tendency to impede, obstruct, and interfere with the administration of justice and therefore amounts to criminal contempt of court.

CONTENTIONS OF THE RESPONDENT:

3. The learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent has made the following submissions:

a. The impugned order passed by contempt court does not contain any direction nor does it discuss the merits of the original controversy. The learned Single Judge merely observed that multiple proceedings on the same subject matter are not permissible when an application under Section 340 Cr.P.C. was already pending before the competent court. Hence, the contempt court has rightly declined to entertain parallel proceedings, and accordingly, the Special Appeal is liable to be dismissed on the ground of maintainability itself.

b. The affidavit in question did not contain the notation 'NIL', rather, the entry 'N/A' was merely an inadvertent slip of the pen, constituting a human error and without any mens rea to mislead the learned Court. This contention is corroborated by the affidavit itself, wherein the respondent declared her occupation as 'Civil Judge, Bihar Judicial Service.' Furthermore, in her maintenance application under Section 12 of the DV Act, the respondent had expressly acknowledged her status as a Judicial Officer, as well as in the final order dated November 2, 2023, the learned magistrate expressly recorded that the respondent was working as Sub-Divisional Judicial Magistrate (East), Muzaffarpur, Bihar and that both parties are working persons.

c. The appellant had already filed an application under Section 340 Cr.P.C. on the same subject matter before the learned trial court. The initiation of parallel proceedings in two separate courts of law pertaining to the same subject matter is not permissible. The Contempt Court rightly observed that multiple proceedings should not be permitted. The respondent relied on the proviso to Section 10 of the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971, which stipulates that no High Court shall take cognizance of contempt alleged to have been committed in respect of a subordinate court where such contempt constitutes an offence punishable under the IPC.

d. The appellant had filed more than nine cases against the respondent and her family. He also has a habit of lodging complaints against the presiding officer of the Court whenever he fails to secure a favourable order and in effect to it, he has filed a complaint against the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate who accepted the final report in an FIR lodged by the appellant.

e. The appellant has wrongly interpreted the directions contained in para h of the judgment of the Supreme Court in Rajnesh v. Neha (Supra). The conjunction 'and' in the expression 'u/s. 340 Cr.P.C., and for contempt of Court' must be read disjunctively, i.e., as 'or', to give effect to the true intention of the Hon'ble Supreme Court. The jurisdiction to punish for contempt is vested exclusively in the High Courts under the Contempt of Courts Act. The Supreme Court's observation cannot be read to mean that both remedies must be pursued cumulatively.

f. To buttress his arguments counsel has placed reliance on the following judgment:

(i) Ishwar Singh Bindra and Others v. State of U.P. reported in AIR 1968 SC 1450, wherein it was held that 'and' may, by force of context, be read as 'or' to effectuate legislative intent.

ANALYSIS

4. After hearing the arguments canvassed by learned counsel appearing on behalf of both the parties and perusal of materials placed on record, the following issue emerges:

I. Whether Special Appeal under Chapter VIII Rule 5 of the Rules, 1952 is maintainable against the order of the Contempt Court? If so, under what circumstances?

5. The petitioner contends that a Special Appeal/Intra- Court appeal would be maintainable as the learned Single Judge by declining to initiate contempt proceedings had traversed its jurisdiction by not deciding as to whether any contempt has been made out or not but instead relegated the parties to approach the lower court in a pending proceeding under Section 379 BNSS. As per the judgment of the Supreme Court in Rajnesh v. Neha (Supra) , the pleadings made in the applications for maintenance and replies should be responsible; if false statements are made, the court may consider initiation of proceedings under Section 379 BNSS and for contempt of court. There is no exclusionary bar for filing proceeding under contempt of court and Section 379 BNSS. Furthermore, the discovery of the fact that the proceedings under Section 379 BNSS has been dismissed will render the appellant remediless.

6. Per contra, learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent has vehemently opposed the aforesaid arguments and submits that the present special appeal is not maintainable as the order passed by the Contempt Court neither adjudicated the merits of the dispute nor issued any substantive directions, and rightly discouraged multiplicity of proceedings since the appellant had already invoked Section 379 BNSS on the same subject matter before the court below. It is contended that the appellant has attempted to mislead the Court regarding the respondent's affidavit, whereas the alleged discrepancy ('N/A') was merely an inadvertent error without any intention to misrepresent, which stands contradicted by consistent disclosures of her status as a judicial officer in prior proceedings and orders. The respondent emphasizes that parallel proceedings on the same issue are impermissible, and in view of the proviso to Section 10 of the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971, contempt jurisdiction is barred where the alleged act constitutes an offence under the IPC, which the appellant himself has invoked through Section 340 Cr.P.C.

proceedings. The appellant's reliance on Rajnish v. Neha (Supra) is misconceived, as the expression 'and' therein must be read disjunctively as 'or', in line with settled principles of interpretation. It is further pointed out that the appellant's application under Section 340 has already been dismissed on merits.

7. Section 10 of the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971 refers to the power of a High Court to punish for contempt of its subordinate courts which is sanctioned by Article 215 of the Constitution of India. The proviso excludes the jurisdiction of the High Court only in cases where the act alleged to constitute contempt of a subordinate court are punishable as contempt under specific provisions of the Indian Penal Code, 1860, but not where such acts merely amount to offences of other description for which punishment has been provided in the IPC, 1860.

8. Before proceeding further, it is relevant to note that the appellant has initiated a contempt proceedings before the High Court under Section 10 of the Act wherein the learned Single Judge in its contempt jurisdiction has passed the following order. The relevant part of the order is extracted hereinbelow:

'4. It is evident from the pleading that application under Section 340 Cr.P.C. has already been filed and is pending before the Competent Court, in such circumstances, multiple proceeding not to be permitted. As in case, the Court is vacant then it is appropriate to move transfer application before the Chief Judicial Magistrate concerned.

5. In view of the above, the present contempt application is disposed of with liberty to applicant to move transfer application before the Chief Judicial Magistrate concerned for transfer of application under Section 340 Cr.P.C. pending before Civil Judge, Junior Division, FTC, (Women related offences). In case, such application is filed within a period of two weeks from today then it is expected from the Chief Judicial Magistrate to pass appropriate order on the application.'

9. The question is whether the observation of learned Single Judge that 'multiple proceedings not be permitted' defies the right of the appellant to pursue the two remedies as per the judgment of Rajnish v. Neha (Supra), wherein it was observed that for filing false affidavits, court may initiate proceedings under Section 340 CrPC and for contempt of court.

10. The power of the intra-court appeal has been conferred on this Court by Chapter VIII Rule 5 of the Rules, 1952 which reads as under:-

"Chapter VIII [5. Special appeal :- An appeal shall lie to the Court from a judgment (not being a judgment passed in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction) in respect of a decree or order made by a Court subject to the superintendence of the Court and not being an order made in the exercise of revisional jurisdiction or in the exercise of its power of superintendence or in the exercise of criminal jurisdiction [or in the exercise of the jurisdiction conferred by Article 226 or Article 227 of the Constitution in respect of any judgment, order or award]

(a) of a tribunal, Court or statutory arbitrator made or purported to be made in the exercise or purported exercise of jurisdiction under any Uttar Pradesh Act or under any Central

Act, with respect to any of the matters enumerated in the State List or the Concurrent List in the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution, or

(b) of the Government or any officer or authority, made or purported to be made in the exercise or purported exercise of appellate or revisional jurisdiction under any such Act of one Judge.}]'

11. From the perusal of the impugned order passed in contempt proceedings, it transpires that learned Single Judge had declined to initiate the contempt proceedings in order to curtail the multiplicity of proceedings as a proceeding under Section 379 of the BNSS was already filed and was pending before the competent court.

12. The issue with regard to maintainability of a special appeal relating to a contempt proceeding is no more res integra. The Supreme Court in Midnapore Peoples' Coop. Bank Ltd. (Supra) has culled out the following circumstances for filing special appeal against orders passed in contempt proceedings:

'11. The position emerging from these decisions, in regard to appeals against orders in contempt proceedings may be summarised thus:

I. An appeal under Section 19 is maintainable only against an order or decision of the High Court passed in exercise of its jurisdiction to punish for contempt, that is, an order imposing punishment for contempt.

II. Neither an order declining to initiate proceedings for contempt, nor an order initiating proceedings for contempt nor an order dropping the proceedings for contempt nor an order acquitting or exonerating the contemnor, is appealable under Section 19 of the CC Act. In special circumstances, they may be open to challenge under Article 136 of the Constitution.

III. In a proceeding for contempt, the High Court can decide whether any contempt of court has been committed, and if so, what should be the punishment and matters incidental thereto. In such a proceeding, it is not appropriate to adjudicate or decide any issue relating to the merits of the dispute between the parties.

IV. Any direction issued or decision made by the High Court on the merits of a dispute between the parties, will not be in the exercise of 'jurisdiction to punish for contempt' and, therefore, not appealable under Section 19 of the CC Act. The only exception is where such direction or decision is incidental to or inextricably connected with the order punishing for contempt, in which event the appeal under Section 19 of the Act, can also encompass the incidental or inextricably connected directions.

V. If the High Court, for whatsoever reason, decides an issue or makes any direction, relating to the merits of the dispute between the parties, in a contempt proceedings, the aggrieved person is not without remedy. Such an order is open to challenge in an intra-court appeal (if the order was of a learned Single Judge and there is a provision for an intra-court appeal), or by seeking special leave to appeal under Article 136 of the Constitution of India (in other cases).

(Emphasis added)

13. The co-ordinate bench of this Court in Subhash Chandra (Supra) relying upon the judgment of Supreme Court in Midnapore Peoples' Coop. Bank Ltd. (Supra) has held that generally special appeal under Rules, 1952 against the order of learned Single Judge in contempt proceeding is not maintainable unless the contempt court oversteps its jurisdiction by deciding into the merits of the dispute and inter-alia observed that 'merits' refers to the substantive issues of the original case that led to the contempt proceedings. It encompasses the core legal and factual questions that were or are being contested in the original litigation. The relevant paragraphs of the judgment are quoted hereinbelow:

'46. Thus, it cannot be said as an inflexible rule that an intra-court appeal in no circumstance can be maintained. If an order passed in contempt jurisdiction has the trappings of a final order and/or it has the impact of diluting, varying the original order by which the disputes between the parties have been decided on merits or the Contempt Court touches the merit or passes an order beyond its scope then in such cases an intra court appeal can be maintained.

69. The pith and substance of the aforesaid discussion, the legal principles involved and circumstances when an appeal may lie under Section 19 of the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971 and when a Special Appeal may lie from an order passed in contempt jurisdiction can be summarized as under:-

(A) Section 19 (1) of the Contempt of Courts Act can be invoked only when the Contempt Court has exercised its jurisdiction to punish for contempt. The essence of this provision is to provide a remedy against decision where the court has taken a definitive action to penalize a contemnor. This includes orders that impose fines, imprisonment, or other punitive measures directly related to the contemptuous behavior. Interlocutory orders, which do not entail punishment for contempt, do not fall within the ambit of Section 19. Such orders may include directions to produce documents, file affidavits, or procedural directives necessary for the continuation of the contempt proceedings. These are routine judicial actions that facilitate the progress of the case but do not constitute a final determination on the issue of contempt. Routine orders passed during the pendency of contempt proceedings are also excluded from the scope of Section 19. These orders are typically procedural and administrative in nature, ensuring that the proceedings move forward without addressing the substantive issues of the original case or the merits of the contempt.

(B) The crux of the matter lies in the nuanced interpretation of what constitutes "merit" within the context of contempt proceedings, as referenced by the Supreme Court in the Midnapore Peoples Cooperative Bank Limited case. The term "merit" has not been defined in a straight jacket formula, leading to varying interpretations. However, a cumulative reading of the judgments provide clarity on several key aspects. In the Midnapore case, the Supreme Court held that in contempt proceedings, it is inappropriate to adjudicate or decide any issue related to the merits of the dispute between the parties. This principle aims to ensure that contempt proceedings do not encroach upon the substantive rights of the parties involved in the original dispute. The focus of contempt jurisdiction is to uphold the dignity and authority of the court, not to resolve the underlying dispute. The term "merit" in this context refers to the substantive issues of the original case that led to the contempt proceedings. It encompasses the core legal and factual questions that were or are being contested in the original litigation.

(C) Special appeals from the order or judgment of a single judge bench in contempt cases hinge on the distinction between addressing the merits of the original dispute and the conduct constituting contempt. The primary responsibility of the Contempt Court is to determine whether contempt has occurred and to impose appropriate sanctions if it has. The merits of the original controversy are outside the domain of the contempt court. However, when the Contempt Court issues directions or discusses the merits of the original controversy, it oversteps its jurisdiction. In such cases, a special appeal would lie to the High Court. This ensures that the original substantive issues are not inadvertently decided within the limited scope of contempt proceedings, preserving the parties' rights to a fair adjudication of their dispute.

(D) The interpretation of each case depends on its specific facts and circumstances. Courts must carefully distinguish between orders that address the procedural aspects of contempt proceedings and those that encroach upon the substantive issues of the original case. This distinction is crucial to maintaining the integrity of contempt jurisdiction and ensuring that appeals under Section 19 of the Act of 1971 are appropriately limited to cases where punitive action for contempt has been taken.

Thus, Special appeals in contempt cases are warranted only when the Contempt Court oversteps its jurisdiction by addressing the merits of the original dispute, ensuring that the substantive rights of the parties are protected. The interpretation of each case must consider the specific facts and circumstances to uphold the integrity of contempt jurisdiction and provide appropriate remedies for aggrieved parties.'

(Emphasis added)

14. The coordinate bench of this court in Vinod Kumar Gupta v. Shri Veer Bahadur Yadav reported in 2023(7) ADJ 107 (DB) dealing with a similar issue has held that an order of Single Judge exercising contempt jurisdiction in a contingency, when contempt proceedings are not being initiated, is not amenable to an appeal under Chapter VIII Rule 5 of the Rules, 1952. The relevant paragraphs of the judgment are quoted hereinbelow:

'30. Further in the case of Hemendra Swaroop Bhatnagar v. Sri P.S. Gosain, 2006(1) ADJ 483 (DB), this Hon'ble Court had the occasion to consider the issue of maintainability of special appeal under Chapter VIII Rule 5 of the 1952 Rules against the judgment and order dropping the contempt proceedings wherein this Court has observed as under:

"7. Appeal under Section 19 is maintainable when the order is passed by Contempt Judge in exercise of jurisdiction to punish for contempt. In the present case the Contempt Judge has discharged the notice, hence, there is no question of filing of appeal under Section 19.

8. The question regarding maintainability of the special appeal against an order rejecting a contempt application or discharging a contempt has come for consideration before this Court earlier. A Division Bench judgment of this Court in A.P. Verma, Principal Secretary, Medical Health and Family Welfare, U.P., Lucknow and others v. U.P. Laboratory Technicians Association, Lucknow and others, 1998 (3) UPLBEC 2333, had considered the said question. That Division Bench held in the said judgment that special appeal against an order refusing to initiate contempt proceeding is not maintainable.

11. The learned contempt Judge while discharging the contempt notice has not issued any direction or passed any order. The submission of the appellant's counsel that learned Judge has decided an issue on merit also cannot be accepted. The learned contempt Judge has only taken into consideration the earlier judgments of this Court contempt of which was alleged. The learned contempt Judge after taking into consideration all facts and circumstances observed that from the facts there does not appear to be any wilful or deliberate disobedience committed either by the Collector or by the Special Land Acquisition Officer. The order of contempt Judge discharging contempt notice cannot be said to be a judgment issuing any direction or deciding any issue on merits. "

33. As noticed above, the Hon'ble Apex Court and this Court has consistently held that an intra-Court appeal is not maintainable against the order of the learned Single Judge exercising contempt jurisdiction in a contingency, when the contempt proceedings are not being initiated. The reliance placed upon the judgment in the case of Durga Nagpal (supra) is misconceived and misplaced as in the said case, the Hon'ble Judges while exercising appellate jurisdiction were confronted with the situation where the contempt Court reviewed its own order after entertaining miscellaneous application for modification of the final judgment. The Division Bench opined that when accused are discharged and proceedings are closed, miscellaneous application for modification is not maintainable. In the said perspective, the Special Appeal was held to be maintainable. Since the present case originates from a judgment and order of the contempt Court declining to exercise contempt jurisdiction, thus, the said judgment is of no aid to the appellants.'

15. Before proceeding further this court would like to deal with the judgments that have been relied upon by the appellant. In Rajnesh v. Neha (Supra), the Hon'ble Supreme Court laid down a general caution that irresponsible pleadings may invite action under Section 340 Cr.P.C. or contempt, but did not mandate automatic initiation of such proceedings, particularly in cases of inadvertent or immaterial errors in disclosure affidavits.

16. We need not join issue with judgments of the Supreme Court in The Secretary, Hailkandi Bar Association (Supra) and Board of Control for Cricket in India (Supra) wherein the Supreme Court has stated that simultaneous proceedings of contempt and proceedings under Section 379 BNSS are possible. The above principles only allow a person to invoke both the jurisdictions simultaneously but that does not mean that the courts are bound to initiate action under both the provisions.

17. We make it further clear that we do not join issue with judgments cited in M.S. Ahlawat (Supra), Dhananjay Sharma (Supra) and Pratibha (Supra) wherein the courts have identified instances that would lead to the invocation of the contempt jurisdiction. With respect to the judgement of the Supreme Court in Midnapore Peoples' Coop. Bank Ltd (Supra), the judgment of Allahabad High Court in Subhash Chandra (Supra) and Vinod Kumar Gupta (Supra), we are at consensus at idem with the said judgments wherein the courts have held that a special appeal would be maintainable against the order of contempt court, if the contempt court has overstepped its jurisdiction and/or made a direction relating to the merits of the dispute in the original order, the contempt of which is being sought for.

18. It may be noted that the scope of jurisdiction of Contempt Court is to determine whether contempt is committed and to impose appropriate sanctions if it has been committed. The merits of the original controversy are outside the domain of the contempt court. However, when the Contempt Court issues directions or discusses on the merits of the original controversy, it oversteps its jurisdiction.

19. The learned Single Judge by observing that multiple proceedings cannot be permitted as a proceeding under Section 379 BNSS was already pending and giving liberty to approach the competent court to pursue the grievance therein exercising contempt jurisdiction has neither entered into the merits of dispute nor decided any question, inter alia, which may affect the valuable rights of the parties as filing contempt against a contemnor does not confer any right against which a special appeal can be filed.

20. There is another aspect of the matter, inasmuch as it has been vehemently argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that the learned Single Judge, by conflating these observation of 'multiplicity of proceedings', with the direction of 'relegating the parties to pursue perjury application' has actually commented on the merits of the contempt petition and as such the present Special Appeal was maintainable. We are afraid that the said submissions cannot be suscribed by us in any manner as the observation and/or direction of the learned Single Judge are not even peripheral to the merits of the contempt petition. Arguendo, one cannot argue that these observation and/or direction amounts to refusal of the Contempt Court to exercise its jurisdiction and/or has a trapping of dismissal of the said petition. However, in both the cases, wherein the Contempt Court has refused to entertain and/or has rejected the contempt petition, neither an Appeal would lie under Section 19 of the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971 nor a Special Appeal under Chapter VIII Rule 5 of the Allahabad High Court Rules, 1952, as held in Subhash Chandra (Supra).

21. An appeal is a creation of statute and once the legislature in its wisdom has chosen not to provide for any remedy of appeal against an order passed, whereby the contempt court has declined to initiate contempt proceeding, then appeal cannot be construed to be maintainable as the proceedings under the Contempt of Courts Act are self-contained. Right of appeal has been conferred only on the contemnor under Section 19 of the Act who has been punished under the Act and in rest of the contingency there is no remedy of appeal. If there is no provision of appeal in the statute, one cannot take aid of any other provisions as such of the Rules as quando aliquid prohibetur ex directo, prohibetur et per obliquum, that is, what cannot be done directly cannot be done indirectly.

22. Upon sifting through the ratios laid down in a catena of judgments of the Supreme Court and the High Court, one may come to an indubitable finding that a special appeal under Chapter VIII Rule 5 of the Rules, 1952 is only maintainable if the learned Single Judge has overstepped its jurisdiction and jumped into deciding on merits of the earlier order. A special appeal against an order of contempt Court would not be maintainable if the learned Single Judge has declined to initiate the contempt proceeding without delving into the merits of the dispute.

23. In view of the factual and legal position without going into the merits of the order passed by the learned Single Judge as also the maintainability of contempt proceeding in respect of violation of guidelines laid down by the Supreme Court in Rajnesh v. Neha (Supra), we unhesitatingly hold that the present special appeal/intra court appeal filed under Chapter VIII Rule 5 of the Rules, 1952 is not maintainable and the same is dismissed without demur.

Special Appeal No. 353 of 2025

...Appellant

Versus

State of U.P. & Ors.

...Respondents

Issue for Consideration

- (1) Ambit of terms 'member of family' to include 'widowed daughter-in-law' in respect of the matter of granting compassionate appointment.
- (2) Entitlement of 'widowed daughter-in-law', who was not 'daughter-in-law' at the time of dying in harness of the deceased government servant, to get compassionate appointment.

Headnotes

(A) Service law – Compassionate appointment – Entitlement of widowed daughter-in-law – Earlier claim was rejected on the ground that the father-in-law was drawing the pension, which was set aside by the High Court remanding the matter to be decided as fresh – Now the appointment, as proposed by the Regional Committee, was cancelled by D.I.O.S. holding her not dependent of the Govt. employee – Challenged in Writ petition – Writ petition was dismissed holding that the death of the Government employee, having occurred prior to even the appellant having been married with her son would take away the appellant from the ambit of 'member of family' as defined in Regulation 103 of the Regulations on the date of such death – Validity challenged – Ambit of the word 'family' and relevancy of 'date of becoming widow' felt into consideration: (E-1)

Held: The term 'widowed daughter-in-law' as being included in the definition of members of family, is eligible per se for compassionate appointment as a teacher in the trained graduate category or on a non-teaching post, in the case of a deceased government employee, who died in harness – The legislature in its wisdom did not find a 'daughter-in-law' to be eligible for compassionate appointment, however, in contrast found a widowed daughter-in-law to be eligible, for a simple reason that in common parlance the wife (read daughter-in-law) is dependent on her husband (read son) for maintenance etc. [Para 19 and 20]

Further held: The date of being widow is a relevant factor to include a 'widowed daughter-in-law' within the definition of "family", so as to make her eligible to claim appointment on compassionate ground under the Regulations – The appellant has no right to claim any employment as a 'widowed daughter-in-law' because for her not being even a 'daughter-in-law' at the time of dying in harness of the deceased government servant, nor she could claim any right due to happening of a subsequent event of she being a 'widowed daughter-in-law', as she does not fall into the definition of 'member of family' as contemplated under Regulations 103. [Para 25 and 33]

1. The present Special Appeal has been preferred by the appellant under Chapter VIII, Rule 5 of the Allahabad High Court Rules, 1952 interdicting an order dated 18.09.2025, passed by the learned Single Judge of this Court in Writ-A No. 10799 of 2025 (Smt. Deepika Tiwari versus State of U.P. and others), whereby her claim for compassionate appointment in the capacity of a widowed daughter-in-law of the deceased government employee was dismissed.

2. Shorn of unnecessary details, admittedly one Smt. Sangeeta Bajpayee was working as an Assistant Teacher in Nari Shiksha Niketan Inter College, Chakbast Road, District Lucknow and she died in harness on 23.04.2021. The said Smt. Sangeeta Bajpayee was survived by two legal heirs namely (i) Uday Bhan Bajpayee - husband, who was a pensioner from U.P.P.C.L. and (ii) Nikhil Bajpayee - Son and unemployed.

3. After around two years, Nikhil Bajpayee, the son of the deceased government employee, filed an application staking his claim for appointment on compassionate ground vide his application dated 09.02.2023 and records reveal that the said application came to be rejected by the competent authority on 10th of April, 2023 on the ground that his father (husband of the deceased Sangeeta Bajpayee) was a pensioner in U.P.P.C.L.

4. In the interregnum, the son of the deceased Government employee, i.e. Nikhil Bajpayee married the appellant on 15th February 2023.

5. Unfortunately, Sri Nikhil Bajpayee left for his heavenly abode on 13th of May, 2023 and admittedly by that date he did not challenge his rejection to be appointed on compassionate ground and as such the said order of rejection has till date remained unchallenged.

6. Subsequently, the appellant vide an Application dated 04.06.2024 staked her claim for compassionate appointment in the capacity of being the 'widowed daughter-in-law' of Late Sangeeta Bajpayee, however, her stake was rejected by the competent authority, leading to filing of a Writ Petition No. 4738 of 2024 (say First Writ Petition). A Single bench of this Court vide an order dated 19.06.2024, disposed of the said petition by directing the respondents to consider the representation of the appellant, which came to be rejected vide an order dated 10.10.2024 primarily on the ground that her father-in-law i.e. husband of the deceased government employee Late Sangeeta Bajpayee, was drawing pension from U.P.P.C.L.

7. Obviously, the appellant was not happy with the said rejection order and as such laid her challenge before this Court in Writ-A No. 10461 of 2024 (say second Writ Petition), wherein Single Judge of this Court, while quashing the said order of rejection directed the competent authority to consider the claim of the Appellant afresh, keeping in view the judgment of Kumari Farha Naseem V/s State Of U.P. And Others (Neutral Citation No. - 2024:AHC:154724) and Kr. Vanshika Nigam versus State Of U.P. And Others (SPECIAL APPEAL DEFECTIVE No. - 73 of 2016) of this Court, which held that claim for compassionate appointment may not be rejected merely because of one of the spouses is drawing pension and also held that the adequacy of the means and resources available and the issue of dependency have to be considered by the competent authority, while granting or rejecting the claim of compassionate appointment.

8. The Respondent No.3 (D.I.O.S.), in view of the aforesaid direction of this Court, reconsidered the application of the petitioner and as such issued an appointment order dated 23rd of May, 2025 followed by a correct version on 29th of May, 2025 wherein the Appellant/petitioner came to be appointed on the post of Assistant Teacher (Zoology) on the basis of a report by the Regional Committee, apparently based on provisions of Regulations 103 to 107, issued under Section 16G of Chapter 3 of U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921.

9. Some directions were also issued by the Respondent No. 3 to Respondent No. 4 (the Institution) for allowing the Appellant/petitioner to join on the post of Assistant Teacher, after verifying the original documents. However, it seems the Institution raised objections dated 16.06.2025 to her appointment, as according to them, the Appellant was not the dependent of the Government employee- Smt. Sangeeta Bajpayee, leading to cancellation of her appointment by the D.I.O.S. (Respondent No.3) vide his letter dated 21.08.2025.

10. It is this cancellation, which led to filing of Writ Petition No. 10799/2025 (Third Writ Petition), wherein the learned Single Judge, while dismissing the plea of the Appellant held vide the impugned order dated 18.09.2025 that the death of the Government employee, Late Sangeeta Bajpayee having occurred prior to even the appellant having been married with her son would take away the Appellant from the ambit of 'member of family' as defined in Regulation 103 of the Regulations on the date of such death.

11. It is this order, which has been impugned in the present Special Appeal.

12. Heard Shri Sanjay Misra, learned counsel for the appellant and Ms. Isha Mittal, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for the State, as well as Shri Mudit Agarwal counsel for the respondent No.4- Institution.

13. It has been submitted that the appellant having been married after the death of her Late mother-in-law is wholly irrelevant and the findings are contrary to the amended Regulation Number 103, which expressly includes 'widow daughter-in-law' within the ambit of dependence, eligible for compassionate appointment. The learned Counsel in order to buttress his argument has relied on the full bench judgment of this Court in the case of U.P Power Corporation Urban Electricity Transmission Division-II, Allahabad Vs Urmila Devi; reported in 2011 (3) ADJ 432; to submit that a widowed daughter-in-law has been casted into the definition of family, so as to make her entitle for compassionate ground. It is vehemently argued by the learned Counsel that Regulations 103 explicitly includes 'widow daughter-in-law' without qualification of date of marriage and keeping in view the humanitarian object of compassionate appointment the present Appeal may be allowed.

14. It has been further submitted that a liberal interpretation has to be given to the word 'widow daughter-in-law' so as to protect the dependent widows from destitution. It is the submission of the learned Counsel that the learned Single Judge by adopting a hyper-technical approach has frustrated the legislative intent of Regulations 103, without taking a humanitarian approach and failed to understand that in fact, the appellant had stepped into the shoes of her husband, who was very much eligible to be appointed on compassionate ground. In order to highlight his argument that a liberal interpretation ought to be given to the word 'family', he has referred to a judgment of coordinate Division bench of this Court in the case of Vibha Tiwari V/s State of U.P & Others; (Neutral Citation: 2024:AHC:49953-DB) to submit that a liberal approach has to be taken by this Court in cases for compassionate appointment as in this case, although the definition of 'family' did not specifically contain 'daughter-in-law', however this Court considered the case of a daughter-in-law, for giving her appointment on compassionate appointment, keeping in view the circumstances of that case that the son was under some disability. Thus, it has been submitted that since the appellant is well qualified and having no source of income, the denial of her appointment amounts to overlooking the Constitutional mandate of a welfare State.

15. Per contra, the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel, Ms. Isha Mittal has supported the impugned judgment and submitted that the learned Single Judge has painstakingly given a detailed judgment after discussing the relevant Regulations and the impugned order is a well reasoned and plausible order and does not requires any interference in this intra-court Appeal. She has relied on the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court passed in Umesh Kumar Nagpal v. State of Haryana reported in 1994 (4) SCC 138; to explain the object and purpose behind any appointment made under compassionate grounds. According to her, none of the grounds exists for grating any relief to the Appellant. It has been also submitted by her that the family of Late Sangeeta Bajpayee did not face any immediate financial crisis and had been sustaining itself even after her demise from the pensions drawn by the husband from his erstwhile employer - U.P.P.C.L. As far as the appellant was concerned it has been argued that she was not even a member of the family of the deceased at the time of her death and therefore, was not covered under the definition of 'family' under the Rules and therefore, was not entitled to the benefit of to be appointed on compassionate grounds. According to the learned Counsel, the present Appeal as being devoid of any merits may be dismissed.

16. Mr. Mudit Aggarwal, learned Counsel for the Nari Shiksha Niketan Inter College, has submitted that the Appellant is not covered under the definition of 'family' as defined under Rule 2 (c) of The Uttar Pradesh Recruitment of Dependents of Government Servants Dying in Harness Rules, 1974, and therefore, was not entitled for seeking appointment as family member in place of Late Smt. Sangeeta Bajpayee. According to him, the Legal Heir Certificate which was issued by the District Magistrate, Lucknow on 23.06.2021, listed only two Legal Heir namely, the husband and son of the deceased. According to him, it is on the basis of the said Legal Heir Certificate, that Nikhil Bajpayee, the son of the deceased government employee, claimed for his appointment on compassionate ground. It has been further submitted that the order of rejection dated 10.04.2023 was never challenged by Mr. Nikhil Bajpayee or even by the petitioner till date and for all intents and purposes the order dated 10.04.2023 decided the issue of compassionate appointment of legal heir of Late Sangeeta Bajpayee has attained finality. According to the learned Counsel, the orders passed by the learned Single Bench of this Court in the earlier two writ petitions were merely for deciding the representation and were innocuous in nature, as it did not adjudicate any rights of the appellant.

17. This Court has given an anxious thought to the various rival submission of the parties and this Court is of the view that the primary question, which falls for consideration in this intra-court Appeal would be :-

'Whether the date of being widow is a relevant factor to include a 'widowed daughter-in-law' within the definition of 'family', so as to make her eligible to claim appointment in compassionate ground under the Regulations?'

18. Before this Court embarks on a journey to determine the aforesaid issue, it would be pertinent to first enumerate the relevant Regulations relating to compassionate appointment as is founded in Regulations 103 to 107, issued under Section 16G of Chapter-III of U.P Intermediate Education Act, 1921. Since, these regulations have been already translated and extracted by the learned Single Judge in the impugned order, it would be advantageous to borrow and quote the same as herein below:

103- In case an employee, whether a teaching or non-teaching staff member, of a recognized aided institution (including a minority institution), who has been duly appointed following the prescribed procedure, dies in harness and the husband or wife (as the case may be) of the deceased employee is not already employed under the Central Government or a State Government or a Corporation owned or controlled by the Central Government or a State Government then one member of his/her family who is not already employed under the Central Government or a State Government or a Corporation owned or controlled by the Central Government or a State Government and who is not below 18 years of age, may be appointed either as a teacher in the Trained Graduate category or on a non-teaching post, if such person:-

(One) fulfills the educational or training qualifications prescribed for the post,

Provided further that if appointment is made to such a post for which Computer Operation and Typing has been prescribed as a mandatory qualification and the dependent of the deceased employee does not possess the requisite proficiency in Computer Operation and Typing then he shall be appointed to the post subject to the condition that within one year he shall obtain the CCC Certificate in Computer Operation awarded by DOEACC Society or any other certificate recognized by the Government equivalent thereto and also attain the required speed of 25 words per minute in Hindi typing and 30 words per minute in English typing, and if he fails to do so, his general annual increment shall be withheld and an additional period of one year shall be granted to acquire the requisite certificate in Computer Operation and the required typing speed, and if, even within the extended period, he fails to acquire the required certificate in Computer Operation and required typing speed, his services shall be terminated.

(Two) is otherwise qualified for government service.

Explanation:- For the purposes of this Regulation, the term (c) members of the family of the deceased Government servant shall include the following relatives:

- (i) Wife or husband;*
- (ii) Son or adopted son;*
- (iii) Daughters, (including adopted daughter) and widow daughter-in-law;*
- (iv) deceased Government servant's dependent unmarried brother, unmarried sister and widow mother, if the deceased Government servant was unmarried*
- (v) the aforementioned relatives of a missing Government servant who has been declared dead by a competent court.*

"Provided that if no person from among the aforementioned relatives of the deceased Government servant is available or if such a person is found to be physically or mentally unsuitable and thus be ineligible for appointment under Government service, then, only in such a case, the term family shall also include the dependent grandsons and unmarried granddaughters of the deceased Government servant."

104. Within seven days of the occurrence of death, the Management or the Principal or the Headmaster, as the case may be, of the recognized aided institution shall submit a report to the Inspector which shall include the name of the deceased employee, the post held, the pay scale, the date of appointment, the date of death, the name of the appointing institution and the names of the members of his/her family along with their educational qualification, age etc. The Inspector shall record the particulars of the deceased employee in a register maintained by him.

105. A member of the family of the deceased employee, as specified in Regulation 104, shall submit an application to the concerned Inspector for appointment according to the qualification, either to the post of Assistant Teacher or to a post in non-teaching cadre. The Committee shall consider the application and after the Committee recommends his appointment, the application shall be forwarded to the Management or the Principal or Headmaster, as the case may be, of the institution where the applicant is to be appointed in accordance with the provisions of Regulation 106, for issuance of the appointment order. The committee shall include the following:

- 1- District Inspector of Schools - Chairman
- 2- Finance and Accounts officer, (Secondary Education) - Member
- 3- Senior-most Principal, Government Inter College/ Government Girl's Inter College - Member

Provided that where the dependent of the deceased employee applies for appointment after the expiry of five years from the date of death and the State Government is satisfied that an undue hardship arises in a particular case due to prescribed time limit for making an application for employment, it may exempt or relax such requirements as it deems necessary to proceed in that case in a just and equitable manner:

Provided further that for the purpose of aforementioned proviso, the concerned person shall explain the reasons and furnish adequate justification in writing for the delay in applying for appointment after expiry of the prescribed time limit, along with necessary documents/evidence in support of such delay and the Government shall take appropriate decision after considering all facts related to the reasons of delay.

106. The appointment of a family member of the deceased employee shall, so far as possible, be made in the same institution where the deceased employee was serving at the time of his death. If there be no vacancy of Assistant Teacher or in non-teaching cadre in such institution then he shall be appointed in any other recognized aided institution of the district where such vacancy is available.

Provided that if no such vacancy exists in any recognized aided institution of the concerned district at that time then the case shall be referred to the Divisional Committee by the District Committee and the dependent of the deceased employee shall be appointed against a vacancy available in the Division.

Provided further that if no post be vacant at the Division level or if the dependent of the deceased employee seeks appointment in another Division then the case shall be referred to the Directorate, where it shall be considered by a Committee constituted at the Directorate level consisting the following:

1 Additional Director of Education (Secondary) Chairman

2 Joint Director of Education (Finance) Member

3 Deputy Director of Education (Secondary 2/ Secondary 3) Member

In the event of concurrence, following consideration by the Committee constituted at the Directorate level, the concerned District Committee shall be authorized to make appointment against the vacancy reported from the districts.

107. The recognized aided institution, to which the application has been forwarded by the Inspector for issuance of the appointment order, shall issue the appointment letter within one month from the date of receipt of application and inform the Inspector. If the appointment letter is not issued by the inspector within the prescribed period without reasonable grounds, the Director of Education shall take appropriate action against the Inspector on receipt of representation.

19. A facial reading of the aforesaid Regulation 103, leaves no doubt in mind that the term widowed daughter-in-law as being included in the definition of members of family, is eligible per se for compassionate appointment as a teacher in the trained graduate category or on a non-teaching post, in the case of a deceased government employee, who died in harness. However, the issue engaging the attention of this Court in the present Appeal and as also framed herein above is not to determine the eligibility of a widowed daughter-in-law for compassionate appointment, but to examine as to whether there is any relevancy of the date of becoming a widow of the said daughter-in-law and its effect.

20. The aforesaid issue gains prominence in the light of the fact that the phrase daughter-in-law is conspicuously absent from the definition of member of family juxtaposed with the phrase widowed daughter-in-law, which has been very well mentioned and made eligible. Thus, in a way the legislature in its wisdom did not find a daughter-in-law to be eligible for compassionate appointment, however, in contrast found a widowed daughter-in-law to be eligible, for a simple reason that in common parlance the wife (read daughter-in-law) is dependent on her husband (read son) for maintenance etc. and therefore, there was no requirement of naming the daughter-in-law also in the definition of member of family. Apparently, since son (read husband) has been made eligible as a member of family under the regulations, who can apply for compassionate appointment, it has purposely left out the daughter-in-law (read wife), however, the regulations contemplating an eventuality that, in case the son (read husband) has predeceased the government servant, who died in harness, has specifically mentioned the widow daughter-in-law (read wife of the deceased son) as a member of the family, so as to make her eligible for compassionate appointment. This analogy not only seems to be more logical and bonafide but also is in tandem with the ambitious humanitarian object behind any compassionate appointment under the Regulations.

21. According to this Court, when the son (read husband) is alive of a government employee, who died in harness, it is the son only and not the daughter-in-law, who is eligible to seek compassionate appointment. However, only in case the son predeceased the government servant, who died in harness, a widowed daughter-in-law, in absence of her husband would be eligible for compassionate employment. Further the phrase daughter-in-law is a status condition precedent of the phrase widowed daughter-in-law, in as much as to put it plainly, in order to gain the status of a widowed daughter-in-law, the said person has to first be a daughter-in-law.

22. There is another aspect of the matter, in as much as Regulations 104 in clear terms entails that within seven days of the occurrence of the death of the government employee, the institution concerned, ought to submit a report to the Inspector. As to what should the report contain, the said Regulations in no uncertain terms says that it should also include the names of members of his/her family along with their education, age, etc. Admittedly, since the Appellant (as she was not a widowed daughter-in-law) did not exist even remotely within the said stipulated time of seven days from the death of Sangeeta Bajpayee on 23.04.2021, there was no question of her name being included in the names of members of family of the deceased government servant. Further, this Court finds that the said Regulation has a purpose, because the concerned authority were required to take a call as to who are the dependent and most importantly to see their age and education, so that commensurate employment can be provided to the dependent, in order to tide over the sudden financial crisis and provide some kind of solace to the family member, at least economically, if not emotionally at this trying time. The exposition of law is required to be understood from the perspective that compassionate appointment is not a vested right but an act of grace, intended to provide a succour and alleviate the financial hardship of the family of the deceased government servant immediately after his/her death. Appointment on compassionate ground is a welfare measure and not a mode of employment, so as to create a vested right, as is wrongly tried to be contended by the learned Counsel for the Appellant.

23. It must be understood that the object underlying the provision for grant of compassionate employment is to enable the family of the deceased employee to tide over the sudden crisis, resulting due to death of the bread earner who has left the family in poverty and without any means of livelihood, although technically and normally this employment on the ground of sympathy is unconstitutional and hit by Article 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India. However, time and again the Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed that behind this kind of compassionate appointment, the object is not to give appointment but to extend the financial support. It is settled that the underlying idea is to make sure that in cases of distress of a family of a deceased employee, immediate support is provided to mitigate hardship. The said object and scope has been very well articulated by a decision of three Judge bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Director Of Education (Secondary) & Anr vs Pushpendra Kumar & Others; reported in 1998 (5) SCC 192; wherein interestingly, the Hon'ble Apex Court was considering an issue relating to appointment on compassionate grounds of dependents of teaching/non-teaching staff employed in non-Government recognized aided schools and intermediate colleges in the State of Uttar Pradesh who have died in harness under the aforesaid Regulations, which is subject matter of the present intra-court Appeal. The Apex Court observed as follows:

.....The object underlying a provision for grant of compassionate employment is to enable the family of the deceased employee to tide over the sudden crisis resulting due to death of the bread earner which has left the family in penury and without any means of livelihood. Out of pure humanitarian consideration and having regard to the fact that unless some source of livelihood is provided, the family would not be able to make both ends meet, a provision is made for giving gainful appointment to one of the dependents of the deceased who may be eligible for such appointment. Such a provision makes a departure from the general provisions providing for appointment on the post by following a particular procedure. Since such a provision enables appointment being made without following the said procedure, it is in the nature of an exception to the general provisions. An exception cannot subsume the main provision to which it is an exception and thereby nullify the main provision by taking away completely the right conferred by the main provision. Care has, therefore, to be taken that a provision for grant of compassionate employment, which is in the nature of an exception to the general provisions, does not unduly interfere with the right of other persons who are eligible for appointment of seek employment against the post which would have been available to them, but for the provision enabling appointment being made on compassionate grounds of the dependent of a deceased employee. In Umesh Kumar Nagpal v. State of Haryana, 1994 (4) SCC 138, this Court has taken note of the object underlying the rules providing for appointment on compassionate grounds and has held that the Government or the public authority concerned has to examine the financial condition of the family of the deceased and it is only if it is satisfied, that but for the provision of employment, the family will not be able to meet the crisis that a job is to be offered to the eligible member of the family

24. Given the aforesaid object and the Regulations applicable in the present case, admittedly, the Appellant was not a member of the family, nor was a person who was dependent on the deceased government employee, who died in harness, on the date of her death i.e. 23.04.2021. As a matter of fact, she was not even born in the family unit and came to be transplanted only on her marriage to the son of the deceased government servant, only subsequently on 15.02.2023. Thus, technically while the government servant was alive and on the date of her death, the appellant was not even her daughter-in-law and therefore, no question arises of her being the widowed daughter-in-law , so as to claim compassionate appointment on the death of her mother-in-law.

25. Thus, this Court has no hesitation in holding that the date of being widow is a relevant factor to include a widowed daughter-in-law within the definition of family , so as to make her eligible to claim appointment on compassionate ground under the Regulations.

26. As far as the present case is concerned, it is available from records that the governments servant (Late Smt. Sangeeta Bajpayee) died in harness on 23.04.2021 and the Legal Heir Certificate dated 23.06.2021, issued by the District Magistrate enlisted merely two legal heirs of Late Sangeeta Bajpayee, namely (i) Shri Udai Bhan Bajpayee- Husband and (ii) Shri Nikhil Bajpayee -Son. The Appellant came to be introduced in the family only after 22 months on 15.02.2023, by her marriage to Shri Nikhil Bajpayee, the son of Late Sangeeta Bajpayee. Thus, on the date of the death of Late Smt. Sangeeta Bajpayee, the Appellant was admittedly not even her daughter-in-law .

27. As aforesaid, the Appellant gained the status of daughter-in-law only on 15.02.2023 and even then she did not gain any entry into the definition of member of family as contemplated in Regulation 103 and it is for this very reason that it was Mr. Nikhil Bajpayee, the son of Late Smt. Sangeeta Bajpayee applied for compassionate Appointment, which came to be rejected on 10.04.2023.

28. Record reveals that Mr. Nikhil Bajpayee left for his heavenly abode on 13.05.2023 and it was on his dying that the Appellant gained the status of widowed daughter-in-law and thus, found her entry into the definition of member of family .

29. Thus, the Appellant acquired the status of a widowed daughter-in-law only on 13.05.2023 on the basis of at least two subsequent events (i.e. the marriage and then, the death of Mr. Nikhil Bajpayee) and was not in existence as on the death of Late Sangeeta Bajpayee on 23.04.2021.

30. The term member of family found in explanation to Regulations 103 has to be necessarily interpreted to mean those members, who existed as a dependent at the time of the death of the government servant, who dies in harness, for in the view of this Court these members together constitute a composite family unit, bound by mutual dependency and shared vulnerability and the sole purpose for granting compassionate appointment to eligible family member is to provide a succor to this family unit, who are brought into a vulnerable situation by the sudden death of the government employee. It must be understood that this appointment is not conferred to the concerned member of the family unit because of her personal entitlement earned through merit or competitive examination or for that matter of acquiring some status subsequently in the family as is being sought to be done in the present case, but as a necessary concomitant to the sudden death of the person on whom the entire family including the person seeking employment on compassionate ground dependent.

31. Since, the Appellant was not even a member of the family unit, there is no question of her being dependent on Late Sangeeta Bajpayee at the time of her death.

32. Further, Regulation 105 entails that the dependent of the deceased government servant has to make an application to the concerned Inspector seeking appointment as per his/her qualification, which had to be considered in accordance with the provisions of Regulation 106 by the Committee. In the present case, the appellant could not have applied as per the said Regulation, as she never existed in the family at that point of time, nor was she a dependent nor was she a daughter-in-law, what to talk of a widowed daughter-in-law. According to this Court, it was only the son of the deceased government employee, who was eligible to seek appointment on compassionate ground, which as per the records had applied, but the same came to be rejected on 10.04.2023 and admittedly, no challenge had been made of the said rejection either by the son of the deceased, who passed away on 13.05.2023 or the present Appellant and as such as has been rightly pointed by the learned Counsel for the Respondent-State that the issue relating to compassionate appointment for dying in harness of Late Smt. Sangeeta Bajpayee stands closed vide the rejection order dated 10.04.2023 and has attained finality. Thus, this Court is unable to countenance as to when the husband of the appellant was found to be not entitled for appointment on compassionate ground, how can the wife (Appellant) be held to be eligible for the same, keeping in view that the claim of being the widowed daughter-in-law flows from the son of the deceased only.

33. This Court finds that the appellant has no right to claim any employment as a widowed daughter-in-law because for her not being even a daughter-in-law at the time of dying in harness of the deceased government servant, nor she could claim any right due to happening of a subsequent event of she being a widowed daughter-in-law, as she does not fall into the definition of member of family as contemplated under Regulations 103. Time and again the Courts have held that compassionate appointment has to be made as per the Rules. In the absence of any specific Rules of claiming as a dependent and a member of family on the basis of some subsequent event, this Court is unable to subscribe to the views and claim of the Appellant for compassionate appointment.

34. Moreover, it has to be also understood that the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Union of India v. B. Kishore; reported in (2011) 13 SCC 131; reiterated that indigence of the dependents of the deceased employee is the fundamental condition to be satisfied under any scheme for appointment on compassionate ground and that if such indigence is not proved, grant of relief in furtherance of protective discrimination would result in a sort of reservation for the dependents of the employee dying-in-harness, thereby directly conflicting with the ideal of equality guaranteed under Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India. In the present case, admittedly the Government Servant died in harness on 23.04.2021 and the Appellant came to be married to her son on 15.02.2023, thus, this Court finds sufficient force in the argument advanced by the learned Counsel for the institution that the very fact that the marriage was solemnized after two years of the death of the government servant, sufficiently indicates that there was no immediate financial crunch or crisis in the family as the dependent-son Mr. Nikhil Bajpayee not only sustained himself ably after the demise of her mother but also entered into a marriage, which in itself entails significant expenditure. Thus, even the ground of indigence of the dependents of the deceased government employee seems to be eluding and not available to the Appellant in the present facts and circumstances.

35. This Court does not find any viable ground to interfere in the matter as the view taken by the learned Single Judge seems to be a plausible and reasonable view, as it does not suffer from any perversity. The learned Single Judge has not missed the woods for the tree in deciding the right of the Appellant, while taking a detailed analysis of the relevant Regulations applicable for compassionate appointment. Recently, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Bihar Industrial Area Development Authority & Ors. V/s M/s SCOPE Sales Pvt. Ltd. & Anr.; reported as 2026 INSC 89; vide judgment and order dated 23.01.2026 has held as follows:

13. We must also bear in mind the nature and extent of jurisdiction that an intra-court appellate Bench of a high court exercise. Such appellate jurisdiction is conferred either under the Letters Patent or by the relevant statutory provisions. It is pertinent to note that both - Single Bench and Division Bench - exercise the same jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution. In our view, the exercise of intra-court appellate jurisdiction is warranted only where the judgment or order under challenge is demonstrably erroneous or suffers from perversity. Such jurisdiction ought not to be invoked merely because another view is possible on the same set of facts, particularly where the view adopted by the Single Judge is a plausible and reasonable one. In other words, an intra-court appellate Bench ought not to substitute its own view, merely because such Bench considers its view to be better than the one taken by the Single Bench; so long as the view taken by the Single Bench is a plausible one, interference should stay at a distance.

36. For all the aforesaid reasons, the impugned judgment dated 18th of September, 2025 of the learned Single Judge is upheld and consequently, the Appeal is dismissed.

37. There shall be no order(s) as to cost.

Issue for Consideration

- (1) Maintainability of writ petition before the High Court, when the Securitization application in respect of the same issues was filed and pending before the Debt Recovery Tribunal.
- (2) Maintainability of writ petition on the matter arisen between two private parties.
- (3) Maintainability of writ petition before the Single Judge Bench of the High Court in absence of challenge of any order of the Debt Recovery Tribunal.
- (4) Maintainability of Special Appeal against an interim order passed in writ petition.

Headnotes

(A) Practice and procedure – Writ – Maintainability – Securitization application was filed before the Debt Recovery Tribunal – In respect of the same matter, writ petition was also filed and got an interim order for restoration of possession of the secured asset and continuity of business from the Single Judge Bench – Interim order was challenged in Special Appeal – In writ petition, the Stamp Reporter made objection that the matter is cognizable by the Division Bench, but the counsel made an endorsement that matter related with Single Judge Bench and he will explain the same before the Court – Permissibility – As no order of DRT was challenged, the maintainability of writ petition before Single Judge Bench felt into consideration: (E-1)

Held: The writ petition was not cognizable by a Single Judge Bench – As learned Counsel for the petitioner was present in Court we asked him to kindly demonstrate as to how the writ petitions were maintainable before the learned Single Judge Bench but he was completely at sea and could not offer any explanation what to say of an acceptable one. We deprecate such practice of making endorsements in response to the deficiency pointed out by the Reporting Section. [Para 9 and 35]

Further held: All issues pertaining to the recovery/securitization proceedings initiated by the financial institution/secured creditor... are pending consideration before the DRT/DRAT in various securitization applications etc., therefore, the writ petitions under Article 226 of the Constitution of India by the respondents-petitioners were apparently not maintainable. [Para 30]

(B) Constitutional law – Writ – Maintainability – Dispute arose between two private parties – Relief sought was against the private parties – Maintainability of writ petition felt into consideration: (E-1)

Held: While filing the writ petition, no order passed by the DRT was challenged, therefore, apparently, the writ petition was not maintainable as the subject matter in issue was the same as was already pending before the DRT, Lucknow and it was relating to a dispute between private parties, for this reason also the writ petitions were/are not maintainable. [Para 21]

Further held: Essentially the relief sought in the writ petition is against a private financial institution-asset reconstruction company, therefore, the writ petition, in view of the pronouncement of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the Phoenix ARC (P) Ltd. v. Vishwa Bharati Vidya Mandir... is not maintainable for this reason also. [Para 40]

(C) Practice and procedure – Allahabad High Court Rules, 1952 – Ch. VIII, Rule 5 – Special Appeal – Maintainability against an interim order passed in writ petition – Interim order was amount to granting final relief – Scope of Special Appeal to interfere with felt into consideration: (E-1)

Held: As the learned Single Judge did not have jurisdiction to hear such a writ petition and as by the said impugned order veritably the proceedings pending before the DRT, Lucknow in various Securitization Applications (S.A.) have been preempted and a final relief of sorts has been ordered/granted by the impugned order, therefore, the appeals are maintainable. [Para 55]

1. Heard Shri Sudeep Seth, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Pushkar Srivastava, Shri Satendra Kumar Rai, Sri L.P. Mishra along with Sri Prashant Kumar, Sri Deepanshu Das & Sri Sarvesh Kumar Tiwari, Advocates appearing on behalf of the appellants, Shri Jaideep Narayan Mathur, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Ashish Chaturvedi, appearing on behalf of Respondent-BPCL, Shri Dhruv Mathur, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Ms. Aishvarya Mathur for the respondent-M/s Arora Auto Centre, Sri Anurag Srivastava, learned counsel for the applicant-Smt. Krishna Devi seeking impleadment in Special Appeal No.422 of 2025 and Sri Nishant Shukla, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel who appears on behalf of the State-respondents.

2. This is a bunch of special appeals wherein Special Appeal No.420 of 2025 by M/s Waheguru Projects Pvt. Ltd. Lko. and Special Appeal No.424 of 2025 by Phoenix Arc Private Limited have been filed against the interim order dated 28.11.2025 passed in Writ C No.11302 of 2025 (M/s Arora Auto Center & Others vs. State of U.P. & Others).

3. Special Appeal No.421 of 2025 by M/s Waheguru Projects Private Limited and Special Appeal No.422 of 2025 by Phoenix Arc Private Limited have been filed against the interim order dated 28.11.2025 passed in Writ C No.11298 of 2025 (BPCL vs. State of U.P. & Others).

4. Special Appeals No.422 of 2025 and 424 of 2025 have been filed by the financial institution/secured creditor whereas Special Appeals No.420 of 2025 and 421 of 2025 have been filed by the auction purchaser.

5. By means of the interim orders dated 28.11.2025, learned Single Judge exercising the powers under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, during pendency of securitization application in respect of the same matter, has ordered for restoration of possession of the secured asset namely immovable property bearing Khasra No.131 admeasuring 32879 square feet situated at Shekhpur

Kasaila, Faizabad Road, Lucknow to the respondent-petitioner i.e Bharat Petroleum Corporation Limited (hereinafter referred to as 'BPCL') and its sub-lessee M/S Arora Auto Center, Lucknow within 24 hours after its possession had been taken by the Bank in pursuance to order under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act, 2002 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 2002') with a further observation/direction that the said respondent-petitioner shall be entitled to continue their business of retail/sale of petroleum products from the property in question.

6. The first and foremost question which falls for consideration is regarding the very maintainability of the aforesaid petitions before the learned Single Judge as no order of the DRT, Lucknow was challenged before the Writ Court. In the absence of challenge to any order of the DRT or any appellate order, a writ petition, assuming that it was otherwise maintainable, would not lie before a learned Single Judge Bench but would lie before a Division Bench in view of the orders of Hon'ble the Chief Justice dated 18.09.1981 which has been taken into consideration by a Division Bench of this Court in Special Appeal No.282 of 2025 (Lucknow Development Authority vs. Mohammad Zaimul Islam and Another).

7. Even if, any order of the DRT was to be challenged, ordinarily a writ petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India would be filed, regarding which, the learned Single Judge who has passed the impugned interim order did not have jurisdiction on the given day as per the roster determined by Hon'ble the Chief Justice of this Court. In fact, learned Single Judge has passed the impugned order in exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India in a writ petition.

8. As original records of the aforesaid two writ petitions were tagged with these appeals, we have perused the same and found that the Reporting Section of this Court while passing the writ petitions required a bench copy to be filed by the petitioner as the matter was cognizable before a Division Bench and not a Single Judge Bench but the Counsel appearing for the petitioner in Writ C No.11302 of 2025 filed by the respondent M/S Arora Auto Center, Lucknow and its partner, made an endorsement-'matter related with Single Bench, Bench copy are not required explained before Hon'ble Court, if required' and in Writ C No.11298 of 2025 the noting made by the learned Counsel for the respondents-petitioners was-'Bench copy not required'.

9. As learned Counsel for the petitioner was present in Court we asked him to kindly demonstrate as to how the writ petitions were maintainable before the learned Single Judge Bench but he was completely at sea and could not offer any explanation what to say of an acceptable one. We deprecate such practice of making endorsements in response to the deficiency pointed out by the Reporting Section as noted hereinabove.

10. We further provide, as and when the Reporting Section finds that the matter is cognizable by a particular bench, whether a Single Judge Bench or a Division Bench in terms of the rules of the Court and/or order of Hon'ble the Chief Justice, then, irrespective of the noting made by learned Counsel, the Reporting/Listing Section should send the matter for consideration before the Bench which according to the Reporting/Listing Section has jurisdiction to hear the matter and it is before such bench that the Counsel appearing for the petitioner or the other side can raise a plea that the matter was cognizable by another bench but, there is no way that on mere asking or noting of the learned Counsel for the petitioner, as has happened in this case, the Reporting/Listing Section should list the matter before a Bench which according to it did not have the jurisdiction in the matter. Jurisdiction of a Bench cannot be decided by noting of a learned Counsel. It has to be reported by the Reporting/Listing Section in terms of the order of Hon'ble Chief Justice etc., as referred hereinabove and the matter has to be listed accordingly.

11. Faced with this situation, Shri J.N. Mathur, learned Senior Counsel appearing for the respondents-petitioners submitted that he does not wish to join issue as regards jurisdiction of the learned Single Judge to hear the writ petitions and is willing to argue the writ petitions before this very Division Bench and accordingly, he proceeded to address the Court on the writ petitions also, in addition to the special appeals, that is why we heard and reserved our judgment on 13.03.2026 in respect of all the special appeals and both the writ petitions referred hereinabove. We may in this context quote the relevant part of our order dated 13.03.2026 passed in these appeals which reads as under:-

"3. We had tagged the writ petitions bearing Writ C No.11298 of 2025 and Writ C No.11302 of 2025 along with the appeals vide our order dated 12.02.2026. It is informed that thereafter some application for amendment was filed in the said writ petitions which were taken up before the learned Single Judge and which was allowed allegedly without any opportunity to the appellants before us to object the same and without the records of writ petition being available before the learned Single Judge. Certain objections have been raised with regard to allowing of the said amendment application. We do not express any opinion at this stage as we propose to deal with this aspect, if required, in our final order/ judgment. Sri Jaideep Narayan Mathur, learned Senior Counsel appearing for the respondents-petitioners submitted that the writ petitions filed by the respondents-petitioners be also heard along with these appeal and the same be decided as records of the writ petitions are already tagged with the appeals. With the consent of the parties, not only special appeals arising out of Writ C No.11298 of 2025 and Writ C No.11302 of 2025 but also the writ petitions have been heard, meaning thereby, now the aforesaid writ petitions shall not be listed before the learned Single Judge for any purpose, as, after hearing the parties, we are reserving our judgment not only in the appeals but also the writ petitions.

4. Judgment reserved.

5. The interim order already in operation in appeals shall continue to operate till delivery of judgment."

12. We have perused the interim order dated 28.11.2025 passed by learned Single Judge Bench as impugned in these special appeals and find that it had grossly erred in entertaining the said writ petitions not only for the reasons mentioned hereinabove but also otherwise, as, for the same reliefs as prayed in the writ petitions, securitization applications are pending before the Debt Recovery Tribunal, Lucknow (hereinafter referred to as 'DRT, Lucknow') at the behest of the respondents-petitioners.

13. In this context, we may now consider the writ petitions and in that context the securitization applications pending before the DRT at Lucknow as also the interim order passed by the Writ Court.

14. Writ C No.11298 of 2025 has been filed seeking the following reliefs:-

"i. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing entire the entire securitization Proceedings initiated on the behest of predecessor of the Asset Reconstruction Company i.e. PHOENIX ARC Private Limited under the provisions of SARFAESI Act 2002 including the Notice Under section 13 (2) dated 31.05.2023 (Annexure No.6), Notice Under section 13 (4) dated 07.10.2023 (Annexure No.9), Sale Notice dated 15.06.2024 (Annexure No. 12) as well the Auction and sale of the the property admeasuring 32,879 Sq. Ft., Khasra No. 131, situated at Sheikhpura, Kasaila at Faizabad Road, Lucknow after declaring the entire securitization Proceedings as viod ab initio.

ii. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the pre-possession notice dated 09.10.2025 (Annexure No.19) issued under the signatures of Additional City Magistrate, IV Lucknow to Late Rani Devi for delivering the possession of the property after declaring the issuance of the Notice as illegal and viod ab initio.

iii. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the order dated 18.08.2025 (Annexure No.17) passed by Additional District Magistrate (T-G, Lucknow) under section 14 of the SARFAESI Act, 2002 against dead persons i.e Late Rani Devi and Late Krishna Devi.

iv. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the order/notice dated 31.10.2025 (Annexure No.21) issued by asset reconstruction company i.e. PHOENIX ARC Private Limited to the petitioner.

v. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the opposite party to restore back the possession of the Plot admeasuring 32879 Sq. Ft situated at Khasra No. 131 at Shekhpur Khasaila at Faizabad Road Lucknow along with all its assets/immovable properties within the time frame as may deem fit a proper by this Hon'ble Court.

vi. Issue such other appropriate writ, order or direction which this Hon'ble Court may deem just and proper in the circumstances of the case may also be passed; and

vii. To award the cost of the writ petition to the Petitioner against the Opposite Parties."

15. The aforesaid writ petition has been filed by BPCL which claims to have a lease in its favour in respect of the secured asset. BPCL has filed a Securitization Application bearing S.A. No.909 of 2023 before the DRT, Lucknow under Section 17(1) of the Act, 2002 seeking the following reliefs:-

"(I) To set aside/quashed the entire securitization Proceedings initiated by the Respondent No.1, under the provisions of SARFAESI Act 2002 as far as it relates to the applicant.

(II) To declare the possession notice dated 07.10.2023 issued under Section 13(4) of SARFAESI Act read with rule 8(1) of the security interest (Enforcement) Rules 2002 and the notices issued under section 13(2) of SARFAESI Act involving the assets and structures of the applicant as invalid and illegal.

(III) Pass appropriate order/direction whereby directing the respondent No. 1 through its authorized officer/ agents not to take coercive measures against the applicant in relation to the property of the applicant mentioned in the Notice dated 07.10.2023 issued under Section 13(4) of SARFAESI Act read with rule 8(1) of the security interest (Enforcement) Rules 2002 till the disposal of the securitization application.

(IV) To declare the applicant herein as a bonafide tenant in respect of the leasehold property.

(V) To award cost of the present proceeding in favour of the applicant and against the Respondent.

(VI) To grant any other relief as this Hon'ble Tribunal may deem fit and proper under the circumstances of the case."

16. The aforesaid S.A. was filed by BPCL arraying Piramal Capital and Housing Finance Limited, the then secured creditor, Smt. Rani Devi and Smt. Krishna Devi, the guarantors of the loan amount. The borrower being Andes Town Planners Private Limited against which there was moratorium order in proceedings under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 on account of which the secured creditor could not proceed against the borrower but could do so against the guarantors.

17. On a conjoint reading of the relief clause in S.A. No.909 of 2023 filed by BPCL and the writ petition filed by it, it is apparent that the reliefs were substantially similar and related to the measures/securitization proceedings initiated by the Bank under the Act, 2002 in respect of the same secured asset. The order dated 18.08.2025 passed by the Additional District Magistrate, Lucknow under Section 14 of the Act, 2002, the pre-possession notice dated 09.10.2025 in this regard and the consequential notice dated 31.10.2025 were also in the context of the same subject matter which was pending consideration before DRT, Lucknow. As such, veritably, the writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution was filed by BPCL seeking essentially the same reliefs as has already been sought before the DRT, Lucknow in S.A. No.909 of 2023. Moreover, legal position is settled that an order passed under Section 14 of the Act, 2002 is amenable to challenge under Section 17 of the Act, 2002, therefore, a writ petition under Article 226 or a petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India is not maintainable.

18. Further, BPCL filed another securitization application under Section 17 of the Act, 2002 bearing S.A. No.487 of 2024 arraying therein not only Piramal Capital and Housing Finance Limited which was already a party in the earlier securitization application bearing S.A. No.909 of 2023 but also arraying Omkara Assets Reconstruction Private Limited to which the loan had been assigned by Piramal Capital and Housing Finance Limited, and M/S Andes Town Planners Private Limited alongwith the guarantors referred hereinabove, who were already party in the earlier proceedings. The relief prayed for in S.A. No.487 of 2024 by BPCL is as under:-

"(I) To set aside/quashed the entire securitization Proceedings initiated by the Respondent No.1, under the provisions of SARFAESI Act 2002 as far as it relates to the applicant.

(II) Pass appropriate order/direction whereby directing the respondent bank through its authorized officer/agents not to take coercive measures against the applicant in relation to the property of the applicant mentioned in the Sale notice dated 15.06.2024 issued under Section 13(4) of SARFAESI Act read with rule 8(6) of the security interest (Enforcement) Rules 2002 till the disposal of the securitization application.

(III) To declare the applicant herein as a bonafide tenant in respect of the leasehold property.

(IV) To award cost of the present proceeding in favour of the applicant and against the Respondent.

(V) To grant any other relief as this Hon'ble Tribunal may deem fit and proper under the circumstances of the case."

19. As would be evident on a conjoint reading of the relief clause in S.A. No.487 of 2024 with the earlier securitization application bearing S.A. No.909 of 2023 and the pleadings therein which are on record, not only the cause of action and subject matter in issue was same but the relief clause was also same and the only difference was addition of new defendants/respondents in the proceedings. We do not say much except that it is for the DRT, Lucknow to see as to how this second securitization application was maintainable.

20. During pendency of securitization application bearing S.A. No.487 of 2024 an order passed on 18.08.2025 by the Additional District Magistrate, Lucknow under Section 14 of the Act, 2002, therefore, this order was also challenged by means of an amendment, which was allowed, therefore, the challenge to Section 14 of the Act, 2002 order dated 18.08.2025 is also pending before the DRT, Lucknow in the aforesaid securitization application, thus, for substantially the same relief as was sought in Writ C No.11298 of 2025, two securitization applications were already pending at the behest of BPCL before the DRT, Lucknow as already stated.

21. While filing the writ petition, no order passed by the DRT was challenged, therefore, apparently, the writ petition was not maintainable as the subject matter in issue was the same as was already pending before the DRT, Lucknow and it was relating to a dispute between private parties, for this reason also the writ petitions were/are not maintainable.

22. Not only this, the sub-lessee of BPCL i.e. M/S Arora Auto Center, Lucknow filed a securitization application bearing S.A. No.958 of 2023 before the DRT, Lucknow seeking the following reliefs:-

"(a) To quash the possession notice dated 07.10.2023 purported to be issued under Section-13 (4) of the Securitization and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 in respect of Plot of Land admeasuring 32,879 sq. ft. Khasra No. 131, situated at Shikhpur Kasaila, at Faizabad Road, Lucknow alongwith entire present and future structure thereon, which is actual physical possession of the applicants under the dealer ship agreement since the year 1972 and the said a dealership agreement lastly renewed on 15.07.2020 owned by the applicants no. 4 morefully described in para 1 of this application).

(b) To set aside the proceedings initiated by the respondent no 1 under the Securitization and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 in respect of Plot of Land admeasuring 32,879 sq. ft. Khasra No. 131, situated at Shikhpur Kasaila, at Faizabad Road, Lucknow alongwith entire present and future structure thereon morefully described in para 1 of this application).

(c) Such other order as this Hon'ble Tribunal may deem fit and proper under the circumstances of the case so as to protect and safeguard the interest of the applicants may also be passed in the interest of justice."

23. The aforesaid securitization application was disposed of on 16.07.2024 by the DRT, Lucknow taking note of an order dated 02.03.2023 passed by National Company Law Tribunal, New Delhi in IB No.317/ND/2022 whereby Interim Resolution Professional (IRP) had been appointed and a moratorium and public announcement had been ordered by NCLT, New Delhi.

24. Being aggrieved by the said order M/S Arora Auto Center, Lucknow, the sub-lessee has already preferred an appeal under Section 18 of the Act, 2002 before Debt Recovery Appellate Tribunal, Allahabad impleading the guarantors, which is still pending and was also pending on the date of filing of the writ petition by it.

25. M/S Arora Auto Center, Lucknow has also preferred an application under Section 16(5) of Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 for being impleadment as respondent in the proceedings before National Company Law Tribunal, New Delhi after dismissal of its S.A. on 16.07.2024.

26. After passing of the order of possession under Section 14 of the Act, 2002 dated 18.08.2025 by Additional District Magistrate, Lucknow, M/S Arora Auto Centre, Lucknow filed another securitization application bearing S.A. No.1067 of 2025 challenging the said order dated 18.08.2025, the sale notice dated 23.07.2025 and the sale certificate issued in favour of the auction purchaser M/S Waheguru Projects Private Limited, Lucknow and also praying that the bank should not take physical possession.

27. In S.A. No.1067 of 2025 an interim relief application was filed by M/S Arora Auto Center, Lucknow that till disposal of the said S.A., respondent may not take physical possession of the property in pursuance to the order passed by Additional District Magistrate, Lucknow and also not to issue sale certificate. This application was rejected on 01.11.2025 on the ground that the applicant was a sub-lessee of BPCL and has got only right through the latter and not independent of it whose two securitization applications were already pending for the same reliefs.

28. We are not aware as to whether the order of DRT dated 01.11.2025 has been challenged by M/S Arora Auto Center, Lucknow in appeal but it was certainly not challenged before the Writ Court out of which the special appeal bearing Special Appeal No.422 of 2025 arises.

29. In spite of the facts noticed above, the sub-lessee M/S Arora Auto Center filed a writ petition bearing Writ C No.11302 of 2025 seeking the following reliefs:-

"I. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing the notice under Section 13(2) of SARFAESI Act, 2002 dated 31.05.2023 and declaring it to be void ab initio to the extent that it relates to Smt. Krishna Devi and Late Smt. Rani Devi as contained in Annexure No. 1 to this writ petition.

II. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing the order passed under Section 13(4) of SARFAESI Act, 2002 dated 07.10.2023 and declaring it to be void ab initio to the extent that it relates to Smt. Krishna Devi and Late Smt. Rani Devi as contained in Annexure No. 4 to this writ petition.

III. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing the order passed under Section 14 of SARFAESI Act, 2002 dated 18.08.2025 passed by Additional District Magistrate (T-G, Lucknow) under section 14 of the SARFAESI Act, 2002 and declaring it to be void ab initio to the extent that it relates to Smt. Krishna Devi and Late Smt. Rani Devi as contained in Annexure No. 9 to this writ petition.

IV. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing the Sale Notice dated 15.06.2024 and declaring it to be void ab initio pertaining to the property situated at Khasra no. 131, Shekhpur Kaisala, Faizabad Road, Lucknow Devi as contained in Annexure No. 6 to this writ petition.

V. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing the Auction notice dated 23.07.2025 and declaring it to be void ab initio pertaining to the property situated at Khasra no. 131, Shekhpur Kaisala, Faizabad Road, Lucknow Devi as contained in Annexure No. 10 to this writ petition.

VI. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing the order/notice dated 31.10.2025 issued by asset reconstruction company i.e. Phoenix Arc Private Limited to the petitioner as contained in Annexure No. 17 to this writ petition.

VII. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing the pre-possession notice dated 09.10.2025 passed by Additional District Magistrate (T-G, Lucknow) and and declaring it to be void ab initio as contained in Annexure No. 23 to this writ petition

VIII. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing the entire proceedings under SARFAESI Act, 2002 and declaring it to be void ab initio to the extent that it relates to Late Smt. Krishna Devi and Late Smt. Rani Devi.

IX. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus to direct the Respondent to restore the possession of the petitioner over the property in question for the purposes of running its business.

X. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus to absolve the petitioners of any liability in case there is any accident as a result of the leakage or explosion of hazardous materials which have been illegally possessed by the respondents.

XI. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus to hold liable the respondents concerned who have illegally taken forcible possession of the said property.

XII. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus to restrain the Respondent no. 5 from disposing off the petroleum products and other hazardous material forcibly taken from the said property.

XIII. Grant such other/further relief, as may be deemed just and appropriate in the facts and circumstances of the case.

XIV. Award costs in favour of the petitioners."

30. From what has been discussed hereinabove, it is evident that all issues pertaining to the recovery/securitization proceedings initiated by the financial institution/secured creditor, which was initially Dewan Housing Finance Corporation Limited which assigned the loan to Piramal Capital and Housing Finance Limited which in turn assigned it to Omkara Assets Reconstruction Private Limited and ultimately the loan came to be assigned to Phoenix Arc Private Limited which is one of the appellants before us, are pending consideration before the DRT/DRAT in various securitization applications etc., therefore, the writ petitions under Article 226 of the Constitution of India by the respondents-petitioners were apparently not maintainable.

31. BPCL claims itself to be the lessee of the secured asset and M/S Arora Auto Center, Lucknow is sub-lessee which is running a petrol pump on the said land.

32. Various submissions have been made by Shri J.N. Mathur on the merits of the issues involved which are already pending consideration before the DRT, Lucknow such as initiation of the proceedings illegally which were void, BPCL being kept in dark about the recovery proceedings, the mortgage deed said to have been executed by the guarantors being forged, fabricated and void ab-initio and that proceedings having been held against dead persons, however, all these issues are pending consideration before the DRT, Lucknow and we are only concerned with the question as to whether the two writ petitions were/are maintainable before the Writ Court during pendency of the proceedings before the DRT, Lucknow. The writ petitions were apparently not maintainable.

33. In fact, we have gone through the contents of the writ petitions and do not find any cause of action for the said petitions to have been filed, once the remedy under Section 17 of the Act, 2002 had already been availed by the respondents-petitioners by filing securitization applications under Section 17 of the Act, 2002 which are still pending. The writ petition of BPCL bearing Writ C No.11298 of 2025 was filed on 10.11.2025 after not only auction sale having been held by the financial institution in which M/S Waheguru Projects Private Limited, Lucknow was the highest bidder but the sale certificate had also been issued after confirmation of sale and after physical possession had also been handed over to the auction purchaser on 27.10.2025.

34. As already stated the writ petition was filed by BPCL for substantially the same relief regarding which S.A.s were already pending before DRT, Lucknow and in that writ petition, the learned Single Judge passed the impugned interim order for restoring the possession back as already referred hereinabove, which he could not have done.

35. Not only the writ petition was not cognizable by a Single Judge Bench but, even otherwise, the writ petitions were/are not maintainable. The legal position in this regard is very well settled by a catena of decisions of Hon'ble the Supreme Court and this Court. We may in this regard refer to Coordinate Bench judgment of this Court rendered in Writ C No.2119 of 2023; Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Limited vs. Union of India and Others, dated 07.04.2023; Writ C No.12822 of 2025; M/S Education Academy and Others vs. District Magistrate District Sitapur and Others, dated 28.12.2025; Special Appeal No.48 of 2026; S.B.I. Stressed Assets Recovery Branch and Another vs. M/s G.S.M. Bricks and Tiles and Others, dated 23.02.2026, wherein various decisions of Hon'ble the Supreme Court have been considered which need not be reiterated.

36. We may emphasize that it is not a case where alternative statutory remedy under Section 17 of the Act, 2002 had not been availed by the respondents-petitioners and they filed a writ petition, assuming it could be filed, making out a case that it fell in any of the three or four exceptions carved out by Hon'ble the Supreme Court as discussed by a Coordinate Bench in its judgment dated 23.02.2026 rendered in Special Appeal No.48 of 2026 S.B.I. Stressed Assets Recovery Branch (supra), but, a case where the statutory alternative remedy had already been availed and during its pendency without there being any challenge to any order passed by the DRT before whom the securitization proceedings were pending and without there being any appellate order passed in such proceedings or being challenged, a writ petition was filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India which was not only entertained but an interim order as already referred hereinabove was passed. This is clearly against the settled law on the subject and all settled norms as regard maintainability of such petitions.

37. We may in this very context refer to decision of Hon'ble the Supreme Court passed in Bombay Metropolitan Region Development Authority v. Gokak Patel Volkart Ltd. reported in 1995 (1) SCC 642 wherein a similar situation albeit in a different context had occurred and a writ petition had been filed and entertained after the petitioner had already availed a statutory remedy and during its pendency whereupon Hon'ble the Supreme Court observed as under:-

"12. The contention of the appellant in this appeal is that in the first place the writ petition should not have been entertained. The writ petitioner had an adequate alternative statutory remedy. The writ petitioner had in fact already taken advantage of alternative remedy provided by the statute and had preferred an appeal against the judgment of the Tribunal. While the said appeal was pending the writ petitioner invoked the writ jurisdiction of the Bombay High Court praying more or less the same remedy as was prayed in the appeal.

13. We are of the view that the point taken by the appellant is of substance. This is a case, where there is not only the existence of an alternative remedy but the writ petitioner actually had availed of that remedy. The writ petitioner's appeal before the statutory authority was pending. In that view of the matter this writ petition should not have been entertained."

38. The observations/ratio contained in the said judgment as quoted hereinabove applies to the case at hand on all its fours.

39. In similar circumstances, Hon'ble the Supreme Court in a case reported in 2010 11 SCC 622; Om Prakash Saini v. DCM Ltd. disapproved the entertainment of a petition by the High Court under Article 226 and 227 of the Constitution of India after an effective alternative statutory remedy had already been availed. Paragraph No.13 and 14 of Om Prakash Saini (supra) are quoted below:-

"13. Admittedly, Respondent 1 had availed the alternative remedy available to it under Section 21 by filing an appeal against the order of the State Commission. During the pendency of the appeal, Respondent 1 chose to challenge the order of the State Commission by filing a petition under Article 227 of the Constitution, which was entertained by the learned Single Judge on the basis of the assurance given by the learned counsel that the appeal filed before the National Commission will be withdrawn. The order passed by the learned Single Judge on 21-3-2007 or the one by which the petition filed by Respondent 1 was finally disposed of does not contain any indication as to why the learned Single Judge thought it proper to make a departure from the rule that the High Court will not entertain a petition under Article 226 or 227 of the Constitution if an effective alternative remedy is available to the aggrieved person.

14. In our view, during the pendency of the appeal filed by Respondent 1 under Section 21 of the 1986 Act, the learned Single Judge was not at all justified in entertaining the petition filed under Article 227 of the Constitution merely because he thought that the State Commission did not have the jurisdiction to entertain the complaint in view of the scheme sanctioned by the Company Judge under Section 391 read with Sections 392 and 394 of the Companies Act."

40. Further, in the absence of any challenge to any order passed by the DRT, Lucknow or the Debt Recovery Appellate Tribunal (hereinafter referred to as 'DRAT'), essentially the relief sought in the writ petition is against a private financial institution-asset reconstruction company, therefore, the writ petition, in view of the pronouncement of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the Phoenix ARC (P) Ltd. v. Vishwa Bharati Vidya Mandir reported in (2022) 5 SCC 345 is not maintainable for this reason also. We may in this context quote paragraph No.18 of the said authority:-

"18. Even otherwise, it is required to be noted that a writ petition against the private financial institution - ARC - the appellant herein under Article 226 of the Constitution of India against the proposed action/actions under Section 13(4) of the Sarfaesi Act can be said to be not maintainable. In the present case, the ARC proposed to take action/actions under the Sarfaesi Act to recover the borrowed amount as a secured creditor. The ARC as such cannot be said to be performing public functions which are normally expected to be performed by the State authorities. During the course of a commercial transaction and under the contract, the bank/ARC lent the money to the borrowers herein and therefore the said activity of the bank/ARC cannot be said to be as performing a public function which is normally expected to be performed by the State authorities. If proceedings are initiated under the Sarfaesi Act and/or any proposed action is to be taken and the borrower is aggrieved by any of the actions of the private bank/bank/ARC, borrower has to avail the remedy under the Sarfaesi Act and no writ petition would lie and/or is maintainable and/or entertainable. Therefore, decisions of this Court in Praga Tools Corpn. [Praga Tools Corpn. v. C.A. Imanuel, (1969) 1 SCC 585] and Ramesh Ahluwalia [Ramesh Ahluwalia v. State of Punjab, (2012) 12 SCC 331 : (2013) 3 SCC (L&S) 456 : 4 SCEC 715] relied upon by the learned counsel appearing on behalf of the borrowers are not of any assistance to the borrowers."

41. In the same judgment i.e. in Phoenix ARC (P) Ltd. (supra), applying the law laid down by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of State Bank of Travancore vs. Mathew KC reported in (2018) 3 SCC 85, it was held as under:-

"21. Applying the law laid down by this Court in Mathew K.C. [State Bank of Travancore v. Mathew K.C., (2018) 3 SCC 85 : (2018) 2 SCC (Civ) 41] to the facts on hand, we are of the opinion that filing of the writ petitions by the borrowers before the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India is an abuse of process of the court. The writ petitions have been filed against the proposed action to be taken under Section 13(4). As observed hereinabove, even assuming that the communication dated 13-8-2015 was a notice under Section 13(4), in that case also, in view of the statutory, efficacious remedy available by way of appeal under Section 17 of the Sarfaesi Act, the High Court ought not to have entertained the writ petitions. Even the impugned orders passed by the High Court directing to maintain the status quo with respect to the possession of the secured properties on payment of Rs 1 crore only (in all Rs 3 crores) is absolutely unjustifiable. The dues are to the extent of approximately Rs 117 crores. The ad interim relief has been continued since 2015 and the secured creditor is deprived of proceeding further with the action under the Sarfaesi Act. Filing of the writ petition by the borrowers before the High Court is nothing but an abuse of process of court. It appears that the High Court has initially granted an ex parte ad interim order mechanically and without assigning any reasons. The High Court ought to have appreciated that by passing such an interim order, the rights of the secured creditor to recover the amount due and payable have been seriously prejudiced. The secured creditor and/or its assignor have a right to recover the amount due and payable to it from the borrowers. The stay granted by the High Court would have serious adverse impact on the financial health of the secured creditor/assignor. Therefore, the High Court should have been extremely careful and circumspect in exercising its discretion while granting stay in such matters. In these circumstances, the proceedings before the High Court deserve to be dismissed."

42. As regards the contentions of Shri Mathur, learned Counsel appearing for BPCL as noticed herein, Shri Sudeep Seth, learned Senior Counsel appearing for the appellants in one of the appeals submitted that all these issues pertaining to validity of the recovery proceedings are the very subject matter of securitization applications filed by BPCL which are still pending, therefore, as they involve factual issues requiring evidence etc., they are to be seen in the said proceedings under Section 17 of the Act, 2002 and there is no way that during their pendency writ court can separately adjudicate on any of the said issues, certainly not at the behest of BPCL which is neither the borrower nor the guarantor but claims to be merely a tenant based on some lease that too one which has expired on 06.01.2025 after which its status is at best is that of a tenant in sufferance. He referred to the decision of Hon'ble the Supreme Court reported in (2019) 9 SCC 94; Bajarang Shyamsunder Agarwal v. Central Bank of India wherein the concept of tenant in sufferance has been considered and as per the said authority such tenants do not have any legal rights and are akin to trespassers. He also referred to another decision of Hon'ble the Supreme Court reported in (1995) 5 SCC 698; R.V. Bhupal Prasad v. State of A.P. wherein the same concept was considered and it was held that a tenant at sufferance is, therefore, one who wrongfully continues in possession after the extension of a lawful title. There is little difference between him and a trespasser. He also invited our attention to the provisions of Section 17(3) and 17(4) of Act, 2002 where the rights of such tenants are to be adjudicated by the DRT itself and the same cannot be raised nor adjudicated by the writ court in separate proceeding while the securitization proceedings are still pending. We do not express any opinion on that aspect except that all these issues can be raised and considered in the pending proceedings before DRT.

43. Shri Mathur further contended that in fact, the lease was a perpetual lease in view of the provisions contained in Burma Shell (Acquisition of undertakings in India) Act, 1976 as BPCL was a successor to Burma Shell Company. In response to which, appellants' Counsel Shri Seth relied upon a decision of Hon'ble the Supreme Court reported in (2014) 1 SCC 657; Bharat Petroleum Corpn. Ltd. v. Rama Chandrashekhar Vaidya to contend that any renewal of such lease envisaged under Section 5(2) is only a one time affair and there is no question of a second renewal in terms of the aforesaid statutory provision. He also submitted that reliance on the aforesaid provision is also misplaced as the Central Government has never acted upon it. We again do not express any opinion on that issue as this can be seen before the DRT itself. The learned Single Judge should not have entered into such issues during pendency of securitization proceedings while passing the interim order.

44. The learned Single Judge has veritably entered into merits of the issues which are pending consideration before the DRT, Lucknow in several securitization applications filed by the respondents-petitioners which he could not have done. The learned Single Judge apparently could not have entered into the merits of the issues which were pending consideration before the DRT and could not have rendered his opinion on the same that too at the interim stage in the manner in which he has done. Factual issues requiring adducing of evidence and their appreciation have been considered and opinion expressed by the learned Single Judge which could not have been done. The learned Single Judge Bench has also been persuaded by the fact as if the proceedings were against a dead person oblivious of the fact that it is the petitioners before it who had initiated the securitization applications impleading the guarantors some of whom had allegedly died. How far the proceedings were maintainable or not maintainable? How far the property was owned jointly by the guarantors etc.?, are all issues which can be thrashed out in the pending securitization proceedings itself and there is no occasion for this Court to entertain the writ petitions any further.

45. Shri Mathur also relied upon certain orders passed by the DRT, Lucknow to contend that there was an interim order operating when coercive action de hors the said interim order was taken at the behest of the financial institution by the Additional District Magistrate in issuing pre-possession notice, the order under Section 14 of the Act, 2002 and taking possession of the secured asset, therefore, according to him, this is also one of the reasons as to why the writ court should interfere in the matter.

46. Responding to it learned Counsel for the appellants submitted that the interim order was not at all operating on the date on which the possession order was passed and possession was taken. No application was filed by the respondents-petitioners for extension of the interim order and, in fact, they accepted the situation that there was no interim order as is evident from their own conduct where they had filed an application bearing IR No.3157 of 2025 seeking interim relief before the DRT, Lucknow in the pending securitization application bearing S.A. No.487 of 2024 for restraining the respondent F1-financial institution from taking physical possession of the secured asset, therefore, the contention that there was an interim order operating is absolutely misconceived.

47. We have perused the copy of the order sheet placed before us and find that on 22.10.2024 in S.A. No.487 of 2024 which was the second S.A. filed by BPCL as already noticed earlier, an interim order passed granting opportunity to the Bank to file counter affidavit subject to the condition that the respondent-Bank will not take any coercive measure till the next date fixed. On 05.03.2025, the order passed does not speak of any extension of interim order passed earlier but on 01.04.2025, the order of the DRT, Lucknow in the said S.A. No.487 of 2024 is inter alia to the effect 'IR, if any is extended'. Shri Seth submitted as there was no IR subsisting on 01.04.2025, therefore, the contention that it had been extended is misconceived. Whereas, Shri Mathur says that the law is clear that unless specifically vacated, a time bound IR granted earlier, continues. On 03.04.2025 also the interim order was extended on the same terms i.e. 'IR, if any is extended'. Now, there is a dispute that as to whether there was interim order subsisting on the said dates or not, nevertheless, on 03.07.2025, there is no order extending the IR and thereafter, on 18.08.2025, the Additional District Magistrate passed the order under Section 14 of the Act, 2002, therefore, the contention of Shri Seth is that on the said date there was no interim relief and this is how BPCL also understood the situation otherwise it would have filed an application for extension of the IR instead it filed an application bearing No.3157 of 2025 as discussed hereinabove seeking interim relief for restraining the financial institution from taking physical possession of the secured asset as noticed in the order of the DRT, Lucknow dated 02.09.2025 which passed an order for its listing on 22.09.2025 for hearing on interim relief.

48. We are of the opinion that all these issues will have to be raised before the DRT, Lucknow in the pending securitization applications. The BPCL itself does not appear to have pursued the matter before DRT, Lucknow diligently as is evident from the facts as noticed hereinabove. We say no more on this issue.

49. As regards contention of Shri Mathur that huge amount of petrol is lying in the petrol tanks thereby posing a danger to the security of the entire premises and as it is an essential commodity, therefore, for this reason also, the writ court should interfere in the matter, in response, Shri Seth has invited our attention to the Petroleum Rules, 2002 to submit that suitable arrangements can be made under the said rules for removing the petroleum lying in the tanks in the premises in question. He also invited our attention to various notices sent to BPCL for doing the needful in this regard, all of which have gone unheeded and instead of acting upon it, the writ petition was filed.

50. We are of the opinion that so far as petroleum lying in the tanks is concerned certainly this is a matter which requires attention of all the concerned including BPCL and its sub-lessee, we, therefore, provide that if the respondents-petitioners i.e. BPCL and M/S Arora Auto Center, Lucknow want that the petroleum should be taken out from the said tanks then they can approach the concerned authorities under the aforesaid rules, who shall be obliged to the needful promptly so that the petroleum lying there does not remain there for long and is taken out and is utilized as per law.

51. It was also the contention of Shri Mathur that under the lease there are structures existing on the premises to which BPCL has a right and interest but this aspect has also been lost sight of. Dr. L.P. Mishra and Shri Seth invited our attention to the condition of the lease deed which had already expired on 06.01.2025, according to which, BPCL was under the obligation to remove the structures on expiry of the lease. It was also their submission that these are temporary structures and none of the appellants have any objection if BPCL wants to remove those structures and take them away. They accede to this extent. We are also, therefore, of the view that if BPCL or M/S Arora Auto Center, Lucknow as the case may be want to remove the said structures, they are free to do so unless of course they want to contest the matter before the DRT, Lucknow in which case it is open for them to do so.

52. As regards validity of the mortgage deed dated 01.10.2014 which was sought to be addressed before us by Shri Mathur, this is also an issue which can be raised before the DRT, Lucknow in the pending proceedings as far as otherwise permissible in law. Learned Single Judge obviously erred in entering into these aspects regarding which he had no jurisdiction.

53. One of the guarantors i.e. Smt. Krishna Devi has filed an intervention application stating that she is not aware of the mortgage deed whereas, the Counsel for the appellant submitted that notices issued to Smt. Krishna Devi were served repeatedly but she did not appear deliberately and now she is siding with the so called lessee for ulterior reasons. Smt. Krishna Devi is already a party in the securitization application but has not put in appearance there although she has knowledge of the proceedings as accepted by Shri Anurag Srivastava her Counsel in January, 2026. Learned Counsel for the appellants also submitted that other legal representatives of other guarantors/ stakeholders have also filed applications stating that the mortgage deed had been executed. We do not wish to enter into these controversies which are all subject matter of the proceedings pending before the DRT, Lucknow. In fact, learned Single Judge should also not have entered into the same. We are constrained to observe that BPCL and M/S Arora Auto Center, Lucknow themselves filed the securitization application impleading Smt. Rani Devi who, as claimed, had died. Even in the writ petition the said two persons Smt. Rani Devi and Smt. Krishna Devi were impleaded, therefore, the learned Single Judge has lost sight of this aspect of the matter that it is BPCL and M/S Arora Auto Center, Lucknow who have also initiated proceedings against a dead person, if it is so. All these issues are open for consideration by the DRT, Lucknow. In this context we had passed an order on 13.03.2026 and say nothing further.

