THE HON'BLE AVNISH SAXENA, J.

Application U/S 528 BNSS. No. 32121 of 2025

Jitendra Kumar & Ors.

...Applicants

Versus

State of U.P. & Anr.

...Opposite Parties

Issue for consideration

Legality of criminal case on false promise of marriage in a consented relationship.

Headnotes

False promise of marriage-Allegation of sexual intercourse on false promise of marriage-relationship between applicant no. 1 and victim was of love and affection since their graduation time-could not mature into marriage-consent-victim is a lawyer-plain reading of FIR- statement of victim -clearly shows that the accused applicant no. 1 and victim were in love relations-while both were student of Bachelor of Science-there was reciprocal promise of marriage between the two -assurance given by the accused shows his bona fides-not the case that the accused has hide his identity or was already engaged somewhere else. Application allowed. (E-9)

Appearances of parties

Counsel for Applicant(s) : Tripurari Pal Counsel for Opposite Party(s) : G.A., Sanjay Mishra

(Delivered by Hon'ble Avnish Saxena, J.)

1. Heard, Shri Tripurari Pal, learned counsel for applicants, Shri Sanjay Mishra, learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 and Shri S.K. Rai, learned A.G.A. for the State. Perused the record.

2. The present application under Section 528 B.N.S.S. has been moved by three applicants accused. The main allegation of sexual intercourse on false promise of marriage is leveled against applicant no. 1. The applicant no. 2 is brother of applicant no. 1 and applicant no. 3 is wife of applicant no. 2 and sister-in-law of applicant no. 1. The applicant nos. 2 and 3 have been charge sheeted for the offence of criminal intimidation. The relief sought is to quash the charge sheet dated 30.03.2025, cognizance taking order dated 22.05.2025 passed by learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate-1, Aligarh and the entire proceeding of Criminal Case No. 419 of 2025 (State Vs. Jitendra Kumar and others) arising out of Case Crime No. 55/2025, under Sections 69 and 351(2) of B.N.S., Police Station- Gandhi Park, District- Aligarh.

3. Learned counsel for applicants submits that the relationship between applicant no. 1 and victim was of love and affection since their graduation time, which could not mature into marriage, though the accused applicant no. 1 and victim being adult entered in sexual intercourse with consent. The accused applicant has not hide his identity to maintain relations with the victim. The accused applicant and victim were studying together and there was love affairs between the two. Further submits that the victim has no case of sexual intercourse on false promise of marriage, but the proposal and assurance was bona fide and the relations between two was not due to any deceitful act of accused applicant. The statement of victim recorded under Section 180 and 183 B.N.S.S. is inconsistent. The victim is a lawyer, who knew repercussion of her act and long duration of sexual intercourse between the two adults without playing of deceit is inferred as consensual relation. Further submits that the victim has demanded Rs. 10 lakhs from the applicant prior to lodging of the F.I.R. and in the event of not handing over the amount a false and frivolous F.I.R. at a belated stage is lodged. Learned counsel has relied on the case of Mahesh Damu Khare Vs. State of Maharashtra and another reported in (2024) 11 SCC 398; Pramod Suryabhan Pawar Vs. State of Maharashtra reported in (2019) 9 SCC 608; Prashant Vs. State of NCT of Delhi reported in (2025) 5 SCC 764.

4. Learned A.G.A. and learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 have submitted that the case in hand is of sexual intercourse on false promise of marriage, where the accused applicant no. 1 since the year 2021 had continuously entered into sexual intercourse on false promise of marriage. The victim in her statement under Sections 180 & 183 B.N.S.S. has made specific allegation against the accused applicant no. 1, which has been corroborated by other witnesses, who were residing in the same vicinity where the victim resides. Further submits that the false promise of marriage was given by the applicant no. 1 since the start of their affairs and in the garb of false promise of marriage he has pursued the victim to enter into sexual intercourse and lastly he has refused to enter into marriage. Further submits that the applicant no. 1 is in police and in the garb of his uniform he has continuously threatened the victim. The threatening has also been extended by applicant nos. 2 and 3. As such, the victim could not muster courage to lodge the F.I.R. Further submits that the cases cited by the accused applicant are of offence under Indian Penal Code, whereas, the new provision under Section 69 of B.N.S. is for the offence of sexual intercourse which is not rape, but held punishable. Hence, submits that the application is devoid of merit and is liable to be dismissed.

5. This Court has taken into consideration the rival submissions made by the parties and perused the record.

6. The point of concerned in the present case is whether the accused applicant no. 1 has entered into sexual intercourse with the victim on false promise of marriage by playing fraud on the victim, which required to be tried or the prima facie material available on record goes to infer that no case is made out against the applicants and proceeding with the trial would tantamount to miscarriage of justice.

7. The F.I.R. dated 06.02.2025 has been lodged by opposite party no. 2 at Police Station-Gandhi Park, District Aligarh, which was registered at 2:00 p.m. in Case Crime No. 55/2025 for the incidents carried out between 01.09.2021 to 16.01.2025, for the offence of sexual intercourse on false promise of marriage, forceful abortion and criminal intimidation against the applicants with the allegations that the opposite party no. 2 is resident of Aligarh and was B.Sc. Student in the year 2015-16, where accused applicant no. 1 was also studying, they came in contact with each other, entered in love relation and reciprocate the promise of marriage. This relationship continuously persist. In the years 2019-20, the applicant no. 1 got a job in police department. In the year 2021, he came to meet the victim at Aligarh and gave an assurance of marriage. Then on false promise of marriage, he entered in sexual intercourse with the victim in the month of September 2021, for the first time. Whenever, the victim used to ask applicant no. 1 about the marriage, he avoided on one pretext or the other but consistently entered in sexual intercourse. In the month of July, 2024, she became pregnant. The victim asked the accused for marriage but he has asked her to wait till 2025 and forcefully gave some pills for abortion, against her will. On 26.11.2024 the applicant no. 1 came to her room, stayed there from 2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. and had sexual intercourse. Subsequently, the victim got a message from the accused applicant no. 1 that applicant nos. 2 and 3 were to talk to her, as it was odd hours of night, she stated to talk to them in the morning but subsequently applicant no. 1 informed that they have refused the proposal of marriage. On 16.01.2025, the victim posted a message on the mobile phone of accused applicant no. 1 asking either to get marry or she may take recourse of law, on which applicant nos. 2 and 3 have threatened her of dire consequences and false implication, on her mobile on 16.01.2025 at 8:54 p.m.

8. From the bare perusal of contents of the FIR, following facts have been emerged:-

8.1 The accused applicant no. 1 and victim were college friend since 2015-16;

8.2 They entered in love relations since the college time;

8.3 There was promise of marriage between the two;

8.4 In the year 2019-20, the applicant no. 1 got a job in police department;

8.5 The applicant no. 1 has assured marriage with the victim in the year 2021;

8.6 The sexual intercourse between applicant no. 1 and victim, for the first time took place in the month of September, 2021. It is alleged in the FIR that the sexual intercourse was continued to false promise of marriage;

8.7 This sexual intercourse between the two, continued from the month of September, 2021 to 26.11.2024;

8.8 In the month of July, 2024 the victim became pregnant and she was forcefully administered the abortion pills. During the investigation, the Investigating Officer did not find any material to substantiate this fact and, therefore, the charge sheet is not submitted for offence under Section 89 BNS;

8.9 On 26.11.2024, the accused applicant no. 1 came to the room of the victim, stayed there from 2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. and they had sexual intercourse;

8.10 On 26.11.2024, she got a message from applicant no. 1 that his brother and sister-in-law would like to talk to her, but she could not reciprocate, as it was odd hours of night and stated to talk to them in the next morning;

8.11 The victim could not receive the call and in the evening, she was intimidated by applicant no. 1 that the marriage is refused;

8.12 On 16.01.2025, the victim posted a message on the mobile phone of applicant no. 1 asking him either to marry or she may take legal recourse;

8.13 It is on 16.01.2025 at 8:54 p.m. that there was conversation between applicant nos. 2 & 3 with the victim, wherein they have threatened the victim of dire consequences and false implication of her family members in cases.

9. The victim in her statement under Sections 180 BNSS has stated that she is 28 years of age, studied LL.B. and is a lawyer, resident of District- Bulandshahar and residing at District- Aligarh. She has reiterated the allegations made in the FIR. In specific questions put to her about her abortion, she could not give either the name of the pills or the medical papers for her abortion.

10. In her statement under Section 183 BNSS, the victim has reiterated what she has stated in the FIR lodged by her and in her statement recorded under Section 180 BNSS, but for the first time, she has disclosed that on 31.01.2020, she has attended the marriage of sister of accused applicant no. 1 and on the next day, the accused applicant no. 1 has asked her, what she has disclosed with the family members which has created problem in his family, on which she has stated that if he is not comfortable to disclose about their relations in his family then she will not disclose the same. The another incident which is not disclosed either in the FIR or in her statement under Section 180 BNSS is about the video recording of her nude video while the accused applicant no. 1 was on video call with the victim and those photographs and videos were found deleted when she has checked her phone on 29.11.2024.

11. The above facts, as has been taken out from the plain reading of FIR and statement of victim recorded under Sections 180 & 183 BNSS is required to be weigh on the touchstone of the legal proposition.

12. Section 69 of Bhartiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 provides that “Whoever, by deceitful means or by making promise to marry a woman without any intention of fulfilling the same, has sexual intercourse with her, such sexual intercourse not amounting to the offence of rape, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to ten years and shall also be liable to fine."

13. The provision contained in Section 69 of B.N.S. is a new induction in penal law, wherein sexual intercourse with a woman, by deceitful means including false promise of marriage is not Rape, but is made punishable. Prior to the enactment the courts interpret the conduct of parties in view of the provisions of Section 375 I.P.C. (Rape) coupled with the provision of Section 90 I.P.C (Consent known to be given under fear or misconception). The explanation provided under Section 69 B.N.S. of "Deceitful means" "shall include the false promise of employment or promotion, inducement, or marrying after suppressing identity."

14. If, the old and new provision in Indian Penal Code and Bhartiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 is taken into consideration. In both the provisions the false promise of marriage is considered as deceitful means to sought consent of the victim. Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of Pramod Suryabhan Pawar (supra) has made a clear distinction pertaining to promise at the very inception is mala fide and the promise bona fide made but not fulfilled. The relevant paragraph no. 18 of the judgment is reiterated underneath:-

"18. To summarise the legal position that emerges from the above cases, the "consent" of a woman with respect to Section 375 must involve an active and reasoned deliberation towards the proposed act. To establish whether the "consent" was vitiated by a misconception of fact arising out of a promise to marry, two propositions must be established. The promise of marriage must have been a false promise, given in bad faith and with no intention of being adhered to at the time it was given. The false promise itself must be of immediate relevance, or bear a direct nexus to the woman's decision to engage in the sexual act."

15. The plain reading of FIR, statement of victim recorded under Sections 180 & 183 BNSS clearly shows that the accused applicant no. 1 and victim were in love relations from the year 2015-16 while both were student of Bachelor of Science. There was reciprocal promise of marriage between the two and even assurance given by the accused applicant no. 1 after getting a job that he will marry the victim shows his bona fides. Therefore, the plain reading of the above material clearly shows that the promise of marriage was bona fide.

16. It is also not the case of the victim that the accused has hide his identity or was already engaged somewhere else and the promise of marriage was false from the beginning.

17. Hon'ble the Supreme Court in catena of judgments made observations that the two able minded adults if maintain long term physical relations then a presumption would arise that they have voluntarily chosen their consensual relationship to enter into sexual intercourse and subsequent non fulfillment of promise of marriage would not attract any offence. This analogy is drawn from the dictum of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Ravish Singh Rana Vs. State of Uttarakhand reported in [(2025) SCC OnLine SC 1055 (paragraphs 14 & 15)] and Prashant Vs. State of NCT of Delhi reported in [(2025) 5 SCC 764 (paragraph no. 20)].

18. Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of Mahesh Damu Khare (supra) has dealt in paragraph no. 28 that the continued physical relations on false promise of marriage with no protest, which continued for years takes out the sting of criminal culpability. The relevant paragraph is reiterated underneath:-

“28. Moreover, even if it is assumed that a false promise of marriage was made to the complainant initially by the appellant, even though no such cogent evidence has been brought on record before us to that effect, the fact that the relationship continued for nine long years, would render the plea of the complainant that her consent for all these years was under misconception of fact that the Appellant would marry her implausible. Consequently, the criminal liability attached to such false promise would be diluted after such a long passage of time and in light of the fact that no protest was registered by the complainant during all those years. Such a prolonged continuation of physical relationship without demurral or remonstrance by the female partner, in effect takes out the sting of criminal culpability and neutralises it.”

19. Thus, at no stretch of imagination, considering the material on record, particularly the allegations made in the FIR, the statement made by the victim recorded under Sections 180 & 183 BNSS, there is any criminal act committed by accused applicant no. 1 which requires to be tried, as is discussed here-in-above. So far as the trial of accused applicant nos. 2 & 3 are concern, the same is not having any material available on record except the statement of the victim and allegations made in the FIR.

20. Hence, the application under Section 528 BNSS is allowed. Consequently, the charge sheet dated 30.03.2025, cognizance taking order dated 22.05.2025 passed by learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate-1, Aligarh and the entire proceeding of Criminal Case No. 419 of 2025 (State Vs. Jitendra Kumar and others) arising out of Case Crime No. 55/2025, under Sections 69 and 351(2) of B.N.S., Police Station- Gandhi Park, District- Aligarh, is quashed.

Counsel for Applicant(s) : Divyanshu Pathak, Hemant Shukla Counsel for Opposite Party(s) : G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Avnish Saxena, J.)

1. Learned A.G.A. has filed the counter affidavit. Sri Shive Datta Yadav, learned counsel for the opposite party no.4 appears and files vakalatnama as well as the counter affidavit. The same are taken on record.

2. Sri Divyanshu Pathak, learned counsel for the accused-applicant appears and submits that he does not want to file rejoinder affidavit in reply to the counter affidavit filed by the State as well as the opposite party no.4. He submits that sole ground of moving the present application under Section 528 B.N.S.S. is the framing of charge by the trial court without the mandatory compliance of Section 230 B.N.S.S., which mandates that the copy of police report and other documents shall be provided to the accused-applicant and further submits that the order of taking cognizance dated 06.01.2025 passed by the Special Judge POCSO Act, Etawah in Special Case No.22 of 2025 (State of U.P. Vs. Vijendra Kumar), arising out of Case Crime No.111 of 2024, under Sections 137(2), 87, 352, 65(1) B.N.S. and Sections 3/4(2) of POCSO Act as well as Sections 3(1)Dha, 3(2)5 of S.C./S.T. Act, Police Station Usarahar District Etawah, has not made any mention in the order that the copies be provided to the accused-applicant. He further submits that Sections 261 and 262 of B.N.S.S. provides for an opportunity of accused to move the discharge application and provides a limitation for the same, whereas, the trial court without providing the documents and the copy of police report to the accused-applicant has fixed the date for framing of charge and therefore, has not complied the mandatory provisions of the Act. Hence, seeks interference of this Court.

3. Sri Shive Datta Yadav, learned counsel for the opposite party no.4 and learned A.G.A. for the State have stated that the trial court has provided the copies of police papers and documents, which has been received by the accused-applicant on the margin of the order shown at page no.95 of the application. Both of them have stated that the order dated 06.01.2025 shows that the court has taken cognizance in the presence of the accused on 06.01.2025 and sufficient time was provided to the accused to move the discharge application, but has not been moved by the accused, which led to the framing of charge on 04.04.2025. Further submits that the applicant has belatedly moved the present application and therefore, the application is devoid of merits and liable to be dismissed.

4. This Court has taken into consideration the rival submissions made by the parties and perused the record.

5. Section 230 B.N.S.S. provides that the court concerned shall provide the copies of documents and police papers relied on by the prosecution not beyond 14 days from the date of production or appearance of the accused. The provision of Section 230 B.N.S.S. is reiterated underneath:-

"Section 230. Supply to accused of copy of police report and other documents. In any case where the proceeding has been instituted on a police report, the Magistrate shall without delay, and in no case beyond fourteen days from the date of production or appearance of the accused, furnish to the accused and the victim (if represented by an advocate) free of cost, a copy of each of the following:?"

(i) the police report;

(ii) the first information report recorded under section 173;

(iii) the statements recorded under sub-section (3) of section 180 of all persons whom the prosecution proposes to examine as its witnesses, excluding therefrom any part in regard to which a request for such exclusion has been made by the police officer under sub-section (7) of section 193;

(iv) the confessions and statements, if any, recorded under section 183;

(v) any other document or relevant extract thereof forwarded to the Magistrate with the police report under sub-section (6) of section 193;

Provided that the Magistrate may, after perusing any such part of a statement as is referred to in clause (iii) and considering the reasons given by the police officer for the request, direct that a copy of that part of the statement or of such portion thereof as the Magistrate thinks proper, shall be furnished to the accused;

Provided further that if the Magistrate is satisfied that any such document is voluminous, he shall, instead of furnishing the accused and the victim (if represented by an advocate) with a copy thereof, may furnish the copies through electronic means or direct that he will only be allowed to inspect it either personally or through an advocate in Court;

Provided also that supply of documents in electronic form shall be considered as duly furnished."

6. The charge sheet dated 13.12.2024 is submitted before the Special court of POCSO Act, on which, the trial court has taken cognizance by order dated 06.01.2025. The order taking cognizance is reiterated underneath:-

“आज विवेचक अपराध संख्या - 111/2024, थाना- उसराहार, इटावा की ओर से विवेचना के उपरान्त अभियुक्त विजेन्द्र कुमार के विरुद्ध धारा- 137(2), 87, 352, 65(1) B.N.S. & 3/4(2) Pocso Act & 3(1)घ, 3(2)5 SC/ST ACT के अपराध में आरोप पत्र प्रस्तुत किया गया है।

अभियुक्त विजेन्द्र कुमार जिला कारागार से उपस्थित आया। सुना एवं अभियुक्त के विरुद्ध प्रेषित आरोप पत्र एवं संलग्न केस डायरी का अवलोकन किया। वादी मुकदमा पीड़िता एवं अन्य गवाहों के धारा 180 बी. एन. एस. में दिये बयानों का अवलोकन किया।

अभियुक्त विजेन्द्र कुमार के विरुद्ध धारा 137(2), 87, 352, 65(1) B.N.S. & 3/4(2) Pocso Act & 3(1)घ, 3(2)5 SC/ST ACT के अपराध का संज्ञान लिये जाने के लिए पर्याप्त आधार है। अपराध का प्रसंज्ञान लिया जाता है।

विशेष वाद पंजीकृत हो।

पत्रावली वास्ते आरोप दिनांक- 20.01.2025 को प्रस्तुत हो।

अभियुक्त विजेन्द्र कुमार जिला कारागार से आहूत हो। “

7. The above order reveals that on the date of taking cognizance, the accused, who was in jail, was before the court. The endorsement on the margin of the order reveals that the warrant of the accused was changed on that date and it also carries the signatures of the accused. The order does not show the compliance of mandatory requirement of Section 230 B.N.S.S. as there is no compliance directed in the order, it cannot be inferred by the signatures of the accused at the margin that the copies of the documents and police papers would have been provided to the accused-applicant. The compliance of Section 230 B.N.S.S., 2023 is not a mere formality but an epitome of fair trial.

8. It is the argument of learned counsel of the accused-applicant that the trial court by order dated 06.01.2025 has fixed the date for framing of charge, whereas, Sections 261 and 262 B.N.S.S. specifically provide for moving an application for discharge. This argument of learned counsel is not convincing because a right is provided to the accused-applicant for moving an application for discharge, for which the time period is provided. The Court cannot anticipate whether the accused-applicant may move the application for discharge or not. As such, the fixing of a date for framing of charge is a just and proper order.

9. This Court found that the non-compliance of Section 230 B.N.S.S. has made further proceedings of the case and framing of the charge in contravention to the legal provision and violation of the cardinal principle of free and fair trial, which has an implication that the charge framed by the trial court on 04.04.2025 is liable to be quashed, to give way to the accused for moving of discharge application.

10. Thus, the applicant shall be provided with the copies of police papers and the documents in accordance with Section 230 B.N.S.S. within a week. The accused thereafter, shall be at liberty to move the discharge application in pursuance to the provision of Sections 261 and 262 B.N.S.S.

11. The application under Section 528 B.N.S.S. is accordingly allowed.

The said gang is an inter-district gang which is active and on 07.11.2022 with an intention to forcible occupying the plot of a victim Nazeer Fatima being plot no.181D, Defense Colony, Jajmau, Kanpur Nagar, collected together and involved in the activity of setting it ablaze and threatening her for life, for which Case Crime No. 127 of 2022, under Sections 436/506 I.P.C. in which later on Sections 147/327/427/386/504/120B I.P.C. were added, was registered in which charge sheet no. A-48/22, dated 09.12.2022 and charge sheet no. A-48A/22, dated 19.12.2022 have been filed. An active member of gang Rizwan Solanki is also involved in a case being Case Crime No. 519/17, under Sections 420/427 I.P.C. and The Prevention of Damage to Public Property Act, Police Station-Gangaghat, District Unnao, on the basis of which he has been identified as a Bhoomafiya. He was involved in forcibly occupying land of Gram Sabha and selling it off. Mohd. Sharif a member of gang, is involved in Case Crime No. 30/20, under Sections 406/420/504/506 I.P.C., Police Station Gwaltoli, in which by committing cheating and forgery and threatening for life he had gained in terms of money. The case is pending in the court concerned. Israil Aatewala another member of the gang is involved in Case Crime No.114/19, under Sections 147/452/506/384 I.P.C., Police Station Bajaria, District Kanpur Nagar, in which after investigation charge sheet has been filed against him. He is a history-sheeter of Police Station Bajaria, which are annexed along with the gang chart and they are involved in acts prejudicial to the law and order. They are involved in various criminal activities of arson, forcibly taking properties into possession, cheating and forgery and other criminal activities. Due to their criminal activities there is a fear in the public and commotion in the area. Their living freely is not in the interest of public. No one comes forward for lodging of reports and giving evidence due to their fear. Their acts make out a case under Section 3(1) of The Uttar Pradesh Gangsters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986.

(B) A gang chart dated 24.12.2022 was prepared by Assistant Commissioner of Police (Cantt.), Commissionerate, Kanpur Nagar and forwarded to the superior officers on which Additional Police Commissioner (East), Kanpur Nagar recommended and forwarded it on 24.12.2022. Commissioner of Police (East), Kanpur Nagar has also accorded his sanction and forwarded it vide order dated 24.12.2022 after which Commissioner of Police, Commissionerate, Kanpur Nagar approved it vide his order dated 25.12.2022. As per gang chart the applicant Irfan Solanki is shown to be involved in Case Crime No. 127 of 2022, under Sections 147, 436, 506, 327, 427, 386, 504, 120B I.P.C., Police Station Jajmau, District Kanpur Nagar in which charge sheet is stated to have been forwarded. In so far as the members of the gang are concerned, Rizwan Solanki, Israil Aatewala and Mohd. Sharif are shown to be involved in two cases and Shaukat Ali is shown to be involved in one case.

(C) Investigation in the matter concluded and a charge sheet dated 27.6.2023 under Section 3(1) of The Uttar Pradesh Gangsters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986, was filed against Irfan Solanki, Rizwan Solanki, Israil Aatewala, Mohd. Sharif and Shaukat Ali. The Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 11, MP/MLA, Kanpur Nagar vide order dated 21.7.2023 took cognizance upon the same and summoned the accused.

(D) An application dated 12.12.2024 claiming discharge was filed by Irfan Solanki and Rizwan Solanki in the matter. The said application stood rejected vide order dated 30.08.2025. The Court of Special Judge MP/MLA/Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 8, Kanpur Nagar vide order dated 17.09.2025 framed charge against the accused Irfan Solanki, Rizwan Solanki, Mohd. Israil Aatewala, Mohd. Sharif, Shaukat Ali, Mursalin Khan @Bholu and Ajjan@Ajaz for the offence under Section 3(1) of The Uttar Pradesh Gangsters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986. The said charge was read over to the accused and explained to them who denied the same and claimed to be tried. The trial then started.

(E) It is common ground between learned counsels for the applicant(s) and learned counsels for the State that trial in the matter has started and testimony of P.W.-1 has been recorded, after which examination-in-chief of P.W.2 has concluded and the matter is being listed for his cross-examination.

(F) This application under Section 528 B.N.S.S. thus has been filed and is being pressed at this stage.

5. Learned counsel for the applicant submits as under:-

(A) The applicant has been falsely implicated in the present case.

(B) The proceedings against the applicant are totally abuse of process of court.

(C) The applicant is a former MLA representing Sisamau Constituency of Kanpur Nagar from Samajwadi Party having won elections in the year 2022.

(D) In the case being shown against the applicant in the gang chart being Case Crime No. 127 of 2022, Police Station Jajmau, District Kanpur Nagar, he was convicted by the trial court concerned vide judgement and order dated 03.06.2024 against which he preferred an appeal before the High Court being Criminal Appeal No. 6659 of 2024 in which he has been granted bail vide order dated 14.11.2024 but prayer for stay of conviction was refused by the High Court and then he has approached the Apex Court for the same through SLP (Crl.) No. 2168 of 2025, in which notice has been issued and the matter is pending, para 23 of the affidavit in support of this application has been placed before the Court to buttress the same.

(E) Only on account of political vengeance the District Administration on the instance of political rivals of the applicant have implicated him and his brother in a false case previously being Case Crime No. 127/22, Police Station Jajmau, District Kanpur Nagar and thereafter in a series of false cases in continuation and subsequently in the present case under the The Uttar Pradesh Gangsters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986 also, para-25 of the affidavit in support of this application has been placed before the Court to buttress the same.

(F) The applicant although was previously involved in 8 criminal cases but his implication in all the cases are false. Disclosure and explanation therein is given in para-32 of the affidavit in support of this application wherein in 04 cases Final Report has been submitted in his favour, 03 cases have been withdrawn under Section 321 Cr.P.C. and in one case he is on bail. The said cases are prior to lodging of the present case, para-32 of the affidavit in support of this application has been placed before the Court to buttress the same.

(G) After the present case on account of political vengeance the District Administration has implicated him in 10 other criminal cases including the present case and Case Crime No. 127/2022 and in 08 cases he has been granted bail by the courts concerned, disclosure and explanation is given in para-33 of the affidavit in support of present application u/s 528 BNSS, 2023.

(H) Reliance has been placed heavily on the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Vinod Bihari Lal vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and another: 2025 INSC 767 and it is submitted that there is a clear violation of Rules of The Uttar Pradesh Gangsters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Rules, 2021.

(I) The records do not show that there was any joint meeting between the Commissioner of Police and Additional Police Commissioner while according approval to the Gang Chart, there was total non-application of mind by the authority in approving it, the Commissioner of Police has not accorded sanction in accordance with Rule 16(3) of Rules 2021. There is lack of independent assessment by the competent authority in forwarding the Gang Chart and there is significant procedural lapse as approvals have been accorded on a pre-printed format of the Gang Chart.

(J) The present petition thus deserves to be allowed and the prayers as prayed for be granted.

6. Learned Additional Advocate General for the State of U.P. duly assisted by learned Additional Government Advocates vehemently opposed the petition, prayers and arguments of learned counsel for the applicant and submitted as under:-

(A) The present petition has been filed with multiple prayers in it and even it contains the prayer for quashing of the orders at a very belated stage inasmuch as at present trial is under progress in which evidence of witnesses is being recorded and thus challenging the summoning order and the order rejecting application for discharge cannot be considered at such a belated stage.

(B) The charge has been framed against the applicant and other accused and at that stage, they denied it and claimed to be tried, which is also impugned herein and now at this stage, challenging the summoning order and the order rejecting the application for discharge is again too belated.

(C) Satisfaction of the authorities concerned while approving the gang-chart is duly recorded in the gang-chart and it cannot be said that they acted in a mechanical manner while approving it.

(D) The Commissioner of Police while finally approving the gang-chart has specifically made a note of his satisfaction for its approval which itself is evident from the gang-chart. The same is hand-written in it and thus it cannot be said that approval is on a pre-formatted gang-chart.

(E) The judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Vinod Bihari Lal (Supra) cannot be followed as a precedent as the F.I.R. therein was lodged on 28.7.2018, the gang-chart was approved by the District Magistrate concerned on 28.07.2018 but the Rules as are considered in the said judgement are of the year 2001 and thus the same is not applicable in the present case.

(F) The trial is at an advanced stage and thus at this stage where the evidence of witnesses is being recorded, interference in a petition whereby challenge is to the summoning order, order of rejection of discharge application and framing of charge is not in the interest of justice as after framing of charge the accused can be acquitted but not discharged since testimony of the witnesses is being recorded. Reliance has been placed on the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Amit Kapoor v. Ramesh Chander and another: 2012 (9) SCC 460.

(G) The present petition is thus devoid of any merit and deserves to be dismissed.

7. After having heard learned counsels for the parties and perusing the records, it is evident that this petition under Section 528 B.N.S.S., 2023 (corresponding to Section 482 Cr.P.C.) has been filed by the applicant- Irfan Solanki with the prayers to quash the proceedings of S.T. No. 838 of 2023 (State vs. Irfan Solanki and others), Under Section 3(1) of the Uttar Pradesh Gangsters Act, 1986, arising out of Case Crime No.156/2022, Police Station- Jajmau, District Kanpur Nagar, pending in the Court of Special Judge MP/MLA/Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 08, Kanpur Nagar, quash the charge sheet dated 27.6.2023, quash the order taking cognizance/summoning dated 21.7.2023, quash the order dated 30.08.2025 rejecting the discharge application of the applicant and further to quash the order dated 17.9.2025 framing charge under Section 3(1) of the Uttar Pradesh Gangsters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986. At the very outset, the stage of trial at the present moment is not disputed by learned counsels for the parties being the stage of cross-examination of P.W.-2 after completion of his examination-in-chief and also completion of recording of testimony of P.W.-1. The prayers in the present application for quashing is many folds. The orders taking cognizance and summoning cannot be looked into at this stage for the purpose of quashing since after the same the application for discharge was filed by the applicant-accused which stood rejected by the trial court, subsequent to which charge has been framed against him and co-accused. In so far as the ground of violation of Rules 2021 are concerned, looking to the facts of the case and the gang-chart it transpires that the Commissioner of Police concerned on 25.12.2022 gave his opinion independently in it while approving the same. It thus cannot be said that he merely signed on a pre-formatted gang chart while according approval. The applicant has been convicted in a case by the trial court concerned against which an appeal is pending before the High Court. This Court in the case of Kunal Chawala vs. State of U.P. and another: 2023 SCC OnLine All 4606, in para-14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19 has held that:-

“14. The Apex Court in the case of Ratilal Bhanji Mithani Vs. State of Maharashtra and others : (1979) 2 SCC 179 has held that after framing of charge there cannot be a discharge but only an acquittal can be done on a finding of not guilty turning on the merits of the case. It has been held as follows :-

“24. At the outset, let us have a look at the relevant provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, which admittedly governed the pending proceedings in this case. The procedure for trial of warrant cases by Magistrates is given in Chapter XXI of that Code. The present case was instituted on a criminal complaint. Section 252 provides that in such a case, the Magistrate shall proceed to hear the complainant (if any) and take all such evidence, as may be produced, in support of the prosecution. Sub-section (2) of that Section casts a duty on the Magistrate to ascertain the names of persons likely to be acquainted with the facts of the case and to be able to give evidence for the prosecution, and to summon all such persons for evidence. Section 253 indicates when and in what circumstances an accused may be discharged: It says:

“253. (1) If, upon taking all the evidence referred to in Section 252, and making such examination (if any) of the accused as the Magistrate thinks necessary, he finds that no case against the accused has been made out which, if unrebutted, would warrant his conviction, the Magistrate shall discharge him.

(2) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prevent a Magistrate from discharging the accused at any previous stage of the case if, for reasons to be recorded by such Magistrate, he considers the charge to be groundless.”

Section 254 indicates when and in what circumstances a charge should be framed. It reads:

“254. If, when such evidence and examination have been taken and made, or at any previous stage of the case, the Magistrate is of opinion that there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed an offence triable under this Chapter, which such Magistrate is competent to try, and which, in his opinion could be adequately punished by him, he shall frame in writing a charge against the accused.

Section 255 enjoins that the charge shall then be read over and explained to the accused, and he shall be asked whether he is guilty or has any defence to make. If the accused pleads guilty, the Magistrate shall record that plea, and may convict him thereon.

25. Section 256 provides that if the accused refuses to plead or does not plead, or claims to be tried, he shall be required to state at the next hearing whether he wishes to cross-examine any of the witnesses for the prosecution whose evidence has been taken, and if he says he so wants to cross-examine, the witnesses named by him shall be recalled and he will be allowed to further cross-examine them. "The evidence of any remaining witnesses for the prosecution shall next be taken" and thereafter the accused shall be called upon to enter upon and produce his defence.

26. Section 257 is not material. Section 258(1) provides that if in any case in which a charge has been framed the Magistrate finds the accused not guilty, he shall record an order of acquittal. Sub-section (2) requires, where in any case under this chapter the Magistrate does not proceed in accordance with the provisions of Section 349 or Section 562, he shall, if he finds the accused guilty, pass sentence on him in accordance with law.

27. From the scheme of the provisions noticed above it is clear that in a warrant case instituted otherwise than on a police report, "discharge" or "acquittal" of accused are distinct concepts applicable to different stages of the proceedings in Court. The legal effect and incidents of "discharge" and "acquittal" are also different. An order of discharge in a warrant case instituted on complaint, can be made only after the process has been issued and before the charge is framed. Section 253(1) shows that as a general rule there can be no order of discharge unless the evidence of all the prosecution witnesses has been taken and the Magistrate considers for reasons to be recorded, in the light of the evidence, that no case has been made out. Sub-section (2) which authorises the Magistrate to discharge the accused at any previous stage of the case if he considers the charge to be groundless, is an exception to that rule. A discharge without considering the evidence taken is illegal. If a prima facie case is made out the Magistrate must proceed under Section 254 and frame charge against the accused. Section 254 shows that a charge can be framed if after taking evidence or at any previous stage, the Magistrate, thinks that there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed an offence triable as a warrant case.

28. Once a charge is framed, the Magistrate has no power under Section 227 or any other provision of the Code to cancel the charge, and reverse the proceedings to the stage of Section 253 and discharge the accused. The trial in a warrant case starts with the framing of charge; prior to it, the proceedings are only an inquiry. After the framing of the charge if the accused pleads not guilty, the Magistrate is required to proceed with the trial in the manner provided in Sections 254 to 258 to a logical end. Once a charge is framed in a warrant case, instituted either on complaint or a police report, the Magistrate has no power under the Code to discharge the accused, and thereafter, he can either acquit or convict the accused unless he decides to proceed under Section 349 and 562 of the Code of 1898 (which correspond to Sections 325 and 360 of the Code of 1973).

29. Excepting where the prosecution must fail for want of a fundamental defect, such as want of sanction, an order of acquittal must be based upon a "finding of not guilty" turning on the merits of the case and the appreciation of evidence at the conclusion of the trial.

30. If after framing charges the Magistrate whimsically, without appraising the evidence and without permitting the prosecution to produce all its evidence, "discharges" the accused, such an acquittal, without trial, even if clothed as "discharge", will be illegal. This is precisely what has happened in the instant case. Here, the Magistrate, by his order dated December 12, 1962, framed charges against Mithani and two others. Subsequently, when on the disposal of the revision applications by Gokhale, J., the records were received back he arbitrarily deleted those charges and discharged the accused, without examining the “remaining witnesses” of the prosecution which he had in the order of framing charges, said, “will be examined after the charge”.

15. The situation is the same in the present matter. After taking cognizance on the chargesheet, framing of charges, accused not pleading guilty and claiming to be tried, the trial starting and one witness has been examined whereas the statement of the other prosecution witnesses is being recorded, the applicant who is facing trial comes up challenging the cognizance/summoning order dated 28.02.2022 as well as entire proceedings of the trial at such a belated stage.

16. It has been held by the Apex Court in the cases of R.P. Kapur Vs. State of Punjab : AIR 1960 SC 866; State of Haryana and Ors. Vs. Bhajan Lal and Others : 1992 Supp (1) SCC 335; State of Bihar Vs. P. P. Sharma : 1992 Supp (1) SCC 222; Trisuns Chemical Industry Vs. Rajesh Agarwal and Ors. : (1999) 8 SCC 686; M. Krishnan Vs. Vijay Singh & Anr. : (2001) 8 SCC 645; Zandu Pharmaceuticals Works Ltd. Vs. Mohammad Shariful Haque : (2005) 1 SCC 122; M. N. Ojha Vs. Alok Kumar Srivastava : (2009) 9 SCC 682; Joseph Salvaraj A. Vs. State of Gujarat and Ors. : (2011) 7 SCC 59; Arun Bhandari Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and Ors. : (2013) 2 SCC 801; Md. Allauddin Khan Vs. State of Bihar : (2019) 6 SCC 107; Anand Kumar Mohatta and Anr. Vs. State (NCT of Delhi), Department of Home and Anr. : (2019) 11 SCC 706; Rajeev Kourav Vs. Balasaheb & others : (2020) 3 SCC 317; Nallapareddy Sridhar Reddy Vs. The State of Andhra Pradesh : (2020) 12 SCC 467, that exercise of inherent power of the High Court under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure is an exceptional one. Great care should be taken by the High Court before embarking to scrutinise the complaint/FIR/charge-sheet in deciding whether the rarest of the rare case is made out to scuttle the prosecution.

17. Further in the case of Priti Saraf & anr. Vs. State of NCT of Delhi & anr. : 2021 SCC Online SC 206 the Apex Court while considering the powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has held as follows:

"23. It being a settled principle of law that to exercise powers under Section 482 CrPC, the complaint in its entirety shall have to be examined on the basis of the allegation made in the complaint/FIR/charge-sheet and the High Court at that stage was not under an obligation to go into the matter or examine its correctness. Whatever appears on the face of the complaint/FIR/charge-sheet shall be taken into consideration without any critical examination of the same. The offence ought to appear ex facie on the complaint/FIR/charge-sheet and other documentary evidence, if any, on record.

24. The question which is raised for consideration is that in what circumstances and categories of cases, a criminal proceeding may be quashed either in exercise of the extraordinary powers of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution, or in the exercise of the inherent powers of the High Court under Section 482 CrPC. This has often been hotly debated before this Court and various High Courts. Though in a series of decisions, this question has been answered on several occasions by this Court, yet the same still comes up for consideration and is seriously debated.

25. In this backdrop, the scope and ambit of the inherent jurisdiction of the High Court under Section 482 CrPC has been examined in the judgment of this Court in State of Haryana and Others Vs. Bhajan Lal and Others, (1992 Suppl (1) SCC 335). The relevant para is mentioned hereunder:-

“102. In the backdrop of the interpretation of the various relevant provisions of the Code under Chapter XIV and of the principles of law enunciated by this Court in a series of decisions relating to the exercise of the extraordinary power under Article 226 or the inherent powers under Section 482 of the Code which we have extracted and reproduced above, we give the following categories of cases by way of illustration wherein such power could be exercised either to prevent abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice, though it may not be possible to lay down any precise, clearly defined and sufficiently channelised and inflexible guidelines or rigid formulae and to give an exhaustive list of myriad kinds of cases wherein such power should be exercised.

(1) Where the allegations made in the first information report or the complaint, even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out a case against the accused.

(2) Where the allegations in the first information report and other materials, if any, accompanying the FIR do not disclose a cognizable offence, justifying an investigation by police officers under Section 156(1) of the Code except under an order of a Magistrate within the purview of Section 155(2) of the Code.

(3) Where the uncontroverted allegations made in the FIR or complaint and the evidence collected in support of the same do not disclose the commission of any offence and make out a case against the accused.

(4) Where, the allegations in the FIR do not constitute a cognizable offence but constitute only a non-cognizable offence, no investigation is permitted by a police officer without an order of a Magistrate as contemplated under Section 155(2) of the Code.

(5) Where the allegations made in the FIR or complaint are so absurd and inherently improbable on the basis of which no prudent person can ever reach a just conclusion that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused.

(6) Where there is an express legal bar engrafted in any of the provisions of the Code or the concerned Act (under which a criminal proceeding is instituted) to the institution and continuance of the proceedings and/or where there is a specific provision in the Code or the concerned Act, providing efficacious redress for the grievance of the aggrieved party.

(7) Where a criminal proceeding is manifestly attended with mala fide and/or where the proceeding is maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused and with a view to spite him due to private and personal grudge.”

26. This Court has clarified the broad contours and parameters in laying down the guidelines which have to be kept in mind by the High Courts while exercising inherent powers under Section 482 CrPC. The aforesaid principles laid down by this Court are illustrative and not exhaustive. Nevertheless, it throws light on the circumstances and the situation which is to be kept in mind when the High Court exercises its inherent powers under Section 482 CrPC.

27. It has been further elucidated recently by this Court in Arnab Manoranjan Goswami Vs. State of Maharashtra and Others, 2020 SCC Online SC 964 where jurisdiction of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India and Section 482 CrPC has been analysed at great length.

28. It is thus settled that the exercise of inherent power of the High Court is an extraordinary power which has to be exercised with great care and circumspection before embarking to scrutinise the complaint/FIR/charge-sheet in deciding whether the case is the rarest of rare case, to scuttle the prosecution at its inception.”

8. In the case of Ramveer Upadhyay Vs. State of U.P. : 2022 SCC Online SC 484 the Apex Court has held in paragraph nos. 27 and 38 that quashing of a criminal case by exercising jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. should be done in exceptional cases only. Paragraphs 27 and 38 are quoted herein:-

"27. Even though, the inherent power of the High Court under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C., to interfere with criminal proceedings is wide, such power has to be exercised with circumspection, in exceptional cases. Jurisdiction under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C is not to be exercised for the asking.

38. Ends of justice would be better served if valuable time of the Court is spent on hearing appeals rather than entertaining petitions under Section 482 at an interlocutory stage which might ultimately result in miscarriage of justice as held in Hamida v. Rashid @ Rasheed and Others, (2008) 1 SCC 474.”

9. Further in the case of Daxaben Vs. State of Gujarat : 2022 SCC Online SC 936 in para 49 the Apex Court has held as under:

"49. In exercise of power under section 482 of the Cr.P.C., 1973 the Court does not examine the correctness of the allegation in the complaint except in exceptionally rare cases where it is patently clear that the allegations are frivolous or do not disclose any offence.”

10. Further in so far as the ground relating to political vengeance is concerned, in the case of Ramveer vs. State of U.P.: 2022 SCC OnLine 484, the Apex Court has held in para- 39 that a criminal case cannot be quashed on the ground of political vengeance. Para- 39 reads as under:-

“39. In our considered opinion criminal proceedings cannot be nipped in the bud by exercise of jurisdiction under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. only because the complaint has been lodged by a political rival. It is possible that a false complaint may have been lodged at the behest of a political opponent. However, such possibility would not justify interference under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. to quash the criminal proceedings. As observed above, the possibility of retaliation on the part of the petitioners by the acts alleged, after closure of the earlier criminal case cannot be ruled out. The allegations in the complaint constitute offence under the Atrocities Act. Whether the allegations are true or untrue, would have to be decided in the trial. In exercise of power under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C., the Court does not examine the correctness of the allegations in a complaint except in exceptionally rare cases where it is patently clear that the allegations are frivolous or do not disclose any offence. The Complaint Case No.19/2018 is not such a case which should be quashed at the inception itself without further Trial. The High Court rightly dismissed the application under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C.”

11. The Apex Court in the case of Pradeep Kumar Kesarwani Versus State of Uttar Pradesh and Another : 2025 SCC OnLine SC 1947 has laid a four-step test for High Courts to follow while considering petitions for quashing criminal proceedings under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. It has been held as under:

“20. The following steps should ordinarily determine the veracity of a prayer for quashing, raised by an accused by invoking the power vested in the High Court under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C.:”

(i) Step one, whether the material relied upon by the accused is sound, reasonable, and indubitable, i.e., the materials is of sterling and impeccable quality?

(ii) Step two, whether the material relied upon by the accused, would rule out the assertions contained in the charges levelled against the accused, i.e., the material is sufficient to reject and overrule the factual assertions contained in the complaint, i.e., the material is such, as would persuade a reasonable person to dismiss and condemn the factual basis of the accusations as false.

(iii) Step three, whether the material relied upon by the accused, has not been refuted by the prosecution/complainant; and/or the material is such, that it cannot be justifiably refuted by the prosecution/complainant?

(iv) Step four, whether proceeding with the trial would result in an abuse of process of the court, and would not serve the ends of justice?

If the answer to all the steps is in the affirmative, judicial conscience of the High Court should persuade it to quash such criminal - proceedings, in exercise of power vested in it under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. Such exercise of power, besides doing justice to the accused, would save precious court time, which would otherwise be wasted in holding such a trial (as well as, proceedings arising therefrom) specially when, it is clear that the same would not conclude in the conviction of the accused. [(See:Rajiv Thapar v. Madan Lal Kapoor (Criminal Appeal No. 174 of 2013)]

12. The proposition of law, the facts of the case, the stage of trial which is not disputed by learned counsels for the parties, the prima facie material available against the applicant, the non-fulfillment of the conditions of the four-step test, does not call for this Court to consider it a fit case for interference and thus the present application under Section 528 B.N.S.S. is dismissed.

13. Pending application(s), if any, shall stand disposed of.

...Appellant

Versus

State of U.P.

...Respondent

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether the conviction of the appellant under S. 302 IPC recorded by the learned Additional District and Sessions Judge, Deoband, Saharanpur, is vitiated on account of:

- (i) alleged contradictions in the testimony of PW-1,
- (ii) absence of motive, and
- (iii) non-examination of independent witnesses.

Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S. 302 – Murder - Conviction - Appreciation of evidence - Sole eye-witness - Wife of deceased - Natural witness - Incident occurring inside dwelling house - Minor contradictions in testimony - Delay between examination-in-chief and cross-examination - Effect.

Held, minor discrepancies attributable to lapse of time and mental disposition - Such contradictions neither material nor going to root of prosecution case - Evidence of PW-1 reliable and trustworthy - Relationship of witness with deceased by itself not ground to discard testimony - Murder committed inside house - Inmates natural witnesses - non-examination of independent witnesses not fatal.

Motive - Accused desirous of selling ancestral land - Objection by deceased - Suspicion regarding illicit relations - Motive proved.

Medical evidence - Post-mortem showing multiple incised wounds on vital parts - Cause of death due to shock and haemorrhage - Medical evidence fully corroborating ocular testimony - Recovery - Weapon of assault (Balkati) recovered on pointing out of accused - Corroborative circumstance - Conviction and sentence of life imprisonment upheld - Appeal dismissed. (E-7)

Held: In the depositions of witnesses there may always be some normal discrepancies - Minor discrepancies are bound to occur by lapse of time - The contradiction in the statement of PW-1, Smt. Babita is very trivial in nature, which cannot negate or demolish the prosecution story - In view of the statements of both PW-1, Smt Babita and PW-2 Raj Kumar the motive to kill the deceased is very much clear - If murder is committed in a dwelling house, the inmates of the house are the natural witnesses and not the witnesses of the vicinity - The evidence of the prosecution witnesses find full corroboration by the postmortem examination report - We do not find any illegality or perversity in the impugned judgement Consequently, the appeal is dismissed. 1. The instant criminal appeal has been filed by appellant against a judgment dated 20.09.2019 and order dated 23.09.2019 passed by the Additional District and Sessions Judge, Deoband, Saharanpur in Sessions Trial No. 603 of 2015 arising out of Case Crime No. 247 of 2015, under Section 302 IPC whereby the learned Judge convicted and sentenced the appellant to life imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 10,000/-, in case of default in payment of fine, he was further directed to undergo additional imprisonment of one year.

Brief Facts of the case

2. The brief facts of the case as set up in the first information report is that a written report was filed by Smt. Babita, wife of Harpal Singh, resident of Rankhandi, Police Station Deoband, District Saharanpur that Rajendra Singh, son of late Subedar Singh (hereinafter referred to as "the accused-appellant") wanted to sell the ancestral property of his part, which was being opposed by her husband Harpal Singh (hereinafter referred to as "the deceased") for the future of his (accused) children due to which the accused-appellant harbour enmity with the deceased and used to abuse the deceased. He also extended threat to the deceased for dire consequences. On 28.04.2015, some dispute took place between the accused and the deceased in the evening and thereafter accused left the place. At about 09:30 or 10:00, the accused-appellant came back and sat in ambush in his earlier house and as soon as deceased reached there, the accused-appellant attacked him indiscriminately by Balkati over head and body. On hearing the noise, when the first informant came out of the house, she saw the accused assaulting her husband (deceased). On her shrieks, members of her family and co-villagers rushed to the spot. Seeing the witnesses, the accused fled away along with Balkati towards north. Her husband was taken to the Government Hospital, Deoband, where doctor referred him to District Saharanpur, where he succumbed to his injuries.

3. On the basis of the aforesaid report, a case was registered against the accused-appellant at Case Crime No.247 of 2015, under Section 302 IPC, which was entered in GD at 12:20 hours.

4. After the registration of the FIR, the law set into motion and investigation of the case was entrusted to PW-7, Braj Mohan Yadav, who rushed to the spot and recorded the statement of the informant-Smt. Babita, wife of the deceased, inspected the spot and also recorded the statements of witnesses Rampal and Mahipal. He also collected plain and bloodstained earth from the spot, sealed it and prepared memo thereof. On 03.5.2015, he recorded the statements of witnesses Raj Kumar, Kunwar Pal, Mukesh Kumar, Hariom Gulshan, Vijendra Singh, Chirag, Bittu, Monti, Smt. Baby and Smt. Anita. On 30.05.2015 he copied the postmortem report in the case diary. On 04.6.2015, he arrested the accused and recorded his statement. On 07.6.2015, he recorded the statements of witnesses Amit Tomar, Raj Kumar, Mange Ram, Constable Pradeep Kumar and Constable Rajendra Singh. He also prepared site plan for recovery of the weapon of assault. After culmination of investigation, the investigating officer submitted charge sheet against the appellant under Section 302 IPC, which he proved as Ext. Ka-11.

5. PW-7, Braj Mohan Yadav, the investigating officer of the case has also recovered the weapon of assault (Balkati) on the pointing out of the accused-appellant from the bushes of sugarcane field of Kumri, son of Phool Singh Thakur in the presence of Raj Kumar, PW-2 and Amit Tomar. The accused-appellant confessed to his crime and stated that from the Balkati he assaulted/cut the deceased in the night of 28.04.2015.

6. After submission of charge sheet, the learned Sessions Judge, Saharanpur framed the charges against the appellant under Section 302 IPC on 14.09.2015, which was read over and explained to the accused in Hindi. However, the charge was later on modified vide order dated 10.01.2017.

7. To bring home guilt of the appellant, the prosecution has examined as many as seven prosecution witnesses. PW-1, Babita is the first informant and wife of the deceased, PW-2, Raj

Kumar is the witness of inquest and brother of the deceased and the appellant, PW-3 is the witness of recovery of bloodstained and simple earth, PW-4 HCP 197 Mange Ram, PW-5, Dr. Hemant Rastogi, who conducted postmortem examination on the cadaver of the deceased, PW-6, Head Constable 43 Nita Sharma, who prepared the Chik FIR and PW-7, Braj Mohan Yadav, the investigating officer of the case, who submitted the charge sheet.

8. PW-1, Smt. Babita is the first informant and wife of the deceased. She reiterated the versions given in the FIR. She further stated that the accused-appellant had suspicion that the deceased has illicit relation with his wife.

9. PW-2, Raj Kumar Singh, son of Subedar Singh, in his examination-in-chief, which was recorded on 11.09.2018 deposed that he lives outside Deoband in connection with his job. On 28.04.2015, he got information on telephone that Rajendra (accused) has killed his elder brother Harpal (deceased) with Balkati. He further deposed that Harpal used to support accused's family. Both accused and appellant live in the same house in different rooms. Accused-Rajendra wanted to sell his land, which was objected to by the deceased because accused used to drink liquor after selling the land. Due to the aforesaid reasons accused killed the deceased. This witness also deposed that Inquest on the body of deceased Harpal was conducted in his presence. In his opinion, the cause of death of the deceased was due to the antemortem injuries sustained by the deceased by Balkati. He also put his signature on the inquest report. He also proved his signature on paper No. 9/1 and 9/2. In addition to him, Mukesh, Kanwar Pal, Hariom and Gulshan also signed on the inquest report.

10. PW-3, Chirag Kumar, son of Ved Pal in his examination-in-chief deposed that on 28.04.2015, he got information in the night that his uncle Rajendra has caused injuries to Harpal by Balkati and member of his family took the injured to the hospital at Saharanpur. On the way to hospital, he succumbed to the injuries. On 29.04.2015 police visited the village and collected plain and bloodstained earth and after preparing memos thereof, took his signature on the same, which he proved as paper No 8/1.

11. PW-4, HCP 197 Mange Ram, in his examination-in-chief, which was recorded on 19.03.2019, deposed that on 28.04.2015, he was posted at police station Deoband as HCP. On that date on the information received by police station Janakpuri, Saharanpur, he took the dead body of the deceased from mortuary and got the inquest conducted. After getting the dead body sealed, sent the same for postmortem examination by Constable Rajendra and Constable Pradeep.

12. PW-5, Dr. Hemant Rastogi, in his examination-in-chief, which was recorded on 26.06.2019 deposed that on 29.04.2015, he was posted as Anesthetist in SBD District Hospital, Saharanpur. On that date he conducted the autopsy on the cadaver of the deceased, who was brought by Constable Pradeep Kumar and Constable Rajendra Singh. Doctor found the following antemortem injuries on the cadaver of the deceased:

1. Incised wound 16 cm x 2 cm bone deep on left side head, just above left ear. Left parietal and temporal bone was fractured. Margin clean cut.

2. Incised wound 12 cm x 1 cm bone deep on right side back of head, 2.5 cm behind right ear. Right temporal and occipital bone fractured. Margin clear.

3. Incised wound 9 cm x 2 cm brain deep on back of head, injury No 3 communicate to injury No. 2 underneath occipital bone fractured. Margin clean cut.

4. Incised wound 10 cm x 2 cm bone deep on back of head, 8 cm above C-7 vertebra underneath occipital bone fractured. Margin clean cut.

5. Incised wound 6 cm x 1.5 cm bone deep on inter scapular region, just below base of neck, margin clean cut.

6. Incised wound 4 cm x 2 cm bone deep on outer aspect of right upper arm upper part, margin clean cut.

7. Incised wound 3 cm x 2 cm x through and through on right pinna.

13. In the opinion of the doctor, the cause of death of the deceased was shock and hemorrhage as a result of ante mortem injuries. Doctor further opined that between the time of death and conducting postmortem report, the duration was half to one day.

14. The evidences of PW-6, Head Constable 43 Nita Sharma, Chik writer of the FIR and PW-7, Inspector Braj Mohan, the investigating officer of the case has already been discussed above.

15. After the closure of the prosecution evidence, the statement of the accused-appellant was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., who denied the charges leveled against him and claimed to be tried. He further stated that he is innocent and the first informant and the deceased kept accused's wife and children to their favour and that they also harbour enmity with him.

16. Learned Additional District and Sessions Judge, Deoband, Saharanpur after hearing the learned counsel for the parties and assessing, evaluating and scrutinizing the evidence on record, convicted and sentenced the accused-appellant as indicated herein above.

17. Hence, this appeal.

Submissions on behalf of appellant

18. Sri Pravin Kumar Mishra, learned Amicus Curiae appearing on behalf of the appellant, who has been appointed by the Co-ordinate Bench of this Court vide order dated 02.05.2023, vehemently submitted that there are several contradictions in the statement of P.W.-1. The trial court while examining the entire evidences, has committed gross error in not considering the contradictions in the statement of PW-1. It is also submitted that the prosecution has miserably failed to prove the motive for killing of the deceased by the appellant. It is also submitted that no other independent witness of the locality has been examined by the prosecution to prove the incident.

Submissions on behalf of State

19. On the other hand, Sri S.K. Ojha, learned Additional Government Advocate representing the State vehemently opposed the instant appeal and submitted that there is no contradiction in the statement of P.W.-1 who is the sole eye-witness of instant incident and, if any, minor contradiction has occurred in her statement, the same may be the result of long gap as she has been cross-examined after one and half year after recording of her examination-in-chief, which is not sufficient to negate the prosecution story.

20. Learned Additional Government Advocate further submitted that as per the postmortem report there are total seven injuries sustained by the deceased, out of which, six were on the vital part of the body and one on the hand and all the injuries sustained by the deceased were caused by sharp edged weapon, therefore, the postmortem injuries also support the prosecution case. Sri Ojha, learned AGA further submitted that weapon of assault (Balkati) was recovered on the pointing out of appellant. Sri Ojha, learned AGA for the State submitted that taking into consideration all the evidences on record, prosecution was successful in proving the case against the appellant beyond the hilt for the offence under Section 302 I.P.C., therefore, there is no illegality or error in the judgement of the trial court and this appeal being devoid of merit, deserves to be dismissed.

Analysis and conclusion

21. Heard Sri Pravin Kumar Mishra, learned Amicus Curiae appearing on behalf of the appellant, Sri S.K. Ojha, learned AGA appearing on behalf of the State and perused the evidences on record.

22. The first contention of learned counsel for the appellant is that there is contradiction in the statement of PW-1, Babita. Learned counsel for the appellant has pointed out that the trial court while examining the entire evidences, has committed gross error in not considering the contradictions in the statement of PW-1, who is stated to be the eyewitness of the occurrence. He has also pointed out that in her examination-in-chief, PW-1 has stated that on hearing her hue and cry, the other family members had also reached the spot and saw the incident, whereas in her cross-examination she has stated that when other family members of her family reached there, by that time, the accused fled away. Therefore, there is contradiction in her statement and it is high chance that he has not seen the occurrence.

23. In the depositions of witnesses there may always be some normal discrepancies. These discrepancies are due to lapse of time and mental disposition such as shock and horror at the time of the occurrence. Material discrepancies are those which are not normal and go to the root of the prosecution case and not expected of a normal person. Therefore, such a minor contradiction mentioned by the learned counsel for the appellant is of no help to the appellant inasmuch as the examination-in-chief of PW-1, Smt. Babita was recorded on 08.12.2016, whereas her cross-examination was done on 04.5.2018, i.e. after one and a half year after the recording of her examination-in-chief and, therefore, such a minor contradiction is bound to occur by lapse of time.

24. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Vinod Kumar Vs. State of Punjab, (2015) 3 SCC 220, has dealt with a situation where a witness after rendering testimony in line with the prosecution's version completely abandoned it, in view of the long adjournments given permitting an act of maneuvering. Hon'ble Supreme Court while expressing its anguish, observed as under:

“It is necessary, though painful, to note that PW-7 was examined-in-chief on 30.09.1999 and was cross-examined on 25.5.2001, almost after 1 year and 8 months. The delay in said cross-examination, as we have stated earlier had given enough time for prevarication due to many a reason. A fair trial is to be fair both to the defence and the prosecution as well as to the victim. An offence registered under the Prevention of Corruption Act is to be tried with all seriousness. We fail to appreciate how the learned trial Judge could exhibit such laxity in granting so much time for cross-examination in a case of this nature. It would have been absolutely appropriate on the part of the learned trial Judge to finish the cross-examination on the day the said witness was examined. As is evident, for no reason whatsoever it was deferred and the cross-examination took place after 20 months. The witness had all the time in the world to be gained over. We have already opined that he was declared hostile and reexamined.”

25. The aforesaid decision was further followed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Rajesh Yadav and another Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh (2022) 12 SCC 200.

26. Further the contradiction in the statement of PW-1, Smt. Babita is very trivial in nature, which cannot negate or demolish the prosecution story. It is settled proposition of law that even if there are some omissions, contradictions and discrepancies, the entire evidence cannot be disregarded. After exercising care and caution and sifting through the evidence to separate truth from untruth, exaggeration and improvements, the Court comes to a conclusion as to whether the residuary evidence is sufficient to convict the accused. Thus, an undue importance should not be attached to omissions, contradictions and discrepancies which do not go to the heart of the matter and shake the basic version of the prosecution witnesses. As the mental abilities of a human being cannot be expected to be attuned to absorb all the details of the incident, minor discrepancies are bound to occur in the statements of witnesses.

27. In State of Rajasthan Vs. Kalki (1981)2 SCC 752, High Court of Rajasthan acquitted the accused on the grounds that PW-1 was highly interested witness because she is the wife of the deceased and that there were discrepancies in her statement. Against the order of High Court, State of Rajasthan preferred a Criminal Appeal. Hon'ble Supreme Court set aside the order of the High Court and convicted the accused. The Court in paragraphs 5, 6 and 7 held as under:

“5. As mentioned above the High Court has declined to rely on the evidence of P.W.1 on two grounds: (1) she was a "highly interested" witness because she "is the wife of the deceased", and (2) there were discrepancies in her evidence. With respect, in our opinion, both the grounds are invalid. For, in the circumstances of the case, she was the only and most natural witness; she was the only person present in the hut with the deceased at the time of the occurrence, and the only person who saw the occurrence. True, it is she is the wife of the deceased; but she cannot be called an 'interested' witness. She is related to the deceased. 'Related' is not equivalent to 'interested'. A witness may be called 'interested' only when he or she derives some benefit from the result of a litigation; in the decree in a civil case, or in seeing an accused person punished. A witness who is a natural one and is the only possible eye witness in the circumstances of a case cannot be said to be 'interested'. In the instant case P.W.1 had no interest in protecting the real culprit, and falsely implicating the respondents.

6. The second ground on which the High Court refused to place reliance on the evidence of P.W. 1 was that there were "material discrepancies". As indicated above we have perused the evidence of P.W. 1. We have not found any "material discrepancies" in her evidence. The discrepancies referred to by the High Court are, in our opinion, minor, insignificant, natural and not 'material'. The discrepancies are with regard to as to which accused "pressed the deceased and at which part of the body to the ground and sat on which part of the body; with regard to whether the respondent Kalki gave the axe blow to the deceased while the latter was standing or lying on the ground, and whether the blow was given from the side of the head or from the side of the legs. In the depositions of witnesses there are always some normal discrepancies however honest and truthful they may be. These discrepancies are due to normal errors of observation, normal errors of memory due to lapse of time, due to mental disposition such as shock and horror at the time of the occurrence, and the like. Material discrepancies are those which are not normal, and not expected of a normal person. As indicated above we have not found any material discrepancies in the evidence of the P. W. 1.

7. Learned counsel for the respondent submitted that the appeal involved only appreciation of evidence and this Court may not interfere with the findings of facts resulting from appreciation of evidence. It is true that in an appeal under Article 136 of the Constitution this Court normally does not interfere with findings of facts arrived at by the High Court. But when it appears that the findings of facts arrived at are bordering on perversity and result in miscarriage of justice, this Court will not decline to quash such findings to prevent the miscarriage of justice."

28. In State represented by Inspector of Police Vs. Saravanam and another, (2008)17 SCC 587, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that while appreciating the evidence, the court has to take into consideration whether the contradictions/omissions had been of such magnitude that they may materially affect the trial. Minor contradictions, inconsistencies, embellishments or improvements on trivial matters without effecting the core of the prosecution case should not be made a ground to reject the evidence in its entirety. The Trial Court, after going through the entire evidence, must form an opinion about the credibility of the witnesses and the appellate Court in normal course would not be justified in reviewing the same again without justifiable reasons.

29. In State of U.P. Vs. M.K. Anthony, (1985)1 SCC 505, Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"While appreciating the evidence of a witness, the approach must be whether the evidence of the witness read as a whole appears to have a ring of truth. Once that impression is formed, it is undoubtedly necessary for the court to scrutinise the evidence more particularly keeping in view the deficiencies, draw-backs and infirmities pointed out in the evidence as a whole and evaluate them to find out whether it is against the general tenor of the evidence given by the witness and whether the earlier evaluation of the evidence is shaken as to render it unworthy of belief. Minor discrepancies on trivial matters not touching the core of the case, hyper-technical approach by taking sentences torn out of context here or there from the evidence, attaching importance to some technical error committed by the investigating officer not going to the : root of the matter would not ordinarily permit rejection of the evidence as a whole. If the court before whom the witness gives evidence had the opportunity to form the opinion about the general tenor of evidence given by the witness, the appellate court which had not this benefit will have to attach due weight to the appreciation of evidence by the trial court and unless there are reasons weighty and formidable it would not be proper to reject the evidence on the ground of minor variations or infirmities in the matter of trivial details. Even honest and truthful witnesses may differ in some details unrelated to the main incident because power of observation, retention and reproduction differ with individuals. Cross examination is an unequal duel between a rustic and refined lawyer. Having examined the evidence of this witness, a friend and well-wisher of the family carefully giving due weight to the comments made by the learned Counsel for the respondent and the reasons assigned to by the High Court for rejecting his evidence simultaneously keeping in view the appreciation of the evidence of this witness by the trial court, we have no hesitation in holding that the High Court was in error in rejecting the testimony of witness Nair whose evidence appears to us trustworthy and credible.”

30. So far as next contention of learned counsel for the appellant that there was no motive for the accused to have committed the murder of his brother (deceased) is concerned, it is to be mentioned that it is stated by PW-1, Smt. Babita that accused Rajendra wanted to sell the ancestral land, which was being opposed by the deceased. PW-1, Smt Babita in her evidence has also stated that accused-appellant had suspicion that deceased had illegal affairs with wife. PW-2, Raj Kumar Singh, son of Subedar Singh, who is the real brother of the accused and the deceased, in his evidence has stated that accused Rajendra wanted to sell his land, which was being opposed by the deceased as accused used to drink liquor after selling his land. Due to that reason, accused has killed the deceased. In view of the statements of both PW-1, Smt Babita and PW-2 Raj Kumar the motive to kill the deceased is very much clear.

31. The last contention of learned counsel for the appellant is that witnesses are related to deceased and no independent witness of the vicinity has been produced. It may be noted that the incident took place in the house of the deceased and the accused, which was only witnessed by the first informant, who is the wife of the deceased and has been examined as PW-1 in the case, therefore, the question of production of witness from the vicinity does not arise, whose deposition finds full support from the postmortem report. It is to be noted that murder are not committed with previous notice to witnesses soliciting their presence, if murder is committed in a dwelling house, the inmates of the house are the natural witnesses and not the witnesses of the vicinity.

32. In Hari Obula Reddy and others Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1981) 3 SCC 675, a three Judge Bench of the Supreme court has observed thus:

“ It is well settled that interested evidence is not necessarily unreliable evidence. Even partisanship by itself is not a valid ground for discrediting or rejecting sworn testimony, nor can it be laid down as an invariable rule that interested evidence can never form the basis of conviction unless corroborated to a material extent in material particulars by independent evidence.”

33. In Arjun and others Vs. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Suppl (1) SCR 616, Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

“We are not convinced by the aforesaid argument that either on account of animosity or on account of relationship, the witnesses did not divulge the truth but fabricated a false case against the appellants. It is needless to emphasis that enmity is a double edged sword which can cut both ways. However, the fact remains that whether the prosecution witnesses are close relatives of the deceased victim or on inimical terras with the deceased involved in the crime of murder, the witnesses are always interested to see that the real offenders of the crime are booked and they are not, in any case, expected to leave out the real culprits and rope in the innocent persons simply because of the enmity. It is, therefore, not a safe rule to reject their testimony merely on the ground that the complainant and the accused persons were on inimical terms. Similarly the evidence could not be rejected merely on the basis of relationship of the witnesses with the deceased.”

34. In Mano Dutt Vs. State of U.P. (2012, Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

“More often than not, in such cases involving family members of both sides, it is a member of the family or a friend who comes to rescue the injured. Those alone are the people who take the risk of sustaining injuries by jumping into such a quarrel and trying to defuse the crisis. Besides, when the statement of witnesses, who are relatives, or are parties known to the affected party, is credible, reliable, trustworthy, admissible in accordance with the law and corroborated by other witnesses or documentary evidence of the prosecution, there would hardly be any reason for the Court to reject such evidence merely on the ground that the witness was family member or interested witness or person known to the affected party. There can be cases where it would be but inevitable to examine such witnesses, because, as the events occurred, they were the natural or the only eye witness available to give the complete version of the incident.”

35. Moreover, PW-1, Smt Babita was subjected to lengthy cross-examination, but nothing could be elicited to make her evidence unreliable.

36. Appellant has committed the gruesome murder of his brother. The presence of the first informant, who is the wife of the deceased at the place of occurrence was natural as the incident happened in the house of the deceased and the appellant. The evidence of the prosecution witnesses find full corroboration by the postmortem examination report. There is no reason for the false implication of the accused-appellant by the prosecution witnesses leaving the real culprits to go scot free.

37. In view of what has been indicated herein above, we do not find any illegality or perversity in the impugned judgement dated 20.09.2019 and order dated 23.09.2019 passed by the Additional District and Sessions Judge, Deoband, Saharanpur in ST No. 603 of 2015 arising out of Case Crime No 247 of 2015, under Section 302 IPC Consequently, the appeal is dismissed.

38. The appellant is on bail. His bail bond is cancelled and sureties are discharged. He is directed to surrender before the court concerned within four weeks to serve out the remaining sentence awarded by the Trial Court.

39. Office is directed to send a copy of this judgement along with record of this case to the court concerned/learned Sessions Judge, Saharanpur forthwith for immediate compliance and compliance report be submitted to this Court.

Criminal Appeal No. 674 of 1984

Sagheer Ahmad

...Appellant

Versus

State of U.P.

...Respondent

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to conviction of the appellant under S.s 302 and 201 IPC based on circumstantial evidence and last seen theory, and whether the chain of circumstances was complete, in absence of direct evidence, motive, test identification parade and recovery.

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Ss. 302 and 201 - Murder and causing disappearance of evidence of offence - Conviction based on circumstantial evidence - Five golden principles - Onus on prosecution to prove that the chain is complete - Criminal Trial - Circumstantial Evidence - Last seen theory - Chain of circumstances required to be complete - Principles laid down in Sharad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra reiterated - Child Witness - Reliability - Evidence of child witness admissible if capable of understanding questions and giving rational answers - Corroboration by independent witnesses sufficient - No rule that evidence of child witness must always be rejected - Motive - Significance in Circumstantial Evidence - In absence of direct evidence, motive assumes importance - Loan dispute establishes motive - Absence of motive not fatal if chain otherwise complete - Test Identification Parade - When not required - When accused is known to witnesses, test identification parade not necessary - Non-recovery - Effect - Mere non-recovery not fatal when medical and circumstantial evidence establish guilt. (Para 13,14,15,16,27,29,31(vi)) (E-7)

Held: The prosecution has been able to prove the complete chain of circumstances leading only to the guilt of the appellant - The evidence of child witness P.W.5 stands corroborated by independent witnesses P.W.2, P.W.7 and P.W.8. - Medical evidence fully supports the prosecution case - The motive stands established - No illegality or infirmity found in the judgment of the trial court - Conviction and sentence upheld - appeal dismissed. (Paras 31, 32, 33, 34)

Case Arising From

APPELLATE JURISDICTION: Criminal Appeal No. 674 of 1984 arising out of judgment and order dated 25.08.1984 passed in Sessions Trial No. 266 of 1981, by Ist Additional Sessions Judge, Sultanpur, convicting the appellant under S.s 302 and 201 IPC.

Appearances for PartiesAdvs. for the Appellant:

Sri Syed Ahmad Saud, Advocate

Sri Syed Mohammad Abid, Advocate

Advs. for the Respondents:

Sri Pawan Kumar Mishra, Learned A.G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajnish Kumar, J.)

(1) Heard Sri Syed Ahmad Saud, Advocate alongwith Sri Syed Mohammad Abid, learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Pawan Kumar Mishra, learned AGA for the State.

(2) This Criminal Appeal under Section 374 of Criminal Procedure Code (hereinafter referred to as Cr.P.C.), has been filed against the judgment and order dated 25.08.1984 passed in Sessions Trial No.266/1981 (The State versus Sagheer Ahmad) by Ist Additional Sessions Judge, Sultanpur, by means of which the appellant has been convicted and sentenced with life imprisonment under Section 302 of Indian Penal Code(hereinafter referred as IPC) and to undergo 4 years rigorous imprisonment under Section 201 IPC. It has further been provided that the substantive sentence of imprisonment is sufficient and no fine need to be imposed.

(3) The prosecution case is that the the deceased Rehan @ Bablu aged about 10 years, son of Abdul Bashir, was residing with his mother Smt. Haseen Jahan. He used to come to her house and his children used to call him Mamu. Sagheer came to the house of Smt. Haseen Jahan at about 5:00 p.m. on 14.04.1981. The deceased Bablu was playing outside alongwith his brother Salman at that time. Bablu was wearing striped bush shirt and blue pant. Sagheer took Bablu on his cycle on the pretext of showing him exhibition. Bablu was seen in the company of the accused by Salim who works in a tailoring shop in the neighbourhood of Smt. Haseen Jahan and also by Jamil Ahmad at Charbagh Station, Lucknow in the evening. Bablu did not return in the night, therefore, after waiting throughout the night, Smt. Haseen Jahan asked Haji Mushtaq at about 5 a.m. on 15.04.1981 for lodging a missing report of Bablu at Police Station. Mushtaq Ahmad lodged a missing report of Bablu at about 11:30 a.m. on 15.04.1981.

(4) Sub-Inspector Shambhoo Nath of Police Station Chowk searched for the missing child and made enquiries. He came to know that the accused Sagheer was detained by the persons of Mohalla Chobdari. He made enquiries from the accused, who told Sub-Inspector about the whereabouts of the child. Thereafter the Sub-Inspector took him alongwith him and came to village Jagdishpur, District Sultanpur on 16.04.1981 and made search for the missing child Bablu but he was not found. Thereafter, the Sub-Inspector went alongwith the accused Sagheer to Village Wazirganj, District Sultanpur, where he came to know that the dead body of a child was found near the canal and the police of Police Station Jagdishpur has prepared the inquest report of the dead body. The Sub-Inspector went to the Police Station Jagdishpur on 17.04.1981, where he showed photograph of the child Bablu, which was identified and he came to know that the dead body of Bablu was found in Khanti(ditch) near canal, information of which was given by Kandhai, Chowkidar of Village Namdarpur at Police Station Jagdishpur. The said information was noted in the general diary of Police Station Jagdishpur at Sl. No.30 on 15.04.1981. Thereafter, Sub-Inspector Rohan Lal proceeded to the spot and prepared inquest report and the site plan. The dead body was sent for post mortem examination, which held on 16.04.1981 at 12:45 p.m. The photograph of the deceased was also taken on 15.04.1981.

(5) Sub-Inspector Shambhoo Nath returned to Police Station Chowk and detained the accused in connection with the murder of Bablu and after receipt of the post mortem examination report of Bablu, a case under Section 302 and 201 IPC was registered on 25.04.1981. The Investigating Officer, after completing the investigation and on the basis of material and evidence collected during investigation, filed a charge sheet against the accused i.e. the appellant. Charge was framed by the learned Session Judge under Section 302 and 201 IPC. The accused pleaded not guilty to the charge and claimed to be tried.

(6) In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined Kandhai as P.W.1, Salim as P.W.2, Uma Charan Jaiswal as P.W.3, Ghulam Waris as P.W.4, Mohd. Salman as P.W.5, Smt. Haseen Jahan as P.W.6, Jamil Ahmad as P.W.7, Moti Lal as P.W.8, Dr. C.K. Gupta as P.W.9, Rohan Lal, Sub-Inspector as P.W.10, Banarasi Rai A.S.I. as P.W.11, Head Constable Sheo Sahai Pandey as P.W.12 and Sub-Inspector Shambhoo Nath as P.W.13. The prosecution also placed on record certain documentary evidence and proved the same, which have been exhibited.

(7) Dr. C.K. Gupta (P.W.9), who conducted the post mortem, opined that the cause of death was due to asphyxia, as a result of compression of neck and death could have occurred in the night of 14/15.4.1981. He proved post mortem report Ex. Ka 2.

(8) Learned counsel for the appellant argued three grounds i.e. absence of motive, lack of identification and lack of corroboration. He submitted that in absence of test identification, the evidence of P.W.6 could not have been relied. He also submitted that the other shop keepers have not been examined, so the case of prosecution was not corroborated. He further submitted that no disclosure and recovery has been made at the instance of the appellant. He further submitted that there are major contradictions in the evidence of P.W.3 and P.W.7. He further submitted that it is highly improbable that the accused would have carried the deceased from Lucknow to Sultanpur on cycle. Thus, he submitted that neither the prosecution story is believable, nor the prosecution proved it's case beyond reasonable doubt. He further submitted that it was a case of circumstantial evidence and the motive or the chain of circumstances leading to the guilt of the appellant only could not be proved by the prosecution. Therefore, the conviction of the appellant made by the learned trial Court is not sustainable in the eyes of law. Thus, the impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentence is liable to be set aside. The appeal is liable to be allowed and the appellant is liable to be acquitted. Learned counsel for the appellant relied on Shatrughan versus State of Chhatisgarh;(2023) 20 SCC 63, Nandu Singh versus State of Madhya Pradesh(Now Chhatisgarh);(2022) 19 SCC 301 and Balwinder Singh versus State of Punjab; 1995 Suppp (4) SCC 259.

(9) Learned AGA vehemently opposed the submissions of learned counsel for the appellant. He submitted that the deceased was missing since 14.04.1981 and the missing report was lodged after search on 15.04.1981 at 11:30 a.m. He further submitted that the body of the deceased was recovered on 16.04.1981, in a village in Sultanpur. He further submitted that it is a case of circumstantial evidence, in which, the prosecution proved the chain of circumstances, which are complete and they lead to the guilt of the appellant only. The prosecution has proved it's case beyond reasonable doubt. The learned trial court, after considering the evidence and material on record, has rightly and in accordance with law convicted and sentenced the appellant by means of the impugned judgment and order by passing a reasoned and speaking order. The impugned judgment and order does not suffer from any illegality or infirmity, which may call for any interference by this Court. The appeal has been filed on misconceived and baseless grounds. The appeal is liable to be dismissed.

(10) We have considered the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and perused the records.

(11) The missing report of the deceased Rehan @ Bablu son of Abdul Waheed, aged about 10 years, who was residing with his mother Smt. Haseen Jahan and brothers, was lodged by Mustaq Ahmad at Police Station Chowk on 15.04.1981 at 11:30 a.m. During search, Rehan @ Bablu was found dead, therefore, a case under Section 302 and 201 IPC was registered on 22.04.1981 and after investigation charge sheet was filed against the appellant, cognizance was taken and the case was committed to session. The charge was framed by the trial court, which was denied by the appellant. Hence trial held and the appellant has been convicted and sentenced as disclosed above. Hence, this appeal has been filed.

(12) Smt. Haseen Jahan, mother of the deceased Rehan @ Bablu, who appeared as P.W.6, stated that her son Rehan @ Bablu was playing outside before 4 to 5 in the evening, while he was missed. He was wearing striped bu-shirt and blue pant at that time. Rehan @ Bablu was playing with her other son Salman. The accused is her cousin brother(fufi jaat bhai). He had come to her house on the said date and after the namaj of magrib, he went. Her son Salman came to house and went for sleeping. Rehan @ Bablu had not come. She thought, he must have been playing but Rehan @ Bablu did not come in the night, therefore, after waiting upto 4 to 5 in the morning, he asked to Haji Mustaq to lodge the F.I.R. She has also stated that Sagheer had come to her house on the next date, when the police came and made enquiries from him and took him with them. She also stated that the accused used to demand money from her but she declined to give, as she had no means to pay. Her husband was working in a factory in Arab at that time. On a query of the court, she stated that on the date of the incident, the accused had demanded money from her but she had declined, as she had no money. She had stated that she had not asked from Salman about Rehan @ Bablu, when he came back and he had also not told and he had slept.

(13) Salman, the brother of the deceased Rehan @ Bablu appeared as P.W.5. He was aged about 7 years at the time of his evidence on 06.12.1983, therefore, at the time of alleged incident, he must have been around 5 years of age. He properly replied the answers as recorded by learned trial court. Learned trial court has also recorded that he is capable of understanding the facts and given the rational answers of the questions put to him. He recognized photograph of his brother in the group photograph (Ex.1). He also stated that other name of the Bablu was Rehan. He stated that he also recognizes the accused Sagheer and stated that he is his Mamu in relation. He stated that many days ago, his Mamu Sagheer had took away his brother Bablu for showing exhibition. It was evening time and time of namaj of Magrib and since then his brother has not come home. He took away his brother from near the house and he was present there at that time. He has also stated that he had also asked for taking him also and wept for that but the accused Sagheer had given him coin(chawanni) and thereafter he had not gone. He has also stated that the accused took away Bablu by cycle and thereafter he has not returned. He does not know as to whether he is alive or dead. He also stated that the accused Sagheer made Bablu sit on the front rod of cycle. He had not told to his mother after returning home that his brother Bablu had been taken away by his Mamu Sagheer and he slept and when he woke up at night, his mother asked from him, then he told her that his Mamu Sagheer had taken away Bablu to show exhibition. Thus, the brother of the deceased, who was aged about 7 years at the time of evidence, has specifically stated that the deceased was taken away by the appellant in the evening and he took away him from cycle. The testimony of the child cannot be dis-believed because as observed by the learned trial court he is capable of understanding things and answering rational answers and it could not be controverted by any cogent evidence or material.

(14) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Digambar Vaishnav & Anr. Versus State of Chhattisgarh; 2019(4) SCC 522, has held that the evidence of a child witness must be evaluated carefully as the child may be swayed by what others tell him and he is an easy prey to tutoring, therefore, the evidence of a child witness must find adequate corroboration before it can be relied upon. The relevant paragraph 22 and 23 extracted hereinbelow:-

22. This court has consistently held that evidence of a child witness must be evaluated carefully as the child may be swayed by what others tell him and he is an easy prey to tutoring. Therefore, the evidence of a child witness must find adequate corroboration before it can be relied upon. It is more a rule of practical wisdom than law.

23. In Alagupandi alias Alagupandian vs State of Tamil Nadu; (2012) 10 SCC 451, this Court has emphasized the need to accept the testimony of a child with caution after substantial corroboration before acting upon it. It was held that:

“36 It is a settled principle of law that a child witness can be a competent witness provided statement of such witness is reliable, truthful and is corroborated by other prosecution evidence. The court in such circumstances can safely rely upon the statement of a child witness and it can form the basis for conviction as well. Further, the evidence of a child witness and credibility thereof would depend upon the circumstances of each case. The only precaution which the court should bear in mind while assessing the evidence of a child witness is that the witness must be a reliable one and his/her demeanour must be like any other competent witness and that there exists no likelihood of being tutored. There is no rule or practice that in every case the evidence of such a witness be corroborated by other evidence before a conviction can be allowed to stand but as a rule of prudence the court always finds it desirable to seek corroboration to such evidence from other reliable to seek evidence placed on record. Further, it is not the law that if a witness is a child, his evidence shall be rejected, even if it is found reliable."

(15) The relationship of the appellant with the family of the deceased has not been denied by the appellant, although he has denied that he was familiar with the children. The accused has stated in his evidence under Section 313 CR.P.C. that he had advanced Rs.5,000/- to Smt. Haseen Jahan as loan, which was not returned to him, even after repeated demands, which shows that the appellant had visited the house of Smt. Haseen Jahan as claimed by the prosecution and motive.

(16) P.W.2 Salim, who was working in a tailor shop at a distance of 30 steps from the house of the deceased, has stated that on 14.04.1981 he saw accused taking away the deceased on his cycle, on which he was sitting on the front rod, towards Chowk side. This witness is not related to the family of the deceased and there is no evidence that he was having any enmity with the appellant. However, he knew the deceased, his brothers and their uncle. Thus he supports the evidence of child witness i.e. P.W.5, therefore, once the evidence of child witness is in conformity with the evidence of an independent witness, there remains no ground to discard his evidence, even non examination of other shopkeepers. When the appellant was known to them, there was no need of test identification parade.

(17) P.W.7 Jameel Ahmad, who also knew the deceased and his family and his uncle, as he resides in the same Mohalla Chobdari, where the house of the deceased was situated, had seen the appellant alongwith the deceased at Charbagh Railway Station, Lucknow at about 6:30 in the evening, while he was going from Nathha Hotel to Mawaiya market. He stated that he was sick at that time and on 14.4.1981, he had gone to collect his pay from his office, which is situated at Charbagh Railway Station, Lucknow. He categorically stated that he had seen the deceased Bablu alongwith the accused Sagheer at the Charbagh Railway Station. He had not enquired anything from Bablu and went away to Mawaiya Bazar where his loco shade is situated. He is also an independent witness and had no enmity with the accused. Perusal of the evidence of this witness indicates that he was not familiar with the family of the deceased and he had no particular affinity with the family. However, he knew them because they reside in his area and the appellant used to come to meet them, therefore, merely, because he has stated that he had not made any enquiry from Bablu at that time, his presence cannot be doubted because if he used to see the appellant going to house of the deceased and had no particular affinity with his family, it was obvious for him not to ask anything from him, therefore, it cannot be a ground to discard his evidence.

(18) The deceased was last seen by P.W.8 Moti Lal of Village Warisganj, Police Station Jagdishpur, District Sultanpur at about 11:00 or 11:30 p.m. in the night with the deceased Rehan @ Bablu on a cycle when he came to his shop. At that time he was taking food outside the door of his house. At that time, the accused Sagheer alongwith the deceased came from the side of Jagdishpur and asked the way of Village Kisni. He has also stated that two electric bulbs were burning at his house. He has also stated that he had asked the appellant not to go at that time to village Kisni as the way was not good but the appellant went away. An argument was that it is highly improbable that the appellant would have gone by cycle to Warisganj P.S Jagdishpur but no question was put in cross-examination in this regard, therefore, now it can not be a ground to disbelieve the evidence of prosecution witness. Even otherwise earlier the people used to travel by bus or train with their cycle so that they may not face difficulty in transport at the place where they were going.

(19) P.W.7 and P.W.8 are independent witnesses. P.W.8 neither knew the deceased or the appellant from before nor could have any enmity with them. His statement is consistent. He has also stated that after about two days, the police came to Warisganj and the appellant was also with them. They were making enquiries, therefore, the people had collected. Seeing it, he himself went there and after seeing the appellant with them, told that the appellant had come and enquired from him as to where is village Kisni. Learned trial court has also recorded that perusal of the case diary shows that the accused had informed P.W.13 Shambhu Nath, the Investigating Officer that his friend Firoz lives in Village Kisni. Thus, the testimony of P.W.8 cannot be disbelieved.

(20) P.W.6 Smt. Haseen Jahan has stated in her evidence that the appellant Sagheer had come to her house on the next day of missing of his son Bablu. At that time, the police had also come and made enquiries from the appellant and police took him with them for search of her son. The Investigating Officer(Sub Inspector), who appeared as P.W.13 has stated that the missing report of the boy was lodged by Mustaq Ahmad at 11:30, which was recorded by Sri Bhagat Singh at Rapat No.18 at 11:30 on 15.04.1981, which is Ex. Ka 13. He was assigned investigation of the case. He had recorded the statements of Haseen Jahan, Suleman, Salim and Jameel Ahmad. Thereafter, he met to the appellant Sagheer, who was being detained by the people of the area(mohalla). He made enquiries from the appellant and as told by him, he took him to Jagdishpur, District Sultanpur. Before going with the appellant, he had procured the photograph (Ex.1) of Bablu @ Rehan from his mother. He went with the appellant to Raniganj Sultanpur and made enquiries. He searched the boy at the places told by him but he was not traceable, then he went with the appellant to Warisganj, where he came to know that a dead body of a boy has been found aside the canal, inquest of which has been done by the police of Jagdishpur, therefore, he went to the Police Station Jagdishpur on 17.04.1981 and made enquiries about the boy. He showed the photograph of the missing Bablu @ Rehan, who was recognized by the Investigating Officer there. Thereafter he recorded the statement of the Investigating Officer of the Police Station Jagdishpur and returned to the police station Chowk, Lucknow and lodged the case of murder.

(21) Kandhai; P.W.1, who was a farmer and watchman, resident of Bhademau, Police Station Jagdishpur, District Sultanpur has stated that on 15.04.1981 the information was given to him at his home at about 9:00 in the morning that a dead body is lying aside the canal in Khanti. He went there and found the dead body of a boy, who would have been about 12 years of age. He had seen the dead body but he could not found any injury on the dead body. However, the dead body was of a muslim boy. He gave the information of the dead body at the Police station Jagdishpur at about 2:00 to 2:30, as the police station was about 3 kms. and he had gone on foot. Thereafter, the Investigating Officer came on the spot and made the inquest and after sealing it sent for post mortem. The photograph of the dead body was taken in Sultanpur, when it was opened for post mortem. He had seen the dead body at the time of the post mortem while taking the photograph and he can recognize the boy. He also recognized the photograph of the boy in Ex. 1. The photographer Uma Charan Jaiswal appeared as P.W.3. He also proved the photograph of the dead body taken by him. He also produced the negative of the photograph as Ex. 2. The dead body was found with a blue pant(Mat Ex. 4), which has been proved by the tailor Ghulam Waris, who appeared as P.W.4. He stated that the said pant was of Bablu @ Rehan, which was stitched by him, who had four brothers and he knew them. He works at the shop of uncle (chacha) of the deceased. The deceased also used to sit at the shop to learn the work. He had also gone to Jagdishpur to identify the pant.

(22) Rohan Lal Yadav, Sub Inspector, appeared as P.W.10, who was posted at Police Station Jagdishpur on 15.04.1981 as Second Officer. He stated that the information was received in his presence from the watchman that the dead body of a boy is lying in Khanti in the north of the footpath of canal, situated in North East of Village Naamdarpur. On the said information, he went on the spot and after seeing the dead body and making enquiry from the persons in the vicinity, prepared the inquest and sent it for post mortem with Constable Chhedi Singh and Rameshwar Prasad. He proved the inquest Ex.Ka 3. He further stated that thinking the matter to be doubtful, he had sealed the dead body for post mortem and prepared the photo laash as Ex. Ka 4, Challan Laash as Ex. Ka 5, letter for post mortem as Ex. Ka 8 and sample of seal as Ex. Ka 9 and letter to R.I. as Ex. Ka 7, which are in his handwriting and signed by him. Ex. Ka 7 is the letter to R.I. alongwith it. He further stated that when S.N.Dubey(Shambhu Nath Dubey), Police Station Chowk came to Police Station Jagdishpur on 17.04.1981 and enquired for recovery of child then he informed to him about the recovery of the dead body and inquest. He showed him the photograph of the deceased as Ex. 1, which was of the boy, whose dead body was recovered and the inquest was prepared. He further stated that on receipt of the result of the post mortem on 25.04.1981, case under Section 302/201 IPC vide Case Crime No.164 was lodged. He started the investigation on 26.04.1981 and after taking statements of watchman Kandhai Lal and the witness of the inquest and making enquiries from the persons, prepared the site plan Ex. Ka 10. Thereafter he was transferred. In the cross examination, he stated that the dead body was at distance of 5-6 feet from the road and there was some mud on the dead body and apparently there was no injury but the injury was appearing on the neck of the dead body. Thus, it is proved that the dead body of the deceased Bablu @ Rehan was found under the Police Station Jagdishpur in District Sultanpur and the independent witnesses as well as the Investigating Officer proved that it was the dead body of the deceased Bablu.

(23) Sheo Sahai Pandey, the Head Constable(P.W 12), who was posted as Head Moharrir on 15.04.1981 at Police Station Jagdishpur, proved that the information of recovery of the dead body was received from Kandhai Lal, watchman at 14:20, which is in consonance with the time of giving information at police station told by the watchman Kandai(P.W.1) in his evidence. It was written by him at Rapat No.20 of GD, which is on record as Ex. Ka 6 and after receipt of the report of post mortem on 25.04.1981 Case No.164 under Section 302/201 IPC was lodged at Rapat No.16 of GD, which is Ex. Ka 2 and he proved the same.

(24) P.W.11 Banarasi Rai A.S.I., Police Station Kudwar, District Sultanpur, who was posted as S.I. in Police Station Jagdishpur on 09.07.1981, stated that he after taking statements of certain witnesses on 18.07.1981 had filed the charge sheet, as prima facie offence was found to have been committed by the appellant.

(25) P.W.9 Dr. C.K.Gupta, who had conducted the post mortem of the deceased, proved the following injuries caused to the deceased Bablu:-

(i) Three small abrasions, each measuring 1 cm x 0.2 cm in an area of 3.5 cm x 3 cm over the left side neck upper part just below the left lower jaw:

(ii) Faint contusion 3 cm x 1.5 cm over the right side neck, upper part below the right lower jaw.

(26) He had examined the dead body at 12:45 on 16.4.1981. He stated that the age of the deceased was about 12 years and he had died about one and a half days ago. The rigor mortis had passed away from the upper part of the body and present in the lower part. The decomposition of the body had started. The height of the deceased was about 4 feet. Circumcision(khatna) of the boy was done. He proved the photograph of the deceased. In the internal examination of dead body thick blood was present in the neck. In the aforesaid injuries, the muscles of vein were congested. However, hyoid bone was fractured. Larynx and the vein of the tracheal were congested and there were rings on it. The full pant was on the body of the deceased, which was sealed. The doctor opined that the deceased had died on account of pressing of the neck of the deceased(strangulation). He proved the report Ex. Ka 2. He also stated that the injuries present on the neck of the body of the deceased could have come by pressing from hands. There was a contusion on the neck of the deceased, which may have been of thumb and the abrasions on the other side may have been of finger tips. He also stated that the neck could have been pressed by the finger tips. Thus, the doctor proved the injuries and also that the death could have been caused by pressing the neck. The prosecution case is supported by the evidence of doctor and post-mortem.

(27) In view of above, it is apparent that there is no direct evidence of the incident and it is a case of circumstantial evidence and 'last seen'. In the case of circumstantial evidence, the evidence and material on record has to be analyzed on the touch stone of 5 golden principles laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Sharad Birdhichand Sarda versus State of Maharashtra; AIR 1984 SC 1622, wherein while dealing with circumstantial evidence, it has been held that the onus was on the prosecution to prove that the chain is complete and the infirmity or lacuna in the prosecution cannot be cured by a false defence or plea. The said 5 golden principles are as under:-

"(1) The circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established. The circumstances concerned must or should and not may be established;

(2) The facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty;

(3) The circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency;

(4) They should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved; and

(5) There must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the-innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

(28) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Balwinder Singh versus State of Punjab (supra), has held that in a case based on circumstantial evidence, it is now well settled that the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully proved and those circumstances must be conclusive in nature to connect the accused with the crime. The relevant paragraph 4 is extracted hereinbelow:-

"In a case based on circumstantial evidence, it is now well settled that the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully proved and those circumstances must be conclusive in nature to connect the accused with the crime. All the links in the chain of events must be established beyond a reasonable doubt and the established circumstances should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused and totally inconsistent with his innocence. In a case based on circumstantial evidence the Court has to be on its guard to avoid the danger of allowing suspicion to take the place of legal proof and has to be watchful to avoid the danger of being swayed by emotional considerations,, howsoever strong they may be, to take the place of proof. It is in the context of the above settled principles, that we shall analyse the evidence led by the prosecution."

(29) The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Shatrughan versus State of Chhattisgarh (supra), has held that once there is no eye witness of the incident, the prosecution will have to establish a motive for the commission of the crime in-as-much as in a case of direct evidence, motive may not have a major role. If there is no motive set up or proved and there are direct eye witnesses, motive may lose its importance. Similar view has been taken by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Nandu Singh versus State of Madhya Pradesh(now Chhattisgarh)(supra). The relevant paragraph 9 is extracted hereinbelow:

"In a case based on substantial evidence, motive assumes great significance. It is not as if motive alone becomes the crucial link in the case to be established by the prosecution and in its absence the case of Prosecution must be discarded. But, at the same time, complete absence of motive assumes a different complexion and such absence definitely weighs in favour of the accused."

(30) In view of above, in a case of circumstantial evidence, the prosecution has to prove firstly that every link in the chain of circumstances necessary to establish the guilt of the accused must be established by the prosecution beyond reasonable doubt and, secondly, all the circumstances must be consistent only with the guilt of the accused.

(31) Adverting to the facts of the present case and as discussed above, the prosecution has been able to prove the chain linking guilt of the appellant, which are as under:-

i). It has been proved that the appellant had come to the house of Smt. Haseen Jahan, i.e., mother of the deceased child on the date of the incident on 14.04.1981. It has been proved by Smt.

Haseen Jahan, who appeared as P.W.6. which has been supported by the evidence of P.W.2 Salim, who was working in a tailor shop at a distance of 30 steps from the house of the deceased.

ii). P.W. 2 Salim as well as P.W.5 Mohd. Salman, the brother of the deceased Rehan @ Bablu, who was playing with him, have not only proved that the appellant had come to the house of Smt. Haseen Jahan but also that he took away the deceased child with him, making him sit on the rod of the cycle.

iii). P.W. 7 Jameel Ahmad, who also reside in the same Mohalla Chobdari, in which the deceased child with his mother was residing, proved that he had seen the appellant with deceased at the Charbagh Railway Station on the same day.

iv). P.W.8 Moti Lal of Village Warisganj, Police Station Jagdishpur, District Sultanpur, has proved that he had seen the appellant with the deceased at about 11:00 or 11:30 p.m. in the same night and the appellant had asked from him the way of village Kisni.

v). P.W.1 Kandhai, who was a farmer and a watchman, resident of Bhademaui, Police Station Jagdishpur, District Sultanpur, has proved that on information of the dead body at about 9:00 in the morning of 15.04.1981, he went to the place and found dead body of the deceased lying aside the canal in Khanti and gave it's information at Police Station Jagdishpur at about 2.00-2.30 in the afternoon, which is supported by the evidence of Head Constable P.W.12. He recognized the deceased in the photograph EX.1 produced by the prosecution. The photographer Uma Charan Jaiswal, who appeared as P.W.4, proved that he had taken the photograph of the dead body.

vi). Dr. C.K. Gupta, who appeared as P.W.9, had conducted the post mortem. He proved the post mortem report and the injuries of the deceased. He also stated that blue pant was on the dead body, which was handed over by him to the police. He has opined that the cause of death was due to asphyxia, as result of compression of neck and death could have occurred in the night of 14/15.4.1981 and it could have been caused by pressing from finger tips, marks of which were appearing on neck, therefore no recovery was required. Even otherwise mere non recovery cannot be a ground to disbelieve the prosecution, if otherwise it is proved. The blue pant wore by the deceased has been proved by his mother as well as P.W.4 Ghulam Waris, the tailor who had stitched the same. He knew him also as he used to sit on shop to learn the work.

vii). Head Constable Sheo Sahai Pandey, who had appeared as P.W. 12 has proved that he had received the information of recovery of the dead body from Kandhai Lal, watchman at about 14:20, which was written by him at Rapat No.20 of GD(Ex. Ka 6) and after receipt of the report of post mortem on 25.04.1981, Case No.164 under Section 302/201 IPC at Rapat No.16 of GD (Ex. Ka 2).

(32) In view of above, this Court is of the view that the learned trial court considering the evidence and material on record and the testimony of the independent witnesses i.e. P.W. 2, P.W.7 and P.W.8 as well as the medical evidence, according to which, the death of the deceased could have taken place in the mid night of 14.4.1981 and 15.4.1981 held that the circumstances point out clearly that the accused Sagheer is responsible for the death of the deceased. It has further been observed that the suggestion of the defence that he has been falsely implicated in the case because he continued to demand Rs.5,000/-, which the accused had advanced to the mother of the deceased, cannot be believed in view of the independent reliable and convincing testimony in this case. Learned trial court also found that the statement of the appellant that he had advanced Rs.5,000/- to Smt. Haseen Jahan as loan, which was not returned to him, even after demands shows that he had visited the house of Smt. Haseen Jahan, which is as per the prosecution case. It also shows the motive of committing the crime. None of the grounds taken by appellant are tenable.

(33) In view of above, this Court does not find any illegality or error in the findings recorded by the trial court, by means of which, the appellant has been convicted and sentenced by a reasonable and speaking order. Thus the judgment passed by the trial court is upheld and punishment confirmed. The appeal has been filed on misconceived and baseless grounds and it is liable to be dismissed.

(34) The appeal is, accordingly, dismissed.

(35) The appellant is on bail. He is directed to surrender within two weeks from today before the Chief Judicial Magistrate concerned, who shall send the appellant to jail to serve out the sentence. In case the appellant does not surrender within a period of two weeks from today, the Chief Judicial Magistrate concerned shall take appropriate steps for arrest of the appellant.

(36) Let a copy of this judgment alongwith the Trial Court's record be sent back forthwith and in any case within a period of one week from today for compliance.

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to conviction of the appellant under S. 302 I.P.C. based on circumstantial evidence, including extra-judicial confession, recovery of firearm, medical evidence, conduct of accused, and burden under S. 106 of the Indian Evidence Act, arising out of homicidal death of wife inside matrimonial home during night hours. (Paras 40 - 41)

Headnotes

Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S. 302 - Murder of wife - Circumstantial evidence - Chain of circumstances - Must be complete - Death in matrimonial home - Burden of proof - Deceased died a homicidal death as a result of ante-mortem firearm injuries caused from a close range - Criminal Appeal - S. 374(2) Cr.P.C. - Appeal against conviction under S. 302 I.P.C. - Life imprisonment - Validity - Extra-Judicial Confession - Evidentiary value - Can be relied upon if voluntary and corroborated - Conduct of Accused - Attempt to bury dead body - False explanation of death - Relevant under S. 8, Evidence Act - Recovery of Weapon - Disclosure by accused - Minor discrepancies not fatal - S. 106 Evidence Act - Burden on accused to explain facts within special knowledge - Failure to discharge - Motive - Marital discord over daughter's marriage - Significance in circumstantial cases. (E-7)

Held: The prosecution has proved beyond reasonable doubt that the deceased died a homicidal death due to ante-mortem firearm injuries, as established by P.W.-9 (Doctor) and post-mortem report - the death occurred inside the matrimonial home during night hours when the appellant was present, and the appellant failed to offer any plausible explanation, attracting S. 106 of the Indian Evidence Act - the conduct of the appellant in giving a false explanation of death, not informing police, and attempting to bury the body, is a relevant incriminating circumstance under S. 8 of the Evidence Act - though extra-judicial confession is a weak piece of evidence, the confession made before P.W.-6 was voluntary, credible, and corroborated by medical evidence, conduct, and recovery - discrepancies in recovery evidence are minor and do not affect the prosecution case when read with ballistic and medical evidence - existence of motive, though not decisive by itself, lends assurance to prosecution case in a circumstantial evidence matter - the chain of circumstances is complete and points only to the guilt of the appellant, excluding every hypothesis of innocence - conviction under S. 302 I.P.C. and sentence of life imprisonment with fine requires no interference - appeal partly allowed. (Paras 20,39 - 52)

Advs. for the Appellant:

Mr. Kailash Nath Mishra

Advs. for the Respondents:

Ms. Meera Tripathi, Learned A.G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Abdhesh Kumar Chaudhary, J.)

1. The present Criminal Appeal under Section 374 (2) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (hereinafter referred as to "Cr.P.C.") has been filed by the appellant/ accused-Yasin against the judgment and order dated 22.09.2011 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 11, Gonda, in Sessions Trial No. 371 of 2009 (State Vs. Yasin and others) arising out of Crime Case No. 154 of 2009, wherein he has been convicted for commission of the offence under Section 302 I.P.C. and sentenced to undergo life imprisonment along with a fine of Rs.10,000/-. In case of default of payment of fine, the appellant has been directed to further undergo one-year simple imprisonment.

CASE OF THE PROSECUTION

2. The case of the prosecution in nutshell is that Appellant's wife Haseena Bano died in suspicious circumstances in the intervening night of 29th/30th April, 2009. The Village Chowkidar -Ramzan (P.W.-3), on receiving such information reached the house of the Appellant/his Wife, wherein he noticed certain injury marks on the body of the deceased-wife, suggesting that the death was unnatural. Hence, the said Village Chowkidar gave a written report of the incident to Station House Officer, Police Station- Katra Bazar, District- Gonda. The Police recorded the said information in the General Diary as G.D. No.14, dated 30.04.2009 at 10:30 AM and thereafter, proceeded to the place of incident.

3. Upon arriving, Police took possession of the body of deceased and conducted a "Panchayatnama" wherein all the members (Panchs) unanimously said that the death of deceased appeared to be unnatural and therefore, opined for ascertaining the real cause of death. Accordingly, the dead body of the deceased was sent to District Hospital, Gonda for post-mortem. Dr. R.C. Verma (P.W.-9) conducted post-mortem of deceased on 30.04.2009 and submitted a post-mortem report, which revealed the cause of death as "Shock and Hemorrhage as a result of Ante-Mortem fire arm injuries". The said post-mortem report also revealed various internal and external Anti-Mortem Injuries on the body of deceased.

4. Following the post-mortem report (Exhibit- Ka-4), police registered Case Crime No.154/2009 under Section 302 I.P.C. on 01.05.2009 and started investigation of the case. During the course of investigation, Investigating Officer collected the blood-stained soil and normal soil from the place of occurrence and seized the clothes worn by deceased at the time of incident and then sent the same to Forensic Science Laboratory, Lucknow for analysis. Furthermore, Investigating Officer recorded the statements of witnesses, namely Nanka @ Heena (P.W.-1), Smt. Ahmada (P.W.-2), Ramjan -Village Chowkidar (P.W.-3) and Munawar under Section 161 Cr.P.C. on 02.05.2009.

5. The statement of the Appellant was recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. on 03.05.2009 and statement of Shyam Dhar Pandey (P.W.-6), Krishna Dev Shukla (P.W.-4) on 01.06.2009.

6. Subsequently, on 07.06.2009 i.e. after more than a month, the Appellant was arrested and, on his disclosure, the police recovered a country made 12 Bore Katta, used by him for committing offence of murder of deceased from the agriculture field of one Babu Khan. The Police took possession of the said Katta and sent the same to Forensic Science Laboratory, Lucknow and recorded the statement of witness of recovery namely Siddiq and Vikrama(P.W.-7) under Section 161 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973.

7. Investigating Officer after completion of investigation found sufficient incriminating material against the Appellant/Accused and therefore filed a charge sheet against him for Trial under Section 302 I.P.C. The Learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Gonda, took cognizance of the offence and vide order dated 12.11.2009 committed the case for trial before the Learned Sessions Court. Consequently, Session Trial No.371/2009 was registered.

PROCEEDINGS BEFORE THE TRIAL COURT

8. Learned Sessions Court vide order dated 14.12.2009 framed charge against the Appellant under Section 302 I.P.C. for committing offence of murder of his wife- Haseena Bano. However, the Appellant denied the charge and claimed for trial. Therefore, the case was taken up for Trial.

9. During Trial, Ms. Nanka @ Heena (P.W.-1) and Smt. Ahmada (P.W.-2), both daughters of the Appellant, stated in their deposition that the murder of the deceased-Haseena Bano had been committed by Mr. Babu, Mr. Munnawar and Mr. Shakir Ali, all resident of the same village, on account of a prior land dispute. In view of the said statement recorded during the Trial, the Prosecution moved an application under Section 319 Cr.P.C. for summoning and trying the aforesaid three persons. The Learned Trial Court allowed the said application and summoned them to face trial. Upon their appearance, Learned Trial Court vide order dated 30.03.2010, framed charge against the newly added accused under Section 302 I.P.C. for committing offence of murder of Deceased, to which they denied and claimed for Trial.

10. Prosecution examined following witnesses during the course of trial, for proving the charge against the Appellant:

Sl. No.	Name	P.W.	Role
1.	Nanka @ Heena	P.W.-1	Witness of Fact/ Daughter of Deceased (Eye Witness)
2.	Smt. Ahmada	P.W.-2	Witness of Fact/ Daughter of Deceased (Eye Witness)
3.	Ramzan	P.W.-3	Informant (Village Chowkidar)
4.	Krishna Dev Shukla	P.W.-4	Witness of Fact (Court marriage of daughter-PW1 with Salim)
5.	Lakshmi Narayan Shukla	P.W.-5	Witness of Fact
6.	Shyamdhar Pandey	P.W.-6	To prove extra judicial confession of the Appellant
7.	Vikram	P.W.-7	To prove the recovery of fire arm
8.	Keshari Prasad	P.W.-8	To prove the Inquest Report

Sl. No.	Name	P.W.	Role
9.	Dr. R.C. Verma	P.W.-9	Medical Officer to prove the conduct and report of Post-Mortem
10.	Constable Danbahadur Singh	P.W.-10	To prove the registration of Case Crime No.154/2009
11.	S.I. Shashikant Mishra	P.W.-11	Investigating Officer

11. Apart from the oral evidence led by the prosecution, various documents have also been exhibited and proved running from Exhibit Ka-1 to Exhibit Ka-15 and Article Exhibit-1 to Exhibit-3.

12. P.W.-1, Ms. Nanka alias Heena is the daughter of the appellant. P.W.-1 in her examination-in-chief deposed that on the date of incident, all the family members were sleeping on the rooftop of the house, whereas the deceased was sleeping in a room on the ground floor. At about 12:00 midnight, a blast like sound occurred, upon hearing which the P.W.-1 came downstairs through the staircase and switched on her torch. In the said light of torch, she saw Babu, Munnawar and Shakir Ali fleeing from the place of occurrence. Shortly after the incident, all the three aforesaid persons returned after changing their clothes and began digging a grave, uttering that deceased should be buried immediately, otherwise the matter would turn into a police case and you all will get implicated. P.W.-1 further deposed that the appellant had a land dispute with the aforesaid persons and that due to said dispute, they had inimical relationship with her family. She also deposed in her examination-in-chief that on an earlier occasion, the said persons had beaten and broken the hands of deceased and had also set the house on fire and a case in respect thereof was still pending. According to P.W.-1, it was on account of said enmity that Babu, Munnawar and Shakir Ali had killed her mother. The witness further stated that she, along with her father went to police station to lodge a report, however, the police did not register the same. She specifically stated that the Appellant had not committed the murder of the deceased.

During her cross-examination, P.W.-1 stated that she woke up after hearing explosion like sound and by the time she reached to the deceased- Haseena Bano, she had died. P.W.-1 admitted that she had not seen anyone causing the blast like sound. Although, P.W.-1 in her cross examination admitted that Investigating Officer had recorded her statement on the very next date of incident, however, denied the fact that she had not disclosed the name of Babu, Munnawar and Shakir Ali in her said statement made under Section 161 of Cr.P.C.

13. The Prosecution produced Ms. Ahmada as P.W.-2. She is the elder sister of P.W.-1 and the daughter of Appellant and the deceased. P.W.-2 in her testimony supported the version of P.W.-1 and stated that the deceased was murdered by neighbors Babu, Munnawar and Shakir Ali due to a land dispute. Furthermore, P.W.-2 in her testimony stated that she saw Babu, Munnawar and Shakir Ali, fleeing from the place of occurrence from a distance of 10 feet and there was nothing in their hands. P.W.-2, contrary to the testimony of P.W.-1, denied any incident of hearing any sound like bomb explosion etc. Although, P.W.-2 in her cross examination admitted that one Mr. Krishna Dev Shukla had mediated and counseled her parents over their dispute regarding Court marriage issue of P.W.-1 (Heena), however, at the same time she denied that there was any dispute between her parents prior to the incident.

14. Prosecution examined Mr. Ramzan, the village chowkidar and informant of the case as P.W.-3. In his testimony, the said P.W. stated that upon hearing the death of deceased, he went to the Appellant's house, wherein the deceased was lying dead, covered by a white sheet. There was blood stained on the sheet. Being curious, P.W.-3 inquired about the cause of death from Appellant. The Appellant stated that the deceased was suffering from cholera and consistent vomiting. He also told that the deceased had fallen down from roof/terrace, which caused her death. According to the said witness, since the circumstances appeared suspicious, he stopped the Appellant and other people from digging the grave and informed the police about the incident. P.W.-3 has proved the original information being G.D. No.14 given by him on 30.04.2009 (Exhibit- Ka 1) to the police.

P.W.-3 in his cross examination testified that Appellant and his relatives were intending to sort out the matter by burying the dead body of the deceased. He further testified that although, deceased Haseena Bano and the accused persons Babu, Munnawar and Shakir Ali used to quarrel over a small piece of land belonging to Gram Samaj, however, Babu, Munnawar and Shakir Ali have not committed murder of the deceased due to the said land dispute. P.W.-3 further deposed in his cross examination that the Appellant after his arrest had admitted before the police the commission of the offence of murder, and P.W.-3 was present at the relevant time. He also stated that pursuant to the said confessional statement of the appellant, a firearm was recovered on the appellant's disclosure/identification.

15. The prosecution produced Mr. Krishna Dev Shukla, belonging to the village of appellant as P.W.-4. Mr. Shukla, in his testimony, stated that the appellant had confessed the commission of offence of murder before Mr. Shayamdhara Pandey (P.W.-6) on 31.05.2009. He further deposed that in the said extra-judicial confessional statement made before P.W.-6, the appellant admitted that he had killed his wife i.e. the deceased in a fit of anger following an altercation related to marriage of his daughter Heena. P.W.-4 also deposed that appellant and the deceased had strained relationship over the issue of marriage of their daughter Heena. He also deposed that the appellant was against the marriage of his daughter Heena (P.W.-1) with Mr. Salim, the son of Mr. Subarati, while the deceased was willing to marry Heena with Salim. P.W.-4, in his further deposition stated that on the request of the deceased Ms. Haseena Bano, he had counselled and attempted to mediate between the appellant and the deceased the day preceding the date of incident, relating to the marriage of their daughter Heena (P.W.-1).

16. Mr. Laxmi Narayan Shukla was examined as P.W.-5. In his testimony, this witness has stated that upon learning about the death of the deceased, he reached the appellant's house at about 7:30 AM. At that point of time, no one was aware as to who had committed the murder. He further deposed that the daughters of the appellant had not named or implicated any person in the commission of the said offence.

17. Mr. Shyamdhara Pandey, son of incumbent Village Pramukh was examined as P.W.-6. Mr. Pandey in his testimony, stated that upon learning about the death of the deceased, he visited the appellant's house and found the deceased lying dead. He further deposed that when he inquired about the cause of death, the appellant informed him that the deceased had died after falling from the rooftop. However, noticing a firearm injury on the body of the deceased, P.W.-6, advised the appellant not to bury the body and to inform the police about the incident. Thereafter, P.W.-6 proceeded to attend his day-to-day duty. P.W.-6 further deposed that after about one month of the incident, appellant came to meet him and confessed that he had killed his wife by firing a bullet and requested to save him. Upon being asked about the reason for committing the murder, the appellant stated that his wife was intending to solemnize their daughter's marriage against his wishes, which led to an altercation, and that in a fit of anger he had committed murder. Since, the appellant had committed the offence, P.W.-6 denied to extend any help to him. P.W.-6 denied the suggestion that Babu, Munnawar and Shakir Ali had murdered the deceased due to any prior land dispute, or having more member in the vote-list.

18. Thereafter, Prosecution produced Mr. Vikram as P.W.-7. The said witness in his testimony, stated that the appellant was arrested by the police on 07.06.2009 and that pursuant to his disclosure statement and identification, a 12-bore Katta (Country made Pistol) was recovered after being dug out from a maze field belonging to one of the co-accused Babu. The said Katta was wrapped in a polythene and was recovered in his presence. P.W.-7 identified and proved the recovery of the aforesaid firearm and also identified his signature appended on the recovery memo, which was exhibited as Exhibit Ka 2.

19. Mr. Kesari Prasad was produced as P.W.-8 by the prosecution. He testified that police came and took possession of the dead body of deceased and thereafter prepared a Panchayatnama in his presence. P.W.-8 identified his signature appended on the Panchayatnama (Inquest Report) which was exhibited as Exhibit Ka 3. He further testified that Appellant was present when the dead body was sealed and Panchayatnama was prepared by the police.

20. The prosecution examined Dr. R.C. Verma, Senior Consultant, District Hospital, Gonda, as P.W.-9 in order to prove the post-mortem report. P.W.-9, in his testimony, stated that on 30.04.2009, Constable Sevalal and Home guard Gangesh Pandey brought the dead body of deceased Haseena Bano, for post-mortem. The dead body was duly sealed and that the seal was opened in his presence. The dead body was identified by the aforesaid police personnel. PW-9 further stated that the deceased was of normal physique and deposed that following ante-mortem injuries were found on her body:

i. Firearm wound measuring 3 x 2.5 cm deep, on the right side of the chest, 5 cm below the right mid-clavicular bone with blackening and tattooing.

ii. Firearm injury measuring 3 x 2.5 cm deep to the flesh on the right side of the upper lip, just below the right nostril. blackening and tattooing was present.

iii. Lacerated wound measuring 4 x 5 cm deep on the flesh was on the right side of the face, just below the angle of the mouth.

P.W.-9 deposed that so far as internal injury is concerned, the pleura was ruptured. Approximately, two liters of clotted blood was found in the chest cavity. There was 200gm undigested pulp in the stomach. The uterus was empty. The time of death of deceased was within one day.

P.W.-9 opined that the deceased died due to ante-mortem shock and excessive bleeding. As regards the timing of death, the said PW deposed that the deceased might have died during the night of 29th/30th April, 2009. P.W.-9 stated that the post-mortem was conducted and report was prepared at 4:45 PM. A large bullet was recovered from the rear side of the deceased's chest. P.W.-9 identified the autopsy report and his signature appended thereon, which is exhibited as Exhibit Ka- 4.

During his cross examination conducted by advocate appearing for the Accused Babu, Munawaar and Shakir Ali, P.W.-9 testified that injury No.1 and 2 might occur if the firearm is fired from within three feet, i.e. from very close range. He further testified that both the said injuries might be caused by the same firearm. The said witness also deposed that the injury no.3 may occur due to falling on a hard object. Interestingly, no cross examination was done by the Appellant, although opportunity was given to him.

21. Constable Danbahadur Singh, a Moharir posted in Katra Bazar Police Station, was examined as P.W.-10 by the prosecution. P.W.-10, in his testimony, deposed that Crime Case No.154/09 under Section 302 I.P.C. was registered by him on 01.05.2009 pursuant to receipt of post-mortem report and that in accordance with the directions of S.H.O. He proved the original G.D. Entry and identified his signature appended thereon, which is exhibited as Exhibit Ka 5.

22. S.I. Shabsikant Sharma, the Investigating Officer of the case, appeared as P.W.-11. He deposed that he had investigated the matter. He identified his signatures appended on the various recovery memos and proved the same. He further testified that the site-map of the crime scene was prepared by him and identified his signature appended thereon. P.W.-11 exhibited and proved various documents running from Exhibit Ka 6 to Exhibit Ka 15 and Article Exhibit 1 to Article Exhibit 3. S.I. Shabsikant Sharma deposed that appellant or any of his family member did not report the incident to the police and that the incident was reported by Village Chowkidar - Mr. Ramzan (P.W.-3). He further deposed that when he reached at the spot, he found that the appellant had dug a grave for burying the deceased. He stated that the police took control of the dead body of deceased and prepared a Panchayatnama. Thereafter, the dead body of the deceased was sent to District Hospital, Gonda, for post mortem. Subsequently, statement of witnesses was recorded and that during the course of investigation, the appellant was arrested on 07.06.2009. Thereafter, pursuant to a disclosure statement made by the appellant and on his pointing a firearm (Country made pistol/Katta), used in commission of the crime, was recovered. Upon completion of investigation sufficient incriminating material was found against the appellant and therefore, charge sheet was filed against him.

During the cross examination, P.W.-11 testified that all the family members of appellant were present at the time of preparation of site-map of crime scene. He further testified that he had recorded the statement of Ms. Heena (P.W.-1) and Ms. Ahmada (P.W.-2), both the daughters of appellant, during the course of investigation, however, in their statement they had not named Babu, Munawar and Shakir Ali for committing the murder of deceased Haseena Bano.

23. After conclusion of the prosecution witness, the statement of Appellant and the other accused persons were recorded under Section 313 of the Cr.P.C. on 17.01.2011, wherein they denied the various circumstances put to them of being involved in the present incident and claimed that the allegation against them are false and motivated.

24. None of the accused persons, including the Appellant produced any defence witness in their favour.

25. Learned Trial Court after hearing the arguments of both sides and perusal of evidence adduced, returned a finding that the appellant/accused have committed the offence of murder under Section 302 I.P.C. and accordingly, convicted the appellant and directed him to undergo a sentenced of life imprisonment and a fine of Rs.10,000/- In case of default in payment of fine, the appellant have been directed to further undergo a simple imprisonment of one year. However, the Learned Trial Court acquitted the newly added accused persons Babu, Munnawar and Shakir Ali giving them benefit of doubt.

26. Being aggrieved, the appellant has preferred the present Appeal under Section 374(2) Cr.P.C. before this Court.

PROCEEDINGS BEFORE THIS COURT

27. During the pendency of the present Appeal, the Appellant is in jail since 22.09.2011 i.e for more than 14 years and four months without remission.

28. The first Bail Application of the Appellant was rejected for want of prosecution by a coordinate Bench of this Court vide order dated 26.11.2018 passed in C.M. Application No. 103783 of 2011.

29. The second Bail Application (C.M. Application No. 174728 of 2021) was dismissed on merits vide an order dated 03.03.2022. The third Bail Application also came to be rejected by a coordinate Bench of this Court vide an order dated 24.05.2022 passed in C.M. Application No. 08 of 2022. However, when the fourth Bail Application (C.M. Application No. 09 of 2023) came up for hearing on 31.10.2025, the learned Counsel for the Appellant elected to address his final arguments on merits, rather than for pressing his Bail Application and as such this Court heard both the counsel for the Appellant and the Counsel for the State and vide an order dated 31.10.2025 reserved the present Appeal for judgment, while dismissing the fourth Bail Application of the Appellant, being not pressed.

SUBMISSION ON BEHALF OF THE PARTIES

30. Heard rival submissions of Ms. Meera Tripathi, Ld. A.G.A. for State as well as Mr. Kailash Nath Mishra, Learned Counsel for the Appellant.

31. Mr. Kailash Nath Mishra, learned Counsel for the appellant submits that the impugned judgment dated 22.09.2011 is illegal, perverse and have been passed only on surmises and conjectures. He submits that there are major contradictions in the statement of prosecution witnesses. That neither anyone has seen the appellant committing the alleged offence nor there is any reason or motive for committing such crime by the appellant. Mr. Mishra has further submitted that learned Trial Court has erroneously held that the deceased was willing to marry her daughter, Ms. Nanka @ Heena (P.W.-1), to Mr. Salim, son of Mr. Subarati, whereas the appellant was opposed to such marriage, although the fact remains that P.W.-1 had already solemnized a Court marriage, much earlier to the incident. Thus according to him, the opposition of the appellant which has been viewed as a strong motive by Trial Court behind committing murder of the deceased factually did not exist. The learned Counsel further submitted that the said finding of the Trial Court is belied by the testimony of Ms. Nanka @ Heena (P.W.-1) wherein she has categorically stated in her evidence that both of her parents were in favour of her marriage with Salim. Hence, learned Counsel for the appellant submitted that there existed no motive whatsoever on the part of appellant-Yasin to commit murder of his wife Haseena Bano.

32. Learned Counsel for the appellant submitted that in so far as extra judicial confession is concerned, the same is stated to have been made before Mr. Shyamdhara Pandey (P.W.-6). However, the said witness, in his evidence before the learned Trial Court, has failed to disclose either the date or the day on which such alleged extra judicial confession was made. Furthermore, Mr. Mishra, learned Counsel for the Appellant has tried to weave a story around the statement of P.W.-6, wherein he has stated that his mother is the Village Pradhan and that the family of accused Babu and Munnawar comprises about twenty members, whereas the appellant is alone. Thus, according to Mr. Mishra the testimony relating to alleged extra judicial confession made by the Appellant appears to have been motivated by vote bank politics. In these circumstances, it was argued by him that P.W.-6 cannot be regarded as an independent or neutral witness. It has been argued that, in any case, extra judicial confession is a very weak piece of evidence. He has submitted that wherever the Court intends to base a conviction on an extra judicial confession, it must ensure that the same inspires confidence and is corroborated by other prosecution evidence and has placed reliance in this regard on the judgment of Ramu Appa Mahapatra Vs. The State of Maharashtra, in Criminal Appeal No.608 of 2013 reported as 2025 INSC 147; passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court. The learned Counsel for appellant has further urged that there is nothing to show that Shyamdhara Pandey (P.W.-6) had any influence with police or had some status to protect the appellant from harassment of police as such there was no reason for appellant to confess his guilt before him and to request him to save him. The reliance in this regard has been placed on judgment passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Makhan Singh Vs. State of Punjab, reported in AIR 1998 SC 1705.

33. Learned Counsel for appellant, while addressing the issue of recovery of weapon of assault, submitted that the said weapon was recovered from the agricultural field of accused Babu allegedly on the pointing out of appellant. Mr. Vikram (P.W.-7) was produced by prosecution as a witness to the said recovery. Mr. Vikram (P.W.-7) in his examination-in-chief stated that the appellant himself dug the ground and handed over the weapon of assault to police, whereas in his cross examination, he contradicted the said version by stating that the weapon was dug out by two police personnel and they handed over the weapon to the Investigating Officer. Further, P.W.-7 deposed that the weapon was recovered after a period of three to four months from the date of incident, whereas as per the prosecution case, the recovery is stated have to been made on 07.06.2009 i.e. after one month and seven days from the date of incident. The witness has also stated that appellant Yasin, another witness Siddique and the Investigating Officer did not append their signature on the recovery memo of the alleged weapon in his presence. In view of the aforesaid infirmities, learned Counsel for the appellant submitted that the prosecution has failed to establish that the alleged recovery of the weapon of assault was affected on the pointing of appellant. Learned Counsel for appellant has further submitted that as per post mortem report a big bullet was found in the body of the deceased but no pellet is said to be recovered from the dead body of deceased. Further, according to the learned Counsel, the alleged recovered weapon is a 12 bore country made pistol as such the injury in the post mortem report is not corresponding to weapon allegedly recovered on the pointing out of appellant. Moreover, even in the ballistic report, the expert has opined that it is impossible to conclude that the recovered weapon (Katta) only, was used in the commission of offence.

34. Finally, learned Counsel for the appellant submitted that burden under Section 106 of the Indian Evidence Act cannot be shifted upon the appellant, particularly when there is evidence to the effect that several other family members and relatives were present at the time of occurrence and the appellant Yasin was sleeping with them on the roof while the deceased was sleeping inside the room. Learned Counsel for the appellant has further submitted that P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 in their testimony have stated that the appellant had gone to the police station to lodge a F.I.R. against the said Babu, Munnawar and Shakir Ali, however, the police did not lodge the F.I.R. Thus, it has been vehemently submitted by the learned Counsel for the Appellant that the learned Trial Court has wrongly come to the conclusion that appellant has not discharged his burden cast under Section 106 of the Indian Evidence Act. The learned Counsel for the appellant also submitted that the entire case of the prosecution against appellant is based on circumstantial evidence which is not so complete that on the basis of which it can be said that it is the appellant only and no one else would have committed the murder of deceased. The appellant has placed reliance on the principle of law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Dinesh Kumar Yadav Vs. State of Haryana, reported in AIR 2023 SC 2795; Jose @ Pappachan Vs. The Sub-Inspector of Police & Another, reported in 2016 (3) JIC 636 (SC); and Nagendra Sah Vs. The State of Bihar, reported in (2021) 10 SCC 725.

35. Per contra, Ms. Meera Tripathi, learned A.G.A. appearing for the State, has submitted that the deceased Hasena Bano, wife of appellant Yasin, died in suspicious circumstances during the intervening night of 29/30.04.2009. The deceased had bodily injury. However, despite that the appellant and his family members attempted to bury the deceased without there being given any such information to the Police or taking the deceased to a Doctor. The incident was reported to the police station Katra Bazar, District Gonda, by Mr. Ramzan (P.W.-3), the village chowkidar. Learned A.G.A. has further submitted that the appellant did not participate in the inquest proceedings and also did not engage in any act indicating that, subsequent to the incident, the accused had taken the deceased to a hospital or had consulted any doctor with regard to her treatment.

36. Learned A.G.A. submitted that it is clear from the testimony of P.W.-3 (Informant- Mr. Ramzan) that firstly, the appellant attempted to project a false narrative by claiming that the deceased was suffering from cholera due to which she was vomiting continuously and that on account thereof, she fell down from the roof, resulting in her death. Secondly, when this version was disclosed in public, both the relatives of deceased as well as those of accused/appellant refused to dig the grave for deceased, which clearly demonstrates that the version narrated by appellant had not been accepted by the gathering present at the spot. Thirdly, it came to the knowledge of the informant that on the date of incident, an altercation had taken place between the deceased and the appellant/ accused with regard to the marriage of the daughter, namely Heena, which clearly establishes the motive attributable to the deceased. Lastly, P.W.-3 has also duly affirmed the recovery of the country made pistol, thereby corroborating the recovery memo.

37. Learned A.G.A stressing on the point of motive submitted that Mr. Krishna Dev Shukla (P.W.-4) in his testimony has clearly stated that there was some altercation going on between the deceased and the appellant/accused, which was told to P.W.-4 by none other than deceased herself, when she had visited the house of said P.W.-4 on 29.04.2009 in the morning. She submitted that the testimony of P.W.-4 corroborates the motive of the appellant.

38. The learned A.G.A., in her concluding submissions, contended that the chain of circumstantial evidence stands fully complete in the present case. It was submitted that the deceased was shot dead inside the house when Appellant was present in the house; the deceased was never taken to any hospital for medical treatment; the accused created a false narrative by claiming that the deceased was suffering from cholera and had sustained injuries after falling from roof; the concerned authorities were never informed about her death. It was further submitted that the accused had clear motive for commission of offence inasmuch as an altercation had taken place between the deceased and the accused a day prior to the incident with regard to the marriage of their daughter. The recovery of the firearm at the instance of the accused was also duly proved, and the firearm injury sustained by the deceased clearly indicated that the shot was fired from a close range thereby corroborating the prosecution version. Moreover, when examined under Section 313 of Cr.P.C., the appellant/accused failed to furnish any reasonable or plausible explanation with regard to the incriminating circumstances appearing against him.

39. Ms. Meera Tripathi has further vehemently argued that in the aforesaid circumstances, the burden stood rightly shifted upon the accused under Section 106 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, which was never discharged. It was urged that the accused was present at the same place where the deceased died and therefore was obliged to explain the facts specially within his knowledge; however, no such explanation was spelt out by the accused. She further submitted that the prosecution has successfully proved its case beyond reasonable doubt and the accused has failed to discharge his burden casted upon him under Section 106 of the Indian Evidence Act. The counsel for the State has also relied on principles of law laid down by Hon ble Supreme Court in the case of Balvir Singh Vs. State of Uttarakhand, reported in (2023) 16 SCC 575; and Ram Gopal VS. State of M.P., reported in (2023) 5 SCC Online 158.

ANALYSIS AND FINDINGS

40. We have given our thoughtful consideration to the rival submissions advanced by the learned Counsel for the parties and have carefully perused the entire evidence on record. It is an admitted position that there is no direct eyewitness to the occurrence and the case of the prosecution rests on circumstantial evidence. It is well settled that in a case based on circumstantial evidence, the prosecution must establish a complete chain of circumstances which unerringly points towards the guilt of the accused and excludes every possible hypothesis consistent with his innocence. The law on the standard of proof required to prove a case by circumstantial evidence is no longer res integra.

41. The law remains that in a case of circumstantial evidence, the burden of proving lies on the prosecution and the prosecution has to discharge its duty by bringing on the record sufficient materials to show that the circumstances are incompatible with the innocence of the accused and lead to the irresistible conclusion regarding the guilt of the accused. The principles have been enumerated in the case of S.D. Soni v. State of Gujarat, reported in 1992 Supp (1) SCC 567 and Union of India v. J.S. Brar, reported in (1993) 1 SCC 176. Further, in the case of Tarseem Kumar v. Delhi Administration, reported in 1994 Supp. (3) SCC 367; it has been held by their Lordships that when the prosecution case is based solely on the circumstantial evidence, the Court must be satisfied:

“(i) That the circumstance from which such conclusion of guilt is to be drawn has been fully established; and

(ii) All the facts so established are consistent only with the hypothesis of guilt of the accused and they do not exclude any other hypothesis, except the one sought to be proved; and

(iii) The circumstances on which reliance has been placed are conclusive in nature; and

(iv) The chain of evidence is such that there is no scope for any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused.”

It has also further been observed by their Lordships in this very Judgment that:

“7. Where the prosecution purports to prove the charge against the accused on the basis of direct evidence, oral or documentary then the evidence so produced, can be considered by the Court on the well-recognized principles including as to when the FIR of the occurrence was lodged, whether the accused was named therein and the version of the occurrence which is being disclosed in the case was disclosed in the FIR or not, the witnesses who have supported the case of prosecution are trustworthy or not. But in a case based on circumstantial evidence, when neither the accused is known nor the manner of occurrence is known to the persons connected with the victim, even the FIR in respect of such cases is lodged after a considerable delay in many cases, because an offence has been committed itself, is not known to anyone. The circumstances discovered by the I.O. during the course of investigation and proved by the prosecution during trial have to be cautiously examined for the purpose of recording a verdict of guilt or giving benefit of doubt to accused.

8. Normally, there is a motive behind every criminal act and that is why investigating agency as well as the court while examining the complicity of an accused try to ascertain as to what was the motive on the part of the accused to commit the crime in question. It has been repeatedly pointed out by this Court that where the case of the prosecution has been proved beyond all reasonable doubts on basis of the materials produced before the court, the motive loses its importance. But in a case which is based on circumstantial evidence, motive for committing the crime on the part of the accused assumes greater importance. Of course, if each of the circumstances proved on behalf of the prosecution is accepted by the court for purpose of recording a finding that it was the accused who committed the crime in question, even in absence of proof of a motive for commission of such a crime, the accused can be convicted. But the investigating agency as well as the court should ascertain as far as possible as to what was the immediate impelling motive on the part of the accused which led him to commit the crime in question.

42. In the present case, it stands proved that the deceased Haseena Bano died a homicidal death as a result of ante-mortem firearm injuries. The medical evidence adduced through P.W.-9 (Dr. R.C. Sharma) fully corroborates the prosecution version and rules out any possibility of accidental or natural death. The injuries were caused from a close range and were sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death.

43. It is also undisputed that the deceased died inside the matrimonial home during the intervening night of 29/30.04.2009, when the appellant-husband was present in the house. The conduct of the appellant, both prior to and after the incident, assumes significance in view of Section 8 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, which inter-alia states as herein under:

8. Motive, preparation and previous or subsequent conduct.

Any fact is relevant which shows or constitutes a motive or preparation for any fact in issue or relevant fact. The conduct of any party, or of any agent to any party, to any suit or proceeding, in reference to such suit or proceeding, or in reference to any fact in issue or relevant thereto, and the conduct of any person an offence against whom is the subject of any proceeding is relevant, if such conduct influences or is influenced by any fact in issue or relevant fact, and whether it was previous or subsequent thereto.

Explanation 1. - The word "conduct" in this section does not include statements; unless those statements accompany and explain acts other than statements; but this explanation is not to affect the relevancy of statements under any other section of this Act.

Explanation 2. - When the conduct of any person is relevant, any statement made to him or in his presence and hearing, which affects such conduct, is relevant.

Apparently, the appellant neither informed the police about the death of his wife, nor took her to any hospital for medical treatment, and instead attempted to hurriedly bury the dead body as deposed by P.W.-3 (Informant) and P.W.-11 (Investigating Officer). Further, although P.W.-1 (Ms. Heena @ Nanka) and P.W.-2 (Ms. Ahmada), who are the daughters of the appellant, in their testimony have stated that the appellant had visited the Katra Bazar Police Station, Gonda, to lodge a report about the incident, however, the said testimony does not inspire any confidence for the reasons that P.W.-2 in her cross examination has candidly admitted that appellant had not any acrimonious relation with the police nor does it appear from the record and the statement of the witnesses that the police was working under any extraneous pressure for not registering the report of the incident allegedly given by the appellant. Furthermore, from a close scrutiny of the testimonies of P.W.-3 (Mr. Ramzan), P.W.-4 (Krishna Dev Shukla), P.W.-5 (Lakshmi Narayan Shukla) and P.W.-6 (Shyamdhara Pandey) it is apparent that appellant spread a false narrative of death of deceased that the deceased died due to falling from the rooftop, whereas the post-mortem report conclusively states that the deceased had died because of anti-mortem fire arm injuries received by her. The appellant did not provide any explanation whatsoever as to why he made such false statement regarding the death of deceased and tried to cover up the fire arm injuries received by the deceased. These conducts of the appellant strongly go against him. Moreover, it has come in the deposition of P.W.-11 (Investigating Officer) that when he visited the house of the Appellant where the deceased was lying dead, the said P.W. found that the appellant had already dug a grave for burying the deceased.

44. Hence, it is safe to conclude that the appellant never intended nor actually reported the incident to the police and the same was reported only by P.W.-3 (Mr. Ramzan- Village Chowkidar) and apparently the story put forth by P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 seems to be a gimmick. Further, this Court finds rather strange that although P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 tried to mislead and named three other co-accused i.e. Babu, Munnawar and Shakir Ali, to be involved in the killing of the deceased, however, neither there is any corroborative evidence on record nor any circumstances, which would show that the said P.W. s or the Appellant, who were all present at the time of incident tried to catch hold these three persons or raised any alarm or that a scuffle broke between these people or that as to who was carrying the Gun amongst these three i.e. Babu, Munnawar and Shakir Ali and who shot the gun. There are myriad questions, which remains unanswered and points towards the cooked-up story of the daughters. Further, as goes an old adage, Men may lie, but circumstances do not appear to be squarely applicable to the present facts, wherein there is no explanation coming forth from the Appellant as to when the Appellant did not commit any crime and it was some-one else according to him and his daughter, then as to why the appellant did not inform the police in the first place and secondly, as to why the appellant had dug a grave for burial of the deceased as has been deposed by P.W.-3 and P.W.-11. All these facts not only cast a shadow on the made-up story of the P.W.-1 and P.W.-2, but are also relevant factors under Section 8 of the Indian Evidence Act, pointing towards the guilty mind of the Appellant.

45. Further, the extra-judicial confession made by the appellant before P.W.-6 finds corroboration from the surrounding circumstances, including the conduct of the appellant and the medical evidence. While it is true that extra-judicial confession is a weak piece of evidence, however time and again the Supreme Court has held that it can form the basis of conviction when it inspires confidence and is corroborated by other material on record. The Hon ble Supreme Court had an occasion to examine a similar contention raised by the Appellant in the case of Shiva Karam Payaswami Tewari v. State of Maharashtra, reported in (2009) 11 SCC 262. The Court repelling the contention of the Appellant in that case held as under:

“8. We shall first deal with the question regarding claim of extra-judicial confession. Though it is not necessary that the witness should speak the exact words but there cannot be vital and material difference. While dealing with a stand of extra-judicial confession, court has to satisfy [itself] that the same was voluntary and without any coercion and undue influence. Extra-judicial confession can form the basis of conviction if persons before whom it is stated to be made appear to be unbiased and not even remotely inimical to the accused. Where there is material to show animosity, court has to proceed cautiously and find out whether confession just like any other evidence depends on veracity of witness to whom it is made. It is not invariable that the court should not accept such evidence if actual words as claimed to have been spoken are not reproduced and the substance is given. It will depend on circumstance of the case. If substance itself is sufficient to prove culpability and there is no ambiguity about import of the statement made by the accused, evidence can be acted upon even though substance and not actual words have been stated. Human mind is not a tape recorder which records what has been spoken word by word. The witness should be able to say as nearly as possible actual words spoken by the accused. That would rule out possibility of erroneous interpretation of any ambiguous statement. If word by word repetition of statement of the case is insisted upon, more often than not evidentiary value of extra-judicial confession has to be thrown out as unreliable and not useful. That cannot be a requirement in law. There can be some persons who have a good memory and may be able to repost exact words and there may be many who are possessed of normal memory and do so. It is for the court to judge credibility of the witness' capacity and thereafter to decide whether his or her evidence has to be accepted or not. If court believes witnesses before whom confession is made and is satisfied that confession was voluntary basing on such evidence, conviction can be founded. Such confession should be clear, specific and unambiguous ...”

46. In the present case, the testimony of P.W.-6 cannot be brushed aside merely on conjectures, as nothing substantial has been elicited to discredit his evidence. The learned Counsel for the appellant has taken a lame ground that the P.W.-6, in his cross examination, could not tell the day or the date of the extra judicial confession made by appellant and, hence, the testimony of the P.W.-6 regarding extra judicial confession of the appellant should not be relied upon. It is trite law that the primary purpose of cross examination is to test the witness's veracity and credibility, and not their ability to recall minor details or act as a tape-recorder by version of the events relating to the date, time or place. We cannot lose sight of the fact that P.W.-6 was examined on 14.07.2010 i.e. after more than a year and therefore, the witness cannot be expected to recall every minute details such as day, date, or time of extra judicial confession. Moreover, this Court finds that the Learned Trial Court has not convicted the Appellant solely based on extra-judicial confession but also on other compelling evidence found against the Appellant like the disclosure, recovery, conduct, invocation of Section 106 Indian evidence Act etc. Thus, we do not find any force in the submission of learned Counsel of the appellant. We also do not find any force in the submission of the learned Counsel of the appellant that the said extra judicial confession has been made to save accused Babu and Munnawar.

47. The learned Counsel for appellant has submitted that there is nothing to show that P.W.-6 (Shyamdhhar Pandey) had influence with police or had some status to protect the appellant from harassment of police as such there was no reason for appellant to confess his guilt before him and to request him to save him. Admittedly, mother of P.W.-6 was the incumbent village Pradhan, to which the appellant belonged. It has come in the testimony of P.W.-6 that he used to assist her mother in discharging her duties as village Pradhan and usually represented her before the people and the authorities. It cannot be lost sight that village Pradhan in rural area exercises some kind of influence and control over village chowkidar. It has come in evidence of P.W.-6 that he had visited the appellant's place, before the police and having noticed the gunshot injury on the deceased had advised the Appellant to not hurriedly bury the deceased and instead inform the police, which he failed to oblige, as it was eventually P.W.-3 (Village Chowkidar) and not the appellant, who had lodged the present complaint with the police. Hence, it cannot be said that the P.W.-6 was not in position to afford protection to the appellant from possible police harassment and therefore, there was no occasion for appellant to confess his guilt before the P.W.-6. Most importantly, there is no evidence on record to show that the said P.W.-6 was in any manner inimical to the Appellant or that the statement made to him was manipulated or was under some coercion or force. There is also no argument nor there is any evidence to show on record that the extra-judicial confession was not voluntary and as such the submission advanced by learned Counsel for the appellant to the effect that P.W.-6 was not in a position to save the appellant and as such there was no occasion for him to make any extra-judicial confession before the P.W.-6 is found to be without merit.

48. The next issue raised by the learned Counsel for the Appellant is relating to the recovery of the firearm at the instance of the appellant. No doubt, certain discrepancies have been pointed out by the defence regarding the manner of recovery from the field of one of the co-accused, who has been acquitted, however, a plain reading of the testimony of the recovery witness P.W.-7 (Vikram) together with the testimony of the Investigating Officer- P.W.-11 proves that the crime weapon was recovered on the disclosure statement and pointing of the Appellant as has also been deposed by the P.W.-3 (Informant). The minor discrepancy relating to as to who dug the field for recovery of the weapon does not create any doubt on the testimony of P.W.-7, who has deposed that he was present on the place of recovery as a chance and not was called by the police to become a witness to the said recovery. In the totality of the deposition recorded of the said witness, this Court does not find any infirmity, which would go to the root of the matter or in any manner wreck the prosecution story. Further, this Court notices that recovery of weapon was not immediately after the incident but after more than one month and simultaneous to the arrest of the Appellant. The timing of the recovery of firearms, the date of arrest and the place (i.e. Babu s field, who is a co-accused and entangled in the present case by the statement of daughters of the Appellant), gives wings to the story put forth by the investigation to achieve the culpability of the Appellant. The ballistic report pertaining to the firearm, recovered pursuant to the statement made by the appellant, confirms that it had been used for firing. Therefore, the recovery, read in conjunction with ballistic report and the medical evidence indicating a close-range firearm injury and the conduct of appellant subsequent to the incident, clearly forms a coherent chain of circumstances, leading to the sole conclusion that the appellant and no one else has committed murder of his wife.

49. The learned Counsel for the Appellant has submitted that there is no motive for the Appellant to commit the murder of his wife as has been also deposed by P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 and as such the conviction cannot be upheld in a case based on circumstantial evidence. First and foremost, it must be understood that no doubt Motive is a very important link in the circumstances which could prove the guilt of the accused, however, it must also be understood in the same vein that even if there may be a very strong motive for the accused to commit a particular crime, it does not lead to a conviction by itself, if the eyewitnesses are not convincing or the chain of circumstances is not complete. The law holding the ground is that if the case is built solely upon circumstantial evidence, absence of motive would be a factor that weighs in favour of the accused and just as a strong motive does not by itself result in a conviction, the absence of motive on that sole ground cannot result in an acquittal. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Suresh Chandra Bahri v. State of Bihar, reported in 1995 Supp (1) SCC 80; has held that in a case based on circumstantial evidence, proof of motive would merely "supply a link in the chain of circumstances, but all the same, absence of motive cannot be a ground to altogether reject the prosecution case. Para 21 of the said judgment reads as under:

"21. At the very outset we may mention that sometimes motive plays an important role and becomes a compelling force to commit a crime and therefore motive behind the crime is a relevant factor for which evidence may be adduced. A motive is something which prompts a person to form an opinion or intention to do certain illegal act or even a legal act but with illegal means with a view to achieve that intention. In a case where there is clear proof of motive for the commission of the crime it affords added support to the finding of the court that the accused was guilty of the offence charged with. But it has to be remembered that the absence of proof of motive does not render the evidence bearing on the guilt of the accused nonetheless untrustworthy or unreliable because most often it is only the perpetrator of the crime alone who knows as to what circumstances prompted him to a certain course of action leading to the commission of the crime. In the present case before us the prosecution has adduced evidence that the appellant Suresh Bahri had strong motive to eliminate his wife and two children from his way which evidence has been accepted by both the courts below. We shall, therefore, have a look at the said evidence to see whether the two courts are justified or not in taking the view that the appellant Suresh Bahri had a strong motive to hatch a conspiracy with the assistance of the other two appellants, namely, Raj Pal Sharma and Gurbachan Singh to commit the murder of his wife and the two children."

50. Recently, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Subhash Aggarwal v. State of NCT of Delhi, reported as 2025 INSC 499; after tracing the various judgment on the said aspect, concluded the concept of significance of motive in a case based on circumstantial evidence in the following words:

"24. Motive remains hidden in the inner recesses of the mind of the perpetrator, which cannot, oftener than ever, be ferreted out by the investigation agency. Though in a case of circumstantial evidence, the complete absence of motive would weigh in favour of the accused, it cannot be declared as a general proposition of universal application that, in the absence of motive, the entire inculpatory circumstances should be ignored and the accused acquitted."

51. As far as the present case is concerned, the Appellant has heavily relied on the deposition of his daughter's examined as P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 to submit that there is no motive on his part to kill his wife. Besides the fact that the deposition of the daughters appears to be not trust worthy, as has been observed herein above, this Court finds that their statement to be effectuated by basic children syndrome to save their father facing trial of murdering their mother and the children having already come to terms of having lost their mother and not lose their father. The daughters (P.W.-1 and P.W.-2) have made a deliberate attempt to save their father, as is apparent from their testimony, wherein they have named their neighbours as accused of killing their mother, however, the same was disbelieved by the Learned Trial Court leading to their acquittal.

52. Admittedly, it has come in the evidence of the Investigating Officer (P.W.-11) that both the daughters have named the neighbors as an afterthought as no such allegations were made by them during the investigation and resultantly no charge-sheet had been filed against them and these people i.e. Babu, Munnawar and Shakir Ali came to be added as an accused by the Learned Trial Court under Section 319 Cr.P.C. Apparently, both P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 appears to be an interested witnesses and on the other hand the evidence of P.W.-4 and P.W.-6 clearly establishes that there was a strained relationship between the appellant and the deceased on account of the proposed marriage of their daughter Heena, and that an altercation had taken place shortly prior to the incident. The factum of said altercation is also envisaged from the statements of fact that it has come in evidence that except for the deceased, all the family members, including the daughters and the Appellant-father were sleeping on the terrace at the time of incident. Thus, it is concluded that there was a motive for the Appellant to do the heinous crime, but as aforesaid though motive by itself may not be decisive, its existence lends assurance to the prosecution case, particularly in a case founded on circumstantial evidence. Hence, it is proved in the present case that the link and the circumstances are so interconnected that they lead to the only hypothesis of culpability of the Appellant.

53. Further, it is established from the testimony of the witnesses that the deceased met with a homicidal death inside the house where the appellant was specifically present during the time immediately preceding the occurrence of incident. The basic foundational fact of guilt as discussed herein above, having been proved against the Appellant, it was legal, proper and reasonable to draw an inference regarding the existence of certain other facts which are within the special knowledge of the accused. Therefore, the learned Trial Court was right in shifting the burden under Section 106 of the Indian Evidence Act, on the appellant to explain the circumstances in which his wife sustained fatal injuries. This court finds that the appellant has failed to offer any plausible or satisfactory explanation, either during investigation or in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. Mere denial is not sufficient to discharge the burden cast upon him by law and especially when he has been charged with the murder of his own wife. Apparently, the presence of the Appellant at the crime spot has been proved and there are adverse circumstances of creating a false narrative relating to the cause of death of the deceased-wife and his conduct of hurriedly trying to bury the dead body. The Appellant owes an explanation under law in the said compelling circumstances, which he has failed to offer.

54. Further, the theory sought to be projected by P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 implicating Babu, Munawar and Shakir Ali, which has been rightly disbelieved by the learned Trial Court, also is an added link in the chain of circumstantial evidence, which points towards the hypothesis of culpability of the Appellant. Thus, this Court has not a shred of doubt to hold that the evidence on record, clearly points towards an unbreakable connection between the appellant as perpetrator of crime and the offence of murder charged against him.

55. In view of the foregoing discussion, we are of the considered view that the prosecution has succeeded in establishing a complete and unbroken chain of circumstances which conclusively proves the guilt of the appellant beyond reasonable doubt. The findings recorded by the learned Trial Court do not suffer from any perversity or illegality warranting interference by this Court.

56. Accordingly, the conviction of the appellant under Section 302 I.P.C. is upheld and the appeal lacking any merits is liable to be dismissed, as far as it relates to Conviction. However, the learned Counsel has submitted that the Appellant is more than 75 years and has remained in jail for more than 14 years and 3 months and as such this court being a constitutional court may exercise some leniency in the sentence of life imprisonment awarded by the learned Trial Court. It has been also submitted that there is no criminal history of the Appellant.

57. This Court in the aforesaid aspect, recently had an opportunity to deal with such a situation, wherein the appellant in that case was convicted for the death of his wife, although for an offence under Section 304-B of the Indian Penal Code, in the case of Paras Nath Sahu and Another Vs. State of U.P. reported as 2025:AHC-LKO:83391-DB; The appellant in that case was awarded with life imprisonment by the learned Trial Court. This Court, while discussing the law on the scope and extent of Jurisdiction in granting a fixed term sentence instead of life imprisonment has been held as herein under:

“42. The Constitutional Bench of the Hon’ble Supreme Court, in the case of Union of India v. V. Sriharan, reported in (2016) 7 SCC 1; was dealing with on the issue, as to whether imprisonment for life in terms of Section 53 read with Section 45 of the I.P.C. means imprisonment for the rest of the life of the convict. The Constitutional Bench after referring to the various precedents, including Swamy Shraddananda (2) v. State of Karnataka, reported in (2008) 13 SCC 767; has answered the same in paragraph nos. 104 and 105 of the V. Sriharan (Supra), judgment which is quoted in verbatim herein below:

"104. That apart, in most of such cases where death penalty or life imprisonment is the punishment imposed by the trial court and confirmed by the Division Bench of the High Court, the convict concerned will get an opportunity to get such verdict tested by filing further appeal by way of special leave to this Court. By way of abundant caution and as per the prescribed law of the Code and the criminal jurisprudence, we can assert that after the initial finding of guilt of such specified grave offences and the imposition of penalty either death or life imprisonment, when comes under the scrutiny of the Division Bench of the High Court, it is only the High Court which derives the power under the Penal Code, which prescribes the capital and alternate punishment, to alter the said punishment with one either for the entirety of the convict's life or for any specific period of more than 14 years, say 20, 30 or so on depending upon the gravity of the crime committed and the exercise of judicial conscience befitting such offence found proved to have been committed."

"105. We, therefore, reiterate that the power derived from the Penal Code for any modified punishment within the punishment provided for in the Penal Code for such specified offences can only be exercised by the High Court and in the event of further appeal only by the Supreme Court and not by any other court in this country. To put it differently, the power to impose a modified punishment providing for any specific term of incarceration or till the end of the convict's life as an alternate to death penalty, can be exercised only by the High Court and the Supreme Court and not by any other inferior court."

43. Furthermore, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Shiva Kumar v. State of Karnataka, reported in (2023) 9 SCC 817; after considering both of the aforementioned judgments of V. Sriharan (Supra) and Swamy Shraddananda (2) (Supra); in paragraph no. 14, has held that:

"14. Hence, we have no manner of doubt that even in a case where capital punishment is not imposed or is not proposed, the constitutional courts can always exercise the power of imposing a modified or fixed-term sentence by directing that a life sentence, as contemplated by "secondly" in Section 53IPC, shall be of a fixed period of more than fourteen years, for example, of twenty years, thirty years and so on. The fixed punishment cannot be for a period less than 14 years in view of the mandate of Section 433-A Cr.P.C."

58. As far as the present case is concerned, considering the aforesaid proposition of law and the overall facts and circumstances, keeping in view the evidence brought on record, by virtue of which the appellant was convicted, we in our considered view need to weigh a balance between the culpability of the convict on the basis of evidence collected and brought on record on the one hand with the quantum of punishment being inflicted due to the said culpability. No doubt, the crime committed is one of the most heinous crimes and against the society at large, as such does not call for any interference, keeping in view that the said act of murder of one's own wife by the husband, not only is a murder of body of the wife but also amounts to murder of her trust, faith, soul and physiological mind. However, this Court needs to strike a chord of justice to not only subserve the society at large but also keep the various attending mitigating factors brought on record.

59. This Court finds that, it has come on record that the appellant is more than 75 years and has been in Jail for the past more than 14 years and 4 months. Further, the Appellant is not a habitual offender as there is no criminal history of the Appellant. Keeping in view the overall facts and circumstances of the present case, this Court balancing the need of the society to live in a peaceful, safe and congenial environment with chance of reformation and integrating the appellant back into the society is of the view that justice would be met, if the appellant is awarded a fixed term of imprisonment in the present facts and circumstances of the case. Thus, the maximum sentence of life awarded to the appellant- Yasin under Section 302 I.P.C. is reduced to a fixed period of 15 (Fifteen years) Rigorous Imprisonment, without any remission. However, the fine under Section 302 I.P.C is not being disturbed and the appeal is being dismissed, to that extent.

60. Consequently, the present Appeal of Yasin is partly allowed to the extent of sentence of imprisonment for life is being converted to a fixed period of 15 (fifteen) years Rigorous Imprisonment, without any remission, but along with the fine as stipulated in the impugned judgment of conviction and sentence dated 22.09.2011 of the learned Trial Court.

61. Having said so, it is directed that the appellant- Yasin shall be released only after undergoing the sentence of punishment of 15 years, rigorous imprisonment, without any remission, as aforesaid, under the Sessions Trial No. 371 of 2009 (State Vs. Yasin and others) arising out of Crime Case No. 154 of 2009. The Jail Authorities are accordingly directed to calculate the period of custody and in calculating the said period the benefit of Section 427 and 428 Cr.P.C. shall be granted to the Appellant.

62. There shall be no order as to cost(s).

Criminal Appeal No. 3822 of 2022

Tejveer

...Appellant

Versus

State of U.P.

...Respondent

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to conviction of the appellants under S. 302 read with S. 34 IPC, where the Trial Court acquitted them of charges under S.s 304-B, 498-A IPC and S.s 3/4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961, and the prosecution case rests substantially on circumstantial evidence and testimony of hostile witnesses, particularly relating to an unnatural death within the matrimonial home.

Headnotes

Criminal Trial - Murder - S. 302 read with S. 34 IPC - Hostile Witnesses - Circumstantial Evidence - Complete chain of circumstances - Unnatural death of wife in matrimonial home - Burden on prosecution to establish circumstances beyond reasonable doubt - Subsequent shifting of evidential burden on accused - Failure of accused to explain incriminating circumstances - Conviction upheld (Paras 17-19, 72, 79)

Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - S. 154 - Evidentiary value of hostile witness - Evidence of hostile witness not to be rejected in toto - Court entitled to rely on those portions which inspire confidence - Conduct, contradictions, and admissions examined cumulatively. (Paras 35-42)

Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - S.s 101, 102, 106 - Distinction between burden of proof and evidential burden - S. 106 not attracted where an independent eyewitness was available - Nevertheless, failure of accused to rebut incriminating circumstances decisive. (Paras 72-73, 79)
Penal Law - S. 302/34 IPC - Common intention - Death by poisoning - Medical and forensic evidence corroborative - Organochloro insecticide found in viscera - Guilt established beyond reasonable doubt. (Paras 4-6, 66, 79) (E-7)

Held: The prosecution has successfully established its case beyond all reasonable doubt, both on the basis of evidence of witnesses, notwithstanding their hostility, and ignoring that evidence, by the circumstances alone - this is not a case where S. 106 of the Evidence Act could be invoked, yet upon establishment of incriminating circumstances, the burden shifted upon the appellants under S. 102 of the Evidence Act, which they failed to discharge - all these circumstances put together form a complete chain that exclude any other possibility, except that of the appellants' guilt", and no defence evidence or explanation was offered - the appeals fail and are dismissed, and the conviction and sentence under S. 302/34 IPC are affirmed. (Paras 72 - 80)

APPELLATE JURISDICTION: Criminal Appeal No. 3822 of 2022 and Criminal Appeal No. 5320 of 2021 arising out of judgment and order dated 25.10.2021 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, FTC-I, Bulandshahr in Sessions Trial No. 644 of 2019, State v. Tejveer and others, concerning Crime No.106 of 2019, P.S. Ramghat, District Bulandshahr.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Appellant:

Mr. Santosh Kumar Rai
Mr. Hemant Sharma
Mr. Omvir Singh Rajpoot

Advs. for the Respondents:

Mr. Rahul Asthana, learned Additional Government Advocate

(Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. By this judgment, we propose to decide the present criminal appeal and the connected Criminal Appeal No.5320 of 2021, both of which arise out of a judgment and order of Ms. Deepika Tiwari, the then Additional Sessions Judge, FTC-I, Bulandshahr dated 25.10.2021 in Sessions Trial No.644 of 2019, State v. Tejveer and others. By the said judgment and order, the learned Trial Judge has convicted the appellants in both the appeals for an offence punishable under Section 302 read with Section 34 of the Indian Penal Code (for short, 'IPC') and sentenced each of them to suffer imprisonment for life, besides ordering them to pay a fine of Rs.10,000/- each. In default of payment of fine, the appellant in default has been directed to undergo further rigorous imprisonment for a period of two years. At the same time, all the appellants have been acquitted of the charges under Sections 304-B, 498-A IPC and Section 3/4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 (for short, 'DP Act'). It is the conviction and sentence that each of the appellants challenge in the present appeal.

2. A First Information Report ('FIR' in short) was lodged by Chokhelal son of Kamal Singh, a resident of Chauganpur, Police Station Harduaganj, District Aligarh on 30.07.2019 at 5:45 p.m. with Police Station Ramghat, District Bulandshahr, saying that he had got married two of his daughters, Mamta and Chandrawati, to two brothers, Tejveer and Rakesh, both sons of Nanakram, a resident of Village Gangagarh, Police Station Ramghat, District Bulandshahr. He reported in his written first information that today, i.e. on 30.07.2019, his younger daughter, Chandrawati, called him over telephone to say that her sister, Mamta, had been given poison by Tejveer son of Nanakram, Rama daughter of Nanakram, Munni wife of Nanakram and Nanakram son of Kishori Lal, besides others, after conspiring amongst themselves, on account of demand of dowry and her sister not being able to bear a child. Chokhelal said that immediately upon receipt of this information, all family members reached Gangagarh by car, but by that time, the poison had overtaken the body. It is also said in the FIR that the informant's daughter, Mamta, told him that her mother-in-law, father-in-law, husband and sister-in-law (Nanad) had forcibly made her drink poison. The informant added that they were rushing Mamta for medical aid to the hospital, when on way at Atarauli, she died. The FIR requested necessary action in the matter and added that Mamta's dead body was with the informant in the vehicle parked in front of Police Station Ramghat.

3. On the basis of the said case, Crime No.106 of 2019, under Sections 498-A, 304-B IPC and Section 3/4 of the DP Act, P.S. Ramghat, District Bulandshahr, was registered against the three appellants, besides Rama daughter of Nanakram.

4. An inquest was done on 30.07.2019 jointly by Sub-Inspector Chandrapal Singh from Police Station Ramghat, District Bulandshahr and Manoj Kumar Singh, Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Dibai, District Bulandshahr, in the presence of panch witnesses. An autopsy for the deceased followed, which was carried out on 31.07.2019. The following ante-mortem injuries were noticed:

(4) Cotton swab with Licoplast tape present on right lower limb just on calf muscle.

(5) Injury No.(1) and (2) on exploration subclavicular region was found punctured and internal jugular vein was found punctured respectively.”

5. The autopsy doctor remarked that no opinion can be given (as to cause of death) and the viscera were preserved for chemical and forensic examination. In the opinion of the doctor, the cause of death could not be ascertained and, therefore, viscera were preserved for chemical, toxicological and forensic analysis.

6. There is a report from the Forensic Science Laboratory, Ghaziabad dated 08.08.2019, which opines that the viscera received in five parts showed presence of Organochloro Insecticide.

7. The Circle Officer, Debai, Bulandshahr, who investigated the crime, submitted a charge-sheet against the three appellants, but exculpated Rama, the deceased's sister-in-law, finding it to be a case of false implication for her.

8. The learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bulandshahr took cognizance on 02.12.2019 and summoned the accused. They appeared before the Court, whereupon the learned Magistrate furnished them copies of the relevant prosecution papers under Section 207 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (for short, 'Cr.P.C.'). Thereafter, the case was committed to the Court of Sessions for trial, also on 02.12.2019, by Mr. Sumit Premi, the then Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bulandshahr.

9. Four charges were framed by Ms. Shweta Verma, the learned Additional Sessions Judge, FTC-I, Bulandshahr vide order dated 06.01.2020. The appellants were charged under Section 498-A IPC on the first count, Section 304-B IPC on the second count and Sections 3 and 4 of the DP Act on the third and fourth counts, respectively. An alternate charge was framed under Section 302/34 IPC. The appellants pleaded not guilty and claimed trial. The appellants stood their trial before Ms. Deepika Tiwari, who heard all the evidence in this case. The trial commenced on 21.10.2020.

10. In order to prove their case, the prosecution have examined the following witnesses:

- (1) PW-1, Chokhelal, the informant and the father of the deceased;
- (2) PW-2, Chandrawati, another witness of fact and sister of the deceased;
- (3) PW-3, Omwati, mother of the deceased;
- (4) PW-4, Banti Singh, brother of the deceased;
- (5) PW-5, Dr. Ajay Kumar, conducted autopsy;
- (6) PW-6, Lady Constable Ritu, got registered the check FIR; and,

(7) CO Vikram Singh, Investigating Officer of the case, who drew up a site-plan and submitted the charge-sheet.

11. The prosecution have relied upon the following documentary evidence:

12. The learned Trial Judge, vide judgment and order dated 25.10.2021, convicted and sentenced the appellants, as specified earlier.

13. Aggrieved by the impugned judgment and order, Criminal Appeal No.3822 of 2022 has been preferred by the appellant, Tejveer, whereas Criminal Appeal No.5320 of 2021 by the appellants, Nanakram and Munni.

14. We have heard Criminal Appeal No.3822 of 2022 as the leading appeal as both the appeals arise out of a common judgment and order passed by the Trial Judge and relate to the same crime as well.

15. Heard Mr. Santosh Kumar Rai, Mr. Hemant Sharma and Mr. Omvir Singh Rajpoot, learned Counsel for the appellants in support of both the appeals and Mr. Rahul Asthana, learned Additional Government Advocate, appearing on behalf of the State.

16. Upon hearing learned Counsel for the parties, we find that there is no cavil that the Trial Court has acquitted the appellants of charges under Sections 304-B, 498-A IPC and Section 3/4 of the DP Act but convicted them on the alternate charge under Section 302/34 IPC and sentenced them, accordingly. It is this conviction and sentence, which the appellants assail before us.

17. The conviction being one for an offence punishable under Section 302/34 IPC, it is the prosecution, who have to establish the case beyond reasonable doubt.

18. This is a case, where apparently, all the four prosecution witnesses of fact have turned hostile and refused to support their version before the Police, at the time of registration of the crime, and in subsequent statements made before the Police, during investigation. There are two features of this case, which must be borne in mind; one commonplace, and, the other, not so common, if not rare. The oft-occurring feature or challenge that this case carries is the fact that the deceased died within the four corners of her matrimonial home, where the appellants were in control of all affairs. This is commonplace because in any Indian home, except in certain places in the country, it is the wife, who, upon marriage, leaves her home and settles down with her husband or/ and in-laws in their home. Therefore, if an unnatural death or a death by violence is the fate of the wife in her matrimonial home, after the prosecution have established the basic facts about the wife's death, which is unnatural or the result of a crime, burden falls upon the shoulders of the deceased's husband and his relatives, with whom she resided, to explain how the unnatural death happened.

19. The uncommon feature of this case is that in most such cases, a wife, who dies in her matrimonial home an unnatural death, has no witness to tell her story, for the obvious reason that her husband and in-laws, tied as they are together, with a thread of common interest, would not come forward to testify against their own kin and expose them to the consequences of being punished for a heinous offence; but not so here. Here, the uncommon feature, of which we have spoken of, is that in the confines of her matrimonial home, the deceased had a sister of full-blood as an eye-witness to everything that befell her. This happened because the two sisters were married to two brothers of full-blood. The testimony of this witness, who is undoubtedly an eye-witness, would have carried great weight, if she had treaded the path of idealism, spoken forthrightly and truthfully. But, it seems that she has not and fallen victim to the very mundane consideration of saving her in-laws, who are also in-laws to her sister. She is married in the same home and if convicted, the ones who would suffer the penalties of law, would be her husband's parents and next of kin. It is perhaps this consideration, which has made this uncommon eye-witness speak some falsehood and other half truths in her dock evidence. Of course, like other witnesses, she too has been got declared hostile by the prosecution and cross-examined. If indeed, the witnesses, including the deceased's sister, PW-2, Chandrawati, have spoken falsehood and half truths, we would shortly scrutinize in this judgment.

20. The genesis of the crime shows that the informant and PW-1, Chokhelal, the deceased's father, received information on 30.07.2019 over phone from his younger daughter, Chandrawati, to the effect that her sister, Mamta, had been poisoned by her husband Tejveer, sister-in-law Rama, mother-in-law Munni and father-in-law Nanakram on account of unmet demand for dowry and her failure to bear a child. The FIR, lodged after the deceased had expired, shows that upon receipt of the aforesaid information, the informant along with all the family members, drove to the deceased's matrimonial home in their car, only to find that the poison had spread in the whole of her body. It is also said in the FIR by the informant that his daughter Mamta (later on deceased) told him that her mother-in-law, father-in-law, husband and sister-in-law (nanad) had forced her to consume poison. Upon learning the said fact, the informant started off with his daughter to the hospital to seek medical aid, but unfortunately she expired, when they had reached Atrauli. It is after her death that the first informant reported the crime to the Police.

21. This stand of the informant and the deceased's other family members, who are the witnesses here, remained consistent during investigation.

22. PW-1, the deceased's father and the first informant, turned hostile in the dock and did not support the prosecution. About the incident, he has said in his examination-in-chief that on 30.07.2019, he received information from his younger daughter Chandrawati that Mamta had died. When he, along with other family members, reached the deceased's in-laws' home, Mamta was already dead. He dictated the FIR to Banti Singh, a boy from his village (when, in fact, Banti Singh is his son) and handed it over at Police Station Ramghat. The written information that he dictated is on record, which bore his signatures. He has proved it. He has further on said in his examination-in-chief that he had no knowledge of the fact that his daughter Mamta had been poisoned to death by her husband Tejveer, mother-in-law Munni and father-in-law Nanakram. It was at this stage that the witness was prayed to be declared hostile and upon grant of that prayer, he was cross-examined by the prosecution.

23. It is noteworthy that in the FIR, this witness has categorically said that he had received a phone call from his younger daughter Chandrawati, informing him that Mamta had been poisoned by her husband, mother-in-law and father-in-law, also specifying the issues that led them to commit the evil deed. He has next said in the FIR that when he along with the family reached Mamta's place, the poison had overtaken the body, but Mamta told him that her mother-in-law, father-in-law, husband and sister-in-law had forcibly made her drink poison. He immediately rushed his daughter to the hospital, but she passed away while they were still at Atrauli.

24. Now, the contents of this FIR, the witness has affirmed and proved in his examination-in-chief, but spoken contrariwise about the incident in his dock evidence. It is indeed unbelievable that if the witness has affirmed the contents of the FIR, where it is said that Mamta was alive, when he reached her and told him that she had been forced to consume poison by the appellants, how could this witness say in his dock evidence that when he reached Mamta's place, she was already dead and that he did not know if the appellants had poisoned her. He has not said anywhere that he lodged the FIR under some misconception of fact or out of some motivation, setting forth false facts there. An FIR has a special importance in any criminal trial. Though, it is not substantive evidence, it is the earliest account of the occurrence, and, therefore, regarded as most truthful, free from embellishment, afterthought, design or manipulation. It is for this reason that the weight given to an FIR is lost or much lessened, if it is shown not to be prompt under the circumstances and one lodged after an unexplained delay, with possible pre-meditation.

25. In this connection, reference may be made to the authority of the Supreme Court in Jai Prakash Singh v. State of Bihar and another, (2012) 4 SCC 379, where it has been held:

“12. The FIR in a criminal case is a vital and valuable piece of evidence though may not be substantive piece of evidence. The object of insisting upon prompt lodging of the FIR in respect of the commission of an offence is to obtain early information regarding the circumstances in which the crime was committed, the names of the actual culprits and the part played by them as well as the names of the eye-witnesses present at the scene of occurrence. If there is a delay in lodging the FIR, it loses the advantage of spontaneity, danger creeps in of the introduction of coloured version, exaggerated account or concocted story as a result of large number of consultations/deliberations. Undoubtedly, the promptness in lodging the FIR is an assurance regarding truth of the informant's version. A promptly lodged FIR reflects the first hand account of what has actually happened, and who was responsible for the offence in question. (Vide Thulia Kali v. State of T.N. [(1972) 3 SCC 393 : 1972 SCC (Cri) 543 : AIR 1973 SC 501] , State of Punjab v. Surja Ram [1995 Supp (3) SCC 419 : 1995 SCC (Cri) 937 : AIR 1995 SC 2413] , Girish Yadav v. State of M.P. [(1996) 8 SCC 186 : 1996 SCC (Cri) 552] and Takdir Samsuddin Sheikh v. State of Gujarat [(2011) 10 SCC 158 : (2012) 1 SCC (Cri) 218 : AIR 2012 SC 37] .)”.

26. Apparently, this witness has spoken falsehood and concealed truth from the Court, which nevertheless peeps from behind all the armour of his false testimony. In his cross-examination, PW-1 has stated:

"घटना के समय मेरी बेटी चन्द्रवती पत्नी राकेश भी अपनी ससुराल ग्राम गंगागढ़ में थी। मुलजिमान गंगागढ़ में एक ही मकान में रहते हैं और वही एक ही खाते पीते हैं। मैं घटना की बावत बोलता गया था और तहरीर बन्दी लिखता गया। तहरीर बन्दी सिंह ने लिखने के बाद मुझे पढ़कर सुनायी थी फिर मैंने तहरीर पर अपने हस्ताक्षर किये थे। तहरीर में बंटी सिंह ने वही लिखा था जो मैंने बोला था।

यह कहना भी गलत है कि दिनांक 30.7.19 को मेरी पुत्री ममता को अतिरिक्त दहेज की मांग पूर्ण न होने के कारण मुलजिमान तेजवीर नानकराम, मुन्नी ने मिलकर एकराय मशवरा होकर ममता को जहर देकर मार दिया हो।

यह कहना भी गलत है कि मुलजिमान से मिलकर उन्हें बचाने के लिये आज मैं झूठी गवाही दे रहा हूं और सही बात को छिपा रहा हूं।

मैंने आज से पहले कहीं पर भी किसी को भी या किसी पुलिस अधिकारी को या किसी प्रशासनिक अधिकारी को यह नहीं बताया कि मेरी बेटी ममता की हत्या (जहर देकर) मुलजिमान तेजवीर, नानराम व मुन्नी देवी व रामा ने नहीं की। यह बात आज मैं पहली बार कह रहा हूं।

यह बात सही है कि अब हमारा इस मुकदमे के मुलजिमान तेजवीर आदि से फैसला हो गया है।

यह कहना सही है कि मुलजिमान से फैसला हो जाने के कारण मुलजिमान के पक्ष में गवाही दे रहा हूं।

यह बात सही है कि मृतका ममता के साथ घटना ससुराल में हुई थी और मृत्यु रास्ते में हुई थी।"

27. If we look to the cross-examination of this witness, his stand, in the early part of it, is affirmative of his examination-in-chief that Mamta was already dead when the informant and other members of his family reached there and that she did not die on way to Aligarh at Atrauli, while being conveyed there for treatment. He has also affirmed the fact, in the earlier part of his cross-examination, that Mamta never told him that her mother-in-law, father-in-law, husband and sister-in-law had forced her to consume poison. However, in the later part of his cross-examination, this witness has clearly acknowledged the fact that it is correct to say that while the occurrence took place at the house of the deceased's in-laws, she died on way. In the early part of his cross-examination, this witness has affirmed the fact that the FIR was scribed spontaneously by Banti Singh on his dictation and that it bore his signatures. He has also acknowledged the fact that the written information carries only those facts, which he had dictated to Banti Singh. The FIR clearly says the fact that when the informant reached Mamta's place, she told him that her mother-in-law, father-in-law, husband and sister-in-law had made her forcibly drink poison and that they rushed her to hospital, but she died on way at Atrauli.

28. It is next to be noticed that this witness has clearly acknowledged in his cross-examination that he had earlier, at no point of time, told any police or administrative officer that the appellants had not poisoned the deceased. The clincher figures in the cross-examination, where this witness acknowledges that he had spoken in his dock evidence exculpatory, because he had compromised with the appellants.

29. It is not the law that a prosecution witness, who turns hostile, makes his evidence nugatory. Even if a prosecution witness goes hostile, or for that matter, a defence witness, he/ she retains his character as a prosecution or a defence witness. The character or orientation of a witness never changes. Therefore, the testimony of a prosecution witness, who turns hostile, is not to be rejected altogether or discounted from record. Rather, it can still be considered for such relevant portions of it, as supports the prosecution, or may be in some measure, the defence too. After all, the object of a trial, where the witnesses testify whether they remain faithful or turn hostile to the side by whom they are called, is to determine the truth of it all and render justice as accurately as can be.

30. All that the Court has to do, in a case where the witness has turned hostile, is to approach his evidence with a certain degree of caution in the sense that before acting upon it, corroboration must be sought from other evidence. This issue has been examined in profound detail by the Supreme Court in K.P. Tamilmaran v. State by Deputy Superintendent of Police, 2025 SCC OnLine SC 958, where it has been held:

“18. When a witness, produced on behalf of prosecution, deposes against the prosecution version and goes against his/her own previously recorded statements, the prosecution can request the Court to declare such a witness as hostile and seek permission from the Court to cross-examine its own witness. This is the procedure followed in a Trial, as we all know. In the present case, there are as many as fifty-one prosecution witnesses and it is also a fact that many of them have turned hostile by turning against their earlier statements made before the police under section 161 CrPC, and even before the Magistrate under section 164 CrPC, in some cases. This phenomenon is not new, in fact it is sadly a common occurrence in our criminal Courts today, much to the despair and frustration of the prosecution. This case, therefore, is no exception. Despite this, however, there are witnesses in the present case, especially PW-1, PW-2, PW-3, PW-15 and PW-49, whose evidence, in the form of their testimonies before the Court, is more than sufficient to convict the present appellants. A word here about the evidentiary value of a so-called hostile witness.

19. The Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (hereinafter 'Evidence Act') allows a party, with the leave of the Court, to cross-examine its own witness. Section 154 of the Evidence Act originally read as follows:

“154. Question by party to his own witness The Court may, in its discretion, permit the person who calls a witness to put any questions to him which might be put in cross-examination by the adverse party.”

20. The Calcutta High Court, in Khijiruddin Sonar v. Emperor, 1925 SCC OnLine Cal 259, while interpreting Section 154 of the Evidence Act, held that “When a witness who has been called by the prosecution is permitted to be cross-examined on behalf of the prosecution under the provisions of Section 154 of the Evidence Act, the result of that course being permitted is to discredit that witness altogether and not merely to get rid of a part of his testimony”

21. But this judgment in Khijiruddin was overruled by a five-Judge bench of the Calcutta High Court in Praphullakumar Sarkar v. Emperor, 1931 SCC OnLine Cal 7. The High Court was answering a reference from a Division Bench regarding the specific question of whether the testimony of a witness, who was cross-examined by the party which produced him/her, should be discarded totally, partially, or not discarded at all. Chief Justice Rankin, speaking for three other Judges and himself, answered the reference in the following terms:

“24. In my opinion, the fact that a witness is dealt with under Section 154 of the Evidence Act, even when under that Section he is “cross-examined” to credit, in no way warrants a direction to the jury that they are bound in law to place no reliance on his evidence, or that the party who called and cross-examined him can take no advantage from any part of his evidence. There is, moreover, no rule of law that if a jury thinks that a witness has been discredited on one point they may not give credit to him on another. The rule of law is that it is for the jury to say.

Of the seven questions stated by the Division Bench I propose that we should answer four, viz.-

(3) whether the evidence of a witness treated as “hostile” must be rejected in whole or in part;

(4) whether it must be rejected so far as it is in favour of the party calling the witness;

(5) whether it must be rejected so far as it is in favour of the opposite party.

These three questions I would answer in the negative.

(6) Whether the whole of the evidence so far as it affects both parties favourably or unfavourably, must go to the jury for what it is worth.

25. To this question, I would be content to answer “yes”,....”

22. Justice Buckland, in the above case, in his concurring opinion holds that there is no law which states that the evidence of a witness, who has been cross-examined by its party, should be entirely rejected. In his opinion, it is for the jury (or the Judge) to form an opinion regarding the value of the testimony of such a witness.

23. All the same, later this Court in Jagir Singh v. State (Delhi), (1975) 3 SCC 562 held to the contrary and approved the decision of the Calcutta High Court in Khijiruddin. This is what was said in Jagir Singh by Justice Bhagwati:

“7. Now, it is apparent from the judgment of the High Court that the conviction of the appellant rested entirely on the evidence of Pritam Singh (P.W. 10) and Sajjan Singh (P.W. 13). Swaran Singh (P.W. 11) was also examined on behalf of the prosecution but his evidence is of no help to the prosecution because he went back on the story of the prosecution and was permitted to be cross-examined on behalf of the prosecution. It is now well settled that when a witness, who has been called by the prosecution, is permitted to be cross-examined on behalf of the prosecution, the result of that course being adopted is to discredit that witness altogether and not merely to get rid of a part of his testimony. See Khijiruddin v. Emperor....”

24. However, it is to be noted that Jagir Singh does not refer to the five-Judge Bench decision of the Calcutta High Court in Praphullakumar Sarkar.

25. But then in a subsequent decision (of which Justice Bhagwati was also a part) i.e., Sat Paul v. Delhi Administration, (1976) 1 SCC 727, it was held differently. Justice Sarkaria, speaking for the Bench, clarified the earlier judgment in Jagir Singh, and held that what has been held in Jagir Singh would only be applicable where a witness through cross-examination by the party which calls it, is totally discredited. It is only in such a situation that the Court, as matter of prudence, discards his/her evidence in its entirety.

26. As a general rule, the testimony of a witness who has been cross-examined by the party which produced him/her will not stand totally discredited, and it is for the Court to consider what value should be attached to this testimony. After referring to a series of judgments on this point, the Court in Sat Paul held as follows:

“52. From the above conspectus, it emerges clear that even in a criminal prosecution when a witness is cross-examined and contradicted with the leave of the court, by the party calling him, his evidence cannot, as a matter of law, be treated as washed off the record altogether. It is for the Judge of fact to consider in each case whether as a result of such cross-examination and contradiction, the witness stands thoroughly discredited or can still be believed in regard to a part of his testimony. If the Judge finds that in the process, the credit of the witness has not been completely shaken, he may, after reading and considering the evidence of the witness, as a whole, with due caution and care, accept, in the light of the other evidence on the record, that part of his testimony which he finds to be creditworthy and act upon it. If in a given case, the whole of the testimony of the witness is impugned, and in the process, the witness stands squarely and totally discredited, the Judge should, as matter of prudence, discard his evidence in toto.

53. It was in the context of such a case, where, as a result of the cross-examination by the Public, Prosecutor, the prosecution witness concerned stood discredited altogether, that this Court in Jagir Singh v. State (Delhi Admn.) with the aforesaid rule of caution “ which is not to be treated as a rule of law “ in mind, said that the evidence of such a witness is to be rejected en bloc.”

(Emphasis Provided)

27. An examination of the cases referred above shows that there can be no doubt about the fact that the evidence of a witness, who has been cross-examined by the side which produced him/her, cannot be totally discarded [Also see : Neeraj Dutta v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2023) 4 SCC 731].

28. It may also be worthwhile to mention here that by the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 2005, sub-section 2 was added to section 154 of the Evidence Act. The amended section 154 of the Evidence Act now reads as under:

154. Question by party to his own witness. - (1) The Court may, in its discretion, permit the person who calls a witness to put any questions to him which might be put in cross-examination by the adverse party.

(2) Nothing in this section shall disentitle the person so permitted under sub-section (1), to rely on any part of the evidence of such witness.

(Emphasis Provided)

29. By way of the above amendment, the position which had been reiterated by this Court has now come in the statute itself.

30. The word “hostile” or “hostile witness” has not been used anywhere in the Evidence Act. The logic behind this exclusion seems to be that the declaration of witness as “hostile witness” carries a specific significance under the English law, from where this term has been derived, where liberty is only granted to a side to cross-examine its own witness when such declaration of “hostility” is made. The position in India is different and here it is left to the discretion of the Court to allow a party to cross-examine its own witness, regardless of a declaration of “hostility”. This has been explained by this Court in Sat Paul:

“38. To steer clear of the controversy over the meaning of the terms “hostile” witness, “adverse” witness, “unfavourable” witness which had given rise to considerable difficulty and conflict of opinion in England, the authors of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 seem to have advisedly avoided the use of any of those terms so that, in India, the grant of permission to cross-examine his own witness by a party is not conditional on the witness being declared “adverse” or “hostile”. Whether it be the grant of permission under Section 142 to put leading questions, or the leave under Section 154 to ask questions which might be put in cross-examination by the adverse party, the Indian Evidence Act leaves the matter entirely to the discretion of the court (see the observations of Sir Lawrence Jenkins in Baikuntha Nath v. Prasannamoyi, [AIR 1922 PC 409 : 72 IC 286]). The discretion conferred by Section 154 on the court is unqualified and untrammelled and is apart from any question of “hostility”. It is to be liberally exercised whenever the court from the witnesses demeanour, temper, attitude, bearing, or the tenor and tendency of his answers, or from a perusal of his previous inconsistent statement, or otherwise, thinks that the grant of such permission is expedient to extract the truth and to do justice. The grant of such permission does not amount to an adjudication by the court as to the veracity of the witness. Therefore, in the order granting such permission, it is preferable to avoid the use of such expressions, such as 'declared hostile', 'declared unfavourable', the significance of which is still not free from the historical cobwebs which, in their wake bring a misleading legacy of confusion, and conflict that had so long vexed the English Courts.”

