J. Statutory Regime of Punishments in light of Article 21 & Doctrine of Proportionality

89. The statutes of all the three universities contemplate only penal action, to deal with all forms of indiscipline or deviant conduct. The penal action may lead to suspension, and can even extend to expulsion and debarment.

90. The punitive provisions of the Statutes of the respective universities, manifest the deterrent intent of the law. A reformist approach to the problem is absent in the statutes. The makers of statutes have solely adopted a punitive or deterrent approach to the exclusion of other methods of dealing with issues of indiscipline or deviant conduct.

91. The aforesaid ordinances of the universities and the affidavits of the respondents have been perused. Submissions of the learned counsel for the universities have been considered. This Court finds that there is no structured, professionally designed reform, self development and rehabilitation programme, or therapeutic support system backed by a legal frame work, to deal with the delinquent students and like issues in the universities.

92. The statutory monopoly of a punitive approach, to deviant behaviour, and the exclusion of all other responses, often creates a lack of balance in the actions of the concerned University. In such cases, the punishment becomes disproportionate, not because the decision maker was incapable of measured action, but because the ordinances/statutes preclude a proportional response.

93. It is clarified, that the requirement of punitive provisions in the statutes is a given. The need to empower the authority, to take disciplinary action in law is undisputed. There is no infirmity in the statutory provisions. The inadequacy is in the reach of the statutory provisions.

94. The decision maker is constrained in his choices, by the absolute dominance of punitive provisions, and complete omission of reformative measures in the ordinances.

95. The impact of absence of reformative provisions and the presence of a statutory bias in favour of a punitive approach, on the fundamental rights of the petitioners, shall also be assessed in the next part of the judgment.

K. Punishments and Article 21

(i) Right to human dignity

96. A life without dignity is robbed of its meaning. Absent self worth, life is devoid of content.

97. Human dignity as a concept, was created by an international consensus, on universal human values. "Human dignity" and "self worth" are used, in close proxmity in international instruments, reflecting the affinity between the concepts.

98. The comity of nations, first pledged commitment to protecting the "dignity and worth" of the human person, in the charter of the United Nations. These eternal values were reiterated, in subsequent international instruments and conventions including the Convention for the Suppression of the Traffic in Persons and of the Exploitation of the Prostitution of Others (1951); the Supplementary Convention on the Abolition of Slavery, the Slave Trade, and Institutions and Practices Similar to Slavery (1956); the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (1979); the Convention on the Rights of the Child (1989); and the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (2006).

99. Human dignity and self worth, were increasingly incorporated in the jurisprudence of all liberty loving nations in the post World War II era.

100. The complexity of the concept of human dignity, never diluted the usefulness of the theory of human dignity in enhancing the worth of the human person. Human dignity made a decisive contribution in the development of the rights of life and liberty, in jurisprudential systems of free societies across the world.

101. However, the Court would do well to observe the caution, that a sweeping judicial definition of human dignity, would make an abstract theory, unintelligible. An unduly wide judicial construct of human dignity, would create unworkable judicial tests.

102. Likewise if the courts adopt too narrow a view of human dignity, a concept which has made stellar contribution to the advancement of human rights will be lost.

103. Keeping these pitfalls in mind, a balance has to be maintained, between attempting too much and recoiling from the task altogether.

104. The applicability of human dignity, would be determined in this case, by evolving a workable test or construct of human dignity and self worth applicable to these cases.

105. Human dignity is not inserted in the text of the fundamental rights under the Constitution of India. Human dignity occurs in the Preamble to the Constitution of India.

106. The Preamble to the Constitution, reflects the resolve of the People of India, to secure to all its citizens

"Justice social, economic and political;

Liberty of thought, expression, belief, faith and worship;

Equality of status and of opportunity;

and to promote among them all and Fraternity assuring the dignity of the individual and the unity of the Nation."

The Preamble to the Constitution is not analogous, to a preamble to any legislative enactment.

107. The unique place of the Preamble, in the Constitution came to be noticed very early, in Sajjan Singh v. State of Rajasthan, reported at AIR 1965 SC 845. The Hon'ble Supreme Court found that the Preamble to our Constitution is "not of the common run". Further the Preamble bore the "stamp of deep deliberation" and precision.

108. This feature shines light on the special significance, attached to the Preamble by the framers of the Constitution. The Preamble was held to be a part of the Constitution, by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Kesavananda Bharati v. State of Kerala, reported at (1973) 4 SCC 225.

109. The words 'life, law and liberty' in Article 21 of the Constitution of India, were freed from the confines of narrow and literal interpretation by the Courts. (See Maneka Gandhi v. Union of India, (1978) 1 SCC 248)

110. A defining moment came when the Hon'ble Supreme Court, liberated "life" from the fetters of mere physical existence. (see Olga Tellis v. Bombay Municipal Corpn. Reported at (1985) 3 SCC 545).

111. Over the years human dignity, has been read into the meaning of life and liberty, under Article 21 of the Constitution of India, by consistent pronouncements of the courts.

112. A broad overview of some of the leading pronouncements of the Hon'ble Supreme Court, elevating human dignity to the status of a fundamental right, are discussed in the succeeding paragraphs.

(ii) Supreme Court on human dignity

113. The concept of human dignity forming a part of Article 21, was introduced in Prem Shankar Shukla v. UT of Delhi, reported at (1980) 3 SCC 526. While construing the constitutional rights of prisoners, in Prem Shankar Shukla (supra), Krishna Iyer, J. speaking for a three-Judge Bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court held:

"1. ... the guarantee of human dignity, which forms part of our constitutional culture, and the positive provisions of Articles 14, 19 and 21 spring into action when we realise that to manacle man is more than to mortify him; it is to dehumanise him and, therefore, to violate his very personhood, too often using the mask of "dangerousness" and security.

21. The Preamble sets the humane tone and temper of the Founding Document and highlights justice, equality and the dignity of the individual."

114. Undermining the human dignity of a detenue, under the Conservation of Foreign Exchange and Prevention of Smuggling Activities (COFEPOSA) Act, 1974 was not countenanced by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Francis Coralie Mullin v. UT of Delhi, reported at (1981) 1 SCC 608 by ruling thus:

"6. ... The fundamental right to life which is the most precious human right and which forms the ark of all other rights must therefore be interpreted in a broad and expansive spirit so as to invest it with significance and vitality which may endure for years to come and enhance the dignity of the individual and the worth of the human person.

7. ... the right to life enshrined in Article 21 cannot be restricted to mere animal existence. It means something much more than just physical survival."

115. The right to live with human dignity flowing from Article 21, was employed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court to unlock the fetters of those living in bondage and setting them free in Bandhua Mukti Morcha v. Union of India, reported at (1984) 3 SCC 161. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Bandhua Mukti Morcha (supra) observed that:

"10. ...This right to live with human dignity enshrined in Article 21 derives its life breath from the directive principles of State policy and particularly clauses (e) and (f) of Article 39 and Articles 41 and 42 and at the least, therefore, it must include protection of the health and strength of the workers, men and women, and of the tender age of children against abuse, opportunities and facilities for children to develop in a healthy manner and in conditions of freedom and dignity, educational facilities, just and humane conditions of work and maternity relief. These are the minimum requirements which must exist in order to enable a person to live with human dignity, and no State -- neither the Central Government nor any State Government -- has the right to take any action which will deprive a person of the enjoyment of these basic essentials."

116. Dehumanizing treatment given to the arrested activists of an organization by the police authorities was called out by the Hon'ble Supreme court, in Khedat Mazdoor Chetna Sangath v. State of M.P., reported at (1994) 6 SCC 260, wherein it was recognized:

"10. ... It is, therefore, absolutely essential in the interest of justice, human dignity and democracy that this Court must intervene; order an investigation, determine the correct facts and take strongest possible action against the respondents who are responsible for these atrocities."

117. The right of human dignity was also construed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in M.Nagaraj v. Union of India, reported at (2006) 8 SCC 212. In that case the right was held to be intrinsic to and inseparable from human existence:

"26. ... The rights, liberties and freedoms of the individual are not only to be protected against the State, they should be facilitated by it. ... It is the duty of the State not only to protect the human dignity but to facilitate it by taking positive steps in that direction. No exact definition of human dignity exists. It refers to the intrinsic value of every human being, which is to be respected. It cannot be taken away. It cannot give (sic be given). It simply is. Every human being has dignity by virtue of his existence.

42. India is constituted into a sovereign, democratic republic to secure to all its citizens, fraternity assuring the dignity of the individual and the unity of the nation. The sovereign, democratic republic exists to promote fraternity and the dignity of the individual citizen and to secure to the citizens certain rights. This is because the objectives of the State can be realised only in and through the individuals. Therefore, rights conferred on citizens and non-citizens are not merely individual or personal rights. They have a large social and political content, because the objectives of the Constitution cannot be otherwise realised."

118. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Shabnam v. Union of India, reported at (2015) 6 SCC 702 elaborated the following elements of the human dignity;

"14. This right to human dignity has many elements. First and foremost, human dignity is the dignity of each human being "as a human being". Another element, which needs to be highlighted, in the context of the present case, is that human dignity is infringed if a person's life, physical or mental welfare is harmed. It is in this sense torture, humiliation, forced labour, etc. all infringe on human dignity. It is in this context many rights of the accused derive from his dignity as a human being."

119. Aharon Barak (former Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Israel), discussed the constitutional value of human dignity, in the following celebrated passage:

"The constitutional value of human dignity has a central normative role. Human dignity as a constitutional value is the factor that unites the human rights into one whole. It ensures the normative unity of human rights. This normative unity is expressed in the three ways: first, the value of human dignity serves as a normative basis for constitutional rights set out in the constitution; second, it serves as an interpretative principle for determining the scope of constitutional rights, including the right to human dignity; third, the value of human dignity has an important role in determining the proportionality of a statute limiting a constitutional right. "

120. The views of the Judge Aharon Barak, were approved and incorporated in the corpus of human dignity jurisprudence, in our country by the Hon'ble Supreme court in Jeeja Ghosh v. Union of India, reported at (2016) 7 SCC 761.

121. The consequences of loss of human dignity in an individual's life, were noted by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Mehmood Nayyar Azam v. State of Chhattisgarh, reported at (2012) 8 SCC 1.

122. Similar sentiments were expressed on human dignity, by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in National Legal Services Authority v. Union of India, reported at (2014) 5 SCC 438.

123. In Maharasthra University of Health Sciences v. Satchikitsa Prasarak Mandal reported at (2010) 3 SCC 786, the Hon'ble Supreme court upon consideration of good authority, reiterated the dignity of the individual as a core constitutional concept.

124. While in Selvi v. State of Karnataka reported at (2010) 7 SCC 263, the Hon'ble Supreme Court ruled thus:

"244.....we must recognize that a forcible intrusion into a person's mental processes is also an affront to human dignity and liberty, often with grave and long-lasting consequences."

125. Even prisoners have been found entitled to the fundamental rights while in custody by the Hon'ble Supreme Court (see Sunil Batra (II) Vs. Delhi Administration, reported at 1980 (3) SCC 488).

126. The importance of therapeutic approach in dealing with the criminal tendencies of prisoners and the necessity for reform, was considered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in T.K. Gopal v. State of Karnataka, reported at (2000) 6 SCC 168, by holding that:

"15. The therapeutic approach aims at curing the criminal tendencies which were the product of a diseased psychology. There may be many factors, including family problems. We are not concerned with those factors as therapeutic approach has since been treated as an effective method of punishment which not only satisfies the requirements of law that a criminal should be punished and the punishment prescribed must be meted out to him, but also reforms the criminal through various processes, the most fundamental of which is that in spite of having committed a crime, maybe a heinous crime, he should be treated as a human being entitled to all the basic human rights, human dignity and human sympathy. It was under this theory that this Court in a stream of decisions, projected the need for prison reforms, the need to acknowledge the vital fact that the prisoner, after being lodged in jail, does not lose his fundamental rights or basic human rights and that he must be treated with compassion and sympathy."

127. In Asfaq v. State of Rajasthan and Others, reported at (2017) 15 SCC 55, the Hon'ble Supreme Court emphasizing the need for reform of a convict held that "redemption and rehabilitation of such prisoners for good of societies must receive due wightage while they are undergoing sentence of imprisonment."

128. The judicial authorities can be multiplied, reiterating the above holdings. However, the same will add volume, but not value to the narrative.

129. Consistent and high authority have thus entrenched human dignity as fundamental to right to life, which flows from Article 21 of the Constitution of India.

130. The narrative would not be complete without reference to the most authoritative pronouncement, of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of K.S. Puttaswamy v. Union of India reported at (2017) 10 SCC 1

131. Dr. D. Y. Chandrachud, J. speaking for the Constitution Bench, firmly and irrevocably, reiterated that human dignity is a fundamental right under Article 21 of the Indian Constitution, with customary eloquence, in K.S. Puttaswamy (supra). Dr. D. Y. Chandrachud, J., upon consideration of the judicial precedents in point distilled the concept of human dignity and its place in part III of the Constitution:

"Jurisprudence on dignity

"108. Over the last four decades, our constitutional jurisprudence has recognised the inseparable relationship between protection of life and liberty with dignity. Dignity as a constitutional value finds expression in the Preamble. The constitutional vision seeks the realisation of justice (social, economic and political); liberty (of thought, expression, belief, faith and worship); equality (as a guarantee against arbitrary treatment of individuals) and fraternity (which assures a life of dignity to every individual). These constitutional precepts exist in unity to facilitate a humane and compassionate society. The individual is the focal point of the Constitution because it is in the realisation of individual rights that the collective well-being of the community is determined. Human dignity is an integral part of the Constitution. Reflections of dignity are found in the guarantee against arbitrariness (Article 14), the lamps of freedom (Article 19) and in the right to life and personal liberty (Article 21).

118. Life is precious intself. But life is worth living because of the freedoms which enable each individual to live life as it should be lived. The best decisions on how life should be lived are entrusted to the individual. They are continuously shaped by the social milieu in which individuals exist. The duty of the State is to safeguard the ability to take decisions. "Life" within the meaning of Article 21 is not confined to the integrity of the physical body. The right comprehends one's being in its fullest sense. That which facilitates the fulfillment of life is as much within the protection of the guarantee of life.

119. To live is to live with dignity. The draftsmen of the Constitution defined their vision of the society in which constitutional values would be attained by emphasising, among other freedoms, liberty and dignity. So fundamental is dignity that it permeates the core of the rights guaranteed to the individual by Part III. Dignity is the core which unites the fundamental rights because the fundamental rights seek to achieve for each individual the dignity of existence. Privacy with its attendant values assures dignity to the individual and it is only when life can be enjoyed with dignity can liberty be of true substance. Privacy ensures the fulfilment of dignity and is a core value which the protection of life and liberty is intended to achieve."

(iii) Comparative International Jurisprudence

132. A survey of comparative international jurisprudence, on the point of human dignity and the rights flowing therefrom, shows convergence in the values of human dignity across the free world.

133. The foreign authorities can be cited to show that human dignity is an accepted universal value in the comity of nations.

134. In Rosenblatt v. P Baer, reported at 1966 SCC OnLine US SC 22 : 383 US 75 (1966), the US Supreme Court found that "The essential dignity and worth of every human being" was at the root of any system of "ordered liberty".

"The right of a man to the protection of his own reputation from unjustified invasion and wrongful hurt reflects no more than our basic concept of the essential dignity and worth of every human being- a concept at the root of any decent system of ordered liberty."

135. In the case of Armoniene v. Lithuania, reported at (2009) EMLR 7, the European Court of Human Rights set its face against an act of disclosure of a person's state of health, causing "exclusion from social life", and found it violative of the right to privacy by holding thus:

"The Court takes particular note of the fact that the family lived not in a city but in a village, which increased the impact of the publication on the possibility that the husband's illness would be known by his neighbours and his immediate family, thereby causing public humiliation and exclusion from village social life."

136. The human dignity rights of prisoners included rehabilitation, in the opinion of the US Supreme Court in Procunier, Corrections Director, ET AL. Vs. Martinez ET AL. reported at 416 U.S. 396 (1974):

"The Court today agrees that "the weight of professional opinion seems to be that inmate freedom to correspond with outsiders advances rather than retards the goal of rehabilitation."

Balanced against the State's asserted interests are the values that are generally associated with freedom of speech in a free society - values which "do not turn to dross in an unfree one." Sostre v. McGinnis, supra, at 199. First Amendment guarantees protect the free and uninterrupted interchange of ideas upon which a democratic society thrives. Perhaps the most obvious victim of the indirect censorship effected by a policy of allowing prison authorities to read inmate mail is criticism of prison administration. The threat of identification and reprisal inherent in allowing correctional authorities to read prisoner mail is not lost on inmates who might otherwise criticize their jailors. The mails are one of the few vehicles prisoners have for informing the community about their existence and, in these days of strife in our correctional institutions, the plight of prisoners is a matter of urgent public concern. To sustain a policy which chills the communication necessary to inform the public on this issue is at odds with the most basic tenets of the guarantee of freedom of speech.

The First Amendment serves not only the needs of the polity but also those of the human spirit - a spirit that demands self-expression. Such expression is an integral part of the development of ideas and a sense of identity. To suppress expression is to reject the basic human desire for recognition and affront the individual's worth and dignity. 14 Cf. Stanley v. Georgia, 394 U.S. [416 U.S. 396, 428]557 (1969). Such restraint may be "the greatest displeasure and indignity to a free and knowing spirit that can be put upon him." J. Milton, Aeropagitica 21 (Everyman's ed. 1927). When the prison gates slam behind an inmate, he does not lose his human quality; his mind does not become closed to ideas; his intellect does not cease to feed on a free and open interchange of opinions; his yearning for self-respect does not end; nor is his quest for self-realization concluded. If anything, the needs for identity and self-respect are more compelling in the dehumanizing prison environment. Whether an O. Henry writing his short stories in a jail cell or a frightened young inmate writing his family, a prisoner needs a medium for self-expression. It is the role of the First Amendment and this Court to protect those precious personal rights by which we satisfy such basic yearnings of the human spirit."

137. The validity of a punishment causing loss of nationality, for an act of desertion in military service, was in issue before the US Supreme Court, in Trop Vs. Dulles, reported at 356 US 86 (1958). The US Supreme Court in Trop (supra) reiterated the importance and role of rehabilitation in a penal system, while dealing with the validity of the punishment. The principle holding of the US Supreme Court on these points is as under:

"Expatriation, in this respect, constitutes an especially demoralizing sanction. The uncertainty, and the consequent psychological hurt, which must accompany one who becomes an outcast in his own land must be reckoned a substantial factor in the ultimate judgment.

The novelty of expatriation as punishment does not alone demonstrate its inefficiency. In recent years we have seen such devices as indeterminate sentences and parole added to the traditional term of imprisonment. Such penal methods seek to achieve the end, at once more humane and effective, that society should make every effort to rehabilitate the offender and restore him as a useful member of that society as society's own best protection. Of course, rehabilitation is but one of the several purposes of the penal law. Among other purposes are deterrents of the wrongful act by the threat of punishment and insulation of society from dangerous individuals by imprisonment or execution. What then is the relationship of the punishment of expatriation to these ends of the penal law? It is perfectly obvious that it constitutes the very antithesis of rehabilitation, for instead of guiding the offender back into the useful paths of society it excommunicates him and makes him, literally, an outcast. I can think of no more certain way in which to make a man in whom, perhaps, rest the seeds of serious antisocial behavior more likely to pursue further a career of unlawful activity than to place on him the stigma of the derelict, uncertain of many of his basic rights. Similarly, it must be questioned whether expatriation can really achieve the other effects sought by society in punitive devices. Certainly it will not insulate society from the deserter, for unless coupled with banishment the sanction leaves the offender at large. And as a deterrent device this sanction would appear of little effect, for the offender, if not deterred by thought of the specific penalties of long imprisonment or even death, is not very likely to be swayed from his course by the prospect of expatriation. However insidious and demoralizing may be the actual experience of statelessness, its contemplation in advance seems unlikely to invoke serious misgiving, for none of us yet knows its ramifications."

(iv) Constitutionality of punishments under the statutes

"Universities are made by love, love of beauty and learning."

~ Annie Besant

138. The engagement of human dignity and Article 21 will now be examined in the context of punishment, imposed on a delinquent student.

139. The statutory scheme of enforcing discipline by imposition of punishments and suspension has a salutary purpose, but it needs to be compliant with the requirements of fundamental rights.

140. Punishment has to be effective to serve its purpose; however, it cannot be purblind to human dignity, if it is to retain its constitutionality.

141. Severity of a punishment is not sufficient basis for holding it unconstitutional. The enquiry into the constitutionality of a punishment, will examine the relationship between the punishment and its purpose, and whether the penalty can achieve the purpose. The enquiry will also determine whether the punishment degrades the human person, and whether it devalues human dignity against established norms of decency, or has a dehumanizing effect.

142. Degree of injuries to self esteem, extent of degradation of human worth, depth of humiliation caused by the punishment, are facts to be probed in an enquiry into the validity of the punishment.

143. Experience teaches the fact of human fallibility, but knowledge holds the hope of human redemption. If error is part of human nature, reform is an element of human spirit. The capacity of human beings to introspect on erring ways and the power of human will to reform deviant conduct are building blocks of the concept of human dignity. "Every sinner has a future, many a saint had a past."

144. Punishment for deviant conduct, cannot be so severe as to degrade human life. Every form of punishment should protect the essential sanctity of human life and comport with fundamental norms of decency evolved by a civilized society. Any act which dehumanizes life cannot be countenanced by societies and courts which value life and liberty. The degrading or dehumanizing elements of the punishment have to be eliminated to bring it in conformity with requirement of human dignity, contemplated by Article 21 of the Constitution of India.

145. Failure to consider susceptibility to reform, while denying the right to access privileges and activities of the university, negates the possibility of rehabilitation. Absence of an environment of reform, self development and rehabilitation in a university, denies the opportunity of redeeming one's reputation. Termination of dialogue with the delinquent student, without offering an opportunity to reform, makes him an outcaste. The individual is permanently discarded by the institution, and loss of human self worth is total. This system of punishment is destructive of fundamental elements of human dignity, and violative of Article 21 of the Constitution of India.

146. Another aspect of the punishment which needs consideration, is the consequence exclusion from higher education.

147. Education is a most credible and effective mode of restoring self esteem and enhancing self worth. By denying opportunities of education to a delinquent student, without looking at the possibility of reform, the power to redeem one's errors and enhance self worth is taken away from an individual. In these cases, closure of avenues of education, extinguishes the hope for a better tomorrow. Loss of hope and its sequitor perpetual condemnation are fatal blows to the human spirit and self esteem.

148. Acts of deviant conduct, violence or intimidation, do not cease the need for social engagement or knowledge. Such needs are more acutely felt and require satisfaction in these cases.

149. Order may be enforced by punishments. Causes of deviant conduct can be addressed only by engagement. Punishments deal with the offence, reform deals with the offender.

150. Public interest however demands that the claim for further education, and engagement with delinquent students, should be guided and controlled by the authorities.

151. Statutory regimes in universities, dealing with delinquent behaviour and university environments, which are bereft of therapeutic and reform based support systems, are incompatible with the constitutional mandate to uphold human dignity. The violations of human dignity, in such cases, are summed up hereinunder:

152. Dignity violations occur when a punishment meted out to a student, does not consider his susceptibility to reform, and degrades his person by exclusion to the point where his diminished self worth cannot be reinstated due to systemic inadequacies or institutional shortcomings.

153. By denying further education, and neglecting to create an institutional system of reform, self development and rehabilitation, the university in effect tells the delinquent student, that it does not recognize the student's need to re-establish his self esteem. In other words, the student is not only impervious to reform, but incapable of enhancing his self esteem.

154. Dignity of an individual/student is injured, when it is found that the punishment precludes reform by rehabilitative measures, and prevents self enhancement by further education.

155. The punitive consequences of the action, cannot go beyond the requirements of the case. In this case they do.

An institutional reform, self development and rehabilitation programme, will enable a delinquent student to introspect on errors, express remorse and correct course.

156. Neglect by the universities to create an institutional reform, self development and rehabilitation programme thus places substantial obstacles in the enjoyment of the fundamental right of human dignity under Article 21.

157. The result of the preceding narrative is as follows:-

(i) The impugned action taken by the university, against the petitioner is violative of the fundamental right of human dignity of the petitioner, guaranteed under Article 21 of the Constitution of India, as it fails to consider his susceptibility to reform, and does not enable the petitioner to undergo a reform and self development process to redeem himself.

(ii) The statutory omission of reform measures, is an inadequacy which renders the university incapable of rectifying the violation made by it. The systemic fault-line is contrary to the mandate of Article 21 of the Constitution of India.

(v) Systemic responses : Responsibilities of the State and universities

158. Exercise of judicial power is the prerogative of the courts; but upholding the Constitution is not the monopoly of the courts.

159. To realize the fundamental rights guaranteed under the Constitution and to achieve the goals contemplated under the Preamble, all stakeholders have to play their part and all organs of governance have to perform their obligations. Constitutional ideals will become meaningful only if constitutional values animate the functioning of all institutions of governance. Universities have a special role to play.

160. The State and in this case the universities too, have the obligation to create an enabling environment, (emphasis supplied) where life and life enhancing attributes under Article 21 of the Constitution of India flourish and where constitutional ideals become a reality.

161. The importance of "therapeutic approach" in solving social dysfunctions, the growth in role of the State to give away public recognition in the way they treat their citizens, the evolution of law on the subject, and the contribution of universities were analyzed by Francis Fukuyama in his book "Identity". Some of the instructive passages are extracted below:

"The therapeutic turn in the popular culture of advanced liberal democracies such as the United States was inevitably reflected in its politics, and in an evolving understanding of the role of the state. In the classical liberalism of the nineteenth century, the state was held responsible for protecting basic rights such as freedom speech and association, for upholding a rule of law, and for providing essential public services such as police, roads, and education. The government "recognized" its citizens by granting them individual rights, but the state was not seen as responsible for making each individual feel better about himself or herself."

"Under the therapeutic method, however, an individual's happiness depends on his or her self-esteem, and self-esteem is a by-product of public recognition. Governments are readily able to give away public recognition in the way that they talk about and treat their citizens, so modern liberal societies naturally and perhaps inevitably began to take on the responsibility for raising the self-esteem of each and every one of their citizens".

"Therapeutic services came to be deeply embedded in social policy, not just in California but throughout the United States and in other liberal democracies. States began to offer psychological counseling and other mental health services, and schools began to incorporate therapeutic insights into the way that they taught children."

"In the early twentieth century, social dysfunctions such as delinquency or teen pregnancy were seen as deviant behaviour that needed to be dealt with punitively, often through the criminal justice system".

"But with the rise of therapeutic approaches by mid century, they were increasingly seen as social pathologies that needed to be treated through counseling and psychiatric intervention".

"The 1956 amendments to the Social Security Act allowed for federal reimbursements of a range of therapeutic services to strengthen family life and self-support."

"The therapeutic state metastasized across a wide number of institutions, including a large non-profit sector that by the 1990s had become the delivery vehicle for state-funded social services".

"Universities found themselves at the forefront of the therapeutic revolution."

162. These special needs of citizens have to be addressed by State action, and also through judicial interventions in a nuanced manner, and in a larger perspective. Exclusive reliance on coercive powers of the law, shall be inadequate and an unsatisfactory way of dealing with the problem. The therapeutic jurisprudence draws heavily from concept of human dignity and self worth for its philosophical underpinning.

163. Disciplinary action should also be supported by reformative philosophy. Reformative philosophy does not undermine the deterrent approach.

164. The statutory regime imposes punishment for delinquent acts. The reform programme will address the cause of delinquency itself. Framing the approach to discipline as a choice between punishment or reform is misleading. A just corrective system needs both. Both approaches complement each other and can be pursued simultaneously. Deterrent aspect may also be reinforced, by making grant of the degree contingent upon successful completion of the reform programme.

165. The ordinances providing for punishments for deviant conduct need to be duly supported by a legal framework for structured reform, self development and rehabilitation programmes. This environment will accord social recognition to the need for reform of delinquent students. The degrading effect of punishment will be ameliorated. Dialogue will end isolation, reform will reinstate self worth and education will enhance self esteem.

166. Structured reform, self development and rehabilitation programmes and therapeutic support, within a legal framework, will create an enabling environment (emphasis supplied) in the universities, to realize the fundamental right of human dignity, flowing from Article 21 of the Constitution of India.

L. Reform, Self Development & Rehabilitation

(i) Role of universities in achieving behavioral change

"You must be the change you wish to see in the world"

~Mahatma Gandhi

167. Non violence as a philosophy of thought, and a creed of conduct, was developed in India on a scale wider than elsewhere. From the Buddha to Ashoka and the Mahatma, behavioral change in adopting non violence as a way of life, at the national scale was greatly accomplished in India.

168. The response of the Indian civilization, to the challenges of communal hatred and communal otherness, was profound and without parallel. The unique response of the Indian society was fashioned by the universal philosophy of the Indian civilization; of affirming the unity of the human race, of embracing diversity, of respecting dissent, and creating a harmonious dialogue of faiths. The lives and teachings of saints and thinkers like Guru Nanak, Kabir, Vivekananda, Tagore and Mahatma Gandhi, bear testimony to this composite culture.

169. For each generation to produce such individuals of excellence is an exorbitant demand. Today behavioral change is achieved in a different manner, albeit more incrementally and less dramatically. Institutions like universities have a critical role to play. Universities have an obligation to the society and the individual. The universities have an irrevocable compact, and an organic connect with the society.

170. University is a paternal institution. By the act of suspension or debarment of a delinquent student, the university abandons its ward. The university has solved its problem, but the society has one at its hands. The downstream effects of the punishments, have not been considered by the respondents. Clearly there are direct costs to the society as well. There are no other institutions of equal standing, to engage with the youth, deal with the discontent or aberration, and channelize youthful energies.

171. The role of the University does not end in punishing perpetrators of violence. It begins with the identification of the causes of violence, communal hatred, and other forms of deviant conduct. Thereafter the responsibility to achieve behavioral change commences. The fruit of knowledge imparted by the universities lies in the manifestation of human values in the human personality and expression of humanity in human conduct. Knowledge which does not change human behaviour in this manner is futile.

(ii) Imbibing Constitutional values and purging communal hatred

172. The Indian civilizational ethos and the Indian constitutional values are congruent. The Supreme Court distilled the essence of Indian values, when it emphasised "our tradition teaches tolerance, our philosophy preaches tolerance and our Constitution practises tolerance; let us not dilute it" while upholding the religious rights of Jehovah's witnesses in Bijoe Emmanuel and others vs. State of Kerala and others, reported at (1986) 3 SCC 615.

173. Universities have to protect the space for open dialogue, respectful engagement and reasoned debate. Universities need to ensure that the space for constitutional values, is not encroached by communal hatred.

174. The universities have the responsibility, to preserve this heritage, and the obligation to nurture these constitutional values. University experience has to inculcate these values in the students.

175. The universities may consider holding seminars, workshops, heritage festivals, cultural festivals, literature festivals, and encourage other activities to achieve this end. This has to be a part of the larger programme of value creation and self development.

(iii) Present discontents of students and solutions

176. The preceding discussion shows how a reform, self development and rehabilitation programme, will create an enabling environment, for realization of the fundamental rights of the individual under Article 21. How such programme, will yield tangible benefits for the society, will now be examined.

177. The paradox of the digital age is a plethora of devices and a dilution of dialogue, the substitution of conversation by chatter. There is the ever present danger of growth of knowledge and diminution of thought. The young are empowered by technology, but made restless by the void in values, and lack of direction.

178. The dilemmas of the digital age were acutely summed up by Yuval Noah Harari in his profound and acclaimed work "Homo Deus":

"Today our knowledge is increasing at breakneck speed, and theoretically we should understand the world better and better. But the very opposite is happening. Our new-found knowledge leads to faster economic, social and political changes; in an attempt to understand what is happening, we accelerate the accumulation of knowledge, which leads only to faster and greater upheavals. Consequently we are less and less able to make sense of the present or forecast the future."

179. In this situation lack of avenues of engagement, absence of a structured reform, self development and therapeutic support system, leaves the students with little options. The choices available in the society, to satisfy their need for belonging, to recover self esteem, and to channelize youthful energies are not very encouraging.

180. Re-establishing meaningful dialogue, recreating an environment of fruitful conversation, and making empathetic engagement are some of the present challenges. The responsibility of reaching out and engaging with the students, and increasing quality interface with them, lies with the universities and the teachers.

181. These obligations can be accomplished by a meticulously created reform/self development programme and high quality of academic leadership within a comprehensive legal framework.

182. Universities are a microcosm of the society. They are laboratories of social change, and also agents of social transformation.

183. The manner in which the universities deal, with aberrations of violence other forms of deviant conduct, and deficit of values in students, has repercussions for the society at large. The divergent pulls of primordial instincts of hate and violence, against a citizen's duties in a nation ruled by law can best be managed by universities.

184. The universities are uniquely placed to deal with these issues. The universities have the intellectual capital, institutional framework and moral leadership, which puts them in the front rank of institutions to effect such change. The environment in the University should encourage and engender reflective actions instead of automatic choices.

185. The reform/self development and rehabilitation programme, will give an individual student correct direction in life, and prevent one from drifting away. The student will be anchored in constitutional values, and will not be led astray by social evils. The support and aid by the university will give one a sense of ownership and belonging. No harvest is richer for a nation, than citizens empowered by a constitutional value system.

186. The high pedestal at which teachers are placed in Indian traditions and thoughts, was recalled to explain the current role of teachers in Indian society, by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Avinash Nagra Vs. Navodaya Vidyalaya Samiti and Others, reported at (1997) 2 SCC 534. The relevant extracts were succinctly summed up by a Division Bench of this Court, in the case of Devarsh Nath Gupta Vs. State of U.P. and Others, reported at 2019(6) ADJ 296 (DB):

"22. Special status of teacher has been reminded by Court in Avinash Nagra vs. Navodaya Vidyalaya Samiti and others (1997) 2 SCC 534. Quoting Father of the Nation, Court said that a teacher cannot be without character. If he lacks it, he will be like salt without its savour. A teacher must touch the hearts of his students. Boys imbibe more from the teacher's own life than they do from books. If teachers impart all the knowledge in the world to their students but do not inculcate truth and purity amongst them, they will have betrayed them. Quoting Shri Aurobindo, Court said that it is the teacher's province to hold aloft the torch, to insist at all times and at all places that this nation of ours was founded on idealism and that whatever may be the prevailing tendencies of the times, our children shall learn to live among the sun-lit peaks. Court also referred Dr. S. Radhakrishanan saying that we, in our country, look upon teacher as gurus or, as acharyas. An Acharya is one whose achar or conduct is exemplary. He must be an example of Sadachar or good conduct. He must inspire the pupils who are entrusted to his care with love of virtue and goodness. The ideal of a true teacher is "andhakaraniridhata gurur itya bhidhiyate" (Andhakar is not merely intellectual ignorance, but is also spiritual blindness). He, who is able to remove that kind of spiritual blindness, is called a 'guru'. Swami Vivekananda was also quoted saying that student should live from his very boyhood with one whose character is a blazing fire and should have before him a living example of the highest teaching. In our country, the imparting of knowledge has always been through men of renunciation. The charge of imparting knowledge should again fall upon the shoulder of Tyagis."

187. In Avinash Nagra (supra), the obligations of teachers to transform students into responsible citizens, and inculcate the value system of the Indian Constitution, was stated thus:

"...The State has taken care of service conditions of the teacher and he owed dual fundamental duties to himself and to the society. As a member of the noble teaching profession and a citizen of India he should always be willing, self-disciplined, dedicated with integrity to remain ever a learner of knowledge, intelligently to articulate and communicate and imbibe in his students, as social duty, to impart education, to bring them up with discipline, inculcate to abjure violence and to develop scientific temper with a spirit of enquiry and reform constantly to rise to higher levels in any walk of life nurturing Constitutional ideals enshrined in Article 51A so as to make the students responsible citizens of the country. Thus the teacher either individually or collectively as a community of teachers, should regenerate this dedication with a bent of spiritualism in broader perspective of the Constitutionalism with secular ideologies enshrined in the Constitution as an arm of the State to establish egalitarian social order under the rule of law. Therefore, when the society has given such a pedestal, the conduct, character, ability and disposition of a teacher should be to transform the student into a disciplined citizen, inquisitive to learn, intellectual to pursue in any walk of life with dedication, discipline and devotion with an inquiring mind but not with blind customary beliefs....."

188. The students entering universities embark on a new phase in their lives. Many are often removed from their comfort zone, and the secure environment of their homes, to face the challenges of independent life. At times these new challenges can be intimidating, and the uncertainties can create apprehensions, in the minds of the young adults.

189. Some students are unmoored in this trying phase of life and change of circumstances. Ragging of juniors in institutions of higher learning and other evils make the situations worse for freshers. Such students especially girls students in our country, need full institutional support to face these challenges.

190. It is the responsibility of the universities and the institutions of higher learning to create requisite environment of sensitizing the senior students and supporting the freshers in every possible manner.

191. A programme for self development implemented in a proactive manner shall foster constitutional values among students. Students need to realize the value of dissent in a democracy, but also have to understand the manner of dissent in a society ruled by law.

192. This process also requires initiation of engagement with the students and improving the quality of interface between the teachers and the taught. Educating the educators in this regard has to be a part of any such programme. Workshops have to be held and other methods have to be explored, to cultivate constitutional values in students and achieve behavioral change.

193. These are the preventive measures to address the issues of indiscipline, deficit in values and deviant behaviour in all institutions of higher learning.

194. The preventive measures preclude the occurrence of deviant behaviour. The post facto rehabilitation measures prevent recurrence of deviant behaviour. Both have to be integrated into one conjoint system of value creation, in the universities and institutions of higher learning.

195. Structured reform/self development programmes run by universities, can be catalysts for inducing behavioral change, and inculcating a constitutional value system in students. A successful reform, self-development & rehabilitation programme, can convert a possible danger into a real asset for the society.

(iv) Creation of reform, self development & rehabilitation programmes

196. Many branches of knowledge in modern times are devoted to the study of human psychology, social behaviour and behavioural change. Psychology, Psychiatry, Sociology, Anthropology and Behavioral Economics, are some fields dedicated to gaining insights into human behaviour and inducing behavioural change.

197. Works of the Nobel prize winning economist Richard Thaler deserve special mention. The methodology of "nudges", in creating behavioral change has been gaining acceptability. The organization "Nudge" in Lebanon, has done noteworthy work with refugee children, and on environmental protection.

198. The Behavioral Insights Teams sometimes called "Nudge Units", are also existing in many nations including Australia, Canada, Germany, Qatar, the United Arab Emirates, Japan, the United States, and the United Kingdom. The Economic Survey released by India's Finance Ministry in July, 2019 has concluded with the clear recommendations that "the proposal to set up a behavioral economics unit in the NITI Ayog must be immediately activated". The report further noticed that the unit should work with State Governments, helping them to make their programme more effective, and informing them of the potential value of Behavioural Insights.

199. Ancient branches of knowledge and wellness like yoga, meditation, vipassana and so on may prove to be rich resources to benefit from.

200. Many scientific researches have confirmed the efficacy of these ancient systems of human wellness. These branches of knowledge have to be approached with a scientific and an open academic mindset. Personal beliefs have to be respected at all times. There can be no imposition of any system, which is resisted on grounds of faith or beliefs; in which cases other options may be given.

201. Socially useful work like planting and taking care of trees, and flora may be a part of the programme. Sports and sporting activities also go a long way in creating integrating social values, and enhancing emotional intelligence. Teaching needy children, serving the sick, and other forms of service to the society are options which may be explored. Counselling sessions with experts and psychologists could prove useful.

202. Therapeutic solutions to social problems, are being increasingly recognized by social scientists, medical experts, psychologists, and jurists alike.

203. Creation of course content of the reform or self development programme, and manner of its implementation has to be decided by the respondents. This requires wide consultations, deliberations and workshops with academia, varsities, institutions of research, student counsellors, psychologists, psychiatrists, students and other stakeholders.

204. The UGC is a statutory body, and cannot abdicate its responsibilities in this scenario. The functions of the UGC are enumerated in the University Grants Commission Act, 1956. The UGC will play an important role, in the creation and standardization of the course, for reformation and self development, and aid its implementation on an institutional basis.

205. The Government of India in particular, the Ministry of Human Resource Development, also has a contribution to make in the process. The Ministry of Human Resource Development, Government of India, New Delhi, has to provide the necessary support to the University as may be required under law to create and implement the reform, self development and rehabilitation programme. This support would include the creation of necessary infrastructure for implementing the programmes.

206. Both the University Grants Commission and the Ministry of Human Resource Development, Government of India, are required to support the universities in their endeavours to create and implement the programmes of reform, self development and rehabilitation.

207. Law enforcement agencies the world over are engaging with the youth, to draw them away from the appeal of extreme ideologies.

208. The prestige enjoyed by universities and the teachers in society, will make the programme credible to concerned individuals, and acceptable to the student community. The key to the efficacy of any structured reform programme, is empathetic engagement and a supportive environment.

209. An impersonal approach and institutional prejudice, can make the programme a non starter. Due sensitization of all stakeholders is required, before implementing the programme.

210. The founding purpose of universities to supply intellectual and moral leadership to the society, and to be at the vanguard of social transformation, will be eminently achieved by effective reformation/therapeutic/self development programmes.

(v) Concerns of universities regarding discipline & restraints during the reformation, self development & rehabilitation programme:

211. The Court is cognizant of concerns of the universities, that a reform programme should not derail university administration, nor should it have a detrimental effect on discipline and good order in the campus. A reform and rehabilitation programme, is not intended to allow a wrongdoer to escape justice.

212. Apprehensions of the universities need to be addressed. The reform programme has to be created and structured and implemented in a manner that it does not adversely impact the good order and discipline in the university campus.

213. The start of reform programme does not inevitably mean a free access to, or unconditional reinstatement of a delinquent student into the university campus. In cases of indiscipline where presence of individuals poses a threat of breakdown of order in the university campus, a decision can be made only by the university. Even when such students undergo a reform programme, and the students are pursuing their academic studies, the university may impose restraints it deems fit.

214. To obviate possibilities of disruption in the academic atmosphere, various measures of graduated restrictions may be imposed on a case to case basis. These restraints may include minute monitoring of movements in campus, restricting movements and contact, an employee escort till the student is in the campus, alteration of class schedules and timings. Such lighter restrictions could continue, while undergoing reform programmes along with the academic course.

215. More stringent measures in aggravated cases, may include a campus ban, with on-line classes and home schooling. Transfer to constituent colleges or other universities from a pool of universities, or setting up separate premises are among the options. In these cases entry to the specific university campus may be barred, even as the reform programme is underway, and the student is prosecuting his academic course.

216. These are some illustrative instances, of restraints which may be imposed by the universities.

M. Proportionality & Punishment

217. The controversy has to be seen from another critical legal perspective. The doctrine of proportionality is an established ground of judicial review in the Indian Constitutional jurisprudence.

218. Aharon Barak, former President of Supreme Court of Israel in his book "Proportionality" thus defines the rules of the doctrine of proportionality, "According to the four components of proportionality a limitation of constitutional right will be permissible if, (1) It is designated for a proper purpose, (2) The measures undertaken to effectuate such a limitation are rationally connected to the fulfillment of that purpose, (3) The measures undertaken are necessary and in that there are alternative measures that may similarly achieve that same purpose with a lesser degree of limitation and finally; (4) Their needs to be a proper relation "proportionality strict senso and balance" between the importance of achieving the proper purpose and social importance of preventing the limitation on the constitutional right."

219. The concept of proportionality essentially visualizes, a graduated response to the nature of the misconduct by a delinquent student. The purpose of the institution, its role in the society and its obligations to the nation, provide the setting for adjudication of the issue of proportionality.

220. Proportionality first came to be applied in the context of punishments imposed for misconduct in service jurisprudence. The necessity of proportional punishment, in cases of misconduct by students is more strongly needed. Hence action of the respondent-University, is liable to be tested on the anvil of disproportionality.

221. The "doctrine of proportionality" was introduced, and embedded in the administrative law of our country, by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Ranjit Thakur Versus Union of India, reported at (1987) 4 SCC 611. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Ranjit Thakur held thus:

"Judicial review generally speaking, is not directed against a decision, but is directed against the "decision making process". The question of the choice and quantum of punishment is within the jurisdiction and discretion of the Court-Martial. But the sentence has to suit the offence and the offender. It should not be vindictive or unduly harsh. It should not be so disproportionate to the offence as to shock the conscience and amount in itself to conclusive evidence of bias. The doctrine of proportionality, as part of the concept of judicial review, would ensure that even on an aspect which is, otherwise, within the exclusive province of the Court-Martial, if the decision of the Court even as to sentence is an outrageous defiance of logic, then the sentence would not be immune from correction. Irrationality and perversity are recognised grounds of judicial review. "

222. The essence of proportionality is that, the competent authority while imposing a punishment upon a delinquent student, has to co-relate and balance the imperatives of institutional discipline with the demands of individual rights. Too light a punishment will not be conducive to institutional discipline. Too harsh a punishment will not be consistent with norms of justice.

223. The enquiry into the four components of proportionality, as elucidated by Justice Aharon Barak in his book "Proportionality" has been made in the preceding part of the judgment. The purpose and obligations of universities, have also received consideration, in the earlier part of the narrative.

224. The suspension of the petitioner from the university, for an undefined or indefinite period, is an action of extreme severity. It is a de-facto expulsion from the university. These actions carry drastic penal consequences for the students. Denial of education to a soul, in quest of knowledge is the severest form of restriction. Moreover, the instigatory role of the Professor Y in causing the incident, has not been factored into the decision.

225. The measures undertaken against the petitioner, are not rationally connected to the fulfillment of the purpose sought to be achieved. The proper and designated purpose of a punishment in a university, has to include reform of the student, not mere imposition of penalty. Clearly there are alternative reformative measures, that can achieve the same purpose, with a lesser degree of curtailment of the students rights.

226. The impugned action fails the test of proportionality. The action taken against the petitioner, does not achieve the purpose, and social importance of the reform and rehabilitation of the delinquent student. The impugned order is liable to be set aside on this ground as well.

N. Conclusions & Reliefs

227. The past record of the petitioner is unblemished. The incident was an isolated act of violence by the petitioner. It was a one off. The petitioner has tendered a contrite apology, to the Court through his counsel, (this is without prejudice to the defence to the petitioner in criminal case), and seeks an opportunity to evolve into a law abiding and responsible citizen of the country.

228. From the facts in the record, it appears that the petitioner does not have a criminal history (prior to this case), nor can it be said that the petitioner has a depraved criminal mindset. The academic background also shows promise. In these facts, this Court feels that the petitioner is capable of reforming himself, and evolving into a law abiding citizen.

229. The acts of violence if proved, may warrant disciplinary action to maintain discipline in the campus. But the facts of the case, also require reformative measures to protect the future of the petitioner.

230. In the wake of the preceding discussion, this Court finds that the order dated 30.03.2019 passed by the Registrar, Banaras Hindu University, Varanasi, is arbitrary and illegal and of no effect.

231. The order dated 30.03.2019, passed by the Registrar, Banaras Hindu University, Varanasi is quashed.

232. The quashment of the impugned order, does not in any manner exonerate the petitioner of his guilt. Nor does it preempt the regular enquiry into the misconduct. The law shall take its course, unhindered by any observation made in this judgement.

233. In the facts of the instant case and the material in the record, the reinstatement of the petitioner in the Ph.D. Course, shall happen in the manner and the time frame provided in the final directions.

234. The matter is remitted to the respondents.

235. A writ in the nature of mandamus is issued commanding the respective respondents to execute the following directions in the light of this judgment:

I. The University shall create a reform, self development and rehabilitation programme, for students accused of misconduct and against whom disciplinary action or any action to deny facilities of the university is proposed or taken;

II. The reform, self development and rehabilitation programme should be created after wide consultations and workshops with institutions of higher learning and research, universities, experts, student counsellors/psychologists, psychiatrists, students and other stakeholders;

III. University Grants Commission will aid the above process by providing the necessary support to the University to create, standardize and effectuate the reform, self development and rehabilitation programme in the University.

IV. The Secretary, Ministry of Human Resource Development, Government of India, New Delhi (respondent no.1 herein), shall also provide necessary support to create infrastructure in the University to effectuate the reform, self development and rehabilitation programme in the University, in light of this judgment and as per law.

V. The reform, self development and rehabilitation programmes shall be processed as per law, and integrated into the existing legal/statutory framework of the University dealing with deviant conduct and punishments.

VI. The petitioner shall be given the benefit of the reform, self development and rehabilitation programme. After the creation of the reform, self development and rehabilitation programme, the petitioner shall be reinstated as a student and permitted to continue the Ph.D. course or any other course along with the said programme.

VII. Attendance of the petitioner in the said programme shall be compulsory. An evaluation sheet of the petitioner's performance in the programme shall also be prepared.

VIII. It shall be open to the BHU to impose necessary restraints, as it deems fit, upon the petitioner even as he pursues his academic course along with the reform, self development and rehabilitation programme. These restraints may include a campus entry ban upon the petitioner, if the University deems it necessary.

IX. The exercise shall be completed, preferably, within six months, but not later than 12 months. At all times the respondents, keeping in mind the best interests of the students and the society, shall make all efforts to expedite the compliance of the directions.

X. It shall be open to the respondents to create a scheme for reform, self development and rehabilitation for convicts in criminal cases who wish to pursue further higher studies in the respondent University.

XI. The counsels for the respondents shall provide certified copy of this judgment to the Vice Chancellor, Banaras Hindu University, Varanasi (respondent no. 2 herein), the Secretary, Ministry of Human Resource Development, Union of India, New Delhi (respondent no.1 herein) and the Chairman, University Grants Commission, New Delhi (respondent no. 6 herein), for necessary compliances.

236. The writ petition is allowed to the extent and manner indicated above.

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE

BEFORE THE HON'BLE ANJANI KUMAR MISHRA, J.

Writ C No. 28202 of 2019

Jagbhan Singh & Anr. ...Petitioners Versus
Board of Revenue & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Deepak Kumar Jaiswal, Sri Prem Singh

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Manvendra Nath Singh, Sri R.C. Singh, Sri Rajesh Kumar, Sri Anurag Prasad

A. U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 - Section 116 - suit for partition - Section 134 – suit for eviction - petitioners' dispossessed from land in their possession, in the garb of execution of a final decree for partition, to which, they were not parties - the Sub Divisional Magistrate is not empowered to issue a direction for the execution of a partition decree, on the administrative side – SDM has by an administrative order, tried to decided an eviction suit under section 134 of the Revenue Code, 2006 – exparte order passed without hearing the petitioners and also without considering the report of the Revenue Inspector – impugned order passed is illegal and arbitrary. (Para 4, 19, 24 & 25)

The Sub Divisional Magistrate, has manifestly misused his position to provide undue benefit to the plaintiff by ignoring material before him which showed that third parties were in possession, directed execution of a partition decree on the administrative side, in the process evicting occupants of land who were not parties in the partition suit and against who existed no eviction decree. (Para 26)

Held:- The administrative authorities cannot, in the garb of executing a decree for partition, resort to execution proceedings on the administrative side and in the process evict a person in possession, who is not a party in the partition suit nor is a party to the decree, allegedly being executed. (Para 25)

Writ Petition allowed. (E-7)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Anjani Kumar Mishra, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri R.C. Singh, learned Senior Advocate for the respondent no.6 and learned Standing counsel for the State-respondents.

2. The writ petition arises out of a suit for partition under Section 116 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 and seeks a writ of certiorari for quashing order dated 10.08.2019 (Annexure No.14) passed by the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Mau Chitrakoot, respondent no.2.

3. The second prayer made is for expeditious disposal of a revision filed by the opposite party, respondent no.6, which is directed against an order passed by the Commissioner, whereby the petitioners were directed to be impleaded in the suit for partition.

4. Primarily, grievance of the petitioners' is that they have been dispossessed from land in their possession, in the garb of execution of a final decree for partition, to which, they were not parties.

5. On the petition coming up for admission, the following order was passed on 29.04.2019 -

"Prima facie it appears that a final decree in a suit for partition has been executed on the administrative side by the SDM with the use of police force.

This action is sought to be justified by counsel appearing for the respondent on the ground that the proceeding for implementation of the final decree in the suit, was judicial proceedings.

He has referred to the second paragraph on page 84 of the paper book, the second page of the impugned order, wherein reference has been made to evidence, and objections available on record.

The SDM, Mau, District Chitrakoot is directed to transmit the record relied upon by him while passing the impugned order dated 10.08.2019 to this Court, forthwith.

Put up this case in the additional cause list on 15.10.2019 by which time learned Standing Counsel shall also ensure that the relevant record is available for perusal of this Court."

6. Subsequently, the matter has been heard and is being decided finally.

7. The contention of counsel for the petitioner is that the impugned order dated 10.08.2019 has been passed on the administrative side and not in proceedings for execution of final partition decree. The order and action consequent thereto, is without jurisdiction, even though it purports have been been taken in compliance of directions issued on 11.04.2019 in Writ Petition No.12130 of 2019.

8. It is submitted that the impugned order could not have been passed because in the partition suit, the petitioner had filed an impleadment application. The impleadment application was rejected by the trial Court. However, in appeal, the same was allowed. The respondent no.6 challenged the appellate order before the Board of Revenue in Revision No.1077 of 2018, Smt.Geeta Singh Vs. Udai Bhan Singh and others, wherein the order passed by the Commissioner has been stayed. This stay would not amount to rejection of the petitioner's impleadment application. Prima facie, therefore, the petitioner has interest in the land subject matter of the partition suit but ignoring the same, the partition decree has been executed on the administrative side. The order passed by the respondent no.2 is not only illegal, it also clearly malafide and abuse of the process of law.

9. Shri R.C. Singh, learned Senior Advocate appearing for the respondent nos. 3 and 6 on the basis of the date chart filed by him, submitted that the petitioners have no interest in the property in question. Only an illegal entry, under Class 9, had been obtained. Therefore, a suit under Section 229B of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, filed by Bhuriya Singh was decreed and the Class 9 entry in favour of Bhikham Singh was expunged. Bhikham Singh nor his sons, the petitioners, were ever in possession over the land in question.

10. Bhuriya Singh, who filed the declaratory suit for expunging the Class 9 entry, was succeeded by respondent no.3, Dev Narayan Singh, who in turn, was succeeded by his sons Raja Gulab Singh, Chhote Lal and his widow Prema Devi. Prema Devi executed a sale deed of her share in favour of respondent no.6. The respondent no.6 thereafter filed the suit for partition, wherein the final decree was passed and the same has rightly been executed on the spot. The petitioners have no right, title or interest in the land in question. Neither they are in possession thereon.

11. It is also contended that upon the order of the writ Petition No.12130 of 2019 dated 11.04.2019 being filed before the Sub Divisional Magistrate, respondent no.2, notices were issued to the petitioners and after considering their objections, the impugned order dated 10.08.2019 has rightly been passed. The writ petition is therefore, liable to be dismissed.

12. I have considered the submissions made by learned counsel for the parties and perused the record as also the original record produced by learned Standing Counsel.

13. The original record produced is in three compilations -

(i) Record of Suit No.09 of 2018 under Section 116 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006.

(ii) Record which contains no Case number and only mentions Misilband No.22.

(iii) Record of Revision No.2912 of 2018 under Section 207 of U.P. Revenue Code, 2006, pending before the Board of Revenue.

14. The third compilation is the one required to be looked into. However, I do not find copy of the order impugned in this writ petition, on the record of the trial Court of partition suit No.9 of 2018. This is the first compilation is only upto preparation of the final decree and a parwana amaldaramad being issued for incorporation of the same in the revenue records. The Parwana Amaldaramad has been issued on 22.09.2018.

15. Although, it is sought to be contended that the order impugned has been passed in execution of the final decree for partition, no record of any execution case has been produced, although, learned Standing Counsel had been directed to produce such record, as also the material, on the basis whereof, the impugned order had been passed. Non production of this record clearly supports the contention of the petitioners that the impugned order has been passed on the administrative side.

16. The second and relevant compilation contains copy of the letter, which is impugned in this writ petition. This file contains two copies of this order / letter dated 14 August 2019. The first copy available on the file, does not bear any date below the signature. The second copy bears the date 10.08.2019 below the signature The certified copy annexed along with the writ petition is a copy of this second document, but is manifestly, incomplete. One whole page of the same appears to be missing. The other copy contains the part which is manifestly missing in the certified copy, noticed above. This copy bears no date on which it was signed.

17. Annexure 14 to the writ petition which is impugned, bears letter No.2250 / ST/Mau. Subject of this letter is implementation of the order passed in Writ Petition No.12130 of 2019 dated 11.04.2019. The order dated 11.04.2019 was that the final decree in the suit for partition be implemented on the spot, in case, there was no legal impediment to such implementation.

18. The objections that had been raised by the petitioners as regard the legal impediments, find mention in this letter.

19. Despite the order passed by the writ Court on 11.04.2019, the Sub Divisional Magistrate is not empowered to issue a direction for the execution of a partition decree, on the administrative side. There is no mention of any execution case in the impugned letter/order. It also does not bear any case number and as noticed above, is merely a letter directing compliance of directions issued in Writ Petition No.12130 of 2019, vide order dated 11.04.2019. The subject of this letter is not execution of the final partition decree.

20. On the top, the letter/ order impugned is mentioned the date August 14, 2019. This document bears the signature of the Sub Divisional Magistrate and below is a date has been transcribed in the same ink and hand writing which reads 10.08.2019. This is not possible. A letter prepared / typed on August 14, 2019 could not have been signed four days prior to its preparation.

21. In pursuance of this letter, the partition decree has been executed on the spot with the help of police force, on 2.9.2019.

22. On the same file, there is a report by the Lekhpal dated 27.06.2019, duly forwarded by the Revenue Inspector, wherein it has been categorically mentioned that Udai Bhan Singh, Jag Bhan Singh and Prem Bhan Singh sons of Bhisham Singh are in unauthorized occupation over plot no.1268M area 0.100 hectare. They have planted trees and constructed a well. They claim to be in possession for the last 40 years and that a suit for their dispossession under Section 134 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 is pending consideration before the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Mau, District Chitrakoot.

23. Once, there was material on record to show that a case under Section 134 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 was pending against the petitioners, there was no justification for forcibly dispossessing them, in execution of a decree for partition, to which, the unauthorized occupants were admittedly, not parties.

24. In any case, the impugned order / letter dated 10.08.2019 cannot be a judicial order because it does not refer to any case number or the details of the parties. Even otherwise, the impugned letter/order dated 10.08.2019 has not been passed after hearing the parties. It, at best, considers the objection that was filed by the petitioners, but in my considered opinion, this is not enough. This order is manifestly exparte, passed without hearing the petitioners and also without considering the report of the Revenue Inspector referred to above. The letter/order is therefore, illegal and also arbitrary and therefore cannot be sustained.

25. The administrative authorities cannot, in the garb of executing a decree for partition, resort to execution proceedings on the administrative side and in the process evict a person in possession, who is not a party in the partition suit nor is a party to the decree, allegedly being executed. For the same reason, the impugned order and the consequential action in pursuance thereof, cannot be sustained. The SDM has by an administrative order, tried to decided an eviction suit under section 134 of the Revenue Code, 2006.

26. The Sub Divisional Magistrate, Mr. Ramesh Yadav, has manifestly misused his position to provide undue benefit to the plaintiff by ignoring material before him which showed that third parties were in possession, directed execution of a partition decree on the administrative side, in the process evicting occupants of land who were not parties in the partition suit and against who existed no eviction decree. That is why police force was directed to be used. In normal circumstances, execution of a partition decree, does not require police force, unless demanded by the Amin, who has to execute the decree. Even the memo prepared at the time of execution states that the encroachers were not present on the spot when the decree was being executed. Besides, the plaintiff, below her signature has recorded that items and a vehicle (gaddi) lying over the land given in her possession, be removed.

27. The writ petition is accordingly allowed. The impugned letter/ order dated 10.08.2019 (Annexure 14) is hereby quashed. The Sub Divisional Magistrate, Mau, District Chitrakoot, respondent no.2 is directed to ensure that status-quo ante as existing on the date the order dated 10.08.2019 was passed by him, is restored, forthwith.

28. For his illegal conduct and actions, geared to providing undue benefit to respondent no:6, Ramesh Yadav, SDM, Mau, District Chitrakoot is liable to costs of Rs.25,000/- to be deposited by him within a month, failing which, the same shall be deducted from his salary/ and or recovered as arrears of land revenue.

29. Moreover, an entry shall be made in his service record that he has been found by this Court to be guilty of acting beyond jurisdiction with a view to favour a private party and to provide her possession over land by forcibly dispossessing its occupants, in the garb of executing a partition decree especially when there was no decree for dispossession against the occupants nor they were parties to the partition decree and for this purpose having passed and signed an order on 10.08.2019 which had been dated 14.08.2019, at its top. This was done by him on the administrative side, having signed the order / letter impugned in this petition as Sub Divisional Magistrate and not as Sub Divisional Officer, a designation to be used when discharging, judicial functions.

30. The original records produced by Learned Standing Counsel be returned back to him, forthwith.

Matter Under Article 227 allowed. (E-5)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Manju Rani Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Ajay Sengar, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. The present petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India has been filed to quash the order dated 1st April, 2019 passed by the City Magistrate, Paragana-Orai, Jalaun at Orai in Case No. 02 of 2018 (Smt. Lalita Devi Vs. Veni Madhav & Others), under Section 145 Cr.P.C., Kotwali-Orai, District-Jalaun as well as the order dated 13th September, 2019 passed by the Additional Sessions

Judge/Special Judge (E.C.Act), Jalaun at Orai in Criminal Revision No. 49 of 2019 (Smt. Lalita Devi Vs. Veni Madhav & Others), under Section 397 Cr.P.C., Police Station-Kotwali, District-Jalaun.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner and the learned A.G.A. agree that this application may be finally disposed of without issuing notice to opposite party no.2 in view of the order proposed to be passed today. Normally, this Court would have issued notices to opposite party no.2 to file counter affidavit but no purpose would be served by keeping the present application pending. However, it shall be open for opposite party no.2 to file recall application against this order, if he feels so aggrieved.

4. Under the order impugned dated 1st April, 2019, order/notice dated 17th October, 2018 under Section 145 (1) Cr.P.C. directing the parties to maintain status quo passed on the application filed by the applicant, has been quashed, which has also been affirmed by the revisional court under the order impugned dated 13th September, 2019.

5. According to the learned counsel for the petitioner, the brief facts are as follows:

Respondent no.3, namely Komal Yadav being owner of plot measuring 20 x 40 fee, situated at Churkhi Road, Pargana and Tehsil-Orai, District-Jalaun at Orai, had offered the said land to the petitioner on a reasonable rate i.e. Rs. 2,00,000/- lacs. Petitioner accepted the said proposal and paid Rs. 2,00,000/- to respondent no.3 for purchasing of the said land as sale consideration with the assurance that the possession shall be handed over immediately but the registered sale-deed will be executed in favour of the petitioner in the year 2016. According to the said deal, the petitioner after paying Rs. 2,00,000/- to respondent no.2, has taken possession over the plot in dispute and now she is still in possession over the said plot. Thereafter the petitioner has requested respondent no.3 to execute the sale-deed in favour of the petitioner as per the assurance given by her, but respondent no.3 has avoided the request of the petitioner and has not executed the registered sale deed even after expiry of a period of three years. On 16th October, 2018, respondent no.2, namely, Beni Madhav came and wanted to take possession over the plot in dispute. The petitioner contacted respondent no.3 about the same but respondent no.3 did not respond to her properly. Thereafter the petitioner has also immediately moved written complaint to the Station House Officer, Kotwali-Orai, District-Jalaun and City Magistrate, Jalaun at Orai on 17th October, 2018. Upon the said written complaint of the petitioner, the City Magistrate, Jalaun at Orai vide order dated 17th October, 2018 initiated proceedings under Section 145 (1) Cr.P.C. and directed to maintain status quo issuing notice to respondent nos. 2 and 3and fixing 31st October, 2018. On the notice being received, respondent nos. 2 and 3 filed their written objections on 15th November, 2018 stating therein that petitioner has no concern with the aforesaid plot and neither respondent no.3 has ever taken any consideration from the petitioner nor assured her to execute any sale-deed qua the plot in dispute. On the objections filed by respondent nos. 2 and 3, the City Magistrate under the order dated 28th October, 2018 has dropped the proceedings initiated under Section 145

(1) Cr.P.C. and has also recalled the earlier order directing the parties to maintain status quo. Feeling aggrieved by the said order of the City Magistrate dropping the proceedings initiated under Section 145 (1) Cr.P.C., the petitioner has preferred Criminal Revision No. 49 of 2019 (Smt. Lalita Devi Vs. Veni Madhav & Others) under Section 397 Cr.P.C. The learned Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge (E.C. Act), Jalaun at Orai has rejected the criminal revision under the order dated 13th September, 2019. It is against these two orders that the present petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India has been filed.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that both the courts below have committed manifest error in law determining the ownership of the land in dispute while passing the impugned orders. Both the courts below have also exercised their powers beyond the scope of provisions under Sections 145 and 145 (1) Cr.P.C. and have wrongly rejected the claim of the petitioner. It is an admitted case that the petitioner was in possession over the plot since 2016 but the courts below have wrongly determined the possession of the respondent nos. 2 and 3. Under the orders impugned the findings recorded therein are perverse and wrongly determined that there is the apprehension among the parties regarding the land in dispute. The petitioner is in possession over the plot in dispute and she cannot be evicted by the private respondents beyond the procedure known to law. It is further submitted that the respondent nos. 2 and 3 have no legal right or title to claim that they are the owners of the plot in dispute. It is further submitted that both the courts below only on the basis of apprehension has recorded a finding that respondent no.3 has title and is in rightful possession over the plot in question and the petitioner is not in possession over the same. Learned counsel for the petitioner, therefore, submits that both the impugned orders are to be set aside.

7. I have considered the submissions of the learned counsel for the applicant and the learned A.G.A. for the State and have gone through the records of the present application as well as the impugned orders.

8. Before adverting on the merits of the case set up by the parties, it would be worthwhile to reproduce Sections 145 Cr.P.C., which is quoted herein below:

"145. Procedure where dispute concerning land or water is likely to cause breach of peace.

(1) Whenever an Executive Magistrate is satisfied from a report of a police officer or upon other information that a dispute likely to cause a breach of the peace exists concerning any land or water or the boundaries thereof, within his local jurisdiction, he shall make an order in writing, stating the grounds of his being so satisfied, and requiring the parties concerned in such dispute to attend his Court in person or by pleader, on a specified date and time, and to put in written statements of their respective claims as respects the fact of actual possession of the subject of dispute.

(2) For the purposes of this section, the expression" land or water" includes buildings, markets, fisheries, crops or other produce of land, and the rents or profits of any such property.

(3) A copy of the order shall be served in the manner provided by this Code for the service of a summons upon such person or persons as the Magistrate may direct, and at least one copy shall be published by being affixed to some conspicuous place at or near the subject of dispute,

(4) The Magistrate shall then, without, reference to the merits or the claims of any of the parties to a right to possess the subject of dispute, peruse the statements so put in, hear the parties, receive all such evidence as may be produced by them, take such further evidence, if any, as he thinks necessary, and, if possible, decide whether any and which of the parties was, at the date of the order made by him under sub- section (1), in possession of the subject of dispute: Provided that if it appears to the Magistrate that any party has been forcibly and wrongfully dispossessed within two months next before the date on which the report of a police officer or other information was received by the Magistrate, or after that date and before the date of his order under sub- section (1), he may treat the party so dispossessed as if that party had been in possession on the date of his order under sub- section (1).

(5) Nothing in this section' shall preclude any party so required to attend, or any other person interested, from showing that no such dispute as aforesaid exists or has existed; and in such case the Magistrate shall cancel his said order, and all further proceedings thereon shall be stayed, but, subject to such cancellation, the order of the Magistrate under subsection (1) shall be final.

(6) (a) If the Magistrate decides that one of the parties was, or should under the proviso to sub- section (4) be treated as being, in such possession of the said subject, he shall issue an order declaring such party to be entitled to possession thereof until evicted therefrom in due course of law, and forbidding all disturbance of such possession until such eviction; and when he proceeds under the proviso to sub- section (4), may restore to possession the party forcibly and wrongfully dispossessed.

(b) The order made under this sub- section shall be served and published in the manner laid down in sub- section (3).

(7) When any party to any such proceeding dies, the Magistrate may cause the legal representative of the deceased party to be made a party to the proceeding and shall thereupon continue the inquiry, and if any question arises as to who the legal representative of a deceased party for the purposes of such proceeding is, all persons claiming to be representatives of the deceased party shall be made parties thereto.

(8) If the Magistrate is of opinion that any crop or other produce of the property, the subject of dispute in a proceeding under this section pending before him, is subject to speedy and natural decay, he may make an order for the proper custody or sale of. such property, and, upon the completion of the inquiry, shall make such order for the disposal of such property, or the sale-proceeds thereof, as he thinks fit.

(9) The Magistrate may, if he thinks fit, at any stage of the proceedings under this section, on the application of either party, issue a summons to any witness directing him to attend or to produce any document or thing.

(10) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to be in derogation of the powers of the Magistrate to proceed under section 107."

9. Section 145 (1), Criminal Procedure Code, provides that the Magistrate having jurisdiction shall make an order in writing that he is satisfied either from a police report or other information that a dispute likely to cause a breach of the peace exists and state the grounds of his satisfaction before requiring the parties concerned in such dispute to attend his Court and put in written statements. This provision of making the order in writing and stating the grounds of his satisfaction appears to be mandatory. The words "shall make an order in writing stating the grounds of his being so satisfied" would clearly indicate that the order must be in writing and the grounds for satisfaction also must be stated. Unless the grounds are stated in the order itself, it will be difficult to test the correctness or otherwise of the order passed by the Magistrate. So, the preliminary order should state clearly the reasons and grounds on which the satisfaction is based and that the Magistrate had applied his mind in passing the preliminary order.

10. On a careful reading of section 145 as a whole, particularly sub-section (1) it can be seen that every foundation of an action under the sub-section is the satisfaction of the Magistrate that a dispute likely to cause a breach of the peace existed on the date of the preliminary order, concerning the possession of any land or water or boundaries thereof situated within his or her local jurisdiction. It is only on being satisfied that there is a real dispute existing concerning the possession of immovable property and that such dispute is likely to cause the breach of peace that the Magistrate gets jurisdiction to initiate proceedings and pass a preliminary order under section 145 of the Code. This satisfaction he or she may get from a report of the police officer or upon other information. The Magistrate must be satisfied of the necessity to take action under section 145 of the Code, before a. preliminary order is passed and it cannot be said that in every case such satisfaction would automatically follow from a report of the police officer or upon other information. The provision in the Sub-section that the Magistrate shall make an order in writing, slating the grounds of his satisfaction is mandatory. If the grounds are not stated in the order, it will be difficult to test the correctness and validity of the order.

11. From the perusal of the aforesaid provisions and the orders impugned, this Court finds that the City Magistrate on the basis of presumption has rejected the claim of the applicant that she is in possession over the plot in dispute and has accepted the objections filed by respondent nos. 2 and 3. Neither the City Magistrate has called for any police report regarding spot inspection of the plot in dispute nor has obtained other information as is required under the provisions of Section 145 Cr.P.C.

12. For the reasons aforesaid, this Court is of the view that the learned Magistrate had not applied his mind while passing the order dated 1st April, 2019 in that the learned Magistrate has not considered the claim of the applicant as required by sub-sections (1) and (4) of Section 145. The same mistake has also been committed by the revisional court in its order dated 13th September, 2019.

13. In view of the aforesaid, the impugned orders dated 1st April, 2019 and 13th September, 2019 cannot be legally sustained and are hereby quashed. The matter is remanded to the City Magistrate concerned to pass reasoned and speaking order afresh in the proceeding initiated under Section 145 (1) Cr.P.C. after affording opportunity of hearing to all the parties concerned in accordance with law.

14. The present application is allowed subject to the observations made above.

Matter Under Article 227 dismissed. (E-5)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. This Application, under Article 227 of the Constitution of India, has been filed by the applicant, Pradeep, with a prayer for setting aside impugned summoning order, dated 29.6.2018, passed by the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Ist, Saharanpur, as well as order of revisional court, dated 19.10.2019, passed by the learned Sessions Judge, Saharapur, in Criminal Revision No. 183 of 2018, Pradeep vs. State of U.P. and others. Learned counsel for applicant argued that both of the courts below, i.e., Trial court and the Revisional court, have failed to appreciate facts and law placed before them. There was inconsistency in the statements, recorded, under Sections 200 and 202 of Cr.P.C. Applicant is a witness in a murder case, wherein, complainant's husband is an accused. Prior to it alleged occurrence, a criminal case, under Section 323, 504 and 506 of I.P.C., was also got registered upon a report of the applicant and owing to this previous enmity, this false implication was made and concocted case was got lodged, but, both of the courts below failed to appreciate it. Hence, this Application, invoking jurisdiction of this court of general superintendence over subordinate courts, conferred by Article 227 of the Constitution of India, has been filed, with above prayer.

2. Learned AGA, representing State of U.P., has vehemently opposed this Application.

3. Heard learned counsel for both sides and gone through the record.

4. From very perusal of the complaint, it is apparent that it was filed by Smt. Poonam with this contention that on 6.12.2016, at about 5.00 PM, while she was all alone at her home and her husband, Dhan Prakash, was away at Saharanpur with regard to his labour job, Pradeep, applicant, herein, did criminal trespass in her house. He outraged her modesty by doing obscene act by touching her private parts. When she protested, he assaulted her by hands and feet and also beaten her by leg shots and by the Batt of Tamancha (country made pistol). Her cloths were torn. She sustained injury. Upon rescue call, Keshu, resident of same village and mother of complainant, Smt. Pramod Devi, who came there to meet her, rushed there and saved her with great difficulty. Subsequently, Ram Kumar, Lalit, Sudhir and Hari Ram, family members of accused/Opposite party, also came at the home of the complainant. They assaulted her and extended threat of dire consequences. She was medically examined on 7.12.2016, but her report was not got lodged. Magistrate took cognizance and registered it as a complaint case, wherein, complainant was examined, under Section 200 of Cr.P.C. and her three witnesses, Smt. Pramod, Smt. Gandadai and Smt. Kuntlesh, under Section 202 of Cr.P.C. Thenafter, summoning of Pradeep, applicant herein, was ordered by the Magistrate, for offences, punishable, under Sections 323, 452 and 506 of IPC. Against this summoning order, a revision, being Criminal Revision No. 183 of 2018, was filed, which was dismissed.

5. Statements, recorded, under enquiry made by the Magistrate, are fully intact and alleged contentions of the complaint are very well in it.

6. At the stage of passing of summoning order, under Section 204 of Cr.P.C., Magistrate is not required to make meticulous analysis of factual evidence, rather, existence of a prima facie case is to be seen by application of judicial mind and in present case, it was very well there. Accordingly, summoning order was passed in accordance with provisions of law.

7. Revisional court was to see as to whether the Magistrate failed to appreciate facts and, thereby exceeded or mis-exercised his jurisdiction or if there is any apparent error on the face of record and in present case, in the impugned order, there was no such situation because the order was passed on the basis of evidence, collected by the Magistrate, in its enquiry and as such revision was rightly dismissed in accordance with provisions of law.

8. Hence, in view of what has been discussed above, there was no failure by either of the courts below, warranting interference by this Court, in exercise of power of general superintendence over subordinate courts, conferred upon it, under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

9. Accordingly, this Application merits its dismissal and it stands dismissed as such.

Hence this application has abated qua Applicant-2 and is now surviving only in respect of Applicant-1.

3. Facts, in brief, giving rise to this application are that a First Information Report (hereinafter referred to as "FIR") being Case Crime No. 226 of 1992 under Section 147, 323, 426 IPC was filed in Police Station Lanka, Sadar, Varanasi, on 17.08.1992 by one Atul Mishra son of Sri Laxmi Narayan Mishra against applicants alleging that in the morning on 17.08.1992, when L.L.B. First Year examination was going on in Multipurpose Hall of Kashi Hindu University (Law Faculty), at around 10.15 am some security personnel attempted to take out the students from examination hall. Thereupon Informant protested and said that security personnel should go out of examination hall and allow students to complete examination. Thereupon Chief Security Officer, Onkar Singh, i.e., Applicant-1 assaulted Informant. Accompanying Security Officer, P.N. Pathak, i.e., Applicant-2 helped him in assaulting Informant. Thereafter on the instructions of Applicant-1, about ten number of security personnel came, took out Informant from examination hall and beat him with lathi and boots. Applicant-1, Onkar Singh also came out from examination hall and beat Informant. In the meantime some friends of Informant reached there and protested against assault committed by accused person and other Security Officers but Security Officers did not stop and dispel friends of Informant also. In this process clothes of one student, Rajesh Rai got torn. Informant is President of National Students Union of University and had raised voice against accused applicant, Onkar Singh, protesting against his misbehaviour with students.

4. Alleging that police, in collusion with accused, has not taken any further action in the above FIR, Informant filed a complaint dated 20.10.1992 registered as Case No. 106 of 1992 in the Court of Third Judicial Magistrate, Varanasi against applicants as also ten other security personnel, whose names were not known to Informant but he could recognize them. In the said complaint names of Rajesh Rai, Rajendra Prasad, Pravin Kumar Singh, Head Munshi Thana Lanka, Dr. S.K. Singh and Radiologist-Shiv Prasad Gupt Hospital, were mentioned as witnesses. A medical report was also made part of complaint. The complaint was registered on 20.10.1992 itself and for recording statement under Section 200 Cr.P.C. 29.10.1992 was fixed. Subsequently, Magistrate recorded statement under Section 200 Cr.P.C. and statement of witnesses i.e. PW-1, Pravin Kumar was recorded under Section 202 Cr.P.C. on 05.11.1992. No further witness was produced.

5. When matter was pending, police submitted a final report dated 31.12.1992 in Case Crime N. 226 of 1992 under Section 147, 323, 426 IPC.

6. Proceeding further on the complaint of Sri Atul Mishra, concerned Magistrate on 06.01.1993 passed order summoning both accused-applicants under Section 323, 325 and 426 IPC. Magistrate observed that in the light of statement of Complainant under Section 200 Cr.P.C. and witness, Pravin Kumar (PW-1), under Section 202 Cr.P.C., and documentary evidence comprising of medical report and X-ray as also the copy of FIR, prima facie case against accused applicants under Sections 323, 325, 426 IPC is made out.

7. Applicants filed an application dated 10.02.1993 under Section 210(2) Cr.P.C. for stay of proceedings in complaint case on the ground that police investigation was already in process pursuant to FIR lodged by Sri Atul Mishra on 17.08.1992. Thereafter on 20.02.1993 Applicant-1, Onkar Singh filed an application for discharge and to close proceedings in view of Section 16-D of Banaras Hindu University Act, 1915 (hereinafter referred to as "BHU Act, 1915").

8. Application dated 10.02.1993 filed under Section 210(2) Cr.P.C. was rejected on the ground that it was infructuous since police has submitted final report dated 31.12.1992. Another application dated 29.01.1997 was filed by applicants stating that for the last four years nothing has happened in complaint case, therefore, applicants should be discharged. This application dated 20.01.1997 was rejected by Special Chief Judicial Magistrate, Varanasi vide order dated 26.02.1998. Further, the application filed by Applicant-1, Onkar Singh dated 20.02.1993 for discharge was considered on 02.07.1998 and rejected by Special Chief Judicial Magistrate, Varanasi holding that proceedings are not barred by Section 16-D of BHU Act, 1915.

9. It is contended by Sri V.K. Upadhyay, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Vikram D. Chauhanthat, Advocate pearing for applicants that Applicant-1, Onkar Singh was Chief Proctor and Applicant-2 is a security personnel and both were discharging duties in above capacities under the provisions of BHU Act, 1915 and Statutes, Ordinances and Regulations framed thereunder, therefore, prosecution and legal proceedings were barred by Section 16-D of BHU Act, 1915. Chief Proctor is an "Officer of University" as per Section 6 of BHU Act, 1915. Ordinance 9 framed under Section 18 of BHU Act, 1915 made Chief Proctor responsible for maintenance of discipline in students. Further, injuries of Informant as per report were simple and may have been inflicted upon during course of discharge of official duty by applicants during examination, therefore, Section 16-D is attracted. It is also said that proceedings were only counter blast to embarrass and teach a lesson to Applicant-1, Onkar Singh and hence malicious. Referring to averments contained in rejoinder affidavit it is argued that Applicant-1, Onkar Singh is now 77 years of age and in discharge of his duties in University he has received several appreciations and commendations from time to time which show that he had been performing his duties efficiently. Due to the nature of duties of Chief Proctor, some students particularly office bearers of Students Union may have felt annoyed and criminal proceedings initiated against Applicant-1, Onkar Singh in the case in hand in fact is result of one of such annoyed student. In rejoinder affidavit Applicant-1, Onkar Singh has narrated the incident in his own way and placed certain documents on record but in my view the same being not part of record of Court below when orders impugned in this application were passed, cannot be looked into by this Court at this stage. This Court has to examine, whether orders passed by Court below on the material before it are sustainable or not and whether it is a case fit for intervention of this Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C.

10. Learned A.G.A. for State and Sri Dinesh Pathak, Advocate for Informant urged that the Court has passed order on the basis of evidence adduced by Informant hence no interference would be justified.

11. In the present case, FIR was lodged on the same day when incident said to have taken place. Complainant received injuries which are prima facie supported by medical reports and also admitted in para 26 of affidavit where it has said that injuries may have been sustained by complainant during official discharge of duties by Applicant-1, Onkar Singh and not for any other reason. Complainant has also supported allegations contained in complaint in his statement recorded under Section 200 Cr.P.C. and corroborated by witness PW-1, Pravin Kumar Singh. He was one of the examinee present in the examination hall and an eye witness of the incident. Therefore, it cannot be said that complaint has been lodged as an afterthought or malicious.

12. Still when a complaint is made, before summoning accused, Court has to examine whether offence(s) under the Sections in which complaint has been filed are made out or not.

13. In the present case Applicant-1, Onkar Singh has been summoned under Sections 147, 323, 325, 426 IPC. I proceed to examine, whether offence under the aforesaid Sections, even if the allegations made in complaint and statement of complainant and witness PW-1 on the face value are taken to be true, is not made out or not.

14. Section 323 IPC provides for punishment for voluntarily causing hurt and reads as under:

"323. Punishment for voluntarily causing hurt.--Whoever, except in the case provided for by section 334, voluntarily causes hurt, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to one year, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both."

15. The term 'Hurt' has also been defined under Section 319 IPC and reads as under:

"319. Hurt.--Whoever causes bodily pain, disease or infirmity to any person is said to cause hurt."

16. Term "grievous hurt" has been defined under Section 320 IPC and reads as under:

*"320. Grievous hurt.--The following kinds of hurt only are designated as "grievous":--

First -- Emasculation.

*Secondly --Permanent privation of the sight of either eye.

*Thirdly -- Permanent privation of the hearing of either ear,

*Fourthly --Privation of any member or joint.

*Fifthly -- Destruction or permanent impairing of the powers of any member or joint.

*Sixthly -- Permanent disfiguration of the head or face.

*Seventhly --Fracture or dislocation of a bone or tooth.

*Eighthly --Any hurt which endangers life or which causes the sufferer to be during the space of twenty days in severe bodily pain, or unable to follow his ordinary pursuits."

17. Terms "voluntarily causing hurt" and "voluntarily causing grievous hurt" have been defined under Sections 321 and 322 IPC and read as under:

"321. Voluntarily causing hurt.--Whoever does any act with the intention of thereby causing hurt to any person, or with the knowledge that he is likely thereby to cause hurt to any person, and does thereby cause hurt to any person, is said "voluntarily to cause hurt".

322. Voluntarily causing grievous hurt.--Whoever voluntarily causes hurt, if the hurt which he intends to cause or knows himself to be likely to cause is grievous hurt, and if the hurt which he causes is grievous hurt, is said "voluntarily to cause grievous hurt."*

Explanation.--A person is not said voluntarily to cause grievous hurt except when he both causes grievous hurt and intends or knows himself to be likely to cause grievous hurt. But he is said voluntarily to cause grievous hurt, if intending or knowing himself to be likely to cause grievous hurt of one kind, he actually causes grievous hurt of another kind."

18. The entire complaint made allegations as under:

"The complainant is a first year student of the law faculty of Kashi Hindu Vishwavidyalaya (BHU) and president of the National Students' Organisation, BHU, under whose leadership demonstrations etc. against the accused 1 and others were held demanding action against them; because of which the accused 1 sustained ill feeling against the complainant and had issued threats of destroying the latter's life. The complainant was appearing at the examination being held in the multi-purpose hall of the university from 8:00 am on 17.08.1992. On the aforesaid place, date and time, the security personnel caught hold of a student and proceeded to take him out of the hall, which act was opposed by the complainant saying, "All of you shall leave the examination hall and let the student talk to the professors who are conducting the examination." On my saying only this much, the chief security officer caught hold of me by grabbing my shirt and started beating me, and another security officer, to whom I know by his title 'Pathak Ji', also thrashed me. On being called by Omkar Nath Singh, around 10 security personnel standing there carried the complainant out of the hall and started beating him with sticks and staves. Shri Omkar Nath Singh assaulted the complainant with a stick. On being assaulted by the accused persons, the complainant sustained injuries. Meanwhile, other students reached there and started protesting this act of the accused persons, whereupon accused Omkar Nath Singh and his accomplices shoved them as well, resulting in the shirt of a student Rakesh Rai getting torn and his falling down. The occurrence was witnessed by witnesses and they mediated into it. Had the witnesses not mediated into the occurrence, the accused persons would have killed the complainant. The complainant got his injuries examined at the Vivekanand Smarak Government Hospital, Bhelupur, lodged a complaint-report at the Lanka Police Station and got X-ray conducted at the Shivprasad Gupta Hospital. The police is colluding with the accused persons; that is the reason no action has been taken against them as yet, being aggrieved whereby I am filing a case in Court." (English translation by Court)

19. As per own case of complainant examination was going on in the multipurpose hall of University when security personnel came, caught a student and got him outside the examination hall. Student was someone else not the complainant. Complainant however protested of such act of security personnel and said that they should go outside the examination hall and allow examinee, who was being taken away, to talk with Professors. Thereupon Applicant-1, Onkar Singh, i.e., Chief Proctor, who was present thereat caught Kurta of complainant and started beating him. Simultaneously another Security Officer, P.N. Pathak (Applicant-2) also started beating him. Thereafter on the call of Applicant-1, Onkar Singh, about 10 security personnel present in the hall, caught complainant, brought him outside the hall and beat complainant with Lathi. Due to beating by accused persons complainant sustained injuries. Some other students present thereat sought to protect but Applicant-1, Onkar Singh and his companions repelled them and in this process clothes of one student, Rajesh Rai got torn and he fell down.

20. On his own, Complainant got his injuries examined in Vivekanand Memorial Rajkiya Hospital, Bhelupur and got X-ray conducted in Shiv Prasad Gupt Hospital. Injury report by Medical Officer of aforesaid Government Hospital reads as under:

*(8) Complaint of pain in hand.

*All the injuries are fresh. According to doctor all the injuries were simple and might be caused by blunt objects and frictions."

21. X-ray report shows a crack fracture. The X-ray report reads as under:

"Crack fracture. Distal end of middle. Phalynx of fourth finger left hand with OM changes."*

22. Complainant's statement recorded by Magistrate under Section 200 Cr.P.C. and certified copy has been placed before this Court in which he has made statement about the act of Applicant-1, Onkar Singh as under:

"दिनांक 19.8.92 को मल्टीपरपज हाल में जहाँ परीक्षण चल रही थी करीब सवा दस बजे

"On 19.08.1992 at around 10:15 am, Shri Pathak, Security Officer, along with 10 other security guards, came into a multipurpose hall where examination was being conducted, and started taking one of the students out of the hall; protest to which was made by me and I asked them to talk with teachers. On this, the accused Onkar Nath Singh, out of old enmity, began to catch hold of my Kurta, drag and beat me. Only on his instance, Shri Pathak instigated 10 security guards and they struck me with lathis. The accused Onkar Nath Singh thrashed me with sticks and lathis. I sustained multiple injuries being beaten by them. Rajesh Rai, Rajendra Prasad and Praveen Kumar witnessed the incident and intervened in the matter. Onkar Nath Singh and his accomplices tore Rajesh Rai's shirt as well."

23. PW-1 in his statement has also said as under:

''मेरी परीक्षा ला की 19.8.92 ई0 8 बजे 11 बजे तक थी। इस दिन बी0एच0यू0 मल्टी परपज हाल में परीक्षा के दौरान करीब सबा दस बजे ओंकार नाथ सिंह, (मुख्य सुरक्षा अधिकारी) पाठक जी, सुरक्षा अधिकारी और दस अन्य सुरक्षा कर्मी जिन्हें मैं देखकर पहचान सकता हूँ एक परीक्षार्थी को पकड़कर बाहर ले जाने लगे जिस पर अतुल मिश्रा ने कहा कि आप लोग अध्यापकगण से बात पर ओंकार नाथ सिंह ने अतुल मिश्रा का कुर्ता पकड़ कर खीचना शुरू किये जिससे उनका कुर्ता फट गया ओंकार नाथ सिंह पाठक जी, डन्डे लात मुक्के से मारने लगे और ओंकार सिंह के ललकारने पर सुरक्षाकर्मी भी उनके मारने से अतुल मिश्रा को चोट लगी।''

"My law examination was scheduled for 19.08.1992 from 8 to 11 o'clock. On that day at around 10:15 am, Onkar Nath Singh (Chief Security Officer), Pathak Ji, Security Officer and 10 other security guards, whom I can identify on seeing, started taking one of the students out of the BHU multipurpose hall during examination. On this Atul Mishra asked them to talk with teachers. On this, Onkar Nath Singh started dragging Atul Mishra by grabbing his Kurta as a result of which his Kurta got torn. Onkar Nath Singh and Pathak Ji started beating with sticks and giving kicks and fist blows. Atul Sharma sustained injuries being beaten by security guards on the instance of Onkar Singh."

24. Aforesaid statement virtually shows that Applicant-1, Onkar Singh, had not entered examination hall to do anything with complainant. He is/was admittedly an "Officer of University" responsible for maintaining discipline among the students. He alongwith other security personnel entered examination hall at 10.15 am on 17.08.1992 to catch a student (other than complainant). While taking the said student away from examination hall, they were intercepted by complainant who was a Student Union Leader. He interrupted in their discharge of official function/duties. It is his own case that he interrupted and said that security personnel as well as Chief Proctor, Applicant-1, should go outside examination hall and student who was being taken away by them should be left to have a talk with Invigilating Professor. Obviously and apparently, Applicant-1 and other security personnel were in the process of discharge of their official duties and complainant has no business to interrupt such discharge of official duties of Applicant-1. The entry in examination hall of Applicant-1 and his companions has nothing to do with complainant or alleged bias, malice or enmity with complainant. It is uncalled for intervention of complainant which resulted in the incident causing injuries to him. With regard to beating, statement of complainant in complaint is different than what he has said in oral deposition. In the complaint he said that when he interrupted in the function of Applicant-1, Onkar Singh and other security personnel, Applicant-1, Onkar Singh caught his Kurta and started beating. Thereafter on the call of Applicant-1, Onkar Singh other ten security personnel present in examination hall caught complainant and brought him outside the hall and then beat him with Lathi and Danda. Applicant-1, Onkar Singh also beat him with Danda. However, in the statement under Section 200 Cr.P.C. he has said that when he protested, Applicant-1, Onkar Singh caught complainant's Kurta and started beating him. He has not said anywhere that he was brought outside of examination hall and thereafter he was beaten by Applicant-1 and security personnel beat him with Lathi and Danda, which he has stated in complaint. Further, in FIR which he has lodged, he has not said anywhere that Applicant-1, Onkar Singh, beat him with Lathi or Danda but has said that inside the hall applicants beat him and thereafter he was brought outside the examination hall by about 10 security personnel and then he was beaten by them with Lathi and when he fell down security personnel beat him with boots. By then Applicant-1 also came outside the examination hall and started beating complainant. The allegation of beating by Applicant-1, Onkar Singh by Danda or boot or legs is an improvement in oral deposition under Section 200 Cr.P.C. though it is not the allegation in complaint itself.

25. The order passed by Magistrate shows that he did not found any truth in the complaint made against alleged ten security personnel and that was rejected. Reading entire complaint and statement it cannot be said that alleged injuries were caused by Applicant-1, Onkar Singh when complainant himself said that he was beaten by Lathi, Danda and boots by ten security personnel but against them complaint has been rejected. Moreover, in the complaint, complainant gave names of witnesses which included Doctor and Radiologist, who allegedly examined complainant in respect of his injuries but they had not been produced for deposition under Section 202 Cr.P.C. and, therefore, alleged medical reports remain unproved.

26. The above facts clearly show that neither there is any allegation nor any evidence that applicant and, in particular, applicant-1 caused any hurt or grievous hurt to Informant/complainant as defined in Sections 321 and 322 IPC for the reason that in order to constitute "voluntarily causing hurt" or "voluntarily causing grievous hurt", the accused must intend to cause or known himself to be likely to cause hurt or grievous hurt. In order to attract Section 322 IPC i.e. "voluntarily causing grievous hurt" explanation is relevant that in order to cause grievous hurt, accused must act with intention and knowledge. Here the applicants and other security personnel entered the examination hall in respect to another student. The complainant intervened in their official duties and created a situation in which there was a scuffle or altercation and since he admits that he protested against all the applicants and other security personnel in taking away the students from examination hall the entire incident occurred. It shows that incident in question, as per own case of complainant, was a result of momentary passion arose on the spot due to uncalled and unwarranted interference by complainant since applicants and other security personnel were discharging their official duties and that too in respect to another student and not complainant. Complainant interfered in their action, protested and with the heat of moment incident took place. Therefore, the intention of "causing hurt or grievous hurt" is clearly lacking and that brings in inapplicability of offences under Sections 321 and 322 IPC punishable under Sections 323, 325 IPC respectively which are apparently not attracted in the case in hand. Looking into entire facts as discussed above, it cannot be said that Applicant-1, Onkar Singh initially caused any hurt or grievous hurt voluntarily with an intention to cause hurt or grievous hurt to complainant and, therefore, offences under Sections 323, 325 IPC are not made out.

27. So far as offence under Section 426 IPC is concerned, it is with regard to a "mischief". Section 426 IPC reads as under:

"426. Punishment for mischief.--Whoever commits mischief shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine, or with both."

28. "Mischief" is defined under Section 425 IPC and reads as under:

"425. Mischief.--Whoever with intent to cause, or knowing that he is likely to cause, wrongful loss or damage to the public or to any person, causes the destruction of any property, or any such change in any property or in the situation thereof as destroys or diminishes its value or utility, or affects it injuriously, commits "mischief".

Explanation 1.--It is not essential to the offence of mischief that the offender should intend to cause loss or damage to the owner of the property injured or destroyed. It is sufficient if he intends to cause, or knows that he is likely to cause, wrongful loss or damage to any person by injuring any property, whether it belongs to that person or not.

*Explanation 2.--*Mischief may be committed by an act affecting property belonging to the person who commits the act, or to that person and others jointly."

29. Having gone through the entire complaint and statement of complainant recorded under Section 200 and PW-1 under Section 202 Cr.P.C. I could not find as to how Section 426 IPC is attracted in the case in hand. When questioned, Sri Dinesh Pathak, Advocate appearing for complainant, could not explain as to how Section 426 IPC is attracted. Thus it cannot be said that any offence under Section 426 IPC is made out.

30. Now the last Section under which Applicant-1, Onkar Singh has been summoned is Section 147 IPC, which reads as under:

"147. Punishment for rioting.--Whoever is guilty of rioting, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both."

31. "Rioting" is defined under Section 146 IPC and reads as under:

"146. Rioting.--Whenever force or violence is used by an unlawful assembly, or by any member thereof, in prosecution of the common object of such assembly, every member of such assembly is guilty of the offence of rioting."

32. In order to bring in "rioting", as defined under Section 146 IPC, there must be first of all an unlawful assembly. Term "unlawful assembly" is defined under Section 141 IPC and reads as under:

"141. Unlawful assembly.--An assembly of five or more persons is designated an "unlawful assembly", if the common object of the persons composing that assembly is--

First -- To overawe by criminal force, or show of criminal force, the Central or any State Government or Parliament or the Legislature of any State, or any public servant in the exercise of the lawful power of such public servant; or

Second -- To resist the execution of any law, or of any legal process; or Third -- To commit any mischief or criminal trespass, or other offence; or

Fourth -- By means of criminal force, or show of criminal force, to any person, to take or obtain possession of any property, or to deprive any person of the enjoyment of a right of way, or of the use of water or other incorporeal right of which he is in possession or enjoyment, or to enforce any right or supposed right; or

Fifth -- By means of criminal force, or show of criminal force, to compel any person to do what he is not legally bound to do, or to omit to do what he is legally entitled to do.

Explanation.--An assembly which was not unlawful when it assembled, may subsequently become an unlawful assembly."

33. Learned counsel appearing for complainant could not explain as to how presence of Applicant-1, Onkar Singh in his capacity as Chief Proctor of University and responsible to maintain discipline among students, alongwith security personnel can be said to be an unlawful assembly under Section 141 IPC particularly when they had gone to nab another student appearing in examination. They had nothing to do with complainant. It is the complainant who interrupted them in official discharge of duties. In that process complainant when was resisted by security personnel etc. suffered some injuries.

34. In Roy Fernandes vs. State of Goa, 2012(3) SCC 221 Court has said that to see the circumstances in which the incident has taken place, the conduct of members of assembly including weapon of offence they carried or used on spot is necessary to be examined.

35. In the complaint as well as in the statement it has not been said anywhere that, Applicant-1, Onkar Singh and other security personnel when entered examination hall, caught and tried to take away another student from examination hall, they had any weapon with them including Lathi or Danda.

36. The complainant said, when he interrupted in discharge of duties by Applicant-1, Onkar Singh, he caught Kurta of complainant and started beating him. If by one hand Applicant-1 had caught Kurta of complainant he could not have beaten complainant by another hand if he was holding Danda in his second hand. The complaint nowhere shows that in examination hall Applicant-1, Onkar Singh, beat complainant with Danda. Similarly he has said that security personnel brought him outside the examination hall and started beating with Lathi and Danda, and when he fall down, also with their boots. This part of complaint has not been found correct. Therefore, complaint in respect of other ten security personnel has been rejected. With regard to beating by Danda, I have already discussed that statement of complainant is not consistent and trustworthy. Therefore, there was no "unlawful assembly" in terms of Section 141 IPC and that being so there could not have been any offence under Section 147 IPC. Court below has erred in law in summoning applicants under Section 147 IPC.

37. Prima facie this Court, therefore, is satisfied that no offence under Sections 147, 323, 325, 426 IPC is made out and that being so summoning of Applicant-1, Onkar Singh under aforesaid Sections was patently illegal. Court below has passed orders without application of mind and has clearly erred in law.

38. In the result, application is allowed. Orders dated 26.02.1998 and 02.07.1998 as well as further proceedings in Case No. 1277 of 1995, under Sections 147, 323, 325, 426 IPC are hereby quashed.

Criminal Application u/s 482 Cr.P.C rejected. (E-3)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Kumar Singh-I, J.)

(1) This Criminal Misc. Application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. has been moved with a prayer to quash the Impugned Summoning Order dated 02.04.2018 passed by the Learned Sessions Judge, Allahabad in Complaint Case No. 4 of 2018, Assistant Director Vs. Rajendra Singh & others along with all consequential proceedings of the said complaint case pending in the above Court and simultaneously prayer is also made to stay the proceedings of the case.

(2) The facts of the case as narrated in the affidavit filed in support of the application are that complaint had been filed by opposite party no. 2 on 27.03.2018 against the applicant & others under Section 45 (1) of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002 (hereinafter referred to as "PMLA, 2002"), in the court of learned Sessions Judge, Allahabad with a prayer that cognizance of offence of money laundering for violation of Section 3 of the said Act, may be taken against the accused persons and they may be punished under Section 4 of the said Act and also for issuing order for confiscation of the property attached under Section 5 of the Act (PMLA) and confirmed under Section 8 of the Act in terms of Section 8(5) of the Act. The said complaint was registered as Complaint Case No. 4 of 2018 (Assistant Director Vs. Rajendra Singh & others). It is further mentioned that Special Investigation Team (S.I.T.), U. P. had registered a Case Crime No. 7 of 2010 on 27.08.2010 in pursuance of the order dated 03.12.2010 passed by Lucknow Bench of this Court in Writ Petition No. 10503 of 2009 (Vishwanath Chaturvedi Vs. Union of India & others) against the 36 accused persons. The allegation made by S.I.T. was that during the period 2004-05 and 2005-06, the food grains for Public Distribution System (in short PDS) were diverted to black market, which caused a huge loss to the Government exchequer to the tune of Rs. 80.64 lakhs and corresponding wrongful gains to the accused persons. Subsequently the case was taken up by Central Bureau of Investigation by registering FIR No. RC0062010A0025 on 14.12.2010, and investigation was conducted, thereafter charge sheet was submitted on 01.05.2012 against the present accused/applicant along with two others namely, Ram Murat Yadav, the then godown incharge and Shiv Bux Singh (now deceased) under Sections 120B, 406, 409, 420, 467, 468, 471 I.P.C. and Section 13 (2) read with Section 13 (1) (d) of the Prevention of Corruption Act (in short P.C. Act) for the offence said to have been committed during the period from December 2004 to June 2006. The role assigned to the applicant is that initially late Shiv Bux Singh had issued 16 bearer cheques amounting to Rs. 71.84 lakhs from his own account No. SF-160 in Punjab National Bank, Nawabganj Branch, Gonda in favour of the applicant Rajendra Singh. Thereafter, the applicant collected the 16 bearer cheques by late Shiv Bux Singh and the same were received in cash as per the details given in the table mentioned in the affidavit. Thereafter the applicant started making banker's cheques/demand drafts in favour of different kotedars of Block Godown, Nawabganj, Gonda and submitted the same to Food Corporation of India, Gonda and lifted the PDS foodgrains and in connivance with Late Shiv Bux Singh and others, he sold the same into black market during the year 2004-06. He also used different bank accounts of Subhash Singh, Dinesh Kumar Yadav, Bhim Singh and Kamlawati for preparing the banker's cheques/demand drafts in bulk in the name of the different kotedars for lifting PDS foodgrains and subsequently by selling the same in black market in connivance with other co-accused for wrongful gains to themselves and causing wrongful loss to the Government exchequer. The offence is committed by the applicant under Sections 120B, 420, 467, 471 being scheduled offence as mentioned in Part - A of the schedule of PMLA, 2002. On the basis of C.B.I. Case No. RC0062010A0025, a case has also been registered under ECIR. No. ECIR/05/PMLA/VSZO/2011 on 28.02.2011 and the relevant documents which were called for from C.B.I. revealed the role of the accused in offence of Money Laundering. As regards the role of Rajendra Singh (present applicant), it is further mentioned that he was a kotedar attached with Blcok Godown, Nawabganj, Godna who in connivance with the late Shiv Bux Singh, Ram Murat Ydav and Uday Pratap Singh got prepared banker's cheques/demand drafts in favour of various kotedars and lifted the food grains from Food Corporation of India, Gonda and diverted the same into black market illegally for wrongful gain to himself and causing wrongful loss to the Government exchequer. He made expenditures towards purchase of five trucks and two plots situated at Parao, New Cold Storage Chauraha, Nawabganj, District Gonda and also constructed a Godown on the plots situated at Parao, which are not in conformity with his legal known sources of income and hence could be directly attributed to the wrongful gains acquired by him by diversion and selling the PDS foodgrains in black market. He projected the proceedings of crime as untainted in his statement recorded under Section 50 of PMLA and admitted that out of Rs. 3.63 crores (aproax.) received from late Shiv Bux Singh, he prepared banker's cheques/drafts in favour of different kotedars for an amount of Rs. 2.53 crores and 92 lakhs was returned by him to Late Shiv Bux Singh and rest of the amount, i.e., Rs. 18 lakhs was retained by him as commission and out of this money he used 4 lakhs to purchase a plot at Parao, during 2005 and the rest amount had been used by him for purchasing 5 trucks and paying the installments of those trucks. He also admitted that he had constructed a godown on the purchased plot during the year 2005-06 by taking loan amounting to Rs. 17 lakhs from one Atma Prakash Singh in piece-meal and the said godown was mortgaged as collateral security with the Bank of Baroda, Faizabad in lieu of the said loan. The said plot and the godown have been provisionally attached under Section 5 (1) of PMLA, 2002 by mentioning that these properties were procured from the proceeds of the crime which he committed in the form of illegal diversion and sale of PDS foodgrains in the black market. The Adjudicating Authority in its confirmation order dated 01.09.2017 has recorded that the accused has committed the Scheduled Offences and upheld the attachment of the properties of the accused. It is also mentioned that the C.B.I. has shown recovery of articles in the charge sheet that is 4 ATY cards, 5 Quota Cards, 3 Bank Cheques, 10 Counter Foils of demand draft, 8 Photocopy of the demand draft/banker's cheques, 74 Carbon copies of the TD slips, Pass-Book of Account No. 2982, 190 Sheets of daily demand draft and 119 Sheets of demand draft and on the basis of aforesaid material he has been made accused in the aforesaid scam, although this material does not indicate any commission of crime. It is further mentioned that the applicant/accused was not shopkeeper/kotedar at the relevant time i.e. the year 2004-05 to 2005-06, the period when he is alleged to have diverted foodgrains from the godown for black marketing. The only charge that is appearing against him is that he prepared number of banker's cheques from his account in the name of several kotedars for the purpose of lifting foodgrains and the said money was given by the co-accused Late Shiv Bux Singh by cheques. This allegation is wholly unreliable because no shopkeeper/kotedar is alleged to have raised any objection for a period of two years, moreover no card holder came forward with any compliant before any authority in this regard. The applicant being a private person could not be charge sheeted for the offence punishable under the provisions of P.C. Act. It is further mentioned that initially applicant's name did not appear in the FIR but he has been made accused during further investigation by C.B.I. He is alleged to have received illegal benefit of Rs. 30-35 lakhs (approx.) which is being alleged to be proceeds of crime (P.O.C.) which is alleged to have been revealed in his admission made in statement under Section 50 of PMLA, 2002 on 15.09.2016 and the statement of Late Shiv Bux Singh made on 20.09.2016. It is further mentioned that the applicant has preferred an appeal under Section 26 of PMLA of 2002 challenging the order of the Adjudicating Authority dated 01.09.2017 whereby his properties were attached along with an application for condonation of delay. Further it is mentioned that in the case filed by C.B.I. against him, he has got himself bailed out, however, his discharge application was rejected by C.B.I. Court vide order dated 25.01.2016, against which he has preferred a Criminal Revision No. 208 of 2016 before Lucknow Bench, which is still pending and stay order has been passed therein. Further it is mentioned that the learned trial Court has failed to appreciate the fact that applicant had borrowed Rs. 17 lakhs from one Mr. Atma Prakash Singh and thereafter he took loan from the Bank and the loan taken from Atma Prakash Singh was returned. Further it was also ignored by the Trial Court that whatever money was deposited in the account of the applicant, the same was given as demand draft to the said authority and that the applicant had never mis-utilized the said fund for personal use. It is also ignored that the attachment order passed by the Adjudicating Authority has been appealed against which is pending before the Appellate Court at New Delhi and, therefore, the complainant ought to have waited.

(3) Further it is mentioned that it was evident that the offences alleged to have committed by the applicant, belong to the period prior to 01.07.2005, when admittedly PMLA, 2002 was not in force. Even after the enforcement of the said Act on 01.07.2005, the offences under I.P.C. alleged to have been committed by him were included in the scheduled offence with effect from 01.06.2009 in as much as Scheduled Offences mentioned in Paragraph-1, (offences under the Indian Penal Code) given in Part A, have come into force with effect from 01.06.2009, as such when the offences alleged to have been committed by him fall during the period of year 2004 to 2006, the Scheduled Offences covered under I.P.C. which came into effect, w.e.f., 01.06.2009, could not have been treated to have committed by him. The PMLA is a penal statute, therefore, it can have no retrospective or retroactive operation, as the same would be in teeth of the provision made in Article 20 (1) of Constitution of India. No person can be inflicted penalty greater than what could have been inflicted under the law at the time when the offence was committed, is settled position of law. Thus, in above conspectus the impugned order is absolutely against the provisions of law which needs to be quashed.

(4) Learned counsel for the applicant has vehemently argued on the point that in view of the proceedings of the C.B.I. Court having been stayed by this Court and the order dated 1.9.2017 attaching the property, passed by the Adjudicating Authority having been challenged in appeal which is pending before the Appellate Authority, and also in the face of fact that on the date when the offence is alleged to have been committed by the applicant, the said offences were not part of the schedule appended to the PMLA, 2002 hence could not have been treated punishable under PMLA, 2002, the applicant could not have been prosecuted under the PMLA of 2002 and, therefore, the impugned order deserves to be quashed.

(5) Learned counsel for the applicant has relied upon the judgment and order dated 13/07/2017 passed by the High Court of Judicature at Madras in Cri. O.P. Nos.10497 and 10500 of 2017, Shri Ajay Kumar Gupta and 3 Others vs Adjudicating Authority (PMLA) and 2 Others, in which in the first petition prayer was made to call for the records in Provisional Attachment Order No. 09/2017 dated 07/04/2017 in ECIR/CEZO/08/2015, Chennai Zone passed by the second respondent and quash the same, while in the other petition prayer was made to call for records in Original Complaint O.C. No. 855 of 2017 filed by the second respondent before the Hon'ble Chairperson Adjudicating Authority, the first respondent under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002, and quash the same.

(A) The facts of the above case were that the first petitioner was working as Asstt. Commissioner of Customs and Central Excise, Chennai, who resigned from service w.e.f. 14/4/2014. While he was working as an appraiser in Customs House, Chennai, Deputy Superintendent of Police, CBI had filed an F.I.R. No. RCMA 1/2005 A/0031 on 29/06/2005 for alleged possession of assets and pecuniary resources in the name of first petitioner and his family members for alleged commission of offences under sections 13 (2) read with 13 (1) (e) of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988. The final report was submitted under sections 173 (2) Cr. P.C. on 13/01/2009 by third respondent before the Principal Special Judge for CBI cases, Chennai, in C.C. No. 18 of 2009 for offences punishable under sections 13 (2) read with sections 13 (1) (e) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 against first petitioner and under sections 109 of IPC read with 13 (2) read with 13 (1) (e) of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 against 2nd petitioner. Check period was shown as from 01/05/1997 to 30/06/2005. The 3rd and 4th petitioners were not arrayed as accused in the above C.C. No. 18 of 2009. The trial was under progress in the court of 14th Additional Special Judge, CBI cases and presently investigating officer, PW 74 was being cross-examined by the defence. In the meantime, after 6 years of the aforesaid alleged offence of Prevention of Corruption Act, which is a scheduled office under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, the 2nd respondent registered an Enforcement Case Information Report and also sent summons to petitioners 1 and 2.

(B) The contention made before the court by the petitioners was that as per charge sheet the offences were committed between 01/05/1997 to 30/06/2005 and during this period Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002 did not come in force as the same was made enforceable w.e.f. 01/04/2005.

(C) It was observed by the High Court of Madras that at the time of the alleged commission of offences by the 1st and 2nd petitioners i.e. prior to 01/07/2005, the Prevention of Money Laundering Act was not in force. Even after 01/07/2005, the offences were not included in the scheduled offences till 01/06/2009. The charge sheet is dated 13/01/2009, even on that date, Prevention of Corruption Act was not included in the scheduled list of offences. Therefore, it was held that if retrospective effect is given to any statute of penal nature, that will directly be in conflict with fundamental rights of the citizen enshrined in Article 20 (1) of the Constitution of India. It was further held that admittedly, the 2nd respondent filed the case only based on the charge- sheet of the CBI, which had not conducted an enquiry on its own. In fact, when all original documents were in custody of CBI court, there could not be any reason to believe that the properties would be dealt with in any other manner; therefore the attachment officer had passed an order without any reason to believe that proceeds of crime were likely to be transferred or disposed. In the absence of any sufficient reason, arriving on such a conclusion by merely reproducing words "reason to believe", it could not be stated that order has been passed after considering the entire gamut of material and therefore the attachment was held to be not maintainable.

(D) It was further held that the charge sheet was filed under Section 13 of the Prevention of Corruption Act on 13/01/2009, while the said Section was included in the list of scheduled offences under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act on 01/06/2009, therefore subsequent amendment could not be given retrospective effect. It was also mentioned in this judgment that it was settled principle of law that the provisions of law cannot be retrospectively applied, as Article 20 (1) of the Constitution bars the ex post facto penal laws and no person can be prosecuted for any alleged offence which occurred earlier, by applying the provisions of law which have come in force after the alleged offence.

A close scrutiny of the above case would reveal that in this case the matter involved commission of an offence under Section 13 of the Prevention of Corruption Act which came to be added in the scheduled offences of Prevention of Money Laundering Act only on 01/06/2009, while the offence related to the period between 01/05/1997 to 30/06/2005, therefore the facts of this case are distinguishable from the facts in case on hand because in the present case apart from the offences under Prevention of Corruption Act, offences under sections 120 B, 406, 409, 420, 467, 468, 471 of IPC are also there, under which the proceedings have been drawn. As far as the offence under sections 467 IPC is concerned, the said offence was already included in Part B of the schedule appended to PMLA which had come in force w.e.f. 01/07/2005, and the period during which offence is being alleged to have been committed relates to from 2004 to 2006. Therefore, it is apparent that some period of commission of offence falls when the scheduled office under Section 467 IPC was already in existence. Therefore, it would be in the domain of the trial court to see as to which scheduled offences might have been committed by the accused - applicant for which he may be finally punished, if found proved.

(6) Per contra learned counsel for the C.B.I. has vehemently opposed the argument stating that the provisions of I.P.C. which have been violated by the applicant/accused were earlier in Part-B of the schedule appended to the PMLA, 2002 which have subsequently been, by amendment, made part of Part-A of the schedule appended to the said Act. Therefore, the argument of the learned counsel for the applicant that he could not be tried for committing offence under PMLA, 2002 would not sustain.

(7) As regards law the argument of the C.B.I. that section 120B of I.P.C. relating to criminal conspiracy was earlier in Part B of the schedule to the PMLA , 2002 and was subsequently made part of Part A of the said schedule, hence it could not be said that the cognizance could not have been taken by the Trial Court in the present matter under the aforesaid section, we scrutinized the position of law and we find that the said section came into effect w.e.f. 01.06.2009 and was included in Part B of the schedule but subsequently the said section was taken out from there and was placed in Part A of the said schedule appended to the PMLA of 2002 by amendment Act 2 of 2013. This argument does not make it clear as to how the provision of Section 120B would be treated to be applicable for an offence committed during the period 2004-2006, as this provision was made punishable under PMLA of 2002 after 01.06.2009 by its inclusion in the said Part B of the schedule appended to the PMLA, 2002.

(8) First of all, we would like to take up the objection raised by the learned counsel for the applicant that the offences which were alleged to have been committed by the applicant/accused were not made punishable under the PMLA, 2002 because the offences under the I.P.C. allegedly committed by the applicant were not part of either schedule A or schedule B of the aforesaid Act. According to him these sections were made punishable under the PMLA of 2002 in the year 2009, w.e.f. 01.06.2009.

(9) We have gone through the entire provisions. The PMLA, 2002 was promulgated/came into force on 01.07.2005, vide G.S.R. 436(E), dated 1st July, 2005, published in the Gazette of India, Extra,, Pt. II, Sec. 3(i), dated 1st July, 2005. Therefore, the following was position, as on 1st July, 2005 as regards inclusion of offences in Part A or Part B of the schedule appended to the PMLA, 2002. (Only such sections are being taken into consideration of I.P.C. and P.C. Act, which are alleged to have been committed by applicant/accused).

(10) In Part B of the schedule, one of sections of I.P.C. in question only i.e.Section 467 I.P.C. which pertained to forgery of a valuable security will or authority to make or transfer any valuable security, or to receive any money etc. was made punishable under PMLA, 2002.

(11) In view of the above, it is apparent that the offence under Section 467 was punishable under PMLA of 2002 with effect since 1st July, 2005 while the allegations against the present accused relate to the period 2004-05 and 2005-06, hence the argument of the learned counsel for the applicant that the cognizance taken against the accused applicant could not have been taken for his having committed offence under Section 467 I.P.C. does not hold water as the same was already made punishable under the PMLA of 2002 way back in 2005. It is settled law that if even one of the offences under which the charge is found to have been made out, then it cannot be denied that cognizance could have been taken by the Court concerned for having committed an offence under PMLA of 2002. If offence under certain other sections of I.P.C. or P.C. Act are found not made out in respect of the present accused during the period in question due to penal provision not being available then the said fact may be taken into consideration by the Trial Court at the time of trial and take appropriate decision in that regard.

(12) Thereafter an amendment was brought in PMLA, 2002 by the Prevention of Money Laundering (Amendment Act; 2009) (in short no. 21 of 2009, 6th March, 2009) whereby, in Part B Section 120B (criminal conspiracy) was added and the same was made punishable under the PMLA, 2002 under Section 3/4 of PMLA. Apart from that Section 471 - using as genuine or forged record, was also placed in Paragraph 1 under Part B of the said Act hence this offence also became punishable under the PMLA, 2002 with effect from 06.03.2009. Further in Paragraph 5 under Part B the Section 13 of P.C. Act - criminal misconduct by public servant was added, and was made punishable under the PMLA, 2002. Thereafter, by Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2012 (in short 2 of 2013) which came into effect from 3rd July, 2013 the above offences of I.P.C. included in Part - B, were made part of Part - A in Paragraph 1.

(13) As regards other objections that the appeal against the attachment of the properties of the applicant/accused was pending before a Appellate Authority and that the order passed by the learned Judge of C.B.I. Court had been stayed by the High Court, Lucknow Bench hence the cognizance under PMLA ought to have postponed by the learned Trial Court till final decision in that case, does not hold good as there is no legal bar to initiating proceedings under PMLA under such a situation.

(14) In view of the above, we are of the view that impugned order does not suffer from any infirmity and the application is liable to be dismissed and it is, accordingly, dismissed.

A. Code of Criminal Procedure - Section 482 - Complaint-Offence of conspiracy for commission of fraud by returning money in account of accused persons by the Applicant (Branch Manager)-Nothing more than that in complaint regarding conspiracy. Applicant had returned money in compliance of request made by concerned Bank, from which that amount were transacted, and after knowledge of alleged fraud, the same money was got returned back and is kept under freezed account-No conspiracy or malice on the part of accused applicant except her routine performance of duty-Summoning of accused applicant is apparently without any evidence on record amounting to misuse of process of law. (Para 5)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. This application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed with a prayer for quashing the order dated 04.09.2019, passed by Chief Judicial Magistrate, Ghaziabad including entire proceeding of Complaint Case No. 32560 of 2018, under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 120-B I.P.C. Police Station Indrapuram, District Ghaziabad.

2. Learned counsel for applicant argued that applicant was Branch Manager in Punjab and Sind Bank, Branch Kaushambi, District Ghaziabad. An amount was transferred from account of Rohit Sharma, Rahul Sharma and Smt. Urmila in account of Kamleshwaranand, being maintained in above Bank. Subsequently, a request from those persons, through whom this amount was transacted, was received that it was an erroneous transfer and that amount be returned back. This Branch Manager complied above request and returned above amount, for which there was no guilty mind. Subsequently, this came into her notice that there had been some criminal litigation regarding alleged fraud committed by Rohit Sharma, Rahul Sharma and Smt. Urmila with Kamleshwaranand. The amount was further remitted to this branch of Punjab and Sind Bank, of which applicant is Manager. Still that amount is lying in a freezed account and there is no malice nor any mens rea on the part of Branch Manager in a transaction in between Kamleshwaranand, Rohit Sharma, Rahul Sharma and Smt. Urmila, but vide impugned summoning order, this applicant too has been summoned for offences punishable under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 120-B I.P.C., which is apparently erroneous and misuse of process of Court. Hence, this application with above prayer.

3. Learned counsel for complainant Kamleshwaranand argued that account of Kamleshwaranand was with above branch of Bank concerned, in which applicant was Branch Manager. Kamleshwaranand entered into agreement to sell of his own flat and in lieu of consideration that money was transacted in account of Kamleshwaranand through RTGS and once it was there the same may not be returned back to those accused persons against whom summoning is there, but it was conspiracy of Branch Manager, who returned above money and it was against the guidelines of Reserve Bank of India enumerated in Paras 3, 4 and 5 of Central Government Act Section 23 in the Payment of Settlement System Act, 2007 wherein Reserve Bank of India has given direction. Hence, trial court has rightly passed impugned summoning order and this application is to be rejected.

4. Learned A.G.A. also vehemently opposed the aforesaid prayer.

5. From the perusal of material placed on record, it is apparent that complaint was filed by Kamleshwaranand against Rohit Sharma, Rahul Sharma, Smt. Urmila Sharma, Smt. Kumud Dhall (present applicant) and two others at Police Station Indrapuram, District Ghaziabad. The contention was that complainant being a senior citizen of 66 years was owner of flat No.III-A/50, First Floor, Rachna Vaishali, Ghaziabad and he entered in an agreement to sell with Smt. Urmila for Rs.50,00,000/-, out of which on 28.03.2018 Rs.5,00,000/-, on 09.04.2018 Rs.2,00,000/-, on 25.06.2018 Rs.10,00,000/- and on 26.06.2018 Rs.23,65,000/-, in all Rs.33,65,000/- were paid. Rest Rs.9,35,000/- were said to be paid subsequently before getting sale deed executed, but the amount which was transacted on 25.06.2018 and 26.06.2018 was got returned back by way of an application with incorrect fact by those accused persons and this came into notice of complainant through SMS. Thereafter, complainant enquired into the matter and took above steps. Meaning thereby, regarding applicant accusation is that she being Branch Manager of Punjab and Sind Bank, Branch Kaushambi returned back money to those accused persons in view of their request for getting same returned back and this has been said to be under conspiracy. Hence, complaint itself is for offence of conspiracy for commission of fraud by returning money transacted on 25.06.2018 and 26.06.2018 in account of accused persons by above Branch Manager. Nothing more than that is there in complaint regarding this conspiracy. Applicant herself has admitted that she had returned above money in compliance of request made by concerned Bank, from which that amount were transacted, and after knowledge of alleged fraud, the same money was got returned back and is kept under freezed account. Hence, apparently, there is no conspiracy or malice on the part of accused applicant except her routine performance of duty. The summoning of accused applicant for above offences is apparently without any evidence on record. Hence, it is misuse of process of law.

6. Accordingly, this application is allowed. The impugned summoning order dated 04.09.2019, passed by Chief Judicial Magistrate, Ghaziabad including entire proceeding of Complaint Case No. 32560 of 2018, under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 120-B I.P.C. Police Station Indrapuram, District Ghaziabad is hereby quashed, but it will not effect the summoning regarding other accused persons.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ramesh Sinha, J.)

1. Today, Sri Anil Kumar Mishra has filed vakalatnama on behalf of opposite party no. 2 which is taken on record.

2. Heard Sri Imran Ullah, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Anil Kumar Mishra, learned counsel for opposite party no. 2, Sri Gaurav Pratap Singh, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

3. By means of present 482 Cr.P.C. application, the applicant has prayed for quashing of the entire proceedings of case crime no. 263 of 2018 under sections 419, 420, 467, 468, 471, 506, 201, 120-B I.P.C., police station Jahanganj, District Azamgarh.

4. The brief facts of the case are that an F.I.R. was lodged by opposite party no. 2 Smt. Asha Devi on 11.12.2018 at police station Jahanganj, District Azamgarh for the offence under sections 419, 420, 467, 468, 471, 506, 201, 120-B I.P.C. with an allegation that the applicant had helped the father of the accused of a case of rape by changing the date of birth of her minor daughter, namely, Km. Shikha Singh. It is alleged that on 13.5.2018, one Arvind @ Kallu had committed rape of the daughter of the complainant for which an F.I.R. was lodged by her which was registered as case crime no. 116 of 2018. It seems that the father of the accused, in order to save his son from criminal prosecution, in collusion with the applicant, has done fraud with the official papers and have issued a transfer certificate showing her date of birth as 8.2.2000, thereafter, it was signed by the Block Education Officer and Basic Education Officer. The said certificate was filed in the bail application of Kallu before this Court. It is alleged that when she came to know about the said fact through her counsel various complaints were made by her against the applicant on which on 27.9.2018, the applicant was given charge-sheet by the Department and in the meanwhile he was suspended. It is also alleged that before his suspension, the applicant in order to save his suspension, had stolen certain papers from the file. It is further alleged that after rejection of bail, the accused Arvind Singh started threatening him due to which, she is terrorized.

5. After investigation, the investigating officer submitted charge-sheet against the applicant on 14.7.2019 and the learned Magistrate on the basis of the charge-sheet took cognizance of the offence on 12.10.2018 and summoned the applicant to face trial.

6. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that the applicant is posted as Principal of a Primary Education Institution and the cognizance which has been taken on the basis of charge-sheet is absolutely wrong as no sanction for prosecution of the applicant under section 197 Cr.P.C. has been obtained from the competent authority and without sanction the proceedings against the applicant is liable to be quashed. He submits that the applicant in discharge of his official duty had issued the transfer certificate of the daughter of the informant wherein her date of birth has been mentioned as 8.2.2000 which was endorsed in the admission register of primary school Gambheervan-I, Rani ki Sarai, district Azamgarh where the daughter of the informant studied upto Class-III and she did not turn up in the said school and finally on 25.8.2017, she left the school and a transfer certificate was prepared on 12.10.2017. He further submits that the date of birth which was mentioned in the school register of the minor daughter of the opposite party no. 2 was on the information given by the grand mother of the minor daughter of opposite party no. 2 at the time of her admission. He next submitted that at the most the negligence on the part of the applicant is that he had issued the transfer certificate to a person, who was not authorized to get the same issued except the opposite party no. 2 or any of the family member of Km. Shikha Singh. He pointed out that a departmental proceedings with respect to the same allegation is going on, hence the present proceeding is liable to be quashed. In support of his argument, he has placed reliance on the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Devinder Singh and others vs. State of Punjab through C.B.I. reported in (2016) 4 SCC (Cri.) 15.

7. For ready reference, para-39 of the case of Devinder Singh and others vs. State of Punjab through C.B.I. (Supra) is quoted hereinbelow:-

"39. The principles emerging from the aforesaid decisions are summarized hereunder :

39.1 Protection of sanction is an assurance to an honest and sincere officer to perform his duty honestly and to the best of his ability to further public duty. However, authority cannot be camouflaged to commit crime.

39.2 Once act or omission has been found to have been committed by public servant in discharging his duty it must be given liberal and wide construction so far its official nature is concerned. Public servant is not entitled to indulge in criminal activities. To that extent Section 197 CrPC has to be construed narrowly and in a restricted manner. III.

39.3 Even in facts of a case when public servant has exceeded in his duty, if there is reasonable connection it will not deprive him of protection under section 197 Cr.P.C. There cannot be a universal rule to determine whether there is reasonable nexus between the act done and official duty nor it is possible to lay down such rule.

39.4 In case the assault made is intrinsically connected with or related to performance of official duties sanction would be necessary under Section 197 CrPC, but such relation to duty should not be pretended or fanciful claim. The offence must be directly and reasonably connected with official duty to require sanction. It is no part of official duty to commit offence. In case offence was incomplete without proving, the official act, ordinarily the provisions of Section 197 CrPC would apply.

39.5. In case sanction is necessary it has to be decided by competent authority and sanction has to be issued on the basis of sound objective assessment. The court is not to be a sanctioning authority.

39.6 Ordinarily, question of sanction should be dealt with at the stage of taking cognizance, but if the cognizance is taken erroneously and the same comes to the notice of Court at a later stage, finding to that effect is permissible and such a plea can be taken first time before appellate Court. It may arise at inception itself. There is no requirement that accused must wait till charges are framed.

39.7 Question of sanction can be raised at the time of framing of charge and it can be decided prima facie on the basis of accusation. It is open to decide it afresh in light of evidence adduced after conclusion of trial or at other appropriate stage.

39.8 Question of sanction may arise at any stage of proceedings. On a police or judicial inquiry or in course of evidence during trial. Whether sanction is necessary or not may have to be determined from stage to stage and material brought on record depending upon facts of each case. Question of sanction can be considered at any stage of the proceedings. Necessity for sanction may reveal itself in the course of the progress of the case and it would be open to accused to place material during the course of trial for showing what his duty was. Accused has the right to lead evidence in support of his case on merits.

*39.9 In some case it may not be possible to decide the question effectively and finally without giving opportunity to the defence to add*uce evidence. Question of good faith or bad faith may be decided on conclusion of trial."

8. Learned counsel for the applicant has further placed reliance on the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Amal Kumar Jha vs. State of Chhattisgarh and another reported in (2016) 3 SCC (Cri.) 160 and drawn the attention of the Court towards paras-13 and 14 of the case of Amal Kumar Jha vs. State of Chhattisgarh and another (Supra) which are quoted hereinbelow:-

" 13. In State of Madhya Pradesh v. Sheetla Sahai & Ors. 2009 (8) SCC 617, this Court has laid down thus :

"59. For the purpose of attracting the provisions of Section 197 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, it is not necessary that they must act in their official capacity but even where public servants purport to act in their official capacity, the same would attract the provisions of Section 197 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. It was so held by this Court in Sankaran Moitra v. Sadhna Das (2006) 4 SCC 584. The question came up for consideration before this Court in Matajog Dobey v. H.C. Bhari AIR 1956 SC 44 wherein it was held: (AIR pp. 48-49, para 17)

"17. Slightly differing tests have been laid down in the decided cases to ascertain the scope and the meaning of the relevant words occurring in Section 197 of the Code; "any offence alleged to have been committed by him while acting or purporting to act in the discharge of his official duty'. But the difference is only in language and not in substance.

The offence alleged to have been committed must have something to do, or must be related in some manner, with the discharge of official duty. No question of sanction can arise under Section 197, unless the act complained of is an offence; the only point to determine is whether it was committed in the discharge of official duty. There must be a reasonable connection between the act and the official duty. It does not matter even if the act exceeds what is strictly necessary for the discharge of the duty, as this question will arise only at a later stage when the trial proceeds on the merits.

What we must find out is whether the act and the official duty are so interrelated that one can postulate reasonably that it was done by the accused in the performance of the official duty, though possibly in excess of the needs and requirements of the situation. In Hori Ram Singh v. Crown 1939 FCR 159 Sulaiman, J. observes:

"The section cannot be confined to only such acts as are done by a public servant directly in pursuance of his public office, though in excess of the duty or under a mistaken belief as to the existence of such duty. Nor is it necessary to go to the length of saying that the act constituting the offence should be so inseparably connected with the official duty as to form part and parcel of the same transaction.'

The interpretation that found favour with Varadachariar, J. in the same case is stated by him in these terms at p. 56:

"There must be something in the nature of the act complained of that attaches it to the official character of the person doing it.'

In affirming this view, the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council observed in Gill case : AIR 1948 PC 128 (IA pp. 59-60)

"A public servant can only be said to act or to purport to act in the discharge of his official duty, if his act is such as to lie within the scope of his official duty. ... The test may well be whether the public servant, if challenged, can reasonably claim that, what he does, he does in virtue of his office.'

Hori Ram case 1939 FCR 159 is referred to with approval in the later case of Lieutenant Hector Thomas Huntley v. King Emperor 1944 FCR 262 but the test laid down that it must be established that the act complained of was an "official' act appears to us unduly to narrow down the scope of the protection afforded by Section 197 of the Criminal Procedure Code as defined and understood in the earlier case. The decision in Albert West Meads v. R. AIR 1948 PC 156 does not carry us any further; it adopts the reasoning in Gill case "

60. The said principle has been reiterated by this Court in B. Saha v. M.S. Kochar (1979) 4 SCC 177 in the following terms: (SCC pp. 184-85, paras 17-

"17. The words "any offence alleged to have been committed by him while acting or purporting to act in the discharge of his official duty' employed in Section 197(1) of the Code, are capable of a narrow as well as a wide interpretation. If these words are construed too narrowly, the section will be rendered altogether sterile, for, "it is no part of an official duty to commit an offence, and never can be'. In the wider sense, these words will take under their umbrella every act constituting an offence, committed in the course of the same transaction in which the official duty is performed or purports to be performed. The right approach to the import of these words lies between these two extremes. While on the one hand, it is not every offence committed by a public servant while engaged in the performance of his official duty, which is entitled to the protection of Section 197(1), an act constituting an offence, directly and reasonably connected with his official duty will require sanction for prosecution under the said provision. As pointed out by Ramaswami, J. in Baijnath v. State of M.P. AIR 1966 SC 220 : (AIR p. 227, para 16)

16. ... It is the quality of the act that is important, and if it falls within the scope and range of his official duties the protection contemplated by Section 197 of the Criminal Procedure Code will be attracted'.

18. In sum, the sine qua non for the applicability of this section is that the offence charged, be it one of commission or omission, must be one which has been committed by the public servant either in his official capacity or under colour of the office held by him."

14. In view of the aforesaid discussion, it is clear that the omission complained of due to which offence is stated to have been committed, was intrinsically connected with discharge of official duty of the appellant, as such the protection under section 197 Cr.PC from prosecution without sanction of the competent authority, is available to the appellant. Thus, he could not have been prosecuted without sanction. It would be for the competent authority to consider the question of grant of sanction in accordance with law. In case sanction is granted only then the appellant can be prosecuted and not otherwise. Resultantly, the impugned orders are set aside, the appeal is allowed."

9. Learned counsel for the applicant also cited the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of N.K. Ganguly vs. Central Bureau of Investigation, New Delhi reported in (2016) 2 SCC 143 and has drawn the attention of the Court towards para-35 of the case of N.K. Ganguly vs. Central Bureau of Investigation, New Delhi (Supra) which is reproduced hereinbelow:-

"35. From a perusal of the case law referred to supra, it becomes clear that for the purpose of obtaining previous sanction from the appropriate government under Section 197 of CrPC, it is imperative that the alleged offence is committed in discharge of official duty by the accused. It is also important for the Court to examine the allegations contained in the final report against the Appellants, to decide whether previous sanction is required to be obtained by the respondent from the appropriate government before taking cognizance of the alleged offence by the learned Special Judge against the accused. In the instant case, since the allegations made against the Appellants in the final report filed by the respondent that the alleged offences were committed by them in discharge of their official duty, therefore, it was essential for the learned Special Judge to correctly decide as to whether the previous sanction from the Central Government under Section 197 of CrPC was required to be taken by the respondent, before taking cognizance and passing an order issuing summons to the appellants for their presence."

10. Per contra, learned counsel appearing for opposite party no. 2 and learned A.G.A. have vehemently opposed the prayer for quashing of the entire proceedings and the impugned order on the ground which has been argued by learned counsel for the applicant and submitted that the act of the applicant in indulging in a criminal act by issuing a forged transfer certificate by wrongly mentioning the age of the minor daughter of the opposite party no. 2, cannot be said to be an act in discharge of official duty, hence no sanction is required for such act before prosecuting the applicant. In this regard, reliance has been placed on the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Devendra Prasad Singh vs. State of Bihar & another reported in 2019 Lawsuit (SC) 1007 and submitted that in view of the same, the order taking cognizance of the offence does not suffer from any illegality, perversity, hence the present application is liable to be rejected.

11. Having considered the rival submissions of learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

12. Admittedly, the applicant is the Principal of the Primary Education Institution under whose signature the transfer certificate of the minor daughter of opposite party no. 2 was issued a copy of which has been annexed as annexure-7 to the affidavit filed in support of the present application and the same was counter signed by the Block Development Officer and Basic Shiksha Adhikari Azamgarh. The opposite party no. 2 has claimed that the date of birth of her minor daughter which has been mentioned in the transfer certificate issued by the applicant was a wrong one as her daughter's date of birth is 7.8.2006 which was mentioned in the admission register at serial no. 1392 of primary school Gambheervan-II, district Azamgarh -II where she studied upto class-III. It is alleged by her that though her daughter was admitted in the primary school but as she fell seriously ill, she did not go to study in the said school. It further reveals from the record that the medical examination of the victim girl was also conducted in a case which was registered against the accused Kallu as case crime no. 116 of 2018 for the offence under section 376, 452, 506 I.P.C. and 3/4 POCSO Act by opposite party no. 2 against Arvind Singh @ Kallu wherein as per the ossification test which was conducted, it was opined in the report dated 18.5.2018 by the C.M.O., Azamgarh that the victim is aged about 14 years which goes to show that the victim was a minor girl. On the complaint which was made by the opposite party no. 2 to the District Basic Shiksha Adhikari, Azamgarh vide complaint dated 16.8.2018, a departmental enquiry has been ordered and the applicant has been suspended till pendency of the enquiry. In the enquiry, the applicant has given some explanation for issuance of the disputed transfer certificate wherein the date of birth of the victim girl has been mentioned as 8.2.2000. The contention which has been raised by learned counsel for the applicant that the transfer certificate which was issued by the applicant in the name of the victim girl showing her date of birth 8.2.2000 in place of 7.8.2006 which is alleged to be a forged documents issued under the signature of the applicant and counter signed by the Block Development Officer and Basic Shiksha Adhikari Azamgarh, was an act done in discharge of his official duty is not at all acceptable as a criminal act of forging documents cannot be in any manner said to be an act in discharge of official duty. The sanction required for the prosecution of the applicant before taking cognizance by the Magistrate on the basis of charge-sheet submitted against him as has been argued by learned counsel for the applicant vitiates the proceedings against him, is also not sustainable in the eyes of law. The case law which has been relief upon by the applicant cannot be made applicable in the facts and circumstances of the present case as in the case which has been relied upon by learned counsel for the applicant, i.e., Devinder Singh & others vs. State of Punjab through C.B.I. (Supra), the Apex Court after going through its earlier decisions has held that public servant is not entitled to indulge in criminal activities and in such case sanction under section 197 is not required and to that extent Section 197 has been construed narrowly and in a restricted manner and it further observe that some times certain questions about requirement of sanction under section 197 Cr.P.C cannot be decided without evidence. Such questions like good faith or bad faith of public servant can be decided on conclusion of trial. In the present case also it would be expedient in the interest of justice that the trial court is at liberty to prima facie proceed as per prosecution version and the applicant be given opportunity to adduce evidence in his support and if at later stage it comes to the notice of the Court that there was reasonable nexus of incident and discharge of official duty, the Court shall re-examine the issue of sanction and take decision as per law. The said issue of sanction can be taken from stage to stage and even at the conclusion of the trial at the time of judgment.

13. In view of the above settled principle of law as has been referred above, I do not find any infirmity or illegality in the order taking cognizance, the prayer for quashing the impugned order as well as the entire proceedings based on the charge-sheet is refused.

14. The present 482 Cr.P.C. application lacks merit and is, accordingly, dismissed.

6. St. of Bih. Vs. Murad Ali Khan, (1989) Cr LJ 1005: AIR 1989 SC 1

1. Supplementary affidavit, filed, today, by learned counsel for applicants, is taken on record.

2. This Application, under Section 482 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, has been filed by the Applicants, Bhallu @ Hari Narayan and three others, with a prayer for setting aside impugned summoning order, dated 27.4.2019, passed by court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bhadohi, at Gyanpur, in Criminal Complaint Case No.960 of 2016, Rakesh Kumar Yadav, vs. Bhallu @ Hari Narayan and others, under Sections-323, 504, 506, 452 and 427 of IPC, Police Station-Gyanpur at Bhadohi.

3. Learned counsel for applicants argued that initially a Non-Cognizable Report was filed. Thereafter, an Application, under Section 155(2) of Cr.P.C., was filed for a direction for investigation of above NCR case. It was treated as a complaint case and therein, a summoning order was passed, which was challenged in revision before the Sessions Judge and it was allowed. The matter was remanded back. Subsequently, after hearing, summoning order has been passed by the Magistrate, again, for offences, punishable, under Sections 323, 504, 506, 452 and 427 of IPC, which is in misuse of process of law. Accused persons are uncles and family members of the complainant. There is a dispute regarding demarcation of land in between them and this false case was got lodged. There is material contradiction in the statement made and the contentions in Non-Cognizable Report. Hence, for avoiding abuse of process of law and for ensuring ends of justice, this Application, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., has been filed, with above prayer.

4. Learned AGA, representing State of U.P., has vehemently opposed this Application.

5. Having heard learned counsel for both sides and gone through materials on record, it is apparent that an occurrence occurred for which a Non-Cognizable Report was instantly got lodged. It was very well known. Subsequently, it was said that the same was not recorded as per statements, made before the Police, then, application, under Section 155(2) of Cr.P.C. was moved for a direction for investigation. Magistrate, in a case of Non-Cognizable Report, even after submission of chargesheet, has to take recourse of complaint case because the same chargesheet, which is for non-cognizable offence, is to be treated as a complaint case. Hence, this was said to be malicious prosecution and, accordingly, a prayer was made for setting aside it.

6. Statements, made in application, moved under Section 155(2) of Cr.P.C., was having recital of facts, as was said, and reiterated in the statement, recorded, under Section 200 of Cr.P.C., which stood corroborated, by statements of witnesses, in the enquiry, made by the Magistrate, under Section 202 of Cr.P.C. and as such impugned summoning order was passed on the basis of evidence, collected by the Magistrate, in his enquiry. Hence, at that juncture of summoning, under Section 204 of Cr.P.C., Magistrate, was not expected to make analytic analysis of evidences, rather, it is to be seen that as to whether there is existence of a prima facie case or not on the basis of enquiry and complaint, which, in present case, was very well there. Hence, impugned summoning order was passed, in accordance with the provisions of law.

7. Hence, under all above facts and circumstances, this Court, in exercise of inherent power, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., is not expected to make meticulous analysis of factual aspects because the same is a question, to be gone into, during course of trial, by the Trial court.

8. Apex Court, in State of Andhra Pradesh v. Gaurishetty Mahesh, JT 2010 (6) SC 588: (2010) 6 SCALE 767: 2010 Cr. LJ 3844, has propounded that "While exercising jurisdiction under section 482 of the Code, the High Court would not ordinarily embark upon an enquiry whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable apprehension of it accusation would not be sustained. That is the function of the trial Judge/Court". In another subsequent judgment, in the case of Hamida v. Rashid, (2008) 1 SCC 474, Hon'ble Apex Court propounded that "Ends of justice would be better served if valuable time of the Court is spent in hearing those appeals rather than entertaining petitions under Section 482 at an interlocutory stage which after filed with some oblique motive in order to circumvent the prescribed procedure, or to delay the trial which enable to win over the witness or may disinterested in giving evidence, ultimately resulting in miscarriage of Justice". In again yet another judgment, in the case of Monica Kumar v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2008) 8 SCC 781, the Apex Court has propounded "Inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 has to be exercised sparingly, carefully and with caution and only when such exercise is justified by the tests specifically laid down in the section itself." While interpreting this jurisdiction of High Court Apex Court, in the case of Popular Muthiah v. State, Represented by Inspector of Police, (2006) 7 SCC 296, has propounded "High Court can exercise jurisdiction suo motu in the interest of justice. It can do so while exercising other jurisdictions such as appellate or revisional jurisdiction. No formal application for invoking inherent jurisdiction is necessary. Inherent jurisdiction can be exercised in respect of substantive as well as procedural matters. It can as well be exercised in respect of incidental or supplemental power irrespective of nature of proceedings".

9. Regarding prevention of abuse of process of Court, Apex Court, in the case of Dhanlakshmi v. R.Prasana Kumar, (1990) Cr LJ 320 (DB): AIR 1990 SC 494, has propounded "To prevent abuse of the process of the Court, High Court, in exercise of its inherent powers under section 482, could quash the proceedings, but, there would be justification for interference only when the complaint did not disclose any offence or was frivolous vexatious or oppressive" as well as in the case of State of Bihar v. Murad Ali Khan, (1989) Cr LJ 1005: AIR 1989 SC 1, Apex Court propounded "In exercising jurisdiction under Section 482 High Court would not embark upon an enquiry whether the allegations in the complaint are likely to be established by evidence or not".

10. Meaning thereby, exercise of inherent jurisdiction under Section 482

Cr.P.C. is within the limits, propounded as above.

6. St. of Bih. Vs. Murad Ali Khan, (1989) Cr LJ 1005: AIR 1989 SC 1

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. This Application, under Section 482 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, has been filed by the Applicants, Nahar Singh, Manmohan @ Teetu, Deepu @ Devendra and Manoj, with a prayer for setting aside summoning order, dated 19.9.2019, passed by the Judicial Magistrate, Sadabad, Hathras, and, thereby, entire criminal proceeding, in Complaint Case No. 164 of 2018, Shashi Prabha vs. Nahar Singh and others, under Sections-452, 323 and 354 of IPC, Police Station-Sahpau, District-Hathras

2. Learned counsel for applicants argued that a civil suit was filed for cancellation of sale deed, which was got executed by the complainant and as a result of the same this malicious prosecution, in misuse of process of law, wherein, there is no medico legal report of any injury, but, even this, summoning order has been passed. Hence, for avoiding abuse of process of law, this Application, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., has been filed, with above prayer.

3. Learned AGA, representing State of U.P., has vehemently opposed this Application.

4. From perusal of the complaint, it is apparent that the reason for lodging this complaint has been said in it, i.e., alleged sale deed, which was got executed on 25.5.2017 from Ranvir Singh, whereupon, accused persons did encroach over the land, claiming it to be of theirs, for which some proceeding before Sub Divisional Magistrate, concerned, was taken, thenafter, this assault was made on 11.4.2018, with occurrence, reported, was committed by those accused persons, by way of committing criminal trespass in the house of the complainant. This fact has been narrated and reiterated, in the statement, recorded, under Section 200 of Cr.P.C., as well as under Section 202 of Cr.P.C., in the enquiry made by the Magistrate and the impugned summoning order has been passed, on the basis of above evidence, collected by the Magistrate, which was perfectly well, in accordance with law.

5. Hence, under all above facts and circumstances, this Court, in exercise of inherent power, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., is not expected to make a meticulous analysis of factual aspect because the same is a question, to be gone into, during course of trial, by the Trial court.

6. Apex Court, in State of Andhra Pradesh v. Gaurishetty Mahesh, JT 2010 (6) SC 588: (2010) 6 SCALE 767: 2010 Cr. LJ 3844, has propounded that "While exercising jurisdiction under section 482 of the Code, the High Court would not ordinarily embark upon an enquiry whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable apprehension of it accusation would not be sustained. That is the function of the trial Judge/Court". In another subsequent judgment, in the case of Hamida v. Rashid, (2008) 1 SCC 474, Hon'ble Apex Court propounded that "Ends of justice would be better served if valuable time of the Court is spent in hearing those appeals rather than entertaining petitions under Section 482 at an interlocutory stage which after filed with some oblique motive in order to circumvent the prescribed procedure, or to delay the trial which enable to win over the witness or may disinterested in giving evidence, ultimately resulting in miscarriage of Justice". In again yet another judgment, in the case of Monica Kumar v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2008) 8 SCC 781, the Apex Court has propounded "Inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 has to be exercised sparingly, carefully and with caution and only when such exercise is justified by the tests specifically laid down in the section itself." While interpreting this jurisdiction of High Court Apex Court, in the case of Popular Muthiah v. State, Represented by Inspector of Police, (2006) 7 SCC 296, has propounded "High Court can exercise jurisdiction suo motu in the interest of justice. It can do so while exercising other jurisdictions such as appellate or revisional jurisdiction. No formal application for invoking inherent jurisdiction is necessary. Inherent jurisdiction can be exercised in respect of substantive as well as procedural matters. It can as well be exercised in respect of incidental or supplemental power irrespective of nature of proceedings".

7. Regarding prevention of abuse of process of Court, Apex Court, in the case of Dhanlakshmi v. R.Prasana Kumar, (1990) Cr LJ 320 (DB): AIR 1990 SC 494, has propounded "To prevent abuse of the process of the Court, High Court, in exercise of its inherent powers under section 482, could quash the proceedings, but, there would be justification for interference only when the complaint did not disclose any offence or was frivolous vexatious or oppressive" as well as in the case of State of Bihar v. Murad Ali Khan, (1989) Cr LJ 1005: AIR 1989 SC 1, Apex Court propounded *"In exercising jurisdiction under Section 482 High Court would not embark upon an enquiry whether the allegations in the complaint are likely to be established by evidence or not".*Meaning thereby, exercise of inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is within the limits, propounded as above.

8. In view of what has been discussed above, this Application, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., merits dismissal and it stands dismissed accordingly.

9. However, it is directed that if the applicants appear and surrender before the court below within 30 days from today and apply for bail, their prayer for bail shall be considered and decided in view of the settled law laid by this Court in the case of Amrawati and another Vs. State of U.P. reported in 2004 (57) ALR 290 as well as judgement passed by Hon'ble Apex Court reported in 2009 (3) ADJ 322 (SC) Lal Kamlendra Pratap Singh Vs. State of U.P.

10. For a period of 30 days from today, no coercive action shall be taken against the applicants.

11. In case, if the applicants do not appear before the Court below within the aforesaid period, coercive action shall be taken against them.

6. St. of Bih. Vs. Murad Ali Khan, (1989) Cr LJ 1005: AIR 1989 SC 1

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. This Application, under Section 482 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, has been filed by the Applicants,Saleem Khan, Alim Khan, Rizvan Khan, Kamer Khan and Mazhar Alam, with a prayer for quashing of the complaint and the impugned summoning order, dated 4.9.2019, passed by Civil Judge (Junior Division)/ Judicial Magistrate, Hasanpur, District Amroha, in Complaint Case No. 456 of 2019, under Sections-354A, 323 and 506 of IPC, Police Station-Hasanpur, Distric-Amroha.

2. Learned counsel for applicants argued that the applicants had given their house for residence, for a limited period to Saira, present complainant, who did not vacate it, rather, a civil suit was filed by her, which is pending. Thenafter, a Non-Cognizable report was got lodged, wherein, proceeding was subsequently stayed by this Court, in a proceeding, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C. Thereafter, this false complaint, with false accusation, has been got filed, wherein, impugned summoning order has been passed, but, no such occurrence ever occurred and it was misuse of process of law. Hence, for avoiding abuse of process of law and for securing ends of justice, this Application, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., has been filed, with above prayer.

3. Learned AGA, representing State of U.P., has vehemently opposed this Application.

4. Previous litigation, in between the parties, may be a malice for filing present criminal complaint or may be a cause for occurrence, but all these are questions of fact to be seen by the Trial court, during course of trial, and this Court, in exercise of inherent power, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., is not expected to embark upon such factual aspects.

5. From very perusal of the complaint, it is apparent that occurrence, dated 3.5.2019, at about 6.00 PM, has been said by the complainant in her statement, recorded, under Section 200 of Cr.P.C., which was in reiteration of contention of complainant. Same has been said by the witnesses, Hasin Khan and Taira, who were examined, under Section 202 of Cr.P.C., in the enquiry made by the Magistrate. It has been said that on 3rd May, 2019, at about 6.00 PM, when the complainant was present at her residence, accused persons, Salim Khan, Alim Khan, Rizwan Khan, Kamar Khan and Mazhar Alam, came in her house and as there was a previous litigation, in between them, they asked to enter into a compromise, which was not conceded by her. Then, they did assault upon her. Hence, impugned summoning order is there, on the basis of evidence, collected by the Magistrate, during his enquiry. Accordingly, this Application lacks merits and is liable to be dismissed.

6. Apex Court, in State of Andhra Pradesh v. Gaurishetty Mahesh, JT 2010 (6) SC 588: (2010) 6 SCALE 767: 2010 Cr. LJ 3844, has propounded that "While exercising jurisdiction under section 482 of the Code, the High Court would not ordinarily embark upon an enquiry whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable apprehension of it accusation would not be sustained. That is the function of the trial Judge/Court". In another subsequent judgment, in the case of Hamida v. Rashid, (2008) 1 SCC 474, Hon'ble Apex Court propounded that "Ends of justice would be better served if valuable time of the Court is spent in hearing those appeals rather than entertaining petitions under Section 482 at an interlocutory stage which after filed with some oblique motive in order to circumvent the prescribed procedure, or to delay the trial which enable to win over the witness or may disinterested in giving evidence, ultimately resulting in miscarriage of Justice". In again yet another judgment, in the case of Monica Kumar v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2008) 8 SCC 781, the Apex Court has propounded "Inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 has to be exercised sparingly, carefully and with caution and only when such exercise is justified by the tests specifically laid down in the section itself." While interpreting this jurisdiction of High Court Apex Court, in the case of Popular Muthiah v. Inherent jurisdiction can be exercised in respect of substantive as well as procedural matters. It can as well be exercised in respect of incidental or supplemental power irrespective of nature of proceedings"*.

7. Regarding prevention of abuse of process of Court, Apex Court, in the case of Dhanlakshmi v. R.Prasana Kumar, (1990) Cr LJ 320 (DB): AIR 1990 SC 494, has propounded "To prevent abuse of the process of the Court, High Court, in exercise of its inherent powers under section 482, could quash the proceedings, but, there would be justification for interference only when the complaint did not disclose any offence or was frivolous vexatious or oppressive" as well as in the case of State of Bihar v. 8. Meaning thereby, exercise of inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is within the limits, propounded as above.

10. Fakhruddin Ahmad v. St. of Uttaranchal (2008) 1 SCC 157

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajendra Kumar-IV, J.)

1. By means of this application under Section 482 Cr.P.C., applicant Smt. Neha Gupta approached this Court for quashing the Charge Sheet No.564 of 2018, dated 22.12.2018 submitted in Case Crime No.744 of 2018 (Session Trial No.51 of 2019) under Sections 302, 323 and 504 IPC, Police Station Shahabad, Distirct Rampur and entire proceedings thereof.