54. The writ petition by the sub-lessee M/S Arora Auto Center, Lucknow was especially not maintainable as its securitization applications had been dismissed against which appeals have been preferred before the Debt Recovery Appellate Tribunal which are still pending.

55. As regards maintainability of the special appeals are concerned, the interim order(s), for the reasons given hereinabove are apparently without jurisdiction as the learned Single Judge did not have jurisdiction to hear such a writ petition and as by the said impugned order veritably the proceedings pending before the DRT, Lucknow in various Securitization Applications (S.A.) have been preempted and a final relief of sorts has been ordered/granted by the impugned order, therefore, the appeals are maintainable and not much of an objection was raised by learned Counsel for the respondents-petitioners in this regard.

56. In view of the above discussions and observations, we are not only of the opinion that the interim order passed by the learned Single Judge is not sustainable and is liable to be quashed but the writ petitions itself are not maintainable before the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. We, accordingly allow all the special appeals and quash the interim order dated 28.11.2025 passed in Writ C No.11298 of 2025 (Bharat Petroleum Corporation Limited vs. State of U.P. and Others) and Writ C No.11302 of 2025 (M/S Arora Auto Center and Others vs. State of U.P. and Others). The writ petitions bearing Writ C No.11298 of 2025 (Bharat Petroleum Corporation Limited vs. State of U.P. and Others) and 11302 of 2025 (M/S Arora Auto Center vs. State of U.P. and Others) are dismissed.

57. Copy of this judgment be sent to Registrar General and Senior Registrar of this Court at Allahabad and Lucknow respectively, for compliance.

58. Let a copy of this order be placed on the records of Writ C No.11298 of 2025 and Writ C No.11302 of 2025.

Writ-A No. 403 of 2010

Rama Shankar Tiwari s/o Jagat Narain Tiwari ...Petitioner
Versus Central Bank & Anr. ...Respondents

Issue for Consideration

- (1) Effect of non-supply of relied documents, and not providing evidences and opportunity of cross examination before dismissing from service.
- (2) Applicability of Regulation 21(B) of Canara Bank Service Code in the matter of imposing punishment of dismissal.

Headnotes

(A) Service law – Dismissal – Principle of natural justice – Applicability – Charge of involving in a criminal case – Petitioner was acquitted – However, he was served charge sheet – Though copy of evidences were sought, but respondent failed to provide it – No opportunity of cross examination was provided – Effect – Applicability of Regulation 21(B) of Canara Bank Service Code felt into consideration: (E-1)

Held: The denial of adequate opportunity to defend, coupled with non-supply of relied upon documents, strikes at the very root of a fair inquiry. It is well settled that any order founded upon such vitiated inquiry cannot be sustained – The inquiry, therefore, has been conducted in clear breach of fair procedure, rendering the entire proceedings arbitrary and unsustainable in the eyes of law – The disciplinary authority failed to afford a reasonable opportunity of hearing to the petitioner at the stage of final decision. Even though issuance of second show cause notice may not be expressly provided, the requirement of fair hearing mandates that the delinquent employee be made aware of the findings of the inquiry and be given an opportunity to respond. The failure to do so further vitiates the impugned orders. [Para 20, 21 and 24]

Further held: Regulation 21(B), clearly indicates that in a case where an employee is acquitted, even if departmental proceedings are contemplated, the ultimate punishment, if any, could only be termination with notice pay and not dismissal from service, and the period of suspension is liable to be treated in the manner provided therein. The action of the respondents in imposing the extreme penalty of dismissal, therefore, is contrary to the statutory provisions governing the field and is wholly without jurisdiction. [Para 23]

Case Arising From

Impugned dismissal order dated 18.03.2008 passed by respondent No. 2 and the appellate order dated 24.12.2008 passed by respondent No. 1.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Appellant: C. B. Pandey (Sr. Adv.) Manoj Kumar Dwivedi, Ms. Arundhati Thakur, Sunil Sharma, Chandra Bhushan Pandey.

Advs. for the Respondents: Vinay Shanker.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Irshad Ali, J.)

1. Heard Sri C.B. Pandey, learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner assisted by Sri Manoj Kumar Dwivedi and Ms. Arundhati Thakur, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Vinay Shanker, learned counsel for respondent - Bank.

2. By means of present writ petition, the petitioner is challenging the order dated 18.03.2008 passed by respondent No.2 as well as appellate order dated 24.12.2008 passed by respondent No.1 contained as Annexures 1 & 2 to the writ petition.

3. Factual matrix of the case is that the petitioner while working as Special Assistant in Sultanpur Branch transferred to Kurwar Branch of the Bank. On 22.11.1996, he was suspended from service. On 28.12.1996, a FIR was lodged against him. In the year 2000, the petitioner filed Writ Petition No.1379 (S/S) of 2000 challenging the impugned order of suspension, which was disposed of vide order dated 22.10.2005.

4. In pursuance to FIR, in criminal trial of criminal Case No.66 of 2004, the petitioner was acquitted vide order dated 24.11.2005. After acquittal, the petitioner submitted an application on 20.02.2006 before respondent No.2 through respondent No.4 stating for reinstatement of service.

5. The petitioner received a letter dated 13.04.2006 from respondent No.2 informing him that since departmental proceedings are contemplated against him, his suspension is being continued.

6. In year 2006, the petitioner filed Writ Petition No.4822 (S/S) of 2006 challenging the order of suspension dated 22.11.1996. On 18.05.2006, the petitioner was served with a charge sheet and given several representations to the respondents to provide copy of evidences. However, he has not been provided copies of evidences.

7. On 16.10.2008, Central Information Commission gave direction to the respondents to provide copy of evidences. On 18.05.2006, in absence of copy of evidences, the petitioner submitted his reply to the charge sheet. The inquiry was conducted in an arbitrary manner and during whole inquiry only one witness Sri Shreenivas Srivastava - account holder was produced.

8. On 08.03.2007, a show cause notice was served to the petitioner, whereby the date of personal hearing was fixed on 14.03.2008 at Lucknow. The petitioner vide letter dated 12.03.2008 informed the respondent No.2 that he is unable to present himself on 13th and 14th of the month.

9. In year 2008, the petitioner filed Writ Petition No.1545 (S/S) of 2008 for direction to the respondents to provide copy of evidences. The writ petition was dismissed on the ground that respondents have already passed the dismissal order.

10. Against the order of dismissal dated 18.03.2008, the petitioner filed appeal to the General Manager, Canara Bank, which was rejected vide order dated 24.12.2008, against which the present writ petition has been preferred.

11. Assailing the impugned orders, submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that in the impugned orders provisions of rules referred at Chapter XI Regulation 4 of Canara Bank Service Code is not applicable to the case of the petitioner. In respect of acquittal in criminal case, provisions of Regulation B of Section 21 is applicable, which lays down following provisions:

"(b) the employee is acquitted, it shall be open to the Deputy General Manager of Circle Office / International Division/ Inspection Department / The Assistant General Manager of Personnel Wing, Head Office, to proceed against him under the provisions set out herein above regarding misconducts. If after enquiry it is decided not to continue the employee in service, he shall be liable only for termination of service with three month's pay and allowances in lieu of notice; and he shall be deemed to have been on duty during the period of suspension, if any, and shall be entitled to full pay and allowances minus such subsistence allowance as he has drawn and all other privileges for the period of suspension.

Provided that if the employee be acquitted by being given the benefit of doubt, he may be paid such portion of such pay and allowances as the Deputy General Manager of Circle Office / International Division / Inspection Department / The Assistant General Manager of Personnel Wing, Head Office, may deem proper, and the period of his absence shall not be treated as period spent on duty unless the Deputy General Manager of Circle Office/International Division/Inspection Department/ The Assistant General Manager of Personnel Wing, Head Office, so direct."

therefore, his submission is that the order of dismissal is wholly illegal and without jurisdiction.

12. He next submitted that the inquiry committee has not provided opportunity to file reply after providing evidences relied upon by the disciplinary authority. In spite of repeated attempts to supply copy of evidences relied upon, the same was not made available to the petitioner nor the reply submitted by the petitioner has ever been considered while concluding the inquiry, therefore, his submission is that without hearing the petitioner on charges and without cross examination of witnesses, who were 14 in number, the inquiry report vitiates in law and the order passed on the basis of said inquiry is wholly without jurisdiction and is per se illegal.

13. He further submitted that although under the rules there is no provision to issue second show cause notice along with inquiry report, even then to avoid non compliance of principles of natural justice, the disciplinary authority would have been provided second show cause notice along with inquiry report seeking explanation from the petitioner, which has not been done in the present case, therefore, his submission is that the order being passed on violation of principles of natural justice is not sustainable in the eyes of law and is liable to be set aside.

14. His last submission is that the order of dismissal awarded in the case of the petitioner is wholly illegal and cannot be passed in case the petitioner has been acquitted in the criminal case, therefore, the order impugned is per se illegal and is liable to be set aside by this Court. In support of his submissions, he placed reliance upon a judgment of Bombay High Court in the case of Eknath Shankar Kamble Vs. Chief Executive Officer, Zilla Parishad, Sangli and others; Writ Petition No.12326 of 2017 decided on 08.06.2023.

15. On the other hand, learned counsel for the respondent - Bank submitted that although 14 witnesses, whose account numbers were found to be illegal were not examined as witnesses, the order impugned has been passed on the basis of documents available on record, therefore, his submission is that there is no illegality in the order of dismissal and the same is just and valid.

16. He next submitted that the impugned order of dismissal has been passed under Chapter XXI Rule 4(B) of Rules / Regulations, which does not suffer from any infirmity or illegality and submitted that the respondent - Bank has not committed any error in passing the impugned orders.

17. I have considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the material on record as well as law report cited by learned counsel for the petitioner.

18. To resolve the controversy involved in the matter, relevant portion of the judgment relied upon by learned counsel for the petitioner is being quoted below:

"32. I am conscious that the decision in the case of B.S. Sawai (supra), was rendered in a different fact situation, wherein the employee was prosecuted for an offence punishable under Section 302 of the Penal Code, 1860 In the case of Manohar Shankar Dhoke (supra), in addition to acquittal in the criminal case, the employee therein was also exonerated in a disciplinary inquiry and that constituted an additional circumstance. However, the fact remains that mere use of the expression 'benefit of doubt' in the judgment of criminal court, by itself, would not deprive the employee from claiming that the acquittal was 'honourable' or 'clean'. If in the totality of the circumstances, the court comes to the conclusion that the acquittal of an employee is after consideration of the entire material and recording categorical finding that the guilt is not proved, the fact that the criminal court had also used an expression 'benefit of doubt' in the judgment would not constitute an impediment in inferring 'honourable acquittal'."

19. Having considered the rival submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties, I have perused the material available on record and the judgment relied upon by learned counsel for the petitioner.

20. This Court finds that the disciplinary proceedings initiated against the petitioner stand vitiated on account of gross violation of principles of natural justice. Admittedly, though the charges were based upon documentary evidences and statements of as many as 14 account holders, neither the copies of such evidences were supplied to the petitioner despite repeated requests and even directions of the Central Information Commission, nor the said witnesses were produced for cross-examination. The inquiry, therefore, has been conducted in clear breach of fair procedure, rendering the entire proceedings arbitrary and unsustainable in the eyes of law.

21. This Court further finds substance in the submission of learned counsel for the petitioner that the reply submitted by the petitioner to the charge-sheet, in absence of relevant documents, could not have been meaningfully considered. The denial of adequate opportunity to defend, coupled with non-supply of relied upon documents, strikes at the very root of a fair inquiry. It is well settled that any order founded upon such vitiated inquiry cannot be sustained.

22. So far as the effect of acquittal in the criminal case is concerned, it is not in dispute that the petitioner has been acquitted by the competent criminal court after full trial. In light of the law laid down in Eknath Shankar Kamble Vs. Chief Executive Officer, Zilla Parishad, Sangli and others (Supra), as relied upon by learned counsel for the petitioner, even where the expression “benefit of doubt” is used, the Court is required to examine the nature of acquittal in its entirety. In the present case, the acquittal is based on consideration of the entire evidence and failure of prosecution to establish guilt, which, in effect, amounts to a clean acquittal. Thus, the respondents were required to proceed strictly in accordance with the applicable service regulations.

23. A perusal of the relevant provisions of the Canara Bank Service Code, particularly Regulation 21(B), clearly indicates that in a case where an employee is acquitted, even if departmental proceedings are contemplated, the ultimate punishment, if any, could only be termination with notice pay and not dismissal from service, and the period of suspension is liable to be treated in the manner provided therein. The action of the respondents in imposing the extreme penalty of dismissal, therefore, is contrary to the statutory provisions governing the field and is wholly without jurisdiction.

24. This Court also finds that the disciplinary authority failed to afford a reasonable opportunity of hearing to the petitioner at the stage of final decision. Even though issuance of second show cause notice may not be expressly provided, the requirement of fair hearing mandates that the delinquent employee be made aware of the findings of the inquiry and be given an opportunity to respond. The failure to do so further vitiates the impugned orders.

25. The submissions advanced by learned counsel for the respondent-Bank that the findings are based on documentary evidence alone cannot be accepted in view of the fact that such documents were never supplied to the petitioner, nor proved in accordance with law. Reliance on such unproved and undisclosed material is impermissible and cannot form the basis of a valid disciplinary action.

26. In view of the aforesaid discussion and for the reasons recorded hereinabove, this Court is of the considered opinion that the impugned order dated 18.03.2008 passed by respondent No.2 as well as the appellate order dated 24.12.2008 passed by respondent No.1 are unsustainable in law and are liable to be quashed.

27. Accordingly, the writ petition succeeds and is allowed.

28. The impugned orders dated 18.03.2008 and 24.12.2008 are hereby quashed. The respondents are directed to reinstate the petitioner in service forthwith with all consequential benefits in accordance with law. However, it shall be open to the respondents to proceed afresh, if so advised, strictly in accordance with law and after affording due opportunity to the petitioner.

29. No order as to costs.

Issue for Consideration

- (1) Entitlement of payment of salary on the strength of appointment, which was found void ab initio as the same was granted to a minor person.
- (2) Effect of practicing suppression of material particulars, while seeking discretionary relief under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

Headnotes

(A) Service law – Payment of salary – Constitution of India – Article 226 – Writ – Suppression of material facts – Post of Peon and Clerk – Age limit – Eligibility – Both the petitioners were minor on the date of appointment – In the writ petition, the date of appointment was differently mentioned from the date recorded in appointment schedule –Effect – Issue of effect of suppression of material particulars, while seeking discretionary relief under Article 226 of the Constitution of India also felt into consideration: (E-1)

Held: The inconsistency in their pleadings with regard to the date of appointment, initially asserted to be the year 1977 and subsequently altered to 1980, is not a mere trivial or inadvertent discrepancy, but one that strikes at the very root of their claim. Such mutually destructive stands clearly betray a calculated attempt to improve upon the case and to mislead the Court. It is a well-settled principle of law that a litigant invoking the extraordinary and equitable jurisdiction of this Court is under a solemn obligation to disclose full, true, and correct facts. Any suppression, concealment, or distortion of material particulars disentitles such a litigant from seeking discretionary relief under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. [Para 51]

Further held: Any appointment of a minor to a post in an institution is impermissible and void ab initio – The appointments in question are ex facie in clear violation of the mandatory statutory provisions governing recruitment – Such fundamental lapses go to the root of the matter and render the entire selection process vitiated. It is well settled that any appointment made in contravention of statutory rules is illegal, void, and unenforceable in the eyes of law, and no legal right can be claimed on the basis thereof – The petitioners have failed to establish the legality of their appointments; no financial sanction or approval was ever accorded, and the managerial return itself stood rejected by the competent authority. Case Arising From Impugned order dated 20.12.2014 passed by the Director of Education (Basic), Uttar Pradesh.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Appellant: Kamlesh Kumar Yadav, Kailash Singh Kushwaha, Kalpna Upadhyay, P. K. Upadhyay.

Advs. for the Respondents: Shailendra Singh (SC), Jitendra Singh, Nisheeth Yadav, Raj Kumar Dhama.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manju Rani Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Kamlesh Kumar Yadav, learned counsel for the petitioners and Mr. Shailendra Singh, learned Standing Counsel for the State.

2. The present writ petition has been instituted by the petitioners praying for issuance of a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari for quashing the impugned order dated 20.12.2014 passed by the Director of Education (Basic), Uttar Pradesh, respondent no.2. A further prayer has been made for issuance of a writ in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents not to interfere in the functioning and discharge of duties of the petitioners pursuant to the aforesaid impugned order, and to ensure payment of their salary regularly, including arrears from the date the same became due, within a stipulated period.

3. Placing the brief facts of the case, learned counsel for the petitioners submits that petitioner no. 1 is working as a Class IV employee and petitioner no. 2 as a Class III employee in a Junior High School, namely Shiv Durgeshwar Mahabir Poorva Madhyamik Vidyalaya, Ashwari, District Varanasi. It is further submitted that the said institution was brought on the grant-in-aid list vide order dated 02.12.2006.

4. It is contended that the petitioners were initially appointed on 1.7.1980 and their appointments came to be duly approved by the District Basic Education Officer vide order dated 31.08.1987. In the said approval order, the name of petitioner no. 1 finds place at serial no. 7, whereas the name of petitioner no. 2 is reflected at serial no. 4.

5. It is further submitted that subsequently, when the relevant papers were forwarded on 21.07.2005 under the three-language formula, the names of the petitioners were duly reflected therein, showing petitioner no. 1 as a Class IV employee and petitioner no. 2 as a Class III employee. It is contended that the said documents lend further corroboration to the status and continuance of the petitioners in service.

6. Learned counsel has also drawn attention of the Court to the attendance register placed on record, which prima facie demonstrates that the petitioners have been continuously working as non-teaching staff in the institution in question.

7. It is further submitted by learned counsel for the petitioners that at the time when the institution was brought on the grant-in-aid list, the then Manager, in collusion with certain persons appointed on account of kith and kin, manipulated and fabricated the relevant records pertaining to the petitioners, so as to falsely project them as Assistant Teachers, despite the fact that they were, in reality, serving as non-teaching staff in the institution.

8. It is submitted that since the posts of the petitioners were altered in the official records by the then Manager with a view to extend undue benefit to his kith and kin, the petitioners were constrained to approach this Court by filing Civil Miscellaneous Writ Petition No.25487 of 2008 (Parshu Ram and others vs. State of U.P. and others).

9. The said writ petition was disposed of by this Court vide judgment and order dated 23.04.2012, whereby the Director of Education (Basic), U.P., Lucknow was directed to examine the matter and take an appropriate decision with regard to the grant-in-aid status of the institution, and to communicate the decision so taken to the petitioners as well as to the Committee of Management.

10. It is submitted that in purported compliance of the aforesaid order, the impugned order has been passed by the authority concerned, placing reliance upon the aforesaid fabricated documents.

11. It is submitted that the impugned order is wholly arbitrary, illegal and unsustainable in the eyes of law, being in clear violation of the directions issued by this Court in Civil Miscellaneous Writ Petition No. 25487 of 2008.

12. It is further submitted that the petitioners were initially appointed as Peon and Clerk, respectively, in the institution in question. Learned counsel contends that the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Recognized Basic Schools (Junior High School) (Recruitment and Conditions of Service of Ministerial Staff and Group 'D' Employees) Rules, 1984 are not applicable to the appointments of the petitioners, inasmuch as the said Rules are prospective in nature and came into force subsequent to the date of their initial appointments.

13. It is submitted that the petitioners were initially appointed on 01.07.1980 on the posts of Peon and Clerk, respectively, in the institution in question. However, it is alleged that the then Manager, with a view to extend undue benefit to his kith and kin, manipulated and interpolated the records relating to the appointments of the petitioners after the institution was brought on the grant-in-aid list, with the intent to displace the petitioners and accommodate his own nominees in their place.

14. It is further submitted that the impugned order has been passed in complete disregard of the inquiry report submitted by respondent no. 3, which has not been duly considered by the authority while arriving at the impugned decision.

15. It is submitted that the Manager of the institution prepared forged and manipulated records by altering the designation of the petitioners from Peon and Clerk to that of Assistant Teachers. In such circumstances, respondent no. 2 ought not to have placed reliance upon such disputed documents while passing the impugned order, particularly when the authenticity of those records was itself under serious challenge.

16. It is further submitted that respondent no. 3, after conducting a spot inspection, submitted an inquiry report categorically recording that the petitioners were in fact working in the institution in question. However, the said inquiry report, being a material piece of evidence, has not been duly considered by the authority while passing the impugned order, rendering the same vitiated for non-consideration of relevant material.

17. Learned counsel appearing for respondent no. 4, on the other hand, submits that after the institution was brought on the grant-in-aid list in the year 2006, a managerial return was forwarded by the Manager of the institution for approval of the list of teachers who were allegedly working in the institution on the date it was taken on grant-in-aid.

18. It is contended that the said managerial return was subjected to scrutiny by a three-member District Level Committee comprising the Finance and Accounts Officer, the Basic Shiksha Adhikari, and the Senior Block Education Officer. Upon due examination, the Committee found the same to be not in accordance with law and rejected it. Consequently, the said proposal was not forwarded to the Regional Level Committee for financial approval.

19. It is further submitted that no financial sanction or approval was ever granted by the competent authority with respect to the said managerial return, and the same stood rejected by the District Level Committee vide order dated 28.09.2006.

20. Challenging the aforesaid list teachers of the institution, namely Parshu Ram and others, filed Civil Miscellaneous Writ Petition No. 25487 of 2008 before this Court. The said writ petition was disposed of vide order dated 23.04.2012, whereby a direction was issued to the competent authority to examine the claim of the petitioners therein and to take an appropriate decision in accordance with law.

21. It is further submitted that in compliance of the aforesaid order, the Director of Basic Education undertook a detailed scrutiny of the appointments of all such teachers whose names were included in the managerial return. Upon such examination, it was found that the appointments had been made dehors the applicable rules and were not in consonance with the prescribed procedure. Consequently, the impugned order dated 20.12.2014 came to be passed.

22. In view thereof, it is contended that since the appointments were found to be illegal and not duly approved, no liability could be fastened upon the State to release salary to such persons from the State exchequer.

23. A perusal of the records placed on behalf of the Management indicates that the teachers concerned have submitted separate representations seeking to establish that approval was granted vide order dated 31.03.1987. However, it is noteworthy that two different documents bearing the same reference number have been brought on record, each purporting to grant approval, but containing materially different lists of teachers and ministerial staff.

24. This apparent discrepancy gives rise to serious doubt regarding the genuineness and authenticity of the documents relied upon, and prima facie suggests interpolation or fabrication at some stage. In such circumstances, the matter warrants cautious scrutiny, as the possibility of forgery or manipulation of records by interested parties cannot be ruled out.

25. It is further submitted that pursuant to the directions issued by this Hon'ble Court, a fresh inquiry was conducted by the Assistant Basic Shiksha Adhikari, and a detailed report dated 05.12.2016 has been brought on record. The said report records that upon spot inspection of the institution, the petitioners were not found to be working on the posts of Clerk and Peon.

26. It is further noted in the report that the attendance register of the institution does not reflect the presence of the petitioners for the period from July, 2016 to December, 2016, which was also placed before the inspecting authority. The report further refers to written resignations allegedly tendered by Parmeshwar Singh on 25.06.1987 and by Lakshmi Shankar Tiwari on 25.05.1987.

27. On the strength of the aforesaid material, it is sought to be contended that the petitioners were not working in the institution as Clerk and Peon.

28. It was further brought to the notice of the authority that subsequent to the alleged resignation of the petitioners, fresh appointments had already been made on the said posts.

29. Learned counsel for the respondents further submits that the petitioners have sought to set up a case that they were appointed as Peon and Clerk, respectively, on 01.07.1980, at a time when the institution was unaided. It is contended that the institution was granted temporary recognition on 04.03.1981, and thereafter, permanent recognition was accorded on 02.09.1985.

30. It is further submitted that petitioner no. 2 claims to have been appointed as Clerk on 01.07.1980, whereas his date of birth is recorded as 08.06.1967. As such, he would have been only about 13 years of age at the time of the alleged appointment. This glaring inconsistency, according to the learned counsel, renders the claim set up by petitioner no. 2 inherently improbable and legally untenable, thereby casting serious doubt on the veracity of his appointment.

31. Learned counsel for the respondents further submits that the Uttar Pradesh Recognized Basic Schools (Junior High School) (Recruitment and Conditions of Service of Ministerial Staff and Group 'D' Employees) Rules, 1984 prescribe the qualifications and eligibility conditions for appointment to the post of Clerk. In particular, Rule 6 provides that a candidate seeking recruitment to any of the posts under the said Rules must have attained the age of 18 years and must not exceed 30 years of age as on the first day of July following the year in which the vacancy is notified.

32. It is further provided that the upper age limit is relaxable by five years in the case of candidates belonging to Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes, and Dependants of Freedom Fighters, or as may be provided by the State Government from time to time.

33. Learned counsel for the respondents further submits that Rule 4 of the Uttar Pradesh Recognized Basic Schools (Junior High School) (Recruitment and Conditions of Service of Ministerial Staff and Group 'D' Employees) Rules, 1984 prescribes the minimum qualifications for appointment to the post of Clerk, which require a candidate to have passed the Intermediate examination or its equivalent, along with a minimum typing speed of 30 words per minute in Hindi. Insofar as Group 'D' employees are concerned, the minimum qualification prescribed is passing Class V from an institution recognized by the State of Uttar Pradesh or an equivalent examination.

34. In view of the aforesaid statutory requirements, it is contended that a person aged about 13 years could neither possess the requisite educational qualifications nor satisfy the minimum age criteria, and therefore, could not have been legally appointed on the post of Clerk or even as a Class IV employee.

35. Learned counsel for the respondents further submits that the petitioners cannot be permitted to rely upon such documents, the authenticity whereof is itself under serious doubt. It is contended that the mandatory procedure prescribed for recruitment to the posts of Peon and Clerk has not been followed in the present case. No documentary evidence has been brought on record to establish issuance of any advertisement, intimation of vacancy to the Basic Shiksha Adhikari, participation of the nominee of the Basic Shiksha Adhikari in the selection committee, or compliance of other statutory preconditions as contemplated under the Rules of 1984.

36. In view thereof, it is argued that the records relied upon by the petitioners for claiming salary from the State exchequer are wholly unreliable and appear to be fabricated, and consequently, no right can be claimed on the basis of such documents.

37. Learned counsel for the respondents further submits that the petitioners had earlier claimed, in Civil Miscellaneous Writ Petition No. 25487 of 2008, that they had been working in the institution since the year 1977, as is evident from the pleadings and as noticed in the order dated 23.04.2012 passed by this Court.

38. However, in the present proceedings, the petitioners have set up an altogether different case by asserting that their appointments were made on 01.07.1980.

39. It is contended that this inconsistency in the stand taken by the petitioners clearly indicates that they have sought to improve upon their case by introducing a new version of facts, which, according to the learned counsel, demonstrates manipulation and undermines the credibility of their claim.

40. Learned counsel for the respondents further submits that after the institution was brought on the grant-in-aid list, the managerial return was forwarded for financial approval before the Regional Level Committee. However, the same was rejected, and consequently, no employee of the institution was held entitled to receive salary from the State exchequer.

41. It is further contended that the petitioners have claimed to have been appointed as Clerk and Peon in the institution on 01.07.1980 (as asserted), which is wholly contrary to law, inasmuch as the mandatory procedure prescribed for such appointments was not followed. The alleged appointments are, therefore, dehors the statutory rules, and no legal right accrues to the petitioners on the basis thereof. Accordingly, it is submitted that the petitioners are not entitled to any relief as claimed in the present writ petition.

42. It is submitted by learned counsel appearing for the respondent-Committee of Management that in Writ Petition No. 25487 of 2008, the petitioners themselves have categorically stated that petitioner no. 2 had joined the institution in the year 1977. In support thereof, a copy of the appointment schedule was annexed, wherein the date of birth of petitioner no. 2 has been recorded as 08.06.1967, and the date of initial appointment has been shown as 01.07.1977. Evidently, on the said date, petitioner no. 2 was merely about 10 years of age.

43. In the present writ petition, however, a different stand has been taken, and the date of appointment of petitioner no. 2 is now sought to be shown as 01.07.1980. Even if the said date is accepted, petitioner no. 2 would still be below 18 years of age at the time of alleged appointment.

44. Such inconsistent and contradictory pleadings, coupled with the fact that in both instances petitioner no. 2 was admittedly a minor and thus ineligible for appointment to any post in the institution, clearly indicate that the petitioners have misrepresented material facts and have attempted to mislead this Hon'ble Court as well as the respondent authorities. The conduct of the petitioners, therefore, prima facie amounts to playing fraud upon the Court.

45. Learned Standing Counsel, Mr. Shailendra Singh, has placed reliance upon the judgment rendered in Ram Ashish Chaudhary and others vs. State of U.P. and others, reported in 2003 (1) ESC 170 (All) wherein a Division Bench of this Court has categorically held that any appointment made in favour of a minor is per se illegal and void in the eyes of law.

46. Learned counsel appearing for the respondent-Committee of Management, while denying the averments made in paragraph 6 of the writ petition, submits that no such Tribhasha Anudaan was ever granted by the State Government to the institution in question on 21.07.2005, and the document relied upon by the petitioners is wholly fabricated and has been brought on record with a fraudulent intent.

47. It is further submitted that a bare perusal of the said document reveals that the date of birth of petitioner no. 2 has been shown as 08.06.1967, while his date of appointment is indicated as 01.07.1980. Even on the face of it, such an appointment would be impermissible in law, as the petitioner was admittedly below the legally permissible age for appointment at the relevant time.

48. Moreover, any document pertaining to the alleged selection and appointment of the petitioners is in clear contravention of the provisions of the applicable Rules of 1984, and therefore cannot be relied upon for any legal sanctity.

49. Learned counsel for the respondent-Committee of Management has further submitted that the alleged appointments of the petitioners, even if assumed to have been made, are in clear violation of the provisions of Rules 7, 9, 10 and 11 of the Rules, 1978, as well as Rules 13, 14, 15 and 16 of the Rules, 1984. Consequently, such appointments are wholly illegal and void ab initio in the eyes of law.

50. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the material available on record.

51. This Court is constrained to observe that the petitioners have failed to approach the Court with clean hands. The inconsistency in their pleadings with regard to the date of appointment, initially asserted to be the year 1977 and subsequently altered to 1980, is not a mere trivial or inadvertent discrepancy, but one that strikes at the very root of their claim. Such mutually destructive stands clearly betray a calculated attempt to improve upon the case and to mislead the Court. It is a well-settled principle of law that a litigant invoking the extraordinary and equitable jurisdiction of this Court is under a solemn obligation to disclose full, true, and correct facts. Any suppression, concealment, or distortion of material particulars disentitles such a litigant from seeking discretionary relief under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. The conduct of the petitioners, therefore, renders them undeserving of any indulgence from this Court.

52. Even if the version set up by the petitioners is accepted arguendo, it remains an admitted and incontrovertible position that petitioner no. 2 was below 18 years of age at the time of the alleged appointment. An appointment of a minor to a public post is per se illegal, void, and non est in the eyes of law. Such an appointment lacks legal sanctity from its very inception and is liable to be treated as nullity.

53. It is a settled principle of law that any appointment of a minor to a post in an institution is impermissible and void ab initio. The Division Bench judgment in Ram Ashish Chaudhary (supra) unequivocally affirms this legal position.

54. It is a settled principle that no right, whether equitable or legal, can flow from an act which is void ab initio. Consequently, any claim founded upon such an inherently illegal appointment is wholly unsustainable and cannot be countenanced by this Court.

55. Furthermore, the respondents have rightly contended that the alleged appointments are in flagrant violation of the statutory provisions governing recruitment, namely, the Rules of 1978 and the Rules of 1984. The said Rules prescribe a mandatory procedure for selection and appointment, including issuance of proper advertisement, constitution of a duly constituted selection committee, and approval by the competent authority. Non-compliance with such mandatory requirements vitiates the entire selection process and renders the appointments wholly illegal and unsustainable in the eyes of law.

56. The appointments in question are ex facie in clear violation of the mandatory statutory provisions governing recruitment. There is nothing on record to demonstrate compliance with the essential procedural requirements, such as issuance of a proper advertisement inviting applications, constitution of a duly constituted selection committee, participation of authorized nominees of the competent authority, or grant of approval by the competent authority.

57. Such fundamental lapses go to the root of the matter and render the entire selection process vitiated. It is well settled that any appointment made in contravention of statutory rules is illegal, void, and unenforceable in the eyes of law, and no legal right can be claimed on the basis thereof.

58. A perusal of the record reveals the existence of conflicting documents bearing identical reference numbers yet containing materially divergent particulars. Such inconsistencies give rise to grave and legitimate doubts regarding their authenticity and genuineness. The document dated 21.07.2005, heavily relied upon by the petitioners, does not inspire confidence and appears to have been introduced with the oblique intent of lending an artificial veneer of legitimacy to an otherwise untenable claim.

59. It is a well-settled principle of law that no claim for salary can be sustained against the State exchequer unless the appointment in question is lawful and duly approved by the competent authority. In the present case, the petitioners have failed to establish the legality of their appointments; no financial sanction or approval was ever accorded, and the managerial return itself stood rejected by the competent authority. In such circumstances, the claim for payment of salary is wholly misconceived and legally untenable.

60. The law is unequivocal that no right can accrue from an illegal appointment, and the Courts cannot be called upon to recognize or legitimize acts which are void ab initio. It is equally well settled that equitable considerations, howsoever compelling, cannot be permitted to override or dilute the mandate of statutory provisions.

61. In view of the foregoing discussion, this Court is of the considered opinion that the petitioners have miserably failed to establish the legality or validity of their alleged appointments. Their claims are fraught with material inconsistencies and suffer from a clear lack of credibility. The impugned order, upon careful scrutiny, does not suffer from any illegality, perversity, or infirmity warranting interference by this Court in exercise of its writ jurisdiction.

62. Consequently, the petitioners are not entitled to any relief, including the claim for payment of salary from the State exchequer.

63. The writ petition, being devoid of merit, is accordingly dismissed.

Issue for Consideration

- (1) Applicability of the principle of natural justice and principles of audi alteram partem before passing the impugned order of cancellation of selection process.
- (2) Validity of the impugned order of cancellation of entire selection process without making segregation between tainted and non-tainted candidates.

Headnotes

(A) Service law – Selection and appointment – Cancellation – Principle of natural justice – Principles of audi alteram partem – Applicability – Post of Principal and Assistant Teacher in Sanskrit Schools – Selection process was duly held and Committee of management issued appointment letter – Petitioners were also started payment of salary – However, after time the DIOS withheld the salary – No show cause notice was issued, no opportunity of hearing was given, and no enquiry was conducted – Effect – Joint Director, vide impugned order, cancelled the entire selection process – Validity challenged: (E-1)

Held: It is a settled principle of law that any order having civil consequences must conform to the principles of audi alteram partem. The impugned order which has resulted in termination of service and deprivation of salary, has been passed in flagrant violation of such principles and is therefore vitiated in law – The impugned order dated 25.06.2012 has been passed by the opposite party no. 2 in a wholly arbitrary, illegal manner without issuing any notice whatsoever and in complete violation of principles of natural justice. The said order proceeds to cancel the entire selection process without recording any specific finding of irregularities or manipulation in the selection of the petitioners/ Assistant Teachers, except with respect to three individuals namely Sri Brijesh Kumar, Ms. Ragini Rai and Sri Ajay Kumar Yadav without any segregation between tainted and non-tainted candidates. [Para 48 and 50]

(B) Constitution of India – Article 14 – Right to equality – Cancellation of entire selection process – Failure to make segregation between tainted and non-tainted candidates – Effect: (E-1)

Held: No attempt has been made to segregate tainted candidates from untainted candidates, nor has any finding has been recorded against the petitioners. It is settled law that innocent candidates cannot be penalized for alleged irregularities of others. The blanket cancellation is thus arbitrary, disproportionate and violative of Article 14 of the Constitution of India – To treat the innocent and the wrongdoers equally by subjecting the former to the consequence of the cancellation of the entire process would be contrary to Article 14 because unequals would then be treated equally. [Para 52]

1. 2. This bunch of writ petitions is being decided by means of a common judgment and order treating Writ-A No.5028 of 2012 to be leading writ petition and the judgment and order passed therein, shall be equally applicable to all the connected writ petitions.

3. By means of the present writ petition, the petitioners have prayed for the following reliefs:

(I) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari thereby quashing the impugned order dated 25.6.2012 passed by the Director of Education (Secondary), U.P., Lucknow (opposite party no.2) contained as Annexure no.1 so far as it relates to the petitioners.

(II) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding the opposite parties not to create hindrance in the functioning of the petitioners on the post of Assistant teacher in Sanskrit institutions.

(III) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding the opposite parties especially opposite party no.3 (Joint Director of Education, Azamgarh Division, Azamgarh)

(IV) issue any writ order or direction which this Hon'ble Court may deem fit and proper under the circumstances of the case.

(V) allow the writ petition with costs in favour of the petitioners."

4. Factual matrix of the case is that the State Government issued notification on 15.1.2010 in respect of the Sanskrit Schools viz. The Uttar Pradesh Board of Secondary Sanskrit Education (Appointment and Conditions of Service of Heads of Institution, Teachers and Other Employees of the Institution) Regulations, 2009 in which the procedure for the selection on the post of Assistant Teacher and Principal/ Headmaster in Sanskrit Schools, has been mentioned.

On 20.9.2011, the vacancy was published in daily newspaper viz. Pioneer by the Regional Deputy Inspector of Sanskrit Schools regarding the Head of the Institutions. On 27.9.2011, the vacancy was published in the daily newspaper viz. Amgar Ujala by the Regional Deputy Inspector of Sanskrit Schools regarding the Assistant Teacher of the Institutions.

The petitioners being fully eligible and qualified for the post of Assistant Teacher applied for the same and also completed all the formalities as required in the advertisement. It is also submitted that the petitioners appeared in all the selection process and declared successful for the selection committee for the post of Assistant Teacher.

On 12.12.2011, the Joint Director of Education, Azamgarh Division, Azamgarh issued panel for the appointment of the petitioners on the post of Assistant Teacher. The appointment letter was issued in favour of the petitioners by the Manager, Committee of Management by following the panel issued by the Joint Director of Education, Azamgarh Division, Azamgarh. In pursuance to the appointment letter, the petitioners have reported their joining.

On 26.3.2012, the Director of Education (Secondary), U.P., Lucknow passed an order by which the salary of the petitioners has been stopped by a common order on the basis of the some complaints. Feeling aggrieved with the order dated 26.3.2012 passed by the opposite party no.2, the petitioners approached to this Court by challenging the impugned order dated 26.3.2012 passed by the Director of Education (Secondary), U.P., Lucknow and this Hon'ble Court pleased to pass interim order in the aforesaid writ petitions.

On 4.4.2012, one writ petition bearing No. Writ-A No.16645/2012 (Smt. Kiran Gupta and others v. State of U.P. and others) was filed before this Hon'ble Court at Allahabad and this Hon'ble Court vide order dated 4.4.2012 directed the Director of Education to decide the representation of that writ petitions.

On 25.6.2012, by taking shelter of the aforesaid order passed by this Hon'ble Court, opposite party no.2 cancelled the whole selection process without affording any opportunity of hearing or show cause notice to the petitioners in most illegal and arbitrary manner.

5. Ms Radhika Singh, learned counsel for the petitioners submitted that the State Government issued a notification dated 15.01.2010 (Annexure No.2 at page no.22-36 of writ petition) introducing the Uttar Pradesh Board of Secondary Sanskrit Education (Appointment and Conditions of Service of Heads of Institution, Teachers and other Employees of the Institutions) Regulations, 2009 which governs the procedure for appointment of Assistant Teachers and Principles in Sanskrit Institution, including the Institutions in question.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioners next submitted that in furtherance of the statutory framework prescribed under the aforesaid Regulations, vacancies relating to the post of Head of Institution were duly published on 19.09.2011 and 20.09.2011 in the widely circulated daily newspaper Pioneer by the Regional Deputy Inspector of Sanskrit Schools, thereby inviting applications from eligible candidates in accordance with the prescribed procedure. The said publication ensured due publicity and transparency in the selection process and was strictly in compliance with the mandatory requirements of the applicable Regulations governing such appointments.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioners next submitted that in continuation of the recruitment process and in strict compliance with the provisions of the applicable Regulations, vacancies for the post of Assistant Teacher were duly published on 27.9.2011 in the widely circulated daily newspaper 'Amar Ujala' by the Regional Deputy Inspector of Sanskrit Schools, thereby inviting applications from eligible candidates. The said advertisement ensured adequate publicity and transparency and formally initiated the selection process for appointment to the post of Assistant Teacher in the institutions concerned.

8. Learned counsel for the petitioners next submitted that pursuant to the advertisements issued, the duly constituted Selection Committee conducted the Selection proceedings on 20.11.2011 in strict adherence to the procedure prescribed under the applicable Regulations. The proceedings of the Selection Committee clearly establish that the entire selection process was conducted in a fair, transparent and lawful manner, without any arbitrariness, procedural irregularity or illegality whatsoever, and in complete compliance with the statutory framework governing such selections.

9. Learned counsel for the petitioners next submitted that upon completion of the selection process, the Joint Director of Education, Azamgarh Division, Azamgarh in exercise of his lawful authority issued the final selection panel dated 12.12.2011 recommending the names of the petitioners for appointment to the post of Assistant Teacher in the respective institutions. The issuance of the said panel was in conformity with the prescribed statutory procedure and conferred a legitimate and enforceable right upon the petitioners to be appointed on the said posts.

10. Learned counsel for the petitioners next submitted that in pursuance of the duly approved selection panel dated 12.12.2011, the respective Committees of Management of the concerned institutions issued appointment letters on 23.12.2011 in favour of the petitioners, thereby formally appointing them to the post of Assistant Teacher. The said appointments were made strictly in accordance with the applicable Regulations and upon due approval of the competent authority, thereby conferring valid and lawful status of service upon the petitioners.

11. Learned counsel for the petitioners next submitted that the petitioners joined their respective posts on 24.12.2011 and commenced discharge of their duties in the institutions concerned without any interruption or objection from any authority. Upon joining, the petitioners continuously performed their assigned responsibilities and were regularly paid salary in accordance with the applicable rules, thereby affirming the validity and subsistence of their appointments.

12. Learned counsel for the petitioners next submitted that to the utter shock and prejudice of the petitioners, the Director of Education (Secondary), U.P., Lucknow issued a communication dated 26.03.2012 whereby on the basis of certain complaints alleging irregularities in the selection process, the concerned authorities were directed to produce the entire records relating to the selection and submit a factual report. The said communication merely initiated a preliminary enquiry and did not contained any finding of illegality or any direction for cancellation of selection or stoppage of salary. However, despite the limited scope of the said communication, the subordinate authorities, the District Inspector of Schools proceeded to withhold the salary of the petitioners without any independent order, without issuing any notice and without affording any opportunity of hearing, thereby acting arbitrary and beyond the scope of the said communication. The said action is wholly illegal, without jurisdiction and in gross violation of the principles of natural justice.

13. Learned counsel for the petitioners next submitted that in a separate matter i.e. Writ-A No.16645 of 2012 (Smt. Kiran gupta and others v. State of U.P. and others) filed by certain unselected candidates, challenging advertisement no.6 of 2011 pertaining to the post of Principal and advertisement no.7 of 2011 pertaining to the post of Assistant Teacher, the Hon'ble Court at Allahabad vide order dated 04.04.2012 was pleased to dispose of the writ petition with a direction to the Director of Education (Secondary), U.P., Allahabad to consider and decide the representation of the petitioners therein by passing a reasoned and speaking order.

14. Learned counsel for the petitioners next submitted that the aforesaid order was limited in scope and merely required consideration of the grievance of the petitioners therein at the departmental level. The said order neither authorized the cancellation of the entire selection process nor permitted dispensing with the mandatory requirement of affording opportunity of hearing to the affected candidates. However, the said order has subsequently been misinterpreted and wrongly relied upon by the authorities while passing the impugned order dated 25.06.2012.

15. Learned counsel for the petitioners next submitted that being aggrieved by the action of the respondents and communication letter dated 26.03.2012 issued by the Director of Education (Secondary), U.P., Lucknow, the petitioners approached the Hon'ble Court by filing several writ petitions including Writ Petition No.2744(S/S) of 2012. The Hon'ble Court vide order dated 29.05.2012 after considering the facts and circumstances of the case, was pleased to issue notice and grant interim protection to the petitioner by extending the benefit of order passed in Priyanka Singh v. State of U.P. and others. The Hon'ble Court observed that in the absence of any specific order against individual candidates the payment of salary could not be withheld merely on the basis of a general direction and accordingly directed that the petitioners shall be entitled to receive salary during the pendency of the proceedings subject to further orders.

16. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that impugned order dated 25.06.2012 has been passed by respondent no.2 in wholly arbitrary, illegal and high-handed manner, without issuing any notice whatsoever and in complete violation of the principles of natural justice. The aid order proceeds to cancel the entire selection process without recording any specific finding of irregularity or manipulation in the selection of the petitioners/ Assistant Teachers, except with respect to three individuals namely Sri Brijesh Kumar, Ms.Ragini Rai and Sri Ajay Kumar Yadav in a connected matter. Despite this, the respondent has mechanically cancelled the entire selection of Assistant Teachers not only in Azamgarh Division but also in other divisions, namely Faizabad, Devipatan, Gorakhpur and Basti, thereby visiting all selected candidates with the consequences of alleged irregularities pertaining to a few individuals, without any segregation between tainted and non-tainted candidates.

17. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the advertisements for the posts of Principal and Assistant Teacher were separate and independent and the petitioners being duly selected candidates cannot be treated at par with any alleged irregularities. Even as per the findings of the Hon'ble High Court, the alleged malpractices were confined exclusively to the selection of Principals and had no application whatsoever to the selection of Assistant Teachers.

18. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submits that the Director has clearly usurped powers under the garb of Regulation 15 of the U.P. Board of Secondary Sanskrit Education (Appointment and Conditions of Service of Heads of Institution, Teachers and Other Employees of the Institution) Regulations, 2009 which does not confer authority to cancel a completed selection after appointments have been made and candidates have joined their duties. The services of the petitioners, having already crystallized, could not have been terminated except in accordance with the procedure prescribed under Chapter VI of the said Regulations.

19. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the power to impose punishment, including termination or dismissal, vests only with the Regional Joint Director of Education under Regulation 53, whereas the Director (opposite party no.3) functions merely as an Appellate Authority. However, in the present case, the Director has illegally assumed the role of disciplinary authority and has passed the impugned order without conducting any departmental enquiry, without issuing any chargesheet and without affording any opportunity of hearing, rendering the impugned action wholly without jurisdiction, arbitrary and liable to be set aside.

20. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the respondents have failed to maintain any distinction or segregation between tainted and untainted candidates and have further not adhered to the established principles of the doctrine of proportionality as well as the Doonesbury principle. Had the respondents followed the procedure and guidelines laid down by the Apex Court, the impugned selection process would not have suffered from such infirmities.

21. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the respondents, by no stretch of imagination, can justify their actions by placing reliance upon advertisement no.6 of 2011 which pertains to the appointment of Principals. The said advertisement was subjected to judicial scrutiny and was held questionable vide order dated 25.10.2013 passed by the Hon'ble Court. However, it is pertinent to note that the Hon'ble High Court, in its findings, only observed the presence of overwriting in the examination process relating to the post of Principals.

22. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that most importantly, with regard to the post of Assistant Teachers, no questions were raised, nor were any discrepancies found or recorded by the Hon'ble High Court. Therefore, the advertisement relating to the post of Assistant Teachers could not have been cancelled on the basis of the aforesaid order, which was confined only to the post of Principal. Consequently, the respondents cannot rely upon the said order to justify the irregularities in the present selection process, which is otherwise arbitrary, unreasonable and unsustainable in the eyes of law.

23. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that in view of the settled position of law, the impugned order dated 25.06.2012 which proceeds to cancel the entire selection of Assistant Teachers without any segregation without any finding against the petitioners and without affording any opportunity of hearing ex facie arbitrary and liable to be set aside.

24. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that as a direct and inevitable consequence of the impugned order dated 25.06.2012 the petitioners have been illegally deprived of their service rights, inasmuch as their services stood effectively terminated without any lawful order of termination or adherence to due process of law. Despite the same, the petitioners have continuously been discharging their duties in the respective institutions and their services are being taken by the authorities till date without payment of salary. The withholding of salary, despite extraction of work, amounts to gross exploitation and is wholly arbitrary and unjust.

25. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the salaries of the petitioners have been arbitrarily withheld causing severe financial hardship and grave prejudice not only to the petitioners but also to their families. The said action of the respondents is violative of Articles 14 and 21 of the Constitution of India, as it deprives the petitioners of their livelihood without authority of law and compels them to work without remuneration which is impermissible in law.

26. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the entire sequence of events, as narrated hereinabove, unequivocally establishes that the petitioners were duly selected and appointed through a fair, transparent and lawful process strictly in accordance with the governing statutory Regulations, and had validly joined and commenced their services. However, despite such lawful appointment, the petitioners have been arbitrarily and illegally deprived of their service and salary by virtue of the impugned order dated 25.06.2012 which has been passed in gross violation of the principles of natural justice, without issuance of any notice, without affording any opportunity of hearing and without conducting any enquiry whatsoever. The said action of the respondents is thus wholly unjust, without jurisdiction and liable to be set aside by the Hon'ble Court.

27. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submitted that the impugned order dated 25.06.2012 was challenged before the Hon'ble High Court by two distinct sets of candidates, namely those selected on the post of Principal before the Allahabad High Court and those selected on the post of Assistant Teacher, including the petitioners herein before the Lucknow Bench. The Hon'ble Allahabad Bench in Writ-A No.45441 of 2012 vide judgment dated 18.01.2013 dismissed the writ petitions filed by candidates selected on the post of Principal.

However, a careful perusal of the said judgment clearly demonstrates that the entire controversy before the Hon'ble Court was confined exclusively to the selection and appointment on the post of Principal and the adjudication was undertaken only with respect to the selection process of Principals.

The Hon'ble Court, after summoning and examining the original records, recorded findings regarding alleged interpolation and manipulation in the marks awarded to candidates for the post of Principal, as reflected in the detailed charts forming part of the judgment.

Importantly, there is no finding whatsoever recorded in the said judgment in relation to the selection of Assistant Teachers under consideration before the Hon'ble Court. As such, the findings returned in the judgment dated 18.01.2013 are confined only to the selection of Principals and cannot, in any manner, be extended or applied to the independent and distinct selection process of Assistant Teachers, including that of the petitioners herein.

28. Learned counsel for the petitioners next submitted that both the aforesaid Special Appeals arose out of and were confined exclusively to the dispute relating to the selection and appointment on the post of Principal and the adjudication therein was limited only to the issues concerning the selection process of Principals. The Hon'ble Division Bench, while dismissing the appeals, did not examine or adjudicate upon the selection process of Assistant Teachers and the finding recorded therein pertains solely to the alleged irregularities in the selection of Principals. Accordingly, the said judgments are clearly distinguishable on facts and law and cannot be applied to the independent and distinct selection process of Assistant Teachers, including that of the petitioners herein.

29. Learned counsel for the petitioners next submitted that the entire adjudication undertaken by the Hon'ble Division Bench was confined only to the selection process of Principals, and the findings recorded therein are exclusively in relation to the alleged irregularities in the selection of Principals. No finding whatsoever has been recorded in respect of the independent and distinct selection process of Assistant Teachers, including that of the petitioners herein and therefore, the said judgment cannot be applied to the present case.

30. Learned counsel for the petitioners next submitted that the Hon'ble Court did not independently adjudicate upon or examine the selection process of Assistant Teachers, but dismissed the writ petitions primarily on the basis of the findings recorded by the Allahabad Bench in respect of the selection of Principals. Therefore, the said judgment cannot be treated as a conclusive adjudication on the independent and distinct selection process of Assistant Teachers, including that of the petitioners herein.

31. Learned counsel for the petitioners next submitted that the aforesaid proceedings before the Hon'ble Supreme Court arose out of and were confined to the dispute relating to the selection on the post of Principal, and the dismissal of the Special Leave Petition was in the context of findings recorded with respect to the selection of Principals alone. No adjudication whatsoever has been undertaken in respect of the independent and distinct selection process of Assistant Teachers, including that of the petitioners herein and therefore, the said has no application to the present case.

32. In support of her submission, learned counsel for the petitioners placed reliance upon the judgment in the case of State of Assam and others v. Arabinda Rabha and others reported in (2025)7 Supreme Court Cases 705.

33. On the other hand, learned Additional Advocate General submitted that there was only one Selection Committee for both posts that is of Principal and Assistant Teacher. The plea of two Selection Committee is after-thought of the petitioners.

34. Learned AAG next submitted that Hon'ble Single Judge deciding the Writ-A No.45441 of 2012 and Writ-A No.47323 of 2012 had examined the entire record which was one record relating to selection of Principal as well as of Assistant Teacher and found cutting in the marks awarded by the Members of the Selection Committee to give favour to some.

35. Learned AAG next submitted that the plea of the petitioners that the cancellation of their selection is in violation to Chapter 6 of the Regulations 2009 is not tenable for the reason that the entire selection is quashed under Regulation 15 of the Regulation, 2009 and it is not the case of punishment etc. where the provisions of Chapter 6 of the Regulations, 2009 are applicable.

36. Learned AAG next submitted that Hon'ble Supreme Court in re: Krishna Yadav v. State of Haryana reported in (1994)4 SCC 165 had held that records of selection was destroyed. On the background the Hon'ble Supreme Court had held that it is not possible to decide the case one way or other so the Hon'ble Supreme Court proceeded to decide the case on the basis of the CBI Report.

37. Learned AAG next submitted that Hon'ble Supreme Court came to the conclusion that there was mass irregularity and forgery in selection. Hence, the Hon'ble Supreme Court set aside the entire selection and yet further held that the effect of the setting aside the selection process is that the persons so selected would be required to disgorge the benefit of ill gotten gains.

38. Having heard the rival submissions of learned counsel for the parties, I have perused the material available on record as well as case-law cited by learned counsel for the petitioners.

39. To resolve the controversy involved in the present writ petition, operative portion of judgment rendered in the case of Arabinda Rabha (supra) relied upon by learned counsel for the petitioner is extracted here-in-below:

"53. There were no serious grievances of malpractices in Rajesh P.U.. In fact, this Court held that:

"6. ... Applying a unilaterally rigid and arbitrary standard to cancel the entirety of the selections despite the firm and positive information that except 31 of such selected candidates, no infirmity could be found with reference to others, is nothing but total disregard of relevancies and allowing to be carried away by irrelevancies, giving a complete go-by to contextual considerations throwing to the winds the principle of proportionality in going farther than what was strictly and reasonably to meet the situation."
(emphasis supplied)

It was concluded that:

"6. the competent authority completely misdirected itself in taking such an extreme and unreasonable decision of cancelling the entire selections, wholly unwarranted and unnecessary even on the factual situation found too, and totally in excess of the nature and gravity of what was at stake, thereby virtually rendering such decision to be irrational.” (emphasis supplied)

54. Para 35 of the decision in Sachin Kumar has been relied on. There, this Court held that:

“35. In deciding this batch of SLPs, we need not reinvent the wheel. Over the last five decades, several decisions of this Court have dealt with the fundamental issue of when the process of an examination can stand vitiated. Essentially, the answer to the issue turns upon whether the irregularities in the process have taken place at a systemic level so as to vitiate the sanctity of the process. There are cases which border upon or cross over into the domain of fraud as a result of which the credibility and legitimacy of the process is denuded. This constitutes one end of the spectrum where the authority conducting the examination or convening the selection process comes to the conclusion that as a result of supervening event or circumstances, the process has lost its legitimacy, leaving no option but to cancel it in its entirety. Where a decision along those lines is taken, it does not turn upon a fact-finding exercise into individual acts involving the use of malpractices or unfair means. Where a recourse to unfair means has taken place on a systemic scale, it may be difficult to segregate the tainted from the untainted participants in the process. Large-scale irregularities including those which have the effect of denying equal access to similarly circumstanced candidates are suggestive of a malaise which has eroded the credibility of the process. At the other end of the spectrum are cases where some of the participants in the process who appear at the examination or selection test are guilty of irregularities. In such a case, it may well be possible to segregate persons who are guilty of wrongdoing from others who have adhered to the rules and to exclude the former from the process. In such a case, those who are innocent of wrongdoing should not pay a price for those who are actually found to be involved in irregularities. By segregating the wrongdoers, the selection of the untainted candidates can be allowed to pass muster by taking the selection process to its logical conclusion. This is not a mere matter of administrative procedure but as a principle of service jurisprudence it finds embodiment in the constitutional duty by which public bodies have to act fairly and reasonably. A fair and reasonable process of selection to posts subject to the norm of equality of opportunity under Article 16(1) is a constitutional requirement. A fair and reasonable process is a fundamental requirement of Article 14 as well. Where the recruitment to public employment stands vitiated as a consequence of systemic fraud or irregularities, the entire process becomes illegitimate. On the other hand, where it is possible to segregate persons who have indulged in malpractices and to penalise them for their wrongdoing, it would be unfair to impose the burden of their wrongdoing on those who are free from taint. To treat the innocent and the wrongdoers equally by subjecting the former to the consequence of the cancellation of the entire process would be contrary to Article 14 because unequals would then be treated equally. The requirement that a public body must act in fair and reasonable terms animates the entire process of selection. The decisions of the recruiting body are hence subject to judicial control subject to the settled principle that the recruiting authority must have a measure of discretion to take decisions in accordance with law which are best suited to preserve the sanctity of the process. Now it is in the backdrop of these principles, that it becomes appropriate to advert to the precedents of this Court which hold the field.”

(emphasis supplied)

55. What follows from the above is that each case has to be decided on its own peculiar facts. It has to be pleaded and proved to the satisfaction of the Court that the decision of the recruiting authority (to cancel the entire process because of wrongdoing by some tainted elements and not save a part of the process, to the extent it could be saved, to the utter detriment of the interests of the innocent) is wholly disproportionate to the risk and overly severe relative to what is at stake, thereby virtually rendering such decision to be irrational.

56. Based on what has been discussed in the paragraphs preceding consideration of the authorities cited by Mr Goswami, the appellants' decision in cancelling the entire selection process initiated vide the advertisement dated 23-7-2014 relying on the note of the PCCF dated 4-7-2016, and not part of it, in our considered opinion, does not seem to be either arbitrary or unreasonable or without any sense of proportion. Since the earlier process did border on fraud, in the light of the reservation policy not being respected and observance of the decisions of this Court (that meritorious reserved category candidates are entitled to be accommodated in the open category) in breach, there was a brazen violation which was sought to be corrected and, if we may say, justifiably so. It has not been proved to our satisfaction that the impugned decision of cancelling the select list is the neat result of an injudicious exercise of discretion and was ill-directed in the guise of achieving the sanctity of the entire selection process.

57. *The broad issue and Issue (a) (see para 20.1) are, thus, answered in favour of the appellants by holding that the impugned decision of cancellation was neither unjustified nor was one which could be upset by applying the doctrines of either Wednesbury [Associated Provincial Picture Houses Ltd. v. Wednesbury Corpn., (1948) 1 KB 223 (CA)] unreasonableness or proportionality.*

58. Since we find Question (b) (see para 20.2) to be a question of frequent occurrence engaging the courts of law, it is considered fruitful to take it up for an answer now. It has been argued that by dint of mere empanelment/enlistment of an aspirant's name for filling up a public post, no right accrues in favour of such an aspirant to move the writ court for redress. We do not consider that an empanelled or a selected candidate has absolutely no right to move the writ court.

59. *We are conscious of the line of decisions of this Court and have noted some of them here, which lay down the law that mere empanelment/enlistment does not result in accrual of any indefeasible right in favour of such empanelled/selected candidate as well as the law that the employer may, in its wisdom, either decide to cancel the select list or not carry on the process further resulting in the notified/advertised vacancy/vacancies not being filled up pursuant to the selection process, which has been conducted. What it means is that an empanelled/selected candidate can claim no right of appointment, if the State has cogent and germane grounds for not making the appointment. However, at the same time, it is also the law that the appointing authority cannot ignore the select panel or decline to make the appointment on its whims. Shankarsan Dash cautions that the State has no licence to act in an arbitrary manner. In R.S. Mittal v. Union of India, a coordinate Bench held that when a person has been selected by the Selection Board and there is a vacancy which can be offered to him, keeping in view his merit position, then, ordinarily, there is no justification to ignore him for appointment and that there has to be a justifiable reason to decline to appoint a person who is on the select panel. The position in law finds reiteration in a decision of recent origin in Dinesh Kumar Kashyap v. South East Central Railway, where the majority held that the employer must give cogent reasons for not appointing selected candidates."*

40. Perusal of the above-extracted judgments shows that apply a unilaterally standard to cancel the entirety of the selections despite the firm and positive information that no infirmity could be found with reference to others is nothing but total disregard of irrelevancies and allowing to be carried away by irrelevancies, giving a complete go-by to contextual considerations throwing to the winds the principle of proportionality in going farther than what was strictly and reasonably to meet the situation.

41. It also shows that there are cases which border upon or cross over into the domain of fraud as a result of which the credibility and legitimacy of the process is denuded. This constitutes one end of the spectrum where the authority conducting the examining or convening the selection process comes to the conclusion that as a result of supervening event or circumstances, the process has lost its legitimacy, leaving no option but to cancel it in its entirety. Where a decision along those lines is taken, it does not turn upon a fact-finding exercise into individual acts involving the use of malpractices or unfair means. Where a recourse to unfair means has taken place on a systemic scale, it may be difficult to segregate the tainted from the untainted participants in the process. Large-scale irregularities including those which have the effect of denying equal access to similarly circumstanced candidates are suggestive of a malaise which has eroded the credibility of the process. At the other ends of the spectrum are cases where some of the participants in the process who appear at the examination or selection test are guilty of irregularities. In such a case it may well be possible to segregate persons who are guilty of wrongdoing should not pay a price for those who are actually found to be involved in irregularities.

42. Perusal of the record shows that the State Government issued a notification dated 15.1.2010 which governs the procedure for appointment of Assistant Teachers and Principals in Sanskrit Institution including the Institutions in question. Vacancies relating to the post of Head of the Institution were duly published on 19.09.2011 and 20.09.2011 in the daily newspaper 'Pioneer'. Thereafter, vacancies for the post of Assistant Teacher were published on 27.09.2011 in the daily newspaper 'Amar Ujala'. On 20.11.2011, the Selection Committee conducted the selection proceedings and after that, Joint Director of Education, Azamgarh Division, Azamgarh issued the final selection panel dated 12.12.2011 recommending the names of the petitioners for appointment on the post of Assistant Teachers in the respective Institutions.

The respective Committee of Management of the concerned Institution issued appointment letters to the petitioners and the petitioners joined their posts on 24.12.2011 and discharged their duties in the Institutions and paid salary regularly.

The Director of Education (Secondary), U.P., Lucknow issued a communication dated 26.03.2012 whereby on the basis of certain complaints alleging irregularities in the selection process, concerned Authorities were directed to produce the entire record. Thereafter, the District Inspector of Schools proceeded to withhold the salary of the petitioners on the basis of communication and without issuing any independent orders and without affording opportunity of hearing.

Unselected candidates challenging Advertisement No.6 of 2011 pertaining to the post of Principal and Advertisement No.7 of 2011 pertaining to the post of Assistant Teacher filed Writ-A No.16645 of 2012 titled 'Smt. Kiran Gupta and others v. State of U.P. and others' wherein the Hon^{ble} High Court at Allahabad vide order dated 4.4.2012 was pleased to dispose of the writ petition with a direction to the Director of Education (Secondary), U.P., Allahabad to consider and decide the representation of the petitioners by passing a reasoned and speaking order.

Thereafter, petitioners approached this Court by filing several writ petitions including Writ Petition No.2744(SS) of 2012 challenging communication letter dated 26.03.2012 issued by the Director of Education (Secondary), U.P., Lucknow wherein vide order dated 29.5.2012, this Court was pleased to issue notice and grant interim order.

Thereafter, an order dated 25.06.2012 which is impugned in this writ petition has been passed by the Director of Education (Secondary), U.P., Lucknow cancelling the entire selection process.

43. I have examined the entire materials on record in the light of the judgments relied upon by learned counsel for the petitioners.

44. On examination, it is found that record in regard to the selection on the post of Principal has been produced by the respondents at every stage of adjudication, but no record in regard to selection on the post of Assistant Teachers has been produced at any stage of adjudication either before this Court or before Hon^{ble} High Court at Allahabad.

45. Vide order dated 10.09.2019, this Court granted time to counsel for the respondents to file supplementary counter affidavit by making specific averments about record of selection of Assistant Teachers and in pursuance thereof, supplementary counter affidavit has been filed to the effect that record of selection of Assistant Teachers is also missing and an F.I.R. has been lodged against a dead person which reflects misrepresentation of fact before this Court.

46. It is admitted position between the parties that the record in regard to selection on the post of Assistant Teachers has never been produced before this Court, Division Bench of this Court and High Court at Allahabad for adjudication and the record only in regard to selection on the post of Principal has been produced for consideration.

47. On a pointed query made to learned AAG that was there separate vacancy in regard to Assistant Teacher; selection process was separately concluded, he said that there was separate vacancy in regard to Assistant Teacher and selection process was conducted separately.

48. It is also found that the impugned order dated 25.06.2012 has been passed by the opposite party no.2 in a wholly arbitrary, illegal manner without issuing any notice whatsoever and in complete violation of principles of natural justice. The said order proceeds to cancel the entire selection process without recording any specific finding of irregularities or manipulation in the selection of the petitioners/ Assistant Teachers, except with respect to three individuals namely Sri Brijesh Kumar, Ms. Ragini Rai and Sri Ajay Kumar Yadv without any segregation between tainted and non-tainted candidates.

49. In the case of Arabinda Rabha (supra), the Hon^{ble} Supreme Court categorically held that where allegations of irregularities are confined to a limited number of candidates, the authorities are under a legal obligation to segregate tainted candidates from untainted ones, and blanket or wholesale cancellation of the entire selection process, without such segregation is arbitrary and unsustainable in law. It has also been emphasized that innocent and duly selected candidates cannot be made to suffer for alleged irregularities attributable to others or to the administrative authorities themselves. In this view of the matter, the judgment relied upon by learned counsel for the petitioners is fully applicable to the present facts and circumstances of the case.

50. It has also been held in a catena of judgments that even in cases of alleged irregularities, compliance with the principles of natural justice and no adverse action affecting the rights of selected candidates can be taken without affording them an opportunity of hearing. Where the records are either missing or manipulated due to lapse of such uncertainty cannot be shifted upon the candidates and the State must bear the consequences of its own failure.

In these circumstances, the impugned order dated 25.06.2012 is liable to be set aside on the ground that it has been passed in complete violation of the principles of natural justice. No show cause notice was ever issued to the petitioners, no opportunity of hearing was afforded, and no enquiry whatsoever was conducted prior to passing the impugned order. It is a settled principle of law that any order having civil consequences must conform to the principles of audi alteram partem. The impugned order which has resulted in termination of service and deprivation of salary, has been passed in flagrant violation of such principles and is therefore vitiated in law.

51. It is also very important to mention here that the impugned order has been passed by an Authority wholly lacking jurisdiction under the governing Regulations. The Director (Secondary Education) is neither the appointing authority nor the disciplinary Authority under the Regulations. The power to impose punishment, including termination or dismissal, vests exclusively with the Regional Joint Director of Education under Regulation 53, whereas the Director functions only as an Appellate Authority. Once the selection process stood completed and the petitioners had already joined service, the Director had no authority to cancel the entire selection. The impugned action is thus ultra vires and without jurisdiction.

52. The impugned order also suffers from the vice of arbitrariness inasmuch as the entire selection across five divisions has been cancelled on the basis of alleged irregularities pertaining to only a few individuals. No attempt has been made to segregate tainted candidates from untainted candidates, nor has any finding been recorded against the petitioners. It is settled law that innocent candidates cannot be penalized for alleged irregularities of others. The blanket cancellation is thus arbitrary, disproportionate and violative of Article 14 of the Constitution of India.

Where it is possible to segregate persons who have indulged in malpractices and to penalise them for their wrongdoing, it would be unfair to impose the burden of their wrongdoing on those who are free from taint. To treat the innocent and the wrongdoers equally by subjecting the former to the consequence of the cancellation of the entire process would be contrary to Article 14 because unequals would then be treated equally.

53. The requirement that a public body must act in fair and reasonable terms animates the entire process of selection. The decision of the recruiting body are hence subject to judicial control subject to the settled principle that the recruiting authority must have a measure of discretion to take decisions in accordance with law which are best suited to preserve the sanctity of the process.

Now it is in the backdrop of these principles that it become appropriate to advert to the precedents of this Court which hold the field.

54. The impugned order dated 25.06.2012 which proceeds to cancel the entire selection of Assistant Teachers without any segregation, without any finding against the petitioners and without affording opportunity of hearing, is ex facie arbitrary, illegal and is liable to be set aside.

55. Considering in totalities of the facts and circumstances of the case, this Court is of the considered opinion that there is no finding whatsoever recorded in the judgment passed by the High Court at Allahabad in relation to the selection of Assistant Teachers, nor was the selection of Assistant Teachers under consideration before the Court. This Court is also of the considered opinion that the findings returned in the judgment dated 18.01.2013 are confined only to the selection of Principals and cannot, in any manner, be extended or applied to the independent and distinct process of Assistant Teachers, including that of the petitioners.

56. Accordingly, all the writ petitions succeed and are allowed. Impugned order dated 25.6.2012 passed by the Director of Education (Secondary), U.P., Lucknow (respondent no.2) as contained in Annexure no.1 to the writ petition is quashed only so far it relates to the selection of Assistant Teachers.

57. However, the respondents are directed to release and disburse the entire outstanding salary and all consequential dues payable to the petitioners from September, 2017 till date, forthwith, as the petitioners have been continuously discharging their duties without payment within a period of three weeks from the date of production of a certified copy of this order and pay regular salary month by month.

Issue for Consideration

- (1) Entitlement of Part-time Instructors to get renewal of service.
- (2) Validity of the impugned order refusing grant of renewal to the Part-time Instructors on the ground that the strength of students was reduced below one hundred.

Headnotes

(A) Service law – Renewal of service – Entitlement – Part-time instructors were disengaged from service on the ground that the strength of students was reduced below one hundred – Validity challenged – Plea raised that no such condition is mentioned in the GO dated 31.01.2013 to not to renew appointment in the event the strength of students decreases below 100 – Permissibility: (E-1)

Held: The engagement is purely contractual, ordinarily for a fixed term of 11 months, and is subject to renewal upon fulfillment of the conditions stipulated in Clause 6 of the Government Order. The renewal of part-time instructors is contingent upon the availability of requisite students' strength, existence of requirement/ vacancy, and satisfactory performance and verification of the instructor concerned. [Para 18]

Further held: Solely, a part-time instructor be not held responsible for reduction in students strength. His/her role is to impart teaching to the students and not to manage other institutional affairs, thus, the disengagement of a part-time instructor on the ground of drop in numbers of students is not only arbitrary but also unjust as there are several other factors also, which may often be out of his/ her control and contribute in declining students strength – Although no enforceable right of renewal accrues to the petitioners where the foundational condition of student strength of 100 or more is not satisfied, yet in light of the apparent inconsistency in implementation and in order to ensure fairness in administrative action, it would be appropriate to remit the matter to the competent authority for reconsideration. [Para 20 and 21]

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Manju Rani Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Mrs. Durga Tiwari and Mr. Sanjay Kumar, learned counsel for the petitioners, Mr. L.M. Singh, learned Standing Counsel for the State, Mr. Saurabh Sachan holding brief of Mr. Ajeet Singh and Mr. Ritesh Singh holding brief of Ms. Rishu Mishra and Mr. N.K. Pandey, learned counsel for the respondents.

2. In the above-mentioned three petitions, the petitioners have sought relief for their continuance as part-time instructors in their respective districts. By the orders impugned, renewal of services of the petitioners on the post of part-time instructors has been terminated on the ground that the strength of students has reduced below one hundred.

3. The petitioners have approached this Court claiming that in furtherance of the constitutional goal as enshrined under Article 21A of the Constitution of India, the Central Government has framed an Act in the name of Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. In furtherance of the said Act, the State Government issued Government Order dated 31.01.2013 sanctioning 41307 posts of part time instructors for imparting education i.e. Art Education, Health and Physical Education and Work Education. The State Government in pursuance of the said Government Order dated 31.01.2013 issued an advertisement inviting applications from eligible candidates for appointment on the posts of part time instructors. The petitioners being eligible, applied and were selected on the post of part time instructors.

4. To understand the controversy, facts of each petition are being enumerated, in brief, separately, which are as follows:

4.1 The petitioners in Writ-A No. 24985 of 2017 were engaged for the academic session 2013-14 on the posts of part-time instructors. Their services were renewed up till 2015-16, however, no renewal was made for the academic session 2016-17 on the ground that strength of students in their institutions had gone below 100. Aggrieved therefrom, they preferred Writ-A No. 57096 of 2016. The said writ petition was disposed of by order dated 05.12.2016, wherein a direction was issued to the petitioners to file individual applications before the competent authority raising all their grievances, which were directed to be decided by a reasoned and speaking order. Petitioner's representations have been rejected by the order impugned, which is being assailed in the writ petition.

4.2 The petitioner - Neetu in Writ-A No. 7819 of 2020 was appointed as part-time instructor for Art Education in Upper Primary School, Panwari, Gunnaur, District Sambhal. Her services were renewed from time to time up till the academic session 2017-2018. However, her services have not been renewed for the academic session 2019-2020. Thereafter, the petitioner submitted an application on 04.11.2019 before respondent no. 3, but the same has failed to elicit any response.

4.3 The petitioners in Writ-A No. 13532 of 2018 were initially appointed as part-time instructors on 29.06.2013. Their services were renewed from time to time up till the academic session 2017-18, however, pursuant to order dated 28.10.2017, the respondent authorities stopped the teaching work and marking attendance in the concerned register. Aggrieved thereby the petitioners filed Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 1393 of 2018, which was disposed by order dated 11.01.2018 with a direction to the authority concerned to decide petitioners' claim/ representation. Pursuant thereto, the respondent no. 4 has passed the impugned order dated 16.03.2018 which is impugned in the present writ petition.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioners submit that no such condition is mentioned in the Government Order dated 31.01.2013 or any subsequent orders or circulars, where, in the event the strength of students decreases below 100, the appointment of the part-time instructors shall not be renewed. As per Sections 19 and 25 and the Schedule appended to the Right of Children of Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009, where students were more than 100, the part-time teachers were to be appointed. The renewal of part time instructors is governed by Clause-6 of the Government order dated 31.01.2013, which reads as follows:

“6. अंशकालिक अनुदेशकों का कार्यकाल--

(1) अंशकालिक अनुदेशकों का कार्यकाल अधिकतम 11 माह का होगा एवं किसी भी शैक्षिक सत्र में 31 मई को स्वतः समाप्त हो जायेगा तदनुसार अंशकालिक अनुदेशकों को 31 मई तक मानदेय देय होगा।

(2) अंशकालिक अनुदेशकों के नवीनीकरण की कार्यवाही प्रत्येक वर्ष संविदा समाप्त होने के कम से कम एक माह पूर्व अवश्य प्रारम्भ की जाये एवं जिलाधिकारी की अनुमति से नवीनीकरण की कार्यवाही सुनिश्चित की जाये।

(3) जिन अंशकालिक अनुदेशकों की सेवाएं उपयुक्त न पाई जाये उनके सम्बन्ध में पत्रावली पर साक्ष्य सहित आकलन किया जाये। एकाएक सेवा समाप्त न की जायेगी अपितु ऐसे कर्मों को अपनी सेवा में सुधार लाने के लिये सुझाव / चेतावनी जिलाधिकारी की अनुमति से जिला बेसिक शिक्षा अधिकारी द्वारा लिखित रूप में दी जायेगी। यदि अनुदेशक की सेवाएं अनुपयुक्त पायी जाती है तो जिलाधिकारी के पूर्व अनुमोदन से जिला बेसिक शिक्षा अधिकारी द्वारा उसे एक माह का नोटिस देकर सेवाओं को समाप्त किया जायेगा।

(4) गंभीर अनुशासनहीनता की स्थिति में यदि सेवा समाप्त करने की आवश्यकता प्रतीत होती है तो जिला बेसिक शिक्षा अधिकारी द्वारा पुष्ट प्रमाणों सहित स्वतः स्पष्ट प्रस्ताव जिलाधिकारी को प्रस्तुत किया जायेगा। संविदा समाप्ति हेतु निर्गत आदेश जिलाधिकारी के अनुमोदन के उपरान्त ही मान्य होगा।“

6. As per the aforesaid condition, there was no requirement of rejecting the renewal of services of the petitioners, in case students' strength in the institution goes below 100. The strength of students prescribed in the Schedule is only for the purposes of initial inspection of the institution, in which part-time instructors are to be appointed.

7. Learned counsel relying upon a judgment of Apex Court in the case of U.P. Junior High School Council Instructor Welfare Association v. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, submits that while deciding the issue regarding enhancement of honorarium, the Court has observed that the part-time instructors / teachers appointed pursuant to the relevant Government order are to be treated at par with other teachers as they possess the basic educational qualification and eligibility as set out by the National Council for Teacher Education⁵ which are at par with the norms laid down for appointment of regular teachers.

8. It has been further observed in the aforementioned case that part-time contractual instructors/ teachers appointed by the State Government under the Scheme are in no way inferior to the regular teachers or the Assistant Teachers appointed otherwise under the scheme. The Apex Court has gone to the extent of observing that the part-time contractual instructors/ teachers cannot be treated as part time teachers even though they are described as such so far. It is for the simple reason that Clause 5 of their service contract stipulates that they are being appointed with the condition that they would not directly or indirectly take up any part time appointment or full-time job anywhere else. The moment Government prohibits these instructors/teachers from taking any part time or full-time job anywhere else, they should de facto be treated as full time teachers. Thus, it is only a difference of the nomenclature hence the rejection of renewal on the basis of reduced strength of students is bad in the eyes of law.

9. Learned counsel for the petitioners further submit that that the petitioners have worked for more than three years and their renewal has been rejected on a non-existent ground i.e. reduction of students strength below 100, about which there is no whisper in the Government Order, pursuant to which they have been appointed, and also neither in any of the provisions as framed under the RTE Act, 2009 nor by the norms as set out by the NCTE.

10. Learned counsel for the petitioners has also relied upon a judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Jaggo v. Union of India and others, wherein it has been observed that it is a hard reality that temporary employees, particularly in Government institutions often face multifaceted forms of exploitation which include misuse of “temporary labels”, “lack of career progression” and “denial of basic rights and benefits”. It further observed that employees engaged for work which is essentially recurring and integral to the functioning of an institution are often labeled as “temporary” or “contractual” employees even though their roles mirror those of regular employees. Such deceptive description of the employees deprives them of their dignity, security and benefits that other regular employees are entitled to, despite performing identical duties. These employees often find themselves excluded from opportunities for skill development, promotions or incremental pay raises, and they remain stagnant in their roles. They are deprived of fundamental benefits such a pension, provident fund, health insurance and paid leave even though they work for decades resulting in social insecurity.

11. Learned counsel for the petitioner appearing in the connected petition i.e. Writ-A No. 7819 of 2020, relied upon a judgement of this Court passed in the case of Pradeep Kumar and 9 others v. State of U.P. and 4 others, as decided on 27.11.2018, wherein the order cancelling renewal has been set aside directing the authorities to consider the appointment of the petitioners therein as part time instructors in case they apply in pursuance of any future advertisement. In the Special Appeal Defective No. 414 of 2019, a Division Bench of this Court modified the order passed by the writ Court dated 27.11.2018 to the extent that the authorities were directed to consider the candidature of the petitioners/ appellants therein for renewal of contract as per Clause-6 of the Government Order dated 31.01.2013.

12. Learned counsel for the petitioners submit that initially the petitioners were appointed for a period of 11 months and their services were renewed only after finding that they had put in satisfactory service. In case of any complaint or unsatisfactory work, if done by the part time instructors, a notice should have been given to them and after approval by the District Magistrate, action of giving warning or dispensing with their services, would have been taken.

13. Learned counsel for the petitioners further contend that in view of the above the impugned order is liable to be set aside.

14. Learned counsel for the respondents submits that under the RTE Act, 2009, the Schedule of Sections 19 and 25 clearly mandates where the number of students in the institution is more than 100, the aforesaid provision will apply and one teacher for every thirty-five children, and for those subjects 01-01 part time instructor will be appointed on the basis of contract, but if the condition specified in the Act regarding number of students is not fulfilled, the aforesaid will not apply and no part time instructor will be appointed. One such issue came before the Court, and in pursuance of the directions issued by the Court, a District Level Committee looked into scheme of part time instructors therein, and held if the number of students is more than 100, services of the part time teachers will be renewed.

15. The judgments as relied upon by learned counsel for the petitioners in Writ-A No. 7819 of 2020 do not relate to the issue in question as in those cases due to unsatisfactory services of part-time instructors, the renewal was not done.

16. The deterioration in the strength of students can be interpreted in so many words as non-satisfactory services of the petitioners hence there is no illegality in the order impugned.

17. I have considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

18. Upon perusal of the Government Order dated 31.01.2013, it is evident that the scheme provides for engagement of part time instructors on the basis of student strength, generally at the ratio of one instructor per 100 students. The engagement is purely contractual, ordinarily for a fixed term of 11 months, and is subject to renewal upon fulfillment of the conditions stipulated in Clause-6 of the Government Order. The renewal of part-time instructors is contingent upon the availability of requisite students□ strength, existence of requirement/ vacancy, and satisfactory performance and verification of the instructor concerned.

19. The scheme being need-based, the continuation of engagement is intrinsically linked with the existence of such need. Once the students□ strength falls below the prescribed threshold, the very basis of engagement ceases to exist. In such circumstances, the respondents cannot ordinarily be compelled to continue the engagement, as the same would be contrary to the governing policy. It is a settled principle of law that a contractual appointee does not have a vested right to renewal or continuation unless such right is specifically conferred by statute or policy, which is not the case herein. However, this Court finds substance in the contention of learned counsel for the petitioners that similarly situated persons have been permitted to continue despite identical circumstances. Furthermore, a perusal of the Government Order dated 31.01.2013 does not specifically stipulate in Clause-6 that upon reduction of students strength below the prescribed limit, the services of part-time instructors shall, mandatorily not be continued.

20. If a school loses students strength, it may be considered as a failure on the part of entire teaching staff and not only on the part of part-time instructors. Thus, to achieve the real object of the RTE Act, 2009, facilities in Government institutions should be improved to make them more competitive with private institutions, which would surely be helpful in maintaining students strength. Solely, a part-time instructor be not held responsible for reduction in students strength. His/ her role is to impart teaching to the students and not to manage other institutional affairs, thus, the disengagement of a part-time instructor on the ground of drop in numbers of students is not only arbitrary but also unjust as there are several other factors also, which may often be out of his/ her control and contribute in declining students strength.

21. Although no enforceable right of renewal accrues to the petitioners where the foundational condition of student strength of 100 or more is not satisfied, yet in light of the apparent inconsistency in implementation and in order to ensure fairness in administrative action, it would be appropriate to remit the matter to the competent authority for reconsideration.

22. Accordingly, the orders impugned dated 20.02.2017 and 16.03.2018 are quashed. The concerned competent authorities are directed to consider the case of the petitioners afresh, in accordance with law, keeping in view the observations made hereinabove as well as the principles laid down by the Apex Court in U.P. Junior High School Council Instructor Welfare Association (supra) and Jaggo (supra), and to pass a reasoned and speaking order within a period of six weeks from the date of production of a certified copy of this order.

23. The writ petitions are, accordingly, disposed of.

24. No order as to costs.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether sale deeds executed by the mother, acting as guardian of her minor sons, in respect of their shares in ancestral holdings without permission of the competent court and not for the benefit of the minors but for repayment of debts incurred by their deceased father, were void or merely voidable; and whether the sons, after attaining majority, could claim co-tenancy rights in the disputed plots during consolidation proceedings despite having failed to challenge or repudiate such sale deeds within a reasonable time.

HEADNOTE

U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 – ss.9-A(2), 48 – U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 – Sale of minor’s share by mother acting as guardian – Adya Shanker, Kripa Shanker and Radhe Mohan filed objections under Section 9-A(2) claiming rights in the disputed plots on the ground that the land was ancestral property and that sale deeds executed by Mst. Chamela Devi and others included shares belonging to the objectors – It was pleaded that Mst. Chamela Devi had executed the sale deeds without permission of the competent court and that the transfers were not for the benefit of the minors but for repayment of debts incurred by their deceased father – Consolidation Officer partly allowed the objections and determined shares of the parties – Settlement Officer of Consolidation allowed the appeals filed by the vendees and restored the basic year entries holding that the objectors had failed to challenge the sale deeds within the prescribed period after attaining majority – Deputy Director of Consolidation, in revision, restored the order of the Consolidation Officer holding that Mst. Chamela Devi had no authority to transfer the shares of her minor sons and that their rights in the ancestral property had not been extinguished – Challenge in writ jurisdiction – Justification:

Held: Held: Mst. Chamela had executed sale deeds of the shares of her minor children also without any permission of the competent authority and that the purpose of the sale deeds was not for any benefit of the minor children rather to repay debt taken by her late husband – Nature of such sale deeds was voidable – A voidable transaction executed by the guardian of the minor can be repudiated and ignored by the minor within time on attaining majority either by instituting a suit for setting aside the voidable transaction or by repudiating the same by his unequivocal conduct – In the instant case, Adya Shanker and Kripa Shanker could have questioned the sale deeds when they became major, though they did not take any effort to challenge them for many years – Adya Shanker and Kripa Shanker became major in the years 1962 and 1965 respectively but did not take any steps when they attained majority and did not repudiate the voidable transactions by their conduct – A suit instituted by them was also dismissed – They, therefore, lost their rights, if any, in the land sold by their mother.

Court further held that the finding of the Revisional Authority that the mother of the minor children had no right to execute the sale deeds would not be sufficient – A further consideration was required as to whether the minor children had taken any step to challenge the sale deeds or had repudiated the voidable transactions by any conduct after attaining majority – Since that aspect was not considered, findings recorded by the Deputy Director of Consolidation were not legally justified – Order of Deputy Director of Consolidation set aside – Writ petitions allowed – Consolidation Officer directed to redistribute shares in accordance with law. From the order dated 25.05.1979 passed by the Deputy Director of Consolidation, Varanasi in Revision arising out of the order dated 14.02.1978 passed by the Settlement Officer of Consolidation and the order dated 22.12.1976 passed by the Consolidation Officer.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Petitioner: Anil Kumar Singh, Jagdish Singh, Sushma Devi

Advs. for the Respondents: Manish Kumar Srivastava, S.C.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Shyam Shamshery, J.)

1. Petitioners in all writ petitions have purchased lands through various sale deeds executed by different family members of pedigree of one Brij Mohan of different Gata of Khata Nos. 43, 43(Kha), 44(Ga), 62, 68, 60, 63 and 58 of village Sindhora, Pargana Kolasla, District Varanasi (hereinafter referred as 'disputed plots').

2. For proper understanding, undisputed pedigree of said Brij Mohan is quoted below :-

3. Adya Shanker, Kripa Shanker and Radhe Mohan have filed objections u/s 9A(2) of U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 (UPCH Act) and claimed shares in disputed plots on basis of an allegation that it was an ancestral property in the hands of their father Ram Nath and his brother namely Vishwanath and they were entitled to their share as they born before date of vesting and sale deed executed in favour of vendees so far as father of Radhe Mohan was concerned (i.e. Ram Nath) as well as sale deed executed by mother of Adya Shankar and Kripa Shankar was concerned and that their right as minor ought to have been retested in regard to their respective share, was illegal and they claimed their respective share on disputed plots.

4. All vendees i.e. petitioners have contested objections that disputed plots were not an ancestral land. It was their personal acquisition and all sale deeds were valid and legal. Objectors have no share in disputed plots.