(Emphasis Provided)

31. The phrase “hostile witness” is commonly used in criminal jurisprudence and court proceedings. We too cannot escape the blame of using the term “hostile witness” in our judgment. We do it for pragmatic reasons. Some words like “hostile witness” in this case are now a part of our legal vocabulary. There is no point in inventing or substituting new words or phrases, at least in the present case, and we leave that for the future. But what is necessary, however, is to explain the meaning of the term as it is now to be understood. The phrase “hostile witness” has come to be used for a witness who gives a statement contrary to the story of the side for which he/she is a witness. All the same, because a witness has supported some, though not all, aspects of a case, it would not automatically mean that this witness has to be declared “hostile”. A party can cross-examine its own witness under Section 154 Evidence Act, even without getting a declaration of “hostility”. The only restriction to cross-examination under Section 154 Evidence Act is that the party, who seeks to cross-examine its own witness, must obtain the leave of the Court. Whether there is a declaration of “hostility” or not, one thing is clear that evidence of witness, who has been cross-examined under Section 154 Evidence Act by the party who called such witness, cannot be washed off entirely and it is for the Court to see what can be retrieved from such evidence.

32. This can be understood from another aspect. We shall now refer to the definition of the term “evidence” given under Section 3 of the Evidence Act. It reads as follows:

“Evidence” – “Evidence” means and includes-

(1) all statements which the Court permits or requires to be made before it by witnesses, in relation to matters of fact under inquiry; such statements are called oral evidence;

(2) all documents including electronic records produced for the inspection of the Court; such document are called documentary evidence.”

(Emphasis Provided)

33. The statements made by a witness in Court, including in cross-examination, either conducted by the opposite party or by the party who produced the witness, would come under the definition of 'evidence' under Section 3 of the Evidence Act, since this evidence has come before the Court with its permission. Moreover, there is no specific bar under the Evidence Act which mandates that such evidence has to be discarded. Thus, it would form part of the entire evidence which the Court can examine while arriving at its decision, and it is for the Court to determine what value has to be given to that piece of evidence or how such evidence has to be used in a given case.

34. Viewed from a different perspective, the rejection of the entire testimony of a prosecution witness, who has been cross-examined by the prosecution, would not only harm the case of the prosecution but perhaps also of the defence in a given case. This is because as the law stands today, the benefit of the testimony of such witness can be taken by both the prosecution and the defence, allowing them to use it to build their case [See : Paulmeli v. State of T.N., (2014) 13 SCC 90, Ramesh Harijan v. State of U.P., (2012) 5 SCC 777]. In any case, ultimately, it will be the cause of justice that will suffer if the testimony of such witness is totally discarded. It is, therefore, rightly left to the discretion of the Court to test the evidentiary value of such a testimony.

35. Here, we may also take note of Section 155 of the Evidence Act which allows a party, with permission of the Court, to impeach the credibility of its own witness as per the procedure laid down therein.

36. It is though trite and much overstated but the maxim “falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus”, is not applicable to our criminal justice system. It is for the Court to distinguish the wheat from the chaff while dealing with the depositions of a hostile witness. Courts can rely upon that part of the deposition of a hostile witness which is corroborated by other evidence on record. This Court in Bhajju v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2012) 4 SCC 327 discussed the worth of the evidence of a hostile witness in the following words:

“36. It is settled law that the evidence of hostile witnesses can also be relied upon by the prosecution to the extent to which it supports the prosecution version of the incident. The evidence of such witnesses cannot be treated as washed off the records, it remains admissible in trial and there is no legal bar to base the conviction of the accused upon such testimony, if corroborated by other reliable evidence”

If part of the evidence of a hostile witness corroborates with other reliable evidence, then that part of the evidence is admissible. Once a prosecution witness has been declared hostile and then cross-examined by the prosecution, then it is for the Court to evaluate the veracity of the testimony. There can be several reasons for a witness to turn hostile and the court must also look into these factors while evaluating the evidence given by a hostile witness. It is an uncomfortable reality in our criminal Courts for a prosecution witness to turn hostile. But then the purpose of a Trial Court is to go to the truth of the matter. Whatever evidence is there before the Court must be examined, tested, corroborated (whenever necessary), before a verdict can be finally given.”

31. The facts that we have noticed in the testimony of this witness clearly show that Mamta was alive when PW-1 and the other family members reached her in-laws' place. These also show that Mamta had spoken about the appellants, forcing her to imbibe poison. This witness went back on this position in his dock evidence and said that Mamta was dead, when they reached her in-laws' place. His stand about the fact in his examination-in-chief is belied by a clear acknowledgment at the tail-end of his cross-examination, where he says that the occurrence had taken place at the house of Mamta's in-laws, but she died on way. Later on, when this witness has said candidly that he was speaking in favour of the appellants, because he had compromised with them, makes the picture vivid that the whole of his exculpatory stance in the dock evidence is founded on the edifice of falsehood. The truth, however, has still been spoken by this witness by affirming the contents of the FIR and admitting that Mamta was alive when the witness and other members of her family reached her in-laws and that she died on way. The affirmation of the contents of the FIR, together with admission of the fact that Mamta was alive and died on way, clearly shows that according to this witness, Mamta had conveyed the fact about her being poisoned, when this witness reached her matrimonial home. If we were to take the evidence of this witness cursorily on its face value, ignoring the gory truth that clearly comes out, we would be permitting falsehood resorted to by this witness, in consequence of a compromise with the appellants, that is admittedly there on account of whatever be the motivation, to overshadow truth and permit a gruesome murderer to go unpunished.

32. The next that we consider is the testimony of PW-2, who is the star witness in this case. She is the deceased's sister and an inmate of the same house, where the crime was committed. She is an eye-witness.

33. The FIR recites the fact that this witness, who was undoubtedly present at the scene of crime, had seen the occurrence and communicated the fact to her father over telephone that Mamta was forced to consume poison by her husband, father-in-law, mother-in-law and sister-in-law. She has spoken exculpatory in her dock evidence, that is to say, in her examination-in-chief. It is to be noticed that during investigation, this witness stood by the prosecution case that it was the appellants, who forced the deceased to partake of poison, that resulted in her death, later. She went back on all the facts regarding the crime, that she witnessed, while testifying in Court. PW-2, apart from generally saying that her sister was never subjected to cruelty, physical or mental, in connection with demand for dowry, has specifically denied the fact that her sister was done to death by her in-laws by forcing her to consume poison. The brief and relevant part of the testimony of PW-2, recorded in her examination-in-chief on 21.10.2020, reads:

"घटना दिनांक 30.7.2019 की है। मेरी बहन की मृत्यु हो गयी थी। मेरी बहन को जबरन जहर खिलाकर तेजवीर नानकराम व मुन्नी देवी ने नहीं मारा।"

(emphasis by Court)

34. In her cross-examination, this witness has stated:

"मेरी ससुराल में खेती का कार्य होता है। खेती में लगाने के लिये कोई दवा घर पर नहीं लाते हैं। ममता के साथ हुई घटना की सूचना फोन पर अपने पिता जी को दी थी।"

मैंने अपने पिताजी को फोन पर बताया था कि ममता की तबीयत खराब है आप आ जाओ। मेरी सूचना पर मेरे पिताजी आदि परिवारीजन मेरे मायके से ससुराल गंगागढ़ आ गये थे और ममता को इलाज हेतु अलीगढ़ अस्पताल ले जा रहे थे कि रास्ते में अतरौली के पास ममता ने दम तोड़ दिया।

यह कहना गलत है कि मैंने ममता के साथ घटित घटना का सारा हाल अपने मायके वालों को बताया हो। यह कहना भी गलत है कि मेरी बहन ममता को उसके पति तेजवीर, ससुर नानकराम, सास मुन्नीदेवी ने अतिरिक्त दहेज की मांग पूरी न होने के कारण जबरन जहर पिलाया हो जिससे ममता की मृत्यु हो गयी।

मेरी बहन का दाह संस्कार मायके चौगानपुर में हुआ था। मैं अपनी ससुराल में अपने पति राकेश, ससुर नानकराम व सास श्रीमती मुन्नी के साथ रह रही हूँ और अपनी ससुराल से ही गवाही देने आयी है।

ससुर नानकराम व सास मुन्नी देवी के साथ आयी हूँ मेरे ससुर आज मुझे वकील साहब के चेम्बर पर ले गये थे। मुझे वकील साहब ने यह नहीं बताया कि क्या गवाही देनी है।

यह बात सही है कि इस मुकदमा के मुलजिमान से फैसला हो गया है। यह बात गलत है कि मुलजिमान से फैसला हो जाने के कारण मैं आज अपना बयान बदल रही हूँ।

घटना सुबह के करीब 9-10 बजे की है। जब तक मेरे मायके वाले आये उस समय मेरी ससुराल में मेरा कोई ससुराल वाला मौजूद नहीं था और मैंने ममता की तबीयत खराब होने की बावत सूचना ससुराल वालों की दी और न ही ममता का किसी डाक्टर से इलाज कराया।

मेरी बहन मृतका ममता शादी के बाद से ही बीमार रहती थी। पता नहीं उसे क्या बीमारी थी। ममता को छोटे मोटे डाक्टर को दिखाया था कि डाक्टर को दिखाया था नाम नहीं पता है। डाक्टर को अतरौली व जगवा दिखाया था। उसके इलाज का पर्चा न मेरे पास है और न साथ लायी हूँ।

आज से पहले किसी भी पुलिस अधिकारी प्रशासनिक अधिकारी या किसी भी व्यक्ति से लिखित में अथवा मौखिक रूप से यह नहीं बताया कि ममता की हत्या के मुकदमे मेरे ससुराल वाले निर्दोष है। आज प्रथम बार यह बात न्यायालय में बता रही हूँ।"

35. This witness has, no doubt, resiled from her stand and statements made to the Police under Section 161 Cr.P.C., but considering her testimony to understand if any part thereof supports the prosecution, or the truth of whatever happened, one has to bear in mind that PW-2, if she saw the occurrence, as reported over telephone to the first informant and narrated to the Police, presents a conflict of interest, best described by what is popularly called, 'caught between the devil and the deep blue sea'. On one hand, if she had seen the occurrence in the manner described to the first informant or the Police, she would have before her the higher and the noble cause of assisting justice, requiring her to speak inculpatory against her in-laws, and, on the other, being married to the other brother in the same family as her sister, the instinct and personal interest to save her in-laws from the harsh punishment of the law, that would affect her husband, and, may be, herself.

36. A careful look at the testimony of PW-2 shows that in her examination-in-chief, she has said that the incident is one dated 30.07.2019. Her sister died. Her sister was not forced to ingest poison and killed by Tejveer, Nanakram and Munni Devi. Now, this statement, figuring in the examination-in-chief, is an oddity in itself. It goes beyond saying that during the examination-in-chief, though evidence is led by the party producing the witness, in this case, the prosecution, there are no leading questions or suggestions put to a witness. It is but obvious that the learned Counsel on behalf of the State would never have asked PW-2, if the deceased was killed by her husband, father-in-law and mother-in-law by forcing her to ingest poison. That kind of a question or suggestion would never have been allowed by the Court. All that would have been asked of this witness is how did the deceased die. She has not said a word about how Mamta died. Instead, she has come up with an exculpatory statement for her in-laws that they did not kill her sister by forcing her to consume poison. This kind of a stand in the examination-in-chief is suggestive of tutoring and pre-meditation.

37. In her cross-examination, the witness has acknowledged that she communicated the “occurrence” regarding Mamta over telephone to her father. What was communicated to the father, has been scripted in the FIR, that was written on his dictation and later registered. The contents of the FIR have been proved by PW-2. However, much contrary to what the first informant reported in the FIR, the witness has said that she told her father that Mamta was unwell and that he should come over to their place. She has also said in her cross-examination that on her information, her family came over to her place and they were taking Mamta to the Aligarh Hospital for treatment, but she died on way at Atrauli. She has further said in her cross-examination that it is correct to say that in this case, a compromise has been reached with the appellants. She has further said in her cross-examination that the 'occurrence' took place between 9-10 a.m., but curiously, does not say what the occurrence was. She goes on to say that by the time her parents arrived, no one from her in-laws was present there. She has further said that she had intimated her in-laws that Mamta was unwell, but they had not taken her to a doctor for treatment.

38. The witness has also said that Mamta would stay sick after marriage and she does not know what her ailment was. The deceased would consult sundry doctors, but she does not know their names. Doctors at Atrauli and Jargavan were consulted. The witness also said that she does not have any prescription relating to the deceased. Most importantly, this witness has said in her cross-examination that prior to her testimony being recorded in Court, she had never given an oral statement or informed in writing any administrative officer that her in-laws were innocent, so far as Mamta's murder case is concerned. She has categorically then said that it is for the first time that she is speaking exculpatory in Court.

39. If the evidence of this witness is read as a whole in the context of how the prosecution began and what their case was, the foremost, that is obvious from her testimony, is that she is deposing not to speak the truth, but to save her in-laws. It is for this reason that in her examination-in-chief, she has testified unprovoked and out of context to the effect that her sister was not forced to consume poison by Tejveer, Nanakram and Munni Devi. The fact that throughout her evidence, this witness has spoken the word 'occurrence' regarding whatever befell her sister, shows that she acknowledges the fact that some incident in the nature of a crime happened. If one were to take the testimony of PW-2 on the face value, where she has said that Mamta was sick and it is that fact which she conveyed to her father, there was no occasion to describe Mamta's “sickness” as an “occurrence”.

40. The word 'occurrence' is not a onetime slip. She has mentioned the word at least twice affirmatively and contextually, suggestive of reference to a crime. She has disclosed the fact that she has read up to Class-VIII and her testimony has been recorded in Hindi, as reproduced hereinabove. The word employed for occurrence in Hindi is 'Ghatna' and the most telltale description of whatever happened being, as already noticed, where she says 'ghatna subah ke 9-10 baje ki hai'. If Mamta had fallen sick in between 9-10 in the morning, no person speaking chaste

Hindi or vernacular, would describe it as 'ghatna' (occurrence). This description by the witness is telltale of truth, the substance of which is hidden and eclipsed by falsehood induced by self-interest, self-preservation, the future of the family, where the witness is married and the like; all pragmatic considerations of an ordinary person, not possessed of an extraordinary or saintly character.

41. This conclusion of ours is fortified by the fact that she has also said in her cross-examination that it is true that a compromise has been reached with the appellants. If Mamta had just been sick and died in consequence, there is a possibility, as learned Counsel for the appellants argued, that the case was lodged motivatedly by the deceased's father to extort money and the compromise spoken of has to be seen in that context. If this were so, the defence would have certainly put suitable questions to PW-1 about the context in which the allegations were made, in response to which, the invariable stand would be that the FIR was lodged under some misconception or misleading influence.

42. There is no earthly reason why the first informant would refer to a specific information from PW-2 about the deceased being forced to ingest poison by her in-laws and husband, and then report to the Police that he found his daughter dying by poison, whom he rushed to hospital, but could not succeed as she died on way. The fact that the FIR was lodged with allegations to the above effect; the fact that in the testimony of PW-2, whatever happened to the deceased, is mentioned as an occurrence without anything said about a sudden onset of sickness; the fact that so much part of the first information version is affirmed by this witness that Mamta was being rushed to hospital located at Aligarh by the first informant and not her in-laws, when she died on way at Atrauli; the fact that the testimony of PW-2 discloses that a compromise has been reached between parties; the fact that PW-2 has said in her testimony that the occurrence happened in the morning at about 9-10 o'clock and when her parents arrived, the in-laws were away; the fact that Mamta was not taken to the hospital by her husband or in-laws, if she was unwell, which this witness has clearly said; the fact that PW-2 is elusive about the kind or nature of the disease Mamta suffered from, which she has cited in her cross-examination in order to show the cause of death; and, the fact that PW-2 has clearly acknowledged that never in the past did she tell any administrative officer, either orally or in writing, that her in-laws were innocent, clearly bring on record facts that point unmistakably to the appellants' guilt.

43. The exculpatory part of the witness' testimony, though bold and affirmative, does not inspire confidence with the Court in the face of facts noticed above, which are damning, besides others to be noticed later in this judgment.

44. We may now consider the testimony of PW-3, who too has tried to exculpate. PW-3 is Mamta's mother. She never spoke exculpatory before the Police during investigation, but did so for the first time in her dock evidence. In her examination-in-chief, this witness has stated:

"दिनांक 30/7/2019 को मेरी बेटी ममता की मृत्यु हो गयी, जिसकी खबर हमें मेरी छोटी बेटी चन्द्रवती ने फोन पर दी थी। मुझे नहीं पता कि मेरी बेटी ममता को जहर देकर किसने मारा। मेरी बेटी के पति तेजवीर ससुर नानकराम सास श्रीमती मुन्नी देवी ने मेरी बेटी को जहर देकर नहीं मारा। यह लोग निर्दोष है।"

45. In her cross-examination, PW-3 has testified:

"घटना की खबर सुनकर मैं व मेरे परिवार वाले अपनी बेटियों की ससुराल गंगागढ़ गये थे। गंगागढ़ में जाकर हमने देखा कि मेरी बेटी ममता की तबीयत ज्यादा खराब थी। थोड़ा-2 बोल पा रही थी। हमारी अपनी छोटी बेटी चन्द्रवती से बातचीत हुई तो रोने धोने लगी। मेरी बेटी के ससुराल वाले घर पर मौजूद थे। हमें देखकर वहाँ से चले गये। फिर हम लोग बेटी ममता को इलाज के लिए अलीगढ़ अस्पताल ले जा रहे थे कि अतरौली के पास उसने दम तोड़ दिया।"

46. Upon cross-examination by the defence, PW-3 stated:

"मेरी बेटी ममता अक्सर बीमार रहती थी। दवाई चलती रहती थी मेरी बेटी ममता का इलाज उसके ससुरालवालों द्वारा कराया जाता था। मेरी बेटी ममता गुस्सैल व चिड़चिड़े स्वभाव की थी जरा-2 सी बातों पर मरने को तैयार हो जाती थी। शादी से पहले भी कई बार उसने आत्महत्या का प्रयास किया था।"

47. The testimony of this witness is, by no means, mystifying, as suggested by the learned Counsel for the appellants, which creates doubt about the prosecution case. It reveals more than it hides. It is a crude attempt by PW-3 to defeat justice in the interest of her other daughter, who is married in the appellants' family to the other son. This appears to be the motive that has driven the deceased's family into compromising with the appellants, that is to say, compromise to say falsehood in Court and save the appellants from law's punishment.

48. We have carefully looked into the testimony of PW-3. Like PW-2, her examination-in-chief starts with a telltale banner that the witness is telling falsehood to save the appellants. This witness has said that she did not know who poisoned her daughter Mamta to death. She then says that Mamta was not poisoned by her husband Tejveer, father-in-law Nanakram and mother-in-law Munni Devi. These persons are innocent. Now, as in the case of PW-2, no one would have put a leading question to this witness or given her a suggestion of the kind, inviting her to say that the appellants were innocent. The tone and tenor of her examination-in-chief shows that she was motivated to speak falsehood in the appellants' favour and save them from punishment.

49. This witness has said in her cross-examination that upon receiving news of the occurrence from her daughter's in-laws' place, the family proceeded to Gangagarh. There, they saw that Mamta was very unwell. She could speak feebly. The deceased's in-laws were present, but upon seeing the parents and the deceased's family members, they went away. Thereupon, the witness says that they (Mamta's parents and family) were conveying her to the Aligarh hospital, when she died on way at Atrauli.

50. These facts show that some violence or crime happened, affecting Mamta, and it was not that she was just unwell as attempted to be shown by this prosecution witness. Else, there was no reason to describe whatever befell Mamta in the words, 'ghatna ki khabar sunkar mai va mere parivar vaale.....'. The testimony of PW-3 is recorded in Hindi, which she speaks. No Hindi speaking person would, by any stretch of imagination, describe a disease as an occurrence (ghatna). It is only a crime, that is described in these words. This part of the witness' testimony is very relevant to the prosecution, which we are bound to take note of.

51. The further telltale fact is that Mamta's in-laws turned face and left, though there, when they saw her parents and family arrive. This, by no means, is a natural reaction, if their daughter-in-law was unwell and her parents had come to seek her welfare. This reaction is telltale of a belligerent mind and a guilty conscience, full of hatred for the dying victim. If the deceased was ill, as the appellants urge, on account of which she died, there was no reason for the informant and his family, as PW-3 says, to rush her to a hospital at Aligarh for medical aid. If Mamta was sick, her in-laws would have taken her to hospital, or at least, accompanied Mamta's parents to Aligarh for the purpose of treatment. This was not so at all.

52. The further telltale fact in PW-3's testimony is that she acknowledges that the informant had compromised with the appellants. There is nothing said what the compromise was about and in what circumstances was it entered into. It also does not disclose what was the consideration for the compromise and what the informants were supposed to do in terms of the compromise between parties. Obviously, the compromise was to save the appellants from laws' punishment, the possible consideration for the informant being that their other daughter was still married and staying in the appellants' family. A conviction for the appellants, if this witness and the other family members of Mamta, who have testified exculpatory, spoke truth, would have spelt doom for the other daughter's marriage and ruined her matrimonial life. There could be some other consideration as well, which we do not wish to embark upon to inquire, but of this we are sure that the witness in ostensibly saying that the appellants were innocent and did not poison her daughter to death, is speaking falsehood. The facts that that she has otherwise said clearly indicate that it was the appellants, who committed the crime that she has described as an 'occurrence', leading the deceased's family to rush to her in-laws and endeavour to reach her to hospital.

53. A further look at this witness' evidence in her cross-examination shows that she repeatedly refers to whatever happened to her daughter as an occurrence (ghatna) and says that when the occurrence happened, she was not present there. She has gone to the extent of saying that she does not know who poisoned her to death. She has further on testified that she could not say if her daughter's husband, father-in-law, mother-in-law or sister-in-law gave her poison or she consumed it herself. It is then said by this witness that she knows that her daughter's husband is in jail in connection with this case and her father-in-law and mother-in-law too went to jail. PW-3 then says in her cross-examination that she has never said it to a police or an administrative officer, either in writing or orally, that the appellants were utterly innocent, and that they had not poisoned her daughter. She also acknowledged that it was for the first time that she was speaking exculpatory in her dock evidence. The most telltale piece of testimony, that comes from this witness is to the effect that it was correct that the appellants, when they applied for bail, the witness's husband, that is to say, PW-1 got the bail plea opposed through his Counsel. This part of the evidence of PW-3 makes it vivid, as already said by us differently, that she is speaking exculpatory for formality's sake, motivated by the so-called compromise between parties. Else, the facts that she has testified to are not at all consistent with the appellants' innocence.

54. PW-3 has acknowledged in this part of her cross-examination the fact that her daughter was poisoned to death. She did not know whether her husband or in-laws poisoned her or she consumed it herself. This testimony makes it vivid that the feeble attempt by other witnesses, either to remain elusive about how Mamta died, or say that she died on account of some ailment, is palpably false. PW-3 clearly shows that she was aware that Mamta died on account of poisoning. She has endeavoured to salvage the situation for the appellants by saying that she did not know who poisoned Mamta, whether it was her husband or in-laws, or she consumed it herself.

55. It would also be apposite to notice the testimony of the fourth witness of fact, that is to say, PW-4 Banti Singh, the deceased's brother. In his examination-in-chief, PW-4 has testified to the following effect:

"मेरी बहन ममता की मृत्यु 30.7.2019 को जहर पीने से हो गयी। घटना की सूचना हमें मेरी छोटी बहन चन्द्रवती ने मेरे पिता को दी थी। मेरी बहन को उसके पति तेजवीर, सास मुन्नी देवी व ससुर नानकराम व ननद रामा ने जबरन जहर नहीं दिया। और न ही जहर देकर मेरी बहन को मारा।"

56. The witness was declared hostile and cross-examined by the prosecution. In his cross-examination, PW-4 has stated thus:

"घटना की खबर सुनकर हम सभी लोग अपनी बहनो की ससुराल ग्राम गंगागढ़ पहुँचे थे। घटना का सारा हाल चन्द्रवती ने हम लोगो को बता दिया था। फिर हम लोग ममता को इलाज के लिए अलीगढ़ ले जा रहे थे कि रास्ते में मेरी बहन ममता ने दम तोड़ दिया। रास्ते में भी हमारी ममता व चन्द्रवती से घटना की बाबत बातें होती गयी थी।

यह बात सही है कि घटना के समय मेरी छोटी बहन चन्द्रवती मौजूद थी और उसने सारी घटना देखी थी। यह सही है कि मुल्जिमान से हमारा राजीनामा हो गया है लेकिन राजीनामा के कारण आज मैं झूठी गवाही देकर बयान दे रहा हूँ यह गलत है।

मुझे इस बात की जानकारी है कि इस मुकदमा में मेरे बहनोई तेजवीर जेल में है और मेरी बहन के सास ससुर भी जेल गये थे।

यह सही है कि मैंने आज तक कही भी किसी भी आला अधिकारी या व्यक्ति को यह नहीं बताया कि मेरी बहन के ससुरावाले इस मुकदमा में निर्दोष हैं। आज मैं सर्वप्रथम यह बात न्यायालय में कह रहा हूँ।"

57. This witness too has come out with that odd piece of testimony in his examination-in-chief, where, not led by a cross-examiner or under any kind of a suggestion, he has spoken impromptu that the husband, mother-in-law and father-in-law of his deceased sister did not forcibly make her ingest poison, nor did they kill her that way. As already said earlier in relation to the testimony of another witness, no one could have led PW-4 to speak exculpatory about the appellants in the manner he has done in his examination-in-chief. In the examination-in-chief, though evidence is led by the party producing the witness, the prosecution in this case, no leading questions are permissible to be put to one's own witness. The learned Counsel for the State, therefore, would never have asked PW-4 if the deceased was killed by her husband, father-in-law and mother-in-law by forcing her to consume poison. That kind of a question would never have been allowed by the Court. All that would have been asked of this witness by the prosecution is how did Mamta die. If it were a forthright case of a false prosecution, where the witness did not support, he would not speak inculpatory facts, but say whatever he knew of the circumstances attending his sister's death. There would never be in the examination-in-chief an odd assertion of the kind that her husband or the mother-in-law and the father-in-law did not kill her. This could have happened if PW-4 was tutored and motivated to speak in this fashion, which is apparently the case here.

58. In his cross-examination, PW-4 has endorsed the fact that Mamta was alive when her parents and brother etc. reached her in-laws' place. She was being conveyed to Aligarh, when she died on the way. This falsifies the informant's case that Mamta was already dead when her family reached her in-laws. This witness had particularly said that on way to the hospital, the family had communications with Mamta and Chandrawati about the occurrence. Now, in the next lap of his cross-examination, this witness has said that he scribed the FIR on the dictation of his father, where there are definitive allegations against the in-laws of forcing the deceased to consume poison. The witness has also testified to the fact that he read out the FIR that had been dictated to him and after hearing its contents, his father appended his signature and handed it over to Police Station Ramghat. This witness too looked into the contents of the FIR, Ex. Ka-1, and affirmed it to be the same document.

59. PW-4 has further on said that his younger sister, Chandrawati, was present when the occurrence took place and she saw it all happen before her eyes. It is further said by this witness that it is trite to say that the informant's side had compromised with the appellants, but he also said that it is not on this account that he was falsely testifying in their favour. The last part of this witness's cross-examination that sheds lights on the case is, where the witness says like others, that before the commencement of trial, he had never revealed the fact to any higher officer (a reference to the Police or administrative officers perhaps) that the appellants were innocent and had no involvement in his sister's case. This witness, PW-4, was also cross-examined by the defence, where he has spoken thus:

"मैं घटना के समय घटनास्थल पर मौजूद नहीं है। मैंने कोई घटना नहीं देखी है। सुनी हुई बातों के आधार पर ही मैं गवाही दे रहा हूँ। मेरी बहन अक्सर बीमार रहती थी। और बीमारी के कारण वह चिढ़ चिढ़े स्वभाव की हो गयी थी। काफी दवाई गोली खाती थी। बीमारी का इलाज मेरी बहन के ससुरालवालों द्वारा कराया जाता था। अधिक बीमार रहने के कारण वह डिप्रेशन में रहने लगी।

हमारी बहन के ससुरालीजन के घर पर खेती का कार्य होता है। घर पर कीटनाशक दवाई खेती में लगाने हेतु रखी रहती है। बीमारी से तंग आकर और बच्चा पैदा न होने के कारण मेरी बहन ने स्वयं घर पर रखी कीटनाशक दवायी पी और उसकी उससे मृत्यु हो गयी।"

60. This witness is admittedly not an inmate or a native of the house, where the deceased lived with her in-laws and her sister. Also, it is not in dispute that he did not see the occurrence that that led to Mamta's death, which had happened within the four-corners of her matrimonial home. The occurrence had been seen by the deceased's and this witness's sister, PW-2, also married in the same home to a brother of Mamta's husband. PW-4 is, therefore, a witness of whatever he saw upon reaching his sister's in-laws after receipt of the SOS call that PW-2 put through to her father, PW-1. Therefore, his testimony is relevant about the fact that the deceased was alive when her family, comprising her parents and brother reached her matrimonial home.

61. It is also relevant about anything that the deceased said about the cause and circumstances of her death, before she died on way to the hospital. After hearing all what the deceased shared with the family while at her in-laws' place or on way, as also whatever they heard from this witness' other sister, PW-1 dictated an FIR, which this witness scribed and has testified to the fact that he scribed it accurately. The contents of the FIR are inculpatory and speak about a precise case of Mamta's in-laws, forcing her to consume poison. This witness, therefore, further establishes the accuracy of the FIR version. PW-4, particularly, endorses the fact that the informant and his family had compromised with the appellants. The mere assertion that he was not telling falsehood in Court because of the compromise, cannot be accepted on his word.

62. The totality of circumstances have to be seen. The stance in the FIR, which this witness had scribed and also proved in Court, the statements to the Police, which includes this witness' statement and the changed stand in Court, are suggestive of some extraneous consideration, working in the mind of this witness to resile from the prosecution case. The fact that this witness acknowledged that he never told any higher officer about the fact that Mamta's in-laws were innocent, shows the dock evidence of this witness to be a pure afterthought and the result of some unholy bargain between the informant and the appellants. In the case of this witness also, one finds a pointed endorsement of the prosecution case, which the witness is trying to hide in his quest for some other goal, that clearly detracts from serving the cause of justice.

63. The following inculpatory facts emerge from this witness' testimony: the witness along with his parents rushed to Mamta's in-laws' place upon hearing from his younger sister, what he describes as an occurrence; secondly, the fact that Mamta was alive when this witness along with the first informant and his mother reached her in-laws' place; thirdly, the fact that Mamta spoke to this witness, the informant and other family members at her in-laws' place and also on way to hospital before she died, about the incident; fourthly, the fact that this witness' other sister, Chandrawati, also an inmate of the same house, spoke about the circumstances of the occurrence to this witness and other members of the family at her in-laws' place and on way, while taking Mamta to the hospital; fifthly, the fact that this witness affirmed the contents of the FIR, which he scribed on his father's dictation; sixthly, the fact that the FIR carries robust allegations about the appellants' committing the offence in the manner described there; seventhly, the fact that the witness acknowledged that a compromise between the informant and the appellants had taken place; and, eighthly, the fact that this witness has stated that he never informed any higher officer that Mamta's in-laws were innocent, though he knew that her husband was in jail and the father-in-law and the mother-in-law had been to jail.

64. There is an added piece of evidence that this witness has attempted to offer, when cross-examined by the appellants. He has been apparently cross-examined to realize the full fruits of the compromise. In his cross-examination by the appellants, he has introduced the case about Mamta committing suicide by consuming some insecticide kept at home, on account of being frustrated with her ailment and the fact that she could not bear a child. Now, this is not a defence, which the appellants have offered in their testimony under Section 313 Cr.P.C. At no stage of proceedings, this case has been taken by the appellants. The cross-examination of PW-4 by the appellants while, on the one hand, cannot be regarded as their defence, but, on the other, it shows that the witness was deliberately endeavouring to save the appellants from the penalties of law on account of the compromise between parties. This fact further works to establish the appellants' complicity, rather than save them from the consequences of the offence.

65. It would be relevant here to take note of the testimony of the autopsy doctor, who has testified as PW-5, with necessary reference to the autopsy report, Ex. Ka-2, and the report from the Forensic Science Laboratory regarding their findings about the preserved viscera sent to them for analysis. PW-5, Dr. Ajay Kumar, who carried out the postmortem examination, has testified in his examination-in-chief as follows:

"विसरा संरक्षित करने हेतु अमाशय, छोटी आंत, यकृत, पित्ताशय गुर्दा प्लीहा के टुकड़े लेकर संग्रहित किया गया।

मृतका की मृत्यु कीटनाशक दवाई के सेवन से होना सम्भावित है। इस सम्बन्ध मे पत्रावली पर विधि विज्ञान प्रयोगशाला गाजियाबाद उत्तर प्रदेश की रिपोर्ट उपलब्ध है। मृतका की मृत्यु दिनांक 30.7.2019 को होना सम्भव है।"

66. PW-5, in the relevant part of his cross-examination, has stated:

"P.M. के लिए आया शव सील बन्द था सील मैने देखी थी ठीक थी चोट नं. 1,2,3,4 मृतका के इलाज के दौरान इनजेक्शन वगैरा देने से आना सम्भव है। चोट नं. 3 व 4 जो टेप लगी मैने देखी है वह भी इलाज के दौरान आना सम्भव है। इन चोटो के अलावा शरीर पर अन्य कोई चोट नही थी। मृतका के शरीर पर जो चोटें थी वह डाक्टरी इलाज कराने के दौरान आती है।

67. A reading of the doctor's examination-in-chief shows that with reference to the report submitted by the Forensic Science Laboratory, he has opined that it is probable that the deceased died on account of consumption of the chemical insecticide reported by the FSL. It is also opined by the doctor in his examination-in-chief that it was possible for the deceased to have died on 30.07.2019. In his cross-examination, the doctor was not at all questioned if the deceased did not die of poisoning. Rather, it appears that various injuries that were found on her dead body, were subject matter of a searching cross-examination to elicit opinion if those could have been the cause of her death. The doctor's cross-examination shows that the injuries, that have been noticed on the deceased's body, were said to have been the possible outcome of medical treatment. Not much weight can be attributed to it, because the deceased did not apparently receive any medical attention while with her in-laws and died on way to a hospital at Aligarh, where she was being conveyed by her parents and family. It has to be noticed that neither in the autopsy report nor in his testimony in the dock, the doctor has attributed any of the ante-mortem injuries as the cause of Mamta's death. The cross-examination reveals that the doctor has indeed not been subjected to a more rigorous cross-examination to ascertain the cause, the nature and the effect of the ante-mortem injuries that he noticed on the deceased's body. At the same time, he was not much challenged about his opinion that the deceased died of poisoning from the insecticide, that was opined to be possible due to organochloro insecticide. The postmortem report, according to its apparent tenor, does not attribute Mamta's death to any of the ante-mortem injuries. In the absence of any facts elicited during the doctor's cross-examination by the appellants, there is little doubt that the cause of Mamta's death was poisoning due to the organochloro insecticide.

68. We may pause here to remark that there is no case, at any stage, by the appellants that Mamta consumed poison of her own, committing suicide. This is not their case in the statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. Rather, their defence is that the deceased would stay ill and sought treatment from sundry doctors. She would stay perplexed about it. It was urged by the learned Counsel for the appellants that the defence clearly shows that the deceased committed suicide, because she was distressed by disease. We are afraid that, that is not the case at all. If the appellants had to take a case that the deceased committed suicide, they had to clearly state the fact and enumerate the circumstances, in which she died by suicide. In the absence of a case of suicide coming forth from the defence, a mere assertion in the background of a compromise between parties that the witness did not know if Mamta was poisoned by her husband and in-laws or consumed the poison herself, would not avail the appellants. The evidence of all the four witnesses of fact and the medico-legal evidence put together, distinctly carry inculpatory facts, which at least prove the prosecution case beyond doubt to the extent that the appellants would be obliged to discharge their evidential burden about the fact as to how Mamta died.

69. It hardly needs gainsaying that before evidential burden about the fact as to how Mamta died is discharged, the necessary explanation should have been furnished about it by the appellants, as already remarked, in their statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C. Relieving the appellants from the rigours of that requirement and to ensure a fair trial, that would lead to a just decision, the minimum, that can be said about the appellants' obligation, is to introduce some kind of evidence about the fact as to how Mamta died. Else, the inculpatory part of the testimony of PW-1 to PW-4 and the medico-legal evidence, comprising the postmortem report, Ex. Ka-2, the FSL Report, bearing Ex. Ka-12, and the testimony of PW-5 for reasons hereinbefore given, would prove the prosecution case beyond reasonable doubt.

70. On the other hand, if the appellants had led some evidence about the circumstances leading to Mamta's death, consistent with their innocence, this Court would be bound to consider the evidence led by the prosecution together with the evidence led by the appellants in order to conclude, if indeed the prosecution have proved their case beyond reasonable doubt. Why this is so, shall be considered next.

71. While in a criminal prosecution, the burden of proof in the sense of establishing the entire case beyond reasonable doubt rests on the prosecution, once the prosecution adduces sufficient evidence to establish the case by that standard, if unrebutted, evidential burden shifts on the defence to adduce some evidence to dispel the prosecution. If evidential burden by way of leading some evidence to exculpate is not discharged, the Court may accept the evidence offered by the prosecution, where on the unrebutted view of it, the prosecution case is established beyond reasonable doubt. Onus probandi or the burden of proof envisaged under Section 102 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 is a burden much different from that under Section 101. Whereas Section 101 speaks of burden in the sense of an obligation upon the party to prove the case as a whole by whatever standard of proof applicable, depending upon the nature of proceedings, evidential burden is either the initial obligation or one shifted during trial by the other-side's evidence upon a party to lead evidence and put it in scales, which would then oblige the Court to judge on a consideration of all evidence if the party, bearing the burden of proof under Section 101, has discharged it and established their case or failed. If, however, the initial evidential burden or one shifted during trial is not discharged at all, there is no occasion for the Court to judge much, as the party in default of evidential burden would fail on account of their inability to produce some evidence.

72. This is not a case of failure to discharge burden to prove facts, specially within the appellants' knowledge envisaged under Section 106 of the Evidence Act. It is a case with a little difference. Section 106 would be attracted if there were no witness other than the appellants' family members to see the occurrence. Here, there was an eye untainted by familial bondage to see and speak the truth in PW-2, the deceased's sister. She has, however, been influenced by extraneous considerations of a compromise, but nevertheless testified to facts that are sufficiently inculpatory and put together with the evidence of other witnesses as also the medico-legal evidence, prove the prosecution beyond reasonable doubt, unless the appellants adduced evidence to render their guilt improbable. The appellants have not done so; not even offered an explanation about the inculpatory facts and evidence appearing against them.

73. The above conclusions of ours are fortified by the remarks of the Supreme Court in State of Madhya Pradesh v. Balveer Singh, (2025) 8 SCC 545, which, though a case in which Section 106 of the Evidence Act was attracted, analyzed principles on wider ground, including the one which applies here. In Balveer Singh (supra), it has been observed by the Supreme Court:

“88. To recapitulate the foregoing: What lies at the bottom of the various rules shifting the evidential burden or burden of introducing evidence in proof of one's case as opposed to the persuasive burden or burden of proof i.e. of proving all the issues remaining with the prosecution and which never shift is the idea that it is impossible for the prosecution to give wholly convincing evidence on certain issues from its own hand and it is therefore for the accused to give evidence on them if he wishes to escape. Positive facts must always be proved by the prosecution. But the same rule cannot always apply to negative facts. It is not for the prosecution to anticipate and eliminate all possible defences or circumstances which may exonerate an accused. Again, when a person does not act with some intention other than that which the character and circumstances of the act suggest, it is not for the prosecution to eliminate all the other possible intentions. If the accused had a different intention that is a fact especially within his knowledge and which he must prove (see Professor Glanville Williams-Proof of Guilt, Ch. 7, p. 127 and following) and the interesting discussion-Para 527 negative averments and Para 528 – “require affirmative counter-evidence” at p. 438 and foil, of Kenny's Outlines of Criminal Law, 17th Edn. 1958.

89. But Section 106 has no application to cases where the fact in question, having regard to its nature, is such as to be capable of being known not only to the accused but also to others, if they happened to be present when it took place. The intention underlying the act or conduct of any individual is seldom a matter which can be conclusively established; it is indeed only known to the person in whose mind the intention is conceived. Therefore, if the prosecution has established that the character and circumstance of an act suggest that it was done with a particular intention, then under Illustration (a) to this section, it may be assumed that he had that intention, unless he proves the contrary.

90. A manifest distinction exists between the burden of proof and the burden of going forward with the evidence. Generally, the burden of proof upon any affirmative proposition necessary to be established as the foundation of an issue does not shift, but the burden of evidence or the burden of explanation may shift from one side to the other according to the testimony. Thus, if the prosecution has offered evidence, which if believed by the court, would convince them of the accused's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt, the accused, if in a position, should go forward with countervailing evidence, if he has such evidence. When facts are peculiarly within the knowledge of the accused, the burden is on him to present evidence of such facts, whether the proposition is an affirmative or negative one. He is not required to do so even though a prima facie case has been established, for the court must still find that he is guilty beyond a reasonable doubt before it can convict. However, the accused's failure to present evidence on his behalf may be regarded by the court as confirming the conclusion indicated by the evidence presented by the prosecution or as confirming presumptions which might arise therefrom. Although not legally required to produce evidence on his own behalf, the accused may therefore as a practical matter find it essential to go forward with proof. This does not alter the burden of proof resting upon the prosecution [see: Balvir Singh v. State of Uttarakhand [Balvir Singh v. State of Uttarakhand, (2023) 16 SCC 575] and Anees v. State (NCT of Delhi) [Anees v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2024) 15 SCC 48 : 2024 SCC OnLine SC 757 : 2024 INSC 368] .]

74. We would now proceed to examine if in the present case, we disregard the testimony of all the witnesses, including the eye-witness, who had attempted to speak exculpatory and been declared at least formally hostile and cross-examined by the prosecution, can we still consider the case as one based on circumstantial evidence and evaluate the worth of the prosecution case accordingly.

75. In a Bench decision of this Court in State of U.P. v. Vijay Prakash Sharma, 2024 (12) ADJ 256 (DB) (LB), it was remarked:

“28. Before we proceed further, it would be apposite to remind ourselves that this is a case where eye-witnesses, namely, P.W.1-Uday Swaroop Bhardwaj, who is informant of the case, his friend P.W.2-Rajeev Dixit and his watchman P.W.3-Bharat, did not support the prosecution version of murder of two persons, namely, Krishna Kumar Gupta and his son Kapil Gupta and all of them turned hostile. Prosecution seeks to bring home the charge levelled on the appellants by relying on certain circumstances. No doubt the conviction can be based on circumstantial evidence inspite of hostility of eye-witnesses, provided such circumstantial evidence stood the well-settled test reiterated by the Apex Court by a catena of pronouncements time and again for sustaining conviction of accused. In this connection, we may refer the case of Paramjeet Singh @ Pamma v. State of Uttrakhand, (2010) 10 SCC 439, wherein all the seven eye-witnesses have turned hostile, it was observed by the Apex Court that the case is to be decided keeping in mind that as all the eye-witnesses turned hostile, it remained a case of circumstantial evidence.”

76. Now, the law regarding circumstantial evidence is settled way beyond doubt and the standard is exacting. A case founded on circumstantial evidence is required to be established by the prosecution in the manner that the inculpatory circumstances should form so complete a chain as to exclude any other hypothesis, but one leading to the inference of guilt for the accused. Reference in this connection may be made to Sharad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra, (1984) 4 SCC 116.

77. We have already examined the evidence appearing in this case in one form or the other and it would be a fruitless exercise to go through it over and over again for all the details of it.

78. Keeping aside the testimony of the eye-witness, who saw the occurrence, to wit, PW-2, the following circumstances are well established on the basis of evidence on record: the fact that the deceased suffered some injury while in her matrimonial home; the fact that the occurrence relating to the injury was serious and alarming enough to make her younger sister, PW-2, put a phone call through to her father, PW-1, asking him to come over to the deceased's in-laws; the fact that when the deceased's father and other family members reached her in-laws, she was utterly sick and in such state of health, that PW-1 and other family members thought that they ought rush her to a hospital at Aligarh from her native village in District Bulandshahr; the fact that notwithstanding the precarious condition of her health, the deceased's in-laws did not take her to hospital or call medical aid; the fact that the deceased's in-laws, upon seeing her father and family arrive, left their house and went away; the fact that while being conveyed to the hospital at Aligarh from her in-laws' village in District Bulandshahr, the deceased passed away at Atrauli; the fact that immediately upon the deceased passing away, the first informant, PW-1, lodged an FIR with the Police, mentioning the deceased's words while alive to the effect that she had been forced to ingest poison by her husband, mother-in-law, father-in-law and sister-in-law; the fact that in the autopsy report, the doctor found the brain congested, besides the small intestine, the large intestine, the liver, including the gallbladder and the spleen congested, but not being able to ascertain the cause of death, preserved the viscera for histopathological examination; the fact that in the report from the Forensic Science Laboratory, it was found upon an examination of the viscera that there was organochloro insecticide poison present; the fact that the deceased clearly died an unnatural death in consequence of some injury sustained in her matrimonial home, where the cause of death opined is poisoning; the fact that the appellants in their statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C. or at any other stage, including investigation or their cross-examination, have not come up with a plausible explanation about circumstances, consistent both with the deceased's death and their innocence or non-involvement; and, the fact that the deceased's last rites were performed at her matrimonial home and not her in-laws, which would inevitably have been the case, if her death was natural and free from blemish for the appellants.

79. All these circumstances put together are well established on record and not in doubt or the realm of infirmity of any kind about their existence. The circumstances considered together form a complete chain that exclude any other possibility, except that of the appellants' guilt, in our considered opinion. However, as remarked earlier, upon establishment of these circumstances, the prosecution definitively shifted burden upon the appellants to produce evidence under Section 102 of the Evidence Act, that could still demonstrate their innocence, consistent with these circumstances. If the appellants had produced some evidence to demonstrate their innocence, pitted against these circumstances appearing against them, we would have to consider the totality of the picture to draw our conclusions, if the prosecution have been successful in establishing their case beyond all reasonable doubt. Since no evidence or even a case in defence to these circumstances has been put forward by the appellants, the prosecution's burden must be held discharged and the case against the appellants proved beyond all reasonable doubt. The conclusion, therefore, is that both on the basis of evidence of witnesses, notwithstanding their hostility, and ignoring that evidence, by the circumstances alone, the prosecution have successfully established their case against the appellants beyond all reasonable doubt. The Trial Judge has more or less reached the same conclusion for her own reasons, which may be slightly different than ours. However, we must remark that we do not agree with the learned Trial Judge that this is a case, where Section 106 of the Evidence Act could be invoked at all. Therefore, we agree with the conclusions that the learned Trial Judge has reached as also broadly, her reasoning to reach those conclusions.

80. In the result, these appeals fail and are dismissed.

81. In Criminal Appeal No.5320 of 2021, Nanakram and Munni are on bail. They will surrender within four weeks of date before the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bulandshahr in order to serve the sentences awarded to them. Their bail bonds shall stand cancelled and sureties discharged.

82. Let this order be communicated to the learned Trial Judge as well as the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bulandshahr by the Registrar (Compliance).

83. Let the Trial Court record be sent down at once.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for Appellant(s) : Dheeraj Srivastava

Counsel for Respondent(s) : Jameel Ahmad

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shekhar B. Saraf, J.)

1. Heard Shri Dheeraj Srivastava, learned counsel appearing for the appellants and Shri Jameel Ahmad, learned counsel appearing for the respondents.

2. The present custom appeals under Section 130 of the Customs Act, 1962 [hereinafter referred to as 'the Act, 1962'] arises out of a common order dated April 24, 2025 passed by the Customs, Excise & Service Appellate Tribunal, Allahabad, Regional Bench - Court No. 1. Since the issues involved in all these appeals are similar in nature and the decision in Custom Appeal No. 19 of 2025 would have a bearing upon all the appeals, we are deciding the specific questions of law in C.U.S.A. No. 19 of 2025.

3. In Custom Appeal No. 19 of 2025, the following substantial questions of law have been raised by the Revenue department:-

"(1.) Whether the CESTAT was justified in applying the provisions of Section 138B of the Customs Act to the 'adjudication proceedings', so as to hold that statements of co-accused cannot be relied upon and thus the proceedings are vitiated for not following the procedure specified under Section 138B of the Customs Act, 1962?

(2.) Whether the findings of the CESTAT that the statement recorded under Section 108 and retracted later on by the maker cannot be relied upon (without bringing any evidence as to threat, inducement or promise on record) contradicts the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Union of India v. Padam Narain Agarwal (2008) 231 E.L.T. 397 (S.C.), Surjeet Singh Chhabra v. Union of India (1997) 89 E.L.T. 646 (S.C.) and KTMS Mohammed Vs UOI (AIR 1992 SC 1831) and thus violates the principle of judicial discipline?

(3.) Whether the CESTAT was justified in holding that the goods is not of foreign origin & not smuggled in absence of foreign markings, difference in purity of gold and the fact that seizure has taken place away from area specified under Section 6 of the Customs Act by believing on the uncorroborated and unsubstantiated claim/ story of the Respondent?

(4.) Whether the CESTAT was justified in setting aside (a) the absolute confiscation of gold bars under Section 111 (b), (1) and (m), and (b) the penalty of Rs 50,00,000/- under Section 112(b) and Section 114AA of the Customs Act imposed upon the Respondent by the adjudicating authority under the present facts and circumstances of the case?"

4. Upon perusal of the Tribunal order, the issue that arises before us is as to whether the finding of the Tribunal at Paragraph 22 of the said order is based on material evidence that was available before the Tribunal. The Tribunal has held that the procedure prescribed under Section 138-B of the Act, 1962 was not followed, as the respondents were not granted an opportunity to cross-examine the witnesses that had been examined by the adjudicating authority. Learned counsel appearing on behalf of the Revenue department has categorically submitted and placed on record documents to indicate that at no point of time did the appellants sought cross-examination of the two persons who were found carrying gold. The Tribunal has come to a finding that Section 138-B mandatorily requires that cross-examination be provided to the noticees in the show cause notice and non-providing of such cross-examination would amount to vitiating the procedure under Section 138-B of the Act, 1962.

5. Learned counsel appearing on behalf of the appellants has relied on the CBIC Master Circular on Show Cause Notice, Adjudication and Recovery-reg., having Circular No. 1053/02/2017-CX dated March 10, 2017 and submits that specifically Paragraph 14.9 states that the adjudicating officer is bound to provide cross-examination, if the noticee makes a request for cross-examination of the person, whose statement is relied upon in the show cause notice. He further relies on a Delhi High Court judgment in Devi Dayal Vs. Union of India reported in 2002 (144) ELT 502 (Del.) wherein it has been held that when the noticee had not specifically asked for production of the persons for cross-examination, even though the materials were brought to his notice, the grievance relating to non-observance of principles of natural justice would not appeal to the Court. The Special Leave Petition against the said judgment that was taken up before the Hon'ble Supreme Court was also dismissed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court. He has further relied on several judgments as in the case of Kannungo & Co. Vs. Commissioner of Customs, Calcutta and others reported in 1983 (13) ELT 1486 (SC); Lakshman Exports Limits Vs. Collector of Central Excise reported in 2002 (143) ELT 21 (SC); Sushil Aggarwal Vs. Principal Commissioner of Customs reported in (2025) 30 Centax 482 (Del.); Surjeet Singh Chhabra Vs. Union of India reported in 1997 (89) ELT 646 (SC); and Naresh J. Sukhwani Vs. Union of India reported in 1996 (83) ELT 258 (SC) to indicate that there would be violation of the principles of natural justice only when the show cause noticee demands cross-examination and the same is not provided for by the adjudicating officer.

6. Learned counsel on behalf of the respondents / noticees has relied on the judgments of the Hon'ble Supreme Court and various High Courts as in the case of Jindal Drugs Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Union of India reported in 2016 (340) E.L.T. 67 (P&H), Andaman Timber Industries Vs. Commissioner of C.Ex. Kolkata-II reported in 2017 (50) STR 93 SC and Commissioner of Central Excise, Meerut-I Vs. Parmarth Iron Pvt. Ltd reported in 2010 (260) E.L.T. 514 (All) to support the order passed by the Tribunal wherein the Tribunal has held that the procedure required under Section 138-B of the Act, 1962 has not been followed thereby making the adjudication proceedings vitiated for not adhering to the principles of natural justice.

7. Before entering into the conclusion and analysis, we would like to bring on record Section 138-B of the Act, 1962, which reads as follows:-

"138B. Relevancy of statements under certain circumstances.-(1) A statement made and signed by a person before any gazetted officer of customs during the course of any inquiry or proceeding under this Act shall be relevant, for the purpose of proving, any any prosecution for an offence under this Act, the truth of the facts which it contains,-

(a) when the person who made the statement is dead or cannot be found, or is incapable of giving evidence, or is kept out of the way by the adverse party, or whose presence cannot be obtained without an amount of delay or expense which, under the circumstances of the case, the court considers unreasonable; or

(b) when the person who made the statement is examined as a witness in the case before the court and the court is of opinion that, having regard to the circumstances of the case, the statement should be admitted in evidence in the interests of justice.

(2) The provisions of sub-section (1) shall, so far as may be, apply in relation to any proceeding under this Act, other than a proceeding before a court, as they apply in relation to a proceeding before a court.]"

Conclusion & Analysis

8. Before entering into the merits, one must examine the exposition of law relating to the application of principles of natural justice by the Hon'ble Supreme Court and various High Courts. The High Court at Calcutta in M/S. Nepa Agency Co. Pvt. Ltd & Anr vs Union Of India & Ors reported in (2015) SCC Online Cal 3597 decided on May 13, 2015, while dealing with a similar contention examined the principles of natural justice. The Court held that the denial of cross examination in customs adjudication did not, by itself, constitute a violation of natural justice. The relevant paragraphs of the judgment are quoted herein below:

"(12) On the point of natural justice, Mr. Sarf relied on a decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of M/s. Kanungo & Co.-vs.-Collector of Customs reported in (1973) 2 SCC 438. Ld. Counsel relied on paragraph 12 of the judgement which is set out hereunder:-

12. We may first deal with the question of breach of natural justice. On the material on record, in our opinion, there has been no such breach. In the show- cause notice issued on August 21, 1961, all the material on which the Customs Authorities have relied was set out and it was then for the appellant to give a suitable explanation. The complaint of the appellant now is that all the persons from whom enquiries were alleged to have been made by the authorities should have been produced to enable it to cross-examine them. In our-opinion, the principles of natural justice do not require that in matters like this the persons who have given information should be examined in the presence of the appellant or should be allowed to be cross-examined by them on the statements made before the Customs Authorities. Accordingly we hold that there is no force in the third contention of the appellant.

(13). Mr. Saraf also relied on a decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of A.S. Motors Pvt. Ltd.-vs.-Union of India rendered in Civil Appeal No. 1517 of 2013 (arising out of SLP (C) No. 2490 of 2008). In the said case the Hon'ble Supreme Court observed that the principles of natural justice have undergone a sea change. Presently the principle of law is that some real prejudice must have been caused to the complainant. Court has shifted from its earlier concept that even a small violation shall result in the order being rendered a nullity. To the principle/doctrine of audi alteram partem, the distinction has been laid down between the cases where there was no hearing at all and the cases where there was mere technical infringement of the principle. The court applies the principles of natural justice having regard to the affected situation obtaining in each case. It is not applied in a vacuum without reference to the relevant facts and circumstances of the case. It is no unruly horse. It cannot be put in a strait-jacket formula."

9. The aforesaid position finds support in the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in A.S. Motors Private Limited v. Union of India and Others reported in (2013) 10 SCC 114 as cited in M/S. Nepa Agency Co. Pvt. Ltd. (Supra) wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court elucidated the latest position of law with regard to principles of natural justice. The relevant paragraphs of the judgment are quoted herein below:

"(8). Rules of natural justice, it is by now fairly well settled, are not rigid, immutable or embodied rules that may be capable of being put in straitjacket nor have the same been so evolved as to apply universally to all kind of domestic tribunals and enquiries. What the courts in essence look for in every case where violation of the principles of natural justice is alleged is whether the affected party was given reasonable opportunity to present its case and whether the administrative authority had acted fairly, impartially and reasonably. The doctrine of audi alteram partem is thus aimed at striking at arbitrariness and want of fair play. Judicial pronouncements on the subject have, therefore, recognised that the demands of natural justice may be different in different situations depending upon not only the facts and circumstances of each case but also on the powers and composition of the tribunal and the rules and regulations under which it functions. A court examining a complaint based on violation of rules of natural justice is entitled to see whether the aggrieved party had indeed suffered any prejudice on account of such violation. To that extent there has been a shift from the earlier thought that even a technical infringement of the rules is sufficient to vitiate the action. Judicial pronouncements on the subject are legion. We may refer to only some of the decisions on the subject which should in our opinion suffice."

10. Hon'ble the Supreme Court has, in earlier occasions as well, cautioned against "strait-jacket" application of principles of natural justice. In Maharashtra State Board of Secondary and Higher Secondary Education v. K. S. Gandhi reported in (1991) 2 SCC 716 the Court observed as follows:

"(22). ...The omnipresence and omniscience (sic) of the principle of natural justice acts as deterrence to arrive at arbitrary decision in flagrant infraction of fair play. But the applicability of the principles of natural justice is not a rule of thumb or a strait-jacket formula as an abstract proposition of law. It depends on the facts of the case, nature of the inquiry and the effect of the order/decision on the rights of the person and attendant circumstances. It is seen from the record and is not disputed, that all the students admitted the factum of fabrication and it was to his or her advantage and that the subject/subjects in which fabrication was committed belong to him or her. In view of these admissions the Enquiry Officer obviously did not find it expedient to reiterate all the admissions made. If the facts are disputed, necessarily the authority or the Enquiry Officer, on consideration of the material on record, should record reasons in support of the conclusion reached.

Since the facts are admitted, the need for their reiteration was obviated and so only conclusions have been stated in the reports. The omission to record reasons in the present case is neither illegal, nor is violative of the principles of natural justice. Whether the conclusions are proved or not is yet another question and would need detailed consideration."

11. Upon a perusal of Section 138-B of the Act, 1962, it is clear that there is no specific requirement for allowing cross-examination. Furthermore, the law established by the Hon'ble Supreme Court and various High Courts as discussed above is that in the event, any material is relied upon by the authorities, any witnesses are examined by the authorities, upon a request made by the show cause noticee, the said relied upon documents are to be provided to the noticee and the witnesses that have been examined and whose statements are being relied upon by the authorities shall be subject to cross-examination by the noticee. The law does not mandate that in each and every case, cross-examination is required to be provided. We are of the view that it is incumbent upon the noticee to seek cross-examination of the witnesses, and if such a request is made, it is mandatory for the authorities to provide such cross-examination. In the event, such cross-examination is not possible, the adjudicating authority in his order has to specifically note down the reasons as to why the witnesses could not be subjected to cross-examination. Such reasons could be as specified in Section 138-B such as death of the witness, the witness being incapable of giving evidence, the witness not being traceable, amongst others.

12. The judgements relied upon by respondents/noticees do not come to their assistance as in each of the cases it is categorically mentioned that it would be open to the assessee to seek permission to cross-examine the persons whose statements have been relied upon and only if upon such request being made and the same not being complied with, then there would be a violation of the principles of natural justice. Even in such cases, as indicated above at paragraph 11, if the witnesses are not available to be cross-examined, the adjudicating authority would mention the reason for not providing such cross-examination to the respondent/noticees.

13. In the present case, the appellants have categorically submitted that at no point was a request made for cross-examination of two witnesses, and therefore, there was no question of violation of the principles of natural justice. This particular fact has not been answered specifically by the Tribunal, and without answering the said question as to whether a request was made for cross-examination, the finding of the Tribunal that the principles of procedure established under Section 138-B of the Act, 1962 have been vitiated, in our view is against the principles established in law. It was incumbent upon the Tribunal to first come to a finding as to whether a request was made by the noticee. If the answer was in the affirmative, then only the Tribunal could have held that the procedure prescribed under Section 138-B of the Act, 1962 was not followed. However, if the answer to the above question were to be in the negative, we are of the view that the finding of the Tribunal that the procedure prescribed under Section 138-B of the Act, 1962 was not followed, would be incorrect.

14. Though, the appellants have herein brought on record certain documents to indicate that no request for cross-examination was made, we are of the view that since the Tribunal is the last fact finding body, this issue should be decided by the Tribunal upon calling for the records of the adjudicating authority and other relevant records.

15. In light of the same, we quash and set aside the order dated April 24, 2025 and direct the Tribunal to come to an appropriate finding with regard to the issues raised in the present judgment.

16. In light of the aforesaid, all the Custom Appeals are allowed and the Tribunal is directed to de novo hear the matter expeditiously, preferably within a period of three months from the date of receipt of certified copy of this judgment.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Brij Raj Singh, J.)

1. Since the common question of facts and law are involved in both the applications, therefore, with the consent of the parties, they are being heard and decided by a common judgement.

2. In APPLICATION U/s 482 No. 692 of 2023, the applicant has sought following main relief(s) :-

“to quash the orders dated 04.01.2023 and 17.08.2022 passed by learned Additional Civil Judge Junior Division C-No.26/ Additional Judicial Magistrate - Sultanpur, in the interest of justice and the Hon'ble Court further be pleased to restrain the lower Court 23 below from proceeding any further in pursuance of aforesaid Criminal Case No. 13 of 2022, Under Section 138 N.I. Act, Police Station-Kotwali Nagar, District-Sultanpur and also quash the entire proceeding of the above said case, in the interest of justice.”

“to quash the order dated 09.02.2022 in Criminal Case No. 390/2022 "M/s Kashish Enterprises Vs. Ankur Asthana" Under Section-138 N.I. Act, Police Station- Kotwali Nagar, District Sultanpur passed by the learned Court below i.e. Additional Civil Judge (Lower Division) Avar Khand/Judicial Magistrate Room No. 31 District Sultanpur and further proceedings of the case passed in pursuance thereof.

It is further prayed that this Hon'ble Court may kindly be pleased to quash the entire proceeding of Criminal Complaint No. 390/2022 "M/s Kashish Enterprises Vs. Ankur Asthana" Under Section-138 N.I. Act, Police Station- Kotwali Nagar, District Sultanpur, in the interest of justice.”

4. Before proceeding, it would be apt to indicate that the applicant had challenged the order dated 09.02.2022 in APPLICATION U/s 482 No. 1829 of 2022 whereby the complaint was directed to be registered and notice was issued to the applicant and during the pendency of the said application, the applicant has also filed second APPLICATION U/s 482 No. 692 of 2023.

5. Facts of the case, as stated by learned counsel for the applicant, are that the the opposite party no.2 preferred Criminal Complaint No. 390 of 2022 (M/s Kashish Enterprises Vs Ankur Asthana), under Section-138/142 of Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 (in short 'NI Act'), dated 03.02.2022. From a perusal of the above noted complaint, it transpires that the cheque was dishonoured due to insufficient fund and the said information was given by the complainant to the applicant through registered post on 11.09.2020. In the aforesaid complaint, an order dated 06.10.2020 has been passed by the trial Court directing for appearance of the applicant against which the applicant has filed revision before the learned District and Session Judge, Sultanpur (in short revisional Court) and the said criminal revision was allowed vide order dated 18.11.2021. Against the order of revision dated 18.11.2021 passed by the revisional Court quashing the order dated 06.10.2020, the Opposite Party No. 2 had filed a petition under Section 482 Cr.P.C. before this Court registered as APPLICATION U/S 482 No. 82 of 2022 and this Court passed an order dated 25.01.2022 modifying the order dated 18.11.2021 passed in Criminal Revision No. 11 of 2021 passed by Additional District and Session Judge Court No. 1 Sultanpur to the extent that the petitioner (opposite party no.2 herein) was permitted to file a fresh petition before the learned trial Court within a period of one month and the same shall be decided strictly in accordance with law.

6. It is also stated that the opposite party no. 2 again filed the complaint on 09.02.2022 in which the learned trial Court issued notice to the applicant without considering the relevant provisions and requirement under law as well as mandatory provision of NI Act. The opposite party no. 2 filed complaint before learned trial Court without fulfilling the mandatory provisions of Section 138 of NI Act as the fresh notice and its service is required before filing complaint, but learned trial Court without considering the legal requirement issued summon vide order dated 09.02.2022 in a most illegal and arbitrary manner. The trial Court again proceeded into the matter during pendency of APPLICATION U/s 482 No. 1829 of 2022 filed by the applicant before this Court without considering the relevant fact and circumstances of the case with respect to the time period providing under the Act with respect to new complaint and passed the impugned orders thereby condoning the delay in filing the application/complaint and summoned the applicant without considering the whole aspect of the matter in detail which are not sustainable in the eyes of law in any manner.

7. Shri Anand Mani Tripathi, learned Senior Advocate has specifically pointed out that in the present matter, fresh legal notice is to be given and unless the cause of action is mentioned, the complaint is not maintainable. He has submitted that entire procedure of giving notice and other provision in conformity with Section 138 of NI Act, period prescribed therein for procedure before filing of the complaint is to be followed. But the opposite party no.2 has not adopted such recourse, therefore, the entire complaint is liable to be set-side.

8. He has placed reliance on paragraph nos.36 to 40 of the judgment passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Yogendra Pratap Singh v. Savitri Pandey, reported in AIR 2015 SC 157, 2014 AIR SCW 5751.

9. On the other hand, Shri Ramakar Shukla, learned counsel for opposite party no.2 has invited attention of the Court towards the revisional court order dated 18.11.2021 in Criminal Revision No. 11 of 2021 by which Additional District and Session Judge, Court No.1, Sultanpur has observed that impugned order dated 06.10.2020 is illegal for the reason that complaint was filed and registered on 23.09.2020 and the Bank Report denotes the dishonor of the check is dated 03.09.2020 and it appears that the complaint was filed within fifteen days. Therefore, the impudent order was not sustainable. The revisional court treated that the complaint is premature and directed to file another complaint before the competent court. The revisional order was challenged by the opposite party no.2 by way of APPLICATION U/S 482 No. 82 of 2022 and the Court modified the revisional order dated 18.11.2022 on 25.01.2022 with observation that the applicant (opposite party no.2 herein) is permitted to file a fresh petition before the learned trial Court within a period of one month and the same shall be decided strictly in accordance with law.

10. He has further submitted that in case, fresh complaint is to be filed then certainly this Court would have to consider period of at least forty-five days, which is the statutory period envisaged under proviso (b) and (c) of Section 138 of NI Act whereas in the present case, this Court has specifically said that the petitioner (opposite party no.2 herein) has to file complaint within one month. The application for condonation of delay filed by opposite party no.2 was allowed and thereafter, the summon has been issued.

11. He has placed reliance on the judgment passed in Yogendra Pratap Singh (Supra) and has submitted in paragraph-42 of the judgment, Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed that fresh complaint may be filed within one month from the date of decision in the criminal case and, in that event, delay in filing the complaint will be treated as having been condoned under the proviso to clause (b) of Section 142 of the NI Act.

12. I have heard Sri A.M. Tripathi, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Anurag Tripathi, for the applicant as also Sri Ramakar Shukla, Advocate, for opposite party No. 2 and Sri Rao Narendra Singh, learned A.G.A. for the State and have perused the records.

13. Relevant paragraphs relied by learned counsel for the parties, for the sake of convenience, are extracted herein-below:-

“36. Can an offence under Section 138 of the NI Act be said to have been committed when the period provided in clause (c) of the proviso has not expired? Section 2(d) of the Code defines ‘complaint’. According to this definition, complaint means any allegation made orally or in writing to a Magistrate with a view to taking his action against a person who has committed an offence. Commission of an offence is a sine qua non for filing a complaint and for taking cognizance of such offence. A bare reading of the provision contained in clause (c) of the proviso makes it clear that no complaint can be filed for an offence under Section 138 of the NI Act unless the period of 15 days has elapsed. Any complaint filed before the expiry of 15 days from the date on which the notice has been served on the drawer/accused is no complaint at all in the eye of the law. It is not the question of prematurity of the complaint where it is filed before the expiry of 15 days from the date on which notice has been served on him, it is no complaint at all under law. As a matter of fact, Section 142 of the NI Act, inter alia, creates a legal bar on the court from taking cognizance of an offence under Section 138 except upon a written complaint. Since a complaint filed under Section 138 of the NI Act before the expiry of 15 days from the date on which the notice has been served on the drawer/accused is no complaint in the eye of the law, obviously, no cognizance of an offence can be taken on the basis of such complaint. Merely because at the time of taking cognizance by the court, the period of 15 days has expired from the date on which notice has been served on the drawer/accused, the court is not clothed with the jurisdiction to take cognizance of an offence under Section 138 on a complaint filed before the expiry of 15 days from the date of receipt of notice by the drawer of the cheque.

37. A complaint filed before the expiry of 15 days from the date on which notice has been served on drawer/accused cannot be said to disclose the cause of action in terms of clause (c) of the proviso to Section 138 and upon such complaint which does not disclose the cause of action the court is not competent to take cognizance. A conjoint reading of Section 138, which defines as to when and under what circumstances an offence can be said to have been committed, with Section 142(b) of the NI Act, that reiterates the position of the point of time when the cause of action has arisen, leaves no manner of doubt that no offence can be said to have been committed unless and until the period of 15 days, as prescribed under clause (c) of the proviso to Section 138, has, in fact, elapsed. Therefore, a court is barred in law from taking cognizance of such complaint. It is not open to the court to take cognizance of such a complaint merely because on the date of consideration or taking cognizance thereof a period of 15 days from the date on which the notice has been served on the drawer/accused has elapsed. We have no doubt that all the five essential features of Section 138 of the NI Act, as noted in the judgment of this Court in Kusum Ingots & Alloys Ltd. [Kusum Ingots & Alloys Ltd. v. Pennar Peterson Securities Ltd., (2000) 2 SCC 745 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 546 : AIR 2000 SC 954] and which we have approved, must be satisfied for a complaint to be filed under Section 138. If the period prescribed in clause (c) of the proviso to Section 138 has not expired, there is no commission of an offence nor accrual of cause of action for filing of complaint under Section 138 of the NI Act.

38. We, therefore, do not approve the view taken by this Court in Narsingh Das Tapadia [Narsingh Das Tapadia v. Goverdhan Das Partani, (2000) 7 SCC 183 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 1326] and so also the judgments of various High Courts following Narsingh Das Tapadia [Narsingh Das Tapadia v. Goverdhan Das Partani, (2000) 7 SCC 183 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 1326] that if the complaint under Section 138 is filed before the expiry of 15 days from the date on which notice has been served on the drawer/accused the same is premature and if on the date of taking cognizance a period of 15 days from the date of service of notice on the drawer/accused has expired, such complaint was legally maintainable and, hence, the same is overruled.

39. Rather, the view taken by this Court in Sarav Investment & Financial Consultancy [Sarav Investment & Financial Consultancy (P) Ltd. v. Llyods Register of Shipping Indian Office Staff Provident Fund, (2007) 14 SCC 753 : (2009) 1 SCC (Cri) 935] wherein this Court held that service of notice in terms of Section 138 proviso (b) of the NI Act was a part of the cause of action for lodging the complaint and communication to the accused about the fact of dishonouring of the cheque and calling upon to pay the amount within 15 days was imperative in character, commends itself to us. As noticed by us earlier, no complaint can be maintained against the drawer of the cheque before the expiry of 15 days from the date of receipt of notice because the drawer/accused cannot be said to have committed any offence until then. We approve the decision of this Court in Sarav Investment & Financial Consultancy [Sarav Investment & Financial Consultancy (P) Ltd. v. Llyods Register of Shipping Indian Office Staff Provident Fund, (2007) 14 SCC 753 : (2009) 1 SCC (Cri) 935] and also the judgments of the High Courts which have taken the view following this judgment that the complaint under Section 138 of the NI Act filed before the expiry of 15 days of service of notice could not be treated as a complaint in the eye of the law and criminal proceedings initiated on such complaint are liable to be quashed.

40. Our answer to Question (i) is, therefore, in the negative.

41. The other question is that if the answer to Question (i) is in the negative, can the complainant be permitted to present the complaint again notwithstanding the fact that the period of one month stipulated under Section 142(b) for the filing of such a complaint has expired.

42. Section 142 of the NI Act prescribes the mode and so also the time within which a complaint for an offence under Section 138 of the NI Act can be filed. A complaint made under Section 138 by the payee or the holder in due course of the cheque has to be in writing and needs to be made within one month from the date on which the cause of action has arisen under clause (c) of the proviso to Section 138. The period of one month under Section 142(b) begins from the date on which the cause of action has arisen under clause (c) of the proviso to Section 138. However, if the complainant satisfies the court that he had sufficient cause for not making a complaint within the prescribed period of one month, a complaint may be taken by the court after the prescribed period. Now, since our answer to Question (i) is in the negative, we observe that the payee or the holder in due course of the cheque may file a fresh complaint within one month from the date of decision in the criminal case and, in that event, delay in filing the complaint will be treated as having been condoned under the proviso to clause (b) of Section 142 of the NI Act. This direction shall be deemed to be applicable to all such pending cases where the complaint does not proceed further in view of our answer to Question (i). As we have already held that a complaint filed before the expiry of 15 days from the date of receipt of notice issued under clause (c) of the proviso to Section 138 is not maintainable, the complainant cannot be permitted to present the very same complaint at any later stage. His remedy is only to file a fresh complaint; and if the same could not be filed within the time prescribed under Section 142(b), his recourse is to seek the benefit of the proviso, satisfying the court of sufficient cause. Question (ii) is answered accordingly.

14. After going through the record and judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court, paragraph-41 wherein it is provided that the payee or the holder in due course of the cheque may file a fresh complaint within one month from the date of decision in the criminal case and, in that event, delay in filing the complaint will be treated as having been condoned under the proviso to clause (b) of Section 142 of the NI Act.

15. Hon'ble Supreme Court has further observed that a complaint filed before the expiry of 15 days from the date of receipt of notice issued under clause (c) of the proviso to Section 138 is not maintainable, the complainant cannot be permitted to present the very same complaint at any later stage. His remedy is only to file a fresh complaint; and if the same could not be filed within the time prescribed under Section 142(b), his recourse is to seek the benefit of the proviso, satisfying the court of sufficient cause.

16. In the present case also, this Court in Application U/s 482 No. 82 of 2022 has already given direction to the opposite party no.2 to file a fresh petition within a period of one month. The argument that fresh legal notice is required is misconceived.

17. Both the application(s) are rejected. No order as to costs.

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to quashing of criminal proceedings under S.s 406, 504 and 506 I.P.C. arising out of an agreement to sell and alleged non-execution of sale deed, invoking inherent jurisdiction under S. 482 Cr.P.C.

Headnotes

Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 - S. 482 - Quashing of proceedings - Abuse of process of law - Civil dispute given colour of criminal offence.

Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S.s 406, 405 - Criminal breach of trust - Ingredients - Entrustment of property essential - Advance payment under agreement to sale does not amount to entrustment. Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S. 504 - Intentional insult - Absence of material particulars - Offence not made out.

Indian Penal Code, 1860 - S.s 503, 506 - Criminal intimidation - Vague allegations - No intent to cause alarm or compel action - Proceedings unsustainable.

Civil vs. Criminal Liability - Breach of contract - Mere failure to honor an agreement to sale is a civil wrong - Conversion of civil liability into criminal litigation is an abuse of process of law - Criminal prosecution impermissible.

Held: The agreement to sale does not confer any title to the property being transferred in favour of applicants - It is also admitted case of informant-opposite party no.2 that neither the property in question was entrusted upon the accused persons or the accused persons were given any dominion over property - A simple transaction with regard to payment of advance for purchase of property has been termed as a criminal offence - If any person, who has taken advance amount arising out of any agreement to sale and subsequently, fails to execute the sale deed, the remedy lies under the civil jurisdiction - Mere failure to honour the agreement to sale by the applicants would not constitute an offence under S. 406 I.P.C. - No description of any insult has been given by the informant in the first information report or in his statement recorded under S. 161 Cr.P.C. - The allegations of criminal intimidation are wholly vague in nature and are not supported by other witnesses - A simple case of breach of contract of agreement to sale, which is having civil liability has been converted into a criminal litigation, which is an abuse of process of law - Accordingly, the entire proceedings of the aforesaid case is hereby quashed -application allowed. ORIGINAL JURISDICTION: Application under S. 482 Cr.P.C. seeking quashing of proceedings of Case Crime No.1717 of 2017, State vs. Lalit Pundir, under S.s 406, 504, 506 I.P.C., Police Station Quarsi, District Aligarh.

Advs. for the Appellant:

Sanjay Mishra

Advs. for the Respondents:

G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vikram D. Chauhan, J.)

1. The present application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is preferred by applicants to quash entire proceedings of Case Crime No.1717 of 2017, State Vs. Lalit Pundir, under Sections 406, 504, 506 I.P.C., Police Station Quarsi, District Aligarh pending in court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Aligarh pursuant to charge sheet dated 23.8.2018 as well as cognizance order dated 13.12.2018.

2. The opposite party no.2-Yogendra Singh is informant, who has lodged first information report on 15.10.017 at Police Station-Quarsi, District-Aligarh, under Sections 406, 504 & 506 I.P.C. against applicants. As per allegations in first information report, it is alleged by informant that informant entered into an agreement for sale of plot with applicant no.1-Lalit Pundir for a sum of Rs.15,00,000/-, out of which, on 1.8.2012 from the account of elder brother of informant, namely, Oshveer Singh a sum of Rs.3,10,000/- was paid to applicant no.1 by cheque and a further amount of Rs.6,90,000/- was paid by cash.

3. It is also agreed that remaining amount would be paid at time of execution of sale deed. Cash was given in front of Devendra Kumar and Luv Kush in the year 2013. Applicant no.2-Rajesh went to Jaipur and, thereafter, informant asked applicant no.1 and applicant no.3 to execute the sale deed. However, aforesaid persons were delaying execution of sale deed on ground that when applicant no.2 would come from Jaipur they will execute the sale deed. On 23.7.2013 a sum of Rs.49,000/- was paid by cheque by applicants to informant. In January, 2014, when informant asked applicants for execution of sale deed, applicants have stated that same would be executed within 4-6 months. On 31.7.2017, they promise to execute the sale deed. On aforesaid date, when informant went to the house of applicants, the applicants have stated to come to Registry office and when informant reached Registry office and waited for applicants till 7.00 pm, informant went to house of applicants and asked as to why sale deed was not executed, applicants started abusing and threatened that if informant come to house of applicants they would physically assault informant. The applicants are neither returning the amount nor executing the sale deed.

4. In pursuance to aforesaid first informant report, statement of informant was recorded by Investigating Officer, who has supported prosecution story. The Investigating Officer has also recorded statement of witness Devendra Kumar, who has stated that deal was agreed upon for a sum of Rs.15,00,000/-, out of which, Rs.3,10,000/- was given by cheque and Rs.6,90,000/- was given in cash and at the time of execution of sale deed Rs.5,00,000/- is required to be paid. The sale deed was not executed by applicants. The Investigating Officer has further recorded the statement of witness Luv Kush, who has also supported prosecution case. The Investigating Officer thereafter, submitted charge sheet on 23.8.2018 under Sections 406, 504 & 506 I.P.C. against applicants. In pursuance to aforesaid charge sheet, cognizance order has been issued on 13.10.2018 under Sections 406, 504 & 506 I.P.C.

5. This Court on 24.6.2019 issued notice to opposite party no.2-informant and by office report dated 27.9.2023 it is reported that notice has been served on opposite party no.2. On 2.1.2024, no one appears on behalf of opposite party no.2. By order dated 12.11.2025, on account of non-appearance of opposite party no.2, this case was proceeded ex-parte against the opposite party no.2.

6. The prosecution case is to the effect that a sale transaction of a plot was agreed upon between the parties for a sum of Rs.15,00,000/-. Out of which, Rs.3,10,000/- was paid by cheque and Rs.6,90,000/- was paid by cash by informant to applicants. The amount of Rs.5,00,000/- being remaining sale consideration was to be paid at the time of execution of sale deed. It is allegation of informant that sale deed has not been executed by applicants despite the request made by informant.

7. The applicant have been summoned under Sections 406, 504, 506 I.P.C.

8. Section 406 Indian Penal Code provides punishment for offence of breach of trust. The offence for breach of trust has been envisaged under Section 405 I.P.C., which is quoted hereunder:

“405. Criminal breach of trust.-Whoever, being in any manner entrusted with property, or with any dominion over property, or dishonestly misappropriates or converts to his own use that property, or dishonestly uses or disposes of that property in violation of any direction of law prescribing the mode in which such trust is to be discharged, or of any legal contract, express or implied, which he has made touching the discharge of such trust, or wilfully suffers any other person to do, commits “criminal breach of trust”.”

9. Insofar as offence for criminal breach of trust is concerned, ingredients are to the effect that the accused should be entrusted with property or with dominion over property, who dishonestly misappropriates or converts to his own use the property in question or misappropriates or converts in violation of any direction of law prescribing the mode in which such trust is to be discharged, or of any legal contract.

10. In the present case, it is the case of informant-opposite party no.2 that only an agreement to sale of property was agreed upon between applicants and opposite party no.2 and some amount was extended in advance. The agreement to sale does not confer any title to the property being transferred in favour of applicants. It is also admitted case of informant-opposite party no.2 that neither the property in question was entrusted upon the accused persons or the accused persons were given any dominion over property. It is also not the allegation of informant that aforesaid property was dishonestly misappropriated or converted for his own use. A simple transaction with regard to payment of advance for purchase of property has been termed as a criminal offence. If any person, who has taken advance amount arising out of any agreement to sale and subsequently, fails to execute the sale deed, the remedy lies under the civil jurisdiction.

11. It is to be noted that it is not the the allegation of informant-opposite party no.2 that applicants had mislead at the initial stage of agreement to sale in any manner.

12. The Supreme Court in the case of Radheyshyam and others Vs. State of Rajasthan and another, 2024 SCC Online SC 2311 has held that mere non-performance of agreement to sale itself does not amount to criminal breach of trust. Relevant paragraph are extracted hereunder:-

“6. As already indicated above, a perusal of the complaint which has been registered as the FIR does not spell out any element or ingredient of cheating or breach of trust. Mere non-performance of an Agreement to Sell by itself does not amount to cheating and breach of trust. Respondent no.2 has adequate remedy of filing a Civil Suit for relief of specific performance of a contract which he has already availed and the suit is still pending. The FIR only appears to be an arm-twisting mechanism to pressurize the appellants to execute the Sale Deed or to extract money. Every civil wrong cannot be converted into a criminal wrong. As we find in the present case, respondent no.2 is trying to abuse the criminal machinery for ulterior motives. It is not his case that the appellants duped him to pay the advance amount and entered into an Agreement to Sell. The High Court fell in error in recording a finding that the ingredients of offences under sections 420 and 406 of I.P.C. are present in the instant case.”

11. For an offence punishable under Section 406 IPC, the following ingredients must exist:

- i. The accused was entrusted with property, or entrusted with dominion over property;*
- ii. The accused had dishonestly misappropriated or converted to their own use that property, or dishonestly used or disposed of that property or wilfully suffer any other person to do so; and*
- iii. Such misappropriation, conversion, use or disposal should be in violation of any direction of law prescribing the mode in which such trust is to be discharged, or of any legal contract which the person has made, touching the discharge of such trust.*

12. In the present case, the appellants were not entrusted with any property by respondent no.2-complainant. The only delivery made was of part payment towards an Agreement to Sell between the parties. The amount paid towards consideration cannot be said to have been entrusted with the appellants by respondent no.2. Additionally, merely because the appellants are refusing to register the sale, it does not amount to misappropriation of the advance payment. Since there was no entrustment of property, the offence of misappropriation of such property and thereby criminal breach of trust cannot be said to be made out.”

13. In view of the aforesaid reasoning mere failure to honour the agreement to sale by the applicants would not constitute an offence under Section 406 I.P.C.

14. The applicants have also been summoned under Section 504 I.P.C. The aforesaid provision of law provides for intentional insult with intent to provoke breach of peace. The aforesaid offence provides that whoever intentionally insults, and thereby gives provocation to any person, intending or knowing it to be likely that such provocation will cause him to break the public peace, or to commit any other offence, shall be punished with imprisonment, which may extend to two years or with fine, or with both.

15. In the present case, no description of any insult has been given by the informant in the first information report or in his statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. Even otherwise, no material particulars have been provided by the informant as to the facts and circumstances which would give provocation to the informant to break public peace or to commit any offence. Once such allegations are not the foundation of the first information report or the statement of the informant recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C., then the offence under Section 504 I.P.C. would not be made out against the applicants.

16. The applicants have also been summoned under Section 506 I.P.C. Section 506 I.P.C. provides for punishment for criminal intimidation. The offence of intimidation is provided under Section 503 I.P.C., which is quoted hereunder:-

“503. Criminal intimidation.-Whoever threatens another with any injury to his person, reputation or property, or to the person or reputation of any one in whom that person is interested, with intent to cause alarm to that person, or to cause that person to do any act which he is not legally bound to do, or to omit to do any act which that person is legally entitled to do, as the means of avoiding the execution of such threat, commits criminal intimidation.”

17. As per the prosecution case, the allegation pertains to non-execution of the sale deed in pursuance to the agreement to sale and the payment of advance amount. The allegation in the first information report is that the applicants have abused and have threatened with life. The allegations are wholly vague in nature and neither the nature of the abusive language used by the applicants have been stated by the informant in the first information report nor in his statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C.

18. It is also to be noted that although there is allegation with regard to threatening for life. However, there is no allegation to the effect that the aforesaid threatening was to cause the informant to do any act which he is not legally bound to do, or to omit to do any act which that person is legally entitled to do. The allegations of criminal intimidation are wholly vague in nature and are not supported by other witnesses.

19. In the present case, a simple case of breach of contract of agreement to sale, which is having civil liability has been converted into a criminal litigation, which is an abuse of process of law. The informant has the civil remedy for enforcement of the contract of agreement to sale or for breach of contract. At this stage, permitting the criminal prosecution of the applicants would be an abuse of process of law.

20. Accordingly, the entire proceedings of the aforesaid case is hereby quashed. The present application is allowed.

1. Heard Sri Govind Saran Hajela, learned counsel for the applicants, Sri Sher Singh, learned counsel for the Opposite party no. 2 and learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. The present application under Section 482 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 is preferred by applicants for quashing charge-sheet as well as order dated 6.8.2019 taking cognizance under Sections 306, 504, 506 of Indian Penal Code and under Sections 3(2)(v) of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 pending before Special Judge, (SC/ST) Act, Police Station Rohania, District Varanasi in Special Session Trial No. 228 of 2019 (Sarkar Vs. Raj Bihari Singh and others). The above-mentioned criminal case arises out of First Information Report dated 13.3.2019 in Case Crime No. 148 of 2019 at Police Station Rohania, District Varanasi.

3. At the initial filing of present application before this Court applicants have also made a prayer for quashing of offence under Section 3(1)(v) of Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989. However, subsequently the above-mentioned order dated 6.8.2019 was corrected by order dated 21.10.2019 (copy of the aforesaid order is filed along with the counter affidavit of the informant before this Court). In view of the above-mentioned correction order dated 21.10.2019, the prayer for quashing the offence under the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is hereby substituted the prayer for offence under Section 3(2)(v) of Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 in place of Section 3(1)(v) of Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989.

4. The applicants have also filed supplementary affidavit dated 16.10.2019 stating that due to clerical mistake name of applicant no. 1 namely Raj Bihari Singh @ Raj Bihari has been wrongly typed in place of Raj Bihari Singh.

5. Initially, First Information Report dated 13.3.2019 was lodged by Ratan Lal Gond against applicants and two other persons, namely, Manik Chand and Vinod Bharti Lekhpal under Sections 306, 504 and 506 of Indian Penal Code and under Section 3(2)(v) of Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989. As per allegations in above-mentioned First Information Report, it is alleged by informant that informant is resident of Village Bandepur, Police Station Rohaniya, District Varanasi. The informant is having land dispute with Manik Chand who is resident of same village. Some persons are trying to get the caste of informant being Scheduled Tribe cancelled in which the Area Lekhpal Vinod Bharti in conspiracy with Village Pradhan Raj Bihari (Applicant no. 1), Mohd Naeem (Applicant no. 3), Shiv Adhar Singh (Applicant no. 2), Lal Mohammad (Applicant no. 4) in order to get the Scheduled Tribes status of informant being declared as forged has got submitted report that informant belongs to Badbhuja caste. As a result of same, father of informant was shocked and accused persons use to abuse father of informant while on road. On account of informant being declared as Badbhuja caste, father of informant was shocked and as a result of the same on 12.3.2019 in the night committed suicide by hanging at the house of informant.

6. In pursuance to the above-mentioned First Information Report, the Investigating Officer recorded statement of informant who has supported the First Information Report allegations and has further stated that the caste certificate of informant was prepared in the year 2012 and the second application for preparation of the caste certificate of the informant was given in December 2018 and the applicants have given application against the caste certificate of informant. The witness has further stated that the deceased had informed him that the applicants used to threaten father of informant to relieve the disputed land.

7. The Investigating Officer has also recorded statement of Santraj Gond who has also supported the allegations made in the First Information Report. During investigation, Investigating Officer also recovered suicide note of deceased where the deceased had given detailed account of the land dispute as well as also stated that applicants are creating hindrance in the livelihood of informant and his family members and as such the deceased had committed suicide.

8. The post-mortem of deceased was held on 13.3.2019 at 2:08 p.m. and the doctor conducting the post-mortem opined that the deceased died due to Asphyxia as a result of hanging.

9. On 22.12.2018 Lekhpal had submitted a report before the Authorities concerned with regard to the caste of informant as Bhadbhuja. In the aforesaid enquiry report, applicants have given statement about the caste of informant and his family members. In pursuance to aforesaid investigation, the Investigating Officer has submitted charge-sheet against applicants and one Vinod Kumar Lekhpal under Sections 306, 504 and 506 of the Indian Penal Code and under Section 3(2)(v) of Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989. The court concerned thereafter has taken cognizance and issued summons by order dated 6.8.2019 as corrected by order dated 21.10.2019 in the above-mentioned sections.

10. Learned counsel for the applicants submits that allegation against the applicants is to the effect that applicants had made a complaint with regard to caste certificate of Opposite party no. 2, as a result of the same, the father of Opposite party no.2 has committed suicide. Mere filing of a complaint challenging the caste certificate by itself not occasion to abetment to suicide. There is no immediate cause for committing suicide at the behest of applicants. The applicants have been falsely implicated in the present case.

11. Learned counsel for the applicants further submits that caste certificate, which was issued in the year 2012, was re-examined by the competent authority in the year 2018. However, there was no order for cancellation of the caste certificate. Even on the fact of the record, the offence is not made out against the applicants.

12. Sri Sher Singh, learned counsel for Opposite party no.2 submits that applicants were harassing Opposite party no.2, who belongs to Scheduled Tribes category and the complainant was appointed in a government job on the strength of the caste certificate, which was subsequently, challenged by the applicants, as a result of the same, the father of Opposite party no.2 committed suicide and a suicide note was left by his father. A perusal of the suicide note of the father of Opposite party no.2 would give an indication that father of Opposite party no.2 has committed suicide on account of the conduct of applicants. The question of validity of suicide note cannot be examined in an application filed under Section 482 Cr.P.C.

13. The applicants have been summoned under Section 306 of the Indian Penal Code. Section 306 of Indian Penal Code provides punishment for abetment of suicide. Suicide taking place, which is not an offence as the person is beyond the reach of the law. However attempt to commit suicide is made punishable under Section 309 of Indian Penal Code. Similarly, Abetment of suicide is also made punishable under Section 306 of Indian Penal Code. Abetment of suicide is confined to persons who aid and abet the commission of suicide by another person.

14. Section 107 of Indian Penal Code provides with respect to Abetment of a thing. Section 107 of Indian Penal Code is quoted hereinunder:-

“107. Abetment of a thing. A person abets the doing of a thing, who-

First. Instigates any person to do that thing; or

Secondly -Engages with one or more other person or persons in any conspiracy for the doing of that thing, if an act or illegal omission takes place in pursuance of that conspiracy, and in order to the doing of that thing; or Thirdly - Intentionally aids, by any act or illegal omission, the doing of that thing.

Explanation 1 - A person who, by wilful misrepresentation, or by wilful concealment of a material fact which he is bound to disclose, voluntarily causes or procures, or attempts to cause or procure, a thing to be done, is said to instigate the doing of that thing.

Explanation 2 -Whoever, either prior to or at the time of the commission of an act, does anything in order to facilitate the commission of that act, and thereby facilitate the commission thereof, is said to aid the doing of that act.”

15. The law of abetment evolves around the principle that it is not only the person who has committed the crime is answerable to law but any person who instigates, conspires, or intentionally aid another to commit an offence is also answerable under law. Instigation envisages where a person actively provokes, urges, encourage or incite another to commit an offence through words, conduct, or willful misrepresentation. The same requires a criminal intent to stimulate the criminal act. There must be a direct nexus between the instigation and the offence committed. Mere passive activity of the accused/instigate without reference to the offence committed by another person may not come within the purview of abetment. Whether the abetment is caused is to be derived from the facts and circumstances of each case.

16. In the present case allegation as per the prosecution against the accused persons is to the effect that applicants have given statement with regard to caste of informant and his family members. The aforesaid statement has been given in an enquiry being conducted by the Authorities concerned on an application for issuing caste certificate to informant. Prosecution case rests on the fact that applicants have given statement that the informant does not belong to a particular caste which was claimed by applicants in their application before the Authorities concerned. It is not in dispute between the parties that in the present case no conspiracy was made between the accused person for commission of suicide of the deceased. It is also not the prosecution case that applicants have intentionally aids the commission of suicide.

17. The prosecution case hinges upon the fact that applicants have given statement in the enquiry before the authorities concerned that the informant does not belong to a particular caste which is claimed by the informant and on the aforesaid basis father of informant has committed suicide and leaving suicide note that the applicants are not permitting the informant and his family members to live and as such the father of informant has committed suicide.

18. It is to be seen that the statement alleged to be given by the applicants was on the basis of an enquiry being conducted by the authorities concerned on an application given by informant for issuance of caste certificate. It is further alleged that applicants have opposed the application of informant for issuance of caste certificate as a Scheduled Tribes. The statement was recorded by co-accused (Lekhpal) and was submitted before the District Administration who is the authority to issue the caste certificate. It is not case of the prosecution that there was any direct instigation by accused person/applicants with regard to commission of suicide by deceased. It is further to be noted that caste certificate is required to be issued by District Authorities after an enquiry and the final decision rests with authority concerned. The applicants has given statement with regard to the caste of informant and his family members in the enquiry proceedings. The aforesaid alleged act of applicants would not come under instigation as per Section 107 of Indian Penal Code. There is no direct nexus between the statement of applicants (before the Authorities concerned) and commission of suicide by father of informant. Mere participating in enquiry in respect of issuance of caste certificate of informant cannot be designated as instigation for commission of suicide by father of informant. Even the suicide note recovered by police in respect of deceased do not state any details or material particulars of any instigation by applicants to deceased. In view of facts and circumstances stated hereinabove, no offence under Section 306 of Indian Penal Code is made out against applicants.

19. The applicants further have been summoned under Sections 504 and 506 of the Indian Penal Code. The offence under Section 504 of Indian Penal Code prescribes that whoever intentionally insults, and thereby gives provocation to any person, intending or knowing it to be likely that such provocation will cause him to break the public peace, or to commit any other offence, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both. The offence under Section 504 of Indian Penal Code envisages that there should be intentional insult and thereby giving provocation to any person intending or knowing that such provocation will cause him to break public peace or to commit any offence. In the present case, there are no material circumstances and particulars to show that there was any intentional insult which would give provocation to complainant to cause any break of public peace or to commit any offence as such the material ingredient of offence under Section 504 of Indian Penal Code is not made out from the prosecution case.

20. Further, Section 506 of Indian Penal Code provides punishment for offence of criminal intimidation. The offence of criminal intimidation has been described under Section 503 of Indian Penal Code and the same is quoted herein below :-

“503. Criminal intimidation - Whoever threatens another with any injury to his person, reputation or property, or to the person or reputation of any one in whom that person is interested, with intent to cause alarm to that person, or to cause that person to do any act which he is not legally bound to do, or to omit to do any act which that person is legally entitled to do, as the means of avoiding the execution of such threat, commits criminal intimidation.

Explanation - A threat to injure the reputation of any deceased person in whom the person threatened is interested, is within this section.”

21. An act of criminal intimidation would arise when a person threatens another with any injury to his person, reputation or property, or to the person or reputation of any one in whom that person is interested, with intent to cause alarm to that person, or to cause that person to do any act which he is not legally bound to do, or to omit to do any act which that person is legally entitled to do, as the means of avoiding the execution of such threat, commits criminal intimidation. No material circumstances and particulars provided in the First Information Report or in the statement of the informant under Section 161 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 to indicate any threatening being offered by applicants to informant. In view of the facts and circumstances and reasons stated hereinabove, no offence under Sections 504 and 506 of the Indian Penal Code is made out against the applicants.

22. The applicants have also been summoned under Section 3(2)(v) of Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989. The aforesaid provision is quoted hereinbelow :-

“3. Punishments for offences of atrocities. __ (1)

(2) Whoever, not being a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe,

(v) commits any offence under the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860) punishable with imprisonment for a term of ten years or more against a person or property knowing that such person is a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe or such property belongs to such member, shall be punishable with imprisonment for life and with fine.

23. The above-mentioned provision declares commission of any offence under Indian Penal Code against a member of Scheduled Caste or Schedule Tribe category to be an offence under the provisions of SC/ST Act. It is further to be seen that no offence under the Indian Penal Code is found against the applicants in view of the facts, circumstances and reasoning stated hereinabove. The allegations of prosecution that applicants have given statement in the enquiry as to whether the informant is a member of Scheduled Tribe and thereby stating that informant belongs to another caste other than that claimed by the informant in the application before the authorities concerned by itself cannot constitute an offence under law. It is the duty of every citizen to assist the authorities in discharge of their statutory duties and therefore the applicants cannot be said to have committed any wrong which is punishable under law.

24. In view of facts, circumstances and reasoning stated hereinabove no offence under Sections 306, 504, 506 of Indian Penal Code and under Section 3(2)(v) of Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is made out against the applicants. The above-mentioned criminal proceedings as well as summoning order dated 6.8.2019 as corrected by order dated 21.10.2019 passed by Special Judge (SC/ST) Act, Varanasi in Special Session Trial No. 228 of 2019 (Sarkar Vs. Raj Bihari Singh and others) (arising out of Case Crime No. 148 of 2019) pending before Special Judge (SC/ST) Act, Varanasi are hereby quashed in respect of applicants, namely, Raj Bihari Singh @ Raj Bihari, Shiv Adhar Singh, Mohd. Naeem and Lal Mohammad.

25. As a result thereof, the present application filed under Section 482 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 is allowed.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for Applicant(s) : Anurag Rai, Vinay Kumar Jaiswal Counsel for Opposite Party(s) : Ankita Pandey, G.A.

1. Heard, Sri Vinay Kumar Jaiswal, learned counsel for the applicants, Ms. Seema Shukla, learned AGA-Ist for the State and Ms. Ankita Pandey, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2. Perused the record.

2. The application under Section 528 B.N.S.S. has been moved by the accused/applicants, son and his mother, respectively for quashing the charge sheet, summoning order and the entire proceedings of Sessions Case No. 1241 of 2025 (State Vs. Amarjit Pal and another) arising out of Case Crime No. 38 of 2025 for the offence under Sections 69, 352, 351(3) BNS and Sections 3, 4 of Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, P.S. Barwapatti, District Kushinagar, on the ground argued by learned counsel for the applicants that the allegation of rape is on applicant no.1 on false promise of marriage. The victim has incorrectly shown her age as below 18 years, although she is nearly 20 years of age; the mother of victim has initially moved an application under Section 175(3) BNSS, which was converted to complaint, but subsequently that complaint was withdrawn and the revision petition was dismissed as infructuous, that carries the same prosecution case as is alleged in the FIR. Further submits that the victim was a consenting party and there was a denial of internal medical examination by the victim and lastly non-compliance of the procedure provided under Section 233 BNSS.

3. Learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 and learned AGA for the State have stated that the victim was minor, who has continuously been raped by the applicant no.1 on false promise of marriage. There was a compromise between the parties that the applicant no.1 and the victim will get married for which the marriage invitation cards were printed specifying the date of marriage as 23.05.2025, but the accused/applicant no.1 has refused. Further submits that the victim was minor as such her consent for sexual intercourse, which is admitted by the applicant no.1 fall within the category of rape. Further submits that initially the complaint was made at the police station which was not registered. As such, the opposite party no.2 has moved an application under Section 175(3) BNSS and simultaneously sent the complaint to the higher police authorities. When the higher police authorities have directed the police station concerned, the FIR was registered. In the meantime, the application under Section 175(3) BNSS was converted to a complaint, which was challenged in revision and after registration of FIR, the complaint was withdrawn, which was filed by the mother of victim and the revision became infructuous and therefore dismissed as infructuous. Further submits that the complaint was withdrawn at pre-cognizance stage, as such the provision of Section 233 BNSS will not be applicable. Further submits that it is an admitted case of applicant that the applicant no.1 has entered into sexual intercourse with the victim, which was allegedly consented, whereas the consent with the minor is no consent in the eye of law, as such submits that the application is devoid of merits and deserves to be rejected.

4. This Court has taken into consideration, the rival submission made by the parties.

5. The prosecution case evolved from the bare perusal of first information report dated 26.05.2025 registered at 19:40 hours lodged by the brother of victim against the applicants, which reveals that the date of birth of victim is 01.01.2008 and since last four years, the accused/applicant no.1 was entering into sexual intercourse with victim on false promise of marriage, when the accused/applicant has refused to marry the victim, she has intimated the plight to her family members. The family members of the accused/applicant and the victim met and there was compromise that the marriage of the two will be solemnized on 23.05.2025 but Bidai Ceremony will be performed only when the victim became 18 years of age. The invitation cards were distributed and the present FIR is lodged when the accused/applicant no.1 has refused to marry. The allegation against the mother of accused/applicant no.1 is of criminal intimidation.

6. The victim in her statement under Section 183 BNSS has made specific mention that she is high school pass and born on 01.01.2008 and since last 4 years, the accused/applicant is entering into sexual intercourse with her on promise of marriage. Though, she in her statement under Section 180 BNSS, has stated that she is consenting to the sexual intercourse. She also refused to get her internal medical examination. The High School Certificate of the victim, which has been issued by the Madhyamik Shiksha Parishad, U.P. reveals that her date of birth is 01.01.2008.

7. The accused/applicants have made a clear and explicit admission in paragraph 18 of the affidavit accompanying the application under section 528 BNSS that the accused/applicant no.1 used to visit the house of victim as he is relative to the sister-in-law (bhabhi) of the victim and there was love affair between the two since last four years and there was physical relations on the consent of the victim. The relevant paragraph-18 of the affidavit is reiterated underneath :-

18. That the story set up by the first informant against the applicants is not correct whereas reality is that the victim and applicant no. 1 is major girl and boy and the applicant no. 1 was regular visitor at the house of the victim due to relationship of her sister in law (Bhabhi) and where they met to each other for time to time and in between they fell in love affection and since four year, they were talking to each other on phone and thereafter, they were met and made their physical relationship with each other by their free and sweat will but when the informant as well as other family members were came know about their relationship then the informant made pressure upon the applicants to perform the marriage of the applicant no. 1 with his sister/victim but the applicants refused for the same then this false story has been created and lodged the false FIR against the applicants maliciously to harass as well as to create the pressure upon them to perform the marriage with the victim.

This admission of the accused/applicant no.1 has been answered by the opposite party no.2 in the way that the accused/applicant no.1 has entered into sexual intercourse with the victim knowing that the victim was minor and there was a false promise of marriage since the inception. It is because of this false promise that the accused/applicant no.1 have refused to enter into marriage on the date fixed i.e. 23.05.2025.

8. On these prima facie facts, the point of concern in the present application is whether the allegation levelled is prima facie sufficient to proceed with the trial or the trial would tantamount to cause miscarriage of justice.

9. After the investigation, the Investigating Officer has submitted charge sheet for offence under Section 69 BNS (sexual intercourse on false promise of marriage) invoking the provisions of POCSO Act against applicant no. 1 and criminal insult and intimidation against both the accused applicants.

10. On the face of record, the victim is minor as is shown from her matriculation certificate annexed along with the counter affidavit filed by opposite party no.2. The argument of learned counsel is that the age of the victim is nearly 20 years and the date of birth shown in the matriculation certificate is only certificate age. The argument of learned counsel has no basis as the matriculation certificate is to be given primacy.

11. Section 69 of Bhartiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 provides that Whoever, by deceitful means or by making promise to marry a woman without any intention of fulfilling the same, has sexual intercourse with her, such sexual intercourse not amounting to the offence of rape, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to ten years and shall also be liable to fine.

12. The provision contained in Section 69 of BNS is a new induction in penal law, wherein sexual intercourse with a woman, by deceitful means including false promise of marriage is not Rape, but is made punishable. Prior to the enactment the courts interpret the conduct of parties in view of the provisions of Section 375 I.P.C. (Rape) coupled with the provision of Section 90 I.P.C (Consent known to be given under fear or misconception). The explanation provided under Section 69 BNS of Deceitful means shall include the false promise of employment or promotion, inducement, or marrying after suppressing identity.

13. Though the charge sheet is not submitted under the offence of rape, but it would be expedient in the interest of justice that the provision of rape under Section 63 BNS is required to be dealt with, which clearly provides for sexual intercourse, by way of implication provided under subsections (a) to (d) under seven circumstances is considered as Rape. It is explicitly provided under subsection (vi) that if the penetration is with or without her consent when she is under 18 years of age. In the present case, the sexual intercourse is admitted by the applicant no.1 and the age of victim is under 18 years, as is prima facie explicit from her matriculation certificate.

14. Even otherwise Section 69 BNS provides for sexual intercourse by employing deceitful means and false promise of marriage as one of the deceitful means. In the case of Pramod Suryabhan Pawar Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2019) 9 SCC 608, Hon'ble the Supreme Court has drawn a clear distinction between false promise of marriage, which is given on understanding by the maker that it will be broken and a breach of promise which is made in good faith but subsequently not fulfilled. It is former which outrightly attracts penal provision.

15. So far as moving of an application under Section 175(3) BNSS by the mother of victim is concerned. The court of Special Judge, POCSO Act, Kushinagar while disposing of the application by order dated 01.04.2025 has converted it to a complaint and fixed 23.04.2025 for recording of statement under Section 223 BNSS. The FIR was registered on 26.05.2025 and on 29.05.2025, the mother of victim has not pressed the complaint, which was accordingly dismissed on the same day. It is the order dated 01.04.2025, whereby the court refused to register the FIR, which was challenged in revision before this Court registered as Criminal Revision No. 2685 of 2025. The coordinate Bench of this Court by order dated 02.07.2025 has dismissed the revision being infructuous. This shows that neither the special court nor the High Court have taken into consideration the allegations made to summon the accused and therefore, the stage was pre-cognizance stage. As such, Section 233 BNSS will not put any dent on the prosecution case because the provision is about consolidation of the two cases with the aim to avoid conflicting outcome of the two. Hence, the application moved under Section 528 BNSS is devoid of merit and liable to be dismissed.

16. The Application under Section 528 BNSS is hereby dismissed.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for Applicant(s) : Ajeet Kumar Srivastava, Arvind Kumar Srivastava, Neelam Srivastava, Satyendra Kumar Srivastava Counsel for Opposite Party(s) : G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vivek Kumar Singh, J.)

1. Heard Shri Arvind Kumar Srivastava, the learned counsel for the applicants, Shri Akhilesh Kumar Mishra, the learned counsel appearing for respondent no.2 and Shri Mohd. Afzal, the learned counsel for the State and perused the record.

2. The present application has been filed by the applicants challenging the order dated 16.10.2025, passed by the Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge (POCSO) Act, Sant Kabir Nagar in S.S.T. No.0071 of 2018 (State of U.P. vs. Neelam), on an application preferred by the accused applicants under Section 348 of BNSS praying herein to recall the victim/PW-2/opposite party no.3 for further cross examination.

3. The brief facts of the case are to the effect that a first information report was lodged by the informant/opposite party no.2 on 21.12.2017 in respect of incident dated 15.12.20217, bearing Case crime no.1888 of 2017, under Section 363, 366, 120B IPC and Section 7/8 POCSO Act, Police Station Bakhira, District Sant Kabir Nagar. The Investigating Officer after due investigation submitted chargesheet in this case on 27.01.2018, under Section 363, 366, 120B IPC and Section 16/17 POCSO Act and once the statement of the victim was recorded under Sections 161 and 164 Cr.P.C. the trial court took cognizance of offence and during the course of trial charges were framed. The accused pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

4. The first informant was examined in the trial court as PW-1. Thereafter the victim was examined as PW-2 on 26.04.2019 but due to paucity of time her cross-examination was continued for 10.05.2019 and she was cross-examined at length. Thereafter the applicant Neelam moved an application under Section 348 BNSS and objection was filed by the learned ADGC on 04.10.2025. Both parties were heard by the learned trial court and passed the impugned order dated 16.10.2025 whereby the application filed by the applicant Neelam was dismissed.

5. In the aforesaid background of the case, the present application under section 528 BNSS has been moved by the applicants-accused.

6. The learned counsel for the applicants submits that one more opportunity be granted to the applicants for cross-examination of the victim and the learned Trial Court had committed gross illegality in rejecting the application vide order dated 16.10.2025. The order impugned is against the principle settled by the Hon'ble Apex Court. As such interference by this Court is required in this matter.

7. The learned AGA as well as the learned counsel appearing for the opposite party no.2 have vehemently opposed the application and submitted that the application under section 348 BNSS was moved with the sole intention to delay the trial which is impermissible and in the circumstances of the case, the application has rightly been rejected by the learned trial court. The application for recalling of the witness has been moved after about six years and the delay has not been properly explained by the applicants. The victim was examined on 10.05.2019 and the application was moved in the year 2025. All the witness of facts have been examined in the trial court and as per Section 33(5) of POCSO Act, 2012, the child witness would not be called repeatedly to testify in the court.

8. I have considered the submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the parties and perused the records as well as impugned order dated 16.10.2025 passed by the learned Trial Court in the aforesaid case.

9. The principle related to recall of the witnesses under section 311 of Cr.P.C. (corresponding Section-348 BNSS) has been settled by Hon'ble Apex Court in the case (s) of Mohd. Khalid Versus State of West Bengal, (2002) 7 SCC 334; Hanuman Prasad (Supra), Natasha Singh vs. CBI, (2013) 5 SCC 741:(2013) 4 SCC (Cri) 828:2013 SCC OnLine SC 444; Rajaram Prasad Yadav vs. State of Bihar and another, AIR 2013 SC 3081; State (NCT of Delhi) v. Shiv Kumar Yadav, (2016) 2 SCC 402; State of Haryana vs. Ram Mehar and others, (2016) 8 SCC 762; Swapan Kumar Chatterjee vs. Central Bureau of Investigation, (2019) 14 SCC 328; Varsha Garg vs. State of Madhya Pradesh and Others, 2022 SCC OnLine SC 986 and also by this Court in Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. No. 274 of 2022 (Ram Nayak Singh vs. State of U.P. & Another).

10. It is well settled by catena of decisions by the Hon'ble Apex Court that the power under Section 311 Cr.P.C. or Section 348 BNSS as the case may be, must be exercised with care, caution and circumspection and only for strong and valid reasons. The recall of a witness already examined should not be a matter of course and the discretion, given to the court in this regard has to be exercised judicially to prevent failure of justice. The object of the provision as a whole is to do justice not only from the point of view of the accused and the prosecution but also from the point of view of an orderly society.

11. The Court is fully conscious of the position that after all the trial is basically for the prisoners/accused and the Court should afford an opportunity to them in the fairest manner possible. At the same time, the Court should bear in mind that fair trial entails the interest of the accused, the victim and the society and, therefore, the grant of fair and proper opportunities to the persons concerned, must be ensured being a constitutional goal, as well as a human right. Recalling of witnesses has to be applied on the basis of judicially established and accepted principles.

12. The above observations cannot be read as laying down any inflexible rule to routinely permit a recall on the ground that earlier correct facts could not be brought on record. While advancement of justice remains the prime object of law, it cannot be understood that recall can be allowed for the asking or reasons related to mere convenience.

13. The jurisdiction under Section 528 BNSS is extraordinary and it can be used only in such cases where there is gross injustice or clear abuse of process of law. It can not be used to help such a person who is not cooperating in fair trial. Such power cannot be invoked to harass the witness who has already been examined or for causing delay in the trial.

14. In the case of Mohd. Khalid vs. State of West Bengal reported in (2002) 7 SCC 334, the Hon'ble Apex Court observed as under:-

"9. We make it abundantly clear that if a witness is present in Court he must be examined on that day. The Court must know that most of the witnesses could attend the Court only at heavy cost to them, after keeping aside their own avocation. Certainly they incur suffering and loss of income. The meagre amount of bhatta (allowance) which a witness may be paid by the Court is generally a poor solace for the financial loss incurred by him. It is a said plight in the Trial Courts that witnesses who are called through summons or other processes stand at a doorstep from morning till evening only to be told at the end of the day that the case is adjourned to another day. This primitive practice must be reformed by every one provided the presiding officer concerned has a commitment towards duty. No sadistic pleasure, in seeing how other persons summoned by him as witnesses are standard on account of the dimension of his judicial powers, can be a persuading factor for granting such adjournments lavishly, that too in a casual manner."

15. The relevant paragraphs of the judgment passed in the case of State (NCT of Delhi) vs. Shiv Kumar Yadav reported in (2016) 2 SCC 402 are extracted hereunder:-

"10. It can hardly be gainsaid that fair trial is a part of guarantee under Article 21 of the Constitution of India. Its content has primarily to be determined from the statutory provisions for conduct of trial, though in some matters where statutory provisions may be silent, the court may evolve a principle of law to meet a situation which has not been provided for. It is also true that principle of fair trial has to be kept in mind for interpreting the statutory provisions.

11. It is further well settled that fairness of trial has to be seen not only from the point of view of the accused, but also from the point of view of the victim and the society. In the name of fair trial, the system cannot be held to ransom. The accused is entitled to be represented by a counsel of his choice, to be provided all relevant documents, to cross-examine the prosecution witnesses and to lead evidence in his defence. The object of provision for recall is to reserve the power with the court to prevent any injustice in the conduct of the trial at any stage. The power available with the court to prevent injustice has to be exercised only if the court, for valid reasons, feels that injustice is caused to a party. Such a finding, with reasons, must be specifically recorded by the court before the power is exercised. It is not possible to lay down precise situations when such power can be exercised. The legislature in its wisdom has left the power undefined. Thus, the scope of the power has to be considered from case to case. The guidance for the purpose is available in several decisions relied upon by the parties. It will be sufficient to refer to only some of the decisions for the principles laid down which are relevant for this case.

14. In Hoffman Andreas case [Hoffman Andreas v. Inspector of Customs, (2000) 10 SCC 430 : 2001 SCC (Cri) 1488], the counsel who was conducting the case was ill and died during the progress of the trial. The new counsel sought recall on the ground that the witnesses could not be cross-examined on account of the illness of the counsel. This prayer was allowed in peculiar circumstances with the observation that normally a closed trial could not be reopened but illness and death of the counsel was in the facts and circumstances considered to be a valid ground for recall of witnesses. It was observed: (SCC p. 432, para 6)

"6. Normally, at this late stage, we would be disinclined to open up a closed trial once again. But we are persuaded to consider it in this case on account of the unfortunate development that took place during trial i.e. the passing away of the defence counsel midway of the trial. The counsel who was engaged for defending the appellant had cross-examined the witnesses but he could not complete the trial because of his death. When the new counsel took up the matter he would certainly be under the disadvantage that he could not ascertain from the erstwhile counsel as to the scheme of the defence strategy which the predeceased advocate had in mind or as to why he had not put further questions on certain aspects. In such circumstances, if the new counsel thought to have the material witnesses further examined the Court could adopt latitude and a liberal view in the interest of justice, particularly when the Court has unbridled powers in the matter as enshrined in Section 311 of the Code. After all the trial is basically for the prisoners and courts should afford the opportunity to them in the fairest manner possible."

15. The above observations cannot be read as laying down any inflexible rule to routinely permit a recall on the ground that cross-examination was not proper for reasons attributable to a counsel. While advancement of justice remains the prime object of law, it cannot be understood that recall can be allowed for the asking or reasons related to mere convenience. It has normally to be presumed that the counsel conducting a case is competent particularly when a counsel is appointed by choice of a litigant. Taken to its logical end, the principle that a retrial must follow on every change of a counsel, can have serious consequences on conduct of trials and the criminal justice system. The witnesses cannot be expected to face the hardship of appearing in court repeatedly, particularly in sensitive cases such as the present one. It can result in undue hardship for the victims, especially so, of heinous crimes, if they are required to repeatedly appear in court to face cross-examination.

16. The interest of justice may suffer if the counsel conducting the trial is physically or mentally unfit on account of any disability. The interest of the society is paramount and instead of trials being conducted again on account of unfitness of the counsel, reform may appear to be necessary so that such a situation does not arise. Perhaps time has come to review the Advocates Act and the relevant rules to examine the continued fitness of an advocate to conduct a criminal trial on account of advanced age or other mental or physical infirmity, to avoid grievance that an Advocate who conducted trial was unfit or incompetent. This is an aspect which needs to be looked into by the authorities concerned including the Law Commission and the Bar Council of India.

27. It is difficult to approve the view taken by the High Court. Undoubtedly, fair trial is the objective and it is the duty of the court to ensure such fairness. Width of power under Section 311 CrPC is beyond any doubt. Not a single specific reason has been assigned by the High Court as to how in the present case recall of as many as 13 witnesses was necessary as directed in the impugned order. No fault has been found with the reasoning of the order of the trial court. The High Court rejected on merits the only two reasons pressed before it that the trial was hurried and the counsel was not competent. In the face of rejecting these grounds, without considering the hardship to the witnesses, undue delay in the trial, and without any other cogent reason, allowing recall merely on the observation that it is only the accused who will suffer by the delay as he was in custody could, in the circumstances, be hardly accepted as valid or serving the ends of justice. It is not only matter of delay but also of harassment for the witnesses to be recalled which could not be justified on the ground that the accused was in custody and that he would only suffer by prolonging of the proceedings. Certainly recall could be permitted if essential for the just decision but not on such consideration as has been adopted in the present case. Mere observation that recall was necessary for ensuring fair trial□ is not enough unless there are tangible reasons to show how the fair trial suffered without recall. Recall is not a matter of course and the discretion given to the court has to be exercised judiciously to prevent failure of justice and not arbitrarily. While the party is even permitted to correct its bona fide error and may be entitled to further opportunity even when such opportunity may be sought without any fault on the part of the opposite party, plea for recall for advancing justice has to be bona fide and has to be balanced carefully with the other relevant considerations including uncalled for hardship to the witnesses and uncalled for delay in the trial. Having regard to these considerations, we do not find any ground to justify the recall of witnesses already examined.

28. It will also be pertinent to mention that power of judicial superintendence under Article 227 of the Constitution and under Section 482 CrPC has to be exercised sparingly when there is patent error or gross injustice in the view taken by a subordinate court [Jasbir Singh v. State of Punjab, (2006) 8 SCC 294 : (2006) 3 SCC (Cri) 470, paras 10 to 14] . A finding to this effect has to be supported by reasons. In the present case, the High Court has allowed the prayer of the accused, even while finding no error in the view taken by the trial court, merely by saying that exercise of power was required for granting fair and proper opportunity to the accused. No reasons have been recorded in support of this observation. On the contrary, the view taken by the trial court rejecting the stand of the accused has been affirmed. Thus, the conclusion appears to be inconsistent with the reasons in the impugned order.

29. We may now sum up our reasons for disapproving the view of the High Court in the present case:

(i) The trial court and the High Court held that the accused had appointed counsel of his choice. He was facing trial in other cases also. The earlier counsel were given due opportunity and had duly conducted cross-examination. They were under no handicap;

(ii) No finding could be recorded that the counsel appointed by the accused were incompetent particularly at the back of such counsel;

(iii) Expeditious trial in a heinous offence as is alleged in the present case is in the interests of justice;

(iv) The trial court as well as the High Court rejected the reasons for recall of the witnesses;

(v) The Court has to keep in mind not only the need for giving fair opportunity to the accused but also the need for ensuring that the victim of the crime is not unduly harassed;

(vi) Mere fact that the accused was in custody and that he will suffer by the delay could be no consideration for allowing recall of witnesses, particularly at the fag end of the trial;

(vii) Mere change of counsel cannot be ground to recall the witnesses;

(viii) There is no basis for holding that any prejudice will be caused to the accused unless the witnesses are recalled;

(ix) The High Court has not rejected the reasons given by the trial court nor given any justification for permitting recall of the witnesses except for making general observations that recall was necessary for ensuring fair trial. This observation is contrary to the reasoning of the High Court in dealing with the grounds for recall i.e. denial of fair opportunity on account of incompetence of earlier counsel or on account of expeditious proceedings;

(x) There is neither any patent error in the approach adopted by the trial court rejecting the prayer for recall nor any clear injustice if such prayer is not granted."

16. In the case of Swapan Kumar Chatterjee (Supra), a note of caution was sounded and the same can be deduced from paragraphs 11 and 12 of the report, which are as under:-

"11. It is well settled that the power conferred under Section 311 should be invoked by the court only to meet the ends of justice. The power is to be exercised only for strong and valid reasons and it should be exercised with great caution and circumspection. The court has vide power under this section to even recall witnesses for re-examination or further examination, necessary in the interest of justice, but the same has to be exercised after taking into consideration the facts and circumstances of each case. The power under this provision shall not be exercised if the court is of the view that the application has been filed as an abuse of the process of law.

12. Where the prosecution evidence has been closed long back and the reasons for non-examination of the witness earlier are not satisfactory, the summoning of the witness at belated stage would cause great prejudice to the accused and should not be allowed. Similarly, the court should not encourage the filing of successive applications for recall of a witness under this provision."

17. The power to summon material witnesses under Section 348 BNSS. which falls under Chapter XXVI containing the general provisions as to inquiries and trials has been held to confer a very wide power on the courts for summoning witnesses and accordingly the discretion conferred is to be exercised judiciously as wider the power the greater is the necessity for the application of judicial mind.

18. The power conferred has been held to be discretionary and is to enable the court to determine the truth after discovering all relevant facts and obtaining proper proof thereof to arrive at a just decision in the case. The power conferred under Section 348 BNSS is to be invoked by the court to meet the ends of justice, for strong and valid reasons and it is to be exercised with great caution and circumspection. The determinative factor in this regard would be whether the summoning or recalling of the witness is in fact, essential to the just decision of the case keeping in view that fair trial - which entails the interests of the accused, the victim and of the society - is the main object of the criminal procedure and the court is to ensure that such fairness is not hampered or threatened in any manner.

19. In State (NCT of Delhi) vs. Shiv Kumar Yadav: (2016) 2 SCC 402, it has been held that: -

"Certainly, recall could be permitted if essential for the just decision, but not on such consideration as has been adopted in the present case. Mere observation that recall was necessary "for ensuring fair trial" is not enough unless there are tangible reasons to show how the fair trial suffered without recall. Recall is not a matter of course and the discretion given to the court has to be exercised judiciously to prevent failure of justice and not arbitrarily. While the party is even permitted to correct its bona fide error and may be entitled to further opportunity even when such opportunity may be sought without any fault on the part of the opposite party, plea for recall for advancing justice has to be bona fide and has to be balanced carefully with the other relevant considerations including un-called for hardship to the witnesses and un-called for delay in the trial. Having regard to these considerations, there is no ground to justify the recall of witnesses already examined."

20. In Ratanlal vs. Prahlad Jat, (2017) 9 SCC 340, it was held that: -

"17. In order to enable the court to find out the truth and render a just decision, the salutary provisions of Section 311 are enacted whereunder any court by exercising its discretionary authority at any stage of inquiry, trial or other proceeding can summon any person as witness or examine any person in attendance though not summoned as a witness or recall or re-examine any person already examined who are expected to be able to throw light upon the matter in dispute. The object of the provision as a whole is to do justice not only from the point of view of the accused and the prosecution but also from the point of view of an orderly society. This power is to be exercised only for strong and valid reasons and it should be exercised with caution and circumspection. Recall is not a matter of course and the discretion given to the court has to be exercised judiciously to prevent failure of justice. Therefore, the reasons for exercising this power should be spelt out in the order."

21. In the case of Mishrilal and others vs.State of M. P. and others (2005) 10 SCC 701 while dealing with the case having more or less similar facts the Hon'ble Apex Court observed as under:-

"In our opinion, the procedure adopted by the Sessions Judge was not strictly in accordance with law. Once the witness was examined in-chief and cross- examined fully, such witness should not have been recalled and re-examined to deny the evidence he had already given before the court, even though that witness had given an inconsistent statement before any other court or forum subsequently. A witness could be confronted only with a previous statement made by him. At the time of examination of PW 2 Mokam Singh on 6.2.1991, there was no such previous statement and the defence counsel did not confront him with any statement alleged to have been made previously. This witness must have given some other version before the Juvenile Court for extraneous reasons and he should not have been given a further opportunity at a later stage to completely efface the evidence already given by him under oath. The courts have to follow the procedures strictly and cannot allow a witness to escape the legal action for giving false evidence before the court on mere explanation that he had given it under the pressure of the police or some other reason. Whenever the witness speaks falsehood in the court, and it is proved satisfactorily, the court should take a serious action against such witnesses."

22. In the case of Yakub Ismailbhai Patel vs.State of Gujarat-AIR 2004 SC 4209, in para 40 and 41 the Hon'ble Supreme Court observed as under :-

"40. Significantly this witness, later on filed an affidavit wherein he had sworn to the fact that whatever he had deposed before Court as PW-1 was not true and it was so done at the instance of Police.

41. The averments in the affidavits are rightly rejected by the High Court and also the Sessions Court. Once the witness is examined as a prosecution witness, he cannot be allowed to perjure himself by resiling from testimony given in Court on oath. It is pertinent to note that during the intervening period between giving of evidence as PW-1 and filing of affidavit in Court later he was in jail in a narcotic case and that the accused persons were also fellow inmates there"

23. In the case of Nisar Khan alias Guddu and others vs. State of Uttaranchal (2006) 9 SCC 386 where an application was filed on behalf of the accused under Section 311 of the Cr.P.C. and witness was recalled. With regard to this fact the Honble Apex Court observed as under:

"We are of the view that no reasonable person properly instructed in law would allow an application filed by the accused to recall the eyewitnesses after a lapse of more than one year that too after the witnesses were examined, cross-examined and discharged."

24. It is important to state here that POCSO Act is a special legislation, which was enacted to protect children from sexual offences and for safeguarding interests and ensuring the well-being of the child at every stage of trial of offences under the Act. Section 33 of the POCSO Act provides for the procedure and powers of the Special Court and reads as under:

"33. Procedure and powers of Special Court. - (1) A Special Court may take cognizance of any offence, without the Accused being committed to it for trial, upon receiving a complaint of facts which constitute such offence, or upon a police report of such facts.

(2) The Special Public Prosecutor, or as the case may be, the counsel appearing for the Accused shall, while recording the examination-in-chief, cross-examination or re-examination of the child, communicate the questions to be put to the child to the Special Court which shall in turn put those questions to the child.

(3) The Special Court may, if it considers necessary, permit frequent breaks for the child during the trial.

(4) The Special Court shall create a child-friendly atmosphere by allowing a family member, a guardian, a friend or a relative, in whom the child has trust or confidence, to be present in the court.

(5) The Special Court shall ensure that the child is not called repeatedly to testify in the court.

(6) The Special Court shall not permit aggressive questioning or character assassination of the child and ensure that dignity of the child is maintained at all times during the trial.

(7) The Special Court shall ensure that the identity of the child is not disclosed at any time during the course of investigation or trial..."

25. A bare perusal of Section 33(5) of the Act indicates that a duty is cast upon the Special Court to ensure that a child is not repeatedly called to give his/her testimony before the court. The legislative intent behind this provision is clear. It is to ensure that the child who has suffered a traumatic experience of sexual assault is not called time and again to testify about the same incident.

26. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in a recent judgment in the case of Madhab Chandra Pradhan and Others vs. State of Odisha, reported in MANU/SC/1494/2024 has held that a child witness, who has already been examined and cross-examined at length, cannot be recalled to testify again in the Court. Such an application cannot be allowed mechanically, especially in trial of offences under the POCSO Act. The facts of the present case are similar to the facts of the case of Madhab Chandra Pradhan (supra) case. Therefore, the application moved under Section 348 BNSS can not be allowed in view of the aforesaid judgment.

27. From perusal of the above case laws, it is apparent that a witnesses who has already been examined and cross-examined, cannot be recalled and re-examined to deny the evidence he has already given before the trial court and no opportunity at a later stage can be given to him to completely efface the evidence already given by him under oath.

28. Upon consideration of the aforesaid facts and also the settled law on the issue this Court does not find any illegality in the order impugned dated 16.10.2025. It is for the reason that in view of this Court the application under Section 348 BNSS was preferred by the applicants either to delay the trial or to win-over the victim, who has already been examined and cross-examined at length. The application under Section 348 BNSS was not a bonafide application and the same was filed after six years from the date of cross-examination of the victim. Therefore, the recall application was rightly rejected by the learned Trial Court vide order dated 16.10.2025. The learned Trial Court did not commit any illegality or irregularity in rejecting the application of the applicant.

29. The application under Section 528 BNSS lacks merit and is accordingly rejected.

30. No order as to cost.

Opportunity of hearing;section 223 first proviso of BNSS.

Counsel for Applicant(s) : Hukum Singh, Puneet Bhadauria Counsel for Opposite Party(s) : G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Praveen Kumar Giri, J.)

1. Heard Sri Puneet Bhadauria along with Hukum Singh, learned counsel for the applicants, Sri Ajay Dubey, learned counsel for opposite party No.2 and Sri Pankaj Kumar Tripathi, learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. Earlier, in the present application, this Court has passed an order dated 05.01.2026, paragraph Nos. 1 to 11 of the same are delineated below for ready reference:

"1. Learned counsel for the applicants submits that he has filed the instant application under Section 528 BNSS with the relief which has been mentioned in the prayer clause of the application.

2. The relief which has been mentioned in the application is delineated below:-

"It is, therefore, most respectfully prayed that this Hon'ble Court may graciously be pleased to set aside the Summoning order dated 20.08.2025 whereby, the Applicant Nos. 1, 2, 5, 6 and 7 have summoned under Section 190, 191(2), 115(2), 352, 351(2), 121(1) and 132 B.N.S. and 3(1) (Da), 3(1)(dha) and 3(2)(Va) of S.C/ST, Act and the Applicant Nos. 3 and 4 have been summoned under Sections 190, 191(2), 115(2), 352, 351(2), 121(1) and 132 and 74 of B.N.S. and 3(1) (Da), 3(1)(dha) and 3(2)(Va) of S.C/ST, Act passed by Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No. 2/ Special Judge, SC/ST, Act, Agra as well as entire proceeding of Complaint Case No. 133/2024 (Smt. Suman Vs. Mahendra Singh and others) pending in the court of Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No. 2/ Special Judge, SC/ST, Act, Agra and or pass such other or further order which may this Hon'ble may deem fit and proper in the facts and circumstances of the case, else the applicants shall suffer irreparable loss and injury. □

3. Learned counsel for the applicants, Shri Puneet Bhadauria, submits that for the same cause of action a First Information Report (F.I.R.) was lodged on 06.07.2024 against the applicants as Case Crime No. 114 of 2024 (State vs. Durgesh and others) under Sections 223, 191(2), 115(2), 352, 351(2) BNS, and investigation is still going on in the matter and no police report has been submitted yet before the Court of Magistrate.

4. Learned counsel for the applicants further submits that for the same cause of action, another person of the same family filed Complaint Case No. 133 of 2024 (Smt. Suman vs. Mahendra Singh and others) on 17.08.2024.

5. Learned counsel for the applicants also submits that the learned Court of Special Judge, SC/ST Act, Agra recorded the statement of complainant Smt. Suman on 18.09.2024 under Section 223 BNSS and thereafter on 23.11.2024, the learned Special Judge, SC/ST Act, Agra recorded the statement of complainant witness No. 1 Shivendra Singh and on 08.01.2025 complainant witness No.2 Suman under Section 225 BNSS.

6. Learned counsel for the applicants relying upon the entire order-sheet of Complaint Case No. 133 of 2024 contends that the complaint was filed on 17.08.2024 by Smt. Suman and her statement was recorded on 18.09.2024 and, therefore, the statement of complainant witness No. 1, Shivendra Singh was recorded on 23.11.2024 and on 08.01.2025, the statement of complainant witness No. 2, namely Suman, was recorded and thereafter on 07.08.2025, the matter was fixed for summoning of the accused-applicants on 20.08.2025 but in the paragraph No.3 of the summoning order, the Special Judge recorded statements of complainant witness No.1 Shivendra Singh and complainant witness No.2 Dharmendra Singh.

7. Learned counsel for the applicants further submits that on 20.08.2025, the learned Special Judge summoned the accused-applicants, Mahendra Singh, Durgesh Singh, Suraj, Malikhan Singh and Sonu under Sections 190, 191(2), 115(2), 352, 351(2), 121(1), 132 BNS and 3(1)(da), 3(1)(dha), 3(2)(va) of the SC/ST Act and accused-applicants, Bhola and Charan Singh under Sections 190, 191(2), 115(2), 352, 351(2), 121(1), 132, 74 BNS and 3(1)(da), 3(1)(dha), 3(2)(va) of the SC/ST Act.

8. Learned counsel for the applicants contends that Section 223, first proviso of BNSS categorically mentions that no Court shall take cognizance without providing opportunity of hearing to the proposed accused persons and in the present case, the learned Special Judge has taken cognizance as well as summoned the accused applicants without providing any opportunity of hearing to the accused/applicants against the provisions of law. The provisions of Section 223 BNSS are delineated below:

“223. Examination of Complainant

(1) A Magistrate having jurisdiction while taking cognizance of an offence on complaint shall examine upon oath the complainant and the witnesses present, if any, and the substance of such examination shall be reduced to writing and shall be signed by the complainant and the witnesses, and also by the Magistrate:

Provided that no cognizance of an offence under this section shall be taken by the Magistrate without giving the accused an opportunity of being heard:

Provided further that, when the complaint is made in writing, the Magistrate need not examine the complainant and the witnesses□

(a) if a public servant acting or purporting to act in the discharge of his official duties or a Court has made the complaint; or

(b) if the Magistrate makes over the case for inquiry or trial to another Magistrate under section 212:

(2) A Magistrate shall not take cognizance on a complaint against a public servant for any offence alleged to have been committed in course of the discharge of his official functions or duties unless

(a) such public servant is given an opportunity to make assertions as to the situation that led to the incident so alleged; and

(b) a report containing facts and circumstances of the incident from the officer superior to such public servant is received.

9. Learned counsel for the applicants further submits that this Court, in paragraph No. 16 of the judgment of Prempal and 3 others vs. State of U.P. and Another; 2025:AHC:212689, has categorically held that before taking cognizance and summoning the accused persons under the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita in a complaint case, the accused must be provided opportunity of hearing as per the law provided under Section 223(1), first proviso of BNSS. The paragraph No.16 is quoted below:

16. With effect from July 1, 2024, the Judicial Magistrate is required to afford the accused an opportunity of hearing prior to the issuance of summons in a complaint case, in compliance with the First Proviso to Section 223(1) of the BNSS.

10. Learned counsel for the applicants also submits that taking cognizance and summoning the accused persons without providing opportunity of hearing violates the fundamental rights of the accused/applicants provided under Article 21 of the Constitution of India, which provides that no person shall be deprived of his life or personal liberty except according to procedure established by law.

11. Learned counsel for the applicants further states that the learned Special Judge has not only abused the process of BNSS but has also violated Article 21 of the Constitution of India by not following the due procedure before summoning the accused-applicants.

3. Learned counsel for opposite party No.2, Sri Ajay Dubey, fairly submits that the provision of Section 223 first proviso of BNSS has been violated, as opportunity of hearing has not been provided to the accused. However, he further submits that the summoning order dated 20.08.2025 may be set aside at this stage and the matter may be remitted to the concerned Court of S.C./S.T. Act, Agra for passing a fresh order after providing an opportunity of hearing to the proposed accused persons.

4. Learned A.G.A., Sri Pankaj Kumar Tripathi, has also adopted the arguments advanced by learned counsel for opposite party No.2.

5. Learned Special Judge, S.C./S.T. Act, Agra has taken cognizance as well as summoned the accused-applicants without providing opportunity of hearing as provided under Section 223 First Proviso of the BNSS as held by a Division Bench of this Court in paragraph 16(iii) of the judgment of Deepu and Ors. v State of U.P. and Ors., (2024) 8 ILRA 903 (Crl. Misc. Writ Petition No.12287 of 2024) that the cognizance on the pending investigation on or after 01.07.2024 would be taken as per the BNSS. Although the BNSS has come into force on 1 July 2024 and if the alleged offence took place prior to the date of its enforcement, it is a settled principle of law that the procedure, that is more beneficial to the accused must be adopted. In case of Deepu (Supra), the Division bench of this Court in paragraph no.16 (iii) held that on or after 01.07.2024, the procedure mentioned under the Bhartiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 shall be applicable on offences committed under the Indian Penal Code or other Special Act. The paragraph No. 16 is delineated below:

“16. On the basis of above analysis, this Court is also summarising the law regarding effect of repealing the IPC and Cr.P.C. by BNS and BNSS respectively and same is being mentioned as below:

(i) If an FIR is registered on or after 1.7.2024 for the offence committed prior to 1.7.2024, then FIR would be registered under the provisions of IPC but the investigation will continue as per BNSS.

(ii) In the pending investigation on 01.07.2024 (on the date of commencement of New Criminal Laws), investigation will continue as per the Cr.P.C. till the cognizance is taken on the police report and if any direction is made for further investigation by the competent Court then same will continue as per the Cr.P.C.;

(iii) The cognizance on the pending investigation on or after 01.07.2024 would be taken as per the BNSS and all the subsequent proceeding including enquiry, trial or appeal would be conducted as per the procedure of BNSS.

(iv) Section 531(2)(a) of BNSS saved only pending investigation, trial, appeal, application and enquiry, therefore, if any trial, appeal, revision or application is commenced after 01.07.2024, the same will be proceeded as per the procedure of BNSS

(v) The pending trial on 01.07.2024, if concluded on or after 01.07.2024 then appeal or revision against the judgement passed in such a trial will be as per the BNSS. However, if any application is filed in appeal, which was pending on 01.07.2024 then the procedure of Cr.P.C. will apply.

(vi) If the criminal proceeding or chargesheet is challenged before the High Court on or after 01.07.2024, where the investigation was conducted as per Cr.P.C. then same will be filed u/s 528 of BNSS not u/s 482 Cr.P.C.

7. Accordingly, the application is disposed of with the aforesaid directions.

9. This Court makes it clear that if any remark is made against the presiding officer, the same shall not affect the service as well as career of the concerned presiding officer in future.

THE HON'BLE SANDEEP JAIN, J.

M/s Sai Dham Apartments & Anr. ...Appellants
Versus
Ravi Kumar Mehrotra & Ors. ...Respondents

Matter pertains to whether the trial court was justified in refusing to grant temporary injunction to the plaintiffs in a suit for permanent injunction under O. 39 R. 1 CPC based on an unstamped and unregistered Memorandum of Understanding (MOU), and whether such order suffered from perversity, arbitrariness, or legal infirmity warranting interference in appellate jurisdiction under O. 43 R. 1(r) CPC.

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 - O. 7 R. 14, O. 13 R. 1, O. 39 R. 1 and 2, O. 43 R. 1(r), s.151 - Specific Relief Act, 1963 - s. 41 (h) - Arbitration and Conciliation Act 1996 - ss. 8, 11 - Registration Act, 1908 - s. 17 - Enforceability of MOU - Ad-interim Injunction - The dispute emanates from an alleged Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) executed between the plaintiffs - Appellants and the defendant landowners in respect of certain immovable property, whereby the plaintiffs claimed to have been authorised to undertake construction of a multi-storeyed complex with a stipulated sharing arrangement of the saleable area - The plaintiffs asserted that pursuant to the MOU they had invested substantial sums towards obtaining statutory permissions, marketing, and project development, and that the landowners, in breach of the agreed terms, entered into a separate builder agreement with a third party, thereby threatening to defeat the plaintiffs' contractual and commercial interests - The defendants, however, denied the execution and enforceability of MOU, contending that it was unstamped and unregistered, conferred no right, title, or interest in the property, and at best created a limited license without transfer of possession - The plaintiffs instituted a suit before the trial court seeking permanent injunction simpliciter to restrain interference with the alleged rights under the MOU, without seeking specific performance or declaration, and moved an application for temporary injunction, which was rejected by the trial court, giving rise to the instant first appeal before the High Court. (E-11)

Held: It is apparent that, the trial court has not erred in concluding that the alleged MOU has not been executed by all the landowners, as such, no relief can be claimed on its basis against those landowners who have not executed it - The trial court has not erred in concluding that since the MOU was unstamped and unregistered, it was inadmissible in evidence and further, it does not confer any right, title and interest in the disputed land in the plaintiffs, on the basis of which no enforceable legal right accrues to them and relief of injunction cannot be granted to them against the true owners - The trial court has rightly concluded that the plaintiffs have not claimed the specific performance of the alleged MOU, whereas in reality, they are enforcing it in the garb of the suit for the relief of permanent injunction - The question of return of money by landowners is a disputed question of fact which can only be decided after evidence but prima-facie the trial court was of the opinion, that keeping in view the admission of the plaintiffs in their rejoinder affidavit, the land owners have returned substantial money to the plaintiffs - The trial court recorded a perverse prima facie finding of lack of jurisdiction in view of arbitration clause in the alleged MOU, however, it did not reject the plaint, and thus the said finding does not materially affect the outcome - The record further discloses that five issues were framed on 08.01.2021 based on the pleadings, none pertaining to non-maintainability of the suit on the ground of being barred by provisions of Arbitration and Conciliation Act 1996, thereby indicating that the observation regarding the statutory bar was merely incidental and neither pleaded nor pressed by the defendant landowners - Accordingly, no perversity in impugned order, thus, dismissed with costs. 1. The instant first appeal has been filed by the plaintiff under Order 43 Rule 1(r) of the CPC against the impugned order dated 13.3.2020 passed by the Court of Civil Judge(Senior Division), Allahabad in O.S. No. 342 of 2019 Messers Sai Dham Apartments and another Vs. Ravi Kumar Mehrotra and others, whereby plaintiffs interim injunction application no. 6-C under Order 39 Rule 1 and 2 CPC has been rejected.

Plaint Case

2. Factual matrix is that the plaintiff appellant filed O.S. No. 342 of 2019 in the lower court with the averments that the plaintiff no.1 Messers Sai Dham Apartments is a registered partnership firm and Rajesh Kumar Gupta is its Chief Executive Officer. Plaintiff no. 2 Messers Paras Presidency is also a registered partnership firm of which Sanjiv Jain is a partner.

3. It was further averred that freehold plot numbers YY/1,YY/2,YY/3 and YY/4, the details of which were mentioned in the plaint, the combined area of which was described as letters ABCD in the plaint map, hereinafter called the disputed land, was owned by Puran Chand Mehrotra, defendant no.1 Ravi Kumar Mehrotra and defendant no.2 Smt. Rashmi Mehrotra along with the house existing thereon. It was further averred that the above owners of the land, used to run Volkswagen car showroom on it and a workshop was also situated on this land. Puran Chand Mehrotra, was the father of Ravi Kumar Mehrotra and father-in-law of Smt. Rashmi Mehrotra, who died on 15.3.2017. It was averred that at present the defendant no.1 & 2 are the owners of the disputed property.

4. It was further averred by the plaintiffs that the above land owners were interested to raise a multi-storey residential complex over their aforesaid plot measuring 3251.29 m, the details of which have been mentioned at the foot of the plaint and which was earmarked by letters ABCD in the plaint map. It was further averred that the plaintiff no.1 firm is a builder and the above land owners negotiated with it through its Chief Executive Officer/Partner Rajesh Kumar Gupta to raise multi storeyed residential complex over the said land, who gave a proposal on behalf of plaintiff no.1, to construct the multi-storeyed residential complex on the said land of the aforesaid owners investing the money of the plaintiff no.1. It was further averred by the plaintiffs that the land owners agreed and accepted the proposal of the plaintiff no.1.

5. It was further averred that the above land owners namely late Puran Chand Mehrotra, Ravi Kumar Mehrotra and Smt. Rashmi Mehrotra entered into a memorandum of understanding (MOU) on 30.3.2014 with plaintiff No.2, which is a firm promoted by plaintiff no.1 , to raise multi storeyed residential complex over the disputed land and on behalf of all the land owners, the MOU was signed by Ravi Kumar Mehrotra. The MOU included the heirs, executors and assignees of the land owners and the plaintiffs.

6. It was further averred that before executing the said MOU, the land owners had received ₹ 2 crores from the plaintiffs, the details of which were provided in the plaint. The proposed residential flats/houses were to be constructed by the plaintiffs as per plan sanctioned by Allahabad Development Authority(ADA), Allahabad now Prayagraj Development Authority(PDA). It was further averred that the plaintiff no.2 paid ₹ 68,58,370/-to the ADA for sanction and approval of the map which was also acknowledged by the ADA. It was further averred that till the date of filing of the suit, the plaintiffs have invested approximately ₹ 3.53 crores in furtherance of constructing multi storeyed complex on the disputed land, the payment details of which were mentioned in the plaint. It was further averred that the map was to be proved and sanctioned in the name of the above land owners, hence the demand notice dated 15.10.2015 by ADA, was sent to land owners which was given to plaintiff no.1, upon which the plaintiff no.2 paid the amount to ADA from its bank account. It was further averred that the plaintiff no.2 paid ₹ 3,77,869/- to the Nagar Nigam for NOC on 7.4.2017 and Rs. 1,62,569/- to Jalkal Vibhag for NOC on 31.10.2015. The plaintiffs obtained NOC dated 18.12.2015 from S.P. traffic, fire department and electricity department, in part performance of the above mentioned MOU.

7. It was further averred that the land owners, after the aforesaid payment to the ADA for approval of the map, also gave the physical possession to the plaintiffs, which was acknowledged by defendant no.1 by giving an affidavit, which was in part performance of the said MOU. It was further averred that for raising multi storeyed residential complex on the disputed land, the plaintiffs established the office on the red portion which was specified by letter EFGH in the plaint map, which was earlier used as workshop of Volkswagen car agency.

8. It was further averred that the plaintiffs gave the work order to Mahtab Ahmad, contractor for demolition on the disputed land, which was completed in the month of March 2019 and the disputed land was being used for promotional activities by the plaintiffs. It was further averred that for project publicity, the plaintiffs got printed the brochure and have also given advertisement in newspapers and have also booked the flats and have received advance payment from the prospective purchasers of the flats on 31.10.2015 and 23.11.2015.

9. It was further averred that the defendant no. 3 have got no concern with the disputed land, who filed his own map for revision of the original map already sanctioned on 5.10.2015, due to which the map submitted by the plaintiffs could not be finally sanctioned and approved. The plaintiffs filed objection dated 28.6.2019 against the revision of the map. It was averred that the construction of proposed multi storeyed residential complex on the disputed land could not be started because the defendant no.3 submitted his own map for revision and objection of the plaintiffs was pending for disposal. It was averred that defendant no.3 was a powerful and influential person, who was threatening to interfere in the promotional activities of the plaintiffs on the disputed land, who has also threatened to dismantle the office of the plaintiffs existing on the place shown by letter EFGH and IJAB in the plaint map, who has threatened to remove the flex board signage of the plaintiffs existing on the place shown by the letters UV, who was also threatening to get printed his own brochure for the publicity, hence the plaintiffs were compelled to file the suit. The plaintiffs prayed for the following reliefs :-

By means of permanent injunction the defendant no.3, his agents, servants and associates be restrained from doing any sort of promotional activities on the suit land, be restrained from interfering in promotional activities of the plaintiffs over the suit land, be restrained from demolishing the office of the plaintiffs and defendant no.1 & 2, be restrained from doing any sort of negotiation with the defendant no.3, regarding raising of multi storeyed residential complex over the suit land, and be restrained from entering into an MOU or builder agreement or any sort of agreement with any other third party with regard to construction of residential complex on the suit land.

Written Statement of Defendants

10. The defendants in their Written Statement have admitted that they are the owner of the disputed land on which a showroom and service centre of Volkswagen was situated, which was not operational. It was averred that after the death of Puran Chand Mehrotra, defendant no.1 and 2 along with daughter Rashmi Kapoor are his heirs.

11. It was averred that the defendants were interested in getting the multi storeyed residential complex constructed on the disputed land. It was further averred that the alleged MOU dated 30.3.2014 was a forged and fabricated document, on the basis of which the instant suit was not legally maintainable. It was averred that the alleged map was sanctioned in the name of defendants regarding which no advantage could be taken by the plaintiffs. It was further averred that the defendants have returned an amount of Rs.1.31 crores to the plaintiffs. It was further averred that the defendants have returned the amount deposited by the plaintiffs with the ADA. The defendants accepted that a payment of Rs.3,77,869/- was made by plaintiff no. 2 to Nagar Nigam and Rs.1,62,569/- to Jalkal Vibhag but the above amounts were refunded to the plaintiffs, by them, as per the agreed terms and conditions. The possession of the plaintiffs on the disputed land was denied by the defendants. It was averred that the defendants were in possession of the disputed property. It was further averred that no construction whatsoever is existing on the disputed land. It was averred that the plaintiffs have malafidely launched a fraudulent scheme for extorting money in the garb of selling alleged flats constructed on the disputed land, for which the defendants are not bound.

12. The defendants averred that the plaintiffs in order to usurp the disputed land entered into a builder agreement but the MOU dated 30.3.2014 was not prepared accordingly, hence the defendants have returned the advance money given by the plaintiffs. It was averred that defendant no.1 has returned an amount of Rs. one crore, as well as, the amount deposited by the plaintiffs with PDA, and inspite of this, for blackmailing and harassing the defendants, the plaintiffs have filed the suit on the basis of an alleged MOU, which was not legally maintainable. The plaintiffs are not in possession of the disputed property, as such, the suit was barred under Section 34, 38 and 41 of the Specific Relief Act. The disputed property was valued at about ₹ 20 crores as such, the plaintiffs have insufficiently valued the suit and consequently, inadequate amount of court fees has been paid. With these submissions, it was prayed that the suit filed by the plaintiffs was liable to be dismissed.

Ad-interim injunction application

13. During the pendency of the suit the plaintiffs filed an ad interim injunction application no. 6-C under Order 39 Rule 1 read with Section 151 CPC for restraining the defendant no.3 and his agents, servants and associates from doing any sort of promotional activities on the suit land, for restraining him from interfering in promotional activities of the plaintiffs over the suit land and also for restraining him from demolishing the office of the plaintiffs and for restraining the defendant no.1 and 2 from doing any sort of negotiation with the defendant no. 3 regarding raising of multi storeyed residential complex on the disputed land and from also restraining them from entering into an MOU or builder agreement or any sort of agreement with any other third party with regard to construction of residential complex on the disputed land, till the pendency of the suit, which was supported by affidavit 7-C of Rajesh Kumar Gupta, which reiterated all the grounds taken earlier in the plaint.

14. The defendants opposed the ad-interim injunction application of the plaintiffs by filing objection (paper no.14-C) supported by affidavit (paper no.15-C) of defendant no.1 Ravi Kumar Mehrotra, in which all the averments of the written statement were reiterated. It was further averred that after cancellation of the deal with the plaintiffs, for raising constructions on the disputed land, as per the sanctioned building plan, NOC was obtained from the concerned departments, in the name of defendants, not plaintiffs. It was further averred that the defendants have never acknowledged that the possession of the disputed land has been handed to the plaintiffs. It was further averred that no alleged construction was existing on the disputed land, the disputed land was lying vacant. It was further averred that neither the prima-facie case nor balance of convenience was in favour of the plaintiffs and if, plaintiffs ad-interim injunction application was not rejected, the defendants shall suffer irreparable loss.

15. The plaintiffs in the rejoinder affidavit have accepted that in the month of March 2019, with the consent of the land owners, through contractor Mehtab Ahmed, the Volkswagen showroom, service centre and workshop standing on the disputed land have been demolished. It has also been accepted by the plaintiffs that Rashmi Kapoor is the daughter of late Puran Chand Mehrotra, but it was averred that till Puran Chand Mehrotra was alive, there was no share of Rashmi Kapoor in the disputed land. It was averred that the plaintiffs have in all spent an amount of ₹ 3.53 crores on the disputed land, which has not been returned by the landowners. It was further averred that a personal loan of Rs. 1,97,30,000/- for purchasing the land was taken by defendant no.1 and 2 and their son Rohan from Rajesh Kumar Gupta and an amount of ₹ 1.46 crores has been returned by the above defendants, towards repayment of that loan. It was further averred that defendant no. 1 and 2 have received an amount of Rs. 2.60 crores from defendant no.3 on 12.6.2019, who were trying to make the MOU infructuous, and if they succeed in doing so, then the purpose of filing the instant suit shall be frustrated.

Reasoning of Trial Court

16. The trial court by impugned order has concluded that the alleged MOU was executed between the plaintiffs, defendant no.1,2 and Puran Chand Mehrotra but it has only been signed on behalf of plaintiff by Rajesh Kumar Gupta and defendant no.1 Ravi Kumar Mehrotra. It was further concluded that at the time of the alleged execution of MOU, Puran Chand Mehrotra was alive but inspite of being the owner, he has not signed the MOU. Besides this, defendant no.2 Rashmi Mehrotra has also not signed it. It was further concluded that the plaintiffs have sought injunction on the basis of alleged MOU against all the owners of the disputed land, but the alleged MOU does not bear the signature of all the land owners, as such, it cannot be enforced against those land owner, who have not signed it. It was further concluded that since the MOU was not signed by all the land owners, hence there was no consent on the part of all the land owners regarding the alleged MOU, as such, the MOU cannot be enforced against all the owners.

17. The trial court further concluded that even if, it is assumed that an MOU was indeed executed between the parties on 30.3.2014, even then the MOU contains an arbitration clause in para no.30, according to which, in case of dispute between the parties, the dispute will be resolved by an arbitrator, who will be appointed with consent of the parties, and the provisions of Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 will be applicable on such proceedings. The trial court concluded that prima-facie in view of the above arbitration agreement, the trial court had no jurisdiction to decide the dispute.

18. The trial court further concluded that as per para-33 of the MOU, it was the bounden duty of the builder to get the MOU registered but it has not been registered, which amounts to violation of the terms and conditions of the MOU. It was further concluded that the alleged MOU was not duly stamped as per the provisions of the Stamp Act and in view of this, prima-facie there was no force in MOU.

19. The trial court further concluded that the plaintiffs have accepted that defendant no. 1 and 2 are the real owners of the disputed land, against whom, injunction cannot be granted. The trial court further concluded that as per para 8 of the MOU, the alleged possession of the plaintiffs was of a licensee only for construction purposes, which created no right or interest in the favour of builder, which merely granted permission to the plaintiffs for undertaking construction in the disputed land, which cannot be treated as the settled possession of the plaintiffs and due to this reason, the plaintiffs were also prima-facie not in possession of the disputed land.

20. The trial court further concluded that the plaintiffs have sought the relief of restraining defendant no.1 and 2 from entering into any agreement with third-party which in reality amounts to enforcement of alleged MOU but they have not sought any relief for its specific performance, whereas, prima-facie the plaintiffs are neither the owner nor in possession of the disputed land and the alleged MOU does not create any binding and legally enforceable agreement between the parties.

21. It was further concluded by the trial court that the plaintiffs in the rejoinder affidavit have accepted that they have received back the money from the defendants but it was submitted by the plaintiffs that it related to return of the personal loan taken from Rajesh Kumar Gupta, by defendant no.1, for purchasing the land. On the basis of the above admission of the plaintiffs, the trial court concluded that prima-facie the money has been returned by the defendants to the plaintiffs. The trial court concluded that whether the returned money was personal loan, it will be decided after evidence of the parties. The trial court also concluded that since the defendants were not paid any amount from the bank account of the plaintiff firms, as such there was no requirement for the defendants to return the amount to the plaintiff firms bank account.

22. In view of the above reasons assigned by the trial court, the plaintiffs ad interim injunction application no.6-C was dismissed, aggrieved against which, the plaintiffs have filed the instant appeal under Order 43 Rule 1(r) CPC.

Submissions of learned counsel for plaintiff-appellant

23. Learned senior counsel Shri Manish Goyal for the plaintiff-appellants submitted that an MOU was executed between the parties, according to which residential flats for housing purposes was to be constructed by the plaintiffs on the disputed land of the defendant no.1 and 2 and as per the terms and conditions of the MOU, the plaintiffs had also paid an amount of about Rs.2 crores to the defendant no.1 and 2 and in part performance of the MOU, the plaintiffs are also in possession of the disputed land but still, the trial court has held otherwise. It was further submitted that the MOU does not create any right in the disputed land because the ownership of the disputed land remains with the defendants, hence the MOU was not required to be registered in accordance with the provisions of the Registration Act, but the trial court has held otherwise. It was further submitted that since the parties had acted in terms of the MOU, there was no reason to doubt its execution and existence, but the trial court has held otherwise. It was further submitted that if the defendants managed to create third-party rights in the disputed land and enter into any builder agreement with third-party, to raise construction on the disputed land, then it will seriously prejudice the plaintiffs because they have invested a lot of money on the marketing of the proposed flats which are to be constructed on the disputed land, which has not been refunded by the land owners. It was further submitted that the trial court has misappreciated the above facts and has wrongly rejected the plaintiffs ad interim injunction application. In support of his submissions learned Counsel has relied upon the following case law :-

Submissions of learned counsel for defendant respondents

24. Per contra, learned counsel for the defendant-respondents submitted that the impugned order of the trial court is perfectly legal and justified. It was submitted that the alleged MOU was not signed by all the owners of the disputed property, which was also not produced in original before the trial court, which was the basis of the suit filed by the plaintiffs, which allegedly created rights in favour of the plaintiffs but it was not duly stamped and registered in accordance with the provisions of the Stamp Act and Registration Act, as such, the trial court has not erred in not relying upon it for granting any relief to the plaintiffs. It was further submitted that the defendant no.1 and 2 are the real owners of the disputed land against whom the relief of injunction cannot be granted. It was further submitted that the plaintiffs have neither sought any relief for the specific performance of the MOU nor sought any declaration regarding its legal enforceability on the land owners and have only claimed the relief of simplicitor permanent injunction, as such, the suit was not legally maintainable in the absence of any relief of specific performance and declaration. It was further submitted that the plaintiffs are also not in possession of the disputed land as such, neither any prima-facie case nor any balance of convenience lies in their favour hence, the trial court has not erred in rejecting the plaintiffs ad interim injunction application, which requires no interference from this Court in exercise of its appellate jurisdiction. Learned counsel in support of his submission has relied upon the following case law :-

- (1) Anathula Sudhakar vs. P. Buchi Reddy (Dead) by LRs. & ors. (2008) 4 SCC 594.
- (2) Vinod Kumar and others vs. Sudha Land Ventures and Homes Pvt. Ltd. 2015(8) ADJ 387 (DB).
- (3) Civil Revision no. 111 of 2015 Subash Chand Garg and others vs. Messers HKS Developers Pvt. Ltd. and others decided on 5.6.2020 by Single Judge Bench of this Court.
- (4) FAFO no.290 of 2015 Subash Chand Garg and others vs. Messers HKS Developers Pvt. Ltd. and others decided on 21.12.2016 by Division Bench of this Court.

25. I have heard the learned counsel of both the sides, perused the impugned order, the record of the lower court and the case law submitted by them.

Conclusion of this Court

Execution of MOU between the parties

26. The plaintiffs contended that regarding the disputed land an MOU was executed between the land owners and the plaintiffs on 30.3.2014, a copy of which has been filed by the plaintiffs in the original suit, which has been denied by the defendants in their written statement. It was further submitted by the defendants that at the time of the execution of the alleged MOU on 30.3.2014, the ownership of disputed land vested in Puran Chand Mehrotra, Ravi Kumar Mehrotra and Smt. Rashmi Mehrotra but from the perusal of the MOU submitted by the plaintiffs before the court, it was apparent that it was only signed by defendant no.1 Ravi Kumar Mehrotra, as such it was not binding and cannot be enforced against all the land owners.

27. It is apparent that the plaintiffs have alleged in the plaint that the ownership of the disputed land vested in Puran Chand Mehrotra, Ravi Kumar Mehrotra and Smt. Rashmi Mehrotra, which is also apparent from the photo copy of sale deeds of disputed property filed by the plaintiffs in the original suit, but it is hard to understand why the MOU was not signed by Puran Chand Mehrotra and Smt. Rashmi Mehrotra. It is further apparent that no power-of-attorney has been executed by the other owners in favour of the defendant no.1 Ravi Kumar Mehrotra, authorising him to execute an MOU on their behalf. It is also apparent that Puran Chand Mehrotra has died intestate on 15.3.2017, leaving behind defendant no.1 Ravi Kumar Mehrotra (son) and Rashmi Kapoor(daughter), as legal heirs. It is apparent that in the absence of any Will, Rashmi Kapoor has also inherited 1/2 share of the deceased in the disputed property, but no MOU has been executed between Rashmi Kapoor and the plaintiffs, regarding the disputed property. In view of the above facts, it is hard to understand how regarding the disputed land, which belongs to defendant no.1,2 and Rashmi Kapoor, an MOU, which has not been signed by defendant no.2, Puran Chand Mehrotra and Rashmi Kapoor, can be legally enforced.

Non-filing of original MOU

28. It is further apparent that the plaintiffs have not filed the original MOU in the trial court, which is the basis of the suit. Learned counsel for the plaintiff appellants submitted that the original MOU can be filed at any time before the framing of issues by the trial court, and even subsequently, with the leave of the court, in accordance with Order 7 Rule 14 read with Order 13 Rule 1 CPC, relying upon the case law of Uday Pratap Singh (supra).

29. The Apex Court in the case of Kapil Kumar Sharma Vs. Lalit Kumar Sharma and another (2013)14 SCC 612, has held that leave can be granted to file documents under Order 7 Rule 14 CPC when cross examination of the witness had not yet commenced.

30. It is true that the Apex Court in the above referred case of Kapil Kumar Sharma (supra) and this Court in the case of Uday Pratap Singh (supra) has held that Order 7 Rule 14 read with Order 13 Rule 1 of CPC are procedural in nature and consequently, it was held that it is not a mandatory provision. In view of this, the plaintiff can file the original document at the time of framing of the issues and if he fails to do so, the same would not be taken in evidence without the leave of the court. In view of this, non-filing of the original MOU is not fatal to the plaintiffs case.

Whether MOU creates any rights in favour of plaintiffs

31. Learned Senior Counsel for the plaintiff appellants submitted that the MOU does not create any vested right in favour of the plaintiffs in the disputed land because the ownership remains with the land owners, which has not been transferred. It was further submitted that in the light of the judgment of the Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in the case of The interplay between Arbitration Agreements under Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 and Stamp Act, 1899, IN RE (2024) 6 SCC 1 (By 7 Judges) this issue was not relevant, as such the trial court has erred in concluding that the MOU could not be considered to be legally enforceable document because it was neither stamped nor registered.

32. The Constitution bench of the Apex Court in the case of The interplay between Arbitration Agreements under Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 and Stamp Act, 1899 (supra) was considering the situation where an arbitration agreement was in existence between the parties and for enforcing that agreement, for either referring the matter by the Court to an arbitrator under Section 8 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act 1996 or for appointing an arbitrator by the Court under Section 11 of the Act of 1996, whether at that stage an objection can be taken by the contesting party, before the court, that the arbitration agreement cannot be acted upon because it was unstamped and unregistered.

33. It was held by the Apex Court that Sections 33 and 35 of the Stamp Act cannot be allowed to operate in proceedings under Section 11(or Section 8, as the case may be), in view of the non-obstante clause in Section 5 of the Act of 1996. It was further held that it is for the Arbitral Tribunal and not the Court which may test whether the requirements of a valid contract and a valid arbitration agreement are met. If the Tribunal finds that these conditions are not met, it will decline to hear the dispute any further. If it finds that a valid arbitration agreement exists, it may assess whether the underlying agreement is a valid contract.

34. It was further held by the Apex Court that by enacting Section 16 of the Arbitration Act, the Parliament has permitted an agreement to arbitrate to be preliminarily enforced even if it is only an agreement. After parties have been referred to arbitration under Section 8 of the Arbitration Act or after the appointment of arbitrators under Section 11 of the Act, the Arbitral Tribunal will have jurisdiction to determine all questions and issues in dispute between the parties. It was further held that once the Arbitral Tribunal has been appointed, it will act in accordance with law and proceed to impound the agreement under Section 33 of the Stamp Act if it sees fit to do so. It has the authority to receive evidence by consent of the parties, in terms of Section 35. It was further held that the procedure under Section 35 may be followed thereafter. It was further held that the impounding of an agreement which contains an arbitration clause at the stage of the appointment of an arbitrator under Section 11(or Section 8 as the case may be) of the Arbitration Act will delay the commencement of arbitration.

35. It was further held by the Apex Court that non-stamping or insufficient stamping of an instrument does not render it invalid or non-existent. It was further held that the Referral Court at Section 11 stage, should not examine or impound an unstamped or insufficiently stamped instrument, but rather leave it for the determination of the Arbitral Tribunal. It was further held that when a party produces an arbitration agreement or a certified copy, the Referral Court only has to examine whether an arbitration agreement exists in terms of Section 7 of the Arbitration Act. It was further held that the Referral Court under Section 11 is not required to examine whether a certified copy of the agreement/instrument/contract discloses the fact of payment of stamp duty on the original.

36. The Constitution Bench of the Apex Court finally concluded as under: -

(i) Agreements which are not stamped or are inadequately stamped are inadmissible in evidence under Section 35 of the Stamp Act. Such agreements are not rendered void or void ab initio or unenforceable;

(ii) Non-stamping or inadequate stamping is a curable defect;

(iii) An objection as to stamping does not fall for determination under Sections 8 or 11 of the Arbitration Act. The Court concerned must examine whether the arbitration agreement prima-facie exists;

(iv) Any objections in relation to the stamping of the agreement fall within the ambit of the Arbitral Tribunal; and

(v) The decision in N.N.Global (2023) 7 SCC 1 and SMS Tea Estates (2011) 14 SCC 66 are overruled. Paragraph 22 and 29 of Garware Wall Ropes (2019) 9 SCC 209 are overruled to that extent.

37. It is apparent that the Constitution Bench of the Apex Court was only concerned whether at the stage of exercising jurisdiction by the Court under Section 8 or 11 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act 1996, the Court can examine whether the arbitration agreement was unstamped and as such, was inadmissible in evidence and whether the Court was justified in considering that objection at that stage. It is apparent from the above decision that the Court cannot examine that issue while exercising jurisdiction under Section 8 or 11 of the Act of 1996, and this issue can be raised before the Arbitral Tribunal, which may decide it in accordance with law. It is further apparent that the Apex Court has held such agreement to be inadmissible in evidence, but not void ab initio and after payment of proper stamp duty, it becomes a legally enforceable agreement.

38. It is apparent that in the instant case the matter does not relate to exercise of jurisdiction by the Court under Section 8 or 11 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act 1996, but the issue is of enforcement of unstamped and unregistered MOU by the plaintiffs, which contains an arbitration clause, the execution of which has been denied by the land owners/defendants. It is further apparent that neither party has invoked the arbitration clause in the MOU, for referring the dispute/matter to the arbitrator, as such, the Constitution Bench judgment relied on by the learned senior counsel for the appellants, does not help the plaintiff-appellants.

39. It is well-settled that the character of a document is not to be determined on the basis of its nomenclature and it is to be interpreted on the basis of its recitals. In view of this, for ascertaining the true character of the MOU, it will be apposite to mention the relevant clauses of the alleged MOU. Clause 9, 12, 13, 14, 19, 30 and 33 of the MOU read as under: -

(9) That on completion of the project i.e. completion of entire construction of multi storeyed complex, the 58% of land owner and saleable area along with the prorata land of the multi storeyed complex on each floors shall be solely owned and possessed by the owners and the remaining 42% saleable area along with the prorata land of the multi storeyed complex on each floors shall be owned by the builder. The constructed and saleable area on each floor shall be shared in 58% and 42% ratio on all the floors between the landowner and the builder. The land owners and the builder shall have roof rights in the aforesaid proportion of 58% and 42% respectively but the commercial sanctioned shall be exclusively of the land owners only and if any charges levied by ADA shall be borne by the landowners only.

(12) That the entire 58% saleable area owned by the owners as mentioned herein before shall absolutely vest in the owners and the owners alone shall be entitled to either retain or execute sale MOUs of the same at their own discretion by their own signatures without any interference of the builder or its successors or assignees or nominees.

(13) That the entire 42% saleable area owned by the builder as mentioned herein before shall absolutely vest in the builder and the builder shall alone entitled to either retain or sell the same at their own discretion by the signature of its CEO or by its authorised officer without any interference by the owners or their heirs, legal representatives, executors or assignees or nominees. But the builders are permitted to book independent residential dwelling units and accept advance only for their share after signing of this MOU.

(14) That the owners and the builder shall also own respectively in proportion of 58% and 42% saleable area on all the floors. The owners and the builder shall be entitled to either retain or sell their respective shares at their own discretion.

(19) That the entire project shall be completed as far as possible within a period of two years from the date of release of sanctioned plan for construction of multi storeyed complex by ADA, Allahabad or 2 years from the date of handing over vacant physical possession by the land owners to the builder whichever is later. However any period, during which the builder shall not be entitled/or unable to raise construction under unforeseen circumstances like restrain order by court etc. shall not be taken in account for calculating the aforesaid period of two years. It is further agreed that in case the builder fails to complete the project for any reason within the aforesaid period of two years, then the builder shall be liable to pay to the landowners damages at the rate of Rs. 25,000/- per month for the period of delay. That similarly, if the owners fail to handover vacant possession of the plot within the agreed period of one month from the date of sanction of map or 30th November 2014 whichever is later, then in that case the owners shall pay an interest at the rate of 1.5 % per month on the refundable deposit amount i.e. ₹ 5 crores to the builder as damages up to the date of the possession.

(30) That in case of any dispute arising between the parties hereto pertaining to the terms and conditions of this MOU the same shall be referred to sole arbitrator to be appointed jointly with mutual consent and the decision of the arbitrator shall be final and binding on the parties hereto. The provision of Arbitration Act, 1996 shall be fully applicable to such Arbitration proceedings.

(33) That the expenses of this MOU including payment of Stamp duty and Registration fees etc. shall be borne by the builder only.

40. The Apex Court in the case of Yellapu Uma Maheshwari and another vs. Buddha Jagadheeswararao and others (2015) 16 SCC 787, while analysing Section 17 and 49 of the Registration Act, 1908, has held that a document which has the effect of creating and taking away the rights in respect of an immovable property, is compulsorily registrable and if not registered, is not admissible in evidence, however, it can be relied upon for collateral purpose, subject to payment of stamp duty, penalty, proof and relevancy.

41. The Apex Court in the case of Sita Ram Bhamu vs Ramvatar Bhamu (2018) 15 SCC 130, held as under:-

*10. The only question which needs to be considered in the present case is as to whether document dated 9-9-1994 could have been accepted by the trial court in evidence or the trial court has rightly held the said document inadmissible. The plaintiff claimed the document dated 9-9-1994 as memorandum of family settlement. The plaintiff's case is that earlier partition took place in the lifetime of the father of the parties on 25-10-1992 which was recorded as memorandum of family settlement on 9-9-1994. There are more than one reasons due to which we are of the view that the document dated 9-9-1994 was not mere memorandum of family settlement, rather a family settlement itself. Firstly, on 25-10-1992, the father of the parties was himself owner of both, the residence and shop being self-acquired properties of Devi Dutt Verma. The High Court has rightly held that the said document cannot be said to be a will, so that the father could have made the will in favour of his two sons, the plaintiff and the defendant. Neither the plaintiff nor the defendant had any share in the property on the day when it is said to have been partitioned by Devi Dutt Verma. Devi Dutt Verma died on 10-9-1993. After his death, the plaintiff, the defendant and their mother as well as sisters become the legal heirs under the Hindu Succession Act, 1956 inheriting the property being a Class I heir. The document dated 9-9-1994 divided the entire property between the plaintiff and the defendant which document is also claimed to be signed by their mother as well as the sisters. In any view of the matter, there is relinquishment of the rights of other heirs of the properties, hence, the courts below are right in their conclusion that there being relinquishment, the document dated 9-9-1994 was compulsorily registrable under Section 17 of the Registration Act.

12. We are, thus, in full agreement with the view taken by the trial court as well as the High Court that the document dated 9-9-1994 was compulsorily registrable. The document also being not stamped could not have been accepted in evidence and the order of the trial court allowing the application under Order 13 Rule 3 CPC and the reasons given by the trial court in allowing the application of the defendant holding the document as inadmissible cannot be faulted.

13. There is only one aspect of the matter which needs consideration i.e. whether the document dated 9-9-1994, which was inadmissible in evidence, could have been used for any collateral purpose. In a suit for partition, an unregistered document can be relied upon for collateral purpose i.e. severancy of title, nature of possession of various shares but not for the primary purpose i.e. division of joint properties by metes and bounds. Further, an unstamped instrument is not admissible in evidence even for collateral purpose, until the same is impounded. A two-Judge Bench judgment of this Court in Yellapu Uma Maheswari v. Buddha Jagadheeswararao (2015) 16 SCC 787 is appropriate. In the above case also, admissibility of documents, Ext. B-21 dated 5-6-1975 a deed of memorandum and Ext. B-22 dated 4-6-1975 being an agreement between one late Mahalakshamma, Respondent 1-plaintiff and Appellant 1-defendant came for consideration. Objection was taken regarding admissibility which was upheld both by the High Court [Yellapu Uma Maheswari v. Buddha Jagadheeswara Rao, 2013 SCC OnLine AP 766] and trial court. Matter was taken up by this Court. In the above case, this Court held that the nomenclature given to the document is not decisive factor but the nature and substance of the transaction has to be determined with reference to the terms of the documents. This Court after considering both the documents, B-21 and B-22 held that they require registration. In para 15, the following was held: (SCC p. 794)

“15. It is well settled that the nomenclature given to the document is not decisive factor but the nature and substance of the transaction has to be determined with reference to the terms of the documents and that the admissibility of a document is entirely dependent upon the recitals contained in that document but not on the basis of the pleadings set up by the party who seeks to introduce the document in question. A thorough reading of both Exts. B-21 and B-22 makes it very clear that there is relinquishment of right in respect of immovable property through a document which is compulsorily registrable document and if the same is not registered, it becomes an inadmissible document as envisaged under Section 49 of the Registration Act. Hence, Exts. B-21 and B-22 are the documents which squarely fall within the ambit of Section 17(1)(b) of the Registration Act and hence are compulsorily registrable documents and the same are inadmissible in evidence for the purpose of proving the factum of partition between the parties. We are of the considered opinion that Exts. B-21 and B-22 are not admissible in evidence for the purpose of proving primary purpose of partition.

14. After holding the said documents as inadmissible, this Court in Yellapu Uma Maheswari case further proceeded to consider the question as to whether the documents B-21 and B-22 can be used for any collateral purpose. In the above context, the Court accepted the submission of the appellant that the documents can be looked into for collateral purpose provided the appellant-defendant to pay the stamp duty together with penalty and get the document impounded. In paras 16 and 17, the following has been laid down: (SCC p. 794)

“16. Then the next question that falls for consideration is whether these can be used for any collateral purpose. The larger Bench of the Andhra Pradesh High Court in Chinnappareddigari Peda Mutyala Reddy v. Chinnappareddigari Venkata Reddy [Chinnappareddigari Peda Mutyala Reddy v. Chinnappareddigari Venkata Reddy, 1967 SCC OnLine AP 4 : AIR 1969 AP 242] has held that the whole process of partition contemplates three phases i.e. severancy of status, division of joint property by metes and bounds and nature of possession of various shares. In a suit for partition, an unregistered document can be relied upon for collateral purpose i.e. severancy of title, nature of possession of various shares but not for the primary purpose i.e. division of joint properties by metes and bounds. An unstamped instrument is not admissible in evidence even for collateral purpose, until the same is impounded. Hence, if the appellant-defendant want to mark these documents for collateral purpose it is open for them to pay the stamp duty together with penalty and get the document impounded and the trial court is at liberty to mark Exts. B-21 and B-22 for collateral purpose subject to proof and relevance.

17. Accordingly, the civil appeal is partly allowed holding that Exts. B-21 and B-22 are admissible in evidence for collateral purpose subject to payment of stamp duty, penalty, proof and relevancy.

15. Following the law laid down by this Court in the above case, we are of the opinion that the document dated 9-9-1994 may be admissible in evidence for collateral purpose provided the appellant gets the document impounded and to pay the stamp duty together with penalty as has been directed in the above case.

42. Similarly, The High Court of Bombay in the case of Salim Baig vs Sayyad Nawid 2025 SCC OnLine Bom 2819, held as under:-

17. The Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in case of Avinash Kumar Chauhan v. Vijay Krishna Mishra, AIR 2009 SCW 979, observed that where possession of property has been transferred under any instrument, in absence of payment of stamp duty, such instrument cannot be admitted even for collateral purpose or to corroborate oral evidence. There is total and absolute bar as to admission of unstamped instrument, unless there is compliance with requirements of provisos to Section 35.

18. In this background, if unstamped instrument is admitted even for collateral purpose, it would amount to receiving such document in evidence for a purpose which is prohibited under Section 35 of Stamp Act. The bar against admissibility of instrument which is chargeable with stamp duty and is not stamped is of course absolute whatever be the nature of purpose, be it for main or collateral purpose, unless requirements of proviso (A) to Section 35 are complied with.

19. The similar issue was considered by High Court of Karnataka in case of Smt. Dyavamma Alias Sanna Mukkamma v. Smt. Balamma, ILR 2010 Kar 3280, that instruments which are not duly stamped are not only inadmissible in evidence, but the Court cannot act upon it, or consider the same for any relief like temporary injunction till such time both duty and penalty are paid. In case of Yellapu Uma Maheswari v. Buddha Jagadheeswararao, (2015) 16 SCC 787, the Hon'ble Supreme Court observed that if party wanted to rely upon document for collateral purpose, it was upon for him to pay stamp duty together with penalty and get document impounded.

43. The Apex Court in the case of Ameer Minhaj vs.Dierdre Elizabeth (Wright) Issar and others (2018) 7 SCC 639(By 3 Judges), while analysing Section 17(1-A) of the Registration Act, 1908, held as under: -

9. In other words, the core issue to be answered in the present appeal is whether the suit agreement dated 9-7-2003, on the basis of which relief of specific performance has been claimed, could be received as evidence as it is not a registered document. Section 17(1-A) of the 1908 Act came into force with effect from 24-9-2001. Whereas, the suit agreement was executed subsequently on 9-7-2003. Section 17(1-A) of the 1908 Act reads thus:

17. Documents of which registration is compulsory. (1) The following documents shall be registered, if the property to which they relate is situate in a district in which, and if they have been executed on or after the date on which, Act 16 of 1864, or the Indian Registration Act, 1866 (20 of 1866), or the Indian Registration Act, 1871 (8 of 1871) or the Indian Registration Act, 1877 (3 of 1877), or this Act came or comes into force, namely

(1-A) The documents containing contracts to transfer for consideration, any immovable property for the purpose of Section 53-A of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 (4 of 1882) shall be registered if they have been executed on or after the commencement of the Registration and Other Related Laws (Amendment) Act, 2001 and if such documents are not registered on or after such commencement, then, they shall have no effect for the purposes of the said Section 53-A.

10. On a plain reading of this provision, it is amply clear that the document containing contract to transfer the right, title or interest in an immovable property for consideration is required to be registered, if the party wants to rely on the same for the purposes of Section 53-A of the 1882 Act to protect its possession over the stated property. If it is not a registered document, the only consequence provided in this provision is to declare that such document shall have no effect for the purposes of the said Section 53-A of the 1882 Act. The issue, in our opinion, is no more res integra. In S. Kaladevi v. V.R. Somasundaram [S. Kaladevi v. V.R. Somasundaram, (2010) 5 SCC 401 : (2010) 2 SCC (Civ) 424] this Court has restated the legal position that when an unregistered sale deed is tendered in evidence, not as evidence of a completed sale, but as proof of an oral agreement of sale, the deed can be received as evidence making an endorsement that it is received only as evidence of an oral agreement of sale under the proviso to Section 49 of the 1908 Act.

11. Section 49 of the 1908 Act reads thus:

49. Effect of non-registration of documents required to be registered. No document required by Section 17 or by any provision of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 (4 of 1882), to be registered shall

(a) affect any immovable property comprised therein, or

(b) confer any power to adopt, or

(c) be received as evidence of any transaction affecting such property or conferring such power, unless it has been registered:

Provided that an unregistered document affecting immovable property and required by this Act or the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 (4 of 1882), to be registered may be received as evidence of a contract in a suit for specific performance under Chapter II of the Specific Relief Act, 1877 (1 of 1877), or as evidence of any collateral transaction not required to be effected by registered instrument.

12. In the reported decision, this Court has adverted to the principles delineated in K.B. Saha & Sons (P) Ltd. v. Development Consultant Ltd. [K.B. Saha & Sons (P) Ltd. v. Development Consultant Ltd., (2008) 8 SCC 564] and has added one more principle thereto that a document is required to be registered, but if unregistered, can still be admitted as evidence of a contract in a suit for specific performance. In view of this exposition, the conclusion recorded by the High Court in the impugned judgment [Dierdre Elizabeth (Wright) Issar v. Ameer Minhaj, 2016 SCC OnLine Mad 31541] that the sale agreement dated 9-7-2003 is inadmissible in evidence, will have to be understood to mean that the document though exhibited, will bear an endorsement that it is admissible only as evidence of the agreement to sell under the proviso to Section 49 of the 1908 Act and shall not have any effect for the purposes of Section 53-A of the 1882 Act. In that, it is received as evidence of a contract in a suit for specific performance and nothing more. The genuineness, validity and binding nature of the document or the fact that it is hit by the provisions of the 1882 Act or the 1899 Act, as the case may be, will have to be adjudicated at the appropriate stage as noted by the trial court after the parties adduce oral and documentary evidence.