2. Brief facts giving rise to the present application are that Informant Abhinav Gupta submitted an application in Police Station Shahabad, Distirct Rampur stating that he was married to Neha Gupta one and half years back. After some days relation between husband and wife became strained due to rude behaviour of his wife. Often she used to abuse his mother and after one and half years about she left his house and started living in her maternal house and so many false complaints have been lodged by her against him and his mother. On 26.10.2018 at about 02:00 PM accused-applicant Neha Gupta came to his house with one Sub Inspector Sunder Lal and she abused him, tried to quarrel before Sub Inspector. Sub Inspector Sunder Lal went away from there but Neha stayed there. At about 07:00 PM her family member i.e. her mother Kiran Devi, father Narendra and brother Anand came to his house and started beating him and his mother with intention to kill; they poured kerosene oil on his mother and set her fire, on hearing noise his neighbour Monu came there, he admitted his mother in Shahabad Hospital where from she was referred to District Hospital Rampur, later on to Ishan Hospital Bareilly. On the application of Abhinav Gupta a case under Sections 307, 323 and 504 IPC was registered as Crime No.744 of 2018 agianst Neha, Kiran Devi, Narendra and Anand.

3. Victim Asha Rani succumbed to death due to burn injury, in dying declaration she made statement in support of prosecution. Matter was investigated and charge sheet was submitted against four persons including present applicant.

4. Feeling aggrieved with the charge sheet, accused-applicant filed present application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. for quashing the same as well as entire proceedings.

5. I have heard Sri Santosh Kumar Giri, learned counsel for applicant, learned AGA for State and perused the material available on record.

6. It is submitted by learned counsel for applicant that no case is made out against the applicant. She has falsely been implicated for the purpose of harassment and humiliation. Investigating Officer did not investigated and collected material properly in the matter and submitted charge sheet without any sufficient evidence. He further submitted that admittedly Neha Gupta is legally wedded wife of Informant and there was a matrimonial dispute between both which are still pending in respective Courts. She did not committed any offence. Investigating Officer of the case is interested persons. He showed some papers, statement of witnesses in favour of his contention.

7. Learned Counsel for the applicant made a long debate showing and reciting the statement of witnesses.

8. Learned AGA for State vehemently opposed the prayer for quashing the charge sheet and submitted that on the fateful day accused persons along-with present applicant came to the house of Informant; started quarrel and poured kerosene oil on victim Asha Rani who sustained serious burn injuries and succumbed to death. Victim has given a dying declaration, showing the conduct of accused persons, before her death. Investigating Officer, correctly, conducted investigation and found sufficient evidence against the accused persons submitted charge sheet in the Court concerned.

9. I have considered the rival submissions made by the parties and perused the records.

10. Before I enter into the facts of the present case it is necessary to consider the ambit and scope of jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. vested in the High Court. Section 482 Cr.P.C. saves the inherent power of the High Court to make such orders as may be necessary to give effect to any order under this Code, or to prevent abuse of the process of any Court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice.

11. It is settled that the power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is not to be exercised in a routine manner, but it is for limited purposes, namely, to give effect to any order under the Code, or to prevent abuse of process of any Court or otherwise to secure ends of justice.

12. Time and again, Apex Court and various High Courts, have reminded when exercise of power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. would be justified, which cannot be placed in straight jacket formula, but one thing is very clear that it should not preampt a trial and cannot be used in a routine manner so as to cut short the entire process of trial before the Courts below. If from a bare perusal of first information report or complaint, it is evident that it does not disclose any offence at all or it is frivolous, collusive or oppressive from the face of it, the Court may exercise its inherent power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. but it should be exercised sparingly. This will not include as to whether prosecution is likely to establish its case or not, whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable appreciation of it, accusation would not be sustained, or the other circumstances, which would not justify exercise of jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. I need not go into various aspects in detail but it would be suffice to refer a few recent authorities dealing all these matters in detail, namely, State of Haryana and others Vs. Ch. Bhajan Lal and others 1992 Supp (1) SCC 335, Popular Muthiah Vs. State represented by Inspector of Police (2006) 7 SCC 296, Hamida vs. Rashid @ Rasheed and Ors. (2008) 1 SCC 474, Dr. Monica Kumar and Anr. vs. State of U.P. and Ors. (2008) 8 SCC 781, M.N. Ojha and Ors. Vs. Alok Kumar Srivastav and Anr. (2009) 9 SCC 682, State of A.P. vs. Gourishetty Mahesh and Ors. JT 2010 (6) SC 588 and Iridium India Telecom Ltd. Vs. Motorola Incorporated and Ors. 2011 (1) SCC 74.

13. In State of Karnataka v. L. Muniswamy and others, reported in, 1977 (2) SCC 699, the Court held that the High Court is entitled to quash a proceeding if it comes to the conclusion that allowing the proceeding to continue would be an abuse of the process of the Court or that the ends of justice require that the proceeding ought to be quashed.

14. In State of Haryana and others v. Bhajan Lal and others, 1992 Supp (1) SCC 335, Court has elaborately considered the scope and ambit of Section 482 Cr.P.C. Although in the above case Court was considering the power of the High Court to quash the entire criminal proceeding including the FIR, the case arose out of an FIR registered under Section 161, 165 IPC and Section 5(2) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1947. Court elaborately considered the scope of Section 482 Cr.P.C./ Article 226 of the Constitution of India in the context of quashing the proceedings in criminal investigation. After noticing various earlier pronouncements of Court, Court enumerated certain Categories of cases by way of illustration where power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. can be exercised to prevent abuse of the process of the Court or secure ends of justice. Paragraph 102 which enumerates 7 categories of cases where power can be exercised under Section 482 Cr.P.C. are extracted as follows:

"102. In the backdrop of the interpretation of the various relevant provisions of the Code under Chapter XIV and of the principles of law enunciated by this Court in a series of decisions relating to the exercise of the extraordinary power under Article 226 or the inherent powers under Section 482 of the Code which we have extracted and reproduced above, we give the following categories of cases by way of illustration wherein such power could be exercised either to prevent abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice, though it may not be possible to lay down any precise, clearly defined and sufficiently channelised and inflexible guidelines or rigid formulae and to give an exhaustive list of myriad kinds of cases wherein such power should be exercised.

(1) Where the allegations made in the first information report or the complaint, even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out a case against the accused.

(2) Where the allegations in the first information report and other materials, if any, accompanying the FIR do not disclose a cognizable offence, justifying an investigation by police officers under Section 156(1) of the Code except under an order of a Magistrate within the purview of Section 155(2) of the Code.

(3) Where the uncontroverted allegations made in the FIR or complaint and the evidence collected in support of the same do not disclose the commission of any offence and make out a case against the accused.

(4) Where, the allegations in the FIR do not constitute a cognizable offence but constitute only a non-cognizable offence, no investigation is permitted by a police officer without an order of a Magistrate as contemplated under Section 155(2) of the Code.

(5) Where the allegations made in the FIR or complaint are so absurd and inherently improbable on the basis of which no prudent person can ever reach a just conclusion that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused.

(6) Where there is an express legal bar engrafted in any of the provisions of the Code or the concerned Act (under which a criminal proceeding is instituted) to the institution and continuance of the proceedings and/or where there is a specific provision in the Code or the concerned Act, providing efficacious redress for the grievance of the aggrieved party.

(7) Where a criminal proceeding is manifestly attended with mala fide and/or where the proceeding is maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused and with a view to spite him due to private and personal grudge."

15. In Priya Vrat Singh and others vs. Shyam Ji Sahai, 2008 (8) SCC 232, Court observed that the inherent power should not be exercised to stifle a legitimate prosecution. The High Court being the highest court of a State should normally refrain from giving a prima-facie decision in a case where the entire facts are incomplete and hazy, more so when the evidence has not been collected and produced before the Court and the issues involved, whether factual or legal, are of magnitude and cannot be seen in their true perspective without sufficient material. Of course, no hard-and-fast rule can be laid down in regard to cases in which the High Court will exercise its extraordinary jurisdiction of quashing the proceeding at any stage.

16. In Fakhruddin Ahmad v. State of Uttaranchal, reported in, (2008) 1 SCC 157, the Court held that :

"20. So far as the scope and ambit of the powers of the High Court under Section 482 of the Code is concerned, the same has been enunciated and reiterated by this Court in a catena of decisions and illustrative circumstances under which the High Court can exercise jurisdiction in quashing the proceedings have been enumerated. However, for the sake of brevity, we do not propose to make reference to the decisions on the point. It would suffice to state that though the powers possessed by the High Court under the said provision are very wide but these should be exercised in appropriate cases, ex debito justitiae to do real and substantial justice for the administration of which alone the Courts exist. The inherent powers possessed by the High Court are to be exercised very carefully and with great caution so that a legitimate prosecution is not stifled. Nevertheless, where the High Court is convinced that the allegations made in the First Information Report or the complaint, even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety, do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out a case against the accused or where the allegations made in the F.I.R. or the complaint are so absurd and inherently improbable on the basis of which no prudent person can ever reach a just conclusion that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused, the powers of the High Court under the said provision should be exercised."

17. Present case does not appear to be covered in any category given in State of Haryana and others vs. Bhajan Lal and others (supra).

18. From perusal of allegations made in the FIR, statement of witnesses during investigation, charge sheet submitted by Investigating Officer, it cannot be said that no offence is made out against the accused-applicant and charge sheet has been wrongly submitted.

19. All the submissions made at bar raised to the disputed question of fact, cannot be adjudicated upon by this Court in exercise of power conferred under Section 482 Cr.P.C.

20. Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is accordingly dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. The applicants, by means of this application under Section 482 Cr.P.C., have invoked the inherent jurisdiction of this Court with prayer to quash the entire proceedings as well as impugned summoning order dated 25.09.2019, passed by learned Judicial Magistrate, Jalaun in Complaint Case No. 811 of 2016, under Sections 323, 504, 506 I.P.C., Police Station Madhaugarh, District Jalaun, pending in the Court of learned Judicial Magistrate, Jalaun, District Jalaun.

2. Heard learned counsel for the applicants and learned A.G.A. representing the State.

3. Learned counsel for applicants argued that it is a counter blast case, filed under misuse of process of law because for an occurrence of 11.04.2016, which occurred at about 15 P.M., report was got lodged on 03.05.2016 for offences punishable under Sections 294, 452, 354, 323, 504, 506 I.P.C. upon report of Rajiv Kumar against Ramsiya and Jitendra. Hence, this application with above prayer.

4. Learned A.G.A. has vehemently opposed the application.

5. From the very perusal of first information report, as above, it is apparent that some occurrence took place on 11.04.2016 at 15 P.M., for which report was got lodged. The occurrence of present complaint case is of same date 11.04.2016, but is of 9 P.M. i.e. previous occurrence may be a motive for this subsequent occurrence or it may be a motive for false accusation, but either way it is a question of fact to be be seen by Magistrate.

6. From the perusal of complaint, it is apparent that it was said that on 11.04.2016 at about 9 P.M., while complainant was on his way for having meal. He was abused by Rajiv Kumar and Sanjiv Kumar. It was protested, then he went to his home, where Rajiv Kumar, Sanjiv Kumar, Rohit and Gaurav Kumar, armed with axe and lathi-danda came there. They did criminal tress-pass and assaulted. On hue and cry, Manoj, Munshi and many others rushed there. Accused persons ran from spot, while extending threat of dire consequences and this assault was owing to previous enmity in between. Complainant was examined under Section 200 Cr.P.C., where his statement is fully intact. The same is the reiteration by PW-1 Manoj and PW-2 Anek Singh in their statement recorded under Section 202 Cr.P.C. Impugned summoning order by application of judicial mind was passed for offence punishable under Sections 323, 504, 506 I.P.C. against accused. It was on the basis of evidence collected by Magistrate in its inquiry.

7. Moreso, saving of inherent power of High Court, as given under Section 482 Cr.P.C, provides that nothing in this Code shall be deemed to limit or affect the inherent powers of the High Court to make such orders as may be necessary to give effect to any order under this Code, or to prevent abuse of the process of any Court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. Meaning thereby this inherent power is with High Court (I) to make such order as may be necessary to give effect to any other order under this Code (II) to prevent abuse of the process of any Court (III) or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. But Apex Court in State of Andhra Pradesh v. Gaurishetty Mahesh, JT 2010 (6) SC 588: (2010) 6 SCALE 767: 2010 Cr. LJ 3844 has propounded that "While exercising jurisdiction under section 482 of the Code, the High Court would not ordinarily embark upon an enquiry whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable apprehension of it accusation would not be sustained. That is the function of the trial Judge/Court". In another subsequent Hamida v. Rashid, (2008) 1 SCC 474, hon'ble Apex Court propounded that "Ends of justice would be better served if valuable time of the Court is spent in hearing those appeals rather than entertaining petitions under Section 482 at an interlocutory stage which after filed with some oblique motive in order to circumvent the prescribed procedure, or to delay the trial which enable to win over the witness or may disinterested in giving evidence, ultimately resulting in miscarriage of Justice". In again another subsequent Monica Kumar v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2008) 8 SCC 781, the Apex Court has propounded "Inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 has to be exercised sparingly, carefully and with caution and only when such exercise is justified by the tests specifically laid down in the section itself." While interpreting this jurisdiction of High Court Apex Court in Popular Muthiah v. State, Represented by Inspector of Police, (2006) 7 SCC 296 has propounded "High Court can exercise jurisdiction suo motu in the interest of justice. It can do so while exercising other jurisdictions such as appellate or revisional jurisdiction. No formal application for invoking inherent jurisdiction is necessary. Inherent jurisdiction can be exercised in respect of substantive as well as procedural matters. It can as well be exercised in respect of incidental or supplemental power irrespective of nature of proceedings".

8. Regarding prevention of abuse of process of Court, Apex Court in Dhanlakshmi v. R.Prasana Kumar, (1990) Cr LJ 320 (DB): AIR 1990 SC 494 has propounded "To prevent abuse of the process of the Court, High Court in exercise of its inherent powers under section 482 could quash the proceedings but there would be justification for interference only when the complaint did not disclose any offence or was frivolous vexatious or oppressive" as well as in State of Bihar v. Murad Ali Khan, (1989) Cr LJ 1005: AIR 1989 SC 1, Apex Court propounded "In exercising jurisdiction under Section 482 High Court would not embark upon an enquiry whether the allegations in the complaint are likely to be established by evidence or not".

9. Meaning thereby, exercise of inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is within the limits, propounded as above.

10. The prayer for quashing summoning order as well as proceeding of the aforesaid criminal case is refused.

11. However, in the interest of justice, it is provided that if the applicants appear and surrender before the court below within four weeks from today and apply for bail, then the bail application of the applicants be considered and decided in view of the settled law laid by this Court in the case of Amrawati and another Vs. State of U.P. reported in 2004 (57) ALR 290 as well as judgment passed by Hon'ble Apex Court reported in 2009 (3) ADJ 322 (SC) Lal Kamlendra Pratap Singh Vs. State of U.P.

12. For a period of four weeks from today or till the disposal of the application for grant of bail whichever is earlier, no coercive action shall be taken against the applicants.

13. However, in case, the applicants do not appear before the Court below within the aforesaid period, coercive action shall be taken against them.

14. With the aforesaid directions, this application is finally disposed of.

A. Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 - Bail - Applicant case that he is bona fide purchaser of the property in question and has been cheated by co-accused Vikas Garg - Possession of property in question has not been handed over by the co-accused Vikas Garg to the applicant despite executing sale deed dated 2.1.2012 in favour of applicant - Proceeding under SARFAESI Act in the matter is still subjudice before D.R.T., Lucknow and no suit for cancellation of sale deeds dated 24.06.2011 and 02.01.2012 has been filed by any person - case of applicant distinguishable from the case of co-accused Vikas Garg, who is main person in this case and is absconding - Fit case for Bail (Para 3)

Crl. Misc. Bail application allowed. (E-5)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sanjay Kumar Singh, J.)

1. Learned counsel for the informant has filed short counter affidavit dated 24.11.2019. In reply, short rejoinder affidavit dated 25.11.2019 has been filed by the learned counsel for the applicant.

2. Heard Sri G.S.Chaturvedi, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Shishir Tandon, learned counsel for the applicant, learned Additional Government Advocate on behalf of the State of U.P. and Sri Imran Ullah, Advocate assisted by Sri Ajay Kumar Pandey, learned counsel appearing for the informant/Kotak Mahindra Bank Limited.

3. By means of this application, the applicant, who is involved in Case Crime No.622 of 2018, under Sections 406, 420, 467, 468, 471 & 120-B I.P.C., Police Station Link Road, District Ghaziabad, is seeking enlargement on bail during the trial.

4. Filtering out unnecessary details, basic facts as per prosecution case, which are relevant for the purpose of disposal of this bail application are that the dispute in this case is regarding property situated at C-51, Ramprastha Colony, Ghaziabad measuring about 355 square yards (herein-after referred to as the "property in question"). In the year 1982, said property was purchased by Dr. R.K. Malhotra from one Balwant Singh through registered sale deed dated 04.09.1982. Thereafter, it was sold by Dr. R.K. Malhotra to Bhagwati Rustagi and Rashmi Rustagi through sale deed dated 16.12.1993. On 21.08.1995, Bhagwati Rustagi and Rashmi Rustagi executed a general power of attorney in favour of Swarnlata Sharma, and thereafter, said property was again sold by Swarnlata Sharma in favour of one B.D. Sharma by executing a sale deed dated 23.04.1997. On 16.09.2005, B.D. Sharma executed a sale deed of same property in question in favour of co-accused Vikas Garg, Vinay Garg and Deepika Garg. Thereafter, on 28.11.2007 Vikas Garg, Nidhi Garg W/o Vikas Garg, Vinay Garg and Deepika Garg have taken a total loan of Rs.1,65,80,000/- through loan account Nos. 14013241 and 14081767 (hereinafter referred to as the "first loan") on an interest of 11.5 % per annum from a Non-Banking Financial Company known as M/s Citi Financial Consumer Finance (India) Ltd. New Delhi, mentioning themselves to be the Directors of Tirupati Rice Mills Pvt. Ltd. While taking aforesaid loan, property in question (C-51, Ramprastha Colony, Ghaziabad) was mortgaged by the borrowers with a view to secure the repayment thereof and borrowers were liable to pay aforesaid loan in 180 monthly installments of Rs. 1,93,686/- and two home loan agreements were signed by them on 28.11.2007. Thereafter, installments of said loan were not paid by Vikas Garg, Nidhi Garg, Vinay Garg and Deepika Garg, therefore, M/s Citi Financial Consumer Finance (India) Ltd. started arbitration proceedings against co-accused Vikas Garg, Nidhi Garg, Vinay Garg, Deepika Garg, M/s Tirupati Rice Mills Pvt. Ltd. and M/s Shiv Kumar Agarwal, but they did not participate in arbitration proceedings and claim of M/s Citi Financial Consumer Finance (India) Ltd. was allowed by ex-parte deed of award dated 31.01.2009 directing that the respondents in arbitration proceedings will jointly and severely pay to the claimant a sum of Rs. 1,78,40,626.14 only together with interest on the aforesaid amount at the rate of 18% per annum from 27.09.2008 till the date of realization.

5. Here, it is relevant to mention as argued by Sri Imran Ullah, learned counsel for the informant that Vikas Garg after taking aforesaid loan and mortgaging the property in question got another sale deed dated 24.06.2011 of the same property prepared fraudulently showing that the same has been executed in his favour by Dr. R.K. Malhotra, S/o D.S.Malhotra. Thereafter, the said property in question has been sold by Vikas Garg mentioning his name as Vikas Gopi Chand, S/o Gopi Ishwar Chand to Udit Kumar Mittal and his wife Mrs. Neetu Mittal through a registered sale deed dated 02.01.2012 after receiving sale consideration of an amount of Rs.1,66,00,000/-. It is pointed out that Udit Kumar Mittal and his wife Nitu Mittal had purchased the said property (C-51, Ramprastha Colony, Ghaziabad) after taking loan of Rs.1,42,000,00/- (hereinafter referred to as the "second loan") from Citi Bank and mortgaging the same property with City Bank also on 31.12.2011. Thereafter, M/s Citi Financial Consumer Finance (India) Ltd. has sold/assigned the loan taken by Vijay Garg, Nidhi Garg, Vinay Garg and Deepika Garg to Kotak Mahindra Bank Ltd. under the deed of assignment on 09.04.2013 executed between M/s Citi Financial Consumer Finance (India) Limited and Kotak Mahindra Bank Ltd. As such, after 09.04.2013, Kotak Mahindra Bank Ltd. came into picture. On 10.01.2014, Kotak Mahindra Bank Ltd. has issued notices under section 13(2) SARFAESI Act, 2002 to Vikas Garg, Nidhi Garg, Vinay Garg, Deepika Garg, M/s Tirupati Rice Mills Pvt. Ltd. and M/s Shiv Kumar Agarwal for payment of aforesaid amount of loan (first loan), but said amount was not paid by them, therefore, Kotak Mahindra Bank Limited has started proceedings under Section 13(4) SARFAESI Act, 2002 for taking possession of the property in question, and accordingly, issued possession notice dated 16.07.2014 to Vikas Garg, Vinay Garg and Deepika Garg. On receiving the said possession notice dated 16.07.2014, same was challenged by Vikas Garg, Vinay Garg and Deepika Garg on 28.08.2014 before Debts Recovery Tribunal, Lucknow by means of application under section 17 of SARFAESI Act, 2002 being S.A. No.393 of 2014.

6. Before the Debts Recovery Tribunal, Lucknow a legal issue was raised on behalf of the co-accused (borrowers) that under the facts of the case proceedings under SARFAESI Act is not maintainable, because M/s Citi Financial Consumer Finance (India) Limited had assigned the loan to Kotak Mahindra Bank Limited on 9.4.2013. After assignment of loan to Kotak Mahindra Bank Limited, the Kotak Mahindra Bank Limited had stepped into shoes of M/s Citi Financial Consumer Finance (India) Limited, and as such, Kotak Mahindra Bank Limited is now secured creditor of loan, therefore, Kotak Mahindra Bank Limited is not competent to take SARFAESI action for recovery of dues, as loan has been assigned by financial institution (M/s Citi Financial Consumer Finance (India) Limited) to Bank (Kotak Mahindra Bank Limited). Before the Tribunal a judgment dated 16.07.2015 passed by Bombay High Court in Writ Petition No 722 of 2015 (Kotak Mahindra Bank Limited Vs. Trupti Sanjay Mehta and others) was cited by the borrowers, wherein Bombay High Court framed the following issues:-

"Whether the Bank to whom a debt has been assigned by the Non-Banking Financial Corporation (NBFC) is entitled to adopt proceedings under the Securitization and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 (SARFAESI Act)?"

7. The Bombay High Court had considered the aforesaid issues and answered in negative. In reply to the said argument, it was contended on behalf of Kotak Mahindra Bank Limited that the said order of Bombay High Court was assailed before the Apex Court through Special Leave to Appeal (C) No. 20885 of 2015, in which the Apex Court stayed the order dated 16.07.2015 of Bombay High Court vide order dated 22.09.2015, and thereafter, on 8.10.2015 another order was passed by the Apex Court directing that interim order passed on the earlier occasion shall remain in force till the pronouncement of judgment. The Debts Recovery Tribunal, Lucknow considering the facts and circumstances of the case as well as submissions raised in the matter directed the parties concerned to maintain status quo by interim order dated 30.07.2018.

8. It is also pointed out on behalf of the applicant that M/s Citi Financial Consumer Finance India Limited had also filed execution petition No. 993 of 2016 before District Judge, Ghaziabad, but the same was dismissed in default. Apart from arbitration proceedings and proceedings under SARFAESI Act, M/s Citi Financial Consumer Finance India Limited filed complaint under Section 138 of Negotiable Instrument Act against co-accused Vikas Garg on account of dishonour of cheque, in which by judgment dated 17.10.2011 and order of sentence dated 21.10.2011 passed by Metropolitan Magistrate, Dwarka Courts, New Delhi, co-accused Vikas Garg has been convicted for the offence punishable under Section 138 of Negotiable Instrument Act and sentenced to undergo simple imprisonment for a period of one year apart from payment of compensation of Rs. 1,85,09,000/- to M/s Citi Financial Consumer Finance India Limited within six months and in default thereof he shall further undergo simple imprisonment for a period of six months. The said order of conviction was challenged by co-accused Vikas Garg in Criminal Appeal No. 24 of 2015 under Section 374 of Code of Criminal Procedure, which has been allowed by the judgment and order dated 29.02.2016 of Special Judge CBI, (P.C. Act)-06, Tis Hazari Court Delhi, setting aside the judgment and order dated 17.10.2011 and order of sentence dated 21.10.2011 and acquitted the co-accused Vikas Garg on the charge under Section 138 of Negotiable Instrument Act.

9. It has also brought to the notice of the Court that after purchasing the property in question by Udit Kumar Mittal and his wife Smt. Neetu Mittal, possession of the property in question was not handed over to them by Vikas Garg, therefore, Udit Kumar Mittal and Smt. Neetu Mittal jointly filed Suit No. 840 of 2018 against Vikas Gopi Chand before the Civil Judge (Senior Division), Ghaziabad on 10.09.2018, which is still pending. Thereafter, Kotak Mahindra Bank Limited moved an application under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. dated 9.10.2018 seeking direction to S.H.O., P.S. Link Road, Ghaziabad to lodge FIR against the accused persons of this case. The said application dated 9.10.2018 has been allowed by the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 8, Ghaziabad by order dated 12.10.2018 directing the S.H.O., Link Road, Ghaziabad to lodge FIR in appropriate sections in the matter and investigate the case. In the aforesaid background, on 26.10.2018 FIR of Kotak Mahindra Bank Limited was registered against eight accused persons, namely Vikas Garg, Smt. Nidhi Garg, Vinay Garg, Smt. Deepika Garg, M/s Shiv Kumar Agarwal, M/s Tirupati Rice Mills Private Limited, Udit Kumar Mittal and Smt. Neetu Mittal, under Sections 406, 420, 467, 468, 471 and 120B IPC as case crime No. 0622 of 2018 at Police Station Link Road, District Ghaziabad. The applicant moved his bail application before the concerned court below, which has been dismissed vide order dated 24.10.2019 of Additional District and Session Judge/Special Judge SC/ST Act, Ghaziabad.

10. Sri G.S. Chaturvedi, learned Senior Advocate after placing the aforesaid facts submitted that:-

(i) Applicant is bona fide purchaser of the property in question after paying the sale consideration amount.

(ii) For purchasing the said property in question, the applicant and his wife have taken a loan of Rs. 1,42,00,000/- (Rupees one crore forty two lac only) from Citi Bank, but till date Citi Bank neither initiated any proceedings nor lodged FIR against the applicant.

(iii) Informant Kotak Mahindra Bank Limited has no concern with the second loan amount of Rs. 1,42,00,000/- given by Citi Bank to the applicant.

(iv) The responsibility of payment of second loan is upon the applicant and his wife Smt. Neetu Mittal, which is not subject matter of impugned FIR dated 26.10.2018 lodged by informant Kotak Mahindra Bank Limited.

(v) It has been vehemently urged that in fact Udit Kumar Mittal, who is distant relative of Nidhi Garg has been cheated by Vikas Garg, Vinay Garg, Deepika Garg and Nidhi Garg by not mentioning the correct fact that said property was already mortaged by them in lieu of loan taken by them and creating a forged sale deed on 24.06.2011 for the property in question and by selling the said mortgaged property.

(vi) In the sale deed dated 2.1.2012, it has clearly been mentioned that the said property in question is clean and clear and the same has neither been mortgaged nor any loan has been taken on the said property.

(vii) It is submitted that in case aforesaid second loan is not paid by the applicant, the same can be recovered only by Citi Bank in accordance with law, and not by Kotak Mahindra Bank Limited.

(viii) Matter under SARFAESI Act against the co-accused is sub-judice before Debts Recovery Tribunal, Lucknow, in which interim order dated 30.07.2018 of status quo has been passed.

(ix) It is also submitted that in the present case required permission has not been obtained by R.B.I., therefore, jurisdiction under SARFAESI Act cannot be invoked unless and until permitted by R.B.I. It is vehemently urged that merely on the basis of deed of assignment dated 9.4.2013, by which first informant claims to have purchased the debts is illegal and no right can be claimed on the basis of said deed of assignment dated 9.4.2013. The loan amount involved in the matter cannot be recovered otherwise in due course of law.

(x) The applicant is not party in the S.A. No.393 of 2014 before Debts Recovery Tribunal, Lucknow.

(xi) There is no statutory bar that mortgaged property cannot be sold out.

(xii) So far as issue regarding forged sale deed dated 24.06.2011 is concerned, the same was prepared by Vikas Garg showing the property in question was purchased by Vikas Gopi Chand S/o Gopi Ishwar Chand from Dr. R.K. Malhotra S/o D.S. Malhotra. The applicant considering the said forged registered sale deed dated 24.06.2011 to be genuine has purchased the property in question from Vikas Garg after paying total sale consideration amount of Rs. 1,66,00,000/- to him.

(xiii) Offence as alleged against the applicant is purely civil in nature and nothing attracts a criminal offence against the applicant.

(xiv) Admittedly, first loan amount of Rs. 1,65,80,000/- was taken by co-accused Vikas Garg, Nidhi Garg, Vinay Garg, Deepika Garg from M/s Citi Financial Consumer Finance India Limited, New Delhi on 28.11.2007. The applicant came in light after purchasing the property in question by registered sale deed dated 2.1.2012, therefore, there is no entrustment of the aforesaid first loan amount to the applicant.

(xv) It is further submitted that since applicant is bona fide purchaser, therefore, there is no evidence of cheating inducing any person to deliver any property to him. It is also submitted that there is no evidence that applicant has committed any forgery with any document, because applicant has purchased the property in question through genuine registered sale deed dated 2.1.2012, as such essential ingredients to constitute offence under Sections 406, 420, 467, 468, 471 and 120B IPC are lacking in this case so far as applicant is concerned. Apart from aforesaid submissions, it is also argued by Sri G.S. Chaturvedi that considering the allegations against the applicant in the matter, the case against the applicant will not travel beyond the offence under Section 422 IPC, which is bailable. Section 422 IPC is reproduced as under:-

"422. Dishonestly or fraudulently preventing debt being available for creditors.--Whoever dishonestly or fraudulently prevents any debt or demand due to himself or to any other person from being made available according to law for payment of his debts or the debts of such other person, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both."

(xvi) The allegations against the applicant are false. Informant Kotak Mahindra Bank Limited on becoming unsuccessful in proceeding before Debts Recovery Tribunal, Lucknow and on filing civil suit no. 840 of 2018 by the applicant on 10.09.2018 got the FIR dated 26.10.2018 registered through an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. dated 9.10.2018.

(xvii) It is also submitted that purchasing any property, filing any suit or availing any statutory remedy by the applicant cannot be said to be an offence.

(xviii) Lastly, it is submitted that the applicant is neither previously convict nor involved in any other case and he is languishing in jail since 10.10.2019, therefore, applicant is liable to be released on bail. The applicant undertakes that in case he is released on bail, he will not misuse the liberty of bail and will cooperate in trial.

11. Per contra, learned Additional Government Advocate for the State of U.P. as well as Sri Imran Ullah, learned counsel appearing on behalf of first informant vehemently opposed the bail by contending that:-

(i) All the accused persons were in collusion with each other and under the pre-planned manner, the co-accused Vikas Garg sold the mortgaged property in question to Udit Kumar Mittal and his wife Smt. Neetu Mittal, who are relative of Vikas Garg on the basis of forged sale deed dated 24.06.2011 showing that same has been executed by Dr. R.K. Malhotra to him, while the said property was already sold by Dr. R.K. Malhotra to Bhagwati Rustagi and Rashmi Rustagi through sale deed dated 16.12.1993, which was later on already purchased by Vikas Garg, Vinay Garg and Deepika Garg by registered sale deed dated 16.09.2005.

(ii) Much emphasis has been given on behalf of the informant that sale deed dated 24.06.2011 is forged document. Dr. R.K. Malhotra has not executed any sale deed. It is also submitted that name and old photographs of Dr. R.K. Malhotra has been used by the co-accused Vikas Garg in collusion with other accused in preparing forged sale deed dated 24.06.2011.

(iii) It is next submitted that till date possession of property in question is with co-accused Vikas Garg.

(iv) It is next submitted that co-accused Vikas Garg, Nidhi Garg, Vinay Garg and Deepika Garg are responsible for payment of first loan amount of Rs. 1,65,80,000/- alongwith interest and other charges threreon and Udit Kumar Mittal and his wife Neetu Mittal are also responsible for payment of second loan amount of Rs. 1,42,00,000/- alongwith interest and other charges thereon.

(v) It is also submitted that till date neither aforesaid loan has been paid nor possession of said property, which has been mortgaged in lieu of first loan dated 28.11.2007 has been handed over to Kotak Mahindra Bank Limited, who has purchased the debt by deed of assignment dated 9.4.2013 from M/s Citi Financial Consumer Finance India Limited.

(vi) It is also pointed out that the main accused Vikas Garg is still absconding, therefore, bail application of applicant is liable to be rejected.

12. After hearing the rival submissions of the learned counsel for the parties, I find that applicant as well as informant both have come up with the stand that sale deed dated 24.06.2011 of the same property (C-51, Ramprastha Colony, Ghaziabad) has been prepared fraudulently by co-accused Vikas Garg changing his name as Vikas Gopi Chand. It is also admitted to the parties that legally sale deed dated 24.06.2011 in question could not be executed by Dr. R.K. Malhotra because, said property was already sold by Dr. R.K. Malhotra by sale deed dated 16.12.1993 to Bhagwati Rustagi and Rashmi Rustagi, and subsequently, said property was purchased by co-accused Vikas Garg alongwith Vinay Garg and Deepika Garg on 16.09.2005 and taken loan of Rs. 1,65,80,000/- from M/s Citi Financial Consumer Finance India Limited mortgaging the said property, therefore, main accused in this case is Vikas Garg, because he despite knowing the fact that the said property in question has already been mortgaged against loan of Rs. 1,65,80,000/- given by M/s Citi Financial Consumer Finance India Limited, New Delhi, has prepared forged sale deed dated 24.06.2011 of the same property in question showing it to be sold by Dr. R.K. Malhotra in his favour mentioning his name as Vikas Gopi Chand S/o Gopi Ishwar Chand and, thereafter, concealing the aforesaid fact of taking loan and mortgaging the said property further executed the registered sale deed dated 2.1.2012 in favour of applicant only with a view to escape from his liability to pay the said loan.

13. It is also admitted fact that possession of the said property in question has not been handed over by the co-accused Vikas Garg to the applicant despite executing sale deed dated 2.1.2012 in favour of applicant. Though, it is alleged by the prosecution that applicant was also in connivance with other co-accused, but could not show anything on record before this Court that applicant was having knowledge prior to sale deed dated 2.1.2012 that said property in question had already been mortgaged by co-accused Vikas Garg. Inference in this regard has been drawn by the prosecution only on the basis that applicant is relative of co-accused Vikas Garg, while applicant has come with the stand that applicant is bona fide purchaser of the property in question and applicant has also been cheated in this case by co-accused Vikas Garg. There is no dispute that proceeding under SARFAESI Act in the matter is still subjudice before D.R.T., Lucknow and no suit for cancellation of sale deeds dated 24.06.2011 and 02.01.2012 has been filed by any person. Kotak Mahindra Bank Limited and Citi Bank are free to avail statutory remedy available to them in the matter. In view of above, I find that case of present applicant is distinguishable from the case of co-accused Vikas Garg, who is main person in this case and is absconding.

14. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case, keeping in view the nature of the offence, evidence, complicity of the accused, submissions of the learned counsel for the parties, I am of the view that the applicant has made out a fit case for bail. Hence, the bail application is hereby allowed.

15. Let the applicant Udit Kumar Mittal, be released on bail in the aforesaid case crime number on furnishing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned with the following conditions which are being imposed in the interest of justice:-

i) The applicant will not tamper with prosecution evidence and will not harm or harass the victim/complainant in any manner whatsoever.

ii) The applicant will abide the orders of court, will attend the court on every date and will not delay the disposal of trial in any manner whatsoever.

(iii) The applicant will not indulge in any unlawful activities.

(iv) The applicant will not misuse the liberty of bail in any manner whatsoever.

16. The identity, status and residential proof of sureties will be verified by court concerned and in case of breach of any of the conditions mentioned above, court concerned will be at liberty to cancel the bail and send the applicant to prison.

17. It is clarified that anything said in this order is limited to the purpose of determination of this bail application and will in no way be construed as an expression on the merits of the case. It is further clarified that the trial court shall be absolutely free to arrive at its independent conclusions on the basis of evidence led unaffected by anything said in this order.

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code - Sections 147, 323/149, 307/149 & 302/149 - Appeal against conviction.

It is well settled by a catena of decisions that it is the duty of the prosecution to prove, and, if necessary, by examining an expert, that the particular injury has been caused in the manner alleged by the prosecution, otherwise, the accused may be entitled to the benefit of doubt. (para 43)

The injured witnesses do not leave the real culprits and falsely implicate innocent persons but at the same time, there may be cases where the injured persons have themselves committed wrong and out of fear of disclosure about their own wrong doing, they twist the real facts to demonstrate their innocence by introducing incorrect version of the incident. (para 53)

The possibility of the accused forming an unlawful assembly to plough their own field becomes doubtful. Secondly, injuries from hard and blunt object found on the body of the deceased has no explanation. Thirdly, the gun shot injury found on the body of the deceased could not have been from a gun, as alleged, but might have been from country-made pistol. Fourthly, the deceased had suffered hard and blunt object injuries of which there was no explanation in the prosecution evidence. (para 55)

District Bareilly, whereby all the appellants have been convicted under section 147, 323/149, 307/149 and 302/149 Indian Penal Code and the appellant nos. 1, 2, 3 and 6 have also been convicted under section 148 IPC. The appellants have been sentenced for life imprisonment under section 302/149 IPC and with respective lesser punishments for other offences mentioned above and all the sentences were to run concurrently.

2. According to the prosecution version, the incident in question is alleged to have taken place on 16.12.1979 at about 01:30 P.M., for which the first information report is alleged to have been lodged on the same day at about 03:30 P.M. by Jamal @ Jamaluddin, who also received injuries in the incident. The prosecution case as narrated in the first information report is that the first informant was having litigation regarding his land with one Sagir Ahmad S/o Abdul Rahim, resident of his village, in which the informant succeeded and was in possession of the land. On account of this, Sagir Ahmad and his family members bore a grudge with the informant and his family members and they wanted to grab possession of the land illegally. On the date of incident, at about 01:30 P.M., when the first informant Jamal (Jamaluddin) and his sons Khairuddin (the deceased), Ashfaq (PW2) and Riyazuddin (PW1) were plowing their field, the accused persons, namely, Sagir Ahmad S/o Abdul Rahim (died during trial), Aftab Ahmad S/o Iqbal Ahmad (Appellant no.1), Chhotey Mian S/o Sagir Ahmad (Appellant No.6), Addey S/o Sagir Ahmad (Appellant No.3), Laeeq Ahmad S/o Jamil Ahmad (Appellant No.2) armed with guns and Afzal Ahmad S/o Sagir Ahmad (Appellant No.5), Chhutawa S/o Khaleel Ahmad (Appellant No.7), Sukha S/o Jamil Ahmad (Appellant No.4), Bullad S/o Nazir Azmad (Appellant No.8), armed with lathis, came to the field and started abusing and threatening informant side and started plowing the field with their tractor. When Khairuddin (the deceased) tried to stop them, accused Sagir Ahmad shouted that this Khairuddin is posing himself more than what he actually is and, thereafter, fired upon him from his gun, due to which Khairuddin sustained injuries, fell on the spot and died. Other accused Chhotey Mian, Laeeq Ahmad, Aftab Ahmad started firing upon Ashfaq from their guns causing him injuries. The other accused persons assaulted the first informant and his son Riyazuddin by lathi. It is alleged that the accused persons after killing Khairuddin and causing injuries to first informant and his sons Riyazuddin and Ashfaq ran away towards village along with their tractor, whereas the dead body of Khairuddin was lying in the field. It is stated in the first information report that as the condition of Ashfaq was serious, the first informant took Ashfaq and Riyazuddin to Bareilly Hospital whereas the written information to the police station was being sent through Mohd. Ayub @ Doctor S/o Mohd. Jahur Ahmad, who lodged the first information report at police station Bhojipura on the same day, at 03:30 P.M., giving rise to case crime no. 231 of 1979, U/s 147 , 148, 149, 302 ,307,323 IPC. 8. Upon completion of the investigation, the Investigating Officer submitted charge-sheet bearing No. 42 dated 15th March, 1980 against all the accused persons i.e. appellants herein under Sections 147, 148, 323/149, 307/149 and 302/149 I.P.C., upon which cognizance was taken by the concerned Magistrate and thereafter, the case was committed to the Court of Sessions giving rise to Sessions Trial No. 144 of 1982. The trial court vide order dated 25.02.1983 framed charges against all the accused appellants under sections 147, 323/149,307/149 and 302/149. The accused Sagir Ahmad (since deceased), Aftab Ahmad, Chhotey Mian, Adday and Laeeq Ahmad, who were armed with guns, were charged under section 148 IPC also. The record further reveals that the accused persons were charged separately in the following manner:-

"i. Accused Afzal Ahmad, Sukha, Chhutwa @ Shakeel Ahmad and Buller were also charged with section 323 IPC simplicitor.

ii. Accused Chhotey Mian, Laeeq Ahmad and Aftab Ahmad were charged with section 307 IPC for having fired and caused injuries to Ashfaq Ahmad with their guns.

iii. The deceased accused Sagir Ahmad in addition to the foregoing charges was also separately charged with section 302 IPC simplicitor for having caused murder of Khairuddin."

9. The prosecution in support of its case produced two witnesses of facts namely, P.W.1 Riyazuddin, who is injured and is brother of the deceased; and P.W.2 Ashfaq Ahmad, who is also injured and is brother of the deceased. Apart from these two witnesses of fact, the prosecution examined P.W.3 Janardan Arora, Sub-Inspector, the second investigating officer who submitted charge sheet. The record reflects that the genuineness of injury reports and post mortem reports were accepted by the defense under section 294 Cr.P.C. However, the trial court summoned three persons as court witnesses, namely, C.W.1 Abdul Gafur, the scribe of the first information report, who proved the written report as having been dictated by the first informant Jamaluddin, C.W.2 Dr. J.N. Bhargava who conducted post mortem on the cadaver of deceased and proved the post mortem report and C.W.3 Om Prakash Saxena, the Executive Magistrate, Tehsil Bareilly who recorded statement of injured Ashfaq Ahmad on the date of the incident at about 07:45 P.M. as a dying declaration. But since P.W.2 Ashfaq Ahmad survived, it has been utilized by the trial court as his previous statement.

10. Apart from the oral testimony, the prosecution also relied upon documentary evidence, which was exhibited. The police papers regarding initial investigation by first investigating officer Sangram Singh were exhibited as Ext. Ka.-1 to Ext. Ka.-11 at the instance of the second investigating officer Janardan Arora as the first investigating officer Sangram Singh had died. He also proved that part of the investigation, which was done by him as also the charge sheet submitted by him (Ext. Ka-12).

11. In addition to above, the prosecution also relied upon some documentary evidence to prove the possession and title of first informant over the land in dispute. The same are catalogued herein-below:

"Ext. Ka-19, copy of the judgment of the Asst. Collector/Tehsildar, Bareilly dated 16th March, 1970 directing the name of Jamaluddin to be mutated over the land in dispute;

Ext. Ka-20 copy of the extract of Khatauni mutating the name of Jamaluddin over the land in dispute and expunging the name of Smt. Raqiban;

Ext.Ka-21 copy of the judgment of the Board of Revenue dated 28th February, 1981 rejecting the revision of Smt. Raqiban; and

Ext. Ka-22 copy of the search application, which shows that Jamaluddin filed an appeal against the order dated 27th January, 1984 passed by A.C.O. Fatehganj, wherein stay order has been passed."

12. The accused persons in their statements recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C. denied their involvement in the crime and stated that they have been falsely implicated due to old enmity between the parties regarding land dispute. They denied that the first informant Jamaluddin, since deceased, was in possession of the land in dispute and that they went to take forcible possession over the land in dispute on 16.12.1979. The accused persons further stated that they were in possession over the land in dispute since much before the incident.

13. The accused Imtiaz Ahmad @ Addey in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. further stated that the land in dispute was in their possession and on the date of the alleged incident, when he and Afsar @ Chhotey Mian were ploughing their field, Jamaluddin, Khairuddin, Ashfaq Ahmad, Akhlaq Ahmad and Riyazuddin armed with country made pistol and lathi came on the spot and assaulted them. His brother Afsar defended himself by using lathi and they lodged the report of the incident and the trial is pending. The accused persons also relied on documents which they filed as Ext. Kha.-1 to Exhibit Kha-21 and examined two defense witnesses i.e. D.W.1 (Dr. Vinod Sahgal), who had examined the accused Imtiaz Ahmad @ Addey and Afsar Ahmad @ Chhotey Mian for their injuries, and D.W. 2 (Damodar Sahai), the then Peshkar of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bareilly, who proved the alleged dying declaration i.e. previous statement of Ashfaq Ahmad recorded by Executive Magistrate.

14. The accused also filed the certified copy of their first information report (Ext. Kha-7) to show that Jamaluddin, Riyazuddin, Khairuddin, Ashfaq came to the disputed field armed with country made pistol and lathis on 16.12.1979 at about 2.00 P.M. to prevent the informant side (accused herein) from ploughing their agricultural field by tractor. It is alleged that these persons fired with their pistol, with intention of causing death, as a result, Imtiaz, who was ploughing the field with his tractor, sustained injuries. It was stated in the first information report (Ext. Kha-7) that they (accused persons of case in hand) took shelter behind the tractor and ran towards the village but Ashfaq (P.W.-2) fired from his pistol, as a consequence whereof, a pellet hit Imtiaz's leg. Another brother of accused Imtiaz, namely, Afsar @ Chhotey Mian, was also beaten with lathis. That first information report (Ext. Kha.-7) was lodged by Imtiaz on 16.12.1979 at 4.30 P.M., in which the time of occurrence was alleged to be 02.00 P.M., at the same place of occurrence, where the incident of the case in hand took place. The accused also relied upon the injury reports of Afsar Ahmad and Imtiaz Ahmad, which were marked as Ext. Kha-1 and Ext. Kha-2. These injury reports were proved by Dr. Vinod Sehgal (D.W.1), Medical Officer in District Jail, Bareilly, with the help of the register maintained in District Jail, by stating that in his register, dated 18.12.1979, at serial no. 1312, Afsar Ahmad S/o Sagir Ahmad accused was examined by him at 04:05 P.M. and one simple injury on his person was found to be caused by some blunt object. At the time of medical examination, the injury of Afsar Ahmad was about 2 and ½ days old. He placed its copy as Ext. Kha-8. Besides this, Dr. Vinod Sehgal DW-2 stated that at serial no. 1313, the injuries of Imtiaz Ahmad S/o Sagir Ahmad are also mentioned showing four injuries on his person, out of which, three were simple and regarding injury no.4, X-Ray was advised.

15. In addition to above, the accused also filed certified copy of the injury report (Ex. Kha-8) obtained from the cross-case, which is the injury report relating to accused Afsar Ahmad @ Chhotey Mian S/o Sagir Ahmad, who was examined by Dr. G.S. Gangapangi on 16.12.79 at 10:10 P.M. at P.H.C., Bhojipura. The injuries noticed therein were as follows:-

"1. Lacerated wound 6cm x 0.5 cm scalp over 13 cm above Rt. ear obliquely placed.

2. Swelling over Rt., wrist of outer medical surface.

No signs of dislocation and fracture.

Nature- simple, caused blunt object

Duration half day old."

16. The same Medical Officer also examined the injuries of Imtiaz Ahmad on the same date at 10.35 P.M., which was noticed in Ext. Kha -9 as follows:-

1. Abrasion 11 x 0.5 cm over the dorsal surface of Rt. ring finger extending from base of nail obliquely placed.

2. Abrasion 0.5cm x 0.6 cm over the dorsal surface of Rt. middle finger extending from base of nail.

3. Abrasion 0.5cm x 0.2 cm over dorsal surface Rt. thumb extending from basis of Rt. thumb.

4. Rounded lacerated wound 0.5 cm x 0.5 cm muscle deep over the posterior part of Lt. thigh 13.5 cm above knee joint.

Nature: Injuries No. 1, 2 and 3 simple and injury no.4 under observation advised X-Ray, Lt. thigh for presence of any foreign body from District Hospital, Bareilly.

Cause: Blunt object

Duration: About half day. Sd/- 15.12.79"

17. Lastly, the defense relied upon the alleged dying declaration (Ext. Kha-3) purporting to have been made by (P.W.2) Ashfaq Ahmad at District Hospital, Bareilly before the Executive Magistrate Sri O.P. Saxena C.W. 3, who was examined as court witness under section 311 Cr.P.C. He claimed to have recorded Ext. Kha.3 at 7.45 P.M. on 16.12.1979. The defense relied/utilized the same as previous statement of PW2 to demonstrate contradictions in the prosecution case with the case taken in the first information report (Ext. Ka- 1) as well as the prosecution evidence led during the course of trial. This document was produced by one Damodar Sahai (D.W.-2), reader to the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bareilly, who stated that it (Ext. Kha -3) was received in the court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bareilly on 17.12.79 along with the copy of G.D. No. 41, dated 16.12.1979, at 6.30 P.M. (Ext. Kha-5) from police station Kotwali. The intimation slip (Ex. Kha-4) of the Medical Officer at Civil Hospital, Bareilly, was also relied by the defense in order to show that Ashfaq Ahmad (P.W.-2) was mentally fit for recording his declaration. Sri Om Prakash Saxena, Tehsildar (C.W.-3) stated that Sri P.L. Verma, SDM, Bareilly ordered him to record the dying declaration (Ext. Kha- 3).

18. The accused Laeeq Ahmad raised a plea of alibi by filing mark-sheet and the scheme of his B.A.M.S. examination held by the Kanpur University between December, 1979 and January, 1980. The mark-sheet (Ext. Kha-17) disclosed that accused Laeeq Ahmad was permitted to appear again in B.A.M.S. examination as a supplementary candidate.

19. In order to show their possession over the land in dispute, the defense relied on following documents:-

i. Ext, Kha.-6, which is the certified extract of Khasra disclosing that Sagir Mohd. was recorded in cultivatory possession of Khasra nos. 415,466,467,493,495 to 499 and 555 to 561 in 1386 fasli

ii. Ext. Kha- 1, which is an extract of khatauni from 1383 to 1388 fasli disclosing that name of Jamaluddin (deceased-informant) along with others was recorded over the said plots and in place of names of Mohd. Ismail and Smt. Raqiban, the name of Sagir Ahmad (accused) had also been mutated on 18.4.78.

iii. Ext. Kha- 11 is a certified copy of an order of Naib Tehsildar dated 14.4.79, whereby he directed that the name of Smt. Raqiban be struck off and that of accused Sagir Ahmad be mutated.

20. The accused after closing of evidence of court witnesses (C.W.-1, C.W.-2 and C.W.-3) filed certified extracts of khasra for the years 1386 fasli to 1388 fasli, which was marked as Ext. Kha-16 indicating therein that Sagir Ahmad deceased-accused was also recorded as co-tenure holder of certain plots with deceased Jamal i.e. Jamaluddin.

21. The trial court after considering the evidence on record came to the conclusion that the prosecution witnesses are wholly reliable; the accused party was aggressor; and the injuries of accused persons are superficial in nature for which no explanation was required. The trial court found accused persons guilty for the charges framed against them, as they constituted an unlawful assembly and were liable as members thereof.

22. The accused Sagir Ahmad died during trial, whereas appellant no.3 Imtiaz Ahmad @ Adday S/o Sagir Ahmad, appellant no.5 Afzal Ahmad S/o Sagir Ahmad; appellant no.6 Chhotey Mian @ Afsar Ahmad S/o Sagir Ahmad; and appellant no.8 Bullar @ Abdul Sattar S/o Nazir Ahmad, died during the pendency of the appeal and their appeal stood abated vide separate orders dated 21.01.2019 and 08.05.2019. Thus, this appeal survives qua appellant no.1 (Aftab); appellant no.2 (Laeeq Ahamd); appellant no.4 (Sukkha); and appellant no.7 (Chhuttwa).

23. Learned counsel for the surviving accused-appellants has strenuously contended that they have been falsely implicated in the crime in question and the prosecution version is not proved beyond reasonable doubt and in this regard, following contentions have been put forth:-

(a) The prosecution has miserably failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt, inasmuch as it has failed to prove that the incident occurred in the manner alleged.

(b) The prosecution witnesses are partisan/inimical to the accused and the independent eye-witnesses named in the FIR have not been produced and have been purposely withheld.

(c) The medical evidence is in conflict with alleged eye witness account and it materially affects the reliability of witnesses.

(d) Material improvements have been made by the prosecution witnesses at every stage of the case, which make them wholly unreliable.

(e) The injuries suffered by the accused persons have not been explained by the prosecution and the manner, origin and motive of the quarrel has been suppressed by the prosecution.

(f) The trial court did not appreciate the evidence in correct legal perspective and misread the evidence.

(g) In the alternative, it is submitted that in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, the prosecution had miserably failed to prove that formation of an unlawful assembly with a common object to commit murder and as such, the accused appellants can therefore be held liable only for their individual act, if at all it is proved beyond doubt.

24. On the other hand, the learned Additional Govt. Advocate has supported the prosecution case and has submitted that the time and place of the incident is admitted to the defense and that the defense has impliedly admitted the presence of accused persons on the spot by setting up their own case that they were attacked by the informant's party while they were ploughing their field. The prosecution was not obliged to explain the injuries of the accused persons, as they were superficial in nature. Moreover, the accused persons constituted an unlawful assembly, inasmuch as they were more than five in number and were armed with weapons of assault including firearms, which were used in causing injuries to the deceased, as well as other persons, therefore, it cannot be said that the common object of the unlawful assembly was not to commit murder. The learned A.G.A. submitted that the prosecution has fully established its case beyond the pale of doubt and the trial court's findings are well discussed, which calls for no interference.

25. In the light of the above noted rival submissions, this court proceeds to examine the evidence available on record. P.W.1 (Riyazuddin) is an injured witness. He has stated about the close relationship of the accused persons inter se. He has stated about informant party's possession and title over the land in connection with which the incident occurred, though he admitted about litigation pending in court. Regarding incident, he has stated that on 16.12.1979, he along with his elder brother Khairuddin, younger brother Ashfaq Ahmad and father Jamaluddin were ploughing a field of Sumere Kurmi which they had taken on lease (batai) and which was located at a distance of just about 100 to 150 paces from the field in dispute. At about 01:30 P.M., all the named accused persons came with tractor to plough the disputed land. While accused Sagir Ahmad, Aftab Ahmad, Chhotey Mian, Laeeq Ahmad and Addey had guns in their hands, the other named accused persons had lathis. Upon seeing this Khairuddin went to that field and stood in front of the tractor and asked them to stop ploughing the field. P.W.1 (Riyazuddin), his father Jamaluddin and younger brother Ashfaq also reached there. At this juncture, accused Addey, who was driving the tractor, asked Khairuddin to move aside, otherwise he would be a victim but Khairuddin refused to budge, whereupon accused Sagir Ahmad by stating that Khairuddin is posing himself to be a wrestler and will not remove himself, fired upon Khairuddin, who died instantaneously, as a result of the gun shot. Upon which, P.W.1 (Riyazuddin) and his brother Ashfaq Ahmad and father Jamaluddin came towards Khairuddin. Seeing that, accused Aftab Ahmad, Chhotey Mian and Laeeq Ahmad, by their respective guns, fired upon Ashfaq Ahmad, who fell on the spot after receiving gunshot injury. Thereafter, P.W.1 (Riyazuddin) and his father Jamaluddin were assaulted by accused Afzal Ahmad, Chhutwa, Bullar and Sukhha with lathis causing injuries to them. Thereafter, co-villagers Rafeeq Ahmad, Habib Ahmad, Abdul Karim and others arrived on the spot and rebuked the accused persons, who ran away with their tractor. He further stated that his father (Jamaluddin) got the first information report of this case written at the house of Abdul Gafur Master and sent it to the police station through Mohd. Ayub @ Doctor for lodging the same. Thereafter, P.W.1, his father Jamaluddin and brother Ashfaq Ahmad came to Sadar Hospital, Bareilly where they were medically examined. Ashfaq Ahmad remained in the hospital as indoor patient for about 20-21 days.

26. In the cross examination, P.W.1 (Riyazuddin) admitted that prior to this incident, his father filed two criminal complaints against the accused persons, one against accused Sagir Ahmad, Afzal Ahmad, Adday, Chhotey Mian, Bhura and Khalifa for maarpeet and another criminal complaint against accused persons Sagir Ahmad, Afzal Ahmad and Adday for causing mischief by dismantling the mendh (boundary marks). He has further admitted in the cross examination that the name of Smt. Rafikan was mutated on the land in dispute about six years back and thereafter the name of Sagir Ahmad was mutated in place of Rafikan and since 16.12.1979, the name of Sagir Ahmad was continuing in revenue records for the land in dispute. He has denied possession of Sagir Ahmad over this land, however, he has admitted that during consolidation operations, Sagir Ahmad won the case from subordinate consolidation court, resulting in carvation of Chak in favour of Sagir Ahamd, though a revision has been filed by P.W.-1. He has further stated in cross examination that he was ploughing the field of Sumere Kurmi which his brother Khairuddin had taken on lease (batai). He has stated that his father Jamaluddin wrongly mentioned in the first information report that he (Jamaluddin) and his sons Khairuddin, Ashfaq Ahmad and Riyazuddin were ploughing the land in dispute and he cannot say as to how this mistake occurred in the first information report. When his statement was taken on next day by police Inspector, first information report was read out to him but he did not inform the police Inspector that the above mentioned facts were wrongly written in the first information report. He was also cross examined on the manner of assault, according to which he had initially stated that at the time of actual shooting deceased Khairuddin was standing in front of tractor almost touching it and other accused persons were standing 1-2 paces behind the tractor, however subsequently he modified his statement to the effect that other accused persons were standing 4-5 paces behind the tractor and they fired from that position. He reiterated that the deceased Khairuddin had received one gunshot injury and died instantaneously. The accused persons were armed with gun and lathi only and no one was having Ballam. P.W.1 and his family members neither had weapon nor they caused injury to any of the accused persons and that he did not see any injury on the person of any accused and he cannot say as to how the accused persons received injuries. He however denied possession of accused person on the land in dispute and also denied the suggestion that he and his family members went to the place of incident armed with lathi and country made pistol. He further stated that at the time of assault no other person was there. According to the record, this witness was recalled on 02.05.1984, when he proved the written report by stating that on 16.12.1979, his father Jamaluddin dictated the report in his presence to Abdul Gafur and then Abdul Gafur read out his report to his father (Jamaluddin) and thereafter his father put his thumb impression on the written report.

27. P.W.2 (Ashfaq Ahmad) is also an injured eye witness. He is son of first informant Jamaluddin and is brother of P.W.1 Riyazuddin. He allegedly received gunshot injuries and other blunt weapon injuries in the aforesaid incident. His statement on oath was recorded on the date of the incident itself at about 07:45 P.M. by the Executive Magistrate after obtaining the certificate from the doctor that the injured is in a fit state to give statement and this statement is on oath. The aforesaid statement which is now to be treated as a previous statement reads as under:-

"अशफाकअहमद पुत्र जमाल उददीन आयु 25 वर्ष निवासी– धौरू टांज, थाना मोजीपुरा, जिला बरेली ने सशपथ बयान किया कि आज करीब दोपहर 1.30, 2 बजे अपने खेत पर काम कर रहा था फिर लाला जी सगीर अहमद पुत्र हाजी अब्दुल रहीम, अफजाल पुत्र सगीर अहमद छोटे मियॉ पुत्र सगीर अहमद, अड्डेपुर सगीर अहमद, पहलवान बुल्हड़ पुत्र नजीर अहमद, शकील अहमद उर्फ घुटवा पुत्र हाजी खलील मिस्टर आये फिर एक आफताब पुत्र इकबाल बताया आये। इन सब में से आफताब, अफजाल और बुहल्ड़ पहलवान के पास दोनाली बन्दूक थी एवं और भी थी। अफजाल ने गोली चलाई जो मेरे कुहनी और कोख पर छर्रे लगे। गोली और भी चली लेकिन मैं बेहोश हो गया मुझे नही पता कि किस किस ने चलाई। 3 आदमियों पर भाले और लाठी थी। खेत पर मेरे अलावा मेरे 2 भाई और एक बाप थे भाईयों का नाम खैर उददीन और राजउददीन है। इन लोगो के भी छर्रे लगे है। पहले बेहोश हो गया था जब होश आया तब भागा भागते समय दीखा की भाई वही पड़े हुये थे। हमारा इन से मुकदमा चल रहा था। हम नायब साहब के यहॉ से जीत गये, और फिर कलेक्टर साहब के यहॉ से भी जीत गये इसी रंजिश की वजह से इन्होने मेरे व मेरे घर वालो के गोली मारी है।

O.P. Saxena

Executive Magistrate

Certified that above mentioned pt. named Asfaq Ahmad is in full sense to record his dying declaration

SD.-
10-5-86

28. During his examination in Court, P.W.2 (Ashfaq Ahmad) has corroborated the statement of P.W.1 Riyazuddin in each and every material aspect of the matter including manner of assault. Regarding manner of assault, he has corroborated P.W.1 Riyazuddin and has stated that when he and his family members reached the land in dispute, about 2-3 Biswa of the land had been ploughed by the accused persons with the help of the tractor. He stated that Khairuddin stood in front of the tractor about 6-7 paces away and accused persons were about 1-2 paces behind the tractor. He stated that Khairuddin received only one gunshot injury and died on account of that injury and that no other injury was received by him.

29. Upon being confronted with his previous statement, he stated that he does not remember as to whether he had given any statement to Magistrate in the hospital or to the police inspector. The statement recorded by the Magistrate was put to him to contradict his statement in Court but he expressed his inability to explain the contradictions and stated that he could not say as to how those contradictions occurred in his statement. He stated that first information report was dictated by his father in his presence at about 02:30 P.M. He denied the suggestion that informant side had caused injuries to accused persons. He stated that no accused had received any injuries in front of him.

30. It is relevant to mention here that the statement of P.W.2, which was recorded on 16.12.1979 itself, at about 07:45 P.M., by the Executive Magistrate in the shape of dying declaration, on oath, was withheld by the prosecution. From the judgment of the learned trial court, it transpires that the stand of the prosecution before the trial court was that this statement is fabricated and was never given by the witness P.W.2. But, this statement was relied by the defense to question the reliability and genuineness of ocular testimony of P.W.2 (Ashfaq Ahmad) by showing various contradictions and improvements therein. The trial court summoned and examined the Executive Magistrate Sri Om Prakash Saxena as C.W.3 to prove the aforesaid statement of P.W.2 Ashfaq Ahmad and thus, it was exhibited as Ext.-C1. The defense also examined D.W.2 (Damodar Sahai), the then Peshkar of Court of learned C.J.M., Bareilly where the aforesaid statement was sent in a sealed cover.

31. P.W.3 Sub-Inspector Janardan Arora, the then Station Officer of police station Bhojipura has been examined by the prosecution regarding investigation part of the case. He was second Investigating Officer and had submitted the charge sheet. The first Investigating Officer Sub Inspector Sangram Singh had died and thereafter, the investigation was handed over to P.W.3 Janardan Arora. He has proved the police papers including various recovery memos prepared by first Investigating Officer by stating that he was acquainted with his signature and hand writing. He has proved Ext. Ka 2 to Ext. Ka 13. Apart from his formal evidence, he has stated in cross examination that he had investigated the issue regarding alibi of Sagir Ahmad and had interrogated various persons in this regard. However, after obtaining legal advice, he submitted charge sheet against Sagir Ahmad also. He has stated that in the site plan, about one fourth of total area of the land in dispute was found to be ploughed. He was confronted with the statement of PW1 Riyazuddin and PW2 Ashfaq Ahmad recorded under section 161 of Cr.P.C., upon which he stated that in their statement, it was mentioned that "Taeed FIR karte hue bataya" and in the statement of Ashfaq Ahmad recorded under section 161 Cr.P.C. that "Maine ek bayan Magistrate Sahab ko bhi aspatal mein jakhmi halat mein diya".

32. The trial court also summoned and examined the scribe of the first information report, namely, Abdul Gafur as C.W.1, who stated, in his examination-in-chief, that Jamaluddin had dictated the first information report to him and he wrote exactly the same as was dictated by Jamaluddin. After writing the written report, he read it over to Jamaluddin and thereafter Jamaluddin put his thumb impression on it. In his cross examination, he has stated that first informant Jamaluddin and Ashfaq (injured witness) had come for writing the first information report and he did not see Riyazuddin, Khairuddin and Akhlaq as they did not come. He has also stated that neither he went to the police station nor police approached him thereafter.

33. The trial court further examined Dr. J.N. Bhargava, C.W.2, who has proved the post mortem report and has stated about the ante mortem injuries mentioned in the post mortem report. He has stated in his cross examination done by State Counsel that injury nos. 2,3 & 5 are not possible from fire arm and they could be caused by collusion with some heavy object, such as lathi or butt of a gun. With regard to fire arm injury i.e. injury no.4, he has stated that this injury had blackening and could have been caused by gun shot fire from within a distance of 4 feet, while injury no.1 could have been caused from a much greater distance. He also could not tell whether injury no.4 was caused by fire from country-made pistol or gun, which according to him, could be told by Ballistic Expert. He has denied the suggestion that injury no.5 may be possible by wheel of some vehicle.

34. The trial court further examined C.W.3 Om Prakash Saxena, Executive Magistrate, who had recorded the statement of injured Ashfaq Ahmad as dying declaration. He stated that the aforesaid statement was recorded on 16.12.1979 at about 07:45 P.M. Before recording the statement he had asked the doctor as to whether the injured is in fit state of giving statement and he had also obtained the certificate of the Emergency Medical Officer on duty in this regard and only then, he recorded the statement of Ashfaq Ahmad. He has also stated that the statement was recorded by him as was stated by the injured and at the time of recording of statement, no other person except him and injured were present. He has denied the suggestion of the state counsel that the aforesaid statement was concocted by him with the help of doctor.

35. Now, in the light of the aforesaid material, the court proceeds to examine the prosecution case and the submission made by defense as well as by the learned Addl. Govt. Advocate. The first submission of the learned counsel for the accused appellant is that both the prosecution witnesses are wholly partisan and are inimical and the independent persons who are named in the first information report as eye witnesses have been withheld and, therefore, in these circumstances, the tainted evidence of P.W.1 and P.W.2 is liable to be rejected. In order to appreciate this plank of submission, the position of law which is now well settled by a catena of decisions of Hon'ble Apex Court may be recapitulated through the observations of their Lordships of Supreme Court in the case of "State of U.P. vs. Ballabh Dass" , AIR 1985 SC 1384, which are as under:

"There is no law which says that in the absence of any independent witnesses, the evidence of interested witnesses should be thrown out at the behest or should not be relied upon for convicting an accused. What the law requires is that where the witnesses are interested, the court should approach their evidence with care and caution in order to exclude the possibility of false implication. We might also mention that the evidence of interested witnesses is not like that of an approver which is presumed to be tainted and requires corroboration but the said evidence is as good as any other evidence. It may also be mentioned that in a faction ridden village, as in the instant case as mentioned by us earlier, it will really be impossible to find independent persons to come forward and give evidence and in a large number of such cases only partisan witnesses would be natural and probable witnesses".

36. Without burdening this judgment by citing further case-laws, suffice to say that statement of a prosecution witness, whether independent or related to first informant or deceased, has to be tested on its own strength in the light of evidence available on record.

37. In the present case both the parties, first informant as well as the accused, have sought to demonstrate that they were ploughing their own field. The defense case is that the informant's party was the aggressor and the incident did not occur in the manner alleged by the prosecution. On the other hand, the prosecution case is that time and place of occurrence and the presence of accused-appellants are not only proved but also admitted and the injuries of the accused persons are superficial in nature and, therefore, the prosecution has fully proved its case against the accused. The trial court has concluded that the first informant was in possession of the land in dispute and the accused persons were aggressor. In the above backdrop, the evidence has to be considered and analyzed by this court.

38. At the very outset, it may be noticed that the law with regard to burden of proof is well settled that the initial burden is upon the prosecution to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt and it never shifts. This burden has to be discharged in totality and the prosecution cannot take shelter of any weakness of the defense case. It is useful to quote the observations made in the case of Woolmington v. Director of Public Prosecution", 1935 AC 462, which is as follows:-

"Throughout the web of the English Criminal Law one golden thread is always to be seen that it is the duty of the prosecution to prove the prisoner's guilt subject to what I have already said as to the defence of insanity and subject to any statutory exceptions. If at the end of and on the whole of the case, there is a reasonable doubt, created by the evidence given by either the prosecution or the prisoner, as to whether the prisoner killed the deceased with a malicious intention, the prosecution has not made out the case and the prisoner is entitled to an acquittal. No matter what the charge and where the trial, the principle that the prosecution must prove the guilt of the prisoner is part of the common law of England and no attempt to whittle it down can be entertained."

39. In the case of Sharad Birdi Chand Sharda v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1984 SC 1622, their Lordships of the Supreme Court observed as follows:-

"It is well settled that the prosecution must stand or fall on its own legs and it cannot derive any strength from the weakness of the defence. This is trite law and no decision has taken a contrary view. What some cases have held is only this : where various links in a chain are in themselves complete, then a false plea or a false defence may be called into aid only to lend assurance to the court. In other words, before using the additional link it must be proved that all the links in the chain are complete and do not suffer from any infirmity. It is not the law that where there is any infirmity or lacuna in the prosecution case the same could be cured or supplied by a false defense or a plea which is not accepted by a court."

40. First of all, the court proceeds to examine the origin, motive and manner of assault as stated by both the prosecution witnesses. In this respect, the prosecution case as well as defense of accused persons revolves around the issue of possession of the land in dispute and the right and entitlement of the parties to defend it. In the first information report, it was specifically stated by the first informant Jamaluddin that he and his sons including the deceased Khairuddin were ploughing their field (land in dispute) and at that time the accused persons came and started ploughing the field with their tractor. This fact was reiterated by P.W.2 in his previous statement recorded by Executive Magistrate. However in their statement recorded during trial, the P.W.1 and P.W.2 started saying that the first informant and his sons including the P.W.1 and P.W.2 were ploughing the field of Sumere Kurmi, which was taken by them on lease (batai) and this field is situated at a distance of about 100-150 paces from the field in dispute. In this regard, a specific question was put to P.W.1 in his cross examination, upon which he stated that the fact that his father and they were ploughing the field in dispute is wrongly mentioned in the first information report and he cannot say as to how this mistake occurred. He even stated that, on the next day of the incident, when his statement was recorded by the Investigating Officer, under Section 161 Cr.P.C, the first information report was placed before him but he did not disclose to the Investigating Officer that this fact was incorrect. On the other hand, from the statement of Investigating Officer P.W.3 (Janardan Arora), it is clear that P.W.1 had made his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. approving the version of first information report. P.W.-1 further stated in his re-examination that the first information report was dictated and written in his presence and thereafter it was read over by the scribe Abdul Gafur (C.W.1) to the first informant in his presence. From the above discussion, it is obvious that this deviation is deliberate and intentional and has not been explained by P.W.1 in any plausible manner. It assumes importance when this court peruses the statement of P.W.1 (Riyazuddin), in his cross examination, that on two earlier occasions, his father Jamaluddin had filed two criminal complaints against Sagir Ahmad and other co-accused but both were dismissed and that the land in dispute was initially mutated in the name of Smt. Rafikan and thereafter name of Sagir Ahmad was mutated in her place and the same continues. He has further admitted that during consolidation operation the land in dispute was allotted to Sagir Ahmad and Chak was also carved out in his name though he had filed revision against the orders passed by sub-ordinate Consolidation Courts. After this admission by P.W .1, the claim of the first informant and the prosecution witnesses that they were in possession of the land in dispute and the case was decided in their favour becomes extremely doubtful because when it is admitted that Chak has been carved out in favour of the accused, it would be deemed that the accused entered into exclusive possession. Unfortunately, the trial court did not consider and discuss the statement of prosecution witnesses properly while deciding the issue of possession in favour of first informant. After examining the documentary evidence filed by the prosecution i.e. Exhibit Ka-19, Ka-20, Ka-21 & Ka-22 read with the admission of prosecution witnesses in their cross examination, it is very difficult to conclude that the first informant was in possession of the land in dispute at the time of incident. Ext. Ka-19 is a certified copy of the order of the Asst. Collector/Tehsildar, Bareilly dated 16th March, 1970 directing the name of Jamaluddin to be mutated over the land in dispute. However perusal of the aforesaid order shows that in his cross examination in the aforesaid case of mutation, the P.W.1 Jamal (first informant Jamaluddin) admitted at internal page no.2 that he did not move any application for expunction of the name of Illias @ Mohammad Ismail during consolidation operation. Similarly P.W.2 of that mutation case Mohd. Ismail also admitted in his cross examination, which has been discussed in internal page no.3, that the applicant did not file objection during consolidation operation. The aforesaid admission of the prosecution witnesses Jamaluddin and Mohd. Ismile made in those proceedings reflecting that consolidation operations had already started and were going on and the informant had not claimed any right or title on the land in dispute in consolidation operations is of great significance.

41. Ext. Ka-22 is the copy of the search application, which shows that Jamaluddin filed an appeal against the order dated 27th January, 1984 passed by A.C.O. Fatehganj, wherein stay order was passed. This also shows that the order passed by ACO, Fatehganj was in favour of Sagir Ahmad against which Riyazuddin etc. had filed an appeal before the Settlement Officer Consolidation,Bareilly. P.W.1 has admitted in his cross examination that the land in dispute was initially mutated in the name of Rafikan and thereafter name of Sagir Ahmad was mutated in her place and the same is still continuing. He has further admitted that during consolidation proceeding, the land in dispute was allotted to Sagir Ahmad and Chak was also carved out in his name and he filed revision against the order passed by Subordinate Consolidation Courts. It will not be out of place to mention here that under the consolidation operation, the rights and title in respect of agricultural land falling in the consolidation area have to be decided by the Consolidation Officer and jurisdiction of any other court is barred. Against the order of Consolidation Officer, the appeal lies before the Settlement Officer Consolidation and thereafter a revision lies before Deputy Director Consolidation. Obviously, Sagir Ahmad had won the case in the court of Consolidation Officer therefore revision was filed by the informant party, as admitted. In view of this admission of P.W.1, the claim of the first informant and the prosecution witnesses that the case was decided in their favour and they were in possession of the land in dispute on the date of incident is unworthy of acceptance. Unfortunately, the trial court did not consider and discuss this statement of P.W.1 (Riyazuddin), while deciding the issue of possession of land in dispute and committed error by holding that at least the informant party was in joint possession as co-owner when, otherwise, by carvation of Chak, co-ownership and joint possession ceases. In these circumstances, the prosecution case as set forth in the first information report and in the previous statement of injured P.W.2 (Ashfaq Ahmad), to the effect that they were ploughing their own field in dispute, when accused persons arrived there and assaulted, was changed at the stage of trial, by claiming that they were ploughing the field of Sumere Kurmi. This court is thus of the firm opinion that the prosecution has miserably failed to prove that the land in dispute was in exclusive, actual and physical possession of the first informant. Rather, it appears to us that accused party were in possession and were ploughing their field when the incident occurred.

42. When we examine the statement of P.W.1 with regard to manner of assault, we find that it is in conflict with medical evidence as several blunt weapon injuries have been found on the person of the deceased, which have not been explained at all. In the cross examination of C.W.2, Dr. J.N. Bhargava, conducted by the State Counsel, he has categorically stated in para no.4 of his deposition that injury nos.

2, 3 & 5 are not possible by fire arm and are result of hard and blunt object. None of the witnesses including P.W.1 and P.W.2 have stated that the deceased was assaulted with any blunt weapon. On the other hand, it has been categorically stated that the deceased received only one gunshot injury and died instantaneously. The injury nos. 2, 3 & 5 are not possible by falling down as the place of incident is an agricultural field. Moreover, both the underneath bones in respect of injury no.5 were found fractured. This is possible only by multiple blows of some blunt weapon, that too with full force. Even with regard to gunshot injuries, the witness C.W. 2, Dr. J.N. Bhargava, has categorically stated that injury no.4, which is gunshot injury contains blackening and could have been caused from a distance of four feet, while the P.W.1 has stated that the distance of deceased with the assailants was much more. The deceased was standing in front of tractor, 4-6 paces away, whereas the assailants were few paces behind the tractor. It is also noteworthy that the accused Sagir Ahmad, who allegedly caused fire arm injury to deceased, was allegedly armed with a gun. The dispersal of the pellets in injury no.4 is of such nature and in such area (30 cm x 27 cm) that it is not possible, if the shot is fired from a gun within 4 feet. According to the medical jurisprudence (Modi), the dispersal of the pallets in inches is equal to the distance of fire arm in yards. In these circumstances the gun causing such dispersal should have been fired from a distance of at least 12 yards but in that case blackening would not have been there in the wound, which is possible only when the distance of fire arm would have been few feet away, say about 4 feet, as stated by C.W.2. At this stage, it would be useful to notice the writing of Dr. N.K. Modi in his famous treatise Modi's Medical Jurisprudence and Toxicology, 21st Edition, at page no. 269, with regard to the effect produced by small shots fired from a short gun and the mode of calculation of distance of fire arm. The relevant portion is extracted below:

"At a distance of one to three feet small shot make a single aperture with irregular and lacerated edges corresponding in size to the bore of the muzzle of the gun, as the shot enter as one mass, but are scattered after entering the wound and cause great damage to the internal tissues. The skin surrounding the wounds is blackened, scorched and tattooed with unburnt grains of powder. On the other hand, at a distance of six feet the central aperture is surrounded by separate openings in an area of about two inches in diameter made by a few pellets of the shot which spread out before reaching the mark. The skin surrounding the aperture may not be blackened or scorched, but is tattooed to some extent. At a distance of twelve feet the charge of shot spreads widely and enters the body as individual pellets producing separate openings in an area of five to eight inches in diameter depending on the choke, but without causing blackening, scorching or tattooing of the surrounding skin. At a distance of about 50 feet a pattern measuring about 14 inches from a fully choked barrel and about 28 inches from an unchoked barrel are produced and at about 100 feet the spread pattern on the target is about 30 inches from a fully choked barrel and 50 inches from an unchoked one. A rule of thumb in long usage is that the diameter of the spread of the shot pattern on the skin in inches is roughly equal to the distance from the muzzle in yards "

43. It is well settled by a catena of decisions that it is the duty of the prosecution to prove, and, if necessary, by examining an expert, that the particular injury has been caused in the manner alleged by the prosecution, otherwise, the accused may be entitled to the benefit of doubt. In the case of Mohinder Singh vs. State AIR 1953 SC 415, The Hon'ble Court observed as under:-

"In a case where death is due to the injuries or wounds caused by lethal weapon, it is always the duty of the prosecution to prove by expert evidence that it was likely or at least possible for the injuries to have been caused with the weapon with which and in the manner in which they are alleged to have been caused. It is elementary that where the prosecution has a definite or positive case, it must prove the whole of the case. It was found doubtful whether the injuries which were attributed to the accused were caused by a gun or a rifle. It seemed more likely that they were caused by a rifle than a gun, and yet the case of the prosecution was that the accused was armed with a gun and in his examination it was definitely put to him that he was armed with the gun."

44. Now comes another aspect of the case that is with regard to injuries sustained by some of the accused persons and the effect of its non-explanation by the prosecution. The legal position in this regard has been meticulously examined and decided in various pronouncements of the Hon'ble Apex Court. In the case of Laxmi Singh vs. State of Bihar (1976) 4 SCC 394, the Hon'ble Supreme Court after considering the various earlier cases observed as under:-

12. ....in a murder case, the non-explanation of the injuries sustained by the accused at about the time of the occurrence or in the course of altercation is a very important circumstance from which the court can draw the following inferences:

(1) that the prosecution has suppressed the genesis and the origin of the occurrence and has thus not presented the true version;

(2) that the witnesses who have denied the presence of the injuries on the person of the accused are lying on a most material point and therefore their evidence is unreliable;

(3) that in case there is a defence version which explains the injuries on the person of the accused it is rendered probable so as to throw doubt on the prosecution case.

The omission on the part of the prosecution to explain the injuries on the person of the accused assumes much greater importance where the evidence consists of interested or inimical witnesses or where the defence gives a version which competes in probability with that of the prosecution one."

45. In the case of Dashrath Singh vs. State of U.P. (2004) 7 SCC 408, the Apex Court observed as under:-

"The injuries of serious nature received by the accused in the course of the same occurrence would indicate that there was a fight between both the parties. In such a situation, the question as to the genesis of the fight, that is to say, the events leading to the fight and which party initiated the first attack assumes great importance in reaching the ultimate decision. It is here that the need to explain the injuries of serious nature received by the accused in the course of same occurrence arises. When explanation is given, the correctness of the explanation is liable to be tested. If there is an omission to explain, it may lead to the inference that the prosecution has suppressed some of the relevant details concerning the incident. The Court has then to consider whether such omission casts a reasonable doubt on the entire prosecution story or it will have any effect on the other reliable evidence available having bearing on the origin of the incident. Ultimately, the factum of non-explanation of injuries is one circumstance which has to be kept in view while appreciating the evidence of prosecution witnesses. In case the prosecution version is sought to be proved by partisan or interested witnesses, the non-explanation of serious injuries may prima facie make a dent on the credibility of their evidence. So also where the defence version accords with probabilities to such an extent that it is difficult to predicate which version is true, then, the factum of non-explanation of the injuries assumes greater importance. Much depends on the quality of the evidence adduced by the prosecution and it is from that angle, the weight to be attached to the aspect of non-explanation of the injuries should be considered. The decisions abovecited would make it clear that there cannot be a mechanical or isolated approach in examining the question whether the prosecution case is vitiated by reason of non-explanation of injuries. In other words, the non-explanation of injuries of the accused is one of the factors that could be taken into account in evaluating the prosecution evidence and the intrinsic worth of the defence version."

46. In this case, P.W.1 has not explained the injuries sustained by the accused persons and on being asked he categorically stated that he saw the accused coming armed with fire arms and lathis but informant party did not pick any lathi or gun and they neither used any weapon in their defense nor caused any injury to any accused.

47. That apart, the Investigating Officer recovered the upper part of Ballam from the place of occurrence and made a memo, which is Ext. Ka- 6. But P.W.-1 has stated that he did not see any accused armed with Ballam. From the above discussion, this court is of the view that even if the presence of P.W.-1 is accepted at the place of occurrence but this witness cannot be wholly reliable, as he appears to be suppressing material facts.

48. Now we proceed to appreciate the evidence given by P.W.2. The statement of P.W.2 is in line with the statement of P.W.1. Like P.W.1, he has deviated from the version of the first information report by stating that he and his brothers including his father were ploughing the field taken on lease from Sumere Kurmi. He also disclosed that Khairuddin was fired upon by Sagir Ahmad from his gun and he died instantaneously after gunshot injury and that the deceased Khairuddin had received only one gunshot injury and no other injury by any other weapon. When he was confronted with his earlier statement recorded by C.W.3, Om Prakash Saxena, Executive Magistrate, he stated that he could not remember as to whether his statement was taken by the Magistrate or not. He could not remember as to whether his statement was recorded in police station or not. He expressed his inability to explain the other contradictions that appeared in his previous statement with the version given in court.

49. In the opinion of this court, feigning ignorance by this witness about recording his statement by the Investigating Officer and by the Executive Magistrate is deliberate to avoid rendering explanation to the contradictions that appeared in his previous statement with the statement in court. Under the circumstances, this witness is also not wholly reliable inasmuch as he is suppressing facts and is making improvement from his earlier version. In fact, the trial court has noticed this aspect and while discussing the statement of this witness, the trial court had observed, at internal page no. 26 of trial court judgment, as follows:

"Even if P.W.2 is excluded from the evidence due to the said inconsistency, the incriminating evidence of P.W.1 still remains on record who consistently and substantially corroborated the prosecution. The testimony of P.W.1 being an injured witness is enough to sustain the conviction of the accused. Under these circumstances, the inconsistencies in the dying declaration/previous statement of P.W.2 (Ext. Kha-3) and oral evidence of P.W.2 are not so important and material as to throw away the whole prosecution story which is adequately corroborated in material particulars by the reliable evidence of PW1."

50. We are not in agreement with the view of the trial court that PW1 is wholly reliable. Rather, we are of the view that both the prosecution witnesses P.W.1 (Riyazuddin) and P.W.2 (Ashfaq Ahmad) are not wholly reliable as they have lied on material particulars such as: (i) the possession of the land in dispute; (ii) the genesis of the incident; and (iii) the nature of the firearm used and the place from where it was used to inflict firearm injury on the deceased. In addition to that they have not submitted explanation for hard and blunt object injuries found on the body of the deceased and the injuries found on the body of the accused.

51. At this juncture this Hon'ble Court is reminded of the golden rule of appreciation of evidence propounded by the Hon'ble Apex Court in case of Vadivelu Thevar v. State of Madras AIR 1957 SC 614, in which while classifying the witnesses in three categories, namely (i) wholly reliable, (ii) wholly unreliable, (iii) neither wholly reliable nor wholly unreliable, the Hon'ble Court observed that in the 3rd category of cases the court has to be circumspect and has to look for corroboration in material particulars by reliable testimony, direct or circumstantial. In the present case, no such corroboration to the testimony of P.W.1 (Riyazuddin) and P.W.2 (Ashfaq Ahmad) is available from any other independent reliable source or circumstances. It may be noticed that the contents of the first information report which has been used by the trial court for corroboration of the testimony of the witnesses was improper because the informant had not turned up in the witness box and therefore its content could not have been read as substantive evidence, particularly, when it was not demonstrated that it could be admissible in evidence as his dying declaration.

52. In the case of Gautam Lal vs. State of U.P. (1981) CrlJ 1187, the Hon'ble Court observed as under:-

"11. It is now a well settled principle of criminal law that an accused can be convicted only when on the evidence produced the court is in a position to come to a definite conclusion beyond the possibility of reasonable doubt that the accused committed the offence with which he stood charged. No conviction can be based on mere possibility. Nor is it permissible for the court to speculate as to what had really happened. If both the parties come to the court with untrue facts and conceal the real truth they have themselves to blame and they cannot expect the court to arrive at any definite conclusion on the unreliable evidence produced either for or against either of the parties. In such a case the court will certainly attempt to separate the grain from the chaff but only if it is possible to do so. In certain circumstances it may be found to be impossible task. That is particularly so when the evidence of both the parties is unreliable and cannot be accepted even in part with safety. In such a case it is not open to the court to make out a third case which is different from the case set up by both the parties. In a situation like this the court can only say that the matter is doubtful in the extreme and it is not possible to arrive at any conclusion one way or the other."

53. Although generally the injured witnesses do not leave the real culprits and falsely implicate innocent persons but at the same time, there may be cases where the injured persons have themselves committed wrong and out of fear of disclosure about their own wrong doing, they twist the real facts to demonstrate their innocence by introducing incorrect version of the incident. Moreover, they may implicate innocent persons too, particularly, where there is old standing enmity. The court is conscious of the fact that the present case is a case of day light incident and there are witnesses who have suffered injuries and therefore their presence at the place of occurrence cannot be doubted in a slipshod manner. However, in the case of Balak Ram v. State of U.P. (1975) 3 SCC 219, the Apex Court observed that the presence of injuries on the person does not give any guarantee about his truthfulness nor it could be an insurance against the natural human failing of implicating innocent persons along with the guilty. Thus, presence of an injured witness at the place of occurrence may be certified by his injuries but whether the said witness is truthful and his testimony is reliable, would have to be tested on the weight of other evidences/circumstances brought on record.

54. In the present case, the prosecution witnesses have admitted the rivalry and litigation in between the two families. P.W.1 has also admitted in his cross examination that on earlier occasion two criminal complaints were filed by his father Jamaluddin (first informant) against Sagir Ahmad and other accused persons, which were dismissed later. In these circumstances, keeping in mind the various aspects noticed above, which discloses that the prosecution has not been able to satisfactorily establish that the incident had occurred in the manner alleged, as also, the possibility of false implication of some of the innocent persons on account of exaggeration, the Court being not able to separate the grain from the chaff, would have to accord the benefit of doubt to all the surviving appellants, particularly, when we notice that as per the prosecution evidence a solitary gun shot was fired at the deceased which was attributed to Sagir Ahmed, who expired during trial, and three persons, namely, Aftab Ahmed (surviving appellant no1), Chottey Mian @ Afsar Ahmed (who died during appeal) and Laeek Ahmed (surviving appellant no.2), are stated to have fired at Ashfaq Ahmed (PW2) as against which he had suffered only two gun shot injuries and in his previous statement, which was recorded as dying declaration, PW2 attributed the firearm injury sustained by him to Afzal Ahmed. Rest of the injuries are only of hard and blunt object which may be attributable to the other two surviving appellants along with two others who have expired, but in what manner the incident unfolded, whether lathi blows were exchanged in protection of possession and, thereafter, assailants, with firearms, joined the fray, being not clear from the various shortcomings noticed by us in the prosecution case, all the surviving appellants would be entitled to the benefit of doubt.

55. We may put on record that no doubt, the cross case initiated by the accused persons resulted in acquittal but it will not make any difference as in a criminal case the burden of proof rests upon the prosecution. If the accused establishes that the accused also sustained injuries, in that very incident and the same has not been properly explained by the prosecution, the court may draw an inference that the prosecution witnesses are not coming with clean hands and are lying on a most important aspect of the case adversely affecting their reliability. This court is conscious of the legal position that in each and every case it is not obligatory upon the prosecution to explain even the superficial and simple injuries received by accused persons. But each case turns on its own facts. In the present case, this Court has found that the claim of the informant side that they were in possession of the disputed land appeared doubtful, as it was admitted by prosecution witness that the accused had got a Chak carved out in their favour. Thus, the possibility of the accused forming an unlawful assembly to plough their own field becomes doubtful. Secondly, injuries from hard and blunt object found on the body of the deceased has no explanation. Thirdly, the gun shot injury found on the body of the deceased could not have been from a gun, as alleged, but might have been from country-made pistol. Fourthly, the deceased had suffered hard and blunt object injuries of which there was no explanation in the prosecution evidence. All this throws serious doubt on the truthfulness of the prosecution case with regard to the manner in which the incident occurred and, consequently, it would have material bearing on the liability of each accused, particularly, by invoking the law relating to an unlawful assembly. Further the deviation of the prosecution case, from the first information report and also from the statement recorded during investigation, particularly, the previous statement of P.W.2 recorded by Executive Magistrate, gives rise to a reasonable doubt about the genuineness of prosecution version and throws possibility that initially the accused may have exchanged lathi blows with the informant party to defend possession and, later assailants with firearm joined them to overpower the other side. But as all these aspects could only be speculated upon, the benefit of doubt would have to go to the surviving accused-appellants.

56. In the result, the appeal of surviving appellants, namely, appellant no.1 (Aftab Ahmad); appellant no.2 (Laiq Ahmad); appellant no. 4 (Sukkha); and appellant no. 7 (Chhutwa @ Shakeel Ahmad) succeeds and is allowed. The impugned judgment and order of their conviction and sentence is set aside. The appellant no.1 (Aftab Ahmad); appellant no.2 (Laiq Ahmad); appellant no. 4 (Sukkha); and appellant no. 7 (Chhutwa @ Shakeel Ahmad) are acquitted of all the charges. If they are on bail, they need not surrender.

57. Let a copy of this order along with record be sent to the court below for information and compliance.

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code -Sections 302, 380, 411 - Appeal against conviction.

Importance of motive in a circumstantial evidence.

It is only either intention or knowledge on the part of the accused which is required to be seen in respect of the offence of culpable homicide. (para 33)

The cases based on circumstantial evidence, motive plays an important role as it provides additional link to the chain of circumstances. Even absence of any motive or insufficiency of motive may not be relevant where proved circumstances are of such nature that it conclusively determines the guilt of accused. Therefore, motive has to be attached greater importance in cases based on circumstantial evidence, particularly when the circumstances proved are fluctuating in nature and the link sought to be established is not trustworthy or convincing. It is all about to what extent the evidence is able to create confidence in the mind of the court regarding correctness of the prosecution version. (para 34)

The prosecution version based on direct evidence disclosed use of axes and sickle by three accused persons, but the same has not been proved by eyewitnesses. (para 37)

There is not only delay in lodging FIR but also on evidence, the same appears to be ante-timed. The medical evidence also creates doubt with regards to time of death and that further casts doubt on the testimony and presence of the two eye-witnesses at the scene of occurrence.

The circumstances considered to give finding of guilt were not established by cogent and convincing evidence. What to say of missing chain, there was no chain and all the circumstances proposed to be relied upon was completely scattered incapable of leading to the only hypothesis of guilt. (para 42)

The appeal is allowed. (E-2)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ajay Vikram Yadav, learned counsel for the appellant, Sri L.D. Rajbhar (AGA) and Sri Prem Shanker Mishra (AGA) for the State and perused the record.

2. This criminal appeal has been preferred against the judgment and order dated 15.09.1997 of Vth Additional Sessions Judge, Fatehpur, in ST No. 493 of 1993, arising out of Case Crime No. 181 of 1993, under Sections 302, 380, 411 IPC, Police Station Lalauli, District Fatehpur, whereby the accused-appellant Ram Gopal has been convicted and sentenced for the offence under Section 302 IPC for life imprisonment, for the offence under Section 380 IPC for six months rigorous imprisonment and for the offence under Section 411 IPC for three months rigorous imprisonment. The co-accused persons Rakesh Yadav and Jagjeet have, however been acquitted from the aforesaid charges.

3. Brief facts of this case is that the informant Om Prakash on 06.08.1993 at about 4:00 PM lodged a first information report by means of a written report in the Police Station Lalauli for the offence under Section 302 IPC against unknown persons. Accordingly, on 5/6.08.1993 at any time in the night his father Ram Vishal aged about 55 years was sleeping on the pumping set in village Benu for the purpose of security. The informant had gone outside the village in some relation. In the night, certain unknown persons cut the throat of his father and committed his murder. When he came back from the relation and saw the dead body of his father, he got the written report inscribed by Sushil Kumar, resident of Sahbajpur, Police Station Bindki and lodged the first information report. On the basis of first information report, the police started investigation, prepared the inquest report, got the postmortem of the dead body conducted. Statements of the witnesses were recorded. On 06.08.1993, one blood stained towel of the deceased, a piece of blood stained bed sheet, one rope which was 22 feet long and one pliers was taken into possession by the Investigating Officer and the rope and plier was handed over in the custody of the informant. The Investigating Officer on 09.08.1993 recorded the statement of Balgovind and Kishanpal who stated that they saw in the torch light accused persons Ramgopal Yadav, Jagjeet and Rakesh assaulting the deceased by axes and sickle in the tube well room and thereafter, they went back from there. They saw accused Ramgopal taking tube well band on his shoulder. The IO took into possession the torch from witness Bal Govind and again delivered back to him. On the basis of the statement of the witnesses, on 17.8.1993, accused Ram Gopal Yadav was arrested and he gave confessional statement that with co-accused Rakesh and Jagjeet, on the time, place and date of incident, committed murder of Ramvishal. On his instance, the sickle used as weapon in the murder and a pair of pumping set band was recovered before the witnesses from the sugarcane field of Medh Singh. The sickle was blood stained and one balist and six angul long (about 12 inches), fixed in a 7 inches wooden butt and the band of pumping set was 57 feet long and on the one end thereof, an iron bolt was fixed. On 22.08.1993, the informant came and disclosed to the police that the rope which was given in his custody on 06.08.1993 belonged to accused Ram Gopal Yadav and therefore, the same was also taken into possession. The Investigating Officer prepared the site map from where the weapon used in the commission of the offence and the tube well band was recovered. He also prepared the site map where the offence was committed. The blood stained earth and plain earth were taken from the place of occurrence. The blood stained earth, piece of bed sheet, towel, sickle, underwear of the deceased were sent for chemical examination to the Forensic Science Laboratory. On the basis of statement of the witnesses, recovery of incriminatory articles on the instance of accused Ram Gopal and finding sufficient evidence against the accused persons, charge sheet was submitted by the police against them for the offence under section 302/380/411 read with section 34, IPC.

4. Charges were framed against all the accused persons, including the convicted appellant, for the offence under Sections 302/34 and 380 IPC and against convicted appellant alone for the offence under Section 411 IPC. The accused persons denied the charges and claimed trial.

5. The prosecution examined as many as seven witnesses. PW-1 Om Prakash is informant of the case, PW-2 Bal Govind and PW-3 Krishna Pal are eye witnesses and PW-4 is Hari Om is witness of motive for the commission of the offence. PW-5 is Dr. R.K. Mishra, who conducted postmortem of the dead body. PW-6 is SI Ram Pyare Mishra, Head Moharrir who has written the chik FIR. and PW-7 is SI J.P. Yadav, who is Investigating Officer of the case. The witnesses have proved the written report Ext. Ka-1, recovery memo of weapon (sickle) used for murder, recovery memo of tube well band Ext. Ka-2, memo of blood stained clothes Ext. Ka-3, recovery memo of rope Ext. Ka-4, delivery memo of the same Ext. Ka-5, delivery memo of torch Ext. Ka-6, post-mortem report Ext. Ka-7, chik FIR Ext. Ka-8, GD report dated 06.08.1993 Ext. Ka-9, inquest report Ext. Ka-10, photo dead body Ext Ka-11, form 13 Ext. Ka-12, letter to CMO Ext. Ka-13, letter to RI Ext. Ka-14, sample seal Ext. Ka-15, recovery memo of blood stained and plain earth Ext. Ka-16, site map Ext. Ka-6/1, site map recovery of weapon of crime Ext. Ka-6/3, GD report No. 30 of 17.08.1993 Ext. Ka-19, charge sheet Ext. Ka-20 and forensic science laboratory report Ext. Ka-21.

6. The statement of the accused persons was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. who have stated that they were falsely implicated in the present case and the witnesses are giving false statement on account of enmity. They, however, did not give any evidence in defence.

7. After hearing the prosecution and defence, and perusing the evidence available on record, the learned trial court passed the impugned judgment convicting and sentencing the accused-appellant. The learned trial court, however, acquitted the accused persons Rakesh and Jagjeet from the aforesaid charges. Feeling aggrieved by the same, the present criminal appeal has been filed by the convicted-appellant.

8. The accused-appellant Ram Gopal has challenged the impugned judgment of conviction and sentence on the ground that the same is against the weight of evidence on record. No offence is made out against the appellant. The sentence awarded is too severe, therefore, the impugned judgment is liable to be set aside and the appellant is entitled for acquittal.

9. The submission of the learned counsel to the appellant is that the prosecution case was based on direct evidence of PW-2 and PW-3 who were examined as eye-witnesses of the incident, but they turned hostile and did not support prosecution version. Even then placing reliance on their testimony, the learned trial court converted the prosecution case into that of case based on circumstantial evidence and relying on single circumstance of accused coming out from the room of deceased in which the deceased was found dead, the learned trial court convicted and sentenced the accused-appellant. The motive for the offence is missing and there is no corroboration by any other evidence nor the alleged circumstantial evidence was so positive and exclusive on the basis of which a conclusive finding of guilt was possible. The learned counsel has referred to the judgment in Pohalya v State of Maharashtra, AIR 1979 SC 1949 and has submitted that the chain of circumstances was not complete to lead to the hypothesis of guilt. The learned counsel has also pointed out the discrepancy in the evidence and lapse in investigation On the other hand, the learned AGA has submitted that the circumstance which has been relied upon by the learned trial court amounts to the evidence of last seen seen and the discrepancies are of minor nature having no bearing on the prosecution case. He has further submitted that material witnesses have been examined in support of prosecution case and it is not necessary to examine all witnesses as, what is important is to examine witnesses who render support and not those who are reluctant to give evidence. The learned AGA has referred to the judgment in Criminal Appeal No. 1482 of 2013, Yogesh Singh v Mahabeer Singh decided by the Supreme Court by judgment dated 20.10.2016 to support his contention.

10. We went through the evidence on record and perused the impugned judgment. It has to be examined what was the prosecution version, what evidence it proposed to adduce to bring home the charges against the accused, what was the evidence adduced against the convicted appellant and whether the same was sufficient to hold the accused-appellant guilty beyond shadow of any doubt. Now, before proceeding further, it appears necessary to look at the evidence adduced by the prosecution.

11. PW-1 Om Prakash (informant) has stated that the deceased Ram Vishal was his father who was aged about 55 years at the time of occurrence. He had gone to his sister's home situated in Police Station Mau, where he was informed by the villagers that his father had been killed in the night whereupon he came back to his village. His father was sleeping in the night of 5/6.08.1993 on the pumping set. In the night, some unknown persons caused injuries, cut away his neck from body and killed him. He got the written report inscribed by one Sushil Kumar and signed it after hearing the same. Proving the written report as Ext. Ka-1, he has stated that the pumping set band was also stolen. Ram Gopal was arrested from near Benu who confessed and said that he could get the stolen articles and sickle (weapon of crime) recovered. Thereafter, accused Ram Gopal with him and police reached to the sugarcane field and got the sickle and band set recovered which he had concealed below the grass. The pumping set band was about 57 to 58 feet long. The witness proved the recovered sickle and pumping set band as Material Ext.-1 and Material Ext.-2. He also stated that the said articles were recovered in the afternoon and the recovery memo Ext. Ka-2 was prepared which was read over and he and other witnesses signed over it. He also stated that the Investigating Officer took in possession the blood stained towel and piece of bed sheet Material Exts. 4 and 5 and prepared the recovery memo Ext. Ka-3. He has also stated that a 22 feet long rope was also recovered, the recovery memo of which was prepared by IO on which he put his signature which is Ext. Ka-4 and the same was given to him. He has further stated that the IO recorded his statement firstly in the police station and when sickle was recovered, his statement was again taken by him. The dead body was sealed by police and was sent for postmortem.

12. Explaining the motive, PW-1 stated that before the commission of offence, on 04.08.1993, a quarrel took place between his father and accused persons Ram Gopal, Jagjeet and Rakesh as they were getting his field grazed by their animals and when his father prevented them, they threatened him with dire consequences. At the time of quarrel, Hari Om was present there. He has stated that for this reason, the accused persons killed his father. The accused persons belonged to village Ganeshpur and their field is close to his field. All these three accused persons were friends and he knew them very well.

13. PW-2 Bal Govind (eye witness) has stated that he knew Ram Vishal of his village and accused persons Ram Gopal, Rakesh and Jagjeet of neighboring village Ganeshpur. Accused persons were closely associated with each other, though not relatives. Two and half years before, he and Kishan Pal were sleeping on their tube well and at 1 AM in the mid night, they heard some sound and slow voice from the western side where the tube well of Ram Vishal was situated. They reached to the tube well where they saw in the light of torch that accused Ram Gopal was carrying the tube well band on his shoulder with a sickle in his hand and was going out from the room of Ram Vishal. The witness has stated that he did not see the accused persons Ram Gopal, Rakesh and Jagjeet causing death of Ram Vishal. He saw that besides Ram Gopal, two more persons were fleeing in a fast speed but he could not recognize them. The witness was declared hostile by prosecution. When he was cross-examined by prosecution, he denied his statement given to IO under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and stated that he had only stated that he saw Ram Gopal taking band and sickle and he also saw the dead body of Ram Vishal. He has stated that he lit the torch towards the tube well of Ram Vishal, the door of the tube well was open and two persons were coming out. Immediately, thereafter, they entered into the room. On the next day, he said about it to Om Prakash.

14. PW-3 Krishna Pal (eye witness) also stated that he did not see the accused persons causing death of the deceased. The incident took place in the mid night at about 01:30 AM and he and his grand father Bal Govind were sleeping on tube well. Hearing some sound, he and his grand father went to the tube well of Ram Vishal and saw Ram Gopal coming out, carrying tube well band and sickle. When they went inside, they found that and Ram Vishal was lying dead and his head was separated from the body from neck. This witness has been declared hostile and on being cross-examined, he has denied his statement given to IO under Section 161, Cr.P.C.

15. PW-4 Hari Om is the witness of motive and has stated that at about 12:00 to 12:30 PM, a day before the incident, when his animals were grazing near the tube well of Ram Vishal, accused Ram Gopal came with his animal and got the animals entered into the field of Ram Vishal, on which he objected, whereupon both started quarreling. Ram Gopal went away threatening Ram Vishal. On the next day Ram Vishal was killed.

16. PW-5 Dr. R.K. Mishra conducted the postmortem of the dead body of Ram Vishal on 07.08.1993 at about 3:00 PM. He has proved the post-mortem report as Ext. Ka-7 and has stated that following injuries were found on the body of the deceased :-

(1) Incised wound 15 cm x 12 cm above the left side of neck extending from front to back and towards upper side. Bones and muscles were cut across the neck and the neck was separated from the body. The third and fours vertivo were cut. The edges of the wound was clean cut and at some places, the cut was zig-zag.

(2) Incised wound 15 cm x 12 cm from right to left. Margin clean cut at some places on the neck which is completely cut from the trunk. The direction is from anterior and posterior and slightly upward at the level of 03-04 when head is set to trunk it completely fit intact.

(3) Incised wound 5 cm x 2 cm, margin clean cut behind left ear, 7 cm behind the mastoid process.

(4) Incised wound, margin clean cut 4 cm x 1 cm, scalp deep. Hair walls were cut.

(5) Incised wound 3 cm x 1 cm, muscle deep and on the middle line of chest from the side of neck 6 cm below.

(6) Incised wound 8 cm x 2 cm x muscle deep behind chest and below the right scapula.

(7) Incised wound 2 cm x 1 cm above the right shoulder. The margins were clean cut.

17. The eyes and mouth of the deceased were closed. He was aged about 55 years. The inner skin of both thighs were defused. The head was separated from the body. The doctor has stated that the injuries were sufficient to cause death, particularly, injuries no. 1 and 2.

18. PW-6 is S.I. Ram Pyare, who has proved the chik F.I.R. Ext. Ka-8, GD report Ext. Ka-9.

19. PW-7 SI J.P. Yadav, IO, has stated that prior to him SI Ram Jagat Singh was investigating into the offence which was registered on 06.08.1993. He conducted and prepared the inquest report and other papers like photo dead body, challan dead body, letter to CMO, letter to RI and sample seal. The dead body was sent for postmortem. SI Ram Jagat was posted with him. As secondary witness he proved Ext. Ka-10 to Ext. Ka-15. The witness has also proved the recovery memos of blood stained and plain earth Ext. Ka-16, blood stained clothes of deceased Ext. Ka-3, site map Ext. Ka-17. The witness has stated that on 09.08.1993, he took over investigation and on the same day, he recorded the statement of Bal Govind, Krishna Pal and Vijay Bahadur Verma. On 17.08.1993, he and SI Ram Jagat and other police persons arrested accused Ram Gopal at 1:10 PM. On examination, he confessed that on 5/6.08.1993 in the mid night, with co-accused Rakesh and Jagjeet committed murder of Ram Vishal and after committing murder, he took away the tube well band. He also stated that he could get the tube well band and sickle recovered and on his instance, from the sugarcane filed, the tube well band and sickle were recovered. On 18.08.1993, the co-accused persons Rakesh and Jagjeet surrendered before the court and their statement was recorded in the District Jail. Other witnesses of recovery were also examined and thereafter charge sheet was submitted to the court. He has also stated that he sent the recovered blood stained and plain earth, piece of bed sheet and sickle for forensic examination.

20. It is clear from the reading of the statement of PW-1 Omprakash (informant) that he lodged FIR only. He is not eyewitness and he was not present in the village on the fateful day. PW-2 Balgovind and PW-3 Krishnapal are two witnesses of fact who have been examined by prosecution as eyewitnesses who saw the accused committing the offence. It is clear from their statement that none has stated that they saw the accused killing the deceased. They have rather stated that they did not see the accused committing murder. It is why they have been declared hostile. In Charan Singh v. State of U.P. AIR 1967 SC 520, Deepak Chandrakant Patil v. State of Maharashtra, 2006(3) Supreme 162 (SC) and B.A. Umesh Vs. State of Karnataka (2011) 3 SCC 85, it has been held that conviction can be sustained even if direct witnesses have turned hostile and circumstantial evidence is conclusive in nature. But in such cases, the Court must guard itself against the danger of allowing conjecture or suspicion to take the place of legal proof. Be it the case, the above discussion shows that in this instant case, the prosecution case based on direct evidence definitely failed. Therefore, it needs to be deeply scrutinized on what circumstantial evidence the learned trial court convicted the accused-appellant.

21. At this stage, it will be appropriate to refer to the law on circumstantial evidence based on certain judgments of the Supreme Court. In State of Rajasthan Vs. Kheraj Ram, (2003) 8 SCC 224, Vilas Pandurang Patil Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2004) 6 SCC 158, Arun Bhanudas Pawar Vs. State of Maharashtra, 2008 (61) ACC 32 (SC) Vithal Eknath Adlinge Vs. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2009 SC 2067 and Vijay Kumar Vs. State of Rajasthan, (2014) 3 SCC 412, the Supreme Court has laid down that circumstantial evidence, in order to be relied on, must satisfy the following tests :

1. Circumstances from which an inference of guilt is sought to be drawn must be cogently and firmly established.

2. Those circumstances must be of a definite tendency unerringly pointing towards guilt of the accused.

3. The circumstances, taken cumulatively, should form a chain so complete that there is no escape from conclusion that within all human probability the crime was committed by the accused and none else.

4. The circumstantial evidence in order to sustain conviction must be complete and incapable of explanation of any other hypothesis than that of the guilt of the accused but should be inconsistent with his innocence- in other words, the circumstances should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved.

22. In Bhimsingh Vs. State of Uttarakhand, (2015) 4 SCC 281, it was laid down that when the conviction is to be based on circumstantial evidence solely, then there should not be any snap in the chain of circumstances. If there is a snap in the chain, the accused in entitled to benefit of doubt. If some of the circumstances in the chain can be explained by any other reasonable hypothesis, then also the accused is entitled to the benefit of doubt. But in assessing the evidence, imaginary possibilities have no place. The court considers ordinary human probabilities.

23. From the perusal of the impugned judgment, it appears that the learned trial court has mainly taken into consideration the circumstance that the two witnesses saw the accused-appellant coming out from the tube well room with sickle and tube well band at the relevant time in which the deceased was found killed. The other circumstance which has been relied upon is the recovery of sickle and tube well band on the instance of accused-appellant. The third circumstance is the quarrel which took place between the deceased and accused a day before which according to the prosecution became the motive for the offence. The fourth circumstance is that blood stains were found on sickle and was chemically examined in FSL. Now the question is that all these circumstances taken together form a complete chain to lead to a conclusive finding of guilt. It is pertinent to mention that it is also required to be looked into whether the witnesses who have been examined by prosecution to prove these circumstances are natural and trustworthy and could be relied upon and whether they have been able to prove the said circumstances. At the same time, it is also required to assess the probability in view of the lapse and flaws in the prosecution version and evidence.

24. PW-2 Balgovind and PW-3 Krishnpal have stated during trial that they were sleeping in their tube well situating about 50 steps away from the tube well of deceased where the dead body was found. It is noteworthy that the distance of the two tube well has been shown in the site map prepared by the IO Ext. Ka-17 to be 92 steps. The difference between the distance is almost double and it can be said that this has been deliberately decreased to make their testimony natural. This appears to be unusual that slow voice and sound could be heard from a distance of 92 steps in the midnight when the people are in deep sleep. The witnesses have nowhere stated that the sound was a loud cry or shriek to cause alarm to the witnesses. The two witnesses have stated that they did not see the accused killing the deceased. They saw the accused coming out from the tube well of deceased with the tube well band on his shoulder and a sickle in his hand. Here, we find a material discrepancy in the deposition of both, as PW-3 has stated that he saw only accused-appellant coming out and going from there, whereas, PW-2 has stated that with him two unknown persons also came out and went away. He has also stated that he had heard slow voice of deceased when he came out from his tube well. No such statement has been given by PW-3. PW-2 has further stated that on next day morning, he told Omprakash about it. From the reading of the statement of PW-1 Omprakash, it appears that he has nowhere stated that PW-2 told him anything about the incident. PW-1 has stated that these two witnesses live just 5-6 houses away from his house. He has stated that on that day they neither met him nor said anything about the incident. They met him on the next day in the morning on 7.8.1993 at 6 AM. But PW-1 has nowhere stated that these two witnesses told him anything about the incident. It is an important fact and it shows two things, either PW-1 is not speaking truth or, if he is stating correctly, the conduct of PW-2 and PW-3 is very unnatural creating doubt whether both saw the accused coming out from the tube well of deceased. PW-2 has stated that on the next day also he did not say anything about the incident to the Investigating Officer. He has also stated that he did not say those facts to informant Omprakash what he has stated on oath in his statement. He has stated that on the next day he informed about the incident to informant. Nothing as such has been stated by PW-1 in his examination. PW-3 Krishanpal has also not stated that he told to the informant about the incident. He has stated that he told about it to IO on the next day morning. Notably, PW-7 IO has stated that he took statement of PW-2 and PW-3 on 9.8.1993. What they have stated to IO, shall be seen later on. But what is important to be mentioned is that these two witnesses have been declared hostile. They have been cross-examined by prosecution and they have denied their statements given to the IO under section 161 of the Criminal Procedure Code. They have expressly said that they did not give such statement as recorded by the IO.

25. At this stage, it will be appropriate to go through the statements given by these two witnesses to IO. Both appears to have given similar statements to the IO. They have stated that on 5.8.1993, in the night at about 1.30 AM, both were sleeping on their tube well. They got awakened because of loud shout and shriek of Ramvishal. Both went lighting their torch to his tube well and saw that inside the tube well room, accused Ramgopal with a sickle in his hand and accused Jagjeet and Rakesh with axes in their hand, were assaulting Ramvishal by sickle and axes. Both caused alarm by shouting, but, because of distance from village, none came there. All the three went away. Accused Ramgopal was carrying tube well band on his shoulder. Both the witnesses went inside the room and found Ramvishal dead and his head was cut and lying on cot separated from body and the body was lying on the earth. Both got disturbed and came back to their home. Omprakash, the son of deceased was also not available and on the next day in the night, they told him about the incident.

26. It appears that this statement of witnesses was recorded on 9.8.1993. On the basis of the statement of these two witnesses, the name of accused persons came in light and on 17.8.1993, accused Ramgopal was arrested and thereafter accused Jagjeet and Rakesh surrendered before court. The reading of the statements of these witnesses shows that the prosecution case was based on direct evidence. It also goes to show that both these witnesses turned hostile and denied their statements so given to the IO. Therefore, the important question is that when eyewitnesses did not support the prosecution case, whether on the basis of their statement is was open to the prosecution to convert the whole prosecution version into that of case based on circumstantial evidence and whether the circumstances proved are of such conclusive nature that it would lead to only one hypothesis of guilt of the accused-appellant. In Bhagwan Dass v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2011) 6 SCC 396, it has been laid down that the statement recorded before the Police under Section 161 Cr.PC is ordinarily not admissible in evidence in view of Section 162(1) CrPC, but as mentioned in the proviso to Section 162(1), CrPC, it can be used to contradict the testimony. A witness in cross examination confronted with his/her statement to the police who denied that statement. The view is propounded by the court that in such circumstances the statement of the witness to the police can be taken into consideration in view of the proviso to Section 162(1) of the CrPC. In this case PW-2 and PW-3 have been read over the statement, they had given to the IO to which they denied. It means that the prosecution placed reliance on what they stated under section 161 of the Code, and as such the statement can be used against the prosecution to test the credibility of prosecution version and witnesses.

27. The FIR has been lodged after a lapse of about 15 hours from the alleged time of incident. It is pertinent to mention that the FIR was lodged on 6.8.1993 at 4 PM, whereas, as per FIR, the incident took place in the midnight of 5/6. 8. 1993. The explanation for the delay in lodging the FIR has been explained by stating that the informant had gone to some relative and after receiving the information of the incident, he came back and after seeing the dead body, he lodged FIR. He has not specified when he came back from his relatives. He has however stated that he got the FIR inscribed by Sushil on 6.8.1993 at 6 PM and reached the police station at 8 PM and after lodging report, he came back. Thus, there is difference of 4 hours regarding lodging of FIR as FIR shows that it was lodged at 4 PM. In view of the positive statement of PW-1, it is clear that the time of lodging FIR is also after 4 hours from what has been shown in chick FIR and as such, in our considered view, the same is ante-timed and the same makes the FIR a suspicious document and it will certainly go against prosecution. It is also notable that none has been named in the FIR and it has been lodged against unknown person. It further goes to show that by the time the FIR was lodged, the informant had no knowledge who committed the offence and why? The name of accused persons came in light on the basis of statement of Kishanpal and Balgovind.

28. It looks strange that even though the Police Station is situated only at the distance of 11 km, the police got no information about the incident even though it has been claimed that two eye-witnesses saw the incident in the midnight. In the morning, naturally many more persons must have known that the deceased has been found dead in the tube well. Even village Choukidar did not inform about the incident. This leads to the possibility that nobody could know about the incident unless in the morning someone reached and saw the dead body. Not stating anything about the incident by PW-2 and PW-3 to anyone including police and informant also supports this possibility. In such cases, it is very important to learn who informed the informant and who saw the dead body and when, as both the eyewitnesses kept silent and did not disclose anything prior to lodging of FIR. They kept silent even after the lodging of FIR for a long time and they disclosed the name of accused-appellant and others only when their statement was recorded by IO on 9.8.1993 after 3 days from the date of incident. It is interesting to see what happened in these three days.

29. It is important to note that PW-3 has stated that his father Mahadeo was convicted for attempt to murder of the deceased prior to this incident and the police took him to police station for interrogation in this case also. This fact has been also stated by PW-1 Omprakash, the informant and son of deceased. After this, the statement of the two witnesses PW-2 Balgovind (brother of Mahadeo) and PW-3 Krishnapal (son of Mahadeo) was recorded on 9.8.1993 and then for the first time the name of accused-appellant came in light. Till then these two witnesses kept silent and said nothing about the incident to anyone, not to the informant, even though they live only 5-6 houses away from the house of informant. Why not this should be seen as a measure on the part of these two witnesses to save Mahadeo from being implicated in the case.

30. Another important question is about motive. Since no eyewitness has supported the prosecution version based on direct evidence, therefore, existence of motive and sufficiency of motive is a relevant fact to be proved by prosecution. No motive was alleged in FIR and the same was lodged against unknown person. It has come subsequently in the statement of PW-1 Omprakash (informant) that a quarrel took place between accused persons and deceased a day before the incident as the accused persons were grazing their animals in the field of deceased. He has stated that the accused threatened to kill the deceased. His cross-examination shows that no such incident took place before him as he himself has stated that he did not mention this fact in his written report as he had no knowledge of such quarrel. To prove this quarrel, PW-4 Hariom has been examined who has stated that in his presence, the quarrel took place between accused Ramgopal and deceased and the accused threatened the deceased. PW-4 Hariom is again son of Mahadeo and brother of PW-3 Krishnapal and it goes to show that all the three independent witnesses belong to the family of a person who was convicted for attempt to murder of the deceased and all of them have been examined by IO after Mahadeo was taken for interrogation by police. As such, we find the credibility of this witness to be highly suspicious.

31. The next question is with regards to motive for the offence. In Badam Singh v. State of Madhya Pradesh; AIR 2004 SC 26, it has been remarked by the Court that, even though existence of motive loses significance when there is reliable ocular testimony, in a case where the ocular testimony appears to be suspect, the existence or absence of motive acquires some significance regarding the probability of the prosecution case. In any case, we find with reference to judgments in Sheo Shankar Singh v State of Jharkhand; 2011(74) ACC 159 (SC), Ravinder Kumar v State of Punjab; 2001 (2) JIC (SC), State of H.P. v Jeet Singh; (1999) 4 SCC 370; Pannayar v State of Tamil Nadu by Inspector of Police; AIR 2010 SC 85 that the legal position regarding proof of motive as an essential requirement for bringing home the guilt of the accused is fairly well settled by a long line of decisions of the Court. These decisions have made a clear distinction between cases where prosecution relies upon circumstantial evidence on the one hand and those where it relies upon the testimony of eye-witnesses on the other. In the former category of cases proof of motive is given the importance it deserves, for proof of a motive itself constitutes a link in the chain of circumstances upon which the prosecution may rely. Proof of motive, however, goes into the background in cases where the prosecution relies upon an eye-witness account of the occurrence.

32. It is pertinent to mention that there may be cases based on circumstantial evidence where absence of motive may become insignificant to establish guilt. In G. Prashwanath v State of Karnataka; AIR 2010 SC 2914, Jagdish v State of M.P.; 2009 (67) ACC 295 (SC) and Ujjagar Singh v State of Punjab; AIR 2008 SC (Supp) 190, it has been observed by the Supreme Court that it is true that in a case of circumstantial evidence motive does have extreme significance but to say that in the absence of motive, the conviction based on circumstantial evidence cannot, in principle, be made is not correct. Motive provides foundational material. But absence of motive is not of much consequence when chain of proved circumstances is complete to exclusively lead to the hypothesis of guilt.

33. In the criminal trials based on circumstantial evidence only, the Supreme Court has ruled in Nagaraj v State, (2015) 4 SCC 739 , Wakkar v State of UP, 2011 (2) ALJ 452 (SC) and Babu v State of Kerala, (2010) 9 SCC 189 that prosecution should prove motive of the accused if its case is based on circumstantial evidence. Again, in Sanjeev Vs. State of Haryana, (2015) 4 SCC 387, it was laid down by the court that it is settled principle of law that to establish an offence (murder) by an accused, motive is not required to be proved. Motive is something which prompts a man to form an intention. The intention can be formed even at the place of incident at the time of commission of crime. It is only either intention or knowledge on the part of the accused which is required to be seen in respect of the offence of culpable homicide. In order to read either intention or knowledge, the courts have to examine the circumstances, as there cannot be any direct evidence as to the state of mind of the accused.

34. Regarding absence, existence and proof of motive, there is no formula and it depends a lot upon the facts and circumstances of each case. But, it has been always a guiding principle that motive generally lacks its importance in case of direct evidence where ocular testimony is trustworthy and reliable. In cases based on circumstantial evidence, motive plays an important role as it provides additional link to the chain of circumstances. Even absence of any motive or insufficiency of motive may not be relevant where proved circumstances are of such nature that it conclusively determines the guilt of accused. Therefore, motive has to be attached greater importance in cases based on circumstantial evidence, particularly when the circumstances proved are fluctuating in nature and the link sought to be established is not trustworthy or convincing. It is all about to what extent the evidence is able to create confidence in the mind of the court regarding correctness of the prosecution version.

35. In the light of above, we have to see whether the motive alleged has been proved and acceptable and it creates confidence in the facts and circumstances of the case for placing reliance. It needs to be mentioned that the deceased has been killed by cutting his neck separate from the body and several injuries were caused on his body. It appears strange that on a quarrel on such trifling issue of grazing field, the crime will be committed in such a brutal way. It was not such kind of dispute and even the informant had no knowledge of such quarrel and it is why it was not mentioned in FIR nor the accused was named. Even stealing a tube well band may not be a good motive for the commission of the offence. It is pertinent to mention that where prosecution version is supported by direct evidence, absence or insufficiency of motive may not be relevant. But where the eye-witnesses have turned hostile, it is important to see whether the motive alleged is of such kind and magnitude which would give rise to such brutal murder. We are of the view that the alleged motive is not adequate and sufficient to create confidence in the prosecution version.

36. Timing of death is also doubtful in this case in view of statement of the doctor and postmortem report. In the postmortem report it has been mentioned that postmortem was conducted on 7.8.1993 at 3 PM and the duration of death has been mentioned to be 1-1/2 days. Meaning thereby that as per postmortem report death must have been caused around 3 AM in the early morning. The doctor has however stated that the injuries were possibly caused on 5/6. 08.1993 in the mid night at 01:30 AM. He has also stated that these injuries were possibly caused by sickle and axe. During cross-examination, he has further clarified that in causing death, two kinds of sharp weapon must have been used. The difference in the timing of death might be of 6 hours in both side. He has further stated that the death must have been caused after the deceased had eased out as his stomach, lever and both intestine have been found empty. It goes to show that it is possible that the deceased might have died in the morning of 6.8.1993 around 7 AM or in the night of 5.8.1993 around 9 PM. The fact that death occurred after the deceased had eased out also creates doubt with regard to time of death.

37. Moreover, the doctor has stated that the death must have been caused by two weapons and clean cut found on the fatal injuries on vital part and neck shows use of heavy sharp weapon. This also shows that the fatal injuries were not possible by use of a sickle nor it was possible by a single accused. The prosecution version based on direct evidence disclosed use of axes and sickle by three accused persons, but the same has not been proved by eyewitnesses.

38. So far as discovery of sickle and tube well band is concerned, the discovery has been made allegedly on the instance of the accused-appellant on 17.8.1993 when he was allegedly arrested by police. The discovery was made before three public witnesses namely, Govardhan, Nanhku Verma and Omprakash (informant). Only Omprakash has been examined by prosecution out of the three public witnesses. So far has the recovered tube well band is concerned, there is no mention in FIR that any tube well band was stolen away by unknown person. Secondly, PW-1 has not identified the tube well band to be his own which was stolen during his examination before court. Other two public witnesses have not been examined. In absence of positive evidence to show that it was the same tube well band which was stolen, the discovery thereof is insignificant.

39. The recovered sickle has been alleged to be weapon of crime and blood stains have been found thereon. PW-2 and PW-3 who have been said to have seen the accused-appellant carrying when he was coming out from the tube well, have not been asked to identify the sickle or at least to state that the sickle was identical to what they saw in the fateful night in the hand of the accused-appellant. Medical evidence shows that the fatal injuries in view of clean cut of neck being separated from body must have been caused by heavy sharp weapon. The sickle was sent for chemical examination and the FSL report shows that it was not possible to ascertain that there was human blood on it. As such, on the basis of evidence, the recovered sickle can hardly be connected with the offence and the recovery thereof looses its significance.

40. There is yet another reason which makes the whole discovery tainted and suspicious. Accused has stated in his statement under section 313 of the CrPC that the police took him in the police station from his house 8 days before, kept him there, gave third degree treatment and charge-sheeted showing false recovery of incriminatory articles. The police case is that the accused was arrested on 17.8.1993. From the side of defence, a specific suggestion has been given to the IO during cross-examination that the accused was arrested on 9.8.1993 and was detained in the police station till 17.8.1993, tortured him, demanded illegal gratification, and on refusal illegal and false recovery of sickle and tube well band was planted and he was charge-sheeted. The IO has denied this suggestion. On this point, the evidence of informant Omprakash is noteworthy and he has stated on oath that the police came and got the accused Ramgopal arrested on 9.8.1993. it is pertinent to mention that on that very date the statement of PW-2 and PW-3 was recorded by IO for the first time and on the same day accused was taken to police station. The statement of PW-1 supports that the accused was detained by police on 9.8.1993 and therefore, the remaining defence version gets strength and it creates enough doubt in respect of the discovery theory alleged by prosecution.

41. The learned trial court has omitted to pay attention to the fact that the prosecution case was based on direct evidence of eyewitnesses and if they turned hostile, the prosecution cannot switch over to entirely a different case based on circumstantial evidence. In Ram Narain Popli vs. CBI, (2003) 3 SCC 641 and Vallabhaneni Venkateshwara Rao vs. State of A.P., 2009 (4) Supreme 363, it has been laid down that if different stories are projected by prosecution, it is unsafe to convict the accused as introduction of or addition of a new story by prosecution adversely affects and destroys the prosecution case by creating doubt in it and the accused becomes entitled to benefit of doubt.

42. On the basis of above discussion, we find that the learned trial court has not been able to appreciate the evidence on record in the legal perspective and has committed serious error, perversity and illegality in holding the accused-appellant guilty. There was material contradiction and discrepancies in the statements of both the eye-witnesses. All the three witnesses PW-2 Balgovind, PW-3 Krishnapal and Hariom belonged to same family and Mahadeo, the father of two witnesses was not only convicted for attempt to murder of deceased, he was the first suspect for the offence and was put to interrogation by the police. He was set free and only after that all these three witnesses became witness and disclosed the name of accused-appellant. This can also be seen as an effort to save Mahadeo and falsely implicate the accused-appellant. But the two witnesses who were examined as eye-witnesses of the crime, turned hostile and did not support the prosecution case based on direct evidence. Only that portion of their statement that they saw the accused-appellant coming out from the tube well in which the deceased was found dead, could not become a conclusive evidence to establish guilt. It is not an evidence of the circumstance of last seen as the deceased and accused-appellant were not seen alive together. There is no last seen evidence and only presence there may give rise to suspicion and suspicion is not proof of guilt, particularly when the evidence of PW-2 and PW-3 does not inspire confidence for the reasons discussed above. The motive for the offence is inadequate and not convincing at all. There is not only delay in lodging FIR but also on evidence, the same appears to be ante-timed. The medical evidence also creates doubt with regards to time of death and that further casts doubt on the testimony and presence of the two eye-witnesses at the scene of occurrence. The learned trial court appears to have ignored the lapse in evidence and has adopted a very casual approach while considering the evidence on record and balancing the probabilities. The circumstances considered to give finding of guilt were not established by cogent and convincing evidence. What to say of missing chain, there was no chain and all the circumstances proposed to be relied upon was completely scattered incapable of leading to the only hypothesis of guilt. Therefore, we find that the impugned judgment is not sustainable under law and is liable to be set aside.

43. Accordingly, the appeal is allowed and the judgment and order dated 15.09.1997 of Vth Additional Sessions Judge, Fatehpur, in ST No. 493 of 1993, arising out of Case Crime No. 181 of 1993, Police Station Lalauli, District Fatehpur, convicting and sentencing the accused-appellant Ram Gopal under Sections 302, 380, 411 IPC is set aside and the accused-appellant is acquitted from the said charge.

44. The accused-appellant Ram Gopal is in jail. He shall be released from jail forthwith.

45. The office is directed to send back the lower court record along with a certified copy of this judgment for information and necessary compliance.

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code - Sections 147, 302/149 and 404/149 - Appeal against conviction.

The appeal has been preferred against the acquittal of this accused. It may be clarified here that if there are more than one accused involved in a crime and if other co-accused is acquitted on false grounds, it would not be a circumstance in which the other accused would also be allowed to claim parity and acquittal, if the circumstances and the evidence on record reveals that actually both the accused had given effect to this occurrence. (para 59)

We must also keep in mind the rustic background of the witness so as to ignore the discrepancies with respect to distance stated by him from where they state to have seen the occurrence, as they may have little idea about 'furlong' and 'paces' etc. (para 63)

We do not find this to be ground serious enough for animosity so that a false implication would be made of this accused and in view of the strong evidence having come on record that this accused was also involved in causing this occurrence, as is evident from the eye-witnesses', his involvement is found to be there. (para 65)

Appeals rejected. (E-2)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Kumar Singh-I, J.)

1. Heard Sri S.D.Yadav holding brief of Sri J.S.Kashyap, learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Jai Narain, learned AGA for the State.

No. 551 of 1983 in which he has been convicted under Sections 147, 302/149 and 404/149 IPC and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of one year under Section 147 IPC; one year under Section 404 read with Section 149 IPC; and with imprisonment for life under Section 302/149 IPC and all the sentences are directed to run concurrently.

3. The other Criminal Appeal No. 2315 1983 has been preferred by accused-appellant Menhdipal S/o Bhimsen and Raj Pal S/o Tikam Singh against the same Session Trial, whereby both of them have been convicted under Section 148, 404 read with Section 149 IPC and 302 read with 149 IPC and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for one year each under Section 148 IPC; rigorous imprisonment for one year each under Section 404 read with Section 149 IPC; life imprisonment each under Section 302/149 IPC and all the sentences are directed to run concurrently.

4. Since both these appeals arise out of the same Session Trial No. 551 of 1983, they are being taken up together for the sake of convenience.

5. In brief, the prosecution case as disclosed from the F.I.R. is that the informant Phool Singh (PW-1) gave written report (Ext. Ka-1) at P.S. Fariha, Sub-district Jasrana, District Mainpuri on 8.8.1982 at 6:15 am with the allegations that on 7.8.1982 at about 10:00 pm, he was smoking Bidi sitting on a cot and his wife Surajmookhi was making curd sitting near his cot. The lantern was burning in Chhappar and his daughter Kusuma (deceased) was sleeping on the cot and in front of his house, Mahavir Singh (deceased) and Bhoore Singh (PW-3) were sleeping on Chabutra. Near Mahavir Singh on adjacent cot, Bhoomi Sri and his mother Ganga Sri (deceased) were also sleeping on a cot. In the Chhappar of Mahavir Singh and Bhoore Singh also, lantern was burning. In the meantime, at about 10:30 pm, 10 to 12 persons armed with guns and country made pistols, which included Amrit Singh (A-1) armed with gun of his father, Menhdipal (A-2) armed with Pauna (small country made gun), Bare Lal (A-4), who is son-in-law of Amrit Singh, R/o P.S. Eka, armed with Pauna, Raj Pal (A-3), who is brother-in-law of Menhdipal R/o village Jhapara, P.S. Jasrana, armed with gun, Suresh Yadav (A-5) R/o Pilakhtar Fateh, Khurshid Khan (A-7), Nasuruddin (A-6), both S/o Gaphoor Khan, R/o Barthara and 4-5 other men armed with country made pistols and guns, whose names he did not know but could recognize them if they come in front of him, all came from the side of the house of Amrit Singh and Menhdipal and Amrit Singh exhorted that hear was Phool Singh, let him be caught, at this Phool Singh (informant) fled from there raising alarm that Amrit Singh and his brother Mehndipal had made fire upon his daughter Kusuma and Bare Lal, Raj Pal Singh, Nasuruddin, Khurshid Khan and Suresh made fire upon Mahavir and his mother Ganga Sri, who after hearing the sound of fire, tried to flee from there but they were shot dead near their wall. On the alarm being raised by him and his wife and also hearing the sounds of F.I.R., many villagers reached there raising alarm and then, seeing that lot of villagers had come, all the miscreants fled towards north. They all (informant and his companions) chased miscreants but could not be caught. Informant, his wife Surajmukhi, Bhoore Singh, Bhoomi Sri, Somwati and many other villagers had identified all the miscreants in the light of burning lantern as well as bright light of moon. There was animosity going on between informant and Amrit Singh pertaining to land and giving the evidence. There was also animosity between Amrit Singh and Munni Lal on the one hand and Mahavir and Bhoore

Singh on the other pertaining to partition and because of this animosity Amrit Singh and others had murdered his daughter, his Bhabhi (sister-in-law) and nephew. He prayed that after lodging the F.I.R. the necessary action be taken. It was further mentioned that the miscreants had taken away watch of Mahavir and "Pongni" of his mother.

6. On the basis of written report (Ext. Ka-1), case crime no. 48 of 1982 was registered at P.S. Fariha against seven named accused i.e. Amrit Singh, Menhdipal, Bare Lal, Suresh Yadav, Nasuruddin and Khurshid Khan and 4-5 unknown persons under Section 147, 148, 149, 302 and 404 IPC and chik F.I.R. Hospital, Firozabad, through Constable Khacher Singh, Rajveer Sharma and Biru Singh. Thereafter, PW-5 made raid at the house of Nasuruddin and Khurshid Khan at Barthara but they could not be found and, thereafter, raid was made in village Pilakhtar Fateh at the house of accused Suresh, he could not be found. Thereafter, PW-5 came to the P.S. and deposited all the case property in sealed condition. Surajmukhi and Kr. Rama etc. and on the same day he submitted charge sheet against Menhdipal, Raj Pal, Bare Lal, Nasuruddin and Suresh and in abscondance against Amrit Singh and Khurshid Khan which is Ext. Ka-30. PW-5 has also proved by way of secondary evidence, Chik F.I.R. which is Ext. Ka-31, which he deposed to have been written by Head Mohrrir, Shankar Singh, in his hand writing with which he was conversant and also proved entry of the said case in G.D. by the same Head Mohrrir, which is Ext. Ka-32. PW-5 has proved the blood stained and ordinary soil collected from the place where Kusuma was found dead which was material Ext. 1 and material Ext. 2; proved blood stained and ordinary soil pertaining to Mahavir which is material Ext. 3 and 4; proved blood stained and ordinary soil pertaining to Ganga Sri which is material Ext. 5-6 . He also proved two blank cartridges which were recovered from near the place where dead body of Kusuma was lying which is material Ext. 7 and 8 and also proved three blank cartridges which were recovered near the dead body of Ganga Sri, which are material Exts. 9, 10 and 11. The clothes which were separately sealed of deceased Kushma, Mahavir and Ganga Sri by the doctor in three separate bundles, were also marked as material Exts. 12, 13 and 14 respectively. Certain pallets were extracted by the doctor during post-mortem of the dead body of Kusuma and Mahavir, which was sealed in separate envelopes, which are material Exts. 15 and 16 respectively. The bedding (dari) upon which Kusuma was lying, was also marked as material Ext. 17.

9. After collecting sufficient evidence on record, the charge sheet was submitted against all the accused and on 1.1.1983 charge was framed against five accused namely, Menhdipal, Raj Pal, Bare Lal, Nasuruddin and Suresh in following manner.

10. Against accused- Suresh and Nasuruddin, charge was framed under Section 147 IPC; against Menhdipal, Raj Pal and Bare Lal along with 8-9 other under Section 148 IPC, against all the above named accused along with seven others under Section 302 read with 149 IPC; against all the above named five accused along with seven others under Section 404/149IPC; against Menhdipal under Section 302 IPC; against Raj Pal, Barelal, Nasuruddin and Suresh under Section 302 IPC, to which they pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried on 1.1.1983.

11. In order to prove its case, from the side of prosecution statements of witnesses, Phool Singh (father of the deceased Kushma) as PW-1, Bhoore Singh as PW-2, Dr. Vinay Kumar Yadav, who conducted post mortem of the deceased as PW-3, Smt. Surajmukhi, wife of the informant as PW-4 and Investigating Officer Sri K.P. Singh as PW-5, were recorded.

12. Thereafter the prosecution evidence was closed and the statements of accused were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

13. The accused-appellants namely Menhdipal, Raj Pal and Suresh Yadav have stated the entire prosecution evidence to be false and pleaded that they have been falsely implicated due to enmity.

14. The appellant Raj Pal in particular has stated that because of there being land dispute between Phool Singh (PW-1) and Menhdipal (accused-appellant), he has been falsely implicated.

15. The accused- Suresh has also, in particular, has stated that the sister of Phool Singh (informant) was earlier married to Mulayam Singh of his village. Mulayam Singh had received injury in his leg, thereafter, she (sister of Phool Singh) started living with his Bhanja, Surendra Pradhan having taken away jewellery with her and when a panchayat was held in respect of return of the jewellery to Mulayam Singh, pursuant to that the same was returned, since then, Surendra Singh started having enmity with him and because of that he has been falsely implicated.

16. In defense, two witnesses have also been examined namely, Mulayam Singh S/o Kallu Singh as DW-1 and R.S. Pal, Professor of Mathmetics, Narayan College Shikohabad, District Mainpuri as DW-2.

17. After considering the entire evidence on record and having heard both the sides, the trial court has convicted and sentenced the appellants Menhdipal, Raj Pal and Suresh while other accused Bare Singh and Nasuruddin have been acquitted.

18. The main argument made by the learned counsel for the appellant is that according to F.I.R., PW-1 Phool Singh had run away from the place of incident as was mentioned by him in the F.I.R. itself which makes it evident that he was not an eyewitness of the occurrence and, therefore, his presence on the scene of occurrence is doubtful. His testimony ought to be dis-believed. It was further argued that the presence of PW-1 should be treated also doubtful on the spot because he did not suffer any injury, not even a scratch, despite him being on the spot. Further it was argued that on the same evidence the trial court has acquitted two co-accused, while the present accused-appellants have been convicted, which is not sustainable and in this regard he has relied upon Surjan and others Vs. State of U.P., 2018 Law Suit Allahabad 2016.

19. On the other hand, learned A.G.A. has vehemently argued that there is no infirmity in the impugned judgment because there were three eye-witnesses of the occurrence namely Phool Singh (PW-1) and Bhoore Singh as PW-2 and PW-4 Surajmukhi, wife of the informant, who have given eye-witness account of this occurrence, as they had seen the accused-appellants having assaulted the deceased, as a result of which three persons have died in this case namely, Kusuma Devi, Ganga Sri and Mahavir and the ocular testimony is corroborated by the medical report, therefore, the trial court's judgment requires to be upheld and the appeal deserves to be dismissed.

20. Now this Court has to examine as to whether trial court has correctly evaluated the evidence on record or does it require any interference, in the light of arguments made by the learned counsel for the appellants.

was also shouting. Amrit Singh made fire upon his daughter by his gun and when the same hit his daughter Kusuma, she got up and, thereafter, fell down. When she was lying on the ground, Menhdipal also fired upon her, by which she died. His wife started crying that her daughter was killed, thereafter, the miscreants headed towards Mahavir, who is his nephew and they (miscreants) also made fire upon Mahavir and getting hit Mahavir, fell down. His mother (Mahavir's mother) Ganga Sri was also fired upon by the miscreants, both Mahavir and Ganga Sri died on the spot. On Mahavir and his mother, fire was made by Nasuruddin, Khurshid Khan and Raj Pal while other miscreants continued to stand on Chabutra there only. The villagers namely Kayam Singh, Chob Singh, Ajab Singh, Ganga Singh, Ram Khiladi, Chandra Bhan, Suraj Singh, Ram Prakash and Komal came there rushing, armed with Lathi and reached the spot. It is further stated by him that Amrit Singh had taken off wrist watch of Mahavir and Menhdipal had taken off Pongni from the nose of Mahavir's mother. Thereafter, miscreants having seen the pressure of much crowd of the villagers, fled towards north. Mahavir and his mother, both died after they fell down on the ground and, thereafter, the miscreants had taken all these articles from their person. Further it is stated that the miscreants were harbouring animosity towards him. Amrit Singh had made fires upon police and in that case police had written name of PW-1 as a witness. PW-1 had got a patta executed in in his favour from Pradhan and in that regard Amrit singh had filed a case against him because he did not want the land to be given to him. The brother-in-law of Amrit Singh is Barelal. Menhdipal is brohter of Amrit Singh, while Raj Pal is brother-in-law of Menhdipal and have sitting with Suresh, Khurshid and Nasuruddin, day in and day out. He knew these miscreants from before and all of them were present in court room except Amrit Singh and Khursheed Khan. After fleeing of miscreants, he got a report written by Kayam Singh at his (PW-2's) house and taking the same he went to P.S. next day in the morning at about 8:30 a.m.. He further stated that he had not gone to the P.S. due to fear in the night. He had handed over the written report to Deevan Ji at P.S. Fariha which is Ext. Ka-1.

22. In cross-examination, this witness has stated that it is wrong to say that 15 to 16 months ago, he had assaulted the son of Draupa Devi namely, Kushal Pal by sickle (hansiya) regarding which a case was filed against him in the court of Magistrate in Shikohabad which was a false case. In case of 1982, in the first week, the father of accused Nasuruddin had deposed against him in the said case. It is wrong to say that he had been convicted and sentenced in that case with imprisonment of three months and fine of Rs. 3,000/- but stated that he was only told to have been fined with an amount of Rs. 3,000/-. The said fine was imposed against him about two months ago. He had not filed any appeal against the said conviction. The said case was running since prior to the present occurrence but he had no knowledge about the said case. He had received summons of the said case after the occurrence of the present case. He showed ignorance that Nasuruddin was studying in Narayan College Shikohabad and was student of B.A. final year. On the date of occurrence, he was at home during day and was not appearing in examination. It is wrong to say that 15 to 16 months ago, the father of Gaffoor namely, Munna was murdered who died of T.B.. He does not know whether Gaffoor had given any application to police regarding murder of Munna. He also does not know that Devkinandan Khanna was S.H.O. at the P.S. about 15-16 months ago. He further stated it to be wrong that he is a history sheeter and that he was in supervision of police. He did not know that his name was entered in register no. 8 at the P.S. and also stated it to be wrong that he did not have any agricultural land and further stated that he was owning about 5 to 6 bighas of agricultural land in village Barthara and three bighas of land was in the name of his father. He further stated that concerning Patta, a case was contested about two to three years ago, in which he had filed objections and in the same, his statement was recorded but he had lost the said case and that he had not filed any appeal against the said judgment despite the fact that court had set aside his patta. Further this witness has stated that he had written in his report that he was present at the Chabutra outside his house but he cannot tell as to why the same was not written. There was no chhappar on the Chabutra of Mahavir and Bhoore Singh, although in front of their house there was a chhappar and in front of his house, there was also a Chhappar. The miscreants came and shouted that here was Phool Singh and right then he fled from there.

23. This witness has stated that he had written name of Nasuruddin as one of the assailants who had made assault upon Mahavir and his mother and has also stated to the Investigating Officer that he was standing by the side of wall of Kayam Singh but he could not tell as to why the Investigating Officer did not record the same in his statement. He also stated it to be wrong that no such occurrence took place nor had he seen any such incident and that due to animosity he was taking name of Nasuruddin to be an accused in this case. Further stated that no one had made an attempt to bring improvement in the relations between Amrit Singh and Menhdipal. There was a dispute with respect to partition of house of land between Menhdipal and Mahavir and no other enmity was there between them. Amrit Singh was taking side of Menhdipal. He had not seen that in this regard father of Raj Pal had come for holding panchayat. When the miscreants stated that here was Phool Singh, let him be caught, then he was about 25-30 paces away from him. PW-1 was standing towards south of the house of Kayam Singh in the corner but the said place was about 50 to 60 paces away. Till the incident happened, he continued to stand there only raising alarm but no miscreants had made fire upon him because they could not get any opportuity to make fire nor any fire hit him. From the southern corner of his chhappar, at a distance of about 10 paces towards north, was a lantern. Dalan of Mahavir was about 10 to 15 paces away from his Chhappar. In the entire incident, hardly 10 to 15 minutes might have been consumed. He further stated that no one had disclosed to him the name of Raj Pal. When he had written report at his house, at that time those witnesses were present there, who had seen the occurrence. Raj Pal was about 10 paces away towards east from his Chhappar when he had made fire upon Ganga Sri, while PW-1 was about 5 paces away towards west from Ganga Sri, when Ganga Sri was fired upon. From there, all miscreants had fled towards north. It was wrong to say that Raj Pal was not present at the place of incident and that he was falsely named by him because he was having enmity with Menhdipal and Raj Pal, who was his relative.

24. Further this witness has stated that out of the miscreants only two were wearing Dhata (cloth covering the face).

Bare Lal was wearing Dhata and his face was not visible but he could be identified from his voice, hence, his name was written. Amrit Singh had shouted that here was Phool Singh, let him be caught, nothing else was stated by the miscreants except that they were abusing. He had not written in report nor had stated so to the I.O. that Bare Lal, was identified by him by his voice. At about 6:00-6:30 am, he had written the written report at his house. Barthara was about 3 to 4 furlong away towards west from his village and Keshpura was 3-4 mile from his village towards south. Nagla Fateh was about one mile away from his village in the east. Nagla Sunav was one mile and one furlong away towards north from his village and Machariya would have been three furlong away towards east. The Chaukidar lives in Barthra, Nagla Fateh and Sunav. The said Chaukidar did not come after the occurrence. The Chaukidar of his (PW-1's) village had come at about 5:00 pm, who was sent to the P.S. to apprise that the occurrence had taken place at the house of PW-1 and that PW-1 was coming. It was wrong to say that the police personal had arrived at 6:00 a.m., in fact they had come after PW-1 had reached P.S. at about at about 8:00-8:30 a.m.. Further this witness has stated that he had accompanied the dead body from his village which were taken to P.S. and remained present there for about one hour. The dead bodies reached Firozabad after sun set, which were taken there in bullock cart. Further he has stated that I.O. had recorded his statement the same day when he had lodged the report which was recorded at about 7:00 am at the P.S. and statement of Chob Singh was also taken down at the P.S. but the statement of Chaukidar was not recorded at the P.S. Further he has stated that no person belonging to the house of Bhoore had accompanied the PW-1 to P.S. Only, Chob Singh had accompanied him to the P.S. He had no knowledge that Bare Lal had stood surety for Amrit Singh. It is also wrong to say that there was no light at the place of incident and some unknown persons had given effect to this occurrence but due to animosity he had lodged name of Bare Lal and he also stated it to be wrong that the report was got lodged in consultation with the Investigating Officer subsequently. He also stated it to be wrong that his report was sent to the P.S. by the I.O. and, thereafter, its copy was sent with the dead bodies. This witnss has further stated that Amrit Singh, Menhdipal and Hakim Singh are real brothers and their father Bhimsen is still alive. The son of Hakim Singh, namely, Mahavir was murdered and Ganga Sri was wife of Hakim Singh. Further, he has stated that there is difference in Pauna and Gun in respect of their size as Pauna is a little smaller in size when compared to gun. He had stated to the Investigating Officer that Menhdipal was having Pauna in his hand. There is no difference in Bandook and Pauna except that of size as Pauna is also treated to be gun. It was wrong to say that because of animosity with Amrit Singh, name of Menhdipal was wrongly written and it was wrong to say that he had not seen Menhdipal at the place of occurrence. He further stated that he did not have any animosity with Suresh. His sister (PW-1's) Maya Devi was married to Pradhan of Pilakhtar, namely Surendra Singh. Suresh also belongs to Pilakhtar. He does not know that there was animosity between Suresh and Surendra Singh since long. After the occurrence till the next morning, Surendra Pradhan had not come to his house and he further stated that it was wrong to say that he has falsely implicated Suresh at the instance of Surendra Pradhan.

25. It is evident from the testimony of this witness that he had animosity with the accused, the details of litigations have already been mentioned by this witness in the above quoted statements. Therefore, it could not be said that there was no motive of giving effect to this occurrence by the accused side because enmity is a double edged weapon which is established law and that because of enmity there could be false implication, as well as incident can actually be caused. In the case in hand, this witness has clearly stated that he was sitting outside his house on Chabutra when the accused came in his house, armed with weapons, which are mentioned above and accused Amrit Singh had exhorted others that here was Phool Singh, who should be caught and it was then that he had got up from the cot and ran from there and concealed himself behind the wall of Kayam Singh and from there he witnessed the incident, in which Amrit Singh had made fire upon his daughter Kusuma and when she fell down, Menhdipal again made fire upon him by which she died. Thereafter, miscreants headed towards Mahavir (his nephew) and made fire upon him and also fire was made by the miscreants upon Ganga Sri, who was mother of Mahavir, by which Mahavir and Ganga Sri died on the spot. He also has clearly stated that Mahavir and his mother were fired upon by Nasuruddin, Khurshid Khan and Raj Pal, while other miscreants remained standing on Chabutra. It has also come in evidence that accused Amrit Singh had taken off writst watch of Mahavir and accused Menhdipal had taken off the golden Pongni of mother of Mahavir after they had fallen down and had died. It has also come on record in evidence that the distance between the place where incident happened from the house of Kayam Singh, where he was standing towards south of the house, at a distance of 50 to 60 paces and witnessed the occurrence, it could not be said that the place of incident was not visible to him as there was moon light as well as light of lanterns.

26. The arguments of learned counsel for the appellants that he could not have seen the occurrence from such a distance i.e. 50 to 60 paces, does not appear to be a tenable one and it may also be mentioned here that the investigating officer has not shown the house of Kayam Singh in site plan (Ext. Ka-20), which ought to have been shown, nor any distance of the said house from the place of incident has been shown which may be treated to be lacunae left by the Investigating Officer in conducting the investigation but its benefit may not be allowed to go to the accused as per settled law.

27. We find that in site plan Ext. Ka-20 by 'O' is shown the place from where the informant is stated to have seen the occurrence concealing himself there. By 'D' is shown the place where the informant was smoking on a cot when the accused came and were seen, thereafter, he fled from there. By 'C' is shown the place where informant's wife was making curd and from this place only she had seen accused Amrit Singh and Menhdipal to have fired upon his daughter. By 'D' is shown the place where deceased Kusuma was sleeping on a cot and from where the blood stained bedding was taken by the Investigating Officer. By 'E' is shown the place where there was a Khatola (small cot) on which, Rama daughter of Phool Singh was sleeping. By 'F' is shown the place where dead body of Kusuma was lying and from there blood stained and ordinary soil were collected by the I.O. By 'X' 'X' is shown the place, where two blank cartridges of 12 bore were found which were said to have been fired upon the deceased, were taken in possession by the I.O. By 'G' is shown the place, where Bhoomi Sri was sleeping on cot and from here she had seen the accused committing murder. By 'H' is shown the place, where Mahavir was sleeping and after hearing noise, ran from there and collided with a wall towards south by which he fell, where his dead body was lying. By + (plus) is shown the place, where marks of pallets on the wall were found, which was about three feet high, where brain matter was found at some places and from the said place, blood stained and ordinary soil were taken by I.O. in possession and the marks of pallets were shown by dots. By 'I' is shown the place, where deceased Ganga Sri was sleeping on a cot and from this very cot it was stated that after hearing sounds of fire, she tried to run away and collided with wall and fell down and her dead body was lying there, which was shown by 'B' and from this place blood stained soil and ordinary soil were collected and on the wall also there were marks of pallets found shown by dots and to the left side of the dead body, three blank cartridges were found lying, which were taken in possession by the I.O. By 'J' is shown the cot where Bhoore was sleeping. By 'K' is shown the place, upon which Somwati was sleeping and from this place she had seen Kushma, Mahavir and Ganga Sri being assaulted by the bullets. By 'L' is shown the place where lantern was hung. By 'M' is shown the place where lantern was hung. By 'R' is shown the place, from where witness Bhoore had seen his mother and brother being assaulted by the accused. By 'arrow' is shown the direction from where villagers came after hearing sounds of fire and had chased the accused. Though, the distances are not shown in the site plan but it appears that the entire incident happened in an area which was totally visible from place shown by 'O' from where PW-1 is stated to have seen the occurrence and other eye-witness namely Surajmukhi is stated to have seen the occurrence by letter shown by 'C', therefore, we find that presence of PW-1 appears proved on the place of incident when this occurrence happened.