5. The Consolidation Officer considered respective objections and framed as many as 23 issues in relation to different Khatas and after considering statement of witnesses, held that widow Chamela Devi had no right to sale shares of Adya Shanker and Kripa Shanker being her minor sons at relevant time as well as that land sold by Ram Nath and Vishwanath have also included shares of Sheo Nandan and accordingly they have sold land in excess of their respective shares, therefore, accordingly distributed shares to all parties. 6. Against aforesaid order dated 12.12.1976, six Appeals were filed by different vendees and one by Adya Shanker also. The Settlement Officer of Consolidation had allowed Appeal Nos. 3990 (Sankatha vs. Lallua), 3989 (Raghunath vs. Adya), 3999 (Raka vs. Adya), 3998 (Vipat vs. Adya), 3997 (Hori vs. Adya), however, Appeal No. 4083 (Adya vs. Sankatha) was rejected and accordingly, shares were re-distributed. For reference, relevant part of order of S.O.C. is quoted below :-

दोनो पक्षो के विद्वान अभिवक्ता के तर्कों के सुनने के बाद निष्कर्ष पर पहुचा हूँ कि बैनामा राम नाथ विश्वनाथ ने १९५५-५६ में किया है, बैनामे के आधार पर दाखिल खारिज होकर अपीलकर्ता का नाम अंकित हो चुका है। राम नाथ विश्वनाथ, राधे मोहन, आद्या शंकर कृपा शंकर के पिता थे और उन्होंने १९५५-५६ में ही बैनामा कर दिया बैनामों के आधार पर बदर कब्जे में है। रामनाथ, विश्वनाथ भूमिधर हो जाने के बाद बैनामे करने के हकदार हो जाते हैं। यू०पी० जमींदारी विनाश अधिनियम के लागू हो जाने के बाद हिन्दू कानून इस भूमि में लागू नहीं करेगा। क्योंकि वह एक स्पेशल एक्ट बनाया गया था राम नाथ विश्वनाथ को बैनामा किया । उनके वारिसान का कोई अंश नहीं होता । क्योंकि १९५५ से बादी का बेदार काबिज है और उसका नाम खाते में दर्ज हो चुका है। इस प्रकार एडवर्स पजेशन में होने की वजह से वादी का हक पूर्ण हो जाता है।

जहाँ तक तीन खातों में खाता संख्या ४३घ, ६२, ६३ के बैनामे का प्रश्न है। उस समय राधे मोहन बालिग होकर बैनामा किया है। और आद्या , कृपा शंकर की तरफ से मु० चमेली ने बैनामा लिखा है और यह बैनामा चमेली नाबालिग की संरक्षिका थी क्योंकि वह उसकी माता भी थी आद्या ने अपने बयान में अपने

खानदान का सजरा दिया है। और कहा कि आराजी निजाई उनकी मौरूसी जायदाद है। उनका अंश विवादित खातों में बताया है। जिरह में गवाह ने बताया कि जब पिता मरे तब दोनों भाई छोटे थे। खाने खर्च की व्यवस्था माँ करती थी उसके बड़ी बहन की शादी माँ के संरक्षण में हुयी उसकी माँ के पास खेती बारी के अलावा और कोई कारोबार नहीं है। यह भी कहा कि माँ से धोखे से फर्जी बैनामा करा लिया है। जिसको दावा किया गया था। नाबालिगी में हम लोगों का सारा कारोबार उसकी माँ करती थी। जो इन्तजाम उसकी माँ करती थी हम लोगों के हित में करती थी इस प्रकार आदया के बयान से स्पष्ट है कि बैनामा मु० चमेली ने बतौर संरक्षिका किया है। उसने बैनामा नाबालिगों के फायदे के लिये किया गया आदया के पिता के मरने के बाद नाबालिगों को देख भाल का भार चमेली के ऊपर था और उन्होंने गवाहों से रुपया लेकर जमीन बेच दिया। इसलिये बैनामा नाबालिगों के फायदे के लिये किया गया। आदया के बयानों से यह बात भी स्पष्ट है कि उनकी नाबालिगों में उनकी माँ ही संरक्षिका थी। इससे यह साबित हो जाता है कि राधे मोहन ने बालिग होने पर बैनामा किया है तथा नाबालिगों की तरफ से मु० चमेली ने सही बैनामा किया है आदया की पैदाइश दिनांक १५-१-४४ में लिखी गयी है और कृपा शंकर १९४७ में लिखा गया है। आदया १९६२ में बालिग हो गये और कृपा शंकर १९६५ में बालिग हुये। बालिग होने के तीन साल के अन्दर ही उन्हें बैनामा खारिज करने का मुकदमा करना चाहिए था किन्तु उन्होंने समय के अन्दर बैनामा खारिज करने का दावा नहीं किया। इसलिये उनके जो भी अधिकार थे वह समाप्त हो जाते हैं। इस सम्बन्ध में आर० डी० १९७२ पेज ४५१ का हवाला दिया गया कि अगर आक्यूपेन्सी टेनेन्सी का बैनामा हुआ है और दो वर्ष के अन्दर कोई मुकदमा बालिग होने पर नहीं किया गया है तो बैनामा लेने वाले का अधिकार पूर्ण हो जाता है। ए आई आर १९५१ सुप्रीम कोर्ट पेज ४७० पर दी गयी नजीर का उल्लेख किया गया। जिसमें यह कहा गया है कि एडवर्स पजेशन सेल डीड इनवैलीड होने पर अधिकार पूर्ण हो जाता है कि और इस सम्बन्ध में बार काउंसिल १९७२ पेज ३१८ की रूलिंग का भी हवाला दिया गया जिसमें कहा गया है कि एडवर्स पजेशन से सेल डीड इनवैलीड होने पर अधिकार पूर्ण हो जाता है और इस सम्बन्ध में बार काउंसिल १९७२ पेज ३१८ की रूलिंग का भी हवाला दिया गया। जिसमें कहा गया है कि बैनामा लेने वाले का कब्जा बैनामा करने वाले के विरुद्ध एडवर्स माना जायेगा और वह दस्तावेज डिनाई करते हैं। इस तरह से इन दस्तावेज बैनामा के कागजात को देखने से स्पष्ट हो जाता है कि हिन्दू ला नेशन जमींदारी विनाश अधिनियम के बाद लागू नहीं होगा। राम नाथ विश्वनाथ बैनामा लिखने के समय भूमिधर अंकित हो चुके हैं और उन्हें बैनामा लिखने के समय भूमिधर अंकित हो चुके हैं और उन्हें बैनामा लिखने का पूर्ण अधिकार था उनकी जायदाद में उनके लडकों का उस समय कोई अंश नहीं होता वे मरने के बाद ही उत्तराधिकार होता है। जिस भूमि का बैनामा रामनाथ विश्वनाथ ने किया है। उसमें कोई अंश राधे मोहन कृपा शंकर आदि को नहीं मिल सकता है। दूसरा वो बैनामा जो राधे मोहन मु० चमेली ने किया है। उक्त बैनामे में राधे मोहन ने बालिग होकर किया है और आदया कृपा शंकर की संरक्षिका चमेली देवी ने किया है। इन लोगों ने बालिग होने के तीन साल के अन्दर कोई निरस्तीकरण का दावा नहीं किया है। बैनामा चमेली ने वहैसियत संरक्षिका किया था और आदया आदि के फायदे के लिये किया है। बैनामा सही हुआ है। और इस तरह आदया कृपा शंकर का कोई हक नहीं मिल सकता है। क्योंकि उन्होंने समय के अन्दर कोई कार्यवाही नहीं किया है। जो दावा आदया ने सिविल कोर्ट में किया है उक्त दावा १९७० में किया गया जो मियाद बाहर है। क्योंकि दोनों भाई १९६९ में बालिग हो गये

तदनुसार अपील संख्या ३९९०, ३९९८, ३९९९, ३९९७ स्वीकार की जाती है और अपील संख्या ४०८३ निरस्त की जाती है। चकबन्दी अधिकारी का आदेश समाप्त किया जाता है और आदेश दिया जाता है कि आधार वर्ष का इन्द्राज बदस्तूर रखा जाये। विभाजन निम्न प्रकार किया जाय।

गाटा संख्या २८० रकबा -९० एकड़ , ७१२ रकबा -७६ एकड़ ८४० रकबा -५५ एकड़ , ६४४ रकबा १-३५ एकड़ में संकठा राम नाथ, कामता राम कुवर शिव कुमार प्रत्येक १/५ अंश तथा गाटा संख्या ५८८ रकबा -५२ एकड़ ८५० रकबा -१९ एकड़ में कामता १/३ राम कुमार १/३ शिव कुमार १/३ विभाजित हो। गाटा संख्या ७७६, ७७७ रामा सिंह के नाम तनहा दर्ज रखा जाय। गाटा संख्या ९३२। १ होरी के नाम व पूर्ववत दर्ज रखा जाय। गाटा संख्या ९४९ विपत के नाम तनहा गाटा संख्या १०४१ रकबा -९५ एकड़ रघुनाथ , साधू , हुवराज के नाम पूर्ववत रखा जाय । गाटा संख्या ८८९ रकबा -०४ , ६८३ रकबा -१९ एकड़ ११०१ रकबा -१९ एकड़ ११०२। १ रकबा -३९ एकड़ में सरजू १/३ दर्ज किया जाय । यही आदेश अपील संख्या ३९८९ , ३९९९, ३९९८, ३९९७, ४०८३ पर भी लागू रहेगा ।

7. Adya Shankar, being aggrieved by aforesaid order, preferred a Revision No. 910/1978 before the Deputy Director of Consolidation and said Revision was allowed by an order dated 25.05.1979, and order passed by the Settlement Officer of Consolidation dated 14.02.1978 was set aside and shares were distributed amongst Adya Shanker and Kripa Shanker also and confirmed the distribution made by Consolidation Officer. For reference, entire order of D.D.C. passed in Revision is quoted below :-

इस विवाद में निगरानीकर्ता द्वारा प्रस्तुत वंशावृक्ष पक्षों को मान्य है । वर्ष 1309 फ० के खतौनी उद्धरण में विवादित खाते की भूमि हरिनन्दन व शिवनन्दन कलवार के नाम बराबर हिस्सा में जिम्न 5 सरमोडयन अंकित है । इस प्रकार यह स्पष्ट है कि 1309 फ० तक बृजमोहन के दोनो पुत्र हरिनन्दन व शिवनन्दन समान रूप से इन भूखण्डों पर काबिज थे । इसके बाद 1359 के खतौनी उद्धरण में रामनाथ व विश्वनाथ पुत्रगण हरिनन्दन का नाम विवादित खातों की भूमि पर संयुक्त रूप से अंकित है । वर्ष 1309 व 1359 फ० के बीच के वर्षों में किसी भी वर्ष की राजस्व प्रविष्टि से सम्बन्धित खतौनी नहीं प्रस्तुत की गई है । जैसा कि उपरोक्त वंशावृक्ष से यह स्पष्ट होता है कि शिवनन्दन के पुत्र सीताराम निःसंतान मर गए । अतएव शिवनन्दन के हिस्से की भूमि भी हरिनन्दन को मिली । विद्वान अपीलीय न्यायालय में प्रस्तुत की गई मृत्यु रजिस्टर की प्रमाणित प्रतिलिपियों से स्पष्ट है कि शिवनन्दन वर्ष 1909 में सीताराम वर्ष 1919 में तथा हरिनन्दन वर्ष 1923 में मृतक हुये । शिव नन्दन के अंश के सम्बन्ध में पक्षों के विभिन्न तर्क हैं । निगरानीकर्ता का कथन है कि शिवनन्दन के पुत्र सीताराम के मृतक होने पर विवादित खातों के भूमि हरनन्दन को उत्तराधिकार के रूप में मिली तथा विपक्षीगण का कथन है कि शिवनन्दन व सीताराम का अंश

हरिनन्दन को उनके व्यक्तिगत क्षमता में मिला और इस प्रकार निगरानीकर्ता शिवनन्दन वाले 1/2 अंश पर सरहमुवड़यन की भूमि होने के कारण कोई अंश प्राप्त करने के अधिकार नहीं होते हैं। शिवनन्दन के मरने के बाद सीताराम उनके प्राकृतिक उत्तराधिकारी हुए थे और उस समय लागू उत्तराधिकार नियमों के आधार पर सीता राम की मृत्यु के बाद उनका कोई उत्तराधिकारी नहीं हुआ अपितु हरिनन्दन जो उसके चाचा थे, का नाम राजकीय अभिलेखों में अंकित हो गया। यह किन परिस्थितियों में हुआ इसका कोई साक्ष्य उपलब्ध नहीं है। फिर भी जो निष्कर्ष निकाला जा सकता है वह यह है कि सीताराम के 1/2 अंश को हरिनन्दन सहकृपक होने के कारण प्राप्त किये होंगे। इस प्रकार मेरा यह अभिमत है कि हरिनन्दन को विवादित खाते की सभी भूमि शिव- नन्दन व उसके पुत्र सीताराम के उत्तराधिकार के रूप में नहीं प्राप्त हुई थी। परन्तु उसका अंश उसका स्वतः अर्जित नहीं माना जायेगा। और तत्कालीन आभोग कानून के अनुसार हरिनन्दन को वर्ष 1919 में सम्पूर्ण अधिकार प्राप्त हो गए और विवादित भूखण्डों का स्वरूप पैतृक बना रहा। इस प्रकार हरिनन्दन के बाद विश्वनाथ को विवादित सभी भूखण्डों में समान रूप से प्राप्त हुआ।

विपक्षीगण की ओर से उनके विद्वान अधिवक्ता ने यह तर्क प्रस्तुत किया कि राधेमोहन व कृपाशंकर ने क्रमशः विद्वान चकबन्दी अधिकारी व विद्वान अपीलीय न्यायालय के आदेश के विरुद्ध कोई निगरानी नहीं प्रस्तुत की है। अतएव आद्याशंकर द्वारा प्रस्तुत यह निगरानी प्रागन्याय के सिद्धांत से बाधित है। इस तर्क की पुष्टि में विद्वान अधिवक्ता ने ए०आई० आर० 1966 सुप्रीमकोर्ट, पृष्ठ 1332 में प्रतिपादित व्यवस्था को अपना आधार बनाया। इस व्यवस्था में माननीय उच्चतम न्यायालय ने यह मत व्यक्त किया है कि यदि किसी प्रारम्भिक न्यायालय द्वारा एक ही वाद कारण के आधार पर दो समान वाद बिन्दु का निस्तारण गुण - दोष के आधार पर किया गया है और उस आदेश के विरुद्ध दो अपीले प्रस्तुत की गईं। जिसमें से एक प्रारम्भिक आधार पर जैसे अवधि अथवा अनुपस्थिति के कारण निरस्त हो गई तो दूसरी अपील के सम्बन्ध में प्रारम्भिक न्यायालय का आदेश अन्तिम नहीं हुआ प्रथम अपील में पारित आदेश दूसरी अपील में प्रागन्याय का प्रभाव रखेगा। इस व्यवस्था के सूक्ष्म अवलोकन से यह स्पष्ट होता है कि इस निगरानी में यह स्पष्ट रूप से लागू नहीं होती क्योंकि राधेमोहन ने विद्वान चकबन्दी अधिकारी के आदेश के विरुद्ध कोई अपील ही नहीं प्रस्तुत की थी। अतएव विद्वान अपीलीय न्यायालय तथा इस न्यायालय में अपने स्वत्व की बाबत की। इस प्रकार मैं विपक्षी के विद्वान अधिवक्ता के इस तर्क से सहमत नहीं हूँ। विपक्षीगण के विद्वान अधिवक्ता ने दूसरा तर्क यह प्रस्तुत किया कि राम नाथ व विश्वनाथ को उनके जीवनकाल में विवादित खातों की सम्पूर्ण भूमि को हस्तान्तरण करने का अधिकार था। क्योंकि आद्याशंकर ने अपने बयान में स्पष्ट कहा था कि उनके पिता व चाचा का विवादित खातों की भूमि में आधा आधा था। इस सम्बन्ध में मेरा विचार यह है कि अंशो का प्रश्न सदैव कानून का होता है और मात्र आद्याशंकर के कथन के आधार पर उनके अंश समाप्त नहीं हो जायेंगे। प्रश्न केवल यह है कि क्या विश्वनाथ को अपने अवयस्क पुत्रों के अंश को अपने जीवनकाल में बेचने का अधिकार था अथवा नहीं। यह सुनिश्चित व्यवस्था है कि सरहमुवइयन की सम्पत्ति में पुत्रों को, यदि वह निहित होने की तिथि के पूर्व पैदा हुए हो तो, अपने पिता के साथ समान रूप से अंश हुआ। इस विवाद में निगरानीकर्ता व उसके भाई वर्ष 1944 व 1947 में पैदा होने के कारण विवादित खातों में अपने पिता के साथ समान रूप से अधिकारी थे। पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध सभी विक्रय पत्रों के अवलोकन से यह स्पष्ट है कि वर्ष 1961 के पूर्व प्रतिपादित किए गए थे और उस समय तक निगरानीकर्ता व उसके भाई अवयस्क थे। आर०डी० 1968, पृष्ठ 365 में प्रतिपादित व्यवस्था के आधार पर पिता को अपने अवयस्क पुत्रों के अंश को कानूनी आवश्यकता की स्थिति में भी अन्तरित करने का कोई अधिकार नहीं प्राप्त है और ऐसे विक्रय पत्र स्वतः अपने में अवयस्कों के अंशो के सम्बन्ध में शून्य माने जाते हैं और उसके आधार पर क्रेतागण को कोई अधिकार नहीं मिलता। इस प्रकार यह स्पष्ट है कि विश्वनाथ व राम नाथ तथा बाद में मु० चमेली देवी व राधेमोहन को विवादित खातों में निगरानीकर्ता व उसके भाई के अंश को अन्तरित करने का कोई अधिकार नहीं था और उनके अधिकार इस आधार पर समाप्त नहीं हो सकते।

पृष्ठ 1777 पर उल्लेखित व्यवस्था को आधार बनाया और यह तर्क प्रस्तुत किया कि वयस्क होने की तिथि के बाद से 12 वर्ष तक विपक्षीगण अभिलिखित रूप से कब्जे में रहने के कारण विरुद्ध कब्जे के आधार पर अपने अधिकार परिपक्व कर चुके। इस सम्बन्ध में उन्होंने यह तर्क प्रस्तुत किया कि उनका कब्जा मालिक है तथा निगरानीकर्ता व उसके भाई के जानकारी में है। अतएव विरुद्ध कब्जे का आधार परिपक्व होता है। म० चमेला देवी द्वारा निष्पादित विक्रय पत्रों का उल्लेख करते हुए विपक्षीगण के विद्वान अधिवक्ता ने यह तर्क प्रस्तुत किया कि हिन्दू माइनारिटी एण्ड गार्जियनशिप की धारा 8 के अन्तर्गत माता द्वारा अवयस्क पुत्रों के अंश बिना सक्षम न्यायालय की पूर्व अनुमति के अन्तरित करने का अधिकार होता है। परन्तु इसी धारा की उपखण्ड 3 के अन्तर्गत यदि कोई अभिलेख निष्पादित कर दिया जाता है तो वह अवयस्को द्वारा की गई कार्यवाही वायदेबुल होती है। इस प्रकार मु० चमेला देवी द्वारा निष्पादित विक्रय पत्रों को भी निगरानीकर्ता व उसके भाई ने वयस्क होने के बाद किसी सक्षम न्यायालय में चुनौती नहीं दी। अतएव यह जावेगा कि उन्होंने निर्धारित अवधि के अन्दर इनकार न करने से अपने अधिकार समाप्त कर दिए। यह भी तर्क प्रस्तुत किया गया कि निगरानीकर्ता व उसके भाई में वर्ष 1970 में मुंसिफ हवाली के न्यायालय में मुकदमा प्रस्तुत कर भूखण्ड सं० 667/1, 687/2 तथा 650 के सम्बन्ध में मु० चमेला देवी व राधेमोहन द्वारा विपक्षीगण के पक्ष में निष्पादित विक्रय पत्रों को निरस्त कराने के लिए वाद प्रस्तुत किया था, जो पक्षों की अनुपस्थिति में दिनांक 16-12-72 को निरस्त हो गया था और चूंकि उस समय भी यह वाद कालबाधित था। अतएव निगरानीकर्ता व उसके भाई को पुनः कोई अधिकार नहीं मिल सकता। पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध 1361 फ० के बाद से उद्धरणों से यह स्पष्ट होता है कि विवादित खातों की भूमि पर विपक्षीगण कब्जे में चले आए हैं और निगरानी कर्ता व उसके भाई कभी सह कब्जे में नहीं रहे। ट्रांसफर आफ प्रापर्टी एक्ट की धारा 54 के अन्तर्गत निष्पादित यदि कोई विक्रय पत्र अनियमित एवं गैरकानूनी होता है और उस अन्तरण के आधार पर क्रेतागण कब्जे में चले आते हैं तो उन्हें कोई अधिकार अन्तरित नहीं होते अपितु उनका कब्जा विरुद्ध न माना जाता है और इसी आशय की व्यवस्था के आधार पर विपक्षी के विद्वान अधिवक्ता का कथन है कि अन्तरणों के बाद विपक्षीगण विवादित खातों की भूमि पर विरुद्ध कब्जे के आधार पर अपना स्वत्व परिपक्व कर चुके हैं परन्तु मेरे विचार से यह व्यवस्था उन अनियमित अन्तरणों में लागू होती है जिनमें सम्पूर्ण अंश का अन्तरण किया गया हो। इस विवाद में जैसा कि ऊपर उल्लेख किया जा चुका है अन्तरण अभिलेखों के निष्पादन के समय निगरानीकर्ता व उसके भाई अवयस्क थे। अतएव उनके पिता व माता को उनके अंशों को विक्रय करने का अधिकार नहीं था और उनके अंशों की भूमि पर विक्रय विरुद्ध कब्जा का सिद्धांत नहीं लागू होना जाना जावेगा। क्रेता (विपक्षीगण) निगरानीकर्ता व उसके भाई के साथ सहखातेदार हुए। अतएव विद्वान अपीलीय न्यायालय ने निगरानीकर्ता व उसके भाई के स्वत्व के निर्धारण में विरुद्ध कब्जे के आधार पर अधिकार के परिपक्व होने का गलत निष्कर्ष निकाला है। उपरोक्त निष्कर्ष के परिप्रेक्ष्य में मेरा यह अभिमत है कि निगरानीकर्ता व उसके भाई, जो निहित होने की तिथि के पूर्व पैदा हुए थे और उन्हें विवादित खातों की भूमि जो ज०वि० के पूर्व सरमोडयन की थी, में उनको अपने पिता के साथ समान अंश प्राप्त था। बिना किसी कानूनी आवश्यकता के उन्हें अपने पुत्रों के अंश अन्तरित करने का अधिकार नहीं था। विद्वान अपीलीय न्यायालय ने अपने आदेश में उल्लेख किया है कि विश्वनाथ व मु० चमेला देवी ने अपने अवयस्क पुत्रों के लाभ के लिए अन्तरण किये क्यो कि उनकी अवयस्कता में नाबालिग

पुत्रों के देखरेख का भार उन्हीं पर था । अन्तरण अभिलेख के अवलोकन से यह स्पष्ट होता है कि विश्वनाथ द्वारा निष्पादित विक्रय पत्रों में यह उल्लेख है कि उन्हें अन्तरण की तिथियों पर अपने रोजगार की वृद्धि के लिए रुपये की आवश्यकता थी । मु० चमेली देवी द्वारा निष्पादित किए गए विक्रय पत्रों में यह उल्लेख है कि अन्तरण की आवश्यकता इसलिए पड़ी कि उन्हें कोआपरेटिव सोसाइटी व अन्य महाजनो के कर्ज की आवश्यकता है । इस प्रकार अन्तरण अभिलेखों में प्रदर्शित आवश्यकताएं किसी प्रकार से निगरानीकर्ता व उसके भाई, जो उस समय अवयस्क थे, के फायदे के लिए नहीं की गई थी और इस निष्कर्ष के परिप्रेक्ष्य में मेरा यह मत है कि विद्वान अपीलीय न्यायालय ने इस सम्बन्ध में निष्कर्ष निकालने में भूल की है । उपरोक्त प्रस्तरों में दिए गए निष्कर्षों के परिप्रेक्ष्य में निगरानी स्वीकार की जाती है । विद्वान अपीलीय न्यायालय का आदेश दिनांक 14-2-76 निरस्त किया जाता है । निगरानीकर्ता व उसके भाई कृपाशंकर का अंश विवादित खातो की भूमि में वही माना जाता है जो विद्वान चकबन्दी अधिकार ने अपने आदेश दिनांक 22-12-76 में निकाला था । खातो का विभाजन निम्न प्रकार होगा :-

खाता सं० 43 ख तथा 43 घ :- कृपाशंकर 1/12, आद्याशंकर 1/12 संकठा, कामता, रामकुवर, शिवकुवर व रामनाथ पुत्रगण रंजीत 1/6 प्रत्येक।

खाता सं० 68 :- आद्याशंकर व कृपाशंकर 1/12 प्रत्येक, हीरा 5/6

खाता सं० 7 :- आद्याशंकर व कृपाशंकर 1/12 प्रत्येक व विगत 5/6 अंश ।

शेष खातो के सम्बन्ध में विद्वान च०अ० द्वारा लगाए गए अंश की पुष्टि की जाती है । तदनुसार अभिलेखों में संशोधित किया जाय ।

8. Aforesaid orders are challenged by vendees-petitioners in above referred three writ petitions so far as their respective part of purchased land in disputed plots is concerned and that widow of Vishwanath could sell shares of their two sons viz. Adya Shanker and Kripa Shanker when they were minor as well as Ram Nath father of Radhe Mohan and Radhe Mohan himself has sold their respective part of land and not beyond their respective legal rights.

9. Crux of argument of S/Sri Anil Kumar Singh, Jagdish Singh and Ashish Kumar Mishra, learned advocates for petitioners in Writ B Nos. 6873/1979, 5560/1979 and 4008/1979 were that widow of Vishwanath (Chamela Devi) has sold not only her shares but shares of her two minor sons also only for their welfare in order to repay loan amount, therefore, said transactions were protected. Her sons have not challenged concerned sale deeds within stipulated period when they became major as such they have relinquished their right, if any.

10. Learned advocates also submitted that revision petition was filed only on behalf of one Objector i.e. Adya Shanker, whereas Radhe Mohan and Kripa Shanker have not filed any revision petition, therefore, the D.D.C. has committed an error when he granted relief not only to Adya Shanker but his brother Kripa Shanker and Radhe Mohan to some extent also. They have also disputed about allotment of shares provided by D.D.C. as well as C.O. for other shares.

11. Per contra, S/Sri Manish Kumar Srivastava, Ashish Kumar and Yaman Seth, learned advocates for respondents have supported impugned orders that D.D.C. has passed a very reasoned order. Once a share of one son was protected, its consequence shall follow i.e. interest of other son has to be protected. Each issue argued was well considered and the order was passed on basis of record.

12. To support their submissions, learned counsel for rival parties have placed reliance upon judgments of this court in the case of Shivraji Vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation of Allahabad 1997 (88) RevDec 562, Savitri Devi Vs. Hnd Addl Dist & Session Judge, Deoria 1997 (31) All LR 367, Ram Deen Koeri and others Vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation and others 2005 (99) RD 680, Surendra Pal Vs. D.D.C., Meerut 2020 3 AWC 2985, and Supreme Court in cases of Kuppala Obul reddy Vs. Bonala Venkata Narayana Reddy (dead) through Lrs. (1984) 3 SCC 447, Amirtham Kudumbah v. Sarnam Kudumban, (1991) 3 SCC 20, Vishwambhar v. Laxminarayan, (2001) 6 SCC 163 Nangali Amma Bhavani Amma Vs. Gopalkrishnan Nair and others (2004) 8 SCC 785, Nangali Amma Bhavani Amma v. Gopalkrishnan Nair, (2004) 8 SCC 785, Ram Chandra Singh v. Savitri Devi, (2004) 12 SCC 713, Saroja v. Santhilkumar, (2011) 11 SCC 483, Murugan v. Kesava Gounder, (2019) 20 SCC 633, Jamila Begum v. Shami Mohd., (2019) 2 SCC 727.

13. I have considered above submissions and perused the records.

14. In present case, following facts are not much under dispute :-

(a) Pedigree as mentioned in para 2 of present judgment.

(b) Shivnandan (brother of Harinandan) died in 1909 and his son Sitaram died issue less in 1919. Subsequently Harinandan died in 1923.

(c) As per revenue records (Khatauni), Revenue entry was made after Sitaram, died issue less in 1919 i.e. his share from his father Shivnandan (predeceased) probably transferred to Harinandan (uncle) died subsequently. Nature of transfer was disputed but nature of land remains ancestral.

(d) Petitioners have not brought on record any Khatauni between 1309F-1359F, i.e. till 1959.

(e) Petitioners have claimed right over respective part of disputed plots on basis of different sale deeds executed by Ramnath and Vishwanath (Sons of Harinandan) in 15.06.1955, 27.06.1955 and on 19.09.1956 as well as by sale deed executed by Radhey Mohan (son of Ramnath) on 15.06.1957 and also by Chameli (widow of Vishwanath and mother of Adya Shankar (born in 1944) and Kripa Shankar (born in 1947)), (when both were admittedly minor) on 15.04.1961 qua to therein respective shares also.

(f) Adya Shankar became major in 1962, where as Kripa Shankar became major in 1965 and for first time they made objection to sale deeds executed by their mother in respect of their respective shares in the year 1976 during consolidation proceedings, though there is a reference of a Civil Suit of year 1970, which was dismissed on 16.11.1972, though details of specific relief sought therein is not on record.

15. First issue was how share of Shivanandan, died in 1909 and his son died issue less in 1919, would devolve to Harinandan (brother of Shivanandan) or not and if the answer is yes, then it was due to inheritance being real brother or in his personal capacity as alleged by petitioners.

16. In order to answer the referred issues, the Court has to rely upon revenue record and to consider finding returned by authorities under UPOCH Act. According to revenue record after 1919 (i.e. after death of Shivanandan and her sole son Sitaram, who died issue less) name of Harinandan was recorded. No substantive material was brought on record that it was recorded for any other reason than being on basis of inheritance being ancestral land. Any reference that share of deceased Shivanandan and his son Sitaram (i.e. 1/2 share) was devolved to Harinandan through their personal interest cannot be accepted, being not based on any evidence. The DDC has in impugned order has though not returned specific finding about manner of transfer but finally concluded that firstly share of Shivanandan and his son was devolved to Harinandan and definitely not in individual capacity and secondly, nature of land in dispute always remains 'ancestral' and thirdly after Harinandan, his both son namely Ramnath and Vishwanath got equal share. Above finding of DDC being based on revenue records and legal interpretations, cannot be disturbed accordingly upheld.

17. Now the second issue is that whether after death of Vishwanath, Chamela (widow of Vishwanath) had any right to make sale deed qua to share of Adya Shankar and Kripa Shankar both being minor and sons of Vishwanath and Chamela and what would be the effect, when both minor children have not taken any effective steps to challenge sale deeds, after they become major till they filed objections in consolidation proceedings.

18. It is not under dispute that Mst. Chamela had executed sale deed of share of her minor children also without any permission of Competent Authority as well as purpose of sale deed was also not for any benefit of minor children rather to repay debt taken by her late husband, therefore, there were valid reasons for Adya Shanker and Kripa Shanker to question said sale deeds when they became major, though they have not taken any effort to challenge it for many years. Nature of such sale deeds is voidable. The Revisional Authority has held that Mst. Chamela had no right to execute sale deeds of the share of her minor children since it was not for a legal necessity being not for any benefit of minor children, therefore, said sale deeds were void-ab-initio.

19. In a very recent judgment passed by the Supreme Court in the matter of K.S. Shivappa vs. Smt. K. Neelamma, 2025 INSC 1195 : 2025 SCC Online SC 2149 wherein Supreme Court has referred various earlier judgments on the issue i.e. rights of a minor in such cases and for reference, relevant paragraph being para no. 32 is quoted below :-

32. In view of the above discussion, it can safely be concluded that a voidable transaction executed by the guardian of the minor can be repudiated and ignored by the minor within time on attaining majority either by instituting a suit for setting aside the voidable transaction or by repudiating the same by his unequivocal conduct.

20. In aforesaid circumstances and considering above referred undisputed facts that Adya Shanker and Kripa Shanker have not taken any steps when they became major in the year 1962 and 1965 respectively as well as have not taken any steps repudiating voidable transactions by their conduct and further a suit was also dismissed. They have lost their rights, if any, on the land which was sold by their mother.

21. The findings returned by Revisional Authority that mother of minor children had no right to make sale deed would not be sufficient, however, a further consideration was skipped from consideration that it has to be seen whether minor children have taken any step or challenged the sale deed or repudiating it by way of any conduct to set aside the voidable transactions. Therefore, findings returned by D.D.C. are not legally justified, hence, are set aside.

22. There is a reference of correction order dated 15.06.1979. Since this Court has already set aside the findings given by Deputy Director of Consolidation on above referred grounds, therefore, effect of above referred correction order would not have no legal consequence.

23. Accordingly, all writ petitions are disposed of with a further direction that concerned Consolidation Officer will distribute shares as per order passed by this Court.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

(1) Whether there exists any law or regulation of the Bank or of the Reserve Bank of India (R.B.I.) that empowers any Bank to declare an account suspicious and consequently, freeze the said account, if the annual income declared in the Account Opening form is less than the amount being credited in the said account.

(2) Whether a bank is empowered in law to freeze the bank account of its customer on its own volition merely on the ground that certain transactions appear suspicious, without any complaint, First Information Report, order of a competent authority or statutory authorization.

(3) Whether the provisions of Sections 12, 12AA and 17 of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002 authorise a bank, acting as a reporting entity, to freeze the bank account of a customer on account of an alleged suspicious transaction;

(4) Whether freezing of the petitioner's bank account without notice, without authority of law and without any criminal proceedings violated the petitioner's constitutional and legal rights and entitled him to de-freezing of the account and consequential relief.

HEADNOTE

Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002, ss.12, 12AA, 17 – Constitution of India – Arts.19(1)(g), 21, 226 – Indian Contract Act, 1872, s.171 – Banking law – Freezing of bank account by bank on its own volition – No FIR – No complaint – No order of competent authority – No direction by investigating agency – Amount of ₹23 lakhs credited in petitioner's current account – Bank treated transaction as "suspicious" on the ground that the petitioner had disclosed annual income of ₹5.76 lakhs while opening the account – Bank froze the account after receiving an e-mail from another bank alleging suspicious activity in the account of a third party – Bank relied upon Sections 12(2) and 12AA of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002 to justify freezing of the account – Petitioner contended that the account was frozen without authority of law, without notice and without any criminal proceedings – Justification :

Held: Freezing of a bank account is governed by Section 17 of the Act, and that too by the competent authority after the twin requirements of (i) possession of information and (ii) reasons to believe are duly satisfied. Section 12 of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002 merely casts a duty upon the reporting entity to maintain records and keep information confidential. Section 12 does not authorise or remotely concern freezing of a bank account by the banking company. Section 12AA merely relates to enhanced due diligence and does not contemplate freezing of a customer's account.

Banks do not have the power to freeze a bank account at their whims and discretion merely by terming any transaction as suspicious, without assigning any reason. The provisions of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002 cannot be self-invoked by the Bank to deny the legitimate right of a customer to operate his bank account. There ought to be some overt activity complained of against the customer. Where a designated authority approaches the Bank to take action against any account of its customer, the designated authority is also required to provide some proof of suspicious activities.

The Reserve Bank of India, by its Circular dated 2 July 2012 relating to the obligations of banks under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002, has provided in paragraph 2.16(2) relating to Suspicious Transaction Reports (STRs) that banks should not put any restrictions on the operation of accounts in respect of which an STR has been made. Thus, even where an STR has been lodged, the Bank is not authorised to freeze or restrict operation of the account. Any blanket or disproportionate freezing of bank accounts, particularly where the account holder is neither an accused nor even a suspect in the offence under investigation, is manifestly arbitrary, and in the teeth of the fundamental rights under Article 19(1)(g) and 21 of the Constitution of India, which encompass the right to livelihood and freedom to carry on trade and business.

The only instance when the bank can freeze an account in its own volition is when the bank has a lien on the said account by virtue of certain loans having been taken by the customer (see: Section 171 of the Contract Act, 1872). In the absence of such a lien no authority is present with a bank to stop the operation of an account of a customer.

The relationship between a banker and its customers is that of a trustee holding money on behalf of its customers. The duty of the bank is that of a trustee and not of any investigative agency with a roving eye. Bank cannot be allowed to transform into an archaic money lender who may accept the deposit and refuse its return to the depositor. The bank is permitted to freeze the account only for legitimate purposes and in accordance with law.

Respondent-Bank had no authority to freeze the petitioner's bank account on the basis of a suspicious transaction. There was no police complaint, no private complaint and no order of any competent authority. The petitioner was at least entitled to know the reason for freezing of his account. The Respondent-Bank was directed to de-freeze the petitioner's account forthwith. Considering that the arbitrary freezing had paralysed the petitioner's business, impaired his commercial goodwill and caused financial loss, costs of ₹50,000 were imposed upon the Respondent-Bank.

Writ petition was allowed. (E-5)

CASE ARISING FROM

Petitioners filed the writ petition seeking de-freezing of their current bank account, alleging that it had been frozen by the respondent-bank on suspicion of certain transactions without any complaint, FIR or order of a competent authority.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Petitioner: Shrikant Mishra, Mansi Saxena

Advs. for the Respondents: Vinay Shankar.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Abdhesh Kumar Chaudhary, J.)

1. Heard Sri Shrikant Mishra, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioners and Sri Vinay Shankar, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the respondents No. 2 and 3.

2. This is a petition seeking de-freezing of the bank account. However, interestingly the present bank account has not been frozen due to any cyber-crime as had been vogue these days but due to the metamorphosis of the current Bank into an Investigating agency. The act of the Bank in casually freezing the bank account of an individual besides being a serious breach of trust with its account holder also amounts to demoralizing business sentiment, losing faith in the financial system and most importantly having adversarial impact on the economic prosperity of any country.

3. The facts of the present case lie in a narrow compass in as much as the petitioner claims to be the sole proprietor of M/s S.A. Enterprises and is engaged in lawful business of sale and purchase of machineries relating to fisheries and allied works, and the firm is registered for Goods and Service Tax with the Government of India and also maintains a valid Bank account number 381702000000301 in the name of his firm in the Respondent-Indian Overseas Bank, Alambagh branch, Lucknow.

4. During the business activities of the firm, it is stated that on or about 16th January, 2026, an amount of ₹23 lakhs came to be transferred through R.T.G.S. by one Mrs. Anita to the petitioner, allegedly for purchasing of machineries. On the same day the petitioner withdrew an amount of ₹5 lakhs from the said bank account. It is the case of the petitioner that subsequently on 20th January, 2026, when he attempted to withdraw further amount from the bank account of his firm, he was informed orally by the Bank officials that the account had been frozen and no transaction could be permitted.

5. Apparently, the petitioner visited the Bank on several occasions, requesting them to de-freeze his account, however, the same did not find any favour with the Bank official, and as such the petitioner in order to ventilate his grievance, send a text message to the Bank Manager on 25th of January 2026 (available on record). The text messages were followed by a Complaint and Legal Notice to the Branch Manager on 9th of February 2026. Since the Bank officials did not oblige to de-freeze the bank account of the petitioner, the present writ petition has been filed before this Court, relying on a judgment passed by this Court in Writ-C-No.12211 of 2025 (Khalsa Medical Store Through Proprietor Yashwant Singh versus Reserve Bank of India Through Governor and Three others).

6. Notice was issued to the Respondent-Bank and accordingly, a short counter affidavit came to be filed by them on 6th February, 2026 to which rejoinder was filed by the petitioner on 17th February, 2026. Accordingly, thereafter, the matter was taken for final disposal with the consent of the parties.

7. Mr. Shrikant Mishra, learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that the petitioner is not implicated as accused in any matter nor is there any order from any competent authority to freeze the Bank account of his firm. According to him, there is no criminal or any other complaint raised against his bank account at any point of time, therefore, the Authorities could not have frozen his bank accounts and as such the very freezing of the bank account is illegal and bad in law. He further submits that neither any written notice or order or reason was ever communicated to the petitioner regarding freezing of his bank account and as such the action of the Respondent-Bank is arbitrary and in violation of the principles of natural justice. According to him, the illegal and arbitrary act of freezing of his bank account without any reasons has led the petitioner firm to suffer severe financial loss, loss of reputation, and disruption of business operations.

8. On the other hand, Mr. Vinay Shankar, learned counsel for the Respondent-Bank has submitted that the bank account of the petitioner was frozen due to certain suspicious transactions in the petitioner's account. According to him, the suspicion was due to the fact that although the petitioner had declared his annual income of ₹5.76 lakhs while opening his current account, however, a huge amount of ₹23 lakhs came to be credited in his account and apparently, on the same day, an amount of ₹5,00,000 was transferred/withdrawn by the petitioner. The learned counsel relied upon the provisions of Section 12(2) of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002 to justify the freezing of the account. He further submits that the said freezing of the bank account has been done to protect the interest of the petitioner as well as to restrict further debit/transfer of any money in the said bank account. He also submitted that although a letter dated 20th February, 2026 was issued by the Bank to the petitioner to provide details of such transaction, however, the petitioner failed to comply with the said letter and it was on their own investigation that they came to learn that the said amount of ₹23 Lakhs was credited in the petitioner's current account by Bank of Maharashtra, under a loan extended to one Smt. Anita.

9. According to the learned Counsel, the said Bank of Maharashtra had noticed some suspicious activity in the account of Smt. Anita and as such has requested the Respondent-Bank to not release the said amount and refund the same to them as per E-mail dated 11th March, 2026. Thus, according to the learned counsel, as fraudulent and suspicious activities were visible in the account of the petitioner and in order to save the said money as a precautionary measure, the Respondent-Bank has frozen the bank account of the petitioner.

10. This Court has heard the learned Counsels for the parties at length and perused material on records.

11. As far as the opening of the current account with the Respondent-Bank on 30th of December 2025, and declaration of annual income of ₹5.76 lakhs in the form for Opening of Current Bank Account by the petitioner is concerned, the same is not under dispute. However, the issue is whether there exists any law or regulation of the Bank or of the Reserve Bank of India (R.B.I.) that empowers any Bank to declare an account suspicious and consequently, freeze the said account, if the annual income declared in the Account Opening form is less than the amount being credited in the said account. Although the said issue is axiomatic as far as the disposal of the present petition is concerned, however, keeping in mind that the counsel for the Bank had been harping on the said fact, this Court while hearing the present petition, invited the learned Counsel for the Bank to bring on records any such circular or address his argument on the said issue. However, the Respondent- Bank, neither filed any such document in his counter-affidavit nor was able to show any relevant provision in law relating to the said issue. This Court also does not find any guidelines/notification/circular/S.O.P. etc., of any Bank which specifically bars crediting of more amount than the annual income mentioned in the account opening form of the Bank. Further, this Court does not find anything unusual about the credit of ₹23,00,000/- into the account of the petitioner, within a period of 15 days from the opening of the current account or having withdrawn ₹5 lakhs on the same day, in the absence of any complaint of fraudulent activity from any quarter.

12. The fulcrum of the argument of the learned Counsel for the Respondent-Bank is that the account is suspicious and there is a requirement under law as per Section 12(2) of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002 to freeze the bank account, in case there is any suspicious transaction in the bank account, which according to the Respondent- Bank has been complained of by the Bank of Maharashtra. The said submission of the Respondent-Bank is two-fold, viz (i) Suspicious transaction and (ii) requirement of law under Section 12(2) of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002.

13. This court proposes to deal with both the arguments in seriatim.

14. First and foremost, we are unable to countenance as to under what provision of law and as to under what authority, the Respondent-Bank can self-authorize itself to venture into a path of investigating the source of the amount of ₹23 lakhs which was credited in the petitioner's account. In any case we find that the Respondent-Bank investigated to find that the said ₹23 lakhs had been obtained by Smt. Anita by availing loan facility for carrying out fish business from Bank of Maharashtra. Respondent-Bank claims that the said Bank of Maharashtra noticed certain suspicious activity in the account of Smt. Anita and as such requested the Respondent-Bank to not release any amount from the bank account of the petitioner and refund the same to them. However, we find that there is neither any police complaint nor any private complaint to any authority in the present matter. Further, we also do not find any Court order or any material brought on record to show that there is any genuine issue relating to suspicious activity. On the contrary, we find that the material brought on record by the petitioner in his rejoinder-affidavit reveals that the current bank account of the said Mrs. Anita is functional and there had been no freezing of the said account. It is rather strange that the basis of alleged fraudulent or suspicious transaction in Mrs. Anita's bank Account i.e. the Bank of Maharashtra, had been made a foundational fact for freezing the bank account of the petitioner, however, the fact of the matter remains that the account of Bank of Maharashtra maintained by the said Mrs. Anita has not been frozen by Bank of Maharashtra itself. Further, it is noticed from the statement of account of the bank account of the said Mrs. Anita maintained at Bank of Maharashtra that the said Mrs. Anita had been carrying normal day-to-day transactions in her said bank account and there has been no action or complaint or for that matter any proposed recovery action whatsoever by the said Bank of Maharashtra against the said Mrs. Anita relating to her bank account or the loan extended to her. Thus, the very foundation for suspecting the bank account of the petitioner crumbles like a pack of cards. The submission of suspicious transaction is wholly illegal, ill-conceived and as such rejected.

15. We also find that the Respondent-Bank has heavily relied in their counter affidavit that Bank of Maharashtra has written some E-mail dated 11.03.2026 to the Respondent-Bank relating to some fraudulent transaction in the bank account of Mrs. Anita, thereby allegedly asking the Respondent-Bank to freeze the bank account of the petitioner. From a perusal of the aforesaid e-mail annexed along with the counter-affidavit of the Respondent Bank, it is clear that the said E-mail dated 11.03.2026 is in fact a reply to a query raised by the Respondent-Bank on 09.03.2026. This Court fails to understand, in the first instance under what law could the Bank start a self-declared investigation without there being any Complaint lodged by anyone, and secondly, if at all a query is put and some adversarial observation or request is made by a third-party Bank, then how on earth the Respondent-Bank could have obliged on the said request, breaching the trust between the Bank and the account holder. Apparently, it is borne from the records that not only the said request of Bank of Maharashtra is in the air and without any basis, however, the whole process is abortive as this Court is unable to find any subsequent action taken by the said Bank of Maharashtra pursuant to the E-mail reply dated 11.03.2026 sent to the Respondent-Bank. There is neither any complaint by the said Bank of Maharashtra nor any order from any Competent Authority nor any proceedings has been initiated by the said Bank against the said Smt. Anita, for any fraudulent transfer as is mentioned in the reply E-mail dated 11.03.2026. Clearly, the E-mail has been self-generated by the Bank of Maharashtra without any complaint or order and merely to collude with the Respondent-Bank in their illegal acts and omissions of illegally freezing the bank account of the petitioner.

16. The learned counsel for the Bank has vehemently tried to justify the illegal act of the Bank by relying on Section 12(2) of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002 which again is misconceived and illegal. The learned counsel reiterated his submission as made in paragraph 4 of the counter-affidavit filed by the Respondent-Bank. Firstly, we note that Section 12(2) as quoted and mentioned at paragraph 4 of the Counter-Affidavit is at stark difference to the actual Section 12(2) of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002. Apparently, we find that Section 12 of the Act relates to casting a duty on reporting entity (Bank) to maintain records. Section 12(1) enjoins upon the Bank to keep the information confidential. Section 12(3) says that the said records has to be maintained and preserved for five years. This Court is rather amused as to how Section 12(2) or for that matter any of the sub-Sections of Section 12 of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002 has been sought to be made applicable and pressed into action. The said Section does not in any manner authorise or remotely concerns freezing of a bank account by the banking company itself. The entire Section 12 of Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002 can be perused for that reason, which is being delineated herein below, for a better understanding:-

'[12. Reporting entity to maintain records.'

(1) Every reporting entity shall'

(a) maintain a record of all transactions, including information relating to transactions covered under clause (b), in such manner as to enable it to reconstruct individual transactions;

(b) furnish to the Director within such time as may be prescribed, information relating to such transactions, whether attempted or executed, the nature and value of which may be prescribed;

(e) maintain record of documents evidencing identity of its clients and beneficial owners as well as account files and business correspondence relating to its clients.

(2) Every information maintained, furnished or verified, save as otherwise provided under any law for the time being in force, shall be kept confidential.

(3) The records referred to in clause (a) of sub-section (1) shall be maintained for a period of five years from the date of transaction between a client and the reporting entity.

(4) The records referred to in clause (e) of sub-section (1) shall be maintained for a period of five years after the business relationship between a client and the reporting entity has ended or the account has been closed, whichever is later.

(5) The Central Government may, by notification, exempt any reporting entity or class of reporting entities from any obligation under this Chapter.]'

17. Since, there had been no assistance from the learned counsel for the Bank as to in what circumstances, Section 12(2) has been quoted differently at paragraph 4 of the Counter-Affidavit, this Court in its quest for reaching to the bottom of the issue took upon itself to scan through the various provisions of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002 and finds that as a matter of fact, the learned counsel for the Bank was actually trying to refer Section 12AA(2) for and in place of Section 12(2) of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002. Having noted the said controversy, it is the bounden duty of this Court to also deal with the provisions of Section 12AA of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002.

18. Apparently, Section 12AA of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002 relates to enhanced due diligence and lays down the compliance requirements for reporting entities. These requirements are aimed at preventing money laundering and terrorist financing and promoting a culture of compliance within reporting entities/Bank. Section 12AA(2) comes into play only when certain conditions as mentioned in 12AA(1) is not fulfilled. Further, it only says that the Bank would not allow the specified transaction to be carried out and evidently does not mention of not allowing any transaction or for that matter freezing the account. It should be well understood that under the provisions of Section 12 merely a duty is cast on the Bank as a reporting entity to maintain records and at time may not permit a particular (specified) transaction only, because the freezing of Bank Account is always under Section 17 of the Act and that too by the Competent Authority, after the twin test of (i) information being in possession and (ii) reasons to believe, is satisfied to the core. Further, this Court finds that the Respondent-Bank has failed to show as to what was the specified transaction, it was trying to abort and as to what conditions it failed as enumerated under Section 12AA(1) of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002. In any case, we are of the view that the transaction of the petitioner does not fall in any of the explanation of 'specified transaction' as appended to Section 12AA(4) of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002, which inter-alia states as follows:

'Explanation.' For the purposes of this section, "specified transaction" means'

(a) any withdrawal or deposit in cash, exceeding such amount;

(b) any transaction in foreign exchange, exceeding such amount;

(c) any transaction in any high value imports or remittances;

(d) such other transaction or class of transactions, in the interest of revenue or where there is a high risk or money-laundering or terrorist financing, as may be prescribed.'

19. Arguendo, if the Reporting Authority (Bank) is construed to have power to freeze any bank account and not a particular specified transaction, as is propagated to be done in the present case, a havoc like situation would be created and the entire financial system would come crumbling down for the simple reasons that besides the other investigative agency and the Courts, the Bank would also have power to freeze account at its whims and discretion by terming any transaction to be suspicious, without assigning any reason, which cannot be the intent of law.

20. This Court is unable to find any rationale or any nexus as to how the provisions of Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002 can be self-invoked by the Bank to deny the legitimate right of the petitioner to operate his Bank Account. There ought to be some overt activity complained of against the petitioner. The so called suspicious or fraudulent transaction as termed by the Respondent-Bank has also fallen flat for the reasons as mentioned herein above.

21. Further, this Court finds that as far as reporting of suspicious transaction is concerned, the Reserve Bank of India has issued circular dated 2nd of July 2012 relating to obligations of Banks under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002 wherein paragraph 2.16 (2) relating to Suspicious Transaction Reports (S.T.R.), of the said Circular clearly mentions that the Banks should not put any restrictions on operations in the accounts where S.T.R. has been made. The contents of the Circular would make for a good read, which is being delineated herein below:

'2.16 Cash and Suspicious Transaction Reports:-

2. Suspicious Transaction Reports (S.T.R.)

i. While determining suspicious transactions, banks should be guided by definition of suspicious transaction contained in PMLA Rules as amended from time to time.

ii. It is likely that in some cases transactions are abandoned / aborted by customers on being asked to give some details or to provide documents. It is clarified that banks should report all such attempted transactions in STRs, even if not completed by customers, irrespective of the amount of the transaction.

iii. Banks should make STRs if they have reasonable ground to believe that the transaction involve proceeds of crime generally irrespective of the amount of transaction and/or the threshold limit envisaged for predicate offences in part B of Schedule of PMLA, 2002.

iv. As per extant instructions, a bank should not open an account (or should consider closing an existing account) when it is unable to apply appropriate CDD measures. It is clarified that in the circumstances when a bank believes that it would no longer be satisfied that it knows the true identity of the account holder, the bank should also file an STR with FIU-IND.

v. The Suspicious Transaction Report (STR) should be furnished within 7 days of arriving at a conclusion that any transaction, whether cash or non-cash, or a series of transactions integrally connected are of suspicious nature. The Principal Officer should record his reasons for treating any transaction or a series of transactions as suspicious. It should be ensured that there is no undue delay in arriving at such a conclusion once a suspicious transaction report is received from a branch or any other office. Such report should be made available to the competent authorities on request.

vi. In the context of creating KYC/AML awareness among the staff and for generating alerts for suspicious transactions, banks may consider the indicative list of suspicious activities contained in Annex E of the 'IBA's Guidance Note for Banks, 2005'.

vii. Banks should not put any restrictions on operations in the accounts where an STR has been made. Moreover, it should be ensured that there is no-tipping off to the customer at any level.'

22. In any case, this Court is clear in its mind that there ought to be some order from a competent authority like the investigating agency (Police), who have been authorized to freeze bank account during investigation in terms of Section 102 of the erstwhile Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. However, even in those cases, the said freeze is subject to the orders of the Criminal Court. However, in the present case, the facts are absolutely different, wherein there is no such complaint or order. Even for that matter, time and again the Courts have held that merely because certain offences may have been committed by the customer, that cannot, by itself, constitute a lawful basis for a unilateral freezing or withholding of the petitioners' bank accounts.

23. Further, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of OPTO Circuits (India) Ltd. v. Axis Bank and others, reported in (2021) 6 SCC 707; wherein freezing of bank accounts was considered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court and it was held that freezing of bank accounts cannot be done in a casual manner. It is also pertinent to note that any blanket or disproportionate freezing of bank accounts, particularly where the account holder is neither an accused nor even a suspect in the offence under investigation, is manifestly arbitrary, and in the teeth of the fundamental rights under Article 19(1)(g) and 21 of the Constitution of India, which encompass the right to livelihood and freedom to carry on trade and business.

24. It should be well understood that the Respondent-Bank acts as a trustee when it accepts deposit from an account holder and it cannot be allowed to transform into an archaic money lender who may accept the deposit and refuse its return to the depositor. The bank is permitted to freeze the account only for legitimate purposes and in accordance with law. The Bank as a debtor cannot be allowed to breach the faith of the depositor, which would have serious repercussions. Admittedly, it is undisputed that petitioner is maintaining a Current Account in the respondent bank and there are sufficient funds available for withdrawal from its Current Account. The Petitioner is a depositor and in terms of the banking practices it is clearly entitled to withdraw the amount lying in its Account. The money having been held in trust, the Bank can deny withdrawal of such amount only in exigencies which are permissible in law. Such exigencies do not arise in the facts of this case, as discussed herein above. In its absence the action of the respondent bank in refusing to operate the account of the petitioner cannot be legally sustained.

25. From perusal of records and the arguments addressed before this Court, it is an admitted position on behalf of the counsel of the Respondent-Bank that the petitioner is not accused in any F.I.R. till date nor is there anything on records, which would show any involvement of the present petitioner in any criminal activity or any alleged fraudulent suspicious activity. It is further reflected that merely owing to a large incoming transaction the account is under scrutiny and has been put under as 'suspicious transaction', and therefore, freezing of accounts has been done by the Bank itself and not on instructions by any Authorities, as may be permissible under the law.

26. The law with respect to freezing and de-freezing of accounts was settled by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in a catena of judgments. Admittedly, the Respondent-Bank did not even bother to serve a notice of pre-freezing or post-freezing of the bank account, causing immense inconvenience to the petitioner. The illegal act of freezing the bank account of the petitioner has a serious and adverse implication and invades and encroaches upon the petitioner's invaluable right to earn and live with dignity. The petitioners are, at the very least, entitled to be informed of the reasons for freezing their bank accounts, which they are otherwise legally entitled to operate. Thus, the illegal freezing of the bank account, in essence, amounts to a violation of fundamental right of the petitioner, as it directly undermines his right to livelihood, which is integral part of the Right to Life guaranteed under 'Article 21' of the Constitution.

27. The learned counsel for the Respondent-Bank has prayed that in case this Court is of the opinion that the accounts are required to be 'de-frozen', then there is a possibility that the petitioners may withdraw the entire amount from the bank account. Therefore, some reasonable restrictions may be put and the withdrawals may be made subject to certain securities. However, this Court is of the view that the said prayer does not appear to be reasonable. The facts on record indicates that there is neither any complaint nor F.I.R. against the petitioner. In fact, the present freezing of bank account appears to be vexatious and actuated with mala fides. Under these circumstances, this Court deems it appropriate to allow the prayer of the petitioners seeking de-freezing of their bank account.

28. Ergo, the Respondent-Indian Overseas Bank is directed to de-freeze the bank accounts of the petitioner forthwith. The petitioner shall be at liberty to maintain and continue with the operations of his Current Account Number 381702000000301 in the name of his firm in the Respondent-Bank in terms of the R.B.I. guidelines.

29. As an afterward we would like to state that the relationship between a banker and its customers is that of a trustee holding money on behalf of its customers. The duty of the bank is that of a trustee and not of any investigative agency with a roving eye. One cannot countenance the argument that it is the duty of the bank to ensure that the money transaction that takes place in the accounts of the banks are done so in a legal manner. However, the bank is not in any manner empowered or entitled to initiate an action against its customers without there being any cogent material on record that has been provided to the bank from formal entities such as the Reserve Bank of India, Central Bureau of Investigating, Enforcement Directorate, police authorities amongst others. In every such instance where a designated authority approaches the bank to take action against any of the accounts of the customers of the bank, the designated authority is also required to provide some proof of certain suspicious activities.

30. A Co-ordinate Bench of this Court, in Khalsa Medical Store v. RBI, reported in 2026 SCC OnLine All 164; wherein one of us (Hon'ble Shekhar B. Saraf, J.) had occasion to examine the actions of cyber-crime investigative authorities in freezing of accounts had summarized the principles as follows:

'12. After sifting through the ratios laid down in the catena of judgments mentioned above, and upon applying our mind to the issue at hand, the following principles may be laid down for freezing a bank account under a suspicion of cyber crime:-

A. Section 106 of BNSS should not be interpreted to empower police officers to intervene in money disputes by seizing property especially based on mere suspicion but it must be bolstered by reasonable belief.

B. Information for freezing the bank account by the investigating officer shall be sent immediately to the nodal officer of the bank of the beneficiary or payment service system, including the payment aggregator, so as to take action at their end. The police officer must furnish information with relation to the alleged crime and should accompany a copy of the FIR or information received. The bank or the payment system operator (PSO) may decline a request, if it is received without a copy of any complaint or FIR.

C. The notice under Section 106 of the BNSS may require to mark lien on a specific amount (money allegedly transferred from or to the bank account of accused), but in no case the police may ask or request any bank or payment system operator (PSO) including payment aggregator, to block or suspend entire financial account.

D. As soon as information to block or put on hold or marking of a lien is forwarded to a bank or any financial intermediary, including a payment system operator (PSO), then the information shall simultaneously be sent to the jurisdictional Judicial Magistrate within 24 hours. Failure to inform may render such an action as void.

E. If any bank puts on hold any bank account or escrow account maintained by any entity / citizen on the request of the police without following the proper procedure, then the bank shall be personally liable for the Civil and Criminal consequences for the loss including financial and reputational damage of such entity / citizen.

13. From a perusal of the above, we are of the view that in case of a cyber crime, the Investigating Officer is required to not only issue notice under Section 94/106 of the B.N.S.S., 2023 to the banks concerned but the same must contain the amount for which lien is sought. A blanket notice without indicating the amount, on which lien is being sought, would be illegal and arbitrary. Furthermore, the Investigating Officer is required to intimate the jurisdictional Magistrate of the said cyber crime and inform the banks of the case number that has been registered on basis of which said lien / freezing is sought.'

31. As is evident from the above judgment, any action that is taken by any authority has to be backed up with relevant information and must be on the basis of a complaint lodged either before the police or by approaching the magistrate. In any event, none of the provisions under the various legislations governing bank accounts allow freezing of a bank account by the bank authority on its own volition without there being an underlying complaint. The only instance when the bank can freeze an account in its own volition is when the bank has a lien on the said account by virtue of certain loans having been taken by the customer (see: Section 171 of the Contract Act, 1872). In the absence of such a lien no authority is present with a bank to stop the operation of an account of a customer and any such action without the authority of law is a degenerative, arbitrary, perverse and mala fide action that is an anathema to the rule of law and is required to be struck down heavily at the very first instance it comes before the courts of law.

32. Accordingly, the present writ petition is Allowed in the aforesaid terms.

33. Before we part with, this Court is constrained to observe that there is an increasing menace these days of freezing bank account indiscriminately. Admittedly, in the present case the Respondent-Bank has frozen the bank account of the petitioner, without any rhyme or reason and the same is not permissible as per law. Since, such indiscriminate freezing has the inevitable effect of paralysing the day-to-day business operations of the petitioner, resulting in loss of commercial goodwill and financial consequences, a cost of ₹50,000/- (Fifty thousand Only) is hereby imposed on the Respondent-Indian Overseas Bank, Alambagh branch, Lucknow, through the Branch Manager as a compensation to the petitioner. The said cost shall be payable to the petitioner within a period of four weeks from the date a certified copy of this judgment is served on the Respondent-Bank.

Matter pertains to:

- (i) Whether the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 overrides the Electricity Act, 2003 and the Electricity Supply Code, thereby barring the respondent authorities from raising demands relating to electricity dues for the period prior to implementation of the Resolution Plan;
- (ii) Whether the respondent authorities could raise statutory electricity dues after implementation of the Resolution Plan despite neither filing any claim before the Resolution Professional during the Corporate Insolvency Resolution Process nor challenging the approved Resolution Plan;
- (iii) Whether, in the facts and circumstances of the case, liability of the successful Resolution Applicant commenced from the date of approval of the Resolution Plan by the National Company Law Tribunal or from the Effective Date of implementation of the Resolution Plan; and
- (iv) Whether the impugned demand notices, recovery certificates, kurki proceedings and consequential coercive measures relating to electricity dues for the period prior to the Effective Date were sustainable in law.

Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 – ss.31, 238 – Electricity Act, 2003 – ss.173, 174 – Constitution of India – Art.226 – Corporate Insolvency Resolution Process (CIRP) – Corporate Insolvency Resolution Process (CIRP) commenced against Reliance Infratel Ltd. – Public announcements and individual notices issued by Resolution Professional inviting claims from all creditors, including State Electricity Distribution Companies – Respondent authorities neither filed claims before the Resolution Professional nor challenged the approved Resolution Plan – Resolution Plan approved by the Committee of Creditors and National Company Law Tribunal – Implementation delayed due to pendency of appellate proceedings – Successful Resolution Applicant taking over management on 22.12.2022 upon deposit of the entire Resolution Amount in accordance with the approved Resolution Plan – Respondent authorities thereafter issued demand notices, recovery certificates, kurki proceedings and disconnected electricity supply for recovery of electricity dues relating to the period prior to the Effective Date – Petitioner challenged recovery proceedings on the ground that all pre-resolution dues stood extinguished under Section 31 of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 and that liability could arise only from the Effective Date – Respondents contended that the Resolution Plan became operative from the date of its approval by the National Company Law Tribunal; that electricity dues constituted statutory first charge under the Electricity Supply Code; and that restoration of electricity supply could be insisted upon only after payment of past dues – Questions arose regarding overriding effect of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code over the Electricity Act, extinguishment of statutory electricity dues not submitted during CIRP, commencement of liability of the successful Resolution Applicant, legality of recovery proceedings initiated after implementation of the Resolution Plan, and applicability of the clean slate principle:

Held: Legal maxim, “leges posteriores priores contrarias abrogant”, which means wherever two enactments are irreconcilably inconsistent, the later enactment must prevail to the extent of such inconsistency. This principle of interpretation of statutes is generally applicable in a situation where two enactments appear to operate in the same field but got enacted in different timeline. Where there is a conflict between two Statutes, the Court must first attempt a harmonious construction, however, where such reconciliation is not possible, the later enactment would prevail as per above-mentioned maxim.

Section 238 of the IBC contains a non obstante clause asserting the overriding effect of the Code over all other laws in force. Section 31 of the IBC further indicates that an approved Resolution Plan is binding on all stakeholders, including governmental and statutory authorities. The IBC is a subsequent and comprehensive legislation intended to consolidate and amend the laws relating to insolvency resolution and its scheme would be rendered unworkable if past liabilities, not forming part of the Resolution Plan, were permitted to be raised by claimants relying upon any other statute. Thus, when Section 238 of the IBC is read in light of the objective of the Code and established legal principles, there remains no doubt that, in the event of inconsistency between the IBC and any other statute, including sector-specific enactments such as the Electricity Act, 2003, the provisions of the IBC would prevail.

Court further held that respondents had multiple occasions and forums to challenge the Resolution Plan if they had any grievance, but after opting to neither file claim nor challenge the Resolution Plan, respondents have lost the opportunity and the old claim of the corporate debtor is extinguished in the facts of the case. The claims sought to be enforced pertained to the pre-CIRP period, CIRP period, Monitoring Phase and further up to the Effective Date, for which no claim was filed by the respondents. Such claims are extinguished in terms of Section 31 of the IBC as well as the express provisions of the Resolution Plan and are not enforceable against the petitioner. The Resolution Plan, having attained finality, is binding on all stakeholders, including statutory authorities, and operates on a clean slate principle, and therefore the respondent authorities could not have proceeded to raise or enforce demands which are extinguished, nor could they have resorted to coercive measures for recovery of such extinguished claims.

Court further held that the Effective Date was 22.12.2022, being the date on which the successful Resolution Applicant took over the management of the Corporate Debtor upon deposit of the Resolution Amount and actual implementation of the Plan. The Court observed that the newly resolved company cannot be forced to bear the financial burden due to such delay caused because the NCLT order approving the Resolution Plan got challenged before appellate Courts and applied the maxim actus curiae neminem gravabit, holding that the act of the Court shall prejudice no one. Considering the Resolution Plan and the commercial wisdom of the Committee of Creditors, the Court concluded that the liability arises from the Effective Date which is expressly mentioned in the Resolution Plan, and that, in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, the liability shall arise from the date on which the petitioner could effectively implement the Resolution Plan after depositing the complete Resolution Amount. Otherwise, putting the uncertain, unexpected, unclaimed burden on the resolved entity will be against the principles on which the insolvency law is based.

Court held that the IBC has overriding effect over the Electricity Act and related laws. Since respondents had not filed their claims during CIRP, they cannot raise any demand, as the claim has got extinguished after approval of the Resolution Plan. Since claims relating to the period prior to approval of the Resolution Plan stood extinguished, the respondents were precluded from enforcing any such claims, and the liability of the petitioner cannot be fastened prior to the Effective Date determined in accordance with the Resolution Plan. The Court identified four phases—pre-CIRP dues, CIRP period dues, Monitoring Period dues, and the final phase after the Effective Date—and held that dues arising in the first, second and third phases cannot be enforced after the Resolution Plan is implemented. It is only liabilities arising in the final phase that can be validly claimed. Consequently, the impugned demand notices pertaining to the duration prior to CIRP, during CIRP, the Monitoring Phase and up to the Effective Date cannot be sustained in law. The impugned Recovery Certificates and Kurki proceedings, to the extent they related to demands prior to the Effective Date, i.e., 22.12.2022, were set aside. The writ petition was allowed; the impugned demand notices, consequential recoveries and actions were quashed, however, the respondent authorities were left at liberty to issue fresh demand notices for any dues occurring after the Effective Date, i.e., 22.12.2022, in accordance with law.

IIntroduction

1. Present petition has been filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, praying for issuance of several orders and directions in the nature of writ of certiorari and mandamus. Main relief sought in the petition is for order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned Recovery Certificates and kurki proceedings issued by respondent nos.1 to 6, especially the impugned demands to the extent they relate to alleged electricity dues for the period prior to 22.12.2022 when the resolved company was effectively commenced.

2. The petitioner further prays for issuance of the writ in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to de-seal the mobile tower sites as detailed in the writ petition and to restore electricity supply to all disconnected sites. A further direction has been prayed for requiring the respondents to act in accordance with Section 31(1) of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016

(hereinafter referred to as IBC) and the law laid down by the Supreme Court in Ghanshyam Mishra v. Edelweiss Asset Reconstruction Co. Ltd., (2021) 9 SCC 657 and M/s Ruchi Soya Industries Ltd. v. Union of India & Ors., (2022) 6 SCC 343.

3. The petitioner has also prayed for an order or direction in the nature of mandamus declaring that the approved resolution plan dated 25.11.2019 is binding on all stakeholders and that no liability survives in respect of any debts, claims or dues arising prior to 22.12.2022, including those of statutory authorities. Consequential reliefs have been prayed for restraining the respondents from taking any coercive steps pursuant to the impugned demands and Recovery Certificates, and for a direction to grant new electricity connections in respect of existing and pending applications for mobile tower sites, subject to compliance with applicable conditions.

4. Counter affidavits have been filed on behalf of contesting respondents and rejoinder affidavits have also been filed by the petitioner. With the consent of learned counsel for the respective parties, the writ petition was taken up for final hearing and is being disposed of by this judgment.

II

Factual Matrix

5. The facts of the case, as emerging from the pleadings on record are that the insolvency petition under Section 9 of the IBC was admitted against Reliance Infratel Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as RITL) by the National Company Law Tribunal, Mumbai (hereinafter referred to as NCLT) vide its order dated 15.05.2018. The above mentioned NCLT order imposed the moratorium and appointed the Interim Resolution Professional (hereinafter referred to as IRP), as on 18.05.2018, consequently the Corporate Insolvency Resolution Process (hereinafter referred to as CIRP) got commenced.

6. On 21.05.2018, the IRP made the public announcement (hereinafter referred to as the "First Public Announcement") inviting all the creditors of RITL to submit proof of claims. Meanwhile the NCLT order dated 15.05.2018, admitting the insolvency petition got challenged in National Law Company Appellate Tribunal (hereinafter referred to as the NCLAT), where the NCLT order got stayed by an order dated 30.05.2018, but later on, the petition got withdrawn on 30.04.2019 and consequently CIRP got re-commenced as per IBC.

7. On 07.05.2019 IRP made another public announcement (hereinafter referred to as the "Second Public Announcement") inviting all the creditors to submit proof of claims. It is an undisputed fact that respondent authorities have not submitted any claim before the Resolution Professional (hereinafter referred to as RP) during CIRP for which the impugned demand notices are being issued. On 24.05.2019 IRP prepared the Information Memorandum and the Committee of Creditors (hereinafter referred to as CoC) of RITL was constituted.

8. On 21.06.2019 NCLT confirmed the appointment of RP. As per procedure prescribed under IBC, the RP published Form G containing a detailed invitation for expression of interest (hereinafter referred to as "EOI") to which Reliance Projects & Property Management Services Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as RPPMSL) responded positively. Additionally RP issued letters dated 25.07.2019 and 22.08.2019 addressed to all State Electricity Boards, Distribution Companies, and other respondents informing them of the CIRP and calling for claims.

9. Following due procedure of the CIRP, the RPPMSL submitted its resolution plan, which got approved by the CoC on 02.03.2020 and subsequently, NCLT approved the same resolution plan vide its order dated 03.12.2020. The order passed by the NCLT was assailed in appeals before NCLAT as well as Supreme Court.

10. The NCLT order approving resolution plan got assailed by some stakeholders before NCLAT, which stayed the distribution of the total resolution amount to certain parties due to inter-creditor disputes. The matter travelled upto the Supreme Court where the resolution plan got a way to move towards its implementation.

11. The NCLT vide its order dated 21.11.2022 allowed RPPMSL's application to deposit the Total Resolution Amount in an escrow account towards successful implementation of the resolution plan. Thereafter on 22.12.2022, minutes of the meeting of the CoC noted that all steps of the implementation in the resolution plan were completed.

12. Further, consequent to the order dated 11.05.2023 passed by the NCLT, Mumbai and the order dated 07.08.2023 passed by the NCLT, Ahmedabad under Sections 230-232 of the Companies Act, 2013, RITL stood merged into the Petitioner Company with effect from 22.12.2022. Hence, records demonstrate that pursuant to the approval of the resolution plan, RPPMSL took over RITL on 22.12.2022, which became the effective date.

13. After complete implementation of the approved resolution plan, Respondent Nos.3 to 6 have issued recovery certificates and raised demands against RITL in respect of electricity dues pertaining to the period prior to the effective takeover date. The Respondents also disconnected electricity for some mobile towers while insisting upon payment of the entire amount, along with interest and penalty, as a precondition for reconnection.

14. Aggrieved by above, petitioner company has filed this petition under Article 226, challenging mainly the demand notices issued by the respondent authorities. Although there are various prayers made in the petition, during hearing counsel appearing from respective parties agreed that the main point of contest was the demand notice, to the extent that such dues relate to the period prior to the date to commence liability i.e., 22.12.2022 and also the fact as which date would be considered as the date to commence liability, date of approval of resolution plan by NCLT or the date when the resolved company effectively commenced.

III

Submissions on behalf of Petitioner

15. We have heard Sri Navin Sinha, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Vedant Agarwal, Sri Madhav Kanoria and Sri Aditya Swaroop, learned counsel for the petitioner. At the outset, Sri Sinha, learned Senior Advocate submitted that a public announcement was made by the IRP upon commencement of the CIRP, inviting all creditors to submit their respective claims, and in addition, RP also send letters to all the DISCOMs (licensees) informing commencement of CIRP, still no claim was filed by the respondents during CIRP.

16. Sri Sinha had drawn the attention of the Court to the list of statutory creditors mentioned in the resolution plan, and argued that despite such public announcement and individual letters, none of the DISCOMs submitted any claim before the RP. He submitted that the CoC unanimously approved the resolution plan, which came to be approved by the NCLT vide its order dated 03.12.2020. The said approval was unsuccessfully assailed before the NCLAT and further before the Supreme Court, where the challenge culminated in dismissal of the petition in Pratap Technocrats (P) Ltd. And Others Vs. Monitoring Committee of Reliance Infratec Ltd. And Others, order dated 10.08.2021 in Civil Appeal No. 676 of 2021 thereby upholding the order approving of the resolution plan.

17. It was further submitted that none of the DISCOMs ever challenged the resolution plan at any stage by asserting their alleged claims before any forum. Sri Sinha had also submitted that on 22.12.2022, the new management took over the company in terms of the approved resolution plan upon payment of the resolution amount into the designated account. Learned Senior Advocate emphasized that till the above-mentioned date, no demand had been raised by any of the DISCOMs, although, according to him, electricity supply to certain mobile towers had been disconnected in part even prior to and during the CIRP period.

18. It was contended that it was only after the resolution plan attained finality and the new management assumed control that the respondent DISCOMs raised demands towards electricity charges pertaining to the period prior to the CIRP and also for the period prior to the date of effective takeover. Sri Sinha submitted that, in view of Section 31 of the IBC, such claims, not having been submitted before the RP, stood extinguished. In support, reliance was placed on the judgment of the Supreme Court in Tata Power Western Odisha Distribution Ltd. and another Vs. Jagannath Sponge Pvt. Ltd., (2023) SCC OnLine SC 2442, to contend that once a resolution plan was approved, the successful resolution applicant could not have been burdened with past liabilities, and permitting such claims would defeat the very scheme of the enactment. It was, thus, submitted that the impugned demand notices and consequential recovery proceedings were liable to be quashed.

19. Sri Sinha, however, fairly submitted that insofar as the dues arising after 22.12.2022 were concerned, the petitioners were ready and willing to pay the same, subject to restoration of electricity connections to enable operation of the mobile towers. He further submitted that the liability of the petitioner, if any, would arise only from 22.12.2022, when the new management has taken over and claimed this date to be effective date (hereinafter 22.12.2022 shall be referred to as effective date for convenience).

20. Sri Sinha invited attention of the Court to the relevant clauses of the resolution plan, i.e., clause 1.2.6 and clause 4.1, as also clauses 2.1.1 and 2.1.2, submitted that an Interim Monitoring Committee was constituted post-approval of the resolution plan by the NCLT, comprising the RP, nominees of financial creditors and nominees of the petitioner company, for which the petitioner had also contributed a sum of Rs. 100 crores.

21. Sri Sinha urged that upon payment of the entire resolution amount on the effective takeover date, no liability of the erstwhile corporate debtor could survive in respect of any dues prior thereto. He had invited the attention of the Court to the minutes of the meeting of the Interim Monitoring Committee/ Committee of Management, particularly agenda item no. B2, to indicate that the Effective Date has been recorded as 22.12.2022, being the date on which the resolution amount stood deposited in the escrow account maintained with the State Bank of India. It was, thus, submitted that the petitioner had already discharged liabilities from the said date onwards and no prior dues, therefore, remained recoverable.

22. Sri Sinha has also placed reliance upon the letter dated 25.07.2019 issued by the Resolution Professional, wherein it has been stated that the resolution plan would be deemed to have become effective upon deposit of the entire resolution amount in the designated account. In further support of his submissions, reliance has been placed upon the judgment of the Supreme Court in Ghanshyam Mishra and Sons Pvt. Ltd. (supra), particularly paragraphs 132, 140 and 149 of the judgment, to contend that all claims not forming part of the resolution plan stand extinguished and that the successful resolution applicant is entitled to get the company as a clean slate.

23. It was urged that the liability, if any, would arise only from the Effective Date, i.e., the date of transfer of control coupled with deposit of the resolution amount, and not from the date of approval of the resolution plan by NCLT as the order continued to be under litigation, which was a situation not under control of the petitioner. He further contended that the resolution plan was binding upon all stakeholders and on the point as to from when the liability would have arisen, it was clearly provided under the plan and, therefore, the demand was to be raised only after the effective date, which was date of takeover and not the date of NCLT order in the facts of this case considering the years long time gone under litigation due to which the resolution plan could not get implemented.

24. On the basis of aforesaid, Sri Sinha argued that all claims, including statutory dues of the erstwhile RITL, stood extinguished on the effective takeover date i.e., 22.12.2022. He also submitted that the successful resolution applicant could not be burdened by uncertain past liabilities of corporate debtor as it would defeat the object of the IBC.

25. Sri Sinha submitted that by virtue of Section 238 of the IBC, the provisions of IBC override the Electricity Act, 2003 and any subordinate legislation framed thereunder. He argued that the respondents, having failed to submit their claims despite due notice, were precluded from raising the same at later stage and the petitioner had, in any case, already incurred substantial expenditure exceeding Rs. 75 crores towards electricity dues for operational towers during the CIRP and Interim Monitoring Committee period, and no liability can be fastened in respect of non-operational towers or towards interest and penalty for the prior period.

26. Sri Sinha lastly submitted that the similar issue was before the division bench of the High Court of Meghalaya at Shillong in Meghalaya Power Distribution Corporation Limited (MePDCL) v. M/s Reliance Infratel Limited, 2025:MLHC:365-DB, regarding same resolution plan and the High Court had restrained the authorities from raising old electricity dues pertains to the corporate debtor while holding that all debts not included in the plan prior to the effective date would be deemed to be extinguished.

IV

Submissions on behalf of Respondents

27. We have heard Sri Manish Goyal, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Udit Chandra, learned counsel for the respondent Power Corporation, Sri Krishna Agrawal, learned counsel for respondent no.2, Sri Mukesh Kumar Singh, learned counsel for respondent no.4, Sri Baleshwar Chaturvedi, learned counsel for respondent no.5, Sri Ankit Prakash, learned counsel appearing for respondent no.6. Since submissions advanced by learned counsel appearing for contesting respondents were similar as well as overlapping, we consider it appropriate to record it altogether, as the issues involved are common.

28. Leading the submission on behalf of respondents, Sri Goyal, learned Senior Counsel, at the outset fairly submitted that the legal position, insofar as extinguishment of claims not submitted before the RP was concerned, it stood settled against respondents. He submitted that where a creditor, including the Government or its instrumentalities, had failed to lodge its claim in the CIRP and the resolution plan had come to be approved by the NCLT, the provisions of Section 31(1) of the IBC would operate to extinguish such claims, and any recovery in respect thereof would not be sustainable in law. He further submitted, in all fairness, that this position stood conclusively settled by a catena of judgments of the Supreme Court, including the case of Ghanshyam Mishra and Sons Pvt Ltd (supra).

29. However, Sri Goyal raised a caveat to the extent of the petitioner's contention regarding the Effective Date. He submitted that the liability of the petitioner could not have been confined to the date of transfer of management or deposit of the resolution amount, i.e., 22.12.2022, and instead must relate back to the date of approval of the resolution plan by the NCLT, i.e. 03.12.2020. Elaborating the submission, he contended that the order of the NCLT approving the resolution plan, in unequivocal terms, stipulated that the plan shall be effective from the date of the order itself.

30. Sri Goyal referred to the relevant directions, particularly clause 8.2.1 of the plan, to submit that the approval order clearly manifested the intention that the plan would come into force from the date of such approval and not from any subsequent date of transfer of assets or payment.

31. Sri Goyal further submitted that the constitution of an Interim Monitoring Committee, as referred to by the petitioner, was merely a facilitative mechanism for implementation of the resolution plan and did not, in any manner, defer or alter the date from which the plan became operative. He contended that, in view of the proviso to Section 31(1) of the IBC, the Adjudicating Authority was required to satisfy itself regarding the feasibility and implementation of the plan and may issue necessary directions for its effective execution. According to him, such directions cannot be construed as postponing the operative date of the plan, and once the NCLT has clearly directed that the plan shall be effective from the date of its order, no other interpretation was permissible.

32. It was further argued by Sri Goyal that any subsequent deposit of funds or procedural steps, including transfer of money into an escrow account with the State Bank of India pursuant to inter se disputes between financial institutions or directions issued by the Supreme Court, would not have the effect of altering the effective date of the resolution plan. He submitted that these were consequential steps towards implementation and cannot determine the date from which liabilities are to be reckoned.

33. Dealing with the argument based upon the judgment in Ghanshyam Mishra and Sons Pvt. Ltd (supra) relied upon by the petitioner, Sri Goyal submitted that the said judgment did not address the issue as to whether the effective date of a resolution plan was the date of approval by NCLT or the date of transfer of management. According to him, the observations therein could not be read to draw any inference that the effective date would be the date of transfer of control, and any such interpretation would amount to reading beyond the ratio of the judgment. He further submitted that any directions in the said judgment relating to the date of transfer were traceable to the powers of the Supreme Court under Article 142 of the Constitution of India and could not be treated as a binding declaration of law on the issue.

34. Sri Ankit Prakash, learned counsel appearing for respondent no. 6, supplemented the submissions by placing reliance upon the terms of the resolution plan itself, particularly clause 1.2.6, to contend that the plan expressly provided that it shall be effective from the date of approval by the NCLT.

35. Respondents further contended that under clause 4.3(f)(iv) of the U.P. Electricity Supply Code, 2005, the outstanding electricity dues constitute a first charge on the assets, and therefore, any subsequent applicant or entity seeking reconnection was liable to clear such dues. It was urged that by virtue of such statutory charge, the respondent DISCOMs would become secured creditors, and such security interest, being created by operation of law, could not be extinguished under IBC.

36. It was also argued that electricity being an essential service within the meaning of Section 14(2) of the IBC, if the petitioner continued to consume electricity during the moratorium period for maintaining the corporate debtor as a going concern, the corresponding dues would necessarily be payable.

37. Placing reliance on the principle laid down in K.C. Ninan Vs. Kerala SPB (2023) 14 SCC 431, it was further contended that a request for restoration of electricity supply at a disconnected premises amounts to reconnection and not a fresh connection, and therefore, the respondent authorities are entitled to insist upon clearance of past arrears as a condition precedent for such reconnection.

38. Lastly, reliance was placed on the doctrine emerging from State Tax Officer v. Rainbow Papers Limited (2022) SCC online SC 1162, to contend that if a resolution plan failed to account for statutory dues or ignored a statutory first charge created by law, the same would be legally untenable and ought not to have been approved by the Adjudicating Authority. Accordingly, it was submitted that the respondent authorities are within their rights to enforce recovery of such dues and to insist upon payment as a precondition for restoration of electricity supply.

Points for Determination

39. Having regard to the factual matrix and the rival submissions advanced on behalf of the parties, the following points arise for determination:

(i) Whether IBC overrides the electricity laws and regulations, thereby barring the respondent authorities from raising demands for the pre-resolution period after the resolution plan is duly approved and implemented.

(ii) Whether the respondent authorities could raise demand for their statutory dues after implementation of resolution plan, while they have neither filed their claim during CIRP nor objected to the resolution plan before NCLT.

(iii) Whether there can be any liability, which was not mentioned in the resolution plan, can be imposed upon petitioner for the duration prior to the effective date of the implementation of the plan, in the facts and circumstances of the case.

(iv) Whether the impugned demands, recovery certificates and consequential coercive measures are sustainable in law.

VI

Discussion and Analysis

40. The Supreme Court has analysed the scope of the judicial review in the IBC related cases in Torrent Power Ltd. v. Ashish Arjunkumar Rath and Others, 2026 SCC OnLine SC 325, where it was held that:

14.7. Predictability and finality are thus essential to maintaining a robust insolvency regime. Judicial intervention beyond the narrow statutory confines undermines both predictability and finality. Recognising this, the IBC deliberately confines judicial review to strict statutory compliance under Sections 30(2) and 61(3). Respecting these limits will preserve the economic sense of the IBC and ensure that insolvency remains a predictable, time-bound, and market-driven process.

41. Being conscious of the settled legal position that the scope of judicial review over an approved resolution plan under the IBC is very limited, and that the commercial wisdom of the CoC is not open to judicial scrutiny, especially at the stage when the resolution plan is already implemented, we proceed to examine issues arising for determination in these petitions.

(i) Overriding Effect of the IBC over Electricity Laws.

42. The question of primacy between the IBC and the Electricity Act, 2003 arises for consideration in the present case. Learned counsel for the petitioner has drawn attention to Section 238 of the IBC, which contains a non obstante clause asserting the overriding effect of the Code over all other laws in force. Per contra, learned counsel appearing for the respondents have placed reliance upon Sections 173 and 174 of the Electricity Act, 2003 to contend that the said enactment has an overriding effect in certain circumstances. In this backdrop, it becomes necessary to examine the scope and interplay of the aforesaid provisions to determine which Statute would prevail in the event of inconsistency.

43. In addition to Section 238 IBC, the significant role is also being played by Section 31 of the IBC, which indicates that an approved resolution plan is binding on all stakeholders, including governmental and statutory authorities. Section 31 (1) of the IBC is reproduced below for easy reference:

31. Approval of resolution plan. (1) If the Adjudicating Authority is satisfied that the resolution plan as approved by the committee of creditors under sub-section (4) of section 30 meets the requirements as referred to in sub-section (2) of section 30, it shall by order approve the resolution plan which shall be binding on the corporate debtor and its employees, members, creditors, including the Central Government, any State Government or any local authority to whom a debt in respect of the payment of dues arising under any law for the time being in force, such as authorities to whom statutory dues are owed.] guarantors and other stakeholders involved in the resolution plan:

Provided that the Adjudicating Authority shall, before passing an order for approval of resolution plan under this sub-section, satisfy that the resolution plan has provisions for its effective implementation.

44. We also consider it necessary to refer legal maxim, leges posteriores priores contrarias abrogant, which means wherever two enactments are irreconcilably inconsistent, the later enactment must prevail to the extent of such inconsistency. This principle of interpretation of statutes is generally applicable in a situation where two enactments appear to operate in the same field but got enacted in different timeline. It is a settled rule of statutory interpretation is that where there is a conflict between two Statutes, the Court must first attempt a harmonious construction, however, where such reconciliation is not possible, the later enactment would prevail as per above-mentioned maxim.

45. The IBC is a subsequent and comprehensive legislation intended to consolidate and amend the laws relating to insolvency resolution, specifically focussing on revival of corporate debtors in a time-bound manner. The scheme of the Code would be rendered unworkable if past liabilities, not forming part of the resolution plan, were permitted to be raised by claimants relying upon any other Statute.

46. For ascertaining the legislative intent underlying the enactment of the IBC, we consider it appropriate to refer to its preamble, which was also analysed by the Supreme Court in Innovative Industries Ltd. v. ICICI Bank & Anr., (2018) 1 SCC 407. It is settled beyond ambiguity that IBC was enacted to consolidate and amend the laws relating to reorganisation and insolvency resolution of corporate persons, partnership firms, and individuals in a time-bound manner, keeping in view maximisation of assets value. It further seeks to balance the interests of all stakeholders while providing a waterfall mechanism for payment of dues.

47. Thus, when Section 238 of the IBC is read in light of the objective of the Code and established legal principles, there remains no doubt that in the event of inconsistency between the IBC and any other Statutes, including sector-specific enactments such as the Electricity Act, 2003, the provisions of the IBC would prevail.

48. In this regard, reference may be made to Paschimanchal Vidyut Vitran Nigam Ltd. (supra), wherein the Supreme Court considered the status of electricity dues in the context of the IBC and held that the IBC overrides the provisions of the Electricity Act, 2003, as section 238 of the IBC contains a non-obstante clause. The Supreme Court distinguished findings of Rainbow Papers (supra) contextually and further held that:

53. Rainbow Papers [STO v. Rainbow Papers Ltd., (2023) 9 SCC 545] did not notice the waterfall mechanism under Section 53-the provision had not been adverted to or extracted in the judgment. Furthermore, Rainbow Papers [STO v. Rainbow Papers Ltd., (2023) 9 SCC 545] was in the context of a resolution process and not during liquidation. Section 53, as held earlier, enacts the waterfall mechanism providing for the hierarchy or priority of claims of various classes of creditors. The careful design of Section 53 locates amounts payable to secured creditors and workmen at the second place, after the costs and expenses of the liquidator payable during the liquidation proceedings. However, the dues payable to the government are placed much below those of secured creditors and even unsecured and operational creditors. This design was either not brought to the notice of the Court in Rainbow Papers [STO v. Rainbow Papers Ltd., (2023) 9 SCC 545] or was missed altogether. In any event, the judgment has not taken note of the provisions of IBC which treat the dues payable to the secured creditors at a higher footing than dues payable to the Central or the State Government.

57. Similarly, in Duncans Industries Ltd. v. AJ Agrochem [Duncans Industries Ltd. v. AJ Agrochem, (2019) 9 SCC 725 : (2019) 4 SCC (Civ) 669], Section 16-G of the Tea Act, 1953 which required prior consent of the Central Government (for initiation of winding-up proceedings) was held to be overridden by IBC. In a similar manner, it is held that Section 238 IBC overrides the provisions of the Electricity Act, 2003 despite the latter containing two specific provisions which open with non obstante clauses (i.e. Sections 173 and 174). The position of law with respect to primacy of IBC, is identical with the position discussed in ABG Shipyard Liquidator [ABG Shipyard Liquidator v. Central Board of Indirect Taxes & Customs, (2023) 1 SCC 472 : (2023) 1 SCC (Civ) 251] and Duncans Industries [Duncans Industries Ltd. v. AJ Agrochem, (2019) 9 SCC 725 : (2019) 4 SCC (Civ) 669] [refer also : Innoventive Industries [Innoventive Industries Ltd. v. ICICI Bank, (2018) 1 SCC 407 : (2018) 1 SCC (Civ) 356], CIT v. Monnet Ispat & Energy Ltd. [CIT v. Monnet Ispat & Energy Ltd., (2018) 18 SCC 786 : (2019) 3 SCC (Civ) 252], Ghanashyam Mishra & Sons (P) Ltd. v. Edelweiss Asset Reconstruction Co. Ltd. [Ghanashyam Mishra & Sons (P) Ltd. v. Edelweiss Asset Reconstruction Co. Ltd., (2021) 9 SCC 657 : (2021) 4 SCC (Civ) 638], and Jagmohan Bajaj v. Shivam Fragrances (P) Ltd. [Jagmohan Bajaj v. Shivam Fragrances (P) Ltd., 2018 SCC OnLine NCLAT 413]].

(ii) Validity of Pre-CIRP dues raised after implementation of Resolution Plan.

49. The law on this issue is well settled by the Supreme Court in a catena of judgements as it was fairly submitted by Sri Goyal learned senior counsel but some of the respondents counsel continued submission on this issue and, therefore, the issue require consideration.

50. The judgement of the Supreme Court in Tata Power Western Odisha Distribution Ltd. and Anr. (supra), is very relevant in the facts of this case, where it was held that:

1. In our opinion, the legal issue is covered by the judgment of this court in Paschimanchal Vidyut Vitran Nigam Ltd. v. Raman Ispat P. Ltd. [See (2023) 23 Comp Cas-OL 524 (SC); 2023 SCC OnLine SC 842.] and the order of this court in Southern Power Distribution Co. of Andhra Pradesh Ltd. v. Gavi Siddeswara Steels (India) P. Ltd. [See (2023) 24 Comp Cas-OL 213 (SC), order dated September 6, 2023 in Civil AppealNos. 5716 and 5717 of 2023.] . The appellant-Tata Power Western Odisha Distribution Ltd. cannot insist on payment of arrears, which have to be paid in terms of the waterfall mechanism, for grant of an electricity connection. However, the successful resolution applicant will have to comply with the other requirements for grant of electricity connection. The clean slate principle would stand negated if the successful resolution applicant is asked to pay the arrears payable by the corporate debtor for the grant of an electricity connection in her/his name.