44. It is apparent from the above terms and conditions of the alleged MOU, that in the disputed land and the proposed superstructure to be constructed on it, the land owners have agreed to create 42% ownership of the plaintiffs, meaning thereby that the land owners have relinquished their 42% ownership in the disputed land. It is apparent that the alleged MOU is creating ownership rights in favour of the plaintiffs and extinguishing ownership rights of the land owners in the disputed land, as such, the alleged MOU should be duly stamped as per the provisions of Stamp Act, and should also be registered as per Section 17 of the Registration Act, in order to become a legally enforceable agreement so as to vest, any right, title and interest in the plaintiffs in the disputed land. It is further apparent that the plaintiffs are claiming rights in the disputed land only on the basis of the alleged MOU but due to non payment of proper stamp duty and non-registration, it is not a legally enforceable document. Even the Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in the case of The interplay between Arbitration Agreements under Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 and Stamp Act, 1899 (supra) has held such agreement to be inadmissible in evidence. It is apparent that if the MOU is inadmissible in evidence then how any relief can be granted to the plaintiffs on the basis of this MOU, when the defect of non-payment of stamp duty and non-registration has not been cured by the plaintiffs.

45. It is further apparent that even the clause 33 of the MOU mandates that the Stamp duty and Registration fees of the MOU is to be borne by the builder, which itself shows that it was in the contemplation of the parties, that the MOU requires payment of stamp duty and it also requires registration, so as to become a legally enforceable document.

46. In view of the above facts and the legal position, the alleged MOU does not create any legally enforceable right in favour of the plaintiffs, insofar as the disputed land is concerned.

Relief of specific performance of MOU or declaration regarding its enforceability not claimed by the plaintiffs. In such situation, whether the suit is barred by Section 41(h) of the Specific Relief Act

47. The Apex Court in the case of Anathula Sudhakar versus P. Buchi Reddy (Dead) by Lrs. and others (2008)4 SCC 594, while discussing the general principles as to when a mere suit for permanent injunction will lie, and when it is necessary to file a suit for declaration and /or possession with injunction as a consequential relief, held as under:-

13. The general principles as to when a mere suit for permanent injunction will lie, and when it is necessary to file a suit for declaration and/or possession with injunction as a consequential relief, are well settled. We may refer to them briefly.

13.1. Where a plaintiff is in lawful or peaceful possession of a property and such possession is interfered or threatened by the defendant, a suit for an injunction simpliciter will lie. A person has a right to protect his possession against any person who does not prove a better title by seeking a prohibitory injunction. But a person in wrongful possession is not entitled to an injunction against the rightful owner.

13.2. Where the title of the plaintiff is not disputed, but he is not in possession, his remedy is to file a suit for possession and seek in addition, if necessary, an injunction. A person out of possession, cannot seek the relief of injunction simpliciter, without claiming the relief of possession.

13.3. Where the plaintiff is in possession, but his title to the property is in dispute, or under a cloud, or where the defendant asserts title thereto and there is also a threat of dispossession from the defendant, the plaintiff will have to sue for declaration of title and the consequential relief of injunction. Where the title of the plaintiff is under a cloud or in dispute and he is not in possession or not able to establish possession, necessarily the plaintiff will have to file a suit for declaration, possession and injunction.

14. We may, however, clarify that a prayer for declaration will be necessary only if the denial of title by the defendant or challenge to the plaintiff's title raises a cloud on the title of the plaintiff to the property. A cloud is said to raise over a person's title, when some apparent defect in his title to a property, or when some prima facie right of a third party over it, is made out or shown. An action for declaration, is the remedy to remove the cloud on the title to the property. On the other hand, where the plaintiff has clear title supported by documents, if a trespasser without any claim to title or an interloper without any apparent title, merely denies the plaintiff's title, it does not amount to raising a cloud over the title of the plaintiff and it will not be necessary for the plaintiff to sue for declaration and a suit for injunction may be sufficient. Where the plaintiff, believing that the defendant is only a trespasser or a wrongful claimant without title, files a mere suit for injunction, and in such a suit, the defendant discloses in his defence the details of the right or title claimed by him, which raise a serious dispute or cloud over the plaintiff's title, then there is a need for the plaintiff, to amend the plaint and convert the suit into one for declaration. Alternatively, he may withdraw the suit for bare injunction, with permission of the court to file a comprehensive suit for declaration and injunction. He may file the suit for declaration with consequential relief, even after the suit for injunction is dismissed, where the suit raised only the issue of possession and not any issue of title.

15. In a suit for permanent injunction to restrain the defendant from interfering with the plaintiff's possession, the plaintiff will have to establish that as on the date of the suit he was in lawful possession of the suit property and the defendant tried to interfere or disturb such lawful possession. Where the property is a building or building with appurtenant land, there may not be much difficulty in establishing possession. The plaintiff may prove physical or lawful possession, either of himself or by him through his family members or agents or lessees/licensees. Even in respect of a land without structures, as for example an agricultural land, possession may be established with reference to the actual use and cultivation. The question of title is not in issue in such a suit, though it may arise incidentally or collaterally.

16. But what if the property is a vacant site, which is not physically possessed, used or enjoyed? In such cases the principle is that possession follows title. If two persons claim to be in possession of a vacant site, one who is able to establish title thereto will be considered to be in possession, as against the person who is not able to establish title. This means that even though a suit relating to a vacant site is for a mere injunction and the issue is one of possession, it will be necessary to examine and determine the title as a prelude for deciding the de jure possession. In such a situation, where the title is clear and simple, the court may venture a decision on the issue of title, so as to decide the question of de jure possession even though the suit is for a mere injunction. But where the issue of title involves complicated or complex questions of fact and law, or where court feels that parties had not proceeded on the basis that title was at issue, the court should not decide the issue of title in a suit for injunction. The proper course is to relegate the plaintiff to the remedy of a full-fledged suit for declaration and consequential reliefs.

48. It is apparent that the case of the plaintiffs is based on the alleged MOU, the execution of which, has not been admitted by the landowner/defendants, which is also not duly stamped and unregistered, which does not confer any right, title and interest in the disputed land on the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs have also not sought the relief of specific performance of MOU. It is well settled that in order to claim any right, title and interest in the disputed land, the plaintiffs have to seek declaration of their rights on the basis of the alleged MOU, and only thereafter, the relief of permanent injunction can be granted to them. Unless and until, a declaration is not made regarding the legality and enforceability of the MOU on the landowners, the relief of permanent injunction cannot be granted to them against the defendant no.1 and 2, who are the real owners of the disputed land, whose ownership of the disputed land is unequivocally admitted to the plaintiffs.

49. It is also well-settled that when remedy of a suit for specific performance is available to the plaintiff, he cannot file a suit for injunction simplicitor nor he can claim temporary injunction in pending suit for injunction simplicitor in view of Section 41(h) of the Specific Relief Act.

50. A Division Bench of this Court in the case of Vinod Kumar and others vs. Sudha Land Ventures and Homes Pvt.Ltd. 2015 SCC OnLine All 8778 has also considered the issue whether on the basis of unregistered agreement to sell, temporary interim injunction can be granted to the plaintiff under Order 39 Rule 1 CPC. The relevant paragraphs of the above judgment read as under:-

14. In the case of K.B. Saha and Sons Pvt. Ltd. v. Development Consultant Ltd., [2008 (72) ALR 638 (SC).] the Hon'ble Apex Court noticed following facts as stated by Mulla in his Indian Registration Act, 7th Edition, at page 189.

The High Courts of Calcutta, Bombay, Allahabad, Madras, Patna, Lahore, Assam, Nagpur, Pepsu, Rajasthan, Orissa, Rangoon and Jammu and Kashmir; the former Chief Court of Oudh; the Judicial Commissioner's Court of Peshawar, Ajmer and Himachal Pradesh and the Supreme Court have held that a document which requires registration under section 17 and which is not admissible for want of registration to prove a gift or mortgage or sale or lease is nevertheless admissible to prove the character of the possession of the person who holds under it.

15. The Apex Court culled out the following principles:

1. A document required to be registered is not admissible into evidence under section 49 of the Registration Act.

2. Such unregistered document can however be used as an evidence of collateral purpose as provided in the Proviso to section 49 of the Registration Act.

3. A collateral transaction must be independent of, or divisible from, the transaction to effect which the law required registration.

4. A collateral transaction must be a transaction not itself required to be effected by a registered document, that is, a transaction creating, etc. any right, title or interest in immoveable property of the value of one hundred rupees and upwards.

5. If a document is inadmissible in evidence for want of registration, none of its terms can be admitted in evidence and that to use a document for the purpose of proving an important clause would not be using it as a collateral purpose.

16. The word, collateral transaction has been interpreted as transaction in itself not required to be effected by a registered document, i.e., a transaction creating any right, title or interest in immoveable property of the value of Rs. 100/- and onwards.

17. Learned Counsel for the respondent contends that even if the two sale-deeds were not registered, but they should certainly be looked into for collateral purpose and a bare perusal of two sale-deeds reveals that on 21.2.2014 and 22.2.2014, the respondent/plaintiff was put on possession of plots in suit and in view of above, learned Counsel tried to justify the impugned order.

18. This proposition is correct that if a document is invariably registrable and has not been registered, it will be admissible in evidence only for collateral purposes but collateral purpose has a limited scope and meaning. It cannot be used for the purpose of saying that the deed created or declared or assigned or limited or extinguish the right to immovable property. If the document is unregistered then it could not be used for showing that it created, declared, assigned or extinguish a right to immovable property. The term collateral purpose could not permit the party to establish any of these acts from the deed.

19. In our opinion, the contention that it could be used for collateral purpose for delivery of possession does not support the case of the plaintiff-respondent at all because by way of State Amendment in Order XXXIX, Rule 2, Sub Rule (2) proviso (a), C.P.C., a bar has been created w.e.f. 1.2.1977.

20. In Rule 2, in sub-rule (2), the following proviso has been added by State Amendment: Provided that no such injunction shall be granted

(a) where no perpetual injunction could be granted in view of the provisions of section 38 and section 41 of the Specific Relief Act, 1963.

21. A bare perusal of Order XXXIX, Rule 2, Sub Rule (2) proviso (a), C.P.C., reveals that temporary injunction shall not be granted where no perpetual injunction could be granted in view of provisions of sections 38 and 41 of Specific Relief Act, 1963.

22. Section 38 of Specific Relief Act deals with provisions when temporary injunctions can be granted and section 41 deals with provisions when injunction can be refused.

23. Provisions of section 41 of Specific Relief Act is as under:

41. Injunction when refused.-An injunction cannot be granted

(a) to restrain any person from prosecuting a judicial proceeding pending at the institution of the suit in which the injunction is sought, unless such restraint is necessary to prevent a multiplicity of proceedings;

(b) to restrain any person from instituting or prosecuting any proceeding in a Court not subordinate to that from which the injunction is sought;

(c) to restrain any person from applying to any Legislative body;

(d) to restrain any person from instituting or prosecuting any proceeding in a criminal matter;

(e) to prevent the breach of a contract the performance of which would not be specifically enforced;

(f) to prevent, on the ground of nuisance, an act of which it is not reasonably clear that it will be a nuisance;

(g) to prevent a continuing breach in which the plaintiff has acquiesced;

(h) when equally efficacious relief can certainly be obtained by any other usual mode of proceeding except in case of breach of trust;

(i) when the conduct of the plaintiff or his agents has been such as to disentitle him to the assistance of the Court;

(j) when the plaintiff has no personal interest in the matter.

24. A perusal of provisions of section 41(h) of Specific Relief Act reveals that when equally efficacious relief can certainly be obtained by any other usual mode of proceeding except in case of breach of trust, then there is no ground to grant injunction.

51. It is apparent from the plaint averments that there is a real apprehension on the part of the plaintiffs that the land owners will not comply with the terms and conditions of the alleged MOU and instead, they have entered into a builder agreement with defendant no. 3 to construct flats on the disputed land, and if, the defendants succeed in doing so, then the plaintiffs would be put to serious irreparable loss which cannot be compensated in any manner whatsoever because they have invested a lot of money in obtaining the requisite permissions from the concerned authorities, on advertisements for marketing of the proposed flats, etc. It is apparent that the plaintiffs have not sought the relief of specific performance of MOU, which they ought to have claimed in the suit, as such, in view of the settled legal position, since an equally efficacious remedy is available to the plaintiffs in the form of suit of specific performance of MOU, no injunction simplicitor can be granted in their favour, since the suit claiming only the relief of permanent injunction is barred by Section 41(h) of the Specific Relief Act.

Possession of the disputed land

52. Although the plaintiffs claim that as per the terms and conditions of the MOU, the possession of the disputed land was handed to them, for undertaking construction on it, but the defendants have denied this.

53. Clause 8 of the MOU reads as under: -

"8. That the owners shall hand over the said land in vacant possession to the builder only for the purpose of construction of multi storeyed building in terms of this MOU and as per map sanctioned by ADA, Allahabad within one month from the sanction of the map or latest by 15th of November, whichever is later. It is specifically understood between the parties to this MOU that such handing over of the site by the landowners to the builder is merely a license to commence the construction activity and does not in any manner whatsoever, confer any right title or interest of any sort in favour of the builder."

54. It is apparent from the above clause that at the most license has been granted to the plaintiffs to commence the construction activity on the disputed land, which does not lend credence to the averment of the plaintiffs that possession of the disputed land has been handed to them by the landowners.

Whether due to arbitration clause in the MOU, the jurisdiction of the civil court was barred

55. As discussed hereinbefore there is an arbitration clause in para-30 of the alleged MOU, which mandated that in case of dispute between the terms and conditions of the MOU, the same were required to be referred to a sole arbitrator, which was to be appointed with the mutual consent of the parties, and the provisions of Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 were made applicable to such arbitration proceedings.

56. The trial court in the impugned order has held that in view of the above arbitration clause, the jurisdiction of the court was barred, but it has not rejected the plaint. The question arises that whether the above conclusion of the trial court is legally sustainable?

57. The Apex Court in the case of ITI Ltd. vs. Siemens Public Communications Network Ltd. (2002)5 SCC 510, while analysing whether there is express prohibition against the application of the Civil Procedure Code to a proceeding arising out of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act 1996, held as under:-

9. But Mr Parasaran contended that the said order is based on an earlier reported judgment of this Court in the case of Shyam Sunder Agarwal & Co. v. Union of India [(1996) 2 SCC 132] . According to Mr Parasaran, the Court in the case of Nirma Ltd. [(2002) 5 SCC 520] has erroneously founded its conclusion on the said judgment in Shyam Sunder Agarwal case. Learned counsel argued that the case of Shyam Sunder Agarwal arose under the Arbitration Act, 1940, which Act had made the provisions of the Code specifically applicable to the proceedings arising under the said Act in the civil court whereas in the present Act such provision making the Code applicable is not found. Therefore, there is a substantial difference in law between the cases of Shyam Sunder Agarwal and Nirma Ltd. Therefore, the order of this Court in Nirma Ltd. is not a good law, hence, requires reconsideration.

10. We do not agree with this submission of the learned counsel. It is true in the present Act application of the Code is not specifically provided for but what is to be noted is: is there an express prohibition against the application of the Code to a proceeding arising out of the Act before a civil court? We find no such specific exclusion of the Code in the present Act. When there is no express exclusion, we cannot by inference hold that the Code is not applicable.

11. It has been held by this Court in more than one case that the jurisdiction of the civil court to which a right to decide a lis between the parties has been conferred can only be taken by a statute in specific terms and such exclusion of right cannot be easily inferred because there is always a strong presumption that the civil courts have the jurisdiction to decide all questions of civil nature, therefore, if at all there has to be an inference the same should be in favour of the jurisdiction of the court rather than the exclusion of such jurisdiction and there being no such exclusion of the Code in specific terms except to the extent stated in Section 37(2), we cannot draw an inference that merely because the Act has not provided CPC to be applicable, by inference it should be held that the Code is inapplicable. This general principle apart, this issue is now settled by the judgment of a three-Judge Bench of this Court in the case of Bhatia International v. Bulk Trading S.A. [(2002) 4 SCC 105] wherein while dealing with a similar argument arising out of the present Act, this Court held: (SCC p. 116, para 15)

While examining a particular provision of a statute to find out whether the jurisdiction of a court is ousted or not, the principle of universal application is that ordinarily the jurisdiction may not be ousted unless the very statutory provision explicitly indicates or even by inferential conclusion the court arrives at the same when such a conclusion is the only conclusion.

12. In the said view of the matter, we are in respectful agreement with the view expressed by this Court in the case of Nirma Ltd. and reject the argument of Mr Parasaran on this question.

58. The Apex Court in the case of Booz Allen & Hamilton Inc. vs. SBI Home Finance Ltd. (2011)5 SCC 532, while analysing when a dispute can be referred to an arbitrator held as under :-

18. In SBP & Co. v. Patel Engg. Ltd. [(2005) 8 SCC 618] this Court held thus: (SCC p. 649, para 19)

“19. When the defendant to an action before a judicial authority raises the plea that there is an arbitration agreement and the subject-matter of the claim is covered by the agreement and the plaintiff or the person who has approached the judicial authority for relief, disputes the same, the judicial authority, in the absence of any restriction in the Act, has necessarily to decide whether, in fact, there is in existence a valid arbitration agreement and whether the dispute that is sought to be raised before it, is covered by the arbitration clause. It is difficult to contemplate that the judicial authority has also to act mechanically or has merely to see the original arbitration agreement produced before it, and mechanically refer the parties to an arbitration.

19. Where a suit is filed by one of the parties to an arbitration agreement against the other parties to the arbitration agreement, and if the defendants file an application under Section 8 stating that the parties should be referred to arbitration, the court (judicial authority) will have to decide:

- (i) whether there is an arbitration agreement among the parties;*
- (ii) whether all the parties to the suit are parties to the arbitration agreement;*
- (iii) whether the disputes which are the subject-matter of the suit fall within the scope of arbitration agreement;*
- (iv) whether the defendant had applied under Section 8 of the Act before submitting his first statement on the substance of the dispute; and*
- (v) whether the reliefs sought in the suit are those that can be adjudicated and granted in an arbitration.*

59. The High Court of Bombay in the case of Gitarani Maity vs Krishna Chakraborty and Ors. 2025 SCC OnLine Cal 2462, held as under:-

12. A bare perusal of the said Section 8 clearly shows that a judicial authority can only refer the matter to arbitration in view of the existence of an arbitration agreement/clause if the party seeking such reference applies for such reference not later than the date of submitting his first written statement on the substance of the dispute. The first statement on the substance of the dispute in case of a civil suit is, without doubt, the written statement filed by the defendant.

21. Section 8 of the 1996 Act contemplates a reference to arbitration of a dispute regarding which there is an arbitration clause and does not operate as a bar to the civil court's jurisdiction as such. Even if a reference is made to the arbitrator, the civil court does not lose the subject jurisdiction.

22. It is only by operation of Section 8 of the 1996 Act that the civil court has to refer the matter to arbitration.

23. Moreover, the provision of Section 8 of the 1996 Act contemplates a bar, if at all, which can be waived by the parties. A bar which can be waived by parties is not an absolute bar on the jurisdiction of the civil court coming within the connotation of express or implied bar as contemplated in Section 9 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

24. In the event no application for reference to arbitration under Section 8 of the 1996 Act is made by either party, the civil court may very well entertain the suit and proceed with the adjudication of the same on merits in accordance with law.

25. Hence, we do not find that the existence of an arbitration clause in the concerned agreement between the parties operates per se as a bar to the jurisdiction of the civil court. Thus, the objection taken in paragraph no. 12 of the written statement in the present case, regarding the civil court not having jurisdiction even to entertain the suit and seeking dismissal of the suit on such ground, cannot be at par with an application seeking reference to arbitration under Section 8 of the 1996 Act. The two operate at different levels.

26. Hence, we cannot, under any stretch of imagination, equate such an objection taken in the written statement as to jurisdiction, seeking dismissal of the suit, with an application to refer the matter to arbitration.

60. In the instant case, it is apparent that the defendant landowners have in their written statement altogether denied the execution of alleged MOU, which contains the arbitration clause. It is further apparent that they have not moved any application under Section 8 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 for referring the matter to an arbitrator, meaning thereby, that they have waived their right to invoke the arbitration clause and have submitted themselves to the jurisdiction of the Court. It is apparent that ouster of jurisdiction of Civil Court is contingent upon moving application under Section 8 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996. Until such formal invocation under Section 8, merely because the underlying MOU contains an arbitration clause, neither the plaint can be rejected nor the parties be referred for arbitration. It is further pertinent to mention here that inspite of invocation of the arbitration clause, the Court has to examine whether the dispute falls within the scope of arbitration agreement? If not, then inspite of the arbitration clause, the matter cannot be referred to arbitrator.

61. It is not disputed by the parties that no such application under Section 8 of the Act of 1996 was moved by the defendant landowners before the trial court, as such, merely on the basis that the alleged MOU contained an arbitration clause, the trial court could not have concluded that prima-facie it has no jurisdiction to decide the suit. It is apparent that the suit was not barred by any law. This finding of the trial court is perverse, but it does not affect the final outcome.

Relief of ad interim injunction

62. The Apex Court in the case of Padhiyar Prahladi Chenaji (Deceased) Thr. LRS. vs. Maniben Jagmalbhai (Deceased) Thr. LRS. And others (2022) 12 SCC 128, held as under:-

18. Even otherwise on merits also, the courts below have erred in passing the decree of permanent injunction restraining Defendant 1 from disturbing the alleged possession of the plaintiff. Assuming for the sake of argument that the plaintiff is found to be in possession, in that case also, once the plaintiff has lost so far as the relief of declaration and title is concerned and Defendant 1 is held to be the true and absolute owner of the property in question, pursuant to the execution of the sale deed dated 17-6-1975 in his favour, the true owner cannot be restrained by way of an injunction against him. In a given case, the plaintiff may succeed in getting the injunction even by filing a simple suit for permanent injunction in a case where there is a cloud on the title. However, once the dispute with respect to title is settled and it is held against the plaintiff, in that case, the suit by the plaintiff for permanent injunction shall not be maintainable against the true owner. In such a situation, it will not be open for the plaintiff to contend that though he/she has lost the case so far as the title dispute is concerned, the defendant the true owner still be restrained from disturbing his/her possession and his/her possession be protected.

63. It is apparent that neither the plaintiffs have any right, title or interest in the disputed land nor they are in possession, as such, no injunction can be granted to them against the true owners (defendant no.1 and 2) of the disputed land. It is also apparent that there is an arbitration clause in the MOU, but the landowner/defendants do not want to invoke it, so as to enable the court to refer the parties to settle their disputes through arbitration. It is also apparent that the plaintiffs could have also, before filing the instant suit, availed the remedy of arbitration for settling the disputes, but they have also not availed this remedy.

64. It is further apparent that on the basis of the alleged MOU, which is neither duly stamped nor registered, which is inadmissible in evidence, the plaintiffs cannot get any relief from the court, so long as the defect is not cured. It is also evident that the MOU contains penal clause which mandates that on default of landowners to handover the vacant possession of the disputed land within the stipulated time period, they are liable for payment of interest at the rate of 1.5% per month on the refundable deposit of ₹ 5 crores. It is well-settled that relief of injunction is discretionary. It is a disputed fact whether the amount returned by the landowners was towards the repayment of personal loan taken by them or whether it was the money, which was taken earlier in pursuance of the alleged MOU from the plaintiffs.

65. It is further apparent that the plaintiffs can also claim monetary compensation/damages for alleged breach of contract on the part of the land owners in not complying with the terms and conditions of the alleged MOU, which is also apparent from the above-mentioned penal clauses incorporated in it. It is well settled that if a party can be adequately compensated in terms of money, then he is not entitled to get the discretionary relief of injunction.

When the Appellate Court can interfere in these matters

66. The Apex Court in the case of Wander Ltd. and another vs. Antox India Pvt. Ltd. 1990 Supp SCC 727, while discussing the scope of interference by the appellate courts while hearing appeals against injunction orders passed by the trial court, held as under:-

14. The appeals before the Division Bench were against the exercise of discretion by the Single Judge. In such appeals, the appellate court will not interfere with the exercise of discretion of the court of first instance and substitute its own discretion except where the discretion has been shown to have been exercised arbitrarily, or capriciously or perversely or where the court had ignored the settled principles of law regulating grant or refusal of interlocutory injunctions. An appeal against exercise of discretion is said to be an appeal on principle. Appellate court will not reassess the material and seek to reach a conclusion different from the one reached by the court below if the one reached by that court was reasonably possible on the material. The appellate court would normally not be justified in interfering with the exercise of discretion under appeal solely on the ground that if it had considered the matter at the trial stage it would have come to a contrary conclusion. If the discretion has been exercised by the trial court reasonably and in a judicial manner the fact that the appellate court would have taken a different view may not justify interference with the trial court's exercise of discretion. After referring to these principles Gajendragadkar, J. in Printers (Mysore) Private Ltd. v. Pothan Joseph [(1960) 3 SCR 713: AIR 1960 SC 1156] : (SCR 721)

“... These principles are well established, but as has been observed by Viscount Simon in Charles Osenton & Co. v. Jhanaton [1942 AC 130] ...the law as to the reversal by a court of appeal of an order made by a judge below in the exercise of his discretion is well established, and any difficulty that arises is due only to the application of well settled principles in an individual case.

67. The Apex Court in the case of Ramakant Ambalal Choksi vs. Harish Ambalal Choksi and others* 2024 INSC 913, has analysed the principles regarding grant of injunction and interference by the appellate court in the discretion exercised by the trial court. The relevant paragraphs read as under: -

26. The principles of law explained by this Court in Wander [Wander Ltd. v. Antox India (P) Ltd., 1990 Supp SCC 727] have been reiterated in a number of subsequent decisions of this Court. However, over a period of time the test laid down by this Court as regards the scope of interference has been made more stringent. The emphasis is now more on perversity rather than a mere error of fact or law in the order granting injunction pending the final adjudication of the suit.

27. In Neon Laboratories Ltd. v. Medical Technologies Ltd. [Neon Laboratories Ltd. v. Medical Technologies Ltd., (2016) 2 SCC 672: (2016) 2 SCC (Civ) 190] , this Court held that the appellate court should not flimsily, whimsically or lightly interfere in the exercise of discretion by a subordinate court unless such exercise is palpably perverse. Perversity can pertain to the understanding of law or the appreciation of pleadings or evidence. In other words, the Court took the view that to interfere against an order granting or declining to grant a temporary injunction, perversity has to be demonstrated in the finding of the trial court.

28. In Mohd. Mehtab Khan v. Khushnuma Ibrahim Khan [Mohd. Mehtab Khan v. Khushnuma Ibrahim Khan, (2013) 9 SCC 221 : (2013) 4 SCC (Civ) 285] , this Court emphasised on the principles laid down in Wander and observed that while the view taken by the appellate court may be an equally possible view, the mere possibility of taking such a view must not form the basis for setting aside the decision arrived at by the trial court in exercise of its discretion under Order 39CPC. The basis for substituting the view of the trial court should be mala fides, capriciousness, arbitrariness or perversity in the order of the trial court. The relevant observations are extracted below: (SCC p. 230, para 20)

“20. In a situation where the learned trial court on a consideration of the respective cases of the parties and the documents laid before it was of the view that the entitlement of the plaintiffs to an order of interim mandatory injunction was in serious doubt, the appellate court could not have interfered with the exercise of discretion by the learned trial Judge unless such exercise was found to be palpably incorrect or untenable. The reasons that weighed with the learned trial Judge, as already noticed, according to us, do not indicate that the view taken is not a possible view. The appellate court, therefore, should not have substituted its views in the matter merely on the ground that in its opinion the facts of the case call for a different conclusion. Such an exercise is not the correct parameter for exercise of jurisdiction while hearing an appeal against a discretionary order. While we must not be understood to have said that the appellate court was wrong in its conclusions what is sought to be emphasised is that as long as the view of the trial court was a possible view the appellate court should not have interfered with the same following the virtually settled principles of law in this regard as laid down by this Court in Wander Ltd. v. Antox India (P) Ltd. “

29. This Court in Shyam Sel & Power Ltd. v. Shyam Steel Industries Ltd. [Shyam Sel & Power Ltd. v. Shyam Steel Industries Ltd., (2023) 1 SCC 634 : (2023) 1 SCC (Civ) 301] observed that the hierarchy of the trial court and the appellate court exists so that the trial court exercises its discretion upon the settled principles of law. An appellate court, after the findings of the trial court are recorded, has an advantage of appreciating the view taken by the trial Judge and examining the correctness or otherwise thereof within the limited area available. It further observed that if the appellate court itself decides the matters required to be decided by the trial court, there would be no necessity to have the hierarchy of courts.

30. This Court in Monsanto Technology LLC v. Nuziveedu Seeds Ltd. [Monsanto Technology LLC v. Nuziveedu Seeds Ltd., (2019) 3 SCC 381: (2019) 2 SCC (Civ) 158], observed that the appellate court should not usurp the jurisdiction of the Single Judge to decide as to whether the tests of prima facie case, balance of convenience and irreparable injury are made out in the case or not.

31. The appellate court in an appeal from an interlocutory order granting or declining to grant interim injunction is only required to adjudicate the validity of such order applying the well-settled principles governing the scope of jurisdiction of the appellate court under Order 43CPC which have been reiterated in various other decisions of this Court. The appellate court should not assume unlimited jurisdiction and should guide its powers within the contours laid down in Wander case.

32. In Anand Prasad Agarwalla v. Tarkeshwar Prasad [Anand Prasad Agarwalla v. Tarkeshwar Prasad, (2001) 5 SCC 568], it was held by this Court that it would not be appropriate for any court to hold a mini-trial at the stage of grant of temporary injunction.

33. The burden is on the plaintiff, by evidence aliunde by affidavit or otherwise, to prove that there is 'a prima facie case' in his favour which needs adjudication at the trial. The existence of the prima facie right and infringement of the enjoyment of his property or the right is a condition precedent for the grant of temporary injunction. Prima facie case is not to be confused with prima facie title which has to be established on evidence at the trial. Only prima facie case is a substantial question raised, bona fide, which needs investigation and a decision on merits. Satisfaction that there is a prima facie case by itself is not sufficient to grant injunction. The Court further has to satisfy that non-interference by the court would result in irreparable injury to the party seeking relief and that there is no other remedy available to the party except one to grant injunction and he needs protection from the consequences of apprehended injury or dispossession. Irreparable injury, however, does not mean that there must be no physical possibility of repairing the injury, but means only that the injury must be a material one, namely, one that cannot be adequately compensated by way of damages. The third condition also is that the balance of convenience must be in favour of granting injunction. The Court while granting or refusing to grant injunction should exercise sound judicial discretion to find the amount of substantial mischief or injury which is likely to be caused to the parties, if the injunction is refused and compare it with that which is likely to be caused to the other side if the injunction is granted. If on weighing competing possibilities or probabilities of likelihood of injury and if the Court considers that pending the suit, the subject-matter should be maintained in status quo, an injunction would be issued. Thus, the Court has to exercise its sound judicial discretion in granting or refusing the relief of ad interim injunction pending the suit. (See Dalpat Kumar v. Prahlad Singh [Dalpat Kumar v. Prahlad Singh, (1992) 1 SCC 719].)

34. Any order made in conscious violation of pleading and law is a perverse order. In Moffett v. Gough [Moffett v. Gough, (1878) 1 LR Ir 331], the Court observed that a perverse verdict may probably be defined as one that is not only against the weight of evidence but is altogether against the evidence. In Godfrey v. Godfrey [Godfrey v. Godfrey, 106 NW 814: 127 Wis 47 (1906)], the Court defined perverse as turned the wrong way; not right; distorted from the right; turned away or deviating from what is right, proper, correct, etc.

35. The expression perverse has been defined by various dictionaries in the following manner:

(a) Oxford Advanced Learner's Dictionary of Current English, 6th Edn.

Perverse Showing deliberate determination to behave in a way that most people think is wrong, unacceptable or unreasonable.

(b) Longman Dictionary of Contemporary English International Edn.

Perverse Deliberately departing from what is normal and reasonable.

(c) The New Oxford Dictionary of English 1998 Edn.

Perverse Law (of a verdict) against the weight of evidence or the direction of the Judge on a point of law.

(d) New Webster's Dictionary of the English Language (Deluxe Encyclopedic Edn.)

Perverse Purposely deviating from accepted or expected behavior or opinion; wicked or wayward; stubborn; cross or petulant.

(e) Stroud's Judicial Dictionary of Words & Phrases, 4th Edn.

Perverse A perverse verdict may probably be defined as one that is not only against the weight of evidence but is altogether against the evidence.

36. The wrong finding should stem out on a complete misreading of evidence or it should be based only on conjectures and surmises. Safest approach on perversity is the classic approach on the reasonable man's inference on the facts. To him, if the conclusion on the facts in evidence made by the court below is possible, there is no perversity. If not, the finding is perverse. Inadequacy of evidence or a different reading of evidence is not perversity. (See Damodar Lal v. Sohan Devi [Damodar Lal v. Sohan Devi, (2016) 3 SCC 78: (2016) 2 SCC (Civ) 36].)

37. Seen in light of the aforesaid settled position of law, we are of the clear view that in the facts of the present case, the High Court overstepped its appellate jurisdiction under Order 43CPC and substituted its own view for the one taken by the trial court without giving any categorical finding as to why the order of the trial court could be said to suffer from any perversity, capriciousness, arbitrariness, mala fides or having been passed in ignorance of the settled principles governing the grant of injunction under Order 39CPC.

68. It is apparent from the above law laid down by the Apex Court in Wander Ltd (supra) and Ramakant Ambalal Choksi (supra) that the Appellate Court while hearing appeals against the order of the trial court granting or refusing injunction can only interfere where the impugned order is malafide, capricious, arbitrary or perverse. If the view taken by the trial court was a possible view, the Appellate Court was not supposed to substitute its view. It is further apparent that if as per the reasonable man, the conclusion reached by the trial court on facts was possible, there is no perversity. If not, the finding is perverse. It was further held by the Apex Court that inadequacy of evidence or a different reading of evidence is not perversity.

69. From the analysis made hereinbefore, it is apparent that, the trial court has not erred in concluding that the alleged MOU has not been executed by all the landowners, as such, no relief can be claimed on its basis against those landowners who have not executed it.

70. It is further apparent that the trial court has not erred in concluding that since the MOU was unstamped and unregistered, it was inadmissible in evidence and further, it does not confer any right, title and interest in the disputed land in the plaintiffs, on the basis of which no enforceable legal right accrues to them.

71. It is further apparent that the trial court has rightly concluded that neither the title nor the possession of the disputed land vests in the plaintiffs, as such, the relief of injunction cannot be granted to them against the true owners.

72. It is further apparent that the trial court has rightly concluded that the plaintiffs have not claimed the specific performance of the alleged MOU, whereas in reality, they are enforcing it in the garb of the suit for the relief of permanent injunction.

73. It is further apparent that the trial court has correctly concluded that the question of return of money by landowners is a disputed question of fact which can only be decided after evidence but prima-facie the trial court was of the opinion, that keeping in view the admission of the plaintiffs in their rejoinder affidavit, the land owners have returned substantial money to the plaintiffs.

74. It is true that the trial court has recorded a perverse finding that prima-facie it has no jurisdiction to hear and decide the suit, keeping in view the arbitration clause in the alleged MOU, but the trial court in pursuance of the above finding has not rejected the plaint, as such, the above perverse finding does not materially affect the outcome. It would have been different, if the trial court after recording the above finding regarding lack of jurisdiction, had rejected the plaint. From the perusal of the record of the trial court, it is further apparent that it has framed five issues on 8.1.2021 on the basis of pleadings of the parties, which does not contain any issue regarding the non- maintainability of the suit, on the ground of being barred by the provisions of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act 1996. This fact amply proves that the trial court has only made a passing reference that the suit was prima-facie barred by the provisions of Act of 1996, which was neither pleaded nor pressed by the defendant landowners.

75. For the aforesaid reasons, this Court is of the opinion that there is no perversity in the impugned order of the trial court. The view taken by the trial court is a possible view, which is in accordance with the evidence on record and prevailing law, which cannot in any manner whatsoever be termed capricious, arbitrary or malafide, as such, keeping in view the parameters of interference laid down by the Apex Court in Wander Ltd (supra) and Ramakant Ambalal Choksi (supra), this Court while exercising its appellate jurisdiction cannot interfere in the impugned order and substitute its own view. The trial court has rightly concluded that the plaintiffs have failed to prove the prima-facie case and the balance of convenience is also not in their favour. It is apparent that for alleged breach of contract the plaintiffs can file suit for damages against the landowners in which they can be adequately compensated with money, as such, if the discretionary relief of injunction is not granted to them, they shall also not suffer any irreparable injury.

76. Accordingly, the instant appeal has got no merit and is hereby dismissed with costs. Consequently, the impugned order dated 13.3.2020 of the trial court in O.S.no. 342 of 2019 is affirmed.

77. A Division Bench of his Court vide order dated 26.6.2020 passed in this appeal had directed the parties to maintain status quo with respect to the disputed property. Since the appeal has been dismissed on merits, hence, the interim order dated 26.6.2020 also stands vacated.

78. The trial court is directed to decide the instant suit preferably within a period of six months from the date a certified copy of this order is produced before it, without affording unnecessary adjournment to either of the party, on merits, in accordance with law.

79. The observations made by this Court in the instant order are only for the purpose of deciding this appeal and the trial court will not be influenced and bound by it, and is at liberty to form its own opinion, on the basis of pleadings and evidence adduced by the parties during trial, in accordance with law.

80. Office is directed to send back the original trial court record, forthwith.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether, in a case where the vendors did not admit execution of the sale deed before the Sub-Registrar and had categorically denied receipt of the sale consideration, the appellate authority exercising jurisdiction under Sections 72/73 of the Registration Act, 1908 could direct registration of the sale deed; and whether mere payment of Rs. 2,00,000/- as advance amount and the alleged handing over of cheques/cash, without proof of payment of the sale consideration at the time of the alleged execution of the sale deed, could justify compulsory registration thereof.

HEADNOTE

Registration Act, 1908 – Sections 35(3)(a), 72, 73, 74, 77 – Refusal to register sale deed – Vendors not admitting execution – Denial of receipt of sale consideration – Effect of signatures/thumb impressions on blank papers – Scope of enquiry by Registrar – Distinction between inadequacy of consideration and non-payment of consideration – Order of Registrar directing registration held unsustainable – Impugned appellate order quashed. (E-5)

1 All. Janki Prasad & Ors. Vs. Distt. Registrar/Addl. Magistrate (Finance & Revenue) Ambedkar Nagar & 171 Ors.

HELD:

Petitioners, who were the vendors, challenged the impugned order passed by the District Registrar/Additional District Magistrate (Finance and Revenue), whereby the order of the Sub-Registrar refusing registration of the sale deed dated 28.01.2022 was set aside and the matter was remanded for registration of the document. The dispute arose out of a registered agreement to sell dated 02.10.2021 in respect of land valued at Rs. 84,47,000/- as per the Collector's circle rate, agreed to be sold for Rs. 28,00,000/-, against which only Rs. 2,00,000/- was paid as advance. Petitioners pleaded that they had not executed any sale deed and had not received any sale consideration, asserting that their signatures and thumb impressions were obtained on blank papers.

Court held that admission of signatures made or thumb impressions put on blank papers without knowledge or understanding of its contents would not amount to admission of execution of the document, in view of the law laid down by the Supreme Court in Veena Singh (Dead) through LR v. District Registrar/Additional Collector (F/R). Appellate authority committed an error in holding that the petitioners, who were the vendors, had executed the sale deed. Court further held that the Registrar had drawn an undue inference from the non-refund of Rs. 2,00,000/- by the vendors, when nobody had demanded its refund, and that the mere payment of Rs. 2,00,000/- as advance amount to the vendors would not justify registration of a sale deed in respect of a property agreed to be sold for Rs. 28,00,000/-, which was worth Rs. 84,47,000/- as per the market rate. It was also held that handing over cheques is not payment of sale consideration, as the amount continues to remain in the bank account of the person and he does not part with it. The vendors denied having received any consideration and the purchaser could not prove payment of Rs. 10,00,000/- in cash on various undisclosed dates. The purchaser also could not establish payment of any amount as consideration at the time of the alleged execution of the sale deed. The requirement of Section 74(B) of the Registration Act was not fulfilled in the present case, as payment of sale consideration is an essential ingredient for the completion of a transaction of sale.

Court rejected the submission that inadequacy of consideration or part payment would not vitiate the sale, holding that inadequacy of consideration and payment of a minuscule amount as advance and non-payment of any consideration at the time of execution of sale deeds are two distinct and different things. The Registrar exceeded the limits of his summary jurisdiction under Sections 72 to 74 of the Registration Act and misapplied the law. The writ petition was accordingly allowed and the impugned order passed by the District Registrar was quashed. (Paras 13–16)

CASE ARISING FROM

Order dated 10.10.2025 passed by the District Registrar/Additional District Magistrate (F&R), in Case No. 896 of 2022 under Sections 72/73 of the Registration Act, 1908.

Appearances for Parties

Advs For Petitioner: Santosh Kumar, Virendra Singh
Advs For Respondents: C.S.C., Om Prakash Nag

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Santosh Kumar, the learned counsel for the petitioners, Sri S.K. Khare, the learned Standing Counsel appearing on behalf of the State and Sri Yogesh Singh, the learned counsel for the opposite party no.3, who has filed a short counter affidavit, which is taken on record.

2. By means of the instant petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India the petitioners have challenged the validity of a judgment and order dated 10.10.2025, passed by the District Registrar/Additional District Magistrate, Finance and Revenue, Ambedkar Nagar in Case No.896 of 2022, under Section 72/73 of Registration Act, 1908.

3. Briefly stated, the facts of the case are that a registered agreement was executed by the petitioner nos.1 to 4 and Shambhunath, the predecessor of the petitioner nos.5 to 7 on 02.10.2021 to transfer the land bearing Gata No.2080, measuring 0.7600 hectare and Gata No.2148 measuring 0.6610 hectare situated at Village Atangi, Pargana and Tehsil Akbarpur, District Ambedkar Nagar, to the opposite party no. 3. The agreement states that the market rate of the property in question as per the rates fixed by the Collector, was Rs.84,47,000/-, but the sellers had agreed to sell the property for a consideration of Rs.28,00,000/-. Rs.2,00,000/- were paid by the opposite party no.3 to the sellers as advance and the balance Rs.26,00,000/- will be paid within a period of one year and a sale deed will be got executed.

4. On 26.05.2022, the opposite party no.3 - purchaser presented a sale deed dated 28.01.2022 purportedly executed by the aforesaid vendors in her favour in respect of the aforesaid property, for registration before the Sub- Registrar. The Sub-registrar refused to register the sale deed by means of an order dated 28.05.2022 stating that in view of the endorsement made on behalf of the seller at serial no. 8 of the minute book on 28.05.2022, the request for registration of the sale deed is rejected.

5. The opposite party no.3 filed an appeal under Section 72/73 of the Registration Act challenging the order dated 28.05.2022, passed by the Sub Registrar, inter alia stating that the vendors had executed the sale deed dated 28.01.2022 out of their own freewill, after receipt of the sale consideration. Thereafter, they avoided its registration on the pretext that the sale consideration had not been received in their bank account. Even after receipt of the sale consideration, they kept on avoiding registration of the sale deed and, therefore, the opposite party no.3 had presented the deed for registration under Section 36 of Registration Act. On 23.05.2022 the opposite party no.3 had given an application to the District Registrar stating that no orders were being passed by the Sub Registrar, whereupon the District Registrar issued a direction to the Sub Registrar. Thereafter the District Registrar declined to register the sale deed on the ground that the vendors had not appeared to admit the execution of the sale deed by 28.05.2022.

6. The vendors filed a written statement before the Registrar stating that the husband of the opposite party no.3 had paid Rs.2,00,000/- as advance and had obtained signatures/thumb impressions of the vendors on some blank papers; that the vendors had not executed any sale deed in their knowledge and that they had not received any sale consideration. It was also stated in the written statement that one of the vendors is a very low educate person and other four are illiterate villagers. Two of the vendors are persons of advanced age and are unable to even walk on their own. The vendors further stated in their written statement that the sale deed dated 28.01.2022 was prepared deceitfully, they had no knowledge of this document and they had executed a sale deed in favour of Ram Shakal Yadav (petitioner no.10) and another sale in respect of Mayaram S/o Babu Lal and Rajendra Kumar S/o Sita Ram (petitioner nos.8 and 9) on 20.03.2023. As the vendors have already executed two sale deeds in favour of the petitioner nos.8, 9 and 10 on 20.03.2023, there is no occasion for registration of another sale deed in respect of the same property.

7. The appeal has been allowed by means of the impugned judgment and order dated 10.10.2025. The appellate authority held that the vendors themselves have pleaded execution sale deeds in favour of other persons, which shows that they wanted to sell the property. It is admitted in the written statement that the husband of the opposite party no.3 had paid Rs.2,00,000/- as advance amount to the vendors and had obtained their signature/thumb impressions on some blank paper. The Registrar raised a question as to why did the vendors not refund the amount of Rs.2,00,000/- taken from the husband of the opposite party no.3. The appellate authority also stated that in the replication, the appellant has pleaded that she had handed over four cheques of Rs.4,00,000/- each to all the vendors, but they did not withdraw the amount. Rs.10,00,000/- had been paid as per the requirement of the vendors for various reasons. The Registrar blamed the vendors for not returning the cheques to the opposite party no.3. He further held that the vendors ought to have sought cancellation of the agreement for the sale of the property, which they have failed to do. The Registrar has stated that the appellant- opposite party no.3 herself has caused a delay in the disposal of the appeal and submission of documentary evidences, due to which reason a delay has occasioned in the disposal of the appeal. The Registrar allowed the appeal, set aside the order dated 28.05.2022 refusing to register the sale-deed and remanded the matter to the Sub-Registrar for registering the sale-deed after ensuring that the vendors have received the entire sale consideration and the purchaser has paid the stamp duty and registration fee.

8. The appellate authority has relied upon a judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Kaushik Premkumar Mishra and another Vs. Kanji Ravaria @ Kanji and another: 2024 SCC OnLine SC 1756. The facts of the case of Kaushik Premkumar Mishra (Supra) have been summarized by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in paragraph no.28 of the judgment, which is as follows: -

“28. At the outset, it may be relevant to refer to the certified/xerox copy of the sale deed dated 2.12.1985, presented for registration on 5.12.1985, copies of which were filed by both the sides under the direction of this Court. We have carefully perused the sale deed. The following facts may be noticeable from the said perusal:

(i). The stamp paper had been purchased on 29.11.1985.

(ii). The document was prepared and executed on 02.12.1985

(iii). The document was presented before the Sub-Registrar on 5.12.1985. The total value of the stamp paper used was Rs 1,600/-.

(v). The document bears the signature of Anees Ismail Khoja, respondent no. 2, the witnesses and also contains the respective endorsement by the Sub-Registrar.

(vi). The document was impounded for non-payment of proper stamp duty. However, on 14.6.2011 the deficiency in stamp duty of Rs. 2200/- along with penalty of Rs. 500/- and other statutory payments of Rs. 700/- having been paid, it was finally registered in Book No. 1 from pages 141-147.

(vii). The document bears the signatures of not only the vendor, the attesting witnesses and also the necessary endorsement by the Sub-Registrar. This makes it abundantly clear that the sale deed was executed on 02.12.1985 and presented before the Sub-Registrar on 5.12.1985. Later on, it was registered on 14.06.2011."

9. In the aforesaid factual background, the Hon'ble Supreme Court proceeded to hold as follows: -

"29. The Trial Court and the High Court had proceeded on the premise that the defendant No. 1 the vendor (respondent no. 2 herein) had denied the execution of the sale deed and had also denied that he had not received any consideration. This premise taken by both the Courts i.e. Trial Court and the High Court are contrary to the pleadings on record and the evidence led during the Trial. There is clear misreading of the evidence. In his written statement in paragraph 7 defendant no. 1 (vendor) has stated that he does not recollect having executed the sale deed. He has not specifically denied anywhere in the written statement that he had not executed the sale deed or that the signatures on the sale deed were not his signatures. Thus, the very premise on the basis of which the Trial Court and the High Court proceeded are perverse being contrary to the material on record. Both the said courts also failed to take into consideration that defendant no. 1 the vendor (respondent no. 2 herein) neither entered the witness box in support of his pleadings and to prove them, nor did lead any evidence, either oral or documentary, in support of his pleadings. There was no justification to treat a vague statement in the written statement of not recollecting about execution of sale deed, to be taken as a denial of the execution. The defendant no. 1 the vendor was deliberately and mischievously avoiding to make specific statement either denying his signatures on the sale deed or his presentation before the Sub-Registrar or had not received any sale consideration. The Trial Court and the High Court fell into the trap of clever drafting and a vague statement of defendant no. 1.

30. The Trial Court and the High Court also committed a manifest error in recording that the defendant no. 1- vendor (respondent no. 2 herein) had denied having received any sale consideration with respect to the sale deed dated 02.12.1985. In the written statement filed by the defendant no. 1, there is no such statement made. In case he had made such a statement then he would be admitting the execution but without consideration. Both the Courts again misread the deposition of appellant no. 1 (PW-1) wherein he said that he does not have any proof of payment of the consideration to hold that no sale consideration was paid. A registered document carries with it presumption of correctness unless proved otherwise as per Section 114 of the Evidence Act read with Section 17 of the Act, 1908. In the present case there is no such evidence."

10. The Hon'ble Supreme Court further held that the appeal deserves to be allowed on several other grounds, which are as follows: -

“33.1. It is not disputed by respondent No. 2 that on 02.12.1985, he had executed another sale deed with respect to the remaining portion of survey No. 13/1 in favour of the collaterals of the appellants, namely, Param Umakant Mishra and Sohardha Mishra. This sale deed in favour of the collateral was presented for registration on the same date as the sale deed of the appellant i.e. 05.12.1985 and was thereafter duly registered. The respondent No. 2 has never challenged the said sale deed in favour of the collaterals. It is thus apparent that the family members and collaterals of the appellants purchased the entire survey No. 13/1 measuring 3.40 Hectares from respondent No. 2 in equal shares by two separate documents which were executed on the same date and presented for registration on the same day. Despite the fact that specific query was put to learned senior counsel for respondent no. 2 with regard to the above aspect, no answer was given. In the plaint specific averment was made with regard to the sale deed in favour of the collaterals. There is no specific denial in the written statement filed by respondent No. 2 about the sale deed in favour of collaterals. General denial has been made by placing strict proof of liability on the plaintiff.

33.2. The respondent No. 2 apparently wants to take advantage of certain minor aberrations and minor technicalities and is also taking up self-conflicting pleas.

33.3. The sale deed is sought to be ignored and rejected on account of a minor cutting/over writing with regard to the word 'cash' (Roch) by 'cheque'. The fact remains that respondent No. 2 did not enter the witness box to depose that he has not received any sale consideration either by way of cash or by way of cheque and further to state that he had not executed the sale deed and the signatures and thumb impression on the sale deed are not his. He also did not come forward to say that the signatures and thumb impression available in the Sub-Registrar's office in the register taken at the time for registration also did not bear his signatures.

33.4. Another aspect submitted on behalf of respondent was that the appellant No. 1 in his deposition has said that he had no proof of the payment of the sale consideration, to assert that the appellant No. 1 admitted that he had not paid any sale consideration is not correct. Appellant No. 1 was being examined sometime after 2013, i.e. after a gap of 28 years from the date of the sale deed. He could not be expected to remember such facts distinctly and as such he made a fair statement that he did not have any document that could prove the passing of the sale consideration. This would not, by itself, be interpreted to hold that appellant admitted of not paying any sale consideration.

33.5. The question of payment of sale consideration would arise only and only if the vendor makes a specific statement in his pleadings as also in his deposition in support of the pleading that he did not receive any sale consideration either by way of cheque or by cash. There is no such pleading and as the vendor did not enter the witness box, even if there was any such pleading, there is no statement to prove such pleading. Thus, the above argument being based on minor discrepancy in the statement of the appellant, no benefit can be derived by the respondents. The argument is accordingly rejected.”

11. There are further grounds of allowing the appeal, mentioned up to paragraph no. 33.13, but the same are not relevant for the purpose of the present case.”The Courts decide the questions involved in each case, which arise from the facts of the particular case. Every judgment has to be read as a whole, and the ratio laid down in the judgment has to be understood in light of the points decided on the basis of the facts of the case. The case of’ Kaushik Premkumar Mishra (Supra) has been decided in view of the peculiar facts of the case where the vendor had not denied the receipt of the sale consideration and he had himself presented the sale deed for registration, which had been registered by the Registrar, but was later impounded because of deficiency in stamp duly paid by the purchaser. In the present case, the vendor has not presented the sale deed for registration and he has categorically denied receipt of the same consideration. Therefore, the facts of the present case are materially different from the case of Kaushik Premkumar Mishra (Supra) and the judgment in that case will not apply to the present case.

12. The learned counsel for the petitioners has relied upon a judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Veena Singh (Dead) through LR Vs. The District Registrar/Additional Collector (F/R): (2022) 7 SCC 1, in which the Hon’ble Supreme Court held as follows: -

“73. The “execution” of a document does not stand admitted merely because a person admits to having signed the document. Such an interpretation accounts for circumstances where an individual signs a blank paper and it is later converted into a different document, or when an individual is made to sign a document without fully understanding its contents. Adopting a contrary interpretation would unfairly put the burden upon the person denying execution to challenge the registration before a civil court or a writ court, since registration will have to be allowed once the signature has been admitted.

76. The Registration Act exists so that information about documents can be put into the public domain, where it can be accessed by anyone in order to prevent forgeries and fraud, and so that individuals can be aware of the status of properties. If the interpretation conflating signing with execution is adopted, it would ensure that the Sub-Registrars/Registrars will continuously end up registering documents whose validity will inevitably be then disputed in a civil suit or a writ petition. While the suit or writ proceedings continue, the document would remain on the public records as a registered instrument, which has the potential to cause more disruption. Hence, such an interpretation should not be adopted by this Court.

82. The process which is conducted by the Registrar for the purpose of an enquiry under Section 74 cannot be equated to the powers of the civil court, though certain powers which are entrusted to a civil court are vested with the Registrar by the provisions of Section 75(4). A quasi-judicial function is entrusted to the Registrar for the purpose of conducting an enquiry under Section 74. Where the Registrar refuses to register a document under Sections 72 or 76, no appeal lies against such an order. Section 77, however, provides that when the Registrar refuses to order the document to be registered, any person claiming under such document or its representative, assign or agents may institute a suit before the civil court within the stipulated time for a decree directing that the document shall be registered. It is thus clear that the Registrar, when he conducts an enquiry under Section 74, does not stand constituted as a civil court. The enquiry before the Registrar is summary in nature. The decision of the Registrar in ordering document to be registered, or for that matter in refusing to register a document, is not conclusive and is amenable to judicial review.

83. Therefore, in a situation where an individual admits their signature on a document but denies its execution, the Sub-Registrar is bound to refuse registration in accordance with Sections 35(3)(a) of the Registration Act. Subsequently, if an application is filed under Section 73, the Registrar is entrusted with the power of conducting an enquiry of a quasi-judicial nature under Section 74. If the Registrar passes an order refusing registration under Section 76, the party presenting the document for registration has the remedy of filing a civil suit under Section 77 of the Registration Act, where a competent civil court will be able to adjudicate upon the question of fact conclusively."

13. In the present case, a registered agreement to sell the property was executed on 02.10.2021 to transfer the land worth Rs.84,47,000/- as per the market rate fixed by the Collector, for a consideration of Rs.28,00,000/-. Rs.2,00,000/- were paid by the opposite party no.3 to the sellers as advance and the balance Rs.26,00,000/- was to be paid within a period of one year. The purchaser presented a sale deed dated 28.01.2022 was presented for registration on 26.05.2022. The sellers did not admit execution of the sale deed before the Sub-Registrar. In the appeal filed under Section 72/73 of the Registration Act, the purchaser stating that the vendors had executed the sale deed dated 28.01.2022 after receiving the full sale consideration, but they were avoiding its registration on the pretext that the sale consideration had not been received in their bank account. In their written statement, the vendors stated that the husband of the opposite party no.3 had paid Rs.2,00,000/- as advance and had obtained signatures/thumb impressions of the vendors on some blank papers. Only one of the sellers has put his signatures and the other four of them had put their thumb impressions, which is also a relevant factor to be kept into consideration. The vendors stated that they had not executed any sale deed in their knowledge and that they had not received any sale consideration. Admission of signatures made / thumb impressions put on blank papers without knowledge or understanding of its contents would not amount to admission of execution of the document as per the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Veena Singh (Supra). The appellate authority has committed an error in holding that the vendors have executed the sale deed.

14. The Registrar has drawn an undue inference from the non-refund of Rs.2,00,000/- by the vendors, when nobody has demanded its refund. The mere payment of Rs.2,00,000/- as advance amount to the vendors would not justify registration of a sale deed in respect of a property agreed to be sold for Rs.28,00,000/-, which is worth Rs.84,47,000/- as per the market rate fixed by the Collector. It is also relevant to note that in the appeal, the purchaser had not stated about payment of Rs.26,00,000/-, i.e., the balance amount of agreed sale consideration and when the purchasers denied having received the same consideration, in rejoinder, she stated that she had handed over four cheques for Rs.4,00,000/- each and had paid Rs.10,00,000/- in cash on undisclosed dates, without any receipts.

15. The learned counsel for the opposite party no.3 has submitted that it is admitted that a part of the sale consideration was received by the vendors and inadequacy of consideration or non-payment of full consideration does not vitiate the contract of sale. I am unable to accept this submission because inadequacy of consideration and payment of a minuscule amount as advance and non-payment of any consideration at the time of execution of sale-deeds are two distinct and different things. Handing over cheques is not payment of sale consideration, as the amount continues to remain in the bank account of the person and he does not part with it. The vendors denied having received any consideration and the purchase could not prove payment of Rs.10,00,000/- in cash on various undisclosed dates. The purchaser could not establish payment of any amount as consideration at the time of the alleged execution of the sale deed. The requirement of section 74 (B) of the Registration Act was not fulfilled in the present case as payment of sale consideration is an essential ingredient for the completion of a transaction of sale.

16. In view of above, I am of the view that the petition deserves to be allowed and the order impugned deserves to be quashed. Accordingly, the petition is allowed. The judgment and order dated 10.10.2025, passed by the District Registrar/Additional District Magistrate, Finance and Revenue, Ambedkar Nagar in Case No.896 of 2022, under Section 72/73 of Registration Act, 1908 is hereby quashed.

17. At this stage, the learned counsel for the opposite party no.3 has submitted that a regular suit for cancellation of the sale deed executed by the vendors in favor of the petitioner nos. 8, 9, and 10 is pending consideration. Therefore, it is clarified that the observations made in this order are for the purpose of examining the validity of the impugned order dated 10.10.2025, passed by the Registrar only. The regular suit will be decided on its merits in accordance with law without being influenced by any observation made in this judgment.

Whether the migration of unfilled Scheduled Caste category seats to the open category was permissible under law during the third round of counselling by virtue of Clause 7(4) of the admission brochure; and whether any mandamus can be issued directing the respondents to allot SC Category seat to the petitioners.

HEADNOTE

Admission to Post Graduate Courses – U.P. Ayush P.G. Counselling 2024–25 – Clause 7(4) of the Brochure – Migration of unfilled reserved category seats in the third round of counselling – Policy decision of the State Government vide Government Order dated 02.09.2024 - Clause 10(V) and Clause 14(1) of Government Order - Scope of judicial interference in policy matters relating to admission - Reservation not a fundamental right - Articles 15 and 16 enabling provisions - No mandamus can be issued to enforce reservation – Brochure found in accordance with Government Order - Writ petition dismissed.

HELD:

Petitioners challenged Clause 7(4) of the Brochure for admission for the Academic Year 2024–25 on the ground that migration of seats from Scheduled Caste category to open category during the third round of counselling cannot be permitted even in absence of any suitable candidate attaining the cut off percentile at the relevant stage, and that the said clause is arbitrary. Court held that the State Government vide its order dated 02.09.2024 took a policy decision for U.P. Ayush P.G. Counselling–2024 and in Clause 10(V) of the Government Order, the migration of seats which remained unfilled of the reserved category in the third round of counselling has been provided. Clause 14(1) of the Government Order provides to offer remaining unfilled seats to all candidates in the stray vacancy round. Clause 7(4) of the Brochure was found to be in accordance with the Government Order dated 02.09.2024 issued by the State Government and therefore, it could not be faulted, especially in absence of any challenge to the said Government Order dated 02.09.2024. In so far as the applicability of Section 3 of the Act of 1994 is concerned, Court held that the same has no bearing at all as the Act of 1994 relates to Public Services and not to admission in educational courses, and therefore, reliance placed on the said provisions by the petitioners was wholly misconceived. Court further reiterated that the right to claim reservation is not a fundamental right and no writ of mandamus to enforce the same is to be issued, Articles 15 and 16 of the Constitution of India being enabling provisions only. Writ petition dismissed. (Paras 15–29) (E-5)

Appearances for Parties

Advs For Petitioner: Ravi Shekhar Sharma, Vinay Kumar Bharti

Advs For Respondents: C.S.C.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vivek Saran, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ravi Shekhar Sharma, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Vaibhav Tripathi, learned counsel for the respondent nos.1 to 3.

2. The instant petition has been filed with the following reliefs:

"1. Issue a writ, order or direction in nature of certiorari to quash the Paragraph 4 of Clause 7 of the prospectus (prospectus is annexed as Annexure No.1 to this writ petition).

2. Issue a writ, order or direction in nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to take admission to petitioners on their reserved (SC) seats in Govt. Unani Medical College.

3. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to decide the representation dated 12.01.2025 (annexure no.2 to this writ petition)."

BRIEF FACTS OF THE CASE

3. The brief facts of the case are that the petitioners namely, Kuldeep Kumar and Vikas Gautam appeared in the AIAGET-2024 Post Graduate Entrance Examination in Unani Medicine and Surgery (BUMS) subject and the petitioner no.1 scored 23.2039268 percentile (equivalent to 23.20 per cent) and petitioner no.2 scored 24.0963855 percentile (equivalent to 24.09 percent). Both the petitioners belong to the Scheduled Caste category and their results of the examination was declared on 31.07.2024. The result dated 31.07.2024 of both the petitioners also discloses the all India categorywise cut off score which is as follows:

All India Category wise Rank
Category	Cut off Percentile	Cut off Score	No. of candidates	Category	Cut off Percentile	Cut off Score	No. of Candidate
UR/EWS	50th Percentile	365-157	1113	UR/EWS-PwD	45th Percentile	153-152	2
OBC	40th Percentile	155-137	112	OBC-PwD	40th Percentile	-	-
SC	40th Percentile	154-152	2	SC-PwD	40th Percentile	-	-
ST	40th Percentile	150-142	2	ST-PwD	40th Percentile

4. The cut off for Scheduled Caste category to which the petitioner belong was 40 percentile in the result dated 31.07.2024.

5. The Ayush Department of State of U.P. published the admission brochure for academic year 2024-25 for which admission process on the seats of P.G. courses for U.P. Ayush P.G. seats and according to which the counselling procedure for the academic session 2024-25 was to be adopted for the U.P. Ayush P.G. seats. The counselling was to take place in four rounds viz:(i) Pratham Chakra, (ii) Dwitiya Chakra, (iii) Tritiya Chakra and (iv) Stray Chakra Counselling.

6. It is the National Commission for Indian System of Medicine (hereinafter referred to as 'NCISM'), which is a statutory body established under Section 3 of the National Commission for Indian System of Medicine Act, 2020 which is the body competent to determine the cut off merits at each round of counselling.

7. The NCISM during the course of U.P. P.G. Counselling reduced the required cut off merit and during the third round of counselling by letter dated 20.11.2024 reduced 15 percentile of the cut off merit for each of the categories. The said fact is recited in paragraph 4 of the counter affidavit which reads as under:

“..... It is further submitted that pursuant to the letter of NCISM dated 20.11.2024, it has been decided by the Board that reduction of 15 percentile be provided to each categories of candidates, as such no candidate be deprived from getting admission in view of the fact that in their round of counselling there is a provision of converting/absorbing the seats into other categories.....”

8. Thus for the third round of U.P.P.G. Counselling the cut off percentile for admission of Scheduled Caste category candidates became 25 percent. However, even at this time both the petitioners could not apply as their merit was lower than the qualifying percentage. During the third round of counselling the remaining seats reserved for SC category got migrated to the General category by virtue of Clause 7(4) of the Brochure, this Clause 7(4) reads as under:

क्र०सं०	श्रेणी (जिनका परिवर्तन होना है)	श्रेणी (जिनमें परिवर्तित होगी)
1	अनुसूचित जनजाति-ST (PwD)	अनुसूचित जनजाति-ST- OP
2	अनुसूचित जाति-SC (PwD)	अनुसूचित जाति-SC-OP
3	अनारक्षित-UR (PwD)	अनारक्षित-UR-OP
4	अन्य पिछड़ा वर्ग-OBC (PwD)	अन्य पिछड़ा वर्ग-OBC-OP
5	आर्थिक रूप से कमजोर वर्ग-EWS(PwD)	आर्थिक रूप से कमजोर वर्ग-EWS-OP
6	अनुसूचित जनजाति - ST	अनुसूचित जाति-SC-OP
7	अनुसूचित जाति - SC	अनारक्षित-UR-OP
8	अन्य पिछड़ा वर्ग-OBC	अनारक्षित-UR-OP
9	आर्थिक रूप से कमजोर वर्ग-EWS	अनारक्षित-UR-OP”

9. Thereafter, during the fourth round of counselling which is the stray chakra counselling, the NCISM further reduced the cut off percentile by 5 percentile by letter dated 13.01.2025 so as to enable the remaining unfilled seats be offered, the petitioners applied for participation in the fourth round of counselling by making deposit of the requisite amount of Rs.2000/- on 09.01.2025. It is however not clear from the averments made in the writ petition as to what was the outcome in the fourth round of counselling in which the petitioners participated.

10. Now after participating in the fourth round i.e. the stray chakra counselling the petitioners approached this Court challenging the Clause 7(4) of the Brochure.

CONTENTION OF THE PETITIONER

11. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that Clause 7(4) of the Brochure for admission for the Academic Year 2024-25 (hereinafter referred to as 'Brochure') is arbitrary inasmuch as migration of seats from SC category to open category during the third round of counselling cannot be permitted. Even in absence of any suitable candidate attaining the cut off percentile at the relevant third round of counselling. Learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance on Section 3(1) and Section 3(6) of the Uttar Pradesh Public Services (Reservation of Scheduled Caste, Scheduled Tribes and Other Backward Classes) Act, 1994 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act of 1994') and the judgment rendered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Union of India vs. Ramesh Ram and Others., Avika Shahi and Others vs. Medical Counselling Committee and Ors. and Saurav Yadav and Others v. State of Uttar Pradesh and Others only by reference made in the Rejoinder Affidavit.

CONTENTION OF THE RESPONDENT

12. Per contra, learned Standing Counsel for the respondent/State vehemently submitted that for the purposes of Uttar Pradesh Ayush P.G. Counselling 2024 (hereinafter referred to as U.P. P.G. Counselling) a Government Order dated 02.09.2024 was issued which infact has not been challenged and the Brochure has been framed in the lines of the said Government Order. He further submits that the State Government has taken care of the reservation policy and it is for the State Government to provide reservation and the petitioner do not have any fundamental right to claim the same. He further submits that in absence of any challenge to the Government Order dated 02.09.2024, Clause 7(4) of the Brochure cannot be termed to be violative of any provisions of law. Learned Standing Counsel further submitted that the counselling for the U.P. Ayush P.G. Counselling, 2024-25 has already concluded, in support of the said submission, he has placed reliance on Annexure-CA1 to the counter affidavit which is letter dated 10.07.2025 written b the Director, Unani Services, U.P., Lucknow.

13. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

ISSUES FOR CONSIDERATION

14. The questions which falls for consideration before this Court are as follows:

(I) Whether the migration of 'unfilled Scheduled Caste category seats' to the open category was permissible under law during the third round of counselling by virtue of Clause 7(4) of the admission brochure?

(II) Whether any mandamus can be issued directing the respondents to allot SC Category seat to the petitioner?

15. The State Government vide its order dated 02.09.2024 took a policy decision for U.P. Ayush P.G. Counselling-2024 on the basis of score obtained in AIAPGET examination. The subject of Government Order dated 02.09.2024 reads as under:

“शैक्षणिक सत्र 2024-25 में प्रदेश के आयुर्वेदिक, यूनानी एवं होम्योपैथी मेडिकल कालेजों में एम०डी०/एम०एस० पाठ्यक्रमों में ए०आई०ए०पी०जी०ई०टी० की मेरिट को अंगीकार करते हुए प्रवेश हेतु यू०पी० आयुष पी०जी० काउंसिलिंग आनलाइन कराने हेतु नीति निर्धारण के सम्बन्ध में।”

16. In Clause 10(V) of the Government Order dated 02.09.2024, the migration of seats which remained unfilled of the reserved category in the third round of counselling is provided. The said clause 10(V) reads as under:

"10(V)- तृतीय चक्र की आवंटन प्रक्रिया के समय यदि आरक्षित श्रेणी/उपश्रेणी की सीटें रिक्त रहती हैं, तो उन्हें नियमानुसार सम्बन्धित श्रेणी में आमेलित/परिवर्तित करते हुए तृतीय चक्र की आवंटन प्रक्रिया सम्पन्न की जायेगी।"

17. In Clause 14(1) of the Government Order provides to offer remaining unfilled seats to all candidates. Thus the offer of seats to the petitioner in the fourth round/stray chakra was not on account of reservation but as the remaining seats had to be offered to all. Relevant Clause 14(I) of the Government Order reads as under:

“14. स्ट्रे वैकेंसी चक्र-

(1) ऐसे अभ्यर्थी जिन्होंने यू०पी० आयुष पी०जी० काउन्सिलिंग 2024 की प्रथम, द्वितीय एवं तृतीय चक्र की काउन्सिलिंग के द्वारा कोई भी सीट आवंटित न हुई हो।”

18. Now coming to Clause 7(4) of the Brochure as referred to above, it is seen that the said clause is in accordance with the Government Order dated 02.09.2024 issued by the State Government.

19. With regard to the judgment passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Saurav Yadav and Others (Supra), which was referred to by the learned counsel for the petitioner it is to be noted that the Hon'ble Supreme Court while dealing with the issue of migration of seats in absence of any suitable candidate in a particular category had left it to the wisdom of the competent authority to take a decision regarding the unfilled seats. The relevant paragraphs 49 and 59 reads as under:

"49. If there are unfilled vacancies, it is upto the authorities to act purely in terms of the concerned statutory provisions. Neither any case for issuance of mandamus, as prayed for, has been made out nor do we think it appropriate to pass any orders directing the concerned authorities to absorb the petitioners against unfilled vacancies.

59.4. If the vacancies cannot be filled by the specified categories due to shortfall of candidates, the vacancies are to be 'carried forward' or dealt with appropriately by rules."

19. With regards to the judgment rendered in Ramesh Ram (Supra) referred to by the learned counsel for the petitioner' is concerned, the same is not applicable in the instant case inasmuch as the same was related to Civil Services Rules and dealt with the issue as to whether the reserved candidate who were selected on merit and placed in the list of general category candidates could be considered as reserved category candidates at the time of 'service allocation'.

20. With regards to the judgment rendered in Avika Shahi (Supra) referred to by the learned counsel for the petitioner is concerned, the said judgment is also not applicable in the facts and circumstances of the instant case as the Hon'ble Court dealt with the question of horizontal reservation.

21. In so far as the applicability of Section 3 of the Act of 1994 is concerned the same has no bearing at all as the Act of 1994 relates to Public Services and not to the admission in the educational courses. The statement of Act reads as under:

"Provided that the reservation under clause (c) shall not apply to the category of Other Backward Classes of citizens specified in Schedule II: Provided further that reservation of vacancies for all categories of persons shall not exceed in any year of recruitment fifty per cent of the total vacancies of that year as also fifty per cent of the cadre strength of the service to which the recruitment is to be made;"

22. Thus the reliance of the said provisions in the case of petitioner by learned counsel for the petitioner is wholly misconceived.

23. Thus in view of the aforesaid decision, this Court is of the considerate opinion that Clause 7(4) of the Brochure in accordance with the policy decision of the State Government issued vide Government Order dated 02.09.2024 and therefore, it cannot be faulted especially in absence of any challenge to the said Government Order dated 02.09.2024.

24. It has been settled in catena of judgments that the right to claim reservation is not a fundamental right and no writ of mandamus to enforce the same is to be issued. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Andhra Pradesh Public Service Commission v. Balaji Badhavath and Others vide paragraph-18 has held as under:

"18. The Constitution of India lays down provisions both for protective discrimination as also affirmative action. Reservation of posts for the disadvantaged class of people as also seats in educational institutions are provided for by reason of Articles 15 and 16 of the Constitution of India. Reservation made for the members of the Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and other Backward Classes would, however, be subject to Article 335 of the Constitution of India. Concededly, no citizen of India can claim reservation as a matter of right. The provisions contained in Articles 15 and 16 of the Constitution of India are merely enabling provisions. No writ of or in the nature of mandamus, thus, could be issued. [See C.A. Rajendran v. Union of India & Others, (1968) 1 SCR 721 at 731-733, Indra Sawhney and Others v. Union of India and Others [1992 Supp (3) SCC 217, para 165 to 169, 428 to 432, 741 and 742, Ajit Singh and Others (II) v. State of Punjab and Others (1999) 7 SCC 209, para 32 to 39, State of Punjab and Others v. Manjit Singh and Others (2003) 11 SCC 559, para 7 and 12]."

25. The aforesaid judgment has also been followed by this Court in the case of Bhuvnesh Pachauri v. State of U.P. and Others.

26. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Amrit Yadav v. State of Jharkhand and others reported in vide paragraph 20 has observed as under:

"20. Further, the position of law is settled that though there is no fundamental right to claim reservation as Articles 16(4) and (4-A) of the Constitution of India are in the nature of enabling provisions only and do not mandate the State or its instrumentalities to provide reservation in every selection process but inspite thereof, the State's decision to not provide reservation has to be based on some quantifiable data and valid reasoning."

27. It is the well settled law that the reservation has to be taken care of by the concerned Government and the statutory body which in the present case is Government of U.P. and the NCISM. The statutory authority/NCISM had determined the merit i.e. the cut off for selection at each stage and the Government of U.P. have provided for the manner in which reservation of seats were to be provided vide Government Order dated 02.09.2024.

28. In view of the aforesaid discussion, no mandamus as prayed for can be granted.

29. The petition lacks merit and is accordingly, dismissed.

29. No order as to cost.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether, after the coming into force of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Repeal Act, 1999, mere vesting of surplus land in the State Government under Section 10(3) of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976, without the State having taken actual physical possession of the land in accordance with Sections 10(5) or 10(6) and without payment of compensation under Sections 11(7) and 11(8), is sufficient to sustain the ceiling proceedings and justify belated mutation of the land in favour of the State Government.

HEADNOTE

Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976, Sections 10(3), 10(5), 10(6), 11(7), 11(8) – Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Repeal Act, 1999, Sections 3 and 4 – Mere vesting of the land declared surplus under the Act, 1976 without resuming de facto possession is of no consequence – Possession envisaged under Section 3 of the Repeal Act, 1999 is de facto and not de jure only – Requirement of giving notice under Sections 10(5) and 10(6) is mandatory – It is for the State to establish by cogent evidence on record that there has been a voluntary surrender of vacant land or surrender and delivery of peaceful possession or forceful dispossession – Respondents failed to demonstrate as to how and when the possession of the land in question was taken – No notice under Section 10(6) – Failure to demonstrate that any amount (Sandeya Dhanrashi) had been paid – Proceedings initiated stood abated with the coming into force of the Repeal Act, 1999 – Impugned order dated 20.09.2021 quashed and revenue records directed to be corrected. (E-5)

HELD:

Survey of the holdings of Lalji (father of the petitioners) and the original recorded tenure-holder was conducted under the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976. Competent Authority, Urban Land Ceiling, Varanasi passed an order in Ceiling Case declaring 14,483.40 sq. meters of land as surplus. On 31.12.1985, a Gazette notification under Section 10(3) was issued, whereby the surplus land was stated to have vested in the State Government. According to the petitioners, Sandeya Dhanrashi was never received by Sri Lalji or his legal heirs. No effective steps were taken by the authorities for taking physical possession of the land. The Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Repeal Act, 1999 came into force. The Competent Authority, Urban Land Ceiling, thereafter passed the order dated 20.09.2021, directing that the surplus land measuring 14,483.40 sq. meters be recorded in the name of the State Government, deleting the names of the petitioners/original tenure-holders. Petitioners filed Writ-C No. 37803 of 2022 challenging the order dated 20.09.2021.

As per Section 3 of the Repeal Act, 1999 if possession of vacant land had been taken over on behalf of the State Government before the coming into force of the Repeal Act, 1999, the repeal of the Act, 1976 would not affect the vesting of such land under Section 10(3) of the Act, 1976. Consequently, the issue whether actual possession of the land declared as excess under the Act, 1976 was taken over or not, assumes great significance after the commencement of the Repeal Act, 1999. Where the possession of the land in question has not been taken over by the State Government, the proceedings under the Act would not survive and mere vesting of the vacant land in the State Government by operation of law, without actual possession, is not sufficient. Mere vesting of the land declared surplus under the Act, 1976 without resuming de facto possession is of no consequence. The onus is on the State to establish that actual physical possession of the excess vacant land was taken before the Repeal Act, 1999. It is for the State to establish by cogent evidence on record that there has been a voluntary surrender of vacant land or surrender and delivery of peaceful possession or forceful dispossession.

In the present case, the respondents failed to demonstrate as to how and when the possession of the land in question was taken. The respondents also failed to demonstrate that any amount (Sandeya Dhanrashi) had been paid by the State Government as compensation in respect of the land in question to the land holder. The petitioners, their predecessors and transferees had remained in continuous possession of the land in question, and the proceedings initiated stood abated with the coming into force of the Repeal Act, 1999. The writ petition was allowed and the order dated 20.09.2021 was quashed. (Paras 31, 34, 36, 37, 40, 41, 42)

1. Heard Sri Sanjay Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioners, learned Standing Counsel for the respondent nos. 1 to 3 and Sri Ravi Prakash Pandey, learned counsel for the respondent no.4.

2. It is contended on behalf of the petitioners that the father of the petitioners, Sri Lalji was the recorded tenure-holder of certain holdings situated in Village Baraipur, Pargana Shivpur, District Varanasi. A survey of the holdings of Sri Lalji was conducted on 17.08.1977, in pursuance thereto the statement of holdings was submitted by Sri Lalji under Section 6(1) of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 (hereinafter referred to as the "Act, 1976"). Subsequently, a notice dated 31.07.1980 was served upon Sri Lalji to which, he submitted a reply dated 26.08.1980. Ultimately, the Competent Authority, Urban Land Ceiling Varanasi-respondent no.3 vide order dated 10.12.1980 passed in Case No. 792/1105/80-81 (State vs. Lalji Pandey) under Section 8(4) of the Act, 1976, declared 14,483.40 square meters of the holdings of Sri Lalji as surplus. Thereafter, a notice under Section 10(5) was issued on 03.03.1987.

3. It is also contended that an intimation under Section 11(8) of the Act, 1976, along with the notice of "Sandeya Dhanrashi" determined under Section 11(7) of the Act, 1976, was issued on 07.07.1987. It is the specific case of the petitioners that the "Sandeya Dhanrashi" was never received either by the original tenure-holder, Sri Lalji or by the petitioners. Sri Lalji had sought time to file objections to the proceedings under Section 11(8) of the Act, 1976 vide applications dated 07.07.1987 and 12.07.1987. Further, nothing much came out of proceeding so initiated under the Act, 1976.

4. It is further argued that after the demise of Sri Lalji, those holdings which had not been transferred to third parties were mutated in the names of the petitioners vide order dated 22.06.2018. The petitioners have filed the Khatauni for Fasli year 1425?1430 in support of their contention.

5. Under the circumstances it is stated that petitioners have filed the present writ petition being aggrieved by the order dated 20.09.2021 passed by the respondent no.3 vide Memo No. 111 dated 20.09.2021, morefully annexed as Annexure No. 1 to the writ petition, whereby in pursuance to the order passed in Case No. 792/1105/80-81 (State vs. Lalji Pandey) land measuring 14483.40 square meters has been recorded in the name of the State of U.P. after deleting the name of the original tenure-holders/petitioners.

6. The respondent nos. 1 to 3 per contra, do not dispute the factual aspects of the subject matter in controversy as far as proceeding under the Act, 1976 are concerned. However, it has been argued that all proceedings, including taking possession of the vacant land in excess of the ceiling limit, were completed prior to the commencement of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Repeal Act, 1999 (hereinafter referred to as the "Repeal Act, 1999"). It has also been argued that respondent no. 3, vide letter dated 28.03.2000, requested Varanasi Development Authority-respondent no. 4 to carry out the demarcation and physical verification of the land declared surplus in respect of 1533 matters including the land of Sri Lalji. The respondent no.4-Authority have adopted the contention of the respondent nos. 1 to 3.

7. Hence, it is the case of the petitioners that the possession of the land in question was never taken by the respondents and that the possession has continued to remain with the original tenure-holder/petitioners or their transferees till date. The petitioners, in support of their case, have filed the Khasras along with the writ petition. On the other hand, it is the case of the respondents that the entire proceedings under the Act, 1976, including taking possession of the surplus land, were completed prior to the coming into force of the Repeal Act, 1999. In this backdrop, it is necessary to consider the pleadings raised by the respective parties.

8. The petitioners, in Paragraphs 20?21 of the writ petition, have stated as under:-

"20. That it is pertinent to mention that the possession has never being taken from the original tenure holder or from the legal heirs /petitioners herein. The name of the tenure holder continued in the revenue records throughout and thereafter the name of the legal heirs of the original tenure holder Lalji Pandey was recorded in the Revenue records which continued up the impugned order dated 20.09.2021. The name of the State Government /Urban Land Ceiling was never recorded in the Revenue Records. In support thereof, the copies of the Khasra for the years 1426 pertaining to plots in question, is collectively being enclosed herewith and marked as Annexure No. 10 to this writ petition.

21. That in order to prove the continuous possession of the original tenure holder/petitioners/ purchasers over the land in question, the petitioner brings on records the Khasra for the fasli year 1383, 1384, 1410, 1418. A copy of the Khasra for the fasli years 1383, 1384, 1410, 1418 are collectively being enclosed herewith and marked as Annexure No. 11 to this writ petition."

9. In response thereto, respondent nos. 1 to 3, in Paragraph No. 25 of their counter affidavit, have stated as under:"

10. Besides the contents of paragraph no.12 and paragraph no.19 of the counter affidavit of the respondents nos. 1 to 3 are also relevant in this regard and the same reads as under:-

“12. That it is relevant to mention here that all the proceedings were completed before the commencements of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Repeal Act, 1999 by the State and also regarding the physical verification and demarcation by the Varanasi Development Authority, Varanasi, a letter No. 6948 was sent to VDA on 28.03.2000 alongwith other lands classified under similar category. Copy of the letter dated 28.03.2000 is being filed herewith and marked as ANNEXURE-CA-7 to this affidavit.

19. That the contents of paragraph No. 9 of the writ petition are not admitted as stated hence denied. In reply thereto it is submitted that no information has been given by any of the petitioners regarding death of his father and the notice under Section 10(5) of the Act regarding possession was issued on 03.03.1987 and the possession was taken over the declared excess land.”

Thus, the respondent nos. 1 to 3 even otherwise fail to provide the date of possession of the land in question and the manner the same was taken. The alleged date on which, the possession of the land in question was transferred to Varanasi Development Authority is also not mentioned in the counter-affidavit.

11. Likewise, respondent no. 4 “Authority, in Paragraph No. 17 of its counter affidavit, has stated as under:”

“17. That the contents of Paragraph Nos. 20 to 23 of the writ petition are not admitted in the manner as stated hence, denied and in reply thereto, it is being submitted that the lands comprising total area 14483.40 Sq. Meter, which is subject matter of the present writ petition, had already been declared as surplus land under the provisions of the Act, 1976 and thereafter, the aforesaid land is duly recorded in the name of State Government in the Revenue Record and the same is in possession of the answering authority.”

12. Further the petitioners in paragraph no. 26 of the writ petition have stated as under :-

“26. That after the death of Original Tenure Holder Lal Ji the revenue entry were rectified and from khatauni fasali year 1425-1430 it is evident that vide order dated 22.06.2018, the names of the petitioners has been entered as legal heirs/waris of the original tenure holder Lalji son of Late Kedar on the land Aarazi nos. 71, 70, 296/2, 299, 336/2, 238/2, 54/2, 246/2. A copy of the relevant khatoni fasli year 1425-1430 mentioning the mutation order dated 22.06.2018 is being enclosed here with and marked as Annexure No. 13 to this writ petition”

13. In response thereto the respondent nos. 1 to 3 in paragraph no. 27 of their counter affidavit have stated as under :-

no information regarding death of original tenure holder Lalji father of the petitioners has been given to the office of the competent authority, as such the name of the petitioner original tenure holder remain unchanged but name of any of the petitioner was never entered in revenue record."

14. Likewise, the respondent no.4 in paragraph no.19 of his counter affidavit has stated as under :-

"19. That the contents of Paragraph Nos. 25, 26 & 27 of the writ petition are not admitted in the manner as stated hence, denied and in reply thereto, it is being submitted that after completion of the proceeding provided under the Act, 1976, the land in question had been transferred to the V.D.A., Varanasi by the Competent Authority, Urban Land Ceiling, Varanasi."

Hence, the pleadings of the respondents are not in consonance with the evidence on record as the land in question was not recorded in the name of the State or the Varanasi Development Authority prior to passing of the impugned order dated 20.09.2021 but was in the name of petitioners/their transferees.

15. Further, the petitioners have produced the revenue records, including Khasras and Khataunis of the land in question, prepared much after the coming into force of the Repeal Act, 1999, to demonstrate that the petitioners and their predecessors/transferees continued to remain in possession of the land in question. At the same time, upon perusal of the counter affidavits filed by the respondents, it is evident that only vague assertions have been made regarding the alleged taking of possession by the respondents. No details regarding the manner in which, the possession was taken and the date of possession have been spelt out in their respective replies. Moreover, no serious dispute has been raised regarding the revenue entries continuing in the name of the original tenure holder/petitioners and their transferees.

16. The respondents have also utterly failed to furnish any plausible explanation as to why the land in question was recorded in the name of the State Government only vide order dated 20.09.2021 after a lapse of more than 22 years from the enforcement of the Repeal Act, 1999 and not prior thereto. Further, the respondents have relied upon the letter dated 28.03.2000 issued by respondent no. 3, which merely speaks about physical verification and demarcation of the land in question. The said letter by no stretch of imagination can be construed as evidence of the State having taken de-facto possession of the land nor does it reflect transfer of possession of the land in favour of respondent no. 4-Authority.

17. Thus, from the perusal of the revenue records filed by the petitioners in support of their case and in light of the stand taken by the respondents in their respective counter affidavits, it is difficult to arrive at a conclusion that the physical possession of the land in question had ever been taken by the respondents.

18. Another aspect of the matter concerns the payment of Sandeya Dhanrashi (compensation) to the predecessor of the petitioners, Sri Lalji. The petitioners have taken a specific stand in the writ petition that the Sandeya Dhanrashi was never received either by the original tenure-holder or by the petitioners. In Paragraph No. 17 of the writ petition, the petitioners have specifically stated as under:"

“17. That an intimation under Section 11(8) of the Urban Land Ceiling Act was issued on 07.07.1987 alongwith the notice of Sandeya Dhanrashi determined under Section 11(7) of the Urban Land Ceiling Act, 1976. However, the Sandeya Dhanrashi was never received by the original tenure holder / petitioners. Copy of the notice under Section 11(8) and 11(7) of the Urban Land Ceiling Act, 1976 dated 07.07.1987 is being enclosed here with and marked as Annexure No. 7 to this writ petition.”

19. The respondent nos. 1 to 3, in response thereto, have stated in Paragraph No. 24 of their counter affidavit that the proceedings under Sections 11(7) and 11(8) of the Act had taken place. These facts have also not been disputed by the petitioners. However, respondent nos. 1 to 3 have made no averments whatsoever regarding the payment of Sandeya Dhanrashi. Paragraph No. 24 of the counter affidavit filed by respondent nos. 1 to 3 reads as under:-

“24. That in reply to the contents of paragraph no. 15, 16, 17 & 18 of the writ petition it is stated that all the proceedings under relevant Act made by competent authority were completed and accepted by the original tenure holder and the determination of amount under Section 11(7) & 11(8) of the Act was done and no any question was raised by the original tenure holder. It is further stated that a time extension application dated 07.07.1987 was filed by Sri Lalji before competent authority but after passing a long time no objection or clarification was filed by the father of the petitioners', who was original tenure holder.”

20. The respondent no.4 in response to Paragraph no. 17 of the writ petition have not submitted any reply thereto in their counter affidavit stating that the matter relates to the Competent Authority, Urban Land Ceiling. The contents of the Paragraph No.15 of the counter affidavit filed by respondent no.4 reads as follows:-

“15. That the contents of Paragraph Nos. 15, 16, 17 & 18 of the writ petition need no comments by the answering authority as these paragraphs are related to the Competent Authority, Urban Land Ceiling, Varanasi.”

21. Under these circumstances, it is difficult to presume that the Sandeya Dhanrashi had ever been paid to the father of the petitioners, Sri Lalji or to the petitioners at any point of time.

22. It is relevant to observe here that the order impugned in the present writ petition has been passed by the Competent Authority, Urban Land Ceiling, Varanasi, on 20.09.2021. The fact that the impugned order has been passed on 20.09.2021, it would be obvious to presume that the records pertaining to the proceedings under the Act, 1976 were very much available with the respondents on the basis of which the impugned order has been passed and as such nothing prevented to respondents from placing the correct and complete facts of the case before this Court.

23. As far as the order dated 20.09.2021, impugned in the present writ petition, is concerned, although it refers to Ceiling Case No. 792/1105/80-81, it fails to disclose the date of the order allegedly passed in the said case by the Competent Authority-respondent no.3 to record the land in question in the name of the State in the revenue entries. It merely contains a vague assertion that the mutation has been carried out on the basis of some mutation order passed in the past specifically referred to as “Purva Preshit Namantaran Aadesh”.

24. In this regard the petitioners in Paragraph No. 8 of the writ petition have categorically asserted that no such mutation order is in existence. Paragraph No. 8 of the writ petition reads as under:-

“8. That the Competent Authority, Urban Land Ceiling, Varanasi in its order/memo No. 111 dated 20.09.2021 has repeatedly/deliberately mentions in all khatauni, the word 'Purva Preshit Namantaran Aadesh' but failed to give any date /memo of the Namantaran (Mutation) order. Thus it is evident that the present direction vide memo No. 111 dated 20.09.2021 is based upon a nonexistent mutation order. However the Respondents ought to give details of the alleged mutation order and also bring on records the copy of the same so that the illegality committed by the respondent in passing the order dated 20.09.2021 after assumingly more than 40 years, of the alleged nonexistent 'Purva Preshit Namantaran Aadesh' could be revealed before this Hon'ble Court.”

25. The respondent nos. 1 to 3 in response thereto in Paragraph No. 18 of their counter affidavit have stated that all the proceedings in accordance with Act were completed and the mutation of order was issued by the office of competent authority but it could not be complied with.

26. The averments made in Paragraph No.18 of the counter affidavit reads as under:-

“18. That the contents of paragraph No. 7 & 8 of the writ petition are not admitted as stated hence denied. In reply thereto it is submitted that for the entering of the name of state after completing all the proceedings in accordance with Act "Parwana Amaldaramad" was issued by the office of the competent authority but it could not be complied with in time and by the letter 111 dated 20.09.2021 addressed to Tehsildar, Sadar, Varanasi the name of the state was entered in revenue record in place of name of original tenure holder Lalji not in place of name of the petitioners, because the land in question after publication in the State Gazette dated 31.12.1985, the entire land was vested absolutely in the State Government free from all encumbrances w.e.f date of the publication under Section 10(3) of the Act, which is legal just and proper.”

27. The respondent no.4-authority has failed to give any reply on merits of assertions made in paragraph 8 of the writ petition and in paragraph no. 10 of their counter affidavit it has simply been stated as follows:-

“10. That in reply to contents Paragraph No. 8 of the writ petition, it is respectfully submitted that the land in question is recorded in the name of State Government in the Revenue Record.”

28. Thus, The respondents have also failed to provide any plausible explanation as to why it took more than 22 years to correct the entries in the revenue records after the coming into force of the Repeal Act, 1999. Further there is no dispute regarding the fact that in meanwhile the land in question continued to be recorded in the name of original tenure-holder/ petitioners/transferees in the revenue records, both in the Khasras and Khataunis.

29. Under these circumstances, the respondents have failed to justify the order dated 22.09.2021, which is impugned in the present writ petition, after a lapse of such a long duration. The respondents have also failed to demonstrate that the State had taken de-facto possession of the land in question and that the Sandeya Dhanrashi/compensation was paid to the recorded tenure holders.

30. Before advertng to the law in respect of the subject matter in controversy it is important to consider the relevant provisions, namely Sections 3 and 4 of the Repeal Act, 1999 and the same read as under:-

“3. Savings “(1) the repeal of the principal Act shall not affect-

(a) the vesting of any vacant land under sub-section (3) of section 10, possession of which has been taken over by the State Government or any person duly authorised by the State Government in this behalf or by the competent authority;

(b) the validity of any order granting exemption under sub-section (1) of section 20 or any action taken thereunder, notwithstanding any judgment of any Court to the contrary;

(c) any payment made to the State Government as a condition for granting exemption under sub-section (1) of section 20.

(2) Where-

(a) any land is deemed to have vested in the State Government under sub-section (3) of section 10 of the principal Act but possession of which has not been taken over by the State Government or any person duly authorised by the State Government in this behalf or by the competent authority; and (b) any amount has been paid by the State Government with respect to such land, then, such land shall not be restored unless the amount paid, if any, has been refunded to the State Government.

4. Abatement of legal proceedings- All proceedings relating to any order made or purported to be made under the principal Act pending immediately before the commencement of this Act, before any Court, Tribunal or any authority shall abate; Provided that this section shall not apply to the proceedings relating to Sections 11, 12, 13 and 14 of the principal Act insofar as such proceedings are relatable to the land, possession of which has been taken over by the State Government or any person duly authorised by the State Government in this behalf or by the competent authority”

31. A perusal of Section 3 of the Repeal Act, 1999 makes it evident that if possession of vacant land had been taken over on behalf of the State Government before the coming into force of the Repeal Act, 1999, the repeal of the Act, 1976 would not affect the vesting of such land under Section 10(3) of the Act, 1976. Consequently, the issue of whether actual possession of the land declared as excess under the Act, 1976 was taken over or not, assumes great significance after the commencement of the Repeal Act, 1999. This is because, if possession had not been taken over, the proceedings would abate under Section 4 of the Repeal Act, 1999, and the ownership of the land, though earlier vested in the State Government under Section 10(3) of the Act, 1976, would be required to be restored to the original landholder, subject to repayment of any amount that may have been paid by the State Government in respect of such land.

32. The petitioners in support of their case have relied upon the law laid down by this Court in Writ-C No. 14094 of 2016 (Ramji & Ors. Vs. State of U.P. & Ors.) decided on 02.04.2025, Writ-C No. 4874 of 2023 (Atma Prasad Shukla Vs. State of U.P. & Anr.) decided on 02.05.2023 and Writ-C No.4689 of 2023 (Ram Prasidh Tiwari & Ors. Vs. State of U.P. & Ors.) decided on 09.05.2023. The facts of the present case are quite similar to that of Writ-C No. 4874 of 2023 and Writ-C No. 4689 of 2023, detailed above.

33. In this regard, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the Case of State of U.P. vs. Hari Ram 2013 (4) SCC 280 while considering the effect of Repeal Act, 1999 had held as under :-

“41. Let us now examine the effect of Section 3 of Repeal Act 15 of 1999 on sub-section (3) of Section 10 of the Act. The Repeal Act, 1999 has expressly repealed Act 33 of 1976. The objects and reasons of the Repeal Act have already been referred to in the earlier part of this judgment. The Repeal Act has, however, retained a saving clause. The question whether a right has been acquired or liability incurred under a statute before it is repealed will in each case depend on the construction of the statute and the facts of the particular case.

42. The mere vesting of the land under sub-section (3) of Section 10 would not confer any right on the State Government to have de facto possession of the vacant land unless there has been a voluntary surrender of vacant land before 18-3-1999. The State has to establish that there has been a voluntary surrender of vacant land or surrender and delivery of peaceful possession under sub-section (5) of Section 10 or forceful dispossession under sub-section (6) of Section 10. On failure to establish any of those situations, the landowner or holder can claim the benefit of Section 4 of the Repeal Act. The State Government in this appeal could not establish any of those situations and hence the High Court is right in holding that the respondent is entitled to get the benefit of Section 4 of the Repeal Act”

34. Hence, in view of the above, it is clear that where the possession of the land in question has not been taken over by the State Government or by any person duly authorized by the State Government in this behalf or by the competent authority, the proceedings under the Act would not survive and mere vesting of the vacant land in the State Government by operation of law, without actual possession is not sufficient. Further the onus is on the State to establish that actual physical possession of the excess vacant land was taken before the Repeal Act, 1999.

35. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the recent judgment in the case of A.P. Eletricial Equipment Corporation Vs. Tahsildar & Ors. 2025 SCC OnLine SC 447 had laid down certain propositions of law governing the issue of possession in context with Section 10(5) and Section 10(6) respectively of the Act, 1976 read with Section 3 of the Repeal Act, 1999 and the same reads as under :-

“41. The propositions of law governing the issue of possession in context with Sections 10(5) and 10(6) respectively of the Act, 1976 read with Section 3 of the Repeal Act, 1999 may be summed up thus:

[1] The Repeal Act, 1999 clearly talks about the possession being taken under Section 10(5) or Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976, as the case may be.

[2] It is a statutory obligation on the part of the competent authority or the State to take possession strictly as permitted in law.

[3] In case the possession is purported to have been taken under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976 the Court is still obliged to look into whether "taking of such possession" is valid or invalidated on any of the considerations in law.

[4] The possession envisaged under Section 3 of the Repeal Act, 1999 is de facto and not de jure only.

[5] The mere vesting of "land declared surplus" under the Act without resuming "de facto possession" is of no consequence and the land holder is entitled to the benefit of the Repeal Act, 1999.

[6] The requirement of giving notice under sub-sections (5) and (6) of Section 10 respectively is mandatory. Although the word "may" has been used therein, yet the word "may" in both the sub-sections should be understood as "shall" because a Court is obliged to decide the consequences that the legislature intended to follow from the failure to implement the requirement.

[7] The mere vesting of the land under sub-section (3) of Section 10 would not confer any right on the State Government to have de facto possession of the vacant land unless there has been a voluntary surrender of vacant land before 18th March 1999.

[8] The State has to establish by cogent evidence on record that there has been a voluntary surrender of vacant land or surrender and delivery of peaceful possession under sub-section (6) of Section 10 or forceful dispossession under sub-section (6) of Section 10."

36. The aforesaid proposition of law amongst others clearly states that mere vesting of the land declared surplus under the Act, 1976 without resuming de-facto possession is of no consequence and requirement of giving notice under Sections 10(5) and 10(6) is mandatory. It is for the State to establish by cogent evidence on record that there has been a voluntary surrender of vacant land or surrender and delivering of peaceful possession under sub section (6) of Section 10 or forceful dispossession under sub section (6) of Section 10.

37. As far as the present controversy is concerned the respondents have utterly failed to demonstrate as to how and when the possession of the land in question was taken by the respondents from the predecessors of the petitioners, Sri Lalji. The respondents have even failed to spell out the date of such possession in their respective counter affidavits. Further there is no whisper of any notice under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976 in the pleadings of either of the parties.

38. At the same time the entries in the revenue records both in the Khataunies and the Khasras in the name of the original tenure holder/petitioners/transferees even much after coming into force of the Repeal Act, 1999 clearly indicate that the petitioners, their predecessor and transferees had continued to remain in possession of the land in question.

39. In this regard the Co-ordinate Bench of this Court in Writ-C No. 14904 of 2016 vide judgment and order dated 20.04.2025, also relied upon by the petitioner, after considering the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of A.P. Electrical Equipment Corporation (supra) in paragraph no. 21 had held as under :-

“21. In the present case, though the State has not been able to indicate exactly as to when possession was taken by the State, it is clear from the facts that by a Government Order dated December 11, 1996 the State, after having supposedly taken possession of the land, had transferred the same to Prayagraj Development Authority. However, in the counter-affidavit the State has not been able to indicate any notice under Section 10 (6) of the Ceiling Act having been issued to the land holder for forceful dispossession nor any amount having been paid by the State Government as compensation with respect to such land. These above facts tilt the scale in favour of the petitioners and one has to conclude that even though there have been laches on the part of the petitioners, the State has ultimately not ever been able to show de facto possession.”

40. Even in the present case, the respondents have utterly failed to demonstrate that any notice under Section 10 (6) of the Act, 1976 had ever been issued to the land holder or dispossession from the land in question of the land holder had been carried out by the State or any amount (Sandeya Dhanrashi) had been paid by the State Government as compensation in respect of the land in question to the land holder. Hence, it is beyond doubt that the petitioners, their predecessors and transferees had remained in continuous possession of the land in question.

41. Under these circumstances, it is beyond doubt that the proceedings initiated in Ceiling Case No. 792/1105/80-81 (State vs. Lalji) under the Urban Ceiling Act, 1976 stood abated with the coming into force of the Repeal Act, 1999.

42. Hence the present writ petition is allowed and the order dated 20.09.2021 passed by Competent Authority-respondent no.3 as contained in Annexure No. 1 to writ petition is hereby quashed. The concerned revenue authorities are further directed to incorporate necessary correction in the revenue records accordingly within a period of one month of supply of certified copy of this order.

43. No order as to costs.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

I. Whether sale deeds executed by the society can be challenged in a reference under Section 70 of the Uttar Pradesh Co-operative Societies Act, 1965;

II. Whether the Arbitrator/Registrar can examine the validity of registered sale deeds under Section 70 of the Uttar Pradesh Co-operative Societies Act, 1965

HEADNOTE

U.P. Co-operative Societies Act, 1965, Section 70(1)(b) – Disputes which may be referred to arbitration – Dispute raised by a member against the society for dealing with the lands in favour of non-members – Claim seeking declaration that the sale deeds executed by the society be declared null and void – Scope of reference under Section 70 – It is not open for the Arbitrator/Registrar to examine the validity of the sale deeds under Section 70 of the Co-operative Societies Act – Arbitrator/Registrar, in dealing with the reference, can answer whether the society had authority or lacked authority to convey the lands – If any person, if felt aggrieved, the remedy lies before the civil Court having jurisdiction.

HELD:

Petitioners are a co-operative society. Respondent No. 4, a member thereof, sought reference to arbitration under Section 70 of the Uttar Pradesh Co-operative Societies Act, 1965, seeking a declaration that the sale deeds executed by the society in favour of purchasers be declared null and void. The society challenged the reference on the ground that such prayer was beyond the scope of Section 70. Held: In Delhi Dayalbagh Cooperative House Building Society Limited v. Registrar, Cooperative Societies, the Supreme Court observed that it is not open to examine the validity of registered sale deeds within the domain and ambit of Section 70 of the Co-operative Societies Act and that, if any person feels aggrieved, the remedy lies before the civil Court having jurisdiction. In the present case, the Arbitrator/Registrar, while dealing with the reference, will answer it on whether the society had authority or lacked authority to convey the lands. In the event the member is successful, he or the society can approach the competent civil Court for delivery up and cancellation of the registered sale deeds. (Paras 1–7)

1. Petitioners are a cooperative society. Respondent no. 4 is member thereof. Said respondent has sought reference to arbitration under section 70 in Uttar Pradesh Co-operative Societies Act, 1965. English translation of the claim statement filed by respondent no. 4 before the Registrar was handed over by Mr. H.R. Mishra. From it we see, the purchasers were made party by respondent no. 4 in seeking the reference. Prayers made in the claim statement are reproduced below.

" 5. Reliefs sought

1. That the Plaintiffs most respectfully pray that the sale deed executed by Respondent No. 1, which was registered in the office of the Sub-Registrar-I, Agra Sadar, on 29/08/2024, bearing Deed No. 1, Volume No. 12414, Pages 213 to 230, Serial No. 7662, be declared null and void.

2. Any other relief which the Hon'ble Arbitration Court deems fit and proper in the facts and circumstances of the case may also be granted to the applicant.

3. That the respondents may also be directed to pay the litigation expenses to the applicant; failing which the applicant will suffer financial loss."

The society (petitioners) have come up against the reference, seeking quashing of it.

2. Mr. H.R. Mishra, learned senior advocate appears on behalf of petitioners (the society). He submits, his client, for its purposes, sold away some lands. The sale deeds executed by his client, which conveyed the lands were duly registered. Prayer of respondent no. 4 in the reference seeking that the sale deeds be declared null and void is beyond scope of reference provided in section 70. He relies on judgment of the Supreme Court in Delhi Dayal bagh Cooperative House Building Society Limited v. Registrar, Cooperative Societies reported in (2019) 3 SCC 745, paragraph 48. Last sentence in the paragraph is reproduced below.

"48.....In the given facts and circumstances, if the allotment has been made by the society as a freehold land to its members who have further transferred/sold the subject land/plot by registered sale deed to its successors/purchasers, their rights to become member of the society are indeed saved under Section 91 of the Act, 2003 that in no manner could be eluded by the byelaws and that apart if anyone has any objection regarding the registered instrument(sale deed) pursuant to which right has been created, at least it is not open to examine its validity within the domain and ambit of Section 70 of the cooperative societies Act and any person, if felt aggrieved, the remedy lies only before the civil Court having jurisdiction questioning the registered instrument within the parameters available under the law. "

3. Mr. Krishna Mohan Mishra, learned advocate Additional Chief Standing Counsel appears on behalf of State. Mr. Arun Kumar, learned advocate appears on behalf of respondent no. 4. He submits, the reference is well within scope provided under section 70. He relies on view taken by a learned single Judge of this Court in Yaduraj Singh vs. District Assistant Registrar, Cooperative Societies and Others, reported in 2013 (1) AWC 427. He relies on paragraph 35 (Supreme Today Print), reproduced below.

"35. I therefore have no hesitation in rejecting the contention of petitioner(s) that respondents 1 and 2 have no jurisdiction to entertain dispute in question with respect to violation of conditions of sale-deed, bye laws and the Rules of Co-operative Society and to consider the consequences thereof on the sale deed(s) executed between the petitioner(s) and respondent no. 3 and to pass consequential order accordingly. The jurisdiction of respondents 1 and 2 to arbitrate in these matters is thus upheld."

Mr. Krishna Mohan Mishra draws attention to paragraph 6 in the judgment (Supreme Today Print) to submit, the learned single Judge expressed the view in paragraph 35 on the contention of petitioner therein, as recorded in paragraph 6. Said paragraph 6 is also reproduced below.

"6. The basic contention of learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner is that impugned orders are without jurisdiction. Respondent no. 2 had no jurisdiction to declare a sale deed, null and void since such an issue could have been raised in a court of law only by filing a civil suit. So far as the appellate order is concerned, it is submitted that the appellate authority has exceeded its jurisdiction in dismissing appeal inasmuch as, when the sole Arbitrator himself lacked jurisdiction, the Appellate Authority also could have no jurisdiction to entertain the appeal. Even otherwise, appeal involving the disputed amount exceeding Rs. 10,000/- is maintainable before U.P. Cooperative Tribunal, Lucknow, as per notification dated 4.3.1979 and hence appeal was not maintainable before the District Assistant Register (Co-operative Societies)."

4. We see that scope of reference of disputes has been provided in sub-section (1) of section 70. Clause (b) in section 70(1) is reproduced below.

"70 (1) Disputes which may be referred to arbitration.-(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in any law for the time being in force, if any dispute relating to the constitution, management or the business of a co-operative society other than a dispute regarding disciplinary action taken against a paid servant of a society arise-

(b) between a member, past member or any persons claiming through a member, past member or deceased member, and the society its Committee of Management or any officer, agent or employee of the society including any past officer, agent or employee; or

5. Challenge to the reference is in respect of its scope. We are to see the sale deeds executed by the society, if can be challenged in a reference on a claim for them being declared null and void. It appears from Delhi Dayalbagh Cooperative House Building Society Limited v. Registrar,

6. In this case the dispute raised is by a member against the society for dealing with the lands in favour of non members. The non members have not applied to become members. Respondent no. 4 (member) has assailed the transactions and wants declaration that they be declared null and void. Facts in this case are distinct from facts in Delhi Dayalbagh Cooperative House Building Society Limited (supra). However, we will go so far as to observe that in dealing with the reference the Arbitrator/ Registrar will answer it on authority had or lack of it, by the society, to convey the lands. In event respondent no. 4 is successful, he or the society can approach the competent civil Court for delivery up and cancellation of the registered sale deeds.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether petitioners, in whose favour resolution of the Land Management Committee granting lease of Gaon Sabha land was not approved by the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, could claim any right or lawful possession over the land in dispute.

HEADNOTE

U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950, Section 122-B – Unauthorised occupation of Gaon Sabha land – Recourse under Section 122-B for eviction – Resolution of Land Management Committee granting lease not approved by S.D.M. – No right accrues in favour of the allottee – Possession, if any, without authority wholly illegal – Petitioners admitted non-possession.

Writ petition dismissed. (E-5)HELD:

Gata No. 1135 was recorded as reserved for general Abadi. The Land Management Committee passed a resolution granting lease to the petitioners, which was not approved by the S.D.M. Despite the same, the petitioners claimed possession. No subsequent resolution allotting lease was ever approved. Held: Petitioners have no right over the land in dispute and any possession, if claimed, was wholly illegal. The Petitioners admitted non-possession. The provisions contained under Section 122-B are not applicable to the case of the petitioners. The Supreme Court directions in In Re: Directions in the matter of demolition of structures are not applicable where there is an unauthorised structure in any public place such as road, street, footpath, abutting railway line or any river body or water bodies, and also to cases where there is an order for demolition made by a Court of law. The said judgment was held to be inapplicable to the case of the petitioners. The impugned orders do not suffer from any infirmity or illegality. The writ petition was dismissed. (Paras 17–22)

Advs For Petitioner: O.N. Tripathi; Kuldeep Kaur; Rajeev Narayan Pandey

Advs For Respondents: C.S.C.; Abhishek Vishwakarma; Mohan Singh; Pankaj Gupta; R.N. Gupta; Satya Prakash; Shikhar Srivastava

(Delivered by Hon'ble Irshad Ali, J.)

1. Heard Sri Rajeev Narayan Pandey, learned counsel for the petitioners, Sri Mohan Singh, learned counsel for respondent No.4, Sri Satya Prakash, learned counsel for respondent No.3 and Sri Rajiv Srivastava, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for respondent No.2.

2. The present writ petition has been filed against the impugned orders dated 20.10.1997 - annexure 6 to the writ petition and order dated 19.01.2001 passed by respondent No.2 and 1 respectively.

3. Factual matrix of the case is that Gata no. 1135 area 6 biswa 5 biswansi recorded as "Reserve for general Abadi" in khasra of fasli year 1395. Vide Resolution dated 3-12-1983 Land Management Committee allotted 1 Biswa each to both the petitioner and also allotted 1 Biswa to O.P. no. 3 and his father gata no. 1135 and in pursuance of that petitioner deposited the Nazrana on 28/05/84 and thereafter petitioners and O.P. no. 3 possess the allotted land.

4. Opposite party no. 3 filed a Suit no. 41/1988 Om Prakash vs Krishna Mohan & others stating therein land gata no. 1135 recorded as Abadi and prayed permanent injunction against the petitioner by denying the resolution dated 03-12-1983. When opposite party attempting to dispossess the petitioners from allotted land then petitioner moved application to the Revenue Authority who directed to the Supervisor Kanoongo and police restoring possession of the petitioners and authorities visited the land and restored the possession of the petitioners.

5. A misconceived application u/s 161 of U.P.Z.A & L.R Act have been filed by the opposite party No. 3 for exchange of gata no. 1135/0-6-5 from the gata no. 2057/0-7-0 & 1891/0-3-19 stating therein gata no. 1135 is recorded as Banjar and provisions of Rule 144, 145 & 146 of U.P.Z.A Rule have also not complied with. Under the Chairmanship of up-Pradhan who have no authority under the Law / Rules L.M.C. passed resolution for exchange of land.

6. On the application u/s 161 report have been sought from the Revenue authorities who filed their report stating therein gata no. 1135 reserved for Abadi and both parties are in possession over the gata no. 1135 and gata no. 1891 & 2057 recorded as Bhumidhar land and situated at the bank of Darban lake and also stated that before allowing the application both parties should be heard.

7. Vide letter dated 12-8-97 learned S.D.M requested to the learned D.G.C. Civil Ambedkar Nagar to provide legal opinion in matter and learned D.G.C. Civil send/provided legal opinion on 15-10-97 stating therein there are some legal impediment in the matter therefore at this stage exchange would not be proceeded with out curing the illegalities but without considering the provisions as well as legal opinion learned S.D.M approved the exchange.

8. Learned S.D.M. approved the exchange without considering the reports submitted by the revenue authority and provisions of section 161 of U.P.Z.A & L.R. Act as well as Rule 144, 145 & 146 of Z.A. Rules. Against the order dated 20-10-97 petitioners filed revision before the learned Commissioner Faizabad Division. Learned Additional Commissioner on the basis of report submitted by revenue authorities passed an order on 19.01.2001, whereby the claim setup by the petitioner has been rejected.

9. Submission of learned counsel for the petitioners is that once resolution was passed by Land Management Committee granting lease to the petitioner of Gata No.1135 and the same was returned by S.D.M., even then possession was handed over to the petitioner, therefore, without applying the provisions contained under Section 122 B the petitioners cannot be dispossessed.

10. He next submitted that eviction of the petitioner from the land in dispute can only be made after giving notice to him. He placed reliance upon a judgment in the case of Shiv Murat Vs. Board of Revenue, U.P. Allahabad and others; 2017 (4) AWC 4302, paragraphs 6, 8, 11, 13 & 18. He also placed reliance upon a judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case In Re. Directions in the matter of demolition of structures, paragraph 91.

11. Learned counsel for respondent No.3 and 4 along with learned Additional CSC submitted that once the resolution of Land Management Committee was not approved by the S.D.M., the petitioners have no right to hold possession over the land in dispute. In case they are holding the possession over the land in dispute, the same is illegal and without any basis.

12. They also pointed out that in Annexure 3 to the writ petition, the petitioners have admitted this fact that they are not in possession over the land in dispute, therefore, the claim setup by the petitioners is on irrelevant consideration and has no right to claim possession over the land in dispute. They placed reliance upon a judgment in the case of Pradeep Kumar Vs. State of U.P. and 4 others; Writ C No.3968 of 2024 decided on 14.03.2024, paragraphs 6, 7 & 8.

13. I have considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the material on record.

14. To resolve the controversy involved in the matter, Section 122 B of U.P. Z.A. & L.R. Act is being quoted below:

122B. Powers of the Land Management Committee and the Collector.

- [(1) Where any property vested under the provisions of this Act in a Gaon Sabha or a local authority is damaged or misappropriated or where any Gaon Sabha or local authority is entitled to take or retain possession of any land under the provisions of this Act and such land is occupied otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of this Act, the Land Management Committee or local authority, as the case may be. shall inform the Assistant Collector concerned in the manner prescribed.

(2) Where from the information received under sub-section (1) or otherwise, the Assistant Collector is satisfied that any property referred to in sub-section (1) has been damaged or misappropriated or any person is in occupation of any land, referred to in that sub-section, in contravention of the provisions of this Act, he shall issue notice to the person concerned to show cause why compensation for damage, misappropriation or wrongful occupation as mentioned in such notice be not recovered from him or, as the case may be, why he should not be evicted from such land.

(3) If the person to whom a notice has been issued under sub-section (2) fails to show cause within the time specified in the notice or within such extended time not exceeding [thirty days] [Substituted by U.P. Act No. 20 of 1982 (w.e.f. 03.06.1981).] from the date of service of such notice on such person, as the Assistant Collector may allow in this behalf, or if the cause shown is found to be insufficient, the Assistant Collector may direct that such person may be evicted from the land and may for that purpose, use, or cause to be used such force as may be necessary and may direct that the amount of compensation for damage, misappropriation or wrongful occupation be recovered from such person as arrears of land revenue.

(4) If the Assistant Collector is of opinion that the person showing cause is not guilty of causing the damage or misappropriation or wrongful occupation referred to in the notice under sub-section (2) he shall discharge the notice.

(4-A) Any person aggrieved by the order of the Assistant Collector under sub-section (3) or sub-section (4) may, within thirty days from the date of such order, prefer a revision before the Collector on the grounds mentioned in clauses (a) to (e) of Section 333.

(4-B) The procedure to be followed in any action taken under this section shall be such as may be prescribed.

(4-C) Notwithstanding anything contained in Section 333 or Section 333-A, but subject to the provisions of this section-

(i) every order of the Assistant Collector under this section shall, subject to the provisions of sub-sections (4-A) and (4-D), be final,

(ii) every order of the Collector under this section shall, subject to the provisions of sub-section (4-D), be final.

(4-D) Any person aggrieved by the order of the Assistant Collector or Collector in respect of any property under this section may file a suit in a Court of competent jurisdiction to establish the right claimed by him in such property.

(4-E) No such suit as is referred to in sub-section (4-D) shall lie against an order of the Assistant Collector if a revision is preferred to the Collector under sub-section (4-A).

Explanation. - For the purposes of this section, the expression 'Collector' means the officer appointed as 'Collector' under the provisions of the U.P. Land Revenue Act, 1901 and includes an Additional Collector].

[(4-F) Notwithstanding anything in the foregoing sub-sections, where any agricultural labourer belonging to a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe is in occupation of any land vested in a Gaon Sabha under Section 117 (not being land mentioned in Section 132) having occupied it from before [May 13, 2007] [Substituted by U.P. Act No. 24 of 1986.] and the land so occupied together with land, if any, held by him from before the said date as bhumidhar, sirdar or asami, does not exceed 1.26 hectares (3.125 acres), then no action under this section shall be taken by the Land Management Committee or the Collector against such labourer, and [he shall be admitted as bhumidhar with non-transferable rights of that land under Section 195 and it shall not be necessary for him to institute a suit for declaration of his rights as bhumidhar with non-transferable rights in that land.] [Substituted by U.P. Act No. 11 of 2002 (w.e.f. 21.6.2002).]]

Explanation. - The expression "agricultural labourer" shall have the meaning assigned to it in Section 198.

(5) [Rules 115-C to 115-H of the U.R Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Rules, 1952, shall be and be always deemed to have been made under the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 as amended by the Uttar Pradesh Land Laws (Second Amendment) Act, 1961, as if this section has been in force on all material dates and shall accordingly continue in force until altered or repealed or amended in accordance with the provisions of this Act.] [Substituted by U.P. Act No. 35 of 1976.]

15. On perusal of aforesaid provisions, it is evident that if the person is on unauthorized occupation of land by adopting the recourse provided under Section 122 B, he can be evicted from the land in dispute.

16. Relevant portion of the judgments relied upon by learned counsel for the parties are also being quoted below:

Judgments relied upon by learned counsel for the petitioners:

a) Shiv Murat (Supra):

6. In rebuttal, learned Standing Counsel would submit (i) the plot sought for exchange is recorded as manure pit (Khad Ka Gaddha), therefore, being public utility land under section 132 cannot be exchanged; (ii) admittedly, there is no notice to the Gaon Sabha which is mandatory and without resolution of the Land Management Committee approving the exchange Sub-Divisional Officer could not have passed the order merely on the report of the Lekhpal; (iii) under section 127:B the panel lawyer of the State/Land Management Committee can maintain the revision on behalf of the State; (iv) section 161 does not confer any legal right upon the applicant seeking exchange.

8. The question for determination is as to whether the land vesting in the Gaon Sabha can be exchanged without notice to the Land Management Committee and without there being resolution of the Gaon Sabha approving the exchange.

11. Upon receiving such an application, Rule 145 requires that the Assistant Collector shall cause calculation of the rental value of the land proposed to be given in exchange and the land proposed to be received in exchange at hereditary rates and if he is satisfied that the exchange is not invalid according to the proviso to sub-section (1) of section 161 the Assistant Collector shall call upon the parties, if any, to show -cause why the exchange should not be made. Every such notice shall be accompanied by copy of the application. If the Assistant Collector decides that the exchange should be allowed, he shall also make an order for delivery of possession, if necessary, and for the correction of papers.

13. On plain reading of sub-clause (i) of section 161 and Rule 145, it is apparent that the Assistant Collector upon being satisfied with the conditions of exchange, as consequence of the Rule he is required to call upon the parties to show cause why the exchange should not be made and thereafter under Rule 146 the Assistant Collector is to decide the objections, if any, and pass suitable orders. It is, therefore, clear that without notice to the Gaon Sabha and in absence of resolution recording consent of the Land Management Committee the permission to make an exchange suo motu by the Assistant Collector on report of the Halka Lekhpal would be void not being mandated under section 161 of the Act:

18. From the conjoint reading of section 161, as well as, the Rules relating thereto, it transpires that the legislature has extended facility upon bhumidhar to exchange his bhumidhari land from land of another bhumidhar for their convenience upon satisfying the conditions for exchange. Such exchange cannot be valid unless permission of the Assistant Collector has been obtained. An exchange involves the transfer of property by one person to another and reciprocally the transfer of property by that other to the first person. There must be mutual transfer of ownership of one thing for the ownership of another.

b) In Re. Directions in the matter of demolition of structures:

91. 91. At the outset, we clarify that these directions will not be applicable if there is an unauthorized structure in any public place such as road, street, footpath, abutting railway line or any river body or water bodies and also to cases where there is an order for demolition made by a Court of law.

A. NOTICE

i. No demolition should be carried out without a prior show cause notice returnable either in accordance with the time provided by the local municipal laws or within 15 days' time from the date of service of such notice, whichever is later.

ii. The notice shall be served upon the owner/occupier by a registered post A.D. Additionally, the notice shall also be affixed conspicuously on the outer portion. of the structure in question.

iii. The time of 15 days, stated herein above, shall start from the date of receipt of the said notice.

iv. To prevent any allegation of backdating, we direct that as soon as the show cause notice is duly served, Intimation thereof shall be sent to the office of Collector/District Magistrate of the district digitally by email and an auto generated reply acknowledging receipt of the mail should also be issued from the office of the Collector/District Magistrate. The Collector/DM shall designate a nodal officer and also assign an email address and communicate the same to all the municipal and other authorities in charge of building Regulations and demolition within one month from today.

v. The notice shall contain the details regarding:

a. the nature of the unauthorized construction.

b. the details of the specific violation and the grounds of demolition.

c. a list of documents that the noticee is required to furnish along with his reply.

d. The notice should also specify the date on which the personal hearing is fixed and the designated authority before whom the hearing will take place;

vi. Every municipal/local authority shall assign a designated digital portal, within 3 months from today wherein details regarding service/pasting of the notice, the reply, the show cause notice and the order passed thereon would be available.

B. PERSONAL HEARING

I. The designated authority shall give an opportunity of personal hearing to the person concerned.

II. The minutes of such a hearing shall also be recorded.

C. FINAL ORDER

I. Upon hearing, the designated authority shall pass a final order.

ii. The final order shall contain:

a. the contentions of the noticee, and if the designated authority disagrees with the same, the reasons thereof;

b. as to whether the unauthorized construction is compoundable, if it is not so, the reasons therefor;

c. if the designated authority finds that only part of the construction is unauthorized/non-compoundable, then the details thereof.

d. as to why the extreme step of demolition is the only option available and other options like compounding and demolishing only part of the property are not available.

D. AN OPPORTUNITY OF APPELLATE AND JUDICIAL SCRUTINY OF THE FINAL ORDER.

1. We further direct that if the statute provides for an appellate opportunity and time for filing the same, or even if it does not so, the order will not be implemented for a period of 15 days from the date of receipt thereof. The order shall also be displayed on the digital portal as stated above.

ii. An opportunity should be given to the owner/occupier to remove the unauthorized construction or demolish the same within a period of 15 days. Only after the period of 15 days from the date of receipt of the notice has expired and the owner/occupier has not removed/demolished the unauthorised construction, and if the same is not stayed by any court, the concerned authority shall take steps to demolish the same. It is only any appellate authority or a such construction which is found to be unauthorized and not compoundable shall be demolished.

iii. Before demolition, a detailed inspection report shall be prepared by the concerned authority signed by two Panchas.

E. PROCEEDINGS OF DEMOLITION

1. The proceedings of demolition shall be video-graphed, and the concerned authority shall prepare a demolition report giving the list of police officials and civil personnel that participated in the demolition process. Video recording to be duly preserved.

II. The said demolition report should be forwarded to the Municipal Commissioner by email and shall also be displayed on the digital portal.

Judgment relied upon by learned counsel for the respondents:

a) Pradeep Kumar (Supra):

6. Challenging the aforesaid order, learned counsel for the petitioner has contended that the revisional authority without appreciating the correct facts on record dismissed the revision. It is submitted that the plot i.e. Khasra No. 1071Gha Min. Rakba 0.2155 hectare of village Nandpur could not have been exchanged with Khasra No.350 Min. Rakba 0.2675 hectare and given to respondent no.5, inasmuch as there is a number of dispute pending with respect to the said land, and thus, the proceeding under Section 101 of U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 was illegally initiated on account of this fact, and the Sub Divisional Magistrate has erred in law in allowing the exchange of plot by order dated 25.09.2023.

7. Be that as it may, the order of Sub Divisional Magistrate dated 25.09.2023 reflects that the Sub Divisional Magistrate after hearing all the aggrieved persons, passed the order. The petitioner is complainant, and was not a party in the proceeding under Section 101 of U.P. Revenue Code, 2006, therefore, the petitioner has no locus to file the revision, inasmuch as the petitioner is not an aggrieved persons.

8. In such view of the fact, the revision preferred by the petitioner was not maintainable unless the petitioner should have taken leave of the revisional authority to prefer revision after demonstrating that the order dated 25.09.2023 passed by Sub Divisional Magistrate prejudices his rights and he is aggrieved person. In such view of the fact, this Court is not inclined to interfere with the order passed by the revisional authority.

17. It is admitted case of the parties that a resolution was passed by the Land Management Committee giving lease to the petitioners of Gata No.1135, which was not approved by the S.D.M. In spite of that, the petitioners are alleging that they are in possession over the land in dispute.

18. It is surprising that a person, who has no authority to hold possession over the land in dispute is alleging possession over the land in dispute. The provisions contained under Section 122 B are not applicable to the case of the petitioners.

19. In regard to judgment placed by learned counsel for the petitioners of Hon'ble Supreme Court, it has been provided therein that these directions will not be applicable if there is unauthorized structure in any public place such as road, street, footpath, abutting railway line or any river body or water bodies and also to cases where there is an order for demolition made by a Court of law. The judgment referred hereinabove is not applicable to the case of petitioners.

20. The petitioners have admitted in annexure No.3 to the writ petition that they are not in possession over the land in dispute, therefore, the impugned orders passed against the petitioners do not suffer from any infirmity or illegality and are just and valid.

21. It is however, made clear that the resolutions passed in favour of the petitioners was not approved by the competent authority i.e. S.D.M. vide order dated 31.10.1985 and it was returned back to the Land Management Committee and thereafter, no resolution allotting lease to the petitioners was ever submitted before the S.D.M., therefore, the petitioners have no right over the land in dispute and to adopt recourse as provided under law for unauthorized occupation on the land in dispute. The possession, if any, of the petitioners, is wholly illegal.

22. On the reasons recorded above, the writ petition fails and is hereby dismissed.

2. The present batch of petitions has been filed to challenge the proceedings initiated under sections 74 and 73 of the Central Goods and Service Tax Act, 2017 and UP Goods and Service Tax Act, 2017, (collectively described as the Acts). Since these petitions raise common issues, they have been heard together. Broadly, it has been canvassed:

(i) it is not open to the revenue authorities to issue a composite Show Cause Notice (in short 'SCN') for different tax periods or to more than one noticee, especially for different Financial Years (in short □FYs□); (ii) in some of the cases such SCNs and Adjudication Orders have been passed in violation of the statutory prohibition contained in Section 6(2)(b) of the Acts. That may never be done. (iii) another, objection has arisen in one of the petitions - that in any case, it may be impermissible in law for two different authorities/Proper Officers, to pass separate orders both referable to one SCN; (iv) Further challenge has been raised in one petition to direction issued by the respondent authorities (to the service recipients of the petitioner), to withhold all payments due to the petitioners.

3. Reliance has been placed on the decisions of other High Courts. It has been strenuously urged, in same set of facts involving the same legal context, i.e. the Acts, the interpretation made by the High Courts at Calcutta, Karnataka, Kerala, Bombay, Madras and Andhra Pradesh may be followed.

4. On the other hand, learned counsel for the revenue have relied on another set of decisions of other High Courts to contend, the view taken by the Delhi High Court, High Court of Jammu & Kashmir and Ladakh, Calcutta High Court, Kerala High Court and Bombay High Court, to contend that a composite notice may be issued as it does not cause any prejudice and it does not involve any violation of the law. To the extent, the basis of the proposed demands and the proposed demands of tax and penalty have been clearly quantified, it remains with the noticee to respond to such notices in such way and in such manner as may be advised.

5. As to the remaining contentions, it has been submitted, statutory remedy of reply and appeal is available to the noticees. Therefore, no interference is warranted in the present batch of petitions.

6. Before proceeding further, we may reduce the bare facts involved in these cases in tabular form:

7. Next, the facts giving rise to Writ Tax No. 7515 of 2025 (M/S S.A. Aromatics Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Union of India and others), may be noted in brief. On 07.06.2019, a search was conducted in the case of that petitioner M/S S.A. Aromatics Pvt. Ltd. by the Central GST Authorities. Also, on 24.2.2020 officers of the State GST Department conducted a search at the premises of the said petitioner and seized a consignment of scented tobacco and books of accounts. A summary order was issued under Section 67 of the West Bengal GST Act, 2017/CGST Act, 2017, on 28.2.2020. On 11.3.2020, the said petitioner paid the demand of CGST and SGST together with cess, interest and penalty, for the Financial Year 2019-20 amounting to Rs. 7,91,668/-. On 24.03.2020, the said petitioner further paid tax, interest and penalty against the DRC-03. It was issued acknowledgement of such voluntary payment made under Section 74 (5) of the West Bengal GST Act, 2017, on 30.03.2021.

8. Thereafter, another search was conducted in the case of petitioner no. 2 on 17.04.2023. Yet, another search was conducted in the case of petitioner no. 1 M/S S.A. Aromatics Pvt. Ltd., on 18.04.2023. Statement made by petitioner no. 2 during his search was later retracted. In any case, petitioner no. 1 again made payment Rs. 15,53,522/- towards tax, interest and penalty, on 24.5.2023 against DRC-03. On 03.08.2023, another search was carried out by the officers of West Bengal GST Authority in the case of petitioner no. 1. On 11.09.2024, the premises of petitioner no. 1 were again inspected by the West Bengal GST Authority. However, a closure report was issued in that respect, on 17.03.2025. Thereafter, proceedings were initiated and continued calling for statements to be recorded and replies to be furnished. Later, the impugned SCN dated 30.09.2025, was issued to petitioner nos. 1 and 2.

9. In these facts, the petitioner M/S S.A. Aromatics Pvt. Ltd. has approached the Court, with the grievance noted earlier in this order. At the same time, in the two cases involving the petitioners

- M/S S.A. Aromatics Pvt. Ltd., M/S S.D. Fresheners Limited, an additional ground has been pressed that the SCN impugned in these writ petitions suffer from jurisdictional error on account of violation of Section 6(2)(b) of the Acts. Details of the same have been given in a tabular form, as below:

“Comments:-It has been seen that the search by DRI&E, Kolkata dated 24-02-2020, periods covered was from April’2019 to March’2020

search by SGST dated 11.09.2024, periods covered was from April2021 to Sep’2024

search by SGST dated 13.06.2025 based on comparison of sales of Pan Masala with Tobacco, periods covered was from April’2021 to March’2025

in S.A.Aromatics Pvt Ltd and in S D Freshners Limited periods covered was from April’2024 to March’2025 but it was comperative to Apr’2021 to March’2025

search by DGGI dated 17.04.2023 period covered was Oct’2019 to Sep’2023

Remarks:- So it is clear that the periods covered by DGGI is already covered in case DRI&E dt. 24-02-2020, SGST dt. 11-09-2024 and SGST dt. 13-06-2025.”

10. These petitions involving common issues have been heard together. Mr. Dhruv Agarwal, learned Senior Counsel would submit that the power to tax a subject must be express. He relied on State of West Bengal Vs. Kesoram Industries Ltd. and others, (2004) 10 SCC 201, wherein it has been observed as below:

“106. The judicial opinion of binding authority flowing from several pronouncements of this Court has settled these principles: (i) in interpreting a taxing statute, equitable considerations are entirely out of place. Taxing statutes cannot be interpreted on any presumption or assumption. A taxing statute has to be interpreted in the light of what is clearly expressed; it cannot imply anything which is not expressed; it cannot import provisions in the statute so as to supply any deficiency; (ii) before taxing any person it must be shown that he falls within the ambit of the charging section by clear words used in the section; and (iii) if the words are ambiguous and open to two interpretations, the benefit of interpretation is given to the subject. There is nothing unjust in the taxpayer escaping if the letter of the law fails to catch him on account of the legislature's failure to express itself clearly.

107. Power to tax is not an incidental power. According to Seervai, although legislative power includes all incidental and subsidiary power, the power to impose a tax is not such a power under our Constitution. It is for this reason that it was held that the power to legislate in respect of inter-State trade and commerce (Entry 42 List I Schedule 7) did not carry with it the power to tax the sale of goods in inter-State trade and commerce before the insertion of Entry 92-A in List I and such power belonged to the States under Entry 54 in List II. Entry 97 in List I also militated against the contention that the power to tax is an incidental power under our Constitution.”

11. Second, he has invoked the principle - where a power is conferred to do a certain thing in a certain manner, that thing must be done in that way or not at all. Thus, he has relied on Dhananjaya Reddy Vs. State of Karnataka, (2001) 4 SCC 9; CIT, Mumbai Vs. Anjum M.H. Ghaswala and others, (2002) 1 SCC 633; Mehsana District Central Cooperative Vs. State of Gujarat and others, (2004) 2 SCC 463.

12. Third, referring to the language of Section 73 and comparing the same with Section 74 of the Acts, specifically referring to the provisions pertaining to Section 73/74 (1), 73/74 (2) and 73/74 (10), it has been stressed - the limitation to finalize any adjudication order is fixed/rigid. It has been prescribed with reference to the last date to furnish annual return for a Financial Year or (in the alternative) with reference to the date of refund. Cases of refund apart, the period of limitation is clearly referable to a Financial Year and/or tax period for which a return is to be filed.

13. That period of limitation being rigid and fixed, the limitation to issue a notice under Section 73/74 (1) ends three months (in cases falling under Section 73) and six months (in the case of Section 74 proceedings), before the end of the limitation to frame the order. To the extent the SCN dated 30.09.2025 has been first received by petitioner no. 2 in Writ Tax No. 7515 of 2025 on 8.10.2025, after expiry of minimum time limitation prescribed under Section 74 (3) read with Section 74 (10), clearly those proceedings are time barred. Reliance has been placed on a coordinate bench decision of this Court in Daujee Abhushan Bhandar Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Union of India. That petition arose from re-assessment proceedings under the Income Tax Act, 1961. At present, it has been submitted, the notice to petitioner no.2 was not issued at any point in time before it was dispatched through e-mail, on 08.10.2025.

14. Elaborating his submission, learned Senior Counsel has relied on Maharao Bheem Singh of Kota Vs. CIT (2017) 1 SCC 554, State of Gujarat Vs Arcelor Mittal Nippon Steel (India) Ltd., (2022) 6 SCC 459 to submit - each Financial Year is an independent unit of assessment. Therefore, all SCNs required to be issued under Section 73/74 of the Acts may be issued only with reference to one or the other FY or tax period but not for more than one FY. Thus, in view of obligation to file annual returns, though it may be permissible for a proper officer to issue a SCN to a noticee for more than one tax period falling under one FY, a composite notice may never be issued for more than one tax period, falling in two different FYs.

15. Further, he would submit, wherever the legislature intended to provide for such composite notices to be issued, it has provided for the same, by enacting specific provisions to that effect such as those enacted under Chapter XIV - B of the Income Tax Act 1961 - for block assessment proceedings. Referring to those provisions, he has taken us to the definition of 'block period' (under the Act) and its effect - enabling the assessing authority to seek assessment of undisclosed income across more than one unit of assessment i.e. Assessment Year. In absence of any parallel provision existing under the Acts, that effect of substantive law may not arise during adjudication proceedings under the Acts.

16. In the same way, referring to Section 158-BD of the Income Tax Act 1961, it has been submitted, wherever the legislature intended to provide for assessment of any person, based on facts found against another, it has provided for the same through a specific provision. In absence of similar provisions existing under the Acts, the revenue authorities, i.e. the Proper Officers under the Acts, do not have jurisdiction to issue a composite notice to multiple/more than one noticee.

17. Fourth, objecting to considerations of administrative exigency or convenience, learned Senior Counsel has relied on State of U.P. and others Vs. Jai Prakash Associates Ltd., (2014) 4 SCC 720, to submit that the defence of administrative chaos may not be recognized as a good ground to defend a proceeding that lacks jurisdiction. To the same effect, reliance has been placed on B. Prabhakar Rao & others Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh & others, 1985 (SUPP) SCC 432.

18. The above submissions are described to have found acceptance of the Karnataka High Court in M/S Pramur Homes and Shelters Vs. Union of India and others, 2025:KHC:52750. That High Court has reasoned - occasioned by the requirement to file monthly, quarterly and annual returns and the time limit prescribed, the requirement to issue individual SCNs for the purposes of adjudication may remain referable to the 'tax period' or a FY. Keeping in mind the principle applicable to assessment and payment of tax linked to the tax period and the timelines arising with reference thereto, it has been further reasoned that the decision of the Delhi High Court in M/s Mathur Polymers Vs. Union of India, 2025:DHC:7435-DB may not be a good law. The fact that the Special Leave Petition arising therefrom came to be dismissed by the Supreme Court may not cause any precedential effect in law.

19. Reliance has also been placed on a decision of Bombay High Court in M/s Milroc Good Earth Developers Vs. Union of India, (2025) 36 Centax, 97 (Bom) wherein the decision of the Delhi High Court in Ambika Traders Vs. Additional Commissioner, (2025) 33 Centax 189 has been distinguished.

20. Further, the Bombay High Court (Goa Bench) has applied the ratio of the decisions of Madras and Kerala High Courts in Titan Company Ltd. Vs. Joint Commissioner, (2024) 15 Centax 118 (Mad.); R.A. & Co. Vs. Additional Commissioner of Central Taxes, Chennai South, (2025) 33 Centax 14 (Mad.) and Tharayil Medicals Vs. Deputy Commissioner, SGST Department, (2025) 29 Centax 395 (Ker.). In that the Bombay High Court has also taken note of the principle of law laid down by the Supreme Court in State of Jammu and Kashmir Vs. Caltex (India) Ltd., AIR 1966 SC 1350 wherein it was observed as below:

"where an assessment encompasses different assessment years, each assessment year could be easily split up and dissected and the items can be separated and taxed for different periods. The said law was laid down keeping in mind that each and every Assessment Year will have a separate period of limitation and the limitation will start independently and that is the reason why the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that each assessment year could be easily split up and dissected and the items can be separated and taxed for different period. The said principle would apply to the present case as well."

21. Fifth, on the applicability of Section 6(2)(b) of the Acts, it has been submitted, that issue is no longer res integra. Directly, in the case of G. K. Trading Company Vs. Union of India & Ors., 2020 SCC OnLine All 1907, a coordinate bench of this Court had clearly ruled against multiple proceedings initiated in violation of Section 6(2)(b) of the Acts. That decision of this Court has been considered and the same principle applied recently by the Supreme Court in Armour Security (India) Ltd. Vs. Commissioner, CGST, Delhi East Commissionerate & Anr., 2025 SCC OnLine SC 1700. Referring to the chart (relied by him) i.e. the second table extracted above, it has been submitted, except for FY 2020-21, all other proceedings for all other 'tax periods' are covered under Section 74(5) of the Acts. To that extent, the impugned show-cause notice would remain barred on the strength of Section 6(2)(b) of the Acts.

22. Last, it has been submitted, the view taken by the Delhi High Court in M/s Mathur Polymers (supra) and Ambika Traders (supra) has not attained finality as may lend strong persuasive value to it. In a later case - M/s Aparna Collection Vs. Union of India & Ors. W.P.(C) No. 890/2025, the writ petition filed directly before the Supreme Court under Article 32 of the Constitution of India was disposed of with the following observation:

"The petitioner will be at liberty to bring to the notice of High Court the decisions of the Madras High Court and the Andhra Pradesh High Court and it can be considered and disposed of by the High Court on its own merits."

Thus, the issue is again engaging attention of the Delhi High Court. It has issued notice on the petition filed by M/s Aparna Collection (supra).

23. Mr. Suyash Agrawal, learned counsel for some of the petitioners, has first adopted the submissions advanced by Mr. Dhruv Agarwal, learned Senior Advocate. He has pointed out that the adjudication proceedings challenged in Writ Tax Nos. 2247 of 2025 and 2454 of 2025 are barred on the principle contained in Section 6(2)(b) of the Acts.

24. An additional ground has been pressed by Mr. Suyash Agrawal in Writ Tax No. 2246 of 2025; 2247 of 2025; 2454 of 2025 and 2456 of 2025. It is thus submitted, against one SCN issued by the authority at Meerut, two adjudication orders have emerged - one by the Meerut authority and the other by the authority at Lucknow. Such proceedings are inherently defective as may never be sustained. The details of those proceedings thus assailed are summarized as below:

Sl. No.	Writ Tax	Name	Show Notice	Cause	Adjudication Order/Rectification Order	Passed under Section	F.Y.
1.	2246/2025	Raj Trade Link Corporation Vs. Union of India and 2 others	30.04.2022		01.02.2025	74(1)	2024-25

2.	2247/2025	Raj Trade Link Corporation Vs. Union of India and 3 others	30.04.2022	01.02.2025	74(1)	2024-25
3.	2454/2025	Raj Trade Link Corporation Vs. Union of India and 3 others	30.04.2022	23.09.2024	74(1)	2024-25
4.	2456/2025	Raj Trade Link Corporation Vs. Union of India and 3 others	30.04.2022	23.09.2024	74(1)	2024-25

25. In addition, he has further referred to the liabilities of persons registered under the Acts and persons not liable to registration. With reference to persons liable to registration, he has referred to the compliance obligation imposed on those persons - to file monthly and annual returns. He has referred to provisions of Section 74(3) of the Acts and relied on the words 'any period' and the phrase 'for such tax periods' appearing in Sub-Section 4 of the said Section. He would submit-allegations of fraud or willful suppression etc. must be recorded with reference to each 'tax period', separately. There can be no omnibus recital of those jurisdictional facts, pertaining to different 'tax periods', spread across different/more than one Financial Year, in a single Show Cause Notice. Elaborating his submission, he would submit, the word 'period' is not defined under the Acts, though the phrase 'tax period' is defined under Section 2(108) of the Acts. This means and refers only to a 'period' for which a return is required to be furnished under the Acts.

26. Next, he would submit, under Section 73 of the Acts, adjudication proceedings are preceded by search, scrutiny or audit. Under Section 61(3) of the Acts, the return may be processed. Only if no satisfactory explanation is furnished ☐for the month☐, appropriate action may be initiated, including adjudication. Further, by virtue of Section 74(10) of the Acts, an adjudication order itself is required to be passed within time prescribed with reference to the date of furnishing return. Since return may be furnished only with respect to a 'tax period', inherently under Section 74 of the Acts, such proceedings must arise and be restricted to one 'tax period', not exceeding a FY, against one SCN.

27. Then, referring to Rule 142 of the Rules framed under the Acts, it has been submitted that DRC-07 itself may not be issued for more than one FY. Hence adjudication proceedings may also be initiated, conducted and included, for one FY at a time, only.

28. With respect to challenge raised in Writ Tax No. 2247 of 2025, an additional ground based on Section 6(2)(b) of the Acts has been pressed. It has been pointed out that a SCN was issued on 18.01.2021 and order passed on 08.12.2021 under Section 122 of the U.P.G.S.T. Act. Later, the impugned Show Cause Notice dated 30.04.2022 was issued by the CGST authorities. That is clearly barred on the principle contained in Section 6(2)(b) of the Acts.

29. Next, Mr. Praveen Kumar, learned counsel for the petitioner in Writ Tax No. 4965 of 2025 has also adopted the submissions advanced by Mr. Dhruv Agarwal, learned Senior Advocate. He has pressed additional ground that no adjudication proceeding may have arisen because the recipient disclosed higher value and for that reason only short payment has been alleged.

30. Mr. Pranjal Shukla, learned counsel appearing in Writ Tax Nos. 1000 of 2025 and 1119 of 2025, has adopted the submissions advanced by Mr. Dhruv Agarwal, learned Senior Advocate.

31. Last, besides adopting the submissions advanced by other counsel for the petitioners, Mr. Bharat Raichandani, learned counsel appearing in Writ Tax No. 2537 of 2025 would submit, in the present case, the assessee was issued a composite notice for FYs 2017-18 and 2018-19. Referring extensively to the provisions of the Acts, he would stress that assessment may be made for a FY or its part, but never for more than one FY. He has taken us through the provisions for registration; Section 31 providing for issuance of Tax Invoice; Section 36 pertaining to period of retention of books of account; Section 37 pertaining to furnishing details of outward supplies; Section 39 pertaining to filing of annual returns; Section 49 pertaining to payment of tax, interest penalty and other amounts; the provisions falling under Chapter XII of the Acts pertaining to assessment including Section 59 pertaining to self-assessment, Section 60 pertaining to provisional assessment, Section 62 pertaining to assessment of non-filers (of return), Section 63 pertaining to assessment of unregistered persons. Reference has also been made to Section 35 of the Acts pertaining to audit provisions to be read with Rule 101, that clearly stipulates that audit may be done for a FY or a part thereof, or multiples thereof. Thus, wherever the legislature has permitted a single proceeding to encompass 'tax period' beyond one FY, it has specifically provided for the same using the expression "multiples thereof". To the extent no legislative intendment may exist either on a plain reading of Section 73 or Section 74 of the Acts, those proceedings must remain confined to 'period' not exceeding one FY, through one SCN.

32. Reference has also been made to the amnesty schemes brought under the Acts that were introduced and enforced keeping in mind the principle of one FY being one assessment unit. The concept of multiple 'tax periods' being bunched into a single proceeding under the Acts is alien to the basic scheme of the Acts. Even offences and compounding measures have been provided under the Acts on a Financial Year basis only.

33. Meeting the above submissions, Mr. Dhananjay Awasthi, learned counsel for the revenue has first pointed out that the provisions of Section 74 of the Acts are pari materia to provisions of Section 11A of the Central Excise Act, 1944. Heavily relying on the reasoning offered by the Delhi High Court in Ambika Traders (supra), he would submit, there is no bar in law to issue a single SCN for multiple 'tax periods'. He has placed great reliance on the true import of Section 74 (10) of the Acts, to submit - the same is only a time limitation provision but not a provision to limit the scope of the proceedings initiated under a SCN. The said provision only provides the end date for termination of an adjudication proceeding. For that purpose, the legislature thought it fit to prescribe the outside time limit with reference to the last date of filing annual return for a tax period for which adjudication notice may have been issued. It does not limit or define the scope of the SCN. Rather, it defines the end point of time for such proceedings. Relying by the dozen, Shri Awasthi has placed before us decisions and orders of other High Courts including some not interfered with by the Supreme Court, upon Special Leave to Appeal filed there against. Reliance has also been placed on M/s Mathur Polymers (supra) against which Special Leave Petition (Civil) No. 50279 of 2025 was dismissed by the Supreme Court on 07.11.2025 and other decisions of the High Court of Jammu & Kashmir and Ladakh in R.K. Ispat Ltd. vs Union of India & Ors., dated 30.9.2025; Kerala High Court in X.L. Interiors vs Deputy Commissioner (Intelligence),

(2024) 25 Centax 416 (Ker.), Calcutta High Court in Britannia Industries Ltd. vs Union of India, (2024) 25 Centax 430 (Cal.); Delhi High Court in Delhi Foils vs Additional Commissioner, (2025) 31 Centax 253 (Del.); Bombay High Court in Riocare India Pvt. Ltd. vs Assistant Commissioner, CGST and C.Ex., (2025) 95 GSTL 39 (Bom.)

34. Relying on a Circular issued by the CBIC dated 15.09.2025, it has been stressed, in view of pan-India application of the C.G.S.T. Act, 2017, a singular interpretation made in favour of the revenue is being enforced.

35. Then relying on Sangeeta Singh vs Union of India (UOI) & Ors., (2005) 7 SCC 484, it has been stressed, the decisions of the other High Courts relied by the learned counsel for the petitioners, to the extent they seek to supply casus omissus without pre-conditions established therefor, do not lay down the correct law.

36. Next, reliance has been placed on Palm Groves Cooperative Housing Society Ltd. vs Magar Girme and Gaikwad Associates & Ors., (2025) INSC 1023 and Grasim Industries Ltd. vs Collector of Customs, Bombay, (2002) 4 SCC 297.

37. Mr. Gaurav Mahajan learned counsel for the revenue in some of the other matters has first adopted the submissions advanced by Mr. Dhananjay Awasthi. Second, he would submit, GST laws are unique. They are transaction based, not only for the purpose of levy or impost of tax but also for adjudication of disputes as well. To the extent a dispute may arise with respect to levy or collection of the correct tax amount, the same may be settled through proper adjudication proceedings involving similar transactions, by the same assessee or the same set of assessees. For resolution of such disputes, the adjudication proceedings do not recognize the end boundaries of individual FYs, arising from regular returns filed by the parties to a dispute i.e. assessees. If a SCN issued involves other disputes for which jurisdictional facts may not be established, that issue may remain open to challenge in proper facts.

38. Last, it has been submitted, no prejudice may be caused to the petitioners by issuance of a common Show Cause Notice.

39. Mr. N.C. Gupta learned Senior Advocate assisted by Mr. Sudarshan Singh learned counsel for Union has also adopted the submissions advanced by Mr. Dhananjay Awasthi. He has also stressed that Section 2(106) is relevant only for the purpose of a 'tax period' for which a return may be filed. Referring to Section 73(3), he would submit that it permits the Proper Officer to demand tax for more than the period for which the initial SCN may have been issued. Also, it has been stressed that Section 73(10) is only a time limitation provision.

40. In rejoinder, Mr. Dhruv Agarwal learned Senior Counsel for the petitioners has also referred to Section 74A of the Acts to clarify - from FY 2024-25 the scheme of Section 73 and 74 stands merged but not for the prior periods. Referring to Caltex (India) Ltd (supra), he would submit that the said decision clarifies the position in law that an order of assessment may be passed for one AY, but not more.

41. Before we discuss the exact submissions advanced by learned counsel, on either side, certain provisions of the Acts are necessary to be noted. The words 'adjudicating authority', 'assessment', 'proper officer', 'quarter', 'return' and 'tax period' (amongst others) are defined under Section 2(4), 2(11), (91), (92), (97) and (106) of the Acts. They read as below:

'Section 2. - Definitions.-

(4) "adjudicating authority" means any authority, appointed or authorised to pass any order or decision under this Act, but does not include the [Central Board of Indirect Taxes and Customs], the Revisional Authority, the Authority for Advance Ruling, the Appellate Authority for Advance Ruling, [the National Appellate Authority for Advance Ruling,] [the Appellate Authority, the Appellate Tribunal and the Authority referred to in sub-section (2) of section 171]

(11). "assessment" means determination of tax liability under this Act and includes self-assessment, re-assessment, provisional assessment, summary assessment and best judgment assessment;

(91) "proper officer" in relation to any function to be performed under this Act, means the Commissioner or the officer of the Central tax who is assigned that function by the Commissioner in the Board;

(92) "quarter" shall mean a period comprising three consecutive calendar months, ending on the last day of March, June, September and December of a calendar year;

(97) "return" means any return prescribed or otherwise required to be furnished by or under this Act or the rules made thereunder;

(106) "tax period" means the period for which the return is required to be furnished;
(emphasis supplied)

42. Then, levy provision is contained in Section 9 of the Acts. Those provisions provide for tax on all intra-State and inter-State supplies of goods or services, except alcoholic liquor for human consumption and un-denatured extra neutral alcohol or rectified spirit used for manufacture of alcoholic liquor, for human consumption.

43. Furnishing of details for outward supplies is prescribed under Section 37 of the Acts. Relevant to our discussion, Sections 37(1) of the Acts reads as below:

"Section 37. Furnishing details of outward supplies.-

(1) Every registered person, other than an Input Service Distributor, a non-resident taxable person and a person paying tax under the provisions of section 10 or section 51 or section 52, shall furnish, electronically [subject to such conditions and restrictions and] in such form and manner as may be prescribed, the details of outward supplies of goods or services or both effected during a tax period on or before the tenth day of the month succeeding the said tax period and such details [shall, subject to such conditions and restrictions, within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed, be communicated to the recipient of the said supplies];

44. Then, the provision for furnishing of monthly and other returns is contained in Section 39 of the Acts. Relevant to our discussion, provisions of Section 39(1) and (2) of the Acts read as below:

“Section - 39.-Furnishing of returns.-

(1) Every registered person, other than an Input Service Distributor or a non-resident taxable person or a person paying tax under the provisions of section 10 or section 51 or section 52, for every calendar month or part thereof, furnish, a return, electronically, of inward and outward supplies of goods or services or both, input tax credit availed, tax payable, tax paid and such other particulars, in such form and manner, [within such time, and subject to such conditions and restrictions], as may be prescribed:

Provided that the Government may, on the recommendations of the Council, notify certain class of registered persons who shall furnish a return for every quarter or part thereof, subject to such conditions and restrictions as may be specified herein.

(2) A registered person paying tax under the provisions of section 10, shall, for each Financial Year or part thereof, furnish a return, electronically, of turnover in the State or Union territory, inward supplies of goods or services or both, tax payable, tax paid and such other particulars in such form and manner, and within such time, as may be prescribed.

45. Next, provision for furnishing of annual returns as it exists today, reads as below:

“Section 44. Annual return. -

(1) Every registered person, other than an Input Service Distributor, a person paying tax under section 51 or section 52, a casual taxable person and a non-resident taxable person shall furnish an annual return which may include a self-certified reconciliation statement, reconciling the value of supplies declared in the return furnished for the Financial Year, with the audited annual financial statement for every Financial Year electronically, within such time and in such form and in such manner as may be prescribed:

Provided that the Commissioner may, on the recommendations of the Council, by notification, exempt any class of registered persons from filing annual return under this section:

Provided further that nothing contained in this section shall apply to any department of the Central Government or a State Government or a local authority, whose books of account are subject to audit by the Comptroller and Auditor-General of India or an auditor appointed for auditing the accounts of local authorities under any law for the time being in force.]

(emphasis supplied)

46. Then, assessments are provided under Chapter XII of the Acts. In that, Sections 59, 60(1) and (3), 61(1), 62(1), 63 and 64(1), to the extent they are relevant to our discussion, read as below:

“59-Self-assessment

Every registered person shall self-assess the taxes payable under this Act and furnish a return for each tax period as specified under section 39.

60. Provisional assessment.-

(1) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (2), where the taxable person is unable to determine the value of goods or services or both or determine the rate of tax applicable thereto, he may request the proper officer in writing giving reasons for payment of tax on provisional basis and the proper officer shall pass an order, within a period not later than ninety days from the date of receipt of such request, allowing payment of tax on provisional basis at such rate or on such value as may be specified by him.

(3) The proper officer shall, within a period not exceeding six months from the date of the communication of the order issued under sub-section (1), pass the final assessment order after taking into account such information as may be required for finalizing the assessment:

Provided that the period specified in this sub-section may, on sufficient cause being shown and for reasons to be recorded in writing, be extended by the Joint Commissioner or Additional Commissioner for a further period not exceeding six months and by the Commissioner for such further period not exceeding four years.

61. Scrutiny of returns-

(1) The proper officer may scrutinize the return and related particulars furnished by the registered person to verify the correctness of the return and inform him of the discrepancies noticed, if any, in such manner as may be prescribed and seek his explanation thereto.

“62. Assessment of non-filers of returns-

(1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in section 73 or section 74 [or section 74A], where a registered person fails to furnish the return under section 39 or section 45, even after the service of a notice under section 46, the proper officer may proceed to assess the tax liability of the said person to the best of his judgement taking into account all the relevant material which is available or which he has gathered and issue an assessment order within a period of five years from the date specified under section 44 or furnishing of the annual return for the Financial Year to which the tax not paid relates.

63. Assessment of unregistered persons-

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in section 73 or section 74 [or section 74A], where a taxable person fails to obtain registration even though liable to do so or whose registration has been cancelled under sub-section (2) of section 29 but who was liable to pay tax, the proper officer may proceed to assess the tax liability of such taxable person to the best of his judgment for the relevant tax periods and issue an assessment order within a period of five years from the date specified under section 44□for furnishing of the annual return for the Financial Year to which the tax not paid relates:

Provided that no such assessment order shall be passed without giving the person an opportunity of being heard.

64. Summary assessment in certain special cases -

(1) The proper officer may, on any evidence showing a tax liability of a person coming to his notice, with the previous permission of Additional Commissioner or Joint Commissioner, proceed to assess the tax liability of such person to protect the interest of revenue and issue an assessment order, if he has sufficient grounds to believe that any delay in doing so may adversely affect the interest of revenue:

Provided that where the taxable person to whom the liability pertains is not ascertainable and such liability pertains to supply of goods, the person in charge of such goods shall be deemed to be the taxable person liable to be assessed and liable to pay tax and any other amount due under this section.

(emphasis supplied)

47. Since audit provisions have also been referred to during submissions advanced, we may take note of provisions of Section 65(1) and 66(1) of the Acts and Rule 101 of the Rules framed thereunder. They read as below:

“Section 65. Audit by tax authorities-

(1) The Commissioner or any officer authorised by him, by way of a general or a specific order, may undertake audit of any registered person for such period, at such frequency and in such manner as may be prescribed.

66. Special audit-

(1) If at any stage of scrutiny, inquiry, investigation or any other proceedings before him, any officer not below the rank of Assistant Commissioner, having regard to the nature and complexity of the case and the interest of revenue, is of the opinion that the value has not been correctly declared or the credit availed is not within the normal limits, he may, with the prior approval of the Commissioner, direct such registered person by a communication in writing to get his records including books of account examined and audited by a chartered accountant or a cost accountant as may be nominated by the Commissioner.

Rule 101 of CGST Rules 2017101. Audit-

(1) The period of audit to be conducted under sub-section (1) of section 65 shall be a Financial Year [or part thereof] or multiples thereof.

(2) Where it is decided to undertake the audit of a registered person in accordance with the provisions of section 65, the proper officer shall issue a notice in FORM GST ADT-01 in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (3) of the said section.

(3) The proper officer authorised to conduct audit of the records and the books of account of the registered person shall, with the assistance of the team of officers and officials accompanying him, verify the documents on the basis of which the books of account are maintained and the returns and statements furnished under the provisions of the Act and the rules made thereunder, the correctness of the turnover, exemptions and deductions claimed, the rate of tax applied in respect of the supply of goods or services or both, the input tax credit availed and utilised, refund claimed, and other relevant issues and record the observations in his audit notes.

(4) The proper officer may inform the registered person of the discrepancies noticed, if any, as observed in the audit and the said person may file his reply and the proper officer shall finalise the findings of the audit after due consideration of the reply furnished.

(5) On conclusion of the audit, the proper officer shall inform the findings of audit to the registered person in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (6) of section 65 in FORM GST ADT-02.

48. In that background, we may now notice the provisions of Section 73, 74 and 74A of the Acts. They read as below:

“73. Determination of tax [pertaining to the period up to Financial Year 2023-24,] not paid or short paid or erroneously refunded or input tax credit wrongly availed or utilised for any reason other than fraud or any willful-misstatement or suppression of facts.-

(1) Where it appears to the proper officer that any tax has not been paid or short paid or erroneously refunded, or where input tax credit has been wrongly availed or utilised for any reason, other than the reason of fraud or any wilful-misstatement or suppression of facts to evade tax, he shall serve notice on the person chargeable with tax which has not been so paid or which has been so short paid or to whom the refund has erroneously been made, or who has wrongly availed or utilised input tax credit, requiring him to show cause as to why he should not pay the amount specified in the notice along with interest payable thereon under 'section 50' and a penalty leviable under the provisions of this Act or the rules made thereunder.

(2) The proper officer shall issue the notice under sub-section (1) at least three months prior to the time limit specified in sub-section (10) for issuance of order.

(3) Where a notice has been issued for any period under sub-section (1), the proper officer may serve a statement, containing the details of tax not paid or short paid or erroneously refunded or input tax credit wrongly availed or utilised for such periods other than those covered under sub-section (1), on the person chargeable with tax.

(4) The service of such statement shall be deemed to be service of notice on such person under sub-section (1), subject to the condition that the grounds relied upon for such tax periods other than those covered under sub-section (1) are the same as are mentioned in the earlier notice.

(5) The person chargeable with tax may, before service of notice under subsection (1) or, as the case may be, the statement under sub-section (3), pay the amount of tax along with interest payable thereon under section 50 on the basis of his own ascertainment of such tax or the tax as ascertained by the proper officer and inform the proper officer in writing of such payment.

(6) The proper officer, on receipt of such information, shall not serve any notice under sub-section (1) or, as the case may be, the statement under sub-section (3), in respect of the tax so paid or any penalty payable under the provisions of this Act or the rules made thereunder.

(7) Where the proper officer is of the opinion that the amount paid under sub-section (5) falls short of the amount actually payable, he shall proceed to issue the notice as provided for in sub-section (1) in respect of such amount which falls short of the amount actually payable.

(8) Where any person chargeable with tax under sub-section (1) or sub-section (3) pays the said tax along with interest payable under section 50 within thirty days of issue of Show Cause Notice, no penalty shall be payable and all proceedings in respect of the said notice shall be deemed to be concluded.

(9) The proper officer shall, after considering the representation, if any, made by person chargeable with tax, determine the amount of tax, interest and a penalty equivalent to ten per cent. of tax or ten thousand rupees, whichever is higher, due from such person and issue an order.

(10) The proper officer shall issue the order under sub-section (9) within three years from the due date for furnishing of annual return for the Financial Year to which the tax not paid or short paid or input tax credit wrongly availed or utilised relates to or within three years from the date of erroneous refund.

(11) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (6) or sub-section (8), penalty under sub-section (9) shall be payable where any amount of self-assessed tax or any amount collected as tax has not been paid within a period of thirty days from the due date of payment of such tax.

(12) The provisions of this section shall be applicable for determination of tax pertaining to the period up to Financial Year 2023-24.

74. Determination of tax [pertaining to the period up to Financial Year 2023-24,] not paid or short paid or erroneously refunded or input tax credit wrongly availed or utilised by reason of fraud or any willful- misstatement or suppression of facts.-

(1) Where it appears to the proper officer that any tax has not been paid or short paid or erroneously refunded or where input tax credit has been wrongly availed or utilised by reason of fraud, or any wilful-misstatement or suppression of facts to evade tax, he shall serve notice on the person chargeable with tax which has not been so paid or which has been so short paid or to whom the refund has erroneously been made, or who has wrongly availed or utilised input tax credit, requiring him to show cause as to why he should not pay the amount specified in the notice along with interest payable thereon under 'section 50' and a penalty equivalent to the tax specified in the notice.

(2) The proper officer shall issue the notice under sub-section (1) at least six months prior to the time limit specified in sub-section (10) for issuance of order.

(3) Where a notice has been issued for any period under sub-section (1), the proper officer may serve a statement, containing the details of tax not paid or short paid or erroneously refunded or input tax credit wrongly availed or utilised for such periods other than those covered under sub-section (1), on the person chargeable with tax.

(4) The service of statement under sub-section (3) shall be deemed to be service of notice under sub-section (1) of section 73, subject to the condition that the grounds relied upon in the said statement, except the ground of fraud, or any wilful-misstatement or suppression of facts to evade tax, for periods other than those covered under subsection (1) are the same as are mentioned in the earlier notice.

(5) The person chargeable with tax may, before service of notice under sub-section (1), pay the amount of tax along with interest payable under section 50 and a penalty equivalent to fifteen per cent. of such tax on the basis of his own ascertainment of such tax or the tax as ascertained by the proper officer and inform the proper officer in writing of such payment.

(6) The proper officer, on receipt of such information, shall not serve any notice under sub-section (1), in respect of the tax so paid or any penalty payable under the provisions of this Act or the rules made thereunder.

(7) Where the proper officer is of the opinion that the amount paid under sub-section (5) falls short of the amount actually payable, he shall proceed to issue the notice as provided for in sub-section (1) in respect of such amount which falls short of the amount actually payable.

(8) Where any person chargeable with tax under sub-section (1) pays the said tax along with interest payable under 'section 50' and a penalty equivalent to twenty-five per cent. of such tax within thirty days of issue of the notice, all proceedings in respect of the said notice shall be deemed to be concluded.

(9) The proper officer shall, after considering the representation, if any, made by the person chargeable with tax, determine the amount of tax, interest and penalty due from such person and issue an order.

(10) The proper officer shall issue the order under sub-section (9) within a period of five years from the due date for furnishing of annual return for the Financial Year to which the tax not paid or short paid or input tax credit wrongly availed or utilised relates to or within five years from the date of erroneous refund.

(11) Where any person served with an order issued under sub-section (9) pays the tax along with interest payable thereon under 'section 50' and a penalty equivalent to fifty per cent. of such tax within thirty days of communication of the order, all proceedings in respect of the said notice shall be deemed to be concluded.

(12) The provisions of this section shall be applicable for determination of tax pertaining to the period up to Financial Year 2023-24.

Explanation 1.-For the purposes of section 73 and this section,-

(i) the expression "all proceedings in respect of the said notice" shall not include proceedings under 'section 132;

(ii) where the notice under the same proceedings is issued to the main person liable to pay tax and some other persons, and such proceedings against the main person have been concluded under 'section 73' or 'section 74, the proceedings against all the persons liable to pay penalty under [sections 122 and 125] are deemed to be concluded.

74A. Determination of tax not paid or short paid or erroneously refunded or input tax credit wrongly availed or utilised for any reason pertaining to Financial Year 2024-25 onward.-

(1) Where it appears to the proper officer that any tax has not been paid or short paid or erroneously refunded, or where input tax credit has been wrongly availed or utilised, he shall serve notice on the person chargeable with tax which has not been so paid or which has been so short paid or to whom the refund has erroneously been made, or who has wrongly availed or utilised input tax credit, requiring him to show cause as to why he should not pay the amount specified in the notice along with interest payable thereon under section 50 and a penalty leviable under the provisions of this Act or the rules made thereunder:

Provided that no notice shall be issued, if the tax which has not been paid or short paid or erroneously refunded or where input tax credit has been wrongly availed or utilised in a Financial Year is less than one thousand rupees.

(2) The proper officer shall issue the notice under sub-section (1) within forty-two months from the due date for furnishing of annual return for the Financial Year to which the tax not paid or short paid or input tax credit wrongly availed or utilised relates to or within forty-two months from the date of erroneous refund.

(3) Where a notice has been issued for any period under sub-section (1), the proper officer may serve a statement, containing the details of tax not paid or short paid or erroneously refunded or input tax credit wrongly availed or utilised for such periods other than those covered under sub-section (1), on the person chargeable with tax.

(4) The service of such statement shall be deemed to be service of notice on such person under sub-section (1), subject to the condition that the grounds relied upon for such tax periods other than those covered under sub-section (1) are the same as are mentioned in the earlier notice.

(5) The penalty in case where any tax which has not been paid or short paid or erroneously refunded, or where input tax credit has been wrongly availed or utilised,

(i) for any reason, other than the reason of fraud or any wilful-misstatement or suppression of facts to evade tax, shall be equivalent to ten per cent. of tax due from such person or ten thousand rupees, whichever is higher;

(ii) for the reason of fraud or any wilful-misstatement or suppression of facts to evade tax shall be equivalent to the tax due from such person. □

(6) The proper officer shall, after considering the representation, if any, made by the person chargeable with tax, determine the amount of tax, interest and penalty due from such person and issue an order.

(7) The proper officer shall issue the order under sub-section (6) within twelve months from the date of issuance of notice specified in sub-section (2):

Provided that where the proper officer is not able to issue the order within the specified period, the Commissioner, or an officer authorised by the Commissioner senior in rank to the proper officer but not below the rank of Joint Commissioner of Central Tax, may, having regard to the reasons for delay in issuance of the order under sub-section (6), to be recorded in writing, before the expiry of the specified period, extend the said period further by a maximum of six months.

(8) The person chargeable with tax where any tax has not been paid or short paid or erroneously refunded, or where input tax credit has been wrongly availed or utilised for any reason, other than the reason of fraud or any wilful-misstatement or suppression of facts to evade tax, may,

(i) before service of notice under sub-section (1), pay the amount of tax along with interest payable under section 50 of such tax on the basis of his own ascertainment of such tax or the tax as ascertained by the proper officer and inform the proper officer in writing of such payment, and the proper officer, on receipt of such information shall not serve any notice under sub-section (1) or the statement under sub-section (3), as the case may be, in respect of the tax so paid or any penalty payable under the provisions of this Act or the rules made thereunder;

(ii) pay the said tax along with interest payable under section 50 within sixty days of issue of Show Cause Notice, and on doing so, no penalty shall be payable and all proceedings in respect of the said notice shall be deemed to be concluded.

(9) The person chargeable with tax, where any tax has not been paid or short paid or erroneously refunded or where input tax credit has been wrongly availed or utilised by reason of fraud, or any wilful-misstatement or suppression of facts to evade tax, may,

(i) before service of notice under sub-section (1), pay the amount of tax along with interest payable under section 50 and a penalty equivalent to fifteen per cent. of such tax on the basis of his own ascertainment of such tax or the tax as ascertained by the proper officer and inform the proper officer in writing of such payment, and the proper officer, on receipt of such information, shall not serve any notice under sub-section (1), in respect of the tax so paid or any penalty payable under the provisions of this Act or the rules made thereunder;

(ii) pay the said tax along with interest payable under section 50 and a penalty equivalent to twenty-five per cent. of such tax within sixty days of issue of the notice, and on doing so, all proceedings in respect of the said notice shall be deemed to be concluded;

(iii) pay the tax along with interest payable thereon under section 50 and a penalty equivalent to fifty per cent. of such tax within sixty days of communication of the order, and on doing so, all proceedings in respect of the said notice shall be deemed to be concluded.

(10) Where the proper officer is of the opinion that the amount paid under clause (i) of sub-section (8) or clause (i) of sub-section (9) falls short of the amount actually payable, he shall proceed to issue the notice as provided for in sub-section (1) in respect of such amount which falls short of the amount actually payable.

(11) Notwithstanding anything contained in clause (i) or clause (ii) of sub-section (8), penalty under clause (i) of sub-section (5) shall be payable where any amount of self-assessed tax or any amount collected as tax has not been paid within a period of thirty days from the due date of payment of such tax.

(12) The provisions of this section shall be applicable for determination of tax pertaining to the Financial Year 2024-25 onwards.

Explanation 1. For the purposes of this section,

(i) the expression all proceedings in respect of the said notice shall not include proceedings under section 132;

(ii) where the notice under the same proceedings is issued to the main person liable to pay tax and some other persons, and such proceedings against the main person have been concluded under this section, the proceedings against all the persons liable to pay penalty under sections 122 and 125 are deemed to be concluded.

Explanation 2. For the purposes of this Act, the expression suppression shall mean non-declaration of facts or information which a taxable person is required to declare in the return, statement, report or any other document furnished under this Act or the rules made thereunder, or failure to furnish any information on being asked for, in writing, by the proper officer.]

(10) The adjudication proceedings shall be deemed to be concluded, if the order is not issued within the period specified in sub-section (10) of section 73 or in sub-section (10) of section 74 or in sub-section (7) of section 74A.”

50. The judicial opinion on the core issue raised in this batch of petitions is divided between different High Courts. In that, this Court has yet not taken a view. On one hand, there are decisions of the Delhi High Court in M/s Mathur Polymers (supra); Ambika Traders (supra) and, Delhi Foils (supra) as also of the High Court of Jammu and Kashmir and Laddakh in R.K. Ispat Ltd. (supra); of the Kerala High Court in X.L. Interiors (supra); of the Calcutta High Court in Britannia Industries Ltd. (supra) as also a decision of Bombay High Court in Riocare India Private Ltd. (supra). Those have been relied by learned counsel for the revenue. On the other hand, there are decisions of the Karnataka High Court in M/S Pramur Homes and Shelters (supra); Bombay High Court in M/s Milroc Good Earth Developers (supra); Madras High Court in Titan Company Ltd. (supra); and R.A. & Co. (supra) and Kerala High Court in Tharayil Medicals (supra).

51. Though there is no direct decision of the Supreme Court laying down the binding law, at the same time, it is a fact-after Special Leave to Appeal against M/s Mathur Polymers (supra) and Ambika Traders (supra) were dismissed, in M/s Aparna Collection (supra) on a writ petition being filed directly before the Supreme Court under Article 32 of the Constitution of India, the matter has been required to be examined by the Delhi High Court. That proceeding is pending.

52. We are benefited by the views and the counter views that have enriched the legal discourse experienced before different High Courts and their decisions that help us carry that discourse further on the issue - whether a SCN notice may be issued under Section 73/74 of the Acts involving more than one tax period, stretching beyond one FY and/or involving more than one noticee. Primarily, the interpretation made in favour of the revenue has sprung from the language of Sections 73 & 74 of the Acts. The decisions of the High Courts in favour of the revenue tend to reason that there is no warrant to read the word 'period' used in those provisions narrowly-to include therein a single tax period and in any case tax periods falling in one FY, only. In doing that, the other provisions of the Acts have also to be read.

53. On the other hand, the decisions in favour of the petitioners tend to reason that strict construction must be offered to the language of the Acts. Further, it is fundamental to tax jurisprudence that the unit of assessment is an AY or a FY. Also, enquiries, assessment and adjudication are based on filing of returns, therefore, adjudication process must also be referable only to that unit of assessment i.e. AY or FY only.

54. With respect, we are unable to subscribe to either view. Undeniably, the Acts are new/latest addition to the tax legislations. They came into existence and derive force of law from the 101st Constitutional Amendment and the consequent infusion of legislative competence. To that extent, the Acts do not offer continuance of the pre-existing Sales Tax or Central Excise or State Excise or Service Tax or Entry Tax laws. The Acts are not a continuance of the pre-existing laws. Rather, they are completely new legislations providing for a new levy together with a mechanism for levy, assessment as also determination of tax short paid or short levied etc.

55. Therefore, before the exact language of Sections 73 and 74 may be examined, to us it appears imperative to look at the general scheme of the Acts. For that purpose, we have extracted in extenso, the provisions of the Acts. Under the definition clause, namely Section 2 of the Acts 'Adjudicating Authority' has been defined to mean an authority that may make an order or decision under the Acts. Clearly, Adjudicating Authority, amongst others, may Act with respect to proceedings that may arise under Sections 73 and 74 of the Acts. Also defined under Section 2(91) of the Acts is the phrase 'Proper Officer,' meaning an Officer, who may be assigned to perform any function under the Acts. Again, amongst others, it is also referable to proceedings under Sections 73 and 74 of the Acts. Thus, the Proper Officer may act as the Adjudicating Authority under Sections 73 or 74 of the Acts.

56. Then, there are provisions defining the term 'quarter' [under Section 2(92) of the Acts], as the period of three consecutive calendar months ending on the last days of March, June, September and December, of every calendar year. The word 'return' defined under Section 2(97) of the Acts, means a return that may be prescribed under the Rules. Also, the words 'Tax Period' mean the period for which a return is required to be furnished. Read together with the substantive provisions, they do create a concept of FY as a unit of assessment.

57. As to furnishing returns, obligations have been created under Section 37 of the Acts, (to be complied with by suppliers); under Section 39, on every registered person, for every calendar month or part thereof and under Section 44, to file annual returns. That obligation may be further extended - to require filing of returns for every 'quarter', as well. Therefore, the obligation to file returns for each unit of assessment is clearly linked to a calendar month and FY, as understood in the realm of fiscal regimes. It may also extend to a quarter. To that extent there is no doubt. However, that obligation created by the law appears to be for the purpose of filing returns and payment of tax on self-assessment basis only.

58. Coming to the modes of assessment of tax liability, the Acts provide for a 'self-assessment' as the first mode for assessment and for payment of taxes under the Acts. It is directly linked to furnishing of returns. Therefore, it is return based i.e. linked to 'period', be it a month, quarter or Financial Year. Thus, under Section 59 of the Act, every registered person is obligated to self-assess his tax liability and furnish returns for that tax period, i.e., month or part thereof and Financial Year, and quarter, if required. If such person is unable to determine the value of goods or services or both or is unable to determine the rate of tax applicable thereto, he may be subjected to 'provisional assessment' in terms of Section 60 of the Act, at his request. That assessment may be followed by a 'final assessment'. In terms of section 60 (3) of the Act.

59. Thereafter, under Section 61 of the Acts, the legislature has provided for scrutiny of returns by way of another assessment procedure under Chapter XII of the Acts. Thereunder, the Proper Officer may scrutinize the return to verify the correctness of the return and to examine the discrepancies, if any. Deficiencies left unattended may lead to proceedings under Sections 73 and 74 of the Acts.

60. The Acts also provide for 'best judgment assessment' procedure, against registered persons who fail to file their returns. Similarly, under Section 63 of the Acts, failure to obtain registration (where required under the Acts), may also invite best judgment assessment procedure to be adopted against such person as well.

61. Last, under Section 64 of the Acts, a summary assessment is contemplated. However, it may only be resorted to in limited circumstances of some information or evidence coming to the hands of the Proper Officer, who may adopt such procedure with the prior approval of the Additional Commissioner or the Joint Commissioner, purely in the interest of revenue, if such Officer is of the belief that any delay in adopting such procedure would affect the interests of revenue.

62. To us, this part of the scheme of the Acts is based on obligation to file returns for different 'periods' and therefore, such proceedings and processes involve assessment-unit based determination of tax liability by way of 'assessment', whether by way of 'self-assessment' or 'provisional assessment' or 'best judgment assessment' either against non-filers of returns or against unregistered persons or in certain circumstances 'summary assessment'. Primarily, in that context FY or its part, is the unit of assessment. Hence, that concept is relevant to and may be applied in those circumstances, without any exception.

63. Thus, in the provisions pertaining to 'assessment' falling under Chapter XII of the Acts, their scheme clearly creates the concept of return-based assessment or assessment for a tax 'period'. That leads to the concept of assessment-unit whether a month or quarter or a FY. To the extent, such assessment may be made on the strength of or based on a pre-existing obligation to file a return of tax, the unit of assessment may remain a FY for which 'annual return' may have been filed or was mandatory to be filed. Therefore, for the purpose of assessment under Chapter XII of the Acts, a FY or its parts, i.e. months, quarter and FY may constitute assessment units to which that procedure to determine the tax liability may be applied.

64. It is equally true that with respect to audit, falling under Section 65 of the Acts read with Rule 101 of the Rules framed under the Acts, the plurality of periods transcending on FY is specifically intended by the enabling Rule. It uses the words "multiples thereof", clearly indicating that the audit may arise for multiple 'periods', that may cut across the terminal boundaries of a FY. However, audit is a provision to aid the provisions for assessment or determination of tax liability but not to determine or demand tax liability. Also, it is not a necessary part of provisions for assessment or determination of tax liability.

65. Therefore, it requires examination, whether by exclusion of such words or by not using same or similar phrases under Section 73 and 74 of the Acts, the legislature has intended otherwise. To us, it appears that the scheme of the Acts is in two parts, first with respect to assessment as has been discussed above and the other with respect to demand of tax or penalty short paid or short levied or refund wrongly paid or ITC wrongly availed etc.

66. While the assessment procedure traces its legacy to the pre-existing sales tax laws, whether under sales tax or entry tax laws and is comparable to assessment procedures under Income Tax Act, 1961, Sections 73 and 74 of the Acts trace their legacy primarily to the Central Excise and Service Tax laws. These are popularly referred to as adjudication proceedings.

67. Thus, an assessment may be made primarily to test the correctness and completeness of returns filed for any tax period referable to a FY or part thereof. However, adjudication provisions are separate. They stand on a completely different footing and must be read and understood in the context of the own language of the relevant provisions.

68. Keeping that in mind, Sections 73 and 74 appear after Chapter XIII (pertaining to Audits) and Chapter XIV (pertaining to Inspection, Search, Seizure and Arrest). They are part of Chapter XV pertaining to Demand of Recovery. Yet, they deliberately do not begin with any word, phrase or sentence indicating that they are subject to assessment of tax liability for any specific tax period.

69. On the contrary, they refer to a dispute with respect to specified tax amount, or penalty that may not have been paid, or may have been short-paid or erroneously refunded or where Input Tax Credit may have been wrongly availed or utilized for any reason. The use of the words 'where it appears' that 'any tax has not been...' enable the Proper Officer to identify a dispute of the nature specified in the later part of Sections 73(1) and 74(1) of the Acts.

70. In that context, sub-Section (1) of Sections 73 and 74 provide that the Proper Officer 'shall serve notice' - with respect to specified amount of tax not paid, tax short-paid or tax, wrongly refunded or ITC that may have been erroneously granted or wrongly availed or wrongly utilized. With respect to that dispute, the noticee is required to 'show cause' as to why they may not be required to pay the disputed amount of tax, along with interest and penalty.

71. By very nature of that proceeding contemplated by the legislature, the legislature has avoided conditioning it within the limits of a 'period' or 'tax period' or to one FY. Therefore, there is no warrant to restrict the application of Sections 73 and 74 of the Acts to singular 'tax period', emerging from obligation to file return for such tax period. It further appears that the legislature has deliberately avoided the language used under Chapter XII of the Acts pertaining to assessments, whether on the strength of returns or on a best judgment assessment basis and whether provisional or summary. On the contrary, the legislative intent is to demand specified amount of tax, penalty etc., arising from a dispute as to liability on a transaction or nature of transaction etc.

72. Thus, the legislative scheme is - where returns or obligation to file returns exist for any 'tax period' and doubts emerge as to their correctness or completeness, it is open to the Proper Officer to adopt the assessment procedure and make a return-based assessment for that 'tax period'. By very nature of that proceeding, it would be confined to the 'unit of assessment' for which that proceeding is drawn, being linked to the obligation to file return for such assessment unit i.e. month, quarter or year.

73. However, when a dispute arises - of the nature contemplated under Sections 73(1) and 74(1) of the Acts, the obligation to file returns and the tax period for which such returns are to be filed lose significance for the purpose of subject matter of the notice. The demand may be of (i) tax, or penalty short levied or short paid; (ii) refund wrongly granted or (iii) ITC wrongly granted or availed or utilized. Therefore, we reason, for the purposes of adjudicating a dispute under Sections 73 and 74 of the Acts, the return-based assessment procedure is extraneous. The legal prescriptions with respect to such demands may neither be introduced nor inferred by force of artificial legal reasoning, as they do not spring from the plain language employed by the legislature. Rather, those provisions refer to dispute of 'specified tax amount' that the revenue seeks to recover.

74. To introduce assessment procedures and its concepts, to adjudication proceedings would not only be alien to the concept of adjudication as created by the legislature, but if taken to its logical end, it would result in duplication of procedures to deal with the same contingencies; one by way of assessment and another by way of adjudication. That duplicity or surplusage of provisions is not desirable on first principle test. As noted above, we are of the opinion that assessment is a return-based procedure, whereas adjudication is a dispute-based procedure linked to specified tax amount etc. If that line of distinction is maintained between these two sets of procedures prescribed by the Acts, no dispute may survive.