28. Her husband had not received injury of fire arm and they (miscreants) had chased her husband for a certain distance. The Mahavir and his mother had not fled from there, rather kept concealing there only. Mahavir and his mother were killed on the ground. When the fire was being made in her house, right then, Mahavir and his mother had hardly put their feet on the ground and soon all the miscreants made fire upon them and at that time both these decesed would have been about one or two paces away from chhappar of PW-4. Further this witness has stated that from her chhappar, the cot of Mahavir would have been at the most 10 paces away and near that, was also the cot of Ganga Sri, Mahavir's mother. When she was making curd, about 45 minutes prior to that they had taken meals along with her husband and children. The Incident would have happened within 45 minutes of Mahavir and Ganga Sri having consumed food. The court also put a question to which, he responded by saying that in B.A. part-II he did not have mathematics as a subject.

48. The prosecution case is that the occurrence took place on 7.8.1982 at about 10:30 pm in the night in village Nagla Dan Sahay under the jurisdiction of P.S., Fariha, District Mainpuri. When seven persons named in the F.I.R. namely Amrit Singh, Menhdipal, Raj Pal and Bare Lal, Suresh Yadav, Nasuruddin, Khursheed Khan and 4-5 other miscreants came there towards the house of informant- Phool Singh (PW-1), when he was sitting out of his house on Chabutara and was smoking and the miscreants, who were fully armed with fire arm weapons which included gun, country made pistols, 'Pauna', (small gun) and at that time deceased-Kushma was sleeping, which is shown in the site plan by 'D' and very near that spot, is shown the location of the informant and his wife by 'B' and 'C', where informant was smoking and his wife (PW-4) was making curd. Soon after reaching there, the accused Amrit Singh had exhorted that here was Phool Singh (PW-1), let him be killed and then PW-1 fled from there towards the house of Kayam Singh and from there he witnessed that his daughter Kushma was fired upon by Amrit Singh and his brother (Amrit Singh's) Mehndipal and Bare Lal, Suresh made fires upon Mahavir and his mother Ganga Sri, who tried to flee from there but they died by fire arm injuries, near the wall, which has been shown in the site plan by 'a' and 'b'. This occurrence has been witnessed by PW-1, PW-2 and PW-4, in moon light, as well as in the light of lanterns, which were burning there and which have been taken into possession by the Investigating Officer also. Therefore, we find that there was sufficient light in which the accused could have been identified by the witnesses, PW-1, PW-2 and PW-4 who were of the same area and these miscreants were well known to the informants side, hence, it cannot be said that there could be any difficulty in their identification.

49. Dr. Vinay Kumar Yadav (PW-3) has found two gun shot injuries upon the dead body of Kusuma, one on her skull and the other on her chest, the said statements of the doctor is found corroborated by the ocular testimony of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-4, because it has come in evidence that after getting first injury, she fell down and, thereafter, the another shot was made upon her which ultimately resulted in her death. Similarly, the other two deceased namely, Ganga Sri and Mahavir are found to have received 2-3 injuries respectively, of fire arm by the said doctor and the injuries upon Ganga Sri is found of fire arm i.e. entry wound in temporal region having blackening and the other also in the same area, which is exit wound, therefore, her death appears to have resulted on account of single gun shot wound made in temporal region from a very close range because of blackening having been found. The third deceased-Mahavir is found to have suffered injury no. 1 at the top of skull. Injury no. 2 in lumber region and injury no. 3 also in lumber region, which would show that he had received three injuries of fire arm and number of pallets were found embedded in the body of these two deceased persons. The statements which have been cited above of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-4, clearly show that these injuries were stated to have been caused by accused Nasuruddin, Khursheed Khan and Raj Pal by which both these deceased had died. Therefore, we find that the ocular testimony is fully corroborated by medical reports and it is apparent that all the miscreants named above had come there forming an unlawful assembly armed with deadly weapons and succeeded in killing all the three deceased named above, in prosecution of common object of the said unlawful assembly.

50. The arguments made by the learned counsel for the appellants that according to F.I.R. itself PW-1 had fled from the place of incident soon after arrival of the miscreants there and had concealed himself behind the wall of Kayam Singh and from there he has stated to have seen the occurrence which is unbelievable because it was not possible for him to have witnessed the occurrence from the said place nor the Investigating Officer has shown the house of Kayam Singh in the site plan.

51. We are not inclined to accept this argument because in the site plan it has clearly been shown that from place 'O', PW-1 is shown to have witnessed the occurrence and whatever places have been demarcated in the site plan, where these deceased had been fired upon, were clearly visible. Merely because the house of Kusuma had not been indicated by mentioning his name, would not mean that PW-1 could not have seen the occurrence from the said place where he has stated himself to be present and had concealed himself in order to save his life.

52. The other argument that other injured i.e. wife of PW-1 Surajmujhi (PW-4) could not be treated to be an eye-witness because had she been there, she certainly would have suffered some injuries when so many miscreants were assaulting the deceased.

53. We are not inclined to accept this argument because it cannot be visualise as to in what manner the said witness would have saved her life by concealing herself. The occurrence is said to have taken place in the night hours at about 10:30 pm, which was a time when normally people would sleep and therefore, the presence of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-4 on the place of incident cannot be disbelieved as they were lying there after having taken food, when this occurrence has happened.

54. It is further argued by the learned counsel for the appellant that no recovery of any fire arm has been made from the accused-appellants but that could not be taken to be any ground for acquittal because even if weapons of assault has not been found by Investigating Officer, that, at the most would be treated to be ineffeciency on the part of the police or a lacuna left by the prosecution, the benefit of which would not be allowed to go to the accused side in face of the fact that three murders have been committed in very brutal manner, which have been witnessed by three eye-witnesses.

55. Next argument which was made by the learned counsel for the appellant that the two co-accused namely, Bare Lal and Nasuruddin have been acquitted by the trial court on the same evidence, while the remaining three, who are appellants before us, have been convicted which is a discriminatory approach and in fact when other two were not found guilty, the present appellants also ought not to have been found guilty by the trial court and should have been acquitted.

56. In this regard, we have gone through the judgment of the trial court and we find that it is recorded by it that Bare Lal happened to be brother-in-law of Amrit Singh and it was argued before the trial court that he had been falsely nominated in this case on account of his relationship with Amrit Singh. The complainant had stated in cross-examination that Bare Lal was wearing Dhata on his face and, therefore, could not be seen. According to him, he had recognized Bare Lal from his voice and, accordingly, was nominated in the F.I.R., however, his evidence did not suggest that Bare Lal had uttered any word during entire occurrence. The complainant had stated that Amrit Singh had asked his companions to catch the complainant and nothing else was uttered by the miscreants, therefore, in these circumstances involvement of Bare Lal in the crime was found not fully established by the trial court and benefit of doubt was granted to him and accordingly was acquitted.

57. We find that this accused was also closely known to the complainant side, therefore, there was no possibility of his identification not being made by the complainant and other witnesses but the view taken by the trial court that he could not be identified because of 'Dhata' and only on the basis of his voice, he was stated to have been recognized as he had uttered that catch hold of complainant and by these words alone the identity of the said accused could not have been established, we are of the view that the said opinion of the trial court does not appear to be reasonable but this Court cannot do anything in this regard as no criminal appeal has been preferred from the side of prosecution against his acquittal.

58. The other accused Nasuruddin has also been acquitted by the trial court with regard to whom, it is recorded in the judgment that it was argued that he was a student of B.A., who had been falsely implicated because his father had appeared as a witness against the complainant and that the occurrence related to 7.8.1982. The complainant had admitted that in the first week of August, 1982 the father of Nasuruddin had deposed against him in a criminal case, which has ended in his conviction. Thus, the complainant could have a motive in falsely implicating him. Moreover, it had also come in evidence of the accused that at the relevant time, he was a student of B.A. and his examination was in progress. Sri R.S. Pal (DW-2) was Officiating Principal of Narayan Degree College, Shikohabad, who has stated that examination of B.A.-II were held in the month of August 1982 and that Nasuruddin was appearing in that examination. He had also stated that Nasuruddin had appeared in the examination held on 6.8.1982 and his statement shows that examinations were not over and Nasuruddin was to appear even then thereafter. Exhibit Kha-4 was the certificate, which was issued by him indicating that the practical examination in respect of geography was to be held on 21.9.1982. Ext. Kha-3 was scheme of examination, which showed that examination continued even after 6.8.1982. In these circumstances, the trial court held these circumstances sufficient to create doubt that Nasuruddin would have participated in the crime during the days of his examination and on that basis, he was also given benefit of doubt.

59. We are not inclined to accept this logic given by the trail court that because Nasuruddin had appeared in the examination on 6.8.1982 and his remaining examination were yet to be over, therefore, he could not have participated in the present crime in question because this occurrence is stated to have happened on 7.8.1982 at 10:30 pm in the night, while examination was over by 6.8.1982 and no such details have been mentioned by the trial court as to what was distance of the place of occurrence from the place where he was to appear in examination and whether it was possible for him to come to the place of incident and go back again to appear in examination or not. Unless these facts were also taken into consideration, an opinion would have been expressed that it was not possible by this accused to come back after committing crime and appear in the examination, no such benefit ought to have been given on the plea of alibi, but we are helpless in this regard because no such appeal has been preferred against the acquittal of this accused. It may be clarified here that if there are more than one accused involved in a crime and if other co-accused is acquitted on false grounds, it would not be a circumstance in which the other accused would also be allowed to claim parity and acquittal, if the circumstances and the evidence on record reveals that actually both the accused had given effect to this occurrence.

60. We further find too many discrepancies in the statements of eye-witnesses and the Investigating Officer for example the complainant had stated before I.O. that Menhdipal was having 'Pauna' but in his examination on oath before court, he stated that he was having a gun, which no doubt was a discrepancy but 'Pauna' is a short gun and, therefore, in such circumstances when so many accused had come and made assault upon the deceased, this discrepancy would not be held to be a material one.

61. It was argued that Raj Pal was brother-in-law of Menhdipal and that he had been falsely implicated in this case because of that relationship.

62. We are not inclined to accept the same that he would have been nominated simply because he was brother-in-law of Menhdipal. All the eye-witnesses of the occurrence have named him as an accused. It has also come in the statement of Bhoore Singh (PW-2) that consultation was made before the scribing of the report and in this regard it was argued that the F.I.R. looses its significance and the same was got written after consultation but we do not find any force in this argument also because Bhoore Lal had clarified that the conversation had taken place only with respect to the fact that, who were the accused who had been identified by them so that they could be named in the F.I.R. and we find that in the F.I.R. names have been written of all those accused, who were actually identified by the complainant side while those accused, who could not be identified, were referred as four to five unknown persons, therefore, such kind of consultation or conversation would not demolish the prosecution case.

63. Further we would like to deal in detail with respect to the statement of PW-1 in the light of objections raised by the accused side that it was not possible for PW-1 to witness the occurrence. In this regard PW-1/informant has stated that he had witnessed the occurrence from near the wall of Kayam Singh, which was situated at a distance of about 50 to 60 paces from his house and, therefore, according to accused side it was not possible for this witness to have identified Raj Pal from such a distance. We have found it on record that informant had rushed to the wall of Kayam Singh after the miscreants arrived near his house, when Amrit Singh had exhorted his companions to catch hold of the informant, so that he may be shot dead and, thereafter, the miscreants started firing upon his daughter Kusuma Devi, therefore, we are of the view that from 50 to 60 paces distance, it could not be very difficult for the PW-1 to have witnessed the occurrence. It was very natural for this witness to run away from the spot to save his life and to actually witness the occurrence and to make hue and cry so that other villagers could also assemble to scare away the deceased. Had he stayed there and resisted the accused, he would also have been eliminated. We must also keep in mind the rustic background of the witness so as to ignore the discrepancies with respect to distance stated by him from where they state to have seen the occurrence, as they may have little idea about 'furlong' and 'paces' etc.

64. With respect to accused Suresh, it has come on record that he was resident of village Pilakhtar and that informant's sister Maya Devi was married to one Mulayam Singh of the said village, who subsequently stayed with Surendra Pradhan without getting married ('baith gayi'). It was because of this reason, that strained relations were stated to be there between Surendra Pradhan and accused Suresh and this led to nominating Suresh also as one of the accused in the present case but we find that no evidence has come on record that the relations between Surendra Pradhan and the Suresh were strenuous. It was also suggested from the accused side that the complainant's sister Maya Devi had deserted her previous husband along with ornaments and thereupon Mulayam Singh, previous husband of teh Maya Devi was assisted by accused Suresh in return of those ornaments and since then, thereafter, animosity developed between the two sides, because of which Suresh was falsely implicated in the present case.

65. We do not find this to be ground serious enough for animosity so that a false implication would be made of this accused and in view of the strong evidence having come on record that this accused was also involved in causing this occurrence, as is evident from the eye-witnesses' account mentioned above, his involvement is found to be there.

66. Thus we come to the conclusion that the trial court does not appear to have committed any error as far as holding these three appellants guilty is concerned, although we have already noted above that other two co-accused, who have been acquitted by the trial court, there being no such State appeal having been preferred against the acquittal, nothing could be done at our end but the present appeals deserve to be dismissed and is, accordingly, dismissed.

67. The accused are on bail, hence their bail bonds and personal bonds are discharged. Accused shall be taken into custody to serve out the remaining sentence.

68. Let a copy of this judgment be transmitted to the trial court expeditiously along with lower court record with a direction that the trial court shall ensure that the accused-appellants served out the remaining sentence.

69. Both the appeals stand dismissed.

Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code - Section 147 and 302/149 - Appeal against conviction.

It is well settled position that a natural witness may not be labelled as interested witness. Interested witnesses are those who want to derive some benefit out of the litigation/case. Relationship is not sufficient to discredit a witness unless there is motive to give false evidence to spare the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person is alleged and proved. (para 21)

The minor contradictions, inconsistencies or insignificant embellishments do not affect the core of the prosecution case and should not be taken to be a ground to reject the prosecution evidence. (para 25)

All these facts not only create doubt about common object of alleged unlawful assembly but also about the existence of any such unlawful assembly. There is doubt whether all the accused persons were present at the spot. In view of all these facts, conviction of accused-appellants of Section 149 of IPC is not in accordance with law and thus they deserve acquittal. (para 28)

Appeals of accused-appellants allowed except Santosh Kumar Yadav. (para 31)

1. All these appeals arise out of a common judgment and order dated 18.08.2015 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge/Fast Track, Bhadoi-Gyanpur in Session Trial No.106 of 2008 (State Vs. Binnu Srivastava @ Pawan Srivastava and 7 others), under Sections 147, 302, 149 of I.P.C., and S.T. No. 07/09, under Section 25 Arms Act, both P.S. Gyanpur, District Bhadohi, whereby accused-appellants Binnu Srivastava @ Pawan Srivastava, Pawan Srivastava @ prakash, Raj Nath Yadav, Atul Kumar Yadav @ Bhunwar, Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya, Sandeep Rawat @ Rinku, Rahul Rawat and Prashant Yadav have been convicted under Section 147 and 302/149 of I.P.C. and were sentenced to imprisonment for life along with fine of Rs. 25,000/- each under Section 302/149 of I.P.C. and two years rigorous imprisonment along with fine of Rs. 2000/- under Section 147 of I.P.C. Accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya was further convicted under Section 25 of Arms Act and was sentenced to 5 years rigorous imprisonment along with fine of Rs. 5000/-. In default of payment of fine, accused-appellants were sentenced to different period of imprisonment.

2. Prosecution version is that on 20.06.2008 at around 12.00 noon, deceased Raj Kumar, who was brother of complainant Manoj Kumar Yadav, has left his home for going to Gyanpur by motorcycle and when he reached near veterinary hospital, accused-appellants Binnu Srivastava @ Pawan Srivastava, Pawan Srivastava @ Prakash, Raj Nath Yadav, Atul Kumar Yadav @ Bhunwar, Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya and Sandeep Rawat @ Rinku, riding on two motorcycles, stopped deceased Raj Kumar. Accused-appellants Rahul Rawat and Prashant Yadav were already present there. All these accused persons made exhortation to kill Raj Kumar and consequently accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya shot a bullet at the head of deceased Raj Kumar from country made pistol. Resultantly, Raj Kumar died on spot. This incident was witnessed by complainant (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav, (PW-2) Bhola and by several other persons.

3. (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav reported the matter to police by submitting a written complaint Ex.Ka-1 and on that basis, case was registered against all the 8 accused-appellants on 20.06.2008 at 12.30 P.M. under Sections 147, 149, 302 of I.PC. vide Ex.Ka-4.

4. The inquest proceedings were conducted by S.I. Biri Singh under the supervision of Inspector Umesh Pratap Singh. The dead body of deceased was sent for postmortem, which was conducted on 20.06.2008 by (PW-4) Dr. Rajeev Kumar. Following injuries were found on the body of the deceased:

(i) Wound of entry 1.5 cm. x 0.5 cm. in longitudinal place. 15 cm. above vertically from lat. end and left eyebrow and 7 cm. up and med form. Tragus over lat. half and (L) frontal area. bleeding and shout particle implemented over skin around wound in 5 cm. X 6 cm. diameter upper (L) eye and blackening C earbon particle (L) eye brow. Lat. 2/3 hair show seizing 3 cm. x 3 cm. area around wound show scarching blood present. margins and wound inverted.

(ii) Exit wound 2 cm. x 1 cm over Rt. Temporal area just above the superior attachment of Rt Pinna to scalp and 6 cm Horizontally back from lat eye of Rt. eye brow, margin ever feet, bleeding occur.

Cause of death of deceased is shock and hemorrhage, as a result of ante-mortem injury caused by firearm.

5. Investigation was taken up by (PW-6) Inspector Umesh Pratap Singh. Samples of blood stained and simple Gitti and Kankar were collected from the spot vide memo Ex.Ka-7. It was alleged that after the incident, stampede has taken at the spot and six pairs of sleeper were seized from the spot. During investigation, on 21.10.2008, while being on police custody remand, accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya got recovered country made pistol of 315 Bore, which was used in the incident, and it was taken into possession vide recovery memo Ex.Ka-15. After completion of the investigation, charge sheet was filed against all the accused-appellants.

6. Learned trial court framed charge under Section 147, 302/149 of I.P.C. against all the accused-appellants and accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya was further charged under Section 25 of the Arms Act. They pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

7. In order to bring home guilt of accused-appellants, prosecution has examined 10 witnesses. Accused persons were examined under Section 313 of Cr.P.C., wherein they have denied the prosecution evidence and claimed false implication. In defence, one Rakesh Maurya was examined as (DW-1).

8. After hearing and analyzing the evidence on record, all the accused persons were convicted under Sections 147, 302/149 of I.P.C. and accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya was further convicted under Section 25 of Arms Act vide impugned judgment and order dated 18.08.2015 and they were sentenced, as stated in paragraph no.1 of this judgment.

9. Being aggrieved by the impugned judgment and order of the trial court, appellants Binnu Srivastava @ Pawan Srivastava and Pawan Srivastava @ Prakash have preferred Criminal Appeal No. 3574 of 2015, accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya has preferred Criminal Appeal Nos. 4045 of 2015 and 4046 of 2015, and appellants Raj

Nath Yadav, Atul Kumar Yadav, Prashant Yadav, Rahul Rawat and Sandeep Rawat @ Rinku have preferred Criminal Appeal No. 3657 of 2015. As all these appeals have been preferred against common judgment and order thus, these appeals are being decided by this common order.

10. Heard Sri V.P. Srivastava, Learned senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Lav Srivastava, Advocate, learned counsel for the appellants and Sri J.K. Upadhaya, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

11. Learned Senior counsel for the appellants submits:

(i) that presence of (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav, (PW-2) Bhola and (PW-3) Amit Kumar Rawat at the alleged spot is doubtful. In the FIR there is no such version that how (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav and (PW-2) Bhola have reached at the spot and it was not clarified that where were they going. Further the name of (PW-3) Amit Kumar Rawat does not find place in the FIR.

(ii) that all the alleged eye witnesses (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav, (PW-2) Bhola and (PW-3) Amit Kumar Rawat are interested and inimical witnesses. (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav is brother of deceased Raj Kumar while (PW-2) Bhola is uncle of deceased and that all these three witnesses were accused in an earlier incident of murder of the father of accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav. It is also stated that statement of (PW-2) Bhola and (PW-3) Amit Kumar Rawat under Section 161 CrPC, were recorded with undue delay, which has not been explained.

(iii) that spot of the alleged incident could not be established. As per FIR, the incident took place near veterinary Hospital, while in site plan, the alleged hospital has not been shown and the spot of the incident has been shown in front of the shop of Anoop Electrical. It was stated that (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav has categorically stated that alleged incident took place near veterinary hospital, while as per the Investigating Officer, the veterinary Hospital is situated at quite long distance from the spot of the incident as shown in the site plan. It is further pointed out that in his cross examination (PW-2) Bhola had stated that deceased was stopped and fired near Home Guard Commandant Office.

(v) that there are contradictions and inconsistencies in the statements of witnesses. As per prosecution version, deceased was going on motorcycle, but his motorcycle was not found on the spot. As per prosecution version, deceased has died on the spot but when the police reached at the spot, his body was lying in Hospital.

(vi) that there is no evidence that all the accused-appellants were having common intention to commit murder of deceased.

It was submitted that there is absolutely nothing to indicate that accused-appellants were aware that deceased would pass from the way, where allegedly incident took place. Further, even as per prosecution version, accused-appellants Rahul Rawat and Prashant Yadav were already present at the spot, but there is nothing even to remotely indicate that these accused persons were aware that deceased would pass from there. It is submitted that there is absolutely no evidence that all the accused persons have any pre-arranged plan to commit murder of the deceased. Version of the prosecution that all the accused persons have made exhortation is quite vague.

Even, it has not been clarified that what specific exhortation was made by each of the accused persons. It was submitted that in view of all these facts, it is clear that it is not a case, where all the accused-appellants have common intention to commit murder of deceased.

12. Per contra, it has been submitted by the learned A.G.A. that all the eye witnesses have made clear and cogent statements regarding the incident. The testimony of these witnesses can not be doubted on the ground that they are related to deceased or that they were earlier accused in the murder of the father of accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya. Enmity is double edged weapon and thus, alleged enmity may be motive to commit murder of deceased. (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav has lodged prompt first information report naming all the accused-appellants and his version finds ample corroboration from (PW-2) Bhola and (PW-3) Amit Kumar Rawat. It was submitted that substantially there is no change in the spot of incident. If a person refers that incident took near some well known place, it does not mean that he intended to say that incident has taken place just at that point but his reference would cover entire vicinity of that place. Regarding common object, it was argued that there is evidence that all accused-appellants have made exhortation to kill deceased and as a consequence of the same, accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya has fired a bullet at deceased and thus murder of deceased was committed in furtherance of common intention of all accused-appellants.

13. We have considered the rival contentions of of both the parties and perused record.

14. In evidence, (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav stated that the incident took place on 20.06.2008 at 12.00 noon. There was property dispute between his family and of accused-appellant Santosh Yadav. Earlier in 2005 the family members of Santosh Yadav have given beatings to his family in which his brother Raj Kumar was injured and in that regard a case was pending in court. On 20.06.2008 his brother Raj Kumar (deceased) was going to Gyanpur by motorcycle while (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav and his brother Rakesh were going to Gyanpur on foot. Accused-appellants Binnu Srivastava, Pawan Srivastava and Raj Nath Yadav on one motorcycle and accused-appellant Atul Kumar Yadav, Santosh Kumar Yadav and Sandeep Rawat @ Rinku on another motorcycle, were also going towards Gyanpur. Near veterinary hospital, accused-appellants encircled motorcycle of deceased Raj Kumar and made exhortation to kill Raj Kumar and consequently accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav fired a bullet from country made pistol, which hit at the head of deceased Raj Kumar. Thereafter an atmosphere of stampede has prevailed. The incident was witnessed by him (PW-1), his brother Rakesh, one Bholanath Yadav and by many others. Raj Kumar has died at spot. (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav further stated that accused-appellants Rahul Rawat and Prashant Yadav were already present at spot and they have stopped the deceased and also exhorted to kill the deceased.

15. (PW-2) Bhola stated that on account of land dispute between family of deceased and of accused-appellant Santosh Yadav, in 2005 an scuffle has taken place and in that regard a case was pending in court. On 20.06.2008 at 12.00 noon when he (PW-2) was going to market, near home guard office, he saw that deceased Rajkumar was going towards market on motorcycle. Deceased was stopped by Rahul and Prasant and at the same time accused Binnu, Raj Nath Yadav and Pawan came on one motorcycle, while accused Rinku, Atul and Santosh came on another motorcycle and they all made exhortation to kill Raj Kumar and consequently accused Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya fired from country made pistol by touching it at the head of deceased Raj Kumar. Raj Kumar fell down and an stampede took place. Manoj, Rakesh and others ran to save the deceased but accused threatened to kill them. After that all accused persons ran away.

16. (PW-3) Amit Kumar Rawat has stated that his alias name is Anil Kumar and he runs an auto parts shop at Gyanpur - Gopiganj road and it is situated at a distance of 300-400 yards from veterinary hospital. On 20.06.2008 at around 12.00 noon while he was sitting outside his shop, he saw Raj Kumar (deceased) was going towards Gyanpur by motorcycle. On two motorcycles, six accused persons came from behind. Accused-appellants Pawan, Binnu and Rajnath Yadav were on one motorcycle and accused-appellants Sandeep, Atul and Santosh Kumar were on another motorcycle and they all followed Rajkumar. As Raj Kumar started moving towards Gyanpur, accused Prashant and Rahul, who were already standing there, stopped Raj Kumar from front side while remaining six accused-appellants came from behind and they exhorted to kill Raj Kumar. Accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya took out a country made pistol and fired a bullet at head of Raj Kumar. Some persons ran to save deceased but accused-appellants threatened to kill them too. Raj Kuar has died of fire arm injury.

17. (PW-4) Dr Rajiv Kumar has conducted postmortem on dead body of deceased and has duly proved the postmortem report Ex.ka-3.

18. (PW-5) Constable Radhey Shyam Bharti has recorded first information report.

19. (PW-6) Inspector Umesh Pratap Singh has conducted initial investigation while further investigation was conducted by (PW-7) SHO Ram Manorath Thapa.

20. (PW-8) H.M. Kedar Nath Tiwari has recorded FIR of Arms Act and deposed regarding recovery of country made pistol from accused-appellant Santosh Kumar. (PW-9) S.I. Ramchandra Tiwari has conducted investigation of case under Arms Act against accused-appellant Santosh Kumar. (PW-10) S.I. Ram Krishna Rastogi has conducted part investigation of case under Arms Act.

21. So far as the contention, that (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav and (PW-2) Bhola are interested witnesses or that these witnesses have not explained that how they reached at spot, is concerned, it is well settled position that a natural witness may not be labelled as interested witness. Interested witnesses are those who want to derive some benefit out of the litigation/case. In case, the circumstances reveal that a witness was present on the scene of occurrence and had witnessed the crime, his deposition cannot be discarded merely on the ground of being closely related to the victim. Generally close relations of the victim are unlikely to falsely implicate anyone. Relationship is not sufficient to discredit a witness unless there is motive to give false evidence to spare the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person is alleged and proved. A witness is interested only if he derives benefit from the result of the case or as hostility to the accused. In case of State of Punjab Vs Hardam Singh, 2005, S.C.C. (Cr.) 834, it has been held by the Apex Court that ordinarily the mere relations of the deceased would not depose falsely against innocent persons so as to allow the real culprit to escape unpunished, rather the witness would always try to secure conviction of real culprit. In the case of Dilip Singh Vs State of Punjab, A.I.R. 1953, S.C. 364, it was held by the Supreme Court that normally a witness is considered independent unless he or she springs from sources which are likely to be tainted and that usually means unless witness has cause, such as enmity against accused to which to implicate falsely. Similar view has been taken by the Supreme Court in Harbans Kaur V State of Haryana, 2005, S.C.C. (Crl.) 1213; and in State of U.P. vs. Kishan Chandra and others, 2004 (7), S.C.C. 629. The contention about branding the witnesses as 'interested witness' and credibility of close relationship of witnesses has been examined by Apex Court in number of cases. A close relative, who is a very natural witness in the circumstances of a case, cannot be regarded as an 'interested witness', as held by the Supreme Court in Dalbir Kaur v. State of Punjab, AIR 1977 SC 472. The mere fact that the witnesses were relations or interested would not by itself be sufficient to discard their evidence straight way unless it is proved that their evidence suffers from serious infirmities which raises considerable doubt in the mind of the court. Similar view was taken in case of State of Gujrat v. Naginbhai Dhulabhai Patel, AIR 1983 SC 839. Similarly in Ramashish Rai Vs. Jagdish Singh, (2005) 10 SCC 498, the following observations were made by the Apex Court:

"The requirement of law is that the testimony of inimical witnesses has to be considered with caution. If otherwise the witnesses are true and reliable their testimony cannot be thrown out on the threshold by branding them as inimical witnesses. By now, it is well-settled principle of law that enmity is a double-edged sword. It can be a ground for false implication. It also can be a ground for assault. Therefore, a duty is cast upon the court to examine the testimony of inimical witnesses with due caution and diligence."

Similarly, in Piara Singh and Ors. Vs. State of Punjab [AIR 1977 SC 2274 = (1977) 4 SCC 452], the Court held:

"It is well settled that the evidence of interested or inimical witnesses is to be scrutinised with care but cannot be rejected merely on the ground of being a partisan evidence. If on a perusal of the evidence the Court is satisfied that the evidence is creditworthy there is no bar in the Court relying on the said evidence."

In Hari Obula Reddy and Ors. Vs. The State of Andhra Pradesh, (1981) 3 SCC 675, a three-judge Bench of Apex Court observed:

".. it is well settled that interested evidence is not necessarily unreliable evidence. Even partisanship by itself is not a valid ground for discrediting or rejecting sworn testimony. Nor can it be laid down as an invariable rule that interested evidence can never form the basis of conviction unless corroborated to a material extent in material particulars by independent evidence. All that is necessary is that the evidence of interested witnesses should be subjected to careful scrutiny and accepted with caution. If on such scrutiny, the interested testimony is found to be intrinsically reliable or inherently probable, it may, by itself, be sufficient, in the circumstances of the particular case, to base a conviction thereon."

A survey of the judicial pronouncements of Apex Court on this point leads to the inescapable conclusion that the evidence of a closely related witnesses is required to be carefully scrutinised and appreciated before any conclusion is made to rest upon it, regarding the convict/accused in a given case. Thus, the evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are related to each other or to the deceased. In case the evidence has a ring of truth to it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, it can, and certainly should, be relied upon. (See Anil Rai Vs. State of Bihar, (2001) 7 SCC 318; State of U.P. Vs. Jagdeo Singh, (2003) 1 SCC 456; Bhagalool Lodh & Anr. Vs. State of U.P., (2011) 13 SCC 206; Dahari & Ors. Vs. State of U. P., (2012) 10 SCC 256; Raju @ Balachandran & Ors. Vs. State of Tamil Nadu, (2012) 12 SCC 701; Gangabhavani Vs. Rayapati Venkat Reddy & Ors., (2013) 15 SCC 298; Jodhan Vs. State of M.P., (2015) 11 SCC 52)."

In view of the aforesaid exposition of law, this Court would only be required to carefully scrutinize and appreciate the evidence of closely related witnesses before arriving at any conclusion. However, their evidence cannot be disbelieved only on the ground that these witnesses are related to each other or to the deceased and when the evidence has a ring of truth as being cogent, credible and trustworthy, as has already been discussed herein above.

In the present case, it is correct that (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav is brother of deceased and (PW-2) Bhola is uncle of deceased, but these witnesses have consistently deposed about their presence at spot. As per (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav, at the time of incident, he was going to Gyanpur on foot. As per (PW-2) Bhola, he was going to market and in the way he witnessed the incident. It was day time. They have been subjected to cross-examination, and so far as their presence at spot is concerned, no such adverse effect could emerge, so as to make the presence of these witnesses at the scene of offence, doubtful. Version of (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav has been amply corroborated by (PW-2) Bhola. One of the important aspect is that (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav has lodged first information report without any undue delay. In view of all these facts, it can not be said that (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav and (PW-2) Bhola have not explained as to how they reached at spot. Thus, the contention of learned counsel for the accused-appellants has no force.

It is correct that there was enmity between the parties on account of murder of father of accused Santosh Kumar Yadav, however, it is well repeated remark in criminal matters that enmity is a double edged weapon and it cuts both ways. On the one hand, it may be a reason for false implication while on the other hand, it may also provide a motive for commission of offence. Thus, the requirement in such matters is that evidence must be scrutinized carefully in order to ascertain whether there is any possibility of false implication on account of enmity. It would be pertinent to mention here that in ordinary course a close relative of deceased would not implicate an innocent person, sparing the actual assailants.

22. In the instant case, scrutiny of evidence shows that so far as accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav is concerned, specific role of firing at deceased has been assigned to him. (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav and (PW-2) Bhola have consistently deposed that it was the accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav, who has fired at the deceased. Regarding his role, no major contradiction or inconsistency could be pointed out in statement of (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav. His statement is consistent with the medical evidence and corroborated by (PW-2) Bhola. First information report was lodged by (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav without any delay, wherein specific role of firing was assigned to accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav. No doubt there was delay in recording statement of (PW-2) Bhola and (PW-3) Amit Kumar Rawat under Section 161 CrPC, but so far as (PW-2) Bhola is concerned, his name figures in first information report as witness, which was lodged without any delay. Further the investigating officer was not asked about reasons of delay in recording his statement. Once in the first information report, (PW-2) Bhola was shown as witness, it was duty of investigating officer to record his statement promptly. There is no such material on record that after the incident this witness was not available for his statement. In view of these facts, testimony of (PW-2) Bhola can not be doubted on ground of delay in recording his statement. Mere delay in recording statement of witness does not necessarily discredit testimony. The Court may rely on such testimony if they are cogent and credible and the delay is explained to the satisfaction of the Court. [See Ganeshlal v. State of Maharashtra (1992) 3 SCC 106; Mohd. Khalid v. State of W.B. (2002) 7 SCC 334; Prithvi (Minor) v. Mam Raj (2004) 13 SCC 279 and Sidhartha Vashisht @ Manu Sharma v. State (NCT of Delhi) (2010) 6 SCC 1]. However, so far (PW-3) Amit Kumar Rawat is concerned, his statement was recorded with much delay on 13.07.2008 and he was not shown as witness in the first information report and thus, it does not appear safe to rely his testimony. Except the fact that it would not be safe to rely testimony of (PW-3) Amit Kumar Rawat, we do not find any force in contentions raised by learned senior counsel.

23. It was next argued that spot of the alleged incident could not be established. As per FIR, the incident took place near veterinary Hospital, while in site plan, the alleged hospital has not been shown and the spot of the incident has been shown in front of the shop of Anoop Electrical. It was stated that (PW-3) Amit Kumar Rawat has categorically stated that alleged incident took place near veterinary hospital, while as per Investigating Officer, the veterinary Hospital is situated at quite long distance from spot of the incident as shown in the site plan. It was further pointed out that in his cross examination (PW-2), Bhola has stated that deceased was stopped and fired near Home Guard Commandant Office.

24. Regarding these contentions it may be seen that as per version in first information report, the incident took place near veterinary hospital. It does not mean that incident took place just in front of that hospital. Purport of using word 'near' may vary person to person in terms of distance.

As per site plan, spot of incident has been shown opposite to shop of Anoop Electrical but investigating officer (PW-6) Umesh Pratap Singh has stated that veterinary hospital is situated in north side from point 'Á' shown in site plan Exhibit Ka-19. It is correct that veterinary hospital was not shown in site plan but there is evidence to show that it is situated nearby. It is correct that (PW-6) Umesh Pratap Singh has stated that incident took place opposite to Home guard office but this statement does not match with the site plan prepared by him, as in the site plan, place of incident has been shown opposite to shop of Anoop Electrical and home guard office is situated at some steps from there, however these are minor contradictions. It is correct that (PW-2) Bhola stated that deceased was stopped near home guard office and this fact is also supported by investigating officer while as per (PW-3) Amit Kumar Rawat, incident took place near veterinary hospital but it is also a minor inconsistency. Fact remains that all alleged points like veterinary hospital, home guard office and Annop Electrical are situated in same vicinity. In normal parlance, a witness may state that incident to be happened near veterinary hospital while another witness may say that it took place near Anoop Electrical or near any other shop/office situated nearby. Such inconsistencies are quite common. Situation may have been different, had some witnesses would have spoken altogether some distant place as spot of incident, but it is not so in this case. Considering all facts and evidence, it can not be said that alleged inconsistencies are of such nature so as to create any doubt about position of spot or about presence of (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav and (PW-2) Bhola or to affect their testimony adversely. We find no substance in the argument of learned senior counsel.

25. Learned Senior counsel has pointed out certain contradictions and inconsistencies in the statements of witnesses. It was stated that as per prosecution version, deceased was going on motorcycle, but his motorcycle was not found on the spot and that as per prosecution version, deceased has died on the spot but when the police reached at the spot, his body was lying in Hospital. In this regard, it may be observed that such contradictions and inconsistencies do not affect pith and substance of testimony of (PW-1) Manoj Kumar and (PW-2) Bhola. It is correct that there is nothing to indicate that after incident, who has taken away motorcycle of deceased but it is not such a factor so as to affect prosecution version. So far as dead body of deceased is concerned, there is evidence of (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav and (PW-2) Bhola that after incident, deceased was taken to hospital. Though deceased has died at spot, but it is not uncommon to take him to hospital in hope that he may be surviving. It is well settled in law that the minor discrepancies are not to be given undue emphasis and the evidence is to be considered from the point of view of trustworthiness. The test is whether the same inspires confidence in the mind of the Court. If the evidence is incredible and cannot be accepted by the test of prudence, then it may create a dent in the prosecution version. If an omission or discrepancy goes to the root of the matter and ushers in incongruities, the defence can take advantage of such inconsistencies. It needs no special emphasis to state that every omission cannot take place of a material omission and, therefore, minor contradictions, inconsistencies or insignificant embellishments do not affect the core of the prosecution case and should not be taken to be a ground to reject the prosecution evidence. The omission should create a serious doubt about the truthfulness or creditworthiness of a witness. It is only the serious contradictions and omissions which materially affect the case of the prosecution but not every contradiction or omission. (See Rammi @ Rameshwar Vs. State of M.P., (1999) 8 SCC 649; Leela Ram (dead) through Duli Chand Vs. State of Haryana and Another, (1999) 9 SCC 525; Bihari Nath Goswami Vs. Shiv Kumar Singh & Ors., (2004) 9 SCC 186; Vijay @ Chinee Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2010) 8 SCC 191; Sampath Kumar Vs. Inspector of Police, Krishnagiri, (2012) 4 SCC 124; Shyamal Ghosh Vs. State of West Bengal, (2012) 7 SCC 646 and Mritunjoy Biswas Vs. Pranab @ Kuti Biswas and Anr., (2013) 12 SCC 796).

26. Having considered entire evidence carefully, so far the involvement of accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav is concerned, there is clear and cogent evidence against him. In this regard, no major contradiction or infirmity could be pointed out in testimony of (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav. Version of (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav is quite consistent that it was the accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav, who fired shot at the deceased. His version is consistent with first information report and is supported by medical evidence. Statement of (PW-1) Manoj Kumar is corroborated by (PW-2) Bhola in material particulars. Both these witnesses have subjected to cross-examination, but they remained stick to their version and no such fact could be elicited, which may cause any dent against their credibility. Regarding involvement of accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav we find testimony of (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav and (PW-2) Bhola coupled with other evidence on record quite impeccable and reliable.

27. However, examining the entire evidence carefully, it appears that evidence regarding common object of unlawful assembly comprising all the accused-appellants to commit murder of deceased, is quite vague. In fact, there is no categorical and cogent evidence that all the accused-appellants were present at the spot and thus, the very existence of unlawful assembly appears doubtful. Provisions of Section 149 of IPC provide that if an offence is committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly, or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person who at the time of the committing of that offence, is a member of the same assembly is guilty of that offence. The first part of Section 149 IPC states about the commission of an offence in prosecution of the common object of the assembly whereas the second part takes within its fold knowledge of likelihood of the commission of that offence in prosecution of the common object. Scope of two parts of Section 149 IPC has been explained in Rajendra Shantaram Todankar v. State of Maharashtra and Ors. [JT 2003 (2) SC 95], the Apex Court has explained Section 149 and held as under:

"14. Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code provides that if an offence is committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly, or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person who at the time of the committing of that offence, is a member of the same assembly is guilty of that offence. The two clauses of Section 149 vary in degree of certainty. The first clause contemplates the commission of an offence by any member of an unlawful assembly which can be held to have been committed in prosecution of the common object of the assembly. The second clause embraces within its fold the commission of an act which may not necessarily be the common object of the assembly, nevertheless, the members of the assembly had knowledge of likelihood of the commission of that offence in prosecution of the common object. The common object may be commission of one offence while there may be likelihood of the commission of yet another offence, the knowledge whereof is capable of being safely attributable to the members of the unlawful assembly. In either case, every member of the assembly would be vicariously liable for the offence actually committed by any other member of the assembly. A mere possibility of the commission of the offence would not necessarily enable the court to draw an inference that the likelihood of commission of such offence was within the knowledge of every member of the unlawful assembly. It is difficult indeed, though not impossible, to collect direct evidence of such knowledge. An inference may be drawn from circumstances such as the background of the incident, the motive, the nature of the assembly, the nature of the arms carried by the members of the assembly, their common object and the behaviour of the members soon before, at or after the actual commission of the crime. Unless the applicability of Section 149 -- either clause -- is attracted and the court is convinced, on facts and in law, both, of liability capable of being fastened vicariously by reference to either clause of Section 149 IPC, merely because a criminal act was committed by a member of the assembly every other member thereof would not necessarily become liable for such criminal act. The inference as to likelihood of the commission of the given criminal act must be capable of being held to be within the knowledge of another member of the assembly who is sought to be held vicariously liable for the said criminal act..... "

The same principles have been reiterated in State of Punjab v. Sanjiv Kumar alias Sanju and Ors. [JT 2007 (9) SC 274]. Creation of vicarious liability under Section 149 IPC is well elucidated in Allauddin Mian and Others, Sharif Mian and Anr. v. State of Bihar [JT 1989 (2) SC 171], the Apex Court held:

"8. .....Therefore, in order to fasten vicarious responsibility on any member of an unlawful assembly the prosecution must prove that the act constituting an offence was done in prosecution of the common object of that assembly or the act done is such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object of that assembly. Under this section, therefore, every member of an unlawful assembly renders himself liable for the criminal act or acts of any other member or members of that assembly provided the same is/are done in prosecution of the common object or is/are such as every member of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed. This section creates a specific offence and makes every member of the unlawful assembly liable for the offence or offences committed in the course of the occurrence provided the same was/were committed in prosecution of the common object or was/were such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed. Since this section imposes a constructive penal liability, it must be strictly construed as it seeks to punish members of an unlawful assembly for the offence or offences committed by their associate or associates in carrying out the common object of the assembly....."

The same principles were reiterated in paras (26) and (27) in Daya Kishan v. State of Haryana [JT 2010 (4) SC 325] and also in Kuldip Yadav and Ors. v. State of Bihar [JT 2011 (4) SC 436]. Whether the members of the unlawful assembly really had the common object to cause the murder of the deceased has to be decided in the facts and circumstances of each case, nature of weapons used by such members, the manner and sequence of attack made by those members on the deceased and the circumstances under which the occurrence took place. It is an inference to be deduced from the facts and circumstances of each case. (vide Lalji and Ors. v. State of U.P. [JT 1989 (1) SC 109]; Ranbir Yadav v. State of Bihar [JT 1995 (3) SC 228]; Rachamreddy Chenna Reddy and Ors. v. State of A.P. [JT 1999 (1) SC 412]).

In prosecution of "common object' means "in order to attain the common object'. Effect of section 149 may be different on different members of the same assembly. Common object is determined keeping in view nature of the assembly, arms carried by members and behaviour of members at or near the scene of incident. It is not necessary in all cases that the same must be translated into action or be successful. It is well settled that the expression "in prosecution of common object" has to be strictly construed as equivalent to "in order to attain the common object.' The word "knew' used in the second part of section 149 IPC implies something more than possibility and it cannot bear the sense of might have known'. When an offence is committed in prosecution of the common object, it would generally be an offence which the members of the unlawful assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object. Members of an unlawful assembly may have community of object upto a certain point. The "common object' of an assembly is to be ascertained from the acts and language of the members composing it, and from a consideration of all the surrounding circumstances.

28. Coming to the facts of present case perusal of evidence shows that the accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav has caused single fire arm injury to deceased. It is not the case of prosecution that any of the other accused has also caused any injury to deceased. The post-mortem report of deceased also does not indicate that he was assaulted by all the accused persons, who were eight in number. (PW-1) Manoj Kumar Yadav and (PW-2) Bhola have also not attributed any specific role to the other accused persons except that of Santosh Kumar Yadav, in causing injuries to deceased. The role assigned to the accused-appellants, except that of Santosh Kumar Yadav, is that they made exhortation to kill the deceased. It has not been specified that what words were used by these accused persons while making alleged exhortation rather only general allegation has been made that all the accused-appellants made exhortation to kill the deceased and consequently accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav fired a single shot at the deceased. As per prosecution version, six accused persons have reached at spot on two motorcycles while two accused namely, Rahul and Prashant Kumar were already present there. There is nothing to indicate that how all these accused were aware that deceased would pass from that point and at that particular time. It is not the case of prosecution that deceased used to pass that way every day. All these facts not only create doubt about common object of alleged unlawful assembly but also about the existence of any such unlawful assembly. There is doubt whether all the accused persons were present at the spot. The role assigned to the accused-appellants, except that of Santosh Kumar Yadav, is that they made exhortation to kill the deceased. It is not specified that what words were used by these accused persons while making alleged exhortation rather only general allegation has been made that all the accused-appellants made exhortation to kill the deceased and consequently accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav fired a single shot at the deceased. All these facts not only create doubt about common object of alleged unlawful assembly but also about the very existence of any such unlawful assembly. It appears that it was the individual act of accused appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav, which is responsible for causing sole fatal injury to the deceased. Evidence on record is not cogent and categorical regarding common object of alleged unlawful assembly. As stated earlier, it could not be established beyond doubt that there was any such unlawful assembly. In view of all these facts, conviction of accused-appellants Binnu Srivastava @ Pawan Srivastava, Pawan Srivastava @ Prakash, Raj Nath Yadav, Atul Kumar Yadav @ Bhunwar, Sandeep Rawat @ Rinku, Rahul Rawat and Prashant Yadav with aid of Section 149 of IPC is not in accordance with law and thus they deserve acquittal.

29. Now question arises whether an accused charged under section 302/149 IPC could be convicted under section 302 simplicitor in the absence any substantial charge under section 302 IPC. In Nallabothu Venkaiah vs. State of A.P reported as (2002) 7 SCC 117, the Supreme Court was faced with two questions of law. Firstly, whether the appellant could be convicted under Section 302 IPC without the aid of Section 149 IPC, in the absence of any substantive charge under Section 302 IPC. Secondly, whether the appellant could be convicted under Sections 302/149 IPC on selfsame evidence on the basis of which other accused were acquitted. After analyzing a catena of earlier decisions on the above aspect, the law was distilled in the following words:-

"24. On an analytical reading of a catena of decisions of this Court, the following broad proposition of law clearly emerges: (a) the conviction under Section 302 simpliciter without aid of Section 149 is permissible if overt act is attributed to the accused resulting in the fatal injury which is independently sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause the death of the deceased and is supported by medical evidence; (b) wrongful acquittal recorded by the High Court, even if it stood, that circumstances would not impede the conviction of the appellant under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC; (c) charge under Section 302 with the aid of Section 149 could be converted into one under Section 302 read with Section 34 if the criminal act done by several persons less than five in number in furtherance of common intention is proved."

Thus, it is explicit that the conviction under Section 302 simpliciter without aid of Section 149 is permissible if overt act is attributed to the accused resulting in the fatal injury which is independently sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause the death of the deceased and is supported by medical evidence.

In the instant case, as discussed above, evidence shows that the accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya has fired a single bullet at deceased, which resulted to the death of deceased. Any of the other accused has not caused any injury what so ever to deceased. Both eye witnesses (PW-3) Amit Kumar Rawat and (PW-2) Bhola have also not attributed any specific role to the accused persons except that of Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya, in causing injuries to deceased. Alleged exhortation attributed to these accused persons is quite vague. There is no cogent and categorical evidence to prove alleged exhortation. Only general allegation has been made that all the accused-appellants made exhortation to kill the deceased and consequently accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya fired a single shot at the deceased. It is quite apparent from evidence that the act of firing at deceased, attributed to the accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya, resulting in the fatal injury, is independently sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death of the deceased. Medical evidence shows that the bullet fired by accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya was sufficient to cause death of deceased. Considering entire evidence, accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya could be convicted under Section 302 IPC. Thus, so far as accused appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya is concerned, he is liable to be convicted under section 302 IPC. Similarly conviction of accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya under Section 25 Arms Act is based on evidence and calls for no interference.

30. In view of aforesaid, conviction of accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya under Section 302/149 IPC is altered to under Section 302 IPC and sentence of life imprisonment along with fine is maintained. Conviction and sentence of accused-appellant Santosh Kumar Yadav @ Kariya under Section 25 Arms Act is also affirmed but sentence of five years rigorous imprisonment is reduced to three years. However his conviction and sentence under Section 147 IPC is set aside. 1. The Criminal appeal no. 4134 of 2005 has been filed against the judgment and order of the trial court dated 30.08.2005 passed by the Special Session Judge, J.P. Nagar in Sessions Trial No.

231 of 2004, Case Crime No. 244 of 2004 (State Vs. Fasahat & others) under Sections 302, 504, 506 IPC, Police Station-Said Nagli, District-J.P. Nagar whereby the appellant Fasahat has been convicted under Section 302 of the Indian Penal Code and sentenced to undergo imprisonment for life with a fine of Rs.10,000/- and in case of default further imprisonment of three years.

2. The Government Appeal no. 5496 of 2005 has been filed by the State against the judgment and order of the trial court dated 30.08.2005 passed by the Sepcial Sessions Judge, J.P. Nagar in Sessions Trial No. 231 of 2004, Case Crime No. 244 of 2004 (State Vs. Fasahat & others) under Sections 302, 504, 506 IPC, Police Station-Said Nagli, District-J.P. Nagar whereby the accused-respondents Jamshed, Tanveer, Dilshad have been acquitted of the charges.

3. Briefly stated the facts of the case, as per the report of the informant Khaliq Ahmad are that on 01.05.2004 at about 4 o' clock in the evening Fahim Ahmad, brother of the informant was sitting in his shop when the accused Fasahat, Dilshad, Jamshed and Tanveer came to the shop and out of these persons Jamshed, Tanveer and Dilshad caught hold of the deceased Fahim Ahmad while Fasahat with the intention to kill, stabbed Fahim Ahmad with such force that his intestines came out. It is further mentioned in the FIR that the informant then took his brother, in an injured condition, to Hasanpur for treatment under Dr. Shiv Swaroop Tandon. It is also stated that on the cry raised by Fahim Ahmad, he alongwith one Irshad and Munazir came rushing to the shop and managed to extricate his brother from the clutches of the accused. The accused however, made good their escape hurling abuses and threats to kill. The report also mentions that Fahim Ahmad, the injured, was left in the care of other relatives and the informant has come to lodge the FIR (Ex. Ka-1). The report was transcribed by Sri Surendra Singh, Head Moharrir.

4. The injury report is marked as Ex. Ka-4 and reads as under:-

"(1) Incised wound 13cmx2cm cavity deep on LT side margins are clean cut. Intestine Protrude rite and Bleeding from the wound present. Kept under observation.

(2) Incised wound 2cx0.5cmx0.2cm on RT hand Palm in between Rt Index and RT Middle finger 12 cm below to RT wrist joint. Bleeding from the wound Present.

Opinion: Inj. No. (1) and (2) caused by sharp edged object. Inj. No. (1) kept under observation referred to Dist. Hospital Moradabad for further management. Patient is in low condition. Inj. No. (2) simple in nature.

5. On 4.5.2004 the informant submitted an application (Ex. Ka-2) before the Thana In-Charge mentioning therein that his brother was under treatment at Hasanpur but on 4.5.2004 he was referred by the Doctor to be taken to Meerut and while he was being taken to Meerut and had travelled just a short distance from Hasanpur that the injured Fahim Ahmad died as a result of injuries caused to him on 01.05.2004 and therefore, the informant came back to the village with the dead body and is reporting the matter to the police.

6. Inquest was held on 4.5.2004 from 22:15 to 23:30 hrs of the same day and marked as Ex. Ka-6. Cause of death is mentioned as due to injuries received on 01.05.2004.

7. The IO sent the body for postmortem and the postmortem was conducted on 5.5.2004 at 11:00 am. In the postmortem report Ex. Ka-3 it is stated that the death had occurred about 3/4th day earlier. The postmortem report mentions cause of death as septicemia due to ante mortem injuries.

8. The crime was investigated by SSI Indu Pal Sharma who visited the spot along with Head Constable Vijay Pal Singh and Constable Narayan Das and reached the Dhakka crossing at about 18:40 hours. On the way they picked up Ali Waris and one Salim Ahmad as witnesses and thereafter, they picked the accused-appellant Fasahat and on the pointing out of Fasahat the knife used in the murder was recovered from the Haryana by-pass crossing after going some distance in the shrubbery and this recovery was made in the presence of witnesses Ali Waris and Salim Ahmad. The accused-appellant Fasahat informed that this was the same knife which was used in the assault on deceased Fahim Ahmad. The recovery memo of the knife Ex. Ka-11 has been proved by the Investigating Officer, SSI Indu Pal Singh (third IO), P.W.-7.

9. Ex. Ka-5 is the Site Plan of the place where the incident occurred. Ex. Ka-12 is the Site Plan of the recovery of the offending knife. Thereupon, chargesheet was filed against the accused-appellant under Section 302, 504 and 506 IPC on 20.7.2004.

10. Learned counsel for the appellant submitted that P.W.-1 was not an eye witness of the incident and, therefore, the entire story narrated in the FIR as well as the testimony of the P.W.-1 is false.

11. The P.W.-1 in his examination-in-chief has stated that on 01.05.2004 at 4 o'clock in the evening when there was sufficient day light, his brother Fahim Ahmad was sitting in his cement shop in Kasba Dhakka. The accused-appellant Fasahat along with Jamshed, Tanveer and Dilshad, with common intention, came to the shop where the accused Jamshed, Tanveer and Dilshad caught hold of Fahim Ahmad from behind whereas the accused-appellant Fasahat stabbed Fahim Ahmad with a knife with the intention to kill and as a result of stabbing the intestines of Fahim Ahmad came out. The witness along with Irshad and Munazir rushed to the shop and exhorted the accused and extricated Fahim Ahmad from the hands of the accused. Thereafter, they took Fahim Ahmad to the Hasanpur District Hospital and from there they took him to Dr. Shiv Swaroop Tandon for private treatment. On 4.5.2004, Dr. Shiv Swaroop Tandon referred the injured Fahim Ahmad for further treatment to Meerut whereupon the witness took Fahim Ahmad to proceed to Meerut and while on way just after they had left Hasanpur, Fahim Ahmad died as a result of injuries received by him.

12. In cross examination, the P.W.-1 further stated that only Fasahat had a weapon whereas the other accused did not carry any weapon. He also stated that Jamshed had grabbed the deceased Fahim Ahmad from behind whereas Dilshad had caught hold of his hands and Tanveer had caught hold of his legs. Since he has described the incidence in detail and his testimony from cross-examination is found intact, therefore, we do not find substance in the contention of learned counsel for the appellant that he is not eye witness and entire story narrated in F.I.R. and his testimony is false.

13. The learned counsel for the appellant submitted that as per the statement of P.W.-1 when he reached the site, the deceased had already fallen from the chair which would suggest that this witness had not seen as to which of the accused had stabbed Fahim Ahmad and, therefore, he was not an eye witness to the incident and had arrived subsequently at the spot.

14. The submission of the learned counsel is without any substance since the P.W.-1 has described the incidence in detail that when he entered the shop the accused Tanveer had caught the deceased by his legs whereas Dilshad had caught his hands and Jamshed was holding him from behind. In his cross examination he has further stated that he was at the spot when the incident occurred and that he, Irshad and Munazir were immediately present there and a crowd gathered later on and when he reached the spot the accused were assaulting his brother Fahim Ahmad. The witness has further repeated that when he reached the shop he found that Dilshad and Jamshed had caught hold of his brother and at the time when stabbing took place his brother was standing. He has described the weapon whose handle was of aluminum and that when he exhorted the accused, they ran away from the spot.

15. Referring to the site plan (Ex. Ka-5), learned counsel for the appellant submitted that Khaliq Ahmad, the informant, whose shop was not in front of the shop of the deceased Fahim Ahmad, could not have seen the incidence and he was not an eye witness. However, from the site plan we find that there is not much distance between the shop of the deceased and that of the P.W.-1 and in any case, the incident was a broad day light incident in the summer of 01.05.2004 at 4:00 PM and therefore, it cannot be said that P.W.-1 had not witnessed the incident. We find the testimony of P.W.-1 to be consistent with the narration of facts as stated in the FIR. We also find from the postmortem report that Dr. Iqbal Hussain who first examined the deceased has clearly mentioned that injury no.1 was 13cm long with 10 stitches 4cm above the navel. Injury no. 2 was 11 cm with several minor injuries 2 cm under the skin. Injury no. 3 was 2cm x 1 cm and 10 cm above the hip joint. Injury no.4 was an injury caused to the hand and was 1 cm x ½ cm deep. In his testimony P.W.-3 has confirmed that the injury no.1 could have been caused by stabbing with a knife and that injury no.2 which is a tailing wound could have been caused while removing the knife from the body by the tip of knife. Injury no.4 could have been caused by a knife when somebody is trying to prevent the injury with his hands. The learned counsel for the appellant referring to the statement of the Doctor P.W.-3 submitted that if the injury no.2 could have been caused by a harrow it would mean that it was not caused by a knife as alleged in the FIR and in the testimony of P.W.-1. We are not inclined to accept the submission of the learned counsel for the appellant for the reason that this was only a suggestion of the P.W.-3 Dr. Iqbal Hussain, who has also stated that he has not seen the harrow. On the other hand, the P.W.-3 is quite clear and emphatic that the injury no. 1 which was 13 cm long could have been caused by a knife and the injury no. 2 could also have been caused while removing the knife from the body and the injury no.4 to the hand could have been caused by a knife when somebody is trying to hold the knife. Thus, in our opinion, the testimony of P.W.-1 stands corroborated by the postmortem report and the statement of Dr. Iqbal Hussain P.W-3 who has proved the postmortem/injury report.

16. The learned counsel for the appellant next submitted that the statement of P.W.-2 Irshad who is stated to be an eye witness was recorded after four days and, therefore, Irshad was a tutored witness and not an eye witness, therefore, his testimony was wholly unreliable and conviction of the accused could not have been based on such a testimony. Reliance has been placed upon a judgement of the Supreme Court in (2016) 4 SCC 96 Shahid Khan Vs State of Rajasthan. In the said judgement the Supreme Court has held that where the statement of P.W.-24 and 25 (in that case) were recorded after three days of the occurrence and no explanation was forthcoming as to why they were not examined for three days coupled with the fact that the police had not been able to show as to how they came to know that these witnesses saw the occurrence, therefore, the delay in recording the statement casts a serious doubt about their being eye witness to the account. The Supreme Court further held that P.W.-24 and 25 in view of their unexplained silence and delayed statement to the police do not appear to be wholly reliable witnesses. The Supreme Court has further held that there is no corroboration of their evidence from any other independent source either and on these facts the Apex Court found it rather unsafe to rely upon their evidence only to uphold the conviction and sentence of the appellants.

17. At this stage, we may advert to the testimony of P.W.-2 Irsahd. P.w.-2 Irshad is one of the persons named in the FIR alongwith the informant and one other person Munazir who had witnessed the incident. This witness in his testimony has clearly outlined that he and Munazir were sitting in the Sweetmeat shop of one Salim when the accused Fasahat, Jamshed, Tanveer and Dilshad came there from the west with common intention and these persons and the accused entered the shop of the deceased Fahim Ahmad. Accused Fasahat had a knife in his hand. The accused Jamshed, Tanveer and Dilshad caught hold of Fahim Ahmad whereas Fasahat with the intention to kill Fahim stabbed him in his stomach with the knife with the result that Fahim's intestines came out. He has further described that Fahim tried to hold the knife as a result of which he received injuries in his palm. He has also stated that he has witnessed this incidence in the presence of Khaliq Ahmad (informant) and Munazir. He also stated that they exhorted the accused and extricated Fahim from the clutches of the accused. Thereafter, the witness along with others put Fahim Ahmad in an Ambassador car and took him away. He has also stated that Fahim Ahmad died as a result of injuries received by him. In his cross examination, this witness has further stated that the incident was a broad day light incident which occurred at 4:00 PM on 01.05.2004 and as soon as they heard the shouting, he, Munazir and Khaliq Ahmad (informant) reached the shop, the deceased was in the shop. When he reached the spot Fahim Ahmad was standing when he was stabbed in the stomach. Other than the accused Fasahat none of the other accused carried any weapon. After receiving the injuries, the deceased collapsed and fell down in the shop. He had received injuries in his stomach and his right hand. This witness has further stated that his statement was recorded by the police on the fourth day.

18. We find that P.W.-2 Irshad has been named in the F.I.R as a person who alongwith the informant and one Munazir rushed to the shop as soon as they heard some noise in the shop. We also find from his statement that the witness had also made a statement to that effect and has described the incidence in the same manner as described by the P.W.-1 that accused Dilshad, Tanveer and Jamshed had caught hold of Fahim Ahmad and it was accused Fasahat who had stabbed Fahim in the stomach. Thus, P.W.-2 is the person who has been named in the FIR at the very first instance and therefore, even if his testimony was recorded four days later it cannot be said that he was a tutored witness nor under the circumstances can it be said that he was not an eye witness of the incident rendering his testimony as unreliable. The testimony of P.W.-2 is consistent and corroborates with the testimony of P.W.-1, the injury report Ex. Ka-4 and the postmortem report Ex. Ka-3. It is not a case of as to how the police came to know that this witness saw the occurrence. The incident of stabbing occured on 01.05.2004 whereas the injured died of his injuries on 4.5.2004. P.W.-2 has been named as a witness in the F.I.R. lodged on the date of stabbing itself. The Supreme Court in State of U.P. Vs. Satish (2005) 3 SCC 114 in paragraph 18 has held as under:-

"18. As regards delayed examination of certain witnesses, this Court in several decisions has held that unless the Investigating officer is categorcially asked as to why there was delay in examination for the witnesses the defence cannot gain any advantage therefrom. It cannot be laid down as a rule of universal application that it there is any delay in examination of a particular witness the prosecution version become suspect. It would depend upon several factors. If the explanation offered for the delayed examination is plausible and acceptable and the court accepts the same as plausible, there is no reason to interfere with the conclusion. (See Ranbir v. State of Punjab,1973) 2 SCC 444, Bodhraj v. State of J&K (2002) 8 SCC 45 and Banti v. State of M.P. (2004) 1 SCC 414)."

19. The Supreme Court in (2013) 7 SCC 278, Ganga Singh Vs State of Madhya Pradesh, in paragraph 12 and 12 has held as under:-

"12. According to Mr. Mehrotra, however, PW-5 is not a reliable witness as she has made a significant omission in her evidence by not stating anything about the seizure of the blouse, dhoti and broken bangles which were made in her presence. But we find that no question has been put to PW-5 in cross-examination with regard to seizure of the blouse, dhoti and broken bangles in her presence. If the appellant's case was that PW-5 cannot be believed because she made this significant omission in her evidence, a question in this regard should have been put to her during her cross- examination. To quote Lord Herschell, LC in Browne vs. Dunn [(1894) 6 R 67]:

".....it seems to me to be absolutely essential to the proper conduct of a cause, where it is intended to suggest that a witness is not speaking the truth on a particular point, to direct his attention to the fact by some questions put in cross examination showing that the imputation is intended to be made, and not to take his evidence and pass it by as a matter altogether unchallenged, and then, when it is impossible for him to explain, as perhaps he might have been able to do if such questions had been put to him, the circumstances which it is suggested indicate that the story he tells ought not to be believed, to argue that he is a witness unworthy of credit."

13. Section 146 of the Indian Evidence Act also provides that when a witness is cross-examined, he may be asked any question which tend to test his veracity. Yet no question was put to PW-5 in cross-examination on the articles seized in her presence. In the absence of any question with regard to the seizure of the blouse, dhoti and broken bangles in presence of PW-5, omission of this fact from her evidence is no ground to doubt the veracity of her evidence."

20. In the instant case with regard to the delayed examination of the witness Irshad no question has been put by the defence to the Investigating Officer, therefore, in view of the finding of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the above case defence cannot gain any advantage on the basis of delayed examination of the witness Irshad.

21. In the circumstances, we find that the judgement of the Supreme Court in the case of Shahid Khan has no application to the facts of the present case.

22. The case was investigated by SI Mahendra Singh P.W.-6 who first investigated the matter on 01.05.2004. The Investigating Officer Mahendra Singh (First IO) has prepared the Case Diary and he recorded the statement of Head Moharrir Surendra Singh as well as the statement of informant Khaliq Ahmad and also prepared the Site Plan (Ex. Ka-5). In his examination-in-chief he has stated that on 03.05.2004 he made entries of the medical report in the Case Diary and after the expiry of the injured victim, Fahim Ahmad, Section 302 was also added in his report and the panchayatnama was prepared Ex. Ka-5 which has been proved by him. He has proved the photo of the dead body (Ex. Ka-7) as well as the recovery. He has proved that the case crime no. was registered in his presence and he recorded the statement of the informant on 2.05.2004. In his cross examination the Investigating Officer has stated that on the date of the incident i.e. 01.05.2004 the informant came to the Thana at 4:45 PM and thereafter he first went to inspect the site on the direction of the SO and returned after two hours and during this time he also raided a few places and searched for the accused. He also stated that the informant came to the Thana again at 9:30 PM when the report was written down. He also stated that the informant had stated that he was informed by somebody that his brother had been stabbed and thereafter, he reached the crime spot. The Investigating Officer P.W.-6 also stated that the sweetmeat shop is hardly 8-10 steps from the crime spot. This witness has further stated that thereafter, he was transferred from that police station.

23. The investigation was next carried out by P.W.-5 Arun Kumar Verma, IO (second) who in his examination-in-chief has stated that on 04.05.2004 he was posted as SO Thana Saidnagli and on 01.05.2004 Khaliq Ahmad had lodged a report with regard to the incident. Thereafter, during treatment the injured Fahim Ahmad died and therefore, a second report was lodged on 4.05.2004 (Ex. Ka-2) regarding offence under Section 302, 504, 506 IPC. He has also stated that the initial Case Crime no. 244 of 2004 under Section 307, 504, 506 IPC was lodged in his presence in the Thana and the matter at that time was investigated by SI Mahendra Singh and that he had also gone with the SI Mahendra Singh to the crime spot which is about 5 Kms from the Thana. He has also stated that the deceased had two cement shops; in one shop he used to sit and the other shop was being used as a store. In the shop there were chairs. He has also stated that the crime spot was in the village Dhakka in the main bazaar and there were shops adjacent to the crime spot. This witness had also stated that Fahim was first treated in the Primary Health Centre and then taken to Dr. Shiv Swaroop Tandon. In cross examination this witness has stated that at the site there was no blood. He also stated that he was informed by the informant that the injured Fahim Ahmad was taken from Hasanpur and that one Farman was holding the injured.

24. The Investigation, thereafter, was taken over by SSI Indu Pal Sharma, IO (third) P.W.-7 who has proved the recovery of the offending knife and stated that the knife was recovered on the pointing out of the accused Fasahat in a shrubbery whereupon a recovery memo was made by him Ex. Ka-11 which has been proved by the IO Indu Pal Sharma. He has further stated that he did not send the knife to the Forensic Science Laboratory for testing since the knife had been washed clean. The learned counsel for the appellant assailing the testimony of the Investigating Officer Mahendra Singh stated that when the said IO reached the crime spot he did not find any blood stains, therefore, the incident of stabbing did not occur at all and the appellant has falsely been accused of the crime. The submission of the learned counsel for the appellant cannot be accepted for the reason that the witness P.W.-1 and witness P.-W.-2 who are the eye witnesses of the incident have both clearly stated that soon after the stabbing and after the accused and co-accused ran away from the spot one Haseeb had removed his shirt and tied it to the wound to prevent bleeding. In our opinion, this would account for the fact that there may not have been any blood on the spot.

25. P.W.-4 Dr. J.P. Singh, the incharge Medical Officer, Primary Health Centre, Hasanpur in his examination-in-chief has proved the injury report Ex. Ka-4 which was prepared by him at the time when the deceased Fahim Ahmad had been brought to the Primary Health Centre in an injured condition for medical checkup. He has described the injuries as follows:-

1– कटा हुआ घाव 13 से0मी ग 2 से0मी0 ग पेट की कैवेटी तक गहरा जो कि पेट के ऊपरी हिस्से से मध्य लाईन के बायी ओर दाहिनी तरफ को नाबी से 3 से0मी0 ऊपर था। चोट के किनारे साफ कटे हुये थे। आँते बाहर निकल आयी थी। घाव से रक्त बह रहा था। चोट को जेरे निगरानी रखा गया था।

2– कटा हुआ घाव 2 से0मी0 ग 0.5 से0मी0 ग 0.2 से0मी0 दाहिने हाथ पर हथेली की तरफ से तर्जनी उँगली व मध्यम उँगली के बीच तक था। दाहिनी कलाई से 12 से0मी0 नीचे था। घाव से रक्त बह रहा था। किनारे साफ कटे थे।

जीवन के लिये खतरनाक थी। उपरोक्त चोटे दिनांक 01.05.04 को शाम 4.00 बजे आना सम्भव है।

26. The P.W.-4 has also submitted his expert opinion stating that the injury no.1 and 2 as noted above, was possible to have been caused by a sharp edged weapon. He has further stated that having regard to the seriousness of the injury no.1 he had referred the injured for further treatment in the District Hospital, Moradabad since the medical condition of the injured was bad. The injury no.2 however, was simple. Both the injuries were fresh. He has also opined that it was possible for both the injuries to have been caused by a sharp knife and that injury no.2 could have been caused if the injured tried to hold the knife with his hand. Injury no.1 was stated to be fatal. This witness has further testified that it is not possible for these injuries to have been caused by falling upon a harrow.

27. P.W.-8 Ali Waris who is an independent witness has proved the recovery of the knife from the shrubbery and has also stated that the accused-appellant Fasahat had informed the SO in his presence that he had caused injury to Fahim Ahmad with this knife and while making good his escape he had washed the knife at a tap near Afzal Tel Depot and thereafter had thrown the knife at the place where it was found in the shrubbery. This corroborates the statement of the Investigating Officer (third) Indu Pal Sharma who has stated that he did not send the knife to the Forensic Science Laboratory for testing since the knife had been washed clean. The Site Plan of the recovery is Ex. Ka-12. Spot marked as "X' is shown as the spot where the offending weapon i.e. knife was found on the pointing out of the accused. "XA' is the spot where the accused is stated to have handed over the knife to the police. Point "B' is the spot where the police jeep was stopped and from where the police and the accused went in search of the knife. The single arrows represent the spot where the police along with accused reached over the bridge. The double arrow thereafter, marks the way led by the accused to the spot where the knife was found. The site plan Ex. Ka-12 has been proved by the Investigating Officer, Indu Pal Sharma P.W.-7.

28. The learned counsel for the appellant also submitted that the witness Abid was never examined. The name of Abid finds mention in the examination-in-chief of P.W.-1 Khaliq Ahmad, the informant who has stated that on the date of the incident i.e. 01.05.2004 in the morning the accused had got into an altercation with the said Abid. Abid in order to save himself ran into the shop of his brother Fahim Ahmad, the deceased. The accused persons followed Abid to the shop of Fahim Ahmad who scolded the accused. The accused then threatened Fahim stating that he would have to face consequences for protecting Abid and it is for this reason that the accused with common intention murdered Fahim Ahmad.

29. Sri Upendra Upadhayay, learned counsel for the complainant as well as learned AGA submitted that motive stood established as being the incident which occurred on the day of the incident i.e. 01.05.2004 when the accused with the intention to assault Abid chased him and Abid ran into the shop of Fahim to save himself and Fahim saved Abid from the accused persons and the accused had thereupon threatened Fahim with dire consequences for saving Abid. This establishes the motive for the murder of Fahim by the accused persons though we may hasten to add that even if Abid was not produced as a witness to testify to the occurrence of the incidence that occurred with him on the morning of 01.05.2004 but then in the facts and circumstances of the case, the incident being a broad day light incident having occurred at 4 o' clock in the afternoon/evening in the summer month and having witnessed by P.W.-1 and 2 and the facts having been corroborated by the injury report, postmortem report as well as recovery of the murder weapon having been witnessed by independed witness Ali Waris P.W.-8 in the presence of Investigating Officer on the pointing out of the accused and incident being a day light incident, motive becomes irrelevant.

30. In the case of Shardul Singh Vs. State of Haryana (2002) 8 SCC 372, it has been held that :-

"motive', which is not always capable of precise proof, if proved, may lead additional support to strengthen the probability of the commission of the offence by the person accused but the absence of motive does not ipso facto warrant an acquittal."

31. Similarly, in the case of Ravindra Kumar Vs. State of Punjab, (2001) 7 SCC 690, the Apex Court has held that-

"It is generally an impossible task for the prosecution to prove what precisely would have impelled the murderers to kill a particular person. All that prosecution in many cases could point to is the possible mental element which could have been the cause for the murder. It is therefore not possible to change the tide on account of the inability of the prosecution to prove the motive aspect to the hilt.

32. Similarly in the case of State of U.P. Vs. Baburam (2000) 4 SCC 515 it has been held that-

"It is not possible to accept the view that motive may not be very much material in cases depending on direct evidence whereas motive is material only when the case depends upon circumstantial evidence. There is no legal warrant for making such a hiatus in criminal cases as for the motive for committing the crime. Motive is a relevant factor in all criminal cases whether based on the testimony of eyewitnesses or circumstantial evidence. The question in this regard is whether the prosecution must fail because it failed to prove the motive or even whether inability to prove motive would be weaken the prosecution to any would be well and good for it, particularly in a case depending on circumstantial evidence, for such motive could then be counted as one of the circumstances. However, it is generally in a difficult area for any prosecution to bring on record what was in the mind of the respondent. Even if the investigating officer would have succeeded in knowing it through interrogations that cannot be put in evidence by them due to the ban imposed by law. When the prosecution succeeded in showing the possibility of some ire for the accused towards the victim, the inability to further put on record the manner in which such ire would have swelled up in the mind of offender to such a degree as to impel him to commit the murder cannot be construed as a fatal weakness of the prosecution."

33. Similarly, in the case Thaman Kumar Vs. State of Union Territory of Chandigarh, (2003) 6 SCC 380, it has been held that-

"There is no such principle or rule of law that where the prosecution fails to prove the motive for commission of the crime, it must necessarily result in acquittal of the accused. Where the ocular evidence is found to be trustworthy and reliable and finds corroboration from the medical evidence, a finding of guilt can safely be recorded even if the motive for the commission of the crime has not been proved. Hence in the facts and circumstances of the case, the absence of any evidence on the point of motive cannot have any such impact so as to discard the other reliable evidence available on record which unerringly establishes the guilt of the accused."

34. Similarly, in the case of Yunis alias Kariya Vs. State of M.P. (2003) 1 SCC 425, it has been held that-

"Failure to prove motive for crime in our view is of no consequence. The role of the accused persons in the crime stands clearly established. The ocular evidence is very clear and convincing in this case. The illegal acts of the accused persons have resulted in the death of a young boy of 18 years. It is settled law that establishment of motive is not a sine qua non for proving the prosecution case."

35. In (1973) 3 SCC 219 (Shivaji Genu Mohite Vs. The State of Mahrashtra) the Supreme Court in paragraph 12 has held as under:

"12. As stated earlier, the fact that the prosecution in a given case has been able to discover a sufficient motive or not cannot weigh against the testimony of any eye-witness. Evidence as to motive would, no doubt, go a long way in cases wholly dependent on circumstantial evidence. Such evidence would form one of the links in the chain of circumstantial evidence in such a case. But that would not be so in cases where there are eye-witnesses of credibility, though even in such case if a motive is properly proved such proof would strengthen the prosecution case and fortify the court in its ultimate conclusion. But that does not mean that if a motive is not established the evidence of any eye-witness is rendered untrustworthy."

36. In (2017) 11 SCC 120 (Rajagopal Vs. Muthupandi alias Thavakkalai and Others) the Supreme Court in paragraph 14 has held as under:

"14. Equally, it is well established that motive does not have to be established where there is direct evidence. Given the brutal assault made on PW-1 by criminals, the fact that witnesses have turned hostile can also cut both ways, as is well known in criminal jurisprudence."

37. It was further submitted by the learned counsel for the respondents that statement of P.W.-1 should be read as a whole and it cannot be read piecemeal by picking up statements made here and there. He submitted that even if P.W.-1 has in his cross examination stated that he was at the crossing on the road marked by X inside a circle in the Site Plan Ex. Ka-5 but in the same context he has also stated that at the time of the incidence he was standing about 4-5 meters to the east of the shop where the incident occurred, therefore, it cannot be said that P.W.-1 could not have witnessed the murder of Fahim Ahmad. The learned counsel for the respondents have further submitted that the statement of P.W.-1 in cross examination that Tanveer had held the legs of deceased Fahim, Jamshed had held him from behind and Dilshad had held him by his hands is consistent and intact with the narration of facts in the FIR.

38. With regard to the lodging of the FIR at 22:00 hours on 01.05.2004, learned counsel for the respondents submitted that the incident happened at 4:00 PM thereafter, the informant rushed with the injured Fahim to the Primary Health Centre where Dr. J.P. Singh (P.W.-4) examined him and prepared the injury report. Dr. J. P. Singh, thereafter referred him to the District Hospital, Moradabad. The informant then took the injured Fahim for further treatment to Dr. Shiv Swaroop Tandon where he was treated privately and remained there till 04.05.2004 as per the statement of the informant. On 04.05.2004 Dr. Shiv Swaroop Tandon referred the injured for further treatment at Meerut and while the informant was taking the injured from Hasanpur to Meerut the injured Fahim Ahmad died on the way. Therefore, considering the time lapse which has occurred from the time the injury was caused to the deceased Fahim Ahmad till he was taken to Dr. Shiv Swaroop Tandon and left there in the care of other relatives and only thereafter, that the informant rushed to the police station to lodge the FIR on the same day at 10:00 P.M, in our opinion, such time lapse has reasonably been explained and therefore, the submission of the learned counsel for the appellant that there was inordinate delay in lodging the FIR is totally misconceived.

39. The accused in their defence under Section 313 Cr.P.C. have denied the incident altogether and claimed that they have been falsely implicated in the murder of the deceased Fahim Ahmad due to enmity. However, the defence has not been able to show what was the enmity between the prosecution and the accused.

40. In this view of the matter, it is amply clear that the prosecution has proved its case against the appellant Fasahat.

41. In view of the facts of the case and the case laws referred to above, we do not find any illegality or infirmity in the finding recorded by the trial court with regard to the appellant Fasahat and appeal is liable to be dismissed. Hence, the Criminal appeal no. 4134 of 2005 is dismissed. The conviction and sentence awarded by the trial court is affirmed. The appellant Fasahat is already in jail. He shall be kept there to serve out the sentence as awarded by the trial court and affirmed by us in the above case.

42. In Government Appeal no. 5496 of 2005, the learned AGA for the State-appellant submitted that as per the site plan, the deceased Fahim Ahmad was attacked in his shop and the site is marked by point "A" whereas Khaliq Ahmad the informant is stated to be standing 4-5 metres from the spot "A", therefore, spot "A" would be clearly visible. He further submitted that statement of P.W.-1 that Jamshed had caught hold of Fahim from behind, Dilshad had caught hold of him by the hands and Jamshed was holding him by the legs is consistent with the narrative in the FIR that the three accused-respondents Jamshed, Tanveer and Dilshad were holding Fahim whereas Fasahat, the other accused had stabbed him with a knife. Learned AGA has further submitted that respondents Jamshed, Tanveer and Dilshad had gone with Fasahat with a common intention to avenge the incident which had happened in the morning of 01.05.2004 regarding Fahim giving protection to Abid in his shop and even though Fasahat alone was carrying a weapon and inflicted the fatal stab wound on Fahim, the deceased, the respondents Jamshed, Tanveer and Dilshad were equally guilty.

43. Sri Mukhtar Alam further submitted that Dr. Shiv Swaroop Tandon was never examined as a witness and, therefore, the entire story that the injured was taken for treatment to Dr. Shiv Swaroop Tandon was a concocted story and could not have been relied upon. In our opinion, even if Dr. Shiv Swaroop Tandon was not produced as a witness by the prosecution but Dr. J.P. Singh P.W.-4 has proved the Ex. Ka-4 which is the injury report prepared by him on the very first instance when the injured Fahim Ahmad was brought to the Primary Health Centre for treatment immediately after being stabbed and the injury report corroborates the incident of stabbing. The injury report of Dr. J. P. Singh further finds support from the injury report prepared by Dr. Iqbal Hussain, P.W.-3, in-charge Medical Officer. The doctor in the District Hospital conducted the postmortem of the deceased and the injuries mentioned in the postmortem report corroborate the statements of P.W.-1 and 2 that the deceased Fahim Ahmad was stabbed.

44. Sri Mukhtar Alam further submitted that the Medical Officer/doctor who declared the injured Fahim Ahmad having been brought dead did not communicate the said information to the police and there was violation of Section 39 of the Cr.P.C. Section 39 of the Code provides that every person, aware of the commission of, or of the intention of any other person to commit, any offence punishable under any of the sections of the Indian Penal Code mentioned in Section 39 to be duty bound to communicate such information to the nearest Magistrate or the police officer of such commission or intention. However, as submitted by the learned AGA, we find that Section 307 and 323 IPC are not mentioned in Section 39 Cr.P.C. We may, however, note that at the time when injured Fahim Ahmad was admitted for treatment to Dr. Shiv Swaroop Tandon he was still alive and a case under Section 307, 504, 506 IPC had been registered which Sections do not find mention in Section 39 of Cr.P.C., therefore, there was no obligation on the part of Dr. Shiv Swaroop Tandon to communicate such information to the nearest Magistrate or the police officer. However, we may hasten to add that the FIR was lodged in the Thana Hasanpur on 1.5.2004 and bears the endorsement of the S.I of the same date. Just below it is the endorsement of the in-charge CJM District J.P. Nagar, though no date has been mentioned but we have no reason to believe that the same was sent to the Magistrate at a later date and not on 1.5.2004 itself. The FIR also bears the seal of the Circle Officer, Hasanpur referring to the concerned court. We may also note that report of the death of injured Fahim Ahmad was made to the Thana concerned on 4.05.2004 itself which is the date of death of the injured by the informant Khaliq Ahmad (Ex. Ka-2). We therefore reject the contention of the learned counsel for the respondents that there was violation of provisions of section 157 Cr.P.C. The judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Jagdish Murav (supra) therefore, has no application to the facts of the present case.

45. The next submission of the learned counsel for the respondents, Sri Mukhtar Alam is that the F.I.R. itself was delayed. However, we may note in this context that the incident occurred at 4:00 P.M./16:00 hours on the afternoon/evening of 01.05.2004. The P.W.-1 in his testimony has stated that he had taken the injured first to the Primary Health Centre where he was examined by Dr. J.P. Singh who referred him to the District Hospital, Moradabad. Thereafter, he took the injured to Dr. Shiv Swaroop Tandon where he was left in the care of other relatives and thereafter the P.W.-1 rushed to lodge the F.I.R. The first Investigating Officer P.W.-6 Mahendra Singh has in his testimony stated that he had reached the site of the incident at 6:00 PM in the evening which means that the information had been given to the police by that time. He also states in his cross-examination that the informant Khaliq Ahmad had come to the Thana for lodging the FIR at 4:45 PM in the evening, though the time may not be correct since from the original record it is seen that the Medical Officer, Incharge (PHC) Hasanpur has examined the injured Fahim Ahmad on 1.5.2004 at 5.35 p.m. and submitted the injury report Ex. Ka-4. . The IO did not register the F.I.R. at that time but as per his statement he went to the spot for inspection and only, thereafter the F.I.R. was registered at 22:00 hours same day i.e. on 1.5.2004. The time of the FIR is mentioned in the chik F.I.R. as 22:00 hours on 01.05.2004. The chik FIR has been proved by the SSI Indu Pal Singh P.W.-7. Therefore, it is not correct to state that there was delay in lodging the F.I.R. It is also to be noted that the chik FIR was sent to the Magistrate by Dak as per the noting of the Circle Officer and also endorsed by the CJM, J.P. Nagar as "seen". We may also noted that if it is the allegation of the defence that the FIR was delayed no question in this regard was put to the IO either and therefore, the defence cannot gain any advantage through such submission.

46. The Supreme Court in Balveer Singh Vs State of Madhya Pradesh 2019 (108)ACC 317 in para 20 has held as under:-

"20. Delay in FIR - For the occurrence on 11.03.1998 at 05.30 PM, FIR No.114/98 was registered on the same day at 06.00 PM. As per the evidence of Constable Radhey Shyam (PW-10), FIR was handed over before the Court of JMFC, Bina on 12.03.1998. So far as the contention regarding delay in receipt of the FIR in the court, the trial court held that not sending the FIR immediately to the Court after its registration, cannot be put against the prosecution case since after 05.30 PM, the court timing gets over and in these circumstances, production of FIR before the Court on the next day during the court timings does not indicate that the FIR is ante dated. The case of prosecution, in our view, cannot be doubted on the ground of delay in receipt of the FIR in the court."

47. Sri Mukhtar Alam, learned counsel has placed reliance upon the judgement of the Supreme Court in Jagdish Murav Vs State of U.P. and Ors, (2006) 12 SCC 626 and Meharaj Singh Vs State of U.P., (1994) SCC (Crl) 1390 and submits that there was a delay in lodging the F.I.R. which has led to a coloured version and an exaggerated story in the FIR. However, in view of the facts of the case, explaining the delay in lodging the FIR which we have discussed at length and rejected hereinabove, and in view of the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Balveer Singh and Ganga Singh (supra), in our opinion, the judgement of Jagdish Murav and Meharaj (supra) have no application to the facts of the present case.

48. Sri Mukhtar Alam, learned counsel for the respondent next submitted that respondents role was only one of holding the injured/deceased whereas the actual incident of stabbing was carried out by accused Fasahat and, therefore, they had rightly been acquitted by the trial court and the acquittal should not be reversed on the evidence as it stands. He has relied upon the judgment of the Supreme Court in (2009) 11 SCC 334 Mahendra Pratap Singh Vs State of Uttar Pradesh as well as (2009) 11 SCC 660, Shripathi and others Vs State of Karnataka and submitted that in Sripathi (supra) the accused A-1 and A-3 had on the instructions of A-4 held the deceased whereas it was A-4 who was carrying a knife in his pocket, suddenly brought it out and stabbed the deceased.

49. In our, opinion, the judgement in the case of Mahendra Pratap Singh (supra) and Sripathi (supra) have no application to the facts of the present case for the reason that in the case of Sripathi (supra) it could not be established that the accused A-1 to A-3 had a common intention and object in perpetrating the crime and had caught hold of the deceased with that intention. On the other hand in the present case, it has been successfully proved by the prosecution through the testimony of the witnesses that on the morning of the incident the accused had chased one Abid into the shop of Fahim, the deceased who had scolded the accused and sent them away and while leaving the accused had threatened Fahim Ahmad with dire consequences for having saved Abid. The prosecution has also succeeded in proving that all the accused on the same day in the afternoon at 4:00 pm i.e. 1.05.2004 with common intention came to the shop of Fahim and while Jamshed, Tanveer and Dilshad caught hold of Fahim, the accused Fasahat stabbed Fahim with such force that the intestines of the deceased came out. It is not the case of the defence that the accused were not aware of the intention of Fasahat to stab Fahim or that after the accused had held the deceased Fahim Ahmad the accused Fasahat took out a knife from his pocket and stabbed Fahim and that the accused could not have known of the intention of Fasahat to stab Fahim to death.

50. In this view of the matter, the judgement cited by Sri Mukhtar Alam namely, Sripathi (supra) and Mahendra Pratap Singh (supra) with reference to common intention under Section 34 have no application to the facts of the present case.

51. Otherwise also the manner in which the crime was committed, we find that Jamshed, Tanveer and Dilshad along with the accused Fasahat had with a common intention reached the shop of the deceased to teach him a lesson and to kill him in relation to a previous incident which occurred the same morning in which the deceased had saved one Abid from the clutches of the accused persons. It has specifically come on record that Jamshed had grabbed the deceased Fahim Ahmad from behind whereas Dilshad had caught hold of his hands and Tanveer had caught hold of his legs, meaning thereby that they had rendered the deceased immobile and ineffective to save himself from knife blow dealt by accused Fasahat. If the three accused-respondents had not caught hold of the deceased so firmly, there would have been a chance for the deceased to have run away and save himself. Thus, it is clear that they had reached the spot alongwith the accused Fasahat with the common intention to avenge the incident of the same morning and to assault the deceased and to kill him. Therefore, in our opinion, all the three accused-respondents having reached the spot in furtherance of their common intention to commit murder of the deceased and also actively participated in the crime, therefore, they are liable to be held guilty of the offence under section 302/34 I.P.C.

52. It is to be noted for convicting a person with the aid of Section 34 IPC apart from the fact that there should be two or more accused, two factors must be established (i) common intention and (ii) participation of the accused in the commission of the offence. If common intention is proved but no overt act is attributed to the individual accused, Section 34 IPC will still be attracted as essentially it involves vicarious liability.

53. In the present case it has been specifically proved by the prosecution that the respondents were present on the spot and were catching hold of the deceased and thereby they actively participated in the commission of the crime with common intention to kill the deceased. It is also the case of the prosecution that an incident had taken place in the morning in which the deceased had scolded the accused persons and saved one Abid who was being chased by the accused persons and, thereafter the accused persons had left threatening the deceased Fahim of dire consequences and on the same day they reached the shop of Faheem and committed his murder with common intention. The prosecution has also proved its case beyond reasonable doubt.

54. The Apex Court in Suresh Vs. State of UP, AIR 2001 SC 1344, opined in para 36 and 37 as under:

"36. However, in view of the importance of the matter, in so far as the interpretation of Section 34 of the Indian Penal Code is concerned, we have chosen to express our view in the light of consistent legal approach on the subject throughout the period of judical pronouncements. For the applicability of Section 34 to a co-accused, who is proved to have common intention, it is not the requirement of law that he should have actually done something to incur the criminal liability with the aid of this section. It is now well settled that no overt act is necessary to attract the applicability of Section 34 for a co-accused who is otherwise proved to be sharing common intention with the ultimate act done by any one of the accused sharing such intention.

37. Section 34 of the Indian Penal Code recognises the principle of vicarious liability in the criminal jurisprudence. It makes a person liable for action of an offence not committed by him but by another person with whom he shared the common intention. It is a rule of evidence and does not create a substantive offence. The section gives statutory recognition to the commonsense principle that if more than two persons intentionally do a thing jointly, it is just the same as if each of them had done it individually. There is no gainsaying that a* common intention pre-supposes prior concert, which requires a prearranged plan of the accused participating in an offence. Such a preconcert or preplanning may develop on the spot or during the course of commission of the offence but the crucial test is that such plan must precede the act constituting an offence. Common intention can be formed previously or in the course of occurrence and on a spur of moment. The existence of a common intention is a question of fact in each case to be proved mainly as a matter of inference from the circumstances of the case.

38. Dominant feature for attracting Section 34 of the Indian Penal Code (hereinafter referred to as "the Code") is the element of participation in absence resulting in the ultimate "criminal act". The "act" referred to in latter part of Section 34 means the ultimate criminal act with which the accused is charged of sharing the common intention. The accused is, therefore, made responsible for the ultimate criminal act done by several persons in furtherance of the common intention of all. The section does not envisage the separate act by all the accused persons for becoming responsible for the ultimate criminal act. If such an interpretation is accepted, the purpose of Section 34 shall be rendered infructuous. Participation in the crime in furtherance of the common intention cannot conceive of some independent criminal act by all accused persons, besides the ultimate criminal act because for that individual act law takes care of making such accused responsible under the other provisions of the Code. The word "act" used in Section 34 denotes a series of acts as a single act. What is required under law is that the accused persons sharing the common intention must be physically present at the scene of occurrence and be shown to not have dissauded themselves from the intended criminal act for which they shared the common intention. Culpability under Section 34 cannot be excluded by mere distance from the scene of occurrence. The presumption of constructive intention, however, has to be arrived at only when the court can, with judicial servitude, hold that the accused must have pre-conceived result that ensued in furtherance of the common intention. A Division Bench of the Patna High Court in Shatrughan Patar & Ors. v. Emperor [AIR 1919 Patna 111] held that it is only when a court with some certainty hold that a particular accused must have pre-conceived or pre-meditated the result which ensued or acted in concert with others in order to bring about that result, that Section 34 may be applied.

40. In Barendra Kumar Ghosh vs. King Emperor [AIR 1925 PC 1] the Judicial Committee dealt with the scope of Section 34 dealing with the acts done in furtherance of the common intention, making all equally liable for the results of all the acts of others. It was observed:

".....the words of Section 34 are not to be eviscerated by reading them in this exceedingly limited sense. By Section 33 a criminal act in Section 34 includes a series of acts and, further, "act" includes omissions to act, for example, an omission to interfere in order to prevent a murder being done before one's very eyes. By Section 37, when any offence is committed by means of several acts whoever intentionally co-operates in the commission of that offence by doing any one of those acts, either singly or jointly with any other person, commits that offence. Even if the appellant did nothing as he stood outside the door, it is to be remembered that in crimes as in other things 'they also serve who only stand and wait'. By Section 38, when several persons are engaged or concerned in the commission of a criminal act, they may be guilty of different offences by means of that act. Read together, these sections are reasonably plain. Section 34 deals with the doing of separate acts, similar of diverse, by several persons; if all are done in furtherance of a common intention, each person is liable for the result of them all, as if he had done them himself, for 'that act' and 'the act' in the latter part of the section must include the whole action covered by 'a criminal act' in the first part, because they refer to it. Section 37 provides that, when several acts are done so as to result together in the commission of an offence, the doing of any one of them, with an intention to co-operate in the offence (which may not be the same as an intention common to all), makes the actor liable to be punished for the commission of the offence. Section 38 provides for different punishments for different offences as an alternative to one punishment for one offence, whether the persons engaged or concerned in the commission of a criminal act are set in motion by the one intention or by the other."

Referring to the presumption arising out of Section 114 of the Evidence Act, the Privy Council further held:

"As to Section 114, it is a provision which is only brought into operation when circumstances amounting to abetment of a particular crime have first been proved, and then the presence of the accused at the commission of that crime is proved in addition; Abhi Misser v. Lachmi Narain [1900 (27) Cal. 566]. Abetment does not in itself involve the actual commission of the crime abetted. It is a crime apart. Section 114 deals with the case where there has been the crime of abetment, but where also there has been actual commission of the crime abetted and the abettor has been present thereat, and the way in which it deals with such a case is this. Instead of the crime being still abetment with circumstances of aggravation, the crime becomes the very crime abetted. The section is evidentiary not punitory. Because participation de facto(as this case shows) may sometimes be obscure in detail, it is established by the presumption juris et de jure that actual presence plus prior abetment can mean nothing else but participation. The presumption raised by Section 114 brings the case within the ambit of Section 34.

41. The classic case on the subject is the judgment of the Privy Council in Mahboob Shah vs. Emperor [AIR 1945 PC 118]. Referring to Section 34 prior to its amendment in 1870 wherein it was provided:

"When a criminal act is done by several persons, each of such persons is liable for that act in the same manner as if the act was done by him alone."

it was noticed that by amendment, the words "in furtherance of common intention of all" were inserted after the word "persons" and before the word "each" so as to make the object of Section clear. Dealing with the scope of Section, as it exists today, it was held:

"Section 34 lays down a principle of joint liability in the doing of a criminal act. The section does not say 'the common intention of all' nor does it say 'an intention common to all'. Under the section, the essence of that liability is to be found in the existence of a common intention animating the accused leading to the doing of a criminal act in furtherance of such intention. To provide the aid of Section 34 successfully, it must be shown that the criminal act complained against was done by one of the accused persons in the furtherance of the common intention of all; if this is shown, then liability for the crime may be imposed on any one of the persons in the same manner as if the act were done by him alone. This being the principle, it is clear to their Lordships that common intention within the meaning of the section implies a pre- arranged plan, and to convict the accused of an offence applying the section it should be proved that the criminal act was done in concert pursuant to the pre-arranged plan. As has been often observed, it is difficult if not impossible to procure direct evidence to prove the intention of an individual; in most cases it has to be inferred from this act or conduct or other relevant circumstances of the case."

55. In Goudappa and others Vs. State of Karnataka, (2013) 3 SCC 675, Hon'ble Supreme Court opined that Section 34 IPC lays down a principle of joint liability in doing a criminal act and the essence of that liability is to be found in the existence of common intention.

56. In Jai Bhagwan and others Vs. State of Haryana, (1999) 3 SCC 102, para 11 reads as under:-

"10. To apply Section 34 IPC apart from the fact that there should be two or more accused, two factors must be established : (i) common intention and (ii) participation of the accused in the commission of an offence. If common intention is proved but no overt act is attributed to the individual accused, Section 34 will be attracted as essentially it involves vicarious liability but if participation of the accused in the crime is proved and common intention is absent, Section 34 cannot be invoked. In every case, it is not possible to have direct evidence of common intention. It has to be inferred from the facts and circumstances of each case."

57. In Ramesh Singh Alias Photti Vs State of A.P., (2004) 11 SCC 305, the Supreme Court in para 12 has held as under:-

"12. To appreciate the arguments advanced on behalf of the appellants it is necessary to understand the object of incorporating Section 34 in the Indian Penal Code. As a general principle in a case of criminal liability it is the primary responsibility of the person who actually commits the offence and only that person who has committed the crime can be held to guilty. By introducing Section 34 in the penal code the Legislature laid down the principle of joint liability in doing a criminal act. The essence of that liability is to be found in the existence of a common intention connecting the accused leading to the doing of a criminal act in furtherance of such intention. Thus, if the act is the result of a common intention then every person who did the criminal act with that common intention would be responsible for the offence committed irrespective of the share which he had in its perpetration. Section 34 IPC embodies the principles of joint liability in doing the criminal act based on a common intention. Common intention essentially being a state of mind it is very difficult to procure direct evidence to prove such intention. Therefore, in most cases it has to be inferred from the act like, the conduct of the accused or other relevant circumstances of the case. The inference can be gathered by the manner in which the accused arrived at the scene, mounted the attack, determination and concert with which the attack was made, from the nature of injury caused by one or some of them. The contributory acts of the persons who are not responsible for the injury can further be inferred from the subsequent conduct after the attack. In this regard even an illegal omission on the part of such accused can indicate the sharing of common intention. In other words, the totality of circumstances must be taken into consideration in arriving at the conclusion whether the accused had the common intention to commit an offence of which they could be convicted. (See Noor Mohammad Yusuf Momin v. State of Maharashtra, (1970) 1 SCC 696 : AIR 1971 SC 855)."

58. In Murari Thakur and Another Vs State of Bihar, (2009) 16 SCC 256, the Supreme Court in para 7 has held as under:-

"7. We agree with the view taken by the High Court and the trial court that the accused had committed murder of deceased Bal Krishna Mishra after overpowering him in furtherance of their common intention on 26-8-1998 at 4 p.m. No doubt it was Sunil Kumar, who is not before us, who cut the neck of the deceased but the appellants before us (Murari Thakur and Sudhir Thakur) also participated in the murder. Murari Thakur had caught the legs of the deceased and Sudhir Thakur sat on the back of the deceased at the time of commission of this murder. Hence, Section 34 IPC is clearly applicable in this case."

59. In Asif Khan Vs State of Maharashtra and Another, (2019) 5 SCC 210, the Supreme Court in paragraphs 23, 24 and 25 has held as under:-

"23. The principles as noticed above have been reiterated time and again. We may refer to the judgment of this Court in Narinder Singh and Another Vs. State of Punjab, (2000) 4 SCC 603, the facts in the above case has been noticed in Paragraph No.5 of the judgment, which are to the following effect:-

"5. On 6-11-1989 Gurdev Singh with his son Hardip Singh (PW 2) was going on a bicycle to Village Jagatpur in order to withdraw the money from his account in the Cooperative Bank there. Hardip Singh was pedalling the cycle while Gurdev Singh was sitting on its carrier. Around 12 o'clock when they reached the metalled road near the field of one Gurmej Singh, resident of Jagatpur, they saw the appellants sitting near a tree. They got up and intercepted Gurdev Singh and Hardip Singh. Both got down from their cycle. Appellant Narinder Singh proclaimed that they would teach Gurdev Singh a lesson as he had not vacated the office of Granthi of the Gurudwara as per their demand. He grabbed Gurdev Singh by his arms while the second appellant Ravinder Singh alias Khanna took out a gatra kirpan, which he was wearing and stabbed Gurdev Singh with the gatra kirpan on the left side of his neck. Gurdev Singh after receiving the kirpan-blow fell down....."

24. The role assigned was that he grabbed Gurdev Singh by his arms while the second appellant stabbed 24 Gurdev Singh with kirpan. In Paragraph No.5, following has been stated:-*

"5. .....He grabbed Gurdev Singh by his arms while the second appellant Ravinder Singh alias Khanna took out a gatra kirpan, which he was wearing and stabbed Gurdev Singh with the gatra kirpan on the left side of his neck. Gurdev Singh after receiving the kirpan-blow fell down....."

25. This Court in Paragraph No.16 of the judgment held that both the appellants had committed the murder of Gurdev Singh. It was held that it is not material to bring the case under Section 34, as to who inflicted the fatal blow, following was laid down in Paragraph No.16:-

"16. .....Both the appellants committed the murder of Gurdev Singh, Granthi in furtherance of their common intention. It was submitted by Mr Gupta that Narinder Singh could not have been convicted with the aid of Section 34 as this section is nowhere mentioned in the impugned judgment. Mention of the section in the judgment is not the requirement of law to convict a person. If the ingredients of the offence are present, conviction can be made. It is not material to bring the case under Section 34 IPC as to who, in fact, inflicted the fatal blow. The High Court has rightly interfered in the matter and sentenced the appellants accordingly."

60. Learned trial court considering that P.W. 1 and P.W. 2, namely, Khalik Ahmad and Irshad have stated that deceased was caught hold by the accused Tanvir, Dilshad and Jamshed and both have stated that they reached the spot after hearing the noise and after the injury was caused, has held that their witnessing of catching hold of the deceased by accused Tanvir, Dilshad and Jamshed is doubtful. In view of the facts already discussed above and the settled legal position the finding of the trial court is wholly perverse.

61. In view of the aforesaid, we are of the view that the accused respondents had wrongly been acquitted by the trial court for the ultimate criminal act done by all the respondents in furtherance of the common intention of all.

62. For the reasons stated above, the Government Appeal no. 5496 of 2005 is allowed and the judgement and order of the trial court dated 30.8.2005 in so far as it relates to the acquittal of the accused-respondents Jamshed, Tanveer and Dilshad is set aside. We hold the respondents 1, 2 and 3, namely, Jamshed, Tanveer and Dilshad guilty of the offences punishable under section 302/34 I.P.C. and sentence each of them to imprisonment for life with fine of Rs. 5000/- and in case of default of payment of fine, they shall undergo further simple imprisonment for a period of six months.

63. The CJM, Jyotiba Phule Nagar is directed to take the accused-respondents, namely, Jamshed, Tanveer and Dilshad in custody forthwith and send them to jail to serve out the sentences awarded by us as above.

64. Office is directed to send a copy of this order to the court concerned within a week for compliance. The CJM concerned shall send his report with regard to the accused-respondents within one month thereafter, which shall be kept on record of this case.

65. The lower court record shall be returned to the court concerned.

(v) PW 5, Indra Pal Singh Tomar has deposed that on the date of incident i.e. 05.02.2002, he was posted as Sub-inspector in police station Raya, F.I.R. was lodged in his presence. She had referred the victim to S.N. Medical College, Agra for her further treatment as the injuries to her were grievious in nature, but not mentioned in the report. In her cross examination PW 6, Dr. Sunita Mazumdar has stated that report of the pathology and radiologist was not brought before her, therefore, she has not prepared supplementary medical examination report.

8. After the closure of prosecution evidence the statement of the accused/appellant Surendra under Section 313 Cr.P.C. was recorded on 01.09.2003. Accused stated that he had been falsely implicated in this case on the basis of false and fabricated evidence. He further stated that he had come to Raya in search of work of watchman for himself. The complainant and his companions assaulted him and falsely implicated in this case after snatching his money and luggage from him. He demanded opportunity for adducing evidence in defence.

9. In defence Dr. B.P. Sarswat, who was posted as emergency Medical Officer in District Hospital Mathura at the time of occurrence was examined as DW 1. He had conducted medical examination of the accused-appellant Surendra on 05.02.2002 on request of Station Officer of concerned police station. In his statement, he has proved medical examination report Ext. Kha-1 of the accused Surendra.

10. After hearing learned counsel for the parties, scrutinizing and evaluating the evidence, the learned Trial Court has recorded conviction of the accused Surendra under Section 376 I.P.C. and passed sentence as already mentioned in Para 1 of this judgement.

11. Being aggrieved by the judgement and order of the learned Trial Court, this appeal has been preferred by the accused appellant.

12. We have heard Sri A.K. Tripathi, learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Ajit Ray, learned A.G.A. appearing on behalf of the State and perused the entire material on record.

13. Learned counsel for the appellant has mainly raised following points:-

(i) Both the eye witnesses PW 1, Chandra Pal and PW 2, Murari are the chance witnesses, they are resident of different village "Gonga". There are material contradictions and inconsistencies in the statements of both the aforesaid witnesses; their testimonies inspire no confidence. PW 3 Kallu, father of the victim is not an eye witness. He happened to reach there after the alleged incident. In fact the accused/appellant had come to Raya in search of work of watchman. The complainant and others snatched his money and luggage and falsely implicated him in this case.

(ii) There are overwritings, cuttings in chik F.I.R., and it was sent to the concerned Magistrate on next day. The F.I.R., has not been lodged by the father of the victim. It was prepared after consultation with Police which creates serious doubt on prosecution version.

(iii) Testimonies of aforesaid witnesses of fact Chandra Pal and Murari are not supported by the medical evidence. The doctor has not given any opinion about commission of rape on the victim.

(iv) Bloodstained clothes of the victim and the appellant were not taken by the I.O., and were not sent to expert for its examination.

(v) Place of occurrence has not been proved, sample of bloodstained and plain earth has not been collected by the I.O., from the spot.

(vi) Learned counsel for the appellant further contended that learned Trial court has convicted and sentenced the appellant against the settled principle of law, hence not sustainable in the eyes law. Learned counsel for the defence lastly argued that sentence awarded to the appellant is too severe and harsh. He is already in custody in this offence for about 17-½ years. He is a very poor person. A lenient view be taken keeping the long detention and background of the appellant.

14. Sri Ajit Ray, learned A.G.A. appearing on behalf of the State has refuted the arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the appellant that the first information report is prompt; PW 2 Chandra Pal and PW 3 Murari are independent eye witnesses and they have fully supported the prosecution version. The appellant was caught by them on the spot. PW 3 Kallu has also supported the prosecution version. Ocular testimonies are fully corroborated by the medical evidence. He has further contended that minor contradictions in the statements of witnesses will not affect the prosecution case. There will be no adverse effect on the prosecution version by overwriting and whitening as shown in the F.I.R. Prosecution case is fully proved by cogent evidence of the independent eye witnesses supported with medical evidence, therefore, mere defect in investigation will not be a ground to discard the testimony of the eye witnesses.

15. Now, we have to scrutinize and consider the reliability of witnesses of fact examined by the prosecution. The prosecution has examined PW 1, Chandra Pal, PW 2, Murari and PW 3, Kallu as witnesses of fact.

16. PW 1, Chandra Pal stated the purpose of his going to Raya town from his village "Gonga' and how he reached the spot at the time of incident he has stated that he himself has seen the accused committing rape on the victim..

PW 1 is not related to the victim or his father Kallu. He was not even knowing the father's name of the victim which was told him by the persons living on the side of the road before railway station. He is not inimical to the accused. He along with other persons caught the accused on the spot and handed over to the Police. There is no material contradiction on any point in his statement. In his lengthy cross-examination this witness remained firm and reiterated again and again that he had seen the entire occurrence.

17. PW 2, Murari has deposed in his examination-in-chief and reiterated in his cross examination that at the time of incident, he has also reached the spot with Chandrapal (PW1) and had seen that accused of this case Surendra was committing rape on the victim and he was apprehended on the spot by them.

PW 2, Murari is not related to the victim or his family members, he has seen the victim and accused for the first time on the spot. In prompt F.I.R. Ext. Ka-2 and in statement of PW 1, Chandra Pal his name has been mentioned as an eye witness of the occurrence. In his statement he has stated the purpose for going to Raya on that day. PW 4, Constable Vijay Singh has also stated that this witness was present with the informant at the time of registration of F.I.R.

18. PW 3, Kallu is father of the victim. He was not an eye witness but he reached to the Police Station after the occurrence. He has stated that victim is his daughter and at the time of occurrence her age was 2-1/2 to 3 years. He has also stated that there was injury on her private part, there was blood on her body and clothes. Her condition was very critical. After lodging of F.I.R., victim was sent to District Hospital, Mathura for treatment. He has also stated that accused was caught and brought to the Police Station by PW 1, Chandra Pal and PW 2, Murari.

At the time of recording of the statement of PW 3, Kallu in the Court, the victim was also in his lap. PW 3, Kallu stated that she could not speak. Some questions were also asked by the Trial Court, but she did not speak.

19. Learned counsel for the appellant submitted that both the eye witnesses PW 1, Chandra Pal and PW 2, Murari are of different village "Gonga" which is about one kilometer from the spot. It is further submitted that both the aforesaid witnesses are chance witnesses and their testimonies are not reliable. As regards, their being chance witnesses there is no doubt, but it is not rule of law that the chance witnesses cannot be believed. The reason for a chance witnesses being present on the spot and his testimony requires close scrutiny and if same is otherwise found reliable, his testimony cannot be discarded merely on the ground of his being chance witness.

Regarding reliable testimony of chance witnesses, in Sachchey Lal Tiwari Vs. State of U.P. (2004) 11 Supreme Court Cases 410 Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under:

"Coming to the plea of the accused that PW 2 was a "chance witness" who has not explained how he happened to be at the alleged place of occurrence it has to be noted that the said witness was independent witness. There was not even a suggestion to the witness that he had any animosity towards any of the accused. In a murder trial by describing an independent witness as "chance witness" it cannot be implied thereby that his evidence is suspicious and his presence at the scene doubtful. Murders are not committed with previous notice to witnesses - soliciting their presence. If murder is committed in a dwelling house, the inmates of the house are natural witnesses. If murder is committed in a street, only passers-by will be witnesses. Their evidence cannot be brushed aside or viewed with suspicion on the ground that they are mere "chance witnesses". The expression "chance witness" is borrowed from countries where every man's home is considered his castle and everyone must have an explanation for his presence elsewhere or in another man's castle. It is quite unsuitable an expression in a country where people are less formal and more casual, at any rate in the matter of explaining their presence. The courts below have scanned the evidence of PW 2 in great detail and found it to be reliable. We find no reason to differ".

In Sarvesh Narain Shukla Vs. Daroga Singh And Others (2007) 13 Supreme Court Cases 360; it was held by Hon'ble Apex Court that if the chance witness has explained his presence by stating that he had gone for 'Darshan' and was on his way back home and Court comes to the conclusion that testimony of such a chance witness is credible, the evidence cannot be thrown out merely on the ground that the witness happened to be present by chance.

In Khujji @ Surendra Tiwari Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh (1991) 13 SCC 627; it was held by Hon'ble Apex Court that the witness being a resident of the locality in the vicinity where the occurrence had taken place, his presence at the market place could not be considered to be unnatural.

In the instant case PW 1, Chandra Pal and PW 2, Murari, both have explained their presence on the spot at the time of incident. In his cross-examination PW 1, Chandra Pal has deposed that he was going from his village "Gonga" to Raya town for marketing purpose as and he had to purchase sugar, oil, chillies etc. PW 2 Murari has deposed that he is a driver by profession and used to drive Jeep, he was going from his village to Jeep Stand Raya for driving work. Both the aforesaid witnesses are of nearby village "Gonga" and for their personal work they were going to Raya town on foot on the fateful day and when they reached near the field of Charan Singh, they heard cries of the victim and reached on the spot. Thus, both the above witnesses have given proper explanation of their presence on the spot at the time of incident. Accused/appellant was also caught and handed over to the police by both the aforesaid witnesses. Therefore, their presence on the spot at the time of incident is natural and believable. There is no material contradictions in the evidence of the witnesses to doubt their testimony. They were totally independent witnesses, who had no cause to give false evidence against the appellant and their evidence is acceptable regarding the time, place and manner of incident as well as the identity of the accused/appellant.

20. Learned counsel for the appellant submitted that appellant is resident of 'Nepal' and on the date of occurrence he had come Raya in search of work of watchman. He further submitted that both the said eye witnesses PW 1 and PW 2 snatched his money and luggage from him and implicated him in this false case. The above submission of learned counsel for the appellant is unbelievable because it has not been specified anywhere that what luggage and how much money was with the appellant which was snatched by the witnesses. There is no evidence of any such kind in support of above submission.

21. PW 1, Chandra Pal and PW 2, Murari are the eye witnesses of the incident, there is no inconsistency in their statements, they have fully supported prosecution version, they are not related to the victim, they had no animus against the accused, hence their testimonies are cogent, credible and trustworthy.

22. As regards corroboration of ocular testimony with medical evidence, the victim was medically examined on the same day at 3.00 PM at Government Hospital, Mathura. Medical examination report is Ext. Ka-6, which has been proved by PW 6, Dr. Sunita Mazumdar. On private part of victim left lateral vaginal tear and right lateral vaginal tear were found. Bleeding was also present there. Medical examination report of the victim thus fully supported the ocular testimonies of PW 1 and PW2. Learned counsel for the defence raised two objections on medical examination report of the victim. First objection was raised about inconsistency regarding period of injury and second objection was raised about the absence of opinion of doctor regarding commission of rape.

As regards first objection, the occurrence of the incident was at 12.30 PM and victim was medically examined at 3 PM. According to it, duration of injury was of 2-1/2 hours, in medical examination report duration of injury is mentioned as 6 hours. Thus, there is difference of 3-1/2 hours between the two but in this regard opinion of the doctor cannot be specified and there may be variation. In examination-in-chief, PW 6 Dr. Sunita Mazumdar has herself stated that the injury of the victim may also be of about 12.00 noon on 05.02.2002. It is also established legal position that if there is difference between reliable ocular testimony and medical report, ocular testimony shall prevail.

As regards second objection raised by learned counsel for the defence, though PW 6 Dr. Sunita Mazumdar has not given any opinion about the commission of rape, but she has proved the injuries on the private part of the victim, which itself supports the ocular version regarding commission of rape on the victim.

23. Accused/appellant was also medically examined by the DW 1 Dr. B.P. Sarswat on 05.02.2002 at 4.25 PM in Government Hospital, Mathura. The medical examination report is Ext. kha-1 which has been proved by DW 1, Dr. B.P. Sarswat. According to the injury report Ext. kha-1, injury nos. 1, 2 and 3 were abrasions on leg and injury no.9 was slight redness on glans penis of the accused. According to the doctor (DW 1) above injuries of the accused were due to friction and may be caused by falling on earth and also by committing rape on hard surface. Besides above injuries of the appellant, blood stains were also found on the cuff of the shirt of the accused and also on both the under garments of the appellant which was handed over to Police Constable by doctor (DW 1) for examination by the expert but examination report is not available on record, injury report of the appellant and his blood stained clothes also corroborate the prosecution version.

24. Learned counsel for the defence submitted that there are whitenings and overwriting at several places in chik F.I.R., and F.I.R. was sent to concerned Magistrate after two days from the date of incident which creates a strong doubt about prosecution version in respect of the alleged incident. We have perused the original records of this case. According to the F.I.R., incident occurred at 12.30 PM on 05.02.2002 and F.I.R. was registered at the concerned Police Station at 01.15 PM, distance of Police Station from the place of occurrence is 1.5 furlong. From the above, it emerges that F.I.R. of this case is a prompt F.I.R. In chik F.I.R. there are whitenings at three places and overwriting figure '6' of Section '376' I.P.C. but there is no such overwriting or whitening on carbon copy of the concerned G.D., Report No.20, time 13.15 of 05.02.2002, time of occurrence, time of registration and copy of written report of the informant transcribed on back of the chik F.I.R. The place where whitenings or overwriting are made on chik F.I.R. will have no adverse effect on prosecution version which has been proved by the cogent testimony of eye witnesses supported by medical evidence.

25. As regards the second objection raised regarding sending the F.I.R. after two days, the F.I.R. was registered on 05.02.2002, signature of the Magistrate on it was of 07.02.2002 i.e. after about two days. In this case F.I.R. was lodged promptly, accused was caught on the spot, victim and accused were medically examined in government hospital on the same day. After a few hours of the occurrence on the same day the statement of the informant was recorded by I.O., therefore, there would not be any adverse effect in sending the copy of F.I.R. to the concerned Magistrate after two days. It has been held by Hon'ble Apex Court in Anil Rai Vs. State of Bihar (2001) 7 SCC 318 that delay in sending the copy of F.I.R. to the area Magistrate is not material where the F.I.R., is shown to have been lodged promptly and investigation was started on that basis.

26. As regards, omission of Investigating Officer to take sample of bloodstained earth from the spot and bloodstained clothes of the victim and accused and to send them for forensic examination by expert is concerned, it is mere slackness, carelessness and fault on the part of I.O. which stands completely covered by the cogent credible ocular testimony corroborated by medical evidence and the prosecution version cannot be disbelieved only on this ground as held by Hon'ble Apex Court in Maqbul @ Zubir & others Vs. State of U.P., A.I.R. (2010) SC 762. In the case at hand, in the F.I.R. place of occurrence was the field of Charan Singh, the Investigating Officer has inspected the place of occurrence on the next day i.e. on 06.02.2002 at the pointing of the informant and has prepared site plan Ex ka-4 in which place of occurrence has been shown at Southern east of field of Charan Singh. PW1 Chandra Pal and PW 2 Murari, both the eye witnesses have deposed that the incident occurred in the field of Charan Singh. PW 2 Murari has made it more specific by saying that incident occurred near Southern Cabin of Railway Station in the field of Charan Singh. Thus, there is no doubt about the place of occurrence which is at South East part of the field of Charan Singh.

On the basis of discussion made herein above and also considering material evidence on record, we are of the considered opinion that findings of conviction for the offence punishable under Section 376 I.P.C. recorded by the learned Trial Court are well substantiated by the evidence on record. The learned Trial Court has appreciated the evidence in right perspective. We do not find any justification to interfere with the findings of conviction recorded against the appellant under Section 376 I.P.C., therefore, the conviction recorded against the accused/appellant under Section 376 I.P.C., is hereby affirmed.

Learned counsel for the appellant submitted that punishment awarded to the appellant is too severe and harsh. It is further argued that appellant is a poor married person and has two children, nobody is there to look after them properly. Because of poverty and being resident of 'Nepal' nobody could do proper pairvi of his case and his appeal was filed after the delay of 318 days. He is languishing in custody in this offence from the date of registration of F.I.R. of this case i.e. 05.02.2002 and till now he has passed more than 17-½ years in jail.

The offence of rape occurs in Chapter XVI of Indian Penal Code. It is an offence affecting the human body. Rape is defined in Section 375 I.P.C. and Section 376 speaks about the punishment. Section 375 and Section 376 I.P.C. have been substantially changed by Criminal Law Amendment Act No.43/1983 and amendment made thereafter by Act No.13/2013 and Act No.22/2018. In case at hand, the date of incident is 05.02.2002 i.e. after the enforcement of the Act 43/1983 (Criminal Law Amendment Act 1983). At the time of incident for commission of rape on woman below 12 years of age the minimum prescribed punishment was imprisonment for 10 years and maximum punishment was imprisonment for life and also fine. One proviso was also there that Court may, for adequate and special reason mentioned in judgement, impose sentence less than 10 years. [Section 376 sub section (2)(f)].

Learned Trial Court has awarded maximum prescribed sentence i.e. imprisonment for life and fine of Rs.5,000/- with default stipulation. Now, we are considering whether the maximum punishment was warranted in this case or in the circumstances of the case appellant is entitled for some leniency. In case before us the age of the victim at the time of incident was about 2-½ to 3 years, she was not even able to speak properly as has been mentioned by the trial Court in impugned judgement. According to DW-1 Dr. B.P. Sarswat, who conducted medical examination of the accused on 05.02.2002, appellant was healthy man of 25 years, well built and well nourished. In above circumstances victim was not in position to resist. Appellant/accused committed rape on such an innocent child of tender age.

In State of Madhya Pradesh Vs. Santosh Kumar, AIR 2006 SC 2648, Hon'ble the Apex this Court held that in order to exercise the discretion of reducing the sentence, the statutory requirement is that the court has to record adequate and special reasons in the judgement and not fanciful reasons which would permit the court to impose a sentence less than the prescribed minimum. The reason has not only to be adequate but also special what is adequate the special would depend upon several factors and no straitjacket formal can be indicated.

In Kamal Kishore and others Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh, AIR 2000 SC 1920, Hon'ble the Apex Court held that the expression "adequate and special reasons" indicates that it is not enough to have special reasons, nor adequate reasons disjunctively. There should be a conjunction of both for enabling the court to invoke the discretion. Reasons which are general or common in many cases cannot be regarded as special reasons.

In the case of Mukesh and Anr. vs. State for NCT of Delhi & others reported in 2018 (8) SCC 149.

Regarding award of sentence Hon'ble the Supreme Court has expressed view as here under:-

"Question of awarding sentence is a matter of discretion and has to be exercised on consideration of circumstances aggravating or mitigating in the individual cases. The courts are consistently faced with the situation where they are required to answer the new challenges and mould the sentence to meet those challenges. Protection of society and deterring the criminal is the avowed object of law. It is expected of the courts to operate the sentencing system as to impose such sentence which reflects the social conscience of the society. While determining sentence in heinous crimes, Judges ought to weigh its impact on the society and impose adequate sentence considering the collective conscience or society's cry for justice. While considering the imposition of appropriate punishment, courts should not only keep in view the rights of the criminal but also the rights of the victim and the society at large."

In State of M.P. Vs. Bala alias Balaram, AIR 2005, SC 3567, Hon'ble Supreme Court, Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"The crime here is rape. It is a particular heinous crime, a crime against society, a crime against human dignity, one that reduces a man to an animal. The penal statute has prescribed a maximum and a minimum punishment for an offence under Section 376 IPC. To view such an offence once it is proved, lightly, is itself an affront to society. Though the award of maximum punishment may depend on the circumstances of the case, the award of the minimum punishment, generally, is imperative. The proviso to Sections 376(1) and 376(2) IPC give the power to the court to award a sentence, lesser than the minimum for adequate and special reasons. The power under the proviso is not to be used indiscriminately or routinely. It is to be used sparingly and only in cases where special facts and circumstances justify a reduction. The reasons must be relevant to the exercise of such discretion vested in the court. The reasons must be set out clearly and cogently. The mere existence of a discretion by itself does not justify its exercise. The long pendency of the criminal trial or the offer of the rapist to marry the victim are not relevant reasons. Nor is the age of the offender by itself an adequate reason. It is true that reformation as a theory of punishment is in fashion but under the guise of applying such theory, the courts cannot forget their duty to society and to the victim. The court has to consider the plight of the victim in a case involving rape and the social stigma that may follow the victim to the grave and which in most cases, practically ruins all prospects of a normal life for the victim."

In view of the aforesaid pronouncement of Hon'ble Supreme Court, we are of the view that since in this case a three years hapless girl has been ravished by the appellant, it would be a misplaced sympathy to show any leniency to the accused/appellant. Here is the case where the crime committed by the accused-appellant not only delicts the law but it has a deleterious effect on the civilized society. Gravity of the crime has to be necessarily assessed from the nature of the crime. Ordinarily, the offence of rape is grave by its nature. Even in ordinary criminal terminology a rape is a crime more heinous than murder as to destroys the very soul of hapless woman. The appellant ravished the chastity of a girl of less than 3 years old, jeopardized her future prospect of getting married, enjoying marital and conjugal life, has been totally devastated. Not only that, she carried an indelible social stigma on her head and deathless shame as long as she lives.

In view of what has been indicated herein above, the judgement and order dated 20.9.2003 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge (Fast Track) Court No. 14, Mathura in ST No. 972 of 2002 (State Vs. Surendra) arising out of Case Crime No. 223 of 2002, under Section 376 IPC, PS Raya, district Mathura do not call for any interference by this Court. Accordingly the appeal is dismissed.

The appellant is in jail. He shall remain in jail to serve the sentence awarded to him by the learned Trial Court.

Let a copy of the judgement be sent along with the lower Court record to the Court below immediately for compliance and necessary entry be made in the relevant register.

Judgement be certified and be placed on record.

Criminal Revision allowed. (E-5)

List of cases cited: -

1. Manju Devi Vs St. of Raj & anr (2019) 6 SCC 203

2. Ratanlal Vs Prahlad Jat & ors (2017) 9 SCC 340

(Delivered by Hon'ble Anant Kumar, J.)

1. When the case is taken up in the revised list, learned counsel for the revisionist, learned A.G.A. for the State and Mr. Rohit Kumar, for opposite party no.2 are present. None present for the opposite party no.3.

2. Heard learned learned counsel for the revisionist, learned A.G.A. for the State as well as learned counsel for opposite party no.2 Shri Rohit Kumar and perused the record.

3. This criminal revision under Section 397/401 Cr.P.C. has been filed for quashing of the order dated 26.04.2018, passed by the Sessions Judge, Raebareli in Sessions Trial No.429 of 2015 (State Vs. Shailendra Singh another), arising out of Case Crime No.183 of 2015, under Section 302 IPC, whereby the application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. filed by the revisionist has been rejected by the learned trial court.

4. It is submitted by learned counsel for the revisionist that the revisionist is the complainant in the case Crime No.183 of 2015, Police Station Colonelganj, District Allahabad, under Section 302 IPC and on his complaint the case was initiated which was registered as S.T. No. 429 of 2015. During the course of trial, after conclusion of the prosecution evidence, an application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. was moved by the complainant with the signature of the ADGC (Criminal) that Mohd. Asad is an important witness in the case and he should be summoned to give evidence in the interest of justice. The said application was opposed by the defence on the ground that prosecution wants to fill the lacuna. The witness Mohd. Asad was not present on the spot when the incident had taken place. In this case PW 1 Mohd. Shahid and PW 2 Mohd.Nafis Ahmad were examined and both the witnesses have not stated about the presence of this witness Mohd. Asad. After hearing the parties, learned Sessions Judge, Raebareli has taken a view that since the witness was not present on the spot as per assertion of PW 1 and PW 2 and the prosecution cannot be permitted to fill the lacuna by adducing additional evidence and this witness was not mentioned in the charge-sheet, so this witness is not an important witness for just decision in this case, so the application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. was rejected. Hence, this revision has been filed.

5. Learned counsel for the revisionist has submitted that infact the occurrence had taken place on 11.03.2015. The witness Mohd.Asad had given an application before the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Allahabad along with an affidavit on 05.06.2015 and the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Allahabad vide order dated 05.06.2015 itself had sent that affidavit for proper disposal to the Investigating Officer and the Investigating Officer on 05.06.2015 had received the same but inspite of that the Investigating Officer did not care to record the statement of witness Mohd. Asad and veracity of the said witness so far as its worth pertaining to the case and the Investigating Officer constantly sat over the matter.

6. It is further submitted by learned counsel for the revisionist that the trial court has committed manifest error in taking the view that the prosecution is trying to fill up the lacuna and since the other witnesses have not named the present witness, he is not an important witness. It is also stated that the order passed by the trial court is non speaking order, as it has not mentioned as to what lacuna the prosecution is trying to fill, which cannot be permitted to be done.

7. Opposing the revision, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 has stated that in this case charge sheet was already filed. On the other hand, learned counsel for the revisionist has stated that the trial court has given a wrong finding that the Investigating Officer filed the charge sheet on 05.06.2015, rather the correct fact is that on 05.06.2015 charge sheet was filed only against one accused Shailendra Singh and further investigation was pending against other accused and charge sheet was filed against other accused/opposite party no.3 on 05.11.2015, so the finding of the trial court that on 05.06.2015 charge sheet was filed is not correct.

8. Opposing the revision learned A.G.A. as well as learned counsel for the opposite party No.2 have stated that presence of witness Mohd. Asad is very much doubtful on the spot as other witnesses, i.e. PW 1 and PW 2 have not stated anything about the presence of this witness and the prosecution is simply trying to linger on the proceedings by producing the witness whose name does not figure in the charge sheet.

9. Learned counsel for the revisionist has cited a case law, (2017) 9 SCC 340 : Ratanlal vs. Prahlad Jat and others, wherein in paragraph 17 of the case law it has been held by the Hon'ble Apex Court as under :-

"17. In order to enable the court to find out the truth and render a just decision, the salutary provisions of Section 311 are enacted whereunder any court by exercising its discretionary authority at any stage of inquiry, trial or other proceeding can summon any person as witness or examine any person in attendance though not summoned as a witness or recall or re-examine any person already examined who are expected to be able to throw light upon the matter in dispute. The object of the provision as a whole is to do justice not only from the point of view of the accused and the prosecution but also from the point of view of any orderly society. This power is to be exercised only for strong and valid reasons and it should be exercised with caution and circumspection. Recall is not a matter of course and the discretion given to the court has to be exercised judicially to prevent failure of justice. Therefore, the reasons for exercising this power should be spelt out in the order."

10. In the case of Manju Devi vs. State of Rajasthan and another : (2019) 6 SCC 203, the Hon'ble Apex Court in paragraphs 8, 9 and 10 has held as under :-

"8. Having given thoughtful consideration to the rival submissions and having examined record with reference to the law applicable, we find it difficult to approve the orders impugned; and it appears just and proper that the application moved in this matter under Section 311 CrPC be allowed with direction to the trial court to ensure that the testimony of the doctor conducting first post-mortem comes on record.

9. Section 311 CrPC reads as under :

"311. Power to summon material witness, or examine person present.- Any court may, at any stage of any inquiry, trial or other proceeding under this Code, summon any person as a witness, or examine any person in attendance, though not summoned as a witness, or recall and re-examine any person already examined; and the Court shall summon and examine or recall and re-examine any such person if his evidence appears to it to be essential to the just decision of the case."

10. It needs hardly any emphasis that the discretionary powers like those under Section 311 CrPC are essentially intended to ensure that every necessary and appropriate measure is taken by the Court to keep the record straight and to clear any ambiguity insofar as the evidence is concerned as also to ensure that no prejudice is caused to anyone. The principles underlying Section 311 CrPC and amplitude of the powers of the court thereunder have been explained by this Court in several decisions. In Natasha Singh v. CBI, though the application for examination of witnesses was filed by the accused but, on the principles relating to the exercise of powers under Section 311, this Court observed, inter alia, as under : (SCC pp.746 & 748-49, paras 8 & 15) stage", of "any enquiry", or "trial", or "any other proceedings" under CrPC, or to summon any person as a witness, or to recall and re-examine any person who has already been examined if his evidence appears to it, to be essential to the arrival of a just decision of the case. Undoubtedly, CrPC has conferred a very wide discretionary power upon the court in this respect, but such a discretion is to be exercised judiciously and not arbitrarily. The power of the court in this context is very wide, and in exercise of the same, it may summon any person as a witness at any stage of the trial, or other proceedings. The court is competent to exercise such power even sue motu if no such application has been filed by either of the parties. However, the court must satisfy itself, that it was in fact essential to examine such a witness, or to recall him for further examination in order to arrive at a just decision of the case.

15. The scope and object of the provision is to enable the court to determine the truth and to render a just decision after discovering all relevant facts and obtaining proper proof of such facts, to arrive at a just decision of the case. Power must be exercised judiciously and not capriciously or arbitrarily, as any improper or capricious exercise of such power may lead to undesirable results. An application under Section 311 CrPC must not be allowed only to fill up a lacuna in the case of the prosecution, or of the defence, or to the disadvantage of the accused, or to cause serious prejudice to the defence of the accused, or to give an unfair advantage to the opposite party. Further, the additional evidence must not be received as a disguise for retrial, or to change the nature of the case against either of the parties. Such a power must be exercised, provided that the evidence that is likely to be tendered by a witness, is germane to the issue involved. An opportunity of rebuttal however, must be given to the other party. The power conferred under Section 311 CrPC must therefore, be invoked by the court only in order to meet the ends of justice, for strong and valid reasons, and the same must be exercised with great caution and circumspection. The very use of words such as "any court", "at any stage", or "or any enquiry, trial or other proceedings", "any person" and "any such person" clearly spells out that the provisions of this section have been expressed in the widest possible terms, and do not limit the discretion of the court in any way. There is thus no escape if the fresh evidence to be obtained is essential to the just decision of the case. The determinative factor should therefore be, whether the summoning/recalling of the said witness is in fact, essential to the just decision of the case."

11. It is evident from the very language of Section 311Cr.P.C. that powers of the trial court in summoning the witness under Section 311 Cr.P.C. are very wide and for the ends of justice the trial court "at any stage of inquiry, trial or other proceedings under this Code" may summon any person as a witness, or examine any person in attendance, though not summoned as a witness, or recall and re-examine any person already examined; and the Court shall summon and examine or recall and re-examine any such person if his evidence is appears to it to be essential to the just decision of the case.

12. In the present case just after the incident the witness Mohd. Asad had given an application along with an affidavit before the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Allahabad and the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Allahabad had sent the same to the Investigating Officer for undertaking further proceedings.

13. Today, learned A.G.A. has filed counter affidavit and in paragraph 6 of the same, it is stated that the then Investigating Officer had tried to contact the said witness but the witness Mohd. Asad did not turn up for getting his statement recorded but in this counter affidavit it is nowhere mentioned as to what efforts were made by the Investigating Officer to procure the attendance of this witness.

14. It appears to me that the Investigating Officer was required to take notice of the affidavit of the witness Mohd. Asad when it was referred by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Allahabad during the course of the investigation but the Investigating Officer has not taken care of the examination of the same. The trial court while disposing of the application (74 Ka) under Section 311 Cr.P.C. has not recorded its categorical finding as to whether the presence of the witness is essential for the due disposal of the trial or not. Merely giving the finding that the prosecution is trying to fill up the lacuna, does not absolve the trial court from its responsibility as bestowed under Section 311 Cr.P.C.

15. In view of the above mentioned reasons and circumstances, to my view the trial court has not properly applied its mind while deciding the application (74 Ka) under Section 311 Cr.P.C. in the light of the pronouncements of the Hon'ble Apex Court as mentioned herein above and the peculiar facts of the present case.

16. Accordingly, the criminal revision is liable to be allowed, which is hereby allowed.

17. Order dated 26.04.2018, passed by the learned Sessions Judge, Rae Bareli in S.T. No. 429 of 2015 (State Vs. (Delivered by Hon'ble Manish Kumar, J.)

1. Learned counsel for the revisionist Shri Jagdev Singh is present but no one has appeared on behalf of the opposite parties despite the fact that notice has been personally served upon the opposite party nos. 2 and 3.

2. After hearing counsel for the revisionist, learned A.G.A. and having gone thorough the lower Court's record and the judgement dated 04.12.1998 passed by Additional Session Judge, Moradabad in Sessions Trial No. 732/96 (State Vs. Ram Pal Singh and another) acquitting the accused persons from the charge under Section 302/201 of I.P.C.

3. Learned counsel for the revisionist contented that Court below has not properly appreciated the evidence. He tried to take this Court to the judgement of Court below and made his endeavour to show that the view taken by Court below in appreciating evidence is not correct.

4. The judicial review in exercise of revisional jurisdiction is not like an appeal. It is a supervisory jurisdiction which is exercised by the Court to correct the manifest error in the orders of subordinate courts but should not be exercised in a manner so as to turn the Revisional court in a Court of Appeal. The legislature has differently made provisions for appeal and revision and the distinction of two jurisdiction has to be maintained.

5. It could be exercised only in exceptional cases where the interests of public justice require interference for the correction of a manifest illegality, or the prevention of a gross miscarriage of justice. In other words, the revisional jurisdiction of the High Court cannot be invoked merely because the lower Court has taken a wrong view of law or mis-appreciated the evidence on record.

6. The law has been settled in catena of decisions wherein the dispute held that there is a distinction between the appellate jurisdiction and the revisional jurisdiction. In the revisional jurisdiction the evidence cannot be re-appreciated for looking the validity or legality of the order passed by the Court below.

7. In K. Chinnaswammy Reddy Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 1962 SC 1978 it was held that revisional jurisdiction should be exercised by the High Court in exceptional cases only when there is some glaring defect in the procedure or a manifest error on a point of law resulting in flagrant miscarriage of justice. However, this was also a case in which revisional jurisdiction was invoked against an order of acquittal. If the Court lacks jurisdiction or has excluded evidence which was admissible or relied on inadmissible evidence or material evidence has been overlooked etc., then only this Court would be justified in exercising revisional power and not otherwise.

8. The above view has been reiterated in Mahendra Pratap Singh Vs. Sarju Singh, AIR 1968 SC 707; Khetrabasi Samal Vs. State of Orissa, AIR 1970 SC 272; Satyendra Nath Dutta and another Vs. Ram Narain, AIR 1975 SC 580; Jagannath Choudhary and others Vs. Ramayan Singh and another, 2002(5) SCC 659; and , Johar and others Vs. Mandal Prasad and another, 2008 Cr.L.J. 1627 (S.C.)

9. In Duli Chand Vs. Delhi Administration, 1975(4) SCC 649 the Court reminded that jurisdiction of High Court in criminal revision is severely restricted and it cannot embark upon a re-appreciation of evidence. While exercising supervisory jurisdiction in revision the Court would be justified in refusing to re-appreciate evidence for determining whether the concurrent findings of fact reached by learned Magistrate and Sessions Judge was correct.

10. In Pathuma and another Vs. Muhammad, 1986(2) SCC 585 reiterating the above view the Court said that in revisional jurisdiction the High Court would not be justified in substituting its own view for that of a Magistrate on a question of fact.

11. In Munna Devi Vs. State of Rajasthan and another, 2001(9) SCC 631 the Court said:

"The revision power under the Code of Criminal procedure cannot be exercised in a routine and causal manner. While exercising such powers the High Court has no authority to appreciate the evidence in the manner as the trial and the appellate courts are required to do. Revisional powers could be exercised only when it is shown that there is a legal bar against the continuance of the criminal proceedings or the framing of charge or the facts as stated in the First Information Report even if they are taken at the face value and accepted in their entirely do no constitute the offence for which the accused has been charged."

12. In Ram Briksh Singh and other Vs. Ambika Yadav and another, 2004(7) SCC 665, in a matter again arising from the judgement of acquittal, the revisional power of High Court was examined and the Court said:

"Sections 397 to 401 of the Code are ground of sections conferring higher and superior courts a sort of supervisory jurisdiction. These powers are required to be exercised sparingly. Though the jurisdiction under Section 401 cannot be invoked to only correct wrong appreciation of evidence and the High Court is not required to act as a court of appeal but at the same time, it is the duty of the court to correct manifest illegality resulting in gross miscarriage of justice."

13. In absence of anything to show as to what evidence has not been examined or the finding of fact recorded by Court below is perverse or contrary to material on record, no interference is called for.

14. In view of above, revision lacks merit. Dismissed.

15. Certify this judgement to the lower Court immediately.

3. Anokhilal Vs St. of MP 2019 SCC OnLine SC 1637

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajeev Singh, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the revisionist and Shri Aniruddh Kumar Singh, learned A.G.A.

2. This revision has been filed for quashing of the order dated 21.09.2019 passed by Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge (POCSO Act), Faizabad in Special Session Trial No. 78 of 2018, arising out of F.I.R. No. 76 of 2018, under Sections 376, 506, 377 I.P.C. and Section 3/4 POCSO Act, P.S. Cantt., District Faizabad.

3. Learned counsel for the revisionist submitted that after investigation, charge sheet was filed by the Investigating Officer in F.I.R. No. 76 of 2018 (supra), on which cognizance was taken by the court below and thereafter the case was registered as S.S.T. No. 78 of 2018. After framing of charges, prosecution was allowed to produce the witnesses before the trial court. Learned counsel for the revisionist further submitted that since the revisionist was not in a position to engage lawyer, as a result, Amicus Curiae, for defending the revisionist, was provided by the trial court at the State expenses. Examination-in-chief of the witnesses of P.W. 1 to P.W. 9 was conducted before the trial court, but since the opportunity to cross examine them was not availed by the Amicus Curiae, as a result, it was closed by the trial court. He has further submitted that though in another case, Amicus Curiae cross-examined the witnesses, but the same was not real and effective. In such circumstances, application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. was moved by the revisionist for recall of the witnesses to cross-examine them, but the same was rejected by the court below vide impugned order dated 21st September, 2019 with the observation that the Amicus Curiae denied the cross-examination of the prosecution witnesses on the advise of the revisionist.

4. Next submission of the learned counsel for the revisionist is that Section 304 Cr.P.C. provides that where, in a trial before the Court of Session, the accused is not represented by a pleader, and where it appears to the Court that the accused has not sufficient means to engage a pleader, the Court shall assign a pleader for his defence at the expense of the State. Learned counsel for the revisionist submitted that the intention of Section 304 Cr.P.C. is for providing real and effective aid to an accused and it is the duty of the trial court to ensure proper compliance of the requirement as the accused also has the right to fair trial. In support of his submissions, learned counsel for the revisionist placed reliance on the decision of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Mohd. Hussain & Julfikar Ali Vs. The State (Govt. of NCT) Delhi, 2012 (9) SCC 408.

5. Placing reliance on the decision of a Division Bench of this Court passed in Criminal Appeal No. 1460 of 2003 (Manglu Vs. State of U.P.), he further submitted that if the adequate legal aid has not been provided to the accused during trial, same is violative of Article 21 of the Constitution of India. It has, thus, been submitted that the impugned order is bad in the eyes of law and is liable to be set aside. The revisionist may be permitted to cross-examine the witnesses after recalling them.

6. Learned A.G.A., Shri Aniruddh Kumar Singh while opposing the prayer of the revisionist submitted that there is no illegality in the order passed by the court below in rejecting the prayer to recall the witnesses, as the opportunity to cross-examine them had already been given to the Amicus Curiae appointed by the trial court.

7. I have considered the arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the parties and gone through the record.

8. It is evident from the impugned order dated 21.09.2009 itself that the court below while rejecting the application of the revisionist, observed that the prosecution witnesses were examined during the course of trial and opportunity was given to the Amicus Curiae appointed on his behalf to cross-examine them, but on the advise of the revisionist, he denied for the same. However, by means of the application moved under Section 311 Cr.P.C., revisionist sought recall of the prosecution witnesses on the ground that he was not aware about the cross-examination of the prosecution witnesses.

9. It is also evident that the revisionist was informed that in all the three cases, Amicus Curiae was appointed by the trial court, at the expenses of the State to do effective pairvi for him, but in the present case, Amicus Curiae did not cross-examine the prosecution witnesses and it cannot be presumed that he did so on the advice of the revisionist.

10. Section 303 and 304 of the Code of Criminal Procedure read with Rule 37 of General Rules (Criminal), 1977 framed by Allahabad High Court clearly provides for providing legal aid to defend the accused, which must be real and effective aid to an accused and it is the duty of the trial court to ensure proper compliance of the requirement to fair trial. Now, it is a fundamental right under Article 22(1) of the Constitution of India that the accused has a right to be defended by the competent practitioner. Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Mohd. Hussain & Julfikar Ali (supra) has clearly held that it is the duty of the trial court to ensure proper compliance of the requirement to fair trial as the accused as a right of being provided the real and effective legal aid.

11. In the case of Manglu Vs. State of U.P., 2018 SCC OnLine All 5751, a Division Bench of this Court already considered the provisions of Sections 303 and 304 Cr.P.C., Rule 37 of the General Rules (Criminal), 1977 framed by Allahabad High Court as also Article 22(1) along with Articles 22 and 39A of the Constitution of India. Paragraphs 11 to 20 (relevant) are reproduced below:

"11. Before dealing with the facts relating to the first point raised by learned amicus curiae, we think it appropriate to set out the legal provisions as well as the various judgments of Hon'ble the Supreme Court on this point. Article 21 of the Constitution of India runs as follows:-

"No person shall be deprived of his life or personal liberty except according to a procedure established by law."

12. Article 22 (1) of the Constitution of India is also relevant in this respect and hence the same is quoted hereinafter for ready reference:-

"Article 22 in The Constitution Of India 1949

22. Protection against arrest and detention in certain cases

(1) No person who is arrested shall be detained in custody without being informed, as soon as may be, of the grounds for such arrest nor shall he be denied the right to consult, and to be defended by, a legal practitioner of his choice

13. Article 39-A of the Constitution of India is also relevant and thus, the same is also quoted hereinbelow for ready reference:-

"39A. Equal justice and free legal aid The State shall secure that the operation of the legal system promotes justice, on a basis of equal opportunity, and shall, in particular, provide free legal aid, by suitable legislation or schemes or in any other way, to ensure that opportunities for securing justice are not denied to any citizen by reason of economic or other disabilities."

14. Section 304 of the Code of Criminal Procedure deals with legal aid to an accused, who is not represented by any lawyer and have no means to engage any lawyer. The aforesaid Section 304 of the Code of Criminal Procedure runs as follows:-

"Section 304 in The Code Of Criminal Procedure, 1973

304. Legal aid to accused at State expense in certain cases.

(1) Where, in a trial before the Court of Session, the accused is not represented by a pleader, and where it appears to the Court that the accused has not sufficient means to engage a pleader, the Court shall assign a pleader for his defence at the expense of the State.

(2) The High Court may, with the previous approval of the State Government, make rules providing for-

(a) the mode of selecting pleaders for defence under sub- section (1);

(b) the facilities to be allowed to such pleaders by the Courts;

(c) the fees payable to such pleaders by the Government, and generally, for carrying out the purposes of sub- section (1).

(3) The State Government may, by notification, direct that, as from such date as may be specified in the notification, the provisions of sub- sections (1) and (2) shall apply in relation to any class of trials before other Courts in the State as they apply in relation to trials before Courts of Session."

15. In this regard, Rule 37 of General Rules (Criminal), 1977 framed by Allahabad High Court is also relevant, thus, the said rule is also quoted hereinbelow:-

"37. When counsel should be engaged for accused.

In any case which comes before a Court of Session, the court may engage counsel to defend the accused person if -

(a) the charge against him is such that a capital sentence is possible, and

(b) it appears that he has not engaged counsel and is not possessed of for sufficient means to do so.

To enable the Sessions Court to arrive at a decision as regards the second condition in the preceding paragraph, the committing magistrate, shall in such case make enquiries from the accused at the time of commitment and after making such other enquiries as may be necessary, report within a month of the commitment order to the court to which the commitment is made whether the accused is possessed of sufficient means to engage counsel. Each case must be decided on its merits and no hard and fast rule as to insufficiency of means should be applied. The Sessions Court in making its decision shall not be bound by the report of the committing magistrate.

Counsel appointed under this rule shall be furnished with the necessary papers free of cost and allowed sufficient time to prepare for the defence."

16. It is not out of place to mention that Rule 37 of the General Rule (Criminal) 1957 framed by Hon'ble Allahabad High Court is pari materia the same of the present Rule 37 of General Rule (Criminal) 1977.

17. In Bashira vs. State of U.P. reported in AIR 1968 SC 1313, Hon'ble the Supreme Court has held that Rule 37 of the General Rule (Criminal) of the Allahabad High Court 1957 is mandatory and any violation of the same is violative of Article 21 of the Constitution of India, because the trial has not been conducted in accordance with the procedure established by law. Accordingly, Hon'ble the Supreme Court ordered that in such situation, the trial will be vitiated. Again the aforesaid point was considered by a three Judge Bench of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of Madhav Hayawadanrao Hoskot vs. State of Maharashtra reported in 1978 SCC (Cri) 468, and held at paragraph no. 14 that:-

"The other ingredient of fair procedure to a prisoner, who has to seek his liberation through the court process is lawyer's services. Judicial justice, with procedural intricacies, legal submissions and critical examination of evidence, leans upon professional expertise; and a failure of equal justice under the law is on the cards where such supportive skill is absent for one side. Our judicature, moulded by Anglo-American models and our judicial process, engineered by kindred legal technology, compel the collaboration of lawyer-power or steering the wheels of equal justice under the law. Free legal services to the needy is part of the English criminal justice system. And the American jurist, Prof. Vance of Yale, sounded sense for India too when he said(1):

"What does it profit a poor and ignorant man that he is equal to his strong antagonist before the law if there is no one to inform him what the law is ? or that the courts are open to him on the same terms as to all other persons when he has not the wherewithal to pay the admission fee ?"

18. In the case of Hussainara Khatoon and Ors. vs. Home Secretary, State of Bihar reported in AIR 1979 SC 1369, Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that free legal services to indigent and poor accused is implicit in Article 21 of the Constitution of India. The following observation of Hon'ble Supreme Court at para- 6 of the aforesaid judgment is quoted hereinbelow:-

"6. .....It is now well settled, as a result of the decision of this Court in Maneka Gandhi v. Union of India (1) that when Article 21 provides that no person shall be deprived of his life or liberty except in accordance with the procedure established by law, it is not enough that there should be some semblance of procedure provided by law, but the procedure under which a person may be deprived of his life or liberty should be 'reasonable, fair and just'. Now, a procedure which does not make available legal services to an accused person who is too poor to afford a lawyer and who would, therefore, have to go through the trial without legal assistance, cannot possibly be regarded as 'reasonable fair and just. It is an essential ingredient of reasonable, fair and just procedure to a prisonel who is to seek his liberation through the court's process that he should have legal services available to him. This Court pointed out in M.H. Hoskot v. State of Maharashtra (2).:"Judicial justice, with procedural intricacies, legal submissions and critical examination of evidence, leans upon professional expertise; and a failure of equal justice under the law is on the cards where such supportive skill is absent for one side. Our judicature, moulded by Anglo-American models and our judicial process, engineered by kindred legal technology, compel the collaboration of lawyer-power for steering the wheels of equal justice under the law". Free legal services to the poor and the needy is an essential element of any 'reasonable, fair and just' procedure. It is not necessary to quote authorative pronouncements by judges and jurists in support of the view that without the service of a lawyer an accused person would be denied 'reasonable, fair and just' procedure."

19. In the case of Khatri and Ors. v. State of Bihar reported in AIR 1981 SC 928, Hon'ble the Supreme Court has held that an accused is entitled to free legal services when he was first produced before the Magistrate and it is the duty of the Magistrate and Sessions Judge to inform every accused, who appears before them about their aforesaid legal right. Paras 4 & 5 of the aforesaid judgment is quoted hereinbelow:-

"4. That takes us to one other important issue which arises in this case. It is clear from the particulars supplied by the State from the records of the various judicial magistrates dealing with the blinded prisoners from time to time that, neither at the time when the blinded prisoners were produced for the first time before the judicial magistrate nor at the time when the remand orders were passed, was any legal representation available to most of the blinded prisoners. The records of the judicial magistrates show that no legal representation was provided to the blinded prisoners, because none of them asked for it nor did the judicial magistrates enquire from the blinded prisoners produced before them either initially or at the time of remand whether they wanted any legal representation at State cost. The only excuse for not providing legal representation to the blinded prisoners at the cost of the State was that none of the blinded prisoners asked for it. The result was that barring two or three blinded prisoners who managed to get a lawyer to represent them at the later stages of remand, most of the blinded prisoners were not represented by any lawyers and save a few who were released on bail, and that too after being in jail for quite some time, the rest of them continued to languish in jail. It is difficult to understand how this state of affairs could be permitted to continue despite the decision of this Court in Hussainara Khatonn's case. This Court has pointed out in Hussainara Khatoon's case (supra) which was decided as far back as 9th March, 1979 that the right to free legal services is clearly an essential ingredient of reasonable, fair and just procedure for a person accused of an offence and it must be held implicit in the guarantee of Article 21 and the State is under a constitutional mandate to provide a lawyer to an accused person if the circumstances of the case and the needs of justice so require, provided of course the accused person does not object to the provision of such lawyer. It is unfortunate that though this Court declared the right to legal aid as a Fundamental Right of an accused person by a process of judicial construction of Article 21, most of the States in the country have not taken note of this decision and provided free legal services to a person accused of an offence. We regret this disregard of the decision of the highest court in the land by many of the States despite the constitutional declaration in Article 141 that the law declared by this Court shall be binding through-out the territory of India. Mr. K. G. Bhagat on behalf of the State agreed that in view of the decision of this Court the State was bound to provide free legal services to an indigent accused but he suggested that the State might find it difficulty to do so owing to financial constraints. We may point out to the State of Bihar that it cannot avoid its constitutional obligation to provide free legal services to a poor accused by pleading financial or administrative inability. The State is under a constitutional mandate to provide free legal aid to an accused person who is unable to secure legal services on account of indigenous and whatever is necessary for his purpose has to be done by the State. The State may have its financial constraints and its priorities in expenditure but, as pointed out by the court in Rhem v. Malcolm. "The law does not permit any Government to deprive its citizens of constitutional rights on a plea of poverty" and to quote the words of Justice Blackmum in Jackson vs. Bishop, 404 F. Supp. 2d, 571: "humane considerations and constitutional requirements are not in this day to be measured by dollar considerations." Moreover, this constitutional obligation to provide free legal services to an indigent accused does not arise only when the trial commences but also attaches when the accused is for the first time produced before the magistrate. It is elementary that the jeopardy to his personal liberty arises as soon as a person is arrested and produced before a magistrate, for it is at that stage that he gets the first opportunity to apply for bail and obtain his release as also to resist remand to police or jail custody. That is the stage at which an accused person needs competent legal advice and representation and no procedure can be said to be reasonable, fair and just which denies legal advice and representation to him at this stage. We must, therefore, hold that the State is under a constitutional obligation to provide free legal services to an indigent accused not only at the stage of trial but also at the stage when he is first produced before the magistrate as also when he is remanded from time to time.