51. The Supreme Court in Ghanshyam Mishra and Sons Pvt. Ltd. (supra) held that the term operational Creditor included Central and State Governments and any other local authority, following its earlier decision in the case of Essar Steel India Ltd. Committee of Creditors v. Satish Kumar Gupta (2020) 8 SCC 531 and thereafter concluded that:

102.1. That once a resolution plan is duly approved by the adjudicating authority under sub-section (1) of Section 31, the claims as provided in the resolution plan shall stand frozen and will be binding on the corporate debtor and its employees, members, creditors, including the Central Government, any State Government or any local authority, guarantors and other stakeholders. On the date of approval of resolution plan by the adjudicating authority, all such claims, which are not a part of resolution plan, shall stand extinguished and no person will be entitled to initiate or continue any proceedings in respect to a claim, which is not part of the resolution plan.

52. These principles were followed in RPS Infrastructure Ltd. v. Mukul Kumar (2023) 10 SCC 718, and Vaibhav Goel & anr v. Deputy Commissioner of Income-Tax & anr (2025) 8 SCC 511. In RPS Infrastructure Limited (supra), and the Supreme Court relied upon its observations in Essar Steel India Ltd. Committee of Creditors (supra) on entertaining claims after the resolution plan had been accepted by the CoC. Supreme Court was of the view that the finality after undergoing the due process under IBC could not be easily interfered with by the adjudicating authority.

53. In Vaibhav Goel & Anr. (supra), the Supreme Court held that:

all the dues including the statutory dues owed to the Central government, any State Government or any local authority, if not a part of the resolution plan, shall stand extinguished and no proceedings could be continued in respect of such dues for the period prior to the date on which the adjudicating authority grants its approval under Section 31 of the IB Code.

54. Relying upon the principles established by the Supreme Court in Essar Steel India Ltd. Committee of Creditors (supra), and Ghanshyam Mishra and Sons Pvt. Ltd. (supra), this Court in similar facts and issue in South East U.P. Power Transmission Company Limited Vs. Prescribed Authority and 4 others, order dated 24.04.2026 in Writ C No. 19391 of 2023 has held that:

76. The principle established by the Supreme Court in the aforementioned judgments is that a successful resolution applicant must be permitted to take over the corporate debtor on a clean slate the entity should be free from past liabilities except those specifically preserved in the Resolution Plan. The IBC is based on the principle that upon approval of a Resolution Plan, the corporate debtor emerges from insolvency in a renewed form, with its past liabilities crystallised and confined strictly to those recognised in the Resolution Plan.

55. Respondents relied upon State Tax Officer (1) v. Rainbow Papers Ltd. (supra), where the State Tax Officer had raised the claim before the CoC, which was not taken into consideration by the CoC. As such, Court came to a finding that the satisfaction arrived at by the adjudicating authority under Section 31 of the Code was vitiated. Therefore, we are of the considered view that the facts in Rainbow Papers are totally distinguishable to the facts of the present case and hence the judgment is of no help to the respondents.

56. While dealing with the same resolution plan as in this case and old dues of corporate debtor, the High Court of Meghalaya at Shillong has held in Meghalaya Power Distribution Corporation Limited (MePDCL) (supra) that:

Then under section 31, the resolution plan goes for approval to the adjudicating authority. The adjudicating authority has a concurrent duty of satisfying itself that inter alia the plan provides for payment of the debts of operational creditors. Thereafter, the adjudicating authority which is the NCLT approves the resolution plan. Section 60 provides that during pendency of the resolution plan before the adjudicating authority or NCLT, any application is to be made before it. Such an application under section 60 (5) (c) includes one for determination to any question with regard to insolvency resolution. Under Section 61 an appeal from a decision of the NCLT lies before the appellate authority (NCLAT). Such appeal under section 61(2) has to be filed within 30 (thirty) days of the decision of the NCLT, the Appellate Tribunal may extend such time by a maximum period of 15 days. A further appeal lies under section 62 of the Supreme Court within 45 days which may be further extended by 15 days and no more.

57. Further, on the issue of raising the demand of electricity dues for pre-CIRP period, the High Court of Meghalaya at Shillong referred various judgements of the Supreme Court on the issue and thereafter held in in Meghalaya Power Distribution Corporation Limited (MePDCL) (supra) that :

On a proper interpretation of this judgment till such time as a resolution plan is declared as invalid it would be presumed to be valid and all debts not included in the plan prior to the effective date would be deemed to be extinguished.

It was further held that:

In my opinion, unless any contrary order is brought from a competent jurisdiction declaring invalidity of the resolution plan, the plan as approved by NCLT is valid and binding on all stakeholders.

In the facts and circumstances of this case the said alleged debts of the first respondent to the appellant are not included in the resolution plan as approved by the adjudicating authority, NCLT on 3rd December, 2020. Therefore, those debts before the effective date of the plan i.e., 22nd December, 2022 are deemed to have been extinguished.

Therefore, I pass an order of injunction restraining the appellant from taking steps or from enforcing its demand notice dated 12th June, 2023.

58. We are in respectful agreement with the view taken by the Meghalaya High Court in Meghalaya Power Distribution Corporation Limited (MePDCL) (supra), as there were multiple occasions and forums when respondents could have challenged the resolution plan if they had any grievance but after opting to neither file claim nor challenging the resolution plan, respondents have lost the opportunity and the old claim of corporate debtor is extinguished in facts of the case.

(iii) Date of commencement of the liability

59. Next question which arises for consideration is as to when the liability starts for the payment of dues to the respondents. It is argued by the petitioner that the effective date of the resolution plan should be considered in the facts of the present case. The petitioner contends that the Effective Date is 22.12.2022, being the date on which the successful resolution applicant took over the management of the corporate debtor upon deposit of the resolution amount and actual implementation of the plan. On the other hand, the respondents submits that the resolution plan, having been approved by the NCLT on 03.12.2020, became effective from that date itself, and all consequences, including fastening of liability, must be from the date of NCLT order approving the resolution plan.

60. It is not in dispute that the resolution plan was approved by NCLT on 03.12.2020 and was thereafter challenged in appeal before NCLAT and travelled upto Supreme Court and then got finally upheld. In the circumstances the NCLT order could not be implemented in the meanwhile and that lead to put the resolution plan implementation on hold. It is also not in dispute that the actual change of management and operational control took place on 22.12.2022 upon completion of procedural formalities, including deposit of the resolution amount and implementation steps undertaken thereafter under the supervision mechanism provided in the plan. It can also not be denied that there was no possibility of the resolution plan to become effective till the amount was deposited as per procedural requirement.

61. In the facts of this case the Effective Date assumes significance since it is closely linked with the commencement of liabilities of the successful resolution applicant as per clause 1.2.6 of the resolution plan. While the approval of the resolution plan by the NCLT confers legal sanction upon the plan, its operational implementation, including transfer of management and discharge of obligations under the plan, may occur subsequently in accordance with its terms and the implementation framework contemplated therein as the decision of CoC is final being the commercial wisdom and there cannot be judicial review to the clause which has specified the effective date in resolution plan itself, which got approved by the NCLT.

62. However, the respondents had raised question in this regard and therefore it becomes the point for determination as to whether mere approval of the resolution plan is sufficient to fix the date for imposition of liability even if the implementation thereof gets over delayed, or whether such liability can only arise upon actual implementation and transfer of control in terms of the resolution framework. This issue necessarily requires examination of the terms of the resolution plan itself, the implementation mechanism envisaged therein, and the legal effect of approval under Section 31 of the IBC.

63. Resolution plan in Clause 1.2.6 states that upon payments in the manner specified in sub-section 1.2.8 and payment of the Interim Management Costs in accordance with this resolution plan, the Corporate Debtor or the resolution applicant or its Affiliates shall have no liability. For ready reference, Clause 1.2.6 is reproduced as below:-

1.2.6 Upon payments in the manner specified in sub-section 1.2.8 below and payment of the Interim Management Costs in accordance with this Resolution Plan, the Corporate Debtor or the Resolution Applicant or its Affiliates shall have no liability towards:

(a) any Stakeholder of the Corporate Debtor, including any Creditor whether Financial Creditors, Employees, Workmen, Government and/or Statutory Authorities, Other Operational Creditors, shareholders or any other stakeholder and all claims and liabilities of any nature whatsoever (whether claimed or unclaimed, admitted or not, due or contingent, asserted or unasserted, crystallised or uncrystallised, known or unknown, disputed or undisputed) of the Corporate Debtor for any period up to the Effective Date towards the Creditors and other Stakeholders of the Corporate Debtor shall be extinguished and settled, upon payment of the Total Resolution Amount on the Effective Date, on and with effect from the NCLT Approval Date; and

64. It is evident that, with effect from the date of approval by the NCLT, the liability of the Resolution Applicant was intended to commence, but in the resolution plan itself it is also stipulated that all claims against the Corporate Debtor would stand extinguished upon payment of the total resolution amount on the effective date. However, despite this clear framework, the Plan could not be implemented within the contemplated timeline, as the final payment itself was delayed due to challenges raised to the resolution plan. The issue of final payment could be resolved only after the interim order dated 30.11.2022 was passed by the Supreme Court in State Bank of India and Others vs. Doha Bank Q.P.S.C. and Another, Civil Appeal No. 8527 of 2022.

65. The delay, therefore, was occasioned due to litigation and not by any lapse on the part of the Resolution Applicant. In State Bank of India and Others (supra), the Supreme Court further directed, in terms of the order dated 21.11.2022 passed by the NCLAT Court-I, Mumbai Bench, Maharashtra, that the amount be deposited in an escrow account to be opened with the State Bank of India. It was only thereafter effective steps toward implementation of the resolution plan were taken, culminating in the successful resolution of the Corporate Debtor as a new entity with effect from 22.12.2022 upon completion of all formalities.

66. In our considered view, the newly resolved company cannot be forced to bear the financial burden due to such delay caused because the NCLT order approving resolution plan got challenged before appellate Courts. To substantiate it, we would rely upon the Latin legal maxim, actus curiae neminem gravabit which means that an act of the Court shall prejudice no one. In the facts of this case, occasional interim orders delayed the effective date, which is to be considered as per clause mentioned in the resolution plan regarding commencement of liabilities and therefore, Court is to come forward to protect such litigant relying upon above maxim.

67. On the matter of delay due to litigation the Supreme Court has relied upon the above-mentioned maxim to do justice in Arcelor Mittal India Private Limited v. Satish Kumar Gupta, (2019) 2 SCC 1, and held that:

86. Given the fact that both the NCLT and Nclat are to decide matters arising under the Code as soon as possible, we cannot shut our eyes to the fact that a large volume of litigation has now to be handled by both the aforesaid Tribunals. What happens in a case where the NCLT or the NCLAT decide a matter arising out of Section 31 of the Code beyond the time-limit of 180 days or the extended time-limit of 270 days? Actus curiae neminem gravabit the act of the court shall harm no man is a maxim firmly rooted in our jurisprudence (see Jang Singh v. Brij Lal [Jang Singh v. Brij Lal, (1964) 2 SCR 145 : AIR 1966 SC 1631] , SCR at p. 149 and A.R. Antulay v. R.S. Nayak [A.R. Antulay v. R.S. Nayak, (1988) 2 SCC 602 : 1988 SCC (Cri) 372 : 1988 Supp (1) SCR 1] , SCR at p. 71). It is also true that the time taken by a Tribunal should not set at naught the time-limits within which the corporate insolvency resolution process must take place. However, we cannot forget that the consequence of the chopper falling is corporate death. The only reasonable construction of the Code is the balance to be maintained between timely completion of the corporate insolvency resolution process, and the corporate debtor otherwise being put into liquidation. We must not forget that the corporate debtor consists of several employees and workmen whose daily bread is dependent on the outcome of the corporate insolvency resolution process. If there is a resolution applicant who can continue to run the corporate debtor as a going concern, every effort must be made to try and see that this is made possible. [Regulation 32 of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Board of India (Liquidation Process) Regulations, 2016, states that the liquidator may also sell the corporate debtor as a going concern.] A reasonable and balanced construction of this statute would therefore lead to the result that, where a resolution plan is upheld by the appellate authority, either by way of allowing or dismissing an appeal before it, the period of time taken in litigation ought to be excluded. This is not to say that the NCLT and Nclat will be tardy in decision-making. This is only to say that in the event of the NCLT, or the Nclat, or this Court taking time to decide an application beyond the period of 270 days, the time taken in legal proceedings to decide the matter cannot possibly be excluded, as otherwise a good resolution plan may have to be shelved, resulting in corporate death, and the consequent displacement of employees and workers.

(emphasis supplied)

68. The minutes of 20th CoC meeting clearly recognizes the effective date of implementation of the resolution plan is the date when the funds were deposited, i.e., 22.12.2022, and therefore, considering NCLT approval date being the date to commence liability would amount to interference with the wisdom of the CoC in the facts of this case because the plan accepted by the NCLT has expressly mentioned that the effective date would be the date of deposit. For ready reference, Agenda Item No. B-15, reads as below:-

Dissolution of the Monitoring Committee pursuant to the completion of the implementation of the Resolution Plan.

The Monitoring Committee was informed that pursuant to resolution plan dated November 25, 2019 (as amended from time to time till January 13, 2020) submitted by Reliance Projects and Property Management Services Limited through its division Infrastructure Projects ("RPPMSL" and the plan is referred to as the "Resolution Plan") during the corporate insolvency resolution process of the Company, as duly approved by the committee of creditors of the Company and subsequently by the Hon'ble National Company Law Tribunal, Mumbai Bench ("NCLT") vide order dated December 3, 2020 and all the steps of the implementation stated in the Resolution Plan of RPPMSL (including reconstitution of Board) have been completed on the Effective Date, i.e. December 22, 2022.

The distribution of the Total Resolution Amount (as defined under the Resolution Plan) to the relevant stakeholders/creditors of the Company shall be carried out in terms of the Escrow Agreement dated December 22, 2022.

Accordingly, it is informed that all actions / correspondence in relation to any matters/affairs of the Company shall henceforth be undertaken by the reconstituted board of directors of the Company, and the Monitoring Committee shall be divested of its powers and responsibilities and shall cease to exist with effect from the Effective Date i.e. December 22, 2022 in accordance with the terms of the Resolution Plan, without the requirement of any further action or deed in this regard.

69. Considering above, we conclude that the liability arises from the effective date which is expressly mentioned in the resolution plan, which was approved by CoC in its commercial wisdom, approved by NCLT and upheld by Supreme Court. Recording in NCLT order that it is effective from the date of the order is to be read harmoniously as well as purposefully as the moment resolution plan is approved by the NCLT, everything written in the resolution plan becomes binding on all stakeholders. NCLT cannot intend to interfere in the provision made in the resolution plan as per established legal principle and, therefore, the NCLT order could have been read as the date per the resolution plan, if the amount was deposited as per clause 1.2.8 schedule and had not got delayed the implementation of the plan due to litigation.

70. In the peculiar facts and circumstances of this case where the implementation of resolution plan got over delayed due to the situation beyond the control of the petitioner, we consider it appropriate to apply the principle laid down by the Supreme Court in Arcelor Mittal India Private Limited (supra), where the Supreme Court has excluded the time taken in the litigation, we hold that the date on which the petitioner could effectively implement the resolution plan after depositing complete resolution amount, the liability shall arise from that date. Otherwise, putting the uncertain, unexpected, unclaimed burden on the resolved entity will be against the principles on which the insolvency law is based.

(iv) Legality of Impugned Demands and Coercive Measures

71. The next issue which arises for consideration is the legality and sustainability of the impugned demands, recovery certificates, and consequential coercive actions taken by the respondent authorities because the petitioner has made prayer against the said actions primarily on the ground that the demands pertain to the electricity dues relating to the period prior to Effective Date of the resolution plan, and therefore stand extinguished in view of Section 31 of the IBC if the claim is not being filed during CIRP. It is further contended that once the resolution plan has attained finality, which binds all stakeholders, and hence no recovery proceedings in respect of pre-CIRP dues can be maintained, much less enforced by coercive measures.

72. On the contrary, the respondents seek to justify the impugned actions by contending that the electricity dues constitute statutory dues protected under the applicable Electricity Supply Code and that such dues form a first charge on the premises. It is further urged that electricity being an essential service, recovery of arrears cannot be ignored, and disconnection or reconnection are permissible only under the Electricity Act, particularly where dues remain outstanding against the premises in question for any reason.

73. The controversy, therefore, lies in determining whether, in light of the approved resolution plan and the statutory scheme under the IBC, the respondents could lawfully raise and enforce demands relating to the duration prior to the effective date, and whether coercive measures such as disconnection of electricity supply and sealing of operational mobile tower sites can be justified in law.

74. The answer of this issue would first depend upon the interplay between the binding effect of the resolution plan under Section 31, the overriding effect under Section 238 of the Code, and the statutory powers claimed by the electricity distribution companies under the Electricity Act and the Supply Code, which has been discussed in point (i) where we have concluded that the IBC has overriding effect over Electricity Act and other related laws.

75. The second determinative factor would be as to whether respondents could raise the demand for the period prior to the effective date or when the complete resolution amount was not deposited and the plan was yet to be implemented. This issue has been analysed already above as point (ii) where we have concluded that the respondents who have not filed their claim during CIRP, cannot raise any demand as the claim has got extinguished such a right after the plan, resolution plan got approved by the NCLT and remained undisputed by such a department till the effective date. Considering facts of this case, where the plan is already implemented, raising the demand subsequently would be against all settled legal principles of insolvency laws.

76. Since, it has been held that the claims in respect of the period prior to the approval of the resolution plan stand extinguished, the respondents are precluded from enforcing any such claims, and the liability of the petitioner cannot be fastened prior to the Effective Date as determined in accordance with the resolution plan in the facts of the case.

77. IBC operates within a time-bound and self-contained mechanism, where rights and obligations of stakeholders are required to be determined strictly in accordance with the approved resolution plan and its implementation structure. The binding nature of the resolution plan, once it attains finality under Section 31 of the Code, necessarily governs the rights of all stakeholders, including operational creditors and statutory authorities, subject to the contours of the plan itself. But the principle of exclusion of time taken in the litigation is not alien to the insolvency law but it is available to the petitioner and not to the respondents in the fact of the case.

78. Within the framework of the IBC, three distinct phases prior to final phase can be discerned in the facts of this case. The first pertains to pre-CIRP dues, which are required to be filed before the RP during the CIRP, failing this, or if not provided for in the approved resolution plan, such dues stand extinguished. The second phase covers the CIRP period itself, where regular operational cost gets presented as CIRP costs, and get placed before the CoC, and these costs are payable on timely basis or in terms of the approved plan, but this also extinguishes, if neither paid during CIRP nor mentioned in the plan. The third phase commences from the date of approval of resolution plan when the monitoring committee takes over, which settles all operational and transitional costs till the effective date of the resolution plan. The final phase is when the corporate debtor emerges as a clean slate, notwithstanding continuity in its name or change of name.

79. In view of the above, dues arising in the first, second and third phases cannot be enforced after the resolution plan is implemented. It is only liabilities arising in the final phase that can be validly claimed, and the petitioner would be bound to comply with the provisions of the Electricity Act, 2003 and other applicable laws in respect of obligations accruing from the effective date onwards.

80. From perusal of resolution plan, it appears that the implementation of the resolution plan, including assumption of management and operational control, is not merely a formal consequence of approval but is intrinsically linked to the execution steps contemplated under the plan. The determination of the point at which liabilities crystallise must, therefore, be guided by the scheme of implementation as reflected in the resolution framework and the actual transition of control in terms thereof, especially when the delay in the implementation was due to pending considerations before one or another Courts.

81. Consequently, any action or demand raised by statutory authorities must necessarily be tested on the anvil of the finality accorded to the resolution process and the statutory mandate governing its binding effect. Coercive steps undertaken in deviation of the approved resolution framework cannot be sustained if they are found to travel beyond the permissible scope of recovery as envisaged under the IBC framework.

82. Accordingly, the sustainability of the impugned actions and the liability, if any, attributable to the petitioner are required to be examined in the light of the settled legal position governing the sanctity of the resolution process and the statutory finality attached thereto under IBC and therefore impugned demand notices pertaining to the duration prior to CIRP, during CIRP, monitoring phase, and further upto the effective date of implementation cannot be sustained in law.

VII Conclusion

83. In view of the discussions made hereinabove and upon consideration of the factual matrix, the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties, and the settled legal position governing the field, this Court is of the considered view that the impugned actions of the respondent authorities cannot be sustained in law as IBC has overriding effect.

84. The claims sought to be enforced pertain to the period pre- CIRP, during CIRP, monitoring phase and further upto the period till effective date for which no claim was filed by respondents. These claims are extinguished in terms of Section 31 of the IBC as well as express provisions made in the resolution plan and hence are not enforceable against the petitioner.

85. We are of the considered view that the resolution plan, having attained finality, is binding on all stakeholders, including statutory authorities, and operates on a clean slate principle as recognised in law. The respondent authorities, therefore, could not have proceeded to raise or enforce demands which are extinguished, nor could they have resorted to coercive measures for recovery of such extinguished claims.

86. Prayers regarding disconnection/ reconnection of the electricity, are not considered in this order as the main point in this case has been the date from which the liability could be imposed upon the petitioner and once that is being determined as the effective date when the final amount was deposited as per resolution plan, consequential action may follow. And for this reason if there is any demand pre-effective date, then the same cannot be claimed being extinguished claim and if the demand is regarding post-effective date then the parties have got remedy under Electricity Act, except the fact that the dues or arrears on premises cannot be demanded any more as per Electricity Act dues for the reason of overriding effect of IBC.

87. In the light of the aforesaid, this Court is of the considered view that the impugned Recovery Certificates and Kruki proceedings, upto the extent of demand being made prior to the effective date 22.12.2022, cannot be sustained in law and are liable to be set aside.

VIII Order

88. Thus, this writ petition succeeds and is allowed. Impugned demand notices and consequential recoveries and action are quashed. However, respondent authorities are at the liberty to issue fresh demand notice for any dues, which may have occurred after the effective date i.e., 22.12.2022 in accordance with law.

89. No order as to costs.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether the notifications issued under Sections 11 and 19 of the Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act, 2013 for acquisition of land, including village abadi, for expansion of the Noida International Airport, Jewar, were liable to be quashed on the grounds that: (i) the acquisition could not be undertaken under the Act, 2013 after the villages had been declared Industrial Nagar under the U.P. Industrial Area Development Act, 1976; (ii) the mandatory requirement of obtaining consent of at least 70% of affected families for a Public-Private Partnership project was not satisfied; (iii) the Social Impact Assessment process and Expert Group recommendations were not duly complied with; (iv) the statutory procedure under Sections 11, 12, 15, 16, 17 and 19 of the Act, 2013 was violated; (v) additional land and village abadi were included without due acquisition proceedings; (vi) Section 10 relating to food security and acquisition of irrigated multi-cropped land was breached; and (vii) the acquisition violated the constitutional protection of property under Article 300-A of the Constitution.

HEADNOTE

Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act, 2013 – ss.2(2), 4, 5, 7, 10, 11, 12, 15, 16, 17, 19 – Constitution of India – Art.300-A – U.P. Industrial Area Development Act, 1976 – Acquisition of land including village abadi for expansion of Noida International Airport, Jewar under a Public-Private Partnership project – Challenge to notifications under ss.11 and 19 – Grounds urged: (i) villages having been declared Industrial Nagar under the Act, 1976, acquisition could only be undertaken by YEIDA under that enactment and not under the Act, 2013; (ii) mandatory consent of at least 70% of affected families under s.2(2)(b)(ii) was not obtained; (iii) Social Impact Assessment proceedings were arbitrary and public hearing was not properly conducted; (iv) recommendation of the Expert Group for re-survey of affected villages was ignored; (v) notification under s.11 was issued without compliance with mandatory requirements under ss.11, 12 and 15 and proceedings under ss.15 and 16 were conducted simultaneously; (vi) village abadi and additional land were included in the declaration under s.19 without prior acquisition proceedings and without consideration of objections; (vii) acquisition involved irrigated multi-cropped land in violation of s.10 relating to food security; and (viii) deprivation of property without strict compliance with statutory safeguards violated Art.300-A.

Held: 1. Nature And Importance Of The Project: Public Purpose – Expansion of Noida International Airport being a project of national importance intended to generate employment, economic development and tourism, the declaration of public purpose could not be said to be arbitrary or colourable exercise of power. (Para 6.1)

2. Statutory Scheme – Private Company Versus Public-Private Partnership Projects: The Airport Project is structured as a public-private partnership project being implemented through NIAL (a State company) with the private operator YIAPL, a wholly owned subsidiary of Zurich Airport International AG. The consent threshold applicable is accordingly 70% of the project affected families. (Para 6.2.4)

3. SIA Process – Compliance Examined: Section 5 of the Act, 2013 governs the conduct of a public hearing at the stage of Social Impact Assessment. Under Section 5, the purpose of the public hearing is limited to ascertaining the views of the affected families to be recorded in the SIA Report; the Act does not contemplate adjudication of individual objections at the SIA stage. Court held that the SIA process was duly conducted in accordance with Sections 4 to 8 of the Act, 2013 and the Rules, 2016. The Expert Group's suggestion for exploring the possibility of minimising displacement was acted upon through PwC, which confirmed the technical unavoidability of relocation. (Para 6.3.4).

4. Consent – Satisfaction of Statutory Threshold: The statutory unit for computing consent is the "affected family" as defined under Section 3(c) of the Act, 2013, and not village-wise landholdings or individual voters. Court held that where certain families holding land in more than one revenue village had been counted multiple times, such duplication was liable to be removed. Upon removal of the duplication, the corrected data established that 73.02% of the project-affected families had given consent, which was well above the mandatory 70% threshold prescribed under Section 2(2)(b)(ii) of the Act, 2013. (Para 6.4.2).

5. Expression "affected families" is of wide amplitude and is not confined merely to landowners whose land is acquired, but also includes all such families whose livelihood or rights are adversely impacted by the acquisition, including agricultural labourers, tenants, share-croppers, artisans, forest dwellers, persons dependent on forest or water resources, beneficiaries of Government land allotments, and even families residing in urban areas whose livelihood is affected. For the purposes of obtaining consent under Section 2(2), the statute mandates that the requisite percentage is to be computed with reference to this broader category of affected families and not merely the recorded tenure holders. (Para 6.2.3)

6. Hearing Of Objections Under Section 15 – Section 15 of the Act, 2013 r/w Rule 23 of the Rules, 2016 prescribes the procedure for hearing of objections filed u/s 15 of the Act, 2013 to the proposed acquisition. Any person interested in the land may raise objections within sixty days from the date of publication of the preliminary notification issued under Section 11(1). The objections may relate to the suitability and extent of land, the justification of public purpose, and the findings of the Social Impact Assessment Report. Such objections are to be considered by the Collector after affording an opportunity of personal hearing, including through an authorised representative or advocate. The objections must be heard by the Collector personally and not delegated. The Collector is required to conduct the necessary inquiry and submit a report with recommendations, along with the record of proceedings and relevant details, to the appropriate Government. The final decision on such objections rests with the appropriate Government. In the instant case, the Court found that notices were duly issued under Rule 23 of the Rules, 2016 fixing the date for hearing of objections. Public notice was published in newspapers and local public announcements were made. The petitioners were afforded a personal hearing. After due consideration, the Collector passed a reasoned order dismissing the objections on the ground that they fell outside the limited statutory scope of Section 15(1). The Collector's report was forwarded to and approved by the State Government under Section 15(3). The Court found no infirmity in the procedure followed under Section 15 of the Act, 2013. (Para 6.6.2)

7. Parallel Conduct Of Proceedings Under Sections 15 And 16: The Court rejected the petitioners' contention that initiation of proceedings under Section 16 prior to disposal of objections under Section 15 constitutes an illegality. A harmonious reading of Sections 15, 16, 18, and 19 of the Act, 2013 leads to the conclusion that these provisions are designed to operate concurrently and not in a strictly sequential manner. (Para 6.7.2)

8. R&R Scheme – Adequacy And Compliance: Rehabilitation & Resettlement Scheme provided a comprehensive package including allotment of developed residential land (50% of existing landholding, minimum 50 sq. mtrs., maximum 500 sq. mtrs.), employment option or lump sum of Rs. 5,00,000/- or annuity of Rs. 2,000/- per month for 20 years, subsistence allowance, transportation allowance, resettlement allowance, and special assistance for SC/ST families, all in accordance with the Act, 2013. The petitioners' objections were specifically recorded and addressed in the draft R&R Scheme dated 14.07.2025. (Para 6.8)

9. Section 19 Declaration – No Expansion Of Acquisition: Court rejected the petitioners' contention that Gata Nos. 365 to 671 were added for the first time in the Section 19 notification, covering an additional area of 78.6776 hectares for which no prior acquisition proceedings had been initiated. The Court held that a plain reading of Section 19(2) makes it evident that the declaration under Section 19(1) is required to be accompanied not only by the summary of the Rehabilitation and Resettlement Scheme but also by an indication of the area required for the resettlement of the affected families. The Court further held that the land identified in Schedule-B of the impugned Section 19 Declaration, admeasuring 437.9931 hectares (of which 78.6776 hectares pertained to the petitioners' village), was included solely as the identified resettlement area for displaced families in compliance with Section 19(2) and did not form part of the land proposed to be acquired for the airport expansion project under Section 19(1). Identification of land for R&R purposes under Section 19(2) is a distinct statutory obligation and does not constitute acquisition of such land under Section 19(1). The acquisition of the 437.9931 hectares identified for R&R purposes shall be undertaken only through a separate and independent acquisition process in accordance with the Act, 2013. (Para 6.9.1)

10. Section 10 – Food Security: Section 10 of the Act, 2013 provides special provisions to safeguard food security. It imposes a general prohibition on the acquisition of irrigated multi-cropped land, except in exceptional circumstances as a last resort and subject to limits to be notified by the appropriate Government. The State Government had notified 5% of the net sown area as the applicable limit for District Gautam Buddha Nagar. The net sown area of the district was 64,046 hectares, and the total acquisition across all stages in the district did not exceed the notified limit of 5%. The Court held that the requirement of Section 10(4) accordingly stood satisfied. As far as Section 10(3) is concerned, that provision is triggered only when irrigated multi-cropped land is acquired. In the instant case, the petitioners could not place any specific material on record to establish that the land being acquired was irrigated multi-cropped land within the meaning of Section 10(1).

11. Expert Group's Report: Interference by the Court is warranted only if the Expert Group recommends abandonment under Section 7(4) and the Government proceeds in defiance of that recommendation. In the instant case, the Expert Group expressly did not make any recommendation under Section 7(4) for abandonment of the acquisition. The Court held that the petitioners' suggestion that the Expert Group recommended that Villages Thora and Neemka should be kept free from displacement was a misreading of the record. The Expert Group merely suggested that the possibility be explored, upon which PwC conclusively confirmed the unavailability of relocation. No recommendation under Section 7(4) was made. (Para 6.11.1)

12. Rule 13 of the Rules, 2016 – Minimum Land Acquisition and Utilisation of Government Land: The Multi-Disciplinary Expert Group specifically recorded in its report that the total proposed acquisition area of 1,888.9088 hectares constituted the bare minimum requirement for the project and that no viable alternative existed which would result in lesser acquisition or displacement. The Court rejected the ground regarding violation of Rule 13 of the Rules, 2016. (Para 6.11.3)

13. Challenge Based on the U.P. Industrial Area Development Act, 1976: Declaration of an area as an industrial township does not, in law, bar the exercise of acquisition powers under the Act, 2013 for a distinct public purpose. Section 6 of the Act, 1976 itself contemplates the acquisition of land either by agreement or through proceedings under the land acquisition law in force. (Para 6.12)

14. Article 300-A – Right to Property – Though no longer a fundamental right, the right to property remains a constitutional right protected under Article 300-A. However, the right is subject to the State's power of eminent domain. Where acquisition is undertaken under a valid law and in compliance with the statutory safeguards prescribed under the Act, 2013, deprivation of property cannot be said to violate Article 300-A. (Para 6.13)

15. Petitioners' Urgency Clause Argument: Section 40 of the Act, 2013 provides a special urgency procedure for acquisition by the appropriate Government, enabling the Collector to take possession of land even before the award is passed. The Court noted that the acquisition in the present case was not carried out under the urgency provisions of Section 40. On the contrary, the entire acquisition was undertaken through the normal, full, and complete procedure prescribed under the Act, 2013. No urgency clause was invoked, and the statutory procedure was followed without any curtailment of the petitioners' rights at any stage. (Para 6.14)

16.Quashing of Acquisition – An acquisition undertaken for the benefit of the public at large is not to be lightly quashed. Extraordinary reasons must exist for doing so. The Government's declaration of public purpose is final and ordinarily not justiciable; judicial review is confined to cases of fraud or colourable exercise of power. Once a public project has substantially progressed or been completed, the appropriate relief is compensation rather than quashing the acquisition. Court held that an affected landowner aggrieved by the determination of compensation is at liberty to avail the remedy of reference before the competent Reference Authority under Section 64 of the Act, 2013. The Act, 2013 provides a complete statutory mechanism for compensation disputes through Section 64 (Reference to the Authority) and Section 74 (Appeal to the High Court). Writ jurisdiction is not the appropriate forum for redressal of grievances relating to the adequacy of compensation or the rate of market value. (Paras 6.18.1, 6.21.1, 6.21.4, 6.21.7, 6.21.8, 6.21.9)

17. Court held that the acquisition process pursuant to the impugned notifications dated 11.04.2025 (under Section 11) and 24.10.2025 (under Section 19) of the Act, 2013 was conducted in full and meticulous compliance with every stage prescribed under the Act, 2013 and the Rules, 2016. The notifications under Sections 11 and 19, the record of hearings under Section 15, the approved R&R Scheme under Section 18, and the awards under Section 23 were all duly documented and placed before the Court. Court held that the petitioners' contention that abadi land was proposed for acquisition without any spot inspection was factually incorrect. The competent authority had conducted surveys in all three villages, wherein existing structures, abadi, buildings, wells, tube wells, trees, and other assets were identified, verified, and recorded in the statutory survey documents in Form-11 under the Rules, 2016. (Paras 6.15, 6.17)

18. Court declined to interfere with the acquisition proceedings. However, it directed that possession of the abadi land of displaced families shall not be taken until: (i) full development of the rehabilitation site; (ii) measurement of the existing abadi area of each affected family; (iii) carving out of developed plots in accordance with the approved R&R Scheme; and (iv) passing of the R&R Award under Section 31 of the Act, 2013 and actual handing over of the developed plots to the displaced families. The petitioners have also prayed for a direction to the respondents to decide the representations filed by them at various stages of the acquisition proceedings, within a time fixed by this Court.

C. FACTS OF THE CASE:-

3. Before advertng to the submissions advanced by the parties, it is necessary to set out the factual background of the present matter as emerging from the record.

3.1. The Government of Uttar Pradesh earmarked approximately 5,000 hectares of land for the development of the Noida International Airport at Jewar, District Gautam Buddha Nagar. The State Cabinet approved the acquisition of the said land in multiple phases. The Airport Project is envisaged as an integrated aviation hub with modern, technology-driven infrastructure and adequate land reserves to enable its systematic and long-term development. The project is expected to promote regional economic growth, generate employment for the local population, strengthen manufacturing and export sectors, and promote tourism, having regard to the proximity of Jewar to Vrindavan, Mathura, and the Taj Mahal. The total acquisition undertaken for the Airport Project comprises three stages: (a) Stage-1, covering land admeasuring 1,239.1416 hectares; (b) Stage-2, Phase-1, covering land admeasuring 1,181.2793 hectares; and (c) Stage-2, Phase-2 and Phase-3 (the present acquisition), covering land admeasuring 1,857.8871 hectares.

3.2. The Airport Project is being implemented on a public-private partnership model on a design, build, finance, operate and transfer basis. The State Government resolved to implement the project through Noida International Airport Limited, a State company, with shareholding distributed as follows: State Government (37.50%), NOIDA (37.50%), Greater NOIDA (12.50%), and YEIDA (12.50%). NIAL invited bids for the development, operation, and maintenance of the project, and Zurich Airport International AG emerged as the successful bidder. ZAI thereafter incorporated Yamuna International Airport Private Limited as its wholly owned subsidiary. On 07.10.2020, NIAL entered into a concession agreement with YIAPL for design, build, finance, operate and transfer of the Noida International Airport for a concession period of 40 years.

3.3. Under Stage-1, land admeasuring 1,239.1416 hectares was acquired from six villages, namely Dayanatpur, Rohi, Parohi, Ranhera, Kishorepur, and Banwaribas, and construction of the airport is presently underway on this land. The Stage-1 acquisition affected approximately 8,971 families, out of which approximately 3,627 families from Villages Dayanatpur, Rohi, and Kishorepur were displaced. Land admeasuring 48.0970 hectares was identified as a rehabilitation site in the Jewar Bangar area, and a Rehabilitation and Resettlement Scheme (Stage-1 R&R Scheme) was framed and finalised on 31.12.2018. The rehabilitation land was developed into seven sectors, in which 3,074 plots were allotted to the displaced families. The said sectors are established residential areas equipped with basic civic infrastructure. Compensation was paid under Section 23 of the Act, 2013 and possession was taken after compliance with Section 38, and in the case of displaced families, only after completion of the implementation of the Stage-1 R&R Scheme. No development charges were levied on any landowner; the Authority developed the plots at its own cost; and stamp duty and registration charges for execution of conveyance documents were borne by the concerned authorities, without imposing any cost upon the displaced farmers.

3.4. For the Stage-2, Phase-1 expansion, the Civil Aviation Department, Government of Uttar Pradesh, proposed the acquisition of an additional 1,181.2793 hectares of land from six villages in Tehsil Jewar, District Gautam Buddha Nagar, namely Karauli Bangar, Dayanatpur, Kurab, Ranhera, Mudharh, and Birampur. The land acquisition process under the Act, 2013 stands completed and partial possession of the acquired land has already been transferred to the Respondent Authority - YEIDA. Approximately 20,024 families were affected, out of which about 12,863 families were displaced. A Draft Rehabilitation and Resettlement Scheme for the Stage-2, Phase-1 displaced families was approved by the Commissioner, Rehabilitation and Resettlement, on 13.03.2023, and approximately 189.7622 hectares of land across multiple sites was designated for rehabilitation and resettlement purposes. The implementation of this scheme is presently underway.

3.5. The present writ petitions relate to the acquisition being carried out under Stage-2, Phase-2 and Phase-3 of the Airport Project. The acquisition pertains to fourteen villages in Tehsil Jewar, District Gautam Buddha Nagar, namely Thora, Neemka Shahjahanpur, Khawajpur, Ramner, Kishorepur, Banwaribas, Parohi, Mukimpur Shivara, Jewar Bangar, Sabota Mustafabad, Ahmadpur Chauoli, Dayanatpur, Bankapur, and Rohi. The total land proposed for acquisition admeasures 1,857.8871 hectares, of which 275.1820 hectares pertains to Village Neemka Shahjahanpur, 272.3978 hectares to Village Khawajpur, and 577.3727 hectares to Village Thora. The present acquisition seeks to facilitate large-scale aviation and allied infrastructure, including construction of two additional runways, maintenance, repair and overhaul (MRO) facilities, parallel taxiways, isolation bays and engine run-up bays, cargo infrastructure including a Northern Cargo Terminal, Express Cargo Terminal and container terminals, satellite concourses with linkages and walkways, tunnels for cargo movement, passenger car parking and ground transportation centre, light rail connectivity between terminals, and peripheral infrastructure including fire stations, offices, docking areas, warehouses, and perimeter roads.

3.6. Insofar as the statutory process leading to the impugned notifications is concerned, in terms of Section 4 of the Act, 2013, read with Rule 3(1) of the Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement (Uttar Pradesh) Rules, 2016, the State Government issued Notification No. 820/chhappan-2023-31/2016(Stage-2A) dated 30.06.2023, nominating Gautam Buddha University, Gautam Buddha Nagar, as the Social Impact Assessment Agency. In compliance with Rule 3(2) of the Rules, 2016, the said notification was made available in the local language in the affected areas and in the offices of the District

Collector, Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Land Acquisition Officer, Administrator, and Tehsildar. It was also published in three daily newspapers widely circulated in the affected area, namely 'Amar Ujala', 'Hindustan', and 'Times of India', on 06.07.2023, and was uploaded on the official website of District Gautam Buddha Nagar.

3.7. Pursuant to the issuance of the Section 4 Notification, the SIA Agency prepared a draft Social Impact Assessment Report and Social Impact Management Plan. In compliance with Rule 7(1) of the Rules, 2016, read with Section 5 of the Act, 2013, public hearings were conducted on 19.12.2023 at Village Khwajpur and on 21.12.2023 at Village Neemka Shahjahanpur, to invite the views of the affected families to be recorded and included in the Social Impact Assessment Report. The SIA Agency submitted the Social Impact Assessment Report and Social Impact Management Plan to the appropriate authorities in December 2023. The SIA Report concluded that: (i) the proposed acquisition serves the public purpose; (ii) the land proposed for acquisition is the absolute minimum area required; and (iii) the land proposed for acquisition is the most feasible option.

3.8. In compliance with Rule 8 of the Rules, 2016, on 01.02.2024, a notice informing completion of the SIA Report was published in 'Amar Ujala' and 'Dainik Jagran' on 02.02.2024 and uploaded on the official website of District Gautam Buddha Nagar. In accordance with Section 7 of the Act, 2013, read with Rule 10 of the Rules, 2016, the State Government constituted a Multi-Disciplinary Expert Group to evaluate the SIA Report. On 09.02.2024, the Expert Group unanimously approved the SIA Report and recommended that it be forwarded to the State Government for further approval. The Expert Group categorically recorded that the total proposed acquisition area of 1,888.9088 hectares across fourteen villages constitutes the bare minimum requirement for the project and that no viable alternative exists which would result in lesser displacement. In compliance with Rule 10(3) of the Rules, 2016, the recommendations of the Expert Group were published in 'Amar Ujala' and 'Dainik Jagran' on 21.03.2024 and uploaded on the official website of District Gautam Buddha Nagar.

3.9. On 08.01.2025, after due consideration, the State Government, in compliance with Section 8 of the Act, 2013, granted approval to the SIA Report and the recommendations made by the Expert Group. In compliance with Section 8(3) of the Act, 2013, read with Rule 11(3) of the Rules, 2016, this approval was published in 'Amar Ujala' and 'Dainik Jagran' on 11.01.2025 and uploaded on the official website of District Gautam Buddha Nagar.

3.10. Since the present acquisition is for a public-private partnership project, prior consent of at least 70% of the project-affected families was required to be obtained before issuance of the Section 11 notification, in terms of Section 2(2)(a) and (b)(ii) of the Act, 2013, read with Rule 14 of the Rules, 2016. As on 01.03.2025, the consent of 73.02% of the affected families had been obtained.

3.11. After obtaining the requisite consent, the requiring body submitted its request for land acquisition to the Collector. Prior thereto, an on-spot survey and inspection of assets was duly conducted, wherein a detailed inventory of existing structures, buildings, wells, tube wells, trees, and other assets was prepared in Form-11 prescribed under the Rules, 2016, along with an assessment of the estimated compensation payable in respect of each item.

3.12. In terms of Section 14 of the Act, 2013, the notification under Section 11 was required to be issued within twelve months from the date of appraisal of the SIA Report by the Expert Group, i.e., by 09.02.2025. In exercise of powers under the proviso to Section 14 of the Act, 2013, the State Government, by order dated 27.02.2025, granted an extension of time up to 08.02.2026 for issuance of the Section 11 notification.

3.13. Thereafter, on 11.04.2025, the State Government issued the preliminary notification under Section 11 of the Act, 2013 for the acquisition of land from the aforementioned fourteen villages in Tehsil Jewar, District Gautam Buddha Nagar, admeasuring 1,857.8871 hectares. The State Government simultaneously invited objections from the concerned landowners under Section 15(1) of the Act, 2013. The Section 11 Notification also appointed the Deputy Collector, Jewar, District Gautam Buddha Nagar, as the Administrator for Rehabilitation and Resettlement of the project-affected families. In compliance with Section 11(1) of the Act, 2013, read with Rule 20(4) of the Rules, 2016, the Section 11 Notification was published in 'Amar Ujala' and 'Dainik Jagran' on 13.04.2025 and uploaded on the official website of District Gautam Buddha Nagar.

3.14. Under Section 15 of the Act, 2013, any interested person could, within sixty days of the Section 11 Notification, file objections on the grounds of the area and suitability of land proposed to be acquired, the justification offered for the public purpose, and the findings of the SIA Report. In compliance with Rule 23 of the Rules, 2016, on 02.07.2025, public notices were issued by the Collector to affected landowners whose written objections had been received within the stipulated timeline, fixing 08.07.2025, 09.07.2025 and 10.07.2025 as the dates for hearing objections from different villages. The public notice regarding the hearing dates was published in 'Amar Ujala' and 'Dainik Jagran' on 03.07.2025, and public announcements (munadi) were also carried out locally. The Collector conducted public hearings in accordance with law. Some of the petitioners, including representatives of the Sangharsh Samiti, appeared and were afforded an opportunity of personal hearing. After due consideration of the objections, the Collector passed a reasoned order dated 11.07.2025 under Section 15(1) of the Act, 2013, dismissing the objections on the ground that the issues raised, fell outside the limited statutory scope of Section 15(1), which confines objections only to the area and suitability of land, justification for public purpose, and findings of the SIA Report.

3.15. In compliance with Section 15(2) of the Act, 2013, the Collector forwarded the disposal report to the State Government. On 11.07.2025, a request was also made to the State Government for its approval of the disposal report and for issuance of the declaration under Section 19. Upon consideration, the State Government approved the disposal report under Section 15(3) of the Act, 2013 on 29.07.2025.

3.16. Simultaneously, in compliance with Section 45(1) of the Act, 2013, a project-level Rehabilitation and Resettlement Committee was constituted for monitoring and reviewing the R&R Scheme, vide notification dated 23.06.2025. In compliance with Section 16 of the Act, 2013, the Administrator prepared the draft R&R Scheme for the affected and displaced families, and on 26.06.2025, notices were issued for conducting public hearings on the draft R&R Scheme. Public hearings were conducted on 09.07.2025 in Village Khawajpur and on 10.07.2025 in Village Neemka Shahjahanpur and Village Thora, during which objections and suggestions of the affected persons, including the petitioners, were duly recorded. The draft R&R Scheme was formally published on 14.07.2025.

3.17. The proposed R&R Scheme provides, inter alia, for: (a) allotment of developed residential land equivalent to 50% of the land held by the displaced family, subject to a minimum of 50 square metres and a maximum of 500 square metres; (b) where a displaced family chooses not to opt for allotment of residential land, compensation of not less than Rs. 1,50,000/-; (c) each displaced family is further given the option to either opt for employment in the Noida International Airport Project, or receive a one-time lump sum payment of Rs. 5,00,000/-, or opt for an annuity of Rs. 2,000/- per month for a period of twenty years; (d) a monthly subsistence allowance of Rs. 3,000/- for one year from the date of award; (e) a special assistance of Rs. 50,000/- for displaced families belonging to Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes; (f) a one-time transportation allowance of Rs. 50,000/-; (g) a one-time financial assistance of Rs. 25,000/- for affected families engaged in small trade and a separate Rs. 25,000/- for families having cattle; and (h) a one-time resettlement allowance of Rs. 50,000/- to each affected family.

3.18. In exercise of powers under Section 18 of the Act, 2013, the Commissioner approved the draft R&R Scheme on 21.07.2025 and directed the authorities to proceed further in accordance with law.

3.19. Thereafter, on 24.10.2025, the State Government issued the declaration under Section 19 of the Act, 2013. In Schedule-B to the Section 19 Declaration, land admeasuring 437.9931 hectares situated in Villages Mangroli, Neemka Shahjahanpur, Alavalpur, Sadullapur alias Madalpur, Ahmadpur Chaurol, and Jewar Bangar, Pargana Jewar, Tehsil Jewar, District Gautam Buddha Nagar, was identified as the R&R site for the purpose of resettlement of displaced families, for which a separate land acquisition process is to be undertaken in accordance with law. The Section 19 Declaration was published in 'Hindustan Times' and 'Dainik Jagran' on 27.10.2025, and copies were also affixed on the Notice Boards in the affected areas and uploaded on the official website of District Gautam Buddha Nagar.

3.20. During the pendency of the present writ petitions, the State Government passed awards in respect of the villages forming part of the present acquisition. The awards for Village Neemka Shahjahanpur and Village Khawajpur were made on 31.01.2026, and the award for Village Thora was made on 02.02.2026. While the circle rate was Rs. 900/- per square metre, the awards provide a market value of Rs. 1,550/- per square metre determined under Section 26(2) of the Act, 2013, along with additional compensation of Rs. 1,200/- per square metre in view of the Government Order dated 10.03.2025. The awards further provide 100% solatium under Section 30(1) and an additional amount at the rate of 12% per annum under Section 30(3) from the date of the Section 4 Notification dated 07.07.2023 up to the date of the respective awards, resulting in total compensation aggregating to approximately Rs. 4,772/- to Rs. 4,778/- per square metre. Disbursement of compensation has already commenced. Possession of abadi land shall be taken only after the R&R Award is passed under Section 31 of the Act, 2013 and developed plots are handed over to the displaced families.

3.21. Aggrieved by the aforesaid notifications dated 11.04.2025 (Section 11 preliminary notification) and dated 24.10.2025 (Section 19 declaration), the aforesaid writ petitions have been filed.

D. SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF PETITIONERS:

4. Shri Mahesh Chand Sharma, learned counsel for the petitioners, submitted that the petitioners are residents of Villages Neemka Shahjahanpur, Khawajpur and Thora, Tehsil Jewar, District Gautam Buddha Nagar, having agricultural land as well as residential abadi in the said villages. He submitted that the petitioners are not opposing the acquisition of their agricultural land but are specifically challenging the displacement of their village abadi, which is being done in flagrant violation of the mandatory provisions of the Act, 2013.

4.1. Learned counsel submitted that the villages in question were declared as an Industrial Nagar under the U.P. Industrial Area Development Act, 1976 by a notification dated 14.12.2018, and accordingly fall within the jurisdiction of the respondent - YEIDA. He argued that once a village is declared as an Industrial Nagar under the Act, 1976, which has an overriding effect, any acquisition or displacement can only be carried out by the respondent - YEIDA under that Act, 1976 and not under the Act, 2013.

4.2. Learned counsel submitted that Section 2(2)(ii) of the Act, 2013 requires prior consent of at least seventy percent of the affected families before acquisition can be initiated for public-private partnership projects. He contended that the consent obtained was only 22.29% across 14 villages as on 21.01.2025, and in Village Neemka specifically, a mere 6.03%.

4.3. Learned counsel argued that the Social Impact Assessment process was conducted in a wholly arbitrary and fraudulent manner. A public hearing was scheduled for 21.12.2023 in Village Neemka Shahjahanpur, however, no actual public hearing took place as no one was willing to give consent. He further submitted that the Expert Group's report specifically recommended a re-survey of Village Thora and Village Neemka, which recommendation was completely ignored.

4.4. Learned counsel emphasized that the notification under Section 11 was issued on 11.04.2025 without completing the mandatory procedural requirements under Sections 11(2), 11(3), 12 and 15 of the Act, 2013. He pointed out that while a notice fixing 08.07.2025 for hearing of objections under Section 15 was issued, simultaneously, without deciding those objections, a notification under Section 16(5) fixing 10.07.2025 for a public hearing was also issued.

4.5. Learned counsel further submitted that by the notification dated 24.10.2025, approximately 39 gatas containing existing village abadi, which had been specifically left out during consolidation proceedings notified in 1966 and concluded in 1971, were acquired and shown as agricultural land. He argued this was done without any spot inspection and without deciding the objections filed under Sections 15, 16 and 17 of the Act, 2013. Furthermore, Gata Nos. 365 to 671 were added for the first time in the Section 19 notification, covering an additional area of 78.6776 hectares, for which no prior acquisition proceedings had been initiated.

4.6. Learned counsel while referring to the Section 10 of the Act, 2013 which provides a special provision to safeguard food security, and prohibits acquisition of irrigated multi-cropped land save under exceptional circumstances as a demonstrable last resort, argued that a substantial portion of the 1,857.7706 hectares notified under Section 11 comprises irrigated multi-cropped agricultural land and the mandatory conditions of Section 10 were not complied with.

4.7. In support of the aforesaid submissions, the learned counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance upon two judgments of the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India: (i) D.B. Basnett (D) through LR. v. The Collector and Another, East District, Gangtok, Sikkim and Another, and (ii) Kolkata Municipal Corporation and Another v. Bimal Kumar Shah and Others. These judgments have been relied upon in the Written Submissions filed by the petitioners for the propositions that the provisions of the land acquisition law are mandatory in nature and must be strictly followed, and that the right to property under Article 300-A of the Constitution comprises seven sub-rights or procedural safeguards which must all be satisfied before a person is deprived of his property.

4.8. Finally, learned counsel submitted that the right to property, though not a fundamental right, is a constitutional right protected under Article 300-A of the Constitution of India, and no person can be deprived of their property except by authority of law and following a fair procedure. In this backdrop, he urged that the impugned notifications are liable to be quashed.

E. SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE RESPONDENT - YEIDA

5. Shri Rahul Agarwal, learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of the respondent - YEIDA, submitted that the present writ petitions are wholly misconceived, devoid of merit, and deserve to be dismissed at the threshold. He submitted that the entire acquisition proceeding has been carried out in strict conformity with the provisions of the Act, 2013 and the Rules, 2016, and drew the attention of this Court to the step-by-step Compliance Chart annexed as Appendix-1 to YEIDA's Written Submissions, demonstrating meticulous adherence to each stage of the statutory process.

5.1. Learned Senior Counsel submitted that the Airport Project is an integrated aviation hub of national importance being implemented through the public-private partnership model. He submitted that a significant development had occurred during the pendency of the writ petitions, inasmuch as awards for Villages Neemka Shahjahanpur and Khawajpur were passed on 31.01.2026 and for Village Thora on 02.02.2026, providing total compensation of approximately Rs. 4,772/- to Rs. 4,778/- per square metre, and that disbursement had commenced.

5.2. On the SIA process, learned Senior Counsel submitted that the Act, 2013 does not require prior consent of individual landowners before publication of the SIA Report. Sections 4 to 7 of the Act, 2013 only mandate public consultation, public hearings, and expert appraisal, all of which were duly conducted. He submitted that under Section 5 of the Act, 2013, the purpose of the public hearing is limited to ascertaining the views of affected families to be recorded in the SIA Report, and the Act does not contemplate adjudication of individual objections at the SIA stage. He further submitted that the Expert Group's suggestion regarding a re-survey of Villages Thora and Neemka

Shahjahanpur was duly acted upon through PwC, the technical consultant, who confirmed vide letter dated 22.02.2024 that these villages lie on the runway alignment and that relocation is unavoidable.

5.3. On the issue of consent, learned Senior Counsel submitted that 73.02% of the affected families had consented as on 01.03.2025, well above the statutory 70% threshold. He submitted that the document dated 21.01.2025 relied upon by the petitioners reflected an earlier interim figure before duplication of certain families holding land in more than one revenue village which was identified and removed. The statutory unit under Section 3(c) of the Act, 2013 is the 'affected family' and not village-wise landholdings or individual voters. He placed reliance upon the judgment of this Court in Kichhu Ram and Another v. State of U.P. and 5 Others, wherein this Court, on identical facts during Stage-1, upheld the acquisition upon finding consent of 72% of affected families.

5.4. On the Section 15 procedure, learned Senior Counsel submitted that notices dated 03.07.2025 were duly issued fixing 08.07.2025 and 10.07.2025 for personal hearings. Some petitioners appeared and the Collector passed a reasoned order dated 11.07.2025 dismissing the objections, with the State Government approving the report on 29.07.2025 under Section 15(3). On the parallel conduct of proceedings under Sections 15 and 16, he submitted that a sequential reading would make compliance with the mandatory 12-month timeline under Section 19 impossible, and that the two provisions are designed to operate concurrently.

5.5. On the Section 19 Declaration, learned Senior Counsel submitted that the area of 78.6776 hectares has been identified in Schedule-B only for R&R purposes as mandated under the Act, 2013, and does not form part of the land acquired for airport expansion. He submitted that the challenge to the Act, 1976 jurisdiction is misconceived, as Section 6 of that Act, 1976 itself contemplates acquisition through land acquisition law, which, after repeal of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, necessarily means the Act, 2013.

5.6. Learned Senior Counsel also submitted that the petitioners had suppressed material documents including the final approved R&R Scheme, approvals under Sections 8 and 18, and the awards passed in January-February 2026, while selectively relying on fragments of the record. He urged dismissal of all writ petitions with costs.

EE. SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF STATE RESPONDENTS :-

5.7. Shri Devesh Vikram, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel and Shri Fuzail Ahmad Ansari, learned Standing Counsel, both appearing for the State-respondents, associated themselves entirely with the submissions advanced by Shri Rahul Agarwal, learned Senior Advocate appearing for the respondent - YEIDA, and adopted the same without any objection/ reservation.

F. DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS:-

6. Having heard the learned counsel for all parties at length and having carefully perused the record, the pleadings, the counter affidavit of the respondent-YEIDA, the Compliance Chart and the Consent Chart annexed thereto, the written submissions supplied by the learned counsels for the parties and all other material placed on record, this Court proceeds to consider the respective contentions.

I. Nature And Importance Of The Project:

6.1. The acquisition in question has been undertaken for the expansion of the Noida International Airport, Jewar (Stage-2, Phase-2 and Phase-3), a project of national importance designed to serve the ever-increasing passenger and cargo air traffic of the National Capital Region, which has reached saturation at the Indira Gandhi International Airport, New Delhi. The project is expected to generate large-scale employment, stimulate economic development, and promote tourism in the region. The public purpose underlying the acquisition is, in the opinion of this Court, beyond question and cannot be successfully assailed in writ jurisdiction.

II. Statutory Scheme - Private Company Versus Public-Private Partnership Projects:

6.2. Before examining the specific contentions, it is necessary to appreciate the scheme of the Act, 2013. Section 2 of the Act, 2013 classifies acquisitions and prescribes different consent thresholds depending upon the nature of the project. Section 2(1) deals with acquisition for the purposes of the Government or a Government undertaking. Section 2(2) of the Act, 2013 is directly applicable to the present case. Section 2 of the Act, 2013 provides as under:

“2. Application of Act.-(1) The provisions of this Act relating to land acquisition, compensation, rehabilitation and resettlement, shall apply, when the appropriate Government acquires land for its own use, hold and control, including for Public Sector Undertakings and for public purpose, and shall include the following purposes, namely:-

(a) for strategic purposes relating to naval, military, air force, and armed forces of the Union, including central paramilitary forces or any work vital to national security or defence of India or State police, safety of the people; or

(b) for infrastructure projects, which includes the following, namely:-

(i) all activities or items listed in the notification of the Government of India in the Department of Economic Affairs (Infrastructure Section) number 13/6/2009-INF, dated the 27th March, 2012, excluding private hospitals, private educational institutions and private hotels;

(ii) projects involving agro-processing, supply of inputs to agriculture, warehousing, cold storage facilities, marketing infrastructure for agriculture and allied activities such as dairy, fisheries, and meat processing, set up or owned by the appropriate Government or by a farmers-cooperative or by an institution set up under a statute; (iii) project for industrial corridors or mining activities, national investment and manufacturing zones, as designated in the National Manufacturing Policy;

(iv) project for water harvesting and water conservation structures, sanitation;

(v) project for Government administered, Government aided educational and research schemes or institutions;

(vi) project for sports, health care, tourism, transportation or space programme;

(vii) any infrastructure facility as may be notified in this regard by the Central Government and after tabling of such notification in Parliament;

(c) project for project affected families;

(d) project for housing for such income groups, as may be specified from time to time by the appropriate Government;

(e) project for planned development or the improvement of village sites or any site in the urban areas or provision of land for residential purposes for the weaker sections in rural and urban areas;

(f) project for residential purposes to the poor or landless or to persons residing in areas affected by natural calamities, or to persons displaced or affected by reason of the implementation of any scheme undertaken by the Government, any local authority or a corporation owned or controlled by the State.

(2) The provisions of this Act relating to land acquisition, consent, compensation, rehabilitation and resettlement, shall also apply, when the appropriate Government acquires land for the following purposes, namely-

(a) for public private partnership projects, where the ownership of the land continues to vest with the Government, for public purpose as defined in sub-section (1);

(b) for private companies for public purpose, as defined in sub-section (1):
Provided that in the case of acquisition for-

(i) private companies, the prior consent of at least eighty per cent, of those affected families, as defined in sub-clauses (i) and (v) of clause (c) of section 3; and

(ii) public private partnership projects, the prior consent of at least seventy per cent. of those affected families, as defined in sub-clauses (i) and (v) of clause (c) of section 3, shall be obtained through a process as may be prescribed by the appropriate Government:

Provided further that the process of obtaining the consent shall be carried out along with the Social Impact Assessment study referred to in section 4:

Provided also that no land shall be transferred by way of acquisition, in the Scheduled Areas in contravention of any law (including any order or judgment of a court which has become final) relating to land transfer, prevailing in such Scheduled Areas.

(3) The provisions relating to rehabilitation and resettlement under this Act shall apply in the cases where,-

(a) a private company purchases land, equal to or more than such limits in rural areas or urban areas, as may be prescribed by the appropriate Government, through private negotiations with the owner of the land in accordance with the provisions of section 46;

(b) a private company requests the appropriate Government for acquisition of a part of an area so prescribed for a public purpose:

Provided that where a private company requests the appropriate Government for partial acquisition of land for public purpose, then, the rehabilitation and resettlement entitlements under the Second Schedule shall be applicable for the entire area which includes the land purchased by the private company and acquired by the Government for the project as a whole. ”

6.2.1. Therefore, Section 2(2) provides that where the appropriate Government acquires land for public-private partnership projects, the prior consent of at least seventy per cent of the affected families, as defined in sub-clauses (i) and (v) of clause (c) of section 3, is mandatory.

6.2.2. Section 3(c) of the Act, 2013, defining 'affected family', provides as under:

“3. Definitions.- In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires.-

(a) -.

(b) -.

3(c) 'affected family' includes-

(i) a family whose land or other immovable property has been acquired;

(ii) a family which does not own any land but a member or members of such family may be agricultural labourers, tenants including any form of tenancy or holding of usufruct right, share-croppers or artisans or who may be working in the affected area for three years prior to the acquisition of the land, whose primary source of livelihood stand affected by the acquisition of land;

(iii) the Scheduled Tribes and other traditional forest dwellers who have lost any of their forest rights recognised under the Scheduled Tribes and Other Traditional Forest Dwellers (Recognition of Forest Rights) Act, 2006 (2 of 2007) due to acquisition of land;

(iv) family whose primary source of livelihood for three years prior to the acquisition of the land is dependent on forests or water bodies and includes gatherers of forest produce, hunters, fisher folk and boatmen and such livelihood is affected due to acquisition of land;

(v) a member of the family who has been assigned land by the State Government or the Central Government under any of its schemes and such land is under acquisition;

(vi) a family residing on any land in the urban areas for preceding three years or more prior to the acquisition of the land or whose primary source of livelihood for three years prior to the acquisition of the land is affected by the acquisition of such land.”

6.2.3. A conjoint reading of Section 2(2) with Section 3(c) of the Act, 2013 makes it clear that the expression -affected families- is of wide amplitude and is not confined merely to landowners whose land is acquired, but also includes all such families whose livelihood or rights are adversely impacted by the acquisition, including agricultural labourers, tenants, share-croppers, artisans, forest dwellers, persons dependent on forest or water resources, beneficiaries of Government land allotments, and even families residing in urban areas whose livelihood is affected. Thus, for the purposes of obtaining consent under Section 2(2), the statute mandates that the requisite percentage is to be computed with reference to this broader category of affected families and not merely the recorded tenure holders.

6.2.4. The Airport Project is structured as a public-private partnership project within the meaning of Section 2(2)(b) of the Act, 2013, being implemented through NIAL (a State company) with the private operator YIAPL, a wholly owned subsidiary of Zurich Airport International AG. The consent threshold applicable is accordingly 70% of the project-affected families and not the 80% threshold applicable to acquisitions for private companies under Section 2(3) of the Act, 2013. This distinction is material in adjudicating the consent-related challenge.

III. SIA Process – Compliance Examined:

6.3. The petitioners have challenged the Social Impact Assessment¹⁵ process. This Court has examined the said contention in the light of the statutory provisions.

6.3.1. Section 4 of the Act, 2013 provides for the preparation of a Social Impact Assessment (SIA) study. Sub-section (1) of Section 4 mandates that whenever the appropriate Government intends to acquire land for a public purpose, it shall carry out a Social Impact Assessment study in consultation with the concerned Panchayat, Municipality, or Municipal Corporation, as the case may be, at the village or ward level in the affected area, in such manner and within such time as may be prescribed. Sub-section (2) further provides that the Social Impact Assessment study referred to in sub-section (1) shall, inter alia, include various specified aspects, and it is also stipulated that the said study shall be completed within a period of six months from the date of its commencement. Section 4 of the Act, 2013 is reproduced hereinbelow for ready reference:

“4. Preparation of Social Impact Assessment study.-(1) Whenever the appropriate Government intends to acquire land for a public purpose, it shall consult the concerned Panchayat, Municipality or Municipal Corporation, as the case may be, at village level or ward level, in the affected area and carry out a Social Impact Assessment study in consultation with them, in such manner and from such date as may be specified by such Government by notification.

(2) The notification issued by the appropriate Government for commencement of consultation and of the Social Impact Assessment study under sub-section (1) shall be made available in the local language to the Panchayat, Municipality or Municipal Corporation, as the case may be, and in the offices of the District Collector, the Sub-Divisional Magistrate and the Tehsil, and shall be published in the affected areas, in such manner as may be prescribed, and uploaded on the website of the appropriate Government:

Provided that the appropriate Government shall ensure that adequate representation has been given to the representatives of Panchayat, Gram Sabha, Municipality or Municipal Corporation, as the case may be, at the stage of carrying out the Social Impact Assessment study:

Provided further that the appropriate Government shall ensure the completion of the Social Impact Assessment study within a period of six months from the date of its commencement.

(3) The Social Impact Assessment study report referred to in sub-section (1) shall be made available to the public in the manner prescribed under section 6.

(4) The Social Impact Assessment study referred to in sub-section (1) shall, amongst other matters, include all the following, namely:-

(a) assessment as to whether the proposed acquisition serves public purpose;

(b) estimation of affected families and the number of families among them likely to be displaced;

(c) extent of lands, public and private, houses, settlements and other common properties likely to be affected by the proposed acquisition;

(d) whether the extent of land proposed for acquisition is the absolute bare- minimum extent needed for the project;

(e) whether land acquisition at an alternate place has been considered and found not feasible;

(f) study of social impacts of the project, and the nature and cost of addressing them and the impact of these costs on the overall costs of the project vis-a-vis the benefits of the project:

Provided that Environmental Impact Assessment study, if any, shall be carried out simultaneously and shall not be contingent upon the completion of the Social Impact Assessment study.

(5) While undertaking a Social Impact Assessment study under sub-section (1), the appropriate Government shall, amongst other things, take into consideration the impact that the project is likely to have on various components such as livelihood of affected families, public and community properties, assets and infrastructure particularly roads, public transport, drainage, sanitation, sources of drinking water, sources of water for cattle, community ponds, grazing land, plantations, public utilities such as post offices, fair price shops, food storage godowns, electricity supply, health care facilities, schools and educational or training facilities, anganwadis, children parks, places of worship, land for traditional tribal institutions and burial and cremation grounds.

(6) The appropriate Government shall require the authority conducting the Social Impact Assessment study to prepare a Social Impact Management Plan, listing the ameliorative measures required to be undertaken for addressing the impact for a specific component referred to in sub-section (5), and such measures shall not be less than what is provided under a scheme or programme, in operation in that area, of the Central Government or, as the case may be, the State Government, in operation in the affected area."

6.3.2. Section 5 of the Act, 2013 governs the conduct of a public hearing at the stage of Social Impact Assessment. It provides that the appropriate Government shall ensure that a public hearing is held in the affected area after giving adequate publicity regarding the date, time, and venue of such hearing, so as to ascertain the views of the affected families, which are to be recorded and included in the SIA Report. For ready reference, Section 5 is reproduced hereinbelow:

"5. Public hearing for Social Impact Assessment.-Whenever a Social Impact Assessment is required to be prepared under section 4, the appropriate Government shall ensure that a public hearing is held at the affected area, after giving adequate publicity about the date, time and venue for the public hearing, to ascertain the views of the affected families to be recorded and included in the Social Impact Assessment Report."

6.3.3. Rule 7 of the Rules, 2016 provides the manner of conducting public hearing on the SIA Report and SIA Plan. The Rule lays down a detailed procedure to ensure transparency, participation of affected families, and proper consideration of their objections and suggestions. It mandates prior publication of notice, conduct of hearings in affected areas, availability of draft reports for public inspection, participation of the requiring body and authorities, recording of proceedings, and incorporation of feedback in the final Social Impact Assessment Report. It further ensures that objections raised by affected persons are duly considered and made part of the decision-making process. Rule 7(1) of the Rules, 2016 prescribes the procedure for such public hearing and mandates adequate notice to the affected families. The Rule 7 provides as under:

"7. Manner of conducting public hearing on Social Impact Assessment Report and Social Impact Management Plan.-(1) Soon after completion of Social Impact Assessment Study Report and Social Impact Management Plan, a public hearing shall be conducted by the state Government, in the affected area by giving notice to be published in two daily newspapers circulating in the affected area of which at least one shall be in the regional language, and also by way of a public notice by affixing it at some conspicuous places in the affected areas not less than seven days before the public hearing indicating its time, place and date and other necessary details. This notice shall also be uploaded on the website of the concern district or the State Government.

(2) The public hearings shall be conducted in the concern Gram Panchayat offices or urban local bodies offices, as the case may be, any public place or convenient place in the affected area. The State Government may take decision to conduct hearing at some conspicuous place other than the affected areas within the concern district by giving the justification for it and duly published in a notice.

(3) The State Government may appoint any Revenue officer of the rank of Deputy Collector, Tehsildar or Block Development Officer to conduct the hearings.

(4) A member or members, as the case may be, of the Social Impact Assessment agency shall facilitate the public hearing which shall be organized through the local administration with the designated Government officers of appropriate level.

(5) Public hearings generally are held in the affected areas to bring out the main findings of the Social Impact Assessment, seeking feedback on the findings and to seek additional information and views for incorporating the same in the final documents.

(6) Public hearings shall be conducted in all Gram Sabha where more than twenty per cent of the members are directly or indirectly affected by the acquisition of the land.

(7) The draft of Social Impact Assessment report and Social Impact Management Plan shall be published for inspection of general public in the office of the Collector for the purpose of land acquisition not less than seven days before the public hearing.

(8) The requiring body may also be served with a copy of the draft report. Adequate copies of the report and summaries shall be made available to the public on the day of the public hearing by the agency.

(9) All the proceedings Shall be held in the local language to ensure that all the participants can understand and express their views.

(10) Representatives from the requiring body shall also attend the public hearing and address the questions and any issue raised by the affected parties.

(11) The proceedings of the public hearing will be video recorded and transcribed accordingly. The said recording and transcription shall be submitted to the Collector along with the final Social Impact Assessment report and Social Impact Management Plan.

(12) After the conclusion of the public hearings, the Social Impact Assessment team shall analyse the entire feedback received and information gathered in the public hearing and incorporate the same along with their analysis, in the revised Social Impact Assessment report accordingly.

(13) Every objection raised in the public hearing shall be recorded and the Social Impact Assessment agency shall ensure that the every objection shall be considered in the Social Impact Assessment report.

(14) No public re-hearing shall be conducted if the public hearing is disturbed by misbehavior of the miscreant's presents, leading to disturbance of public peace and law and order. In case of any disturbance, the next public hearing shall be treated as conclusive. In such circumstances, seven days shall be provided to file claims, objections/suggestions."

6.3.4. A perusal of the record reflects that the Section 4 Notification was duly issued on 30.06.2023, nominating Gautam Buddha University as the SIA Agency, and was published in three newspapers on 06.07.2023. Public hearings were conducted on 19.12.2023 at Village Khwajpur and on 21.12.2023 at Village Neemka Shahjahanpur. Under Section 5, the purpose of the public hearing is limited to ascertaining the views of the affected families to be recorded in the SIA Report; the Act does not contemplate adjudication of individual objections at the SIA stage. Insofar as the Expert Group's recommendation for a re-survey is concerned, the record reveals that PwC, the technical consultant, was specifically asked to examine whether displacement could be avoided. PwC confirmed by letter dated 22.02.2024 that Villages Thora and Neemka Shahjahanpur fall within the proposed runway alignment and that no alternative alignment exists. Village Khawajpur was confirmed to lie between the taxiways of two runways and the proposed aircraft parking area, making its retention a threat to aviation safety. The Expert Group's suggestion was thus duly acted upon. The State Government, in compliance with Section 8(3) of the Act, 2013, read with Rule 11(3) of the Rules, 2016, granted approval to the SIA Report on 08.01.2025. The challenge to the SIA process is accordingly rejected.

IV. Consent - Satisfaction Of Statutory Threshold:

6.4. The petitioners have challenged the acquisition on the ground that the mandatory consent of 70% of the project-affected families was not obtained before issuance of the Section 11 notification. Rule 14 of the Rules, 2016 prescribes the detailed procedure for obtaining such prior consent. The Rule mandates identification of all affected landowners after verification of land records, preparation and publication of their list, and holding of meetings in the affected area with prior notice. It further requires that complete project details, including compensation and rehabilitation measures, be explained in the local language, and that consent be obtained individually in a prescribed format with proper authentication, signatures and verification. The process must be transparent, video recorded, and objections raised during the process must be duly recorded and considered. The Rule also mandates that the entire consent process be completed prior to issuance of the preliminary notification under Section 11 of the Act. Rule 14 provides as under:

“14. Recruitment and procedure to obtain consent.- In case land is sought to be acquired for the purposes as specified under sub-section (2) of section 2, the prior consent of the affected land owners as per provisions of sub-section (2) of section 2 shall be obtained by the Collector concerned in form-5, along with the Social Impact Assessment study. Some of the principles to obtain consent given as under:-

(a) The Collector may constitute a team of revenue officers or depute any other officers under his control to assist him in the process of obtaining the prior consent.

(b) The Collector and Sub Divisional Officer exercising the powers of District Collector shall take steps to resolve outstanding issues of land rights, land title and land records in the affected areas, so that all the land owners can be correctly identified before initiating consent procedures.

(c) The Collector shall also undertake a special drive for the purpose and complete the said exercise within a period of sixty days from the date of issuance of preliminary notification.

(d) The Collector shall, after completion of the aforesaid exercise of correcting and updating the land records shall draw out a list, of all affected land owners from whom consent must be sought, after considering the list prepared by the Social Impact Assessment Agency.

(e) The list shall be made available in the affected area by displaying the list in conspicuous places of the affected areas for at least ten days before obtaining consent.

(f) The Collector shall in consultation with the representatives of Gram Panchayat or Nagar Panchayat or Nagar Palika Parishad or Municipal Corporation, as the case may be, notify the date, time and venue at least two weeks in advance, for holding the affected land owners meetings at the concern village or ward level. It shall also be published in two daily newspapers circulating in the affected area of which at least one shall be in the regional language.

(g) The Requiring Body or its representative shall be present at all such affected land owners meetings and respond to the queries raised by the affected land owners. The terms and conditions of the project, Rehabilitation and Resettlement, Compensation and other measures committed by the Requiring Body shall be explained to the members in the local language and signatures of the members as well as the representative of Requiring Body shall be obtained on such terms and conditions.

(h) The proposed terms and conditions agreed by the Requiring Body shall also be made available in local language to each and every affected land owner, at least one week in advance.

(i) The land owner shall give his individual consent to the authorized officer.

(j) The land owner shall give his written consent having his photograph affixed on it in the format attached and the digital impression of his thumb along with his signature (if he can make it) shall be printed on his affidavit.

(k) The authorized representative of the Requiring Body shall sign on the prescribed consent Form and shall put the seal of the Requiring Body towards its commitment to the consented terms and conditions.

(l) Any member of Gram panchayat, or Zila Panchayat, Lekhpal, Gram Vikas Adhikari or any Government servant may sign on the affidavit as a witness thereof that he recognizes the person who has given consent.

(m) The prescribed consent form shall be countersigned by the officer authorised by the Collector.

(n) The form of consent and declaration so obtained shall be made available to the land acquisition officer in original, who will then prepare a list of all such land owners and shall provide it to the requiring body. One copy of this list shall also be attached with acquisition proposal, before issuing the preliminary notification under section 11(1) of the Act.

(p) All persons interested in the same land can give consent on a single form.

(q) Single forms shall be used for giving consent by a same person for his different lands under acquisition.

(s) In case of a land situated in the Scheduled Area mentioned in the Fifth Schedule appended to the Constitution of India, the consent of the Gram Sabha shall be sought prior to the consent of the land owners.

(t) The consent taking process shall be concluded before issuing the Preliminary Notification under sub-section (1) of section 11.

(u) Every objection raised during the process of taking consent meeting shall be recorded and shall be considered by the requiring body.

(v) During the process of obtaining consent, those land owners, who were absent and not given his /her consent and also has not raised any objections before issuing of preliminary notification under section 11(1) of the Act, shall be considered as they have no objection for the on-going proposed acquisition."

6.4.1. This Court has carefully examined the Consent Chart placed on record by the respondent-YEIDA (Annexure CA-2 to the counter affidavit), which discloses the following consolidated picture as of 01.03.2025, compiled under Section 2(2) of the Act, 2013, read with Rule 14 of the Rules, 2016:

	Village	Total Affected Families	Consent Obtained	Percentage
1.	Thora	3,342	2,041	61.07%
2.	Neemka Shahjahanpur	1,635	558	34.13%
3.	Khawajpur	1,548	628	40.57%
4.	Ramner	2,105	1,934	91.88%
5.	Kishorepur	1,987	1,875	94.36%
6.	Banwaribas	703	703	100.00%
7.	Parohi	683	609	89.17%
8.	Mukimpur Shivara	796	796	100.00%
9.	Jewar Bangar	268	233	86.94%
10.	Sabouta Mustafabad	344	317	92.15%
11.	Ahmadpur Chauoli	158	69	43.67%
12.	Dayanatpur	218	215	98.62%
13.	Bankapur	216	201	93.06%
14.	Rohi	171	171	100.00%
	TOTAL	14,174	10,350	73.02%

6.4.2. The statutory unit for computing consent is the 'affected family' as defined under Section 3(c) of the Act, 2013, and not village-wise landholdings or individual voters. The apparent discrepancy between the earlier figure of 22.29% (document dated 21.01.2025) and the final figure of 73.02% (as on 01.03.2025) is fully explained by the removal of duplication, i.e. certain families holding land in more than one revenue village had been counted multiple times at the initial stage. For instance, the number of project-affected families in Village Thora was revised from 3,511 to 3,342, in Village Neemka Shahjahanpur from 1,726 to 1,635, and in Village Khawajpur from 1,826 to 1,548, after rectification of such duplication. Upon removal of duplication, the corrected data establishes that 73.02% of the project-affected families had consented, which is well above the mandatory 70% threshold under Section 2(2)(b)(ii) of the Act, 2013.

6.4.3. An identical question arose during the Stage-1 acquisition in Kichhu Ram (supra), wherein in paragraph-11, this Court held as under:

“11. According to the petitioners, consent has not been obtained from atleast 70% of the affected families in terms of Section 2(2) of the Act. The counsel for the respondents, on the basis of information received, have placed reliance upon a report of the Collector dated 05.01.2019 to contend that there are six villages that would fall within the area covered for the purpose of the project and the number of families to be affected would be 5926 out of which 4235 families have already given their consent for the project. The percentage of affected families which have given consent comes to 72%, which is more than 70%. Thus, the argument of the learned counsel for the petitioners that no consent has been obtained and atleast consent of 70% of the affected families is required under Section 2(2) of the Act, is not sustained.”

6.4.4. The ratio of Kichhu Ram (supra) squarely governs the present case. Once the official data demonstrates that the statutory threshold of 70% has been satisfied, the challenge on the ground of lack of consent cannot be sustained. The objection is accordingly rejected.

V. Compliance With The Statutory Process - Compliance Chart Examined:

6.5. This Court has carefully examined the step-by-step compliance chart brought on record during the course of hearing and subsequently filed by the respondent-YEIDA as Appendix-1 to its written submissions. The said chart sets out each step in the acquisition process, the corresponding statutory provisions under the Act, 2013 and the Rules, 2016, and the specific dates of compliance. The chart, which has not been effectively controverted by the petitioners, is summarised hereunder:

6.5.1. A perusal of the Compliance Chart demonstrates that the acquisition process has been conducted in meticulous compliance with each stage prescribed under the Act, 2013 and the Rules, 2016.

VI. Hearing Of Objections Under Section 15 - Procedure Followed:

6.6. Section 15 of the Act, 2013 provides for hearing of objections to the proposed acquisition. It confers a statutory right upon any person interested in the land to raise objections within sixty days from the date of publication of the preliminary notification issued under Section 11(1). The objections may relate to the suitability and extent of land, the justification of public purpose, and the findings of the Social Impact Assessment report. The provision mandates that such objections be considered by the Collector after affording an opportunity of personal hearing, including through an authorised representative or advocate. The Collector is required to conduct necessary inquiry and submit a report with recommendations, along with the record of proceedings and relevant details, to the appropriate Government. The final decision on such objections rests with the appropriate Government. Section 15 of the Act, 2013 provides as under:

“15. Hearing of objections.- (1) Any person interested in any land which has been notified under sub-section (1) of Section 11, as being required or likely to be required for a public purpose, may within sixty days from the date of the publication of the preliminary notification, object to-

- (a) the area and suitability of land proposed to be acquired;*
- (b) justification offered for public purpose;*
- (c) the findings of the Social Impact Assessment report.*

(2) Every objection under sub-section (1) shall be made to the Collector in writing, and the Collector shall give the objection an opportunity of being heard in person or by any person authorised by him in this behalf or by an Advocate and shall, after hearing all such objections and after making such further inquiry, if any, as he thinks necessary, either make a report in respect of the land which has been notified under sub-section (1) of Section 11, or make different reports in respect of different parcels of such land, to the appropriate Government, containing his recommendations on the objections, together with the record of the proceedings held by him along with a separate report giving therein the approximate cost of land acquisition, particulars as to the number of affected families likely to be resettled, for the decision of that Government.

(3) The decision of the appropriate Government on the objections made under sub-section (2) shall be final.”

6.6.1. Rule 23 of the Rules, 2016 prescribes the procedure for hearing of objections filed under Section 15 of the Act, 2013. The Rule mandates that objections must be heard by the Collector personally and not delegated. It requires issuance of notice to the objector as well as the requiring body, affording them an opportunity to appear, produce evidence, and be heard either in person or through an authorised representative or counsel. The Collector is empowered to adjourn proceedings, conduct further inquiry, and ensure expeditious completion of the process. After considering all objections and evidence, the Collector is required to prepare a detailed report with recommendations, along with the record of proceedings, for decision by the appropriate Government. Rule 23 of the Rules, 2016 prescribes the procedure for hearing of objections and provides, inter alia, as under:

“23. Hearing of objections.- (1) The intimation of Public hearing shall be conducted by giving notice in two daily newspapers circulating in the affected area of which at least one shall be in the regional language, and also by way of a public notice by affixing it at some conspicuous places in the affected areas, indicating its time, place of the office for hearing (preferably at the office of land acquisition officer) and the date there-in.

(2) Hearing of objections under sub-section (2) of section 15 should be performed by the Collector for the purpose of acquisition, in person and not be delegated.

(3) When the Collector receives, within the prescribed period, a written objection from a person interested in the land, he should cause a notice to be served on the objector to appear before him in person or by a duly authorised representative or by an authorised pleader on a specified date, time and place to produce the evidence, if any, on which he relies. Notice of the hearing and enquiry should also be given to the requiring body; the latter, if he desires to be heard or to adduce evidence in support of the proposed acquisition, should be permitted to do so either in person or through an authorised representative.

(4) On the application of either party the Collector may exercise his powers under section 35 of the Act. (5) The hearing may be adjourned by the Collector from time to time, if necessary.

(6) The enquiries must be completed most expeditiously in view of first proviso to section 19, whereby time limit of one year has been prescribed from the date of publication of preliminary notification under sub-section (1) of section 11 to publication of declaration under section 19 of the Act:

Provided that the State Government shall have the powers to extend the period of hearing objections if in opinion circumstances exist justifying the same: recorded in writing and the same shall be notified and be uploaded on the website of authority concerned.

(7) The Collector after hearing all the objections and recording a memorandum of the evidence produced in support thereof or in support of the proposal to acquire the land and after making further enquiry if he thinks necessary, he shall submit the case for decision of the State Government containing his recommendations on the objections, together with the record of proceedings held by him along with a separate report giving therein the approximate cost of land acquisition, particulars as to the number of affected families likely to be resettled, for the decision of the Government, at the time of sending proposal of declaration under section 19 of the Act:

Provided that, the State Government or District Collector as case may be shall take decision on such recommendations for the project. The decision of the State Government /District Collector shall be final:

Provided further that, if acquisition of land for any project area falls under the jurisdiction of more than one district, then the State Government or the District Collector, as the case may be, shall send the proposal to the concerned administrative department at Government level, for the necessary approval. The decision of the administrative department shall be final.”

6.6.2. From the record, it is evident that notices dated 03.07.2025 were duly issued under Rule 23 of the Rules, 2016 fixing 08.07.2025 for hearing of objections from Village Neemka Shahjahanpur and 10.07.2025 for Villages Khwajpur and Thora. The public notice was published in newspapers on 03.07.2025 and local public announcements were made. Some of the petitioners, including representatives of the Sangharsh Samiti, appeared and were afforded a personal hearing. After due consideration, the Collector passed a reasoned order dated 11.07.2025, dismissing the objections on the ground that they fell outside the limited statutory scope of Section 15(1), which confines objections only to the area and suitability of land, justification for public purpose, and findings of the SIA Report. The Collector's report was forwarded to and approved by the State Government on 29.07.2025 under Section 15(3). The decision of the appropriate Government under Section 15(3) is final. This Court finds no infirmity in the procedure followed under Section 15 of the Act, 2013. This finding is consistent with and supported by the judgment of this Court in Kichhu Ram (supra), wherein on identical facts in the Stage-1 acquisition for the same Airport Project, this Court found that there was due compliance with the provisions of Section 15 of the Act, 2013, read with Rule 23 of the Rules, 2016, and upheld the acquisition. The present case stands on an even firmer factual footing, since all objections were heard by the Collector in person, a reasoned disposal order was passed, and the State Government's decision thereon was obtained before the Section 19 declaration.

VII. Parallel Conduct Of Proceedings Under Sections 15 And 16:

6.7. The petitioners have contended that initiation of proceedings under Section 16 prior to disposal of objections under Section 15 constitutes an illegality. Section 16 of the Act, 2013 provides for preparation of the Rehabilitation and Resettlement Scheme by the Administrator after issuance of the preliminary notification under Section 11(1). It mandates that the Administrator shall conduct a detailed survey and census of affected families, including particulars of land, livelihoods, affected infrastructure, and common resources. Based on such survey, a draft Rehabilitation and Resettlement Scheme is to be prepared specifying the entitlements of affected persons, along with details of amenities and facilities to be provided. The provision further requires that the draft scheme be widely publicised, discussed in Gram Sabhas or Municipalities, and subjected to a public hearing. The claims and objections raised in such hearing are to be considered, and thereafter the Administrator is required to submit the draft scheme along with a report to the Collector. Section 16 of the Act, 2013 provides as under:

“16. Preparation of Rehabilitation and Resettlement Scheme by the Administrator.-(1)

Upon the publication of the preliminary notification under sub-section (1) of section 11 by the Collector, the Administrator for Rehabilitation and Resettlement shall conduct a survey and undertake a census of the affected families, in such manner and within such time as may be prescribed, which shall include-

- (a) particulars of lands and immovable properties being acquired of each affected family;*
- (b) livelihoods lost in respect of land losers and landless whose livelihoods are primarily dependent on the lands being acquired;*

(c) a list of public utilities and Government buildings which are affected or likely to be affected, where resettlement of affected families is involved;

(d) details of the amenities and infrastructural facilities which are affected or likely to be affected, where resettlement of affected families is involved; and

(e) details of any common property resources being acquired.

(2) The Administrator shall, based on the survey and census under sub-section (1), prepare a draft Rehabilitation and Resettlement Scheme, as prescribed which shall include particulars of the rehabilitation and resettlement entitlements of each land owner and landless whose livelihoods are primarily dependent on the lands being acquired and where resettlement of affected families is involved-

(i) a list of Government buildings to be provided in the Resettlement Area;

(ii) details of the public amenities and infrastructural facilities which are to be provided in the Resettlement Area.

(3) The draft Rehabilitation and Resettlement scheme referred to in sub-section (2) shall include time limit for implementing Rehabilitation and Resettlement Scheme.

(4) The draft Rehabilitation and Resettlement scheme referred to in sub-section (2) shall be made known locally by wide publicity in the affected area and discussed in the concerned Gram Sabhas or Municipalities.

(5) A public hearing shall be conducted in such manner as may be prescribed, after giving adequate publicity about the date, time and venue for the public hearing at the affected area:

Provided that in case where an affected area involves more than one Gram Panchayat or Municipality, public hearings shall be conducted in every Gram Sabha and Municipality where more than twenty-five per cent. of land belonging to that Gram Sabha or Municipality is being acquired:

Provided further that the consultation with the Gram Sabha in Scheduled Areas shall be in accordance with the provisions of the Provisions of the Panchayats (Extension to the Scheduled Areas) Act, 1996 (40 of 1996).

(6) The Administrator shall, on completion of public hearing submit the draft Scheme for Rehabilitation and Resettlement along with a specific report on the claims and objections raised in the public hearing to the Collector."

6.7.1. Section 19 of the Act, 2013 prescribes the stage of declaration of acquisition and the outer time limit for issuance of such declaration. It provides that after considering the report under Section 15, the appropriate Government, if satisfied that the land is required for a public purpose, shall issue a declaration to that effect along with identification of the resettlement area. The provision mandates simultaneous publication of a summary of the Rehabilitation and Resettlement Scheme and requires prior deposit of acquisition cost by the requiring body. It further lays down the manner of publication of the declaration and specifies its contents. Importantly, Section 19 stipulates that the declaration must be issued within a period of twelve months from the date of the preliminary notification under Section 11, failing which the notification shall lapse, subject to exclusion of the period of stay and permissible extension by the appropriate Government for recorded reasons. Section 19 of the Act, 2013 prescribes the outer limit for issuance of the declaration and provides as under:

“19. Publication of declaration and summary of Rehabilitation and Resettlement.-(1)

When the appropriate Government is satisfied, after considering the report, if any, made under sub-section (2) of section 15, that any particular land is needed for a public purpose, a declaration shall be made to that effect, along with a declaration of an area identified as the -resettlement area- for the purposes of rehabilitation and resettlement of the affected families, under the hand and seal of a Secretary to such Government or of any other officer duly authorised to certify its orders and different declarations may be made from time to time in respect of different parcels of any land covered by the same preliminary notification irrespective of whether one report or different reports has or have been made (wherever required).