75. In this regard, we may also note, under the classic return-based assessment procedures under the sales tax laws, there existed provisions for reassessment in certain circumstances, involving escapement of turnover, etc. That concept does not find any place under the Acts. To that extent, the adjudication procedure, especially under Section 73 of the Acts, is a clear replacement for reassessment procedure. Thus, the adjudication procedure is traceable to the procedures of Central Excise and Service Tax regimes. The primary difference is - the reassessment procedure recognizes the FY or AY as a distinct unit of assessment, whereas the adjudication procedure breaches the end boundaries thereof and looks at the 'dispute' with respect to payability of specified amounts of tax or penalty or reversal of refund or availment of ITC etc., as the subject matter of the proceedings to be drawn.

76. In support of the above, we find further validation in the statutory provisions in Sections 73(3) and 74(3) of the Acts. The Proper Officer is permitted to issue a statement containing details of tax not paid or short-paid for 'such (other) periods', that may not have been included in or for which notice may not have been issued under Sections 73(1) and/or 74(1) of the Acts. By virtue of Sections 73(4) and 74(4), the Proper Officer has been specifically enabled to include within the scope of a pending adjudication - 'periods', involving the same dispute irrespective of FY or unit of assessment to which such 'periods' may relate, or to which the initial notice may relate.

77. The legislature has carefully avoided the use of the words 'tax period' under those sections as may have required a further reference of FY to which they may relate. Even though, by way of a general rule, the definition clause may apply unless the context otherwise requires, there is no ambiguity here. The legislative intent is not to link the statement issued by the Proper Officer under Sections 73(3) and/or 74(3) to a specific 'tax period'. Instead, it refers to any another 'period', including a 'tax period' or unit of assessment that may fall outside the FY to which the original notice under Sections 73(1) or 74 (1) relates.

78. The said sub-section further defines the scope of an adjudication proceeding to settle a 'dispute' for a specified tax amount etc. and not to make an assessment. It is so because the legislature has chosen to allow the Proper Officer to issue a statement and thus raise demand for other 'period', based solely on the consideration that such demand may spring on the same grounds for which the notice may have been issued, either under Section 73(1) or 74(1), the only difference being that for the purposes of Section 74(3), reasons have to be same for those other 'period/periods', and it may not be extended to cases of fraud etc.

79. Coming to the contention based on Section 73(10) [read with 73(3)] and Section 74(10) [read with 74(3)], those provisions do not govern the subject matter of the notice itself. Rather, those provisions refer only to the time limitation to initiate and conclude adjudication proceedings. They prescribe clear, predefined time limitation of three years or five years, respectively, from the due date of furnishing the 'annual return'. The mere fact that the legislature has chosen to use the phrase 'due date for furnishing of annual return' under sub-section (10) of Sections 73 and 74 to prescribe such limitation, it does not commend to us that therefore the proceedings initiated under those sections may only relate to or be referable to the individual 'tax period' for which an annual or other return may be filed.

80. The legislative wisdom is to be deciphered from the intent of the legislature as expressed by specific words used by it. To the extent, the legislature has clearly provided for the scope of proceedings; the manner of their initiation and conduct, and their time limitations through the various sub-clauses of Sections 73 and 74, we find no conflict between the language used in Sections 73(1), (2), (3) and (4) or 74 (1), (2), (3) and (4) with that used in Section 73(10) or 74(10). While Sections 73(1) and 74(1) are provisions providing for the scope/ subject matter of those proceedings, Sections 73(2) read with 73(10) and 74(2) read with 74(10), ensure that notices are issued and proceedings are concluded within the time limitations prescribed under those provisions. Sections 73(3) read with 73(4) and Section 74(3) and 74(4), are provisions for the issuance of further statements by the Proper Officer that naturally cause increase of the specified tax dispute etc. arising on same facts, that may be adjudicated together. These provisions exist for the benefit of the revenue, not the assessee. They enlarge the pre-specified subject matter of the dispute, without extending the limitation therefor.

81. Barring cases of fraud etc. [falling under Section 74(4)], the legislature did not intend that the scope of the adjudication proceedings be curtailed or limited to a single tax period or to multiple tax periods falling within one Financial Year. That intent being absent, we are unable to subscribe to the contrary view taken by some of the other High Courts. With humility, we may add that we also do not find ourselves completely aligned to the reasoning of the other High Courts (at the other end of the spectrum), chiefly the Delhi High Court. Respectfully, we draw this point of distinction based on our interpretation of the scheme of the Acts, that provide for dual mechanisms - one return-based assessment referable to a 'tax period' and the other being adjudication based, for a pre-specified amount-based dispute pertaining to tax, penalty or ITC.

82. To read tax period not beyond the Financial Year, into Sections 73(1) and 74(1) would be to introduce an artificial restriction in the scope of Sections 73(1) and 74(1), not on strength of legislative language, but based on imagined restriction. In contrast, the adjudication procedure contemplates decision on disputes pertaining to specified tax, penalty, refund and ITC amounts. The legislature has specifically authorised the Proper Officer to, in addition to issuing notices under Section 73(1)/74(1), issue further statements with respect to other periods beyond that specified in the notice itself. Once that specific provision has been made, there is no room to introduce the concept of adjudication proceedings being confined to a unit of assessment/FY. To do that would be to do violence to the plain language of Section 73 (3)/74(3) and 73(4)/74(4) of the Acts. Standard rule to be applied in matters of interpretation of statutes being that every word used by the legislature be given its full and natural meaning unless a conflict arises, we find no occasion to restrict the scope of Section 73(3)/ 74(3) and 73(4)/74(4), by introducing an alien concept of unit of assessment/FY to adjudication proceedings.

83. Insofar as the concept discussed in Caltex (India) Ltd (supra) is concerned, it arose under the Income Tax Act and the Sales Tax Act, that only contemplated assessment procedures rather than adjudication procedures. As discussed above, and without being repetitive, we find that the said decision is wholly distinguishable. Assessments would remain return-based and therefore referable to individual 'tax period' only, even under the Act. However, the opposite is true for adjudications.

84. As to the rule of strict interpretation invoked, we may remain reminded that that rule applies to levy provisions or charging provisions of a taxing statute and not to its machinery provisions. In CIT vs. Mahaliram Ramjidas, AIR (1940) PC 1224, the Privy Council stated:

“The Section, although it is part of a taxing Act, imposes no charge on the subject, and deals merely with the machinery of assessment. In interpreting provisions of this kind the rule is that that construction should be preferred which makes the machinery workable utres valeat potius quam pereat

85. Then, applying that rule, in India United Mills vs. Commissioner of Excess Profits Tax, (1955) SCR 810, the Supreme Court adopted that rule and observed as below:

“That section is, it should be emphasised, not a charging section, but a machinery and a machinery section should be so construed as to effectuate the charging sections.”

86. In State of West Bengal Vs. Kesoram Industries Ltd. (supra) that rule of interpretation was discussed and applied in the context of a charging section. It was laid down, before a subject is taxed it must be shown that it falls within the ambit of the charging section by clear use of words to that effect, by the legislature. Ambiguity in that regard may always result in a benefit of doubt to the subject. Here as noted above, the charging section is Section 9 of the Act. There is no dispute as to the interpretation of that charging section. Therefore, that rule of strict interpretation of taxing statutes invoked to interpret the language of Section 73 and 74 of the Acts, not being charging sections but sections pertaining to demand of specified amounts of tax, penalty, refund (wrongly granted) and ITC (wrongly availed or utilized), is not applicable.

87. Insofar as further objection has been raised to composite notice being issued to multiple noticees, adjudication proceedings are referable to pre-identified and quantified disputes with respect to non-payment or short payment of tax, wrongful refund or wrongful availment or utilization of ITC. The challenge to the proceedings on the ground of multiple noticees has arisen (in this batch of petitions), in adjudication proceedings arising under Section 74 of the Acts and not under Section 73 of the Acts. As extracted above, the provisions of Section 74(12) of the Acts are specific. Clearly, they allow for multiple noticees to be included in one notice. Upon that specific inclusion made by the legislature, the submission to the contrary carries no weight. Suffice to note, there is no challenge to the validity of Section 74 (12) of the Acts. Once the legislature clearly contemplates issuance of one notice with respect to disputed quantified demand, there survives no room to consider that submission, any further.

88. Wherever it may be disputed that multiple noticees have been wrongly roped in together, that issue by very nature, would remain a mixed question of fact and law. Evidence would have to be led before any firm conclusion may be drawn, i.e. whether the dispute is such as may involve more than one noticee. It may normally be examined during statutory proceedings.

89. Therefore, while we are not inclined to accept on principle that a composite notice may never be issued under Section 74 of the Acts, we leave that question of validity of individual notices issued to individual noticees open to be examined in individual adjudication proceedings, subject to appropriate objections being raised. Thus, if any noticee objects that he is not liable for a disputed transaction giving rise to the adjudication proceeding or he has been wrongly included as a noticee, it may give rise to an objection in that case. That objection once raised would have to be dealt with and decided by the Adjudicating Authority on the own strength of the objection.

90. Further, we find no room to apply Dhananjay Reddy (supra) or CIT, Mumbai (supra) or Mehsana District Central Cooperative (supra). To the extent, according to us adjudication proceedings do not arise by way of processing of returns filed for any 'tax period' and to the extent Sections 73 and 74 of the Acts do not use that phrase, there is no prescription in law to link adjudication proceedings to a 'tax period'. Therefore, the principle being invoked is inapplicable. Hypothetically, that principle may be invoked if in the course of an assessment procedure falling under Chapter XXII of the Acts, a Proper Officer seeks to make assessment beyond the unit of assessment/FY for which such exercise is undertaken, either with reference to a return filed or not filed, for a 'tax period'.

91. For such reasons, we also do not find any room to apply the ratio of Maharao Bheem Singh of Kota (supra) and State of Gujarat Vs Arcelor Mittal Nippon Steel (India) Ltd.(supra).

92. Coming to the other issues of Section 6(2)(b) of the Acts, we find the issue is no longer res-integra. First in the case of G.K. Trading Company (supra) and now after pronouncement of the Supreme Court in Armour Security (supra) the issue rests finally and firmly decided in favour of the petitioners. Suffice to note that in G.K. Trading Company (supra) it was observed as below:

"19. In view of the above, we have reached to the following conclusions:

(i).....

(ii) The words "any proceeding" on the same "subject-matter" used in section 6(2)(b) of the Act, which is subject to conditions specified in the notification issued under sub-section (1) ; means any proceeding on the same cause of action and for the same dispute involving some adjudication proceedings which may include assessment proceedings, proceedings for penalties, etc., proceedings for demands and recovery under sections 73 and 74, etc."

93. If any doubt may have survived, the issue has been elaborately dealt with by the Supreme Court in Armour Security (supra). There, it has been observed as below:

97. We summarize our final conclusion as under:

(i) Clause (b) of sub-section (2) of section 6 of the CGST Act and the equivalent State enactments bars the 'initiation of any proceedings' on the 'same subject-matter'.

(ii) Any action arising from the audit of accounts or detailed scrutiny of returns must be initiated by the tax administration to which the taxpayer is assigned.

(iii) Intelligence based enforcement action can be initiated by any one of the Central or the State tax administrations despite the taxpayer having been assigned to the other administration.

(iv) Parallel proceedings should not be initiated by other tax administration when one of the tax administrations has already initiated intelligence-based enforcement action.

(v) All actions that are initiated as a measure for probing an inquiry or gathering of evidence or information do not constitute 'proceedings' within the meaning of section 6(2)(b) of the CGST Act.

(vi) The expression 'initiation of any proceedings' occurring in section 6(2)(b) refers to the formal commencement of adjudicatory proceedings by way of issuance of a show-cause notice, and does not encompass the issuance of summons, or the conduct of any search, or seizure, etc.

(vii) The expression 'subject-matter' refers to any tax liability, deficiency, or obligation arising from any particular contravention which the Department seeks to assess or recover.

(viii) Where any two proceedings initiated by the Department seek to assess or recover an identical or a partial overlap in the tax liability, deficiency or obligation arising from any particular contravention, the bar of section 6(2)(b) would be immediately attracted.

(ix) Where the proceedings concern distinct infractions, the same would not constitute a 'same subject-matter' even if the tax liability, deficiency, or obligation is same or similar, and the bar under section 6(2)(b) would not be attracted.

(x) The twofold test for determining whether a subject-matter is "same" entails, first, determining if an authority has already proceeded on an identical liability of tax or alleged offence by the assessee on the same facts, and secondly, if the demand or relief sought is identical.

98. We issue the following guidelines to be followed in cases where, after the commencement of an inquiry or investigation by one authority, another inquiry or investigation on the same subject-matter is initiated by a different authority.

(a) Where a summons or a show-cause notice is issued by either the Central or the State tax authority to an assessee, the assessee is, in the first instance, obliged to comply by appearing and furnishing the requisite response, as the case may be. We say, so because, mere issuance of a summons does not enable either the issuing authority or the recipient to ascertain that proceedings have been initiated.

(b) Where an assessee becomes aware that the matter being inquired into or investigated is already the subject of an inquiry or investigation by another authority, the assessee shall forthwith inform, in writing, the authority that has initiated the subsequent inquiry or investigation.

(c) Upon receipt of such intimation from the assessee, the respective tax authorities shall communicate with each other to verify the veracity of the assessee's claim. We say, so as this course of action would obviate needless duplication of proceedings and ensure optimal utilization of the Department's time, effort, and resources, bearing in mind that action initiated by one authority enures to benefit of all.

(d) If the claim of the taxable person regarding the overlap of inquiries is found untenable, and the investigations of the two authorities pertain to different 'subject-matters', an intimation to this effect, along with the reasons and a specification of the distinct subject-matters, shall be immediately conveyed in writing to the taxable person.

(e) The taxing authorities are well within their rights to conduct an inquiry or investigation until it is ascertained that both authorities are examining the identical liability to be discharged, the same contravention alleged, or the issuance of a show-cause notice. Any show-cause notice issued in respect of a liability already covered by an existing show-cause notice shall be quashed.

(f) However, if the Central or the State tax authority, as the case may be finds that the matter being inquired into or investigated by it is already the subject of inquiry or investigation by another authority, both authorities shall decide inter se which of them shall continue with the inquiry or investigation. In such a scenario the other authority shall duly forward all material and information relating to its inquiry or investigation into the matter to the authority designated to carry the inquiry or investigation to its logical conclusion. We say, so because, the taxable person except for being afforded the statutory protection from duplication of proceedings, otherwise has no locus to claim which authority should proceed with the inquiry or investigation in a particular matter.

(g) However, where the authorities are unable to reach a decision as to which of them shall continue with the inquiry or investigation, then in such circumstances, the authority that first initiated the inquiry or investigation shall be empowered to carry it to its logical conclusion, and the courts in such a case would be competent to pass an order for transferring the inquiry or investigation to that authority.

(h) If it is found that the authorities are not complying with these aforementioned guidelines, it shall be open to the taxable person to file a writ petition before the concerned High Court under article 226 of the Constitution of India.

(i) At the same time, taxable persons shall ensure complete cooperation with the authorities. It is incumbent upon them to appear in response to a summons and/or reply to a notice.

94. The third issue of limitation to issue a notice under Section 73 and 74 requires consideration. As noted above, the provision of Section 73(10) & 74(10) leave no doubt that the limitation to pass an adjudication order has been fixed with reference to the due date for furnishing annual return for the FY, to which the dispute may relate. Thus, if the dispute sought to be adjudicated pertains to or falls in 'tax periods' falling in three different FYs, the period of limitation to make a composite order would start running from the due date of furnishing of annual return for earliest/first FY (to which any 'period' may relate), such that if that date is crossed, the adjudication proceedings with respect to that FY would lapse but not the entire notice if segregation of the dispute exists, 'period' wise. The entire proceedings initiated by such notice may be declared time barred only if the limitation to make the order from the due date of filing annual return for the last FY (for which dispute is referred to adjudication), also lapses. In short, that issue will have to be dealt with, on individual facts.

95. Besides the use of word 'shall' in Section 73(10) & 74(10), Section 75(10) clearly stipulates that the time to pass the final order of adjudication, under those provisions, is rigid. Upon breach of time limitation (to pass adjudication order), expressly prescribed, the provisions of Sections 73(10) and 74(10) and therefore Sections 73(2) and 74(2) remain mandatory and may never be described as directory. There is no general or special power to relax that limitation. To that extent, we conclude that the period of limitation contemplated under Section 73(10) & 74(10) of the Acts is a hard/fixed period of limitation which admits to absolutely no relaxation. It is wholly mandatory.

96. If we admit any room to relaxing limitations, it will dilute the spirit of the provisions fundamentally. It is so, because not only those provisions provide for limitation to conclude the proceedings but they also provide for limitation to initiate the proceedings. Thus, under Section 73(1) read with Section 73(10) of the Acts, proceeding to adjudicate a dispute pertaining to tax not paid or short paid or erroneously refunded or ITC wrongly availed or utilized may be drawn within a period of three months before the end of limitation to pass the adjudication order. No other period of limitation to initiate the proceedings is permissible. Any relaxation in time to initiate the proceedings would necessarily involve either curtailment of minimal period prescribed by law to allow for compliance of rules of natural justice or extension of period of limitation to conclude the proceedings. Neither is permissible, in the context of the language of the Acts, as discussed above.

97. Considered in that light, the prescription contained in Section 73(2) and 74(2) of three months and six months (before the end of termination of limitation to make the order) to initiate the proceedings, must also be read and understood as a hard/fixed period of limitation. In the context of adjudication proceedings contemplated and in view of the statutory mandate of the law under Sections 75(4) of the Acts, opportunity of hearing is mandatory before such orders may be passed. Therefore, the minimal period of three months or six months provided under Section 73(2) and 74(2), cannot be violated. Thus, there is inherent logic to accept such fixed period of limitation to issue the notices. In face of similar language used under Section 73(2) and 74(2) and consequences provided under Section 73(10) and 74(10) of the Acts, no different interpretation may be attempted to the similar words used in the same statute, in the same context. Doubt if any stands removed by the clear legislative intent contained in Section 75(4) of the Acts. Failure to conclude the adjudication proceedings within time granted by the Acts, would necessarily lead to such proceedings being deemed concluded.

98. Insofar as the audit provisions are concerned, we are unimpressed by the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the petitioners. Though audit may also lead to assessment and/or adjudication, it is not part of those proceedings. Thus, legislature has provided audit for 'tax period' or multiples thereof, by use of specific words and terms, to that effect. The legislature has also used the words 'such period' under Section 65 of the Acts and its delegate, the government has used the words 'multiples thereof'. Therefore, there can be no doubt that an audit may be directed for much longer period than a 'tax period' or a 'Financial Year', with the only limitation that it must be for completed periods and not for fractions thereof. However, it cannot be forgotten that an audit provision remains distinct and different in scope from proceedings for assessment for a FY or 'tax period' or for adjudication of a dispute of demand of specified amount of tax, penalty or ITC. At most, audit is part of the general power and scope of inquiries and investigation, to ascertain correct facts. What follows from an audit report is not a necessary part of either the assessment or adjudication proceeding. To that extent, there is no occasion to read or contrast the language of Section 65 of the Acts read with Rule 101 of the Rules framed thereunder, with the language used under Chapter XII of the Acts and Sections 73 and 74 of the Acts.

99. Insofar as Mr. Suyash Agarwal, learned counsel for one of the petitioners has raised another submission that one SCN may never give rise to two separate adjudication orders, by two different authorities, the same must be accepted as correct, without any reservation. It is in the very nature of things that an adjudication order is the culmination of proceedings initiated by an adjudication notice. In fact, that is generally true of all orders passed by statutory authorities arising from any statutory notice. Once an order is passed, the authority is rendered functus officio except to the extent of rectifications etc., where permitted. Also, unless a proceeding is transferred, in accordance with the governing law, to another authority, the proceedings initiated on the strength of a notice issued by one authority may be conducted and concluded by that authority and not by any other. The Acts do not contemplate an automatic transfer of proceedings. Here no objection has been raised by the revenue to the submissions thus advanced.

100. In view of the above conclusion drawn, the writ petitions must meet mixed results. While issue of composite notice is served under Section 74 of the Acts, both for different tax periods and FYs and also multiple assesses, is decided against the petitioners; the other objection based on Section 6(2)(b) of the Acts; multiple orders arising from a single notice, and the issue of limitation provision being mandatory, are decided in favour of the petitioners such that any notice issued within six months from the end of the limitation to make the adjudication order is time barred. The issue of composite notice, for different FYs and multiple noticees, is decided against the petitioners. Accordingly:

(i) Writ Tax No. 7515 of 2025 and 7500 of 2025 are allowed, except for challenge raised to adjudication proceedings initiated under Section 74 of the Central Act for the Financial Year 2020-21, to which Section 6(2)(b) of the Acts does not apply. Those proceedings may be conducted and concluded in accordance with law. Additionally, the notice issued to petitioner No. 2 upto the Financial Year 2019-20 is time-barred for the reason - the SCN was issued within six months from the end of limitation to make adjudication order. Thus, the remaining proceedings in these petitions are quashed.

(ii) Writ Tax No. 2454 of 2025 and 2456 of 2025 are allowed. The SCN were issued by respondent No. 2, Directorate General of Goods and Service Tax, Intelligence, Meerut. The petitioner filed replies to the notices and was heard by the said authority, resulting in the order dated 01.02.2025. Parallely, arising from the same SCN, two other orders came to be passed by the authority at Lucknow. Plainly, there is no order for transfer of proceedings to the authority at Lucknow and that authority had not issued the adjudication notice. Therefore, those proceedings are clearly bad besides being duplication of adjudication proceedings arising from one Show Cause Notice. Accordingly, the order dated 23.09.2024 passed by respondent no.3 is quashed.

(iii) In Writ Tax No. 2247 of 2025, the proceedings for the period July 2017 to April 2018 are also found to be hit by the bar of Section 6(2)(b) of the CGST Act, 2017. Accordingly, the said proceeding is quashed.

(iv) In Writ Tax No. 4965 of 2025, while no relief may be granted with respect to grounds of challenge to composite notice issued at the same time, the direction issued by respondent no.3 to the recipient of service provided by the petitioner - to withhold payments due to the petitioner, calls for interference. In absence of any power vested in the revenue authorities to issue such directions without any demand having arisen, the said direction is found to be not traceable to any power vested under the Acts. To that extent, direction is issued to respondent no.3 to not compel the recipient of service (of the petitioner) to withhold payments to the petitioner, in absence of any lawful garnishee proceedings.

(v) Writ Tax Nos. 2247 of 2025 and 4965 of 2025 are partly allowed to the extent noted above.

(vi) Writ Tax Nos. 2569 of 2025, 1119 of 2025, 2795 of 2025, 2537 of 2025, 2246 of 2025, 1000 of 2025, 2838 of 2025 and 8725 of 2025 stand dismissed.

101. No orders as to costs.

Appearances for Parties

Adv. for the Appellant:

Amit Kumar Tiwari

Adv. for the Respondents:

Shri Manish Kumar Yadav, learned State Law Officer

(Delivered by Hon'ble Praveen Kumar Giri, J.)

1. Heard Amit Kumar Tiwari, learned counsel for the applicant and Shri Manish Kumar Yadav, learned State Law Officer for the State.

2. Learned counsel for the applicants submits that the present application has been filed under Section 528 BNSS with the relief which has been mentioned in the prayer clause of the application. The prayer clause is delineated below:-

"It is therefore most respectfully prayed that this Hon'ble Court may graciously be pleased to allow this application and quash/set aside the Impugned Cognizance/Summoning order dated 28.05.2025, passed by Special Judge SC/ST Act, Jaunpur as well as to quash/set aside the impugned charge sheet bearing Charge Sheet No. A113/2025 dated 12.04.2025 and also to quash/set aside the entire proceedings of the Special Session Trial No. 207/2025 (State Vs. Akhilesh and others), under section 115(2), 352, 351(2), 117(2) B.N.S. and Section 3(2)(va) SC/ST Act, arising out of case crime no. 74/2025 Police Station-Mungra Badshahpur, District-Jaunpur, against applicant, which is pending in the court of learned Special Judge SC/ST Act, Jaunpur."

3. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that, in respect of the alleged incident dated 13.03.2025, as mentioned in the written information given by opposite party no. 2, an FIR was registered as Case Crime No. 74 of 2025 against five named accused persons, including the present applicant, and 10-12 unknown persons under Sections 191(2), 115(2), 352, 351(2) and 74 of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 (for short 'BNS'), and Section 3(2)(va) of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989, (for short 'SC/ST (PA) Act') as amended in 2015 at Police Station - Mungra Badshahpur, District - Jaunpur.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that the first information report was lodged after a delay of six days and no explanation whatsoever has been furnished by the informant for such inordinate delay. It is further submitted that opposite party no. 2 has alleged that he sustained several injuries in the incident, pursuant to which an injury report was prepared. The injury report mentions four visible injuries on the person of opposite party no. 2. In view of the nature of the injuries, opposite party no. 2 was referred to a radiologist, and an X-ray examination was conducted on 21.03.2025, wherein a fracture of the right clavicle lateral was reported (right shoulder region).

5. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that the FIR does not disclose the place of occurrence where the alleged incident is stated to have taken place. It is further submitted that opposite party no. 2, in his statement recorded before the Investigating Officer under Section 180 of Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 (for short 'BNSS'), improved the version of the F.I.R. to strengthen the prosecution case, thereafter, the charge-sheet was submitted only under Sections 115(2), 352, 351(2) BNS, and Section 3(2)(va) of the SC/ST (PA) Act and Section 117(2) of BNSS.

6. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that on the basis of the statement of opposite party no. 2, Sections 74 and 191(2) of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 were deleted by the Investigating Officer. It is further contended that the learned Special Judge has taken cognizance in a mechanical and routine manner, without due application of judicial mind, and has summoned the applicant and other co-accused persons by a cognizance-cum-summoning order dated 28.05.2025 under Sections 115(2), 352, 351(2) and 117 (2) of BNS, and Section 3(2)(va) of the SC/ST (PA) Act.

7. Per contra, learned State Law Officer, Sri Manish Kumar Yadav, submits that there is a satisfactory explanation for the delay in lodging the FIR, inasmuch as opposite party no. 2 had sustained a fracture in the right clavicle lateral (right shoulder region) and, therefore, the immediate priority of the injured was to seek medical treatment, thereafter the police was informed about the alleged incident. It is further submitted that an FIR is not expected to be an encyclopedia of all facts, and although the place of occurrence was not mentioned in the FIR, the same has been disclosed in the statement of opposite party no.2 recorded under Section 180 of BNSS that the alleged incident occurred at the back side of the house.

8. Learned State Law Officer further submits that in the x-ray report, there is a fracture in right clavicle lateral (right shoulder region) and the same has also been supported by the Radiologist and the name of the applicant has been mentioned in the statement of other witnesses also. He further submits that on the basis of the material collected during investigation, the Investigating Officer submitted charge-sheet though there is mistake of mentioning BNS in respect of Section 117(2) as BNSS, while the same has been corrected by the Court of cognizance in cognizance-cum-summoning order dated 28.05.2025.

9. Learned State Law Officer submits that in view of the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of Gujarat vs. Girish Radhakrishnan Varde; (2014) 3 SCC 659 the impugned order of taking cognizance and issuing summons is strictly in accordance with law as the Court of cognizance cannot add or subtract, exclude or include any Section mentioned in the charge-sheet at the time of taking of cognizance as the same is permissible at the time of framing of charge. He has relied upon paragraph Nos. 13 and 14 of the judgment in State of Gujarat vs. Girish Radhakrishnan Varde (Supra). The Paragraph No.13 and 14 are delineated below:

"13. But if a case is registered by the police based on the FIR registered at the Police Station under Section 154 Cr.P.C. and not by way of a complaint under Section 190(a) of the Cr.P.C. before the magistrate, obviously the magisterial enquiry cannot be held in regard to the FIR which had been registered as it is the investigating agency of the police which alone is legally entitled to conduct the investigation and, thereafter, submit the chargesheet unless of course a complaint before the magistrate is also lodged where the procedure prescribed for complaint cases would be applicable. In a police case, however after submission of the chargesheet, the matter goes to the magistrate for forming an opinion as to whether it is a fit case for taking cognizance and committing the matter for trial in a case which is lodged before the police by way of FIR and the magistrate cannot exclude or include any section into the chargesheet after investigation has been completed and chargesheet has been submitted by the police.

14. The question, therefore, emerges as to whether the complainant/informant/prosecution would be precluded from seeking a remedy if the investigating authorities have failed in their duty by not including all the sections of IPC on which offence can be held to have been made out in spite of the facts disclosed in the FIR. The answer obviously has to be in the negative as the prosecution cannot be allowed to suffer prejudice by ignoring exclusion of the sections which constitute the offence if the investigating authorities for any reason whatsoever have failed to include all the offence into the chargesheet based on the FIR on which investigation had been conducted. But then a further question arises as to whether this lacunae can be allowed to be filled in by the magistrate before whom the matter comes up for taking cognizance after submission of the chargesheet and as already stated, the magistrate in a case which is based on a police report cannot add or subtract sections at the time of taking cognizance as the same would be permissible by the trial court only at the time of framing of charge under section 216, 218 or under section 228 of the Cr.P.C. as the case may be which means that after submission of the chargesheet it will be open for the prosecution to contend before the appropriate trial court at the stage of framing of charge to establish that on the given state of facts the appropriate sections which according to the prosecution should be framed can be allowed to be framed. Simultaneously, the accused also has the liberty at this stage to submit whether the charge under a particular provision should be framed or not and this is the appropriate forum in a case based on police report to determine whether the charge can be framed and a particular section can be added or removed depending upon the material collected during investigation as also the facts disclosed in the FIR and the chargesheet.

10. Learned State Law Officer, further submits that in view of the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of Gujarat vs. Afroz Mohammed Hasanfatta; (2019) 20 Supreme Court Cases 539, in paragraph Nos. 22 and 23 of the judgment, held that the order of issuance of process without explicitly recording reason for its satisfaction for issue of process does not suffer from any illegality. The paragraph No. 22 and 23 of judgment is are being delineated below:-

“22. In summoning the accused, it is not necessary for the Magistrate to examine the merits and demerits of the case and whether the materials collected is adequate for supporting the conviction. The court is not required to evaluate the evidence and its merits. The standard to be adopted for summoning the accused under Section 204 CrPC is not the same at the time of framing the charge. For issuance of summons under Section 204 CrPC, the expression used is “there is sufficient ground for proceeding...”; whereas for framing the charges, the expression used in Sections 240 and 246 IPC is “there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed an offence..”. At the stage of taking cognizance of the offence based upon a police report and for issuance of summons under Section 204 CrPC, detailed enquiry regarding the merits and demerits of the case is not required. The fact that after investigation of the case, the police has filed charge-sheet along with the materials thereon may be considered as sufficient ground for proceeding for issuance of summons under Section 204 CrPC.

23. Insofar as taking cognizance based on the police report is concerned, the Magistrate has the advantage of the charge-sheet, statement of witnesses and other evidence collected by the police during the investigation. Investigating officer/SHO collects the necessary evidence during the investigation conducted in compliance with the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code and in accordance with the rules of investigation. Evidence and materials so collected are sifted at the level of the investigating officer and thereafter, charge-sheet was filed. In appropriate cases, opinion of the Public Prosecutor is also obtained before filing the charge-sheet. The court thus has the advantage of the police report along with the materials placed before it by the police. Under Section 190(1)(b) CrPC, where the Magistrate has taken cognizance of an offence upon a police report and the Magistrate is satisfied that there is sufficient ground for proceeding, the Magistrate directs issuance of process. In case of taking cognizance of an offence based upon the police report, the Magistrate is not required to record reasons for issuing the process. In cases instituted on a police report, the Magistrate is only required to pass an order issuing summons to the accused. Such an order of issuing summons to the accused is based upon satisfaction of the Magistrate considering the police report and other documents and satisfying himself that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused. In a case based upon the police report, at the stage of issuing the summons to the accused, the Magistrate is not required to record any reason. In case, if the charge-sheet is barred by law or where there is lack of jurisdiction or when the charge-sheet is rejected or not taken on file, then the Magistrate is required to record his reasons for rejection of the charge-sheet and for not taking it on file.”

11. He further submits that the evidence collected during investigation does not, by itself, fall within the category of proved evidence as contemplated under the Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam, 2023. The same can be proved only when the witnesses are produced before the trial court and their statements are recorded on oath during examination-in-chief as well as cross-examination, and only thereafter the documents collected during investigation can be duly proved in accordance with law.

12. It is further submitted that non mentioning of time and place of occurrence are matters of appreciation of evidence and are required to be considered by the trial court under Section 234 BNSS (corresponding Section 211 of Cr.P.C.) at the stage of framing of charge.

13. Learned State Counsel further submits that as per Section 507 of BNSS (corresponding Section 461 Cr.P.C.), there is no irregularity which may vitiate the trial proceedings. For ready reference, Section 507 of BNSS is being quoted below:-

"Section 507 - Irregularities which vitiate proceedings- If any Magistrate, not being empowered by law in this behalf, does any of the following things, namely:-*

- (a) attaches and sells property under section 85;*
- (b) issues a search-warrant for a document, parcel or other things in the custody of a postal authority;*
- (c) demands security to keep the peace;*
- (d) demands security for good behaviour;*
- (e) discharges a person lawfully bound to be of good behaviour;*
- (f) cancels a bond to keep the peace;*
- (g) makes an order for maintenance;*
- (h) makes an order under section 152 as to a local nuisance;*
- (i) prohibits, under section 162, the repetition or continuance of a public nuisance;*
- (j) makes an order under Part C or Part D of Chapter XI;*
- (k) takes cognizance of an offence under clause (c) of sub-section (1) of section 210;*
- (l) tries an offender;*
- (m) tries an offender summarily;*
- (n) passes a sentence, under section 364, on proceedings recorded by another Magistrate;*
- (o) decides an appeal;*
- (p) calls, under section 438, for proceedings; or*
- (q) revises an order passed under section 491, his proceedings shall be void.*

14. Learned State Law Officer lastly submits that in view of Section 250 BNSS (corresponding Section 227 of Cr.P.C.), the accused shall be afforded an opportunity of hearing at the stage of framing of charge. For ready reference section 250 BNSS (corresponding Section 227 of Cr.P.C.) is being quoted below:

"Section 250. Discharge - (1) The accused may prefer an application for discharge within a period of sixty days from the date of commitment of the case under section 232.*

(2) If, upon consideration of the record of the case and the documents submitted therewith, and after hearing the submissions of the accused and the prosecution in this behalf, the Judge considers that there is not sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused, he shall discharge the accused and record his reasons for so doing. "

15. This Court has gone through the entire submissions advanced on behalf learned counsel for the parties, decisions relied upon by the learned State Law Officer and perused the record.

16. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Afroze Mohammed Hasnain (Supra) held that in a case based upon the police report, the Magistrate is not required to record his reason on merit or demerit of the case for summoning the accused. This judgment has been confirmed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court its subsequent judgment passed in Pradeep S. Wodeyar vs. State of Karnataka, (2021) 19 Supreme Court Cases 62. The paragraph No.91 of this judgment is being quoted below for the sake of convenience :-

"91. While distinguishing the decision in Pepsi Foods Ltd. (supra) on the ground that it related to taking of cognizance in a complaint case, the court held since in a case of cognizance based on a police report, the Magistrate has the advantage of perusing the materials, he is not required to record reasons: State of Gujarat v. Afroz Mohammed Hasanfatta (2019) 20 SCC 539 : (2020) 3 SCC (Cri.) 876-2

23. Insofar as taking cognizance based on the police report is concerned, the Magistrate has the advantage of the charge-sheet, statement of witnesses and other evidence collected by the police during the investigation. Investigating officer/SHO collects the necessary evidence during the investigation conducted in compliance with the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code and in accordance with the rules of investigation. Evidence and materials so collected are sifted at the level of the investigating officer and thereafter, charge-sheet was filed. In appropriate cases, opinion of the Public Prosecutor is also obtained before filing the charge-sheet. The court thus has the advantage of the police report along with the materials placed before it by the police. Under Section 190(1)(b) CrPC, where the Magistrate has taken cognizance of an offence upon a police report and the Magistrate is satisfied that there is sufficient ground for proceeding, the Magistrate directs issuance of process. In case of taking cognizance of an offence based upon the police report, the Magistrate is not required to record reasons for issuing the process. In cases instituted on a police report, the Magistrate is only required to pass an order issuing summons to the accused. Such an order of issuing summons to the accused is based upon satisfaction of the Magistrate considering the police report and other documents and satisfying himself that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused. In a case based upon the police report, at the stage of issuing the summons to the accused, the Magistrate is not required to record any reason. In case, if the charge-sheet is barred by law or where there is lack of jurisdiction or when the charge-sheet is rejected or not taken on file, then the Magistrate is required to record his reasons for rejection of the charge-sheet and for not taking it on file."

17. In view of the facts and circumstances of the case as well as law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court, this Court finds no illegality or infirmity in the impugned cognizance-cum-summoning order. The objections raised by the applicant relate to disputed questions of facts, which cannot be adjudicated at this stage by this Court while exercising its jurisdiction under Section 528 of BNSS.

18. Accordingly, the present application is dismissed at this stage.

19. Needless to state that the accused-applicant shall have an opportunity of being heard at the stage of framing of charge under Section 250 BNSS (corresponding Section 227 of Cr.P.C.).

Case Arising From

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION: Application under S. 482 Cr.P.C. challenging order dated 30.06.2025 rejecting request for grant of NOC for renewal of passport and permission to travel abroad.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Applicant:

Ms. Preeti Singh

Advs. for the Respondents:

Learned A.G.A.;

Sri S.B. Pandey, Senior Advocate and DSGI, assisted by Sri Varun Pandey

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Bhatia, J.)

1. Heard Ms. Preeti Singh, learned Counsel for the applicant as well as learned A.G.A. and Sri S.B. Pandey, learned Senior Advocate and DSGI assisted by Sri Varun Pandey, learned Counsel for the opposite parties no. 3 and 4.

2. The present application has been filed under Section 482 of Cr.P.C. challenging an order dated 30.06.2025, whereby the request of the application for grant of NOC for renewal of the passport and permit the applicant to travel abroad was rejected mainly on the ground that the applicant has not filed any document relevant for seeking the permission from the court to travel abroad like the specific period of travel, the country to which the applicant wishes to travel or for any other purpose.

3. In the light of the aforesaid, the counsel for the applicant argues that the applicant is a stage performer and performs throughout the territory of India and also outside India in various stage shows in which the applicant is invited. It is argued that in respect of a performance, which was scheduled to be held at Lucknow, in which, the applicant was to perform, however, the said show was cancelled, which led to lodging of an FIR with Case Crime No.621 of 2018, under Sections 406, 420 IPC, Police Station Ashiyana, District Lucknow. The applicant was enlarged on bail vide order, which is on record, in which, no condition was imposed by the court below with regard to the applicant not leaving the country without the permission of the Court. It is argued that in view of the pendency of the said case, the applicant was required to furnish an NOC from the trial court concerned in terms of the office memorandum issued under the Passports Act and the impugned order came to be passed.

4. The Counsel for the applicant further argues that the applicant receives offer for performance outside India, however, generally the conditions are that the applicant should have valid travel passport failing which the applicant is not likely to be offered any assignment for performance outside India. It is further argued that the case registered against the applicant through Case Crime No.621 of 2018 does not even directly implicate the applicant as the applicant was stated to perform as stage performer and the cancellation was beyond the powers of the applicant. It is further argued that in view of the denial of the NOC not only deprive from passport to travel abroad guaranteed under Article 21 of the Constitution of India but also violates the rights of the applicant's to earn livelihood. It is also argued that the applicant has two children and substantial property within India and no material exists to suggest that the applicant would be at flight risk.

5. As regards the status of the pendency of the case, it is argued that there is no material to suggest that the case is proceeding and there is no likelihood to be concluded in near future, thus, it is argued that the impugned order deserves to be set aside and/ or directions be issued for renewal of the passport for a regular term of ten years on whatever condition this court deems fit being imposed so that the rights enshrined to the applicant are not adversely affected.

6. The Counsel for the Union of India, in the light of the provisions contained in the Passports Act, argues that there is no independent right of renewal of a passport vested and is subject to the restrictions contained in Section 6(2) of the Passports Act. It is argued that in terms of the directions issued by various courts, severity of the conditions prescribed under Section 6(2) of the Passports Act were liberalized and curtailed through office memorandums issued by the Union of India vide Notification dated 25.08.1993 and further clarified vide Notification dated 10.10.2019. It is argued that in the light of the said office memorandums, the application of the applicant has been rightly rejected by the court below and no interference is called for.

7. In rejoinder, the Counsel for the applicant draws my attention to the two earlier orders passed by this Court for consideration of the application of the applicant for renewal/ re-issuance of the passport vide separate orders. It is further argued that in view of the prevailing global scenario, the organizers occasionally insists that the performer and the team should have valid passport and thus, it may not always be possible to furnish the requisite documents at a prior point of time. It is further argued that the case pending against the applicant is of the year 2018, no material exists to demonstrate that the case likely to be concluded in near future. There are no specific allegation against the applicant even in the said FIR. Even the bail granted to the applicant does not impose any condition of not leaving India.

8. Considering the need of the applicant to travel abroad for performing to various countries, prima facie, no material exists to suggest that the applicant would be at flight risk or that her application for re-issuance/ renewal of the passport should not be considered in view of absence any adverse conduct of the applicant. The case of the applicant is pending since 2018, clearly on account of non-issuance/ non-grant of passport her rights are infringed merely because no documents have been filed, the request for travel abroad cannot be denied as has been done in the impugned order.

9. It is further argued that the order impugned dated 30.06.2025 is violative of Article 21 and Article 19 as well as contrary to the mandate of the Government Orders as well as the Office Memorandum, the same cannot be sustained and be set aside.

10. The issue with regard to the right of having a passport was duly considered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Mahesh Kumar Agarwal vs Union of India and another: 2025 INSC 1476, wherein, following observations were made:

2. Liberty, in our constitutional scheme, is not a gift of the State but its first obligation. The freedom of a citizen to move, to travel, to pursue livelihood and opportunity, subject to law, is an essential part of the guarantee under Article 21 of the Constitution of India. The State may, where statute so provides, regulate or restrain that freedom in the interests of justice, security or public order but such restraint must be narrowly confined to what is necessary, proportionate to the object sought to be achieved, and clearly anchored in law. When procedural safeguards are converted into rigid barriers, or temporary disabilities are allowed to harden into indefinite exclusions, the balance between the power of the State and the dignity of the individual is disturbed, and the promise of the Constitution is put at risk.

8. From a conjoint reading of Sections 5, 6, 7 and 8 of the Passports Act, a structured scheme emerges. Section 5 is the starting point. It prescribes the manner in which an application for a passport is to be made and requires the passport authority, subject to the other provisions of the Act, to decide the application by issuing or refusing the passport through a written order. Section 6 qualifies that power and sets out, in an exhaustive manner, the grounds on which the passport authority shall refuse to issue a passport or travel document. Sub-section (1) deals with refusal of endorsements for particular countries. Sub-section (2) governs refusal of issue itself and again begins with the words "subject to the other provisions of this Act". It obliges the authority to refuse issue where any of the situations in clauses (a) to (i) are present, including the pendency of criminal proceedings before a court in India under clause (f). Section 7 then addresses the duration of a passport. It provides that a passport shall continue in force for such period as may be prescribed, but also permits the authority, for reasons to be communicated in writing to the applicant, to issue a passport for a shorter period in an appropriate case. Section 8 deals with the converse situation where a passport has already been issued for a shorter period. It permits extension of such a passport, but expressly states that the provisions of the Act shall apply to such extension as they apply to the issue of the passport, thereby linking an extension back to the same statutory conditions and limitations that govern original issue under Sections 5 and 6.

9. Sections 9, 10 and 22 reinforce and complete this framework. Section 9 enables the Central Government, by rules, to prescribe the conditions subject to which and the form in which a passport shall be issued or renewed. It also permits, with prior approval of the Central Government, the imposition of case-specific conditions in addition to the prescribed ones. Section 10 operates at a later stage and deals with the life of a passport after it has been issued. It empowers the passport authority, in defined situations, to require production of the passport and to impound or revoke it. One such situation, under Section 10(3)(e), is where proceedings in respect of an offence alleged to have been committed by the holder are pending before a criminal court in India. Section 22 then confers on the Central Government the power, where it considers it necessary or expedient in the public interest, to exempt any person or class of persons from the operation of specified provisions of the Act or the Rules, subject to conditions. It is in exercise of this power that GSR 570(E) was issued, creating a controlled exemption from the bar in Section 6(2)(f) in favour of persons facing criminal proceedings who obtain permission from the concerned court and comply with the conditions set out in that notification.

10. On a plain reading, GSR 570(E) does two things. First, it recognises that persons facing criminal proceedings are not to be treated as absolutely disentitled to a passport. Instead, it permits such persons to obtain a passport, notwithstanding Section 6(2)(f), where the concerned criminal court has applied its mind and passed an order in relation to issuance or use of the passport and where the applicant furnishes an undertaking to appear before the court as and when required. Secondly, it structures the exercise of that exemption by tying the validity and use of the passport to the terms of the court's order. Thus, where the court specifies a period for which the passport is to be issued, the passport authority must honour that period. Where the court does not stipulate any period, the notification provides default rules, including issuance for a shorter period, ordinarily one year, in appropriate cases. What the notification does not do is to create a new substantive bar beyond Section 6(2)(f), or to insist that the criminal court must, in every case, grant a prior blanket permission to "depart from India" for specified dates as a jurisdictional precondition to the very issue or re-issue of a passport.

11. The OM dated 10.10.2019 does not create a new regime. It reiterates that GSR 570(E) must be "strictly applied", explains the procedure where criminal cases are pending and makes it clear that a "no objection certificate" or permission from the criminal court, read with the applicant's undertaking, may override an adverse police report with reasons recorded by the Passport Officer. It also contemplates situations where more than one court is dealing with the matter and indicates that the orders of all such courts are to be read together. The OM is thus an administrative restatement of the position under Section 6(2)(f), Section 22 and GSR 570(E), and cannot add to or cut down the exemption which the notification itself grants.

18. There is yet another aspect. The learned Single Judge treated the subsisting conviction in the Delhi case as an additional reason to sustain refusal under Section 6(2)(f). However, this Court in Vangala Kasturi Rangacharyulu v. Central Bureau of Investigation 2021 SCC OnLine SC 3549 has already drawn a clear distinction between an accused "facing trial in a criminal court" and a person who has been convicted and is pursuing an appeal and how the same can impact the issuance of a passport. The relevant paras of this judgement are as follows:

"7. The refusal of a passport can be only in case where an applicant is convicted during the period of 5 years immediately proceeding the date of application for an offence involving moral turpitude and sentence for imprisonment for not less than two years.

8. Section 6 2(f) relates to a situation where the applicant is facing trial in a criminal court.

9. Admittedly, at present, the conviction of the appellant stands still the disposal of the criminal appeal. The sentence which he has to undergo is for a period of one year. The passport authority cannot refuse the renewal of the passport on the ground of pendency of the criminal appeal.

10. The passport authority is directed to renew the passport of the applicant without raising the objection relating to the pendency of the criminal appeal in this Court. Subject to the other conditions being fulfilled, the Interlocutory Application stands disposed of."

24. Finally, even on the respondents' own reading of GSR 570(E), the consequence of an order which does not specify a longer period of validity is that the passport should be issued for a shorter duration, usually one year, and not that renewal must be refused altogether. The learned Single Judge and the Division Bench did not examine this aspect, because they proceeded on the premise that the appellant stood outside the exemption altogether. Once it is recognised that the appellant is within the exempted class, the correct question for the passport authority is the appropriate period of validity in the facts of the case, not whether any renewal is permissible at all. In the present matter, given that the Delhi High Court has expressly authorised renewal for ten years and the NIA Court has imposed stringent conditions including redeposit and prior permission for travel, we see no justification to curtail the normal period of validity.

25. In the light of the above discussion, we are unable to sustain the approach adopted by the learned Single Judge and the Division Bench. Both have treated Section 6 2(f) as an absolute bar so long as any criminal proceeding is pending, without giving full effect to the statutory exemption mechanism under Section 22 and GSR 570(E), and without adequately appreciating that the criminal courts actually dealing with the appellant's cases have consciously permitted renewal while retaining stringent control over any foreign travel. They have, in effect, converted a qualified restriction, designed to secure the presence of an accused, into a near-permanent disability to hold a valid passport, even where the criminal courts themselves do not consider such a disability necessary.

26. We clarify that our conclusions are confined to the legal interplay between Sections 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 22 of the Passports Act, GSR 570(E) and the OM dated 10.10.2019, on the facts of the present case. We express no opinion on the merits of the criminal proceedings pending before the NIA Court, Ranchi, or on the appeal pending before the Delhi High Court, nor do we dilute in any manner the power of those courts to vary, strengthen or relax the conditions of bail, including conditions relating to travel abroad, in accordance with law.

27. It is needless to observe that nothing in this judgment curtails the powers of the passport authority under Section 10 of the Passports Act. If any future order of a competent court, or any subsequent development, requires impounding or revocation of the appellant's passport, it shall be open to the authority to act in accordance with Section 10 and other applicable provisions. Equally, if the appellant violates any condition imposed by the NIA Court, Ranchi, or the Delhi High Court, it will be open to those courts to take such steps, including modification of bail and recall of permissions, as may be warranted."

11. On the interpretation of the provisions of the Office Memorandum as well as the provisions of the Passports Act, it is clear that the issuance of passport and the conditions to not leave the country without the permission of a court are two distinct things. In the present case even in the bail order, no such restrictions has been placed upon the applicant for travelling abroad, thus, on the reasoning and the law laid down in the case of Mahesh Kumar Agarwal (Supra), the impugned order cannot be justified.

12. The order impugned is premised on the foundation that any restrictions were placed on the rights of the applicant to travel abroad whereas no such restrictions appeared to be placed upon the applicant even in the bail order, as such, the order impugned dated 30.06.2025 is quashed.

13. Directions are issued to the trial court to issue an NOC to the applicant for grant of passport which shall be processed for normal period of 10 years.

14. It shall however be open to the prosecution to seek variance of the condition of the bail order, if so desired based upon the contingencies that may be pleaded by the prosecution in the pending case.

15. It is clarified that the passport of the applicant shall be renewed for a period of ten years in accordance with law by the passport authority.

16. The application stands allowed.

17. This Court records its appreciation for the assistance provided by Ms. Rajshree Lakshmi, Research Associate/ Law Clerk in deciding the present case.

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION: Application under S. 528 B.N.S.S. seeking to "quash the entire proceeding of case No.94500 of 2024... as well as charge sheet dated 26.06.2021 along with cognizance order dated 27.11.2024 passed by Chief Judicial Magistrate Firozabad."

Appearances for PartiesAdvs. for the Appellant:

Shri Pawan Singh Pundir

Advs. for the Respondents:

Shri Pankaj Kumar Tripathi

(Delivered by Hon'ble Praveen Kumar Giri, J.)

1. The affidavit filed by the Circle Officer, City, Firozabad is taken on record.
2. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that he has filed the instant application under Section 528 BNSS with the relief which has been mentioned in the prayer clause of the application.

3. The relief which has been mentioned in the application is delineated below:-

"It is, therefore, most respectfully prayed that this Hon'ble Court may graciously be pleased to allow the present application under section 528 B.N.S.S. and quash the entire proceeding of case No.94500 of 2024 (State Vs. Sooraj Thakur and others), arising out of case crime No.246 of 2019, under Sections 379, 411 IPC, Police Station- Firozabad North, District Firozabad, pending in the court of Chief Judicial Magistrate Firozabad as well as charge sheet dated 26.06.2021 alongwith cognizance order dated 27.11.2024 passed by Chief Judicial Magistrate Firozabad."

4. This Court, vide order dated 07.01.2026, directed the concerned, the then Chief Judicial Magistrate, Firozabad, to submit her explanation as to why cognizance was taken beyond the limitation period as provided under Sections 468 and 469 Cr.P.C. The order dated 07.01.2026 is being reproduced hereinbelow:

"1. The personal affidavit filed today by the Circle Officer, City, Firozabad is taken on record.

2. Today, Shri Praveen Kumar Tiwari, Circle Officer, Firozabad, is present before the Court. He has acquainted the Court with the facts of the case that the incident occurred on 13.04.2019 and in respect of which an F.I.R. was lodged as Case Crime No. 246 of 2019 under Section 379 I.P.C. in Police Station Firozabad North, District Firozabad, against unknown persons while during investigation, the names of seven persons came to light, namely (i) Aman Sakya, (ii)

Tanuj Gautam, (iii) Adarsh Yadav, (iv) Vishal @ Raja, (v) Rahul @ Bhagauna, (vi) Suraj Thakur and (vii) Avneesh Kumar.

2. After investigation, the first charge-sheet was prepared on 14.06.2019 under Sections 379 and 411 I.P.C. against the accused (i) Aman Sakya, (ii) Tanuj Gautam, (iii) Adarsh Yadav, (iv) Vishal @ Raja, (v) Rahul @ Bhagauna and the charge-sheet along with the case diary was submitted in the court of the concerned Judicial Magistrate. The learned Judicial Magistrate took cognizance against the offences in respect of aforesaid five accused persons on 17.06.2019.

3. The investigation, however, remained pending against two accused persons, namely Suraj Thakur and Avneesh Kumar. In respect of these two accused persons, second charge-sheet under Sections 379 and 411 I.P.C. was prepared on 26.06.2021 after about two years. The second charge-sheet was kept in the office of the Circle Officer, City, District Firozabad, up to 24.11.2024 and thereafter, it was submitted in the court of the Judicial Magistrate on 25.11.2024, after the expiry of the limitation period as provided under Sections 468 as well as 469 Cr.P.C. (corresponding Section 514 and 515 BNSS). The provisions of Section 468 and 469 Cr.P.C. are delineated below:

"Section 468. Bar to taking cognizance after lapse of the period of limitation.-

(1) Except as otherwise provided elsewhere in this Code, no Court shall take cognizance of an offence of the category specified in sub-section (2), after the expiry of the period of limitation.

(2) The period of limitation shall be-

(a) six months, if the offence is punishable with fine only;

(b) one year, if the offence is punishable with imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year;

(c) three years, if the offence is punishable with imprisonment for a term exceeding one year but not exceeding three years.

(3) For the purposes of this section, the period of limitation, in relation to offences which may be tried together, shall be determined with reference to the offence which is punishable with the more severe punishment or, as the case may be, the most severe punishment.

Section 469. Commencement of the period of limitation.-

(1) The period of limitation, in relation to an offender, shall commence-

(a) on the date of the offence; or

(b) where the commission of the offence was not known to the person aggrieved by the offence or to the police officer, the first day on which such offence comes to the knowledge of such person or to any police officer, whichever is earlier; or

(c) where it is not known by whom the offence was committed, the first day on which the identity of the offender is known to the person aggrieved by the offence or to the police officer making investigation into the offence, whichever is earlier.

(2) In computing the said period, the day from which such period is to be computed shall be excluded."

4. Learned Judicial Magistrate, ignoring the provisions of Sections 468 and 469 Cr.P.C., took cognizance on 27.11.2024, under Sections 379 and 411 IPC which is punishable upto three years and fine, after lapse of more than three years, which was against the provisions of law and was an abuse of the process of the Court, thus violating the fundamental rights enshrined under Article 21 of the Constitution of India, as due process of law is required to be followed.

5. The Circle Officer present before the Court further acquainted the Court that as soon as this fact came to the knowledge of the senior officers of the district, an inquiry has been initiated against the erring official who delayed to submit the charge-sheet before the court after three years from the date of the incident.

6. The court of Magistrate cannot take cognizance after expiry of the period prescribed under Section 468 Cr.P.C. and if cognizance is taken by the concerned Judicial Magistrate beyond the period of limitation, the same is against the provisions of law, therefore, the proceedings of the trial court have been stayed only in respect of two accused persons, namely Suraj Thakur and Avneesh Kumar.

7. The Circle Officer present before the Court also acquainted the Court with the fact that the inquiry is going on and shall be concluded to its logical end and the report of the inquiry along with its outcome shall be communicated to this Court.

8. Learned AGA submits that as indirectly, the alleged accused persons, who have a long criminal history of about eight cases of similar nature have been acquitted, as no court can take cognizance after expiry of the period of limitation.

9. The present Chief Judicial Magistrate, Firozabad and the then Chief Judicial Magistrate, Firozabad who has taken cognizance in the matter, are directed to submit their explanation to this Court, disclosing their names, on or before 19.01.2026.

10. The trial court is directed that this Court has only stayed the proceedings in respect of accused Suraj Thakur and Avneesh Kumar.

11. The Circle Officer, City, Firozabad shall remain present before this Court on the next date fixed.

12. The Superintendent of Police, Firozabad, the District Magistrate, Firozabad and the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Firozabad, are directed to take notice of this order in the monthly meeting and inform all the police officers to complete investigation within the time frame prescribed under the Code of Criminal Procedure and submit police report within the limitation period as prescribed under law and the Judicial Magistrates are directed to take notice of the provisions of Sections 468 and 469 Cr.P.C. as well as of Sections 514 and 515 BNSS, while taking cognizance.

13. List this case on 19.01.2026 for further hearing.

14. Registrar (Compliance) is directed to obtain the said explanation from the present Chief Judicial Magistrate, Firozabad and the then Chief Judicial Magistrate, Firozabad who has taken cognizance in the matter. "

5. Today, Shri Praveen Kumar Tiwari, Circle Officer, Firozabad, is present before this Court and submits that though the incident occurred on 13.04.2019 and the first information report was lodged on 16.04.2019 and the charge-sheet was prepared against two accused persons, namely Avneesh Kumar and Suraj Thakur on 26.06.2021, but the same was kept by the then Circle Officer as well as the Head Constable in the office of the Circle Officer and as the offence was punishable up to three years, therefore, if the charge-sheet is not submitted in the Court within three years from the date of the alleged incident, the concerned Magistrate cannot take cognizance as it is barred under Sections 468 and 469 Cr.P.C. and indirectly the accused will be acquitted as no further proceedings shall be initiated against the accused in the time barred case. In the present case, the charge-sheet was submitted in the court on 24.11.2024, after lapse of three years, and the learned Judicial Magistrate took cognizance on 25.11.2024, ignoring the above-mentioned provisions and took cognizance beyond the period of limitation.

6. Shri Praveen Kumar Tiwari, Circle Officer, further informs this Court that the then Circle Officer is not in service at present and the Head Constable is in service, therefore, departmental proceedings have been initiated against the Head Constable and the same shall travel up to its logical end.

7. This Court has perused the order dated 01.12.2025. The relevant portion of the same is quoted hereinbelow:

1. Heard Shri Pawan Singh Pundir,, learned counsel for the applicant, learned AGA for the State.

2. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that he has filed the present application under Section 528 BNSS for the following prayer, which has been mentioned in the prayer clause of this application. The prayer clause is delineated below:-

“It is, therefore, most respectfully prayed that this Hon'ble Court may graciously be pleased to allow the present application under section 528 B.N.S.S. and quash the entire proceeding of case No.94500 of 2024 (State Vs. Sooraj Thakur and others), arising out of case crime No.246 of 2019, under Sections 379, 411 IPC, Police Station- Firozabad North, District Firozabad, pending in the court of Chief Judicial Magistrate Firozabad as well as charge sheet dated 26.06.2021 along with cognizance order dated 27.11.2024 passed by Chief Judicial Magistrate Firozabad.

3. Shri Pawan Singh Pundir, learned counsel for the applicant, submits that regarding the alleged incident dated 13.04.2019, a First Information Report was lodged by Shri Krishnakat in respect of theft of his motorcycle, and the police of Police Station- Firozabad North, District-Firozabad registered an FIR against one unknown person as Case Crime No. 246 of 2019 under Section 379 IPC Indian Penal Code, 1860 (corresponding Section 303(2) B.N.S.).

4. Shri Prateek Tyagi, learned AGA for the State submits that initially, first police report/charge-sheet has been prepared on 14.06.2019 against Aman Shah, Tanuj Gautam, Adarsh Yadav, Vishal Raja and Rahul alias Bhagona under Sections 379 and 411 IPC (corresponding Sections 303(2) & 317(2) of B.N.S.).

5. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that in the confessional statement of co-accused Vishal Raja dated 04.10.2020 recorded in Supplementary Case Diary (S.C.D.) No. 2, for the first time, name of applicant-accused as well as one Suraj Thakur came in the picture and the Investigating Officer submitted charge-sheet against the applicant and one Suraj Thakur in the concerned court on 26.06.2021, after seen/ verification of the same by the concerned Circle Officer. He further submits that the cognizance has been taken against the applicant for the offence under Sections 379 and 411 IPC on 27.11.2024 by the then learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Firozabad and thereafter, registered the case as Case No. 94500 of 2024 (State v. Sooraj Thakur and others).

6. He further submits that the alleged incident occurred on 13.04.2019; the First Information was lodged on 16.04.2019 u/s 379 & 411 IPC which is punishable up to three years; the first charge-sheet has been prepared and submitted u/s 379 & 411 IPC against five persons on 14.06.2019. The counsel for the applicant further submits that, for the first time, name of the applicant came in the picture in the confessional statement of co-accused, Vishal Raja dated 04.10.2022; recorded in S.C.D. Parcha No. 2 and thereafter, supplementary charge-sheet has been prepared and submitted in the concerned court u/s 379 & 411 IPC against the applicant and Suraj Thakur on 26.06.2021 but the learned Magistrate took cognizance on 27.11.2024 on the supplementary charge-sheet dated 26.06.2021 after three years and registered the case as Case No. 94500 of 2019 (State v. Sooraj Thakur and others), u/s 379 & 411 IPC, Police Station-Firozabad North, District- Firozabad, thus, as per Sections 467 r/w 468 r/w 469 CrPC (corresponding Sections 513, 514 and 515 BNSS), the concerned Judicial Magistrate cannot take cognizance as it is time-barred, beyond the period of three years as per the conditions made under Section 469 CrPC and no reason has been mentioned also in the cognizance order dated 27.11.2024 passed by the then Chief Judicial Magistrate, Firozabad as to taking cognizance beyond expiry of period of limitation. It is further submitted that as per the mandatory provision enshrined under Sections 467, 468, 469 CrPC, the concerned court cannot take cognizance beyond the period of limitation as provided in the Sections, therefore, the proceedings pending the concerned trial court is against the procedure established by law/ Code of Criminal Procedure and it is violating the fundamental right of the applicant as provided under Article 21 of the Constitution of India, i.e. "No person shall be deprived of his life or personal liberty, except according to procedure established by law". The provisions of Sections 467, 468, 469 CrPC are delineated below :-

"467. Definitions. For the purposes of this Chapter, unless the context otherwise requires, "period of limitation" means the period specified in section 468 for taking cognizance of an offence.

468. Bar to taking cognizance after lapse of the period of limitation.-(1) Except as otherwise provided elsewhere in this Code, no Court, shall take cognizance of an offence of the category specified in sub-section (2), after the expiry of the period of limitation.

(2) The period of limitation shall be-

(a) six months, if the offence is punishable with fine only;

(b) one year, if the offence is punishable with imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year;

(c) three years, if the offence is punishable with imprisonment for a term exceeding one year but not exceeding three years.

1[(3) For the purposes of this section, the period of limitation, in relation to offences which may be tried together, shall be determined with reference to the offence which is punishable with the more severe punishment or, as the case may be, the most severe punishment.]

469. Commencement of the period of limitation. (1) The period of limitation, in relation to an offender, shall commence,-

(a) on the date of the offence; or

(b) where the commission of the offence was not known to the person aggrieved by the offence or to any police officer, the first day on which such offence comes to the knowledge of such person or to any police officer, whichever is earlier, or

(c) where it is not known by whom the offence was committed, the first day on which the identity of the offender is known to the person aggrieved by the offence or to the police officer making investigation into the offence, whichever is earlier.

(2) In computing the said period, the day from which such period is to be computed shall be excluded."

7. The classification of offences has been mentioned in the first schedule of the Code of Criminal Procedure. The relevant part of the First Schedule in respect of Sections 379 & 411 are being quoted below :-

Section	Offence	Punishment	Cognizable or non-cognizable	Bailable or Non-bailable	By what court triable
379	Theft	Imprisonment for 3 years, or fine or both	Cognizable	Non-bailable	Any Magistrate
411	Dishonestly receiving stolen property knowing it to be stolen	Imprisonment for 3 years, or fine or both	Cognizable	Non-bailable	Any Magistrate

8. Learned A.G.A., Shri Pankaj Kumar Tripathi, submits that in this case, after expiry of the period as prescribed under law, cognizance cannot be taken but the learned Judicial Magistrate has taken cognizance beyond the limitation period as provided under Sections 468 and 469 Cr.P.C.

9. The then Chief Judicial Magistrate, Firozabad, Minakshi Sinha, in her explanation dated 12.12.2025, mentioned in paragraph Nos. 4 and 6 with an assurance that she will be more careful in future. Paragraph Nos. 4 and 6 of the aforesaid explanation are quoted hereinbelow:

4. That as regards the allegations of the two accused persons named above before the Hon'ble Court that the issue of limitation being involved in the matter was not taken note of and not mentioned in the cognizance taking order dated 27.11.2024, it is most humbly submitted to the Hon'ble Court that at the time of taking of cognizance on 27.11.2024 on the supplementary charge-sheet, none including the Assistant Public Prosecutor of the State had invited my attention to the issue of limitation and due to bona fide oversight the point of limitation did not come to my mind and in all good faith the said cognizance taking order was passed by me on 27.11.2024 on the supplementary charge-sheet in discharge of my judicial functions of my court. It is humbly submitted to the Hon'ble Court that as per the usual practice prevalent in all magisterial courts in the State of Uttar Pradesh, and perhaps in other states too, no in depth enquiry or examination of the record is made on receiving the police report i.e. the charge-sheet (or the final report) for purposes of taking cognizance of the offences and only a prima facie view is formed by the Magistracy on the basis of material contained in the case diary.

6. That in case, the Hon'ble Court still finds any lapse on my part in passing the aforesaid cognizance taking order dated 27.11.2024 on the said supplementary charge-sheet, it is most humbly submitted that the same had not occurred on account of any mala fides on my part but as a matter of purely bona fide oversight for which I most sincerely regret to the Hon'ble Court and assure to be more careful in future."

10. The then Chief Judicial Magistrate, Firozabad, Minakshi Sinha, who is currently posted as the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Saharanpur has not submitted explanation as person having knowledge of law but as a layman, as per her explanation "as per the usual practice prevalent in all magisterial courts in the State of Uttar Pradesh, and perhaps in other states too, no in depth enquiry or examination of the record is made on receiving the police report i.e. the charge-sheet (or the final report) for purposes of taking cognizance of the offences and only a prima facie view is formed by the Magistracy on the basis of material contained in the case diary". Such practice cannot substitute a law which is not mentioned in the Code of Criminal Procedure. For such explanation and passing of impugned order, it may be assumed that she is taking her judicial service very lightly and is not treating it as a serious obligation to impart justice. The behaviour as well as the conduct of the Presiding Officer as reflected from her explanation as well as cognizance order deserves initiation of departmental proceedings, as the same prima facie demonstrates conduct unbecoming of the office held by her, but taking a very lenient view, this Court is silent on this aspect.

11. The Chief Judicial Magistrate, Minakshi Sinha, is directed to be more cautious in future and to pass orders strictly in accordance with law and existing law may not be substituted by practice (if any) is illegally prevalent in all the Magisterial Courts in the State of U.P.

12. The other Judicial Magistrates as well as courts are also directed not to follow such practice, as mentioned in the explanation of the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Minakshi Sinha.

13. The Registrar General of the Allahabad High Court is directed to communicate this order to the Judicial Training and Research Institute (J.T.R.I.), Lucknow to impart such training to the Judicial Officers, as cognizance is the base of a criminal case so cognizance order must be passed in accordance with law.

14. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that as per the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in P.K. Chaudhary vs. Commander, 48 BRTF (GRET); (2008) 13 SCC 229 and Surinder Mohan Bikal vs. Ascharaj Lal Chopra; (1978) 2 SCC 403 as well as State of Punjab v. Sarwan Singh; (1981) 3 SCC 34, the learned court cannot take cognizance after expiry of the limitation period.

15. This Court has gone through the entire facts of the case as well as the provisions of law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the judgments of P.K. Chaudhary (supra), Surinder Mohan Bikal (supra) as well as Sarwan Singh (supra) and has formed the opinion that where a provision is mandatory, the court should not take cognizance contrary to the mandate of law.

16. Accordingly, the entire proceeding of case No. 94500 of 2024 (State Vs. Sooraj Thakur and another), arising out of case crime No.246 of 2019, under Sections 379, 411 IPC, Police Station- Firozabad North, District Firozabad, pending in the court of Chief Judicial Magistrate Firozabad as well as charge sheet dated 26.06.2021 alongwith cognizance order dated 27.11.2024 passed by Chief Judicial Magistrate Firozabad in respect of the applicant Avneesh Kumar and co-accused Suraj Thakur are hereby quashed.

17. The proceedings against the other five accused namely, (i) Aman Sakya, (ii) Tanuj Gautam, (iii) Adarsh Yadav, (iv) Vishal @ Raja and (v) Rahul @ Bhagauna shall continue, against whom separate charge-sheet was submitted and cognizance was taken within the period of limitation.

18. Accordingly, the application is disposed of.

Appearances of parties

Counsel for Applicant(s) : Chandra Bhushan Pandey, Asim Kumar Singh Counsel for Opposite Party(s) : Anurag Kumar Singh

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Lavania, J.)

1. Heard Shri C.B. Pandey, Advocate along with Shri Asim Kumar Singh, Ms Tripti and Shri Mohit Ashok, learned counsel for the applicant and Shri Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the C.B.I.

2. By means of the present application, the applicant Krishna Mohan Tripathi has impeached the proceedings related to Criminal Case No.12 of 2011, arising out of F.I.R. No.RC0062010A0010/2010 dated 24.02.2010 under Section 13 (1)(e) read with 13 (2) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 (in short "PC Act"), Police Station-CBI/ACB, Lucknow pending in the Court of Special Judge, CBI/Anti Corruption (West), Lucknow.

3. The main prayer sought in the petition reads as under :

"to quash the impugned criminal proceeding in Criminal Case No. No.12/2011 arises out of FIR No.RC0062010A0010/2010, dated 24.02.2010, under Section 13(1)(e) r/w 13(2) of P.C. Act, 1988, Police Station-CBI/ACB, Lucknow, pending before the Learned Special Judge, CBI/Anti Corruption (West), Lucknow."

4. Upon due consideration of pleadings and documents on record as also the submissions advanced by Shri C.B. Pandey, learned counsel for the applicant, and Shri Anurag Kumar Singh, who appeared for C.B.I., this Court is of the view that prayer/relief, quoted above, has been sought based upon the following :

(A) Article 20(2) of the Constitution of India and Section 300 (1) Cr.P.C. These provision(s) are based upon the principle embodied in the Maxim(s) (i) "Nemo debet bis vexari pro una et eadem causa" (no one should be vexed twice for the same cause) and (ii) "Nemo debet bis puniri pro uno delicto" (no one ought to be punished twice for one offence). According to these provision(s), in nutshell, an accused/a person once punished or acquitted cannot be subsequently tried and /or punished for the same offence. In other words "After a person faces a judicial trial and receives a punishment or acquittal for an offence, he is legally protected from being subjected to another trial and punishment for that exact offence".

(B) Section 71 of I.P.C. This provision provides that 'where anything which is an offence is made up of parts, any of which parts is itself an offence, the offender shall not be punished with the punishment of more than one of such his offence, unless it be so expressly provided.

(C) Section 220 of Cr.P.C. This provision relates to the joinder of charges of offences committed by the same person. It applies to a case in which different offences or acts are parts of a single transaction. If the offences are committed in the course of the same transaction, they may be tried together. This section is an enabling provision. It permits the Court to try more than one offence in one trial. The Court may or may not try all the offences together in one trial. If the Court tries the offences separately, it does not commit any illegality. The accused in a case has no vested right to seek joinder of charges and trial of more offences in one trial. The expression "same transaction" in Section 220 of Cr.P.C. is relevant for deciding the question of whether the series of acts are so connected together to be tried at one trial. There cannot be a universal formula for the purpose of determining whether two or more acts constitute the same transaction. The commonality of purpose or design and continuity of action manifest that the same or different offences were committed in the course of the same transaction. The proximity of time, unity of place, unity or community of purpose or design and continuity of action make the series of acts alleged against the person to constitute the same transaction.

(D) Section 13 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 (in short "PC Act"), as applicable in this case. This provision deals with 'Criminal Misconduct by a Public Servant'. Based upon this Section, in nutshell, it has been alleged that 'Criminal Misconduct' by a Public Servant, as mentioned under Section 13 (1)(d) of PC Act, the applicant has already been convicted and therefore he cannot be tried for the offence as mentioned under Section 13 (1)(e) of PC Act.

(E) Judgment passed in the case of T.T. Antony Vs. State of Kerala, (2001) 6 SCC 181. In this judgment the Hon'ble Apex Court observed that "Thus there can be no second FIR and consequently there can be no fresh investigation on receipt of every subsequent information in respect of the same cognizable offence or the same occurrence or incident giving rise to one or more cognizable offences. On receipt of information about a cognizable offence or an incident giving rise to a cognizable offence or offences and on entering the FIR in the station house diary, the officer in charge of a police station has to investigate not merely the cognizable offence reported in the FIR but also other connected offences found to have been committed in the course of the same transaction or the same occurrence and file one or more reports as provided in Section 173 Cr.P.C."

5. For considering the main prayer sought in the instant application, to the view of this Court, the following facts of the case are relevant, which are related to two cases indicated herein under :-

(i) Criminal Case No.17/2010 arising out of FIR lodged on 30.10.2009 at Police Station - CBI/ACB, Lucknow, registered as Case Crime No.RC0062009A0033 (in short "First Case").

(ii) Criminal Case No.12 of 2011 arising out of FIR lodged on 24.02.2010 at Police Station - CBI/ACB, Lucknow registered as RC No.0062010A0010 i.e. Case-in-Issue (in short 'Second Case/Case-in-Issue').

6. The relevant facts of First Case, arising out of Case Crime No.RC0062009A0033, are as under :

6.1. Written report dated 30.10.2009 was submitted by Sunil Kumar Singh son of Maheshwar Prasad Singh (in short "Complainant") before Superintendent of Police, CBI, Lucknow. Annexed at page 52A of the paper book.

6.2. According to the aforesaid Written Report dated 30.10.2009, the applicant demanded total Rs.70,000/- from the Complainant for the purposes of renewal of licence of 'Three Trollies' and 'One Stall' related to Basti and Khalilabad Railway Station(s).

6.3. It is to be noted that the applicant, an employee of Railways, was discharging the duties of the post of C.R.M., I.R.C.T.C., Gomti Nagar, Lucknow.

6.4. Based upon the aforesaid Written Report dated 30.10.2009 an F.I.R. was lodged on 30.10.2009, at Police Station CBI/ACB, Lucknow, registered as Case Crime No. RC0062009A0033, under Section 7, 13 (1)(d) read with 13 (2) of the PC Act. In nutshell, this F.I.R. relates to demand of illegal gratification.

6.5. Thereafter on 31.10.2009 the CBI team caught the present applicant red handed at his residence, where the bribe money i.e. Rs.70,000/- was recovered from the Briefcase of the applicant and the applicant was arrested.

6.6. The Trap Memo was also prepared on 31.10.2009.

6.7. The CBI thereafter filed the charge sheet against the applicant under Section(s) 7, 13(1)(d) read with 13 (2) of the PC Act.

6.8. Trial Court thereafter proceeded in the matter which includes framing of charges and recording the statement(s) of independent witnesses of prosecution namely Santosh Kumar Saravgi and Saurav Paul as also the recording of statement of the applicant under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

6.9. Trial Court namely Special Judge, CBI/Anti Corruption (West), Lucknow (in short "Trial Court"), after conclusion of evidence, passed the judgment on 11.08.2024 in Criminal Case No.17 of 2010, arising out of Case Crime No.RC0062009A0033, under Section 7, 13 (1)(d) read with 13 (2) of the PC Act.

6.10. Trial Court vide judgment dated 11.08.2024 convicted the applicant for the offence under Section 7 of PC Act and also for the offence under Section 13 (1)(d) read with Section 13 (2) of the PC Act.

6.11. It is to be noted that the judgment of conviction dated 11.08.2024 relates to F.I.R./Case Crime No.RCNo.0062009A0033 of 2009, CBI/ACB Lucknow.

7. The relevant facts of 'Second Case/Case-in-Issue' arising out of Case Crime No.RC00622010A0010, are as under :

7.1. After apprehending the applicant red handed, the house of the applicant was also searched on 31.10.2009 and during search the prosecution/CBI found various assets. Relevant portion of Memo prepared in this regard is extracted herein under :

8.	2186101006843, Canara Bank, Sapru Marg, Lucknow	Sri K.M. Tripathi	2,07,430/-
		Total	5,13,602/-

Total Movable Assets = (a)+(b) = Rs.1,28,23,428/- + 5,13,602/-
= Rs.1,33,37,020/-

Total Assets = Immovable assets + Movable assets = Rs.1,30,00,000/- + Rs.1,33,37,030/-
= Rs.2,63,37,030/-"

7.2. Considering the aforesaid assets found in the search, the officer of CBI namely A.K. Sharma, Deputy Superintendent of Police, CBI, ACB, Lucknow wrote a letter dated 09.12.2009 to Superintendent of Police, CBI, ACB, Lucknow, indicating aforesaid therein and in this letter concluded as under :

INCOME

1. Income from property settlement	: Rs.4,00,000/-
2. Housing loan from Bank of Baroda	: Rs.32,00,000/-
3. Loan from LIC	: Rs.8,00,000/-
4. Income from maturity of LIC Policy	: Rs.46,880/-
5. Sale proceeds of jewellery	: Rs.5,98,000/-

Total : Rs.50,44,880/-

Thus the total income of Sri K.M Tripathi = Net Salary Income + Income other than salary
Total Income = 37,50,293/- + 50,44,880/- = Rs.87,95,173/-

Expenditure

(a). Non verifiable expenditure	: Rs.16,22,117/-
[1/3 of (Gross salary - Income Tax deductions)
(Income Tax Deductions are not yet known)
(b). Verifiable expenditure
i). Expenses on education of children	: Rs.8,80,000/-
ii). Stamp duty paid on Mahanagar house property	:Rs.7,24,000/-
iii). Registration Fee paid on Mahanagar House property	: Rs.5040/-
iv). Stamp Duty paid on house at Mall Avenue	:Rs.70,100/-
v). Expenses on Rental Car	: Rs.1,50,000/-
vi). Miscellaneous expenditure	: Rs.11,715/-
vii). Taxi fare paid as per records	:Rs.28,386/-
viii). Hotel bills of stay at Pune	: Rs.31,552/-

Total : Rs.19,00,793/-

Total Expenditure : (a) + (b) =

Rs.16,22,117/- + Rs.19,00,793/- = Rs.35,22,910/-

Disproportionate Assets possessed by Sri K.M. Tripathi =

Assets as on 31.10.2009 - Assets possessed on 6.3.1989 + expenditure between 6.3.1989 to 31.10.2009 - Income between 6.3.1989 to 31.10.2009

= 26337030-0+3522910 -8795173 = Rs.2,10,64,767

Percentage Disproportionate Asset=
$$\frac{21064767 \times 100}{8795173} = 239.5(\text{approx})\%$$

While calculating the Disproportionate Assets of Sri K.M. Tripathi, the immovable / movable assets existing in his name and in the name of his dependent family members have been taken into account.

During investigation, the general reputation of Sri K.M. Tripathi has not been found above board. He is known as a corrupt officer particularly during his posting as Sr. DCM, Lucknow and CRM, IRCTC, Lucknow. Investigation has also revealed that a number of immovable properties were acquired by him which are highly undervalued and registered below the market rates. It has also been revealed that Sri K.M. Tripathi has not declared any major source of income other than his salary.

There is strong possibility that during open investigation, disproportionate assets will further increase as there are more immovable properties. the details of which could not be gathered due to paucity of time. During open investigation, the expenditure on house hold articles, demat accounts details credit cards details, pleasure trip, expenses and some more bank accounts details in the name of Sri K.M. Tripathi and his family members are likely to be revealed.

In view of the above facts, a regular case U/s 13 (2) r/w 13 (1) (e) of PC. Act, 1988 may be registered against Sri K.M. Tripathi, the then Chief Regional Manager, Indian Railway Catering and Tourism Corporation Limited, Regional Office, Lucknow for the possession of disproportionate assets to his known source of income to the tune of Rs. 2,10,64,767/-.

Sd.
09.12.2009
(A. K. SHARMA),
Dy. Supdt. of Police,
CBI, ACB, Lucknow

After obtaining necessary permission of the Govt. vide letter No. 2009/ V-2/ IRCTC/14 dt. 08.02.2010 as required U/s 6 A of DSPE Act 1946, a regular case u/s 13 (2) r/w 13 (1)(e) of P. C. Act, 1988 against Sri K.M. Tripathi, the then Chief Regional Manager, Indian Railway Catering and Tourism Corporation Limited, Regional Office, Lucknow is registered and entrusted to Sri Surender Rai, Inspector, CBI, ACB, Lucknow for investigation.

7.3. From a bare perusal of above quoted portion of the letter dated 09.12.2009 indicates that after obtaining necessary permission of the Government of India vide letter No.2009/V-2/IRCTC/14 dated 08.10.2010 as required under Section 6A of DSPE Act, 1946, a regular case under Section 13 (2) read with Section 13(1)(e) of PC Act was registered against the applicant and one Sri Surender Rai, Inspector, CBI, ACB, Lucknow was directed to investigate the matter on 24.02.2010 itself, the date of second FIR i.e. FIR/Case Crime No. RC0062010A0010 dated 24.02.2010, in relation to which the present application for the relief(s) sought, quoted above, has been filed.

8. While pressing the instant application for the relief sought, quoted above, Sri Chandra Bhushan Pandey, learned counsel for the applicant submitted that pending Criminal Case arising out of FIR/Case Crime No.RC0062010A0010/2010 is not in consonance with the spirit of relevant statutory provision and also Article 20(2) of Constitution of India.

9. Elaborating the aforesaid, Shri Pandey submitted as under :

(i) In Section 13(1) of the Act of 1988, expression/word 'or' has been mentioned in relation to all the sub-sections and as such the trial for the offence under Section 13(1)(e) of the Act of 1988 cannot proceed for the reason that the applicant has already been convicted for the offence under Section 13(1)(d) of the Act of 1988.

(ii) Subsequent/second FIR lodged on 24.10.2010 registered as FIR/Case Crime No.RC0062010A0010, the basis of Criminal Case No.12 of 2011 i.e. 'Second Case/Case-in-Issue', is also not in consonance with the principles settled in this regard. Reliance in this regard has been placed on the judgment passed by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of T.T. Antony vs. State of Kerala and others, (2001) 6 SCC 181. Referred paragraphs of which are as under :

"19. The scheme of CrPC is that an officer in charge of a police station has to commence investigation as provided in Section 156 or 157 CrPC on the basis of entry of the first information report, on coming to know of the commission of a cognizable offence. On completion of investigation and on the basis of the evidence collected, he has to form an opinion under Section 169 or 170 CrPC, as the case may be, and forward his report to the Magistrate concerned under Section 173(2) CrPC. However, even after filing such a report, if he comes into possession of further information or material, he need not register a fresh FIR; he is empowered to make further investigation, normally with the leave of the court, and where during further investigation he collects further evidence, oral or documentary, he is obliged to forward the same with one or more further reports; this is the import of sub-section (8) of Section 173 CrPC.

20. From the above discussion it follows that under the scheme of the provisions of Sections 154, 155, 156, 157, 162, 169, 170 and 173 CrPC only the earliest or the first information in regard to the commission of a cognizable offence satisfies the requirements of Section 154 CrPC. Thus there can be no second FIR and consequently there can be no fresh investigation on receipt of every subsequent information in respect of the same cognizable offence or the same occurrence or incident giving rise to one or more cognizable offences. On receipt of information about a cognizable offence or an incident giving rise to a cognizable offence or offences and on entering the FIR in the station house diary, the officer in charge of a police station has to investigate not merely the cognizable offence reported in the FIR but also other connected offences found to have been committed in the course of the same transaction or the same occurrence and file one or more reports as provided in Section 173 CrPC.

27. A just balance between the fundamental rights of the citizens under Articles 19 and 21 of the Constitution and the expansive power of the police to investigate a cognizable offence has to be struck by the court. There cannot be any controversy that sub-section (8) of Section 173 CrPC empowers the police to make further investigation, obtain further evidence (both oral and documentary) and forward a further report or reports to the Magistrate. In Narang case [(1979) 2 SCC 322 : 1979 SCC (Cri) 479] it was, however, observed that it would be appropriate to conduct further investigation with the permission of the court. However, the sweeping power of investigation does not warrant subjecting a citizen each time to fresh investigation by the police in respect of the same incident, giving rise to one or more cognizable offences, consequent upon filing of successive FIRs whether before or after filing the final report under Section 173(2) CrPC. It would clearly be beyond the purview of Sections 154 and 156 CrPC, nay, a case of abuse of the statutory power of investigation in a given case. In our view a case of fresh investigation based on the second or successive FIRs, not being a counter-case, filed in connection with the same or connected cognizable offence alleged to have been committed in the course of the same transaction and in respect of which pursuant to the first FIR either investigation is under way or final report under Section 173(2) has been forwarded to the Magistrate, may be a fit case for exercise of power under Section 482 CrPC or under Articles 226/227 of the Constitution."

(iii) The trial pertaining to subsequent/second FIR cannot proceed in terms of Article 20(2) of the Constitution of India, Section(s) 220, 221 and 300 Cr.P.C. and Section 71 of IPC.

10. Opposing the instant application, Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, Advocate, who appeared for the opposite party/CBI, submitted that the applicant is not entitled for the main relief sought in this application, quoted above. In continuation Sri Singh submitted as under :

(i) Based upon Written Report dated 30.10.2009 an FIR was lodged on 30.10.2009 registered as Case Crime No. RC0062009A0033.

(ii) The applicant was caught red handed on 31.10.2009 and the 'Trap Memo' was also prepared, based upon the same the first case was registered as Case Crime No. RC0062009A0033.

(iii) In the Case Crime No. RC0062009A0033, the charge sheet was filed for the offence under Sections 7 and 13(2) read with Section 13(1)(d) of the PC Act.

(iv) Subsequent to filing of the charge sheet, the trial court proceeded in the matter and ultimately found that the applicant is guilty for the offence under Section 7 and Section 13(1)(d) read with Section 13 (2) of the PC Act and therefore passed the judgment dated 11.08.2014 whereby convicted the applicant.

(v) The Case Crime No. RC0062010A0010, in relation to which the instant application has been filed, was registered based upon the assets found during search after seeking necessary permission from the Government of India as required under Section 6A of DSPE Act, 1946, under Section 13(2) read with Section 13(1)(e) of the PC Act, which relates to disproportionate assets.

(vi) For the offence indicated under Section(s) 7 and 13 (1)(d) of the PC Act the applicant has already been convicted vide order dated 11.08.2014.

(vii) Section 13(1)(d) relates to demand of illegal gratification and Section 13(1)(e) relates to disproportionate assets. Thus, Section 13(1)(e) is the separate offences. As such, the applicant can be tried for both the offences separately.

(viii) In the 'First Case' i.e. Case Crime No. RC0062009A0033 related to Section 13(1)(d), the applicant has already been convicted and the present case would be dealt with on the basis of assets found during search and the income of the applicant of which the applicant is legally entitled.

(ix) The 'First Case' i.e. Case Crime No. RC0062009A0033 under Section 13 (1)(d) of the PC Act was based upon the different evidence and the Case-in-Issue, arising out of Case Crime No. RC0062010A0010, under Section 13 (1)(e) of PC Act is based upon different evidence.

(a) On the aforesaid, reference has been made to page 128 of the paper book, which is the copy of 'List of Articles' filed in Case Crime No. RC0062009A0033, CBI/ACB, Lucknow. The same reads as under :

48.	Surendra Rai, Inspector, Investigating Officer.

(x) To establish/prove the Second Case/Case-in-Issue before the trial court arising out of Case Crime No. RC0062010A0010, the prosecution, as per charge sheet, would produce 48 witnesses including the complainant namely Sri Ajay Kumar Sharma, the then Deputy Superintendent of Police, CBI/ACB, Lucknow, who was not the complainant of Case Crime No. RC0062009A0033.

(xi) The complainant of the Case Crime No. RC0062009A0033 was Sunil Kumar Singh, who was examined before the Trial Court, and on the basis of whose complaint the applicant was caught red handed on 31.10.2009 and from the possession of the applicant an amount to the tune of Rs.70,000/- was recovered and thereafter phenolphthalein test of the applicant was also carried out and 'Trap Memo' was prepared.

(xii) Other witnesses in Criminal Case No. 17 of 2010, arising out of Case Crime No. RC No.RC0062009A0033, were Santosh Kumar Saraogi, Senior Manager, Punjab National Bank, Circle Office, Lucknow and Saurav Paul, Agriculture Officer, Punjab National Bank, Circle Office, Lucknow (witnesses of recovered amount of Rs.70,000/- from the possession of the applicant on 31.10.2009).

(xiii) As both the aforesaid FIRs relate to different offences, the case of T.T. Anthony (Supra) would not be applicable in the instant case. Other provisions, as pointed out by Sri C.B. Pandey, Advocate, would also not be applicable in the instant case.

(xiv) The time period and set of accused as also witnesses in both the cases are different.

(xv) In 'First Case' arising out of Case Crime No.RC0062009A0033, Ajay Kumar Sharma was also an accused and he has been acquitted by the trial court. The Second Case/Case-in-Issue is only against the applicant.

(xvi) First Case arising out of Case Crime No. RC0062009A0033 was related to recovery of amount i.e. Rs.70,000/- on 31.10.2009 from the possession of the applicant and therefore the applicant was charged related for the offence under Section 13 (1)(d) of PC Act.

(xvii) The Second Case/Case-in-Issue relates to acquired assets, which were found not proportionate to the known sources of income of the applicant, during his service period w.e.f. 06.03.1989 (the date of joining the service) and 31.10.2009 (the date of search) and therefore the separate F.I.R. was lodged, registered as Case Crime No. RC0062010A0010, under Section 13 (1)(e) of PC Act and in this section subsequently the charge-sheet was filed.

(xviii) In support of submissions advanced, Sri Anurag Kumar Singh has placed reliance on the following judgments :

(a) V.K. Puri vs. Central Bureau of Investigation, (2007) 6 SCC 91. Relevant paragraphs referred are extracted herein under :

"11. The 1988 Act is a special Act. It overrides the provisions of the general law viz. the Code of Criminal Procedure. But, then when a matter is not covered by the 1988 Act, in view of sub-section (3) of Section 5 of the 1988 Act, the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure shall clearly be applicable.

12. A distinction exists between a case filed under Sections 13(1)(c) and 13(1)(d) of the 1988 Act, on the one hand, and Section 13(1)(e) thereof, on the other.

13. Ingredients of the offence under Section 13(1)(e) of the 1988 Act are:

(i) the accused is a public servant;

(ii) the nature and extent of the pecuniary resources of property found in his possession;

(iii) his known sources of income i.e. known to the prosecution;

(iv) such resources or properties found in possession of the accused were disproportionate to his known sources of income.

14. Once, however, the aforementioned ingredients are established by the prosecution, the burden of proof would shift on the accused to show that the prosecution case is not correct. (See M. Krishna Reddy [(1992) 4 SCC 45 : 1992 SCC (Cri) 801] , para 7.)

15. One of the ingredients of offences, therefore, is known sources of income. What is material therefor is that the criminal misconduct had been committed during the period the accused held office and not the places where he had held offices. The fact that the appellant had bank accounts within the jurisdiction of the Delhi Courts as also immovable properties is not in dispute. The respondent in the charge-sheet has clearly pointed out that one of his known sources of income was the rental received by him from his Delhi flat. The same had been given due credit for the purpose of arriving at a prima facie satisfaction that the assets possessed by him are disproportionate to his known sources of income.

16. From a perusal of the charge-sheet, it furthermore appears that the appellant is said to have acquired large properties including several bank accounts. For the purpose of proving the offence, therefore, on the one hand, known sources of income must be ascertained vis-a-vis the possession of property or resources which were disproportionate to the known sources of income of public servant and the inability of the public servant to account for it, on the other. Whereas the burden to prove the first part of the offence is on the prosecution, in the event the same is proved, it would shift to the public servant concerned. (See P. Nallammal [(1999) 6 SCC 559 : 1999 SCC (Cri) 1133].)

17. It is not a case where the offence revolves round any conspiracy or abetment to commit an offence. It is also not a case falling under clauses (c) and (d) of sub-section (1) of Section 13 of the 1988 Act as was the case in Braj Bhushan Prasad [(2001) 9 SCC 432 : 2002 SCC (Cri) 576]. The appellant is not accused of commission of such an offence. No other person has been charged with the offence of abetment and conspiracy. The question of finding out the place where the offence was completed, thus, does not arise in this case.

18. Strong reliance has been placed by Mr Nageswara Rao on a Single Judge Bench decision of the Kerala High Court in Banwarilal Jhunjhunwalla v. Union of India [AIR 1959 Ker 311] wherein it was observed:

“13. Taking the first offence under Section 5(2) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, alleged to have been committed by Thomson, there can be little doubt that it was committed within the State of Kerala where he passed inferior jungle wood as timber of the contract quality and issued false certificates to that effect. (Of course these statements are as yet no more than assumptions based on the prosecution case, in accordance with which the question of jurisdiction has to be determined and it is unnecessary to repeat this caution at every stage of the discussion.)

When Thomson did this, he was undoubtedly abusing his position as a public servant, and it is a legitimate inference that he thereby obtained for himself or at least for the contractors, a pecuniary advantage. The act of abusing his position as a public servant certainly took place within the Kerala State where the false certificates were issued, and even if the consequence of obtaining a pecuniary advantage for himself or for the contractors which consequence makes that act an offence took place elsewhere, under Section 179, Criminal Procedure Code, the Special Judge for Kerala would have jurisdiction to try the offence. That the Special Judge has jurisdiction to try Thomson for the offence under Section 5(2) of the Prevention of Corruption Act is, in fact, not disputed.”

19. However, therein the factual matrix was absolutely different. In a case of this nature, the question of completion of any offence does not arise.

20. In a case involving Section 13(1)(e) of the 1988 Act, what is necessary is as to whether keeping in view the period in question, commonly known as check period, the public servant has acquired wealth which is disproportionate to his known sources of income. It has nothing to do with individual case of bribery. It has nothing to do with a series of acts culminated into an offence.

21. Each court, where a part of the offence has been committed, would, therefore, be entitled to try an accused. The 1988 Act does not bar application of Section 178 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. If application of the provision of Section 178 of the Code of Criminal Procedure is not barred, the fact that the appellant has a part of his known sources of income at Delhi, in our opinion, would confer jurisdiction upon the Delhi Courts. It is one thing to say that only the Special Courts will have jurisdiction to try the offence, but for the purpose of arriving at a decision as to the Special Judge of which place shall have the requisite jurisdiction, the situs of the property may or may not have any relevance. Once the situs of the property is held to have relevance for the purpose of ascertaining his known source of income and consequent acquisition of disproportionate assets, in our opinion, the Special Judge concerned will also have the requisite jurisdiction to try the case. For the said purpose, purport and object for which the 1988 Act has been enacted must be taken into consideration. The doctrine of purposive construction therefor must be taken recourse to.

22. With respect, Punchhi, J. (as the learned Chief Justice then was) in Kamal Dev [(1986) 3 Crimes 305 (P&H)] was not concerned with such a question and in that view of the matter, the following observations made in para 4 may not have strict application : (Crimes p. 306, para 4)

"4. The commission of the offence of criminal misconduct has nexus to the period of his office. It is so intimately interlinked that it is the place of office which would determine the place of commission of his misconduct. It is through his office alone that one can determine his known source of income and if his property which is presently in his possession or in possession of someone on his behalf, or has at any time during the period of his office been in his possession or of someone on his behalf, then it is relatively to be viewed with the period of his office. In this context, the place of office assumes importance, for that would determine the jurisdiction in which the offence of criminal misconduct would be triable. Thus, in the instant case, I am of the view that it was the Special Judge at Chandigarh who had the jurisdiction to try the offence against the petitioner."

23. In any event, as would appear from para 5 of the said judgment itself, the learned Judge did not intend to determine the said question finally as ultimately the doctrine of forum conveniens had been taken recourse to for holding that although more than one Special Judge may have jurisdiction to try the offence, the Special Judge at Chandigarh would be the appropriate authority to have the case tried before it in the interest of justice."

(b) Prem Shankar Singh vs. State of U.P. thru CBI, 2019 SCC OnLine All 4743. Relevant paragraphs referred are extracted herein under :-

"10. The Supreme Court in the case of State of Jharkhand through S.P., CBI v. Lalu Prasad Yadav alias Lalu Prasad, (2017) 8 SCC 1 in paragraphs 40, 41, 42, 49 and 50 which summarising the law on the point has held as under:-

"40. In the instant case, offences are not the same offence. There can be different trials for the same offence if tried under two different enactments altogether and comprised of two different offences under different Acts/statutes without violation of the provisions of Article 20(2) or Section 300 CrPC. This Court has decided the issue in various cases:

40.1. In Kharkan v. State of U.P. [Kharkan v. State of U.P., (1964) 4 SCR 673 : AIR 1965 SC 83 : (1965) 1 Cri LJ 116] this Court has laid down thus: (AIR p. 86, para 10)

"10.... Even if the two incidents could be viewed as connected so as to form parts of one transaction it is obvious that the offences were distinct and required different charges. The assault on Tikam in fulfilment of the common object of the unlawful assembly was over when the unlawful assembly proceeded to the house of Tikam to loot it. The new common object to beat Puran was formed at a time when the common object in respect of Tikam had been fully worked out and even if the two incidents could be taken to be connected by unity of time and place (which they were not), the offences were distinct and required separate charges. The learned Sessions Judge was right in breaking up the single charge framed by the Magistrate and ordering separate trials. In this view the prior acquittal cannot create a bar in respect of the conviction herein reached."

40.2. In Maqbool Hussain v. State of Bombay [Maqbool Hussain v. State of Bombay, 1953 SCR 730 : AIR 1953 SC 325 : 1953 Cri LJ 1432] this Court has laid down thus: "The appellant had smuggled gold into India and was booked under Section 167(8) of the Sea Customs Act, 1878 and subsequently when no one came to claim the gold, he was charged under Section 8 of FERA. He challenged this as violation of Article 20(2). The Court analysed the scope of Article 20(2) and held that the "prosecution" must be before a court of law or judicial tribunal. The plea of double jeopardy was discarded as it was held that the Customs Authorities were not a judicial tribunal or court. For double jeopardy, the test is whether the former offence and the offence now charged have the same ingredients in the sense that the facts constituting the one are sufficient to justify a conviction of the other and not that the facts relied on by the prosecution are the same in the two trials."

40.3. In State of Bombay v. S.L. Apte [State of Bombay v. S.L. Apte, (1961) 3 SCR 107 : AIR 1961 SC 578 : (1961) 1 Cri LJ 725] a Constitution Bench of this Court has laid down as to the issue regarding conviction under Section 409 IPC and Section 105 of the Insurance Act. The submission of double jeopardy was repelled with respect to offences under Section 11 IPC and Section 105 of the Insurance Act. It was held that the offences under both the Acts are distinct due to their ingredients. So as to constitute double jeopardy two offences should be identical.

40.4. In T.S. Baliah v. ITO [T.S. Baliah v. ITO, (1969) 3 SCR 65 : AIR 1969 SC 701], the appellant was sought to be prosecuted under Section 177 IPC and Section 52 of the Income Tax Act, 1922 for furnishing wrong information in his tax returns. On consideration of Section 26 of the General Clauses Act, this Court held that the provision did not provide a bar on trial and conviction for the same offence under more than one enactment in case ingredients of offences are distinct. It only barred double punishment and not double conviction.

40.5. In Collector of Customs v. Vasantraj Bhagwanji Bhatia [Collector of Customs v. Vasantraj Bhagwanji Bhatia, (1988) 3 SCC 467 : 1988 SCC (Cri) 679] the question arose whether acquittal of an accused charged with having committed the offence punishable under Section 111 read with Section 135 of the Customs Act, 1969 created a legal bar to the accused, subsequently being prosecuted under Section 85 of the Gold (Control) Act, 1968. It was held that the ingredients of the offence under each of the enactments were quite different. The Court applied the test developed in Maqbool Hussain [Maqbool Hussain v. State of Bombay, 1953 SCR 730 : AIR 1953 SC 325 : 1953 Cri LJ 1432] and held the two offences to be different in scope and contents of their ingredients. The Court also relied upon S.L. Apte [State of Bombay v. S.L. Apte, (1961) 3 SCR 107 : AIR 1961 SC 578 : (1961) 1 Cri LJ 725] decision and observed that what is necessary is to analyse the ingredients of the two offences and not the allegations made in two complaints. No doubt about it that there can be separate offences but ingredients would remain same under penal provision but that would also not make out a case of violating the provisions of Article 20(2) of the Constitution and Section 300 CrPC.

40.6. In case ingredients of the offences to be tried separately arise out of the same offence, there can be separate trials under two enactments, if the ingredients constituting two offences are different under different Acts, there is no bar for separate trials. In State of Bihar v. Murad Ali Khan [State of Bihar v. Murad Ali Khan, (1988) 4 SCC 655 : 1989 SCC (Cri) 27] it was held: (SCC pp. 665, 667 & 668, paras 24, 28 & 31) The expression "any act or omission which constitutes any offence under this Act" in Section 56 of the Wild Life (Protection) Act, 1972, merely imports the idea that the same act or omission might constitute an offence under another law and could be tried under such other law or laws also. Further held that, if there are two distinct and separate offences with different ingredients under two different enactments, a double punishment is not barred. The same set of facts can constitute offences under two different laws. An act or an omission can amount to and constitute an offence under IPC and at the same time constitute an offence under any other law.

40.7. In State of Rajasthan v. Hat Singh [State of Rajasthan v. Hat Singh, (2003) 2 SCC 152 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 451] this Court was dealing with vires of the Rajasthan Sati (Prevention) Act, 1987. It was urged that Sections 5 and 6 of the new Sati Act were overlapping. It was held that with regard to Article 20(2) that subsequent trial or a prosecution and punishment are not barred if the ingredients of two offences are distinct. There can be separate offences from same set of facts and hence no double jeopardy.

40.8. In Monica Bedi v. State of A.P. [Monica Bedi v. State of A.P., (2011) 1 SCC 284 : (2011) 1 SCC (Cri) 22] this Court considered the meaning of the expression "same offence" employed in Article 20(2) and observed that second prosecution and conviction must be for the same offence. If the offences are distinct, there is no question of the rule as to double jeopardy being applicable. This Court has observed thus: (SCC pp. 293 & 295, paras 26 & 29) "26. What is the meaning of the expression used in Article 20(2) "for the same offence"?

What is prohibited under Article 20(2) is, that the second prosecution and conviction must be for the same offence. If the offences are distinct, there is no question of the rule as to double jeopardy being applicable.

29. It is thus clear that the same facts may give rise to different prosecutions and punishment and in such an event the protection afforded by Article 20(2) is not available. It is settled law that a person can be prosecuted and punished more than once even on substantially same facts provided the ingredients of both the offences are totally different and they did not form the same offence."

40.9. In Sangeetaben Mahendrabhai Patel v. State of Gujarat [Sangeetaben Mahendrabhai Patel v. State of Gujarat, (2012) 7 SCC 621: (2012) 4 SCC (Civ) 305 : (2013) 3 SCC (Cri) 445], with respect to double jeopardy, this Court has laid down thus: (SCC pp. 633-34, para 33)

"33. In view of the above, the law is well settled that in order to attract the provisions of Article 20(2) of the Constitution i.e. doctrine of autrefois acquit or Section 300 CrPC or Section 71 IPC or Section 26 of the General Clauses Act, ingredients of the offences in the earlier case as well as in the latter case must be the same and not different. The test to ascertain whether the two offences are the same is not the identity of the allegations but the identity of the ingredients of the offence. Motive for committing offence cannot be termed as the ingredients of offences to determine the issue. The plea of autrefois acquit is not proved unless it is shown that the judgment of acquittal in the previous charge necessarily involves an acquittal of the latter charge. "

40.10. In State of Rajasthan v. Bhagwan Das Agrawal [State of Rajasthan v. Bhagwan Das Agrawal, (2013) 16 SCC 574 : (2014) 6 SCC (Cri) 319] there were 3 FIRs registered with respect to illegal supply of explosives. Charge was under the Explosives Act. This Court held that the nature and manner of the offences committed by the accused persons were not identical but were different, and as such FIRs were not relating to the same offence as different acts happened in different places. As such the provisions contained in Section 186 CrPC would not apply.

40.11. In State (NCT of Delhi) v. Sanjay [State (NCT of Delhi) v. Sanjay, (2014) 9 SCC 772 : (2014) 5 SCC (Cri) 437] this Court considered the maxim nemo debet bis vexari pro una et eadem causa i.e. no man shall be put in jeopardy twice for one and the same offence. In case ingredients are different there can Prem Shankar Singh v. State of U.P., 2019 SCC OnLine All 4743 be separate trial for the same offence also. This Court has laid down thus: (SCC pp. 805-06, para 52)

“52. It is well-known principle that the rule against double jeopardy is based on a maxim nemo debet bis vexari pro una et eadem causa, which means no man shall be put in jeopardy twice for one and the same offence. Article 20 of the Constitution provides that no person shall be prosecuted or punished for the offence more than once. However, it is also settled that a subsequent trial or a prosecution and punishment has no bar if the ingredients of the two offences are distinct.”

41. In the light of the aforesaid discussion, it is appropriate to consider the submissions raised by Shri Surendra Singh, learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of Lalu Prasad Yadav. It was submitted by the learned Senior Counsel that since the conspiracy was between 1988 and 1996 which included the period of 1994-1995, the conviction has been made on the charge of conspiracy from 1988 to 1996 which included all the treasuries of the erstwhile State of Bihar. There was no charge of separate conspiracy. Charges being similar in the cases which have been quashed. No case is made out for trial under Section 120-B. Same and identical circumstances are being relied upon by the prosecution. There are no new or additional circumstances in the cases which have been quashed. The conspiracies referred to are one and the same and not different conspiracies. Thus, in view of the trial which had concluded, there cannot be further trial on the charge of conspiracy.

42. We are unable to accept the submissions raised by the learned Senior Counsel. Though there was one general charge of conspiracy, which was allied in nature, the charge was qualified with the substantive charge of defalcation of a particular sum from a particular treasury in particular time period. The charge has to be taken in substance for the purpose of defalcation from a particular treasury in a particular financial year exceeding the allocation made for the purpose of animal husbandry on the basis of fake vouchers, fake supply orders, etc. The sanctions made in Budget were separate for each and every year. This Court has already dealt with this matter when the prayers for amalgamation and joint trial had been made and in view of the position of law and various provisions discussed above, we are of the opinion that separate trials which are being made are in accordance with the provisions of law otherwise it would have prejudiced the accused persons considering the different defalcations from different treasuries at different times with different documents. Whatever could be combined has already been done. Each defalcation would constitute an independent offence. Thus, by no stretch, it can be held to be in violation of Article 20(2) of the Constitution or Section 300 CrPC. Separate trials in such cases is the very intendment of law. There is no room to raise such a grievance. Though evidence of general conspiracy has been adduced in cases which have been concluded, it may be common to all the cases but at the same time offences are different at different places, by different accused persons. As and when a separate offence is committed, it becomes punishable and the substantive charge which has to be taken is that of the offence under the PC Act, etc. There was conspiracy hatched which was a continuing one and has resulted into various offences. It was joined from time to time by different accused persons, so whenever an offence is committed in continuation of the conspiracy, it would be punishable separately for different periods as envisaged in Section 212(2), obviously, there have to be separate trials. Thus it cannot be said to be a case of double jeopardy at all. It cannot be said that for the same offence the accused persons are being tried again.

49. This Court has distinguished general conspiracy from a number of separate conspiracies having a similar general purpose. Where different groups of persons cooperate towards their separate ends without any privity with each other, each combination constitutes a separate conspiracy. It was held that in the case there was single general conspiracy to smuggle gold into India from foreign countries. The contention raised was that separate conspiracies were raised by the accused in the facts of the said case. The facts are quite different in the instant case. The question which has come up for consideration did not arise in the aforesaid decision and this Court has held that there was no prejudice caused to the accused persons by not making separate trials.

50. The modus operandi being the same would not make it a single offence when the offences are separate. Commission of offence pursuant to a conspiracy has to be punished. If conspiracy is furthered into several distinct offences there have to be separate trials. There may be a situation where in furtherance of general conspiracy, offences take place in various parts of India and several persons are killed at different times. Each trial has to be separately held and the accused to be punished separately for the offence committed in furtherance of conspiracy. In case there is only one trial for such conspiracy for separate offences, it would enable the accused person to go scot-free and commit a number of offences which is not the intendment of law. The concept is of "same offence" under Article 20(2) and Section 300 CrPC. In case distinct offences are being committed there has to be independent trial for each of such offence based on such conspiracy and in the case of misappropriation as statutorily mandated, there should not be joinder of charges in one trial for more than one year except as provided in Section 219. One general conspiracy from 1988 to 1996 has led to various offences as such there have to be different trials for each of such offence based upon conspiracy in which different persons have participated at different times at different places for completion of the offence. Whatever could be combined has already been done. Thus we find no merit in the submissions made by the learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of the accused persons."

11. Thus, when the accused have entered into separate conspiracies for committing the offences in each block, the filing of separate charge sheet in pursuance of one FIR, is neither illegal nor improper and the trial court has rightly taken cognizance in each charge sheet."

11. Considered the aforesaid and perused the record.

12. In order to come to the conclusion, this Court finds it appropriate to refer relevant provisions pointed out before this Court by the counsel for the applicant and based upon which he advanced his submissions.

(a) Article 20 (2) of the Constitution of India.

20(2). No person shall be prosecuted and punished for the same offence more than once.

(b) Section 220 Cr.P.C.

"Section 220 Trial for more than one offence

1. If, in one series of acts so connected together as to form the same transaction, more offences than one are committed by the same person, he may be charged with, and tried at one trial for, every such offence.

2. When a person charged with one or more offences of criminal breach of trust or dishonest misappropriation of property as provided in Sub-Section (2) of section 212 or in Sub-Section (1) of section 219, is accused of committing, for the purpose of facilitating or concealing the commission of that offence or those offences, one or more offences of falsification of accounts, he may be charged with, and tried at one trial for, every such offence.

3. If the acts alleged constitute an offence falling within two or more separate definitions of any law in force for the time being by which offences are defined or punished, the person accused of them may be charged with, and tried at one trial for, each of such offences.

4. If several acts, of which one or more than one would by itself or themselves constitute an offence, constitute when combined a different offence, the person accused of them may be charged with, and tried at one trial for the offence constituted by such acts when combined, and for any offence constituted by any one, or more, or such acts.

5. Nothing contained in this section shall affect section 71 of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860)."

"300. Person once convicted or acquitted not to be tried for same offence.

(1) A person who has once been tried by a Court of competent jurisdiction for an offence and convicted or acquitted of such offence shall, while such conviction or acquittal remains in force, not be liable to be tried again for the same offence, nor on the same facts for any other offence for which a different charge from the one made against him might have been made under sub-section (1) of Section 221, or for which he might have been convicted under sub-section (2) thereof.

(2) A person acquitted or convicted of any offence may be afterwards tried, with the consent of the State Government, for any distinct offence for which a separate charge might have been made against him at the former trial under sub-section (1) of Section 220.

(3) A person convicted of any offence constituted by any act causing consequences which, together with such act, constituted a different offence from that of which he was convicted, may be afterwards tried for such last-mentioned offence, if the consequences had not happened, or were not known to the Court to have happened, at the time when he was convicted.

(4) A person acquitted or convicted of any offence constituted by any acts may, notwithstanding such acquittal or conviction, be subsequently charged with, and tried for, any other offence constituted by the same acts which he may have committed if the Court by which he was first tried was not competent to try the offence with which he is subsequently charged.

(5) A person discharged under Section 258 shall not be tried again for the same offence except with the consent of the Court by which he was discharged or of any Court to which the first mentioned Court is subordinate.

(6) Nothing in this section shall affect the provisions of Section 26 of the General Clauses Act, 1897 (10 of 1897) or of Section 188 of this Code. Explanation. - The dismissal of a complaint, or the discharge of the accused is not an acquittal for the purposes of this section.

(a) A is tried upon a charge of theft as a servant and acquitted. He cannot afterwards, while the acquittal remains in force, be charged with theft as a servant, or, upon the same facts, with theft simply, or with criminal breach of trust.

(b) A is tried for causing grievous hurt and convicted. The person injured afterwards dies. A may be tried again for culpable homicide.

(c) A is charged before the Court of Session and convicted of the culpable homicide of B. A may not afterwards be tried on the same facts for the murder of B.

(d) A is charged by a Magistrate of the first class with, and convicted by him of, voluntarily causing hurt to B. A may not afterwards be tried for voluntarily causing grievous hurt to B on the same facts, unless this case comes within sub-section (3) of this section.

(e) A is charged by a Magistrate of the second class with, and convicted by him of, theft of property from the person of B. A may subsequently be charged with, and tried for, robbery on the same facts.

(f) A, B and C are charged by a Magistrate of the first class with, and convicted by him of, robbing D. A, B and C may afterwards be charged with, and tried for, dacoity on the same facts."

(d) Section 71 IPC.

"S. 71 Limit of punishment of offence made up of several offences

Where anything which is an offence is made up of parts, any of which parts is itself an offence, the offender shall not be punished with the punishment of more than one of such his offences, unless it be so expressly provided.

Where anything is an offence falling within two or more separate definitions of any law in force for the time being by which offences are defined or punished, or where several acts, of which one or more than one would by itself or themselves constitute an offence, constitute, when combined, a different offence, the offender shall not be punished with a more severe punishment than the Court which tries him could award for any one of such offences."

(e) Section 13 of the Act of 1988.

"13. Criminal misconduct by a public servant.-

(1) A public servant is said to commit the offence of criminal misconduct,-

(a) if he habitually accepts or obtains or agrees to accept or attempts to obtain from any person for himself or for any other person any gratification other than legal remuneration as a motive or reward such as is mentioned in Section 7; or

(b) if he habitually accepts or obtains or agrees to accept or attempts to obtain for himself or for any other person, any valuable thing without consideration or for a consideration which he knows to be inadequate from any person whom he knows to have been, or to be, or to be likely to be concerned in any proceeding or business transacted or about to be transacted by him, or having any connection with the official functions of himself or of any public servant to whom he is subordinate, or from any person whom he knows to be interested in or related to the person so concerned; or

(c) If he dishonestly or fraudulently misappropriates or otherwise converts for his own use any property entrusted to him or under his control as a public servant or allows any other person so to do; or

(d) if he,-

(i) by corrupt or illegal means, obtains for himself or for any other person any valuable thing or pecuniary advantage, or

(ii) by abusing his position as a public servant, obtains for himself or for any other person any valuable thing or pecuniary advantage, or

(iii) while holding office as a public servant, obtains for any person any valuable thing or pecuniary advantage without any public interest; or

(e) if he or any person on his behalf, is in possession or has, at any time during the period of his office, been in possession for which the public servant cannot satisfactorily account, of pecuniary resources or property disproportionate to his known sources of income.

Explanation. For the purposes of this section, "known sources of income" means income received from any lawful source and such receipt has been intimated in accordance with the provisions of any law, rules or orders for the time being applicable to a public servant.

(2) Any public servant who commits criminal misconduct shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which shall be not less than one year but which may extend to seven years and shall also be liable to fine."

13. In the facts/contexts of the instant case it would be useful to refer some pronouncements, in addition to which have been placed before this Court by the counsel for the parties.

(i) In the case of State of Rajasthan v. Surendra Singh Rathore, 2025 SCC OnLine SC 358, the Hon'ble Apex Court considered the various pronouncements on the issue related to lodging of 'Second FIR' including the judgment passed in the case of T.T. Antoney (Supra) and thereafter concluded as under :-

"9. From the above conspectus of judgments, inter alia, the following principles emerge regarding the permissibility of the registration of a second FIR:

9.1 When the second FIR is counter-complaint or presents a rival version of a set of facts, in reference to which an earlier FIR already stands registered.

9.2 When the ambit of the two FIRs is different even though they may arise from the same set of circumstances.

9.3 When investigation and/or other avenues reveal the earlier FIR or set of facts to be part of a larger conspiracy.

9.4 When investigation and/or persons related to the incident bring to the light hitherto unknown facts or circumstances.

9.5 Where the incident is separate; offences are similar or different."

(ii) In the case of Sangeetaben Mahendrabhai Patel v. State of Gujarat, (2012) 7 SCC 621, for coming to the conclusion (para 33) on the issue related to scope and application of 'Doctrine of Double Jeopardy' the Hon'ble Apex Court took note of Article 20(2) of Constitution of India, Section 171 of IPC, Section 300 of Cr.P.C., 26 of General Clauses Act, Section 11 of CPC and 115 of Indian Evidence Act and also various pronouncements related to the same. The relevant para(s) of the report are extracted herein under:

"9. The sole issue raised in this appeal is regarding the scope and application of the doctrine of double jeopardy. The rule against double jeopardy provides foundation for the pleas of autrefois acquit and autrefois convict. The manifestation of this rule is to be found contained in Section 300 CrPC; Section 26 of the General Clauses Act and Section 71 IPC.

13. In Maqbool Hussain v. State of Bombay [(1953) 1 SCC 736 : AIR 1953 SC 325 : 1953 Cri LJ 1432] , the Constitution Bench of this Court dealt with the issue wherein the central issue arose in the context of the fact that a person who had arrived at an Indian airport from abroad on being searched was found in possession of gold in contravention of the relevant notification, prohibiting the import of gold. Action was taken against him by the Customs Authorities and the gold seized from his possession was confiscated. Later on, a prosecution was launched against him in the criminal court at Bombay charging him with having committed the offence under Section 8 of the Foreign Exchange Regulation Act, 1947 (hereinafter called "the FERA ") read with the relevant notification. In the background of these facts, the plea of autrefois acquit was raised seeking protection under Article 20(2) of the Constitution of India (hereinafter called "the Constitution ")

14. This Court in Maqbool Hussain [(1953) 1 SCC 736 : AIR 1953 SC 325 : 1953 Cri LJ 1432] held that the fundamental right which is guaranteed under Article 20(2) enunciates the principle of "autrefois convict "or "double jeopardy "i.e. a person must not be put in peril twice for the same offence. The doctrine is based on the ancient maxim nemo debet bis punire pro uno delicto, that is to say, that no one ought to be punished twice for one offence. The plea of autrefois convict or autrefois acquit avers that the person has been previously convicted or acquitted on a charge for the same offence as that in respect of which he is arraigned. The test is whether the former offence and the offence now charged have the same ingredients in the sense that the facts constituting the one are sufficient to justify a conviction of the other and not that the facts relied on by the prosecution are the same in the two trials. A plea of autrefois acquit is not proved unless it is shown that the verdict of acquittal of the previous charge necessarily involves an acquittal of the latter.

15. The Constitution Bench of this Court in S.A. Venkataraman v. Union of India [AIR 1954 SC 375 : 1954 Cri LJ 993] explained the scope of doctrine of double jeopardy, observing that in order to attract the provisions of Article 20(2) of the Constitution, there must have been both prosecution and punishment in respect of the same offence. The words "prosecuted" and "punished" are to be taken not distributively so as to mean prosecuted or punished. Both the factors must coexist in order that the operation of the clause may be attracted.

16. In Om Parkash Gupta v. State of U.P. [AIR 1957 SC 458 : 1957 Cri LJ 575] and State of M.P. v. Veereshwar Rao Agnihotri [AIR 1957 SC 592 : 1957 Cri LJ 892] this Court has held that the prosecution and conviction or acquittal under Section 409 IPC do not debar trial of the accused on a charge under Section 5(2) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1947 because the two offences are not identical in sense, import and content.

17. In Leo Roy Frey v. Supt., District Jail [AIR 1958 SC 119 : 1958 Cri LJ 260] , proceedings were taken against certain persons in the first instance before the Customs Authorities under Section 167(8) of the Sea Customs Act and heavy personal penalties were imposed on them. Thereafter, they were charged for an offence under Section 120-B IPC. This Court held that an offence under Section 120-B IPC is not the same offence as that under the Sea Customs Act : (AIR p. 121, para 4)

“4. ... The offence of a conspiracy to commit a crime is a different offence from the crime that is the object of the conspiracy because the conspiracy precedes the commission of the crime and is complete before the crime is attempted or completed, equally the crime attempted or completed does not require the element of conspiracy as one of its ingredients. They are, therefore, quite separate offences.”

18. In State of Bombay v. S.L. Apte [AIR 1961 SC 578 : (1961) 1 Cri LJ 725] the Constitution Bench of this Court while dealing with the issue of double jeopardy under Article 20(2) of the Constitution, held : (AIR pp. 581 & 583, paras 13 & 16)

“13. To operate as a bar the second prosecution and the consequential punishment thereunder, must be for ‘the same offence’. The crucial requirement therefore for attracting the article is that the offences are the same i.e. they should be identical. If, however, the two offences are distinct, then notwithstanding that the allegations of facts in the two complaints might be substantially similar, the benefit of the ban cannot be invoked. It is, therefore, necessary to analyse and compare not the allegations in the two complaints but the ingredients of the two offences and see whether their identity is made out....

16. The next point to be considered is as regards the scope of Section 26 of the General Clauses Act. Though Section 26 in its opening words refers to ‘the act or omission constituting an offence under two or more enactments’, the emphasis is not on the facts alleged in the two complaints but rather on the ingredients which constitute the two offences with which a person is charged. This is made clear by the concluding portion of the section which refers to ‘shall not be liable to be punished twice for the same offence’. If the offences are not the same but are distinct, the ban imposed by this provision also cannot be invoked.”

19. In Roshan Lal v. State of Punjab [AIR 1965 SC 1413 : (1965) 2 Cri LJ 426] , the accused had caused disappearance of the evidence of two offences under Sections 330 and 348 IPC and, therefore, he was alleged to have committed two separate offences under Section 201 IPC. It was held that neither Section 71 IPC nor Section 26 of the General Clauses Act came to the rescue of the accused and the accused was liable to be convicted for two sets of offences under Section 201 IPC, though it would be appropriate not to pass two separate sentences. A similar view has been reiterated by this Court in Kharkan v. State of U.P. [AIR 1965 SC 83 : (1965) 1 Cri LJ 116]

20. In Bhagwan Swarup Lal Bishan Lal v. State of Maharashtra [AIR 1965 SC 682 : (1965) 1 Cri LJ 608] , while dealing with the issue, this Court held : (AIR pp. 688-89, paras 11-12)

“11. ... The previous case in which this accused was convicted was in regard to a conspiracy to commit criminal breach of trust in respect of the funds of the Jupiter and that case was finally disposed of by this Court in Sardul Singh Caveeshar v. State of Bombay [AIR 1957 SC 747 : 1957 Cri LJ 1325]. Therein it was found that Caveeshar was a party to the conspiracy and also a party to the fraudulent transactions entered into by the Jupiter in his favour. The present case relates to a different conspiracy altogether. The conspiracy in question was to lift the funds of the Empire, though its object was to cover up the fraud committed in respect of the Jupiter. Therefore, it may be that the defalcations made in Jupiter may afford a motive for the new conspiracy, but the two offences are distinct ones. Some accused may be common to both of them, some of the facts proved to establish the Jupiter conspiracy may also have to be proved to support the motive for the second conspiracy. The question is whether that in itself would be sufficient to make the two conspiracies the one and the same offence.

12. ... The two conspiracies are distinct offences. It cannot even be said that some of the ingredients of both the conspiracies are the same. The facts constituting the Jupiter conspiracy are not the ingredients of the offence of the Empire conspiracy, but only afford a motive for the latter offence. Motive is not an ingredient of an offence. The proof of motive helps a court in coming to a correct conclusion when there is no direct evidence. Where there is direct evidence for implicating an accused in an offence, the absence of proof of motive is not material. The ingredients of both the offences are totally different and they do not form the same offence within the meaning of Article 20(2) of the Constitution and, therefore, that article has no relevance to the present case. "

21. In State of A.P. v. Kokkiliagada Meerayya [(1969) 1 SCC 161 : AIR 1970 SC 771] this Court while having regard to Section 403 CrPC, 1898, held : (SCC pp. 163-64, para 6)

"6. The following important rules emerge from the terms of Section 403 of the Code of Criminal Procedure:

(1) An order of conviction or acquittal in respect of any offence constituted by any act against or in favour of a person does not prohibit a trial for any other offence constituted by the same act which he may have committed, if the court trying the first offence was incompetent to try that other offence.

(2) If in the course of a transaction several offences are committed for which separate charges could have been made, but if a person is tried in respect of some of those charges, and not all, and is acquitted or convicted, he may be tried for any distinct offence for which at the former trial a separate charge may have been, but was not, made.

(3) If a person is convicted of any offence constituted by any act, and that act together with the consequences which resulted therefrom constituted a different offence, he may again be tried for that different offence arising out of the consequences, if the consequences had not happened or were not known to the court to have happened, at the time when he was convicted.

(4) A person who has once been tried by a court of competent jurisdiction for an offence and has been either convicted or acquitted shall not be tried for the same offence or for any other offence arising out of the same facts, for which a different charge from the one made against him might have been made or for which he might have been convicted under the Code of Criminal Procedure. "

22. The Constitution Bench of this Court in Collector of Customs v. L.R. Melwani [AIR 1970 SC 962 : 1970 Cri LJ 885] repelled the contention of the respondents therein that their criminal prosecution for alleged smuggling was barred because proceedings were earlier instituted against them before the Collector of Customs. It was observed that neither the adjudication before the Collector of Customs was a prosecution, nor the Collector of Customs was a court. Therefore, neither the rule of autrefois acquit can be invoked, nor the issue estoppel rule was attracted. The issue estoppel rule is but a facet of doctrine of autrefois acquit.

23. This Court has time and again explained the principle of issue estoppel in a criminal trial observing that where an issue of fact has been tried by a competent court on an earlier occasion and a finding has been recorded in favour of the accused, such a finding would constitute an estoppel or res judicata against the prosecution, not as a bar to the trial and conviction of the accused for a different or distinct offence, but as precluding the acceptance/reception of evidence to disturb the finding of fact when the accused is tried subsequently for a different offence. This rule is distinct from the doctrine of double jeopardy as it does not prevent the trial of any offence but only precludes the evidence being led to prove a fact in issue as regards which evidence has already been led and a specific finding has been recorded at an earlier criminal trial. Thus, the rule relates only to the admissibility of evidence which is designed to upset a finding of fact recorded by a competent court in a previous trial on a factual issue. (Vide Pritam Singh v. State of Punjab [AIR 1956 SC 415 : 1956 Cri LJ 805] , Manipur Admn. v. Thokchom Bira Singh [AIR 1965 SC 87 : (1965) 1 Cri LJ 120] , Workmen v. Gujarat Electricity Board [(1969) 1 SCC 266 : AIR 1970 SC 87] and Bhanu Kumar Jain v. Archana Kumar [(2005) 1 SCC 787 : AIR 2005 SC 626] .)

24. In V.K. Agarwal v. Vasantraj Bhagwanji Bhatia [(1988) 3 SCC 467 : 1988 SCC (Cri) 679 : AIR 1988 SC 1106] wherein the accused were prosecuted under the Customs Act, 1962 (hereinafter referred to as "the Customs Act") and subsequently under the Gold (Control) Act, 1968, [hereinafter called as "the Gold (Control) Act"] it was held that : (SCC p. 474, para 7)

"7. ... the ingredients of the two offences are different in scope and content. The facts constituting the offence under the Customs Act are different and are not sufficient to justify the conviction under the Gold (Control) Act. "

(emphasis in original)

It was held that what was necessary is to analyse the ingredients of the two offences and not the allegations made in the two complaints.

25. In P.V. Mohammad Barmay Sons v. Director of Enforcement [1993 Supp (2) SCC 724 : 1993 SCC (Cri) 777 : AIR 1993 SC 1188] it was held : (SCC p. 732, para 11)

"11. The further contention that under the Customs Act, 1962 for the selfsame contravention, the penalty proceedings terminated in favour of the appellant, is of little avail to the appellant for the reasons that the two Acts operate in different fields, one for contravention of FERA and the second for evasion of [excise] duty. The mere fact that the penalty proceedings for evasion of the [excise] duty had ended in favour of the appellant, does not take away the jurisdiction of the enforcement authorities under the Act to impose the penalty in question. The doctrine of double jeopardy has no application. "

26. In A.A. Mulla v. State of Maharashtra [(1996) 11 SCC 606 : 1997 SCC (Cri) 305 : AIR 1997 SC 1441] the appellants were charged under Section 409 IPC and Section 5 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1947 for making false panchnama disclosing recovery of 90 gold biscuits on 21-9-1969 although according to the prosecution case the appellants had recovered 99 gold biscuits. The appellants were tried for the same and acquitted. The appellants were also tried for the offence under Section 120-B IPC, Sections 135 and 136 of the Customs Act, Section 85 of the Gold (Control) Act and Section 23(1-A) of FERA and Section 5 of the Imports and Exports (Control) Act, 1947. The appellants filed an application before the Judicial Magistrate contending that on the selfsame facts they could not be tried for the second time in view of Section 403 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (corresponding to Section 300 CrPC).

27. This Court held : (A.A. Mulla case [(1996) 11 SCC 606 : 1997 SCC (Cri) 305 : AIR 1997 SC 1441] , SCC pp. 613-14, para 22)

“22. After giving our careful consideration to the facts and circumstances of the case and the submissions made by the learned counsel for the respective parties, it appears to us that the ingredients of the offences for which the appellants were charged in the first trial are entirely different. The second trial with which we are concerned in this appeal, envisages a different fact situation and the enquiry for finding out facts constituting offences under the Customs Act and the Gold (Control) Act in the second trial is of a different nature. ... Not only the ingredients of offences in the previous and the second trial are different, the factual foundation of the first trial and such foundation for the second trial is also not indented (sic). Accordingly, the second trial was not barred under Section 403 CrPC of 1898 as alleged by the appellants. ”

28. In Union of India v. Sunil Kumar Sarkar [(2001) 3 SCC 414 : 2001 SCC (L&S) 600 : AIR 2001 SC 1092] , this Court considered the argument that if the punishment had already been imposed for court-martial proceedings, the proceedings under the Central Rules dealing with disciplinary aspect and misconduct cannot be held as it would amount to double jeopardy violating the provisions of Article 20(2) of the Constitution. The Court explained that the court-martial proceedings deal with the penal aspect of the misconduct while the proceedings under the Central Rules deal with the disciplinary aspect of the misconduct. The two proceedings do not overlap at all and, therefore, there was no question of attracting the doctrine of double jeopardy. While deciding the said case, the Court placed reliance upon its earlier judgment in R. Viswan v. Union of India [(1983) 3 SCC 401 : 1983 SCC (L&S) 405 : AIR 1983 SC 658] .

29. In Union of India v. P.D. Yadav [(2002) 1 SCC 405 : 2002 SCC (L&S) 149] , this Court dealt with the issue of double jeopardy in a case where the pension of the official, who stood convicted by a Court Martial, had been forfeited. The Court held : (SCC p. 425, para 25)

“25. ... This principle is embodied in the well-known maxim nemo debet bis vexari, (si constat curiae quod sit) pro una et eadem causa meaning no one ought to be vexed twice if it appears to the court that it is for one and the same cause. Doctrine of double jeopardy is a protection against prosecution twice for the same offence. Under Articles 20-22 of the Indian Constitution, provisions are made relating to personal liberty of citizens and others. ... Offences such as criminal breach of trust, misappropriation, cheating, defamation, etc., may give rise to prosecution on criminal side and also for action in civil court/other forum for recovery of money by way of damages, etc., unless there is a bar created by law. In the proceedings before General Court Martial, a person is tried for an offence of misconduct and whereas in passing order under Regulation 16(a) for forfeiting pension, a person is not tried for the same offence of misconduct after the punishment is imposed for a proven misconduct by the General Court Martial resulting in cashiering, dismissing or removing from service. Only further action is taken under Regulation 16(a) in relation to forfeiture of pension. Thus, punishing a person under Section 71 of the Army Act and making order under Regulation 16(a) are entirely different. Hence, there is no question of applying principle of double jeopardy to the present cases. "

30. In State of Rajasthan v. Hat Singh [(2003) 2 SCC 152 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 451 : AIR 2003 SC 791] this Court held that as the offence of glorification of Sati under Section 5 of the Rajasthan Sati (Prevention) Act, 1987, is different from the offence of violation of prohibitory order issued under Section 6 thereof, the doctrine of double jeopardy was not attracted for the reason that even if the prohibitory order is promulgated, a subsequent criminal act even if it falls under Section 5 could not be covered under Section 6(3) of the said Act. Doctrine of double jeopardy is enshrined in Section 300 CrPC and Section 26 of the General Clauses Act. Both the provisions employ the expression "same offence".

31. Similar view has been reiterated by this Court in State of Haryana v. Balwant Singh [(2003) 3 SCC 362 : 2003 SCC (L&S) 279 : AIR 2003 SC 1253], observing that there may be cases of misappropriation, cheating, defamation, etc. which may give rise to prosecution on criminal side and also for action in civil court/other forum for recovery of money by way of damages, etc. Therefore, it is not always necessary that in every such case the provisions of Article 20(2) of the Constitution may be attracted.

32. In Hira Lal Hari Lal Bhagwati v. CBI [(2003) 5 SCC 257 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 1121 : AIR 2003 SC 2545] this Court while considering the case for quashing the criminal prosecution for evading the customs duty, where the matter stood settled under the Kar Vivad Samadhan Scheme, 1998, observed that once the tax matter was settled under the said Scheme, the offence stood compounded, and prosecution for evasion of duty, in such a circumstance, would amount to double jeopardy.

33. In view of the above, the law is well settled that in order to attract the provisions of Article 20(2) of the Constitution i.e. doctrine of autrefois acquit or Section 300 CrPC or Section 71 IPC or Section 26 of the General Clauses Act, the ingredients of the offences in the earlier case as well as in the latter case must be the same and not different. The test to ascertain whether the two offences are the same is not the identity of the allegations but the identity of the ingredients of the offence. Motive for committing the offence cannot be termed as the ingredients of offences to determine the issue. The plea of autrefois acquit is not proved unless it is shown that the judgment of acquittal in the previous charge necessarily involves an acquittal of the latter charge.

(iii) In the case of Mohan Baitha Vs. State of Bihar [(2001) 4 SCC 350], the Hon'ble Apex Court has considered the scope of Section 220 Cr.P.C. by constructing the meaning of the expression "same transaction". In Mohan Baitha, the Supreme Court observed as under:-

"The expression "same transaction" from its very nature is incapable of an exact definition. It is not intended to be interpreted in any artificial or technical sense. Common sense and the ordinary use of language must decide whether on the facts of a particular case, it can be held to be in one transaction. It is not possible to enunciate any comprehensive formula of universal application for the purpose of determining whether two or more acts constitute the same transaction. But the circumstances of a given case indicating proximity of time, unity or proximity of place, continuity of action and community of purpose or design are the factors for deciding whether certain acts form parts of the same transaction or not. Therefore a series of acts whether are so connected together as to form the same transaction is purely a question of fact to be decided on the aforesaid criteria."

(iv) In the case of Anju Chaudhary Vs. State of U.P. [(2013) 6 SCC 384], while considering the test to be applied for determining the question as to whether two or more acts constitute the same transaction, the Hon'ble Apex Court observed as under :-

"43. It is true that law recognizes common trial or a common FIR being registered for one series of acts so connected together as to form the same transaction as contemplated under Section 220 of the Code. There cannot be any straight jacket formula, but this question has to be answered on the facts of each case. This Court in the case of Mohan Baitha v. State of Bihar [(2001) 4 SCC 350], held that the expression 'same transaction' from its very nature is incapable of exact definition. It is not intended to be interpreted in any artificial or technical sense. Common sense in the ordinary use of language must decide whether or not in the very facts of a case, it can be held to be one transaction.

44. It is not possible to enunciate any formula of universal application for the purpose of determining whether two or more acts constitute the same transaction. Such things are to be gathered from the circumstances of a given case indicating proximity of time, unity or proximity of place, continuity of action, commonality of purpose or design. Where two incidents are of different times with involvement of different persons, there is no commonality and the purpose thereof different and they emerge from different circumstances, it will not be possible for the Court to take a view that they form part of the same transaction and therefore, there could be a common FIR or subsequent FIR could not be permitted to be registered or there could be common trial.

45. Similarly, for several offences to be part of the same transaction, the test which has to be applied is whether they are so related to one another in point of purpose or of cause and effect, or as principal and subsidiary, so as to result in one continuous action. Thus, where there is a commonality of purpose or design, where there is a continuity of action, then all those persons involved can be accused of the same or different offences "committed in the course of the same transaction."

(v) In the case of P. v. State of Uttarakhand [2022 KHC 6634], the appellant therein allegedly committed rape on a girl in February 2016. Later, he made a demand for money and refused to marry her when the demand was not met. Later on, he hurled abuses at her and threatened to kill her. A complaint was filed by the victim, which was forwarded for investigation under Section 156(3) Cr. P.C. The Police submitted a Final Report clubbing both the acts alleging offences under Sections 376, 504 and 506 of IPC. On the issue/question, "whether the offences were distinct or not", the Hon'ble Apex Court held that the offences were distinct in nature and those being different offences could be separately charged and tried. Following the decisions in Mohan Baitha v. State of Bihar (Supra) and Anju Chaudhary v. State of U.P. (Supra), the Hon'ble Apex Court held that for several offences to be part of the same transaction, the test which has to be applied is whether they are so related to one another in point of purpose or of cause and effect, or as principal and subsidiary, so as to result in one continuous action.

14. Upon due consideration of aforesaid, this Court is of the view that the instant application, based upon the provision(s) referred above as also "Doctrine of Double Jeopardy", has no force and being so is liable to be dismissed.

15. The conclusion aforesaid is for the reason that both the offences i.e. offence under Section 13 (1)(d) of PC Act and offence under Section 13 (1)(e) of PC Act are different/distinct and are not of the same transaction and therefore, being different/distinct offences could be separately charged and tried.

16. The aforesaid is evident and established from the following :

(A) Offence indicated under Section 13 (1)(d) of the PC Act relates to illegal gratification/illicit gain.

(B) Offence under Section 13 (1)(e) of the PC Act relates to disproportionate assets.

(C) 'First Case', arising out of Case Crime No. RC0062009A0033, under Section 13 (1)(d) of PC Act was related to illegal gratification/illicit gain.

(D) 'First Case' registered as Case Crime No. RC0062009A0033, under Section 13 (1)(d) of PC Act, concluded vide judgment of conviction of the applicant dated 11.08.2024, was registered on the written complaint of Sumit Kumar Singh on 30.10.2009. According to this complaint illegal demand was made by the applicant.

(E). On 31.10.2009 from the Briefcase of the applicant Rs.70,000/- (tainted notes) were recovered. Phenolphthalein test of the applicant was carried out and 'Trap Memo' was prepared. Thereafter, the Charge Sheet against the applicant was filed under Section 13 (1)(d) of PC Act.

(F) Second Case/Case-in-Issue, arising out of Case Crime No. RC00622010A0010, under Section 13 (1)(e) of PC Act, relates to disproportionate assets accumulated by the applicant during his service period w.e.f. 06.03.1989 (the date of joining the service) and 31.10.2009 (the date of search). Therefore, the separate F.I.R. was lodged, registered as Case Crime No. RC0062010A0010, under Section 13 (1)(e) of PC Act and in this section subsequently the charge-sheet was filed.

(G) To establish/prove the Second Case/Case-in-Issue before the trial court arising out of Case Crime No. RC0062010A0010, under Section 13 (1)(e) of the PC Act, the prosecution, as per charge sheet would produce 48 witnesses including the complainant namely Sri Ajay Kumar Sharma, the then Deputy Superintendent of Police, CBI/ACB, Lucknow, who was not the complainant of Case Crime No. RC0062009A0033, under Section 13 (1)(d) of PC Act.

(H) The complainant of the Case Crime No. RC0062009A0033, under Section 13 (1)(d) of PC Act, was Sunil Kumar Singh, who was examined before the Trial Court and on the basis of whose complaint the applicant was caught red handed on 31.10.2009 and from the possession of the applicant an amount to the tune of Rs.70,000/- (tainted notes) was recovered.

(I) Other witnesses in Criminal Case No. 17 of 2010, arising out of Case Crime No. RC No.RC0062009A0033, under Section 13 (1)(d) of PC Act, were Santosh Kumar Saraogi, Senior Manager, Punjab National Bank, Circle Office, Lucknow and Saurav Paul, Agriculture Officer, Punjab National Bank, Circle Office, Lucknow (witnesses of recovered amount i.e. Rs.70,000/- from the possession of the applicant on 31.10.2009).

(J) In 'First Case' arising out of Case Crime No.RC0062009A0033, under Section 13 (1)(d) of PC Act, Ajay Kumar Sharma was also an accused and he has been acquitted by the trial court.

(K) The Second Case/Case-in-Issue is only against the applicant.

(L) The time period, set of accused of above indicated both the offences are not same.

(M) The evidence as also the witnesses in both the cases are not same. [See para 10 (ix) of this judgment]

17. Accordingly, the application is dismissed. No order as to costs.

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether the learned Judicial Magistrate, in respect of non-cognizable offences under Ss 504 and 507 I.P.C., could take cognizance under S 190(1)(b) Cr.P.C. treating the police report as a state case, without converting the same into a complaint under S 2(d) Explanation Cr.P.C. (corresponding S 2(1)(h) Explanation BNSS) and without affording opportunity of hearing under S 223 first proviso BNSS. (Paras 23-31, 42)

Headnotes

Criminal Procedure - Non-cognizable offence - Ss 504 and 507 I.P.C. - Punishable up to two years - Summons case - Registration of F.I.R. instead of N.C.R. – Improper - Police report in non-cognizable case - To be treated as complaint under S 2(d) Explanation Cr.P.C. - Magistrate required to take cognizance under S 190(1)(a) Cr.P.C. - Not under S 190(1)(b) - Protest petition - If fulfilling requirements of complaint - Magistrate may treat as complaint - Procedure under Ss

200 and 202 Cr.P.C. applicable - Final Report (Closure Report) - If submitted exonerating accused - I.O. under obligation to file complaint under Ss 177 and 182 IPC (corresponding Ss 212 and 217 BNS) - S 195(1)(a) Cr.P.C. compliance mandatory - Police Regulations - Mandatory registration of F.I.R. or N.C.R. - Paragraphs 97, 102, and 103 of U.P. Police Regulations - Failure to follow procedure violates Article 21 Cognizance - Must be in accordance with procedure established by law - BNSS applicability - Cognizance on pending investigation on or after 01.07.2024 to be taken as per BNSS. (E-7)

Held: The Judicial Magistrate “erroneously passed cognizance-cum-summoning order under S 506 and 507 IPC for a non-cognizable offence in derogation of the provisions of Cr.P.C.” and “neither converted the police report disclosing ‘non cognizable offence’ into ‘complaint’ as per the provision of Explanation to S 2(d) of Cr.P.C. nor took cognizance under S 190(1)(a) Cr.P.C.” but “took cognizance under S 190(1)(b) Cr.P.C. and summoned the applicant without affording him an opportunity of hearing provided under First Proviso of S 223 BNSS” - The impugned cognizance-cum-summoning order dated 23.10.2024 is quashed and set aside - Matter remanded to the learned Judicial Magistrate to pass fresh order in accordance with law after providing opportunity of hearing to the accused - Judicial Magistrates/Courts directed that in case final report/closure report is submitted in favour of accused, written complaint under S 195(1)(a) Cr.P.C. (corresponding S 215(1)(a) BNSS) for offences under Ss 177 and 182 IPC (corresponding Ss 212 and 217 BNS) must also be filed. (Paras 42, 44, 45 - 48)

Case Arising From

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION: Application U/S 528 BNSS No. 12575 of 2025 — Challenge to cognizance/summoning order dated 23.10.2024 in Misc. Case No. 750/12/2024 arising out of Case Crime No. 1004/2023, Police Station-Kwarsi, District-Aligarh.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Appellant:

Mr. Satish Kumar Dubey, Mr. Manoj Kumar Pandey

Advs. for the Respondents:

Mr. Najam Uz Zaman Khan, Sri Pankaj Kumar Tripathi

(Delivered by Hon’ble Praveen Kumar Giri, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Satish Kumar Dubey, Advocate holding brief of Mr. Manoj Kumar Pandey, learned counsel for the applicant, Mr. Najam Uz Zaman Khan, learned counsel for O.P. No.2 and Sri Pankaj Kumar Tripathi, learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that he has filed the instant application under Section 528 BNSS (Corresponding Section 482 Cr.P.C.) with the relief which has been mentioned in the prayer clause of the application.

3. The relief which has been mentioned in the application is delineated below:-

"It is, therefore, most respectfully prayed that this Hon'ble Court may graciously be pleased to quash the impugned Cognizance/summoning order dated 23.10.2024 including the entire proceedings of Misc. Case No. 750/12//2024 (Dr. Mahmood Alam Khan vs. Umme Farva and others) pending in the Court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Aligarh arising out of Case Crime No. 1004/2023, Under Sections 506, 507 IPC registered at Police Station-Kwarsi, District-Aligarh."

4. The brief facts of this case as per the First Information Report is that the Informant/O.P. no.2 was working as a Research Professor in the year 2020 at Hanyang University, Seoul. Wife of informant (i.e. present applicant) was living in a live-in-relationship with one Afzan Khan, a resident of Chongiu University, Korea. When the informant came to know about this relationship, he complained to Korea Police on the one hand and also took exception to his wife, then she took divorce from the informant and as per Sharia, their relationship ended. In order to save the future and career of his elder child, the informant left his job and filed a case for guardianship in the Family Court, Aligarh under the Guardians and Wards Act on 05.02.2021, which is still pending. Further allegation in the FIR is that, wife of the informant and her live-in partner are using facebook for defaming the informant and his daughter by uttering unwarranted, uncalled for and filthy language towards them. The accused have also threatened the informant, not to come or live in India, otherwise he would be eliminated.

5. The opposite party No. 2 (Husband) lodge First Information Report as Case Crime No.1004 of 2023 under section 504, 507 IPC, Police Station-Kwarsi, District-Aligarh against the applicant-accused (wife).

6. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that the applicant, who happens to be wife of O.P. no.2, has never committed any offence, as alleged against her in the FIR, but she has been implicated in this case, as well as other cases due to malafide intention, just to harass her and no reason. He submits that marriage of the applicant was solemnized with O.P. no.2 according to Islamic rites and rituals on 14.04.2008 and just thereafter, O.P. no.2 has started harassing her and she was also subjected to various kinds of cruelty. He next submits that, even after birth of a son, within the wedlock, even then the behaviour of O.P. no.2 did not improve, so the applicant-wife was not happy with the husband i.e. O.P. no. 2 . He submits, that O.P. no.2 even ousted the applicant from her in-laws house, so she was left with no choice, but to reside in her parental house. He submits that, when the applicant started living at her parental home, the O.P. no.2 has filed several complaints against her, on the basis of false allegations and the present criminal proceedings is also outcome of one of those cases. He submits that during course of investigation, when no evidence was found showing involvement of the applicant in the alleged crime, the concerned Investigating Officer submitted final report (closure report) on 19.06.2024 before concerned Judicial Magistrate. Thereafter, O.P. no.2 filed a protest petition on 22.10.2024 and the concerned Magistrate allowed the protest petition and rejected the final report dated 19.06.2024 and took cognizance under section 190(1)(b) Cr.P.C. and proceeded as State case, vide order dated 23.10.2024, under section 504, 507 IPC, which has been challenged along with the entire proceedings of the case in this application. He submits that the learned Magistrate has failed to appreciate the evidence collected during course of investigation in its right perspective and has passed the cognizance-cum-summoning order, in an arbitrary manner and against the provision of law, which is liable to be quashed and set aside.

7. Per contra, learned counsel appearing on behalf of O.P. no.2 submits that, there is no illegality or infirmity in the cognizance-cum-summoning order passed by learned Magistrate and warrants no interference by this Court. He submits that O.P. no.2 has filed protest petition against the final report submitted by the concerned I.O. in the matter and the learned Magistrate, after appreciation of evidence collected during the course of investigation, has found, that a prima facie case is made out against the applicant and has passed the said order, which suffers from no illegality or impropriety in any manner whatsoever.

8. Learned Additional Government Advocate has adopted the arguments advanced by learned counsel for O.P. No.2 and argued more or less on the similar lines. He further submits that the learned Magistrate has passed the impugned order after properly appreciating the evidence collected during the investigation and hence no interference is required by this Court in the ongoing criminal proceedings against the applicant.

9. Heard learned counsels appearing on behalf of both sides and perused the entire record, and took into consideration the provision of law as law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court and High Courts.

10. It has come on record that the O.P. No. 2, husband of the applicant, gave information to the police, regarding the incident dated 28.09.2023. The Station House Officer (S.H.O.) of Police Station- Kwarsi, District- Aligarh registered the First Information Report on 28.09.2023, as Case Crime No. 1004/2023, under Sections 504 and 507 I.P.C. (Corresponding Sections 352 and 351(4) BNS).

11. The law provides that under Section 504 I.P.C., the maximum imprisonment is two years or fine or both, which is non-cognizable, bailable and triable by any Magistrate. So far as, Section 507 I.P.C. is concerned, that is also non-cognizable, bailable and triable by the First Class Magistrate. In both sections, the punishment is upto two years, therefore, it is a summons case rather than a warrant case. The S.H.O. of the police station, rather than treating it as non-cognizable report under Section 155 Cr.P.C., (Corresponding Section 174 BNSS) registered as First Information Report (F.I.R.) under Section 154 Cr.P.C., (Corresponding Section 173 BNSS) treating the same as cognizable offence, by misusing the process of law, right from the beginning of the case.

12. The police officer is under an obligation as per paragraph No. 97, 102 and 103 U.P. Police Regulations to register an F.I.R. or N.C.R. in accordance with law, as prescribed under the Code of Criminal Procedure. Otherwise, it will amount to violation of not only the provision mentioned in the Cr.P.C., but also the fundamental right, enshrined under Article 21 of the Constitution i.e. "no person shall be deprived of his life or personal liberty except in accordance with the procedure established by law."

13. The paragraphs 97, 102 and 103 of the U.P. Police Regulations are being quoted below:

"97. Whenever information relating to the commission of a cognizable offence is given to an officer-in-charge of a police station the report will immediately be taken down in triplicate in the check receipt book for reports of cognizable offences (Police Form No. 341). The step will on no account be delayed to allow time for the true facts to be ascertained by a preliminary investigation. Even if it appears untrue, the report must be recorded at once. If the report is made orally, the exact words of the person who makes it, including his answers to any questions put to him should be taken down and read over to him; he must sign each of the three parts, or if he cannot write, he must make his mark or thumb-impression. If a written report is received an exact copy must be made, but the signature or mark of the messenger need not be taken. In all cases the officer-in-charge of the station must sign each of the three parts and have the seal of the station stamped on each. The triplicate copy will remain in the book; the duplicate copy will be given to the person who makes the oral or brings the written report; the original will be sent forthwith through the Superintendent of Police to the Magistrate having jurisdiction with the original written report (if any) attached.

The practice of delaying first information reports until they can be sent to headquarters attached to special or general diaries is contrary to the provisions of Criminal Procedure Code and is prohibited.

If there is an Assistant or Deputy Superintendent incharge of the subdivision, and stationed at a place other than the headquarters of the district, the original should be sent through him to the Magistrate.

x x x x

102. When a report is made of a non-cognizable offence, the important portion of the report should be recorded in the check receipt book for reports of non-cognizable offence (Police Form NO. 347). The informant should be required to sign or affix his mark to each of the two copies. The duplicate copy should be given to him, the original remaining in the book. The substance of the report should be entered in the general diary, and, if the report is in writing, the proper containing should be attached to the diary. The informant should also be referred to the Magistrate, as required by Section 155 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974).

103. The responsibility imposed on the officer-in-charge of police station by Section 154 and 155(1) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974) or non-cognizable, will be enforced, and he must countersign all reports of either kind recorded."

14. In this case, the Investigating Officer, investigated the matter and found that, no case has been made out against the wife/accused-applicant under Sections 504 and 507 I.P.C., and thereafter, he prepared the police report/final report (closure report) on 19.06.2024 under Section 173(2) Cr.P.C. (Corresponding Section 193(3) BNSS) and submitted the report in the court of Magistrate, without a written complaint of offence committed under Section 177 and 182 IPC

(Corresponding Section 212 and 217 Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023) in respect of furnishing false information, as provided under Section 195(1)(a) Cr.P.C. (Corresponding Section 215(1)(a) Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023).

15. Sections 177 and 182 IPC (Corresponding to sections 212 and 217 of B.N.S.) cannot be made redundant, that is to say that, in case any false information is furnished with intent to cause public servant to use his lawful power to injury of another person, the Investigating Officer shall also prepare a police report in form of complaint as provided/required under Section 195(1)(a) Cr.P.C. (corresponding Section 215(1)(a) BNSS). Thus, giving a false information to police to lodge an F.I.R. or N.C.R. attracts offence provided under Section 177 and 182 IPC (corresponding Section 212 and 217 BNS) and if after investigation, the Investigating Officer finds that no such incident occurred as alleged in the F.I.R. or N.C.R., the Investigating Officer is under statutory obligation, not only to submit a final report/closure report but also to submit a report of offence of Section 177 and 182 IPC (corresponding Section 212 and 217 BNS) in form of complaint as provided, under Section 195(1)(a) Cr.P.C. (corresponding Section 215(1)(a) of BNSS) for taking cognizance. Otherwise, the concerned police officers are liable for committing an offence as mentioned under Section 199 (b) BNS (corresponding Section 166A(b) of Cr.P.C.). The Section 199 BNS is delineated below :-

Section. 199 Public servant disobeying direction under law.-

Whoever, being a public servant-

(a) knowingly disobeys any direction of the law which prohibits him from requiring the attendance at any place of any person for the purpose of investigation into an offence or any other matter; or

(b) knowingly disobeys, to the prejudice of any person, any other direction of the law regulating the manner in which he shall conduct such investigation; or

(c) fails to record any information given to him under sub-section (1) of section 174 of the Bhartiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 in relation to cognizable offence punishable under section 64, section 65 section 66, section 67, section 68, section 71, section 73, section 76, section 122 or section 141 or section 142, shall be punished with rigorous imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than six months but which may extend to two years, and shall also be liable to fine.

16. The learned Judicial Magistrate shall not accept the Final Report, if the same is not accompanied with a written complaint, under Section 177 and 182 I.P.C. (corresponding Section 212 and 217 BNS). The proceedings can only be initiated upon the filing of a proper complaint, in line with the principle analogous to the Section 195(1)(a) CrPC. (Corresponding Section 215 (1) (a) BNSS). Section 177 and 182 of IPC (Corresponding Sections 212 and 217 BNS) and Section 195 (1) Cr.P.C. (Corresponding Section 215 (1) BNSS) are being reproduced below :-

“Section 177 I.P.C. Furnishing false information.-Whoever, being legally bound to furnish information on any subject to any public servant, as such, furnishes, as true, information on the subject which he knows or has reason to believe to be false, shall be punished with simple imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both; or, if the information which he is legally bound to give respects the commission of an offence, or is required for the purpose of preventing the commission of an offence, or in order to the apprehension of an offender, with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both. Section 195(1) Cr.P.C. No Court shall take cognizance-

(a) (i) of any offence punishable under sections 172 to 188 (both inclusive) of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860), or

(ii) of any abetment of, attempt to commit, such offence, or

(iii) of any criminal conspiracy to commit, such offence,

Except on the complaint in writing of the public servant concerned or of some other public servant to whom he is administratively subordinate;

(b) (i) of any offence punishable under any of the following section of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860), namely, sections 193 to 196 (both inclusive), 199, 200, 205 to 211 (both inclusive) and 228, when such offence is alleged to have been committed in, or in relation to, any proceeding in any Court, or

(ii) of any offence described in section 463, or punishable under section 471, section 475 or section 476, of the said Code, when such offence is alleged to have been committed in respect of a document produced or given in evidence in a proceeding in any Court, or

(iii) of any criminal conspiracy to commit, or attempt to commit, or the abetment of, any offence specified in sub-clause (i) or sub-clause (ii),

Except on the complaint in writing of that Court or by such officer of the Court as that Court may authorise in writing in this behalf, or of some other Court to which that Court is subordinate.

Section 215 (1) BNSS - No Court shall take cognizance –

(a) (i) of any offence punishable under sections 206 to 223 (both inclusive but excluding section 209) of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023; or

(ii) of any abetment of, or attempt to commit, such offence; or

(iii) of any criminal conspiracy to commit such offence,

except on the complaint in writing of the public servant concerned or of some other public servant to whom he is administratively subordinate or of some other public servant who is authorised by the concerned public servant so to do;

(b) (i) of any offence punishable under any of the following sections of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023, namely, sections 229 to 233 (both inclusive), 236, 237, 242 to 248 (both inclusive) and 267, when such offence is alleged to have been committed in, or in relation to, any proceeding in any Court; or

(ii) of any offence described in sub-section (1) of section 336, or punishable under sub-section (2) of section 340 or section 342 of the said Sanhita, when such offence is alleged to have been committed in respect of a document produced or given in evidence in a proceeding in any Court; or

(iii) of any criminal conspiracy to commit, or attempt to commit, or the abetment of, any offence specified in sub-clause (i) or sub-clause (ii),

except on the complaint in writing of that Court or by such officer of the Court as that Court may authorise in writing in this behalf, or of some other Court to which that Court is subordinate.

17. As per the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court passed in State of Punjab vs. Raj Singh and another, (1998) 2 Supreme Court Cases 391, though under Section 173 of the B.N.S.S. (corresponding Section 154 of the Cr.P.C.) an F.I.R. can be registered under section 172 to 188 I.P.C. (Corresponding section 206 to 223 of B.N.S., excluding Section 209 B.N.S. (Corresponding Section 174A IPC) and thereafter investigation can be done but chargesheet cannot be submitted in the above sections after conclusion of investigation, even if offence is made out against the alleged accused persons, while a written complaint shall be filed by the concerned police officer as required under Section 195 of the Cr.P.C. (corresponding Section 215 of the B.N.S.S.). The relevant paragraph of the said judgment is quoted below:-

"2. We are unable to sustain the impugned order of the High Court quashing the F.I.R. lodged against the respondents alleging commission of offences under Sections 467 and 468 I.P.C. by them in course of the proceeding of a civil suit, on the ground that Section 195 (1) (b) (ii) Cr.P.C. prohibited entertainment of and investigation into the same by the police. From a plain reading of Section 195 Cr.P.C. it is manifest that it comes into operation at the stage when the Court intends to take cognizance of an offence under Section 190(1) Cr. P.C.; and it has nothing to do with the statutory power of the police to investigate into an F.I.R. which discloses a cognisable offence, in accordance with Chapter XII of the Code even if the offence is alleged to have been committed in, or in relation to, any proceeding in Court. In other words, the statutory power of the Police to investigate under the Code is not in any way controlled or circumscribed by Section 195 Cr.P.C. It is of course true that upon the charge-sheet (challan), if any, filed on completion of the investigation into such an offence the Court would not be competent to take cognizance thereof in view of the embargo of Section 195(1) (b) Cr. P. C., but nothing therein deters the Court from filing a complaint for the offence on the basis of the F.I.R. (filed by the aggrieved private party) and the materials collected during investigation, provided it forms the requisite opinion and follows the procedure laid down in section 340 Cr. P.C. The judgment of this Court in Gopal Krishna Menon and Anr. Vs. D. Raja Reddy [AIR 1983 SC 1053], on which the High Court relied, has no manner of application to the facts of the instant case for there cognizance was taken on a private complaint even though the offence of forgery was committed in respect of a money receipt produced in the Civil Court and hence it was held that the Court could not take cognizance on such a complaint in view of Section 195 Cr. P. C."

18. अभियुक्त/सूचनाकर्ता एवं अन्य का नाम (जिसने झूठी जानकारी उपलब्ध कराई) एवं पूर्ण पता

..... प्रतिवादीगण /अभियुक्तगण / सूचनाकर्ता एवं साक्षीगण

अत्यंत विनम्र निवेदन है कि:

1. यह कि वर्तमान परिवाद पत्र/प्रार्थना पत्र प्रार्थी (विवेचक) द्वारा भारतीय न्याय संहिता की धारा 212 एवं 217 (समतुल्य धारा 177 एवं 182 भारतीय दंड संहिता) के अंतर्गत, प्रथम सूचना रिपोर्ट दर्ज कराने वाले वादी एवं अन्य व्यक्तियों के विरुद्ध विधिक कार्यवाही हेतु प्रस्तुत किया जा रहा है, क्योंकि वादी ने झूठी जानकारी/तथ्यों/प्रपत्रों के आधार पर प्रथम सूचना रिपोर्ट (F.I.R एवं N.C.R.)(मुकदमा अपराध संख्या _____, वर्ष __, धारा _____, थाना _____, जनपद _____), दर्ज कराकर, उसमें वर्णित अभियुक्तगण के विरुद्ध पुलिस अधिकारी (लोक सेवक) से उसकी वैधानिक शक्तियों का दुरुपयोग करार कर क्षति पहुंचाया ।

2. यह कि उक्त प्रथम सूचना रिपोर्ट (संज्ञेय/असंज्ञेय अपराध) दिनांक _____ को मुकदमा अपराध संख्या__सन__अंतर्गत धारा____ थाना _____ भारतीय न्याय संहिता के अंतर्गत श्री _____ एवं अन्य व्यक्तियों के विरुद्ध, प्रतिवादी/सूचनादाता द्वारा लगाए गए आरोपों के आधार पर पंजीकृत की गई थी, जो विवेचना उपरांत असत्य पाई गई। तदोपरांत उसमें अंतिम आख्या तैयार कर न्यायालय भेजी जा रही है ।

3. यह कि विस्तृत विवेचना उपरांत यह तथ्य स्पष्ट हुआ कि प्रतिवादी द्वारा लगाए गए समस्त आरोप पूर्णतः असत्य, निराधार एवं दुर्भावनापूर्ण थे, जिन्हें केवल नामजद व्यक्तियों को क्षति पहुँचाने के आशय से दर्ज कराया गया था। (तथ्य संलग्नित केस डायरी में उपलब्ध है)

4. यह कि विवेचना से निम्नलिखित तथ्य प्रतिपन्न हुए-

(i) प्रतिवादी द्वारा दिनांक _____ समय__ बजे को स्थान _____ पर घटना ----- घटित होना नहीं पाया गया।

(ii) स्वतंत्र गवाहों के कथन प्रतिवादी/ सूचनाकर्ता के कथन को पूर्णतःअस्वीकार करते हैं।

(iii) विवेचना के दौरान संकलित अभिलेखीय साक्ष्य प्रथम सूचना रिपोर्ट में लगाए गए आरोपों का खंडन करते हैं।

(iv) प्रतिवादी की नामजद व्यक्तियों से पूर्ववर्ती शत्रुता थी, जो गवाहों के कथनों से स्पष्ट होता है।

(v) प्रतिवादी द्वारा दुर्भावनापूर्ण उद्देश्य से असत्य जानकारी के आधार पर प्रथम सूचना रिपोर्ट (FIR/NCR) दर्ज कराया गया।

5. यह कि उपर्युक्त तथ्यों के आधार पर, दिनांक .././20... को अंतिम आख्या (Closure Report) इस माननीय न्यायालय के समक्ष प्रस्तुत किया जा रहा है, जिसमें यह निष्कर्ष निकाला गया है कि प्रथम सूचना रिपोर्ट (F.I.R./N.C.R.) असत्य एवं दुर्भावनापूर्वक संस्थापित की गई थी।

6. यह कि प्रतिवादी का आचरण स्पष्ट रूप से भारतीय न्याय संहिता के प्रावधानों के अंतर्गत, धारा 212 एवं 217 (धारा 177 एवं 182 भारतीय दंड संहिता) के अंतर्गत अपराध की श्रेणी में आता है। उपरोक्त धाराएं निम्नवत उद्धृत किया जा रहा है :-

भारतीय न्याय संहिता की धारा 212. मिथ्या सूचना देना- जो कोई, किसी लोक सेवक को, ऐसे लोक सेवक के नाते, किसी विषय पर सूचना देने के लिए विधिक रूप से आबद्ध होते हुए, उस विषय पर सच्ची सूचना के रूप में ऐसी सूचना देता है, जिसका मिथ्या होना वह जानता है या जिसके मिथ्या होने का विश्वास करने का कारण उसके पास है.- (क) वह सादा कारावास से, जिसकी अवधि छह मास तक की हो सकेगी, या जुर्माने से जो पांच हजार रुपए तक का हो सकेगा, या दोनों से, दंडित किया जाएगा;

(ख) वह सूचना, जिसे देने के लिए वह विधिक रूप से आबद्ध है, कोई अपराध किए जाने के विषय में हो, या किसी अपराध के किए जाने का निवारण करने के प्रयोजन से, या किसी अपराधी को पकड़ने के लिए अपेक्षित हो, तो वह दोनों में से, किसी भांति के कारावास से, जिसकी अवधि दो वर्ष तक की हो सकेगी, या जुर्माने से, या दोनों से, दंडित किया जाएगा ।

भारतीय न्याय संहिता की धारा 217- इस आशय से मिथ्या सूचना देना कि लोक अपनी सेवक विधिपूर्ण शक्ति का उपयोग दूसरे व्यक्ति को क्षति करने के लिए करे - जो कोई, किसी लोक सेवक को कोई ऐसी सूचना, जिसके मिथ्या होने का उसे ज्ञान या विश्वास है, इस आशय से देता है कि वह उस लोक सेवक को प्रेरित करे या यह सम्भाव्य जानते हुए देता है कि वह उसको उसके द्वारा प्रेरित करेगा कि वह लोक सेवक-

(क) कोई ऐसी बात करे या करने का लोप करे जिसे वह लोक सेवक, यदि उसे उस संबंध में, जिसके बारे में ऐसी सूचना दी गई है, तथ्यों की सही स्थिति का पता होता तो न करता या करने का लोप न करता; या

(ख) ऐसे लोक सेवक की विधिपूर्ण शक्ति का उपयोग करे जिस उपयोग से किसी व्यक्ति को क्षति या क्षोभ हो,

वह दोनों में से, किसी भांति के कारावास से, जिसकी अवधि एक वर्ष तक की हो सकेगी, या जुर्माने से, जो दस हजार रुपए तक का हो सकेगा, या दोनों से, दंडित किया जाएगा ।

7. यह कि भारतीय नागरिक सुरक्षा संहिता, 2023 की धारा 215(1)(a), (समतुल्य धारा 195(1)(क) भारतीय प्रक्रिया संहिता) की धारा के अधीन, कोई भी न्यायालय उक्त अपराधों का संज्ञान तब तक नहीं लेगा, जब तक कि संबंधित लोक सेवक द्वारा लिखित रूप में शिकायत प्रस्तुत न की जाए।

भारतीय नागरिक सुरक्षा संहिता की धारा 215(1) को निम्नवत उद्धृत किया जा रहा है:-

भारतीय नागरिक सुरक्षा संहिता की धारा 215 (1) कोई न्यायालय, -

(क) (i) भारतीय न्याय संहिता, 2023 की धारा 206 से धारा 223 (जिनके अंतर्गत धारा 209 के सिवाय ये दोनों धाराएं भी हैं) के अधीन दंडनीय किसी अपराध का या

(ii) ऐसे अपराध के किसी दुष्प्रेरण या ऐसा अपराध करने के प्रयत्न का; या

(iii) ऐसा अपराध करने के लिए किसी आपराधिक षड्यंत्र का,

संज्ञान संबद्ध लोक सेवक के, या किसी अन्य ऐसे लोक सेवक के, जिसके वह प्रशासनिक तौर पर अधीनस्थ है या कोई अन्य लोक सेवक जो संबद्ध लोक सेवक द्वारा ऐसा करने के लिए प्राधिकृत है, लिखित परिवाद पर ही करेगा, अन्यथा नहीं:

(ख) (i) भारतीय न्याय संहिता, 2023 की निम्नलिखित धाराओं अर्थात् धारा 229 से धारा 233 (जिनके अंतर्गत ये दोनों धाराएं भी हैं), धारा 236, धारा 237, धारा 242 से धारा 248 (जिनके अंतर्गत ये दोनों धाराएं भी हैं) और धारा 267 से किन्हीं के अधीन दंडनीय किसी अपराध का, जब ऐसे अपराध के बारे में यह अभिकथित है कि वह किसी न्यायालय में की कार्यवाही में या उसके संबंध में किया गया है; या

(ii) उक्त संहिता की धारा 336 की उपधारा (1) में वर्णित या धारा 340 की उपधारा (2) या धारा 342 के अधीन दंडनीय अपराध का, जब ऐसे अपराध के बारे में यह अभिकथित है कि वह किसी न्यायालय में की कार्यवाही में प्रस्तुत किए गए या साक्ष्य में दिए गए किसी दस्तावेज के बारे में किया गया है; या

(iii) उपखंड (i) या उपखंड (ii) में विनिर्दिष्ट किसी अपराध को करने के लिए आपराधिक षड्यंत्र या उसे करने के प्रयत्न या उसके दुष्प्रेरण के अपराध का, संज्ञान ऐसे न्यायालय के, या न्यायालय के ऐसे अधिकारी के, जिसे वह न्यायालय इस निमित्त लिखित रूप में प्राधिकृत करे या किसी अन्य न्यायालय के, जिसके वह न्यायालय अधीनस्थ है लिखित परिवाद पर ही करेगा अन्यथा नहीं।

गवाहों की सूची

..Respondents

SIR,

IT IS MOST RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED:-

1. That the present Complaint is being filed by the Complainant/Investigating Officer of the First information Report/Non-Cognizable report registered as Case Crime No._____,Year_____, Under section _____,Police Station _____, District _____, against the opposite parties/informant and witnesses of the first information report for giving false information to the public servant /police to use his lawful power to cause injury to the alleged accused persons of the F.I.R.

2. That the FIR/NCR was registered on date _____ as case crime no. _____ year _____ under Sections _____ BNS, Police Station _____ District _____ against Shri _____ S/o _____ Address _____ and others, based on allegations made by Shri _____, Shri _____ (opposite parties/informant and witness)-, which was found false after investigation.

3. That upon thorough investigation, it was found that the allegations made in the FIR were false, frivolous and malicious, and lodged only with an intent to cause injury to the persons named in the FIR/NCR (The entire material is available in the annexed case diary).

4. That the investigation revealed the following material facts:

(i) The incident, as alleged by the respondent to have occurred on _____ at _____, which never took place.

(ii) The statements of independent witnesses clearly negate the version of the respondent/informant.

(iii) Documentary records collected during investigation contradict the allegations in the FIR.

(iv) The respondent had previous enmity with the named persons, which is evident from witness statements.

(v) The Respondents lodged FIR on the false information with ulterior motive.

5. That in view of the investigation, the Final Report/Closure Report dated --/--/20-- has been submitted before this Court, concluding that the FIR was false and maliciously instituted against the accused of the F.I.R.

6. That the conduct of the informant and witness squarely attracts the offence as provided under sections 212 and 217 of Bhartiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 (Corresponding sections 177 and 182 of the Indian Penal Code),: The Sections are quoted herein below:-

Section 212 BNS. Furnishing false information.-Whoever, being legally bound to furnish information on any subject to any public servant, as such, furnishes, as true, information on the subject which he knows or has reason to believe to be false,-

(a) shall be punished with simple imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to five thousand rupees, or with both;

(b) where the information which he is legally bound to give respects the commission of an offence, or is required for the purpose of preventing the commission of an offence, or in order to the apprehension of an offender, with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

Section 217 BNS False information, with intent to cause public servant to use his lawful power to injury of another person- Whoever gives to any public servant any information which he knows or believes to be false, intending thereby to cause, or knowing it to be likely that he will thereby cause, such public servant

(a) to do or omit anything which such public servant ought not to do or omit if the true state of facts respecting which such information is given were known by him, or

(b) to use the lawful power of such public servant to the injury or annoyance of any person, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to one year, or with fine which may extend to ten thousand rupees, or with both.

7. That under Section 215(1)(a) B.N.S.S. (Corresponding section 195(1)(a)(i) Cr.P.C.), no Court shall take cognizance of the offences mentioned under sections 212 and 217 of BNS (Corresponding sections 177 and 182 of I.P.C.) except on the complaint in writing of the public servant concerned.

Section 215(1) B.N.S.S (Corresponding to section 195(1) of Cr.P.C.) is being quoted below:

Section 215 (1) BNSS - No Court shall take cognizance –

(a) of any offence punishable under sections 206 to 223 (both inclusive but

(i) excluding section 209) of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023; or

(ii) of any abetment of, or attempt to commit, such offence; or

(iii) of any criminal conspiracy to commit such offence,

except on the complaint in writing of the public servant concerned or of some other public servant to whom he is administratively subordinate or of some other public servant who is authorised by the concerned public servant so to do;

(b) of any offence punishable under any of the following sections of the

(i) Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023, namely, sections 229 to 233 (both inclusive), 236, 237, 242 to 248 (both inclusive) and 267, when such offence is alleged to have been committed in, or in relation to, any proceeding in any Court; or

(ii) of any offence described in sub-section (1) of section 336, or punishable under sub-section (2) of section 340 or section 342 of the said Sanhita, when such offence is alleged to have been committed in respect of a document produced or given in evidence in a proceeding in any Court; or

(iii) of any criminal conspiracy to commit, or attempt to commit, or the abetment of, any offence specified in sub-clause (i) or sub-clause (ii), except on the complaint in writing of that Court or by such officer of the Court as that Court may authorise in writing in this behalf, or of some other Court to which that Court is subordinate.

LIST OF WITNESSES

The following witnesses may kindly be treated as prosecution witnesses for proving the falsity and malicious intent of the Opposite parties/Informant and witness.

1. PW-1: Shri _____ S/o _____ Address _____ implicated in the FIR with malice complainant/Investigating Officer himself -To prove the final report and entire chain of investigation.

INDEX OF ANNEXURES

Sr. No.	Particulars of Document	Annexure.No.
1.	True copy of FIR of Case Crime No.--/--, P.S.----- along with entire case diary	Anx. A.
2.	Final Report/Closure Report dated ----20---- prepared by the I.O.	Anx. B.
3.	Any other relevant documents	Anx. C.

19. Under Section 173(2) Cr.P.C. (corresponding section 193(3) of the BNSS), neither the word 'charge-sheet' nor 'final report' or 'closure report' is mentioned, only the term 'Police report' is mentioned after the completion of investigation.

20. The term "police report" used in the CrPC as well as the BNSS refers to the report submitted after completion of investigation under Section 173(2) (corresponding Section 193(3) of the BNSS). If the police report discloses the commission of an offence, then, as per U.P. Police Regulation, Paragraph 122, it shall be treated as a chargesheet, to be submitted in Form No. 339. However, if the report does not disclose the commission of any offence, it shall be treated as a final report under Paragraph 122 and submitted in Form No. 340 of the U.P. Police Regulations. Paragraph 122 of U.P. Police Regulations is quoted below:-

"122. Completion of Investigation and submission of final report or charge sheet should be as soon as possible.- (i) An investigation should be completed as soon as possible and when complete the investigating officer must comply with the provisions of Section 161-171 and 173 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974). The report prescribed by Section 173 must under that section be submitted by the officer incharge of the police station under intimation to the Superintendent of Police and should be in the form of chargesheet (Police Form No. 339), if the case is sent for trial and in the form of final report (Police Form No. 340), if the case is not sent for trial. The charge-sheet with the final diary in the cases shall be submitted to the Court through the Circle Officer and the Public Prosecutor and should reach the Court within four weeks of the date of lodging of the first information report in summons and warrants cases and eight weeks in Sessions cases. None of the Circle Officer and the Public Prosecutor should normally retain the charge-sheet for more than a week and the latter should submit it to the Court concerned within the time-limit prescribed. The prescribed time-limit should not be allowed to exceed except for very special reasons.

(ii) As soon as possible but in any case not later than a month of the expiry of each quarter, the Superintendent of Police shall submit to the District Magistrate, in the prescribed form and in duplicate, a quarterly list of cases in which charge-sheet could not be submitted within the prescribed time-limit of 4/8 weeks. The District Magistrate will forward it to the Range Deputy Inspector General of Police endorsing the other copy with his comments to the Commissioner of the Division. The Range Deputy Inspector General of Police will thereupon compile in the prescribed form, a statement of delayed cases and submit it to the Inspector General of Police who will forward the same to Government in Home Department (Police A) with his comments.

(iii) The final report must in all cases be submitted through the Superintendent of Police.

(iv) The information as the result of investigation must, as required by Section 173 (i) (b), Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 (2 of 1974) be sent by the officer in charge of the police station to the complainant if any in Police Form No. 47, at the time he submits the charge-sheet or the final report, as the case may be.

21. In case of false first information report, if a written complaint against the informant and witness under section 215(1)(a) BNSS (corresponding section 195(1) (a) Cr.P.C.) is not filed by the Investigating Officer, under section 212 and 217 BNS (corresponding section 177 and 182 of I.P.C.) for giving false information to the police then it will amount that the Investigating Officer, Station House Officer, Circle Officer of the area and the prosecuting officer concerned are not discharging their official duty and liable to departmental proceedings as well as contempt proceedings.

22. Thus, the expressions 'chargesheet' and 'final report' originates from the U.P. Police Regulations, and not from the CrPC or the BNSS.

23. In this case, the O.P. no.2 (husband of the applicant) filed a protest petition on 22.10.2024 before the court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Aligarh. The learned Chief Judicial Magistrate accepted the protest petition and took cognizance on the final report (closure report) treating it as a chargesheet of cognizable offence, as well as a State case under Section 190(1)(b) Cr.P.C. (Correspondent Section 210(1)(b) BNSS), while offence under section 504 and 506 I.P.C. is a non-cognizable offence attracts provision of Section 2(d) Explanation Cr.P.C., the same has also been mentioned in the cognizance-cum-summoning order dated 23.10.2024. The operative portion of the order dated 23.10.2024 is delineated below:

"प्रार्थी डा० महमूद आलम खान का प्रोटेस्ट प्रार्थना पत्र स्वीकार किया जाता है। विवेचक द्वारा प्रस्तुत अन्तिम आख्या 225/2024, दिनांकित 19-06-2024 निरस्त की जाती है। अभियुक्तगण उम्मे फारवा व अफजल खान के विरुद्ध धारा 190 (1) (बी) दं०प्र०सं० के अधीन भा०द०सं० की धारा 504, 507 के अन्तर्गत विचारण हेतु संज्ञान लिया जाता है। प्रकरण स्टेट केस के रूप में चलेगा। अभियुक्तगण के लिये नकलें तैयार करायी जायें। अभियुक्तगण जरिये सम्मन नियत दिनांक के लिए तलब हो। पत्रावली वास्ते हाजिरी दिनांक 09-12-2024 को पेश हो।" दिनांक:- 23.10.2024.

24. Learned Chief Judicial Magistrate has taken cognizance on 23.10.2024 under Section 190(1)(b) Cr.P.C. (Corresponding Section 210(1)(b) BNSS to prosecute the applicant/accused-wife under Sections 504 and 507 I.P.C. as a State case rather than complaint as the offence is non-cognizable covered by Section 2(d) Explanation of Cr.P.C. (corresponding section 2(1)(h) Explanation BNSS) and summoned also without providing opportunity of hearing to the accused as provided under section 223 First Proviso of the BNSS as held by a Division Bench of this Court in paragraph 16(iii) of the judgment of Deepu and Ors. v State of U.P. and Ors., (2024) 8 ILRA 903 (Crl. Misc. Writ Petition No.12287 of 2024) that the cognizance on the pending investigation on or after 01.07.2024 would be taken as per the BNSS.

25. As per the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure or BNSS, in a case of non-cognizable offence, first of all an N.C.R. is registered under Section 155(1) Cr.P.C. (corresponding section 174(1) BNSS) and as per Section 155(2) Cr.P.C. (corresponding section 174(2) BNSS), the police officer cannot investigate the matter without an order of the Judicial Magistrate of the concerned district. After investigation in an N.C.R., if a charge-sheet is submitted again, under a non-cognizable offence, then as per Section 2(d) Explanation of Cr.P.C. [Corresponding Section Explanation to Section 2(1)(h)], the charge-sheet shall be treated as a complaint and the Investigating Officer shall be treated as the complainant and the learned Judicial Magistrate, then has to take cognizance under Section 190(1)(a) Cr.P.C. [Corresponding Section 210 (1)(a)] as a complaint case, rather than as a police case under Section 190(1)(b) Cr.P.C. [Corresponding Section Section 210 (1)(b)] In the present matter, the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Aligarh has not followed the provisions of law and treated a non-cognizable offence as a cognizable offence. This Court earlier in the matter of Prempal and others v. State of U.P. and another, Application U/S 528 BNSS No.1624 of 2025, passed an order on 26.11.2025 giving a detailed direction on Section 2(d) Explanation Cr.P.C. (corresponding Section 2(1)(h) Explanation of B.N.S.S.).

26. Before taking cognizance under Section 190 Cr.P.C. (Corresponding Section 210 B.N.S.S.), the learned Judicial Magistrate is under obligation to look into the matter, whether the case is time-barred as per Section 468 and 469 Cr.P.C. (Corresponding Section 514 and 515 BNSS) or not. After taking cognizance under Section 190(1)(a) [Corresponding Section Section 210 (1)(a)], the learned Judicial Magistrate has to proceed with the case as a complaint case and if the complainant is a public servant then there is no need of recording the statement of the complainant as well as witness as provided under section 200 first proviso of Cr.P.C. (corresponding section 223 second proviso BNSS) and the learned Judicial Magistrate may also proceed as per the provisions of Section 202 Cr.P.C., (Corresponding Section 225 BNSS) either to conduct an inquiry or to direct for investigation to verify the facts of the case for dismissing the complaint under Section 203 Cr.P.C. (Corresponding Section 226 BNSS) as well as summoning under Section 204 Cr.P.C. (Corresponding Section 227 BNSS) and also provides opportunity of hearing to the accused before passing any order of cognizance or summoning the proposed accused as provided under section 223 first proviso of BNSS w.e.f. 01.07.2024

27. Both Sections 504 and 507 I.P.C. (Corresponding Section 352 and 351(4) of B.N.S.) are punishable up to two years, therefore, as per Section 2(w) Cr.P.C., (Corresponding Section 2(1)(x) BNSS) it is a summons case and not a warrant case. As per Section 2(x) Cr.P.C., (Corresponding Section 2(1)(z) BNSS) a warrant case means an offence punishable with death, imprisonment for life, or imprisonment for a term exceeding two years. Thus, since the punishment in the present matter is only up to two years, the case shall be proceeded as a summons case, if prima facie case is made out of the offences.

28. In a summons case, if the complainant does not appear before the Court, the complainant may be acquitted under Section 256 Cr.P.C. (Corresponding Section 279 BNSS) due to absence of the complainant or in case of his death and there is also provision for withdrawal of complaint under Section 257 Cr.P.C. (Corresponding Section 280 BNSS).

29. This is the case, where prima facie, there is an abuse of the process of the court as well as the code by which fundamental right provided under Article 21 of the Constitution of India has been violated as no procedure has been adopted by the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Aligarh, who passed the impugned cognizance order on the protest petition and proceeded as police case in non-cognizable offences rather a complaint.