5. But even this right to free legal services would be illusory for an indigent accused unless the magistrate or the Sessions Judge before whom he is produced informs him of such right. It is common knowledge that about 70 per cent of the people in the rural areas are illiterate and even more than that percentage of people are not aware of the rights conferred upon them by law. There is so much lack of legal awareness that it has always been recognised as one of the principal items of the programme of the legal aid movement in this country to promote legal literacy. It would make a mockery of legal aid if it were to be left to a poor ignorant and illiterate accused to ask for free legal services. Legal aid would become merely a paper promise and it would fail of its purpose. The magistrate or the sessions judge before whom the accused appears must be held to be under an obligation to inform the accused that if he is unable to engage the services of a lawyer on account of poverty or indigence, he is entitled to obtain free legal services at the cost of the State. Unfortunately, the judicial magistrates failed to discharge this obligation in the case of the blinded prisoners and they merely stated that no legal representation was asked for by the blinded prisoners and hence none was provided. We would, therefore, direct the magistrates and Session Judges in the country to inform every accused who appears before them and who is not represented by a lawyer on account of his poverty or indigence that he is entitled to free legal services at the cost of the State. Unless he is not willing to take advantage every other State in the country to make provision for grant of free legal services to an accused who is unable to engage a lawyer on account of reasons such as poverty, indigence or incommunicado situation. The only qualification would be that the offence charged against the accused is such that, on conviction, it would result in a sentence of imprisonment and is of such a nature that the circumstances of the case and the needs of social justice require that he should be given free legal representation. There may be cases involving offences such as economic offences or offences against law prohibiting prostitution or child abuse and the like, where social justice may require that free legal services need not be provided by the State."

20. In the cases of Suk Das and Another v. Union Territory of Arunachal Pradesh [AIR 1986 SC 991], Tyron Nazareth v. State of Goa [1994 Supp. (3) SCC 321] and Mohd. Hussain alias Zulfikar Ali v. State (Government of NCT of Delhi) [(2012) 2 SCC 584], Hon'ble the Supreme Court had reiterated the aforesaid principle and held that if the adequate legal aid has not been provided to the accused during the trial, the same is violative of Article 21 of the Constitution of India. Thus, the conviction and sentence of such accused cannot be sustained."

12. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Anokhilal Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, 2019 SCC OnLine SC 1637, has held that legal aid provided by the State must be extended real and meaningful assistance. Hon'ble Apex Court has also laid down that in all cases where there is a possibility of life sentence or death sentence, Advocates, who have put in minimum 10 years of practice at the Bar, alone be considered to be appointed as Amicus Curiae. Relevant paragraphs 33 of the aforesaid judgment is being reproduced as under:-

"33. Before we part, we must lay down certain norms so that the infirmities that we have noticed in the present matter are not repeated:--

i) In all cases where there is a possibility of life sentence or death sentence, learned Advocates who have put in minimum of 10 years practice at the Bar alone be considered to be appointed as Amicus Curiae or through legal services to represent an accused.

ii) In all matters dealt with by the High Court concerning confirmation of death sentence, Senior Advocates of the Court must first be considered to be appointed as Amicus Curiae.

iii) Whenever any learned counsel is appointed as Amicus Curiae, some reasonable time may be provided to enable the counsel to prepare the matter. There cannot be any hard and fast rule in that behalf. However, a minimum of seven days' time may normally be considered to be appropriate and adequate.

iv) Any learned counsel, who is appointed as Amicus Curiae on behalf of the accused must normally be granted to have meetings and discussion with the concerned accused. Such interactions may prove to be helpful as was noticed in Imtiyaz Ramzan Khan."

13. Admittedly, in the present case, the legal aid provided by the Amicus Curiae was not real and effective, as he denied to cross-examine the prosecution witnesses, therefore, the impugned order has been passed on the wrong premise and is liable to be set aside.

14. Trial court is directed to recall all the prosecution witnesses, whose examination-in-chief was conducted and provide opportunity to the revisionist to cross-examine them.

15. The revision is, accordingly, allowed. Impugned order dated 21.09.2019 passed by Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge (POCSO Act), Faizabad in Special Session Trial No. 78 of 2018 is hereby quashed.

A. Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 - Section 227 - Discharge Application - while considering petition for discharge - courts cannot act as appellate court and start appreciating evidence by finding out inconsistencies in statements of witness - Court cannot appreciate evidence at stage of framing of charge - Charges can be framed on the basis of strong suspicion.

Held - Discharge application, to discharge the revisionists, from the charge framed under section 306 IPC, is cryptic - material available on record - makes out a prima facie case - against the accused - no justifiable ground to set aside the impugned order refusing the discharge of the accused (Para 22 & 23)

1. Mr. Sikandar B. Kochar, learned counsel filed his vakalatnama on behalf of the opposite party no.2 today in the Court, is taken on record.

2. Heard Mr. Rajiv Lochan Shukla, Advocate holding brief of Mr. Radhey Shyam Yadav, learned counsel for the revisionists, Mr. Sikandar B. Kochar and Mr. Pankaj Satsangi, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 and Mr. Amit Singh Chauhan, learned A.G.A. for the State.

3. This criminal revision under section 397/401 Cr.P.C. has been preferred by the revisionists against the impugned order dated 01.10.2019 passed by Sessions Judge, court No. 9, Budaun in Sessions Trial No.148 of 2019 (State vs. Smt. Kalpana alias Rinki and others) arising out of Case Crime No. 95 of 2013, under Section 306 IPC, Police Station- Kotwali, District- Badaun, whereby the discharge application of the revisionists for discharging from above charge section, has been rejected.

4. The facts in brief which are essential to be stated for adjudication of this revision are that the present first information report has been lodged by the opposite party no.2 Manoj Kumar against the revisionists on 27.02.2013 through an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. with regard to the alleged incident dated 28.01.2013, which was registered as Case Crime No. 95 of 2013, under Section 306 IPC, Police Station-Kotwali, District-Badaun. As per the allegations made in the first information report, the first informant Manoj Kumar (opposite party no.2) along with his younger brother, namely, Praveen Kumar (now deceased) stays together at their ancestral home at Mohalla Jagipura, Budaun and both of them looked after the agricultural work as well as brick kiln. The first informant's younger brother, namely, Praveen Kumar got married on 30.04.2012 with the revisionist no.1 Kalpana @ Rinki and after marriage, the revisionist no.1 Kalpana @ Rinki along with her father, namely, Narendra Singh Rathore, her uncle, namely, Umesh Rathore, her mother, namely, Smt. Jaiwanti had started building pressure upon Praveen Kumar (now deceased) to live separately from his family members, on account of which, relations between Praveen Kumar (husband) and the revisionist no.1 Kalpana @ Rinki (wife) became strained and led to frequent fight between the two. The first informant Manoj Kumar along with his wife, namely, Anita tried to mediate between them. On repeated pressure of family members of the revisionist no.1 Kalpana @ Rinki, Praveen Kumar (now deceased) did not agree to live separately or have partition of his house, a fight took place between the two on 27.01.2013 and then the revisionist no.1 Kalpana @ Rinki called her parents. Thereafter, her father, namely, Narendra Singh Rathore, her mother, namely, Smt. Jaiwanti, her uncle, namely, Umesh Rathore came and threatened Praveen Kumar (now deceased) and the revisionist no.1 Kalpana @ Rinki declined to stay at her matrimonial house and left the place by threatening Praveen Kumar (now deceased) to institute a false first information report with regard to dowry. At the relevant point of time, maternal brother of the opposite party no.2, namely, Sanjeev and brother-in-law of the opposite party no.2, namely, Santosh also arrived and tried to persuade the revisionist no.1 Kalpana @ Rinki and her family members but the revisionist no.1 Kalpana @ Rinki, without paying attention to the request made by Sanjeev and Santosh, left the matrimonial house with her bag and baggage, jewellery and other articles to stay with her parents. Subsequently, on 28.01.2013, the opposite party no.2 Manoj Kumar (first informant) received an information that the revisionist no.1 Kalpana @ Rinki has instituted a false case of demand of dowry against her husband Praveen Kumar (now deceased) and his family members. On hearing the same, Praveen Kumar (now deceased) went into depression and was worried about his family members who would go to jail and was also worried about reputation of his family in the society, in this adverse circumstance, he was not in a position to survive, although all the family members consoled him but he went to his room. On the next morning, when Praveen Kumar (now deceased) did not wake up, the family members went up stairs and found that Praveen Kumar (now deceased) had committed suicide by hanging himself from the fan. Thereafter, information about the said incident was given to the concerned police station immediately, and then, last rites were performed on 29.01.2013. Thereafter, on 30.01.2013, without delay, the opposite party no.2 went to the concerned police station for lodging the first informant report but no attention was given. Subsequently, the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. moved by the opposite party no.2 against the revisionists before the concerned court below. Thereafter, the present first information report was lodged on 27.02.2013.

5. It has been contended by the learned counsel for the revisionists that Praveen Kumar (now deceased) was married on 30.04.2012 with the revisionist no.1 Kalpana @ Rinki after giving a sufficient dowry as per the status, however, elder brother-in-law, namely, Manoj Kumar (first informant), his wife, namely, Anita and mother-in-law were not satisfied with dowry received in the marriage. On various occasions, the revisionist no.1 Kalpana @ Rinki was assaulted by her husband (Praveen Kumar) due to which, she suffered serious injuries. However, she did not lodge any complain or F.I.R. to save the reputation of the family. After some time, on 27.01.2013 at about 8 O'clock, in the evening, she was again badly beaten by her husband (Praveen Kumar) and his family members as a result of which she suffered various injuries and was also forced to leave the house. Being thrown out of the house, she called her father, mother and uncle, who reached her matrimonial house and she went along with them to her parents' place. In such compelling circumstances, there was no option to the revisionist no.1 Kalpana @ Rinki to leave her matrimonial house and stay at her parents' place. For the aforesaid incident, when she was beaten on 27.01.2013, the revisionist no.1 instituted a first information report bearing Case Crime No. 32 of 2013, under Sections 498A, 323, 504, 506 IPC and ¾ D.P. Act against Praveen Kumar (husband now deceased), Manoj Kumar (borther-in-law), Anita (Jeth) and Resha Devi (mother-in-law).

6. It has further been contended by the learned counsel for the revisionists that after lodging of the aforesaid first information report, the revisionist no.1 Kalpana @ Rinki was sent to District Hospital, Budaun for examination on 28.01.2013 at about 01:00 p.m. A copy of injury report dated 28.01.2013 has been appended as Annexure no.4 to this application. Perusal of which goes to show that she has suffered a number of injuries on account of assault made by the family members of her husband.

7. It has further been contended by learned counsel for the revisionists that after lodging of the present first information report by the opposite party no.2, the investigation has been made by the Investigation Officer. During investigation, the statement of Manoj Kumar, Anita, Ashok Kumar, Arvind Lal, Sanjeev Kumar and Santosh were recorded and the charge-sheet was submitted against the revisionists. However, the Investigating Officer has not considered the first information report instituted by the revisionist no.1 Kalpana @ Rinki on 28.01.2013 and the injuries suffered by the revisionist no.1, which goes to show that she was victim of the illegality as committed by Praveen Kumar (now deceased) and his family members. Aggrieved by the charge sheet, the revisionists approached before this Court by means of Cri. Misc. Application No.

35330 of 2013 for quashing the entire proceedings initiated on the basis of F.I.R. dated 27.02.2013 bearing Case Crime No. 95 of 2013 under Section 306 IPC wherein vide order dated 14.12.2018, the Court was pleased to disposed of the aforesaid application with the direction that the revisionists may appear and surrender before the court below within 30 days from that day and apply for bail. Thereafter, the revisionists were granted bail by the court below. It has further been contended by the learned counsel for the revisionists that the copy of post mortem report of the deceased Praveen Kumar also shows that there were no injuries on the body of Praveen Kumar (deceased). It was also testified that he had suffered no injury prior to his death.

8. It has further been contended by the learned counsel for the revisionists that the real facts is that since father of Manoj Kumar (first informant) and Praveen Kumar (deceased) had expired. Manoj Kumar (first informant) and his wife Anita wanted to grab the property of Praveen Kumar, therefore, Manoj Kumar (first informant) along with his wife Anita exerted tremendous pressure upon Praveen Kumar (deceased) and tried to create differences between the revisionist no.1 Kalpana @ Rinki and her husband Praveen Kumar (deceased) for the last few days, due to which Praveen Kumar committed suicide.

9. It has further been contended by the learned counsel for the revisionists that the discharge application moved by the revisionists before the concerned court below on 25.05.2019, which has been rejected by order dated 01.10.2019 in an unjustified, illegal and arbitrary. While deciding the discharge application, the court concerned has not appreciated the points raised by the revisionists in the discharge application and failed to consider the documents available in the case dairy.

10. It has further been contended by learned counsel for the revisionists that there is absolutely no evidence on record about any instigation/ abetment on the part of the revisionists to instigate the commission of suicide by the deceased Praveen Kumar (husband of the revisionist no.1). Hence, the valuable time of the Court should not be wasted for holding a trial only for the purpose of formally completing the procedure to pronounce the conclusion on a future date. In support of his contention, learned counsel for the revisionists has placed reliance upon the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Rajiv Thapar & Others vs. Madan Lal Kapoor reported in 2013 (3) SCC 330 wherein it has been held by the Hon'ble Apex Court that only the material placed on record by the prosecution, could be gone into at the time of framing charges. And if, on the basis of the said material, the commission of the alleged offence was prima facie made out, the charge was to be framed. At the stage of framing of charges, it was submitted, that the requirement was not to determine the sufficiency (or otherwise) of evidence to record a conviction. The High Court can exercise powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. or under Article 227 of the Constitution of India or suo motu to prevent abuse of process of law and can rely on material produced by the accused if suspicion is shown as the allegations in complaint and the accused may not be discharged. Paragraph no. 17 of the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Rajiv Thapar (Supra) read as follows:-

"17. A perusal of the order of the High Court would reveal that the Additional Sessions Judge, Delhi, had primarily relied on certain observations made in the judgment rendered by this Court in Satish Mehra Vs. Delhi Administration, (1996) 9 SCC 766:-

"15. But when the Judge is fairly certain that there is no prospect of the case ending in conviction the valuable time of the Court should not be wasted for holding a trial only for the purpose of formally completing the procedure to pronounce the conclusion on a future date. We are mindful that most of the Sessions Courts in India are under heavy pressure of work-load.

If the Sessions Judge is almost certain that the trial would only be an exercise in futility or a sheer waste of time it is advisable to truncate or snip the proceedings at the stage of Section 227 of the Code itself" Madan Lal Kapoor (the respondent-complainant), before the High Court, had relied upon the judgment in State of Orissa Vs. Debendra Nath Padhi (2005) 1 SCC 568, to contend that the judgment relied upon by the Additional Sessions Judge, Delhi, having been overruled, had resulted in an erroneous conclusion. For the same proposition, reliance was placed on the judgment of this Court in Suresh Kumar Tekriwal Vs. State of Jharkhand, (2005) 12 SCC 278. On behalf of the complainant, reliance was also placed on the decision in State of Maharashtra Vs. Som Nath Thapa, (1996) 4 SCC 659, to contend, that only the material placed on record by the prosecution, could be gone into at the time of framing charges. And if, on the basis of the said material, the commission of the alleged offence was prima facie made out, the charge(s) was/were to be framed. At the stage of framing of charges, it was submitted, that the requirement was not to determine the sufficiency (or otherwise) of evidence to record a conviction. For this, reliance was placed on State of M.P. Vs. Mohanlal Soni (2000) 6 SCC 338, wherein this Court had concluded, that the requirement was a satisfaction, that a prima facie case was made out. On behalf of Madan Lal Kapoor, reliance was also placed on State of A.P. Vs. Golconda Linga Swamy (2004) 6 SCC 522, to contend that at this stage, meticulous examination of the evidence was not called for."

11. It has further been contended by learned counsel for the revisionists that in the present case, the evidence produced by the revisionists has not been contested or refuted by the opposite party no.2 and also there is nothing on record to show that the commission of suicide was a result of part of revisionists. Therefore, the charge framed under Section 306 IPC against the revisionists is prima facie made out.

12. Learned counsel for the revisionists has also placed reliance upon the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Harshendra Kumar D vs. Rebatilata Koley Etc reported in 2011 AIR (SC) 1090. The paragraph nos. 21 and 22 of the aforesaid judgment read as follows:-

"21. In our judgment, the above observations cannot be read to mean that in a criminal case where trial is yet to take place and the matter is at the stage of issuance of summons or taking cognizance, materials relied upon by the accused which are in the nature of public documents or the materials which are beyond suspicion or doubt, in no circumstance, can be looked into by the High Court in exercise of its jurisdiction under Section 482 or for that matter in exercise of revisional jurisdiction under Section 397 of the Code. It is fairly settled now that while exercising inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 or revisional jurisdiction under Section 397 of the Code in a case where complaint is sought to be quashed, it is not proper for the High Court to consider the defence of the accused or embark upon an enquiry in respect of merits of the accusations. However, in an appropriate case, if on the face of the documents - which are beyond suspicion or doubt - placed by accused, the accusations against him cannot stand, it would be travesty of justice if accused is relegated to trial and he is asked to prove his defence before the trial court. In such a matter, for promotion of justice or to prevent injustice or abuse of process, the High Court may look into the materials which have significant bearing on the matter at prima facie stage.

22. Criminal prosecution is a serious matter; it affects the liberty of a person. No greater damage can be done to the reputation of a person than dragging him in a criminal case. In our opinion, the High Court fell into grave error in not taking into consideration the uncontroverted documents relating to appellant's resignation from the post of Director of the Company. Had these documents been considered by the High Court, it would have been apparent that the appellant has resigned much before the cheques were issued by the Company....."

13. It has further been contended by learned counsel for the revisionists that in view of the settled law as laid down in the aforesaid judgments by the Hon'ble Apex Court, the impugned order dated 01.10.2019 passed by the court below is not sustainable in the eye of law and therefore, the same is liable to be set aside.

14. Mr. Sikandar B. Kochar, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 as well as Mr. Amit Singh Chauhan, learned A.G.A. for the State, per contra, have vehementally opposed the submissions as urged by the learned counsel for the revisionists by submitting that no case for discharge is made out as the discharge application has been rightly rejected by the court below. While passing the impugned order dated 01.10.2019, the court below concerned has considered all the points raised by the revisionists as well as documents available on record. It has further been submitted that at the initial stage, it is the duty of the Court to consider the record of the case and the documents submitted therewith and to hear the submissions of the accused and the prosecution in that behalf and on the basis of which, the court is of opinion that there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed an offence. To bolster the contention, the learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 has placed reliance upon the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of State represented by Deputy Superintendent of Police, Vigilance and Anti-Corruption, Tamil Nadu vs. J. Doraiswamy and Others reported in (2019) 4 SCC 149 wherein it has been held by the Hon'ble Apex Court that while considering petition for discharge, courts cannot act as appellate court and start appreciating evidence by finding out inconsistencies in statements of witness and also consideration of record for discharge purpose is different from consideration of record while deciding the appeal. The paragraph no. 15 of the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the aforesaid case read as follows:-

"15. While considering the case of discharge sought immdeiately after the charge-sheet is filed, the court cannot become an appellate court and start appreciating the evidence by finding out inconsistency in the statements of witnesses as was done by the High Court in the impugned order running in 19 pages. It is not legally permissible."

15. Mr. Sikandar B. Kochar, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 as well as Mr. Amit Singh Chauhan, learned A.G.A. for the State, therefore, submits that in view of the settled law as laid down in the aforesaid judgment by the Hon'ble Apex Court, the impugned order passed by the court below dated 01.10.2019 cannot be interfered with by this Court and the present revision is liable to be rejected, as the court below has rightly rejected the discharge application filed by the revisionists.

16. I have considered the submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the revisionists, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 and learned A.G.A. for the State as well as have gone through the records of the present application along with the impugned order.

17. It shall be advantageous to refer to the observations made by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of State of Bihar vs. Ramesh Singh 1977 (4) SCC 39 which are as follows :-

"4. Under S. 226 of the Code while opening the case for the prosecution the prosecutor has got to describe the charge against the accused and State by what evidence he proposes to prove the guilt of the accused. Thereafter, comes at the initial stage, the duty of the Court to consider the record of the case and the documents submitted therewith and to hear the submissions of the accused and the prosecution in that behalf. The Judge has to pass thereafter an order either u/s. 227 or u/s. 228 of the Code. If "the Judge considers that there is not sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused, he shall discharge the accused and record his reasons for so doing", so enjoined by s. 227. If, on the other hand, "the Judge is of opinion that there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed an offence which .....

(b) in exclusively triable by the court, he shall frame in writing a charge against the accused," as provided in S. 228.

Reading the two provisions together in juxtaposition, as they have got to be, it would be clear that at the beginning and the initial stage of the trial the truth, veracity and effect of the evidence which the prosecutor proposes to adduce are not to be meticulously judged. Nor is any weight to be attached to the probable defence of the accused. It is not obligatory for the Judge at that stage of the trial to consider in any detail and weigh in a sensitive balance whether the facts, if proved, would be incompatible with the innocence of the accused or not. The standard of test and judgment which is to be finally applied before recording a finding regarding the guilt or otherwise of the accused is not exactly to be applied at this stage of deciding the matter under s. 227 and 228 of the Code. At that stage the court is not to see whether there is sufficient ground for conviction of the accused or whether the trial is sure to end in his conviction. Strong suspicion against the accused, if the matter remains in the region of suspicion, cannot take the place of proof of his guilt at the conclusion of the trial. But at the initial stage if there is a strong suspicion which leads the court to think that there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed an offence then it is not open to the court to say that there is no sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused. The presumption of the guilt of the accused which is to be drawn at the initial stage is not in the sense of the law governing the trial of criminal cases in France where the accused is presumed to be guilty unless the contrary is proved. But it is only for the purpose of deciding prima facie whether the court should proceed with the trial or not. If the evidence which the Prosecutor proposes to adduce to prove the guilt of the accused even if fully accepted before it is challenged in cross-examination or rebutted by the defence, if any, cannot show that the accused committed the offence, there will be no sufficient ground for proceeding with the trial. An exhaustive list of the circumstances to indicate as to what will lead to one conclusion or the other is neither possible nor advisable. We may just illustrate the difference of the law by one more example. If the scales of pan as to the guilt or innocence of the accused are something like even at the conclusion of the trial, then, on the theory of benefit of doubt the case is to end in his acquittal. But if, on the other hand, it is so at the initial stage of making an order under S. 227 or S. 228, then in such a situation ordinarily and generally the order which will have to be made will be one under S. 228 and not under S. 227.

18. Aforesaid case was again referred to in another judgemnt of the Hon'ble Apex Court's in the case of Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, West Bengal Versus Anil Kumar Bhunja reported in AIR 1980 (SC) 52 and the Hon'ble Apex Court proceeded to observe as follows:

"18. It may be remembered that the case was at the stage of framing charges; the prosecution evidence had not yet commenced. The Magistrate had, therefore, to consider the above question on a general consideration of the materials placed before him by the investigating police officer. At this stage, as was pointed out by this Court in State of Bihar v. Ramesh Singh, AIR 1977 SC 2018, the truth, veracity and effect of the evidence which the prosecutor proposes to adduce are not to be meticulously judged. The standard of test, proof and judgment which is to be applied finally before finding the accused guilty or otherwise, is not exactly to be applied at the stage of Section 227 or 228 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. At this stage, even a very strong suspicion founded upon materials before the Magistrate, which leads him to form a presumptive opinion as to the existence of the factual ingredients constituting the offence alleged; may justify the framing of charge against the accused in respect of the commission of that offence."

19. In yet another case of Palwinder Singh Vs. Balvinder Singh reported in AIR 2009 SC 887 the Hon'ble Apex Court had the occasion to reflect upon the scope of adjudication and its ambit at the time of framing of the charge and also about the scope to consider the material produced by the accused at that stage. Following extract may be profitably quoted to clarify the situation : -

"12. Having heard learned counsel for the parties, we are of the opinion that the High Court committed a serious error in passing the impugned judgment insofar as it entered into the realm of appreciation of evidence at the stage of the framing of the charges itself. The jurisdiction of the learned Sessions Judge while exercising power under Section 227 of the Code of Criminal Procedure is limited. Charges can be framed also on the basis of strong suspicion. Marshalling and appreciation of evidence is not in the domain of the Court at that point of time. This aspect of the matter has been considered by this Court in state of Orissa v. Debendra Nath Padhi, (2005) 1 SCC 568 wherein it was held as under :

"23. As a result of the aforesaid discussion, in our view, clearly the law is that at the time of framing charge or taking cognizance the accused has no right to produce any material. Satish Mehra's Case holding that the trial Court has powers to consider even materials which the accused may produce at the stage of Section 227 of the Code has not been correctly decided."

20. The following observations made by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Sanghi Brothers (Indore) Pvt. Ltd. v. Sanjay Choudhary reported in AIR 2009 SC 9 also reiterated the same position of law :-

"10. After analyzing the terminology used in the three pairs of sections it was held that despite the differences there is no scope for doubt that at the stage at which the Court is required to consider the question of framing of charge, the test of a prima facie case to be applied.

11. The present case is not one where the High Court ought to have interfered with the order of framing the charge. As rightly submitted by learned counsel for the appellant, even if there is a strong suspicion about the commission of offence and the involvement of the accused, it is sufficient for the Court to frame a charge. At that stage, there is no necessity of formulating the opinion about the prospect of conviction. That being so, the impugned order of the High Court cannot be sustained and is set aside. The appeal is allowed."

21. In fact while exercising the inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. or while wielding the powers under Section 226 of the Constitution of India the quashing of the complaint can be done only if it does not disclose any offence or if there is any legal bar which prohibits the proceedings on its basis. The Apex Court decisions in R.P. Kapur Vs. State of Punjab AIR 1960 SC 866 and State of Haryana Vs. Bhajan Lal reported in 1992 SCC(Cr.) 426 make the position of law in this regard clear recognizing certain categories by way of illustration which may justify the quashing of a complaint or charge sheet.

22. In the light of the judgments of the Hon'ble Apex Court, referred to above, it is explicitly clear that the discharge application to discharge the revisionists from the charge framed under section 306 IPC is cryptic and does not stand the test laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court.

23. The submissions made by the learned counsel for the revisionists call for adjudication on pure questions of fact which may be adequately adjudicated only upon by the trial court and while doing so even the submissions made on points of law can also be more appropriately gone into by the trial court in this case. This Court does not deem it proper, and therefore, cannot be persuaded to have a pre-trial before the actual trial begins. A threadbare discussion of various facts and circumstances, as they emerge from the allegations made against the accused, is being purposely avoided by the Court for the reason, lest the same might cause any prejudice to either side during trial. But it shall suffice to observe that the perusal of the complaint, the summoning order and also all other the material available on record makes out a prima facie case against the accused at this stage and this Court does not find any justifiable ground to set aside the impugned order refusing the discharge of the accused. This court has not been able to persuade itself to hold that no case against the accused has been made out or to hold that the charge is groundless.

24. The prayer for quashing or setting aside the impugned order is refused as I do not see any illegality, impropriety and incorrectness in the impugned order or the proceedings under challenge. There is absolutely no abuse of court's process perceptible in the same. The present matter also does not fall in any of the categories recognized by the Hon'ble Supreme Court which might justify interference by this Court in order to upset or quash them.

25. The present revision lacks merit and is, accordingly, rejected.

roll no., his name, parents name and date of birth - Prima facie, the respondent was ineligible to contest the election in view of Article 173(b) – Held, objection of the respondent regarding cause of action deserves to be rejected. (Para 14 & 15)

C. Representation of People Act, 1951 – Section 81, 82, 83, 86, 100 and 101 - Election Petition – Pleading – Concise statement of material fact – Effect - Section 81(1) provide that an election petition calling in question any election may be presented on one or more of the grounds specified in Sub-Section (1) of Section 100 and Section 101 - Section 83 (1) (a) provides for contents of the election petition requiring that an election petition shall contain a concise statement of the material facts on which the petitioner relies - Under Section 86(1), an election petition can be dismissed by the High Court, if it does not comply with the provisions of Section 81 or 82 or 117 – Election petition filed on sole ground that respondent was not qualified as his age was below the minimum prescribed age and in support thereof copy of Secondary School Exam Result, 2007 filed – Held, Election petition contains material facts and particulars and therefore, the third objection of the respondent deserves rejection. (Para 19, 25 & 27)

D. Election Petition - Pleading - Material facts and Particulars - Distinction - Facts which are essential to disclose a complete cause of action are 'material facts' and are essentially required to be pleaded - Particulars are details of the case set up by the party and are such pleas which are necessary to amplify, revise or explain material facts - Function of 'particulars' is to present a full picture of the cause of action to make the opposite party understand the case that has been set up against him which he has required to meet. (Para 23)

1. Heard Sri N. K. Pandey along with S. A. Kazmi, learned counsel for the respondent-objector and Sri Navin Sinha, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Ms. Kalpana Sinha, learned counsel for the Election-petitioner on the following applications:-

(i) Paper No. A-11 being application no. 3 of 2018 under Section 151 C.P.C. praying to dismiss the election petition as not maintainable under Section 86(1) of the Representation of People Act, 1951.

(ii) Paper No. A-10 being application no. 3 of 2018 under order VI Rule 16 read with Order 7 Rule 11(a) of the Code of Civil Procedure praying to struck off paragraph nos. 7 to 28 of the election petition and to dismiss the election petition for want of cause of action under the provision of order 7 Rule 11(a) C.P.C.

With the consent of learned counsels for the parties both the applications are being heard together for disposal.

Submission of the applicant/respondent-objector:-

2. Learned counsel for the applicant/respondent-objector submits as under:

(i) Copy of news item dated 28.01.2017 as referred by the election petitioner in the representation dated 28.01.2017 filed before the Returning Officer has not been filed along with the election petition. Page No. 37 of the original election petition, which is the reverse page of the stamp paper bearing seal of the Stamp Vendor, has not been annexed with the copy of the election petition served upon the respondent-objector. Therefore, the copy of the election petition served upon the respondent-objector can not be said to be true copy of the election petition. Therefore, the election petition deserves to be dismissed as per the provisions of Section 86(1) of the Representation of People Act, 1951.

(ii) The election petitioner has stated in Paragraph 25 (iii) and (iv) of the election petition that the respondent-objector has filled-up the examination form and admission form while appearing in Class X examination conducted by CBSE Board, 2007. He has sworn the said paragraph on the basis of record. Therefore, he must have filed copies of the examination form and the application form along with the election petition which has not been done. Thus, the election petition has been filed without annexing material documents and in the absence thereof, the election petition cannot be said to be true copy of the election petition in view of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in U. S. Sasidharan v. K. Karunakaran and another, AIR 1990 SC 924 (para 15, 16 and 17).

(iii) No cause of action arose to the election petitioner to file the election petition, since the date of birth of the respondent is 30.09.1990 and at the time of filing of the nomination form, he had attained the age of 25 years in terms of the provisions contained in Article 173(b) of the Constitution of India. Thus, in absence of any cause of action, the election petition deserves to be dismissed under Order VII, Rule 11(a) C.P.C. and the pleadings made by the election petitioner deserves to be struck off under Order VI, Rule 16 C.P.C.

3. In support of his submissions Sri Pandey has relied upon the judgments of Hon'ble Supeme Court in Rajendra Singh v. Usha Rani, 1984 (3) SCC 339, Mithilesh Kumar Pandey v. Baidyanath Yadav and others, (1984) 2 SCC 1 (para 9, 15 and 17), M. Karunanidhi v. H. V. Handa and others, AIR 1983 SC 558 (para 13, 27 and 38 to 42), Jyoti Basu and others vs. Debi Ghosal and others, AIR 1982 SC 983(1) (para 7 and 8), Mulayam Singh Yadav v. Dharampal Yadav and others, 2001(5) SC 242 (paras 7, 11, 12 and 13) and a judgment of this Court passed by learned Single Judge, dated 10.02.1992 in Election Petition no. 6 of 1991(Jagram Singh v. Pritam Singh and others).

Submission of the Election Petitioner.

4. Sri Navin Sinha, learned Senior Advocate appearing for the election petitioner submits as under:-

(i) The election petition contains all material facts and particulars. The election petition has been filed solely on the ground that the respondent was not qualified to contest the election for Member of Legislative Assembly, in view of the provision of Article 173(b) of the Constitution of India, inasmuch as the respondent was less than 25 years of age when he had filed nomination and contested from 34, Suar, District Rampur Constituency. In support of the ground of challenge taken by the election petitioner, material facts have been stated in paragarph no. 25 of the Election Petition and along with the Election Petition, the copy of Class X result, bearing Roll No. 5260139 has been filed in which the date of birth of the respondent is clearly mentioned as 01.01.1993. The aforesaid copy of mark-sheet of the Class X result has been downloaded from the official website of CBSE Board. The respondent-objector has not said even a word in his entire preliminary objection or the application under Order VI Rule 16 read with Order VII Rule 11(a) C.P.C. disputing the genuineness of the aforesaid copy of the mark-sheet.

(ii) The relevant facts have been stated in the election petition which clearly discloses a cause of action to file the election petition. The application under Order VI, Rule 16 read with Order VII Rule 11(a) C.P.C. filed by the respondent is wholly without merit and, therefore, deserves to be dismissed. The preliminary objections are completely merit less and, therefore, it also deserves to be rejected.

(iii) The provision of Section 86(1) of the Representation of People Act, 1951, does not refer to Section 83 of the Act. Therefore, application under Section 86 (1) of the Act cannot be entertained with respect to the contents provided in Section 83 of the Act. Its scope is confined with reference to the provisions of Sections 81, 82 or Section 117 of the Act.

5. In support of his submissions Sri Sinha has relied upon the judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Mahendra Pal v. Ram Dass Malanger and others, (2000) 1 SCC 261(para 4, 7 and 32), Anil Vasudev Salgaaonkar v. Naresh Kushali Shigaonkar, (2009) 9 SCC 310 (para 39, 40 to 43, 50 to 58 and 61), Sahodrabai Rai v. Ram Singh Aharwar and others, AIR 1968 SC 1079 (paras 1, 2, 10, 11 and 12), A. Madan Mohan v. Kalavakunta Chandrasekhara, (1984) 2 SCC 288 (paras 2, 3, 10 to 15) and T. M. Jacob v. C. Poulose and others, (1999) 4 SCC 274 (paras 38, 39 and 40).

Discussion and findings.

6. The submissions of learned counsels for the parties as afore-noted gives rise to the following questions which are being formulated with the consent of learned counsels for the parties for determination in this appeal.

Question No. A Whether copy of election petition served by the election-petitioner upon the respondent is the true copy of the election petition filed by him?

Question No. B Whether no cause of action arose to the election-petitioner to file the election petition?

Question No. C Whether the election petition has not been filed with copies of material documents and whether it does not contain material facts and particulars?

Question No. 'A':

7. The only contention of the respondent-objector to allege that the copy of election petition served upon him is not the true copy of the election petition filed by the election-petitioner, is that Page No. 37 has not been annexed in the copy of the election petition served upon him. This allegation has been denied by the election Petitioner.

8. Page No. 37 is the back side of the Stamp paper of Rs. 10/- bearing stamp and seal of the Stamp Vendor put by him while selling the stamp paper to the respondent. Copy of the front page of the aforesaid stamp paper of Rs. 10/- filed as Page 36 of the Election Petition bears declaration of annexing affidavit in Form-26 along with Nomination Form. It bears signature of the respondent and stamp and seal of the Notary. That, apart the submission of the election-petitioner is that the copy of Form 26 filed by the respondent under Rule 4 which forms part of his nomination has been filed as Annexure-1 to the election petition.

9. Mere absence of copy of a page bearing seal and stamp of the Stamp Vendor in the true copy of the election petition supplied by the petitioner to the respondent can not be construed to be an omission or variation of vital nature. Therefore even if, it could be construed as a defect, it was not a defect of vital nature attracting the consequences of Section 86(1) of the Representation of People Act, 1951 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Act'). Therefore, I hold that there was no failure on the part of the election-petitioner to comply with the last part of Sub-Section 3 of Section 81 of the Act. Consequently, Section 86(1) of the Act is not attracted and the election petition cannot be dismissed on allegation of failure to comply the provisions of Section 81 of the Act. It is not that every minor variation in form but it is only a vital defect in substance which can lead to a finding of non-compliance with the provisions of Section 81(3) of the Act with the consequences under Section 86(1) to follow.

10. In Murarka Radhey Shyam Ram Kumar v. Roop Singh Rathore, AIR 1964 SC 1545, a Constitutional Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court elaborately dealt with the question that the word "copy" occurring in Section 81(3) of the Act mean an absolutely exact copy or does it mean a copy so true that nobody could by any possibility misunderstand it. After referring to catena of authorities, the Constitution Bench held that the test to determine whether a copy was a true one or not was to find out whether any variation from the original was calculated to mislead a reasonable persons. The Constitution Bench opined :-

"Having regard to the provisions of Part VI of the Act, we are of the view that the word 'copy' does not mean an absolutely exact copy. It means a copy so true that nobody can by any possibility misunderstand it. The test whether the copy is a true one is whether any variation from the original is calculated to mislead an ordinary person. Applying that test we have come to the conclusion that the defects complained of with regard to Election Petition No.269 of 1962 were not such as to mislead the appellant; therefore there was no failure to comply with the last part of sub-section (3) of section 81. In that view of the matter sub-section (3) of Section 90 was not attracted and there was no question of dismissing the election petition under that sub-section by reason of any failure to comply with the provisions of Section 81."

The Bench also opined :

"When every page of the copy served on the appellant was attested to be a true copy under the signature of the petitioner, a fresh signature below the word 'petitioner' was not necessary. Sub-section (3) of Section 81 requires that the copy shall be attested by the petitioner under his own signature and this was done. As to the second defect the question really turns on the true scope and effect of the word 'copy' occurring in sub-section (3) of Section 81. On behalf of the appellant the argument is that sub-section (3) of Section 81 being mandatory in nature all the requirements of the sub-section must be strictly complied with and the word 'copy' must be taken to be an absolutely exact transcript of the original. On behalf of the respondents the contention is that the word 'copy' means that which comes so near to the original as to give to every person seeing it the idea created by the original. Alternatively, the argument is that the last part of sub-section (3) dealing with a copy is merely directive, and for the reliance is placed on the decision of this Court in Kamaraja Nadar v. Kunju Thevar (AIR 1958 SC 687). We are of the view that the word 'copy' in sub-section (3) of Section 81 does not mean an absolutely exact copy, but means that the copy shall be so true that nobody can by any possibility misunderstand it (see Stroud's Judicial Dictionary, Third Edn., Vol. 4, p. 3098). In this view of the matter it is unnecessary to go into the further question whether any part of sub-section (3) of section 81 is merely directory."

(Emphasis supplied by me)

11. Similar view was taken by another Constitution Bench in Ch. Subbarao v. Member, Election Tribunal, Hyderabad, AIR 1964 SC 1027, wherein it was held that the expression 'copy' occurring in Section 81(3) of the Act did not mean an exact copy but only one so true that no reasonable person could by any possibility misunderstand it as not being the same as the original.

12. This question was again considered by another Constitutional Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court in T. M. Jacob v. C. Poulose and others (1999) 4 SCC 274 and it held as under:-

*35.*The object of serving a "true copy" of an election petition and the affidavit filed in support of the allegations of corrupt practice on the respondent in election petition is to enable the respondent to understand the charge against him so that he can effectively meet the same in the written statement and prepare his defence. The requirement is, thus, of substance and not of form.

*36.*The expression "copy" in section 81(3) of the Act, in our opinion, means a copy which is substantially so and which does not contain any material or substantial variation of a vital nature as could possibly mislead a reasonable person to understand and meet the charges/allegations made against him in the election petition. Indeed a copy which differs in material particulars from the original cannot be treated as a true copy of the original within the meaning of section 81(3) of the Act and the vital defect cannot be permitted to be cured after the expiry of the period of limitation.

39.Applying the test as laid down in Murarka Radhey Shyam Ram Kumars case (supra), to the fact situation of the present case, we come to the conclusion that the defects complained of in the present case were not such as could have misled the appellant at all. The non-mention of the name of the Notary or the absence of the stamp and seal of the Notary in the otherwise true copy supplied to the appellant could not be construed to be omission or variation of a vital nature and, thus, the defect, if at all it could be construed as a defect, was not a defect of any vital nature attracting the consequences of Section 86(1) of the Act. Under the circumstances, it must be held that there was no failure on the part of the election petitioner to comply with the last part of sub-section (3) of Section 81 of the Act and, under the circumstances, Section 86(1) of the Act was not attracted and the election petition could not have been dismissed by reason of the alleged failure to comply with the provisions of Section 81 of the Act. In this connection, it is also relevant to note that the appellant, neither in the memo of objections nor in the written objections or in C.M.P.No.2903 of 1996 has alleged that he had been misled by the absence of the name, rubber stamp and seal of the Notary on the copy of the affidavit supplied to him or that he had been prejudiced to formulate his defence. Even during the arguments, learned counsel for the appellant was not able to point out as to how the appellant could have been prejudiced by the alleged omissions on the copy of the affidavit served on him.

40. In our opinion it is not every minor variation in form but only a vital defect in substance which can lead to a finding of non-compliance with the provisions of Section 81(3) of the Act with the consequences under Section 86(1) to follow. The weight of authority clearly indicates that a certain amount of flexibility is envisaged. While an impermissible deviation from the original may entail the dismissal of an election petition under Section 86(1) of the Act, an insignificant variation in the true copy cannot be construed as a fatal defect. It is, however, neither desirable nor possible to catalogue the defects which may be classified as of a vital nature or those which are not so. It would depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case and no hard and fast formula can be prescribed. The tests suggested in Murarka Radhey Shyam case (supra) are sound tests and are now well settled. We agree with the same and need not repeat those tests. Considered in this background, we are of the opinion that the alleged defect in the true copy of the affidavit in the present case did not attract the provisions of Section 86 (1) of the Act for alleged non-compliance with the last part of Section 81(3) of the Act and that there had been substantial compliance with the requirements of Section 81(3) of the Act in supplying "true copy" of the affidavit to the appellant by the respondent.

13. Thus, absence of Page No. 37 in the copy of the election petition served upon the respondent which merely copy of back page of the stamp paper containining stamp and seal of the Stamp Vendor, cannot be said to be a variation in the copy of the election petition from the original calculated to mislead a reasonable person.

It is not a defect of vital nature or a substantial variation. Therefore, the copy of the election petition served by the election petitioner upon the respondent is the true copy of the election petition filed by the petitioner. Consequently, objection in this regard by the respondent is rejected. Question No. 'A' is answered accordingly.

Question No. 'B' - "Whether no cause of action arose to the election-petitioner to file the election petition?"

14. The present election petition has been filed solely on the ground that the respondent was not qualified to contest the election for Member of the Legislative Assembly in view of Article 173(b) of the Constitution of India, inasmuch as the respondent was less than 25 years of age when he filed his nomination paper and contested the election from 34, Suar, District Rampur constituency. The concise statement of material facts in support of the ground as aforesaid, have been stated by the election-petitioner in Sub paras (i) to (iv) of Paragraph No. 25 of the petition. In Sub para (iv) the election-petitioner has stated that the Central Board of Secondary Education has issued Secondary School Examination (Class X) result bearing the roll no., name, mother's name and father's name. Sub-paras (iv) and (v) of Para 25 of the Election Petition are reproduced below:

"(iv) That the Central Board for Secondary Education has issued the Secondary School Examination (Class-X) result bearing the roll number, name, mother's name and father's name and date of birth of respondent Mohd. Abdullah Azam Khan. As per the certificate, the mother of respondent is Tazeen Fatima and his father is Mohd. Azam Khan. The date of birth as recorded in the certificate for Secondary School Examination (Class-X) results of the respondent Mohd. Abdullah Azam Khan is 01.01.1993. A copy of the certificate for Secondary School Examination (Class-X) results of respondent Mohd. Abdullah Azam Khan obtained from the Central Board for Secondary Education is enclosed and marked as Annexure - 4 to this petition.

(v) That the respondent Mohd. Abdullah Azam Khan appeared in Intermediate examination in the year 2009 from St Paul's School, Rampur. The said papers and records are available with St. Paul's School, Rampur and the Central Board for Secondary Education (CBSE), Delhi."

15. Respondent has not disputed before me the correctness of the roll no., his name, parents name and date of birth as mentioned in the web copy of Secondary School Exam Result, 2007 available on the website of Central Board of Secondary Education. During the course of dictation of this order, learned counsel for the respondent interrupted and stated that the respondent has recently applied to the Central Board of Secondary Education for correcting his date of birth as 30.09.1990 in place of recorded date of birth i.e. 01.01.1993. Even this statement made by learned counsel for the respondent cannot take away the cause of action which arose to the election-petitioner to file the present election petition inasmuch as the date of birth of the respondent at the time of filing of the nomination paper and at the time of contesting the election in question was 01.01.1993, as per his Class X mark-sheet/ certificate and, thus, prima facie, the respondent was ineligible to contest the election in view of the provisions of Article 173(b) of the Constitution of India. Thus, the objection of the respondent regarding cause of action, deserves to be rejected and is hereby rejected. Question No. 'B' is answered accordingly.

Question No. 'C' - "Whether the election petition has not been filed with copies of material documents and whether it does not contain material facts and particulars?"

16. In the preceding Paragraph Nos. 14 and 15, I have briefly noted the facts with regard to cause of action which arose to the election-petitioner to file the present election petition. The election-petitioner has brought on record copy of the Secondary School Exam Result, 2007 of the respondent which prima facie indicates that the date of birth of the respondent is 01.01.1993. Along with the election petition the election-petitioner has also filed copy of nomination papers alongwith supporting affidavit filed by the respondent which indicates that respondent has mentioned his date of birth in the nomination paper as 30.09.1990 on the basis of a birth certificate dated 21.01.2015 registered by the Registrar (birth and death) on 21.01.2015. In Sub para (vi) of Paragraph No. 25 of the election petition, the election-petitioner had stated as under:-

"(vi) That the petitioner has made best efforts to get the admission form, examination form as also documents pertaining to the Intermediate Examination of the respondent Mohd. Abdullah Azam Khan, but has not been able to get the same. The petitioner has only been able to get the certificate for Secondary School Examination (Class-X) results of the respondent from the Central Board of Secondary Education."

17. The election-petitioner has filed a list of documents to be relied upon by him, as under:-

"1. Complete set of nomination papers along with other documents of respondent - Mohd. Abdullah Azam Khan.

2. Certified copy of Affidavit in Form-26 filed by the respondent- Mohd. Abdullah Azam Khan.

3. Copy of the Secondary School Examination (Class X) Results of the respondent - Mohd. Abdullah Azam issued by the Central Board of Secondary Education.

4. Admission Form filled by respondent - Mohd. Abdullah Azam Khan in his own handwriting of St. Paul's School, Rampur.

5. Examination Form filled up by respondent - Mohd. Abdullah Azam Khan in his own handwriting for appearing in High School Examination conducted by the Central Board of Secondary Education.

6. Such order and further documents as may be necessary to prove the election petitioner's case."

18. Sections 81, 82, 83 and 86 are relevant for the purposes of deciding on the facts of the present case, Question No. C which are reproduced below:-

The Representation of the People Act, 1951.

(2) As soon as may be after an election petition has been presented to the High Court, it shall be referred to the Judge or one of the Judges who has or have been assigned by the Chief Justice for the trial of election petitions under sub-section (2) of section 80A.

(6) The trial of an election petition shall, so far as is practicable consistently with the interests of justice in respect of the trial, be continued from day to day until its conclusion, unless the High Court finds the adjournment of the trial beyond the following day to be necessary for reasons to be recorded.

(7) Every election petition shall be tried as expeditiously as possible and endeavour shall be made to conclude the trial within six months from the date on which the election petition is presented to the High Court for trial."

19. Section 81(1) of the Act provide that an election petition calling in question any election may be presented on one or more of the grounds specified in Sub-Section (1) of Section 100 and Section 101 to the High Court by any candidate at such election or any elector. Undisputedly the election-petitioner was a candidate in the election in question. Clause (d) of of Sub section 1 of Section 100 of the Act are relevant for the purposes of the sole ground taken by the election-petitioner in the election petition to challenge the election of the respondent that he was not qualified to contest the election inasmuch as he has not attained the minimum age as prescribed in Article 173(b) of the Constitution of India. Section 83 of the Act provides for contents of the election petition. Clause (a) of Sub section 1 of Section 83 requires that an election petition shall contain a concise statement of the material facts on which the petitioner relies. Perusal of sub paras of Para 25 of the election petition shows that the election petition contains a concise statement of material facts on which election-petitioner has relied. Section 86(1) of the Act provides that the High Court shall dismiss an election petition which does not comply with the provisions of Section 81 or 82 or 117 of the Act. Therefore under Section 86(1) of the Act, an election petition can be dismissed by the High Court only if it does not comply with the provisions of Section 81 or 82 or 117 of the Act.

20. In Sahodrabai Rai v. Ram Singh Aharwar and others (1968) 3 SCR 13 : AIR 1968 SC 1079, Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the provision of Section 81 read with Section 86(1) (Para 12) of the Act and held as under:-

10. An argument was raised in this case as to whether Section 86(1) is mandatory or merely directory. We need not go into this aspect of the case. In our opinion, the present matter can be resolved on an examination of the relevant facts and the contents of the election petition as detailed in Section 83 produced above. It may be pointed out here that the trial of election petition has to follow as far as may be the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure. We are therefore of opinion that it is permissible to look into the Code of Civil Procedure to see what exactly would have been the case if this was a suit and not a trial of an election petition.

11. Under the Code of Civil Procedure a suit is commenced by a plaint. This is provided by Order 4, Rule 1 which says that every suit shall be instituted by presenting a plaint to the Court. After the plaint is received O. V. provides the summoning of the defendants in the case and r. 2 of that order says that every summons shall be accompanied by a copy of the plaint, and if so permitted, by a concise statement. We then turn to the provisions of O. VII which deals with the contents of a plaint. The first rule mentions the particulars which must be in a plaint. It is not necessary to refer to them. The plaint has to be signed and verified. Rule 9 then provides that the plaintiff shall endorse on the plaint and annex thereto a list of documents, if any, which he has produced along with it and, if the plaint is admitted, shall present as many copies on plain paper of the plaint as there are defendants unless the Court by reason of the length of the plaint or the number of defendants, or for any other sufficient reason, permits him to present a like number of concise statements of the nature of the claims made etc. It will be noticed here that what is required to be provided are copies of the plaint itself or the concise statement according to the number of defendants. There is no mention here of any other documents of which a copy is needed to be presented to the Court for service to the defendants. Then we come to r. 14 which states that where a plaintiff sues upon a document in his possession or power he shall produce it in court when the plaint is presented and shall at the same time deliver the document or a copy thereof to be filed with the plaint. It will be noticed that he is required to file only one copy of the document and not as many copies as there are defendants in the case. It would therefore follow that a copy of the document is not expected to be delivered with the copy of the plaint to the answering defendants when summons is served on them. In the schedules to the Code of Civil Procedure we have got Appendix B which prescribes the forms for summons to the defendants. There is only one form of summons in Appendix B, (Form No. 4) in which the copy of the negotiable instrument is to accompany the copy of the plaint. That is so, because of the special law applying to the negotiable instruments and the time limit within which pleas to that document have to be raised and this is only in summary suits. No other form makes any mention of any document accompanying the summons with the copy of the plaint. We need not go into more details. It is clear that the documents which are filed with the plaint have to be accompanied by one copy of those documents. This is because the copy is compared with the original and the copy is endorsed by the clerk of court and the document is sometimes returned to the party to be produced into Court later. The copy takes the place of the document concerned and is not to be sent out to the parties with the plaint.

12. We may now see whether the election law provides anything different. The only provision to which our attention has been drawn is sub-section (3) of Section 81 and sub-section (2) of section 83. The first provides that every election petition shall be accompanied by as many copies thereof as there are respondents mentioned in the petition and that every such copy shall be an authenticated true copy. The words used here are only "the election petition". There is no mention of any document accompanying the election petition. If the matter stood with only this sub-section there would be no doubt that what was intended to be served is only a copy of the election petition proper. Assistance is however taken from the provisions of sub-section (2) of Section 83 which provides that any schedule or any annexure to the petition shall also be signed by the petitioner and verified in the same manner as the petition it is contended that since the pamphlet was an annexure to the petition. it was not only necessary to sign and verify it, but that it should have been treated as a part of the election petition itself and a copy served upon the respondents. In this way, non-compliance with the provisions of Section 86(1) is made out. In our opinion, this is too strict a reading of the provisions. We have already pointed out that Section 81(3) speaks only of the election petition. Pausing here, we would say that since the election petition itself reproduced the whole of the pamphlet in a translation in English, it could be said that the averments with regard to the pamphlet were themselves a part of the petition and therefore the pamphlet was served upon the respondents although in a translation and not in original. Even if this be not the case, we are quite clear that sub-section (2) of Section 83 has reference not to a document which is produced as evidence of the averments of the election petition but to averments of the election petition which are put in not in the election petition but in the accompanying schedules or annexures. We can give quite a number of examples from which it would be apparent that many of the averments of the election petition are capable of being put as schedules or annexures. For examples, the details of the corrupt practice there in the former days used to be set out separately in the schedules and which may, in some cases, be so done even after the amendment of the present law. Similarly, details of the averments too compendious for being included in the election petition may be set out in the schedules or annexures to the election petition. The law then requires that even though they are outside the election petition, they must be signed and verified, but such annexures or schedules are then treated as integrated with the election petition and copies of them must be served on the respondent if the requirement regarding service of the election petition is to be wholly complied with. But what we have said here does not apply to documents which are merely evidence in the case but which for reasons of clarity and to lend force to the petition are not kept back but produced or filed with the election petitions. They are in no sense an integral part of the averments of the petition but are only evidence of those averments and in proof thereof. The pamphlet therefore must be treated as a document and not as a part of the election petition in so far as averments are concerned. When the election petitioner said that it was to be treated as part of her election petition she was merely indicating that it was not to be thought that she had not produced the document in time. She was insisting upon the document remaining with the petition so that it could be available whenever the question of the election petition or its contents arose. It would be stretching the words of sub-s. (2) of Section 83 too far to think that every document produced as evidence in the election petition becomes a part of the election petition proper. In this particular case we do not think that the pamphlet could be so treated. We are, therefore, of the opinion that whether or not Section 86(1)is mandatory or directory there was no breach of the provisions of the Representation of the People Actin regard to the filing of the election or the service of the copies thereof and the order under appeal was therefore erroneous.

21. In A. Madan Mohan v. Kalavakunta Chandrasekhara, (1984) 2 SCC 288 (Para 3, 11-15) Hon'ble Supreme Court followed the ratio of decision in the case of Sahodrabai Rai (supra).

22. In U. S. Sasidharan v. K. Karunakaran and another, AIR 1990 SC 924 (Para 15, 16 and 17), Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the provisions of Section 81(3) of the Act and held as under:-

"15. We have already referred to Section 83 relating to the contents of an election petition. The election petition shall contain a concise statement of material facts and also set forth full particulars of any corrupt practice. The material facts or particulars relating to any corrupt prac- tice may be contained in a document and the election peti- tioner, without pleading the material facts or particulars of corrupt practice, may refer to the document. When such a reference is made in the election petition, a copy of the document must be supplied inasmuch as by making a reference to the document and without pleading its contents in the election petition, the document becomes incorporated in the election petition by reference. In other words, it forms an integral part of the election petition. Section 81(3) provides for giving a true copy of the election petition. When a document forms an integral part of the election petition and a copy of such document is not furnished to the respond- ent along with a copy of the election petition, the copy of the election petition will not be a true copy within the meaning of Section 81(3) and, as such, the court has to dismiss the election petition under Section 86(1) for non-compliance with Section 81(3).

16. On the other hand, if the contents of the document in question are pleaded in the election petition, the document does not form an integral part of the election petition. In such a case, a copy of the document need not be served on the respondent and that will not be non-compliance with the provision of Section 81(3). The documentmay be relied upon as an evidence in the proceedings. In other words, when the document does not form an integral part of the election petition, but has been either referred to in the petition or filed in the proceedings as evidence of any fact, a copy of such a document need not be served on the respondent along with a copy of the election petition.

17. There may be another situation when a copy of the document need not be served on the respondent along with the election petition. When a document has been filed in the proceedings, but is not referred to in the petition either directly or indirectly, a copy of such document need not be served on the respondent. What S. 81(3) enjoins is that a true copy of the election petition has to be served on the respondents including the elected candidate. When a document forms an integral part of an election petition containing material facts or particulars of corrupt practice, then a copy of the election petition without such a document is not complete and cannot be said to be a true copy of the elec- tion petition. Copy of such document must be served on the respondents."

23. In Mahendra Pal v. Ram Dass Malanger and others, (2000) 1 SCC 261, Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the provisions of Section 83(1)(a) of the Act and drawn the distinction between the words "material facts" and "particulars" and held that the facts which are essential to disclose a complete cause of action are "material facts" and are essentially required to be pleaded. On the other hand "particulars" are details of the case set up by the party and are such pleas which are necessary to amplify, revise or explain material facts. The function of "particulars" is, thus, to present a full picture of the cause of action to make the opposite party understand the case that has been set up against him which he has required to meet. In Paragraph No. 7 of the report in Mahendra Pal (supra), Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:-

Section 83(1) (a) of the Act mandates that in order to constitute a cause of action, all material facts, that is, the basic and preliminary facts which the petitioner is bound under the law to substantiate in order to succeed, have to be pleaded in an election petition. Whether in an election petition, a particular fact is material or not and as such required to be pleaded is a question which depends upon the nature of the charge levelled and the facts and circumstances of each case. The distinction between `material facts' and `particulars' has been explained by this Court in a large number of cases and we need not refer to all those decided cases. Facts which are essential to disclose a complete cause of action are material facts and are essentially required to be pleaded. On the other hand "particulars" are details of the case set up by the party and are such pleas which are necessary to amplify, refine or explain material facts. The function of particulars is, thus, to present a full picture of the cause of action to make the opposite party understand the case that has been set up against him and which he is required to meet. The distinction between `material facts' and `material particulars' is indeed important because different consequences follow from a deficiency of such facts or particulars in the pleadings. Failure to plead even a single material fact leads to an incomplete cause of action and incomplete allegations of such a charge are liable to be struck off under Order 6, Rule 16, Code of Civil Procedure. In the case of a petition suffering from deficiency of material particulars the Court has the discretion to allow the petitioner to supply the required particulars even after the expiry of limitation. Thus, whereas it may be permissible for a party to furnish particulars even after the period of limitation for filling an election petition has expired, with permission of the Court, no material fact unless already pleaded, can be permitted to be introduced, after the expiry of the period of limitation.".

24. In Anil Vasudev Salgaonkar (2009) 9 SCC 310 (Para 61) Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the provisions of Section 83(1)(a) of the Act regarding setting forth of the material facts of the alleged corrupt practice and held as under:-

"58.There is no definition of "material facts" either in the Representation of Peoples Act, 1951 nor in the Code of Civil Procedure. In a series of judgments, this court has laid down that all facts necessary to formulate a complete cause of action should be termed as "material facts". All basic and primary facts which must be proved by a party to establish the existence of cause of action or defence are material facts. "Material facts" in other words mean the entire bundle of facts which would constitute a complete cause of action. 64. This court in Harkirat Singh's case [Harkirat Singh v. Amrinder Singh, (2005) 13 SCC 51] tried to give various meanings of "material facts". The relevant paragraph 48 of the said judgment is reproduced as under: (SCC pp. 526-27)

"The expression 'material facts' has neither been defined in the Act nor in the Code. According to the dictionary meaning, 'material' means 'fundamental', 'vital', 'basic', 'cardinal', 'central', 'crucial', 'decisive', 'essential', 'pivotal', indispensable', 'elementary' or 'primary'. [Burton's Legal Thesaurus, (3rd Edn.); p.349]. The phrase 'material facts', therefore, may be said to be those facts upon which a party relies for his claim or defence. In other words, 'material facts' are facts upon which the plaintiff's cause of action or the defendant's defence depends. What particulars could be said to be 'material facts' would depend upon the facts of each case and no rule of universal application can be laid down. It is, however, absolutely essential that all basic and primary facts which must be proved at the trial by the party to establish the existence of a cause of action or defence are material facts and must be stated in the pleading by the party."

59. In the context of a charge of corrupt practice, "material facts" would mean all basic facts constituting the ingredients of the particular corrupt practice alleged, which the petitioner (respondent herein) is bound to substantiate before he can succeed on that charge. It is also well-settled that if "material facts" are missing they cannot be supplied after expiry of period of limitation for filing the election petition and the pleading becomes deficient.

60. According to the appellant, in the election petition, there was no averment whether the bore wells were dug with the consent and/or active knowledge of the appellant. This averment was absolutely imperative and the failure to mention such an important averment in the petition is fatal for the election-petitioner (respondent herein) and the election petition is liable to be summarily dismissed on that ground.

61. The legal position has been crystallized by a series of the judgments of this Court that all those facts which are essential to clothe the election petitioner with a complete cause of action are "material facts" which must be pleaded, and the failure to place even a single material fact amounts to disobedience of the mandate of Section 83(1)(a) of the Act."

(Emphasis supplied by me.)

25. It is relevant to mention at the cost of repetition that the present election petition has been filed by election-petitioner on the ground that the respondent- returned candidate was not qualified as his age was below the minimum age prescribed in Article 173(b)

of the Constitution of India. The present election petition has not been filed on the ground of corrupt practice committed by returned candidate as provided in Clause (b) of Sub- Section 1 of Section 100. The judgment in the case of Mulayam Singh Yadav v. Dharampal Yadav and others, 2001(5) SC 242 (paras 7, 10, 12 and 13) relied by learned counsel for the respondent was on the facts and questions that Schedule 14 to the election petition and video cassette therein referred to is an integral part of the election petition and whether the failure to file the original in Court along with the election petition attracts Section 81 and, thereafter, Section 86(1) of the Act. On the said facts Hon'ble Supreme Court held that video cassette mentioned and verified in Schedule 14 is an integral part of the election petition and that it should have been filed in Court along with copies thereof, first serving it upon the respondent to the election petition. Such are not the facts involved in the present election petition. The present election petition has been filed solely on the ground that respondent returned candidate was not qualified as on the date of filing the nomination paper and on the date of contesting the election inasmuch as his age was below the minimum prescribed age in Article 173(b) of the Constitution of India and in support, copy of Secondary School Exam Result, 2007 containing the date of birth of the respondent- returned candidate, has also been filed along with the election petition.

26. Learned counsel for the respondent has also relied upon a judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Jyoti Basu and others vs. Debi Ghosal and others, AIR 1982 SC 983(1) (paras 7 and 8) which lays down the law that right to elect is neither a fundamental right nor a common law right but it is pure and simple a statutory right. The election petition is a statutory proceeding to which neither the common law nor the principles of equity apply but only applies to which the statute makes and applies. It is a special jurisdiction and a special jurisdiction has always to be exercised in accordance with the statute creating it. Outside of statute, there is no right to elect, no right to be elected and no right to dispute an election. Statutory creations they are, and therefore subject to statutory limitation. This judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court also does not support the case of the respondent inasmuch as the election-petitioner has set forth in the election petition a concise statement of the material facts on which he relied as is evident from Paragraph No. 25 of the election petition. The next judgment in the case of M. Karunanidhi v. H. V. Handa and others, AIR 1983 SC 558 rendered by two Judges Bench and relied by learned counsel for the respondent was considered by a three Judges Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of A. Madan Mohan (supra) and in Paragraph No. 14 and 15 of the report (SCC) the ratio of decision in three Judges Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sahodrabai Rai (supra) has been reiterated.

27. In view of the discussion made above, I find that material facts are not lacking in the election petition. Copies of material documents have also been filed along with the election petition. The election petition contains material facts and particulars. Therefore, the third objection of the respondent deserves rejection and is hereby rejected. The Question No. C is answered accordingly.

Conclusion:

28. (i) Mere absence of copy of a page bearing seal and stamp of the Stamp Vendor in the true copy of the election petition supplied by the petitioner to the respondent can not be construed to be an omission or variation of vital nature. Therefore even if, it could be construed as a defect, it was not a defect of vital nature attracting the consequences of Section 86(1) of the Representation of People Act, 1951 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Act'). Therefore, I hold that there was no failure on the part of the election-petitioner to comply with the last part of Sub-Section 3 of Section 81 of the Act. Consequently, Section 86(1) of the Act is not attracted and the election petition cannot be dismissed on allegation of failure to comply the provisions of Section 81 of the Act. It is not that every minor variation in form but it is only a vital defect in substance which can lead to a finding of non-compliance with the provisions of Section 81(3) of the Act with the consequences under Section 86(1) to follow.

(ii) Thus, absence of Page No. 37 in the copy of the election petition served upon the respondent which merely copy of back page of the stamp paper containining stamp and seal of the Stamp Vendor, cannot be said to be a variation in the copy of the election petition from the original calculated to mislead a reasonable person. It is not a defect of vital nature or a substantial variation. Therefore, the copy of the election petition served by the election petitioner upon the respondent is the true copy of the election petition filed by the petitioner. Consequently, objection in this regard by the respondent is rejected. Question No. 'A' is answered accordingly.

(iii) Respondent has not disputed before me the correctness of the roll no., his name, parents name and date of birth as mentioned in the web copy of Secondary School Exam Result, 2007 available on the website of Central Board of Secondary Education. During the course of dictation of this order, learned counsel for the respondent interrupted and stated that the respondent has recently applied to the Central Board of Secondary Education for correcting his date of birth as 30.09.1990 in place of recorded date of birth i.e. 01.01.1993. Even this statement made by learned counsel for the respondent cannot take away the cause of action which arose to the election-petitioner to file the present election petition inasmuch as the date of birth of the respondent at the time of filing of the nomination paper and at the time of contesting the election in question was 01.01.1993, as per his Class X mark-sheet/ certificate and, thus, prima facie, the respondent was ineligible to contest the election in view of the provisions of Article 173(b) of the Constitution of India. Thus, the objection of the respondent regarding cause of action, deserves to be rejected and is hereby rejected. Question No. 'B' is answered accordingly.

(iv) When a document forms an integral part of an election petition containing material facts or particulars of corrupt practice, then a copy of the election petition without such a document is not complete and cannot be said to be a true copy of the election petition. Copy of such document must be served on the respondents.

(v) The facts which are essential to disclose a complete cause of action are "material facts" and are essentially required to be pleaded. On the other hand "particulars" are details of the case set up by the party and are such pleas which are necessary to amplify, revise or explain material facts. The function of "particulars" is, thus, to present a full picture of the cause of action to make the opposite party understand the case that has been set up against him which he has required to meet. Whether in an election petition, a particular fact is material or not and as such required to be pleaded is a question which depends upon the nature of the charge levelled and the facts and circumstances of each case.

(vi) I find that material facts are not lacking in the election petition. Copies of material documents have also been filed along with the election petition. The election petition contains material facts and particulars. Therefore, the third objection of the respondent deserves rejection and is hereby rejected. The Question No. C is answered accordingly.

29. For all the reasons afore-stated I do not find any substance in Paper No. A-11 being application no. 3 of 2018 under Section 86(1) of the Act, 1951 and Paper No. A-10 being application no. 3 of 2018 under order VI Rule 16 read with Order 7 Rule 11(a) of the Code of Civil Procedure. Therefore, both the applications are rejected.

30. Written statement dated 11.11.2017 was filed by respondent on 14.11.2017 and the election-petitioner was granted three weeks' time to file reply to it. On 12.01.2018, the election-petitioner has filed the replication dated 10.01.2018.

A. Election Petition - Civil Procedure Code – Order VI Rule 2 – Pleading – Meaning and Object – 'Pleading' means plaint or written statement - Every pleading shall contain only a statement in concise form of the material facts on which the party pleading relies for his claim or defence but not the evidence by which they are to be proved – Thus in a pleading the facts and not evidence are required to be pleaded - Object is twofold - First is to afford the other side intimation regarding the particular of facts of the case so that it may be met by the other side and Second is to enable the court to determine what is really the issues between the parties. (Para 16, 17 & 21)

B. Election Petition – Representation of People Act, 1951 – 83(1)(A) - Civil Procedure Code – Order VI Rule 2(1) – Meaning of expression 'Material facts' - Section 83(1)(a) requires that an election petition shall contain a concise statement of material facts on which the petitioner relies - The expression 'material facts' and the expression 'full particulars' have not been defined in the Code and Act. These two expressions have been judicially interpreted by Hon'ble Supreme Court – It is settled that all those primary facts which must be proved at the trial by a party to establish the existence of a cause of action or his defence, are 'material facts' – It must be pleaded and failure to plead even a single material fact amounts to disobedience of the mandate of sec. 83(1) (a) – 'Particulars' are the details of the case set up by the party – 'Particulars' serve the purpose of finishing touches to the basic contours of a picture already drawn, to make it full, more detailed and more informative. (Para 22 & 24)

C. Election Petition - Cause of Action – It implies a right to sue - Material facts which are imperative for the suitor to allege and prove, constitute cause of action - In every action, there has to be a cause of action, if not, the plaint or the writ petition shall be rejected summarily. (Para 35)

D. Election Petition –Civil Procedure Code – Order VI Rule 16, Order VII Rule 11 – Proceeding – Striking out the pleading - If the pleadings in various paragraphs are unnecessary or scandalous or frivolous or vexatious or tend to prejudice, embarrass or delay the fair trail of the suit or which is otherwise an abuse of the process of the Court, such paragraphs of the petition are liable to be struck out under Order VI Rule 16 C.P.C. at any stage of the proceedings - If after striking out the pleadings, the court finds that no triable issues remain to be considered, it has power to reject the election petition under Order VII Rule 11 (Para 36 and 37)

E. Election Petition - Representation of People Act, 1951 – Section 36 – Nomination - Defect of substantial character and Defect not of substantial character - Defect of substantial character are grounds for rejection of nomination paper which have been provided in sub-section (2) of Section 36 of the Act, 1951 - Section 33 provides for presentation of nomination paper and requirements for a valid nomination - Instances of defects which are not of substantial character, are provided in the proviso to sub-Section (4) of Section 33; the proviso to Rule 4 of the Rules, 1961 or any minor mistake - Generally all such defects which do not constitute grounds of rejection of nomination paper under 36(2) may be said to be the defects not of substantial character. 2. Briefly stated facts of the present case are that election for Member of Parliament, from 78-Bhadohi parliamentary constituency of District Bhadohi was held as per following program:-

3. In the aforesaid election, 32 candidates including the election petitioner and the respondent, filed their nomination. Nomination papers of 20 candidates were rejected by the returning officer. On 24.04.2019 after withdrawal of nomination papers, the returning officer issued list of contesting candidates i.e. 12 candidates in Form 7A dated 26.04.2019 along with symbols allotted to them and other requisite particulars including photographs of candidates etc. As per aforesaid list of contesting candidates, the election petitioner was contesting the election as candidate of Bahujan Samaj Party and the respondent was contesting the election as candidate of Bhartiya Janta Party. Copy of form 7A has been filed as Annexure-18 to the election petition. After counting, the returning officer declared the result. The election petitioner secured 4,66,414 votes while the respondent secured 5,10,029 votes. Thus, the respondent was declared elected.

4. In this election petition, the election petitioner sought the following reliefs:

"(i) The declaration of the election of respondent - Shri Ramesh Chand as a Member of Parliament from 78 - Bhadohi Parliamentary Constituency of District Bhadohi, be set aside and be declared null and void.

(ii) Grant any other and further relief which this Hon'ble Court may deem fit and proper in the facts and circumstances of the case;

(iii) Award the cost of petition in favour of the election petitioner."

5. Grounds for filing the present election petition are stated in para-17 of the election petition, as under:-

"17. That, the election petitioner is challenging the validity of the election of Respondent -Ramesh Chand as a Member Parliament from 78 - Bhadohi Parliamentary Constituency of District Bhadohi on following amongst other grounds:

GROUNDS

(A) Because, the election of the returned candidate Shri Ramesh Chand as a Member Parliament from 78 - Bhadohi Parliamentary Constituency of District Bhadohi is illegal and void due to improper acceptance of his nomination paper by the Returning Officer, which materially affect the result of the election.

(B) Because, the election of the returned candidate Shri Ramesh Chand as a Member Parliament from 78 - Bhadohi Parliamentary Constituency of District Bhadohi is illegal and void due to improper rejection of the nomination paper of Shri Shrikant, S/o Lal Bihari, R/o Village - Hariharpur, Post - Sanda Suriyawan, District - Bhadohi, and due to improper rejection of the nomination papers of other candidates.

(C) Because, the result of the election, so far as it concern the returned candidate, is materially affected due to non-compliance of the provisions of the Constitution of India, Representation of People Act, 1951 and the Rules & Orders made therein, as well as due to non-compliance of the statuary orders and instructions & Orders made therein, as well as due non-compliance of the statutory orders and instructions & guidelines issued by the Election Commission of India from time to time by exercising the powers under Article 324 of the Constitution of India."

6. In paragraph-18 of the election petition, the election petitioner has stated as under:

"18. That, the concise statement of the material facts in respect of the Grounds - (A), (B) & (C) are as under:-"

7. Thereafter in paragraphs-19 to 56, the election petitioner has made averments which according to him, as stated in paragraph-18; are the concise statement of the material facts in respect of grounds -(A), (B) and (C).

8. The Application A-9 under Order VI Rule 16, C.P.C. has been filed by the respondent winning candidate praying to strike down paragraphs Nos.8, 9, 10, 14, 16,17, 22, 23, 24, 25, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 52 and 53. The election petitioner has filed objection A-15 and reply A-17 has been filed by the applicant-respondent.

9. The Application A-10 under Order VII Rule 11, C.P.C., has been filed by the respondent winning candidate praying to dismiss the election petition being barred by law and also for want of disclosure of material facts and disclosure of cause of action. The election petitioner has filed objection A-16 and reply A-18 has been filed by the applicant-respondent.

10. The Application A-11 under Order VIII Rule 1, C.P.C. has been filed by the respondent winning candidate praying to grant three months' time for filing written statement.

11. Since grounds for Application A-9 and Application A-10 filed by the respondent winning candidate are common or related to each other, therefore, with the consent of learned counsels for the parties, all the three applications have been heard together for disposal.

SUBMISSIONS:-

12. Sri Manish Goyal, learned senior counsel for the applicant-respondent/ winning candidate submits, as under:-

(i) Election petition is not a suit in common law or action in equity. Election of returned candidate cannot be lightly interfered with. It has to be seen whether the allegations made in the election petition constitute material facts and in absence thereof, election petition deserves to be dismissed.

(ii) As per own case of the election petitioner, the election petition has been filed on the grounds mentioned in Section 100(1)(c) and Section 100(1)(d)(i)/(iv) but the election petitioner has not stated material facts in the election petition in terms of Section 83 of The Representation of People Act, 1951 (hereinafter referred to as "The Act 1951') with respect to the grounds (A), (B) and (C) mentioned in paragraph-17 of the election petition.

(iii) Perusal of contents of paragraphs of the election petition (which he read extensively) makes it clear that it completely lacks averments which may constitute material facts to challenge the election on the Grounds (A), (B) and (C). Election petition also does not disclose cause of action. Therefore, the paragraphs as mentioned in prayer clause of the Application A-9 are liable to be struck out and the election petition deserves to be dismissed as barred by law and also for want of disclosure of material facts and cause of action.

(iv) The nomination paper of another candidate namely Shri Shrikant was rejected. It suffered from several defects. Being independent candidate, he required 10 proposers under Section 33 of the Act 1951 but there were only eight proposers. He has also left blank the columns 2 and 3 of his nomination paper and not mentioned even assembly constituency of the proposers. Material facts regarding Shrikant to be independent candidate is lacking.

(v) In paragraphs 20 and 45 of the election petition, vague allegation of dual standard has been made with regard to 20 candidates whose nomination papers were rejected but it has not been disclosed what were the dual standards.

(vi) The election petitioner has also alleged that the nomination form of the respondent suffered from similar and identical defect on which the nomination of 20 candidates were rejected. Copies of the rejection orders have been filed but perusal thereof shows that the nomination form of 20 candidates were rejected on the basis of such defects which are non-existent in the case of applicant-respondent.

(vii) In his objection, the election petitioner has alleged that material facts have been stated in paragraph Nos. 1 to 16 but perusal of paras-1 to 16 of the election petition shows that it contains no material facts. Vague averments have been made by the election petitioner in the election petition.

(viii) Paragraph-16 of the election petition is vague. Paragraph Nos. 8, 10, 16, 24, 25, 44 and 45 lacks material facts with reference to Ground (B). Therefore, the statutory provisions of Section 100(1)(c) of the Act, 1951, are not satisfied.

(ix) The averments made in election petition with reference to Grounds (A) and (C), do not contain reference of any provisions or circular or guidelines which stood violated. Pleadings in this regard in paragraph-28 of the election petition are vague.

(x) The respondent was a candidate of BJP. He filed four sets of nomination papers, out of which three were not accepted and one was accepted by the returning officer. There is no pleading that nomination paper of the respondent accepted by the returning officer suffers from any illegality. Therefore, the Ground (A) taken by the election-petitioner referable to Section 100(1)(d)(i) of the Act, 1951 to hold the election of the respondent to be void due to alleged improper acceptance of nomination paper by the returning officer, has no factual foundation and completely lacks disclosure of material facts in this regard.

(xi) The averments made by the election petitioner with reference to Grounds (A) and (C) in the election petition are either irrelevant or vague or lack material facts.

(xii) Paragraph-14 is irrelevant and not related to Grounds (A), (B) and (C).

(xiii) Paragraph-16 is vague and vexatious. Paragraphs 22 and 23 are not relevant for acceptance of nomination papers. Paragraph-24 and 25 lacks material facts relating to Ground (B).

(xiv) It has not been stated that Shrikant was contesting election as independent candidate. Since he was independent candidate and there were not ten proposers. Hence his nomination paper was not a nomination in the eyes of law.

(xv) Contents of paragraph-28 are vague inasmuch as it has not been stated that which affidavit filed by the respondent was not proper.

(xvi) The alleged defect mentioned in para-29 is not of substantial nature because the BJP has itself given certificate that respondent is the official candidate of BJP and thereafter list was published by the returning officer showing respondent as candidate of BJP.

(xvii) Paragraphs 30 and 46 of the election petition impute motive of corrupt practice, i.e. undue influence upon voters but it is not a ground to challenge the election of the respondent in the election petition. Therefore, it has no material facts with reference to the grounds of the election petition.

(xviii) There is no pleading in the election petition that the newspaper containing news item dated 26.04.2019 has circulation in the constituency and that the loyal voters of BSP read it. Therefore, pleadings are vague and do not constitute material facts.

(xix) Form C-1 is for publication by candidate, From C-2 is publication by political property, Form C-3 is the reminder by the returning officer to a candidate for publication. Therefore, these averments are not part of nomination paper.

(xx) Paragraphs-44 and 45 of the election petition are vague. No material facts have been stated.

(xxi) Para-47 are irrelevant to the Grounds (A), (B) and (C) of the election petition. Para-48 refers to Form

26 of a candidate of a different constituency therefore, which is not relevant. Hence, pleading is irrelevant. Para-49 is vague and lack material facts. Paras 52 and 53 refers to the provisions of Section 33 and 33A of the Act, 1951 but there is no disclosure of fact that how these provisions have been violated by the respondent.

(xxii) Para-53 states contravention of provisions of Act, 1951, provision of the Conduct of Elections Rules, 1961 and contravention of orders, guidelines and instructions of the Election Commission of India issued from time to time in filing affidavit in Form 26 but it has not been disclosed which provision, order or guideline has been violated and how it has been violated.

(xxiii) Pleadings can be struck down in part under Order VI Rule 16, C.P.C. The distinct ground must have distinct material fact.

(xxiv) If paragraphs as mentioned in Application A-9 are struck down, then remaining paragraphs shall not constitute material facts to give a cause of action to challenge the election of the respondent returned candidate. Therefore, the election petition is liable to be dismissed under Order VII Rule 11(a), C.P.C.

(xxv) Mentioning of BSP in clause (4) of part-kha of From 26 stood rectified in view of Section 38 of the Act, 1951 on allotment of symbol of BJP and on issuance of list of candidates under Rule 10(4) of The Conduct of Election Rules, 1961 in Form-7A. That apart there was no error in Form-26 and it was merely a typographical error which is not of substantial nature which will result in substantial defect.

IN REJOINDER:-

(xxvi) In paragraph 8 of the election petition, the election petitioner has not disclosed material facts with regard to allegation of pre-planned mechanism.

(xxvii) In paragraph 9 of the election petition, the election petitioner has not disclosed any material facts for the allegation of improper acceptance of nomination paper of Sri Ramesh Chandra (the respondent returned candidate). The objection in this regard has been raised by the applicant returned candidate in paragraph 7 of the Application A-9.

(xxviii) Pleadings in paragraph-10 of the election petition are vague. In paragraph 6, it has been stated that election petitioner and 31 other candidates, total 32 candidates have filed nomination papers. In paragraph 8, it has been stated that nomination papers of 20 candidates were rejected. It has not been disclosed who withdrawn his nomination.

(xxix) In Paragraph 10, it has been stated that after withdrawal of nomination papers, the Returning Officer prepared list of contesting candidates containing 12 names. Therefore, the pleadings are quite vague with regard to the rejection of nomination papers and withdrawal of nomination papers. The applicant - respondent has made averments in this regard in paragraph 8 of the application A-9.

(xxx) In paragraph-14 of the election petition, the pleadings are incomplete as it does not disclose at which polling booth, polling was done through ballot paper votes.

(xxxi) Contents of paragraph-16 of the election petition are absolutely vague inasmuch as it does not contain any specific pleading as to which provision of Act, 1951 was violated by the Returning Officer by accepting nomination of the respondent winning candidate and how it materially affected the result of the election. Averments in this regard have been made in paragraph-10 of the Application A-9.

(xxxii) The nomination papers of 20 candidates whose nomination was rejected by the Returning Officer, have not been filed except one candidate, namely, Sri Shrikant as referred in Ground-B under paragraph-17 of the election petition. Thus, with respect to the remaining 19 candidates, there is no material facts have been stated in relation to their nomination paper. With regard to nomination of Sri Shrikant, there is complete absence of material facts in the election petition that the said Sri Shrikant was an independent candidate and that his nomination paper was supported by ten proposals, who were electors of the constituency. Thus, there is absence of material facts in the election petition.

(xxxiv) Paragraph 28 of the election petition is wholly vague, irrelevant and frivolous inasmuch this paragraph does not disclose at all that which conditions as prescribed under the Act or the Rules or under any instructions, have not been followed. Merely vague allegations have been made. Objection in this regard has been taken in paragraph 15 of the Application A-9 .

(xxxv) The averments in paragraph-29 of the election petition are wholly irrelevant inasmuch as it refers to affidavit of the respondent filed by him while contesting election for member of U.P. Legislative Assembly from Majhwa constituency District Mirzapur in the year 2017 as a candidate of Bahujan Samaj Party. The controversy involved in the election petition is with respect to the election of the applicant-respondent for member of Lok Sabha.

(xxxvi) Pleadings in para-30 of the election petition are vague and irrelevant as has also been stated in para-17 of the Application A-9.

(xxxvii) In Part-A, Clause-23 in the affidavit in Form-26 as well as in nomination paper, the applicant-respondent has clearly mentioned and declared that he is a candidate of Bhartiya Janta Party. He was set up by the Bhartiya Janta Party and proof in this regard in the form of symbols etc. as given by the National President and the State President were also filed before the Returning Officer. Therefore, mention of the words 'Bahujan Samaj Party' in Part-B, Clause 11(4) of the affidavit in Form-26, is by inadvertence and has no consequence.

(xxxviii) Averments in paragraphs-32 and 33 of the election petition are the allegation of corrupt practice which is not a ground in the present election petition. The pleading so made are vague and frivolous. Objection in this regard has been taken in paragraph-18 of the Application A-9.

(xxxix) Clause (6A) in Form-26 (Affidavit) was inserted by amendment dated 10.10.2018 (Pages-115 to 121) of the election petition which requires a candidate to give full and upto date information to his political party about all pending criminal cases against him and all cases of conviction as given in paragraphs-5 and 6 in Form-26 of affidavit. This clause (6A) is referable to Forms-C1, C2 and C3, which are not part of affidavit and which are supplied to a candidate along with nomination paper for submission to his political party. The words 'Not Applicable' as per instructions printed just below the said clause requires merely a candidate to whom this was not applicable. The candidate to whom it is applicable, need not to write any thing in Clause (6A) inasmuch as he had to make a declaration in the form C1, C2 and C3 to his political party.

(xl) Pleadings in paragraphs-35 to 41, 43 to 49, 52 to 53 are vague and do not disclose material facts. Objection in this regard has been taken in the relevant paragraphs of the Application A-9.

(xli) Clauses left blank in Part-3A of the nomination papers were not required to be filled inasmuch as in the preceding clause, the applicant-respondent has mentioned 'No'. The further clauses were required to be filled only if the answer was in 'Yes'. Therefore, the averments made in paragraph-41 of the election petition are wholly vague and do not disclose any material facts.

(xlii) For the purposes of Application A-9 under Order VI Rule 16, C.P.C., only the pleadings are to be seen and not the arguments. On bare reading of the pleadings made in the election petition, it is evident that it does not disclose material facts or cause of action.

13. Sri N.K. Pandey, learned counsel for the election-petitioner submits as under:-

(i) In none of the paragraphs of the Application A-9 and A-10, the applicant-respondent has pointed out or stated that which paragraphs of the election petition are unnecessary or vexatious and how they are unnecessary or vexatious.

(ii) The applicant respondent has not mentioned in his application that which material facts are lacking in the election petition.

(iii) The requirements of valid nomination paper are given in Section 33 of the Act, 1951, which were not complied with by the respondent winning candidate. The affidavit was filed in old formate and not in the revised prescribed formate as circulated by the Election Commission of India, vide circular dated 28.02.2019 (Annexure-6 to the election petition).

(iv) The affidavit in Form-26 filed by the applicant-respondent suffered from the following defects:-

(a) Newly added clause (6A) is missing

(b) In clause 10 of Part-A of the affidavit, description of the educational qualification has not been given and although it has been mentioned in Part-B Clause 11 of the affidavit.

(c) In part-B clause 11, the name of constituency and number has been wrongly mentioned as 397 Majhawa Uttar Pradesh instead of 78 Parliamentary Constituency, Bhadohi.

(d) In Part-B clause 11(4), the name of political party has been mentioned as Bahujan Samaj Party.

(e) In Part-B Clause 11(7)(ga) regarding last income tax return of dependants has been left blank.

(v) The Election Commission of India has issued orders, instructions and circulars in exercise of powers conferred under Article 324 of the Constitution of India. But para 5.2 of the said circular contained in the handbook for returning officer, has not been followed.

(vi) The election petitioner has filed this election petition on the grounds as provided under Section 100(1)(c) and Section 100 (1)(d)(i) and (iv), which are existing in the present election petition on the basis of material facts stated therein. Therefore, the pleadings cannot be struck off as prayed in Application A-9 and the election petition cannot be dismissed under Order VII Rule 11(a), C.P.C. as prayed in Application A-10. Both the applications deserve to be rejected.

(vii) Since the election petitioner has complied with the provisions of Sections 81 and 82 of the Act, 1951, therefore, the election petition cannot be dismissed in view of provisions of Section 86 of the Act.

(viii) The concise statement of facts relating to Grounds (A), (B) and (C) have been given in different paragraphs of the election petition, as under:

Relevant Paragraphs of election petition	Ground (A) under Section 100(1)(d)(i)	Ground (B) under Section 100(1)(c)	Ground (C) under Section 100(1)(d)(iv)
	Paras-19 to 21, 26 to 43 and 46 to 52	Paras-24, 25, 44, and 45	Para-53

(ix) Paras 1 to 16 are relevant as it contain general information relating to the Parliamentary Election, 2019.

(x) While rejecting the nomination of paper, another candidate Shrikant, no opportunity was afforded to him under the proviso to Section 36(5) of the Act, 1951 so as to rectify the errors whereas opportunity was afforded to the respondent winning candidate. This shows that the returning officer adopted dual standard.

(xi) While considering primary objection as raised in Applications A-9 and A-10, only pleadings are to be seen as per provisions of Order VI Rule 2 and Order VII Rule 14, C.P.C.

(xii) In Part 3-ka of nomination paper in Form 2A, the clauses- 3, 4, 8 and 9, have been left blank. Therefore, the said nomination paper of the applicant-respondent winning candidate was incomplete and was improperly accepted by the returning officer.

(xiii) Forms C-1, C-2 and C-3, were left blank by the respondent winning candidate.

(xiv) The District Election Officer made a communication to the Chief Electoral Officer, Uttar Pradesh Lucknow dated 25.04.2019 that in Part-kha at serial No.4 of the affidavit, the applicant respondent/ winning candidate has mentioned Bahujan Samaj Party whereas in Part ka at Serial No.1 of the said affidavit. Along with the nomination paper he filed Form-A issued by Sri Amit Anil Chandra Shah, the National President of Bhartiya Janta Party and Form-'B' issued by Dr. Mahendra Nath Pandey, State President of the Bhartiya Janta Party mentioning the applicant-respondent to be the candidate of the Bhartiya Janta Party. None objected to the aforesaid news at the time of scrutiny of the nomination paper. Therefore, the nomination paper of the applicant respondent was valid. The news item with regard to mentioning of Bahujan Samaj Party by the applicant respondent in Clause 4 Part-kha of From 26, was published in the newspaper 'Amar Ujala' Varanasi Edition on 26.04.2019 in which it was mentioned that the election petitioner is the candidate set up by the Bahujan Samaj Party. The electors of the constituency read the newspaper Amar Ujala which created doubts and confusion amongst weaker, down-trodden and illiterate people of constituency, specially of Scheduled Caste community, who voted in favour of the applicant-respondent in all five assembly of 78 Parliamentary Constituency, Bhadohi, that the returned candidate, i.e. the applicant-respondent is set up by Bahujan Samaj Party. Therefore, the communication made by the District Election Officer, Bhadohi to the Chief Electoral Officer, U.P. Lucknow dated 25.04.2019 that the matter came to his notice through media, was incorrect inasmuch as the election petitioner has sent a letter dated 24.04.2019 to the District Election Officer, Bhodohi, Observer, 78 Parliamentary Constituency, Bhadohi, the Chief Electoral Officer, U.P. Lucknow and the Chief Election Commission of India, New Delhi by registered post on 25.04.2019 at 17:17 hours from Allahabad. This objection was also submitted before the Returning Officer at the time of scrutiny but no acknowledgement was taken.

(xv) In paragraph-53 of the election petition, the election petitioner has mentioned the provisions of the R.P. Act, 1951, the Conduct of Elections Rules, 1961 and the orders, guidelines and instructions issued by the Election Commission of India from time to time, to have been violated by the applicant-respondent, which resulted in improper acceptance of nomination paper by the returning officer.

(xvi) Although clause (b) of sub-Section (2) of Section 36 of the Act, 1951 provides for rejection of nomination paper on failure to comply with any of the provisions of Sections 33 or 34 of the Act, yet for deficiency in the affidavit in Form-26 under Section 33A read with Rule 4A, the nomination paper was liable to be rejected as also held by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Resurgence India vs. E.C.I. And another, AIR 2014 SC 344 (Paras-13, 14, 18, 19, 20 and 27).

(xvii) Once it has been established that the nomination paper of the applicant-respondent/ winning candidate was improperly accepted by the returning officer, there is no requirement to prove that the result of the election of the returned candidate is materially affected. Reliance is placed upon the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sri Mairembam Prithviraj alias Prithviraj Singh vs. Sri Pukhrem Sharat Chandra Singh, AIR 2016 SC 5087 (Paras-8, 20, 19, 22 and 23).

(xviii) Pleadings has to be read as a whole and not in isolation. Reliance is placed upon the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme in Udhav Singh vs. Madhav Rao Scindia, (AIR 1976 SC 744) (para 30).

(xix) An election petition or a suit cannot be dismissed on the ground that the pleadings are weak. The submission of learned counsel for the applicant-respondent/ winning candidate merely illustrates that allegedly the pleadings are weak. Therefore, the election petition cannot be dismissed on this ground. Learned counsel for the applicant has contradicted to it and said that it is not the argument of the applicant-respondent that the pleadings are weak rather it was submitted that it does not contain material facts relatable to Grounds (A), (B) and (C).

(xx) Cause of action is a bundle of facts which are required to be proved for obtaining relief and for which the material facts are required to be stated but not the evidences. Reliance is placed on the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme court in Mayar (H.K.) Ltd. Vs. Owners & Parties Vessels M.V Fortune Express & others, 2006 (3) SCC 100 (Paras-11, 12 and 18), Sopan Sukhdeo Sable vs. Assistant Charity Commissioner & others, 2004 (3) SCC 137 (Paras-17, 18 and 19), D. Ramachandran vs. P.V. Jankiraman and others, JT 1999 (2) SC 94 (Paras-8, 9 and 10) and Sri H.D. Revanna vs. Sri G. Putta Swami Gowda and others, JT 1999 (1) SC 126 (para-27).

(xxi) Pleadings of election petition are not required to be deleted under Order VI Rule 16, C.P.C. The reliance is placed upon the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Madiraju Venkata Ramana Raju vs. Peddireddigari Ramachandra Reddy and others, AIR 2018 SC 3012 (Paras-10, 11, 14, 22, 24, 25, 29, 30 and 33).

DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS:

14. I have carefully considered the submissions of learned counsels for the parties.

15. Before I proceed to examine rival submissions, it would be appropriate to reproduce relevant provisions of the Act, 1951 and the Conduct of Elections Rules, 1961 (hereinafter referred to "The Rules, 1961') and settled legal position on the point of material facts, striking out pleadings and rejection of election petition under Order VII Rule 1, C.P.C. The relevant provisions of the Act, 1951, the Rules 1961 and C.P.C. are reproduced below:

(6) The trial of an election petition shall, so far as is practicable consistently with the interests of justice in respect of the trial, be continued from day to day until its conclusion, unless the High Court finds the adjournment of the trial beyond the following day to be necessary for reasons to be recorded.

(7) Every election petition shall be tried as expeditiously as possible and endeavour shall be made to conclude the trial within six months from the date on which the election petition is presented to the High Court for trial.

Provided that the High Court shall have the discretion to refuse, for reasons to be recorded in writing, to examine any witness or witnesses if it is of the opinion that the evidence of such witness or witnesses is not material for the decision of the petition or that the party

(b) that any corrupt practice has been committed by a returned candidate or his election agent or by any other person with the consent of a returned candidate or his election agent; or

(c) that any nomination has been improperly rejected; or

*(d) that the result of the election, in so far as it concerns a returned candidate, has been materially affected--

(i) by the improper acceptance of any nomination, or

(ii) by any corrupt practice committed in the interests of the returned candidate by an agent other than his election agent, or

(iii) by the improper reception, refusal or rejection of any vote or the reception of any vote which is void, or

(iv) by any non--compliance with the provisions of the Constitution or of this Act or of any rules or orders made under this Act, the High Court shall declare the election of the returned candidate to be void.

(2) If in the opinion of the High Court, a returned candidate has been guilty by an agent other than his election agent, of any corrupt practice but the High Court is satisfied--

(a) that no such corrupt practice was committed at the election by the candidate or his election agent, and every such corrupt practice was committed contrary to the orders, and 5 without the consent, of the candidate or his election agent;

(c) that the candidate and his election agent took all reasonable means for preventing the commission of corrupt practices at the election; and

(d) that in all other respects the election was free from any corrupt practice on the part of the candidate or any of his agents, then the High Court may decide that the election of the returned candidate is not void.

Rule 4A. Form of affidavit to be filed at the time of delivering nomination paper.--The candidate or his proposer, as the case may be, shall, at the time of delivering to the returning officer the nomination paper under sub-section (1) of*

(C) Code of Civil Procedure

ORDER VI Rule 1. Pleading.- "Pleading" shall mean plaint or written statement.

ORDER VI Rule 2. Pleading to state material facts and not evidence.-(1) Every pleading shall contain, and contain only a statement in a concise form of the material facts on which the party pleading relies for his claim or defence as the case may be, but not the evidence by which they are to be proved.

(2) Every pleading shall, when necessary, be divided into paragraphs, numbered consecutively, each allegation being, so far as is convenient, contained in a separate paragraph.

(3) Dates, sums and numbers shall be expressed in a pleading in figures as well as in words.

ORDER VI Rule 16. Striking out pleadings.-The Court may at any stage of the proceedings order to be struck out or amended any matter in any pleading-

(a) which may be unnecessary, scandalous, frivolous or vexatious, or

(b) which may tend to prejudice, embarrass or delay the fair trial of the suit, or

(c) which is otherwise an abuse of the process of the Court.

Order VII Rule 11. Rejection of plaint

The plaint shall be rejected in the following cases :-

(a) where it does not disclose a cause of action;

(b) where the relief claimed is undervalued, and the plaintiff, on being required by the Court to correct the valuation within a time to be fixed by the Court, fails to do so;

(c) where the relief claimed is properly valued but the plaint is written upon paper insufficiently stamped, and the plaintiff, on being required by the Court to supply the requisite stamp-paper within a time to be fixed by the Court, fails to do so;

(d) where the suit appears from the statement in the plaint to be barred by any law;

(e) where it is not filed in duplicate;

(f) where the plaintiff fails to comply with the provisions of Rule 9;

Provided that the time fixed by the Court for the correction of the valuation or supplying of the requisite stamp-papers shall not be extended unless the Court, for reasons to be recorded, is satisfied that the plaintiff was prevented by any cause of an exceptional nature from correcting the valuation or supplying the requisite stamp-papers, as the case may be, within the time fixed by the Court and that refusal to extend such time would cause grave injustice to the plaintiff.

Order VIII Rule 1. Written statement.- (1) The defendant shall, within thirty days from the date of service of summons on him, present a written statement of his defence:

Provided that where the defendant fails to file the written statement within the said period of thirty days, he shall be allowed to file the same on such other day, as may be specified by the Court, for reasons to be recorded in writing, but which shall not be later than ninety days from the date of service of summons.

PLEADINGS:

16. "Pleading' means plaint or written statement. As per Order VI Rule 2, C.P.C. every pleading shall contain, and contain only a statement in concise form of the material facts on which the party pleading relies for his claim or defence, as the case may be but not the evidence by which they are to be proved. Every pleading shall, when necessary, be divided into paragraphs, numbered consecutively, each allegation being, so far as is convenient, contained in a separate paragraph. Dates, sums and numbers shall be expressed in a pleading in figures as well as in words.

17. The object of Order VI Rule 2(1) is twofold. First is to afford the other side intimation regarding the particular of facts of the case so that it may be met by the other side. Second is to enable the court to determine what is really the issues between the parties. The words in the sub-rule "a statement in a concise form" do suggest that brevity should not be at the cost of setting out necessary facts but it does not mean niggling in the pleadings, vide Surendra Kashinath Rawat vs. Vinayak N. Joshi, AIR 1999 SC 162.

18. In Raj Narain vs. Smt. Indira Nehru Gandhi and another, (1972) 3 SCC 850 (para-19); Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:-

"19. Rules of pleadings are intended as aids for a fair trial and for reaching a just decision. An action at law should not be equated to a game of chess. Provisions of law are not mere formulaes to be observed as rituals. Beneath the words of a provision of law generally speaking, there lies a juristic principle. It is the duty ' of the court to ascertain that principle and implement it. ....."

19. In Udhav Singh vs. Madhav Rao Scindia, (AIR 1976 SC 744) (para 30), Hon'ble Supreme Court held that a pleading has to be read as a whole to ascertain its true import. It is not permissible to cull out a sentence or a passage and to read it out of the context, in isolation. Although it is the substance and not merely the form that has to be looked into, the pleading has to be construed as it stands without addition or subtraction of words, or change of its apparent grammatical sense. The intention of the party concerned is to be gathered, primarily, from the tenor and terms of his pleading taken as a whole.

20. In Bharat Singh and others vs. State of Haryana and others, (1988) 4 SCC 534 (para-13), Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"13. As has been already noticed, although the point as to profiteering by the State was pleaded in the writ petitions before the High Court as an abstract point of law, there was no reference to any material in support thereof nor was the point argued at the hearing of the writ petitions. Before us also, no particulars and no facts have been given in the special leave petitions or in the writ petitions or in any affidavit, but the point has been sought to be substantiated at the time of hearing by referring to certain facts stated in the said application by HSIDC. In our opinion, when a point which is ostensibly a point of law is required to be substantiated by facts, the party raising the point, if he is the writ petitioner, must plead and prove such facts by evidence which must appear from the writ petition and if he is the respondent, from the counter-affidavit. If the facts are not pleaded or the evidence in support of such facts is not annexed to the writ petition or to the counter-affidavit, as the case may be, the court will not entertain the point. In this context, it will not be out of place to point out that in this regard there is a distinction between a pleading under the Code of Civil Procedure and a writ petition or a counter-affidavit. While in a pleading, that is, a plaint or a written statement, the facts and not evidence are required to be pleaded, in a writ petition or in the counter-affidavit not only the facts but also the evidence in proof of such facts have to be pleaded and annexed to it. So, the point that has been raised before us by the appellants is not entertainable. But, in spite of that, we have entertained it to show that it is devoid of any merit."

21. Thus pleadings in a plaint or a written statement are statement in concise form of the material facts on which the party relies for his claim or defence. In a pleading, that is, a plaint or a written statement, the facts and not evidence are required to be pleaded. Although it is the substance and not merely the form that has to be looked into, the pleading has to be construed as it stands, without addition or subtraction of words, or change of its apparent grammatical sense. The intention of the party concerned is to be gathered primarily, from the tenor and terms of his pleading taken as a whole. Similar principles shall apply to pleadings in an Election Petition in view of Section 83 of the Act, 1951.

WHAT CONSTITUTE MATERIAL FACTS:-

22. The expression 'material facts' used in Rule 2(1) of Order VI C.P.C., has not been defined in the Code. Section 83(1)(a) requires that an election petition shall contain a concise statement of material facts on which the petitioner relies. In the Act, 1951 also, the expression 'material facts' has not been defined. Clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 83 mandates that an election petition shall set-forth full particulars of any corrupt practice that the petitioner alleges, including as full a statement as possible of the names of the parties alleged to have committed such corrupt practice and the date and place of the commission of each such practice. The expression 'material facts' and the expression 'full particulars' have not been defined in the Act, 1952. These two expressions have been judicially interpreted by Hon'ble Supreme Court in various judgments.

23. In Raj Narain vs. Smt. Indira Nehru Gandhi and another, (supra); Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

*18. ..... 'Material facts' and 'particulars' may overlap but the word 'material' shows that the ground of corrupt practice and the facts necessary to formulate a complete cause, of action must be stated. ..... If the facts stated fail to satisfy the hat requirement then they do not give rise, to a triable issue. ..... In other words the facts must bring out all the ingredients of the corrupt practice alleged. If the facts stated fail to satisfy the that requirement then they do not give rise, to a triable issue. Such a defect cannot be cured by any amendment after the period of limitation for filing the election petition. But even if all the material facts are stated in the election petition. For a proper trial better particulars may still be required. If those particulars are not set out in the election petition, they may be incorporated into the election petition with the permission of the court even after the period of limitation.

19. Rules of pleadings are intended as aids for a fair trial and for reaching a just decision. An action at law should not be equated to a game of chess. Provisions of law are not mere formulaes to be observed as rituals. Beneath the words of a provision of law, generally speaking, there lies a juristic principle. It is the duty of the court to ascertain that principle and implement it..... "

24. In Udhav Singh vs. Madhav Rao Scindia, (supra) (paras-38, 39 and 40), Hon'ble Supreme Court held that all those primary facts which must be proved at the trial by a party to establish the existence of a cause of action or his defence, are "material facts". All facts which are essential to clothe the petitioner with a complete cause of action are "material facts" which must be pleaded and failure to plead even a single material fact amounts to disobedience of the mandate of sec. 83(1) (a). "Particulars" are the details of the case set up by the party. "Material particulars" are the details which are necessary to amplify, refine and embellish the material facts already pleaded in the petition in compliance with the requirements of clause (a). 'Particulars' serve the purpose of finishing touches to the basic contours of a picture already drawn, to make it full, more detailed and more informative.

25. In Azhar Hussain vs. Rajiv Gandhi, AIR 1986 SC 1253 (1) (paras-11 and 14), Hon'ble Supreme Court held that material facts are facts which if established would give the petitioner the relief asked for. The test required to be answered is whether the Court could have given a direct verdict in favour of the election petitioner in case the returned candidate had not appeared to oppose the election petition on the basis of the facts pleaded in the petition. If an election petition does not furnish cause of action, then it can be summarily dismissed. Omission of a single material fact would lead to an incomplete cause of action and that an election petition without the material facts is not an election petition at all.

26. In Dhartipakar Madan Lal Agarwal vs. Shri Rajiv Gandhi, AIR 1987 SC 1577 (para-14), Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the Representation People Act is a complete and self contained code within which any rights claimed in relation to an election or an election dispute must be found. Right to contest election or to question the election by means of an election petition is neither common law nor fundamental right, instead it is a statutory right regulated by the statutory provisions of the Representation of the People Act, 1951. There is no fundamental or common law right in these matters as settled vide N.P. Ponnuswami v. Returning Officer, AIR 1952 SC 14; Jagan Nath v. Jaswant Singh, AIR 1954 SC 210 and Joyti Basu v. Debi Ghosal, AIR 1982 SC 983. These decisions have settled the legal position that outside the statutory provisions that there is no right to dispute an election. The provisions of the Civil Procedure Code are applicable to the extent as permissible by Section 87 of the Act, 1951. Section 83 is a mandatory provision which regulate the pleadings. If the election petitioner fails to make out a ground under Section 100 of the Act, it must fail at the threshold. If the allegations in the election petition are vague and general and the particulars of corrupt practice are not stated in the pleadings, the trial of the election petition cannot proceed for want of cause of action.

27. In Mahendra Pal vs Ram Dass Malanger And Ors, (2000) 1 SCC 261 (para-7), Hon'ble Supreme Court explained the provisions of Section 83(1)(a) of the Act, 1951 and held as under:

"Section 83(1) (a) of the Act mandates that in order to constitute a cause of action, all material facts, that is, the basic and preliminary facts which the petitioner is bound under the law to substantiate in order to succeed, have to be pleaded in an election petition. Whether in an election petition, a particular fact is material or not and as such required to be pleaded is a question which depends upon the nature of the charge levelled and the facts and circumstances of each case. The distinction between `material facts' and `particulars' has been explained by this Court in a large number of cases and we need not refer to all those decided cases. Facts which are essential to disclose a complete cause of action are material facts and are essentially required to be pleaded. On the other hand "particulars" are details of the case set up by the party and are such pleas which are necessary to amplify, refine or explain material facts. The function of particulars is, thus, to present a full picture of the cause of action to make the opposite party understand the case that has been set up against him and which he is required to meet. The distinction between `material facts' and `material particulars' is indeed important because different consequences follow from a deficiency of such facts or particulars in the pleadings. Failure to plead even a single material fact leads to an incomplete cause of action and incomplete allegations of such a charge are liable to be struck off under Order 6, Rule 16, Code of Civil Procedure. In the case of a petition suffering from deficiency of material particulars the Court has the discretion to allow the petitioner to supply the required particulars even after the expiry of limitation. Thus, whereas it may be permissible for a party to furnish particulars even after the period of limitation for filling an election petition has expired, with permission of the Court, no material fact unless already pleaded, can be permitted to be introduced, after the expiry of the period of limitation."

28. In Hari Shankar Jain vs. Sonia Gandhi, (2001) 8 SCC 233 (para-23), Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

*"23. .....Merely quoting the words of the Section like chanting of a mantra does not amount to stating material facts. Material facts would include positive statement of facts as also positive averment of a negative fact, if necessary. In V.S. Achuthanandan Vs. P.J. Francis & Anr., (1999) 3 SCC 737, this Court has held, on a conspectus of a series of decisions of this Court, that material facts are such preliminary facts which must be proved at the trial by a party to establish existence of a cause of action. Failure to plead material facts is fatal to the election petition and no amendment of the pleadings is permissible to introduce such material facts after the time-limit prescribed for filing the election petition.

24. It is the duty of the Court to examine the petition irrespective of any written statement or denial and reject the petition if it does not disclose a cause of action. To enable a Court to reject a plaint on the ground that it does not disclose a cause of action, it should look at the plaint and nothing else. Courts have always frowned upon vague pleadings which leave a wide scope to adduce any evidence. No amount of evidence can cure basic defect in the pleadings.

32. In both the election petitions there are averments made touching the contents of respondents application filed for grant of certificate of citizenship so as to point out alleged infirmities in the application and the proceedings taken thereon but without disclosing any basis for making such averments. None of the petitioners states to have inspected or seen the file nor discloses the source of knowledge for making such averments. Clearly such allegations are bald, vague and baseless and cannot be put to trial. "

29. In Mahadeorao Sukaji Shivankar vs. Ramaratan Bapu and others, (2004) 7 SCC 181 (paras-6 and 7), Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"6. Now, it is no doubt true that all material facts have to be set out in an election petition. If material facts are not stated in a plaint or a petition, the same is liable to be dismissed on that ground alone as the case would be covered by clause (a) of Rule 11 of Order VII of the Code. The question, however, is as to whether the petitioner had set out material facts in the election petition. The expression "material facts" has neither been defined in the Act nor in the Code. It may be stated that the material facts are those facts upon which a party relies for his claim or defence. In other words, material facts are facts upon which the plaintiff s cause of action or defendant's defence depends. What particulars could be said to be material facts would depend upon the facts of each case and no rule of universal application can be laid down. It is, however, absolutely essential that all basic and primary facts which must be proved at the trial by the party to establish existence of cause of action or defence are material facts and must be stated in the pleading of the party.

7. But, it is equally well settled that there is distinction between "material facts" and "particulars". Material facts are primary or basic facts which must be pleaded by the party in support of the case set up by him either to prove his cause of action or defence. Particulars, on the other hand, are details in support of material facts pleaded by the party. They amplify, refine and embellish material facts by giving finishing touch to the basic contours of a picture already drawn so as to make it full, more clear and more informative. Particulars ensure conduct of fair trial and would not take the opposite party by surprise."

30. In Pothula Rama Rao vs. Pendyala Venakata Krishna Rao and others, (2007) 11 SCC 1 (paras 8 and 9), Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the plea of election petitioner that nomination was improperly rejected, is a ground for declaring an election to be void with reference to provisions of Section Section 33(1) and Section 100 of the Act, 1951 and lack of material facts to make out a cause of action and held as under:

"8. If an election petitioner wants to put forth a plea that a nomination was improperly rejected, as a ground for declaring an election to be void, it is necessary to set out the averments necessary for making out the said ground. The reason given by the Returning Officer for rejection and the facts necessary to show that the rejection was improper, should be set out. If the nomination had been rejected for non-compliance with the first proviso to sub-section (1) of section 33, that is, the candidate's nomination not being subscribed by ten voters as proposers, the election petition should contain averments to the effect that the nomination was subscribed by ten proposers who were electors of the Constituency and therefore, the nomination was valid. Alternatively, the election petition should aver that the candidate was set up by a recognized political party by issue of a valid 'B' Form and that his nomination was signed by an elector of the Constituency as a proposer, and that the rejection was improper as there was no need for ten proposers. In the absence of such averments, it cannot be said that the election petition contains the material facts to make out a cause of action.

9. In this case the election petition contained an averment that the nomination of Atchuta Ramaiah was rejected on the untenable ground that he was a dummy or substitute candidate set up by TDP. But there is no averment that he was 'set up' as a candidate by TDP in the manner contemplated in para 13 of the Symbols Order, that is, by issuing a valid B-Form in his favour. Nor did the election petition aver that his nomination paper was subscribed by ten proposers. Therefore, the petition was lacking in material facts necessary to make out a cause of action under section 100(1)(c) of the Act. The High Court, therefore, rightly struck off the said ground of challenge contained in para 8 of the election petition."

31. In Anil Vasudeo Salgaonkar vs. Naresh Shigaonkar, (2009) 9 SCC 310

(Paras-42, 50, 51, 52, 61 and 62), Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the question "Whether the election petition is liable to be dismissed because of lack of material facts" and after referring to various judgements, held that the word 'material' means necessary for the purpose of formulating a complete cause of action; and if any one 'material' statement is omitted, the statement of claim is bad. Omission of a single material fact would lead to an incomplete cause of action and that an election petition without the material facts relating to a corrupt practice is not an election petition at all. All those facts which are essential to clothe the election petitioner with a complete cause of action are "material facts" which must be pleaded, and the failure to place even a single material fact amounts to disobedience of the mandate of section 83(1)(a) of the Act. Tn election petition can be summarily dismissed if it does not furnish the cause of action if the mandatory requirements enjoined by Section 83 of the Act to incorporate the material facts in the election petition are not complied with. The election petition which lacks material facts, is liable to be dismissed.

32. In Ram Sukh vs. Dinesh Aggarwal, (2009) 10 SCC 541 (Paras-14, 23 and 24), Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the provisions of Section 81, 83, 86 and 100 of the Act, 1951 and discussed material facts and vague pleadings and held, as under:

"14. The requirement in an election petition as to the statement of material facts and the consequences of lack of such disclosure with reference to Sections 81, 83 and 86 of the Act came up for consideration before a three-Judge Bench of this Court in Samant N. Balkrishna & Anr. Vs. George Fernandez & Ors4. Speaking for the three-Judge Bench, M. Hidayatullah, C.J., inter-alia, laid down that: (i) Section 83 of the Act is mandatory and requires first a concise statement of material facts and then the fullest possible particulars; (ii) omission of even a single material fact leads to an incomplete cause of action and statement of claim becomes bad; (iii) the function of particulars is to present in full a picture of the cause of action and to make the opposite party understand the case he will have to meet; (iv) material facts and particulars are distinct matters - material facts will mention statements of fact and particulars will set out the names of persons with date, time and place and (v) in stating the material facts it will not do merely to quote the words of the Section because then the efficacy of the material facts will be lost.

23. There is no quarrel with the proposition that the instructions contained in the Handbook for the Returning Officers are issued by the Election Commission in exercise of its statutory functions and are, therefore, binding on the Returning Officers. They are obliged to follow them in letter and spirit. But the question for consideration is whether the afore-extracted paragraphs of the election petition disclose material facts so as to constitute a complete cause of action. In other words, the question is whether the alleged omission on the part of the Returning Officer ipso facto "materially affected" the election result. It goes without saying that the averments in the said two paragraphs are to be read in conjunction with the preceding paragraphs in the election petition. What is stated in the preceding paragraphs, as can be noticed from grounds (i) and (ii) reproduced above, is that by the time specimen signature of the polling agent were circulated 80% of the polling was over and because of the absence of the polling agent the voters got confused and voted in favour of the first respondent. In our opinion, to say the least, the pleading is vague and does not spell out as to how the election results were materially affected because of these two factors. These facts fall short of being "material facts" as contemplated in Section 83(1)(a) of the Act to constitute a complete cause of action in relation to the allegation under Section 100(1)(d)(iv) of the Act. It is not the case of the election petitioner that in the absence of his election agent there was some malpractice at the polling stations during the polling.

24. It needs little reiteration that for purpose of Section 100(1)(d)(iv), it was necessary for the election petitioner to aver specifically in what manner the result of the election insofar as it concerned the first respondent, was materially affected due to the said omission on the part of the Returning Officer. Unfortunately, such averment is missing in the election petition."

33. In Jitu Patnaik vs. Santan Mohakud and others, 2012 (4) SCC 194 (paras 45, 51, 52, 53, 54 and 57), Hon'ble Supreme Court held has under:

"45.A bare perusal of the above provisions would show that the first part of Order VI Rule 2, CPC is similar to clause (1)(a) of Section 83 of the 1951 Act. It is imperative for an election petition to contain a concise statement of the material facts on which the election petitioner relies. What are material facts? All basic and primary facts which must be proved at the trial by a party to establish the existence of cause of action or defence are material facts. The bare allegations are never treated as material facts. The material facts are such facts which afford a basis for the allegations made in the election petition. The meaning of 'material facts' has been explained by this Court on more than one occasion. Without multiplying the authorities, reference to one of the later decisions of this Court in Virender Nath Gautam v. Satpal Singh and others (2007) 3 SCC 617 shall suffice.

51. The averment that in Form 17-C, certified copy, it has been deliberately shown as 772 making a deliberate suppression of 319 votes hardly improves the pleading in the election petition. There is no averment that the election petitioner or his agents challenged part II of Form 17-C before authorities. At least, there are no facts pleaded concerning that.

52. There is no pleading that there was any challenge by the election petitioner or his agents in respect of the counting figure in Form 20. The only pleading is that the illegality has been deliberately committed by the counting personnels while recording the counting figure in Form 20 with respect to Booth No. 179. There is, thus, no disclosure of material facts in respect of the challenge to the correctness of Form 20 and Form 17-C.

53. The pleading of material facts with regard to suppression of 319 votes in paragraph 7(D) is also incomplete as it has not been disclosed as to who suppressed 319 votes; who was the counting agent present on behalf of the election petitioner at the time of counting; how 319 votes were suppressed and why recounting was not demanded. Moreover, there is no express pleading as to how the result of the election has been materially affected by less counting of 319 votes.

54. In Samant N. Balkrishna and Another v. George Fernandez and Others, (1969) 3 SCC 238 while dealing with the requirement in an election petition as to the statement of material facts and the consequences of lack of such disclosure, this Court, inter alia, exposited the legal position that omission of even a single material fact leads to an incomplete cause of action and statement of claim 11 1969 (3) SCC 238 becomes bad.

57. The High Court has already struck out paragraphs 7(B), 7(C), 7(E), 7(F) and 7(G). The remaining two paragraphs 7(A) and 7(D), as noted above, do not disclose any cause of action and are liable to be struck out. After striking out paragraphs 7(A) and 7(D), we find that nothing remains in the election petition for trial and, therefore, election petition is liable to be rejected in its entirety."

34. In Neelam Sonkar vs. Dr. Bali Ram, 2011 (11) ADJ 341 (Para-26), a coordinate bench of this court followed the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Dhartipakar Madan Lal Agarwal (supra) and held, as under:

"26. It is in this context that in Dhartipakar Madan Lal Agarwal (Supra) the Court said that if an election petition does not disclose cause of action, i.e., the pleadings in various paragraphs are so vague and general and lack material facts and particulars so as to disclose the cause of action under 1951 Act, such paragraphs of the petition are liable to be struck off under Order 6 Rule 16 C.P.C. at any stage of the proceedings. It is the duty of the Court to examine the plaint and it need not wait till the defendant files written statement and points out the defects. If the court is satisfied that the election petition does not make out any cause of action and the trial would prejudice, embarrass and delay the proceedings, the court need not wait for the filing of the written statement but can proceed. If after striking out the pleadings it finds that no triable issues remain to be considered, it has power to reject the election petition under Order VII Rule 11 CPC."

CAUSE OF ACTION:-

35. Cause of action implies a right to sue. Cause of action is not defined in any statute. It has been judicially interpreted by Hon'ble Supreme Court in several decisions laying down the law that cause of action implies a right to sue. The material facts which are imperative for the suitor to allege and prove, constitute cause of action. It means that every fact which would be necessary for the plaintiff to prove, if traversed in order to support his right to the judgment of the court. Negatively put, it would mean that every thing which if not proved, gives the defendant a right to judgment, would be part of cause of action. In every action, there has to be a cause of action, if not, the plaint or the writ petition, as the case may be, shall be rejected summarily. Those facts, which have nothing to do with the prayer made therein, cannot be said to give rise to a cause of action which would confer jurisdiction on the court.

36. Thus, settled legal position with regard to Section 83(1)(a) of the Act, 1951, Order VI Rules 2 and 16 and Order VIII Rule 11 of the Civil Procedure Code, may be summarised, as under:-

PLEADINGS:-

(i) "Pleading' means plaint or written statement. As per Order VI Rule 2, C.P.C. every pleading shall contain, and contain only a statement in concise form of the material facts on which the party pleading relies for his claim or defence, as the case may be but not the evidence by which they are to be proved. Every pleading shall, when necessary, be divided into paragraphs, numbered consecutively, each allegation being, so far as is convenient, contained in a separate paragraph. Dates, sums and numbers shall be expressed in a pleading in figures as well as in words.

(ii) All those primary facts which must be proved at the trial by a party to establish the existence of a cause of action or his defence, are "material facts". All facts which are essential to clothe the petitioner with a complete cause of action are "material facts" which must be pleaded. The test required to be answered is whether the Court could have given a direct verdict in favour of the election petitioner in case the returned candidate had not appeared to oppose the election petition on the basis of the facts pleaded in the petition. If an election petition does not furnish cause of action, then it can be summarily dismissed. Omission of a single material fact would lead to an incomplete cause of action and that an election petition without the material facts is not an election petition at all.

(iii) "Particulars" are the details of the case set up by the party. "Material particulars" are the details which are necessary to amplify, refine and embellish the material facts already pleaded in the petition in compliance with the requirements of clause (a). 'Particulars' serve the purpose of finishing touches to the basic contours of a picture already drawn, to make it full, more detailed and more informative.

Consequences of lack of pleadings in Election Petition:

(iv) Section 83 is a mandatory provision which regulate the pleadings. If the election petitioner fails to make out a ground under Section 100 of the Act, it must fail at the threshold. If the allegations in the election petition are vague and general and the particulars of corrupt practice are not stated in the pleadings, the trial of the election petition cannot proceed for want of cause of action.

(v) Section 83(1) (a) of the Act mandates that in order to constitute a cause of action, all material facts, that is, the basic and preliminary facts which the petitioner is bound under the law to substantiate in order to succeed, have to be pleaded in an election petition.

(vi) Failure to plead even a single material fact leads to an incomplete cause of action and incomplete allegations of such a charge are liable to be struck off under Order VI, Rule 16, Code of Civil Procedure.

(vii) Failure to plead material facts is fatal to the election petition and no amendment of the pleadings is permissible to introduce such material facts after the time-limit prescribed for filing the election petition.

(viii) It is the duty of the Court to examine the petition irrespective of any written statement or denial and reject the petition if it does not disclose a cause of action.

(ix) If material facts are not stated in a plaint or a petition, the same is liable to be dismissed on that ground alone as the case would be covered by clause (a) of Rule 11 of Order VII of the Code.

(x) If an election petitioner wants to put forth a plea that a nomination was improperly rejected, as a ground for declaring an election to be void, it is necessary to set out the averments necessary for making out the said ground.

(xi) The bare allegations are never treated as material facts. The material facts are such facts which afford a basis for the allegations made in the election petition.

(xii) If the pleadings in various paragraphs are so vague and general and lack material facts and particulars so as to disclose the cause of action under 1951 Act, such paragraphs of the petition are liable to be struck off under Order VI Rule 16 C.P.C. at any stage of the proceedings. It is the duty of the Court to examine the plaint and it need not wait till the defendant files written statement and points out the defects. If the court is satisfied that the election petition does not make out any cause of action and the trial would prejudice, embarrass and delay the proceedings, the court need not wait for the filing of the written statement but can proceed. If after striking out the pleadings it finds that no triable issues remain to be considered, it has power to reject the election petition under Order VII Rule 11 CPC.

WHEN PLEADINGS CAN BE STRUCK OUT UNDER ORDER VI RULE 16:-

37. Bare perusal of Order VI Rule 16, C.P.C., shows that court may at any stage of the proceedings strike out any pleading:- (a) which may be (i) unnecessary, (ii) scandalous, (iii) frivolous (iv) vexatious, or, (b) which may tend to prejudice, embarrass or delay the fair trail of the suit, or (c) which is otherwise an abuse of the process of the Court.

38. As per Ramanatha Aiyar's Law Lexicon, The Encyclopaedic Law Dictionary (2nd Edition Reprint 2007) published by Wadhwa and Company Nagpur, the word 'unnecessary' means:

"Unnecessary: Not required under certain circumstances. Not necessary."

39. Henry Campbell Black's Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition by St. Paul Minn. West Publishing Co. 1979 it defines the word 'unnecessary', as under:

"Not required by the circumstances of the case."

40. As per P. Ramanatha Aiyar's Law Lexicon, The Encyclopaedic Law Dictionary (2nd Edition Reprint 2007) published by Wadhwa and Company Nagpur, the word 'scandalous' means:

"Scandalous. A pleading is said to be "Scandalous', if it alleges anything unbecoming the dignity of the Court to hear, or is contrary to good manners, or which charges a crime immaterial to the issue. But the statement of a scandalous fact that is material to the issue is not a scandalous pleading. (Millington v. Loring, 50 LJ QB 214 ; 6 QBD 190).

Of the nature of a scandal, containing defamatory information [S. 151, Indian Evidence Act].

Facts not material to the decision are impertinent, and, if reproachful, are scandalous.

The term "scandalous", as applied to the pleading of scandalous matter, cannot be applied to any matter which is not also impertinent and unnecessary."

41. In Concise Oxford English Dictionary 11th Edition (Revised) 2008 the words 'frivolous' and 'vexatious' have been defined as under:

"frivolous: adj. not having any serious purpose or value. (of a person) carefree and superficial."

"Vexatious. Adj. 1. Causing annoyance or worry. 2. Law (of an action) brought without sufficient grounds for winning, purely to cause annoyance to the defendant. "

42. In the Law Lexicon (The Encyclopaedia Law Dictionary) by P. Ramanatha Aiyar IInd Edition 1997 the words 'frivolous' and 'vexatious' have been defined as under:

"Frivolous. Of little weight or importance. A pleading is "frivolous" when it is clearly insufficient on its face, and does not controvert the material points of the opposite pleading, and is presumably interposed for mere purposes of delay or to embarrass the opponent. A claim or defense is frivolous if a proponent can present no rational argument based upon the evidence or law in support of that claim or defense. Liebowitz v. Aimexco incident. Colo, App. 701 p. 2d 140, 142. Frivolous pleadings may be amended to proper form, or ordered stricken, under federal and state Rules of Civil Procedure.

Of little or no weight or importance; not with serious attentions; manifestly futile"

"Vexatious. Includes false. 1904 AWN 116=1 ALJ 450=25 All 512) An accusation cannot be said to be vexatious unless the main intention of the complainant was to cause annoyance to the person accused, and not merely to further the ends of justice. (11 SLR 55 Appr. ; 94IC, 271=27 Cr LJ 607=AIR 1926 lah. 365.) ."

43. In Black's Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition 1979, the words 'frivolous' and 'vexatious' have been defined as under:

"Frivolous. Of little weight or importance. A pleading is "frivolous" when it is clearly insufficient on its face, and does not controvert the material points of the opposite pleading, and is presumably interposed for mere purposes of delay or to embarrass the opponent. Frivolous pleading may be amended to proper form, or ordered stricken under federal and state Rules of Civil Procedure."

"Vexatious. Without reasonable or probable cause or excuse. Gardener v. Queen Ins. Co. of America 232 Mo. App. 1101, 115 S.W.2d 4, 7."

44. In The New Lexicon Webster's Dictionary (Deluxe Encyclopedic Edition), the words 'frivolous' and 'vexatious' have been defined as under:

"Frivolous. Adj. gay and lighthearted in pursuit of trivial or futile pleasures; lacking in proper seriousness; empty, without importance."

"Vexatious. Adj. Causing vexation; (law, of actions) instituted without real grounds and meant to cause trouble or annoyance."

45. Thus, if the pleadings are unnecessary, scandalous, frivolous or vexatious, it may be struck out by the court under Order VI Rule 16. If the pleadings are such as may tend to prejudice the fair trial of the suit, embarrass the trial of the suit or delay the fair trial of the suit or if it constitute an abuse of process of court, then also the pleadings may be struck out by the court.

46. In Sathi Vijay Kumar Vs. Tota Singh and others (2006) 13 SCC 353, (Para-13) Hon'ble Supreme Court held, as under:

"Since the general principles as to pleadings in civil suits apply to election petitions as well, the pleadings which are required to be struck off under Rule 16 of order 6 in a suit can also be ordered to be struck off in an election petition. In appropriate causes, therefore, an election Tribunal (High Court) may invoke the power under Order 6 Rule 16 of the Code."

47. In Abdul Razak (D) Through L.Rs and others Vs. Mangesh Rajaram Wagle and others JT 2010(1)SC 508 after referring to Boven, L.J.'s observation in Knowles Vs. Roberts (supra) the Court said that power to strike down pleadings is extraordinary in nature. It must be exercised sparingly and with extreme care, caution and circumspection. The above observations were made following earlier decisions in Roop Lal Sathi Vs. Nachhattar Singh Gill 1982(3)SCC 487; K.K. Modi Vs. K.N. Modi JT 1998(1)SC 407=(1998) 3 SCC 573 and Union Bank of India Vs. Naresh Kumar (1996) 6 SCC 660.

DEFECT OF SUBSTANTIAL CHARACTER WARRANTING REJECTION OF NOMINATION PAPER UNDER SECTION 36 OF 1951

48. Defect of substantial character are grounds for rejection of nomination paper which have been provided in sub-section (2) of Section 36 of the Act, 1951, namely, (a) that on the date fixed for scrutiny of nominations, the candidate either is not qualified or is disqualified for being chosen to fill the seat any of the applicable provisions of Articles 84, 102, 173 and 191 of the Constitution of India or Part-II of the Act and Sections 4 and 14 of the Government of Union Territories Act, 1963 or; (b) there has been failure to comply with any of the provisions of Section 33 or 34; or (c) the signature of the candidate or proposer on the nomination paper is not genuine. Section 33 provides for presentation of nomination paper and requirements for a valid nomination. It contains complete requirements of a valid nomination which has to be complied with. In case of a candidate for election of a parliamentary constituency nomination paper is to be filed in Form 2A as per Rule 4 of the Rules 1961. Affidavit in Form-26 is required to be filed under Rule 4A. Instances of defects which are not of substantial character, are provided in the proviso to sub-Section (4) of Section 33; the proviso to Rule 4 of the Rules, 1961, or any minor mistake. Therefore, generally all such defects which do not constitute grounds of rejection of nomination paper under sub-Section (2) of Section 36 of the Act, 1951, may be said to be the defects not of substantial character.

49. In the present set of facts, the election petitioner has not mentioned in any of the paragraphs of the election petition that which provision of Section 33 or Section 34 of the Act has not been complied with by the respondents or that mention of name of another political party in clause (4) under Part-B of the affidavit in Form-26 falls under any of the grounds of rejection provided in sub-Section (2) of Section 36 of the Act, with reference to specific provision of Section 33 of the Act.

50. Instances of defect of substantial character requiring rejection of nomination paper and defects of non-substantial character which do not constitute grounds for rejection of nomination paper, as held by Hon'ble Supreme Court; are summarised as under:

SUBSTANTIAL DEFECT	NON-SUBSTANTIAL DEFECT
(i) Name of constituency not stated in a nomination paper, therefore, such a nomination form cannot be treated as having been completed in the prescribed form as required by Section 33(1). Therefore, defect was essentially of a substantial character which would result in rejection of nomination paper, vide Prahalad Das Kandelwal vs. Narendra Kumar, (1973) 3 SCC 104 (Para-12)	(i) Defects covered by the proviso to Section 33(4) of the Act, 1951 could easily be resolved if people authorised under Section 36(1) is present at the the time of scrutiny. If, however, the co-relation has not been made and the returning officer has no assistance to fix up the identification, it cannot be said to be a defect not of substantial character. Moreover, it could not be statutory obligation of the Returning Officer to scrutinize the electoral roll for finding out the identity of the proposer when the serial number turns out to be wrong. But if interested and competent persons point out to the Returning Officer that it is a mistake, it would certainly be his obligation to look into the matter to find out whether the mistake, is inconsequential and has, therefore, either to be permitted to be corrected or to be overlooked, vide Lila Krishna vs. Mani Ram Godara, 1985 (Sup.) SCC 179 (Paras-13 to 16)
(ii) In case of non-compliance with the requirement of Section 33(5) of the Act, 1951, nomination paper is liable to be rejected, vide Viradmal Singhwi vs. Anand Purohit, 1988 (Sup.) SCC 604	(ii) It is well known that in Indian society the name of a person consists of the first name, the second name and the surname or the family name. While first name and surname or family name of the returned candidate mentioned in the nomination paper is tallied with the voters list, the second name mentioned there in the nomination paper but is not found to be mentioned in the voters' list and the candidate already moved application for rectification of the defect in the voter list and no objection was raised by anybody at the time of scrutiny of nomination paper and the Returning Officer on suo motu enquiry, satisfied himself about the identity of the candidate, then such a defect was not of substantial character vide Hari Kishan Lal vs. Babulal Marandi, (2003) 8 SCC 613
(iii) Candidate's serial number in electoral roll not mentioned. Opportunity given to candidate or his representative and yet defect was not removed, then rejection of nomination is justified, vide Mathura Prasad vs. Azim Khan, (1990) 3 SCC 659 and Bhogendra Jha vs. Manoj Kumar Jha, (1997) 2 SCC 236	(iii) Absence of seal of party in nomination paper is inconsequential. Defect is not of substantial character and shall fall within Section 36(4) of the Act, 1951, vide Ramphal Kundu vs. Kamal Sharma, (2004) 2 SCC 759
(iv) Candidate failing to furnish the requisite information on the proforma and also failing to present personally or through representative. On such omission, rejection of nomination is valid, vide Saligram Shrivastava vs. Naresh Singh Patel, (2003) 2 SCC 176	(iv) Failure to complete a defect or not completing, the declaration as to symbols in a nomination paper in Form-2A or Form-2B by a candidate set by a recognised political party or a candidate set up by a registered unrecognised political party or a candidate seeks to contest the election as an independent candidate is not a defect of substantial nature. To illustrate, few examples: description of symbols, omission to fill blank spaces and in proforma in respect of choice of symbols or selecting a symbol which is reserved etc. fall in category of defects not of substantial character, vide Krishna Mohini vs. Mohindra Nath Sofat, (2000) 1 SCC 145 and Ramesh Rout vs. Rabindra Nath Rout, (2012) 1 SCC 762 (Paras-36 and 37)
(v) Candidate filing affidavit with blank particulars is a ground on which nomination paper can be rejected by returning officer.	(v) Non-disclosure of government dues by the candidate in his affidavit filed along with his nomination form was not a material lapse when there was a pending dispute about those dues at the time of filing nomination paper. But non-disclosure of assets of spouse is a material and substantial Candidate failing to fill blanks even after reminder by returning officer, shall invite consequence of rejection of his nomination papers. Particulars in affidavit should not be left blank. 51. Having summarised/ settled the legal position on the legal issues, now I proceed to examine whether the election petition contains material facts and discloses cause of action for the grounds of challenge and whether various paragraphs of the election petition as mentioned in the Application A-9 can be struck out under Order VI Rule 16, C.P.C. and the Application A-10 under Order VII Rule 11(a), C.P.C. deserves to be allowed or both the applications deserve to be rejected.

Analysis of facts of Application A-9 under Order VI Rule 16, C.P.C. (Striking out pleadings)

52. In paragraph-8 of the election petition, the election petitioner has alleged that "the returning officer illegally and arbitrarily rejected the nomination papers of 20 candidates in a pre-planed mechanism which vitiates all election of 78-Bhadohi Parliamentary Constituency." In this paragraph, the election petitioner has neither disclosed the names of the alleged 20 candidates nor disclosed as to whether the said alleged candidates were set up by any political party or were independent candidates nor disclosed ground of alleged rejection of their nomination papers nor disclosed the alleged "Pre-Planned Mechanism". Thus, this paragraph lacks disclosure of primary facts so as to establish the existence of a cause of action. Failure to plead even a single material fact amounts to disobedience of the mandate by Section 83(1)(a) of the Act, 1951. Therefore, this paragraph is struck out.

53. In paragraph-9 of the election petition, the election petitioner has stated that "The returning officer also improperly accepted the nomination paper of Ramesh Chand, which materially affected the result of the election of 78-Bhadohi Parliamentary Constituency." The averments so made are the reproduction of Section 100(1)(d)(i) of the Act, 1951 with the only difference that in place of the word "Returned Candidate", the name of the respondent and name of constituency have been mentioned. That apart, the election petitioner has himself stated in paragraph-18 of the election petition that "the concise statement of the material facts in respect of the grounds- (A), (B) and (C) from are as under. (from paragraph-19 onwards.)" No facts have been disclosed for alleged improper acceptance of the nomination paper of the respondent winning candidate. These averments in paragraph-9, do not constitute pleadings within the meaning of Order VI Rules (1)/(2), C.P.C. read with Section 83(1) of the Act, 1951.

54. In paragraph-10 of the election petition, the election petitioner has alleged that "after withdrawal of nomination papers, the returning officer issued the list of contesting candidates containing 12 names." In paragraph-6 of the election petition, the petitioner has shown that 32 candidates including him have filed nomination papers. In paragraph-8, he stated that nomination papers of 20 candidates were rejected. Thus, after rejection of nomination papers as alleged, 12 candidates remained but the election petitioner has alleged that list of 12 contesting candidates was issued by the returning officer after withdrawal of nomination papers. There is no disclosure of facts that who withdrew nomination papers. Therefore, the pleadings made in paragraph-10 are frivolous and vexatious and deserve to be struck out.

55. Paragraph-14 of the election petition is irrelevant. It has no relevance to the grounds of challenge stated in para-17. Therefore, para-14 deserves to be struck out.

56. In paragraph-16, the election petitioner has alleged that the returning officer committed error in accepting the nomination paper of the returned candidate Sri Ramesh Chand by overlooking the provisions of the Act, 1951 and the Rules and acted contrary to the instructions, guidelines and adopted dual standard while scrutinizing the nomination papers and improperly rejected the nomination of Shri Shrikant and 19 other candidates but improperly accepted the nomination paper of the respondent, which materially affected the result of election. This paragraph completely lacks material facts as to what error was committed by the returning officer, which provisions, guidelines or instructions were overlooked by him and what dual standard was adopted by the retuning officer in accepting the nomination paper of the respondent and rejecting the nomination paper of others, which materially affected the result of election. Thus, pleadings of paragraph-16 are frivolous and vexatious and deserve to be struck out.

57. In paragraph-17 of the election petition, the election petitioner has mentioned Grounds (A), (B) and (C), which have been reproduced in paragraph (8) above. In Ground (B), the petitioner has sated that the election of the returned candidate is illegal and void due to improper rejection of nomination paper of Shri Shrikant. The election petitioner has completely concealed the fact that the aforesaid Shri Shirkant was an independent candidate as evident from a copy of his nomination paper filed as Annexure-4 to the election petition. The copy of the order of rejection of nomination paper of the independent candidate Shri Shrikant has also been filed along with Annexure-4 to the election petition which shows that the returning officer confronted him with the material defects found in his nomination paper and in Form-26 but he had not turned up to remove the defects. The Ground (C) does not disclose which provision of the Constitution of India or the Act, 1951 or Rules and Orders or Instructions/ Guidelines, have not been complied with. Thus, these sub-paras being frivolous and vexatious, deserves to be struck out.

58. In paragraph-22, the election petitioner has sated that he filed his nomination paper which was duly proposed by recorded elector of the parliamentary constituency. The election petitioner has not disclosed the names of the proposers. Thus, the pleadings in paragraph-22 are incomplete.

59. In paragraphs-24 and 25 of the election petition, the election petitioner has stated that the candidate Shri Shrikant being duly qualified and eligible to contest the election for the post of Member of Parliament from the parliamentary constituency in question, filed his nomination paper which was improperly rejected by the returning officer vide order dated 24.04.2019 on the ground of defect in affidavit in Form-26 though the said defects are not substantial in nature and can be cured by providing opportunity to the candidate. The election petitioner has very conveniently concealed the fact that the aforesaid candidate Shri Shrikant was an independent candidate as evident from Annexure-4 to the election petition. The election petitioner has made false and misleading averments that the defects found by the returning officer in nomination paper of the candidate Shri Shrikant, could be cured by providing opportunity to the candidate, whereas in the order of the returning officer dated 24.04.2019 filed as Annexure-4 to the election petition, it is recorded that the candidate Shri Shrikant was confronted with the defects in the nomination paper on 18.04.2019 and was requested to remove the defects upto 3 P.M. on 23.04.2019 but despite intimation he has not removed the defects in the nomination paper and consequently the nomination paper is rejected. Thus, the pleadings in paragraph-25 of the election petition are frivolous and vexatious and also not relevant for the purpose of acceptance of nomination paper of the returned candidate. The averments in these two paragraphs are relatable to Ground (B) of Para-17. Therefore, paragraphs-24 and 25 deserve to be struck out.

60. Paragraphs-28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41 and 43, disclose material facts relatable to grounds mentioned in Para-17(A) and, therefore, these paragraphs cannot be struck out. The question whether the nomination paper of the respondent was improperly accepted by the returning officer or whether the nomination paper suffered from any substantial or non-substantial defect, are the questions, which can be properly answered after adjudication of ground of challenge being Ground (A) as mentioned in para-17 of the election petition. The above mentioned referred paragraphs of the election petition, disclose a cause of action with reference to Ground (A) mentioned in para-17 of the election petition. Therefore, these paragraphs cannot be struck out under Order VI Rule 16, C.P.C. Consequently, to this extent, the Application A-9 deserves to be rejected.

61. Paragraphs-44, 45, 52 and 53 of the election petition are more or less repetition of earlier paragraphs 8, 16, 24 and 25 of the election petition, which have been found by me to be liable to be struck out. It is further relevant to mention that the orders of rejection of 19 candidates collectively filed as Annexure-16 and rejection order of nomination of the independent candidate Shri Shrikant filed as Annexure-4 to the election petition, contain different grounds of rejection. Despite required by the returning officer such 20 candidates could not remove defects as pointed out by the returning officer and consequently, their nomination papers were rejected. Election petitioner has not mentioned at all in the aforesaid paragraphs that which provisions of the Act, 1951 or the Rules 1961 or guidelines or instructions of the Election Commission of India, have not been acted upon by the returning officer which materially affected the result of the election. In view of this, averments made in paragraph-44, 45, 52 and 53 of the election petition deserves to be struck out.

62. Paragraphs-46, 47, 48 and 49 are unnecessary, frivolous and vexatious and do not constitute material facts with regard to the grounds stated by the petitioner in paragraph-17 of the election petition. Whether the election petitioner is popular or not or some persons other than the respondent winning candidate has filed nomination papers from some other parliamentary constituency are wholly irrelevant for the purposes of grounds of challenge of the election of the respondent in the present election petition.

63. For all the reasons afore-stated, paragraphs-8, 9, 10, 14, 16, 24, 25, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 52, 53 and para-17(B) and Para 17(C) of the election petition, are struck out under Order VI Rule 16, C.P.C. The Application A-9 filed by the respondent returned candidate under Order VI Rule 16, C.P.C., is partly allowed.

64. The rest of the paragraphs of the election petition disclose material facts and cause of action relatable to Ground 17(A), which needs to be adjudicated. Therefore, the Application A-10 under Order VII Rule 11, C.P.C. filed by the respondent returned candidate, is rejected.

65. Service of election petition upon the respondent was made sufficient by this court by order dated 23.09.2019 on which date the respondent winning candidate has filed Application A-9 under Order VI Rule 16, C.P.C., Application A-10 under Order VII Rule 11, C.P.C. and Application A-11 under Order VIII Rule 1, C.P.C., all dated 23.09.2019. After exchange of affidavits, the parties argued on the Application A-9 and A-10, which have been decided by this order. Therefore, considering the entire facts and circumstances of the case, the Application A-11 under Order VIII Rule 1, C.P.C. filed by the respondent winning candidate praying for grant of time for filing written statement, is allowed. The respondent winning candidate may file written statement within 30 days.

66. In result, the Application A-9 is partly allowed, the Application A-10 is rejected and the Application A-11 is allowed, as discussed above.

67. List on 05.03.2020 at 2 P.M. for framing of issues.

A. Motor Accident Act, 1988 – Compensation – Liability to pay - Driving licence – Genuineness - Issue as to who will be responsible to pay the compensation - Tribunal rightly held that the driving licence cannot be held to be either fake or not genuine - Driving licence bore on its face, the signature of the concerned transport authority – Burden to proof contrary was never discharged – Finding recoded by the tribunal that the driver of the aforesaid offending vehicle was possessing valid and effective driving licence, cannot be faulted with at this juncture. (Para 20 & 21)

First Appeal From Order dismissed. (E-1)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Arvind Kumar Mishra-I, J.)

1. Heard Sri Subhash Chandra Srivastava, learned counsel for the appellant, Sri Shailendra Pratap Singh, learned counsel for claimants-respondents no.1 and 2 and perused the judgment and order impugned.

2. This first appeal from order has been filed by the appellant against the judgment and decree dated 18.12.1999 passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/Special Judge, Ghaziabad in M.A.C.T. No. 53 of 1997.

3. The only legal point urged before this Court pertains to the non-existence of any driving licence purportedly held or possessed by the driver of the offending vehicle opposite party no.3- Udaiveer Tyagi (Driver of Truck No. U.G.U.-8058).

4. Contention is that in this case, as per Form No.54, there is no mention of any such licence having been issued in favour of respondent no.3- Udaiveer Tyagi. It is specific testimony of the witness for the concerned transport department that there is no mention of any renewal as such of any such licence in question in the relevant register meant for renewal of the licences, and in the wake of above, claim is that obviously it cannot be held that the truck driver was holding or possessing a valid and effective driving licence and he ever got the same renewed at any point of time. The driving licence produced is fake and not genuine.

5. Apart from that, the learned counsel has also challenged the amount of compensation to the tune of Rs. 1,28,000/- along with 12 % interest claiming it to be excessive under facts and circumstances of the case.

6. Counsel for the claimants-respondents has refuted the aforesaid contention by claiming that the witness of the concerned transport department was itself brought by the Insurance Company. As per his testimony, it is nowhere established that the licence is fake. The total exercise required to be undergone in this context was not followed and mere perfunctory reference of certain missing entry in certain register meant and kept for renewal of the licences alone was made before the tribunal that would by no sketch of imagination establish things satisfactorily branding the driving licence to be fake and illegal. In that regard, the tribunal was justified when it held that there was non production of the concerned register meant for renewal of the driving licences and this indicates that the burden of proof as was required to be discharged by the Insurance Company regarding fact pertaining to non renewal of the driving license in question, thus it being fake driving license, was not properly discharged by it. In such scenario, the insurance company itself is to be blamed. Nothing prevented the appellant-insurance company from proving the fact of driving licence being fake. But it tried to establish this particular fact merely by leading verbal testimony and not producing the relevant register before the tribunal.

7. I have considered the rival submissions and also perused the impugned award dated 18.12.1999, whereby overall compensation amount Rs. 1,28,000/- along with accrued interest @ 12% per annum has been awarded to the claimants-respondent nos.1 and 2- Kishwar Ali and Rahul Khan.

8. But before proceeding with this case, it would be appropriate in the fitness of things that a sketch of the incidents leading to the filing of the claim petition before the tribunal and this appeal before this Court be referred here for the sake of convenience.

9. Bare perusal of the record shows that the accident in question allegedly took place on 20.12.1996, when Smt. Neksee (deceased), who was going to purchase fodder for her animals along with her father-in-law sustained injuries by rash and negligent driving (of the offending vehicle) at 11:30 a.m. at place 100 feeta, tri-crossing, Meerut Road, Ghaziabad within Police Station Singhani Gate by Truck No. U.G.U.-8058, thus causing serious injuries to her. She was taken to the government hospital at Ghaziabad and got admitted, where she succumbed to her injuries on 21.12.1996 around 3 a.m. in the night. The matter was reported at the aforesaid police station on 21.12.1996. The post-mortem examination on the dead body of Smt. Neksee was done at the mortuary.

10. On the basis of aforesaid accident, claim has been raised by filing petition that the deceased at the time of the alleged accident was pregnant aged 22 years and she was earning Rs.3,000/- per month from various works including animal husbandry and out of this income, the claimants-respondents were being maintained and they are the dependents of the deceased.

11. It has been claimed that opposite party no.1, namely respondent no.3 of this appeal- Udaiveer Tyagi was driving the offending vehicle at that point of time being Truck No. U.G.U.-8058. The truck was owned by defendant-respondent no.4- Sri Rajvansh Bajaj and at that relevant point of time, this truck was insured with the present appellant. Under various heads, overall compensation amount to the tune of Rs. 18,50,000/- was demanded as compensation.

12. Joint written statement was filed by the owner and the driver of the offending Truck No. U.G.U. No.-8058, wherein the factum of accident was denied. In the written statement, the factum of ownership of the truck and the truck being driven by the aforesaid Udaiveer Tyagi was admitted apart from fact that the offending truck was insured with the insurance company- the present appellant. The insurance company also filed its written statement, whereby it denied all the claims and claimed immunity on various counts. After perusing the pleadings of both the sides, the following three issues were framed by the tribunal:-

13. Issue No.1 related to fact, whether the accident in question was caused by rash and negligent driving of Truck No. U.G.U.-8058 by driving it rashly and negligently by its driver on 20.12.1996 at 11:30 a.m. at place 100 feeta, tri-crossing, Meerut Road, Ghaziabad within Police Station - Singhani Gate ?

14. Issue no.2 related to fact, as to what amount, if any are the claimants entitled to receive ?

15. Issue no.3 related to fact, whether the deceased herself contributed towards the accident as has been averred in para no.23 of the written statement of the opposite party no.3- (the present appellant), If yes, its affect ?

16. In so far as issue no. 1 and issue no.3 are concerned, both these issues being interconnected were decided by common finding by the tribunal.

17. In so far as finding on issue no.1 is concerned, then both the sides had opportunity to lead evidence and to file documentary proof pros and cons as per their respective claim, which they did.

18. The tribunal after appreciating the evidence and particularly the testimony of P.W.1 and P.W.2 recorded finding that the accident in question was in fact caused by the aforesaid offending vehicle by driving the same rashly and negligently at the aforesaid time and place within Police Station - Singhani Gate, District - Ghaziabad and there was no contributory negligence whatsoever caused by the deceased (Neksee).

19. In so far as issue no.2 is concerned, it primarily related to the fact of the amount of compensation, if any, to be awarded to the claimants, then it is noticeable from the award itself that the incident took place in the year 1996 and at that point of time after perusing the testimony and the documentary evidence, it was opined by the tribunal that the monthly income of the deceased was Rs.1,000/-. Accordingly, the annual income was assessed after slicing off 1/3rd of the overall amount i.e. to say annual income being Rs. 12,000/- and after deducting 1/3rd, it comes to Rs. 7,800/- (1000-350=650 x 12= 7,800/-) per annum. After making point wise calculation as per the aforesaid statistics, the tribunal applied multiplier of 16 to the annual dependency Rs. 7,800/-, thus aggregating to Rs. 1,28,000/-, which finding does not suffers from any infirmity and is liable to be confirmed, at this stage. Accordingly, confirmed.

20. The next point decided by the tribunal regarding aforesaid finding relates to fact as to who will be the person responsible to pay the aforesaid amount of compensation, when obviously after analytical and analogical approach and after perusing the evidence on record and primarily the testimony produced by the insurance company- the present appellant. On point of effectiveness of the driving licence, it was rightly held by the tribunal that the driving licence in question cannot be held to be either fake or not genuine and this analytical exercise was properly conducted by the tribunal primarily on ground that the relevant document, the licence renewal register of the concerned transport authority was never produced so as to give credence to the claim made by the witness produced by the insurance company on the point of entry made in the renewal register kept for renewal of licences.

21. Next, the driving licence itself was produced by the driver of the offending truck, which bore on its face, the signature of the concerned transport authority which in fact, issued the driving licence. Under these circumstaces, it was incumbent on the transport authority to have satisfactorily and reasonably denied endorsement of that particular transport authority on the driving licence as such, but this burden was never discharged properly and in view of the fact that claim raised by producing the driving licence itself and the copy of the application for renewal of the licence in qeustion moved before the concerned transport authority and in view of the various directions and views expressed by the Hon'ble Apex Court in various cases referred in the judgment of the tribunal it recorded finding that the driver of the aforesaid offending vehicle was possessing valid and effective driving licence, which finding cannot be faulted with, at this juncture, as the scrutiny done by the tribunal appears to be based on material on record and the verbal claim against non renewal does not carry substance.

22. Considering the age of the deceased and the entirety of this case, this Court is of the considered opinion that the amount of overall compensation Rs.1,28,000/- carrying 12% interest per annum cannot be said to be either excessive or unreasonable amount. But it is just compensation.

23. Consequently, the finding recorded by the claims tribunal in Claim Petition No. 53 of 1997 (Kishwar Ali and another vs. Udaiveer Tyagi and others) on all the three issues is hereby upheld.

24. Therefore, the appeal being devoid of merit is hereby rejected.

25. Office is directed to remit the amount of appeal Rs. 25,000/- back to the tribunal, so that proper compliance of the tribunal's order may be ensured.

26. Cost easy.

27. The lower court record may be remitted back to it for ensuring proper compliance.

A. Motor Accident Act, 1988 - Disability and Permanent Disability – Assessment of loss - Principle to be followed by Tribunal - Disability refers to any restriction or lack of ability to perform an activity in the manner considered normal for a human-being - Permanent disability refers to the residuary incapacity or loss of use of some part of the body, found existing at the end of the period of treatment and recuperation - What requires to be assessed by the Tribunal is the effect of the permanent disability on the earning capacity of the injured; and after assessing the loss of earning capacity in terms of a percentage of the income, it has to be quantified in terms of money, to arrive at the future loss of earnings - Tribunal has to first decide whether there is any permanent disability and if so the extent of such permanent disability. (Para 18)

B. Motor Accident Act, 1988 – Compensation - Computation in injury cases - In injury cases, the claimants are entitled to pecuniary as well as non-pecuniary damages - General principles for computation of compensation in injury laid down by Apex Court in R.D. (Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Shri Rahul Agarwal, learned counsel for the appellant and Shri Bed Kant Mishra, learned counsel for the opposite parties.