(2) The Collector shall publish a summary of the Rehabilitation and Resettlement Scheme along with declaration referred to in sub-section (1):

Provided that no declaration under this sub-section shall be made unless the summary of the Rehabilitation and Resettlement Scheme is published along with such declaration:

Provided further that no declaration under this sub-section shall be made unless the Requiring Body deposits an amount, in full or part, as may be prescribed by the appropriate Government toward the cost of acquisition of the land:

Provided also that the Requiring Body shall deposit the amount promptly so as to enable the appropriate Government to publish the declaration within a period of twelve months from the date of the publication of preliminary notification under section 11.

(3) In projects where land is acquired in stages, the application for acquisition itself can specify different stages for the rehabilitation and resettlement, and all declarations shall be made according to the stages so specified.

(4) Every declaration referred to in sub-section (1) shall be published in the following manner, namely:-

(a) in the Official Gazette;

(b) in two daily newspapers being circulated in the locality, of such area of which one shall be in the regional language;

(c) in the local language in the Panchayat, Municipality or Municipal Corporation, as the case may be, and in the offices of the District Collector, the Sub-Divisional Magistrate and the Tehsil;

(d) uploaded on the website of the appropriate Government;

(e) in the affected areas, in such manner as may be prescribed.

(5) Every declaration referred to in sub-section (1) shall indicate,-

(a) the district or other territorial division in which the land is situated;

(b) the purpose for which it is needed, its approximate area; and

(c) where a plan shall have been made for the land, the place at which such plan may be inspected without any cost.

(6) The declaration referred to in sub-section (1) shall be conclusive evidence that the land is required for a public purpose and, after making such declaration, the appropriate Government may acquire the land in such manner as specified under this Act.

(7) Where no declaration is made under sub-section (1) within twelve months from the date of preliminary notification, then such notification shall be deemed to have been rescinded:

Provided that in computing the period referred to in this sub-section, any period or periods during which the proceedings for the acquisition of the land were held up on account of any stay or injunction by the order of any Court shall be excluded:

Provided further that the appropriate Government shall have the power to extend the period of twelve months, if in its opinion circumstances exist justifying the same:

Provided also that any such decision to extend the period shall be recorded in writing and the same shall be notified and be uploaded on the website of the authority concerned.”

(Emphasis supplied)

6.7.2. This Court is not persuaded by the petitioners' contention. The Act, 2013 prescribes a mandatory timeline of twelve months under Section 19 within which the declaration must be issued. Within this compressed period, Section 15 requires disposal of objections within sixty days, Section 16(1) mandates completion of the R&R survey within three months of the Section 11 notification, and Section 18 requires the Commissioner's approval of the R&R Scheme prior to the Section 19 declaration. If proceedings under Sections 15 and 16 were required to operate strictly sequentially, compliance with the mandatory timeline under Section 19 would, in most cases, be rendered practically impossible, and the legislative intent of ensuring expeditious acquisition for public purpose would be entirely frustrated. A harmonious reading of Sections 15, 16, 18, and 19 of the Act, 2013 leads to the conclusion that these provisions are designed to operate concurrently and not in a strictly sequential manner. No illegality is therefore attributable to the parallel conduct of proceedings under Sections 15 and 16 in the present case.

VIII. R&R Scheme - Adequacy And Compliance:

6.8. Section 18 of the Act, 2013 provides that no declaration under Section 19 shall be made unless the Rehabilitation and Resettlement Scheme under Section 17 has been tendered. Rule 24 of the Rules, 2016 mandates preparation of the draft R&R Scheme within three months of the Section 11 notification, followed by public hearings and approval. This Court is satisfied that the R&R Scheme framed for the present acquisition has been approved by the Commissioner on 21.07.2025, prior to issuance of the Section 19 Declaration on 24.10.2025, in full compliance with Section 18 of the Act, 2013 and Rule 24 of the Rules, 2016. The Scheme provides a comprehensive package including allotment of developed residential land (50% of existing landholding, minimum 50 sq. mtrs., maximum 500 sq. mtrs.), employment option or lump sum of Rs. 5,00,000/- or annuity of Rs. 2,000/- per month for 20 years, subsistence allowance, transportation allowance, resettlement allowance, and special assistance for SC/ST families, all in accordance with the Act, 2013. The petitioners' objections raised during the public hearing on 09/10.07.2025 were specifically recorded and addressed in the draft R&R Scheme dated 14.07.2025. The Stage-1 R&R implementation - involving resettlement of displaced families in planned urban residential sectors without any development charges, with stamp duty borne by the authorities - further establishes the bona fides of the respondent authorities.

IX. Section 19 Declaration - No Expansion Of Acquisition:

6.9. The petitioners have contended that Schedule-B of the Section 19 Declaration dated 24.10.2025 illegally expands the acquisition by including an additional area of 78.6776 hectares of Village Neemka Shahjahanpur, which was not covered by the notification issued under Section 11. In order to test this contention, it is necessary to refer to Section 19(2) of the Act, 2013, which provides as under:

“(2) The Collector shall publish a summary of the Rehabilitation and Resettlement Scheme along with declaration referred to in sub-section (1):

Provided that no declaration under this sub-section shall be made unless the summary of the Rehabilitation and Resettlement Scheme is published along with such declaration:

Provided further that no declaration under this sub-section shall be made unless the Requiring Body deposits an amount, in full or part, as may be prescribed by the appropriate Government toward the cost of acquisition of the land:

Provided also that the Requiring Body shall deposit the amount promptly so as to enable the appropriate Government to publish the declaration within a period of twelve months from the date of the publication of preliminary notification under section 11.”

6.9.1. A plain reading of Section 19(2) makes it evident that the declaration under Section 19(1) is required to be accompanied not only by the summary of the Rehabilitation and Resettlement Scheme but also by an indication of the area required for the resettlement of the affected families. The land identified in Schedule-B of the impugned Section 19 Declaration admeasuring 437.9931 hectares (of which 78.6776 hectares pertains to Village Neemka Shahjahanpur) has been included solely as the identified resettlement area for the purpose of displaced families, in compliance with the mandate of Section 19(2). It does not form part of the land proposed to be acquired for the airport expansion project under Section 19(1). Identification of land for R&R purposes under Section 19(2) is a distinct statutory obligation and does not constitute acquisition of such land under Section 19(1). The acquisition of 437.9931 hectares identified for R&R purposes shall be undertaken only through a separate and independent acquisition process strictly in accordance with the provisions of the Act, 2013. The petitioners have thus fundamentally conflated two distinct statutory processes under the same section. The contention is accordingly rejected.

X. Section 10 - Food Security:

6.10. Section 10 of the Act, 2013 provides for special provisions to safeguard food security. It imposes a general prohibition on acquisition of irrigated multi-cropped land, except in exceptional circumstances as a last resort and subject to limits to be notified by the appropriate Government. The provision further mandates that where such land is acquired, either an equivalent area of cultivable wasteland must be developed for agricultural purposes or an equivalent amount must be invested to enhance food security. It also places an overall cap on acquisition of agricultural land in a district or State. However, these restrictions do not apply to linear projects such as railways, highways, canals and power lines. Section 10 of the Act, 2013 provides as under:

“10. Special provision to safeguard food security.-(1) Save as otherwise provided in sub-section (2), no irrigated multi-cropped land shall be acquired under this Act.

(2) Such land may be acquired subject to the condition that it is being done under exceptional circumstances, as a demonstrable last resort, where the acquisition of the land referred to in sub-section (1) shall, in aggregate for all projects in a district or State, in no case exceed such limits as may be notified by the appropriate Government considering the relevant State specific factors and circumstances.

(3) Whenever multi-crop irrigated land is acquired under sub-section (2), an equivalent area of cultivable wasteland shall be developed for agricultural purposes or an amount equivalent to the value of the land acquired shall be deposited with the appropriate Government for investment in agriculture for enhancing food-security.

(4) In a case not falling under sub-section (1), the acquisition of the agricultural land in aggregate for all projects in a district or State, shall in no case exceed such limits of the total net sown area of that district or State, as may be notified by the appropriate Government:

Provided that the provisions of this section shall not apply in the case of projects that are linear in nature such as those relating to railways, highways, major district roads, irrigation canals, power lines and the like.”

6.10.1. The petitioners' Written Submissions raise three specific sub-grounds under Section 10 of the Act, 2013: (i) that the provisions of Section 10 are mandatory in nature and have not been complied with; (ii) that Section 10(3), which requires development of equivalent culturable wasteland or deposit of an equivalent monetary value when multi-cropped irrigated land is acquired under sub-section (2), has not been complied with; and (iii) that the limit under Section 10(4) has been exceeded. This Court proceeds to adjudicate each ground hereinafter.

6.10.2. Insofar as Section 10(4) is concerned, the State Government has notified 5% of the net sown area as the applicable limit for District Gautam Buddha Nagar. The net sown area of the district is 64,046 hectares, and the total acquisition across all stages in the district does not exceed this notified limit of 5%. The requirement of Section 10(4) accordingly stands satisfied. This finding is directly supported by and consistent with the judgment of this Court in Kichhu Ram (supra), wherein, in the context of the Stage-1 acquisition for the same Airport Project in the same district, this Court held that the requirement of Section 10 of the Act, 2013 stood fulfilled since the acquired area was only 1.9% of the total net sown area of District Gautam Buddha Nagar, which was well within the notified limit of 5%. The present acquisition across all stages similarly remains within the notified limit and the ground under Section 10(4) fails.

6.10.3. Insofar as Section 10(3) is concerned, that provision is triggered only when multi-cropped irrigated land is acquired under Section 10(2), i.e., under exceptional circumstances as a demonstrable last resort. The petitioners have not placed any specific material on record to establish that the land being acquired is irrigated multi-cropped land within the meaning of Section 10(1), nor have they produced any khasra or girdawari records before this Court to substantiate this claim. The writ petitions themselves contain internal contradictions in this regard. In the Stage-1 case, this Court also noted that contradiction in Kichhu Ram (supra) (Writ Petition No. 6499 of 2019), particularly referring to paragraph 8 described the land as three-cropped while paragraph 20 described it as four-cropped. In the present case also, no documentary material has been placed on record before this Court to conclusively establish that the lands are irrigated multi-cropped. In the absence of such material, the applicability of Section 10(3) cannot be presumed. Furthermore, the record does not disclose that the Collector or the State Government, while processing the acquisition, arrived at a finding that the land is irrigated multi-cropped land requiring application of Section 10(2) and (3). The ground under Section 10(3) is accordingly found to be not established and is, therefore, rejected.

XI. Expert Group-s Report:

6.11. The petitioners' Written Submissions allege that the State Government did not consider the Expert Group's report under Section 7(2) of the Act, 2013 and that no finding with regard to displacement was recorded, in violation of Rule 11(2) of the Rules, 2016. This contention is examined henceforth. Section 7 of the Act, 2013 provides for constitution and appraisal by the Expert Group, and sub-sections (4) and (5) thereof are particularly material. Sub-Section (4) provides that where the Expert Group concludes that the proposed acquisition is not for a public purpose or the social costs and adverse impacts outweigh the benefits, the appropriate Government shall not proceed with the acquisition process. Sub-Section (5) provides that where the Expert Group concludes that the proposed acquisition is for a public purpose and the benefits outweigh the social costs and adverse impacts, the appropriate Government may proceed with the acquisition process. Section 7 provides as under:

“7. Appraisal of Social Impact Assessment report by an Expert Group.-(1) The appropriate Government shall ensure that the Social Impact Assessment report is evaluated by an independent multi-disciplinary Expert Group, as may be constituted by it.

(2) The Expert Group constituted under sub-section (1) shall include the following, namely:-

(a) two non-official social scientists;

(b) two representatives of Panchayat, Gram Sabha, Municipality or Municipal Corporation, as the case may be;

(c) two experts on rehabilitation; and

(d) a technical expert in the subject relating to the project.

(3) The appropriate Government may nominate a person from amongst the members of the Expert Group as the Chairperson of the Group.

(4) If the Expert Group constituted under sub-section (1), is of the opinion that,-

(a) the project does not serve any public purpose; or

(b) the social costs and adverse social impacts of the project outweigh the potential benefits, it shall make a recommendation within two months from the date of its constitution to the effect that the project shall be abandoned forthwith and no further steps to acquire the land will be initiated in respect of the same:

Provided that the grounds for such recommendation shall be recorded in writing by the Expert Group giving the details and reasons for such decision:

Provided further that where the appropriate Government, inspite of such recommendations, proceeds with the acquisition, then, it shall ensure that its reasons for doing so are recorded in writing.

(5) If the Expert Group constituted under sub-section (1), is of the opinion that,-

(a) the project will serve any public purpose; and

(b) the potential benefits outweigh the social costs and adverse social impacts, it shall make specific recommendations within two months from the date of its constitution whether the extent of land proposed to be acquired is the absolute bare-minimum extent needed for the project and whether there are no other less displacing options available:

Provided that the grounds for such recommendation shall be recorded in writing by the Expert Group giving the details and reasons for such decision. (6) The recommendations of the Expert Group referred to in sub-sections (4) and (5) shall be made available in the local language to the Panchayat, Municipality or Municipal Corporation, as the case may be, and the offices of the District Collector, the Sub-Divisional Magistrate and the Tehsil, and shall be published in the affected areas, in such manner as may be prescribed and uploaded on the website of the appropriate Government.”

6.11.1. A plain reading of Section 7(4) and (5) of the Act, 2013 makes the position clear: if the Expert Group concludes that the acquisition is for a public purpose and that the benefits outweigh the social costs, the appropriate Government may proceed. Interference by the Court is warranted only if the Expert Group recommends abandonment under Section 7(4) and the Government proceeds in defiance of that recommendation. In the present case, the Expert Group, constituted in accordance with Section 7 and Rule 10 of the Rules, 2016, submitted its report on 09.02.2024 and unanimously concluded: (i) that the proposed acquisition of 1,888.9088 hectares across fourteen villages serves a valid public purpose; (ii) that the total proposed area constitutes the bare minimum requirement for the project; and (iii) that no viable alternative exists which would result in lesser displacement. The Expert Group thus returned a finding squarely within Section 7(5) and expressly did not make any recommendation under Section 7(4) for abandonment of the acquisition. Thereafter the State Government, in compliance with Section 8 of the Act, 2013, approved the SIA Report on 08.01.2025. The petitioners' suggestion that the Expert Group recommended that Villages Thora and Neemka should be kept free from displacement has already been found to be a misreading of the record, the Expert Group merely suggested that the possibility be explored, upon which PwC conclusively confirmed the unavailability of relocation. No recommendation under Section 7(4) was made. The ground under Section 7(2) read with Rule 11(2) of the Rules, 2016 accordingly fails and is rejected.

XII. Rule 13 of the Rules, 2016 -Minimum Land Acquisition and Utilisation of Government Land:

6.11.2. The petitioners' Written Submissions specifically raise violation of Rule 13 of the Rules, 2016 and contend that the authorities were required to ensure acquisition of the minimum amount of land and to facilitate utilisation of unutilised public/Government land before resorting to acquisition of private land. The petitioners claim that approximately 296 hectares of Government land was available and should have been used, and that the total acquisition of 1,857.77 hectares is far in excess of the minimum requirement. Rule 13 of the Rules, 2016 provides as under:

“13. Inventory of Waste, Barren and Unutilised Land.- To ensure acquisition of minimum amount of land and to facilitate the utilization of unutilized public lands, the State Government, by way of notification, shall make necessary arrangements to authorise any department to prepare a district-level inventory report of waste, barren and unutilized public land. If it is requested or required then the land available in the State Government land bank and shall be made available to the Social Impact Assessment team and Expert group. The inventory report shall be updated from time to time.”

6.11.3. This Court has carefully considered the petitioners' contention in the light of Rule 13. The record discloses that the Multi-Disciplinary Expert Group, constituted under Section 7 of the Act, 2013 and Rule 10 of the Rules, 2016, specifically examined and recorded in its report dated 09.02.2024 that the total proposed acquisition area of 1,888.9088 hectares constitutes the bare minimum requirement for the project, and that no viable alternative exists which would result in lesser acquisition or displacement. This finding of the Expert Group, which is the body specifically constituted to appraise the SIA Report and determine whether the minimum land requirement has been met, was accepted and approved by the State Government on 08.01.2025 under Section 8 of the Act, 2013. Furthermore, the PwC technical report specifically confirmed that the three villages in question lie within the alignment of runways and aircraft parking areas, and that no alternative technical configuration is available. On the petitioners' computation regarding Government land, this Court notes that the petitioners' written submissions themselves acknowledge that approximately 296 hectares of Government land exists in the area, which is already included within and accounted for in the total acquisition. The fact that some Government land forms part of the acquisition does not establish a violation of Rule 13, it establishes compliance with it, since Government land is being utilised as part of the same proceedings. The record does not disclose any non-compliance of Rule 13. The ground qua violation of Rule 13 is accordingly rejected.

XIII. Challenge Based On The U.P. Industrial Area Development Act, 1976:

6.12. The petitioners have contended that since Village Neemka Shahjahanpur was declared as an Industrial Nagar under the Act, 1976 by notification dated 14.12.2018, any acquisition or displacement could only be carried out by the Industrial Development Authority under that Act. This Court is unable to accept this contention. Section 6 of the Act, 1976 itself contemplates acquisition of land either by agreement or through proceedings under the land acquisition law in force. With the repeal of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, such acquisition necessarily operates through the Act, 2013. The Act, 1976 is not a self-contained code for compulsory acquisition, and the declaration of an area as an industrial township does not, in law, bar the exercise of acquisition powers under the Act, 2013 for a distinct public purpose. Displacement, if any, is not a function of the acquiring authority but a consequence regulated exclusively through the R&R framework under the Act, 2013, irrespective of the nature of the acquiring authority. Furthermore, as rightly urged by the learned Senior Counsel for YEIDA, there is no specific pleading in the writ petitions disclosing how the Act, 1976 creates a jurisdictional bar to the exercise of acquisition powers under the Act, 2013. This contention is accordingly rejected. This Court also notes that an identical contention was raised and came to be rejected in the Kichhu Ram case (supra) in respect of the Stage-1 acquisition.

XIV. Article 300-A - Right To Property:

6.13. The petitioners have invoked Article 300-A of the Constitution of India, which provides that no person shall be deprived of his property save by authority of law. This Court fully recognises that the right to property, though no longer a fundamental right after the 44th Constitutional Amendment, remains a constitutional right under Article 300-A and is entitled to the protection of law. However, the right under Article 300-A is not an absolute right; it is subject to the State's power of eminent domain exercised through a valid law and a fair legal procedure. The protection afforded by Article 300-A is that the deprivation of property must be by authority of law - meaning a valid law that has been followed in letter and spirit.

6.13.1. In the present case, this Court has found, upon detailed examination, that the entire acquisition process has been carried out strictly in accordance with the Act, 2013, which is a valid law enacted by Parliament specifically to govern land acquisition while safeguarding the interests of landowners and affected families through mandatory SIA, public hearings, consent requirements, fair compensation, and rehabilitation and resettlement entitlements. The Act, 2013 is itself a comprehensive legislative response to the constitutional mandate under Article 300-A, incorporating procedural and substantive safeguards that go significantly beyond the previous Land Acquisition Act, 1894. Since the acquisition has been conducted in full compliance with the Act, 2013 and the Rules, 2016, there is no deprivation of property otherwise than by authority of law, and no violation of Article 300-A is made out. The constitutional challenge accordingly fails.

XV. Petitioners- Urgency Clause Argument:

6.14. The petitioners have submitted in their written submissions that the notifications were required to be issued with an urgency clause in consonance with Section 40 of the Act, 2013, since the Government was acting with undue haste, and that the absence of the urgency clause but the presence of alleged procedural shortcuts is inconsistent. Section 40 of the Act, 2013 provides for the special provision of urgency for acquisition by the appropriate Government in cases of urgency, which enables the Collector to take possession of land even before the award is passed. This Court records that the present acquisition was not carried out under the urgency clause provisions of Section 40. On the contrary, the entire acquisition has been processed through the normal, full, and complete procedure prescribed under the Act, 2013, from Section 4 (SIA notification) all the way through Sections 7, 8, 11, 15, 16, 17, 18, and 19, with each step being duly completed before proceeding to the next. Paradoxically, the petitioners' own argument on this point supports the respondents. The very fact that no urgency clause was invoked means that the fullest possible statutory procedure was followed without any curtailment of the petitioners' rights at any stage. Far from disclosing any illegality, the absence of the urgency clause is conclusive evidence of the bona fide intent of the respondent authorities to follow the complete due process of law. The petitioners' argument on this ground is accordingly rejected and is in fact a further circumstance that supports the conclusion that the acquisition is valid.

XVI. Distinction of judgment in D.B. Basnett (D) through Lrs. vs. The Collector and another:

6.15. The petitioners have relied upon the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in D.B. Basnett (D) (supra), for the proposition that the provisions of the land acquisition law are mandatory in nature and must be strictly followed. In that case, the Agriculture Department of the Government of Sikkim sought to acquire land in the year 1980 for the purpose of building a Progeny Orchard Regional Centre. The landowner's successor filed a suit for possession after finding the State in occupation of his land in the year 2002. The State sought to defend on the ground that the land had been acquired and compensation paid. However, the Supreme Court found that: (i) no notification of intent to acquire under Section 4 of the Sikkim Land (Requisition and Acquisition) Act, 1977 had been issued or produced; (ii) no declaration or any other acquisition document was available on record; (iii) no proof of actual payment of compensation existed beyond a covering letter, i.e. the signed receipt was missing and there was no proof of the Collector having withdrawn the sum from any account; and (iv) the entire acquisition record was admittedly unavailable with the State. On these facts, the Supreme Court held that there cannot be a presumption of acquisition without following the due process under Sections 3(1), 4(2), 5(1) and 7(2) of the said Act, and that the burden lay on the State to prove that the statutory process had been followed and compensation paid, a burden which the State had entirely failed to discharge. It further reiterated that rights in land, though no longer a fundamental right, remain a constitutional right under Article 300-A, and provisions seeking to divest any person of property must be strictly followed.

6.15.1. The said judgment is clearly and manifestly distinguishable from the present case on every material aspect. In D.B. Basnett (supra), the State could not produce a single acquisition document - no notification, no declaration, no compensation receipt - and the entire acquisition record was concededly missing. The Supreme Court intervened precisely because there was a total absence of compliance with the mandatory statutory process, rendering the purported acquisition entirely without the authority of law. The present case stands in diametric contrast. As this Court has found upon exhaustive examination, the acquisition has been conducted in meticulous compliance with each stage prescribed under the Act, 2013 and the Rules, 2016, as conclusively demonstrated by the Compliance Chart on record, the notifications under Sections 11 and 19, the record of hearings under Section 15, the approved R&R Scheme under Section 18, and the awards under Section 23 - all of which are documented and placed before this Court. D.B. Basnett judgment is a case of acquisition without any process; the present is a case of acquisition with a full, documented and verified statutory process. The proposition of law laid down therein that statutory provisions must be strictly followed, in fact supports the respondents, since it is precisely because those provisions have been meticulously followed in the present case that the acquisition goes through scrutiny. The judgment accordingly provides no assistance to the petitioners and is inapplicable.

XVII. Distinction of judgment in Kolkata Municipal Corporation and another vs. Bimarl Kumar Shah:

6.16. The petitioners have also relied upon the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Kolkata Municipal Corporation (supra), for the proposition that the right to property under Article 300-A of the Constitution comprises seven intersecting sub-rights or procedural safeguards which must all be satisfied before a person is deprived of his property. These seven sub-rights, as identified by the Supreme Court, are: (i) the right to notice; (ii) the right to be heard; (iii) the right to a reasoned decision; (iv) the duty to acquire only for a public purpose; (v) the right of restitution or fair compensation; (vi) the right to an efficient and expeditious process; and (vii) the right of conclusion. In that case, the Kolkata Municipal Corporation purported to compulsorily acquire a private property under Section 352 of the Kolkata Municipal Corporation Act, 1980, without following any procedure for acquisition whatsoever. The Supreme Court, affirming the High Court, held that Section 352 was not a power of compulsory acquisition at all, it merely empowered the Municipal Commissioner to identify land for opening of streets, parks, etc. and that compulsory acquisition could only be effected by applying to the State Government under Section 537 of the said Act. Since Section 352 prescribed absolutely no procedure before depriving a person of his property, i.e. no notice, no hearing, no reasoned decision, no determination of compensation, the Supreme Court held the purported acquisition to be constitutionally weak and in violation of Article 300-A. It was in this context of a complete legislative and procedural vacuum that the Court elaborated upon the seven sub-rights constituting the minimum constitutional content of a valid acquisition law.

6.16.1. The said judgment is also clearly distinguishable on facts and law and provides no support to the petitioners. In Kolkata Municipal Corporation (supra), the acquisition was attempted under a provision that: (a) was held by the Supreme Court not to be a power of compulsory acquisition at all; (b) prescribed absolutely no procedure of any kind before deprivation of property; and (c) provided no mechanism for notice, hearing, reasoned decision or fair compensation. The Supreme Court intervened because there was a complete constitutional and statutory vacuum, no valid law authorising compulsory acquisition had been followed. In the present case, the position is entirely different. The acquisition has been carried out under the Act, 2013, which is a comprehensive Parliamentary enactment that not only confers the express power of compulsory acquisition but, as the Supreme Court itself noted in Kolkata Municipal Corporation (supra) at paragraphs 30.1 to 30.7, specifically and expressly incorporates each of the seven sub-rights identified therein. Section 11 of the Act, 2013 provides for the right to notice; Section 15 provides for the right to be heard; Section 19 provides for a reasoned declaration; Sections 2(1) and 11(1) ensure acquisition only for a public purpose; Section 23 ensures fair compensation; the timeline provisions of Sections 4(2), 14, 15(1), 16(1), 19(2) and 25 ensure an efficient process; and Sections 37 and 38 govern conclusion through taking of possession. All seven sub-rights are thus not only present in the Act, 2013 but have been fully complied with in the present acquisition, as this Court has found on facts. Far from assisting the petitioners, the framework laid down in Kolkata Municipal Corporation (supra) itself vindicates the constitutional validity of an acquisition conducted under the Act, 2013 in the manner it has been done in the present case. The judgment is accordingly inapplicable to the facts before this Court and affords no ground for interference.

XVIII. Abadi Survey:

6.17. The petitioners' contention that abadi land was proposed for acquisition without any spot inspection is factually incorrect. The competent authority conducted surveys under the Act, 2013 and the Rules, 2016 in all three villages - Neemka Shahjahanpur, Khwajpur and Thora - wherein existing structures, abadi, buildings, wells, tube wells, trees and other assets were identified, verified and recorded in the statutory survey documents in Form-11 under the Rules, 2016, as is evident from the survey records placed on record as Annexure CA-22 to YEIDA's Counter Affidavit. The allegations are unsupported by any material on record and are rejected.

XIX. Awards Passed - Compensation Determined:

6.18. This Court takes note that awards providing total compensation of approximately Rs. 4,772/- to Rs. 4,778/- per square metre - computed by applying market value of Rs. 1,550/- under Section 26(2) of the Act, 2013, additional compensation of Rs. 1,200/- under the Government Order dated 10.03.2025, 100% solatium under Section 30(1), and 12% per annum additional amount under Section 30(3) of the Act, 2013 from the date of the Section 4 Notification - have been passed for the three villages during the pendency of these proceedings. Disbursement has commenced. The compensation so determined is, in the view of this Court, fair and in conformity with the scheme of the Act, 2013. It is however made expressly clear that if any petitioner or affected landowner is aggrieved by the determination or quantum of compensation, the Act, 2013 provides a specific and efficacious statutory remedy. Section 64 of the Act, 2013 provides as under:

“64. Reference to Authority.”-(1) Any person interested who has not accepted the award may, by written application to the Collector, require that the matter be referred by the Collector for the determination of the Authority, as the case may be, whether his objection be to the measurement of the land, the amount of the compensation, the person to whom it is payable, the rights of Rehabilitation and Resettlement under Chapters V and VI or the apportionment of the compensation among the persons interested:

Provided that the Collector shall, within a period of thirty days from the date of receipt of application, make a reference to the appropriate Authority:

Provided further that where the Collector fails to make such reference within the period so specified, the applicant may apply to the Authority, as the case may be, requesting it to direct the Collector to make the reference to it within a period of thirty days.

(2) The application shall state the grounds on which objection to the award is taken:

Provided that every such application shall be made-

(a) if the person making it was present or represented before the Collector at the time when he made his award, within six weeks from the date of the Collector-s award;

(b) in other cases, within six weeks of the receipt of the notice from the Collector under section 21, or within six months from the date of the Collector-s award, whichever period shall first expire:

Provided further that the Collector may entertain an application after the expiry of the said period, within a further period of one year, if he is satisfied that there was sufficient cause for not filing it within the period specified in the first proviso.”

6.18.1. Any petitioner or affected landowner aggrieved by the determination of compensation is at liberty to avail the remedy of reference before the competent Reference Authority under Section 64 of the Act, 2013.

XX. Possession Of Abadi Land:

6.19. This Court takes note of the categorical statement made by the respondent-YEIDA in paragraph 31 of its Supplementary Counter Affidavit, reiterated in the Written Submissions filed by Shri Rahul Agarwal, learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of the respondent-YEIDA, which is extracted below:

“31. --.. The possession will be taken only after disbursement of compensation in accordance with law. In cases where abadi land is involved, the authorities shall first undertake measurement of the existing abadi area of the affected families. Thereafter, developed plots will be carved out for the displaced families in terms of the approved R&R Scheme. Upon completion of the said process, the R&R award will be passed under Section 31 of the 2013 Act, and the developed plots will be handed over to the displaced families. Only thereafter possession of the abadi land will be taken.”

6.19.1. The aforesaid statement, having been made on affidavit in the Supplementary Counter Affidavit and reiterated in the Written Submissions of the learned Senior Counsel, is binding on the respondent-YEIDA. This Court places the said statement on record and directs the respondent-YEIDA and the State respondents to strictly adhere to and comply with the same. It is made expressly clear that possession of the abadi land of the displaced families shall not be taken in any manner contrary to or in derogation of the aforesaid statement. Any deviation therefrom shall be treated as a wilful breach of the undertaking given to this Court, rendering the respondent-YEIDA liable to contempt proceedings.

XXI. Suppression Of Material Facts:

6.20. This Court cannot but record that the petitioners have consciously withheld material documents, including the final approved SIA Report, the approved R&R Scheme, the approvals granted under Sections 8 and 18 of the Act, 2013, and the awards passed in January-February 2026, all of which were available in the public domain, while selectively relying on fragments of the record. A litigant invoking the extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India must approach this Court with clean hands and full disclosure of all material facts.

XXII. Additional Legal Principles which fall for consideration in the instant case:

6.21. This Court deems it appropriate to set out additional legal principles laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court which further fortify the conclusion that no interference is required in the instant acquisition proceedings put to challenge before this Court.

6.21.1. In Ramniklal N. Bhutta and Another v. State of Maharashtra and Others, the Hon'ble Supreme Court considered a challenge to acquisition of land for a road project in Maharashtra and laid down the governing principles of judicial review in such matters. Hon-ble Supreme Court held that it is recognised on all hands that the infrastructure necessary for sustaining such a pace of progress is woefully lacking in our country. The means of transportation, power and communications are in dire need of substantial improvement, expansion and modernisation. These things very often call for acquisition of land and that too without any delay. It is, however, natural that in most of these cases, the persons whose lands are acquired are not happy with the same. They seek to challenge the acquisition in the courts. While the rights of such persons have to be scrupulously respected, an acquisition for the benefit of the public at large is not to be lightly quashed. Extraordinary reasons must exist for doing so. The court, while balancing the competing interests must also bear in mind that the public, which is the greater beneficiary, is a silent party in all such proceedings. The Hon-ble Court observed as under in paragraph 10:

"10. Before parting with this case, we think it necessary to make a few observations relevant to land acquisition proceedings. Our country is now launched upon an ambitious programme of all-round economic advancement to make our economy competitive in the world market. We are anxious to attract foreign direct investment to the maximum extent. We propose to compete with china economically. We wish to attain the pace of progress achieved by some of the Asian countries, referred to as "Asian tigers", e.g., South Korea, Taiwan and Singapore. It is, however, recognised on all hands that the infrastructure necessary for sustaining such a pace of progress is woefully lacking in our country. The means of transportation, power and communications are in dire need of substantial improvement, expansion and modernisation. These things very often call for acquisition of land and that too without any delay. It is, however, natural that in most of these cases, the persons affected challenge the acquisition proceedings in courts. These challenge the acquisition proceedings in courts. These challenges are generally in shape of writ petitions filed on High Courts. Invariably, stay of acquisition is asked for and in some cases, orders by way of stay or injunction are also made. Whatever may have been the practices in the past, a time has come where the courts should keep the larger public interest in mind while exercising their power or grant in stay/injunction. The power under-Article 226-is discretionary. It will be exercised only in furtherance of interests of justice and not merely on the making out of a legal point. And in the matter of land acquisition for public purposes, the interests of justice and the public purposes, the interests of justice and the public interest coalesce. They are very often one and the same. Even in civil suit, granting of injunction or other similar orders, more particularly of an interlocutory nature, is equally discretionary. The courts have to weigh the public interest vis-a-vis the private interest while exercising the power under-Article 226 --indeed any of their discretionary powers. It may even be open to the High Court to direct, in case it finds finally that the acquisition was vitiated on account of non-compliance with some legal requirement that the persons interested shall also be entitled to a particular amount of damages to be awarded as a lumpsum or calculated at a certain percentage of compensation payable. There are many ways of affording appropriate relief and redressing a wrong; quashing the acquisition proceedings is not the only mode of redress. To wit, it is ultimately a matter of balancing the competing interests. Beyond this, it is neither possible nor advisable to say. We hope and trust that these considerations will be duly borne in mind by the courts while dealing with challenges to acquisition proceedings.”

6.21.2. Applying the aforesaid principle to the present case, the acquisition is for the expansion of the Noida International Airport, which is a project of national importance serving the aviation requirements of the National Capital Region. No fraud, malafides, or non-application of mind has been established or credibly alleged. The ratio of Ramniklal N. Bhutta (supra) squarely applies to the instant case and as such no interference is warranted in the instant proceedings.

6.21.3. In Constitution Bench judgment of Smt. Somawanti and Others v. State of Punjab and Others, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

“40. ---.. If the purpose for which the acquisition is being made is not relatable to a public purpose, then a question may well arise whether, in making the declaration, there has been, on the part of the Government, a fraud on the power conferred upon it by the Act. In other words, the question would then arise whether that declaration was merely a colourable exercise of the power conferred by the Act, and, therefore, the declaration is open to challenge at the instance of the party aggrieved. To such a declaration the protection of Section 6(3) will not extend. For, the question whether a particular action was the result of a fraud or not is always justiciable, ---...”

6.21.4. The ratio of this Constitution Bench judgment is clear. The Government's declaration of public purpose is final and not ordinarily justiciable; judicial review is confined to cases of fraud or colourable exercise. In the present case, the public purpose, i.e. expansion of an international airport, is beyond challenge. No fraud or colourable exercise has been alleged, let alone established. The protection of finality of the Government's satisfaction fully applies. The principle in Somawanti (supra) operates as a complete bar to judicial interference with the declared public purpose.

6.21.5. In Daulat Singh Surana v. First Land Acquisition Collector and Others,¹⁸ it was held that the rationale of taking away private land by the State for a public purpose is that private interest must give way to public interest. The State in exercise of its power of eminent domain may interfere with the right of property of a person by acquiring the same, but the same must be for a public purpose and reasonable compensation therefor must be paid. However, once a public purpose is established and proper procedure under the applicable acquisition law has been followed, the private interest of the individual must yield to the larger interest of the public. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in this judgment, while affirming the acquisition of land for a public purpose, held as under:

“40. Public purpose will include a purpose in which the general interest of community as opposed to the interest of an individual is directly or indirectly involved. Individual interest must give way to public interest as far as public purpose in respect of acquisition of land is concerned.”

6.21.6. In the present case, the petitioners' own case is that they do not oppose the acquisition of their agricultural land. Even the challenge to displacement of abadi is a private interest that must, upon due compliance with the R&R framework under the Act, 2013, yield to the public interest of airport expansion. The R&R Scheme provides comprehensive entitlements and the awards have been passed. This principle directly supports dismissal of the present petitions.

6.21.7. In Whirlpool Corporation v. Registrar of Trade Marks, Mumbai and Others, the Hon'ble Supreme Court laid down the following principle (paragraph 15):

'15. Under Article 226 of the Constitution, the High Court, having regard to the facts of the case, has a discretion to entertain or not to entertain a writ petition. But the High Court has imposed upon itself certain restrictions one of which is that if an effective and efficacious remedy is available, the High Court would not normally exercise its jurisdiction. But the alternative remedy has been consistently held by this Court not to operate as a bar in at least three contingencies, namely, where the writ petition has been filed for the enforcement of any of the Fundamental Rights or where there has been a violation of the principle of natural justice or where the order or proceedings are wholly without jurisdiction or the vires of an Act is challenged---

6.21.8. In the present case, none of the three exceptional contingencies enumerated by the Supreme Court are present. The Act, 2013 provides a complete statutory mechanism for all compensation disputes through Section 64 (Reference to the Authority) and Section 74 (Appeal to High Court) thereafter. To the extent the petitioners' grievances relate to adequacy of compensation or rate of market value, the efficacious statutory remedy under Section 64 is available and may be availed. The writ jurisdiction of this Court is not the appropriate forum for such redressal qua inadequacy of compensation or rate of market value.

6.21.9. This Court, in Veena Singh vs. Union of India and 3 Others, examined the issue of balancing public interest with private rights in matters of land acquisition, particularly in the context of infrastructure development such as national highways. The Court held that while individual property rights are to be respected and adequately compensated, they cannot be allowed to obstruct or delay projects of national importance. It was observed that once a public project has substantially progressed or been completed, the appropriate relief is compensation rather than quashing the acquisition, as setting aside such proceedings would lead to practical difficulties and impede public development. This Court has held as under:

“6.6. Public Interest vs. Private Interest

6.6.1. Infrastructure development is critical for the economic growth and prosperity of the nation. National highways play a vital role in facilitating movement of goods and passengers, promoting trade and commerce, and integrating different regions of the country. Widening and upgradation of national highways have become imperative in view of the exponential growth in vehicular traffic over the past decades.

6.6.2. It is well-established that whenever there is a conflict between public interest and private interest, the former must prevail. While the law provides for payment of fair and adequate compensation to persons whose land is acquired for public purposes, individual hardship cannot be permitted to defeat or delay projects of national importance. The constitutional courts, while exercising jurisdiction under Article 226, must keep the larger public interest in mind and must weigh public interest vis-a-vis private interest while exercising their discretionary powers.

6.6.3. The Supreme Court, in Competent Authority vs. Barangore Jute Factory and others, examined the delicate balance between public interest and private rights in the context of land acquisition for a national highway. While holding that the acquisition notification was legally defective for want of proper statutory compliance and that possession had been taken contrary to law, the Court declined to quash the notification. It noted that the acquisition was for a project of great national importance and that the highway construction had already been completed. Quashing the notification at that stage would have caused serious practical difficulties and led only to a fresh acquisition process, escalating compensation due to rising land prices. The Court emphasized that private property rights cannot be ignored, but where public interest has crystallized into an irreversible public project, the appropriate remedy lies in just and fair compensation rather than undoing what has already been done. In this context, Hon'ble Supreme Court observed in paragraph 14 as under:

“14. Having held that the impugned notification regarding acquisition of land is invalid because it fails to meet the statutory requirements and also having found that taking possession of the land of the writ petitioners in the present case in pursuance of the said notification was not in accordance with law, the question arises as to what relief can be granted to the petitioners. The High Court rightly observed that the acquisition of land in the present case was for a project of great national importance, i.e. the construction of a national highway. The construction of a national highway on the acquired land has already been completed as informed to us during the course of hearing. No useful purpose will be served by quashing the impugned notification at this stage. We cannot be unmindful of the legal position that the acquiring authority can always issue a fresh notification for acquisition of the land in the event of the impugned notification being quashed. The consequence of this will only be that keeping in view the rising trend in prices of land, the amount of compensation payable to the land owners may be more. Therefore, the ultimate question will be about the quantum of compensation payable to the land owners. Quashing of the notification at this stage will give rise to several difficulties and practical problems. Balancing the rights of the petitioners as against the problems involved in quashing the impugned notification, we are of the view that a better course will be to compensate the land owners, that is, writ petitioners appropriately for what they have been deprived of. Interests of justice persuade us to adopt this course of action.”

6.6.4. *This principle has been consistently followed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in several cases. The Supreme Court, in Ramniklal N. Bhutta and another vs. State of Maharashtra and others, emphasized that while individual property rights are important, they cannot override genuine public purposes underlying land acquisition. The case arose from acquisition of land for establishing a bus station for the Bombay Electric Supply and Transport Undertaking (BEST). The appellant challenged the acquisition on grounds of alleged mala fides, selective exclusion of adjoining land, and procedural irregularities. The Court noted that the acquisition proceedings had commenced as early as 1979 and were repeatedly delayed due to litigation. It found no material to substantiate allegations of mala fides or absence of public purpose and held that mere adjustments or settlements during acquisition do not negate the underlying public need. The Court underscored that infrastructure projects are vital for economic development and cannot be lightly stalled at the instance of individual landowners, particularly after prolonged delay. Importantly, it held that discretionary jurisdiction under Article 226 must be exercised keeping the larger public interest in mind, especially in matters of land acquisition. In this context, the Court observed:

“The courts have to weigh the public interest vis-a-vis the private interest while exercising the power under Article 226- In the matter of land acquisition for public purposes, the interests of justice and the public interest coalesce; they are very often one and the same.”

(Emphasis supplied)

6.6.5. The Supreme Court in Pratibha Nema and others vs. State of M.P. and others, examined the delicate balance between private landowners- rights and the larger public interest in the context of land acquisition for establishment of a -Diamond Park.- While the acquisition incidentally benefited private companies engaged in diamond cutting and polishing, the Court held that such benefit does not, by itself, negate the existence of a public purpose. Emphasis was laid on the broader objectives of industrial development, employment generation, earning of foreign exchange, and planned economic growth of the State. The Hon-ble Supreme Court reiterated that the concept of -public purpose- is elastic and must be understood in a pragmatic manner, keeping in view contemporary socio-economic needs. It was further held that the Government-s satisfaction regarding public purpose is entitled to due weight and judicial interference is warranted only where the acquisition is shown to be a colourable exercise of power to serve a purely private interest. The Court observed that -the phrase -public purpose-- must include a purpose in which the general interest of the community, as opposed to the particular interest of individuals, is directly and vitally concerned.- Thus, where acquisition subserves a larger public goal, the incidental benefit to private entities cannot invalidate it.”

G. CONCLUSION

7. In the light of the foregoing analysis, the legal framework, the principles of law laid down in the judgments discussed above, and the material available on record, this Court holds as follows:-

(i) The acquisition process in respect of the impugned notifications dated 11.04.2025 (under Section 11) and 24.10.2025 (under Section 19) of the Act, 2013 has been conducted in full and meticulous compliance with each stage prescribed under the Act, 2013 and the Rules, 2016, as demonstrated by the Compliance Chart placed on record by the respondent-YEIDA, which has not been effectively controverted.

(ii) The mandatory consent of 70% of the project-affected families, as required under Section 2(2)(b)(ii) of the Act, 2013, has been duly obtained as 73.02% of the total project-affected families across the fourteen villages had consented as on 01.03.2025.

(iii) The SIA process was duly conducted in accordance with Sections 4 to 8 of the Act, 2013 and the Rules, 2016. The Expert Group's suggestion for exploring the possibility of minimising displacement was acted upon through PwC, which confirmed the technical unavailability of relocation.

(iv) Objections under Section 15 of the Act, 2013 were duly heard and disposed of by reasoned order dated 11.07.2025, and the decision of the State Government thereon is final under Section 15(3) of the Act, 2013.

(v) Proceedings under Sections 15 and 16 of the Act, 2013 are designed to operate concurrently and the parallel conduct of these proceedings raises no illegality.

(vi) The R&R Scheme was duly approved under Section 18 of the Act, 2013 on 21.07.2025, prior to issuance of the Section 19 Declaration.

(vii) Awards providing fair and just compensation have been passed and disbursement has commenced. Any grievance regarding compensation may be addressed in Reference before the Authority under Section 64 of the Act, 2013.

(viii) The challenge to the Section 19 Declaration on the ground of alleged expansion is based on a misreading of Schedule-B, which identifies land for R&R of displaced families under the mandate of Section 19(2) of the Act, 2013, through a separate acquisition process, and does not expand the area of acquisition for the public purpose project under Section 19(1).

(ix) The challenge under the U.P. Industrial Area Development Act, 1976 is without merit and is rejected.

(x) The requirement of Section 10 of the Act, 2013 stands satisfied, as the total acquired area does not exceed the notified limit of 5% of the net sown area of District Gautam Buddha Nagar.

(xi) The constitutional challenge under Article 300-A of the Constitution of India fails. The right to property under Article 300-A is not an absolute right and is subject to the State's power of eminent domain exercised through a valid law followed in letter and spirit. Since the acquisition has been carried out in full compliance with the Act, 2013, which is itself Parliament's comprehensive legislative response to the constitutional mandate under Article 300-A, no deprivation of property otherwise than by authority of law is made out.

(xii) The two Supreme Court judgments relied upon by the petitioners, namely D.B. Basnett (supra) and Kolkata Municipal Corporation (supra), are clearly distinguishable on facts and inapplicable to the present case.

H. FINAL ORDERS

8. In view of the foregoing discussion and for the reasons stated hereinabove, this Court finds no merit in the challenge raised by the petitioners to the impugned notifications dated 11.04.2025 and 24.10.2025. This Court declines to interfere in the acquisition proceedings, which have been conducted in conformity with the Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act, 2013 and the Rules, 2016 framed thereunder.

8.1. All the three writ petitions, being Writ-C No. 41339 of 2025, Writ-C No. 41467 of 2025 and Writ-C No. 46238 of 2025, are hereby disposed of with the following directions:

(a) The respondent-YEIDA and the State respondents shall strictly comply with the statement made on affidavit in paragraph 31 of YEIDA's Supplementary Counter Affidavit placed on record before us and reiterated in the Written Submissions of Shri Rahul Agarwal, learned Senior Counsel, to the effect that possession of the abadi land of displaced families shall not be taken until: (i) full development of the rehabilitation site; (ii) measurement of the existing abadi area of each affected family; (iii) carving out of developed plots in accordance with the approved R&R Scheme; and (iv) passing of the R&R Award under Section 31 of the Act, 2013 and actual handing over of the developed plots to the displaced families. Any deviation from the aforesaid statement shall be treated as a wilful breach of the undertaking given to this Court.

(b) The petitioners and all other affected landowners, if aggrieved by the determination or quantum of compensation awarded under the Act, 2013, are at liberty to approach the competent Reference Authority under Section 64 of the Act, 2013 and all such disputes shall be adjudicated strictly only in accordance with law.

(c) The disbursement of compensation, implementation of the R&R Scheme, and all consequential acquisition activities shall proceed strictly in accordance with the provisions of the Act, 2013 and the Rules, 2016.

8.2. There shall be no order as to costs.

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether the expression 'entertain an appeal' occurring in s. 129E of the Customs Act, 1962 would mean mere filing/registration of an appeal, or would operate only at the stage when the appellate authority applies its mind and considers the appeal on merits.

Headnotes

Customs Act, 1962 - ss. 112(a), 114(AA), 129E - Constitution of India, 1950 - Article 226 - Mandatory pre-deposit of 7.5% of disputed demand/penalty for filing appeal - Waiver application - Interpretation of word "entertain" - Scope and meaning - Appeal against Order-in-

Original - The instant bunch of writ petitions was filed by the petitioners challenging the action of Customs authorities in refusing to register their statutory appeals against the Order-in-Original passed under the provisions of Customs Act, 1962 - The petitioners were aggrieved by the adjudication orders whereby customs duty/penalty demands were imposed upon them, and they intended to challenge the same before the appellate authority - However, the appeals were not entertained on the ground that the petitioners had failed to comply with the mandatory requirement of pre-deposit of 7.5% of disputed duty/penalty as contemplated u/s 129E of Customs Act - The petitioners contended before the High Court that they were being prevented at the threshold from even filing and registering their appeals, and sought permission to pursue the statutory remedy along with consideration of their request for waiver of pre-deposit - The controversy before the High Court, therefore, centred around the interpretation of expression 'entertain an appeal' u/s 129E of Act and whether non-compliance of pre-deposit requirement could prevent mere filing/registration of an appeal.

Held: The 'entertainment' of an appeal, cannot be equated with its mere filing or registration - At that stage, the act performed may be ministerial but not quasi-judicial - A proceeding, howsoever defective, may be registered by a quasi-judicial authority - Subject to removal/curing of those defects, it may be registered as a regular proceeding - At that stage, either the defects may stand cured, or the objection to defect may be considered by the quasi-judicial authority - It may either be sustained, or time may be granted to cure the defect, (or the proceeding may fail for the reason that it is a hopelessly defective proceeding), or such other order may be passed, as may be deemed fit in the peculiar facts of a case - At that stage, the quasi-judicial authority may first exercise and apply its judicial mind-whether such proceeding is worthy of being 'entertained' as an appeal - Till that stage (of application of mind by the quasi-judicial authority), has been crossed, it cannot be said if the appeal has been 'entertained' by that quasi-judicial authority - Accordingly, the writ petitions disposed of with the direction that proceeding being presented by petitioner before the Commissioner (Appeals), against the Order-in-Original dated 28.11.2025, must be allowed to be filed, numbered and thus registered, without insisting on pre-deposit at the rate of 7.5% of disputed demand of customs duty/penalty, at that stage - Such proceeding may be registered as a defective proceeding-for reason of pre-deposit not made or proof of pre-deposit not produced, at that stage - The issue, whether that appeal is to be 'entertained', may be considered by Commissioner (Appeals), where that proceeding is listed/placed before it, first. Appearances for Parties

Adv. for the Petitioner(s):

Akanksha Mishra

Advs. for the Respondent(s):

A.S.G.I., Dhananjay Awasthi, Krishna Agarawal

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saumitra Dayal Singh, J.

Hon'ble Swarupama Chaturvedi, J.)

1. Heard Ms. Akanksha Mishra, learned counsel for the petitioners, Sri Dhananjay Awasthi, learned counsel for the revenue, Sri Krishna Agarawal, learned counsel for the respondent No.1 and perused the record.

2. This batch of writ petitions raises a common legal issue. Visited with a common Adjudication Order (Order-in-Original), passed under the provisions of the Customs Act, 1962 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act'), the petitioners intend to file individual appeals, thereagainst. They also seek opportunity to apply for waiver of the condition to pre-deposit 7.5% of the disputed demand of Custom duty/penalty, in terms of Section 129E of the Act. They have been prevented from filing such appeals, ostensibly on the objection raised that they have not pre-deposited or appended proof of deposit of 7.5% of the disputed demand of customs duty/penalty, imposed under the Order-in-Original (proposed to be assailed by them), before the appellate forum.

3. For ready reference, the facts giving rise to the issue in Writ-Tax No. 2238 of 2026 (M/S Runway Impex and another vs. Union of India and others), may be noted, in brief.

4. The petitioner is engaged in the business of import and export of betel nuts. It had entered into an agreement with one M/s Margo Impex Private Limited-for storage and warehousing of those goods, in a Free Trade Warehousing Zone. On 29.10.2024, a Show Cause Notice (in short 'SCN') was issued to the petitioner, proposing to confiscate the goods imported by it. The petitioner participated in the proceedings and submitted its reply. However, by order dated 28.11.2025, the objections raised have been rejected, and a disputed demand of penalty of Rs.3,91,82,273/- has been imposed under Sections 112(a) and 114(AA) of the Act.

5. To 'entertain' an appeal against that order, the petitioner is required to pre-deposit 7.5% of that penalty demand. It would amount to Rs.29,38,670.47/-.

6. In the above facts, the petitioner has disclosed that it has been prematurely prevented from filing its appeal, for reason of that pre-deposit not made and/or for lack of proof of such pre-deposit-submitted with its memorandum of appeal. Voicing this grievance, the writ petition has been filed, seeking the following relief:

"i) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing the respondent no.2 to waive of the mandatory pre-deposit amount deposited for filing of the appeal;

ii) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing the respondent no.2 to decide the petitioners' Waiver Application filed alongwith his appeal (Irfan vs. Joint Commissioner, Customs Commissionerate, Noida) before the respondent no.2 against the Order-in-Original No. 51/JC/NOIDA-CUS/2026-26 dated 28.11.2025, in view of the judgment passed by this Hon'ble Court in Writ Tax no. 5866 of 2025."

7. First, no waiver may be granted by this Court, at this stage, unless there exists a proceeding in the nature of an appeal, registered with the appeal authority, with respect to which waiver may be prayed for. Yet, it has been asserted by learned counsel for the revenue, unless the petitioner makes pre-deposit @ 7.5% of the disputed demand of penalty etc. involved, its appeal may never be entertained i.e. registered, in view of the clear language of Section 129E of the Act.

8. In such circumstances, we had granted opportunity to learned counsel for the revenue to complete his instructions. That has been done. To the extent, the issue is purely legal and in view of the order we propose to pass, we also find the issue is not res-integra. Accordingly, the petition is being disposed of, at this stage.

9. Section 129E of the Act reads as below:

"[129E. Deposit of certain percentage of duty demanded or penalty imposed before filing appeal. - The Tribunal or the Commissioner (Appeals), as the case may be, shall not entertain any appeal,"

(i) under sub-section (1) of section 128, unless the appellant has deposited seven and a half per cent. of the duty, in case where duty or duty and penalty are in dispute, or penalty, where such penalty is in dispute, in pursuance of a decision or an order passed by an officer of customs lower in rank than the Commissioner of Customs or Commissioner of Customs;

(ii) against the decision or order referred to in clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 129A, unless the appellant has deposited seven and a half per cent. of the duty, in case where duty or duty and penalty are in dispute, or penalty, where such penalty is in dispute, in pursuance of the decision or order appealed against;

(iii) against the decision or order referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 129A, unless the appellant has deposited ten per cent. of the duty, in case where duty or duty and penalty are in dispute, or penalty, where such penalty is in dispute, in pursuance of the decision or order appealed against:

Provided that the amount required to be deposited under this section shall not exceed rupees ten crores:

Provided further that the provisions of this section shall not apply to the stay applications and appeals pending before any appellate authority prior to the commencement of the Finance (No. 2) Act, 2014 (25 of 2014).J"

10. Thus, no appeal may be 'entertained' unless the condition of pre-deposit at the rate of 7.5% of the disputed demand of custom duty or penalty, as the case may be, is first satisfied.

11. At the same time, it is recognized-the statutory authorities do not have any power to grant waiver of that requirement. Yet, in exceptional facts, this Court, in exercise of its extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, may pass appropriate orders with respect to waiver. That principle arises on the strength of the reasoning in the decision of the coordinate bench in M/s Ganesh Yadav Vs. Union of India & Ors.; 2015 (6) ADJ 250, wherein, following Shyam Kishore Vs. Municipal Corporation of Delhi (1993) 1 SCC 22, in paragraph nos. 3 and 8 of that judgment of the coordinate bench, it has been noticed as below :

"3. The petitioner has sought in these proceedings a writ restraining the respondents from enforcing the mandatory requirement of a pre-deposit of 7.5% of the duty demanded in pursuance of the order of adjudication dated 31 March 2015. The second relief is for a declaration that Section 35F of the Act, as amended with effect from 6 August 2000, so as to provide a mandatory pre-deposit of 7.5% for first appeals and 10% to second appeals of the total tax or penalty demanded, is ultravires or unconstitutional.

...
...

8. ... The requirement of a deposit of 10% is in the case of an appeal to the Tribunal against an order of the Commissioner (Appeals). This requirement cannot be regarded or held as being arbitrary or as violative of Article 14. Above all, as the Supreme Court held in Shyam Kishore (supra), the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution is vested with the jurisdiction in an appropriate case to dispense with the requirement of pre-deposit and the power of the Court under Article 226 is not taken away. This was also held by the Supreme Court in P. Laxmi Devi (supra) in which the Supreme Court observed that recourse to the writ jurisdiction would not be ousted in an appropriate case. Whether the writ jurisdiction under Article 226 should be exercised, having due regard to the discipline which has been laid down under Section 35F of the Act, is a separate matter altogether but it is important to note that the power under Section 26 has not been, as it cannot be, abridged."

12. Therefore, it cannot be successfully claimed by the revenue that there does not exist any power to grant the relief prayed. Howsoever restricted it may be, such power, referable to the extraordinary jurisdiction of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution, does exist. Whether this power is to be exercised, in the present fact, may remain to be considered at the appropriate stage, in the individual/peculiar facts of each case.

13. However, before such consideration may ever arise, there must exist a proceeding with respect to which that power may be exercised, by this Court. At present, owing to the refusal on part of the Commissioner (Appeals) and for reason of insistence by the revenue authorities that pre-deposit at the rate 7.5% of the disputed demand be first made and/or its proof be shown to exist, at the time of filing of the appeal, no proceeding has been registered. Consequently the stage to consider the grant of waiver has not arrived.

14. In Dhoom Chand Jain vs. Chaman Lal Gupta and another AIR 1962 All 543, a coordinate bench of the then Chief Justice M.C. Desai and Justice S.N. Dwivedi held-the word 'entertained' appearing in the proviso to Rule 90 of the Order XXI, C.P.C., bears the meaning 'admitted for consideration'.

15. As to the objection raised by the revenue that unless deposit is first made, no appeal may be 'entertained', and therefore, the insistence on part of the revenue and the Commissioner (Appeals), that such pre-deposit must be made before the appeal may be entertained i.e. registered, requires serious consideration. Yet, that issue is squarely decided against the revenue almost from the beginning. Thus, another coordinate bench of B. Mukrji and D.P. Uniyal, JJ., in Kundan Lal Vs. Jagan Nath Sharma and others, AIR1962 All 547 had the occasion to interpret the proviso to Rule 90 of the Order XXI, C.P.C. It was opined as below:

"This in our opinion clearly goes to indicate that the stage at which the question as to whether the applicant has complied with the terms of the proviso to Rule 90 of Order XXI arises is when the court is actually seized of the application filed by the judgment-debtor for setting aside the sale"

(emphasis supplied)

16. In Haji Rahim Bux and others Vs. Haji Sanaullah and sons, Pechbagh, Kanpur 1962 SCC OnLine All 156, another coordinate bench had the occasion to consider that issue. Therein, in his judgment, Justice S.D. Singh framed the following issue:

10. Taking the two appeals together, the questions, which arise for decision and which were canvassed before us, are:

(1) ...

(2) ...

(3) Whether it was necessary for the applicants to comply with the provisions of Cl. (b) of the first proviso to rule 90 of Or. XXI of the Code within the period of limitation prescribed for an objection under the aforesaid rule.

(emphasis supplied)

17. That issue was answered as below:

"35. This brings us to the next point involved in the case, namely, the one relating to the interpretation of the proviso to R. 90 of Or. XXI of the Code, which has already been extracted in the earlier part of this judgment. An application to set aside a sale is not to be entertained unless

(1) the objector puts forward a round, which could not have been taken by him on or before the date on which the sale proclamation was drawn up, and

(2) he deposits such amount not exceeding twelve and a half per cent of the sum realised by the sale or furnishes such security as the Court may demand but the Court may, for reasons to be recorded, dispense with his requirement.

36. It is not in dispute that no deposit was made by the objectors, or any security furnished by them, in application was moved for exemption being granted for the operation of Cl. (b) of the proviso to R. 90 afore-said on 13th February, 1960, and was allowed on 29th February, 1960. The sale, it may be recalled, took place on 6th October, 1959, and the objection under R. 90 was filed on 24th November, 1959. The question is whether the objector should have made the deposit or furnished security under Cl. (b) of the proviso or applied for exemption thereunder within the period of limitation prescribed for filing an objection under R. 90, and if, in the absence of compliance with the provisions of Cl. (b) within the aforesaid period of limitation the objection could be 'entertained' or if it was liable to be thrown out. Reliance was placed by the learned Counsel for the respondents on Bawan Ram v. Kunj Behari Lal, 1960 A.L.J. 578, in which V. Bhargava, J. has held that under such circumstances the proviso bars the entertainment of an objection altogether and that consequently if the requirements of the proviso are not complied with within the time within which the objection could be filed, it cannot thereafter be entertained, nor can the deposit or security therefor accepted after the expiry of such time. It was, therefore, urged that the objection filed by the appellants was liable to be dismissed on that ground. A Full Bench decision of the Patna High Court - Brij Behari Lal v. Srinivas Ram Kumar, A.I.R. 1939 Pat. 248 was cited in Bawan Ram's 1960 A.L.J. 578 case and was distinguished on the ground that the corresponding proviso added by the Patna High Court to R. 90 afore-said laid a bar to the 'admission' of a petition and it was pointed out that under that rule if there was compliance with the proviso before admission, it had to be held that there was sufficient compliance. The words used in the Patna Rule are:

(i) Provided that no application to set aside a sale shall be admitted unless

(b) the applicant deposits with his application such amount not exceeding 12 1/2 per cent of the sum realized by the sale or such other security as the Court may in its discretion fix, unless the Court, for reasons to be recorded, dispenses with the deposit.

37. This proviso differs from the one added by this Court in two important respects:

(1) The words 'shall be admitted' have been used for the words 'shall be entertained.'

(2) The words 'deposits with his application' have been used in Cl. (b) as against the simple word 'deposits' used in the Allahabad amendment.

38. The use of the words 'deposits with his application' seem to make it obligatory that the deposit must be made or other requirements of the clause satisfied simultaneously with the moving of the application, but the word 'admitted' in the opening clause indicates that even if the provisions of Cl. (b) of the proviso are complied with by the time the application is admitted, the objector will be deemed to have complied with the provisions of the clause. It is this latter aspect of the Patna amendment which was referred to by V. Bhargava, J. and the Patna view distinguished.

39. Since then, however, there has been another decision of this Court in Kundan Lal v. Jagan Nath Sharma, 1962 A.W.R. 500 : 1962 A.L.J. 574, in which Bawan Ram v. Kunj Behari Lal, 1960 A.L.J. 578, has been overruled, and it has been held that the expression 'entertain' does not mean the same thing as the filing of the application or the admission of the application by the Court and that the true intention of the proviso is to allow the judgment debtor to prosecute his application for the setting aside of the sale, if he complies with the conditions contained in the proviso to R. 90 before the application is finally heard and disposed of by the Court.

40. The meaning of the word 'entertain' was also understood in the same sense in another recent decision, Dhoom Chand v. Chaman Lal, 1962 A.L.J. 729, to which one of us was a party, and it was pointed out:

The dictionary meaning of the word 'entertain' is: to deal with; to admit to consideration. In its application to Cl. (a) the word bears the meaning of admitting to consideration. That clause enjoins the Court from considering the application on any ground which could have been taken on or before the drawing up of the sale proclamation. In its application to Cl. (b) the word should bear the same sense. Accordingly while the court cannot refuse to take an application which is not backed by deposit or security, it cannot judicially consider it. It is expected that the Court would ordinarily give an opportunity to the applicant to comply with Cl. (b), and would reject the application if Cl. (b) were still not complied with.

41. The word 'entertain' was also explained by their Lordships of the Supreme Court in Samrath Transport Co. v. Regional Transport Authority, A.I.R. 1961 S.C. 93, though in another connection. Interpreting Sec. 68-F of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939, their Lordships observed at page 97:

'The word 'entertain' may mean to receive on file or keep on file and in that sense the Authority may refused to keep an application on its file by rejecting it either at the time it is file or thereafter. It does not connote any time but only describes the scope of the duty under that clause. It can only mean that the Authority cannot dispose of the application on merits but can reject it as not maintainable.'

42. According to this view the word 'entertain' may mean that an objection may not be received by the Court without the provisions of the Proviso being complied with at the time of the filing of the objection, or that the objection may not be heard on merits unless compliance with it is duly made. It is in this latter sense that the word 'entertain' was understood in Dhoom Chand v. Chaman Lal, 1962 A.L.J. 729, as well as in Kundan Lal v. Jagan Nath Sharma, 1962 A.W.R. 500: 1962 A.L.J. 574 'and the reason for the same is obvious.

18. The then Chief Justice M.C. Desai in his concurring opinion further observed as below:

"I agree that the word 'entertain' in the proviso, means not 'receive' or 'accept' but 'proceed to consider on merits' or 'adjudicate upon.' An application under the rule is not to be entertained unless the applicant deposits such amount or furnishes such security as the Court may in its discretion fix, unless it dispenses with the deposit or security."

(emphasis supplied)

19. That consistent view of this Court was noticed and affirmed by the Supreme Court in Lakshmiratan Engineering Works Ltd. Vs. Assistant Commissioner (Judicial) I, Sales Tax, Kanpur Range, Kanpur and another 1967 SCC OnLine SC 140. Therein, it was observed as below:

"To begin with it must be noticed that the proviso merely requires that the appeal shall not be entertained unless it is accompanied by satisfactory proof of the payment of the amount of tax admitted by the appellant to be due. A question thus arises what is the meaning of the word "entertained" in this context? Does it mean that no appeal shall be received or filed or does it mean that no appeal shall be admitted or heard and disposed of unless satisfactory proof is available? The dictionary meaning of the word "entertain" was brought to our notice by the parties, and both sides agreed that it means either "to deal with or admit to consideration". We are also of the same opinion. The question, therefore, is at what stage can the appeal be said to be entertained for the purpose of the application of the proviso? Is it "entertained" when it is filed or is it "entertain" when it is admitted and the date is fixed for hearing or is it finally "entertained" when it is heard and disposed of? Numerous cases exist in the law reports in which the word "entertained" or similar cognate expressions have been interpreted by the courts. Some of them from the Allahabad High Court itself have been brought to our notice and we shall deal with them in due course. For the present we must say that if the Legislature intended that the word "file" or "receive" was to be used, there was no difficulty in using those words. In some of the statutes which were brought to our notice such expressions have in fact been used. For example, under Order 41, rule 1, of the Code of Civil Procedure it is stated that a memorandum shall not be filed or presented unless it is accompanied etc.; in section 17 of the Small Causes Courts Act, the expression is "at the time of presenting the application". In section 6 of the Court-fees Act, the words are "file" or "shall be received". It would appear from this that the Legislature was not at a loss for words if it had wanted to express itself in such forceful manner as is now suggested by counsel for the State. It has used the word "entertain" and it must be accepted that it has used it advisedly. This word has come in for examination in some of the cases of the Allahabad High Court and we shall now refer to them.

In Kundan Lal v. Jagannath Sharma(1), the Court was concerned with Order 21, rule 90, of the Code of Civil Procedure which had been amended by the Court by changing the provisions of the original Code. The changed rule is as follows:

"Provided that no application to set aside the sale shall be entertained:

(a) upon any ground which should have been taken by the applicant on or before the date on which the sale proclamation was drawn up;

(b) unless the applicant deposits such amount not exceeding 12 1/2 per cent. of the sum realised by the sale or furnishes such security as the court may in its discretion fix, except when for reasons to be recorded it dispenses with the requirements of this clause.

The word "entertain" is explained by a Divisional Bench of the Allahabad High Court as denoting the point of time at which an application to set aside the sale is heard by the court. The expression "entertain", it is stated, does not mean the same thing as the filing of the application or admission of the application by the court. A similar view was again taken in Dhoom Chand Jain v. Chamanlal Gupta and Another(2), in which the learned Chief Justice Desai and Mr. Justice Dwivedi gave the same meaning to the expression "entertain". It is observed by Dwivedi, J., that the word "entertain" in its application bears the meaning "admitting to consideration" and therefore when the court cannot refuse to take an application which is backed by deposit or security, it cannot refuse judicially to consider it. In a single Bench decision of the same court reported in Bawan Ram and Another v. Kunj Beharilal and Another(3), one of us (Bhargava, J.) had to consider the same rule. There the deposit had not been made within the period of limitation and the question had arisen whether the court could entertain the application or not. It was decided that the application could not be entertained because proviso (b) debarred the court from entertaining an objection unless the requirement of depositing the amount or furnishing security was complied with within the time prescribed. In that case the word "entertain" is not interpreted but it is held that the court cannot proceed to consider the application in the absence of deposit made within the time allowed by law. This case turned on the fact that the deposit was made out of time. In yet another case of the Allahabad High Court reported in Haji Rahim Bux & Sons and Others v. Firm Samiullah & Sons(4), a Division Bench consisting of Chief Justice Desai and (1) A.I.R. 1962 All. 547.(3) A.I.R. 1962 All. 42. (2) A.I.R. 1962 All. 543.(4) A.I.R. 1963 All. 320.

Mr. Justice S.D. Singh interpreted the words of Order 21, rule 00, by saying that the word "entertain" meant not "receive" or "accept" but "proceed to consider on merits" or "adjudicate upon".

In our opinion these cases have taken a correct view of the word "entertain" which according to dictionary also means "admit to consideration".

...

Now the complicating factor is the existence of the rule, and here, the divergence of submission arises on whether the rules can be regarded as mandatory or merely directory. It is quite obvious that the section as it stands only requires that at the time of the consideration of the appeal, there should be satisfactory proof, that the admitted tax has been deposited. It only says that no appeal shall be entertained unless accompanied by satisfactory proof of the payment of the tax. This satisfactory proof may take any form; in fact in the present case satisfactory proof was tendered in the shape of a certificate from the Sales Tax Officer that the admitted tax had been deposited and well within time. Under section 9 and its proviso as they stand, it is quite obvious that "entertainment" means the point of time when the appeal is being considered. There was thus satisfactory proof in the present case.

...

The distinction made by the learned Chief Justice between the tangible and intangible objects does not, in our opinion, fall for consideration in the present case. If one holds that by "entertainment" is meant the time of admission of the appeal, satisfactory proof may be furnished at the time of admission of the appeal. We are of opinion that by the word "entertain" here is meant the first occasion on which the court takes up the matter for consideration. It may be at the admission stage or if by the rules of that Tribunal the appeals are automatically admitted, it will be the time of hearing of the appeal. But on the first occasion when the court takes up the matter for consideration, satisfactory proof must be presented that the tax was paid within the period of limitation available for the appeal. In the present case when the Assistant Commissioner took up the appeal for consideration, satisfactory proof was available in the shape of a certificate which even today is not denied. In our opinion the Assistant Commissioner was wrong in declining to consider the appeal in the presence of such uncontestable proof."

20. The view taken by this Court has been consistent. It affirms that 'entertainment' of an appeal, cannot be equated with its mere filing or registration. At that stage, the act performed may be ministerial but not quasi-judicial. A proceeding, howsoever defective, may be registered by a quasi-judicial authority. Subject to removal/curing of those defects, it may be registered as a regular proceeding.

21. At that stage, either the defects may stand cured, or the objection to the defect may be considered by the quasi-judicial authority. It may either be sustained, or time may be granted to cure the defect, (or the proceeding may fail for the reason that it is a hopelessly defective proceeding), or such other order may be passed, as may be deemed fit in the peculiar facts of a case. That would fall within the domain of exercise of quasi-judicial power/function. At that stage, the quasi-judicial authority may first exercise and apply its judicial mind-whether such proceeding (brought before it), is worthy of being 'entertained' as an appeal. Till that stage (of application of mind by the quasi-judicial authority), has been crossed, it cannot be said if the appeal has been ☐entertained☐ by that quasi-judicial authority.

22. In view of that consistent view of the Court, the decision of the Gujarat High Court in Ramesh Vasantbhai Bhojani vs. Union of India and 2 others, 2017:GUJHC:11689-DB that is seen to adopt a slightly different reasoning may not require our further consideration. We find, the reasoning offered by this Court, as has been confirmed by the Supreme Court and consistently applied over six decades, applies with equal force, even in the context of Section 129E of the Act.

23. Accordingly, the writ petitions stand disposed of with the direction that the proceeding being presented by the petitioner before the Commissioner (Appeals), against the Order-in-Original dated 28.11.2025, must be allowed to be filed, numbered and thus registered, without insisting on pre-deposit at the rate of 7.5% of the disputed demand of customs duty/penalty, at that stage. Such proceeding may be registered as a defective proceeding-for reason of pre-deposit not made or proof of pre-deposit not produced, at that stage. The issue, whether that appeal is to be ☐entertained☐, may be considered by the Commissioner (Appeals), on the quasi-judicial side, where that proceeding is listed/placed before it, first.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Shri Pal Singh Yadav, the learned counsel for the appellant and Shri Mohd. Asif Khan, the learned AGA-I for the State.

2. By means of the instant appeal filed under Section 374 Cr.P.C., the appellant has challenged the validity of a judgment and order dated 05.04.2018 passed by the Special Judge, POCSO Act/Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No.8, Lucknow in Session Trial No.869 of 2015 titled State v. Rajesh Singh Rathore arising out of Case Crime No.259 of 2015 under Section 376 IPC and 5/6 of POCSO Act registered at Police Station- Krishna Nagar, District- Lucknow.

3. The aforesaid case was instituted on the basis of an FIR lodged on the basis of a written complaint given by the appellant's wife on 20.07.2015 stating that the appellant had repetitively committed the misdeed against her daughter aged 9 years. The daughter had informed her that the appellant commits penetrative intercourse and bites on her private parts.

4. In the statement of the victim recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C., she stated that her father (the appellant) used to insert his finger in her vagina. She stated that blood was coming out of her vagina while urinating.

5. The medico-legal examination of the victim was conducted on 20.07.2015 itself at 05:00 PM. Swabs were collected for pathological examination and clothes of the victim were sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory for examination. The medico-legal examination report mentions that there was swelling and redness on vagina and on inner sides of thighs, hymen was torn with old, healed tags of membrane were present and that the victim was bleeding during urination. The pathological examination report did not reveal presence of spermatozoa (dead or alive). The Forensic Science Laboratory report mentions presence of blood on underwear of the victim.

6. The trial Court took cognizance of the offence and on 07.11.2015, the charges were framed against the appellant for commission of the offence under Section 376 IPC and 5/6 of Prevention of Children from Sexual Offence, 2012 (hereinafter referred to as POCSO Act).

7. The informant was examined as PW-1. She stated that she got married to the appellant in the year 2005. She lived for nine years in the house of her parents with her husband and her children. In the year 2018, her mother got a new house constructed in Sangam Vihar Colony, Krishna Nagar and gave the same to her and thereafter she shifted in that house along with her husband (the appellant), daughter and son. On 19.07.2015, her daughter was crying and was frightened. Upon being asked, she informed that the appellant commits the misdeed with her. He puts his penis in her mouth as well as in her vagina. He did so on 19.07.2015 in a room situated on the upper floor of the house. She further told that the appellant had bitten on her vagina. PW-1 stated that there were bite marks on the vagina and there was redness on that area.

8. During cross-examination, PW-1 stated that she got married in the year 2005. The daughter (the victim) was born in the year 2006. She stayed in her sasural till chouthi ceremony, i.e., only for four days after the marriage. Thereafter she lived in the house of her parents for about nine years. She stated that she was physically handicapped whereas her husband (the appellant) is an able-bodied person. She did not live in her sasural and she lived in the house of her parents because she is physically handicapped. She further stated that although the victim had not told her about the incident prior to 19.07.2015, but she had told on several occasions that she experienced pain in her private parts. She further stated that her husband was working as a Bus driver on contractual basis. The relations between herself and her husband were normal. Her husband used to bear the household expenses as per his capacity and her father also used to provide financial assistance.

9. The victim was examined as PW-2. She stated that the appellant used to put his penis in her vagina. She used to suffer pain and her father used to ask her to hold him tightly to lessen the pain. Her father used to bite on her vagina. Some white discharge used to come out when her father did so. He also used to put his penis in her mouth. This was done in a room situated on the upper floor of the house. She also stated that when her father did so, blood had come out from her vagina. When she used to suffer pain, her father used to shut her mouth and threaten her.

10. During cross-examination, the victim stated that earlier she used to reside in the house of her maternal grand-parents but thereafter they gave them a new house and since then she was residing in the new house given by her maternal grand-parents.

11. The informant's mother was examined as PW-3. She stated that the appellant is her son-in-law. She has given a house in Krishna Nagar, Kanausi to her daughter and her daughter had shifted to that house with her husband and children in March 2013. She stated that her daughter had gone her to her sasural after her wedding. She returned in chouthi (ceremonial visit to the bride's paternal home on the fourth day after the marriage) and thereafter she never went to her sasural. Her son-in-law (the appellant) started living with her. PW-3 stated that she used to bear the expenses of the appellant. In the year 2005, the appellant started working in the transport department on contractual basis.

12. The Doctor who had medically examined the victim, was examined as PW-4. She stated that the victim had told that the appellant had been making sexual assault on her for the past about six months. The Doctor stated that there were biting marks on the vulva of the child victim. She was bleeding while urinating. The incident had taken place about 20-22 hours ago. The vulva was swollen and there was redness in that area. The skin between the thigh and the vagina was also red and this was possible by commission of rape by use of force. Upon internal examination, swelling and redness was found in urethra. Hymen was old torn and healed. She stated that as per the radiological examination report, the age of the victim is about eight years. The hymen of an eight years old child being old, torn and healed indicates that forcible rape has been attempted on her several times.

13. The FIR writer was examined as PW-5 and the Investigating Officer has been examined as PW-6.

14. In the statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., the appellant denied the charges against him. He stated that his wife has falsely implicated him because of disputes between them. He stated that he does not have to lead any defence evidence.

15. After examining the entire material, the trial Court found that the prosecution has proved beyond reasonable doubt that the appellant has committed aggravated sexual assault and rape against his own daughter aged eight years. There was no substantial discrepancy in the evidence led by the prosecution. Thus, the offences described in Section 5(k), 5(l), 5(m), 5(n) of POCSO Act are made out.

16. Assailing validity of the aforesaid order, the learned Counsel for the appellant has submitted that during examination under Section 313 Cr.P.C., questions were put to the appellant regarding commission of offence under Section 3/4 of the POCSO Act and no question was put regarding the offence under Section 5/6 of the POCSO Act. Therefore, the appellant could not be punished for the offence under Section 5/6 of POCSO Act.

17. Although question No.2 and question No.9 put to the appellant during his examination under Section 313 Cr.P.C. mentioned Section 3/4 of POCSO Act but the question No.1 specifically asks the appellant to place his version regarding the prosecution evidence to the effect that the appellant had repetitively committed rape against his nine years' old daughter. This fact clearly makes out commission of offence under Section 5/6 of the POCSO Act. During examination, the facts making out an offence are required to be put to the accused. Mere non-mention of a particular Section in the questions put during examination of the accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. would not be of any material consequence. Similarly, question Nos. 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 specifically required the appellant-accused to put his version regarding the allegations which make out commission of offences under Section 5 of the POCSO Act. Therefore, I find no force in the submission of the learned counsel for the appellant that since the questions put to the appellant under Section 313 Cr.P.C. did not make a mention of Section 5/6 of POCSO Act, the appellant could not be convicted and sentenced for the aforesaid offence.

18. The learned counsel for the appellant has next submitted that although the FSL report mentions presence of blood on the underwear of the victim, the blood sample was not examined to ascertain as to whether the blood was of the victim herself or not.

19. In this regard it is relevant to have a look at the law as explained by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Veerendra v. State of M.P.: (2022) 8 SCC 668, wherein it was held that: -

"46. There can be no doubt with respect to the position that a fair investigation is necessary for a fair trial. Hence, it is the duty of the investigating agency to protect the rights of both the accused and the victim by adhering to the prescribed procedures in the matter of investigation and thereby to ensure a fair, competent and effective investigation. Even while holding so, we cannot be oblivious of the well-nigh settled position that solely on account of defects or shortcomings in investigation an accused is not entitled to get acquitted. In other words, it also cannot be the sole reason for interference with a judgment of conviction if rest of the evidence is cogent enough to sustain the same.

47. In the decision in Mir Mohammad Omar case [State of W.B. v. Mir Mohammad Omar, (2000) 8 SCC 382], this Court held:

"41. ? In our perception it is almost impossible to come across a single case wherein the investigation was conducted completely flawless or absolutely foolproof. The function of the criminal courts should not be wasted in picking out the lapses in investigation and by expressing unsavoury criticism against investigating officers. If offenders are acquitted only on account of flaws or defects in investigation, the cause of criminal justice becomes the victim. Effort should be made by courts to see that criminal justice is salvaged despite such defects in investigation." (emphasis supplied by the Hon'ble Supreme Court)

48. In the context of the contentions it is more appropriate to refer to the decision of this Court in Sunil v. State of M.P. [(2017) 4 SCC 393] It was a case of rape and murder of a four (4) year old child. A three-Judge Bench held herein thus:

"3. At the very outset, we deal with the arguments advanced on behalf of the appellant that in the present case the report of DNA testing of the samples of blood and spermatozoa under Section 53-A of the Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 has not been proved by the prosecution. The prosecution has, therefore, failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. Reliance in this regard has been placed on the decision of this Court in Krishan Kumar Malik v. State of Haryana [(2011) 7 SCC 130].

4. From the provisions of Section 53-A of the Code and the decision of this Court in Krishan Kumar [Krishan Kumar Malik v. State of Haryana, (2011) 7 SCC 130 : (2011) 3 SCC (Cri) 61] it does not follow that failure to conduct the DNA test of the samples taken from the accused or prove the report of DNA profiling as in the present case would necessarily result in the failure of the prosecution case. As held in Krishan Kumar (para 44), Section 53-A really "facilitates the prosecution to prove its case". A positive result of the DNA test would constitute clinching evidence against the accused if, however, the result of the test is in the negative i.e. favouring the accused or if DNA profiling had not been done in a given case, the weight of the other materials and evidence on record will still have to be considered. It is to the other materials brought on record by the prosecution that we may now turn to."

53. In view of the nature of the provision under Section 53-ACrPC and the decisions referred to, we are also of the considered view that the lapse or omission (purposeful or otherwise) to carry out DNA profiling, by itself, cannot be permitted to decide the fate of a trial for the offence of rape especially, when it is combined with the commission of the offence of murder as in case of acquittal only on account of such a flaw or defect in the investigation the cause of criminal justice would become the victim. The upshot of this discussion is that even if such a flaw had occurred in the investigation in a given case, the court has still a duty to consider whether the materials and evidence available on record before it, are enough and cogent to prove the case of the prosecution. In a case which rests on circumstantial evidence, the Court has to consider whether, despite such a lapse, the various links in the chain of circumstances form a complete chain pointing to the guilt of the accused alone in exclusion of all hypothesis of innocence in his favour." (Emphasis added)

20. Non examination of blood sample present on the clothes of the victim for the purpose of ascertaining to whom it belonged is not fatal to an otherwise reliable, trustworthy and credible prosecution story which clearly establishes the guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt. When the testimony of the victim and her mother are read along with the medical report which show injuries on her private parts and the testimony of the doctor who had examined her, commission of rape by the appellant is clearly established. In such a case, non-examination of the blood sample for corroboration does not vitiate the prosecution's case.

21. In Lok Mal v. State of U.P.: (2025) 4 SCC 470, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

16. It is a settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that the evidence of a prosecutrix in a case of rape is of the same value as that of an injured witness and conviction can be made on the basis of the sole testimony of the prosecutrix. In State of Punjab v. Gurmit Singh [(1996) 2 SCC 384], the Supreme Court observed as under:

"21. ? The courts should examine the broader probabilities of a case and not get swayed by minor contradictions or insignificant discrepancies in the statement of the prosecutrix, which are not of a fatal nature, to throw out an otherwise reliable prosecution case. If evidence of the prosecutrix inspires confidence, it must be relied upon without seeking corroboration of her statement in material particulars. If for some reason the court finds it difficult to place implicit reliance on her testimony, it may look for evidence which may lend assurance to her testimony, short of corroboration required in the case of an accomplice. The testimony of the prosecutrix must be appreciated in the background of the entire case and the trial court must be alive to its responsibility and be sensitive while dealing with cases involving sexual molestations." (emphasis supplied by Hon'ble Supreme Court)

17. A profitable reference can also be made to Bharwada Bhoginbhai Hirjibhai v. State of Gujarat [(1983) 3 SCC 217] where the Supreme Court observed as under: -

"9. In the Indian setting, refusal to act on the testimony of a victim of sexual assault in the absence of corroboration as a rule, is adding insult to injury. Why should the evidence of the girl or the woman who complains of rape or sexual molestation be viewed with the aid of spectacles fitted with lenses tinged with doubt, disbelief or suspicion?"

22. It is significant to note that the prosecution story in the present case does not solely rest upon the victim's testimony. It is already supported by the medical evidence including the doctor's statement regarding the happening of the alleged incident. In such a case, the non examination of the blood sample does not weaken the prosecution's case.

23. The learned counsel for the appellant has lastly submitted that the pathological examination report as well as the FSL report are negative for presence of spermatozoa on the body of the victim as well as her clothes.

24. The victim had stated that her father used to wipe away the sperm by a cloth. It is recorded in the medico-legal examination report that the medico-legal examination was conducted after about 20-22 hours since the incident. The victim had taken bath and had washed away her private parts. In these circumstances, absence of sperms in the vaginal smear slides and clothes of the victim would not be decisive.

25. The learned Counsel for the appellant has relied upon a judgment in the case of Dilip v. State of M.P.: (2001) 9 SCC 452, wherein the prosecution case was based solely on the testimony of the prosecutrix but the medical evidence does not lend any positive corroboration to her testimony. The Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"12. The law is well settled that the prosecutrix in a sexual offence is not an accomplice and there is no rule of law that her testimony cannot be acted upon and made the basis of conviction unless corroborated in material particulars. However, the rule about the admissibility of corroboration should be present to the mind of the Judge. In State of H.P. v. Gian Chand [(2001) 6 SCC 71] on a review of decisions of this Court, it was held that conviction for an offence of rape can be based on the sole testimony of the prosecutrix corroborated by medical evidence and other circumstances such as the report of chemical examination etc., if the same is found to be natural, trustworthy and worth being relied on. This Court relied upon the following statement of law from State of Punjab v. Gurmit Singh [(1996) 2 SCC 384] SCC (para 21):

"If evidence of the prosecutrix inspires confidence, it must be relied upon without seeking corroboration of her statement in material particulars. If for some reason the court finds it difficult to place implicit reliance on her testimony, it may look for evidence which may lend assurance to her testimony, short of corroboration required in the case of an accomplice. The testimony of the prosecutrix must be appreciated in the background of the entire case and the trial court must be alive to its responsibility and be sensitive while dealing with cases involving sexual molestations?."

13. In Madan Gopal Kakkad v. Naval Dubey [(1992) 3 SCC 204] this Court has held (vide para 23) that lack of oral corroboration to that of a prosecutrix does not come in the way of a safe conviction being recorded provided the evidence of the victim does not suffer from any basic infirmity, and the "probabilities factor" does not render it unworthy of credence, and that as a general rule, corroboration cannot be insisted upon, except from the medical evidence, where, having regard to the circumstances of the case, medical evidence can be expected to be forthcoming."

26. The learned Counsel for the appellant has relied upon a judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Debraj Dutta v. State of W.B.: 2026 SCC OnLine SC 664, wherein it was held that "Unless the testimony of a victim child is found to be fully credible and trustworthy, the question of applying the presumption on the strength of such statement alone would not arise." However, in the present case, I have come to a conclusion that the testimony of the child is fully credible and trustworthy and it is corroborated by the medical evidence.

27. Therefore, the judgments in the cases of Dilip v. State of M.P. and Debraj Dutta v. State of W.B. (supra) will not apply to the present case.

28. The learned counsel for the appellant has relied upon a decision of this Court in the case of Nirmal Kumar v. State of U.P.; 2026:AHC-LKO:23345-DB. The prosecution case in that case was that father of the victim had gone out in connection with work for about a week. His mentally challenged daughter, aged about 14 years, was alone in the house. The neighbour (appellant) enticed the victim to his house and raped her and extended death threats to her. When the father returned to his house a day before lodging of the FIR, his daughter informed him about the rape. On the date of lodging of FIR the father had gone to Tehsil Rudauli. He returned to his house at 4 p.m., by then, his daughter had died. The incident of rape was of 20.09.2010. The FIR was lodged against the appellant for the offence under Sections 376, 302, 506 IPC, on 23.09.2010. There was no direct evidence to implicate the appellant for the offence punishable under Section 376 IPC. The statement of the victim was not recorded either before the police or the Magistrate prior to her death. As per the viscera report also, cause of death could not be ascertained. After examining the facts of the case, this Court held that in absence of any external injury to the body of the victim or internal injury to the private part of the victim, rape per say may not be proved. This judgment was given in light of the peculiar facts, where the victim had not been examined and there was no other evidence to prove the charge.

29. In the present case, there was injury on the private parts of the victim. The Doctor had stated that hymen of an eight year old child can only be old, torn and healed in case of repetitive penetration. There was swelling and redness in urethra, vulva and the nearby region. Therefore, in the present case it cannot be said that there was no other evidence of rape like in Nirmal Kumar (Supra). In view of the factual differences in the case of Nirmal Kumar (Supra) and the present case, the aforesaid observation made in Nirmal Kumar (Supra) will not apply to the present case.

30. The learned counsel for the appellant has further relied upon a decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Gyanendra Singh @ Raja Singh v. State of U.P.; 2025 SCC

OnLine SC 517 and has submitted that in that case the Hon'ble Supreme Court has reduced the sentence and, therefore, this Court should also reduce the sentence of the appellant.

31. In Gyanendra Singh (Supra), the Hon'ble Supreme Court had sentenced the appellant to undergo imprisonment for life as awarded by the trial Court. The Hon'ble Supreme Court had only done away with the stipulation that the life term will be enured till the natural life of the appellant.

32. The learned counsel for the appellant lastly submitted that from the prosecution evidence, merely an offence under Section 9(a)(n) of POCSO Act is made out and, therefore, the punishment should be made under Section 10 of the POCSO Act which extends to 7 years only.

33. Section 9(a)(n) of POCSO Act contains provision about sexual assault being committed by a person who is related to the child through blood or adoption or marriage or guardianship or in foster care, or having domestic relationship with a parent of the child or who is living in the same or shared household with the child. The term sexual assault is defined in Section 7 of the POCSO Act, which is as follows: -

"7. Sexual assault-Whoever, with sexual intent touches the vagina, penis, anus or breast of the child or makes the child touch the vagina, penis, anus or breast of such person or any other person, or does any other act with sexual intent which involves physical contact without penetration is said to commit sexual assault."

34. The allegation against the appellant is of committing aggravated penetrative sexual assault as defined in Section 5(l),(m),(n),(p) of POCSO Act. Therefore, the conviction cannot be altered to Section 9 of POCSO Act and punishment cannot be reduced to Section 10 of POCSO Act.