30. In the present matter, an FIR was initially registered even though the allegations disclosed only a non-cognizable offence, for which only an NCR ought to have been registered. Despite this, the Investigating Officer proceeded to investigate the matter and has submitted a Final Report (Closure Report). In terms of the Explanation to Section 2(1)(h) of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 (BNSS) (corresponding Section 2(d) Explanation of Cr.P.C.), when a report is submitted by a police officer in relation to a non-cognizable case, such report is required to be treated as a complaint, and the officer submitting it, is deemed to be the complainant. Accordingly, the Final Report filed in the present case must, as a matter of legal procedure, be treated as a complaint if offence is made out.

31. If after perusal of entire case diary, a cognizable offence is made out, then the judicial magistrate shall treat the final/closure report as a chargesheet and take cognizance under section 190 Cr.P.C. (Corresponding Section 210 of the BNSS) to check the arbitrariness of the I.O. If it is treated as final report i.e. not disclosing any offence then :-

- (i) either direct for further investigation,*
- (ii) or invite protest petition from the informant and after perusal of protest petition-*
 - (a) either treat it as complaint in case of extraneous material u/s 190(1)(a) Cr.P.C. (Corresponding Section 210(1)(a) of the BNSS),or*
 - (b) direct for further investigation for recovery of any item etc. which cannot be done in a complaint proceeding at initial stage.*
 - (c) In case of acceptance of Final/Closure report and rejection of the protest petition, proceed for taking cognizance under section 177 and 182 IPC (Corresponding Section 212 and 217 BNS) in accordance with law.*

32. If the learned Judicial Magistrate or Court finds that there is no proper investigation, then may direct for further investigation.

33. If after perusal of entire case diary, the learned Magistrate finds that no offence is made out, treat the charge-sheet as final report (closure report) and thereafter either direct for further investigation or invite protest petition and thereafter either direct for further investigation or treat the protest petition as complaint, if any extraneous material comes/appears to have come on record.

34. If after investigating, a final report (closure report) is prepared by the I.O. in favour of the accused of the FIR to submit in the Court, he shall also file a complaint along with the final report (closure report) against the informant and witnesses for giving false information to the police under section 177 and 182 of I.P.C. (Corresponding Sections 212 and 217 BNS) and if a protest petition is also filed, for which the proceedings under Sections 177 and 182 of the I.P.C. (Corresponding Sections 212 and 217 BNS) is initiated by the police, the proceedings of section 177 and 182 I.P.C. (corresponding section 212 and 217 of the BNS) shall be kept in abeyance till the acceptance of the final/closure report or rejection of the protest petition/application. Thus, if the protest petition is dismissed/rejected by the Magistrature or court, the Magistrate or court shall proceed with the complaint filed under section 177 and 182 I.P.C. (corresponding section 212 and 217 of B.N.S.).

35. As per the judgment of Bhagwant Singh vs. Commissioner of Police and Another, (1985) 2 SCC 537, the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court is that if a final report is prepared exonerating the accused person, the informant must be informed about the final report that the accused has been exonerated. In the present case it is not clear, whether the learned Judicial Magistrate has issued any notice to the informant regarding the closure report/final report exonerating the alleged accused. However, the informant, i.e., Opposite Party No. 2, filed a protest petition against the final report which exonerated the alleged accused-wife. In BNSS, as per Section 193(3)(ii), it has been mentioned that the Investigating Officer shall inform to the informant about progress of the investigation as well as completion of investigation, though there is no concept of protest petition in BNSS also.

36. Although the BNSS has come into force on 1 July 2024 and the alleged offence took place prior to the date of its enforcement, it is a settled principle of law that the procedure, that is more beneficial to the accused must be adopted. In case of Deepu (Supra), the Division bench of this Court in paragraph no.16 (iii) held that on or after 01.07.2024, the procedure mentioned under the Bhartiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 shall be applicable on offences committed under the Indian Penal Code or other Special Act. The paragraph No. 16 is delineated below:

“16 .On the basis of above analysis, this Court is also summarising the law regarding effect of repealing the IPC and Cr.P.C. by BNS and BNSS respectively and same is being mentioned as below:

(i) If an FIR is registered on or after 1.7.2024 for the offence committed prior to 1.7.2024, then FIR would be registered under the provisions of IPC but the investigation will continue as per BNSS.

(ii) In the pending investigation on 01.07.2024 (on the date of commencement of New Criminal Laws), investigation will continue as per the Cr.P.C. till the cognizance is taken on the police report and if any direction is made for further investigation by the competent Court then same will continue as per the Cr.P.C.;

(iii) The cognizance on the pending investigation on or after 01.07.2024 would be taken as per the BNSS and all the subsequent proceeding including enquiry, trial or appeal would be conducted as per the procedure of BNSS.

(iv) Section 531(2)(a) of BNSS saved only pending investigation, trial, appeal, application and enquiry, therefore, if any trial, appeal, revision or application is commenced after 01.07.2024, the same will be proceeded as per the procedure of BNSS.

(v) The pending trial on 01.07.2024, if concluded on or after 01.07.2024 then appeal or revision against the judgement passed in such a trial will be as per the BNSS. However, if any application is filed in appeal, which was pending on 01.07.2024 then the procedure of Cr.P.C. will apply.

(vi) If the criminal proceeding or chargesheet is challenged before the High Court on or after 01.07.2024, where the investigation was conducted as per Cr.P.C. then same will be filed u/s 528 of BNSS not u/s 482 Cr.P.C. "

37. After completion of investigation, if the Investigating Officer submits a police report under Section 173(2) CrPC (Corresponding Section 193(3)(i) BNSS) stating either, that an offence is made out or no offence is made out against the accused, then under Section 193(3)(ii) BNSS, the police officer, within a period of ninety days, shall inform the informant about the progress of investigation and also about the filing of the police report under Section 193(3)(i) BNSS, ensuring timely opportunity to object/protest the closure report (final report), while under the Cr.P.C., there is no specific time-frame for informing the informant/victim about the progress of investigation. The provisions mentioned under Section 193(3)(ii) BNSS is being delineated below :-

"Section 193(3) (ii). The police officer shall, within a period of ninety days, inform the progress of the investigation by any means including through electronic communication to the informant or the victim. "

38. Section 193(3)(ii) of BNSS ensures the principles laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Bhagwant Singh(Supra) affording opportunity of hearing to the informant to file protest petition in case of police report, exonerating the accused is filed by the Investigating Officer after completion of investigation before the Judicial Magistrate/Court competent to take cognizance.

39. As per the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Vishnu Kumar Tiwari, (2019) 8 SCC 27 and in Mukhtar Zaidi v. The State of Uttar Pradesh and Another, (2024) 4 S.C.R. 655 if a protest petition fulfils the requirements of a complaints, Magistrate may treat as a complaint and deal with the same as required under sections 200 and 202 of Cr.P.C.

40. It is a well settled law that in the case of non-cognizable offence, the learned Judicial Magistrate is under obligation to take cognizance under Section 190(1)(a) Cr.P.C. [corresponding section 210(1)(a)] and proceed the case as a complaint case and not as a police case and the procedure of complaint case shall be adopted to summon and try the alleged accused person.

41. Having gone through the record of this case, the Court finds that the impugned cognizance-cum-summoning order is not passed in accordance with law/procedure, therefore, it is a case of violation of Article 21 of the Constitution of India.

The Article 21 is quoted below:-

“Article 21. Protection of life and personal liberty. -No person shall be deprived of his life or personal liberty except according to procedure established by law. ”

42. Based on the foregoing deliberations, this court, now proceeds to examine the validity and correctness of the impugned order, in the case at hand, the Judicial Magistrate erroneously passed cognizance-cum-summoning order under Section 506 and 507 IPC for a non cognizable offence in derogation of the provisions of Cr.P.C. In essence, the Judicial Magistrate has neither converted the police report disclosing 'non cognizable offence' into 'complaint' as per the provision of Explanation to Section 2(d) of Cr.P.C. nor took cognizance under Section 190(1)(a) Cr.P.C. to proceed as 'trial of summons-case' instituted on complaint, but took cognizance under Section 190(1)(b) Cr.P.C. and summoned the applicant without affording him an opportunity of hearing provided under First Proviso of Section 223 BNSS, and also erroneously proceeded as trial of summons-case instituted on police report rather than complaint.

43. It is pertinent to mention here that this Court has considered an identical issue in Application U/S 528 BNSS No.1624 of 2025, Prempal and others v. State of U.P. and another, and given directions therein, while disposing of the said application vide order dated 26.11.2025.

44. In view of the foregoing discussion, the impugned cognizance-cum-summoning order dated 3.10.2024 passed by learned Judicial Magistrate is hereby quashed and set aside. The matter is remanded to the learned Judicial Magistrate, who shall pass a fresh order in accordance with law as well as observation made by this Court, after providing opportunity of hearing to the accused. This exercise shall be done within three months from the date of the order in accordance with law.

45. Apart from the above directions, this Court also directs all the Judicial Magistrates or Courts that in case a final report i.e. closure report is submitted in favour of alleged accused, the learned Judicial Magistrates/Courts shall receive the entire case diary along with documents and final report i.e. closure report, but the Judicial Magistrates/Courts shall also direct the Investigating Officer/Police for submitting written complaint against informant, as well as witnesses of the FIR as provided under section 195(1)(a) Cr.P.C. (corresponding Section 215(1)(a) BNSS) in respect of furnishing false information with intent to cause public servant to use his lawful power to the injury of the alleged accused persons, whose names are mentioned in the first information report as well as during investigation, for committing offences of Section 177 and 182 of the Indian Penal code, 1860 (corresponding Section 212 and 217 of Bhartiya Nyay Sanhita).

46. It is further directed that, the learned Judicial Magistrates/ Courts, first of all while taking cognizance of the offences after perusal of entire case diary and documents, if prima facie appears otherwise, invite protest petition from the informant and after hearing the informant, if finds that offences is made out, take cognizance either under Section 190(1)(a) or 190(1)(b) Cr.P.C. (corresponding Section 210(1)(a) or 210(1)(b) BNSS) and if no offence is made out, then proceeds on the written complaint, which is submitted by the Investigating Officer under Section 195(1)(a) Cr.P.C. (corresponding Section 215(1)(a) BNSS) in respect of offence of Section 177 and 182 IPC (corresponding Section 212 and 217 of BNS) for furnishing false information against the alleged accused of the FIR to use the police his lawful power to cause injury to the alleged accused persons.

47. The Director General of Police, U.P. is directed to instruct all police officers within the State that, while completing the investigation, if a final report (closure report) exonerating the accused is submitted in the court, then in every case, where the police machinery has been misused by furnishing false, frivolous, or misleading information, a written complaint as per Section 215(1) BNSS (corresponding Section 195(1) Cr.P.C.) must be filed before the competent Magistrate/Court of offence mentioned under Section 212 and 217 BNSS (corresponding Section 177 and 182 IPC) against the informant and witnesses of the case crime. Failure to do so will render the purpose of Section 212 and Section 217 BNS (corresponding Section 177 and 182 IPC) redundant and is likely to defeat the legislative intent behind these provisions.

48. It is further directed that the Director General of Police, U.P., Commissioner of Police, Senior Superintendent of Police, Superintendent of Police to direct all the Investigating Officer, Station House Officer and Forwarding Officer i.e. Circle Officer, Additional S.P., S.P. and Public Prosecutor that in case of final report/closure report filed under section 193 of BNSS (corresponding Section 173 Cr.P.C.), the police shall also submit a report in the form of complaint as prescribed Section 215(1)(a) BNSS (corresponding Section 195(1)(a) Cr.P.C.) referred hereinabove in paragraph no.18 of this order/judgment to the concerned Judicial Magistrate/Court for taking cognizance of offences provided under section 212 and 217 BNS (corresponding sections 177 and 182 of IPC) against informant and witness in case the final report/closure report is accepted and the protest petition is rejected.

49. Further direction is given to the police authority that if an Investigating Officer does investigation and ultimately found that no offence is made out, he is not only under obligation to submit final report, as per paragraph 122 of the U.P. Police Regulations, but he is also duty bound to submit a written complaint for giving false information to the police under Section 212 and 217 of BNS (corresponding Sections 177 and 182 of IPC) for taking cognizance as provided under section 215(1)(a) BNSS (corresponding Section 195(1)(a) Cr.P.C.) otherwise, the Investigating Officer, Station House Officer and Forwarding Authority i.e. Circle Officer and Public Prosecutor shall be liable of committing offence as mentioned under Section 199(b) BNS (corresponding Section 166A(b) of IPC).

50. If the observation made by this Court is not followed in letter and spirit, it would amount to contempt of court, and the aggrieved person may approach this Court for appropriate action against such contemptuous conduct of the police authorities as well as the judicial officers. All the exercise shall be done within 60 days from the date of this order by the police authorities as well as the judicial officers to regulate judicial proceedings in accordance with law.

51. With the aforesaid observations, and directions the present application under section 528 BNSS stands disposed of.

52. The explanation submitted by the Judicial Magistrate was perused by the court and after going through the same, it appear to be satisfactory to some extent. The observations made in this order shall not affect future service or career prospects of the concerned Magistrate.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajeev Bharti, J.)

1. Rejoinder affidavit filed today is taken on record.
2. Heard learned counsel for the applicants, learned A.G.A. appearing for the State, learned counsel for opposite party no.2 and perused the material brought on record.
3. The present application has been filed for quashing the impugned charge sheet dated 07.07.2016, bearing charge sheet no.15/16 in Special Criminal Case No.96 of 2016 (State Vs.

Faujdar and others), arising out of Case Crime No.317 of 2016, under Sections 323, 504 I.P.C. & 3(1)Da, Dha & 3(2)(va) of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 (hereinafter referred to as "SC/ST Act"), Police Station - Saidpur, District- Ghazipur, pending in the Court of Special Judge SC/ST Act, Ghazipur.

4. Brief facts of the case are that on 17.03.2016 an N.C.R. No.63 of 2016 was lodged at Police Station- Saidpur, District- Ghazipur-under Sections 323, 504 I.P.C. against the applicants by the opposite party no.2 stating therein that on 17.03.2016, the applicants were constructing drain in the field of opposite party no.2 forcefully and when the same being opposed by opposite party no.2, the applicants abused him by using caste related words and also assaulted his son with lathi and danda.

5. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that the invocation of the provisions of SC/ST Act is wholly misconceived inasmuch as the essential statutory ingredients of the alleged offence having been committed "in any place within public view" is completely absent." It is contended that, as per the prosecution case itself, the alleged incident was only witnessed by the informant Shyam Dev Gaud and his son Vinod Gaud, who are admittedly interested and related witnesses and no independent member of the public was present at the place of occurrence.

6. It is further argued that neither the FIR nor the charge sheet specifies the exact caste-related words allegedly used, nor does it disclose whether the alleged caste-related words, if any, were made with intention to humiliate the informant on account of his caste and in a place within the public view, which is mandatory statutory requirement for attracting offences under SC/ST Act "in any place within public view".

7. Learned counsel for the applicant in support of his argument has placed reliance upon the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Ramesh Chandra Vaishya Vs. State of U.P. & Another, Criminal Appeal No.1617, (2023) 0 SC 550, decided on 19.05.2023, wherein it has been held that every insult or intimidation does not constitute an offence under SC/ST Act and that in the absence of any independent public witness and public view, continuance of proceedings under SC/ST Act would amount of abuse of process of law.

8. The Hon'ble Supreme Court has consistently held in the case of Swaran Singh vs. State, reported in (2008) 8 SCC 435, that the expression "in any place within the public view" does not mean merely a place accessible to the public, but requires the presence of independent members and interested witness does not specify this requirement. Similarly in Hitesh Verma Vs. The State of Uttarakhand & Another reported in (2020) 10 SCC 710, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that the dispute occurring in a private place or where any member of the public is present does not attract offence under Section 3(1) Da, Dha of SC/ST Act.

9. In support of his contention, learned counsel for the applicant has also placed reliance upon in the case of State of Haryana and Ors. vs. Bhajan Lal & Ors., reported in 1992

Supp (1) SCC 335, that if the contents of the FIR, taken on its face value, does not make out any case against the appellant, such an FIR registered with ulterior motive deserves to be quashed.

10. For a ready reference Sections 3(1)Da, Dha and 3(2)(v) of SC/ST Act are reproduced hereunder:-

Provision in Hindi Bare Act of the SC/ST Act.	Provision in English Bare Act of SC/ST Act.
(द) अनुसूचित जाति या अनुसूचित जनजाति के किसी सदस्य को अवमानित करने के आशय से लोक दृष्टि में आने वाले किसी स्थान पर अपमानित या अभित्रस्त करेगा;	Section 3(1)(r) intentionally insults or intimidates with intent to humiliate a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe in any place within public view;
(ध) लोक दृष्टि में आने वाले किसी स्थान पर जाति के नाम से अनुसूचित जाति या अनुसूचित जनजाति के किसी सदस्य को गाली गलौज करेगा;	Section 3(1) (s) abuses any member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe by caste name in any place within public view;
3(2) (va) अनुसूची में विनिर्दिष्ट कोई अपराध किसी व्यक्ति या संपत्ति के विरुद्ध, यह जानते हुए करेगा कि ऐसा व्यक्ति अनुसूचित जाति या अनुसूचित जनजाति का सदस्य है या वह संपत्ति ऐसे सदस्य की है, वह ऐसे अपराधों के लिए भारतीय दंड संहिता के अधीन यथा विनिर्दिष्ट दंड से दंडनीय होगा और जुर्माने से भी दंडनीय होगा ।	Section 3(2) (va) commits any offence specified in the Schedule, against a person or property, knowing that such person is a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe or such property belongs to such member, shall be punishable with such punishment as specified under the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860) for such offences and shall also be liable to fine;

11. From a perusal of FIR and the charge sheet, this Court finds that specific caste-based utterances are not disclosed; the alleged occurrence is supported only by the statement of the informant and his son, who are interested witnesses, and no independent public witness is shown to have been present at the time of alleged incident and the mandatory ingredients of intent to humiliate in public view are conspicuously absent.

12. In view of the above facts and settled position of law, this Court is of the considered opinion that the continuation of criminal proceedings under Section 3(1)Da, Dha and 3(2)(va) of SC/ST Act against the applicant would be an abuse of process of the Court and cannot be sustainable in law.

13. Accordingly, the present application is partly allowed.

14. The proceedings of Special Criminal Case No.96 of 2016 (State Vs. Faujdar and others), arising out of Case Crime No.317 of 2016, under Sections 3(1)Da, Dha & 3(2)(va) of SC/ST Act, Police Station - Saidpur, District- Ghazipur, pending in the Court of Special Judge SC/ST Act, Ghazipur, are hereby quashed.

15. It is clarified that the proceeding with respect to the other sections related to Indian Penal Code, if otherwise made out, may continue in accordance with law.

Application U/S 528 BNSS No. 35779 of 2025

Kuldeep Verma

...Applicant

Versus

State of U.P. & Anr.

...Opposite Parties

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to "whether prima facie the allegations levelled by the victim on the applicant accused is sufficient to proceed with the trial or continuance of the trial would amount to gross abuse of process of law?" (Para-11)

Headnotes

Bhartiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 - S 69 - Sexual intercourse by employing deceitful means - False promise of marriage - Prima facie case - Allegation that accused "continuously entered in sexual intercourse with the opposite party no. 2 on false promise of marriage, since last 11 years" - Accused admittedly already married - Marriage certificate dated 24.04.2025 annexed - FIR dated 20.06.2025 - Whether continuation of proceedings amounts to abuse of process - Held, No - Matter requires trial.

Bhartiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 - S 528 - Quashing of charge sheet - Scope of interference at pre-trial stage - Where allegations and material disclose prima facie offence - Court would not embark upon appreciation of evidence - Application dismissed.

Bhartiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 - Ss 63, 64(2)(f), 69 - Deceitful means - Position of trust - Teacher - Accused a teacher where victim pursued B.Ed. - Prima facie knowledge of subsisting marriage - Distinction between 'false promise' and 'breach of promise' noted.

Held: The facts alleged in the F.I.R. and the material available on record on the face of it reveals the prima facie facts that the victim is residing in the house of accused-applicant and was in relationship with the accused-applicant since last 11 years - S 69 of Bhartiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 provides that 'Whoever, by deceitful means or by making promise to marry a woman without any intention of fulfilling the same, has sexual intercourse with her... shall be punished - It is an admitted fact that the accused-applicant was already married when he came in contact with opposite party no. 2 - In the present case, the applicant accused prima facie knew from the beginning that he could not marry the opposite party no. 2, as he was already married - On the basis of prima facie facts, this Court does not find sufficient ground to quash the charge sheet and the proceedings. Hence, the application moved under S 528 B.N.S.S. is devoid of merits and liable to be dismissed - The application under S 528 B.N.S.S. is dismissed. (Paras-12, 15-22)

1. The present application under Section 528 B.N.S.S. has been moved by the accused-applicant to quash the charge sheet dated 08.08.2025, the cognizance order dated 26.08.2025 passed by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Aligarh and the proceedings in trial of Case No. 2823/2025 (State Vs Kuldeep) arising out of Case Crime No. 521/2025, Police Station- Quarsi, District- Aligarh for the offences in Bhartiya Nyaya Sanhita 2023 under Sections, 69 (Sexual intercourse by employing deceitful means), 115(2) (Voluntarily causing hurt), 352 (Intentional insult with the intent to provoke breach of peace) and 351(3) (Criminal Intimidation).

2. Heard Shri Mritunjay Dwivedi, learned counsel for applicant, Ms. Akansha Gaur, learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 and Shri Raj Baran, learned A.G.A. for State. Perused the record.

3. The opposite party no. 2 (Victim) has lodged the FIR on 20.06.2025 at 23:56 hours against the accused-applicant with the allegation that the victim is residing in the house of accused-applicant and in relations with the accused-applicant since last 11 years, during this period accused-applicant has entered into sexual intercourse with the victim on making false promise of marriage. He also violently hurt her by kicks and fist while entering into sexual intercourse. He also threatened the victim not to open her mouth otherwise he would defame her. The accused-applicant kept the victim as his wife. On 27.05.2025 at about 9:00 p.m., the accused-applicant has beaten the victim due to which she suffered knee injury. She has given a written information at the police station concerned on which the accused-applicant has entered into a written compromise and ready to keep the victim with him but after leaving the police station, he again stated not to keep her with him as she is suffering from 'Rasauli' (Uterine Fibroids) and further threatened to implicate her and her family members in false cases and hurl abuses.

4. With the above allegations the F.I.R. has been registered for the offences under Sections 69, 115(2), 352 and 351(3) of B.N.S.

5. In the statement recorded under Section 180 B.N.S.S., the victim has stated that she is 39 years of age. Since 2014-15 the victim is in relations with the accused-applicant. Many a times the accused-applicant has promised her to marry and entered into sexual intercourse, but whenever she asked to talk to the family, he ignores the talk of marriage on the pretext of ill health of his parents and marriage of his sister. She became mentally disturbed and while she was suffering with 'Rasauli' the accused-applicant refused to get her treated in hospital. She has reiterated the incident of 27.05.2025 and the threatening.

6. In her statement under Section 183 B.N.S.S., she has stated that for the first time she was raped by the accused-applicant after she was administered with sedative cold drink, thereafter entered in sexual intercourse on false promise of marriage. She did her Ph.D. while residing alongwith applicant in his house. In the year 2017-18 she has married the applicant at a temple where he put vermilion on her head. Two years back, he has also got her signature on the certificate of marriage of Aarya Samaj Mandir. Further stated that Rs. 15 lakh has been given by her mother to the accused-applicant and has again asked for Rs. 10 lakh. Further stated that once accused-applicant taken the victim to Bateshwar, but while returning he has left her alone on the road. On 18.06.2025, he has filed frivolous case, although on 17.06.2025 they underwent compromise.

7. On these allegations and material the charge sheet is submitted against the accused-applicant.

8. The learned counsel for accused-applicant submits that the relations between the accused-applicant and opposite party no. 2/Victim is consensual in nature as is reflected from the allegation levelled, which continued since the year 2014. The place of incident is alleged to be the house of applicant where according to the victim she is living as wife of the applicant and already married to the applicant. Further submits that the allegation of sexual intercourse on false promise of marriage cannot be sustained or prima facie made out because according to the victim she was already married to the applicant at Aarya Samaj Mandir. On the point of accepting the amount of Rs. 15 lakh the learned counsel submits that there is no basis for the said allegation. Hence the allegation is baseless. Further submits that the only injury shown by the victim is knee injury for which she has been referred to Orthopedic for management of knee injury and except the knee injury there is no other injury found, which could be attributed on accused-applicant that the injury has been inflicted by the accused-applicant. Learned counsel further submits that on 29.08.2018, the victim has moved a complaint and the victim herself has given the statement to the police that she came to know that the accused-applicant is already married, hence, withdrew the complaint. The report of Deputy Superintendent of Police, District- Aligarh is dated 25.09.2018 addressed to Senior Superintendent of Police, District- Aligarh, wherein the enquiry report is submitted that the victim herself withdrew the complaint alleging therein that she does not want to continue with the case, as she is studying. This report is part of the application (Page-79). It is further submitted that on

18.06.2025 the accused-applicant has moved an application under Section 173(4) B.N.S.S. at the court of Judicial Magistrate-1, Aligarh which is registered as Application No. 75/11/2025 (Kuldeep Verma Vs. Pooja Rani and four others), wherein it is stated that the victim is continuously harassing the accused-applicant and his family since the year 2014, when the victim took admission in the college for doing B.Ed. Course at Khair Kanya Mahavidyalaya where the accused-applicant was a private Lecturer. The victim has met the wife of accused applicant and requested his wife to allow him to help her in studies. It is on the insistence of his wife that the accused-applicant has permitted the victim to seek his help in studies but gradually the opposite party no. 2/Victim in connivance with her family members started blackmailing the applicant and demanded money, which led to the moving of the application. It is thereafter that the present F.I.R. has been lodged by opposite party no. 2 on 20.06.2025. The learned counsel submits that accused-applicant has been falsely implicated in the case. He relied on the judgment in Biswajyoti Chatterjee Vs. State of West Bengal and another decided by Hon'ble the Supreme Court by order dated 07.04.2025 in SLP (Criminal) No. 4261/2024 (Paragraph-17) and further relied upon the order dated 08.09.2025 passed the by a co-ordinate Bench of this Court in Criminal Revision No. 8743/2025 (Km. Neha Anuragi Vs. State of U.P. and another) (Paragraph-7). The relevant paragraphs of each citation are quoted underneath:-

In Biswajyoti Chatterjee (supra):-

“17. In the case of Uday Vs State of Karnataka, the Court had acquitted the accused on the basis that she was a mature college student who had consented to sexual intercourse with the accused of her own free will. It is unlikely that her consent was not based on any misconception of fact. In Uday (supra), the Court noted that:

“21. It therefore appears that the consensus of judicial opinion is in favour of the view that the consent given by the prosecutrix to sexual intercourse with a person with whom she is deeply in love on a promise that he would marry her on a later date, cannot be said to be given under a misconception of fact. A false promise is not a fact within the meaning of the Code. We are inclined to agree with this view, but we must add that there is no straitjacket formula for determining whether consent given by the prosecutrix to sexual intercourse is voluntary, or whether it is given under a misconception of fact. In the ultimate analysis, the tests laid down by the courts provide at best guidance to the judicial mind while considering a question of consent, but the court must, in each case, consider the evidence before it and the surrounding circumstances, before reaching a conclusion, because each case has its own peculiar facts which may have a bearing on the question whether the consent was voluntary, or was given under a misconception of fact. It must also weigh the evidence keeping in view the fact that the burden is on the prosecution to prove each and every ingredient of the offence, absence of consent being one of them.”

In Km. Neha Anuragi (supra) :-

7. After hearing the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and on perusal of record, it is not in dispute that the applicant and opposite party No.2 were in relationship for four years and this fact was known to all employees as well as officials of Tehsil. Subsequently, on refusal by opposite party No.2 to get married to the applicant, the applicant made a complaint to the Sub Divisional Magistrate as well as to police. However, during enquiry by the Sub Divisional Magistrate and also by the police officers on the complaint made by the applicant, both the parties settled their dispute and applicant decided not to pursue the case. However, the report of Tehsildar dated 8.1.2024 also shows that there was consensual relationship between the parties and applicant herself requested to withdraw her complaint against opposite party No.2. Though there is allegation that initially physical relationship was made by opposite party No.2 with the applicant by playing trick and subsequently, he assured the applicant for marriage, it is also not in dispute that the applicant remained in relationship with opposite party No.2 for a considerably long time. This fact shows that it was a case of consensual relationship between the applicant and opposite party No.2 and thereafter their relationship fell apart due to refusal of opposite party No.2 to get married to the applicant. ”

9. Per contra, learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 and learned A.G.A. have submitted that the accused-applicant continuously entered in sexual intercourse with the opposite party no. 2 on false promise of marriage, since last 11 years. It is subsequent to the act of the accused that the opposite party no. 2 came to know that the accused-applicant is already married. This shows that the promise of marriage with the opposite party no. 2 was false from the very beginning. Further submits that the victim was initially not aware about the marital status of the applicant and that the applicant has three children, it is only after lodging the F.I.R. that the victim came to know about the fact of marriage. Further submits that applicant and victim were married at Aarya Samaj Mandir on 24.04.2025 and later on, they both resided together as husband-wife. The victim, time and again, asked for ceremonial and formal marriage but the applicant refused. Further submits that there is no compromise between the parties ever entered and the police report dated 25.09.2018 is false. Further submits that the victim suffered injuries at the hand of the accused-applicant. There is marriage between the two which has been solemnized on 24.04.2025. The opposite party no. 2 has filed marriage certificate along with counter affidavit. Further submits that in the thesis submitted by the accused-applicant the name of victim is mentioned as his better half, which is filed along with supplementary counter affidavit. Hence, submits that the application moved by the applicant is devoid of merits and liable to be dismissed.

10. This Court has taken into consideration the rival submissions made by the parties and perused the record.

11. Point of concern in the present application is whether prima facie the allegations levelled by the victim on the applicant accused is sufficient to proceed with the trial or continuance of the trial would amount to gross abuse of process of law?

12. The facts alleged in the F.I.R. and the material available on record on the face of it reveals the prima facie facts that the victim is residing in the house of accused-applicant and was in relationship with the accused-applicant since last 11 years. The sexual intercourse for the first time was the result of unconsciousness of victim and subsequently, on false promise of marriage. It is further revealed that at one point of time the accused-applicant and victim resided as husband-wife in the same house, at Aligarh. The statement of victim recorded under Section 183 B.N.S.S. also reveals the same facts and it is the contention of the victim that she came to know about marriage of applicant only after lodging of the F.I.R. The intra departmental report which has been given by Deputy S.P.-Aligarh to Senior Superintendent of Police, Aligarh on 25.09.2018 shows the statement of opposite party no. 2, wherein she is admittedly aware about the marriage of applicant and therefore, she has entered into compromise. The same is however denied and not the part of case diary, but relied on by the applicant. This report is reiterated underneath:

"जाँच आख्या:- उक्त संदर्भित प्रकरण की जाँच व दौरान आवेदिका कुं पूजा रानी पुत्री श्री मुकेश कुमार निवासी गूलर रोड थाना देहली गेट जनपद अलीगढ़ ने अपने बयानों ने बताया कि वह करीब 3-4 वर्ष पूर्व कस्बा खैर के खैर कन्या महाविद्यालय में बी.एड की शिक्षा प्राप्त कर रही थी तो उस समय श्री कुलदीप वर्मा पुत्र नेत्रपाल वर्मा निवासी मौ० नई बस्ती थाना खैर भी उक्त विद्यालय में शिक्षण का कार्य कर रहे थे। इसी दौरान उसके एवं कुलदीप वर्मा के बीच स्लेबस को लेकर जानकारी हेतु आपस में जान पहचान हो गई और स्लेबस के सम्बन्ध में एक दूसरे की फ़ोन पर वार्ता होती रही, आवेदिका अविवाहित है जिस कारण आवेदिका एवं कुलदीप वर्मा के बीच आपस में शादी को लेकर नज़दीकिया बढ़ना आवेदिका ने अपने बयानों में बताया परन्तु जब आवेदिका को कुलदीप वर्मा के शादी शुदा होने एवं अपने आप को शिक्षारत होना बताते हुए शिक्षा में किसी प्रकार का व्यवधान उत्पन्न ना हो इस कारण अपने द्वारा दिये गये उक्त प्रार्थना पत्र पर कुलदीप वर्मा के विरुद्ध कोई कार्यवाही ना किये जाने के सम्बन्ध में जाँच के दौचन लिखित बयान दिये। जैसा कि आवेदिका के बयानों से स्वतः स्पष्ट है। आवेदिका अपने द्वारा दिये गये उक्त प्रार्थना पत्र पर अब कोई कानूनी कार्यवाही नहीं चाहती है। इस तरह आवेदिका कुं पूजा रानी उपरोक्त के उक्त प्रार्थना पत्र पर अन्य किसी पुलिस कार्यवाही की आवश्यकता प्रतीत नहीं होती है।"

13. In the statement under Section 183 B.N.S.S. the victim has specifically stated about the marriage solemnized with the accused-applicant in the year 2018 and has also annexed the certificate of marriage.

14. Thus, these facts alleged is required to be taken into consideration on the face of it, weigh on the touchstone of legal prepositions.

15. Section 69 of Bhartiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 provides that

"Whoever, by deceitful means or by making promise to marry a woman without any intention of fulfilling the same, has sexual intercourse with her, such sexual intercourse not amounting to the offence of rape, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to ten years and shall also be liable to fine."

16. The provision contained in Section 69 of B.N.S. is a new induction in penal law, wherein sexual intercourse with a woman, by deceitful means including false promise of marriage is not 'Rape', but is made punishable. Prior to the enactment the courts interpret the conduct of parties in view of the provisions of Section 375 I.P.C. (Rape) coupled with the provision of Section 90 I.P.C (Consent known to be given under fear or misconception). The explanation provided under Section

69 B.N.S. of 'Deceitful means' "shall include the false promise of employment or promotion, inducement, or marrying after suppressing identity."

17. It is an admitted fact that the accused-applicant was already married when he came in contact with opposite party no. 2. It is also an admitted fact that the accused-applicant is a teacher in the college, where the opposite party no. 2 is pursuing her B.Ed. Course. Moreover, the opposite party no. 2 has filed a certificate of marriage solemnized between the accused applicant and opposite party no. 2 to show the intensity in their relation and states that she was not aware about the marriage of applicant, which came to her knowledge after lodging the F.I.R. It is worth mentioning that in the marriage certificate the date of solemnization of marriage was 24.04.2025 and the F.I.R. has been lodged on 20.06.2025. The opposite party no. 2 in her counter affidavit has annexed the marriage certificate of Arya Samaj Mandir, Agra as Annexure CA-2. The relevant paragraph of counter affidavit is reiterated underneath:

"That the contents of paragraph no. 9 & 10 of affidavit to the extent of record, call for no comments. However it is submitted that the opposite party no. 2 was not aware of the marital status of the applicant so also the fact that he had three children and the said fact came to the knowledge of the opposite party no. 2 only after lodging the present FIR. The fact of marriage was not within the knowledge of the opposite party no. 2 and therefore she agreed to marry the applicant in Arya Samaj Mandir on 24.04.2025 and later on they both were residing together as husband and wife in the house of the applicant. The opposite party no. 2 was time and again requesting the applicant to do a ceremonial/format marriage with the opposite party no. 2, however the applicant refused to do the same and since the relationship of applicant with the opposite party was over more than 10 years therefore even after repeated harassment and denial she could not leave the applicant who was her alleged husband. A copy of the marriage certificate issued by the Arya Samaj Mandir, Agra is being filed herewith and marked as Annexure No. C.A.-2 to this affidavit."

18. The applicant in reply to the aforesaid mentioned paragraph has merely stated that the certificate is fraud and he will file appropriate application under Section 195 and 340 Cr.P.C. at an opportune time, further mentioned, that the two stands of the opposite party no. 2 cannot go simultaneously, which are sexual intercourse on false promise of marriage and the marriage between the parties. The relevant paragraph-5 of the rejoinder affidavit is reiterated underneath:

"5. That the content of paragraph no. 6 of the counter affidavit is not admitted as stated in reply there to it is submitted that the contents of paragraph no. 9 and 10 of the affidavit filed in support of the affidavit are reasserted, it is further submitted that in the first information report, the opposite party no. 2 stated that the relation was established on the ground of the false promise of marriage, however she herself annexed a document claiming that she is being married with the applicant though the documents dated 24.04.2025 is a false, frivolous and concocted documents regarding which the proceeding under section 195 and 340 of the Cr.P.C. was going to be launched separately, but first of all, it must be clarified that whether it is a case of false promise of marriage or it is a case of humiliation after marriage both allegations can not run concurrently as both are voice-versa to each of other."

19. Though the charge sheet is not submitted under the offence of rape, but it would be expedient in the interest of justice that the provision of rape under Section 63 of B.N.S. is required to be dealt with along with Section 64(2)(f). Wherein, there are several circumstances mentioned in Section 63 B.N.S. which amount to the definition of rape whereas sub section (iv) of Section 63 provides 'with her consent, when the man knows that he is not her husband and that her consent is given because she believes that he is another man to whom she is or believes herself to be lawfully marriage;

20. It would also not be out of place to mention that Section 120 of Bhartiya Sakshya Adhiniyam 2023 provides a presumption as to absence of consent in certain prosecution for rape. This presumption in certain cases, only qualifies upon the authorities provided under sub-section (2) of Section 64 of B.N.S., wherein the offence of rape committed by police officers, public servant, member of Armed Forces and others is dealt with. In the same category the act of a teacher is also provided under subsection (2)(f) of Section 64, reiterated, being a relatives, guardian or teacher of, or a person in a position of trust or authority towards a woman, commits rape of such woman;' the presumption provides that where intercourse by accused is proved and the question is whether it was that the consent of the woman alleged to have been raped and such woman states in her evidence before the court that she did not consent, the court shall presume that she did not consent.

21. Even otherwise Section 69 B.N.S. provides for sexual intercourse by employing deceitful means and false promise of marriage as one of the deceitful means. In the case of Pramod Suryabhan Pawar Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2019) 9 SCC 608, Hon'ble the Supreme Court has drawn a clear distinction between 'false promise of marriage, which is given on understanding by the maker that it will be broken' and 'a breach of promise which is made in good faith but subsequently not fulfilled'. It is former which out rightly attracts penal provision.

22. In the present case, the applicant accused prima facie knew from the beginning that he could not marry the opposite party no. 2, as he was already married. It is a matter of trial to decipher from evidence, whether the opposite party no. 2, victim was knowing the marital status of the applicant and despite that she has entered into sexual intercourse with him, which continued for eleven long years. On the basis of prima facie facts, this Court does not find sufficient ground to quash the charge sheet and the proceedings. Hence, the application moved under Section 528 B.N.S.S. is devoid of merits and liable to be dismissed.

23. The application under Section 528 B.N.S.S. is dismissed.

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to Whether, for enforcement of arrears of maintenance under S 125(3) read with S 421 Cr.P.C., in proceedings under S 128 Cr.P.C., the Family Court can issue simultaneous recovery and arrest warrants, or whether recovery in the manner provided for levying fines must first be undertaken and exhausted before any sentence of imprisonment can be imposed.

Headnotes

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Ss. 125(3), 128 and 421 - Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 - S. 528 - Family Courts Act, 1984 - Ss. 10 and 18 - Enforcement of Maintenance Orders - Issuance of simultaneous warrants for recovery and arrest - Legality of - Held, "no warrant of arrest can be issued" for recovery of arrears - Efforts are to be made "first, to recover the arrears of maintenance/enforce the order of maintenance in the manner provided for levying fines" - Simultaneous issuance of warrants for recovery and arrest "is not contemplated under the Code of Criminal Procedure." (Paras 9, 10).

Family Courts Act, 1984 - Ss 10 and 18 - Execution of orders under Chapter IX Cr.P.C. - To be executed "in the manner prescribed for the execution of such order by that Code" - Family Court not empowered to curtail liberty except in manner provided by Cr.P.C. or C.P.C. (Paras 14, 15, 16).

Constitution of India - Article 21 - "No person shall be deprived of his life or personal liberty except according to procedure established by law" - Liberty cannot be curtailed except in accordance with law - Issuance of arrest warrants for recovery of maintenance arrears illegal.(Paras 17, 18, 19).

Supreme Court directions - Rajnesh v. Neha - Enforcement/Execution of maintenance orders -To be enforced as per statutory provisions - Word 'may' used in para 132 - CPC provisions "in addition to the regular mode of recovery provided under the Code of Criminal Procedure". (Paras 6, 25, 26, 27).

Practice of issuing non-bailable warrants by Family Courts for recovery of maintenance - "Clearly against specific statutory provisions and the directions given by the Supreme Court" - "This practice must stop"(Para 11).(E-7)

Held: A perusal of S 421 Cr.P.C. indicates that no warrant of arrest can be issued - It is only on failure to deposit the amount or arrears remaining after execution of the warrant, that imprisonment can be awarded - the simultaneous issuance of warrants for recovery and arrest is not contemplated under the Code of Criminal Procedure - Nothing in the Act of 1984 empowers the Family Court to curtail the liberty of an individual except in the manner provided for in the Code of Criminal Procedure or the Code of Civil Procedure, as the case may be - S 18(2) of the Act of 1984 clearly provides that an order passed by a Family Court under Chapter IX of the Cr.P.C. shall be executed in the manner provided for the execution of such order by the Code of Criminal Procedure - Liberty of an individual can be curtailed only in the manner prescribed by law and not otherwise - The act of issuance of arrest warrants is not merely a misinterpretation of the law laid down by the Supreme Court and the statutory law itself, but, is an act of overstepping its jurisdiction by the Family Court, which is absolutely illegal - A person who is liable to pay maintenance is not to be treated as a person who has committed a crime - As stated above, no arrest warrant can be issued for recovery of arrears of maintenance, this application is allowed -The impugned order dated 25.09.2025 is, thus, set aside." (Delivered by Hon'ble Rajiv Lochan Shukla, J.)

1. This application under Section 528 B.N.S.S. has been filed by the applicant for quashing the order dated 25.09.2025 passed by Additional Principal Judge, Family Court, Court No.2, Aligarh in Misc. Case No.548 of 2024 (Smt. Shajiya Khan & Another vs. Mohammad Shahzad) under Section 128 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (hereinafter referred to as "Cr.P.C."), Police Station - Banna Devi, District Aligarh, whereby the Additional Principal Judge has issued recovery/arrest warrants against the applicant to recover arrears of maintenance against the applicant passed in Maintenance Case No.1111 of 2017 (Smt. Shajiya Khan & Anr. vs. Mohammad Shahzad) under Section 125 Cr.P.C.

2. Heard Sri Kuldeep Kumar, learned counsel for the applicant, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the material on record.

3. Learned counsel for the applicant states that pursuant to an order passed against the applicant under Section 125 Cr.P.C., in proceedings under Section 128 Cr.P.C., recovery and arrest warrants have been issued against the applicant. Learned counsel for the applicant, relying upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Rajnesh vs. Neha & Another (2021) 2 SCC 324, contends that the orders for maintenance can be enforced in view of the specific statutory provisions as well as the directions given by the Supreme Court in Rajnesh (supra).

4. Learned A.G.A. has contended that this Court, vide order dated 25.04.2024 passed in Criminal Revision No. 1235 of 2024, had granted protection to the applicant, subject to the condition that he shall pay Rs. 10,000/- per month to the opposite party No. 2 and Rs. 5,000/- per month to the opposite party No. 3. This Court had further directed the applicant to pay 50% of the arrears of maintenance within a period of one month, and the remaining 50% of the arrears of maintenance was directed to be paid to the opposite parties No.2 and 3 in three equal monthly installments commencing from 25th June, 2024. It was further directed that, in case of default in the said payments, the Principal Judge would be at liberty to recover the arrears along with 10% interest. Learned A.G.A. states that as the directions of the High Court have been violated, the impugned order has rightly been passed issuing recovery warrants against the applicant. Learned A.G.A., however, states that there was nothing in the order of the High Court to indicate that the arrest of the applicant would be effected to recover the arrears of maintenance. Learned A.G.A.

also does not dispute the fact that no arrest warrants can be issued for recovery of arrears of maintenance under Sections 125(3) and 128 Cr.P.C. He states that the maintenance orders can be enforced in view of the directions given by the Supreme Court in the decision of Rajnesh (supra), referred to above.

5. In view of the order that is being proposed to be passed, no notices are being issued to opposite parties No. 2 and 3.

6. The Supreme Court, in the case of Rajnesh (supra), in paragraph 132, has given the following directions with respect to the enforcement/execution of orders of maintenance:

"(e) Enforcement/Execution of orders of maintenance

132. For enforcement/execution of orders of maintenance, it is directed that an order or decree of maintenance may be enforced under Section 28-A of the Hindu Marriage Act, 1955; Section 20(6) of the DV Act; and Section 128 of CrPC, as may be applicable. The order of maintenance may be enforced as a money decree of a civil court as per the provisions of the CPC, more particularly Sections 51, 55, 58, 60 read with Order 21."

7. Section 125(3) Cr.P.C. provides the manner in which a warrant for the recovery of the maintenance amount may be issued. Section 125(3) Cr.P.C. reads as under:

"125(3) If any person so ordered fails without sufficient cause to comply with the order, any such Magistrate may, for every breach of the order, issue a warrant for levying the amount due in the manner provided for levying fines, and may sentence such person, for the whole, or any part of each month's allowance for the maintenance or the interim maintenance and expenses of proceeding, as the case may be, remaining unpaid after the execution of the warrant, to imprisonment for a term which may extend to one month or until payment if sooner made;

Provided that no warrant shall be issued for the recovery of any amount due under this section unless application be made to the Court to levy such amount within a period of one year from the date on which it became due;*

Provided further that if such person offers to maintain his wife on condition of her living with him, and she refuses to live with him, such Magistrate may consider any grounds of refusal stated by her, and may make an order under this section notwithstanding such offer, if he is satisfied that there is just ground for so doing.*

Explanation.- If a husband has contracted marriage with another woman or keeps a mistress, it shall be considered to be just ground for his wife's refusal to live with him."

8. A perusal of the provision, quoted above, clearly indicates that recovery of the arrears of maintenance can be made in the manner provided for levying fines. The procedure for issuance of warrant for levy of fine has been given under Section 421 Cr.P.C., which are quoted herein below:

"421. Warrant for levy of fine.-(1) When an offender has been sentenced to pay a fine the Court passing the sentence may take action for the recovery of the fine in either or both of the following ways, that is to say, it may-

(a) issue a warrant for the levy of the amount by attachment and sale of any moveable property belonging to the offender;

(b) issue a warrant to the collector of the district, authorising him to realise the amount as arrears of land revenue from the movable or immovable property, or both of the defaulter;

Provided that, if the sentence directs that in default of payment of the fine, the offender shall be imprisoned, and if such offender has undergone the whole of such imprisonment in default, no Court shall issue such warrant unless, for special reasons to be recorded in writing, it considers it necessary so to do, or unless it has made an order for the payment of expenses or compensation out of the fine under section 357.

(2) The State Government may make rules regulating the manner in which warrants under clause (a) of Sub-Section (1) are to be executed, and for the summary determination of any claims made by any person other than the offender in respect of any properly attached in execution of such warrant.

(3) Where the Court issues a warrant to the Collector under clause (b) of Sub-Section (1), the Collector shall realise the amount in accordance with the law relating to recovery of arrears of land revenue, as if such warrant were a certificate issued under such law;

Provided that no such warrant shall be executed by the arrest or detention in prison of the offender." [emphasis added]

9. A perusal of the above mentioned provisions would clearly indicate that for recovery of maintenance amount, a warrant is to be issued, which is to be executed in the manner provided for under Section 421 Cr.P.C. and a perusal of Section 421 Cr.P.C. indicates that no warrant of arrest can be issued. It is only on failure to deposit the amount or arrears remaining after execution of the warrant, that imprisonment can be awarded.

10. Section 125(3) Cr.P.C. clearly indicates that efforts are to be made, first, to recover the arrears of maintenance/enforce the order of maintenance in the manner provided for levying fines, and if the warrant is not executed or is partially executed, the Court may sentence the person, directed to pay the maintenance amount, to imprisonment for the whole or any part of each month's allowance for maintenance, interim maintenance, or expenses of proceedings, as the case may be, which remain unpaid after the execution of the recovery warrant. Thus, the simultaneous issuance of warrants for recovery and arrest is not contemplated under the Code of Criminal Procedure. Even the directions given by the Supreme Court do not contemplate any such practice, as has been adopted in the present case.

11. This Court has observed in a number of cases that orders are being passed by the Family Courts issuing warrants of arrest along with recovery warrants and in some cases issuing non-bailable warrants. This is clearly against specific statutory provisions and the directions given by the Supreme Court in the case of Rajnesh (supra). This practice must stop and the recovery of arrears of maintenance is to be made in the manner prescribed by the statute or not at all.

12. Section 125(3) Cr.P.C. itself contemplates that cause can be shown by the person against whom order of maintenance has been passed for not complying with the order, as the opening lines of Section 125(3) Cr.P.C. state that "If any person so ordered fails without sufficient cause to comply with the order.....". Thus, sufficient cause can be shown for non-payment of the amount. The procedure for enforcement of orders of maintenance/interim maintenance ought to be of first issuance of notice to the person ordered to pay maintenance. Thereafter, if sufficient cause is not shown, warrants for recovery can be issued in the manner provided for levying fines. The procedure, as indicated in the judgment of the Supreme Court in Rajnesh (supra), may then be followed. Any other procedure for recovery of arrears of maintenance, which has not been provided for under Sections 125(3) and 421 Cr.P.C., and paragraph 132 of the judgment of the Supreme Court in Rajnesh (supra), is not to be resorted to.

13. The Family Courts Act, 1984 (hereinafter called as "Act of 1984"), also provides for the procedure, which is to be followed by the Family Courts in deciding proceedings before it. Section 10 of the Act of 1984, provides as under :

"10. Procedure generally.-(1) Subject to the other provisions of this Act and the rules, the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908) and of any other law for the time being in force shall apply to the suits and proceedings [other than the proceedings under Chapter IX of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974)] before a Family Court and for the purposes of the said provisions of the Code, a Family Court shall be deemed to be a civil court and shall have all the powers of such court.

(2) Subject to the other provisions of this Act and the rules, the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974) or the rules made thereunder, shall apply to the proceedings under Chapter IX of that Code before a Family Court.

(3) Nothing in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) shall prevent a Family Court from laying down its own procedure with a view to arrive at a settlement in respect of the subject-matter of the suit or proceedings or at the truth of the facts alleged by the one party and denied by the other."

14. Even though, sub-section (3) of Section 10 of the Act of 1984 gives liberty to the Family Court in laying down its own procedure but the same is restricted to arriving at a settlement in respect of the subject-matter of the suit or proceedings or at the truth of the facts alleged by the one party and denied by the other. Nothing in the Act of 1984 empowers the Family Court to curtail the liberty of an individual except in the manner provided for in the Code of Criminal Procedure or the Code of Civil Procedure, as the case may be.

15. Section 18 of the Act of 1984 provides for execution of decrees and orders. Section 18 of the Act of 1984 is reproduced herein below:

"18. Execution of decrees and orders.-(1) A decree or an order [other than an order under Chapter IX of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974)], passed by a Family Court shall have the same force and effect as a decree or order of a civil court and shall be executed in the same manner as is prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908) for the execution of decrees and orders.

(2) An order passed by a Family Court under Chapter IX of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974) shall be executed in the manner prescribed for the execution of such order by that Code.

(3) A decree or order may be executed either by the Family Court which passed it or by the other Family Court or ordinary civil court to which it is sent for execution."

16. Section 18(2) of the Act of 1984 clearly provides that an order passed by a Family Court under Chapter IX of the Cr.P.C. shall be executed in the manner provided for the execution of such order by the Code of Criminal Procedure. Thus, a perusal of the provisions, enumerated above, and the directions given by the Supreme Court leave no room for doubt that for enforcement of an order of maintenance, warrants of arrest cannot be issued. Liberty of an individual can be curtailed only in the manner prescribed by law and not otherwise.

17. Article 21 of the Constitution of India provides that no person shall be deprived of his life or personal liberty except according to procedure established by law. Article 21 is sacrosanct and forms the basic structure of our Constitution. The fundamental right, so granted to an individual, cannot in any manner, be abridged except in the manner provided for by the law and not on a misunderstanding of the law by the Courts.

18. In the opinion of this Court, the act of issuance of arrest warrants is not merely a misinterpretation of the law laid down by the Supreme Court and the statutory law itself, but, is an act of overstepping its jurisdiction by the Family Court, which is absolutely illegal.

19. A person who is liable to pay maintenance is not to be treated as a person who has committed a crime. His personal dignity and liberty cannot be trampled with by the Courts in their excessive enthusiasm in enforcement of orders of maintenance, even if they come to a finding that there has been a deliberate non-payment of arrears of maintenance pursuant to an order of Court. The Courts must keep in mind that every individual must be treated with dignity that befits his status as a free citizen of the country. The manner in which arrest warrants are routinely issued is not only illegal but also inhumane, as it tramples upon the dignity of an individual who is subjected to arrest and produced before the Court as if he were accused of a crime.

20. The orders of the Supreme Court in Rajnesh (supra) have been duly communicated to all Courts, and any violation of the same cannot be allowed to go unchecked.

21. Another issue, which has been raised during arguments before this Court regarding execution of the orders of maintenance in the manner provided for the execution of money decrees as laid down by the Supreme Court in Rajnesh (supra). The learned counsel for the applicant, relying upon the directions given in paragraph 132, contends that procedure under Section 125(3) Cr.P.C. ought not be followed, but, the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure specifically Sections 51, 55, 58 and 60 read with Order XXI C.P.C. have to be followed.

22. As indicated above, the provisions of the Act of 1984 clearly indicate that for proceedings under Chapter IX of the Code of Criminal Procedure, the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure shall be followed.

23. The Uttar Pradesh Family Courts (Court) Rules, 2006 (hereinafter referred to as "U.P. Family Court Rules"), in Chapter VIII, provide for the execution of orders of the Family Court. For ready reference, Chapter VIII of the U.P. Family Court Rules, are reproduced hereinbelow:

"35. Execution of Orders.- The provisions of Code of Civil Procedure for execution of orders passed in all matters except the orders passed on petition under Chapter IX of Code of Criminal Procedure shall apply. The provisions of execution of orders in Code of Criminal Procedure shall apply to orders passed under Chapter IX of the Code of Criminal Procedure.

36. An order passed under Chapter IX of the Code of Criminal Procedure for maintenance allowance may be executed by the Court by attachment of salary as provided in section 60 and order 21 of the Code of Civil Procedure in addition to the mode of recovery provided in subsection (3) of Section 125 of the said Code.

37. An application under Section 125/126 under Chapter VII of the Code of Criminal Procedure may be filed at the place where the wife, minor child, parent, as the case may be resides.

38. The pendency of an application for interim maintenance under Section 125 or 126 as the case may be under Chapter IX of the Code of Criminal Procedure shall not be a ground to stay or suspend the main proceedings under Section 125 or 126 of the Code.

39. In the pending execution proceeding for recovery of any defaulted amount the Family Courts shall not register a new case. An application for recovery of defaulted amount of maintenance in the pending execution case shall be sufficient for recovering the amount."

24. A perusal of Rule 36, quoted above, shows that the procedure prescribed under the Code of Civil Procedure specifically for attachment of salary under Section 60 and Order XXI of the Code of Civil Procedure is in addition to the mode of recovery provided in sub-section (3) of Section 125 Cr.P.C. Thus, it leaves no room for doubt that the procedure, which is to be followed for recovery of arrears of maintenance in proceedings under Section 125 Cr.P.C., is as given under Section 125(3) Cr.P.C.

25. The Supreme Court while considering the case of Rajnesh (supra), was not only dealing with award of maintenance/enforcement of maintenance orders only under the Code of Criminal Procedure but also under other laws. To interpret the directions of the Supreme Court in the manner, as is being suggested by the learned counsel for the applicant, would be incorrect. The Supreme Court, in paragraph No.132 of the directions given has used the word 'may' and the same has been done taking into account the various provisions under which maintenance can be sought by an aggrieved person.

26. Thus, it is no doubt true that the U.P. Family Court Rules provide for attachment of salary as provided in Section 60 and Order XXI of the Code of Civil Procedure; however, the same is only in addition to the regular mode of recovery provided under the Code of Criminal Procedure. Furthermore, Rule 36 provides for the attachment of salary, as provided under Section 60 and Order XXI of the Code of Civil Procedure and would not apply to cases where the person against whom the order of maintenance is to be enforced is not receiving salary.

27. In the opinion of the Court, the provisions of Rule 36 of the U.P. Family Court Rules, Section 60 C.P.C. and Order XXI of C.P.C., when read together, leave no room for doubt that the same would apply only to salaries, as provided under Rule 48 and 48-A of Order XXI of the Code of Civil Procedure. The entire chapter for execution of decrees cannot be made applicable as the Code of Criminal Procedure is quite exhaustive when it comes to the manner of recovery of arrears of maintenance /enforcement of orders of maintenance. The provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure specifically Section 60 and Order XXI have been provided under Rule 36 in addition to the regular modes of recovery for salaried professions. Thus, the contention of the applicant that the recovery can be made only by invoking the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, that too, with respect to the execution of money decrees is not in consonance with the directions given by the Supreme Court, the Family Courts Act and Rules and the Code of Criminal Procedure.

28. As stated above, no arrest warrant can be issued for recovery of arrears of maintenance, this application is allowed. The impugned order dated 25.09.2025 passed by Additional Principal Judge, Family Court, Court No.2, Aligarh in Misc. Case No.548 of 2024 (Smt. Shajia Khan & Another vs. Mohd. Shahzad) under Section 128 Cr.P.C., Police Station - Banna Devi, District Aligarh is, thus, set aside. The matter is remitted back to the Additional Principal Judge, Family Court, Court No. 2, Aligarh, to decide the application for enforcement of the order of maintenance strictly in accordance with the statutory provisions and the directions given by the Supreme Court in Rajnish (supra).

Advs. for the Respondents:

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vivek Kumar Singh, J.)

1. Sri Rajesh Kumar Yadav, Sri Shivam Yadav, learned counsel for the applicant and Sri Ravindra Kumar Singh, learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. The present Application U/S 528 of Bhartiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita (hereinafter referred to as "B.N.S.S.") has been filed to quash the impugned order dated 10.10.2025 passed by learned Sessions Judge, Chandauli, in Criminal Revision No. 134 of 2025 (Manju Devi vs. State of U.P.), as well as the order dated 19.10.2024, passed by District Magistrate, Chandauli, in Case No. 393 of 2024 (Computerized Case No. D202414180000393), under Section 5(A) of U.P. Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955, arising out of Case Crime No. 34 of 2024, under Section 3/5A/5B/8 of the U.P. Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955 and Section 11 of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act, 1960, P.S. Sakaldiha, District Chandauli.

3. Brief facts of the case are that on the basis of an information, Vehicle Tata Magic bearing Registration No. U.P. 67 BT 0122 of the applicant, was seized by the police personnel on 07.03.2024 and they found that it was carrying certain bovines. It is also suspected that the said vehicle was used in the illegal transportation of bovines. Thereafter an F.I.R. bearing Case Crime No. 34 of 2024, under Sections 3/5A/8/5B of the U.P. Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955, (hereinafter referred to as "the Act, 1955") and Section 11 of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act, 1960 (hereinafter referred to as "the Act, 1960"), was registered at P.S. Sakaldiha, District Chandauli, on 07.03.2024. The applicant was owner of the aforesaid vehicle. Thereafter an application was moved by the Investigating Officer on 09.03.2024 before the Superintendent of Police, District Chandauli, who put his report on 30.03.2024 with a prayer to confiscate the aforesaid vehicle. The proceedings under Section 5-A(7) under the Act, 1955, was initiated by the District Magistrate, Chandauli. The notice was also issued to the applicant who did not appear before the District Magistrate, Chandauli, and no objection was filed by her, therefore, the opportunity of hearing of the applicant was closed and the District Magistrate, Chandauli, proceeded ex-parte and confiscated the aforesaid Tata Magic Vehicle No. UP 67 BT 0122.

4. Being aggrieved with the order dated 19.10.2024 passed by the District Magistrate, Chandauli, the applicant filed a Criminal Revision No. 134 of 2025 before the learned Sessions Judge, Chandauli, which was also dismissed by the learned Sessions Judge, Chandauli, vide order dated 10.10.2025 for the reason that criminal revision was not maintainable, hence the present application under Section 528 B.N.S.S. has been moved by the applicant with a prayer to set-aside the aforesaid orders dated 19.10.2024 and 10.10.2025.

5. Learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that the applicant had purchased the aforesaid vehicle for delivery of vegetables in the market and driver as well as the cleaner of the said vehicle were not authorized to transport bovines. The applicant has nothing to do with the alleged offence. The applicant had no knowledge in respect of alleged commission of offence. The police has illegally made the applicant one of the accused in the F.I.R. and no one has claimed ownership of the vehicle and the applicant only is the registered owner of the vehicle and the said confiscated vehicle be released in her favour.

6. Learned A.G.A. has submitted that present Application U/S 528 B.N.S.S. is not maintainable. The applicant wrongly and illegally challenged the order of District Magistrate, Chandauli, before learned Sessions Judge, Chandauli. The learned Sessions Judge, Chandauli, has no jurisdiction to entertain criminal revision against the confiscation order of the District Magistrate, Chandauli. The remedy lies before the Divisional Commissioner against the confiscation order passed by the District Magistrate, Chandauli, in view of Government Notification dated 15.10.2024.

7. The learned A.G.A. has further submitted that the U.P. Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955, does not mention any remedy against confiscation order passed in the Act. Earlier a co-ordinate Bench of this Court in Crl. Misc. Writ Petition No. 9028 of 2021 (Mustakeem Begum vs. State of U.P. and Three Others), held that the Act does not provide any forum of appeal or revision against the order of confiscation regarding seized vehicle passed by the District Magistrate. Thereafter, it was held in the aforesaid case vide order dated 26.04.2024, that in such circumstances, provisions of criminal revision under Section 397 of Cr.P.C., shall be applicable and a criminal revision in the Court of Sessions Judge against such order would lie. Later on a Notification was issued by the Government of U.P. on 15.10.2024 and the criminal revision was filed by the applicant on 10.06.2025 challenging the order of the District Magistrate in the court of District Judge. It was laid down in the Government Notification dated 15.10.2024 that if the legality or the propriety of the action taken under Section 5-A of the Act, 1955, is to be challenged, the same could be challenged before the Divisional Commissioner. Since the revision was filed after Government Notification dated 15.10.2024, therefore, it was not maintainable before the learned Sessions Judge and the present application under Section 528 B.N.S.S. is also not maintainable.

8. The Division Bench of this Court while deciding the case of Mustakeem Begum (supra), has made following observations in paragraph nos. 18, 19 and 20 of the writ petition.

" 18. Section 5-A of PCSA defines the provisions under the Act and provides procedures for seizure and confiscation of the vehicle and animals beef or cow progeny, seized under the Act. It does not provide any forum of appeal or revision against the order of confiscation regarding the seized vehicle passed by the District Magistrate. Therefore, the provisions of criminal revision u/s 397 Cr.P.C. shall be applicable. Section 397 Cr.P.C. provides for institution of criminal revision in the court of Sessions against the order passed by the District Magistrate and other Executive Magistrate supporting to the District magistrate. Thus, the petitioner has been provided suitable and appropriate forum u/s 397 Cr.P.C. to seek remedy against the impugned order passed by the District Magistrate. The provisions of this writ petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India is an extraordinary jurisdiction which can be exercised when the petitioner cannot obtain suitable relief from any other forum. There is no extraordinary circumstance shown by the petitioner which may entitle him to obtain relief from this writ court.

19. There is no merit in this writ petition and the same is liable to be dismissed.

20. Accordingly, the writ petition is dismissed."

9. Confronted with the above Notification dated 15.10.2024, learned counsels for the applicant prayed that the applicant may be permitted to file a criminal revision against the impugned order dated 19.10.2024 and it was also prayed that delay occurred in the above circumstances be also condoned.

10. The Act, 1955, is an Act to prevent the slaughter of cow and its progeny in the State of Uttar Pradesh. Section 5-A of the Act, 1955, is reproduced as hereunder :

"5-A. Regulation on transport of cow, etc. - (1) No person shall transport or offer for transport or cause to be transported any cow, or bull or bullock, the slaughter whereof in any place in Uttar Pradesh is punishable under this Act, from any place within the State to any place outside the State, except under a permit issued by an officer authorised by the State Government in this behalf by notified order and except in accordance with the terms and conditions of such permit.

(2) Such officer shall issue the permit on payment of such fee not exceeding [five hundred rupees] for every cow, bull or bullock as may be prescribed :

Provided that no fee shall be chargeable where the permit is for transport of the cow, bull or bullock for a limited period not exceeding six months as may be specified in the permit.

(3) Where the person transporting a cow, bull or bullock on a permit for a limited period does not bring back such cow, bull or bullock into the State within the period specified in the permit, he shall be deemed to have contravened the provision of sub-section (1).

(4) The form of permit, the form of application therefore and the procedure for disposal of such application shall be such as may be prescribed.

(5) The State Government or any officer authorised by it in this behalf by general or special notified order, may, at any time, for the purpose of satisfying itself, or himself, as to the legality or propriety of the action taken under this section, call for and examine the record of any case and pass such orders thereon as it or he may deem fit].

(6) Where the said conveyance has been confirmed to be related to beef by the competent authority or authorised laboratory under this Act, the driver, operator and owner related to transport, shall be charged with the offence under this Act, unless it is not proved that the transport medium used in crime, despite all its precautions and without its knowledge, has been used by some other person for causing the offence.

(7) The vehicle by which the beef or cow and its progeny is transported in violation of the provisions of this Act and the relevant rules, shall be confiscated and seized by the law enforcement officers. The concerned District Magistrate/Commissioner of Police will do all proceedings of confiscation and release, as the case may be.

(8) The cow and its progeny or the beef transported by the seized vehicle shall also be confiscated and seized by the law enforcement officers. The concerned District Magistrate/Commissioner will do all proceedings of the confiscation and release, as the case may be.

(9) The expenditure on the maintenance of the seized cows and its progeny shall be recovered from the accused for a period of one year or till the release of the cow and its progeny in favour of the owner thereof whichever is earlier.

(10) Where a person is prosecuted for committing, abetting, or attempting to an offence under Sections 3, 5 and 8 of this Act and the beef or cow-remains in the possession of accused has been proved by the prosecution and transported things are confirmed to be beef by the competent authority or authorised laboratory, then the Court shall presume that such person has committed such offence or attempt or abetment of such offence, as the case may be, unless the contrary is proved.

(11) Where the provisions of this Act or the related rules in context of search, acquisition, disposal and seizure are silent, the relevant provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 shall be effective thereto."

11. Section 5-A of the Act, 1955, authorizes the law enforcement officers to seize any vehicle by which the beef or cow and its progeny is transported in violation of the provisions of the Act and the rules made thereunder. The District Magistrate/Commissioner of Police is authorised to do all proceedings of confiscation and release, as the case maybe.

12. After hearing the counsel for the parties, it becomes apparent that U.P. Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955 does not provide any forum of appeal or revision against the order of confiscation regarding the seized vehicle passed by the District Magistrate. It is trite law that if any judicial or quasi judicial order is passed against a party, then he must have a forum to vindicate his grievances. A party cannot be left in lurch in case any such order is passed against him. From the perusal of the order passed in Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. 9028 of 2021, it is evident that the said order was passed on 26.4.2024 when no such forum was available for a party to challenge the confiscation order passed by the District Magistrate in U.P. Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955. It appears that the said lacuna which occurred due to oversight of the legislature was rectified later on by issuing a notification dated 15.10.2024.

13. I have also perused the above notification which is reproduced herein below:-

UTTAR PRADESH SHASAN

Grih (Police) Anubhag-9

In pursuance of the provisions of clause (3) of Article 348 of the Constitution of India, the Governor is pleased to order the publication of the following English translation of Notification no. U.O./77/VI-P-9-2024 dated 15 October, 2024.

NOTIFICATION

No. U.O./77 U.O.-VI-P-9-2024
Lucknow: Dated 15 October, 2024

In exercise of the powers under sub-section (5) of section 5-A of the Uttar Pradesh Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955 (U.P. Act no. 1 of 1956) read with section 21 of the Uttar Pradesh General Clauses Act, 1904 (U.P. Act no. 1 of 1904), the Governor is pleased to authorise the Divisional Commissioner to satisfy himself at any time as to the legality or propriety of the action taken under the section 5-A of the Uttar Pradesh Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955 (U.P. Act no. 1 of 1956), call for and examine the record of any case and pass such order thereon as he may deem fit.

The aforesaid power shall be exercised within the limit of the respective districts of the Divisional Commissioners.

It is further Clarified that aforesaid authority Conferred to Division Commissioner may be know as Revisional Jurisdiction.

By Order,
(Rajesh kumar)
Secretary.
Signed by

Rajesh Kumar

Date: 15-10-2024 14:44:39

14. In light of the aforesaid notification, it is very much clear that a criminal revision before Divisional Commissioner alone will lie against the confiscation order passed by the District Magistrate in U.P. Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955. Hence, the criminal revision against the impugned order passed by the District Magistrate, after the said Notification in the court of Sessions Judge, is not maintainable as the applicant has equal and efficacious remedy to ventilate his grievances before Divisional Commissioner concerned. However, this Court is of the view that the above Notification which was issued on 15.10.2024 would not have come to the notice of the applicant and she filed a criminal revision in view of law laid down by the Division Bench of this Court in the case of Mustakeem Begum (supra). But once the order was passed on 26.04.2024 in the case of Mustakeem Begum (supra), the Government has issued Notification on 15.10.2024 and remedy has been provided. Therefore, criminal revision in the Court of District Judge would not lie against the confiscation order passed by the District Magistrate. The proper remedy is to file revision before Divisional Commissioner concerned

15. Therefore I find it appropriate to dispose of this application with a liberty to the applicant to approach the proper forum by filing a revision before Divisional Commissioner concerned within a month from the date of order and if applicant approaches the forum as directed by this Court, the concerned Divisional Commissioner will entertain her revision without going into the question of limitation.

16. If the revision is filed by the applicant before the Divisional Commissioner concerned challenging the order dated 19.10.2024 passed by District Magistrate, Chandauli, within a period prescribed here, the execution of order dated 19.10.2024 passed by the District Magistrate, Chandauli, shall not be given effect to, till final judgment of Revisional Court.

17. With the aforesaid observations, the present application is disposed of.

Adv.for Respondent(s):-

A.G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Chandra Dhari Singh, J.)

1. This Criminal appeal has been filed against the judgement and order dated 25.02.2017 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 3, Mathura in ST No. 24 of 2013, under Section 302, 307 IPC, police station Goverdhan, district Mathura whereby the learned Judge convicted and sentenced the appellant to life imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 5,000/- under Section 302 IPC and in default of payment of fine, the appellant was further directed to undergo additional simple imprisonment of two years. He was further convicted and sentenced to one year simple imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 1000/- under Section 323 IPC and in default of payment of fine, he was to undergo one month's additional imprisonment.

2. However, both the sentences were directed to run concurrently.

Brief Facts

3. In short compass, the facts of the case are that a written report was given by Krishna Das, son of Madhusudan, resident of Barsana, district Barsana, district Mathura (hereinafter referred to as the "first informant") to the Station House Officer, police station Goverdhan that there is a hand pump in the house of his sister Meera. Jagannath, disciple of Anant Das, was filling water from that hand pump, due to which it has become muddy. On the objection of her sister as to why he has got the hand pump muddy, he started abusing her. When Ashok Pal, who was working in the house of Arvind Haldhar, tried to intervene in the matter, accused with an intention to kill, inflicted knife blow on Ashok Pal on his chest. He also assaulted the first informant with an intention to kill, on his hand. After the assault, accused fled away along with his disciple. Ashok Pal was taken to the hospital, where doctor declared him dead. This incident occurred at 10.00 hours on 09.08.2012.

4. On the basis of the aforesaid report, a Chik FIR was registered at Case Crime No. 469 of 2012, under Section 302 and 307 IPC, police station, Goverdhan, which was entered in the GD vide report No. 29 at 11:00 AM.

5. After the registration of the FIR, SI D.L. Pal, who was present at the police station, rushed to the spot and conducted inquest on the body of the deceased and prepared papers relating to postmortem examination. He also handed over the cadaver of the deceased to Constable Pushpal Singh and Constable Asharam for getting postmortem examination done.

6. PW-4, Dr. Sanjeev Gupta, conducted autopsy on the cadaver of the deceased and found the following injuries:

- 1. Incised wound of size 2 cm x 1 cm cavity deep just below the left nipple, oblique ward lower end in 5 cm from the mid line of chest, upper end in 6 cm from the mid line of chest.*
- 2. An incised wound of size 3 cm x 1 cm skin deep 2 cm anterior to left side of chest.*

In the opinion of the doctor, the cause of death was shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante-mortem injuries.

7. Injured Krishna Das was taken to Primary Health Centre by Constable 2192, Tehsildar Singh, where he was examined by PW-7, Dr. Rajendra Singhal, Medical Superintendent, who found the following injuries on the person of injured Krishna Das:

“Incised wound 1 cm x 2 cm x 3 cm deep on left side of hand. ”

In the opinion of the doctor, the injury was simple in nature and was caused by some sharp edged weapon.

8. Investigation of the case was taken up by PW-6, Raghvendra Singh, who was posted as Station House Officer, Goverdan. He inspected the spot and prepared site plan. After the arrest of the accused he recovered knife which was used in the commission of the crime on the pointing out of the accused. He also collected bloodstained clothes of the accused, plain and bloodstained earth and prepared memos thereof. After culmination of investigation, the investigating officer submitted charge sheet against the appellant.

9. As the case was exclusively triable by the Court of Sessions, the learned Magistrate committed the case to the Court of Sessions, where case was registered as ST No. 24 of 2013. Learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 3, Mathura framed the charges against the accused-appellant, which was read over and explained to him.

10. To bring home guilt of the appellant, the prosecution has examined as many as seven witnesses, out of which PW-1, Krishna, PW-2, Meera Dasi, PW-3, Pradeep Das are the witnesses of fact, whereas PW-4, Dr. Sanjeev Gupta, who conducted post-mortem examination on the cadaver of the deceased, PW-5, Satish Chandra, who prepared Chik FIR, PW-6, Raghvendra Singh, the investigating officer of the case and PW-7, Dr. Rajendra Singhal, who examined the injured, are the formal witnesses.

11. After the closure of the prosecution evidence, the statement of the accused was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. who pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

12. Learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 3, Mathura after hearing the learned counsel for the parties and assessing, evaluating and scrutinizing the evidence on record, convicted and sentenced the accused-appellant as indicated herein above.

13. Hence, this appeal.

Submission on behalf of the appellant

14. Learned counsel for appellant-accused at the very outset submits that he restricts his argument only to the extent for conversion of the sentence from Section 302 to Section 304 IPC and submits that keeping in view the injuries received by the deceased-Ashok Pal and the injured Krishna Das, caused by the appellant, the case shall not traverse beyond the purview of Section 304 Part-II IPC.

Submissions on behalf of the State

15. On the other hand, Shri Niraj Kumar Tiwari, learned Additional Government Advocate representing the State submitted that the accused caused injury by knife on the chest of the deceased, which resulted in his death and there was no grave or sudden provocation, the learned Trial Court on appreciation of the entire evidence on record, has rightly convicted and sentenced the appellant. for the offence punishable under Section 302 IPC.

Analysis and conclusion

16. Heard learned counsel for the appellant and learned Additional Government Advocate and gone through the entire evidence of the case.

17. There is no absolute proposition of law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in any of the decisions that in a case of a single blow Section 302 IPC shall not be attracted. Hon'ble Supreme Court in a catena of judgements has held that number of injuries is not the determining factor for ascertaining the intention.

18. For better appreciation of the contention of learned counsel for the appellants, we would like to refer certain pronouncement of Hon'ble Supreme Court on the point in question insofar as the appellant is concerned.

19. In Jagtar Singh Vs. State of Punjab (1983) 2 SCC 342, accused on the spur of moment inflicted a knife blow on the chest of the deceased. The injury proved fatal. The doctor opined that the injury was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. The Apex Court observed that quarrel was of a trivial nature and even in such a trivial quarrel appellant wielded a weapon like a knife and landed a blow on the chest. In these circumstances, it is permissible to infer that the accused at least could be imputed with the knowledge that he was likely to cause an injury which was likely to cause death. The Court altered the conviction of the appellant from Section 302 IPC to Section 304 Part II IPC and sentenced the accused to suffer rigorous imprisonment for five years.

20. In K. Ramakoteswara Rao Vs. State of A.P., 1986 Cr.L.J. 680, a sudden quarrel arose between the accused and the deceased and the deceased threatened the accused with dire consequences. The accused stabbed the deceased with knife. The Court convicted the accused under Section 304 Part-I IPC.

21. In Surinder Kumar Vs. Union Territory, Chandigarh, (1989)2 SCC 217, Hon'ble Apex Court held that if on a sudden quarrel a person in the heat of the moment picks up a weapon which is handy and causes injuries out of which only one proves fatal, he would be entitled to the benefit of the Exception provided he has not acted cruelly. Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the number of wounds caused during the occurrence in such a situation was not the decisive factor. What was important was that the occurrence had taken place on account of a sudden and unpremeditated fight and the offender must have acted in a fit of anger. Dealing with the provision of Exception 4 to Section 300, Hon'ble Supreme Court held thus:

"..... To invoke this exception four requirements must be satisfied, namely, (i) it was a sudden fight; (ii) there was no premeditation; (iii) the act was done in a heat of passion; and (iv) the assailant had not taken any undue advantage or acted in a cruel manner. The cause of the quarrel is not relevant nor is it relevant who offered the provocation or started the assault. The number of wounds caused during the occurrence is not a decisive factor but what is important is that the occurrence must have been sudden and unpremeditated and the offender must have acted in a fit of anger. Of course, the offender must not have taken any undue advantage or acted in a cruel manner. Where, on a sudden quarrel, a person in the heat of the moment picks up a weapon which is handy and causes injuries, one of which proves fatal, he would be entitled to the benefit of this exception provided he has not acted cruelly."

22. In V. Sreedharan Vs. State of Kerala, AIR 1992 SC 754, the accused, as a result of provocation caused in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel, chased the deceased to some distance and then gave the single fatal blow, it was held that the whole incident was a continuous sequence. Hence the conviction of the accused was shifted from Section 302 to Section 304 Part-I IPC.

23. In Bhera Vs. State of Rajasthan, 2000 SCC (Cri) 1230, accused and the deceased quarrelled and while quarrelling the accused in anger suddenly took out the knife and gave knife blow on the chest of the deceased which resulted in his death. The Apex Court set aside the conviction of the appellant under Section 302 IPC, instead convicted him under Section 304 Part II IPC and sentenced him to 5 years imprisonment.

24. In Mochi Raju Vs. State of Gujarat, JT 2001 (10) SC 398, accused appellant and the deceased started fighting and during the quarrel appellant took out the knife from the pocket and gave one blow to the deceased on his chest. The Apex Court while convicting the appellant for an offence under Section 304 Part II, sentenced him to five years rigorous imprisonment.

25. In Sukhbir Singh v. State of Haryana (2002) 3 SCC 327, the appellant caused two Bhala blows on the vital part of the body of the deceased that was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. The High Court held that the appellant had acted in a cruel and unusual manner. Reversing the view taken by the High Court, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that all fatal injuries resulting in death cannot be termed as cruel or unusual for the purposes of Exception 4 of Section 300 IPC. In cases where after the injured had fallen down, the appellant did not inflict any further injury when he was in a helpless position, it may indicate that he had not acted in a cruel or unusual manner. The Court observed:

26. In Sukhbir Singh Vs. State of Haryana, (2002) 3 SCC 327, the appellant caused two Bhala blows on the vital part of the body of the deceased that was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. The High Court held that the appellant had acted in a cruel and unusual manner. Reversing the view taken by the High Court this Court held that all fatal injuries resulting in death cannot be termed as cruel or unusual for the purposes of Exception 4 of Section 300 IPC. In cases where after the injured had fallen down, the appellant did not inflict any further injury when he was in a helpless position, it may indicate that he had not acted in a cruel or unusual manner. The Court observed:

"...All fatal injuries resulting in death cannot be termed as cruel or unusual for the purposes of not availing the benefit of Exception 4 of Section 300 IPC. After the injuries were inflicted and the injured had fallen down, the appellant is not shown to have inflicted any other injury upon his person when he was in a helpless position. It is proved that in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel followed by a fight, the accused who was armed with Bhala caused injuries at random and thus did not act in a cruel or unusual manner.

27. In Shanmugam Vs. State of Tamil Nadu, AIR 2003 SC 200, the accused stabbed the deceased over a petty quarrel with a spear in the abdomen and chest. The victim died after a week of septicaemia. The accused was punished under Part-I of Section 304 IPC.

28. In Ghapoo Yadav Vs. State of M.P. (2003) 3 SCC 528, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that in a heat of passion there must be no time for the passions to cool down and that the parties had in that case before the Court worked themselves into a fury on account of the verbal altercation in the beginning. Apart from the incident being the result of a sudden quarrel without premeditation, the law requires that the offender should not have taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner to be able to claim the benefit of Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC. Whether or not the fight was sudden, was declared by the Court to be decided in the facts and circumstances of each case."

29. In Pulicherla Nagaraju @ Nagaraja Reddy v. State of Andhra Pradesh (2006) 11 SCC 444, the Hon'ble Court held thus:

"Therefore, the court should proceed to decide the pivotal question of intention, with care and caution, as that will decide whether the case falls under Section 302 or 304 Part I or 304 Part II. Many petty or insignificant matters - plucking of a fruit, straying of a cattle, quarrel of children, utterance of a rude word or even an objectionable glance, may lead to altercations and group clashes culminating in deaths. Usual motives like revenge, greed, jealousy or suspicion may be totally absent in such cases. There may be no intention. There may be no pre-meditation. In fact, there may not even be criminality. "

30. In Sudhakar Vs. State of U.P., (2012)8 SC 289, Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"Going by the narration of the facts disclosed, there was nothing to suggest that there was any premeditation in the mind of the appellant to cause the death of the deceased. Taking into account the statement of P.W.1 that the deceased was under the influence of liquor and that whenever he was under the influence of liquor he used to throw the household articles and create a ruckus in the house was a factor which created a heat of passion in the appellant who as a father was not in a position to tolerate the behaviour of his son whose misbehaviour under the influence of liquor was the torment. Therefore, unmindful of the consequences, though not in a cruel manner the appellant inflicted a single blow which unfortunately caused severe damage to the vital organs resulting into the death of the deceased. In such circumstances, as rightly contended by learned counsel for the appellant, we are convinced that the offence alleged and as found proved against the appellant can be brought under the First Part of Section 304 of IPC. Accordingly, while affirming the conviction of the appellant, we are only altering the same as falling under Section 304 Part I of IPC in place of Section 302 of IPC. As far as the sentence imposed on the appellant in as much as we reached at the conclusion that the conviction should fall under Section 304 Part I of IPC, taking note of the sentence already undergone, we find from the Imprisonment Certificate that the appellant is in jail from 12.07.2004 and he is 60 year old, P.W.1, who is the wife of the appellant, is left all alone and the appellant having suffered imprisonment for more than eight years, we hold that the sentence already undergone would be sufficient punishment apart from the fine imposed with the default sentence as per the judgment of the Trial Court and as affirmed by the High Court. The appeal stands partly allowed with the above modifications of the charge and the sentence imposed on the appellant."

31. In the light of the above pronouncements of Hon'ble Apex Court, we shall now proceed to consider whether case against the accused-appellants falls within the ambit of Section 302 IPC or Section 304 IPC.

32. PW-1, who is the first informant of the case, in his deposition, has stated that along with the accused, his disciple was also with him, whom he recognizes, but does not know his name. He further stated that his sister did not try to save him. There was no hand pump in the locality. This witness has further stated that he received injuries while saving the deceased. From the perusal of the statement of PW-1, Krishna, who is the first informant and injured in this case, it appears that accused-appellant had tried to inflict him knife blow, which missed and hit the deceased on his chest resulting in his death. The blow was not aimed at vital part of the body. Further, from the perusal of the first information report as well as the deposition of the witnesses, it is clear that the incident has occurred over a very trivial issue of filling of water from the hand pump and getting the hand pump muddy. There was no premeditation and act was done in a heat of passion. Further none of the witnesses, in their deposition have stated that accused-appellant after the injured had fallen down, had inflicted any further injury when the victim was in a helpless position, which is indicative of the fact that accused had not acted in a cruel or unusual manner. PW-1, Krishna, who is the first informant of the case has also mentioned in the FIR, that Ashok was working in the house of Haldhar, who himself came to the spot and became a party to the dispute. PW-2, Smt Meera Dasi, in her deposition has even went on to state that accused has come to the village a week ago and living in a rented house. Moreover, in the statements of witnesses, there is no whisper of any previous enmity of the deceased with the appellant.

33. The cumulative effect of all these circumstances, in our opinion, should entitle the appellants to the benefit of Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC.

34. In view of the aforesaid legal proposition enunciated by Hon'ble Supreme Court and looking at the nature of injuries sustained by the deceased and the injured person and the circumstances as enumerated above, the conclusion is irresistible that the death was caused by the acts of the accused-appellant done with the intention of causing such bodily injury as would likely to cause death and, therefore, the offence would squarely come within the ambit of Section 304 part-I IPC, instead of Section 302 IPC.

35. In view of the above conspectus, the conviction of the appellant Jagannath under Section 302 IPC cannot be sustained. This Court is reluctant in endorsing the life imprisonment. Accordingly, the conviction of the appellant under Section 302 IPC is set aside, instead, he is convicted under Section 304 Part-I IPC and sentenced to rigorous imprisonment of eight years. Conviction of the appellant under Section 323 IPC is affirmed. Appellant is stated to be in jail since 10.08.2012. He shall be released forthwith unless wanted in any other case provided he has completed the modified sentence of eight year.

36. Resultantly, the appeal is partly allowed with the aforesaid modification in the impugned judgement and order dated 25.02.2016 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 03, Mathura.

37. Office is directed to transmit the lower court record along with a copy of this order to the court concerned for compliance.

Issue for consideration

The case originated from an incident on 09.07.1982 involving a dispute over the placement of bricks and stones that hindered construction work.

Headnotes

Indian Penal Code,1860-Sections 302/34-Criminal Procedure Code,1973-Section 374(2)-Murder-Common intention-Exhortation-Dispute over shifting of bricks and stones-Allegation that appellant exhorted principal accused to shoot deceased-Principal accused fired from roof and later chased victim to deliver fatal shot-Abatement of appeal regarding co-accused due to death-Discrepancy between PW-1(Informant) and PW-3(Witness)-Possibility of false implication-Witness named in FIR filed an affidavit denying presence at the scene of occurrence-Prosecution failed to prove guilt beyond reasonable doubt-Conviction and life sentence set aside-Appeal allowed.(Para 28 to 39) (E-6)

Held

The court held that there is quite often a tendency to implicate some person in addition to the actual assailant, by attributing to that person an exhortation to the assailant to assault the victim. Unless the evidence in this respect be clear, cogent and reliable, no conviction for abetment can be recorded against the person alleged to have exhorted the actual assailant. The evidence adduced at the trial in respect of the part alleged to have been played by the appellant is contradictory and far from convincing.

1. This criminal appeal has been filed by the appellants namely Madho alias Mewa Lal and Ram Deo against the judgement and order dated 10.02.1987 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Gyanpur, Varanasi in Sessions Trial No. 6 of 1983, whereby the learned Judge convicted and sentenced the appellants Mithai Lal to life imprisonment under Section 302 IPC. Accused Ramdeo and Madho alias Mewa Lal were convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for life under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC.

2. Accused Mithai Lal has not filed criminal appeal against his conviction.

3. Since appeallant-Ramdeo has died, the appeal filed on his behalf abated vide order dated 19.11.2025.

4. Now, this Court is deciding the appeal filed on behalf of Madho alias Mewa Lal.

5. The facts that formed the bedrock of the present criminal appeal, in short compass, are that a written report was handed over by the first informant Panna Lal Yadav to the Station House Officer, police station Bhadohi that Tipkari (filling the gap between bricks by cement) of his house was to be done. The bricks and stones (Patiya) of Madho alias Mewa Lal were kept besides the eastern wall of the informant, which causes hindrance in the work. The informant asked Mewa Lal and his father Ramdeo to shift the brick and stones (Patiya) to another place, whereupon they started abusing him. In the meantime, Kanhaiya Lal reached there and asked them to refrain from abusing. At this Juncture Madho Lal and Ramdeo exhorted for the killing of Kanhaiya Lal, whereupon Mithai Lal had fired at Kanhaiya Lal from his licensed gun from his roof. The FIR further alleges that on hearing the sound of fire, Raja Ram, first informant's mother, his brother and sister-in-law and several persons of the vicinity rushed to the spot. The accused-Mithai Lal again fired at Kanhaiya Lal, because of which, he became injured and tried to hide below the staircase of the house of Ram Saran. Thereafter accused Madho Lal and Ramdeo again exhorted to eliminate Kanhaiya. Thereupon, accused Mithai Lal jumped from his roof to the roof of Ram Saran, went down the stairs and again fired at the injured Kanhaiya Lal, who was hiding himself below the stairs of Ram Saran. The injured Kanhaiya (hereinafter referred to as 'the deceased') fell down and succumbed to the injuries at the spot. On being challenged by the witnesses and others, the accused fled away extending threats.

6. On the basis of the aforesaid report, a Chik FIR No. 89 was written by Head Moharrir Tej Narain Singh for the offence punishable under Section 302/34 IPC, which was marked as Ext. Ka-3.

7. After the registration of the first information report, PW-6, Station House Officer Raj Narain Tiwari started investigation of the case. He reached the place of occurrence and recorded the statement of the first informant and got the inquest on the body of the deceased conducted, Ext. Ka-5. Thereafter, he got the dead body sealed and sent it for postmortem examination through Constables Suresh Chandra Tiwari and Rameshwar Ram. He also prepared required documents and inspected the spot and prepared site plan. On the information of the informer, he arrested the accused Mithai Lal and Ramdeo. From the possession of the accused Mithai Lal, one double barrel gun No. 22531 A-9, which was built in Indian Head Factor was recovered. In the gun, cartridges were loaded. After removal, it was noticed that on the cartridge B.P. was written. Three live cartridges were also recovered and memo was prepared and was signed by the witnesses Prem Shanker Dubey and Vansh Narain Singh. After the recovery of fire arm and cartridges, a case was also registered against the accused Mithai Lal (who is not before us) under Section 25/27 of the Arms Act. He also collected plain and bloodstained earth and made memos thereof.

8. After culmination of investigation, the charge sheet was submitted against the accused by PW-6 Raj Narain Tiwari.

9. Charge sheet under Section 25/27 of the Arms Act was filed by SI Kawal Nath Singh.

10. As the case was exclusively triable by the Court of Sessions, learned Magistrate vide order dated 23.12.1982 committed the case to the Court of Sessions, where case was registered as ST No 6 of 1983 against all the accused persons and ST No. 7 of 1983 against accused Mithai Lal. Learned Additional Sessions Judge, Gyanpur, Varanasi framed the charges against the accused persons vide order dated 04.6.1983, which were read over and explained to the accused in Hindi, who pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

11. To bring home guilt of the appellant beyond the hilt, the prosecution has examined as many as six witnesses, out of whom PW-1, Panna Lal was the first informant and eyewitness of the case, PW-2 Nand Lal was also eye-witness of the case, PW-3 was the witness of arrest of accused Mithai Lal Yadav and Ramdeo as well as recovery of firearm and other articles from their possession. PW-4, Constable Parmeshwar Ram took the dead body for postmortem examination, PW-5, Dr. R.S. Shukla, conducted autopsy on the cadaver of the deceased, PW-6, SHO, Raj Narain Tiwari is the investigating officer of the case.

12. PW-1, Panna Lal, who is the first informant of the case, in his deposition has more or less reiterated the versions given in the first information report.

13. PW-2, Nand Lal in his examination-in-chief has stated that on the date of occurrence at about 8:00 AM, when he has having breakfast in his house, on hearing the noise, when he came out of the house, he saw that accused Ramdeo and Madho alias Mewa Lal were exhorting to kill and on their exhortation, Mithai Lal fired from the roof, which hit the deceased on his hand. On being injured, he ran towards the staircase of Bade Lal. Thereafter accused Madho Lal and Ramdeo again exhorted to eliminate Kanhaiya. Thereupon, accused Mithai Lal jumped from his roof to the roof of Bade Lal, went down the staircase and again fired at the injured Kanhaiya Lal, who was hiding himself below the staircase of Bade Lal. Mithai Lal was having a licesed gun, from which he made fire, due to which deceased died. On being challenged, accused fled away towards east extending threats.

14. PW-3, Prem Shanker Dubey is the witness of arrest of Mithai Lal and Ramdeo. He is also the witness of recovery of weapon of assault.

15. PW-4, Constable Parmeshwar Ram, in his examination-in-chief deposed that on 09.07.1982, he was posted as Constable at police station Bhadohi. On that date, he took the dead body of Kanhaiya Lal for postmortem examination along with Constable Suresh Chandra Tiwari in a sealed condition.

16. PW-5, Dr. R.S. Shukla, in his examination-in-chief deposed that on 07.09.1982, he was posted at Government Hospital Maharaja Chet Singh at Gyanpur. He found the following antemortem injuries on the person of the deceased"

1. Bullet entry wound 2 cm x 2 cm on the back of the neck. Several irregular bullet fragments were present around the wound. The edges of the wound showed entry marks. Each mark was approximately 0.2 cm in diameter. The wound edges were inverted. There was blackening around the wound.

2. Bullet exit wound 4 cm x 3 cm on the lower left side of the chest, 10 cm below the nipple. Omentum was protruding from the wound. The wound edges were everted.

3. Lacerated wound: 2 cm x 1 cm x bone depth. There was blackening around the injury on the back of the right index finger.

4. A lacerated wound 2 cm. x 1 cm. deep on the back of the right middle finger. There was blackening around the injury.

5. An abrasion 6 cm. x 2 cm. on the front of the right foot above the ankle joint.

17. PW-6, SHO Raj Narain Tiwari was the investigating office of the case. His evidence has already been discussed above.

18. After the closure of prosecution evidence, the statements of the accused were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., who denied the charges leveled against them. Accused-Mithai Lal further stated that on the date of occurrence, when he was sitting on his door, Kanhaiya and others came there and asked for removing the stones, which were lying alongside his wall. When he asked them that he will shift the stones after sometimes, Kanhaiya and others started abusing and throwing bricks and stones. When he tried to specify them, they started beating him. On the exhortation of Panna Lal, Kanhaiya brought country made pistol from his house and fired at him, which missed and hit the wall. Thereafter he ran to save himself shouting for help (Bachao bachao). However, he was surrounded by Panna Lal, who was armed with lathi and Kanhaiya, who was armed with country made pistol and when Kanhaiya Lal pointed pistol towards him, his father (Ramdeo) fired at Kanhaiya from the roof of Bade Lal.

19. Dr. R.S. Shukla was examined in this case as DW-1. In his deposition, he has stated that on 15.07.1982, he was posted as Surgeon at Maharaja Chet Singh. He was also Medical Officer of the Gyanpur Jail. On that date at 07:15 PM on 15.07.1982, he has examined Ramdeo and found the following injuries:

- 1. Lacerated wound 4 cm x 1.5 cm x skin deep on the back of the head, 9 cm above the ear. The wound was healing and infected.*
- 2. Bluish mark on the nail.*
- 3. Abrasion 2 cm x 1 cm on the back of the left elbow. There was a black scab over the injury.*

At the time of examination, the injuries were approximately 6 days old.

20. He also examined Mithai Lal, son of Ramdeo at 09:20 PM on 15.07.1982 and found the following injuries on his person:

- 1. Abrasion 2 cm x 1 cm on the posterior aspect of the right elbow. A hard, dark scab was present over the wound. The wound was healing from the edges.*
- 2. Abrasion 1 cm x 0.5 cm on the right palm near the wrist joint. A hard scab was present over the wound.*
- 3. Bruise 2 cm x 1 cm on the left hand. The bruise was greenish in colour. There was swelling around the bruise, approximately 4 cm x 4 cm in size. Tenderness was present.*

21. Learned Additional Sessions Judge, Gyanpur at Bhadohi after hearing the learned counsel for the parties and assessing, evaluating and scrutinizing the evidence on record, convicted and sentenced the accused-appellant as indicated herein above.

22. Hence, this appeal.

Submissions on behalf of the appellant

23. It is contended by the learned counsel for the appellant that there are material contradictions in the statement of PW-1, who is the first informant and eye-witness of the case and PW-3, who is the witness of arrest of Ramdeo and also witness of recovery.

24. It is also pointed out by the learned counsel for the appellant that the co-accused Ramdeo has not been arrested from the place as alleged by the witnesses, which makes the entire prosecution story doubtful. The Trial Court has convicted and sentenced the appellant only on the basis of conjecture and surmises without there being no evidence.

Submissions on behalf of the State

25. On the other hand, Shri S.K. Ojha, learned Additional Government Advocate submits that there are no major contradictions in the statement of the witnesses and that the trial court has convicted the appellant after evaluating the evidence on record.

26. Learned Additional Government Advocate further submits that the prosecution has successfully proved its case beyond reasonable doubt.

27. Heard Shri Mahendra Pratap, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Anurag Yadav, learned counsel for the appellant and Shri S.K. Ojha, learned Additional Government Advocate-Ist, representing the State and gone through the record of the case.

Analysis and Conclusions

28. The allegations against the appellant-Madho alias Mewa Lal was that he along with Ramdeo exhorted Mithai Lal to eliminate Kanhaiya and thereby Mithai Lal fired at Kanhaiya from his licensed gun from the roof of his house. On hearing the sound of fire family members of the deceased and several persons of the vicinity rushed to the spot. The accused-Mithai Lal again fired at Kanhaiya Lal, because of which, he became injured and tried to hide below the staircase of the house of Ram Saran. Thereafter accused Madho Lal and Ramdeo again exhorted to eliminate Kanhaiya. Thereupon, accused Mithai Lal jumped from his roof to the roof of Ram Saran, went down the staircase and again fired the injured Kanhaiya Lal, who was hiding himself below the staircase of Ram Saran. The injured Kanhaiya fell down and succumbed to the injuries at the spot.

29. Now coming to the contention of learned counsel for the appellant that there was contradictions in the statements of the witnesses. Before appreciating the point that there are material contradictions in the statements of the witnesses, it would be useful to refer certain pronouncements of Hon'ble Supreme Court:

30. In State represented by Inspector of Police Vs. Saravanam and another, , Hon'ble Supreme held that while appreciating the evidence, the court has to take into consideration whether the contradictions/omissions had been of such magnitude that they may materially affect the trial. Minor contradictions, inconsistencies, embellishments or improvements on trivial matters without effecting the core of the prosecution case should not be made a ground to reject the evidence in its entirety. The Trial Court, after going through the entire evidence, must form an opinion about the credibility of the witnesses and the appellate Court in normal course would not be justified in reviewing the same again without justifiable reasons.

31. In State of Rajasthan Vs. Rajendra Singh, (2009) 11 SCC 106 held as under:

“Where the omission(s) amount to a contradiction, creating a serious doubt about the truthfulness of a witness and other witness also make material improvements before the court in order to make the evidence acceptable, it cannot be safe to rely upon such evidence.”

32. In Mahendra Pratap Singh Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2009) 11 SCC 334 held as under:

“The discrepancies in the evidence of eye-witnesses, if found to be not minor in nature, may be a ground for disbelieving and discrediting their evidence. In such circumstances, witnesses may not inspire confidence and if their evidence is found to be in conflict and contradiction with other evidence or with the statement already recorded, in such a case it cannot be held that prosecution proved its case beyond reasonable doubt.”

33. In the light of the aforesaid observations of Hon'ble Supreme Court, we will now consider whether the contradictions/omissions had been of such magnitude that they may have materially affected the trial.

34. PW-1- Panna Lal, who is the first informant of the case, in his cross-examination, which was recorded on 26.04.1984, has specifically stated that on hearing the sound of fire, Raja Ram, son of Phoola Yadav, first informant's mother, his brother and sister-in-law and several persons of the vicinity rushed to the spot. Further PW-2, Nand Lal, in his cross examination, which was recorded on 03.07.1985 deposed that after the death of the deceased, he along with Raja Ram brought the deceased downstairs. However, Raja Ram has filed an affidavit before the Additional Sessions Judge, Gyanpur denying his presence at the scene of occurrence. He further stated that he came to know that he has been made witness in this case when he received the notice, but the facts are that that he has neither witnessed the occurrence nor brought the deceased downstairs.

35. Further PW-1, Panna Lal, in his cross-examination, which was recorded on 26.04.1985 deposed that the persons present at the place of occurrence as well as witnesses apprehended the accused Ramdeo at the spot. “रामदेव वही घाटना स्थल पर ही पकड़ लिया गया। माधव भाग गया। In this case PW-3, Prem Shanker Dubey has been examined as witness of arrest of Mithai Lal Yadav and Ramdeo. In his examination-in-chief, which was recorded on 01.11.1085, he deposed that about 3-3-1/2 months ago when he was sitting on the Roadways Bus Station, SHO Raj Narain Tiwari along with three police personnel came there and enquired about the accused. Thereafter, SHO took him along with him and on Umri-Piyari road two persons were seen and on noticing the police party, they started running. They were chased and apprehended by the police near the Mazar of Ghazi Miya. On interrogation they disclosed their names as Mithai Lal and Ramdeo. Weapon of assault along with cartridges were also recovered from Mithai Lal. The aforesaid statement of PW-3, Prem Shanker Dubey belies the deposition of PW-1, Panna Lal, the first informant of the case that accused-Ramdeo was apprehended by the witnesses at the spot.

36. From the above deposition of the first informant, PW-1, Panna Lal and PW-3, Prem Shankar Dubey, false implication of the accused-appellant cannot be ruled out. Further the appellant has only been convicted with the aid of Section 34 IPC and the role assigned to the appellant was only of exhortation, which is a weak type of evidence as held by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Jainul Haque Vs. State of Bihar, AIR 1974 SC 45, in which Hon'ble Supreme Court observed as under:

“The evidence of exhortation is, in the very nature of thing, as weak piece of evidence. There is quite often a tendency to implicate some person in addition to the actual assailant, by attributing to that person an exhortation to the assailant to assault the victim. Unless the evidence in this respect be clear, cogent and reliable, no conviction for abetment can be recorded against the person alleged to have exhorted the actual assailant. The evidence adduced at the trial in respect of the part alleged to have been played by the appellant is contradictory and far from convincing. We would, therefore, accept the appeal, set aside the conviction of the appellant and acquit him.

37. In view of of the above, this Court is of the view that the evidence produced by the prosecution has neither quality nor credibility and it would be unsafe to rest conviction upon such evidence. After having considered the matter thoughtfully, we find that the evidence on record in this case is not sufficient to bring home guilt of the appellant under Section 302/34 IPC beyond reasonable doubt.

38. Accordingly, the order dated 10.02.1987 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Gyanpur, Varanasi in Sessions Trial No. 6 of 1983, convicting and sentencing the appellant under Section 302/34 is set aside.

39. Consequently, the appeal is allowed.

40. The appellant Madhav alias Mewa Lal is on bail. His bail bond is cancelled and sureties are discharged.

41. Office is directed to transmit a copy of this order along with trial court record to the court concerned for compliance and compliance report be submitted to this Court within two months.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Chandra Dhari Singh, J.)

1. The instant Criminal Appeal has been sent from jail by the accused-appellant, Naresh Chaudhary against a judgment dated 27.07.2015 and order dated 30.07.2015 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 2, Ghaziabad in Sessions Trial No. 1999 of 2009 arising out of Case Crime No. 971 of 2009, under Section 302 I.P.C., Police Station Vijaynagar, district Ghaziabad, whereby the learned Judge convicted and sentenced the appellant to imprisonment for life and a fine of Rs. 25,000/- and in default of payment of fine, the appellant was further directed to undergo imprisonment of two years.

Brief Facts

2. In nutshell, the case of the prosecution as set up in the first information report is that a written report was filed by Preeti Chaudhary, daughter of Naresh Chaudhary, resident of Lane No. 1, 36/4 Krishna Nagar Bagu, Ghaziabad that in the night intervening 2/3.09.2009 her mother-Meera Chaudhary (herein after referred to as "the deceased") has been strangled to death by her father-Naresh Chaudhary (hereinafter referred to as "the accused-appellant") by Lungi. It is mentioned in the report that at about 9:30 PM, when her mother came to house after finishing her duties, an altercation took place between the deceased and the accused-appellant. Thereafter, the deceased cooked food and after having dinner, she went to the roof for sleeping, whereas the accused-appellant stayed with the children at downstairs. The F.I.R. further alleged that when the informant suddenly woke up in the midnight, she found the accused-appellant missing. She thought that he (accused-appellant) went to upstairs, where deceased was sleeping. The F.I.R. further alleges that in the next morning, when her brother, namely, Amit went to the roof in search of her mother (deceased), he saw that the deceased was lying dead. On an alarm being raised by her brother, she went upstairs and saw that her mother (deceased) was strangled to death by the same Lungi, which was worn by her father last night. She also saw that some bangles and mangalsutra of her mother were also broken and scattered.

3. On the basis of the aforesaid report, the First Information Report was lodged at Case Crime No. 971 of 2009, under Section 302 I.P.C., Police Station Vijay Nagar, District Ghaziabad, which was marked as Ext. Ka-5.

4. After registration of the aforesaid case, the law set into motion and investigation of the case was entrusted to S.I. Dalchand Tiwari, PW-7, who copied the F.I.R. and GD in the case diary and recorded the statement of the first informant. He also inspected the spot along with the first informant and collected Lungi, broken bangles, one hair clip and prepared recovery memo thereof, which was marked as Ext.Ka-5. He also recorded the statement of Chik writer of the F.I.R. Constable Rameshwar Tyagi, PW-6 and made a search of the accused-appellant. On 09.09.2009, he recorded the statement of the accused in Kutchery, who confessed to his crime. He also copied the post-mortem report in the case diary, recorded the statement of the first informant and witnesses of inquest. He also recorded the statement of Ankit Chaudhary. He also prepared site plan, which was marked as Ext.Ka-6. Thereafter, this witness has been transferred and investigation of the case was entrusted to Station House Officer Sudhir Kumar Tyagi, PW-8.

5. S.O. Sudhir Kumar Tyagi, PW-8, in his examination-in-chief, which was recorded on 06.11.2012, deposed that on 02.10.2009, he was entrusted the investigation of pending case crime No. 971 of 2009, under Section 302 I.P.C. On 09.10.2009, he started the investigation and recorded the statement of brothers of the deceased, namely, Virendra Kumar and Vinod Kumar. On 13.10.2009, he recorded the statement of Dr. Rajpal Singh, who conducted post-mortem examination on the cadaver of the deceased. After culmination of investigation, he submitted charge sheet No. 996 of 2009, dated 13.10.2009 against the appellant under Section 302 I.P.C., which has been marked as Ext.Ka-7.

6. As the case was exclusively triable by the Court of Sessions, the learned Magistrate committed the case to the Court of Sessions, where case was registered as ST No. 1999 of 2009. Learned Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No. 8, Ghaziabad framed the charges against the accused under Section 302 I.P.C., which was read over and explained to the accused, who pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

7. To bring home guilt of the appellant beyond the hilt, the prosecution has examined as many as nine witnesses, out of whom PW-1 Hari Om Gautam, PW-2 Kumari Preeti Chaudhary and PW-4 Amit are witnesses of facts, whereas, PW-5 Vinod Kumar is the witness of inquest. Remaining witnesses namely PW-3 Dr. Raj Pal Singh, PW-6 Constable Rameshwar Tyagi, PW-7 S.I. Dalchand Tiwari, PW-8 S.H.O. Sudhir Kumar Tyagi and PW-9 S.I. Rajendra Kumar Verma are formal one.

8. After the closure of prosecution evidence, the statement of the accused-Naresh Chaudhary has been recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., who denied the charges levelled against him. However, he produced two witnesses in his defence namely DW-1 Smt. Kanti Devi and DW-2 Jagveer Singh.

9. DW-1, Smt Kanti Devi deposed that the relation between the accused and the deceased was very much cordial. Whenever she visited their house, they used to discuss the family affairs with her. About four years ago, she received an information from the house of Naresh that Smt. Meera, the deceased, who was sleeping over the roof, has been killed by some unknown person. When she went to the house of Naresh, she was told that the dead body has been taken away to Hathras, the maternal house of the deceased. Children of the deceased told her that the deceased was strangled to death by some unknown person.

10. DW-2, Jagveer Singh deposed that he is employed in Gurugram Haripal from where he used to visit to his cousin-the appellant. On 01.09.2009, he visited the house of the accused and the deceased and stayed there in the night. He never seen any quarrel between them. Both accused and the deceased were happy with their children. On 03.09.2009, he received an information that Meera, the deceased has been done to death by some unknown person while sleeping over the roof.

11. Learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. Ghaziabad after hearing the learned counsel for the parties and assessing, evaluating and scrutinizing the evidence on record, convicted and sentenced the accused-appellant as indicated herein above.

12. Hence, this appeal.

Submissions of learned counsel for the appellant

13. Mr. Dharmendra Kumar Chaubey, learned counsel appearing on behalf of accused-appellant vehemently submitted that the entire prosecution case is based upon circumstantial evidence and there is no eye-witness in this case. It is next submitted that after plain reading of deposition of Hariom Gautam (PW-1); Km. Preeti Chaudhary (PW-2) and Amit (PW-4), there are several contradictions in their statement. Learned counsel for the appellant, while reading the deposition of Hariom Gautam (PW-1), pointed out that in examination-in-chief of PW-1, it is stated that he had informed the police about the death of the deceased, whereas he, in his cross-examination, has stated that his neighbours had informed the police about the incident. It is further stated that Km. Preeti Chaudhary (PW-2) in her examination-in-chief as well as cross-examination has also not established the motive behind the incident. As per the deposition of PW-2, a quarrel took place between the deceased and accused-appellant due to a reason that the accused-appellant had taken money from the groom's side as her marriage was fixed in their family, therefore, her mother (deceased) was upset from the aforesaid conduct of the accused-appellant. It is also vehemently submitted that Amit (PW-4), in his examination-in-chief, has given some other reason to establish the motive behind the murder of the deceased. PW-4, in his deposition, has stated that as the accused-appellant did not want his wife (deceased) to work in Sahara and due to that reason, they regularly quarrel with each other.

14. Learned counsel appearing on behalf of the accused-appellant next contended that after reading the depositions of all the aforesaid three prosecution witnesses of the facts, motive to the accused-appellant has not been assigned by any of them which supports the prosecution story that the accused-appellant had committed the murder of the deceased. In support of his submission, he has also referred the depositions of Smt. Kanti Devi (DW-1) & Jagveer Singh (DW-2) and submitted that Km. Preeti Chaudhary (PW-2) had informed them that someone else had committed the murder of the deceased by entering into the house from the stairs which can be accessed from outside.

15. Learned counsel for the appellant has also placed reliance upon the site plan (Ext.Ka.6) and submitted that there are stairs from the outside of the house, by which anyone can easily access into the house, therefore, there is high chance that someone else might have committed the murder of the deceased.

16. Learned counsel for the appellant next submitted that the entire case of the prosecution is based upon circumstantial evidence. After perusing the entire evidence on record, the prosecution has miserably failed to complete the chain of circumstantial evidence. The trial court, while passing the impugned judgment and order, had mechanically appreciated the evidence and convicted the accused-appellant for the offence punishable under Section 302 I.P.C. without appreciating all the contradictions, as pointed above.

17. Learned counsel for the appellant next submitted that if the case of the prosecution is based upon the circumstantial evidence, the entire chain of circumstantial evidence must be completed and if the chain breaks, in any manner, the benefit of doubt will go to the accused. In support of this submission, he has placed reliance upon the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Sharad Birdhichand Sarda vs. State of Maharashtra, (1984) 4 SCC 116.

18. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant lastly submitted that in view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances and law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court, the prosecution has miserably failed to make out any case against the accused-appellant, therefore, the instant criminal appeal may be allowed by setting aside the order of the trial court.

Submissions of learned counsel for the A.G.A.

19. Mr. S.K. Ojha, learned Additional Government Advocate, appearing on behalf of the State vehemently opposed the instant criminal appeal and submitted that the learned trial court, while convicting and sentencing the appellant for the offence punishable under Section 302 I.P.C., has not committed any error or illegality. The learned trial court after considering the deposition of the ocular evidences and other documentary evidences, reached on a conclusion that there are no major contradictions in the statement of the prosecution witnesses. It is further submitted that the ocular evidences and the documentary evidences support each other. It is further submitted that at the time of incident, accused-appellant was in the house and after having dinner, he went downstairs whereas the deceased went to upstairs to sleep. Km. Preeti Chaudhary (PW-2), in her deposition, has categorically deposed that when she awake in the mid-night, she did not find her father, however in the morning, when her brother had raised an alarm, she reached upstairs and saw that her mother was strangled by the same lungi, which was worn by her father last night.

20. It is also submitted by learned A.G.A. that the stairs, which was shown in the site-plan (Ext.Ka.6) to reach at the first floor of the house, was situated from outside of the house and there is a separate entry for the landlord, who lives at the ground floor of the house. However, there were no stairs from the outside of the house to reach to the roof of the house, where the deceased was murdered.

21. Learned A.G.A. next submits that there is no force in the argument of learned counsel for the appellant that some outsider might have committed the murder of the deceased by accessing the outside stairs. It is also submitted that the lungi which was worn by the accused-appellant by which the deceased was strangled, there is no suggestion available on record not even in the statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. of the accused-appellant that how the same lungi which was worn by him in the night, the deceased was strangled. It is also submitted that it is an admitted fact that the accused-appellant was present at the night and fled away from the house after committing the murder of his own wife and surrendered before the Court on 09.09.2009, after six days of the alleged incident.

22. Learned counsel appearing on behalf of State further submitted that the trial court while passing the judgment has also noted that there are minor contradictions in the statement of the prosecution witnesses, but it has also given the explanation for that reason as the witnesses were examined after a gap of more than 2-1/2 years from the date of occurrence. Accordingly, such kind of minor contradictions, which have been pointed out by the learned counsel for the appellant, cannot be fatal to the prosecution story to be disbelieved. Learned A.G.A. further submitted that after taking into consideration the ocular evidence and documentary evidence, the prosecution has successfully completed the entire chain of circumstantial evidence. There is no illegality in the impugned order, the instant appeal is devoid of merit, and deserves to be dismissed.

Analysis and Conclusion

23. Heard Mr. Dharmendra Kumar Chaubey, learned counsel for the accused-appellant and Mr. S.K. Ojha, learned Additional Government Advocate appearing on behalf of the State of U.P.

24. The case of the prosecution is entirely based on the circumstantial evidence. In a case based on circumstantial evidence, settled law is that the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is drawn should be fully proved and such circumstances must be conclusive in nature. Moreover, all the circumstances should be complete forming a chain and there should be no gap left in the chain of evidence. Further the proved circumstances must be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused totally in consistent with his evidence. It has been consistently laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court that where a case rests on circumstantial evidence, the inference of the guilt can be justified only when all the incriminating facts and circumstances are found to be in compatible with the innocence of the accused or guilt of any other person.

25. In Sharad Birdhichand Sarda Vs. State of Maharashtra, Supra, (relied upon by the learned counsel for the appellant), the Hon'ble Apex Court has framed five golden principles for the circumstantial evidence, which are as under:

(i) The circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established.

(ii) The facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty.

(iii) The circumstances should be of conclusive nature and tendency

(iv) They should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved and,

(v) There must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused.

26. In State of U.P. Vs. Ashok Kumar Srivastava, (1992) 2 SCC 86., it was pointed out that great care must be taken in evaluating circumstantial evidence and if the evidence relied on is reasonably capable of two inferences, the one in the favour of the accused must be accepted. It was also pointed out that the circumstances relied upon must be found to have fully established and cumulative effect of all the facts so established must be consistent only with the hypothesis of guilt.

27. In the case of Padala Veera Reddy v. State of A.P., 1989 Supp (2) SCC 706, Hon'ble Apex Court opined as under:

"10. Before advertng to the arguments advanced by the learned Counsel, we shall at the threshold point out that in the present case there is no direct evidence to connect the accused with the offence in question and the prosecution rests its case solely on circumstantial evidence. This Court in a series of decisions has consistently held that when a case rests upon circumstantial evidence such evidence must satisfy the following tests:

(1) the circumstances from which an inference of guilt is sought to be drawn, must be cogently and firmly established;

(2) those circumstances should be of a definite tendency unerringly pointing towards guilt of the accused;

(3) the circumstances, taken cumulatively, should form a chain so complete that there is no escape from the conclusion that within all human probability the crime was committed by the accused and none else; and (4) the circumstantial evidence in order to sustain conviction must be complete and incapable of explanation of any other hypothesis than that of the guilt of the accused and such evidence should not only be consistent with the guilt of the accused but should be inconsistent with his innocence. (See Gambhir v. State of Maharashtra, (1982) 2 SCC 351)"

28. In the case of C. Chenga Reddy & Ors. v. State of A.P., (1996) 10 SCC 193, Hon'ble Apex Court while considering a case of conviction based on the circumstantial evidence, held as under:

"21. In a case based on circumstantial evidence, the settled law is that the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is drawn should be fully proved and such circumstances must be conclusive in nature. Moreover, all the circumstances should be complete and there should be no gap left in the chain of evidence. Further, the proved circumstances must be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused and totally inconsistent with his innocence. In the present case the courts below have overlooked these settled principles and allowed suspicion to take the place of proof besides relying upon some inadmissible evidence."

29. In the case of State of Goa v. Pandurang Mohite, (2008) 16 SCC 714, Hon'ble Apex Court reiterated the settled law that where a conviction rests squarely on circumstantial evidence, the inference of guilt can be justified only when all the incriminating facts and circumstances are found to be incompatible with the innocence of the accused or the guilt of any person. The circumstances from which an inference as to the guilt of the accused is drawn have to be proved beyond reasonable doubt and have to be shown to be closely connected with the principal fact sought to be inferred from those circumstances.

30. The decision in Sharad Birdichand Sarda (Supra) has recently been followed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in catena of judgments including Laxman Prasad alias Laxman vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, 2023 (3) SCC (Cri) 27 and R. Sreenivasa vs. State of Karnataka (2024) 17 SCC 426.

31. In the light of the above pronouncements of Hon'ble Apex Court, we shall not consider whether in the present case, the prosecution succeeded in establishing the chain of the circumstances leading to an inescapable conclusion that the accused-appellant has committed the crime.

32. We have perused the entire evidence on record i.e. ocular evidence as well as documentary evidence for proper adjudication of the case. The relevant portion of deposition of the prosecution witnesses of Hariom Gautam (PW-1), Km. Preeti Chaudhary (PW-2) and Amit (PW-4) are extracted herein below :-

PW-1, who is the landlord of the house in question, in his examination-in-chief, which was recorded on 24.12.2010, deposed that he has two storied house. He lives in the lower portion of the house, whereas in the upper portion of the house Naresh Chaudhary (accused-appellant) live on rent along with his wife and three children. At 5:30 AM on 03.09.2009, on the shriek of children of Naresh Chaudhary (accused-appellant) when he along with other persons of the vicinity went on the upper portion of house, he saw Meera Devi lying dead, whereas accused Naresh Chaudhary fled away. Thereafter, he informed the police by dialling 100. Police on reaching the spot to sealed the dead body and conducted inquest. He also put his signature on the inquest report.

PW-2, Kumari Preeti Chaudhary is the first informant and daughter of the deceased, in her examination-in-chief, deposed that she lives in Vijaynagar along with his family. In the night intervening 02.3.2009, she along her brother was sleeping in the lower portion of the house, whereas her mother and father were on the upper portion of the house. Her father Naresh Chaudhary strangled her mother to death by Lungi. She she woke up in the morning and went upstairs, she found her mother lying beneath the cot on the roof and Lungi was stuck in her neck, which her father was wearing. Her mother has been done to death by her father. This witness further deposed that her father used to quarrel with her mother. Her father has arranged her marriage with some person and took certain money from him, but her mother did not like this, due to which her father used to quarrel with her mother, due to that reason he strangled her mother to death by Lungi and fled away. Handkerchief was stuffed in the mouth of her mother, bangles and Mangalsutra were broken. This witness also deposed that report of the incident was lodged by her, which she proved as Ext. Ka-2.

PW-4 Amit, who is the son of the deceased and appellant. As he was minor on the date of his deposition, the Court, in order to ascertained his mental condition, asked certain questions and on being satisfied about is mental conditions, allowed the ADGC to get his statement recorded. PW-4, Amit in his examination-in-chief deposed that the incident in question took place on 02.9.2029. On that date, her mother, who was working in a company, return home at 09:30 PM. Altercation took place between his mother and father. Thereafter, his mother went on the roof to sleep. His father also went on the roof. Thereafter, what happened, he does not know. In the morning when he went on the roof, he did not find his mother. Thereafter, when he went on the roof along with his sister, his mother was lying besides the cot and her neck was tied with Lungi of his father. She was dead. On his shrieks, neighbours arrived. Police also arrived thereafter. This witness further deposed that his father used to quarrel with his mother every day. He was a drunkard. Earlier he was employed, but later on he left the job. After his father, left the job, her mother started working. After the death of his mother, his father fled away.

33. PW-3, Dr. Rajpal Singh, in his examination-in-chief deposed that on 03.09.2009 he was posted at M.M.G. Hospital Ghaziabad as Physician. He was assigned the duty of post mortem. He conducted the autopsy on the cadaver of the deceased and found the following ante mortem injuries:

“Abrasion, contusion and ligature mark 30 cm x 3.5 cm all over neck. Traverse position 8 cm below right ear, 8 cm below left ear and 7 cm below chin. Under the skin, blood was present. Trachea rings and hyoid bone were also fractured.”

On internal examination, doctor noted that both the lungs were congested, gall bladder congested and ^{1/2} full, spleen and kidneys were congested.

34. In the opinion of the doctor, the cause of death of the deceased was asphyxia as a result of ante-mortem injuries (strangulation). He proved his post mortem report as Ext. Ka-3.

35. In the post-mortem report, time of strangulation (between 2/3.09.2009) has also been stated by the Dr. Rajpal Singh, therefore, the first chain of circumstantial evidence is completed that there is no dispute in date and time of the alleged incident.

36. Secondly, after going through the deposition of Hariom Gautam (PW-1), who is a landlord of the accused-appellant as well as deceased, it is established that he lives on the ground floor of the house and on the alarm raised by the daughter and son of the deceased, he went upstairs on the roof and saw the dead body of the deceased lying behind the cot. Thereafter, he informed the police. The police reached the place of incident and considering the written report (Ext. Ka-2) of Km. Preeti Chaudhary (PW-2), F.I.R. was lodged on 03.09.2009 against the accused-appellant, as such, there is no delay in lodging the F.I.R. The second chain has also been completed.

37. Thirdly, Km. Preeti Chaudhary (PW-2), in her deposition, has clearly stated that after having dinner, her mother went upstairs for sleeping, whereas her father stayed back on the first floor with the children. When she woke up in the midnight, she did not find her father and in the next morning, when her brother reached to the roof of house, he raised the alarm whereby she also went to the roof of the house and saw that her mother was lying dead and strangulated by the same lungi which was worn by her father last night. There was no explanation with regard to the aforesaid facts, not even in the statement of the accused-appellant under Section 313 Cr.P.C., therefore, the third chain of circumstances is also completed.

38. It is an admitted fact and not denied by the accused-appellant that on 02.09.2009 at 09:30 pm, the accused-appellant had dinner with his wife and children and thereafter, he fled away and only surrendered on 09.09.2009 in the Court. If he was not guilty for committing the aforesaid offence, why he fled away from the house and in this regard, no explanation has been tendered by the accused-appellant even in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., therefore, this chain has also been completed.

39. It is also an admitted fact that there are certain minor contradictions in the statement of the prosecution witnesses but such kind of minor contradictions cannot negate the prosecution story. It is settled proposition of law that even if there are some omissions, contradictions and discrepancies, the entire evidence cannot be disregarded. After exercising care and caution and sifting through the evidence to separate truth from untruth, exaggeration and improvements, the Court comes to a conclusion as to whether the residuary evidence is sufficient to convict the accused. Thus, an undue importance should not be attached to omissions, contradictions and discrepancies which do not go to the heart of the matter and shake the basis version of the prosecution's witness. As the mental abilities of a human being cannot be expected to be attuned to absorb all the details of the incident, minor discrepancies are bound to occur in the statements of witnesses.

40. In State represented by Inspector of Police Vs. Saravanam and another (2008) 17 SCC 587, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that while appreciating the evidence, the court has to take into consideration whether the contradictions/omissions had been of such magnitude that they may materially affect the trial. Minor contradictions, inconsistencies, embellishments or improvements on trivial matters without effecting the core of the prosecution case should not be made a ground to reject the evidence in its entirety. The Trial Court, after going through the entire evidence, must form an opinion about the credibility of the witnesses and the appellate Court in normal course would not be justified in reviewing the same again without justifiable reasons.

41. In State of U.P. Vs. M.K. Anthony, (1985)1 SCC 505, Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

“While appreciating the evidence of a witness, the approach must be whether the evidence of the witness read as a whole appears to have a ring of truth. Once that impression is formed, it is undoubtedly necessary for the court to scrutinise the evidence more particularly keeping in view the deficiencies, draw-backs and infirmities pointed out in the evidence as a whole and evaluate them to find out whether it is against the general tenor of the evidence given by the witness and whether the earlier evaluation of the evidence is shaken as to render it unworthy of belief. Minor discrepancies on trivial matters not touching the core of the case, hyper-technical approach by taking sentences torn out of context here or there from the evidence, attaching importance to some technical error committed by the investigating officer not going to the : root of the matter would not ordinarily permit rejection of the evidence as a whole. If the court before whom the witness gives evidence had the opportunity to form the opinion about the general tenor of evidence given by the witness, the appellate court which had not this benefit will have to attach due weight to the appreciation of evidence by the trial court and unless there are reasons weighty and formidable it would not be proper to reject the evidence on the ground of minor variations or infirmities in the matter of trivial details. Even honest and truthful witnesses may differ in some details unrelated to the main incident because power of observation, retention and reproduction differ with individuals. Cross examination is an unequal duel between a rustic and refined lawyer. Having examined the evidence of this witness, a friend and well-wisher of the family carefully giving due weight to the comments made by the learned Counsel for the respondent and the reasons assigned to by the High Court for rejecting his evidence simultaneously keeping in view the appreciation of the evidence of this witness by the trial court, we have no hesitation in holding that the High Court was in error in rejecting the testimony of witness Nair whose evidence appears to us trustworthy and credible.”

42. Taking into consideration the aforesaid reasons and after going through the entire records, we do not find any reason to interfere with the judgment of the trial court as the learned trial court has not committed any error or illegality in the impugned order convicting the accused-appellant for the offence under Section 302 I.P.C. and sentencing him, as stated above.

43. The instant criminal appeal from jail is devoid of merit, and is accordingly, dismissed.

44. The appellant-Naresh Chaudhary is on bail. His bail bond is cancelled and sureties are discharged. He is directed to surrender before the court concerned forthwith to serve out the remaining sentence awarded by the Trial Court.

45. Office is directed to send a copy of this judgment along with record of this case to the court concerned/learned Sessions Judge, Ghaziabad forthwith for immediate compliance and compliance report be submitted to this Court.

THE HON'BLE ANIL KUMAR-X, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 10956 of 2025

Vishal Tyagi & Anr.

...Appellant
Versus

State of U.P. & Anr.

...Respondents

Issue for consideration

The appeal involves the conviction of two school staff members for allegedly abusing and threatening their Principal. The trial court convicted them based on the Principal's initial testimony despite all witnesses turning hostile.

Headnotes

Indian Penal Code,1860-Section 504, 506, Criminal Procedure Code,1973-Section 161, Evidence Act,1872-Section 145-Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribes(Prevention of Atrocities) Act,1989-Section 3(1)(da)d-Testimony of hostile witness-legality of-Abuse and threatening to the Principal over a salary dispute-During trial, all prosecution witnesses including the informant, turned hostile-Pw-1 supported the case in examination –in-chief but resiled during cross-examination-The trial court committed error by treating the Investigating officers testimony as primary evidence to establish the truth of the oral evidence- A witness stated under section 161 CrPC cannot be treated as substantive evidence-Appellants acquitted.(Para 13 to 18) (E-6)

Held

The court held that Testimony of Investigating officer is not substantive evidence; it is only corroborative in nature. testimony of eyewitnesses and victim constitutes substantive evidence. Law mandates that corroboration is required to support substantive evidence and not that substantive evidence is to be proved by seeking support from corroborative evidence. Trial court convicted the appellants solely on the basis of partial testimony of hostile witness, without lawful corroboration and without confronting the witness with his previous statement. The findings recorded by the learned trial court are perverse and contrary to law. Appeal allowed.

CRIMINAL JURISDICTION: CRIMINAL APPEAL No. – 10956 of 2025

Vishal Tyagi & Anr. Vs. State of U.P. & Anr.

From the Judgment and order dated 27.01.2026 of the High Court of Judicature at Allahabad.

Appearances for Parties

Adv. for Appellant(s):-

Vivek Sharma

Adv. for Respondent(s):-

G.A.,

(Delivered by Hon'ble Anil Kumar-X, J.)

1. Heard Shri Vivek Sharma, learned counsel for the appellants, and Shri K.K. Gupta, learned AGA for the State. None has appeared on behalf of the respondent/informant to oppose the appeal despite notice, as per office report, has been duly served on him.

2. This criminal appeal under Section 14-A(1) of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 (hereinafter referred to as the 'SC/ST Act') has been preferred by the appellants - Vishal Tyagi and Samod Kumar @ Samod Kumar Tyagi with a prayer to allow the appeal and set aside the judgment and order dated 01.10.2025 passed by the Additional District and Sessions Judge/Special Judge (SC/ST Act), Amroha, in S.S.T. No. 462 of 2020 (State vs. Vishal Tyagi and another), arising out of Case Crime No. 08 of 2020, under Sections 504, 506 Part-I IPC and Section 3(1)(da) of the SC/ST Act, Police Station Adampur, District Amroha.

3. By the impugned judgment dated 01.10.2025, the accused Vishal Tyagi and Samod Kumar Tyagi were convicted under Sections 504 and 506 Part-I IPC and acquitted of the charge under Section 3(1)(da) of the SC/ST Act. Instead of sentencing, the learned trial court extended the benefit of probation to the accused persons and directed their release on furnishing a bond in an amount to be determined by the office, with or without surety, before the District Probation Officer for maintaining peace and good behaviour for a period of one year, with a stipulation that in case of default, the question of punishment may be considered. Further, under Section 5 of the Probation of Offenders Act, the accused were directed to pay compensation of ₹25,000/- to the victim/informant.

Factual matrix of case

4. First information report (Ex. Ka-1) was lodged by PW-1 Chhotey Lal, In-charge Principal, Gramodyay Inter College, Gangeswari, District Amroha, at Police Station Adampur. The informant alleged that the accused Vishal Tyagi, Clerk, and Samod Kumar Tyagi, Assistant Teacher, abused him and used caste-based slurs when he asked them to produce the salary slip of the month of November. It was further alleged that other teachers present in the office intervened and took the accused persons out of the office. On the basis of the written report, an FIR in Case Crime No. 008 of 2020 under Sections 504 and 506 IPC was registered against the accused persons. During investigation, PW-6, Circle Officer Satyendra Singh, conducted the investigation and submitted a charge-sheet against the accused persons under Sections 504, 506 IPC and Section 3(1)(da) of the SC/ST Act.

5. The prosecution examined six witnesses to substantiate its case. PW-1 Chhotey Lal stated that he was posted as In-charge Principal of Gramodyay Inter College Gangeswari on 27.11.2019. On the said date, accused Vishal Tyagi came to his office and requested him to pass the salary bill for the month of December. When PW-1 asked him to place the pay bill of November 2019 first, the accused refused. Thereafter, accused Vishal Tyagi arrived along with his uncle, accused Samod Tyagi, and both started abusing and threatening him. On hearing the commotion, other teachers came to the office and intervened, thereby taking the accused persons out. PW-1 further stated that both accused abused him and used caste-based slurs in the presence of other teachers.

6. PW-2 Mahendra Singh stated that on the alleged date he was teaching in his class and around 2:00 p.m. he heard noises from the Principal's office. He stated that both accused were posted in the same college and that they were not involved in the alleged offence. PW-3 Harendra Singh and PW-4 Suraj Kumar Sharma, who were also teachers in the same institution, denied the prosecution allegations. PW-5 Vivek Kumar, Constable Clerk, proved the chik FIR (Ex. Ka-2) and the relevant GD entry (Ex. Ka-3). PW-6 Circle Officer Satyendra Singh stated that he recorded the statements of the witnesses and submitted the charge-sheet (Ex. Ka-4) before the court.

Findings of Trial Court

7. The learned trial court observed that the informant PW-1 supported the prosecution case during examination-in-chief but resiled from his statement during cross-examination. The remaining witnesses also turned hostile. Relying upon settled principles of law, the trial court held that the testimony of a hostile witness cannot be discarded in toto and that the portion of testimony supporting the prosecution case can be relied upon. The learned trial court placed reliance upon the judgment of the Supreme Court in Vinod Kumar vs. State of Punjab reported in (2015) 3 SCC 220, wherein it was held that undue delay in cross-examination may result in witnesses turning hostile due to influence or intimidation, and in such circumstances, their testimony cannot be outrightly discarded.

8. The learned trial court further relied upon the judgment in State of U.P. vs. Ramesh Prasad & Ors., AIR 1996 SC 2766, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that when hostile witnesses have corroborated the prosecution version during investigation and such fact is deposed by the Investigating Officer, their testimony cannot be discarded merely on account of their denial during trial.

9. On the basis of the aforesaid judgments of the Supreme Court, the learned trial court concluded that although PW-1 turned hostile during cross-examination, he had supported the prosecution version in his examination-in-chief, and therefore, his testimony could not be disbelieved. The learned trial court further observed that staff members working in the same institution are susceptible to influence over time. The corroboration by the Investigating Officer regarding the statements of witnesses during investigation was treated as a supporting circumstance. The learned trial court also observed that there was no reason to disbelieve the Investigating Officer, a gazetted officer, who had no motive to falsely implicate the accused persons. Accordingly, the learned trial court held that the prosecution had proved its case beyond reasonable doubt for offences under Sections 504 and 506 IPC. However, the accused were acquitted under Section 3(1)(da) of the SC/ST Act on the ground that the alleged occurrence arose out of a dispute between the Principal and staff members and it could not be inferred that the offence was committed on account of the informant's caste. The benefit of probation was extended in lieu of sentence.

Arguments on behalf of appellants

10. Learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the FIR was lodged after a delay of nine days and the prosecution failed to satisfactorily explain the same. It was further argued that the site plan was prepared by S.I. Dharmendra Kumar on 29.01.2020 but was not proved during trial, which casts serious doubt on the prosecution case. It was contended that PW-1 did not support the prosecution version during cross-examination and that PW-2, PW-3 PW-4 were declared hostile and did not corroborate the prosecution story. Learned counsel submitted that reliance upon hostile witnesses without independent corroboration is contrary to settled principles of law. While it is true that testimony of a hostile witness cannot be discarded entirely, its credibility must be tested in light of surrounding circumstances. Reliance was placed upon Ram Swaroop vs. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2004 SC 2243, wherein the Supreme Court held that accepting the testimony of a hostile witness without satisfactory corroboration is impermissible. It was argued that reliance upon the examination-in-chief of PW-1 alone, without corroboration, is perverse and illegal, rendering the impugned judgment unsustainable.

Arguments on behalf of State

11. Per contra, learned AGA Shri K.K. Gupta submitted that it is well settled that the testimony of a hostile witness is not to be discarded in its entirety and that the prosecution is entitled to rely upon those portions of testimony which support its case. It was contended that the statement of PW-1 sufficiently establishes the occurrence dated 27.12.2019 and that there was no reason for the Principal to falsely implicate his staff members. PW-1 supported the prosecution case during investigation and independent witnesses also corroborated the prosecution version before the Investigating Officer. PW-6, the Investigating Officer, categorically stated that all witnesses corroborated the FIR during investigation, which itself constitutes corroborative evidence. As regards the site plan, it was submitted that although it was not proved, there is no dispute regarding the place of occurrence. Therefore, the findings recorded by the learned trial court do not suffer from any infirmity and the conviction does not warrant interference.

Conclusion

12. I have considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the entire record including the impugned judgment.

13. It is evident that all prosecution witnesses turned hostile during trial. P.W.-1 though supported prosecution during examination in chief, but turned hostile in his cross examination. Relying solely upon his examination-in-chief, learned Trial Court concluded that prosecution story stands proved. It is true that there is no legal prohibition against convicting an accused on the basis of testimony of a hostile witness, but it cannot be accepted blindly. In Neeraj Dutta vs State (Govt. of N.C.T. of Delhi), AIR Online 2022 SC 1160, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that merely because a witness is declared hostile, his entire testimony does not become useless. If the part of his evidence is supported by other facts or reliable evidence on record, it can still be considered by the Court. Therefore, there is no legal prohibition against convicting an accused on the basis of testimony of a hostile witness, provided it is corroborated by other trustworthy evidence. Similarly in Ram Swaroop (supra), the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that conviction cannot be based upon the testimony of a hostile witness in the absence of reliable corroboration. Hence, approach of Trial Court in placing reliance upon uncorroborated testimony of P.W.-1 is untenable.

14. Similarly, learned trial court committed a manifest error in placing reliance upon the statement of the Investigating Officer to the effect that the witnesses had supported the prosecution version during the course of investigation. The Hon'ble Supreme Court has consistently held that the statement of an Investigating Officer regarding what a witness stated under Section 161 Cr.P.C. cannot be treated as substantive evidence. Unless the witness himself is confronted with his previous statement in accordance with Section 145 of the Evidence Act, such statements cannot be used either for corroboration or contradiction. Mere deposition of the Investigating Officer does not cure this defect. In the case of V.K. Mishra vs. State of Uttarakhand (2015) 9 SCC 588, it has been held by Hon'ble Supreme Court that previous statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. can be used only after due confrontation of the witness and not otherwise. It has further been reiterated that the Investigating Officer's testimony cannot substitute such confrontation.

15. In the present case, PW-1 was never confronted with his alleged statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. Learned Trial Court has further observed that Investigating Officer, in his deposition, stated that witnesses of fact had supported prosecution case during investigation. Such an approach is contrary to settled principles governing appreciation of evidence. Testimony of Investigating Officer is not substantive evidence; it is only corroborative in nature. In the present case, testimony of eyewitnesses and victim constitutes substantive evidence. Law mandates that corroboration is required to support substantive evidence and not that substantive evidence is to be proved by seeking support from corroborative evidence. Oral testimony of witnesses may be corroborated or contradicted by testimony of Investigating Officer, but testimony of Investigating Officer cannot be treated as primary evidence to establish truthfulness of oral evidence.

16. It will be relevant to refer to the judgment of Renuka Prasad v. State (2025 INSC 657) where it was confronted with similar issue, i.e. witnesses turning hostile but Investigating Officer deposing before Court that witnesses have supported prosecution version during investigation.

Supreme Court herein held that conviction cannot be sustained merely on suspicion or on statements recorded during investigation. In that case, the trial court had acquitted the accused in a murder case because most prosecution witnesses turned hostile and the alleged eyewitness failed to identify the accused. However, the High Court reversed the acquittal and convicted the accused mainly by relying on the testimony of the Investigating Officer, who stated that witnesses had supported the prosecution case during investigation under Section 161 Cr.P.C. The Supreme Court set aside the High Court judgment and restored the acquittal, holding that statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. are not substantive evidence and cannot be used to convict unless the witness affirms them in court.

17. Therefore, the corroboration drawn from the testimony of the Investigating Officer is not permissible in law. Reliance placed by the learned trial court on such inadmissible material makes the finding legally unsustainable. In view of the above settled legal position, the approach adopted by the learned trial court in convicting the appellants solely on the basis of partial testimony of a hostile witness, without lawful corroboration and without confronting the witness with his previous statement, is clearly erroneous. The findings recorded by the learned trial court are therefore perverse, contrary to law, and unsustainable in the eyes of law, and the impugned judgment warrants interference by this Court.

18. Accordingly, the impugned judgment and order dated 01.10.2025 passed by the Additional District and Sessions Judge/Special Judge (SC/ST Act), Amroha, in S.S.T. No. 462 of 2020 (State vs. Vishal Tyagi and another), arising out of Case Crime No. 08 of 2020, under Sections 504, 506 Part-I IPC and Section 3(1)(da) of the SC/ST Act is hereby set aside, and this criminal appeal is allowed.

THE HON'BLE SANDEEP JAIN, J.

First Appeal From Order No. 7 of 2026

Lal Ji Yadav

...Appellant
Versus

National Insurance Co. Ltd. & Anr. ...Respondents

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether, in the absence of a transport endorsement and permit, the owner of the offending vehicle can be fastened with liability to pay compensation, or whether the insurer remains liable, when the vehicle falls within the category of a light motor vehicle (LMV) and the driver possessed a valid LMV (Private) driving licence.

Headnotes

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 - ss. 2(21), 66, 173 - UP Motor Vehicle Rules, 1998 - R. 220-A - Liability of Insurer - Compensation - The appellant - owner preferred an appeal u/s 173 of Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, assailing the judgment and award passed by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Kaushambi, whereby compensation of ₹3,89,000/- along with interest was awarded to the claimants on account of death of deceased in a road accident dated 09.04.2009, and though the insurer was directed to initially satisfy the award, a right of recovery was granted against the owner - It was the contention of the appellant that the offending vehicle, being a light motor vehicle (LMV) with a laden weight of 975 kg i.e. gross vehicle weight was below 3000 kg, neither required a permit u/s 66 of Act nor necessitated a transport endorsement on the driver's licence, as the driver possessed a valid LMV (Private) licence - It was further urged that the Tribunal erred in holding otherwise - The insurer, while opposing, fairly conceded the legal position regarding permit and licence - Additionally, a cross-objection was filed by claimants seeking enhancement of compensation on the grounds of non-grant of future prospects, excessive deduction towards personal expenses, inadequate award under non-pecuniary heads, and lower rate of interest with a delay of 1625 days. (E-11)

Held: Upon perusal of s. 66(3)(i) of Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, it is evident that no permit is required where the gross vehicle weight of a goods vehicle does not exceed 3000 kg - The registration certificate of offending vehicle, duly placed on record and undisputed by insurer, establishes that its laden weight was 975 kg and vehicle was goods vehicle - Consequently, no permit was required for its operation, and the Tribunal erred in holding otherwise - It is evident that the offending vehicle, having a laden weight below 7,500 kg, qualified as a light motor vehicle u/s 2(21) of Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, and could be lawfully driven with an endorsement of LMV (Private) licence without any transport endorsement - The driver admittedly possessed a valid LMV licence for the relevant period, thus, the Tribunal erred in holding otherwise and in requiring a permit for plying the offending vehicle - The claimants are entitled to total compensation of Rs.11,63,100/- alongwith interest @ 7% per annum from the date of filing the claim petition, till the date of actual payment of compensation, which is to be indemnified by the insurer of offending vehicle - The owner of offending vehicle is not required to pay any compensation either to claimants or Insurance Company - Accordingly, the appeal filed by owner and cross-objection filed by claimants are allowed. APPELLATE JURISDICTION: First Appeal From Order No. - 7 of 2026

From the Judgment and Award dated 21.07.2009, subsequently corrected on 29.07.2009, passed by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/District Judge, Kaushambi in M.A.C.P. No.70 of 2006.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Appellant:

Amit Kuma Sinha, Amit Kumar Sinha, Deepali Srivastava Sinha

Advs. for the Respondent:

Mohd. Asim Zulfiquar, Radhey Shyam

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sandeep Jain, J.)

1. Ms. Deepali Srivastava Sinha, learned counsel for the owner appellant, learned counsel for the respondent Insurance Company and Sri Abhishek Tripathi, Advocate holding brief of Mohd. Asim Zulfiquar, learned counsel for the claimants-respondents are present.

2. The instant appeal under Section 173 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 has been preferred by the owner of the offending three wheeler No.UP-70-AT-3092 against the impugned judgment and award dated 21.07.2009, subsequently corrected on 29.07.2009, passed by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/District Judge, Kaushambi in M.A.C.P. No.70 of 2006 (Smt. Naghama Begam vs. Lal Ji Yadav and another) whereby, for the untimely death of Khaliq Ahmad @ Achchhe in a road accident that occurred on 09.04.2009, a compensation of Rs.3,89,000/- alongwith interest @ 6% per annum has been awarded to the claimant, which was ordered to be indemnified initially by the insurer of the offending vehicle but later on a right of recovery was given to it from the owner of the offending vehicle.

3. Learned counsel for the appellant submitted that since the offending vehicle was not having a valid permit and the offending driver had a valid and effective driving license to drive LMV(Private) on the date of the accident, hence, the liability to pay compensation was imposed on the owner of the tempo, which is erroneous. Learned counsel submitted that since the laden weight of the offending vehicle was only 975 kg, which was below 3000 kg, as such, no permit was required under Section 66 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988. It was further submitted that the offending driver Bablu Yadav possessed a driving license, which was valid and effective for driving LMV(Private) vehicle but the Tribunal has erred in concluding that the driving license having an endorsement to drive commercial vehicle was required. Learned counsel submitted that since the laden weight of the vehicle was below 3000 kg., as such, driver having a valid LMV(Private) license could have legally driven the offending vehicle for which no endorsement for driving transport vehicle was required, but this was not considered by the Tribunal. Learned counsel submitted that in view of the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Bajaj Alliance General Insurance Co. Ltd. vs Rambha Devi and others (2025) 3 SCC 95, the offending driver was having a valid and effective driving license to drive the vehicle. With these submissions, it was prayed that the appeal be allowed and the liability to pay compensation be imposed on the insurer of the offending vehicle.

4. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondent-Insurance Company has very fairly conceded that since the weight of the offending goods vehicle was below 3000 kg., as per Section 66 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, a permit was not required for plying it. He further conceded that since the driver was having a license to drive LMV(Private) vehicle, as such, an endorsement for driving transport vehicle was not required at the time of the accident, as held by the Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in the case of Bajaj Alliance General Insurance Company Limited (supra).

5. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the impugned judgment and documents submitted with the appeal.

6. The Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in the case of Bajaj Alliance General Insurance Company Limited (supra), after analyzing whether a holder of LMV license can drive all the vehicles below the weight of 7,500 kg, held as under:-

"181.1. A driver holding a licence for light motor vehicle (LMV) class, under Section 10(2)(d) for vehicles with a gross vehicle weight under 7500 kg, is permitted to operate a "transport vehicle" without needing additional authorisation under Section 10(2)(e) of the MV Act specifically for the "transport vehicle" class. For licensing purposes, LMVs and transport vehicles are not entirely separate classes. An overlap exists between the two. The special eligibility requirements will however continue to apply for, inter alia, e-carts, e-rickshaws, and vehicles carrying hazardous goods.

181.2. The second part of Section 3(1), which emphasises the necessity of a specific requirement to drive a "transport vehicle", does not supersede the definition of LMV provided in Section 2(21) of the MV Act.

181.3. The additional eligibility criteria specified in the MV Act and the MV Rules generally for driving ?transport vehicles? would apply only to those intending to operate vehicles with gross vehicle weight exceeding 7500 kg i.e. "medium goods vehicle", "medium passenger vehicle", "heavy goods vehicle" and "heavy passenger vehicle".

181.4. The decision in Mukund Dewangan (2017) [Mukund Dewangan v. Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd., (2017) 14 SCC 663] is upheld but for reasons as explained by us in this judgment. In the absence of any obtrusive omission, the decision is not per incuriam, even if certain provisions of the MV Act and the MV Rules were not considered in the said judgment."

7. It is apparent from the perusal of Section 66 (3)(i) of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, that a permit is not required where the gross vehicle weight of a goods vehicle does not exceed 3000 kg. The appellant has annexed the copy of the registration certificate of the offending vehicle, which has not been disputed by learned counsel for the respondent-Insurance Company, which discloses that the laden weight of the offending vehicle was only 975 kg and further the vehicle was, a goods vehicle. In view of the fact that the laden weight of the vehicle was below 3000 kg., a permit was not required for plying it, but unfortunately, the Tribunal has held otherwise. Accordingly, it is held that no permit was required for plying the offending tempo No.UP-70AT-3092 in public place.

8. It is further evident that since laden weight of the offending auto was below 7,500 kg, and it was a light motor vehicle (LMV), as per Section 2 (21) of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, hence, for driving it, only license having an endorsement of LMV(Private) was sufficient. The driver was not required to possess the driving license for driving transport vehicle or commercial vehicle, in the light of the law laid down by the Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in Bajaj Alliance General Insurance Company Limited (supra). It is not disputed that the offending driver Bablu Yadav was possessing a driving license, which was valid for driving LMV private vehicle from 17.01.2004 till 16.01.2024. In view of this, the Tribunal has certainly erred in concluding that the offending driver was not having a valid and effective driving license on the date of the accident and further permit was required for plying the offending vehicle. Accordingly, this appeal has merit and deserves to be allowed.

9. Accordingly, the appeal is allowed.

Order on Cross Objection No. 52 of 2021:-

1. Heard learned counsel for the claimants-cross objector and learned counsel for the respondent-Insurance Company.

2. As per office report, there is a delay of 1625 days in filing the instant cross objection.

3. Learned counsel for the claimants-cross objector submitted that since the claimants were illiterate and were not aware that for enhancement of compensation, a cross objection was required to be filed, as such, the cross objection could not be filed within time.

4. Learned counsel further submitted that since a cross appeal of the owner is pending, as such, the delay in filing the cross-objection, be condoned.

5. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondent-Insurance Company submitted that if this Court is of the opinion that the delay in filing the cross objection is liable to be condoned, then this Court may not award interest on the enhanced compensation, if any, awarded by this Court, for the period of delay.

6. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the impugned judgment.

7. Since, the cross appeal of the owner was pending, which has been decided only today, as such, the delay in filing the cross objection is liable to be condoned and is accordingly, condoned but certainly the claimants are not entitled for interest on the period of delay.

8. Learned counsel for the claimants-cross objector submitted that the deceased Khaliq Ahmad @ Achchhe was aged about 35 years at the time of the accident, who was supporting his family of 10 persons, including himself, who was in the occupation of selling Chicken and eggs, who was earning Rs.6,000/- per month but still the Tribunal has not awarded any compensation towards the future prospects of the deceased, whereas the claimants are entitled to get it @50%, as per Rule 220-A of the UP Motor Vehicle Rules,1998. It was further submitted that since there were nine dependents of the deceased, only 1/5th amount was required to be deducted towards the personal expenses of the deceased but the Tribunal has deducted 1/3rd amount, which requires reduction. It is further submitted that the Tribunal has awarded less amount of compensation towards non-pecuniary heads and has also awarded less interest on compensation @ 6% per annum whereas, as per Rule 220-A of the above Rules, interest @ at-least 7% per annum should have been awarded to the claimants. With these submissions, it was prayed that the cross-objection preferred by the claimants be allowed and enhanced compensation be paid to them.

9. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondent-Insurance Company submitted that the Tribunal has awarded right amount of compensation to the claimants, which does not warrant any enhancement from this Court in exercise of its appellate jurisdiction. It was further submitted that the claimants should not be awarded any interest on the enhanced amount of compensation awarded by this Court, since, cross-objection was filed belatedly.

10. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the impugned judgment and documents submitted with the appeal.

11. Rule 220-A of the UP Motor Vehicle Rules, 1998 w.e.f. 26.09.2011, mandates that when the deceased was aged below 40 years on the date of accident, the claimants are also entitled to compensation on future prospects @50% of his income.

12. The Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in the case of National Insurance Co. Ltd. vs. Pranay Sethi & Ors.(2017) 16 SCC 680 has awarded loss of consortium of Rs.40,000/- and Rs.15,000/- each towards loss of estate and funeral expenses, which is to be enhanced at the rate of 10% after every three years.

13. The Apex Court in the case of Magma General Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Nanu Ram @ Chuhru Ram & others, (2018) 18 SCC 130, has awarded Rs.40,000/- each towards spousal consortium, parental consortium and filial consortium.

14. Further, the Apex Court in the case of Rahul Ganpatrao Sable vs Laxman Maruti Jadhav (Dead) through LRS and Others (2023) 13 SCC 334, held as under:-

32. In the present case, MACT had granted a meagre amount of Rs 5000 towards loss of consortium. However, the High Court granted a total amount of Rs 70,000 as consolidated amount under all conventional heads, which included loss of consortium, loss of estate and funeral expenses. In Pranay Sethi [National Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Pranay Sethi, (2017) 16 SCC 680 : (2018) 3 SCC (Civ) 248 : (2018) 2 SCC (Cri) 205] , the Constitution Bench of this Court had provided that all dependents should be separately awarded towards loss of consortium and had actually awarded Rs 40,000 to each of the dependents. Considering the same, an amount of Rs 40,000 each is awarded to each of the four dependents towards loss of consortium.

15. A Division Bench of this Court in FAFO No.2581 of 2011, Sushil Kumar & Another vs. M/S Sampark Lojastic Pvt. Ltd. & Another, decided on 26.04.2017 has held that even if the accident occurred prior to 26.09.2011, the claimants are entitled to compensation on future prospects as per amended Rule 220-A of the UP Motor Vehicle Rules, 1998, since it is a beneficial legislation.

16. As per decision of the Apex Court in the case of Pranay Sethi (supra) read with Rule 220-A of the U.P. Motor Vehicle Rules, 1998, the claimants were entitled to get compensation towards future prospects of the deceased @ 50% of his income, but the Tribunal has not awarded any amount towards it, which is erroneous. It is further evident that since there are nine dependents of the deceased, which included his wife, six minor children and parents, only a deduction of 1/5th was required to be made towards the personal expenses of the deceased, keeping in view the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Pranay Sethi (supra) but the Tribunal has deducted 1/3rd amount, which requires reduction. It is further apparent that the claimants are entitled to enhanced amount of compensation under non-pecuniary heads, keeping in view the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Pranay Sethi (supra), Magma General Insurance Co. Ltd.(supra) and Rahul Ganpatrao Sable (supra). It is further evident that the Tribunal has awarded interest @ 6% per annum on the compensation whereas, as per Rule 220-A of the U.P. Motor Vehicle Rules, 1998, the claimants were entitled to get it @ 7% per annum.

17. In view of the above legal position, the claimants are entitled to the following compensation, which is redetermined as under:-

S.No.	Compensation Heads	Amount Awarded in Rs.	In Accordance with.
1.	Monthly income of deceased	3,000/-	As determined by tribunal
2.	Annual Income of deceased	3,000X12=36,000/-	As determined by tribunal
3.	Less 1/5 deduction towards self expenses (since there were nine dependents)	7,200/-	Pranay Sethi(supra)
4.	Net annual income on which claimants were dependent	28,800/-	Pranay Sethi (supra)
5.	Add future prospects @50% since deceased was aged about 35 years	14,400/-	Rule 220-A of UP Motor Vehicle Rules,1998
6.	Total annual dependency of claimants on deceased	43,200/-	Rule 220-A of UP Motor Vehicle Rules,1998
7.	Multiplier applied since age of deceased was about 35 years	16	Pranay Sethi(supra)
8.	Total loss of dependency to the claimants	43,200 x 16 =6,91,200/-	Pranay Sethi(supra)
9.	Loss of consortium @Rs.40,000/-each, increased by 10% after every 3 years (9 claimants)	48,400X9=4,35,600/-	Pranay Sethi(supra), Magma General Insurance Co. Ltd. (supra) and Rahul Ganpatrao Sable (supra)
10.	Loss of estate @ Rs.15,000/- increased by 10% after every 3 years.	18,150/-	Pranay Sethi(supra)
11.	Funeral Expenses @ Rs.15,000/- increased by 10% after every 3 years.	18,150/-	Pranay Sethi(supra)

12.	Total compensation	11,63,100/-

18. In this way, the claimants are entitled to total compensation of Rs.11,63,100/- alongwith interest @ 7% per annum from the date of filing the claim petition, till the date of actual payment of compensation, which is to be indemnified by the insurer of offending three wheeler No.UP-70-AT-3092. The owner of the above offending vehicle is not required to pay any compensation either to the claimants or the Insurance Company.

19. Since the cross-objection was filed with delay of 1625 days, the claimants are not entitled to any interest on the enhanced amount of compensation awarded by this Court for the period of delay i.e. from 13.10.2016 to 25.03.2021.

20. Accordingly, the appeal preferred by the owner i.e. F.A.F.O. No.7 of 2026 and cross-objection preferred by the claimants are allowed. The impugned judgment and award of the tribunal dated 21.07.2009 and 29.07.2009 is modified to the above extent.

21. The insurance company is directed to deposit the enhanced amount of compensation alongwith interest within a period of two months in the concerned tribunal. The tribunal is at liberty to apportion the enhanced amount of compensation proportionately among the claimants, keeping in view their age and dependency.

22. Office is directed to remit back the statutory deposit made by the owner at the time of filing of the appeal to the concerned Tribunal, forthwith. The Tribunal is directed to refund this amount along with accrued interest to the owner of the offending vehicle, without any delay.

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether the compensation awarded by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal for the injuries resulting in permanent disability suffered by the claimant was just, fair, and in accordance with settled principles governing assessment of functional disability, loss of earning capacity, future prospects, application of multiplier, and award under non-pecuniary heads and whether the Tribunal erred either in assessing the percentage of functional disability and income or in declining enhancement, thereby warranting interference in appellate jurisdiction by High Court.

Headnotes

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 - s. 173 - UP Motor Vehicle Rules, 1998 - R. 220 - A - Compensation - Enhancement of - The instant appeals arise out of a judgment and award dated 15.01.2015 passed by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Allahabad, whereby compensation of ₹5,03,310/- with interest at 7% per annum was awarded to the claimant for injuries sustained in a motor accident that occurred on 29.03.2009 by the offending Truck - At the time of the accident, the claimant, aged about 16 years, suffered grievous injuries resulting in amputation of his right leg above the knee and amputation of two toes of the left foot, leading to permanent disability. The Tribunal assessed the functional disability at 80% and computed compensation accordingly, directing the insurer, The New India Assurance Co. Ltd., to indemnify the award. Aggrieved thereby, the insurer preferred an appeal seeking reduction of compensation on the ground of erroneous assessment of disability and income, while the claimant filed a cross-appeal seeking enhancement on the plea that he had suffered 100% functional disability, was entitled to compensation based on minimum wages of a skilled workman, addition towards future prospects, application of a higher multiplier, and enhancement under non-pecuniary heads. (E-11)

Held: Even if, it is assumed that the claimant was only 16 years old and was not in any gainful employment at the time of the accident even then, he is entitled to get compensation on the basis that he was a skilled workman - Since, the accident occurred on 29.03.2009 and at the time of the accident the minimum wages of a skilled workman prevailing in the State of U.P. was about Rs.4,500/- per month, the claimant is entitled to get compensation on this basis - The claimant is also entitled to get compensation for future prospect at the rate of 50% of his income keeping in view of law laid down by Apex Court in the case of Pappu Deo Yadav (infra) and Sidram (infra) as well as R. 220-A of UP Motor Vehicle Rules, 1998 - It is apparent that since it is a case of permanent disability no deduction towards personal expenses of the claimant is to be made while assessing compensation, in view of judgment of Apex Court in the case of Rahul Ganpatrao Sable (infra) - Keeping in view the nature of injuries and the amputation suffered by the claimant, compensation towards non pecuniary heads also requires enhancement, since the tribunal has only awarded an amount of Rs.15,000/- towards pain and suffering and Rs.1,000/- towards special diet, which is grossly inadequate. The claimant is also entitled to compensation for loss of marriage prospects, due to permanent disability - The claimant has not led any evidence as to whether he is using artificial leg or not and the future medical expenses, as such, no compensation can be awarded to the claimant under these heads - Thus, the claimant is entitled to total compensation of Rs.16,59,510/- alongwith interest @ 7% per annum (as awarded by tribunal) from the date of filing of claim petition till it's actual payment, which is to be indemnified by insurer of offending Truck - Accordingly, appeal filed by insurance company is dismissed, and appeal filed by claimant for enhancement of compensation is allowed. (Delivered by Hon'ble Sandeep Jain, J.)

1. FAFO No. 697 of 2015 under Section 173 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 has been preferred by the insurer of the offending Truck No.MH-04-DK-4585 against the impugned judgment and award dated 15.01.2015 passed by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/Additional District Judge, court no.1, Allahabad, in MACP No. 521 of 2011, Sangam Lal Vs. Jitendra Pal Singh & another, whereby, for the injuries sustained in a motor accident which occurred on 29.03.2009, the claimant has been awarded a compensation of Rs.5,03,310/-, alongwith interest at the rate of 7% per annum, which has been ordered to be indemnified by the insurer of the offending Truck No.MH-04-DK-4585.

2. FAFO No.892 of 2015 under Section 173 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 has been preferred by the claimant for enhancement of compensation against the impugned judgment and award dated 15.01.2015 passed by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/Additional District Judge, court no.1, Allahabad, in MACP No. 521 of 2011, Sangam Lal Vs. Jitendra Pal Singh & another, whereby, for the injuries sustained in a motor accident which occurred on 29.03.2009, the claimant has been awarded a compensation of Rs.5,03,310/-, alongwith interest at the rate of 7% per annum, which has been ordered to be indemnified by the insurer of the offending Truck No.MH-04-DK-4585.

3. FAFO No.892 of 2015 is admitted.

4. Since, both the appeals arise from the same judgment and award as such, they are being heard and decided by the common judgment.

5. Learned counsel for the appellant-insurance company in FAFO No.697 of 2015 submitted that the claimant allegedly suffered only 60% permanent disability due to the injuries sustained in the accident but it was considered to be 80% by the tribunal only on the basis of certificate issued by the Physiotherapist, which was not at all admissible in evidence. It is further submitted that the claimant was a minor who was not earning, but still the tribunal has assessed compensation by taking his monthly income at Rs.3,000/- which is erroneous. With these submission, it was prayed that the appeal be allowed and the compensation paid to the claimant be reduced.

6. Per contra, learned counsel for the claimant-respondent submitted that due to the injuries suffered in the accident, the right leg of the claimant was amputated from the knee and his two little toes of left foot were also amputated due to which he suffered 100% functional disability but the tribunal has only assessed the disability of the claimant at only 80% which requires enhancement. She further submitted that due to the amputation, the claimant was unable to do any manual labour, as such, it was a fit case where the tribunal should have awarded compensation by taking functional disability of the claimant at 100%. She further submitted that the claimant was also entitled to compensation for future prospects at the rate of 50% in accordance with Rule 220-A of the UP Motor Vehicle Rules, 1998, but the tribunal has not awarded any compensation towards it. It was further submitted that since the deceased was about 16 years old, a multiplier of 18 was to be applied for assessing compensation, but the tribunal has applied a multiplier of 16, which requires enhancement. It was further submitted that the tribunal has awarded inadequate amount of compensation towards non pecuniary heads which require substantial enhancement keeping in view of the various precedents of the Apex Court. With these submissions, it was prayed that the appeal preferred by the insurance company be dismissed and the appeal preferred by the claimant for enhancement of compensation be allowed.

7. I have learned counsel for the parties and perused the documents submitted with the appeal.

8. The Apex Court in the case of Raj Kumar Vs. Ajay Kumar & Another (2011) 1 SCC 343 has held that the tribunal should not mechanically apply the percentage of permanent disability as the percentage of economic loss or loss of earning capacity and in each case, the tribunal has to independently assess the earning capacity loss of the claimant by ascertaining what activities the claimant could carry on inspite of the permanent disability and what he could not do as a result of his injuries. It was further held that where the disability certificates are given by duly constituted Medical Boards, they may be accepted subject to evidence regarding the genuineness of such certificates.

9. The Apex Court in the case of Sarnam Singh vs. Sriram General Insurance Co. Ltd. & Ors. (2023) 8 SCC 193, while analysing when partial disability will amount to 100% earning capacity loss, held as under:-

10. As to how compensation, in case where permanent disability of an injured affects his functional disability, is to be assessed has been considered by this Court, repeatedly. Reference can be made to the judgment of this Court in Mohan Soni v. Ram Avtar Tomar [Mohan Soni v. Ram Avtar Tomar, (2012) 2 SCC 267 : (2012) 1 SCC (Civ) 747 : (2012) 1 SCC (Cri) 641] . In the aforesaid case the injured was working as a cart puller. As a result of the accident, his left leg was amputated. His permanent disability was assessed at 60%. The Tribunal assessed the compensation taking the loss of earning at 50% on the theory that he can still do some other work while sitting. The High Court did not disturb the finding regarding loss of income on account of disability. This Court found that the Tribunal was in error in taking the loss of earning at 50% as the injured was 55 years of age and it may be difficult for him to find a job at that stage. In fact, any physical disability resulting from an accident has to be judged with reference to the nature of the work being performed by the person who suffered disability. The same injury suffered by two different persons may affect them in different ways. Loss of leg by a farmer or a rickshaw puller may be end of the road as far as his earning capacity is concerned. Whereas, in case of the persons engaged in some kind of desk work in office, loss of leg may have lesser effect. This Court enhanced the loss of earning capacity from 50% to 90%.

11. Applying the same principle to the case in hand, we find that the appellant herein was working as a gunman with Bharat Hotel Limited. On account of amputation of his right leg above the knee, he was terminated from service w.e.f. 31-5-2015. It is not a matter of dispute that a person with his right leg amputated cannot perform the duty of a gunman. This is his functional disability. He was 50 years & 5 months old at the time of accident. Considering the aforesaid facts, in our view, the Tribunal was right in assessing the loss of earning capacity of the appellant at 100% and assessing the compensation accordingly. The High Court was in error in reducing the loss of earning capacity to 80%, relying upon the judgment [Shri Ram General Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Sarnam Singh, 2017 SCC OnLine Del 13011] of the High Court, despite there being a judgment of this Court available on the issue.

10. In the instant case, due to the injuries suffered by the claimant his right leg has been amputated through knee and he has also suffered amputation of his two small toes in left foot due to which as per the certificate issued by the CMO, Pratapgarh, he has suffered 60% permanent disability. The certificate has been issued by the duly constituted medical board whose authenticity has not been challenged by the appellant-insurance company by filing any contra evidence.

11. The claimant has also filed certificate issued by Department of Physiotherapy, B.Y.L. Nair Charitable Hospital & T.N.M. College, Bombay, which discloses that he has suffered 75% permanent disability in right lower limb due to right knee disarticulation and 5% permanent disability in left lower limb due to 4th-5th ray amputation, due to which the claimant has suffered total disability of 80%.

12. The tribunal has noted that the right leg of the claimant has been amputated from the knee and his fourth and fifth toe of left leg have also been amputated and on this basis the tribunal has assessed functional disability of the claimant at 80%. From the written statement filed by vehicle owner, it is evident that the claimant was working as a Khalasi on his truck which involves physical labour. It is apparent that due to the amputation suffered by the claimant he is unable to do any job involving physical labour in future and, as such, there was 100% functional disability. The tribunal has only assessed the functional disability at 80%, which requires enhancement.

13. The Apex Court in the case of Kajal vs. Jagdish Chand & Ors. (2020) 4 SCC 413 , Master Ayush vs. Branch Manager, Reliance General Insurance Co. Ltd. & Anr. (2022) 7 SCC 738 , Baby Sakshi Greola vs. Manzoor Ahmad Simon & Anr. 2024 SCC OnLine SC

3692 and Hitesh Nagjibhai Patel vs. Bababhai Nagjibhai Rabari & Another 2025 INSC 1070 has held that where a claimant has suffered 100% permanent functional disability due to an accident, the compensation under the head of loss of income must be awarded on the basis of the minimum wages of a skilled workman prevailing at the time of the accident in that region and should not be assumed on a notional basis.

14. In view of this, even if, it is assumed that the claimant was only 16 years old and was not in any gainful employment at the time of the accident even then, he is entitled to get compensation on the basis that he was a skilled workman. Since, the accident occurred on 29.03.2009 and at the time of the accident the minimum wages of a skilled workman prevailing in the State of U.P. was about Rs.4,500/- per month, the claimant is entitled to get compensation on this basis.

15. The Apex Court in the case of Pappu Deo Yadav vs. Naresh Kumar (2022) 13 SCC 790 (By Three Judges) while considering the issue of awarding future prospects in cases of permanent disablement from motor accident, held as under:-

7. Two questions arise for consideration : one, whether in cases of permanent disablement incurred as a result of a motor accident, the claimant can seek, apart from compensation for future loss of income, amounts for future prospects too; and two, the extent of disability. On the first question, the High Court no doubt, is technically correct in holding that Pranay Sethi [National Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Pranay Sethi, (2017) 16 SCC 680 : (2018) 3 SCC (Civ) 248 : (2018) 2 SCC (Cri) 205] involved assessment of compensation in a case where the victim died. However, it went wrong in saying that later, the three-Judge Bench decision in Jagdish [Jagdish v. Mohan, (2018) 4 SCC 571 : (2018) 3 SCC (Civ) 102 : (2018) 2 SCC (Cri) 572] was not binding, but rather that the subsequent decision in Anant [Anant v. Pratap, (2018) 9 SCC 450 : (2018) 4 SCC (Civ) 378 : (2018) 3 SCC (Cri) 756] to the extent that it did not award compensation for future prospects, was binding. This Court is of the opinion that there was no justification for the High Court to have read the previous rulings of this Court, to exclude the possibility of compensation for future prospects in accident cases involving serious injuries resulting in permanent disablement. Such a narrow reading of Pranay Sethi [National Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Pranay Sethi, (2017) 16 SCC 680 : (2018) 3 SCC (Civ) 248 : (2018) 2 SCC (Cri) 205] is illogical, because it denies altogether the possibility of the living victim progressing further in life in accident cases - and admits such possibility of future prospects, in case of the victim's death.

16. The Apex Court in the case of Sidram vs. Divisional Manager, United India Insurance Co. Ltd. & Another (2023) 3 SCC 439, while directing that in cases of serious permanent disability, compensation for future prospects should also be awarded, held as under:-

31. It is now a well-settled position of law that even in cases of permanent disablement incurred as a result of a motor accident, the claimant can seek, apart from compensation for future loss of income, amounts for future prospects as well. We have come across many orders of different tribunals and unfortunately affirmed by different High Courts, taking the view that the claimant is not entitled to compensation for future prospects in accident cases involving serious injuries resulting in permanent disablement. That is not a correct position of law. There is no justification to exclude the possibility of compensation for future prospects in accident cases involving serious injuries resulting in permanent disablement. Such a narrow reading is illogical because it denies altogether the possibility of the living victim progressing further in life in accident cases-and admits such possibility of future prospects, in case of the victim's death.

17. The Apex Court in the case of Rahul Ganpatrao Sable vs. Laxman Maruti Jadhav (Dead) through LRS. and others, (2023) 13 SCC 334 while directing that in cases of permanent disability, there should not be any deduction for personal expenses, held as under:-

15. The High Court deducted 50% of compensation towards personal expenses. The present case being not of death and the claim not being made by the dependents, but the same being by a survivor in the accident with severe injuries resulting into permanent disability, there could not be any justification for deduction of personal expenses. We do not approve the said deduction in view of the judgment of this Court in Lalan D. [Lalan D. v. Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd., (2020) 9 SCC 805 : (2021) 1 SCC (Civ) 253 : (2021) 1 SCC (Cri) 238]

18. As per Rule 220-A of the UP Motor Vehicle Rules, 1998, if the claimant was below 40 years at the time of accident, he is entitled to compensation for loss of future prospects @50% in cases of serious permanent disability.

19. A Division Bench of this Court in FAFO No.2581 of 2011, Sushil Kumar & Another vs. M/S Sampark Lojastic Pvt. Ltd. & Another, decided on 26.04.2017 has held that even if the accident occurred prior to 26.09.2011, the claimants are entitled to compensation on future prospects as per amended Rule 220-A of the UP Motor Vehicle Rules, 1998, since it is a beneficial legislation.

20. The claimant is also entitled to get compensation for future prospect at the rate of 50% of his income keeping in view of the above law laid down by the Apex Court in the case of Pappu Deo Yadav (supra) and Sidram (supra) as well as Rule 220-A of the UP Motor Vehicle Rules, 1998. The tribunal has not awarded any compensation on this account. It is further apparent that since it is a case of permanent disability no deduction towards personal expenses of the claimant is to be made while assessing compensation, in view of the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Rahul Ganpatrao Sable (supra). It is further apparent that since the claimant was only about 16 years old at the time of the accident, a multiplier of 18 is to be applied for assessing compensation, but the tribunal has applied a multiplier of 16 which requires enhancement, keeping in view the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of National Insurance Co. Ltd. vs Pranay Sethi & Ors. (2017) 16 SCC 680.

21. Keeping in view the nature of injuries and the amputation suffered by the claimant, compensation towards non pecuniary heads also requires enhancement, since the tribunal has only awarded an amount of Rs.15,000/- towards pain and suffering and Rs.1,000/- towards special diet, which is grossly inadequate. The claimant is also entitled to compensation for loss of marriage prospects, due to permanent disability.

22. It is pertinent to mention here that the claimant has not led any evidence as to whether he is using artificial leg or not and the future medical expenses, as such, no compensation can be awarded to the claimant under these heads.

23. In view of the above statutory law and precedents of the Apex Court, the compensation payable to the claimant is redetermined as under:-

S.No.	Compensation Head	Amount Awarded (in Rs.)	In accordance with
1.	Monthly Income of the claimant on the basis of minimum wages of skilled workman	4,500/-	Kajal (supra), Master Ayush (supra), Baby Sakshi Greola (supra) and Hitesh Nagjibhai Patel (supra)
2.	Annual income of the claimant	4,500X12=54,000/-	Kajal (supra), Master Ayush (supra), Baby Sakshi Greola (supra) and Hitesh Nagjibhai Patel (supra)
3.	Add future prospects @50% since claimant was about 16 years old on the date of the accident.	27,000/-	UP Motor Vehicle Rules,1998, Pappu Deo Yadav(supra) and Sidram(supra)
4.	Total annual loss of future income	81,000/-	UP Motor Vehicle Rules,1998, Pappu Deo Yadav(supra) and Sidram(supra)
5.	Multiplier applied since age of claimant was about 16 years	18	Pranay Sethi (supra)
6.	Total future loss of income due to 100% functional disability	81,000X18=14,58,000/-	Pranay Sethi (supra)
7.	Medical Expenses	26,510/-	As awarded by the tribunal
8.	Compensation towards pain,suffering and loss of amenities	1,00,000/-	-
9.	Special diet expenses	25,000/-	-
10.	Loss of future marriage prospects	50,000/-	-
11.	Total compensation	16,59,510/-

24. In this way, the claimant is entitled to total compensation of Rs.16,59,510/- alongwith interest @ 7% per annum (as awarded by the tribunal) from the date of filing of the claim petition till it's actual payment, which is to be indemnified by the insurer of the offending Truck No.MH-04-DK-4585.

25. Accordingly, FAFO No.697 of 2015 preferred by the insurance company is dismissed.

26. FAFO No.892 of 2015 preferred by the claimant for enhancement of compensation is allowed. The award of the tribunal dated 15.01.2015 is modified to the above extent.

27. If any amount has been paid by the insurance company previously, then the insurance company is entitled to adjust it accordingly. The insurance company is directed to deposit the enhanced amount of compensation before the concerned tribunal within two months.

28. Office is directed to remit the statutory deposit made by the appellant insurance company in FAFO No.697 of 2015 to the concerned tribunal, forthwith.

29. Interim order, if any, in FAFO No. 697 of 2015, stands vacated.

THE HON'BLE SANDEEP JAIN, J.

First Appeal From Order No. 1642 of 2011

The New India Insurance Co. Ltd.	...Appellant
	Versus
Smt. Luxmi Devi Dubey & Ors.	...Respondents

Issue for Consideration

Matter pertains to whether the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal was justified in holding that the accident occurred due to the rash and negligent driving of the offending car and that there existed a proximate and legally sustainable nexus between the injuries sustained by the deceased in the accident and his subsequent death due to tetanus, thereby fastening liability upon the insurer to indemnify the awarded compensation.

Headnotes

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 - s. 173 - Liability of Insurance - Compensation of - In a claim arising out of a motor accident dated 21.01.2008, the deceased sustained grievous injuries when his motorcycle was hit from behind by the offending car, allegedly driven in a rash and negligent manner - He was initially treated and discharged, but subsequently developed complications, including tetanus, during continued medical treatment, and ultimately succumbed on 12.02.2008 - The claimants, being the legal heirs, instituted proceedings seeking compensation, which was awarded by the Tribunal holding the driver negligent and fastening liability upon the insurer - Aggrieved by the order, the insurer preferred an instant appeal before the High Court disputing both the finding of negligence and the causal connection between the injuries sustained in the accident and the subsequent death of the deceased. (E-11)

Held: It is well-settled that where there is a nexus between the injuries caused and the cause of death of deceased, then certainly compensation can be awarded for the death of a person, who suffered injuries in a motor accident - It is apparent that in the instant case, due to the accidental injuries suffered on 21.01.2008, the deceased developed tetanus, which is incurable, and he died subsequently during treatment on 12-2-2008 - Had the deceased not suffered injuries in the accident for which he was operated upon, he certainly would not have been infected with tetanus and would also not have died, due to it - As such, the contention of appellant that there was no nexus between the injuries suffered in the accident and the cause of death of deceased, is rejected - The tribunal has rightly held that the deceased died due to the injuries suffered in the accident, and the accident was due to sole negligence of offending car driver - The contention of claimants-respondents that the tribunal has awarded inadequate compensation cannot be examined in this appeal since no cross-appeal or cross-objection has been filed by the claimants - Accordingly, the appeal has no merit, thus, dismissed - Award of Tribunal is affirmed - Direction to pay remaining amount of compensation to surviving legal heir. Order on Civil Misc. Application No. Nil of 2025

1. Learned counsel for the appellant-insurance company submitted that respondent no. 3- Gaurav Dubey, has died on 25-4-2024, and his legal heirs are already on record, as such, an endorsement to this effect be recorded in the memo of appeal in the array of parties after his name.

2. Learned counsel for the claimants-respondents has not opposed the above application.

3. In view of this, the application is allowed.

4. Learned counsel for the appellant-insurance company is directed to incorporate the required endorsement in the memo of appeal today.

Order on Appeal :-

1. The instant appeal under Section 173 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 has been preferred by the Insurer of the offending car no. UP-78-Q-9280 against the impugned Judgment and Award dated 25.01.2011 passed by Motor Accidents Claims Tribunal/ District Judge, Etawah, in Motor Accident Claim Petition No. 403/2008 (Smt. Luxmi Devi Dubey and three others v. Smt. Anwari Begum and another), whereby for the untimely death of Ramakant Dubey on 12.02.2008 due to the injuries suffered in a road accident which occurred on 21.01.2008, a compensation of Rs.

13,57,000/- along with interest at the rate of 6% per annum has been awarded to the claimants which has been ordered to be indemnified by the Insurer of the aforesaid offending vehicle.

2. Learned counsel for the appellant- Insurance Company submitted that there was no negligence of the offending driver in the alleged accident, but the Tribunal has held otherwise. Learned counsel submitted that at the time of accident, an ox suddenly crossed the road, and in order avoid collision with it, the driver swerved his car and hit the deceased, in which, there was no negligence on the part of the offending car driver. It was further submitted that the deceased did not suffer any fatal injury in the accident. In fact, after treatment, he was discharged from the hospital on 3-2-2008, but due to tetanus, he was again admitted to the hospital on 4-2-2008, where he died during treatment on 12-2-2008. He further submitted that there was no nexus between the injuries suffered by the deceased and his cause of death, which was tetanus, as such, the Tribunal has erred in concluding that the deceased died due to the injuries suffered in the accident. With these submissions, it was prayed that the appeal be allowed and the impugned judgment and award of the Tribunal be set aside.

3. Per contra, learned counsel for the claimants-respondents submitted that the deceased suffered grievous injuries in the accident, due to which, he developed tetanus and died subsequently, as such, there was close nexus between the injuries suffered by the deceased and his cause of death, which was duly proved by documentary evidence on record. As such, the Tribunal has not erred in ordering the appellant to indemnify the compensation payable to the claimants. It was further submitted that the Tribunal has, in fact, awarded less compensation to the claimants, which be enhanced in accordance with law.

4. I have heard the learned counsel of both the sides and perused the record of the lower court.

5. From the perusal of the record of the lower court, it is evident that the owner of the offending car- Smt. Anwari Begum, in her written statement, has accepted the factum of the accident and has stated that it occurred due to divine intervention, since a stray animal suddenly came on the road. She further averred that the accident occurred due to the sole negligence of the deceased, who was driving his motorcycle in a rash and negligent manner. It was further averred that the car driver- Raghvendra Pal Singh, was having a valid and effective driving licence at the time of the accident and further, the car was insured with The New India Assurance Company Ltd, as such, if any liability is imposed on her, it will be indemnified by the insurer of the offending car. It was further averred that the deceased died due to the sole negligence of the doctors, for which the owner, driver, and insurer are not responsible.

6. Before the Tribunal, the wife of the deceased- Smt. Luxmi Devi, examined herself as PW-1, Jagdish Prasad as PW-2 and Ramakant as PW-3, whereas no oral evidence was led by the owner, driver, and insurer of the offending car. PW-3 is not an eyewitness of the accident.

7. PW-1 very fairly accepted that she was not an eye witness of the accident. Jagdish Prasad, PW-2, deposed that on 21-1-2008, at about 6.00 pm, he was coming by bicycle from Jaswant Nagar to his village Barra, and when he reached near petrol pump at Kantihar, he saw a motorcycle no. UP-75-F-5736 coming from Saifai and going towards Etawah. At the same time, a car no. UP-78-

Q-9280, which was being driven in a rash and negligent manner, swerved towards the left side in order to avoid an ox which was passing from the right, collided with the above motorcycle from behind, due to which, the motorcycle driver suffered grievous injuries. He further deposed that at the spot, the police personnel of police station- Vaidpura were also present, who took the injured-Ramakant to the Etawah district hospital, and his motorcycle was taken to the police station. He further deposed that the accident occurred due to the sole negligence of the car driver because had he driven his car at a normal speed, then the accident would not have occurred. In the cross-examination, he deposed that the accident occurred after the motorcycle of the deceased and the car had crossed his cycle. He further deposed that prior to the arrival of the ox on the road, the motorcycle of the deceased had crossed, and the car hit the motorcycle from behind.

8. From the testimony of eye-witness PW-2, it is evident that the accident occurred when the offending car hit the motorcycle of the deceased from behind, as such, there was no contributory negligence of the deceased in the accident. It is further evident that had the offending driver been driving his car at a controlled speed, then the accident could have been averted. The driver of the offending car has not been examined to prove he was not negligent in driving the offending car at the time of the accident.

9. In view of this, the contention of the learned counsel for the appellant that there was no negligence of the offending car driver in the accident is rejected.

10. From the perusal of the treatment papers of the deceased on record, it is evident that the deceased was admitted to Jai Devi Hospital and Research Centre, Agra, from 23-1-2008 to 3-2-2008, where he was treated for a commuted fracture of the right patella, for which he was operated upon. The deceased was examined by Dr. A.N. Tiwari on 04-2-2008, 06-2-2008, 08-2-2008 and 10-2-2008, who continuously diagnosed high fever and prescribed appropriate treatment, as per his wisdom. On 12-2-2008, due to tremor and jerks in the whole body, which was bending like bow, he diagnosed that the deceased was suffering from tetanus with fever, and referred him to the I.D.H. Department, GSVM Medical College, Kanpur but he died on 12-2-2008 at his house. It is apparent that the deceased remained under treatment from 4-2-2008 till his death on 12-2-2008 and he ultimately died due to tetanus.