2. This appeal has been filed against the judgement and award dated 31.10.2015 passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal /Additional District Judge, Court no. 18, Meerut, in MAC No. 619 of 2014 by which the learned tribunal has awarded a compensation of Rs. 3,64,500/- with 7% simple interest per annum from the date of filing of this claim petition.

3. Aggrieved by the impugned award, the UPSRTC/appellant has filed this appeal stating that the plea of contributory negligence on the part of TATA-407 was not properly considered. The claimant was driving a motor cycle without a valid driving license and there was contributory negligence on his part. The disability certificate was not issued by the CMO, it was issued by a private doctor and the same should not have been relied. The compensation amount has been arbitrarily assessed and is in the higher side. The injury sustained by the claimant is not in the nature of permanent disability. It was also not shown that after the accident the claimant was terminated or removed from his job. The injury which was sustained by the claimant was on his jaw and it could not effect the job of the claimant weigh man clerk. There was no cogent evidence with regard to income of the claimant. The compensation and interest is highly excessive and the award being not acceptable under law should be set aside.

5. In respect of an accident dated 11.05.2014 which took place at about 6:30 AM when the claimant was going on his motor cycle from Hapur to Meerut. When he reached to town Kharkhauda, the Roadways Bus No. UP 15 AT -0814 which was driven by driver very rashly and negligently came from the side of Meerut and dashed the motor cycle and the claimant sustained serious injuries. The claimant remained under treatment for a very long period and it resulted in permanent disability. He was working in the Suger Mill Modi Nagar as claimant clerk and he was aged about 28 years. Therefore, this petition has been filed for compensation.

6. The defendant UPSRTC filed a written statement denying the allegations of the petition and stating that the accident did not occurred because of the rashness and negligence of the driver of the Bus. The driver was having valid and effective driving license. The said accident took place because of rash and negligent driving of a truck U.P. 37-T-0371 which dashed the bus resulting collision with the motor cycle. The claimant was not having the valid driving license. He was not wearing the helmet. There was contributory negligence on his part, the driver of the truck and the owner has not been made party.

7. The driver Satyaveer Singh has also filed written statement who has stated that at the time of the accident, he was having a valid driving license. He has denied that the accident took place by his bus and has stated that, if at all, there is any responsibility of paying compensation the same should be paid by the UPSRCT.

8. On the basis of pleadings of parties, following issues have been framed, the English translation thereof is as follows:

1. Whether on 11.05.2014, at 6:30 a.m. when the claimant was going on his motor cycle from Hapur to Meerut and when he reached to town Kharkhauda, the Roadways Bus No. U.P. 15 AT -0814 which was driven by driver very rashly and negligently came from the side of Meerut, dashed the motor cycle and the claimant sustained serious injuries?

2. Whether the accident occurs due to rash and negligent driving of Truck no. U.P. 37 T-0371 by the driver who dashed the motor cycle of the claimant?

3. Whether the said accident is the result of rash and negligent driving of claimant itself?

4. Whether the accident is the result of contributory negligence?

5. Whether the driver of Roadways Bus No. U.P. 15 AT-0814 was having valid and effective driving license on the date of accident?

6. Whether the petition is having fault of non-formulation of necessary parties.

7. Whether the claimants are entitled for any relief, if yes, then how much and from whom?

9. The claimant PW-1 and PW-2 Dr. R.N. Gupta have been examined in support. The documentary evidence has also been filed showing his disability and treatment. The defendant no. 2 has examined himself as DW-1 and DW-2 conductor Hukum Singh has also been examined.

10. After hearing both the sides and perusing evidence on record, the learned tribunal passed the impugned award.

11. The learned counsel for the UPSRTC has confined his argument to the fact of contributory negligence and that the truck owner of TATA 407 and the driver were not made party and there is non-joinder of necessary party. Further argument is that no eyewitness has been examined and the disability certificate is not valid as it has been issued by a private doctor and relied upon by the learned tribunal. He has however, not disputed the quantum of compensation.

12. It was the case of appellant that it was TATA 407 which dashed the motorcycle of the claimant while overtaking THELA and in the process, it also hit the bus of the appellant and the bus collided with a tree and got badly damaged. From the appellant side DW-1 and DW-2 were examined to prove this fact. On the other hand, the case of the claimant was that the bus hit his motorcycle and the driver of the bus was driving the bus very rashly and negligently at the time of accident. FIR was lodged against driver of the offending bus and after investigation charge-sheet was submitted by police against the driver of the bus who has stated himself in his evidence that in that case he appeared and was released on bail. The claimant-injured examined himself and supported the version of petition. He is an injured witness and obviously his testimony assumes greater weight and therefore much reliance was placed by the Tribunal. The learned Tribunal on the basis of evidence on record and also referring the judgements of this Court in UPSRTC v Shanti Devi 2007 (3) TAC 261 and New India Insurance Co v Lekhraj 2009 ACC 96 (DB) came to the conclusion that that the accident took place because of rash and negligent driving of the driver of the bus. It was also rightly concluded by the Tribunal that, as this was established that the accident occurred due to rash and negligent driving of the bus driver, there was no need to implead the driver and owner of TATA 407.

13. The learned counsel for the appellant has raised the issue of contributory negligence on the part of the claimant. There appears to be no evidence given by the appellant side on this point and even DW-1 and DW-2 have also not stated anything about it. But the learned counsel has submitted that the claimant was not having valid driving licence to drive motorcycle at the time of accident and therefore, it should be inferred that the claimant contributed towards accident.

14. It needs to be mentioned that where an accident is due to negligence of both parties, substantially there would be contributory negligence and both would be blamed. In a case of contributory negligence, the crucial question on which liability depends would be whether either party could, by exercise of reasonable care, could have avoided the consequence of other's negligence. Whichever party could have avoided the consequence of other's negligence would be liable for the accident. It is now well settled that in the case of contributory negligence, Courts have power to apportion the loss between the parties as seems just and equitable. The question raised is that the claimant was not having driving licence and therefore, he is liable for contributory negligence. This argument is of no help to the appellant as it has been settled legal position that the party taking such plea is required to prove the same by adducing evidence. On the contrary, the appellant and the witnesses examined have denied that any such accident took place by the bus. In U.P. State Road Transport Corporation v. Rani Srivastava; 2006 ACJ 1864), it has been held that where the factum of accident is denied by the opposite party, plea of contributory negligence is not available. Moreover, it has been also held in Municipal Corporation of Greater Bombay v. Laxman Iyer; AIR 2003 SC 4182 that mere breach of traffic regulation by injured/victim cannot be a ground to fix responsibility for accident on such injured/victim and there should be concrete, clinching, positive and legally acceptable material for that. In Gujarat State Road Transport Corporation Vs. Thacker Narottam Kalyanji; 2006(1) TAC 678 and Sudhir Kumar Rana Vs. Surinder Singh; AIR 2008 SC 2405), (2007) ACJ 2268 (MP) (DB), it was held that if a person drives a vehicle without a driving licence, he commits offence, but merely because he had no driving licence, the same alone cannot be sufficient to attribute contributory negligence to that driver when the evidence had disclosed him to be an efficient driver. Moreover, the claimant has stated before the Tribunal that he has driving licence and the same is on record which has been issued by RTO, Ghaziabad for driving motor vehicle except transport vehicle. Thus, there is no force in this argument of appellant.

15. Another argument is with regard to the disability certificate of the claimant which has not been issued by CMO or Medical Board but by a private hospital. In Muthaiah Sekhar v Nesamony Tpt Corporation AIR 1998 SC 3064 and Rajesh Kumar Raju vs Yudhveer Singh 2008 ACJ 2131 (SC), though the disability certificate was not issued by authorized medical officer or board and it has been held that what is necessary is that the doctor who has issued the certificate of disability must be examined to prove it. Unless the author of the certificate examined himself ,it was not admissible in evidence .it was also not known whether the person issued the certificate was competent to to issue such certificate. It is also necessary that such doctor must have treated the injured. If the disablement percentage is expressed with reference to any specific limb, then the effect of such disablement of the limb on the functioning of the entire body, that is the permanent disability suffered by the person. In Rajesh Kumar Raju (supra) certificate was issued after two years of Accident and it was not known whether the doctor issuing certificate treated the injured, on what basis such certificate was issued two years after the accident was not known and the author of the certificate ass not examined, hence it was held that the same could not be relied upon.

16. In this case, the doctor has been examined as PW-2 and he has stated the claimant remained under his treatment for a substantial period. On the basis of x-ray reports, and treatment, he has stated that the injured sustained serious injuries, his jaws was fractured and plate was inserted by operation. Three upper teeth were also broken. The learned Tribunal has discussed in detail the seriousness of injury and the impact thereof on the functional and physical ability in day to day activities. He was under prolonged treatment and record shows that the learned Tribunal found that as per bills, Rs. 145000/- was spent on his treatment, though, the claimant has stated that Rs. 400000/- were spent on his treatment.

17. In injury cases, the claimants are entitled to pecuniary as well as non-pecuniary damages. In R.D. Hatangadi v. Pest Control (India) Pvt. Ltd., (1995) 1 SCC 551 and Raj Kumar v. Ajay Kumar, (2011) 1 SCC 343, the Supreme Court laid down the general principles for computation of compensation in injury.

"The provision of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 ("Act" for short) makes it clear that the award must be just, which means that compensation should, to the extent possible, fully and adequately restore the claimant to the position prior to the accident. The object of awarding damages is to make good the loss suffered as a result of wrong done as far as money can do so, in a fair, reasonable and equitable manner."

18. Accordingly, disability refers to any restriction or lack of ability to perform an activity in the manner considered normal for a human-being. Permanent disability refers to the residuary incapacity or loss of use of some part of the body, found existing at the end of the period of treatment and recuperation. What requires to be assessed by the Tribunal is the effect of the permanent disability on the earning capacity of the injured; and after assessing the loss of earning capacity in terms of a percentage of the income, it has to be quantified in terms of money, to arrive at the future loss of earnings. Therefore, the Tribunal has to first decide whether there is any permanent disability and if so the extent of such permanent disability.

19. The doctor has determined the disability of the claimant to be 35% in this case. The learned Tribunal has, however, determined the same to be 25% on the basis of evidence on record. The learned Tribunal assessed his monthly income to be Rs. 4500/- considering that he was working as weigh man in Modi Sugar Mills and also in view of judgement in Sayyad Sadiq v Divisional Manager, United Insurance Company 2014 (1) TAC 369 (SC) determining the income of vegetable seller in view of price rise to be Rs. 6500/- monthly, in Sheela Pandey v New India Insurance (1) ACCD 276 (All) of milkman to be Rs. 6500/- per month and in Ramchandrappa v Manager, Sunderam Royal Insurance Company 2011 (4) TAC (SC), of a coolie to be Rs. 4500/- monthly. Thus the income determined by the learned Tribunal is also reasonable and in the lower side. Correct multiplier of 17 has been applied taking into note the judgement in Sarla Verma v DTC Ltd., AIR 2009 SC 3104 and thereafter 75% deduction in view of 25% disability has been made and after adding the medical expenses Rs. 364500/- has been awarded as compensation with 7% simple interest which cannot be said to be in higher side.

20. In view of above discussion, I find no perversity or illegality in the impugned judgement and award and consequently, the appeal has got no force and is liable to be dismissed.

21. The appeal is dismissed.

22. The office is directed to send a copy of this judgement along with lower court record to the Court concerned for information and necessary compliance.

23. Stay, if any, shall stand vacated. Remit back the amount of Rs. 25000/- deposited by the appellant to the learned Tribunal to be adjusted against the awarded compensation.

A. Employee's Compensation Act, 1923 - Claim – Liability of Employer - Necessity of proving negligence - Employer shall be liable to pay compensation for personal injuries caused to the employee by an accident arising out of and in the course of his employment - To hold the liability, it is not necessary to prove negligence on the part of employer - It is to be established only that the injured or deceased employee, at the time of accident was in the employment and was engaged in employer's work - Liability of the employer to pay compensation is absolute subject to those three exceptions viz. first employee was under the influence of drinks or drugs, second he has wilfully disobeyed an order given and third where the workman has wilfully removed a safety guard or other devices provided for his safety - (Para 12 & 18)

B. Employee's Compensation Act, 1923 - Section 2 (n) and 3 - Determination of 'course of employment' - The words in the course of employment mean in the course of the work which the workman is employed to do and which is incidental to it - The words arising out of employment are understood to mean that during the course of employment, injury has resulted from some risk incidental to the duties of the service, which, unless engaged in the duty owing to the master, it is reasonable to believe the workman would not otherwise have suffered. (Para 13)

C. Claim - Procedure – Non-framing of issue – Effect - Not framing of issues by Commissioner will not vitiate the decision unless it caused prejudice to the affected party - Non-framing of issues is not regarded as fatal where parties had gone to trial fully knowing the rival case and had led evidence in support of their contentions - Commissioner discussed all the pleas raised and opportunities were given to adduce evidence - No prejudice caused to the appellant by non-framing of issue. (Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Shri. S.K. Mehrotra, learned counsel for the appellant and Shri Pawan Giri, Advocate holding brief of Shri B.N. Pathak, learned counsel for the respondent.

2. This appeal has been filed against judgement and award dated 31.05.2014 passed by Workmen's Compensation Commissioner/ Assistant Labour Commissioner, Bulandshahr in E.C.A Case No. 24 of 2011 (Smt. Shakuntla Devi and another Vs. Veerpal Singh and another) by which the learned Commissioner has compensation of Rs. 4,42,740/- along-with 12% simple interest from the date of filing of the petition.

3. Before the learned Commissioner an application was given under Section ¾ Workmen Compensation Act (Employee Compensation Act), 1923, stating that the son of the claimant Naresh Kumar Sharma, aged about 22 years was employed as conductor/cleaner on TATA LPT No. U.P 75-A/4115 and he was given a salary of Rs. 4,000/- per month with Rs. 50 per day for diet. The accident took place on 24.01.2009, when as per direction of the vehicle owner the deceased after loading vegetables on the said vehicle was going to Noida with the driver Bhanu Prakash. The vehicle reached in between Kasna-Tuglakpur, some noise started coming from the gear box of the vehicle whereupon driver Bhanu Prakash stopped the vehicle on the road side and sought direction from the vehicle owner on telephone and on his direction sent the deceased to village Tuglakpur to bring mechanic. The deceased took lift on a motor-cycle and while going to Tuglakpur, when the motor-cycle reached close to Pari Chauk, some unknown motor-cycle dashed on the motor-cycle and the motor-cycle slipped on the road side and the deceased sustained serious injuries on his head. He was taken to Kailash Hospital, Noida. His condition was serious and when the family members of the deceased reached, he was admitted to Sharda Hospital, Noida and on 24.01.2009 in the midnight the head of the deceased was put to serious operation and during treatment on 01.02.2009, he died in the hospital. FIR was lodged, inquest was prepared and the other police papers were submitted with the application. The deceased died during the course of employment of the vehicle owner and the said vehicle was insured at the time of accident, therefore, this petition has been filed.

4. Defendant no. 1 filed written statement and admitted the contents of para no. 1 to 4 and denied the contents of para no. 6 to 7. He admitted that the deceased was in his employment and on his direction he and the driver along-with the said vehicle went to Sikandraband and after loading vegetables they were going to Noida, when the accident took place and the deceased died because of injuries sustained in the accident and he was in the course of employment. He was paid Rs. 4,000/- a month. The RC, Insurance, fitness and driving license were valid at the time of accident. If the claimant is entitled for compensation, the responsibility to pay compensation is on the Insurance Company.

5. Insurance Company filed written statement denying the allegations of the petition and also denying the employment of the deceased, his age and his salary. The Insurance Company has further stated in order to obtain compensation in a planned way, the deceased have been shown to be conductor/cleaner in the said vehicle. The accident has not been caused by the said vehicle but by some unknown motor-cycle and therefore, the petition is liable to be dismissed.

6. After taking evidence and hearing both the sides the learned Commissioner has passed the impugned award and the same has been challenged by the appellant.

7. The appellant has challenged the impugned award on the ground that the award is arbitrary, illegal and against the evidence on record. There was no evidence regarding the deceased being in the employment of the car owner. Substantial questions of law was raised on the basis of which it was requested that the impugned award is liable to be set aside.

8. Vide order dated 08.07.2014 of this Court the appeal has been admitted on the following substantial questions of law:

1. Whether in the absence of any evidence in regard to employment of deceased as Cleaner on truck in question, the relationship of employer and employee between the owner of truck in question and deceased could be assumed?

2. Whether it was mandatory on the part of Commissioner to have first frame the issues before deciding the claim filed by respondent-claimant?

3. Whether in the absence of any evidence in regard to relationship of employer and employee the claim petition was entertain-able before the Workmen's Compensation Commissioner?

9. Heard the learned counsel for the both the side and perused the lower court record.

10. The first ground of attack has been that the deceased was not employee of the car owner and he was not even driving the car at the time of incident. Section 2 (n) of the Employee's Compensation Act, 1923 defines 'employee' as below:

"(n) "workman" means any person (other than a person whose employment is of a casual nature and who is employed otherwise than for the purposes of the employer's trade or business) who is -

(i) a railway servant as defined in Section 3 of the Indian Railways Act 1890 (9 of 1890) not permanently employed in any administrative district or sub-divisional office of a railway and not employed in any such capacity as is specified in Schedule II or

(ia)(a) a master seaman or other member of the crew of a ship.

(b) a captain or other member of the crew of an aircraft

(c) a person recruited as driver helper mechanic cleaner or in any other capacity in connection with a motor vehicle

(d) a person recruited for work abroad by a company and who is employed outside India in any such capacity as is specified in Schedule II and the ship aircraft or motor vehicle or company as the case may be is registered in India or;

(ii) employed in any such capacity as is specified in Schedule II whether the contract of employment was made before or after the passing of this Act and whether the contract is expressed or implied oral or in writing; but does not include any person working in the capacity of a member of the Armed Forces of the Union; and any reference to a workman who has been injured shall where the workman is dead includes a reference to his dependants or any of them."

11. Item XXV of Schedule II includes driver within the definition of the employee and it has been admitted by the vehicle owner that the deceased was employed by him as conductor/cleaner on the said vehicle Tata on payment of Rs. 4000/- as monthly wages. Section 3 of the Act deals with the Employer's liability for compensation and provides as below:

(1) If personal injury is caused to a workman by accident arising out of and in the course of his employment his employer shall be liable to pay compensation in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter :

Provided that the employer shall not be so liable -*

(a) in respect of any injury which does not result in the total or partial disablement of the workman for a period exceeding three days;

(b) in respect of any injury not resulting in death or permanent total disablement caused by an accident which is directly attributable to - the workman having been at the time thereof under the influence of drink or drugs or the wilful disobedience of the workman to an order expressly given or to a rule expressly framed for the purpose of securing the safety of workmen or the wilful removal or disregard by the workman of any safety guard or other device he knew to have been provided for the purpose of securing the safety of workman. (2) If a workman employed in any employment specified in Part A of Schedule III contracts any disease specified therein as an occupational disease peculiar to that employment or if a workman whilst in the service of an employer in whose service he has been employed for a continuous period of not less than six months (which period shall not include a period of service under any other employer in the same kind of employment) in any employment specified in Part B of Schedule III contracts any disease specified therein as an occupational disease peculiar to that employment or if a workman whilst in the service of one or more employers in any employment specified in Part C of Schedule III for such continuous period as the Central Government may specify in respect of each such employment contracts any disease specified therein as an occupational disease peculiar to that employment the contracting of the disease shall be deemed to be as injury by accident within the meaning of this section and unless the contrary is proved the accident shall be deemed to have arisen out of and in the course of the employment :

Provided that if it proved -* that a workman whilst in the service of one or more employers in any employment specified in Part C of Schedule III has contracted a disease specified therein as an occupational disease peculiar to that employment during a continuous period which is less than the period specified under this sub-section for that employment; and that the disease has arisen out of and in the course of the employment the contracting of such disease shall be deemed to be an injury by accident within the meaning of this section : Provided further that if it is proved that a workman who having served under any employer in any employment specified in Part B of Schedule III or who having served under one or more employers in any employment specified in Part C of that Schedule for a continuous period specified under this sub-section for that employment and he has after the cessation of such service contracted any disease specified in the said Part B or the said Part C as the case may be as an occupational disease peculiar to the employment and that such disease arose out of the employment the contracting of the disease shall be deemed to be injury by accident within the meaning of this section.

(2A) If a workman employed in any employment specified in Part C of Schedule III contracts any occupational disease peculiar to that employment the contracting whereof is deemed to be an injury by accident within the meaning of this section and such employment was under more than one employer all such employers shall be liable for the payment of the compensation in such proportion as the Commissioner may in the circumstances deem just.

(3) The Central Government or the State Government after giving by notification in the Official Gazette not less than three months' notice of its intention so to do may by a like notification add any description of employment to the employments specified in Schedule III and shall specify in the case of employments so added the diseases which shall be deemed for the purposes of this section to be occupational diseases peculiar to those employments respectively and thereupon the provisions of sub-section (2) shall apply in the case of a notification by the Central Government within the territories to which this Act extends or in case of and notification by the State Government within the State as if such diseases had been declared by this Act to be occupational diseases peculiar to those employments.

Save as provided by sub-sections (2), (2A) and (3) no compensation shall be payable to a workman in respect of any disease unless the disease is directly attributable to a specific injury by accident arising out of and in the course of his employment. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to confer any right to compensation on a workman in respect of any injury if he has instituted in a civil court a suit for damages in respect of the injury against the employer or any other person; and no suit for damages shall be maintainable by a workman in any court of law in respect of any injury - (a) if he has instituted a claim to compensation in respect of the injury before a Commissioner; or

(b) if an agreement has been come to between the workman and his employer providing for the payment of compensation in respect of the injury in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

12. Thus, section 3 incorporates that the employer shall be liable to pay compensation for personal injuries caused to the employee by an accident arising out of and in the course of his employment. To hold the liability, it is not necessary to prove negligence on the part of employer and as such, the liability of the employer to pay compensation is absolute subject to those three exceptions which have been carved out in the section itself. The employer is absolved from the liability of paying compensation if the employee at the relevant time was under the influence of drinks or drugs or who has wilfully disobeyed an order given or rule framed for the safety of workman, or in cases where the workman has wilfully removed a safety guard or other devices provided for his safety. In this case, there is nothing on record to show that the case is covered under any of the exceptions.

13. Now, the next question is with regard to the determination of 'course of employment' and whether the deceased employee was in the course of employment when the accident took place. In Mackinnon Mackenzie & Co.(P). Ltd v Ibrahim Mahammad Issak, AIR 1970 SC 1906, the Supreme Court held:

"The words in the course of employment mean in the course of the work which the workman is employed to do and which is incidental to it. The words arising out of employment are understood to mean that during the course of employment, injury has resulted from some risk incidental to the duties of the service, which, unless engaged in the duty owing to the master, it is reasonable to believe the workman would not otherwise have suffered. In other words there must be a causal relationship between the accident and the employment. The expression arising out of employment is again not confined to the mere nature of the employment. The expression applies as such to its nature, its obligations and its incidents. If by reason of any of those factors the workman is brought within the zone of special danger the injury would be one which arises out of employment. To put it differently if the accident had occurred on account of a risk which is an incident of the employment, the claim for compensation must succeed, unless of course the workman has exposed himself to an added peril by his own imprudent act."

14. In Talcher Thermal Station v Bijuli Naik, 76 (1993) CLT 699 (Orrisa), the Court has observed:

"The pre-conditions for attracting the provisions of section 3(1) of the Act are that death or injury must be caused to a employee; the said injury must have been caused by accident; and the accident must have arisen out of and in course of his employment. A casual connection between the employment and the injury caused by the accident must exist. If after looking the at the entire facts, a fair inference can be drawn that the employment caused the injury, then the employer would be liable to pay the compensation. The liability under section 3(1) of the Act would accrue, if it is established that an injury has been caused to an employee and the accident arose out of and in the course of his employment."

The Court further laid down following principles to determine the course of employment and arising out of employment:

"(i) there must be a causal connection between the injury and the accident and the accident and the work done in the course of employment; (ii) the onus is upon the appellant to show that it was the work and the resulting strain which contributed to or aggravated the injury; (iii) it is not necessary that the workman must be actually working at the time of his death or that death must occur while he was working or had just ceased to work; and (iv) where the evidence is balanced, if the evidence shows a greater probability which satisfies a reasonable man that the work contributed to the causing of personal injury, it would be enough for the workman to succeed. But where the accident involved a risk common to all humanity and did not involve any peculiar or exceptional danger resulting from the nature of the employment, or where the accident was the result of an added peril to which the workman, by his own conduct, exposed himself and which peril was not in the normal performance of the duties of his employment, then the employer will not be liable under section 3 of the Act."

15. In Shakuntala Chandrakant Shreshti v Prabhakar Maruti Garvali AIR 2007 SC 248, it has been reiterated by the Court that there has to be a proximate nexus between cause of death and employment instead of a stray mention that death took place during the course of employment. The Court laid down following principles to determine the course of employment:

"1.There must be a causal connection between the injury and the accident and the accident and the work done in the course of employment.

2. The onus is upon the appellant to show that it was the work and the resulting strain which contributed to or aggravated the injury.

3. If the evidence brought on records establishes a greater probability which satisfies a reasonable man that the work contributed to the causing of the personal injury, it would be enough for the workman to succeed, but the same would depend upon the fact of each case."

16. Section 30 of the Act provides for appeal against order of Commissioner. It lays down as follows:

"(1) An appeal shall lie to the High Court from the following orders of a Commissioner namely :-

(a) an order as awarding as compensation a lump sum whether by way of redemption of a half-monthly payment or otherwise or disallowing a claim in full or in part for a lump sum;

(a) an order awarding interest or penalty under section 4A;

(b) an order refusing to allow redemption of a half-monthly payment;

(c) an order providing for the distribution of compensation among the dependants of a deceased workman or disallowing any claim of a person alleging himself to be such dependant;

(d) an order allowing or disallowing any claim for the amount of an indemnity under the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 12; or

(e) an order refusing to register a memorandum of agreement or registering the same or providing for the registration of the same subject to conditions :

Provided that no appeal shall lie against any order unless a substantial question of law is involved in the appeal and in the case of an order other than an order such as is referred to in clause (b) unless the amount in dispute in the appeal is not less than three hundred rupees :*

Provided further that no appeal shall lie in any case in which the parties have agreed to abide by the decision of the Commissioner or in which the order of the Commissioner gives effect to an agreement come to by the parties :*

Provided further that no appeal by an employer under clause (a) shall lie unless the memorandum of appeal is accompanied by a certificate by the Commissioner to the effect that the appellant has deposited with him the amount payable under the order appealed against.*

The period of limitation for an appeal under this section shall be sixty days.

(3) The provisions of section 5 of the Limitation Act 1963 (36 of 1963) shall be applicable to appeals under this section."

17. In Shakuntala Chandrakant Shreshti (supra), the Supreme Court has explained the expression 'question of law' which is inherently required for maintaining an appeal against the order of compensation passed under the Act. The Court laid down as follows:

"A question of law would arise when the same is not dependent upon examination of evidence, which may not require any fresh investigation of fact. A question of law would, however, arise when the finding is perverse in the sense that no legal evidence was brought on record or jurisdictional facts were not brought on record."

18. It is clear from the scheme of the Act that for extending the benefit of the beneficial provision, the contract of employment may be express, implied, written or oral and to succeed in the claim for compensation, it is to be established only that the injured or deceased employee, at the time of accident was in the employment and was engaged in employer's work or for the furtherance of the employer's work and was not doing something for his own benefit or accommodation. It was found established by the learned Commissioner that, in absence of any otherwise evidence on record and in view of admission of the employer, the the accident took place in the course of employment and the probabilities are more in the favour of the deceased to infer that the accident arose out of and in the course of employment. The learned counsel to appellant has referred the judgement in Employees' State Insurance Corporation v Francis De Costa, 1997 (1) TAC 646 (SC) and has submitted that the employee cannot succeed in a claim based on employment injury unless the claimant establishes that the injury or death was caused in the course of employment and had its origin in the employment. In this referred case, the injury was sustained while the employee was on his way to his factory where he was employed from his home and the accident took place one kilometre away from his factory. Therefore. It was held that the said injury was not caused by an accident arising out of his employment. The facts of this instant case is seemingly different as the nature of the employment of the deceased was not confined to a premises and the very nature of his employment was based on a vehicle movement on the road as cleaner/conductor.

19. The learned counsel to the respondent-claimant has referred to two judgements, both of Orissa High Court, namely, S.D. Manager, National Insurance Company v Shaibarani Mohanta, 2019 (2) TAC 115 and S.D. Manager, National Insurance Company v Suresh Kumar Behera, 2019 (2) TAC 461 to show that in both the cases, driver of the truck died when he stopped the truck and stepped down to take food and was dashed by another truck and the Court applying the doctrine of notional extension and held that there was casual connection between the employment of the deceased and his accidental death and the accident took place in the course of employment.

20. Clearly, it was found on the basis of evidence on record that as per direction of the employer, the deceased was going on the said vehicle after loading vegetables from Sikandrabad to Noida at the time of accident when some noise started coming from the gear box of the vehicle which was got broken whereupon driver Bhanu

Prakash stopped the vehicle on the road side and sought direction from the vehicle owner on telephone and on his direction sent the deceased to village Tuglakpur to bring mechanic. The deceased took lift on a motor-cycle and while going to Tuglakpur, when the motor-cycle reached close to Pari Chauk, some unknown motor-cycle dashed on the motor-cycle and the motor-cycle slipped on the road side and the deceased sustained serious injuries on his head. During treatment, he died. Despite several opportunities given, the Insurance Company did not give any evidence to rebut this evidence.

21. The fact that the deceased was not inside the vehicle on which he was working as cleaner/conductor will not make any difference as the deceased would certainly continue to be in course of employment as he went to bring mechanic on the instruction of driver so that vehicle could be repaired. Unless he returned after completing the assigned work for which repair of the vehicle was necessary, he was in the course of employment. There was no occasion for him to take lift on the motor-cycle which was passing through nor he was to be at the place of occurrence unless he was asked by the driver to bring mechanic. When a vehicle gets out of order, it is the responsibility of the employee to get the same repaired and effort to bring mechanic is very much covered in the employment condition particularly when the driver had sought telephonic instruction from the owner.

22. The next question raised from the side of the appellant is that there was no FIR in respect of of incident. In the impugned judgement, the learned Commissioner has mentioned that photo-estate copy of GD and inquest report was on record and from the perusal thereof, it is clear that a report was given in the PS Kasana and the police took the dead body in possession and inquest report was prepared. For the purpose of claim petition, I find it enough as registration of offence and FIR is the responsibility of the police. It has been found sufficient by the learned Commissioner and the Insurance Company, by any evidence, has not been able to show that no such accident took place. It is also pertinent to mention that to succeed under Act, it is not necessary to show and prove negligence. The driver has been examined to prove the event and to prove that when the accident took place he was involved in a work which was in the course of his employment. No evidence was given by the Insurance Company and even a surveyor was not deputed to bring facts as alleged to contradict the version of claim. As such, I find no force in the argument.

23. It has been also argued from the side of appellant that the learned Commissioner disposed of the claim without framing issues and this error leads to illegality. A support from judgement in New India Assurance Company v Braja Kishore Sutar, 1992 ACJ 715 has been sought, but, in the referred judgement, the law has been clarified that not framing of issues by Commissioner will not vitiate the decision unless it caused prejudice to the affected party. In Nedupuri v Sampati, AIR 1963 SC 684, it has been held that non-framing of issues is not regarded as fatal where parties had gone to trial fully knowing the rival case and had led evidence in support of their contentions. In this case, the learned Commissioner has discussed all the pleas raised by the appellant and opportunities were given to adduce evidence. Therefore, no prejudice has been caused to the appellant by non-framing of issues and this argument has no force.

24. On the basis of above discussion, I find that the learned Commissioner has given finding on the basis of evidence that at the time of accident, the deceased was performing his duties and was in the course of his employment. He was employed on the vehicle as cleaner/conductor on payment of 4000/- rupees monthly wages. The learned Commissioner has rightly calculated the compensation after applying multiplier and making due deduction against personal expences. The issues raised as substantial question of law relate to facts and they have been duly considered disposed in the impugned judgement on the basis of facts evidence and after applying correct law. There is no perversity or illegality in the impugned judgement and award nor any substantial question of law is involved in this appeal. The appeal lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

25. Accordingly, the first appeal from order is dismissed.

A. Employee's Compensation Act, 1923 - Claim – Liability of Employer - Necessity of proving negligence - Employer shall be liable to pay compensation for personal injuries caused to the employee by an accident arising out of and in the course of his employment - To hold the liability, it is not necessary to prove negligence on the part of employer - It is to be established only that the injured or deceased employee, at the time of accident was in the employment and was engaged in employer's work - Liability of the employer to pay compensation is absolute subject to those three exceptions viz. first employee was under the influence of drinks or drugs, second he has wilfully disobeyed an order given and third where the workman has willfully removed a safety guard or other devices provided for his safety - (Para 12 & 17)

B. Employee's Compensation Act, 1923 - Section 2 (n) and 3 - Determination of 'course of employment' - The words in the course of employment mean in the course of the work which the workman is employed to do and which is incidental to it - The words arising out of employment are understood to mean that during the course of employment, injury has resulted from some risk incidental to the duties of the service, which, unless engaged in the duty owing to the master, it is reasonable to believe the workman would not otherwise have suffered. 7. Municipal Corporation of Greater Bombay v Kisan Gangaram Hire, (2009) 16 SCC 259

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Shri. Rahul Sahai, learned counsel for the appellant and Shri Ved Mani Sharma, learned counsel for the respondents.

2. This first appeal has been filed against award dated 30.10.2013 passed by Workmen'sCompensationCommissioner/Assistant Commissioner, Bareilly, in Case No. 16/E.C.A/12 (Smt. Warishan and others Vs. Reliance General Insurance Co. Ltd. and another) by which the learned Commissioner has awarded compensation of Rs. 5,19,154/- along-with 8% simple interest per annum from the date of award.

3. Before the learned Commissioner an application was filed under Employees Compensation Act, 1923 as amended in the year 2010 for award of compensation. In the application it was alleged that the husband of the claimant Shakeel Shah alias Shakir Shah was driver of defendant no. 2 in his private car bearing registration no. U.P 25-E/4065 on payment of Rs. 6,000/- per month with other expenses. On 15.09.2011, the deceased was coming from Pilibhit to Bareilly by that car, at about 7 p.m, on the turn of village Gotiya the car suddenly became out of order and stopped. The deceased came out of the car and standing on the road side, he started giving information on phone to the car owner. While he was giving information, some unknown vehicle dashed the deceased because of which he sustained serious and fatal injuries. He was taken to Mahajan Hospital, Bareilly for treatment from where he was referred to Lucknow Medical College where he was admitted and died on 22.09.2011. FIR was lodged in respect of the accident and offence was registered as crime no. 962/2011 under Section 279, 338, 304-A I.P.C. The car owner gave Rs. 25,000/- for the treatment of the deceased and nothing more was provided despite the demand raised by the claimant. The car owner said that the compensation can be claimed from the Insurance Company and relevant papers was given by him to the claimant. The said car was insured with the Insurance Company at the time of accident. Therefore, the petition was filed for compensation.

4. Notices were sent and despite service the car owner did not appear and the case was proceeded against him ex-parte on 1.09.2012. Insurance Company filed written statement denying the allegations of the application and stating that the deceased was not an employee with the car owner nor any accident took place by that car nor at the time of accident, the deceased was in the course of employment of the car owner. The age and salary was also denied. The petition has been filed by framing false story and the petitioners are not dependant of the deceased. The said car was being driven in violation of the Insurance policy.

5. The following issues (translated in English) were framed on the basis of pleadings of the parties:

1. Whether the deceased Shakeel Shah alias Shakir Shah was employed as driver of defendant no. 2 for his car bearing registration no. U.P 25-E/4065 and in the course of employment on 15.09.2011, the accident took place and because of sustained injuries during treatment he died on 22.09.2011?

2. Whether the car U.P 25-E/4065 of defendant no. 2 was insured on the date of accident and was been driven by driver having valid and effective driving licence?

3. Whether the claimants are dependants of the deceased at the time of accident?

4. Whether the defendant no. 2, the car owner was giving monthly salary of Rs. 6,000/- to the deceased and what was the age of the deceased at the time of accident?

5. Whether the claimants are entitled for compensation, if yes, how much and from which defendant.

6. From the side of claimant the mother of the deceased was examined and as documentary evidence registration certificate of the car, insurance policy, driving licence of the deceased, the copy of FIR, site map, final report, post-mortem report, inquest report, papers relating to treatment of the deceased, written report given in respect of accident, X-Ray and Ultrasound report of the deceased, bills of purchase of medicines, information given by Lucknow Medical College regarding death of deceased to police and other papers have been filed.

7. After hearing both the sides the learned Commissioner passed the impugned award and aggrieved by that this appeal has been filed.

8. The appellant has challenged the impugned award on the ground that the award is arbitrary, illegal and against the evidence on record. There was no evidence regarding the deceased being in the employment of the car owner. Following substantial questions of law was raised on the basis of which it was requested that the impugned award is liable to be set aside:

1. Whether in the facts and circumstances of the case, as well as evidence on record, in the absence of there being any cogent material to determine the employment of the deceased as a driver with the owner respondent, the Commissioner below recorded an erroneous and a perverse finding holding him to be employed as a driver with the owner respondent?

2. Whether in the absence of records of employment being produce (as required to be maintained under clause 28(3) of Indian Motor Tariff Section 13A of the Payment of Wages Act, 1936 and Section 18 if the Minimum Wages Act, 1948 adverse inference was liable to be drawn against the claimant and the Commissioner below erred in placing reliance upon wholly irrelevant consideration, while determining issue no. 1?

3. Whether in the facts and circumstances of the case and in light of the fact that at the time of the accident, the deceased was not seated in the insured vehicle in question, which in turn did not meet with any accident, the Commissioner below was unjustified in holding the Insurance Co./Appellant as liable to pay the amount under the award?

4. Whether in the facts, circumstances as well as evidence brought on record, the Commissioner below erred in discarding the contents of the inquest report and erred in placing reliance upon highly belated First Information Report in concluding that the death of the deceased had arisen arising out of the course of his employment?

5. Because the Commissioner below erred in law in assessing compensation even beyond what was claimed by the claimant?

9. The first ground of attack has been that the deceased was not employee of the car owner and he was not even driving the car at the time of incident. Section 2 (n) of the Employee's Compensation Act, 1923 defines 'employee' as below:

"(n) "workman" means any person (other than a person whose employment is of a casual nature and who is employed otherwise than for the purposes of the employer's trade or business) who is -

(i) a railway servant as defined in Section 3 of the Indian Railways Act 1890 (9 of 1890) not permanently employed in any administrative district or sub-divisional office of a railway and not employed in any such capacity as is specified in Schedule II or

(ia)(a) a master seaman or other member of the crew of a ship.

(b) a captain or other member of the crew of an aircraft

(c) a person recruited as driver helper mechanic cleaner or in any other capacity in connection with a motor vehicle

(d) a person recruited for work abroad by a company and who is employed outside India in any such capacity as is specified in Schedule II and the ship aircraft or motor vehicle or company as the case may be is registered in India or;

(ii) employed in any such capacity as is specified in Schedule II whether the contract of employment was made before or after the passing of this Act and whether the contract is expressed or implied oral or in writing; but does not include any person working in the capacity of a member of the Armed Forces of the Union; and any reference to a workman who has been injured shall where the workman is dead includes a reference to his dependants or any of them."

10. Item XXV of Schedule II includes driver within the definition of the employee. Section 3 of the Act deals with the Employer's liability for compensation and provides as below:

(1) If personal injury is caused to a workman by accident arising out of and in the course of his employment his employer shall be liable to pay compensation in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter :

Provided that the employer shall not be so liable -*

(a) in respect of any injury which does not result in the total or partial disablement of the workman for a period exceeding three days;

(b) in respect of any injury not resulting in death or permanent total disablement caused by an accident which is directly attributable to -

the workman having been at the time thereof under the influence of drink or drugs or the wilful disobedience of the workman to an order expressly given or to a rule expressly framed for the purpose of securing the safety of workmen or the wilful removal or disregard by the workman of any safety guard or other device he knew to have been provided for the purpose of securing the safety of workman. (2) If a workman employed in any employment specified in Part A of Schedule III contracts any disease specified therein as an occupational disease peculiar to that employment or if a workman whilst in the service of an employer in whose service he has been employed for a continuous period of not less than six months (which period shall not include a period of service under any other employer in the same kind of employment) in any employment specified in Part B of Schedule III contracts any disease specified therein as an occupational disease peculiar to that employment or if a workman whilst in the service of one or more employers in any employment specified in Part C of Schedule III for such continuous period as the Central Government may specify in respect of each such employment contracts any disease specified therein as an occupational disease peculiar to that employment the contracting of the disease shall be deemed to be as injury by accident within the meaning of this section and unless the contrary is proved the accident shall be deemed to have arisen out of and in the course of the employment :

Provided that if it proved -*

that a workman whilst in the service of one or more employers in any employment specified in Part C of Schedule III has contracted a disease specified therein as an occupational disease peculiar to that employment during a continuous period which is less than the period specified under this sub-section for that employment; and that the disease has arisen out of and in the course of the employment the contracting of such disease shall be deemed to be an injury by accident within the meaning of this section : Provided further that if it is proved that a workman who having served under any employer in any employment specified in Part B of Schedule III or who having served under one or more employers in any employment specified in Part C of that Schedule for a continuous period specified under this sub-section for that employment and he has after the cessation of such service contracted any disease specified in the said Part B or the said Part C as the case may be as an occupational disease peculiar to the employment and that such disease arose out of the employment the contracting of the disease shall be deemed to be injury by accident within the meaning of this section.

(2A) If a workman employed in any employment specified in Part C of Schedule III contracts any occupational disease peculiar to that employment the contracting whereof is deemed to be an injury by accident within the meaning of this section and such employment was under more than one employer all such employers shall be liable for the payment of the compensation in such proportion as the Commissioner may in the circumstances deem just.

(3) The Central Government or the State Government after giving by notification in the Official Gazette not less than three months' notice of its intention so to do may by a like notification add any description of employment to the employments specified in Schedule III and shall specify in the case of employments so added the diseases which shall be deemed for the purposes of this section to be occupational diseases peculiar to those employments respectively and thereupon the provisions of sub-section (2) shall apply in the case of a notification by the Central Government within the territories to which this Act extends or in case of and notification by the State Government within the State as if such diseases had been declared by this Act to be occupational diseases peculiar to those employments.

Save as provided by sub-sections (2), (2A) and (3) no compensation shall be payable to a workman in respect of any disease unless the disease is directly attributable to a specific injury by accident arising out of and in the course of his employment. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to confer any right to compensation on a workman in respect of any injury if he has instituted in a civil court a suit for damages in respect of the injury against the employer or any other person; and no suit for damages shall be maintainable by a workman in any court of law in respect of any injury - (a) if he has instituted a claim to compensation in respect of the injury before a Commissioner; or

(b) if an agreement has been come to between the workman and his employer providing for the payment of compensation in respect of the injury in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

11. Thus, section 3 incorporates that the employer shall be liable to pay compensation for personal injuries caused to the employee by an accident arising out of and in the course of his employment. To hold the liability, it is not necessary to prove negligence on the part of employer and as such, the liability of the employer to pay compensation is absolute subject to those three exceptions which have been carved out in the section itself. The employer is absolved from the liability of paying compensation if the employee at the relevant time was under the influence of drinks or drugs or who has wilfully disobeyed an order given or rule framed for the safety of workman, or in cases where the workman has wilfully removed a safety guard or other devices provided for his safety. In this case, there is nothing on record to show that the case is covered under any of the exceptions.

12. Now, the next question is with regard to the determination of 'course of employment' and whether the deceased employee was in the course of employment when the accident took place. In Mackinnon Mackenzie & Co.(P). Ltd v Ibrahim Mahammad Issak, AIR 1970 SC 1906, the Supreme Court held:

"The words in the course of employment mean in the course of the work which the workman is employed to do and which is incidental to it. The words arising out of employment are understood to mean that during the course of employment, injury has resulted from some risk incidental to the duties of the service, which, unless engaged in the duty owing to the master, it is reasonable to believe the workman would not otherwise have suffered. In other words there must be a causal relationship between the accident and the employment. The expression arising out of employment is again not confined to the mere nature of the employment. The expression applies as such to its nature, its obligations and its incidents. If by reason of any of those factors the workman is brought within the zone of special danger the injury would be one which arises out of employment. To put it differently if the accident had occurred on account of a risk which is an incident of the employment, the claim for compensation must succeed, unless of course the workman has exposed himself to an added peril by his own imprudent act."

13. In Talcher Thermal Station v Bijuli Naik, 76 (1993) CLT 699 (Orrisa), the Court has observed:

"The pre-conditions for attracting the provisions of section 3(1) of the Act are that death or injury must be caused to a employee; the said injury must have been caused by accident; and the accident must have arisen out of and in course of his employment. A casual connection between the employment and the injury caused by the accident must exist. If after looking the at the entire facts, a fair inference can be drawn that the employment caused the injury, then the employer would be liable to pay the compensation. The liability under section 3(1) of the Act would accrue, if it is established that an injury has been caused to an employee and the accident arose out of and in the course of his employment."

The Court further laid down following principles to determine the course of employment and arising out of employment:

"(i) there must be a causal connection between the injury and the accident and the accident and the work done in the course of employment; (ii) the onus is upon the appellant to show that it was the work and the resulting strain which contributed to or aggravated the injury; (iii) it is not necessary that the workman must be actually working at the time of his death or that death must occur while he was working or had just ceased to work; and (iv) where the evidence is balanced, if the evidence shows a greater probability which satisfies a reasonable man that the work contributed to the causing of personal injury, it would be enough for the workman to succeed. But where the accident involved a risk common to all humanity and did not involve any peculiar or exceptional danger resulting from the nature of the employment, or where the accident was the result of an added peril to which the workman, by his own conduct, exposed himself and which peril was not in the normal performance of the duties of his employment, then the employer will not be liable under section 3 of the Act."

14. In Shakuntala Chandrakant Shreshti v Prabhakar Maruti Garvali AIR 2007 SC 248, it has been reiterated by the Court that there has to be a proximate nexus between cause of death and employment instead of a stray mention that death took place during the course of employment. The Court laid down following principles to determine the course of employment:

"1.There must be a causal connection between the injury and the accident and the accident and the work done in the course of employment.

2. The onus is upon the appellant to show that it was the work and the resulting strain which contributed to or aggravated the injury.

3. If the evidence brought on records establishes a greater probability which satisfies a reasonable man that the work contributed to the causing of the personal injury, it would be enough for the workman to succeed, but the same would depend upon the fact of each case."

15. Section 30 of the Act provides for appeal against order of Commissioner. It lays down as follows:

"(1) An appeal shall lie to the High Court from the following orders of a Commissioner namely :-

(a) an order as awarding as compensation a lump sum whether by way of redemption of a half-monthly payment or otherwise or disallowing a claim in full or in part for a lump sum;

(a) an order awarding interest or penalty under section 4A;

(b) an order refusing to allow redemption of a half-monthly payment;

(c) an order providing for the distribution of compensation among the dependants of a deceased workman or disallowing any claim of a person alleging himself to be such dependant;

(d) an order allowing or disallowing any claim for the amount of an indemnity under the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 12; or

(e) an order refusing to register a memorandum of agreement or registering the same or providing for the registration of the same subject to conditions :

Provided that no appeal shall lie against any order unless a substantial question of law is involved in the appeal and in the case of an order other than an order such as is referred to in clause (b) unless the amount in dispute in the appeal is not less than three hundred rupees :*

Provided further that no appeal shall lie in any case in which the parties have agreed to abide by the decision of the Commissioner or in which the order of the Commissioner gives effect to an agreement come to by the parties :*

Provided further that no appeal by an employer under clause (a) shall lie unless the memorandum of appeal is accompanied by a certificate by the Commissioner to the effect that the appellant has deposited with him the amount payable under the order appealed against.*

The period of limitation for an appeal under this section shall be sixty days.

(3) The provisions of section 5 of the Limitation Act 1963 (36 of 1963) shall be applicable to appeals under this section."

16. In Shakuntala Chandrakant Shreshti (supra), the Supreme Court has explained the expression 'question of law' which is inherently required for maintaining an appeal against the order of compensation passed under the Act. The Court laid down as follows:

"A question of law would arise when the same is not dependent upon examination of evidence, which may not require any fresh investigation of fact. A question of law would, however, arise when the finding is perverse in the sense that no legal evidence was brought on record or jurisdictional facts were not brought on record."

17. It is clear from the scheme of the Act that for extending the benefit of the beneficial provision, the contract of employment may be express, implied, written or oral and to succeed in the claim for compensation, it is to be established only that the injured or deceased employee, at the time of accident was in the employment and was engaged in employer's work or for the furtherance of the employer's work and was not doing something for his own benefit or accommodation. It was found established by the learned Commissioner that, in absence of any otherwise evidence on record, the the accident took place in the course of employment and the probabilities are more in the favour of the deceased to infer that the accident arose out of and in the course of employment. The learned counsel to the appellant has taken reference of the judgement in Mamtajbi Bapusab Nadaf v United India Insurance Co, 2010(10) SCC 536

where the deceased was a workman engaged in uploading and unloading food-grains from a tractor. While unloading to underground storage, he climbed up to the grocery pit to clean the same and fell into the pit and died because of suffocation. His claim was rejected on facts of the case finding that the vehicle was not involved in the accident. It is evident that the facts of this case is very different and is based on the non involvement of the vehicle and the accident took place when the deceased was engaged in entirely different work to that of his employment. Hence, the referred judgement cannot be applied in the factual matrix of this case.

18. On the other hand, the learned counsel to the respondent-claimant has referred to two judgements, both of Orissa High Court, namely, S.D. Manager, National Insurance Company v Shaibarani Mohanta, 2019 (2) TAC 115 and S.D. Manager, National Insurance Company v Suresh Kumar Behera, 2019 (2) TAC 461 to show that in both the cases, driver of the truck died when he stopped the truck and stepped down to take food and was dashed by another truck and the Court applying the doctrine of notional extension and held that there was casual connection between the employment of the deceased and his accidental death and the accident took place in the course of employment.

19. Clearly, at the time of accident, the driver was talking on phone giving information about the car going out of order. As the driver of the car, he was coming back driving the car from Pilibhit and on the way, when the car went out of order and stopped, he came down from the car to inform the car owner. This fact has been nowhere rebutted by any evidence from the side of Insurance Company. The insurance company neither gave any evidence nor made any effort to summon and produce the car owner in evidence. The fact that the deceased was not inside the car will not make any difference as the deceased would certainly continue to be in course of employment unless he returned to the car owner. There was no occasion for him to be at the place of occurrence unless he was returning from Pilibhit to his destination driving the car of the car owner.

20. The next question raised from the side of the appellant is in respect of delay in FIR and stipulation in respect of cause of death in inquest report and also submission of FR in the matter by police after investigation. It appears that the accident took place on 15.9.2011, deceased died on 22.9.2011 and FIR was lodged on 12.11.2011. The FIR itself contains that the FIR was lodged after the religious ritual which takes place after 40 days from the date of death amongst Muslims. The explanation is convincing for the purpose of compensation claim. So far as the stipulation in inquest report is concerned, the purpose of preparing inquest report is to despatch the dead body for post-mortem and it has been correctly pointed out by the learned Commissioner that the Insurance Company, by any evidence, has not been able to show that the witnesses were eyewitnesses of the accident nor anyone of them have been examined. The learned Commissioner has also mentioned that, though, FR has been submitted by police after investigation, the case is pending before the court of A.C.J.M and moreover, in the FR, the fact of accident has been mentioned and because no witness of accident was found due to lapse of time, FR has been submitted. It has been also rightly concluded by the learned Commissioner that no evidence was given by the Insurance Company and even a surveyor was not deputed to bring facts as alleged by the Insurance Company.

21. The further submission is that the claim petition was filed for Rupees five lacs and the learned Commissioner has awarded Rs. 519154/- with 8%interest and as such the impugned judgement suffers from illegality as it goes beyond what was claimed by the claimants. The award amount has been calculated on the basis of legally permissible yardsticks and what is expected is that the amount of compensation should be just and reasonable. In Municipal Corporation of Greater Bombay v Kisan Gangaram Hire, (2009) 16 SCC 259, compensation claim for Rs. 75000/- was filed but the Tribunal awarded Rs 105000/- finding the same to be just and the same was upheld. As such, there is no illegality in it.

22. On the basis of above discussion, I find that the learned Commissioner has given finding on the basis of evidence that at the time of accident, the deceased was performing his duties and was in the course of his employment. He was employed on the vehicle as driver on payment of 6000/- rupees monthly wages. The learned Commissioner has rightly calculated the compensation after applying multiplier and making due deduction against personal expenses. The issues raised as substantial question of law relate to facts and they have been duly considered disposed in the impugned judgement on the basis of facts evidence and after applying correct law. there is no perversity or illegality in the impugned judgement and award nor any substantial question of law is involved in this appeal. The appeal lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

23. Accordingly, the first appeal from order is dismissed.

District Judge, Court No. 8, Saharanpur in M.A.C.P. No. 244 of 2015 (Smt. Heema Gill @ Hema Gill and Another Vs. Ashish Kumar and 3 others) for the death of one Vikram Gill @ Vikram Gill husband of claimant-appellant no. 1 and father of claimant-appellant no. 2.

4. The facts of the case are that on 29.6.2015 at about 6 A.M. while deceased-Vikram Gill who was aged about 42 years was going on his Scooter (Activa) bearing registration no. U.P. 11P-5256, his Activa was hit from behind by a Truck Container bearing registration no. R 58-3886 (hereinafter referred to as the "offending vehicle") which was being driven rashly and negligently by it's driver near P.S. Kutubsher, District Saharanpur causing fatal injuries to the deceased who died during treatment in Government Hospital Saharanpur on the same day.

5. The written report of the incident was lodged at P.S. Kutubsher on the basis of which case crime no. 225 of 2015, under Sections 279 and 304A IPC was registered. The offending vehicle was seized by the police and the deceased's body was sent to postmortem. The claimants-appellants who are the heirs of the deceased filed M.A.C.P. No. 244 of 2015 before M.A.C.T./Addl. District Judge, Court No. 8, Saharanpur claiming a sum of Rs. 84,70,000/- as compensation and Rs. 50,000/- towards interim compensation for the death of Vikram Gill as a result of the injuries sustained by him in an accident on 29.6.2015 due to rash and negligent driving of the driver of the offending vehicle.

6. The claimants-appellants' claim was contested by the respondent nos. 1 to 3 denying the allegations made in the claim petition. The respondent no. 4, Magma H.D.I. G.I.C. Limited also filed a written statement under Rule 24B of Chapter IV of The Patents Rules, 2003 denying the allegations made in the claim petition and in the additional pleas, respondent no. 4 stated that the driver of the Truck Container did not possess a valid driving license on the date of occurrence and the other documents pertaining to the vehicle namely registration fitness certificate permit and insurance policy were neither valid nor effective at the time of the incident. The vehicle was not being driven as per the terms and conditions of the insurance policy. The parties also adduced oral as well as documentary evidence in support of their respective claims before the tribunal to which we shall refer as and when the context so requires.

7. The M.A.C.T after considering the submissions advanced before him by the learned counsel for the parties and scrutinizing the evidence on record allowed the claim petition in part and awarded a sum of Rs. 6,82,000/- as compensation to the claimants-appellants. The tribunal held that the deceased at the time of his death was aged about 42 years and his personal income was Rs. 2,16,000/- and after deducting 1/3rd amount from his personal income amounting to Rs. 72,000/- which the deceased would have spent towards his living and personal expenses, he would have spent Rs. 48,000/- per year on his family. By applying the multiplier of 14, the tribunal calculated the loss of dependency at Rs. 6,72,000/- and further awarded sums of Rs. 2500/-, 5000/- and 2500/- respectively under the conventional heads of funeral expenses, loss of consortium and loss of estate. Notice may be taken to the fact that none of the defendant-respondent have preferred any appeal against the impugned judgment and award. In fact none has appeared before us on behalf of the respondent nos. 1 to 3 despite service.

8. Learned counsel for the appellants has challenged the impugned judgment and award on the following grounds :

(i) The tribunal committed a patent error of law in calculating the loss of dependency by taking into account the agricultural income of the deceased instead of his income of Rs. 1,20,000/- per year from the business or professional income.

(ii) The tribunal has failed to award any amount towards the future prospective.

(iii) The amount awarded under the conventional heads is too meager and not in consonance with the directions given by the Apex Court in the Constitutional Bench' decision referred in the case of National Insurance Company Limited Versus Pranay Sethi and Others reported in 2017 (4) T.A.C. 637 (S.C.).

(iv) The interest has been awarded erroneously at the rate of 7% in place of 9%.

9. Sri Pawan Kumar Singh, learned counsel appearing for the respondent no. 4 has made submissions in support of the impugned judgment and award and further submitted that Rule 220A of the Uttar Pradesh Motor Vehicle Rules 1998 clearly provides that the rate of interest shall not exceed 7% and hence the tribunal did not commit any illegality in awarding interest at the rate of 7%.

10. After having heard the learned counsel for the parties present and perused the impugned judgment and award as well as the law reports cited before us by the learned counsel for the parties, we find that there is force in the submission made by the learned counsel for the appellants qua ground nos. 1, 2 and 3.

(i) Coming to the first ground of challenge, the tribunal while calculating the loss of dependency erred in taking into consideration the deceased's income from the agricultural property despite of his noticing that the deceased was earning Rs. 1,20,000/- per annum from business or profession. In our opinion while calculating the loss of dependency, the income from business or profession ought to have been made the basis. Thus, we hold that the deceased was earning Rs. 1,20,000/- per annum and not Rs. 72,000/- as held by the tribunal.

(ii) Coming to the second ground of challenge, we find that although Apex Court in the case of National Insurance (supra) has held that while determining the income, an addition of 25% of the established income should be made where the deceased is aged between 40 to 50 years but the tribunal had failed to award any amount towards the future prospect. In this case the deceased at the time of his death was aged about 42 years and was self-employed and earning Rs. 1,20,000/- per annum from business or profession. We therefore, add 25% of the established income of the deceased towards future prospect and hold that the annual income of the deceased was Rs. 1,50,000/- per annum (25% of Rs. 1,20,000/-). After deducting 1/3rd amount towards the living and personal expenses of the deceased, he would have contributed Rs. 1,00,000/- to his family.

(iii) Coming to the third ground of challenge, we find that there is merit in the said ground also. In sub-paragraph (viii) of paragraph 61 of the judgment rendered by the Apex Court in the case of National Insurance (supra) has held that reasonable figures on conventional heads, namely, loss of estate, loss of consortium and funeral expenses should be Rs. 15,000/-, Rs. 40,000/- and Rs. 15,000/- respectively. Thus, in our opinion, the amount awarded by the tribunal under the conventional heads are too meager and not in consonance with the guildelines laid down by the Apex Court in this regard in National Insurance (supra). We accordingly awarded Rs. 15,000/-, Rs. 40,000/- and Rs. 15,000/- respectively under the conventional heads namely, loss of estate, loss of consortium and funeral expenses.

(iv) The last ground at which the learned counsel for the appellants has challenged the impugned judgment and award is that tribunal ought to have awarded interest at the rate of 9% per annum on the awarded amount of compensation, we do not find any merit therein in view of Rule 220A of the Uttar Pradesh Motor Vehicle Rules 1998.

11. We accordingly proceed to recalculate the compensation in the light of the aforesaid findings. As noted above, the deceased was earning Rs. 1,20,000/- p.a. less tax. By adding 25% towards future prospects as the deceased was between the age of 40 to 50 years, the deemed annual income of the deceased would be Rs. 1,50,000/- p.a. (1,20,000/- + 25% of Rs. 1,20,000/-). After deducting 1/3rd amount from his annual income i.e. 1,50,000/- towards the living and personal expenses of the deceased, his contribution to the family is determined as Rs. 1,00,000/- p.a. By applying the multiplier of 14, the total loss of dependency is assessed at Rs. 14,00,000/-. We further award a sum of Rs. 15,000/- towards funeral expenses, Rs. 40,000/- under the head of loss of consortium and Rs. 15,000/- towards loss of estate. We accordingly increase the compensation awarded to the claimants-appellants by the Tribunal from Rs. 6,82,000/- to Rs. 14,70,000/-. The claimants-appellants shall further be entitled to interest @ 7% p.a. on the enhanced amount of compensation from the date of filing of the claim petition till the actual payment is made.

12. The appeal is allowed in part.

13. The impugned judgement and award stand modified to the extent indicated hereinabove.

14. The parties shall bear their respective costs.

1. Tejaswini Gaud and Ors. Vs. Shekhar Jagdish Prasad Tewari and others; (2019) 7 Supreme Court Cases 42

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vivek Kumar Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Satyendra Narayn Singh and Sri Ashutosh Pandey, learned counsel for the petitioners and Sri Ishwar Chandra

Tyagi, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 and Sri Azad Singh and Sri Abhinav Prasad, learned A.G.A. for the State-respondent.

2. This Habeas corpus writ petition has been filed on behalf of corpus namely Arnav by petitioner no.2/father, with the following prayer:-

(iii). Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus protecting the interest of the petitioner, which this Hon'ble Court deem fit and proper under the facts and circumstances of the case."

3. The facts of the case in capsulated form are that the petitioner no.2 who is the father of petitioner no.1 having qualification of M.B.B.S. (M.S.) Surgery working as consultant surgeon at Navyug Medical Centre Pvt. Ltd., which is his own hospital and is also working as Senior Resident at Basti Medical College, Basti. The marriage of the petitioner no.2 namely Dr. Abhijat Kumar was solemnized with the respondent no.2 namely Dr. Sweta on 31.1.2009, which was registered before the Registrar, Hindu Marriage District Basti on 19.10.2016 and out of the said wedlock a male child i.e. corpus was born on 7.7.2012. The respondent no.2 was working as Doctor in Navyug Medical Centre and she was also one of the Director in the aforesaid medical centre alongwith petitioner no.2 and his parents Dr. Naveen Kumar and Dr. Shashi Srivastava. The petitioner no.1 is getting his education in Class-II, Section A at St. Basil's School.

4. The respondent no.2 had moved an application to C.M.S., V.R.T.K. mentioning therein that due to some personal reasons she cannot attend the hospital therefore, the leave may be granted w.e.f. 19.8.2019 to 31.8.2019. The respondent no.2 also sent a letter of resignation from service at C.M.S., V.R.T.K., District Women Hospital, Basti, mentioning therein that she is unable to work at Basti, reference is made to annexure-5 and 6 to the affidavit accompanying this habeas corpus writ petition.

5. Pursuant to orders dated 14.10.2019 and 14.11.2019 the corpus namely Arnav (Minor) has been produced by her mother i.e. respondent no.2, both have been identified by their counsel Sri Ishwar Chandra Tyagi, representing respondent no.2.

6. On being asked the corpus informed that his name is Aarav.

On being asked, with whom he is living right now, the corpus informed that he is living with his mother.

On being asked, with whom he wants to live, the corpus informed that he wants to live with his mother.

7. The counsel for the respondent contend that the writ of habeas corpus cannot be issued when efficacious alternative remedy is available to the petitioner No.2 under Hindu Minority and Guardianship Act, 1956. It is also contended that the question of custody of the minor child is to be decided not on consideration of the legal rights of the parties; but on the sole and predominant criterion of what would best serve the interest and welfare of the minor and, as such, the respondents who are taking care of the child since more than a year, they alone would be entitled to have the custody of the child in preference to petitioner No.1-father of the child.

8. I have carefully considered the rival contentions and statement of the corpus recorded herein above.

9. Writ of habeas corpus is a prerogative process for securing the liberty of the subject by affording an effective means of immediate release from an illegal or improper detention. The writ also extends its influence to restore the custody of a minor to his guardian when wrongfully deprived of it. The detention of a minor by a person who is not entitled to his legal custody is treated as equivalent to illegal detention for the purpose of granting writ, directing custody of the minor child.

10. Habeas corpus proceedings is not to justify or examine the legality of the custody. Habeas corpus proceedings is a medium through which the custody of the child is addressed to the discretion of the court. Habeas corpus is a prerogative writ which is an extraordinary remedy and the writ is issued where in the circumstances of the particular case, ordinary remedy provided by the law is either not available or is ineffective; otherwise a writ will not be issued. In child custody matters, the power of the High Court in granting the writ is qualified only in cases where the detention of a minor by a person who is not entitled to his legal custody. In view of the pronouncement on the issue in question by the Supreme Court and the High Courts, in our view, in child custody matters, the writ of habeas corpus is maintainable where it is proved that the detention of a minor child by a parent or others was illegal and without any authority of law.

11. In child custody matters, the ordinary remedy lies only under the Hindu Minority and Guardianship Act or the Guardians and Wards Act as the case may be. In cases arising out of the proceedings under the Guardians and Wards Act, the jurisdiction of the court is determined by whether the minor ordinarily resides within the area on which the court exercises such jurisdiction. There are significant differences between the enquiry under the Guardians and Wards Act and the exercise of powers by a writ court which is of summary in nature. What is important is the welfare of the child. In the writ court, rights are determined only on the basis of affidavits. Where the court is of the view that a detailed enquiry is required, the court may decline to exercise the extraordinary jurisdiction and direct the parties to approach the civil court. It is only in exceptional cases, the rights of the parties to the custody of the minor will be determined in exercise of extraordinary jurisdiction on a petition for habeas corpus.

12. In the matter of Tejaswini Gaud and Ors. Vs. Shekhar Jagdish Prasad

Tewari and others reported in (2019) 7 Supreme Court Cases 42 My Lord's of The Apex Court have observed as follows:-

"25. Welfare of the minor child is the paramount consideration:- The court while deciding the child custody cases is not bound by the mere legal right of the parent or guardian. Though the provisions of the special statutes govern the rights of the parents or guardians, but the welfare of the minor is the supreme consideration in cases concerning custody of the minor child. The paramount consideration for the court ought to be child interest and welfare of the child.

26. After referring to number of judgments and observing that while dealing with child custody cases, the paramount consideration should be the welfare of the child and due weight should be given to child's ordinary comfort, contentment, health, 8 Lahari Sakhamuri v. Sobhan Kodali 2019 (5) SCALE 97 education, intellectual development and favourable surroundings, in Nil Ratan Kundu9, it was held as under:-

"49. In Goverdhan Lal v. Gajendra Kumar, AIR 2002 Raj 148 the High Court observed that it is true that the father is a natural guardian of a minor child and therefore has a preferential right to claim the custody of his son, but in matters concerning the custody of a minor child, the paramount consideration is the welfare of the minor and not the legal right of a particular party. Section 6 of the 1956 Act cannot supersede the dominant consideration as to what is conducive to the welfare of the minor child. It was also observed that keeping in mind the welfare of the child as the sole consideration, it would be proper to find out the wishes of the child as to with whom he or she wants to live.

50. Again, in M.K. Hari Govindan v. A.R. Rajaram, AIR 2003 Mad 315 the Court held that custody cases cannot be decided on documents, oral evidence or precedents without reference to "human touch". The human touch is the primary one for the welfare of the minor since the other materials may be created either by the parties themselves or on the advice of counsel to suit their convenience.

51. In Kamla Devi v. State of H.P. AIR 1987 HP 34 the Court observed:

"13. ? the Court while deciding child custody cases in its inherent and general jurisdiction is not bound by the mere legal right of the parent or guardian. Though the provisions of the special statutes which govern the rights of the parents or guardians may be taken into consideration, there is nothing which can stand in the way of the Court exercising its parens patriae jurisdiction arising in such cases giving due weight to the circumstances such as a child's ordinary comfort, contentment, intellectual, moral and physical development, his health, education and general maintenance and the favourable surroundings. These cases have to be decided ultimately on the Court's view of the best interests of the child whose welfare requires that he be in custody of one parent or the other." 9 Nil Ratan Kundu v. Abhijit Kundu, (2008) 9 SCC 413

52. In our judgment, the law relating to custody of a child is fairly well settled and it is this: in deciding a difficult and complex question as to the custody of a minor, a court of law should keep in mind the relevant statutes and the rights flowing therefrom. But such cases cannot be decided solely by interpreting legal provisions. It is a human problem and is required to be solved with human touch. A court while dealing with custody cases, is neither bound by statutes nor by strict rules of evidence or procedure nor by precedents. In selecting proper guardian of a minor, the paramount consideration should be the welfare and well-being of the child. In selecting a guardian, the court is exercising parens patriae jurisdiction and is expected, nay bound, to give due weight to a child's ordinary comfort, contentment, health, education, intellectual development and favourable surroundings. But over and above physical comforts, moral and ethical values cannot be ignored. They are equally, or we may say, even more important, essential and indispensable considerations. If the minor is old enough to form an intelligent preference or judgment, the court must consider such preference as well, though the final decision should rest with the court as to what is conducive to the welfare of the minor."

27. Reliance was placed upon Gaurav Nagpal10, where the Supreme Court held as under:-

"32. In McGrath, (1893) 1 Ch 143, Lindley, L.J. observed: (Ch p. 148) The dominant matter for the consideration of the court is the welfare of the child. But the welfare of the child is not to be measured by money only nor merely physical comfort. The word 'welfare' must be taken in its widest sense. The moral or religious welfare of the child must be considered as well as its physical well-being. Nor can the tie of affection be disregarded." (emphasis supplied) ???

50. When the court is confronted with conflicting demands made by the parents, each time it has to justify the demands. The court has not only to look at the issue on legalistic basis, in such matters human angles are relevant for deciding those issues. The court then does not give emphasis 10 Gaurav Nagpal v. Sumedha Nagpal (2009) 1 SCC 42 on what the parties say, it has to exercise a jurisdiction which is aimed at the welfare of the minor. As observed recently in Mausami Moitra Ganguli case (2008) 7 SCC 673*, the court has to give due weightage to the child's ordinary contentment, health, education, intellectual development and favourable surroundings but over and above physical comforts, the moral and ethical values have also to be noted. They are equal if not more important than the others.*

51. The word "welfare" used in Section 13 of the Act has to be construed literally and must be taken in its widest sense. The moral and ethical welfare of the child must also weigh with the court as well as its physical well-being. Though the provisions of the special statutes which govern the rights of the parents or guardians may be taken into consideration, there is nothing which can stand in the way of the court exercising its parens patriae jurisdiction arising in such cases.

28. Contending that however legitimate the claims of the parties are, they are subject to the interest and welfare of the child, in Rosy Jacob*11, this Court has observed that:-*

"7. .? the principle on which the court should decide the fitness of the guardian mainly depends on two factors: (i) the father's fitness or otherwise to be the guardian, and (ii) the interests of the minors." ??..

"15. .... The children are not mere chattels : nor are they mere play-things for their parents. Absolute right of parents over the destinies and the lives of their children has, in the modern changed social conditions, yielded to the considerations of their welfare as human beings so that they may grow up in a normal balanced manner to be useful members of the society and the guardian court in case of a dispute between the mother and the father, is expected to strike a just and proper balance between the requirements of welfare of the minor children and the rights of their respective parents over them. The approach of the learned Single Judge, in our view, was correct and we agree with him. The Letters Patent Bench on appeal seems to us to 11 Rosy Jacob v. Jacob A. Chakramakkal, (1973) 1 SCC 840 have erred in reversing him on grounds which we are unable to appreciate."

13. In this view of the matter as well as considering the statement of the corpus made before this Court, which is noted above, this habeas corpus writ petition fails and is dismissed, accordingly.

14. However, till the child is settled down in the atmosphere of the second respondent-mother's house, the petitioner No.2 i.e. father alongwith grand parents of the corpus shall visit the child at the second respondent's house on Saturdays or Sundays between 11:00 A.M. to 2:00 P.M. till the corpus attains the age of 10 years. The second respondent shall ensure the comfort of petitioner No.2 as well as the grand parents of the corpus during such time of their stay in her house.

15. The petitioner No.2 is also restrained from indulging into any act of violence with the second respondent or with the corpus and in case he is found in violation of the order of this Court that is being passed today, he will be personally answerable to this Court.

16. It is made clear that dismissal of writ petition shall not preclude the petitioner from seeking remedy available to him in law. Any observation made by this Court, while deciding this writ petition, shall not come in the way of either party.

17. The amount of Rs.15,000/- deposited by the father of the corpus/petitioner no.1 shall be paid to the mother of corpus namely Dr. Sweta by the registry of this Court after due verification through her counsel.

A. Constitution of India-Art- 243 F-U.P Panchayat Raj Act,1947-Sec 5A & 95(1)(g)-challenging show cause notice-u/s. 5A-also an order of D.M-removing petitioner from the office of Gram Pradhan-on ground of-holding the office of profit i.e. Auxiliary Nursing Midwifery-is a disqualification.

B. Order of D.M based on circular dt. 28.06.2010-issued by State Election Commission-no sanctity of law-unless an office-validly specified as office of profit-no power of removal from such office-impugned order-illegal. Petition Allowed.

C. Held, In the present case, the Court is not straightaway called upon to answer as to whether the office of ANM is an office of profit or not which in any view of the matter lies within the domain of the State Government to lay down but what is surprising is that the District Magistrate has placed reliance upon a circular issued by the State Election Commission for such a purpose. The very premise upon which the District Magistrate has rested his decision i.e. a circular issued by State Election Commission on 28.6.2010, does not have any sanctity of law. The Court is of the considered opinion that unless an office is validly specified by the State to be an office of profit, it shall not confer power on the District Magistrate to remove an elected Gram Pradhan from his/her office on that ground alone. The District Magistrate has clearly erred in the present case by placing reliance upon the circular issued by the State Election Commission on 28.6.2010 and the impugned order passed by him, therefore, is liable to be set aside.

Writ Petition No. 26883 of 2019 allowed and Writ Petition No. 22127 of 2019 dismissed. (E-8)

List of cases cited: -

1. Lily Thomas v. Union of India and others reported in (2013) 7 SCC 653

2. Ashok Kumar Bhattacharya v. Ajoy Biwan, (1985) 1 SCC 151

(Delivered by Hon'ble Attau Rahman Masoodi, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Anuj Garg, learned Standing Counsel for the State.

2. These two writ petitions were heard together and the same are being decided by this common judgement. Writ Petition No. 22127 (MS) of 2019 has arisen against the show cause notice dated 11.7.2019 whereas the second writ petition i.e. Writ Petition No. 26883 (MS) of 2019 is directed against the order dated 19.9.2019 whereby the petitioner has been removed from the office of Gram Pradhan on the alleged ground of holding the office of profit i.e. Auxiliary Nursing Midwifery (hereinafter referred to as the "ANM')

3. It is not in dispute that the petitioner is an elected Gram Pradhan and during currency of her term as Gram Pradhan, she came to be selected as ANM and has been engaged on a monthly payment of honorarium to the tune of Rs. 12128/-. It is gathered from the record that a complaint was made by one Maya Ram Verma to the District Panchayat Raj Officer on 23.4.2019 which triggered an action against the petitioner. The alleged disqualification gave rise to a notice dated 11.7.2019 under Section 5-A(c) of the U.P. Panchayat Raj Act, 1947 which was assailed by the petitioner in Writ Petition No. 22127 (MS) of 2019.

4. During pendency of the above writ petition, an order was passed by the District Magistrate on 19.9.2019 removing the petitioner from the office of Gram Pradhan. Resultantly, another Writ Petition No. 26883 (MS) of 2019 was filed assailing the order passed by the District Magistrate under Section 95(1)(g) of the Act.

5. The sum and substance of the controversy involved in the two petitions is as to what procedure is open to be adopted by the competent authority before passing an order of removal from office of Gram Pradhan on the alleged disqualification of holding an office of profit; secondly, as to whether the State Election Commission has authority to identify and categorise the offices of profit and; thirdly, as to whether the petitioner's engagement as ANM by the District Society of National Health Mission program in district Ayodhya on the payment of monthly honorarium of Rs. 12128/- funded by the Central Government and utilised through the societies registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 would be an office of profit or not. Holding of office of profit by an elected pradhan is undisputedly a disqualification which one incurs by virtue of Section 5-A(c) of the U.P. Panchayat Raj Act, 1947 and the same is extracted for ready reference as under:

"5-A. Disqualification for membership- A person shall be disqualified for being chosen as, and for being [the Pradhan or] a member of a Gram Panchayat, if he-

(b) .....

(c) holds any office of profit under a State Government or the Central Government or a [local authority, other than a Gram Panchayat or Nyaya Panchayat; or a Board, Body or Corporation owned or controlled by a State Government or the Central Government];

6. The appointment of the petitioner as ANM became a subject matter of complaint at the instance of one Sri Maya Ram Verma who filed a representation before the District Panchayat Raj Officer on 30.4.2019. It is not clear from the record as to whether Sri Maya Ram Verma, the complainant, pursued the matter further or not but the complaint so made did yield a response at various levels. Ultimately a notice under Section 5-A(c) was issued to the petitioner on 11.7.2019 to show cause as to why she may not be removed, which precedes by several letters issued by District Panchayat Raj Offficer to take action against the petitioner on the basis of complaint.

7. On a plain reading of Section 5-A(c), it is evident that the provision simply prescribes a ground of disqualification but it does not lay down any procedure for setting up an enquiry by District Magistrate who is vested with the powers of removal of a Gram Pradhan on the grounds mentioned under Section 95(1)(g), which includes a disqualification under Section 5-A of the Act. For ready reference Section 95(1)(g) is also extracted below:

"95. Inspection - (1) The State Government may -

(g) remove a Pradhan, Up-Pradhan or member of a Gram Panchayat or a Joint Committee or Bhumi Prabandhak Samiti, or a Panch, Sahayak Sarpanch or Sarpanch of a Nyaya Panchayat if he -

(i) absents himself without sufficient cause for more than three consecutive meetings or sittings.

(ii) Refuses to act or becomes incapable of acting for any reason whatsoever or if he is accused of or charges for an offence involving moral turpitude,

(iii) has abused his position as such or has persistently failed to perform the duties imposed by this Act or Rules made thereunder or his continuance as such is not desirable in public interest, or iii-a) has taken the benefit of reservation under sub-section(2) of Section 11-A or sub- section (5) of Section 12, as the case may be, on the basis of a false declaration subscribed by him stating that he is a member of Scheduled Castes, the Scheduled Tribes or the backward classes, as the case may be,

(iv) being a Sahayak Sarpanch or a Sarpanch of the Nyaya Panchayat takes active part in politics, or

(v) suffers from any of the disqualifications mentioned in Clauses (a) to (m) of Section 5-A:

Provided that where, in an enquiry held by such person and in such manner as may be prescribed, a Pradhan or Up-Pradhan is prima facie found to have committed financial and other irregularities such Pradhan or Up-Pradhan shall cease to exercise and perform the financial and administrative powers and functions, which shall, until he is exonerated of the charges in the final enquiry, be exercised and performed by a Committee consisting of three members of Gram Panchayat appointed by the State Government.

Provided that no action shall be taken under Clause (f), Clause (g) except after giving to the body or person concerned a reasonable opportunity of showing cause against the action proposed.

(2) A person under sub-clause (iii) and (iv) of clause (g) of sub-section (1) of this section shall not be entitled to be re-elected or re-appointed to any office under this Act for a period of five years or such lesser period as the State Government may order in any case.

(3) No order made by the State Government under this section shall be called in question in any Court.

(4) Where any Gram Panchayat, Joint Committee or Bhumi Prabandhak Samiti is dissolved the State Government may appoint such person or persons to exercise and perform the powers and duties thereof as it may deem fit."

8. The constitutional mandate after 73rd amendment in the Constitution of India by virtue of Article 243(F) clearly prescribes that an elected person at the local self government cannot be removed except in accordance with the procedure prescribed. Article 243(F) for that purpose being relevant is also reproduced as under:

"243F. Disqualifications for membership.

(1) A person shall be disqualified for being chosen as, and for being, a member of a Panchayat-

(a) if he is so disqualified by or under any law for the time being in force for the purposes of elections to the Legislature of the State concerned:

Provided that no person shall be disqualified on the ground that he is less than twenty-five years of age, if he has attained the age of twenty-one years;

(b) if he is so disqualified by or under any law made by the Legislature of the State.

(2) If any question arises as to whether a member of a Panchayat has become subject to any of the disqualifications mentioned in Clause (1), the question shall be referred for the decision of such authority and in such manner as the Legislature of a State may, by law, provide."

9. In the light of provisions extracted above, it is urged by the learned counsel for the petitioner that even if an information or complaint regarding holding of office of profit had reached to the office of District Magistrate, the same ought to have been referred to the prescribed authority as required under Section 6-A of the Act.

10. For establishing a disqualification specified under Section 5-A, the Statute requires the question to be referred to the prescribed authority under Section 6-A of the Act which reads as under:

"6-A. Decision on question as to disqualifications - If any question arises as to whether a person has become subject to any disqualification mentioned in Section 5-A or in sub-section (1) of Section 6, the question shall be referred to the prescribed authority for his decision and his decision shall, subject to the result of any appeal as may be prescribed, be final."

11. Section 2(q) of the Act defines the prescribed authority. It is this definition alone that aids the implementation of Section 5-A through the procedure provided under Section 6-A of the Act. Section 2(q) of the Act for ready reference is reproduced hereunder:

"(q) "Prescribed authority' means -

i) for the purposes of the provisions of this Act mentioned in Schedule III of the [Uttar Pradesh Kshettra Panchayat and Zila Panchayat Adhiniyam, 1961], the Zila Parishad or the Kshettra Samiti, as may be specified in column 3 of that Schedule; and

ii) in respect of any other provisions of this Act, the authority notified as such by the State Government whether generally or for any particular purpose;"

12. The State Government in order to make Section 6-A workable has defined the prescribed authority either by reference to Schedule-III of U.P. Kshettra Panchayat and Zila Panchayat Adhiniyam, 1961 as specified in Column-3 and in respect of other provisions of the Act, the authority notified as such by the State Government whether generally or for any particular purpose. This Court may note that Schedule-III, Column-3 appended to U.P. Kshettra Panchayat and Zila Panchayat Adhiniyam, 1961 does not specify any authority with reference to Section 6-A of the Panchayat Raj Act. The only Rules framed to serve the purpose of Section 6-A of the Act are U.P. Panchayat Raj (Computation of Period of Five years for Removal of Disqualification, Fixation of period of dues etc. and Settlement of Disputes of Disqualification) Rules, 1994.

13. The above mentioned rules pose a peculiar difficulty when the matter is viewed within the scope of Rule 4 and 5. The proceeding under Rule-4 is not inclusive of the disqualification of office of profit i.e. 5-A(c) of the Act whereas, Rule-5 prescribes the authority for those cases which arise otherwise than a claim or objection. Rule 5 for ready reference is extracted hereunder:

5. Reference under Section 6-A pertaining to disqualification:-(1) Where any question as is referred to in Section 6-A of the Act is raised otherwise than in a claim or objection, it shall be referred to the Tehsildar by the officer or authority before whom such question arises for consideration.*

(2) On the receipt of a reference under sub-rule (1) the Tehsildar shall fix the date, time and place for it's hearing and shall give notice to the parties concerned.

(3) The Tehsildar shall after hearing the parties and after such other enquiries as he deems fit, give his decision on the question referred to him.

(4) Any person aggrieved by the order of the Tehsildar may, within fifteen days of the date of such order, prefer an appeal to the Sub-Divisional Officer.

(5) The Sub-Divisional Officer, shall after notice to the parties and after hearing such of them as desire to be heard, dispose of the appeal.

(6) A copy of the final order passed on the question referred to the Tehsildar as modified in appeal, if any, shall be forwarded to the Secretary of the Gram Panchayat and to the Assistant Development Officer (Panchayat) of the concerned Kshettra Panchayat."

14. The case at hand is a case of complaint by one Maya Ram Verma and there is no reason as to why such a complaint may not be understood as an objection by a person who is a resident of the same village. The difficulty arises when such an objection raising the question of disqualification does not fall within the scope of Rule-4 which applies to disqualifications other than those provided under Section 5-A(a) to (c). At the same time there is no specification of the prescribed authority under Rule-5 for cases arising out of a claim or objection. Thus, the present case essentially an objection (complaint) under Section 5-A(c) raised by Maya Ram Verma a resident of the village is a case for which the prescribed authority is not specified under the Rules, 1994. Therefore, the question of reference under Section 6-A unless the authority is specified, does not arise. The wisdom of the State Government leaving the Prescribed Authority undefined for adjudication of disqualifications under Section 5-A(a) to (c) and restricting the scope of Rule-4 to other disqualifications alone is not under question, therefore, the authority to issue show cause notice on 11.7.2019 by the District Magistrate is traceable to Section 95(1)(g) of the Act as a delegate of the State Government.

15. The authority to remove a Gram Pradhan who incurs a disqualification under Section 5-A of the Act is undoubtedly possessed by the State under Section 95(1)(g) of the Act. This power has been delegated by the State Government to the District Magistrate by virtue of G.O. dated 28.3.2001. This government order specifies various authorities for the exercise of powers which the Act contemplates under various provisions and the power under Section 95(1)(g) is prescribed to be exercised by the District Magistrate.

16. This government order when looked at in the light of Article 243-F of the Constitution of India is bound to be understood meaningfully.

17. Separation of powers and independence of each organ of the State are essential features of the Constitution of India and the Courts of law while interpreting the provisions of the Constitution or statute must bear in mind this significant aspect. Panchayati Raj which in common parlance is known as Local Self Government operates at the grass root level of democracy and must find its means and ways of self sustenance leaving least scope for the State to topple whimsically.

18. For a democratically elected representative, the removal on the grounds of disqualification prescribed under law is to achieve the purpose of good governance. This is an external control maintained by the State for a definite purpose. The disqualifications prescribed under Section 5-A of the Act are the grounds in addition to financial and administrative lapses which entail the consequence of removal. For any disqualification provided under Section 5-A(a) to (c) of the Act, the District Magistrate in absence of the prescribed authority being specified for reference under Section 6-A is thus fully empowered to proceed against a Gram Pradhan on any ground mentioned under Section 95(1)(g)(v). It is for this reason as well that two provisos are appended to Section 95(1)(g).

19. The first proviso appended to Section 95(1)(g) envisages an enquiry by such person and in such manner as may be prescribed. For the purposes of removal of a Gram Pradhan on the ground of any disqualification mentioned under Section 5-A(a) to (c), there is no such prescription of any person for enquiry. The District Magistrate himself being a delegatee of the State cannot sub-delegate, hence the first proviso has no application in the matter of disqualification provided under Section 5-A(a) to (c).

20. The only procedure which logically emerges is that of the second proviso appended to Section 95(1)(g) of the Act according to which observance of rule of opportunity is a condition precedent. There is no other provision within which the authority to issue the impugned notice dated 11.7.2019 on the alleged disqualification under Section 5-A(c) can be traced. The power to supervise the conduct of election is vested in the District Magistrate under Section 12-BC of the U.P. Panchayat Raj Act, 1947 which is for a different purpose and its applicability cannot be stretched beyond the conduct of elections.

21. The second proviso appended to Section 95(1)(g) is reiterated below:

"Provided that no action shall be taken under clause (f), clause (g) except after giving to the body or person concerned a reasonable opportunity of showing cause against the action proposed.

22. It is in the spirit of above provision that the District Magistrate issued the show cause notice on 11.7.2019 competence whereof, in my humble opinion, is doubtless. The argument that the notice issued on 11.7.2019 suffers from lack of jurisdiction must fail. Therefore, Writ Petition No. 22127 of 2019 filed by the petitioner against the show cause notice dated 11.7.2019 fails and is accordingly dismissed.

23. The real issue raised in the subsequent writ petition is as to whether the petitioner holds an office of profit or not. For establishing such a disqualification, the notice dated 11.7.2019 makes a reference to the so called government order issued by the Joint Commissioner, State Election Commission on 28.6.2010 according to which certain appointments on honorarium though not a disqualification under U.P. State Legislature (Prevention of Disqualification) Act, 1971 or the corresponding Central Act are nevertheless identified by State Election Commission to be a disqualification for being an elected member of Panchayats. These offices are Aanganbadi Karyakattri/Sahayika, Ashabahu, Kisan Mitra, Shiksha Mitra, Rozgar Sewak etc. The petitioner, however, is appointed as ANM which is not specifically included in the circular dated 28.6.2010, yet there is resemblance in the matter of payment of honorarium.

24. The petitioner in response to the show cause notice has stated that all the appointments mentioned in the circular of State Election Commission dated 28.6.2010 are made in the Gram Panchayats, whereas, the petitioner having duties related to maternity and vaccination was serving in the other adjoining district for which the honorarium paid is not salary but a kind of compensatory allowance. The honorarium is not linked to any permanent post having independent existence except that there is a contract of service which is entered into between the petitioner and the society at the district level. The chief executive of the district level society is the Chief Medical Officer who under the bye-laws of the society is empowered to terminate the contract on the ground of dissatisfactory service. The renewal of contract is also dependent upon the satisfactory service.

25. Before coming to the aspect as to whether the time bound contractual services on honorarium basis can be termed to be an office of profit in terms of the circular dated 28.6.2010, the Court would go into the second issue relating to the source of power under which the State Election Commission has issued the said circular. The opposite parties in the counter affidavit have not clarified as to under what authority and in what manner the said circular was binding on the State Government or the District Magistrate.

26. For laying down the conditions of disqualification, Article 243(F) lays down twin conditions. Firstly, the disqualifications for being a member of State legislature under law shall equally apply to a member of Panchayats. Secondly if a person is so disqualified by or under any law made by the legislature of the State, a person may be removed by following the procedure as prescribed.

27. By virtue of Article 243(K) of the Constitution of India the State Election Commission is empowered with superintendence, direction and control of the preparation of electoral rolls as well as the conduct of elections. This power vested in the State Election Commission cannot be understood to have conferred upon the Commission an authority to lay down as to holding of what offices would be a disqualification which essentially lies within legislative domain of the State. Article 243(K) read together with Section 12-BB of the U.P. Panchayat Raj Act does not in any manner authorise the State Election Commission to identify the offices of profit.

28. This Court would hasten to add that under Article 298 of the Constitution of India, Parliament is vested with the powers to legislate on the matters not included in the concurrent and State list. The apex court decision rendered in the case of Lily Thomas v. Union of India and others reported in (2013) 7 SCC 653 also gives a clear indication that it is the legislature of the State or Parliament alone which may prescribe the conditions of disqualification. To say that the State Election Commission has a power to specify offices of profit that too without there being any constitutional or statutory authority, in my humble view, is clearly in excess of the jurisdiction and for that reason, the very premise upon which the District Magistrate has placed reliance i.e. the circular dated 28.6.2010, is clearly unfounded and without authority of law.

29. It is not the case at hand that the State Government has prescribed certain appointments on honorarium basis to be a disqualification. Once it is clear that the District Magistrate has placed reliance upon the circular issued by the State Election Commission, this Court has no hesitation to observe that the District Magistrate stepped into an error which is apparent on the face of record.

30. To lay down as to which offices are to be treated in the category of offices of profit and which others may be understood not to have the trappings of the same, it is for the State Government to lay down. The Court is, however, conscious of the fact that the working hours may also be a factor for such consideration but a foolproof answer to this question is for the State legislature to provide. This Court on principle may only observe that the State Government while identifying an office to be an office of profit must bear in mind that the independence of each organ of the State is protected. It is the rule of independence of each organ of the State which consequently strengthens a democratic system based on the freedom of expression and speech.

31. Having answered the second question favourable to the petitioner, the Court would next consider as to whether a contractual time bound appointment on payment of honorarium by a society constituted at the district level would at all be an office of profit. The appointment of ANMs on contractual basis is to aid the existing staff appointed at Primary, Community and District level health centres. The strength of contractual staff appointed by the District Level Society are to aid the regular staff appointed against regular posts who are paid much higher salary. The services of contractual employees to carry out National Health Mission on honorarium basis is administratively controlled by the society registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860. The Chief Medical Officer works as Chief executive of the society as per its bye-laws. Secondly, there is no concept of permanent posts in the Health Mission and the schemes keep on floating from one district to another. Thirdly, there is no payment of salary like against the regularly sanctioned posts having an independent existence. The societies and NGOs constituted at the district level who deal in health services are also open to be merged with the District Level Society. The Chairman, Zila Panchayat and District Magistrate are also ex-officio office bearers of the Management.

32. Insofar as the working hours are concerned, it is not the case before this Court that the petitioner has failed to perform her functions effectively as Gram Pradhan. The ground of inefficiency is independent of the alleged disqualification. An office of profit has two essential ingredients. Firstly, it must yield a true pecuniary benefit based on a master and servant relationship between the government or any statutory or local body of the State and the person concerned, secondly, the executive authority of the person for which the pecuniary benefit against a position is derived must owe its existence to the office held by him. An employment of which the position goes with the termination of contract and for which there is no protection of tenure against any disciplinary measure is a pure contract of service, therefore, any incentive to meet out of pocket expenses like payment of honorarium cannot be classified to be an office of profit. Thus, the critical test of independent existence of the position irrespective of the occupant is not satisfied.

33. It is equally noteworthy that contractual appointment does not place a bar upon the incumbent to be a public representative at the panchayat level or otherwise. The question of conflict of public duty also does not arise with the service contract for reasons more than one. A contract of service finds its scope within the larger horizon of public duties which a citizen on being elected a public representative may owe to the State or its public institutions. The spirit of public duty is distinct from a service contract and every service contract for this reason alone may not debar a person from being a public representative. For coming to this reasoning, the Court would fruitfully place reliance on the judgment rendered by the apex court reported in (2018)8 SCC 1(State Election Commissioner, Bihar, Patna and others versus Janakdhari Prasad and other) wherein the Court had drawn a distinction between service and the office of profit being it a situation in the case decided by the Apex Court.

34. Looking at the issue from a different angle attracts the Court to say that some honorarium to the tune of Rs. 5000/- p.m. is paid to the Gram Pradhan on his election to the office and the duties attached to the said office are no less onerous, yet holding the office of Gram Pradhan is not a disqualification to contest the election of an MLA. For the purposes of eligibility, Section 3(O) of the U.P. State Legislature (Prevention of Disqualification) Act, 1971, exempts holding the office of Gram Pradhan for being elected as an MLA. It is a different thing that two offices cannot be simultaneously held as per the mandate of statute. The payment of honorarium alone is not a decisive factor but it is the master and servant relationship of which the authority and control vests in the government coupled with the fact that the office has an independent existence irrespective of the occupant.

35. This Court is conscious of the fact that Hon'ble the apex court in the case Ashok Kumar Bhattacharya v. Ajoy Biwan, (1985) 1 SCC 151, has guided the courts to interpret the concept office of profit in a manner that the approach adopted by a court must reduce the risk of conflict between the public duty and private interest which in the present case does not seem to be the situation. The petitioner's services as ANM are rendered in the adjoining district and the remuneration of honorarium is nothing but a compensatory allowance to meet out of pocket expenditure. This, however, does not suggest that this Court has certified the efficiency of the petitioner in the matter of performance of her duties as Gram Pradhan which is always open to be examined as per law. For this purpose, every District Magistrate must ensure that a CCTV camera and video conferencing facility connected to the district headquarter is installed in the district so that the participation of panchayat members in the meetings at Gram Panchayat is duly ascertained and monitored by the State.

36. In the present case, the Court is not straightaway called upon to answer as to whether the office of ANM is an office of profit or not which in any view of the matter lies within the domain of the State Government to lay down but what is surprising is that the District Magistrate has placed reliance upon a circular issued by the State Election Commission for such a purpose. The very premise upon which the District Magistrate has rested his decision i.e. a circular issued by State Election Commission on 28.6.2010, does not have any sanctity of law. The Court is of the considered opinion that unless an office is validly specified by the State to be an office of profit, it shall not confer power on the District Magistrate to remove an elected Gram Pradhan from his/her office on that ground alone. The District Magistrate has clearly erred in the present case by placing reliance upon the circular issued by the State Election Commission on 28.6.2010 and the impugned order passed by him, therefore, is liable to be set aside.

37. The District Magistrate ought to have taken up the matter with the State Government instead of calling for a report from his sub-ordinate officials for which he lacked the authority under law. The State Government is bound to consider the matter and come up with a clear stand on the circular issued by the Commission on 28.6.2010 so that the disputes of this nature do not arise in future. Suffice it to say that the State Government while identifying an office to be an office of profit must bear in mind the true import and purpose of such a disqualification.

38. For the reasons aforesaid, the Court is of the considered opinion that the impugned order dated 19.9.2019 being illegal and arbitrary is liable to be set aside. It is accordingly quashed and petitioner is directed to be restored as Gram Pradhan.

39. Writ petition No. 26883 of 2019 is allowed. The cost of litigation is quantified at a sum of Rs. 25000/- payable by the State to the petitioner within a period of three months from today.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Jaspreet Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Mohd. Arif Khan, learned Senior Advocate along with Sri Deepankar Kumar and Mohd. Aslam Khan for the appellants and Sri B.K. Saxena, learned Counsel along with Sri Amit Jaiswal, Ms. Shreya Saxena and Sri Utkarsh Srivastava, for the respondents.

2. The instant second appeal has been preferred against the concurrent judgment and decree passed by the two courts below whereby the Additional Civil Judge, Senior Division, Court No. 24, Lucknow by means of its judgment and decree dated 08.10.2010 dismissed the suit of the plaintiffs-appellants and allowed the counter claim of the defendant-respondent. The aforesaid judgment and decree has been affirmed by the First Appellate Court in Regular Civil Appeal No. 155 of 2010 by A.D.J., Court No. 2, Lucknow by means of its judgment and decree dated 05.02.2014, while dismissing the appeal.

3. The aforesaid second appeal was admitted by means of the order dated 01.04.2014 on three substantial questions of law which shall be discussed later, while dealing with them. However, in order to appreciate the controversy involved in the above second appeal, certain brief facts giving rise to the instant appeal are being noticed hereinafter.

4. The plaintiffs-appellants instituted a suit for cancellation of a will deed as well as a sale deed in the Court of Munsif, South, Lucknow which was registered as R.S. No. 615 of 1992. Primarily, the pleadings were that the house bearing No. 57/1984 Mohalla Tilpurwa, Ward-Hussainganj, District Lucknow is a Joint Hindu Family Property of the ancestors namely Balbhadra Dubey which was not partitioned as yet.

5. It was also pleaded that the plaintiffs are in possession of the entire property in question and they had executed a registered power of attorney in favour of one Sri Harish Kumar Trivedi to look after the property as well as for the purpose of instituting and conducting the litigation. It was specifically stated that on 30.08.1992, the defendant namely Sri Shiv Chandra Dixit had attempted to forcibly occupy the property in question which was resisted by the plaintiff. It is then that the defendant while claiming title to the property indicated that he had purchased the property by means of a registered sale deed dated 17.07.1971 from Smt. Gaga Dei who was the daughter of Late Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey.

6. It was also pleaded that as the property in question was a Joint Hindu Family Property and as such Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey, the father of Smt. Gangadei, did not have a right to execute any will allegedly dated 12.12.1947 and consequently Smt. Gangadei did not have any right to execute sale deed dated 17.07.1971, hence the defendant did not get any right.

7. The plaint was later on amended and by amendment it was specifically incorporated that Sri Shiv Shanker had instituted a Suit bearing No. 718 of 1950 before the Munsif City, Banaras seeking partition of the Joint Hindu Family Property. In the aforesaid suit of 1950 a defence was raised by the plaintiffs herein, that the suit instituted at Banaras was bad for partial partition, inasmuch as, the property bearing No. 57 of 1984, Mohalla Tilpurwa, Hussainganj, Lucknow was also a part of the Joint Hindu Family Property which ought to have been included in the Schedule of property for which the partition was sought by Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey.

8. The Court at Banaras by means of its judgment and decree dated 07.10.1955 specifically provided that the property situate at Lucknow should be included in the Schedule of properties at the time of preparation of final decree and in case if Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey does not include the said property then his suit shall stand dismissed. It was also pleaded that despite the aforesaid direction the plaintiff of the partition suit filed at Banaras, Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey did not include the aforesaid property nor challenged the aforesaid order before any superior court, accordingly, his suit was dismissed by means of the order dated 15.12.1962.

9. It was also pleaded that since it was held that the property in question was a Joint Hindu Family Property in the suit filed before the Court of Munsif, Banaras, accordingly, the said findings were binding and Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey did not have any right to execute any will in respect of the un-partitioned Joint Hindu Family Property, nor his daughter Smt. Gangadei had any right to execute any sale deed in favour of the defendant i.e. Shiv Chandra Dixit, hence, the sale deed dated 17.07.1971 was also bad in law.

10. It was also pleaded that the plaintiff/appellant herein had instituted a SCC Suit against a tenant namely Kalpnath Pandey who was in occupation of part of the property and upon obtaining a decree of eviction against the said tenant, the possession of the part occupied by the tenant was also handed over to the plaintiff and in this fashion he came in possession of the entire property and it is only on 30.08.1992 when the defendant on the basis of the illegal sale deed dated 17.07.1971 attempted to forcibly occupy the property in question that the cause of action accrued thereafter the plaintiff applied for the certified copy of the sale deed in question and the suit came to be filed on 25.11.1992 seeking a decree of cancellation of the sale deed dated 17.07.1971 and the will deed dated 12.12.1947 and also for an injunction restraining the defendant from interfering in the peaceful possession of the plaintiff in respect of the property in question bearing No. 57/84, Tilpurwa, Hussainganj, Lucknow (Old House No. 9/131).

11. The aforesaid suit came to be hotly contested by the defendant by filing his written statement. While denying the averments contained in the plaint in suit, the defendant in the additional pleas of his written statement, specifically pleaded that the disputed house in question was the self-acquired property of Late Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey who had purchased the same in his own name by means of a registered sale deed dated 25.01.1934 from its erstwhile owner namely Agnu son of Sahabdeen.

12. It was also pleaded that Sri Balbhadra Dubey was the grand-father of the Shiv Shanker Dubey who died much earlier and the uncle of Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey namely Sri Girdhari Dubey had also died in the year 1925. The father of Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey had died in 1931 and none of the aforesaid persons i.e. the father and the uncle or the grand-father of Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey had purchased the property in question nor they had the means to do so.

13. It was also pleaded that Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey had been enlisted in the Army during the First World War on the post of a driver and he had his own independent source of income. Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey was de-enlisted from the Army on 09.01.1920 and thereafter he was employed at Loco Workshop in Lucknow and in the year 1934 his salary was Rs. 71 and 4 Annas. Thus, it is from the salary received by Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey during his service in the Army as well as from his salary in the Loco Work Shop that he had saved, he had initially bought another house situate in Mohalla Hussainganj from its erstwhile owner namely Lalta Prasad by means of a registered sale deed dated 17.02.1931. This particular house was thereafter sold by Shiv Shanker Dubey Dubey in favour of Mahadev Prasad on 23.03.1931 for a sum of Rs. 400/- and thereafter in the year 1934 he had purchased the disputed house in question from his own self-generated income and the said property was not of the Joint Hindu Family.

14. Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey considering that he had only his wife and one daughter, in order to protect his properties, had executed a registered will on 12.12.1947 which was duly registered in the office of the Sub Registrar, Lucknow. As per the will he had bequeathed all his properties in favour of his wife Smt. Rajrani with a stipulation that after her death his only daughter namely Smt. Gangadei would become the absolute owner of all his property. Since Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey had immense faith in his daughter and while he had turned old he had also executed his power of attorney in favour of his daughter which was also registered before the Sub Registrar at Lucknow. Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey expired in the year 1962 and his wife namely Smt. Rajrani became the exclusive owner who also expired in the year 1970 and thereafter Smt. Gangadei being the sole heir of Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey succeeded to his properties and her name was also recorded in the Municipal Records and thereafter Smt. Gangadei executed a registered sale deed in favour of the defendant on 17.07.1971.

15. The defendant also made a specific pleading that the Suit of the plaintiff was hugely time barred, inasmuch as, the plaintiff had resorted to suppression of facts. It was also pleaded that the plaintiff has referred to the SCC suit filed by him against the erstwhile tenant namely Kalpnath Pandey. The defendant stated that in the said SCC Suit filed by the plaintiff against Sri Kalpnath Pandey, where the tenant had taken a defence that he was paying rent to the answering defendant. In the said suit the copy of the sale deed dated 17.07.1971 was also placed on record and the same finds mention in the judgment of the SCC Court and thus the plaintiff was very well aware of the aforesaid sale deed dated 17.07.1971 and despite the same no effort was made by the plaintiff to challenge the said sale deed within the period of limitation and now after a lapse of 11 years the instant suit was instituted that too by creating and indicating an artificial cause of action and as such the suit of the plaintiff challenging the sale deed was not maintainable and was liable to be dismissed as time barred.

16. The defendant also specifically pleaded that the partition suit of 1950, was dismissed on 15.12.1962 without any decision on merit, inasmuch as, the plaintiff herein, had made an application bearing Paper No. C-11 and C-12 stating that Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey had expired on 21.08.1962 and since the substitution had not taken place, accordingly, the suit was dismissed for technical reasons. It was also pleaded that Smt. Gangadei continued to reside in the premises in question after execution of sale deed with the consent of its owner, while Sri Kalpnath Pandey was a tenant of only part of the disputed house. After the death of Smt. Gangadei, the answering defendant was in entire possession of the property in question.

17. It is actually the plaintiff and his power of attorney holder who along with his musclemen attempted to forcibly occupy the premises in question which was resisted by the answering defendant. Again on 02.03.1993 the plaintiffs forcibly broke open the lock and took the possession from the answering defendant. The incident was reported to the police who came on the site and by taking recourse to proceedings under Section 145/146 Cr.P.C. sealed the premises in question. It was only later that the plaintiffs challenged the proceedings before the Hon'ble High Court at Lucknow, who without entering into the merits and considering the fact that a civil suit between the parties in respect of the property in question was already pending, accordingly, directed that the possession be handed over to the plaintiff subject to the outcome of the civil suit and it is in furtherance thereof that the defendant by amending its written statement introduced a counter claim seeking possession of the property in question as well as damages at the rate of Rs. 50 per day from the plaintiffs.

18. It is in the backdrop of the above facts that the Trial Court had framed as many as 15 issues. The voluminous documentary evidence was led by both the parties, however, as far as the oral evidence is concerned, the plaintiff namely Sri Girish Prasad was examined as P.W. 1, Sri Omkar Nath was examined as P.W. 2 while Ram Khelawan and Om Prakash Dwivedi were examined as P.W. 3 and P.W. 4, Sri Dharmendra Vajpayee, Kanhaiya Lal Yadav and Sri Kailash Nath were examined as P.W. 5, P.W. 6 and

P.W. 7 respectively. As far as the defendant is concerned he examined himself as the sole witness.

19. The Trial Court by means of the judgment and decree dated 08.10.2010 dismissed the suit of the plaintiff and decreed the counter claim of the defendant, directing the plaintiff to handover the possession within 3 months from the date of judgment and decree along with a decree of damages @ Rs. 50 per day. While doing so, the Trial Court found that the suit of the plaintiff was clearly time barred. It also recorded a finding that the property in question was purchased by Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey out of his own income and he had a right of executing a will and his daughter namely Smt. Gangadei was legally entitled to execute the sale deed dated 17.07.1971. This judgment and decree dated 08.10.2010 was made the subject matter of the Regular Civil Appeal No. 155 of 2010.

20. The First Appellate Court after hearing the parties and considering the evidence and material available on record by means of its judgment and decree dated 05.02.2014 dismissed the First Appeal and affirmed the judgment and decree passed by the Trial Court.

21. Being aggrieved thereafter the plaintiff has preferred the instant second appeal which, as already noticed above, was admitted by this Court by means of order dated 01.04.2014 on the substantial questions of law which are re-produced hereinafter for ready reference:-

(I) Whether the admission which is the best piece of evidence unless explained or withdrawn coud be ignored and the learned courts below, despite the specific admission of the respondent DW-1 that Smt. Gangadei, who died on 22.02.1975, remained in possession of the house till her death, held that the sale deed dated 17.07.1971 is valid, while decreeing the counter claim filed by the respondent?.

(II) Whether it having been held in previous suits filed by late Shiv Shanker Dubey, father of Smt. Gangadei that the house in dispute is Joint Hindu Undivided family property, the learned courts below were justified in law in dismissing the suit for cancellation of those deeds afte holding that it was self-acquired property of Shiv Shanker Dubey, ignoring the fact that the aforesaid judgments would operate as resjudicata?

(III) Whether the learned courts below were justified in law in decreeing the counter claim set up by the respondent, ignoring the earlier judgments passed by the competent courts of law, holding that the house in dispute is Joint Hindu Undivided Family property and Shiv Shanker Dubey Dubey was not the absolute owner, thereby he could not execute Will dated 12.12.1947 in respect to the entire house in favour of his wife and daughter and the latter could not execute a valid sale deed in favour of the respondent on 17.07.1971 in respect to the entire house and further the vendee having failed to get the possession since the time of the execution of the sale deed dated 04.04.1947 would not derive any right title on that basis?

22. Mohd. Arif Khan, learned Senior Advocate while assailing the judgment and decree passed by the two courts has raised the following submissions:-

23. It has been submitted that the two courts have committed an error in not considering the effect of the finding given by the court in the suit instituted by Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey for partition before the Court of Munsif, City at Banaras. It was submitted that in the said suit a specific objection has been raised, by the plaintiff herein, that the suit instituted by Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey for partition was bad since it did not include the property situate at Lucknow. It was also urged that the Court at Banaras while deciding the civil suit by means of its judgment dated 07.10.1955 had clearly mentioned in its order that the suit of the plaintiff for partition is decreed with the condition that the plaintiff shall include the house situate at Lucknow also for partition at the stage of preparation of final decree failing which the suit of the plaintiff shall stand dismissed being bad for partial partition.

24. In the said suit it was also held that the plaintiff i.e. Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey only had 1/4th share in the house at Lucknow and he was allowed one month's time to include the said house. Since the aforesaid order was not complied with, accordingly, it is clear that the property situate at Lucknow was a Joint Hindu Family Property which remained un-partitioned and since the finding which had been returned in the proceedings which were held at Banaras would be binding on the defendant and his predecessors, accordingly, Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey could not have executed any will deed in respect of a Joint Hindu Family Property in favour of his wife and daughter nor his daughter could have any right to sell the entire un-partitioned Joint Hindu Family Property by means of the sale deed dated 17.07.1971 in favour of the defendant and, accordingly, the two courts have grossly erred in failing to consider this aspect of the matter. Coupled with the fact that the findings recorded in the Banaras judgment dated 07.10.1955 was the best evidence which was neither disproved nor explained, accordingly, the suit could not have been dismissed, nor the counter claim could be allowed.

25. Sri Arif Khan has also urged that the possession of the premises in question was with the plaintiffs-appellants. The averments made by the defendant that he is in possession is also false, inasmuch as, there was no material on record to indicate as such. It was also submitted that the sale deed of the premises in question even assuming to be valid would indicate that it was of the year 1971 and the plaintiff being in possession was never evicted and by introducing a counter claim in the written statement by way of an amendment in the year 1999, was clearly time barred and in view thereof the counter claim for possession against the plaintiff could not be decreed, in any circumstances.

26. Sri Khan has also submitted that since the property was found to be Joint Hindu Family Property wherein Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey at best had 1/4th share, accordingly, if at all, the counter claim could been decreed it could have only been done for 1/4th share and not for the entire property and to that extent also the decree passed by the two courts is bad, inasmuch as, it does not take care nor address the aforesaid issues.

27. It has further been urged by Sri Khan that despite not a shred of evidence was led by the defendant in support of its counter claim regarding the damages prayed at the rate of Rs. 50/- per day yet the Courts have granted the aforesaid sum without due application of mind which is a perversity apparent on the face of the record and thus, the courts below have committed gross error in decreeing the counter claim and as such the same cannot be sustained.

28. Sri B.K. Saxena, learned counsel for the respondents has forcefully refuted the submissions of Sri Arif Khan. Sri Saxena submitted that apparently the suit of the plaintiff was barred by limitation, inasmuch as, in the plaint suit, in paragraph 11, it was mentioned that the cause of action for filing the suit occurred only on 30.08.1992 when the defendant allegedly attempted to forcibly occupy the premises in question on the basis of title based on the sale deed dated 17.07.1971.

29. It was pointed out that the plaintiffs had mentioned that they became aware of the sale deed only on 30.08.1992 which was reitreated on oath during evidence before the Trial Court. The said fact was apparently false for the reason that the plaintiff themselves relied upon the judgment passed by the SCC Court in SCC Suit No. 1806 of 1975 which was decided on 22.01.1981. It was submitted that in the aforesaid judgment there is a clear reference to the sale deed executed by Smt. Gangadei in favour of Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey which was brought on record of the SCC Suit as bearing Paper No. C-25.

30. Thus, the plaintiff was fully aware of the said sale deed, however, chose not to assail the same. As per Article 59 of the Limitation Act the sale deed could be assailed only within the period of limitation which began to run from the date of knowledge, which commenced from the date the said document was filed on record of the SCC suit and even otherwise at best it would commennce when the SCC suit was decreed in January, 1981. The instant suit was filed by the plaintiffs only on 25.11.1992 which is beyond a period of 11 years and was ex-facie barred by limitation and as such the suit of the plaintiffs was rightly dismissed by the Trial Court.

31. Sri Saxena has further vehemently urged that the submissions of Sri Arif Khan regarding the proceedings of the earlier partition suit of 1950 is also bad for the reason that the suit of 1950 was not dismissed for non-compliance of the direction as mentioned in the judgment dated 07.10.1955 rather the proceedings of the earlier partition suit of 1950 was dismissed as being abated on account of the fact that Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey had died in August, 1962 and since his legal heirs had not been brought on record within the period of limitation, consequently, upon the application of the plaintiff the suit abated and this fact was also known and admitted to the plaintiff, however, it is now being contended otherwise.

32. Sri Saxena has also drawn the attention of the Court to a written statement to the counter claim which was filed by the plaintiff before the Trial Court bearing Paper No. A-82 wherein in paragraph 7 it was specifically pleaded that the suit of the plaintiff Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey was dismissed as the legal heirs were not brought on record and so the suit was dismissed on 15.12.1962. It has been urged by Sri Saxena that there was no finding given by the Court on merits regarding the property at Lucknow being a Joint Hindu Family Property.

33. Sri Saxena has also submitted that the judgment which has been referred to by Sri Arif Khan dated 07.10.1955 was assailed before the First Appellate Court which was set aside. He has also submitted that thereafter a F.A.F.O. bearing No. 284 of 1957 was preferred by the defendants of the Suit No. 718 of 1950 which was allowed by this Court by means of judgment dated 21.08.1961 and the matter was remanded to the First Appellate Court to decide the appeal afresh. It is only thereafter that the suit came to be dismissed solely on the ground of abatement as Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey had expired in August, 1962 and the suit came to be dismissed on 15.12.1962 and that too on the application of the plaintiffs, accordingly, in light of the explanation appended to Order 22 Rule 9 C.P.C. it cannot be said that the findings have been returned on merits.

34. It has further been submitted, in case if the plaintiffs in the instant appeal had taken a plea regarding the property in question being Joint Hindu Family Property it was incumbent upon the plaintiffs to have proved the same which they have miserably failed. The submission is merely by relying upon certain judgments which were rendered in the proceedings arising out of Suit No. 718 of 1950 and that too which was neither conclusive nor on merits, the same could not grant any benefit to the plaintiffs whereas the defendant had brought sufficient cogent material on record in the shape of the sale deed executed in favour of Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey in the year 1934 and which indicated that the property was standing in the name of Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey and was purchased by his self-generated income.

35. Thus, the Courts have not committed any error rather on the basis of the material and the evidence available on record have categorically recorded findings of fact in respect of the property being self acquired property of Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey, coupled with the fact that he was survived by his wife and only daughter, Consequently, upon his death in the year 1962 his will executed in the year 1947 became redundant and the property in any case devolved on his wife and daughter and upon the death of his wife his daughter became the sole owner who executed the sale deed dated 17.07.1971 in favour of the defendant who became its actualy owner.

36. It is also submitted that the possession remained with the defendant and Smt. Gangadei till her life time continued to reside therein with the consent of the defendant. Since the defendant had unequivocal title to the property and the plaintiff attempted to forcibly take the same which was duly reported to the police and the premise in question was sealed in proceedings under Section 145/146 Cr.P.C. which was assailed by the plaintiff before the High Court. In light of the commission conducted on the orders of the High Court, considering the fact that the Civil Suit was pending, the High Court by means of its order dated 04.04.1997 directed the police to unlock the house in question and deliver its possession to the plaintiffs subject to the rights which were to be adjudicated in the Civil Court in the instant Suit.

37. Thus, it is thereafter that the cause for possession arose to the defendant who introduced a counter claim against the plaintiff and since the plaintiff being the owner and claiming possession on the basis of his title was entitled to do so by virtue of Article 64 and 65 of the Limitation Act, hence, it cannot be said that the counter claim of the defendant was barred and, accordingly, the two courts have rightly decreed the counter claim.

38. Lastly, it has been submitted by Sri Saxena that though the defendants claimed Rs. 50/- per day as damages for the counter claim but he fairly conceded that there was no evidence in respect of the quantum of damages but he submitted that since the plaintiff remained in possession of the premise in question, the defendants were entitled to the damages which is in the discretion of the Court. He has further submitted that the quantum of damages will have no effect on the substantive part of the decree of the counter claim regarding possession which in any case is based on material on record and being findings of fact are not to be disturbed in second appeal in exercise of the powers under Section 100 C.P.C.

39. Sri Arif Khan has relied upon the decision of the Apex Court in the case of Budhram and Others Vs. Banshi and Others reported in 2010 (11) SCC 476 and Laxmi & Others Vs. Parmeshwari Hegde & Others reported in AIR 1969 Karnataka 175.

State of Tamilnadu reported in 2004 (3) SCC 1, D.S. Lakshmaiah and Another Vs. L. Balasubramanyam reported in 2003 (10) SCC 310 , Gurnam Singh Vs. 41. The Court has given its anxious consideration to the submissions of the learned counsel for the parties and have also perused the record as well as the case laws cited by the respective parties. In light of the submissions made as well as the factual matrix, the questions of law to be answered in the above second appeal as already noticed and reproduced hereinabove requires this Court to examine whether in the facts and circumstances of the case, the counter claim has been rightly decreed or not. From the perusal of the substantial questions upon which the above second appeal was admitted, upon which the parties have been heard, the core questions that require consideration are the effect of the proceedings arising out of the Suit No. 718 of 1950. In light of the same whether the successors of Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey had any right to execute the sale deed in favour of the defendant and whether the defendant had the right to get the counter claim of possession against the plaintiff.

42. From the perusal of the record, certain facts are not in dispute between the parties. It is not disputed that Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey was survived only by his wife and his daughter. In case if the property in question is held to be the self-acquired property then the same vested with Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey till his death in the year 1962 and upon his death irrespective of the fact whether his Will of 1947 was valid or not, the fact remains that in view of the promulgation of the Hindu Succession Act his wife and daughter alone would be the sole legal heirs and the plaintiff to that extent would have no right in the property. Having said that upon the death of wife of Shiv Shanker Dubey his only daughter Smt. Gangadei was the sole and exclusive owner and she would have a right to execute a sale deed in favour of the defendant.

43. Now to ascertain whether the property in question was the exclusive property of Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey or he had 1/4th right as stated by the appellant to have been held in the judgment rendered by the Court of Munsif, City Banaras in its judgment dated 07.10.1955, the records have been carefully perused by the Court and it indicate that the aforesaid judgment dated 07.10.1955 does specifically state that the plaintiff i.e. Shiv Shanker Dubey would have 1/4th share in the said house and he was allowed one month's time to include the said house and make it available for partition in the final decree to be drawn failing which his suit shall stands dismissed being bad for partial partition, however it is only on incomplete version.

44. The record also reveals that the aforesaid judgment was set aside in appeal. The parties have filed the copy of the judgment passed by this Court dated 28.01.1961 in F.A.F.O. No. 284 of 1957. From the perusal of the said judgment passed by this Court it indicates that the High Court had taken note of certain facts. From the perusal of the same it indicates that the order dated 07.10.1955 was assailed by Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey in an appeal which was allowed by the learned Civil Judge Sri H.M. Srivastava and the matter was remanded. It is the aforesaid remand order which was assailed before this Court in the aforesaid F.A.F.O. and this Court while allowing the appeal set aside the remand order and remitted the matter to the District Judge, Varanasi to re-admit the appeal to its original number and to decide the same afresh either by the District Judge himself or transfer it to other Civil Judge of competent jurisdiction.

45. Thus, it would indicate that as far as the judgment dated 07.10.1955 is concerned, the same did not survive and the same was set aside by means of the order dated 23.08.1957 passed in Appeal No. 508 of 1955. The said order is bearing Paper No. C-171/2. In pursuance of the order passed by this Court in F.A.F.O. No. 284 of 1957 which was decided on 21.08.1961, the matter was remanded and it was yet to be considered before the Court concerned to give its finding on the issue whether the said property was a Joint Hindu Family Property or not.

46. Both the parties have drawn the attention of the Court to the document bearing No. C-183/1 which is the certified copy of the formal order which was issued by the Court of City Munsif, Varanasi dated 09.01.1963. From the perusal of the aforesaid formal order it indicates that the suit was dismissed as it was not constituted properly and the file was consigned to records.

47. At this stage, it will be relevant to point out and refer to paragraph 6 of the plaint in Suit bearing Paper No. A-3. In the aforesaid paragraph the plaintiff did make a mention of the dismissal of the Suit bearing No. 718 of 1950 by referring to the order dated 15.12.1962. The plaintiff had quoted the order dated 15.12.1962 which reads as under:-

" In view of 11-C and the affidavit 12-C the suit is dismissed being improperly constituted consigned to records."

48. Upon perusal of the record, this Court finds that the plaintiffs had even filed written submissions before the First Appellate Court which is bearing Paper No. C-35/3 in the record of the A.D.J., Court No. 2, Lucknow. In the aforesaid written submissions in paragraph 5 the plaintiffs himself had again referred to the order dated 15.12.1962 and submitted before the First Appellate Court which reads as under:-

" The defendant moved an application along with Affidavit (Paper No. 11-C and 12-C) that the plaintiff died during the pendency of the suit and no legal heirs of the deceased was substituted in his place, the suit ought to be abated and on that application learned Munsif, Banaras passed the order or application along with affidavit (Paper No. 11-C and 12-C) that " in view of 11-C and the affidavit 12-C, the suit is dismissed for improperly constituted consigned to records"."

49. Thus, from the above it is clear that as far as the parties are concerned, they are not at variance to the fact that the Suit bearing No. 718 of 1950which was instituted before the City Munsif, Banaras came to be dismissed on 15.12.1962. The plaintiff has not brought any evidence on record to indicate that once the matter was remanded in terms of the order passed by this Court the F.A.F.O. No. 284 of 1957 decided on 21.08.1961 what was the outcome of the appeal and under what circumstances the aforesaid suit came back on the Board of the City Munsif, Banaras. The plaintiffs have also failed to bring on record the application C-11 and the affidavit C-12 a reference of which has been made by the plaintiffs themselves in their plaint. But the fact remains that from the pleadings as already referred hereinabove as well as in the reply to the counter claim as filed by the plaintiff it was mentioned that the Suit at Banaras stood abated for non-substituting the heirs of Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey. Obviously, the matter which was sent back to the Court of Munsif, Banaras could only be available once the matter in appeal would have been remanded. It is not the case of the parties that the proceedings which was pending before the Court of Munsif, Banaras in the year 1962 was arising out of final decree proceedings. It is also not disputed between the parties that Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey died on 21.08.1962 and no legal heirs of Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey were brought on record till 15.12.1962.

50. Thus, the consequence is that after expiry of 90 days from 21.08.1962 the proceedings before the Court of Munsif at Banaras stood automatically abated. Once the proceedings abated the findings, if any, could not be treated as being on merits, moreso, in light of the explanation appended to Order 22 Rule 9 which reads as under:-

(9) Effect of abatement or dismissal

(1) Where a suit abates or is dismissed under this order, no fresh suit shall be brought on the same cause of action.

(2) The plaintiff or the person claiming to be the legal representative of a deceased plaintiff or the assignee or the receiver in the case of an insolvent plaintiff may apply for an order to set aside the abatement or dismissal; and if it is proved that he was prevented by any sufficient cause from continuing the suit, the court shall set aside the abatement or dismissal upon such terms as to costs or otherwise as it thinks fit.

(3) The provisions of section 5 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1877 (15 of 1877), shall apply to applications under sub-rule (2).

[Explanation : Nothing in this rule shall be construed as barring, in any later suit, a defence based on the facts which constituted the cause of action in the suit which had abated or had been dismissed under this order.]

51. The submission of the learned counsel for the appellant that in the judgment passed by the City Munsif at Banaras would be ample evidence to indicate that the property was a Joint Hindu Family Property does not impress this Court. As already noticed above, whatever be the stage of the proceedings which was pending before the City Munsif at Banaras in 1962 upon the death of Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey on 21.08.1962 the proceedings abated after 90 days. The abatement as per law is automatic. The record as noticed above would indicate that the plaintiff himself made an application C-11 along with an affidavit C-12 upon which the City Munsif at Banaras passed an order dismissing the suit as being improperly constituted. The fact remains that after 90 days from 21.08.1962 the proceedings abated and the explanation of Order 22 Rule 9 provides that nothing in the rule shall be construed as barring, in any later suit, a defence based on the facts which constituted the cause of action in which the suit, which had abated or had been dismissed under this order.

52. Thus, the effect is that any of the findings could not prevent the defendants to raise a valid defence in the instant suit which was brought by the plaintiff. Thus, the defendant having raised a valid defence regarding the property being the self-acquired by Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey, this defence could not have been non-suited merely on the ground that in the earlier proceedings in the City Munsif, at Banaras at some point of time the finding was recorded regarding the Lucknow property being Joint Hindu Family Property whih was set aside in appeal and thereafter the suit had been dismissed as abated.

53. The learned counsel for the plaintiffs-appellants have relied upon the case of Budh Ram (Supra). This Court finds that the ratio of the aforesaid case is quite settled which reads as under:-

10. Abatement takes place automatically by application of law without any order of the court. Setting aside of abatement can be sought once the suit stands abated. Abatement in fact results in denial to hearing of the case on merits. Order 22 Rule 1 CPC deals with the question of abatement on the death of the plaintiff or of the defendant in a civil suit. Order 22 Rule 2 relates to procedure where one of the several plaintiffs or the defendants die and the right to sue survives. Order 22 Rule 3 CPC deals with procedure in case of death of one of the several plaintiffs or of the sole plaintiff. Order 22 Rule 4 CPC, however, deals with procedure in case of death of one of the several defendants or of the sole defendant. Sub-rule (3) of Rule 4 makes it crystal clear that:

"4. (3) Where within the time limited by law no application is made under sub-rule (1), the suit shall abate as against the deceased defendant."

17. Therefore, the law on the issue stands crystallised to the effect that as to whether non-substitution of LRs of the respondent-defendants would abate the appeal in toto or only qua the deceased respondent-defendants, depends upon the facts and circumstances of an individual case. Where each one of the parties has an independent and distinct right of his own, not interdependent upon one or the other, nor the parties have conflicting interests inter se, the appeal may abate only qua the deceased respondent. However, in case, there is a possibility that the court may pass a decree contradictory to the decree in favour of the deceased party, the appeal would abate in toto for the simple reason that the appeal is a continuity of suit and the law does not permit two contradictory decrees on the same subject-matter in the same suit. Thus, whether the judgment/decree passed in the proceedings vis-à-vis remaining parties would suffer the vice of being a contradictory or inconsistent decree is the relevant test.

54. However, the learned Senior Counsel for the appellants failed to express clearly how the appellant gains from the aforesaid ratio. Thus, this Court is of the view that the aforesaid decision does not in any manner help the plaintiffs/appellants.

55. Moreover, the decision cited by the respondent in the case of Ashok Leyland (Supra) in para 118 has considered the issue of res-judicata and has held as under :-

118. The principle of res judicata is a procedural provision. A jurisdictional question if wrongly decided would not attract the principle of res judicata. When an order is passed without jurisdiction, the same becomes a nullity. When an order is a nullity, it cannot be supported by invoking the procedural principles like, estoppel, waiver or res judicata. This question has since been considered in Sri Ramnik Vallabhdas Madhvani and Ors. v. Taraben Pravinlal Madhvani: (2004)1SCC497 wherein this Court observed in the following terms :

"So far as the question of rate of interest is concerned, it may be noticed that the High Court itself found that the rate of interest should have been determined at 6%. The principles of res judicata which according to the High Court would operate in the case, in our opinion, is not applicable. Principles of res-judicata is a procedural provision. The same has no application where there is inherent lack of jurisdiction.

In Chief Justice of A.P. and Anr. v. L.V.A. Dikshitulu and Ors. etc. : [1979]1SCR26 , the law is stated in the following terms:

"23. As against the above, Shri Vepa Sarathy appearing for the respective first respondent in C.A. 2826 of 1977, and in C.A. 278 of 1978 submitted that when his client filed a writ petition (No. 58908 of 1976) under Article 226 of the Constitution in the High Court for impugning the order of his compulsory retirement passed by the Chief Justice, he had served, in accordance with Rule 5 of the Andhra Pradesh High Court (Original Side) Rule, notice on the Chief Justice and the Government Pleader, and, in consequence, at the preliminary hearing of the writ petition before the Division Bench, the Government, Pleader appeared on behalf of all the respondents including the Chief Justice, and raised a preliminary objection that the writ petition was not maintainable in view of Clause 6 of the Andhra Pradesh Administrative Tribunal Order made by the President underArticle 371D which had taken away that jurisdiction of the High Court and vested the same in Administrative Tribunal. This objection was accepted by the High Court, and as a result, the writ petition was dismissed in limine. In these circumstances - proceeds the argument - the appellant is now precluded on principles of res judicata and estoppel from taking up the position, that the Tribunal's order is without jurisdiction. But, when Shri Sarathi's attention was invited to the fact that no notice was actually served on the Chief Justice and that the Government Pleader who had raised this objection, had not been instructed by the Chief Justice or the High Court to put in appearance on their behalf, the counsel did not pursue this contention further. Moreover, this is a pure question of law depending upon the interpretation ofArticle 371D. If the argument. holds good, it will make the decision of the Tribunal as having been given by an authority suffering from inherent lack of jurisdiction. Such a decision cannot be sustained merely by the doctrine of res judicata or estoppel as urged in the case."

In Dwarka Prasad Agarwal (D) By LRs. And Anr. v. B.D. Agarwal and Ors. : AIR2003SC2686 , it is stated:

"It is now well-settled that an order passed by a court without jurisdiction is a nullity. Any order passed or action taken pursuant thereto or in furtherance thereof would also be nullities. In the instant case, as the High Court did not have any jurisdiction to record the compromise for the reasons stated hereinbefore and in particular as no writ was required to be issued having regard to the fact that public law remedy could not have been resorted to, the impugned orders must be held to be illegal and without jurisdiction and are liable to be set aside. All orders and actions taken pursuant to or in furtherance thereof must also be declared wholly illegal and without jurisdiction and consequently are liable to be set aside. They are declared as such. "

56. Thus, in light of the above discussion the earlier decision of the Banaras suit would neither operate as Res judicata and moreover the order passed in December, 1962 was passed after the death of Shiv Shanker Dubey who died in August, 1962 while after 90 days of death, the proceeedings automatically abated.

57. This Court is fortified in its view and rely on the decisions of the Apex Court in the case of Mithai Lal Dalsinghar Singh Vs. Panna Bai Dev Ram Kinni reported in 2003 (10) SCC 691, the relevant portion reads as under:-

8. In as much as the abatement results in denial of hearing on the merits of the case, the provision of abatement has to be construed strictly. On the other hand, the prayer for setting aside an abatement and the dismissal consequent upon an abatement, have to be considered liberally. A simple prayer for bringing the legal representatives on record without specifically praying for setting aside of an abatement may in substance be construed as a prayer for setting aside abatement. So also a prayer for setting aside abatement as regard one of the plaintiffs can be construed as a prayer for setting aside the abatement of the suit in its entirety. Abatement of suit for failure to move an application for bringing the legal representatives on record within the prescribed period of limitation is automatic and a specific order dismissing the suit as abated is not called for. Once the suit has abated as a matter of law, though there may not have been passed on record a specific order dismissing the suit as abateed, yet the legal representatives proposing to be brought on record or any other applicant proposing to bring the legal representatives of the deceased party on record would seek the setting aside of an abatement. A prayer for bringing the legal representatives on record, if allowed, would have the effect of setting aside the abatement as the relief of setting aside abatement though not asked for in so many words is in effect being actually asked for and is necessarily implied. Too technical or pedantic an approach in such cases is not called for.

10. In the present case, the learned trial judge found sufficient cause for consideration of delay in moving the application and such finding having been reasonably arrived at and based on the material available, was not open for interference by the Division Bench. In fact the Division Bench has not even reversed that finding; rather the Division Bench has proceeded on the reasoning that the suit filed by three plaintiffs having abated in its entirety by reason of the death of one of the plaintiffs, and then the fact that no prayer was made by the two surviving plaintiffs as also by the legal representatives of the deceased plaintiff for setting aside of the abatement in its entirety, the suit could not have been revived, In our opinion, such an approach adopted by the Division Bench verges on too fine a technicality and results in injustice being done. There was no order in writing passed by the court dismissing the entire suit as having abated. The suit has been treated by the Division Bench to have abated in its entirety by operation of law. For a period of ninety days from the date of death of any party the suit remains in a state of suspended animation. And then it abates. The converse would also logically follow. Once, the prayer made by the legal representatives of the deceased plaintiff for setting aside the abatement as regards the deceased plaintiff was allowed, and the legal representatives of the deceased plaintiff came on record, the constitution of the suit was rendered good; it revived and the abatement of the suit would be deemed to have been set aside in its entirety even though there was no specific prayer made and no specific order of the Court passed in that behalf.

58. Similarly, the Apex Court in the case of Gurnam Singh Vs. Gurbachan Kaur reported in 2017 (13) SCC 414 has held as under:-

17. The law on the point is well settled. On the death of a party to the appeal, if no application is made by the party concerned to the appeal or by the legal representatives of the deceased on whom the right to sue has devolved for substitution of their names in place of the deceased party within 90 days from the date of death of the party, such appeal abates automatically on expiry of 90 days from the date of death of the party. In other words, on 91st day, there is no appeal pending before the Court. It is "dismissed as abated".

21. It is a fundamental principle of law laid down by this Court in Kiran Singh case [Kiran Singh v. Chaman Paswan, AIR 1954 SC 340] that a decree passed by the court, if it is a nullity, its validity can be questioned in any proceeding including in execution proceedings or even in collateral proceedings whenever such decree is sought to be enforced by the decree-holder. The reason is that the defect of this nature affects the very authority of the court in passing such decree and goes to the root of the case. This principle, in our considered opinion, squarely applies to this case because it is a settled principle of law that the decree passed by a court for or against a dead person is a "nullity" (see N. Jayaram Reddy v. LAO [N. Jayaram Reddy v. LAO, (1979) 3 SCC 578] , Ashok Transport Agency v. Awadhesh Kumar [Ashok Transport Agency v. Awadhesh Kumar, (1998) 5 SCC 567] and Amba Bai v. Gopal [Amba Bai v. Gopal, (2001) 5 SCC 570]).

59. Now coming to the question regarding the evidence to indicate that the property was a Joint Hindu Family Property, it was for the plaintiffs to have led the evidence in that regard which they have failed. In absence of any evidence to the aforesaid effect the plaintiff could not have been granted the benefit of getting the property treated as Joint Hindu Family Property whereas on the other hand prima-facie the evidence which was available on record clearly indicated that the property in question was purchased by Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey in the year 1934.

60. It was not disputed by the plaintiff-witness that Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey was not employee/enlisted in the Army during the First World War. It was also not disputed by the plaintiff and his witnesses that Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey was employed in the Loco Work Shop at Lucknow. It was also not disputed that Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey had earlier purchased a property in the year 1931 which he later sold and thereafter he purchased the disputed house in the year 1934.

61. At this stage it will be worthwhile to notice the law regarding the Joint Hindu Family Property is now fairly well settled that in order to successfully stake a claim regarding a Joint Hindu Family Property, the burden is on the party to indicate that there existed a joint family which had the requisite funds and nucleus out of which the property in question has been purchased.

62. There is a difference between a joint family and a joint family property merely because a joint family exists does not give rise to a presumption that the property also belongs to the joint family. In this regard, this Court draws strength from the decision of the Apex Court in the case of D.S. Lakshmaiah and Another Vs. L. Balasubramanyam reported in 2003 (10) SCC 310, the relevant portion reads as under:-

18. The legal principle, therefore, is that there is no presumption of a property being joint family property only on account of existence of a joint Hindu family. The one who asserts has to prove that the property is a joint family property. If, however, the person so asserting proves that there was nucleus with which the joint family property could be acquired, there would be presumption of the property being joint and the onus would shift on the person who claims it to be self-acquired property to prove that he purchased the property with his own funds and not out of joint family nucleus that was available.

63. Similary, the Coordinate Bench of this Court in the case of Kunj Bihari Vs. Ganga Sahai Pande reported in 2013 SCC Online Alld. 13489: 2013 (99) ALR 826 wherein tracing the history and considering the earlier decision on the point of Joint Hindu Family and property, the burden of proof etc. This Court has held as under:-

24. The "patriarchal family" may be defined as a group of natural or adoptive descendants, held together by subjection to the eldest living ascendant, father, grand-father, great-grandfather. Whatever be a formal prescription of law, the head of such a group is always in practice, despotic; and he is the object of respect, if not always of affection, which is probably seated deeper than any positive institution. Manu says, "three persons, a wife, a son and a slave, are declared by law to have in general no wealth exclusively their own; the wealth which they may earn is regularly acquired for the man to whom they belong." Narada says, "he is of age and independent, in case his parents be dead; during their lifetime he is dependent, even though he be grown old."

25. The "joint family" is normally a transition form from "patriarchal family". At the death of common ancestors or head of house, if the family chooses to continue united, the eldest son would be the natural head. The former one was head of family by natural authority, the later other can only be so by a delegated authority. He is primus but inter pares. An undivided Hindu family thus is ordinarily joint, not only in estate but in food and worship. The presumption, therefore, is that members of a Hindu family are living in a state of union unless contrary is established. This presumption however varies inasmuch as it is stronger in case of real brother than in case of cousin and farther one go, from the founder of family, the presumption becomes weaker and weaker. However, there is no presumption that a family, because it is joint, possesses joint property. Under Mitakshara Law, possession of property is not necessary requisite for constitution of a joint family, though where persons live together, joint in food and worship, it is difficult to conceive of their possessing no property whatever, such as, at least, ordinary household articles which they would enjoy in common.

32. The joint undivided family is the normal condition of Hindu society as observed in Raghunadha Vs. Brozo Kishroe (1876) 3 IA 154 and Neelkisto Deb Vs. Beerchunder (1989) 12 MIA 523. An HUF is ordinarily joint not only in estate but in food and worship. Unless contrary is established, the presumption is that the members of a Hindu family are living in a state of union (see: Govind Dass Vs. Kuldip Singh AIR 1971 Delhi 151 and Bhagwan Dayal Vs. Mst. Reoti Devi AIR 1962 SC 287). If, however, one of the coparceners is admittedly living separately from other members of the family, neither it can be said that other members do not constitute a Hindu joint family nor the member living separately, who has stripped his relation with the joint family, can be said to be still a coparcener or member of joint family. Simultaneously, merely if some members are working and living at different places, though own a joint family in common, it cannot be said that they do not form a joint Hindu family. Since it is only a presumption, the strength thereof necessarily varies in every case. The presumption of union is stronger in the case of brothers than in the case of cousins and farther one goes from the founder of the family, the presumption becomes weaker and weaker.

33. Brothers may be presumed to be joint but conclusion of jointness with collaterals must be affirmatively proved. The presumption lies strongly in favour of father and son that they are living jointly unless proved otherwise.

34. This presumption, however, does not apply in respect of property. There is no presumption that a family, because it is joint, possess joint property. As per Mitakshara law, the possession of property is not a necessary requisite for the constitution of a joint family, though where persons live together, joint in food and worship, it is difficult to conceive that they are possessing no property whatever, such as ordinary household articles which they would enjoy in common.

35. In Sher Singh Vs. Gamdoor Singh 1997 (2) HLR 81 (SC), the Court said that once existence of a joint family is not in dispute, necessarily the property held by family assumed the character of a coparcenary property and every member of family would be entitled, by birth, to a share in coparcenary property, unless any one of the coparcener pleads, by separate pleadings and proves, that some of the properties or all the properties are his self-acquired properties and cannot be blended in coparcenary property. Merely because the family is joint, there is no presumption of joint property. A Hindu, even if he be joint may possess separate property. Such property belongs exclusively to him. Neither member of the coparcenary, nor his male issue, acquires any interest in it by birth. On his death (intestate), it passes by succession to his heirs and not by survivorship to the surviving coparcener. The existence of joint family does not raise presumption that it owns properties jointly. But once joint family nucleus is either proved or admitted so as to draw inference that such property could have been acquired out of joint family funds, the burden shifts to the party alleging self acquisition, to establish affirmatively, that such property was acquired without aid of joint family. Initial burden always lies upon the party asserting that any item of property is joint family property.

38. In Appalaswami Vs. Suryanarayanamurti and Ors., AIR 1947 PC 189, it was held that Hindu law is very clear. Proof of existence of a joint family does not lead to the presumption that property held by any member of family is joint. The burden rests upon one who asserts that an item of property is joint, to establish that fact. But where it is established that the family possessed some joint property which, from its nature and relative value, may have formed the nucleus, from which property in question may have been acquired, the burden shifts to the party alleging self-acquisition, to establish affirmatively that the property was acquired without the aid of joint family property/fund.

39. Again in Srinivas Krishnarao Kango Vs. Narayan Devji Kango AIR 1954 SC 379, it was held that proof of existence of a joint family does not lead to the presumption that property held by any member of family is joint. The burden rests upon anyone asserting that any item of property is joint to establish the fact. But where it is established that the family possessed some joint property which form its nature and relative value, may have formed the nucleus, from which property in question may have been acquired, the burden shifts to the party alleging self-acquisition to establish affirmatively that the property was acquired without the aid of joint family property.

40. The legal proposition which emerges therefrom is that initial burden is on the person who claims that it is joint family property but after initial burden is discharged, the burden shifts to the party claiming that the property was self acquired and without the aid of joint family property/fund.

41. In Rukhmabai Vs. Lala Laxminarayan AIR 1960 SC 335, the Court said:

"There is a presumption in Hindu Law that a family is joint. There can be a division in status among the members of a joint Hindu family by refinement of shares which is technically called "division in status", or an actual division among them by allotment of specific property to each one of them which is described as "division by metes and bounds". A member need. not receive any share in the joint estate but may renounce his interest therein, his renunciation merely extinguishes his interest in the estate but does not affect the status of the remaining members vis- a-vis the family property, A division in status can be effected by an unambiguous declaration to become divided from the others and that intention can be expressed by any process. Though prima facie a document clearly expressing the intention to divide brings about a division in status, it is open to a party to prove that the said document was a sham or a nominal one not intended to be acted upon but was conceived and executed for an ulterior purpose. But there is no presumption that any property, whether movable or immovable, held by a member of, a joint Hindu family, is joint family property. The burden lies upon the person who asserts that a particular property is joint family property. to establish that fact. But if he proves that there was sufficient joint family nucleus from and out of which the said property could have been acquired, the burden shifts to the member of the family setting up the claim that it is his personal property..." (emphasis added)

64. In light of the paras quoted above, the decision of the Karnataka High Court relied upon by the appellant in the case of Laxmi (supra) has no applicability as it related to the suit for partition of properties governed by Aliyasantana Law. The learned Senior Counsel could not explain how the aforesaid case had any relevance and even what was the Aliyasantana Law and how he derived any benefit from the said decision.

65. This Court upon going through the aforesaid citation relied by the appellant finds that it does not apply to the facts of the present case and the appellant cannot get any benefit of the aforesaid ruling.

66. Moreover, the Apex Court and this Court in the cases of D.S. Lakshmaiah (supra) and Kunj Bihari Vs. Ganga Sahai Pandey (supra) respectively has lucidly explained the law regarding Joint Family Property which squarely applies Thus, applying the aforesaid principles, it would indicate that as far as the joint family property is concerned, the plaintiff could not bring any document or evidence on record to indicate and establish that the property in question was the Joint Family Property, hence the submission of Sri Arif Khan does not find favour with this Court.

67. Moreover, the two courts have concurrently held the suit of the plaintiffs to be barred by limitation and this has not been assailed by the appellant nor any substantial question of law emanates from the aforesaid issue. Accordingly, the substantial question (II) stands answered accordingly.

68. Coming to the substantial question of law at Serial Nos. (I) and (II) as noticed above, this Court finds that the title of the defendant stood established for the reason that once the property was held to be the self-acquired property of Sri Shiv Shanker Dubey then upon his death, his wife and daughter would inherit and subsequently upon the death of his wife, his daughter Smt. Gangadei became its exclusive owner and she had the right to sell the property which she did by means of sell deed dated 17.07.1971.

69. Once the defendant acquired exclusive title of the aforesaid property and in terms of the Article 65 the defendant had the right to seek possession against the plaintiff by instituting the counter claim. Significantly, the plaintiff did not setup any plea of adverse possession rather he only claimed that he had some share in the property in question and moreover that share also could not be established by him and that it has been held that the defendant is the exclusive owner of the entire property. Having said that it has come on record that the possession was handed over to the plaintiff in tems of the order passed by this Court dated 04.04.1997 in Criminal Misc. Case No. 235 of 1993 in proceedings under Section 482 Cr.P.C. assailing the proceedings initiated under Section 145 Cr.P.C. Thus, the possession which was handed over was subject to the adjudication of rights of the respective parties in the civil suit. Once in the aforesaid civil suit, the two courts have concurrently come to a conclusion that the title remained with the defendant and thus there is no error committed by the two courts regarding the decree of the counter claim in respect of relief of possession which could not be said to be time barred.

70. The alleged admission of the D.W. 1 that Gangadei remained in possession of her house till her death i.e. 22.05.1975 would not have any effect, inasmuch as, it has been clearly explained in the pleadings as well as in the evidence that Smt. Gangadei was residing in the premises in question with the consent of the defendant and upon her death it was the defendant who have performed her last rites and he had been in possession. There is no evidence that Smt. Gangadei even after executing of the sale deed remained in possession as its owner. Rather the evidence is to the contrary that she was residing with the consent of the defendant till her lifetime only.

71. In light of the discussions above, as far as the title is concerned, the same is found to be valid and subsisting with the defendant and the two courts have not committed any error in arriving at the aforesaid conclusions.

72. The findings of possession as far as the plaintiff is concerned is only limited to the extent that it was given to the plaintiff in terms of order passed by this Court subject to final adjudication of rights in the civil suit.

73. In order for the appellant to challenge the aforesaid it was essential for the appellant to have pointed out any perversity in the judgment of the two courts. The Apex Court while considering the circumstances where the High Court can interfere in concurrent findings of the two couts has held in the case of State of Rajasthan and Others Vs. Shiv Dayal and Another reported in 2019 (8) SCC 637 in following words:-

14. True it is as has been laid down by this Court in several decisions that "concurrent finding of fact" is usually binding on the High Court while hearing the second appeal under Section 100 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908(hereinafter referred to as "the Code"). However, this rule of law is subject to certain well known exceptions mentioned infra.

15. It is a trite law that in order to record any finding on the facts, the Trial Court is required to appreciate the entire evidence (oral and documentary) in the light of the pleadings of the parties. Similarly, it is also a trite law that the Appellate Court also has the jurisdiction to appreciate the evidence de novo while hearing the first appeal and either affirm the finding of the Trial Court or reverse it. If the Appellate Court affirms the finding, it is called "concurrent finding of fact" whereas if the finding is reversed, it is called "reversing finding". These expressions are well known in the legal parlance.

16. When any concurrent finding of fact is assailed in second appeal, the appellant is entitled to point out that it is bad in law because it was recorded de hors the pleadings or it was based on no evidence or it was based on misreading of material documentary evidence or it was recorded against any provision of law and lastly, the decision is one which no Judge acting judicially could reasonably have reached. (see observation made by learned Judge Vivian Bose,J. as His Lordship then was a Judge of the Nagpur High Court in Rajeshwar Vishwanath Mamidwar & Ors. vs. Dashrath Narayan Chilwelkar & Ors., AIR 1943 Nagpur 117 Para 43).

17. In our opinion, if any one or more ground, as mentioned above, is made out in an appropriate case on the basis of the pleading and evidence, such ground will constitute substantial question of law within the meaning of Section 100 of the Code.

74. Thus, applying the aforesaid proceedings, this Court does not find any error in the concurrent findings returned by the two courts as far as the possession is concerned. However, this Court upon perusal of the evidence finds that the defendants has claimed damages @ 50/- per day, however, he failed to lead any evidence and failed to establish the quantum regarding damages. In absence of any evidence, this Court finds that the two courts ought not to have granted the decree for damages @ Rs. 50 per day for wrongful possession as the defendant had failed to establish his own case.

75. Thus, in light of the discussions made above, this Court is of the considered view that as far as the finding regarding the dismissal of the suit as well as the decree of counter claim to the extent grant of decree of possession is concerned, there is no error and the said findings culminating in the decree of possession is affirmed.

76. However, since the defendant could not establish the quantum of damages by leading evidence accordingly the grant of decree of damages @ Rs. 50/- per day while decreeing the counter claim cannot be sustained and is accordingly set aside.

77. Thus, for the reasons aforesaid, the appeal is partly allowed and the judgment and decree passed by the two courts are confirmed except that the defendant shall not be entitled to the decree of the damages in his counter claim, accordingly, the judgment and decree of the Trial Court dated 08.10.2010 passed by Additional Civil Judge,(Senior Division), Court No. 24, Lucknow in R.S. No. 615 of 1992 shall stand modified to the above extent.

78. In the facts and circumstances, there shall be no order as to costs.

79. The record of the court below shall be returned to the court concerned within a period of two weeks from today.

THE HON'BLE SUNEET KUMAR, J.

Writ A No. 14490 of 2018
With
Writ A No. 36446 of 2017

Dr. Digvijay Nath Tiwari ...Petitioner
Versus
The State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Radha Kant Ojha, Sri Ratnakar Upadhyay

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Anil Kumar Singh, Sri Ashok Kumar Yadav, Sri Rahul Jain, Sri Santosh Kumar Dwivedi, Sri Anil Kumar Singh

A. Challenging-impugned order-rejecting-selection of petitioner-for the post of headmaster-approving selection of respondent-on the ground-not qualified for the said post-U/R-12(5) of Rules, 1998-U/R-7AA of Act, 1921-not a full time teacher-committed fraud & misrepresentation-C/M entitled-to promote/appoint teachers-to the vacancy-in L.T Grade-no embargo-on C/M on making appointment-of asst. teachers-in other streams.

B. Held, I have no hesitation in holding that the finding returned by the Board that petitioner does not have the requisite experience mandated under the ''Note' to sub-Rule (5) of Rule 12 is justified and valid, therefore, calls for no interference. It is thus clear that the Committee of Management is entitled to promote/appoint such teacher to the vacancy caused in L.T. grade who is required to teach the subject which the Committee of Management thinks necessary in the interest of the institution. Learned counsel for the petitioner failed to show any provision of Act, 1921 or the Regulations and Rules framed thereunder that there is any embargo upon the Committee of the Institution for not making appointment for assistant teachers in other streams.

Writ Petition No. 14490 of 2018 dismissed and Writ Petition No. 36446 of 2017 allowed. (E-8)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Suneet Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Sri R.K. Ojha, learned Senior Counsel, assisted by Sri Ratnakar Upadhyay, learned counsels for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondent, Sri S.K. Dwivedi for the third respondent, Sri Rahul Jain for the sixth respondent and Sri V.K. Singh, learned Senior Counsel, assisted by Sri H.P. Singh learned counsel for the petitioner in the connected writ petition (Writ-A No. 36446 of 2017), i.e. sixth respondent in the lead petition (Writ-A No. 14490 of 2018).

2. On the consent of the parties, the pleadings and facts of Writ-A No. 14490 of 2018 is being taken for the sake of convenience for deciding the writ petitions.

3. The writ petition is directed against the order dated 24 May 2018, passed by the third respondent, Secretary, U.P. Secondary Education Service Selection Board, Prayagraj, rejecting the selection of the petitioner for the post of Headmaster in high school and approving the selection/appointment of the sixth respondent.

4. The facts, briefly stated, is that the Board invited applications, inter alia, for the post of Headmaster vide Advertisement No. 1 of 2008, notified on 7 September 2008. The petitioner and the sixth respondent came to be selected and their names were included in the select panel issued by the Board on 12 March 2010. Pursuant thereof, petitioner joined as Headmaster in Gramin Uchchatar Madhyamik Pandir Ke Rampur Bariarpur, District Deoria, whereas, the sixth respondent joined as Headmaster in Sri Shanker Narvadeshwar Uchchtar Madhyamik Vidyalaya Beejrapur, Jhangtaun, Deoria, on 1 July 2010. Thereafter several petitions came to be filed either by the petitioner or the third parties with regard to the appointment/selection, but finally on the directions of the Division Bench of this Court, the Board decided the eligibility of the contesting parties by the impugned order.

5. Earlier, vide order dated 24/1 March 2017 passed by the Board, the sixth respondent (petitioner in writ petition No. 36467 of 2017) was held unqualified not having the requisite qualification for L.T. Grade assistant teacher (Science). The order dated 24 November 2017 and the consequential orders are under challenge in the connected writ petition. However, by the impugned order dated 28 May 2018, the candidature of the petitioner of the lead petition has been set aside not being qualified, but the Board has found the sixth respondent qualified for the post of Head Master. In other words, the Board has for all practical purpose annulled its earlier order insofar it pertains to the sixth respondent.