35. In view of the foregoing discussion, I find no force in any submission of the learned counsel for the appellant.

36. Having myself examined the entire record, I also could not find any error or illegality in the impugned order dated 05.04.2018 passed by the Special Judge, POCSO Act/Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No.8, Lucknow in Session Trial No.869 of 2015 arising out of Case Crime No.259 of 2015 under Section 376 IPC and 5/6 of POCSO Act registered at Police Station- Krishna Nagar, District- Lucknow.

37. So far as the question of quantum of sentence is considered, Section 6 of the POCSO Act provides a minimum sentence of imprisonment of 20 years and the trial Court has awarded the minimum sentence to the appellant. Therefore, there is no ground to reduce the sentence of the appellant.

38. In view of the foregoing discussion, the instant criminal appeal is dismissed. The impugned order dated 05.04.2018 passed by the Special Judge, POCSO Act/Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No.8, Lucknow in Session Trial No.869 of 2015 arising out of Case Crime No.259 of 2015 under Section 376 IPC and 5/6 of POCSO Act registered at Police Station- Krishna Nagar, District- Lucknow is affirmed.

Writ - B No. 6809 of 1979

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether the Settlement Officer of Consolidation was legally justified in dismissing the appeal filed by the petitioner's father against the order of the Consolidation Officer rejecting his objection under Section 9-A(2) of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 by treating it as a cross-appeal solely on the ground that another objector, namely Dukhi, had earlier filed an appeal against the same order.

HEADNOTE

U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 – ss.9-A(2), 48 – Petitioner's father filed objection under Section 9-A(2) claiming himself to be Sirdar of the entire land in dispute – One Dukhi filed separate objection claiming rights on the basis of an agreement to sell allegedly executed by petitioner's father – Consolidation Officer dismissed all the objections – Dukhi preferred appeal before the Settlement Officer of Consolidation – Subsequently, petitioner's father also filed appeal – Settlement Officer of Consolidation treated the appeal filed by petitioner's father as a cross-appeal and rejected it on the ground that there was no provision for filing cross-appeal in consolidation proceedings – Revision filed by petitioner's father was also rejected by the Deputy Director of Consolidation – Challenge in writ jurisdiction – Justification:

Held: Petitioner's father had filed objection claiming Sirdari rights over the entire land in dispute whereas objection filed by Dukhi was based upon an agreement to sell allegedly executed by petitioner's father – Therefore, the substantive objection was that of petitioner's father and not of Dukhi – Submission made on behalf of Dukhi before SOC that he had filed appeal only to protect the rights of petitioner's father and further by the fact that revision filed by Dukhi was ultimately not pressed – Court held that where objections filed by objectors were rejected and respective appeals were filed, the appeal filed at a later point of time could not be declared to be a cross-appeal – The concept of cross-appeal would arise when rival parties are dissatisfied with an order on different grounds, whereas in the present case Dukhi and petitioner's father were riding in the same boat and not in different boats – Objection of Dukhi could succeed only if petitioner's father succeeded in establishing that he was Sirdar of the entire land – Settlement Officer of Consolidation committed illegality in treating the substantive appeal filed by petitioner's father as a cross-appeal. Court further held that neither the Appellate Authority nor the Revisional Authority had decided the matter on merits so far as the objection of petitioner's father was concerned – Since Section 48 of the Act confers wide revisional powers, the matter was remitted to the Revisional Authority for decision on merits – Orders dated

21.02.1977 and 26.07.1979 set aside – Matter remitted to the Deputy Director of Consolidation to pass a fresh order on merits. (E-5)

In the basic year Khatauni name of petitioner's father, i.e., Abdul Hamid, was recorded over an area 15 Biswa of said plot. Name of Farik Shah was recorded over an area of 2 Bigha, 1 Biswa and 15 Dhur, name of Rizwan was recorded over an area of 2 Bigha, 15 Biswa and name of Ramzan was recorded over 4 Biswa and 15 Dhur.

4. Petitioner's father filed an objection claiming himself to be a Sirdar of entire area of 3 Bigha of land in suit and a similar objection was filed by Ramjan claiming to be Sirdar of entire land. Third objection was filed by Dukhi claiming to be Sirdar of land in suit through agreement of sale executed by father of petitioner.

5. Consolidation Officer vide an order dated 31.03.1967 dismissed all objections and ordered that entries would be continued as recorded in basic year Khatauni. For reference the order passed by Consolidation Officer is reproduced hereinafter:

"पत्रावली पेश हुई विवाद खेत नम्बर १३/३-०-० का है।

कागजात की छानबीन मै यह नम्बर ३-०-० के स्थान पर खाता नम्बर २१/०-१५-० २३/२-१-१५, ३७/२-०-१५, ४९/-४-५ में ५-१-१५ दर्ज है। इस प्रकार इसका रकवा २-१-१५ अधिक दर्ज है। खातेदार २१ ने आपत्ति की है कि वह इस पूरे खेत १३/३-०-० का सीरदार है। इसकी आपत्ति मु०न० ४४१ पर है जो वाद इस वाद के साथ ही सुना गया है। खातेदार २१ का कथन है कि साविक जमींदार से मुकदमा चला था जिसमें उसे ३-०-० रकवा मिला ०-१५-० की अमलदरामद हुई और २-५-० की छूट गई। आपत्तिकर्ता ने खातेदार खाता २३ व ३७ को फरीक मुकदमा बनाया है खाता ४९ नलकूप नाली का है। एक अन्य आपत्ति शाह अकमल ने की है जिसमें अने को इस भूमि का भूमिधर होना कहा है। खातेदार खाता ३७ ने बयान तहरीरी दाखिल किया है जिसमें अपने को सीरदार कहा है। खातेदार खाता २३ की ओर से कोई कानटेस्ट नहीं किया गया। चकबन्दी परताल में पूरे खेत पर कब्जा दुःखी का लिखा गया। दुःखी आपत्ति दाखिल करने के बजाय वयान तहरीरी दाखिल किया है जिसमें कहा है कि १३/३-०-० खातेदार खाता २१ से ३-६-६५ को रूपया देकर लिया है और खातेदार ने भूमिधरी हासिल करके २ वर्ष के अन्दर बयाना करने का वचन दिया है। दुःखी अपने सीरदार कहता है। खेत नम्बर १३ का रकवा २-१-१५ जो अधिक एवं फर्जी दर्ज है वह किस खाते मे है यह सर्व प्रथम देखना है कि मुझे ऐसा प्रतीत होता है कि खाता २३ में ही यह रकवा फर्जी है क्योंकि ठीक ठीक २-१-१५ ही इसमें दर्ज है दूसरी बात यह है कि इस खाते के खातेदारों ने कानटेस्ट भी नहीं किया है अतएव मै इसी खाते में १३/२-१-१५ फर्जी समझता हूँ जो खारिज होना चाहिए। अब प्रश्न यह पैदा होता है कि खातेदार २१ इसके सीरदार है अथवा खातेदार ३७ अथवा दुःखी सर्व प्रथम मै खातेदार २१ व ३७ का ही अधिकार तय करता हूँ क्योंकि खातेदार २१ व दुःखी का केस अन्योन्याक्त है यदि खातेदार २१ पूरा अधिकारी है तभी दुःखी का केस निर्णय होगा क्योंकि दुःखी खातेदार २१ से ही रूपया देकर भूमि को लेना कहते हैं। खतौनी १३६२ फ० के इन्तखाब खाता के अवलोकन से ज्ञात होता है कि खातेदार ३७ इस भूमि के अधिवासी से सीरदार हुए हैं और शाह अकमल आदि इसमें भूमिधर दर्ज थे। इस प्रकार शाह अकमल का तो कोई अधिकार अवशेष नहीं रह जाता।

आदेश हुआ कि आपत्ति दुःखी खारिज की जाती है आपत्ति शाह अकमल खारिज की जानी है, आपत्ति अब्दुल हमीद बाबत १३ मि० २-५-० खारिज की जाती है तथा खाते २१ खाता २३ से खारिज हो। खाता २१, ३७, ४९ में यथावत दर्ज रहे।"

6. The objector, Dukhi, being aggrieved by above referred order, filed an appeal before Settlement Officer of Consolidation and has made a specific averment that he does not want that his name be recorded in revenue records but he can protect rights of Abdul Hamid, i.e., father of petitioner, who has also subsequently filed an appeal against above referred order. However, Settlement Officer of Consolidation treated the appeal filed by petitioner's father as a cross-appeal and accordingly rejected the same at threshold without even going into merit of said appeal and the other appeal filed by Dukhi was considered on merit but it was rejected by order dated 21.02.1977. Relevant part of order passed by Settlement Officer of Consolidation is reproduced hereinafter:

"२- मैंने पक्षों के विद्वान वकील की बहस सुन ली है तथा पत्रावलियों का अवलोकन कर लिया है। ३- अपीलकर्ता दुखी की ओर से कहा गया कि वे अपना नाम दर्ज नहीं कराना चाहते हैं परन्तु हमीद से बैनामा द्वारा भूमि प्राप्त करने के बाद अतः हमीद के हितों की रक्षा करने का अधिकार उन्हें है हमीद ने क्रास अपील प्रस्तुत की और श्री जगदीश नारायण द्विवेदी बन्दोबस्त अधिकारी ने अपने निर्णय दिनांक २-९-७२ के अन्तिम पैरा में इसका विवेचन किया है कि क्रास अपील का कोई प्रावधान नहीं है और सी० पी० सी० चकबन्दी क्रियाओं में लागू नहीं होता है। अतः बन्दोबस्त अधिकारी चकबन्दी ने क्रास अपील खारिज की है। यह सही है कि दुखी हमीद को ३०००) जर व्याना के लिये दिये थे। परन्तु हमीद ने दुखी के हित में कोई बैनामा नहीं किया और जर व्याना के धन के सम्बन्ध में दीवानी न्यायालय को ही अधिकार प्राप्त है। चकबन्दी न्यायालय इस सम्बन्ध में कोई कार्यवाही करने को सक्षम नहीं है और दुखी अपीलार्थी संख्या का कहना है कि वे कोई अधिकार नहीं चाहते क्योंकि उन्हें कोई अधिकार नहीं मिल सकता। अधिकार नहीं चाहते क्योंकि उन्हें कोई अधिकार नहीं मिल सकता। परन्तु मैं हमीद के हितों की रक्षा कर सकता हूँ। हमीद ०-१५-० भूमि पर खातेदार है और इतनी ही भूमि के सम्बन्ध में दुखी को कुछ करने का अधिकार है और यह भूमि हमीद के ही नाम आदेशो के वाद दर्ज है। अपीलकर्ता दुखी की ओर से यह कहा गया है कि विपक्षीय रमजान सकी-कुल- निशां ने धारा २०९- जमींदारी विनाश एक्ट भूमि व्यवस्था अधिनियम के अन्तर्गत अब्दुल हमीद आदि की बेदखली का दावा किया जो दिनांक ३१-९-७६ को खारिज हुआ। मु० शकीकुन निशां व रमजान ने अपील प्रस्तुत की जो दिनांक ३-५-१९६५ को खारिज हुयी। पुनः उन्होंने द्वितीय अपील माननीय उच्च न्यायालय में प्रस्तुत की और हमीद ने अपील वापस ली कि बहस हो गयी है परन्तु पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध साक्ष्य से यह स्पष्ट होता है कि मु० शकीकुन निशां बीबी रमजान जैनुल हुसेन और श्रीमती महमुदुन निशां आदि के खिलाफ प्रस्तुत किया जो जूडिशियल आफिसर महोदय ने खारिज किया और शकीकुन निशां रमजान ने अपील संख्या ६५९ लागायत ६८७ व ७२२, ७१२ सन् १९६४ ई० प्रस्तुत की जो दिनांक ३-५-६५ को प्रथम अतिरिक्त सिविल जज ने ६८२ वापस लेने के आधार पर खारिज की और शेष अपील पुनः निर्णय के लिये वापस भेजी। अपील संख्या ६८२ गाटा संख्या १३-१ के सम्बन्ध में थी। जिसमें अपील के विद्वान अधिवक्ता ने कहा कि वे अपील पेश नहीं करते। अतः यह अपील इस आधार पर खारिज हुयी। अपील संख्या ६८२ की डिफ्री की नकल प्रस्तुत की गयी है और आदेश की भी नकल प्रस्तुत की गयी है। और इस डिफ्री में विवादित भूमि १३-२- रकबा २-५-० दर्ज है। और अपील संख्या ६८२ / १९६४ ई० की डिफ्री को देखने से यह निर्देश निकलता है कि यह अपील मु० नम्बर २/२७ के विरुद्ध थी। अपील के निर्णय में गाटा संख्या १३-१ लिखा गया है। जबकि डिफ्री में १३/२ लिखा गया है। यह मुकदमा किस भूमि के सम्बन्ध में है सिद्ध नहीं होता है यदि यह मान लिया जाय कि धारा २०९ के मुकदमें गाटा संख्या १३-२ के सम्बन्ध में थे तो भी दुखी को कुछ करने का अधिकार नहीं है क्योंकि धारा २०९ के मुकदमें में अब्दुल हमीद, शाह मोहम्मद, सैयद मोहम्मद, मोहम्मद अनीस विपक्षी थे और जिनके विरुद्ध बेदखली का दावा किया था। और इनमें से किसी भी व्यक्ति ने कोई भी अपील प्रस्तुत नहीं की है। अतः चकबन्दी अधिकारी ने दुखी को अधिकार न देने में कोई भूल नहीं की है। अपील निराधार है और खारिज की जाती है।"

7. Father of petitioner as well as Dukhi, being aggrieved by order passed by Settlement Officer of Consolidation preferred two revisions before Deputy Director of Consolidation, however, the revision filed by father of petitioner was rejected on ground that there was no illegality when Settlement Officer of Consolidation has held that cross-appeal was not maintainable. So far as revision filed by Dukhi is concerned, it was dismissed as withdrawn on basis of a consent given by his counsel. Relevant part of order dated 26.07.1979 passed by Deputy Director of Consolidation is reproduced hereinafter:

"२- मैंने पक्षों को सुना तथा अभिलेखों का अवलोकन किया।

चकबन्दी ने निरस्त किया। मैं विद्वान बन्दोबस्त अधिकारी चकबन्दी की राय से पूर्णतया सहमत हूँ कि रेवेन्यू कोर्ट मैनुअल के पैरा ९७६ चकबन्दी प्रक्रिया में लागू नहीं होता। अतः अब्दुल हक द्वारा दायर की निगरानी उपरोक्त के आधार पर निरस्त की जाती है।

४- दुखी के विद्वान अधिवक्ता ने अपनी बहस में यह बताया कि वह एग्रीमेन्ट टू सैल के आधार पर अपना स्वत्व विवादित भूमि पर मानते थे जो इस आधार पर वापस लेते हैं कि चकबन्दी न्यायालयों को एग्रीमेन्ट टू सैल के आधार पर किसी को स्वत्व देने का अधिकार नहीं प्राप्त है। अस्तु मैं यह निगरानी भी उनके विद्वान अधिवक्ता की सहमति पर निरस्त करता हूँ।"

8. In aforesaid circumstances, petitioner has challenged all above referred orders, i.e., order dated 31.03.1967 passed by Consolidation Officer; order dated 21.02.1977 passed by Settlement Officer of Consolidation and order dated 26.07.1979 passed by Deputy Director of Consolidation.

9. In the present case an interim order was passed on 04.09.1979 whereby dispossession of petitioner was stayed from land in dispute. The interim order was later on modified vide order dated 19.02.1986 that if petitioner is in possession and further Chak has been carved out in his name his possession shall not be disturbed. In case Chak is carved out in the name of Ramjan and Sakiulnisa, petitioner shall not be entitled to remain in possession.

10. Sri Dharendra Singh, learned counsel for petitioner has claimed that petitioner is still in possession and has not been dispossessed. He further submitted that father of petitioner has filed a substantive appeal against an order dated 31.03.1967 passed by Consolidation Officer whereby his objection filed under Section 9A(2) of Act, 1953 was rejected, therefore, it was a substantive appeal and it cannot be considered as a cross appeal only on ground that other Objector, namely, Dukhi has filed appeal against same order before the petitioner's father has filed appeal. It was a substantive appeal and was wrongly dismissed as a cross-appeal and Revisional Authority has also erred in law. Learned counsel for petitioner has placed reliance on a judgment passed by this Court in Ranjeet vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation, Ballia, 2003(3) AWC 2170 that the illegality committed by Settlement Officer of Consolidation could have been cured by Revisional Authority and revision can be heard by said authority on merit.

11. None appeared on behalf of private respondents though represented by Advocates, therefore, the Court takes note of counter affidavit that Settlement Officer of Consolidation and Deputy Director of Consolidation have not committed any error when appeal filed by father of petitioner was considered as a cross-appeal.

12. I have considered the aforesaid submissions and perused the material available on record.

13. The facts referred above are not under much dispute that petitioner's father has filed an objection under Section 9A(2) of Act, 1953 claiming Sirdar of entire land in dispute whereas the objections filed by Dukhi was on ground that he has acquired Sirdari right on basis of an agreement to sell executed by petitioner's father for entire land and since objection of petitioner's father was rejected, the only consequence would be that objection filed by Dukhi has to be rejected. Therefore, the substantive objection could be of petitioner's father and not of Dukhi and this observation of Court is supported by submission made on behalf of Dukhi before Settlement Officer of Consolidation that he has filed appeal only to protect the right of petitioner's father and further revision filed by Dukhi was not pressed.

14. In aforesaid circumstances, in a case where objections filed by objectors were rejected and respective appeals were filed, the appeal filed in later point of time cannot be declared as a cross-appeal.

15. The concept of cross-appeal would arise when rival parties are dissatisfied with an order on different grounds, whereas in the present case objection of Dukhi can be allowed only if the objection filed by father of petitioner was allowed that he was a Sirdar of entire land. Therefore, both, i.e., Dukhi and father of petitioner were riding in same boat and not in different boats. The Settlement Officer of Consolidation has committed an illegality when he has treated the substantive appeal filed by father of petitioner as a cross-appeal, therefore, said order passed by Settlement Officer of Consolidation is legally unsustainable and accordingly the order passed by Deputy Director of Consolidation is also illegal and liable to be set aside.

16. Now the question arise that after 45 years when much water has flown and interim order is modified, can the matter be remitted to Settlement Officer of Consolidation or Deputy Director of Consolidation. In this regard Court is of the opinion that since neither Appellate Authority nor Revisional Authority has decided matter on merit so far as objections of petitioner's father is concerned and revision filed by Dukhi was withdrawn on consent and in case the interim order is implemented in favour of petitioner, a case is made out to remit matter to Deputy Director of Consolidation, who can still decide matter on merit considering powers granted under Section 48 of Act, 1953 that revision can be considered on merit even without filing an appeal and for that Court takes note of the judgment relied on by learned counsel for petitioner in Ranjeet (supra).

17. Accordingly the orders dated 21.02.1977 and 26.07.1979 passed by Settlement Officer of Consolidation and Deputy Director of Consolidation, respectively, are hereby set aside. The matter is remitted back to Revisional Authority to pass a fresh order on merit preferably within a period of six months. The Revisional Authority will also take note, whether the interim order as modified vide order dated 19.02.1986 has been implemented or not and accordingly revision be decided. The revision shall not be disposed on a ground that an appeal filed by petitioner's father was not decided on merit.

18. The writ petition is accordingly disposed of.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether the petitioner's application for reference under Section 64 of the RFCTLARR Act, 2013 could be entertained despite being filed beyond the limitation prescribed under Section 18 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894?

HEADNOTES

Civil Law – Constitution of India – Article 226 - Land Acquisition Act, 1894 - Section 18 - RFCTLARR Act, 2013 - Section 64 - Limitation Act, 1963 – Section – 5: - Writ Petition under Article 226 – challenging the order passed by the Collector, rejecting petitioner's application for enhancement of award by reference under Section 64 of the RFCTLARR Act, 2013 - acquisition proceedings initiated in 2008 under the 1894 Act - Award passed in year 2013 - petitioner moved reference only in 2024 - The Collector rejected the application as barred by limitation under Section 18 of the 1894 Act - Petitioner pleaded that the 2013 Act applied and relied on Mohar Singh - Respondents objected, citing Vijai Pal (FB), Bhagwan Das, Padmasundara Rao, and S.V. Global Mills, contending Collector is not a court and cannot condone delay, nor can High Court enlarge limitation under Article 226 - Court finds that, petitioner had knowledge of proceedings, failed to avail remedy within time, and Collector rightly rejected the application – held, limitation under Section 18 is mandatory and Section 5 of Limitation Act is inapplicable – Act, 2013 cannot retrospectively revive time-barred claims – consequently, writ petition devoid of merit and stands dismissed (Para – 39, 40, 41)

CASE ARISING FROM

Impugned order dated 06.11.2024 passed by Collector, Siddharth Nagar in Case No.1461 of 2024 rejecting petitioner's application for reference under Section 64 of the 2013 Act.

APPEARANCE OF PARTIES

Counsel for Appellant(s): - Shri Anirudh Singh, Shri Indrakesh Kumar Sharma, Counsel for Respondent(s): - Shri Devesh Vikram, Additional Chief Standing Counsel, Shri Fuzail Ahmad Ansari, Standing Counsel, Shri Gopal Verma – for Union of India.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mahesh Chandra Tripathi, J. & Hon'ble Prashant Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Shri Anirudh Singh, Advocate holding brief of Shri Indrakesh Kumar Sharma, learned counsel for the petitioner, Shri Devesh Vikram, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel as well as Shri Fuzail Ahmad Ansari, learned Standing Counsel for State-respondents and Shri Gopal Verma, learned counsel for respondent-Union of India.

2. The instant writ petition is preferred under Article 226 of the Constitution of India challenging the validity of the impugned order dated 06.11.2024 passed by the Collector, Siddharath Nagar in Case No.1461 of 2024, Computerized Case No.D202417630001461 (Ajay Kumar Srivastava vs. State of U.P. and others) in the proceeding under Section 18 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 read with Section 64 of Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act, 2013 whereby the application dated 24.09.2024 filed by petitioner for enhancement of award was rejected.

A. FACTS

3. Before considering the rival contentions, it is apt to have a glance over the facts of the case. The State Government initiated acquisition proceedings in Mauja Dhanaura, Mustahakam, Tappa Khajahani, Pargana Naugarh, Tehsil Shoharatgarh, District Siddharath Nagar, for the establishment of the Sashastra Seema Bal Chauki. A notification under Section 4(1)/17 of the Act, 1894 was issued on 11.09.2008 and published in the Official Gazette on the same date. It was thereafter published in widely circulated newspapers, namely □Rashtriya Sahara□ and □Amar Ujala□, on 30.11.2008 and 02.12.2008, respectively, followed by local publication (Munadi) on 27.12.2008. A declaration under Section 6(1)/17 of the Act, 1894 was notified on 09.11.2009 and published in the Gazette on the same date, as well as in the newspapers □United India□ and □Aaj□ on 10.12.2009, with local publication effected on 27.12.2009. An award under the Act, 1894 was ultimately made on 22.08.2013.

4. It is borne out from the record that the petitioner, for the first time, filed an application on 24.09.2024 seeking reference before the Collector under Section 64 of the Act, 2013. The Collector, by the impugned order, rejected the said application by taking into consideration the limitation prescribed under Section 18 of the Act, 1894. Since the application was filed under the Act, 2013, which came into force with effect from 01.01.2014, the same was held to be barred by limitation and accordingly rejected. The said order has been challenged under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

B. ARGUMENTS ON BEHALF OF THE PETITIONER

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner vehemently contended that the petitioner had rightly invoked the provisions of the Act, 2013, which came into force on 01.01.2014. It is submitted that upon becoming aware of the alleged discrimination, the petitioner moved an application for reference under Section 64 of the Act, 2013.

6. In support of his submissions, learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance on the judgment passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Mohar Singh (Dead) through LRs and others vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and Others³. It is argued that the application ought to have been considered on merits and the matter was liable to be referred to the competent court, and that the Collector had arbitrarily rejected the application filed under Section 64 of the Act, 2013. Accordingly, it is prayed that the impugned order be set aside and a direction be issued to the Collector to refer the matter to the appropriate court.

C. ARGUMENTS ON BEHALF OF STATE RESPONDENTS

7. Per contra, the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel vehemently resisted the contention of learned counsel for the petitioner and submitted that the Act, 1894 is a complete code in itself. Reliance was placed on Section 18 of the Act, 1894, which prescribes a specific period of limitation. It is contended that the Collector has no discretion to extend such limitation. Further reliance is placed on the Full Bench decision of this Court in Vijai Pal vs. State of U.P. and others⁴, wherein two questions were referred by the Division Bench to the Full Bench. For ready reference, both the questions are reproduced hereunder:-

"(1) Whether the directions contained in Savitri Devi's case in the nature of a general mandamus are in direct conflict with the ratio of Kanchhid's case reported in 1999 (3) AWC 1978.

(2) Whether the High Court in exercise of its extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution or India while interpreting Section 18 of the Land Acquisition Act can confer the power on the Collector to refer a dispute under Section 18 even if it is barred by limitation."□

8. He further submits that the second question, which has been formulated by the Full Bench, had been answered in paras 38 and 39 of the judgment in Vijai Pal (supra). For ready reference, the same are also reproduced hereunder:-

"38. From the discussions as made above, we arrive on following conclusion with regard to scope and extent of jurisdiction of Collector under Section 18 of the Act:

(1) The Collector while considering an application filed under Section 18 (1) of the Act for making reference acts as a statutory authority and the said application is to be dealt by him subject to the statutory conditions as laid down in Section 18 (2) of the Act.

(2) The jurisdiction to make reference under Section 18 arises only when the application satisfies the statutory conditions enumerated in Section 18 (2).

(3) The Collector is not a Court, Section 5 of the Limitation Act, is not applicable in the proceedings of reference under Section 18 of the Act.

(4) The High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution cannot issue any general mandamus to a statutory authority to act in a manner which is not contemplated by statutory power given to such authority.

(5) The Collector while considering an application under Section 18 of the Act, if comes to the conclusion that the application is barred by time which having not been made in accordance with Section 18 (2) the Collector has no option, but to reject the said application.

39. In view of the foregoing discussion our answer to the above two questions is as follows:

(1) The directions contained in Smt. Savitri Devi's case (supra) in the nature of general mandamus are in direct conflict with the ratio of Division Bench judgment in Kanchhid's case reported in 1999 (3) AWC 1978, which directions are not approved.

(2) The High Court in exercise of its extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution while interpreting Section 18 of the Act, cannot confer jurisdiction to the Collector to refer a dispute under 18 of the Act, to the Court even if the application is barred by limitation."

9. Mr. Ansari, learned Standing Counsel in this backdrop vehemently contended that the Collector, while exercising powers under Section 18 of the Act, 1894, cannot invoke Section 5 of the Limitation Act, as the same is inapplicable to such proceedings. It was also submitted that even the High Court, in exercise of its extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution, cannot direct the statutory authority to act contrary to the provisions of the statute or enlarge the prescribed limitation and accordingly, the Full Bench has answered that the High Court in exercise of extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India while interpreting Section 18 of the Act cannot confer jurisdiction to Collector to refer a dispute under Section 18 of the Act to court even if the application is barred by limitation. Reliance was also placed on the judgment passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the matter of Bhagwan Das vs. State of U.P.⁵.

10. Lastly, he has placed reliance on the judgment passed by Hon'ble Apex Court in the matter of Padmasundara Rao (Dead) & ors vs. State of T.N. & ors⁶, wherein the Apex Court has held as under:-

"3. The controversy involved lies within a very narrow compass, that is, whether after quashing of notification under Section 6 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (hereinafter referred to as "the Act") fresh period of one year is available to the State Government to issue another notification under Section 6. In the case at hand such a notification issued under Section 6 was questioned before the Madras High Court which relied on the decision of a three-Judge Bench in N. Narasimhaiah v. State of Karnataka [(1996) 3 SCC 88] and held that the same was validly issued."

11. Shri Ansari also placed reliance upon a recent judgment passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court on 9th February, 2026 in Deputy Commissioner and Special Land Acquisition Officer vs. M/s S.V. Global Mills Ltd.⁷. Relying upon paragraphs 31 and 74, he contended that limitation cannot be extended and the writ petition is devoid of merit. Paragraph Nos.31 and 74 of the judgment in S.V. Global Mill (supra) are reproduced hereunder:-

"31. At this juncture, it is apposite to note that when the power to condone delay by invoking Section 5 of the 1963 Act is not even available to a Tribunal in the ordinary course, certainly, the Collector, not being a Court, cannot exercise the same....."

xxx□

74. We have dealt with the provisions contained in both the enactments in extenso already. We have also dealt with the principles of law. Upon such analysis, we reiterate that the 2013 Act is a unique piece of legislation. The Collector is given two different and distinct roles up to a certain stage of the acquisition process. The first role is to facilitate the acquisition on behalf of the Government, and the other is with respect to the determination of the compensation. For both these roles, there is no question of application of any provisions of the 1963 Act, as the Collector either acts as a statutory authority on the executive side or as a quasi-judicial authority while determining the compensation or as an authority dealing with rights having civil consequences while making a reference. In all these three acts, there is no role that is exclusively judicial. As we have already discussed, only when the issue of compensation is decided by the Authority, who is a legally trained person entitled to exercise the powers of a Civil Court, followed by the declaration of an award deemed to be a decree, does an out-and-out judicial forum enter the picture. The proceedings before him are original in nature, with two parties appearing before him, of which even the Collector is a party, since it is his award that is under challenge. There is a reason why the Authority is expected to exercise an element of fair play by following the principles of natural justice which would otherwise inhere in a party before it. It is only the Court that is given the inherent power of formulating its own procedure when it is not provided under the statute. Thus, the reference made by the Collector to the Authority, which is akin to the institution of a suit before a Civil Court, does not attract the application of Section 5 of the 1963 Act. However, an application filed during the pendency of the reference, being akin to an application filed during the pendency of a suit, would attract the application of Section 5 of the 1963 Act. For example, when a party to a reference dies, and an application for bringing the legal representatives on record is filed belatedly, Section 5 of the 1963 Act would have to be pressed into service. Such a situation might also arise in appellate proceedings. To that extent, there is no bar."

D. ANALYSIS BY THE COURT

12. We have heard the rival submissions, perused the record and given anxious consideration to the judgments placed at the bar.

13. In order to appreciate the controversy involved, it is necessary to refer to the provisions of Section 18 of the Act, 1894. For ready reference, the same is reproduced hereunder:-

"18. Reference to Court

(1) Any person interested who has not accepted the award may, by written application to the Collector, require that the matter be referred by the Collector for the determination of the Court, whether his objection be to the measurement of the land, the amount of the compensation, the persons to whom it is payable, or the apportionment of the compensation among the persons interested.

(2) The application shall state the grounds on which objection to the award is taken:

Provided that every such application shall be made, (a) if the person making it was present or represented before the Collector at the time when he made his award, within six weeks from the date of the Collectors award; (b) in other cases, within six weeks of the receipt of the notice from the Collector under section 12, sub-section (2), or within six months from the date of the Collectors award, whichever period shall first expire."

14. The Full Bench in Vijai Pal (supra) has considered the statutory provision under Section 18 of the Act, 1894 and arrived at a conclusion that an application filed under Section 18 of the Act, 1894 for making reference at a statutory authority, the said application is to be dealt by him subject to statutory conditions as laid down in Sections 18 (2) of the Act, 1894. In the present case, the acquisition proceedings were completed under the Act, 1894. The final declaration was published on 09.11.2009, possession of the land was taken by invoking the urgency clause, and the land gets vested in the State free from all encumbrances. The award was thereafter made on 22.08.2013. The petitioner, however, filed the application only on 24.09.2024 under the provisions of the Act, 2013.

15. It transpires that in the case of Vijay Pal (supra) the Full Bench of this Court has also considered the dictum of Apex Court in the case of Bhagwan Das (supra) in paras 21, 22, 23 & 24, which are quoted below:-

□21. The Apex Court in a very recent judgment had an occasion to again consider the provisions of Section 18 of the Act after noticing the earlier decisions of the Apex Court in (2010) 3 SCC 545, Bhagwan Das & Ors Vs. State of U.P. & Ors. In the aforesaid case, award was made by the Land Acquisition Officer on 14/3/2007, and notice was served on the appellants on 25/10/2007. Appellants claim that they came to know about the award on 16/11/2007, and thereafter they made an application for reference. The Collector rejected the application for reference vide order dated 19/12/2007, on the ground that it was made beyond the period of 6 months from the date of award. The writ petition was dismissed by the High Court vide order dated 17/1/2008 as not maintainable. While dismissing the writ petition the High Court observed that the appellants had a remedy by way of filing an appeal under Section 54 of the Act.

22. The review application was filed which too was rejected vide order dated 05/5/2008, with the observation that the appellants ought to have filed an application for condonation of delay with the application for reference. The order of the High Court was challenged in the appeals. The Apex Court noticed the issues which arose for consideration in paragraph 6 which is quoted below:

"6. The following questions arise for consideration, on the contentions urged :

(a) Whether an appeal would lie under Section 54 of the Act against the order of the Collector refusing to make a reference?

(b) Whether the Collector can condone the delay in filing an application seeking reference, if sufficient cause is shown?

(c) Whether the period of six months under clause (b) of the proviso to section 18 of the Act should be reckoned from the date of knowledge of the award of the Collector or from the date of award itself?

(d) Whether the appellants were entitled to relief?"

23. While considering the question (b) the Apex Court laid down that the Collector is not a Court and the provisions of Section 5 of the Limitation Act, have no application. Following was laid down in paragraphs 14, 15 and 16 which are quoted below:

"14. The proviso to section 18 requires that an application by a person interested, to the Collector, seeking reference of his claim for higher compensation for determination by the Court, shall be made within six weeks from the date of the Collector's award, if such person was present or represented before the Collector, at the time when the award was made. If not, the application for reference shall have to be made within six weeks of the receipt of the notice of the Collector under Section 12(2) or within six months from the date of the Collector's award, whichever period shall first expire.

15. In Officer on Special Duty (Land Acquisition) & Anr. v. Shah Manilal Chandulal & Ors. [1996 (9) SCC 414], this Court held that in view of the special limitation provided under the proviso to section 18 of the Act, section 29(2) of the Limitation Act, cannot be applied to the proviso to section 18 of the Act; and therefore, the benefit of sections 4 to 24 of Limitation Act 1963, will not be available in regard to applications under section 18(1) of the Act. It was also held that as the Collector is not a court when he discharges his functions as a statutory authority under section 18(1) of the Act, section 5 of the Limitation Act 1963 cannot be invoked for extension of the period of limitation prescribed under the proviso to section 18(2) of the Act.

16. As the Collector is not a civil court and as the provisions of Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963 have not been made applicable to proceedings before the Collector under the Act, and as there is no provision in the Act enabling the Land Acquisition Collector to extend the time for making an application for reference, the Collector cannot entertain any application for extension, nor extend the time for seeking reference, even if there are genuine and bonafide grounds for condoning delay. This view was reiterated in Steel Authority of India Ltd. vs. S.U.T.N.I. Sangam and others [2009 (16) SCC 1]. Therefore, the observation of the High Court that an application for condonation of delay could have been made by the person interested, is incorrect."

24. The Apex Court in the said judgement also laid down that if the person interested was not present when the award is made and did not receive notice under Section 12 (2) of the Act, he has to make an application within six months of the date on which he actually and constructively came to know about the conditions of the award. □

E. CONCLUSION

16. From the record, it is evident that the petitioner cannot claim lack of knowledge of the acquisition proceedings. No explanation has been furnished as to why the statutory remedy available under the Act, 1894 was not availed within the prescribed period. In view of the law settled by the catena of judgments as placed before us by the respondent counsels, we have no hesitation in holding that the Collector does not have any such power of enlargement of time. Similar issue has also been considered by the Full Bench in Vijai Pal (supra). Accordingly, we find no illegality or infirmity in the impugned order dated 06.11.2024 passed by the Collector.

17. The judgment of Mohan Singh (supra) relied by the petitioner is distinguishable as the same is not applicable in the facts and circumstances of the instant matter.

18. The writ petition, being devoid of merit, does not warrant any interference and the same is hereby dismissed.

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether considering the nature of allegations, medical evidence indicating early pregnancy loss, absence of external injury, alleged lack of intention to cause such injury, pendency of criminal cases against the applicant, and suppression of criminal history in the bail application, the accused-applicant was entitled to be released on bail during pendency of trial.

Headnotes

Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 - ss. 115(2), 351(3), 352 and 91 - Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 - s. 91 - Bail - Concealment of criminal history - Duty to disclose pending cases - Allahabad High Court (Amendment) Rules, 2025 - Scope - Directions issued - The case arose from an incident wherein allegations were levelled against the accused-applicant for committing physical assault upon the injured, resulting in internal injury and early pregnancy loss - An FIR was registered under various ss. of BNS, 2023 - The applicant sought bail contending false implication, absence of external injury in the medical examination, lack of knowledge regarding pregnancy, and absence of intention to cause such injury - While the State opposed the bail application on the ground that internal injury was caused to injured resulting in pregnancy loss and further alleged that the applicant had suppressed his criminal history of five pending cases while filing the instant bail application.

Held: It is evident that, by suppressing the pendency of 5 criminal cases and concealment thereof, the applicant has tried to take the benefit of liberty of bail - However, without taking into consideration the criminal history of applicant and the suppression of material fact of pendency of five criminal cases against the applicant, other ground is available that, in both the medical reports, the first report speaks of no external injury, however, as far as second report is concerned, it shows early pregnancy loss by injured, but the said fact of pregnancy was not in the knowledge of accused-applicant, therefore, the applicant-accused has no intention to cause such bodily injury to injured, moreover, the same is matter of trial - Accused-applicant is languishing in jail, since 11.10.2025 - Thus, keeping in view the nature of offence, evidence, complicity of accused, severity of punishment, submissions of learned counsel for parties and without expressing any opinion on merits of case, the applicant has made out a case for bail - Accordingly, bail application allowed - Issued directions to Judicial Officers of State of Uttar Pradesh. (Delivered by Hon'ble Harvir Singh, J.)

1. Supplementary affidavit dated 24.3.2026 filed today by learned counsel for the applicant is taken on record.

2. Heard learned counsel for the accused-applicant, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the material available on record.

3. This bail application has been moved on behalf of the accused-applicant/ Nafees Alias Mohammad Nafees, for grant of bail, in Case Crime No. 279 of 2025, under Sections 115(2), 351(3), 352 and 91 of Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023, Police Station Parasrampur, District Basti, during pendency of trial.

4. Learned counsel for accused-applicant, while pressing the bail application, submits that, the accused-applicant has been falsely implicated in the instant case and has not committed any offence, as alleged by the prosecution. It is further submitted by learned counsel for the applicant that, allegations of physical assault on injured- Sayma Bano, have been leveled against the accused-applicant, however, as per the medical report dated 13.9.2025 of the injured, no external injury was found upon the person of the injured. The injured was further examined by the same hospital, in which, the medical opinion has been referred as under:-

"Single intrauterine gestational sac seen.

Gestational sac diameter: 6.6 mm.

Evidence of an embryo in gestational sac.

CRL: 18 mm, corresponds to 08 weeks 02 days of gestation.

No cardiac activity.

Impression"- Early Pregnancy loss."

Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that, as far as eight weeks and two days pregnancy is concerned, the same was not in the knowledge of the applicant, even if he has caused some injuries to the injured and in the absence of intention to cause such injury to the injured, the Section 91 of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023, is not made out against the applicant. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that, the accused-applicant is languishing in jail in this matter since 11.10.2025 and there is no likelihood that the accused-applicant, after release on bail, may flee from the process of law or will misuse the liberty of bail, therefore, the applicant is entitled to be enlarged on bail.

5. On the other hand, learned counsel appearing on behalf of informant/ complainant submits that, even if, it was not the intention of the accused persons, but internal injury has been caused to the injured by the applicant and as a result of the same, there is early pregnancy loss, which can only be attributed to the act of the accused-applicant, therefore, the applicant is not entitled to be enlarged on bail.

6. Per contra, learned A.G.A. appearing on behalf of State opposes the prayer for bail of the applicant on the ground that, the internal injuries have been caused to the injured by the applicant and having regard to the manner, in which the crime has been committed, the applicant is not entitled to be released on bail. Learned AGA for the State further submits that, at the time of filing of the instant bail application, the accused-applicant has suppressed the material fact of having criminal history of 5 cases against him and in para 30 of the instant bail application, he has stated as under:-

"30. That the applicant is law abiding citizen and except the present case, he has no criminal history."

However, at a later stage, the criminal history of the applicant has been placed on record, by way of some supplementary affidavit, after being pointed out by the State/ prosecution that, five criminal cases are pending against the accused- applicant. Learned AGA for the State further submits that, the applicant has not shown any bona fide by not disclosing the fact of five criminal cases pending against him and then did not follow the procedure, as prescribed in para 3 of the Allahabad High Court (Amendment) Rules, 2025, published vide publication in Extraordinary Gazette of State of Uttar Pradesh, vide Notification dated 12.11.2025, and the procedure prescribed therein para 3 is as under:-

"3. Insertion of sub-Rule (7) in Rule 18 of Chapter XVIII.- In Rule 18 of Chapter XVIII of the Rules, the following sub-Rule (7) shall be inserted after sub-Rule (6) :

(7) Every application for bail filed before this Court shall also disclose-

(a) Particulars of any bail application filed by the applicant which is pending before this Court, any subordinate Court, or the Supreme Court, and if none is pending, a clear statement to that effect, together with the result of any such application previously decided along with copy of the order (s);

(b) Whether the applicant is or was involved in any other criminal case, and if so, the particulars and decisions thereof."

Learned AGA for the State further submits that, since the internal injuries have been caused to the injured by the applicant and the applicant also, did not follow the procedure prescribed in the Allahabad High Court (Amendment) Rules, 2025, on the subject of Bail, he is not entitled to be enlarged on bail.

7. Having considered the rival contentions of the parties and having perused the record, it is evident that, by suppressing the pendency of 5 criminal cases and concealment thereof, the applicant has tried to take the benefit of liberty of bail. However, without taking into consideration the criminal history of the applicant and the suppression of material fact of pendency of five criminal cases against the applicant, other ground is available that, in both the medical reports, the first report speaks of no external injury, however, as far as second report is concerned, it shows early pregnancy loss by the injured, but the said fact of pregnancy was not in the knowledge of accused-applicant, therefore, the applicant-accused has no intention to cause such bodily injury to the injured, as stated, moreover, the same is matter of trial; the accused-applicant is languishing in jail in this matter, since 11.10.2025. Thus, keeping in view the nature of the offence, evidence, complicity of the accused, severity of punishment, submissions of the learned counsel for the parties and without expressing any opinion on the merits of the case, this Court is of the considered view, that applicant has made out a case for bail. The bail application is allowed.

8. Let the accused-applicant/ Nafees Alias Mohammad Nafees, involved in aforesaid case, be released on bail on furnishing a personal bond with two sureties in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned subject to following conditions:-

(i) The applicant shall not tamper with the prosecution evidence by intimidating/pressurizing the witnesses, during the investigation or trial.

(ii) The applicant shall cooperate in the trial sincerely without seeking any adjournment.

(iii) The applicant shall not indulge in any criminal activity or commission of any crime after being released on bail.

9. In case of breach of any of the above conditions, it shall be a ground for cancellation of bail.

10. Identity, status and residence proof of the applicant and sureties be verified by the Court concerned before the bonds are accepted.

11. Observations made herein-above by this court are only for the purpose of disposal of this bail application and shall not be construed as an expression of this Court on the merits of the case.

12. Apart from above and having regard to the Allahabad High Court (Amendment) Rules, 2025, as stated above in para 6 of this order, it is directed that, all accused-applicants, while filing the bail application before this High Court, they shall follow the procedure as prescribed in the Allahabad High Court (Amendment) Rules, 2025 and shall disclose the pendency of any criminal case(s) against them.

13. Hence, in order to strengthen and streamline the process of criminal history to be disclosed/ explained at the earliest, it is directed that, all the Judicial Officers (Sessions Judge/ Additional Sessions Judge/ Special Judge) of the State of Uttar Pradesh, while deciding/ disposing of the bail application, shall also mention the criminal history of the accused/ applicant in a tabular form in their order and it shall be duty of the State/ prosecution to furnish the details of the criminal cases/ criminal history, pending against the concerned accused-applicant(s) and bring the same on record, at the time of hearing of the bail applications.

14. In the event of default by the concerned Public Prosecutor/ Investigating Officer, the matter may be referred to the concerned administrative authorities of the State for not placing the correct/ appropriate facts on record.

15. Registrar (Compliance) is directed to circulate the copy of this order amongst all the Judicial Officers of the State of Uttar Pradesh, for compliance.

Issue for Consideration

Issue pertains to whether while preparing an inquest report u/s 194 of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023, it is necessary for the investigating officer to mention the name of accused allegedly responsible for causing the death of deceased, and whether non-mentioning of accused's name in the inquest report would create a doubt sufficient to entitle the accused-applicant to be enlarged on bail during pendency of trial.

Headnotes

Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 - ss. 105, 194 - Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 - ss. 103(1) and 61(2) - Arms Act, 1959 - ss. 3/25/27 - Murder - Bail - Grant of - Inquest Report - Non-mentioning of accused's name - Effect - Object and scope - The prosecution case was that the accused-applicant allegedly fired upon the deceased at the gate of his housing society, resulting in his death - The applicant was implicated under various provisions of BNS and Arms Act - The applicant sought bail contending false implication, inconsistencies in the statements of alleged eyewitnesses, non-mentioning of his name in inquest report, absence of initial information regarding the assailant, and lack of incriminating material - The prosecution opposed the bail application by submitting that several witnesses had seen the applicant at the place of occurrence, his involvement was corroborated through electronic evidence and recovery of weapon, and mere omission of accused's name in inquest report was not material.

Held: While preparing the inquest report there is no requirement of mentioning the name of accused who caused the death of person, whose body is under examination - It is not in dispute that the presence of applicant was found at the time of incident at 3:30 P.M. while he was making UPI payment at the shop adjacent to the place of incident, and the incident in question at 5:30 P.M. was seen by several other witnesses who have made specific allegation of firing against the applicant, and there is a recovery of weapon from the applicant allegedly used in incident, which was duly substantiated by conducting a videography as per s. 105 BNSS, and considering the gravity of offence and role of applicant, the Court refused to release the applicant on bail - Accordingly, bail application rejected. (Delivered by Hon'ble Arun Kumar Singh Deshwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Gaurav Kakkar, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Raghvendra Prakash, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Rakesh Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the first informant, Sri D.P.S. Chauhan, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

2. The instant application has been filed to release the applicant on bail in Case Crime No.100 of 2025, under Sections 103(1) and 61(2) of B.N.S. and Section 3/25/27 of Arms Act, Police Station Dankaur, District Gautam Buddh Nagar.

3. Contention of learned counsel for the applicant is that the applicant is an innocent person and he has been falsely implicated in the present case. He further submitted that as per the prosecution story, the applicant is alleged to have fired upon the deceased Vishal and killed him at the gate of his housing society. He further submitted that though the first informant himself claimed to be an eye-witness of the incident in his statement, but in the site plan, the place where he was sitting at the time of incident was not mentioned. He further submitted that as per the G.D. report, information regarding the incident in question was also received by the police through some unknown person and as per the G.D. report dated 12.05.2025 at 7:50 P.M., some unknown person fired upon the deceased Vishal, and his father has taken him to the hospital, therefore, till the deceased was taken to the hospital, exact person who has fired upon the deceased was not known. He next submitted that as per the hospital records, the deceased was admitted in the hospital on 12.05.2025. wherein it was mentioned that his father brought him to the hospital and he told that some unknown person fired upon the deceased. Learned Senior Advocate also submitted that the father of first informant Gyani was the one of the panch witnesses of inquest but name of the applicant was not mentioned as assailant instead unknown assailant was mentioned, therefore, till the time of inquest actual name of the accused was not known and subsequently applicant was falsely nominated as accused. He further submitted that though all the alleged eye-witnesses clearly stated that the present applicant fired upon the deceased Vishal, but post-mortem report shows that the deceased Vishal received two firearm injuries and such fact was not mentioned in the statement of the injured. He further submitted that it is a case of blind murder, and on the basis of doubt, as the applicant was one of the witness of murder case in which the deceased was accused, the applicant has been falsely implicated in the present case.

4. It is further submitted by learned counsel for the applicant that in the site plan it is mentioned that the applicant along with unknown person came on the spot on motorcycle and fired upon the deceased and run away on motorcycle, but no 'fard' of the motorcycle was prepared by the police. There is no incriminating material against the applicant. Applicant has no criminal history. Applicant is languishing in jail since 26.05.2025. In case the applicant is released on bail, he will not misuse the liberty of bail and would cooperate in the investigation/trial proceedings.

5. Per contra, learned A.G.A. as well as learned counsel for the first informant vehemently opposed the prayer for bail and submitted that not only the father but there are several other persons have seen the present applicant while he was doing 'Reiki' of the deceased, and this fact has been duly substantiated by the UPI payment being made by the applicant at 3:30 P.M. at the shop adjacent to the place of incident. They further submitted that the father of the deceased lodged the FIR making specific allegation against the applicant and also clearly stated in his statement about the role of the applicant and also claiming himself as a witness, and merely not mentioning the place in site plan where the applicant was present at the time of incident is not relevant, and the same is a matter of trial. It is further submitted that mentioning the name of accused in inquest is not necessary. They further submitted that on pointing out of the applicant, a country made pistol (.32 bore) was recovered and the aforesaid recovery was duly substantiated by conducting a videography as per Section 105 BNSS, therefore, the aforesaid recovery cannot be disputed. They also submitted that the father of the deceased himself brought the deceased to the hospital, and in his absence someone informed the police about the incident, who is expected to mention the name of the actual accused. Therefore, the applicant is not entitled to be released on bail.

6. Considering the rival submissions of the learned counsel for the parties, a legal question arises whether it is necessary to mention the name of accused who allegedly killed the deceased while preparing the inquest of the dead-both.

7. Section 194 of BNSS provides that when an officer in-charge of police or other police officer especially empowered by the State Government receives information that a person has been killed by another or has died under the circumstances, raising reasonable suspicion that some other person has committed an offence then he shall proceed to the place where the dead-body of the deceased person is found then in presence of two or more respectable inhabitants of the neighbourhood, he shall draw up a report/ inquest apparent cause of death, describing such wounds, fractures, bruises and other marks of injury found on the body and stating in what manner or by what weapon or instrument such marks appear to have been inflicted. This report shall be assigned by such police officer and other persons who concur with the aforesaid observation regarding the dead-body. If there is any doubt regarding the cause of death or for other reason then the police officer may consider it expedient and he shall forward the dead-body to the nearest Civil Surgeon or other qualified medical officer appointed by the State Government with a view to its being examined.

8. Section 194 BNSS is quoted as under:

"(1) When the officer in charge of a police station or some State police officer specially empowered by the State Government in that behalf receives information that a person has committed suicide, or has been killed by another or by an animal or by machinery or by an accident, or has died under circumstances raising a reasonable suspicion that some other person has committed an offence, he shall immediately give intimation thereof to the nearest Executive Magistrate empowered to hold inquests, and, unless otherwise directed by any rule made by the State Government, or by any general or special order of the District or Sub-divisional Magistrate, shall proceed to the place where the body of such deceased person is, and there, in the presence of two or more respectable inhabitants of the neighbourhood, shall make an investigation, and draw up a report of the apparent cause of death, describing such wounds, fractures, bruises, and other marks of injury as may be found on the body, and stating in what manner, or by what weapon or instrument (if any); such marks appear to have been inflicted.

(2) The report shall be signed by such police officer and other persons, or by so many of them as concur therein, and shall be forwarded to the District Magistrate or the Sub-divisional Magistrate within twenty-four hours.

(3) When-

(i) the case involves suicide by a woman within seven years of her marriage; or

(ii) the case relates to the death of a woman within seven years of her marriage in any circumstances raising a reasonable suspicion that some other person committed an offence in relation to such woman; or

(iii) the case relates to the death of a woman within seven years of her marriage and any relative of the woman has made a request in this behalf; or

(iv) there is any doubt regarding the cause of death; or

(v) the police officer for any other reason considers it expedient so to do, he shall, subject to such rules as the State Government may prescribe in this behalf, forward the body, with a view to its being examined, to the nearest Civil Surgeon, or other qualified medical person appointed in this behalf by the State Government, if the state of the weather and the distance admit of its being so forwarded without risk of such putrefaction on the road as would render such examination useless.

(4) The following Magistrates are empowered to hold inquests, namely, any District Magistrate or Sub-divisional Magistrate and any other Executive Magistrate specially empowered in this behalf by the State Government or the District Magistrate."

9. From a perusal of Section 194 BNSS, it is clear that the only purpose of inquest is to make a prima facie opinion about the apparent cause of death and noting the injuries i.e. wounds, fractures, bruises and other marks of injury found on the body, possible cause of death including the weapon used to inflict such injuries and after preparation of such report by the concerned officer, it shall be signed by him as well as other persons who are present and concur the aforesaid opinion, therefore, there is no statutory requirement regarding mentioning the name of accused in the inquest report.

The Hon'ble Supreme Court has also observed in the case of Amar Singh Vs. Balwinder Singh and others, reported in (2003) 2 Supreme Court Cases 518. Paragraph 12 of the said judgment is quoted below:

*"The High Court has also held that the details about the occurrence were not mentioned in the inquest report which showed that the investigating officer was not sure of the facts when the inquest report was prepared and this feature of the case carried weight in favour of the accused. We are unable to accept this reasoning of the High Court. The provision for holding of an inquest and preparing an inquest report is contained in Section 174 Cr.P.C. The heading of the Section is "Police to enquire and report on suicide, etc." Sub-section (1) of this Section provides that when the officer in charge of a police station or some other police officer specially empowered by the State Government in that behalf receives information that a person has committed suicide, or has been killed by another or by an animal or by machinery or by an accident, or has died under circumstances raising a reasonable suspicion that some other person has committed an offence, he shall immediately give information to the nearest Executive Magistrate and shall proceed to the place where the body of such deceased person is, and there, in the presence of two or more respectable inhabitants of the neighbourhood, shall make an investigation, and draw up a report of the apparent cause of death describing such wounds, fractures, bruises, and other marks of injury as may be found on the body and stating in what manner, or by what weapon or instrument (if any), such marks appear to have been inflicted. The requirement of the section is that the police officer shall record the apparent cause of death describing the wounds as may be found on the body and also the weapon or instrument by which they appear to have been inflicted and this has to be done in the presence of two or more respectable inhabitants of the neighbourhood. The Section does not contemplate that the manner in which the incident took place or the names of the accused should be mentioned in the inquest report. The basic purpose of holding an inquest is to report regarding the apparent cause of death, namely whether it is suicidal, homicidal, accidental or by some machinery, etc. The scope and purpose of Section 174 Cr.P.C. was explained by this Court in Podda Narayana & Ors. v. State of Andhra Pradesh AIR 1975 SC 1252 and it will be useful to reproduce the same.*

"The proceedings under Section 174 have a very limited scope. The object of the proceedings is merely to ascertain whether a person has died under suspicious circumstances or an unnatural death and if so what is the apparent cause of the death. The question regarding the details as to how the deceased was assaulted or who assaulted him or under what circumstances he was assaulted is foreign to the ambit and scope of the proceedings under Section 174. Neither in practice nor in law was it necessary for the police to mention those details in the inquest report.

It is therefore not necessary to enter all the details of the overt acts in the inquest report. Their omission is not sufficient to put the prosecution out of Court."

10. In view of above analysis, this Court observes that while preparing the inquest report there is no requirement of mentioning the name of the accused who caused the death of the person, whose body is under examination.

11. Considering the aforesaid submissions of learned counsel for the parties and taking into account that it is not in dispute that the presence of the applicant was found at the time of incident at 3:30 P.M. while he was making UPI payment at the shop adjacent to the place of incident, and the incident in question at 5:30 P.M. was seen by several other witnesses who have made specific allegation of firing against the applicant, and there is a recovery of weapon from the applicant allegedly used in the incident in question, which was duly substantiated by conducting a videography as per Section 105 BNSS, and considering the gravity of the offence and role of the applicant, this Court is not inclined to release the applicant on bail, at this stage.

12. Accordingly, the bail application is rejected.

Issue for Consideration

Issue pertains to whether fracture of the hyoid bone is an indispensable requirement for establishing a case of strangulation; and whether delay in recording the statements of witnesses during investigation, also having regard to the postmortem report, and surrounding circumstances emerging from the record would, by itself, be fatal to the prosecution case so as to entitle the accused-applicant to be enlarged on bail during the pendency of trial.

Headnotes

Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 - s 103(1) - Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam, 2023 - s. 109 - Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 - s. 180 - Bail - Murder - Strangulation - Absence of fracture of hyoid bone - Whether fatal to prosecution case - Interpretation - The prosecution case was that the applicant, being the husband of deceased, had allegedly quarrelled with and assaulted her on previous occasions, regarding which an FIR had earlier been lodged - Subsequently, after compromise between the parties, the deceased started residing with the applicant - It was alleged that on 19.03.2025, the applicant murdered his wife in collusion with other accused persons - During investigation, the other accused persons were exonerated and charge-sheet was submitted only against the present applicant - The applicant sought bail contending that the postmortem report indicating strangulation was doubtful as the hyoid bone was intact, there was no eyewitness account, and delayed recording of witness statements created doubt in the prosecution case - The informant and State opposed the bail application by relying upon the medical evidence, witness statements, and surrounding circumstances.

Held: In the instant case, FIR was registered on 20.03.2025 and statement of applicant's nephew was recorded on 27.03.2025 and the statement of daughter of applicant was recorded on 18.04.2025 as both the children were under shock because of murder of deceased - Therefore, some delay cannot be said to be fatal to the prosecution case - Even otherwise such issues are to be decided during trial not at the stage of bail - It is not in dispute that as per postmortem report, the cause of death is strangulation and other injuries are also present on the body of deceased which shows that she resisted at the time of strangulation - It is also clear from the judgements relied upon by learned counsel for first informant that fracture of hyoid bone is not always necessary in case of strangulation and the statement of applicant's daughter as well as statement of applicant's sister's son, clearly establishes that at the time of incident, the applicant was present in the house - Therefore, s. 109 of BSA will be attracted as it is the case of murder and it is the applicant who has to explain but he failed to explain the same by simply taking the plea that he was not present in home - Therefore, the court refused to release the applicant on bail - Accordingly, bail application rejected. ORIGINAL JURISDICTION: Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. - 29240 of 2025

From the Judgment and Order dated 07.07.2025 passed by the District and Sessions Judge, Fatehpur in Case Crime No.90 of 2025, P.S. Lalauli, District Fatehpur.

Appearances for Parties

Adv. for the Applicant(s):

Ghan Shyam Das

Adv. for the Opposite Party(s):

Arun Kumar Shukla, G.A., Govind Tiwari, Ram Saumitra Tripathi, Shivam Agarwal, Tanu Shree

(Delivered by Arun Kumar Singh Deshwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Kamal Krishna, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Ghan Shyam Das, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Arun Kumar Shukla along with Sri Shivam Agarwal, learned counsel for the first informant and Sri Ram Kumar Verma, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

2. The instant bail application has been filed with a prayer to release the applicant on bail in Case Crime No.90 of 2025, under Section-103(1) BNS, Police Station-Lalauli, District-Fatehpur, during the pendency of the trial.

3. Contention of learned counsel for the applicant is that as per the prosecution story, the applicant is the husband of the deceased and he used to quarrel with the deceased and on previous occasion also, he had beaten the deceased regarding which an FIR was also lodged. Subsequently in police station, both the parties had entered into compromise and deceased started living with the applicant. It is further mentioned in the FIR that on 19.03.2025, the applicant has murdered his wife and other co-accused were also in collusion with the applicant. After the investigation, the names of the other co-accused were exonerated and chargesheet was filed only against the present applicant.

4. It is submitted by the applicant's counsel that as per the postmortem report of the deceased, cause of death is strangulation but hyoid bone was intact, therefore, it cannot be a case of strangulation. It is further submitted that there is no eye witness of the incident and even the children themselves admitted that they were sleeping in the night and in the morning, they found the deceased dead. It is further submitted that there is no evidence that at the time of incident, applicant was inside the house along with the deceased, therefore, presumption u/s 109 of BSA will not be attracted against the applicant. Learned counsel for the applicant has also relied upon the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of State of Rajasthan Vs. Ramanand reported in AIR 2017 SUPREME COURT 2100. It is further submitted that the applicant has no criminal history and charge sheet has been filed in the present case, therefore, there is no requirement of custodial interrogation. It is further submitted that though the daughter of the applicant in her statement recorded u/s 180 of BNSS has stated that she had not seen the incident in question. However, she changed her statement during trial and stated that at the time of incident, she was not sleeping but has herself seen the incident where the two other persons along with his father committed the murder of their mother. Therefore statement of applicant's daughter during trial itself makes the prosecution story doubtful. It is further submitted that the statement of the daughter of the deceased, Rishika was recorded on 16.04.2025 and the statement of Utkarsh who was the applicant's sister's son, who allegedly resided in the same house, was recorded on 18.04.2025. Therefore, delayed recording of statement u/s 180 of BNSS is not reliable. In support of his contention, learned counsel for the applicant has relied upon the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Shahid Khan Vs. State of Rajasthan reported in 2016 AIR (SC) 1178 wherein the Apex Court discarded the statement of two witnesses recorded after three days of the occurrence. The applicant is a law abiding citizen and he is languishing in jail since 25.03.2025. In case, he is granted bail, he will not misuse the liberty of bail and would cooperate in the trial proceedings.

5. Per contra, learned counsel for the first informant has vehemently opposed the prayer for bail and submitted that the daughter of the applicant stated in her statement u/s 180 BNSS that the applicant was present in the house at the time of the incident and he had also beaten his mother in the night. It is further submitted that the statement of applicant's sister's son, Utkarsh was also recorded on 27.03.2025 who stated that in the night of the date of incident, the applicant came to the house and was present in the house at the time of incident. It is further submitted that statement of Utkarsh was promptly recorded on 27.03.2025 not on 18.04.2025 and he further submitted that even if the statement of the daughter of the applicant was recorded on 16.04.2025 that could be the fault on the part of the Investigating Officer because of the reason that daughter was under shock after the death of her mother (deceased). It is further submitted that the postmortem report shows that the deceased was also having other injuries apart from mark of strangulation which shows that at the time of strangulation, she also resisted and he also submitted that it is not always true that hyoid bone should be fractured during strangulation. In support of his contention, he has relied upon the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Ravirala Laxmaiah Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh reported in 2013 (9) SCC 283 wherein the Apex Court observed that fracture of hyoid bone is not always found fractured in the case of strangulation. Learned counsel for the first informant has also relied upon Clause 9 of the Modi's Medical Jurisprudence and Toxicology wherein it was opined by Modi that it is not always necessary that hyoid bone should be fractured during strangulation. Learned counsel for the first informant has further relied upon the judgement of this court in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.27556 of 2018 (Pushkar Katiyar Vs. State of U.P.) decided on 10.07.2019 wherein this Court has also taken a view that fracture of hyoid bone is not always necessary in case of strangulation. Therefore, applicant is not entitled to be released on bail.

6. Learned A.G.A. has also adopted the arguments of learned counsel for the first informant.

7. After hearing the submissions of learned counsel for the parties, two legal questions arise which need to be addressed before coming to the merits of this case. These two questions are as follows:

(i) Whether the hyoid bone will necessarily be fractured in the case of strangulation?

(ii) Whether the delay in recording the statement of witness during investigation will always be fatal to prosecution case?

8. Before dealing with the question no.i, it would be appropriate to define the hyoid bone.

"The hyoid bone is a small U-shaped floating bone located in front of the neck, between the lower jaw and the thyroid cartilage serving as a critical anchor point for tongue, throat and larynx muscles. It is only bone in the body that does not articulate with another bone, instead of suspended by muscles and ligaments."

9. In Modi's Medical Jurisprudence and Toxicology 23rd Edition at page 583 difference between hanging and strangulation was given in tabulated form wherein paragraph no.12 discusses the differences in hanging and strangulation regarding fracture of hyoid bone which is mentioned as below:

12.	Hanging	Strangulation

(1)	Fracture of larynx and trachea - Very rare and that too in judicial hanging.	(1) Fracture of larynx and trachea - Often found also hyoid bone (sic-fracture)

10. In the Journal of Forensic Sciences, Vol-41 under the title 'fracture of the hyoid bone in strangulation', paragraph no.24 of Ponnusamy's case is being quoted as under:

"24. In Journal of Forensic Sciences, Vol. 41 under the title ? Fracture of the Hyoid Bone in Strangulation: Comparison of Fractured and Unfractured Hyoids from Victims of Strangulation, it is stated:

"The hyoid is the U-shaped bone of the neck that is fractured in one-third of all homicides by strangulation. On this basis, post-mortem detection of hyoid fracture is relevant to the diagnosis of strangulation. However, since many cases lack a hyoid fracture, the absence of this finding does not exclude strangulation as a cause of death. The reasons why some hyoids fracture and others do not may relate to the nature and magnitude of force applied to the neck, age of the victim, nature of the instrument (ligature or hands) used to strangle, and intrinsic anatomic features of the hyoid bone. We compared the case profiles and xeroradiographic appearance of the hyoids of 20 victims of homicidal strangulation with and without hyoid fracture (n = 10, each). The fractured hyoids occurred in older victims of strangulation (39 # 14 years) when compared to the victims with unfractured hyoids (30 # 10 years). The age dependency of hyoid fracture correlated with the degree of ossification or fusion of the hyoid synchondroses. The hyoid was fused in older victims of strangulation (41 # 12 years) whereas the unfused hyoids were found in the younger victims (28 # 10 years). In addition, the hyoid bone was ossified or fused in 70% of all fractured hyoids, but, only 30% of the unfractured hyoids were fused. The shape of the hyoid bone was also found to differentiate fractured and unfractured hyoids. Fractured hyoids were longer in the anterior-posterior plane and were more steeply sloping when compared with unfractured hyoids. These data indicate that hyoids of strangulation victims, with and without fracture, are distinguished by various indices of shape and rigidity. On this basis, it may be possible to explain why some victims of strangulation do not have fractured hyoid bones."

11. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Ponnusamy Vs. State of Tamil Nadu reported in (2008) 5 SCC 587 also observed that it is not necessary that fracture of hyoid bone is must in all the cases. Similarly, in the case of Ravirala Laxmaiah Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh reported in (2013) 9 SCC 283, the Hon'ble Apex Court relied upon the judgement of Ponnusamy (supra) and observed that fracture of hyoid bone is not always found in the case of strangulation.

12. From the above discussion, it is clear that though there are more chances of fracture in hyoid bone in older victims of strangulation but when the victims of homicide strangulation is of younger age (30 -+10 years) then hyoid bone may remain unfractured. Therefore, it is not necessary in the case of strangulation that there should be fracture in hyoid bone and there may be cases of strangulation without fracture in hyoid bone.

13. So far as the second question regarding delayed recording of statement of witnesses is concerned, this issue was considered by the Apex Court in several cases. In the case of Ganesh Bhavan Patel And Another Vs. State of Maharashtra reported in (1978) 4 SCC 371, three Judges Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court observed that inordinate delay in registration of the 'FIR' and further delay in recording the statement of material witnesses casts a cloud of suspicion over the prosecution story. Paragraph no.29 of the said judgement is being quoted as under:

"29. Thus considered in the light of the surrounding circumstances, this inordinate delay in registration of the 'FIR' and further delay in recording the statements of the material witnesses, casts a cloud of suspicion on the credibility of the entire warp and woof of the prosecution story."

14. Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Shahid Khan Vs. State of Rajasthan reported in (2016) 4 SCC 96, observed that if there is no explanation for the delayed recording of statement, it casts a serious doubt about their being the eye witnesses to the occurrence and if there is no corroboration of their evidence from any other independent source then it would be unsafe to rely upon the statement of such evidences to uphold the conviction. Paragraph no.20 of the said judgement is being quoted as under:

"20. The statements of PW 25 Mirza Majid Beg and PW 24 Mohamed Shakir were recorded after 3 days of the occurrence. No explanation is forthcoming as to why they were not examined for 3 days. It is also not known as to how the police came to know that these witnesses saw the occurrence. The delay in recording the statements casts a serious doubt about their being eyewitnesses to the occurrence. It may suggest that the investigating officer was deliberately marking time with a view to decide about the shape to be given to the case and the eyewitnesses to be introduced. The circumstances in this case lend such significance to this delay. PW 25 Mirza Majid Beg and PW 24 Mohamed Shakir, in view of their unexplained silence and delayed statement to the police, do not appear to us to be wholly reliable witnesses. There is no corroboration of their evidence from any other independent source either. We find it rather unsafe to rely upon their evidence only to uphold the conviction and sentence of the appellants. The High Court has failed to advert to the contentions raised by the appellants and reappraise the evidence thereby resulting in miscarriage of justice. In our opinion, the case against the appellants has not been proved beyond reasonable doubt."

15. In the case of Jafarudheen and Others Vs. State of Kerala reported in (2022) 8 SCC 440, the Hon'ble Apex Court considered the issue of delayed recording of statement of witness during investigation and observed that an inordinate and unexplained delay in recording the statement of witness u/s 161 Cr.P.C. may be fatal to the prosecution's case but it also depends upon the fact of each case. Paragraph no.33 of the said judgement is being quoted as under:

"33. The investigating officer is expected to kick start his investigation immediately after registration of a cognizable offence. An inordinate and unexplained delay may be fatal to the prosecution's case but only to be considered by the court, on the facts of each case. There may be adequate circumstances for not examining a witness at an appropriate time. However, non-examination of the witness despite being available may call for an explanation from the investigating officer. It only causes doubt in the mind of the court, which is required to be cleared."

16. The 3 Judges Bench of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Goutam Joardar Vs. State of West Bengal reported in (2022) 17 SCC 549, considered the earlier cases and observed that mere factum of delay by itself cannot result in rejection of the testimony of witnesses as there may be number of reasons for delayed recording of the statement which can be considered by the court and taking into account the fact of the particular case. Paragraph nos.10 and 11 of the said judgement are being quoted as under:

"10. It is true that there was some delay in recording the statements of the eyewitnesses concerned but mere factum of delay by itself cannot result in rejection of their testimonies.

11. The material on record definitely establishes the fear created by the accused. If the witnesses felt terrorised and frightened and did not come forward for some time, the delay in recording their statements stood adequately explained. Nothing has been brought on record to suggest that during the interregnum, the witnesses were carrying on their ordinary pursuits. Thus, the eyewitness account unfolded through PW 18 and PW 19 cannot be discarded. We have gone through their testimonies and are convinced that their statements were cogent, consistent and trustworthy."

17. In recent judgement of Firoz Khan Akbarkhan Vs. State of Maharashtra reported in 2025 SCC OnLine SC 627, three Judges Bench considering all earlier cases on the point of delayed recording of statement observed that Ganesh Bhavan Patel (supra) is not an authority to contain, that delay in recording witness statement is always fatal to the prosecution case and when such delay is explained then delayed recording of witness statement will not aid an accused. Paragraph no.21 of the said judgement is being quoted as under:

"21. Insofar as the delay of 2/3 days in recording the statements of the eye-witnesses under Section 161 of the Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Code') is concerned, the said delay has been thoroughly explained by the witnesses, including the Investigating Officer, to the effect that there were riots in the area. On this score, the Investigating Officer was involved in maintaining law and order in the affected area. In the attendant facts and circumstances, the course of action adopted by the police cannot be termed unjustified and no adverse inference can be drawn on this count. No doubt that Court has laid down that an inordinate delay in recording witness statements can prove to be fatal for the prosecution, as pointed out by three learned Judges in Ganesh Bhavan Patel v. State of Maharashtra, (1978) 4 SCC 371; however, therein, the delay in recording statements of the material witnesses was accompanied by a delay in registering of the FIR and the surrounding circumstances, which led the Court to hold that there was a 'a cloud of suspicion on the credibility of the entire warp and woof of the prosecution story.' In Jagjit Singh v. State of Punjab, (2005) 3 SCC 689 and State of A.P. v. S Swarnalatha, (2009) 8 SCC 383, the Court held in favour of the convict/accused, as the inordinate delays therein could not be sufficiently explained. Delay of about 27 days, in a case where communal violence had broken out, was held not fatal, in Lal Bahadur v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2013) 4 SCC 557. Delay of over 2 years in recording witness statements was deemed not fatal, when explained, in Baldev Singh v. State of Punjab, (2014) 12 SCC 473. Delay in recording witness statements was held not fatal per se in Sunil Kumar v. State of Rajasthan, (2005) 9 SCC 283 and V K Mishra v. State of Uttarakhand, (2015) 9 SCC 588. Delay in recording statements of witnesses was held to have cast serious doubts on the prosecution version in Shahid Khan v. State of Rajasthan, (2016) 4 SCC 96 and Jafarudheen v. State of Kerala, (2022) 8 SCC 440. It was held, in Goutam Joardar v. State of W. B., (2022) 17 SCC 549, by a Coordinate Bench that 'there was some delay in recording the statements of the eyewitnesses concerned but mere factum of delay by itself cannot result in rejection of their testimonies.' Per our understanding, Ganesh Bhavan Patel (supra) is not an authority to contend that delay in recording witness statements is always fatal to the prosecution's case. Thus, stricto sensu, delay in recording witness statements, moreso when the said delay is explained, will not aid an

18. From the above quoted judgements regarding delayed recording of statements, it is clear that delay in recording the statement of witnesses is not always fatal to the prosecution case and other surrounding evidence should also be considered. If there is sufficient explanation for the delay in recording the statement then delayed recording of statements during investigation will not affect the prosecution's case and such explanation can be given during trial by the Investigating Officer or can be gathered from the facts of the case.

20. Considering the aforesaid submission and taking into account that it is not in dispute that as per the postmortem report, the cause of death is strangulation and other injuries are also present on the body of the deceased which shows that she resisted at the time of strangulation. It is also clear from the judgements relied upon by learned counsel for the first informant that fracture of hyoid bone is not always necessary in case of strangulation and the statement of the applicant's daughter as well as statement of applicant's sister's son, Utkarsh clearly establishes that at the time of incident, the applicant was present in the house. Therefore, Section 109 of BSA will be attracted as it is the case of murder and it is the applicant who has to explain but he failed to explain the same by simply taking the plea that he was not present in home. Therefore, this court is not inclined to release the applicant on bail.

22. The observations made in the bail application will not be binding on the trial court.

Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 - s. 173(4) (Corresponding s. 156(3), Cr.PC) - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - ss. 419,420,467,468,471 - Earlier application dismissed - For non-prosecution - Fresh/second application filed - Allowed - Second FIR registered - Maintainability - Quashing of - Scope of - The petitioner challenged the subsequent F.I.R. dated 01.03.2026 registered u/ss. 419, 420, 467, 468 and 471 I.P.C. at Police Station Kotwali Nagar, District Gonda, alleging that the dispute was already covered by an earlier F.I.R. lodged in year 2020 concerning irregularities and misappropriation of Provident Fund amounts of employees of Municipal Corporation, Gonda - It was alleged that the earlier F.I.R. was lodged against the then Clerk of Municipal Corporation and a bank employee, and after investigation charge-sheet was filed - Subsequently, respondent No. 4, an employee of Municipal Corporation, alleged that amounts were withdrawn from her Provident Fund account by fabricating documents and making false entries - Her application u/s 156(3) Cr.P.C. was initially rejected, but after revision and dismissal of application for non-prosecution, a fresh application u/s 173(4) BNSS was filed, resulting in registration of impugned F.I.R. against the petitioner - The petitioner contended that the second F.I.R. was impermissible as the allegations were already investigated in earlier F.I.R. and the subsequent proceedings were liable to be quashed - The State opposed the writ petition, submitting that the subsequent F.I.R. related to a distinct grievance which was neither investigated nor considered in the earlier proceedings.

Held: In the instant case admittedly the first complaint u/s 156(3) Cr.P.C. was dismissed for non-prosecution on 29.07.2025 - The second application u/s 156(3) Cr.P.C. has been filed on 04.08.2025 - Perusal of the said complaint specifically indicates that disclosure was made by the complainant of having earlier filed an application u/s 156(3) Cr.P.C. but the same having been dismissed for non-prosecution on 29.07.2025 - Thus, the second complaint would clearly be maintainable keeping in view the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the cases of Subrata Choudhury (infra) and Samta Naidu (infra) - Hence, the said ground is also rejected - Accordingly, writ petition dismissed.[Para 23, 24] (E-13)

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Petitioner(s):

Adv. for the Respondent(s):

G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Abdul Moin, J.

Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Sri Anil K. Tripathi, Advocate has filed his Vakalatnama on behalf of the petitioner, which is taken on record. After arguing at some length he states that he would like the previous counsel Sri Manish Vaish to argue the matter and thus the 'baton' of argument has been passed on to Sri Manish Vaish.

2. We fail to understand this tactic on the part of lawyers of changing counsels mid way.

3. Be that as it may, we have heard Sri Manish Vaish, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned A.G.A. appearing for the State.

4. Under challenge is the First Information Report (hereinafter referred to as "F.I.R.") dated 01.03.2026 bearing First Information Report No. 189/2026, under Sections 419, 420, 467, 468 and 471 of Indian Penal Code (hereinafter referred to as "I.P.C."), Police Station Kotwali Nagar, District Gonda.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that in the year 2020, the Executive Officer of the Municipal Corporation, Gonda had lodged a F.I.R. dated 07.12.2020 bearing F.I.R. No. 955/2020, under Sections 419, 420, 467, 468, 471 and 409 I.P.C., Police Station Kotwali Nagar against Vipin Prakash Srivastava (Clerk of Municipal Corporation). After concluding the investigation, a charge-sheet had been filed against accused persons, namely, Vipin Prakash Srivastava and Ankit Srivastava (a bank employee). In the said F.I.R., irregularities regarding misappropriation of Provident Fund during the year 2017 were alleged.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that respondent No. 4 moved an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. before the Magistrate seeking registration of the F.I.R. against the petitioner, which was rejected vide order dated 25.06.2024 on the basis of preliminary inquiry report. Being aggrieved by the order dated 25.06.2024, respondent No. 4 preferred a Criminal Revision No. 358/2024::Ayesha Begum Vs. Mohammad Mushfik @ Sanju . The revisional court admitted the revision and consequently quashed the order dated 25.06.2024 passed by learned Magistrate under Section 156(3) of Cr.P.C. and also directed the trial court to pass a fresh order after hearing both the parties. On the date fixed for hearing applicant/respondent No.4 did not appear before the learned Magistrate, therefore, application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. was dismissed for want of prosecution on 29.07.2025. Subsequently, applicant/respondent No. 4 filed another application under Section 173(4) of the BNSS, 2023 (Corresponding Section 156(3) of Cr.P.C.), resulting learned Magistrate vide order dated 04.02.2026 allowed the application and directed police for registration of the F.I.R. against the petitioner.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner next submits that grievances of respondent No.4 had already been covered by previous F.I.R. lodged on 07.12.2020. He further submits that at the relevant time, the petitioner was posted as a Clerk and he had performed his duties properly, so that Provident Fund of the employees could be deposited in their Provident Fund Account and if some amount have been withdrawn in an authorized manner, then the matter rests between account holder and bank, for which the petitioner has no concern.

8. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that in the first inquiry report, no allegation was found against the petitioner; therefore, subsequent order dated 04.02.2026 passed by the learned Magistrate, without affording an opportunity of hearing to the petitioner, is illegal. Consequently, the subsequent F.I.R. is liable to be quashed, and the police be directed not to arrest the petitioner or take any coercive measures against him.

9. The other ground taken by learned counsel for the petitioner is that when the earlier application filed under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. was dismissed for non-prosecution vide order dated 29.07.2025 the impugned FIR being lodged on the basis of second application filed under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. (now Section 173(4) of BNSS 2023) by respondent no.4 was clearly not maintainable. Elaborating the same, the argument is that it was open for respondent no.4 to have applied for setting aside the order by which the earlier application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. had been dismissed for non-prosecution but the second application was clearly not maintainable and consequently the impugned FIR having been lodged on the basis of the same merits to be set-aside on this ground alone.

10. Elaborating the first ground, the argument is that where first F.I.R. was lodged and all the allegations were covered, then subsequent F.I.R. could not be lodged for the same incident. In support of his argument learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance on the judgment passed by Hon'ble Apex Court in the cases of Arnab Ranjan Goswami Vs. Union of India and others (2020) 14 SCC 12; Babubhai Vs. State of Gujarat and others (2010) 12 SCC 254; Amitbhai AnilChandra Shah Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation and another (2013) 6 SCC 348 and T.T.Antony Vs. State of Kerala and others (2001) 6 SCC 181.

11. Per contra, learned A.G.A. vehemently contends that in the first F.I.R., the matter of opposite party No. 4 was neither investigated, nor she was afforded any opportunity to give her statement before the Investigating Officer. He further submits that a subsequent F.I.R. is not barred where there is a different allegation and which is not a consequence of the first F.I.R.; otherwise, the ends of justice would be victimized. He also submits that no investigation was conducted with regard to the role of the present petitioner, and therefore, he could not take the shelter of the first F.I.R. Accordingly, the present petition is vague, misconceived, devoid of merit, and liable to be dismissed.

12. Having heard learned counsel for the parties, on perusal of material on record it reveals that earlier F.I.R. bearing F.I.R. No. 955/2020 was lodged by the complainant Vikas Sain (the then Executive Officer) against Vipin Prakash Srivastava under Sections 419, 420, 467, 468, 471 and 409 I.P.C., stating that accused Vipin Prakash Srivastava, who was posted Bill Clerk/Health Clerk was not producing complete records of the Provident Fund relating to the employees of Municipal Corporation, Gonda. Vipin Prakash Srivastava was suspended for tampering the records, thus there was no averment made in F.I.R. with regard to claim of the respondent No.4. It is admitted by the petitioner that the charge-sheet has been filed against Vipin Prakash Srivastava and Ankit Srivastava and the trial is going on.

13. Thereafter, respondent No.4-Smt Ayesha Begum moved an application under Section 156(3) of the Cr.P.C. before the Magistrate concerned, stating that she was posted as a Peon in the Municipal Corporation and out of her Provident Fund, different amounts were withdrawn on different dates, after making a false entry, fabricating the forged document and in the application the cheque period was stated 02.03.2017, 15.03.2027 and 16.03.2017 and thus Rs. 1,50,000/- was withdrawn from the Provident Fund account of the respondent No.4.

14. On the basis of a preliminary inquiry report submitted by the Bank of India, the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. was dismissed on 25.06.2024. This order was assailed in Criminal Revision No. 358/2024, wherein the learned Additional Sessions Judge allowed the revision and directed the concerned Magistrate to pass a fresh order in accordance with law after hearing both parties. On the date fixed for hearing, applicant/respondent No.4 did not appear before the concerned court, hence application under Section 156(3) of the Cr.P.C. was dismissed for want of prosecution on 29.07.2025. Thereafter, Respondent No. 4 moved a fresh application under Section 173(4) of the BNSS (Corresponding Section 156(3) of Cr.P.C.) against the petitioner, disclosing that the previous application was dismissed due to her non-appearance. Upon hearing the said application, the learned Magistrate, vide order dated 04.02.2026, directed to the police for registration of an FIR against the accused persons. Consequently, FIR No. 189/2026 was registered at Police Station Kotwali Nagar, District Gonda, under Sections 419, 420, 467, 468, and 471 of the I.P.C.

15. Now question arises that whether subsequent impugned F.I.R. can be lodged?

16. In this regard in the case of State of Rajasthan Vs. Surendra Singh Rathore 2025 SCC OnLine SC 358 Hon'ble Apex Court held that where the incident is separate, offences are similar or different or even where the subsequent crime is of such magnitude that it does not fall within the ambit and scope of the F.I.R. recorded first, then second F.I.R. could be registered.

In the above case Hon'ble Apex Court has cited the case of Upkar Singh Vs. Ved Prakash (2004) 13 SCC 292, wherein T.T. Antony Vs. State of Kerala (2001) 6 SCC 181 has been discussed and it was observed in paragraph No. 23 of Upkar Singh (supra) as under:

“Be that as it may, if the law laid down by this Court in T.T. Antony case [(2001) 6 SCC 181: 2001 SCC (Cri) 10481 is to be accepted as holding that a second complaint in regard to the same incident filed as a counter-complaint is prohibited under the Code then, in our opinion, such conclusion would lead to serious consequences. This will be clear from the hypothetical example given hereinbelow i.e. if in regard to a crime committed by the real accused he takes the first opportunity to lodge a false complaint and the same is registered by the jurisdictional police then the aggrieved victim of such crime will be precluded from lodging a complaint giving his version of the incident in question, consequently he will be deprived of his legitimated right to bring the real accused to book. This cannot be the purport of the Code.”

17. In Surendra Singh Rathore (supra) Hon'ble Apex Court also discussed the case of BabuBhai Vs. State of Gujarat (2010) 12 SCC 254 wherein it is observed that in case where the version in the second F.I.R. is different and they are in respect of the two different incidents/crimes, the second F.I.R. is permissible and referred to the observation made in paragraph No. 67 of Nirmal Singh Kahlon Vs. State of Punjab (2009) 1 SCC 441 as under:

“67. The second FIR, in our opinion, would be maintainable not only because there were different versions but when new discovery is made on factual foundations. Discoveries may be made by the police authorities at a subsequent stage. Discovery about a larger conspiracy can also surface in another proceeding, as for example, in a case of this nature. If the police authorities did not make a fair investigation and left out conspiracy aspect of the matter from the purview of its investigation, in our opinion, as and when the same surfaced, it was open to the State and/or the High Court to direct investigation in respect of an offence which is distinct and separate from the one for which the FIR had already been lodged.”

After concluding the case laws referred in the said judgment Hon'ble Apex Court summarize at point 9.2, when the ambit of the two FIRs is different even though they may arise from the same set of circumstance, then registration of the second F.I.R. is permissible.

18. In view of the above, on perusal of the material available on record, it reflects that in the F.I.R. which was registered in the year 2020 there was no averment with regard to involvement of the petitioner in respect of claim of respondent No.4 relating to irregularities and illegal transaction of the Provident Fund of the respondent No.4, and she was not afforded opportunity of hearing during the course of investigation, thus allegation regarding her claim was not dealt with in previous F.I.R. and investigation. Apart from this, the subsequent F.I.R. is not consequence of the first F.I.R. although it is true that no fresh investigation on receipt of every information in respect of same cognizable offence can be conducted, but if two F.I.R.s pertain to two different incidence/crimes, second F.I.R. is permissible.

19. Learned counsel for the petitioner argues that in the matter of Arnav Ranjan Goswami (supra) there was multiple F.I.R. with regard to particular incident, therefore, Hon'ble Apex Court quashed all the proceedings other than one F.I.R., but the fact of the present case is different from the case referred as in Arnav Ranjan Goswami (supra), news and views was discussed and TV shows with respect to particular incident, which happened in Maharashtra and for the same incident several F.I.R.s in other region had been lodged, but in the case in hand, the Provident Fund was misappropriated through fabricating the documents and it was withdrawn in different time period without the knowledge of the holder of the account and for that account holder has made allegations against the petitioner of this case, whose role was not investigated in the earlier F.I.R. which was lodged in the year 2020, therefore, it cannot be said that subsequent F.I.R. could not be lodged pertaining to different check period, as observed by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the latest judgment of Surender Singh Rathore (supra) that if the claim of the petitioner was not investigated in previous F.I.R. then subsequent F.I.R. could be lodged for the same set of circumstances, therefore, the ground taken by the petitioner is not tenable.

20. As regards the ground that the second application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. was not maintainable, the earlier application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. having been dismissed for non-prosecution, the said ground is also found to be patently misconceived and is rejected.

21. In this regard, it would be apt to refer to the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Subrata Choudhury @ Santosh Choudhury vs The State Of Assam- 2024 INSC 834 wherein Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:-

“24. In Samta Naidu v. State of Madhya Pradesh, this Court considered all the relevant decisions including Pramatha Nath Talukdar v. Saroj Ranjan Sarkar, Jatinder Singh v. Ranjit Kaur, Poonam Chand Jain v. Farzu, and Shivshankar Singh's case (supra) in regard to the moot question involved, in paragraphs 12 to 12.3, 12.5, 13 and 16 thereunder. The said paragraphs, insofar as they are relevant to this case, are as under:

12. The law declared in Talukdar has consistently been followed, for instance, in Bindeshwari Prasad Singh v. Kali Singh it was observed : (Bindeshwari Prasad Singh case, SCC p. 59, para 4)

“4. ... it is now well settled that a second complaint can lie only on fresh facts or even on the previous facts only if a special case is made out.”

(emphasis supplied)

The view taken in Bindeshwari was followed in A.S. Gauraya v. S.N. Thakur.

12.1. In Jatinder Singh v. Ranjit Kaur the issue was whether the first complaint having been dismissed for default, could the second complaint be maintained. The matter was considered as under : (SCC pp. 572-74, paras 9 & 12)

“9. There is no provision in the Code or in any other statute which debars a complainant from preferring a second complaint on the same allegations if the first complaint did not result in a conviction or acquittal or even discharge. Section 300 of the Code, which debars a second trial, has taken care to explain that "the dismissal of a complaint, or the discharge of the accused, is not an acquittal for the purposes of this section". However, when a Magistrate conducts an inquiry under Section 202 of the Code and dismisses the complaint on merits, a second complaint on the same facts cannot be made unless there are very exceptional circumstances. Even so, a second complaint is permissible depending upon how the complaint happened to be dismissed at the first instance.

12. If the dismissal of the complaint was not on merit but on default of the complainant to be present there is no bar in the complainant moving the Magistrate again with a second complaint on the same facts. But if the dismissal of the complaint under Section 203 of the Code was on merits the position could be different. There appeared a difference of opinion earlier as to whether a second complaint could have been filed when the dismissal was under Section 203. The controversy was settled by this Court in Pramatha Nath Talukdar v. Saroj Ranjan Sarkar, (1962) 1 Cri LJ 770. A majority of Judges of the three-Judge Bench held thus : (AIR p. 899, para 48)

“48. ... An order of dismissal under Section 203, Criminal Procedure Code, is, however, no bar to the entertainment of a second complaint on the same facts but it will be entertained only in exceptional circumstances, e.g., where the previous order was passed on an incomplete record or on a misunderstanding of the nature of the complaint or it was manifestly absurd, unjust or foolish or where new facts which could not, with reasonable diligence, have been brought on the record in the previous proceedings, have been adduced. It cannot be said to be in the interest of justice that after a decision has been given against the complainant upon a full consideration of his case, he or any other person should be given another opportunity to have his complaint inquired into.”

(emphasis supplied)

S.K. Das, J. (as he then was) while dissenting from the said majority view had taken the stand that right of a complainant to file a second complaint would not be inhibited even by such considerations. But at any rate the majority view is that the second complaint would be maintainable if the dismissal of the first complaint was not on merits.

(emphasis supplied)

12.2. In Ranvir Singh v. State of Haryana, the issue was set out in para 23 of the decision and the discussion that followed thereafter was as under : (SCC p. 647, paras 23-26)

“23. In the instant case, the question is narrowed down further as to whether such a second complaint would be maintainable when the earlier one had not been dismissed on merits, but for the failure of the complainant to put in the process fees for effecting service.