11. This Court has to examine whether there was a nexus between the cause of death of the deceased and the injuries suffered by him in the accident.

12. The High Court of Karnataka in the case of Jayarathnamma and others vs Mukhtiar Singh and another 2005 SCC OnLine Kar 639, where the deceased died due to tetanus as a result of the injuries suffered in a accident, held as under:-

6. The evidence of PW 2 discloses that the deceased was admitted to Government Hospital, Chitradurga on the date of the accident, i.e., on 3.11.1992 and he was in the said hospital as an inpatient for three days. Thereafter, he was discharged from Government Hospital, Chitradurga, and was admitted to Government Medical College and Hospital at Bellary. No doubt, the discharge certificate shows that deceased was discharged against medical advice. From that, it cannot be inferred that there was any negligence on the part of the persons who discharged the deceased from the Government Hospital at Chitradurga. The deceased is from Sriramaseththihalli village, Sandur Taluk, Bellary District. The fact that the discharge was against the medical advice indicates that the nature of injuries sustained by the deceased was of serious nature. Under these circumstances, it is not possible to take a view that there was negligence in giving treatment to the deceased and the death of deceased took place on account of such negligence. Therefore, the fact that the deceased was shifted from smaller hospital at Chitradurga to Medical College and Hospital at Bellary indicates that all efforts were made to give the best treatment to the deceased. It may be that the deceased being a resident of Sriramaseththihalli village, Sandur Taluk, Bellary District which is nearer to Medical College and Hospital, Bellary, he was shifted to Medical College and Hospital at Bellary. Further, it cannot be disputed that Medical College and Hospital at Bellary had better facilities for treatment than the Government Hospital at Chitradurga. Exh. P24 shows that the deceased died on account of tetanus. The term 'tetanus' is described in Webster's Dictionary as follows:

"Tetanus is an infectious, often a fatal disease, due to a specific bacterium, Clostridium tetani, which has gained entrance to the body through wounds, characterized by more or less violent tonic spasm and rigidity of many or all the voluntary muscles."

In the instant case, there cannot be any dispute that the deceased had developed tetanus as a result of the injuries sustained by him in the accident in question. It is not the case of the insurance company that the deceased was not admitted to the Government Medical College and Hospital, Bellary and that he did not die in the hospital. The averments made in the petition is supported by evidence of PW 2 who is the widow of the deceased. There is proximity to the date of the accident and the date of death. It cannot be disputed that but for the injuries sustained by the deceased in the accident in question, there was no occasion to admit him to hospital for treatment. There is no material placed on behalf of the respondent to show that the death of the victim of accident has taken place on account of negligence of Shanmukhappa or his legal heirs who were attending on him. When the evidence on record shows that the deceased was admitted to Government Hospital, Chitradurga and thereafter from the said hospital, he was removed to Government Medical College and Hospital, Bellary and he died in the hospital, the only inference that can be drawn in the absence of any other evidence is that the deceased had died as a result of the injuries sustained by him in the accident in question. It is necessary to point out that when the victim of the accident is admitted to a hospital neither he nor his close relatives including his legal heirs will not have direct control or the capacity to assess or review the nature of treatment given to the victim of the accident in the hospital. In such situations, even if there is any lapse on the part of the doctors treating the victim of the accident, that cannot be a ground to deprive either the victim of the accident and in case of his death, his legal heirs the compensation to which they are entitled to in law. The entire matter will have to be viewed keeping in view that the provisions under the Act are made for award of compensation to relieve the hardship either of the victim of the accident or the legal heirs that are likely to be put in case of death of the victim of the accident and the object of the legislation being beneficial intended to protect the victim of the accident. But for the injuries sustained by the deceased Shanmukhappa, in the normal course, there was no scope for him to develop tetanus which is stated to have been the cause for his death. If the matter is so viewed, we have no hesitation to take a view on the basis of evidence on the record that Shanmukhappa had died as a result of injuries sustained by him in the accident. Under these circumstances, we have no reason to disbelieve the evidence of PW 2 that the deceased was admitted to the Government Medical College and Hospital, Bellary and he died in the hospital. Therefore, we are of the view that the learned Tribunal was not justified in holding that death was not as a result of the injuries sustained by the deceased.

13. The High Court of Madras in the case of The New India Assurance Co. Ltd. vs Malliga and others CMA No. 2835 of 2002 decided on 01.02.2008, while examining the nexus between the cause of death of deceased and the injuries suffered by him in the accident, held as under:-

7. Deceased Muthumathi sustained injuries in the accident on 19.11.1998 when he was driving lorry. In her evidence, first claimant [AW-1] has deposed that deceased Muthumathi was admitted in Government Hospital, Krishnagiri on 19.11.1998 and after initial treatment, he was admitted in Government Hospital, Chennai on 22.11.1998 for further treatment. Deceased was discharged from Hospital on 14.05.1999 and the deceased died on 23.09.1999 at his residence. In her evidence, PW-1 has stated that even after discharge, the deceased had taken private treatment. While he was in the hospital, he was twice operated upon and only thereafter, discharged on 14.05.1999.

8. In his evidence, AW-2 Dr. Gopalan, Surgeon in Stanley Medical College Hospital has stated that he has examined the deceased one day prior to his death on 22.07.1999 and during his examination, he has found that the deceased had stiff jaw and the cell muscles of the body of the deceased was also found to be stiff. PW-2 further deposed that the deceased developed "Latent Tetanus" and probably due to this cause, the deceased died. Ex.A-2 is the Discharge Summary from which it is seen that left leg was partially amputated and deceased was advised to come for SSG after two weeks.

9. Concededly the deceased Muthumathi sustained injuries on the lateral aspect of left leg on 19.11.1998 while he was on duty in the course of his employment. He was also given treatment for septicemia. During cross examination AW-2 admitted that while deceased was being treated, he was administered Anti Tetanus Toxicide injection to prevent Tetanus at any later point of time. Based on the evidence of PW-2, the learned Counsel for the Appellant contended that the deceased Muthumathi had been injected for anti-tetanus and therefore, it is improbable that the deceased would have developed tetanus. On that score, it was submitted that a doubt must be entertained as to whether Muthumathi's death was due to tetanus resulting from the injury sustained by him in the accident.

10. This doubt sought to be raised by the learned Counsel for the Appellant does not merit acceptance. In his evidence AW-2 has categorically stated that while he examined the deceased on 22.07.1999, he found that the deceased had developed Latent Tetanus. It may be that anti-tetanus injection administered might have effect for more than a year. Since the deceased sustained crush injury over the entire left leg, tetanus attack cannot be ruled out. Contention of the appellant that there was no nexus between the injuries and the death of deceased is unsustainable. In the light of the evidence of PW-2 there is no difficulty in reaching the conclusion that tetanus infection brought about death must be directly attributed to the injury sustained by Muthumathi in the accident. Cause of death is not remote or unconnected one with the injury sustained by the deceased in the course of his employment. Needless to say that if cause of death is integrally connected with the injury sustained in the accident, cause of death must be attributed to the injury sustained in the accident.

11. It is futile to contend whether at all deceased died due to tetanus. In similar case in 1975 ACJ 215 [Madras] Govind Singh and ors. v. Kailasam and another, deceased sustained injury in the course of his employment. In that case arising under Motor Vehicles Act, the injured developed tetanus during treatment and he succumbed to the disease. Observing that autopsy is not indispensable to determine cause of death and holding that cause of death is not a remote or unconnected one with the injury sustained by the deceased. the Court has held:

"11. ... Having regard to the fact that the setting in of tetanus is a foreseeable and likely consequence of any bleeding injury and in the absence of evidence to show that any other supervening cause brought about the tetanus infection there is absolutely no possibility of Heera Bai's death being caused by novus actus interveniens."

The above observation is squarely applicable to the present case.

14. The High Court of Chattisgarh in the case of Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. vs Sukhyarin and others 2024 SCC OnLine Chh 7750, where the death occurred due to infection in the amputated injured area as a result of accident, held as under:-

15. In the present case, the deceased sustained injuries in the accident because of rash and negligent driving of the vehicle by respondent No. 4 as a result of which left leg of the deceased was amputated and when he was in the house, it was infected which has caused his death, therefore, it cannot be said that the death was not caused because of rash and negligent driving of the vehicle and if the accident would have not taken place, his left leg would have not been amputated and probability of infection in the body cannot be ruled out. Thus, there is nexus between cause of death and accident. Claimant witness PW/I Sukhiyarin Bain in her deposition has categorically stated that in the operated place of the deceased body there was bad smell of thick fluid containing dead tissue, cells, and bacteria, which was neither rebutted through cross-examination nor examined any witnesses by the Insurance Company, as such probability of infection in the body of the deceased cannot be ruled out.

16. The issue with regard to nexus between cause of death and accident has come up for consideration before the Hon'ble High Court of Madras in Govind Singh v. A.S. Kailasram, decided on 1-8-1974 wherein it has been held in para 11 as under.

"11. Injury sustained in one accident may be the cause of a subsequent injury. The injury sustained by accident by victims on the operation table is an example of such a situation. So too are cases of suicide resulting from a mental condition produced by an accident (Pigney v. Pointera Transport Service Ltd., [1957] 2 All ER 807). Smith v. Leech Brain and Co. Ltd., [1961] 3 All ER 1159, was a case where the plaintiff had been injured by a splash of molten metal which burnt his lip. He later contracted cancer, underwent operation and died. The defendants were found to be negligent, in causing the burn and the burn was the promoting agency which promoted cancer in the tissues which already had a pre-malignant condition. Lord Parker, C.J., attributed the death to the original accident and found the defendants liable to in respect of that death. Wieland v. Cyril Lord Carpets Ltd., [1969] 3 All ER 1006 was a case where the plaintiff suffered an injury caused by the admitted negligence of the defendants. After attending the hospital, she felt shaken and the movement of her head was constricted by a collar which had been fitted to her neck. In consequence, she was unable to use her bifocal spectacles with her usual skill and she fell while descending stairs, sustaining further injuries. It was held that the injuries and damage suffered because of the second fall were attributable to the original negligence of the defendants so as to attract compensation from them. Bloor v. Liverpool Darricking & Co. Ltd., [1936] 3 All ER 399 was a case where the deceased employed as a derrickman, volunteered to act temporarily as a shipper on another barge, stumbled? and fell into the hole and sustained minor injuries. He was removed to the hospital and given an anaesthetic under which he collapsed and died. The post-mortem examination revealed that he had a diseased heart. Three learned Judges of the Court of Appeal held that the administration of anaesthesia cannot be deemed to be novus-actus interveniens such as to break the chain of causation between the accident and the death and consequently the death must be attributed to the injuries sustained in the accident. A Bench of this Court had to consider in Mrs. C.P. Francis v. K.S. Shivaji & Co., C.M.A. No. 96 of 1970 of this Court judgment dated 11-2-1974 (Mad.), whether an accident victim who sustained a hit on the right part of his stomach, but did not sustain any visible injury on the abdomen could be deemed to have died as a result of the injury sustained in the accident when, a few days later, his abdomen had to be opened for surgical treatment of his stomach-pain and it was then found that the greater omentum was covering up the loops of intestines going down to pelvis causing an obstruction, a membrane was covering the jejuno-ilial junction and further exploration revealed pelycabeess and lacerated appendix. The victim was operated, but he died of peritonitis. This court held that, in the absence of independent evidence to show that the victim was suffering from appendicitis earlier, the court was justified in presuming that the death of the deceased was the result of appendicitis caused by the rash and negligent act of the driver of the motor vehicle at the time of the accident. The principle in cases of this kind can best be described in the words of Lord Denning, M.R. in Statment v. West African Terminals Ltd., (1954) 2 Lloyds Rep 371 (at page 375):

“..... it is not necessary that the precise contention of circumstances should be envisaged. If the consequence was one which was within the general range, which any reasonable man might foresee (and was not of an entirely different kind which no one would anticipate) then it is within the rule that a person who had been guilty of negligence is liable for the consequences”.

19. From the above legal position and also considering the evidence brought on record and the opinion given by the Doctor that there was infection in the body of the deceased and his left leg was amputated, which is not in dispute and Infection of the body is consequent to the amputation. Thus, it is quite vivid that the death was caused due to rash and negligent driving of the tractor by respondent No. 4, as such there is nexus regarding cause of death. Also considering the fact that insurance company has not adduced any evidence to rebut the statement of Smt. Sukhiyarin Bai (PW-01), who in clear terms has stated that the left leg of her husband was amputated because of rash and negligent driving of tractor by respondent No. 4 and thereafter he died. Thus, it is clearly established that death was taken place due to rash and negligent driving of the vehicle causing amputation of the left leg of the deceased. Thus, the submission made by the learned counsel for the appellant, that it was natural death and the claimants have not examined any Doctor to prove that death was caused due to amputation deserves to be rejected.

15. In similar facts and circumstances where the death occurred due to septicemia because of infection in the injured area as a result of accident, the High Court of Madras in the case of National Insurance Co. Ltd. vs Anthony @ Rakesh and others 2014 SCC OnLine Mad 480, held as under:-

9. The ratio in the Judgments reported in Vatsala v. Meenakshi, 2005 (1) TN MAC 62 (DB) : 2005 (1) LW 560; Maricar Motors Ltd. v. Neelambal Ramaswamy, 1982 ACJ (Supp) 570, and the Judgment in C.M.A. No. 1305/2012 are that when factually it is established that the death was not unconnected to the injury, when sufficient materials are placed before the Tribunal to show that the deceased was taking continuous treatment and when no contra evidence is produced, the claim must be allowed.

11. The next contention of the Counsel for 2nd Respondent is that the death of Anthony alias Anthony Rakesh was not due to the injuries suffered by him. According to the Counsel for the 2nd Respondent unless a Post-mortem report was produced, it could not be said that the death had a nexus with the injury. The Counsel for the Claimants has relied upon the following Judgments to contend that Post-Mortem Report is not necessary to prove that the death was caused by the after effects of the injury.

12. In the Judgment reported in Govind Singh v. A.S. Kailasam, 1975 ACJ 215, this Court has held as follows:

“9. ... In a case where the patient had been clinically diagnosed as suffering from tetanus or lock-jaw and had succumbed to the disease despite treatment, an autopsy is not an indispensable test to determine the cause of death. ...

10. ... It is needless to say that if the cause of death is integrally connected with the injury sustained in the accident and is one in the chain of causa causens the cause of death must be attributed to the injury sustained in the accident, however trivial or minor the injury, by itself, may be.”

13. In the Judgment reported in Khairullah v. Anita, 1994 ACJ 1017, the Andhra Pradesh High Court has held as follows:

“4. It is vehemently contended by Mr. P. Rama Rao, learned Counsel appearing for the Appellants, that no autopsy was conducted over the dead body of the deceased to arrive at the cause of death. It may be remembered that the deceased died during the course of Medical treatment after about 25 days after the accident and he succumbed to the injuries. As already stated, Exh. A-10, the in-patient discharge ticket of the Hyderabad Nursing Home, where the deceased was undergoing treatment at the time of his death, shows that due to cardio-respiratory failure the deceased had died which is a consequence and secondary to head injury. The head injury was sustained by the deceased at the time of the accident. It is not a case under Section 302, Penal Code, 1860, wherein the conducting of Post-Mortem examination to know the cause of death may be necessary. In this case, the cause of death is known from the documentary evidence, especially Exh. A-10 and also from the evidence of PW 2. The evidence of PW 2 is convincing. In the light of both oral and documentary evidence available in this case, the failure to conduct Post-

Mortem examination over the dead body of the deceased cannot be taken as a circumstance against the Claimants, who are claiming Compensation for the death of the deceased.”

14. The ratio in the Judgments are squarely applicable to the present facts of the case. As stated above, the deceased was under continuous Medical treatment. Exhibits P-4 to P-10 also reveal the presence of infection which is also corroborated by the evidence of PW 3. No contradictory evidence has been let in by the 2nd Respondent. Applying the ratio in the above cases, I hold that the production of Post-Mortem Report is not compulsory as the reason for the death can be inferred from other documents namely P-4 to P-10.

16. From the above law laid down by the various High Courts, it is well-settled that where there is a nexus between the injuries caused and the cause of death of the deceased, then certainly compensation can be awarded for the death of a person, who suffered injuries in a motor accident. It is apparent that in the instant case, due to the accidental injuries suffered on 21.01.2008, the deceased developed tetanus, which is incurable, and he died subsequently during treatment on 12-2-2008. Had the deceased not suffered injuries in the accident for which he was operated upon, he certainly would not have been infected with tetanus and would also not have died, due to it. As such, the contention of the appellant that there was no nexus between the injuries suffered in the accident and the cause of death of the deceased, is rejected. The tribunal has rightly held that the deceased died due to the injuries suffered in the accident, and the accident was due to the sole negligence of the offending car driver.

17. No other issue was pressed by the learned counsel for the appellant-insurance company.

18. The contention of the claimants-respondents that the tribunal has awarded inadequate compensation cannot be examined in this appeal since no cross-appeal or cross-objection has been filed by the claimants.

19. Accordingly, this appeal has got no merit and is liable to be dismissed.

20. The appeal is dismissed. The impugned judgment and award of the Tribunal dated 25-1-2011 is affirmed.

21. Office is directed to remit back the statutory deposit made by the appellant-insurance company to the tribunal concerned, forthwith.

22. Interim order, if any, stands vacated.

23. It was submitted by the learned counsel for the claimants-respondents that during the pendency of the appeal, respondents no. 2, 3, and 4 have died, as such, Smt. Luxmi Devi-respondent no. 1, is entitled to receive the remaining amount of compensation along with interest, which has not been deposited by the appellant-insurance company due to the stay order of this Court dated 13-5-2011.

24. Since the respondents no. 2, 3, and 4 have died, as such, the Tribunal is directed to pay the remaining amount of compensation to the surviving legal heir, i.e., respondent no. 1, Smt. Luxmi Devi, in accordance with law.

25. Office is directed to send back the lower court record, forthwith.

SCC Revision No. 4 of 2016

Arun Kumar Verma (Arun Kumar Mishra) & Anr. ...Revisionist

Issue for Consideration

Whether the District Judge has rejected the recall application by placing reliance upon the Section 17 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887 without considering that the revisionists on the very same date had moved an application for providing time for giving the security, so the order is bad in the eyes of law and deprived the revisionists from getting justice on the technical ground.

Head Notes

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908-Order IX Rule 13; The Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887- Sections 17 & 25- The proviso of Section 17 (1) of the Act, 1887 is very clear that application seeking setting aside of decree passed ex-parte or for a review of judgment must be accompanied with either depositing in the Court the amount due from him under the decree or in pursuance of the judgment, or giving such security for the performance of the decree or compliance with the judgment as the Court had directed on a previous application made by revisionists in this regard.

Held- It is admitted as well as pleaded case of the revisionists that they had moved an application for providing time for giving security on 06.12.2025 i.e. on the date when their application under Order IX Rule 13 CPC was rejected meaning thereby, it is an admitted and undisputed case that at the time of presentation of the application for recall under Order IX Rule 13 CPC on 25.07.2025, the revisionists had neither deposited the amount nor had moved any application for submitting the security, hence, there is no illegality or infirmity in the order impugned - Petition dismissed. Against the judgment and order dated 06.12.2025 and the formal order dated 11.12.2025 passed by the District Judge, Barabanki in S.C.C. Suit No. 1 of 2024 whereby the application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. filed by the revisionists was dismissed.

Counsel for Revisionist(s) : Shujat Kidwai, Mohammad Asad Mahmood

Counsel for Opposite Party(s) : Ghufra Hussain

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manish Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Shri Shujat Kidwai, learned counsel for the revisionists and Shri Ghufra Hussain, learned counsel for the respondent/caveator.

2. With the consent of respective parties, the present revision is being decided at the admission stage itself.

3. The present S.C.C. Revision has been preferred against the judgment and order dated 06.12.2025 and the formal order dated 11.12.2025 passed by the District Judge, Barabanki in S.C.C. Suit No. 1 of 2024 whereby the application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. filed by the revisionists was dismissed.

4. Learned counsel for the revisionists has submitted that an ex-parte decree/order was passed on 20.01.2025 in S.C.C. Suit No. 1 of 2024. Against which, the revisionists had preferred a recall application on 25.07.2025 under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C.. The said application was accepted by Additional District Judge by order dated 17.10.2025 but on 06.12.2025, the District Judge has rejected the recall application by placing reliance upon the Section 17 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887 (hereinafter referred to as, the Act, 1887) without considering that the revisionists on the very same date had moved an application for providing time for giving the security, so the order is bad in the eyes of law and deprived the revisionists from getting justice on the technical ground.

5. On the other hand, learned counsel for the respondent has submitted that as per Section 17 of the Act, 1887, the revisionists had to move an application for recall/review etc accompanied therewith the amount due under the decree or in pursuance of the judgment. In case to dispense with the same, the application for recall must be accompanied with an application seeking direction of the Court for leave to furnish security but the application for recall preferred by the revisionists was neither accompanied with the decretal amount nor any application to furnish the security despite the fact that the said condition is mandatory in nature as per the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Kedarnath Vs. Mohan Lal Kesarwari and others reported in AIR 2002 Supreme Court 582, hence, there is no illegality in the order impugned herein passed by the District Judge, Barabanki.

6. After hearing learned counsel for the respective parties, going through the record of the case, the relevant provisions and the judgment relied by learned counsel for the respondent, the position which emerges out as in the present case is that it is an undisputed fact between the parties that against the decree dated 20.01.2025, the revisionists had preferred a recall application on 25.07.2025 without accompanying therewith the decretal amount and as per proviso to the Section 17 (1), the revisionists has also not filed any application to dispense with the deposit at the time of filing of the recall application. For convenience, Section 17 (1) of the Act 1887 is being reproduced hereinbelow:-

"17. Application of the Code of Civil Procedure- (1) [the procedure prescribed in the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908), shall save in so far as is otherwise provided by that Code or by this Act] be the procedure followed in a Court of Small Causes, in all suits cognizable by it and in all proceedings arising out of such suits:

Provided that an applicant for an order to set aside a decree passed ex parte or for a review of judgment shall, at the time of presenting his application, either deposit in the Court the amount due from him under the decree or in pursuance of the judgment, or give [such security for the performance of the decree or compliance with the judgment as the Court may, on a previous application made by him in this behalf, have directed].

(2) Where a person has become liable as surety under the proviso to sub section (1), the security may be realised in manner provided by section of the Code of Civil Procedure.

7. The proviso of Section 17 (1) of the Act, 1887 is very clear that application seeking setting aside of decree passed ex-parte or for a review of judgment must be accompanied with either depositing in the Court the amount due from him under the decree or in pursuance of the judgment, or giving such security for the performance of the decree or compliance with the judgment as the Court had directed on a previous application made by revisionists in this regard. The said condition is mandatory in nature as held by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Kedarnath (supra) relied by learned counsel for the respondent/caveator. The relevant paras of the said judgment and order is being quoted hereinbelow :-

"8. A bare reading of the provision shows that the Legislature have chosen to couch the language of the proviso in a mandatory form and we see no reason to interpret, construe and hold the nature of the proviso as directory. An application seeking to set aside an ex parte decree passed by a Court of Small Causes or for a review of its judgment must be accompanied by a deposit in the Court of the amount due from the applicant under the decree or in pursuance of the judgment. The provision as to deposit can be dispensed with by the Court in its discretion subject to a previous application by the applicant seeking direction of the Court for leave to furnish security and the nature thereof. The proviso does not provide for the extent of time by which such application for dispensation may be filed. We think that it may be filed at any time up to the time of presentation of application for setting aside ex parte decree or for review and the Court may treat it as a previous application. The obligation of the applicant is to move a previous application for dispensation. It is then for the Court to make a prompt order. The delay on the part of the Court in passing an appropriate order would not be held against the applicant because none can be made to suffer for the fault of the Court.

9. In the case at hand, the application for setting aside ex parte decree was not accompanied by deposit in the Court of the amount due and payable by the applicant under the decree. The applicant also did not move any application for dispensing with deposit and seeking leave of the Court for furnishing such security for the performance of the decree as the Court may have directed. The application for setting aside the decree was therefore incompetent. It could not have been entertained and allowed"

8. It is admitted as well as pleaded case of the revisionists that they had moved an application for providing time for giving security on 06.12.2025 i.e. on the date when their application under Order IX Rule 13 CPC was rejected meaning thereby, it is an admitted and undisputed case that at the time of presentation of the application for recall under Order IX Rule 13 CPC on 25.07.2025, the revisionists had neither deposited the amount nor had moved any application for submitting the security, hence, there is no illegality or infirmity in the order impugned dated 06.12.2025 and formal order dated 11.12.2025 passed by the District Judge, Barbanki passed in S.C.C. Suit No. 1 of 2024, thus, no interference is called for.

9. In view of the aforesaid facts, circumstances and discussion made hereinabove, the present S.C.C. Revision is devoid of merits, hence, dismissed.

Transfer Application (Civil) No. 1027 of 2023

Smt. Arju @ Vimal

...Applicant

Versus

Umakant Parasar

...Opposite Party

Issue for Consideration

Whether the Transfer application filed deserves to be allowed on the ground of categorical "No Objection" expressed on behalf of the Opposite Party

Head Notes

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908-Section 24; The Hindu Marriage Act,1955-Section 13- When transfer is sought and is not opposed, and the Court finds no legal impediment, such transfer would clearly subserve the ends of justice. The requirement of recording reasons is sufficiently met by noting the consent of parties coupled with the Court's satisfaction regarding the propriety of transfer- In matrimonial proceedings, Courts have observed that the convenience of the wife deserves due consideration, and that the cardinal principle governing exercise of power under Section 24 of the Code of Civil Procedure is that the ends of justice should be subserved.

Held- In view of the hardship that has been pleaded by the applicant and the categorical "No Objection" expressed on behalf of the Opposite Party, this Court is of the considered opinion that the present case is a fit one for exercise of power under Section 24 CPC. The transfer sought, being by consent of the parties and in furtherance of justice, deserves to be allowed. (E-15)

Transfer Application; No objection by the Opposite Party; Matrimonial Proceedings; Wife deserves due consideration; Section 24 CPC.

Case Arising From

Case No. 925 of 2023 (Umakant vs. Arju), instituted under Section 13 of the Hindu Marriage Act, 1955. The Applicant seeks transfer of the said proceedings from the Court of the Principal Judge, Family Court, Meerut, to the Court of competent jurisdiction at District Baghpat.

Appearances for Parties

Counsel for Applicant(s) : Sandeep Kumar Singh
Counsel for Opposite Party(s) : Awadh Narain Rai

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Sandeep Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the applicant and Sri Awadh Narain Rai, learned counsel for the opposite party.

2. The present application has been preferred by the Applicant-wife under Section 24 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, seeking transfer of Case No. 925 of 2023 (Umakant vs. Arju), instituted under Section 13 of the Hindu Marriage Act, 1955. The Applicant seeks transfer of the said proceedings from the Court of the Principal Judge, Family Court, Meerut, to the Court of competent jurisdiction at District Baghpat.

3. The order-sheet of the case indicates that on 16.1.2024, when the case was taken up as fresh case, this Court, upon considering the submissions made on behalf of the applicant that a complaint case registered as Complaint Case No. 4275 of 2022 was pending in the Baghpat Judgeship and that as per the applicant, this divorce petition had been filed by the respondent in the Family Court at Meerut with a view to harass the applicant, and also taking note of the fact that the applicant is a deserted wife, having no source of income, directed issuance of notice and stayed the further proceedings of the divorce suit.

4. Today, upon the case being taken up, counsel appearing for the opposite party states that he has instructions from the opposite party, not to oppose the present application for transfer.

5. The facts as pleaded on behalf of the applicant-wife indicate that, the opposite party filed the petition under Section 13 of the Hindu Marriage Act 1955, on 20.04.2023, before the Court of Principal Judge, Family Court, Meerut, seeking a declaration that the marriage dated 21.02.2020 be dissolved. The said petition was registered as Case No. 925 of 2023 (Umakant v. Arju). Notice of the said proceedings has been served upon the applicant and the matter is pending before the Family Court, Meerut.

6. The applicant is stated to be presently residing at her parental home along with her minor daughter. According to the applicant, attending the proceedings at Meerut would cause inconvenience and hardship. In these circumstances, the present application under Section 24 of the Code of Civil Procedure has been filed seeking transfer of the divorce case pending before the Family Court, Meerut.

7. This Court has considered the pleadings on record, the submissions made, and the statutory scheme of Section 24 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

8. Section 24 CPC confers a wide and discretionary jurisdiction upon the High Court and the District Court to transfer or withdraw any suit, appeal or other proceeding at any stage, either on the application of any of the parties or even suo motu. The provision is intended to ensure fair trial, avoid hardship, and secure proper administration of justice.

9. It is a settled principle that ordinarily the plaintiff, being dominus litis, has the right to choose the forum of institution, and such choice should not be lightly interfered with. However, this right is not absolute. Section 24 CPC constitutes an exception to the general rule and empowers the Court to override such choice where the ends of justice so demand.

10. In the present case, it is significant to note that the respondent has expressly stated that he does not wish to oppose the transfer application. The fact that the transfer is not contested and is, in effect, by consent of the parties is a relevant and material consideration. Though Section 24 CPC does not expressly use the expression "transfer by consent", nothing in the provision prohibits the Court from ordering transfer where both parties agree or where the opposite party raises no objection.

11. Where the parties are ad idem on the question of transfer, the need for a detailed comparative examination of balance of convenience stands considerably diluted. The plaintiff's right as dominus litis is deemed to have been voluntarily waived, and no prejudice can be said to be caused to either side. A consensual transfer, in such circumstances, ordinarily advances the interest of justice, avoids procedural contest, and facilitates expeditious adjudication.

12. When transfer is sought and is not opposed, and the Court finds no legal impediment, such transfer would clearly subserve the ends of justice. The requirement of recording reasons is sufficiently met by noting the consent of parties coupled with the Court's satisfaction regarding the propriety of transfer.

13. The power of transfer under Section 24 CPC is discretionary but must be exercised to subserve the ends of justice. In matrimonial disputes, the "balance of convenience" is the primary yardstick. The courts have consistently held that while "convenience" is a relative term, in the Indian socio-economic context, the convenience of the wife must be afforded priority while considering transfer.

14. In matrimonial proceedings, Courts have observed that the convenience of the wife deserves due consideration, and that the cardinal principle governing exercise of power under Section 24 of the Code of Civil Procedure is that the ends of justice should be subserved.

15. In view of the aforesaid discussion, and particularly in view of the hardship that has been pleaded by the applicant and the categorical "No Objection" expressed on behalf of the Opposite Party, this Court is of the considered opinion that the present case is a fit one for exercise of power under Section 24 CPC. The transfer sought, being by consent of the parties and in furtherance of justice, deserves to be allowed.

16. Accordingly, the Civil Misc. Transfer Application is allowed with the following directions :

(i) The proceedings of Case No. 925 of 2023 (Umakant vs. Arju), instituted under Section 13 of the Hindu Marriage Act, 1955, are hereby withdrawn from the Court of the Principal Judge, Family Court, Meerut, and transferred to the Court of the Principle Judge, Family Court, Baghpat.

(ii) The Principal Judge, Family Court, Meerut, is directed to transmit the entire case record to the Transferee Court at District Baghpat within fifteen days from the date of receipt of a certified copy of this order.

(iii) The Transferee Court shall proceed with the matter from the stage at which it was transferred and shall endeavor to conclude the proceedings expeditiously.

17. Parties would, also, be at liberty to seek expedition of the case before the Transferee Court.

Issue for Consideration

Whether the District Magistrate has reviewed his earlier order whereas the statute does not confer the power of review upon him and, therefore, the District Magistrate has not acted in accordance with the provisions of the enactment in question and whether the DRT wrongly rejected the petitioner's application for interim relief for staying the impugned order passed by the District Magistrate, without assigning any reason.

Head Notes

The Constitution of India, 1950-Article 227; The Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Securities Interest Act, 2002- Sections 13(4), 14 & 18- The correction of a typographical error regarding the date of possession notice under Section 13(4) of the SARFAESI Act is not a review, more particularly when at another place in the order dated 08.05.2025, the correct date of possession notice under Section 13(4) of the SARFAESI Act was mentioned as 14.11.2024. The correction of typographical error of date of possession notice under Section 13 (4) of the SARFAESI Act cannot be said to be a review of the order passed under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act. There is no provision in any statute prohibiting exercise of powers for correction of typographical errors in the orders passed under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act and the order regarding correction of typographical error cannot be said to be passed without jurisdiction.

Held- The DRT has recorded in the impugned order that it has been specifically recorded in the order dated 26.08.2025 that a typing error was being rectified. The Magistrate has not modified / reviewed or recalled the earlier order dated 08.05.2025. The District Magistrate has corrected a typing error, which could have been done even without moving any application. This is the reason assigned for passing of the impugned order dated 10.11.2025 passed by the DRT and, therefore, it cannot be said that the order has been passed without assigning any reason and that the order is bad for this reason. The reasons assigned in the order dated 10.11.2025 are sufficient- Petition dismissed. (Para 15, 21 & 26) (E-15)

Case Arising From

Order dated 10.11.2025, passed by the Debts Recovery Tribunal in Securitisation Application No.936 of 2024, whereby the DRT has rejected the contention of the petitioner about illegality of an order dated 28.06.2025, passed by the District Magistrate Lucknow in Case No.1414 of 2025, under Section 14 of Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Securities Interest Act, 2002 correcting a typographical error in the previous order dated 08.05.2025 regarding the date of possession notice.

Appearances for Parties

Counsel for Petitioner(s) : Gautam Sadana, Devesh Srivastava

Counsel for Respondent(s) : Manu Dixit

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Devesh Srivastava and Sri Gautam Sadana, the learned counsel for the petitioners, Sri Manu Dixit, the learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 - HDFC Bank Ltd. and perused the records.

2. The learned counsel for the petitioners have stated that they have erroneously impleaded the DRT as opposite party no.1 to the petition. On their oral request they are permitted to strike out the name of Tribunal from the array of opposite parties in the memo of petition forthwith.

3. By means of the instant petition filed under Article 227 of the Constitution of India the petitioners have challenged the validity of an order dated 10.11.2025, passed by the Debts Recovery Tribunal (hereinafter referred to as 'the DRT') in Securitisation Application No.936 of 2024, whereby the DRT has rejected the contention of the petitioner about illegality of an order dated 28.06.2025, passed by the District Magistrate, Lucknow in Case No.1414 of 2025, under Section 14 of Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Securities Interest Act, 2002 (hereinafter referred to as the SARFAESI Act) correcting a typographical error in the previous order dated 08.05.2025 regarding the date of possession notice.

4. The learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 has raised a preliminary objection that the petition filed under Article 227 of the Constitution of India challenging the order passed by the DRT is not maintainable in view of availability of the statutory remedy of appeal under Section 18 of the SARFAESI Act. The learned counsel for the opposite party-Bank has relied upon judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the cases of Varimadugu Obi Reddy Vs. B. Sreenivasulu and others: (2023) 2 SCC 168, PHR Invent Educational Society Vs. UCO Bank and others: (2024) 6 SCC 579 and Balkrishna Rama Tarle v. Phoenix ARC (P) Ltd.: (2023) 1 SCC 662.

5. Per contra, the learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance upon the decisions of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the cases of S. N. Mukherjee Vs. Union of India: (1990) 4 SCC 594 and M/s Kranti Associates Pvt. Ltd. and another Vs. Sh. Masood Ahmed Khan and others: (2010) 9 SCC 496.

6. In Varimadugu Obi Reddy v. B. Sreenivasulu: (2023) 2 SCC 168 the securitisation application had been dismissed by the DRT, the dismissal order was not challenged and it became final. After taking possession of the mortgaged property, the Bank issued a notice to the borrowers calling upon them to repay the outstanding amount and thereafter it issued e-auction sale notice dated 25.02.2015 fixing the date of auction of the scheduled property on 28.03.2015. That borrowers challenged the e-auction sale notice before the DRT. The DRT passed an interim order dated 26.03.2015, directing the Bank to proceed with the auction-sale of the secured asset with a further direction not to issue the sale certificate provided the borrowers deposit Rs 6 lakhs within 15 days from the date of the said order, i.e., by 09.04.2015. It was made clear that in the event of the respondent borrowers fail to deposit the said amount, the respondent Bank will be at liberty to issue the sale certificate in favour of the highest bidder. The borrowers failed to deposit Rs 6 lakhs by 09.04.2015 and they filed an application on 09.04.2015 seeking extension of further 15 days' time from 10.04.2015 to deposit the amount and the Tribunal passed an order dated 17.04.2015 granting extension of 15 days' time to deposit Rs 6 lakhs and directed the Bank and the borrowers to maintain status quo. Since the dispute was ongoing before the Tribunal and the borrowers had failed to comply with the interim order dated 26.03.2015 to deposit Rs 6 lakhs within 15 days from the date of passing of the order by 10.04.2015, the Bank proceeded with the auction-sale in terms of liberty granted by the Tribunal. The auction purchaser had deposited Rs.5,54,000/- as the earnest money and he further deposited 25% amount after being declared the highest bidder. The purchaser deposited the balance 75% amount on 15.04.2015 and a sale certificate was issued in his favour. The auction sale had already been finalised and the sale certificate had already been issued when the Tribunal passed the order dated 17.04.2015 granting extension of 15 days' time to the borrowers to deposit Rs 6 lakhs.

7. The borrowers had raised two preliminary objections before the DRT. The first was that there was an error in the description of mortgaged property in the e-auction sale notice dated 25.02.2015 as the secured asset was property bearing "Door No. 12-3-39, 3rd Cross, Sai Nagar, Ananthapuramu" while in the e-auction sale notice, the property was described as Door No. "12-3-393" instead of "12-3-39" and this, according to the borrowers was the manifest error committed by the respondent Bank and because of which the property could not fetch the value which it ought to have fetched in the course of business. The DRT held that in the given facts and circumstances, the typographical inadvertent human error in reference to door number of the property may not leave ambiguity with regard to mortgaged property put to auction and this typographical error is inconsequential and does not vitiate the e-auction sale proceedings.

8. The other objection was that in terms of Rule 9(4) of the 2002 Rules, the auction price was to be deposited by the auction-purchaser within 15 days which expired on 10.04.2015 but it was deposited on 15.04.2015 which is in clear breach of Rule 9(4) of the 2002 Rules, in consequence thereof, the e-auction sale notice and all further proceedings initiated pursuant thereto deserve to be declared null and void. The DRT held that since the borrowers had failed to deposit Rs 6 lakhs in the extended period granted by the order dated 17.04.2015, the Tribunal granted further time to the borrowers till 10.05.2015, but by that time the auction proceedings had been finalised, the sale certificate had been duly registered. The Debts Recovery Tribunal dismissed the application by an order dated 01.08.2019. The Order of the DRT was set aside by the High Court. Setting aside the order of the High Court, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"36. In the instant case, although the respondent borrowers initially approached the Debts Recovery Tribunal by filing an application under Section 17 of the Sarfaesi Act, 2002, but the order of the Tribunal indeed was appealable under Section 18 of the Act subject to the compliance of condition of pre-deposit and without exhausting the statutory remedy of appeal, the respondent borrowers approached the High Court by filing the writ application under Article 226 of the Constitution. We deprecate such practice of entertaining the writ application by the High Court in exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution without exhausting the alternative statutory remedy available under the law. This circuitous route appears to have been adopted to avoid the condition of pre-deposit contemplated under 2nd proviso to Section 18 of the 2002 Act."

9. In PHR Invent Educational Society v. UCO Bank: (2024) 6 SCC 579, the Hon'ble Supreme Court followed the law laid down in Varimadugu Obi Reddy v. B. Sreenivasulu (Supra) and also followed some other judgments. The relevant passage from the aforesaid judgment is being quoted below: -

"29. Recently, in Celir LLP [Celir LLP v. Bafna Motors (Mumbai) (P) Ltd.: (2024) 2 SCC 1], after surveying various judgments of this Court, the Court observed thus:

“101. More than a decade back, this Court had expressed serious concern despite its repeated pronouncements in regard to the High Courts ignoring the availability of statutory remedies under the RDBFI Act and the SARFAESI Act and exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution. Even after the decision of this Court in Satyawati Tondon [United Bank of India v. Satyawati Tondon, (2010) 8 SCC 110], it appears that the High Courts have continued to exercise its writ jurisdiction under Article 226 ignoring the statutory remedies under the RDBFI Act and the SARFAESI Act.”

30. It can thus be seen that it is more than a settled legal position of law that in such matters, the High Court should not entertain a petition under Article 226 of the Constitution particularly when an alternative statutory remedy is available.

34. In our view, the High Court ought to have taken into consideration that the confirmed auction-sale could have been interfered with only when there was a fraud or collusion. The present case was not a case of fraud or collusion. The effect of the order of the High Court would be again reopening the issues which have achieved finality.

*37. It could thus clearly be seen that the Court has carved out certain exceptions when a petition under Article 226 of the Constitution could be entertained in spite of availability of an alternative remedy. Some of them are thus:

- (i) where the statutory authority has not acted in accordance with the provisions of the enactment in question;*
- (ii) it has acted in defiance of the fundamental principles of judicial procedure;*
- (iii) it has resorted to invoke the provisions which are repealed; and*
- (iv) when an order has been passed in total violation of the principles of natural justice.*

38. It has however been clarified that the High Court will not entertain a petition under Article 226 of the Constitution if an effective alternative remedy is available to the aggrieved person or the statute under which the action complained of has been taken itself contains a mechanism for redressal of grievance.”

(Emphasis added)

10. It has clearly been held in the aforesaid judgment that although the High Court should not ordinarily entertain a petition when the petitioner has got an alternative remedy of filing appeal under Section 18 of the SARFAESI Act, the bar of alternative remedy will not be there in case there has been a violation of the principles of natural justice.

11. The learned Counsel for the petitioners has submitted that the District Magistrate has reviewed his earlier order whereas the statute does not confer the power of review upon him and, therefore, the District Magistrate has not acted in accordance with the provisions of the enactment in question. The DRT has rejected the petitioner's application for interim relief for staying the impugned order passed by the District Magistrate, without assigning any reason. He has submitted that an order passed without assigning any reason is violates of principles of natural justice.

12. The learned counsel for the petitioners has relied upon a decision rendered by a Division Bench of this Court in the case of Kotak Mahindra Bank Ltd. Vs. State of U.P.: 2016 SCC OnLine All 3854, wherein it has been held that the District Magistrate has no power to review an order passed under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act. He has submitted that the order dated 28.06.2025 which changes the date of possession notice in the earlier order dated 08.05.2025, has caused substantial effect on the rights and interests of the petitioners and, therefore, it amounts to a review of the order.

13. In the order dated 08.05.2025, the District Magistrate has recorded in the opening paragraph that the HDFC Bank Ltd. had sent a demand notice to the petitioners under Section 13 (2) of the SARFAESI Act on 15.07.2024. After expiry of the notice period a possession notice dated 14.11.2024 was sent. Information was published in a daily newspaper also but the borrower did not pay the due amount to the bank and did not hand over possession of the property also. However, at another place it has been mentioned that that demand notice under Section 13 (2) the SARFAESI Act was issued on 15.07.2024 and the possession notice under Section 13 (4) of the SARFAESI Act was issued on 13.09.2024.

14. The respondent bank filed an application for correction of the aforesaid typographical error. The District Magistrate has allowed the application for correction of the error by means of the impugned order dated 28.06.2025 stating that the correction of typographical error is necessary in the interest of justice.

15. The correction of a typographical error regarding the date of possession notice under Section 13(4) of the SARFAESI Act is not a review, more particularly when at another place in the order dated 08.05.2025, the correct date of possession notice under Section 13(4) of the SARFAESI Act was mentioned as 14.11.2024. The correction of typographical error of date of possession notice under Section 13 (4) of the SARFAESI Act cannot be said to be a review of the order passed under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act. There is no provision in any statute prohibiting exercise of powers for correction of typographical errors in the orders passed under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act and the order regarding correction of typographical error cannot be said to be passed without jurisdiction.

16. The learned Counsel for the petitioner has placed before this Court only a part of a sentence from the judgment in the case of Kotak Mahindra Bank Ltd. v. State of U.P. (Supra), which says "the District Magistrate has absolutely no jurisdiction to review his order", without reading the entire judgment. In that case, M/s. Chopra Fabricators and Manufacturers Pvt. Ltd. had taken a loan from the State Bank of India and had committed default in its re-payment. State Bank of India instituted recovery proceedings, which were decided by the DRT, Allahabad in favour of the bank vide order dated 12.05.2006. Appeal filed by the borrowers against the said order of the DRT was also dismissed. State Bank of India assigned the loan in favour of Kotak Mahindra Bank Ltd., which initiated recovery proceedings under the Act, 2002. The borrowers in the meantime after getting free-hold rights over the secured asset, transferred some portion of the assets to some private persons. Kotak Mahindra Bank Ltd. filed an application under section 14 of the before the District Magistrate, which was allowed by means of an order dated 24.06.2013 and the Bank took possession of the secured asset on 30.12.2013. After possession of the property was taken, a notice for auction sale of the secured assets was published in various newspapers on 11.01.2014. The borrower and guarantor filed Securitisation Application No. 218 of 2013 before the DRT, Allahabad on 30.01.2014. This application was dismissed by the DRT on 30.01.2014 after recording that the borrowers had not approached the Tribunal with clean hands and they had sold the mortgaged property fraudulently. Instead of challenging the order of DRT by filing an appeal before the DRAT, the borrower filed a recall application before the District Magistrate. The District Magistrate re-appreciated the contention of the parties and recalled the order dated 24.06.2013 vide his order dated 30.06.2016. Taking benefit of the order of the District Magistrate, the borrower forcefully broke open the locks of the Bank put over the secured assets. It was in the aforesaid factual background, that this Court held that: -

“13. Be that as it may, we are of the considered opinion that the District Magistrate has absolutely no jurisdiction to review his order dated 24.6.2013 passed under the Act, 2002 specifically when the order was subjected to challenge before the Debt Recovery Tribunal and such application was dismissed by a reasoned order holding therein that the borrower had not approached the Tribunal with clean hands. If they were not satisfied they had the remedy of approaching the Appellate Tribunal under section 18 of the Act, 2002.”

17. This judgment was passed keeping in view the aforesaid peculiar facts and circumstances of the case and it does not lay down the principle of law that the District Magistrate has no power to correct a typographical error in his order passed under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act.

18. In P. S. Sathappan v. Andhra Bank Ltd.: (2004) 11 SCC 672, a Constitution Bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court consisting of five Hon'ble Judges held that: - “145. A decision is an authority for the questions of law determined by it. While applying the ratio, the court may not pick out a word or a sentence from the judgment divorced from the context in which the said question arose for consideration. A judgment, as is well known, must be read in its entirety and the observations made therein should receive consideration in the light of the questions raised before it. [See Haryana Financial Corpn. v. Jagdamba Oil Mills (2002) 3 SCC 496, Union of India v. Dhanwanti Devi (1996) 6 SCC 44, Nalini Mahajan (Dr.) v. Director of Income Tax (Investigation) (2002) 257 ITR 123 (Del), State of U.P. v. Synthetics and Chemicals Ltd. (1991) 4 SCC 139, A-One Granites v. State of U.P. (2001) 3 SCC 537 and Bhavnagar University v. Palitana Sugar Mill (P) Ltd. (2003) 2 SCC 111.

146. Although decisions are galore on this point, we may refer to a recent one in State of Gujarat v. Akhil Gujarat Pravasi V.S. Mahamandal (2004) 5 SCC 155 wherein this Court held:

“It is trite that any observation made during the course of reasoning in a judgment should not be read divorced from the context in which it was used.”

(Emphasis added)

19. Therefore, the ratio laid down in the judgment in the case of Kotak Mahindra Bank Ltd. v. State of U.P. (Supra) will not apply to the facts present case.

20. In Balkrishna Rama Tarle v. Phoenix ARC (P) Ltd.: (Supra), the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

“18. Thus, the powers exercisable by CMM/DM under Section 14 of the Sarfaesi Act are ministerial steps and Section 14 does not involve any adjudicatory process qua points raised by the borrowers against the secured creditor taking possession of the secured assets. In that view of the matter once all the requirements under Section 14 of the Sarfaesi Act are complied with/satisfied by the secured creditor, it is the duty cast upon the CMM/DM to assist the secured creditor in obtaining the possession as well as the documents related to the secured assets even with the help of any officer subordinate to him and/or with the help of an advocate appointed as Advocate Commissioner. At that stage, the CMM/DM is not required to adjudicate the dispute between the borrower and the secured creditor and/or between any other third party and the secured creditor with respect to the secured assets and the aggrieved party to be relegated to raise objections in the proceedings under Section 17 of the Sarfaesi Act, before the Debts Recovery Tribunal.”

21. As the order under Section 14 of the Act is passed in exercise of powers of ministerial nature and the order dated 28.06.2025 has not been passed by the District Magistrate in exercise judicial powers, the District Magistrate certainly has the power to correct ministerial and typographical errors in the order passed in exercise of ministerial powers and correction of such an error cannot be said to be a review of the order dated 08.05.2025 since it doesn't change the substance of the order. Therefore, the order dated 28.06.2025 passed by the District Magistrate cannot be said to have been passed without jurisdiction.

22. The learned Counsel for the petitioner has submitted that alteration of the date of possession notice from 13.09.2024 to 14.11.2024 substantially affects the rights of the petitioner and it can't be said that this correction does not alter the order dated 08.05.2025 substantially. This argument also has no force, as a mere correction of a typographical error regarding the date of possession notice in an order, more particularly, when this date is mentioned correctly in the factual narration made in the earlier part of the same order, does not effect any substantial alteration in the order dated 08.05.2025 and it does not amount to a review of the order. This correction does not affect any valuable legal rights of the petitioner. Even assuming that the correction affects valuable rights of the petitioner, since the correction does not alter the order dated 08.05.2025 substantially, its mere effect on the petitioner would not be decisive of the nature of the order so as to make the correction order an order of review.

23. The learned Counsel for the petitioner has submitted that impugned order dated 10.11.2025 passed by the DRT rejecting the petitioner's challenge made to the order dated 28.06.2025, does not contain any reason and, therefore, it has been passed in violation of the principles of natural justice.

24. In S.N. Mukherjee v. Union of India: (1990) 4 SCC 594, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

“39. The object underlying the rules of natural justice “is to prevent miscarriage of justice” and secure “fair play in action”. As pointed out earlier the requirement about recording of reasons for its decision by an administrative authority exercising quasi-judicial functions achieves this object by excluding chances of arbitrariness and ensuring a degree of fairness in the process of decision-making. Keeping in view the expanding horizon of the principles of natural justice, we are of the opinion, that the requirement to record reason can be regarded as one of the principles of natural justice which govern exercise of power by administrative authorities. The rules of natural justice are not embodied rules. The extent of their application depends upon the particular statutory framework whereunder jurisdiction has been conferred on the administrative authority. With regard to the exercise of a particular power by an administrative authority including exercise of judicial or quasi-judicial functions the legislature, while conferring the said power, may feel that it would not be in the larger public interest that the reasons for the order passed by the administrative authority be recorded in the order and be communicated to the aggrieved party and it may dispense with such a requirement. It may do so by making an express provision to that effect as those contained in the Administrative Procedure Act, 1946 of U.S.A. and the Administrative Decisions (Judicial Review) Act, 1977 of Australia whereby the orders passed by certain specified authorities are excluded from the ambit of the enactment. Such an exclusion can also arise by necessary implication from the nature of the subject matter, the scheme and the provisions of the enactment. The public interest underlying such a provision would outweigh the salutary purpose served by the requirement to record the reasons. The said requirement cannot, therefore, be insisted upon in such a case.

40. For the reasons aforesaid, it must be concluded that except in cases where the requirement has been dispensed with expressly or by necessary implication, an administrative authority exercising judicial or quasi-judicial functions is required to record the reasons for its decision.”

25. In Kranti Associates (P) Ltd. v. Masood Ahmed Khan, (Supra) the Hon’ble Supreme Court examined various precedents on the point and summarised the law as follows: -

47. Summarising the above discussion, this Court holds:

(a) In India the judicial trend has always been to record reasons, even in administrative decisions, if such decisions affect anyone prejudicially.

(b) A quasi-judicial authority must record reasons in support of its conclusions.

(c) Insistence on recording of reasons is meant to serve the wider principle of justice that justice must not only be done it must also appear to be done as well.

(d) Recording of reasons also operates as a valid restraint on any possible arbitrary exercise of judicial and quasi-judicial or even administrative power.

(e) Reasons reassure that discretion has been exercised by the decision-maker on relevant grounds and by disregarding extraneous considerations.

(f) Reasons have virtually become as indispensable a component of a decision-making process as observing principles of natural justice by judicial, quasi-judicial and even by administrative bodies.

(g) Reasons facilitate the process of judicial review by superior courts.

(h) The ongoing judicial trend in all countries committed to rule of law and constitutional governance is in favour of reasoned decisions based on relevant facts. This is virtually the lifeblood of judicial decision-making justifying the principle that reason is the soul of justice.

(i) Judicial or even quasi-judicial opinions these days can be as different as the judges and authorities who deliver them. All these decisions serve one common purpose which is to demonstrate by reason that the relevant factors have been objectively considered. This is important for sustaining the litigants' faith in the justice delivery system.

(j) Insistence on reason is a requirement for both judicial accountability and transparency.

(k) If a judge or a quasi-judicial authority is not candid enough about his/her decision-making process then it is impossible to know whether the person deciding is faithful to the doctrine of precedent or to principles of incrementalism.

(l) Reasons in support of decisions must be cogent, clear and succinct. A pretence of reasons or "rubber-stamp reasons" is not to be equated with a valid decision-making process.

(m) It cannot be doubted that transparency is the sine qua non of restraint on abuse of judicial powers. Transparency in decision-making not only makes the judges and decision-makers less prone to errors but also makes them subject to broader scrutiny. (See David Shapiro in Defence of Judicial Candor [(1987) 100 Harvard Law Review 731-37] .)

(n) Since the requirement to record reasons emanates from the broad doctrine of fairness in decision-making, the said requirement is now virtually a component of human rights and was considered part of Strasbourg Jurisprudence. See Ruiz Torija v. Spain [(1994) 19 EHRR 553] EHRR, at 562 para 29 and Anya v. University of Oxford [2001 EWCA Civ 405 (CA)], wherein the Court referred to Article 6 of the European Convention of Human Rights which requires, "adequate and intelligent reasons must be given for judicial decisions".

(o) In all common law jurisdictions judgments play a vital role in setting up precedents for the future. Therefore, for development of law, requirement of giving reasons for the decision is of the essence and is virtually a part of "due process".

26. The DRT has recorded in the impugned order that it has been specifically recorded in the order dated 26.08.2025 that a typing error was being rectified. The Magistrate has not modified / reviewed or recalled the earlier order dated 08.05.2025. The District Magistrate has corrected a typing error, which could have been done even without moving any application. This is the reason assigned for passing of the impugned order dated 10.11.2025 passed by the DRT and, therefore, it cannot be said that the order has been passed without assigning any reason and that the order is bad for this reason. The reasons assigned in the order dated 10.11.2025 are sufficient and those have already been affirmed in the earlier part of this order.

27. The learned counsel for the petitioners has further submitted that although the DRT has referred to the decisions relied upon by the petitioners in the impugned order, no reasoning has been given for non-applicability of the ratio laid down in those judgments. However, the learned Counsel for the petitioner has not placed those judgments before this Court. The judgments referred in the order dated 10.11.2025 passed by the DRT are Asset Reconstruction Co. (India) Ltd. v. State of U.P., 2018 SCC OnLine All 6494, so as to enable this Court to examine the applicability of those judgments.

28. Therefore, I find no force in the submissions of the learned Counsel for the petitioner that the Petition is maintainable in spite of the availability of statutory remedy of appeal as the order dated 28.06.2025 has been passed by the District Magistrate without jurisdiction and the DRT has rejected the challenge made to the order dated 28.06.2025 without assigning any reason. However, as while examining the merits of the aforesaid submission of the petitioner, this Court has already examined the merits of all the contentions of the learned Counsel for the petitioner, nothing is left to be decided by the Appellate Tribunal and no purpose will be served by relitigating the petitioner to the remedy of appeal.

29. Accordingly, I find no error in the order dated 28.06.2025, passed by the District Magistrate correcting the typographical error in the order dated 08.05.2025, passed under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act. The Debts Recovery Tribunal has not committed any error or illegality in declining to interfere in the order dated 28.06.2025, passed by the District Magistrate.

30. The petition lacks merit and the same is dismissed at the admission stage.

Issue for Consideration

Whether the impugned judgment is coram non judice as the impugned judgment has been passed in violation of the principles of natural justice as Mr. Rameshwar Singh, Administrative Member of the Appellate Tribunal, who has decided the appeals, has not heard the submissions of the parties in appeal and he was not in a position to adjudicate upon the same

Head Notes

The Constitution of India, 1950-Article 227; The Real Estate (Regulation and Development) Act, 2016-Sections 43, 44 & 55- The purpose of constituting multi-member Benches is that more than one person applies his/her mind to the lis to be adjudicated and it is not contemplated that only the Chairman of the Tribunal decides the matters and the other member/members remain mute spectators during the hearing and they merely put their signatures on the judgment without any independent application of their minds. When a matter is heard and decided by a multi-member Bench, the views of all members constituting the Bench are reflected by the judgment delivered by the Bench. In case the members concur, a single judgment is delivered which is signed and authenticated by all the members who may expressly state that they concur with the view of the author of the judgment or who may simply sign the judgment expressing their implied concurrence with the views of the author of the judgment.

Held- The judgment dated 12.12.2025 authored and delivered by a Bench consisting of the Chairman and Mr. Rameshwar Singh, Administrative Member, in appeals which were heard by a three member Bench consisting of the Chairman, Mr. Sanjai Khare, Judicial Member and Mr. Devindar Singh Chaudhary Technical Member, is unsustainable in law. Further, the order dated 12.01.2026 whereby the review applications have been disposed off by a Bench consisting of the Chairman and Mr. Rameshwar Singh, Administrative Member by directing that the judgment sought to be reviewed be placed with the records of the connected appeals before the Bench comprising of Mr. Sanjai Khare, Judicial Member and Mr. Devindar Singh Chaudhary, Technical Member, to express their views/opinion on the judgment and order dated 12.12.2025, is also unsustainable in law- Petition allowed. (Para 27, 28 & 31) (E-15)

Case Arising From

Judgment and order dated 12.12.2025 passed by the U. P. Real Estate Appellate Tribunal, Lucknow dismissing the Appeal Nos.196 of 2024, 48 of 2024, 49 of 2024, 195 of 2024, 197 of 2024 and 394 of 2024 under Section 44 of the Real Estate (Regulation and Development) Act, 2016 (filed by the petitioner against the respondent No.3 in all the petitions.

Appearances for Parties

Counsel for Petitioner(s) : Utkarsh Srivastava, Abhinav Kumar Mathur, Prashast Puri, Shreyash Shukla, Varun Singh

Counsel for Respondent(s) :

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Shri Jaideep Narayan Mathur Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Utkarsh Srivastava, Shri Prashast Puri, Shri Abhinav Mathur, Shri Vinit Trehan, Shri Ashir Rohan Malik, Shri Shantanu Parashar and Shri Yash Srivastava Advocates, the learned Counsel for the petitioner in all the connected petitions and Shri Javed-ur-Rahman Advocate holding brief of Shri Prashant Singh Gaur Advocate, the learned counsel for the respondent No.3 in Petition Nos.72 of 2026 and 74 of 2026, who states that he has instructions to appear in all the petition Nos.71 of 2026, 73 of 2026, 76 of 2026 and 77 of 2026, as he is appearing for the respondent No.3 in all the appeals before the U.P. Real Estate Appellate Tribunal, from which these petitions arise.

2. As all the petitions arise from one judgment and order passed by the Real Estate Appellate Tribunal, all the petitions are being decided together. The learned Counsel for the petitioners have filed supplementary affidavits in all the connected petitions and the same are taken on record.

3. By means of all these petitions filed under Article 227 of the Constitution of India, the petitioner has challenged the validity of a judgment and order dated 12.12.2025 passed by the U. P. Real Estate Appellate Tribunal, Lucknow (hereinafter referred to as the Appellate Tribunal) dismissing the Appeal Nos.196 of 2024, 48 of 2024, 49 of 2024, 195 of 2024, 197 of 2024 and 394 of 2024 under Section 44 of the Real Estate (Regulation and Development) Act, 2016 (which will hereinafter be referred to as "the RERA Act") filed by the petitioner against the respondent No.3 in all the petitions.

4. At the outset, the learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that the petitioner has impleaded the U.P. Real Estate Appellate Tribunal and its Registrar as an opposite party Nos.1 and 2 after much deliberation keeping in view the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, in spite of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the cases of Savitri Devi v. District Judge, Gorakhpur, (1992) 2 SCC 577 and Jogendrasinhji Vijaysinghji v. State of Gujarat & Ors., (2015) 9 SCC 1.

5. Briefly stated, the facts giving rise to these petitions are that six appeal Nos.196 of 2024, 48 of 2024, 49 of 2024, 195 of 2024, 197 of 2024 and 394 of 2024 were heard by a Bench of the Appellate Tribunal consisting of three members - (i) Hon'ble Mr. Justice Suneet Kumar, Chairman, (ii) Mr. Sanjai Khare, Judicial Member and (iii) Mr. Devindar Singh Chaudhary, Technical Member, on 07.11.2025 and judgment was reserved by the Bench consisting of the aforesaid three members. However, the appeals have been dismissed on 12.12.2025 by a judgment authored and delivered by a Bench consisting of the Chairman and Mr. Rameshwar Singh, Administrative Member, who was not a member of the Bench which had heard the appeals.

6. The petitioner has filed supplementary affidavits in all the petitions stating that subsequent to filing of the petitions, the opposite party no. 3 filed applications for review of the judgment dated 12.12.2025, which were listed on and were disposed off on 12.01.2026 by a Bench consisting of the Chairman and Mr. Rameshwar Singh, Administrative Member, directing that the records of the connected cases be placed before a Bench comprising of Mr. Sanjai Khare, Judicial Member and Mr. Devindar Singh Chaudhary, Technical Member, for the purpose of expressing their views / opinion on the judgment and order dated 12.12.2025 and / or passing appropriate orders thereon.

7. The learned Counsel for the petitioner has submitted that the impugned judgment has been passed in stark violation of the fundamental principles of judicial procedure, which require the Bench hearing a matter to decide the same. This fundamental deviation from judicial procedure goes to the root of the matter and vitiates the entire adjudication, as the judgment is coram non judice. The judgment has been passed in violation of the principles of natural justice as Mr. Rameshwar Singh, Administrative Member of the Appellate Tribunal, who has decided the appeals, has not heard the submissions of the parties in appeal and he was not in a position to adjudicate upon the same.

8. The learned Counsel for the petitioner has further submitted that the Bench of the Appellate Tribunal has committed another error apparent on the face of the record while disposing off the review petitions by the order dated 12.01.2026 requiring the other members who had heard the appeals on 07.11.2025, to express their views / opinion on the judgment and order dated 12.12.2025 and / or pass appropriate orders thereon, as the direction requiring the other two members to express an opinion or view on a void and non-est order is unknown to law and dehors the statutory scheme.

9. Relying upon the provision contained in Section 55 of the R.E.R.A, Act, the learned counsel for the respondent No.3 has submitted that any defect in the constitution of the Appellate Tribunal will not invalidate the judgment of the tribunal.

10. Although the learned counsel for the respondent No.3 has opposed the petitions, the respondent No.3 in all the petitions have themselves filed the review applications before the Appellate Tribunal stating that the judgment dated 12.12.2025 suffers from an error which is apparent on the face of the record as the appeals were heard by a Bench of the Appellate Tribunal consisting of three members - (i) Hon'ble Mr. Justice Suneet Kumar, Chairman, (ii) Mr. Sanjai Khare, Judicial Member and (iii) Mr. Devindar Singh Chaudhary, Technical Member, on 07.11.2025 and judgment was reserved by the Bench consisting of the aforesaid three members, but the appeals have been dismissed by a judgment delivered on 12.12.2025 by a Bench consisting of the Chairman and Mr. Rameshwar Singh, Administrative Member, who was not a member of the Bench which had heard the appeals.

“55. Vacancies, etc., not to invalidate proceeding of Appellate Tribunal.- No act or proceeding of the Appellate Tribunal shall be invalid merely by reason of-

(a) any vacancy in, or any defect in the constitution of, the Appellate Tribunal; or

(b) any defect in the appointment of a person acting as a Member of the Appellate Tribunal; or

(c) any irregularity in the procedure of the Appellate Tribunal not affecting the merits of the case.”

12. In the present case, the six appeals were heard by a Bench of the Appellate Tribunal consisting of three members - (i) The Chairman, (ii) Mr. Sanjai Khare, Judicial Member and (iii) Mr. Devindar Singh Chaudhary, Technical Member, on 07.11.2025 and judgment was reserved by the Bench consisting of the aforesaid three members. The appeals have been dismissed on 12.12.2025 by a judgment authored and delivered by a Bench consisting of the Chairman and Mr. Rameshwar Singh, Administrative Member, who was not a member of the Bench which had heard the appeals. This Court fails to understand as to how has Mr. Rameshwar Singh referred to and dealt with the submissions of the learned Counsel for the appellant and the learned Counsel for the respondent, when he had not heard the submissions and how did he reject the submissions of the learned Counsel for the appellant.

13. Clause (c) of Section 55 of the Act provides that no act or proceeding of the Appellate Tribunal shall be invalid merely by reason of any irregularity in the procedure of the Appellate Tribunal not affecting the merits of the case. Delivery of judgment by a member who has not heard submissions in the appeals is not a mere irregularity in the procedure adopted by the Appellate Tribunal which does not affect the merits of the case, rather such a judgment is nullity in the eyes of law as it has been passed in violation of the fundamental principles of judicial procedure, which require the Bench hearing a matter to decide the same. The judgment has been passed in violation of the principles of natural justice as Mr. Rameshwar Singh, Administrative Member of the Appellate Tribunal has not given any opportunity to the appellant to advance submissions in support of the appeal and he has referred to and rejected the submissions of the appellant without hearing the same. This defect vitiates the judgment dated 12.12.2025.

14. Apparently, in the present case, neither there was any vacancy in the Appellate Tribunal nor is this a case of a mere defect in constitution of the Tribunal while authoring and delivering the judgment dated 12.12.2025 not affecting the merits of the case. Decision of appeals on merits by a Bench which has not heard the submissions in appeal and yet referring to the submissions advanced by the learned Counsel for the appellant and the learned Counsel for the respondent and thereafter rejecting the submissions of the learned Counsel for the appellant and dismissing the appeal on merits, cannot be said to be merely an irregularity in the procedure of the Appellate Tribunal not affecting the merits of the case.

15. Therefore, Section 55 of the Act does not protect the validity of the impugned judgment dated 12.12.2025. Further, Section 55 of the Act does not support or protect the order dated 12.01.2026 disposing off the review application by ordering that the judgment delivered by the Chairman and an Administrative Member be placed before the other two members who were a part of the Bench which had heard the appeals on 07.11.2025 when the judgment was reserved, for obtaining their views.

16. Sections 43 of the Act is also relevant to understand the true scope and effect of Section 55 of the Act and it is being reproduced below: -

“43. Establishment of Real Estate Appellate Tribunal. - (1) The appropriate Government shall, within a period of one year from the date of coming into force of this Act, by notification, establish an Appellate Tribunal to be known as the (name of the State/Union Territory) Real Estate Appellate Tribunal.

(2) The appropriate Government may, if it deems necessary, establish one or more benches of the Appellate Tribunal, for various jurisdictions, in the State or Union Territory, as the case may be.

*(3) Every Bench of the Appellate Tribunal shall consist of at least one Judicial Member and one Administrative or Technical Member.

(4) The appropriate Government of two or more States or Union Territories may, if it deems fit, establish one single Appellate Tribunal:

Provided that, until the establishment of an Appellate Tribunal under this section, the appropriate Government shall designate, by order, any Appellate Tribunal functioning under any law for the time being in force, to be the Appellate Tribunal to hear appeals under the Act:

Provided further that after the Appellate Tribunal under this section is established, all matters pending with the Appellate Tribunal designated to hear appeals, shall stand transferred to the Appellate Tribunal so established and shall be heard from the stage such appeal is transferred.

(5) Any person aggrieved by any direction or decision or order made by the Authority or by an adjudicating officer under this Act may prefer an appeal before the Appellate Tribunal having jurisdiction over the matter:

Provided that where a promoter files an appeal with the Appellate Tribunal, it shall not be entertained, without the promoter first having deposited with the Appellate Tribunal at least thirty per cent of the penalty, or such higher percentage as may be determined by the Appellate Tribunal, or the total amount to be paid to the allottee including interest and compensation imposed on him, if any, or with both, as the case may be, before the said appeal is heard.

Explanation.-For the purpose of this sub-section "person" shall include the association of allottees or any voluntary consumer association registered under any law for the time being in force."

17. In Shashank Gupta v. Vatika Nirman (P) Ltd.: 2025 SCC OnLine All 6449, a coordinate Bench of this Court has dealt with the effect of Section 55 of the RERA Act in the following manner: -

"19. On a plain reading of the prescriptions as extracted herein-above, it is clear that there is a distinction between the Appellate Tribunal, which has to be established in terms of Chapter-VII and the Bench which is to be established for hearing in the Appellate Tribunal. The use word 'Bench' in Section 43(3) of the Act, clearly marks out a distinction between the phrases used in Section 43(3) and Section 45 of the Act. Section 55 of the Act is an enabling provision, which has been incorporated to protect any orders, which can be challenged in case any appointment to the Appellate Tribunal or any defect pertaining to the Appellate Tribunal surfaces subsequent thereto. Much emphasis is placed on Section 55(c) of the Act.

20. I am of the firm view that Section 55(c) of the Act would also not rectify the defect of constitution of a Bench as prescribed under Section 43(3) of the Act as it has been incorporated only to save any irregularity in the procedure of the Appellate Tribunal and cannot be read to mean to cure the irregularities in the constitution of the Bench."

18. I am in complete agreement with the above quoted view taken by the coordinate Bench of this Court. Therefore, the impugned judgment is not protected by the provision contained in Section 55 of the RERA Act, more particularly, when the respondents in all the appeals, in whose favour the appeals have been decided, have themselves filed applications for review of the judgment and order dated 12.12.2025 stating that the appeals were heard extensively by a Bench consisting of the Chairman of the Appellate Tribunal along with Mr. Sanjai Khare, Judicial Member and Mr. Devindar Singh Chaudhary, Technical Member, but the judgment has been delivered by a Bench consisting of the Chairman and Mr. Rameshwar Singh, Administrative Member.

19. On 12.01.2026, a Bench of the Appellate Tribunal consisting of the Chairman and Mr. Rameshwar Singh Administrative Member, has disposed off the review applications by the following order: -

"1. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

2. The respondent-applicant has filed the present review petition, seeking review of the order dated 12.12.2025, it is submitted that the matter was heard by a larger Bench and the judgment came to be reserved on 07.11.2025, however, the judgment has been delivered by a Bench other than the Bench that had heard the matter.

3. The Registry informs that due to inadvertent human error/administrative lapse, the case was wrongly placed for delivery of judgment before the present Bench that had not heard the matter while reserving the judgment. The mistake is not willful or deliberate but due to human error.

4. It has been informed that the matter was proceeding before the Bench, comprising of Chairman and Technical Member, however, on the date of final hearing, the matter was heard by the Larger Bench.

5. The learned counsel for the applicant submits that though the error is human error, and does not go to the root of the matter, in the circumstances, since the judgment has been authored by Hon'ble the Chairman, it would be appropriate to place the judgement/order under review before the Bench comprising of other two Members, namely, Judicial Member and Technical Member for passing appropriate order/opinion thereon.

6. Learned counsel appearing for the appellant-promoter submits that the affidavit to the review petition has been sworn prior to filing of application; it is further submitted that against the judgment and order under review, the appellant has filed a petition under the supervisory jurisdiction of Hon'ble High Court, under Article 227 of the Constitution of India; and finally it is submitted that malicious allegation has been made against the Registry for placing the matter before a Bench for delivery of the judgment that had not heard the matter. Learned counsel for the appellant-promoter supplied a written note dated 12.01.2026 on the review application after duly being served to the applicant-respondent raising the aforementioned objections. Learned counsel for the applicant-respondent does not propose to file any objection.

7. In rebuttal, learned counsel appearing for the applicant-respondent submits that the averments made in para-6 has not been properly worded, accordingly, it is submitted that the applicant would not press the petition to that extent. It is further submitted that submissions of learned counsel for the appellant is incorrect. The affidavit of review petition was sworn on 04.01.2026, whereas, the date of the application is 08.01.2026 duly filed, with the Registry of the Tribunal on 09.01.2026. It is urged there is no deficiency in the review petition. He further submits that the application may be taken only to the extent of informing the Court of the technical/human error, committed by the Registry in placing the matter for delivery of judgment before the wrong Bench.

8. Be that as it may, without entering into the rival contentions, since the error that is being pointed out is of the Registry of this Tribunal, which requires to be set in order.

9. In view, thereof, it is proposed that the judgment under review shall be placed along with the records of the connected appeals before the Bench, comprising of Judicial Member (Hon'ble Sanjai Khare) and Technical Member (Hon'ble Devindar Singh Chaudhry) to express their view/opinion on the judgment and order dated 12.12.2025, and/or pass appropriate orders thereon.

10. Review application is, accordingly, disposed of.

11. The Registrar shall call for an explanation from the concerned officials as to how case was listed before the wrong Bench for delivery of judgment and submit a report.

20. It is apparent from a bare reading of the order dated 12.01.2026 disposing off the review application that it was informed to the Appellate Tribunal that against the judgment and order under review, the appellant has filed a petition under the supervisory jurisdiction of Hon'ble High Court, under Article 227 of the Constitution of India and yet the review application has been disposed off.

21. In this regard it is relevant to note that Section 53 of the RERA Act provides as follows: -

“53. Powers of Tribunal.-(1) The Appellate Tribunal shall not be bound by the procedure laid down by the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908) but shall be guided by the principles of natural justice.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the Appellate Tribunal shall have power to regulate its own procedure.

(3) The Appellate Tribunal shall also not be bound by the rules of evidence contained in the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (1 of 1872).

(4) The Appellate Tribunal shall have, for the purpose of discharging its functions under this Act, the same powers as are vested in a civil court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908) in respect of the following matters, namely:

(a) summoning and enforcing the attendance of any person and examining him on oath;

(b) requiring the discovery and production of documents;

(c) receiving evidence on affidavits;

(d) issuing commissions for the examinations of witnesses or documents;

(e) reviewing its decisions;

(f) dismissing an application for default or directing it ex parte; and

(g) any other matter which may be prescribed.

(5) All proceedings before the Appellate Tribunal shall be deemed to be judicial proceedings within the meaning of Sections 193, 219 and 228 for the purposes of Section 196 of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860), and the Appellate Tribunal shall be deemed to be civil court for the purposes of Section 195 and Chapter XXVI of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974).”

22. Thus, RERA Act has conferred the same powers of review of decisions on the Appellate Tribunal as are vested in a Civil Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. Order XLVII Rule 1 (1) of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908 provides that an application for review may be filed against an order from which an appeal is allowed, but from which no appeal has been preferred.

23. Although strictly speaking, a petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India is not an appeal, but the purpose of an appeal is scrutiny of an order passed by any Court or Tribunal by a superior Court or Tribunal and so is the purpose of a petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India filed before this Court. Therefore, the principle barring maintainability of review applications after filing of appeals would apply to review of order of the Appellate Tribunal after its validity has been challenged before the High Court by filing a petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India. When the Appellate Tribunal was apprised about filing of the petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India challenging the validity of the judgment dated 12.12.2025, the Appellate Tribunal ought to have refrained from entertaining the review application and the interference made by the Appellate Tribunal in the review application is unsustainable in law.

24. Delivery of judgment is an essential judicial function of the Appellate Tribunal, which is performed by its Benches. A Bench of the Appellate Tribunal consisting of the Chairman, Mr. Sanjai Khare, Judicial Member and Mr. Devindar Singh Chaudhary, Technical Member had heard submissions and reserved the judgment in the appeals and the same Bench ought to have authored and delivered the judgment. The judgment has been delivered by a Bench consisting of the Chairman and Mr. Rameshwar Singh, Administrative Member whereas Mr. Rameshwar Singh Administrative Member had not heard the submissions in the appeal and yet he has dealt with the submissions in detail and has rejected the submissions of the learned Counsel for the appellant. This error apparent on the face of the record has been committed by the Bench consisting of the Chairman and Mr. Rameshwar Singh, Administrative Member of the Appellate Tribunal. However, in the order dated 12.01.2026 passed in review applications, the Tribunal has attributed the error to the Registry of the Appellate Tribunal,

25. The order dated 12.01.2026 has directed the Registrar of the Appellate Tribunal to call for an explanation from the concerned officials as to how the case was listed before the wrong Bench for delivery of judgment and submit a report. Even if the registry had committed an error in listing the matter for delivery of judgment before a wrong Bench, it was for the members of the Bench to apply their minds before signing and delivering the judgment. The error committed by the Bench of the Tribunal in signing and delivering a judgment when one of the members of the Bench had not heard the appeals, cannot be attributed to the Registry of the Appellate Tribunal.

26. By means of the order 12.01.2026 passed in the review applications, the Bench consisting of the Chairman and Mr. Rameshwar Singh, Administrative Member has proposed that the judgment under review shall be placed along with the records of the connected appeals before the Bench, comprising of Mr. Sanjai Khare, Judicial Member and Mr. Devindar Singh Chaudhary, Technical Member to express their view/opinion on the judgment and order dated 12.12.2025, and/or pass appropriate orders thereon. The judgment dated 12.12.2025 having been authored and delivered by a Bench which had not heard the submissions, has been passed without jurisdiction and it is unsustainable in law. This illegality cannot be cured by committing another illegality of obtaining the views / opinion of the other two members, as this procedure is unknown to law. A judgment cannot be delivered by a two member Bench, one of whom had not heard the submission in the appeal and views of the other two members be obtained thereon subsequently.

27. The purpose of constituting multi-member Benches is that more than one person applies his/her mind to the lis to be adjudicated and it is not contemplated that only the Chairman of the Tribunal decides the matters and the other member/members remain mute spectators during the hearing and they merely put their signatures on the judgment without any independent application of their minds. When a matter is heard and decided by a multi-member Bench, the views of all members constituting the Bench are reflected by the judgment delivered by the Bench. In case the members concur, a single judgment is delivered which is signed and authenticated by all the members who may expressly state that they concur with the view of the author of the judgment or who may simply sign the judgment expressing their implied concurrence with the views of the author of the judgment.

28. A judgment in a matter heard by a three member Bench cannot be authored and delivered by a two member Bench, one member of which had not heard the submissions in the matter. Views of the other members who had heard submissions in the matter cannot be taken after the judgment has been signed and delivered by another Bench.

29. The learned counsel for the respondent No.3 could not dispute the fact that while deciding the review application, when an error apparent on the face of the record has been made out, the order should have been recalled in toto and the matter should have been placed before any Bench for re-adjudication. However, the learned counsel for the respondent No.3 has submitted that this prayer could have been made before the Appellate Tribunal itself.

30. While exercising its power of superintendence conferred by Article 227 of the Constitution of India, this Court can certainly interfere in the orders passed by the Real Estate Appellate Tribunal when the orders have been passed in a manner unknown to law more particularly, when the Appellate Tribunal has committed another error on the face of record by shifting the responsibility of the error committed by the Bench upon the registry of the Appellate Tribunal and ordering to place the erroneously delivered judgment before another Bench for obtaining its views.

31. In view of the foregoing discussion, I am of the considered view that the judgment dated 12.12.2025 authored and delivered by a Bench consisting of the Chairman and Mr. Rameshwar Singh, Administrative Member, in appeals which were heard by a three member Bench consisting of the Chairman, Mr. Sanjai Khare, Judicial Member and Mr. Devindar Singh Chaudhary Technical Member, is unsustainable in law. Further, the order dated 12.01.2026 whereby the review applications have been disposed off by a Bench consisting of the Chairman and Mr. Rameshwar Singh, Administrative Member by directing that the judgment sought to be reviewed be placed with the records of the connected appeals before the Bench comprising of Mr. Sanjai Khare, Judicial Member and Mr. Devindar Singh Chaudhary, Technical Member, to express their views/opinion on the judgment and order dated 12.12.2025, is also unsustainable in law.

32. Accordingly, all the petitions are allowed. The judgment dated 12.12.2025 passed in appeal Nos.196 of 2024, 48 of 2024, 49 of 2024, 195 of 2024, 197 of 2024 and 394 of 2024 and the orders dated 12.01.2026 passed in review applications are hereby set aside.

33. The appeals are remanded to U.P. Real Estate Appellate Tribunal for being decided afresh. Since the Hon'ble Chairman of the Appellate Tribunal has already delivered his judgment sitting with another member who had not heard the appeals, which judgment has been set aside by this order, keeping in view the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, it is directed that the appeals will be placed before a Bench consisting of members other than the members constituting the Bench which has delivered the judgment and order dated 12.12.2025. The appeals will be heard and decided expeditiously, without granting any unnecessary adjournment to any of the parties, after giving adequate opportunity of hearing to the parties concerned and after taking into consideration their submissions and keeping in view the statutory mandate contained in Section 44 (5) of the R.E.R.A. Act.

Issue for Consideration

Whether the Commercial Court while passing the order impugned has completely misdirected itself in rejecting the preliminary objections regarding limitation as the award passed by the Facilitation Council on 27.09.2023 and the said award was challenged by filing a petition before the Commercial Court under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 on 16.01.2024 (beyond the period of three months) without any application seeking condonation of delay

Head Notes

The Constitution of India, 1950-Article 227; The Arbitration & Conciliation Act, 1996-Section 19, 34 & 36; The Limitation Act, 1963- Section 5 & 14- The contesting respondent had made no prayer for condonation of delay nor any separate application for seeking condonation of delay was moved moreover, there was no pleadings for seeking benefit of Section 14 of the Limitation Act nor there was any pleadings to show as to how the contesting respondent was entitled to get the benefit of condonation of delay or Section 14 of the Limitation Act and yet the Commercial Court rejected the objection on limitation as not maintainable which is patently perverse and it suffers from the vice of being non reasoned and arbitrary exercise of jurisdiction and the said order is liable to be set aside.

Held- Petition No.3886 of 2024, M/s Genebio Healthcare Pvt. Ltd. through Director Arun Kumar Srivastava v. Paradigm Enterprises through Director Ritika Pandey and others is partly allowed, whereas Petition No.5145 of 2024, Paradigm Enterprises v. Micro, Small and others shall stand dismissed. (Para 70, 71 & 90) (E-15)

Introduction

1. An award dated 27.09.2023 passed by the Micro Small and Medium Enterprises, Facilitation Council, Lucknow (hereinafter referred to as the Facilitation Council) is in the legal vortex between the petitioner and the private respondent no.1. Both contesting parties are at logger heads. The present petitioner is at pains to get the said award executed whereas the private respondent no.1 is leaving no stone unturned in challenging the said award on all possible grounds.

2. In the aforesaid context, the petitioner filed petition No.3886 of 2024 assailing the orders dated 17.01.2024 and order dated 20.06.2024 passed by the Commercial Court No.2, Lucknow in Arbitration Case No.3 of 2024 whereby the preliminary objections raised by the petitioner have been turned down.

3. After the preliminary objections were turned down, the petitioner moved an application for releasing the amount deposited by the respondent no.1 which has been allowed vide order dated 27.09.2024 passed by the Commercial Court No.2, Lucknow in the aforesaid Arbitration Case No.3 of 2024 and being aggrieved, the private respondent no.1 herein, filed an independent petition assailing the said order by means of the connected Petition No.5145 of 2024.

4. Since the issue involved in these two petitions are between the same parties and interconnected, hence both the petitions are being decided by this common judgment.

5. For convenience, M/s Genebio Healthcare Pvt. Ltd. hereinafter, will be referred to as the "petitioner" whereas Paradigm Enterprises (who is the petitioner of the connected petition) will be referred to as the "contesting respondent".

Factual Matrix

6. Before proceedings further, it will be appropriate to notice the facts giving rise to the instant petition. The contesting respondent no.1 acting as an authorized distributor of the petitioner company had made a bid on GEM Portal and was successful in getting an order to supply 20 lakh Novel Coronavirus Sample Collection Kit. The aforesaid order was placed with the petitioner and it was supplied directly to the U.P. Medical Supplies Corporation. Though the contesting respondent received the entire payment of Rs.1,27,12,739/- but it was not paid to the petitioner. In this factual background, the petitioner made a reference under section 18 of the Micro Small and Medium Enterprises Development Act 2006 (hereinafter referred to as the Act of 2006) before the Facilitation Council who after hearing the parties made its award on 27.09.2023.

7. The contesting respondent assailed the said award dated 27.09.2023 by filing a writ petition before a Division Bench of this Court bearing Writ-C No.8511 of 2023 which came to be dismissed vide order dated 17.10.2023, leaving it open for the contesting respondent to assail the said award in terms of Section 34 of the Arbitration & Conciliation Act, 1996 (hereinafter referred to as the Act of 1996) before the appropriate court.

8. The contesting respondent then on 16.01.2024 filed a petition before the Commercial Court Lucknow under section 34 of the Act of 1996 which was registered as Arbitration Case No.3 of 2024.

9. The said case was registered on 17.01.2024 and notices were issued to the petitioner (who was the respondent in the petition under section 34 of the Act of 1996). The petitioner after having put in appearance before the Commercial Lucknow filed his preliminary objections regarding maintainability of the petition under section 34 of the Act of 1996 primarily on two grounds: (i) that the contesting respondent had not deposited 75% of the awarded amount in terms of Section 19 of the Act of 2006, hence the petition under section 34 could not be entertained; (ii) that the petition under section 34 of the Act of 1996 itself was barred by limitation and in absence of any application seeking condonation of delay, the petition could not have been registered as a regular petition, hence the petition under section 34 was liable to be dismissed on the aforesaid grounds.

10. In the interregnum, the petitioner had pressed for the recovery of the awarded sum and in furtherance thereof, a recovery notice had been issued to the State Authorities for recovery. The contesting respondent assailed the said recovery by filing another writ petition before a Division Bench of this Court bearing Writ-C No.3594 of 2024.

11. After hearing the parties the said writ petition was disposed of on 19.04.2024, noticing the contention of the contesting respondent that he was ready to deposit 75% of the awarded sum before the Commercial Court, with observation that the sum would be deposited within a week and in case if the said amount was deposited, then the Commercial Court would admit the petition as per the settled law and the district administration may not pursue the recovery proceedings. Later, by means of order dated 01.05.2024 the period of one week as granted in the order dated 19.04.2024 was extended by further three days.

12. Armed with the order of the Division Bench dated 19.04.2024 the contesting respondent filed an application depositing 75% of the award passed under the Act of 2006 and also raised objections to the preliminary objections filed by the petitioner before the Commercial Court. Another application was filed seeking stay on the recovery proceedings.

13. The Commercial Court No.2, Lucknow after hearing the parties turned down the preliminary objections raised by the petitioner by means of order dated 20.06.2024 which is the subject matter of challenge in Petition No.3886 of 2024.

14. The petitioner had moved an application for release of the amount deposited by the contesting respondent which was allowed by the Commercial Court initially on 19.07.2024. This order dated 19.07.2024 was challenged by the contesting respondent by filing a petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India bearing No.3611 of 2024. A Co-ordinate Bench of this Court by means of judgment and order dated 02.08.2024 allowed the petition setting aside the order dated 19.07.2024 with a direction to the Commercial Court to consider the application filed by the contesting respondent for stay of the award, alongwith the application for release of the amount and decide the same expeditiously, by a reasoned order.

15. In furtherance of the order dated 12.08.2024 passed in Writ Petition No.3611 of 2024 the matter was reconsidered by the Commercial Court who vide its order dated 27.09.2024 allowed the application for release of the deposited sum subject to the condition that the petitioner would furnish an indemnity indicating that in case if any adverse order was passed in the petition under section 34 of the Act of 1996, then the petitioner would refund the aforesaid amount released alongwith 6% interest per annum, to the Court.

16. In so far as the application for stay of the recovery proceedings is concerned, the said application was also disposed of, directing the contesting respondent to furnish a security to the extent of remaining 25% of the awarded sum within a period of three weeks and subject to the aforesaid the recovery proceedings were stayed.

17. The contesting respondent being aggrieved against the said order dated 27.09.2024 assailed the same in the connected Petition No.5145 of 2024 and prayed that the order directing the contesting respondent to furnish a security towards 25% of the awarded sum be set aside as well as another part of the same order be also set aside whereby the amount has been released in favour of the petitioner and the amount so released may be directed to be refunded.

18. The record further indicates that by means of order dated 05.11.2024 passed by a Co-ordinate Bench in Writ Petition No.5145 of 2024 it was directed that the said petition be connected alongwith Petition No.3886 of 2024. The record further indicates that both the petition were heard by a Co-ordinate Bench and judgment was reserved on 12.11.2024. However, the Co-ordinate Bench while dictating the judgment found that certain clarifications were required and the matter was directed to be listed for rehearing. The Co-ordinate Bench on 19.03.2025 had directed the petitioner to file a copy of an affidavit indicating specifically the date on which the said application had been filed. In the meantime, the matter was placed before this Court. This Court had called for a report from the Registrar (Listing) which was placed before the Court on 27.10.2025 indicating that the matter was now cognizable by this Court. It is in the aforesaid backdrop that this Court being seized of the aforesaid two petitions, heard the learned counsel for the parties, finally.

Submissions on behalf of the parties

19. Shri Prithish Kumar, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Shri Amal Rastogi for the petitioner while assailing the order dated 20.06.2024 (which is under challenge in Petition No.3886 of 2024) has submitted that the Commercial Court No.2 while passing the order impugned has completely misdirected itself in rejecting the preliminary objections regarding limitation. It was urged that apparently the award passed by the Facilitation Council was dated 27.09.2023. The said award was challenged by filing a petition before the Commercial Court under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 on 16.01.2024 and the limitation for filing a petition under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 is provided in Section 34 (3) itself.

20. It was submitted that an award under Section 36 of the Act of 1996 could be challenged within a period of three months and only 30 days period thereafter was the period for which the delay could be condoned. Since the award was dated 27.09.2023 and the same was received by the contesting respondent on 06.10.2023, hence the Petition under Section 34 ought to have been filed within three months i.e. latest by 06.01.2024. Admittedly, the Petition was filed on 16.01.2024, however, there was no application filed by the contesting respondent seeking condonation of delay.

21. In absence of any application seeking condonation of delay, it was not open for the Commercial Court to have treated the Petition under Section 34 of the Act of 1996, within time. Moreover, in absence of any application seeking condonation of delay, the Court was not vested with jurisdiction to ignore or condone the delay. Filing an application seeking condonation of delay is mandatory and in absence of the application the Petition under Section 34 itself was defective. In the aforesaid circumstances, the Court did not consider the matter in the correct perspective and the finding recorded by the Court that the application was within time, is a perverse finding which cannot be sustained. In support of his submission, learned Senior Counsel has relied upon the decision of the Apex Court in Chintal (India) Ltd. v. Bhayana Builders (P) Ltd; (2021) 4 SCC 602.

22. Learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner has further urged that the issue of limitation goes to the roots of the matter. As soon as the petitioner received the notice of the Petition under Section 34 of the Act 1996 and put in appearance before the Court, preliminary objections were raised at the first instance. It was urged that there is no dispute between the parties in so far as the fact that the Petition under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 was filed by the contesting respondent beyond the period of three months. It is also not in dispute that the Petition under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 was not accompanied by an application seeking condonation of delay.

23. Learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner emphasized that the first order passed by the Commercial Court dated 17.01.2024 (which is under challenge in the Petition No.3886 of 2024) by which it registered the petition itself was bad. Attention of the Court was drawn to the order dated 17.01.2024 to state that as per the Munsarim report the Petition under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 was appropriately stamped with court fee and it was within the territorial jurisdiction of the Court. It also noticed that the petition was time barred but in view of the order passed by the High Court, which has been brought on record (of the petition under Section 34 of the Act of 1996) as Annexure-7 with the petition, it was not time barred. Considering the said report the case was registered and notices were issued to the petitioner.

24. It is submitted by the learned Senior Counsel that this reference to the order passed by the High Court and that the Petition was within time, is a complete misreading of the order of the High Court since the High Court did not condone the delay nor directed that the Petition to be treated within time, hence the basic registration of the case as a regular Petition, treating it to be within time, itself was bad.

25. Learned Senior Counsel has further urged that this fact came to the notice of the petitioner only when the summons from the Commercial Court was served on the petitioner and immediately, the preliminary objections were raised. The petitioner had raised a two fold objections: (i) related to the non compliance of Section 19 of the Act of 2006 which mandates deposit of 75% amount of the arbitral award. Since the Petition under Section 34 did not accompany the said pre-deposit, hence the petition could not be entertained; (ii) The petition under Section 34 of the Act was barred by limitation:

26. It is urged, that as far as the objections regarding non deposit of 75% of the awarded sum is concerned, the same may not have much bearing now as the same was made good by the contesting respondent in light of the order passed by the Division Bench of this Court in Writ-C No.3594 of 2024. However, the issue of limitation still survived for the reason that despite bringing it to the notice of the Court, in writing yet the contesting respondent did not file any application seeking condonation of delay. Even in the Petition filed under Section 34 of the Act of 1996, there was no prayer nor any averments were made to seek condonation of delay.

27. Significantly, while the petitioner had filed his preliminary objections in writing which was responded by the contesting respondent yet he did not make any application for seeking condonation of delay. In such circumstances where there was no application seeking condonation of delay despite notice to the contesting respondent who had the opportunity to avail but did not. Hence, in light of the clear mandate propounded by the Apex Court in Chintal India (supra) the Petition was beyond time and therefore neither the delay could have been condoned nor the petition itself could have been registered as a regular Petition.

28. It was submitted that the Court without giving any cogent reason, in a mechanical manner, has turned down the preliminary objection holding that they were not maintainable and this was apparently erroneous as the order suffers from non application of judicial mind apart from the fact that it is arbitrary and against the settled principle of law, hence it deserves to be set aside and as a consequence, the Petition under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 filed by the contesting respondent deserves to be dismissed as time barred.

29. Per contra, Shri Sarvesh Dubey, learned counsel for the contesting respondent has submitted that the issue of limitation as sought to be projected by the learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner is not correct. It is urged that the contesting respondent had assailed the award dated 27.09.2023 by filing writ petition before a Division Bench of this Court bearing Writ-C No.8511 of 2023. The said petition was disposed of on 17.10.2023 by permitting the contesting respondent to avail the alternate remedy to file objection under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 before the appropriate Court. On 16.10.2023 the contesting respondent had already filed the petition before the Commercial Court which was taken up on 17.10.2023 and noticing the order passed by the Division Bench, the Petition was treated to be within time and in such circumstances the issue of delay did not arise at all. It is for the aforesaid reason that the Commercial Court has rightly rejected the preliminary objection relating to limitation as not maintainable since, the Petition itself was rightly filed within the time prescribed as per law.

30. Shri Dubey, has further pointed out that the contesting respondent had also filed his objections to the preliminary objections raised by the petitioner wherein it was clearly stated that the petition was filed on 16.01.2024 and considering the facts and circumstances the delay was condoned. The Petition was admitted and in any case the contesting respondent was entitled to the benefit of Section 14 of the Limitation Act, if required, hence the contention of the petitioner that the petition was time barred was not correct.

31. Shri Dubey has further urged that there is another aspect of the matter which requires consideration and i.e. the issue of approbate and reprobate. It is submitted that the petitioner had put in appearance in the Petition under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 and had also raised a contention that the Petition was not maintainable for want of predeposit of 75% of the awarded sum in terms of Section 19 of the Act of 2006. The contesting respondent had deposited 75% of the award and it was also got released by the petitioner in the proceedings pending before the Commercial Court. Once the Petition itself (if not maintainable for being time barred) then the petitioner could not have insisted for deposit of 75% of the amount. Now having contested the proceedings and having insisted for making the pre deposit and having participated in the proceedings to get the amount released, is all indicative of the fact that the petitioner by its own conduct had given up the plea of limitation. Moreover, by conduct the petitioner could not approbate and reprobate, hence the Commercial Court rightly rejected the preliminary objection and the petitioner is also not entitled to raise the issue of limitation before this Court, as it is misconceived and deserves to be dismissed.

32. Shri Dubey, in support of his submission has relied upon the decision of a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court in Rakesh Kumar Jain v. Zulfkar Ali; 2023 SCC OnLine All 2821. He has also relied upon a decision of the Orissa High Court in Faridabad Gurgaon Minerals v. Orissa Mining Corporation Ltd.; AIR 2007 Ori 179 and he has further relied upon the decision of the Apex Court in State of Uttar Pradesh v. Karunesh Kumar and others; 2022 SCC OnLine SC 1705.

Writ Petition No.5145 of 2024

33. Shri Dubey while pressing the Petition bearing No.5145 of 2024 has urged that the order releasing the amount in favour of the petitioner is against the mandate of Section 19 of the Act of 2006. No reasons have been recorded despite the fact that on an earlier occasion a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court in Writ Petition No.3611 of 2024 had directed the Commercial Court to pass a reasoned order.

34. It was further urged that the Commercial Court did not record any reason as to what were the circumstances which prevailed and persuaded the Commercial Court to pass an order releasing the entire sum of 75% of deposited amount. There was no justification for the Commercial Court to have directed the contesting respondent to furnish a security for the remaining 25% of the award and subject to it the recovery proceedings were to be stayed, and the said direction was apparently bad in the eyes of law.

35. It was also urged that even the High Court had noticed that the award was not valid and he relied upon para-17 of the order of the Division Bench of this Court dated 19.04.2024 passed in Writ Petition-C No.3594 of 2024 hence there was no reason to release any amount or require the contesting respondent to furnish a security.

36. Shri Dubey further submitted that in case if this Court found that the Petition under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 was barred by limitation then this Court would necessarily pass an appropriate direction directing the petitioner to return the amount received by him as the petitioner cannot be permitted to retain the benefits of an order and yet challenge the same. In such circumstances, it was urged that the petition filed by the petitioner bearing No.3886 of 2024 was liable to be dismissed and the Petition No.5141 of 2024 deserved to be allowed.

37. Responding to the submissions of Shri Dubey in so far as the Petition No.5451 of 2024 is concerned, Shri Prithish Kumar, learned Senior Counsel urged that the Act of 2006 is a special enactment which clearly indicates in Section 19 that making a pre deposit was mandatory. Once the amount was deposited, the Court was justified in releasing the same. In order to protect the rights of the parties, the Court had already put the petitioner on terms, to file an indemnity to the extent that in case if an order was passed adverse to the petitioner, in the petition under Section 34 of the Act of 1996, then the petitioner would refund the said released amount alongwith 6% interest per annum to the Court.

38. Learned Senior Counsel has further urged that it is now to well settled that a money decree is not stayed. In the given circumstances where the Act of 2006 provides for recovery through the State Authorities and it was resorted to then in order to get stay the proceedings, the contesting respondent deposited the amount on his own. The intention of the contesting respondent to deposit the said sum was also noticed by the Division Bench in its order dated 19.04.2024 passed in Writ-C No.3594 of 2024. The said amount was for the benefit of the petitioner. The petitioner has already submitted the indemnity as required by the Commercial Court and in such circumstances the order dated 27.09.2024 releasing the sum in favour of the petitioner and requiring the contesting respondent to furnish a security for the remaining 25% cannot be said to be bad rather its only in consonance with law, which requires no interference.

39. It was further urged by the learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner that even the pre deposit of 75% which has been made is only 75% of the amount as indicated in the award dated 27.09.2023 rather as per the Act of 2006 the pre deposit of 75% is to be computed on the total decretal amount, computed alongwith updated interest, till the date when the petition under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 was made. This compliance in the instant case was insufficient and in any case the Commercial Court has granted indulgence to the contesting respondent by accepting insufficient amount as compliance, which is not as per law and in the given circumstances, the Petition filed by the contesting respondent deserves to be dismissed.

Discussion and Analysis

40. The Court has heard the learned counsel for the parties at length and also perused the material on record.

41. At the outset, it will be appropriate to notice Section 5 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act of 1996 vis-a-vis the scope of interference by this Court in exercise of power under Article 226/227 of the Constitution of India. In this regard, the decision of the Apex Court in Bhaven Construction v. Sardar Sarover Narmada Nigam Ltd.; (2022) 1 SCC 75 gives guidance and the relevant observations of the Apex Court is as under:-

"18. In any case, the hierarchy in our legal framework, mandates that a legislative enactment cannot curtail a constitutional right. In Nivedita Sharma v. COAI [Nivedita Sharma v. COAI, (2011) 14 SCC 337 : (2012) 4 SCC (Civ) 947] , this Court referred to several judgments and held : (SCC p. 343, para 11)

"11. We have considered the respective arguments/submissions. There cannot be any dispute that the power of the High Courts to issue directions, orders or writs including writs in the nature of habeas corpus, certiorari, mandamus, quo warranto and prohibition under Article 226 of the Constitution is a basic feature of the Constitution and cannot be curtailed by parliamentary legislation - L. Chandra Kumar v. Union of India [L. Chandra Kumar v. Union of India, (1997) 3 SCC 261 : 1997 SCC (L&S) 577] . However, it is one thing to say that in exercise of the power vested in it under Article 226 of the Constitution, the High Court can entertain a writ petition against any order passed by or action taken by the State and/or its agency/instrumentality or any public authority or order passed by a quasi-judicial body/authority, and it is an altogether different thing to say that each and every petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution must be entertained by the High Court as a matter of course ignoring the fact that the aggrieved person has an effective alternative remedy. Rather, it is settled law that when a statutory forum is created by law for redressal of grievances, a writ petition should not be entertained ignoring the statutory dispensation."

It is therefore, prudent for a Judge to not exercise discretion to allow judicial interference beyond the procedure established under the enactment. This power needs to be exercised in exceptional rarity, wherein one party is left remediless under the statute or a clear "bad faith" shown by one of the parties. This high standard set by this Court is in terms of the legislative intention to make the arbitration fair and efficient.

19. In this context we may observe Deep Industries Ltd. v. ONGC [Deep Industries Ltd. v. ONGC, (2020) 15 SCC 706] , wherein interplay of Section 5 of the Arbitration Act and Article 227 of the Constitution was analysed as under : (SCC p. 714, paras 16-17)

"16. Most significant of all is the non obstante clause contained in Section 5 which states that notwithstanding anything contained in any other law, in matters that arise under Part I of the Arbitration Act, no judicial authority shall intervene except where so provided in this Part. Section 37 grants a constricted right of first appeal against certain judgments and orders and no others.

Further, the statutory mandate also provides for one bite at the cherry, and interdicts a second appeal being filed [see Section 37(2) of the Act].

17. This being the case, there is no doubt whatsoever that if petitions were to be filed under Articles 226/227 of the Constitution against orders passed in appeals under Section 37, the entire arbitral process would be derailed and would not come to fruition for many years. At the same time, we cannot forget that Article 227 is a constitutional provision which remains untouched by the non obstante clause of Section 5 of the Act. In these circumstances, what is important to note is that though petitions can be filed under Article 227 against judgments allowing or dismissing first appeals under Section 37 of the Act, yet the High Court would be extremely circumspect in interfering with the same, taking into account the statutory policy as adumbrated by us hereinabove so that interference is restricted to orders that are passed which are patently lacking in inherent jurisdiction."

20. In the instant case, Respondent 1 has not been able to show exceptional circumstance or "bad faith" on the part of the appellant, to invoke the remedy under Article 227 of the Constitution. No doubt the ambit of Article 227 is broad and pervasive, however, the High Court should not have used its inherent power to interject the arbitral process at this stage. It is brought to our notice that subsequent to the impugned order of the sole arbitrator, a final award was rendered by him on merits, which is challenged by Respondent 1 in a separate Section 34 application, which is pending.

21. Viewed from a different perspective, the arbitral process is strictly conditioned upon time limitation and modelled on the "principle of unbreakability". This Court in P. Radha Bai v. P. Ashok Kumar [P. Radha Bai v. P. Ashok Kumar, (2019) 13 SCC 445 : (2018) 5 SCC (Civ) 773] , observed : (SCC p. 459, paras 36-37)

36.3. Third, Section 34(3) reflects the principle of unbreakability. Dr Peter Binder in International Commercial Arbitration and Conciliation in Uncitral Model Law Jurisdictions, 2nd Edn., observed:

"An application for setting aside an award can only be made during the three months following the date on which the party making the application has received the award. Only if a party has made a request for correction or interpretation of the award under Article 33 does the time-limit of three months begin after the tribunal has disposed of the request. This exception from the three month time-limit was subject to criticism in the working group due to fears that it could be used as a delaying tactics. However, although "an unbreakable time-limit for applications for setting aside" was sought as being desirable for the sake of "certainty and expediency" the prevailing view was that the words ought to be retained "since they presented the reasonable consequence of Article 33." According to this "unbreakability" of time-limit and true to the "certainty and expediency" of the arbitral awards, any grounds for setting aside the award that emerge after the three month time-limit has expired cannot be raised.

37. Extending Section 17 of the Limitation Act would go contrary to the principle of "unbreakability" enshrined under Section 34(3) of the Arbitration Act. "

If the courts are allowed to interfere with the arbitral process beyond the ambit of the enactment, then the efficiency of the process will be diminished."

42. In a recent decision, the Apex Court in Shri Digant v. M/s P.D.T. Trading Co. and others; 2025 SCC OnLine SC 2524 considering the scope of Article 226 and 227 of the Constitution of India in context with order arising out of the District Courts the Apex Court has noticed as under:-

"22. The scope of High Court's jurisdiction under Articles 226/227 fell for consideration before a three-Judge Bench of this Court in Radhey Shyam v. Chhabi Nath1 This Court held that judicial orders of civil courts are not amenable to a writ of certiorari under Article 226, though they may be questioned in the supervisory jurisdiction of the High Court under Article 227 of the Constitution. The power under Article 227 is intended to be used sparingly and only in appropriate cases for the purpose of keeping the subordinate courts and tribunals within the bounds of their authority and not for correcting mere errors. The power may be exercised in cases occasioning grave injustice or failure of justice such as when (i) the court or tribunal has assumed a jurisdiction which it does not have, (ii) has failed to exercise a jurisdiction which it does have, such failure occasioning a failure of justice, and (iii) the jurisdiction though available is being exercised in a manner which tantamounts to overstepping the limits of jurisdiction.

23. In the case on hand, the appellate court had considered in detail the issue as to whether the trial court was justified in proceeding with the case, without further notice to the defendants, after submission of pursis (Exh.42) by defendants' counsel, claiming no instructions. After a threadbare analysis and taking into consideration the surrounding circumstances, the appellate court held that the trial court committed no wrong in proceeding with the matter. The appellate court noticed that the advocate representing the defendants had claimed no instructions but not sought withdrawal of his Vakalatnama and the matter thereafter remained pending for over three months till it was decided in March 2015. In between no effort was made by the defendants to engage another lawyer. Moreover, the defendants did not come up with a case that their lawyer's notice was not served on them therefore, they could not engage another counsel. Besides that, the record also indicated that the intention of the defendants was to delay the proceedings because earlier also the suit had proceeded ex parte against them though, later, those orders were recalled. Therefore, in our view, once the appellate court took into consideration all relevant aspects including the fact that pursis (Exh.42) did not seek withdrawal of the Vakalatnama, and withdrawal was not even permitted, there was no such jurisdictional error which warranted exercise of powers under Article 227 of the Constitution of India. The High Court without any justification went on to consider the procedure prescribed for withdrawal of Vakalatnama when neither withdrawal of Vakalatnama was permitted by the Trial Court nor the pursis prayed for its withdrawal. In such circumstances, the entire exercise of the High Court was misconceived. More so, when the view taken by the appellate court that defendant cannot take advantage of his own wrong was a plausible view based on materials available on record. Hence, in our view, appellate court's order was not amenable to interference in exercise of jurisdiction under Articles 226/227 of the Constitution of India. The High Court clearly exceeded its jurisdiction under Article 227 of the Constitution in interfering with a well reasoned order of the appellate court."

43. Keeping the aforesaid parameters in mind, this Court proceeds to examine the contention of the respective parties. The issue of limitation definitely goes to the roots of the jurisdiction of the Court to entertain a matter, in the first place. It is now well settled that Section 5 of the Limitation Act is not applicable to the proceedings under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 (see Union of India v. Popular Construction Co.; (2001) 8 SCC 470 which was followed by the Apex Court in Simplex Infrastructure v. Union of India; (2019) 2 SCC 455 wherein in para 11 it was noticed as under:-

"11. Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963 deals with the extension of the prescribed period for any appeal or application subject to the satisfaction of the court that the appellant or applicant had sufficient cause for not preferring the appeal or making the application within the prescribed period. Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963 has no application to an application challenging an arbitral award under Section 34 of the 1996 Act. This has been settled by this Court in its decision in Union of India v. Popular Construction Company [Union of India v. Popular Construction Company, (2001) 8 SCC 470] , wherein it held as follows : (SCC pp. 474-75, paras 12 &14)

"12. As far as the language of Section 34 of the 1996 Act is concerned, the crucial words are "but not thereafter" used in the proviso to sub-section (3). In our opinion, this phrase would amount to an express exclusion within the meaning of Section 29(2) of the Limitation Act, and would therefore bar the application of Section 5 of that Act. Parliament did not need to go further. To hold that the court could entertain an application to set aside the award beyond the extended period under the proviso, would render the phrase "but not thereafter" wholly otiose. No principle of interpretation would justify such a result.

14. Here the history and scheme of the 1996 Act support the conclusion that the time-limit prescribed under Section 34 to challenge an award is absolute and unextendable by court under Section 5 of the Limitation Act. "

44. The facts in the instant case relating to the issue of limitation are not in dispute between the parties. It is not disputed that the contesting respondent assailed the award passed by the Facilitation Council by filing Writ-C No.8511 of 2023. The Division Bench of this Court on 05.10.2023 had passed the following order which reads as under:-

"Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri S.B.Pandey, learned DSGI/Senior Advocate, assisted by Shri R.K. Singh, learned counsel for the respondent no.1 and 3.

Learned counsel for the respondent prays for and is granted three days' time to complete his instructions with regard to the status of award.

List this case on 10.10.2023."

45. Later on 17.10.2023 the Division Bench in the said petition passed the following order:-

"Case called out in the revised list.

Learned counsel for the petitioners is not present. Sri Rajesh Tewari , Advocate is present for respondent nos.2 & 3 and Sri S. B. Pandey, learned A.S.G.I. assisted by Sri R. K. Singh Advocate is present for respondent no.1.

Learned counsel for the respondent nos.1, 2 & 3 state that the award dated 27.09.2023 has been passed and against the same the petitioners have alternative remedy to file objections under Section 34 before the appropriate Court.

With the aforesaid liberty, the petition is consigned to record."

46. From the perusal of the order dated 17.10.2023 as quoted above, it would reveal that the counsel for the contesting respondent (herein) was not present before the Court. However, taking note of the fact that the contesting respondent had an alternate remedy of filing objection under Section 34 of the Act of 1996, the Court did not deem appropriate to entertain the petition and after granting the aforesaid liberty, consigned the petition to record.

47. The record further indicates that the contesting respondent filed the Petition under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 before the Commercial Court on 16.01.2024. This was taken up by the Court concerned on 17.01.2024. The Commercial Court on 17.01.2024 had passed an order, which is under challenge in this petition, and it is being reproduced hereinafter:-

"प्रार्थी/वादी के विद्वान अधिवक्ता द्वारा प्रार्थनापत्र ए-3 माध्यस्थम् एवं सुलह अधिनियम, 1996 की धारा-34 के अन्तर्गत प्रस्तुत किया गया है।

48. Another fact which needs to be seen at this stage is as to whether the High Court in its order had granted any indulgence to the contesting respondent by which the Petition which otherwise was barred by limitation could have been treated to be within time.

49. In order to examine this aspect, the contents of paragraphs 45 to 48 of the Petition filed by the contesting respondent under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 is being reproduced hereinafter for ready reference:-

"45. That the petitioner also filed a Writ Petition in High Court, Lucknow Bench having case No. (Writ-C No.8511 of 2023) on dated 27.09/2023 with a prayer to issue direction to the Arbitrator, MSME Facilitation Council, Lucknow to proceed with the matter strictly in accordance with the provision of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 as mandated by the Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises Development Act, 2006.

46. That it is to be noted that the Arbitrator, MSME Facilitation Council, Lucknow passed an arbitral award on dated 27.09.2023 that very day when the petitioner filed a Writ Petition in the High Court, Lucknow Bench.

47. That during the proceedings of the above mentioned Writ Petition, the Counsel of the respondent filed a Counter-Affidavit and informed the Hon'ble High Court about the arbitral award passed dated 27.09.2023 by the Arbitrator, MSME Facilitation Council, Lucknow.

48. That the Hon'ble High Court, Lucknow Bench dismissed the above said Writ Petition on dated 17.10.2023 with direction to the petitioner to file a separate petition under Section 34 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 before the Appropriate Court. The Photocopy of the order dated 17.10.2023 is annexed with this petition as annexure no.7."

50. From the perusal of the aforesaid, it would be clear that annexure no.7 which has been referred to by the Commercial Court in its order dated 17.01.2024 it is the same order which was passed by the Division Bench of this Court in Writ-C No.8511 of 2023. The said order has already been reproduced hereinabove and it would be clear that the Court except for permitting the contesting respondent to take recourse to the alternate remedy did not provide any further liberty or any further indulgence so as to impact the merit or disability in the petition. The Division Bench clearly did not make any observation which could be construed as an observation that the delay, if any, would stand condoned or would be ignored whenever the contesting respondent choose to take recourse to the alternate remedy of filing objection under Section 34 of the Act of 1996.

51. In this background, the observations made by the Commercial Court in its order dated 17.01.2024 that though the Petition under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 was barred by limitation but because of the order passed by the High Court (order which was annexure no.7) the Petition was not time barred, is apparently a clear case of misreading and misconstruing the order passed by the High Court.

52. The petitioner having received the summon and had put in appearance before the Commercial Court and filed his preliminary objections on 12.02.2024 raising the issue of maintainability on two counts (i) the Petition under Section 34 was bad for non compliance of Section 19 of the Act of 2006 as it was not accompanied with a pre deposit of 75% of the decretal amount, (ii) the Petition was barred by limitation in terms of Section 34 (3) of the Act of 1996.

53. In its reply, the contesting respondent, insofar as the issue of limitation is concerned, pleaded its stance in paragraph 12 and 13 as under:-

"12. That the appellant/petitioner would like to inform this present Hon'ble Court that there is no delay in filing the present matter under Section 34 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996, the petitioner/appellant filed the present matter on dated 16.01.2024 before this Hon'ble Court and the one day time has been wasted in sending the copy of the above matter to all the respondents via speed post.

13. That further, the present Hon'ble Court after seeking the facts and evidence already, condone the delay of 1 day on dated 12.02.2024 in filing the present matter under Section 34 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996. Moreso, the petition has already been admitted and the benefit of Sec. 14 of the Limitation Act would be given to the petitioner, if required. Therefore, to say that the present matter is delayed is wrong and vehemently denied."

54. At this stage, it will also be relevant to notice the prayer made by the contesting respondent in its Petition under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 which reads as under:-

"Therefore, in view of the facts, reasons law, guidelines, circular, government order, grounds and circumstances as stated above the petitioners most respectfully prayed before this Hon'ble Court:-

(i) That in view of the facts, reasons and circumstances and grounds as mentioned above, it is most respectfully prayed before this Hon'ble Court to quash or set aside the order dated 27.09.2023 passed by the Arbitrator, Facilitation Council, Lucknow as such, the petitioner got no opportunity to present his case and the Arbitrator passed a one sided award or ex-parte award.

(ii) That it is also request before this Hon'ble Court to grant the stay on the operation of the said Arbitral award as per the Section 36(2) and (3) of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996.

(iii) That to allow any other relief which this Hon'ble Court deems fit and proper in the circumstances of the case detailed herein above in the interest of the justice."

55. The entire purpose of taking note of the aforesaid pleadings and response is to ascertain as to how the contesting respondent envisioned its own case. The stand of the contesting respondent was that the Petition was within time. Even if there was a delay, the same was condoned by the Court and in any case since the contesting respondent had filed Writ-C No.8511 of 2023 assailing the award dated 27.09.2023, hence the contesting respondent was entitled to the benefit of Section 14 of the Limitation Act. Thus, the Commercial Court did not err in rejecting the preliminary objection relating to the issue of limitation raised by the petitioner.

56. In this regard, this Court notices the settled proposition that Section 5 of the Limitation Act does not apply to proceeding under Section 34 of the Act of 1996, whereas Section 14 of the Act of 1963 is applicable. The difference in the two sections and its applicability to arbitration proceedings as aforesaid was noticed by the Apex Court in Consolidated Engineering Enterprises v. Principal Secretary, Irrigation Department and others; (2008) 7 SCC 169 and the relevant portion is reproduced as under:-

"20. Section 29(2) of the Limitation Act inter alia provides that where any special or local law prescribes for any suit, appeal or application a period of limitation different from the period of limitation prescribed by the Schedule, the provisions of Section 3 shall apply as if such period was the period prescribed by the Schedule and for the purpose of determining any period of limitation prescribed for any suit, appeal or application by any special or local law, the provisions contained in Sections 4 to 24 shall apply only insofar as, and to the extent, they are not expressly excluded by such special or local law. When any special statute prescribes certain period of limitation as well as provision for extension up to specified time-limit, on sufficient cause being shown, then the period of limitation prescribed under the special law shall prevail and to that extent the provisions of the Limitation Act shall stand excluded. As the intention of the legislature in enacting sub-section (3) of Section 34 of the Act is that the application for setting aside the award should be made within three months and the period can be further extended on sufficient cause being shown by another period of 30 days but not thereafter, this Court is of the opinion that the provisions of Section 5 of the Limitation Act would not be applicable because the applicability of Section 5 of the Limitation Act stands excluded because of the provisions of Section 29(2) of the Limitation Act. However, merely because it is held that Section 5 of the Limitation Act is not applicable to an application filed under Section 34 of the Act for setting aside an award, one need not conclude that provisions of Section 14 of the Limitation Act would also not be applicable to an application submitted under Section 34 of the Act of 1996.

21. Section 14 of the Limitation Act deals with exclusion of time of proceeding bona fide in a court without jurisdiction. On analysis of the said section, it becomes evident that the following conditions must be satisfied before Section 14 can be pressed into service:

- (1) Both the prior and subsequent proceedings are civil proceedings prosecuted by the same party;
- (2) The prior proceeding had been prosecuted with due diligence and in good faith;
- (3) The failure of the prior proceeding was due to defect of jurisdiction or other cause of like nature;
- (4) The earlier proceeding and the latter proceeding must relate to the same matter in issue and;
- (5) Both the proceedings are in a court.

22 . The policy of the section is to afford protection to a litigant against the bar of limitation when he institutes a proceeding which by reason of some technical defect cannot be decided on merits and is dismissed. While considering the provisions of Section 14 of the Limitation Act, proper approach will have to be adopted and the provisions will have to be interpreted so as to advance the cause of justice rather than abort the proceedings. It will be well to bear in mind that an element of mistake is inherent in the invocation of Section 14. In fact, the section is intended to provide relief against the bar of limitation in cases of mistaken remedy or selection of a wrong forum. On reading Section 14 of the Act it becomes clear that the legislature has enacted the said section to exempt a certain period covered by a bona fide litigious activity. Upon the words used in the section, it is not possible to sustain the interpretation that the principle underlying the said section, namely, that the bar of limitation should not affect a person honestly doing his best to get his case tried on merits but failing because the court is unable to give him such a trial, would not be applicable to an application filed under Section 34 of the Act of 1996. The principle is clearly applicable not only to a case in which a litigant brings his application in the court, that is, a court having no jurisdiction to entertain it but also where he brings the suit or the application in the wrong court in consequence of bona fide mistake or (sic of) law or defect of procedure. Having regard to the intention of the legislature this Court is of the firm opinion that the equity underlying Section 14 should be applied to its fullest extent and time taken diligently pursuing a remedy, in a wrong court, should be excluded.

23 . At this stage it would be relevant to ascertain whether there is any express provision in the Act of 1996, which excludes the applicability of Section 14 of the Limitation Act. On review of the provisions of the Act of 1996 this Court finds that there is no provision in the said Act which excludes the applicability of the provisions of Section 14 of the Limitation Act to an application submitted under Section 34 of the said Act. On the contrary, this Court finds that Section 43 makes the provisions of the Limitation Act, 1963 applicable to arbitration proceedings. The proceedings under Section 34 are for the purpose of challenging the award whereas the proceeding referred to under Section 43 are the original proceedings which can be equated with a suit in a court. Hence, Section 43 incorporating the Limitation Act will apply to the proceedings in the arbitration as it applies to the proceedings of a suit in the court. Sub-section (4) of Section 43, inter alia, provides that where the court orders that an arbitral award be set aside, the period between the commencement of the arbitration and the date of the order of the court shall be excluded in computing the time prescribed by the Limitation Act, 1963, for the commencement of the proceedings with respect to the dispute so submitted. If the period between the commencement of the arbitration proceedings till the award is set aside by the court, has to be excluded in computing the period of limitation provided for any proceedings with respect to the dispute, there is no good reason as to why it should not be held that the provisions of Section 14 of the Limitation Act would be applicable to an application submitted under Section 34 of the Act of 1996, more particularly where no provision is to be found in the Act of 1996, which excludes the applicability of Section 14 of the Limitation Act, to an application made under Section 34 of the Act. It is to be noticed that the powers under Section 34 of the Act can be exercised by the court only if the aggrieved party makes an application. The jurisdiction under Section 34 of the Act, cannot be exercised suo motu. The total period of four months within which an application, for setting aside an arbitral award, has to be made is not unusually long. Section 34 of the Act of 1996 would be unduly oppressive, if it is held that the provisions of Section 14 of the Limitation Act are not applicable to it, because cases are no doubt conceivable where an aggrieved party, despite exercise of due diligence and good faith, is unable to make an application within a period of four months. From the scheme and language of Section 34 of the Act of 1996, the intention of the legislature to exclude the applicability of Section 14 of the Limitation Act is not manifest. It is well to remember that Section 14 of the Limitation Act does not provide for a fresh period of limitation but only provides for the exclusion of a certain period. Having regard to the legislative intent, it will have to be held that the provisions of Section 14 of the Limitation Act, 1963 would be applicable to an application submitted under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 for setting aside an arbitral award.

28. Further, there is fundamental distinction between the discretion to be exercised under Section 5 of the Limitation Act and exclusion of the time provided in Section 14 of the said Act. The power to excuse delay and grant an extension of time under Section 5 is discretionary whereas under Section 14, exclusion of time is mandatory, if the requisite conditions are satisfied. Section 5 is broader in its sweep than Section 14 in the sense that a number of widely different reasons can be advanced and established to show that there was sufficient cause in not filing the appeal or the application within time. The ingredients in respect of Sections 5 and 14 are different. The effect of Section 14 is that in order to ascertain what is the date of expiration of the "prescribed period", the days excluded from operating by way of limitation, have to be added to what is primarily the period of limitation prescribed. Having regard to all these principles, it is difficult to hold that the decision in Popular Construction Co. [(2001) 8 SCC 470] rules that the provisions of Section 14 of the Limitation Act would not apply to an application challenging an award under Section 34 of the Act."

57. In order to avail the benefit of Section 14 of the Limitation Act, the Court concerned (who was dealing with the issue as to whether the benefit of Section 14 of the Limitation Act is to be granted or not) was required to ascertain whether the following conditions were met or not.

- (1) Both the prior and subsequent proceedings are civil proceedings prosecuted by the same party;
- (2) The prior proceeding had been prosecuted with due diligence and in good faith;
- (3) The failure of the prior proceeding was due to defect of jurisdiction or other cause of like nature;
- (4) The earlier proceeding and the latter proceeding must relate to the same matter in issue and;
- (5) Both the proceedings are in a court.

58. Now in order to ascertain whether the aforesaid mentioned conditions were applicable, the Court, necessarily was obliged to look at the pleading made by the respective parties before it. Even for the purposes of condoning the delay, the party seeking the indulgence of the Court must plead and demonstrate that it was prevented by a sufficient cause from filing the Petition/appeal/application before the Court within the prescribed period of limitation. Thus, whether a party claims the benefit of Section 5 or Section 14 of the Limitation Act, the pleadings in this regard assumes significance.

59. In the instant case, it is no doubt true that the Petition filed under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 was beyond three months from the date of the award but it was filed within 30 days thereafter. This period of additional 30 days is significant for the reason that the Court dealing with an application under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 has the power to condone the delay of this additional 30 days, which is in terms of Section 34(3) of the Act 1996 and not in terms of Section 5 of the Limitation Act.

60. In this context, if at all there is a delay, which is within the condonable period of 30 days as aforesaid, then, it has to be explained. It is not as if, despite the delay and there being no application seeking condonation of delay and not even a prayer made in this regard yet it would entitle the court to automatically condone the delay nor the Court would condone the delay merely because it is within the condonable period of 30 days in terms of Section 34(3) of the Act of 1996, irrespective of the explanation offered by the party seeking condonation of delay.

61. What the Court is required to do is to ascertain as to whether the ground shown for approaching the Court with delay and of course which is within the condonable period, constitutes a sufficient cause. Once, the Court is satisfied that the delay in approaching the Court, is within the condonable period of 30 days but beyond three months, as provided under Section 34(3) of the Act of 1996 and the explanation offered constitutes a sufficient cause then the delay can be condoned. This necessarily means applying the judicial mind to the cause shown, the contention of the opposing party and the reason recorded by the Court to reach its conclusion.

62. Now, if a party is seeking the benefit of Section 14 of the Limitation Act then in such a case the Court would be required to examine whether the conditions subsist for grant of the benefit of the Section 14 on the basis of pleading and then applying it to the facts of the given case, the Court will have to record its satisfaction that the pleadings set out by a party claiming the benefit of Section 14 of the Limitation Act has made out a case and only then the benefit of Section 14 can be granted.

63. At this stage, it will be appropriate to consider the decision of the Apex Court in Chintal India (supra) which has been made the pivot of the submission by the learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner. In Chintal India (supra) the issue before the Apex Court was whether an order passed by a Court refusing to condone the delay in filing an application under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 is an appealable order under Section 37(1)(c) of the Act. It is in this context that the Apex Court considered several decisions and taking aid of the "effect doctrine" held that by refusing to condone the delay, the effect is, that the Court refuses to set aside the award which in terms of Section 37(1)(c) of the Act of 1996 is appealable and such an appeal would be maintainable.

64. Needless to say that the Apex Court was not dealing with a situation as to what should be the content in a Petition under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 or as to how the said Petition is to be construed. It is also equally settled that the judgment is not to be construed like euclid theorem and an observation in a judgment torn out of its context cannot be said to conclude an issue. It is in this regard, the observations made by the Apex Court in Chintal India (supra) more particularly paragraph 11, which for the sake of clarity is being reproduced hereinafter:-

"8. A reading of section 34(1) would make it clear that an application made to set aside an award has to be in accordance with both sub-sections (2) and (3). This would mean that such application would not only have to be within the limitation period prescribed by sub-section (3), but would then have to set out grounds under sub-sections (2) and/or (2A) for setting aside such award. What follows from this is that the application itself must be within time, and if not within a period of three months, must be accompanied with an application for condonation of delay, provided it is within a further period of 30 days, this Court having made it clear that section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963 does not apply and that any delay beyond 120 days cannot be condoned - see State of Himachal Pradesh v. Himachal Techno Engineers and Anr. (2010) 12 SCC 210 at paragraph 5. "

65. The aforesaid paragraph would reveal that the Apex Court was not dealing with such an issue so as to hold that a petition under Section 34 of the Act of 1992 must be accompanied by a separate application for condonation of delay. The observations made therein can be seen as a prudent course which may be adopted by a person while filing its petition under Section 34 of the Act. However, merely because an application seeking condonation of delay has not been made separately will per se not make the Petition under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 not maintainable. There may be a situation where a Petition under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 may be barred by limitation and the petitioner in such a Petition itself may have made averments regarding sufficient cause and may have even sought a prayer in the petition itself without making a separate application for seeking condonation of delay. Hence, in such circumstances, it cannot be said that the observations made by the Apex Court in paragraph 11 above, indicates that a petition under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 in all circumstances must be accompanied with a separate application for seeking condonation of delay. It is for the aforesaid reason, that this Court finds that the submissions of the learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner is too technical and is an attempt to tear out the observations of the Apex Court out of context.

66. For the purposes of clarity it will be worthwhile to notice another decision of the Apex Court in Shesh Nath Singh and another v. Baidyabati Sheoraphuli Cooperative Bank Ltd. and another; (2021) 7 SCC 313 wherein the issue of condonation of delay was considered by the Apex Court and in paragraphs 59 to 63, it held as under :-

"59. The condition precedent for condonation of the delay in filing an application or appeal, is the existence of sufficient cause. Whether the explanation furnished for the delay would constitute "sufficient cause" or not would be dependent upon facts of each case. There cannot be any straitjacket formula for accepting or rejecting the explanation furnished by the appellant applicant for the delay in taking steps. Acceptance of explanation furnished should be the rule and refusal an exception, when no negligence or inaction or want of bona fides can be imputed to the defaulting party.

60. It is true that a valuable right may accrue to the other party by the law of limitation, which should not lightly be defeated by condoning delay in a routine manner. At the same time, when stakes are high, the explanation should not be rejected by taking a pedantic and hypertechnical view of the matter, causing thereby irreparable loss and injury to the party against whom the lis terminates. The courts are required to strike a balance between the legitimate rights and interests of the respective parties.

61. Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963 does not speak of any application. The section enables the court to admit an application or appeal if the applicant or the appellant, as the case may be, satisfies the court that he had sufficient cause for not making the application and/or preferring the appeal, within the time prescribed. Although, it is the general practice to make a formal application under Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963, in order to enable the court or tribunal to weigh the sufficiency of the cause for the inability of the appellant applicant to approach the court/tribunal within the time prescribed by limitation, there is no bar to exercise by the court/tribunal of its discretion to condone delay, in the absence of a formal application.

62. A plain reading of Section 5 of the Limitation Act makes it amply clear that, it is not mandatory to file an application in writing before relief can be granted under the said section. Had such an application been mandatory, Section 5 of the Limitation Act would have expressly provided so. Section 5 would then have read that the court might condone delay beyond the time prescribed by limitation for filing an application or appeal, if on consideration of the application of the appellant or the applicant, as the case may be, for condonation of delay, the court is satisfied that the appellant applicant had sufficient cause for not preferring the appeal or making the application within such period. Alternatively, a proviso or an Explanation would have been added to Section 5, requiring the appellant or the applicant, as the case may be, to make an application for condonation of delay. However, the court can always insist that an application or an affidavit showing cause for the delay be filed. No applicant or appellant can claim condonation of delay under Section 5 of the Limitation Act as of right, without making an application.

63. As observed above, Section 238-A makes the provisions of the Limitation Act applicable to proceedings under the IBC before the adjudicating authority and the appellate authority (Nclat) "as far as may be". Section 14(2) of the Limitation Act which provides for exclusion of time in computing the period of limitation in certain circumstances, provides as follows:

"14. Exclusion of time of proceeding bona fide in court without jurisdiction.-(1) ***

(2) In computing the period of limitation for any application, the time during which the applicant has been prosecuting with due diligence another civil proceeding, whether in a court of first instance or of appeal or revision, against the same party for the same relief shall be excluded, where such proceeding is prosecuted in good faith in a court which, from defect of jurisdiction or other cause of a like nature, is unable to entertain it."

67. Thus having considered the decision of the Apex Court as noticed hereinabove, it can be safely be said, that it is not merely because the application under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 was not accompanied by a separate application seeking condonation of delay, per se would make the application under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 not maintainable without considering as to whether in the pleading any ground was set out for condonation of delay or for grant of benefit of Section 14 of the Limitation Act or any prayer was made to the aforesaid effect or not.

68. Insofar as the decision cited by Shri Dubey is concerned, suffice to state that the decision of a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court in Rakesh Kumar Jain (supra) in an a different fact situation and is in context with Section 5 of the Limitation Act as applicable to the civil proceedings and not in context with the Arbitration & Conciliation Act, 1996 as such may not be applicable to the instant case, hence it does not come to the aid of the contesting respondent. For the same reason, the decision of Faridabad Gurgaon Minerals (supra) also does not help the contesting respondent. Similarly, the decision of the Apex Court in Karunesh Kumar (supra) deals with the proposition of approbate and reprobate, which though as a proposition is not disputed but the said proposition of approbate and reprobate has no applicability in the instant case, hence the said judgment also does not help the contesting respondent.

69. Now applying the aforesaid principles to the facts of the instant case, it would reveal that the Commercial Court while dealing with the issue of limitation has merely referred to the contention of the respective parties and referred to the Munsarim report as furnished and in his report and in terms of the order passed by the High Court, the Petition was within time. The relevant portion relating to the finding recorded by the Commercial Court in its order dated 20.06.2024 is being reproduced hereinafter:-

"सुना व पत्रावली का अवलोकन किया। पत्रावली के अवलोकन के पश्चात विदित होता है कि याची/अपीलार्थी द्वारा माननीय उच्च न्यायालय के आदेश दिनांक 19.04.2024 व 01.05.2024 के अनुपालन में एवार्ड की 75% धनराशि न्यायालय में दिनांक 03.05.2024 को जमा की जा चुकी है। जहाँ तक विपक्षी सं०-4 द्वारा याचिका कालबाधित के संबंध में की गई आपति का प्रश्न है, उक्त के सम्बन्ध में मुंसरिम आख्या के अवलोकन से यह स्पष्ट होता है कि मुंसरिम द्वारा माननीय उच्च न्यायालय में योजित रिट सी नं०-8511/2023 में पारित आदेश दिनांकित 17.10.2023 के आधार पर कालबाधित न होने की आख्या दी गई है। यहाँ यह भी उल्लेखनीय है कि उक्त एवार्ड दिनांक 27.09.2023 को पारित किया गया है। उक्त एवार्ड पारित होने के 90 दिन पश्चात विस्तारित समयावधि 30 दिन अर्थात् कुल 120 दिन के भीतर याची अपीलार्थी द्वारा आर्बीट्रेशन वाद प्रस्तुत किया गया है एवं इस विलम्ब का समुचित कारण यह बताया गया है कि उसके द्वारा माननीय उच्च न्यायालय में याचिका रिट-सी नं०-8511/2023 योजित की गई थी, जिसे माननीय उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा दिनांक 17.10.2023 को निस्तारित किया गया है। जिसके आधार पर याचिका को समय सीमा में मानते हुए उक्त वाद दिनांक 17.01.2024 को आर्बीट्रेशन वाद के रूप में दर्ज किया जा चुका है एवं पत्रावली में आर्बीट्रेटर रिकॉर्ड भी तलब किया जा चुका है। ऐसी स्थिति में न्यायालय के मत में विपक्षी सं०-4 की ओर से प्रस्तुत प्रारंभिक आपति सी-9 पोषणीय न होने के कारण निरस्त किये जाने योग्य है।"

70. The reasoning of the Commercial Court that the Petition was filed beyond 90 days but within 30 days thereafter i.e. to say within 120 days and the ground indicated for such delay was the filing of the Writ Petition No.8511 of 2023 before the High Court which was disposed of on 17.10.2023, hence the Petition was registered, as being within time and that the record from the Arbitrator had been summoned, hence, in such circumstances, the preliminary objections are not maintainable, reflects poorly, for more than one reason: (i) First and foremost, the issue of limitation was a jurisdictional issue which was to be considered with most seriousness, which is not reflected from the above quoted, reasoning of the said Court. Merely because the Munsarim had given an incorrect report would not mean that substantive right of the party can be subsumed because of the Munsarim report or that the Court loses its jurisdiction to adjudicate the issue of limitation. The report of the Munsarim is subservient to the order of the Court and not vice versa; (ii) This Court is pained to notice that the Commercial Court failed to even read the order passed by the Division Bench of this Court dated 17.10.2023 passed in Writ-C No.8511 of 2023. It has already been noticed in the preceding paragraphs that the Division Bench in its order dated 17.10.2023 did not make any observation relating to condoning of delay or giving any indication or direction that whenever the contesting respondent filed objections under Section 34 of the Act of 1996, the same would be treated to be within time and be considered on merits, curtailing the right of the petitioner (opposite party before Commercial Court) to raise the issue of limitation; (iii) Even otherwise, if the Munsarim had given an incorrect report and at the first given opportunity, the petitioner had pointed out the said fact by filing his preliminary objection then it was the duty of the Commercial Court to have applied its judicial mind to the controversy and to have decided. However, without entering into the controversy, relating to limitation it has skirted the issue by holding that the Munsarim had given a report and the record had been summoned from the Arbitrator, hence the preliminary objections were not maintainable, make the order impugned vulnerable; (iv) It appears that the Commercial Court was not aware of the difference between entertainability and maintainability. It is one thing to say that an objection relating to limitation may not be entertained but in the given circumstances, there can be no reason why an issue of limitation could be held to be not maintainable, merely because a Munsarim had given a report which was based on a clear misreading of the order passed by the High Court; (v) Another reason which reflects poorly on the Commercial Court is that even if at all, it was turning down the preliminary objection regarding limitation then the least that was required to be done was to have accorded some cogent reason to arrive at a conclusion, which would have some legal logic behind it.

71. Apparently, as already noticed above, the contesting respondent had made no prayer for condonation of delay nor any separate application for seeking condonation of delay was moved moreover, there was no pleadings for seeking benefit of Section 14 of the Limitation Act nor there was any pleadings to show as to how the contesting respondent was entitled to get the benefit of condonation of delay or Section 14 of the Limitation Act and yet the Commercial Court rejected the objection on limitation as not maintainable which is patently perverse and it suffers from the vice of being non reasoned and arbitrary exercise of jurisdiction and the said order is liable to be set aside.

72. In light of the aforesaid detailed discussions, this Court finds that the order dated 20.06.2024 passed by the Commercial Court is patently erroneous and cannot be sustained, in so far as it rejected the preliminary objection on the point of limitation. To that extent, the order dated 20.06.2024 is set aside. The Commercial Court shall decide the issue of limitation, a fresh, by taking note of the clear pleadings of the parties and decide as to whether it is a case for condonation of delay or it is a case for seeking exclusion of time in terms of Section 14 of the Limitation Act, by a reasoned and a speaking order, taking into consideration the observations made by this Court. An endeavour would be made to decide the issue of limitation as aforesaid as expeditiously as possible, preferably within a period of four weeks, from the date a copy of this order is placed before the Court concerned.

73. It is made clear that this Court has not entered into the veracity of the pleadings and has not made any observations as to whether a case for condonation or case for exclusion of time is made out or not, which will be for the Commercial Court to do, of course, in light of the observations made hereinabove and in accordance with law. The fresh order to be passed as aforesaid, would govern the fate of the order dated 17.01.2024. Thus, the Petition No.3886 of 2024 is partly allowed in the aforesaid terms.

Discussion in respect of Writ Petition No.5145 of 2024

74. In order to appreciate the controversy in the connected petition bearing No.5145 of 2024, it will be appropriate to notice the reliefs prayed by the contesting respondent (who is the petitioner of Writ Petition No.5145) as under:-

"(i) To issue appropriate, order or direction to set aside the order dated 27.09.2024 passed by the learned Commercial Court No.2, Lucknow passed in Application No.C06 to the extent for depositing the security towards the 25% of awarded amount in Arbitration Case No.3 of 2024 in re Paradigm Enterprises Vs. Union of India through the Secretary, Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises.

(ii) To issue appropriate, order or direction to set aside the order dated 27.09.2024 passed by the learned Commercial Court No.2, Lucknow passed in Application No.C-30 (Application for releasing the amount) & Application No.C-53 (Supplementary Affidavit) to the extent for depositing the security towards the 25% of awarded amount in Arbitration Case No.3 of 2024 in re: Paradigm Enterprises Vs. Union of India through the Secretary, Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises.

(iii) To issue appropriate, order or direction to the learned Commercial Court to issue necessary direction to the respondent no.3 to refund the amount which has been taken in pursuance to the order dated 19.07.2024.

(iv) To issue appropriate, order or direction to the learned Commercial Court No.2, Lucknow to en-cash the indemnity bond deposited by the respondent no.3 in pursuance to the order dated 19.07.2024 passed in Application No.C-30 in Arbitration Case No.3 of 2024 in re: paradigm Enterprises Vs. Union of India through the Secretary, Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises, if it has been released in pursuance of the order dated 19.07.2024 to the respondent no.3 and further deposited in the fixed deposit and ensure to release after final adjudication of the Arbitration Case No.3 of 2024 in re: Paradigm Enterprises Vs. Union of India through the Secretary, Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises."

75. The thrust of the submission advanced by Shri Dubey is that the Division Bench of this Court in its order dated 19.04.2024 passed in Writ-C No.3594 of 2024 noticed that the award passed by the Facilitation Council was no award in the eyes of law. Once such an observation was made by the Division Bench of the High Court, and the very same award was under challenge in proceedings under Section 34 of the Act of 1996, in such circumstance, it was not just and appropriate for the Commercial Court to have released to deposit sum in favour of the petitioner i.e. M/s Genebio Healthcare Pvt. Ltd.

76. If this submission is considered, the record would reveal that the observations made by the Division Bench in the aforesaid order was in context with the submission advanced by the contesting respondent in his petition before the High Court. A copy of the order passed by the High Court is on record as annexure no.11 with Writ Petition No.5145 of 2024 and it would reveal that from paragraph 9 onwards the Court has considered the submissions of the learned counsel for the contesting respondent. The observations of the Court has been mentioned in paragraph 18 and 23 to 25 of the said order and the relevant portion thereof reads as under:-

"18. However, this Court is of the opinion that the petitioner cannot be permitted to simultaneously, argue the same ground in appeal that it has filed under Section 34 of the Act of 1996/Section 19 of the MSMED Act, 2020 and raise a challenge to the arbitral award before this Court.

23. Having gone through the pleadings on record and having heard learned counsel for the parties, we find that prayer nos.2 and 3 of the writ petition fail and cannot be granted by this Court as the similar prayers had been made by the petitioner in Writ Petition (C) No.8511 of 2023 which was dismissed by this Court on 17.12.2023.

24. With regard to prayer nos.1 and prayer no.4 of this petition, regarding quashing of recovery notice dated 16.04.2024 issued by the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Sadar, Lucknow and the recovery notice dated 22.03.2024 issued by Tehsildar, Sadar Lucknow and for releasing the bank account of the Company, the petitioner's appeal under Section 19 has not yet been raised by the private respondent before the Commercial Court.

25. The Commercial Court shall look into the condition of pre-deposit of 76% of the arbitral award and pass an appropriate order. At this stage, the counsel for the petitioner on instructions from his client says that it is ready to deposit 75% of arbitral award in the appeal before the Commercial Court. This assurance has been given to the Court orally. However, if the petitioner complies with the condition of re-deposit of 75% of arbitral award within a week, and the Commercial Court admits the appeal as per the law settled in Tirupati Steels (supra) then the District administration may not pursue the recovery proceedings as impugned in this petition. "

77. The aforesaid order of the Division Bench would reveal that it had not expressed any opinion regarding the award passed by the Facilitation Council. The observation in paragraph-17 of the judgment, as relied upon by the counsel for the contesting respondent is being torn out of context. Thus, this Court is not inclined to accept this submission that the Division Bench had recorded any finding or observed that the award passed by the Facilitation Council was no award in the eyes of law and that was binding on the Commercial Court

78. Needless to say that the said award is under challenge before the Commercial Court in proceedings under Section 34 of the Act 1996 which is the appropriate forum where the validity of the award will be tested on the grounds mentioned in Section 34 of the Act of 1996 and the said court would deal with it in accordance with law.

79. The other submission of Shri Dubey that the Commercial Court has not given any cogent reason as to why the said amount should be released in favour of the petitioner, if examined in context with Section 19 of the Act of 2006, it would reveal that there is a legislative mandate for the Court to balance the equities between the parties. Section 19 of the Act of 2006 reads as under:-

"19.Application for setting aside decree, award or order.-No application for setting aside any decree, award or other order made either by the Council itself or by any institution or centre providing alternate dispute resolution services to which a reference is made by the Council, shall be entertained by any court unless the appellant (not being a supplier) has deposited with it seventy-five per cent. of the amount in terms of the decree, award or, as the case may be, the other order in the manner directed by such court:

Provided that pending disposal of the application to set aside the decree, award or order, the court shall order that such percentage of the amount deposited shall be paid to the supplier, as it considers reasonable under the circumstances of the case, subject to such conditions as it deems necessary to impose."

80. The aforesaid provision is clear that if any award passed under the Act of 2006 is challenged, it must be accompanied by a pre-deposit of 75% of the decretal amount which is mandatory as also held by the Apex Court in Tirupati Steel v. Subh Industrial Component and other; (2022) 7 SCC 429. The proviso appended to Section 19 also clarifies that the Court can release such amount in favour of the supplier as it may deem reasonable and such release can be subjected to condition as the Court may deem necessary.

81. The Apex Court in India Glycols Ltd. v. MSEFC, Telangana; (2025) 5 SCC 780 wherein Section 19 of the Act of 2006 was considered and in para 9 to 12 the Apex Court held as under:-

"9. In terms of Section 19, an application for setting aside an award of the Facilitation Council cannot be entertained by any court unless the appellant has deposited seventy-five per cent of the amount in terms of the award. In view of the provisions of Section 18(4), where the Facilitation Council proceeds to arbitrate upon a dispute, the provisions of the 1996 Act are to apply to the dispute as if it is in pursuance of an arbitration agreement under sub-section (1) of Section 7 of that Act. Hence, the remedy which is provided under Section 34 of the 1996 Act would govern an award of the Facilitation Council.

10. However, there is a super added condition which is imposed by Section 19 of the Msmed Act, 2006 to the effect that an application for setting aside an award can be entertained only upon the appellant depositing with the Council seventy-five per cent of the amount in terms of the award. Section 19 has been introduced as a measure of security for enterprises for whom a special provision is made in the Msmed Act by Parliament. In view of the provisions of Section 18(4), the appellant had a remedy under Section 34 of the 1996 Act to challenge the award which it failed to pursue.

11. In the judgment of this Court in Gujarat State Civil Supplies Corpn. [Gujarat State Civil Supplies Corpn. Ltd. v. Mahakali Foods (P) Ltd., (2023) 6 SCC 401 : (2023) 3 SCC (Civ) 7] , a two-Judge Bench of the Court has observed, in the course of drawing its conclusions, that: (SCC p. 433, para 52)

"52. ... 52.4. The proceedings before the Facilitation Council/institute/centre acting as an arbitrator/Arbitral Tribunal under Section 18(3) of the Msmed Act, 2006 would be governed by the Arbitration Act, 1996. "

12. The appellant failed to avail of the remedy under Section 34. If it were to do so, it would have been required to deposit seventy-five per cent of the decretal amount. This obligation under the statute was sought to be obviated by taking recourse to the jurisdiction under Articles 226/227 of the Constitution. This was clearly impermissible."

82. It is in exercise of this power, the Commercial Court considering the application made by the petitioner has taken note of the reasons given therein and has exercised its jurisdiction to release the deposited amount in favour of the petitioner, subject to the petitioner filing an undertaking that in case any adverse order is passed against the petitioner in proceedings under Section 34 of the Act of 1996, the petitioner would be bound to return the aforesaid amount to the Court alongwith interest at the rate of 6% per annum.

83. From the perusal of the order dated 27.09.2024, it reveals that the Commercial Court has taken note of the respective submissions advanced by the counsel for the parties, considered the averments made in the application for release and taking note of the provision of Section 19, and then it has released the amount by recording reason. This exercise of jurisdiction, by the Commercial Court cannot be said to be inflicted with any error of law or jurisdiction nor it has been exercised with any illegality or material irregularity which may persuade this Court to interfere in the said order on the aforesaid premise.

84. It will also be relevant to notice that the Commercial Court had ordered release of the amount earlier and the said order was assailed by the contesting respondent by filing Writ Petition No.3611 of 2024 before a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court. The Co-ordinate Bench in its order dated noticed that the order impugned could not be sustained as it did not contain reasons. The Court had set aside the order and directed the Commercial Court No.2, Lucknow to pass fresh orders on the release application.

85. It is thereafter, the Commercial Court found that the supplier i.e. the petitioner herein was small scale industry and in case if the amount is not released it would cause grave hardship to the petitioner and by recording reasons, it released the amount. In order to protect the rights of the contesting respondent, it has also directed that in case of any order passed in favour of the contesting respondent and adverse to the petitioner in proceedings under Section 34 of the Act of 1999, then the petitioner would return the aforesaid released amount alongwith interest at the rate of 6% per annum. In this way the rights of the contesting parties have been protected and the mandate of the proviso appended to Section 19 has also been achieved. Thus, it cannot be said that the order suffers from any vice of error of jurisdiction or that it is non speaking or non reasoned.

86. It is now to well settled to be disputed that a money decree is not stayed. In case, if a patently erroneous judgment/award/decreed comes before a Court and is under challenge on the ground of egregious fraud which is patent on the face of the record. In such circumstances, the Court may stay a money decree. However, as a general rule money decree is not stayed. Even otherwise the Court has a jurisdiction to secure the decretal amount and it may also release such part of the decretal amount as Court may deem just and proper in the facts of the case. [See Lifestyle Equities C.V. v. Amazon Technologies, 2025 SCC OnLine SC 2153]. Thus, it cannot be gainfully urged that a money decree must as a matter of course be stayed.

87. The grounds which are raised by the learned counsel for the contesting respondent will have to be tested before the Commercial Court in proceedings under Section 34. Subject to the outcome of the said proceedings under Section 34, the order passed by the Commercial Court dated 27.09.2024 would follow suit.

88. It is also to be noticed that the Commercial Court has directed the contesting respondent to furnish a valuable security for the remaining 25% of the decretal amount, this direction issued in exercise of the jurisdiction to secure the decretal amount also cannot be said to be bad.

89. The entire crux of the contention of the learned counsel for the contesting respondent is that the award passed by the Facilitation Council was behind his back and without granting proper opportunity. This is something which has to be seen on the basis of the record by the Commercial Court. It is not a case of egregious fraud which is apparent from the record and in such circumstances, it cannot be said, that by directing the contesting respondent to furnish a security for 25% of the remaining sum subject to which the recovery proceedings against the contesting respondent shall remain stayed, also does not suffer from any error, rather it is an appropriate course of action which has been taken by the Commercial Court and it cannot be faulted. As a fortiori direction sought by the contesting respondent to refund the money which has been released in favour of the petitioner cannot be passed. Accordingly, this Court does not find that there is any merit in the petition filed by the contesting respondent.

Conclusion

90. For the detailed reasons recorded hereinabove Petition No.3886 of 2024, M/s Genebio Healthcare Pvt. Ltd. through Director Arun Kumar Srivastava v. Paradigm Enterprises through Director Ritika Pandey and others is partly allowed, whereas Petition No.5145 of 2024, Paradigm Enterprises v. Micro, Small and others shall stand dismissed. In the facts and circumstances, there shall be no order as to costs.

Matters Under Article 227 No. 7466 of 2025

Dinesh Kumar Jindal	...Petitioner
	Versus
Debt Recovery Tribunal & Anr .	...Respondents

Issue for Consideration

Whether Registrar DRT has no power to order appearance of the opposite parties before him to show cause why the S.A. should not be allowed.

Head Notes

The Constitution of India, 1950-Article 227; The Debt Recovery Tribunal (Procedure) Rules, 1993- Rules -4, 5, 12, 22 & 23- A bare perusal of the DRT Rules makes it manifest that a Securitisation Application shall be presented by the applicant to the Registrar of DRT. Subject to the directions of the Presiding Officer, the Registrar has the power to fix the date of hearing of the application or other proceedings and issue notice thereof and he has the power to dispose of all matters relating to the service of notices or other processes, application for the issue of fresh notices or for extending the time or for ordering a particular method of service on a defendant, including a substituted service by publication of the notice by way of advertisements in the newspapers. The Registrar has the power to receive all applications and other documents and the defendant will file his reply to the application along with documents, with the registry.

Held- The Registrar DRT issued the impugned notice to the opposite parties on 11.11.2025, directing them to appear before him on 17.11.2025. On 17.11.2025 the Registrar listed the matter for 01.12.2025 before the Presiding Officer of the DRT. The present petition was presented before the Registrar Listing of this Court on 18.12.2025, i.e., after the S.A. had already been listed before the Presiding Officer of the DRT and the grievance of the petitioner that the matter ought to have been listed before the Presiding Officer of the DRT and not before the Registrar, had already been redressed on 01.12.2025. Therefore, besides the fact that the petitioner's submission that the impugned notice has been issued without jurisdiction has been rejected, the notice has not caused a failure of justice or grave injustice to the petitioner, which is a sine qua non for maintaining a petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India- Petition dismissed. (Para 10 & 20) (E-15)

Counsel for Petitioner(s) : Noel Victor
Counsel for Respondent(s) :

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Suryansh Kumar Arora Advocate, the learned counsel for the petitioner.

2. By means of the instant petition filed under Article 227 of the Constitution of India, the petitioner has challenged a notice dated 11.11.2025 issued by the Registrar, Debts Recovery Tribunal, Lucknow (which will hereinafter be referred to as 'the DRT') in Securitisation Application No. 1144 of 2025. The notice reads as follows: -

"Whereas, in the above said case, the applicant has filed an application under Section 17 SARFAESI Act, 2002, Copy of the S.A. is enclosed herewith.

Take notice that you are hereby required to appear before the learned Registrar of the Tribunal, on 17th Day of November, 2025 at 10:30 A.M. in the forenoon in person or by a pleader/ advocate to show-cause why the said S.A. should not be allowed. Failing which the said S.A. will be heard and determined ex parte.

Given under my hand and the seal of this Tribunal on 11th Day of November, 2025."

3. The learned Counsel for the petitioner has submitted that the Registrar, DRT has no power to order appearance of the opposite parties before him to show cause why the S.A. should not be allowed. He has submitted that the admission, hearing and disposal of S.As. falls within the jurisdiction of the DRT, and this function should be exercised by the Presiding Officer of the Debts Recovery Tribunal, not by its Registrar. Fixing of a date before the Registrar to show cause as to why the S.A. should not be admitted, would cause an undue delay in placing the matter before the Presiding Officer of the DRT, which in turn would cause an undue delay in hearing and disposal of the interim relief application of the petitioner and this delay would cause a serious prejudice to the petitioner.

4. The petitioner has filed S.A. No. 1144 of 2025 before the DRT. On 11.11.2025, the Registrar DRT issued the impugned notice to the opposite parties directing them to appear on 17.11.2025. On 17.11.2025 the Registrar listed the matter for 01.12.2025 before the Presiding Officer of the DRT.

5. The present petition was presented before the Registrar Listing of this Court on 18.12.2025, i.e., after the S.A. had already been listed before the Presiding Officer of the DRT and the grievance of the petitioner that the matter ought to have been listed before the Presiding Officer of the DRT and not before the Registrar, had already been redressed on 01.12.2025.

6. Considering the aforesaid facts and circumstances of the case, the Court suggested that as the grievance of the petitioner is merely regarding a delay caused in listing of the S.A. before the Presiding Officer of the DRT whereas the S.A. has already been listed before the Presiding Officer of the DRT and there is no pleading that any legal injury has been caused to the petitioner because of this delay, the petitioner should contest the matter before the DRT and the question of jurisdiction of the Registrar has become merely academic, the learned Counsel for the petitioner insisted that the Registrar has no jurisdiction to issue the notice and an action taken without jurisdiction can very well be challenged before this Court even when it causes no prejudice to the petitioner.

7. The Court requested the learned Counsel for the petitioner to raise even this plea before the Presiding Officer of the DRT and to spare the time of this Court for being utilized for deciding the matters of those litigants who have no alternative remedy, but the learned Counsel for the petitioner submitted that he can approach the DRT only against an action of the bank under SARFAESI Act and he cannot raise the grievance regarding a notice issued by the Registrar before the Presiding Officer of the DRT.

8. The learned Counsel for the petitioner has submitted that since he is raising a question of jurisdiction, this Court should adjudicate upon the same. Therefore, the Court proceeds to examine whether the Registrar has no jurisdiction to issue a notice on a securitisation application filed before the DRT.

9. For deciding the aforesaid issue, it would be appropriate to have a look at the relevant provisions of the Debt Recovery Tribunal (Procedure) Rules, 1993, which are being reproduced below: -

"4. Procedure for filing applications

(1) An application shall be presented in Form annexed to these rules by the applicant in person or by his agent or by a duly authorised legal practitioner to the Registrar of the Bench within whose jurisdiction his case falls or shall be sent by registered post addressed to the Registrar.

(2) An application sent by post under sub-rule (1) shall be deemed to have been presented to the Registrar the day on which it was received in the office of the Registrar.

(3) The application under sub-rule (1) shall be presented in two sets in a paper book along with an empty file size envelope bearing full address of the defendants and where the number of defendant is more than one, then sufficient number of extra paper-books together with empty file size envelopes bearing full address of each of the respondents shall be furnished by the applicant.

5. Presentation and scrutiny of applications

(1) The Registrar, or, as the case may be, the officer authorised by him under rule 4, shall endorse on every application the date on which it is presented or deemed to have been presented under that rule and shall sign endorsement.

(2) If on scrutiny, the application is found to be in order, it shall be duly registered and given a serial number.

(3) If the application, on scrutiny, is found to be defective and the defect noticed is formal in nature, the Registrar may allow the party to rectify the same in his presence and if the said defect is not formal in nature, the Registrar, may allow the applicant such time to rectify the defect as he may deem fit.

(4) If the concerned applicant fails to rectify the defect within the time allowed in sub rule(3), the Registrar may by order and for reasons to be recorded in writing, decline to register the application.

(5) An appeal against the order of the Registrar under sub-rule (4) shall be made within 15 days of the making of such order to the Presiding Officer concerned in chamber whose decision thereon shall be final.

12. Filing of reply and other documents by the respondent

(1) The defendant may file two complete sets containing the reply to the application along with documents in a paper book form with the registry within one month of the service of the notice of the filing of the application on him.

* * *

13. Date and place of hearing to be notified (1) The Tribunal shall notify the parties the date and place of hearing of the application in such a manner as the Presiding Officer may by general or special order direct.

22. Powers and functions of the Registrar

(1) The Registrar shall have the custody of the records of the Tribunal and shall exercise such other functions as are assigned to him under these rules or by the Presiding Officer by a separate order in writing.

(2) The official seal shall be kept in the custody of the Registrar.

(3) Subject to any general or special direction by the Presiding Officer, the seal of the Tribunal shall not be affixed to any order, summons or other process save under the authority in writing from the Registrar.

(4) The seal of the Tribunal shall not affixed to any certified copy issued by the Tribunal save under the authority in writing of the Registrar.

23. Additional powers and duties of Registrar

In addition to the powers conferred elsewhere in these rules, the Registrar shall have the following powers and duties subject to any general or special order of the Presiding Officer, namely,-

- (i) to receive all applications and other documents including transferred applications,
- (ii) to decide all questions arising out of the scrutiny of the applications before they are registered;
- (iii) to require any application presented to the Tribunal to be amended in accordance with the rules;
- (iv) subject to the direction of the Presiding Officer, to fix date of hearing of the application or other proceedings and issue notice thereof;
- (v) direct any formal amendment of records;
- (vi) to order grant of copies of documents to parties to proceedings;
- (vii) to grant leave to inspect other records of Tribunal;
- (viii) dispose of all matters relying to the service of notices or other processes, application for the issue of fresh notices or for extending the time for or ordering a particular method of service on a defendant including a substituted service by publication of the notice by way of advertisements in the newspapers;
- (ix) to requisition records from the custody or any court or other authority.”*

10. A bare perusal of the aforesaid Rules makes it manifest that a Securitisation Application shall be presented by the applicant to the Registrar of DRT. Subject to the directions of the Presiding Officer, the Registrar has the power to fix the date of hearing of the application or other proceedings and issue notice thereof and he has the power to dispose of all matters relating to the service of notices or other processes, application for the issue of fresh notices or for extending the time or for ordering a particular method of service on a defendant, including a substituted service by publication of the notice by way of advertisements in the newspapers. The Registrar has the power to receive all applications and other documents and the defendant will file his reply to the application along with documents, with the registry.

11. When power to issue notice to a defendant has specifically been conferred upon the Registrar of DRT, it cannot be said that the Registrar has no power to issue notice to a defendant to show-cause as to why the S.A. should not be allowed, and also to caution the defendant that in case he fails to file a reply, the S.A. will be heard and decided ex parte.

12. Further, as per Rule 12 of the Procedure Rules, the defendant has to file his reply to the application alongwith the documents with the registry of the DRT and, therefore, the Registrar has rightly directed the defendant to appear in person or by a pleader/ advocate to show-cause why the said S.A. should not be allowed.

13. Therefore, I find no force in the submission of the learned Counsel for the petitioner that the Registrar of DRT has no jurisdiction to issue notice to the opposite parties.

14. It has been pleaded in the petition that on 18.11.2025, the petitioner sent an email to the official email ID of the DRT stating that the Registrar has no authority to issue notice to the respondents to appear before him; that the issuance of notice before listing of the matter before the Presiding Officer is in direct contravention of the DRT (Procedure) Rules, 1993 and that it defeats the very purpose of a caveat and / or urgent hearing as the Registrar has no power to adjudicate upon a Securitisation Application. The petitioner requested the Registrar to withdraw the notice forthwith. It has been pleaded in the petition that the Registrar has failed to reply to the email communication dated 18.11.2025 and / or withdraw the notice dated 11.11.2025. This Court fails to understand as to how withdrawal of the notice would have expedited the hearing of the S.A. Rather, the Securitisation Application cannot be heard without issuance and service of notice of the same upon the defendant. The objection raised by the petitioner appears to be self harming.

15. Although it is pleaded that the petitioner had filed an application for urgent hearing, a copy of the said application has not been brought on record of this petition.

16. The Court requested the learned Counsel for the petitioner to provide assistance with the help of any precedent so as to establish that the grievance being raised by the petitioner falls within the scope of interference under Article 227 of the Constitution of India, but he stated that he has not brought any precedent to be placed before the Court.

17. In Estralla Rubber v. Dass Estate (P) Ltd.: (2001) 8 SCC 97, the Hon^{ble} Supreme Court held that: -

“6. The scope and ambit of exercise of power and jurisdiction by a High Court under Article 227 of the Constitution of India is examined and explained in a number of decisions of this Court. The exercise of power under this article involves a duty on the High Court to keep inferior courts and tribunals within the bounds of their authority and to see that they do the duty expected or required of them in a legal manner. The High Court is not vested with any unlimited prerogative to correct all kinds of hardship or wrong decisions made within the limits of the jurisdiction of the subordinate courts or tribunals. Exercise of this power and interfering with the orders of the courts or tribunals is restricted to cases of serious dereliction of duty and flagrant violation of fundamental principles of law or justice, where if the High Court does not interfere, a grave injustice remains uncorrected. It is also well settled that the High Court while acting under this article cannot exercise its power as an appellate court or substitute its own judgment in place of that of the subordinate court to correct an error, which is not apparent on the face of the record. The High Court can set aside or ignore the findings of facts of an inferior court or tribunal, if there is no evidence at all to justify or the finding is so perverse, that no reasonable person can possibly come to such a conclusion, which the court or tribunal has come to.”

18. In Surya Dev Rai v. Ram Chander Rai: (2003) 6 SCC 675, the Hon^{ble} Supreme Court has summarised the scope of power under Article 227 of the Constitution of India in the following words: -

“38. ...We sum up our conclusions in a nutshell, even at the risk of repetition and state the same as hereunder:

(4) Supervisory jurisdiction under Article 227 of the Constitution is exercised for keeping the subordinate courts within the bounds of their jurisdiction. When a subordinate court has assumed a jurisdiction which it does not have or has failed to exercise a jurisdiction which it does have or the jurisdiction though available is being exercised by the court in a manner not permitted by law and failure of justice or grave injustice has occasioned thereby, the High Court may step in to exercise its supervisory jurisdiction.

(5) Be it a writ of certiorari or the exercise of supervisory jurisdiction, none is available to correct mere errors of fact or of law unless the following requirements are satisfied: (i) the error is manifest and apparent on the face of the proceedings such as when it is based on clear ignorance or utter disregard of the provisions of law, and (ii) a grave injustice or gross failure of justice has occasioned thereby.

(7) The power to issue a writ of certiorari and the supervisory jurisdiction are to be exercised sparingly and only in appropriate cases where the judicial conscience of the High Court dictates it to act lest a gross failure of justice or grave injustice should occasion. Care, caution and circumspection need to be exercised, when any of the abovesaid two jurisdictions is sought to be invoked during the pendency of any suit or proceedings in a subordinate court and the error though calling for correction is yet capable of being corrected at the conclusion of the proceedings in an appeal or revision preferred thereagainst and entertaining a petition invoking certiorari or supervisory jurisdiction of the High Court would obstruct the smooth flow and/or early disposal of the suit or proceedings. The High Court may feel inclined to intervene where the error is such, as, if not corrected at that very moment, may become incapable of correction at a later stage and refusal to intervene would result in travesty of justice or where such refusal itself would result in prolonging of the lis.

(8) The High Court in exercise of certiorari or supervisory jurisdiction will not convert itself into a court of appeal and indulge in reappreciation or evaluation of evidence or correct errors in drawing inferences or correct errors of mere formal or technical character.

* * *”

19. In B. S. Hari v. Union of India: (2023) 13 SCC 779, the Hon’ble Supreme Court held that: -

50. ...we reiterate that the High Courts, under Articles 226 and/or 227, are to exercise their discretion “... solely by the dictates of judicial conscience enriched by judicial experience and practical wisdom of the Judge”, as highlighted in Surya Dev Rai v. Ram Chander Rai. This guiding principle still governs the field, and the 3-Judge Bench in Radhey Shyam v. Chhabi Nath [(2015) 5 SCC 423] had only partly overruled Surya Dev Rai in terms below:

29.1. Judicial orders of the civil court are not amenable to writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution.

29.2. Jurisdiction under Article 227 is distinct from jurisdiction under Article 226.

29.3. Contrary view in Surya Dev Rai is overruled.”

20. The Registrar DRT issued the impugned notice to the opposite parties on 11.11.2025, directing them to appear before him on 17.11.2025. On 17.11.2025 the Registrar listed the matter for 01.12.2025 before the Presiding Officer of the DRT. The present petition was presented before the Registrar Listing of this Court on 18.12.2025, i.e., after the S.A. had already been listed before the Presiding Officer of the DRT and the grievance of the petitioner that the matter ought to have been listed before the Presiding Officer of the DRT and not before the Registrar, had already been redressed on 01.12.2025. Therefore, besides the fact that the petitioner's submission that the impugned notice has been issued without jurisdiction has been rejected, the notice has not caused a failure of justice or grave injustice to the petitioner, which is a sine qua non for maintaining a petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India.

21. In view of the foregoing discussion, the petition lacks merits and the same is dismissed at the admission stage.

22. Before parting with the case, it is necessary to put it on record that there are 207 matters listed today in the list of fresh petitions, 128 matters are listed in the additional list and 51 matters are listed in the daily IA list. The Court repetitively requested the learned Counsel for the petitioner to refrain from wasting the time of the Court and to raise his pleas before the DRT where the SA is pending but due to his insistence, the Court had to decide the petition by this detailed judgment, which has resulted in unwarranted wastage of the precious time of the Court, which could have been utilized for deciding some other matter. Normally the Court would have imposed costs for wasting time of the Court but keeping in view that the learned Counsel for the petitioner is a young and inexperienced Counsel, who got enrolled with the Bar Council only in the year 2024, the Court is taking a lenient view and is desisting from imposing costs on the petitioner, but the learned Counsel should understand that although he represents his client before the Court, he is not a mere mouthpiece of his client. In case a client insists for filing a petition or advancing a submission which is frivolous, the Advocate should advise him not to do so and the Advocate should refrain from accepting such a frivolous brief.

23. Besides being a representative of his client, an Advocate is a responsible officer of the Court and he should assist the Court with his precise and concise submissions, wherever possible, with the assistance of the relevant Laws, including the Statutes, the Rules and the judicial precedents. It is said that the Bar and the Bench are the wheels of the same chariot. For fast and smooth running of the chariot, it is necessary that all the wheels should move forward at the same pace and one set of wheels should not try to put brakes on the other set of wheels of the chariot.

THE HON'BLE INDRAJEET SHUKLA, J.

Writ A No. 6218 of 2004

Ramesh Chandra Singh

...Petitioner

Versus

State of U.P. & Ors.

...Respondents

Issue for Consideration

- (1) Permissibility of raising objection of availability of alternative remedy of approaching the Tribunal, after 21 years to the pendency of writ petition, particularly when the pleading between the parties were exchanged.
- (2) Significance of element of willful absence, when the charge of unauthorized absence was made.
- (3) Relevancy of the reference of past conduct in the impugned order or in the inquiry report.
- (4) Scope of interference in the punishment order, when it is disproportionate to the gravity of charges.

Headnotes

(A) Practice and procedure – Writ – Alternative remedy – Bar – Pleadings between the parties were exchanged and writ petition was pending since 21 years – Effect – Objection of availability of alternative remedy to approach Public Service Tribunal Act was raised – Permissibility. (E-1)

Held : Throwing a writ petition on the ground of alternative remedy after 21 years, particularly when parties have exchanged their pleadings is not justified, keeping in view the mandate of Hon'ble Supreme Court as propounded in case of M/s Utkal Highways, Engineering & Contractors v. Chief General Manager and others in SLP (Civil) No. 14350 of 2022. [Para 14]

(B) Service law – Punishment – Removal from service – Misconduct – Charge of unauthorized absence of 160 days – No medical report of 160 days was produced – Effect – Element of willful absence from duty – It's significance in proving the misconduct – Past conduct of the petitioner was referred in the removal order – Relevancy. (E-1)

Held : There may be compelling circumstances beyond his control like illness, accident, hospitalization, etc., and in such cases the employee cannot be held guilty of failure of devotion to duty or behaviour unbecoming of a government servant. If allegation of unauthorized absence from duty is made, the disciplinary authority is required to prove that the absence is willful, in the absence of such finding, the absence will not amount to misconduct – The medical certificates are not for entire period of 160 days, for which the unauthorized absence has been sought to be condoned, as such the medical certificates so relied by the petitioner is of hardly any use particularly in backdrop of the analysis and reasoning given by inquiry officer that the petitioner did not appear to be ill on the date when firstly he sought extension of his leave. [Para 36 and 44]

Further held : Independently the inquiry officer had proved the charge of unauthorized absence of 160 days and the disciplinary authority has passed independently the order of removal from service solely on the charge of unauthorized absence of 160 days and the past conduct is not the foundation for passing the impugned order of removal – The order of removal from service is not based on the cumulative effect of charges of continued misconduct to be incorrigibility and complete unfitness for police service, therefore, mere reference of the past conduct would not amount to constitute foundation for removal from service. Thus, the reference of past conduct in the order impugned or in the inquiry report is hardly any relevance. [Para 52 and 55]

(C) Service law – Punishment – Removal from service – Scope of interference – Quantum of punishment – Principle of disproportionate to the gravity of charge – Applicability. (E-1)

Held : The Court or Tribunal cannot interfere with the discretion of punishing authority in imposing particular penalty but this rule has an exception, if the penalty is grossly disproportionate and does not commensurate with the misconduct committed then the Court can interfere – Writ petitioner has reached the age of superannuation and has served the department for 36 years and was promoted in interregnum and at present is drawing provisional pension, thus in view of aforesaid admitted factual position the order of removal from service is disapproved in the facts of this case and the matter is relegated back for fresh decision as no reply in relation to quantum of punishment could be received despite the mandate contained in Rule 14(2) of 1991 Rules. [Para 61 and 62]

G.	CONCLUSION	33-34

1. Heard Sri Ajai Krishna Yadav, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Dev Prakash Mishra, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel representing the State respondents.

2. By means of present writ proceedings, the petitioner has set up challenge to the impugned order dated 14.04.2000 passed by 4th respondent removing the petitioner from service contained as Annexure-1 to this writ petition and impugned order of the same date forfeiting the salary of 160 days for unauthorized absence, from 14.05.1999 to 20.10.1999. The petitioner has further assailed the validity and correctness of order dated 29.09.2000 passed under appeal by 3rd respondent and the revisional order dated 22.05.2004 passed by 2nd respondent contained as Annexure-3 and 4 respectively to the writ petition.

A. FACTUAL MATRIX

3. Brief facts of present writ petition are that, the petitioner, who happened to be constable in disciplined force i.e. Provincial Arms Constabulary (PAC) was posted in 25th Battalion, Police Head Quarter, Raebareli proceeded for casual leave of 2 days on 12.05.1999 and as such he had to report the duties on 15.05.1999, but instead of reporting his duties on 15.05.1999 he became absent till 20.10.1999 i.e. almost 160 days and in this background a preliminary inquiry was directed and conducted, thereafter, regular inquiry was instituted by means of chargesheet dated 05.01.2000, primarily with the charge of unauthorized absenteeism. The relevant part of the chargesheet is extracted as under:-

"आपको एतद्द्वारा निम्नानुसार आरोपित किया जाता है:-

4. In the chargesheet as many as five witnesses were proposed to be orally examined and certain documentary evidence exhibiting unauthorized absence was also appended with the chargesheet.

5. After receiving the chargesheet, the petitioner submitted his reply on 17.01.2000 before inquiry officer mentioning therein that petitioner had to report on 15.05.1999 but he could not come back as such he sent an application for extension of leave. The inquiry officer in order to prove the charges of overstay/unauthorized absence examined the witnesses cited in the calendar of chargesheet and the record transpires that adequate opportunity of cross-examination of witnesses was afforded but same was not availed by the petitioner, as such the oral evidence/testimony of witnesses examined by inquiry officer remained unimpeached.

6. The petitioner, in order to prove his case examined two doctors viz Dr. Firoz Alam. Ansari, Medical Officer, New Primary Health Center, Sahson, District, Allahabad and Dr. Paras Nath Rai, Medical Officer, Primary Health Center, Kotwa, Allahabad. While taking plea of ill health, the petitioner had taken an alternate plea of collapse of his house, which was in dilapidated condition to justify his absence and as such, petitioner claimed that he was busy in construction of his house and the absence cannot be said to be willful, rather due to compelling circumstances. Just to prove aforesaid plea of collapse of house, the petitioner got examined, Jabar Singh, the then Gram Pradhan.

7. The inquiry officer examined the defence witnesses viz Jabar Singh (Pradhan of the Village), Dr. Firoz Alam. Ansari and Dr. Paras Nath Rai in extenso.

8. After meticulous examination of the witnesses, the inquiry officer submitted the inquiry report on 21.03.2000, which is contained as Annexure-7 to the writ petition. To demonstrate the charge having been proved, the relevant portion of enquiry report is extracted hereunder:-

"अभियोजन पक्ष एवं बचाव पक्ष की कार्यवाही समाप्त हो जाने के बाद मैंने पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध समस्त साक्षियों के बयान, अभिलेखों एवं आरोपित पक्ष द्वारा बचाव पक्ष में प्रेषित स्पष्टीकरण एवं स्पष्टीकरण के साथ प्रेषित ग्राम प्रधान के द्वारा घर बनवाने व दूसरे घर में रहने व घर गिरने का प्रमाण-पत्र, बचाव पक्ष के गवाहानों के बयानों का गहनता से अध्ययन किया। उपरोक्त गवाहानों के बयानों से यह प्रमाणित होता है कि आरोपित आरक्षी 32091 रमेश चन्द्र सिंह दिनांक-11-5-99 को 02 दिवस आकस्मिक अवकाश पर 'जिला कारागार लखनऊ ई दल से रवाना हुआ। समय से न आकर दिनांक-20-10-99 को 159 दिवस 11 घंटा 10 मिनट अनुपस्थित रहकर अपनी इच्छानुसार वापस आकर वाहिनी मुख्यालय में आमद कराया जिसको पुष्टि सुबूत पक्ष के साक्षी दलनायक श्री अवधनारायण-तिवारी, पीसी श्री शिवरामकुशवाहा, कम्पनी जीडी लेखक नायक 31997 -सरदार अली, वाहिनी जीडी लेखक आरक्षी 32087 मूलचन्द्र गौतम के बयानों से होती है। आरक्षी के कम्पनी मुख्यालय 'ई'दल जिला कारागार लखनऊ में 02 दिवस अवकाश पर आमद की तिथि से अवगत होकर घर जाना तथा वापसी के दिन दिनांक-14-5-99 को सेनानायक के नाम रजिस्ट्री पत्र. 05-दिवस आकस्मिक अवकाश उसी क्रम में बढ़ाने के लिये यह अंकित कर देना कि उसका मकान दिनांक-12-5-99 को आँधी तूफान में गिर गया है बच्चों के रहने, लायक नहीं है तथा स्पष्टीकरण में दिनांक-12-5-99 से स्वयं को विमार होना अंकित करना दोनों में विरोधाभास है, जिससे यह सिद्ध होता है कि वह झूठ बोला है विमार नहीं था, वरना वह दिनांक-14-5-99 के मकान गिर-जाने के सम्बन्ध में दिये गये रजिस्ट्री में विमार होना अवश्य अंकित करता। यह मान लिया जाय कि उसका मकान दिनांक-12-5-99 को गिर गया 05 दिवस उसी क्रम में अवकाश बढ़ाने के लिये रजिस्ट्री दिया फिर भी वह 05 दिवस बाद वापस डियूटी पर नहीं आया न ही किसी प्रकार की विमारी या इलाजरत रहने की कोई सूचना ही दिया, न ही वाहिनी मुख्यालय आकर अवकाश ही स्वीकृत कराने का प्रयाप्त किया सिर्फ विमारी का बहाना बनाकर मनमाने तौर पर अनधिकृत रूप से अनुपस्थित रहा व डाक्टर से मिलकर विमारी का प्रमाण-पत्र बनवा कर मेडिकल अवकाश का उपभोग किया। अगर वह विमार था तो उसे नियमतः अपने जिले के पुलिस-अधीक्षक से मिलकर सिकबुक लेकर आमद रवानगी के साथ पुलिस अस्पताल जिला अस्पताल जाता तथा भर्ती होकर

बचाव पक्ष के साक्षी ग्राम प्रधान श्री जबर सिंह ग्राम बभनकुईयाँ थाना-सरायईनायत, जनपद-इलाहाबाद के वयानों से यह प्रमाणित है कि आरक्षी रमेश चन्द्र सिंह का मकान 2-3 साल पहले गिर गया था नये मकान में 2-3 साल से रह रहे हैं, लेकिन अपने दिनांक-4-2-2000 के मकान बनवाने के प्रमाण-पत्र में मकान गिरना मई सन्-1999 अंकित किये हैं, दोनों में विरोधाभास है जिससे यह स्पष्ट होता है कि आरक्षी रमेश चन्द्र सिंह ने मकान गिरने का प्रमाण-पत्र ग्राम प्रधान से कहकर अपने मन माफिक बनवाया है। ग्राम प्रधान ने विमारी के बारे में कुछ नहीं बताया। अगर आरोपी आरक्षी रमेश चन्द्र सिंह वास्तव में विमार होता तो ग्राम प्रधान को अवश्य-मालूम होता। मेरे द्वारा उक्त आरोपित आरक्षी के घर जाकर उसके मकान का भौतिक रूप से निरीक्षण भी किया गया। मकान तो गिरा था परन्तु काफी दिन का, दो कमरे का पक्का ईंट का मकान बनवाया है जिसकी सिर्फ दिवाल खड़ी है छत नहीं पड़ा है। जिस मकान में रह रहा है वह मकान कच्चा मिट्टी का बना हुआ है, मजबूत है, रहने की कोई परेशानी नहीं है। वह मकान बनवाने व विमार होने का सिर्फ नाटक किया है उसे ऐसी कोई परेशानी नहीं थी कि वह डियूटी पर नहीं आ सकता था। क्योंकि ग्राम-प्रधान के बयान से यह भी स्पष्ट है कि उसके पिता घर की खेती स्वयं करते हैं और जरूरत पड़ने पर मजदूर भी रख लेते हैं। उसके पिता खेती कर सकते हैं तो मकान भी अपनी देख-रेख में बनवा सकते थे। आरोपी ने मकान बनवाने में 30 दिवस लगना बताया है, ग्राम प्रधान ने चार-पाँच माह, जबकि मेरे द्वारा आरोपी के घर के भौतिक निरीक्षण में पाया गया कि वह जो पक्के ईंट का मकान बनवाया है दो छोटे-छोटे कमरे व एक छोटा बरामदा है सिर्फ दिवाल खड़ी है छत नहीं पड़ा है वैसा ढांचा खड़ा करने में सिर्फ 15 दिवस का समय लग सकता है लेकिन उसने 30 दिवस का समय लगना बताया है। यहाँ यह भी स्पष्ट है कि जब उक्त आरोपित आरक्षी विमार था डियूटी पर नहीं आ सकता था तो घर कैसे बनवाया, विमार होकर जब घर बनवा सकता है तो डियूटी पर वापस भी आ सकता है जिससे स्थिति स्वतः स्पष्ट हो जाती है कि वह विमार नहीं था सिर्फ विमारी का बहाना बनाया है। डा० फिरोज आलम नवीन प्रा० स्वा०-केन्द्र सहसो-इलाहाबाद के बयान से यह प्रमाणित होता है कि उक्त आरक्षी ने बुखार से पीड़ित होना बताया जिस पर डाक्टर ने उसे कुछ दवा दिया व कुछ बाजार से क्रय

करने को कहा व दिनांक-12-5-99 से 10-6-99 तक रेस्ट दिया लेकिन ओ. पी. डी. रजिस्टर में सिर्फ 3 सप्ताह ही अंकित किया था, पूछने पर डाक्टर ने बताया कि 2-4 दिवस और बढ़ा दिया था लिखने को भूल गया था। डाक्टर ने यह भी स्पष्ट किया है कि वह बीच-बीच में आते रहे मगर रजिस्टर में अंकित नहीं किया, जिससे स्पष्ट है कि वह विमार नहीं था सिर्फ डाक्टर से मिलकर मेडिकल प्रमाण-पत्र प्राप्त किया है क्योंकि अगर वह वास्तव में विमार रहता, बीच-बीच में डाक्टर को दिखाता तो वह ओ. पी. डी. रजिस्टर में अंकित होता मगर दवा लेना या बीच-बीच में दिखाना कहीं ओ. पी. डी. रजिस्टर में अंकित नहीं है जिसकी पष्टि डाक्टर फिरोज आलम ने स्वयं किया है। डाक्टर द्वारा रजिस्टर में 3 सप्ताह का रेस्ट देना तथा मेडिकल प्रमाण-पत्र में 30 दिवस अंकित करना व बयान में 28 दिवस का मेडिकल रेस्ट देना ही यह स्पष्ट करता है कि डाक्टर ने सिर्फ उक्त आरक्षी के कहने पर मेडिकल प्रमाण-पत्र दे दिया है विमार नहीं था। डाक्टर पारस नाथ राय प्रा० स्वा० केन्द्र कोटवा-इलाहाबाद के बयान से यह प्रमाणित होता है कि उसने अपनी अनुपस्थिति अवधि को प्रमाणित करने के लिये पेशाब में जलन व बुखार बताकर चिकित्सा प्रमाण-पत्र प्राप्त किया है। डाक्टर के कथनानुसार उसे अस्पताल से दवा भी नहीं दी गयी है पर्चे पर दवा लिखी गयी तथा अपने अधिकार क्षेत्र में सिर्फ चार सप्ताह का रेस्ट देने का अधिकार बताया है जबकि मेडिकल प्रमाण-पत्र में उसे दिनांक-11-6-99 से 27-7-99 तक 47 दिवस का मेडिकल अवकाश देना अंकित है। डाक्टर के कथनानुसार उसे 47 दिवस में कितने दिन दवा दी गयी या चेकअप कराया गया नहीं पता न ही कहीं ओ. पी. डी. रजिस्टर में ही अंकित है जिससे स्पष्ट है कि वह विमार नहीं था सिर्फ डाक्टर से मिलकर विमारी का प्रमाण-पत्र प्राप्त किया है फिर भी आरोपित आरक्षी ने दिनांक-12-5-99 से 10-6-99 तक डाक्टर फिरोज आलम अन्सारी नवीन प्राथमिक स्वास्थ्य केन्द्र सहसे-इलाहाबाद के यहाँ वाह्य रोगी के रूप में इलाजरत रहा। अपने स्पष्टीकरण में यह अंकित किया है कि डाक्टर के फिटनेस के बाद वह दिनांक-10-6-99 को फिर रात में विमार हो गया तथा दिनांक-11-6-99 से दूसरे डाक्टर श्री, पारसनाथ राय प्रा० स्वा० केन्द्र-कोटवा-इलाहाबाद को दिखाना अंकित किया तथा दिनांक-27-7-99 तक वाह्य रोगी के रूप में इलाजरत रहना अंकित किया है जो नियमानुकूल नहीं है क्योंकि जब डा० श्री फिरोज आलम अन्सारी ने दिनांक-10-6-99 को उक्त आरक्षी को फिटनेस दिया वह घर गया उसकी हालत पुनः उसी रात में खराब हो गयी उसने दूसरे डाक्टर श्री पारसनाथ राय प्रा० स्वा० केन्द्र-कोटवा-इलाहाबाद को दिखाया जबकि उसे उसी डाक्टर के पास जाना चाहिए था जिसने फिटनेस दिया था, परन्तु वह अनुपस्थित व कर्तव्य से दूर रहने के लिए दूसरे डाक्टर का सहारा लिया, उसे चाहिए था कि दिनांक-10-6-99 को डाक्टर फिरोज आलम अन्सारी से फिटनेस मिलने के बाद उसी दिन अपने कर्तव्य पर वापस आता परन्तु ऐसा नहीं किया जो कर्तव्य के प्रति घोर लापरवाही एवं अनुशासनहीनता का द्योतक है तथा उसके घर से प्राथमिक स्वास्थ्य केन्द्र सहसे-इलाहाबाद लगभग 2-3 किमी. है व प्रा० स्वा० केन्द्र कोटवा-इलाहाबाद लगभग 10-12 किमी. की दूरी पर है वहाँ जाने का औचित्य ही नहीं बनता। फिर भी डाक्टर श्री पारस-नाथ राय प्रा० स्वा० केन्द्र कोटवा-इलाहाबाद द्वारा उक्त आरक्षी-32091 रमेश चन्द्र सिंह को दिनांक-27-7-99 को फिट घोषित कर दिया, उसको तत्काल वाहिनी मुख्यालय आना चाहिए था परन्तु वापस डियूटी पर न, आकर विना सूचना,

विना अवकाश, विना मेडिकल ही मनमाने तौर पर घर ही रहा, जो इसके कर्तव्य के प्रति घोर लापरवाही व उदासीनता तथा अनुशासनहीनता का परिचायक है। आरोपित पक्ष द्वारा आरोप पत्र के उत्तर में प्रस्तुत स्पष्टीकरण एवं बचाव में प्रस्तुत स्पष्टीकरण में ऐसा कोई विन्दू नहीं रखा गया जिसपर विश्वास किया जा सके और जिसके आधार पर उसके विरुद्ध लगाये गये आरोप प्रमाणित न हो। उसके द्वारा दलनायक के नाम दिया गया आकस्मिक अवकाश का प्रार्थना-पत्र को पीसी के द्वारा ही स्वीकृत करके अवकाश छोड़े जाने का तर्क भी मान्य नहीं है क्योंकि दलनायक के कम्पनी भार पर न रहने पर कम्पनी के भार पर नियुक्त पीसी को 03 दिवस अवकाश देने का अधिकार है।"

9. After receipt of the inquiry report dated 21.03.2000 a show cause notice was issued to the petitioner on 21.03.2000 itself in relation to the punishment proposed. Thereafter, the reminder notices were also issued on 24.03.2000 and 29.03.2000 but admittedly, the petitioner did not file any reply despite repeated opportunities offered.