6. The Board rejected the claim of the petitioner, primarily, on three counts: (i) petitioner lacks teaching experience on the post of L.T. grade assistant teacher mandated in sub-rule (5) of Rule 12 of U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board Rules 1998; (ii) petitioner having experience of part time lecturer (Sanskrit) under Section 7-AA of Intermediate Education Act, 1921, not being a full time or regular teacher is not qualified; (iii) petitioner committed fraud and misrepresentation as he worked in three different institutions i.e. Junior High School/Intermediate College/Degree College in the same period.

7. Insofar the sixth respondent is concerned, it is urged that he has the experience of assistant teacher (Agriculture), whereas, no post of assistant teacher (Agriculture) was sanctioned in the institution where the petitioner claims to have been teaching. In other words, it is urged that assistant teacher (Science) was approved for the institution, against which the sixth respondent claims to have been appointed, whereas, he lacks the qualification of assistant teacher (Science).

8. Learned counsel for the petitioner has made submissions on all the three points noted in the impugned order rejecting the claim of the petitioner. It is urged that under Section 7-AA, teacher/lecturer is appointed on regular basis on full time, though they are referred to as part time lecturer under Section 7-AA, but that would not mean that the teacher is a part time teacher as understood in common parlance. Petitioner came to be appointed in a regular pay-scale, therefore, the finding that petitioner was a part time lecturer is perse perverse. Part time teacher is not granted regular pay scale. Petitioner came to be appointed in 1993 as lecturer (Sanskrit) and since then he has continued until his selection on the post.

9. It is further urged that petitioner did not commit any fraud/misrepresentation, of working in three different institutions simultaneously. Petitioner was appointed lecturer (Sanskrit) in 1993 and in 2008 petitioner came to be appointed lecturer in a degree college. With regard to the allegation that petitioner was earlier working in a junior high school is incorrect and false. Petitioner had never worked as an assistant teacher in a junior high school for the reason that petitioner since inception i.e. 1993 was appointed lecturer (Sanskrit) in an Intermediate college. The allegation of the sixth respondent that the petitioner had instituted a petition being writ petition No. 17342 of 2008, claiming salary on the post of assistant teacher of a junior high school is incorrect. It is urged that the petitioner had not instituted the said writ petition, rather, it was mischievously filed by some imposter in 2008. There was no occasion to claim salary for the post of assistant teacher for the reason that petitioner came to be selected in a degree college on a much higher post.

10. Be that as it may, this Court is not inclined to enter into disputed questions of fact, whether petitioner was employed in three different institutions at the same time, or whether petitioner was a part time/full time lecturer.

11. The issue that primarily arises for consideration is as to whether petitioner possesses the requisite qualification/experience mandated under Rule 12 of Rules, 1998.

12. Prior to the enactment of Uttar Pradesh Secondary Education Services Selection Board Act, 1982, the selection appointment and qualification of headmaster/principal of High School and Intermediate institutions was laid down in Appendix A of Regulation 1 of Chapter II of U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921, which, inter alia, provides that apart from the minimum educational qualification, four years teaching experience of class 9 to 12 was mandatory for the head of the institution i.e. headmaster/principal. In other words, lecturer appointed to teach class 11 to 12 was eligible for appointment as Head Master of High School. However, with the coming into force of Act, 1982 w.e.f. 14 July 1981, the posts were entrusted to a Commission, in order to ensure that good and competent persons were selected and appointed on the said post and relevant rules were framed by the State Government from time to time. However, vide notification dated 13 July 1988, Rules, 1998, enforced w.e.f. 8 August 1998, were notified. The selections of the contesting parties were held under the Rules, 1998. Act, 1982 came to be amended w.e.f. 20 July 1998, entrusting entire selection process to the Board in place of the Commission. Rule 5 of Rules, 1998 prescribes the academic qualification for appointment to the post of teacher which reads thus

" 5. Essential Qualifications- A candidate for appointment to a post of teacher must possess qualifications specified in Regulation 1 of Chapter II of the Regulations made under the Intermediate Education Act, 1921."

13. The Chapter II of the Regulations framed under Act, 1921 deals with appointment of heads of institutions and teachers. Regulation 1 of the said Chapter stipulates the minimum qualification for appointment as head of institution and teacher in any recognized institution whether by direct recruitment or otherwise, shall be as given in Appendix A. As per the said Appendix, the essential qualification for the post of head of the institution reads thus:

"1. Head of the institution:

(1) Trained M.A. or M.Sc. or M.Com or M.Sc (Agri) or any years equivalent post graduate or any other degree which is awarded by corporate body specified in above mentioned para one and should have at least teaching experience of four years in classes 9 to 12 in any training institute or in any institution or University specified in above-mentioned para one or in any degree college affiliated to such University or institution, recognized by Board or any institution affiliated from Boards of other States or such other institutions whose examinations are recognized by the Board, or should the condition is also that he/she should not be below 30 years of age.

2. xx xx xx

3. xx xx xx"

14. Part III of Rules, 1998, lays down the procedure for recruitment to various categories of teachers. Rule 10(a) thereof provides, the mode of recruitment of Principal of an Intermediate College or Headmaster of High School. Rule 12 lays down the procedure for direct recruitment. The "Note' appended to Rule 12 stipulates the teaching experience that shall be counted for the post of Principal/Head Master. Note reads thus:

"Note.- For the purpose of calculating experience the service rendered as Headmaster of Junior High School or as assistant teacher in a High School/Intermediate College shall be counted in the case of selection of Headmaster; and for selection of Principal, the service rendered as Headmaster of a High School or as a Lecturer shall only be counted. The provision of sub-rule (4) of Rule 12 regarding the certificate of experience shall mutatis mutandis apply."

15. The "Note' further provides for calculating experience the service rendered as Headmaster of junior high school or as assistant teacher in a High School/Intermediate College shall be counted in the case of selection of Headmaster.

16. As noted supra, Rule 5 of the Rules, 1998 deals with academic qualifications for appointment to the post of teacher and contemplates that a candidate must possess qualification as specified in Regulation 1 of Chapter II of the Regulations. Appendix A of the Regulations mandates that a candidate should have four years experience of teaching classes 9 to 12. However, the `Note' appended to sub rule (5) of Rule 12 excludes the teaching experience of assistant teacher for classes 11 and 12 for the post of Headmaster. The "Note' clearly stipulates that for selection to the post of the Headmaster, with which the Court is concerned, for the purpose of calculating experience, services rendered as assistant teacher teaching upto class 10 are qualified for the post of Headmaster. The "Note' excludes lecturers (class 11 and 12) for being considered for the post of Headmaster. Act, 1982 being a subsequent Act, the "Note' appended to sub-rule (5) of Rule 12 of Rules, 1998 has the effect of modifying the conditions of qualifying experience mentioned in Appendix A of the Regulations under the Intermediate Act. Section 32 of the Act, 1982, provides that the provision of the Intermediate Act and Regulations made thereunder will continue to be in force in case they are not inconsistent with the Principal Act and the Rules made thereunder.

17. The Supreme Court in Balbir Kaur and another Versus Uttar Pradesh Secondary Education Service Selection Board, Allahabad, was called upon to consider sub-Rule (5) of Rule 12 of Rules, 1998 with regard to the qualifications for the post of principal of Intermediate college. It was held that experience mandated in the 'Note' to sub-Rule (5) of Rule 12 of Rules, 1998, prescribes the requirement of experience for the post, which is different from what is prescribed in the Appendix of the Regulations, there being a conflict between the two provisions, the `Note' shall have an overriding effect to Appendix in view of Section 32 of Act, 1982. Para 23 is extracted:

"23.Having come to the said conclusion, the issue which still survives for consideration is whether for appointment to the post of Principal, the qualifying experience as stipulated in the said `Note' would apply or the one prescribed in the Appendix-A to Regulation I of Chapter II of the Regulations made under the Intermediate Act. In our view, answer to the question can be found in Section 32 of the Principal Act, which provides that the provision of the Intermediate Act and Regulations made thereunder will continue to be in force in case they are not inconsistent with the Principal Act and the Rules made thereunder. As noted hereinbefore `Note' to sub rule (5) of Rule 12 of 1998 Rules prescribes the requirement of experience for the post, which is different from what is prescribed in the said Appendix A and, therefore, there being a conflict between the two provisions, in the teeth of Section 32, the said `Note' shall have an overriding effect over Appendix A insofar as the question of experience is concerned. In this view of the matter, we are in agreement with the learned Single Judge that the impugned advertisements were in conformity with the said `Note' and, therefore, the selection procedure could not be faulted on that score."

18. It is admitted by the learned counsel for the petitioner that the experience certificate placed before the Board calculating the experience of the petitioner since 1993 is on the post of lecturer (Sanskrit). The subsequent document relied upon granting pay scale to the petitioner is also on the post of lecturer. The documents i.e. experience certificate relied upon by the petitioner before the Board has been placed on record which clearly shows that the petitioner at any point of time was not appointed assistant teacher rather he had teaching experience of lecturer, i.e. teaching students of classes 11 and 12.

19. In view thereof, admittedly petitioner was not having the requisite experience mandated in the "Note' to sub-Rule (5) of Rule 12. The finding to that effect returned by the Board while passing the impugned order cannot be faulted.

20. Reliance has been placed by the learned Senior Counsel on various notifications issued in the past by the Board to contend that a candidate appointed as assistant teacher in various universities/colleges affiliated to the University and working in L.T. Grade pay scale or higher pay scale and having four years teaching experience are also eligible. It is sought to be urged that the advertisement clearly prescribes that a candidate working on higher pay scale would have the requisite experience. The lecturer of a degree college/university can also seek appointment on the post of Headmaster.

21. In rebuttal, learned counsel appearing for the Board submits that the advertisement is strictly as per the provisions of Rule 5/12 of Rules, 1998. The four year experience mandated thereunder is that of an assistant teacher and not of a lecturer of an intermediate Institution and/or University/degree college. In the State there are colleges affiliated to Sanskrit University imparting education from Class 8 to graduation or higher level. But since 31 October 2008 colleges affiliated to Sanskrit University are imparting education for graduate classes. The teachers working in these universities/colleges as assistant teacher teaching class 8 to 10 would alone be eligible for the post of Headmaster, whereas, teachers appointed as lecturer to teach class 11 and 12 or higher classes would not qualify under Rule 12. The rule mandates experience of assistant teacher and not of higher post. An assistant teacher working on higher pay scale would certainly not mean that such a teacher would include the lecturer of intermediate/degree college.

22. On specific query, learned Senior Counsel does not deny that in the State of Uttar Pradesh the Sanskrit University/Colleges affiliated to the University are taking classes from class 8 to degree level.

23. In view thereof, I have no hesitation in holding that the finding returned by the Board that petitioner does not have the requisite experience mandated under the "Note' to sub-Rule (5) of Rule 12 is justified and valid, therefore, calls for no interference.

24. Insofar as the eligibility of the sixth respondent/petitioner of Writ - A No.36446 of 2017 is concerned, the allegation against him is that he is B.Sc./M.Sc. (Agriculture). It is, therefore, urged that the sixth respondent was not qualified to have been appointed assistant teacher (Science). It is not in dispute that sixth respondent has been working as assistant teacher in High School and has the requisite experience mandated by the "Note' to Rule 12 of Rules, 1998. The plea, that since vacancy in Science subject arose in the institution, therefore, only a Science teacher could have been appointed is not tenable. Under the Act, 1921, lecturers are appointed for a specific subject, but the number of assistant teacher is determined depending upon the strength of the students enrolled in the institution. It is left open to the Committee of Management of the Institution to appoint teachers as is required. In other words, where assistant teacher teaching Science or English retires, it is not incumbent upon the Committee of Management of the Institution to appoint teachers for Science or English subjects. The discretion is available with the Committee depending whether teachers to teach the subject are available. In case, the teachers are available the Committee of Management can appoint any other person eligible for teaching the subject for which teacher is required.

25. Division Bench of this Court in B.P. Tripathi Vs. State of U.P. and others, held that the expression: -

"..... for teaching the subject in which the teacher ..... in the L.T. grade is required" cannot be read as "for teaching the subject which was being taught by the teacher whose vacancy is to be fulfilled".

26. It is thus clear that the Committee of Management is entitled to promote/appoint such teacher to the vacancy caused in L.T. grade who is required to teach the subject which the Committee of Management thinks necessary in the interest of the institution. The decision was followed by the subsequent Division Bench in Pati Ram Pal Vs. District Inspector of Schools and others.

27. On specific query, learned counsel appearing for the petitioner and the Board do not dispute that the sixth respondent has the requisite experience for the post of assistant teacher, the only plea being raised that since he was B.Sc. (Agriculture), therefore, he could not have been appointed against the vacancy of assistant teacher (Science), lacks merit.

28. Learned counsel for the petitioner failed to show any provision of Act, 1921 or the Regulations and Rules framed thereunder that there is any embargo upon the Committee of the Institution for not making appointment for assistant teachers in other streams.

29. Accordingly:

(i) Writ Petition No.14490 of 2018 (Dr. Digvijay Nath Tiwari Vs. State of U.P. and others), is dismissed.

(ii) Writ Petition No.36446 of 2017 (Ajay Kumar Sahi Vs. State of U.P. and others), is allowed. Impugned order dated 24 March 2017 passed by the Board and consequential orders are set aside and quashed.

30. No order as to cost.

2. Cancellation of appointment of the Petitioner Assistant Teacher for appointment obtained by her on the basis of forged and fabricated T.E.T. marksheet/certificate, is the controversy involved in the present writ petition.

3. On 02.12.2019, this Court passed the following order:-

"Case called out.

Sri Anil Kumar Pandey, learned standing counsel has filed a counter affidavit dated 2.12.2019 on behalf of the respondent no. 5 which is taken on record.

In paragraph 4 of the counter affidavit, the respondent no. 5 has stated as under:-

"That the petitioner has appeared in TET Examination 2014 with Roll No. 0510201832 and the same was produced before the counseling members and got an appointment as Assistant Teacher in the aforesaid college thereafter after examining by the District Basic Education Officer, Kannauj to the aforesaid certificate of the petitioner on the uploaded website of result of U.P.T.E.T. Examination 2014. The aforesaid certificate submitted by the petitioner was found forged as such vide letter dated 23.10.2019 the services of the petitioner - Smt. Reena Devi as Assistant Teacher has been terminated under the Government order issued by the Government. It is further stated that after scrutinizing the Roll No. 0510201832 in the available records, on the aforesaid Roll number the name was shown as Km. Anita daughter of Sri Krishna is mentioned and Km. Anita has not found qualifying marks which is shown in OBC category and she has also obtained only 82 marks out of 150 as such the marks is very low and which is shown in the list which was uploaded on the website of T.E.T. As such on the basis of the aforesaid facts no certificate has been issued under under the provisions of Government Order issued by the Government in this regard. Hence the present writ petition filed by the petitioner is not maintainable."

Two days time is granted to the learned counsel for the petitioner to file a rejoinder affidavit.

Since none has appeared on behalf of the petitioner even in the revised call, therefore, learned standing counsel is directed to communicate this order in writing to the learned counsel for the petitioner within 24 hours.

Put up this matter on 5.12.2019 in the additional cause list."

4. Today, learned counsel for the petitioner states that he tried to contact the petitioner but the petitioner is not responding and it appears that she does not wish to file a rejoinder affidavit.

5. In view of the aforesaid, the contents of paragraph 4 of the counter affidavit as reproduced in the aforequoted order dated 02.12.2019, is deemed to be correct.

6. Undisputedly, in terms of the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Basic Education (Teachers) Service Rules 1981, N.C.T.E. Act, N.C.T.E. Regulations, 2001, the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act 2009 and the Rules framed thereunder and the Notification issued under Section 23(1) of the N.C.T.E. Act, one of the essential qualifications for appointment of Assistant Teacher is that the candidate must have passed Teacher Eligibility Test (TET). Thus, TET is the eligibility for appointment on the post of Assistant Teacher. The petitioner secured appointment on the post of Assistant Teacher vide appointment order dated 03.09.2016 issued by the District Basic Education Officer, Firozabad. She joined in Junior Basic School Ahirua Rajarampur, Vikas Khand Chibramau, District - Kannauj on 24.09.2016. On verification her TET marksheet/certificate was found to be forged by the District Basic Education Officer who consequently passed the impugned order dated 23.10.2019 cancelling the appointment order of the petitioner.

7. In view of the aforesaid, the appointment obtained by the petitioner on the basis of a forged and fabricated TET marksheet/certificate has been rightly cancelled by the respondent no.4. It is settled law that fraud and justice never dwell together. Cancellation of appointment of the petitioner on account of forged and fabricated TET marksheet/certificate is wholly justified under the facts and circumstances of the case and requires no interference by this Court.

8. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Union of India & Anr. v. Raghuwar Pal Singh, (2018) 15 SCC 463 had examined a case, where the appointment letter was issued without approval of the competent authority. The question arose whether such appointment letter would be a case of nullity or a mere irregularity? In case of nullity, affording opportunity to the incumbent would be a mere formality and non-grant of opportunity may not vitiate the final decision of termination of his services. Hon'ble Supreme Court held that in absence of prior approval of the competent authority, the Director Incharge could not have hastened issuance of the appointment letter. The act of commission and omission of the Director Incharge would, therefore, suffer from the vice of lack of authority and nullity in law.

9. In Nidhi Kaim & Anr. v. State of Madhya Pradesh & Ors., (2017) 4 SCC 1, a three Judge Bench was dealing with admission of students to MBBS Course on the basis of illegal and unfair admission process. The Court held as under:

"92. ...Having given our thoughtful consideration to the above submission, we are of the considered view that conferring rights or benefits on the appellants, who had consciously participated in a well thought out, and meticulously orchestrated plan, to circumvent well laid down norms, for gaining admission to the MBBS course, would amount to espousing the cause of "the unfair". It would seem like allowing a thief to retain the stolen property. It would seem as if the Court was not supportive of the cause of those who had adopted and followed rightful means. Such a course would cause people to question the credibility of the justice-delivery system itself. The exercise of jurisdiction in the manner suggested on behalf of the appellants would surely depict the Court's support in favour of the sacrilegious. It would also compromise the integrity of the academic community. We are of the view that in the name of doing complete justice it is not possible for this Court to support the vitiated actions of the appellants through which they gained admission to the MBBS course.

94. ...Even in situations where a juvenile indulges in crime, he has to face trial, and is subjected to the postulated statutory consequences. Law, has consequences. And the consequences of law brook no exception. The appellants in this case, irrespective of their age, were conscious of the regular process of admission. They breached the same by devious means. They must therefore, suffer the consequences of their actions. It is not the first time that admissions obtained by deceitful means would be cancelled. This Court has consistently annulled academic gains arising out of wrongful admissions. Acceptance of the prayer made by the appellants on the parameter suggested by them would result in overlooking the large number of judgments on the point. Adoption of a different course, for the appellants, would trivialise the declared legal position. Reference in this behalf may be made to the judgments relied upon by the learned counsel representing Vyapam.

108. ...In the facts and circumstances of the case in hand, it would not be proper to legitimise the admission of the appellants to the MBBS course in exercise of the jurisdiction vested in this Court under Article 142 of the Constitution. We, therefore, hereby decline the above prayer made on behalf of the appellants."

43) In another three Judge Bench judgment in Chairman and Managing Director, Food Corporation of India & Ors. v. Jagdish Balaram Bahira & Ors.(2017) 8 SCC 670, the Court was examining the consequences of false caste certificate produced to seek appointment. The Court held as under:

"69. For these reasons, we hold and declare that:

69.3. The decisions of this Court in R.Vishwanatha Pillai v. State of Kerala, (2004) 2 SCC 105 : 2004 SCC (L&S) 350] and in Union of India v. Dattatray, (2008) 4 SCC 612 :(2008) 2 SCC (L&S) 6, which were rendered by Benches of three Judges laid down the principle of law that where a benefit is secured by an individual-such as an appointment to a post or admission to an educational institution--on the basis that the candidate belongs to a reserved category for which the benefit is reserved, the invalidation of the caste or tribe claim upon verification would result in the appointment or, as the case may be, the admission being rendered void or non est.

69.7. Withdrawal of benefits secured on the basis of a caste claim which has been found to be false and is invalidated is a necessary consequence which flows from the invalidation of the caste claim and no issue of retrospectivity would arise;"

(Emphasis supplied by me)

10. A Full Bench of the Hon'ble Patna High Court in the case of Rita Mishra & Ors. v. Director, Primary Education, Bihar & Ors. AIR 1988 Patna 26 has dealt with appointment in the education department claiming salary although the letter of appointment was forged, fraudulent or illegal. The Full Bench declined to grant such claim and held that *"the right to salary stricto sensu springs from a legal right to validly hold the post for which salary is claimed. It is a right consequential to a valid appointment to such post. Therefore, where the very root is non-existent, there cannot subsist a branch thereof in the shape of a claim to salary. The rights to salary, pension and other service benefits are entirely statutory in nature in public service. Therefore, these rights, including the right to salary, spring from a valid and legal appointment to the post. Once it is found that the very appointment is illegal and is non est in the eye of law, no statutory entitlement for salary or consequential rights of pension and other monetary benefits can arise."

11. The aforesaid judgment of Full Bench of the Hon'ble Patna High Court in the case of Rita Mishra (supra) was approved by a three Judges Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court in R. Vishwanatha Pillai Vs. State of Kerala & Ors. (2004) 2 SCC 105.

12. Hon'ble Supreme Court by three Judge Bench in the State Of Bihar Vs. Kirti Narayan Prasad, decided on 30 November 2018, 2019 (1) ESC 3 considered the matter of appointments made on the basis of forged appointment letter and held as under:

*"17. In the instant cases the writ petitioners have filed the petitions before the High Court with a specific prayer to regularize their service and to set aside the order of termination of their services. They have also challenged the report submitted by the State Committee. The real controversy is whether the writ petitioners were legally and validly appointed. The finding of the State Committee is that many writ petitioners had secured appointment by producing fake or forged appointment letter or had been inducted in Government service surreptitiously by concerned Civil Surgeon-cum-Chief Medical Officer by issuing a posting order. The writ petitioners are the beneficiaries of illegal orders made by the Civil Surgeon-cum-Chief Medical Officer. They were given notice to establish the genuineness of their appointment and to show cause. None of them could establish the genuineness or legality of their appointment before the State Committee. The State Committee on appreciation of the materials on record has opined that their appointment was illegal and void ab initio.We do not find any ground to disagree with the finding of the State Committee. In the circumstances, the question of regularisation of their services by invoking para 53 of the judgment in Umadevi (supra) does not arise. Since the appointment of the petitioners is ab initio void, they cannot be said to be the civil servants of the State. Therefore, holding disciplinary proceedings envisaged byArticle 311of the Constitution or under any other disciplinary rules shall not arise."

13. The aforesaid judgment in the case of the State Of Bihar Vs. Kirti Narayan Prasad has been followed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the State Of Bihar Vs. Devendra Sharma, 2019 AIR 1158 (S.C.). In the case of Devendra Sharma (supra), Hon'ble Supreme Court also considered fraudulently obtained appointments and held as under:-

"19) The cases in the second category i.e. appointment on the basis of forged nursing registration stands on the same footing as category one though it is argued by the appellants in three appeals that nursing registration certificate is not forged but the matriculation certificate on the basis of which the candidates have undergone Auxiliary Nurse Mid-Wife, (for short 'ANM') course was found to be forged. The State Committee has found that ANM certificate is a forged certificate. Even if, the certificate of ANM is not forged as argued before this Court but the Matriculation Certificate is said to be forged, the fact is that the educational qualification, a pre-condition for undergoing nursing course, was found to be forged. Therefore, the forgery is in the basic eligibility condition to undertake ANM course, which will vitiate the process of appointment. For the reasons recorded in Kirti Narayan Prasad, Civil Appeal Nos. 7906 of 2019, 7919 of 2019 and 7920 of 2019 are dismissed.

20) Coming to third category of cases, Mr. Mukherjee, learned counsel for the State referred to the separate Government Circulars dated December 3, 1980 in respect of Class III and Class IV category posts. It is contended that appointments on such circulars have been found to be illegal by this Court in Ashwani Kumar, which view was in fact, approved later by Constitution Bench judgment in Uma Devi, wherein this Court held as under:

"33. It is not necessary to notice all the decisions of this Court on this aspect. By and large what emerges is that regular recruitment should be insisted upon, only in a contingency can an ad hoc appointment be made in a permanent vacancy, but the same should soon be followed by a regular recruitment and that appointments to non- available posts should not be taken note of for regularisation. The cases directing regularisation have mainly proceeded on the basis that having permitted the employee to work for some period, he should be absorbed, without really laying down any law to that effect, after discussing the constitutional scheme for public employment.

53. One aspect needs to be clarified. There may be cases where irregular appointments (not illegal appointments) as explained in S.V. Narayanappa [(1967) 1 SCR 128 : AIR 1967 SC 1071], R.N. Nanjundappa [(1972) 1 SCC 409 : (1972) 2 SCR 799] and B.N. Nagarajan [(1979) 4 SCC 507 : 1980 SCC (L&S) 4 : (1979) 3 SCR 937] and referred to in para 15 above, of duly qualified persons in duly sanctioned vacant posts might have been made and the employees have continued to work for ten years or more but without the intervention of orders of the courts or of tribunals. The question of regularisation of the services of such employees may have to be considered on merits in the light of the principles settled by this Court in the cases above-referred to and in the light of this judgment....."
(Emphasis Supplied)

21) In Uma Devi, the argument that the employees have legitimate expectations was negated when this Court held as under:

"46. ..... The doctrine can be invoked if the decisions of the administrative authority affect the person by depriving him of some benefit or advantage which either (i) he had in the past been permitted by the decision-maker to enjoy and which he can legitimately expect to be permitted to continue to do until there have been communicated to him some rational grounds for withdrawing it on which he has been given an opportunity to comment; or (ii) he has received assurance from the decision-maker that they will not be withdrawn without giving him first an opportunity of advancing reasons for contending that they should not be withdrawn... There is no case that any assurance was given by the Government or the department concerned while making the appointment on daily wages that the status conferred on him will not be withdrawn until some rational reason comes into existence for withdrawing it. The very engagement was against the constitutional scheme. Though, the Commissioner of the Commercial Taxes Department sought to get the appointments made permanent, there is no case that at the time of appointment any promise was held out. No such promise could also have been held out in view of the circulars and directives issued by the Government after Dharwad decision [(1990) 2 SCC 396 : 1990 SCC (L&S) 274 : (1990) 12 ATC 902 : (1990) 1 SCR 544] . Though, there is a case that the State had made regularisations in the past of similarly situated employees, the fact remains that such regularisations were done only pursuant to judicial directions, either of the Administrative Tribunal or of the High Court and in some cases by this Court....

47. When a person enters a temporary employment or gets engagement as a contractual or casual worker and the engagement is not based on a proper selection as recognised by the relevant rules or procedure, he is aware of the consequences of the appointment being temporary, casual or contractual in nature. Such a person cannot invoke the theory of legitimate expectation for being confirmed in the post when an appointment to the post could be made only by following a proper procedure for selection and in cases concerned, in consultation with the Public Service Commission. Therefore, the theory of legitimate expectation cannot be successfully advanced by temporary, contractual or casual employees...."

14. Thus, where a person secures appointment on the basis of a forged marksheet or certificate or appointment letter and on that basis he or she has been inducted in Government service then he becomes beneficiary of illegal and fraudulent appointment. Such an appointment is illegal and void ab initio. Therefore, holding disciplinary proceedings envisaged by Article 311 of the Constitution of India or under any disciplinary rules including the Uttar Pradesh Basic Education Staff Rules, 1973 or the Uttar Pradesh Government Servant (Disciplin and Appeal) Rules 1999, shall not arise.

15. The forgery committed by the petitioner, for obtaining public employment on the basis of forged TET Examination marksheet/certificate; is in the basic eligibility conditions for appointment on the post of Assistant Teacher. Therefore, it vitiates the process of her appointment. Thus, the appointment of the petitioner is void ab initio and she can not be said to be a government servant. Therefore, her appointment has been lawfully cancelled by the impugned order.

16. For all the reasons aforestated, I do not find any error of law in the impugned order dated 23.10.2019, which has been passed by the respondent no.4 after affording opportunity of hearing to the petitioner. Therefore, the writ petition is dismissed.

5. Learned standing counsel as well as learned counsel for the respondent nos. 3 & 4 submits that the impugned order has been passed in accordance with law.

Discussion & Findings:

6. I have carefully considered the submissions of the learned counsel for the parties.

7. Undisputably, the State Government has taken a policy decision dated 17.6.2019 to transfer Assistant Teachers of such institutions where they are surplus, to such institutions where there is single Assistant Teacher or no Assistant Teachers, so as to achieve the object of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 (herein after referred to as the Act, 2009), and Uttar Pradesh Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules, 2011 (herein after referred to as the Rules, 2011). For this purpose, the District Level Transfer Committee has been constituted which consist of District Magistrate as Chairman and four other Officers as members. The District Basic Education is member Secretary of the Committee. The policy intends to ensure that students may not suffer due to lack of teachers and every school may have sufficient teachers as far as possible, as per available work force i.e. Assistant Teachers.

9. The policy decision of the State Government being Government Order dated 17.6.2019 is not under challenge. Merely the order of transfer / adjustment has been challenged by the petitioners.

10. In making transfer / adjustment in terms of the policy decision dated 17.6.2019, the authorities have adopted uniform method. No specific perversity could be pointed out by the petitioners in the list of students and teachers prepared by the District Basic Education Officer, filed as Annexure No. 5 to the writ petition which is not even under challenge in the present writ petition. The impugned transfer / adjustment orders are merely consequential to the above. Therefore, it cannot interfered with.

11. Petitioners have completely failed to show any prejudice caused to them by the impugned transfer orders.

12. The State is under constitutional obligation under Article 21A of the Constitution of India and also under statutory obligation under the Act, 2009 and the Rules framed thereunder, to provide free and quality education to all children of the age of 6 to 14 years which intends a systematic change to empower deprived Sections of the Society. The present petition is clearly intended to frustrate the very object of the Act, 2009 and fundamental rights of children under Article 21A of the Constitution of India by opposing their transfer / adjustment orders without any fundamental or statutory right to remain on the place of present posting. Paragraph No.3(d) of the G.O. dated 17.06.2019 requires to secure certain information. The last paragraph of the G.O. contains policy decision that adjustment of teachers shall be made on the basis of actual number of students in the school as against the total number of students enrolled. This exercise has been undertaken by the respondents and on that basis the impugned adjustment order has been passed. Thus, impugned adjustment order is in conformity with the policy decision of the State Government dated 17.06.2019. Therefore, the impugned adjustment order cannot be interfered with.

13. For all the reasons aforestated, I do not find any good reason to interfere with the impugned transfer / adjustment orders. Consequently, the writ petition is dismissed.

A. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 108 - Challenging-impugned order-rejecting Petitioner's claim-for compassionate appointment-on the ground-declaration of civil death-of petitioner's father-by civil court-on 07.07.2018-by then-Petitioner's father-retired-compassionate appoint-not available-only upon expiry of 7 years-from the date he went missing-then declaration by civil court-permissible-no presumption-if specific date of death proved-present case-no proof or disclosure of date of death.

B. Held, that it is only upon expiry of 07 years from the time such person went missing that declaration of civil death would be permissible in terms of Section 108 of the Evidence Act. This presumption, however, would not arise when a specific date of death is proved by evidence. In the facts of the present case, the date of death is neither disclosed nor is proved. The Division Bench judgment, therefore, also would not be of any help to petitioner's cause.

Writ Petition dismissed. (E-8)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashwani Kumar Mishra, J.)

1. Challenge is laid in this petition to an order dated 1.5.2019, passed by U.P. Rajya Vidyut Utpadan Nigam Ltd., Lucknow, whereby petitioner's application for grant of compassionate appointment is rejected. Order impugned records that declaration of civil death of petitioner's father has been granted by civil court on 7.7.2018, by when petitioner's father had already retired, and therefore the provision for grant of compassionate appointment would not be available. Petitioner's application has accordingly been rejected.

2. Undisputed facts that emerge on record are that petitioner's father was employed in the respondent Corporation and he was due to superannuate on 30.5.2010. It transpires that petitioner's father attended his duties last on 10.3.2010, in the afternoon shift that lasted from 2.00 p.m. to 10.00 p.m. but he did not return thereafter. A written report was thus lodged with the concern police station on 12.3.2010. Newspaper publications were also made in local Hindi daily "Dainik Jagran' etc. but despite all attempts petitioner's father could not be traced. Ultimately, petitioner alongwith other heirs instituted Original Suit No.72 of 2017 before the Civil Judge (Sr. Division), Sonbhadra, seeking declaration of civil death of petitioner's father. The employer i.e. respondent Corporation was impleaded as defendant in the suit. On the basis of pleadings exchanged the trial court formulated 07 issues for determination in the suit. Issue no.1 was as to whether petitioner's father Chandreshwar Prasad has gone missing since 10.3.2010. The second issue was regarding lodging of missing report in the concern police station regarding petitioner's father. The last issue related to grant of relief in the facts of the case. Other issues framed are not relevant for present purposes. The trial court after appreciating the evidence on record returned a categorical finding on issue no.1 that petitioner's father was seen last on 10.3.2010, and has not been seen thereafter. The second issue has also been answered acknowledging that a missing report was lodged with the concern police station. The trial court for the purpose of grant of relief to the plaintiff relied upon Section 108 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 to hold that as petitioner's father has not been seen for a period of 07 years w.e.f. 12.3.2010, therefore, he is liable to be declared dead. The presumption contained under Section 108 has, accordingly, been granted to hold the father of petitioner dead under Section 108 of the Evidence Act, 1872. This declaration by the civil court is granted on 7.7.2018. It is thereafter that an application for grant of compassionate appointment has been moved, which has been declined by the order impugned.

3. The order of the Corporation is assailed by counsel for the petitioner, who submits that relevant date of death in the facts of the present case ought to be taken as 10.3.2010, particularly as an intimation was given to the concern police station on 12.3.2010 itself, and that the declaration of civil court granted on 7.7.2018 would relate back to the date when petitioner's father went missing. For such contention, learned counsel for the petitioner places reliance upon a judgment of Nagpur Bench of the Bombay High Court in Second Appeal No. 18 of 2016 (Sou. Swati w/o Abhay Deshmukh Vs. Shri Abhay), decided on 26.2.2016. Reliance is also placed upon a Division Bench judgment of the Andhra Pradesh High Court in Writ Petition No. 34859 of 2016 (Union of India, represented by its Secretary and others Vs. Polimetla Mary Sarojini and another), decided on 31.1.2017.

4. Petition is opposed by Sri Ankit Saran, appearing for the Corporation, who submits that the presumption under Section 108 of the Evidence Act would come into being only upon expiry of 07 years term from the date the person was last seen, and therefore, petitioner's application has rightly been rejected since petitioner's father had attained the age of superannuation by then.

5. In order to appreciate the rival submissions advanced on behalf of the parties, it would be necessary first to refer to Sections 107 and 108 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (hereinafter referred to as "the Act of 1872'), as it would govern the controversy involved. The sections are quoted hereinafter:-

"107. Burden of proving death of person known to have been alive within thirty years.--When the question is whether a man is alive or dead, and it is shown that he was alive within thirty years, the burden of proving that he is dead is on the person who affirms it.

108. Burden of proving that person is alive who has not been heard of for seven years.--Provided that when the question is whether a man is alive or dead, and it is proved that he has not been heard of for seven years by those who would naturally have heard of him if he had been alive, the burden of proving that he is alive is shifted to the person who affirms it."

6. Section 107 provides that the burden of proving whether a man dead, if it is shown that he was alive within thirty years, is on the person who affirms it. Section 108 is an exception to Section 107, and provides that when the question is whether a man is alive or dead, and it is proved that he has not been heard of for seven years by those who would naturally have heard of him, if he had been alive, the burden of proving that he is alive is shifted upon the person who affirms it. Statutory scheme is absolutely clear. The presumption of death under Section 108 would be available if a person has not been seen for a period of 07 years by those who would have naturally heard of him, if he had been alive. For presumption of death to arise under Section 108 of the Act of 1872 two facts must be entertained. Firstly, it has to be ascertained as to what is the last date when such a person is seen last. Secondly, it must be established that a period of 07 years has expired since such person is seen last by those who would have naturally heard of him. The facts of a given case would have to be examined in the context of the aforesaid statutory scheme before a presumption of civil death arises. In the facts of the present case it is admitted that father of petitioner was seen last on 10.3.2010, as he completed his work in the shift that lasted from 2.00 p.m. to 10.00 p.m. It is thereafter that he has not been heard of. 10th March, 2010, therefore, would be treated to be the date when petitioner's father was last seen. There is no specific date of death disclosed by the plaintiffs nor any evidence is lead in that regard, and the suit appears to have been instituted by relying upon Section 108 of the Evidence Act. The suit has also been decreed by the civil court accepting such contention. In order to decree the suit based upon Section 108 of the Evidence Act, a period of 07 years must pass since the date when petitioner's father was last seen. The period of 07 years accordingly would expire on 10.3.2017. The declaration under Section 108 of the Indian Evidence Act cannot be stretched to a date prior to 10.3.2017. It is admitted that petitioner's father had retired by then.

7. The interpretation of Sections 107 and 108 of the Evidence Act is no longer res-judicata, inasmuch as the purport of the provision has been examined by the Apex Court in LIC of India Vs. Anuradha, (2004) 10 SCC 131. Para 12 to 15 of the judgment would be relevant for the present purposes and is reproduced hereinafter:-

"12. Neither Section 108 of Evidence Act nor logic, reason or sense permit a presumption or assumption being drawn or made that the person not heard of for seven years was dead on the date of his disappearance or soon after the date and time on which he was last seen. The only inference permissible to be drawn and based on the presumption is that the man was dead at the time when the question arose subject to a period of seven years absence and being unheard of having elapsed before that time. The presumption stands un-rebutted for failure of the contesting party to prove that such man was alive either on the date on which the dispute arose or at any time before that so as to break the period of seven years counted backwards from the date on which the question arose for determination. At what point of time the person was dead is not a matter of presumption but of evidence, factual or circumstantial, and the onus of proving that the death had taken place at any given point of time or date since the disappearance or within the period of seven years lies on the person who stakes the claim, the establishment of which will depend on proof of the date or time of death.

13. A presumption assists a party in discharging the burden of proof by taking advantage or presumption arising in his favour dispensing with the need of adducing evidence which may or may not be available. Phipson and Elliott have observed in 'Manual of the Law of Evidence' (Eleventh Edition at p.77) that although there is almost invariably a logical connection between basic fact and presumed fact, in the case of most presumptions it is by no means intellectually compelling. In our opinion, a presumption of fact or law which has gained recognition in statute or by successive judicial pronouncements spread over the years cannot be stretched beyond the limits permitted by the statute or beyond the contemplation spelled out from the logic, reason and sense prevailing with the Judges, having written opinions valued as precedents, so as to draw such other inferences as are not contemplated.

14. On the basis of the abovesaid authorities, we unhesitatingly arrive at a conclusion which we sum up in the following words. The law as to presumption of death remains the same whether in Common Law of England or in the statutory provisions contained in Sections 107 and 108 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. In the scheme of Evidence Act, though Sections 107 and 108 are drafted as two Sections, in effect, Section 108 is an exception to the rule enacted in Section 107. The human life shown to be in existence, at a given point of time which according to Section 107 ought to be a point within 30 years calculated backwards from the date when the question arises, is presumed to continue to be living. The rule is subject to a proviso or exception as contained in Section 108. If the persons, who would have naturally and in the ordinary course of human affairs heard of the person in question, have not so heard of him for seven years the presumption raised under Section 107 ceases to operate. Section 107 has the effect of shifting the burden of proving that the person is dead on him who affirms the fact. Section 108, subject to its applicability being attracted, has the effect of shifting the burden of proof back on the one who asserts the fact of that person being alive. The presumption raised under Section 108 is a limited presumption confined only to presuming the factum of death of the person who's life or death is in issue. Though it will be presumed that the person is dead but there is no presumption as to the date or time of death. There is no presumption as to the facts and circumstances under which the person may have died. The presumption as to death by reference to Section 108 would arise only on lapse of seven years and would not by applying any logic or reasoning be permitted to be raised on expiry of 6 years and 364 days or at any time short of it. An occasion for raising the presumption would arise only when the question is raised in a Court, Tribunal or before an authority who is called upon to decide as to whether a person is alive or dead. So long as the dispute is not raised before any forum and in any legal proceedings the occasion for raising the presumption does not arise.

15. If an issue may arise as to the date or time of death the same shall have to be determined on evidence-direct or circumstantial and not by assumption or presumption. The burden of proof would lay on the person who makes assertion of death having taken place at a given date or time in order to succeed in his claim. Rarely it may be permissible to proceed on premise that the death had occurred on any given date before which the period of seven years' absence was shown to have elapsed."

8. Perusal of the judgment in LIC of India (supra) would clearly indicate that grant of declaration under Section 108 would not lead to a presumption with regard to date or time of death. The presumption, moreover, would arise only on lapse of 07 years, and by applying no logic or reasoning can be stretched to a period prior to expiry of 07 years. Apex Court has observed that rarely would it be permissible to proceed on the premise that death had occurred on any given date before expiry of 07 years' absence. Such rarity is not shown to exist in the facts of the present case. The petitioner, therefore, would not be entitled to declaration of death prior to 10.3.2017.

9. Learned counsel for the petitioner has placed heavy reliance upon the judgment of Nagpur Bench of the Bombay High Court in Sou. Swati (supra). The judgment of the Bombay High Court was in the context of facts, as had been noticed in para 2 of the judgment. It was noticed that the person concerned went missing on 16.7.2006 and was not heard of since then. A report at the Police Station Ranapratapnagar, Nagpur was lodged on 16.3.2008. It was in that context that applicability of Sections 107 and 108 was examined by the Court. On the facts of the case, the Court came to a conclusion that 16.3.2008 would be the relevant date for issuing a death certificate. This judgment although refers to the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of LIC of India (supra) and also notices Sections 107 and 108 of the Evidence Act, but on facts it was found by the Court that the death had occurred prior to 16.3.2008. No principle of law can be culled out from this judgment to support petitioner's contention, inasmuch as the declaration in that case is based more upon the appreciation of facts of that particular case.

10. Learned counsel for the petitioner has also placed reliance upon the death certificate issued by the competent authority, in which the date of death is mentioned 10.3.2010. This document would not be of much relevance, inasmuch as the registration of date of death appears to be based upon the decree passed by the civil court itself. This Court had already taken note of the decree to hold that presumption of death in terms of Section 108 of the Indian Evidence Act would arise only on 10.3.2017. In that view of the matter, mere registration of date of death in the death certificate would not be material and the declaration of civil court would be binding.

11. Coming to the Division Bench judgment of the Andhra Pradesh High Court in the case of Union of India (supra), learned counsel for the petitioner has referred to para 36 and 37 of the judgment, which are reproduced hereinafter:-

"36. Thus it is clear that both in England and elsewhere, the date of expiry of 7 years from the time a person went missing, is taken to be the date of death also, unless any other date is proved by the party asserting, to be the date of death. But the moment a party is able to prove a particular date as the date of death, then the question of presumption itself would not arise. The decisions of various Courts holding that in certain circumstances a person must be presumed to be dead from the date he went missing or within a few days thereafter, are based upon a flawed logic. The Evidence Act allows of only one presumption. But by holding that a person must be presumed to be dead from the time he went missing, some Courts have raised a second presumption, which is not traceable to the Evidence Act. A distinction exists between a presumed fact and an inferred one. Many times the confusion occurs due to the use of the presumption as a synonym for inference.

37. As we have pointed out earlier, there is a distinction between a presumption of fact and an inference. Section 108 of the Evidence Act admits of only one presumption namely the presumption of death of a person not heard of for 7 years by those who would normally have heard of him. Since it is a rebuttable presumption and the rebuttal can take place at any time, the law does not stipulate any date as the date on which a person may be presumed to be dead. There is huge difference between the presumption as to death and presumption as to date of death. Since the law does not prescribe any presumption as to date of death, the same may have to be proved. An inference cannot take the place on proof or presumption."

12. The above observation of the Division Bench clearly endorses the proposition that it is only upon expiry of 07 years from the time such person went missing that declaration of civil death would be permissible in terms of Section 108 of the Evidence Act. This presumption, however, would not arise when a specific date of death is proved by evidence. In the facts of the present case, the date of death is neither disclosed nor is proved. The Division Bench judgment, therefore, also would not be of any help to petitioner's cause.

13. In light of the discussions and deliberations aforesaid, this Court finds that there is no error in the decision taken by the Corporation to deny compassionate appointment to the petitioner.

14. Writ petition lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed. No order is passed as to costs.

E. Because, the petitioner has no speedy remedy except approach this Hon'ble Court.

F. Because, the action of Respondents is against the eye of law."

4. The then Hon'ble Chief Justice Dr.D.Y.Chandrachud (as His Lordship was then) had instituted a one Judge enquiry vide his order dated 12.03.2015. Amongst others one of the reference of the enquiry was as under:

"It has become necessary for the High Court to make a comprehensive assessment of the situation, on the administrative side and to take appropriate remedial measures. Hence, it has been considered necessary to entrust the matter on the administrative side to a judge of the High Court, Hon'ble Mr. Justice P.K.S. Baghel who has been nominated in the matter will submit a report on all aspects including those having a bearing on the need to ensure safe and orderly conditions of work in and the proper discharge of judicial functions by the district courts of the State of Uttar Pradesh. The report would indicate appropriate remedial measures."

5. The said enquiry was conducted by one of us (Justice P.K.S.Baghel). The Enquiry Judge has submitted its report to the Hon'ble Chief Justice and was approved by the Administrative Committee on 04.09.2015.

6. The Enquiry Judge has made a study on depth on the falling standard of the Bar across the State. The Chapter IV of the report deals with the said aspect. The material part of the report is extracted in extentio:

".....The Law Commission in its Fourteenth Report had expressed its deep concern about falling standard of the Bar. The Commission had considered the situations prevailing in the 1950s. Its report was submitted in 1958. The report of the Law Commission could not get due attention by various stakeholders. It would be inappropriate for the Committee to make any comment on a statutory body, Bar Council of India, but now BCI itself has admitted that "situation is slipping out of hand" and "Sadly, this profession has fallen under a cloud."

3. Observation of Bar Council of India:

In the year 2014, the Bar Council of India itself has painted a very gloomy picture of legal profession in the statement of objects and reasons of recently framed statutory rule: "Bar Council of India Certificate of Practice and Renewal Rules, 2014". The statement of objects and reasons for enacting the said rule was that it was felt by the Bar Council that a definite trend was visible that the situation is slipping out of the hands of the advocates who practice law. The Bar Council has also expressed its concern over the falling standard of legal profession and it felt urgent need for laying down some conditions for practicing law in different courts.

*** *** ***

Under these circumstances it appears that a definite trend is visible that the control of Bar Associations and of other elected bodies under the Advocates Act is slipping out of the hands of the advocates who practice law. It is also being experienced that after certificate of enrolment is issued to an advocate, practically no communicative and continuing contact survives between him and the Council.

*** *** ***

The Bar Council of India has also come to know that a number of fake (farzi) persons (without any Law Degree or enrolment certificate) are indulged in Legal practice and are cheating the Litigants, courts and other stake-holders; and neither the Bar Associations nor the concerned State Bar Councils have any control over such fake persons. Shockingly, it has come to the notice of the Council that at some places, the office-bearers of Bar Associations or some vote-seekers knowingly make such people members and voters of their Associations with a motive to get their votes in the elections of Bar Associations or Bar Councils. Similarly, many persons, after getting enrolled as Advocates in any State Bar Council, get involve in Property-Dealings, contract or switch over to some other business, profession or job and have no more concern with the Legal profession. Such "non-practicing Advocates" are sometimes being used by some of the office-bearers/ candidates for elections of Bar Associations or Bar Councils (only for their votes). But in fact, the Council has realized that such practice is degrading the standard of Legal profession, and this mal-practice has to be stopped.

4. Suggestions of the First Law Commission:

The Law Commission in its Fourteenth Report, while dealing with falling standard of the Bar, made several suggestions. It aptly observed as under:

"1. A well-organized system of judicial administration postulates a properly equipped and efficient Bar. ....

2. The evidence given before us reveals a general consensus that there is a fall in efficiency and standards at the Bar. The recent recruit to the profession is said to be inferior in his legal equipment, less pains-taking and in a hurry to find work.

*** *** ***

55. ...The overcrowding in the profession is undoubtedly one of the causes which has contributed to the growth of the evil. Persons entering the profession, whose economic conditions make it impossible for them to wait before they can start earning a living or who have waited without success, are driven to these practices in their struggle for existence. It not infrequently, happens, however, that lawyers who have been driven to these practices in the earlier stages of their career in their need to earn a living continue these practices even after they have gathered considerable practice at the Bar and some of them even after they have attained seniority in the profession.....

6. Declining standard of Bar - An example:

While dealing with the falling standard of the Bar, I wish to venture about the standard of High Court's Bar. I am not oblivious of the fact that I am transgressing the terms of reference. But in the larger interest of the Institution, I wish to draw the attention to the present standard of young lawyers. This Court in the case of Sandeep Patel and others v.

State of U.P. and others, Writ-C No. 17720 of 2014, decided on 03 April 2014, has extracted the pleadings of a writ petition and quoted the same extensively in the judgment, as under:

"2. Some of the paragraphs of the writ petition need to be quoted, which are as under;

"3. That the matter is very urgent because the respondents taking the counseling on 15-03-2014 which petitioners are very loss if not stay the B.T.C. Counseling.

For kind perusal of this Hon'ble Court a photo copies of the Daily News Paper (Dainik Jagran) is being filed herewith and marked as ANNEXURE NO. 4 to this writ petition.

9. That the petitioners are belong poor family. The petitioners selected the in merit list of B.T.C. 2013.

11. That the petitioner No. 6 is SC. candidate belong to poor family. The petitioner No. 6 is select candidate in B.T.C. Session 2013 which multiple marks 207.51 and select option of 10 district. For kind perusal of this Hon'ble Court A photo copy of the allotted district is being filed herewith and marked as ANNEXURE NO. 6 to this writ petition.

13. That the respondents not available to aforesaid district choice of the petitioner No. 6, so that respondents are act illegal."

3. When the matter was taken up, some Senior Advocates, namely, Sri P. N. Saxena, Sri Ashok Khare, Sri R.K. Ojha and Sri G.K. Singh were present in the Court. They also expressed their concern on the falling standard of the Bar. One of the learned Senior Advocates gave a suggestion that like Supreme Court this Court may also consider to hold some examination for Junior Advocates."

Most of the Judges of the High Court have also expressed their deep concern about such type of pleadings which has become a commonplace even in the civil side. Similar is the situation in the District Courts also.

7. Need to frame rules likewise Advocate-on-Record of the Supreme Court:

The Supreme Court in the case of R.K. Anand (supra) has considered this issue and has issued directions to the High Courts to frame the Rules for holding examinations like the Advocate-on-Record for High Courts and courts subordinate thereto. Paragraph-243 of the judgment reads thus:

"243. In order to avoid any such controversies in future all the High Courts that have so far not framed rules under Section 34 of the Advocates Act are directed to frame the rules without any further delay. It is earnestly hoped that all the High Courts shall frame the rules within four months from today. The High Courts may also consider framing rules for having Advocates-on-Record on the pattern of the Supreme Court of India."

It is significant to mention that there is a direction of this Court also in the case of Committee of Management, Sri Shankar Shiksha Prasar Samiti and another v. State of U.P. and others, 2009 (2) AWC 1871 All, wherein this Court has issued a direction on the judicial side to conduct an examination. The direction of the Court as contained in paragraph-29(3) of the judgment, which is relevant for the purposes, is quoted below:

"3. Rules relating to Advocate on Record, as framed by the Supreme Court of India should also be framed by the High Court, by which, one advocate is made answerable and responsible for receiving affidavit, counter-affidavit, rejoinder-affidavit, notices, etc. and would also be made answerable to the Court and adjournment could only be sought by that counsel in the Court."

It is noteworthy that in compliance of the direction of the Supreme Court, the High Court of Judicature at Patna has framed the rules, called as "Registration of Advocates as Advocates-on-Record of the Patna High Court Rules" and added the said Rules as Sub-Part "D" in Chapter XXIV, Part V of the Patna High Court Rules, 1916.

8. Conclusion:

Rules relating to Advocate-on-Record are, therefore, a crying need of our times but have remained a far cry. If we continue to blink over this issue further, an irreversible situation will arise. In future the operation of the rule can be extended phase-wise to cover District Courts also."

7. In the State of U.P. the law colleges were run by Universities and in some of the affiliated/associated colleges. After the legal education has been made part of the Bar Council's function, in Uttar Pradesh in last decade more than 50 (fifty) colleges have been recognized by the Bar Council. These colleges are self financed and the standard of education imparted in these colleges are disappointing. The law graduates from these self financed colleges are getting enrolled in the High Court as an advocate and without any experience of work in any court these untrained law graduates from self financed private institutions are the main cause for the concern regarding the standard of the Bar. These fresh graduates did not get training from the chamber of the senior lawyers and the district courts. Hence, in absence of any training or good educational background they cannot be expected to integrate to the high standard tradition, and professed proficiency which is required for practising in the High Court. Recently, the Madras High Court has also considered the same issue in WP (MD) No.7257 of 2019, A.Kannan v. High Court of Madras and others. In which the Court has issued certain directions for the improvement of the standard of the Bar. Some of the observations made therein are extracted hereunder:

"....Now, a new trend has crept in the legal profession, namely, the Law Graduates after coming out the Law Colleges without any experience in the legal profession, start appearing before the court without even given the material details in the affidavit and arguing the matters. As a result, the Court is unable to effectively adjudicate the matters. There is no assistance from those Lawyers. It requires at least 3 to 5 years experience in Senior's office, so that, they will be able to know from the Seniors as to what are all the particulars to be collected from the parties, how a petition/plaint should be drafted and what are all the things to be omitted and how the case should be presented before the Court and how the queries raised by the Court could be answered by the Advocate. Though they have the fundamental knowledge, without the basic procedures followed by the Trial Courts, they venture into the legal profession, which makes very difficult for the Courts to render justice effectively.

3.....This Court faced a lot of problems because of inexperienced Advocates appearing before the Court, without knowing the basic procedures. The effort of Mr. Kannan, Petitioner in person, has to be appreciated and his efforts are only to enhance the quality of advocacy and only persons who have got knowledge in law and procedure which could be tested by an examination, could be allowed to appear before the Court.

5. .....This court has got power under Article 225 and 226 of the Constitution of India, apart from Section 34 of the Advocates Act to frame such Rules, like, the Supreme Court Rules, 2013. Only those who are qualified in the examination to be conducted by the Court as per the proposed new Rules, the Supreme Court Rules, 2013, the Advocate with sound knowledge in law would be made as Advocate on Record. This exercise will enable the Court to get good assistance from the Advocates on Record and it is necessary to use the judicial time qualitatively. Prescribing such Rules is not to get away any individual Advocate or section of Advocates from the High Court. It is only to test the knowledge of the Advocates who would be in a better position to adjudicate the matters effectively. Any advocate who has got sound knowledge in law and in current position of law and the latest judgments could easily crack the said test."

8. Some other High Courts have also framed the Rules in compliance of the judgment of the Supreme Court in R.K.Anand (supra) case.

9. It is high time that this Court should also consider to frame the Rule in the line of the other High Courts to arrest the deterioration of standard of legal profession which also affect the entire justice delivery system.

10. As discussed above, the enquiry report of the Enquiry Judge was approved by the Hon'ble Administrative Committee on 04.09.2015 and a resolution was taken to authorize the Hon'ble Chief Justice to take appropriate remedial action.

11. In view of the above, we request the Hon'ble Chief Justice to consider the remedial measure suggested in the enquiry report in the light of the facts recorded in this order and the directions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in R.K.Anand (supra).

12. In the present case, having regard to the facts mentioned above, we do not find any ground to interfere in the matter. The writ petition is, accordingly, dismissed.

A. The Uttar Pradesh Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act, 1960 - Section 10 - Notice to tenure-holders failing to submit a statement or submitting an incomplete or incorrect statement - Section 11 - Determination of surplus land where no objection is filed - Section 12 - Determination of the surplus land by the Prescribed Authority where an objection is filed - Section 13 - Appeal to Commissioner - Limitation Act, 1963 - Section 5- delay condonation application - allowed - Appeal maintainable - No illegality in the impugned order.

Section 13 provides a right of appeal to a party aggrieved by an order under Sub-section (2) of Section 11 or Section 12 and no other - Prescribed authority has passed an order under section 12(1) - The proceedings of section 12 begin on the notice of section 10 (2) and objection to the said notice is decided under section 12 (1). (Para-7)

Held :- The objection to the notice given under section 10 (2) of the 'Act 1960' will be disposed of by the prescribed authority through the procedure described under section 12 (1) of the 'Act 1960' and the order passed will be appealable before Commissioner under Section 13 of 'Act 1960 '. Therefore, in the present case appeal made under Section 13 of Act 1960 is maintainable. (Para-10)

B. The Uttar Pradesh Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act, 1960 - Section 38 - the appellate Court shall have all the powers and the privileges of a Civil Court and follow the procedure for the hearing and disposal of appeals laid down in the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 - Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 - Order 41 Rule 3A – Application for condonation of delay.

If the court considers that there is no reason for rejecting the application without issuing notice to the respondent , the notice thereof shall be issued to the respondent - In this case, without giving any notice to the respondent/petitioner, the application for delay condonation was allowed - this process defect has been corrected by hearing both the parties to the above order on recall (withdrawal) application and placing the same in view of the order passed earlier. (Para 10)

Held: - While disposing of the application for condonation of delay, the court should keep a liberal and practical view and not a technical or conservative view. Therefore, in the present case, the Commissioner has not committed any legal error by adopting a liberal and practical approach but has followed the judicial principles laid down by the Supreme Court. When considering an application for 'delay condonation', the court should keep a liberal, practical, justice-oriented, non-orthodox view, because the court is obliged to remove injustice, not to legalize injustice. 1. प्रस्तुत प्रकरण के तथ्य संक्षेप में निम्न है।

(ii). ऐसा प्रतीत होता है कि उक्त आदेश दिनांक9.12.1996 के उपरान्त तत्कालीन विहित प्राधिकारी ने, वर्तमान प्रकरण की कार्यवाही में कोई प्रगति नहीं की। काफी वर्षों के उपरान्त, कलेक्टर के आदेशानुसार उपजिलाधिकारी, धामपुर द्वारा दी गई जाँच आख्या दिनांक 5.12.2008 के उपरान्त इस प्रकरण की कार्यवाही पुनः आरम्भ हुई एवं उच्च न्यायालय के आदेश 9.12.1996 के अनुक्रम में याची को नोटिस प्रेषित किया गया। पूर्व योजित वाद संख्या 170/1976 की पत्रावली न मिलने के कारण उस पत्रावली का पुनः निर्माण (रिकन्सट्रक्ट) कराने व आख्या दिनांक 5.12.2008 के आधार पर वाद (वाद सं 7/2009) योजित किया गया।

(iv). याची के उपरोक्त वर्णित आपत्ति का प्रतिउत्तर, उ.प्र. सरकार द्वारा दिया गया, जिसमें मुख्य कथन किया कि-

"1- यह कि प्रतिवादी का प्रार्थना पत्र सरासर गलत तथ्यों पर आधारित होने के कारण खण्डित होने योग्य है।

2- यह कि प्रस्तुत वाद की कार्यवाही में पत्रावली रिकन्सट्रक्ट (Reconstruct) करने की कार्यवाही जिलाधिकारी महोदय के पत्र दिनांक 18.11.2008 पर इस कारण करनी पड़ी क्यों कि मूल पत्रावली का उपलब्ध होना नहीं पाया गया।

3- यह कि प्रश्नगत नोटिस का हरगिज यह तात्पर्य नहीं है कि खातेदार अथवा आपत्ति कर्तागण के पक्ष में या विरोध में पूर्व पारित आदेशों का संज्ञान न लिया जाये।

4- यह कि मूल पत्रावली उपलब्ध न होने की दशा में नई पत्रावली बनाकर कार्यवाही किया जाना न्यायहित में आवश्यक है। ताकि किसी भी पक्ष के हितों पर विपरीत प्रभाव न पड़े।

5- यह कि मूल पत्रावली के उपलब्ध न होने की दशा में पत्रावली रिकन्सट्रक्ट प्रार्थन करने में सहयोग करना खातेदार का भी दायित्व है, इसलिए प्रार्थना-पत्र में प्रस्तुत कार्यवाही समाप्त किया जाने के लिये लिखना औचित्यपूर्ण नहीं है।"

याची ने उक्त प्रतिउत्तर का जवाब पेश किया जिसके द्वारा पुनः कथन किया कि विहित प्राधिकारी द्वारा की जा रही कार्यवाही न्यायहित में नहीं है। इस प्रकरण में आदेश पारित करने कलेक्टर को कोई अधिकार नहीं है।

(v). विहित प्राधिकारी ने उभय पक्ष के विद्वान अधिवक्ताओं को सुनकर अपने निर्णय व आदेश दिनांक 1.4.2015 द्वारा 'अधिनियम 1960' के अन्तर्गत निर्गत नवीन नोटिस को निरस्त कर दिया। निर्णय का निष्कर्ष व आदेश निम्न है:-

"वाद पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध अभिलेखों का गहनता से अवलोकन किया गया। वाद पत्रावली पूर्ण रुप से रिकन्सट्रैक्ट नहीं की गयी हैं। जब तक वाद पत्रावली पूर्ण रुप से रिकन्सट्रैक्ट नहीं हो जाती तब तक खातेदार को दिये गये नोटिस पर कार्यवाही किया जाना न्याय संगत प्रतीत नहीं होता। अतः तहसीलदार धामपुर वाद से सम्बन्धित पुरानी मूलवाद पत्रावलियाँ तलाश करके इस न्यायालय के समक्ष प्रस्तुत करें।"

एवं आदेश पारित कियाः-

"तहसीलदार धामपुर के निर्देशित किया जाता है कि खातेदार से सम्बन्धित पुरानी वाद पत्रावलियां शीघ्र तलाश कर इस न्यायालय के समक्ष प्रस्तुत करे, जिससे रिट याचिका संख्या 8239/1980 में मा0 उच्च न्यायालय का आदेश दिनांक 9.12.96 के अनुपालन में कार्यवाही की जा सके। वाद पत्रावली उपलब्ध होने तक वर्ष 2009 में खातेदार को सीलिंग अधिनियम की धारा 10(2) के अन्तर्गत दिया गया नोटिस निरस्त किया जाता है।"

(vi). विहित प्राधिकारी के आदेश दिनांक 1.4.2005 के विरुद्ध, उत्तर प्रदेश सरकार ने सीलिंग अपील संख्या 20151300001305, न्यायालय आयुक्त, मुरादाबाद मण्डल, मुरादाबाद के समक्ष 'अधिनियम 1961' को धारा 13 के अंतर्गत पेश की। अपील के संग धारा 5 के अंतर्गत प्रार्थना पत्र भी दायर किया, जिसके द्वारा अपील दायर करने में हुए करीब 4 माह के विलम्ब को क्षमा करने की प्रार्थना की गयी। उक्त प्रार्थना पत्र के मुख्य अंश आगे वर्णित किये गये है।

"प्रार्थी द्वारा अवर न्यायालय द्वारा पारित आदेश दिनांक 01/04/15 के विरुद्ध अपील इस न्यायालय में 30 दिवस के भीतर योजित करनी थी, किंतु सम्बंधित प्रकरण में उ0 प्र0 सरकार की ओर से अपीलीय न्यायालय में अपील योजित किये जाने के सम्बंध में जिला शासकीय अधिवक्ता राजस्व द्वारा अपनी

विधिक राय प्रभारी अधिकारी सीलिंग को दिनांक 13/07/15 को प्रस्तुत की गयी जिसके पश्चात् दिनांक 17/07/15 को जिलाधिकारी बिजनौर द्वारा उक्त आदेश के विरुद्ध अपील योजित किये जाने के लिये मण्डलीय शासकीय अधिवक्ता राजस्व को पत्र प्रेषित किया गया, जिसके अनुसरण में यह अपील माननीय न्यायालय में प्रस्तुत की जा रही है, क्यों कि दिनांक 01/04/15 के आदेश के विरुद्ध अपील नहीं हो सकी, इस कारण इस अपील को योजित करने में लगभग 4 माह का विलम्ब हो गया है, जो न्याय की दृष्टि से क्षमा किये जाने योग्य है।

(vii). आयुक्त, मुरादाबाद मण्डल, मुरादाबाद ने निम्न उद्धृत आदेश दिनांक 3.9.2015 के द्वारा याची को नोटिस दिए बिना, केवल उ.प्र. सरकार के अधिवक्ता को सुनकर, अपील पेश करने में हुए करीब 4 माह के विलम्ब को क्षमा कर दिया और अपील को गुण दोष पर सुनने लिए अंगीकृत कर लिया।

"पत्रावली प्रस्तुत हुई। अपीलार्थी/उ0प्र0 सरकार की ओर से उपस्थित विद्वान शासकीय अधिवक्ता को सुना गया। अपील योजित करने में हुए विलम्ब को क्षमा किया जाता है। अपील सुनवाई हेतु ग्रहण की जाती है। दर्ज की जाये। नोटिस निर्गत किये जाये। अवर न्यायालय का अभिलेख मंगाया जाये। पत्रावली वास्ते सुनवाई दिनांक 08-10-2015 को पेश हो।"

"मेरे द्वारा उभयपक्षों की ओर से प्रस्तुत तर्कों पर विचार किया गया तथा पत्रावली का अवलोकन किया गया। प्रश्नगत अपील लगभग 04 माह विलम्ब से योजित की गयी थी, जिसका कारण धारा-5 के प्रार्थना पत्र में दर्शाया गया है। अतः धारा-5 का प्रार्थना पत्र स्वीकार करके कोई विधिक त्रुटि नहीं की गयी है प्रतिपक्षीगण को अपील में आपत्ति प्रस्तुत करने का पर्याप्त अवसर प्राप्त है। मा0 उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा Writ no. 28715 of 2015 Vinit Kumar And Anr. Vs. state of U.P. and 3 ors. Order dated 19.5.2015 एव मा0 उच्चतम न्यायालय द्वारा Collector, Land Acquisition, Anantnag & Anr. Vs. Mst. Katiji & Ors JT 2000 (5) 389, Perumon Bhagvathy Devaswam Vs. Bhargavi Amma (2008) SCC 321 में समय पर दी गयी विभिन्न विधिक व्यवस्थाओं में धारा -5 के प्रार्थना पत्र पर उदारता का दृष्टिकोण अपनाये जाने के निर्देश दिये गये हैं। वाद के शीघ्र निस्तारण में सहयोग करना सभी पक्षकारों का दायित्व होता है। ऐसी स्थिति में प्रश्नगत आदेश दिनांक 03.09.2015 को रिकॉल किये जाने का कोई औचित्यपूर्ण कारण न पाते हुये प्रतिपक्षी संख्या-1 एवं प्रतिपक्षी संख्या -5 की ओर प्रस्तुत रिकॉल प्रार्थना पत्र निरस्त किये जाते हैं। पत्रावली अन्तिम बहस हेतु दिनांक 08.12.2016 को पेश हो।"

(ix). उक्त वर्णित आदेश दिनांक 3.9.2015 व 1.12.2016 से क्षुब्द होने के कारण याची, ने याचिका (आज्ञापत्र याचिका संख्या 58295/2016), उच्च न्यायालय के समक्ष दिनांक 7.12.2016 को योजित की। इस याचिका पर दिनांक 9.12.2016 को आदेश पारित हुआ कि याचिका की अग्रिम तिथि

21.12.2016 होगी, साथ ही प्रतिशपथ पत्र दाखिल करने का आदेश भी पारित किया गया।

"सम्पूर्ण तथ्यों के परिशीलन से यह स्पष्टतः विदित होता है कि प्रश्नगत प्रकरण में वर्ष 1976 में दिये गये नोटिस से सम्बिन्धित पत्रावलियां तलाश करने के उपरान्त भी नहीं मिली। मा0 उच्च न्यायालय में योजित रिट याचिका संख्या 8239/1980 कुरी सहकारी समिति लि0 आदि बनाम उत्तर प्रदेश में मा0 उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा पारित आदेश दिनांक 09.12.96 के अनुपालन में तहसीलदार धामपुर द्वारा प्रतिवादीगण के जोत में सम्मिलित समस्त भूमि के आधार पर सीलिंग प्रपत्र तैयार करके उप जिलाधिकारी द्वारा अपने पत्र दिनांक 05.12.08 के साथ संलग्न कर प्रपत्र विहित प्राधिकारी (सीलिंग) के न्यायालय में अग्रेतर कार्यवाही हेतु प्रस्तुत किये। विहित प्राधिकारी (सीलिंग) द्वारा दिनांक 05.12.09 को पत्रावली पर अंकित फर्देहकॉम आदेश में पक्षकारों को नोटिस जारी करने का आदेश दिया गया है तथा मूल वाद पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध अभिलेख भी रिकन्सट्रक्ट (Reconstruct) करने से सम्बन्धित है। जहाँ तक रिट याचिका संख्या 36916/2008 अपर गंगेज शुगर मिल स्योहारा बनाम उ.प्र. सरकार में तत्कालीन तहसीलदार कालीशंकर वर्मा द्वारा दिनांक 25.11.08 को प्रतिशपथपत्र दाखिल करते हुए प्रतिशपथपत्र के पैरा सं0 3 ता 52 तक सत्यापित किये जाने का प्रश्न है। उक्त प्रतिशपथपत्र अन्य राजस्व अभिलेखों उद्धरण खतौनी आदि के आधार पर भी सत्यापित किया जा सकता है। ऐसी स्थिति में विहित प्राधिकारी को आदेश दिनांक 01.04.15 के अन्तर्गत धारा 10 (2) के अन्तर्गत दिया गया नोटिस वापिस करने के स्थान पर पत्रावलियों के रिकन्सट्रक्ट (Reconstruct) करने की कार्यवाही को पूर्ण करना चाहिए था, जैसा कि स्वयं विहित प्राधिकारी (सीलिंग) द्वारा अपने आदेश में अंकित भी किया गया है। प्रतिपक्षीगण के विद्वान अधिवक्ता की ओर से (2009.(9) ADJ811(SC)) में दी गयी व्यवस्था की ओर भी ध्यान आकृष्ट किया गया है, परन्तु विहित प्राधिकारी (सीलिंग) बिजनौर द्वारा पारित आदेश दिनांक 01.04.2015 के अन्तर्गत धारा 10(2) का नोटिस वापिस लिया गया है। ऐसी स्थिति में प्रतिपक्षीगण का यह कथन कि "उत्तर प्रदेश सरकार को अधिकतम जोत सीमा आरोपण अधिनयम की धारा -13 के अन्तर्गत अपील योजित करने का अधिकार नहीं था,"- प्रतिपक्षीगण की ओर से प्रस्तुत मा0 उच्चतम न्यायालय द्वारा दी गयी विधिक व्यवस्था (2009(9) ADJ811(SC)) के आलोक में विधि मान्य नहीं है। अतः वर्णित परिस्थितियों में अपीलार्थी उत्तर प्रदेश सरकार की ओर से उपस्थित विद्वान शासकीय अधिवक्ता के तर्कों में बल प्रतीत होता है तथा उ0प्र0 सरकार की ओर से योजित अपील स्वीकार किये जाने योग्य पायी जाती है।

उपरोक्त विवेचना के आधार पर उत्तर प्रदेश सरकार द्वारा योजित अपील स्वीकार की जाती है। विहित प्राधिकारी (सीलिंग)/अपर कलेक्टर बिजनौर द्वारा पारित आदेश दिनांक 01.04.2015 निरस्त किया जाता है। पत्रावली की जाती है कि मा0 उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा रिट याचिका संख्या 8239/1980 कुरी सहकारी समिति लि0 आदि बनाम उत्तर प्रदेश में पारित आदेश दिनांक 09.12.96 के समादर में पक्षकारों के आपत्ति एवं साक्ष्य का पर्याप्त अवसर देते हुए गुण-दोष के आधार पर निर्णयादेश पारित करें। उक्त

आदेश की प्रमाणित प्रतिलिपि सहित अवर न्यायालय का अभिलेख वापिस किया जाये। अपील पत्रावली संचयार्थ अभिलेखागार प्रेषित की जाये।"

(xi). उपरोक्त वर्णित आदेश दिनांक 29.12.2016 से क्षुब्ध होने के कारण याची ने एक और याचिका (व्यवहार प्रकीर्ण आज्ञापत्र याचिका संख्या 5712 वर्ष 2017) इस उच्च न्यायालय में योजित की। इस याचिका पर निम्न उद्धृत आदेश दिनांक 7.2.2017 को पारित हुआ।

"Learned Standing Counsel has accepted notice on behalf of all the respondents. He prays for and is according two weeks time to seek instruction or file counter affidavit. Rejoinder affidavit may be filed within three days thereafter.

List this matter on 27.02.2017 in the additional cause list.

Any action, in between, would be subject to final decision to be passed in this writ petition."

(xii). दोनों याचिकाये (58295/2016 व 5712/2017) वर्तमान आदेश से एक साथ निर्णत की जा रही है।

2. याचिका सं0 58295 वर्ष 2016 में प्रतिपक्ष सं0 1 व 2 की तरफ से प्रतिशपथ पत्र दाखिल किया गया है, जिसमे कथन किया गया है की आयुक्त महोदय ने 'पर्याप्त कारण' होने के कारण 4 माह के विलम्ब को क्षमा किया। ए आई आर 1987 उच्चतम न्यायालय, 1353 में प्रतिवेदित निर्णय को भी आधार बनाया। प्रतिशपथ पत्र का उत्तर देते हुए याची ने कथन किया कि आयुक्त ने बिना नोटिस दिये, विलम्ब को क्षमा करने का अवैधानिक आदेश पारित किया है।

3. याचिका संख्या 5712 वर्ष 2017 में भी प्रतिपक्ष 2 व 3 की तरफ से प्रतिशपथपत्र दायर किया गया है, जिसमें मुख्य रुप से कहा कि:-

5. "यह की अपील प्रश्नगत आदेश दिनांकित 29.12.2016 द्वारा बिल्कुल सही प्रकार, नियमानुसार, विधिपूर्वक, समस्त तथ्यों एवं साक्ष्यों के आधार पर निर्णित की है और स्पष्ट किया गया है कि प्रश्नगत प्रकरण में वर्ष 1976 में दिये गये नोटिस से संबंधित पत्रावली जो तालाश करने के उपरान्त भी नहीं मिली, उनको रिकन्सटक्ट कराने के आदेश दिये गये हैं और उनको रिकन्सटक्ट कराना आवश्यक है तदानुसार अपील स्वीकार की जाकर प्रश्नगत आदेश द्वारा आदेशित किया गया कि विहित प्राधिकारी/ अपर जिलाधिकारी , बिजनौर को इस निर्देश के साथ प्रति प्रेषित किया जाता है कि वह माननीय उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा रिट याचिका संख्या-8239/1980 कुड़ी सहकारी समिति आदि बनाम उ0 प्र0 सरकार में पारित आदेश दिनांक 09.12.1996 के समादर में पक्षकारों को आपत्ति एवं साक्ष्य का पर्याप्त अवसर देते हुए गुण-दोष के आधार पर निर्णय पारित करें। उक्त आदेश के विरुद्ध रिट याचिका पोषणीय नहीं है। याची को यह वैकल्पिक सुविधा प्राप्त है कि अवर न्यायालय / विहित प्राधिकारी सीलिंग, बिजनौर के समक्ष उपस्थित होकर प्रस्तुत कर सकते थे जो याची द्वारा नहीं किया गया इस आधार पर याचिका पोषणीय नहीं है और सव्यय निरस्तकरणीय है।"

याची के प्रतिशपथ का उत्तर भी दिया है, जिसमें याचिका में वर्णित कथनों का समर्थन किया गया है।

4. याची के विद्वान अधिवक्ता श्रेय शर्मा, ने कथन किया कि आक्षेपित आदेश निम्न कारणों से न्याय विरुद्ध है।

(क) विहित प्राधिकारी के द्वारा पारित आदेश दिनांक 1.4.2015 के विरुद्ध 'अधिनियम 1960' की धारा 13 के अन्तर्गत अपील पोषणीय नहीं है, क्योकि आदेश दिनांक 1.4.2015 'अधिनियम 1960' की धारा 11(2) या धारा (12) के अधीन पारित नहीं किया गया है। याची के विद्वान अधिवक्ता ने अपने कथन के समर्थन में उच्चतम न्यायालय द्वारा पारित निर्णय सुपर कैसेट इंडस्ट्रीज लि. बनाम उ.प्र. सरकार 2009 (10) एस सी सी 531 का उल्लेख किया।

(ख) विद्वान अधिवक्ता ने कथन किया कि आयुक्त के द्वारा विलम्ब क्षमा का आदेश याची को नोटिस दिये बिना ही पारित किया गया है, अतः यह आदेश न्याय विरुद्ध है। अपने कथन के समर्थन में इस उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा पारित आदेश शम्भू सरन चौबे व अन्य बनाम उ.प्र. सरकार व अन्यः 2012 (10) ए डी जे, 742 का उल्लेख किया।

(ग) विद्वान अधिवक्ता का यह भी कथन है, कि विलम्ब क्षमा के आदेश को चुनौती देने वाली याचिका (याचिका संख्या 58295/2016) इस उच्च न्यायालय में लम्बित थी की इस दौरान ही आयुक्त ने अपील पर गुण दोष पर निर्णय ले लिया गया था, परन्तु केवल इस कारण से उक्त याचिका स्वयं ही निष्फल नहीं हो जाती है। अगर यह न्यायालय इस निष्कर्ष पर पहुँचता है कि विलम्ब क्षमा का आदेश न्याय विरुद्ध था, तो अपील पर गुण दोष पर दिया गया आदेश स्वतः ही निष्फल हो जायेगा, क्योंकि वो आदेश एक 'आश्रित आदेश' (dependent order) है। इस तर्क को पुख्ता करने के लिए विद्वान अधिवक्ता ने उच्चतम न्यायालय के द्वारा पारित रामा गोउडा, मेजर बनाम स्पेशल लैंड एक्यूजीशन ऑफिसर, बैंगलोर 1988 (2) एस सी सी 142 के निर्णय का उल्लेख किया।

(घ) विद्वान अधिवक्ता ने आगे कथन किया कि आक्षेपित आदेश दिनांक 29.12.2016 गुण दोष पर भी विधि विरुद्ध है,क्योंकि वर्तमान प्रकरण में याची के विरुद्ध 'अधिनियम 1960' के अंतर्गत नवीन नोटिस प्रेषित नहीं किया जा सकता था तथा जिलाधिकारी के आदेश से प्रकरण के दस्तावेजों का पुनर्निर्माण (Reconstruct) नहीं किया जा सकता। यह आदेश उच्च न्यायालय के आदेश दिनांक 9.12.1996 में पारित दिशा निर्देशों के विपरीत भी है।

(ङ) याची द्वारा लिखित बहस भी पेश की गयी है, जिसमें ऊपर वर्णित बहस को दोहराया गया है।

5. विद्वान मुख्य स्थाई अधिवक्ता, उ0 प्र0 सरकार ने प्रति-उत्तर में कथन किया कि;

(क) 'अधिनियम 1960' की धारा 13 में स्पष्ट रुप से वर्णित है कि 'धारा 11' की उपधारा (2) या धारा 12 के अधीन दिये गये किसी आदेश से क्षुब्ध कोई पक्ष उक्त आदेश की तारीख से 30 दिन के अन्दर उस आयुक्त के समक्ष अपील पेश कर सकता है, जिसके अधिक्षेत्र में वह भूमि या उसका कोई भाग स्थित हो। धारा 10 (2) में यह स्पष्ट रुप से उल्लेखित है कि, खातेदार को धारा 10(1) में प्रेषित नोटिस की आपत्ति धारा 10 (2) में की जा सकती है तथा ऐसी आपत्ति का निर्णय धारा 12 (1) के अनुसार किया जायेगा। प्रस्तुत प्रकरण में वर्ष 2010 में एक नोटिस धारा 10 (2) के अंतर्गत पूर्व में योजित कार्यवाही की निरंतरता में प्रेषित किया गया था, जिससे विरुद्ध याची ने आपत्ति पेश की थी। आपत्ति पेश होने पर विहित प्राधिकारी ने उभय पक्ष को सुनकर, कारणों को अभिलिखित करके आपत्तियों को अस्वीकार करने का निर्णय दिनांक 1.4.2015 को पारित किया। अतः उक्त आदेश, धारा 12 (1) के अंतर्गत पारित आदेश माना जायेगा।

अतः उक्त आदेश के विरुद्ध अपील धारा-13, 'अधिनियम 1960'के अन्तर्गत पेश की जा सकती है। अतः उ.प्र. सरकार द्वारा दाखिल अपील पूर्णतः पोषणीय है। आयुक्त ने 'पर्याप्त कारण' होने के कारण विलम्ब क्षमा का आवेदन पर विधिपूर्वक आदेश पारित किया। आयुक्त द्वारा बिना नोटिस दिये विलम्ब क्षमा का आदेश पारित करने में यदि कोई विधिक त्रुटि थी तो भी याची द्वारा रिकॉल (प्रत्याहार) प्रार्थना पत्र पर याची को सुनकर पूर्व में पारित विलम्ब क्षमा का आदेश यथावत रख कर आयुक्त द्वारा उक्त त्रुटि को दूर कर लिया गया है।

6. उभय पक्षों के विद्वान अधिवक्ताओं के तर्कों को ध्यान पूर्वक सुना व प्रकरण के अभिलेखों व याची के द्वारा पेश की गयी लिखित बहस का परिशीलन ध्यान पूर्वक किया।

7. (i). प्रथम बिन्दू जिस पर इस न्यायालय को विचार करना है, वो है कि, प्रस्तुत प्रकरण में विहित प्रधिकारी के आदेश दिनांक 1.4.2015 के विरुद्ध उ. प्र. सरकार के द्वारा पेश की गयी अपील 'अधिनियम 1960' की धारा 13 के अंतर्गत पोषणीय है या नहीं?

(ii). 'अधिनियम 1960' के वो उपबंध जो इस प्रकरण को निस्तारित करने के लिए सुसंगत है, वो निम्न है।

धारा 10. विवरण प्रस्तुत न करने वाला या अपूर्ण अथवा गलत विवरण प्रस्तुत करने वाले खातेदारों को नोटिस- (1). यदि कोई जोतदार आधार 9 के अधीन प्रस्तुत किये जाने हेतु अपेक्षित कोई विवरण प्रस्तुत न करे या अपूर्ण अथवा गलत विवरण प्रस्तुत करे तो ऐसी हर एक दशा में विहित प्राधिकारी या तो स्वयं या अपने अधीनस्थ किसी व्यक्ति के माध्यम से ऐसी जांच करने के बाद जो वह आवश्यक समझे, एक विवरण तैयार करवायेगा जिसमें ऐसे ब्यौरे दिये होंगे जो विहित किये जायें इस विवरण में विशेष रुप से धारा 6 के अधीन विमुक्त भूमि, यदि कोई हो, दिखाई जायेगी तथा वह गाटा या वे गाटे भी दिखाये जायेंगे जिसे या जिन्हें अतिरिक्त भूमि घोषित करने का विचार हो।

(2). तत्पश्चात विहित प्राधिकारी उपधारा (1) के अधीन तैयार किये गये विवरण की एक प्रति के सहित एक नोटिस ऐसी रीति से, जो विहित की जाए, हर एक ऐसे जोतदार पर तामील कराएगा, जिसमें उससे कहा जाएगा कि वह उस नोटिस में निर्दिष्ट अवधि के अन्दर कारण प्रकट करें कि विवरण क्यों ठीक न मान लिया जाए। निर्दिष्ट अवधि नोटिस की तामील की तारीख से 10 दिन से कम की न होगी।

धारा 11. आपत्ति प्रस्तुत न किये जाने पर अतिरिक्त भूमि का अवधारण-(1). यदि धारा 9 के अधीन प्रकाशित नोटिस के अनुसरण में किसी जोतदार द्वारा प्रस्तुत किया गया कोई विवरण विहित प्राधिकारी द्वारा स्वीकार कर लिया जाए अथवा यदि धारा 10 के अधीन विहित प्राधिकारी द्वार तैयार किए गए विवरण पर निर्दिष्ट अवधि के अन्दर आपत्ति न की जाये तो विहित प्राधिकारी जोतदार की अतिरिक्त भूमि तद्नुसार अवधारित करेगा।

(2). विहित प्राधिकारी ऐसे जोतदार द्वारा जो अपनी अनुपस्थिति में दिए गए आदेश से क्षुब्ध हो, उपधारा (1) के अधीन आदेश की तारीख से 30 दिन के अन्दर प्रार्थना को रद्द कर देगा और उस जोतदार को धारा 10 के अधीन तैयार किए गए विवरण के विरुद्ध आपत्ति प्रस्तुत करने की अनुमति देगा तथा धारा 12 के उपबन्धों के अनुसार उसका निर्णय करने हेतू कार्यवाही करेगा।

(3). धारा 13 के उपबन्धों के अधीन रहते हुए विहित प्राधिकारी का आदेश अंतिम तथा निश्चायक होगा तथा उन पर किसी विधि न्यायालय में आपत्ति नहीं की जाएगी।

धारा 12. आपत्ति प्रस्तुत किए जाने पर विहित प्राधिकारी द्वारा अधिशेष

भूमि का अवधारण- (1) यदि धारा 10 की उपधारा (2) के अधीन या धारा 11 की उपधारा (2) के अधीन अथवा धारा 13 के अधीन अपील में दिए गए किसी आदेश के परिणामस्वरुप कोई आपत्ति प्रस्तुत की गई हो तो विहित प्राधिकारी पक्षों की सुनवाई का और साक्ष्य प्रस्तुत करने का समुचित अवसर देने के बाद अपने कारणों को अभिलिखित करके आपत्तियों का निर्णय करेगा तथा अतिरिक्त भूमि अवधारित करेगा।

(2). धारा 13 के अधीन में दिए गए किसी आदेश के अधीन रहते हुए उपधारा (1) के अधीन विहित प्राधिकारी का आदेश अंतिम तथा निश्चायक होगा तथा उस पर किसी विधि न्यायालय में आपत्ति नहीं की जायेगी।

धारा 12-क कतिपय मामलों के सिवाय खातेदार का विकल्प माना जाना- धारा 11 या धारा 12 के अधीन अतिरिक्त भूमि का अवधारण करने में विहित प्राधिकारी, यथा सम्भव, खातेदार द्वारा प्लाट या प्लाटों के सम्बन्ध में जिन्हें वह और उसके परिवार के अन्य सदस्य, यदि कोई हो, इस अधिनियम के उपबन्धों के अधीन अपने पर अथवा उन पर प्रयोज्य अधिकतम क्षेत्र के भाग के रुप में रखना चाहे, इंगित विकल्प को स्वीकार करेगा, चाहे वह उसके द्वारा धारा 9 के अधीन अपने विवरण-पत्र में या किन्ही अनुवर्ती कार्यवाहियों में इंगित किया गया हो:

परन्तु यह कि-

(क) विहित प्राधिकारी खातेदार के संबंध में प्रयोज्य अधिकतम क्षेत्र में शामिल की जाने वाली भूमि की संपार्श्विकता को ध्यान में रखेगा;

(ख) यदि जोतदार की पत्नी की पास कोई ऐसी भूमि हो तो अधिकतम क्षेत्र का अवधारण करने के प्रयोजनार्थ जोतदार द्वारा धृत भूमि के साथ शामिल की गई हो, तथा उसकी पत्नी ने उन पर प्रयोज्य अधिकतम क्षेत्र के भाग के रुप में रखे जाने वाले प्लाट या प्लाटों के सम्बन्ध में जोतदार द्वारा इंगित विकल्प के विषय में सम्मति न दी हो, तो विहित प्राधिकारी यथासंभव, ऐसी रीति से अतिरिक्त भूमि घोषित करेगा कि जोतदार की पत्नी द्वारा धृत भूमि में से लिये जाने वाले क्षेत्र का कुल अतिरिक्त क्षेत्र में वही अनुपात हो जो उसके (पत्नी) द्वारा मूलतः धृत क्षेत्र का परिवार द्वारा धृत कुल भूमि में हो;

(ग) यदि किसी व्यक्ति के पास राज्य सरकार या उत्तर प्रदेश कृषि उधार अधिनियम, 1973 की धारा 2 खण्ड (ग) में यथा परिभाषित किसी बैंक अथवा किसी सहकारी भूमि विकास बैंक या अन्य सहकारी समिति या निगम या किसी सरकारी कम्पनी के पास गिरवी रखी गई भूमि को शामिल करके अधिकतम क्षेत्र से अधिक भूमि हो तो, यथा संभव, इस प्रकार गिरवी रखी गई भूमि से भिन्न भूमि अतिरिक्त भूमि अवधारित की जाएगी;

(घ). यदि किसी व्यक्ति के पास, धारा 5 की उपधारा (6) या उपधारा (7) में निर्दिष्ट किसी अन्तरण या विभाजन विषयक किसी भूमि को शामिल करके, अधिकतम क्षेत्र से अधिक भूमि हो तो, यथासम्भव ऐसे अन्तरण या विभाजन विषयक भूमि से भिन्न भूमि अतिरिक्त भूमि अवधारित की जाएगी तथा यद अतिरिक्त भूमि के अन्तर्गत कोई ऐसी भूमि शामिल है जो ऐसे अन्तरण या विभाजन का विषय हो तो ऐसा अन्तरण या विभाजन जहाँ तक उसका सम्बन्ध अतिरिक्त भूमि में शामिल भूमि से है, शून्य समझा जाएगा और सदैव से शून्य होगा, तथा-

(1) अंतरिती अपने द्वारा अंतरक को अग्रिम दिये गये प्रतिफल की आनुपातिक धनराशि को, यदि कोई हो, लौटाने हेतु दावा कर सकता है, तथा यह धनराशि धारा 17 के अधीन अंतरक को देय राशि पर तथा अधिकतम क्षेत्र के अन्दर अंतरक द्वारा रखी गई किसी भूमि पर भी धारित होगी और उत्तर प्रदेश जमींदारी विनाश और भूमि व्यवस्था अधिनियम, 1950 की धारा 153 में अन्तर्विष्ट

किसी बात के होते हुए भी ऐसी भूमि को उस प्रभार की पुष्टि हेतु बेचा जा सकेगा;

(2). बटवारा से सम्बन्धित (ऐसे खातेदार जिसके सम्बन्ध में अधिशेष भूमि अवधारित की गयी हो, से भिन्न) कोई पक्ष जिसकी भूमि उक्त जोतदार की अतिरिक्त भूमि में शामिल की गयी हो, बटवारा को फिर से कराने का हकदार होगा।

धारा 13. अपील- (1) धारा 11 की उपधारा (2) या धारा 12 के अधीन दिये गये किसी आदेश से क्षुब्ध कोई पक्ष उक्त आदेश की तारीख से 30 दिन के अन्दर उस आयुक्त के समक्ष अपील पेश कर सकता है जिसके अधिक्षेत्र में वह भूमि याउसका कोई भाग स्थित हो।

(2) अपील को यथाशक्य शीघ्र निस्तारित करेगा तथा उस पर उसका आदेश अन्तिम और निश्चायक होगा तथा किसी विधि न्यायालय में उस पर आपत्ति नहीं की जाएगी।

(3) यदि इस धारा के अधीन अपील की जायें तो आयुक्त उस आदेश के प्रवर्तन को जिसके विरुद्ध अपील की गयी हो तो ऐसे समय के लिये और ऐसी शर्तो पर स्थगित कर सकता है, जो ठीक और उचित समझी जायें:

प्रतिबन्ध यह कि भूमि के उस भाग के सम्बन्ध में जिसके अतिरिक्त होने के विषय में या तो धारा 10 की उपधारा (2) के अधीन या धारा 11 की उपधारा (2) के अधीन आपत्ति में विवाद नहीं उठाया गया था अथवा अपील में विवाद न उठाा गया हो उस आदेश का प्रवर्तन जिसके विरुद्ध अपील की गयी हो, स्थगित नहीं किया जायेगा और 28 सितम्बर, 1970 के पहले इस उपधारा के अधीन दिया गया कोई स्थगन आदेश राज्य सरकार द्वारा अपील न्यायालय को तदर्थ आवेदन-पत्र दिये जाने पर उस न्यायालय द्वारा तद्नुसार परिष्कृत कर दिये जायेगा।

स्पष्टीकरण- इस प्रतिबन्धात्मक के प्रयोजनार्थ धारा 9 या धारा 10 के अधीन किसी नोटिस की, अथवा विहित प्राधिकारी के समक्ष कार्यवाहियों की नियमितता, विधिमाविहिता या वैधता के सम्बन्ध में कोई विवाद स्वतः भूमि का अतिरिक्त भूमि होने से सम्बन्धित विवाद नहीं समझा जायेगा।"

(iii) उपरोक्त वर्णित उपबंधों से यह विदित है कि अधिनियम 1960 की धारा 11 की उपधारा (2) या धारा 12 के अधीन दिये गये किसी आदेश से क्षुब्ध कोई पक्ष धारा 13 के अंतर्गत आयुक्त के समक्ष अपील पेश कर सकता है। प्रस्तुत प्रकरण में यह देखना आवश्यक है कि क्या विहित प्राधिकारी द्वारा पारित आदेश दिनांक 1.4.2015 धारा 11 की उपधारा (2) या धारा 12 के अधीन पारित आदेश है या नहीं। प्रकरण के तथ्यों से यह भी विदित है कि वाद सं0 7/2009 में याची को धारा 10(2) के अंतर्गत प्रेषित नोटिस पर याची द्वारा पेश की गयी आपत्ति को विहित प्राधिकारी ने आदेश दिनांक 1.4.2005 द्वारा निरस्त किया गया था। अतः यह आदेश धारा 12(1) के अन्तर्गत पारित किया गया है। अतः आदेश दिनांक 1.4.2015 के विरुद्ध अपील धारा 13, अधिनियम 1960 के अंतर्गत पोषणीय है। उच्चतम न्यायालय द्वारा पारित निर्णय सुपर कैसट इंडस्ट्रीज लि. बनाम उत्तर प्रदेश सरकार: 2009 (10) एस सी सी 531 में भी यही प्रतिपादित किया गया है कि यदि कोई आदेश धारा 12, अधिनियम 1961 के अंतर्गत पारित होता है तो उसके विरुद्ध धारा 13, 'अधिनियम 1961' में अपील पेश की जा सकती है। धारा 12 की कार्यवाही, धारा 10(2) के नोटिस पर आरम्भ होती है तथा उक्त नोटिस पर आपत्ति धारा 12(1) के अन्तर्गत विनिश्चित की जाती है, जैसा प्रस्तुत प्रकरण में हुआ है। अतः प्रस्तुत प्रकरण में धारा 13 के अन्तर्गत ऊ.प्र. सरकार द्वारा पेश की गई अपील पोषणीय है।

8. (i). वर्तमान प्रकरण में द्वितीय बिन्दू जिस पर निर्णय लिया जाना है वो है कि क्या धारा 13 अधिनियम 1961 के अंतर्गत अपील पेश करने में विलम्ब को क्षमा करने का प्रार्थना पत्र, प्रतिवादी

(ii). प्रस्तुत प्रकरण के तथ्यों से यह निर्विवाद है कि आयुक्त, ने प्रतिवादी (यहां याची) को पूर्व नोटिस दिये बिना ही उ.प्र. सरकार द्वारा अपील पेश करने में हुए 4 माह के विलम्ब को क्षमा कर दिया था। उसके उपरान्त याची की रिकॉल (प्रत्याहार) प्रार्थना पत्र पर उभय पक्षों को सुनकर पूर्व में पारित 'विलम्ब क्षमा' के आदेश को ही यथावत रखा।

(iii). अधिनियम 1960की धारा 38, अपीलीय न्यायालय की शक्तियों तथा उसके द्वारा अनुकरणीय प्रक्रिया को वर्णित करती है। धारा 38 (1) के अनुसार इस अधिनियम के अधीन अपील की सुनवाई करने में तथा उसका निर्णय करने में अपीलीय न्यायालय को व्यवहार न्यायालय (सिविल कोर्ट) की सब शक्तियां तथा विशेषाधिकार प्राप्त है तथा वह उस प्रक्रिया का अनुसरण करेगा जो सिविल प्रक्रिया संहिता, 1908 में अपीलों की सुनवाई तथा उनके निर्णय हेतु दी हुई हैं। अर्थात् विलम्ब क्षमा करने की प्रक्रिया का स्रोत सिविल प्रक्रिया संहिता 1908 (संक्षेप में सि.प्र.सं.) से होगा। आदेश 41 नियम 3A सि.प्र.सं. में अपील पेश करने में हुए विलम्ब क्षमा के प्रार्थना पत्र को निस्तारित करने की प्रक्रिया वर्णित की गयी है। 'अधिनियम 1960' की धारा 38 व सि.प्र.सं. का आदेश 41 नियम 3क निम्न उद्धृत किया गया है:-

"धारा 38. अपीलीय न्याायालय की शक्तियाँ तथा उसके द्वारा अनुकरणीय प्रक्रिया- (1) इस अधिनियम के अधीन अपील की सुनवाई करने में तथा उसका निर्णय करने में अपीलीय न्यायालय को व्यवहार न्यायालय (सिविल कोर्ट) की सब शक्तियाँ तथा विशेषाधिकार प्राप्त होंगे तथा वह उस प्रक्रिया का अनुसरण करेगा जो सिविल प्रक्रिया संहिता, 1908 में अपीलों की सुनवाई तथा उनके निर्णय हेतु दी हुई है।

(2) यदि न्यायालय यह समझता है कि प्रत्यर्थी को सूचना जारी किए बिना आवेदन को नामंजूर करने का कोई कारण नहीं है तो उसकी सूचना प्रत्यर्थी को जारी की जाएगी और, यथास्थिति, नियम 11 या नियम 13 के अधीन अपील को निपटाने के लिए अग्रसर होने के पूर्व न्यायालय द्वारा उस मामले का अन्तिम रूप से विनिश्चय किया जाएगा ।

(3) जहां उपिनयम (1) के अधीन कोई आवेदन किया गया है वहां न्यायालय उस डिक्री के जिसके विरुद्ध अपील फाइल किए जाने की प्रस्थापना है, निष्पादन, को रोकने के लिए आदेश उस समय तक नहीं करेगा जब तक न्यायालय नियम 11 के अधीन सुनवाई के पश्चात अपील सुनने का विनिश्चय नहीं कर लेता है।"

(iv). उपरोक्त वर्णित प्रक्रिया से यह विदित होता है कि विलम्ब से पेश की गई अपील पर 'विलम्ब क्षमा' का प्रार्थना पत्र मंजूर करने से पहले प्रत्यार्थी को नोटिस देना चाहिये,

परन्तु वर्तमान प्रकरण में ऐसा कोई नोटिस नहीं दिया गया था। अतः आदेश 41 नियम 3क (2) में वर्णित प्रक्रिया का विशुद्ध रुप से अनुपालन नहीं किया है, परन्तु यहां यह उल्लेखित करना प्रासंगिक है, कि याची ने एक रिकॉल(प्रत्याहार) प्रार्थना पत्र दिनांक 3.11.2016, आयुक्त के समक्ष पेश किया था, जिसके माध्यम से 'विलम्ब क्षमा' का आदेश अपास्त करने का निवेदन किया गया था। उक्त प्रार्थना पत्र पर आयुक्त ने उभय पक्षों को सुनकर निर्णय दिनांक 1.12.2016 पारित किया जिसके द्वारा उक्त प्रार्थना पत्र को निरस्त कर दिया तथा विलम्ब क्षमा का पूर्व में पारित आदेश को यथावत रखा। अतः इस प्रक्रिया से आयुक्त ने आदेश 41 नियम 3A सि.प्र.सं. में उल्लेखित प्रक्रिया का अनुपालन कर लिया तथा पूर्व में हुयी प्रक्रिया दोष का निवारण भी कर लिया, क्योंकि पूर्व में बिना नोटिस दिये, विलम्ब क्षमा का आदेश पारित करना मात्र प्रक्रिया दोष था। आयुक्त ने आदेश दिनांक 1.12.2016 में उभय पक्षों को सुनकर स्पष्ट रुप से उल्लेखित किया है कि धारा 5, के प्रार्थना पत्र पर उदारता का दृष्टिकोंण अपनाना चाहिए, इसलिए 4 माह के विलम्ब को क्षमा करने में कोई वैधानिक त्रुटि नहीं है।

(v). उपरोक्त विवेचना से यह न्यायालय इस निष्कर्ष पर पहुँचता है कि याची की शिकायत कि क्षमा विलम्ब के प्रकरण में उसका पक्ष नहीं सुना गया, सत्य नहीं है। आयुक्त ने याची का पक्ष पूर्ण रुप से अपने आदेश दिनांक 1.12.2016 जो रिकॉल (प्रत्याहार) प्रार्थना पत्र पर पारित करने से पहले सुना व इस पर विचार भी किया। अतः आयुक्त के क्षमा विलम्ब के आदेश में कोई त्रुटि नहीं है। याची के विद्वान अधिवक्ता यह बताने में असमर्थ रहे कि वर्तमान तथ्यों पर ध्यान देते हुए 4 माह का विलम्ब, क्षमा क्यों नहीं किया जाना चाहिए। उच्चतम न्यायालय ने अपने कई निर्णयों में प्रतिपादित किया है कि 'विलम्ब क्षमा' के प्रार्थना पत्र का निर्णय करते समय, न्यायालय को 'उदार' व 'व्यावाहारिक' दृष्टिकोण रखना चाहिये न कि 'तकनीकी' या 'रुढ़िवादी' दृष्टिकोण। शम्भू सरन चौबे (पूर्व में उल्लेखित) के निर्णय में इस उच्च न्यायालय की एकल पीठ ने यह प्रतिपादित किया है कि विलम्ब से पेश की गयी अपील, विलम्ब क्षमा प्रार्थना पत्र के पेश किये बिना तथा उक्त प्रार्थना पत्र को स्वीकार किये बिना अंगीकृत नहीं की जा सकती। एकल पीठ ने आदेश 41 नियम 3 A सी.प्र.सं. की प्रक्रिया को पूर्ण रुप से अनुपालन करने पर बल दिया है। वर्तमान वाद में आयुक्त ने पूर्व में उक्त प्रक्रिया को पूर्णरुप से न अपनाने का दोष, रिकॉल (प्रत्याहार) प्रार्थना पत्र को निस्तारित करते समय पूर्णरुप से उक्त प्रक्रिया का अनुपालन करके दूर कर लिया है, अतः शम्भू सरन चौबे (पूर्व में उल्लेखित) में प्रतिपादित विधि सिद्धांतो का पालन कर लिया गया है। अतः आयुक्त द्वारा पारित आदेश दिनांक 3.9.2015 व 1.12.2016 में कोई विधिक त्रुटि नहीं है। अतः उक्त आदेशों के विरुद्ध पेश की गयी रिट याचिका सं 58295/2011 बलहीन होने के कारण, निरस्त करने योग्य है, अतः निरस्त की जाती है।

9.(i). इस प्रकरण का अन्तिम बिन्दू जिस पर इस न्यायालय को विचार करना है वो यह है कि आयुक्त द्वारा पारित आदेश दिनांक 29.12.2016 गुण दोष पर विधि सम्मत है अथवा नहीं? आयुक्त ने अपने उक्त आदेश में स्पष्ट रुप से उल्लेखित किया है, कि समस्त कार्यवाही उच्च न्यायालय के आदेश दिनांक 9.12.1996 के अनुपालन में ही की गयी है तथा पूर्व कार्यवाही का ही भाग है, जो तहसीलदार की आख्या से भी विदित होता है। नोटिस पर जो आपत्तिया प्रस्तुत करी गई उसमें भी यह उल्लेखित नहीं है कि खातेदार की जोत में 1976 के बाद, भूमि का क्षेत्रफल अधिक या कम हुआ है। अतः इस कार्यवाही से याची के विरुद्ध किसी भी प्रकार से पूर्वाग्रह ग्रस्त होने

की आकांक्षा नहीं है। याची को यह अधिकार है कि वो अपना पक्ष अधिनियम 1961 में दी गयी प्रक्रिया के अंतर्गत रख सकता है।

(iii). रामा गोउडा (पूर्व में उल्लेखित) के निर्णय में उच्चतम न्यायालय ने प्रतिपादित किया है किविलम्ब क्षमा के आदेश के विरुद्ध कोई याचिका विचाराधीन हो तथा उसी दौरान अपील में निर्णय पारित हो जाये तो पहली याचिका का अन्तिम निर्णय पर अपील के निर्णय के विरुद्ध याचिका का निर्णय निर्भर रहेगा, क्योंकि अपील में पारित आदेश एक 'आश्रित आदेश' (Dependent Order) है। परन्तु वर्तमान प्रकरण में विलम्ब क्षमा के आदेश के विरुद्ध याचिका वर्तमान आदेश के द्वारा निरस्त की जा रही है। अतः रामा गोउडा (पूर्व में उल्लेखित) के निर्णय की कोई प्रासंगिकता वर्तमान प्रकरण में नहीं रह जाती है।

10. उपरोक्त विवेचना के आधार पर यह न्यायालय इस निष्कर्ष पर पहुँचता हैः-

(ii). 'अधिनियम 1960' की धारा 13 के अन्तर्गत पेश की गयी अपील की सुनवायी की अनुकरणीय प्रक्रिया 'अधिनियम 1960' की धारा 38 में उल्लेखित है। जिसके अनुसार सि.प्र.सं. 1908 में वर्णित अपीलों की सुनवाई की वर्णित प्रक्रिया का अनुसरण करना चाहिए। सि.प्र.सं. के आदेश 41 नियम 3 क, अपील में विलम्ब की माफी के आवेदन को निस्तारण करने की प्रक्रिया को वर्णित करता है। जिसके अनुसार यदि न्यायालय यह समझता है कि प्रत्यार्थी को सूचना जारी किये बिना आवेदन को नामंजूर करने का कोई कारण नहीं है तो उसकी सूचना प्रत्यार्थी को जारी की जायेगी। इस प्रकरण में प्रत्यार्थी/याची को बिना सूचना दिये, विलम्ब क्षमा का आवेदन स्वीकार कर लिया गया था। परन्तु यह प्रकिया दोष को रिकॉल (प्रत्याहार) आवेदन पर उभय पक्षों को सुनकर पूर्व में पारित आदेश को यथावत रखने के कारण निवारण किया जा चुका है अतः वर्तमान प्रकरण में कोई प्रक्रिया दोष नहीं रह जाता है। तथा पूर्व में उत्पन्न प्रक्रिया दोष का प्रतिकार कर लिया गया है।

(iv). उपरोक्त विवेचना के आधार पर यह न्यायालय इस निष्कर्ष पर पहुँचता है कि आक्षेपित आदेश दिनांक 29.12.2016 में गुण दोष पर कोई विधिक त्रुटि नहीं है। अतः आक्षेपित आदेश न्याय संगत है।

(v). अतः याचिका संख्या 5712/2017 भी बलहीन होने के कारण निरस्त की जाती है।

11. याचिका सं 58295/2016 तथा याचिका सं 5712/2017 बलहीन होने के कारण निरस्त की जाती है। व्यय पर कोई आदेश पारित नहीं किया जा रहा है।

(Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. This writ petition is directed against an award made by the Presiding Officer, Labour Court, U.P., Gorakhpur, dated 05.03.2003 in Adjudication Case No. 532 of 1992 and published on 08.09.2003. The aforesaid award is hereinafter referred to as the "impugned award'. By the impugned award, the Labour Court, on reference of an industrial dispute between the petitioners, hereinafter referred to as the "employers' and respondent no. 1, Brahma Dev Tripathi, hereinafter referred to as the "workman', have held termination of services of the workman with effect from 01.09.1991 to be illegal and unjustified. It has further been awarded that the workman would be entitled to reinstatement with continuity in service. About the period during which the workman remained out of employment and the date of the impugned award, the workman has been held entitled to 50% backwages. Costs of Rs. 300/- have also been awarded to the workman.

2. The case of the workman briefly put is that he was engaged as a Beldar in the year 1979, by the employers in their Tubewell Construction Division. He worked as such regularly and without break, putting in 240 days of service during successive calendar years. His services were terminated with effect from 01.09.1991, without notice or payment of wages in lieu of notice and also without payment of any retrenchment compensation. He urged, therefore, that his termination from service by the employers is illegal and improper. He is entitled to re-engagement with backwages.

3. At the instance of the workman, the Deputy Labour Commissioner, Gorakhpur, vide his memo dated 31.08.1992 made the following reference under Section 4-K of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (for short the "Act') for adjudication to the Labour Court (translated into English from Hindi vernacular):-

"Whether the act of the employers in terminating the services of their workman, Sri Brahma Dev Tripathi S/o Radhey Shyam Tripathi, Beldar with effect from 01.09.1991 is justified, and/or lawful? If not, to what relief/compensation the workman is entitled, and in what terms?"

4. Records from the lower Court, in this case, were summoned that have been perused with the assistance of learned counsel.

5. Post reference the case was registered before the Labour Court as Adjudication Case No. 532 of 1992 and notice was issued to the parties. The workman filed his written statement, dated 17.03.1993 supported by an affidavit of the said date. A written statement was filed on behalf of the employers (also supported by an affidavit of a supervisor in their establishment) dated 29.09.1993. A rejoinder statement was filed on behalf of the workman (supported by an affidavit of his own) dated 18.01.1994. A rejoinder statement in answer to the written statement filed by the workman (supported by an affidavit of a supervisor in their establishment) dated 19.09.1997 was filed. These make for all the pleadings that the parties filed before the Labour Court. In order to establish his case, the workman filed the best evidence available with him, secondary of course, in order to establish his case of being in engagement of the employers as their workman for the claimed period of time, and for the specified number of days, during each calendar year. In all, five documents (all photostat copies) were filed through a list dated 26.11.1997, bearing paper no. 15/B-(ii). A summary of these documents is as follows:

(I) A photostat copy of an application made after disengagement by the workman (along with some others similarly situate) demanding that the workman be re-engaged.

(II) A photostat copy of registered postal receipts regarding dispatch of the application above mentioned to the employers.

(III) A photostat copy (in three leaves) of a bonus payment bill drawn by the employers dated 04.09.1990, whereby a lump sum bonus for three years (1986-87, 1987-88 and 1988-89) was paid to the workman.

(IV) A photostat copy of a seniority list of daily wage workmen drawn up by the office of the Executive Engineer, Drainage Division-II, Basti, bearing memo no. 123/Drain. (kha), Basti-II.

(V) A list of workmen in current employment (at the time of submission of the documents) engaged after the workman but still retained in service, the list being signed by one Vijay Raj Singh, an Executive Engineer with the employers.

6. On 26.11.1997, an application was made to the Labour Court with a prayer that the documents mentioned therein, numbering three, be summoned from the employers. Against each of the documents indicated in a schedule at the foot of the application, on the right side, the purpose of summoning the relative documents is indicated. The first document sought to be summoned is the one a copy of which has been mentioned at serial no. 3 of the list of documents filed by the petitioner, that is to say, the bonus bill dated 14.09.1990. In addition, all muster rolls have been sought relating to the period of time, claimed by the workman to be the engagement period. A further document sought to be summoned is mentioned at serial no. 4 of the list dated 26.11.1997, that is the seniority list of employees, part of the letter of the Executive Engineer, Drainage Division-II, Basti dated 13.05.1991. The last document mentioned at the serial no. 5 in the application dated 26.11.1997 is one that carries the seniority list of workmen, signed by one Vijay Raj Singh,an Executive Engineer with the employers.

7. A perusal of the application dated 26.11.1997 would show that there is an order passed by the Presiding Officer, issuing notice to the employers. The order is endorsed on the face of the application and does not bear a date. Presumably, it was passed on the same date when the application was made. An objection to the said application was filed by the employers on 24.05.1999 enclosing therewith xerox copies of the muster roll for the year 1990, that is to say, the year preceding the one when the services of the workman were terminated. It is said in this objection dated 24.05.1999 that so far as the documents mentioned at serial nos. 1, 2 and 3 of the application dated 26.11.1997 are concerned, the said documents are not available in the office of the employers and are also not within their knowledge or information. It is, however, said that muster roll is necessary to demonstrate the number of days in the year that the workman has discharged his duties, and, therefore, a photostat copy of the muster roll for one year is being enclosed with the objection. A copy of the said objection dated 24.05.1999 is on record as paper no. 21-D. A photostat copies of the enclosed muster roll are also on record. At this stage, it must be remarked that this Court has gone through the original records and finds that the photostat copies of the muster roll filed, relates to the year 1990. It is there from the month of January to December, 1990, except for the months of February and March. There is no explanation about the missing muster roll for these two months. It must also be noticed here that on the face of the objections dated 24.05.1999, there is an order dated 01.11.2001 passed by the Presiding Officer that reads thus (part of the order that is in Hindi translated into English):

"Seen. This does not carry the summoned documents and this is not required at this stage.
Signed illegible
1.11.2001"

8. So much for the documentary evidence led on both sides. The workman has examined himself as a witness in support of his case on 01.11.2001 and has been cross-examined by the employers. The said deposition is on record. Likewise, on behalf of the employers, one Vindhyachal Prasad, a Junior Engineer posted with Devkali Pump Canal Division-II, Ghazipur, has testified as EW-1 on 03.05.2002. He has been cross-examined by the workman. The said deposition is also on record. On these pleadings and evidence, the Labour Court proceeded to hear and determine the adjudication case which led to the reference being answered by means of the impugned award, in favour of the workman, in terms already set out hereinabove.

9. Aggrieved, the present writ petition has been filed.

10. Heard Sri Shriprakash Singh, learned Standing Counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioners-employers and Sri Sudhanshu Narain, learned counsel appearing for the respondent-workman.

11. Learned counsel for the petitioner has argued that a specific plea has been taken before the Labour Court that the employers do not fall within the definition of "Industry' as envisaged under the Act. As such, the Labour Court has no jurisdiction to decide the reference. It is urged on the basis of pleadings in paragraph nos. 12 and 13 of the writ petition that this plea about the Act being not applicable has not been considered. A perusal of the written statement filed on behalf of the employer and also the rejoinder statement does not show that the aforesaid plea was raised before the Labour Court. It appears to have been raised for the first time before this Court, which has been disputed by the workman. The workman has submitted that the department of Irrigation, Drainage and Tubewell Division are an Industry earning heavy profit from their activities. It has been submitted on behalf of the workman that the Act is squarely applicable. In writ petition No. 6108 of 2004 State of U.P. through Executive Engineer vs. Raj Karan and another decided on 01.09.2015, this question was raised before this Court on behalf of the petitioner, in the case of a similarly circumstanced workman. The workman employed with the Irrigation Department of the State, claimed illegal termination from service in breach of the provisions of the Act. This Court, relying on the authorities in State of U.P. vs. Presiding Officer, Industrial Tribunal (V), Meerut and another and State of U.P vs. Labour Court, Dehradun and another, held the Department of Irrigation to be an industry within the meaning of the Act.

12. Sri Shriprakash Singh, learned Standing Counsel appearing on behalf of the employers has emphasized that the principal basis in times contemporaneous, when this reference was decided by the Labour Court to hold or readily assume the Irrigation Department to be an industry is the decision of the Constitution bench of the Supreme Court in Banglore Water Supply Sewerage Board vs. A. Rajappa. He emphasized that now the correctness of their Lordships decision in Banglore Water Supply Sewerage Board (Supra), which is a Constitution Bench decision of five Judges has been referred for reconsideration to a larger Bench vide an order made in State of U.P. vs. Jai Bir Singh. It is urged that in the the order of reference, where correctness of the principles laid down governing the definition of an industry have been doubted by their Lordships, relates to the Department of Irrigation, State of U.P. Learned counsel for the petitioner, therefore, submits that the matter may be adjourned, awaiting decision by the larger Bench of their Lordships.

13. Learned counsel for the workman, Sri Sudhanshu Narain points out that so far as there are no prospects of an early decision by the larger Bench of their Lordships of the Supreme Court, as the record of proceedings would show. He has urged that by a subsequent order dated 17.11.2016, judgment was reserved in the case by a seven Judge Bench of their Lordships, but on 02.01.2017 an order was passed referring the matter to a Bench of nine Judges. It is urged by learned counsel for the workman that there is no prospect of an early judgment by the nine Judge Bench of their Lordships in State of U.P. vs. Jai Beer Singh (Supra). It is not for this Court to speculate about the time when their Lordships would decide the issue, referred to the larger Bench of nine Judges. What this Court is concerned about is how the present cause ought to be decided. To the understanding of this Court, the law in Banglore Water Supply Sewerage Board (Supra) still holds the field and is the law so long it is not overruled by a decision of their Lordships, sitting in a Bench of larger strength. This issue was determined by their Lordships in R.M. Yellatti vs. Assistant Executive Engineer, where the plea to adjourn decision pending outcome of the reference to the larger Bench in State of U.P. vs Jai Bir Singh (Supra) was declined in the following words:-

"11.At the outset, we may mention that we are not inclined to adjourn the matter sine die pending the decision of the larger Bench as urged on behalf of the management, particularly in view of the fact that there is nothing on record to indicate that the management had argued the point in question. As stated above, the Labour Court had ruled that the "irrigation department" was an "industry" in terms of Section 2(j) of the 1947 Act. Against the award of the Labour Court, the department had filed its writ petition in which the ground was taken as a plea to the effect that the irrigation department was not an industry in terms of Section 2(j) of the said Act. However, there is nothing in the decision of the learned Single Judge as well as in the impugned judgment to show as to whether the management had argued on this aspect of the case and, therefore, we are not inclined to await the decision of the larger Bench following the referral order in Jai Bir Singh [(2005) 5 SCC 1 : 2005 SCC (L&S) 642] . Even in the counter-affidavit filed before this Court, no such plea has been taken."

14. The plea was raised before the learned Single Judge of this Court in State of U.P. through Executive Engineer, Nichali Ganga Nahar, Phoolpur, Kanpur vs. the Labour Court(II), U.P. Kanpur and another in Writ Petition No. 35086 of 1998, decided on 21.02.2013. In the said decision, the prayer to adjourn pending decision by the larger Bench of their Lordships was also declined, holding thus:

"The Supreme Court in R.M.Yellatti vs. Assistant Executive Engineer vs. Assistant Executive Engineer, 2006(1) SCC 106 was faced with the same dilemma wherein it was contended before the Supreme Court that the matter should be adjourned since the judgment of the Supreme Court in Bangalore Water Supply was referred to a Larger Bench by a referral order, dated 5.5.2005 in State of U.P. vs. Jaibir Singh, 2005 (5)SCC 1. The Supreme Court declined to adjourn the matter sine die, in view of the fact that there was nothing on record to indicate that the Management had argued the point in question. Taking clue from the Supreme Court itself, the Court finds, that there is nothing on record indicating that the petitioner is not an "industry". Merely by alleging that the petitioner is not an "industry" does not take them outside the realm of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act. The dominant nature test as illustrated in Bangalore Water Supply case (supra) has not been followed. Consequently, the Court is of the opinion, that the matter cannot be adjourned sine die."

15. In the present case also there is nothing pleaded before the Labour Court to show that the employers are not an industry. There is no case set up to that effect much less seriously, or evidence offered to establish the same. No doubt, a ground has been raised before this Court and it has been argued by Sri Shriprakash Singh that the employers are not an industry, but there is nothing seriously said to establish the fact that what the employers do is a sovereign function and that the workman was employed in aid of a sovereign function of the State. On this state of the pleaded case and evidence, this Court does not consider it appropriate to adjourn the matter as suggested by Sri Shriprakash Singh, learned Standing Counsel for the petitioner. In adopting this course, this Court is in respectful agreement with the decision in State of U.P. through Executive Engineer, Nichli Ganga Nahar (supra).

16. Turning to the issue whether the workman has been wrongly awarded relief/reinstatement with backwages, the case of the petitioner is based on a plea that he was retained on daily wage basis against a permanent vacancy, and that the employers terminated his services illegally, in an unauthorized manner, with effect from 01.09.1991. It has been specifically pleaded by the workman that during the entire period of his engagement, he has rendered continuous service with no break whatsoever. It has also been pleaded that the workman's services have been terminated without prior notice or payment of wages in lieu of notice or any retrenchment compensation. It has further been specifically pleaded by the workman that his services have not been terminated in consequence of any disciplinary proceedings, or any charge of misconduct. The further specific case is that workman has, prior to the termination of his services, completed 240 days and more of service in the preceding year, and in the each calendar year, that he has been in the service of the employer. The submission of learned counsel for the petitioner, on the basis of said case is that the employers have committed a clear violation of Section 6N of the Act. The employers rebutting the workman's case have pleaded in their written statement that the workman's services have not been terminated and he has never worked continuously. It is urged that it is wrong to say that the workman has been retrenched. The fact that the workman's services have not been dispensed with, in consequence of any disciplinary proceedings on a charge has not been denied. It has been averred, in particular, in paragraph no. 10 of the written statement that the petitioner was a daily-wager borne on the muster roll and that he did not work continuously. He was engaged from time to time, according to exigencies. The Labour Court on the basis of the evidence available has recorded the following finding relating to the issue whether the workman did work for 240 days in a calendar year, and about the nature of his engagement, as well as the legality of his termination from service (in Hindi vernacular):-

6– वादी की ओर से अभिलेख सेवायोजकों से तलब किये गये थे जिनमें से कुछ अभिलेख प्रस्तुत किये गये है। डब्लूडब्लू/1 श्रमिक ब्रहमदेव त्रिपाठी को परीक्षित किया गया। सेवायोजक की ओर से मस्टर रोल की छाया प्रतियां दाखिल की गई है और सेवायोजक साक्षी विंध्याचल प्रसाद, अवर अभियन्ता को परीक्षित किया गया। उन्होने यद्यपि अपने साक्ष्य में कहा है कि वादी को आवश्यकतानुसार रखा जाता था किन्तु प्रतिपरीक्षण में उनका ध्यान सेवायोजक के लिखित ब्यान की ओर दिलाते हुये पूछे जाने पर उन्होने कहा कि उसमें जो यह लिखा है कि वादी ने कभी भी एक वर्ष में 240 दिन से अधिक कार्य नही किया है, गलत है। उन्होने यह भी कहा कि वह 89 से 91 तक ड्रेनेज खण्ड–2 बस्ती में थे। वादी को मेरे कार्यकाल में कभी बैठकी नहीं की गई। वादी को बोनस मिला है। बोनस उसको मिलता है जो एक वर्ष मे 240 दिन से अधिक काम कर लेता है। इस प्रकार यह मान लिया गया है कि वादी ने एक वर्ष में 240 दिन से अधिक कार्य कर लिया था।

7– प्रार्थना पत्र 27/डी सेवायोजक प्रतिनिधि द्वारा साक्षी को होस्टाइल घोषित करने हेतु प्रार्थना पत्र दिया गया जो निरस्त कर दिया गया किन्तु सेवायोजक को अतिरिक्त साक्ष्य देने का अवसर दिया गया। उन्होने कोई अतिरिक्त साक्ष्य प्रस्तुत नही किया। इस साक्षी ईडब्लू/1 से विभागीय प्रतिनिधि ने कोई जिरह नही की जिससे उसे होस्टाइल दर्शाया जा सके। अन्यथा भी यह न्यायालय के विवेक पर रहता है कि यदि साक्षी होस्टाइल हो गया तो उसके साक्ष्य पर विचार किया जाय या नहीं। मेरे विचार से साक्षी के कथन और प्रतिपरीक्षण को देखते हुए यह कही से नहीं लगता कि उक्त साक्षी होस्टाइल हो गया है। उसके महत्वपूर्ण साक्ष्य को स्वीकार न करना अनुचित होगा।

8– यह ठीक है 240 दिन की तारतम्य सेवा एक वर्ष में सिद्ध करने भार वादी पर था किन्तु वादी यह सिद्ध करने में सफल रहा है। ईडब्लू/1 के साक्ष्य से यही निष्कर्ष निकलता है कि वादी ने एक वर्ष में 240 दिन से अधिक की सेवा पूर्ण कर ली थी। श्रमिक द्वारा दाखिल 15/बी(2) के पेपर सं0 4/2 वरिष्ठता सूची है जिसमें वादी श्रमिक का नाम क्रमांक 7 पर है और उसकी नियुक्ति का वर्ष 1979 दर्शाया गया है। इसका मूल सेवायोजकों से तलब किया गया था परन्तु उसे दाखिल नहीं किया गया।

9– मस्टर रोल की छाया प्रतियां जो दाखिल की गई है उसमें जनवरी व नवम्बर 91 के मस्टर रोल की छाया प्रतियां नहीं दाखिल की गई। शेष समस्त मस्टर रोल दाखिल किये गये है।

10– स्वीकृत रूप से श्रमिक को कोई नोटिस या नोटिस के बदले वेतन तथा छंटनी प्रतिकर नहीं दिया गया। इस प्रकार धारा 6एन यू0पी0 औट्योमिक विवाद अधिनियम 1947 के प्राविधानों का अनुपालन नहीं किया गया। इस कारण वादी को सेवा से वंचित किया जाना अनुचित एवं अवैधानिक है।

17. This Court has also looked into the evidence on record and found that there is on record, documentary evidence regarding payment of bonus to the workman for three consecutive years, that is to say, 1986-87, 1987-88 and 1988-89. The employers have not produced the original of the documents that have been filed by the workman. They have not said in their objection to the application, seeking to summon the original, that the documents are got up, or challenged the veracity of those documents. All that they have said is that these documents are not traceable. The Labour Court has, therefore, not at all erred in looking into documents, filed by the workman as secondary evidence, going by the best evidence rule. There is also this fact that the employers have filed photostat copies of the muster roll, and not the original for the year 1990. They have not filed the muster roll of any earlier period of time.

18. In objection dated 24.05.1999, along with which muster roll for the year 1990 has been filed, it has not been said that no muster roll relating to the workman, for an earlier period of time is available. It is just said that the employers are filing photostat copies of the muster roll, for one year, in order to show the number of days during the year preceding his termination that the workman has been engaged. The muster roll has been filed for ten months of the year 1990; it is filed for each month of the year, except for months of February and March, 1990. The total number of working days during ten months in the muster roll that has been filed aggregate a figure of 198 days. It is not the employers' case that during the year 1990, the workman did not turn up during the months of February and March, or that he was not engaged during those months. There is absolutely no explanation why muster roll for the two months of February and March, 1990 has not been filed. Therefore, the Labour Court has rightly drawn an adverse inference against the employer that the workman has worked for those two months also, and that would make for 240 days in the year, preceding his termination from service. It is also not disputed by the employers that the workman was not paid bonus or that his seniority, regarding which the workman has produced a seniority list is a bogus document. On the foot of these facts and evidence the Labour Court has drawn a plausible inference that the workman has been engaged for 240 days, during preceding calendar year, when his services were terminated and further that the workman has rendered services from 1979, continuously until 01.09.1991. Admittedly, no notice in accordance with Section 6 N of the Act has been served upon the workman in writing, indicating the reasons for retrenchment or the workman has been paid for the period of notice in lieu and/or paid any retrenchment compensation, in accordance with the provisions of Section 6 N of the Act.

19. At this Stage, notice must be taken of the submission made very forcibly by Sri Shriprakash Singh, learned Standing Counsel to the effect that even if termination from service is bad in law on account of a wholesome violation of Section 6 N of the Act, relief of reinstatement and that too with 50% backwages, ought not have been granted by the Labour Court, as a matter of course. It is urged that the Labour Court has not noticed any special circumstances, why relief of reinstatement has been granted, even if termination of services has been found to be fowl of the provisions of Section 6N of the Act, inasmuch as, in the case of a daily wager reinstatement ought not to be normally granted. He submits that in case of daily wage engagement of a few years, even if termination of services is found to be illegal and in violation of Section 6N of the Act, a lump sum compensation appropriately assessed, would serve as good remedy.

20. The aforesaid submission of the learned counsel for the petitioner has been disputed by Sri Sudhanshu Narain, learned counsel for the workman, who says that relief of reinstatement has been granted bearing in mind the long and continuous engagement of the workman as a daily-wager, which in this case is a period of 11 years and more. He submits that it is not a case where the workman has been engaged for a short period of 2-3 years to take care of some exigency, but one where long engagement of the workman on daily wages shows that he was employed to do work referable to a permanent post, though he was not appointed to any post. He submits that this course of long engagement clearly shows a case of unfair labour practice.

21. Learned counsel for the employer relied upon a decision of this Court in State of U.P. and another Vs. Hind Majdoor Sabha and others. He has drawn attention of this Court to paragraphs nos. 7, 8, and 21 of the report, which read thus:

"7. For the purpose of granting relief the relevant aspects which have to be considered are the nature of employment/engagement of workman concerned, the manner in which he was engaged, his right to hold the post, right to continue in service, the wages to which he is entitled etc. If a person is a permanently employed and has been terminated/retrenched without following the procedure prescribed under Section 6-N of the Act, in such a case since the workman has a right to the post and right to continue, relief of reinstatement may be justified. But there also various other aspects, namely, whether industrial establishment is continuing, whether the post on which the incumbent was working, is continuing or not and similar other relevant factors. In a case of casual or daily wage employee, even in ordinary circumstances, he neither has any right to hold the post nor to continue in service. A daily wage employee commences his service in morning and it comes to an end in evening. The very next day he has no right unless the employer choses to engage him. It is for this reason, law contemplate that a workman in order to attract Section 6-N of the Act need not work throughout the year but it would be sufficient if he has worked for 240 days in a year.

8. Existence of post, the manner in which one was engaged, whether engagement was consistent with some statutory provisions prescribing mode of recruitment and selection etc. are other relevant factors which have to be considered while granting relief. These aspects have been referred to and pointed out in a catena of decisions, some of which I may refer hereat.

21. In the facts and circumstances of the case since the workman was engaged on daily wage basis only for a short period of four years and was disengaged on 01.09.1992 and also considering the fact that his initial recruitment was not in accordance with procedure prescribed in law consistent with Article 16 of the Constitution, in my view, the relief of reinstatement and back wages to the extent of 50% ought not to have been granted. The workman may be granted a lumpsum compensation which is equivalent to six months' wages and would be calculated on the basis of payment last made to workman at the time of his termination....."

22. He has further relied on a decision of the Supreme Court in Vice-Chancellor, Lucknow University, Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh Vs. Akhilesh Kumar Khare and another. He has invited the attention of the Court to what their Lordships have held regarding the right of reinstatement of a daily-wager, even if his services were terminated in violation of the statutory mandate of Section 25-F of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (equivalent of Section 6N of the Act). In Vice-Chancellor, Lucknow University, Lucknow (Supra), it has been held:

"18. In considering the violation of Section 25-F of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 in*Incharge Officer v. Shankar Shetty* [(2010) 9 SCC 126 : (2010) 2 SCC (L&S) 733] and after referring to the various decisions, this Court held that the relief by way of back wages is not automatic and compensation instead of reinstatement has been held to meet the ends of justice and it reads as under: (SCC pp. 127-28, paras 2-4)

"2. Should an order of reinstatement automatically follow in a case where the engagement of a daily wager has been brought to end in violation of Section 25-F of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (for short "the ID Act')? The course of the decisions of this Court in recent years has been uniform on the above question.

3. In Jagbir Singh v. Haryana State Agriculture Mktg. Board [(2009) 15 SCC 327 : (2010) 1 SCC (L&S) 545] , delivering the judgment of this Court, one of us (R.M. Lodha, J.) noticed some of the recent decisions of this Court, namely, U.P. State Brassware Corpn. Ltd. v. Uday Narain Pandey [(2006) 1 SCC 479 : 2006 SCC (L&S) 250] , Uttaranchal Forest Development Corpn. v. M.C. Joshi [(2007) 9 SCC 353 : (2007) 2 SCC (L&S) 813] , State of M.P. v. Lalit Kumar Verma [(2007) 1 SCC 575 : (2007) 1 SCC (L&S) 405] , M.P. Admn. v. Tribhuban [(2007) 9 SCC 748 : (2008) 1 SCC (L&S) 264] , Sita Ram v. Moti Lal Nehru Farmers Training Institute [(2008) 5 SCC 75 :(2008) 2 SCC (L&S)71], JaipurDevelopmentAuthority v. Ramsahai [(2006) 11 SCC 684 : (2007) 1 SCC (L&S) 518] , GDA v. Ashok Kumar [(2008) 4 SCC 261 : (2008) 1 SCC (L&S) 1016] and Mahboob Deepak v. Nagar Panchayat, Gajraula [(2008) 1 SCC 575 : (2008) 1 SCC (L&S) 239] and stated as follows: (Jagbir Singh case [(2009) 15 SCC 327 : (2010) 1 SCC (L&S) 545] , SCC pp. 330 & 335, paras 7 & 14)

"7. It is true that the earlier view of this Court articulated in many decisions reflected the legal position that if the termination of an employee was found to be illegal, the relief of reinstatement with full back wages would ordinarily follow. However, in recent past, there has been a shift in the legal position and in a long line of cases, this Court has consistently taken the view that relief by way of reinstatement with back wages is not automatic and may be wholly inappropriate in a given fact situation even though the termination of an employee is in contravention of the prescribed procedure. Compensation instead of reinstatement has been held to meet the ends of justice.

14. It would be, thus, seen that by a catena of decisions in recent time, this Court has clearly laid down that an order of retrenchment passed in violation of Section 25-F although may be set aside but an award of reinstatement should not, however, be automatically passed. The award of reinstatement with full back wages in a case where the workman has completed 240 days of work in a year preceding the date of termination, particularly, daily wagers has not been found to be proper by this Court and instead compensation has been awarded. This Court has distinguished between a daily wager who does not hold a post and a permanent employee.'

4.Jagbir Singh[(2009) 15 SCC 327 : (2010) 1 SCC (L&S) 545] has been applied very recently in*Telegraph Deptt. v. Santosh Kumar Seal*[(2010) 6 SCC 773 : (2010) 2 SCC (L&S) 309] , wherein this Court stated: (SCC p. 777, para 11)

"11. In view of the aforesaid legal position and the fact that the workmen were engaged as daily wagers about 25 years back and they worked hardly for 2 or 3 years, relief of reinstatement and back wages to them cannot be said to be justified and instead monetary compensation would subserve the ends of justice.'"

19. In the light of the above discussion, the impugned judgment [Lucknow University v. Manoj Misra, 2009 SCC OnLine All 2079] of the High Court is modified and keeping in view the fact that the respondents are facing hardship on account of pending litigation for more than two decades and the fact that some of the respondents are overaged and thus have lost the opportunity to get a job elsewhere, interest of justice would be met by directing the appellant University to pay compensation of rupees four lakhs to each of the respondents. By order dated 11-7-2011, this Court directed the appellant to comply with the requirements of Section 17-B of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 and it is stated that the same is being complied with. The appellant University is directed to pay the respondents rupees four lakhs each within four months from the date of receipt of this judgment. The payment of rupees four lakhs shall be in addition to wages paid under Section 17-B of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947."

23. In order to buttress his submission, learned Counsel for the employer has placed reliance upon a recent decision of the Supreme Court in District Development Officer and another Vs. Satish Kantilal Amreliya. It has been held in District Development Officer and another (Supra) thus:

12. Having gone through the entire record of the case and further keeping in view the nature of factual controversy, the findings of the Labour Court, the manner in which the respondent fought this litigation on two fronts simultaneously, namely, one in the civil court and the other in the Labour Court in challenging his termination order and seeking regularisation in service, which resulted in passing the two conflicting orders -- one in the respondent's favour (Labour Court) and the other against him (civil court) and lastly, it being an admitted fact that the respondent was a daily wager during his short tenure, which lasted hardly two-and-half years approximately and coupled with the fact that 25 years have since passed from the date of his alleged termination, we are of the considered opinion that the law laid down by this Court in BSNL v. Bhurumal [BSNL v. Bhurumal, (2014) 7 SCC 177 :

(2014) 2 SCC (L&S) 373] would aptly apply to the facts of this case and we prefer to apply the same for disposal of these appeals.

13. It is apposite to reproduce what this Court has held in BSNL [BSNL v. Bhurumal, (2014) 7 SCC 177 : (2014) 2 SCC (L&S) 373] : (SCC p. 189, paras 33-35)

"33. It is clear from the reading of the aforesaid judgments that the ordinary principle of grant of reinstatement with full back wages, when the termination is found to be illegal is not applied mechanically in all cases. While that may be a position where services of a regular/permanent workman are terminated illegally and/or mala fide and/or by way of victimisation, unfair labour practice, etc. However, when it comes to the case of termination of a daily-wage worker and where the termination is found illegal because of a procedural defect, namely, in violation of Section 25-F of the Industrial Disputes Act, this Court is consistent in taking the view that in such cases reinstatement with back wages is not automatic and instead the workman should be given monetary compensation which will meet the ends of justice. Rationale for shifting in this direction is obvious.

34. The reasons for denying the relief of reinstatement in such cases are obvious. It is trite law that when the termination is found to be illegal because of non-payment of retrenchment compensation and notice pay as mandatorily required under Section 25-F of the Industrial Disputes Act, even after reinstatement, it is always open to the management to terminate the services of that employee by paying him the retrenchment compensation. Since such a workman was working on daily-wage basis and even after he is reinstated, he has no right to seek regularisation [see State of Karnataka v. Umadevi (3) [State of Karnataka v. Umadevi (3), (2006) 4 SCC 1 : 2006 SCC (L&S) 753]]. Thus when he cannot claim regularisation and he has no right to continue even as a daily-wage worker, no useful purpose is going to be served in reinstating such a workman and he can be given monetary compensation by the Court itself inasmuch as if he is terminated again after reinstatement, he would receive monetary compensation only in the form of retrenchment compensation and notice pay. In such a situation, giving the relief of reinstatement, that too after a long gap, would not serve any purpose.

35. We would, however, like to add a caveat here. There may be cases where termination of a daily-wage worker is found to be illegal on the ground that it was resorted to as unfair labour practice or in violation of the principle of last come, first go viz. while retrenching such a worker daily-wage juniors to him were retained. There may also be a situation that persons junior to him were regularised under some policy but the workman concerned terminated. In such circumstances, the terminated worker should not be denied reinstatement unless there are some other weighty reasons for adopting the course of grant of compensation instead of reinstatement. In such cases, reinstatement should be the rule and only in exceptional cases for the reasons stated to be in writing, such a relief can be denied."

14. We have taken note of one fact here that the Labour Court has also found that the termination is bad due to violation of Section 25-G of the Act. In our opinion, taking note of overall factual scenario emerging from the record of the case and having regard to the nature of the findings rendered and further the averments made in the SLP justifying the need to pass the termination order, this case does not fall in exceptional cases as observed by this Court in para 35 of BSNL case [BSNL v. Bhurumal, (2014) 7 SCC 177 : (2014) 2 SCC (L&S) 373] due to finding of Section 25-G of the Act recorded against the appellant. In other words, there are reasons to take out the case from exceptional cases contained in para 35 because we find that the appellant did not resort to any kind of unfair practice while terminating the services of the respondent.

15. In view of the foregoing discussion, we are of the considered view that it would be just, proper and reasonable to award lump sum monetary compensation to the respondent in full and final satisfaction of his claim of reinstatement and other consequential benefits by taking recourse to the powers under Section 11-A of the Act and the law laid down by this Court in BSNL case [BSNL v. Bhurumal, (2014) 7 SCC 177 : (2014) 2 SCC (L&S) 373] .

16. Having regard to the totality of the facts taken note of supra, we consider it just and reasonable to award a total sum of Rs 2,50,000 (Rs two lakhs fifty thousand) to the respondent in lieu of his right to claim reinstatement and back wages in full and final satisfaction of this dispute."

24. Learned counsel for the workman Sri Sudhanshu Narain, on the other hand, has placed reliance upon a decision of the Supreme Court in Devinder Singh Vs. Municipal Council, Sanaur, where the argument that had prevailed with the High Court to set aside the award of the Labour Court directing reinstatement of the workman, was that the employment of the workman with the respondent Municipal Council from 01.08.1994 to 19.09.1996 was engagement on contractual basis and that it was an appointment made contrary to the recruitment rules. The High Court had taken view that it would be violative of Articles 14 and 15 of the Constitution, and, that it would not be in public interest to sustain the award of reinstatement after a long lapse of time. Learned counsel for the workman has relied on paragraph nos. 10, 12, 13, 14, 19, 20, 27 and 28 of the report in Devinder Singh (supra), where it is held thus:-

10. The definition of the term "retrenchment" is quite comprehensive. It covers every type of termination of the service of a workman by the employer for any reason whatsoever, otherwise than as a punishment inflicted by way of disciplinary action. The cases of voluntary retirement of the workman, retirement on reaching the age of superannuation, termination of service as a result of non-renewal of the contract of employment or of such contract being terminated under a stipulation contained therein or termination of the service of a workman on the ground of continued ill health also do not fall within the ambit of retrenchment.

12. Section 2(s) contains an exhaustive definition of the term "workman". The definition takes within its ambit any person including an apprentice employed in any industry to do any manual, unskilled, skilled, technical, operational, clerical or supervisory work for hire or reward and it is immaterial that the terms of employment are not reduced into writing. The definition also includes a person, who has been dismissed, discharged or retrenched in connection with an industrial dispute or as a consequence of such dispute or whose dismissal, discharge or retrenchment has led to that dispute. The last segment of the definition specifies certain exclusions. A person to whom the Air Force Act, 1950, or the Army Act, 1950, or the Navy Act, 1957, is applicable or who is employed in the police service as an officer or other employee of a prison or who is employed mainly in managerial or administrative capacity or who is employed in a supervisory capacity and is drawing specified wages per mensem or exercises mainly managerial functions does not fall within the definition of the term "workman".

13. The source of employment, the method of recruitment, the terms and conditions of employment/contract of service, the quantum of wages/pay and the mode of payment are not at all relevant for deciding whether or not a person is a workman within the meaning of Section 2(s) of the Act. It is apposite to observe that the definition of workman also does not make any distinction between full-time and part-time employee or a person appointed on contract basis. There is nothing in the plain language of Section 2(s) from which it can be inferred that only a person employed on a regular basis or a person employed for doing whole-time job is a workman and the one employed on temporary, part-time or contract basis on fixed wages or as a casual employee or for doing duty for fixed hours is not a workman.

14. Whenever an employer challenges the maintainability of industrial dispute on the ground that the employee is not a workman within the meaning of Section 2(s) of the Act, what the Labour Court/Industrial Tribunal is required to consider is whether the person is employed in an industry for hire or reward for doing manual, unskilled, skilled, operational, technical or clerical work in an industry. Once the test of employment for hire or reward for doing the specified type of work is satisfied, the employee would fall within the definition of "workman".

19. In Anoop Sharma v. Public Health Division [(2010) 5 SCC 497 : (2010) 2 SCC (L&S) 63] the Court considered the effect of violation of Section 25-F, referred to various precedents on the subject and held the termination of service of a workman without complying with the mandatory provisions contained in Sections 25-F(a) and (b) should ordinarily result in his reinstatement.

20. We may now advert to the impugned order. A careful analysis thereof reveals that the High Court neither found any jurisdictional infirmity in the award of the Labour Court nor it came to the conclusion that the same was vitiated by an error of law apparent on the face of the record. Notwithstanding this, the High Court set aside the direction given by the Labour Court for reinstatement of the appellant by assuming that his initial appointment/engagement was contrary to law and that it would not be in public interest to approve the award of reinstatement after long lapse of time. In our view, the approach adopted by the High Court in dealing with the award of the Labour Court was ex facie erroneous and contrary to the law laid down in Syed Yakoob v. K.S. Radhakrishnan [AIR 1964 SC 477] , Sawarn Singh v. State of Punjab [(1976) 2 SCC 868] , PGI of Medical Education & Research v. Raj Kumar[(2001) 2 SCC 54 : 2001 SCC (L&S) 365] , Surya Dev Rai v. Ram Chander Rai [(2003) 6 SCC 675] and Shalini Shyam Shetty v. Rajendra Shankar Patil [(2010) 8 SCC 329 : (2010) 3 SCC (Civ) 338] .

27. It is true that the engagement of the appellant was not preceded by an advertisement and consideration of the competing claims of other eligible persons but that exercise could not be undertaken by the respondent because of the ban imposed by the State Government. It is surprising that the Division Bench of the High Court did not notice this important facet of the employment of the appellant and decided the writ petition by assuming that his appointment/engagement was contrary to the recruitment rules and Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution. We may also add that failure of the Director, Local Self-Government, Punjab to convey his approval to the resolution of the respondent could not be made a ground for bringing an end to the engagement of the appellant and that too without complying with the mandate of Sections 25-F(a) and (b).

28. The other reason given by the High Court is equally untenable. The appellant could hardly be blamed for the delay, if any, in the adjudication of the dispute by the Labour Court or the writ petition filed by the respondent. The delay of four to five years in the adjudication of disputes by the Labour Court/Industrial Tribunal is a normal phenomena. If what the High Court has done is held to be justified, gross illegalities committed by the employer in terminating the services of workman will acquire legitimacy in majority of cases. Therefore, we have no hesitation to disapprove the approach adopted by the High Court in dealing with the appellant's case.

25. Further, reliance has been placed by the learned counsel for the workman on a decision of their Lordships of the Supreme Court in Deepali Gundu Surwase Vs. Kranti Junior Adhyapak and others, where attention of this Court has been drawn to paragraph no. 33 of the report, holding thus:

"33. The propositions which can be culled out from the aforementioned judgments are:

i) In cases of wrongful termination of service, reinstatement with continuity of service and back wages is the normal rule.

ii) The aforesaid rule is subject to the rider that while deciding the issue of back wages, the adjudicating authority or the Court may take into consideration the length of service of the employee/workman, the nature of misconduct, if any, found proved against the employee/workman, the financial condition of the employer and similar other factors.

iii) Ordinarily, an employee or workman whose services are terminated and who is desirous of getting back wages is required to either plead or at least make a statement before the adjudicating authority or the Court of first instance that he/she was not gainfully employed or was employed onlesser wages. If the employer wants to avoid payment of full back wages, then it has to plead and also lead cogent evidence to prove that the employee/workman was gainfully employed and was getting wages equal to the wages he/she was drawing prior to the termination of service. This is so because it is settled law that the burden of proof of the existence of a particular fact lies on the person who makes a positive averments about its existence. It is always easier to prove a positive fact than to prove a negative fact. Therefore, once the employee shows that he was not employed, the onus lies on the employer to specifically plead and prove that the employee was gainfully employed and was getting the same or substantially similar emoluments.

iv) The cases in which the Labour Court/Industrial Tribunal exercises power under Section 11-A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 and finds that even though the enquiry held against the employee/workman is consistent with the rules of natural justice and / or certified standing orders, if any, but holds that the punishment was disproportionate to the misconduct found proved, then it will have the discretion not to award full back wages. However, if the Labour Court/Industrial Tribunal finds that the employee or workman is not at all guilty of any misconduct or that the employer had foisted a false charge, then there will be ample justification for award of full back wages.

v) The cases in which the competent Court or Tribunal finds that the employer has acted in gross violation of the statutory provisions and/or the principles of natural justice or is guilty of victimizing the employee or workman, then the concerned Court or Tribunal will be fully justified in directing payment of full back wages. In such cases, the superior Courts should not exercise power under Article 226 or 136 of the Constitution and interfere with the award passed by the Labour Court, etc., merely because there is a possibility of forming a different opinion on the entitlement of the employee/workman to get full back wages or the employer's obligation to pay the same. The Courts must always be kept in view that in the cases of wrongful / illegal termination of service, the wrongdoer is the employer and sufferer is the employee/workman and there is no justification to give premium to the employer of his wrongdoings by relieving him of the burden to pay to the employee/workman his dues in the form of full back wages.

vi) In a number of cases, the superior Courts have interfered with the award of the primary adjudicatory authority on the premise that finalization of litigation has taken long time ignoring that in majority of cases the parties are not responsible for such delays. Lack of infrastructure and manpower is the principal cause for delay in the disposal of cases. For this the litigants cannot be blamed or penalised. It would amount to grave injustice to an employee or workman if he is denied back wages simply because there is long lapse of time between the termination of his service and finality given to the order of reinstatement. The Courts should bear in mind that in most of these cases, the employer is in an advantageous position vis-à-vis the employee or workman. He can avail the services of best legal brain for prolonging the agony of the sufferer, i.e., the employee or workman, who can ill afford the luxury of spending money on a lawyer with certain amount of fame. Therefore, in such cases it would be prudent to adopt the course suggested in Hindustan Tin Works Private Limited v. Employees of Hindustan Tin Works Private Limited.

vii) The observation made in J.K. Synthetics Ltd. v. K.P. Agrawal5 (supra) that on reinstatement the employee/workman cannot claim continuity of service as of right is contrary to the ratio of the judgments of three Judge Benches referred to hereinabove and cannot be treated as good law. This part of the judgment is also against the very concept of reinstatement of an employee/workman."

26. This Court has given a thoughtful consideration to the matter. It appears that the law, with regard to the reinstatement of a dailywager employed with the State or a State instrumentality, has become an instance of overlap between principles of service law and labour law in those spheres of state activity that have come to be regarded as "industry' in the aftermath of the decision in Bangalore Water Supply Sewerage Board (supra). While, service law frowns upon employment under the State through any means otherwise than open public recruitment, or in a manner other than that the relevant service rules envisage, Industrial Law has no such ambitions. Difficulties, therefore, arise where engagement of a workman is made by a Government Department on dailywage basis and continued long enough to entitle him to the protection of Industrial Laws.

27. The aforesaid question fell for consideration of their Lordships of the Supreme Court in U.P. Power Corpration Ltd. vs. Bijli Mazdor Sangh, where the jurisdiction of Labour Court to administer the Industrial Laws was considered vis-à-vis the constitutional commitment of the State to uphold the rule of equality envisaged under Article 14, which particularly applies to services under the State. In that context, it was held in U.P. Power Corporation Ltd. (supra) thus:-

6. It is true as contended by learned counsel for the respondent that the question as regards the effect of the industrial adjudicators' powers was not directly in issue in Umadevi (3) case [(2006) 4 SCC 1 : 2006 SCC (L&S) 753] . But the foundational logic in Umadevi (3) case [(2006) 4 SCC 1 : 2006 SCC (L&S) 753] is based on Article 14 of the Constitution of India. Though the industrial adjudicator can vary the terms of the contract of the employment, it cannot do something which is violative of Article 14. If the case is one which is covered by the concept of regularisation, the same cannot be viewed differently.

7. The plea of learned counsel for the respondent that at the time the High Court decided the matter, decision in Umadevi (3) case [(2006) 4 SCC 1 : 2006 SCC (L&S) 753] was not rendered is really of no consequence. There cannot be a case for regularisation without there being employee-employer relationship. As noted above the concept of regularisation is clearly linked with Article 14 of the Constitution. However, if in a case the fact situation is covered by what is stated in para 45 of Umadevi (3) case [(2006) 4 SCC 1 : 2006 SCC (L&S) 753] the industrial adjudicator can modify the relief, but that does not dilute the observations made by this Court in Umadevi (3) case [(2006) 4 SCC 1 : 2006 SCC (L&S) 753] about the regularisation.

28. The subject received more comprehensive treatment by their Lordships of Supreme Court in Maharashtra State Road Transport Corporation Vs. Casteribe Rajya Parivahan Karmchari Sanghatana, where the question was, whether the Constitution Bench decision of the Supreme court in State of Karanataka Vs. Uma Devi would detract from the rights of a workman under the Maharashtra Recognition of Trade Unions and Prevention of Unfair Labour Practices Act 1971. It was held thus by their Lordships in Maharashtra State Road Transport Corporation (supra):-

30. The question that arises for consideration is: have the provisions of the MRTU and PULP Act been denuded of the statutory status by the Constitution Bench decision in Umadevi (3)[(2006) 4

SCC 1 : 2006 SCC (L&S) 753] ? In our judgment, it is not.

31. The purpose and object of the MRTU and PULP Act, inter alia, is to define and provide for prevention of certain unfair labour practices as listed in Schedules II, III and IV. The MRTU and PULP Act empowers the Industrial and Labour Courts to decide that the person named in the complaint has engaged in or is engaged in unfair labour practice and if the unfair labour practice is proved, to declare that an unfair labour practice has been engaged in or is being engaged in by that person and direct such person to cease and desist from such unfair labour practice and take such affirmative action (including payment of reasonable compensation to the employee or employees affected by the unfair labour practice, or reinstatement of the employee or employees with or without back wages, or the payment of reasonable compensation), as may in the opinion of the court be necessary to effectuate the policy of the Act.

32. The power given to the Industrial and Labour Courts under Section 30 is very wide and the affirmative action mentioned therein is inclusive and not exhaustive. Employing badlis, casuals or temporaries and to continue them as such for years, with the object of depriving them of the status and privileges of permanent employees is an unfair labour practice on the part of the employer under Item 6 of Schedule IV. Once such unfair labour practice on the part of the employer is established in the complaint, the Industrial and Labour Courts are empowered to issue preventive as well as positive direction to an erring employer.

33. The provisions of the MRTU and PULP Act and the powers of the Industrial and Labour Courts provided therein were not at all under consideration in Umadevi (3) [(2006) 4 SCC 1 : 2006 SCC (L&S) 753] . As a matter of fact, the issue like the present one pertaining to unfair labour practice was not at all referred to, considered or decided in Umadevi (3)[(2006) 4 SCC 1 : 2006 SCC (L&S) 753] . Unfair labour practice on the part of the employer in engaging employees as badlis, casuals or temporaries and to continue them as such for years with the object of depriving them of the status and privileges of permanent employees as provided in Item 6 of Schedule IV and the power of the Industrial and Labour Courts under Section 30 of the Act did not fall for adjudication or consideration before the Constitution Bench.

34. It is true that Dharwad Distt. PWD Literate Daily Wages Employees' Assn. [(1990) 2 SCC 396 : 1990 SCC (L&S) 274 : (1990) 12 ATC 902] arising out of industrial adjudication has been considered in Umadevi (3) [(2006) 4 SCC 1 : 2006 SCC (L&S) 753] and that decision has been held to be not laying down the correct law but a careful and complete reading of the decision in Umadevi (3) [(2006) 4 SCC 1 : 2006 SCC (L&S) 753] leaves no manner of doubt that what this Court was concerned in Umadevi (3) [(2006) 4 SCC 1 : 2006 SCC (L&S) 753] was the exercise of power by the High Courts under Article 226 and this Court under Article 32 of the Constitution of India in the matters of public employment where the employees have been engaged as contractual, temporary or casual workers not based on proper selection as recognised by the rules or procedure and yet orders of their regularisation and conferring them status of permanency have been passed.