24. The answer has been provided firstly in Pramatha Nath Talukdar case, wherein this Court had held that even if a complaint was dismissed under Section 203 CrPC, a second complaint would still lie under exceptional circumstances, indicated hereinbefore. The said view has been consistently upheld in subsequent decisions of this Court. Of course, the question of making a prayer for recalling the order of dismissal would not be maintainable before the learned Magistrate in view of Section 362 CrPC, but such is not the case in these special leave petitions.

25. In the present cases, neither have the complaints been dismissed on merit nor have they been dismissed at the stage of Section 203 CrPC. On the other hand, only on being satisfied of a prima facie case, the learned Magistrate had issued process on the complaint.

26. The said situation is mainly covered by the decision of this Court in Jatinder Singh case, wherein the decision in Pramatha Nath Talukdar case was also taken into consideration and it was categorically observed that in the absence of any provision in the Code barring a second complaint being filed on the same allegation, there would be no bar to a second complaint being filed on the same facts if the first complaint did not result in the conviction or acquittal or even discharge of the accused, and if the dismissal was not on merit but on account of a default on the part of the complainant."

(Underline supplied)

12.3. In Poonam Chand Jain v. Fazru the issue whether after the dismissal of the earlier complaint had attained finality, could a second complaint be maintained on identical facts was considered as under : (SCC pp. 634-36, paras 14-20)

14. In the background of these facts, the question which crops up for determination by this Court is whether after an order of dismissal of complaint attained finality, the complainant can file another complaint on almost identical facts without disclosing in the second complaint the fact of either filing of the first complaint or its dismissal.

15. Almost similar questions came up for consideration before this Court in Pramatha Nath Talukdar v. Saroj Ranjan Sarkar. The majority judgment in Pramatha Nath was delivered by Kapur, J. His Lordship held that an order of dismissal under Section 203 of the Criminal Procedure Code (for short "the Code") is, however, no bar to the entertainment of a second complaint on the same facts but it can be entertained only in exceptional circumstances. This Court explained the exceptional circumstances as:

- (a) where the previous order was passed on incomplete record, or
- (b) on a misunderstanding of the nature of the complaint, or
- (c) the order which was passed was manifestly absurd, unjust or foolish, or
- (d) where new facts which could not, with reasonable diligence, have been brought on the record in the previous proceedings.

16. This Court in Pramatha Nath made it very clear that interest of justice cannot permit that after a decision has been given on a complaint upon full consideration of the case, the complainant should be given another opportunity to have the complaint enquired into again. In para 50 of the judgment the majority judgment of this Court opined that fresh evidence or fresh facts must be such which could not with reasonable diligence have been brought on record. This Court very clearly held that it cannot be settled law which permits the complainant to place some evidence before the Magistrate which are in his possession and then if the complaint is dismissed adduce some more evidence. According to this Court, such a course is not permitted on a correct view of the law. (para 50, p. 899)

17. This question again came up for consideration before this Court in Jatinder Singh v. Ranjit Kaur. There also this Court by relying on the principle in Pramatha Nath held that here is no provision in the Code or in any other statute which debar a complainant from filing a second complaint on the same allegation as in the first complaint. But this Court added when a Magistrate conducts an enquiry under Section 202 of the Code and dismisses a complaint on merits a second complaint on the same facts could not be made unless there are "exceptional circumstances". This Court held in para 12, if the dismissal of the first complaint is not on merit but the dismissal is for the default of the complainant then there is no bar in filing a second complaint on the same facts.

However, if the dismissal of the complaint under Section 203 of the Code was on merit the position will be different.

19. Again in Mahesh Chand v. B. Janardhan Reddy, a three-Judge Bench of this Court considered this question in para 19 at p. 740 of the Report. The learned Judges of this Court held that a second complaint is not completely barred nor is there any statutory bar in filing a second complaint on the same facts in a case where a previous complaint was dismissed without assigning any reason. The Magistrate under Section 204 of the Code can take cognizance of an offence and issue process if there is sufficient ground for proceeding. In Mahesh Chand this Court relied on the ratio in Pramatha and held if the first complaint had been dismissed the second complaint can be entertained only in exceptional circumstances and thereafter the exceptional circumstances pointed out in Pramatha were reiterated. Therefore, this Court holds that the ratio in Pramatha Nath is still holding the field. The same principle has been reiterated once again by this Court in Hira Lal v. State of U.P. In para 14 of the judgment this Court expressly quoted the ratio in Mahesh Chand discussed hereinabove.

20. Following the aforesaid principles which are more or less settled and are holding the field since 1962 and have been repeatedly followed by this Court, we are of the view that the second complaint in this case was on almost identical facts which was raised in the first complaint and which was dismissed on merits. So the second complaint is not maintainable. This Court finds that the core of both the complaints is the same. Nothing has been disclosed in the second complaint which is substantially new and not disclosed in first complaint. No case is made out that even after the exercise of due diligence the facts alleged in the second complaint were not within the knowledge of the first complainant. In fact, such a case could not be made out since the facts in both the complaints are almost identical. Therefore, the second complaint is not covered within exceptional circumstances explained in Pramatha Nath. In that view of the matter the second complaint in the facts of this case, cannot be entertained."

12.4.....

12.5. In Ravinder Singh v. Sukhbir the matter was considered from the standpoint whether a frustrated litigant be permitted to give vent to his frustration and whether a person be permitted to unleash vendetta to harass any person needlessly. The discussion was as under : (SCC pp. 258-60, paras 26-27 & 33)

"26. While considering the issue at hand in Shivshankar Singh v. State of Bihar this Court, after considering its earlier judgments in Pramatha Nath Talukdar v. Saroj Ranjan Sarkar, Jatinder Singh v. Ranjit Kaur, Mahesh Chand v. B. Janardhan Reddy and Poonam Chand Jain v. Fazru held : (Shivshankar Singh case, SCC p. 136, para 18)

"18. ... it is evident that the law does not prohibit filing or entertaining of the second complaint even on the same facts provided the earlier complaint has been decided on the basis of insufficient material or the order has been passed without understanding the nature of the complaint or the complete facts could not be placed before the court or where the complainant came to know certain facts after disposal of the first complaint which could have tilted the balance in his favour. However, second complaint would not be maintainable wherein the earlier complaint has been disposed of on full consideration of the case of the complainant on merit."

27. In Chandrapal Singh v. Maharaj Singh this Court has held that it is equally true that chagrined and frustrated litigants should not be permitted to give vent to their frustration by enabling them to invoke the jurisdiction of criminal courts in a cheap manner. In such a fact situation, the court must not hesitate to quash criminal proceedings.

33. The High Court has dealt with the issue involved herein and the matter stood closed at the instance of Respondent 1 himself. Therefore, there can be no justification whatsoever to launch criminal prosecution on that basis afresh. The inherent power of the court in dealing with an extraordinary situation is in the larger interest of administration of justice and for preventing manifest injustice being done. Thus, it is a judicial obligation on the court to undo a wrong in course of administration of justice and to prevent continuation of unnecessary judicial process. It may be so necessary to curb the menace of criminal prosecution as an instrument of operation of needless harassment. A person cannot be permitted to unleash vendetta to harass any person needlessly. Ex debito justitiae is inbuilt in the inherent power of the court and the whole idea is to do real, complete and substantial justice for which the courts exist. Thus, it becomes the paramount duty of the court to protect an apparently innocent person, not to be subjected to prosecution on the basis of wholly untenable complaint."

25. After referring to the aforesaid decisions in Samta Naidu's case (supra) this Court further, held in Paragraph 13 thus:-

"13. The application of the principles laid down in Talukdar in Jatinder Singh shows that "a second complaint is permissible depending upon how the complaint happened to be dismissed at the first instance". It was further laid down that: (Jatinder Singh case, SCC p. 573, para 12)

"12. If the dismissal of the complaint was not on merit but on default of the complainant to be present there is no bar in the complainant moving the Magistrate again with a second complaint on the same facts. But if the dismissal of the complaint under Section 203 of the Code was on merits the position could be different."

"To similar effect are the conclusions in Ranvir Singh and Poonam Chand Jain. Para 16 of Poonam Chand Jain also considered the effect of para 50 of the majority judgment in Talukdar. These cases, therefore, show that if the earlier disposal of the complaint was on merits and in a manner known to law, the second complaint on "almost identical facts" which were raised in the first complaint would not be maintainable. What has been laid down is that "if the core of both the complaints is same", the second complaint ought not to be entertained."

26. It was further held in paragraph 16 of the decision in Samta Naidu's case (supra) thus:-

"16. As against the facts in Shivshankar, the present case stands on a different footing. There was no legal infirmity in the first complaint filed in the present matter. The complaint was filed more than a year after the sale of the vehicle which meant the complainant had reasonable time at his disposal. The earlier complaint was dismissed after the Judicial Magistrate found that no prima facie case was made out; the earlier complaint was not disposed of on any technical ground; the material adverted to in the second complaint was only in the nature of supporting material; and the material relied upon in the second complaint was not such which could not have been procured earlier. Pertinently, the core allegations in both the complaints were identical. In Uttar Pradesh Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Act, 2021 - ss. 3, 5(1) - Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 - u/ss. 180 and 183 - Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam, 2023 - s. 63(4)(c) - Unlawful conversion - Attempted conversion - FIR - Quashing of - Victim statement - CCTV footage - Case diary - Investigation - Mala fide intention - Prima facie case - The petitioners approached the High Court seeking quashing of F.I.R. dated 22.01.2026 registered at Police Station Bilari, District Moradabad, u/ss. 3 and 5(1) of Uttar Pradesh Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Act, 2021 - The F.I.R. was lodged by brother of victim alleging that the victim, a Class XII student, was being compelled by accused persons to wear a veil (burqa) and to adopt Islam by exerting influence and inducement - The petitioners contended that the allegations were vague, omnibus and based on suspicion, without disclosing any specific date, time or place of alleged acts - It was further argued that the F.I.R. was lodged with mala fide intention and for purpose of harassment - During investigation, the statements of victim were examined by Court -The victim stated that the accused persons had compelled her to wear a veil and attempted to persuade her to adopt Islam - The State/respondents argued that it is a clear case for alleged offence and requires investigation by police.

Held: The Court notice from the Case Diary that the victim was caught on a Closed-Circuit Television (CCTV) camera, located in an alley, where, she was forced to wear the veil (burqa) by the petitioner and the other co-accused, including petitioner who has withdrawn her writ petition - The CCTV camera was installed on the premises of one Rajeev son of Mahipal - He had taken the data from the recorder into his mobile phone and handed over the device to Police, along with a certificate dated 24.01.2026, u/s. 63(4)(c) of BSA, 2023, as the person In-charge of device, where the video was recorded - There are lots of material in the Case Diary, where the investigation still appears to be under progress - The details regarding the prosecution that appear and the materials collected during investigation prima facie disclose a case that requires to be thoroughly investigated - The submissions advanced by learned Counsel for petitioners that it is a mala fide FIR, is absolutely not borne out by the record - There is no FIR earlier lodged that it was the third respondent who was stalking or harassing petitioner or had proposed to her - Quite apart, the stand of victim before the learned Judicial Magistrate cannot be trashed - It carries all the necessary facts, which would prima facie attract the provisions of ss. 3 and 5(1) of Act of 2021 - Whether the petitioners' acts constitute allurement or undue influence are questions premature to be examined in a petition to quash the FIR - Accordingly, both the petitions dismissed, interim order vacated. (Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. - 4128 of 2026)

From the First Information Report dated 22.01.2026 in Case Crime No. 21 of 2026, Police Station Bilari, District Moradabad.

Appearances for Parties

Adv. for the Petitioner(s):

Shiv Shankar Mishra

Advs. for the Respondent(s):

Chandra Vijai Singh, Shashi Shekhar Tiwari

(Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. This judgment will dispose of the motion to admit the present Criminal Misc. Writ Petition and the connected Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. 4128 of 2026 to hearing, both of which arise out of a common First Information Report giving rise to crimes, that are being investigated together.

2. This writ petition was initially instituted by two petitioners, to wit, Aleena alias Aleena Parveen and Shabiya, seeking to quash the First Information Report¹ dated 22.01.2026, giving rise to Case Crime No. 21 of 2006, under Sections 3 and 5(1) of The Uttar Pradesh Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Act, 2012, Police Station Bilari, District Moradabad. The connected writ petition, being Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. 4128 of 2026, also impugns the same FIR.

3. When this petition came up first before a Division Bench of this Court comprising Hon'ble Rajiv Gupta and Hon'ble Achal Sachdev, JJ., the first petitioner, Aleena alias Aleena Parveen withdrew the writ petition, whereas, the second petitioner, Shabiya pressed it. Their Lordships, vide order dated 12.02.2026, while dismissing this writ petition at the instance of Aleena alias Aleena Parveen as withdrawn, issued notice pending admission to the respondents and granted stay of arrest to the second petitioner, Shabiya. The connected writ petition came up before us on 30.03.2026. It was connected to the leading petition, albeit with an incorrect number, later on corrected, wherein, no interim order was passed. Both the petitions have now come up for admission.

4. Heard Mr. Shiv Shanker Mishra, learned Counsel for the petitioner in support of the motion to admit this petition to hearing, Mr. Chandra Vijai Singh, learned Counsel appearing for respondent no. 3 and Mr. Shashi Shekhar Tiwari, learned Additional Government Advocate appearing on behalf of the State. Mr. Tiwari has placed the Case Diary before us, but not filed any counter affidavit.

5. Mr. Ashutosh Upadhyay, Advocate, has been heard in support of the connected writ petition, where, Mr. Chandra Vijai Singh, Advocate has appeared on behalf of respondent no. 3, whereas Mr. Shashi Shekhar Tiwari has been heard on behalf of the State. Here too, the Case Diary has been carefully perused.

6. According to FIR, lodged by respondent no. 3, who is the brother of the victim, it is said that his sister is a student of Class XII, who goes to take tuitions to the Shahukunj Colony, Moradabad. At the tuition classes, other girls also read along with the victim. These girls are Muslims, and they, by alluring his sister, compel her to wear a veil (burqa). They also compel her to accept their religion, that is to say, Islam. Amongst these girls, one is Aleena alias Aleena Parveen, a resident of Village Rustamnagar, Sahaspur, Bilari, Moradabad, besides four other students, whose names are Malishka, Shabiya, Riyasha and Jauhara. The informant says, in the closing lines, that he suspects some deep conspiracy behind this activity, which should be thoroughly investigated. The said FIR was registered on 22.01.2026 at 11:30 ante meridiem at Police Station Bilari, Moradabad, under Sections 3 and 5(1) of the Act of 2021.

7. Learned Counsel for the petitioners argues that the impugned FIR carries general and omnibus allegations of conversion against the petitioners, without specifying any date, time and place of specific acts done to that end. It is urged that the impugned FIR is based on the first informant's imagination. It is for this reason that he has not mentioned details of the name and age of the accused.

8. It is urged by learned Counsel for the petitioner in the leading petition that respondent no. 3 was harassing Aleena alias Aleena Parveen and used to follow her out of college. On 17.01.2026, the said respondent stopped her and proposed. When this happened, the petitioner as well as the other students, who are co-accused, informed the third respondent's sister and also made a complaint to the Principal of the College. It is for this reason that the third respondent has lodged the impugned FIR with a concocted story, that has not a grain of truth to it. It has been lodged for the sole purpose of wreaking vengeance. Learned Counsel for the petitioner also points out that the petitioner is a young girl, aged just 18 years and a student of Class XII. She had to write her Class XII examinations, that would commence on 18.01.2026. She is unable to concentrate on her studies on account of the mammoth distraction, which this FIR brings in the form of severe psychological disturbance. It is particularly emphasised that there has been no conversion or attempted conversion of the victim to Islam, and the impugned FIR has been lodged mala fide.

9. Mr. Ashutosh Upadhyay, learned Counsel for the petitioner in the connected matter has pressed his motion on similar grounds and added that pending admission, co-accused Shabiya has been granted interim stay of arrest. He further argues that the thrust of the allegations are against co-accused Aleena alias Aleena Parveen, who has not pressed the petition, and not against the petitioner in this matter or the others. He has drawn our attention to the statement of the victim, Kumari Mahima, recorded under Section 180 of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 to submit that she has said that she is friends with Aleena, and the others, that is to say, the petitioner here, besides the three others, are Aleena's friends. Learned Counsel for the petitioner has endeavoured to impress that whatever was the act, that led to the crime being registered, is referable to Aleena alone, and not the petitioner here.

10. Mr. Chandra Vijai Singh, learned Counsel for respondent no. 3 in both the petitions and Mr. Shashi Shekhar Tiwari, learned Additional Government Advocate appearing for the State-respondents have opposed the motion to admit the writ petitions to hearing. They submit that a clear case for the offence charged is disclosed, which requires thorough investigation by the Police.

11. Since the FIR giving rise to the present crime alleges an attempted unlawful conversion of the victim, Kumari Mahima, in violation of the provision of Sections 3 and 5(1) of the Act of 2021, with a very brief description of the occurrence, we summoned the Case Diary and perused the same.

12. The statement of the victim recorded by the Police under Section 180 BNSS, and that before the learned Judicial Magistrate under Section 183 BNSS have been perused by us. We think that the victim's statement under Sections 180 and 183 BNSS are essential in order to decide whether a case worth admitting the writ petitions and granting interim stay of arrest pending hearing of the writ petitions or quashing the FIR is made out. The victim, in her statement under Section 180 BNSS, says that she is a student of Class XII. The incident is one dated 20.12.2025, when she, along with her five friends - all Muslims, went to attend their coaching classes at Shahukunj Colony, located in Town Bilai, Moradabad. On the fateful day, they had finished attending classes at one coaching center, and the other had a holiday. Her friends invited the victim over to some snacks in a hotel. Aleena, according to the victim, had brought along a veil (burqa). Aleena asked the victim to wear the burqa, which she declined. Thereupon, all the accused forced it down her neck. Then, they said that somebody was approaching and pushed her behind a tree. They then made her wear the burqa all the way. All the accused took her along for a meal/refreshment. It is also stated by the victim, in the statement under Section 180 BNSS, that all these friends of hers bring along non-vegetarian food and allure her to eat it. When she refuses to partake of it, they tell her to eat the gravy. It is next said that Aleena asks her to adopt Islam as her faith. The victim has said that Aleena was her friend, and the other co-accused were friends of Aleena. Their names were Zehra, Rimsha, Shabiya and Malishka. The victim, in her statement under Section 183 BNSS before the learned Judicial Magistrate, has substantially said that on 20.12.2025, there was a holiday for their coaching institute. Her friend Aleena, along with her friends, whom Aleena wanted to be the victim's friends as well, made her wear a veil (burqa). All of them then proceeded to a certain Anand Restaurant and ate Spring Roll, Chowmein, besides partaking of Pepsi Cola. The five girls had earlier also told her that their religion was good. The victim stated that she did not at all tell her mother and father about it, because Aleena had forbidden her from doing so. The victim said that Aleena was apparently trying to brainwash her. She said that she had lost her faculty to think. The victim has candidly said that they never asked her to recite the kalma or fast. Aleena would plan, together with the other four co-accused, and they would make the victim say that their religion was good. They would tell her that Quran can be read in forty days. They would also tell her that there was freedom in their religion. After wearing the veil (burqa), they could go anywhere. It is then said in the statement that the victim told them that she too had complete freedom at home, except indulging in any wrongdoing.

13. On 20.12.2025, Aleena went along with the victim and brought a veil (naqab) and a stole. She had no money to pay for it, and therefore, asked the victim to pay, which she did, for friendship's sake. She asked the victim to place the veil in her own bag, which she would take back from the victim the following day. They took the veil from the victim, together with the stole and tied it to her face. The victim protested, but they would not listen. After making her wear the veil, they took her to restaurant. The victim has said that she wants action to be taken against the accused for attempting to convert her.

14. We notice from the Case Diary that the victim was caught on a Closed-Circuit Television (CCTV) camera, located in an alley, where, she was forced to wear the veil (burqa) by the petitioner and the other co-accused, including Aleena, who has withdrawn her writ petition. The CCTV camera was installed on the premises of one Rajeev son of Mahipal. He had taken the data from the recorder into his mobile phone and handed over the device to the Police, along with a certificate dated 24.01.2026, under Sections 63(4)(c) of the Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam, 2023, as the person In-charge of the device, where the video was recorded. There are lots of material in the Case Diary, where the investigation still appears to be under progress. The details regarding the prosecution that appear and the materials collected during investigation prima facie disclose a case that requires to be thoroughly investigated. The submissions advanced by learned Counsel for the petitioners that it is a mala fide FIR, is absolutely not borne out by the record. There is no FIR earlier lodged that it was the third respondent who was stalking or harassing Aleena or had proposed to her. Quite apart, the stand of the victim before the learned Judicial Magistrate cannot be trashed. It carries all the necessary facts, which would prima facie attract the provisions of Section 3 and 5(1) of the Act of 2021.

15. We must be alive to the situation that the Act of 2021 was enacted to curtail an emergent situation in society, where, certain persons go about not professing or propagating their religion, but thrusting it upon others in the belief which somehow makes it to their mind the religion they believe in must be followed by others. If this kind of a trend comes to be seen amongst young people, it is all the more disturbing. This is time in their lives when they should be thinking more towards developing their skills in different fields of education and dedicate themselves in the service of the society and the nation. The Act of 2021 was brought to curtail this emergent mischief, which is heard from different quarters in the country these days, and, of which, we must take judicial notice. A statute, that is enacted to curtail an emergent mischief, if stopped in its tracks at the very early stages of its enforcement, would bog down the statute and frustrate its purpose. This does not mean that false implications under a new statute are to be encouraged, but, at the same time, the purpose, for which the statute has been enacted, cannot be subverted by snuffing out prosecutions brought on tangible materials at the threshold.

16. A look at Section 3 of the Act of 2021 shows that there could be multiple grounds, on the foot of which, conversion from one religion to another by others becomes a crime. Amongst them, figures undue influence and allurement. Allurement has been defined under Section 2(a) of the Act of 2021, under its three sub-clauses in the widest terms. Whether the petitioners' acts constitute allurement or undue influence are questions premature to be examined in a petition to quash the FIR. As investigation proceeds and material surfaces, it would have to be seen in the first instance by the investigator, and if one or more of the accused are charge-sheeted, by the Court, whether a case is ultimately established.

17. In the totality of circumstances, we do not find it to be a fit case where we ought interdict investigation and quash the impugned FIR.

18. In the result, both the petitions fail and are dismissed.

19. The interim order dated 12.02.2026 passed in the present petition is vacated.

20. The Registrar (Compliance) is directed to communicate this order to the Principal Secretary (Home), Government of Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow through the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Lucknow. Let this order be also communicated to the Senior Superintendent of Police, Moradabad and the Station House Officer, Police Station Bilari, Moradabad, both through the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Moradabad.

Jail Appeal No. 188 of 2021

Baba Vishwakarma
State of U.P.

...Appellant
Versus
...Respondent

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether the prosecution was able to establish guilt of the appellant for the offence under S.304 IPC beyond reasonable doubt on the basis of testimony of PW-1 and medical evidence and whether the sentence of life imprisonment awarded under S.304 (Part-I) IPC required modification in view of the fact that no minimum sentence has been provided for the offence and having regard to the reformatory theory of punishment and doctrine of proportionality. (Paras 20, 22, 24, 32-34)

Headnotes

Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S.304 - PW-1 is the mother of the deceased and an eye witness of the occurrence - the incident occurred at about 8:00 p.m. in the night, when only PW-1, her daughter (deceased) and the accused were present - PW-1 is the only possible eye witness - there are no material contradictions in her testimony which go to the root of the prosecution case and if some differences appear, they are minor in nature and same are bound to occur in criminal cases - even if there is only one eyewitness, conviction can be based on such testimony provided it is trustworthy and reliable - incident took place on the date, time and place mentioned in the FIR - deceased died due to the injuries caused by the appellant and this fact finds support from medical evidence - prosecution was able to establish guilt of appellant for the aforesaid offence beyond reasonable doubt. (Para 22)

Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S.304 - Allegation regarding the character of PW-1 - accused-appellant has not produced any evidence in support of this contention - argument remains unproved - even if the allegation regarding the character of PW-1 is accepted, it would in no way affect the merits of the case. (Para 21)

Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S.304 - Punishment for culpable homicide not amounting to murder - S.304 IPC does not prescribe any minimum punishment - discretion lies with the Court to award a sentence proportionate to the circumstances of the case - sentencing is not rigid but responsive to the gravity of the offence, the intention behind it, and the mitigating or aggravating factors present - philosophy behind it is to distinguish the acts committed with intention to cause death and those committed without such intention, thereby tailoring punishment to culpability. (Para 24)

Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S.304 (Part-I) - Quantum of sentence - reformatory theory of punishment - principle of proportionality - appropriate sentence should be awarded after giving due consideration to the facts and circumstances of each case, nature of the offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed - punishment should be proportionate to the gravity of the offence - sentence awarded by learned trial court for life term is very harsh keeping in view the entirety of facts and circumstances of the case and gravity of offence - appellant is in jail for the last more than twelve years - sentence of life imprisonment converted into sentence already undergone. (Paras 29, 30, 32-34)

Held: So far as the allegation regarding the character of PW-1 is concerned, the accused-appellant has not produced any evidence in support of this contention and therefore this argument remains unproved - Even if the allegation regarding the character of PW-1 is accepted, it would in no way affect the merits of the case - On careful scrutiny of the testimony of PW-1, there are no material contradictions in her testimony which go to the root of the prosecution case and if some differences appear, they are minor in nature and same are bound to occur in criminal cases - Even if there is only one eyewitness, conviction can be based on such testimony provided it is trustworthy and reliable - Incident took place on the date, time and place mentioned in the FIR - Deceased died due to the injuries caused by the appellant and this fact finds support from medical evidence - Prosecution was able to establish guilt of appellant for the aforesaid offence beyond reasonable doubt - Findings recorded by trial court against the appellant in the impugned judgment and order are based on correct appreciation of fact and evidence and same do not warrant interference by this Court - S.304 IPC does not prescribe any minimum punishment - The discretion lies with the Court to award a sentence proportionate to the circumstances of the case - Appropriate sentence should be awarded after giving due consideration to the facts and circumstances of each case, nature of the offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed - The measure of punishment should be proportionate to the gravity of the offence - The paramount principle that should be the guiding laser beam is that the punishment should be proportionate to the gravity of the offence - Sentence awarded by learned trial court for life term is very harsh keeping in view the entirety of facts and circumstances of the case and gravity of offence - Undue harshness should be avoided taking into account the reformatory approach underlying in criminal justice system - No accused person is incapable of being reformed and, therefore, all measures should be applied in order to bring them in the social stream - Keeping in view the reformatory theory of punishment and principle of proportionality, the sentence of life imprisonment awarded under S.304 (Part-I) IPC by learned trial Court to the appellant is too harsh and severe - The appellant is in jail for the last more than twelve years - Since the appellant has already served-out more than twelve years jail sentence, the sentence of life imprisonment under S.304 (Part-I) IPC is converted into the sentence already undergone, which would meet the ends of justice, subject to deposit of the fine amount imposed by the trial court - appeal partially allowed. 2. Heard Shri Vinod Kumar Ojha and Shri Vinay Kumar Dwivedi, learned counsel for the appellant and Shri Amit Sinha, learned AGA for the State.

3. Facts of case, in nutshell, as unfolded by the informant Smt. Malti Devi in First Information Report (in short 'FIR'), are that she was married to Baba Vishwakarma, son of Hiralal, resident of Jasra Bazar, six months ago. Her first marriage was solemnized with Ramanand Vishwakarma resident of village Badur, who died about two years ago. A daughter, named Kajal, was born from their wedlock and she was one and half years of age and was residing with her. On 12.12.2013, at 8:00 PM, her husband, Baba Vishwakarma in anger picked up Kajal and threw her on the ground and struck her with an iron rod. She was subsequently taken to hospital for treatment, where the doctors referred her to Allahabad, however, she expired on the way.

4. On the basis of written report (Ext. ka-1), chik FIR (Ext. Ka-3) was registered at Police Station concerned on 13.12.2013 at 8.15 a.m. against accused appellant for the offence under Section 304 IPC mentioning all details as had been described in Ext. Ka-1. G.D. entry Ext. Ka-4 was also made at the same time.

5. Investigation started in the matter. The Investigating Officer recorded statement of witnesses, inspected place of occurrence and prepared inquest report (Ext. ka-4) and site plan (Ext. ka-5). He also prepared other police papers, namely, photo lash (Ext. ka-10), sample seal (Ext. ka-11), letter to CMO (Ext. ka-6), letter to RI (Ext. ka-7), letter to CMO (Ext. ka-8), police paper no. 13 (Ext. ka-9). After conducting post mortem on the dead body of deceased, autopsy report (Ext. ka 13) was prepared.

- "(i) Abrasion 1 x 2 cm right side face.*
- (ii) Abrasion 1 x 2 cm left side face.*
- (iii) Abrasion 1 cm on chin.*
- (iv) Contusion swelling 4 x 3 cm on right side forehead.*
- (v) Contusion swelling 3 x 4 cm on right temporal area.*
- (vi) Contusion swelling left elbow joints and elbow joints fracture."*

7. In the opinion of doctor, cause of death was due to coma as a result of ante mortem injuries to brain.

8. After completion of investigation, the Investigating Officer submitted charge-sheet (Ext. ka-12) for the offence under Section 304 IPC against appellant. Cognizance was taken on the charge-sheet. The matter, being exclusively triable by the Sessions Court, was committed to the Court of Sessions for trial. Accused appellant appeared and charge under Section 304 IPC was framed against him to which he pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

9. Trial proceeded and on behalf of prosecution five witnesses, namely, PW-1 Malti Devi (informant-mother of deceased), PW-2 Sajan, PW-3 Raj Karan, PW-4 H.C. Ashok Kumar Rai, and PW-5 Dr. Lalji Gautam, who conducted post mortem on the dead body of deceased, were examined.

11. The incriminating evidence and circumstances were put to the accused in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. wherein he claimed the entire prosecution evidence as false and fabricated and stated that the case has been lodged due to enmity. He further stated that Malti had married him as her second husband, and after the incident, she entered into a third marriage. She had claimed that her first husband had expired, whereas he was alive and she married third time without obtaining a divorce and has falsely implicated the appellant. The accused appellant did not adduce any documentary or oral evidence in his defence.

12. P.W.1 Smt. Malti Devi - informant is the mother of the deceased. She is an eye witness of the occurrence. She has supported the prosecution story as narrated above. In her statement she has elaborately explained the occurrence. She has further stated that she was married to Baba Vishwakarma six months ago. Her first marriage was solemnized with Ramanand Vishwakarma resident of village Badur. A daughter, named Kajal, was born from their wedlock and she was one and half years old and was residing with them i.e. informant and her husband Baba Vishwakarma at Jasra Bazar. On 12.12.2013, at 8:00 PM, her husband, Baba Vishwakarma in anger picked up Kajal and threw her on the ground and struck her with an iron rod as a result, Kajal sustained head injuries and lost teeth. She was subsequently taken to Jasra Hospital for treatment where the doctors referred her to Allahabad, however, upon arrival at the hospital, doctors declared her dead.

13. PW-2 and PW-3 Sajan and Raj Karan are the witnesses of inquest. They have proved the inquest proceeding.

14. PW-4 H.C. Ashok Kumar Rai, stated that he was head moharrir at the police station Ghurpur. He proved chik FIR, entry GD entry. He also appeared as a secondary witness for Mewaram Bharti, Investigating Officer, who expired. He stated that Mewaram Bharti was posted with him at the police station concerned and he recognizes his writing and signature. He proved the papers prepared by the I.O. during investigation.

15. PW-5 Dr. Lalji Gautam is the Medical Officer, Mortuary, Allahabad, who performed the autopsy of the dead body of the deceased on 13.12.2013 at about 4.00 p.m. He proved the autopsy report as Ext. ka-13.

16. The learned trial court upon scrutiny of the evidence on record concluded that the case of prosecution was proved beyond reasonable doubt against the accused appellant and recorded conviction and sentence against him, as mentioned here-in-above.

17. Assailing the impugned judgment on various grounds, learned counsel appearing for the appellant submitted that the prosecution has not proved its case beyond reasonable doubt. It has been submitted that the impugned judgement and order is not sustainable under law. The entire prosecution case rests solely on the testimony of Malti Devi (PW-1) but her conduct shows that she entered into multiple marriages and was a woman of questionable character. She married the accused-appellant without obtaining divorce from her first husband, Ramanand, and falsely had given out that he had died. Furthermore, PW-1, in her examination-in-chief, denied having contracted a third marriage, but in her cross-examination she admitted that she had in fact married again and regularly visited the Court with her third husband. It has been further submitted that she herself done to death the deceased. There are major contradictions in the statement of PW-1, the informant which shake the root of the prosecution case. The conclusion arrived at by the trial court is not based on credible evidence. The findings recorded by trial court in the impugned judgment and order are also not based on correct appreciation of evidence and the impugned judgment and order suffers from infirmity and illegality warranting interference by this Court. It has been lastly submitted that the trial court has imposed sentence upon the accused appellant for the offence under Section 304 IPC for life imprisonment. The conviction under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC does not mandate a minimum sentence and therefore the punishment of life imprisonment imposed by the trial court is excessive in the facts of the present case. The incident occurred suddenly and in the heat of passion without premeditation. Neither the accused appellant is habitual offender nor has he been convicted in any other case. Thus, the sentence awarded to the accused appellant by the trial court vide impugned judgment and order be modified and accused appellant be released in this matter on the basis of imprisonment already undergone.

18. Per contra, learned A.G.A. has vehemently opposed the submissions made by the learned counsel appearing for the appellant. He submitted that P.W.1 Smt. Malti Devi, mother of the deceased, is the eye witness of the incident and she had no reason to depose falsely before the court intending false implication of the appellant. The prosecution case is also corroborated by the medical evidence. The prosecution story is proved by cogent and reliable oral and documentary evidence. Findings recorded by trial court in the impugned judgment and order are based on correct appreciation of facts and evidence and do not suffer from any infirmity or illegality warranting interference by this Court. Looking to the gravity and seriousness of the offence and also the manner in which it was committed, no lenient view in regard to sentence imposed by the trial court is warranted in the matter. Hence, the appeal is liable to be dismissed.

19. We have considered rival submissions made by learned counsel for parties and have gone through entire record carefully.

20. In the instant case, we find that the learned counsel for the appellant has made mainly two contentions i.e. PW-1, informant is a lady of bad character, and secondly, there are major contradictions in her testimony recorded before the trial Court.

21. So far as the allegation regarding the character of PW-1 is concerned, it is evident that the accused-appellant has not produced any evidence in support of this contention. Therefore, this argument remains unproved. Even if the allegation regarding the character of PW-1 is accepted, it would in no way affect the merits of the case.

22. With regard to the contradictions in the testimony of PW-1, it is important to note that the incident occurred at about 8:00 p.m. in the night, when only PW-1, her daughter (deceased) and the accused were present. In such circumstances, PW-1 is the only possible eye witness. On careful scrutiny of her testimony, we find that there are no material contradictions in her testimony which go to the root of the prosecution case and if some differences appear, they are minor in nature and same are bound to occur in criminal cases. It is a well-settled proposition of law that even if there is only one eyewitness, conviction can be based on such testimony provided it is trustworthy and reliable. Hence, after close scrutiny of entire evidence, we are of the opinion that incident took place on the date, time and place mentioned in the FIR, deceased died due to the injuries caused by the appellant and this fact finds support from medical evidence. Thus, on the point of conviction of the appellant for the offence under Section 304 IPC, we are of the opinion that prosecution was able to establish guilt of appellant for the aforesaid offence beyond reasonable doubt. Findings recorded by trial court against the appellant in the impugned judgment and order are based on correct appreciation of fact and evidence and same do not warrant interference by this Court.

23. Before proceeding to deal with the submission regarding sentence imposed upon the appellant by the trial court, it is necessary to quote the provisions of Section 304 IPC, which are as under:

"Section 304. Punishment for culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Whoever commits culpable homicide not amounting to murder shall be punished with imprisonment for life, or imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to ten years, and shall also be liable to fine, if the act by which the death is caused is done with the intention of causing death, or of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death; or with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to ten years, or with fine, or with both, if the act is done with the knowledge that it is likely to cause death, but without any intention to cause death, or to cause such bodily injury as is likely to cause death."

24. From a perusal of the above-quoted provisions, it is explicitly clear that Section 304 IPC does not prescribe any minimum punishment. The discretion lies with the Court to award a sentence proportionate to the circumstances of the case. This flexibility ensures that sentencing is not rigid but responsive to the gravity of the offence, the intention behind it, and the mitigating or aggravating factors present. The philosophy behind it is to distinguish the acts committed with intention to cause death and those committed without such intention, thereby tailoring punishment to culpability.

25. Learned counsel for the appellant, in the course of his argument, has further requested that the sentence recorded by the learned trial court is too severe and harsh and submits that the convict / appellant had no intention to do away with the deceased and in a spur of moment, the occurrence happened. He was a young man at the time of incident and has already spent more than twelve years of incarceration and must be a repenting man.

26. Now it takes us to the quantum of sentence, specifically under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC, where life imprisonment has been awarded by learned trial court. For awarding the sentence, we have to keep in mind the theories of punishment in our country.

27. Discouraging the retributive theory, reformatory theory of sentence has been impressed upon by the Hon'ble Apex Court in Mohd. Giasuddin Vs. State of AP, AIR 1977 SC 1926. It has been observed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court :

"Crime is a pathological aberration. The criminal can ordinarily be redeemed and the state has to rehabilitate rather than avenge. The sub-culture that leads to ante-social behaviour has to be countered not by undue cruelty but by reculturization. Therefore, the focus of interest in penology in the individual and the goal is salvaging him for the society. The infliction of harsh and savage punishment is thus a relic of past and regressive times. The human today vies sentencing as a process of reshaping a person who has deteriorated into criminality and the modern community has a primary stake in the rehabilitation of the offender as a means of a social defence. Hence a therapeutic, rather than an 'in terrorem' outlook should prevail in our criminal courts, since brutal incarceration of the person merely produces laceration of his mind. If you are to punish a man retributively, you must injure him. If you are to reform him, you must improve him and, men are not improved by injuries."

28. On the other hand, in Deo Narain Mandal Vs. State of UP, (2004) 7 SCC 257, it was observed that while determining the quantum of sentence, the Court should bear in mind the 'principle of proportionality'.

29. If we translate the legal theories rendered by the Hon'ble Apex Court in various judgments, such as, Ravada Sasikala vs. State of A.P., AIR 2017 SC 1166, Jameel vs State of UP, (2010) 12 SCC 532, Guru Basavraj vs. State of Karnatak, (2012) 8 SCC 734, Sumer Singh vs. Surajbhan Singh and others, (2014) 7 SCC 323, State of Punjab vs. Bawa Singh, (2015) 3 SCC 441, Raj Bala vs. State of Haryana, (2016) 1 SCC 463, Sham Sunder vs. Puran (1990) 4 SCC 731, M.P. vs. Saleem, (2005) 5 SCC 554 and Ravji vs. State of Rajasthan, (1996) 2 SCC 175, the settled legal position, which emerges out before us, is that appropriate sentence should be awarded after giving due consideration to the facts and circumstances of each case, nature of the offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. It is the obligation of the Court to constantly remind itself that the right of the victim, and be it said, on certain occasions the person aggrieved as well as the society at large, should never be marginalised. The measure of punishment should be proportionate to the gravity of the offence. Object of sentencing should be to protect society and to deter the criminal in achieving the avowed object of law. Further, it is expected that the Courts would operate the sentencing system, so as to impose such sentence which reflects the conscience of the society. However, the sentencing process has to be stern where it should be. The Court will be failing in its duty, if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against the individual victim but also against the society to which the criminal and victim belong. The punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant, but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality in which the crime has been perpetrated, the enormity of the crime warranting public abhorrence and it should 'respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal'.

30. In view of the above propositions of law, the paramount principle that should be the guiding laser beam is that the punishment should be proportionate to the gravity of the offence.

31. The Apex Court in the case of G. V. Siddaramesh Versus of State of Karnataka, 2010 (87) AIC 43 (SC), where appeal was filed by convict husband in a dowry death case, while deciding the appeal of the appellant, modified the sentence. Paragraph 31 of the said judgment is reproduced below:

"31. In conclusion, we are satisfied that in the facts and circumstances of the case, the appellant was rightly convicted under Section 304-B I. P. C. However, his sentence of life imprisonment imposed by the Courts below appears to us to be excessive. The appellant is a young man and has already undergone 6 years of imprisonment after being convicted by the Additional Sessions Judge and the High Court. We are of the view, in the facts and circumstances of the case, that a sentence of 10 years' rigorous imprisonment would meet the ends of justice. We accordingly, while confirming the conviction of the appellant under Section 304-B, I. P. C., reduce the sentence of imprisonment for life to 10 years' rigorous imprisonment. The other conviction and sentence passed against the appellant are confirmed."

32. Applying the principles laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the aforesaid judgements and having regard to the totality of the facts and circumstances of the case, particularly, the fact that no minimum sentence has been provided for the offence under Section 304 IPC, it appears to us from a perusal of the impugned judgment that sentence awarded by learned trial court for life term is very harsh keeping in view the entirety of facts and circumstances of the case and gravity of offence. Hon'ble Apex Court, as discussed above, has held that undue harshness should be avoided taking into account the reformatory approach underlying in criminal justice system. Adopting the same reformatory approach, we consider that no accused person is incapable of being reformed and, therefore, all measures should be applied in order to bring them in the social stream.

33. Keeping in view the reformatory theory of punishment and "doctrine of proportionality", it appears to us that the sentence of life imprisonment awarded under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC by learned trial Court to the appellant is too harsh and severe. The appellant is in jail for the last more than twelve years. This fact is also admitted by the learned AGA.

34. Hence, we are of the considered view that since the appellant has already served-out more than twelve years jail sentence, the sentence of life imprisonment under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC is converted into the sentence already undergone, which would meet the ends of justice but the fine amount imposed by the trial court in the impugned judgment order shall be deposited by the appellant within two months from the date of his release and in case he fails to deposit the same, he will serve out two months sentence in default thereof.

35. The jail appeal is, accordingly, partly allowed, subject to the above observations and modification of sentence.

36. The accused-appellant be freed from jail forthwith, if not wanted in any other case.

37. Registry is directed to transmit the record to the Trial Court for necessary compliance.

Further the learned trial court finding the appellant guilty of the offences under Section 420 & 467 I.P.C. has accordingly imposed a punishment of five years rigorous imprisonment and fine of Rs. 5,000/- and in default of payment of fine one year rigorous imprisonment, and a punishment of five years rigorous imprisonment and fine of Rs. 5,000/- and in default of payment of fine one year rigorous imprisonment for the respective offences. 3. Briefly put the prosecution case set out in the FIR is that on 08.08.2015 at about 05:00 P.M. Vikram and his wife Pooja Devi came to the house of the first informant and asked her to lease out one room to them. The first informant declined to let out the room due to lack of acquaintance with the aforesaid persons. Later Ram Lal, the Muneem of Persian Rang Manufacturing claimed that Vikram worked in his company, and he stood as a guarantor for rent due from the couple. On Ram Lal's assurance the first informant leased out the room to Vikram. The couple were staying in the aforesaid room. On 09.08.2015 she found the room locked. Being a Sunday she assumed that the couple must have gone out. A foul smell was emanating from the room on 10.08.2015 at about 10:00 AM. The first informant peered through a crack in the door and saw Pooja lying dead in the room. She had a firm belief that the deceased was done to death by her husband, who had then locked the door and made good his escape.

4. Pursuant to the FIR police investigations were set into motion. Upon conclusion of the investigations a chargesheet was submitted against the appellant on 25.12.2015. Cognizance of the offence was taken by the learned trial court on 14.04.2016.

8. The F.I.R. was lodged on 10.08.2015 at 10:40 AM. Facts narrated in the F.I.R. disclose that the deceased was last seen by the first informant on 08.08.2015 at 5 pm with the accused. The first informant saw the body of the deceased on 10.08.2015 at about 10:00 A.M. The FIR was proved by PW 6 and marked as Exhibit Ka-6.

Place of occurrence:

- (a) Inquest Report
- (b) Recovery Memo
- (c) Site Plan

9. As per the prosecution case the incident occurred in the room which was leased to the deceased and her husband by the first informant. The body of the deceased was found on 10.08.2015 at about 10:00 A.M. by PW 1 in the aforesaid room. The police team arrived at the spot after receiving the tehrir from PW 1 and lodgement of FIR. The inquest proceedings commenced at the site on 10.08.2015 at about 11:40 A.M. and were concluded at 01:30 P.M. The inquest report which was drawn up by Inspector Gulafsha was proved by P.W.-2 and P.W.-3 who were witnesses to the same and marked as Exhibit Ka-3.

10. Recovery proceedings were conducted at the place of incident. A recovery memo drawn up at the site on 10.08.2015 depicted that following articles were found at the site (a) an affidavit affirming re-marriage of the deceased with the appellant, (b) Voter I.D. Card of one Dhan Kumari, wife of Jamuna, resident of P.S. Lalganj, District Mirzapur. The recovery memo proved by witnesses to the recovery i.e. P.W.-1 and P.W.-4 was marked as Exhibit Ka-2.

11. P.W. 6 prepared the site plan at the pointing out of the first informant on 10.08.2015. P.W. 6 proved the site plan which was marked as Exh Ka- 11. The site plan depicts Point C as the place where the body of the deceased was found in the room and also the main gate/door which was locked by the accused before he escaped. The site plan also depicts the gaps in the brick lattice/vent fixed outside the room.

Cause & Time of Death:

(i) PM report (ii) FSL report (iii) Medical Evidence

12. After discovery of the body, the post mortem was conducted by Dr. B.K. Maurya at 03:30 P.M. on 11.08.2015. Dr. B.K. Maurya while testifying as PW 5 proved the post-mortem report which was then marked as Exhibit Ka5. The relevant parts of the post mortem report are extracted hereunder:

A.M. Injuries-

External injuries

Middle of the face, frontal and lateral aspect is blackish charred, scattered patching area of charred burn patches present on the front of chest and breast, both upper extremities and lower extremities.

Whole of the body is decomposed and malodorous and exudation from the body, lots of maggots on whole of the body"

External Examination - Body is muscular, stout with no presence of regormertis, presence of decomposition and lots of maggots.

Eyes are charred and blackish.

Nose and Mouth was charred and blackish

Vagina was decomposed.

Scalp and hair charred

Membranes of the skull, brain and the base of the head showed Edematous (swollen due to fluid build up)

Vertabrae and spinal cord not opened.

Walls of the thorax were decomposed

pleura was swollen due to edematous

Larynx and trachea were swollen due to edematous.

Both lungs and pericardium were swollen due to edematous.

Cause of death could not be ascertained, so viscera preserved and handed over to police constable.

Time of death : 3 to 5 days."

13. P.W.-5 Dr. B.K. Maurya testified before the trial court that the body of the deceased was badly decomposed and maggot infested. The face and the auxiliary hair were burnt. Acid burns were visible on the entire body. The natural pores in the body including face, mouth, ears, anus and vagina also had acid burn marks. Due to thorough decomposition of the body, details of acid could not be ascertained.

14. P.W.-6 under cross-examination deposed that the clothes which were worn by the deceased did not bear any burn marks.

15. The post-mortem report does not depict any injuries which would go to show that the deceased had offered resistance to the assailant. The clothes worn by the deceased were intact. These findings in the post-mortem report and the testimonies of the PW 5 raises a cloud of suspicion on the prosecution case of homicidal death.

16. Paper No. 20Ka/27 dated 17.06.2016 in the record is the FSL report submitted after analysing the viscera sample. The FSL report opines that no poison was found in the viscera sample.

17. No material from any recognized authority of medical jurisprudence was cited to the Court so as to infer that the death occurred due to ante mortem injuries (as recorded in the post-mortem report), and that the same was homicidal.

18. The cumulative effect of the medical evidence in the record is that the prosecution could not establish the cause of death, and was unable to prove beyond reasonable doubt that the death was homicidal.

19. Proof of homicidal death is the pre-requisite of establishing the charge under Section 302 I.P.C.

20. The Court now proposes to examine as to whether the appellant was in any manner culpable for causing death of the deceased by appraising other evidences in the record.

Oral Evidences:

PW 1: Radha Devi- First informant

21. First informant-Radha Devi was introduced as P.W. 1. The P.W. 1 had testified that she had declined to rent out the premises to the deceased and her husband due to lack of acquaintance with the couple. P.W. 1 stated before the trial court that she later leased out the room to the couple at the assurance of Ram Lal who worked as Munim in the Persian Colour Manufacturing Company.

The said Ram Lal had stated that he would give the room rent on behalf of the couple. Thereafter, the couple entered the room on 08.08.2015.

22. Continuing her deposition P.W. 1 stated that the room was found locked on Sunday i.e. 09.08.2015, and assumed that the couple must have left on account of a holiday. On 10.08.2015 at about 10:00 AM when foul smell came from the said room, P.W. 1 peeped through a crack in the door and saw that the deceased was lying dead. She had a firm belief that the appellant had committed the murder of his wife and thereafter fled after locking the door.

23. PW 1 thereafter deposed that she called Ramlal and went with him to the police station. At her behest Ramlal reduced the Tehrir to writing at the police station, Gopiganj and the same was made over to the police station incharge. PW 1 identified her signatures and proved the tehrir which was then marked as Exh. Ka 1.

24. According to the testimony of PW 1, after receipt of tehrir the police came to the spot. At her pointing out the police party inspected the site and opened the lock of the house. The body of the deceased was taken out of the room, and various articles depicted in the recovery memo were recovered and other documentation was completed. PW 1 identified her signatures on the recovery memo which was marked as Exh. Ka 2.

25. Under cross-examination, P.W. 1 reiterated that she had given the room on rent to the couple on 08.08.2015 at the assurance of Ram Lal Munim. The couple had brought few belongings with them, and that she (P.W. 1) gave the room keys to the appellant. She did not accompany the couple to the room. P.W. 1 has also stated that she had not seen the deceased or the appellant on 09.08.2015.

PW 2 Bhagotii Shankar Maurya and PW 3 Vinay Kumar Jaiswal

26. P.W. 2 and P.W. 3 are witnesses to the inquest report. Nothing material hinges on their testimonies.

PW 4 : Ram Lal

27. Ram Lal, who had taken down the complaint in writing at the asking of the first informant entered the witness box as P.W. 4. P.W. 4 in the examination in chief stated that he helped the couple in renting the premises. Under cross examination PW 1 also stated that he had taken down tehrir in writing at the behest of Radha Devi which she had later signed and submitted before the police station.

28. During cross examination P.W. 4 stated that he had no acquaintance with the appellant and that he got him a job at the recommendation of a co worker. Under cross-examination he also denied any role in renting out of the premises to the couple. In fact, P.W. 4 has categorically testified that he did not accompany the couple to Radha Devi's house.

29. More importantly, under cross-examination, P.W. 4 has stated that the Tehreer/written report was prepared at the house of the Chairman where Radha Devi already was present. P.W. 4 stated that the appellant Vikram and his wife were working in the Persian Colour Manufacturing Company since past 2-3 days. At the say so of the Chairman, he brought Radha Devi to the Police Station.

PW 6 : Inspector Ramesh Chaubey- Investigating Officer

30. Inspector Ramesh Chaubey was the Investigating Officer who deposed before the trial court as P.W. 6. In his testimony P.W. 6 described the process of investigation. PW 6 deposed that he had gone to the house of the previous husband of the deceased, and also the ex-wife of the appellant Vikram. The first wife of the appellant informed him that the accused Vikram and the deceased had eloped together and later got married. None of the witnesses stated that the relationship between the appellant and the deceased was strained. The I.O. had also stated that only those items which were mentioned in the recovery memo were recovered from the site.

Proceedings under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

31. The proceedings under Section 313 Cr.P.C., the learned trial court virtually extracted the statements of P.W. 1, P.W. 2 and P.W. 4. The appellant was alerted to the affidavit depicting marriage of the deceased with the appellant.

32. The other incriminating circumstances pointed out to the accused in the said proceeding was the post-mortem report and other exhibits.

33. Prior to commencing with the evaluation of the evidences, the court would like to reiterate its earlier finding that the prosecution has failed to prove that the death in the instant case is homicidal.

Submissions from the Bar:

Arguments on behalf of appellant

34. Shri Dharmendra Singhal, learned Senior Counsel and learned amicus curiae for the appellant assisted by Ms. Deeksha Verma, learned counsel and amicus curiae assailing the impugned judgement of the learned trial court submits as under:

I. The prosecution has failed to establish that the cause of death of the deceased.

II. PW 1 is not a witness of last seen, inasmuch as, here was a huge time gap between the death of the deceased and the event of last seen.

III. The room in which the body of the deceased was accessible by PW 1.

IV. There were material contradictions in the testimonies of PW 1 and PW 4 on the most relevant aspects of the prosecution case. The said witnesses were not reliable.

V. The investigations were flawed, inasmuch as, the exculpatory lines of investigations were eschewed and the role of Prahlad Das was not examined.

VI. Incriminating circumstances relied upon by the prosecution were not put to the accused appellant in the proceedings under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

Arguments on behalf of State

35. Shri Paritosh Kumar Malviya, learned AGA-I submits:

I. The prosecution have proved its case beyond reasonable doubt.

II. The deceased died under unnatural circumstances.

III. PW 1 was a reliable witness, inasmuch as, she was the landlady of the couple who had last seen them together.

IV. The conduct of the appellant after the incident was incriminatory

11. Heard learned counsel for the parties.

36. The evidences led before the trial court shall be appraised in the light of fundamental aspects of the prosecution case and the sequence of events, which culminated in the impugned judgement.

A. Circumstantial Evidence

37. The prosecution case against the appellant is one of circumstantial evidence.

38. The prosecution has to prove various links in light of law laid down in Sharad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra:

“151. It is well settled that the prosecution must stand or fall on its own legs and it cannot derive any strength from the weakness of the defence. This is trite law and no decision has taken a contrary view. What some cases have held is only this: where various links in a chain are in themselves complete, then a false plea or a false defence may be called into aid only to lend assurance to the court. In other words, before using the additional link it must be proved that all the links in the chain are complete and do not suffer from any infirmity. It is not the law that where there is any infirmity or lacuna in the prosecution case, the same could be cured or supplied by a false defence or a plea which is not accepted by a court.

153. A close analysis of this decision would show that the following conditions must be fulfilled before a case against an accused can be said to be fully established:

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established.

It may be noted here that this Court indicated that the circumstances concerned "must or should" and not "may be" established. There is not only a grammatical but a legal distinction between "may be proved" and "must be or should be proved" as was held by this Court in "Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade v. State of Maharashtra [(1973) 2 SCC 793 : 1973 SCC (Cri) 1033 : 1973 CrL LJ 1783] where the observations were made: [SCC para 19, p. 807: SCC (Cri) p. 1047]

"Certainly, it is a primary principle that the accused "must" be and not merely "may" be guilty before a court can convict and the mental distance between "may be" and "must be" is long and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions."

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty,

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency,

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused.

159. It will be seen that this Court while taking into account the absence of explanation or a false explanation did hold that it will amount to be an additional link to complete the chain but these observations must be read in the light of what this Court said earlier viz. before a false explanation can be used as additional link, the following essential conditions must be satisfied:

(1) various links in the chain of evidence led by the prosecution have been satisfactorily proved,

(2) the said circumstance points to the guilt of the accused with reasonable definiteness, and

(3) the circumstance is in proximity to the time and situation."

I. FIR

39. As per the time line narrated in the F.I.R. there is no inordinate delay in lodgement of the same. However, the correctness of this time line shall be determined upon appraisal of prosecution evidence.

40. Contradictions in the manner of drawing up of tehrir as brought out in the conflicting versions given by PW 1 and PW 4 in their testimonies raises a certain doubt about the veracity of the prosecution case as regards the Tehrir which forms the basis of the FIR. Further, the date and timeline of the incident recorded in the FIR and in the prosecution evidence cannot be reconciled with the medical evidence of the highly decomposed and maggot infested body of the deceased. The doubts about the veracity of the prosecution case are heightened by the contradictions in the testimonies of P.W. 1 and P.W. 2 regarding the time and manner of letting out of the premises to the appellant and the deceased.

II. Last seen

41. The chain of incriminating circumstances and the manner in which the prosecution has attempted to prove the same, shall be discussed in the succeeding paragraphs.

42. According to the prosecution the first incriminating is that the appellant was last seen with the deceased, and PW 1 was witness to the event of last seen.

43. P.W. 1, has testified that she had last seen the appellant with the deceased on 08.08.2015 at about 5:00 PM. Further, P.W. 1 has specifically deposed that she did not see the accused and the deceased on 09.08.2015. As per the post-mortem report dated 11.08.2015, the death occurred between three to five days. Furthermore, the deep state of decomposition of the body as depicted in the testimony of P.W. 5 does not reconcile with the incident, date and timeline set out in the FIR and the testimony of P.W. 1. Considering the margin of error acknowledged in the post-mortem report, and inconsistency regarding date and timeline of the incident in the testimonies of P.W. 1 and P.W. 5, it cannot be said that the deceased was last seen by the P.W. 1 at a time close to her death.

44. The deceased being last seen by PW 1 at time stated by her also becomes questionable in view of the material contradictions between the testimonies of PW 1 and PW 4 regarding the time and manner of letting out of the premises (discussed in detail in succeeding paragraphs).

III. Contradictions between PW 1 and PW 4/ Credibility of witnesses –

45. There are material contradictions in the statements of P.W. 1 and P.W. 4 regarding the place and manner in which the written report/Tehrir was reduced to writing. PW 1 deposed that she went to the police station with PW 4 immediately after sighting the body of the deceased. As per PW 1's testimony the tehrir was reduced to writing at the police station. On the contrary PW 4 has deposed that PW 1 accompanied him to the residence of Prahlad Das where the tehrir was got written and further course of action was decided. Prahlad Das does not find a mention in the testimony of P.W. 1. The aforesaid contradictions are grave enough to discredit the prosecution case.

46. The first incriminating circumstance that the appellant was last seen with the deceased at the time of proximate to her death has not been established by the prosecution.

47. The observations of this Court will be buttressed by the holding of Supreme Court in Kaleeswaran v. State of T.N. as regards the attributes of a witness of last seen:

14. It is well settled that if there is considerable time gap between the persons seeing together and the proximate time of the crime, the circumstances of last seen together, even if proved cannot clinchingly fasten the guilt of the accused."

IV. Motive

48. Injuries on the person of the deceased clearly reflect a depravity of mind where the accused person sought to degrade the womanhood of the deceased. However, reliable prosecution evidence, actually shows the couple was living happily and there were no reports of any quarrels between them.

49. The appellant did not have any motive to commit the offence. The motive on part of appellant to commit the offence could not be established by the prosecution.

50. PW 1 and PW 4 are mutually incompatible other aspects as well. PW 4 has squarely denied any role in recommending the deceased and her husband as tenants to the PW 1. However, PW 1 emphatically testified that the premises were leased out the couple at the asking of PW 4.

V. Place of occurrence

51. The body was found at the house of PW 1 which she had rented out to the appellant. Various documentations including the inquest report and the recovery memo also established that the body of the deceased was found at the aforesaid premises.

52. P.W. 1 has testified that room was not broken into by the police, but had been opened. Clearly keys to the lock were also in possession of P.W. 1.

53. The aforesaid deposition also contradicts the recitals in the inquest report that the lock was broken open and the testimony of P.W. 4 to that effect.

54. Even if the prosecution version set out in the case diary/ inquest report about breaking open the lock is accepted, the accessibility to the room by P.W. 1 at all relevant times cannot be denied.

VI. Alternative Hypothesis

55. Various suggestions given to the prosecution witnesses including the role of Prahlad Das in the drawing up of the complaint which were not investigated by the police authorities. PW 1 has testified the deceased was a beautiful lady who was working in the factory of the said Prahlad Das. Further as per PW 4, the PW 1 and PW 4 had gone to the house of Prahlad Das where the tehrir was got written down and further course of action was decided.

56. The police investigation adopted a rigid inculpatory approach only to burnish the credentials of the investigators. The police investigation failed to follow upon the exculpatory materials and did not pursue the lines of investigations which would have yielded the evidence consistent with whole truth of the matter.

57. Prosecution sought to prematurely invoke Section 106 of Evidence Act with a view to shift the burden upon the appellant without satisfying the pre-requisites of establishing the primary facts.

58. The prosecution is not relieved of his burden to prove the guilt of the accused by simple invoking Section 106 of Evidence Act. The Supreme in Vikramjit Singh alias Vikki Vs. State of Punjab³ held thus:

“14. Section 106 of the Evidence Act does not relieve the prosecution to prove its case beyond all reasonable doubt. Only when the prosecution case has been proved the burden in regard to such facts which was within the special knowledge of the accused may be shifted to the accused for explaining the same. Of course, there are certain exceptions to the said rule e.g. where burden of proof may be imposed upon the accused by reason of a statute.

59. Critical links in the chain of incriminating circumstances against the appellant could not be established by the prosecution beyond reasonable doubt. Infact various aspects which are consistent with the innocence of the accused are borne out from the chain of circumstances suggested by the prosecution.

VII. Conduct of the Accused

60. At this stage it was urged on behalf of the State that the accused had been absconding for about six months after the incident. This itself is sufficient to draw an adverse inference and convict him for the offence. Responding to the aforesaid argument, Shri Dharmendra Singhal, learned Senior Counsel submits that this allegedly incriminating circumstance was never put to the accused in the proceedings under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and any weight given to the said argument would prejudice the appellant beyond recall. The appellant would not be able to tender his defence to the same at this belated stage.

61. The sanctity and the importance of Section 313 Cr.P.C. as the indispensable element of a fair trial is embedded in authorities in point. The Supreme Court in Naval Kishore Singh v. State of Bihar held as under :

“5. Counsel for the appellant pointed out that the Sessions Court committed serious error in not properly examining the accused under Section 313 CrPC. Our attention was drawn to the statement taken from the present appellant. Only three questions were put to the appellant. The first question was whether he heard the statement of the witnesses and the second question was that the evidence given by the witnesses showed that he committed the murder of the deceased and whether he had to say anything in defence. The questioning of the accused under Section 313 CrPC was done in the most unsatisfactory manner. Under Section 313 CrPC the accused should have been given opportunity to explain any of the circumstances appearing in the evidence against him. At least, the various items of evidence, which had been produced by the prosecution, should have been put to the accused in the form of questions and he should have been given opportunity to give his explanation. No such opportunity was given to the accused in the instant case. We deprecate the practice of putting the entire evidence against the accused put together in a single question and giving an opportunity to explain the same, as the accused may not be in a position to give a rational and intelligent explanation. The trial Judge should have kept in mind the importance of giving an opportunity to the accused to explain the adverse circumstances in the evidence and the Section 313 examination shall not be carried out as an empty formality. It is only after the entire evidence is unfurled the accused would be in a position to articulate his defence and to give explanation to the circumstances appearing in evidence against him. Such an opportunity being given to the accused is part of a fair trial and if it is done in a slipshod manner, it may result in imperfect appreciation of evidence.

62. A similar view was taken in Maheshwar Tigga v. State of Jharkhand :

“8. It stands well settled that circumstances not put to an accused under Section 313 CrPC cannot be used against him, and must be excluded from consideration. In a criminal trial, the importance of the questions put to an accused are basic to the principles of natural justice as it provides him the opportunity not only to furnish his defence, but also to explain the incriminating circumstances against him. A probable defence raised by an accused is sufficient to rebut the accusation without the requirement of proof beyond reasonable doubt.”

B. Culpability of accused appellant under Section 420, 467 IPC

63. The appellant has been convicted by the learned trial court under Section 420, 467 IPC on the footing that a false affidavit depicting the marriage of the appellant with the deceased was recovered from the site of the incident near the body of the deceased.

64. According to the prosecution case the accused appellant had falsely depicted his address in the said affidavit. However, the prosecution overlooks the fact that the accused appellant and his wife were migrant labourers and often moved from one place to another. They did not have any permanent place of resident. Further, falsity of the address recorded in the affidavit itself was not proved. Secondly the aforesaid document did not constitute a valuable security in any manner. Thirdly the said document was nowhere used to dupe any one nor any unlawful gain accrued to the appellant by the said document.

65. Ingredients of the offence under Section 420, 467 IPC are not disclosed from the prosecution evidences led before the trial court. The prosecution has failed to establish the offence under Section 420, 467 IPC by bringing the credible evidence and proving the guilt of the appellant beyond reasonable doubt.

Trial court judgement

66. Learned trial court erred in law by convicting the appellant primarily by drawing an adverse inference against him by invoking Section 106 of the Evidence Act read with Section 114 of the Evidence Act. The aforesaid finding as deemed earlier is untenable in law in view of the failure of the prosecution to establish the prerequisites or fundamental facts for invoking the presumption under Section 106 of the Evidence Act and drawing any adverse inference under Section 114 of the Evidence Act. In the instant case the links in the chain of incriminating circumstances were not proved and the prosecution cannot be relieved of the aforesaid burden on the footing of Section 106 Evidence Act. The said findings of the learned trial court is in the teeth of the law laid down in Vikramjit Singh @ Vikki (supra).

67. Secondly, the finding of the trial court to bring home the charges against the appellant to the effect that he was last seen immediately prior to the death of the accused is a perverse finding which does not find support from the evidences in the record.

68. The learned trial court in the impugned judgement has not adverted to the uncontroverted fact that medical evidence in the record does not establish homicidal death .

69. The impugned judgement rendered by the learned trial court overlooks the material contradictions in the testimonies of P.W. 1 and P.W. 4.

70. The impugned judgement is liable to be set aside and is set aside.

Conclusions

71. In the wake of the preceding discussion this Court finds that the prosecution has failed to prove the charges under Section 302, 420, 467 I.P.C. against the appellant beyond reasonable doubt. The accused is acquitted of the offences he was charged with by the learned trial court.

72. The Jail Appeal is allowed.

73. The appellant shall be forthwith released from prison and set forth at liberty unless required in any other criminal case.

74. The Court would like to accord its deep appreciation for the scholarly assistance rendered by Shri Dharmendra Singhal, learned Senior Counsel and also the assistance of Ms. Deeksha Verma, learned counsel for the appellant. Shri Shivendra Singhal, learned counsel ably pro bono assisted the Court.

75. A copy of this judgement translated in Hindi to be communicated to the appellant by the Secretary, District Legal Services Authority.

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether, on the basis of the circumstances established by the prosecution, the offence committed by the accused falls within the ambit of "murder" under S. 300 I.P.C. punishable under S. 302 I.P.C., or whether it constitutes culpable homicide not amounting to murder punishable under S. 304 I.P.C.;

and whether the chain of circumstances established the involvement of the accused in causing the death of the deceased. (Paras 34-52)

Headnotes

Criminal Law - Circumstantial Evidence - Appreciation of evidence - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 302, 304 Part II - Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - S. 134 - Credibility of related/interested witnesses - Evidence of a related or interested witness is not to be discarded merely on the ground of relationship; law only requires that such evidence be subjected to careful scrutiny; if testimony is found to be natural, consistent and trustworthy, it can safely form the basis of conviction - PW-1 being son of deceased and accused was a natural witness; PW-2 corroborated testimony of PW-1 on material particulars; occurrence took place inside house where ordinarily independent witnesses would not be available; non-examination of scribe, panch witnesses and other witnesses not fatal as quality of evidence and not quantity is material - Testimonies of PW-1 and PW-2 found consistent, natural and inspiring confidence - Presence of accused, quarrel immediately prior to incident and accused leaving spot established. (Paras 26-33)

Criminal Law - Circumstantial Evidence - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 302, 304 Part II - Principles governing circumstantial evidence - Panchsheel principles - Circumstances established that accused and deceased were present inside house; accused was involved in quarrel with deceased; cries heard; accused seen leaving place of occurrence immediately after incident; deceased found dead with injuries; axe found at place of occurrence; accused remained absconding; accused failed to offer any explanation under S. 313 Cr.P.C. - Cumulative effect of circumstances clearly established that accused caused injuries to deceased resulting in death. (Paras 34-38)

Criminal Law - Murder and Culpable Homicide - Distinction - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 299, 300, 302, 304 Part II - Exception to murder - Sudden quarrel - Absence of premeditation - Determination of mens rea - Incident occurred inside house in course of quarrel between accused and deceased; no material to suggest premeditated intention to cause death; occurrence took place on spur of moment; prosecution failed to establish prior planning, preparation or design; though sharp-edged weapon was used on vital part of body, surrounding circumstances created doubt regarding existence of intention to cause death; accused must be attributed with knowledge that such act was likely to cause death - Prosecution failed to establish element of intention required under S. 300 I.P.C.; knowledge attributable to accused clearly established - Conviction altered from S. 302 I.P.C. to S. 304 Part II I.P.C. (Paras 39-55)

Criminal Law - Sentence - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S. 304 Part II - Accused had already undergone incarceration for a period of 15 years, 04 months and 14 days as on 21.02.2026, exceeding maximum sentence prescribed under S. 304 Part II I.P.C. - Period of imprisonment already undergone held sufficient sentence; sentence of fine maintained - Appeal partly allowed and accused directed to be released forthwith if not required in any other case. (Paras 56-60)

Held: The testimonies of PW-1 and PW-2 are consistent, natural and inspire confidence. Their evidence clearly establishes that the accused was present at the place of occurrence, was involved in a quarrel with the deceased immediately prior to the incident, and was seen leaving the spot thereafter. (Para 33)

The cumulative effect of the established circumstances clearly establishes that it was the accused who caused the injuries to the deceased which resulted in her death. However, the occurrence took place in the course of a sudden quarrel and there was absence of any premeditation. (Paras 37-38)

The prosecution has not been able to establish the element of intention required to bring the case within the ambit of S. 300 I.P.C. However, the knowledge attributable to the accused is clearly established. Consequently, the offence committed by the accused would fall within the ambit of S. 304 Part II I.P.C. and the conviction under S. 302 I.P.C. is liable to be altered to one under S. 304 Part II I.P.C. (Paras 51-55)

The conviction under S. 302 I.P.C. is altered to a conviction under S. 304 Part II I.P.C. The period of imprisonment already undergone is held to be sufficient sentence for the offence under S. 304 Part II I.P.C. The sentence of fine is maintained. The appeal stands partly allowed and the accused-appellant is directed to be released forthwith, if not required in any other case. (Paras 56-60) (E-7)

3. The prosecution story, in brief, is that on 19.04.2012, the complainant Anil Kumar s/o Kamal Prasad r/o Semrahwa, Police Station Pachperwa, District Balrampur submitted a written report at Police Station Pachperwa stating therein that at about 2:30 PM, his mother, Indravati, was alone at home when his father, Kamal Prasad, entered the house and started quarrelling with her and, in a fit of rage, assaulted her with an axe, causing her death. It was further stated that the complainant, along with his friend Kunjan Chaudhary s/o Raja Ram, was present at some distance and when they heard cries from the house, immediately rushed towards the spot. It was further alleged that upon reaching there, they saw the accused Kamal Prasad fleeing from the house. It was also stated that when the complainant entered the house, he found his mother lying dead therein.

4. On the basis of the written report (Ext. Ka- 1), a check FIR (Ext. Ka- 3) was registered under Section 302 IPC against accused-appellant, Kamal Nath. 9. Upon a comprehensive appraisal of the oral and documentary evidence on record, the learned Trial Court found the accused guilty under Section 302 of IPC and sentenced him to undergo rigorous imprisonment for life along with a fine of Rs. 10,000/- and in default of payment of fine, to undergo an additional one year of simple imprisonment.

Submissions made by learned counsel for the accused-appellant:-

10. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant has contended that the impugned judgment of conviction suffers from serious infirmities and is liable to be set aside. It is submitted that there exist material contradictions between the F.I.R. and the testimonies of PW-1, complainant, and PW-2, alleged eye-witness, which go to the root of the prosecution case and render it unreliable. It is further contended that the medical evidence, particularly the post-mortem report, does not fully corroborate the prosecution version, thereby creating reasonable doubt regarding the manner of occurrence. It is further submitted that the learned trial court has failed to appreciate that the present case is essentially based on circumstantial evidence and the prosecution has not been able to establish a complete chain of circumstances pointing unerringly towards the guilt of the accused. It is argued that important links in the chain are missing, and the possibility of false implication cannot be ruled out. Learned counsel has also argued that PW-1 and PW-2 are interested witnesses, being closely related and acquainted with the deceased, and their testimonies have not been corroborated by any independent witness. It is contended that reliance upon such interested testimony without adequate corroboration is unsafe. On the aforesaid grounds, it is submitted that the prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt and the appellant is entitled to benefit of doubt and consequent acquittal.

Submissions made by learned A.G.A. :-

11. Per contra, learned A.G.A. has supported the impugned judgment and order and submitted that the prosecution has successfully established the guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt. It is contended that the testimonies of PW-1 and PW-2 are natural, consistent and trustworthy and there are no material contradictions affecting the core of the prosecution case. The minor discrepancies, if any, are only natural and do not go to the root of the matter. It is further submitted that the ocular version is fully corroborated by the medical evidence, as the nature of injuries found on the body of the deceased clearly support the prosecution case regarding the manner of assault and the weapon used. The recovery of the blood-stained axe from the place of occurrence further lends assurance to the prosecution story. Learned A.G.A. has also argued that merely because PW-1 and PW-2 are related or known to the deceased, their testimonies cannot be discarded, especially when the same inspire confidence and are otherwise reliable. It is submitted that the presence of the accused at the place of occurrence, his conduct in fleeing from the spot, and his failure to offer any plausible explanation under Section 313 Cr.P.C. constitute strong incriminating circumstances. It is further submitted that the alleged lapses in investigation are not sufficient to discredit the otherwise cogent and reliable evidence on record. The prosecution has been able to establish a complete chain of circumstances pointing towards the guilt of the accused. On these grounds, it is submitted that the appeal is devoid of merit and is liable to be dismissed.

Oral Testimonies:

In order to appreciate the issues arising in the present appeal, it is appropriate to examine, in brief, the oral evidence adduced by the prosecution.

12. PW-1 Anil Kumar, son of the deceased Indra Devi and the accused, deposed that the incident occurred on 19.04.2012 at about 2:30 P.M., when his mother was alone in the house. He further deposed that he was sitting along with Kunjan Chaudhary, PW-2, at a place approximately 20 meters from his house, when he saw the accused in an intoxicated condition, entering the house and quarrelling with the deceased, which was audible to him. As such quarrels were a routine occurrence on account of the accused demanding money for liquor, he did not immediately intervene. However, upon hearing the screams of his mother, he rushed towards the house and saw the accused coming out therefrom. Upon entering, he found his mother lying dead in a pool of blood between two dehri (earthen vessel used to store grains). The accused could not be traced thereafter. He further deposed that a written report was scribed on his narration and lodged, pursuant to which the Investigating Officer reached the spot and conducted the inquest and other necessary proceedings.

13. During cross-examination, he admitted that the door of his house was not visible from the place where he was sitting and that he had not witnessed the actual assault. He deposed that upon hearing a scream, he rushed to the house and found his mother already dead. He denied the suggestion of any property dispute or false implication of the accused. He further deposed that he was about 16 years of age at the time of the incident and that he was in a sound mental condition at the time of making his statement.

14. PW-2 Kunjan Chaudhary deposed that on 19.04.2012, at approximately 2:30 P.M., he was conversing with PW-1 Anil Kumar near the house of Ram Gulam Chaudhary, situated about 20 meters from the accused's residence. He saw the accused-appellant enter his house, followed by the sound of him abusing the deceased over demands for liquor money. After nearly ten minutes, upon hearing a scream, the witness rushed to the spot and saw the accused fleeing the house. Inside, he discovered the deceased in a pool of blood between two dehri (grain storage vessels) with her throat slit. A blood-stained axe was lying near the body. The witness further deposed that his siblings were away at work and that he was present when the police prepared the inquest report (Ext. Ka-2) at approximately 4:00 P.M.

15. During cross-examination, the witness affirmed that there were no structural obstructions between his location and the place of occurrence. He maintained that despite his orientation facing north, he witnessed the accused entering the house from the east and subsequently fleeing towards the west post-incident. The witness provided specific details regarding the posture of the deceased, noting she lay north of the dehri with her head toward the east. He denied any ulterior motive or false implication predicated on his friendship with PW-1 or disputes over labour wages. PW-2 further corroborated the accused's history of alcoholism and habitual domestic violence, affirming his long-standing acquaintance with the family through the accused's employment as a labourer.

16. PW-3 Anirudh Kumar Singh, Sub-Inspector, Police Station Pachperwa, deposed that on 19.04.2012 he was posted as Head Constable at the said police station. He further deposed that on the basis of the written report submitted by the complainant, Case Crime No. 356 of 2012 under Section 302 IPC was registered. He proved the check F.I.R. as Ext. Ka-3. He further deposed that on the basis of the said check F.I.R., he made the corresponding entry in the General Diary as Report No. 32 at about 4:30 P.M. on 19.04.2012.

17. During cross-examination, he deposed that the complainant had brought the written report (Ext. Ka-1) already prepared and signed, and on the basis thereof he prepared the check F.I.R. He further deposed that the complainant came alone to the police station and that he did not inquire as to who had scribed the complaint or the distance between the place of occurrence and the police station. He further deposed that the check F.I.R. bore the signature of the then Station House Officer, who had taken over the investigation. He clarified that he first prepared the check F.I.R. and thereafter made the General Diary entry. He denied the suggestion that the written report was prepared at his instance or under any influence, or that the check F.I.R. and G.D. entry were fabricated.

18. PW-4 Akhilesh Yadav, Constable, Police Station Pachperwa, deposed that on 19.04.2012 he was posted as Constable at the said police station. He further deposed that on the said date, he accompanied the Investigating Officer to the place of occurrence, where the inquest proceedings of the deceased Indravati were conducted, which he proved as Ext. Ka-2. He further deposed that after the inquest proceedings, the dead body was wrapped, stitched and sealed, and was handed over to his custody along with Constable Santram Verma for being taken for post-mortem examination. He further deposed that they transported the dead body to the mortuary at Gonda, where the post-mortem was conducted after due identification. He further deposed that the post-mortem report was thereafter received and submitted at the police station.

19. During cross-examination, he deposed that the articles and ornaments worn by the deceased at the time of inquest were duly noted and the body was sent for post-mortem in the same condition. He further deposed that no broken bangles were found near the body. He further deposed that the relatives of the deceased accompanied the body for post-mortem and that the post-mortem was conducted on the next day. He, however, expressed inability to recall certain details, including whether the F.I.R. was registered prior to the inquest or whose seal was used at the time of sealing.

20. PW-5 Dr. Rajendra Kapoor, Senior Consultant, District Hospital, Gonda, deposed that on 20.04.2012 at about 3:15 P.M., he conducted the post-mortem examination on the dead body of Indravati, aged about 45 years, and proved the post-mortem report. He found the following ante-mortem injuries on the body:

Injury No. 1: Incised wound measuring 6 cm X 3 cm X bone deep on the right side of the neck, located 5cm below the right ear and just below the right side of the jaw. The blood vessels of the neck were found severed.

Injury No. 2: Incised wound measuring 6.5 cm X 3 cm X flesh deep, on the right side of the neck, situated 2 cm below injury no. 1.

He opined that the death occurred due to shock and hemorrhage as a result of the aforesaid injuries, which were sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. He further deposed that the injuries could be caused by a sharp-edged weapon like an axe and that the death had occurred about one day prior, consistent with the time of incident.

21. During cross-examination, he admitted that the time "3:15 P.M." mentioned in the post-mortem report appeared to be overwritten. He further deposed that on internal examination, the neck bone of the deceased was not found cut. He further deposed that he cannot state with certainty the specific sharp-edged weapon which caused the injuries. He further admitted that he had not mentioned in the post-mortem report as to whether rigor mortis was present at the time of examination, nor had he recorded observations in the column of external examination. He accepted that the estimation of time of death is ordinarily based on the condition of rigor mortis and that there may be a variation of about six hours on either side. At this stage, on a query put by the Court regarding determination of time of death, he stated that the same was assessed on the basis of stiffness and condition of the dead body; however, he admitted that such relevant details were not specifically recorded in the post-mortem report. He further deposed that he had not mentioned whether the eyes, mouth or nostrils of the deceased were open or closed at the time of post-mortem. He, however, clarified that since the major blood vessels of the neck were severed, it is difficult to say as to whether the deceased could have been saved even with immediate medical aid. He denied the suggestion that he had not conducted the post-mortem or that the report was fabricated.

22. PW-6 Dinesh Singh Yadav, SHO Police Station Pachperwa, deposed that on 19.04.2012 he was posted as Station House Officer and took over the investigation of the case. He further deposed that after perusing the check F.I.R., he proceeded to the place of occurrence, conducted the inquest proceedings of the deceased, and proved the panchayatnama as Ext. Ka-2, letter to R.I., letter to C.M.O., sketch of the dead body, inquest of the dead body, and sample seal as Ext. Ka-6 to Ka-10 respectively. He further deposed that he inspected the place of occurrence and prepared the site plan (Ext. Ka-11). He further collected blood-stained soil and plain soil from the spot, sealed them separately and prepared the recovery memo (Ext. Ka-12). The said articles were produced and proved before the Trial Court as Material Ext.-1 (plain earth) and Material Ext.-2 (blood-stained earth). He further deposed that an axe with blood-stained blade was recovered from near the dead body lying in the veranda of the house, which was sealed and taken into possession, and the recovery memo thereof was proved as Ext. Ka-13. He further deposed that the said axe was produced before the Trial Court as Material Exhibit-3. He further deposed that thereafter he was transferred and the further investigation was conducted by Uma Shankar Yadav.

23. During cross-examination, he deposed that he reached the place of occurrence at about 5:45 P.M. and took samples of blood-stained earth, plain earth and recovered the axe, which were sealed and deposited at the police station on the same day. He admitted that the seized articles were first sealed separately and thereafter wrapped together. He identified Material Exhibits 1 to 3, which had been produced before the Trial Court. He deposed that the sample seal marked as Exhibit Ka-10 was not his, and that the signature appearing on Exhibit Ka-10 was also not his. He further deposed that he could not identify the handwriting on Exhibit Ka-9 and did not recall who had written the same on his instructions. He also deposed that Exhibit Ka-8 was not written by him; however, the signature appearing thereon was his. He further admitted that though the complainant was made a panch witness, certain other persons, including Kunjan Chaudhary, were not formally appointed as panch witnesses, and that the panchayatnama does not record any opinion regarding the accused having committed the offence. He further deposed that he did not examine the family members of the deceased and did not record exact distances in the site map of the place of the occurrence. He deposed that during the entire course of the investigation conducted under his authority, no circumstantial evidence was revealed except the statements of PW-1 and PW-2. He further deposed that he neither arrested the accused-appellant nor any recovery was made from him. He denied the suggestion that the investigation was false or that any documents were fabricated.

24. PW-7 Uma Shanker Yadav, Station House Officer, Police Station Pachperwa, deposed that on 25.05.2012 he was posted on the same position and he took over the investigation of the case after transfer of the previous Investigating Officer. He perused the case diary and continued the investigation. He further deposed that on 06.06.2012 he recorded the statements of panch witnesses and witnesses of recovery. He further deposed that since the accused-appellant Kamal Prasad was absconding, attachment proceedings were initiated against him and executed. He further submitted the charge sheet, which he proved as Ext. Ka-14. He further deposed that on 23.10.2013, acting on information from a informant, he apprehended the accused near Narihwa village. He further deposed that the accused made a confessional statement regarding commission of the offence and disclosed that he had killed his wife with an axe and had fled from the spot. He further submitted a supplementary charge sheet, which he proved as Ext. Ka-15. He further deposed that the material exhibits were sent for forensic examination to the Forensic Science Laboratory.

25. During cross-examination, he admitted that no recovery of any incriminating article was made from the accused and that no further material evidence was discovered during his investigation beyond what had already been collected by the previous Investigating Officer. He further deposed that the alleged confession of the accused did not lead to any recovery. He also admitted certain lapses, including non-recording of some details in the case diary and non-examination of certain aspects, but denied the suggestion that the charge sheet was filed without evidence or that the investigation was false.

Court Analysis:

Credibility and reliability of ocular evidence

26. The prosecution case primarily rests upon the testimonies of PW-1 Anil Kumar and PW-2 Kunjan Chaudhary. It has been contended by learned counsel for the accused-appellant that both these witnesses are interested witnesses and, therefore, their testimonies ought not to be relied upon. This Court finds no merit in the said contention.

27. It is a settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that the evidence of a related or interested witness is not to be discarded merely on the ground of relationship. The law only requires that such evidence be subjected to careful scrutiny. If upon such scrutiny, the testimony is found to be natural, consistent and trustworthy, it can safely form the basis of conviction. Moreover, in M.C. Ali v. State of Kerala, (2010) 4 SCC 573, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held:

“51. On the basis of the law as settled by this Court in a number of judgments which are noticed by the High Court, it is held that relationship is not a factor to affect credibility of a witness. It is more often than not that a relation would not conceal actual culprit and make allegations against an innocent person leaving a way for the real accused to escape..”

28. In the present case, PW-1, being the son of the deceased and the accused, is a natural witness. His presence near the place of occurrence stands duly established. He has consistently deposed that the accused entered the house, started quarrelling with the deceased, and shortly thereafter, upon hearing screams, he rushed and found the deceased lying in a pool of blood, while the accused was seen fleeing from the spot.

29. PW-2, though acquainted with PW-1, cannot be termed as an interested witness in the strict sense, as no animus or motive for false implication has been attributed to him. He is an independent neighbour, who has corroborated the testimony of PW-1 on material particulars, namely, that the accused entered the house, quarrelled with the deceased, and immediately thereafter fled from the spot when cries were heard.

30. It is true that neither PW-1 nor PW-2 has witnessed the actual act of assault. However, their testimonies clearly establish the circumstances immediately preceding and succeeding the occurrence, which form part of the same transaction and are highly relevant for determining the involvement of the accused.

31. It is also to be noted that the occurrence took place inside the house, where ordinarily independent witnesses would not be available. In such circumstances, the evidence of natural witnesses present nearby cannot be discarded merely on the ground that they are related or known to the deceased.

32. Moreover, the contention that all the witnesses cited in the charge-sheet have not been examined, including the scribe of the written report, certain panch witnesses, and other listed witnesses, also does not merit acceptance. It is well settled that the prosecution is not bound to examine each and every witness cited in the charge-sheet. Under Section 134 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, no particular number of witnesses is required to prove a fact, and it is the quality of evidence and not the quantity which is material. The Supreme Court in State of U.P. v. Anil Singh, (1988) 3 SCC 686, has held that it is not necessary for the prosecution to examine all witnesses and non-examination of some witnesses is not a ground to reject the prosecution case, if the evidence of the witnesses examined is found to be reliable. In the present case, the witnesses examined by the prosecution are found to be cogent and trustworthy, and no prejudice has been shown to have been caused to the accused by non-examination of the scribe or panch witnesses. Therefore, such omission is not fatal to the prosecution case.

33. Upon careful scrutiny, this Court finds that the testimonies of PW-1 and PW-2 are consistent, natural and inspire confidence. Their evidence clearly establishes that the accused was present at the place of occurrence, was involved in a quarrel with the deceased immediately prior to the incident, and was seen leaving the spot thereafter.

Chain of Circumstances

34. It is well settled that in cases based on circumstantial evidence, the chain of circumstances must be such as to establish the involvement of the accused and must be consistent with the prosecution case. However, the nature of the offence-whether it amounts to murder or culpable homicide-depends upon the accompanying mental element, which is required to be independently assessed.

35. The foundational principles governing appreciation of circumstantial evidence were laid down by Supreme Court in Sharad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra, (1984) 4 SCC 116, wherein the well-known panchsheel principles were formulated, namely:

(1) The circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established. There is not only a grammatical but a legal distinction between 'may be proved' and 'must be or should be proved'. It is a primary principle that the accused must be and not merely may be guilty before a court can convict and the mental distance between 'may be' and 'must be' is long and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions.

(2) The facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty.

(3) The circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency.

(4) They should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and

(5) There must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused.

36. Applying the aforesaid principles to the facts of the present case, the following circumstances stand firmly established:

(i) The accused and the deceased were present inside the house at the relevant time;

(ii) The accused was seen entering the house and was involved in a quarrel with the deceased;

(iii) Shortly thereafter, cries were heard from inside the house;

(iv) The accused was seen leaving the place of occurrence immediately after the incident;

(v) The deceased was found lying dead inside the house with injuries;

(vi) The weapon of offence (axe) was found at the place of occurrence;

(vii) The accused remained absconding after the incident and was apprehended later upon information;

(viii) The accused has failed to offer any explanation under Section 313 Cr.P.C. regarding the circumstances in which the deceased sustained injuries.

37. The cumulative effect of the aforesaid circumstances clearly establishes that it was the accused, who caused the injuries to the deceased which resulted in her death. However, the nature of circumstances, particularly the fact that the occurrence took place in the course of a sudden quarrel and absence of any premeditation, assumes significance while determining the nature of the offence and the degree of culpability of the accused.

38. Thus, while the chain of circumstances clearly establishes the involvement of the accused in causing the death of the deceased, the precise nature of the offence is required to be determined on the basis of the mental element attributable to the accused, which is being considered separately.

Whether the offence amounts to murder under Section 302 I.P.C. or culpable homicide not amounting to murder under Section 304 I.P.C.

39. Having given consideration to the entire evidence on record, this Court proceeds to determine as to whether the act attributed to the accused falls within the ambit of "murder" under Section 300 I.P.C. punishable under Section 302 I.P.C., or whether it constitutes culpable homicide not amounting to murder punishable under Section 304 I.P.C.

40. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant has contended that there was no premeditation on the part of the accused and that the incident occurred in the course of a sudden quarrel. In support of the said submission, reliance has been placed upon Pundalik v. State of Maharashtra, (2010) 15 SCC 122; Surinder Kumar v. Union Territory of Chandigarh, (1989) 2 SCC 217 and Rambir v. State (NCT Delhi), (2019) 6 SCC 122.

41. Before advertng to the applicability of the aforesaid judgments, it would be apposite to briefly notice the legal framework governing the distinction between culpable homicide and murder. Section 299 I.P.C. defines culpable homicide, whereas Section 300 I.P.C. specifies when such culpable homicide amounts to murder. The exceptions engrafted in Section 300 carve out situations where, despite the act resulting in death, the offence would not amount to murder.

42. Section 304 I.P.C. is divided into two parts. Part I applies where there is intention to cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, whereas Part II applies where there is no intention, but the act is done with the knowledge that it is likely to cause death. The distinction, therefore, hinges upon the degree of mens rea.

43. The Supreme Court in Kesar Singh v. State of Haryana, (2008) 15 SCC 753 has held that culpable homicide is the genus and murder is its species, and that where the special characteristics of murder are absent, the offence would fall within the lesser category. It has further been observed that where intention is not proved but knowledge is attributable, the case would fall under Section 304 Part II I.P.C.