10. In place of filing a reply to the show cause notice, against proposed punishment, the petitioner knocked the doors of U.P. Public Service Tribunal, Lucknow by filing Claim Petition No.378 of 2000 and it has been averred in paragraph no.21 of the writ petition that the said claim petition was finally decided on 17.04.2000 directing the authorities to provide reasonable opportunity to submit reply of show cause notice (the order of tribunal has not been brought on record). Thus, before order of Tribunal could be brought to notice of departmental authorities, the impugned order of punishment was passed.

11. The impugned order of punishment removing the petitioner from service was passed on 17.04.2000, which was served upon the petitioner against which the petitioner preferred departmental appeal as contemplated under Rule 20 of U.P. Subordinate Police Officers of the Subordinate Ranks (Punishment & Appeal) Rules, 1991 (in short '1991 Rules') and the appeal so preferred was dismissed vide order dated 29.09.2000 against which revision was preferred by virtue of Rule 23 of 1991 Rules, which too met with same fate, vide impugned order dated 12.03.2004.

B. AVAILABILITY OF ALTERNATIVE REMEDY

12. Before examination of matter on merits, learned counsel for the State opposed the writ petition on the ground of availability of alternative remedy, stating that the efficacious remedy lies before U.P. Public Service Tribunal against the orders impugned under Section 4 (1) of U.P. Public Service Tribunal Act.

13. In response to the said objection, learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that this writ petition was entertained way back on 15.10.2004 and the pleadings are complete, as such the writ petition may not be thrown after lapse of 21 years.

14. Insofar as the plea of alternative remedy is concerned, this Court is of the firm view that throwing a writ petition on the ground of alternative remedy after 21 years, particularly when parties have exchanged their pleadings is not justified, keeping in view the mandate of Hon'ble

Supreme Court as propounded in case of M/s Utkal Highways, Engineering & Contractors v. Chief General Manager and others in SLP (Civil) No.14350 of 2022. Hence, the Court has proceeded to hear the matter on merits.

C. SUBMISSION ON BEHALF OF PETITIONER

15. The submissions advanced on behalf of the petitioner are precisely to the effect that the impugned order of punishment, appellate order and revisional order are absolutely illegal, arbitrary and without application of mind and all three authorities have failed to examine the material facts and grounds raised in its correct perspective, resulting confirmation of order of removal from service.

16. Further submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that the inquiry officer failed to consider the medical certificates and the statement of doctors certifying the illness and as such the inquiry so conducted is erroneous.

17. Learned counsel for the petitioner alternatively submitted that in the factual backdrop of the present case the major punishment of removal ought not to have been awarded.

18. The further submission is, the punishment so awarded by disciplinary authority is based on recommendation of inquiry officer and inquiry officer erred in recommending punishment for removal from service and such recommendation is beyond the competence of inquiry officer.

19. Learned counsel for the petitioner also submits that from the date of reinstatement till attaining the age of superannuation nothing adverse was reported against the petitioner as such if this order is examined on the touchstone of reformatory theory equally applicable to service jurisprudence then also the petitioner deserves sympathetic consideration of this Court qua the quantum of punishment.

20. Lastly, the petitioner has strenuously urged that the petitioner was permitted to assume his duties in the month of October, 1999 and continued as such till March, 2000 and was paid salary for the said period as such there was no reason and prudence as why on one hand the order of withholding six month salary of the petitioner treating the said period as absence from duty has been passed and for the same conduct he has been removed from service. Thus, the punishment has been inflicted in twin folds for the same charges, which amounts to double jeopardy being violative of Article 20 of the Constitution of India. Thus, the punishment inflicted does not commensurate with the gravity of the charges and as such the award of major penalty is also disproportionate.

D. SUBMISSION ON BEHALF OF STATE RESPONDENTS

21. Per contra, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel submitted that every procedural rigour as contemplated, under 1991 Rules have been followed and petitioner could not raise any ground pointing out any procedural flaw with respect to inquiry conducted including conduct of oral inquiry, grant of opportunity of hearing etc.

22. Learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel submitted that habitual absenteeism is the past track record of writ petitioner, and he made himself absent unauthorizedly for 10 times. He further points out that, since the recruitment of the petitioner as a Constable in 1984, he has made himself absent on 10 occasions, that is for a total period of 356 days and took medical leave four times, which is 97 days total till 1995. He was punished with 56 days pay deduction and in 1997-98 he was found guilty of unauthorized absence of 82 and 79 days respectively and he was punished with censure entry along with 8 other minor punishments. Thus, petitioner require no leniency in aforesaid factual background.

23. Learned Counsel for the State has invited the attention of this Court that the petitioner reported to the duties on 16.06.1999 as per G.D. No.21 at 17.00 and as such he was relieved for joining at Company Headquarter, Gonda, but instead of going to Gonda, he again went to his home and he remained unauthorizedly absent. The copy of G.D.No.21 dated 16.06.1999 is contained as Annexure C.A.3 to the counter affidavit. Thereafter, the petitioner reported to the duties on 20.10.1999.

24. It is further submitted, when preliminary inquiry was directed vide order dated 21.11.1999, then the petitioner submitted the medical certificates with respect to which the detailed discussions have been made not only in the inquiry report but here-in-before also.

25. Learned counsel for the State drew attention of this Court towards Annexure No.CA.1 and C.A.2 appended to the counter affidavit, which is application dated 14.05.1999 for extension of leave for 5 days and the reasons mentioned in the said application states that the house of the petitioner being in dilapidated condition collapsed in the storm and in the said application, no plea of 'illness' is mentioned, which is the first opportunity to justify the over-staying/ absenteeism, hence the plea of illness is cock and bull story having been cooked subsequently. The medical certificate relied upon by the petitioner was allegedly issued on 10.06.1999 contained as Annexure C.A.5 demonstrates that the doctors have certified that the petitioner was ill (suffering from typhoid fever) since 12.05.1999 to 10.06.1999. The said certificate appears to be ex-facie incorrect as in the application dated 14.05.1999 (Annexure C.A.2) petitioner has not mentioned that he was ill, meaning thereby, the lame excuse of illness has been discovered by the petitioner at some subsequent point of time. Secondly, the medical certificate contained as Annexure C.A.6 to the counter affidavit issued by different medical officers, i.e. Dr. Firoz Alam. Ansari and Dr. Paras Nath Rai demonstrate that they have certified the illness of the petitioner from 11.06.1999 to 27.07.1999 and issued the fitness certificate for resumption of duties on 27.07.1999. These certificates are again in continuation so far, the period of illness is concerned. The petitioner had to explain the over staying/unauthorized absence from 15.05.1999 till 20.10.1999 and petitioner had not submitted any medical certificate after the period of 27.07.1999. In such a background the medical certificates have rightly been discarded by the inquiry officer and in exercise of judicial review under Article 226 of Constitution of India, this Court may not embark upon the correctness of such certificates, which did not inspire confidence of the inquiry officer.

26. Learned Standing Counsel has further invited attention of this Court towards findings contained in the inquiry report, in which the inquiry officer had categorically found that the plea of illness and collapse of house are contradicting each other as evident from the defence evidence/applications filed by none other than the petitioner.

27. The inquiry officer did not find that the petitioner was admitted in the Hospital even for a single day. The inquiry officer had further taken note of Regulation 381 and 382, which requires that officer and constable, who fell ill during leave must apprise to the Superintendent of Police in writing, but no such compliance of Regulation 381 and 382 has been made, which has been incorporated for the purpose of bonafide illness.

28. Learned counsel for the State lastly invited attention of this Court to the oral statements of the doctors certifying illness and the statements of Gram Pradhan, who had deposed with respect to collapse and reconstruction of the house but the statements of these witnesses did not find favour during inquiry for the detailed reasons recorded in the inquiry report and this Court would not embark on the truthfulness of their statements as this Court cannot function as an appellate authority to the disciplinary proceedings already conducted, except with a limited interference, which is permissible within the four corners of judicial review, that is with respect to procedural lapses but the appreciation of defence evidence by enquiry officer does not seem to be perverse on the basis of material available before this court.

E. RELEVANT RULES

29. It is apt to have glimpse of relevant rules under which disciplinary proceedings have been undertaken i.e. the Uttar Pradesh Police Officers of the Subordinate Ranks (Punishment and Appeal) Rules, 1991:-

“4. Punishment:-(1) The following punishment may, for good and sufficient reasons and as hereinafter provided, be imposed upon a Police Officer, namely-

a) Major Penalties-

(i) Dismissal from service.

(ii) Removal from service.

(iii) Reduction in rank including reduction to a lower-scale or to a lower stage in a time scale.

(b) Minor Penalties-

(i) Withholding of promotion.

(ii) Fine not exceeding one months' pay.

(iii) Withholding of increment, including stoppage at an efficiency bar.

(iv) Censure.

Sub Rule (1) of Rule 5 of the Rules 1991 provides as under:-

5. Procedure for award of punishment.-(1) The cases in which major punishments enumerated in Clause (a) of sub-rule (1) of Rule 4 may be awarded, shall be dealt with in accordance with the procedure laid down in sub-rule (1) of Rule 14.

Sub-rule (1) of Rule 14 of the Rules 1991 postulates as under:-

14. Procedure for conducting departmental proceedings- (1) Subject to the provisions contained in these Rules the departmental proceedings in the case referred to in sub-rule (1) of Rule 5 against the Police Officers, may be conducted in accordance with the procedure laid down in Appendix I. Appendix I of the Rules 1991 provides as under:-

*"PROCEDURE RELATING TO THE CONDUCT OF DEPARTMENTAL PROCEEDINGS AGAINST POLICE OFFICER
[See RULE 14(1)]*

Upon institution of a formal enquiry such police officer against whom the enquiry has been instituted shall be informed in writing of the grounds on which it is proposed to take action and shall be afforded an adequate opportunity of defending himself. The grounds on which it is proposed to take action shall be used in the form of a definite charge or charges as in Form-1 appended to these Rules which shall be communicated to the charged police officer and which shall be so clear and precise as to give sufficient indication to the charged police officer of the facts and circumstances against him. He shall be required, within a reasonable time, to put in, in a written statement of his defence and to state whether he desires to be heard in person. If he so desires, or if the Inquiry officer so directs an oral enquiry shall be held in respect of such of the allegation as are not admitted. At that enquiry such oral evidence will be recorded as the Inquiry Officer considers necessary. The charged police officer shall be entitled to cross-examine the witnesses, to give evidence in person and to have such witnesses called as he may wish:

Provided that the Inquiry Officer may, for sufficient reasons to be recorded in writing, refuse to call a witness. The proceedings shall contain a sufficient record of the evidence and statement of the findings and the ground thereof. The Inquiry Officer may also separately from these proceedings make his own recommendation regarding the punishment to be imposed on the charged police officer."

Sub Rule (2) of Rule 5 of the Rules 1991 provides as under:-

(2) The cases in which minor punishments enumerated in Clause (b) of sub-rule (1) of Rule 4 may be awarded, shall be dealt with in accordance with the procedure laid down in sub-rule (2) of Rule 14.

Sub-rule (2) of Rule 14 of the Rules 1991 postulates as under:-

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-rule (1) punishments in cases referred to in sub-rule (2) of Rule 5 may be imposed after informing the Police Officer in writing of the action proposed to be taken against him and of the imputations of act or omission on which it is proposed to be taken and giving him a reasonable opportunity of making such representation as he may wish to make against the proposal."

30. It is a peculiar case where the order of removal was stayed by this Court vide order dated 15.10.2024, which is extracted as under:-

"Learned standing counsel prays for and is granted four weeks' time to file a counter affidavit. Thereafter, the petitioner is granted another two week's time to file a rejoinder affidavit.

List this case after two months.

Till further orders of this Court, the operation of the impugned order dated 17.04.2000 Annexure -1 to the writ petition shall remain stayed. ”

31. In compliance of interim order dated 15.10.2024 admittedly the petitioner was reinstated in service since 19.11.2005 and discharged his duties till retirement on 31.07.2024 and as per counsel for the petitioner, the petitioner was promoted to the post of head constable in the year 2016, and also receiving the provisional pension, hence, the validity of impugned orders and its effects are to be examined keeping in view the subsequent developments after order of removal was passed.

F. ANALYSIS AND REASONING

32. The counsel for petitioner in order to buttress his submission that regulation 381 and 382 of UP Police Regulations are not mandatory has relied upon coordinate bench judgment of this court dated 30.01.2019 rendered in Writ A No. 16983 of 2001 titled as Vidya Ram vs. Deputy Inspector General of Police, Agra and others and judgment of this court dated 30.01.2019 rendered in Writ A No. 16983 of 2001 titled as Vidya Ram vs. Deputy Inspector general of police, Agra and others and coordinate bench judgement of this Court in Writ-A No. 17878 of 2013 'Manindar Kumar Singh Versus State of U.P. and others in which the judgement of Vidya Ram (supra) was taken note of. This court in Vidya Ram (supra) has observed in para 6 and 7:

“6. This Court in Yashwant Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2012 (3) ADJ 108 had an occasion to deal with the provisions of Para-382 of U.P. Police Regulations. This Court, upon a plain reading of Paras 381 and 382 of the police Regulations has observed that a presumption is sought to be drawn by the respondents against the genuineness of medical certificate unless it is obtained from a District Government Hospital. Paras 16 to 19 of the judgment is apposite for the present purposes and is reproduced hereinafter:-

"16. Thus, from the findings of enquiry officer it is clear that the medical certificate submitted by the petitioner in respect of his illness during the period of his unauthorised absence from duty was neither doubted nor disputed by the enquiry officer, nevertheless inquiry officer and disciplinary authority have held the petitioner guilty of negligent in discharge of his duty merely on account of fact that while on unauthorized absence from duty he did not observe the provisions contained in para 381 and 382 of the U.P. Police Regulations, which reads as under:-

"381. It is incumbent on all applicants for medical leave or extension of leave on medical certificates to apprise the Superintendent of Police in writing of their intention to apply for a medical certificate. Any failure to do so may result in a decision that the medical certificate has been obtained by misrepresentation and may thereby entail serious consequences.

382. Under-officers and constables who fall ill when on duty or who are ill when due to return to duty, must apply for admission to the district police hospital or for treatment at the nearest dispensary, if the police hospital is out of easy reach. The fact of their admission or treatment must be reported to the local Superintendent of Police who unless they are his own subordinates will take immediate steps to communicate the fact to the Superintendent of Police whose subordinates they are. Officers of higher rank are not compelled to apply for admission to police hospitals, but are not relieved of the responsibility, while on leave of intimating their intention of obtaining a medical certificate to the Superintendent of Police as prescribed above."

17. From a plain reading of para 381 of the U.P. Police Regulations, it is clear that any police personnel, who wants to take medical leave on medical certificate must apprise the Superintendent of Police in writing of his intention to apply for a medical certificate and any failure to do so entails serious consequence and raise presumption that the medical certificate obtained by such police personnel is based on misrepresentation and further para 382 of the said Regulations postulates that under-officers and constables who fall ill while on duty must apply for admission to the district hospital or for treatment at the nearest dispensary, if the district hospital is out of easy reach. The fact of their admission or treatment must be reported to the local Superintendent of Police who unless they are his own subordinates will take steps to communicate the fact to the Superintendent of Police whose subordinates they are. Officers of higher rank are not compelled to apply for such admission to police hospital, but they are not relieved of the responsibility of intimating their intention of obtaining a medical certificate to the Superintendent of Police as prescribed under para 381 of the Regulations. These police Regulations are administrative instructions compiled in the U.P. Police Regulations. They have no statutory force. Non-compliance/observance of aforesaid regulations by sub-ordinate police officers entails serious consequence by raising presumption of misrepresentation by them in obtaining medical certificate for grant of medical leave, such presumption appears to have been raised by deeming provisions in the Regulation 381 of Police Regulations.

18. A legal fiction is one which is not an actual reality but which the law requires the court to accept it as a reality, therefore, in case of legal fiction, the court believes something to exist which in reality does not exist. It is nothing but a presumption of the existence of a state of affairs, which in actual reality is non-existent. In this connection, it would be useful to refer statements of law contained in few passage of IV Edition of Legislation and Interpretation (By Late Jagadish Swarup) at page 307 and 308:

"A legal fiction is one which is not an actual reality but which the law requires the Court to accept it as a reality. Therefore, in case of legal fiction, the Court believes something to exist which, in reality, does not exist. In other words, it is nothing but a presumption of the existence of a state of affairs which in actual reality is non-existent. When viewed from this context there is not much difference between a legal fiction and a presumption. However, it cannot be said that legal fiction and a presumption are wholly identical in all respects. A presumption may be conclusive or it may be rebuttable. A presumption gives rise to a legal fiction. It is conclusive, if no evidence can be permitted to be led to deny it. In case of a presumption which is rebuttable, unless the contrary is established, fictitious state of affairs is presumed to exist as if it is an actual reality.

A deeming provision creates a legal fiction. The effect of such a legal fiction is that a position which otherwise would not obtain is deemed to obtain under certain circumstances.

A deeming fiction can not be introduced by construction and it is the exclusive privilege of the legislature to apply a deeming fiction in a given case."

19. Thus from the aforesaid statements of law, it is clear that such deeming provision creates legal fiction through the statute. A legal fiction through deeming provision can not be introduce by the interpretation and it is exclusive privilege of the legislature to apply a deeming fiction in a given case, therefore, such deeming provision, in my view, can not be created through administrative instructions. The aforesaid view also finds support from various decisions of Apex Court including a decision rendered in V.C., Banaras Hindu University Vs. Shree Kant, 2006 (11)

S.C.C. 42: AIR 2006 S.C.2304: 2006(4) ALJ 578 wherein it has been held that no legal fiction in law can be created by an administrative order. Thus the aforesaid presumption raised by the Regulation 381 of the Police Regulation is beyond the scope of authority under law, as such can not be sustained, therefore, the aforesaid presumption raised by said regulation is liable to be ignored and a substantial compliance thereof, in my opinion, would be sufficient.

7. I am in respectful agreement with the view taken by this Court that presumption can be drawn only on the basis of a legislative provision and the authorities would not be justified in relying upon administrative circular to draw such presumption."

33. Further, the counsel for the petitioner in order to buttress his submissions placed the reliance on judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Krushna Kant B. Parmar Vs. Union of India and another, (2012) 3 SCC 178, to contend that 'absence for a reason', cannot be said to be a willful absence.

34. It is also submitted that the absence was the result of compelling circumstances under which it was not possible to report or perform duty and thus his absence could not be held to be wilful. It is contended that the absence of the petitioner was not wilful and he was prevented on account of his health condition, and therefore his case is clearly covered under the exception carved out by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Krushna Kant B Parmar (supra).

35. Reference may be had to the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Krushna Kant B Parmar (supra). The Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:

"16. In the case of the appellant referring to unauthorised absence the disciplinary authority alleged that he failed to maintain devotion to duty and his behaviour was unbecoming of a government servant. The question whether "unauthorised absence from duty" amounts to failure of devotion to duty or behaviour unbecoming of a government servant cannot be decided without deciding the question whether absence is wilful or because of compelling circumstances.

17. If the absence is the result of compelling circumstances under which it was not possible to report or perform duty, such absence cannot be held to be wilful. Absence from duty without any application or prior permission may amount to unauthorised absence, but it does not always mean wilful. There may be different eventualities due to which an employee may abstain from duty, including compelling circumstances beyond his control like illness, accident, hospitalisation, etc., but in such case the employee cannot be held guilty of failure of devotion to duty or behaviour unbecoming of a government servant.

18. In a departmental proceeding, if allegation of unauthorised absence from duty is made, the disciplinary authority is required to prove that the absence is wilful, in the absence of such finding, the absence will not amount to misconduct."

36. In Krushna Kant B Parmar (supra), Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that the question whether unauthorised absence from duty amounts to failure of devotion to duty or behaviour unbecoming of a government servant cannot be decided without deciding the question whether absence is wilful or because of compelling circumstances. If the absence is the result of compelling circumstances, under which it was not possible to report or perform duty, such absence cannot be held to be willful. Absence from duty without any application or prior permission may amount to unauthorised absence, but it does not always mean willful. There may be compelling circumstances beyond his control like illness, accident, hospitalization, etc., and in such cases the employee cannot be held guilty of failure of devotion to duty or behaviour unbecoming of a government servant. If allegation of unauthorised absence from duty is made, the disciplinary authority is required to prove that the absence is willful, in the absence of such finding, the absence will not amount to misconduct.

37. Reference may further be had to the Judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in Chennai Metropolitan Water Supply & Sewerage Board v. T.T. Murali Babu, (2014) 4 SCC 108, wherein Hon'ble Supreme Court has explained Krushna Kant B Parmar (supra) and has held as under:

"19. In Jagdish Singh (supra) the Court took note of the fact that the appellant therein was a sweeper and had remained absent on four spells totalling to fifteen days in all in two months. In that context, the Court observed thus: -

"The instant case is not a case of habitual absenteeism. The appellant seems to have a good track record from the date he joined service as a sweeper. In his long career of service, he remained absent for fifteen days on four occasions in the months of February and March 2004. This was primarily to sort out the problem of his daughter with her in-laws. The filial bondage and the emotional attachment might have come in his way to apply and obtain leave from the employer. The misconduct that is alleged, in our view, would definitely amount to violation of discipline that is expected of an employee to maintain in the establishment, but may not fit into the category of gross violation of discipline. We hasten to add, if it were to be habitual absenteeism, we would not have ventured to entertain this appeal."

20. If both the decisions are appositely understood, two aspects clearly emerge. In Shri Bhagwan Lal Arya (supra), the Court took note of the fact, that is, production of proper medical certificate from a Government medical doctor and opined about the nature of misconduct and in Jagdish Singh (supra) the period of absence, status of the employee and his track record and the explanation offered by him. In the case at hand, the factual score being different, to which we shall later on advert, the aforesaid authorities do not really assist the respondent.

21. Learned counsel for the respondent has commended us to the decision in Krushnakant B. Parmar v. Union of India and another[10] to highlight that in the absence of a finding returned by the Inquiry Officer or determination by the disciplinary authority that the unauthorized absence was willful, the charge could not be treated to have been proved. To appreciate the said submission we have carefully perused the said authority. In the said case, the question arose whether "unauthorized absence from duty" did tantamount to "failure of devotion to duty" or "behavior unbecoming of a Government servant" inasmuch as the appellant therein was charge-sheeted for failure to maintain devotion to duty and his behavior was unbecoming of a Government servant. After adverting to the rule position the two-Judge Bench expressed thus: -

"16. In the case of the appellant referring to unauthorized absence the disciplinary authority alleged that he failed to maintain devotion to duty and his behavior was unbecoming of a government servant. The question whether "unauthorized absence from duty" amounts to failure of devotion to duty or behavior unbecoming of a government servant cannot be decided without deciding the question whether absence is willful or because of compelling circumstances.

17. If the absence is the result of compelling circumstances under which it was not possible to report or perform duty, such absence cannot be held to be willful. Absence from duty without any application or prior permission may amount to unauthorized absence, but it does not always mean willful. There may be different eventualities due to which an employee may abstain from duty, including compelling circumstances beyond his control like illness, accident, hospitalization, etc., but in such case the employee cannot be held guilty of failure of devotion to duty or behavior unbecoming of a government servant.

18. In a departmental proceeding, if allegation of unauthorized absence from duty is made, the disciplinary authority is required to prove that the absence is willful, in the absence of such finding, the absence will not amount to misconduct."

22. We have quoted in extenso as we are disposed to think that the Court has, while dealing with the charge of failure of devotion to duty or behavior unbecoming of a Government servant, expressed the aforesaid view and further the learned Judges have also opined that there may be compelling circumstances which are beyond the control of an employee. That apart, the facts in the said case were different as the appellant on certain occasions was prevented to sign the attendance register and the absence was intermittent. Quite apart from that, it has been stated therein that it is obligatory on the part of the disciplinary authority to come to a conclusion that the absence is willful. On an apposite understanding of the judgment we are of the opinion that the view expressed in the said case has to be restricted to the facts of the said case regard being had to the rule position, the nature of the charge levelled against the employee and the material that had come on record during the enquiry. It cannot be stated as an absolute proposition in law that whenever there is a long unauthorized absence, it is obligatory on the part of the disciplinary authority to record a finding that the said absence is willful even if the employee fails to show the compelling circumstances to remain absent.

23. We have quoted in extenso as we are disposed to think that the Court in Krushnakant B. Parmar case has, while dealing with the charge of failure of devotion to duty or behaviour unbecoming of a government servant, expressed the afore stated view and further the learned Judges have also opined that there may be compelling circumstances which are beyond the control of an employee. That apart, the facts in the said case were different as the appellant on certain occasions was prevented to sign the attendance register and the absence was intermittent. Quite apart from that, it has been stated therein that it is obligatory on the part of the disciplinary authority to come to a conclusion that the absence is wilful. On an apposite understanding of the judgment Krushnakant B. Parmar case we are of the opinion that the view expressed in the said case has to be restricted to the facts of the said case regard being had to the rule position, the nature of the charge levelled against the employee and the material that had come on record during the enquiry. It cannot be stated as an absolute proposition in law that whenever there is a long unauthorised absence, it is obligatory on the part of the disciplinary authority to record a finding that the said absence is wilful even if the employee fails to show the compelling circumstances to remain absent.

24. In this context, it is seemly to refer to certain other authorities relating to unauthorised absence and the view expressed by this Court. In State of Punjab v. P.L. Singla , (2008) 8 SCC 469 the Court, dealing with unauthorised absence, has stated thus :

"11. Unauthorised absence (or overstaying leave), is an act of indiscipline. Whenever there is an unauthorised absence by an employee, two courses are open to the employer. The first is to condone the unauthorised absence by accepting the explanation and sanctioning leave for the period of the unauthorised absence in which event the misconduct stood condoned. The second is to treat the unauthorised absence as a misconduct, hold an enquiry and impose a punishment for the misconduct."

25. Again, while dealing with the concept of punishment the Court ruled as follows :

"14. Where the employee who is unauthorisedly absent does not report back to duty and offer any satisfactory explanation, or where the explanation offered by the employee is not satisfactory, the employer will take recourse to disciplinary action in regard to the unauthorised absence. Such disciplinary proceedings may lead to imposition of punishment ranging from a major penalty like dismissal or removal from service to a minor penalty like withholding of increments without cumulative effect. The extent of penalty will depend upon the nature of service, the position held by the employee, the period of absence and the cause/explanation for the absence."

26. In Tushar D. Bhatt v. State of Gujarat (2009) 11 SCC 678, the appellant therein had remained unauthorisedly absent for a period of six months and further had also written threatening letters and conducted some other acts of misconduct. Eventually, the employee was visited with order of dismissal and the High Court had given the stamp of approval to the same. Commenting on the conduct of the appellant the Court stated that he was not justified in remaining unauthorisedly absent from official duty for more than six months because in the interest of discipline of any institution or organisation such an approach and attitude of the employee cannot be countenanced.

27. Thus, the unauthorised absence by an employee, as a misconduct, cannot be put into a straitjacket formula for imposition of punishment. It will depend upon many a factor as has been laid down in P.L. Singla."

38. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Chennai Metropolitan Water Supply & Sewerage Board (supra) after examining Krushna Kant B Parmar (supra) has held that the view expressed in Krushna Kant B Parmar (supra), that there may be compelling circumstances which are beyond the control of an employee and that it is obligatory on the part of the disciplinary authority to come to a conclusion that the absence is wilful, has to be restricted to the facts of the said case regard being had to the rule position, the nature of the charge levelled against the employee and the material that had come on record during the enquiry. It cannot be stated as an absolute proposition in law that whenever there is a long unauthorised absence, it is obligatory on the part of the disciplinary authority to record a finding that the said absence is wilful even if the employee fails to show the compelling circumstances to remain absent.

39. The Hon'ble Supreme Court thereafter referred to the Judgment in P.L. Singla (supra) wherein it is held that unauthorised absence (or overstaying leave), is an act of indiscipline and whenever there is an unauthorised absence by an employee, two courses are open to the employer. First is to condone the unauthorised absence by accepting the explanation and sanctioning leave for the period of the unauthorised absence in which event the misconduct stood condoned and the second is to treat the unauthorised absence as a misconduct, hold an enquiry and impose a punishment for the misconduct. Where the explanation offered by the employee is not satisfactory, the employer would take recourse to disciplinary action in regard to the unauthorised absence. Such disciplinary proceedings may lead to imposition of punishment ranging from a major penalty like dismissal or removal from service to a minor penalty like withholding of increments without cumulative effect. The extent of penalty would depend upon the nature of service, the position held by the employee, the period of absence and the cause/explanation for the absence.

40. The Hon'ble Supreme Court held that unauthorised absence by an employee, as a misconduct, cannot be put into a straitjacket formula for imposition of punishment. It will depend upon many factors as has been laid down in P.L. Singla (supra).

41. The Hon'ble Supreme Court has laid down the scope, extent and parameters of judicial review in disciplinary action. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Railways v. Rajendra Kumar Dubey, (2021) 14 SCC 735 has held as under:

"21.1. We will first discuss the scope of interference by the High Court in exercise of its writ jurisdiction with respect to disciplinary proceedings. It is well settled that the High Court must not act as an appellate authority, and reappreciate the evidence led before the enquiry officer. We will advert to some of the decisions of this Court with respect to interference by the High Courts with findings in a departmental enquiry against a public servant.

21.2. In State of A.P. v. S. Sree Rama Rao, AIR 1963 SC 1723] , a three-Judge Bench of this Court held that the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution is not a court of appeal over the decision of the authorities holding a departmental enquiry against a public servant. It is not the function of the High Court under its writ jurisdiction to review the evidence, and arrive at an independent finding on the evidence. The High Court may, however, interfere where the departmental authority which has held the proceedings against the delinquent officer are inconsistent with the principles of natural justice, where the findings are based on no evidence, which may reasonably support the conclusion that the delinquent officer is guilty of the charge, or in violation of the statutory rules prescribing the mode of enquiry, or the authorities were actuated by some extraneous considerations and failed to reach a fair decision, or allowed themselves to be influenced by irrelevant considerations, or where the conclusion on the very face of it is so wholly arbitrary and capricious that no reasonable person could ever have arrived at that conclusion. If, however, the enquiry is properly held, the departmental authority is the sole judge of facts, and if there is some legal evidence on which the findings can be based, the adequacy or reliability of that evidence is not a matter which can be permitted to be canvassed before the High Court in a writ petition.

21.3. These principles were further reiterated in State of A.P. v. Chitra Venkata Rao, (1975) 2 SCC 557. The jurisdiction to issue a writ of certiorari under Article 226 is a supervisory jurisdiction. The court exercises the power not as an appellate court. The findings of fact reached by an inferior court or tribunal on the appreciation of evidence, are not re-opened or questioned in writ proceedings. An error of law which is apparent on the face of the record can be corrected by a writ court, but not an error of fact, however grave it may be. A writ can be issued if it is shown that in recording the finding of fact, the tribunal has erroneously refused to admit admissible and material evidence, or had erroneously admitted inadmissible evidence. A finding of fact recorded by the tribunal cannot be challenged on the ground that the material evidence adduced before the tribunal is insufficient or inadequate to sustain a finding. The adequacy or sufficiency of evidence led on a point, and the inference of fact to be drawn from the said finding are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the tribunal.

21.4. In subsequent decisions of this Court, including Union of India v. G. Ganayutham, (1997) 7 SCC 463, RPF v. Sai Babu, (2003) 4 SCC 331, Chennai Metropolitan Water Supply & Sewerage Board v. T.T. MuraliBabu, (2014) 4 SCC 108, Union of India v. Manab Kumar Guha, (2011) 11 SCC 535, these principles have been consistently followed.

21.5. In a recent judgment delivered by this Court in State of Rajasthan v. Heem Singh, (2021) 12 SCC 569 this Court has summed up the law in following words:

“37. In exercising judicial review in disciplinary matters, there are two ends of the spectrum. The first embodies a rule of restraint. The second defines when interference is permissible. The rule of restraint constricts the ambit of judicial review. This is for a valid reason. The determination of whether a misconduct has been committed lies primarily within the domain of the disciplinary authority. The judge does not assume the mantle of the disciplinary authority. Nor does the judge wear the hat of an employer. Deference to a finding of fact by the disciplinary authority is a recognition of the idea that it is the employer who is responsible for the efficient conduct of their service. Disciplinary enquiries have to abide by the rules of natural justice. But they are not governed by strict rules of evidence which apply to judicial proceedings. The standard of proof is hence not the strict standard which governs a criminal trial, of proof beyond reasonable doubt, but a civil standard governed by a preponderance of probabilities. Within the rule of preponderance, there are varying approaches based on context and subject. The first end of the spectrum is founded on deference and autonomy -- deference to the position of the disciplinary authority as a fact-finding authority and autonomy of the employer in maintaining discipline and efficiency of the service. At the other end of the spectrum is the principle that the court has the jurisdiction to interfere when the findings in the enquiry are based on no evidence or when they suffer from perversity. A failure to consider vital evidence is an incident of what the law regards as a perverse determination of fact. Proportionality is an entrenched feature of our jurisprudence. Service jurisprudence has recognised it for long years in allowing for the authority of the court to interfere when the finding or the penalty are disproportionate to the weight of the evidence or misconduct. Judicial craft lies in maintaining a steady sail between the banks of these two shores which have been termed as the two ends of the spectrum. Judges do not rest with a mere recitation of the hands-off mantra when they exercise judicial review. To determine whether the finding in a disciplinary enquiry is based on some evidence an initial or threshold level of scrutiny is undertaken. That is to satisfy the conscience of the court that there is some evidence to support the charge of misconduct and to guard against perversity. But this does not allow the court to reappreciate evidentiary findings in a disciplinary enquiry or to substitute a view which appears to the judge to be more appropriate. To do so would offend the first principle which has been outlined above. The ultimate guide is the exercise of robust common sense without which the judges' craft is in vain.”

42. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Railways v. Rajendra Kumar Dubey (supra) after referring to various decisions has laid down principles which can be summarized as follows:

- i. the jurisdiction to issue a writ of certiorari under Article 226 is a supervisory jurisdiction;
- ii. the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution is not a court of appeal over the decision of the authorities holding a departmental enquiry against a public servant;

- iii. it is not the function of the High Court under its writ jurisdiction to review the evidence, and arrive at an independent finding on the evidence;
- iv. High Court may interfere with the proceedings:
 - (a) where principles of natural justice has not been complied with,
 - (b) where the findings are based on no evidence, which may reasonably support the conclusion of guilt, or
 - (c) there is violation of the statutory rules prescribing the mode of enquiry, or
 - (d) the authorities were actuated by some extraneous considerations and failed to reach a fair decision, or
 - (e) allowed themselves to be influenced by irrelevant considerations, or
 - (f) where the conclusion on the very face of it is so wholly arbitrary and capricious that no reasonable person could ever have arrived at that conclusion.;
- v. if, the enquiry is properly held, the departmental authority is the sole judge of facts, and if there is some legal evidence on which the findings can be based, the adequacy or reliability of that evidence is not a matter which can be permitted to be canvassed before the High Court in a writ petition;
- vi. findings of fact reached by an inferior court or tribunal on the appreciation of evidence, are not re-opened or questioned in writ proceedings; and
- vii. an error of law which is apparent on the face of the record can be corrected by a writ court, but not an error of fact, however grave it may be.

On careful reading of judgement of T.T Murlibabu (supra) Krushna kant B. Parmar (supra) coupled with finding contained in the enquiry report in this case, it comes out that Hon'ble Supreme Court had already taken note of judgement of Krushnakant B. Parmar in the case of T.T. Murlibabu (Supra) and has observed that the "It cannot be stated as an absolute proposition in law that whenever there is a long unauthorised absence, it is obligatory on the part of the disciplinary authority to record a finding that the said absence is wilful even if the employee fails to show the compelling circumstances to remain absent "

43. The contention of counsel for the petitioner so far it relates to medical certificates are not forged or fabricated and even inquiry officer did not held that the medical certificates relied upon by the petitioner are forged documents as such the cause for absence ought to have been considered a genuine one and in order to support such submissions, counsel for the petitioner relied upon the judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Chhel Singh v. M.G.B. Gramin Bank Pali & others reported (2014) 13 SCC 166.

44. Even if the medical certificates relied upon by the petitioner are not declared to be forged by inquiry officer, even then the medical certificates are not for entire period of 160 days, for which the unauthorized absence has been sought to be condoned, as such the medical certificates so relied by the petitioner is of hardly any use particularly in backdrop of the analysis and reasoning given by inquiry officer that the petitioner did not appear to be ill on the date when firstly he sought extension of his leave as the only ground was mentioned in the leave application that his house stood collapsed, as such the leave may be extended, hence, the plea of illness for the entire period of illness did not inspire confidence of inquiry officer for which no findings can be substituted by this Court in jurisdiction of judicial review under Article 226 of the Constitution of India as such the judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court is of hardly any assistance to the case of the petitioner.

45. Learned counsel for the petitioner further relied upon a coordinate bench judgement of this Court rendered in Writ-A No.17878 of 2013 'Manindar Kumar Singh Versus State of U.P. and others' and on the strength of said decision has submitted that the medical certificates relied by the delinquent employee should not be ignored only on the ground that the medical practitioner issuing such certificates was stationed at a distant place from the petitioner's place of posting but such is not the reasons/analysis mentioned in the inquiry report for discarding the medical certificates so submitted by the writ petitioner, hence, the said authority of law is of no help for the case of the petitioner.

46. The Regulation 381 as contained in Police Regulations even if are treated to be not mandatory and the explanation in that regard can be offered while submitting reply to the show cause notice even then the same is directory and such regulations needs to be adhered with. Even if Regulation 381 and 382 are not given much credence as non submitting information qua illness can be explained while filing medical certificates and seeking leave, even then in peculiar facts of this case what emerges is inquiry officer had found that even after having fitness certificate dated 27.07.1999, the petitioner did not report to the duties till 20.10.1999, which reflects indiscipline on the part of the petitioner.

47. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of 'State of Punjab Vs. P.L. Singla reported in AIR 2009 SCC 1149' has held that the extent of penalty will depend upon the nature of service, the position held by the employee, the period of absence and the cause/explanation for the absence.

48. It is no more res integra that where the punishment is either dismissal or removal, it may not be necessary to pass any consequential orders relating to the period of unauthorized absence (unless the rules require otherwise). Where the punishment awarded for the unauthorized absence does not result in severance of employment and the employee continues in service, it will be necessary to pass some consequential order as to how the period of absence should be accounted for and dealt with in the service record. If the unauthorized absence remains unaccounted, it will result in break in service, thereby affecting the seniority, pension, pay etc., of the employee. Any consequential order directing how the period of absence should be accounted for is for an accounting and administrative procedure, which does not affect or supersede the order imposing punishment.

49. In view of the judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of P.L. Singla (supra), since one of the punishment is removal from service and if that subsists there was absolutely no need for passing separate order qua relating to period of unauthorized absence, which is dated 17.04.2000 contained as Annexure 2 to this Writ Petition as the removal from service would definitely result in severance of employment, thus the order dated 17.04.2000 forfeiting salary of the petitioner was completely uncalled for and it is only if any other punishment except removal or dismissal is passed then the period of absence should be accounted for and dealt with.

50. In the case in hand, since the order of removal was passed as such it was not strictly required to pass the order of forfeiture of salary treating the period as 'dies non' but if order of removal is interfered with on a sympathetic consideration treating that petitioner had rendered long service then it would be justified to either maintain the order of forfeiture of salary or to pass a fresh order in relation to same.

51. The counsel for petitioner while assailing the validity of impugned orders of removal from service had strenuously urged that the past conducts of the petitioner had been considered for awarding major penalty but neither in the chargesheet nor in the show cause notice the past conduct of petitioner was made a charge, therefore the order of punishment stands vitiated on this count too and to buttress his submission he has relied upon the coordinate bench judgement rendered in W.P. No.1192 (S/S) of 2019 'Sanjay Misra v. Director, Sanjay Gandhi Post Graduate Institute and another' and the judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Mohd. Yusuf Khan v. State of Uttar Pradesh and others reported in (2010) 10 SCC 539 33.

52. It is trite law that the past conduct of the petitioner cannot be sole foundation for awarding the punishment unless such conduct is mentioned either in the chargesheet or in the show cause notice. But in the case in hand, record transpires that the past conduct of the petitioner has been taken into account by the inquiry officer as well as reference of the same has been made in the impugned order of punishment even then the past conduct is not the foundation for awarding the major penalty that is the removal from service, rather that may be one of the background, which has been reflected but independently the inquiry officer had proved the charge of unauthorized absence of 160 days and the disciplinary authority has passed independently the order of removal from service solely on the charge of unauthorized absence of 160 days and the past conduct is not the foundation for passing the impugned order of removal (emphasis supplied). Thus, the judgements of Mohd. Yusuf Khan (supra) and Sanjay Misra (supra) are hardly of any avail to the petitioner in the facts of this case.

53. The Hon'ble Supreme Court had an occasion to consider whether the reference of past conduct while imposing final punishment is relevant or not particularly when such past conduct has not been referred to in the chargesheet making a distinct charge or any show cause notice has been given. It is apposite and profitable to note paragraph nos.10, 11, 19 and 20 rendered in the judgment in State of Punjab and Ors. Vs. Ex. C. Satpal Singh reported in 2025 AIR SC 4011 for the reference of past conduct and the same are extracted as under :-

"10.The learned counsel for the appellants has argued that as a matter of fact, the dismissal order of the respondent was not based on the previous misconduct but was solely based on the misconduct for which the disciplinary enquiry was initiated against him, which was for unauthorised absence of around 37 days from 04.04.1994 to 12.05.1994. The learned counsel for the appellants has submitted that the reference of the previous conduct of the respondent in the dismissal order was only for adding the weight to the decision of imposing the punishment of dismissal.

11.It is contended that this Court in K. Manche Gowda's case (supra) had ruled that a dismissal order based on the past conduct must precede a show cause notice detailing out the previous misconduct which is to be considered by the disciplinary authority while imposing the *punishment. However, in the present case, the previous misconduct of the respondent was not the basis for imposing the punishment of dismissal and reference of the previous misconduct was only mentioned, apart from the indiscipline for which punishment was imposed. In support of the above argument, learned counsel for appellants has placed reliance on the decision of this Court rendered in India Marine Service Private Ltd. v. Their Workmen and Union of India v. Bishamber Das Dogra.*

19. This Court, in K. Manche Gowda's case (supra), has held that if the past conduct of an employee is the basis for imposing punishment, the department is obliged to disclose that his past record will also be taken into consideration while inflicting punishment. Now, the question arises for consideration is whether the disciplinary authority had taken into consideration the past conduct of the respondent while passing the dismissal order. From careful reading of the dismissal order reproduced hereinabove, it appears that the disciplinary authority had clearly observed that it had perused the report of enquiry and conclusion thoroughly, whereby the respondent was held guilty for the unauthorized absence and agreed with the conclusion of the enquiry officer. The disciplinary authority had further mentioned regarding the issuance of show cause notice to the respondent and had observed that despite the receipt of the show cause notice, the respondent did not submit his reply, which shows that the respondent accepted the allegation against him. Thereafter, the disciplinary authority had noted that 17 years of service of the respondent were forfeited as a result of his absence for 224 days and for which he was punished accordingly.

20. To properly understand the controversy in the light of question framed, it is necessary to examine the relevant judicial precedents, as discussed below. This Court in the case of India Marine Services Private Ltd. (supra), dealt with the case of punishment awarded to an employee in a similar situation, as follows:-

"7.It is true that the last sentence suggests that the past record of Bose has also been taken into consideration. But it does not follow from this that that was the effective reason for dismissing him. The Managing Director having arrived at the conclusion that Bose's services must be terminated in the interest of discipline, he added one sentence to give additional weight to the decision already arrived at. Upon this view it would follow that the Tribunal was not competent to go behind the finding of the Managing Director and consider for itself the evidence adduced before him. The order of the Tribunal quashing the dismissal of Bose and directing his re-instatement is, therefore, set aside as being contrary to law."

30. In view of the above, it is evident that it is desirable that the delinquent employee may be informed by the disciplinary authority that his past conduct would be taken into consideration while imposing the punishment. But in case of misconduct of grave nature or indiscipline, even in the absence of statutory rules, the authority may take into consideration the indisputable past conduct/service record of the employee for adding the weight to the decision of imposing the punishment if the facts of the case so require."

54. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Central Industrial Security Force and others Vs. Abrar Ali reported in (2017) 4 SCC 507 has held that order of dismissal from service after considering earlier punishment on account of his act of indiscipline and negligence does not amount to double jeopardy and the past conduct of delinquent employee can be taken into consideration and has further held as under:-

"13. Contrary to findings of the disciplinary authority, the High Court accepted the version of the respondent that he fell ill and was being treated by a local doctor without assigning any reasons. It was held by the disciplinary authority that the unit had better medical facilities which could have been availed by the respondent if he was really suffering from illness. It was further held that the delinquent did not produce any evidence of treatment by a local doctor. The High Court should not have entered into the arena of facts which tantamounts to reappreciation of evidence. It is settled law that reappreciation of" evidence is not permissible in the exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226 of Constitution of India.

55. Thus, it is crystal clear that as in the present case also the disciplinary authority while imposing the penalty had merely referred the previous/past conduct of habitual absenteeism. The order of removal from service is not based on the cumulative effect of charges of continued misconduct to be incorrigibility and complete unfitness for police service, therefore, mere reference of the past conduct would not amount to constitute foundation for removal from service. Thus, the reference of past conduct in the order impugned or in the inquiry report is hardly any relevance.

56. The counsel for the petitioner has invited attention of this Court towards the recommendation contained in the inquiry report to the effect that major penalty of 'removal from service' may be inflicted in view of the charges having been proved and further urged that such recommendation is beyond the competence of inquiry officer, as the same would make the disciplinary authority's mind biased while passing the final order. In order to substantiate the said submission, learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon the judgement rendered by this Court in Service Bench No.6202 of 2016 'State of U.P. Thru Secy. Home Department & Ors. v. State Public Service Tribunal Indira & Ors.' and on the basis of said authority it has been submitted that the appendix I as referable to Rule 14 (1) of 1991 Rules provides that the inquiry officer can recommend for award of the punishment but such recommendation is not permissible along with inquiry report, rather the inquiry officer may also separately from these proceedings, makes his own recommendation regarding the punishment to be imposed on the charged police officer. Appendix-I as contemplated under Rule 14(1) of the Rules provides as under:

".....The proceedings shall contain a sufficient record of the evidence and statement of the finding and the ground thereof. The Inquiry Officer may also separately from these proceedings make his own recommendation regarding the punishment to be imposed on the charged Police Officer."

57. The aforesaid provision itself goes to indicate that the word 'separately' connotes recommendation has to be made distinctly/ separately, but in the case in hand, recommendation has not been made separately, and it has been made along with the enquiry report. If the Appendix-1 contemplates making of recommendation separately, then it was incumbent upon the enquiry officer to make the recommendation separately. If the recommendation is composite, then the same is defective and the said recommendation will not fulfill the requirement of Appendix-1. If the law requires to do a particular thing in a particular manner, then it is to be done in that manner only. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of State of U.P. vs. Singhara Singh and others AIR 1964 SC 358, has said so. Learned Additional Standing Counsel neither could point out nor put up a convincing argument that the punishment would be recommended by the enquiry officer in a composite manner. Thus, the argument of counsel for petitioner that there should not be a composite enquiry report containing the recommendation rather ought to have been separately finds favour of this court and is decided in favour of petitioner.

58. The petitioner further relied upon the judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of 'State of U.P. and others v. Saroj Kumar Sinha' reported in (2010) 2 SCC 772 and pointed out paragraph no.22 in which it has been mentioned that an inquiry officer acting in a quasi-judicial authority is in the position of an independent adjudicator. He is not supposed to be a representative of the department/disciplinary authority/government, his function is to examine the evidence presented by the department. There cannot be any quarrel on the settled position of law, but the authority in the case of Saroj Kumar Singh (supra) is of no assistance to the petitioner as no bias has been alleged against the inquiry officer and it has been pleaded nowhere that enquiry officer had not acted as an independent adjudicator.

59. Learned counsel for the petitioner has lastly relied upon the judgement of this Court passed by coordinate bench in the case of Mirza Barkat Ali v. Inspector General of Police Allahabad and others reported in (2002) 2 UPLBEC 1871 and Ram Ujagar Yadav v. The State of U.P. and others (Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.2316 of 1999) dated 06.03.2006 and submitted that the quantum of punishment is disproportionate with the gravity of charges but it is no more res-integra in the light of judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Chennai Metropolitan Water Supply and Sewerage Board and others vs. T.T. Murali Baby reported in (2014) 4 SCC 108 that unauthorized absence of an employee as a misconduct cannot be put in a straight-jacket formula for imposition of punishment, which depends on various factors and the order of dismissal was restored by Hon'ble Supreme Court, but at the same time keeping in view the length of service of petitioner, and admitted position of superannuation and promotion in interregnum are peculiar features of this case, impels this Court to take different view.

60. With respect to relief on punishment found disproportionate the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Union of India and others Vs. Datta Linga Toshatwad reported in 2006 SCC (L & S) 1504 has held that the High Court is competent to remit the matter back to disciplinary authority to reconsider the matter as regard to punishment, thus, the matter is remitted back to the disciplinary authority for taking appropriate decision with respect to punishment in peculiar facts of this case as petitioner had rendered 36 years of service i.e. 16 years of service prior to removal and 20 years of service after his reinstatement in the light of interim protection granted by this court and was also promoted to the post of head constable in the year 2016 thus, excluding 4 years when petitioner was out of service the petitioner has completed 36 years of service and reached the age of superannuation and is receiving the provisional pension.

61. It is trite law that the Court or Tribunal cannot interfere with the discretion of punishing authority in imposing particular penalty but this rule has an exception, if the penalty is grossly disproportionate and does not commensurate with the misconduct committed then the Court can interfere as held in the case of Alexandar Pal Singh Vs. Divisional Operating Superintendent reported in 1987 (ATC) 922 Supreme Court.

G. CONCLUSION

62. This court is mindful that writ petitioner has reached the age of superannuation and has served the department for 36 years and was promoted in interregnum and at present is drawing provisional pension, thus in view of aforesaid admitted factual position the order of removal from service is disapproved in the facts of this case and the matter is relegated back for fresh decision as no reply in relation to quantum of punishment could be received despite the mandate contained in Rule 14(2) of 1991 Rules.

63. Accordingly, the impugned orders are set-aside and the disciplinary authority is directed to consider imposition of any other punishment, except dismissal or removal from service and pass necessary order in this regard including fresh order in relation to salary for the period of unauthorized absence after putting the petitioner under notice qua the quantum of punishment proposed having removal order been set-aside.

64. The fresh order in pursuance to remand by this court would be passed by the competent authority within a month after receipt of certified copy of this order and all the consequent post retiral dues shall be recalculated and be released within next one month.

65. Accordingly, the writ petition is partly allowed in above said terms.

66. The cost is made easy.

U.P. Co-Operative Federation Ltd. & Ors. ...Respondents

Issue for Consideration

(1) Permissibility of awarding two punishment under Reg. 84 of the U.P. Co-operative Societies Employees Service Regulations, 1975.

Headnotes

(A) Service law – Disciplinary proceeding – Award of two punishments – Reduction in rank as well as recovery of amount to compensate the pecuniary loss – Permissibility. (E-1)

Held : Regulation 84 of the Regulations 1975 provides regarding the penalties, i.e., the recovery from pay or security deposit to compensate pecuniary loss caused to the cooperative society provided in clause (d) of the Regulation 84(i), and reduction in rank has been provided in clause (e) of the Regulation 84(i). From the bare reading of the aforesaid provisions, it is apparent that out of the penalties in clauses (d) and (e) of Regulation 84 (i), only one punishment can be awarded – The impugned order dated 15.1.2024 reveals that two punishments are awarded- first one is of recovery of amount provided therein as compensation for causing loss to the Co-operative Society and secondly, the reduction in rank, which is impermissible as per the provisions of Regulation 84 of the Regulations 1975, as well as the law laid down by the Full Bench of this Court. Case Arising From Impugned order dated 15.01.2024 passed by the disciplinary authority.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for the Appellant : Shishir Chandra.

Advs. for the Respondents : Shireesh Kumar.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shree Prakash Singh, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Shishir Chandra, learned counsel for the petitioner and Mr. Shireesh Kumar, learned for the respondents.

2. The present petition has been preferred challenging the impugned order dated 15.1.2024 passed by the Managing Director of the respondent Federation, whereby an amount of Rs.73,06,857.03 has been shown to be recovered to compensate the loss to the Federation, as well as he was also awarded another punishment of reduction in rank.

3. The contention of the learned counsel for the petitioner is that the petitioner, who was working as a Store In-charge in the respondent Department, was placed under suspension in the year 2021, and thereafter, an inquiry officer was appointed, who served the charge sheet with a delay of 7 months, on 23rd April 2022. Further submission is that the petitioner filed reply to the charge sheet, and since the inquiry officer did not proceed, he filed Writ-A No.6848 of 2022, challenging the suspension order and further prayed for reinstatement with all consequential benefits. He added that subsequently, the inquiry officer submitted the inquiry report, and thereafter, the disciplinary authority passed the order impugned dated 15.1.2024.

4. It is argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that the disciplinary authority, while passing the order dated 15.1.2024, has awarded two punishments; one for recovery of certain amount as to compensate the pecuniary loss stated to have caused to the Federation and secondly reduction in rank. He added that Regulation 84 of the U.P. Co-operative Societies Employees Service Regulations, 1975 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Regulation 1975') provides the various penalties.

5. Regulation 84 of the Regulations, 1975 is extracted as under:-

"84. Penalties. (i) Without prejudice to the provisions contained in any other regulation, an employee who commits a breach of duty enjoined upon him or has been convicted for criminal offence or an offence under section 103 of the Act or does anything prohibited by these regulations shall be liable to be punished by any one of the following penalties: -

- (a) censure,*
- (b) with holding of increment.*
- (c) fine on an employee of Category IV (peon, chaukidar, etc.).*
- (d) recovery from pay or security deposit to compensate in whole or in part for any pecuniary loss caused to the co-operative society by the employee's conduct,*
- (e) reduction in rank or grades held substantively by the employee.*
- (f) removal from service, or*
- (g) dismissal from service.*

(ii) Copy of order of the punishment shall invariably be given to the employee concerned and entry to this effect shall be made in the service record of the employee.

(iii) No penalty except censure shall be imposed unless a show cause notice has been given to the employee and he has either failed to reply within the specified time or his reply has been found to be unsatisfactory by the punishing authority.

(iv)(a) The charge-sheeted employee shall be awarded punishment by the appropriate authority according to the seriousness of the offence:

Provided that no penalty under sub-clause (e), (f) or (g) of clause (i) shall be imposed without recourse to disciplinary proceedings.

(b) No employee shall be removed or dismissed by an authority other than by which he was appointed unless the appointing authority has made prior delegation of such authority to such other person or authority in writing.

(v) The appointing authority or person authorised by him while passing orders for stoppage of increments shall state the period for which it is stopped and whether it shall have effect of postponing future increments or promotion."

6. Referring the aforesaid provisions, he submitted that Regulation 84(i)(d) of the Regulations, 1975 provides the recovery from pay or security deposit to compensate in whole or in part for any pecuniary loss caused to the co-operative society by the employee's conduct and further Regulation 84(i)(e) is with respect to the penalty of reduction in rank or grade. The order impugned is evident that both penalties have been awarded.

7. He also submitted that this matter travelled upto the Full bench wherein the reference has been decided as follows:-

"42. We, therefore, answer the questions referred to us as under: (1) Since evident contradiction in the language of Regulation 84 of Regulations, 1975 and Rule 83 of Rules, 1980, the aforesaid provisions cannot be harmonized, hence Regulation 84 of Regulations, 1975 shall prevail over Rule 83 of Rules, 1980 and only one of the punishments prescribed can be imposed as specifically stated in Regulation 84 of Regulations, 1975. (2) The Division Bench judgment in Virendra Kumar Gupta's case (supra) lays down correct law and otherwise view expressed by learned Single Judge in Satya Narain Mishra's case (supra) as also expressed in the Reference order is not correct position of law.

Since, as per Regulation 84 of 'Service Regulations of 1975 only one punishment can be awarded and in the instant case, petitioner has been awarded more than one punishment vide impugned order dated 15.01.2024 passed by the respondent No.2 in view of Rule-83 (1) of 'Service Rules of 1980', hence in view of aforesaid settled law, punishment order dated 15.01.2024 is not tenable & illegal."

8. He argued that while answering the question, the Full Bench had also held that two punishments cannot be awarded, as Regulation 84 of the Regulations 1975 provides for awarding only one punishment. He pointed out that from the order impugned itself, it is apparent that two punishments have been awarded; first one is recovery of the amount to compensate the loss and the second one is of reduction in rank, which not only goes against the provision of Regulation 84 of the Regulation 1975 but also against the settled proposition of law by the Full Bench of this Court. Therefore, the submission is that the order impugned, is liable to be quashed.

9. Per contra, Mr. Shireesh Kumar, learned counsel appearing for the respondent Federation, has opposed the contention aforesaid and submitted that only one punishment has been awarded, i.e., reduction in rank. He has drawn attention towards the third paragraph at page 34 of the paper book and submitted that the recovery of the amount mentioned in the impugned order dated 15.1.2024 is not, in fact, a punishment as defined in the penalty under Regulation 84 but merely the amount, which has been computed for recovery against the petitioner for adjustment of the loss occurred to the Federation. Therefore, submission is that no interference is warranted in the order dated 15.1.2024.

10. Upon considering the submissions of the learned counsel for the parties, it is apparent that vide the order dated 15.1.2024, the disciplinary authority, i.e., the Managing Director of the Federation has passed the order for recovery of amount to the tune of Rs.73,06,857.03 and further another punishment has been awarded, i.e., reduction in rank.

11. The operative portion of the impugned order reads as under:-

"अतः एतद् द्वारा उपरोक्त प्रकरण में संघ को हुयी कुल वित्तीय क्षति 73,06,857.03 (रुपये तिहत्तर लाख छः हजार आठ सौ सत्तावन रुपये तीन पैसा) की क्षतिपूर्ति श्री रमेश चन्द्र से किये जाने के आदेश के साथ उपरोक्त कृत्य/अनिमियतता हेतु श्री रमेश चन्द्र को सहायक / भण्डारनायक के मूल वेतन पर प्रत्यावर्तित किये जाने के दण्ड के साथ उनके विरुद्ध स्थापित अनुशासनिक कार्यवाही को समाप्त करते हुये सेवा में बहाल किया जाता है।

श्री रमेश चन्द्र को जिला जिला कार्यालय, ललितपुर में तैनात किया जाता है।"

12. While this Court examines the impugned order in facts and law, it is apparent that Regulation 84 of the Regulations 1975 provides regarding the penalties, i.e., the recovery from pay or security deposit to compensate pecuniary loss caused to the cooperative society provided in clause (d) of the Regulation 84(i), and reduction in rank has been provided in clause (e) of the Regulation 84(i). From the bare reading of the aforesaid provisions, it is apparent that out of the penalties in clauses (d) and (e) of Regulation 84 (i), only one punishment can be awarded.

13. This Court has also noticed that the reference made to the Full Bench has also been answered, clarifying the contradiction in the language of Regulation 84 of Regulations 1975 wherein it has been held that, as per Regulation 84 of the Regulations 1975, only one punishment can be awarded.

14. The impugned order dated 15.1.2024 reveals that two punishments are awarded- first one is of recovery of amount provided therein as compensation for causing loss to the Co-operative Society and secondly, the reduction in rank, which is impermissible as per the provisions of Regulation 84 of the Regulations 1975, as well as the law laid down by the Full Bench of this Court.

15. After the aforesaid observations, learned counsel for the respondents submits that the matter may be relegated to respondent no.2 to pass a fresh order, to which the learned counsel for the petitioner has no objection.

16. In view of the aforesaid, the order impugned dated 15.1.2024 is hereby quashed.

17. The matter is relegated back to the respondent no.2, Managing Director of the Federation to pass a fresh order, on the inquiry report submitted by the inquiry officer, within a period of six weeks from the date a certified copy of this order is produced before him, after affording opportunity of hearing to the petitioner.

18. With the aforesaid observations, the present writ petition is hereby allowed.

Writ B No. 1159 of 1982

Mohd. Haneef & Ors.

...Petitioner

Versus

D.D.C. Sultanpur

...Respondent

Issue(s) for consideration

(i) Whether the consolidation authorities have power to ignore the sale deed which was not challenged or objected by its executor?

(ii) Whether the sale deed executed earlier but registered subsequently to registration of second sale deed of the same property will be valid?

Headnotes

A. Land Reform Law – U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953: Section 9; India's Registration Act, 1908: Section 47; Transfer of Property Act, 1882: Section 54 – Till any sale deed is registered, mere execution thereof has no value and no right would be transferred. (Para 12)

Any sale deed would be effective only after its registration, therefore, if a sale deed is executed regarding a land without registration then if second sale deed is executed and also registered then the title regarding immovable property will pass through the second sale deed. Therefore, the earlier unregistered sale deed would be void even though same is registered subsequently to registration of the second sale deed because on the date of registration of a sale deed, title was already transferred regarding the property by a sale deed, though, executed subsequently but registered prior to the registration of the earlier sale deed as the document regarding transfer of property having value more than one hundred will not have any effect unless it is registered. (Para 14, 24)

B. Jurisdiction of consolidation authority - The consolidation authorities had no jurisdiction to cancel or ignore a voidable document because in such cases, civil court is only a proper forum to determine the validity of document or sale deed. However, if a sale deed or any document is void then the consolidation authorities have jurisdiction to disregard the same while determining the title to the land. (Para 16)

If the sale deed is void that does not require any adjudication to decide its validity then same can be ignored by the consolidation authorities but if a sale deed is voidable on the ground that it was obtained by fraud or misrepresentation then such sale deed cannot be ignored by the consolidation authorities till the civil court decides its validity at the instance of person defrauded. (Para 19, 24)

Therefore, the sale deed dated 09.06.1969 regarding Khata No.237 executed by Smt. Amina in favour of Abid Ali which was registered on 11.06.1969 will be a valid sale deed and prevail over the sale deed executed by Smt. Amina regarding Khata No.237 on 25.04.1969 but registered on 18.06.1969. Similarly, sale deed executed by Bachchu regarding Khata No.236 on 25.04.1969 and registered on 10.06.1969 will prevail over the sale deed dated 09.06.1969 of respondents and registered on 11.06.1969. (Para 25)

Matter is remanded back to Consolidation Officer to pass fresh order regarding mutation of the parties. Writ petition partly allowed. (E-4)

For Petitioner(s): M.A.Khan, Mohammad Aslam Khan, Mohiuddin Khan

For Respondent(s): R.K.Sinha, C.S.C, Ravindra Kumar Sinha

(Delivered by Hon'ble Arun Kumar Singh Deshwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri M.A. Khan, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Sadab Khan, learned counsel for the petitioners, Sri Ravindra Kumar Sinha, learned counsel for the respondents and Sri Badrish Tripathi, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for the State.

2. Present petition has been filed for the following relief :

"A. That by a writ of certiorari the order dated 27.1.1982 Annexure No. 7 passed by opposite-party no.1 the order dated 14.4.1980 Annexure No. 6 passed by opposite party no. 2 and the order dated 17.1.1969 passed by opposite party no.3 may kindly be quashed."

3. Facts giving rise to the present controversy is that an application was filed by Mohd. Haneef before the Consolidation Officer u/s 9 of U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 seeking mutation of his name in Khata Nos.236 and 237 on the basis of two sale deeds, one was executed on 25.04.1969 by Bachchu regarding Khata No.236 which was registered on 10.06.1969 and second sale deed which was also executed on 25.04.1969 by Smt. Amina regarding Khata No.237 and same was registered on 18.06.1969. Another application was filed by the respondent-Abid Ali to mutate his name on the basis of two sale deeds, one was executed by Bachchu regarding Khata No.236 on 09.06.1969 which was also registered on 11.06.1969 and another sale deed executed by Smt. Amina on 09.06.1969 which was registered on 11.06.1969 regarding Khata No.237. The Consolidation Officer after hearing the case, observed that the thumb impression on the sale deed executed in favour of Mohd. Haneef appears to be vague. Therefore, he ignored the sale deed executed in favour of Mohd. Haneef on 25.04.1969 and directed to record the name of Abid Ali on the basis of two sale deeds both executed on 09.01.1969 but registered on 11.06.1969 regarding Khata Nos.236 and 237. The order of the Consolidation Officer was challenged by Mohd. Haneef before the Settlement Officer of Consolidation in appeal but the appeal was dismissed, thereafter, revision was filed before the Deputy Director of Consolidation. The Deputy Director of Consolidation also confirmed the finding of the Consolidation Officer as well as Settlement Officer Consolidation and dismissed the revision filed by Mohd. Haneef. Therefore, present writ petition has been filed challenging all the three above orders.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioners has submitted that the sale deed executed in his favour by the tenure holder of the land in question namely, Bachchu and Smt. Amina were earlier to the sale deed executed by Bachchu and Smt. Amina in favour of the private respondent, Abid Ali. It is further submitted that though the sale deed regarding Khata No.237 was registered on 18.06.1969 and the sale deed regarding Khata No.236 was registered on 10.06.1969 but in view of Section 47 of the India's Registration Act, 1908 (in short 'the Act, 1908'), the registration of sale deed relates back to the date of execution, therefore, the sale deeds executed in favour of the petitioners will deem to have transferred the right in his favour on 25.04.1969 and merely because subsequent sale deed dated 09.06.1969 regarding Khata No.237 executed in favour of respondent-Abid Ali registered prior to the registration of the sale deed of the petitioners will not have any effect, as moment the sale deed of the petitioners was registered on 18.06.1969, it will relate back to the date of execution i.e. 25.04.1969. It is also submitted by learned counsel for the petitioners that the consolidation authorities merely on the basis of report of a hand writing expert declared the valid sale deed in favour of the petitioners as void, though, the consolidation authority has no right to cancel the sale deed. In support of his contention, learned counsel for the petitioners has relied upon the judgements of the Apex Court in the case of Kanwar Raj Singh (D) Through Legal Representatives Vs. GEJO (D) THROUGH LEGAL REPRESENTATIVES AND OTHERS reported in (2024) 2 SCC 416 and Hamda Ammal Vs Avadiappa Pathar and 3 Others reported in (1991) 1 SCC 715 and judgements of this Court in Salik Ram And Others Vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation, Shravasti And Others reported in 2025 (1) ADJ 290 (LB), Mithilesh and others Vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation and Others reported in 2017 (139) RD 488 and Matlub and others Vs. State of U.P. and others reported in 2017 (139) RD 491 and judgements of Punjab and Haryana High Court in the cases of Milkha Singh and Another Vs. Tara Singh and others reported in AIR 1973 Punjab and Haryana 445 (V 60 C 125).

5. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondents has submitted that even though the sale deed regarding Khata Nos. 236 and 237 had been executed in their favour subsequent to the date of execution to the petitioners but the sale deed dated 09.01.1969 of respondents regarding Khata No.237 was registered on 11.06.1969. On that date, the sale deed dated 09.06.1969 regarding Khata No.237 has become absolute and the title has been transferred in favour of the respondents, even though an unregistered sale deed was executed on 25.04.1969 in favour of the petitioners but that does not transfer any title to petitioners in view of Section 54 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 (in short 'the Act, 1882') and merely because earlier registered sale deed dated 25.04.1969 regarding Khata No.237 has been subsequently registered on 18.06.1969 will not pass any title as the same has already been transferred in favour of the respondents on 09.06.1969 in view of registration of sale deed on 11.06.1969. It is further submitted by learned counsel for the respondents that the consolidation authorities ignored the sale deeds of petitioners being forged and in the present case also, there is concurrent finding that as per the report of hand writing expert, thumb impression of the vendor Bachchu was not found to be genuine, therefore, consolidation authority has rightly ignored the sale deed executed in favour of the petitioners. In support of his contention, learned counsel for the respondents has relied upon the judgement of this Court in Jokhu Vs. Deputy Director, Consolidation, Pratapgarh and Others reported in 2018 (36) LCD 453; Ram Padarath And Others Vs. Ind Addl. Distt. Judge, Sultanpur and others in Writ Petition No.1732 of 1982 and others; and the Apex Court in the cases of Ghanshyam Sarda Vs. Sashikant Jha, Director, M/s J.K. Jute Mills Company Limited And Others, reported in (2017) 1 SCC 599; Jaspal Singh Vs. State of Punjab reported in AIR 1979 Supreme Court 1708; Asiatic Steam Navigation Co. Ltd. Vs. Sub-Lt, Arabinda Chakravarti reported in AIR 1959 Supreme Court 597 (V 46 C 83) and; Kanwar Raj Singh (D) TH LRS Vs. GEJO (D) TH LRS & ORS reported in 2024 LawSuit (SC) 1.

6. After hearing the submission of learned counsel for the parties and on perusal of record, following questions arise for determination :

(i) Whether the consolidation authorities have power to ignore the sale deed which was not challenged or objected by its executor?

(ii) Whether the sale deed executed earlier but registered subsequently to registration of second sale deed of the same property will be valid?

7. Law regarding registration of sale deed has been prescribed u/s 54 of the Act, 1882, which is being quoted as under:

"54. "Sale" defined.-"Sale" is a transfer of ownership in exchange for a price paid or promised or part-paid and part-promised.

Sale how made.-

Such transfer, in the case of tangible immovable property of the value of one hundred rupees and upwards, or in the case of a reversion or other intangible thing, can be made only by a registered instrument.

In the case of tangible immovable property of a value less than one hundred rupees, such transfer may be made either by a registered instrument or by delivery of the property.

Delivery of tangible immovable property takes place when the seller places the buyer, or such person as he directs, in possession of the property.

Contract for sale.- A contract for the sale of immovable property is a contract that a sale of such property shall take place on terms settled between the parties.

It does not, of itself, create any interest in or charge on such property."

8. From perusal of the Section 54 of the Act, 1882, it is clear that the transfer in case of tangible immovable property of value one hundred and upward can be made only by registered instrument. Therefore, an immovable property will not be effected unless the instrument of transferring is registered. Therefore, even if a sale deed is executed regarding immovable property but it is not registered then this document will not have any effect as this will not pass any title to the vendee. However, Section 47 of the Act, 1908 provides that effective date of operation of a registered sale deed would be date of its execution not the date of registration. Therefore, till any sale deed of immovable property is registered, it will not have any effect and as soon as it is registered then the effective date of transfer of title would be the date of execution of sale deed. Section 47 of the Act, 1908 is being quoted as under :

"47. Time from which registered document operates.-A registered document shall operate from the time which it would have commenced to operate if no registration thereof had been required or made, and not from the time of its registration."

9. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Kanwar Raj Singh (supra) has observed that if a unilateral interpolation is made in the sale deed after its execution but before its registration then the original sale deed will be effected from the date of its execution. Paragraph nos.8, 9 and 11 of the said judgement are being quoted as under:

"8. The Constitution Bench held that Section 47 of the Registration Act does not deal with the issue when the sale is complete. The Constitution Bench held that Section 47 applies to a document only after it has been registered, and it has nothing to do with the completion of the sale when the instrument is one of sale. It was also held that once a document is registered, it will operate from an earlier date, as provided in Section 47 of the Registration Act.

9. Section 54 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1984 (the Transfer of Property Act) reads thus:

"54. "Sale" defined.- "Sale" is a transfer of ownership in exchange for a price paid or promised or part-paid and part-promised.*

Sale how made.- Such transfer, in the case of tangible immoveable property of the value of one hundred rupees and upwards, or in the case of a reversion or other Intangible thing, can be made only by a registered instrument. In the case of tangible immoveable property of a value less than one hundred rupees, such transfer may be made either by a registered Instrument or by delivery of the property.*

Delivery of tangible Immoveable property takes place when the seller places the buyer, or such person as he directs, in possession of the property.

Contract for sale.- A contract for the sale of immoveable property is a contract that a sale of such/property/shall take place on terms settled between the parties.*

It does not, of itself, create any interest in or charge on such property."

11. Now, coming to the facts of this case, the consideration was entirely paid on the date of the execution of the sale deed. The sale deed was registered with the interpolation made about the description/area of the property sold. The first defendant admittedly made the said Interpolation after it was executed but before it was registered. In terms of Section 47 of the Registration Act, a registered sale deed where entire consideration is paid would operate from the date of the date of its execution. Thus, the sale deed as originally executed will operate. The corrections unilaterally made by the first defendant after the execution of the sale deed without the knowledge and consent of the purchaser will have to be ignored. Only if such changes would have been made with the consent of the original plaintiff, the same could relate back to the date of the execution. It is not even the first defendant's case that the subsequent correction or interpolation was made before its registration with the consent of the original plaintiff. Therefore, in this case, what will operate is the sale deed as it existed when it was executed."

10. Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Hamda Ammal (supra), has observed that in view of Section 47 of the Act, 1908 as soon as the sale deed is registered then it will relate back to the date of execution of the sale deed. Therefore, if any attachment is made after the execution of sale deed but prior to its registration then as soon as the sale deed is registered, it will be effected from the date of execution of sale deed and attachment will not have any effect. Paragraph nos.4, 5 and 6 of the said judgement are being quoted as under:

"4. Section 54 of the Act defines sale as "a transfer of ownership in exchange for a price paid or promised or part-paid and part-promised". Thus after the execution of the sale deed with consideration all the ingredients of sale are fulfilled except that in case of tangible immovable property of the value of Rs 100 and upwards it can be made only by registered instrument. Now, if we read Section 47 of the Registration Act, it clearly provides that a registered document shall operate from the time from which it would have commenced to operate if no registration thereof had been required or made and not from the time of its registration. This provision makes it clear that after the registration it will relate back to the date of execution of the sale deed. The act of registration is to be performed by the registering authority. According to Section 23 of the Registration Act a document of the nature of sale deed shall be accepted for registration within four months from the date of its execution. Thus a statutory period of four months has been provided for presenting the sale deed for registration from the date of its execution. In case of dispute regarding the execution of the document an enquiry is permitted under Section 74(a) of the Registration Act and that may also take some time. The legislature being alive to such situations has already provided in Section 47 of the Registration Act that it shall operate from the time from which it would commence to operate if no registration thereof had been required or made and not from the time of its registration. Thus in our view the vendee gets rights which will be related back on registration from the date of the execution of the sale deed and such rights are protected under Order XXXVIII Rule 10 CPC read together with Section 47 of the Registration Act.

5. We cannot accept the contention of learned counsel for the respondent that till registration, the execution of the sale deed does not confer any rights whatsoever on the vendee. Even Section 49 of the Registration Act in its proviso inserted by Section 10 of the Transfer of Property (Amendment) Supplementary Act, 1929, negatives the above contention of the learned counsel. The above provision lays down that an unregistered document affecting immovable property and required by this Act or by the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, to be registered may be received as evidence of a contract in a suit for specific performance under Chapter II of the Specific Relief Act, 1877, or as an evidence of part performance of a contract for the purposes of Section 53-A of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, or as evidence of any collateral transaction not required to be effected by registered instrument. Thus even an unregistered document can be received as evidence for purposes mentioned in the proviso to Section 49 of the Registration Act.

6. Learned counsel for the respondents also made the submission that even if the sale deed which is executed earlier to attachment before judgment and registered subsequently may be binding on the vendors but it would not affect the rights of such respondent who is a third party, in the sense that he was not a party to the sale deed and he got the right in the property in a court sale having taken place after the passing of final decree in the money suit filed by Avadiappa. In other words the contention is that respondent 5 Shri M.S.A. Kadar got rights in the property in the court sale made in his favour after the decree passed in favour of Avadiappa in the money suit filed on September 13, 1970. We do not find any force at all in the above submission. The property in question admittedly belonged to the defendant-judgment debtors (vendors) and once it is held that a sale deed had already been executed by them in favour of Hamda Ammal on September 9, 1970 and only its registration remained, then neither the attachment before judgment nor a subsequent attachment or court sale in favour of respondent 5 can confer any title in his favour by preventing the relation back. The fact that the document of sale had not been registered until after the attachment makes no difference."

11. The Division Bench of Punjab and Haryana High Court in the case of Milkha Singh (supra) has also observed that title in property passes from the date of execution of sale deed and not from the date of registration. Paragraph nos.13 and 14 of the said judgement are being quoted as under :

"13. Before I come to the authorities mentioned above. I may state that in Punjab when immovable property of the value of Rs. 100/- and upwards is sold, the sale-deed has to be registered. There is no quarrel About the proposition that such a sale-deed will be complete only when it is registered. It is undisputed that the registration will be complete only when the sale-deed is copied out in the records of the Registration Office as provided in Section 61 of the Registration Act. But the title in the property on registration will, however, pass to the vendees from the date when the said deed was executed. This is by virtue of the provisions of Section 47 of the Registration Act, which lay down:

"A registered document shall operate from the time from which it would have commenced to operate if no registration thereof had been required or made, and not from the time of its registration."

14. A bare reading of this provision will show that the registered document will operate from the time from which it would have commenced to operate, if no registration thereof was required by law and not from the time of its registration. Admitted-this document, as I have already said, was executed on 28th October, 1960. If under the law, it was not required to be registered, it would have operated from the time it was executed. But it had to be registered under the law and, therefore, under the pro-visions of Section 47 of the Registration Act, it would operate on the date when it was exe-cuted, but that would happen only if it was subsequently registered. If it was not registered, no title in the property would pass to the vendees under it. However, the moment It was registered the title in the property would pass to the transferees from the date f its execution."

12. The Apex Court in the case of Ghanshyam Sarda (supra) has observed that in view of section 54 of the Act, 1882 any tangible immovable property will become effective only after registration of instrument but effective date would be from the date of its execution not from the date of registration. Therefore, till any sale deed is registered, mere execution thereof has no value and no right would be transferred. Paragraph nos.18 and 19 of the said judgement are being quoted as under:

"18. The order of 8-5-2014 [Ghanshyam Sarda v. Shiv Shankar Trading Co., (2015) 1 SCC 298, 316 (footnote 14)] had directed that "? capital assets of the Company shall not be disposed of without taking permission of this Court". The expression "shall not be disposed" in the context connotes action or process of sale of assets. Going by Section 54 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, transfer of any tangible immovable property of the value of Rupees hundred and upwards can be made only by a registered instrument. The expression "only" in the section is significant. The transfer comes into effect and becomes valid and effective only by a registered instrument. It is true that the document was sought to be registered in April 2013 but the registration in question was duly effected only on 2-7-2014. In the eye of the law, it is this document registered on 2-7-2014 which alone effectuates transfer of interest in Katihar property in favour of the transferee. The transfer was thus effected on 2-7-2014 i.e. well after the order of 8-5-2014. In Suraj Lamp & Industries (P) Ltd. (2) v. State of Haryana [Suraj Lamp & Industries (P)

Ltd. (2) v. State of Haryana, (2012) 1 SCC 656 : (2012) 1 SCC (Civ) 351], this Court had observed as under : (SCC p. 666, para 19)

"19. Any contract of sale (agreement to sell) which is not a registered deed of conveyance (deed of sale) would fall short of the requirements of Sections 54 and 55 of the TP Act and will not confer any title nor transfer any interest in an immovable property (except to the limited right granted under Section 53-A of the TP Act). According to the TP Act, an agreement of sale, whether with possession or without possession, is not a conveyance. Section 54 of the TP Act enacts that sale of immovable property can be made only by a registered instrument and an agreement of sale does not create any interest or charge on its subject-matter.

" 19. The document dated 4-4-2013 did not by itself create any interest nor did the title pass upon execution of such document on 4-4-2013 but it was only after the registration on 2-7-2014 that the title in Katihar property passed from the Company in favour of the transferee. The submission of the contemnors however, is that by virtue of Section 47 of the Registration Act, the document in question would operate from 4-4-2013. In our view, the principle embodied in Section 47 of the Registration Act is completely for different purposes. Insofar as the issue of transfer is concerned, Section 54 of the Transfer of Property Act is the governing principle, which is quite clear. It is the date of registration of document which is crucial inasmuch as the transfer is effected and the title passes only upon registration. Viewed thus, it is clear that Katihar property was transferred in the teeth of the order of 8-5-2014 [Ghanshyam Sarda v. Shiv Shankar Trading Co., (2015) 1 SCC 298, 316 (footnote 14)] and ex facie there has been violation of the order passed by this Court. It is crucial to note that on 8-5-2014 [Ghanshyam Sarda v. Shiv Shankar Trading Co., (2015) 1 SCC 298, 316 (footnote 14)] , the Company had appeared on caveat before this Court and certainly had express knowledge about the order of 8-5-2014 [Ghanshyam Sarda v. Shiv Shankar Trading Co., (2015) 1 SCC 298, 316 (footnote 14)] . It was party to the proceedings and was bound by the order passed by this Court in every respect."

13. In the case of Mithlesh (supra), the Single Judge of Allahabad High Court has observed that after execution of the sale deed of a land executant lost his title over the land in question and any subsequent sale deed though registered regarding the same land is void.

14. From the perusal of the above discussion, it is clear that any sale deed would be effective only after its registration, therefore, if a sale deed is executed regarding a land without registration then if second sale deed is executed and also registered then the title regarding immovable property will pass through the second sale deed. Therefore, the earlier unregistered sale deed would be void even though same is registered subsequently to registration of the second sale deed because on the date of registration of a sale deed, title was already transferred regarding the property by a sale deed, though, executed subsequently but registered prior to the registration of the earlier sale deed as the document regarding transfer of property having value more than one hundred will not have any effect unless it is registered.

15. So far as the question regarding jurisdiction of consolidation authority to ignore or cancel the sale deed is concerned, the law is summarized as follows.

16. The Full Bench of Allahabad High Court in the case of Ram Nath Vs. Munna reported in 1976 RD 220, has observed that the consolidation authorities had no jurisdiction to cancel or ignore avoidable document because in such cases, civil court is only a proper forum to determine the validity of document or sale deed. However, if a sale deed or any document is void then the consolidation authorities have jurisdiction to disregard the same while determining the title to the land. The relevant extract of Ram Nath case (supra) is being quoted as under:

"The Full Bench observed that the documents which are voidable can be cancelled by the Civil Court only and the consolidation authorities have no jurisdiction to ignore those documents, instead they are under a duty to give effect to these documents till they are cancelled by a competent Court of law. If a sale-deed or document of transfer is void the consolidation authorities have jurisdiction to disregard the same while determining title to the land but if the document is voidable then the consolidation authorities have no jurisdiction to disregard sale-deed in that even the Civil Court is the only proper forum to adjudicate upon the validity of the sale-deed and the consolidation authorities are bound to give effect to the sale-deed."

17. Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Ningawwa Vs. Byrappa reported in (1968) 2 SCR 797 has observed that contract or transaction induced or tainted by fraud is not void but only voidable at the option of the party defrauded, therefore, unless the civil court cancels such document, it would be binding. Paragraph no.4 of the said judgement is being quoted as under:

"4..... It is well established that a contract or other transaction induced or tainted by fraud is not void, but only void-able at the at the option of the party defrauded. Until it is avoided, the transaction is valid, so that third parties without notice of the fraud may in the meantime acquire rights and interests in the matter which they may enforce against the party defrauded. "The fact that the contract has been induced by fraud does not make the contract void or prevent the property from passing, but merely gives the party defrauded a right on discovering the fraud to elect whether he shall continue to treat the contract as binding or disaffirm the contract and resume the property. If it can be shown that 'the party defrauded' has at any time after knowledge of the fraud either by express words or by unequivocal acts affirmed the contract, 'his' election is determined for ever. The party defrauded may keep the question open so long as he does nothing to affirm the contract."

18. The Single Judge of Allahabad High Court in the case of Salik Ram And Others Vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation, Shravasti And Others reported in 2025 (1) ADJ 290 (LB) has also relied upon the judgement of the Full Bench as well as other judgements of Apex Court and observed that if there is allegation of fraud in execution of document then such document is voidable and that cannot be ignored by the consolidation authorities and only a civil court has jurisdiction to cancel such document.

19. In view of the above position, it is clear that if the sale deed is void that does not require any adjudication to decide its validity then same can be ignored by the consolidation authorities but if a sale deed is voidable on the ground that it was obtained by fraud or misrepresentation then such sale deed cannot be ignored by the consolidation authorities till the civil court decides its validity at the instance of person defrauded.

20. The Full bench of Allahabad High Court in the case of Ram Padarath (supra) has also observed that the consolidation court can ignore void document. Paragraph nos.22, 23 and 40 of the said judgement are being quoted as under:

"22. The jurisdiction of the consolidation authorities or courts is wider than that of civil or revenue court and adjudication by them is final and cannot be responded by any civil or revenue court in view of bar for the same contained in Section 49 of U. P. Consolidation of Holdings Act which even bars, the case which should have been raised before the consolidation authorities, but not raised. The decisions given under U. P. Consolidation of Holdings Act even in respect of void documents do not throw light conclusively regarding jurisdiction of civil court and revenue court with reference to Section 331 of U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act. The provisions of Section 331 of the 'Act' cannot be interpreted with reference to the provisions of or language used in U. P. Consolidation of Holdings Act. It is sound principle of interpretation that provisions of another Act are not to be taken as guide for interpreting the provisions of another Act which are not in pari materia with the former Act. The cases under U. P. Consolidation of Holdings Act regarding the jurisdiction of consolidation authorities throw great light on the question of extent or exclusiveness of the jurisdiction of revenue and civil court but they do decide or resolve this controversy fully.

23. In support of the plea that relief for cancellation of void documents is uncalled for and the revenue court cannot grant the real and substantial relief, reference to certain decided cases was made.

24. The first case cited was of Rasool Ahmad v. Beni Prasad, 1965 ALJ 70. In the said case the plaintiff's suit claiming tenancy rights and for declaration that he was hereditary tenant was dismissed upto High Court. Subsequently, he filed a suit in revenue court that he was 'occupancy tenant, which too was dismissed. Thereafter he took third innings and filed a civil suit for cancellation of lease deed executed by the Zamindar which document also figured in the revenue court. In these circumstances it was held that the suit was not cognizable by the civil court."

21. The judgement of this Court in the case of Jokhu (supra) relied upon by learned counsel for the respondents is not applicable in the present case because in that case, the sale deed was void on the ground that it was not only executed by fraudulent misrepresentation as to its character but also to its content but in the present case, there is nothing on record which could establish that fraud has been committed by the petitioners to such extent that made the sale deed void as merely observation of consolidation authorities that the thumb impression of Bachchu on the sale deed could not be matched with the thumb impression found in the register for the reason that thumb impression was blurred will not make the sale deed void but voidable at the instance of the executor Bachchu, though Bachchu as well as his wife Smt. Amina never objected the sale deed executed in favour of the petitioner, Mohd. Haneef. On the contrary, during the mutation proceeding before the Tehsildar, they admitted the fact that they have executed the sale deed in favour of Mohd. Haneef & another.

22. But so far as the judgement in the case of Jaspal Singh (supra) is concerned, in that case, the Hon'ble Apex Court has observed that the report of expert regarding thumb impression is a scientific evidence that cannot be easily ignored by the court. But in the present case, there is no specific report of the expert showing the thumb impression on the sale deed executed by Bachchu regarding Khata No.236 is forged and merely because comparable thumb impression is blurred cannot be a ground to declare a sale deed as a void document. Therefore, this judgement will also not help learned counsel for the respondents.

23. Argument of learned counsel for the respondents that Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Asiatic Steam Navigation (supra) has observed that concurrent finding of the court should not be disturbed by higher court is concerned, there is no dispute about it but if the finding itself is against the law then same can be interfered with and can be set aside.

24. From the above discussion, issues framed are decided as follows:

(i) The consolidation court can ignore void document while deciding the title dispute but it cannot decide the validity of a document which is voidable on the ground of fraud or misrepresentation and the validity of the same can be decided by the civil court;

(ii) any sale deed does not transfer any title unless it is registered and if before its registration another sale deed is executed and registered then the title is transferred on the basis of subsequent sale deed and thereafter, registration of earlier sale deed would be void as on the date of registration the executor does not have any title, same has already been passed to the vendee to subsequent sale deed immediately on registration of the same.

Conclusion:

25. Therefore the sale deed dated 09.06.1969 regarding Khata No.237 executed by Smt. Amina in favour of Abid Ali which was registered on 11.06.1969 will be a valid sale deed and prevail over the sale deed executed by Smt. Amina regarding Khata No.237 on 25.04.1969 but registered on 18.06.1969. Similarly, sale deed executed by Bachchu regarding Khata No.236 on 25.04.1969 and registered on 10.06.1969 will prevail over the sale deed dated 09.06.1969 of respondents and registered on 11.06.1969.

26. In view of the above, present petition is partly allowed and impugned judgement of Deputy Director of Consolidation, Mustafabad, Sarriya, Sultanpur and Consolidation Officer, Mustafabad, Sarriya, Sultanpur are hereby set aside, so far as their finding regarding sale deed dated 25.04.1969 of petitioners regarding Khata No.236 registered on 10.06.1969 as well as sale deed dated 09.06.1969 registered on 11.06.1969 executed in favour of Abid Ali. As the sale deed executed in favour of Abid Ali by Smt. Amina was registered subsequent to the registration of sale deed dated 25.04.1969 in favour of Mohd. Haneef and another, hence will not pass any title as same has already been transferred in favour of Mohd. Haneef.

27. Matter is remanded back to the Consolidation Officer to pass fresh order regarding mutation of the parties regarding Khata No.236 in the light of the observation made hereinabove.

...Respondents

Issue(s) for consideration

(a) Whether Deputy Director of Consolidation can change the allotment made by Settlement Officer of Consolidation after being in operation for more than a decade, without affording proper opportunity of hearing to the petitioner?

(b) Whether after a long period, further remand to the Deputy Director of Consolidation to decide the chak revision afresh against the allotment made by Settlement Officer of Consolidation in the year 2008, is in the interest of justice?

Headnotes

A. Service Law – U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953: Section 9-A(2), 19, 48 - It is material to mention that u/s 19 of U.P.C.H. Act, it has been provided that as far as possible tenure holder should be allotted chak on their original plot, as such it is not necessary that each and every tenure holder should be allotted every chak on their original plots. In the instant matter the allotment which was made by Settlement Officer of Consolidation about 16 years ago that remained in operation for about 16 years as such the further change made by Deputy Director of Consolidation after 16 years is not in the interest of justice. (Para 10)

In chak appeal filed by petitioner, petitioner was adjusted on plot No.15M, 16M, 17M and respondent No.5 was adjusted on plot No.288, 289, 233 but under the impugned revisional order passed after about more than 16 years, the petitioner has been allotted chak on plot Nos.289, 233, 288 and respondent No.5 has been allotted chak on plot No.15M, 16M and 17M. (Para 9)

B. Allotment made by Settlement Officer of Consolidation about 16 years before has been changed by the Deputy Director of Consolidation without affording proper opportunity of hearing to petitioner which is essential criteria for deciding the revision u/s 48 of U .P.C.H. Act. (Para 11)

C. After such a long period, further remand to the Deputy Director of Consolidation to decide the chak revision afresh against the allotment made by Settlement Officer of Consolidation in the year 2008, is also not in the interest of justice rather to finalize the allotment of one stage in the matter. (Para 11)

The impugned revisional order dated 15.07.2025 passed by respondent No.2/Deputy Director of Consolidation is hereby set aside. The order passed by Settlement Officer of Consolidation dated 28.05.2008 is maintained. (Para 12, 13)

For Respondent(s): C.S.C., R S Dubey, Rameshwar Prasad Shukla, Savita Dubey, Umesh Kumar Prasad

(Delivered by Hon'ble Chandra Kumar Rai, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Triveni Shanker, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Ms. Garima Jaiswal, learned counsel for the petitioner, Mr. R.S. Dubey, learned counsel for respondent no.5, Mr. Ashutosh Kumar Rai, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for the State-respondents and Mr. Rameshwar Prasad Shukla, learned counsel for respondent no.4/ Gram Panchayat.

2. Brief facts of the case are that petitioner is chak holder no.227-ba of the plots situated in Village-Shahpur, Pargana-Khareed, Tehsil-Bansdeh, District-Ballia. Original holding of the petitioner are plot No.16/2 area 0.170 hectare, 169 area 0.125 hectare, 233/1 area 0.261 hectare, 233/2 area 0.010 hectare, 286 area 0.134 hectare, 289 area 0.198 hectare total 6 plots area 0.898 hectare as mentioned in paragraph No.5 of the writ petition. Consolidation Officer under Section 9-A (2) of U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 (herein after referred to as the U.P.C.H. Act) divided share of Ram Suresh as 1/4, Ramashray, 1/4, Shiv Shankar 1/4, Rajaram 1/4. Petitioner was proposed two chaks by Assistant Consolidation Officer. First chak was proposed to petitioner on plot No.288 M, 289 M and second chak was proposed to petitioner on plot No.233 M, 233M, 233 M total 5 plots area 0.203 hectare. Against the proposal of the Assistant Consolidation Officer, chak objection was filed by respondent No.5-Rajaram, which was decided by Consolidation officer vide order dated 10.03.2008 disturbing the petitioner's chak. Against the order of Consolidation Officer dated 10.3.2008, petitioner filed an appeal under Section 21 (2) of the U.P.C.H. Act before Settlement Officer of Consolidation stating that he should be allotted chak at plot No.386 and 389. Settlement Officer of Consolidation vide order dated 28.5.2008 allowed the appeal filed by petitioner and allotted chak to petitioner on plot No.15M, 16M, 17 M and respondent No.5-Rajaram was allotted chak on plot No.288 M, 289, 233M. Against the appellate order dated 28.5.2008, respondent No.5-Rajaram filed chak revision claiming the allotment of chak on his original plot no.16/2 area 0.42 decimal. The aforementioned chak revision filed by respondent No.5-Rajaram, remained pending for about 16 years. During pendency of the aforementioned chak revision, Ram Suresh has expired and legal heirs of deceased Ram Suresh have also expired as well as certain other person in the revision have also expired, but no substitution application has been filed in the pending chak revision. Deputy Director of Consolidation vide order dated 15.7.2025 allowed the revision and disturbed the petitioner's chak by taking out the plot No.15M, 16M and 17 M from the chak of the petitioner and allotted the same to the respondent No.5-Rajaram. Hence this writ petition for the following relief:-

"(a) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned order dated 15.7.2025 (Annexure No.1) passed by Deputy Director of Consolidation, Ballia."

3. This Court entertained the matter on 17.10.2025 and stayed the effect and operation of the impugned revisional order dated 15.7.2025. The order dated 17.10.2025 runs as under:-

"1. Counsel for the petitioner is permitted to make necessary corrections in the prayer clause of the writ petition during the course of the day.

2. Heard Sri Triveni Shankar, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri R.S. Dubey, learned counsel for respondent no.5, learned standing counsel for the state-respondents and Sri Rameshwar Prasad Shukla, learned counsel for the respondent-gaon sabha.

3. Counsel for the petitioner submitted that at the revisional stage, the chak of the petitioner has been disturbed without considering the comparative hardship of the petitioner in proper manner. He further submitted that proper opportunity of hearing has also not been afforded to the petitioner by the revisional court.

4. On the other hand, learned counsel for private respondent no.5 submitted that there is no illegality in the impugned order, passed by the Deputy Director of Consolidation, adjusting both the parties in proper manner. He further submitted that the matter be decided finally as under the impugned order, chak of respondent no.5 has been affected only and chak of other private respondents not been affected under the impugned order.

5. Matter requires consideration.

6. Respondent no.5 is the contesting respondent whose chak has been disturbed under the impugned order, as such, issuance of notices to the remaining private respondents shall be considered on the next date of hearing.

7. Respondent No.5 shall file counter affidavit within a week. Petitioner will file rejoinder affidavit within a week thereafter.

8. Put up this matter as fresh on 4.11.2025 at 12.00 P.M.

9. Until further orders of this Court, the effect and operation of the impugned revisional order dated 15.7.2025, passed by the Deputy Director of Consolidation, shall remain stayed as well as the parties to the writ petition shall maintain status quo with respect to nature and possession of the plot in dispute."

4. In pursuance of the order dated 17.10.2025, counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of respondent No.5 and petitioner has filed his rejoinder affidavit.

5. Notice has not been issued to other private respondents as chak of petitioner and respondent no.5 have been adjusted under the impugned orders which is very much demonstrated from the schedule prepared in support of impugned orders.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that Settlement Officer of Consolidation has rightly decided the chak appeal filed by petitioner in the year 2008. He submitted that chak revision filed by respondent No.5 in the year 2008 remained pending for more than 16 years and several purpose have expired but without substituting the legal heirs of deceased party, the Deputy Director of Consolidation has passed the impugned order. He further submitted that without affording opportunity of hearing to the petitioner, chak revision filed by respondent No.5 has been allowed disturbing the chak allotment made by appellate court in the year 2008. He further submitted that in pursuance of the allotment made by Settlement officer of Consolidation in the year 2008 respondent No.5-Rajaram had changed the nature of the land allotted to him by Settlement officer of Consolidation taking out the earth for construction of brick which has been resulted into making the plot unfit for cultivation. He submitted that in any case, the petitioner cannot be allotted the chak on plot which has been made un-cultivable by respondent No.5-Rajaram. He submitted that allotment made by Settlement Officer of Consolidation should be maintained and the impugned revisional order should be set aside.

7. On the other hand, learned counsel appearing for respondent No.5 submitted that chak appeal filed by petitioner was allowed in illegal and arbitrary manner accordingly in chak revision, the Deputy Director of Consolidation has rightly adjusted the chak to the parties as prescribed under Section 19 of U.P.C.H. Act. He further submitted that respondent No.5-Rajaram has never sold the earth as submitted by learned counsel for the petitioner. He submitted that delay has been caused in deciding the revision as consolidation proceeding was cancelled by Consolidation Commissioner vide order dated 22.12.2008, but the order of cancellation was stayed by this Court vide order dated 21.5.2009. He further submitted that respondent No.5 is original chak holder of plot No.16M as such respondent No.5 has been adjusted over the same. He submitted that there is no illegality in the impugned revisional order passed by Deputy Director of Consolidation, adjusting petitioner No.1 and respondent No.5 to their original plots as far as possible as provided under Section-19 of U.P.C.H. Act. He further submitted that no interference is required against the impugned revisional order and writ petition filed by petitioner should be dismissed.

8. I have considered the arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

9. There is no dispute about the fact that in chak appeal filed by petitioner, petitioner was adjusted on plot No.15M, 16M, 17M and respondent No.5 was adjusted on plot No.288, 289, 233 but under the impugned revisional order passed after about more than 16 years, the petitioner has been allotted chak on plot Nos.289, 233, 288 and respondent No.5 has been allotted chak on plot No.15M, 16M and 17 M.

10. It is material to mention that under Section 19 of U.P.C.H. Act, it has been provided that as far as possible tenure holder should be allotted chak on their original plot, as such it is not necessary that each and every tenure holder should be allotted every chak on their original plots. In the instant matter the allotment which was made by Settlement Officer of Consolidation about 16 years before that was remained in operation for about 16 years as such the further change made by Deputy Director of Consolidation after 16 years is not in the interest of justice.

11. It is also material to mention that argument has been advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner that respondent No.5 has made plot No.233, 288 and 289 un-cultivable although counsel for the respondent has objected the argument advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner for making the plot unfit for cultivation. but the fact remains that allotment made by Settlement Officer of Consolidation about 16 years before has been changed by the Deputy Director of Consolidation without affording proper opportunity of hearing to petitioner which is essential criteria for deciding the revision under Section 48 of U.P.C.H. Act.

11. It is also material to mention that after such a long period, further remand to the Deputy Director of Consolidation to decide the chak revision afresh against the allotment made by Settlement Officer of Consolidation in the year 2008, is also not in the interest of justice rather to finalize the allotment of one stage in the matter.

12. Considering the entire facts and circumstances of the case, the impugned revisional order dated 15.7.2025 passed by respondent No.2/Deputy Director of Consolidation is liable to be set aside and the same is hereby set aside.

13. The writ petition stands allowed and the order passed by Settlement Officer of Consolidation dated 28.5.2008 is hereby maintained.

14. No order as to costs.

Issue for consideration

Whether Deputy Director of Consolidation can exercise his jurisdiction against any order passed by the consolidation authority subordinate to him in view of the provisions contained u/s 44- A of U.P.C.H. Act. to examine in proper manner, the issue of the disputed plots being same or different in the earlier proceeding and in the subsequent proceeding?

Headnotes

A. Service Law – U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Acts 1953: Section 9-A(2), 12, 44-A; U.P. Zamindari Abolition & Land Reforms Act, 1950: Section 176 - Deputy Director of Consolidation can exercise the jurisdiction against any order passed by the consolidation authority subordinate to him in view of the provisions contained u/s 44- A of U.P.C.H. Act. Respondent no.2 /Chaina Devi has filed two restoration applications, one before Consolidation Officer and another before Deputy Director of Consolidation along with prayer for condonation of delay. The Deputy Director of Consolidation has rightly exercised the jurisdiction in setting aside the order allowing the revisions dated 03.09.2012 as well as order dated 07.11.2012 passed by Consolidation Officer, allowing the application filed u/s 12 of U.P.C.H. Act. (Para 11)

In the earlier consolidation proceeding, Chaina Devi was party but in the subsequent proceeding u/s 12 of U.P.C.H. Act, Chaina Devi was not impleaded and order for recording the name of Chhavinath (petitioner's husband) on the basis of alleged sale deed dated 08.06.2001 has been allowed which is not proper exercise of jurisdiction by consolidation authorities. (Para 10)

The Deputy Director of Consolidation/revisional court can decide the entire dispute after impleading the respondent no.2/Chaina Devi as party in both the revisions in proper manner, considering the earlier orders passed by the consolidation authorities u/s 9-A(2) of U.P.C.H. Act and Section 12 of U.P. C.H. Act. (Para 12)

No interference is required against the impugned order dated 14.03.2013.

For Petitioner(s): Mr. Shashi Kant Shukla, Senior Counsel, Mr. Abrar Ahmad Siddiqui

For Respondent(s): Mr. Ashok Kumar Singh, Mr. B.N. Pathak, Standing Counsel

(Delivered by Hon'ble Chandra Kumar Rai, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Shashi Kant Shukla learned Senior Counsel assisted by Mr. Abrar Ahamad Siddiqui, learned Counsel for petitioner, Mr. Ashok Kumar Singh learned Counsel for respondent no. 2 and Mr. B. N. Pathak learned standing counsel for state-respondents.

2. Brief facts of the case are that dispute relates to plot no. 661 situated in Village - Bithri Chainpur, Pargana, Tehasil & District - Bareilly. According to petitioner, her husband, namely, Chhavinath purchased some area of plot no. 661 from Ram Bharosey through registered sale-deed dated 8.6.2001 and respondent nos. 3 to 5 also purchased some area of plot no. 661 from Ram Bharosey through registered sale deed dated 21-12-1999. In the proceeding under Section 9- A (2) of U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Acts 1953 (hereinafter referred to as "U.P.C.H. Act") it has been held that Sohan Lal (father of Ram Bharosey) cannot be recorded over Khata No-99 Aa in view of judgment & decree dated 30.8.1982 passed by revenue court under Section 176 of UP. Zamindari Abolition & Land Reforms Act, 1950 (hereinafter referred to as "U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act"), accordingly, Consolidation Officer vide order dated 17.1.1990 expunged the name of Sohan Lal from Khata No- 99Aa and entries of Chaina Devi as well as Chuno Devi were affirmed. The order of Consolidation Officer dated 17.1.1990 was maintained in appeal by Settlement Officer of Consolidation vide order dated 23.8.1991 as well as by Deputy Director of Consolidation vide order dated 31.3.1999 so far as claim of Sohan Lal was concerned but in respect to Rahaman Shah (vendee of Smt Chaina Devi) the order of Consolidation Officer dated 17.1.1990 was partly modified. One proceeding under Section 12 of U.P.C.H Act was initiated by Chhavinath (husband of petitioner) for recording of his name on the basis of sale-deed dated 8.6.2001, alleged to be executed by Ram Bharose. The Consolidation Officer vide order dated 1.3.2005 rejected the application filed by Chhavinath under Section 12 of U.P.C.H.Act. The order of Consolidation

Officer was maintained in appeal by Settlement Officer of Consolidation vide order dated 25.5.2007 as well as in revision by Deputy Director of Consolidation vide order dated 9.1.2008. Respondent nos. 3 to 5 Ram Sewak & 2 others, vendees of Ram Bharosey on the basis of sale deed alleged to be executed on 21.12.1999, filed an application under Section 12 of U.P.C.H. Act which was allowed by Consolidation Officer vide order dated 6.4.2000 directing to record the names of Ram Sewak & 2 others in place of Ram Bharosey. Against the order of Consolidation Officer dated 6.4.2000, direct revision under Section 48 of U.P.C.H. Act was filed by Chhavinath (husband of petitioner) which was allowed vide order dated 3.9.2012, setting aside the order of Consolidation Officer to decide the proceeding under Section 12 of U.P.C.H. Act afresh. After passing of remand order dated 3.9.2012 passed by Deputy Director of Consolidation, Consolidation Officer vide order dated 7.11.2012 ordered to record the name of Chhavinath on the basis of sale deed dated 8.6.2001 as well as name of Ram Sewak & 2 others on the basis of sale deed dated 21.12.1999, alleged to be executed by Ram Bharosey. Against the order dated 7.11.2012, respondent no.2/Chaina Davi filed a restoration application before Consolidation Officer as well as before Deputy Director of Consolidation on 29.1.2013 against the order dated 3.9.2012 alongwith application under Section 5 of Indian Limitation Act. Respondent nos.3 to 5 alongwith Shanti Devi filed objection to the aforementioned time barred restoration application. Deputy Director of Consolidation vide order dated 14.3.2013 allowed the restoration application filed by respondent no.2/Chaina Devi, setting aside the orders dated 3.9.2012 & 7.11.2012 and restored the revision on its original number. Hence this writ petition for following relief:-

“Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari, quashing the impugned order dated 14.3.2013, passed by the Additional Collector (Administration) / Deputy Director of Consolidation, District Bareilly (Annexure No.11 to the writ petition).”

3. This Court entertained the matter on 17.4.2013 and stayed the further proceedings of Revision No. 346 & 347 in pursuance of the order dated 14.3.2013.

4. In pursuance of the order dated 17.4.2013 parties have exchanged their pleadings.

5. Learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner submitted that impugned order dated 14.3.2013 passed by Deputy Director of Consolidation, restoring the proceedings of revision is perverse and without jurisdiction, as such, impugned order cannot be sustained in the eye of law. He further submitted that proper objection has been filed on behalf of petitioner against the application under Section 5 of Indian Limitation Act filed in support of restoration applications filed by respondent no-2/Chaina Devi. He further submitted that earlier adjudication has taken place in respect of Khata No-99Aa but present dispute relates to Khata No-99, as such, impugned order dated 14.3.2013 cannot be sustained in the eye of law. He further submitted that two separate restoration applications were filed on behalf of respondent no-2 before Consolidation Officer & Deputy Director of Consolidation but Deputy Director of Consolidation has exceeded his jurisdiction in setting aside the order of Consolidation Officer as remedy against the order of Consolidation Officer lies in appeal. He further submitted that respondent no.2 was not party before Consolidation Officer as well as before Deputy Director of Consolidation, as such, she has no right/ locus to apply for restoration/recall before consolidation officer/ Deputy Director of Consolidation. He further submitted that respondent no.-2 has no concern with plot no. 661, as such, she has no locus to file restoration / recall against the orders passed by consolidation authorities.

6. On the other hand, learned counsel for the respondent no-2 submitted that earlier proceedings under section-9 A (2) of the U.P.C.H. Act initiated by Ram Bharosey and Section-12 of U.P.C.H. Act initiated by Chhavinath (petitioner's husband) was decided against the Ram Bhrosey as well as Chhavinath as instant proceeding under Section 12 of U.P.C.H. Act is barred by principle of res judicata. He further submitted that order recording the names of petitioner as well as respondent no 2 to 5, has been passed without impleading the respondent no 2 as party, as such, orders are illegal. He further submitted that in earlier proceeding under section-12 of U.P.C.H. Act initiated by Chhavinath (petitioner's husband) , respondent no-2 was party, as such, in the subsequent proceeding initiated under section-12 of U.P.CH. Act, order cannot be passed without impleading the respondent no-2 as party. He submitted restoration applications along with prayer for condonation of delay were properly filed before Consolidation Officer as well as Deputy Director of Consolidation. He submitted that under the impugned order dated 14.3.2013, restoration applications have been allowed restoring the proceedings of revision to their original numbers in order to decide the matter on merit after opportunity of hearing to respondent no-2 which requires no interference in exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. He submitted that Ram Bharosey had no right to execute sale-deed in respect to plots of Khata No-99Aa, as such, Chhavinath (petitioner's husband) and respondents nos.- 2 to 5 have no right & title to be recorded over plots of Khata No-99Aa as vendees of Ram Bharosey as held by consolidation authorities in the earlier proceedings under section 9A(2) of U.P CH. Act as well as under section-12 of U.P.C.H. Act.

7. I have considered the arguments advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

8. There is no dispute about the fact that in the proceeding under Section 12 of U.P.C.H. Act an order was passed by Consolidation Officer on 6.4.2000 for recording the names of respondent nos.3 to 5 in place of Ram Bharosey (husband of respondent no-6). There is also no dispute about the fact that Deputy Director of Consolidation vide order dated 3.9.2012 in the revisions filed by Chhavinath (petitioner's husband) as well as respondent no. 6 (wife of Ram Bharosey) set aside the order dated 6.4.2000 passed by Consolidation Officer and remanded the matter back before Consolidation Officer to decide the proceeding under Section 12 of U.P.C.H. Act afresh. There is also no dispute about the fact that Consolidation Officer vide order dated 7.11.2012 directed to record the name of Chhavinath (petitioner's husband) as well as respondent nos. 3 to 5 in place of Ram Bharosey. There is also no dispute about the fact that respondent no. 2 filed restoration applications before Deputy Director of Consolidation against the order dated 3.9.2012 along with prayer for condonation of delay as well as before Consolidation Officer against the order dated 7.11.2012 along with prayer for condonation of delay. There is also no dispute about the fact that Deputy Director of Consolidation vide order dated 14.3.2013 allowed the restoration applications filed by respondent no.2, setting aside the orders dated 3.9.2012 as well as 7.11.2012 and restored both the revisions on their original numbers for fresh adjudication after affording opportunity of hearing to respondent no. 2 in accordance with law.

9. In order to appreciate the controversy involved in the matter, perusal of family pedigree will be relevant which is as under:-

10. In the earlier proceeding initiated under section- 9-A(2) of the U.P.C.H. Act, it has been finally held by consolidation authorities that Sohan Lal father of Ram Bharosey cannot be recorded over khata no-99A, as such, name of Sohan Lal was expunged and names of Chaina Devi as well as Chuno Devi remained ordered to be recorded as recorded in basic year. In the earlier proceeding initiated under Section 12 of U.P.C.H. Act by Chhavinath (petitioner's husband), consolidation authorities have held that Chhavinath cannot be recorded on the basis of sale deed dated 8.6.2001, alleged to be executed by Ram Bharosey son of Sohan Lal in view of the right & title adjudicated in the proceeding under section-9- A (2) of U.P.C.H. Act. In the earlier consolidation proceeding, Chaina Devi was party but in the subsequent proceeding under Section 12 of U.P.C.H. Act, Chaina Devi was not impleaded and order for recording the name of Chhavinath (petitioner's husband) on the basis of alleged sale deed dated 8.6.2001 has been allowed which is not proper exercise of jurisdiction by consolidation authorities.

11. It is also material to mention that respondent no.2 /Chaina Devi has filed two restoration applications, one before Consolidation Officer and another before Deputy Director of Consolidation along with prayer for condonation of delay. The Deputy Director of Consolidation has rightly exercised the jurisdiction in setting aside the order allowing the revisions dated 3.9.2012 as well as order dated 7.11.2012 passed by Consolidation Officer, allowing the application filed under Section 12 of U.P.C.H. Act as Deputy Director of Consolidation can exercise the jurisdiction against any order passed by the consolidation authority subordinate to him in view of the provisions contained under Section 44- A of U.P.C.H. Act. Section 44-A of the U.P. C.H. Act will be relevant for perusal which is as under:

“44-A Powers of subordinate authority to be exercised by a superior authority: Where powers or duties are to be exercised or duties to be performed by any authority under this Act or the rules, made thereunder, such powers or duties may also be exercised or performed by any authority superior to it.”

12. The Deputy Director of Consolidation/revisional court can decide the entire dispute after impleading the respondent no.2 / Chaina Devi as party in both the revisions in proper manner, considering the earlier orders passed by the consolidation authorities under Section 9-A(2) of U.P.C.H. Act and Section 12 of U.P. C.H. Act. The issue as to whether the disputed plots are same or different in the earlier proceeding and in the subsequent proceeding will be examined by Deputy Director of Consolidation in proper manner.

13. Considering the entire facts and circumstances of the case, no interference is required against the impugned order dated 14.3.2013 passed by respondent no.1/revisional court, restoring the revisions under Section 48 of U.P.C.H Act on their original numbers for fresh adjudication of dispute in accordance with law.

14. The writ petition is dismissed. Respondent No.1/ revisional court is directed to decide the revisions in accordance with law after impleading respondent no-2/Chaina Devi as opposite party in both the revisions, expeditiously, preferably within period of 3 months from the date of production of certified Copy of this order before him.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether, for grant of compensation under the Uttar Pradesh Rani Lakshmi Bai Mahila Samman Kosh Rules, 2015, in a case covered under Section 4 of the POCSO Act, the injury report must necessarily indicate penetrative sexual assault injury.

HEADNOTE

Compensation under Uttar Pradesh Rani Lakshmi Bai Mahila Samman Kosh Rules, 2015 – Scheme is a beneficial legislation and has to be read as a beneficial legislation in a liberal manner – POCSO Act, 2012, Ss 3, 4 – Penetrative sexual assault – For the penetrative sexual assault to be proven, it is not necessary that there be an injury - Absence of injury cannot be a ground to refuse compensation – District Steering Committee cannot conduct a trial – Finding of Steering Committee without any basis in law and contrary to the Scheme – Direction to pay compensation of Rs. 3 lacs within 10 days.

HELD:

Petitioner, a victim covered under Section 4 of the POCSO Act, was aggrieved by the inaction on the part of the respondent authorities in providing compensation under the Uttar Pradesh Rani Lakshmi Bai Mahila Samman Kosh Rules, 2015, despite the fact that the charge-sheet had been filed alleging penetrative sexual assault. The District Steering Committee kept the claim of the petitioner in abeyance on the basis that, on basic internal examination and pathological report, no evidence of penetrating injury was found.

Court held that the actions as provided in Section 3(a), 3(b), 3(c) and 3(d) of the POCSO Act would amount to penetrative sexual assault and that, for penetrative sexual assault to be proven, it is not necessary that there be an injury that conclusively proves the said penetrative sexual assault. Court further held that any of the actions as prescribed under Section 3 of the POCSO Act would lead to penetrative sexual assault and no further evidence is required for the punishment. Court held that as long as the FIR and the charge-sheet indicate the offence under Section 4 of the POCSO Act, no further investigation is required to be carried out by the Steering Committee and the Steering Committee cannot conduct a trial and come to a contrary finding that, since there is no injury indicated in the injury report, the compensation is not payable. Court directed that the compensation of Rs. 3 lacs be paid to the victim immediately within a period of 10 days. The writ petition was disposed of accordingly. (Paras 9, 10, 14, 16–18) (E-5)

Advs For Petitioner: Anjum Ara
Advs For Respondents: C.S.C.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shekhar B. Saraf, J.
& Hon'ble Manjive Shukla, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel appearing on behalf of the parties.

2. This is a writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India wherein the writ petitioner is aggrieved by the inaction on the part of the respondent authorities in providing compensation to the petitioner in terms of the scheme of the Government named as 'Uttar Pradesh Rani Lakshmi Bai Mahila Samman Kosh Rules, 2015' (hereinafter referred to as 'the Scheme').

3. The case of the petitioner is that the victim was sexually assaulted on March 7, 2025 and subsequently, charge sheet has been filed on June 25, 2025. The petitioner relies on serial No.6 of the Annexure No.1 of the scheme, wherein victims covered under Section 4 of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012 (hereinafter referred to as 'POCSO Act') are entitled to receive aggregate compensation of Rs.3 lacs; firstly, Rs.1 lac is required to be paid within 15 days of filing of the F.I.R. and the balance amount of Rs.2 lacs is to be paid within a month of filing of the charge sheet.

4. Learned counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioner submits that till date not a single naya paisa has been paid to the petitioner inspite of the charge sheet clearly indicating penetrative sexual assault as per Section 4 of the POCSO Act.

5. Shri Shailesh Chandra Tiwari, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the State has vehemently argued and placed on record the decision of the U.P. Rani Lakshmi Bai Mahila Evam Bal Samman Kosh, District Steering Committee- District Gonda, that has kept in abeyance the claim of the petitioner for reasons provided in paragraph 6 of the meeting held on 24.12.2025. The relevant portion of the same is delineated herein-below:-

6. Learned counsel appearing on behalf of the State submits that in the present case, an FIR has been lodged and charge sheet has also been filed. He however, submits that the injury report dated March 8, 2025 categorically indicates that on the basic internal examination and pathological report, no evidence of 'penetrating injury' has been found. He supports the decision taken by the steering committee by submitting that the pre requisite for grant of compensation under the present scheme is that there should be injury found in the injury report, which is absent in the present case. He, accordingly, submits that the steering committee has correctly taken a decision that since the injury report indicates no 'penetrative injury', the scheme would not apply in the present case.

7. At the very outset, we would like to bring on record Sections 3 and 4 of the POSCO Act that deal with penetrative sexual assault. Sections 3 and 4 of the POCSO Act are delineated herein-below:-

"3. Penetrative sexual assault.-A person is said to commit "penetrative sexual assault" if-
(a) he penetrates his penis, to any extent, into the vagina, mouth, urethra or anus of a child or makes the child to do so with him or any other person; or

(b) he inserts, to any extent, any object or a part of the body, not being the penis, into the vagina, the urethra or anus of the child or makes the child to do so with him or any other person; or

(c) he manipulates any part of the body of the child so as to cause penetration into the vagina, urethra, anus or any part of body of the child or makes the child to do so with him or any other person; or

(d) he applies his mouth to the penis, vagina, anus, urethra of the child or makes the child to do so to such person or any other person.

4. Punishment for penetrative sexual assault.-(1) Whoever commits penetrative sexual assault shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which shall not be less than ten years but which may extend to imprisonment for life, and shall also be liable to fine.

(2) Whoever commits penetrative sexual assault on a child below sixteen years of age shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than twenty years, but which may extend to imprisonment for life, which shall mean imprisonment for the remainder of natural life of that person and shall also be liable to fine.

(3) The fine imposed under sub-section (1) shall be just and reasonable and paid to the victim to meet the medical expenses and rehabilitation of such victim."

8. One may further bring on record the excerpt of the Annexure that provides for provision of monetary compensation for the victims:-

S. No.	Section of IPC	Punishment	To whom	Amount of	Stage of	Pre requisites

	Special Act	provided	Compensation payable	Compensation	Payment	for payment
1.
2.
3.
4.
5.
6.	Section 4, POCSO Penetrative Sexual assault	Not less than 7 years	Victim	Rs.3,00,000/-	1. Rs.1,00,000/- to be paid within 15 days as first installment 2. Balance amount of Rs.2,00,000/- with in one month of charge sheet	FIR injury report indicating penetrative sexual assault and charge sheet

9. From a bare perusal of Section 3 read with Section 4 of the POCSO Act, we are of the view that the very actions as provided in Section 3(a), 3(b), 3(c) and 3(d) would amount to penetrative sexual assault and it is clear that for the penetrative sexual assault to be proven, it is not necessary that there be an injury that conclusively proves the said penetrative sexual assault.

10. Furthermore, a catena of Hon'ble Supreme Court judgements has clearly held that any of the actions as prescribed under Section 3 of the POSCO Act would lead to a penetrative sexual assault and no further evidence is required for the punishment as prescribed under Section 4 of the POSCO Act.

11. The Supreme Court in Dalip Kumar @ Dalli v. State Of Uttaranchal (Criminal Appeal No. 1005 of 2013) decided on January 16, 2025 has observed that penetrative sexual assault need not always lead to physical injury. The relevant paragraphs of the judgment are quoted herein below:

8. We must caution that bodily injuries are not necessary to prove sexual assault1 and neither it is important to raise a hue or cry. In this regard, the Supreme Court's Handbook on Gender stereotypes(2023) provides as under: "Different people react differently to traumatic events. For example, the death of a parent may cause one person to cry publicly whereas another person in a similar situation may not exhibit any emotion in public. Similarly, a woman's reaction to being sexually assaulted or raped by a man may vary based on her individual characteristics. There is no "correct" or "appropriate" way in which a survivor or victim behaves.

9. It is a common myth that sexual assault must leave injuries. Victims respond to trauma in varied ways, influenced by factors such as fear, shock, social stigma or feelings of helplessness. It is neither realistic nor just to expect a uniform reaction....

(Emphasis added)

12. The Supreme Court in Lok Mal @ Loku v. The State Of Uttar Pradesh (Criminal Appeal No. 325 of 2011) decided on March 7, 2025 has again reiterated that penetrative sexual assault does not always entail physical injury as it depends on the factual matrix of each case. The relevant paragraph of the judgment is quoted herein below:

“11. Merely because in the medical evidence, there are no major injury marks, this cannot be a reason to discard the otherwise reliable evidence of the prosecutrix. It is not necessary that in each and every case where rape is alleged there has to be an injury to the private parts of the victim and it depends on the facts and circumstances of a particular case. We reiterate that absence of injuries on the private parts of the victim is not always fatal to the case of the prosecution. According to the version of the prosecutrix, the accused overpowered her and pushed her to bed in spite of her resistance and gagged her mouth using a piece of cloth. Thus, considering this very aspect, it is possible that there were no major injury marks. The appellant made an attempt to raise the defence of false implication, however, he was unable to support his defence by any cogent evidence. Ld. counsel for the appellant further submitted that there is an inordinate delay in lodging complaint and registering 7 FIR. However, considering the evidence on record, we are of the opinion that the said delay in lodging of the complaint and registering FIR has been sufficiently explained and is not fatal to the case of the prosecution.”

(Emphasis added)

13. In light of the same, we are of the view that the pre requisites as are required in the Scheme do not in any manner require that the injury report must definitely indicate a penetrative sexual assault injury. Our reading of the said provision of the Scheme is that for granting benefit to the victim, the three documents, that is, the FIR, the injury report and the charge sheet should be present.

14. As long as the FIR and the charge indicate the offence under Section 4 of the POCSO Act, no further investigation is required to be carried out by the steering committee and the steering committee cannot conduct a trial and come to a contrary finding that since there is no injury indicated in the injury report, the compensation is not payable.

15. It is to be further noted that the Scheme is a beneficial legislation that aims to ameliorate the trauma and the pain that is suffered by the victims, and accordingly, has to be read as a beneficial legislation in a liberal manner.

16. Under the Scheme, compensation is to be paid to the victim of penetrative sexual assault not because the victim has sustained injuries during the penetrative sexual assault, but due to the very fact of having suffered the penetrative sexual assault. Therefore, till such time, the offence is covered within the definition of penetrative sexual assault as per Section 3 of the POSCO Act, it is immaterial whether there is any injury or not and only because there is no injury that cannot be a ground to refuse compensation to such victims.

17. Ergo, we come to the conclusion that the finding of the steering committee is without any basis in law and contrary to the Scheme.

18. In light of the same, since charge sheet has already been filed in the present case, we direct the compensation of Rs.3 lacs to be paid to the victim immediately within a period of 10 days from date.

19. With the above directions, the writ petition is disposed of.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether Constitutional Court can grant compensation to a person who has been subjected to wrongful arrest and detention in proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

HEADNOTE

Compensation for wrongful arrest and detention – Constitution of India, Article 21 – Procedure established by law – Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, Section 41(1)(ba) – Arrest and detention in police lock-up cause incalculable harm to reputation and self-esteem – Fundamental right under Article 21 infringed by arbitrary and capricious action on the part of arresting police personnel – Petitioner a helpless victim of that act – Constitutional Courts can grant compensation – Compensation of Rs. 1,00,000/- awarded.

HELD:

Petitioner sought compensation for wrongful arrest and detention. The allegation against the petitioner was of molestation and attempt to rape. There was nothing on record, nor anything produced before the Court, to show that some investigation had been made pursuant to the information received for having reason to believe that the petitioner had committed the alleged offence. Court held that the police did not have "credible information" that the petitioner had committed the alleged offence and that the arrest of the petitioner was not in accordance with the "procedure established by law". Court held that constitutional courts can grant compensation. The Court awarded compensation of Rs. 1,00,000/- to the petitioner, to be paid by respondent No. 2 within four weeks.

Court reiterated that no arrest can be made in a routine manner on a mere allegation of commission of an offence; that no arrest should be made without a reasonable satisfaction reached after some investigation as to the genuineness and bona fides of the complaint and a reasonable belief as to the person's complicity and the need to effect arrest; and that the police officer must be able to justify the arrest apart from his power to do so. Writ petition allowed. (E-5)

Appearances for Parties

Advs For Petitioner: In person, Sunil Kandu
Advs For Respondents: Anil Kumar Srivastava, C.S.C.; Prem Narayan Rai

(Delivered by Hon'ble Arindam Sinha, J.)

1. Petitioner appears in person. Prayers made by him in the petition are reproduced below.

"(I) Hon'ble Justices are requested to kindly pass an order in accordance with the Constitution under Section 18(A-1) of the Human Rights Act, 1993, in the interest of justice, to provide compensation to the family of the petitioner from opponents No. 1 and 2. (II) Hon'ble Justices are requested to pass a just order for the judicial investigation of the above matter by the Law Officer of the Human Rights Commission, who has worked as a senior judges in the District Court and is currently working in the Human Rights Commission, on the complaint application dated 03.03.2023 submitted by the petitioner under Section 13(1) of the Human Rights Act, 1983, the investigation of which is pending before the Commission till date, and to submit the judicial investigation report to this court. (III) Any other order by the Hon'ble Justices, as they may deem fit, keeping in view the circumstances of the above case, may be passed in the interest of justice in favour of the petitioner."

2. The writ petition came to be assigned to the Bench presided over by a learned Judge nominated by the Hon'ble The Chief Justice on administrative order dated 26th September, 2024. Office reported that said learned Judge, as per roster w.e.f. 7th October, 2025, was sitting at Lucknow Bench. Further report was, at present this Bench has the nomination. Hence, there was subsequent administrative order dated 7th October, 2025 made by the Hon'ble The Chief Justice to list before the appropriate Court. The petition having had thus come before us, it was moved by petitioner in person on 8th October, 2025. He had submitted he seeks compensation for wrongful arrest and detention. He relied on section 18 (a) (i) in Protection of Human Rights Act, 1993 to submit, there be direction for payment of compensation. Upon the criminal case initiated against him having had been disposed of on 14th July, 2022, he had filed complaint dated 3rd March, 2023 before the Commission, to make enquiry. He submitted further, it is not necessary to seek result of the enquiry because on departmental enquiry made against concerned police personnel, there stood issued order of punishment dated 28th November, 2023. Guilt of the police personnel, who arrested him without prima-facie satisfying himself on credible evidence of the allegation of attempt to rape, was an act that infringed his human and fundamental right of liberty, violated by the police personnel, a public servant. He relied on order dated 8th September, 2025 of the Supreme Court made in Petition for Special Leave to Appeal (Crl.) no. 11244 of 2025 (Sohan Singh @ Bablu vs. State of Madhya Pradesh).

3. There was further hearing on 20th November, 2025. It will be convenient to reproduce paragraphs 1 and 2 of order made that day.

"1. The writ petition has been called on for further hearing. Petitioner appearing in person, on query, supplies information as noted below.

(i) He was arrested on 17th April, 2017.

(ii) Final report in the criminal case initiated against him is dated 4th May, 2017.

(iii) His bail application was moved and order made on 30th June, 2017.

(iv) He was released from custody on 4th July, 2017.

(v) The criminal case was disposed of on 14th July, 2022.

(vi) Petitioner lodged complaint with the Commissioner on 3rd March, 2023. The Commission issued order of inquiry on 10th March, 2023.

2. Petitioner relies on several judgments noted in a spiral booklet he has prepared. We appreciate his research and enterprise. For purpose of adjudication and notice to respondents that we require comments on following judgments, they are noted below. (i) Rudul Sah Vs. State of Bihar reported in (1983) 4 SCC 141;

(ii) Smt. Nilabati Behera alias Lalit Behera Vs. State of Orissa reported in (1993) 2 SCC 746;

(iii) S.R. Bommai Vs. Union of India reported in (1994) 3 SCC 1; and

(iv) Judgment dated 30th November, 2017 of Delhi High Court in Bablu Chauhan @ Dablu Vs. State Government of NCT of Delhi reported in 2018 (1) RCR (Criminal) 523."

4. Mr. Manish Goyal, learned senior advocate and Additional Advocate General was entrusted by State to defend. On 26th November, 2025 Mr. Goyal had relied on judgment of the Supreme Court in Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD) vs. Association of Victims of Uphaar Tragedy reported in (2011) 14 SCC 481, paragraphs 45, 52, to 54, 80, 104 and 108. He had submitted on, inter-alia, tortious liability and constitutional tort. Today Mr. Goyal hands up short note of submissions.

5. We made several queries to Mr. Goyal to ascertain the facts and the procedure established by law for arrest. This is because contention of State is upon reliance of article 21 in the Constitution. The article is reproduced below.

"21. Protection of life and personal liberty.- No person shall be deprived of his life or personal liberty except according to procedure established by law."

(emphasis supplied)

Our inquiry reveals, clause (ba) under sub-section (1) in section 41, Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, since repealed but necessary as it was in operation at the material time, empowered any police officer to arrest without an order from a Magistrate and without a warrant. State has relied on the provision. The clause is reproduced below;

"41. When police may arrest without warrant.

(1) Any police officer may without an order from a Magistrate and without a warrant, arrest any person –

.....

(ba) against whom credible information has been received that he has committed a cognizable offence punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to more than seven years whether with or without fine or with death sentence and the police officer has reason to believe on the basis of that information that such person has committed the said offence;

..... "

6. The complainant had lodged complaint with police station (P.S. Cantt., District Gorakhpur) on 30th March, 2017 at about 10:10 A.M. She said, inter-alia, on the day before, 29th March, 2017 at around 12:00 noon she along with her companion reached Gorakhpur station. Her companion went to get some food. She went to answer nature's call. When she returned, she could not locate the place, where her companion had asked her to sit. She started crying. At that time a person came and offered to help her reach home. It be mentioned, complainant said she is resident of Siddharth Nagar. We are told it is a place situate approximately 100 kms away from Gorakhpur. Complainant went on to say, this unknown person disclosed his name and address. He offered to help her to get a bus for her to go home. He started taking her towards Charfatak and after finding her alone, molested and tried to rape her. When she shouted, passersby came and saved her from him. After sometime her companion arrived searching for her. The passersby told him about the incident. On basis of this complaint, first information report (FIR) was registered. Police commenced investigation. Complainant was produced for medical examination on 30th March, 2017 at 04:00 P.M. There is Police Medico Legal Report dated 30th March, 2017. English translation of the report is reproduced below.

(emphasis supplied)*

7. Complainant also recorded her statement before the police on 30th March, 2017. Mr. Goyal submits, pursuant thereto complainant got her statement recorded under section 164, before the Magistrate. She said in the statement under section 164, inter-alia, when she was crying a boy (obviously petitioner) came to her and asked her why she was upset. On query petitioner submits, he is presently 40 years old. Mr. Goyal submits, petitioner disclosed himself to be of 30 years age before the police. Above have been relied upon as credible information that petitioner had committed a cognizable offence covered by clause (ba) under section 41(1).

8. There are subsequent facts, of the police having sought to file final report on 27th April, 2017. The report was not accepted by the Magistrate and further investigation directed. The case ultimately came to be dropped under section 203 as the complainant, in spite of repeated notices, did not appear to be examined. This was on order dated 14th July, 2022. On earlier order dated 30th June, 2017 petitioner was enlarged on bail, upon conditions of submitting personal bond of Rs. 1 lac and 2 competent sureties of said amount to satisfaction of concerned Magistrate. Petitioner had suffered 79 days of having been in custody.

9. We notice, in the bail application petitioner had pointed out that a person with intent of molestation and rape would not go and identify himself to the victim for purposes of befriending her. This identification complainant got recorded in the FIR. The police picked up petitioner on 17th April, 2017, from his FIR recorded address at Lucknow and produced him to obtain direction for remand. Then subsequent investigation revealed, petitioner was not present in Gorakhpur on 29th March, 2017.

10. We are clear in our mind complainant was not carrying a mobile phone. According to her, she could not locate the spot where her companion had left her. She walked with petitioner to a place near Charfatak. On referring to Google maps we find Charfatak is shown as 2.1 km away from Gorakhpur station. We are convinced there was no commotion, when, according to the complainant, she accompanied petitioner out of the station. We're at a loss to understand how her companion then located her in the place near to Charfatak at about 4:00 P.M. The FIR registered does not mention any person, who was part of the gathering on the complainant screaming distress, as had accompanied her to lodge the complaint. There is a simple explanation because the complaint was not lodged immediately. It was lodged the next day.

11. Our perusal of the FIR, statements under section 161 and 164 reveal complainant's allegation was that petitioner had grabbed her by the neck and bit her on the cheek. There is no mention of any hint of injury in aforesaid Police Medico Legal Report dated 30th March, 2017 to corroborate her such allegation. The police does not appear to have sought to verify from the complainant, the place of occurrence. There is nothing to show they did nor was the case diary produced by State to demonstrate otherwise. Where the FIR mentions gathering of passersby, reiterated by complainant in her statements before the police and the Magistrate, the police proceeded to arrest without locating or even trying to locate a single witness, of an incident of molestation and rape committed in broad day light at a place between Gorakhpur Station and near to Charfatak. However, armed with petitioner's address they proceeded to Lucknow to arrest him on 17th April, 2017, more than two weeks after registration of the FIR. We're not surprised there was internal inquiry against the police personnel, relied upon by petitioner. A paragraph from the preliminary investigation report dated 3rd October, 2023 (English translation), of the Superintendent of Police is reproduced below.

"Therefore, the first investigation officer of the case, S.I. Promod Kumar Singh, currently posted at Police Station Vibhuthikhand, Commissionerate, Lucknow, is found guilty of negligence in collecting strong/confirmatory and electronic/circumstantial evidences in the case."

Above is clear indictment regarding the arrest. Subsequently it was established that petitioner was not present at the scene of alleged occurrence.

12. Contention of State in opposing the writ petition is also that the Human Rights Commission could not have entertained the complaint as it was lodged beyond time prescribed in section 36 of Protection of Human Rights Act, 1993. The section is reproduced below.

"36. Matters not subject to jurisdiction of the Commission.- (1) The Commission shall not inquire into any matter which is pending before a State Commission or any other Commission duly constituted under any law for the time being in force.

(2) The Commission or the State Commission shall not inquire into any matter after the expiry of one year from the date on which the act constituting violation of human rights is alleged to have been committed."

(emphasis supplied)

Petitioner appearing in person has sought for any other relief and we as the writ Court are competent to mould the relief.

13. Mr. Parth Goswami, learned advocate holding the brief appears on behalf of respondent no. 3 (the Commission). He reiterates his submissions and reliance on authorities as recorded in paragraph 4 of aforesaid order dated 20th November, 2025, text of which is reproduced below.

"4. Mr. Parth Goswami, learned advocate appearing on behalf of respondent no.3 (the Commission) submits, the Supreme Court in Paramjit Kaur Vs. State of Punjab reported in (1999) 2 SCC 131 had said that the Commission may inquire on direction made by the Constitutional Courts. He submits further, Rudul Sah (supra) stands distinguished in Union of India through I.O. Narcotics Control Bureau Vs. Man Singh Verma reported in 2025 SCC OnLine SC 456."

14. On behalf of State there was reliance on Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD) vs. Association of Victims of Uphaar Tragedy (supra). Paragraphs 45, 52, to 54, 80, 104 and 108 were relied upon. The presiding learned Judge of the Bench spoke for it but the other learned Judge also added his thoughts as stated in paragraphs 78 onward of the judgment. Contention of petitioner is of having undergone wrongful arrest without credible information had and satisfaction obtained. We think fit to reproduce below paragraph 45 in the judgment, which is extract from an earlier judgment of said Court. The fact of petitioner having been arrested by the police does not point towards inaction or negligence as discussed in other relied upon paragraphs 52 to 54, 80, 104 and 108.

"45. In Rabindra Nath Ghosal vs. University of Calcutta reported in (2002) 7 SCC 478 the Supreme Court held: The Courts having the obligation to satisfy the social aspiration of the citizens have to apply the tool and grant compensation as damages in a public law proceedings. Consequently when the Court moulds the relief in proceedings under Articles 32 and 226 of the Constitution seeking enforcement or protection of fundamental rights and grants compensation, it does so under the public law by way of penalising the wrongdoer and fixing the liability for the public wrong on the State which has failed in its public duty to protect the fundamental rights of the citizens. But it would not be correct to assume that every minor infraction of public duty by every public officer would commend the Court to grant compensation in a petition under Articles 226 and 32 by applying the principle of public law proceeding. The Court in exercise of extraordinary power under Articles 226 and 32 of the Constitution, therefore, would not award damages against public authorities merely because they have made some order which turns out to be ultra vires, or there has been some inaction in the performance of the duties unless there is malice or conscious abuse. Before exemplary damages can be awarded it must be shown that some fundamental right under Article 21 has been infringed by arbitrary or capricious action on the part of the public functionaries and that the sufferer was a helpless victim of that act."

(emphasis supplied)

15. On ascertaining the facts we are satisfied that the police did not have credible information and thereby could not have reason to believe on the basis of it that petitioner had committed the alleged offence. We reiterate, molestation and rape attempt was alleged to be on 29th March, 2017. We have already noted, complaint made and FIR registered was on 30th March, 2017. Medical examination and report were also of that date. The police arrested petitioner on 17th April, 2017 from his FIR recorded address at Lucknow. There is nothing on record nor anything produced before us to show some investigation made pursuant to the information received, for having reason to believe petitioner had committed said offence. In the circumstances, fundamental right of petitioner under article 21 had been infringed by arbitrary and capricious action on part of the arresting police personnel, a public functionary and petitioner was a helpless victim of that act.

16. In context of last two preceding paragraphs we see that the Supreme Court in Joginder Kumar vs. State of U.P. reported in (1994) 4 SCC 260 (Bench strength of three learned Judges), paragraph 20 thereof referred to third report of the National Police Commission, for its suggestions. Extracted and reproduced below are the suggestions appearing in the paragraph.

"20. In India, Third Report of the National Police Commission at p. 32 also suggested:

"An arrest during the investigation of a cognizable case may be considered justified in one or other of the following circumstances:

*(i) The case involves a grave offence like murder, dacoity, robbery, rape etc., and it is necessary to arrest the accused and bring his movements under restraint to infuse confidence among the terrorstricken victims.

(ii) The accused is likely to abscond and evade the processes of law.

(iii) The accused is given to violent behaviour and is likely to commit further offences unless his movements are brought under restraint.

(iv) The accused is a habitual offender and unless kept in custody he is likely to commit similar offences again.

It would be desirable to insist through departmental instructions that a police officer making an arrest should also record in the case diary the reasons for making the arrest, thereby clarifying his conformity to the specified guidelines....."

(emphasis supplied)

Suggestion clause (i) does not cover petitioner because there could be no necessity to arrest petitioner more than a fortnight after the alleged offence, to bring his movements under restraint to infuse confidence in the terror stricken victim. As aforesaid, the complainant is resident of Siddharth Nagar and petitioner was picked up from far away Lucknow. Other clauses (ii), (iii) and (iv) are not even remotely applicable to petitioner.

17. In Satendra Kumar Antil vs. Central Bureau of Investigation reported in (2022) 10 SCC 51, the Supreme Court also declared on section 41 by paragraph 23 therein, reproduced below.

"23. Section 41 under Chapter V of the Code deals with the arrest of persons. Even for a cognizable offense, an arrest is not mandatory as can be seen from the mandate of this provision. If the officer is satisfied that a person has committed a cognizable offense, punishable with imprisonment for a term which may be less than seven years, or which may extend to the said period, with or without fine, an arrest could only follow when he is satisfied that there is a reason to believe or suspect, that the said person has committed an offense, and there is a necessity for an arrest. Such necessity is drawn to prevent the committing of any further offense, for a proper investigation, and to prevent him/her from either disappearing or tampering with the evidence. He/she can also be arrested to prevent such person from making any inducement, threat, or promise to any person according to the facts, so as to dissuade him from disclosing said facts either to the court or to the police officer. One more ground on which an arrest may be necessary is when his/her presence is required after arrest for production before the Court and the same cannot be assured."

On this aspect an earlier judgment of said Court in Arnesh Kumar vs. State of Bihar reported in (2014) 8 SCC 273 was relied upon.

18. With reference to the suggestions in Third Report of the National Police Commission the Supreme Court in Joginder Kumar vs. State of U.P. (supra) said, the guidelines are merely the incidents of personal liberty guaranteed under the Constitution of India. No arrest can be made because it is lawful for the police officer to do so. An existence of the power to arrest is one thing. The justification for the exercise of it is quite another. The police officer must be able to justify the arrest apart from his power to do so. Arrest and detention in police lock-up of a person can cause incalculable harm to the reputation and self-esteem of a person. No arrest can be made in a routine manner on a mere allegation of commission of an offence made against a person. It would be prudent for a police officer, in the interest of protection of the constitutional rights of a citizen and perhaps in his own interest that no arrest should be made without a reasonable satisfaction reached after some investigation as to the genuineness and bona fides of a complaint and a reasonable belief, both as to the person's complicity and even so as to the need to effect arrest. Denying a person of his liberty is a serious matter. The recommendations of the Police Commission merely reflect the constitutional concomitants of the fundamental right to personal liberty and freedom. A person is not liable to arrest merely on the suspicion of complicity in an offence. There must be some reasonable justification in the opinion of the officer effecting the arrest that such arrest is necessary and justified.

19. Petitioner is before us seeking compensation for wrongful arrest. We are convinced his arrest was not on procedure established by law. It may well be that petitioner was out of time in taking his complaint to the Commission on his allegation of violation also of his human right of liberty. We note that the criminal case against him was disposed of on 14th July, 2022 and less than a year therefrom, he approached the Commission. From the cases cited and our research we see that the Supreme Court has said that the constitutional Courts can grant compensation. We choose to rely on Rudul Sah vs. State of Bihar reported in (1983) 4 SCC 141 (Bench strength of three learned Judges), paragraphs 1 and 11. The paragraphs are reproduced below.

"CHANDRACHUD, C.J.- This Writ Petition discloses a sordid and disturbing state of affairs. Though the petitioner was acquitted by the Court of Session, Muzaffarpur, Bihar, on June 3, 1968 he was released from the jail on October 16, 1982, that is to say, more than 14 years after he was acquitted. By this habeas corpus petition, the petitioner asks for his release on the ground that his detention in the jail is unlawful. He has also asked for certain ancillary reliefs like rehabilitation, reimbursement of expenses which he may incur for medical treatment and compensation for the illegal incarceration. 11. Taking into consideration the great harm done to the petitioner by the Government of Bihar, we are of the opinion that, as an interim measure, the State must pay to the petitioner a further sum of Rs. 30,000 (Rupees thirty- thousand) in addition to the sum of Rs. 5,000 (Rupees five thousand) already paid by it. The amount shall be paid within two weeks from today. The Government of Bihar agrees to make the payment though, we must clarify, our order is not based on their consent."

As such we are minded and do award compensation of Rs. 1,00,000/-. The amount be paid to petitioner by respondent no. 2 within four weeks from communication of certified copy of this judgment made to the office by him.

20. The writ petition is accordingly allowed and disposed of.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether the trial court acted in excess of jurisdiction in entertaining and allowing an application under Section 151 CPC to restore status quo ante, without compliance with Order XXXIX Rule 3 CPC and without affording an opportunity of hearing to the defendants.

HEADNOTE

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, Section 151; Order XXXIX Rules 1, 2, 2A & 3 – Ex parte ad-interim injunction – Mandatory requirements of Order XXXIX Rule 3 CPC – Application under Section 151 CPC entertained and allowed ex parte on the very same date – No finding recorded that the plaintiff was in possession of the suit property on the date when injunction order was passed, nor any finding as regards the date on which the alleged dispossession had taken place – Order for restoring status quo ante passed without affording any opportunity of hearing to the defendants – Trial court acted in a patently illegal manner, with material irregularity and exceeded its jurisdiction – Temporary injunction was purely prohibitory in nature and not mandatory – No order of the trial court directing the Administrative Authorities to put respondent No. 8 in possession – Constitution of joint team of Revenue and Police officials for delivery of possession without jurisdiction – Action of Court below as well as Administrative Authorities found to be totally mala fide – Costs imposed as compensation – Direction for placing the matter before Hon'ble the Chief Justice for consideration of disciplinary action against the Civil Judge (Jr. Divn.). (E-5)

HELD:

Father-in-law of the petitioner was a co-tenure holder of the plot. After his death, the names of his heirs, namely, Shyamji, Premji, Ramji, Lalji and Shivdhari Devi, were recorded. Respondent No. 8 obtained a sale deed from Shyamji and Premji in respect of a specified portion of the undivided residential house, despite there being no partition of the property. Respondent No. 8 instituted an Original Suit seeking permanent injunction. On the very date of institution, i.e., 27.01.2025, the Civil Judge (Junior Division) granted an ex parte ad-interim injunction restraining the defendants from interfering with the alleged possession of Respondent No. 8, without compliance with Order XXXIX Rule 3 CPC. Respondent No. 8 moved an application dated 05.02.2025 under Section 151 CPC alleging dispossession in violation of the injunction order. On the very same date, the trial court entertained and allowed the application ex parte, directing the SHO to ensure compliance with the injunction order, without issuing notice to the defendants and without recording any finding regarding possession or the date of alleged dispossession.

The Sub-Divisional Magistrate directed the constitution of a joint team of Revenue and Police officials, purportedly to deliver possession to Respondent No. 8 on the basis of the prohibitory injunction order dated 27.01.2025. On 18.07.2025, a heavy police force and revenue officials forcibly dispossessed the petitioner and handed over possession to Respondent No. 8.

Court held that the trial court completely overlooked the mandatory provisions of Order XXXIX Rule 3 CPC and failed to ensure compliance with the statutory requirement of service of notice upon the defendants along with copies of the plaint and other relevant documents. Trial court acted in a patently illegal manner, with material irregularity, in entertaining the application dated 02.02.2025 under Section 151 CPC, for restoring the possession, and in allowing the said application on the same date ex parte. Trial court ought to have issued notice of the said application to the defendants and afforded them an opportunity to contest the same. In no event, the procedure adopted by the trial court was justified. There was no finding recorded in the order dated 05.02.2025 that Respondent No. 8 was in possession of the suit property on the date when the injunction order was passed in his favour, nor was there any finding as regards the date on which the alleged dispossession had taken place. In the absence of these findings, the order of the trial court allowing the application for restoring status quo ante was wholly illegal. The trial court acted in a patently illegal manner, and the dispossession of the petitioner and her minor children was wholly without jurisdiction. The Administrative Authorities exceeded their authority and jurisdiction in constituting a revenue team for delivering possession to Respondent No. 8. The order of temporary injunction was purely prohibitory in nature and not mandatory. Directions were issued for restoration of possession to the petitioner and other co-sharers; costs were imposed for illegal dispossession and mental trauma; and the matter was directed to be placed before the Hon'ble Chief Justice for consideration of disciplinary action against the Civil Judge (Junior Division).

1. The present writ petition has been filed for the following reliefs:-

i. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding and directing the respondent no. 2 to 7 to open the lock and restore the possession of the petitioner over her joint ancestral house.

ii. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding the State Government to take appropriate action against the Respondent no. 4, 5, 6 and 7 for crushing the rule of law.

FACTS OF THE CASE

2. The case of the petitioner is that her father-in-law namely, Gelhari was a co-tenure holder of plot No.211, area 0.431 hectare. After his death, the names of the petitioner's husband Shyamji, his brothers Premji, Ramji and Lalji and their mother Shividhari Devi came to be recorded in the relevant khatauni in his place. During his lifetime, he constructed a two storied building over the said plot, having frontage of 20 feet on Bansi-Dandi Road and a width of 68 feet. On the ground floor, there are two shops, each having a width of 9 feet and a gallery of 6 feet width, which serves as an entrance to the remaining part of the house. In one of the shops, the petitioner has been running a beauty parlour and income from the said business is the only source of livelihood for the petitioner and her family. The husband of the petitioner, namely, Shyamji and his younger brother Premji, unfortunately fell into bad company of respondent No.8 and started consuming liquor with him. Respondent No.8 is a Peshkar in the court of Chief Judicial Magistrate. Taking advantage of the situation, he succeeded in obtaining a sale deed dated 14.2.2024 in his favour for a portion of the undivided residential house, measuring 10 feet from the front and 68 feet in width.

3. It is stated that respondent No.8 procured the said sale deed for a specific portion of the residential house, fully knowing that no division or partition of the aforesaid house had ever taken place amongst the co-sharers and families of all the co-sharers were residing in the same. On 13.1.2025, respondent no.5, the Tehsildar, Tehsil Bansi, District Siddharth Nagar, alongwith police force and respondent no.8, reached the house of the petitioner and asked her to vacate the house. The petitioner strongly opposed the same, stating that the house in question is the ancestral house, in which she has been residing with her three minor children. When respondent No.8 failed in his attempt to take possession by force, he instituted Original Suit No. 49 of 2025 against the petitioner, her husband Shyamji, and his brother Premji, praying for decree of permanent injunction restraining the defendants from taking possession of property allegedly purchased by him through sale deed dated 14.02.2024; from breaking the lock of the said house; from raising construction over it; and from interfering in his alleged possession. Notably, the other three co-sharers were not impleaded as parties in the said suit.

4. On 27.1.2025, the date of institution of the suit, Civil Judge (Jr. Divn) issued summons to the defendants and fixed 24.2.2025 for filing of written statement and 6.3.2025 for framing of issues. On the very same date, Civil Judge (Jr. Divn.) also granted an ex parte interim injunction, restraining the defendants from interfering in the alleged possession of the plaintiff over the suit property. It is categorically stated that respondent No.8 was never put in actual possession of the suit property in pursuance of the sale deed. However, the trial court, without conducting any enquiry on the issue of possession and even in absence of any supporting evidence, hurriedly granted the said ex parte injunction.

5. As respondent No. 8 was not in possession, he therefore, with a pre-meditated design, moved an application on 16.5.2025 before the Superintendent of Police, Siddharth Nagar, alleging that the defendants, despite the injunction order, had forcibly taken possession of the house by breaking the lock. It was alleged that the petitioner and the other defendants of the suit had agreed to vacate the house by the end of March; however, even after repeated requests, they have failed to do so. Accordingly, a request was made to direct the concerned authorities to ensure delivery of possession of the suit property to respondent no.8.

6. It is noteworthy that, in respect of the said application, respondent No.8, in the supplementary affidavit filed by him, clarified that the said application was in fact moved on 4.5.2025 and not on 16.05.2025, as earlier stated. The Superintendent of Police marked the said application to Inspector Incharge of Police Station Khesaraha District- Siddharth Nagar, on 16.5.2025, and therefore the said date came to be mentioned by the Chowky Incharge Sakarpar, Police Station Khesaraha, District - Siddharth Nagar, in his report dated 28.5.2025 submitted on the said application to the Sub Divisional Officer, Bansī, District Siddharth Nagar. He has stated in his report that despite the temporary injunction order dated 27.1.2025 in favour of respondent No.8, he could not get possession of the house and that the same continues to be occupied by Shyamji and his family members. The report further refers to the application dated 16.5.2025 submitted by respondent No. 8 to Superintendent of Police, Siddharth Nagar for being handed over possession of the said house to him. It is also stated therein that, in respect of said house, Original Suit No. 49 of 2025 has been instituted by respondent no.8 against Shyamji in the court of Civil Judge (Jr. Divn.) and an order of temporary injunction was passed in the said suit on 27.1.2025. Based on the aforesaid, a recommendation was made for constitution of a joint team of officials for the purpose of delivering possession of the house to respondent No.8. On the said application, the Sub Division Magistrate, vide order dated 25.6.2025, directed the Tehsildar to constitute a joint team of Revenue and Police officials and to ensure disposal of the matter. In pursuance thereof, the Tehsildar, by order dated 2.7.2025, directed the Naib Tehsildar to constitute the said team, and in furtherance thereof, a joint team of Revenue officials and police personnel was proposed by Naib Tehsildar vide order dated 8.7.2025. Thereafter, Tehsildar, Tehsil Bansī, district Siddharth Nagar, by letter No. 121/Ra.Li/2025-26 dated __.07.2025, approved the constitution of the revenue team for effecting delivery of possession, purportedly in compliance of the order of temporary injunction of the trial court dated 27.1.2025 in Original Suit No.49 of 2025.

7. The case of the petitioner is that, on the basis of aforesaid directions, a heavy police force from two police stations and Revenue team headed by Naib Tehsildar, Khesaraha, and Revenue Inspector, alongwith five Lekhpals, reached the house of the petitioner on 18.7.2025. The petitioner was forcibly arrested and detained in a police vehicle alongwith her three children, aged 8 years, 4 years and 3 years respectively. The Revenue authorities and the police forcibly threw out the entire goods lying in the beauty parlour run by the petitioner. Thereafter, they handed over possession of the house to respondent No.8 by permitting him to put his lock on the premises. The petitioner had no prior knowledge of the interim order dated 27.1.2025 passed in the original suit. It was only on 18.7.2025, at the time of her forcible eviction, that the joint team of Revenue and Police officials apprised her of the order of temporary injunction. The petitioner alleges that she even had no knowledge of the suit. After her dispossession, she attempted to meet the District Magistrate, Siddharth Nagar on 18.7.2025 and 19.7.2025 but could not succeed in meeting him. The petitioner thereafter submitted several representations to higher authorities, including the Chief Minister, but as none of her grievances were attended to, she was constrained to file the present writ petition.

8. On the first date of hearing of the writ petition, i.e., 22.8.2025, appearance was entered on behalf of respondent No.8. During course of hearing, learned counsel for respondent No.8 sought to justify the action of the administrative authorities in constituting a joint team of Revenue officials and Police personnel for delivering possession to respondent No. 8, on basis of an order said to have been passed by the trial court on 5.2.2025, on the application moved by respondent No.8 under Section 151 CPC. The said order is as under:

9. Having regard to the facts of the case and the submissions made on behalf of respondent No.8, the following order was passed on 22.8.2025 :-

“1. Sri Prabhakar Dubey, Advocate has entered appearance on behalf of respondent No.8.

2. We have heard learned counsel for the parties at some length and prima facie, it is evident that the present case is gross abuse of the process of law and the administrative powers of the State.

3. Before we proceed to pass orders on merit, as prayed by learned counsel for respondent No.8, he is granted time to complete his instructions.

4. We also require the Civil Judge (Junior Division)/Judicial Magistrate, Bansi, Siddharth Nagar, to submit his comments through the District Judge in relation to the manner in which order dated 05.02.2025 has been passed by him in Original Suit No.49/2025.

5. The Registrar General shall communicate the instant order to the District Judge, Siddharth Nagar for immediate compliance.

6. Put up as fresh on 25.08.2025."

10. In pursuance of the said order, Sri Pankaj, Civil Judge (Jr. Divn.), who had passed various orders in the suit from time to time, submitted his comments, through the District Judge, Siddharth Nagar, which is as under:

11. Respondent No.8 has also filed his affidavit. The stand taken by him is that the petitioner has not approached this Court with clean hands. It is alleged that the petitioner has incorrectly stated in the writ petition that respondent No.8 was posted as Reader in the court of CJM Siddharth Nagar, whereas, according to him, the correct position is that he was posted as Clerk in Copying Section. He denied having any closeness with the Judge. On merit, it is submitted that the property belonged to Gelhari, and after his death, it devolved on five persons. It is alleged that thereafter an oral settlement took place among the family members, pursuant to which two brothers executed the sale deed dated 14.2.2025 in respect of their shares in favour of respondent no.8. It is further claimed that possession was also delivered to him at the time of execution of the sale deed, and that he put his lock on the room which was allegedly constructed in the part of the property purchased by him. It is also alleged that as respondent No.8 is a permanent resident of District Sant Kabir Nagar and not permanently residing in the disputed house, the petitioner and other co-sharers taking advantage of the situation, broke open the lock, and forcibly entered the room allegedly in his possession, compelling him to institute the suit for permanent injunction restraining the defendants from creating any interference in his possession. The trial court granted a temporary injunction in his favour on 27.1.2025. It is alleged that in violation of the said injunction order, the petitioner broke open the lock on 2.2.2025, compelling respondent no.8 to move an application on 5.2.2025 before the trial court seeking restoration of possession. The trial court, accordingly, passed the order on 5.2.2025, directing the SHO, Khesarhara, Siddharth Nagar, to ensure restoration of possession in favour of respondent No.8 and to submit a compliance report within three days. In compliance of the said order, the SHO, Police Station Khesarhara submitted a compliance report dated 7.2.2025 stating that possession had been restored in favour of respondent No.8 and that he had put his lock on the premises. Alongwith the compliance report, copies of the relevant reports and certificate was annexed, according to which, possession of the property had been duly handed over to respondent No.8. The further case of respondent No.8 is that, thereafter, the petitioner again broke the lock and entered the house. Consequently, this time, he directly requested the Tehsil authorities for delivery of possession, whereupon the Sub Divisional Magistrate vide order dated 28.5.2025, directed the Tehsil authorities to conduct spot inspection and take necessary action. Pursuant thereto, a team was constituted and possession was again delivered to respondent No.8 on 20.7.2025, and a spot memo was prepared in that regard.

12. Thus, the case of respondent No.8 is that he has not taken possession forcibly, but strictly in accordance with law. It is further asserted that possession of only 10 feet x 15 feet of the house has been delivered to him and the remaining portion continues to be in possession of the other co-sharers. According to respondent no.8, the petitioner is one of the defendants in the civil suit and has effective alternative remedy of moving an application for vacation of the order of temporary injunction. On this premise, it is contended that the present writ petition is not maintainable and is liable to be dismissed.

13. The petitioner, however, has filed a rejoinder affidavit, reasserting that respondent No.8 wields considerable influence in the district court establishment. It is stated that on enquiry, she came to know that respondent no.8 had earlier worked as Peshkar in the court of Munsif, and was thereafter transferred as a Peshkar in the POCSO Court, and is presently working in the Copying Section. It has been reiterated that respondent No.8 was never in possession of any part of the house. According to the petitioner, respondent No.8 was well aware that the property in question is a residential house, in which families of five co-shares are residing and there has been no physical partition of their respective shares.

14. It has further been reasserted that the case set up by respondent No.8, allegeing that the petitioner and other co-sharers twice broke open the lock and took possession, is palpably false. It is specifically pleaded that respondent No.8 never came into actual physical possession of any part of the ancestral property on basis of the sale deed. According to the petitioner, possession was sought to be obtained for the first time on 18.7.2025 through administrative intervention, under garb of the ex parte injunction order dated 27.1.2025 and not on basis of any pre-existing lawful possession. It is further stated that Original Suit No. 49 of 2025 has been instituted by Shivdhari, widow of Gelhari, seeking cancellation of the sale deed and the said civil suit is presently pending. It is submitted that in absence of any fresh order of Civil Court directing the revenue authorities to handover possession to respondent No.8, the administrative authorities had no authority to entertain the application dated 26.05.2025. The dispossession of the petitioner, on the basis of the said application dated 26.05.2025, under the guise of execution of the temporary injunction order dated 27.01.2025, by the administrative authorities, is without jurisdiction.

Contentions of learned counsel for the parties:

15. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that :-

(a) The administrative authorities had no power or jurisdiction to constitute any joint team for the purpose of delivering possession of the property to respondent No.8. The entire exercise carried out by the joint team constituted in pursuance of the officer memo bearing letter No. 121 dated __ July 25, is without authority of law and liable to be set aside.

(b) The trial court exceeded its jurisdiction in granting ad-interim ex parte injunction, without first ascertaining whether the plaintiff (respondent No.8) was in actual physical possession of the suit property. Again, the trial court fell into error in entertaining the application for restoration of possession under Section 151 CPC, firstly, on a date not fixed in the case, and secondly, in allowing it on the same date, even without issuing any notice to the petitioner and without conducting any enquiry. According to learned counsel, such an order, having serious civil consequences, could not have been passed in a summary manner.

(c) There was no order of the trial court for delivery of possession to respondent no.8, on basis of which the revenue team could have been constituted vide office memo dated July 25.

(d) Respondent No.8 could never have come into, nor was he ever in possession of any defined or demarcated portion of the property, inasmuch as the property is undivided. Further, the stand taken in the counter affidavit is inconsistent and falsifies the claim of respondent No.8 that he was dispossessed twice by the petitioner and other co-sharers.

(e) Trial court passed various orders in favour of respondent no.8 being swayed by the fact that he was an employee of the district court and worked as Peshkar in different courts. Consequently, the entire exercise stands vitiated.

16. Per contra, learned counsel for respondent No.8 submitted that:

(i) Respondent No.8 was lawfully handed over possession of the portion of the house in respect of which sale deed was executed in his favour, the vendors being in actual physical possession thereof at the time of execution of the sale deed.

(ii) The petitioner and other co-sharers twice broke open the locks and succeeded in dispossessing respondent No.8 and, therefore, the trial court and the administrative authorities have rightly passed the orders to protect his possession and to restore status quo ante.

(iii) The petitioner has an effective alternative remedy of seeking vacation of the temporary injunction by moving appropriate application before the trial court and, therefore, the present writ petition ought not to be entertained.

17. We have considered the rival submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the material on record, including the written submissions.

Discussion and Analysis:

18. Admittedly, Gelhai, father-in-law of the petitioner, was a co-tenure holder along with several other persons of Plot No.211 area 0.4310 hectare. It is also admitted that upon his death, his share in the joint holding devolved on his four sons, namely, Shyamji, Premji, Ramji, Lalji and his wife, Shivdhari Devi. As per revenue records, though after death of Gelhai, name of all his heirs, came to be recorded in his place but there is no physical partition of the respective shares. There is also no evidence brought on record in this regard by respondent No. 8, except the bald assertion in respect of oral settlement. Moreover, there is no such case set up in the suit nor respondent no. 8 has ever asserted that his vendors were exclusive owners of the portion of property being transferred. There was also no such recital in the sale deed. In fact, in the sale deed, it has not been stated how a specific portion of the property is being sold.

19. The specific case of the petitioner is that the house has been in joint possession of all the co-tenure holders. She has been residing therein along with her three children. One of the two shops on the ground floor was in her possession wherefrom she has been running a beauty parlour and cosmetic shop. It has been stated that since husband of the petitioner is a drunkard, she earns livelihood for the family from the business being run from the aforesaid shop. Respondent No.8, in the counter affidavit filed by him, has not denied that the petitioner was running a beauty parlour from one of the shops on the ground floor. He has also not disputed that the petitioner has been dispossessed on basis of the orders passed by the trial court and the action taken by the Administrative Authorities was ostensibly for giving effect to the orders of the trial court.

20. The present proceedings, in pursuance of which the petitioner and her family have been dispossessed, commenced with an application stated to have been filed by respondent No. 8 on 04.05.2025 before the Superintendent of Police, District Siddharth Nagar. In the said application, respondent no. 8 has asserted that he had purchased a small part of 0.0063197 hectare out of 0.4310 hectare of Gata No. 211, over which a residential building was in existence, by means of sale-deed dated 14.02.2024 from Shyamji and Premji. On basis of the said transaction, his name was mutated in the revenue records on 27.04.2024. It was further stated that he had put his domestic belongings in the said portion and had put a lock thereon, thereby coming in possession of the same. On 27.01.2025, he instituted a suit in the court of Civil Judge (J.D.), Bansi seeking a decree of permanent injunction restraining the defendants from breaking the lock, raising construction over the property, or otherwise interfering with his alleged possession. It is alleged that despite order of temporary injunction in his favour, the vendors broke open the lock and re-entered the house, assuring him they would vacate the premises by March. However, despite repeated requests, they did not vacate the house. Respondent No.8 further claimed that he attempted to contact the vendor, Shyamji, telephonically as well as personally, but all such attempts failed. On the basis of the aforesaid allegations, the said application was filed seeking issuance of appropriate orders for delivery of possession of the house to respondent No.8. The application, for ease of reference, is extracted below:

21. It is noteworthy that in the said application, respondent No. 8 did not disclose the date on which he was allegedly dispossessed by the vendors by breaking the lock and re-entering the portion claimed to have been sold to him. It is further relevant to note that after obtaining order of ad interim injunction from the trial court on 27.01.2025, respondent No. 8 filed an application under Section 151 CPC on 05.02.2025 alleging that the defendants in the suit had forcibly taken possession of the sold property by breaking open the locks, despite the subsistence of the order of temporary injunction, thereby violating the order passed by the court. The relevant portion of the said application is extracted herein below:

"उपरोक्त स्थगन आदेश की जानकारी प्रतिवादीगण को हो गयी और वह वादी के अनुपस्थित का लाभ उठाकर दिनांक 02.02.2025 को वादी के मकान अक्षर ABFEA का ताला तोड़कर उसमें जबरन घुस गये और माननीय न्यायालय के स्थगन आदेश का उल्लंघन करके बादी दखिल दावे के उद्देश्य को फेल करने पर आमदा है। ऐसी परिस्थित में तहसीलदार बांसी व राजस्व निरीक्षक मय लेखपाल थानाध्यक्ष खेसरहा मय पुलिसबल के साथ बादी के मकान में जो दौरान मुकदमा प्रतिवादीगण द्वारा ताला तोड़कर कब्जा कर लिया गया है को खाली कराया जाना आवश्यक व न्यायसंगत है।"

22. On the same date, the trial court allowed the aforesaid application and directed the SHO, Khesraha, to ensure compliance with the order of ad-interim injunction dated 27.01.2025. The order passed by the trial court on the said date reads as follows:

"दिनांक & 05-02-2025

24. It is noteworthy that on 05.02.2025 itself, the very date on which application under Section 151 CPC was filed, it was entertained and allowed ex parte. The suit was not fixed for any other purpose on that date. As a matter of fact, while granting ex parte ad-interim injunction on 27.01.2025, the trial court had issued summons to the defendants and had fixed 24.02.2025 for W.S. and 06.03.2025 for settlement of issues. It is further relevant to note here that while passing order of exparte ad-interim injunction and fixing 10.02.2025 for consideration of the application for temporary injunction, the trial court completely overlooked the mandatory provisions of Order XXXIX Rule 3 CPC. Under the said provision, the court granting ex parte injunction is required to direct the plaintiff to take immediate steps to serve upon the defendants, by the registered post, copies of the application for injunction alongwith the supporting affidavit, a copy of the plaint, and copies of the documents relied upon and further to file, on the day such injunction was granted or on the immediately following day, an affidavit stating that copies have been duly delivered or dispatched. A perusal of the order granting temporary injunction reveals that no specific reason has been recorded therein for formation of the opinion that the object of granting the injunction would be defeated by delay. Furthermore, the trial court failed to ensure compliance with the statutory requirement of service of notice upon the defendants alongwith copies of plaint and other relevant documents as mandated under law.

25. The specific case of the petitioner is that she has neither been served with summons in the suit nor was she aware of the ex parte injunction order until the Revenue Authorities and the Police Team arrived at the site and delivered possession to respondent No.8. In cases where an ex parte injunction order is granted, the law mandates that every endeavour must be made to dispose of the injunction application at the earliest. However, a perusal of the order-sheet reveals that on the very next date i.e. 10.02.2025, the trial court without advertting to the question as to whether respondent No.8 had complied with the mandatory requirements contained in the proviso to Order XXXIX Rule 3 CPC, adjourned the matter to 24.02.2025 and extended the injunction in a routine manner. The same course of action was repeated on subsequent dates, namely, 24.02.2025, 06.03.2025, 18.03.2025, 25.03.2025, 24.04.2025, 15.05.2025, 30.05.2025, 11.07.2025. The orders passed on the aforesaid dates are extracted herein below:

26. The aforesaid circumstances clearly demonstrate that the trial court proceeded in a cursory manner in utter disregard of the mandatory requirements of law. This court is constrained to observe that the manner in which the proceedings were conducted, leaves it unclear as to whether such a course was adopted out of ignorance of law or for reasons extraneous thereto.

27. It is further noteworthy that on 05.02.2025, respondent No. 8 moved an application before the trial court under Section 151 CPC alleging that on 02.02.2025 the defendants broke open the locks of the portion allegedly in his possession and thereby violated the injunction order, and on that basis, sought restoration of possession. The alleged dispossession is stated to have taken place within five days from the date of grant of the ex parte injunction and within the period fixed by the trial court for service of summons upon the defendants. However, in the said application, there is no indication whatsoever that respondent no.8 had taken steps to serve the defendants with the summons of the suit, though, by the date of filing of the application, the period granted for services had already expired. It is also relevant to note that, as per the averments contained in the application dated 05.02.2025, the apprehended conduct which formed the basis for seeking injunctions namely, re-entry into the said portion by breaking open the locks, had allegedly materialized in the manner projected by respondent no.8 at the time of institution of the suit.

28. The trial court in the comments submitted in pursuance of the order dated 28.08.2025 has tried to justify his action by placing reliance on the judgement of Supreme Court in Board of Trustees of the Port of Mumbai Vs. Nikhil N. Gupta and another, (2015)10 SCC 139 and Division Bench judgements of this Court in Sree Ram Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, 2011(2)ALJ 187 and Smt. Jagannathiya Vs. State of U.P. through Secretary Home, U.P. Lucknow and others, 2006 (64) ALR 330.

(a) In Board of Trustees of the Port of Mumbai (Supra), one of the party, which had suffered a decree of eviction and had been given time to vacate subject to filing of undertaking before the Supreme Court, failed to vacate the premises. Consequently, when the contempt petition was filed before Supreme Court by the decree holder complaining breach of undertaking on part of the judgement debtor, the Supreme Court directed for execution of warrant of possession notwithstanding the objections by the judgement debtor or by any third party alleged to be in possession of the suit premises. The facts of the said case are clearly distinguishable except that it recognises the principle that in case of violation of undertaking given to a Court, it has power to issue appropriate direction to ensure execution of the decree.

(b) In Sree Ram (supra) in a writ petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution before this Court, it was alleged that the injunction order granted by the trial court in a Civil Suit was being violated. The plaintiff's application under Order XXXIX Rule 2A CPC was stated to be pending. The petitioner prayed for appropriate direction by this Court to the District Administration to ensure compliance of the order of injunction passed by the trial court. After citing various judgements of Supreme Court holding that the Court is competent to pass suitable orders under Section 151 CPC to meet ends of justice and to prevent abuse of process of Court, it has been held that the trial court also has sufficient powers to issue appropriate directions to District Administration/Police Authorities to ensure compliance with its order. While clarifying the above stated legal position, the High Court permitted the petitioner to approach the trial court for enforcement of the order and directed the trial court to look into the matter and pass appropriate orders after providing opportunity of hearing to the parties. The said decision, as noted, recognises the power of the Court to issue appropriate orders to advance the cause of justice subject to opportunity of hearing being provided to the parties. The said judgement, in fact, would go against the stand taken by the learned trial Judge, as in the present case, the application under Section 151 CPC was allowed on the very date it was filed and without affording any opportunity of hearing to the defendants.

(c) The third judgement relied upon by the trial Judge in case of Smt. Jagannathiya (supra) also merely holds that once the Court is satisfied that interim order passed by it has been disobeyed, it is obliged to pass appropriate directions for enforcement of its order and it cannot remain a mere spectator. In the said case, an order of temporary injunction was granted by the trial court and the said order was upheld by the revisional court and also in the petition filed before this Court under Article 227 of the Constitution. The case of the plaintiff was that despite the order of interim injunction in her favour, the defendants were interfering in her possession, and the court below had expressed its inability to enforce its order, observing that the duty to enforce the orders passed by it was that of the Police Authorities. In the said context, it was held that the trial court, apart from specific powers conferred upon it under Order XXXIX, Rule 2A CPC, also has power, to issue necessary instructions to the police, if the facts so warrant, to ensure compliance with its order.

29. The power of trial court to restore status quo ante, in appropriate cases, is not in dispute. However, the question which arises for consideration before this court is whether, in the facts and circumstances of the instant case, there existed any justification or occasion for exercise of such power, particularly in the absence of compliance with the mandatory procedural safeguards and without affording an opportunity of hearing to the affected parties.

30. As already noticed, the application was filed on 05.02.2025 on a date which was not fixed in the suit. The trial court, on the very same date, took up the application for consideration and allowed it ex parte. The undue haste with which the application was entertained and granted gives rise to a serious doubt regarding the propriety of the exercise undertaken by the trial court. The court was required to issue notice of the said application to the defendants. It ought to have conducted atleast a prima facie fact finding exercise to ascertain whether the plaintiff was, in fact, in possession of the property and whether the alleged dispossession had taken place after the grant of order of temporary injunction so as to constitute a violation thereof. This requirement was all the more imperative in the facts of the instant case, where the order of temporary injunction was granted ex parte, solely on the version of the plaintiff, without even obtaining any Commissioner's report with regard to possession of the suit property.

31. The admitted case of respondent No. 8 is that in pursuance of order of trial court dated 05.02.2025, he was again put in possession of the suit property by the Police Authorities and a written acknowledgement was issued by him, addressed to SHO, Police Station Khesraha stating that possession had been restored. However, in the subsequent application filed by him on 14.05.2025, there is neither any reference to the alleged dispossession in the past nor to the order of the trial court dated 05.02.2025, nor even to the alleged restoration of possession in pursuance thereof on 07.02.2025. The petitioner does not complain of any dispossession in pursuance of order dated 05.02.2025. On the contrary, she categorically denies that respondent No.8 was ever put in possession of the suit property. She has also specifically denied the allegation regarding breaking open of locks on 02.02.2025 as well as alleged restoration of possession to respondent No. 8 in compliance with the order dated 05.02.2025.

32. In the suit, the specific case of respondent No. 8 was that he was in possession on the date of filing of the suit and on that basis, relief of permanent injunction was sought. The application for temporary injunction was founded on the allegation that there was a threat of dispossession of the plaintiff/respondent No.8 by defendants by breaking open the locks and the trial court, accepting the same to be true, also granted ex parte ad interim injunction. However, the aforesaid stand of respondent No. 8 stands totally belied by the pleadings made by him in paragraph-7 of the short counter affidavit filed in the present writ petition, wherein he has stated that after purchasing the property and being put in possession thereof, he came to know that the co-sharers of the house, including the petitioner, had broken the lock and entered into the portion purchased by him, which compelled him to institute the suit. Paragraph-7 of the short counter affidavit of respondent No.8 is reproduced hereinbelow:

“7. That it is stated here that since the answering respondent is the permanent resident of District Sant Kabir Nagar and doing job in District- Siddhartha Nagar, and as such he is not permanently residing in the said house which he purchased through sale deed, and accordingly the answering respondent has put the lock over the property in question, but after some it was informed to the answering respondent that the other co sharer including the petitioner have break the lock and enter in the purchased room, and then the answering respondent filed Suit No- 49 of 2025 Sandeep Gupta Vs Shyamji and others seeking permanent injunction restraining the defendants from creating any interference in the possession of the plaintiff and not to break the lock put over the property in question.”

33. Reverting to the application dated 14.05.2025 filed by respondent No. 8 before the police authorities seeking appropriate orders for handing over possession to him, it is pertinent to note that the said application was forwarded to Inspector Incharge, Police Station Khesraha, District Siddharthnagar on 16.05.2025 and appears to have been received at the police station on the same date. On the said application, the Inspector Incharge, Sakarpar, Police Station Khesraha submitted his report to Sub Divisional Officer, Bansi. In the said report, it was categorically stated that respondent No. 8 could not get possession of the property on basis of the sale deed in his favour and accordingly, a request was made for constituting a joint team for delivering possession to respondent No. 8. The said report assumes significance and is, therefore, reproduced herein below:

34. In the report, shelter has been taken behind the ex parte injunction order dated 27.01.2025, without appreciating that the said order was in prohibitive terms and not for delivering possession to respondent No. 8 in case he was not already in possession. There is also no reference to order of trial court dated 05.02.2025 apparently for the reason that in purported compliance of the said order, possession had allegedly been restored to respondent No. 8 in the past and therefore, the said order had exhausted itself. On the other hand, the report reinforces the stand of the petitioner that respondent No. 8 never came in actual physical possession of the house on basis of the alleged sale deed. Admittedly, there was no fresh order of the trial court directing the Administrative Authorities to put respondent No. 8 in possession of the house. The order of temporary injunction was purely prohibitory in nature and not mandatory. Therefore, the Chowki Incharge, Sakarpar clearly exceeded his authority in requesting the SDO to constitute a joint team for delivery of possession to respondent No. 8, merely on basis of the request of respondent No. 8.

35. The subsequent direction issued by the SDM dated 25.06.2025 to the Tehsildar for constituting a joint team, followed by order of the Tehsildar dated 02.07.2025 to Naib Tehsildar to the same effect, and Office Order dated __, July 2025¹ whereby a team of Revenue Officials was constituted for delivery of possession of the property to respondent No. 8, are without jurisdiction. In the facts and circumstances noted above, the Administrative Authorities had exceeded their authority and jurisdiction in constituting a revenue team for delivering possession to respondent No. 8.

36. Although, the name of respondent No. 8 came to be recorded in the revenue records in place of vendors but his name is jointly recorded with other co-tenure holders. As already stated, there is no division of the holding. The theory of oral partition has been set up by respondent No. 8 for the first time in the short counter affidavit. Copy of the khasra which is document of possession has also not been filed in the suit nor before this Court. In the aforesaid situation, even if, we abstain from going into the merits of the ex parte injunction order dated 27.01.2025, we are left with no doubt in our mind that the trial court had acted in a patently illegal manner, with material irregularity, in entertaining the application dated 02.02.2025 under Section 151 CPC, for restoring the possession, and in allowing the said application on the same date ex parte. At the least, the trial court ought to have issued notice of the said application to the defendants and afforded them an opportunity to contest the same. In no event, the procedure adopted by the trial court was justified.

37. Additionally, we find that there is no finding recorded in the order dated 05.02.2025 that respondent No. 8 was in possession of the suit property on the date when injunction order was passed in his favour, nor is there any finding as regards the date on which the alleged dispossession had taken place. In the absence of these findings, the order of the trial court allowing the application for restoring status quo ante is wholly illegal.

38. We find that the trial court has exceeded its jurisdiction in passing order dated 05.02.2025 and the Administrative Authorities have equally erred in constituting a revenue team for delivering possession to respondent No. 8 and in thereafter dispossessing the defendants, including the petitioner herein, from the suit property, through the said team. It amounts to a gross abuse of the administrative powers and is wholly without jurisdiction. The tearing hurry in which the matter has proceeded raises serious doubt about the bona fides of orders passed by the trial court and the action taken by the Administrative Authorities. The circumstances clearly warrant an enquiry on the administrative side.

39. As we find that both the Court below as well as Administrative Authorities have acted in a totally mala fide manner and in colourable exercise of power in dispossessing the petitioner and consequently, we are not declined to accept the submission that the instant petition should not have been entertained and the petitioner should be relegated to the alternative remedy of filing objection and praying for appropriate relief before the trial court.