35. Umadevi (3) [(2006) 4 SCC 1 : 2006 SCC (L&S) 753] is an authoritative pronouncement for the proposition that the Supreme Court (Article 32) and the High Courts (Article 226) should not issue directions of absorption, regularisation or permanent continuance of temporary, contractual, casual, daily wage or ad hoc employees unless the recruitment itself was made regularly in terms of the constitutional scheme.

36. Umadevi (3) [(2006) 4 SCC 1 : 2006 SCC (L&S) 753] does not denude the Industrial and Labour Courts of their statutory power under Section 30 read with Section 32 of the MRTU and PULP Act to order permanency of the workers who have been victims of unfair labour practice on the part of the employer under Item 6 of Schedule IV where the posts on which they have been working exist. Umadevi (3) [(2006) 4 SCC 1 : 2006 SCC (L&S) 753] cannot be held to have overridden the powers of the Industrial and Labour Courts in passing appropriate order under Section 30 of the MRTU and PULP Act, once unfair labour practice on the part of the employer under Item 6 of Schedule IV is established.

(Emphasis by Court)

29. It must be remarked here that though the present case does not relates to a claim for regularization in service, that question assumes some relevance in context of the fact that if just for the violation of the rule under Section 6N of the Act, a daily-wager is to be reinstated in service, it may be nothing more that reinstatement for sake of it. This is so because the employer may dispense with the services of the workman, again immediately upon reinstatement, after following the procedure prescribed under Section 6N of the Act. It is in this context that the most workable principles have been laid down by their Lordships on the subject in B.S.N.L. Vs. Bhurumal which have been quoted with approval in District Development Officer (supra). One of the exceptions to the rule that does not favour reinstatement of a daily-wage worker is the one referred in paragraph 35 of the report in B.S.N.L. vs. Bhurumal (supra). It has been said there that a daily-wager, whose termination is found to be illegal, would be entitled to reinstatement, if it was as a measure of unfair labour practice, or in violation of the principle of the last come first go, that is to say, a case where juniors to the retrenched workman are retained. There is also reference to a contingency, where the juniors to the retrenched workman may have been regularized under some policy of the employer, whereas the workman's engagement has been terminated. It has been held that in such circumstances, reinstatement should be ordered as a rule and denial only in exceptional circumstances for reasons recorded.

30. Here, the workman has taken a specific plea in his written statement that he was employed on a regular basis against a permanent vacancy in the year 1979. Assuming that there is no proof about a regular selection and appointment on record, the workman's case that he was retained against a permanent vacancy has not been dispelled by any evidence on behalf of the employer. Rather, in the cross-examination of the employer's witness, Vindhyachal Prasad, an Executive Engineer, it has been admitted that the stand of the employers in the written statement that the workman had never worked for more than 240 days in a calendar year, was incorrect. The employer's witness has further admitted that he was posted with the Drainage Division-II, Basti from the year 1989 to 1991. During the said period of time, the workman never absented from duty. It is also admitted that workman was paid bonus and that this bonus was paid to those workmen, who put in more than 240 days in a calendar year. There is evidence on record about a seniority list, where the workman is at serial No. 9 and also documentary evidence about payment of bonus to the workman for the years 1986-87, 1987-88 and 1988-89. On the basis of this evidence, the Labour Court has drawn an inference that the workman has been in continuous employment with the employer for a period as long as 11 years and more. It does appear that this long period of retention in service lends credence to the workman's case that he was engaged against a permanent vacancy; it is quite another matter that he was not selected or appointed to it, in accordance with law. There is also a further plea by the workman specifically pleaded in paragraph No. 13 of written statement that juniors to him have been retained in service, and many of these juniors have been appointed later on, violating the principle of first come last go. In his evidence, the workman has specifically said in the cross-examination that one Gyan Das is working in his stead. He has said in his examination-in-chief that his name was at serial No. 7 of the seniority list, but juniors to him have been retained in service. It has also been said in his examination-in-chief that the workman at serial No. 8 of the divisional seniority list which does not carry his name, is continuing in service. It has also been asserted that before raising this industrial disputes, he demanded re-engagement from the employer. This evidence of the workman remains unrebutted on record.

31. Under the circumstances, the conclusions drawn by the Labour Court in favour of reinstatement of the workman, seems to accord with the law. It must also be remarked here that the decision to reinstate in accordance with principles generally accepted, laid down in BSNL vs. Bhurumal (supra) clearly appear to obtain in the present case. It is particularly so on account of fact that the workman was engaged against a permanent vacancy, the fact that he was permitted to continue in regular service for as long a period as 11 years and more, and, the fact that juniors to him have been retained in service, whereas the workman's services were terminated in violation of Section 6N of the Act. It would be worthy to note also that in the decision of this Court rendered in State of U.P. Vs. Hind Mazdoor Sabha (supra), the workman had worked for a period of four years. Likewise, in the decision of their Lordships of the Supreme Court in Vice-Chancellor, Lucknow University Lucknow vs. Akhilesh Kumar Khare (supra), the workman had worked for about one and a half years and not against any sanctioned post, and likewise, in the decision in District Development Officer Vs. Sateeh Kantilal Amerilya (supra), the workman concerned had broken engagements of a short duration in two spells, one being 5 months 15 days, and the other, 1 year and 9 months. Thus, the decision in those cases by their Lordships of the Supreme Court or by this Court would not come to rescue of the employer, in the facts that obtain here.

32. In view of the facts indicated above, this Court does not find any good ground to interfere with the impugned award passed by the Labour Court.

33. Accordingly, the writ petition fails and is hereby dismissed.

34. The interim order dated 16.02.2004 stands vacated. Costs easy.

Cases cited: -

1. State of Maharashtra Vs. Tapan D. Neogy [(1999) 7 SCC 685]

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.
Hon'ble Ajit Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Sri Satyendra Kumar Mishra, learned counsel for petitioner, Sri Amit Srivastava, Advocate, holding brief of Sri Anadi Krishan Narayana, Advocate and learned Standing Counsel for respondents.

2. Grievance of petitioner is that she had opened a bank account bearing No. 37830100003500 in her name in respondent-Bank and there she deposited Rs. 3,50,000/- in the form of fixed deposit and maturity period for the same was 444 days. After maturity period was over and petitioner wanted to withdraw money, respondent-Bank refused the same on the ground that account has been freezed. Petitioner, therefore, has come up before this Court for release of money which she had put in a fixed term deposit.

3. In the counter affidavit filed by Bank, stand taken is that bank account of petitioner has been frozen under orders of police dated 06.06.2012 and said letter which is alleged to be an order in purported exercise of power under Section 102 Cr.P.C., has been filed as Annexure No. 1 to counter affidavit.

4. Rival submissions fall for consideration. Before proceeding further in the matter, it is necessary to examine the powers of police in respect of seizure of property as has been conferred upon it by virtue of Section 102 Cr.P.C. reads as under:-

"102. Power of police officer to seize certain property.- (1) Any police officer, may seize any property which may be alleged or suspected to have been stolen, or which may be found under circumstances which create suspicion of the commission of any offence.

Writ C No. 7473 of 2015

Soni Devi ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

(2) Such police officer, if subordinate to the officer in charge of a police station, shall forthwith report the seizure to that officer.

(3) Every police officer acting under sub-section (1) shall forthwith report the seizure to the Magistrate having jurisdiction and where the property seized is such that it cannot be conveniently transported to the Court, or where there is difficulty in securing proper accommodation for the custody of such property, or where the continued retention of the property in police custody may not be considered necessary for the purpose of investigation, he may give custody thereof to any person on his executing a bond undertaking to produce the property before the Court as and when required and to give effect to the further orders of the Court as to the disposal of the same.

Provided that where the property seized under sub-section (1) is subject to speedy and natural decay and if the person entitled to the possession of such property is unknown or absent and the value of such property is less than five hundred rupees, it may forthwith be sold by auction under the orders of the Superintendent of Police and the provisions of sections 457 and 458 shall, as nearly as may be practicable, apply to the net proceeds of such sale."

5. From bare reading of aforesaid provision, it is clear that a police officer for seizing the property which may be suspected to have been stolen or which may be found under particular circumstances to create suspicion regarding commission of an offence, shall pass an order of seizure of property and after passing order of seizure shall immediately communicate to Magistrate about act of seizure and thereafter, procedure is for Magistrate to further take care of property by issuing appropriate orders.

6. From the perusal of documents which has been filed as Annexure No. 1 to counter affidavit, we do not find any whisper of any order having been passed in exercise of power under Section 102 Cr.P.C. by concerned police officer nor there is any communication thereof to Magistrate concerned. The documents seems to be a simple letter of request not to permit any meddling with account of petitioner during investigation. Thus, there was not even any request for seizure of account.

7. In the case of State of Maharashtra Vs. Tapan D. Neogy [(1999) 7 SCC 685], Supreme Court has held that in case of bank account it can be treated as property and during investigation it can be seized by police by exercising power under Section 102 Cr.P.C. However, Supreme Court has held that for this purpose either police officer shall pass an order of seizure or shall issue a direction to Bank to prohibit operation of account. Thus, it is clear that police officer during investigation can pass an order for seizure of account in the first instance or even can make a direction to Bank to prohibit operation of account as may be necessary during the investigation but in both cases, police officer has to pass a positive order.

8. From the perusal of letter which has been relied upon by petitioner for seizing bank account of petitioner and withholding of credit of fixed deposit receipt, it is absolutely clear that there was no order passed by police officer to seize the account or to prohibit operation of account because it merely made a request that meddling with account should not be done.

9. We fail to understand that what actually meddling with account means. It can either be seizure or its operation can be prohibited. There is no averment in the entire counter affidavit as to in what manner meddling of account was there which was sought to be prohibited.

10. Branch Manager of concerned Bank instead of making a request for an Bank is absolutely an illegal act and cannot be sustained in law and has resulted in utter harassment to the widow lady.

12. We, therefore, direct the Bank to immediately credit the amount of fixed deposit of petitioner in her account and permit her to withdraw the same.

13. Accordingly, this writ petition is allowed with a cost which we quantify to Rs. 25,000/- to be paid to petitioner by the bank in first instance and same shall be recovered from the concerned Bank Manager who has committed default.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Piyush Agrawal, J.)

1. By means of the present petition, the petitioners seek a writ of mandamus declaring the entire proceedings, initiated against the petitioners under the Urban Land (Ceiling & Regulation) Act, 1976 as abated in view of the Urban Land (Ceiling & Regulation) Repeal Act, 1999.

2. The brief facts of the case on record are that the petitioners claim that an area of 8041.08 square meters of Khasra Nos. 271 Mi, 272 Mi, 277 Mi, 289 Mi, 279 Mi, 290 Mi, 291 Mi, 392 Mi, 330 Mi and 331 Mi situated in Village - Shekhpura Kadeem, District Saharanpur and Khasra No. 61 situated in Village - Chakpuragpur be exempted from the ceiling proceedings as the petitioners claim to be the owners of the said land.

3. The proceedings under Urban Land (Ceiling & Regulation) Act, 1976 (hereinafter referred to as, 'the Act of 1976') were initiated against the petitioner's predecessor. Thereafter, the father of the petitioners filed statement under section 6(1) of the Act of 1976. As the land was agricultural land and does not come under section 2(o) of the Act of 1976, i.e., the 'vacant land', the proceedings of ceiling were dropped on 29.09.1986. Thereafter, again the ceiling proceedings were initiated against the father of the petitioners. On 29.09.1987, the Mahayojana (Master Plan) was introduced in Saharanpur Nagar Basti and on the basis of the old returns, draft statement under section 8(3) of the Act of 1976 was issued on 15.03.1991, in which the total land/building of the tenure holder measuring 11,397.23 square meters and thereafter, a total area of 8041.08 square meters from Khasra Nos. 271 Mi, 272 Mi, 277 Mi, 289 Mi, 279 Mi, 290 Mi, 291 Mi, 392 Mi, 330 Mi and 331 Mi situated in Village - Shekhpura Kadeem, District Saharanpur and Khasra No. 61 situated in Village - Chakpuragpur was proposed to be declared surplus. It is averred that by ex parte order dated 12.06.1998 under section 8(4) of the Act, the land in question was declared surplus.

4. Thereafter, notification under section 10(1) of the Act of 1976 and notification under section 10(3) of the Act of 1976 were sent for publication in the official Gazette on 26.03.1993 and 21.08.1993 respectively. After the publication of the notification, notice under section 10(5) of the Act of 1976 was issued to the tenure holder on 27.01.1994, calling upon the tenure holder to voluntarily surrender their surplus vacant land of 8246.00 square meters. This notice is alleged to be served upon the tenure holders personally by process server.

5. On 29.03.1998, the State claims that Parwana Amal Daramad was issued and the name of the State Government was recorded in the revenue records pursuant to the notice under section 10(5) of the Act of 1976. Thereafter, the surplus land was handed over to the Saharanpur Development Authority on 19.02.2002 and since then, the land in question is in the custody of Saharanpur Development Authority.

6. It is averred that the petitioners are still in physical possession of the land in question, which has been declared surplus. It is further averred that no notice under section 10(5) of the Act of 1976 was issued to the petitioners and the petitioners have never signed any document regarding delivery of possession and in view of section 10(6) of the Act of 1976, no forcible possession was taken by the State Government from the petitioners and actual tenure holder, i.e., the father of the petitioners. It is further averred that the petitioners have not received any compensation of the land in dispute which has been declared surplus. It is further averred that the State Government is alleged to have transferred the land in question in favour of Saharanpur Development Authority on 19.02.2002, much after the coming into force of the Urban Land (Ceiling & Regulation) Repeal Act, 1999 (hereinafter referred to as, 'the Act of 1999'). It is clear from the record that the land is agricultural land which shows that at the time of handing over the possession to the Saharanpur Development Authority, the land was not of urban land, but it was agricultural land. It is further averred that in terms of section 2(o) of the Act of 1976, the urban land is defined which does not include the land which is mainly used for the purposes of agriculture. As per section 2(q) of the Act of 1976, the "vacant land" is defined as the land not being the land mainly for the purposes of agriculture.

7. A counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of the State - respondents, in which it is contended that due process of law as prescribed under the relevant Act has been followed and only thereafter, the physical possession of the land has been taken in an absolutely legal manner. It has been further averred in the counter affidavit that after publication of notification in the Gazette under sections 10(1) and 10(3) of the Act of 1976, the land vested in the State Government. Thereafter, notice under section 10(5) of the Act was issued on 17.01.1994, which was duly served upon the tenure holder and the possession of the surplus land was taken on 27.03.1998 after adopting all procedures as per the law. Thereafter, the aforesaid surplus land was handed over to the Saharanpur Development Authority on 19.02.2002 for implementation of the Master Plan. In support of the submission, the possession letter dated 27.03.1998 has been annexed along with the counter affidavit to justify the taking over the possession much before the enforcement of the repeal Act of 1999.

8. We have heard Shri Madhusudan Dikshit, learned counsel for the petitioners and learned standing counsel for the State - respondents and perused the material on record.

9. Learned counsel for the petitioners submits that the State Government has failed to establish that actual possession has been taken in terms of sections 10(5) and 10(6) of the Act, 1976. It is further submitted that the tenure holder has not handed over the possession of the declared surplus land to the Collector in terms of the notice under section 10(5) of the Act, which is evident from the material on record. He further submits that no proceedings, whatsoever, have been initiated against the tenure holder in terms of section 10(6) of the Act of 1976 as no pleading has been taken by the answering respondents in their counter affidavit that forcible possession has been taken over under section 10(6) of the Act of 1976. He further submits that in view of the said fact, the entire proceedings initiated against the petitioners stood abated in terms of section 3 of the Act of 1999 and the expression "deemed to have been acquired" or "deemed to have been vested" are not applicable in view of the aforesaid fact as the State has failed to establish that the actual possession has been taken over in view of sections 10(5) and 10(6) of the Act.

10. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that it is not the case of the respondents that the tenure holder has voluntarily surrendered the possession of the land in question. Thus, it was imperative that the possession should have been taken in terms of section 10(6) of the Act of 1976 and there is no pleading in the affidavit filed by the respondents that forcible possession was taken from the tenure holder and the land in question has been transferred in favour of the Saharanpur Development Authority on 19.02.2002 (as mentioned in paragraph no. 3 of the counter affidavit). It is further argued by the learned counsel for the petitioners that the possession memo does not bear the signatures of the tenure holder at the time of delivery of possession of the land in question. The said fact itself shows that the original tenure holder has not given possession voluntarily pursuant to the notice under section 10(5) of the Act. Learned counsel for the petitioners further submits that in view of the fact that the land in question is still in possession of the petitioners and no compensation, whatsoever, has been paid, therefore, the proceedings stood abated when the repeal Act of 1999 came into force.

11. Sri Dikshit has placed reliance on the judgments of the Supreme Court in the case of State of Uttar Pradesh v. Hari Ram (2013) 4 SCC 280; State of U.P. and another v. Vinod Kumar Tripathi and others (Special Leave Petition (C) No. 16582 of 2014 decided with Special Leave Petition (C) No. 38922 of 2013, on 19th January, 2016); and the judgments of this Court in State of U.P. and another v. Nek Singh 2010 LawSuit (All) 3581; Ram Chandra Pandey v. State of U.P. and others 2010 (82) ALR 136; Ehsan v. State of U.P. and another (Writ C No. 21009 of 2012, decided on 08.10.2018); Lalji v. State of U.P. and others 2018 LawSuit (All) 1276: 2018 (5) ADJ 566; and Yasin and others v. State of U.P. and others 2014 (4) ADJ 305 (DB).

12. Rebutting the submissions of the learned counsel for the petitioners, learned standing counsel appearing for the State - respondents submits that the possession has been taken over by the State Government in accordance with law on 27.03.1998 and thereafter, the land in question was transferred in favour of Saharanpur Development Authority on 19.02.2002 and the stand taken by the learned counsel for the petitioners is of no consequence. In his submission, the writ petition lacks merit and deserves to be dismissed.

13. Learned Standing Counsel has placed reliance on the judgments of the Supreme Court in the cases of State of Assam v. Bhaskar Jyoti Sarma and others (2015) 5 SCC 321 and State of U.P. and others v. Surendra Pratap and others AIR 2016 SC 2712, and judgment of this Court in Shiv Ram Singh v. State of U.P. and others 2015 (5) AWC 4918.

14. We have summoned the original record and we have perused the same. We find that the record no where indicates as to how possession was taken and what is the name of the witness in whose presence such possession was taken. There is no name indicated in the counter affidavit filed by the State. The signature of the tenure holder is also not there.

15. At this stage, before adverting to the submissions raised on behalf of the parties, it is quite relevant to reproduce the relevant provisions of the Act for proper appreciation of the controversy involved in the matter.

16. Sections 2(o), 2(q) and sub-sections (5) and (6) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 are reproduced hereunder:

"2(o) "urban land" means,--

(i) any land situated within the limits of an urban agglomeration and referred to as such in the master plan; or

(ii) in a case where there is no master plan, or where the master plan does not refer to any land as urban land, any land within the limits of an urban agglomeration and situated in any area included within the local limits of a municipality (by whatever name called), a notified area committee, a town area committee, a city and town committee, a small town committee, a cantonment board or a panchayat, but does not include any such land which is mainly used for the purpose of agriculture.

Explanation.--For the purpose of this clause and clause (q),--

(A) "agriculture" includes horticulture, but does not include--

(I) raising of grass,

(ii) dairy farming,

(iii) poultry farming,

(iv) breeding of live-stock, and

(v) such cultivation, or the growing of such plant, as may be prescribed;

(B) land shall not be deemed to be used mainly for the purpose of agriculture, if such land is not entered in the revenue or land records before the appointed day as for the purpose of agriculture:

Provided that where on any land which is entered in the revenue or land records before the appointed day as for the purpose of agriculture, there is a building which is not in the nature of a farm-house, then, so much of the extent of such land as is occupied by the building shall not be deemed to be used mainly for the purpose of agriculture:

Provided further that if any question arises whether any building is in the nature of a farm-house, such question shall be referred to the State Government and the decision of the State Government thereon shall be final;

(C) Notwithstanding anything contained in clause

(B) of this Explanation, land shall not be deemed to be mainly used for the purpose of agriculture if the land has been specified in the master plan for a purpose other than agriculture;"

"2(q) "vacant land" means land, not being land mainly used for the purpose of agriculture, in an urban agglomeration, but does not include--*

(i) land on which construction of a building is not permissible under the building regulations in force in the area in which such land is situated;

(ii) in an area where there are building regulations, the land occupied by any building which has been constructed before, or is being constructed on, the appointed day with the approval of the appropriate authority and the land appurtenant to such building; and

(iii) in an area where there are no building regulations, the land occupied by any building which has been constructed before, or is being constructed on, the appointed day and the land appurtenant to such building:

Provided that where any person ordinarily keeps his cattle, other than for the purpose of dairy farming or for the purpose of breeding of live-stock, on any land situated in a village within an urban agglomeration (described as a village in the revenue records), then, so much extent of the land as has been ordinarily used for the keeping of such cattle immediately before the appointed day shall not be deemed to be vacant land for the purposes of this clause."

"10(5) Where any vacant land is vested in the State Government under sub-section (3), the competent authority may, by notice in writing, order any person who may be in possession of it to surrender or deliver possession thereof to the State Government or to any person duly authorised by the State Government in this behalf within thirty days of the service of the notice."*

"10(6) If any person refuses or fails to comply with an order made under sub-section (5), the competent authority may take possession of the vacant land or cause it to be given to the concerned State Government or to any person duly authorised by such State Government in this behalf and may for that purpose use such force as may be necessary.*

Explanation.--In this section, in sub-section (1) of section 11 and in sections 14 and 23, "State Government", in relation to--

(a) any vacant land owned by the Central Government, means the Central Government;

(b) any vacant land owned by any State Government and situated in the Union territory or within the local limits of a cantonment declared as such under section 3 of the Cantonments Act, 1924 (2 of 1924), means that State Government."

17. Section 2(o) of the Act, 1976 defines "urban land" and Section 2(q) defines "vacant land". Section 6 of the Act, 1976 provides that owner of the land shall submit a statement giving detail of the vacant land. Section 8(1) enjoins that the competent authority shall get a survey of the land conducted and on the basis of the said survey a draft statement under sub-section (3) of Section 8 of the Act, 1976 was required to be served upon the land owner calling for objection to the said statement within thirty days and the order is passed under sub-section (4) of Section 8 of the Act, 1976 and later a notification is issued under sub-section (1) of Section 10 for publication in the Gazette giving particulars of the vacant land. Thereafter another notice is published stating that the land shall be deemed to have been vested on the Government free from all encumbrances. Thereafter a notice under sub-section (5) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 is issued calling upon the land owner to hand over possession of the land declared surplus. If the land owner fails to handover the possession voluntarily in response to the aforementioned notice, sub-section (6) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 confers a power upon the competent authority to take forceful possession.

18. In the year 1999 the Parliament enacted the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Repeal Act, 1999 (for short Act 15 of 1999). The said Act was adopted by the State of U.P. also by a notification dated 18.03.1999. It is apposite to reproduce Sections 3 and 4 of the Repeal Act.

"3. Saving.-- (1) The repeal of the principal Act shall not affect--*

(a) the vesting of any vacant land under sub-section 10, possession of which has been taken over by the State Government or any person duly authorized by the State Government in this behalf or by the competent authority;

(b) the validity of any order granting exemption under sub-section (1) of Section 20 or any action taken thereunder, notwithstanding any judgment of any court to the contrary;

(c) any payment made to the State Government as a condition for granting exemption under sub-section (1) of Section 20.

(2) Where--

(a) any land is deemed to have vested in the State Government under sub-section (3) of Section 10 of the principal Act but possession of which has not been taken over by the State Government or any person duly authorized by the State Government in this behalf or by the competent authority; and

(b) any amount has been paid by the State Government with respect to such land then, such land shall not be restored unless the amount paid, if any, has been refunded to the State Government.

4. Abatement of legal proceedings.-- All proceedings relating to any order made or purported to be made under the principal Act pending immediately before the commencement of* this Act, before any court, tribunal or other authority shall abate:

Provided that this section shall not apply to the proceedings relating to sections 11,12,13 and 14 of the principal Act in so far as such proceedings are relatable to the land, possession of which has been taken over by the State Government or any person duly authorised by the State Government in this behalf or by the competent authority."

19. In exercise of the powers under Section 35 of the Act, 1976 the State Government issued the Directions, 1983 known as The Uttar Pradesh Urban Land Ceiling (Taking of Possession, Payment of Amount and Allied Matters) Directions, 1983 (Directions issued by the State Government under Section 35 of the Act, 1976). The direction no.3 is relevant for our purpose which is extracted below:

"3. Procedure for taking possession of vacant land in excess of ceiling limit.--(1) The competent authority will maintain a register in Form No.ULC - 1 for each case regarding which notification under sub-section (3) of Section 10 of the Act is published in the gazette."

The mere vesting of the land under sub-section (3) of Section 10 would not confer any right on the State Government to have de facto possession of the vacant land unless there has been a voluntary surrender of vacant land before 18.3.1999. State has to establish that there has been a voluntary surrender of vacant land or surrender and delivery of peaceful possession under sub-section (5) of Section 10 or forceful dispossession under sub-section (6) of Section 10. On failure to establish any of those situations, the land owner or holder can claim the benefit of Section 3 of the Repeal Act. The State Government in this appeal could not establish any of those situations and hence the High Court is right in holding that the respondent is entitled to get the benefit of Section 3 of the Repeal Act.

प्रस्तर–40

We, therefore, find no infirmity in the judgment of the High Court and the appeal is, accordingly dismissed so also the other appeals. No documents have been produced by the State to show that the respondents had been dispossessed before coming into force of the Repeal Act and hence, the respondents are entitled to get the benefit of Section 3 of the Repeal Act. However, there will be no order as to cost.

21. In view of the aforesaid provisions, referred to above, the question, which emerges to be decided by this Court, is as to whether in the present set of fact ceiling proceedings shall be abated in view of the sub-section (2) of section 3 of the Act of 1999.

22. The Supreme Court in various cases has taken the view that if at the time of the enforcement of the Repeal Act the possession has not been taken by the State in terms of sub-section (5) or sub-section (6) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976, then the proceedings under Section 1976 shall be abated.

23. The Supreme Court has elaborately considered the scope of sub-section (5) and sub-section (6) of Section 10 of the Act, 1976 and the directions framed by the State Government under Section 35 of the Act, 1976 and the directions framed by the State Government under U.P. Urban Land Ceiling (Taking of Possession, Payment of Amount and Allied Matters) Direction 1983 in the case of State of U.P. v. Hari Ram (2013) 4 SCC 280. The relevant part of the judgment of the Supreme Court reads thus:

"30. Vacant land, it may be noted, is not actually acquired but deemed to have been acquired, in that deeming things to be what they are not. Acquisition, therefore, does not take possession unless* there is an indication to the contrary. It is trite law that in construing a deeming provision, it is necessary to bear in mind the legislative purpose. The purpose of the Act is to impose ceiling on vacant land, for the acquisition of land in excess of the ceiling limit thereby to regulate construction on such lands, to prevent concentration of urban lands in hands of few persons, so as to bring about equitable distribution. For achieving that object, various procedures have to be followed for acquisition and vesting. When we look at those words in the above setting and the provisions to follow such as sub-sections (5) and (6) of Section 10, the words "acquired" and "vested" have different meaning and content. Under Section 10(3), what is vested is de jure possession not de facto, for more reasons than one because we are testing the expression on a statutory hypothesis and such an hypothesis can be carried only to the extent necessary to achieve the legislative intent.

Voluntary surrender

31. The "vesting" in sub-section (3) of Section 10, in our view, means vesting of title absolutely and not possession though nothing stands in the way of a person voluntarily surrendering or delivering possession. The Court in Maharaj Singh v. State of U.P.13, while interpreting Section 117(1) of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 held that "vesting" is a word of slippery import and has many meaning and the context controls the text and the purpose and scheme project the particular semantic shade or nuance of meaning. The Court in Rajendra Kumar v. Kalyan14 held as follows: (SCC p. 114, para 28)

"28. ...We do find some contentious substance in the contextual facts, since vesting shall have to be a "vesting" certain. 'To "vest", generally means to give a property in.' (Per Brett, L.J. Coverdale v. Charlton15 : Stroud's Judicial Dictionary, 5th Edn. Vol. VI.) Vesting in favour of the unborn person and in the contextual facts on the basis of a subsequent adoption after about 50 years without any authorization cannot however but be termed to be a contingent event. To 'vest', cannot be termed to be an executor devise. Be it noted however, that 'vested' does not necessarily and always mean 'vest in possession' but includes 'vest in interest' as well."

32. We are of the view that so far as the present case is concerned, the word "vesting" takes in every interest in the property including de jure possession and, not de facto but it is always open to a person to voluntarily surrender and deliver possession, under Section 10(3) of the Act.

33. Before we examine sub-section (5) and sub-section (6) of Section 10, let us examine the meaning of sub-section (4) of Section 10 of the Act, which says that during the period commencing on the date of publication under sub-section (1), ending with the day specified in the declaration made under sub-section (3), no person shall transfer by way of sale, mortgage, gift or otherwise, any excess vacant land, specified in the notification and any such transfer made in contravention of the Act shall be deemed to be null and void. Further, it also says that no person shall alter or cause to be altered the use of such excess vacant land. Therefore, from the date of publication of the notification under sub-section (1) and ending with the date specified in the declaration made in sub-section (3), there is no question of disturbing the possession of a person, the possession, therefore, continues to be with the holder of the land.

Peaceful dispossession

34. Sub-section (5) of Section 10, for the first time, speaks of "possession" which says where any land is vested in the State Government under sub-section (3) of Section 10, the competent authority may, by notice in writing, order any person, who may be in possession of it to surrender or transfer possession to the State Government or to any other person, duly authorized by the State Government.

35. If de facto possession has already passed on to the State Government by the two deeming provisions under sub-section (3) to Section 10, there is no necessity of using the expression "where any land is vested" under sub-section (5) to Section 10. Surrendering or transfer of possession under sub-section (3) to Section 10 can be voluntary so that the person may get the compensation as provided under Section 11 of the Act early. Once there is no voluntary surrender or delivery of possession, necessarily the State Government has to issue notice in writing under sub-section (5) to Section 10 to surrender or deliver possession. Sub-section (5) of Section 10 visualizes a situation of surrendering and delivering possession, peacefully while sub-section (6) of Section 10 contemplates a situation of forceful dispossession."

24. The case of Hari Ram (supra) was followed by the Supreme Court in the case of Gajanan Kamlya v. Addl. Collector & Comp. Auth.& Ors. JT 2014 (3) SC 211. The relevant part of the judgment is extracted below:

"13. We have, therefore, clearly indicated that it was always open to the authorities to take forcible possession and, in fact, in the notice issued under Section 10(5) of the ULC Act, it was stated that if the possession had not been surrendered, possession would be taken by application of necessary force. For taking forcible possession, certain procedures had to be followed. Respondents have no case that such procedures were followed and forcible possession was taken. Further, there is nothing to show that the Respondents had taken peaceful possession, nor there is anything to show that the Appellants had given voluntary possession. Facts would clearly indicate that only de jure possession had been taken by the Respondents and not de facto possession before coming into force of the repeal of the Act. Since there is nothing to show that de facto possession had been taken from the Appellants prior to the execution of the possession receipt in favour of MRDA, it cannot hold on to the lands in question, which are legally owned and possessed by the Appellants. Consequently, we are inclined to allow this appeal and quash the notice dated 17.2.2005 and subsequent action taken therein in view of the repeal of the ULC Act. The above reasoning would apply in respect of other appeals as well and all proceedings initiated against the Appellants, therefore, would stand quashed."

25. In Special Leave Petition (C) No.17799 of 2015, which was also taken up with Special Leave Petition (C) No. 38922 of 2013, State of U.P. and another v. Vinod Kumar Tripathi and others, vide order dated 19th January, 2016 the Supreme Court has held as under:

"As could be seen from the original record, possession of the land in question is taken neither by the competent authority or his authorised representative by following the procedure as laid down under Section 10(5) and Section 10(6) of the Urban Land (Ceiling & Regulation) Act, 1976 (now repealed), therefore, the impugned order cannot be interfered. Hence, the special leave petition is liable to be dismissed and is hereby dismissed accordingly."

26. This Court in State of Uttar Pradesh and another v. Nek Singh 2010 LawSuit (All) 3581, has considered extensively the procedure which has to be followed for taking possession from the land holder. The relevant paragraph of the judgment reads as under:

"9. Otherwise also, the statutory benefit of the Repealing Act is also available to the landholder-respondent in the fact-situation of the matter, as the taking of the "possession" in the present case was neither de jure nor de facto. The term "possession" as per sections 3 and 4 of the Repealing Act and section 10(6) of the U.L.C.R Act means and implies the lawful "possession" after "due compliance of the statutory provisions". In State of U.P v. Boon Udhyog (P) Ltd. . 1999 4 AWC 3324 para 16, a Division Bench of this Court has held that where possession has been taken, its legality is to be decided on merits. Similarly, another Division Bench of this Court in State of U.P v. Hari Ram . 2005 60 ALR 535., has held that "in case possession is purported to be taken under section 10(6) of the Act, still Court is required to examine whether "taking of such possession' is valid or invalidated on any of the considerations in law. If Court finds that one or more grounds exist which show that the process of possession, though claimed under section 10(5) or 10(6) of the Act is unlawful or vitiated in law, then such possession will have no reorganization in law and it will have to be ignored and treated as of no legal consequence". On examination of the facts on record, it is crystal clear that the possession allegedly taken on 23.1.1986 was unlawful for plurality of reasons which are--Firstly, the possession allegedly taken on 23.1.1986 was pursuant to the CA's order dated 19.12.1985 under section 10(5) which was addressed to deceased Dhan Singh and, therefore, it was nullity and non est factum having no legal consequence and the possession taken on the basis was also void. Secondly, as per the Government Order dated 9.2.1977 issued by the State Government (filed with Supplementary Counter Affidavit and taken on record), the Collector was alone authorised under section 10(6) of the U.L.C.R Act to take possession on behalf of the State Government, but in the instant case, the possession was taken by the Tehsil officials and not by the Collector or the Additional Collector or by the Competent Authority himself. The Collector could not have delegated his authority to anyone else as a delegate could not have further delegated in view of the maxim--Delegatus non potest delegare. As such, the taking of possession by the Tehsil Officials was per se illegal being not as per the authorisation dated 9.2.1977 and, therefore, had no consequences. Thirdly, the possession was taken on 23.1.1986, while the alleged affixation of the order dated 19.12.1985 under section 10(5) of the U.L.C.R Act was made on 9.1.1986 by the process-server and, as such, the possession was taken on 23.1.1986 only after the expiry of 14 days instead of the statutory period of 30 days as enjoined in section 10(5) of the U.L.C.R Act. Fourthly, the possession certificate (Annexure-7 to the WP) did not mention the factum of "taking' possession, and it merely stated the factum of the transfer of possession to the State Government. Needless to say that unless the possession was first "taken', the same could not have been "transferred' to the State Government. The plain reading of the possession certificate does not show taking of possession from the occupants and, therefore, it cannot be termed as a possession certificate under section 10(6). Fifthly, the stand of the State Government before the Appellate Authority was that the State Government has "taken over only symbolic possession over the plots in question and the same cannot be treated physical possession". If it be so, then also, it would not be deemed to be "possession" within the meaning of section 10(6) of the U.L.C.R Act which meant actual and physical possession and not symbolic one."

27. The similar view has also been expressed by this Court in Ram Singh v. State of U.P. and others 2013 (7) ADJ 662 (DB). The relevant part of the judgment is extracted below:

"36. It is a matter of common notice and also matter of record that large number of cases which earlier came before this court and were decided and even at present also on getting the record it is clear that proceedings are either without any notice on the land holders or after the notice to the dead person or after the notice but not the proper service stating the name of the witnesses and their details and in most of the cases proceedings did not progress after the notice under Section 10(5) of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act 1976 and if there is notice under Section 10(6) of the Act it again do not contain proper service with the name/identity of the witnesses. For taking Dakhal document demonstrates the authority signing the paper is not competent. The emphasis on the word 'actual physical possession' has some special meaning and thus that rules out the paper possession and it is for this reason it has been said that mere entry will not reflect taking of actual physical possession."*

28. In the case of State of U.P. Thru Secy Avas Avam Shahri Niyojan v. Ruknuddin and others (Writ-C No. 54830 of 2011, decided on 03.10.2018: LawSuit(All) 3470), the Court has observed as under :

"We having gone through the records and we find that the possession memo which was prepared on 22/23.03.1998, no where indicates as to how possession was taken and what is the name of witness in whose presence such possession was taken. There is no name indicated in the writ petition filed by the State or even in the rejoinder affidavit. The name of the Lekhpal in whose presence the alleged possession is said to have been taken has not been mentioned and the printed proforma of the possession memo is blank to that effect. The question as to how the factum of taking actual physical possession has been established by the State was discussed by a Division Bench in the case of Mohd. Islam & 3 Others Vs. State of U.P. in Writ Petition No. 15864 of 2015 decided on 4th December, 2017. The said decision was quoted with approval by a Division Bench in the case of Rati Ram Vs. State of U.P. & Others 2018 (4) ALJ 338 paragraph no. 8 as follows:-

"8. The 'Dakhalnama' a certified copy whereof has been produced before us does not even bear the signatures of any attesting witness. We find this to be a lapse and patent illegality the benefit whereof has to be given to the land holder in view of the Division Bench judgment in the case of Mohd. Islam and 3 others v. State of U.P. and 2 others, Writ Petition No. 15864 of 2015 decided on 4th December, 2017. It was also a case of District-Saharanpur. We extract paragraph Nos. 44 to 47 of the said judgment which are as under:

"44. Since, in the present case, neither factum of taking actual physical possession by Competent Authority under Ceiling Act has been fortified by placing any document nor factum of possession of Development Authority at any point of time has been shown, therefore, argument advanced by learned Standing Counsel on the basis of State of Assam (supra) will not help.

45. Viewed from the above exposition of law we find in the present case that no such exercise of issuing notice under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976 and thereafter execution of memo on the spot had taken place which is mandatory for ceiling authorities as admittedly the original tenure-holder and then his successors had never voluntarily surrendered the possession of land. In the absence of voluntary surrender of possession of surplus land, the authorities were required to proceed with forcible possession. The document of possession memo would not by itself evidence the actual taking of possession unless it is witnessed by two independent persons acknowledging the act of forcible possession. As discussed above in the earlier part of this judgment we are not able to accept the alleged possession memo worth calling a document as such in the absence of certain requisites, nor does it bear the details of witnesses who signed the document. It bears mainly signatures of Chackbandi Lekhpal, a person taking possession and then the document has been directed to be kept on file. This is no way of taking forcible possession nor, a document worth calling possession memo. A mere issuance of notification under Section 10(3) and notice under Section 10(5) regarding delivery of possession does not amount to actual delivery of possession of land more especially in the face of the fact that the tenureholder had in fact not voluntarily made surrender of possession of surplus land and no proceeding under Section 10(6) had taken place.

46. Since, we have held that possession memo dated 20.06.1993 is not a possession memo and is a void document for want of necessary compliance under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976, the petitioners are entitled to the benefit under Section 4 of the Repeal Act, 1999 that came into force w.e.f. 20.03.1999.

47. We may also place on record that respondents claim that possession of land in question was handed over to Saharanpur Development Authority pursuant to Government Order dated 29.12.1984 but here also we find that no material has been placed on record to show that any such actual physical possession was handed over to Saharanpur Development Authority and the said authority is in de facto possession of land in dispute. Except bare averment made in the counter-affidavit respondent have not chosen to place anything on record to support the stand that de facto possession over land in dispute is that of Saharanpur Development Authority. Therefore even this stand has no legs to stand and is rejected."

29. The decisions in the case of Bhaskar Jyoti Sarma (2015) 5 SCC 321 and a Division Bench of this Court in Shiv Ram Singh 2015 (5) AWC 4918 have been relied upon by the learned standing counsel. Both the judgments have been considered by a Division Bench of this Court in the case of Mohammad Suaif and another v. State of U.P. and others 2019 (5) ADJ 764 (DB) and Lalji (supra).

30. The case of Shiv Ram Singh (supra), the petitioner therein had challenged the order passed by the District Magistrate holding that the possession of the land declared surplus has been taken on 25th June, 1993, much before Repeal Act came into force. Hence, it was found that he was not entitled to the benefit of the provisions of Section 3 (2) of the Repeal Act. In the said case, the notice under Section 10(1) was issued on 15th May, 1985, thereafter on 02nd June, 1986 a notification under Section 10(3) was issued and published in the official gazette, and on 25th February, 1987 a notice under Section 10(5) of the Act, 1976 was issued. The respondents-State had taken a stand that the possession was taken on 25th June, 1993 pursuant to the notice dated 25th February, 1987 i.e. prior to enforcement of the Repeal Act and in the revenue record the name of the State was mutated. The petitioner therein had earlier approached the Court by means of Writ Petition No. 47279 of 2002 claiming that he is still in possession over the land which was declared surplus, hence after the Repeal Act the possession cannot be taken over from him. The said writ petition was disposed of by this Court by issuing a direction upon the District Magistrate to consider his representation. The District Magistrate, after furnishing opportunity to the petitioner, by an order dated 10th May, 2007 held that the possession has already been taken on 25th June, 1983, hence the petitioner would not be entitled to the benefit of the Repeal Act. The petitioner challenged the said order of the District Magistrate after two years in July, 2009. In the meantime in the year 2008 the construction of a Sewage Treatment Plant (STP) for treating 210 MLD of sewage was commenced. The Jal Nigam, in whose favour the land was transferred, filed a counter affidavit in the said writ petition and took the stand that by the time the writ petition was filed, nearly 65% of the work had been completed at a cost of Rs.73 crores and the petitioner was fully aware of the said facts but he did not file the writ petition for two years. In the light of those peculiar facts the Court did not interfere. Moreover, the Court has also found that the procedure for taking possession was followed by the administration. The District Magistrate after affording opportunity to the petitioner has recorded a finding that the possession was taken on 25th June, 1993.

31. We have carefully gone through the judgment of Shiv Ram Singh (supra) and we find that the said judgment is distinguishable for the reasons recorded above.

32. In the case of Bhaskar Jyoti Sarma (supra) the land owner has not denied the fact that possession was taken from him by the State before enactment of the Repeal Act. In view of the admitted fact the Supreme Court refused to examine the matter that whether the possession was taken forcefully or illegally. Once possession was taken by the State and land vested in the State Government, the benefit of Section 4 of the Repeal Act shall not be applicable. Hence, the said case is distinguishable as in the present case the main issue raised by the petitioners is that they are still in physical possession and the State has never taken possession from them.

33. Keeping in the mind the principle laid down by the Supreme Court and this Court, as indicated in the authorities referred herein-before, we find that in the counter affidavit the State has taken a very general and vague stand about the possession. In Paragraph-3 of the counter affidavit of the State the only averment made in this regard is that the notice under Section 10(5) of the Act, 1976 was issued on 27.01.1994. It is also averred therein that "thereafter the State Government obtained possession on the surplus vacant land of 8246.00 square meters on 27.03.1998, the possession was obtained in accordance with law". It is not mentioned in the counter affidavit that the petitioners have given voluntary possession after receiving the notice under Section 10(5) of the Act, 1976. From the original record it was evident that there was no material to show that the petitioners have given voluntary possession to the State authorities after receiving the notice under Section 10(5). If they had not given the voluntary possession then the only course open to the authorities was to take forceful possession under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976. There is no material on the record or averment made in the counter affidavit to show that the forceful possession was taken from the petitioners under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976. In the counter affidavit filed on behalf of the State, the name of the officer, who has taken the possession, is not disclosed.

34. In addition to above, as discussed above, there is no material on the record to demonstrate that actual possession was handed over to the Saharanpur Development Authority except a Dakhalnama wherein the land has been shown to be agricultural land. But except bald statement no other material is on the record to show that any construction has been made. In any view of the matter, if the possession has not been taken in terms of Sections 10(5) and 10(6) of the Act, 1976, the petitioners are entitled for the benefit under Sections 3 and 4 of the Repeal Act.

35. In view of the above, we find that the physical possession of the land in question was never taken from the petitioners. They are still in physical possession over the land in question. For all the reasons stated above, we find that the ceiling proceedings stood lapsed and the petitioners are entitled for the land in question which has been declared surplus.

36. With the aforesaid observations and directions, the writ petition is allowed.

37. No order as to costs.

A. Nazul - defined - historic evolution - Article 296 of the Indian Constitution - power of State Government or Union of India to get ownership of land which will come to it by way of 'escheat', 'lapse' or 'bona vacantia' and not by way of acquisition of land under some Statute or purchase etc.

The 'Nazul' land forms the assets owned by State in trust for the people in general who are entitled for its user in the most fair and beneficial manner for their benefit. (Para 54) legislature is almost pari materia with the only addition that in State of U.P., U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 are also excluded in the same manner as was done in respect of Transfer of Property Act, 1882. (Para 68)

Entire lease deed shows that if premises is assigned, within one calendar month, a notice was to be given to Collector giving details of persons but in case of any non observance or breach, it was lawful for Lessor to enter upon demised premises. (Para 86)

That after 30th June, 1932 i.e. expiry of first term of lease, there was no renewal of term of lease at all. Therefore, rights of the petitioner ceased after expiry of lease on 30.06.1932. (Para 87)

In fact, the initial lease commenced on 01.07.1902, the period of 90 years lapsed on 30.6.1992. If renewal would have been allowed, even then no lease to lessees could have been granted for period subsequent to 30.6.1992 since maximum period of lease including two renewals was 90 years. Thus, petitioners had no legal right whatsoever over property in dispute in any manner after 30.6.1932 and, in any case, after 30.6.1992. (Para 89)

C. Transfer of Property Act, 1882 - Section 106 - once the lease stood determined by efflux of time(stand expired), there is no necessity to issue quit notice - status of lessee is that of 'tenant at sufferance' i.e., one who wrongfully continues in possession after extinction of lawful title - section 116 is not applicable.

B. Government Grants Act, 1985 - Section 2 and 3 - any grant or transfer of land or of any interest, as the case may be, excludes applicability of Transfer of Property Act, 1882, for all purposes - therefore, 'Grant' of a Nazul will be governed by terms and conditions contained in the instrument/deed of Grant, wholly unaffected by any Statute providing otherwise - Grant includes 'lease'.

After the U.P. Amendment Act, 1960, Section 2 and 3 got amalgamated in Section 2 of Government Grants (U.P. Amendment) Act, 1960. The intent, effect and declaration by

D. Resumption of land - State is empowered to resume/re-enter Nazul land at any time, more so for public purpose.

1. Writ Petition No. 14201 of 2014 (hereinafter referred to as "WP-1") has been filed by eight petitioners i.e. Smt. Anarkali wife of (late) Hari Shanker; Brijesh Patel, Rajesh Patel and Akhilesh Patel, all sons of (late) Hari Shanker; Smt. Urmila Patel wife of (late) Shiv Shanker, Himanshu Patel, Sudhanshu Patel and Divyanshu Patel (minor) all sons of (late) Shiv Shanker, with a prayer to issue a writ of certiorari to quash order dated 14.06.2012 (Annexure-14 to the writ petition) whereby petitioners' application for conversion of Nazul land in dispute into freehold has been rejected by District Magistrate, Allahabad. Petitioners have also prayed for issue of a writ of mandamus commanding District Magistrate, Allahabad to freehold Bungalow No. 23/29 (New No. 85/29), R-Naseebpur, Bakhtiyara, Clive Road, Allahabad (Area 5050 square meters).

2. Writ Petition No. 34702 of 2018 (hereinafter referred to as "WP-2") has been filed by a Housing Society namely, "Ravi Sahkari Avas Samiti Limited" through its Secretary, Ravi Kumar (hereinafter referred to as "R.S.A.Society"), praying for issue of a writ of certiorari to quash notice/order dated 06.09.2018 (Annexure-1 to the WP-2) allotting land in dispute i.e. Nazul Land R-Naseebpur, Bakhtiyara, Bungalow No.

23, Clive Road and Bungalow No. 19 Muir Road, Allahabad, Area 4 acres, 3 roods, 21 poles to "Allahabad Development Authority" (hereinafter referred to as "ADA") for construction of affordable houses for weaker section under "Pradhan Mantri Avas Yojana (Urban)".

3. Writ Petition No.37541 of 2018 (hereinafter referred to as "WP-3") has been filed by petitioners of WP-1 except Rajesh Patel, who has died in the meanwhile and therefore, has been substituted and replaced by his wife Smt. Suman Patel and minor son Master Aditya. Therefore, in all, there are nine petitioners namely Smt. Anarkali wife of (late) Hari Shanker; Brijesh Patel and Akhilesh Patel, both sons of (late) Hari Shanker; Smt. Suman Patel wife of (late) Rajesh Patel; Master Aditya (minor) through his mother Suman Patel as natural guardian; Smt. Urmila Patel wife of (late) Shiv Shanker, Himanshu Patel, Sudhanshu Patel and Divyanshu Patel all sons of (late) Shiv Shanker. They have prayed for issue of a writ of certiorari to quash order dated 06.09.2018 in respect of Nazul Plot No.R Naseebpur Bakhtiyara, Bungalow No.23 and Bungalow No.19, Muir Road, Allahabad, area 4 acres, 3 roods, 21 poles, which has also been challenged by R.S.A.Society in WP-2. Therefore, order challenged in WP-2 and WP-3 is the same. Petitioners in WP-3 have further sought a writ of mandamus restraining respondents 2 to 4 from evicting petitioners from property situate at R-Naseebpur Bakhtiyara, Bungalow No.23 and Bungalow No.19, Muir Road, Allahabad. Petitioners of WP-2 claimed their interest in half of the aforesaid disputed property though claim of petitioner in WP-2 has been disputed by petitioners of WP-3 on the ground that petitioners in WP-2 have no right over property in dispute at all.

4. Since all these writ petitions relate to same Nazul plot/land, we have heard all these matters together and are deciding the same by this common judgement. Before dealing with the issues raised by learned counsel for parties, it would be appropriate to refer relevant facts of these three writ petitions separately.

Writ Petition No. 14201 of 2014 (WP-1)

5. Dispute relates to Bungalow No. 21, Clive Road, Allahabad (renumbered by Nagar Nigam, Allahabad as 23, Clive Road and later on as 29, Clive Road).

6. Secretary of State for India in Council through Collector, Allahabad executed a lease deed registered on 06.11.1902 in favour of Sri Sahai son of Sri Sheo Din (Kurmi), resident of village Rajapur, Allahabad in respect of Nazul Plot, measuring 4 acres 3 rods 21 poles, situate at Naseebpur Bakhtiyara alias Chikatpur, Allahabad for a period of 30 years, commencing from 01.07.1902, on an yearly rent of Rs. 146 and 8 annas. Lease was renewable for two terms of 30 years each, and total term not to exceed 90 years. A partition suit was filed by one Prithvi Pal son of Mahavir being Suit No. 81 of 1974 in the Court of Civil Judge, Allahabad impleading Asharfi Lal son of Mewa Lal; Mrs. Shanti Devi daughter of Mewa Lal; Mrs. Ganeshia wife of Mewa Lal; Moti Lal son of Mewa Lal and Raja Ram son of Pitamber Lal as defendants-1 to 5 claiming that he has four and half annas share out of six annas i.e. 3/4 share of property in dispute i.e. Bungalow No. 23A (new number 29, Clive Road, Allahabad) and the said property be partitioned and separate possession be given to plaintiff. Suit stood decreed in terms of a compromise entered between the parties, vide judgment dated 04.04.1977 and decree dated 31.08.1977. As a result of compromise decree, name of predecessors in interest, Mewa Lal and Raja Ram was recorded in respect of Bungalow No. 23A/29A, Clive Road, Allahabad (new number 85A/25A-1, Clive Road) and petitioners have no concern with the same. Petitioners' name was recorded in respect of Bungalow No. 23/29, Clive Road, Allahabad (new number 85/29, Clive Road, Allahabad). It is also said that earlier, sons and grand-sons of Sri Sahai went in a litigation, a partition suit being Suit No. 51 of 1916 in the Court of Sub-Judge, Allahabad. In the aforesaid suit, Smt. Pargasi widow of Mahavir was also impleaded as defendant-3. Petitioners claimed their succession from Pargasi, widow of Mahavir, who was allotted Bungalow No. 4, Beli Road, Allahabad in her share. After death of Sri Sahai (Kurmi), name of Smt. Pargasi was recorded as legal heir and after her death, Prithvi Pal Patel was declared as legal heir. Petitioners' submitted an application dated 24.04.2000 for freehold of Bungalow No. 85/29 Clive Road, Allahabad, area 5050 square meter in the light of Government Order (hereinafter referred to as 'G.O.') dated 01.12.1998. It was stated that lease had expired on 30.06.1992 whereafter application for renewal of lease was given but the same has not been disposed of.

7. One Smt. Suraj Kali filed Writ Petition No. 31358 of 2009 for a direction to decide representation dated 29.05.2009. Writ petition was subsequently dismissed as not pressed on 16.06.2009. Petitioners then filed Writ Petition No. 21011 of 2012 seeking a direction to District Magistrate, Allahabad to decide freehold application dated 24.04.2000. This writ petition was disposed of on 01.05.2012 giving direction to District Magistrate to take a decision on petitioner's aforesaid application. Ultimately, vide order dated 14.06.2012 (Annexure-14 to the writ petition), District Magistrate rejected application dated 24.04.2000 and representation dated 08.05.2012. Petitioners then filed recall application dated 09.07.2012 seeking recall of exparte order dated 14.06.2012 but nothing has been done thereon, hence, W.P.-1 has been filed challenging aforesaid order dated 14.06.2012.

8. Impugned order has been challenged on the ground that it is exparte order; no opportunity was given to petitioners; G.Os. with regard to freehold were not followed; in the Master Plan, land use was shown as 'Commercial' and to treat disputed land as 'Residential' is erroneous and decision of Collector is arbitrary, shows non application of mind and unfair. Reliance has been placed on a Division Bench decision of this Court in Sangam Upniveshan Avas Evam Nirman Sahkari Samiti Ltd. vs. State of U.P. and Others 2018 (7) ADJ 617 (DB).

9. A counter affidavit has been filed by respondents sworn by Sri Rajesh Kumar Rai, Additional District Magistrate (Nazul), Allahabad. It is said that Plot No. R-Naseebpur, Bakhtiyara, Allahabad, area 4 acres 3 roods 2 poles (i.e. 19731.96 square metre) is a 'Nazul land'. Lease deed was executed on 11.10.1902 in favour of Sri Sahai (kurmi) sons of Sheo Din for a period of 30 years, with effect from 01.07.1902. The initial period of lease was subject to renewal twice of 30 years each and a total period, not more than 90 years. Initial tenure of lease expired on 30.06.1932. Thus, taking maximum period of lease it would have expired on 30.06.1992. In Nazul Register, names of Mewa Lal, Raja Ram, grand-sons of Sri Sahai (Kurmi) and sons of Pitamber as well as Smt. Pargasi, daughter-in-law of Pitamber, Jokhu another son of original lessee, i.e., Sri Sahai (Kurmi) and Baijnath, grandson of Sri Sahai (Kurmi) and son of Jokhu were recorded. Later on, half portion of disputed land was shown in the name of U.P. Agricultural Credit Bank (hereinafter referred to as "U.P.A.C. Bank"). The family tree of Sri Sahai Kurmi is as under:

10. As per record Sri Baijnath, grand-son of Sri Sahai (Kurmi) created mortgage over disputed Nazul land, which came into his share, in favour of U.P.A.C. Bank. He failed to pay loan whereupon recovery suit was filed by U.P.A.C.Bank and in execution sale, U.P.A.C.Bank itself purchased that part of disputed Nazul land on 04.09.1943. Possession was delivered to U.P.A.C.Bank on 04.05.1946. This is evident from the judgment dated 05.10.1961 of this Court passed in Second Appeal No. 2189 of 1951, U.P. Agricultural Credit Bank Limited versus Baij Nath and 2 Others. After expiry of first term of lease in 1932, no application for renewal of lease was given by anyone. The partition suits, referred to in writ petition, are not concerned with respondents since State of U.P. and its authorities were not party, either in Suit No. 51 of 1916 or 81 of 1974. Moreover, parties to the suit did not own land. The only right, at the best they could have, was lease right, which also expired on 30.6.1932. Hence, there could not have been any division or partition of ownership of land in dispute. Petitioner and other heirs of original lessee committed breach of conditions of lease, inasmuch as, they raised construction of non-residential buildings on disputed land, hence, an order was passed by Collector, Allahabad on 24.09.1992 (Annexure CA-3) directing Mukhya Nagar Adhikari, Nagar Mahapalika, Allahabad to enter the name of State Government in 'Nazul Register' and take appropriate action for possession of entire land from unauthorized occupants. Order dated 24.09.1992 was challenged by Smt. Ram Dulari wife of Prithvi Pal in Writ Petition No. 36227 of 1992 seeking following reliefs:-

"i. issue a writ order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned notice dated 18.2.1992 as issued by the respondent no. 2 (Annexure-4), the impugned order passed by the respondent no. 2 dated 24.9.1992 (Annexure-6) the news item as published in Nav Bharat Times dated 2.10.1992 (Annexure-7) and the entire proceedings consequent upon the notice dated 18.2.1992 (Annexure-4) in respect to the property situated over Plot No. 'R' of village Naseebpur, Bakthiara Pargana Chail, District Allahabad, known as 19 Muir Road 23

ii. issue a writ order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent no. 2 to consider the petitioners application for renewal of lease dated 17.9.1990 (Annexure-2) in accordance with law.

iii. issue any other alternative and suitable writ order or direction as this Hon'ble Court may deem fit and proper in the circumstances of the case.

iv. award costs of the petitioner throughout to the petitioners."

11. Writ Petition was ultimately dismissed as not pressed, vide Court's order dated 22.11.1999. In the aforesaid writ petition, wife, sons and daughters of Prithvi Pal were petitioners and besides State of U.P., District Magistrate, Allahabad and Others, Asharfi Lal and Moti Lal, sons of Mewa Lal, and Raja Ram son of Pitamber were impleaded as respondents. As a result of dismissal of writ petition, order dated 24.09.1992 attained finality in respect of those petitioners and in respect of others also since they did not challenge the said order.

12. Later on, Smt. Suraj Kali claiming herself to be legal heir of Sri Sahai (kurmi), filed Writ Petition No. 31358 of 2009 seeking a direction for deciding her claim for freehold rights of land in dispute and therein present petitioners were impleaded as respondents-5 to 9. Suraj Kali pleaded that they (respondents 5-9) were not entitled to have any right over disputed plot. Aforesaid writ petition was also dismissed as not pressed.

13. Collector thereafter examined claim of petitioners for freehold and passed a detailed order holding that they were not entitled for freehold, in the facts stated above. Opposing the writ petition, it is said in the counter affidavit that petitioners are not entitled for grant of freehold for following reasons:-

"(a) the concerned lease deed dated 11.10.1902 has already been rescinded/ cancelled by the order dated 24.09.1992, and the name of the State of Uttar Pradesh has been re-entered, and thus, the petitioners could/cannot be treated to have entered into the shoes of the aforementioned "Sri Sahai Kurmi" (original lessee) in any manner whatsoever qua the disputed plot.

Without prejudice to the aforesaid, even otherwise,

(b) the petitioners could/ cannot be treated to be the exclusive owners of the said specific portion of the disputed-plot for which, the application was submitted by the petitioners for the grant of free-hold rights.

As stated hereinbefore, no reliance could/ can be placed upon the partition decree passed in the aforementioned Suit No. 81 of 1974 on account of the reasons mentioned hereinbefore, and thus, without prejudice, if there has been any right upon the disputed-plot of t he heirs of the said "Sri Sahai Kurmi" then the same has been equally of all the surviving heirs of the said "Sri Sahai Kurmi" since all of them, if entered, then jointly, entered into the shoes of the said "Sri Sahai Kurmi", and thus, the petitioners should have submitted that consent of all the remaining surviving heirs of "Sri Sahai Kurmi" for the purpose of grant of free-hold rights in favour of the petitioners upon the particular/ specific portion of the disputed plot for which the concerned application for the grant of free hold rights upon the disputed plot was filed by the petitioners;

Without prejudice to the aforesaid, even otherwise,

(c) the unauthorized constructions without the permission of the Answering-Respondent No. 2 that too for the commercial purposes, have been raised upon the disputed-plot, and thus, the petitioners have violated the terms of the said lease-deed *and as per the report of the Nagar Nigam, Allahabad, the "*land use" of the disputed-plot in the Master-Plan during the relevant period was residential and the said violation could not be treated to have been waived by the State Government, particularly at the time of the submissions of the application by the petitioners for the grant of free-hold rights upon the disputed plot;

Without prejudice to the aforesaid, even otherwise,

(d) in view of the averments made in the said Writ Petition No. 31358 of 2009, it is evident that all the surviving heirs of the said "Sri Sahai Kurmi" have not come/ reached upon an amicable settlement with regard to the grant of free-hold rights upon the disputed plot, and thus, the petitioners are not entitled for the free hold rights upon the disputed plot in this view of the matter."

14. A rejoinder affidavit has been filed stating that on 17.09.1990, application for renewal of lease was submitted. Alleging that lease was not got renewed; unauthorized construction has been made and possession has been given to unauthorized persons, a show-cause notice was given by District Magistrate, Allahabad to petitioners and other legal heirs of original lessee on 18.02.1992. Petitioners submitted reply on 02.03.1992. In the meantime, in respect of Bungalow No. 19, Muir Road, Allahabad, R.S.A.Society claiming its own right over disputed Nazul land, filed Writ Petition No. 26876 of 1993 wherein this Court made an observation that matter may be examined by competent authority and subject to such observation, writ petition was dismissed. The order passed by this Court on 05.02.2009 reads as under:-

"Having heard Sri Rahul Sripat learned counsel for the petitioner at some length and after going through the record we find that lease deed was executed in the year 1902 for 30 years in favour of original lessee, who transferred the same in favour of the company namely U.P. Agriculture Credit Bank Limited. The company did not get lease renewed after 30 years and continued in possession. The company went in liquidation proceeding and the property in dispute so leased to the original lessee and sold to the company was sold in liquidation proceeding. Since the lease was not renewed in favour of the company, therefore, right of the purchaser from the company i.e. right of the vendor and the right of the petitioner vendee was subject to renewal of the lease. Therefore no writ of mandamus can be issued for renewal of the lease after such a long gap. In our opinion the initial order of Collector, Allahabad was by way of mistake which was corrected by him by withdrawing the said order. Thus the position emerges that the terms of the lease has already expired and the petitioner has no right to claim writ of mandamus from this Court. However, it is open to the petitioner to approach the State Government for grant of fresh lease under the Government Grant Act.

Considering the entire facts of the case and taking into account the fact that the petitioner has paid consideration for purchasing the land from the company in liquidation proceeding and in the liquidation proceeding the Government did not raise any objection that it cannot be sold in liquidation proceeding as lease was not renewed in favour of the company. Therefore the State Government is otherwise stopped from taking such an objection as the doctrine of estoppel will directly come in the way.

In view of the above discussion the matter is relegated to the State government to pass a fresh order on merits after scrutinizing and examining the rival claims of the parties and material available on record. It may also consider the claim of Smt. Ram Dulari and others, who have filed impleadment application in the writ petition.

For the aforesaid reasons this writ petition is dismissed."

(Emphasis added)

15. In the meantime, it appears that a complaint was made by one Brijesh Patel and others to State Government whereupon State Government sought comments from District Magistrate, Allahabad who sent its report vide letter dated 26.11.2012. It was mentioned therein that Bungalow No. 19, Muir Road, Allahabad/ 21 Clive Road, Allahabad was never given in possession to Umeshwar Nath son of Harihar Nath as no such document was available on record. With regard to litigation between U.P.A.C. Bank and Jokhulal, it is said that petitioners were neither party in Suit No. 913 of 1946 nor in Civil Appeal No. 97 of 1950 nor in Second Appeal No. 2189 of 1991. It is also said that matter is pending for consideration before State Government pursuant to an order passed by this Court in Writ Petition No. 26876 of 1993. (We have already observed that this writ petition was dismissed on 05.02.2009). Predecessor in interest of petitioners constructed Bungalow over land of 21, Clive Road, R-Naseebpur, Bakhtiyara. The order cancelling lease deed was challenged by petitioners in Writ Petition No. 36227 of 1992 wherein an interim order was passed and matter is pending before State Government and petitioners were not entitled for freehold of land in dispute in the light of G.O. dated 28.01.2011 and G.O. dated 04.03.2014 is not applicable to petitioners.

Writ Petition No. 34702 of 2018 (WP-2)

16. The case set up by petitioner is that it is a Housing Society registered by U.P. Avas Evam Vikas Parishad under U.P. Cooperative Societies Act, 1965 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1965") vide Registration Certificate issued by Deputy Housing Commissioner/Sub-Registrar, U.P. Avas Evam Vikas Parishad, Lucknow on 11.02.1982 and has been renewed from time to time. Property in dispute was leased out to Sri Sahai son of Sri Sheo Din in 1902, for a period of 90 years, initially for 30 years and renewable for two terms of 30 years each. Partition suit between two sons of Sahai i.e. Pitamber and Jokhu resulted in property in dispute going to share of Jokhu. He got loan from U.P.A.C. Bank creating an equitable mortgage of Bungalow No. 19, Muir Road, Allahabad. Jokhu committed default in payment of dues. U.P.A.C. Bank filed Original Suit No. 173 of 1940 under Order XXXIV CPC for sale of Bungalow. Suit was decreed in favour of U.P.A.C.Bank vide decree dated 01.05.1946 and pursuant thereto, Bungalow was auctioned which was purchased by U.P.A.C.Bank itself and possession was taken by Bank on 01.05.1946. In the meantime, Baij Nath son of Jokhu filed suit for setting aside decree on the ground that mortgage was without legal necessity. Suit was dismissed whereagainst appeal was also dismissed by this Court. Thereafter, sale was confirmed and sale certificate dated 09.04.1946 was issued giving possession of Bungalow on 04.05.1946 to auction purchaser. Bank filed another Suit No. 913 of 1946 for recovery of certain dues from Baij Nath, which was decreed but Bank lost in Civil Appeal No. 97 of 1950 and then matter came to this Court in Second Appeal No. 2189 of 1951. This Court allowed appeal vide judgement dated 05.10.1961 and a decree of Rs. 3,100/- was passed with six per cent future interest against Baij Nath and Others. Name of U.P.A.C.Bank was entered in Nazul Register on half of the disputed Nazul land. The total area was 23600 square yards out of which 11800 square yards at Bungalow No. 19, Muir Road, Allahabad and remaining 11800 square yards at Bungalow No. 23, Clive Road, Allahabad. U.P.A.C.Bank underwent liquidation proceedings whereupon one Sridhar, Advocate was appointed as Liquidator vide Court's order dated 11.09.1958. U.P.A.C.Bank had two Directors namely, Harihar Nath and his wife Malti Devi who resolved in the meeting that assets of U.P.A.C.Bank may be disposed of by transferring Bungalow No. 19, Muir Road, Allahabad to Sri Umeshwar Nath son of Harihar Nath. Information of said transfer was given to official Liquidator. U.P.A.C.Bank was ultimately dissolved on 23.05.1960. Umeshwar Nath son of Harihar Nath executed sale-deed of disputed property i.e. Bungalow No. 19, Muir Road, Allahabad on 06.02.1989 in favour of petitioner and intimation was also given to Collector, Allahabad vide letter dated 07.04.1989. Lease deed of 1902 was an intimated lease. Additional District Magistrate, Allahabad approved renewal of lease in favour of petitioner and communicated to Mukhya Nagar Adhikari, Nagar Mahapalika, Allahabad vide letter dated 24.07.1993 directing it to prepare requisite document for registration of lease deed. A similar direction was also given vide letter dated 31.07.1993. Vide letter dated 04.08.1993, In-charge Adhikari (Nazul) required petitioner to deposit lease rent. Since lease deed was not executed, petitioner approached this Court in Writ Petition No. 26876 of 1993. Thereafter, respondent-2 withdrew earlier order vide order dated 09.09.1993. The order dated 09.09.1993 was also challenged in above writ petition by way of amendment. Subject to certain observations, the writ petition was ultimately dismissed vide judgement dated 05.02.2009. Though in writ petition, para-34, petitioner has said that writ petition was disposed of but in fact it was dismissed.

17. Petitioner also filed a review application which was disposed of vide order dated 30.03.2009 and order reads as under:-

"This is an application for review/recall of the order dated 5th February, 2009.

Having heard learned counsel for the petitioners as well as learned counsel for the respondents, we are of the opinion that the order does not require any review, except slight modification to the extent that the State Government shall not be influenced by any observation or any fact record in the order.

In this view of the matter, the review/ recall application is finally disposed of."

18. Petitioner then made a representation to State Government vide letter dated 19.05.2009 whereafter vide letter dated 15.07.2016, respondent-1 relegated the matter to respondent-2 observing that on the subject in question it is respondent-2 who is competent authority to pass order. Thereafter, District Magistrate, Allahabad has passed impugned order which has been challenged on the ground that it is in violation of terms of lease deed, arbitrary, malicious, discriminatory and on various other grounds which we will discuss later on.

19. Respondents- 2 to 5 have filed a counter affidavit wherein execution of lease deed with effect from 01.07.1902 in favour of Sri Sahai son of Sheo Din in respect of disputed Nazul land is not disputed. It is said that lease came to an end on 30.06.1932. There was no attempt made by lessee to get it renewed. In terms of lease deed, lessee and his Executors, Administrators or Assignees liable to hand over land to State and now, in public interest, land in dispute is required by State for constructing residences for weaker sections under "Pradhan Mantri Avas Yojana" which is to be developed by ADA. Mortgage of land by Jokhu, over which he himself had no title and its further transfer without consent of owner is void ab initio and would not confer any right upon such transferee. Reliance is placed on State of U.P. and Others Vs. United Bank of India and Others 2016 (2) SCC 757. Petitioner had no right over property in dispute as petitioner is not a lessee, and all subsequent transactions from the stage of mortgage by Jokhu are wholly unauthorized, illegal and nullity. Reliance is placed on Smt. Shakira Khatoon Kazmi and Others Vs. State of U.P. and Others 2002(1) AWC 226 and Azim Ahmad Kazmi and Others Vs. State of U.P. and Others 2012 (7) SCC 278.

20. A rejoinder affidavit has been filed in which reliance has been placed on Repealing and Amending (Second) Act, 2017 (hereinafter referred to as "Repeal Act, 2017") repealing Government Grants Act, 1895 (hereinafter referred to as "GG Act, 1895") to counter the defence taken by respondents on the basis of terms of lease read with GG Act, 1895.

21. The facts in brief in WP-3 are that in 1902, lease of Bungalow No.21, Clive Road, Clive Road, R. Naseebpur Bakhtiyara (Nazul Land) was executed in favour of Sri Sahai son of Shiv Din (Kurmi) by Secretary of State for India in Council. Area of land was 4 acres 3 roods 21 poles. Initially, lease was granted for 30 years subject to renewal of 30 years each and maximum 90 years. Sri Sahai (Kurmi) died in 1915 leaving behind his widow Smt. Sumera and two sons namely Pitamber and Jokhu. Partition suit filed by Pitamber i.e. Suit No.51 of 1916 was decreed allotting a share of 5 anna 4 pai to Sumera and same share was allotted to Pitamber and Jokhu. Jokhu had only one son Baijnath. Baijnath, after the death of Jokhu, executed sale deed transferring his share to Smt. Pargasi wife of Mahavir Prasad (Kurmi). She constructed Bungalow no.19, Muir Road, Allahabad on the land purchased by her. Pitamber had three sons namely Mahavir, Rajaram and Mewalal. On 06.01.1930, Mewalal and Rajaram transferred their share in favour of Subratan, resident of Shahganj, Allahabad, who further transferred his said share to Pargasi and Prithvipal vide registered sale deed dated 20.09.1938.

22. On the basis of information received under Right to Information Act, 2005 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 2005") from the office of Land Record, petitioners found that Smt. Sumera widow of Sri Sahai (Kurmi) executed a Will on 14.02.1924 and transferred her entire share in favour of her grandson Prithvipal son of Mahavir in respect of Bungalow No.21, Clive Road, R Naseebpur Bakhtiyara and Bungalow No.06, Vake Nepiar Line, Muskat Road, New Cantt., Allahabad. Baijnath, in the year 1938, took loan from U.P.A.C. Bank by mortgaging disputed property though he had no right over it having transferred the same in favour of Pargasi in 1932. Moreover, for transfer of said land, prior permission of Collector was mandatory.

23. Baijnath committed default in payment of his loan amount, which resulted in recovery suit by U.P.A.C. Bank and the same was ultimately finalized upto this Court in Second Appeal No.2189 of 1951 but therein petitioners or Pargasi or Prithvipal were not party. Defendant-respondents in aforesaid appeal were Baij Nath son of Jokhu Lal, Smt. Minda widow of Jokhu Lal and Smt. Sursati widow of Jagmal. U.P.A.C. Bank itself went into liquidation and one Umeshwar Nath son of Harihar Nath claiming to be Director of U.P.A.C. Bank treated property in dispute as his own property though it was never owned by him. R.S.A. Society, petitioner in WP-2 claims its ownership on the basis of sale deed dated 11.03.1989 executed by Umeshwar Nath though Umeshwar Nath had neither any right over property in dispute nor could have transferred any interest or right over the same to R.S.A.Society.

24. R.S.A. Society, on the basis of sale deed dated 11.03.1989 got lease renewed in its favour in 1993 but when petitioners of WP-3 objected, the said order was recalled by Collector, Allahabad. This recall order of Collector was challenged by R.S.A. Society in Writ Petition No.26876 of 1993. The writ petition was dismissed vide judgment dated 05.02.2009 with observation that State Government shall look into the matter and pass fresh order. The judgment dated 05.02.2009 passed by this Court dismissing Writ Petition No.26876 of 1993 reads as under :

"Having heard Sri Rahul Sripat learned counsel for the petitioner at some length and after going through the record we find that sale deed was executed in the year 1902 for 30 years in favour of original lessee, who transferred the same in favour of the company namely U.P.Agriculture Credit Bank Limited. The company did not get lease renewed after 30 years and continued in possession. The company went in liquidation proceeding and the property in dispute so leased to the original lessee and sold to the company was sold in liquidation proceeding. Since the lease was not renewed in favour of the company, therefore, right of the purchaser from the company i.e. right of the vendor and the right of the petitioner vendee was subject to renewal of the lease. Therefore no writ of mandamus can be issued for renewal of the lease after such a long gap. In our opinion the initial order of Collector, Allahabad was by way of mistake which was corrected by him by withdrawing the said order. Thus the position emerges that the terms of the lease has already expired and the petitioner has no right to claim writ of mandamus from this Court. However, it is open to the petitioner to approach the State Government for grant of fresh lease under the Government Grant Act.

Considering the entire facts of the case and taking into account the fact that the petitioner has paid consideration for purchasing the land from the company in liquidation proceeding and in the liquidation proceeding the Government did not raise any objection that it cannot be sold in liquidation proceeding as lease was not renewed in favour of the company. Therefore the State Government is otherwise stopped from taking such an objection as the doctrine of estoppel will directly come in the way.

In view of the above discussion the matter is relegated to the State government to pass a fresh order on merits after scrutinizing and examining the rival claims of the parties and material available on record. It may also consider the claim of Smt. Ram Dulari and others, who have filed impleadment application in the writ petition.

For the aforesaid reasons this writ petition is dismissed."

25. The claim of R.S.A. Society again was rejected vide order dated 26.11.2012 passed by Additional District Magistrate (Nazul). R.S.A. Society filed Review Application in Writ Petition No.26876 of 1993 but same was rejected vide order dated 30.03.2009. In the meantime, petitioners applied for freehold vide applications dated 24.04.2000 and 01.05.2012. Since no action was taken, petitioners filed Writ Petition No.21011 of 2012 Shiv Shanker Patel and others vs. State of U.P. and others, with the prayer that their application for freehold be directed to be decided. Writ Petition was disposed of vide judgment dated 01.05.2012 directing District Magistrate, Allahabad/Authority concerned to take final decision. Consequently, District Magistrate, Allahabad vide order dated 14.06.2012 rejected petitioners' application for freehold. This order has been challenged by petitioners in WP-1.

26. In the meantime, i.e. during pendency of WP-1, District Magistrate has now passed order dated 06.09.2018 directing petitioners to vacate land in dispute as the same has been allotted to ADA for construction of residential houses for weaker section under "Pradhan Mantri Avas Yojana (Urban)". Challenging the same, present writ petition has been filed.

27. On behalf of respondents - 2 and 5 i.e. Collector, Allahabad and Additional District Magistrate (Nazul), Allahabad respectively, a counter affidavit has been filed sworn by Sri Gore Lal Shukla, holding office of respondent-5. It is stated therein that Nazul Plot No.23 Clive Road, Allahabad and 19, Muir Road area 4 Acres, 3 Rod and 2 Pol was demised for a period of 30 years renewable for further two period of 30 years each vide lease deed dated 01.07.1902 executed by Secretary of State in Council for India in favour of Sri Sahai son of Sheo Din (Kurmi). The first tenure of 30 years expired on 30.06.1932 but thereafter there is no renewal of lease. Lease was governed by provisions of GG Act, 1895 and in terms of Section 2 thereof, provisions of any other Statute including Transfer of Property Act, 1882 (hereinafter referred to as "TP Act, 1882") shall not be applicable to Government Grants. Terms of Government Grant shall construe and prevail as if TP Act, 1882 was not passed. In the lease deed, there was a condition that at the end of lease, Lessee shall hand over peacefully and quietly the land and surrender and yield up the same to Secretary of State but that was not done. Any transfer made without complying conditions mentioned in lease deed is void in view of law laid down in State of U.P. and others vs. United Bank of India and others (2016) 2 SCC 757. Government has right to re-entry in view of law laid down in Azim Ahmad Kazmi and others vs. State of U.P. and Another (2012) 7 SCC 278 and Division Bench judgment of this Court in Smt. Shakira Khatoon Kazmi and others vs. State of U.P. and others 2002 (1) AWC 226. Repeal Act, 2017 has not resulted in affecting rights, consequences etc. already suffered, acquired, accrued or incurred in view of Section 4 thereof, hence, resumption/re-entry by State for public purposes is valid in view of Division Bench judgment of this Court in Chintamani Ghosh and another vs. State of U.P. and others, 2001 (2) UPLBEC 1003 and M/s Madhu Colonizers Pvt. Ltd. vs. State of U.P. and others in Writ Petiton No.62588 of 2010 decided on 02.04.2013. Petitioners have no right to get the land freehold and application was already rejected by District Magistrate vide order dated 14.06.2012 hence petitioners have no justification in claiming any right over land in dispute and writ petition is liable to be dismissed.

28. In WP-1 and WP-3 Sri Pramod Kumar Jain, Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Birendra Kumar, Advocate has advanced his arguments on behalf of petitioners while Sri Ajeet Kumar Singh, Addl. Advocate General, assisted by Sri Nimai Dass and Sri Sudhanshu Srivastava, Additional Chief Standing Counsels, for State of U.P. and its authorities and Sri M.D.Singh 'Shekhar', Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Amit Verma, Advocate, on behalf of Prayagraj Development Authority have made their submissions. 30. A copy of lease deed dated 06.11.1902 is also on record as Annexure 2 to WP-1 and relevant terms and conditions thereof are reproduced as under :

"(i) AND ALSO shall not nor will without the previous consent in writing of the Secretary of State erect or suppose to be erected on any part of the said demised premises any building other than and except the dwelling house and out buildings hereby covenants to be erected and will not without such consent as aforesaid make any alteration in the plan or elevation of said dwelling house and out buildings or carry on or permit to be carried on the said premises any trade or business whatsoever of use the same or permit the same to be used for any purpose than that of a private dwelling house.

(Emphasis Added)

31. Aforesaid conditions show that parting away of lease land had to be conveyed to Secretary of State within one month. If rent of one month fell due, Government was entitled to determine lease and re-enter and after determination of term of lease, it was to be peacefully surrendered and yield up to the Secretary of State.

32. Now, in this backdrop, we proceed to consider merits of writ petition and relief claimed by petitioners.

33. The first question is, "what is Nazul?"

34. Every land owned by State Government is not termed as 'Nazul' and therefore it has become necessary to understand, what is 'Nazul'.

35. State Government may own land by having acquired and vested in various ways, which includes vesting of land in the capacity of a Sovereign body and having right of bona vacantia. Property may also be acquired and owned by State by way of acquisition under the Statute relating to acquisition of land or by purchase through negotiation or gift by an individual or in similar other manners. All such land, which is owned and vested in State Government results in making the State, owner of such land, but in legal parlance, the term "Nazul" is not applicable to all such land. It is only such land which is owned and vested in State on account of its capacity of Sovereign, and application of right of bona vacantia, which is covered by the term 'Nazul', as the term is known for the last more than one and half century. In Legal Glossary 1992, fifth edition, published by Legal Department of Government of India, at page 589, meaning of the term 'Nazul' has been given as 'Rajbhoomi, i.e., Government land'.

36. Nazul is an Arabic word. It refers to a land annexed to Crown. During British Regime, immoveable property of individuals, Zamindars, Nawabs and Rajas when confiscated for one or the other reason, it was termed as 'Nazul property'. The reason being that neither it was acquired nor purchased after making payment. In old record, when such land was referred in Urdu, this kind of land was shown as 'Jaidad Munzabta'.

37. For dealing with such property, under the authority of Lt. Governor of North Western Provinces, two orders were issued in October, 1846 and October, 1848. Therein, after the words "Nazul property", its english meaning was given as 'Escheats to the Government'. Sadar Board of Revenue on May 20, 1845 issued a circular order in reference to "Nazul land" and in para 2 thereof it mentioned, "The Government is the proprietor of those land and no valid title to them can be derived but from the Government". Nazul land was also termed as "Confiscated Estate". Under Circular dated July 13, 1859, issued by Government of North Western Provinces, every Commissioner was obliged to keep a final confiscation statement of each District and lay it before Government for orders.

38. Right of King to take property by 'escheat' or as 'bona vacantia' was recognized by common law of England. Escheat of property was Lord's right of re-entry on real property held by a tenant, dying intestate, without lawful heirs. It was an incident of Feudal Tenure and based on the want of a tenant to perform Feudal services. On the tenant dying intestate without leaving any lawful heirs, his estate came to an end and Lord, by his own right and not by way of succession or inheritance from the tenant, re-entered real property as owner. In most cases, land escheated to Crown as the 'Lord Paramount', in view of gradual elimination of Intermediate or Mesne lords since 1290 AD. Crown takes as 'bona vacantia' goods in which no one else can claim property. In Dyke v. Walford 5 Moore PC 434= 496-13 ER 557 (580) it was said 'it is the right of the Crown to bona vacantia to property which has no other Owner'. Right of the Crown to take as "bona vacantia" extends to personal property of every kind. The escheat of real property of an intestate dying without heirs was abolished in 1925 and Crown thereafter could not take such property as bona vacantia. The principle of acquisition of property by escheat, i.e., right of Government to take on property by 'escheat' or 'bona vacantia' for want of a rightful owner was enforced in Indian territory during the period of East India Company by virtue of Statute 16 and 17 Victoria, C. 95, section 27.

39. We may recollect, having gone through history, that prior to 1857, several Estates were taken over by British Company i.e. East India Company by way of annexation. Doctrine of lapse applied in Jhansi was another kind of above mentioned two principles.

40. The above provisions had continued by virtue of section 54 of Government of India Act, 1858, section 20(3)(iii) of Government of India Act, 1915 and section 174 of Government of India Act, 1935. After enactment of Constitution of independent India, Article 296 now continue above provision and says :

'Subject as hereinafter provided, any property in the territory of India which, if this Constitution had not come into operation, would have accrued to His Majesty or, as the case may be, to the Ruler of an Indian State by escheat or lapse, or as bona vacantia for want of a rightful owner, shall if it is property situate in a State, vest in such State, and shall, in any other case, vest in the Union.'
(Emphasis added)

41. Article 296, therefore, has retained power of State to get ownership of such land, in respect whereof principle of 'escheat', 'lapse' or 'bona vacantia' would have been applicable prior to enforcement of Constitution of India. The above power continued to apply after enactment of Constitution with the only modification that if such land is situate within the territory of State Government, it will vest in State and in other cases, it will vest in Union of India. Vesting of land and giving ownership to State Government or Union of India under Article 296 is clearly in respect of a land, which will come to it by way of 'escheat', 'lapse' or 'bona vacantia' and not by way of acquisition of land under some Statute or purchase etc.

42. In Pierce Leslie and Co. Ltd. Vs. Miss Violet Ouchterlony Wapsnare, AIR 1969 SC 843 Court has considered the above principles in the context of 'Sovereign India' as stands under Constitution after independence, and, has observed :

"....in this country the Government takes by escheat immoveable as well as moveable property for want of an heir or successor. In this country escheat is not based on artificial rules of common law and is not an incident of feudal tenure. It is an incident of sovereignty and rests on the principle of ultimate ownership by the State of all property within its jurisdiction".

(Emphasis added)

43. Court also placed reliance on Collector of Masulipatam v. C. Vencata Narainapah 8 MIA 500, 525; Ranee Sonet Kowar v. Mirza Himmut Bahadoor (2) LR 3 IA 92, 101, Bombay Dyeing and Manufacturing Co. Ltd. v. State of Bombay [1958] SCR 1122, 1146, Superintendent and, Legal Remembrancer v. Corporation of Calcutta [1967] 2 SCR 170, 204.

44. Judicial Committee in Cook v. Sprigg (1899) AC 572 while discussing, 'what is an act of State', observed :

"The taking possession by Her Majesty, whether by cession or by any other means by which sovereignty can be acquired, was an act of State."

(Emphasis added)

45. This decision has been followed in Raja Rajinder Chand v. Mst. Sukhi, AIR 1957 SC 286.

46. In Nayak Vajesingji Joravarsingji v. Secretary of State for India in Council AIR 1924 PC 216, Lord Dunedin said :

"When a territory is acquired by a sovereign State for the first time, that is an act of State. It matters not how the acquisition has been brought about. It may be by conquest, it may be by cession following on treaty, it may be by occupation of territory hitherto unoccupied by a recognised ruler. In all cases the result is the same. Any inhabitant of the territory can make good in the municipal courts established by the new sovereign only such rights as that sovereign has, through his officers, recognised. Such rights as he had under the rule of predecessors avail him nothing."
(Emphasis added)

47. In Dalmia Dadri Cement Co. Ltd. v. CIT [1958] 34 ITR 514 (SC) : AIR 1958 SC 816, Court said (page 523 of 34 ITR) :

*"*The expression 'act of State' is, it is scarcely necessary to say, not limited to hostile action between rulers resulting in the occupation of territories. It includes all acquisitions of territory by a sovereign State for the first time, whether it be by conquest or cession."
(Emphasis added)

48. In Promod Chandra Deb v. State of Orissa AIR 1962 SC 1288, Court said, 'Act of State' is the taking over of sovereign powers by a State in respect of territory which was not till then a part of its territory, either by conquest, treaty or cession, or otherwise.

49. To the same effect was the view taken by a Constitution Bench in Amarsarjit Singh v. State of Punjab AIR 1962 SC 1305, where in para 12, Court said :

"It is settled law that conquest is not the only mode by which one State can acquire sovereignty over the territories belonging to another State, and that the same result can be achieved in any other mode which has the effect of establishing its sovereignty."

(Emphasis added)

50. In Thakur Amar Singhji v. State of Rajasthan AIR 1955 SC 504, in para 40, Court said :

"The status of a person must be either that of a sovereign or a subject. There is no tedium quid. The law does not recognise an intermediate status of a person being partly a sovereign and partly a subject and when once it is admitted that the Bhomicharas had acknowledged the sovereignty of Jodhpur their status can only be that of a subject. A subject might occupy an exalted position and enjoy special privileges, but he is none the less a subject..."
(Emphasis added)

51. In State of Rajasthan vs. Sajjanlal Panjawat AIR 1975 SC 706 it was held that Rulers of the erstwhile Indian States exercised sovereign powers, legislative, executive and judicial. Their firmans were laws which could not have been challenged prior to the Constitution. Court relied on earlier decisions in Director of Endowments, Govt. of Hyderabad vs. Akram Ali, AIR 1956 SC 60, and Sarwarlal vs. State of Hyderabad, AIR 1960 SC 862.

52. In Promod Chandra Deb vs. State of Orissa AIR 1962 SC 1288 "act of the State" was explained in the following words :

"an "act of State" may be the taking over of sovereign powers either by conquest or by treaty or by cession or otherwise. It may have happened on a particular date by a public declaration or proclamation, or it may have been the result of a historical process spread over many years, and sovereign powers including the right to legislate in that territory and to administer it may be acquired without the territory itself merging in the new State."
(Emphasis Added)

53. This decision has been followed later in Biswambhar Singh vs. State of Orissa 1964 (1) SCJ 364, wherein Court said:

*"16. Thus, a territory acquired by a sovereign State is an Act of State but the land comprising territory does not become the land owned by State. The land owned by State may come to it in various ways, like confiscation, purchase, escheat or bona vacantia, gift, etc. In such a case the ownership vests in State, like any other individual and State is free to deal with the same in a manner like any other owner may do so.

17. Thus 'Nazul' is a land vested in State for any reason whatsoever that is cession or escheat or bona vacantia, for want of rightful owner or for any other reasons and once land belong to State, it will be difficult to assume that State would acquire its own land. It is per se impermissible to acquire such land by forcible acquisition under Act, 1894, since there is no question of any transfer of ownership from one person to another but here State already own it, hence there is no question of any acquisition."

54. Thus the land in question which is admittedly 'Nazul', belonged to the category as discussed above i.e. it came to be vested and owned by State in its capacity of Sovereign and right of bona vacantia. When acquisition is made under the provisions of a Statute, purpose of acquisition is already known and State pay its price but when land is owned by State, which is Nazul, objective of use of such land is not predetermined but it can be utilized by State for larger public welfare and its benefit, as necessitated from time to time. In other words 'Nazul' land forms the assets owned by State in trust for the people in general who are entitled for its user in the most fair and beneficial manner for their benefit. State cannot be allowed to distribute such largesse by pick and choose manner or to some selected groups etc. The first question is answered accordingly.

55. The second question is "lease in question whether governed by provision of Transfer of Property Act, 1882 (hereinafter referred to as "TP Act, 1882") or GG Act, 1895 and what is inter-relationship of the two?"

56. Historical documents, record as also authorities discussed above show that earlier Government i.e. East India Company upto 1858 and thereafter British Government used to allot "Nazul land" to various persons, who had shown their alliance to such Government in various ways, sometimes by deceiving their Indian counter parts who had raised voice against British Rule, or those who remained faithful to Foreign regime and helped them for their continuation in ruling this country and similar other reasons. Sometimes land was given on lease without any condition and sometimes restricted for certain period etc., but in every case, lease was given to those persons who were faithful and shown complete alliance to British Rule. The reason was that in respect of Nazul, no predetermined objective was available as was the case in respect of land acquired by State by way of acquisition under Statute of Acquisition after paying compensation or purchase. Further, allocation of Nazul land by English Rulers used to be called "Grant".

57. In other words, we can say that initially land owned by State used to be allotted in the form of 'Grant' by British Government. No specific statutory provisions were available to govern it. TP Act, 1882 was enacted to govern transfer of immovable property. Sections 10 - 12 of TP Act, 1882 made provisions invalidating, with certain exceptions, all conditions for forfeiture of transferred property on alienation by transferee and all limitations over consequence upon such alienation or any insolvency of or attempted alienation by him. Apprehending that above provisions of TP Act, 1882, may be construed as a fetter upon discretion of the Crown in creation of inalienable Jagirs in 'Grants', acting upon advice that it would not be competent for Crown to create an inalienable and impartible Estate in the land comprised in the Crown Grant, unless such land has heretofore descended by custom as an impartible Raj, it was sought to make a separate statute to give supremacy to the provisions contained in Crown's Grant, notwithstanding any other law including TP Act, 1882. With this objective, 'GG Act 1895' was enacted.

58. Preamble of GG Act, 1895 gives purpose of its enactment stating that doubts have arisen to the extent and operation of TP Act, 1882 and to the power of Crown (later substituted by word "Government") to impose limitations and restrictions upon grants and other transfers of land made by it or under its authority, hence to remove such doubts, GG Act, 1895 was enacted.

59. Section 2 of GG Act, 1895, as it was initially enacted, read as under :

"2. Transfer of Property Act, 1882, not to apply to Government grants.- Nothing in the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, contained shall apply or be deemed ever to have applied to any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein heretoforce made or hereafter to be made by or on behalf of Her Majesty the Queen Empress, Her heirs or successors, or by or on behalf of the Secretary of State for India in Council to, or in favour of, any person whomsoever; but every such grant and transfer shall be construed and take effect as if the said Act had not been passed."

60. The above provision was amended in 1937 and 1950. The amended provision read as under :

"2. Transfer of Property Act, 1882, not to apply to Government grants.- Nothing in the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, contained shall apply or be deemed ever to have applied to any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein heretoforce made or hereafter to be made by or on behalf of the Government to, or in favour of, any person whomsoever; but every such grant and transfer shall be construed and take effect as if the said Act had not been passed."

(Emphasis added)

61. Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 read as under :

3. Government grants to take effect according to their tenor.- All provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations over contained in any such grant or transfer as aforesaid shall be valid and the effect according to their tenor, any rule of law, statute or enactment of the Legislature to the contrary notwithstanding."

(Emphasis added)

62. In the State of Uttar Pradesh, vide Government Grants (U.P. Amendment) Act, 1960 (U.P. Act No.XIII of 1960), Sections 2 and 3 of GG Act, 1895, were substituted by Section 2, as under :

"2. (1) Transfer of Property Act, 1882, not to apply to Government Grants.- Nothing contained in the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, shall apply or be deemed ever to have applied to any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein, heretoforce made or hereafter to be made, by or on behalf of the Government to or in favour of any person whomsoever; and every such grant and transfer shall be construed and take effect as if the said Act had not been passed."

(2) U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 not to affect certain leases made by or on behalf of the Government.- Nothing contained in the U.P. Tenancy Act, 1938, or the Agra Tenancy Act, 1926, shall affect, or be deemed to have ever affected any rights, created, conferred or granted, whether before or after the date of the passing of the Government Grants (U.P. Amendment) Act, 1960, by leases of land by, or on behalf of, the Government in favour of any person; and every such creation, conferment or grant shall be construed and take effect, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939, or the Agra Tenancy Act, 1926.

(3) Certain leases made by or on behalf of the Government to take effect according to their tenor.- All provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations contained in any such creation, conferment or grant referred to in Section 2, shall be valid and take effect according to their tenor, any decree or direction of a court of law or any rule of law, statute or enactment of the Legislature, to the contrary notwithstanding :

Provided that nothing in this section shall prevent, or be deemed ever to have prevented, the effect of any enactment relating to the acquisition of property, land reforms or the imposition of ceiling on agricultural land."

63. A perusal of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 shows two things :

i. A declaration is made that any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein, made by or on behalf of Government, in favour of any person, on and after enactment of GG Act, 1895, would not be governed by provisions of TP Act, 1882 i.e. nothing contained in TP Act, 1882 shall apply to such Grant, transfer or interest.

ii. A clarification that a Grant or Transfer, referred to in Section 2, when is to be construed and given effect, it shall be done in such manner and by treating as if TP Act, 1882 has not been passed.

64. Thus, GG Act, 1895, in fact, was a declaratory statute. First declaration is in respect of Grant or transfer of land or creation of any interest, as the case may be, to exclude TP Act, 1882 for all purposes. Second part of Section 2 clarified that while construing and giving effect to a Grant or Transfer, referred to in Section 2, it will be presumed that TP Act, 1882 has not been passed at all.

65. In Section 2(1) of GG Act, 1895, as amended in Uttar Pradesh, we do not find any distinction vis a vis what has been said in Section 2 of GG Act, 1895. There is an addition in GG Act, 1895 in its application to Uttar Pradesh, by inserting sub-section (2) in Section 2, a provision in respect of U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 also, making a similar declaration, as made in sub section (1) in respect of TP Act, 1882.

66. Sub-section (3) of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 protect certain leases, already made, declaring the same to be valid in the light of insertion of sub-section(1) of Section 2 in the State of Uttar Pradesh and that is why, notwithstanding any decree or direction of Court of law, leases already made, were validated, which otherwise might have been affected by U.P. Tenancy Act, 1938 or Agra Tenancy Act, 1926.

67. Proviso to sub-section (3) of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 further declares that all provisions of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 will have no effect when land is sought to be acquired under the provisions of Statute relating to acquisition or for giving effect to a Statute relating to land reforms or imposition of ceiling on agricultural land.

68. Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 is not available in State of U.P. after U.P. Amendment Act, 1960 since Sections 2 and 3 of Principal Act virtually got amalgamated in the form of Section 2, by Government Grants (U.P. Amendment) Act, 1960. However, intent, effect and declaration by legislature is almost pari materia with the only addition that in State of U.P., U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 are also excluded in the same manner as was done in respect of TP Act, 1882.

69. Sections 2 and 3 of GG Act, 1895 were considered in State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad, 1973(2) SCC 547 and in para 16, Court said :

*"Section 3 of the Government Grants Act declares the unfettered discretion of the Government to impose such conditions and limitations as it thinks fit, no matter what the general law of the land be. The meaning of Sections 2 and 3 of the Government Grants is that the scope of that Act is not limited to affecting the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act only. The Government has unfettered discretion to impose any conditions, limitations, or restrictions in its grants, and the right, privileges and obligations of the grantee would be regulated according to the terms of the grant, notwithstanding any provisions of any statutory or common law."

(Emphasis added)

70. Again in Hajee S.V.M. Mohamed Jamaludeen Bros. & Co. vs. Government of Tamil Nadu (1997) 3 SCC 466, Court said that combined effect of two sections of GG Act, 1895 is that terms of any Grant or terms of any transfer of land made by a Government would stand insulated from tentacles of any statutory law. Section 3 places terms of such Grant beyond reach of restrictive provision contained in any enacted law or even equitable principles of justice, equity and good conscience adumbrated by common law, if such principles are inconsistent with such terms. Court said :

"The two provisions are so framed as to confer unfettered discretion on the government to enforce any condition or limitation or restriction in all types of grants made by the government to any person. In other words, the rights, privileges and obligations of any grantee of the government would be completely regulated by the terms of the grant, even if such terms are inconsistent with the provisions of any other law."

(Emphasis added)

71. In Azim Ahmad Kazmi and others vs. State of U.P. and Another (2012) 7 SCC 278 observations made in para 16 in State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad (supra) have been reproduced and followed.

72. In State of U.P. and others vs. United Bank of India and others (2016) 2 SCC 757, in para 30 of the judgment, Court said :

"Indisputably, the lease of nazul land is governed by the Government Grants Act, 1895. Sections 2 and 3 of the Government Grants Act, 1895 very specifically provide that the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act do not apply to government lands ……"

(Emphasis added)

73. Thus, a 'Grant' of a Nazul will be governed by terms and conditions contained in the instrument/deed of Grant, wholly unaffected by any Statute providing otherwise.

74. It neither can be doubted nor actually so urged by petitioners that the lease granted in the case in hand is/was a 'Grant' governed by GG Act, 1895. Broadly, 'Grant' includes 'lease'. In other words, where 'Nazul' is let out to a person by Government under agreement of lease i.e. Grant, it is governed by GG Act, 1895 and rights of parties therefore have to be seen in the light of stipulations contained in the document of 'Grant'. 'Grant' includes a property transferred on lease though in some cases, 'Grant' may result in wider interest i.e. transfer of title etc. Whatever may be nature of document of transfer i.e.

instrument of 'Grant', the fact remains that terms and conditions of 'Grant' shall be governed by such document and it shall prevail over any other law including TP Act 1882. One cannot take resort to TP Act, 1882 to wriggle out of any condition or limitation etc. imposed in terms of document of 'Grant'.

75. In the State of Uttar Pradesh, management of 'Nazul', in absence of statutory provisions, is governed by various administrative orders compiled in a Manual called "Nazul Manual". Here Government has made provisions of management of 'Nazul' through its own authorities namely District Magistrate or Commissioner, or, in some cases, through local bodies.

76. Nature of orders compiled in "Nazul Manual" in the context of 'Nazul' have been considered recently in State of U.P. vs. United Bank of India (supra) where Court has said that land and building in question is "Nazul", being property of Government, and maintained by State authorities in accordance with 'Nazul Rules' but not administered as a 'State property'. Court has also observed that lease of "Nazul" land is governed in accordance with GG Act, 1895. Sections 2 and 3 thereto very specifically provide that provisions of TP Act, 1882 do not apply to Government land. Section 3 says that all provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations contained in any such 'Grant' or 'Transfer', as aforesaid, shall be valid and take effect according to their tenor, any rule of law statute or enactment of the Legislature to the contrary, notwithstanding. Thus stipulations in "lease deed" shall prevail and govern the entire relation of State Government and lessee.

77. In Pradeep Oil Corporation vs. Municipal Corporation of Delhi and others (2011) 5 SCC 270, Court said that GG Act, 1895 is a special Statute and will prevail over general Statute i.e. TP Act, 1882. It says:

*"In the present case grant has been made by the President of India in terms of Section 2 of the Government Grants Act, 1895 and the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 may have little bearing in the instant case. The former, i.e. the Government Grants Act, 1895 being a special statute would prevail over the general statute, i.e. the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. Accordingly, the rights and obligations of the parties would be governed by the terms of the provisions of Government Grants Act, 1895 whereunder the Government is entitled to impose limitations and restrictions upon the grants and other transfer made by it or under its authority."

(Emphasis added)

78. Superiority of the stipulations of Grant to deal the relations between Grantor and Grantee has been reinforced in Azim Ahmad Kazmi and others (Supra). Therein dispute related to Plot No. 59, Civil Station, Allahabad, area 1 acre and 4272 sq. yard, i.e., 9112 sq. yard or 7618 sq. meter. Initially a lease deed was executed on 11.01.1868 by Secretary of State for India in Council, in favour of one, Thomas Crowby, for a period of 50 years and it was signed by Commissioner, Allahabad Division on behalf of Secretary of State for India in Council. After expiry of lease, a fresh lease was executed for another period of 50 years on 12.04.1923 w.e.f. 01.01.1918. Lease holder with permission of Collector, Allahabad transferred lease rights to Purshottam Das in 1945. The legal heirs of Sri Purshottam Das, on 31.10.1958, transferred leasehold rights in favour of Smt. Shakira Khatoon Kazmi, Smt. Sabira Khatoon Kazmi and Smt. Maimoona Khatoon Kazmi. After the death of Smt. Maimoona Khatoon Kazmi, her legal heirs, namely, Azim Ahmad Kazmi, Omar Ahmad Kazmi, Shamim Ahmad Kazmi, Alim Ahmad Kazmi and Maaz Ahmad Kazmi also claimed lease rights by succession. Lease granted on 12.04.1923 w.e.f. 01.01.1918 expired on 31.12.1967. It was renewed on 19.03.1996 for a period of 30 years w.e.f. 01.01.1968 which period expired on 31.12.1997. Again on 17.07.1998 it was renewed for a further period of 30 years w.e.f. 01.01.1998. While lease was continuing, vide Government Order dated 15.12.2000, right of resumption was exercised by State Government. It directed resumption of possession of plot in question and lease deed was cancelled. District Magistrate, Allahabad served a notice dated 11.01.2001 to lease holders intimating them that State Government's order dated 15.12.2000 has cancelled lease and resumed possession of land in question, as the same was required for public purpose. Notice also directed lease holders to remove structures standing on plot, failing which possession would be taken in accordance with Clause 3(c) of lease deed. Lease holders filed objections against notice to District Magistrate and also stated that they have sent representation/ objection to Chief Minister praying for revocation of Government Order dated 15.12.2000. District Magistrate passed order on 24.08.2001 rejecting objection of lease holders and sent a cheque of Rs. 10 lacs representing compensation for the building standing over plot. State authorities claimed that they took possession of open land on 01.09.2001. Lease holders filed writ petition which was dismissed vide judgment dated 07.12.2001, Shakira Khatoon Kazmi vs. State of U.P., AIR 2002 All 101. Lease holders challenged judgment dated 07.12.2001 in Supreme Court to the extent they failed. State Government filed appeal against part of order of this Court wherein an observation was made that State Government is not entitled to take forcible possession though it may take possession of demised premises in accordance with procedure established by law. After considering Clause 3(c) of lease deed which provides for resumption of land for public purpose after giving a month's clear notice to lessee to remove any building standing at the time on demised premises and within two months of receipt of notice, to take possession thereof on expiry of that period, and Sections 2 and 3 of GG Act, 1895, Court said that Clause 3(c) of lease deed confers power upon State Government that plot in question, if required by Government for its own purpose or for any public purpose, it shall have the right to give one month's notice in writing to lessees to remove any building standing on the plot and to take possession thereof on expiry of two months from the date of service of notice. Court said that land, if required for any public purpose, State Government has absolute power to resume leased property. Under the terms of Grant, it is absolute, therefore, order of resumption is perfectly valid and cannot be said to be illegal. It also refers to an earlier instance where Nazul Plot No. 13, Civil Station, Allahabad situate in Civil Lines area was resumed by State Government for the purpose of construction of a 'Bus Stand' by exercising similar power, without initiating any proceeding under Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1894"). Resumption in that case was challenged in Writ Petition No. 44517 of 1998, Sayed Shah Khursheed Ahmad Kashmi vs. State of U.P. and said writ petition was dismissed on 16.12.1999 by a Division Bench of this Court, whereagainst Special Leave Petition No. 4329 of 2000 was dismissed by Supreme Court on 07.09.2001. First question, therefore, was answered in negative and in favour of Government.

79. With respect to procedure for taking possession, Supreme Court, while considering Question-2, said that in absence of any specific law, State Government may take possession by filing a suit. When a land is acquired under LA Act, 1894, Government can take possession in accordance with provisions of said Act and in case of urgency, Collector can take possession after publication of notice under Section 9 and no separate procedure is required to be followed. Court said that similarly where a lease has been granted under the terms of GG Act, 1895, then what procedure has to be followed is provided by Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 which says that all provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations contained in any such creation, conferment or Grant referred to in Section 2, shall be valid and take effect according to their tenor; any decree or direction of a Court of Law or any rule of law, statute or enactments of the Legislature, to the contrary notwithstanding. Court relied on its earlier judgment in State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad, 1973(2) SCC 547 holding that Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 declares unfettered discretion of Government to impose such conditions and limitation as it thinks fit, no matter what the general law of land be. Then Court construing Clause 3(C) of lease deed said that it provides procedure for taking possession of demised premises when State Government re-enter or resume possession of demised land. Court in para 30 and 32 of judgment said:

"30. In the case of The State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad and Another, 1973(2) SCC 547, this Court held that the Section 3 of the Act declares the unfettered discretion of the Government to impose such conditions and limitation as it thinks fit, no matter what the general law of land be. From Clause 3(C) of the deed, it is clear that the State of U.P. while granting lease made it clear that if the demised premises are at any time required by the lessor for his or for any public purpose, he shall have the right to give one month's clear notice to the lessee to remove any building standing at the time of the demised property and within two months' of the receipt of the notice to take possession thereof on the expiry of that period subject to the condition that the lessor is willing to purchase the property on the demised premises, the lessee shall be paid for such amount as may be determined by the Secretary to the Government of U.P. in the Nagar Awas Department."

"32. Under Clause 3(C) of the lease deed, the respondent-State was permitted resumption of the land which required for its own use or for public purpose and after giving one month's clear notice in writing is entitled to remove any building standing at the time on the demised premises and within two months of the receipt of the notice to take possession thereof subject to the condition that if the lessor is willing to purchase the building of the demised premises required to pay the lessee the amount for such building as may be determined by the Secretary to Government of U.P. in the Nagar Awas Department...."

(Emphasis added)

80. Having said so, Court said:

"we are of the view that there is no other procedure or law required to be followed, as a special procedure for resumption of land has been laid down under the lease deed".

(Emphasis Added)

81. Supreme Court then set aside direction of this Court that State will not take possession forcibly except in accordance with procedure established by any other law holding that since special procedure for resumption is prescribed under lease deed, no direction otherwise could have been issued to State Government.

82. The above discussion makes it clear that 'Nazul' is a land owned and vested in State. It is such land which has vested in State by virtue of its 'Sovereignty' and incidence of 'Sovereignty' i.e. annexation, lapse and bona vacantia. Further, 'Grant' means transfer of property by a deed in writing and includes within its ambit, an instrument of lease/lease deed. Such 'Grant' is governed by provision of GG Act, 1895, which were applicable to 'Grants' executed on and after enforcement of GG Act, 1895 and rights and entitlement of private parties in respect of land, which was transferred to such person under such 'Grant' would be governed by terms and conditions contained in such 'Grant' and not by provisions of TP Act, 1882 or any other Statute. The terms and conditions of 'Grant' shall override any Statute providing otherwise. Moreover, in State of U.P., wherever applicable, U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 will also be inapplicable to such 'Grant'.

83. Above discussion, therefore, leaves no manner of doubt that Grant/Lease of Nazul land shall be exclusively governed by stipulations/conditions/terms contained in Grant/Indenture of Lease and no Statute can be resorted to govern rights of parties over Nazul land, which will be governed by aforesaid Grant/Indenture of Lease. We, therefore, answer second question accordingly.

84. The third and fourth questions are, "Whether petitioners have any actionable claim, right or interest over disputed land after expiry of lease on 30.06.1932, and order of re-entry passed by Collector on 24.9.1992 has attained finality?" and "whether petitioners are entitled to a quit notice?"

85. We have reproduced contents of lease deed constituting terms and conditions to govern the land in dispute. In almost every aspect, some restrictions on exercise of lease rights over Nazul land were imposed by Grantor/Lessor i.e. State. Some such instances are :

(i) If there is any breach in payment of rent or other covenant of lease deed in such case it shall be lawful for Secretary of State to enter into and upon the said demised premises and dwelling house and out buildings erected as aforesaid or any part thereof in the name of whole and thereupon the same shall remain to the use of and be vested in

Secretary of State as if the deed was not executed.

(ii) Renewal of lease shall be at the request and cost of lessee.

(iii) Total period of lease including renewal shall not exceed 90 years.

(iv) No construction other than dwelling house shall be made without permission for trade or business.

86. Entire lease deed show that if premises is assigned, within one calendar month, a notice was to be given to Collector giving details of persons but in case of any non observance or breach, it was lawful for Lessor to enter upon demised premises.

87. As already said that after 30th June, 1932 i.e. expiry of first term of lease, there was no renewal of term of lease at all. Land was shared by heirs of Sri Sahai as if it was owned by him or them though Sri Sahai had only lease rights. After expiry of lease on 30.06.1932, even lease rights ceased.

88. It is nobody's case that any rent or premium was paid thereafter to the State. With regard to intimation also, there is nothing on record to show as to that when part of land was equitably mortgaged to U.P.A.C. Bank or the manner in which it was subsequently dealt with by Bank or anything was communicated to Lessor. It is in these circumstances, Collector rightly rejected application for renewal of lease vide order dated 24.09.1992 whereby Mukhya Nagar Adhikari was directed to record name of State in Nazul register. The said order has attained finality.

89. In fact, the initial lease commenced on 01.07.1902, the period of 90 years lapsed on 30.6.1992. If renewal would have been allowed, even then no lease to lessees could have been granted for period subsequent to 30.6.1992 since maximum period of lease including two renewals was 90 years.

90. Thus, petitioners had no legal right whatsoever over property in dispute in any manner after 30.6.1932 and, in any case, after 30.6.1992.

91. So far as claim of petitioners that they have submitted application for freehold, it has already been held by this Court in Anand Kumar Sharma vs. State of U.P. and others 2014(2) ADJ 742 (FB) that mere submission of application does not give any vested right for freehold. State is the owner of property and it has already rejected application for renewal in 1992 and has re-entered the premises directing for recording name of the State in Nazul register over land in dispute. Land being Nazul, State Government is fully empowered to re-enter/resume at any point of time.

92. Moreso, when it is required in public purpose, such right of State in respect of Nazul land has been recognized in Azim Ahmad Kazmi and Others Vs. State of U.P. and Others (supra). Mere continuation in possession over land in dispute does not give any right to petitioners. Neither Section 116 of TP Act, 1882 gets attracted nor petitioners are entitled to a quit notice. The nature of possession of even a lessee after expiry of period of lease is that of 'Tenant at Sufference'. Here petitioner of WP-1 does not come even in that category.

93. Further, once lease period expired, whether a quit notice is necessary or not, in our view, is an issue, which need not detain us since this aspect is already covered by a recent authority in Sevoke Properties Ltd. vs. West Bengal State Electricity Distribution Company Ltd. AIR 2019 SC 2664. Therein, Court held that once it is admitted by Lessee that term of lease has expired, lease stood determined by efflux of time. Then Court said :

"Once the lease stood determined by efflux of time, there was no necessity for a notice of termination Under Section 106."

(Emphasis added)

94. For taking above view, Court relied on its earlier decision in R.V. Bhupal Prasad v. State of A.P. (1995) 5 SCC 698.

95. In the above authority, Court held that after expiry of period of lease, status of Lessee becomes that of 'Tenant at sufferance'. 'Tenant at sufference' is one who comes into possession of land by lawful title, but who holds it by wrong after termination of term or expiry of lease by efflux of time. The tenant at sufferance is one who wrongfully continues in possession after extinction of a lawful title. There is little difference between him and a trespasser. Quoting from Mulla's Transfer of Property Act (7th Edn.) at page 633, Court observed that tenancy at sufferance is merely a fiction to avoid continuance in possession operating as a trespass. It has been described as the least and lowest interest which can subsist in reality. It, therefore, cannot be created by contract and arises only by implication of law when a person who has been in possession under a lawful title continues in possession after that title has been determined, without consent of person entitled. A "tenancy at sufferance" does not create relationship of landlord and tenant. Court further quoted from page 769 of Mulla's transfer of Property Act (7th Edition), that act of holding over after expiration of term does not necessarily create a tenancy of any kind. If lessee remains in possession after determination of term, the common law Rule is that he is a tenant at sufferance.

96. In the present case, it is not the case of any of the petitioner that after expiry of lease on 30.06.1992, they have been permitted to remain in possession of disputed Nazul land and rent has been accepted by respondents or they have paid rent. Even if what is said by petitioners is taken to be correct, we do not find that Section 116 is applicable in the case in hand at all. Section 116 of TP Act, 1882 reads as under :

"116. Effect of holding over.- If a lessee or under-lessee of property remains in possession thereof after the determination of the lease granted to the lessee, and the lessor or his legal representative accepts rent from the lessee or under lessee, or otherwise assents to his continuing in possession, the lease is, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary, renewed from year to year, or from month to month, according to the purpose for which the property is leased, as specified in section 106."

97. Twin conditions to attract principle of holding over vide Section 116 of TP Act, 1882, which need be satisfied, are:

(i) After determination of lease, lessor or his representative has accepted rent from lessee or under lessee or assent to his continuing in possession; and

(ii) Lessee or under-lessee has remained in possession.

98. None of the above conditions are attracted/satisfied in this case. Hence Section 116, TP Act, 1882 is not attracted. We, therefore, answer third and fourth questions accordingly.

99. The fifth and last question is "whether re-entry/resumption of land by Lessor i.e. State Government is valid?"

100. So far as validity of resumption of land for 'public purpose' is concerned, it could not be disputed that land has been sought to be required passed by this Court and continued in possession over land in dispute for the last almost more than a year, we direct petitioners to vacate disputed land within one month from the date of delivery of judgment.

by State for 'public purpose'. Allahabad City has been selected for development as a Smart City and respondents have pleaded that demand of huge land has been made by various Government departments since various Offices, Workshops, Parks, Parking places etc. have to be constructed. The land in dispute has been found suitable for "construction of affordable houses for Weaker Section under 'Pradhan Mantri Avas Yojana (Urban)"' which are public purpose. In fact, on this aspect, no substantial argument has been made and in our view, resumption of land by State is for 'public purpose'.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manoj Kumar Gupta, J.)

1. By means of instant petition, the petitioner has called in question the order dated 14.2.2019 passed by Presiding Officer, Labour Court II, U.P. Kanpur rejecting the application of the petitioner praying for setting aside the exparte award dated 20.12.2017 (published on the notice board on 19.5.2018) in Adjudication Case No.33 of 2015.

2. The background facts leading to the instant petition are that respondent no.2 raised an industrial dispute alleging that he was appointed on the post of Mistri/Mechanic by respondent no.3 in the month of February, 1991; that he worked till 31.10.2014; that his service was illegally terminated without passing any order in writing on 1.11.2014. The application filed in this regard by respondent no.2 dated 13.3.2015 was registered as C.P. Case No.47 of 2015. On 10.8.2015, respondent no.2 sought impleadment of the petitioner in C.P. Case No.47 of 2015. Since the conciliation proceedings did not yield any result, therefore, the dispute was referred under Section 4-K for adjudication by the Labour Court and it came to be registered as Adjudication Case No.33 of 2015. The petitioner was represented by Sri Gyaneshwar Mishra. According to the petitioner, Sri Gyaneshwar Mishra, due to his personal problems, could not attend the case on regular basis and later, abstained from appearing in the case without any information to the petitioner, resulting in an exparte award dated 20.12.2017 being passed against it. The Labour Court directed for reinstatement of respondent no.2 with continuity of service and full back wages. According to the petitioner, it came to know of the exparte award when copy of the same was received by it on 26.5.2018. On 11.6.2018, it moved an application for setting aside the exparte award alongwith affidavit of Manager (Operation). The application was opposed by respondent no.2. The Labour Court by impugned order rejected the said application holding that the explanation furnished for non-appearance is not satisfactory and also on the ground that under Rule 16 (2) of the Rules framed under the Act, an application praying for setting aside of exparte award could be filed only within ten days from the date of publication of the award. In other words, the view taken is that after expiry of the time prescribed under Rule 16 (2), the award had become enforceable rendering the Labour Court functus officio to entertain or decide any application.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that in the first place the Labour Court has committed a manifest illegality in ignoring cogent explanation offered by the petitioner entitling it to a hearing and case being decided on merits. In support of the said submission, he has placed reliance on the judgement of the Apex Court in M.K. Prasad Vs. R. Arumugam, 2001 (3) AWC 2395. In addition, it is urged that the law that after publication of award and expiry of the prescribed period, the award becomes enforceable rendering the Labour Court/Tribunal functus officio is no longer good law in view of the recent decision of the Supreme Court in Haryana Suraj Malting Ltd. vs. Phool Chand, (2018) (16) SCC 567.

4. On the other hand, learned counsel for the respondent workman submitted that the Labour Court has rightly discarded the explanation furnished by the petitioner for its non-appearance when the matter was taken up for hearing. He further submitted that the other reasoning given by the Labour Court that the application was not entertainable in view of Rule 16 (2), as it was filed beyond ten days from the date of passing of the award, is also perfectly legal and valid.

5. The judgement of the Supreme Court in Haryana Suraj Malting Ltd. is by a Larger Bench of Three Judges resolving divergent views in Sangham Tape Company Vs. Hans Raj, (2005) 9 SCC 331 and Radhakrishna Mani Tripathi Vs. L.H. Patel, (2009) 2 SCC 81. The reference to the Larger Bench was made for answering the following question:-

"1. Whether the Industrial Tribunal/Labour Court becomes functus officio after 30 days of the pronouncement/publication of the award and loses all powers to recall an ex parte award on an application made by the aggrieved party after 30 days from the date of pronouncement/publication of the award is the question that once again arises for consideration in these cases."

6. It is pertinent to note paras 2 and 3 of the referring order to have an insight into the background in which two conflicting views were taken:-

"2. It may be noted that on this question two Division Bench decisions have taken apparently conflicting views. In Sangham Tape Co. v. Hans Raj a two-Judge Bench held and observed that an application for recall of an ex parte award may be entertained by the Industrial Tribunal/Labour Court only in case it is filed before the expiry of 30 days from the date of pronouncement/ publication of the award. A contrary view was taken in Radhakrishna Mani Tripathi v. L.H. Patel to which one of us (Aftab Alam, J.) was a party.

3. In both cases, that is to say, Sangham Tape Co. and Radhakrishna Mani Tripathi, the Court referred to and relied upon the earlier decisions in Grindlays Bank Ltd. v. Central Govt. Industrial Tribunal and Anil Sood v. Labour Court but read and interpreted those two decisions completely differently."

7. The Larger Bench of the Supreme Court, while answering the reference, took into consideration virtually all previous judgements on the point and thereafter observed as follows:-

"31. Therefore, all the decisions hereinabove noted by us referred to Grindlays (supra). On a close reading of paragraph-14 of Grindlays (supra), in the background of the analysis of law under paragraphs-10 to 13, it is difficult for us to comprehend that the power to set aside an ex parte award is not available to a Labour Court/Industrial Tribunal. On the principles of natural justice, and on a purposive interpretation of the scheme of the Act and Rules, we find it difficult also to discern that the ratio of the decision in Grindlays (supra), is what is stated in paragraph-14 to the extent that an application for setting aside an ex parte award has to be filed within 30 days of publication of the award. On the contrary, the ratio in Grindlays (supra) is that the Tribunal can exercise its ancillary and incidental powers, on the broader principles contained under Order IX Rule 13 of the CPC. No doubt, the Limitation Act, 1963 is not applicable to the Labour Court/Tribunal."

8. Thereafter, the Larger Bench laid down its conclusions in paragraphs 34, 35 and 37 of the Law Report as follows:-

"34. In case a party is in a position to show sufficient cause for its absence before the Labour Court/Tribunal when it was set ex parte, the Labour Court/Tribunal, in exercise of its ancillary or incidental powers, is competent to entertain such an application. That power cannot be circumscribed by limitation. What is the sufficient cause and whether its jurisdiction is invoked within a reasonable time should be left to the judicious discretion of the Labour Court/Tribunal.

35. It is a matter of natural justice that any party to the judicial proceedings should get an opportunity of being heard, and if such an opportunity has been denied for want of sufficient reason, the Labour Court/Tribunal which denied such an opportunity, being satisfied of the sufficient cause and within a reasonable time, should be in a position to set right its own procedure. Otherwise, as held in Grindlays [Grindlays Bank Ltd. v. Central Govt. Industrial Tribunal, 1980 Supp SCC 420 : 1981 SCC (L&S) 309] , an award which may be a nullity will have to be technically enforced. It is difficult to comprehend such a situation under law.

37. Merely because an award has become enforceable, does not necessarily mean that it has become binding. For an award to become binding, it should be passed in compliance with the principles of natural justice. An award passed denying an opportunity of hearing when there was a sufficient cause for non-appearance can be challenged on the ground of it being nullity. An award which is a nullity cannot be and shall not be a binding award. In case a party is able to show sufficient cause within a reasonable time for its non-appearance in the Labour Court/Tribunal when it was set ex parte, the Labour Court/Tribunal is bound to consider such an application and the application cannot be rejected on the ground that it was filed after the award had become enforceable. The Labour Court/Tribunal is not functus officio after the award has become enforceable as far as setting aside an ex parte award is concerned. It is within its powers to entertain an application as per the scheme of the Act and in terms of the rules of natural justice. It needs to be restated that the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 is a welfare legislation intended to maintain industrial peace. In that view of the matter, certain powers to do justice have to be conceded to the Labour Court/Tribunal, whether we call it ancillary, incidental or inherent."

9. It is thus well settled now that the Labour Court/Industrial Tribunal, in exercise of its ancillary and incidental powers, is competent to entertain an application to set aside an exparte order/ award and the said power cannot be circumscribed by any limitation. The ratio in Grindlays Bank Ltd. Vs. Central Govt. Industrial Tribunal, 1980 Supp SCC 420, as interpreted by the Larger Bench is that the Tribunal can exercise the said power on the broader principles contained under Order 9 Rule 13 CPC. The provisions of the Limitation Act, 1963 do not apply to the Labour Court/ Tribunal. In case a party is in position to show sufficient cause for its absence before the Labour Court/Tribunal, it is competent to entertain such application and exercise its judicious discretion to find out whether the party has approached within reasonable time and whether sufficient cause has been shown or not. Merely because an award has become enforceable upon expiry of 30 days from the date of its publication would not mean that it has also become binding on the party seeking recall of the exparte order/award. For an award to become binding, it should have been passed in compliance with the principles of natural justice. An award passed denying an opportunity of hearing when there was a sufficient cause for non-appearance can be challenged on the ground of it being nullity. An award which is a nullity cannot be and shall not be a binding award. In case a party is able to show sufficient cause within a reasonable time for its non-appearance in the Labour Court/Tribunal when it was set ex parte, the Labour Court/Tribunal is bound to consider such an application and the application cannot be rejected on the ground that it was filed after the award had become enforceable. The Labour Court/Tribunal is not functus officio after the award has become enforceable as far as setting aside an ex parte award is concerned. It is within its powers to entertain an application as per the scheme of the Act and in terms of the rules of natural justice. The judgment in Suraj Malting was rendered in context of the Central Act (Industrial Disputes Act, 1947). The instant Act applicable in U.P. contains pari materia provisions, some of which are relevant to note.

10. Section 5-C (3) invests the Labour Court/Tribunal with the same powers as are vested in a Civil court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 when trying a suit in respect of following matters, namely:-

"(a) enforcing the attendance of any person and examining him on oath or affirmation or otherwise;

(b) requiring the discovery and production of documents and material objects;

(c) issuing commissions for the examination of witnesses;

(d) inspection of any property or thing including machinery concerning any such dispute; and

(e) in respect of such other matters as may be prescribed;"

11. Section 6 of the Act lays down the manner in which award is to be given and published. Sub-section (3) provides that every award shall within a period of 30 days of its receipt by the State Government be published in such manner as the State Government thinks fit. Under sub-section (4), the State Government has been invested with power to a limited extent and upon factors mentioned thereunder, to remit the award for reconsideration. An award published as per provisions of Section 6-A has been given finality subject to clerical or arithmetical errors being corrected, in which case, again the procedure relating to publication of award has to be followed. Section 6-A provides for commencement of the award. The relevant part of Section 6-A is as follows:-

"6-A. Commencement of the award. - (1) An award (including an arbitration award) shall become enforceable on the expiry of thirty days from the date of its publication under Section 6:"

12. Section 6-D is also worth noticing, which reads thus:-

"6-D. Commencement and conclusion of proceeding. - Proceedings before a Labour Court or Tribunal shall be deemed to have commenced on the date of reference of a dispute to adjudication, and such proceedings shall be deemed to have concluded on the date on which the award becomes enforceable under Section 6-A."

13. The State Government has framed Rules in exercise of power under Section 23 of the Act. Rule 16 of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Rules, 1957 framed by the State Government, on which reliance has been placed in the impugned order, reads thus:-

"16. Labour Court or Tribunal or Arbitrator may proceed ex-parte. - (1) If, on the date fixed or on any other date to which the hearing maybe adjourned, any party to the proceedings before the Labour Court or Tribunal or an Arbitrator is absent, though duly served with summons or having the notice of date of hearing, the Labour Court or Tribunal or the Arbitrator, as the case may be, may proceed with the case in his absence and pass such order as it may deem fit and proper.

(2) The Labour Court, Tribunal or an Arbitrator may set aside the order passed against the party in his absence, if within ten days of such order, the party applies in writing for setting aside such order and shows sufficient cause for his absence. The Labour Court, Tribunal or an Arbitrator may require the party to file an affidavit, setting the cause of absence. As many copies of the application and affidavit, if any, shall be filed by the party concerned as there are persons on the opposite side. Notice of the application shall be given to the opposite parties before setting aside the order."

14. Again, under Rule 21, the Labour Courts/Tribunals have been invested with the power of a civil court in respect of discovery and inspection; granting of adjournment; reception of evidence taken on affidavit.

15. Rule 16 is the source of power of the Labour Court/Tribunal to proceed with the case in absence of a party duly served with summons or having notice of date of hearing. It has also been conferred power to set aside the order passed against the party in his absence provided sufficient cause is shown for absence. The Rule provides that such application has to be filed within 10 days from the date of passing of the order. The said time limit, in my opinion, is not an embargo placed upon the Labour Court/Tribunal to entertain application even if the delay in filing such application is sufficiently explained. If the application is filed within 10 days, the party will not be asked to explain why it had not approached earlier, but it has only to show sufficient cause for its absence. However, after 10 days, the party seeking setting aside of an exparte order, apart from showing sufficient cause for non-appearance, will also have to furnish explanation for not filing application within 10 days. This is all that the provision means in prescribing a time limit for filing the application. Any other interpretation would be contrary to the broad principles laid down by the Supreme Court in Suraj Malting and would render the provision illegal and ultra vires. The above interpretation, while obviating the need to strike down the provision, would offer a practical solution and also subserve the ends of justice. Take for instance a case where a party is not duly served with summons and comes to know of the exparte award or the order to proceed exparte after expiry of 10 days. In such a case, if the time limit prescribed under Rule 16 (2) is held to be sacrosanct, the Labour Court/Tribunal would stand denuded of its power to set aside the exparte order/award. It would be against basic tenets of jurisprudence that dispute between the parties should be decided after due service of notice and opportunity of hearing to both the sides. Rule 16 (2) was thus not an impediment in the way of the Labour Court in entertaining the application filed by the petitioner for setting aside the exparte award or deciding the same on merits. The view taken to the contrary is manifestly illegal.

16. In the instant matter, it is worth noticing that the award was published on 19.5.2018 and as per Section 6-A, the award becomes enforceable on the expiry of 30 days from the date of its publication. The application was filed on 11.6.2018 i.e. before expiry of 30 days from the date of publication of the award or its becoming enforceable under law. In such view of the matter, even otherwise, the application having been filed before the award became enforceable could not be thrown out on the ground that it was filed beyond the period prescribed under Rule 16 (2).

17. Coming to the second aspect as to whether the Labour Court/Tribunal committed any error in declining to accept the explanation offered by the petitioner for its non-appearance, it is worthwhile to note the exact explanation offered by the petitioner for its non-appearance. The case taken by the petitioner in this regard was that it came to know of exparte award on 26.5.2018. Its Manager Mahendra Singh Shekhawat (who filed affidavit in support of the application) met the authorised representative Sri Gyaneshwar Mishra. At that stage, he informed the Manager that since 5th July, 2017 he had to make frequent visits to his home district Jaunpur on account of personal work and that he had deputed his junior to do pairvi in the case, but who did not discharge the responsibility properly. Thereafter, the Manager requested the authorised representative to take appropriate steps so that the matter is decided on merits, but he expressed his inability and said that he will not be able to take any step in this regard till August, 2018 as he will remain busy with his personal work. Thereafter, the petitioner Company approached another person to act as its representative and got the application filed without any further delay on 11.6.2018. The Labour Court has observed that the petitioner has offered a confusing explanation and in case it was having knowledge that its authorised representative was visiting his home district on regular basis, it ought to have authorised another person to act on its behalf. Evidently, the Tribunal has completely misread the explanation offered by the petitioner. In M.K. Prasad (supra) where also explanation offered was that the counsel did not appear after a particular date to contest the case without any information to the party, the Supreme Court has observed thus:-

"10. In the instant case, the appellant tried to explain the delay in filing the application for setting aside the ex-parte decree as is evident from his application filed under Section 5 of the Limitation Act accompanied by his own affidavit. Even though the appellant appears not to be as vigilant as he ought to have been, yet his conduct does not, on the whole, warrant to castigate him as an irresponsible litigant. He should have been more vigilant but on his failure to adopt such extra vigilance should not have been made a ground for ousting him from the litigation with respect to the property, concededly to be valuable..."

18. In my opinion, it is a fit case where the explanation offered has to be accepted in the interest of justice. While at the same time, the inconvenience cause to the respondent workman could be compensated in terms of cost.

19. Accordingly, the application dated 11.6.2018 filed by the petitioner for setting aside exparte award is allowed. The exparte award dated 20.12.2017 is set aside subject to payment of a cost of Rs.5000/- to the respondent-workman within three weeks from today. The Tribunal shall now decide the matter afresh, after providing opportunity of hearing to both the sides.

20. The writ petition stands allowed accordingly.

Writ Petition allowed. (E-9)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Mithal, J. & Hon'ble Vipin Chandra Dixit, J.)

1. Heard Sri S.P. Singh,learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri M.C. Chaturvedi, Senior Counsel on behalf of U.P. Rajya Krishi Utpadan Mandi Parishad (In short Mandi Parishad).

2. The Mandi Parishad had purchased 8 Higher Income Group (H.I.G.) houses, situate in Pallaupuram, Phase-II, Meerut from Meerut Development Authority (In short M.D.A.).

3. The aforesaid houses were put under use of the Officers of the Mandi Parishad as their official residences. After several years, Mandi Parishad decided to sell of the said houses and accordingly invited tenders for the sale of the same.

4. The terms and conditions of the tender/sale of the houses were contained in served him a letter dated 10.01.1999 requiring him to deposit an additional amount of Rs.1,35,607/- for getting the sale deed registered as the M.D.A. from whom the Mandi Parishad had purchased the said house was required to pay additional amount as compensation to the farmers from whom the land was acquired. Subsequently, this demand of additional amount was raised to Rs.1,90,101/- vide letter dated 03.03.2001 and to Rs.4,29,409/- vide letter dated 24.03.2009.

7. It is in the aforesaid background that the petitioner has preferred this writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India seeking a writ in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to execute the sale deed in respect of house No.MH-14, situate in Pallaupuram, Phase-II, Meerut pursuant to the allotment letter dated 19.08.1996 as modified vide letter dated 04.09.1996 without realising any additional amount of the brochure issued with the tender forms. The petitioner after purchasing the tender form submitted his tender for the purchase of one of the houses. His bid was accepted as it was amongst the highest.

5. Accordingly, the petitioner was allotted one of the houses i.e. MH-16 for a total sale consideration of Rs.4,75,000/- vide letter dated 19.08.1996. Subsequently in place of house No.16, the petitioner was allotted house No.14 for the same consideration.

6. The petitioner deposited the entire sale consideration of Rs.4,75,000/- and was given possession of it on 25.10.1996. However, the sale deed was not executed. The petitioner repeatedly requested the respondents to execute the sale deed but instead of executing the sale deed, they sale consideration except the one mentioned in the allotment letter.

8. The respondents have filed counter affidavit in response to the writ petition to which even rejoinder affidavit has been filed. Thus, as the pleadings are complete counsel for the parties agree for the final disposal of the petition at the stage of the admission itself.

9. The submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that in view of the allotment letter on record the petitioner is entitle to a sale deed in respect of allotted house on the sale consideration mentioned therein as that was the highest amount of the bid of the petitioner which was accepted. The respondents cannot demand any additional sale consideration for any reason much less for the reason that the previous owner of the house is required to pay some additional compensation to the farmers. The terms and conditions of the allotment or the tenders do not provide that the bid amount or the sale consideration on which the tender of the petitioner is accepted can be revised altered or changed.

10. Sri M.C. Chaturvedi, has justified the action of the respondents in demanding the additional amount on the ground that under the terms and conditions of the tender, the Director of the Mandi Parishad had reserved right to modify the rules and conditions of the tender at any time which would be binding upon the parties.

11. He further submits that the additional demand has been made for the reason that pursuant to the judgement of the Supreme Court the compensation payable to the farmers had increased. Therefore, the M.D.A. has shifted the proportionate component of the said burden upon the Mandi Parishad in respect of the said house and accordingly, additional demand has been made from the petitioner.

12. The basic demand of additional amount is Rs.1,35,607/- as on 11.01.1999 but on account of its non-payment by applying interest it has increased from time to time. The petitioner is not entitled to any parity with the case of Ramesh Chandra Jain as on reconsideration of his matter, the demand of additional amount against him was waived vide order dated 21.03.2011 of the Mandi Parishad but subsequently after execution of the sale deed in his favour on 26.05.2011 as it transpired that the waiver is incorrect the demand has again been issued in his name of the additional amount.

13. There is no dispute to the fact that the aforesaid 8 houses including the one allotted to the petitioner were constructed by the M.D.A. after developing the acquired land. The M.D.A. has sold the said houses to the Mandi Parishad long back and the said sale deeds have become conclusive.

14. It is pertinent to mention here that once a sale deed has been executed and the entire sale consideration has been paid the vendor cannot subsequently raise demand of any additional sale consideration for any reason unless there is contrary stipulation in the sale deed.

15. The Mandi Parishad had purchased the said houses from the M.D.A. and after utilising them for a number of years had auctioned them and that in the auction the following 8 persons including the petitioner were successful and their bids were accepted.

MH-1 Smt. Naveena Chabra Rs.5.00 lacs.
MH-2 R.S. Kashyap Rs.5.00 lacs
MH-3 S.S. Lohia Rs.5.00 lacs
MH-4 Major Narendra Singh Rs.5.00 lacs
MH-13 Shri Yogendra Gupta Rs.4.75 lacs
MH-14 Kul Bhushan Virmani Rs.4,75 lacs
MH-15 Smt. Vijay Laxmi Rs.4.75 lacs
MH-16 Ramesh Chandra Jain Rs.4.75 lacs

16. The bid of the petitioner was for Rs.4,75,000/- which amount the petitioner had deposited in time. Accordingly, he was put in possession of the house on 25.10.1996. Thus, only the sale deed remain to be executed.

17. Along with the petitioner the bid of one Ramesh Chandra Jain was also accepted in respect of MH-16 again for the same amount of sale consideration of Rs.4,75,000/-. He also deposited the entire sale consideration in time but sale deed even his favour was not executed. An additional demand of similar amount was also issued against him on 28.01.2008. In fact the said demand was a common demand to all the bidders including the petitioner and the aforesaid Ramesh Chandra Jain.

18. However, the Mandi Parishad vide order dated 21.03.2011 ignored the additional demand raised against the aforesaid Ramesh Chandra Jain and executed the sale deed in his favour on 26.05.2011. It is said that after the execution of the sale deed it was realised that the additional demand was incorrectly ignored and therefore, again a fresh demand of the additional amount has been raised against him.

19. The terms and conditions of the tender have been annexed by the petitioner as annexure-1 to the petition and the same are not in dispute. The said conditions clearly provides for submission of tenders in sealed covers in respect of aforesaid 8 houses.

20. The Committee constituted for accepting the tenders was required to accept the highest tenders in respect of each of the houses whereupon 50% of the tender amount was to be deposited immediately and the balance in three months. It also provided that the possession would be delivered only after deposit of the entire amount.

21. Clause-12 of the conditions of the tender is important which provides that the Director Mandi Parishad is empowered to modify the terms and conditions of the tender and the conditions so modified would be acceptable to the parties.

22. In addition to the above, Clause 5 provides that the Committee has the right to exclude any property from the auction.

23. It is admitted that the house allotted to the petitioner has not been excluded from the auction and therefore, its auction in favour of the petitioner is final and conclusive as on date.

24. The Director Mandi Parishad has not even modified any of the terms and conditions of the tender notice.

25. The sale consideration is not part of the tender or its terms and conditions and as such could not have been modified by taking aid of Clause 12 of the terms and conditions of the tender. The said Clause permitting modification in the terms and conditions of the tender is in reference to the manner of allotment as laid down in the tender notice and is not referable to the sale consideration which was not even known to any one at the time of issuance of the tender notice. The said Clause as such do not envisages for modifying the sale consideration or the bid amount submitted by the petitioner.

26. In view of above, the submission of Sri Chaturvedi, that the respondents are entitle to modify the terms and conditions and thus have right to increase the sale consideration is bereft of merit and cannot be accepted. The modification of the terms and conditions of the tender is quite distinct and separate an issue then the alteration or increase of sale consideration which is not part of it.

27. Secondly, as stated above, the bid amount tendered by the petitioner could not be changed by the respondents. The petitioner had never agreed or offered to purchase the house in dispute on any higher amount than that mentioned in the tender. The said tender amount is the amount offered and accepted and is not liable to change unilaterally by the respondents. At best the respondents could have refused to accept the offer by holding it to be on the lower side or cancelled the auction or have excluded the property from the auction which acts were never performed by them.

28. Thus, there is concluded contract between the parties for the sale of the said house on the consideration on which the tender was accepted i.e. Rs.4,75,000/-. The respondents as such are not justified in making any additional amount for any reason.

29. Thirdly, the burden of the M.D.A. to pay additional compensation to the farmers for the acquired land cannot be shifted upon the petitioner. The petitioner is not the purchaser of the house from the M.D.A. rather he has purchased it in auction from the Mandi Parishad. The petitioner is too remote to the liability of payment of additional compensation, if any, fastened upon the M.D.A.

30. Admittedly, Ramesh Chandra Jain was also allotted one of the houses pursuant to the same tender notice in which the petitioner was allotted the house in question. Both of them were allotted the respective houses on the same sale consideration of Rs.4,75,000/-each. In the case of Ramesh Chandra Jain, the demand of additional amount of sale consideration was waived and the sale deed was executed.

31. There is no reason to give a different treatment to the petitioner and in not executing the sale deed in his favour by ignoring the additional demand.

32. The submission that the additional demand was incorrectly waived in the case of Ramesh Chandra Jain and that after the execution of the sale deed a fresh demand has been issued against him is of no consequence as once a sale deed has been executed, the amount mentioned therein cannot be altered so as to permit the vendor to demand higher sale consideration.

33. In the last, the petitioner had admittedly deposited the entire sale consideration on or before 27.01.1997 whereas the judgement of the Supreme Court directing for payment of enhance compensation to the farmers has come on 30.04.1997. During the above period 27.01.1997 to 30.04.1997 there was no legal impediment on part of the respondents for not executing the sale deed in favour of the petitioner. Had the sale deed been executed during the above period, the transaction would have come to a close, leaving no room for demand of any additional consideration. The respondents themselves are to be blamed for the delay in executing the sale deed or in not executing the sale deed within the above period.

34. Thus, in the overall facts and circumstances of the case, we are of the opinion that there was a conscious decision on part of the Mandi Parishad to sell the house in question to the petitioner on the sale consideration of Rs.4,75,000/- and the petitioner having paid the said amount in time, the respondents were obliged to execute the sale deed in his favour without demanding any additional sale consideration.

35. Accordingly, a writ in the nature of mandamus is issued to the respondents to execute the sale deed of house No. MH-14 situate in Pallaupuram, Phase-II, Meerut in favour of the petitioner on the terms and conditions of the allotment letter dated 19.08.1996 and 04.09.1996 without demanding any additional amount other than that mentioned in the allotment letters most expeditiously preferably within a period of two months from the date a copy of this order is produced before them.

36. The Writ Petition is allowed with no order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Yashwant Varma, J.)

1. Heard Sri Sanjay Goswami, the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel on behalf of the petitioners assisted by Sri Birendra Pratap Singh, the learned Standing Counsel and Sri B.K. Srivastava, learned Senior Counsel who appeared on behalf of the private respondents.

A. THE PRELIMINARY OBJECTION

2. The respondents take a preliminary objection to the maintainability of the instant writ petition, which is noted as under. Sri Srivastava refers to the decision rendered by the Supreme Court on 20 November 1986 in Banwasi Sewa Ashram Vs. State of U.P. and Others and to the following observations as entered therein to submit that the State had unambiguously conceded to accepting the decisions rendered by the Additional District Judges [ADJ] in accordance with the procedural framework evolved. Reference in this respect is made to the following observation as entered in that decision:-

"10.

(3) When the Appellate Authority finds that the claim is admissible, the State Government shall (and it is agreed before us) honour the said decision and proceed to implement the same....."

3. According to Sri Srivastava, the directions as framed clearly debar the State from assailing the orders passed by the ADJ in suo moto appeal. In view thereof, it was his contention that the instant writ petition could not be maintained. Sri Srivastava further refers to the fact that the Supreme Court had in that order itself recorded that parties were agreed that if a claim were ultimately to be established before the authorities, an appropriate title deed would be issued to the claimants. Sri Srivastava also refers to the liberty granted by the Supreme Court to parties to move it for directions as and when necessary. Referring then to the subsequent order of 18 July 1994 passed in Banwasi Sewa Ashram, Sri Srivastava draws the attention of the Court to the directions contained therein to the effect that the Revenue Secretary of the State was to implement the decisions rendered by the various ADJ's. In the backdrop of the observations as made and contained in the aforementioned two orders, it was submitted that the State was clearly estopped from assailing the orders passed by the ADJ's |and that consequently the writ petitions at their behest must be held to be not maintainable.

4. It was also in that backdrop submitted that the tenor of the orders passed by the Supreme Court and referred to above, amounted to a debarment and ouster of the jurisdiction of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution and that consequently any disputes that were to arise subsequently could be subjected to challenge only before the Supreme Court.

5. Sri Srivastava then drew the attention of the Court to an application purported to have been made by the State respondents before the Supreme Court on 15 February 2018 in which the following prayers are made:

"(a) declare null and void all such orders passed after 18.07.1994 by the Forest Settlement Officer and Additional District Judge;

(b) set aside the orders passed in favour of NTP, NCL, UPSEB and others by the Forest Settlement Officer and Additional District Judge as being illegal;

(c) set aside such orders in which the claim has already been adjudicated and fresh claims for the same land are being made by third parties;

(d) set aside the orders in which the Forest Settlement Officer and Additional District Judge have declared the land to be Jungle, Jhadi, Nadi and to be part of the proposed reserved Forest but have been illegally declared as Banjar and thereafter pattas given in favour of third parties;

(e) restrain the Forest Settlement Officer, Sonebhadra and Additional and Additional District Judge, Anpara at Obra from entertaining any fresh claims;

(f) direct the Forest Settlement Officer, Sonebhadra and Additional District Judge, Anpara at Obra to dispose of the pending claims, appeals within one week from the passing of the orders of this Hon'ble Court.

(g) Direct the Forest Settlement Officer Sonebhadra (Dy. Collector/SDM) prepare a proposal order u/s 20 to be handed over to the concerned DFO;

(h) PASS such other and further order as this Hon'ble Court may deem just and proper in the premises of this case."

6. Referring to the prayers as contained in that application, it was contended that since a general declaration with regard to the invalidity of all orders passed post 18 July 1994 has been sought, the present petition is liable to be dismissed on this score also since it is not permissible for the State to seek and pursue two parallel remedies.

7. Referring to the judgment rendered by a Full Bench of this Court in Smt. Rinki Vs. State of U.P. And Others, it was lastly submitted that the Constitution binds all Courts and authorities to act in aid of the Supreme Court in light of the provisions made in Articles 141 and 144 of the Constitution. Referring to the principles laid down and recognized by the Full Bench in that decision, it was submitted that no Court can ignore or fail to comply with the directions that are issued by the Supreme Court. He refers to the position in law as encapsulated in paragraphs 32, 34 and 36 of that decision which read thus:

"32. Failure to comply with the direction of Hon'ble Supreme Court has always been deprecated. In this regard, reference may be had to paragraph 9 of the judgment in the case of Bharat Earth Movers v. Commissioner of Income Tax, Karnataka, (2000) 6 SCC 645, which is extracted herein below:

"9. Before parting, we would like to observe that when this appeal came up for hearing on 24.3.1999 we felt some difficulty in proceeding to answer the question arising for decision because the orders of the authorities below and of the Tribunal did not indicate how the leave account was operated by the appellants and the leave salary provision was made. To appreciate the facts correctly and in that light to settle the law we had directed the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal to frame a supplementary statement of case based on books of account and other relevant contemporaneous records of the appellant which direction was to be complied with within a period of six months. The hearing was adjourned sine die. After a lapse of sixteen months the matter was listed before the Court on 20.7.2000. The only communication received by this Court from the Tribunal was a letter dated 20th June, 2000 asking for another six months time to submit the supplementary statement of case which prayer being unreasonable, was declined. Under Section 258 of the Income Tax Act, 1961, the High Court or the Supreme Court have been empowered to call for supplementary statement of case when they find the one already before it not satisfactory. Article 144 of the Constitution obliges all authorities, civil and judicial, in the territory of India to act in aid of the Supreme Court. Failure to comply with the directions of this court by the Tribunal has to be deplored. We expect the Tribunal to be more responsive and more sensitive to the directions of this Court. We leave this aspect in this case by making only this observation."

34. We may also notice that Government of India Act, 1935 under Section 210 (1) also had a provision similar to Article 144 of the Constitution of India. Section 210 (1) of Government of India Act, 1935 is reproduced below:-

"210. Enforcement of decrees and orders of Federal Court and orders as to discovery, etc- (1) All authorities, civil and judicial, throughout the Federation, shall act in aid of the Federal Court".

36. The principle of law as embodied in Article 141 and 144 of the Constitution of India as discussed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the aforementioned judgments does not leave any scope whatsoever for either this Court or for any authority in the State Government not to act in accordance with the directions contained in any judgment or order passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court. Any act by any authority in derogation and even in contravention of an order passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court cannot be approved of on any count or for any reason whatsoever."

8. Refuting those contentions, Sri Goswami, the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel, submits that the directions contained in the order of 20 November 1986 itself clearly provided that the orders passed by the ADJ's would be contemplated to be orders made under the provisions of the Indian Forest Act, 1927. In that backdrop, it was submitted that the State was neither injuncted nor estopped from assailing the orders so passed. He further submitted that the jurisdiction of the Court under Article 226 of the Constitution was neither specifically nor by intendment excluded. It was also his submission that the power of judicial review as conferred on this Court has been recognised as part of the basic structure of the Constitution. It was submitted that the constitutional jurisdiction as conferred on the Court cannot be understood to have been intended to be excluded by any of the orders passed by the Supreme Court in Banwasi Sewa Ashram.

9. Sri Goswami further submits that it clearly does not lie in the mouth of the respondents to allege an infraction of the directions framed by the Supreme Court bearing in mind the fact that they themselves chose to invoke the jurisdiction of the concerned Forest Settlement Officer and ADJ in stark violation of the timeframe stipulated therein. According to Sri Goswami, strict timelines had been stipulated by the Supreme Court which were liable to be scrupulously adhered to and as the facts of the instant case itself would evidence, a highly belated claim was entertained and allowed in clear violation of the procedure prescribed by the Supreme Court.

10. Dealing then with the ambit of the application made by the State on 15 February 2018, it was submitted that the reliefs as framed therein cannot be read without reference to the context in which they were framed. Sri Goswami submitted that the State is faced with a situation where despite closure of proceedings and the Supreme Court mandating that no further claims can be entertained or ruled upon, the Forest Settlement Officers continue to entertain claims and are doing so even now. According to Sri Goswami, even though the Supreme Court had directed that the Courts of the ADJ's be wound down, they are continuing to function and are being approached with claims which are raised and laid belatedly and in any case beyond the time frame as mandated in the orders passed in Banwasi Sewa Ashram. It was his submission that the application which is referred to is not intended to be an action on the part of the State to invoke the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court to go into the individual correctness of orders but to lay down as a rule whether the continued exercise of jurisdiction by the Forest Settlement Officers and the ADJ's is valid in law or not.

11. Having noticed the submissions addressed on the preliminary objection that was raised, the Court now proceeds to deal with the same as under.

12. At the very outset, it becomes pertinent to note that as this Court reads the directions issued by the Supreme Court and embodied in the first decision of Banwasi Sewa Ashram rendered on 20 November 1986, it fails to find any vestige of an intendment to denude this Court of its constitutional jurisdiction conferred by Article 226 of the Constitution. It would firstly be apposite to note the backdrop in which the directions as contained in the order of 20 November 1986 came to be passed. The Supreme Court was principally moved by way of a Letter Petition that sought to highlight the injustices being meted out on tribals and traditional forest dwellers residing in that region whose rights of possession over land was being violated without the due process of law being adhered to. It was principally concerned with a violation of their rights and the position in which they stood placed in light of their social and economic backwardness. It was faced with the spectre of their traditional rights to dwell in forest and to use its produce that was being overlooked and disregarded by virtue of those lands being included in a proposed reserved forest without a valid enquiry being undertaken. The Supreme Court also took into consideration the various reports submitted before it which established that their right to object to the proposed inclusion of their lands had been woefully disregarded in violation of the procedure prescribed under the 1927 Act. It was in that backdrop that they proceeded to frame directions evolving a unique process for adjudication of claims. As was observed by this Court in its decision rendered in State of U.P. And Another Vs. The A.D.J. Sonbhadra And Ors., the directions as framed by the Supreme Court, evidenced a departure from the statutory procedure otherwise stipulated and contemplated under the 1927 Act. In that sense, the directions as issued constituted the fountainhead and the sole basis of the procedure that was liable to be followed by the Forest Settlement Officers for the purposes of disposal of claims. These directions insofar as they stand embodied in the decision rendered on 20 November 1986 set forth a time frame for submission of objections and their disposal by the Forest Settlement Officers. In a significant departure from the procedure otherwise prescribed under the 1927 Act, the orders of the Forest Settlement Officers were directed to be placed before the concerned ADJ's by way of what was described to be suo moto appeals. The said safeguard appears to have been essentially put into place to ensure that the orders and decisions as made by the Forest Settlement Officers were duly scrutinized by a trained and accomplished judicial authority before being conferred with the attributes of a valid adjudication undertaken under the 1927 Act. It was in that backdrop that it was provided that the orders of the ADJ's. would be entitled to be viewed as orders passed under the Act.

13. However, the Court finds no observation entered or made either in the order dated 20 November 1986 or of 18 July 1994, which may even remotely tend to indicate or establish the intent of the Supreme Court to oust the jurisdiction of this Court conferred by Article 226 of the Constitution. The debarment of the jurisdiction of this Court to exercise the power of judicial review cannot be lightly assumed especially since that power itself has been recognised as being part of the basic structure of our Constitution. The question whether the jurisdiction of this Court conferred by Article 226 of the Constitution stands ousted and barred and whether the State is estopped from challenging the orders passed by the ADJ's are in fact separate and distinct issues. Learned senior counsel appearing for the contesting private respondent clearly appears to incorrectly assume that they are intermingled. Bearing in mind the constitutional attributes imbued upon Article 226, the respondents were liable to discharge a heavy burden and scale a high standard in order to establish its ouster. This they have woefully failed to do. In any case, from the directions as framed in Banwasi Sewa Ashram, the Court finds itself unable to countenance this contention. The plea raised in this respect is consequently rejected.