44. In Surinder Kumar (supra), it has been held that the number of injuries is not decisive, but what is relevant is whether the occurrence was sudden and without premeditation and whether the act was committed in the heat of passion without taking undue advantage. Similarly, in Pundalik

(supra), on facts involving a sudden quarrel without premeditation, the conviction under Section 302 I.P.C. was altered to Section 304 Part I I.P.C.

45. On the other hand, in Rambir (supra), the Hon'ble Supreme Court declined to extend the benefit of Exception 4 to Section 300 I.P.C., where the act was found to be cruel and indicative of clear intention, holding that such conduct could not be said to be an act committed in a fit of anger.

46. Applying the aforesaid principles to the facts of the present case, it emerges that the incident occurred inside the house in the course of a quarrel between the accused and the deceased. The evidence on record indicates that such quarrels were not uncommon; however, there is no material to suggest that the accused had any premeditated intention to cause the death of the deceased.

47. The occurrence appears to have taken place on the spur of the moment. The prosecution has not established any prior planning, preparation or design on the part of the accused. The entire incident was triggered by a sudden quarrel arising out of domestic discord.

48. It is true that the accused used a sharp-edged weapon and caused injury on a vital part of the body. However, the surrounding circumstances, particularly the absence of premeditation and the suddenness of the occurrence, create a doubt regarding the existence of intention to cause death.

49. At the same time, it cannot be ignored that the accused, by using such a weapon on a vital part, must be attributed with the knowledge that such an act is likely to cause death.

50. The present case, therefore, stands on a footing closer to Pundalik (supra) and Surinder Kumar (supra), where the offence was held to have been committed without premeditation, rather than Rambir (supra), where the act was found to be cruel and deliberate.

51. In view of the aforesaid, this Court is of the considered opinion that the prosecution has not been able to establish the element of intention required to bring the case within the ambit of Section 300 I.P.C. However, the knowledge attributable to the accused is clearly established.

52. Consequently, the offence committed by the accused would fall within the ambit of Section 304 Part II I.P.C. The conviction of the accused under Section 302 I.P.C. is, therefore, liable to be altered to one under Section 304 Part II I.P.C.

Conclusion:

53. In view of the foregoing discussion and upon a comprehensive re-appreciation of the entire evidence on record, this Court is of the considered opinion that the prosecution has been able to establish beyond reasonable doubt that it was the accused who caused the injuries to the deceased which resulted in her death. The findings of the learned trial court to this extent, regarding the involvement of the accused, are affirmed.

54. However, this Court finds that the prosecution has not been able to establish the element of intention so as to bring the case within the ambit of Section 300 I.P.C. The evidence on record indicates that the occurrence took place in the course of a sudden quarrel without premeditation. At the same time, considering the nature of the act and the injury caused, the accused can be said to be attributed with the knowledge that such act was likely to cause death.

55. Accordingly, the conviction of the accused under Section 302 I.P.C. is liable to be altered to one under Section 304 Part II I.P.C.

56. The conviction of the accused-appellant under Section 302 I.P.C., as recorded by the learned trial court, is hereby altered to a conviction under Section 304 Part II I.P.C.

57. Insofar as the sentence is concerned, it is noted that the accused has already undergone incarceration for a period of 15 years, 04 months and 14 days as on 21.02.2026, which exceeds the maximum sentence prescribed under Section 304 Part II I.P.C., i.e., imprisonment for a term which may extend to 10 years.

58. In view of the aforesaid, the period of imprisonment already undergone by the accused is held to be sufficient sentence for the offence under Section 304 Part II I.P.C. The sentence of fine, imposed by the trial court, is maintained. However, in case the fine has already been deposited, no further order is required; and in case of default sentence, it is observed that the accused has already undergone incarceration exceeding even the maximum prescribed term.

59. The appeal, therefore, stands partly allowed.

60. The accused-appellant is directed to be released forthwith, if not required in any other case.

61. Pending applications, if any, shall stand disposed of.

62. Let a certified copy of this judgment along with the lower court record be transmitted to the court concerned forthwith, and in any case within a period of one week, for compliance.

Criminal Appeal No. 2402 of 1989

State of U.P.

...Appellants

Versus

...Respondent

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether the conviction under S. 302 IPC could be sustained on the testimony of the sole eyewitness, who was an interested and related witness, when the other eyewitness did not support the prosecution case and was declared hostile, and whether the prosecution had established the guilt of the appellant beyond all reasonable doubt. (Paras 27, 39-49)

Headnotes

Criminal Law - Murder - Appreciation of Evidence - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S. 302 - Hostile witness - Evidentiary value - Evidence of a prosecution witness cannot be rejected in toto merely because the prosecution chose to treat him as hostile and cross-examined him and evidence of such witnesses cannot be treated as effaced or washed off the record altogether but can be accepted to the extent their version is found to be dependable on a careful scrutiny thereof - One eyewitness did not support the prosecution case from the very beginning and stated that as it was a dark night he could not see the face of the accused and nothing could be elicited from his mouth to support the prosecution case - No benefit could be derived by the prosecution from his evidence. (Paras 31-38)

Criminal Law - Murder - Appreciation of Evidence - Interested and related witness - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S. 302 - Rule of prudence - Evidence of a related and interested witness should be meticulously and carefully examined and where such witness may have some enmity with the assailant, the evidence would have to be examined by applying a standard of discerning scrutiny - Sole eyewitness was uncle of the deceased and admitted source of identification was torchlight on a dark night - Testimony found improbable and discrepant - Evidence did not inspire confidence. (Paras 39-47)

Criminal Law - Murder - Benefit of doubt - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S. 302 - Enmity as double-edged weapon - Enmity provides motive for the commission of the offence but also does not rule out the possibility of false implication - Possibility of false implication on account of previous enmity could not be ruled out from the nature of evidence placed on record - Appellant entitled to benefit of doubt. (Paras 29, 48)

Criminal Law - Acquittal - Failure of prosecution to prove case beyond reasonable doubt - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S. 302 - Sole eyewitness not reliable and hostile witness not supporting prosecution - Prosecution failed to establish guilt beyond all reasonable doubt - Conviction and sentence set aside and appellant acquitted. (Paras 47-50)

Held: A witness in a crime is a vital component in the administration of justice and by now it is well settled by a catena of judgements of Hon'ble Supreme Court that enmity is a double edged weapon which on one hand provides motive for the commission of the offence and on the other hand does not rule out the possibility of false implication - the first informant was admittedly not an eyewitness of the case and had admitted his enmity with the accused - one of the two eyewitnesses did not support the prosecution case from the very beginning and stated in clear terms that although he saw 4-5 persons running after committing the murder of the deceased but as it was a dark night he could not see the face of the accused and therefore no benefit could be derived by the prosecution from his evidence - the evidence of the sole remaining eyewitness who was the uncle of the deceased was required to be meticulously and carefully examined - admittedly at the place of occurrence there was no source of light and while they were moving forward they were flashing torch to see the pathway - when pathway was not clearly visible to the witnesses it was improbable that they had seen all the accused carrying country made pistols in their respective hands - the conduct of the witness after the incident was also improbable and clearly shows that no one has seen the assailants and after the occurrence the FIR has been lodged after due consultation with each other dragging the appellants in the case due to previous enmity - there was also discrepancy in his evidence regarding inspection of the torch - conviction of the sole surviving appellant could not be made on the testimony of the sole eyewitness whose evidence does not inspire confidence - the possibility of the appellant being falsely implicated on account of previous enmity cannot be ruled out and the appellant is entitled to benefit of doubt - the prosecution failed to establish the guilt of the appellant beyond all reasonable doubt and the conviction and sentence under S. 302 IPC were liable to be set aside - Appeal allowed. (Delivered by Hon'ble Chandra Dhari Singh, J.)

1. This criminal appeal has been filed against a judgement and order dated 19.12.1989 passed by the Special/Additional District and Sessions Judge, Saharanpur in ST No. 662 of 1988, under Sections 302 and 302/34 IPC, police Station Manglaur, district Haridwar, whereby the learned Judge convicted and sentenced the appellants Nepal, Raj Kumar and Ved Pal to life imprisonment under Section 302 read with 34 IPC whereas appellant Tejbir was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment under Section 302 IPC.

2. Pursuant to the order of this Court dated 30.01.2026, criminal appeal filed on behalf of appellant No. 2, 3 and 4, namely Nepal, Ved Pal and Raj Kumar is disposed of as abated.

3. Now, this Court is concerned with the criminal appeal filed on behalf of appellant No. 1. Tejbir.

Facts of the case

4. The facts that formed the bedrock of the present criminal appeal, are that a written report was given by Asghar, son of Allah Rakha at the police station Manglaur, district Haridwar with the allegations that certain portion of land belonging to Bidmani Pandit was purchased by his brother Rahman. Nepal and Tejbir wanted to purchase the said land. At the time of purchase of the said land, altercation took place, due to which Nepal and Tejbir used to harbour animosity. When his brother was constructing the house over the said plot, they also made obstructions. In front of the house of his brother, there was a hut of Nepal and Tejbir and they were asked to remove the hut, but they refused and threatened of dire consequences. On 17.08.1987 at about 09:00 PM, when his cousin Rahman, Allah Rakha and Akram were coming back to village from Gurukul after supply of milk, on the way at the turning of Gurukul-Mohammadpur, they met Nepal, Tejbir, Ved Pal and Raj Kumar (herein after referred to as the accused), who were armed with country made pistols. On seeing his brother, accused-Nepal, Raj Kumar and Ved Pal exhorted that he be killed and thereupon Tejbir, with an intention to kill, fired at Rahman (hereinafter referred to as the deceased), due to which he fell down. However, accused managed to escape. The accused were identified by Allah Rakha and Akram in the light of torch and brought the deceased to Gurukul and the first informant was called from the village. Thereafter, deceased was taken to Muzaffarnagar.

5. On the basis of the aforesaid written report, a Chik FIR was registered by Clerk Constable Sunil Kumar, Ext. Ka-4, which was entered in GD, Ext. Ka-5.

6. After the registration of the case, the law set into motion and investigation of the case was entrusted to PW-5, SI Yogendra Singh. On the pointing out of witnesses Allah Rakha and Akram, he inspected the spot and prepared site plan, Ext. Ka-6. He also collected bloodstained and simple earth, Ext. Ka-7. Thereafter, he recorded the statements of witnesses Akram and Allah Rakha. After the death of the deceased-Rahman, he converted the case to one under Section 302 IPC vide GD No. 10 at 07:20 AM. Thereafter, the investigation of the case was taken up by SO Shri Virendra Kumar Sharma.

7. PW-4, SO Virendra Kumar Sharma in his examination-in-chief deposed that earlier investigation of the case was conducted by SI Yogendra Singh. On 18.08.1987, he recorded the statement of witness Bidmani Pandit. He arrested accused Raj Kumar on 24.08.1987, accused Nepal Singh on 25.08.1987 and accused Tejbir Singh on 02.09.1987. After completing necessary formalities, he submitted charge sheet against the appellants on 03.11.1987, which he proved as Ext. Ka-3.

8. As the case was exclusively triable by the Court of Sessions, the learned Magistrate committed the case to the Court of Sessions, where case was registered as ST No. 662 of 1988. Learned Special/Additional Sessions Judge, Saharanpur vide order dated 12.04.1989 framed the charge against the appellants Nepal Singh, Ved Pal and Raj Kumar under Section 302/34 IPC, whereas charge against the appellant Tejbir Singh was framed under Section 302 IPC, which was read over and explained to the accused in Hindi, who pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

9. To bring home guilt of the appellants, the prosecution has examined as many as six witnesses. PW-1, Asghar is the first informant of the case, PW-2, Akram and PW-3, Allah Rakha are the witnesses of fact, PW-4, SHO Vinod Kumar Sharma, the second investigating officer of the case, who submitted the charge sheet, PW-5, SI Yogendra Singh, the first investigating officer of the case and PW-6, Dr. N.P. Sharma, who conducted autopsy on the cadaver of the deceased.

10. PW-1, Asghar is the first informant of the case. He reiterated the versions given in the FIR. He further deposed that on 17.08.1987, he was present at his home. At about 09:15 PM, 2-3 persons came and told him that some one has fired at his brother. He came to Gurukul, where he saw that Rahman was lying. Allah Rakha and Akram were with him, who told him about the story of the incident. Accordingly, he wrote the report and handed over at the police station Manglaur, Ext. Ka-1. Allah Rakha and Rahman took Rahman to Muzaffarnagar, where he succumbed to the injury.

11. PW-2, Akram, in his examination-in-chief deposed that deceased was his brother-in-law (Sala). He knows accused Tejbir, Nepal, Raj Kumar and Ved Pal, who are the resident of Mohammadpur. Deceased was also the resident of Mohammadpur. On the date of incident when he along with Allah Rakha and Rahman was coming back to Mohammadpur after supply of milk to Gurukul in three different cycles and when reached near the turning at about 09:00 PM, someone fired at Rahman. It was a dark night and he could not see as to who fired shot. He saw 4-5 persons running, but he could not see the face of the accused.

12. At this juncture, on the request of prosecution, this witness has been declared hostile and prosecution were permitted to cross examine him.

13. PW-3, Allah Rakha in his examination-in-chief, deposed that he along with Rahman and Akram used to sell milk. When he along with Rahman and Akram was coming back to village on cycle after supply of milk to Gurukul. This witness and Akram were having a torch, they kept on flashing the torch and when they reached near the turning at about 09:00 PM, four persons met them on the way. They were Nepal, Tejbir, Ved Pal and Raj Kumar of the village. They were having separate country made pistol. On seeing Rahman, Nepal, Raj Kumar and Ved Pal exhorted to kill him. Thereupon accused Tejbir fired at Rahman (deceased), who, on being injured, fell down. He further deposed that after the incident 2-3 unknown persons met him at the place of occurrence and they were told by this witness to inform at his home about the incident. After sometimes, his son Asghar and other persons reached Gurukul, to whom he told about the incident. Thereafter, Asghar wrote the report and handed over at the police station Manglaur. Injured was taken to Muzaffarnagar Hospital, where he breathed his last.

14. The evidence of PW-4, Virendra Kumar Sharma, the second investigating officer and PW-5, SI Yogendra Singh, the first investigating officer has already been discussed above.

15. PW-6, N.P. Sharma, deposed that on 18.08.1987, he was posted at Muzaffar Nagar Hospital. On that date at about 03:30 PM, he conducted autopsy on the body of the deceased-Rahman, who was brought by Constable 251 Jagveer Singh and Home Guard 1496 Ghanshyam along with relevant documents. He found the following injuries on the person of the deceased:

“1. Multiple gun shot wound of entries in an area of 30 cm x 28 cm on both side of chest and upper part of abdomen and front of neck size varying 2 cm x 1 cm to $1\frac{1}{2}$ cm x $1\frac{1}{2}$ cm depth- skin to cavity deep. Margins are lacerated and inverted. No blackening and tattooing is present.

2. Three gun shot would of entry in an area of 6 cm x 3 cm on the front and inner aspect of left upper arm, size $^{1/2}$ cm x $^{1/2}$ cm x skin deep. Margin lacerated. No blackening and tattooing present.

3. Five gun shot wound of entry in an area of 8 cm x 4 cm on the front and outer aspect of right upper arm, size $^{1/2}$ cm x $^{1/2}$ cm x skin deep. Margin lacerated. No blackening and tattooing present.

4. Abrasion 3 cm x 1 cm over back of right elbow.

5. Abrasion 2 cm x 1 cm over the upper part of left thigh.

6. Abrasion 3 cm x 1 cm over upper part of right thigh.

16. In the opinion of the doctor, the cause of death was shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante-mortem injuries. The death could have been caused after 09:00 PM on 17/18.08.1987.

17. Doctor also found three small metallic pellets from right lung, four small metallic pellets from left lung, five small metallic pellets recovered in chest cavity, three small metallic pellets are recovered from chest wall.

18. During cross-examination, to a specific question, doctor stated that fire was made from the distance beyond 6 feet. He further deposed that he cannot tell definitely that the injuries was the result of how many fires.

19. After the closure of the prosecution evidence, the statement of the accused was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., in which he denied the charges levelled against him and claimed false implication.

20. Learned Special/Additional District and Sessions Judge, Saharanpur after hearing the learned counsel for the parties and assessing, evaluating and scrutinizing the evidence on record, convicted and sentenced the accused-appellants as indicated herein above.

21. Hence, this appeal.

22. Mr. Mohammad Kalim, learned counsel for the appellant submits that there is no eyewitness of the occurrence and the appellants have been falsely dragged in the present case due to enmity.

23. Learned counsel for the appellant further submits that PW-2, Akram, who claimed himself to be the eyewitness of the occurrence, did not support the prosecution case and declared hostile.

24. Learned counsel for the appellant also argued that PW-3, who claimed himself to be the eyewitness is close relative of the deceased and the first informant.

25. On the other hand, Shri R.K. Gupta, learned Additional Government Advocate representing the State supported the findings of the learned trial court by stating that the prosecution has discharged its burden by establishing the guilt of the appellant beyond reasonable doubt. He further submitted that the judgement is well reasoned and calls for no interference by this Court.

26. Heard Mr. Mohammad Kalim, learned counsel appearing on behalf of surviving appellant-Tejbir and Mr. R.K. Gupta, learned Additional Government Advocate representing the State and perused the record of the case.

27. The first argument of learned counsel for the appellant is that there was no eye witness of the occurrence and appellant has been dragged in the instant case due to enmity.

28. A witness in a crime is a vital component in the administration of justice. By providing evidence related to the allegation of the offence, the witness fulfils a holy obligation of aiding the court in discovering the truth or rather facts. That is why before presenting testimony, a witness takes an oath in the name of God or makes a solemn statement that he/she will narrate the truth, the entire truth and nothing but the truth. In our justice system, witnesses play a critical role in assisting courts in making effective judgements, ensuring that justice is given to those who need it the most.

29. By now it is well settled by a catena of judgements of Hon'ble Supreme Court that enmity is a double edged weapon. On one hand, it provides motive for the commission of the offence, on the other hand it also does not rule out the possibility of false implication.

30. Now, coming to the evidence of prosecution witnesses. PW-1, Asghar, who is the first informant of the case, was admittedly not an eyewitness of the case. He has lodged the first information report only on the narration of PW-2, Akram and PW-3, Allah Rakha. In the first information report as well as in his evidence before the Court, PW-1, Asghar has admitted his enmity with the accused-Nepal and Tejbir.

31. In this case two prosecution witnesses, namely PW-2, Akram and PW-3, Allah Rakha have been shown as eyewitness of the occurrence. PW-2, Akram, who is the real brother-in-law (Bahnoi) of the deceased did no support the prosecution case from the very beginning and has been declared hostile.

32. So far as the evidence of hostile witness is concerned, a three Judge Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Khujji alias Surendra Tiwari Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh (1991)3 SCC 627, relying upon catena of judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court, held that "evidence of a prosecution witness cannot be rejected in toto merely because the prosecution chose to treat him as hostile and cross-examined him. It was further held that the evidence of such witnesses cannot be treated as effaced or washed off the record altogether but the same can be accepted to the extent their version is found to be dependable on a careful scrutiny thereof.

33. In State of U.P. Ramesh Prasad Mishra, (1996) 10 SCC 635, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that evidence of a hostile witness would not be totally rejected if spoken in favour of the prosecution or the accused, but required to be subjected to close scrutiny and that portion of the evidence which is consistent with the case of the prosecution or defence can be relied upon.

34. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Bhajju Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh (2012) 4 SCC 327 discussed the worth of the evidence of a hostile witness in the following words:

"It is settled law that the evidence of hostile witnesses can also be relied upon by the prosecution to the extent to which it supports the prosecution version of the incident. The evidence of such witnesses cannot be treated as washed off the records, it remains admissible in trial and there is no legal bar to base the conviction of the accused upon such testimony, if corroborated by other reliable evidence.."

35. In Selvamani Vs. State represented by Inspector of Police, 2024 SCC OnLinw SC 837, after considering a catena of its earlier judgements on the point, Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"Thus, the law can be summarised to the effect that the evidence of a hostile witness cannot be discarded as a whole, and relevant parts thereof which are admissible in law, can be used by the prosecution or the defence."

36. The judgement in Ramesh Prasad Mishra (Supra) was reiterated by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Dadu alias Ankush and another Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh and another, 2025 LiveLaw (SC) 1178.

37. In the light of the above settled proposition of law, we shall not discuss the evidence of PW-2, Akram. In his evidence, PW-2 has stated that deceased was his brother-in-law (Sala). He knows accused Tejbir, Nepal, Raj Kumar and Ved Pal, who are the resident of Mohammadpur. Deceased was also the resident of Mohammadpur. On the date of incident when he along with Allah Rakha and Rahman were coming back to Mohammadpur after supply of milk to Gurukul in three different cycles and when they reached near the turning at about 09:00 PM, some one fired at Rahman. It was a dark night and he could not see as to who fired shot. He saw 4-5 persons running, but he could not see the face of the accused.

38. Since, from the very beginning of his evidence, he did not support the prosecution case and stated in clear terms that although he saw 4-5 persons running after committing the murder of Rahman, the deceased, but as it was a dark night, he could not see the face of the accused. This witness PW-2, Akram was also subjected to lengthy cross-examination, but nothing could be elicited from his mouth to support the prosecution case. Therefore, from his evidence no benefit can be derived by the prosecution.

39. Now, coming to the testimony of PW-3, Allah Rakha, who supported the prosecution case and who is related and interested witness being the uncle of the deceased.

40. The rule of prudence of the point of related and interested witnesses is that their evidence should be meticulously and carefully examined. Before discussing the evidence of PW-3, Allah Rakha, it would be useful to refer to certain pronouncement of Hon'ble Supreme Court on the point:

41. In Masalti Vs. State of U.P. (1964) 8 SCR 133 the Supreme Court observed:

"But it would, we think, be unreasonable to contend that evidence given by witnesses should be discarded only on the ground that it is evidence of partisan or interested witnesses. The mechanical rejection of such evidence on the sole ground that it is partisan, would invariably lead to failure of justice. No hard and fast rule can be laid down as to how much evidence should be appreciated. Judicial approach has to be cautious in dealing with such evidence; but the plea that such evidence should be rejected because it is partisan cannot be accepted as correct."

42. In Raju Vs. State of Tamil Nadu (2012)4 SCC (Cri) 184 ,Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"The sum and substance is that the evidence of a related or interested witness should be meticulously and carefully examined. In a case where the related and interested witness may have some enmity with the assailant, the bar would need to be raised and the evidence of the witness would have to be examined by applying a standard of discerning scrutiny."

43. The aforesaid decision in Raju (Supra) was followed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Edakkandi Dineshan alias P. Dineshan and others Vs. State of Kerala, (2025) 3 SCC 273.

44. In Criminal Appeal No. 2490 of 2014 (Chhote Lal Vs. Rohtash and others), decided on 14.12.2023, Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"It may not be out of context to mention that the appellant/complainant, a sole eyewitness, happens to be the most interested witness being the father of the deceased and having long enmity with the group to which the accused persons belong, therefore, his testimony was to be examined with great caution and the High Court was justified in doing so and in doubting it so as to uphold the conviction on his solitary evidence"

45.. Keeping in view the observations of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the judgements referred to above, we shall not proceed to discuss the evidence of PW-3, Allah Rakha, who is the uncle of the deceased. Admittedly, at the place of occurrence, there was not source of light as is evident from the evidence of PW-3, Allah Rakha himself. PW-3, Allah Rakha in his evidence has stated that he along with Rahman and Akram was coming back to village on cycle after supply of milk to Gurukul. He along with Akram was having a torch, they kept on flashing the torch and when they reached near the turning at about 09:00 PM, four persons met them on the way. They were Nepal, Tejbir, Ved Pal and Raj Kumar of the village. They were having separate country made pistols. On seeing Rahman, Nepal, Raj Kumar and Ved Pal exhorted to kill him. Thereupon accused Tejbir fired at Rahman (deceased), who, on being injured, fell down. He further deposed that after the incident 2-3 unknown persons met at the place of occurrence and they were told by this witness to inform at his home about the incident. After sometimes, his son Asghar and other persons reached Gurukul, to whom he told about the incident. Thereupon, his son by sitting at the same place written the report and left for police station Manglaur and thereafter Injured was taken to Muzaffarnagar Hospital, where he breathed his last. (emphasis added).

46. From the perusal of the above statement of PW-3, Allah Rakha it transpires that it was a dark night and while they were moving forward, they were flashing torch to see the pathway, which goes to suggest that they were even not in a position to see the pathway without the light of the torch. When pathway was not clearly visible to the witnesses, how they have seen all the four accused were having country made pistols in their respective hand. Further the conduct of the witnesses after the incident was also improbable inasmuch as after the occurrence, the injured instead of being taken to the hospital, he was taken to Gurukul and made him to lay on the road, waited for the arrival of his son and after the arrival of his son, he narrated the entire story to him, thereafter, he wrote the first information report by sitting on the road and thereafter, his son went to the police station to get the first information report lodged and this witness (PW-3 Allah Rakha) along with PW-2 Akram, took the injured to Muzaffarnagar, where he succumbed to his injuries. The aforesaid conduct of PW-3, Allah Rakha clearly shows that no one has seen the assailants and after the occurrence, the FIR has been lodged after due consultation with each other dragging the appellants in the case due to previous enmity. Further there is certain discrepancy in his evidence inasmuch PW-3, Allah Rakha in his examination-in-chief deposed that on the next day of the occurrence, Daroga Ji met him and inspected his torch, whereas in his cross examination he stated that Daroga Ji has inspected his torch after one month of the occurrence.

47. In view of the above, the conviction of the sole surviving appellant Tejbir cannot be made on the testimony of sole eyewitness PW-3, Allah Rakha, who is uncle of the deceased and whose evidence does not inspire confidence.

48. It is a settled law that enmity is a double-edged weapon. On one hand, it provides motive, on the other hand it also does not rule out the possibility of false implication. From the nature of the evidence placed on record by the prosecution, the possibility of the present appellant Tejbir being falsely implicated on account of previous enmity cannot be ruled out. In our opinion, therefore, the appellant is entitled to benefit of doubt.

49. In view of the above, we are of the view that the prosecution has failed to establish the guilt of the appellant-Tejbir beyond all reasonable doubt.

50. Accordingly, the appeal is allowed. The order dated 19.12.1989 passed by the Special/Additional District and Sessions Judge, Saharanpur in ST No. 662 of 1988 convicting and sentencing the appellant Tejbir to life imprisonment under Section 302 IPC is set aside. The appellant-Tejbir is acquitted of the charge levelled against him.

51. The appellant-Tejbir is on bail. His bail bond is cancelled and sureties are discharged.

52. Office is directed to send a copy of this order to the court concerned for compliance and compliance report be submitted to this Court within two months.

Section 149 IPC not mentioned in charge).

3. The prosecution case set out from the FIR dated 19.01.1986 lodged at 17:40 hours reveals that it is registered on the basis of written information sent by the injured informant Moinuddin Khan S/o Ibrahim, R/o Tajpur Kurra P.S. Dildar Nagar, District Ghazipur got written by Mohd. Ali Khan, S/o Munnawar of the same village disclosing therein that on 19.01.1986 at about 8:30 a.m. the injured Moinuddin Khan was going to Dildar Nagar at his Picture Hall from his village Tajpur Kurra. He reached one kilometer from the village to the north west corner of Teliyabag, where the accused appellants Shalauddin S/o Badshah Jyada Khan and Kamaluddin @ Jokhan S/o Shahjad Khan along with three other miscreants, wielding Ballam and Gandasa, had challenged the injured. Shalauddin was having rifle and Kamaluddin was having gun in their hands. They suddenly came out from the heap of puwal (straw). Shalauddin has exhorted that the victim shall not be escaped this time, on which Shalauddin and Kamaluddin have started firing at the injured. Injured ran towards nearby culvert (Puliya) to save himself. While running to the place he was hit by a bullet. To save himself he has taken out his revolver and took position. Seeing the revolver in the hand of the injured, the accused appellants have stopped at a distance and kept on firing. The injured saw Rashid Khan S/o Rauf, Mohd. Ali S/o Munawwar and Tasadduk Hussain Khan S/o Ibrahim of his village and cried for help. After hearing the firing other villagers also came to the place. The accused then sprinted away threatening the persons gathered at the place. The accused appellants were nurturing old enmity with the informant and tried to kill him earlier, as well. The persons gathered took the injured to Ghazipur hospital for treatment.

4. The charge sheet is submitted against two appellant, as the three miscreants who were stated to be present at the place of incident remain fugitive and unidentified.

5. The injured Moinuddin Khan was treated at district hospital Ghazipur where Dr. A.K. Srivastava has carried out the medico legal examination of the injured on 19.01.1986 at 11:00 a.m. and found two firearm injured on the person of injured. The injuries are reiterated underneath:-

2) Gun shot wound of entry 0.5cm 0.5cm x deep. Kept under observation. In the right side. Upper back 12cm below injury no. 1. Advised X-ray chest. Margin inverted. Fresh bleeding present. ”

It is opined that the injuries are caused by firearm. It is also mentioned that police has been informed and patient admitted. This medico legal injury report is proved by PW-10 Dr. A.K. Srivastava as Exhibit KA-11. The X-ray report is proved by Dr. Kamta Prasad PW-8, as Exhibit KA-6, wherein it is found that 'four radiopaque metallic shadow (big size pellets) are seen in right side chest.' It is made clear that there is no supplementary medical report and x-ray plates filed by the prosecution during the trial and not even an iota of reference by the trial Judge in the judgment.

6. After submission of chargesheet, the charges have been framed against both the appellants on 15.01.1987. The perusal of the charge shows that both the accused were firstly charged for offence under Section 148 IPC and secondly, charged for offence under Section 307 IPC (The contents of charge reflects invoking the offence of attempt to murder in furtherance of common object with deadly weapon but Section 149 IPC is not mentioned in the charge). Though, the order framing charge reveals that the charge under Section 307 read with Section 149 IPC is framed against the accused.

8. The prosecution has proved 10 exhibits from Exhibit Ka-1 to Ka-11 [Exhibit Ka-8 is inadvertently jumped and numbered as Exhibit Ka-9 and so on], but not taken into consideration in the judgment.

9. The prosecution has proved three material exhibits 1 to 3, the brick, Kurta and Sweater, respectively.

10. The accused appellants in the statement under Sections 313 CrPC had denied all the inculpatory evidences and stated that they have been falsely implicated in this case due to previous enmity between the parties. It is also mentioned that previously the injured has leveled charge of attempt to murder but the accused appellants were acquitted by the court.

11. In the defence they have filed the certified copies of the judgments and the certified copy of the statement of Tasadduk Hussain Khan who did not support the prosecution case in the previous trial.

12. Learned counsel for the appellants has submitted that the incriminating weapon has not been recovered. There is a previous history of enmity between the parties. The charge of common object has been levelled against the accused, despite the fact that the accused are two in number and the remaining three accused have never been traced or arrested or charge sheeted, as the three unnamed and unidentified accused were non-existent. PW-6 Moinuddin Khan, who is the injured witness, absconded, which led the trial court to issue process under Section 82 CrPC to procure his presence for examination. The case thrust upon the accused appellants is false and bogus case. There is marked delay in lodging the FIR, which is unexplained and was for concocting story against the accused appellants. The prosecution witnesses 3 to 5 claimed themselves to be the eye witnesses of the incident, but their place is not shown in the site plan. They are relative and tutored witnesses. The medico legal examination report is fabricated. The x-ray plate is not produced before the trial court in corroboration with the statement of radiologist-PW 8. The Investigating Officer has wrongly investigated case under the influence of informant, who runs the cinema hall. The secondary witness produced by the prosecution merely proved the site plan and charge sheet. Lastly submits that the trial court has convicted the accused appellants without considering the cross examination of the witnesses in the attendant circumstances. Hence submitted that the accused appellants are liable to be acquitted.

13. Learned AGA submits that the matter pertains to offence of attempt to murder where the victim PW-6 has lodged the FIR disclosing the name of accused appellants that the incriminating shot has been fired by Salauddin after exhortation. The injury report proved by the two medical witnesses PW-8 and PW-10 have specifically stated above that the injury suffered by the informant victim was the gun shot injury. The prosecution has proved the recovery of brick from the culvert in the statement of PW-1, which carries the bullet mark. The sweater and Kurta of the injured was also recovered, the memo of the same was proved by PW-2 Mohd. Hanif. FIR and G.D. Entry have been proved by PW-7 scribe of Chik FIR and G.D. All the witnesses have proved the case against the accused beyond the shadow of duty. The presence of three eye witnesses, who have supported the prosecution case cannot be belied. Hence, submitted that the appeal is devoid of merit and liable to be dismissed.

14. This Court has taken into consideration the rival submission of the parties and perused the record.

15. Before dealing with the judgment of the trial court convicting the accused appellants invoking the provisions of common object, despite the fact that for the purpose of framing the charge of common object there must be five or more persons, it would be expedient to proceed with the case along with the arguments raised by the learned counsel for the parties.

16. The points of concern in the present appeal are:-

16.1. Whether the trial court has rightly convicted the accused appellants for the offence of attempt to murder in furtherance of common object, despite the fact that the charge sheet is submitted against two accused, who were charged for the offence of common object?

16.2. Whether the trial court has rightly appreciated the entire evidence in the right perspective, considering the facts and circumstances of the case pertaining to delay in FIR and testimony of interested witnesses?

17. So far as the allegation against the accused appellants that they have committed the offence being members of the unlawful assembly with the design to eliminate the informant Moinuddin in furtherance of common object, the contents of the FIR is quite relevant. It is disclosed in the written information Exhibit Ka-3 written by PW-3 Mohd. Ali Khan on the dictation of PW-6 Moinuddin Khan that the accused appellant Salauddin was having rifle in his hand and Kamaluddin @ Jokhan was wielding a gun and three other anonymous persons wielding Ballam and Gadasa in their hands came out from the heap of straw. The details and description of other three unnamed accused has never been revealed in the investigation and no effort has been made to get their identity disclosed. The charge sheet is submitted against two appellants without disclosing that the investigation is continuing against the unnamed three accused. The trial court has not only framed charge under Section 148 IPC against the appellants but has also convicted them without proving their being members of unlawful assembly.

18. It is pertinent to point out here that the definition of unlawful assembly provided under Section 141 IPC clearly mandates the assembly of five or more persons having a common object to compose the assembly to carry out the sinister design. In the present case it is apparent that the three accused who remain unidentified have merely been disclosed to attract Section 141 IPC.

19. In the case of Mohan Singh and another Vs. State of Punjab, a Five Judges Bench of Hon'ble the Supreme Court headed by the Chief Justice way back in 1962 have considered the requirement and ingredients of the offence carried out by the unlawful assembly in furtherance of 'common object'. Relevant paragraphs 8 and 9 are reiterated underneath:-

“8. The true legal position in regard to the essential ingredients of an offence specified by Section 149 are not in doubt. Section 149 prescribes for vicarious or constructive criminal liability for all members of an unlawful assembly where an offence is committed by any member of such an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object. It would thus be noticed that one of the essential ingredients of Section 149 is that the offence must have been committed by any member of an unlawful assembly, and Section 141 makes it clear that it is only where five or more persons constituted an assembly that an unlawful assembly is born, provided, of course, the other requirements of the said section as to the common object of the persons composing that assembly are satisfied. In other words, it is an essential condition of an unlawful assembly that its membership must be five or more. The argument, therefore, is that as soon as the two Piara Singhs were acquitted, the membership of the assembly was reduced from five to three and that made Section 141 inapplicable which inevitably leads to the result that Section 149 cannot be invoked against the appellants. In our opinion, on the facts of this case, this argument has to be upheld. We have already observed that the point raised by the appellants has to be dealt with on the assumption that only five persons were named in the charge as persons composing the unlawful assembly and evidence led in the course of the trial is confined only to the said five persons. If that be so, as soon as two of the five named persons are acquitted, the assembly must be deemed to have been composed of only three persons and that clearly cannot be regarded as an unlawful assembly.

9. In dealing with the question as to the applicability of Section 149 in such cases, it is necessary to bear in mind the several categories of cases which come before the criminal courts for their decision. If five or more persons are named in the charge as composing an unlawful assembly and evidence adduced by the prosecution proves that charge against all of them, that is a very clear case where Section 149 can be invoked. It is, however, not necessary that five or more persons must be convicted before a charge under Section 149 can be successfully brought home to any members of the unlawful assembly. It may be that less than five persons may be charged and convicted under Section 302/149 if the charge is that the persons before the Court along with others named constituted an unlawful assembly; the other persons so named may not be available for trial along with their companions for the reason, for instance, that they have absconded. In such a case, the fact that less than five persons are before the Court does not make Section 149 inapplicable for the simple reason that both the charge and the evidence seek to prove that the persons before the Court and others number more than five in all and as such, they together constitute an unlawful assembly. Therefore, in order to bring home a charge under Section 149 it is not necessary that five or more persons must necessarily be brought before the court and convicted. Similarly, less than five persons may be charged under Section 149 if the prosecution case is that the persons before the Court and others numbering in all more than five composed an unlawful assembly, these others being persons not identified and so not named. In such a case, if evidence shows that the persons before the Court along with unidentified and un-named assailants or members composed an unlawful assembly, those before the Court can be convicted under Section 149 though the un-named and un-identified persons are not traced and charged. Cases may also arise where in the charge, the prosecution names five or more persons and alleges that they constituted an unlawful assembly. In such cases, if both the charge and the evidence are confined to the persons named in the charge and out of the persons so named two or more are acquitted leaving before the court less than five persons to be tried, then Section 149 cannot be invoked. Even in such cases, it is possible that though the charge names five or more persons as composing an unlawful assembly, evidence may nevertheless show that the unlawful assembly consisted of some other persons as well who were not identified and so not named. In such cases, either the trial court or even the High Court in appeal may be able to come to the conclusion that the acquittal of some of the persons named in the charge and tried will not necessarily displace the charge under Section 149 because along with the two or three persons convicted were others who composed the unlawful assembly but who have not been identified and so have not been named. In such cases, the acquittal of one or more persons named in the charge does not affect the validity of the charge under Section 149 because on the evidence the Court of facts is able to reach the conclusion that the persons composing the unlawful assembly nevertheless were five or more than five. It is true that in the last category of cases, the court will have to be very careful in reaching the said conclusion. But there is no legal bar which prevents the court from reaching such a conclusion. The failure to refer in the charge to other members of the unlawful assembly un-named and un-identified may conceivably raise the point as to whether prejudice would be caused to the persons before the court by reason of the fact that the charge did not indicate that un-named persons also were members of the unlawful assembly. But apart from the question of such prejudice which may have to be carefully considered, there is no legal bar preventing the Court of facts from holding that though the charge specified only five or more persons, the unlawful assembly in fact consisted of other persons who were not named and identified. That appears to be the true legal position in respect of the several categories of cases which may fall to be tried when a charge under Section 149 is framed."

20. As the appellants were shown to be the part of unlawful assembly who were charged for the offence of rioting, armed with deadly weapon. There is no evidence on record to show when the unlawful assembly was created and when the common object to eliminate injured was found, but complete evidence is to be marshalled to reach to the conclusion.

21. Now the point of concern is the role of accused for the offence of attempt to murder.

22. As per the written information Exhibit Ka-3 the injured PW-6 Moinuddin was going to his cinema hall at Dildarnagar from his residence at Village Tajpur Kurra P.S.- Dildarnagar. At about 8:30 a.m. when he reached one kilometre from his village near the North West corner of Teliyabag, Salauddin having rifle and Kamalluddin @ Jokhan having gun suddenly came out from the heap of straw, they have exhorted and fired at Moinuddin. He ran to the culvert to save himself and taken out his revolver. He has taken position to fire on the accused appellants, and also cried for help, hearing which the witnesses namely Mohd. Ali Khan PW-3, Abdul Rashid PW-4 and Tasadduk Hussain Khan PW-5 reached to the spot. The accused appellants then sprinted away.

23. PW-3 Mohd. Ali Khan, PW-4 Abdul Rashid Khan and PW-5 Tasadduk Hussain Khan in their examination in chief repeated the same story, verbatim as is mentioned in the FIR. Mohd. Ali Khan and Abdul Rashid Khan are the real nephews of injured- Moinuddin Khan, whereas Tasadduk Hussain Khan is the real brother of Moinuddin Khan. The inconsistency in their statement is about the firing by injured Moinuddin from his revolver, which is denied by the informant in his deposition as PW-6.

24. It is consistent statement of three witnesses of fact namely PW-3 to PW-5 that they were present at the time of incident. The incident took place at 8:30 a.m. They have taken the injured to his cinema hall from where the injured was taken to District Ghazipur. On questioning to the eye witnesses and the injured witness PW-6 that they have not reported the matter at the concerned police station but has lodged report at Police Station- Kotwali Ghazipur had replied that for better treatment the victim was taken to District Hospital Ghazipur from where the injured has dictated the FIR to PW-3 Mohd. Ali Khan and send it to P.S.- Kotwali. It seems a plausible answer. In such circumstances the other facts is also required to be seen, because the witnesses are related therefore their testimony is to be closely scrutinized and not discredited merely because they are related. As is laid down by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the cases of Ashok Kumar Chaudhary Vs. State of Bihar; M. Nageshwara Reddy Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh and others, State of Punjab Vs. Gurpreet Singh and others and plethora of other cases and became a settled law.

25. Medico legal examination report Exhibit Ka-11 is prepared by Dr. A.K. Srivastava PW-10. This witness has stated that the injured has suffered gun shot injury. The examination of injured is carried out on 19.01.1986 at 11:00 a.m. In his cross examination he has stated that the gun shot injury may be ten hours old. It skipped the attention of prosecution, defence and trial court that the injury report does not contain either the signatures or the thumb impression of the injured Moinuddin Khan, though there are specific space provided in the document for left hand thumb impression of the injured. The vagueness of medico legal examination report is further attributed to the fact that the Doctor PW-10 has admitted the patient and informed the police, there is nothing on record to show that the police was informed and the injured was admitted in the hospital. It is further required to be considered that the injured himself was produced in the hospital through Mohd. Rashid Khan. There is not even an iota of reference made in the medico legal examination report that how the injured suffered the gun shot injury and about the time of the injury. The x-ray report exhibited as Exhibit Ka-6 is proved by PW-8 Dr. Kamta Prasad, Radiologist. This report is on plain paper dated 19.01.1986 shows that 'four radiopaque metallic shadow (big size pellets) are seen in the right side of chest.' This report is not supported by the x-ray plate. The x-ray plate in such circumstances becomes an important material to establish the gun shot injury suffered by PW-6 Moinuddin Khan.

26. This Court has already observed that the doctor while entering the medico legal examination report had mentioned that the police has been informed. This information, if found to be true might have been given after 11:00 a.m. to the police and at no stretch of imagination after lodging of the FIR at 17:40 hours. This puts a dent on the prosecution case about the gunshot injury.

27. The written information was written by Mohd. Ali Khan PW-3 and send to P.S.- Kotwali District- Ghazipur. PW-7 H.C. Bihari Pandey has proved the chik FIR and G.D. No. 40 Exhibit Ka 4 & 5 which reveals that Rashid Khan and Rauf Khan came to the police station with the written report. In his cross examination he has stated that the injuries of the injured has not been mentioned in the G.D. The delay in lodging of the FIR is not explained by the prosecution. The previous enmity between the accused appellants and injured is not only reflected from the statement of eye witnesses and the injured but the certified copy of previous accusation and acquittal of the accused is established by the defence in filing the certified copies of the judgment.

28. The trial court has found the eye witnesses as trustworthy and the injured witness having suffered the gun shot injury proved by the doctor without considering the glitches in the prosecution case. These glitches which are discussed here-in-above are material in nature and pointing towards the fact that concocted FIR has been lodged by informant belatedly against the appellants implicating them for the offence of attempt to murder.

29. The entire oral and documentary evidence upon appreciation leading to the bundle of facts that the injured suffered gunshot injury at 8:30 a.m. in the presence of witnesses but reached hospital only at 11:00 a.m. without informing police, waited for the whole day for registration of F.I.R., which was finally registered at 5:40 p.m. There is no explanation for delay. The previous enmity is disclosed in the F.I.R. and gives ample reason for false implication, which further gives impetus when medico-legal examination report did not carry the signature or thumb impression of injured on it, with no document of admission or X-ray plate or supplementary medical report filed to show that it is the injured who was treated. The falsity and vagueness of prosecution case in showing the presence of five accused with three unnamed, unidentified and without description about their built, physique, complexion and features for identification. Thus, the prosecution has utterly failed to establish guilt of accused, who shall be given benefit of doubt.

30. In the case of Jitendra Kumar Mishra alias Jittu Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh Hon'ble the Supreme Court held that an appellate court should be slow in interfering with conviction recorded by courts below but where evidence on record indicates that prosecution has failed to prove guilt of accused beyond reasonable doubt and that a plausible view, different from one expressed by trial court, can be taken. The appellate court should not shy away in giving benefit of doubt to the accused.

31. Thus, the judgment of conviction and sentence dated 11.10.1988 passed by 2nd Additional Sessions Judge, Ghazipur in Session Trial No. 208 of 1986 (State Vs. Shalauddin and another) arose out of Case Crime No. 10 of 1986, P.S.- Kotwali Sadar, District- Ghazipur, is hereby set aside.

32. The appellant no. 1 Shalauddin and appellant no. 2 Kamaluddin are acquitted for offence under Sections 148 and 307 read with Section 149 IPC.

33. Accordingly, the criminal appeal is allowed.

34. The material exhibits shall be disposed of as per law.

1. This Criminal Appeal has been filed against a judgement and order dated 12.09.1985 passed by the Fourth Additional Sessions Judge, Meerut in ST No. 319 of 1980 whereby the learned Judge convicted and sentenced the appellants Bhanwarkali and Shyam Kali to imprisonment for life and a fine of Rs. 2,000/- each under section 302/34 IPC and in case of default in payment of fine, they shall further undergo imprisonment for three months.

2. Pursuant to the order of this Court dated 02.02.2026, criminal appeal filed on behalf of the appellant Bhanwarkali has been disposed of as abated and now this Court is only concerned with the appeal of Shyam Kali.

Facts of the case

3. The facts that formed the bedrock of the present appeal are that a written report was given at police station Baghpat at 11:00 PM on 30.05.1979 by Tota Ram, son of Sher Singh, resident of Village Saroorpur Kalan (hereinafter referred to as the first informant) with the allegations inter alia that he got her daughter married to Shiv Kumar, son of Ziley Singh about five years back. There were certain differences, which were mutually resolved. On 29.05.1979, i.e. a day before the occurrence. The daughter of the first informant, Smt. Santosh went to her in-law's house with Ziley Singh and Sarpanch Kalu Ram. On 30.5.1979, a person from village Mawi Kalan informed him that his daughter has been burnt. On that information, the first informant reached the village Mawi Kalan where he came to know that Bhanwar Kali had sprinkled kerosene on the body of the Smt. Santosh and Shyam Kali had set her on fire with an intention to kill her, due to which she had badly injured. The first informant took his daughter to Delhi Hospital where after getting her admitted, went to the police station and lodged the report. The first information report further recounts that in the incident in question, Ziley Singh and his son have also hands because before leaving the house, they had given certain instructions to the accused.

4. On the basis of the aforesaid information, a Chik report was prepared for the offence at 11:00 PM on 30.5.1979. On completion of investigation, the investigating officer submitted the charge sheet against the appellants.

5. Before the first information report could be lodged PW-6, ASI Ranbir Singh, who was posted as In-Charge, Out Post, on getting Medico Legal Sheet through Constable Ram Autar, in respect of Smt. Santosh, he rushed to the spot and recorded the dying declaration of Smt. Santosh (hereinafter referred to as the deceased), which ended at 06:15 PM on 30.5.1979. The deceased died in Delhi, but before her death, her dying declaration was recorded.

6. As the case was exclusively triable by the Court of Sessions, learned Magistrate committed the case to the Court of Sessions, where case was registered as ST No. 319 of 1980 and the learned 7th Additional Sessions Judge, Meerut, vide order dated 28.10.1980 framed the charges against the accused-appellants under Section 302/34 IPC, which was read over and explained to the accused, who pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

7. To bring home guilt of the appellants, the prosecution has examined as many as six witnesses. PW-1, Total Ram, is the first informant of the case, PW-2, Smt. Mahendri is the mother of the deceased, PW-3, Pran Sukh Sharma was the Chik writer of the FIR, PW-4, Dr. Vishnu Kumar, who inspected the body of the deceased after her death, PW-5, Dr. P.K. Govila, who proved the admission slip and endorsement of Dr. Ashok Gupta and PW-6, ASI Ranbir Singh, who recorded the dying declaration of the deceased.

8. PW-1, Tota Ram is the first informant of the case and father of the deceased. In his examination-in-chief, he has stated that his daughter was married to Shiv Kumar about five years prior to the alleged occurrence. The accused are the daughters of Ziley Singh with whose son, his daughter was married. After the marriage, his daughter went to her in-laws' house where she was ill-treated. Since 1-1/2 year prior to the alleged occurrence, his daughter was living with him. His daughter had also sent a complaint on 27.2.1979 to the District Magistrate, Meerut. The police and certain persons of the village reconciled the matter and they also took the responsibility for any happening with his daughter. He further deposed that on 29.05.1979, Ziley Singh, the father-in-law of the deceased and Kalu Ram (Sarpanch of the village Mawi Kalan) came to his house. The deceased was sent with them and on the next day at about 07:00 AM, he received information about the burning of his daughter. On this information, he and his wife went to village Mawi Kalan where in the house of his Samdhi, he found that his daughter (deceased) was lying burnt on a cot in the courtyard. His daughter was alive at that time. On queries, her daughter told him that accused-Bhanwar Kali had sprinkled kerosene over her and accused-Shyam Kali had set her on fire with match. She also informed that when she raised noise, the two accused persons had beaten her and dragged her on the cot. He also deposed that he was informed by his daughter that at the time of occurrence, her father-in-law Ziley Singh had gone to village Katha for oil extraction and was not present at the residence, but before he left the house had had given some instructions to the accused-persons. Deceased had also informed the complainant that at the time of incident, her husband was in the field. This witness has further stated that he took the deceased on a truck to Irwin Hospital at Delhi, where she was admitted and then at about 11.00 in the night he went to the police station where he lodged the report, which he proved as Ext. Ka-1. After lodging the report at the police station, the witness has said that he went to his home at village Saroorpur Kalan. The next day, his daughter died in the hospital at Delhi. Neither his son-in-law Shiv Kumar nor any member of his family visited there. This witness has further explained that relations between his daughter and her in-laws were not good due to non-fulfillment of unreasonable demands of his son-in-law.

9. PW-2, Smt Mahendri is the wife of the first informant-Tota Ram and mother of the deceased. In her examination-in-chief, she deposed that deceased was married to Shiv Kumar of Mawi Kala, 5-6 years prior to the occurrence. After the marriage, there was differences between the deceased and her husband. Twice in the Panchayat matter was compromised, but there was no improvement in the behaviour of husband of the deceased. She sent her daughter to her in-laws house along with Ziley Singh (father-in-law of the deceased) and Sarpanch of the village on the assurance of the Sarpanch that they shall not ill-treat the deceased. On the next day of sending the deceased, she got the information about burning of the deceased. She got the information in the morning. She reached at the matrimonial house of the deceased at about 8-9 AM. The name of her daughter (deceased) was Santosh. She further deposed that when she reached the house of Santosh, she was lying burnt and told that she has been burnt by Bhanwar Kali and Shyam Kali. Bhanwarkali sprinkled kerosene over her and Shyam Kali set her ablaze. She further deposed that she took the deceased to the hospital at Delhi.

10. PW-3, Pran Sukh Sharma, in his examination-in-chief deposed that on 30.05.1979, he was posted as Sub-Inspector at police station Kanghla. He further deposed that the investigation of this case was handed over to him and on 01.6.1979, he recorded the statement of Tota Ram, the complainant and thereafter the investigation was handed over to another Sub-Inspector.

11. PW-4, Dr. Vishnu Kumar is the Professor and Head of Department of Forensic Medicines at Maulana Azad Medical College, Delhi. He had performed autopsy on the dead body of Smt. Santosh. There were burn injuries on almost all over the body and about 75% portion of the body was affected due to these burns. In the opinion of the doctor, the death was caused due to toxemia and shock which was due to the burn injuries. The doctor has proved the postmortem examination report, Ext. Ka-4). He further opined that burn injuries could be caused at about 06:15 AM on 30.5.1979.

12. PW-5, Dr. P.K. Govila was the A.C.H.O in the Casualty Ward of Irwin Hospital at Delhi on 30.5.1979. The name of the hospital is now changed to Jai Prakash Narayan Hospital, Delhi. He has stated that on 30.5.1979 at about 1:40 PM, Smt. Santosh was brought by Subedar Tota Ram. The lady had sustained burn wounds. She was admitted in the hospital and was referred to the Specialist. The doctor has proved the admission slip, Ext Ka-9, which was filled by him. The doctor has further proved the endorsement of Dr. Ashok Guupta, who made a note that the patient was fit for statement. This endorsement was made at 4:50 PM. After the death of the patient, the death summary was prepared by Dr. Ram Phal, which has been proved by Dr. P.K. Govila as Ext. Ka-10. This witness has also proved the endorsement of Dr. Ashok Gupta on the dying declaration itself. Dr. Ashok Gupta has certified that the statement has been recorded in his presence and approval of the patient was obtained.

13. PW-6, ASI Ranbir Singh, in his examination-in-chief has deposed that on 30.5.1979, he was posted as In-charge at the police outpost at Jain Prakash Narayan Hospital, New Delhi. He received a medico-legal sheet through Constable Ram Autar and on the basis thereof, he went to record the statement of Smt. Santosh. He further deposed that on his dictation, Constable Ram Kumar had recorded the statement. Whatever was told by Smt. Santosh was recorded. This witness has stated that Smt. Santosh had voluntarily given her statement. After her statement was recorded, her thumb impression was also obtained thereon. He stated that the entire statement was recorded in the presence of Dr. Ashok Gupta and this witness has put his signature after reading it, which he proved as Ext. Ka-11.

14. After the closure of prosecution evidence, the statement of the accused Shyam Kali recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. in which she denied the charges levelled against her. However, she further stated that deceased-Santosh had gone to her maternal home 2-3 months ago. Father of the deceased wanted to usurp the ornaments which was given to her in marriage and he wanted to get Smt. Santosh remarry. She further stated that when this fact came to the knowledge of his father-Ziley Singh, he went to the house of Tota Ram with Panchayat. On the persuasion of Panchayat, Tota Ram has sent Smt. Santosh (deceased) with her father Ziley Singh and on the next morning she set herself ablaze. She further stated that she had gone to field and was not present at the house.

15. One Shri Ram Kishan, son of Khajan Singh has been produced in defence as DW-1. He stated that he is the Villae Pradhan of Mawi Kalan. On the date of occurrence at about 6.00 AM, when he was on morning walk, on getting information that daughter-in-law of Ziley Singh has been burnt, he went to the house of Ziley Singh, where Smt. Santosh (deceased) was lying on the cot. She was alive. On his queries, she told him that she herself had set on fire. On asking the reason, she told that whatever was destined had happened. He then called Ziley Singh and his two daughters from the field and also sent information to the father of Smt. Santosh through Ram Singh who is the neighbour of Ziley Singh. This witness has also stated that he along with other villagers has also informed the police Inspector that Smt. Santosh was not burnt but she herself set her on fire.

16. Learned Fourth Additional Sessions Judge, Meerut after hearing the learned counsel for the parties and assessing, evaluating and scrutinizing the evidence on record, convicted and sentenced the accused-appellant as indicated herein above.

17. Hence, this appeal.

Submissions on behalf of the appellant

18. Learned counsel for the appellant submitted that since the deceased was having a burn of 75%, she must not have been in a position to give her statement. In support of this contention, learned counsel has placed reliance upon the judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Jayamma and another Vs. State of Karnataka (Criminal Appeal No. 758 of 2010 (Supreme Court)).

19. Learned Senior Advocate further submits that there was no smell of kerosene in the body of the deceased when she was not brought to the hospital, which makes the prosecution story doubtful. In support of his case, learned counsel for the appellant has relied upon the judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Suresh Vs. State (2025)4 SCC 794.

20. Learned counsel for the appellant further submits that dying declaration of the deceased was recorded by a Constable, which was only signed by the Sub-Inspector, the Constable who recorded the dying declaration of the deceased has not been examined. He further submits that dying declaration was not recorded by the Magistrate. In support of his contention, learned counsel for the appellant has placed reliance upon the judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Manjunath and others Vs. State of Karnataka, 2023 INSC 978.

21. Learned counsel also submitted that none of the witnesses from the neighbourhood have been examined and that no incriminating material appearing against her was put to the accused in her statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. In support of the contention, learned counsel for the appellant has relied upon the decision of Hon'ble Supreme Court as well as Allahabad High Court in Sampat Babso Kale and another Vs. State of Maharashtra (Criminal Appeal Nos. 694-695 of 2011) (Supreme Court) and Rameshwar Lal Chauhan Vs. State of U.P. (Criminal Appeal No. 6920 of 2017 (Allahabad High Court)).

22. Learned counsel for the appellant contended that the prosecution has failed to produce the doctor, who had issued fitness certificate of deceased, which creates grave doubt about the authenticity of the fitness certificate. For the said proposition, learned counsel for the appellant has relied upon the judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Tarun Sharma Vs. State of Haryana, (2026)(1)JIC 130 (SC).

23. Learned counsel for the appellant has lastly contended that the investigating officer has not been produced by the prosecution.

24. On the other hand, Shri Satyendra Tiwari, learned Additional Government Advocate submits that deceased was burnt to death by the accused-appellants. The deceased has specifically named the accused in her dying declaration.

Submissions on behalf of the State

25. Shri Tiwari further submits that since the Sub-Inspector had injury on his thumb, he got the dying declaration recorded by the constable and put his signature, which is not fatal for the prosecution.

26. Learned Additional Government Advocate supported the findings of the learned trial court by stating that the learned trial court has correctly martialled the evidence and considered each and every aspect of the case while convicting the appellant.

27. Heard Shri Amit Daga, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Bihaan Pandey, learned counsel for the appellant and Shri Satyendra Tiwari, learned Additional Government Advocate representing the State and have gone through the record of the case.

Analysis and conclusion

28. Before advertng to the arguments advanced on behalf of the learned counsel for the parties, it would be useful to quote the dying declaration of the deceased:

29. The maxim "Nemo moriturus praesumitur mentire" is the basis for "dying declaration", which means, " a man will not meet his maker with a lie in his mouth". A dying declaration is called as "Latent Mortem" which means "word said before death.

30. Recording of dying declaration is very important task and utmost care is to be taken while recording a dying declaration. If a dying declaration is recorded carefully by a proper person, keeping in mind the essential ingredients of the dying declaration such declaration retains it full value.

31. Law on the subject is very clear after the decision of five Judges Bench of the Supreme Court in Laxman Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2002) 6 SCC 710, Prior to this judgement, there were conflicting decisions of three Judges Benches of the Supreme Court, i.e. Poparambaka Rosamma and others Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, 1999 (7) SCC 695 and Koli Chunilal Savji and another Vs. State of Gujarat, 1999 (9) SCC 562.

32. In Paparambaka Rosamma and others Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, 1999 (7) SCC 695 the dying declaration in question had been recorded by a judicial Magistrate and the Magistrate had made a note that on the basis of answers elicited from the declarant to the questions put, he was satisfied that the deceased is in a fit disposing state of mind to make a declaration. Doctor had appended a certificate to the effect that the patient was conscious while recording the statement, yet the court came to the conclusion that it would not be safe to accept the dying declaration as true and genuine and was made when the injured was in a fit state of mind since the certificate of the doctor was only to the effect that the patient is conscious while recording the statement. Apart from the aforesaid conclusion in law the court also had found serious lacunae and ultimately did not accept the dying declaration recorded by the magistrate.

33. In Koli Chunilal Savji and another Vs. State of Gujarat, 1999(9) SCC 562 it was held that the ultimate test is whether the dying declaration can be held to be a truthful one and voluntarily given. It was further held that before recording the declaration the officer concerned must find that the declarant was in a fit condition to make the statement in question. The court relied upon the earlier decision in Ravi Chander Vs. State of Punjab, 1998 (9) SCC 303 wherein it had been observed that for not examining by the doctor the dying declaration recorded by the executive magistrate and the dying declaration orally made need not be doubted. The Magistrate being a disinterested witness and is a responsible officer and there being no circumstances or material to suspect that the magistrate had any animus against the accused or was in any way interested for fabricating a dying declaration, question of doubt on the declaration, recorded by the magistrate does not arise.

34. The Supreme Court also in the aforesaid case relied upon its earlier decision in Harjeet Kaur VS. State of Punjab 1999(6) SCC 545, wherein the Magistrate in his evidence had stated that he had ascertained from the doctor whether she was in a fit condition to make a statement and obtained an endorsement to that effect and merely because an endorsement was made not on the declaration but on the application would not render the dying declaration suspicious in any manner.

35. The Supreme Court in Laxman Vs. State of Maharashtra (Supra), while affirming the law laid down in Koli Chunilal Savji and another Vs. State of Gujarat, 1999(9) SCC 562 has laid down the principle to the following effect:

“The juristic theory regarding acceptability of a dying declaration is that such declaration is made in extremity, when the party is at the point of death and when every hope of this world is gone, when every motive to falsehood is silenced, and the man is induced by the most powerful consideration to speak only the truth. Notwithstanding the same, great caution must be exercised in considering the weight to be given to this species of evidence on account of the existence of many circumstances which may affect their truth. The situation in which a man is on death bed is so solemn and serene, is the reason in law to accept the veracity of his statement. It is for this reason the requirements of oath and cross-examination are dispensed with. Since the accused has no power of cross-examination, the court insist that the dying declaration should be of such a nature as to inspire full confidence of the court in its truthfulness and correctness. The court, however has to always be on guard to see that the statement of the deceased was not as a result of either tutoring or prompting or a product of imagination. The court also must further decide that the deceased was in a fit state of mind and had the opportunity to observe and identify the assailant. Normally, therefore, the court in order to satisfy whether the deceased was in a fit mental condition to make the dying declaration look up to the medical opinion. But where the eyewitnesses state that the deceased was in a fit and conscious state to make the declaration, the medical opinion will not prevail, nor can it be said that since there is no certification of the doctor as to the fitness of the mind of the declarant, the dying declaration is not acceptable. A dying declaration can be oral or in writing and in any adequate method of communication whether by words or by signs or otherwise will suffice provided the indication is positive and definite. In most cases, however, such statements are made orally before death ensues and is reduced to writing by someone like a magistrate or a doctor or a police officer. When it is recorded, no oath is necessary nor is the presence of a magistrate is absolutely necessary, although to assure authenticity it is usual to call a magistrate, if available for recording the statement of a man about to die. There is no requirement of law that a dying declaration must necessarily be made to a magistrate and when such statement is recorded by a magistrate there is no specified statutory form for such recording. Consequently, what evidential value or weight has to be attached to such statement necessarily depends on the facts and circumstances of each particular case. What is essentially required is that the person who records a dying declaration must be satisfied that the deceased was in a fit state of mind. Where it is proved by the testimony of the magistrate that the declarant was fit to make the statement even without examination by the doctor the declaration can be acted upon provided the court ultimately holds the same to be voluntary and truthful. A certification by the doctor is essentially a rule of caution and therefore the voluntary and truthful nature of the declaration can be established otherwise."

(emphasis supplied)

36. As per the principle laid down by the Supreme Court in Laxman Vs. State of Maharashtra (Supra) that the court also must further decide that the deceased was in a fit state of mind and had the opportunity to observe and identify the assailant, we are of the opinion that when the dying declaration of the deceased was recorded by PW-6, ASI Randhir Singh, who was posted as In-charge of the Police Outpost at Jai Prakash Narayan Hospital, New Delhi, the deceased was in a fit state of mind to give her statement. PW-6, ASI who recorded the statement of the deceased has stated in his evidence that Smt. Santosh (deceased) had voluntarily given her statement. After her statement was recorded, her thumb impression was also obtained. The signature of Dr. Ashok Gupta was also obtained on it. He further stated that the entire statement was recorded in the presence of Dr. Ashok Gupta. At the time of recording of dying declaration, the relatives or family members of Smt. Santosh (deceased) were not present. He also stated that Smt. Santosh was mentally fit to give the statement. Dr. Ashok Gupta has certified that the statement has been recorded in his presence and approval of the patient was obtained.

37. In view of the above, it cannot be said that Smt. Santosh (deceased), who was having a burn of 75% must not have been in a position to give her statement.

38. The next contention of learned counsel for the appellant is that there was no smell of kerosene in the body of the deceased when she was brought to the hospital, which makes the prosecution story doubtful. In support of his case, learned counsel for the appellant has relied upon the judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Suresh Vs. State (2025)4 SCC 794.

39. In the case in hand, the incident in question took place at about 06:30 AM on 30.5.1979. The information about the incident was given to the first informant by one Ram Singh. After getting the information the first informant reached the matrimonial house of Smt Santosh (deceased) and admitted her to Irwin Hospital, Delhi at 01:40 PM, where she was under treatment. PW-5, Dr. P.K. Govila, who was on duty in the Casualty Ward of Irwin Hospital at Delhi on 30.5.1979 has stated that on 30.5.1979 at about 1:40 PM, Smt. Santosh was brought by Subedar Tota Ram. The lady had sustained burn wounds. She was admitted in the hospital and was referred to the Specialist. She died at 05:30 AM on 31.5.1979, the death summary was prepared vide Ext. Ka-10. PW-4, Dr. Vishnu Kumar, Professor and Head of Department, Forensic Medical, Maulana Azad Medical College, Delhi, who inspected the dead body at 11:00 AM on 31.5.1979 stated that there was no smell of kerosene. Here it is pertinent to mention that the incident in question took place at 06:30 AM on 30.5.1979, whereas PW-4, Dr. Vishnu Kumar inspected the body on 31.5.1979, i.e. after 28-1/2 hours. Further, the deceased in her dying declaration has stated that Bhanwarkali sprinkled kerosene over her and Shyam Kali set her on fire and after she caught fire, she took off her clothes herself. Therefore, non-smell of kerosene from the body of the deceased is not fatal for the prosecution in the present case as the body was inspected after more than 28 hours of the incident in question.

40. In Suresh (Supra) relied upon by the learned counsel for the appellant, the deceased was immediately brought to the hospital barely within a few hours of the incident and in that background, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that normally where the death is caused by burning through kerosene, the smell of kerosene would definitely remain for a few hours, however, the smell does weaken after some time.

41. Since, in the present case, the deceased was examined after more than 28 hours, therefore, the aforesaid case is not applicable to the facts of the present case.

42. Next submission of learned counsel for the appellant is that dying declaration of the deceased was recorded by a Constable, which was only signed by the Sub-Inspector, the Constable who recorded the dying declaration of the deceased has not been examined. Further Magistrate was not called to record the dying declaration of the deceased.

43. This contention of learned counsel for the appellant is misconceived inasmuch as in this case the dying declaration of the deceased was recorded by ASI Ranbir Singh, who was posted as In-charge of Jai Prakash Narayan Hospital, New Delhi. In his evidence, he deposed that on 30.5.1979, he was posted as In-charge at the police outpost at Jain Prakash Narayan Hospital, New Delhi. He received a medico-legal sheet through Constable Ram Autar and on the basis thereof, he went to record the statement of Smt. Santosh. He further deposed that since he has injury on his thumb, he got the statement written by Constable Ram Kumar and put his signature. Whatever was told by Smt. Santosh was recorded. This witness has stated that Smt. Santosh had voluntarily given her statement. After her statement was recorded, her thumb impression was also obtained thereon. He stated that the entire statement was recorded in the presence of Dr. Ashok Gupta.

44. Therefore, the judgement in Manjunath (Supra) relied upon by the learned counsel for the appellant is of no help to the appellant.

45. Further, so far non-recording of the dying declaration by the Magistrate is concerned, there is no rule to the effect that a dying declaration is inadmissible when it is recorded by a police officer instead of a Magistrate.

46. Learned Trial Court has observed that in the present case, no doubt the dying declaration was recorded by a police inspector and it was not recorded by the Magistrate, but the circumstances indicate that the patient was so seriously burnt that there were hardly any chances for her survival. The doctor immediately sent a slip to the police outpost from where the Sub-Inspector Ranbir Singh came and in the presence of the doctor, the statement was recorded. The statement was recorded at 06:15 PM, i.e. after the normal court hours. The doctor and the police officer might have thought it better to record the statement first rather than to go in search of the Magistrate in a metropolitan city like Delhi. The police officer, who recorded the statement of the deceased, was not the investigating officer of the case and in no way connected with the investigation of the case and was an independent person.

47. In Munnu Raja and another Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, 1976 (2) SCR 764, wherein the statement made by the deceased to the investigating officer at the police station by way of First Information Report, which was recorded in writing, was held to be admissible in evidence.

48. In Bhagirath Vs. State of Haryana, AIR 1997 SC 234, on receiving message from the hospital that a person with gun shot injuries had been admitted a head constable rushed to the place after making entry in the police register and after obtaining certificate from the doctor about the condition of the injured took his statement for the purposes of registering the case. It was held that the statement recorded by the head constable was admissible as dying declaration.

49. In State of Karnataka Vs. Shariff, (2003)2 SCC 473, it has been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court as under:

"It is true that PW 11 and PW 14 were Police personnel and a Magistrate could have been called to the hospital to record the dying declaration of Muneera Begum, however, there is no requirement of law that a dying declaration must necessarily be made to a Magistrate."

50. In State of Jharkhand Vs. Shailendra Kumar Rai, 2022 Live Law (SC) 890, Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"There is no Rule to the effect that a dying declaration is inadmissible when it is recorded by a police officer instead of a Magistrate. Although a dying declaration ought to ideally be recorded by a Magistrate if possible, it cannot be said that dying declarations recorded by police personnel are inadmissible for that reason alone. The issue of whether a dying declaration recorded by the police is admissible must be decided after considering the facts and circumstances of each case."

51. Next submission of learned counsel for the appellant is that none of the witnesses from the neighbourhood have been examined and no incriminating material appearing against the accused was to her in her statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

52. Admittedly, the incident in question took place at the matrimonial home of the deceased at Village Mawi Kalan, which is situated in district Baghpat, whereas the first informant is the resident of district Meerut. PW-1, Tota Ram, in his evidence before the Court has stated that Mawi Kalan is situated at about 11-12 miles away from his village and when he reached at the matrimonial house of the deceased, about 20-25 persons were present at the house of Ziley Singh. It is to be mentioned that the first informant was the resident of other village and the persons, who gathered at the door of Ziley Singh were the resident and neighbour of Ziley Singh and instead of examining them by the prosecution, rather they have to be examined by the defence and their non-examination by the prosecution is not fatal to the prosecution. Further the statement of the accused was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. in question-answer form and the circumstances appearing against her was put to the accused and, therefore, judgements relied upon by the learned counsel for the appellant is of no help to her.

53. Next submission of learned counsel for the appellant is that prosecution has failed to produce the doctor, who had given fitness certificate of the deceased, which creates grave doubt about the authenticity of the fitness certificate.

54. Tarun Sharma Vs. State of Haryana, 2026(1) JIC 130, relied upon by the learned counsel for the appellant, was a case in which Doctor, who treated the deceased has stated that the deceased remained unconscious almost fully from the time of the assault on 31st March, 2012 until his death on 14th April, 2012 and was never in a condition to speak and hence the the fitness certificate stating that Munish Kumar was fit to give a statement become doubtful. Further the prosecution has failed to identify or examine the doctor, who had issued the fitness certificate certifying that Munish Kumar (deceased) was fit to make a statement, which creates grave doubt about the authenticity of the fitness certificate and that non-examination of the said doctor, deprived the defence an opportunity to discredit the fitness certificate.

55. The aforesaid case (Tarun Sharma) (Supra) relied upon by the learned counsel for the appellant is distinguishable on the facts of the present case. In the instant case after the incident at 06:30 AM on 29.5.1979 and till the recording of her statement (dying declaration), the deceased was fully conscious. PW-5, Dr. P.K. Govila in his evidence has stated that on 30.5.1979, he was on duty as A.C.H.O in the Casualty Ward of Irwin Hospital at Delhi on 30.5.1979, which is now Jai Prakash Narayan Hospital, Delhi. On 30.5.1979 at about 1:40 PM, Smt. Santosh was brought by Subedar Tota Ram. The lady had sustained burn wounds. She was admitted in the hospital and was referred to the Specialist. PW-5, Dr. P.K. Govila has proved the admission slip, which contained the endorsement of Dr. Ashok Gupta that the patient was fit for statement at 04:50 PM, which he proved as Ext Ka-9. Admission slip has been prepared by this witness (PW-5 Dr. P.K. Govila). In his cross-examination, PW-5 has certified the signature of Dr. Ashok Gupta on the dying declaration. The endorsement of Dr. Ashok Gupta on the dying declaration that "statement has been recorded before me and approval of the patient has been taken for what has been recorded. The said endorsement has been marked as Ext. Ka-12. The endorsement of Dr. Ashok Gupta was proved by PW-5, Dr. P.K. Govila, which was not challenged in the cross-examination and, thus the endorsement (Ext. Ka-12) has been accepted as true. This endorsement was made at 4:50 PM. Aforesaid dying declaration also contained the time and date of recording the same.

56. Last submission of learned counsel for the appellant is that the investigating officer has not been produced by the prosecution.

57. Before coming to this contention of learned counsel for the appellant that the investigating officer has not been produced by the prosecution, it would be useful to quote Section 294 of the Code of Criminal Procedure:

“ 294. No formal proof of certain documents:

(1) Where any document is filed before any Court by the prosecution or the accused, the particulars of every such document shall be included in a list and the prosecution or the accused, as the case may be, or the pleader for the prosecution or the accused, if any, shall be called upon to admit or deny the genuineness of each such document.

(2) The list of documents shall be in such form as may be prescribed by the State Government.

(3) Where the genuineness of any document is not disputed, such document may be read in evidence in any inquiry, trial or other proceedings under this Code without proof of the signature of the person to whom it purports to be signed.

Provided that the Court may, in its discretion, require such signature to be proved.

58. From the perusal of Section 294(3) of the Code, it is clear that where the genuineness of the documents is not disputed, such documents may be read in evidence in any inquiry, trial or other proceeding under the Code without proof of the signature of the person to whom it purports to be signed.

59. In the instant case, genuineness of the papers, site plan (Ext. Ka-14 and charge sheet (Ext. Ka-15 were admitted by the defence counsel, and hence these two papers were admitted on record without formal proof and no application was moved by the defence counsel to cross examine the prosecution witnesses, the investigating officer, who conducted the investigation and submitted the charge sheet, the Court has no occasion to call him for cross-examination.

60. In Munnu Raja and another Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, (1976) 3 SCC 104, Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"....It is well settled that though a dying declaration must be approached with caution for the reason that the maker of the statement cannot be subject to cross-examination, there is neither a rule of law nor a rule of prudence which has hardened into a rule of law that a dying declaration cannot be acted upon unless it is corroborated...."

It is true that in the same decision, it was held, since the Investigating Officers are naturally interested in the success of the investigation and the practice of the Investigating Officer himself recording a dying declaration during the course of an investigation ought not to have been encouraged.

61. In the instant case, the investigation has not been conducted by PW-6, Randhir Singh, who recorded the dying declaration.

62. In Jai Karan Vs. State of Delhi (NCT) (1999) 8 SCC 161, it was held by Hon'ble Supreme Court as under:

"A dying declaration is admissible in evidence on the principle of necessity and can form the basis for conviction if it is found to be reliable. While it is in the nature of an exception to the general rule forbidding hearsay evidence, it is admitted on the premises that ordinarily a dying person will not falsely implicate an innocent person in the commission of a serious crime. It is this premises which is considered strong enough to set off the need that the maker of the statement should state so on oath and be cross-examined by the person who is sought to be implicated. In order that a dying declaration may form the sole basis for conviction without the need for independent corroboration it must be shown that the person making it had the opportunity of identifying the person implicated and is thoroughly reliable and free from blemish. If, in the facts and circumstances of the case, it is found that the maker of the statement was in a fit state of mind and had voluntarily made the statement on the basis of personal knowledge without being influenced by others and the court on a strict scrutiny finds it to be reliable, there is no rule of law or even of prudence that such a reliable piece of evidence cannot be acted upon unless it is corroborated. A dying declaration is an independent piece of evidence like any other piece of evidence neither extra strong nor weak and can be acted upon without corroboration if it is found to be otherwise true and reliable"

63. In Naeem Vs. State of U.P., 2024 SCC OnLine SC 237, Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"It can thus be seen that this Court has clearly held that dying declaration can be the sole basis of the conviction if it inspires the full confidence of the court. The Court is required to satisfy itself that the deceased was in a fit state of mind at the time of making the statement and that it was not the result of tutoring, prompting or imagination. It has further been held that, where the Court is satisfied about the dying declaration being true and voluntary, it can base its conviction without any further corroboration. It has further been held that there cannot be an absolute rule of law that the dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction unless it is corroborated. It has been held that the rule requiring corroboration is merely a rule of prudence. The Court has observed that if after careful scrutiny, the court is satisfied that it is true and free from any effort to induce the deceased to make a false statement and if it is coherent and consistent, there shall be no legal impediment to make it the basis of conviction, even if there is no corroboration.

64. The incident in question has taken place in the matrimonial house of the deceased where in addition to the accused Bhanwar Kali and Shyam Kali, husband and father-in-law of the deceased namely Shiv Kumar and Ziley Singh were also residing in the house, but the deceased in her dying declaration has only assigned the role of sprinkling kerosene and setting her on fire to Bhanwar Kali and Shyam Kali. Further the conduct of appellant's side was also unwarranted inasmuch as after the incident in question took place, they did not take any steps to get the injured (deceased) admitted in the hospital and left her at the mercy of the God. PW-1 Tota Ram in his evidence has stated that on receiving information, he went to village Mawi Kalan where in the house of his Samdhi, he found that his daughter (deceased) was lying burnt on a cot in the courtyard. His daughter was alive at that time. On queries, her daughter told him that accused-Bhanwar Kali had sprinkled kerosene over her and accused-Shyam Kali had set her on fire with match. She also informed that when she raised noise, the two accused persons had beaten her and dragged her on the cot. Thereafter, PW-1, Total Ram arranged for transport and took to the deceased to Irvin Hospital, Delhi where she was admitted at 01:40 PM.

65. In the present case, there is nothing on record to suggest that there was any occasion for the first informant to falsely implicate the accused rather than to make arrangement for the treatment. We also found that the first informant after being informed about the incident, rushed to the spot, arranged for the vehicle and admitted the injured (deceased) to the hospital. PW-6, SI, Randhir, who recorded the statement of the deceased has stated that when statement of the deceased was being recorded, her family members and relatives were not present there. This statement of PW-6, Randhir Singh is enough to show that he took all precautions that her statement should not be guided by some other person's version. Further PW-6, Randhir Singh, who recorded the dying declaration of the deceased was disinterested person and a responsible officer and he is not connected with the investigation of the case and there is no circumstances or material to suspect that he had any animus against the accused or was in any way interested in fabricating the dying declaration. Moreover, Dr. Ashok Gupta was also present when the statement (dying declaration) of the deceased was being recorded, who also put a note on the dying declaration that the statement has been recorded before me and approval of the patient has been taken for what has been recorded.

66. In addition to the dying declaration, PW-1, Tota Ram, who is the first informant and father of the deceased and PW-2, Smt. Mahendra, who is the mother of the deceased, who reached the spot, took the deceased to the hospital, have also supported the prosecution case.

67. We have carefully scrutinized and examined the evidence of prosecution witnesses and we find that they have been correctly marshalled and assessed by the learned Trial Court. The impugned judgement and order do not call for any interference by this Court.

68. In view of what has been indicated above, we are of the view that the prosecution has successfully proved its case beyond all reasonable doubt against the accused-appellant.

69. Accordingly, the criminal appeal is dismissed.

70 The appellant Shyam Kali is on bail. Her bail bond is cancelled and sureties are discharged. She is directed to surrender before the Court concerned within three weeks to serve out the sentence awarded to her by the learned Trial Court.

71. Office is directed to send a copy of this order to the court concerned along with necessary documents for compliance and compliance report be submitted to this Court within two months.

Gurdeep Kaur (deceased) and another) arising out of case crime no. 57 of 1999, wherein the applicant has been convicted and sentenced to undergo life imprisonment u/s 302 of Indian Penal Code (in short IPC) along with a fine of Rs. 20,000/- and in default of payment of fine further one year additional simple imprisonment; and rigorous imprisonment of two year u/s 404 IPC along with fine Rs. 2000/- and in default of payment of fine further two months additional simple imprisonment. It has further been provided that both the sentences shall run concurrently.

Prosecution Story in Nutshell:

3. The prosecution case, in brief, is that the complainant Gurdeep Kaur lodged a written report stating therein that in the intervening night of 18/19.05.1999 at about 12:00 in midnight, she was present in her house situated at village Phulwaria, Police Station Palia, Kheri. It was further stated that at the relevant time, she was lying in the western room on the second floor along with her children; her mother-in-law; Naseeb Kaur, and her elder, Sukhvinder Kaur, were lying in the middle room, while her husband; Balvinder Singh, and his friend; Sobran Singh Kalsi, were lying in the eastern room. It was further stated that seven to eight miscreants came to the second floor of the house during the night. The miscreants got the middle room opened by her mother-in-law and thereafter entered the room of her husband as well. As soon as they entered, they killed her husband and his companion, as well as her mother-in-law and her elder, by firing bullets and by using sharp-edged weapons. It was further stated that the miscreants looted jewellery and cash kept in the room of her mother-in-law and thereafter started moving downstairs and at that time, the complainant also fired from her licensed gun. Upon hearing the noise, Darshan Singh, Jaswant Singh from the neighbourhood, her servant Ram Seva, and several other persons arrived at the spot and, in the light of electricity and torch, saw and recognised the miscreants. The miscreants were chased, but they managed to escape. It was further stated that all the miscreants were armed with country made pistols and other weapons and that they could be identified along with the looted jewellery if produced. It was also stated that all four dead bodies were lying inside the house. On these allegations, the complainant requested that a report be lodged and appropriate legal action be taken.

4. On the basis of the said written report, on 19.05.1999 at around 1:30 AM a check FIR was registered under Section 396 IPC in police station Palia, as case crime no. 57 of 99 and GD entry no. 2 was made at the same time. The investigation of the case was handed over to SHO Suresh Tripathi. Furthermore, during the investigation the names of Gurdeep Kaur and Tarsem Singh came into the light and it was found that they have committed murder of Balwinder Singh, Sukhvinder Kaur, Sarwan Singh Kalsi, and Naseeb Kaur.

5. During investigation on the basis of the informant, the investigating officer and other police personnel arrested Tarsem Singh on 24.05.1999 from his house in village Pulwariya at around 2:00 PM. This was witnessed by Balwinder Singh, Balkaran Singh, Darshan Singh, and Pardeshi. Thereafter, his interrogation revealed that he had been in an illicit relationship with Gurdeep Kaur for a long time, and this became known to Balvinder Singh and his family members. Due to this Balvinder Singh had planned to kill them (i.e. Gurdeep Kaur and Tarsem Singh), which was overheard by Gurdeep and she told the same to Tarsem on 18.05.1999 in the afternoon. Thereafter, on the same day at around 11:00 PM he reached Balvinder's house, where Gurdeep handed him licensed gun of Balvinder and cartridges, thereafter, both of them with the use of the gun and knife murdered all the four people and took away a pair of earing, gold bangles, gold ring and a bracelet of Nasib Kaur, which was kept in Nasib Kaur's room. Furthermore, the said gun and knife was kept by Gurdeep

6. Furthermore, during the course of investigation on 24.05.1999, when the accused Tarsem Singh was taken to the place of occurrence, Gurdeep Kaur was found present there. During interrogation, she accepted that she was having an illicit relationship with Tarsem Singh and also confessed her involvement in the crime. In her confession, she stated that Tarsem Singh first opened fire upon Balvinder Singh @ Kaku, and thereafter shot his friend Sarwan Kumar Kalsi. She further confessed that she herself stabbed Naseeb Kaur and Sukhvinder Kaur.

7. It was further stated by her that she handed over the gun and knife used in the commission of the offence and admitted that she had used the same to cause injuries to all the deceased persons. She also confessed that, in order to evade liability, she had lodged a false FIR alleging the incident to be one of dacoity.

8. The said knife and gun were taken into police custody and the recovery memo was prepared in respect thereof (Ext. Ka-1), along with the site map of the place from where the recovery was made (Ext. Ka-19). Furthermore, the recovered goods, gun and cartridges were sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory, Lucknow, and the examination report was obtained from the Laboratory (Ext. Ka-41)

9. Thereafter, upon completion of investigation and finding sufficient evidence, a charge sheet was submitted in the Court against the accused Gurdeep Kaur and Tarsem Singh under Sections 302, 404, 411, and 117 IPC (Ext. Ka-20).

10. On 04.12.1999, charges under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC were framed against accused Gurdeep Kaur and Tarsem Singh. In addition thereto, a charge under Section 177 IPC was framed against accused Gurdeep Kaur, and a charge under Section 404 IPC was framed against accused Tarsem Singh. Both the accused persons denied the charges and claimed trial.

11. After framing of the charges, accused Gurdeep Kaur died, and consequently, the proceedings against her stood abated in terms of the order passed by the concerned Court dated 06.12.2001.

12. To prove its case, the prosecution examined ten witnesses, namely: PW-1: Darshan Singh, PW-2 Mashwant Singh, PW-3: Balwant Singh, PW-4: Gurvinder Singh, PW-5: Jagjeet Singh, PW-6: Dr. R V Singh, PW-7: S.I. Surendra Tripathi, and CW-1: SI Rajendra Prasad Nishad.

15. On perusal of the order sheet of the Ld. Trial Court it transpires that appellant in his statements u/s 313 CrPC dated 03.07.2003 expressed his desire to produce defence evidence and thereafter date was fixed on 08.07.2003, but on 08.07.2003 adjournment was sought by Tarseem Singh and the case was adjourned and next date was fixed on 23.07.2003, but again on that date adjournment was sought which was allowed on the condition of last opportunity and the case was listed on 28.07.2003. On 28.07.2003 again adjournment was sought but the same was rejected and the case was listed for argument, that is why appellant has not produced any oral or documentary evidence in his defence. In his statement under Section 313 CrPC, the appellant denied having committed the crime. Thus, the appellant pleaded innocence. 16. Upon a comprehensive appraisal of the oral and documentary evidence on record, the learned Trial Court convicted the appellant to undergo rigorous life imprisonment u/s 302 IPC along with a fine of Rs. 20,000/- and in default of payment of fine further one year additional simple imprisonment; and rigorous imprisonment of two year u/s 404 IPC along with fine of Rs. 2000/- and in default of payment of fine further two months additional simple imprisonment. It has further been provided that both the sentences shall run concurrently.

Submissions made by learned counsel for the accused-appellant:-

17. Learned counsel for the appellant assailed the impugned judgment contending that the prosecution has failed to establish its case beyond reasonable doubt and that the conviction is unsustainable in law. It is submitted that the case rests primarily on the testimony of child witnesses (PW-4 and PW-5), which is unreliable, being susceptible to tutoring and suffering from material inconsistencies, particularly with regard to sequence of events and number of gunshots. It is further contended that their conduct in not disclosing the incident immediately creates serious doubt about their presence. Learned counsel also pointed out that key witnesses, namely PW-1 and PW-3, have turned hostile, thereby weakening the prosecution case. It is argued that there are material inconsistencies between ocular and medical evidence, and submit that such inconsistencies render the prosecution version doubtful. It is further submitted that the recovery of alleged weapon and articles is doubtful, inasmuch as the recovered articles were not properly identified and the recovery proceedings are not free from suspicion. It has also been contended that the learned Trial Court acted grossly in illegal manner so far as it is related to the recording of the statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C. It is also contended that the prosecution has failed to establish any clear motive. It is lastly argued that the accused has been falsely implicated due to village factionalism and that the trial court has failed to properly appreciate the evidence, thus the appellant is entitled to benefit of doubt.

Submissions made by learned A.G.A : -

18. Per contra, learned A.G.A. appearing for the State opposed the submissions advanced on behalf of the accused-appellant and supported the impugned judgment and order passed by the Trial Court. It was submitted that the prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt through cogent and reliable evidence and that the testimonies of PW-4 and PW-5, though related witnesses, are natural witnesses, whose presence at the place of occurrence is fully established. Learned A.G.A. further contended that mere hostility of certain witnesses does not demolish the prosecution case, when the core version stands duly proved. It was also urged that the medical and documentary evidence corroborates the ocular account and the recovery effected at the instance of the accused lends further assurance to the prosecution story. Accordingly, learned A.G.A. submitted that no illegality, perversity or infirmity exists in the findings recorded by the Trial Court and the appeal is liable to be dismissed.

Oral Testimonies:

In order to appreciate the issues arising in the present appeal, it is appropriate to examine, in brief, the oral evidence adduced by the prosecution.

1. PW-1 Darshan Singh deposed that about three years prior to his deposition, Balvinder Singh, Nasib Kaur, Sukhvinder Kaur and a guest from Punjab were murdered during the night, and that he came to know about the incident in the morning. He denied having witnessed the occurrence and further stated that no recovery was made from accused Tarsem Singh in his presence. He admitted his signatures on certain documents prepared by the Investigating Officer but deposed that their contents were not read over to him. The witness was declared hostile.

2. During cross-examination, he denied having given any statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and disowned the same. He further deposed that the accused was not present at the time when his signatures were obtained on Ext. Ka-5 and Ka-6. He also deposed that he later went to the house of the accused, found him sleeping, woke him up, and thereafter the accused came out and informed the police.

3. PW-2 Mashwant Singh, s/o Harnam Singh, deposed that on 19.05.1999 inspector prepared the panchayatnama of the dead bodies of Balvindra Singh, Sukhvendra Kaur, Sarwan Singh and Naseeb Kaur (Ext. Ka-3 to Ext. Ka-6 respectively).

4. No cross-examination of PW-2 was conducted.

5. PW-3 Balwant Singh deposed that he did not clearly recollect whether the Investigating Officer had taken into possession any blood-stained soil, cartridges or empty shells from the house of Balvinder Singh in his presence. He admitted his signatures on certain documents (paper no. K-6/1 to K-6/4), but stated that their contents were not read over to him and he was unaware of what was written therein. He gave a similar response with respect to other documents (Ext. Ka-7 to Ka-10). The witness was declared hostile.

6. During cross-examination, he denied having given any statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and expressed ignorance as to how such a statement came to be recorded. He further denied the suggestion that he was deposing falsely in collusion with the accused.

7. PW-4 Gurvinder Singh, son of deceased Balvinder Singh, was examined before the Trial Court. On the date of his deposition, the witness was of 15 years of age. The Trial Court, before recording his testimony, conducted a preliminary inquiry to assess his competence to depose. Upon being asked where he was present, the witness replied that he was in Court. Upon being asked about the duty of the Court, he replied that the function of the Court is to punish the culprit/accused ("Mulljiman ko saja dena"). Upon such interaction, the Trial Court formed the opinion that although the witness was of tender age, he possessed sufficient understanding and intelligence to comprehend the nature of questions put to him and to give rational answers. Accordingly, the Court proceeded to record his testimony.