40. Accordingly, we dispose of the writ petition with the following directions:

a) Respondents No. 2 & 3 are directed to ensure that the possession of the property in dispute is handed over to the petitioner and other co-sharers within 48 hours from the date of communication and receipt of a copy of this order.

b) Let copy of this order be placed before the Hon'ble Chief Justice for consideration and for passing appropriate orders, if so deemed fit, for initiating disciplinary enquiry against the Civil Judge (Junior Division) who has passed the order dated 05.02.2025.

c) So far as respondent No. 8, an employee of District Judgeship Siddharthnagar is concerned, the matter be placed before the competent authority for appropriate action in accordance with law.

d) The petitioner shall be entitled to costs quantified at Rs.1,00,000/-, which shall be paid by respondent No. 8 by way of compensation for illegal dispossession of the petitioner and for the mental trauma suffered by the petitioner and her three minor children. The aforesaid amount shall be paid by respondent No. 8 to the petitioner within a period of one week from the date of this order, failing which respondent No. 2 shall forthwith issue a recovery certificate for recovery of the said amount as arrears of land revenue and shall ensure recovery thereof from respondent No. 8 and payment to the petitioner positively within a further period of one month.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Common question of law under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act, 2002 regarding delay in deciding applications of the financial institution for taking physical possession of secured assets by the competent Magistrates.

HEADNOTE

Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 – Sections 14, 26D, 26E – Applications by secured creditor for taking physical possession of secured assets – Delay in disposal by District Magistrate/Chief Metropolitan Magistrate – Statutory timeline of thirty days extendable up to sixty days – Legislative intent of expeditious enforcement of security interest – Role of Magistrate confined to administrative assistance and verification of statutory compliance – Delay defeats the very purpose of the Act – Statutory priority of secured creditor – Directions issued to ensure timely disposal of Section 14 applications.

Writ petitions allowed. (E-5)

HELD:

SARFAESI Act, 2002 is a special legislation enacted to enable banks and financial institutions to enforce security interests in a swift and effective manner, without having inordinate delay. Section 14 was made to provide an effective tool to protect the interest of the secured creditor. The secured creditor may request the District Magistrate or the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate for the purpose of taking possession or control of any secured asset. Section 14 empowers the District Magistrate or the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate to render administrative assistance for taking possession of the secured asset upon satisfaction of the statutory conditions prescribed. The function of the Magistrate is confined to verification of factual compliance with statutory requirements. The Magistrate's role under Section 14 is not adjudicatory but executive and facilitative.

Section 14 applications are to be decided promptly and not permitted to remain pending for indefinite periods, and the extension is for meeting certain exigencies only. Prolonged pendency of applications under Section 14 undermines the very purpose of the SARFAESI Act. The bar contained under Section 14(3) makes it clear that once assistance is rendered under Section 14 in accordance with law, such acts are not amenable to challenge before any court or authority. This underscores that the Magistrate's role under Section 14 is not adjudicatory but executive and facilitative.

The right to approach the Magistrate under Section 14 is a substantive statutory remedy, and any inordinate delay in its consideration amounts to denial of such remedy, which cannot be sustained in law. Delay in deciding Section 14 applications has the potential to expose secured assets to competing claims, attachments or encumbrances, thereby undermining the statutory priority expressly recognized under Section 26E. Even where an order under Section 14 has been passed and possession was delivered but was disturbed by trespass, the secured creditor is entitled to seek further administrative assistance for effective implementation of the Section 14 order. District Magistrate/Chief Metropolitan Magistrate is directed to decide the petitioner's applications filed under Section 14 as expeditiously as possible and preferably within a period of thirty days. (Paras 17–18, 20–21, 26–27, 31–32, 37, 40–43)

Delay in disposal of applications under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act, 2002 by the District Magistrate/Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, Ghaziabad and other concerned authorities.

Appearances for Parties

Advs For Petitioner: Ashutosh Sharma; Nitesh Kumar Jauhari; Ajeet Singh

Advs For Respondents: C.S.C.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Swarupama Chaturvedi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ashutosh Sharma, Sri Nitesh Kumar Jauhari and Sri Ajeet Singh learned counsel for petitioners and Sri Pradeepta Kumar Shahi, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel and Sri Mukul Tripathi, learned Standing Counsel for the State respondents.

2. By means of the present batch of petitions filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, petitioners have prayed for issuance of an appropriate writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the concerned Magistrates to decide the applications filed by them under Section 14 of the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 (hereinafter “SARFAESI Act, 2002”) expeditiously, within a time-frame for ensuring the physical possession of the property to petitioners.

3. The petitioner is same in all petitions, which is a registered housing finance company and a notified financial institution under the SARFAESI Act, 2002. The petitions challenge administrative delays in the exercise of statutory duties by the concerned Magistrates, which, according to the petitioner, amount to a violation of the mandatory timelines prescribed under the SARFAESI Act 2002 and also directions issued by this Court in various writ petitions in order to ensure the timeline.

4. All the writ petitions in this batch raise a common question of law under the SARFAESI Act, 2002, they are, therefore, being heard together and decided by this common judgment. For the sake of convenience, the factual background of each petition is set out separately, and references to pleadings and documents are confined to the respective petitions unless otherwise indicated.

5. In each case, the borrowers availed loans from the petitioner, creating an equitable mortgage over the respective properties. Following defaults in repayment, the loan accounts were declared Non-Performing Assets. In accordance with the statutory procedure, demand notices under Section 13(2) of the SARFAESI Act 2002 were issued. As debts remained unpaid, the petitioner took symbolic possession of the assets under Section 13(4). Subsequently, the petitioner filed applications under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act before the competent court to obtain actual physical possession of the secured assets. The grievance in all the petitions is that the applications have not been decided within the statutory period, and the authorities concerned have allegedly been mechanically fixing dates without passing substantive orders.

Writ C No. 42608 of 2025

6. Factual background in Writ C No. 42608 of 2025 is that the borrower availed a housing loan of Rs.10,01,000/- on 13.02.2024, creating an equitable mortgage over scheduled property. Following a default in repayment, the loan account was declared a Non-Performing Asset on 06.05.2024. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that in accordance with the statutory procedure, a demand notice under Section 13(2) of the SARFAESI Act, 2002 was issued by the petitioner for the amount of Rs. 10,27,581/- due as on 20.02.2025. He further submits that neither any objection was filed nor the debt was paid, and therefore the petitioner initiated action under Section 13(4). Thereafter, to obtain actual physical possession, the Petitioner filed Case No. 3239 of 2025 before the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Ghaziabad but the application has not been decided within the statutory period and the same is still pending as the Respondent No.2 is merely fixing dates mechanically in the matter.

Writ C No. 42610 of 2025

7. The petitioner provided a housing loan of Rs. 9,00,000/- to the borrowers in Writ C No. 42610 of 2025. To secure the loan, the borrowers created an equitable mortgage by depositing the original title deeds of the property with the petitioner. However, the borrowers failed to adhere to the repayment schedule, prompting the petitioner to declare the loan account as a Non-Performing Asset on 06.01.2025, in accordance with the Reserve Bank of India guidelines. Thereafter, proceedings were initiated under the SARFAESI Act, 2002, and a demand notice was issued on 25.02.2025, requiring the borrowers to discharge their dues amount. The borrowers neither made the payment nor filed any objections. Consequently, the petitioner took symbolic possession of the secured property and filed Case No. 3238 of 2025 under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act, 2002, before the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Ghaziabad. Despite the statutory mandate to decide Section 14 applications within thirty to sixty days, the matter remained pending, prompting the petitioner to approach this court. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the delay impairs their statutory right to recover public money and that, in the absence of any challenge to the proceedings in another forum, there is no legal impediment preventing the Magistrate from passing order in the case.

Writ C No. 42622 of 2025

8. The petitioner provided a housing loan of Rs. 5,05,000/- to Mr. Mahmood Siddiqui and Mrs. Ruksana. To secure the loan, the borrowers created an equitable mortgage by depositing the original title deeds of their property situated at Ghaziabad. Over time, the borrowers defaulted on their repayment obligations, and consequently, on 05.03.2025, the petitioner declared the loan account a Non-Performing Asset in accordance with the Reserve Bank of India guidelines. Following the default, the petitioner, initiated recovery proceedings under the SARFAESI Act, 2002. A demand notice under Section 13(2) was served upon the borrowers on 12.03.2025, but they neither cleared the dues nor filed any legal objections under Section 13(3A) of the Act. The petitioner subsequently took symbolic possession of the mortgaged property. As the respondents failed to discharge their full liability within the prescribed period and did not challenge the recovery proceedings before the Debt Recovery Tribunal, the petitioner filed case no. 3236 of 2025 under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act, 2002 before the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Ghaziabad, for appropriate order on physical possession of the secured asset, but the case remains pending.

WRIT C No 42639 of 2025

9. The fact in Writ C No. 42639 of 2025 is that the respondents 4 and 5 availed a housing loan of Rs. 17,60,000/- from the petitioner financial institution on 20.11.2023, securing the loan by creating an equitable mortgage through the deposit of the original title deeds of the property with the petitioner. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the respondents 4 and 5 are willful defaulters, having deliberately failed to maintain their loan accounts in accordance with the repayment schedule. As a result of their default, the petitioner was compelled to declare the loan account as a Non-Performing Asset on 06.05.2024. Thereafter, the petitioner invoked the provisions of the SARFAESI Act, 2002 and issued a demand notice dated 27.06.2024 under Section 13(2) read with Rules 3 and 4 of the Security Interest (Enforcement) Rules to the debtors/respondent nos. 4 and 5. Non-compliance with the notice compelled the petitioner to take symbolic possession of the mortgaged property, issuing a possession notice dated 19.11.2024 under Section 13(4) of the Act, which was duly pasted on the mortgaged property and also published in two leading newspapers.

10. As the respondents failed to discharge their liability in full within the prescribed period, the petitioner approached the District Magistrate under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act, 2002, in Case No. 513 of 2025, seeking appropriate orders for physical possession of the secured asset. The District Magistrate transferred the case to the respondent no.2, who passed an order under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act on 28.02.2025. By the said order, the competent authority directed the Magistrate to assist the Authorized Officer of the petitioner in taking actual physical possession of the mortgaged property. The petitioner deposited one day's salary of the required police force on 29.07.2025, following which physical possession of the secured property was taken on 06.10.2025 in the presence of the District Administration, with the house being sealed peacefully.

11. The core issue in this writ petition is that, on the same day, the petitioner came to know that the respondents had broken the seal and trespassed into the property. The petitioner immediately approached the police and lodged a First Information Report dated 06.10.2025, and also informed the Magistrate, but no action has been taken to date. The Authorized Officer of the petitioner repeatedly requested compliance with the Section 14 order dated 28.02.2025. Meanwhile, respondents no.4 and 5 are illegally occupying the property and respondent no. 1, 2 and 3 have not discharged their liability to get the order dated 28.02.2025 effectively executed. On facts regarding grievance, this petition is different although the broader issue is same as the effective physical possession is still not with the petitioner.

Writ C No. 42645 of 2025

12. The background fact in Writ C No. 42645 of 2025 is that a loan of Rs. 10,01,000/- was granted to Respondent Nos.3 and 4 on 25.02.2023 after creating an equitable mortgage by depositing the original title deeds of the property with the petitioner on 13.02.2024. Due to payment default, the loan account was declared as a Non-Performing Asset on 05.03.2025. Following the default, the petitioner, initiated recovery proceedings under the SARFAESI Act, 2002, issuing a formal demand notice under Section 13(2) on 12.03.2025. Despite service of the notice, the borrowers neither cleared the dues nor filed any legal objections. Thereafter, the petitioner took symbolic possession of the mortgaged property and approached the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Ghaziabad (Respondent No. 2), under Section 14 of the Act in case no.3240 of 2025, which remains pending.

Writ C No. 42660 of 2025

13. Dispute in Writ C No. 42660 of 2025 is regarding an unpaid housing loan of Rs. 19,00,000/- provided to Ms. Anju and Mr. Vijay after executing an equitable mortgage by depositing the original title deeds of the property with the petitioner. However, borrowers defaulted in repayment, prompting the petitioner to classify the loan account as a Non-Performing Asset and subsequently, taking symbolic possession of the property as per law and thereafter in order to take actual physical possession and recover the outstanding dues, the petitioner filed case no. 3237 of 2025 under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act, 2002 before the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Ghaziabad, seeking assistance in taking physical control of the mortgaged property.

14. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the statute imposes mandatory obligation upon the District Magistrate or the Chief Judicial Magistrate, to decide such applications within the time-frame prescribed therein, and that the role of the Magistrate is purely administrative. Learned counsel further submits that repeated adjournments, often at the instance of the borrowers, are impermissible in proceedings under Section 14 and that such delay defeats the very object of the SARFAESI Act by frustrating the secured creditor's statutory right to enforce security interest. It is, therefore, urged that appropriate directions be issued for expeditious disposal of the pending applications.

15. Per contra, learned counsel appearing for the respondents submits that the delay in disposal of the applications under Section 14 cannot be attributed solely to the magistrates and authorities concerned and is stated to be occasioned by administrative exigencies and the pendency of other matters. It is contended that adequate opportunity is required to be afforded before passing orders affecting possession of immovable property and that no mala fides can be attributed to the authorities.

16. Having heard counsel appearing for respective parties and after perusal of the records and examination of factual background in all the petitions in the present batch, it is apparent that while the amounts, dates of disbursement, and particulars of the borrowers differ, all the writ petitions raise a common question of law arising under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act, 2002. All petitions except Writ C No. 42639 of 2025, the petitioner challenge the delay in deciding applications for physical possession filed by the petitioner financial institutions before the competent Magistrates, despite the statutory mandate prescribing a timeline for disposal. In Writ C No. 42639 of 2025, the application has got decided although the financial institution is still not in the effective physical possession due to trespass on the same day when the possession was handed over to the petitioner. The Court, therefore, proceeds to examine the statutory framework, and relevant judicial principles applicable to the disposal of Section 14 applications.

17. The SARFAESI Act, 2002 was brought to regulate the securitization and reconstruction of financial assets and enforcement of security interest and to provide for a central data base of security interest created on property rights, and for matters connected therewith an incidental thereof. The object and reasons to bring the SARFASI Act 2022 are as under:-

“The financial sector has been one of the key drivers in India's efforts to achieve success in rapidly developing its economy. While the banking industry in India is progressively complying with international prudential norms and accounting practices there are certain areas in which the banking and financial sector do not have a level playing field as compared to other participants in the financial markets in the world. There is no legal provision for facilitating securitisation of financial assets of banks and financial institutions. Further, unlike international banks, the banks and financial institutions in India do not have power to take possession of securities and sell them. Our existing legal framework relating to commercial transactions has not kept pace with the changing commercial practices and financial sector reforms. This has resulted in slow place of recovery of defaulting loans and mounting levels of non-performing assets of banks and financial institutions. Narasimham Committee I and II and Andhyarujina Committee constituted by the Central Government for the purpose of examining banking sector reforms have considered the need for changes in the legal system in respect of these areas. These Committees, inter alia, have suggested enactment of a new legislation for securitisation and empowering banks and financial institutions to take possession of the securities and to sell them without the intervention of the court. Acting on these suggestions, the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Ordinance, 2002 was promulgated on the 21st June, 2002 to regulate securitisation and reconstruction of financial assets and enforcement of security interest and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto. ...”

18. The SARFAESI Act 2002 is a special legislation enacted to enable banks and financial institutions to enforce security interests in a swift and effective manner, without having inordinate delay. The statute reflects a conscious legislative departure from traditional recovery mechanisms, premised on speed, certainty and minimal court intervention. The legislative scheme strikes a calibrated balance between the rights of secured creditors and the safeguards available to borrowers. While enforcement measures under Section 13 are enabled without prior judicial intervention, borrowers are conferred a substantive post-measure remedy under Section 17 before the Debts Recovery Tribunal.

19. The Supreme Court while interpreting Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act 2002 in NKGSB Cooperative Bank Limited Vs Subir Chakravarty and others (2022) 10 SCC 286, discussed the object of the Act and emphasized that the intention of law makers is to empower financial institution. Relevant paragraph of the judgement is reproduced below for ready reference:

“29. The underlying purpose of the 2002 Act is to empower the financial institutions in India to have similar powers as enjoyed by their counterparts, namely, international banks in other countries. One such feature is to empower the financial institutions to take possession of securities and sell them. The same has been translated into provisions falling under Chapter III of the 2002 Act. Section 13 deals with enforcement of security interest. Sub-Section (4) thereof envisages that in the event a default is committed by the borrower in discharging his liability in full within the period specified in sub-Section (2), the secured creditor may take recourse to one or more of the measures provided in sub-Section (4). One of the measures is to take possession of the secured assets of the borrower including the right to transfer by way of lease, assignment or sale for realising the secured asset. That, they could do through their “authorised officer” as defined in Rule 2(a)47 of the 2002 Rules.”

20. To achieve the object and reasons of bringing the SARFAESI Act, 2002, Section 14 was made to provide an effective tool to protect the interest of secured creditor. The secured creditor may for the purpose of taking possession or control of any secured asset, request in writing, the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or the District Magistrate within whose jurisdiction any such secured asset or other documents relating thereto may be security are found to be taken possession thereof.

21. Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act, 2002 provides a complete mechanism under which the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or the District Magistrate, as the case may be, shall perform his duties. Providing the clear timeline to pass suitable orders for the purpose of taking possession of the secured asset, demonstrate the intention of the law makers to ensure the physical possession in favour of financial institution, who are secured creditors.

22. Since the controversy in the present batch of petitions turns upon the interpretation and implementation of Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act, 2002, therefore the said provision is extracted hereinbelow:

“14. Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or District Magistrate to assist secured creditor in taking possession of secured asset.(1) Where the possession of any secured assets is required to be taken by the secured creditor or if any of the secured assets is required to be sold or transferred by the secured creditor under the provisions of this Act, the secured creditor may, for the purpose of taking possession or control of any such secured assets, request, in writing, the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or the District Magistrate within whose jurisdiction any such secured asset or other documents relating thereto may be situated or found, to take possession thereof, and the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or, as the case may be, the District Magistrate shall, on such request being made to him-

(a) take possession of such asset and documents relating thereto; and

(b) forward such asset and documents to the secured creditor: Provided that any application by the secured creditor shall be accompanied by an affidavit duly affirmed by the authorised officer of the secured creditor, declaring that-

(i) the aggregate amount of financial assistance granted and the total claim of the Bank as on the date of filing the application;

(ii) the borrower has created security interest over various properties and that the Bank or Financial Institution is holding a valid and subsisting security interest over such properties and the claim of the Bank or Financial Institution is within the limitation period;

(iii) the borrower has created security interest over various properties giving the details of properties referred to in sub-clause (ii)above;

(iv) the borrower has committed default in repayment of the financial assistance granted aggregating the specified amount;

(v) consequent upon such default in repayment of the financial assistance the account of the borrower has been classified as a non-performing asset;

(vi) affirming that the period of sixty days notice as required by the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 13, demanding payment of the defaulted financial assistance has been served on the borrower;

(vii) the objection or representation in reply to the notice received from the borrower has been considered by the secured creditor and reasons for non-acceptance of such objection or representation had been communicated to the borrower;

(viii) the borrower has not made any repayment of the financial assistance in spite of the above notice and the Authorised Officer is, therefore, entitled to take possession of the secured assets under the provisions of sub-section (4) of section 13 read with section 14 of the principal Act;

(ix) that the provisions of this Act and the rules made thereunder had been complied with: Provided further that on receipt of the affidavit from the Authorised Officer, the District Magistrate or the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, as the case may be, shall after satisfying the contents of the affidavit pass suitable orders for the purpose of taking possession of the secured assets within a period of thirty days from the date of application: Provided also that if no order is passed by the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or District Magistrate within the said period of thirty days for reasons beyond his control, he may, after recording reasons in writing for the same, pass the order within such further period but not exceeding in aggregate sixty days. Provided also that the requirement of filing affidavit stated in the first proviso shall not apply to proceeding pending before any District Magistrate or the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, as the case may be, on the date of commencement of this Act.

(1A) The District Magistrate or the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate may authorise any officer subordinate to him,-

(i) to take possession of such assets and documents relating thereto; and

(ii) to forward such assets and documents to the secured creditor.

(2) For the purpose of securing compliance with the provisions of sub-section (1), the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or the District Magistrate may take or cause to be taken such steps and use, or cause to be used, such force, as may, in his opinion, be necessary.

(3) No act of the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or the District Magistrate any officer authorised by the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or District Magistrate done in pursuance of this section shall be called in question in any court or before any authority."

23. Report of the Joint Committee on the Enforcement of Security Interest and Recovery of Debts Laws and Miscellaneous Provisions (Amendment) Bill, 2016 has analysed the situation under which the amendment was to be brought in SARFAESI Act 2002. The report highlights the purpose of bringing the amendment in following words:

"3. The Enforcement of Security Interest and Recovery of Debts Laws and Miscellaneous Provisions (Amendment) Bill, 2016 is an important legislation which seeks to amend the Recovery of Debts due to Banks and Financial Institutions Act, 1993 and the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 and make consequential amendments in the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 and the Depositories Act, 1996. The object of the amendments proposed in the Bill is to improve the ease of doing business and facilitate investment leading to higher economic growth and development."

24. The above-mentioned report specifies the reason for the addition of the proviso to provide the extension upto sixty days in Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act 2002, which is added only to meet certain exigencies and delay beyond even that maximum extended day in routine cannot be seen in consonance with the intention of law makers. Relevant paragraph of the Report is reproduced below for the ready reference:

"25. Recording of reasons by CMM or DM - Clause 12 (Insertion of proviso after second proviso to section 14(1) of the principal Act). The Committee decide to insert the following proviso after second proviso to section 14(1) of principal Act with a view to provide further extension of time to meet certain exigencies to CMM/DM to pass an order under section 14 of the principal Act:

“Provided further that where the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or District Magistrate is of the opinion that an order under this sub-section can not be passed within thirty days, he may after recording reasons for the same pass the order within such further period not exceeding in aggregate sixty days.”

25. Report of the Joint Parliamentary Committee can be used to understand the intention of the law makers, and it has been consistently accepted by the Supreme Court in a catena of judgements. Supreme Court in Kalpna Mehta v. Union of India, (2018) 7 SCC 1 has discussed the issue of reliance on different parliamentary proceedings as external aids and observed as follows:

“123. A Constitution Bench in R.S. Nayak v. A.R. Antulay [R.S. Nayak v. A.R. Antulay, (1984) 2 SCC 183 : 1984 SCC (Cri) 172] , after referring to various decisions of this Court and development in the law, opined that the exclusionary rule is flickering in its dying embers in its native land of birth and has been given a decent burial by this Court. The Constitution Bench further observed that the basic purpose of all canons of the Constitution is to ascertain with reasonable certainty the intention of Parliament and for the said purpose, external aids such as reports of Special Committee preceding the enactment, the existing state of law, the environment necessitating enactment of a legislation and the object sought to be achieved, etc. which Parliament held the luxury of availing should not be denied to the court whose primary function is to give effect to the real intention of the legislature in enacting a statute. The Court was of the view that such a denial would deprive the Court of a substantial and illuminating aid to construction and, therefore, the Court decided to depart from the earlier decisions and held that reports of committees which preceded the enactment of a law, reports of Joint Parliamentary Committees and a report of a commission set up for collecting information can be referred to as external aids of construction.”

(Emphasis added)

26. In the light of above, we are of the considered view that Section 14 empowers the District Magistrate or the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate to render administrative assistance for taking possession of the secured asset upon satisfaction of the statutory conditions prescribed under the provisos to sub-section (1). The nature of the function discharged under Section 14 is very specific. From the reading of the provision it is clear that the function of the Magistrate is confined to verification of factual compliance with statutory requirements. The legislature has consciously ensured that collateral challenges do not impede the enforcement process, reserving such issues for adjudication before the Debts Recovery Tribunal under Section 17 SARFAESI Act 2002.

27. Recognizing the need for expeditious action, the legislature has prescribed timelines for disposal of applications under Section 14. The incorporation of time limits is a clear reflection of legislative intent that such applications are to be decided promptly and not permitted to remain pending for indefinite periods because the extension is for meeting certain exigencies only. Supreme Court has interpreted the timeline provided in Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act 2002 and it has held that the time frame is of directory nature in C. Bright Vs District Collector and others

(2021) 2 SCC 392 while dealing with the maximum limit provided under Section 14 of SARFAESI Act 2002.

28. In C. Bright (supra) the Court was dealing with the situation where the power of the Magistrate after the maximum sixty days was under consideration and while observing the timeline being directory in nature, the Supreme Court has held that:

“21. The Act was enacted to provide a machinery for empowering banks and financial institutions, so that they may have the power to take possession of secured assets and to sell them. The DRT Act was first enacted to streamline the recovery of public dues but the proceedings under the said Act have not given desirous results. Therefore, the Act in question was enacted. This Court in Mardia Chemicals@, Transcore@ and Hindon Forge (P) Lid. has held that the purpose of the Act pertains to the speedy recovery of dues, by banks and financial institutions. The true intention of the legislature is a determining factor herein. Keeping the objective of the Act in mind, the time-limit to take action by the District Magistrate has been fixed to impress upon the authority to take possession of the secured assets. However, inability to take possession within time-limit does not render the District Magistrate functus officio. The secured creditor has no control over the District Magistrate who is exercising jurisdiction under Section 14 of the Act for public good to facilitate recovery of public dues. Therefore, Section 14 of the Act is not to be interpreted literally without considering the object and purpose of the Act. If any other interpretation is placed upon the language of Section 14, it would be contrary to the purpose of the Act. The time-limit is to instil a confidence in creditors that the District Magistrate will make an attempt to deliver possession as well as to impose a duty on the District Magistrate to make an earnest effort to and for reasons to be recorded within 60 days. In this light, the remedy under Section 14 of the Act is not rendered redundant if the District Magistrate is unable to handover the possession. The District Magistrate will still be enjoined upon, the duty to facilitate delivery of possession at the earliest.”

29. Supreme Court in State of Punjab v. Bhatinda District Coop. Milk Producers Union Ltd., (2007) 11 SCC 363 has held that:

“18. It is trite that if no period of limitation has been prescribed, statutory authority must exercise its jurisdiction within a reasonable period. What, however, shall be the reasonable period would depend upon the nature of the statute, rights and liabilities thereunder and other relevant factors.”

Applying the aforesaid rationale, the expression “certain contingencies” must be construed strictly and purposively, so as to exclude situations that give rise to unwarranted adjournments and thereby cause avoidable and impermissible delay in the passing of orders, which would otherwise defeat the object of the provision.

30. Supreme Court in Salem Advocate Bar Assn. (2) Vs Union of India, (2005) 6 SCC 344, has taken up the issue of adjournments and its effect and there it is observed by the Supreme Court that:

“31. ...We may, however, add that grant of any adjournment, let alone the first, second or third adjournment, is not a right of a party. The grant of adjournment by a court has to be on a party showing special and extraordinary circumstances. It cannot be in routine. While considering the prayer for grant of adjournment, it is necessary to keep in mind the legislative intent to restrict the grant of adjournments.”

31. Where a statute not only creates a duty but also prescribes the timeframe for its discharge, the obligation assumes higher degree of responsibility and give it a mandatory colour. Delay in such circumstances amounts to failure to exercise jurisdiction vested by law. Prolonged pendency of applications under Section 14 undermines the very purpose of the SARFAESI Act. Secured assets are time-sensitive in nature and are susceptible to deterioration and erosion of value. Delay in enforcement directly impacts recoverability and adversely affects the financial system.

32. Sub-section (3) of Section 14 reinforces the legislative intent by granting statutory protection to the acts performed by the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or the District Magistrate, or any officer authorised by them, in pursuance of the powers exercised under the said provision. The bar contained therein makes it clear that once assistance is rendered under Section 14 in accordance with law, such acts are not amenable to challenge before any court or authority. The object of this provision is to ensure that the process of taking possession of secured assets is not obstructed by collateral proceedings and that the recovery mechanism under the SARFAESI Act operates in a swift, effective, and uninterrupted manner. This statutory immunity also underscores that the Magistrate’s role under Section 14 is not adjudicatory but executive and facilitative, intended solely to aid the secured creditor in enforcement of security interest.

33. This Court cannot overlook the broader public interest involved. Inefficiencies in statutory recovery mechanisms ultimately burden the public exchequer and erode confidence in institutional lending. Sections 26B to 26E of SARFAESI Act 2002, aim to bring certainty, transparency and priority in the enforcement of security interests. Once the secured creditor has complied with the provisions of Section 26D, there is no reason for denying the creditor the benefit of statutory provisions enacted to protect the secured creditor.

34. Section 26D mandates registration of the security interest with the Central Registry as a condition precedent for enforcement under the Act. The requirement of registration ensures public notice and obviates uncertainty regarding competing claims. Upon such registration, Section 26E accords priority to the secured creditor over all other debts, subject to the provisions of the Act. The conferment of statutory priority reflects a deliberate legislative choice to strengthen secured lending and ensure effective recovery. The priority conferred under Section 26E is intended to be real and effective. Such priority would stand diluted if the enforcement process is stalled at the stage of administrative assistance under Section 14 due to avoidable delays.

35. The legislature, being conscious of the delays that traditionally plague recovery proceedings, has consciously incorporated timelines under Section 14 of the Act. Sub-section (1) read with the provisos makes it abundantly clear that the application is required to be disposed of within the period prescribed therein, subject to a short extension for recorded reasons. Such timelines are not ornamental but are intended to infuse statutory discipline and ensure that recovery proceedings are not rendered illusory by administrative inertia.

36. Requirement of registration under Section 26D is not a mere procedural formality but a statutory condition precedent for enforcement. Therefore, once the secured creditor demonstrates compliance with Section 26D by placing on record the registration of the security interest, the Magistrate is expected to act with promptitude. Any avoidable delay in granting assistance frustrates not only Section 14 but also the combined operation of Sections 26D and 26E of the Act.

37. After giving due consideration to the statutory provisions and legal principles, we are of the view that the right to approach the Magistrate under Section 14 is a substantive statutory remedy and any inordinate delay in its consideration amounts to denial of such remedy, which cannot be sustained in law. Delay in deciding applications under Section 14 has the potential to expose the secured asset to competing claims, attachments or encumbrances, thereby undermining the statutory priority expressly recognized under Section 26E. Such a consequence would be wholly inconsistent with the legislative design.

38. This Court in Writ C No. 7126 of 2021, Indian Bank (Erstwhile Allahabad Bank) vs. State of U.P. And 4 Others disposed of the writ petition on 24.08.2021, with a direction that the instant proceedings be concluded necessarily within a period of 30 days unless there is any legal impediment in the nature of any stay order passed by the competent court. This Court has further directed as under:-

“In view of large number of petitions coming up before this Court, we issue a direction to all the District Magistrates in the State of U.P. to keep a record/register of all the pending applications filed under Section 14 of the Act that may clearly disclose to the District Magistrate (on a fortnightly basis) details of all institutions of such applications made in that district and their disposal within that time.

The said register may be duly inspected by the District Magistrate from time to time and also countersigned by him. Based on the entries recorded in such register, a quarterly report of all institution of applications filed under Section 14 of the Act together with the length of pendency of each application be sent to the Registrar General of this Court in the tabular form that may indicate the requirement of the Act is being fulfilled, in letter and spirit, who shall place the same before the appropriate Committee dealing with the functioning of the Debt Recovery Tribunals and Debt Recovery Appellate Tribunals.

The above direction has become necessary because at present, it appears that generally the proceedings for obtaining actual physical possession are being delayed much beyond the time limit set by the statute. It creates avoidable litigation and defeats the very object of the Act.

Let a copy of this order be communicated by the Registrar General to the Chief Secretary, Government of Uttar Pradesh for further intimation and compliance by all the District Magistrates in the State of U.P and the Debt Recovery Appellate Tribunal, Prayagraj. Also, let a copy of this order be placed before the appropriate Committee dealing with the functioning of the Debt Recovery Tribunal and Debt Recovery Appellate Tribunals.”

39. It appears that the direction of this Court in above case has not been complied with in its letter and spirit and therefore the cases of similar nature are still before this Court in routine basis. This creates the requirement of sending the copy of this order to all district magistrates to ensure the order is being passed on applications filed under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act 2002 in timely manner.

40. The provisions of Sections 14, 26D and 26E must be read harmoniously. The statutory priority conferred upon secured creditors is not merely declaratory but operational, and it necessarily presupposes timely facilitation by the authorities entrusted with implementation.

41. In view of the aforesaid statutory scheme, the limited yet important function under Section 14 cannot continue with unexplained delay. We are of the view of the considered view that the petitioner-financial institution has made out a clear case for interference of this Court. Continued pendency of the application defeats the purpose of the Act and warrants issuance of appropriate directions.

42. In the light of foregoing discussions, Writ C No. 42608 of 2025, Writ C No. 42610 of 2025, Writ C No. 42622 of 2025, Writ C No. 42645 of 2025 and Writ C No. 42660 of 2025 are allowed. Learned District Magistrate/ Chief Metropolitan Magistrate is directed to decide the petitioner's applications filed under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act, being Case No. 3239 of 2025, Case No. 3238 of 2025, Case No. 3236 of 2025, Case No. 3240 of 2025, and Case No. 3237 of 2025, strictly in accordance with law as discussed above, as expeditiously as possible and preferably within a period of thirty days from the date of receipt of a copy of this order.

43. This in our considered view Writ C No 42639 of 2025 also deserves to be allowed and is allowed in the light of this common order and the petitioner may file an application afresh for necessary action to ensure compliance of order already passed under Section 14 of SARFAESI Act, 2002 and in the light of the judgment of Supreme Court in the case of C. Bright v. District Collector and others (supra), and the documents evidencing registration of secured asset with the Central registry under Section 26D of the SARFAESI Act, 2002.

44. Accordingly, all writ petitions allowed. No order as to costs.

Issue for consideration

The present petition challenged the revisional order setting aside the trial court's decision which had held that a civil suit for cancellation of a sale deed relating to agricultural land was barred under section 331 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition & Land Reforms Act, 1950.

Headnote

Constitution of India,1950-Article 227- Code of Civil Procedure,1908-Section 9-U.P. Zamindari Abolition & Land Reforms Act,1950-Section 331-Suit for cancellation of sale deed-Agricultural land-Maintainability-Plaintiffs claiming to be recorded tenure holders on the basis of a registered will and mutation entries instituted a suit for cancellation of a sale deed allegedly executed by their predecessor-in-interest, alleging fraud, forgery and absence of consideration, along with consequential relief of injunction-Trial court held suit barred under section 331 of the U.P.ZA & LR Act-Revisional court set aside that order-Jurisdiction must be decided on the basis of the plaint allegations, not the defence-A suit for cancellation is not included in Schedule II of Section 331-Revenue courts have no power to cancel a sale deed-Therefore, Civil court jurisdiction is not barred-The suit is maintainable-Petition dismissed.(Para 22 ,23) (E-6)

Held

The court ruled that where a recorded tenure holder seeks cancellation simpliciter and his title is not under cloud requiring declaration; Civil court jurisdiction is neither expressly nor impliedly barred. Hence, suit maintainable before civil court.

From the Judgment and order dated 30.01.2026 of the High Court of Judicature at Allahabad.

Appearances for Parties

Advs. for Petitioner(s):

Vimal Kishore Verma, Harsh Verma

Adv. for Respondent(s):

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Vimal Kishore Verma Advocate, the learned counsel for the petitioner and perused the records.

2. By means of the instant petition filed under Article 227 of the Constitution of India the petitioners have assailed the validity of a judgment and order dated 14.11.2025, passed by the learned Additional District Judge, Court No.5, Lakhimpur Kheri in Civil Revision No.19 of 2024: Hazirunnisha and others Vs. Ram Bahadur and others, whereby the revision filed by the opposite parties against an order dated 31.05.2024, passed by the Civil Judge, Junior Division, Outlying Court, Nighasan Lakhimpur Kheri in Regular Suit No.482 of 2014 has been allowed and the order dated 31.05.2024 passed by the learned Civil Judge deciding preliminary issue no.5 holding that the civil court has no jurisdiction to entertain a suit for cancellation of a sale-deed in respect of an agricultural land, has been set aside.

3. The plaintiffs / opposite parties filed Regular Suit No.482 of 2014 for cancellation of sale deed and perpetual injunction pleading that they are the recorded tenure holders of the land bearing Gata No.916, measuring 0.214 hectare situated in Village Suthna Barsola, Pargana Khairigadh, Tehsil Nighasan, District Kheri. The previous owner of the land in question Late Abdul Bari, who was father in law of the plaintiff no.1 and father of the plaintiff nos.2, 3 and 4, had executed a registered will in favour of the plaintiffs and their names were mutated in the revenue records by means of an order dated 18.07.2011 passed by the Tehsildar Nighasan. On 20.01.2014 the defendants tried to take possession of the property in dispute claiming that Late Abdul Bari had executed a registered sale deed dated 04.07.1988 in favour of Ram Kishun, father of the defendant nos.1 and 2. The plaintiffs sought cancellation of the sale deed stating that the sale deed is forged, it has not been executed by Late Abdul Bari, it does not make a mention of plot number and it was executed on 04.07.1988 during pendency of consolidation proceedings, no mutation was effected during the consolidation proceedings and, therefore, the defendants cannot get their names mutated now. It was further stated that no consideration was paid for execution of the sale deed.

4. A written statement has been filed inter alia pleading that the names of the defendants have been mutated on the basis of the sale deed in question as co-tenure holder of the land in question by means of an order dated 04.06.2014 passed by Tehsildar Nighasan and the suit is barred by the provisions of Section 331 of U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (hereinafter referred to as "the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act).

5. The learned trial court framed issues and issue no.5 was whether the suit is barred by Section 331 of U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act, 1950.

6. The learned trial court held that the plaintiffs are not the recorded tenure holders of the disputed agricultural land. The dispute involves declaration of bhumidhari rights of the plaintiffs. Relief of declaration of the ownership of the agricultural land has not been sought in the plaint specifically but in essence the claim of the plaintiffs was based on his ownership on the basis of will while the plea of the defendants was that the plaintiff is not the owner of the property and the property belongs to the defendants on the strength of a registered sale deed. Adjudication of title of land is the main question involved in the suit. As the main question for adjudication relates to the declaration of the rights or title of the agricultural land, a suit will lie in revenue court and not in a civil court.

7. The plaintiffs challenged the aforesaid order by filing Civil Revision No.19 of 2024, which has been allowed by means of the impugned order dated 14.11.2025.

8. The learned revisional court held that the names of the plaintiffs were mutated in the revenue records under the orders of Tehsildar, Nighasan. The plaintiffs have filed extracts of khatauni for the year 1416 to 1421, wherein their names are recorded on the strength of a registered will. The defendants have also filed extracts of khatauni for the year 1416 to 1421 as per which the names of the defendants have been mutated on the basis of a sale deed. Thus, it is claimed that the plaintiffs name was recorded on the basis of a registered will and the defendants' names have been recorded on the basis of a sale deed. In case the plaintiffs succeed and the sale deed in question is canceled, the plaintiffs would get the land on the basis of the registered will and in case the suit is dismissed, the land in question would continue to be recorded in the revenue records in the name of the defendants. Therefore, the conclusion of the trial court that the suit is barred by Section 331 of U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act, is liable to be set aside.

9. Assailing the validity of the aforesaid order, the learned counsel for the petitioners has submitted that the names of the opposite parties are not recorded in the revenue records and, therefore, the defendants are necessarily required to seek a declaration of their title from the revenue court and the suit for cancellation of sale deed is barred by the provisions of Section 331 of U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act.

10. The learned counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance on the judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the cases of Kamla Prasad and others Vs. Krishna Kant Pathak and others: (2007) AIR SCW 1403 and Pyarelal v. Shubhendra Pilonia: (2019) 3 SCC 692. In both these cases, the Hon'ble Supreme Court followed the decision in the case of Shri Ram v. Ist ADJ: (2001) 3 SCC 24, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"7. ... where a recorded tenure-holder having a prima facie title and in possession files suit in the civil court for cancellation of sale deed having been obtained on the ground of fraud or impersonation cannot be directed to file a suit for declaration in the Revenue Court, the reason being that in such a case, prima facie, the title of the recorded tenure-holder is not under cloud. He does not require declaration of his title to the land. The position would be different where a person not being a recorded tenure-holder seeks cancellation of sale deed by filing a suit in the civil court on the ground of fraud or impersonation. There necessarily the plaintiff is required to seek a declaration of his title and, therefore, he may be directed to approach the Revenue Court, as the sale deed being void has to be ignored for giving him relief for declaration and possession."

11. In Sanwarmal Kejriwal v. Vishwa Coop. Housing Society Ltd.: (1990) 2 SCC 288, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"24. But the jurisdiction of the court in which the action is originated must be determined on the averments in the plaint or claim application and not on the defence taken by the adversary party. For example, if the plaintiff goes to court alleging that the defendant is a trespasser, the ordinary court will have jurisdiction and its jurisdiction will not be taken away merely because the defendant pleads tenancy. If, however, the defendant succeeds in proving that he is a tenant in respect of premises, possession whereof is sought, the court trying the case would dismiss the suit on the ground that the plaintiff had failed to prove the jurisdictional fact that the defendant was a trespasser...."

(Emphasis added)

12. The plaintiffs / opposite parties have pleaded in the plaint that they are the recorded tenure holders and they have prayed for a decree of cancellation of sale deed executed by Late Abdul Bari on 04.07.1988 and registered on 27.01.1989, and they have sought a decree of perpetual injunction restraining the defendants / petitioners from interfering in their possession. The plaintiffs have not sought a decree of declaration of their title. As per the averments made in the plaint, the plaintiff is the recorded tenure holder. The defendants / petitioners have pleaded in their written statement that now the plaintiffs are not recorded tenure holders and the defendants have been recorded as the tenure holders. As per the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sanwamal Kejriwal v. Vishwa Coop. Housing Society Ltd. (supra), the jurisdiction is to be determined on the basis of the averments made in the plaint and not on the defence taken by the defendants.

13. Moreover, the plaintiffs have not sought a relief of declaration of their title. They have sought a decree of cancellation of sale deed.

14. Sub-sections (1) and (1-A) of Section 331 (1) of the U. P. Zamindari Abolition Act provide as follows: -

"331. Cognizance of suits, etc. under this Act.-(1) Except as provided by or under this Act no court other than a court mentioned in column 4 of Schedule II shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the Civil Procedure Code, 1908 (V of 1908), take cognizance of any suit, application, or proceedings mentioned in column 3 thereof, or of a suit, application or proceedings based on a cause of action in respect of which any relief could be obtained by means of any such suit or application:

Provided that where a declaration has been made under Section 143 in respect of any holding or part thereof, the provisions of Schedule II insofar as they relate to suits, applications or proceedings under Chapter VIII shall not apply to such holding or part thereof.

Explanation. If the cause of action is one in respect of which relief may be granted by the revenue court, it is immaterial that the relief asked for from the civil court may not be identical to that which the revenue court would have granted. (1-A) Notwithstanding anything in sub-section (i), an objection that a court mentioned in column 4 of Schedule II, or as the case may be, a civil court, which had no jurisdiction with respect to the suit, application or, proceeding, exercised jurisdiction with respect thereto shall not be entertained by any appellate or revisional court unless the objection was taken in the court of first instance at the earliest possible opportunity and in all cases where issues are settled, at or before such settlement, and unless there has been a consequent failure of justice."

15. Suit for cancellation of sale deed is not mentioned in Schedule II referred to in Section 331 (1) of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act. Therefore, no Revenue Court has been conferred with the jurisdiction to adjudicate upon a suit for cancellation of a sale deed.

16. Section 9 of the Civil Procedure Code provides that: -

"9. Courts to try all civil suits unless barred.-The Courts shall (subject to the provisions herein contained) have jurisdiction to try all suits of a civil nature excepting suits of which their cognisance is either expressly or impliedly barred.

Explanation [I].?A suit in which the right to property or to an office is contested is a suit of a civil nature, notwithstanding that such right may depend entirely on the decision of questions as to religious rites or ceremonies.

Explanation II.?For the purposes of this section, it is immaterial whether or not any fees are attached to the office referred to in Explanation I or whether or not such office is attached to a particular place."

17. Suit for cancellation of sale deeds is not barred by the provisions contained in Section 331 read with Schedule II of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act and, therefore, cognizance of such a suit by the civil court is neither expressly nor impliedly barred.

18. In Ram Padarath v. Second Addl. District Judge: 1988 SCC OnLine All 685 = 1989 RD 21, a Full Bench of this Court held that: -

"41. In the case of void document* said to have been executed by a plaintiff during his disability or by some one impersonating him or said to have been executed by his predecessor whom he succeeds, the relief of cancellation of the document is more appropriate relief for clearing the deck of title and burying deep any dispute or controversy on its basis in presenti or which may take place in future. The document after its cancellation would bear such an endorsement in Sub-Registrar's register and would be the basis for correction of any paper and revenue record including record of register. Section 31 of the Specific Relief Act itself prescribes as to who can seek relief of cancellation. A third person cannot file a suit for cancellation of a void document. If in fact no decree for cancellation was needed and real and effective relief could be granted by the revenue court only, the civil court decree would even then be valid and not void if no objection to the same was taken before the trial court. If such an objection was taken before the trial court before framing of issues and objection continued to be taken before appellate and revisional court and there has been failure of justice because of change of forum then the civil court decree could be said to be without jurisdiction.

46. We are of the view that the case of Indra Deo v. Smt. Ram Piari, 1982 (8) ALR 517 has been correctly decided and the said decision requires no consideration, while the Division Bench case, Dr. Ayodhya Prasad v. Gangotri, 1981 AWC 469 is regarding the jurisdiction of consolidation authorities, but so far as it holds that suit in respect of void document will lie in the revenue court it does not lay down a good law. Suit or action for cancellation of void document will generally lie in the civil court and a party cannot be deprived of his right getting this relief permissible under law except when a declaration of right or status of a tenure-holder is necessarily needed in which event relief for cancellation will be surplusage and redundant. A recorded tenure-holder having prima facie title in his favour can hardly be directed to approach the revenue court in respect of seeking relief for cancellation of a void document which made him to approach the court of law and in such case he can also claim ancillary relief even though the same can be granted by the revenue court."

(Emphasis added)

19. In Bismillah v. Janeshwar Prasad: (1990) 1 SCC 207, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"7. It is settled law that the exclusion of the jurisdiction of the civil court is not to be readily inferred, but that such exclusion must either be explicitly expressed or clearly implied. The provisions of a law which seek to oust the jurisdiction of civil court need to be strictly construed. Section 331 of the Act has been the subject of series of pronouncements of the High Court as to the circumstances and the nature of the suits in which its exclusionary effect operates. Distinction was sought to be drawn between the class of cases where the binding effect of a deed had had to be got rid of by an appropriate adjudication on the one hand and the class of cases in which a transaction could be said to be void in law where what the law holds to be void, there is nothing to cancel or set aside on the other. In the former case, it was held, a suit was cognisable by the civil court while in the latter, it was not, it being open to the statutory authority to take note of the legal incidents of what was non est.

9. It is true that the question of jurisdiction depends upon the allegations in the plaint and not the merits or the result of the suit. However, in order to determine the precise nature of the action, the pleadings should be taken as a whole. If as, indeed, is done by the High Court the expression 'void' occurring in the plaint as descriptive of the legal status of the sales is made the constant and determinate and what is implicit in the need for cancellation as the variable and as inappropriate to a plea of nullity, equally, converse could be the position. The real point is not the stray or loose expressions which abound in inartistically drafted plaints, but the real substance of the case gathered by construing pleadings as a whole. It is said "Parties do not have the farsight of prophets and their lawyers the draftsmanship of a Chalmers".

10. Indeed in Gorakh Nath Dube v. Hari Narain Singh [(1973) 2 SCC 535] this Court, dealing with the provisions of the U.P. Consolidation of the Holdings Act, 1954 where the provision excluding the civil court's jurisdiction is even wider, has had occasion to observe: (SCR p.342 : SCC p.538, para 5)

'...but, where there is a document the legal effect of which can only be taken away by setting it aside or its cancellation, it could be urged that the consolidation authorities have no power to cancel the deed, and, therefore, it must be held to be binding on them so long as it is not cancelled by a court having the power to cancel it....'

(Emphasis added)

20. In Narendra Kumar Mittal v. Nupur Housing Development (P) Ltd.: (2020) 20 SCC 158, the Hon'ble Supreme Court quoted with approval of the law laid down in Ram Padarath (Supra) and further held that: -

"6. In the instant case, the plaintiff has pleaded that it had purchased the disputed property under five sale deeds all dated 17-10-1998 from the first defendant. The suit was filed for cancellation of the sale deed dated 15-6-2006 on the ground of fraud and misrepresentation. The plaintiff had not sought any relief with respect to its own right and title as a tenure-holder or declaration of its title or status. As stated above, the only relief sought in the suit filed was for cancellation of the alleged sale deed dated 15-6-2006. We are of the view that Section 331 of the Act does not deprive a party of his right to approach the competent court of law for getting a document cancelled, especially when, prima facie, the title of the recorded tenure-holder is not under cloud. The Revenue Court does not have jurisdiction of granting relief of cancellation of a deed on the ground of fraud and misrepresentation.

9. In the instant case, since the plaintiff claims title under sale deeds of 1998 executed by the first defendant, it need not be forced to seek a declaration of its title. Therefore, the plaintiff had filed a suit for cancellation of the subsequent sale deed executed by the first defendant in favour of the second defendant. Hence, there is no bar under Section 331 of the Act for the plaintiff to approach the civil court and the suit filed by it was maintainable."

21. In Pancham v. Ram Gen: 2009 SCC OnLine All 1830 = (2009) 108 RD 737, a coordinate bench of this Court held that: -

"19. ...The suit question was plain and simple suit for cancellation of sale deed in term of Section 31 of Specific Relief Act, 1963 and on the strength of said sale deed, the right of plaintiff was to be adversely effected. Revenue Court is not at all Competent to give relief of cancellation of sale deed. Jurisdiction of Civil Court is ousted if the relief can be granted by the special court, conferred with the jurisdiction to grant relief. Section 331 of U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act ousts jurisdiction of the other courts, and therein emphasis is on words "cause of action" and any relief which can be accorded by Revenue Court. A suit for cancellation of sale deed is not such a suit application or proceeding as mentioned in column 3 of the Schedule II nor is it a suit application or proceeding based on a cause of action in respect of which relief can be obtained by means of any such suit or application from a Revenue Court mentioned in Column 4 of Schedule II of the Act...."

22. In the present case, the plaintiffs-opposite parties have filed the suit for cancellation of sale deed and perpetual injunction pleading that they are the recorded tenure holders of the land in dispute. The land was previously owned by Late Abdul Bari, who was the father of the plaintiff nos.2, 3 and 4 and father-in-law of the plaintiff no.1. He had executed a registered will in favour of the plaintiffs and their names were mutated in the revenue records by means of an order dated 18.07.2011 passed by the Tehsildar Nighasan. The plaintiffs alleged that the defendants tried to take possession of the property in dispute on 20.01.2014 claiming that Late Abdul Bari had executed a registered sale deed dated 04.07.1988 in favour of Ram Kishun, father of the defendant nos.1 and 2. The plaintiffs sought cancellation of the sale deed stating that the sale deed is forged, it has not been executed by Late Abdul Bari, it does not make a mention of plot number and it was executed on 04.07.1988 during pendency of consolidation proceedings, no mutation was effected during the consolidation proceedings and, therefore, the defendants cannot get their names mutated now. It was further stated that no consideration was paid for execution of the sale deed. The defendants have pleaded in the written statement that the names of the defendants have been mutated on the basis of the sale deed in question as co-tenure holder of the land in question by means of an order dated 04.06.2014 passed by Tehsildar Nighasan. It is evident that initially the land in question was owned by the plaintiffs' predecessor in interest and after his death, the plaintiffs' names had been recorded in the revenue records. The plaintiffs' claim is solely for cancellation of the sale deed allegedly executed by their predecessor-in-interest in favour of the defendants and for a consequential injunction. In case the sale deed is canceled, the plaintiffs would not need a separate relief of declaration as the obvious consequence of cancellation of the sale deed would be restoration of the plaintiffs' names recorded in the revenue records. The revenue Courts have no jurisdiction to entertain a suit for cancellation of a sale deed. Therefore, there is no bar against the jurisdiction of the Civil Court for entertaining the suit for cancellation of sale deed filed by the plaintiffs / opposite parties.

23. In view of the foregoing discussion, there appears to be no illegality or infirmity in the impugned order dated 14.11.2025, passed by the learned Additional District Judge, Court No.5, Lakhimpur Kheri in Civil Revision No.19 of 2024: Hazirulnisha and others Vs. Ram Bahadur and others. The petition lacks merit and the same is accordingly dismissed.

Issue for Consideration

Whether The National Commission has rightly interfered with such an order in exercise of its revisional jurisdiction and has corrected the apparent error committed by the District Commission and upheld by the State Commission by setting aside the orders and dismissing the complaint.

Head Notes

The Constitution of India, 1950-Article 227; The Insurance Act, 1938- Section 64-VB-All the parties in the proceedings from which a petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India arises, are necessary parties to the petition- Section 64-VB of the Insurance Act provides that an insurer shall not be liable for any loss in respect of any insurance business until the premium payable is received by him, but it does not provide that the insurance company would be liable to pay the insurance benefit merely because it has received the premium, even if the risk coverage has not commenced under the contract of insurance-Section 64- VB of the Insurance Act does not come to the aid of the petitioner for claiming benefit of the insurance policy consequent to the death of his son prior to the commencement of risk coverage under the policy.

Held- The order passed by the District Commission allowing the complaint without dealing with the defence of the Insurance Company and not accepting the valid defence based on the terms of the contract insurance without assigning any reason, is an order which suffers from illegality and material irregularity. The National Commission has rightly interfered with such an order in exercise of its revisional jurisdiction and has corrected the apparent error committed by the District Commission and upheld by the State Commission by setting aside the orders and dismissing the complaint- Petition dismissed. (Para 4, 10 & 15) (E-15)

Case Arising From

Order dated 28.04.2025, passed by the National Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission, New Delhi in Revision Petition No.239 of 2024.

Appearances for Parties

Counsel for Petitioner(s) : Brijendra Chaudhary, Neeraj Kumar Singh

Counsel for Respondent(s): Sanjeev Singh

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Ms. Anu Kumari, Advocate holding brief of Sri Neeraj Kumar Singh, the learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Sanjeev Singh, the learned counsel for the opposite party and perused the records.

2. By means of the instant petition filed under Article 227 of the Constitution of India the petitioner has challenged the validity of an order dated 28.04.2025, passed by the National Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission, New Delhi in Revision Petition No.239 of 2024.

3. The petitioner had filed a Consumer Complaint No.330 of 2012 before the District Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission-I Agra against- (i) Deputy Manager, Life Insurance Corporation of India, Sanjay Place, Agra, and (ii) Manager, Life Insurance Corporation of India, Branch Office at III Sanjay Place, Agra, whereas those parties have not been impleaded in the petition filed under Article 227 of the Constitution of India, wherein the only opposite party is "Life Insurance Corporation of India".

4. When the complaint was regarding non payment of benefits under an insurance policy issued by the Life Insurance Corporation of India, the Corporation was a necessary party to the complaint and as it was not impleaded, the complaint was bad for non-joinder of a necessary party. Moreover, the complaint had been filed against (i) Deputy Manager, Life Insurance Corporation of India, Sanjay Place, Agra, and (ii) Manager, Life Insurance Corporation of India, Branch Office at III Sanjay Place, Agra, and they have not been impleaded. This petition suffers from the defect of non-joinder of necessary parties. Although this defect is a curable defect and the Life Insurance Corporation of India having been impleaded, no prejudice would be caused to the opposite party, this defect is being pointed out as the Court is frequently experiencing that the petitions are being filed in a casual manner without taking care of impleadment of necessary parties. Therefore this Court reiterates the settled principle of law that all the parties in the proceedings from which a petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India arises, are necessary parties to the petition.

5. It was stated in the complainant that the complainant had taken a life insurance policy in the name of his son Ajay Kumar, aged 14 years on 28.05.2009. He had paid the first installment of the policy premium on 28.07.2009 and the second installment was paid on 29.11.2009. The petitioner's son Ajay Kumar died due to electrocution on 13.05.2010. The opposite party did not pay insurance amount to the petitioner but the amount paid towards premiums was refunded to the complainant.

6. A copy of the reply filed by the opposite party has not been annexed with the petition. The District Commission allowed the complaint by means of an order dated 05.09.2014, wherein it is mentioned that the opposite parties had pleaded that it was a deferred policy which had to commence with effect from 24.05.2010, whereas the petitioner's son died before the aforesaid date. Although, the District Commission has taken note of this plea taken by the opposite parties in defence, it has allowed the complaint and directed the opposite parties to pay Rs.3,20,000/- along with 7% interest to the petitioner-claimant, without dealing with the defence of the opposite parties.

7. The opposite parties challenged the award of the District Commission by filing Appeal No.2081 of 2014. The State Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission, U.P. Lucknow, dismissed the appeal by means of a judgment and order dated 05.12.2023. The opposite parties then filed Revision Petition No.239 of 2024 which has been allowed by the National Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission, New Delhi by means of the impugned judgment and order dated 28.04.2025.

8. The National Commission held that the undisputed facts are that the complainant-petitioner had taken a life insurance policy for his son Ajay Kumar on 28.05.2009. He had paid two installments of the policy premium. The complainant's son Ajay Kumar died on 13.05.2010 due to electrocution. The policy reveals that it was a policy with a deferred date of commencement of risk cover with effect from 28.05.2010. Admittedly, the petitioner's son died due to electrocution on 13.05.2010, i.e., before commencement of the policy. The National Commission held that the insurance contracts are governed by the principles of "Pacta sunt servanda" (agreements must be kept). The terms and conditions of a policy form the basis of the contractual relationship between the parties. As the petitioner's son died on 13.05.2010, prior to the scheduled date of commencement of the policy on 28.05.2010, as per the terms of the policy the complainant is not entitled to get any claim under the policy, except refund of the premiums paid, which has already been done by the opposite parties.

9. The counsel for the petitioner has submitted that as per the provision contained in Section 64-VB of the Insurance Act 1938, having paid two installments of the policy premium, the petitioner was entitled to get the benefits under the insurance policy. Section 64-VB of the Insurance Act provides as follows: -

"64VB. No risk to be assumed unless premium is received in advance.- (1) No insurer shall assume any risk in India in respect of any insurance business on which premium is not ordinarily payable outside India unless and until the premium payable is received by him or is guaranteed to be paid by such person in such manner and within such time as may be prescribed or unless and until deposit of such amount as may be prescribed, is made in advance in the prescribed manner.

(2) For the purposes of this section, in the case of risks for which premium can be ascertained in advance, the risk may be assumed not earlier than the date on which the premium has been paid in cash or by cheque to the insurer.

Explanation. ?Where the premium is tendered by postal money order or cheque sent by post, the risk may be assumed on the date on which the money order is booked or the cheque is posted, as the case may be.

(3) Any refund of premium which may become due to an insured on account of the cancellation of a policy or alteration in its terms and conditions or otherwise shall be paid by the insurer directly to the insured by a crossed or order cheque or by postal money order and a proper receipt shall be obtained by the insurer from the insured, and such refund shall in no case be credited to the account of the agent.

(4) Where an insurance agent collects a premium on a policy of insurance on behalf of an insurer, he shall deposit with, or dispatch by post to, the insurer, the premium so collected in full without deduction of his commission within twenty-four hours of the collection excluding bank and postal holidays.

(5) The Central Government may, by rules, relax the requirements of sub-section (1) in respect of particular categories in insurance policies.

(6) The Authority may, from time to time, specify, by the regulations made by it, the manner of receipt of premium by the insurer."

10. Section 64-VB of the Insurance Act provides that an insurer shall not be liable for any loss in respect of any insurance business until the premium payable is received by him, but it does not provide that the insurance company would be liable to pay the insurance benefit merely because it has received the premium, even if the risk coverage has not commenced under the contract of insurance. I am of the considered view that Section 64-VB of the Insurance Act does not come to the aid of the petitioner for claiming benefit of the insurance policy consequent to the death of his son prior to the commencement of risk coverage under the policy. Therefore, I find no force in the submission of the learned Counsel for the petitioner.

11. The learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that the District Commission had allowed the complaint, the State Commission had upheld the order of the District Commission and there was no jurisdictional error in the orders of the District Commission and the State Commission warranting any interference by the National Commission in exercise of its revisional jurisdiction.

12. The jurisdiction of the National Commission was provided in Section 21 of the Consumer Protection Act, 1986 (which has since been repealed but which would apply to present case), which provided as follows: -

"21. Jurisdiction of the National Commission. - Subject to the other provisions of this Act, the National Commission shall have jurisdiction,?

(a) to entertain,?

(i) complaints where the value of the goods or services and compensation, if any, claimed exceeds rupees 87[one crore]; and

(ii) appeals against the orders of any State Commission; and

(b) to call for the records and pass appropriate orders in any consumer dispute which is pending before or has been decided by any State Commission where it appears to the National Commission that such State Commission has exercised a jurisdiction not vested in it by law, or has failed to exercise a jurisdiction so vested, or has acted in the exercise of its jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity."

13. It is apparent from the facts mentioned above that the District Commission had allowed the complaint after merely noting the defense of the opposite parties that the petitioner's son had died on 13.05.2010, prior to the commencement of the policy on 28.05.2010, but without dealing with it. When a plea is raised in defence before any judicial forum, it has to be considered and it can be rejected only by a reasoned order.

14. In Kranti Associates (P) Ltd. v. Masood Ahmed Khan: (2010) 9 SCC 496, the Hon'ble Supreme Court referred to numerous precedents on the point and summarised the principles (in paragraph 47 of the judgment) as follows: -

"(a) In India the judicial trend has always been to record reasons, even in administrative decisions, if such decisions affect anyone prejudicially.

(b) A quasi-judicial authority must record reasons in support of its conclusions.

(c) Insistence on recording of reasons is meant to serve the wider principle of justice that justice must not only be done it must also appear to be done as well.

(d) Recording of reasons also operates as a valid restraint on any possible arbitrary exercise of judicial and quasi-judicial or even administrative power.

(e) Reasons reassure that discretion has been exercised by the decision-maker on relevant grounds and by disregarding extraneous considerations.

(f) Reasons have virtually become as indispensable a component of a decision-making process as observing principles of natural justice by judicial, quasi-judicial and even by administrative bodies.

(g) Reasons facilitate the process of judicial review by superior courts.

(h) The ongoing judicial trend in all countries committed to rule of law and constitutional governance is in favour of reasoned decisions based on relevant facts. This is virtually the lifeblood of judicial decision-making justifying the principle that reason is the soul of justice.

(i) Judicial or even quasi-judicial opinions these days can be as different as the judges and authorities who deliver them. All these decisions serve one common purpose which is to demonstrate by reason that the relevant factors have been objectively considered. This is important for sustaining the litigants' faith in the justice delivery system.

(j) Insistence on reason is a requirement for both judicial accountability and transparency.

(k) If a judge or a quasi-judicial authority is not candid enough about his/her decision-making process then it is impossible to know whether the person deciding is faithful to the doctrine of precedent or to principles of incrementalism.

(l) Reasons in support of decisions must be cogent, clear and succinct. A pretence of reasons or "rubber-stamp reasons" is not to be equated with a valid decision-making process.

(m) It cannot be doubted that transparency is the sine qua non of restraint on abuse of judicial powers. Transparency in decision-making not only makes the judges and decision-makers less prone to errors but also makes them subject to broader scrutiny. (See David Shapiro in Defence of Judicial Candor [(1987) 100 Harvard Law Review 731-37] .)

(n) Since the requirement to record reasons emanates from the broad doctrine of fairness in decision-making, the said requirement is now virtually a component of human rights and was considered part of Strasbourg Jurisprudence. See Ruiz Torija v. Spain [(1994) 19 EHRR 553] EHRR, at 562 para 29 and Anya v. University of Oxford [2001 EWCA Civ 405 (CA)] , wherein the Court referred to Article 6 of the European Convention of Human Rights which requires,

"adequate and intelligent reasons must be given for judicial decisions".

(o) In all common law jurisdictions judgments play a vital role in setting up precedents for the future. Therefore, for development of law, requirement of giving reasons for the decision is of the essence and is virtually a part of "due process".

15. The order passed by the District Commission allowing the complaint without dealing with the defence of the Insurance Company and not accepting the valid defence based on the terms of the contract insurance without assigning any reason, is an order which suffers from illegality and material irregularity. The National Commission has rightly interfered with such an order in exercise of its revisional jurisdiction and has corrected the apparent error committed by the District Commission and upheld by the State Commission by setting aside the orders and dismissing the complaint.

16. In view of the foregoing discussion, I find no error or illegality in the impugned order passed by the National Commission. The petition lacks merit and the same is dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Alok Mathur, J.)

1. Heard Sri Saryu Prasad Tiwari, learned counsel for the petitioner as well as learned Standing Counsel for respondent nos. 1 and 3.

2. In the light of proposed order notice to private respondent is dispensed with.

3. It has been submitted by learned counsel for the petitioner that respondent no. 4 had filed an appeal under Section 24(4) of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 before the Commissioner, Ayodhya Division, Ayodhya, which was rejected on 03.01.2025, which order in turn was assailed before the Board of Revenue by filing revision under Section 210 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 by respondent no. 4.

4. It has been submitted that interim order was passed on 04.02.2025 and records were also summoned. It has been submitted that when the proceedings before the Board of Revenue were not concluded expeditiously, consequently, writ petition was filed by the petitioner being Writ Petition No. 4826 of 2025, before this Court which was disposed of by order dated 12.08.2025, giving liberty to the petitioner to file appropriate application before the trial Court within next two weeks for expediting the proceedings.

5. It has been submitted that the Board of Revenue has concluded the hearing and reserved the matter for judgment on 15.09.2025 and which fact is evident from the status of the said case which has been obtained by the petitioner on-line. It has been submitted that even after expiry of four months from the date of reserving the judgment, the judgment has not been pronounced and therefore in the present writ petition prayer has been made for direction to the Board of Revenue to pronounce the judgment in the said case with expedition.

6. The issue pertaining to reserving a judgment and time period consumed for its pronouncement has been subject matter which has been dealt with by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in number of cases. In the case of Anil Rai Vs. State of Bihar, 2001 (7) SCC 318, the said issue came to be noticed by the Apex Court which pertains to the matters which were pending before the various High Courts where arguments have been concluded but the judgment has not been pronounced for sufficient length of time and in the aforesaid circumstances, the Apex Court had observed as under :-

“9. It is true, that for the High Courts, no period for pronouncement of judgment is contemplated either under the Civil Procedure Code or the Criminal Procedure Code, but as the pronouncement of the judgment is a part of the justice dispensation system, it has to be without delay. In a country like ours where people consider the Judges only second to God, efforts be made to strengthen that belief of the common man. Delay in disposal of the cases facilitates the people to raise eyebrows, sometimes genuinely which, if not checked, may shake the confidence of the people in the judicial system. A time has come when the judiciary itself has to assert for preserving its stature, respect and regards for the attainment of the rule of law. For the fault of a few, the glorious and glittering name of the judiciary cannot be permitted to be made ugly. It is the policy and purpose of law, to have speedy justice for which efforts are required to be made to come up to the expectation of the society of ensuring speedy, untainted and unpolluted justice.

10. Under the prevalent circumstances in some of the High Courts, I feel it appropriate to provide some guidelines regarding the pronouncement of judgments which, I am sure, shall be followed by all concerned, being the mandate of this Court. Such guidelines, as for the present, are as under:

(i) The Chief Justices of the High Courts may issue appropriate directions to the Registry that in a case where the judgment is reserved and is pronounced later, a column be added in the judgment where, on the first page, after the cause-title, date of reserving the judgment and date of pronouncing it be separately mentioned by the Court Officer concerned.

(ii) That Chief Justices of the High Courts, on their administrative side, should direct the Court Officers/Readers of the various Benches in the High Courts to furnish every month the list of cases in the matters where the judgments reserved are not pronounced within the period of that month.

(iii) On noticing that after conclusion of the arguments the judgment is not pronounced within a period of two months, the Chief Justice concerned shall draw the attention of the Bench concerned to the pending matter. The Chief Justice may also see the desirability of circulating the statement of such cases in which the judgments have not been pronounced within a period of six weeks from the date of conclusion of the arguments amongst the Judges of the High Court for their information. Such communication be conveyed as confidential and in a sealed cover.

(iv) Where a judgment is not pronounced within three months from the date of reserving it, any of the parties in the case is permitted to file an application in the High Court with a prayer for early judgment. Such application, as and when filed, shall be listed before the Bench concerned within two days excluding the intervening holidays.

(v) If the judgment, for any reason, is not pronounced within a period of six months, any of the parties of the said lis shall be entitled to move an application before the Chief Justice of the High Court with a prayer to withdraw the said case and to make it over to any other Bench for fresh arguments. It is open to the Chief Justice to grant the said prayer or to pass any other order as he deems fit in the circumstances."

7. This aspect of the matter was again considered by the Apex Court in the case of Ravindra Pratap Sahi Vs. State of U.P. and Others, Criminal Appeal No. 3700/3701 of 2025 (decided on 25.08.2025), wherein citing the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Anil Rai (supra), the Apex Court was of the view that judgment should be pronounced within a period of three months. It was further observed that in case the judgments are not pronounced, then within two weeks of the fact been brought to the knowledge of the respective Bench, the matter ought to be assigned to another Bench.

8. This Court see no reason as to why the said pronouncement be also made applicable to the revenue Courts including the Board of Revenue, who are directed to pronounce judgments within a period of three months from the date they are reserved.

9. Accordingly, in view of the arguments of the respective counsels as well as taking into account various directions of the Apex Court, present writ petition is disposed of with direction to the petitioner to bring this judgment to the knowledge of the Board of Revenue. In case judgment is not pronounced within two weeks from the date of production of certified copy of this order, the matter shall be assigned to another Bench of the Board of Revenue for being heard and decided in terms of various directions issued by the Apex Court as well as directions issued in the present case.

10. Let a copy of the present judgment be also placed before the Chairman, Board of Revenue, U.P. Lucknow by the office of learned Chief Standing Counsel, forthwith.

Issue for Consideration

Whether the ex parte decree for ejectment passed in SCC Suit No.60 of 2012 is a nullity on grounds of improper service of summons on the original tenant and substituted heirs, absence of fresh summons post-substitution, defective notice under Section 106 TP Act by power of attorney holder, and non-substitution of petitioner no.2 (Hema Verma)?

Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 --- s.3(a) --- Execution of Decree --- Objections u/s.47 CPC --- Ex-parte Decree --- Substitution of heirs post death of original defendant in ex-parte suit --- No fresh summons required --- Service by refusal on substitution application sufficient --- Decree not nullity.

HELD:

Where suit proceeded ex-parte against original defendant prior to his death, substitution of heirs under O. XXII r.4 CPC not mandatory; court may exempt plaintiff from substitution and decree suit notwithstanding death. Even after substitution following service by refusal on heirs, no fresh summons required as suit already ex-parte. Executing court cannot go behind decree to question trial court's satisfaction on service or notice validity. [Paras 15-17, 25]

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 --- s.47, s.152 --- U.P. HELD: Heirs of deceased tenant in residential building become joint tenants only if normally residing with him at death; no such plea raised. Error in name description does not vitiate decree where notices served on heirs and knowledge of proceedings exists. Joint tenants bound by decree against others; notice to one suffices. 1. Heard Sri Jitendra Kumar Saxena, the learned counsel for the petitioners and perused the records.

2. By means of the instant petition filed under Article 227 of the Constitution of India, the petitioners have challenged an ex-parte judgment and decree dated 16.09.2013, passed by learned Judge Small Causes Court, Lucknow in SCC Suit No.60 of 2012: Salil Kumar Rastogi Vs. Ram Bharose Verma (dead) through LR's. The petitioners had filed an application under Section 47 read with Section 151 C.P.C. raising objection against the application for execution of the ex-parte decree and the Judge Small Causes Court, Lucknow rejected this application by means of an order dated 22.03.2015. The rejection order was challenged by filing SCC Revision No.24 of 2015, which has been dismissed by means of a judgment and order dated 27.05.2015 and the petitioners have challenged the validity of the order dated 23.05.2015 and the revisional order dated 27.05.2015 also.

3. The petitioners have impleaded the learned Additional District Judge-XII, Lucknow and Judge Small Causes Court, Lucknow as opposite parties no.1 and 2 to the petition.

4. The Registry had put an objection against impleadment of the courts as the opposite parties to the petition and although the petitioners have filed a supplementary affidavit stating that the courts have been impleaded erroneously no prayer has been made for striking out the courts as the opposite parties to the petition, whereas, as far back as in the year 1995 in the case of Savitri Devi Vs. District Judge, Gorakhpur; (1999) 2 SCC 577 the Hon'ble Supreme Court deprecated the practice of courts being impleaded as opposite parties to the petition filed in the High Courts and Hon'ble Supreme Court.

5. In the case of Jogendrasinhji Vijaysinghji v. State of Gujrat, (2015) 9 SCC 1 the Hon'ble Supreme Court has clarified that: -

43. ...The civil courts, which decide matters, are courts in the strictest sense of the term. Neither the court nor the Presiding Officer defends the order before the superior court it does not contest. If the High Court, in exercise of its writ jurisdiction or revisional jurisdiction, as the case may be, calls for the records, the same can always be called for by the High Court without the Court or the Presiding Officer being impleaded as a party. ... the authorities or the tribunals, who in law are entitled to defend the orders passed by them, are necessary parties and if they are not arrayed as parties, the writ petition can be treated to be not maintainable or the court may grant liberty to implead them as parties in exercise of its discretion. There are tribunals which are not at all required to defend their own order, and in that case such tribunals need not be arrayed as parties...

Therefore, the Additional District Judge ought not to have been impleaded.

6. The proceeding arise out of S.C.C. Suit No. 60 of 2012 filed by the landlord Salil Kumar Rastogi (the opposie party no. 3) for ejectment of the tenant Sri. Ram Bharose Verma (since deceased, the predecessor in interest of the petitioners) from the premises bearing House No.109/136-Ka, new No.109/187, situated in Model House, Lucknow. The landlord had pleaded in the suit that he had purchased the house from its previous owners Nishi Tandon and Ramesh Tandon. He had sent a notice under Section 106 of Transfer of Property Act to the tenant, which was served on 28.03.2012, but in spite of it the tenant did not pay rent to him and did not vacate the house. It is recorded in the order dated 10.12.2012 passed by the trial Court that the defendant Ram Bharose Verma did not put in appearance in spite of service of summon and, therefore, the suit was ordered to proceed ex-parte.

7. The tenant defendant Sri. Ram Bharose Verma died on 27.01.2013. The plaintiff filed an application for substitution of his heirs. On 21.03.2013, the trial Court held service of notice of the application for substitution to be sufficient. On 23.04.2013, the trial Court passed an order allowing the substitution application recording that inspite of service of notice on the proposed heirs of the deceased defendant, they had not filed any objection against the application. The plaintiff examined himself in evidence and produced a carbon copy of the notice alongwith postal receipt and a copy of the power of attorney as documentary evidence. The suit was decreed by an ex-parte judgment dated 16.09.2013 wherein the trial court has recorded a satisfaction that the defendant was in arrears of rent exceeding four months and he had not paid the rent and had not vacated the property in spite of service of notice. No revision was filed against the ex-parte judgment and decree dated 16.09.2013 and it has attained finality.

8. The decree holder filed Execution Application No. 1 of 2014 for execution of the ex-parte judgment and decree dated 16.09.2013. The petitioners filed an application under Section 47 CPC, which was registered as Misc. Case No. 31 of 2014, wherein it was inter alia, stated that the notice of demand of arrears of rent was sent by the landlord, Salil Kumar Rastogi, but the suit was filed through his power of attorney holder, Mr. Shoeb Ahmed. The notice sent by the house owner cannot form the basis of a suit for ejectment filed through his power of attorney holder when the power of attorney holder himself had not sent any notice determining tenancy and demanding arrears of rent. The petitioners also alleged that the summon of the suit had not been served properly. However, there is no categorical denial that summons of the suit had not been served on the petitioners-tenants. One of the objections raised in the application under Section 47 is that the landlord has substituted Heena Verma whereas the petitioner no.2 is Hema Verma, who has not been impleaded as a defendant to the suit after the death of the original defendant Late Ram

9. The objections under Section 47 CPC were rejected by means of the impugned order dated 23.05.2015 wherein the Court held that the plea that the suit was filed through a power of attorney holder cannot be examined upon objections filed under Section 47 CPC, as the executing court cannot go behind the decree. The suit was filed against the original tenant, Ram Bharose Verma. His heirs were substituted after his death. The name of Hema Verma has been corrected through an application under Section 152 CPC. A mere error in spelling of the name of the petitioner no.2 does not affect the validity of the decree when notices were duly served on the heirs of the deceased tenant, Shri Ram Bharose Verma, and they had full knowledge of the proceedings.

10. It is also mentioned in the impugned order dated 23.05.2015 that Hema Verma had filed an application in Execution Case No. 1/14 stating that she is not a party to the proceedings, rather, Heena Verma has been impleaded as a party and, therefore, she would not be bound by the outcome of the execution case. This objection of the petitioner no.2 has already been decided by means of a detailed order dated 08.05.2015.

11. The executing court further held that the SCC suit was instituted on 17.05.2012, summons were issued to the defendant and on 10.12.2012, service of summons was held to be sufficient and the suit was ordered to proceed ex-parte. After the death of the original defendant, Shri Ram Bharose Verma, notices were issued to his proposed heirs and service was held to be sufficient by means of an order dated 21.03.2013 on the ground that the heirs declined to receive the notice and thereafter the substitution application was allowed by means of an order dated 23.04.2013.

12. The executing court held that the petitioner no.2 is daughter of the original tenant and the decree passed against the other joint tenants would equally be binding on her, as any of the joint tenants can represent the other joint tenants. A mere error in description of the name of the petitioner no.2 would not render the decree nullity. This order has been affirmed in revision.

13. Assailing the validity of the aforesaid orders, the learned counsel for the petitioners has submitted that after substitution of heirs of the deceased original tenant late Ram Bharose Verma, the trial court did not issue any notice to the heirs of the original tenant and the court passed an ex-parte judgment and decree, which is nullity.

14. A perusal of the order sheet of the trial court indicates that when summons of the suit were served on the original defendant, yet he did not appear before the trial court, an order was passed on 10.12.2012 to proceed with the suit ex-parte. The original tenant Sri Ram Bharose Verma, died on 27.01.2013. Thereafter, an application for substitution of his heirs was filed, upon which notices were issued to the proposed heirs of late Ram Bharose Verma. On 21.03.2013, the court passed an order holding service of notice of the application to be sufficient on the proposed heirs of late Ram Bharose Verma and on 23.04.2013, the substitution application was allowed and heirs of Late Ram Bharose Verma were substituted in his place. Thereafter, the court fixed a date for filing an additional written statement, which was not filed, the plaintiff filed evidence and advanced its ex-parte submissions and the suit was decreed ex-parte on 16.09.2013.

15. Order XXII, Rule 4 (4) provides as follows: -

Order XXII

Death, Marriage and Insolvency of Parties

(4). Procedure in case of death of one of several defendants or of sole defendant. -

(4) The Court whenever it thinks fit, may exempt the plaintiff from the necessity of substituting the legal representative of any such defendant who has failed to file a written statement or who, having filed it, has failed to appear and contest the suit at the hearing; and judgment may, in such case, be pronounced against the said defendant notwithstanding the death of such defendant and shall have the same force and effect as if it has been pronounced before death took place."

16. As per the provision contained in Order XXII Rule 4(4) CPC, when the suit was proceeding ex-parte against the original defendant, Late Ram Bharose Verma, by means of an order dated 10.12.2012, it was not necessary for the trial court to substitute the legal representatives of late Ram Bharose Verma and the suit could have been decreed ex-parte, even without carrying out substitution of the name of the original defendant, yet the court issued notices on the application for substitution of the deceased defendant. The notices were served by refusal to receive the same. By means of the order dated 21.03.2013, the trial court held service of notice to be sufficient by refusal and, thereafter, the heirs of the original defendant were substituted.

17. When substitution of the heirs of the original defendant was not necessary for the reason that the suit was already proceeding ex-parte against the original defendant, there was no necessity of issuing any fresh summons to the heirs of the original defendant, more particularly when the notices on the application for substitution were served by refusal. In these circumstances, the ex-parte judgment and decree dated 16.09.2013 cannot be said to be nullity for non-issuance of any fresh summons to the substituted heirs of the original defendant after their substitution, when the original defendant was not contesting the suit, even after service of notice and the suit was proceeding ex-parte.

18. The learned counsel for the petitioners has submitted that the petitioner no.2 has not been substituted and, therefore, the impugned ex-parte judgment is not binding on her. A perusal of the substitution application shows that the heir no.2 of the deceased defendant is mentioned as Heena Verma whereas the petitioner no.2 is Hema Verma. The learned trial Court has already held that it was a mere typographical error in the description of petitioner no.2, which has been corrected by an order passed under Section 152 CPC and it would not make the decree a nullity.

19. Section 3(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 provides as follows:

3. Definitions.- In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires-

(a) tenant, in relation to a building, means a person by whom its rent is payable, and on the tenant's death-

(1) in the case of residential building, such only of his heirs as normally resided with him in the building at the time of his death;

(2) in the case of a non-residential building, his heirs;

(Explanation.-An occupant of a room in a hotel or a lodging house shall not be deemed to be a tenant;

20. The learned Counsel for the petitioners has admitted that the premises in question is a residential premises and therefore, Section 3(a)(2) of Act would not apply to the present case. In the application under Section 47 CPC, as also in the petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India, there is no averment that petitioner no.2 was normally residing with late Ram Bharose Verma in the building in question at the time of his death. Therefore, the pleadings do not make out that upon the death of late Ram Bharose Verma, the petitioner no.2 became a tenant in respect of the premises in dispute and she was entitled to be substituted in his place.

21. The Learned Counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance upon a judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Textile Association (India) Bombay Unit Vs. Balmohan Gopal Kurup and another: AIR 1990 Supreme Court 2053 wherein the Hon ble Supreme Court has noted that there is a finding in this case that the respondent was as much a tenant as the mother and other brother. That being the position, the ex-parte decree for eviction obtained against his mother and brother, without impleading him in that suit has to be set aside .

22. Neither is there any such finding in the present case, nor are there any pleadings or averments so as to make out that the petitioner no.2 has become one of the joint tenants upon the death of the original defendant for the reason that she was normally residing with him in the building at the time of his death. Therefore, the facts of the present case are different from the facts on the basis whereof the judgment in the case of Textile Association (Supra) was rendered.

23. In Harish Tandon v. ADM: (1995) 1 SCC 537, the Hon ble Supreme Court held that: -

*23. It appears to us, in the case of H.C. Pandey v. G.C. Paul [(1989) 3 SCC 77] it was rightly said by this Court that after the death of the original tenant, subject to any provision to the contrary, the tenancy rights devolve on the heirs of the deceased tenants jointly. The incidence of the tenancy is the same as those enjoyed by the original tenant. It is a single tenancy which devolves on the heirs and there is no division of the premises or of the rent payable therefor and the heirs succeed to the tenancy as joint tenants.

24. In the case of Gian Devi Anand v. Jeevan Kumar [(1985) 2 SCC 683] the Constitution Bench of this Court in connection with Delhi Rent Control Act, 1958 said:

The heirs of the deceased tenant in the absence of any provision in the Rent Act to the contrary will step into the position of the deceased tenant and all the rights and obligations of the deceased tenant including the protection afforded to the deceased tenant under the Act will devolve on the heirs of the deceased tenant. As the protection afforded by the Rent Act to a tenant after determination of the tenancy and to his heirs on the death of such tenant is a creation of the Act for the benefit of the tenants, it is open to the Legislature which provides for such protection to make appropriate provisions in the Act with regard to the nature and extent of the benefit and protection to be enjoyed and the manner in which the same is to be enjoyed. If the Legislature makes any provision in the Act limiting or restricting the benefit and the nature of the protection to be enjoyed in a specified manner by any particular class of heirs of the deceased tenant on any condition laid down being fulfilled, the benefit of the protection has necessarily to be enjoyed on the fulfilment of the condition in the manner and to the extent stipulated in the Act.

25. The framers of the Act have clearly expressed their intention in Sections 12, 20 and 25 while protecting the tenant from eviction except on the grounds mentioned in Section 20, that after the death of the original tenant his heirs will be deemed to be holding the premises as joint tenants and for any breach committed by any of such joint tenants, all the heirs of the original tenant have to suffer. They cannot take a plea that unless the grounds for eviction mentioned in sub-section (2) of Section 20 are established individually against each one of them, they cannot be evicted from the premises in question.

24. In Durga Prasad Tiwari v. Additional District Judge/Special Judge (S.C./S.T. Act), Allahabad: (2008) 1 All.L.J. 518 = 2007 SCC OnLine All 590, this Court held that

20. ...The Supreme Court in the case of Harish Tandon (supra) has categorically held that the heirs of tenant inherit the premises as joint tenants and not as tenants-in-common and therefore, the notice to one was sufficient notice to all for the purpose of the proceedings under section 21(1)(a) of the Act. The Supreme Court held that after the death of the original tenant, his heirs became the joint tenants and not tenants-in-common .

Therefore, the petitioner no. 2 being merely one of the several joint tenants, even in case there was any defect in service of notice upon her, it would not make the decree passed against all the joint tenants a nullity when the notices were served on the other joint tenants.

25. The Learned Counsel for the petitioners next submitted that summons of the suit were not properly served on the original defendant. The trial court has recorded a satisfaction regarding proper service of the suit in the order dated 10.12.2012, on the basis whereof the ex-parte judgment and decree dated 03.10.2013 was passed. The petitioners did not assail the order dated 10.12.2012 and they did not file any revision under Section 25 of the Provincial Small Causes Courts Act against the ex-parte judgment and decree dated 03.10.2013. It is settled law that the executing court cannot go behind the decree and cannot examine the facts recorded or the satisfaction recorded by the trial court in the ex-parte judgment or in any order passed during the pendency of the suit. Therefore, this plea is not open to be raised in a proceeding under Section 47 CPC.

26. In view of the foregoing discussions, I find no good ground to entertain the petition, which is dismissed at the admission stage.

Issue for Consideration

Whether the order dated 30.08.2025 in Petition No. 669 of 2025 U/s 12/13 Human Right Protection Act (Krishna Bihari Yadav Vs. Raj Kumar Pandey and others) passed by Human Right Protection Commission/Special Judge Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Allahabad, is liable to set aside.

Head Notes

The Constitution of India, 1950-Article 227; The Protection of Human Rights Act, 1993- Sections 12/13- Litigant has come to Court with clean hands and disclose all the facts of the case-It is not for him to choose as to which fact has to disclose and which is not to be disclosed- The litigant has to disclose each and every fact pertaining to the matter before the Court and leave it on the Court to decide it. He cannot decide what to disclose and what not to disclose before the Court.

Held- That filing of the present petition is clearly abuse of process of Court and its filing also flows from severe concealment of material and relevant facts. On merits there is no illegality or irregularity in the order impugned - The order dated 05.11.2025 as passed by the court concerned and then the applicant moving the second petition for the same cause has not been disclosed in the present petition. Even arraying new parties in the present petition who were not respondents in the original petition before the court concerned is also a new instance without any justifiable reason- petition is thus dismissed with a exemplary cost of Rs. 20,000/- on the petitioner. (Para 13 & 14) (E-15)

Appearances for Parties

Counsel for Petitioner(s) : Vijai Kumar Mishra

Counsel for Respondent(s) : G.A., Om Krishna Yadav

(Delivered by Hon'ble Samit Gopal, J.)

1. List revised.

2. Heard Sri Vijai Kumar Mishra, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Om Krishna Yadav, learned counsel for the respondent no.8 and Sri Bade Lal Bind, learned counsel for the State and perused the records.

3. Vakalatnama of Sri Om Krishna Yadav is not on record despite his name being printed in the cause list.

4. Office to trace out the same and place it on record and make a note in the order sheet about it.

5. This petition for writ under Article 227 of the Constitution of India has been filed by the petitioner Krishna Bihari Yadav son of late Kalideen, with the prayers to issue a order or direction to set-aside the order dated 30.08.2025 in Petition No. 669 of 2025 U/s 12/13 Human Right Protection Act (Krishna Bihari Yadav Vs. Raj Kumar Pandey and others) passed by Human Right Protection Commission/Special Judge Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Allahabad and with a further prayer to issue a order or direction by directing the Human Right Protection Commission/Special Judge Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No.1 Allahabad to allow the prayer made by the petitioner with regard to registering a First Information Report against respondent no.2 to 7 after making proper inquiry under Sections 115(2), 119(1), 119(2), 198, 199, 308(5), 308(6), 352, 351(2)(3), 332, 324(4), 61(2), 201, 229, 248, 255, 256, 257, 258 BNS.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner strenuously argued that the order impugned dated 30.08.2025 passed by the Human Rights Protection Commission/Special Judge, Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Allahabad is an illegal order inasmuch as the court has allowed his application numbered as Paper No. 14-kha to the records but by the same stroke has dismissed his petition being Petition No. 669 of 2025 and the matter has been directed to be consigned to records. It is submitted that the said order thus is totally illegal, perverse and deserves to be set aside. It is submitted that if the application paper No.14-kha of the petitioner was allowed by the court concerned the CrI. Misc. Case No. 669 of 2025 (Krishna Bihari Yadav Vs. Ram Kumar Pandey and others) could not have been ordered to be dismissed. It is submitted that as such the present petition be allowed and the prayers as prayed be granted.

7. Learned counsel for the opposite party no.8 raises a preliminary objection in the present matter by submitting that in so far as the respondent nos. 8 and 9 namely Bhola Yadav and Awadhesh Kumar Yadav are concerned, they are not impleaded as a respondents in the original application filed before the court concerned by the petitioner and thus they could not have been impleaded as respondents in the present petition. It is submitted that the said act is totally mischievous act and the petition deserves to be dismissed on the said ground itself. Further he submits that there has been material concealment and misstatement in the present petition for writ inasmuch as the petitioner in para no. 1 states it is the first petition for the relief claimed therein whereas after the order impugned dated 30.08.2025 he moved another petition under Section 12 and 13 of the Human Rights Act, 1993 before the court of Human Rights Protection/Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Prayagraj being Petition No. 938 of 2025 (Krishna Bihari Yadav Vs. Ram Kumar Pandey and others) which stood dismissed vide order dated 05.11.2025, copy of the order has been produced before the Court which is taken on record. It is submitted that there is no disclosure about the said fact which was relevant and important and should have been mentioned in the present petition. It is submitted that even the petitioner has moved application before the Human Rights Commission, Lucknow and the proceedings therein are going on in which replies have been sought from the police authority also and the petition/complaint therein is pending and even the fact has not been disclosed in the present petition for writ. It is submitted that thus there is material concealment of relevant facts and the present petition be dismissed with exemplary cost.

8. Learned counsel for the State also opposed the petition and arguments of learned counsel for the petitioner and submitted that that in so far as the order impugned is concerned, the same was passed on an application dated 29.08.2025 filed by the petitioner/complainant Krishna Bihari Yadav before the court concerned mentioning therein that due to inadvertence the complaint has been filed before wrong court whereas it should have been filed before the District and Sessions Judge, Allahabad and thus he had prayed that he may be permitted to file a fresh petition before the appropriate court and the petition filed by him be directed to be withdrawn. It is submitted that the said application was moved as paper No.14-kha before the court concerned and vide order dated 29.08.2025 the said application was allowed by specific order and the petition as filed before the court concerned numbered as Petition No. 669 of 2025 was dismissed and thus the natural consequences which flows is that the petition has been withdrawn seeking liberty to file it before the appropriate court which was allowed and the petitioner before this Court had the liberty to file the petition before the appropriate court. It is submitted that there is nothing on record to show that the petitioner approached the concerned court for filing of his petition. It is submitted that there is no illegality or irregularity in the order impugned and the said order has been passed on the Application No. 14-kha of the petitioner himself which was for the said prayer which was allowed in full. He further submits that the filing of the present petition is clearly abuse of process of court and the same be dismissed with cost.

9. After having heard learned counsels for the parties and perusing the records, it is evident that the petitioner filed a complaint before the court of the Human Rights Commission/Special Judge, Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Prayagraj numbered as Petition No. 669 of 2025 (Krishna Bihari Yadav Vs. Ram Kumar Pandey and others) under Sections 12 and 13 of the Human Rights Act, 1993, the matter was pending before the said Court after which an application dated 29.08.2025 numbered as paper No.14-kha before the court concerned was filed by the petitioner mentioning therein that due to inadvertence the said case has been filed before the said court whereas it had to be filed before the Court of District and Sessions Judge, Allahabad and thus it was prayed that the said petitioner may be permitted to file a fresh petition before the appropriate court and his petition to be directed to be returned and appropriate orders be passed. On the said application, the court concerned vide order impugned dated 30.08.2025 allowed the application paper No. 14-kha of the petitioner and dismissed the Petition No. 669 of 2025. The said order is a specific order in the facts and circumstances of the case as prayed by the petitioner himself. There is no illegality or irregularity in the same since the petitioner had prayed for withdrawal of his petition and approaching the appropriate court as per his wisdom as mentioned in his application No. 14-kha to the records. The said application was allowed and his complaint was dismissed.

10. This Court does not find any patent illegality or irregularity in the order impugned dated 30.08.2025. The same has been passed on an application filed by the petitioner himself before the court concerned and his prayer was allowed.

11. Now coming to the concealment of relevant and material facts in the present petition for writ, the records show that the respondents nos. 8 and 9 namely Bhola Yadav and Awadhesh Yadav respectively are not the respondents in the original application dated 07.06.2025 filed by the petitioner before the court concerned, certified copy of which is from page 16 of the paper book. No reason whatsoever has been stated as to why new persons have been impleaded as respondents in the present petition. Learned counsel for the petitioner also is unable to satisfy the Court regarding the reason why new persons who were not initially respondents in the complaint have been impleaded as respondents in the present petition. This fact remains a mystery.

12. Further the fact that subsequent to the order impugned dated 30.08.2025 passed by the trial court, a petition under Section 12 and 13 of the Human Rights Act, 1993 was again filed by the petitioner before the Court of Human Rights Protection Commission/Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Prayagraj numbered as Petition No. 938 of 2025 (Krishna Bihari Yadav Vs. Ram Kumar Pandey and others) and the same was dismissed vide order dated 05.11.2025 is also neither pleaded nor disclosed in the present petition. Learned counsel for the petitioner further could not justify regarding the non-disclosure before this Court in the present petition of filing of a subsequent petition for the same cause before the court concerned.

13. The law with regards to pleadings and disclosure of relevant and important facts is trite as has been held by the Apex Court in the cases of S.P. Chengalvaraya Naidu Vs. Jagannath: (1994) 1 SCC 1 ; Bhaskar Laxman Jadhav Vs. Karmveer Wagh Education Society & Others: (2013) 11 SCC 531 ; Moti Lal Songara Vs. Prem Prakash @ Pappu: (2013) 9 SCC 199 ; Nidhi Kaim Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh: (2017) 4 SCC 1 ; Kusha Duruka Vs. State of Odisha: (2024) 4 SCC 432 ; Vishnu Vardhan @ Vishnu Pradhan Vs. The State of Uttar Pradesh & others: 2025 INSC 884, it has been held that in no specific terms that a litigant has come to Court with clean hands and disclose all the facts of the case. It has further been held that it is not for him to choose as to which fact has to disclose and which is not to be disclosed. It is held that he has to disclose each and every fact pertaining to the matter before the Court and leave it on the Court to decide it. He cannot decide what to disclose and what not to disclose before the Court. Further regarding the disclosure the law as has been settled is to the extent that even a passing reference of a certain facts has not been considered to be a disclosure of a fact and it has to be in full and complete.

14. In the present case, there is concealment of relevant fact and material. The order dated 05.11.2025 as passed by the court concerned and then the applicant moving the second petition for the same cause has not been disclosed in the present petition. Even arraying new parties in the present petition who were not respondents in the original petition before the court concerned is also a new instance without any justifiable reason.

15. This Court has come to the conclusion that filing of the present petition is clearly abuse of process of Court and its filing also flows from severe concealment of material and relevant facts. On merits there is no illegality or irregularity in the order impugned. The present petition is thus dismissed with a exemplary cost of Rs. 20,000/- which is imposed on the petitioner, to be deposited within a period of three weeks before the Registrar General of this Court. When the said amount is deposited, the same shall be transferred to the account of the High Court Legal Services

Committee for its utilization. ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether Opposite Party No.2 violated conditions of anticipatory bail by seeking adjournments, thereby justifying cancellation of bail.

HEADNOTES

Criminal Law - Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 - Sections – 205, 317, 439, - Indian Penal Code (IPC) - Sections - 120-B, 406, 420 - Bail cancellation application - filed for seeking cancellation of anticipatory bail - granted to accused opposite party no. 2 - by the Additional Sessions Judge, Varanasi - Applicant pleaded that the accused misused bail conditions by seeking repeated adjournments and not cooperating with trial - Opposite party argued that only exemption applications were filed, not adjournments, and proceedings were not delayed - Distinction between adjournment applications and exemption applications - Court finds that exemption applications are distinct from adjournments, no violation of bail conditions occurred - reliance was placed on Supreme Court precedents (Bhaskar Industries Ltd. and Rameshwar Yadav) - Held, Exemption from personal attendance does not delay proceedings - there is no ground to cancel bail – accordingly, the bail cancellation application is rejected - with directions issued to the Registrar General of High Court to circulate judgment to judicial officers to avoid confusion between adjournment and exemption applications.(Para – 16, 17, 18)

CASE ARISING FROM

Complaint Case No. 115562 of 2023, Police Station Bhelupur, District Varanasi.

APPEARANCE OF PARTIES

Counsel for Appellant(s): Shri Pradeep Verma, Shri Chandra Dutt, Counsel for Respondent(s): Shri N.I. Jafri (Senior Advocate), assisted by Shri Ali Jamal Khan and learned A.G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Nalin Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. The application in hand has been moved on behalf of the applicant - Piyush Verma seeking cancellation of anticipatory bail granted to the accused / opposite party no.2 in Complaint Case No. 115562 of 2023, under Sections 406, 120-B IPC, Police Station Bhelupur, District Varanasi vide order dated 31.5.2025 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Varanasi.

2. Heard Shri Pradeep Verma, learned counsel for the applicant, Shri N.I. Jafri, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Ali Jamal Khan, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 as well as the learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

3. The facts giving rise to the present application for cancellation of anticipatory bail to the accused / opposite party no.2 are that the applicant had filed a Complaint Case No. 115562 of 2023 against Smt. Pooja Grover and her husband Umang Grover for the offences under Sections 420, 406, 120-B IPC before the Court concerned and after recording the statements of complainant and the witnesses under Sections 200 and 202 CrPC, the Court concerned passed an order dated 4.11.2023 summoning the aforesaid accused persons to face trial for the offence under Sections 420, 406 and 120-B IPC which was challenged before this Court by way of Application U/S 482 No. 20040 of 2024 and this Court vide order dated 13.12.2024 disposed of the said application and the said summoning order was set-aside and the matter was remitted back to the Court concerned to pass order on the point of summoning afresh, expeditiously in accordance with law. Subsequently, the trial Court passed an order dated 24.2.2025 summoning both the accused persons to face trial for the offences under Sections 406 and 120-B IPC. In pursuance of the said order the opposite party no.2 moved an application seeking anticipatory bail before the trial Court, which was allowed. Feeling aggrieved with the subsequent conduct of the accused / opposite party no.2 causing misuse of the order granting anticipatory bail, the present application for cancellation of anticipatory bail has been moved.

4. It has been submitted by the learned counsel for the applicant that there are credible evidence against the accused / opposite party no.2 on record. Specific allegations have been levelled against the opposite party no.2 in the complaint and also in the statements recorded under Sections 200 and 202 CrPC. It is also submitted that one of the conditions for granting anticipatory bail to the opposite party no.2 was that she will fully cooperate with the trial of this case and no unnecessary adjournment shall be sought by her.

5. It is also submitted that after grant of anticipatory bail in favour of the accused / opposite party no.2 she is not cooperating with the trial of this case and on two successive occasions adjournment applications were moved by her, hence, she is violating the condition for anticipatory bail granted to her by the Court concerned. Therefore, the anticipatory bail granted to the accused / opposite party no.2 is liable to be cancelled and the impugned order is liable to be quashed.

6. On the other hand, learned Senior Advocate appearing for the accused / opposite party no.2 opposed the prayer for cancellation of anticipatory bail and submitted that the case has not been fixed for evidence so far and two dates on which the adjournment applications are said to be moved were not fixed for evidence. It is also submitted that on the said dates exemption applications were moved and not adjournment applications. It is further submitted that the accused / opposite party no.2 is ready and willing to fully cooperate with the trial court and she is in fact cooperating with the trial Court and the judicial proceedings have not been hampered on account of her alleged non-cooperation so far.

7. It is further urged that the case was not fixed for evidence on the date when the exemption application was moved. It is further submitted that even the evidence may be recorded in the absence of the accused and the accused / opposite party no.2 will have no objection. Since the accused / opposite party no.2 has already appeared before the Court, her personal appearance could be exempted by the trial court and moreover it is a complaint case. He also undertakes that the accused is always ready and willing to participate into the proceedings of the case before the Court and if any exemption is granted by the Court to her, her non-appearance before the trial court shall not come in the proceedings of the trial, as she would be present before the Court through counsel. There is no infirmity or illegality in the impugned order warranting interference by this Court. In support of his submissions with regard to dispense with the presence of the accused / opposite party no.2 before the Court, learned Senior Advocate appearing for the accused / opposite party no.2 has placed reliance upon the decisions of the Hon'ble Apex Court in Bhaskar Industries Ltd. Vs. Bhiwani Denim @ Apparels Ltd., (2001) 7 SCC 401 and Rameshwar Yadav vs. State of Bihar, (2018) 4 SCC 608.

8. I have considered the rival submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties and have gone through the entire record carefully.

9. Before dealing with the matter, it is desirable to quote the provisions of Sections 205 CrPC and 317 CrPC relevant in order to disposal of the case in hand, which are as under :

"205. Magistrate may dispense with personal attendance of accused.

(1) Whenever a Magistrate issues a summons, he may, if he sees reason so to do, dispense with the personal attendance of the accused and permit him to appear by his pleader. (2) But the Magistrate inquiring into or trying the case, may, in his discretion, at any stage of the proceedings, direct the personal attendance of the accused, and, if necessary, enforce such attendance in the manner hereinbefore provided."

"317. Provision for inquiries and trial being held in the absence of accused in certain cases.

(1) At any stage of an inquiry or trial under this Code, if the Judge or Magistrate is satisfied, for reasons to be recorded, that the personal attendance of the accused before the Court is not necessary in the interests of justice, or that the accused persistently disturbs the proceedings in Court, the Judge or Magistrate may, if the accused is represented by a pleader, dispense with his attendance and proceed with such inquiry or trial in his absence, and may, at any subsequent stage of the proceedings, direct the personal attendance of such accused.

(2) If the accused in any such case is not represented by a pleader, or if the Judge or Magistrate considers his personal attendance necessary, he may, if he thinks fit and for reasons to be recorded by him, either adjourn such inquiry or trial, or order that the case of such accused be taken up or tried separately."

10. While granting anticipatory bail to the accused / opposite party no.2, the Court concerned vide order dated 31.5.2025 imposed following conditions :

"1. अभियुक्ता विचारण में पूर्ण सहयोग करेगी तथा अनावश्यक स्थगन प्रस्तुत नहीं करेगी।

2. अभियुक्ता किसी भी व्यक्ति जो इस मामले के तथ्यों से परिचित हो को किसी प्रकार का प्रलोभन नहीं देगी और न ही किसी प्रकार से प्रताड़ित करेगी, धमकायेगी।

3. अभियुक्ता भविष्य में यदि किसी अन्य आपराधिक गतिविधि में सम्मिलित होती है तो यह उसके अग्र मABAILC No. 109 of 2025 जमानत के निरस्तीकरण का पयार्स आधार होगा।

4. अभियुक्ता अग्र म जमानत पर रहने की अविधि में भारत देश से बाहर नहीं जायेगी।

11. This is the first condition for alleged wilful violation of which the present application for cancellation of anticipatory bail has been moved.

12. An application to dispense with the personal attendance of an accused is only meant that for certain reasons the accused is not present before the Court but on his /her behalf his/her counsel is present over there to attend the Court and to participate in the proceedings taken before the Court on a particular date but it never means that by way of an exemption application the accused wants to adjourn the proceedings of the case on the pretext of his personal absence for certain reasons. On the other hand, an adjournment application is meant to postpone the proceedings of the case on a particular day on a temporary basis for some other day on any ground taken by the accused in the said application. Hence, whenever an adjournment application is moved by the accused there is no iota of doubt that on a particular day the accused is not willing and ready, whatsoever be the reasons thereof, to participate in the proceedings of the case on a particular day and such conduct of the accused can be taken by the Court as an attempt to prolong the proceedings of the case on some pretext. Since to participate in the proceedings of a trial on the part of an accused is a binding condition for bail, the accused, who has got bail from a Court on the aforesaid condition, cannot be permitted to get the proceedings of the case adjourned on a particular day only at his own will. However, on sufficient and satisfactory ground an adjournment application may be allowed by the Court but at the same time it provides a chance to the prosecution to question the conduct of the accused to get the case adjourned. The Court ought to have been strict in its view and approach to hold that repeated adjournment applications are moved with the object only to get the trial delayed and that certainly amounts to an infringement and violation of the conditions imposed upon him while providing him opportunity of bail. On the other hand, however, if the personal presence of an accused is required in view of the Court before it e.g. at the stage of evidence where question of identification in dock is required the application to dispense with personal attendance of the accused before the Court may be rejected as well but so far as the case in hand is concerned, as submitted by the learned Senior Advocate appearing for the accused / opposite party no.2, the case was not fixed for evidence on the date when exemption application was moved. The reason for absence of the accused / opposite party no.2 has been mentioned in the exemption application which shows that the exemption was sought for on the ground that accused / opposite party no.2 alongwith her husband, who is also an accused in this case, was out-of-station and that was the reason for her absence before the Court on the date fixed. The submissions made by the accused / opposite party no.2 finds strength from the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the cases of Bhaskar Industries Ltd. (supra) and Rameshwar Yadav (supra).

13. In Bhaskar Industries Ltd. case (supra) the issue before the Hon'ble Apex Court was as to whether the application for exemption from personal attendance moved by the accused could be treated as one moved under Section 205 CrPC or under Section 317 CrPC. The High Court in that case had observed that the accused had already appeared before the Court after obtaining the order of pre arrest bail and furnishing bond and sureties to the satisfaction of the Court, he was not entitled to file an application under Section 205 CrPC at subsequent stage after appearing before the Court. However, the Hon'ble Apex Court found that the said observation was factually incorrect. The power of Magistrate under Section 317 CrPC was also discussed by the Hon'ble Apex Court in connection with the discretion of Court to exempt a person from personal appearance and in crux it was concluded that there is no impediment on the power of the Magistrate to consider the application of an accused for his exemption from personal appearance.

14. Same view has been expressed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court later in the case of Rameshwar Yadav (supra).

15. In fact seeking temporary suspension or postponement of a legal proceeding on a particular date by way of filing an adjournment application and thereby to make a request for a later date by way of filing an adjournment application is different from that of an application seeking exemption from personal appearance for any valid reason like distance or illness etc. and in that way the party seeks an exemption from any obligation in a legal manner. Here lies the difference between an adjournment application and an exemption application and the exemption application is not meant to avoid the legal proceedings to be taken on a particular date, time or location.

16. From a perusal of the application dated 10.11.2025, which is annexed with the supplementary affidavit, it is evident that it is not an adjournment application but it is simply an application for exemption from appearance before the Court moved by accused / opposite party no.2. As mentioned above, there is a huge difference between an application for exemption of appearance and adjournment of proceedings. It appears that the applicant has been unable to understand the said difference.

17. In view of the aforesaid discussions, in my view, there is no force in the submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the applicant. There is no good ground to cancel the anticipatory bail granted to the accused / opposite party no.2 as no violation of any of the conditions imposed while granting anticipatory bail by the court to the accused has been made by her. The application is liable to be rejected and the same is accordingly rejected.

18. Before parting, it would be apt to note that the Court often comes across the cases where it appears that although nature, scope and object of an application seeking exemption of the personal attendance of an accused on a particular date is different from that of an application to adjourn the proceedings but the Presiding Officers often get confused and an exemption application is treated as an adjournment application by them which is not the correct notion of law. Hence, to remind them of the real nature and object of the application of both kinds, the Registrar General of this Court is directed to circulate copy of this judgment to all District and Sessions Judges, Principal Judges of Family Courts, and Presiding Officers of Commercial Courts and further to all the Judicial Officers of the State of Uttar Pradesh for information and compliance.

19. This Court is thankful to Shri Pradeep Verma, learned counsel for the applicant, Shri N.I. Jafri, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Ali Jamal Khan, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 and Sri Nitesh Srivastava, learned A.G.A. for the State and Mr. Akash Verma, Research Associate of this Court for ably assisting the Court.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether the accused-applicant (who has killed his wife by strangulation) is entitled to bail in the second bail application?

accused to bail; their testimony can still be scrutinized and partially relied upon, – (iii) Medical evidence (horizontal ligature mark) rules out suicide and supports homicidal strangulation, – (iv) Applicant appears to be influencing witnesses even while incarcerated, – (v) Gravity of offense (murder within matrimonial home) and applicant's absconding conduct weigh against bail – held - no ground for enlargement on bail – consequently, second bail application is rejected – directions issued to the trial court to proceed uninfluenced by observations. CASE ARISING FROM Case Crime No. 336 of 2024, Police Station Maurawan, District Unnao, Uttar Pradesh.

APPEARANCE OF PARTIES

Counsel for Appellant(s): Shri Aditya Prakash.
Counsel for Respondent(s): Shri Mayank Sinha, A.G.A.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Aditya Prakash, the learned counsel for the applicant as well as Sri Mayank Sinha, the learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

2. This is second application seeking release of the applicant on bail in Case Crime No. 336 of 2024, under Sections 103(1) B.N.S., Police Station Maurawan, District Unnao.

3. After advancing submissions in support of the first Bail Application No. 11960/2024, the learned Senior Advocate representing the applicant had stated that prosecution evidence was going on and the applicant would await the outcome of the trial and would not press the bail application and, therefore, the first bail application was rejected by means of an order dated 16.05.2025. This second bail application has been filed on 07.07.2025 without awaiting the outcome of trial.

4. The aforesaid case has been registered on the basis of F.I.R. lodged on 12.07.2024, stating that the informant's niece had got married to the applicant about 20 years ago. He got information that the applicant had killed his wife by strangulating her. Upon reaching the applicant's home, the informant found the dead body of his niece lying on the floor and the applicant had ran away from his home.

5. The inquest report mentions a ligature mark around the neck. Blood had oozed out from ears and nose. The inquest proceeding was witnessed by five persons, not including the applicant. The witnesses expressed opinion that the deceased had been killed by strangulating with a saree.

6. The post-mortem examination report mentions a ligature mark present in front of neck, going backwards, horizontally around the neck. There was a contused swelling over right Occipito-parital region of head and a contusion over right side of chest. The cause of death has been opined to be due to ante-mortem strangulation and all the injuries were ante mortem injuries.

7. The investigating officer recorded statement of the complainant, the deceased's sister and the deceased's daughter. The deceased's daughter aged about 14 years stated that her father (the applicant) had beaten up her mother and thereafter he killed her and left the home. This statement was videographed.

8. The complainant has been examined as PW-1 and he stated that the deceased used to suffer from abdomen pain and the family members of her husband had told that she had said that she would commit suicide. This witness was declared hostile. During cross-examination by the defense counsel, PW-1 stated that after the incident, he came to know from the villagers that his niece had committed suicide. He had inquired from the two daughters of the deceased, who stated that their mother was suffering from abdominal pain and, therefore, she committed suicide by hanging.

9. A daughter of the deceased has been examined as PW-2 and she stated that two persons had entered her house in the night of the incident. She did not recognize those persons. Her father was not present. Her younger brother went to her mother's room at about 02:00 a.m. and found her mother dead. Her brother woke her up and then she also went to the mother's room and found her lying dead on the floor. Thereafter she told about it to her grandmother. She did not know as to how did her mother die. When the two persons came there she was sleeping. An altercation took place between those persons and her mother and thereupon she woke up and went inside the room of her mother. Those two persons had covered their faces with clothes and were strangulating her mother. One was carrying a knife and both of them had threatened her. At this stage this witness was declared hostile.

10. During cross examination by the defense counsel, PW-2 stated that her father was languishing in jail and she, her brother and sister want that he should be released from jail and all of them should live together. Whenever she visits her father in the jail, her father requests her to get him free from incarceration. She further stated that two thieves had entered the house, strangulated her mother and snatched away the jewelry worn by her.

11. At this stage the learned AGA has drawn attention of the Court to the inquest report, which mentions that a nose-pin of yellow metal was present in nose of the dead body, two bangles of yellow color were present in each of the hands and a ring of yellow metal was also present on her finger. Therefore, the statement that thieves had snatched away her jewelry is false on the face of the record. Although in the examination-in chief the PW2 had stated that the two persons who had killed her mother had covered their faces with clothes, during cross-examination she stated that both the thieves had not covered their faces but she did not recognize them.

12. The learned counsel for the applicant had submitted that as both the prosecution witnesses including the complainant and daughter of the deceased have turned hostile, the applicant is entitled to be enlarged on bail.

13. In State v. Sanjeev Nanda: (2012) 8 SCC 450, the Hon'ble Supreme Court observed that: -

“99. Witness turning hostile is a major disturbing factor faced by the criminal courts in India. Reasons are many for the witnesses turning hostile, but of late, we see, especially in high profile cases, there is a regularity in the witnesses turning hostile, either due to monetary consideration or by other tempting offers which undermine the entire criminal justice system and people carry the impression that the mighty and powerful can always get away from the clutches of law, thereby eroding people's faith in the system.

100. This Court in State of U.P. v. Ramesh Prasad Misra [(1996) 10 SCC 360] held that it is equally settled law that the evidence of a hostile witness could not be totally rejected, if spoken in favour of the prosecution or the accused, but it can be subjected to closest scrutiny and that portion of the evidence which is consistent with the case of the prosecution or defence may be accepted. In K. Anbazhagan v. Supt. of Police [(2004) 3 SCC 767], this Court held that if a court finds that in the process the credit of the witness has not been completely shaken, it may after reading and considering the evidence of the witness as a whole, with due caution, accept, in the light of the evidence on the record that part of his testimony which it finds to be creditworthy and act upon it. This is exactly what was done in the instant case by both the trial court and the High Court and they found the accused guilty.

101. We cannot, however, close our eyes to the disturbing fact in the instant case where even the injured witness, who was present on the spot, turned hostile. This Court in Manu Sharma v. State (NCT of Delhi) [(2010) 6 SCC 1] and in Zahira Habibullah Sheikh (5) v. State of Gujarat [(2006) 3 SCC 374] had highlighted the glaring defects in the system like non-recording of the statements correctly by the police and the retraction of the statements by the prosecution witness due to intimidation, inducement and other methods of manipulation. Courts, however, cannot shut their eyes to the reality. If a witness becomes hostile to subvert the judicial process, the court shall not stand as a mute spectator and every effort should be made to bring home the truth. Criminal justice system cannot be overturned by those gullible witnesses who act under pressure, inducement or intimidation. Further, Section 193 IPC imposes punishment for giving false evidence but is seldom invoked.”

(Emphasis added)

14. The story that the deceased had committed suicide is belied from the post-mortem examination report which mentions presence of a horizontal ligature mark around the neck of the deceased, which is not possible in case of a suicide and which is only possible in case of strangulation by some other person. Therefore, it appears that the deceased has been killed by strangulation inside her matrimonial home. Although the daughter of the deceased has resiled from her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C., the statement was videographed and, therefore, it is apparent that the deceased's daughter has turned hostile under influence of the applicant who is her father and as per the statement of PW-2 who keeps on asking his daughter (PW-2) to help him in coming out of the prison.

15. There are serious discrepancies in the statement of the PW-2 even while helping the applicant as at one place she said that she had not seen anyone killing the deceased while at the other place she said that two thieves had killed her. At one place she says that the two persons had covered their faces and at another place she says that their faces were not covered. The story of thieves having stolen away some jewelry is proved to be false from the inquest report which mentions presence of jewelry on the dead body.

16. In these circumstances, prima facie, it appears that even while remaining incarcerated, the applicant is influencing the prosecution witnesses. The applicant is accused of killing his wife by strangulation in side his house. The hypothesis of suicide being projected by the defense Counsel, is not supported by the horizontal ligature mark around neck of the dead body and this mark suggests strangulation by some other person. The applicant is the husband of the deceased, he is said to have absconded after the incident and he has not witnessed the inquest proceeding. Therefore, keeping in view the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, I am of the considered view that the fact of cause do not warrant enlargement of the applicant on bail.

17. The second bail application of the applicant is rejected.

18. It is clarified that the trial Court shall conclude the trial without being influenced by any observation made in this order.

ISSUE FOR CONSIDERATION

Whether prolonged delay in trial and long incarceration of the accused (husband in a dowry death case) entitles him to bail despite seriousness of the offence.

HEADNOTES

Criminal Law – Code of Criminal Procedure (Cr.P.C.) - Section 309 - Indian Penal Code (IPC) - Sections 498-A, 304-B - Dowry Prohibition Act – Sections 3, 4 - Constitution of India: Article 21
 - Second Bail application – filed by accused-husband – FIR – offence of Dowry Death – dowry death of wife within three years of marriage – investigation - charge-sheet - cognizance taken - trial initiated – first bail rejected on merits - second bail pressed on ground of delayed trial and long incarceration – applicant pleaded that only 5 out of 30 witnesses examined, trial court proceeding casually – State opposed citing gravity of offence and evidence against accused – Court finds that, delay alone cannot justify bail in heinous offences like dowry death – and held that, right to speedy trial is constitutional but must be balanced with societal interest and gravity of crime – hence, bail rejected – direction issued to expedite proceedings, conclude trial within three months and send monthly progress reports - applicant free to move fresh Bail Application if trial not concluded within time. APPEARANCE OF PARTIES

Counsel for Appellant(s): Shri Upendra Kumar Singh.
 Counsel for Respondent(s): AGA.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Nalin Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicant as well as the learned A.G.A for the State and perused the record.

2. This is the second application for grant of bail filed on behalf of the applicant - Netram with the prayer to enlarge him on bail in Case Crime No.324 of 2022, under Sections 498-A, 304-B IPC and Section 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station Barkheda, District Pilibhit.

3. The first bail application of the accused-applicant was rejected by this Court vide order dated 6.6.2023 on merits.

4. It is alleged in the F.I.R. that within three years of marriage, the daughter of the informant was subjected to dowry death by her in-laws including the present accused applicant, who is the husband of the deceased. It is also alleged in the F.I.R. that a demand of additional dowry was made to the deceased and she was subjected to cruelty and harassment on account of the aforesaid demand and when the demand was not fulfilled, she was hanged by all her in-laws. F.I.R. was lodged on 5.8.2022 and investigation started which culminated into the charge-sheet and at present the trial is going on.

5. The instant application for grant of bail has been moved on the ground of delayed trial and long incarceration period of the applicant. It is urged by the learned counsel for the applicant that he has been languishing in jail since 26.08.2022. While disposing the first bail application of the applicant, the learned trial court was directed to expedite the hearing of the trial and to conclude the same preferably within a period of one year by this Court but till date trial has not been concluded. In the instant case charge-sheet was submitted on 22.10.2022 and cognizance was taken on 21.11.2022 and after committal of the matter, trial started before the trial court and out of total 30 witnesses, only 5 witnesses have been examined till date. It is further submitted that the applicant is an undertrial and the prosecution has miserably failed to produce witnesses before the trial court vigilantly and the trial court is also proceeding with the trial in a casual manner resulting into a long incarceration of the applicant without any fault on his part. The trial is delayed unnecessarily, hence, the applicant is entitled for grant of bail.

6. Per contra, learned A.G.A. opposed the prayer for bail and submitted that the first application for grant of bail of the applicant was rejected on merits by a detailed order passed by this Court. The trial started in the year 2023 and at present it is pending for evidence and the trial court is making sincere efforts and taking all the steps to procure the appearance of the witnesses in this case. The evidence of witnesses of fact has been concluded and now trial is pending for recording the evidence of formal witnesses only. The present accused applicant is the husband of the deceased and dowry death of his wife has been caused in his own house by way of hanging and there is ample evidence recorded during the course of trial which attributes the main role of causing dowry death of the deceased, who was the only child of her parents, to her husband, the present accused applicant. It is further submitted that the trial of this case is expected to be decided expeditiously hence, there is no ground to allow the instant bail application and the same is liable to be rejected.

7. I have considered the rival submissions made by the learned counsel for the accused / applicant and the learned State counsel and perused the record.

8. So far as the case in hand is concerned, it is apparent from the perusal of the record and copies of the order-sheet that the first date for recording the evidence of prosecution witnesses was fixed as 16.1.2023. Albeit it was a case relating to an undertrial but the learned trial court took no pain to ensure the presence of the witnesses before it to record their deposition promptly and as a matter of fact after 17.11.2023 when evidence of P.W.5 was recorded, no other witness turned till date before the trial court to record his deposition and the copies of the order-sheet further reflect that no effort was made by the learned trial court to ascertain their presence before the Court and only stereo type orders were passed on subsequent dates. This made the present accused applicant to appear before the Court from jail on each and every date without any fruitful proceedings on ground. Even the mandate provided under Section 309 Cr.P.C. (Section 346 B.N.S.S.) was also not paid any attention to and the Court took no interest or pain even to see whether the processes sent to the witnesses had been returned to the Court or not and consequently the accused applicant was compelled to move second application for grant of bail before this Court.

9. A perusal of the record reflects that the first bail application of the applicant was rejected by this Court vide order dated 6.6.2023 passed in Crl. Misc. Bail Application No.20730 of 2023 and the evidence on record and the complicity of the accused as well in the commission of the alleged offence have been discussed in the aforesaid order. The earlier bail application of the accused applicant was rejected by the Court after considering all the material facts, evidence on record and circumstances of the case on merits.

10. The Courts in India have always been vigilant to protect the constitutional rights and particularly the right to liberty of a person and this approach is echoed in a catena of decisions passed by the Hon'ble Apex Court and this Court as well viz : Union of India vs. K.A. Najeed (2021) 3 SCC 713, Sanjay Chandra vs. Central Bureau of Investigation, (2012) 1 SCC 40 and Hussain Ara Khatoon vs. State of Bihar (1980) 1 SCC 98 and so on. The principle underlying these decisions establishes that no person can be deprived of his constitutional right to liberty which includes a speedy trial as well which is guaranteed by Article 21 of the Constitution and for an inordinate delay in trial, right to bail accrues in favour of an undertrial.

11. But in the facts and circumstances of the instant case it would not be proper that only on the basis of delayed trial, the present second bail application of the applicant should be allowed. It is a case of dowry death of a young deceased which was caused in her matrimonial house within three years of her marriage by hanging. Accused-applicant is the husband of the deceased, the most responsible person to protect his wife from all the dangers, legally and morally. While considering the argument of the learned counsel for the applicant relating to the long incarceration of the undertrial and delayed trial, in my considered view it does not, in the facts and circumstances of the present case, ipso facto entitle him to bail. Delay in trial, by itself, cannot be the sole ground to enlarge the applicant on bail where the offence alleged is grave and punishable with upto life imprisonment.

12. In Gurwinder Singh vs. State of Punjab & Another, 2024 INSC 92 [Criminal Appeal No.704 of 2024 (@ Special Leave Petition (Criminal) No.10047 of 2023)], the Hon'ble Apex Court found that bail was pressed on ground of delayed trial but the evidence on record prima facie reveal the complicity of the accused as a part of the commitment of the offence and there were chances and every likelihood that he will influence the key witnesses of this case which might hamper the process of justice and, therefore, in the facts and circumstances of the case it was held that mere delay in trial pertaining to grave offences cannot be used as a ground to grant bail.

13. It is a trite law that the right to speedy trial, though guaranteed as a valuable constitutional protection under Article 21, cannot be stretched to a point where it overshadows the overwhelming circumstances of guilt that stand against the accused at this stage. Delay in trial, though regrettable, is not by itself a ground for bail in cases involving grave and heinous offences, particularly where the evidence links the accused to the commission of the crime. It is also well settled that though bail is the rule and jail an exception, the nature and gravity of the offence, the role attributed to the accused and the societal impact of releasing an accused charged with heinous offences are relevant considerations which cannot be overlooked. Hence, to uphold an accrual of right to bail of the accused only on the ground of delayed trial will not be correct innunciation of law.

14. It also must be taken into cognizance of that the person behind the bar has no control over the proceedings of the Court and this is the uncontaminated duty of the trial Court to make all the sincere efforts for the production of the witnesses before it and the undertrial has absolutely no role in the said procedure. The Courts must be aware of the fact that if the trial is delayed on account of non-appearance of witnesses and the undertrial is only visiting the Court on each and every date from jail only to put his signature over the order-sheet and get a new date and returns to jail to further put his appearance before the Court on the next date fixed only to take another date. This is a very sorry state of affairs to which every Court must take account of. A delayed trial is certainly nothing else but a denial of justice and it should never be forgotten that speedy trial is a benign right of the accused which must not be usurped in any condition. The Presiding Officer in the Court does not sit only to adjourn the case but to ensure an effective proceeding and in this way the Presiding Officer is a person most responsible for the production of witnesses and recording their depositions before the Court. It is a denial of valuable right of personal liberty and the concept of access to justice. That is the underlying reason in certain conditions like the present one, orders for expeditious disposal of the case are passed by the High Court exercising its supervisory power upon the Subordinate Courts and the instant case deserves the same treatment.

15. During course of submission a point arose that whenever a direction is issued to a Subordinate Court for the expeditious disposal of a case, it creates panic upon the Presiding Officer who is already overburdened with the huge pendency of cases before him and if such mandate is passed in several cases the other works of the Court are certainly hampered and most of his time and energy is engaged to ensure the compliance of the orders of the High Court.

16. The Court feels that whenever a direction is issued by this Court to the Subordinate Courts for the expeditious disposal of a trial / case, it never means to create any panic to the Court concerned. As a protector of the Constitution, this Court has a constitutional power and duty as well to have a control over the functioning of the District Courts and also to issue proper directions and guidance from time to time to the trial Courts as to in what manner a trial should be taken place and also to remind the Subordinate Courts of their rights and duties. A direction for the expeditious disposal of a case aims only to keep the proceedings of the Court moving in a right direction and speed and it never intends to put the Presiding Officers in a state of stress or to make them upset. The object and reason behind passing any order or any observation made by the higher Courts should always be kept into mind by the Subordinate Courts, as held in Union of India Vs. Amrit Lal Manchanda and Another, (2004) 3 Supreme Court Cases 75. It is strongly impressed upon that an order passed for expeditious disposal of a case by this Court is binding upon not only the Court / Presiding Officer concerned but upon all the stake holders viz : police and executive officers, prosecution agency, staff, counsels, litigants etc. as well.

17. However, in the instant case, keeping in view the gravity and seriousness of the offence and other relevant parameters for grant of bail, as mentioned above, I am of the view that at this stage the delayed trial cannot be supposed to be a ground to allow this repeat bail application.¹⁸ The aforesaid view of this Court finds support from the legal dictum promulgated by the Hon'ble Apex Court in a very recent case of Gulfisha Fatima Vs. State (Govt. of NCT of Delhi), 2026 SCC OnLine SC 10 (delivered on 5th January, 2026) where the bail of the undertrial was refused in a very serious offence under U.A.P.A. and necessity to maintain a balance between Article 21 of the Constitution which protects a person's right to life and liberty and nature of the offence and law prevailing thereon was impressed upon. The relevant paragraphs of the said decision are extracted below.

"42. The approach of addressing delay-related concerns through calibrated judicial supervision, rather than automatic enlargement on bail, stands reinforced by the decision of this Court in Union of India v. Saleem Khan⁴. In that case, despite the accused having remained in custody for over five years and the trial not having commenced, this Court declined to interfere with the rejection of bail qua one accused, while upholding bail granted to another, thereby reiterating that delay-based pleas must necessarily be adjudicated on an accused-specific footing. Significantly, even while acknowledging the constitutional imperative of a speedy trial, the Court did not eclipse the statutory rigour under Section 43D(5) of the UAPA but instead directed expeditious conclusion of the trial and cautioned against any conduct on the part of the accused that may further protract the proceedings. The decision thus affirms that prolonged custody, though a matter of concern, does not operate as an automatic ground for grant of bail where the statutory threshold continues to be attracted.".....

"56. Rather, delay serves as a trigger for heightened judicial scrutiny. The outcome of such scrutiny must be determined by a proportional and contextual balancing of legally relevant considerations, including (i) the gravity and statutory character of the offence alleged, (ii) the role attributed to the accused within the alleged design or conspiracy, (iii) the strength of the prima facie case as it emerges at the limited threshold contemplated under the special statute, and (iv) the extent to which continued incarceration, viewed cumulatively in the facts of the case, has become demonstrably disproportionate so as to offend the guarantee of personal liberty under Article 21.".....

"226. Delay can warrant a more searching constitutional scrutiny. But it does not authorise the Court to dilute the statutory threshold by undertaking credibility findings. The balance must be maintained: constitutional concern is real, but statutory restraint is equally real. Where the prima facie threshold continues to be crossed, delay is met through expeditious trial directions and continued judicial monitoring, not by negating Section 43D(5).".....

19. Abdul Rehman Antuley Vs. R.S. Nayak, AIR 1992 SC 1701 is another authority on the point as to whether the accused should be released on bail if allegedly there has been an unreasonable delay in the trial. The Hon'ble Apex Court held that whenever a complaint of infringement of right to speedy trial is made the Court has to consider all the circumstances of the case and it is not possible in the very nature of things and present day circumstances to draw a time-limit beyond which a criminal proceeding will not be allowed to go.

20. On the aforesaid subject, a co-joint reading of the decisions of Hon'ble Apex Court in Ranjan Dwivedi v. CBI, (2012) 3 SCC (Cri) 945, Ram Govind Upadhyay vs Sudarshan Singh & Ors., 2002 (3) SCC 598 and Rajesh Ranjan Yadav alias Pappu Yadav Vs. CBI, AIR 2007 SC 451 reminds that the Courts ought to be cautious in its approach in the interest of society in a matter which stands out to be a social crime of very serious nature and other incriminating factors when delay in conclusion of trial is pleaded and while paying attention to Article 21 which enshrines the fundamental right to individual liberty, a balance has to be struck between the right to individual liberty and the interest of the society at the same time and the crux would be that no right can be absolute and reasonable restrictions can be placed on them. No doubt an offence in the form of dowry death is a social crime.

21. Hence, delay alone cannot justify grant of bail considering the gravity of the offence and the restrictive statutory framework. Hence, it may be summed up that mere delay in trial pertaining to grave offence as one involved in the instant case cannot be used as a ground to grant bail. The second bail application of the accused applicant is hereby rejected.

22. However, the learned trial court is directed to make all possible endeavour to expedite the trial of the case following the mandate provided under Section 309 Cr.P.C. (Section 346 B.N.S.S.) and to conclude it expeditiously, preferably within a period of three months from the date of presentation of certified copy of this order before it. Trial court is also directed to send monthly report regarding the progress of the case to the Registry of this Court. If the trial is not decided within the aforesaid period, the applicant will be at liberty to move another application for grant of bail before this Court.

23. This Court sincerely feels that that the Court / Presiding Officer is not the only stake holder in the justice delivery system or for trial and disposal of a case, but there are several factors which create hindrance and obstructions in the smooth functioning of a Court and sometimes derail the normal functioning of the Court viz. lawyers strike and non-cooperation with the Court, lackadaisical approach of the prosecution agency, negligence on the part of police / administrative authorities, incompetency of staff, conduct of the parties / witnesses in a case in general creating obstruction in the judicial proceedings etc., hence, besides the Presiding Officer concerned, all the stake holders i.e. police and executive authorities, prosecution agency, counsels, parties to the case, staff etc. are also made bound by this order and it will be their responsibility also to assist the Court in every manner for the expeditious disposal of this case.

CASE ARISING FROM

Case Crime No. 93/2024, Police Station Kotwali, District Gorakhpur - Sessions Case No. 898/2024 pending before Special Judge (PC Act), Court No. 2, Gorakhpur.

APPEARANCE OF PARTIES

Counsel for Appellant(s): - Shri Narendra Kumar, Sri Raja Chaudhary (holding brief), Sri Preet Pal Singh Rathore, Sri Karunesh Pratap Singh.

Counsel for Respondent(s): - Shri Birendra Pratap Singh, AGA-I, Sri Ajay Singh, AGA-I (earlier hearings).

(Delivered by Hon'ble Samit Gopal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Raja Chaudhary, Advocate, holding brief of Sri Narendra Kumar along with Sri Narendra Kumar, learned counsel for the applicant in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.32305 of 2025 & Criminal Misc. Application U/S 482 No.1569 of 2025 (Alok Singh vs. State of U.P. and another), Sri Preet Pal Singh Rathore, learned counsel for the applicant in Application U/S 528 BNSS No.8780 of 2025 (Vishal Tiwari vs. State of U.P. and another) and Sri Karunesh Pratap Singh, learned counsel for the applicant in Application U/s 528 Bnss No. 18833 of 2025 (Prachand Pratap Singh Vs State of U.P. and another) and Sri Birendra Pratap Singh, learned counsel for the State in all the matters. Perused the record and also the orders dated 05.01.2026 and 16.01.2026 passed by this Court in the bail application.

2. The present bunch of cases consists of Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 32305 of 2025: Alok Singh vs. State of U.P., Application U/s 482 No. 1569 of 2025: Alok Singh Vs. State of U.P. and another, Application U/s 528 Bnss No. 8780 of 2025: Vishal Tiwari Vs. State of U.P. and another and Application U/s 528 Bnss No. 18833 of 2025: Prachand Pratap Singh Vs. State of U.P. and another.

3. The bail application was earlier taken up on 05.01.2026 and following order was passed by this Court:-

'1. This matter is listed today as item no. 129 in the daily cause list of this Bench.

2. Post lunch, Shri Narendra Kumar, Advocate, appearing on behalf of the applicant, made a mention by producing before the Court an order dated 19.12.2025 in Special Leave to Appeal (Criminal) No. 16835 of 2025 (Prince Srivastava v. The State of UP) which is connected with SLP (Criminal) No. 15778 of 2025 that the Apex Court has granted bail to co-accused Prince Srivastava vide the said order whereas insofar as the applicant is concerned, has requested the High Court to consider the case of the applicant for regular bail as expeditiously as possible on its merits and in accordance with law, preferably before 30.01.2026.

3. The order passed in SLP (Criminal) No. 15778 of 2025, which relates to the applicant, reads as under:

"We dispose of this Special Leave Petition by noting the fact that the petitioner herein has sought for regular bail (Crl. Misc. Bail Application No.32305 of 2025 pending on the file of the High Court of Allahabad) and the said application is pending before the High Court.

In the circumstances, it is unnecessary to go into the correctness of the impugned order as in the present case the petitioner had sought default bail and the said stage has now lapsed.

We therefore request the High Court to consider the case of the petitioner herein for regular bail as expeditiously as possible on its own merits and in accordance with law and preferably before 30.01.2026.

Pending application(s), if any, shall stand disposed of."

4. This is the second bail application of the applicant- Alok Singh in Case Crime No. 93/2024, under Sections 389, 406, 420, 506, 411, 120-B IPC and Section 13 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, Police Station- Kotwali, District- Gorakhpur. The first bail application of the applicant being Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 25998/2024 (Alok Singh v. State of UP), was rejected by this Court vide order dated 02.12.2024.

5. Learned counsel for the applicant has drawn the attention of the Court to Annexure-12 of the paper-book and submitted that the trial court proceedings of the present matter has been staying as an order of no coercive action has been passed in favour of the accused- Vishal Tiwari in an application under Section 528 BNSS No. 8780/2025 (Vishal Tiwari v. State of UP & Anr.). It is submitted that thus, the charge in the matter has still not been framed and the trial court is marking the presence of the accused through video conferencing and adjourning the matter by observing that there is a stay order by the High Court. He has placed before the Court the certified and true copy of the order sheet of the trial court, which is Annexure-13 to the affidavit, which is from 7-6-2024 to 3-9-2025. The situation thus is that one co-accused has got a protective order in the nature of no coercive action against him in a petition filed under Section 528 BNSS which is stated to be pending before this Court. However, insofar as the applicant and other co-accused are concerned, there is no such order but the trial as a whole is being adjourned on the said pretext. It could not be brought to the notice of the court that there has been any stay of proceedings by any specific order passed by any court. More so, since a petition under Section 528 BNSS has been filed by co-accused and is pending, due to which the trial is being adjourned and is not being taken up by the trial court; it would be proper and appropriate that the same be tagged with the present application for being decided together.

6. Connect with application under Section 528 BNSS No. 8780/2025 (Vishal Tiwari v. State of UP & Anr.).

7. The file be then placed before the Hon'ble The Chief Justice for nominating a Bench to hear both the matters.

8. When the matter is listed next, the details of the connected file shall also be printed in the cause list.

9. The order of the Apex Court as produced by the learned counsel for the applicant is taken on record.

10. When the matter is listed next, the office shall print the matter under the heading "Supreme Court Expedited Matter".

11. Let the matter be listed on 16.1.2026.

12. In the meantime, the Registrar (Compliance) shall seek a report from the District and Sessions Judge concerned/ the trial court concerned through fax regarding the status of the trial, the stage at which it is and also the reason for delay in framing of charge.'

4. Subsequently the matter was taken up on 16.01.2026 and the following order was passed by this Court:

'1. List revised.

2. Heard Sri Raja Chaudhary, Advocate, holding brief of Sri Narendra Kumar, and Sri Narendra Kumar, learned counsels for the applicant, Sri Ajay Singh, learned A.G.A.-I for the State and perused the record.

3. This matter is connected with two other applications being Application U/s 528 Bnss No. 18833 of 2025 and Application U/s 528 Bnss No. 8780 of 2025 and listed today in the list of Additional/Unlisted List-I. The matters were placed before Hon'ble The Chief Justice in compliance of the order dated 05.1.2026 for nominating a Bench to hear all the matters together and vide order dated 14.1.2026 this Court has been nominated to hear the matters.

4. There is no appearance on behalf of the applicants in the connected matters even in the revised list.

5. Since there is a request of Bar Association of not passing any adverse order today as there is a massive traffic restrictions in the city due to Magh Mela which has been circulated to the Court under the order dated 13.01.2026 of Hon'ble The Chief Justice, the matters are adjourned for today.

6. Sri Narendra Kumar, Advocate, shall give notice in writing to learned counsels appearing in both the said connected matters about this order along with copy of this order within three days and produce its receipt by the next date.

7. List on 28.1.2026.

8. At this stage, learned counsel for the applicant submits that one application being Application U/S 482 No. 1569 of 2025, Alok Singh vs. State of U.P. and another is also pending before this Court in the present matter and the same be connected with this bail application so that the same be also heard and decided together.

8. As prayed, connect with Application U/S 482 No. 1569 of 2025, Alok Singh vs. State of U.P. and another. Since the said application is connected with this bail application, office shall again seek nomination from Hon'ble The Chief Justice by the next date for nominating the Bench to hear the matters together.

9. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that no other matter now as per his instructions is pending before this Court.'

5. Office then placed the records of all the matters before Hon'ble The Chief Justice for nomination on which vide order dated 24.1.2026 of Hon'ble The Chief Justice this Bench has been nominated to hear all the matters. The matters are thus listed before this Bench under heading Hon'ble Supreme Court Order (Expedited) cases in the Additional/Unlisted List-1.

6. The bail application is the second bail application. The first bail application of the applicant Alok Singh was rejected by this Court vide order dated 02.12.2024 passed in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.25998 of 2024 (Alok Singh vs. State of U.P.). The same reads as under:-

'1. Heard Sri V.P. Srivastava, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Narendra Kumar, learned counsel for the applicant and Sri Ajay Singh, learned AGA-I for the State and perused the records.

2. The present bail application under Section 439 Cr.P.C. has been filed by the applicant Alok Singh with a prayer to release him on bail in Case Crime No.93 of 2024, under Sections 379, 406, 420, 506, 411, 389, 120-B I.P.C. and Section 13 of Prevention of Corruption Act, Police Station Kotwali, District Gorakhpur, during the pendency of trial.

3. A First Information Report of the matter was lodged on 09.4.2024 at 05:52 hours, under Sections 379, 406, 420, 506 I.P.C. and 13 Prevention of Corruption Act by original complainant Naveen Kumar Srivastava against the applicant Alok Singh (Sub-Inspector), Prince Srivastava (co-accused) and 02-03 other associates alleging therein that he is a businessman and in the evening he used to collect money with relation to his business and comes back home in the late evening and then on the next day deposits it in the bank and like each day on 03.04.2024 he had collected Rs.50 Lakhs and when he along with his brother Gagan Kumar Srivastava were coming with a bag at about 06:00 a.m., they were stopped by applicant Alok Singh and 3-4 people in plain clothes, who asked him about the bag on which he told them that there is Rs.50 Lakhs in the same, on which there was some commotion and then the applicant took the money from him and told him that he is traveling without permission during election time with huge money and he would implicate him in a case of theft and loot. The money was counted which was found to be Rs.50 Lakhs. He then pleaded that the money belongs to him and may be returned, on which they stated to get it inquired and then return it to him. The co-accused Prince Srivastava then told Inspector that he would talk to them and took them outside and told them that if they want to be saved then they should tell the Sub Inspector to make an inquiry and then return money to them. They then requested Sub Inspector about it who detained the money and told them to come on the next day. Thereafter, on the next day they contacted him where the co-accused Prince Srivastava was also present after which they were threatened and the applicant told him that they would not get the money back and threatened them whereupon, they returned back home and told the family members about it who then encouraged him and told that a complaint before the higher authority be made, after which they went to the police station and made a complaint requesting that report be lodged and action be taken.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that the applicant has been falsely implicated in the present case. It is submitted that the applicant is a Sub-Inspector in the police department and was performing his duties with utmost sincerity. During the period of election, when the Code of Conduct was implemented in the course of which, he checked the first informant and his brother Gagan Kumar Srivastava and recovered Rs.30 Lakhs from the first informant. It is submitted that the money was returned on the third day of its recovery after being satisfied regarding the same to be of the informant. It is further submitted that C.D.R. of the applicant, the first informant Naveen Kumar Srivastava and brother of first informant Gagan Kumar Srivastava would go to show' that on 03.04.2024 from 5:00 p.m. to 8:45 p.m., they were shown at different locations and as such the story that the applicant stopped them and then took money from them is false. It is submitted while placing the statement of the first informant that the story as narrated by him is concocted story without any credible support. It is further submitted that the recovery of money has been shown at 6:00 p.m. but the C.D.R. would show all the said three persons to be at different locations. It is submitted that the service provider of mobile of the said three persons is the same as has been mentioned by the Investigating Officer while noting the certificate under the Evidence Act in the case diary. It is submitted that as such no offence is made out. It is further submitted that the applicant has no criminal history as stated in paragraph 27 of the affidavit. The applicant is in jail since 09.04.2024.

5. Per contra, learned counsel for the State vehemently opposed the prayer for bail and submitted that the applicant is involved in the mater. It is submitted that the applicant was arrested and Rs.30 Lakhs was recovered from his possession. It is further submitted that at the time of arrest of the applicant, co-accused Prince Srivastava was also apprehended and Rs.14 Lakhs was recovered from his possession. It is submitted that the recovery was done on 09.04.2024. It is submitted that the applicant has not claimed the said money. It is further submitted that the recovery of Rs.30 Lakhs which is huge amount has not been explained by the applicant. He further submitted that insofar as the C.D.R. of the applicant and that of Gagan Kumar Srivastava is concerned, the same would go to show that at the time of incident, they were at the same place. It is further submitted that the C.D.R. although goes to show the location of the mobile but since the waves cross each-other it cannot be conclusively established that persons were at the said place since a minor movement or deviation from one place to the other may change the tower location. It is submitted that bail of co-accused Prince Srivastava from whose possession Rs.14 Lakhs was recovered and has been rejected by this Court vide order dated 03.09.2024 passed in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 21814 of 2024 (Prince Srivastava vs. State of U.P.). It is submitted that the applicant is involved in the present matter and no such ground is pleaded and argued which would go in his favour for making out a case for bail and hence the bail application be rejected.

6. After having heard the learned counsels for the parties and perusing the records, it is evident that the applicant is named in the first information report. The first informant Naveen Kumar Srivastava and his brother Gagan Kumar Srivastava were carrying money, which they had collected out of their business which was detained by the applicant, in the presence of co-accused Prince Srivastava who tried to intervene and get the matter settled. The money was detained by the applicant and the first informant was told to come on the next date. On the next date, the money was not returned to him but to the contrary he was threatened by the applicant and the co-accused. Subsequently, on 09.04.2024 on the information of police informer, the applicant and the co-accused Prince Srivastava were apprehended and from the possession of the applicant Rs.30 Lakhs was recovered whereas from the possession of co-accused Prince Srivastava Rs.14 Lakhs was recovered. The recovery is of a huge amount and planting this huge amount for false implication, is not possible. No reason whatsoever has been shown for false implication of the applicant. There is no explanation at all coming from the applicant regarding the huge amount of money recovered from his possession. The bail of co-accused Prince Srivastava has been rejected by this Court vide order dated 03.09.2024 from whose possession Rs.14 Lakhs was recovered. Insofar as, the location from the C.D.R. is concerned, the same is matter of trial which is to be looked into and considered by the trial court after evidence is recorded and the accused leads his defence for the same.

7. Looking to the facts and circumstances of the case, nature of evidence and gravity of offence, the huge amount of money recovered from the possession of the applicant and the fact that bail of co-accused Prince Srivastava has been rejected by this Court, this Court does not find it a fit case to release the applicant on bail.

8. The bail application is rejected.'

7. Subsequently the present second bail application has been filed by the applicant Alok Singh before this Court with the following prayers:-

'It is, therefore most respectfully prayed that this Hon'ble Court may be graciously be pleased to release the applicant on bail in Case Crime No.-93 of 2024, under Sections 379, 406, 420, 506, 411, 389, 120B I.P.C. and under Section 13 of Prevention of Corruption Act, P.S.-Kotwali, District Gorakhpur, to the satisfaction of the Court concerned during the pendency of the trial. So that justice be done.'

8. Application U/s 482 No. 1569 of 2025: Alok Singh Vs. State of U.P. and another, has been filed by the applicant- Alok Singh with the following prayers:-

'It is, therefore most respectfully prayed that this Hon'ble Court may be graciously be pleased to allow the present application and set-aside the order dated 12.07.2024 passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge Prevention of Corruption Act, Court No.-2 Gorakhpur, whereby the learned Court rejected the application under section 91 Cr.P.C. moved by the applicant and further be pleased to direct the Investigating Officer of the Case Crime No.- 93 of 2024 under section 389, 406, 420, 506, 411, 120B I.P.C. and under section 13 of The Prevention of Corruption Act P.S.-Kotwali, District-Gorakhpur to collect the CCTV footage of Police station Kotwali, District-Gorakhpur since 12:05 am to 8.20 am on 9th April 2024 and the place of arrest of the applicant where from the applicant was allegedly arrested (near Tarang Overbridge) by the police and C.D.R. and G.P.S. Location, Call-I.D. and Internet Root Tracking of the police Team who have arrested of the applicant, and preserve the same and also make the part of case diary and/or pass such other and further orders, which this Hon'ble Court may deem, fit and proper in the circumstances of the case. So that justice be done.'

9. On 20.1.2025 the following order was passed by this Court:-

'1. List revised.

2. Heard Sri Narendra Kumar, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Birendra Pratap Singh learned counsel for the State and perused the record.

3. Learned State counsel prays for three weeks' time to file counter affidavit. Prayer is allowed.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant will have two weeks thereafter to file rejoinder affidavit, if any.

5. List on 25.02.2025.'

10. The matter was taken up and heard on 28.01.2026 by this Bench and the following order was passed:-

'1. List revised.

2. Sri Raja Chaudhary, Advocate holding brief of Sri Narendra Kumar along with Sri Narendra Kumar are present for the applicant, Sri Birendra Pratap Singh, learned counsel for the State who have been heard and records perused.

3. Counter affidavit of the State has been filed which is on record to which a rejoinder affidavit has also been filed on behalf of the applicant which is also on record. Perused the entire records.

4. Arguments concluded.

5. Judgment reserved.

6. Interim order, if any, shall continue till delivery of judgment.'

11. Application U/s 528 Bnss No. 8780 of 2025: Vishal Tiwari Vs. State of U.P. and another, has been filed by the applicant- Vishal Tiwari with the following prayers:-

'It is, therefore, most respectfully prayed that this Hon'ble Court may kindly be pleased to allow the instant application by quashing the charge sheet dated 05.06.2024 and the cognizance order dated 07.06.2024 alongwith passed by the learned Additional Session Judge/Special Judge (P.C. Act), Court No.2, Gorakhpur as well as the entire proceedings of Session Case No. 898/2024, (State vs. Alok Kumar Singh & others) arising out of Case Crime No. 93/2024, under sections 389, 406, 420, 506, 411 IPC & 13 of the Prevention of Corruption Act read with section 120-B IPC, Police Station Kotwali, District Gorakhpur, presently pending before the Court of Additional Session Judge/Special Judge (P.C. Act), Court No.2, Gorakhpur, So that justice be done, otherwise the applicant shall suffer irreparable loss and hard injury.

It is further prayed that during pendency of the present application before this Hon'ble Court the further proceedings as well as effect and operation of cognizance order dated 07.06.2024 passed by the learned Additional Session Judge/Special Judge (P.C. Act), Court No.2, Gorakhpur passed in Session Case No. 898/2024, (State vs. Alok Kumar Singh & others) arising out of Case Crime No. 93/2024, under section 389, 406, 420, 506, 411 IPC & 13 of the Prevention of Corruption Act read with section 120-B IPC, Police Station Kotwali, District- Gorakhpur, presently pending before the Court of Additional Session Judge/Special Judge (P.C. Act), Court No.2, Gorakhpur, may be stayed and/or pass any other further order which this Hon'ble court may deem fit and proper in the facts and circumstances of the present case; else the applicant shall suffer irreparable loss and injury.'

12. The matter was taken up and heard on 07.05.2025 by another Bench of this Court and the following order was passed:-

'1-This application under Section 528 BNSS has been filed by the applicant for quashing the charge-sheet dated 05.06.2024, cognizance order dated 07.06.2024 and proceedings of Sessions Case No. 898 of 2024 (State Vs. Alok Kumar Singh and others) arising out of Case Crime No. 93 of 2024, under Sections 389, 406, 420, 506, 411 IPC and Section 13 of Prevention of Corruption Act read with Section 120B IPC, Police Station Kotwali, District Gorakhpur pending in the court of Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge (P.C. Act), Court No. 2, Gorakhpur.

2-Heard Mr. Anil Tiwari, learned Senior Counsel, assisted by Mr. Kabeer Tiwari, learned counsel for the applicant, Mr. Deepak Mishra, learned A.G.A. for the State of U.P./opposite party no. 1 and perused the record.

3-As per prosecution case in brief, complainant/ opposite party no. 2 lodged an F.I.R. on 09.04.2024 under Sections 379, 406, 420, 506 IPC and Section 13 of Prevention of Corruption Act against Inspector Alok Singh (Incharge, Police Post Beniganj), Prince Srivastava and their two-three companion alleging inter alia that he is a businessman and he used to return home after collecting the money of his business by evening and deposit the same in bank next day. In this sequence, on 03.04.2024 at about 06:00 A.M., he alongwith his brother keeping Rs. 50 Lakhs in a bag were going on a motorcycle towards Harish Chauraha from Charan Lal Chauraha. When he reached near the Police Post, Beniganj, he saw Inspector Alok Singh, In-charge, Police Post Beniganj and three-four persons were standing there. Inspector signalled them to stop and inquired about the bag. He disclosed that Rs. 50 Lakhs are kept in the bag. He recognized a person standing with the inspector, whose name is Prince Srivastava. Thereafter, the Inspector took the bag and went inside the police post and started counting the money and told them that the total money is Rs. 50 Lakhs and also threatened them to send jail in relation to offence of loot. Thereafter, Inspector kept the money with him saying that he will inquire about the money. On the pretext of investigation, inspector has taken entire amount extending threat to send them jail. Prince and his companions whom he does not recognize, who were with them on that day too were standing there. Thereafter his money was not returned.

4-It is submitted by learned counsel for the applicant that with regard to incident dated 03.04.2025, F.I.R. was lodged on 09.04.2025, in which applicant is not named. As per F.I.R., specific allegation of forcefully taking Rs. 50 Lakhs of the complainant is against Inspector Alok Singh (Incharge, Police Post Beniganj) and Prince Srivastava. After F.I.R. Rs. 30 Lakhs have been recovered from the possession of Inspector Alok Singh (Incharge, Police Post Beniganj) and Rs. 14 Lakhs have been recovered from the possession of Prince Srivastava on the same day. During investigation complainant in his statement has made improvement stating inter alia that after taking his money by the Inspector, Prince Srivastava took him and his brother to Prachand Singh, who is resident of his locality, where Prachand Singh, Mukesh and Vishal Tiwari (applicant) met them and told that he will get his money back but they will take commission on the money. Much emphasis has been given by contending that if this statement of complainant is treated as true that on 03.04.2024, applicant demanded commission in lieu of getting his money back from the inspector, then this fact and name of the applicant must have been mentioned in the F.I.R. dated 09.04.2025. It is also pointed out that complainant in his statement has disclosed that his work is to transmit money of party from one place to another. As such complainant has not come with clean hand. Lastly, it is submitted that so far as case of the applicant is concerned, basic ingredients to constitute an offence under Sections 389, 406, 420, 506, 411, 120B IPC and Section 13 of Prevention of Corruption Act are lacking and his case is distinguishable from the case of named accused persons. Though in the statement of complainant, there is allegation of demand of commission against the applicant, who is not a public servant but it is admitted fact that no commission has been given by the complainant to the applicant.

5-Learned A.G.A. for the State opposed the prayer of the applicant by reiterating the prosecution case as mentioned in F.I.R. by contending that applicant was also involved in the matter and as per C.D.R. collected by the investigating officer, applicant was also found in touch with named accused Alok Singh. It is also pointed out that apart from the present case, the applicant has criminal history of two other cases bearing Case Crime No. 259 of 2013, under Sections 323, 504, 506 IPC, Police Station Gorakhnath, District Gorakhpur and Case Crime No. 170 of 2017, under Sections 420, 504, 506 IPC, Police Station Gorakhnath, District Gorakhpur.

6-Having heard the learned counsel for the parties as noted above, I find that case of the applicant stands on different footing than that named co-accused Inspector Alok Singh (Incharge, Police Post Beniganj) and Prince Srivastava.

7-Prima facie, matter requires consideration.

8-Learned Government Advocate has accepted notice on behalf of the State of U.P./opposite party no.1.

9-Let a notice be issued to opposite party no.2 returnable at an early date.

10-Steps be taken within a week.

11-Six weeks' time is granted to the opposite parties to file counter affidavit. Rejoinder affidavit, if any, may be filed by the applicant within three weeks thereafter.

12-List this case on 07.08.2025.

13-Till the next date of listing, no coercive action shall be taken against the applicant Vishal Tiwari.'

13. Application U/s 528 Bnss No. 18833 of 2025: Prachand Pratap Singh Vs. State of U.P. and another, has been filed by the applicant- Prachand Pratap Singh with the following prayers:-

'It is, therefore, most respectfully prayed that this Hon'ble Court may kindly be pleased to allow the instant application by quashing the charge sheet dated 05.06.2024 and the cognizance order dated 07.06.2024 alongwith passed by the learned Additional Session Judge/Special Judge (P.C. Act), Court No.2, Gorakhpur as well as the entire proceedings of Session Case No. 898/2024, (State vs. Alok Kumar Singh & others) arising out of Case Crime No. 93/2024, under sections 389, 406, 420, 506, 411 IPC & 13 of the Prevention of Corruption Act read with section 120-B IPC, Police Station Kotwali, District Gorakhpur, presently pending before the Court of Additional Session Judge/Special Judge (P.C. Act), Court No.2, Gorakhpur, So that justice be done, otherwise the applicant shall suffer irreparable loss and hard injury.

It is further prayed that during pendency of the present application before this Hon'ble Court the further proceedings as well as effect and operation of cognizance order dated 07.06.2024 passed by the learned Additional Session Judge/Special Judge (P.C. Act), Court No.2, Gorakhpur passed in Session Case No. 898/2024, (State vs. Alok Kumar Singh & others) arising out of Case Crime No. 93/2024, under section 389, 406, 420, 506, 411 IPC & 13 of the Prevention of Corruption Act read with section 120-B IPC, Police Station Kotwali, District- Gorakhpur, presently pending before the Court of Additional Session Judge/Special Judge (P.C. Act), Court No.2, Gorakhpur, may be stayed and/or pass any other further order which this Hon'ble court may deem fit and proper in the facts and circumstances of the present case; else the applicant shall suffer irreparable loss and injury.'

14. The matter was taken up and heard on 26.5.2025 by another Bench of this Court and the following order was passed:-

'1. This application under Section 528 B.N.S.S. has been filed by the applicant with a prayer to quash the charge-sheet dated 05.06.2024, cognizance order dated 07.06.2024 and further proceedings of Sessions Case No. 898 of 2024 (State Vs. Alok Kumar Singh and others) arising out of Case Crime No. 93 of 2024, under Sections 389, 406, 420, 506, 411 I.P.C. and Section 13 of Prevention of Corruption Act read with Section 120B I.P.C., Police Station Kotwali, District Gorakhpur, pending in the court of learned Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge (Prevention of Corruption Act), Court No. 2, Gorakhpur.

2. Heard learned counsel for the applicant, learned Additional Government Advocate representing the State of U.P./opposite party No. 1 and perused the record.

3. As per prosecution case, in brief, complainant/ opposite party No. 2 lodged a first information report on 09.04.2024 for the alleged offence under Sections 389, 120B, 411, 406, 420, 506 I.P.C. and Section 13 of Prevention of Corruption Act against Inspector Alok Singh (Incharge, Police Outpost Beniganj), Prince Srivastava and their two-three companions alleging inter alia that he is a businessman and he used to return home after collecting the money of his business by evening and deposit the same in bank next day. In this sequence, on 03.04.2024 at about 06:00 A.M., he along with his brother keeping Rs. 50 lakhs in a bag was going on a motorcycle towards Harish Chauraha from Charan Lal Chauraha. When he reached near the Police Outpost, Beniganj, he saw Inspector Alok Singh, In-charge, Police Outpost Beniganj and three-four persons were standing there. Inspector signalled them to stop and inquired about the bag. He disclosed that Rs. 50 lakhs are kept in the bag. He recognized a person standing with the inspector, whose name is Prince Srivastava. Thereafter, the Inspector took the bag and went inside the police outpost and started counting the money and told them that the total money is Rs. 50 lakhs and also threatened them to send jail in relation to the offence of loot. Thereafter, Inspector kept the money with him saying that he will inquire about the money. On the pretext of investigation, inspector has taken entire amount extending threat to send them jail. Prince and his companions whom he does not recognize, who were with them on that day too were standing there. Thereafter his money was not returned.

4. It is submitted by learned counsel for the applicant that with regard to the incident dated 03.04.2025, F.I.R. was lodged on 09.04.2025, in which applicant is not named. As per F.I.R., specific allegation of forcefully taking Rs. 50 lakhs from the complainant is against Inspector Alok Singh (Incharge, Police Outpost Beniganj) and Prince Srivastava. After lodging of F.I.R., Rs. 30 lakhs have been recovered from the possession of Inspector Alok Singh (Incharge, Police Outpost, Beniganj) and Rs. 14 lakhs have been recovered from the possession of Prince Srivastava on the same day. During investigation complainant, in his statement, has made improvement stating inter alia that after taking his money by the Inspector, Prince Srivastava took him and his brother to Prachand Singh (applicant), who is resident of his locality, where Prachand Singh, Mukesh and Vishal Tiwari met them and told that they will get his money back but they will take commission on the money. case of named accused persons. Though in the statement of complainant, there is allegation of demand of commission against the applicant, who is not a public servant but it is admitted fact that no commission has been given by the complainant to the applicant.

5. Learned Additional Government Advocate representing the State opposed the prayer of the applicant by reiterating the prosecution case as mentioned in F.I.R. by contending that applicant was also involved in the matter and as per C.D.R. collected by the investigating officer, applicant was also found in touch with named accused Alok Singh.

6. Having heard the learned counsel for the parties as noted above, I find that case of the applicant stands on different footing to that of named co-accused Inspector Alok Singh (Incharge, Police Outpost, Beniganj) and Prince Srivastava.

7. Prima facie, matter requires consideration.

8. Learned Government Advocate has accepted notice on behalf of the State of U.P./opposite party no. 1.

9. Let a notice be issued to opposite party no.2 returnable at an early date.

10. Steps be taken within a week.

11. Six weeks' time is granted to the opposite parties to file counter affidavit. Rejoinder affidavit, if any, may be filed by the applicant within three weeks thereafter.

12. connect and list this case on 07.08.2025 along with Criminal Misc. Application under Section 528 B.N.S.S. No. 8780 of 2025.

13. Till the next date of listing, no coercive action shall be taken against the applicant Prachand Pratap Singh in the aforesaid case.

14. It is made clear that benefit of this order shall not be extended to named co-accused Inspector Alok Singh (Incharge, Police Outpost, Beniganj) and Prince Srivastava.'

15. The facts common to all the cases are that a First Information Report of the matter was lodged on 09.4.2024 at 05:52 hours, under Sections 379, 406, 420, 506 I.P.C. and 13 Prevention of Corruption Act by original complainant Naveen Kumar Srivastava against Alok Singh (Sub-Inspector), Prince Srivastava and 02-03 other associates alleging therein that he is a businessman and in the evening he used to collect money with relation to his business and comes back home in the late evening and then on the next day deposits it in the bank and like each day on 03.04.2024 he had collected Rs.50 Lakhs and when he along with his brother Gagan Kumar Srivastava were coming with a bag at about 06:00 a.m., they were stopped by Alok Singh and 3-4 people in plain clothes, who asked him about the bag on which he told them that there is Rs.50 Lakhs in the same, on which there was some commotion and then Alok Singh took the money from him and told him that he is traveling without permission during election time with huge money and he would implicate him in a case of theft and loot. The money was counted which was found to be Rs.50

Lakhs. He then pleaded that the money belongs to him and may be returned, on which they stated to get it inquired and then return it to him. Prince Srivastava then told the Inspector that he would talk to them and took them outside and told them that if they want to be saved then they should tell the Sub Inspector to make an inquiry and then return money to them. They then requested the Sub Inspector about it who detained the money and told them to come on the next day. Thereafter, on the next day they contacted him where Prince Srivastava was also present after which they were threatened and the applicant told him that they would not get the money back and threatened them whereupon, they returned back home and told the family members about it who then encouraged him and told that a complaint before the higher authority be made, after which they went to the police station and made a complaint requesting that report be lodged and action be taken.

16. Investigation in the matter concluded and a charge sheet dated 05.6.2024 was submitted against the accused- Alok Singh and Prince under Sections 389, 406, 420, 506, 411 I.P.C. and 13 Prevention of Corruption Act read with Section 120B I.P.C. and against the accused- Mukesh Kumar, Prachand Pratap Singh and Vishal Tiwari, under Sections 389, 406, 420, 506, 411 I.P.C. and Section 13 Prevention of Corruption Act read with Section 120B I.P.C.

17. Cognizance on the said charge sheet was taken vide order dated 7.6.2024 by In-charge Special Judge(P.C.Act), Court No. 2, Gorakhpur, under Sections 389, 406, 420, 506, 411 I.P.C. and 13 Prevention of Corruption Act read with Section 120B I.P.C against the accused Alok Singh and Prince Srivastava, subsequent to sanction for prosecution and against accused Mukesh Kumar, Prachand Pratap Singh and Vishal Tiwari for offences under Section under Sections 389, 406, 420, 506, 411 I.P.C. and 13 Prevention of Corruption Act read with Section 120B I.P.C.

18. The second bail application has thus been filed with the prayer to release the applicant Alok Singh on bail.

Order on Criminal Misc. Application U/S 482 Cr.P.C. No. 1569 of 2025 (Alok Singh vs. State of U.P. and another)

19. The Criminal Misc. Application U/S 482 Cr.P.C. No. 1569 of 2025 has been filed with the prayer that the order dated 12.7.2024 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge, Prevention of Corruption Act, Court No. 2, Gorakhpur be set aside and further the Investigating Officer of the case be directed to collect the CCTV footage of Police Station Kotwali, District Gorakhpur from 12:05 am to 08:20 am on 09.4.2024 and the place of arrest of the applicant and further C.D.R. and G.P.S. location, Call-I.D. and Internet Root Tracking of the police Team who had arrested the applicant, be preserved and made part of the case diary.

20. Learned counsel for the applicant submitted that the applicant is an accused in the present matter. It is submitted that the preservance of required details of C.D.R. and also collection of CCTV footage of the Police Station is necessary for fair trial and fair defense of the accused since the entire prosecution case is being challenged as being false and fabricated. It is submitted that if the said documents and details are not collected and preserved the applicant would not have a fair chance of his defence and thus the application moved under Section 91 Cr.P.C. be allowed.

21. Per contra, learned State counsel opposed the prayer and arguments of learned counsel for the applicant and submitted that the order of the trial court specifically mentions that for the same cause the applicant had previously filed an application dated 22.4.2024 being application no.209/2024 which stood rejected on merits vide order dated 14.4.2024 and in the present application there is no reference of the same and further by observing that the investigation is a prerogative of the police and the court cannot interfere in it and thus rejected the said application. It is submitted that perusal of the application under Section 91 Cr.P.C. dated 30.5.2024 of the applicant which is numbered as Misc. Application No.317/2024 shows that it is with the same prayer and perusal of the same would go to show that there is no reference whatsoever of the previous application for the same relief being filed and it being dismissed by the trial court which is a material concealment by the applicant, however, the trial court has again dismissed the said application on its merits and thus there was no reason for the trial court to entertain the present application under Section 91 Cr.P.C. for the second time and thus the present application is devoid of any merit and deserves to be dismissed.

22. In response learned counsel for the applicant submitted that non-disclosure of filing of the previous application for the same relief and also non-disclosure of the order of the trial court rejecting the same, is a technicality and cannot be termed as concealment. It is submitted that the application under Section 91 Cr.P.C. dated 30.5.2024 is maintainable and deserves to be allowed and the prayers as prayed for, deserve to be allowed.

23. After having heard learned counsels for the parties and perusing the records, it is evident that an application under Section 91 Cr.P.C. has been filed by the applicant for collecting of CCTV footage of Police Station Kotwali, District Gorakhpur from 12:05 am to 08:20 am on 09.4.2024 and the place of arrest of the applicant and further C.D.R. and G.P.S. location, Call-I.D. and Internet Root Tracking of the police Team who had arrested the applicant, be preserved and made part of the case diary. The said application stood rejected by the trial court vide order dated 12.7.2024. The same is under challenge before this Court. Counter affidavit has been filed by the State to which rejoinder affidavit has been filed by the applicant which are already on the record and have been perused.

24. At the first instance it would be relevant to mention that the trial court has observed that previously the applicant had filed an application dated 24.4.2024 for the same relief being application no. 209/2024 which stood rejected vide order dated 14.5.2024 and the said fact has not been disclosed in the subsequent application filed by him which is a concealment. Further the fact remains that the order dated 14.5.2024 of the trial court on the first application of the applicant for the same relief, has attained finality and has not been challenged further. A second application thus for the same relief and even with concealment would not be maintainable. More so, on merits of the matter, in the case of State of Orissa v. Debendra Nath Padhi : (2005) 1 SCC 568 it has been held by the Apex Court that entitlement of the accused to seek order under Section 91 Cr.P.C. would ordinarily not come till the stage of defence. It has been held as under:

“25. Any document or other thing envisaged under the aforesaid provision can be ordered to be produced on finding that the same is 'necessary or desirable for the purpose of investigation, inquiry, trial or other proceedings under the Code'. The first and foremost requirement of the section is about the document being necessary or desirable. The necessity or desirability would have to be seen with reference to the stage when a prayer is made for the production. If any document is necessary or desirable for the defence of the accused, the question of invoking Section 91 at the initial stage of framing of a charge would not arise since defence of the accused is not relevant at that stage. When the section refers to investigation, inquiry, trial or other proceedings, it is to be borne in mind that under the section a police officer may move the court for summoning and production of a document as may be necessary at any of the stages mentioned in the section. Insofar as the accused is concerned, his entitlement to seek order under Section 91 would ordinarily not come till the stage of defence. When the section talks of the document being necessary and desirable, it is implicit that necessity and desirability is to be examined considering the stage when such a prayer for summoning and production is made and the party who makes it, whether police or accused. If under Section 227, what is necessary and relevant is only the record produced in terms of Section 173 of the Code, the accused cannot at that stage invoke Section 91 to seek production of any document to show his innocence. Under Section 91 summons for production of document can be issued by court and under a written order an officer in charge of a police station can also direct production thereof. Section 91 does not confer any right on the accused to produce document in his possession to prove his defence. Section 91 presupposes that when the document is not produced process may be initiated to compel production thereof.'

(emphasis supplied)

25. As of now, directing the Investigating Officer to collect CCTV footage and make it part of the investigation, would be an interference in the investigation and directing investigation to be done in a particular manner.

26. No ground for interference is made out.

27. The Criminal Misc. Application U/S 482 Cr.P.C. No. 1569 of 2025 is dismissed.

Order on Application U/s 528 Bnss No. 8780 of 2025 (Vishal Tiwari Vs State of U.P. and another) and Application U/s 528 Bnss No. 18833 of 2025(Prachand Pratap Singh vs. State of U.P. and another)

28. In so far as two applications being Application U/s 528 Bnss No. 8780 of 2025: Vishal Tiwari Vs State of U.P. and another and Application U/s 528 Bnss No. 18833 of 2025: Prachand Pratap Singh vs. State of U.P. and another, are concerned, the same have a common relief and challenge of the charge sheet dated 05.6.2024, order of cognizance dated 07.6.2024 and the entire proceedings of the case identified as Sessions Case No. 898/2024 (State vs. Alok Kumar Singh and others) arising out of Case Crime No. 93/2024, under Sections 389, 406, 420, 506, 411 I.P.C. and 13 of Prevention of Corruption Act read with Section 120B I.P.C., Police Station Kotwali, District Gorakhpur, pending in the court of Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge (PC Act), Court No. 2, Gorakhpur.

29. Learned counsel appearing for the applicant Prachand Pratap Singh submitted that the only evidence against the applicant is his own confessional statement and admissibility of the same is barred by Section 25 of the Evidence Act. It is further submitted that the applicant is not named in the F.I.R. despite the fact that Gagan Kumar Srivastava the brother of the informant knew him. It is further submitted that there is no recovery of any incriminating material from the possession of the applicant whereas there is recovery of Rs.30 lakh from the co-accused Alok Kumar Singh, Rs.14 lakh from the co-accused Prince Srivastava. It is submitted that there is no other evidence against the applicant-Prachand Pratap Singh.

30. Refuting the arguments of learned counsel for the applicant, learned counsel for the State submitted that the applicant is named in the statement of the first informant recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and active role has been assigned to him. It is submitted further that the argument that except for the confessional statement of the accused there is no other evidence, is incorrect inasmuch as the first informant has specifically named the applicant in his statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. during investigation and assigned the role to him. It is submitted that charge sheet after investigation has been submitted against the applicant on which the court concerned has taken cognizance and thus there is ample evidence against him. It is further submitted that at this stage appreciating the veracity of the prosecution case by drawing distinction and variations of the prosecution version from the F.I.R. and the statements of the witnesses recorded during investigation cannot be done and the same cannot be appreciated as mini trial cannot be done at this stage. It is submitted that looking to the facts of the case, nature of case, evidence available on record, it cannot be said that no offence is made out against the applicant. Thus the present application deserves to be dismissed.

31. Learned counsel appearing for the accused-applicant Vishal Tiwari adopted the arguments of learned counsel for the accused- applicant Prachand Pratap Singh but further supplemented his argument that while submitting charge sheet the Investigating Officer deleted Section 379 I.P.C. and added Section 389 I.P.C. apart from other sections. It is submitted while placing para-28, 37, 38, 41 and 42 of the affidavit that the applicant is a student and thus offence under the Prevention of Corruption Act would not be attracted, there is no recovery from the applicant, no test identification parade was conducted to get the identity of the applicant fixed, no offence whatsoever is made out against the applicant- Vishal Tiwari and further offence under Sections 406 and 420 I.P.C. is not made out as both the offences cannot exist simultaneously as has been held by the Apex Court in the case of Delhi Race Club (1940) Ltd. and others vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and another: 2024 INSC 626.

32. Learned State counsel while refuting the arguments of learned counsel for the applicant Vishal Tiwari, submitted that complicity of the applicant surfaced in the present matter during investigation. The applicant is named by the first informant in his statement recorded during investigation and specific role has been assigned to him. It is submitted further that the investigation shows implication of the applicant for offences under Sections 420 I.P.C. and 406 I.P.C. distinctly and thus he can be tried for them together. It is submitted that the prayers as prayed for be dismissed.

33. After having heard learned counsels for the parties and perusing the records, it is evident that these two petitions under Section 528 B.N.S.S. have been filed for quashing of charge sheet and order taking cognizance and the entire proceedings therein. Law with regard to the same is trite. The scope and ambiguity of powers to be exercised under section 482 Cr.P.C. has been elaborately dealt with and considered by the Apex Court in the case of Neeharika Infrastructure (P) Ltd. v. State of Maharashtra : (2021) 19 SCC 401 and it has been observed and held as under:

'13. From the aforesaid decisions of this Court, right from the decision of the Privy Council in Khwaja Nazir Ahmad [King Emperor v. Khwaja Nazir Ahmad, 1944 SCC OnLine PC 29 : (1943-44) 71 IA 203 : AIR 1945 PC 18], the following principles of law emerge:

13.1. Police has the statutory right and duty under the relevant provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure contained in Chapter XIV of the Code to investigate into cognizable offences.

13.2. Courts would not thwart any investigation into the cognizable offences.

13.3. However, in cases where no cognizable offence or offence of any kind is disclosed in the first information report the Court will not permit an investigation to go on.

13.4. The power of quashing should be exercised sparingly with circumspection, in the 'rarest of rare cases'. (The rarest of rare cases standard in its application for quashing under Section 482 CrPC is not to be confused with the norm which has been formulated in the context of the death penalty, as explained previously by this Court.)

13.5. While examining an FIR/complaint, quashing of which is sought, the Court cannot embark upon an enquiry as to the reliability or genuineness or otherwise of the allegations made in the FIR/complaint.

13.6. Criminal proceedings ought not to be scuttled at the initial stage.

13.7. Quashing of a complaint/FIR should be an exception and a rarity than an ordinary rule.

13.8. Ordinarily, the courts are barred from usurping the jurisdiction of the police, since the two organs of the State operate in two specific spheres of activities. The inherent power of the court is, however, recognised to secure the ends of justice or prevent the abuse of the process by Section 482 CrPC.

13.9. The functions of the judiciary and the police are complementary, not overlapping.

13.10. Save in exceptional cases where non-interference would result in miscarriage of justice, the Court and the judicial process should not interfere at the stage of investigation of offences.

13.11. Extraordinary and inherent powers of the Court do not confer an arbitrary jurisdiction on the Court to act according to its whims or caprice.

13.12. The first information report is not an encyclopaedia which must disclose all facts and details relating to the offence reported. Therefore, when the investigation by the police is in progress, the court should not go into the merits of the allegations in the FIR. Police must be permitted to complete the investigation. It would be premature to pronounce the conclusion based on hazy facts that the complaint/FIR does not deserve to be investigated or that it amounts to abuse of process of law. During or after investigation, if the investigating officer finds that there is no substance in the application made by the complainant, the investigating officer may file an appropriate report/summary before the learned Magistrate which may be considered by the learned Magistrate in accordance with the known procedure.

13.13. The power under Section 482 CrPC is very wide, but conferment of wide power requires the Court to be cautious. It casts an onerous and more diligent duty on the Court.

13.14. However, at the same time, the Court, if it thinks fit, regard being had to the parameters of quashing and the self-restraint imposed by law, more particularly the parameters laid down by this Court in R.P. Kapur [R.P. Kapur v. State of Punjab, 1960 SCC OnLine SC 21 : AIR 1960 SC 866] and Bhajan Lal [State of Haryana v. Bhajan Lal, 1992 Supp (1) SCC 335 : 1992 SCC (Cri) 426], has the jurisdiction to quash the FIR/complaint.

13.15. When a prayer for quashing the FIR is made by the alleged accused, the Court when it exercises the power under Section 482CrPC, only has to consider whether or not the allegations in the FIR disclose the commission of a cognizable offence and is not required to consider on merits whether the allegations make out a cognizable offence or not and the court has to permit the investigating agency/police to investigate the allegations in the FIR.'

34. The Apex Court in the case of Pradeep Kumar Kesarwani Versus State of Uttar Pradesh and Another : 2025 SCC OnLine SC 1947 has laid a four-step test for High Courts to follow while considering petitions for quashing criminal proceedings under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. It has been held as under:

'20. The following steps should ordinarily determine the veracity of a prayer for quashing, raised by an accused by invoking the power vested in the High Court under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C.:'

(i) Step one, whether the material relied upon by the accused is sound, reasonable, and indubitable, i.e., the materials is of sterling and impeccable quality?

(ii) Step two, whether the material relied upon by the accused, would rule out the assertions contained in the charges levelled against the accused, i.e., the material is sufficient to reject and overrule the factual assertions contained in the complaint, i.e., the material is such, as would persuade a reasonable person to dismiss and condemn the factual basis of the accusations as false.

(iii) Step three, whether the material relied upon by the accused, has not been refuted by the prosecution/complainant; and/or the material is such, that it cannot be justifiably refuted by the prosecution/complainant?

(iv) Step four, whether proceeding with the trial would result in an abuse of process of the court, and would not serve the ends of justice?

If the answer to all the steps is in the affirmative, judicial conscience of the High Court should persuade it to quash such criminal - proceedings, in exercise of power vested in it under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. Such exercise of power, besides doing justice to the accused, would save precious court time, which would otherwise be wasted in holding such a trial (as well as, proceedings arising therefrom) specially when, it is clear that the same would not conclude in the conviction of the accused. [(See:Rajiv Thapar v. Madan Lal Kapoor (Criminal Appeal No. 174 of 2013)]'

35. Merely on the ground that the applicants were not named in the F.I.R. cannot be a ground for coming to the conclusion that their implication in the present matter is false and no offence whatsoever is made out against them. Investigation of the matter is done to unfurl the truth and to see the complicity of the accused in the matter. During investigation the first informant has specifically disclosed the names of both the applicants namely Prachand Pratap Singh and Vishal Tiwari and has assigned specific roles to them and as such it cannot be said that there is no evidence whatsoever on record against them.

36. Law for quashing is strict and trite. The present cases do not fall within the category of cases as enumerated in the judgement of Apex Court in the case of Neeharika Infrastructure (P) Ltd. (Supra) and also on the four-steps test in the case of Pradeep Kumar Kesarwani (Supra). No ground for interference is made out. Thus, it is trite law that at the stage of quashing only the material of the prosecution has to be seen and the court cannot delve into the defence of the accused and then proceed to examine the matter on its merit by weighing the evidence so produced. The disputed questions of facts of the case cannot be adjudged and adjudicated at this stage while exercising powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. and only the prima facie prosecution case has to be looked into as it is. Evidence needs to be led to substantiate the defence of the accused. Further it is also well settled that that while exercising powers under section 482 Cr.P.C., the High Court is not required to conduct a mini trial.

37. Both the said applications of the applicant Prachand Pratap Singh and Vishal Tiwari are dismissed.

38. Interim order, if any, shall stand vacated in both the matters.

39. The trial court concerned is directed to proceed with the trial expeditiously without granting any undue adjournment to either of the parties.

Order on Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.32305 of 2025 (Alok Singh vs. State of U.P.)

40. The bail of the applicant Alok Singh has been pressed mainly on the ground of parity with the co-accused. It is submitted that the Apex Court vide order dated 19.12.2025 passed in Petition(s) for Special Leave to Appeal (Crl.) No(s). 16835 of 2025, Prince Srivastava vs. The State of U.P., has granted bail to the co-accused Prince Srivastava. It is submitted that the Apex Court has in the said order observed that he is in jail since 09.4.2024 and charges have not yet been framed and there are as many as 11 witnesses and thus having regards to long incarceration and the fact that charges are yet to be framed and the trial is yet to be commenced, bail has been granted to him.

41. This Court vide order dated 5.1.2026 passed in the bail application sought a report from District and Sessions Judge concerned/trial court concerned regarding status/stage of trial and also the reason for delay in framing of charge, to which a report has been sent which has been placed by the office on record. This Court has perused the said report dated 13.1.2026 sent by the Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge (P.C.Act), Court No. 1, Gorakhpur, duly forwarded by District Judge, Gorakhpur on the said date. Perusal of the said report goes to show that trial court has in para-3 stated that in a Petition No. 6664 of 2024, Prachand Pratap Singh and 2 others vs. State of U.P., arrest of the petitioners has been stayed vide order dated 27.4.2024. Further in para-4 of the said report it is stated that in Application U/S 528 BNSS No. 18833/2025, Prachand Pratap Singh vs. State of U.P. and another, an order dated 26.5.2025 has been passed directing no coercive measures against the said accused. Further in para-6 of the said report it is mentioned that since arrest of the accused Mukesh Kumar, Prachand Pratap Singh and Vishal Tiwari has been stayed by the High Court no warrants of arrest can be issued against them and they are regularly absenting before the trial court. The accused Prince Srivastava and Alok Kumar Singh are appearing before the trial court from jail. It further states that since arrest has been stayed the said three accused persons have not appeared before the trial court and thus charge is not being framed. Further in para-4 it is mentioned that the matter is now fixed for 20.01.2026 and the accused have been summoned and effort will be made to frame charge on priority. The fact thus as reported is that charge in the matter could not be framed due to said 3 accused not appearing before the trial court due to protective order passed by the High Court for which the prosecution cannot be faulted.

42. Looking to the fact that the co-accused Prince Srivastava has been granted bail by the Apex Court vide order dated 19.12.2025, it is provided that the applicant- Alok Singh be released on bail for a period of four (04) months in the aforesaid case crime number on furnishing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned with the following conditions which are being imposed in the interest of justice:-

(i) The applicant will not tamper with prosecution evidence and will not harm or harass the victim/complainant in any manner whatsoever.

(ii) The applicant will abide the orders of court, will attend the court on every date and will not delay the disposal of trial in any manner whatsoever.

(iii) The applicant shall file an undertaking to the effect that he shall not seek any adjournment on the date fixed for evidence when the witnesses are present in court. In case of default of this condition, it shall be open for the trial court to treat it as abuse of liberty of bail and pass orders in accordance with law.

(iv) The applicant will not misuse the liberty of bail in any manner whatsoever. In case, the applicant misuses the liberty of bail during trial and in order to secure his presence proclamation under section 82 Cr.P.C., may be issued and if applicant fails to appear before the court on the date fixed in such proclamation, then, the trial court shall initiate proceedings against him, in accordance with law, under section 174-A I.P.C.