14. Turning then to the issue of estoppel, the Court notes that while the Supreme Court may have observed that the officers of the State Government would be bound to implement the decisions rendered at the end of the adjudicatory process and honour the same, this Court finds itself unable to read those observations as estopping the State from assailing orders passed by the ADJ's if the peculiar facts and circumstances of particular cases so warranted and necessitated. This more so when the orders are assailed on the ground of having been made in violation of those directions themselves. The Court bears in mind the principal submission addressed on behalf of the petitioners who assert that the settlement procedure evolved was never intended to be an unending process or one which was to continue in perpetuity. According to the respondents, contrary to the unambiguous command of the Supreme Court prescribing strict time lines for conclusion of the settlement process, highly belated claims like the one presented by the private respondent were entertained thus constituting a violation of those directions itself. In the considered view of this Court, the concession as given before the Supreme Court cannot possibly be stretched to even those cases and situations where the provisions made in Banwasi Sewa Ashram are themselves violated. The Court also bears in mind the orders passed in Banwasi Sewa Ashram on 10 May 1991, 16 February 1993 and 4 October 1993 when the Supreme Court itself permitted a reopening and reconsideration of adjudications made by ADJ'S by permitting parties to move the authorities by way of review and special review. These orders also clearly establish that finality was not accorded to the first round of adjudication which was concluded pursuant to the order of 20 November 1986. These orders in unambiguous terms conferred a right upon parties to seek review where orders were found to suffer from patent and manifest errors. The plea of estoppel is thus turned down.

15. Insofar as the liberty accorded to parties to move the Supreme Court even after the writ petition had been finally disposed of is concerned, suffice it to note that the same stood restricted to the need to move that Court "for directions..". The liberty so accorded clearly did not envisage individual adjudications being subjected to challenge before the Supreme Court only. The argument therefore that the State was estopped or that the orders passed in Banwasi Sewa Ashram denude it of the right to assail individual adjudications cannot be countenanced.

16. That leaves the Court to deal with the application which is stated to have been made by the State and in which a declaration is sought to the effect that all orders passed by the Forest Settlement Officers and ADJ's post 18 July 1994 be declared null and void. As was rightly submitted by Sri Goswami the prayer so addressed cannot be viewed or appreciated without bearing in mind the backdrop in which the application itself came to be made. The background facts which appear to have compelled and constrained the State to move the Supreme Court in 2018 in respect of a matter which had attained closure in 1994 is evident from the following pleadings as taken in that application:

"(x) In compliance of the Order of this Hon'ble Court dated 18.07.1994, the Ld. ADJ, Anpara (at Obera-Sonbhadra), was to function till 30.09.1994. However, new applications of individuals who claim to have rights to the land for which Section 4 Notification of the Indian Forest Act, 1927 has been issued, are still being decided by the Forest Settlement Officer, Sonbhadra and Appeals against the said decisions are still being admitted and adjudicated upon by the Ld. ADJ, Anpara (at Obera-Sonbhadra). Under these circumstances, the Applicant Departmentis aggrieved by the impossibility of issuing Notification under S. 20 of the Indian Forests Act, 1927.

(xi) These applications that are being filed at this belated stage are being filed by 3rd Parties that have no lineage as Tribals and the same are being filed with the motive of staking a claim to land that is not rightfully theirs. The applicant is filing once such example of Shri Ramji Mishra who admittedly is a resident of Bihar as would be evident from the letter dated 02.08.2016 which shows that Shri Ramji Mishra worked as Fuse-man in the Division since 02.04.1986 to 31.01.2003 and was a permanent resident of village and post office Bharoli Via Shahpur Pahi-Shahabad District Ara Bihar. True translated copy of the order dated 27.08.1990 passed by the Forest Settlement Officer, Sonbhadra and true translated copy of the order dated 23.02.1993 passed by the Additional District Judge and true translated copy of the letter dated 02.08.2016 are annexed and marked as ANNEXURE: A-4 (Page 36 to 40), ANNEXURE: A-5 (Page 41 to 43 & ANNEXURE: A-6 (Page 44) respectively.

(xii) Similarly the Forest Settlement Officer has given propriety rights to Northern Coal Fields Ltd. (NCL), NTPC and UPSEB and others for about 450 hectares. The applicant is annexing a chart giving some of the details of land given to NCL as well as NTPC are annexed and marked as ANNEXURE: A-7 (Page 45 to 49). The applicant is also annexing the translated copy of the order of the Forest Settlement Officer in case No.6044 NCL Vs. Forest Department dated 07.08.1990 and true translated copy of the order dated 22.04.1992 passed by the Additional District Judge Sonbhadra in Case No.2955/1990 are annexed and marked as Annexure: A-8 (Page 50 to 51) & ANNEXURE A-9 (Page 52 to 53) respectively.

7. With regard to 3rd Parties filing claims and the same being adjudicated in their favour by the Forest Settlement Officer and the Ld. ADJ, the Applicant Department would like to point out the example of one Ramji Mishra to whom 3.3050 hectares of forest land has been awarded in terms of various orders by the Forest Settlement Officer and confirmed by the Additional District Judge. Ramji Mishra is a resident of Bihar who worked as a Fuse man with the UP Jal Vidyut Nigam for the period 02.04.1986 to 31.01.2003. He has so far been awarded 3.3050 hectares of Forest Land in terms of various orders of the FSO and Ld. ADJ. It is also pertinent to point out that in CRL MP 16269/2009, the Applicant Department, had pointed out approximately 60 such outsiders who have been awarded various tracts of land from the Forest Land for which Section 4 Notification had been issued."

17. From the averments taken in that application, it is manifest that what has driven the State to move the Supreme Court is a continued entertainment of objections by the Forest Settlement Officers and the ADJ's much after and beyond the dates prescribed had elapsed and the time frames as stipulated in the last order of the Supreme Court. The State refers to the order dated 18 July 1994 to submit that in terms of this order the Special Courts of ADJ's were to function only till 30 September 1994 and it was assessed that all proceedings for adjudication and settlement of claims would have come to an end by then. Despite much time having elapsed even after the said date the State asserts in that application that the jurisdiction of the Forest Settlement Officers and ADJ"s is being continually invoked in respect of matters which should have been rendered finality in light of the orders passed. It has referred to various cases and instances where the jurisdiction of the Forest Settlement Officers and ADJ's was invoked as late as in 2016. On a holistic reading of the application, it is therefore clear that what has compelled the State ostensibly to move the Supreme Court is to bring a closure to the entire process of settlement which was to have concluded in light of the directions as contained in the order of 18 July 1994. The application in essence appears to call upon the Supreme Court to clarify and declare whether the settlement process was envisaged to be a continuing and ongoing process or one which was to terminate once the deadline framed by the Supreme Court was reached. The application does not appear to call upon the Supreme Court to go into individual facts or the correctness or otherwise of individual orders passed by the Forest Settlement Officers and ADJ's

18. In view of the above and for all the reasons assigned hereinabove, the preliminary objection fails and is negatived.

B. ON MERITS

19. This petition challenges the orders dated 8 May 1997, 12 March 1999, 29 February 2000 and 11 April 2001 passed by the State respondents. The dispute itself relates to Plot Nos. 439 and 448 which were included in a notification issued by the State under Section 4 of the 1927 Act on 4 July 1970. The private respondent is stated to have filed objection to the inclusion of these plots on 30 April 1997. This objection was entertained by the Forest Settlement Officer despite the specific objection of the State that the same was not maintainable having been made beyond the timelines as fixed by the Supreme Court. It was further asserted by the State in those objections that the land had been rightly included in the proposed reserved forest since it was covered by trees and shrubs and the land was clearly not of a cultivable character. Those objections were overruled by the Forest Settlement Officer by his order of 8 May 1997 on the ground that the respondent had proved being in possession of the plots from 1385 Fasli (corresponding to the English calendar year of 1978). On this score as well as by extending the benefits of Section 131-A of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 the claim of the private respondent was allowed and directions framed for exclusion of the two plots from the proposed reserved forest. The aforesaid order was affirmed by the Additional District Judge in suo moto appeal in terms of the judgment rendered on 12 March 1999. The State thereafter appears to have made applications for review and special review which also came to be dismissed and which orders also are assailed in the instant writ petition.

20. Before this Court, Sri Goswami, the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel appearing for the State, contends that there was no occasion for the Forest Settlement Officer to have entertained the objections in 1997 in respect of land that had been included in a notification issued under Section 4 decades earlier in 1970. He submitted that the delay has been cursorily condoned by the Forest Settlement Officer alluding to the provisions made in Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963 and by only observing that sufficient cause existed for condonation of delay. According to Sri Goswami, the manner in which delay has been condoned clearly flies in the face of the peremptory directions issued by the Supreme Court and the timeframe stipulated in the various orders passed in Banwasi Sewa Ashram. It was submitted that despite clear directions having been issued by the Supreme Court for closure of all settlement and adjudicatory processes by 30 September 1994, the Forest Settlement Officer proceeded to entertain objections preferred by the petitioner in clear violation of the directions of the Supreme Court. It was further submitted that neither the Forest Settlement Officer nor the Additional district Judge rely upon any evidence, which may have established that the nature and character of the land was such that it did not merit inclusion in a proposed reserved forest. According to Sri Goswami, the entire process of adjudication was based solely upon an alleged inspection stated to have been undertaken in 1997 and in any case the Forest Settlement Officer does not place reliance on any material which may have established that in 1970 when the Section 4 Notification was issued, the land did not fall within the genre and category of land which was liable to be included under Section 4 of the 1927 Act. Sri Goswami also refers to the provisions made in Section 5 of the 1927 Act to submit that there could have been no acquisition of rights post the issuance of the Notification issued under Section 4. According to Sri Goswami, the ADJ also committed a manifest error in proceeding to affirm and endorse the decision entered by the Forest Settlement Officer.

21. The Court firstly notes that the Forest Settlement Officer appears to have proceeded under a misconception that the provisions of Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963 applied. As was noticed in the earlier parts of this order as well as the detailed judgment rendered in State of U.P., the procedure for adjudication of rights was governed exclusively by the provisions made by the Supreme Court in Banwasi Sewa Ashram. It was the procedure that was evolved by the Supreme Court there which governed the trial of claims. There was consequently no occasion for the Forest Settlement Officer to place reliance upon the provisions made in Section 5 of the 1963 Act. The Court additionally notes that the private respondent proffered no plausible explanation for having failed to invoke the jurisdiction of the Forest Settlement Officer prior to 1997 in respect of a notification that was issued in 1970. The respondent also did not participate in the settlement process which ensued pursuant to the directions issued in Banwasi Sewa Ashram.

22. The Court further finds that the nature and character of the land which was alluded to by the State in its objection has also not been appreciated. This principally since the Forest Settlement Officer appears to have based his decision solely on the inspection which was carried out many decades after the Notification under Section 4 had been issued. It has thus clearly erred in failing to consider this aspect which was crucial for the adjudication to be recognised as valid in law. As is further evident from a reading of the order impugned, the Forest Settlement Officer bases the grant of relief to the respondent solely on the fact that she had been in possession from 1385 Fasli. That clearly could not have been determinative since what alone would have been of relevance would be the rights which parties claimed to exist and as inhering in them on the date when the Section 4 Notification had come to be issued. Dealing with the impact of Section 5 of the 1927 Act and the bar to accrual of rights, this Court in State of U.P. observed thus:

"Viewed from the angle of the provisions engrafted in the 1927 Act, the Court notes that once the notification under Section 4 of the 1927 Act came to be issued on 4 July 1970, the statutory restraint comprised in Section 5 of that Act also applied. Section 5, it becomes important to recall, prohibits the acquisition of rights in or over land comprised in a Section 4 notification except by way of succession, grant or contract in writing made by the Government. Section 131 A as is evident does not override or eclipse the prohibition put in place by Section 5 of the 1927 Act. In order, therefore, to accord a harmonious construction upon Section 131A of the 1950 Act bearing in mind Section 5 of the 1927 Act, it must be interpreted to extend at best to land held in cultivatory possession from prior to the issuance of the notification under Section 4..."

23. It is relevant to note that the respondent does not refer to any evidence to establish a right to possess or to work the land as may have existed prior to 4 July 1970 when the plots in question came to be included in the proposed reserved forest. The respondent asserted a right over the land only from 1978. No evidence appears to have been placed nor is any such proof referred to by the Forest Settlement Officer in order to establish a right of cultivatory possession being exercised by the respondent from prior to the issuance of the notification under Section 4. Even before this Court no evidence or material was either alluded or referred to which could have possibly been read as operating in favour of the respondent. No rights could have either accrued, stood created or been acquired after the notification under Section 4 came to be issued and the land stood included in the proposed reserved forest. The claim of the respondent must resultantly be held to be barred by Section 5 of the 1927 Act.

24. Insofar as the extension of benefits under Section 131-A is concerned, this Court had an occasion to deal with the scope and ambit of that provision in some detail in State of U.P. where after ultimately analyzing the provisions made under the 1950 Act as well as the Forest Conservation Act, 1980 and the various orders passed by the Supreme Court, it recognized and laid down the legal position to be as under:

"That then takes the Court to deal with the submission addressed in the backdrop of Section 131-A of the 1950 Act. Section 131-A was initially promulgated by way of Ordinance No. 7 of 1987. It was ultimately introduced in the statute by virtue of U.P. Act 14 of 1987. Section 131A principally extends protection to those persons who were found to be in cultivatory possession of land in the portion of District Mirzapur South of the Kaimur Range prior to 30 June 1978 and confers on such individuals the status of a bhumidhar with non transferable rights on such land. Whether this provision would be sufficient to safeguard the asserted interest of the private respondent is the issue that consequently falls for determination. While dealing with this question it would be apposite to bear in mind the fact that by the time that this measure was introduced, the 1980 Act already stood in place. The rights which are claimed by the respondents in terms of its provisions would merit examination and evaluation from a dual perspective- firstly, on the basis of the language of the section itself and other attendant provisions of the 1950 Act and secondly, in the backdrop of the statutory regime governing forests which otherwise exists.

On a plain reading of Section 131A, it is evident that the provision is neither stated to have overriding effect over the other parts of the 1950 Act nor is it worded to be in supersession of other statutes that may operate on the subject of forests. As is manifest, that provision is not worded so as to apply notwithstanding a prohibition or restraint contained in any other enactment which touches the field of forests and rights that may accrue on land on which forests may exist. In its barest form, Section 131A seeks to protect the possession of persons on land which may vest in a Gaon Sabha by virtue of Section 117 of that Act. Section 117 provides that the State Government may by a general or special order vest in a Gaon Sabha or other local authority land that had come to vest with it upon promulgation of the 1950 Act. It becomes relevant to recall that Section 4 of the 1950 Act envisaged the vesting of all estates situate in the State with the Government upon abolition of zamindari. Section 117 while enumerating the categories of vested land that may be transferred not just speaks of forests but also of land cultivable or otherwise, trees, fisheries, ponds, tanks, water channels, pathways and abadi sites. Consequently when Section 131A refers to land vesting in a Gaon Sabha under Section 117, it cannot be understood as being with regard to possession of persons upon forests alone. Possession of a person may be found to exist even on land cultivable or otherwise or on any other category of estates vesting in the State.

The second internal control on the benefit conferred by that provision is manifest from its opening lines itself which makes its provisions subject to Sections 132 and 133A of the 1950 Act. Section 132 of the 1950 Act essentially declares that bhumidhari rights shall not accrue upon the categories of land enumerated therein. This statutory interdict also applies to land declared or held by the Government for a public purpose in terms of Section 132 (c). It would be pertinent to recollect that the land forming subject matter of the instant writ petition formed part of the "Dudhi Forest" which was transferred by the State Government from the Department of Revenue to the Forest Department on 15/16 May 1950, a fact noted in the introductory part of this judgment. It is therefore apparent that a forest under the ownership and control of the State of U.P. existed in 1950 itself. Clearly, therefore, in 1950 the State of U.P. held land which constituted a forest. That the creation and preservation of forests is a constitutional obligation and would clearly constitute a public purpose cannot possibly be disputed. Significantly, clause (c) of Section 132 while expanding upon the categories which would constitute land held for a public purpose employs the phrase "..in particular and without prejudice to the generality of this clause...". It is thus evident that clause (c), while specifying categories of lands held for a public purpose, is not exhaustive but merely illustrative. On a foundational plane, therefore, the Court finds it difficult to accept the proposition that possessory rights claimed on forests were entitled to be perfected by virtue of Section 131A. The problem, however arises on account of that provision specifically referring to land in respect of which a notification under Section 20 of the 1927 may not have been issued and thus evincing an intent to extend the coverage of Section 131A even to forests.

The Court finds that there is no explicit or straightforward expression of intent to extend the benefits of that provision to land covered under Section 4 of the 1927 Act. Assuming that was the legislative intent, it was open for the Legislature to have said so plainly. It is apposite to note that the provision was introduced in 1987 by which time the 1980

Act was already in force and Section 2 thereof applied. It also becomes apposite to note that U.P. Act 14 of 1987 was not reserved for the assent of the President. More importantly, Parliament by virtue of Act No. 69 of 1988 introduced clause (iii) in Section 2 of the 1980 Act restraining State Governments from assigning forest land to persons by way of lease or otherwise. Of equal import is the order dated 8 February 1989 passed in Banwasi Sewa Ashram which clarified that land covered in a notification under Section 4 of the 1927 Act would also be subject to the rigours imposed by Section 2 of the 1980 Act. If Section 131A were to be conferred the interpretation as suggested by the respondents it would clearly breach the provisions of Section 2 of the 1980 Act.

The Court also bears in mind the decision rendered by the Supreme Court in Godavarman which explained the does not override or eclipse the prohibition put in place by Section 5 of the 1927 Act. In order, therefore, to accord a harmonious construction upon Section 131A of the 1950 Act bearing in mind Section 5 of the 1927 Act, it must be interpreted to extend at best to land held in cultivatory possession from prior to the issuance of the notification under Section 4. The assertion of a right under Section 131A and a recognition thereof in law would also have to be tested on the anvil of Section 2 of the 1980 and the orders of the Supreme Court referred to above. The extent of protection which can be recognised cannot be viewed in the abstract and in any case cannot be adjudged without bearing in mind the provisions made in the 1927 and the 1980 Acts."

25. From the exposition of the law with respect to the applicability of Section 131-A, it is clear and manifest that no expression forest to be understood not just as defined in dictionaries but also to any land which answered the description of forest as generally understood as also land recorded as forest irrespective of ownership. The rights consequently claimed by virtue of Section 131A cannot be recognised as flowing unhindered by the restrictions imposed in that decision.

Viewed from the angle of the provisions engrafted in the 1927 Act, the Court notes that once the notification under Section 4 of the 1927 Act came to be issued on 4 July 1970, the statutory restraint comprised in Section 5 of that Act also applied. Section 5, it becomes important to recall, prohibits the acquisition of rights in or over land comprised in a Section 4 notification except by way of succession, grant, or contract in writing made by the Government. Section 131A as is evident relief was liable to be granted to the private respondent de hors a consideration of the aforesaid factors.

26. Accordingly and for the reasons aforementioned, the instant writ petition is allowed. The orders dated 8 May 1997 and 12 March 1999 are quashed. Since the principal orders have been quashed, the subsequent orders dated 29 February 2000 and 11 April 2001 shall also resultantly stand set aside.

3. State of U.P. and 2 others Vs. National Human Rights Commission, Writ C No.7890 of 2014

(Delivered by Hon'ble Prakash Padia, J.)

1. Heard Sri Suresh Singh, learned Chief Standing Counsel for the petitioners and Sri R. P. Singh Parihar, learned counsel for the respondent no.2.

2. The petitioners have preferred the present writ petition for quashing of the order dated 7.11.2016 passed by U.P. Human Rights Commission, Lucknow in Case No.1757(71)/2016-17 by which the District Magistrate, Fatehpur/Superintendent of Police, Fatehpur were directed to pay Rs. 1 lac to the Ansarul Haq/respondent no.2 and to inform the Commission.

3. The facts in brief as contained in the writ petition are that the respondent no.2 namely Ansarul Haq sustained injuries on the head and in the right eye due to the riots which occurred on 14.1.2016 during the procession on the occasion of Makar Sankranti at Jahanabad, District Fatehpur. After the aforesaid incident the respondent no.2 moved an application dated 10.5.2016 to the Chief Minister, Govt. of U.P., claiming for the compensation. In this regard a certificate was also issued in favour of the respondent no.2 on 14.6.2016 by the Chief Medical Officer, Fatehpur, stating therein that the right eye of the complainant/respondent no.2 is 100% blind and left eye is normal and as such the opinion was recorded to the effect that the disability suffered by the respondent no.2 is 30%. A scheme was introduced by the State Government namely "U.P. Victim Compensation Scheme-2014" in which it is provided that a victim shall be eligible for the grant of compensation if he is found eligible under the provisions of para 4 of the Victim Compensation Scheme-2014, which was amended vide amendment scheme dated 7.6.2016.

4. Paragraph 4 of the U.P. Victim Compensation Scheme-2014 as has been published in the official gazette on 09.4.2014 is reproduced below :-

"4. A victim shall be eligible for the grant of compensation if:

(a) the offender is not traced or identified, but the victim is identified and where no trial takes place; such victim may also apply for grant of compensation under sub section (4) of section 357-A of the Act;

(b) the victim/claimant reports the crime to the officer-in-charge of the police station within 48 hours of the occurrence or any senior police officer or Executive Magistrate or Judicial Magistrate of the area provided that the District Legal Services Authority, if satisfied for the reasons to be recorded in writing, may condone the delay in reporting;

(c) the victim/claimant cooperates with the police and the prosecution during the investigation and trial of the case."

5. It is contended that as per the aforesaid scheme of 2014 a person is entitled for compensation when he sustained disability ranging from 40 to 80%. It is further argued that the respondent no.2 sustained injuries causing disability only upto 30%. On the application submitted by the respondent no.2 before the Chief Minister an order was passed on 2.8.2016 under the signatures of the Secretary (Account) Govt. of U.P., Lucknow by which an order was passed to pay a sum of Rs.20,000/- to the respondent no.2 under the U.P. Relief Fund Scheme. In compliance of the aforesaid order the amount of Rs.2,00,000/- (two lacs) was duly paid to the respondent no.2 by the District Magistrate, Fatehpur vide cheque dated 31.8.2016. Being not satisfied with the aforesaid amount of compensation, the respondent no.2 made an application before the Chairman/Secretary, State Human Rights Commission, Lucknow, which was registered as Case No.1757 (71)/2016-17. On the aforesaid application the State Human Rights Commission, Lucknow wrote a letter dated 18.5.2016 to the Superintendent of Police, Fatehpur for conducting the enquiry and to submit its report in respect of the aforesaid complaint. Pursuant to the same, an enquiry was got conducted and the report dated 27.7.2016 was submitted by the Circle Officer, Bindki, to the Superintendent of Police, Fatehpur, on 27.7.2016, copy of which is appended as annexure 11 to the writ petition.

6. The aforesaid report was duly forwarded by the Superintendent of Police, Fatehpur, to the Secretary, Human Rights Commission, Lucknow vide its letter dated 30.7.2016. Thereafter, the U.P. Human Rights Commission, Lucknow/respondent no.1 without considering the materials available on the record and without considering the provisions of law specially the provisions of Section 18 of the Protection of Human Rights Act, 1993 passed the order dated 07.11.2016 by which the compensation of Rs.1 lac was awarded to the complainant/respondent no.2. The District Magistrate/Superintendent of Police, Fatehpur, were directed to pay the aforesaid amount to the complainant/respondent no.2. Further directions were given to the District Magistrate, Fatehpur/Superintendent of Police to make the aforesaid compensation to the complainant/respondent no.2 and inform the commission, copy of the order dated 7.11.2016 passed by the respondent no.1 is appended as annexure 1 to the writ petition. Aggrieved against the aforesaid decision taken by the respondent no.1 petitioners have preferred the present writ petition.

7. It is argued by Sri Suresh Singh, learned Chief Standing Counsel that the order impugned passed by the respondent no.1 is perverse and without jurisdiction and have been passed without application of judicial mind and as such the same is liable to be quashed. It is further argued that Section 18 provides that where the inquiry discloses the commission of violation of human rights or negligence in the prevention of violation of human rights or abetment thereof by a public servant, it may recommend to the concerned Government or authority to make payment of compensation or damages to the complainant or to the victim or the members of his family as the Commission may consider necessary.

8. It is further argued that in so far as the present case is concerned, no finding whatsoever has been recorded in the order impugned that there is any violation of human rights or there is any negligence in the prevention of violation of human rights or abetment thereof by a public servant. It is further provided that commission may recommend to the concerned Government or authority to make payment of compensation or damages to the complainant or to the victim or to the members of the family but by the impugned order the respondent no.1 directed the District Magistrate/Superintendent of Police to make the payment of compensation as such the order impugned passed by the respondent no.1 is without jurisdiction. It is further argued that the complaint moved by the respondent no.2 was not maintainable since there is no allegation regarding the commission of violation of human rights or negligence in prevention of violation of human rights or abetement thereof by public servant. It is further argued that the respondent no.2 sustained injuries in one eye due to which disability sustained by him is 30% and as such the respondent no.2 was not eligible for compensation/damages under the U.P. Victim Compensation Scheme-2014 as amended in the year 2016. Inspite of the same, an order was passed to make the payment of Rs.20,000/- in favour of respondent no.2 under the scheme of Relief Fund scheme of the Chief Minister but without considering the aforesaid aspect of the matter impugned order has been passed.

9. In the counter affidavit it is stated by the learned counsel for the respondent no.2 that the order passed by the respondent no.1, which is impugned in the present writ petition is absolutely perfect and valid and does not call for any interference by this Court specially under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

10. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

11. With the consent of learned counsel for the parties, the writ petition is being disposed of finally at the admission stage itself.

12. The challenge before the Court, which is addressed during the course of submissions, is that the power of Commission under Section 18 (a) (1) of the Act, 1993. It is argued that the Commission under the aforesaid provision can only "recommend" to the concerned Government Authority to make payment of compensation or damages to the complainant or to the victim or members of his family.

13. In view of the aforesaid it is submitted that the power of the Commission being re-commendatory in nature and direction given by the Commission to the District Magistrate, Fatehpur/Superintendent of Police, Fatehpur, to furnish proof of compliance of payment of compensation to the extent of Rs.100,000/- (one lac) to the respondent no.2 is contrary in law and is liable to be set aside.

14. The National Human Rights Commission has been constituted, together with the State Human Rights Commissions, "for better protection of human rights" and for related ancillary matters. The Commission is a high powered body whose Chairperson is a person who has been the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Among its members is a person who is, or has been a Judge of the Supreme Court; and another who is, or has been the Chief Justice of a High Court. Two other members are to be appointed from amongst persons having knowledge of, or practical experience in, matters relating to human rights. The appointment of the Chairperson and Members is by a Committee chaired by the Prime Minister and which includes among other persons, the Speaker of the Lok Sabha, Union Minister of Home Affairs, the leaders of the opposition in the Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha and the Deputy Chairperson of the Rajya Sabha. The presence of these high dignitaries on the selection committee is indicative of the importance which Parliament has ascribed to the functions of the Commission.

15. The functions of the Commission under Section 12 include among other things, the power to inquire suo motu or on a petition presented to it by a victim or any person on his behalf or on a direction of a court, into a complaint of the violation of human rights or abetment thereof or negligence in the prevention of such a violation, by a public servant.

16. Section 12 which defines the functions of the Commission is in the following terms:

"12. Functions of the Commission.--The Commission shall perform all or any of the following functions, namely:--

(a) inquire, suo-motu or on a petition presented to it by a victim or any person on his behalf [or on a direction or order of any court], into complaint of--

(i) violation of human rights or abetment thereof; or

(ii) negligence in the prevention of such violation, by a public servant;

(b) intervene in any proceeding involving any allegation of violation of human rights pending before a court with the approval of such court;

(c) visit, notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, any jail or other institution under the control of the State Government, where persons are detained or lodged for purposes of treatment, reformation or protection, for the study of the living conditions of the inmates thereof and make recommendations thereon to the Government;

(d) review the safeguards provided by or under the Constitution or any law for the time being in force for the protection of human rights and recommend measures for their effective implementation;

(e) review the factors, including acts of terrorism, that inhibit the enjoyment of human rights and recommend appropriate remedial measures;

(f) study treaties and other international instruments on human rights and make recommendations for their effective implementation;

(g) undertake and promote research in the field of human rights;

(h) spread human rights literacy among various sections of society and promote awareness of the safeguards available for the protection of these rights through publications, the media, seminars and other available means;

(i) encourage the efforts of non-governmental organisation and institutions working in the field of human rights;

(j) such other functions as it may consider necessary for the promotion of human rights."

17. When it makes inquiries, the Commission under Section 13 has all the powers of a civil court while trying a suit under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 and, in particular, in respect of the matters enumerated therein. The Commission for the purposes of investigation is empowered under Section 14, to utilise the services of any officer or investigation agency of the Central Government or any State Government with the concurrence of the Central Government or the State Government. The procedure before the Commission is governed by Chapter IV of which Section 17 provides an enquiry into a complaint of a violation of human rights. The Commission is empowered to call for information or a report from the Central Government or State Government or any other authority or organization subordinate to them. Section 18 deals with the steps to be taken during and after the enquiry and is in the following terms:

"18. Steps during and after inquiry.--The Commission may take any of the following steps during or upon the completion of an inquiry held under this Act, namely:--

(a) where the inquiry discloses the commission of violation of human rights or negligence in the prevention of violation of human rights or abetment thereof by a public servant, it may recommend to the concerned Government or authority--

(i) to make payment of compensation or damages to the complainant or to the victim or the members of his family as the Commission may consider necessary;

(ii) to initiate proceedings for prosecution or such other suitable action as the Commission may deem fit against the concerned person or persons;

(iii) to take such further action as it may think fit.

(b) approach the Supreme Court or the High Court concerned for such directions, orders or writs as that Court may deem necessary;

(c) recommend to the concerned Government or authority at any stage of the inquiry for the grant of such immediate interim relief to the victim or the members of his family as the Commission may consider necessary;

(d) subject to the provisions of clause (e), provide a copy of the inquiry report to the petitioner or his representative;

(e) the Commission shall send a copy of its inquiry report together with its recommendations to the concerned Government or authority and the concerned Government or authority shall, within a period of one month, or such further time as the Commission may allow, forward its comments on the report, including the action taken or proposed to be taken thereon, to the Commission;

(f) the Commission shall publish its inquiry report together with the comments of the concerned Government or authority, if any, and the action taken or proposed to be taken by the concerned Government or authority on the recommendations of the Commission."

18. Section 18 vests wide powers in the Commission. Under clause (a), it is empowered to recommend the payment of compensation or damages to the concerned government or authority where the enquiry has disclosed the commission of a violation of human rights or negligence in the prevention of a violation of human rights or abetment thereof. The provisions of Section 18 (a) correspond to the functions of the Commission specified in Section 12 (a). The Commission is entitled to approach the Supreme Court or the High Court for such directions, orders or writs as that Court may deem necessary. The Commission under clause (c) of Section 18 can recommend to the concerned government or authority at any stage of the enquiry to grant interim relief to the victim or the members of his family. Under clause (e), the Commission has to send a copy of its inquiry report together with its recommendations to the concerned Government or authority which shall, within a period of one month or such further time as may be allowed, forward its comments on the report, including the action taken or proposed to be taken thereon to the Commission.

19. These provisions emphasize three aspects. First, the enactment of the Protection of Human Rights Act, 1993 is an intrinsic part of the enforcement of the fundamental right to life and personal liberty under Article 21 of the Constitution. Equally, by enacting the legislation, Parliament has evinced an intention to enact legislation in compliance with India's obligations under the Covenant on Civil and Political Rights and the Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights adopted by the General Assembly of the United Nations. Secondly, the Commission is a high powered body which has been vested with exhaustive powers to order an investigation, conduct enquiries and for which it is vested with all the powers of a civil court. Clauses (a) to (f) of Section 18 are not evidently an exhaustive enumeration of the powers of the Commission since the use of the expression "and in particular" would indicate that the powers which are enumerated are illustrative in nature. The Commission follows a procedure which is governed by Section 17 for the purpose of making inquiries upon which it has to take steps in conformity with Section 18.

20. The aforesaid aspect of the matter dealt with in great detailed by a Coordinate Bench of this Court in Writ C No.15570 of 2016 (State of U.P. and 2 others Vs. N.H.R.C. and 3 others). In the aforesaid case a judgement was delivered by Dr. Dhananjaya Yeshwant Chandrachud the then Chief Justice that the Commission is entitled to direct for the payment of compensation to the victim where it finds either a violation of human rights or a negligence in the prevention of a violation of human rights. The operative portion of the aforesaid judgment is quoted below :-

"The basic question is whether the use of the expression "recommend" in Section 18 (a) can be treated by the State Government or by an authority as merely an opinion or a suggestion which can be ignored with impunity. In our view, to place such a construction on the expression "recommend" would dilute the efficacy of the Commission and defeat the statutory object underlying the constitution of such a body. An authority or a government which is aggrieved by the order of the Commission is entitled to challenge the order. Since no appeal is provided by the Act against an order of the Commission, the power of judicial review is available when an order of the Commission is questioned. Having regard to the importance of the rule of law which is but a manifestation of the guarantee of fair treatment under Article 14 and of the basic principles of equality, it would not be possible to accept the construction that the State Government can ignore the recommendations of the Commission under Section 18 at its discretion or in its wisdom. That the Commission is not merely a body which is to render opinions which will have no sanctity or efficacy in enforcement, cannot be accepted. This is evident from the provisions of clause (b) of Section 18 under which the Commission is entitled to approach the Supreme Court or the High Court for such directions, orders or writs as the Court may deem fit and necessary. Governed as we are by the rule of law and by the fundamental norms of the protection of life and liberty and human dignity under a constitutional order, it will not be open to the State Government to disregard the view of the Commission. The Commission has directed the State Government to report compliance. The State Government is at liberty to challenge the order of the Commission on merits since no appeal is provided by the Act. But it cannot in the absence of the order being set aside, modified or reviewed disregard the order at its own discretion. While a challenge to the order of the Commission is available in exercise of the power of judicial review, the State Government subject to this right, is duty bound to comply with the order. Otherwise the purpose of enacting the legislation would be defeated. The provisions of the Act which have been made to enforce the constitutional protection of life and liberty by enabling the Commission to grant compensation for violations of human rights would be rendered nugatory. A construction which will produce that result cannot be adopted and must be rejected.

The order which has been passed by the Commission has been passed on a careful appreciation of materials which were placed on the record. The deceased was an under trial prisoner who was lodged in the district jail in Muzaffarnagar. The treatment record indicated that he was provided treatment only from 15 May 2012 and he died on 21 May 2012. Though he had been admitted to jail on 9 September 2011, until 15 May 2012, no medical check up was carried out to control or treat his lung disease. He was not sent to a competent medical facility until his condition had deteriorated. Consequently, finding a case of negligence on the part of jail officials in providing medical treatment, the Commission has ordered the grant of compensation. The Commission is entitled to do so where it finds either a violation of human rights or a negligence in the prevention of a violation of human rights.

For these reasons, we find no substance in the petition. The writ petition is, accordingly, dismissed.

There shall be no order as to costs. "

21. Even from perusal of Section 18 of the Act, 1993 it is clear that the Commission has empowered to take any of the steps as contained under Section 18 of the Act, 1993. As many as six steps were mentioned under Section 18 of the Act. Sub-clause (a) of Section 18 deals with the fact that where the enquiry discloses the commission of violation of human rights or abatement thereof by a public servant he may recommend to the concern government or authority to make payment of compensation or damages to the complainant or to the victim. From perusal of the same, it is clear that the Commission has full power to recommend regarding payment of compensation or damages to the complainant, if he finds on enquiry that there is a violation of human rights or negligence in the presumption of violation of human rights. Another Division Bench of this Court in Writ C No.7890 of 2014 (State of U.P. and 2 others Vs. National Human Rights Commission) decided on 1.2.2019 has taken the same view.

22. From perusal of the report placed before the respondent no.1 it reveals that during procession on the occasion of Makar Sankranti at Jahanabad, District Fatehpur on 14.1.2016 due to riots the complainant/respondent no.2 sustained injuries on the head and in the right eye. The complainant/respondent no.2 was referred by the local doctor for treatment at Kanpur Nagar from where he was referred to the AIIMS, New Delhi where he was diagnosed but the complainant/respondent no.2 has lost the eye sight of one of his eyes. The commission also gone through the report of the Circle Officer, Bindki, Fatehpur. From perusal of which it reveals that in the mis-happening on 14.1.2016 the complainant sustained injuries on the head and the right eye due to which he lost the eye sight of one of his eyes. The respondent Commission also taken into consideration the judgement delivered by the National Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission in the case of H. S. Sharma Vs. Indraprastha Apollo Hospital and another reported in 2007 (4) AWC 4.175 (NC) where the Commission has awarded a compensation of Rs.2,00,000/- (two lacs) to a victim, who lost his eye sight due to negligence. Further findings were recorded by the Commission in the order impugned that in the matter in question it is evident from the report of the Circle Officer that the complainant has lost his sight of one of his eye during the riots, which is inevitable incident. The Chief Medical Officer has also certified that the right eye of the complainant is 100% blind. The Commission after considering the entire material on record passed the order to award compensation in favour of the petitioner and directions were given to the District Magistrate, Fatehpur/Superintendent of Police, Fatehpur to make payment of compensation to the extent of Rs.1,00,000/- (One lac only) to the complainant Ansarul Haq and informed the Commission.

23. In so far as the argument raised by the learned counsel for the petitioners that since the respondent no.2 has sustained injuries causing disability only upto 30% and the compensation could only be awarded when the disability ranging from 40% to 80% is suffered, the aforesaid provision has been made in the U.P. Victim Compensation Scheme, 2014. The provisions of the aforesaid scheme will not apply in so far as the application submitted by the respondent no.2 before the respondent no.1 is concerned.

24. In view of the same, the aforesaid objections raised by the petitioners is no force.

25. On the basis of the aforesaid facts, the Commission has ordered for the grant of compensation.

26. In view of the facts as narrated above as well as from perusal of the judgement of two different Division Benches of this Court passed in Writ C No.15570 of 2016, State of U.P. and 2 others Vs. N.H.R.C. and 3 others, (supra) and Writ C No.7890 of 2014, State of U.P. and 2 others Vs. National Human Rights Commission (supra) it is clear that the respondent no.1 has full power and authority to direct the District Magistrate/Superintendent of Police to make the compensation to the victim as has been done in the present case.

27. In the facts and circumstances of the case, Commission is entitled to do so where it finds either a violation of human rights or negligence in the prevention of violation of human rights.

28. The order dated 7.11.2016 passed by respondent no.1/U.P. Human Rights Commission, Lucknow does not want any interference specially under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

29. The writ petition is devoid of merits and accordingly dismissed. No order as to cost.

A. U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act, 1950 - Order cancelling the lease- beyond limitation- proceeding initiated after 16 years -and without observing principles of natural justice-impugned order quashed.

Held, In the present case there is specific argument and document on record to establish that the consolidation of holdings proceedings pertaining to the land in question were never finalized and were dropped mid away and thus, it cannot be held that any bar as provided under Section 132 of the Act was triggered relating to the land in question. I am also not impressed with the arguments that in the cases which are covered by Section 132 of the Act, no limitation would apply. (Para 15)

2. Smt. Shakuntla and others Vs. State of U.P. & others, Writ C No.33761 of 2014

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Bhatia, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioners, learned standing counsel for the State and perused the material on record.

2. The petitioners have filed the present writ petition challenging the order dated 26.10.2009 passed by respondent no.3 in Case No.2/13/36/2004 (Vikram Singh and others Vs. Ratiram and others), Case No.36/2009 (State Vs. Hari Singh), Case No.37/2009 (State Vs. Mangu), Case No.52/2009 (State Vs. Hari Singh), Case No.55/2009 (State Vs. Churdi) and Case No.56/2009 (State Vs. Luxman) under Section 198(4) U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act and against the order dated 29.3.2001 passed by respondent no.2 in Revision No.92/2010-11 under Section 333 of U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act and order dated 10.9.2012 passed by respondent no.2 in Misc. Case No.45/2011-12.

3. The averments in brief are as under:-

4. The Plot Nos. 205, 205/1 and 110/4 situate at village Hasan Garhi Tehsil Kanth District Moradabad was Navi Prati land recorded in the revenue records under category 5(1) was allotted to the petitioners, they being landless persons and eligible for allotment of land on lease. It is stated that the Land Management Committee of Gaon Sabha passed a resolution dated 29.1.1987 and allotted land of Khata No.194 on lease in favour of the petitioners in the following manner:-

Serial Number	Name of Allottee	Plot Number and Area in Hect.	Place of Land
1	Chhedda	110/4/0.443	Hasangarhi
2	Rajpal	205/1/1.00	"
3	Churdi	205/1/0.405	"
4	Hari Singh	205/0.417	"
5	Luxman	205/1/0.417	"
6	Mangu	205/0.930	"

5. It is further stated that the resolution of the Land Management Committee dated 29.1.1987 was approved by the Sub Division Magistrate, Kanth, Moradabad vide his order dated 21.2.1987 and in pursuance to the said leases the names of the petitioners were duly mutated in the revenues records and since then the petitioners are in continuous possession over the land in question. It is further stated that vide order dated 23.8.2002 passed by Sub Divisional Officer, Kanth under Section 131 of the Land Revenue Act, the petitioners were declared Bhumidhars of the aforesaid land with transferable rights. The petitioners have also placed on record the Khatauni pertaining to the allotment of land in favour of the petitioners.

6. After about 16 years one Vikram Singh son of Chunni filed his objection under Section 198(4) of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 (hereinafter referred to as the Act) seeking the cancellation of the leases granted to the petitioners on the ground that the same were leased out to the petitioners without following the proper procedure, although the said objections were filed after about 16 years, the Sub Divisional Officer, Kanth entertained the said objections and called for a report from the Tehsildar. It is stated that Naib Tehsildar submitted some ex-parte report on 10.3.2004 (Annexuire-3 to the writ petition). The Tehsildar vide his report submitted that the land in question was entered in category 6 which is a public utility land and the allotment of the said land was illegal, unless order was passed under Section 132 (c) of the Act converting the land from category category 6 to category 5 and there being no order to that effect on record, the allotment of the land in question in favour of the petitioners is illegal.

7. Perusal of the said report on record shows that the Tehsildar never took the views of the petitioners prior to preparing his report. The petitioners allege that in pursuance to the said ex-parte report the Sub Divisional Officer, Kanth forwarded the matter before the respondent no.3 for initiating the proceedings for cancellation of leases under Section 198(4) of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950. The petitioners state that on 4.7.2009 a show cause notice was served on the petitioners by the respondent no.3 calling upon the petitioners to file objections as to why the cancellation of the allotment of the land in question may not be proceeded with only on the ground that allotment of the land was barred under Section 132 of the Act.

8. In response to the said show cause notice the petitioners preferred their objections highlighting the facts regarding the allotment of the land as well as the petitioners being declared as Bhumidhars way back in the year 2002. It was also highlighted that in the land revenue records of 1391 Fasli up to 1397 Fasli were being produced wherein the land in question was recorded as cultivable Navin Perti. The petitioners also challenged the issuance of show cause notice beyond the prescribed period of limitation and on the question of non-joinder of necessary parties. The respondent no.3 vide his order dated 26.10.2009 (Annexure-6 to the writ petition) recorded that the Tehsildar in his report had recorded that the allotment of the land was barred under Section 132 of the Act which was established by the report of the Tehsildar and proceeded to hold that the allotment of the land was illegal and erroneous and, thus proceeded to cancel the leases granted in favour of the petitioners. The petitioners came to know of the ex-parte report of the Tehsildar only when the order dated 26.10.2009 was passed. The petitioners challenged the order dated 26.10.2009 by filing a Revision No.92/2010-11 under Section 333 of U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 before the respondent no.2. In the said Revision specific grounds were taken that the proceedings initiated were beyond the prescribed period of limitation as also that the land in question was not affected by Section 132 (2) of the Act. The respondent no.2 vide his order dated 29.3.2011 dismissed the Revision relying upon the C.H. Form Nos.41, 45 and holding that the land in question was a public utility land specified under Section 132 of the Act and the allotment of the said land was wholly illegal.

9. The petitioners thereafter preferred a Review application under Section 47 (1) C.P.C., the said Review petition was dismissed on the question of limitation. The petitioners have alleged in the writ petition filed before this Court that an information was sought by filing R.T.I. application with regard to the consolidation proceedings relating to village Hasan Garhi, Tehsil Kanth, District Moradabad. In response to the said application it was informed that the consolidation proceedings were initiated by issuing notification under Section 4 (2) of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act on 16.4.1992, published on 12.9.1992, however, subsequently a notification was issued under Section 6 (1) of the Act dated 4.5.2000, published on 24.6.2000 whereby the consolidation proceedings were dropped (Annexure-12 to the writ petition). The petitioners have also brought on record a certified copy of the Khatauni pertaining to revenue records of 1391 Fasli to 1397 Fasli showing that the land was recorded under category 5 (1) and not under the category 6.

10. In the backdrop of the facts referred above, the counsel for the petitioners argued that the C.H. Forms 41 & 45 are forged documents in view of the fact that the consolidation proceedings had been admittedly dropped under Section 6 (1) of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act. It is further argued that the proceedings initiated against the petitioners are specifically barred under Section 198 (6) of the Act. The petitioners have also challenged the orders on the ground of violation of principles of natural justice inasmuch as the ex-parte report of the Tehsildar was never provided to the petitioners. It is further submitted that even the said report of the Tehsildar, which is the sole basis for cancellation of the leases of the petitioners, does not even take into consideration the revenue records wherein the land in question was recorded under category 5 (1) and not under category 6. On 10.5.2013 this Court while entertaining the writ petition passed following order which is reproduced herein below:-

"Heard Sri R.P.S. Chauhan, learned counsel for the petitioners, learned Standing Counsel appearing for the State-respondents and Sri Vijai Bhan Singh, holding brief of Sri M.N. Singh, learned counsel for the Gaon Sabha.

The submission is that the petitioners were granted lease on 21.2.1987 and in view of section 131 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950, they were declared as Bhumidhars with transferable right on 23.8.2002. The proceeding for cancellation of the lease was initiated on the instance of an individual on 26.7.2003. In view of sub section (6) of section 198 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950, the proceeding was barred by time, but both the courts below have erred in cancelling the lease treating the land falling under section 132 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 on the ground that the same is recorded in the consolidation records as river.

Sri Chauhan contends that the petitioners have filed documentary evidence while filing the review application showing that the village in question was never notified for consolidation and the entire records, on which basis the Tehsildar has submitted the report, is forged.

The matter requires scrutiny.

Issue notice.

Notices on behalf of respondent nos. 1 to 4 have been accepted by the office of learned Chief Standing Counsel, whereas Sri M.N. Singh has put in appearance on behalf of respondent no. 5. Therefore, notices need not be served again to the aforesaid respondents.

Issue notice to respondent no. 6 through registered post returnable at an early date.

Steps be taken within two weeks.

In the meantime, counter affidavit, if any, may be filed by learned counsel for the respondents.

As an interim measure, without prejudice to right and contention of the parties and subject to further orders of this Court, the eviction of the petitioners from the land in dispute shall remain stayed, provided:

(i) petitioner nos. 2 and 6 deposit Rs. 5,000/- (Rupees five thousand only) and the remaining petitioners, i.e., petitioner nos. 1, 3, 4 and 5, deposit Rs. 2,500/- (Rupees two thousand five hundred only) within a period of two months from today before the respondent no. 4;

(ii) the above amount shall be deposited every year in the same month in which the first deposit is made;

(iii) the condition of deposit will not apply in case the State Government declares the area under drought or flood;

(iv) the amount so deposited shall be kept in a separate account;

(v) in case the writ petition is allowed, the amount so deposited shall be returned to the petitioners as per the deposits of each petitioners with interest and in case the writ petition is dismissed, the amount so deposited shall go to the Gaon Sabha;

(vi) in case of default of the above conditions, the interim protection granted today shall stand vacated;

(vii) in the meantime, neither any construction shall be made over the land in dispute nor any third party right shall be created."

11. In response to the averments made in the writ petition Lekhpal has filed a counter affidavit wherein it has been repeatedly said that the land in question is recorded under category 6 and have justified the cancellation of the leases. There is no reply to the specific averments of the petitioners that the consolidation proceedings although initiated were dropped. There is no reply to the specific averments that the C.H. Form Nos. 41 & 45 are forged documents. The respondents have even failed to file any document to establish that the land in question was a public utility land. There is no reply to the specific averments with regard to the limitation.

12. In the backdrop of the submission made at the bar the following questions arise for consideration:-

i) Whether any show cause notice proposing cancellation of lease can be issued beyond the period of limitation prescribed under Section 198 (6) of the U.P. Zamindari of Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 ?

ii) Whether the cancellation of lease granted to the petitioners can be termed as a valid exercise of power ?

13. The counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance upon a judgment of this Court dated 10.5.2019 passed in Writ C No.33761 of 2014 (Smt. Shakuntla and others Vs. State of U.P. & others) in support of his case. Relevant part of the said case is reproduced herein below:-

"Section 195 of the Act confers the power on the Land Management Committee to admit any person as Bhumidhar with non-transferable right with the prior approval of the Tehsildar (the word "Tehsildar" has been replaced by Assistant Collector by virtue of U.P. Act No. 11 of 2002).

Section 197 of the said Act confers the power on the Land Management Committee to admit any person as Aasami of any land, and Section 198 of the said Act provides that for admitting any person to land under Section 195 or Section 197 of the Act, the Land Management Committee shall observe the following order of preference as enumerated in the sub-section 1 of Section 198 of the Act. Section 198(4) of the Act confers the power on the Collector, who may of his own motion, or on an application made by any person aggrieved enquire into the matter and if he is satisfied that the allotment is irregular he may cancel the allotment and the lease, if any. Sub-section 5 of Section 198 provides for issuance of a show cause notice prior to passing of any order under Section 198(4) by the Collector and Section 198(6) of the Act provides for limitation for issuance of a show cause notice.

It is thus clear from a plain reading of Section 198(6) (b) that in the cases where the allotment of the land is made on or after 10th November 1980 a show cause notice proposing to cancel the lease can be issued only within a period of five years from the date of allotment or upto 10th November 1987 whichever is later. The said limitation is prescribed for exercise of power by the Collector where the allotments are made in an irregular manner under Section 198(4) of the Act. In the present case applications were filed by the third persons alleging that huge irregularities were committed while allotting the land and a prayer was made for exercise of powers under Section 198(4) for cancellation of the lease. The said power for cancelling the lease, in the cases, where allegations are made alleging irregularity while allotment can be exercised only within the period of five years prescribed from the date of the allotment or upto 10th November 1987. In the present case, the land was allotted on 21.2.1987 and thus the show cause notice could be issued only upto 20.2.1992 and not thereafter. The action of divesting anybody of its rights in land is confiscatory in nature and thus the statutory enactment pertaining to limitation has to be strictly interpreted.

From the plain reading of Section 198(6)(b) of the Act, it is clear that the power of cancellation/issuance of show cause notice can be done only within the limitation as prescribed and not thereafter. The proceedings in the present case having been initiated after about 16 years are clearly barred by limitation thus rendering the entire proceedings as without jurisdiction."

14. It has been argued at the bar that where allotment of the land in question specifically barred as in the present case under Section 132 of the Act, no limitation will apply. Section 132 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 provides as under:-

"132. Land in which [bhumidhari] rights shall not accrue. -

Notwithstanding anything contained in Section 131, but without prejudice to the provisions of Section 19, [bhumidhari] rights shall not accrue in -

(a) pasture lands or lands covered by water and used for the purpose of growing singhara or other produce or land in the bed of a river and used for casual or occasional cultivation;

(b) such tracts of shifting or unstable cultivation as the State Government may specify by notification in the Gazette; and

(c) lands declared by the Slate Government by notification in the Official Gazette, to be intended or set apart for taungya plantation or grove lands of a [Gaon Sabha] or a Local Authority or land acquired or held for a public purpose and in particular and without prejudice to the generality of this clause-

(i) lands set apart for military encamping grounds;

(ii) lands included within railway or canal boundaries;

(iii) lands situate within the limits of any cantonment;

(iv) lands included in sullage farms or trenching grounds belonging as such to a local authority;

(v) lands acquired by a town improvement trust in accordance with a scheme sanctioned under Section 42 of the U.P. Town Improvement Act, 1919 (U.P. Act V11 of 1919) or by a municipality for a purpose mentioned in Clause (a) or Clause (c) of Section 8 of the U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916 (U.P. Act VII of 1916); and

(vi) lands set apart for public purposes under the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 (U.P. Act V of 1954)."

15. The said argument does not merits acceptance for the sole reason that the land in question has to be set apart for public purposes under the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act. In the present case there is specific argument and document on record to establish that the consolidation of holdings proceedings pertaining to the land in question were never finalized and were dropped mid away and thus, it cannot be held that any bar as provided under Section 132 of the Act was triggered relating to the land in question. I am also not impressed with the arguments that in the cases which are covered by Section 132 of the Act, no limitation would apply. In this regard, it is relevant to mention that the Hon'ble Supreme Court has categorically held that where no limitation is prescribed action should be taken within a reasonable time, in the present case the proceedings were initiated after about 16 years which can never be termed as a reasonable period. The relevant observation of the Supreme Court in the case of Joint Collector Ranga Reddy District and another Vs. D. Narsing Rao and others, 2015 3 SCC 695 and held as under:

"25. The legal position is fairly well-settled by a long line of decisions of this Court which have laid down that even when there is no period of limitation prescribed for the exercise of any power, revisional or otherwise, such power must be exercised within a reasonable period. This is so even in cases where allegations of fraud have necessitated the exercise of any corrective power. We may briefly refer to some of the decisions only to bring home the point that the absence of a stipulated period of limitation makes little or no difference in so far as the exercise of the power is concerned which ought to be permissible only when the power is invoked within a reasonable period.

31. To sum up, delayed exercise of revisional jurisdiction is frowned upon because if actions or transactions were to remain forever open to challenge, it will mean avoidable and endless uncertainty in human affairs, which is not the policy of law. Because, even when there is no period of limitation prescribed for exercise of such powers, the intervening delay, may have led to creation of third party rights, that cannot be trampled by a belated exercise of a discretionary power especially when no cogent explanation for the delay is in sight. Rule of law it is said must run closely with the rule of life. Even in cases where the orders sought to be revised are fraudulent, the exercise of power must be within a reasonable period of the discovery of fraud. Simply describing an act or transaction to be fraudulent will not extend the time for its correction to infinity; for otherwise the exercise of revisional power would itself be tantamount to a fraud upon the statute that vests such power in an authority.

32. In the case at hand, while the entry sought to be corrected is described as fraudulent, there is nothing in the notice impugned before the High Court as to when was the alleged fraud discovered by the State. A specific statement in that regard was essential for it was a jurisdictional fact, which ought to be clearly asserted in the notice issued to the respondents. The attempt of the appellant-State to demonstrate that the notice was issued within a reasonable period of the discovery of the alleged fraud is, therefore, futile. At any rate, when the Government allowed the land in question for housing sites to be given to Government employees in the year 1991, it must be presumed to have known about the record and the revenue entries concerning the parcel of land made in the ordinary course of official business. In as much as, the notice was issued as late as on 31st December, 2004, it was delayed by nearly 13 years. been passed without observing the principles of natural justice.

17. The writ petition merits acceptance and the orders impugned are liable to be quashed on both counts i.e. that the orders cancelling the lease has been passed beyond the prescribed period of limitation as well as on the ground that the orders passed are without observing the principles of natural justice.

18. Thus, in view of the findings recorded above, the orders dated 26.10.2009 and 29.3.2011 as well as the order dated 10.9.2012 are liable to be quashed.

19. Accordingly, the order dated 26.10.2009 passed by respondent no.3 No explanation has been offered even for this delay assuming that the same ought to be counted only from the year 1991. Judged from any angle the notice seeking to reverse the entries made half a century ago, was clearly beyond reasonable time and was rightly quashed."

16. The orders impugned in the present writ petition are also liable to be quashed as having been passed without the observance of principles of natural justice. It is clearly borne out from the record that the Tehsildar never gave any opportunity to the petitioners before preparing the report in question, a copy of the Tehsildar's report was never provided to the petitioners prior to the passing of the order dated 26.10.2009. The veracity of the Tehsildar's report was not even considered by the respondent no.3 before passing the order dated 26.10.2009 and, thus, the orders cancelling the lease based only upon ex-parte report, I am afraid are liable to be quashed the orders as having

Additional Collector (City) District Moradabad in Case No.2/13/36/2004, 36/2009, 37/2009, 52/2009, 55/2009 and Case No.56/2009 under Section 194(4) U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act, 1950 and the order dated 29.3.2001 passed by respondent no.2 Additional Commissioner (Administration) Moradabad Division, Moradabad in Revision No.92/2010-11 (Chhidda and others Vs. State of U.P. and others) and the order dated 10.9.2012 passed by respondent no.2 Additional Commissioner (Administration) Moradabad Division Moradabad in Misc. Case No.45/2011-12 (Chhidda and other Vs. State of U.P. & others, Annexures-6, 8 and 11 to the writ petition), are quashed.

20. The writ petition is allowed. However, there will be no order as to costs.

A. U.P. Panchayat Raj Act, 1947 - Section 12-J - Temporary arrangement in certain cases – ground of challenge - Post of Pradhan, in question, reserved for a member of the Scheduled Caste - A member of the Gram Panchayat belonging to the general category has been nominated by the District Magistrate to function as Pradhan – Order passed by District Magistrate set aside. (Para 10 & 13)

Held: - Once it is admitted that the post of Pradhan, was of a seat reserved for a member of the Scheduled Caste and members belonging to the Schedule Caste were available for being nominated to discharge the powers and functions of Pradhan under Section 12-J of the Act. They should have been preferred over a member belonging to the general category as the seat in question was one reserved for a Scheduled Caste. (Para 11)

3. Shyamu Vs State of U.P. and others, 2010 (8) ADJ 459

(Delivered by Hon'ble Anjani Kumar Mishra, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents.

2. On the previous occasion, time had been granted to the learned Standing Counsel to obtain instructions. Today, on the matter being called out, Learned Standing Counsel has stated that despite a communication having been sent, no instructions have been received from the respondents.

3. Although no notice has been issued to respondent no:3 in the writ petition, the same is being decided finally, in view of the order proposed to be passed. In case the said respondent feels aggrieved, it shall be open for her to apply for recall of this order.

4. The writ petition seeks a writ of certiorari, quashing the order dated 24.07.2018, passed by the respondent no. 2, the District Magistrate, Shahjahanpur, under Section 12-J of the U.P. Panchayat Raj Act.

5. It appears that the elected Pradhan of Gram Panchayat Munni Khera, District Shahjahanpur, was incapable of discharging his functions, as such, on account of his incarceration. Therefore, the respondent no. 3 has been nominated to function as Pradhan, by the order impugned.

6. The order is challenged on the ground that the post of Pradhan, in question, was reserved for a member of the Scheduled Caste. The respondent no. 3 who has been nominated to discharge the powers and functions of Pradhan, belongs to the General Category. At least three mmembers of Gram Panchayat Munni Khera belong to the Scheduled Caste. It is, therefore, contended that one of these three Gram Panchayat members, belonging to the Scheduled Caste should have been nominated by the District Magistrate under Section 12-J of the Act, to exercice the powers and duties of Pradhan.

7. It is also submitted that the impugned order is contrary to the principles laid down by the Division Bench in Shyamu Vs State of U.P. and others, 2010 (8) ADJ 459. The District Magistrate failed to confer with the elected members of the Gram Panchayat and has passed the impugned order on the basis of his opinion alone.

8. To defend the impugned order reliance has been placed by Learned Standing Counsel upon Udaiveer Vs State Election Commission of UP, 2009 (106) RD 151, which holds that the District Magistrate while exercising the powers conferred by Section 12-J of Act should necessarily ascertain the opinion of the elected members of the Gram Panchayat before passing order under Section 12-J of the said Act.

9. Learned Standing Counsel has also placed reliance on Brij Rani Singh versus State of U.P. 2000 volume 2 AWC 1775 specially paragraph 21, relevant portion whereof, reads as follows:-

" The Legislature was fully conscious of the fact that there may be occasions and reasons for the Pradhan which may incapacitate him from discharging his duties and functions as Pradhan and in such a situation the Up-Pradhan has been permitted to exercise such powers and the exercise of such powers by Up-Pradhan is only an arrangement in temporary vacancy in the office of Pradhan which would not mean that Up-Pradhan has been elected as Pradhan."

10. In my considered opinion, the judgment in Brij Rani Singh is not applicable in the facts and circumstances of the case at hand. On a pointed query by the court, counsel for the parties concede that it is not the Up-Pradhan who has been nominated to function as Pradhan as a temporary arrangement, permissible under Section 12-J of the Panchayat Raj Act. A member of the Gram Panchayat belonging to the general category has been nominated by the District Magistrate to function as Pradhan.

11. In my considered opinion, once it is admitted that the post of Pradhan, was of a seat reserved for a member of the Scheduled Caste the contention of counsel for the petitioner has substance especially because members belonging to the Schedule Caste were available for being nominated to discharge the powers and functions of Pradhan under Section 12-J of the Act. They should have been preferred over a member belonging to the general category as the seat in question was one reserved for a Scheduled Caste. This view is supported by the observation made by the Division Bench in Shyamu (supra) in paragraph 16 of the judgment which is being extracted below with the relevant portion thereof underlined by me, for emphasis :

"16. The question is whether such opinion given by the elected members would be binding on the Presecribed authority. If such as interepretation is given, then the power exercised by the Prascriubed Authority under section 12-J of the Act will have to be read subjectect to the opinion of other members. would not be a correct interpretation of the law. There could be a possibility of violation of reservation policy, and/or a person may pressurise other members to propose his name, and or the like. ....."

12. Since the judgment in Udaiveer (supra), cited by learned Standing Counsel provides that while exercising the power under Section 12-J of the said Act, the District Magistrate should obtain the opinion of the elected members of the Gram Panchayat, which view has been affirmed in the case of Shyamu supra with the stipulation that the said opinion is not absolutely binding, and such an exercise has not been undertaken by the District Magistrate, prior to passing the impugned order, in my considered opinion, the impugned order is not liable to be sustained. At least, there is no mention of any such exercise having been resorted to, in the order impugned.

13. Accordingly and in view of the above, the writ petition is allowed. The impugned order dated 24.07.2019 is hereby set aside and the matter is remitted back to the District Magistrate respondent no. 2 to pass a fresh order under Section 12-J of the Panchayat Raj Act, keeping in mind what has been stated in the body of this judgment, above.

14. No order as to cost.

A. District Magistrate-Statutory duty-limited power to ensure that the notice for "No confidence motion" has been presented by the members signed/supported -by at least 50 % members of the total strength of the House-30 days limited time to the District Magistrate to convene the meeting.

Held, it is quite reflective from the order of the District Magistrate now impugned in the present writ petition, that the District Magistrate virtually paraded the members of the House and gave opportunity to the respondent Pramukh to bring men in his support by submitting their notary affidavits. Such an exercise of power was totally uncalled for. Something what was done in the House through discussion and voting, got done in the office of the District Magistrate. Neither the provisions as contained under Section 15 of Adhiniyam, 1961 contemplated any such powers nor, any such intendment of the Legislature is presumable behind the incorporation of such a provision. Hence, the order passed by the District Magistrate dated 20th September, 2019 deserves to be held bad for undertaking an exercise beyond the authority vested with the District Magistrate. (Para13)

6. Anil Kumar Singh v. State of U.P. and others (Writ- C No.- 29087 of 2019 decided on 24th September, 2019)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ramesh Sinha, J.)

1. Heard Sri Shashi Nandan, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Mahendra Singh, learned counsel for the petitioners, Sri Sanjeev Singh along with Sri Purushottam Mani Tripathi, learned counsel for the respondent No.3, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents and perused the record.

2. By means of present writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution, as it came to be filed, a writ of mandamus was initially sought for commanding respondent No.2, namely, the District Magistrate, Kushinagar to pass appropriate orders exercising power vested with him under Section 15(2) of the U.P. Kshettra Panchayat & Zila Panchayat Adhiniyam, 1961 (hereinafter referred to as 'Adhiniyam, 1961') qua the notice of "No Confidence Motion" already delivered to him on 9th September, 2019 by the members of the Kshettra Panchayat, Dudahi, District- Kushinagar.

3. The grievance raised by the petitioners is that though a statutory duty is cast upon the District Magistrate to take a decision to convene a meeting of Kshettra Panchayat for consideration of motion of no confidence moved against the Chairman/ Pramukh within 30 days of the delivery of the notice, the District Magistrate- respondent No.2 was only borrowing time by holding some roving inquiry in respect of the signatories of the notice. It had been argued initially that in view of the settled legal position emerging out from the Full Bench Judgment of this Court in the case of Smt. Sheela Devi and others v. State of U.P. and others, 2015 (2) ADJ 325 (FB) followed by the subsequent Division Benches of this Court, it was not open for the District Magistrate to conduct a roving inquiry calling for evidence to arrive at satisfaction regarding genuineness of the signatures of the members on the notice of no confidence motion.

4. Having found prima facie arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the petitioners, to be appealing, we passed an order on 1st October, 2019 to the following effect:-

"It is contended by Sri Shashi Nandan, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Mahendra Singh, learned counsel for the petitioners that though the notice for no confidence motion has been moved before the District Magistrate, Kushinagar on 09.09.2019 but he has sit tight over the matter and has not passed any order till date, resultantly, the notice is getting frustrated as not only the 15 days clear time has to be given to the person concerned against whom the no confidence motion is sought to be stated, but even the meeting has to be convened within 30 days of the notice.

In such view of the matter, he submits that it is something like frustrating the provisions contained in the U.P. Kshettra Panchayats and Zila Panchayat Adhiniyam, 1961.

Let, District Magistrate, Kushinagar file his personal affidavit on 17.10.2019 to disclose the reasons for not passing any order on the notice of no confidence motion submitted before him on 09.09.2019, failing which, the District Magistrate, Kushinagar shall appear in person before this Court.

Put up on 17.10.2019."

5. On the date so fixed above, a personal affidavit was filed by the District Magistrate, Kushinagar annexing therewith a copy of an order dated 20th September, 2019 holding that in a fact finding enquiry conducted by him since he has found signatures of 27 members to be valid out of 83 signatories to the notice and the total members of the House being 149, the notice thus being found genuinely signed only by members less than 50%, it was not lawful to convene meeting of the Kshettra Panchayat under sub-section (3) of Section 15 read with sub-section (2) of Section 15 of Adhiniyam, 1961 and thus, notice of motion was held to be incompetent.

6. In such view of the matter, learned counsel for the petitioners sought time to challenge the order of District Magistrate and for that we granted time fixing 21st October, 2019.

7. Having heard learned counsel for the respective parties, two legal questions arise for our consideration in the present matter:-

(A). Whether the District Magistrate is justified in conducting the fact finding enquiry by collecting evidence to consider the notice of no confidence motion to be genuinely signed by members which constitute at least half (50%) members of the total strength of the House and;

(B). What should be the reasonable time within which the District Magistrate should take a decision either to convene a meeting or reject the notice for that matter, so as to ensure that legislative intendment in providing 30 days time for convening a meeting from the date of notice delivered to the District Magistrate under Section 15 of Adhiniyam, 1961, is not frustrated.

8. In so far as the first question is concerned, the issue is no more res integra. The Full Bench of this Court in the case of Smt. Sheela Devi (supra) vide paragraphs 12, 13, 14 and 15 has observed thus:-

"12. This view which we are inclined to take finds support in an earlier judgment of a Full Bench of this Court in Mathura Prasad Tewari v. Assistant District Panchayat Officer, Faizabad, 1966 ALJ 612. The Full Bench in that case considered the provisions of Rule 33-B of the U P Panchayat Raj Rules, 1947 which, at the material time, provided as follows:

"33-B (1) A written notice of the intention to move a motion for removal of the Pradhan ... under Sec. 14 ... shall be necessary. It shall be signed by not less than one half of the total number of members of the Gaon Sabha and shall state the reasons for moving the motion and ... shall be delivered in person by at least five members signing the notice to the prescribed authority.

(2) The prescribed authority shall, as soon as may be after the receipt of the notice convene a meeting of the Gaon Sabha... The meeting so convened shall be presided over by the prescribed authority or the person authorised by him in writing in this behalf."

13. Under Rule 33-B (2), the prescribed authority was required to convene a meeting of the Gaon Sabha as soon as may be after the receipt of a notice under sub-rule (1) signed by not less than one half of the total number of members. Chief Justice M C Desai in the judgment of the majority, held that having due regard particularly to the need to convene the meeting as soon as possible and the large number of members of the Gaon Sabha, it could never have been intention of the State Government while making the rule that issues such as whether the signatures on the notice were forged or were obtained by fraud or coercion be resolved where a long drawn enquiry would become necessary. In that context, the learned Chief Justice observed as follows:

"...If a prescribed authority finds that some signatures are not of members of the Gaon Sabha or are forged or otherwise invalid and the remaining signatures are insufficient it would be bound to desist from convening a meeting but the question before us is different, it being whether it is required by any rule to make an enquiry. There may be no provision forbidding an enquiry but that also is immaterial because the law does not require everything not forbidden to be done. The most that can be said is that the matter is at the discretion of the prescribed authority; if a complaint is made to it that a material number of signatures is invalid it may in its discretion make an enquiry or refuse to make it. If it is a small enquiry it is justified in making it and if it is likely to turn out into a long drawn enquiry or if it thinks that the complaint is not bona fide or is made with the ulterior object of delaying the convening of the meeting it is fully justified in not undertaking an enquiry..."

The Full Bench also held as follows:

"...There is nothing to suggest that he may spend days and even months in enquiring whether the signatures on the requisition are genuine or not or are obtained without resort to fraud or coercion or not. If it cannot be said that he is bound to make an enquiry it cannot be said that the prescribed authority is bound to make an enquiry on receipt of a notice under Rule 33-B. Injustice and anomalies can be imagined but what is certain is that an enquiry may take a long time and may be followed by applications for certiorari, mandamus and prohibition, in turn followed by appeals from orders on the applications. Then the prescribed authority has no power to summon witnesses and documents and it is not understood how it can hold an enquiry.

...Whether a meeting should be convened or not is a matter only between the prescribed authority and the signatories delivering the notice to it. The prescribed authority has to act on its finding that the notice has been signed by at least half the members and has been presented by at least five of the signatories. As nobody has a right to file any objection the question of his holding an enquiry simply does not arise. Whatever enquiry is made by it is made entirely at its own discretion and nobody has a right to compel it to make it. Obviously there cannot be a right in any person to compel it to make it when he has not been given a right to file an objection."

14. The dissenting judgment, it must be noted, also observes that it was not necessary for the prescribed authority to enter upon a detailed enquiry and the authority would not go into difficult question of fraud and duress. However, in the view of the dissenting judge, the prescribed authority would have to make a general enquiry if there was a specific allegation that a particular signature of a living person is forged or is a signature of a person who is dead. The dissenting judge held that he was not in agreement with the principle of the majority that the prescribed authority is not required to make any enquiry on the receipt of a notice of intention to move a motion for the removal of a Pradhan.

15. In our view, both the decisions of the majority as well as the minority essentially follow the same line and the area of dissent is rather narrow. Both the judgments of the majority as well as the minority postulate that the Collector ought not to make a detailed enquiry where serious allegations of fraud, coercion and duress are required to be resolved particularly having regard to the fact that a meeting had to be convened as soon as possible. The area of divergence is only this that whereas the majority left it open to the Collector to determine whether and if so what enquiry should be held, the view of the dissenting judge was that the Collector should hold an enquiry so long as a detailed enquiry into serious questions of coercion or fraud was not involved. In either view of the matter and since we are bound by the judgment of the Full Bench, the law on the subject is thus clear. The Collector, in the course of exercising the power which is conferred upon him, ought not to enquire into seriously disputed questions of fact involving issues of fraud, coercion and duress. Moreover, the Collector must have the discretion in each case of determining on the basis of a summary proceeding whether the essential requirements of a valid notice of an intention to move a motion of no confidence have been fulfilled. Where in the course of the summary enquiry, it appears to the Collector that the written notice does not comply with the requirements of law, the Collector would be within his power in determining as to whether all the required conditions have been fulfilled, as enunciated in sub-section (2) of Section 15. Whether the Collector in a given case has transgressed his power is separate issue on which judicial review under Article 226 of the Constitution would be available. However, we expressly clarify that we are not laying down a detailed and exhaustive enumeration of the circumstances in which the Collector can determine the validity of a notice furnished under Section (2) or those in which he can make a limited enquiry which, as we have held, he is entitled and competent to make. Ultimately, each case depends upon its own facts and it for the Collector to determine as to whether the objections raised before him are outside the scope of the limited inquiry which he can make upon notice of an intent to move a motion of no confidence if it is submitted to him together with a notice of no confidence."

9. Further the Full Bench of this Court vide paragraphs 20, 21, 23 and 24 of the judgment (supra) has finally concluded thus:-

"20. The principle which we have laid down in the earlier part of this judgment is founded on the basic position that when an authority has a power to carry out a public act on the existence of certain circumstances, it has an implied power to make an enquiry in regard to the existence of those circumstances. This is a power which flows out of the basic power which is conferred upon the authority and is incidental to or ancillary for the purpose of effectuating the purpose of the conferment of the power. This principle has been recognized in a judgment of a Division Bench of this Court in Committee of Management, Sri Gandhi Inter College Vs Deputy Director of Education, 1988 UPLBEC 1057, where it was held as follows:

"...It is a settled law that when an authority is given power to do certain act on existence of certain circumstances, there is an implied power to make an enquiry as to whether those circumstances exist or not. The enquiry in regard to the existence of those circumstances is included in the grant of power. In other words, the power of making enquiry in regard to the existence of those circumstances flows as necessary means to accomplish the end. In fact, the enquiry is some thing essential for proper and effectual performance of duty assigned..."

21. As a matter of statutory interpretation, the duty of the Court while interpreting legislation, first and foremost is to give effect to the plain and ordinary meaning of the language contained in the statute. The legislative intent is best reflected in the words used by the legislature in enacting legislation. Hence, the Court will not readily supply a casus omissus except when there is a clear necessity to do so and that too within the four corners of a statute. At the same time, where a literal construction of the words which have been used by the legislature give rise to an absurdity or a manifestly erroneous result, it is open to the Court to adopt a purposive interpretation which will give true effect to the legislative object and scheme. In Padmasundara Rao (Dead) Vs State of Tamil Nadu JT 2002 (3) SCC 1, the Supreme Court observed as follows:

"Two principles of construction one relating to casus omissus and the other in regard to reading the statute as a whole appear to be well settled. Under the first principle a casus omissus cannot be supplied by the Court except in the case of clear necessity and when reason for it is found in the four corners of the statute itself but at the same time a casus omissus should not be readily inferred and for that purpose all the parts of a statute or section must be construed together and every clause of a section should be construed with reference to the context and other clauses thereof so that the construction to be put on a particular provision makes a consistent enactment of the whole statute. This would be more so if literal construction of a particular clause leads to manifestly absurd or anomalous results which could not have been intended by the Legislature. "An intention to produce an unreasonable result", said Danckwerts, L.J., in Artemiou v. Procopiou11, "is not to be imputed to a statute if there is some other construction available"."

23. The same principle has been enunciated in the judgment of a Bench of two learned Judges of the Supreme Court in Shanker Raju v. Union of India, (2011) 2 SCC 409, where it has been held that a statute is designed to be workable, and the interpretation thereof by the Court should be to secure that object unless a crucial omission or clear statutory direction makes that end unattainable.

24. For these reasons, we have come to the conclusion that where a notice is delivered to the Collector under sub-section (2) of Section 15, the Collector has the discretion to determine whether the notice fulfills the essential requirements of a valid notice under sub-section (2). However, consistent with the stipulation of time enunciated in sub-section (3) of Section 15 of convening a meeting no later than thirty days from the date of delivery of the notice and of issuing at least a fifteen days' notice to all the elected members of the Kshettra Panchayat, it is not open to the Collector to launch a detailed evidentiary enquiry into the validity of the signatures which are appended to the notice. Where a finding in regard to the validity of the signatures can only be arrived at in an enquiry on the basis of evidence adduced in the course of an evidentiary hearing at a full-fledged trial, such an enquiry would be outside the purview of Section 15. The Collector does not exercise the powers of a court upon receipt of a notice and when he transmits the notice for consideration at a meeting of the elected members of the Kshettra Panchayat. Hence, it would not be open to the Collector to resolve or enter findings of fact on seriously disputed questions such as forgery, fraud and coercion. However, consistent with the law which has been laid down by the Full Bench in Mathura Prasad Tewari's case, it is open to the Collector, having due regard to the nature and ambit of his jurisdiction under sub-section (3) to determine as to whether the requirements of a valid notice under sub-section (2) of Section 15 have been fulfilled. The proceeding before the Collector under sub-section (2) of Section 15 of the Act of 1961 is more in the nature of a summary proceeding. The Collector for the purpose of Section 15, does not have the trappings of a court exercising jurisdiction on the basis of evidence adduced at a trial of a judicial proceeding. Whether in a given case, the Collector has transgressed the limits of his own jurisdiction is a matter which can be addressed in a challenge under Article 226 of the Constitution. We clarify that we have not provided an exhaustive enumeration or list of circumstances in which the Collector can determine the validity of the notice furnished under sub-section (2) in each case and it is for the Collector in the first instance and for the Court in the exercise of its power of judicial review, if it is moved, to determine as to whether the limits on the power of the Collector have been duly observed."

10. The aforesaid judgment has been followed by two Division Benches of this Court in the case of Amit Kumar v. State of U.P. and 13 others (Writ-C No.- 3982 of 2018) and Kusumawati Verma v. State of U.P. and 4 others (Writ-C No.- 22702 of 2018).

11. At this stage, we would also like to refer to another Division Bench judgment of this Court in the case of Smt. Shashi Yadav v. State of U.P. and others (Writ- C No. 1994 of 2018 decided on 22nd February, 2018) in which vide paragraphs 38, 39 and 40 the Court has held thus:-

"38. We hold the provision regarding the form of written notice of intention to make the motion required to be submitted to the Collector on behalf of the members signing the notice under Section 15(2) is to be directory in nature. A substantial compliance of the provisions would implement the requirements of law. A substantial compliance is done when the purpose of the notice is achieved. The purpose of the notice of intent to make the motion, is to furnish to the Collector the material on which he has to found his satisfaction before convening the meeting. Such material should demonstrate full compliance of mandatory provisions of 15(2) of the Act. In particular, the notice should be in writing. It should manifest the clear intention of the members to make a motion expressing want of confidence in the Pramukh. It should be signed by at least half of the elected members. The copy of the no confidence motion should be attached thereto.

39. In fact, if a strict compliance of the said mandatory parts of Section 15(2) is done, then the substantial compliance of directory provisions of the aforesaid of Section 15(2) would be automatically deemed to have been done.

40. If such facts or material can be distilled from the notice to make a motion expressing want of confidence irrespective of its form, it substantially complies with the mandate of law. As has been held, these prerequisites are fulfilled in the instant case."

12. From the reading of the aforesaid authorities what is clearly revealed is that the ratio behind limiting the power of the District Magistrate is that he being an authority to take decision for calling the meeting of the House enjoys only the limited power to ensure that it has been presented by the members signed/ supported by at least half (50%) members of the total strength of the House. Even if they had not signed and their affidavit accompanies the notice, it has been held that the formalities stand complete. This ratio in the judgment is in keeping spirit of Legislative intendment in providing 30 days limited time for the District Magistrate to convene the meeting to discuss the motion. The Legislature while drafting this statutory provision seemed to be quite conscious of sensitiveness of the issue qua confidence of an elected leader of the House. If the confidence of an elected leader of the House is put to challenge, in democracy the horse trading phenomenon is concomitant to a situation where majority is shaking the confidence while the one affected is pulling the string the other way. The limited period, therefore, was deliberately provided by the Legislature to avoid any such unhappy situation getting created eroding faith of the people in the democratic institution. One who does not have the confidence of the House must leave in principle but as the stances are, in practice, it is quite reverse. So, in case if any enquiry is instituted to verify the signatures by the District Magistrate of individual members on the notice and then to parade the members in his office would be something like putting a caveat to the prerogative of the House to deliberate and vote for or against the motion and this is the reason why the District Magistrate is certainly not supposed to hold any roving enquiry as such.

13. Applying the aforesaid principle of law to the facts of the present case, it is quite reflective from the order of the District Magistrate now impugned in the present writ petition, that the District Magistrate virtually paraded the members of the House and gave opportunity to the respondent Pramukh to bring men in his support by submitting their notary affidavits. Such an exercise of power was totally uncalled for. Something what was done in the House through discussion and voting, got done in the office of the District Magistrate. Neither the provisions as contained under Section 15 of Adhiniyam, 1961 contemplated any such powers nor, any such intendment of the Legislature is presumable behind the incorporation of such a provision. Hence, the order passed by the District Magistrate dated 20th September, 2019 deserves to be held bad for undertaking an exercise beyond the authority vested with the District Magistrate. However, any order by us setting aside the order passed by the District Magistrate and remitting the matter for fresh decision would not enable him to convene the meeting within 30 days of the delivery of notice. Accordingly, we consider it appropriate to hold that rejection of the present notice would not come in the way of the petitioners and other members of the Kshettra Panchayat in moving fresh notice for no confidence motion, if they so desire.

14. The necessity to frame second question (supra) has arisen on account of the fact that we have experienced in the past as number of writ petitions have come to be filed seeking directions to District Magistrate to take decision within limited period of time so that the notice does not get frustrated on account of mandatory 30 days limitation prescribed for, under sub-section (3) of Section 15 of Adhiniyam, 1961.

15. In order to deal with the second point, it is necessary to reproduce sub-section (3) of Section 15 of Adhiniyam, 1961:-

"15. Motion of non-confidence in Pramukh or Up-Pramukh- (1) .....

(2) .....

(3) The Collector shall thereupon:-

(i) convene a meeting of the Kshettra Panchayat for the consideration of the motion at the office of the Kshettra Panchayat on a date appointed by him, which shall not be later than thirty days from the date on which the notice under sub-section (2) was delivered to him, and

(ii) give to the [elected member of the Kshettra Panchayat] notice of not less than fifteen days of such meeting in such manner as may be prescribed.

Explanation - In computing the period of thirty days specified in this sub-section, the period during which a stay order, if any, issued by a Competent Court on a petition filed against the motion made under this section is in force plus such further time as may be required in the issue of fresh notices of the meeting to the members, shall be excluded.

(4) ....."

16. From the bare reading of the aforesaid provision two important and mandatory requirements appear to be:-

(1). Meeting has to be convened within 30 days from the date on which the notice under sub-section (2) of Section 15 was delivered to the District Magistrate and;

(2). There should be a notice of not less than 15 days qua the scheduled meeting.

17. A Division Bench of this Court in the case of Kamal Sharma v. State of U.P. and others (Writ-C No. 9763 of 2013 decided on 5th October, 2013) has held that in computing 15 days, the date of issuance of notice and of the meeting scheduled have to be excluded. The Division Bench vide 26 of the judgment (supra) has held thus:-

"26. There is no difference in the words "at least" and "not less than".

Admittedly, the notice dated 13.2.2013 was dispatched to the elected members on 14.2.2013 by speed post for convening the meeting which was scheduled to be held on 1.3.2013. While computing 15 days period the two terminal dates have to be excluded. Thus 15 days clear notice was not given to the elected members."

18. In such above view of the matter, therefore, the District Magistrate is required to proceed keeping the above calculations in mind. Once he has been delivered with the notice of no confidence motion, he is bound in law to take a decision whether to convene a meeting or not to convene a meeting. And if he has to convene a meeting then he has to keep in mind that he has to provide 15 clear days notice on one hand and then the meeting scheduled has to be within 30 days prescribed for under the Statute.

19. Accordingly and in view of the sensitiveness of the issue of no confidence motion, it is always necessary to take quick decision in a reasonable period of time. In view of the ratio of the judgment of the Full Bench (supra) and the subsequent Division Benches, the District Magistrate is not to hold any roving and detailed fact finding enquiry. He has to only satisfy that the notice bears the signature or if does not bear, it has the requisite number of affidavits supporting it or appended to it which may make the notice competent within the meaning of sub-section (2) of Section 15 of Adhiniyam, 1961 in the light of the judgment of the Division Bench of this Court in the case of Smt. Shashi Yadav (supra).

20. There is a logic also behind the above; if the House is not supporting the motion, the members per majority would vote against it and resultantly it will fall. Merely because the notice has been delivered to the District Magistrate and he has convened the meeting by scheduling it, does not mean that motion has stood carried nor, does it raise presumption that the Chairman or the Pramukh has lost the confidence. The ultimate show of strength is always on the floor of the House and in any democratic institution where the elected members constitute the House, this exercise has to be done in the House itself, instead of wasting time in the office of the District Magistrate parading the members of the House for verification of the signatures etc.

21. A purposive interpretation of a statutory provision would entail an exercise to understand the intendment of Legislature first. As we have already discussed above as to how the statute in the present case limits the discretion of the District Magistrate in matters of decision making on a delivered notice so as to ensure that meeting to discuss the motion on all counts is held within 30 days, it comes out to be a case where we need to look for contextual construction of the given provisions. In ordinary sense of the words 'rule of construction' means literal interpretation of the provision. However, at times discretion is provided for, with certain riders, putting a crease of limits upon powers but the question is how within those limit an authority should exercise in a case of limited authority given under statute and the answers, in our view, is discipline in exercise of authority. If a pendulum swings 60 times ordinarily to hit the 60th second, it follows a discipline to strike a minute. So the end result is guided by the rule of discipline. The power if is vested in an authority to draw a proceeding to its logical end, the exercise of power should be aimed at achieving the said end result flawlessly. One who has the discretion to reject a notice holding it as not competent in his wisdom based on conclusion drawn, he must not shirk away from a prompt decision. The Legislature though did not provide for definite period for taking decision but since the statute provides for maximum 30 days to direct for a meeting and that too with a 15 days' clear notice, it contextually means that District Magistrate has to take decision within a limited time to ensure that purpose of notice is not frustrated. Discipline of time in decision making process, in such circumstances is contextually a must.

22. The question now is what should be a time reasonable enough, for the District Magistrate to take a decision. As we have already discussed the provision, a meeting not only has to be convened with 15 days' clear notice but the meeting in all conditions have to be called within 30 days of the delivery of notice. This being the situation, the District Magistrate has maximum 14 days from the date of delivery of notice to consider the notice and pass an appropriate order. We may also notice at this stage that explanation appended to sub-section (1) of Section 15 saves a situation where a notice has been issued convening the meeting as per the provisions but the same has come to be stayed in a court proceeding. So the time spent in a court proceeding and time taken in issuing a fresh notice have come to be excluded. But there is no saving provision to the effect that in case if notice is returned/ rejected by the District Magistrate and the same is challenged in a court of law and if set aside, would the period of 30 days exclude the period of court proceeding and the period that may be taken by the District Magistrate in issuing a fresh order in the light of the order of the Court.

23. Equally by any rule of interpretation, we cannot apply the aforesaid saving clause given in the explanation (supra) to such above situation, this Court in the case of Anil Kumar Singh v. State of U.P. and others (Writ- C No.- 29087 of 2019 decided on 24th September, 2019) has held thus:-

"In view of the legislative intent behind the provision, this Court exercising its power under Article 226, cannot pass a direction which would not only carry out a new exception to the general law but in substance would amount to an exercise, quite legislative in nature, which is clearly not permissible. The law is very clear that a casus omissus can in no case be supplied by a Court of Law, for that would be to make laws (per Buller J. in Jones vs. Smart, 99 ER 963), except in some case of absolute necessity. The settled legal position as a rule of interpretation is that the Court cannot read anything into a statutory provision or rewrite a provision which is plain and unambiguous. A statute is an edict of the legislature. The language employed in a statute or any statutory provision is the determinative factor of legislative intent of policy makers. [Union of India vs. Rajiv Kumar(2003) 6 SCC 516]."

24. The issue, therefore, is that a 14 days' time is permitted to the District Magistrate to take a decision and if he rejects notice or returns the notice for that matter, the litigant and supporting members who have challenged the order of the District Magistrate, are rendered remediless. In our considered opinion, this cannot be the intention of the Legislature. The Legislative intent in not providing any saving provision in such circumstances, seems to be for simple reason that under sub-section (12) of Section 15 a fresh motion is barred only in case motion falls, however rejection of notice does not beget such a situation and so fresh motion can always be moved. The issue does not get resolved here because if the process is again led, the same procedure will be followed and again the District Magistrate shall pass an order and same will again be challenged in a court of law and then if it is quashed, the situation would turn out to be the same as in this case and so it will all lead to an endless process. This will not be a happy situation either and, therefore, in our considered opinion, it is necessary to ask the District Magistrate to take a decision upon delivery of notice to him either way i.e. to return the notice or fixe the date for the meeting to discuss the motion, within a reasonable time.

25. In such above view of the matter, therefore, we hold that 7 days' time is sufficiently reasonable time for the District Magistrate to form an opinion whether to convene a meeting or not to convene a is the head of the district civil administration and so his office must send message absolutely clear and loud qua righteousness. The fairness in approach should be apparent on the face of the record. The District Magistrate has been entrusted with this onerous duty on account of his position as a responsible head civil servant and, therefore, he is supposed to be conscious of his sacrosanct position while dealing with such matters.

26. Accordingly, while disposing of this writ petition, we are issuing following directions:- meeting. However, in exceptional circumstances and for the reasons to be recorded in writing, he may take further time but in all circumstances he shall have to pass an order before the expiry of the 13th day of the delivery of the notice. We may hasten to add that this extended period from 7th day to 13th day should be resorted to in a rarest of the rare cases and should be in a very exceptional and compelling circumstance. We hold, therefore, that if he finds that the notice is supported with signatures or the affidavits of the members consisting at least half (50%) members of the total strength of the House, he is bound to convene meeting. While he may hold a preliminary enquiry only to the extent as has been held by the Full Bench (supra), he has to place the motion before the House scheduling the meeting as contemplated under the law. The urgency involved in such matters and in the backdrop of sensitiveness of the issue of no confidence motion, the earlier is decision taken by the District Magistrate lesser would be the chance of speculations and manipulations at the end of the office of District Magistrate. District Magistrate

(1). Once delivered with the notice of "No Confidence Motion" the District Magistrate shall only ensure that it is signed by at least half (50%) members of the total strength of the House and carries the names of those who have signed and are elected members and the enquiry will be limited to the extent as observed by us hereinabove following the Full Bench judgment and the judgment in the case of Smt. Shashi Yadav (supra).

(2). The District Magistrate in all such matters of "Notice of No Confidence Motion" once delivered to him shall take decision either to call a meeting or return the notice on the expiry of 7th day of the delivery of the notice unless he has reasons to be recorded, to take more time but in no case he shall have to pass order by the 13th day of the delivery of notice.

(3). District Magistrate shall ensure that clear 15 days notice is published and also sent by registered post excluding the date of publication of notice and the date of the scheduled meeting.

27. Registrar General of this Court is directed to send a copy of this order forthwith to the Chief Secretary, State of U.P., Lucknow for communication and compliance to all the District Magistrates of the State of Uttar Pradesh.

Rakesh Mahajan ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Rohan Gupta, Sri Kali Azad

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Kaushalendra Nath Singh

A. Money recovery - notice for recovery issued in the name of shareholder Rakesh Mahajan and the stakeholder Nirala Developers Pvt. Ltd in the Company PAN Realtors Pvt. Ltd. - Whether the dues of PAN Realtors Pvt. Ltd. be recovered from the petitioner Rakesh Mahajan being a Director of the shareholding company Nirala Developers Pvt. Ltd and from Nirala Buildicon being a sister concern of the shareholding company Nirala Developers Pvt. Ltd.

The lease deed was executed between the New Okhla Industrial Development Authority and PAN Realtors Pvt. Ltd., a company which was incorporated as a Special Purpose Company. The PAN Realtors Pvt. Ltd comprises of Patel Engineering Limited, Advance Construction Company and Nirala Developers Pvt. Ltd. The Rakesh Mahajan is the director of Nirala Developers Pvt. Ltd. and Nirala Buildicon Pvt. Ltd is a sister concern of the Nirala Developers Pvt. Ltd. Over the period of time, the Nirala Developers Pvt. Ltd became a minority share holder in the PAN Realtor Pvt. Ltd.

The facts of the present case demonstrate that the petitioner Rakesh Mahajan was never a Director of PAN Realtors Pvt. Ltd. and is not even a shareholder of PAN Realtors Pvt. Ltd. in his personal capacity (Para 50)

Further, there is no material to suggest that the petitioner herein Rakesh or Nirala Buildcon exercised persuasive control over PAN Realtors Pvt. Ltd. The petitioners are not even a signatory to the lease deed in question and thus no case is made out for piercing the veil for recovery of alleged dues of PAN Realtors Pvt. Ltd. from the petitioners. (Para 51)

B. Corporate veil - whether the corporate veil of PAN Realtors Pvt. Ltd. and Nirala Developers Pvt. Ltd. can be pierced to hold the shareholders and the sister concern of a share holder liable for the dues of a company.

After observing catena of judgments, the Court has settled the legal position with respect to lifting of corporate veil in following circumstances: -

a. Only in exceptional circumstances by the courts with caution and circumspection and in a restrictive manner;

b. For lifting the corporate veil it is essential that the case falls within the exceptions as elaborated and crystallized by Munby J. in Ben Hashem v Ali Shayif and approved by the Apex Court in the case of Balwant Rai Saluja and Arcelormittal India

c. Where the Statute itself permits lifting of veil. (Para 49)

The statute in question being U.P. Urban Planning Development Act, 1973 does not have any provision for lifting the corporate veil. (Para 51)

C. Company - has a separate and distinct legal entity from its shareholders - dues of Company cannot be recovered from its shareholders/directors.

D. Article 14 - Constitution of India - Action of 'State' or an 'instrumentality of State' should be in conformity with law and should satisfy twin test - 'substantive due process of law' and 'procedural due process of law' - if not, then actions are violative of Article 14.

Patel Engineering Ltd.	36%	38 %	37.57%	37.57%
Advance Cont. Co.	39%	37 %	37.43%	37.43%
Nirala Developers Pvt. Ltd.	25%	25 %	25%	25%

19. A perusal of the recovery certificate shows that the same was issued in the name of "PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited, shareholder, Rakesh Mahajan".

20. The petitioner Rakesh Mahajan claims that on coming to know of the said recovery certificate petitioner moved a detailed representation on 4.10.2019 before the respondents no. 2, 3 and 4 seeking withdrawal of the recovery certificate as against the petitioner, however, nothing was done and no orders have been passed on the said representation.

21. The petitioner claims that in terms of the recovery certificate the respondents no. 3 and 4 are threatening to adopt coercive measures against the petitioner for the alleged dues of PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited and thus approached this Court by filing the present petition seeking the following reliefs:

"(i) To issue a suitable writ, order or direction nature of certiorari quashing the impugned recovery certificate dated 12.9.2019 (served on the petitioner on 28.9.2019) (Anneure-7) issued by the Tehsildar Dadri, Gautam Budh Nagar.

He submits that PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited is a separate and distinct entity in the eyes of law, distinct from its shareholders and it is well settled that the amounts due against a Company cannot be recovered against its shareholders/Directors and in the present case, the petitioner being neither a shareholder nor a Director of PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited cannot be proceeded against for the recovery of alleged dues against the PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited.

27. No notice/opportunity was accorded to the petitioner in his personal capacity prior to initiating the recovery proceedings against the petitioner in his personal capacity and as such on that count also the steps being taken against the petitioner are wholly arbitrary and illegal.

28. Counsel appearing for Nirala Buildcon Pvt Lts adds to the submissions and argues that Nirala Buildcon is neither a share holder nor a member of Pan Realtors Private Limited and is a seperate and distinct legal entity even from Nirala Developers Pvt. Limited as such cannot be proceeded against.

29. Sri Kaushalendra Nath Singh, learned counsel appearing on behalf of Noida Authority has filed a counter affidavit bringing on record the fact that the Noida Authority had executed a lease deed in favour of PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited. He further states that in terms of the lease deed an amount of Rs. 15,50,62,778.78 being 10% of the total amounts was paid by the Special Purpose Company PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited at the time of execution of the lease deed and the remaining amount was to be paid in installments along with interest at the rate of 11% per annum, compounded half yearly, with a further provision for default penal interest and as PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited defaulted in making the payments of the installments on time, several letters were issued, which have been collectively filed and marked as (CA1) to the counter affidavit.

30. A perusal of the said show cause notices (CA-1)reveals that all the notices were sent to PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited, S-406 (LG), Greater Kailash-II, New Delhi. None of the said notices filed as CA-1 have been sent to both the petitioners.

31. Sri Kaushalendra Nath Singh, learned counsel for Noida Authority, further states that as the amounts were not paid by PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited, a letter was written to the Collector, Gautam Budh Nagar for collecting the amounts as arrears of land revenue from the shareholders and Directors of the lessee Company PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited. The said letter dated 26.8.2009 is on record as CA-2, along with the said letter details of the Directors of the lessee Company were disclosed which included the names of the Directors of PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited, Directors of Patel Engineering Pvt. Limited, Directors of Nirala Developers Pvt. Limited (including the name of the petitioner) and the names of the Directors of Advance Constructions Limited.The said letter made no mention of Nirala Buildcon Pvt. Ltd.

32. Sri Kaushalendra Nath Singh also submits that all the companies, who are the shareholders, have the entire share holding of PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited and as such all are liable for payment of dues. He further tried to justify as to how recovery was being processed against the petitioner Rakesh Mahajan and Nirala Buildcon Pvt. Limited, a sister concern of Nirala Developers Pvt. Limited.Justifying the steps being taken for recovery against Nirala Buildcon, Mr. Singh argued that the two companies are one and the same and have similar shareholding and are in control of Mr Rakesh Mahajan and his family.

33. Counter affidavit filed also states that the shareholding of Nirala Developers Pvt. Limited and Nirala Buildcon Pvt. Limited show that they are basically run/managed by similar set of people including the petitioner Rakesh Mahajan. He further relied upon the orders of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Dr. Subroto Roy vs. Union Of India & Ors, 2014 (8) SCC 470 and in case of Amarpali and states that in view of the said amounts can be recovered from the shareholders and Directors. Thus, in sum and substance, the submission of Kaushalendra Nath Singh is that the petitioner Rakesh mahajan being a Director in one of the shareholding Company i.e. Nirala Developers Private Limtied is liable to pay the outstanding dues of the Company PAN Developers (Pvt.) Ltd and Nirala Buildcon being a sister concern of Nirala developers is also liable for payment of dues of Pan Realtors Pvt. Ltd.

34. It is also admitted at the bar that the Lease granted to the lessee Pan Realtors has not been determined and further that the Authority had granted part completion certificate on the strength of which the lessee company has sold certain plots and created third party rights.

35. In view of the submissions made at the bar, what is to be considered is that :

a) Whether the dues of PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited can be recovered against the petitioner Rakesh Mahajan being a Director of the shareholding company Nirala Developers Private Limited and from Nirala Buildcon being a sister concern of the shareholding company Nirala Developers Private Limited,

And:

b) Whether in the facts of the case corporate veil of Pan Realtors Pvt Ltd and Nirala Developers Pvt Ltd can be pierced to hold the shareholders and sister concern of a share holder liable for the dues of a company.

36. Both the counsels for the Petitioners have extensively relied upon the following judgements:

1.Gillete India Limited vs. Delhi Development Authority, 260 (2019) DLT 416

2. Balwant Rai Saluja and another vs. Air India Limited and others, (2014) 9 SCC 407

3. Bacha F. Gauzdar vs. Commissioner of Income Tax, Bombay, Air 1855 SC 74

4. Meekin Transmission Ltd. vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, 2008 4 All LJ 789 (DB)

5. The Tata Engineering and Locomotive Co. Ltd. And another vs. State of Bihar and others, AIR 1965 SC 40

6. Arcelormittal India Private Limited vs. Satish Kumar Gupta and others, (2019) 2 SCC 1

7. Vodafone International Holdings B.V vs Union of India (2012) 6 SCC 613

37. Sri Kaushalendra Nath Singh, learned counsel for the Noida Authority, on the other hand, has relied upon an order of this Court dated 7.8.2019, passed in Writ C No. 25554 of 2019 (Ashish Gupta vs. State of U.P. and 5 others) and the judgement of this Court in Writ Tax No. 1464 of 2005 (Jagbir Singh vs. State of U.P. and others) to argue that the recovery against the petitioners is justified.

38. Coming to the judgements cited by the petitioners, the Delhi High Court in the case of Gillete India Limited vs. Delhi Development Authority (supra) was called upon to consider the question of demand of unearned increase and the consequential refund. The petitioner company came into possession of certain lands in terms of the Scheme sanctioned by BIFR and were called upon to pay the dues of a Company which was declared as a sick Company by the Board of Industrial Financial Reconstruction. The Delhi High Court observed as under:

39. It is trite law that an incorporated company is an entity separate from its shareholders. In Bacha F. Guzdar v. Commissioner of Income Tax: AIR 1955 SC 74, the Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court had held that the nature of income in the hands of a company was not the nature of income in the hands of its shareholders. It held that dividends in the hands of the shareholders of a company declared from agricultural income received by that company could not be considered as agricultural income. The said decision rested on the fundamental principle that a company is a separate juristic entity distinct from its shareholders.

40. In the aforementioned case, the Supreme Court referred to the Halsbury"s Laws of England, Vol. 6 (3rdEdn.), p. 234 and set forth the following passage regarding the attributes of shares:-

"A share is a right to a specified amount of the share capital of a company carrying with it certain rights and liabilities while the company is a going concern and in its winding up. The shares or other interest of any member in a company are personal estate transferable in the manner provided by its articles, and are not of the nature of real estate."

41. It is well settled that shares of a company are a separate asset wholly distinct from the assets held by the company.

42. In the present case, there was dilution of the share capital of TGC as well as transfer of shares held by the TGC in the petitioner company. The transfer of shares of the petitioner company cannot be construed as transfer of the assets of the petitioner company.

43. In Rustom Cavasjee Cooper vs. Union of India: (1970) 1 SCC 248, the constitution bench of the Supreme Court reiterated the above settled principle in the following words:

"11. A company registered under the Companies Act is a legal person, separate, and distinct from its individual members. Property of the Company is not the property of the shareholders. A shareholder has merely an interest in the Company arising under its Articles of Association, measured by a sum of money for the purpose of liability, and by a share in the distributed profit. Again a director of a Company is merely its agent for the purpose of management. The holder of a deposit account in a Company is its creditor: he is not the owner of any specific fund lying with the Company. A shareholder, a depositor or a director may not therefore be entitled to move a petition for infringement of the rights of the Company, unless by the action impugned by him, his rights are also infringed."

44. In a recent decision of the Supreme Court in Vodafone International Holdings B.V. v. Union of India and Anr.: (2012) 6 SCC 613, the Supreme Court rejected the contention that a transfer of shares of an overseas holding company would amount to transfer of assets held by the subsidiary in India. In the said case, the Supreme Court applied the "look at" test to view the transaction relating to transfer of shares by overseas holding companies. The transaction must be viewed as it looks and a dissecting approach is not warranted.

39. The next judgment cited by Sri Rohan Gupta is the case of Balwant Rai Saluja and another vs. Air India Limited and others (supra), wherein the Apex Court was considering whether the workman engaged in statutory canteens through a Contractor should be treated as employees of the principal establishment. The Supreme Court made the following observations in para nos. 67 to 74 which is as under:

"67. The Companies Act in India and all over the world have statutorily recognized subsidiary company as a separate legal entity. Section 2(47) of the Companies Act, 1956 (for short "the Act, 1956") defines "subsidiary company' or "subsidiary', to mean a subsidiary company within the meaning of Section 4 of the Act, 1956. For the purpose of the Act, 1956, a company shall be, subject to the provisions of sub-section (3) of Section 4, of the Act, 1956, deemed to be subsidiary of another. Clause (1) of Section 4 of the Act, 1956 further imposes certain preconditions for a company to be a subsidiary of another. The other such company must exercise control over the composition of the Board of Directors of the subsidiary company, and have a controlling interest of over 50% of the equity shares and voting rights of the given subsidiary company.

68. In a concurring judgment by K.S.P. Radhakrishnan, J., in the case of Vodafone International Holdings BV v. Union of India, (2012) 6 SCC 613, the following was observed:

"Holding company and subsidiary company ....

257. The legal relationship between a holding company and WOS is that they are two distinct legal persons and the holding company does not own the assets of the subsidiary and, in law, the management of the business of the subsidiary also vests in its Board of Directors. ...

258. Holding company, of course, if the subsidiary is a WOS, may appoint or remove any Director if it so desires by a resolution in the general [pic]body meeting of the subsidiary. Holding companies and subsidiaries can be considered as single economic entity and consolidated balance sheet is the accounting relationship between the holding company and subsidiary company, which shows the status of the entire business enterprises. Shares of stock in the subsidiary company are held as assets on the books of the parent company and can be issued as collateral for additional debt financing. Holding company and subsidiary company are, however, considered as separate legal entities, and subsidiary is allowed decentralized management. Each subsidiary can reform its own management personnel and holding company may also provide expert, efficient and competent services for the benefit of the subsidiaries."

69. The Vodafone case (supra), further made reference to a decision of the US Supreme Court in United States v. Bestfoods [141 L Ed 2d 43: 524 US 51 (1998)]. In that case, the US Supreme Court explained that as a general principle of corporate law a parent corporation is not liable for the acts of its subsidiary. The US Supreme Court went on to explain that corporate veil can be pierced and the parent company can be held liable for the conduct of its subsidiary, only if it is shown that the corporal form is misused to accomplish certain wrongful purposes, and further that the parent company is directly a participant in the wrong complained of. Mere ownership, parental control, management, etc. of a subsidiary was held not to be sufficient to pierce the status of their relationship and, to hold parent company liable.

70. The doctrine of "piercing the corporate veil' stands as an exception to the principle that a company is a legal entity separate and distinct from its shareholders with its own legal rights and obligations. It seeks to disregard the separate personality of the company and attribute the acts of the company to those who are allegedly in direct control of its operation. The starting point of this doctrine was discussed in the celebrated case of Salomon v. A Salomon & Co Ltd., [1897] AC 22. Lord Halsbury LC (paragraphs 31-33), negating the applicability of this doctrine to the facts of the case, stated that:

"...a company must be treated like any other independent person with its rights and liabilities legally appropriate to itself ..., whatever may have been the ideas or schemes of those who brought it into existence."

Most of the cases subsequent to the Salomon case (supra), attributed the doctrine of piercing the veil to the fact that the company was a "sham' or a "façade'. However, there was yet to be any clarity on applicability of the said doctrine.

71. In recent times, the law has been crystallized around the six principles formulated by Munby J. in Ben Hashem v. Ali Shayif, [2008] EWHC 2380 (Fam). The six principles, as found at paragraphs 159- 164 of the case are as follows- (i) ownership and control of a company were not enough to justify piercing the corporate veil; (ii) the Court cannot pierce the corporate veil, even in the absence of third party interests in the company, merely because it is thought to be necessary in the interests of justice; (iii) the corporate veil can be pierced only if there is some impropriety; (iv) the impropriety in question must be linked to the use of the company structure to avoid or conceal liability; (v) to justify piercing the corporate veil, there must be both control of the company by the wrongdoer(s) and impropriety, that is use or misuse of the company by them as a device or facade to conceal their wrongdoing; and (vi) the company may be a ''façade' even though it was not originally incorporated with any deceptive intent, provided that it is being used for the purpose of deception at the time of the relevant transactions. The Court would, however, pierce the corporate veil only so far as it was necessary in order to provide a remedy for the particular wrong which those controlling the company had done.

The principles laid down by the Ben Hashem case (supra) have been reiterated by UK Supreme Court by Lord Neuberger in Prest v. Petrodel Resources Limited and others, [2013] UKSC 34, at paragraph 64. Lord Sumption, in the Prest case (supra), finally observed as follows:

"35. I conclude that there is a limited principle of English law which applies when a person is under an existing legal obligation or liability or subject to an existing legal restriction which he deliberately evades or whose enforcement he deliberately frustrates by interposing a company under his control. The Court may then pierce the corporate veil for the purpose, and only for the purpose, of depriving the company or its controller of the advantage that they would otherwise have obtained by the company's separate legal personality. The principle is properly described as a limited one, because in almost every case where the test is satisfied, the facts will in practice disclose a legal relationship between the company and its controller which will make it unnecessary to pierce the corporate veil."

The position of law regarding this principle in India has been enumerated in various decisions. A Constitution Bench of this Court in Life Insurance Corporation of India v. Escorts Ltd. & Ors., (1986) 1 SCC 264, while discussing the doctrine of corporate veil, held that:

"90. ... Generally and broadly speaking, we may say that the corporate veil may be lifted where a statute itself contemplates lifting the veil, or fraud or improper conduct is intended to be prevented, or a taxing statute or a beneficent statute is sought to be evaded or where associated companies are inextricably connected as to be, in reality, part of one concern. It is neither necessary nor desirable to enumerate the classes of cases where lifting the veil is permissible, since that must necessarily depend on the relevant statutory or other provisions, the object sought to be achieved, the impugned conduct, the involvement of the element of the public interest, the effect on parties who may be affected etc."

74. Thus, on relying upon the aforesaid decisions, the doctrine of piercing the veil allows the Court to disregard the separate legal personality of a company and impose liability upon the persons exercising real control over the said company. However, this principle has been and should be applied in a restrictive manner, that is, only in scenarios wherein it is evident that the company was a mere camouflage or sham deliberately created by the persons exercising control over the said company for the purpose of avoiding liability. The intent of piercing the veil must be such that would seek to remedy a wrong done by the persons controlling the company. The application would thus depend upon the peculiar facts and circumstances of each case."

40. The next judgement relied upon by Sri Rohan Gupta is the case of Bacha F. Gauzdar vs. Commissioner of Income Tax, Bombay (supra), wherein the Apex Court was called upon to decide the question of exemption under section 4 (3)(viii) of the Income Tax Act the Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court held that the nature of income in the hands of a company was not the nature of income in the hands of its shareholders. It held that dividends in the hands of the shareholders of a company declared from agricultural income received by that company could not be considered as agricultural income. The said decision rested on the fundamental principle that a company is a separate juristic entity distinct from its shareholders.

41. Referring to the leading pronouncement of the Constitution Bench of the Apex court in the case of Tata Engineering and Locomotive Co. Ltd. And another vs. State of Bihar and others (supra). The Apex court following the cherished judgement of Salomon vs. Salomon & Co., 1897 AC 22 observed held as under:

"24. The true legal position in regard to the character of a corporation or a company which owes its incorporation to a statutory authority, is not in doubt or dispute. The corporation in law is equal to a natural person and has a legal entity of its own. The entity of the corporation is entirely separate from that of its shareholders; it bears its own name and has a seal of its own; its assets are separate and distinct from those of its members; it can sue and be sued exclusively for its own purpose; its creditors cannot obtain satisfaction from the assets of its members; the liability of the members or shareholders is limited to the capital invested by them; similarly, the creditors of the members have no right to the assets of the corporation. This position has been well-established ever since the decision in the case of Salomon v. Salomon & Co., 1897 AC 22 was pronounced in 1897; and indeed, it has always been the well-recognised principle of common law. However, in the course of time, the doctrine that the corporation or a company has a legal and separate entity of its own has been subjected to certain exceptions by the application of the fiction that the veil of the corporation can be lifted and its face examined in substance. The doctrine of the lifting of the veil thus marks a change in the attitude that law had originally adopted towards the concept of the separate entity or personality of the corporation. As a result of the impact of the complexity of economic factors, judicial decisions have sometimes recognised exceptions to the rule about the juristic personality of the corporation. It may be that in course of time these exceptions may grow in number and to meet the requirements of different economic problems, the theory about the personality of the corporation may be confined more and more.

26. It is unnecessary to refer to the facts in these two cases and the principles enunciated by them, because it is not disputed by the respondents that some exceptions have been recognised to the rule that a corporation or a company has a juristic or legal separate entity. The doctrine of the lifting of the veil has been* applied in the words of Palmer in five categories of cases : where companies are in the relationship of holding and subsidiary (or sub-subsidiary) companies; where a shareholder has lost the privilege of limited liability and has become directly liable to certain creditors of the company on the ground that, with his knowledge, the company continued to carry on business six months after the number of its members was reduced below the legal minimum; in certain matters pertaining to the law of taxes, death duties and stamps, particularly where the question of the "controlling interest" is in issue; in the law relating to exchange control; and in the law relating to trading with the enemy where the test of control is adopted (1). In some of these cases, judicial decisions have no doubt lifted the veil and considered the substance of the matter.

27. Gower has similarly summarised this position with the observation that in a number of important respects, the legislature has rent the veil woven by the Salomon case. Particularly is this so, 'says Gower, in the sphere of taxation and in the steps which have been taken towards the recognition of enterprise-entity rather than corporate-entity. It is significant, however, that according to Gower, the courts have only construed statutes as "cracking open the corporate shell" when compelled to do so by the clear words of the statute; indeed they have gone' out of their way to avoid this construction whenever possible. Thus, at present, the judicial approach in cracking open the corporate shell is somewhat cautious and circumspect. It is only where the legislative provision justifies the adoption of such a course that the veil has been lifted. In exceptional cases where courts have felt "themselves able to ignore the corporate entity and to treat the individual shareholders as liable for its acts", (2) the same course has been adopted. Summarising his conclusions, Gower has classified seven categories of cases where the veil of a corporate body has been lifted. But it would not be possible to evolve a rational, consistent and inflexible principle which can be invoked in determining the question as to whether the veil of the corporation should be lifted or not. Broadly stated, where fraud is intended to be prevented, or trading with an enemy is sought to be defeated, the veil of a corporation is lifted by judicial decisions and the shareholders are held to be the persons who actually work for the corporation."

42. The Apex Court very recently in the case of Arcelormittal India Private Limited vs. Satish Kumar Gupta and others (supra) while deciding the validity of Section 29-A(c) of the IBC observed as under:

"35. Similarly in Balwant Rai Saluja & Anr. etc. etc. v. Air India Ltd. & Ors., (2014) 9 SCC 407, this Court in following Escorts Ltd. (supra.), held:

"70. The doctrine of "piercing the corporate veil" stands as an exception to the principle that a company is a legal entity separate and distinct from its shareholders with its own legal rights and obligations. It seeks to disregard the separate personality of the company and attribute the acts of the company to those who are allegedly in direct control of its operation. The starting point of this doctrine was discussed in the celebrated case of Salomon v. Salomon & Co. Ltd. [1897 AC 22] Lord Halsbury LC, negating the applicability of this doctrine to the facts of the case, stated that: (AC pp. 30 & 31)

"[a company] must be treated like any other independent person with its rights and liabilities [legally] appropriate to itself ... whatever may have been the ideas or schemes of those who brought it into existence."

Most of the cases subsequent to Salomon case [1897 AC 22], attributed the doctrine of piercing the veil to the fact that the company was a "sham" or a "façade". However, there was yet to be any clarity on applicability of the said doctrine.

71. In recent times, the law has been crystallised around the six principles formulated by Munby, J. in Ben Hashem v. Ali Shayif [Ben Hashem v. Ali Shayif, 2008 EWHC 2380 (Fam)]. The six principles, as found at paras 159-64 of the case are as follows:

(i) Ownership and control of a company were not enough to justify piercing the corporate veil;

(ii) The court cannot pierce the corporate veil, even in the absence of third-party interests in the company, merely because it is thought to be necessary in the interests of justice;

(iii) The corporate veil can be pierced only if there is some impropriety;

(iv) The impropriety in question must be linked to the use of the company structure to avoid or conceal liability;

(v) To justify piercing the corporate veil, there must be both control of the company by the wrongdoer(s) and impropriety, that is use or misuse of the company by them as a device or facade to conceal their wrongdoing; and

(vi) The company may be a "façade" even though it was not originally incorporated with any deceptive intent, provided that it is being used for the purpose of deception at the time of the relevant transactions. The court would, however, pierce the corporate veil only so far as it was necessary in order to provide a remedy for the particular wrong which those controlling the company had done.

72. The principles laid down by Ben Hashem case [Ben Hashem v. Ali Shayif, 2008 EWHC 2380 (Fam)] have been reiterated by the UK Supreme Court by Lord Neuberger in Prest v. Petrodel Resources Ltd. [(2013) 2 AC 415], UKSC at para 64. Lord Sumption, in Prest case [(2013) 2 AC 415], finally observed as follows: (AC p. 488, para 35)

"35. I conclude that there is a limited principle of English law which applies when a person is under an existing legal obligation or liability or subject to an existing legal restriction which he deliberately evades or whose enforcement he deliberately frustrates by interposing a company under his control. The court may then pierce the corporate veil for the purpose, and only for the purpose, of depriving the company or its controller of the advantage that they would otherwise have obtained by the company's separate legal personality. The principle is properly described as a limited one, because in almost every case where the test is satisfied, the facts will in practice disclose a legal relationship between the company and its controller which will make it unnecessary to pierce the corporate veil."

73. The position of law regarding this principle in India has been enumerated in various decisions. A Constitution Bench of this Court in LIC v. Escorts Ltd. [(1986) 1 SCC 264], while discussing the doctrine of corporate veil, held that: (SCC pp. 335-36, para 90)

"90. ... Generally and broadly speaking, we may say that the corporate veil may be lifted where a statute itself contemplates lifting the veil, or fraud or improper conduct is intended to be prevented, or a taxing statute or a beneficent statute is sought to be evaded or where associated companies are inextricably connected as to be, in reality, part of one concern. It is neither necessary nor desirable to enumerate the classes of cases where lifting the veil is permissible, since that must necessarily depend on the relevant statutory or other provisions, the object sought to be achieved, the impugned conduct, the involvement of the element of the public interest, the effect on parties who may be affected, etc.""

36. Similarly in Delhi Development Authority v. Skipper Construction Company (P) Ltd. & Another, (1996) 4 SCC 622, this Court held:

"24. In Salomon v. Salomon & Co. Ltd. [1897 AC 22] the House of Lords had observed,

"the company is at law a different person altogether from the subscribers ...; and, though it may be that after incorporation the business is precisely the same as it was before, the same persons are managers, and the same hands receive the profits, the company is not in law the agent of the subscribers or trustee for them. Nor are the subscribers as members liable, in any shape or form, except to the extent and in the manner provided by that Act."

Since then, however, the courts have come to recognise several exceptions to the said rule. While it is not necessary to refer to all of them, the one relevant to us is "when the corporate personality is being blatantly used as a cloak for fraud or improper conduct". [Gower: Modern Company Law -- 4th Edn. (1979) at p. 137.] Pennington (Company Law -- 5th Edn. 1985 at p. 53) also states that "where the protection of public interests is of paramount importance or where the company has been formed to evade obligations imposed by the law", the court will disregard the corporate veil. A Professor of Law, S. Ottolenghi in his article "From peeping behind the Corporate Veil, to ignoring it completely" says

"the concept of "piercing the veil' in the United States is much more developed than in the UK. The motto, which was laid down by Sanborn, J.and cited since then as the law, is that "when the notion of legal entity is used to defeat public convenience, justify wrong, protect fraud, or defend crime, the law will regard the corporation as an association of persons'. The same can be seen in various European jurisdictions."

Indeed, as far back as 1912, another American Professor L. Maurice Wormser examined the American decisions on the subject in a brilliantly written article "Piercing the veil of corporate entity" [published in (1912) XII Columbia Law Review 496] and summarised their central holding in the following words:

"The various classes of cases where the concept of corporate entity should be ignored and the veil drawn aside have now been briefly reviewed. What general rule, if any, can be laid down? The nearest approximation to generalisation which the present state of the authorities would warrant is this: When the conception of corporate entity is employed to defraud creditors, to evade an existing obligation, to circumvent a statute, to achieve or perpetuate monopoly, or to protect knavery or crime, the courts will draw aside the web of entity, will regard the corporate company as an association of live, up-and-doing, men and women shareholders, and will do justice between real persons."

25. In Palmer's Company Law, this topic is discussed in Part II of Vol. I. Several situations where the court will disregard the corporate veil are set out. It would be sufficient for our purposes to quote the eighth exception. It runs:

"The courts have further shown themselves willing to "lifting the veil' where the device of incorporation is used for some illegal or improper purpose.... Where a vendor of land sought to avoid the action for specific performance by transferring the land in breach of contract to a company he had formed for the purpose, the court treated the company as a mere "sham' and made an order for specific performance against both the vendor and the company."

Similar views have been expressed by all the commentators on the Company Law which we do not think necessary to refer to.

26. The law as stated by Palmer and Gower has been approved by this Court in TELCO v. State of Bihar [(1964) 6 SCR 885]. The following passage from the decision is apposite:

"27... Gower has classified seven categories of cases where the veil of a corporate body has been lifted. But, it would not be possible to evolve a rational, consistent and inflexible principle which can be invoked in determining the question as to whether the veil of the corporation should be lifted or not. Broadly stated, where fraud is intended to be prevented, or trading with an enemy is sought to be defeated, the veil of a corporation is lifted by judicial decisions and the shareholders are held to be the persons who actually work for the corporation."

27. In DHN Food Distributors Ltd. v. London Borough of Tower Hamlets [(1976) 3 All ER 462] the court of appeal dealt with a group of companies. Lord Denning quoted with approval the statement in Gower's Company Law that "there is evidence of a general tendency to ignore the separate legal entities of various companies within a group, and to look instead at the economic entity of the whole group".

The learned Master of Rolls observed that "this group is virtually the same as a partnership in which all the three companies are partners". He called it a case of "three in one" -- and, alternatively, as "one in three".

28. The concept of corporate entity was evolved to encourage and promote trade and commerce but not to commit illegalities or to defraud people. Where, therefore, the corporate character is employed for the purpose of committing illegality or for defrauding others, the court would ignore the corporate character and will look at the reality behind the corporate veil so as to enable it to pass appropriate orders to do justice between the parties concerned. The fact that Tejwant Singh and members of his family have created several corporate bodies does not prevent this Court from treating all of them as one entity belonging to and controlled by Tejwant Singh and family if it is found that these corporate bodies are merely cloaks behind which lurks Tejwant Singh and/or members of his family and that the device of incorporation was really a ploy adopted for committing illegalities and/or to defraud people." (emphasis supplied)

37. It is thus clear that, where a statute itself lifts the corporate veil, or where protection of public interest is of paramount importance, or where a company has been formed to evade obligations imposed by the law, the court will disregard the corporate veil. Further, this principle is applied even to group companies, so that one is able to look at the economic entity of the group as a whole."

43. Now coming to the next judgment of this Court in the case of Meekin Transmission Ltd. vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others (supra), this Court was considering the notice for recovery sent to the Director of a Company for arrears of trade tax against the Company. This Court considered the entire concept of Companies, the status of the Directors and its shareholders and relying upon the cherished judgement of Salomon vs. Salomon and Co., 1897 AC 22 held as under:

"71. The cardinal principle which has been laid down in the aforesaid cases and expressly stated and reiterated in Purshottam Das Beriwal (Supra) is as under:

"The cardinal principle of law is that when there is a liability against a company, no recovery can be made from personal assets of its Director, unless it is specifically provided in the Statute or warranted by law. It is not brought to brought to our notice that there is any specific provision in the U.P. Sales Tax Act, whereunder recovery of the liability outstanding against a company can be made against the personal assets of its Director."

72. The legal position as discerned from the above is that in a case where the corporate personality has been obtained by certain individuals as a cloak or a mask to prevent tax liability or to divert the public funds or to defraud public at large or for some illegal purposes etc., to find out as to who are those beneficiaries who have proceeded to prevent such liability or to achieve an impermissible objective by taking recourse to corporate personality, the veil of the corporate personality shall be lifted so that those persons who are so identified are made responsible. However, this doctrine is not to be applied as a matter of course, in a routine manner and as a day to day affair so as to recover the dues of a company, whenever and for whatever reason they are unrecoverable, from the personal assets of the Directors. If such a course is permitted, it would lead to not only disastrous results but would also destroy completely the concept of juristic personality conferred by various statutes like the Act in the present case and would make several enactments and their effect to be redundant and illusory. Moreover, the shallowness of arguments in favour of making Directors personally responsible can be considered from another angle. In every case the Director may not be a shareholder of the company. He may have been appointed as Director for taking advantage of his expertise in his field of vocation or profession, and for achieving goals for which the company is incorporated. Such Director is paid remuneration, if any, for the services he rendered. Otherwise he is not at all a beneficiary of the business or trade etc., as the case may be, in which the company is engaged. Such benefit would be available only to the shareholders as they would only be entitled to share the profits earned by the company in the form of dividend as decided by the Board of Directors. In such case such Director, though is an agent of the company but he is more in the nature of an officer of the company and not in the capacity of limited ownership by way of shareholding. Such a Director, in our view, unless is guilty* of misfeasance, fraud or acting ultra vires, we are not able to understand as to how he can be made responsible personally for the dues of the company even if we apply the doctrine of piercing the veil. If in such a case the veil is to be lifted, the persons behind the veil, at the best, would be the promoters of the company or those who have sought to obtain corporate personality as a sham or bogus transaction. Similarly, in some of the companies the financial institutions, who advances funds as loan etc., nominate their Director/s to keep some kind of monitoring over the functions of the company so that it may not go on liquidation on account of negligent and careless function of the Board of Directors. Such Directors also, in our view, cannot be included in the category of the persons who would be responsible personally for the dues of the company.

73. In order to find out as to who are the persons responsible personally when the veil is lifted it would be wholly irrelevant as to whether such person is a Director or a promoter shareholder or otherwise of the company since the purpose of lifting the veil is to find out the person/s who is operating behind the corporate personality for his personal gain. Such person may be individual or group of persons belonging to a family or relatives or otherwise a small group collected with a common objective of achieving some illegal, immoral or improper purpose etc. So long as no investigation is made into various aspects, we are not able to understand as to how and what manner a Director of a company can straightway be proceeded personally for recovering dues of a company unless it is so provided by some provision of the statute.

74. Recently considering a similar controversy with reference to the provisions of Payment of Wages Act, the Apex Court in P.C. Agarwala Vs. Payment of Wages Inspector, M.P. and others, AIR 2006 SC 3576 has held as under:

"17. It is trite law that liability of a person is dependent upon the Statutory prescriptions governing such liability. Sections 5 and 291 of the Companies Act, 1956 (in short 'Companies Act') are to be noted in this regard. Section 5 refers to officer who is in default. Section 291 on the other hand relates to general powers of the Board of Directors. In order to attract the liability under the Act, it has to be seen as to on whom the Act fixes the liability. Section 3 speaks of the responsibility for payment of wages. It speaks of the "employer" which expression is defined in Section 2(ia). Section 15 refers to the claims arising out of deductions from wages or delaying payment of wages and penalty for malicious or vexatious claims. Statutorily no liability has been fixed on the Directors.

75. Further in para 24 of the judgement also the Court held as under:

"Therefore, on a plain reading of the language of the governing statute, it cannot be held that the Directors had any personal liability....."

76. In the said judgement with respect to applicability of doctrine of lifting of veil, after referring to the learned authors like Palmer and Gower, the Court has clearly said that at present judicial approach in cracking upon the corporate shell is somewhat cautious and circumspect. It is only when the statute justifies adoption of such a course or in exceptional cases, where Courts have felt themselves satisfied to ignore the corporate entity and to treat the individual shareholder(s) liable for its acts, such a course has been adopted. Broadly, where fraud is intended to be prevented, or trading with enemy is sought to be defeated, the veil of corporation is lifted by judicial decision and the shareholders are held to be "persons who actually work for corporation".

77. This judgement also goes to show that normally when the veil is lifted it is the promoters, shareholders or the shareholders who are found to be working behind the veil, responsible, and the Directors as such would not be taking to be responsible for meeting the liabilities of the company unless the statute so provides or it is found that the act of the Directors is ultra vires resulting in extinction of assets and funds of company making recovery from the company impossible.

78. In brief, we can categories the cases in which the corporate personality of the incorporate body can be ignored and it would be better to refer the renowned author Palmer's Company Law 23rd Edition where he has categorised the cases, in which the principle of separate entity of the Company has been discarded by adopting the doctrine of lifting the veil, in 15 categories and some of which are as under:

*"(1) where companies are in relationship of holding and subsidiary (or sub-subsidiary) companies; (2) where a shareholder has lost the privilege of limited liability and has become directly liable to certain creditors of the company on the ground that, with his knowledge, the company continued to carry on business six months after the number of its members was reduced below the legal minimum; (3) in certain matters pertaining to the law of taxes; death duty and stamps, particularly where the question of the "controlling interest" is in issue; (4) in the law relating to exchange control; (5) in the law relating to trading with the enemy where the test of control is adopted; (6) where a holding company or a subsidiary company were not working in an autonomous manner and thus were treated as forming an economic unit; (7) where the new company was formed by the members of an existing company holding 9/10 shares in the existing company and only with an object of expropriating the shares of minority share holders of the existing company; (8) where the device of incorporation is used for some illegal or improper purpose; (9) where several companies promoted by the same controlling share holders for defeating or misusing the loss pertaining to labour welfare; (10) where the facts or equitable considerati*ons justify an exemption from the strict rule in Salomon Vs. Salomon and Co. Ltd."

79. Another learned author L.C.B. Gower in his "Principles of Modern Company Law" 4th Edition, has also given such illustration where the veil of a corporate body has been pierced and has enumerated the same as fraudulent trading, misdescription of company, and taxation mattes where the statute require etc.

80. In the nutshell, the doctrine of lifting of veil or piercing the veil is now a well established principle which has been applied from time to time by the Courts in India also. There is no doubt about the proposition that whenever the circumstances so warrant, the corporate veil of the company can be lifted to look into the fact as to whose face is behind the corporate veil who is trying to play fraud or taking advantage of the corporate personality for immoral, illegal or other purpose which are against public policy. Such lifting of veil is also has to implemented whenever a statute so provided. However, it is not a matter of routine affair. It needs a detailed investigation into the facts and affairs of the company to find out as to whether the veil of the corporate personality needs to be lifted in a particular case. After lifting the veil, in a case where it is so required, it is not always that the Directors would automatically be responsible but again it is a matter of investigation as to who is/are the person/s responsible and liable who had occasioned for application of said doctrine.

Initial burden for application of the doctrine of "Piercing of Veil":

81. Whether in respect to tax dues or other public revenue or in other cases, if one has to discard the corporate personality, then the initial burden would lie upon it to place on record relevant material and facts to justify invocation of doctrine of lifting of veil and to plead that the corporate shell be not made a ground of defence. A personality conferred by the statute cannot be overlooked or ignored lightly and in a routine manner or on a mere asking. In fact whenever the veil is to be pierced, it would mean that somebody, individual or group of individuals, have obtained the shell of corporate personality as a pretext or mask to cover up a transaction or intention of those individual/individuals is neither legal nor otherwise in public interest. In effect the attempt of those individuals have to be shown akin to fraud or misrepresentation. The legal personality of the corporate body thus can be ignored in such cases since it is well settled that fraud vitiates everything and, therefore, the benefit of legal personality obtained by someone for purposes other than those which are lawful or even if lawful but not otherwise permissible, the corporate personality being the result of such fraudulent activity would have to be discarded but not otherwise. These are the things based on positive factual material and cannot be presumed in the absence of proper pleadings and material to be placed by the person who is pleading to invoke the doctrine of piercing the veil and to ignore the juristic personality of the corporate body. Once relevant material is made available by the authority or person concerned, thereafter it would be the responsibility of the other side to place material to meet the aforesaid facts but the mere fact that the company has failed to pay the Government dues or pubic revenue, that by itself would not invite the doctrine of piercing the veil and is not sufficient to ignore the statutory corporate personality conferred upon a company and make its Directors or shareholders responsible personally."

44. In the next judgment cited at the Bar the Apex Court in the case of Vodafone International Holdings B.V vs Union of India (2012) 6 SCC 613 extensively dealt with the liability of the parent company for the dues of its holding subsidiary company held:

"78. Holding structures are recognised in corporate as well as tax laws. Special purpose vehicles (SPVs) and holding companies have a place in legal structures in India, be it in company law, the Takeover Code under SEBI [Ed.: Securities and Exchange Board of India (Substantial Acquisition of Shares and Takeovers) Regulations, 2011] or even under the income tax law.

79. When it comes to taxation of a holding structure, at the threshold, the burden is on the Revenue to allege and establish abuse, in the sense of tax avoidance in the creation and/or use of such structure(s). In the application of a judicial anti-avoidance rule, the Revenue may invoke the "substance over form" principle or "piercing the corporate veil" test only after it is able to establish on the basis of the facts and circumstances surrounding the transaction that the impugned transaction is a sham or tax avoidant. To give an example, if a structure is used for circular trading or round tripping or to pay bribes then such transactions, though having a legal form, should be discarded by applying the test of fiscal nullity. Similarly, in a case where the Revenue finds that in a holding structure an entity which has no commercial/business substance has been interposed only to avoid tax then in such cases applying the test of fiscal nullity it would be open to the Revenue to discard such interpositioning of that entity. However, this has to be done at the threshold.

80. In this connection, we may reiterate the "look at" principle enunciated in Ramsay [1982 AC 300 : (1981) 2 WLR 449 : (1981) 1 All ER 865 (HL)] in which it was held that the Revenue or the Court must look at a document or a transaction in a context to which it properly belongs to. It is the task of the Revenue/Court to ascertain the legal nature of the transaction and while doing so it has to look at the entire transaction as a whole and not to adopt a dissecting approach. The Revenue cannot start with the question as to whether the impugned transaction is a tax deferment/saving device but that it should apply the "look at" test to ascertain its true legal nature [see Craven v.White (Stephen) [1989 AC 398 : (1988) 3 WLR 423 : (1988) 3 All ER 495 (HL)] which further observed that genuine strategic tax planning has not been abandoned by any decision of the English Courts till date].

81. Applying the above tests, we are of the view that every strategic foreign direct investment coming to India, as an investment destination, should be seen in a holistic manner. While doing so, the Revenue/courts should keep in mind the following factors: the concept of participation in investment, the duration of time during which the holding structure exists; the period of business operations in India; the generation of taxable revenues in India; the timing of the exit; the continuity of business on such exit.

82. In short, the onus will be on the Revenue to identify the scheme and its dominant purpose. The corporate business purpose of a transaction is evidence of the fact that the impugned transaction is not undertaken as a colourable or artificial device. The stronger the evidence of a device, the stronger the corporate business purpose must exist to overcome the evidence of a device."

45. Now reverting to the judgement cited by Sri Kaushalendra Nath Singh, the interim order dated 07.08.2019 passed in Writ - C No. 25554 of 2019 (Ashish Gupta vs. State of U.P. and 5 others), this Court while considering the case of the petitioner proceeded to pass an interim order with the following conditions:

"List for admission/final disposal for adjudication of the above question of law raised immediately after one month.

In the meantime, the petitioner who is under civil imprisonment shall be released forthwith with the following conditions-:

(i) that on release from civil imprisonment, he shall not move out of the country without the leave of the Court;

(ii) that he will not deal with his shares which he is having in the company Cloud Nine Project Pvt. Ltd. And any company that is a member of the consortium;

(iii) his two residential houses situate in Meerut and the land which he possesses in Panipat (particulars of which shall be supplied by the counsel for the petitioner) shall be under attachment and;

(iv) he is restrained with dealing with those properties in any manner and would not transfer them.

The Sub-Registrar, Meerut and Panipat are directed not to register any deed of transfer of any property in respect of the above referred properties of the petitioner.

The Sub-Registrar, Gautam Buddh Nagar/Ghaziabad is directed not to register any deed of transfer of any flat constructed by the respondent No.6 company on the property leased out by the NOIDA in connection with which the present dues are being claimed.

A copy of this order may be sent to all the above Sub-Registrars with the request to ensure strict compliance of the same."

46. We are afraid that no question of law has been considered or decided in the said interim order. It is well settled that an interim order cannot be a precedent as no question of law or fact is decided at the interim stage. Further, a copy of the order itself reveals that the Court had listed the matter for adjudication on the question of law as raised by the parties.

47. Coming to the second judgement dated 20.9.2017 in case of Jagbir Singh vs. State of U.P. and others (supra), this Court has refused to interfere with the recovery against the Director as the Court was of the view that the Directors of the Company had persuaded the BIFR for permission with fresh infusion of funds and the BIFR was used as subterfuge to avoid the payment of taxes.

48. We are afraid that the said judgement also has no applicability to the facts of the present case for two reasons: one that the said case related to a Director of a Company which is not the present case and secondly the matter arose out of proceedings from BIFR and related to default in payment of taxes which again is not a case in the present case.

49. Thus, the legal position that can broadly culled out from the above judgments are:

a) That a Company is a separate and distinct entity from its shareholders and directors.

b) Corporate veil can be pierced

(i) only in exceptional circumstances by the courts with caution and circumspection and in a restrictive manner.

(ii) For lifting of corporate veil it is essential that the case falls within the exceptions as elaborated and crstalised by Munby J. in Ben Hashem v Ali Shayif,[2008] EWHC 2380 and approved by the Apex Court in Balwant Rai Saluja (supra) and Arcelormittal India (supra)

(iii) Where the statute itself permits lifting of veil.

50. The facts of the present case demonstrate that the petitioner Rakesh Mahajan was never a Director of PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited and is not even a shareholder of PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited in his personal capacity. Further, there is nothing on record to even suggest that PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited was incorporated as a 'sham' or a 'facade' for execution of the lease in question, in fact the Company was incorporated at the insistence of Noida Authority which is clear from the allotment letter. The lease deed executed in between Noida and PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited still subsists and has not even been determined.

51. Further, there is no material to suggest that the petitioners herein Rakesh Mahajan or Nirala Buildcon exercised pervasive control over Pan Developers (Pvt.) Limited. The statute in question being U.P. Urban Planning Development Act, 1973 does not have any provision for lifting the corporate veil. The petitioners are not even a signatory to the lease deed in question and thus no case is made out for piercing the veil for recovery of alleged dues of PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited from the petitioners.

52. It is well settled that any action of the "State" or "an instrumentality of State" has to be in conformity with law and has to satisfy the twin tests of having followed "substantive due process of law" and "procedural due process of law" and failure on any of the twin tests renders the action violative of Article 14 of the Constitution of India.

53. We have no hesitation in holding that the actions of the authority against both the petitioner falls miserably short of the twin tests and are thus violative of Article 14 of the Constitution of India.

54. Accordingly, the Recovery Certificate dated 26.8.2019, issued by the respondent no. 2 and the Citation dated 12.9.2019, issued by the respondent no. 4, insofar it relates to the petitioners, are hereby quashed.

55. We clarify that the question of non-grant of opportunity of hearing prior to issuance of a recovery certificate has not been gone into in the present case as we are satisfied that the recovery against the petitioners for the alleged dues of PAN Realtors Pvt. Limited, is wholly illegal.

56. We clarify that the present case is confined only in respect of Petitioners herein and the Authority is at liberty to take steps for recovery of its dues against the persons liable to pay them.

57. The writ petitions are allowed.

of ceiling limit - section 10(3) - notification - Section 10(5) - notice calling upon the land owner to hand over possession of the land declared surplus - Section 10(6) - power upon the competent authority to take forceful possession - The Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Repeal Act, 1999 - section 3 - saving clause - section 4 - Abatement of legal proceedings - The kind of possession contemplated u/s 3 & 4 of the Repeal Act, 1999, is actual possession and not a mere paper possession and if the possession of the petitioner's land which was declared surplus land stood vested in the State Government u/s 10 (3) of the principal Act was not taken and no proceedings u/s 11, 12, 13 and 14 of the principal Act were pending on the date of coming into force of the Repeal Act, 1999 - the petitioner is entitled to the benefit of the Repeal Act, 1999. (Para 27)

There is a dispute about the fact that the possession of the surplus land was delivered by the petitioner to the State Government upon issuance of notice u/s 10 (5) of the principal Act – no notice under section 10(5) or section 10(6) of the principal Act was ever issued before possession of the surplus land of the disputed plot - the petitioner was still in possession of the surplus area although the name of State had been mutated in the revenue record - moved an application before the competent authority for deleting the entry made in favour of the State of Uttar Pradesh and for restoring her name in the revenue record claiming the benefit of the Repeal Act, 1999.(Para 4 & 32)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Bala Krishna Narayana, J.)

1. Heard Sri Bhupeshwar Dayal, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for the respondent nos. 1 to 3.

2. The instant writ petition has been filed by the petitioner with the following prayer to :-

(i) a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari calling for the record and to quash the impugned order dated 18.05.2017 passed by the respondent no. 3 (Annexure No. 3 to the writ petition);

(ii) a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents not to interfere with the possession of the petitioner over Plot No. 1346 area 3-19-13 situate in village-Maliyana, Pargana, Tehsil and District-Meerut;

(iii) a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to delete the name of the respondent State from the revenue record and to mutate the name of the petitioner who is owner of the land in dispute;

(iv) any other writ, order or direction which this Hon'ble Court deems fit and proper in the facts and circumstances of the case;

(v) award cost of writ petition to the petitioner throughout.

3. The facts of this case are as hereunder :-

4. The petitioner claims herself to be the owner of Plot No. 1346 area 3-19-13 situate in village- Maliyana, Pargana, Tehsil, District- Meerut, hereinafter referred to as the 'disputed plot'. Proceedings under The Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976, hereinafter referred to as the 'principal Act', were initiated against the petitioner on the basis of the return submitted by her u/s 6 (1) of the principal Act, whereupon 8656.53 sq. m. of her land was declared surplus vide ex-parte order dated 27.06.1979 passed by the respondent no. 3. The order dated 27.06.1979 was assailed by the petitioner by filing an appeal before the District Judge, Meerut which was registered as Appeal No. 73/1984 and allowed by him by judgement and order dated 05.01.1988. In the interregnum pursuant to the ex-parte order dated 27.06.1979 passed by the respondent no. 3, notifications u/s 10 (1) and 10 (3) of the principal Act were issued which were followed by a notice issued u/s 10 (5) of the principal Act requiring the petitioner to deliver possession of the land declared surplus. The petitioner claims that no notice was served on her u/s 10 (6) of the principal Act as the possession was resisted by her and hence, the same could not have been taken without serving of notice u/s 10 (6) of the principal Act on her and the petitioner continued to remain in actual physical possession of the surplus land of the disputed plot despite the passing of the ex-parte order dated 27.06.1979 till the same was set-aside by the order dated 05.01.1988 passed by the appellate court. The appellate court by its order dated 05.01.1988 after setting aside the ex-parte order dated 27.06.1979 of the respondent no. 3, remanded the matter back to the respondent no. 3 who after remand, again declared an area of 8656.53 sq. m. of disputed plot as surplus by his order dated 30.01.1992. Against the order dated 30.01.1992, the petitioner filed an Appeal No. 9 of 1992 before the District Judge, Meerut. However, the said appeal stood abated by order dated 14.12.1999 passed by the appellate court upon coming into force of The Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Repeal Act, 1999, hereinafter referred to as the 'Repeal Act, 1999'. Since the petitioner was still in possession of the surplus area although the name of State had been mutated in the revenue record, she moved an application before the respondent no. 3 for deleting the entry made in favour of the State of Uttar Pradesh and for restoring her name in the revenue record claiming the benefit of the Repeal Act, 1999. Copy of the aforesaid application has been brought on record as Annexure No. 1 to the writ petition. However, when no order was passed on the petitioner's aforesaid application, she filed Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 18199/2011 which was finally disposed of by another coordinate Bench of this Court by order dated 22.02.2017 which has been reproduced hereinbelow :-

Learned Standing Counsel states that he has filed counter affidavit on 13.9.2013, that is not on the record. Sri Ashish Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner states that he has filed rejoinder affidavit in the year 2015 itself, that is also not on the record.

Both the counsel have provided true copy of the counter affidavit and rejoinder affidavit,which are taken on record.

We have heard Sri Ashish Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for the State respondents.

By means of this writ petition, following prayer has been made :-

(A) To issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents-authorities mainly respondent no. 3 to mutate the petitioner's name over Plot No. 1346 area 3 bighas 19 biswas 13 biswansis, village Maliyana Pargana Tehsil and District Meerut.

(B) To issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents-authorities mainly respondent no. 3 to dispose of the petitioner's application for mutation of her name over the land in question pursuant to Urban Land Ceiling Repeal Act, 1999.

(C) To issue any other writ order or direction which this Hon'ble Court may deem fit and proper under the circumstances of the case.

(D) Award cost of the writ petition in favour of the petitioner.

Considering the petitioner's prayer, this Court, on 29.3.2011, has granted time to the learned standing counsel to file counter affidavit. Again on 10.5.2013, learned standing counsel was granted one month and no more time to file counter affidavit. Pursuant thereto, counter affidavit has been filed.

In paragraph 6 of the counter affidavit, following averments have been made :-

6. That the contents of paragraph 3 of the writ petition are not admitted and in reply it is submitted that an appropriate reply of the petitioner's representation dated 20.3.2011 for mutating her name over khasra No. 1346 by deleting the name of the petitioner, has already been sent to the petitioner by office letter dated 18.4.2011.

The reply of paragraph 6 of the counter affidavit has been given in paragraph 5 of the rejoinder affidavit, which is reproduced herein under :-

5. That the averments made in para 6 of the counter affidavit are not admitted, as stated, hence denied. In reply, it is submitted that till date petitioner has not received any reply vide alleged office letter dated 18.4.2011. The alleged letter dated 18.4.2011 has never been served upon the petitioner prior to filing of the present writ petition which was filed in the month of March, 2011. The Respondent Authority for the reasons best known has not filed the office letter dated 18.4.2011 which according to petition is nothing but an eye wash. It has also come to know that in the aforesaid letter, it has been asserted that the application would be disposed of only after disposal of the present writ petition.

From the perusal of para 6 of the counter affidavit and para 5 of the rejoinder affidavit, it appears that the stand taken by the learned Standing Counsel, that an order for mutating the petitioner's name has already been passed, has been denied by the petitioner.

Considering the same, it is directed that the petitioner may file an application along with certified copy of this order before the respondent no. 3 demanding the copy of the order passed on the mutation application. In case, such an application is filed, copy of the order be provided to the petitioner within a period of two weeks from the date of filing of the application.

In case, the order has yet not been passed, the same shall be passed on the petitioner's application within a period of ten weeks after hearing all concerned.

It may be clarified that we have not addressed ourselves on the merit of the matter and it is in the sole domain of the respondent no. 3 to do the needful in accordance with law.

5. Thereafter, it appears that the respondent no. 3 by the impugned order dated 18.05.2017 rejected the petitioner's application holding that since the Tehsildar- Meerut had obtained possession of the area of 8656.53 sq. m. of petitioner's plot which was declared surplus on 19.07.1981 and handed over its possession to the State Government, much before coming into force of the Repeal Act, 1999, the petitioner was not entitled to any benefit of the Repeal Act, 1999.

6. In paragraphs 18 and 20 of the counter affidavit which has been filed on behalf of the respondent nos. 2 and 3 in this writ petition, it has been contended that possession of the surplus land was taken and was handed over to the State Government on 29.07.1981, and hence, there was no requirement of issuing any notice further u/s 10 (6) of the principal Act. In paragraph 4, it was stated that the possession of the petitioner's land which was declared surplus by the order dated 27.06.1979 passed by the respondent no. 3 was taken on 29.07.1981 after giving due notice to the petitioner on 30.05.1981 u/s 10 (5) of the principal Act which was preceded by following the provisions of Section 9, 10 (1) and 10 (3) of the principal Act. Copies of notice dated 30.05.1981 and possession memo dated 29.07.1981 have been brought on record as Annexure Nos. C.A.-1 & 2 respectively to the counter affidavit filed in the writ petition.

7. That reply to the paragraph nos. 18 and 20 of the counter affidavit has been given by the learned counsel for the petitioner in paragraph 14 of the rejoinder affidavit filed in this writ petition. In the said paragraph, apart from denying the allegations made in paragraph nos. 16 to 21 of the counter affidavit filed on behalf of the respondent nos. 2 and 3, it has been stated that proceedings u/s 9, 10 (1) and 10 (3) of the principal Act stood set-aside by the judgement and order dated 05.01.1988 passed by the District Judge, Meerut and the matter was remanded back for decision afresh and no possession was ever delivered to the ceiling authorities and since no proceedings for taking possession after passing of the aforesaid order after remand was initiated by the ceiling authorities, there is no question of possession of the surplus land having ever been taken by the ceiling authorities. It was also stated that even where ex-parte proceedings are taken, issuance of notice u/s 10 (6) of the principal Act is required and since the prescribed procedure was not followed, the possession memo, copy whereof has been brought on record as Annexure No. C.A.-2 to the counter affidavit filed in the writ petition, was a paper transaction.

8. The petitioner in paragraph 4 of the rejoinder affidavit, apart from denying the allegations made in paragraph 4 of the counter affidavit further stated that the ex-parte order dated 27.06.1979 passed u/s 8 (4) of the principal Act and the subsequent proceedings taken in pursuance thereof were wholly illegal and the order dated 27.06.1979 was set-aside by the appellate court by allowing the appeal filed by the petitioner against the ex-parte order and the matter was remanded back for deciding the case afresh. It was further stated in the same paragraph that the possession memo dated 30.05.1981 was a mere paper transaction as no possession was delivered by the petitioner and further no notice u/s 10 (6) of the principal Act was ever issued to her.

9. In paragraph 5 of the counter affidavit, it has further been observed that after the appeal preferred by the petitioner against the judgement and order dated 27.06.1979 of the respondent no. 3 was allowed by the District Judge, Meerut, the matter was remanded back to the respondent no. 3 who by his order dated 30.01.1992 again declared an area of 8656.53 sq. m. of the disputed plot as surplus. Copy of the order dated 30.01.1992 has been brought on record as Annexure No. C.A.-4 to the counter affidavit filed in the writ petition.

10. Sri Bhupeshwar Dayal, learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that the finding recorded by the respondent no. 3 in the impugned order dated 27.06.1979 that the possession of the surplus area of the disputed plot stood with the State Government on the date of the coming into force of the Repeal Act, 1999, is per se illegal and not warranted by any material on record. He next submitted that even if it is assumed for the sake of arguments that the possession of the surplus land of the petitioner was taken by Tehsildar- Meerut on 29.07.1981 and delivered to the State Government after the passing of the ex-parte order dated 27.06.1979 by the respondent no. 3, even then the so-called possession memo dated 29.07.1981 does not indicate that the possession was taken by the Tehsilder-Meerut from the petitioner. There being absolutely no material on record even prima facie indicating that when after the passing of the order dated 30.01.1992 by the respondent no. 3 after remand by which again an area of 8656.53 sq. m. of the disputed plot was declared surplus, any proceedings u/s 10 (1), 10 (3), 10 (5) and 10 (6) of the principal Act were taken by the ceiling authorities as after the setting-aside of the order of the respondent no. 3 dated 27.06.1979 on appeal preferred by the petitioner, all subsequent proceedings taken pursuant thereto became a nullity because the legal consequence which followed was that there existed no order declaring any land of the petitioner surplus and land continued to remain in possession of the petitioner. He next contended that there being no material on record that any fresh proceedings u/s 10 (1), 10 (3), 10 (5) and 10 (6) of the principal Act were taken by the respondent no. 3 after the passing of the order dated 30.01.1992 by the respondent no. 3 on remand, it could not be held that the State Government was in possession of the surplus land on the date of the coming into force of the Repeal Act, 1999 and hence, the petitioner was not entitled to any benefit thereof, the view taken to the contrary by the respondent no. 3 in the impugned order dated 18.05.2017, cannot be sustained and the impugned order is liable to be set-aside.

11. Per contra learned Standing Counsel appearing for the respondent nos. 1 to 3 supported the impugned order by relying upon the proceedings which were taken u/s 10 (1), 10 (3) and 10 (5) of the principal Act which were taken pursuant to the order passed by the respondent no. 3 on 27.06.1979 u/s 8 (4) of the principal Act and the possession memo dated 29.07.1981 submitted that it is an admitted factual position that after the order dated 27.06.1979 was set-aside on appeal preferred by the petitioner, the petitioner had not moved any application before the ceiling authorities for restoration of possession of the surplus land to her which was taken from her by the Tehsildar- Meerut and handed over to the State Government on 29.07.1981. He next submitted that argument advanced by the learned counsel for the petitioner that once the order dated 27.06.1979 was set-aside, the entire proceedings taken pursuant thereto become a nullity and the petitioner continued to remain in possession of the surplus land despite her having not taken any steps for restitution of the possession, is not only misconceived but also preposterous. The respondent no. 3 did not commit any illegality or legal infirmity in denying to the petitioner the benefit of the Repeal Act, 1999. This writ petition which lacks merit is liable to be dismissed.

12. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the pleadings as well as the original record which was produced before us by the learned Standing Counsel.

13. The twin questions which arise for our consideration in this writ petition inter-alia are that whether on the date of the coming into force of the Repeal Act, 1999, actual physical possession of the disputed land was with the petitioner or the same stood delivered to the State and; whether the petitioner is entitled to the benefit of the Repeal Act ?

14. In order to examine the aforesaid questions, it would be useful to reproduce the provisions of The Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 and The Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Repeal Act, 1999 which are relevant for our purpose :-

6. Persons holding vacant land in excess of ceiling limit to file statement-

(1) Every person holding vacant land in excess of the ceiling limit at the commencement of this Act shall, within such period as may be prescribed, file a statement before the competent authority having Jurisdiction specifying the location, extent, value and such other particulars as may be prescribed of all vacant land and of any other land on which there is a building, whether or not with a dwelling unit therein, held by him (including the nature of his right, title or interest therein) and also specifying the vacant land within the ceiling limit which he desires to retain: Provided that in relation to any State to which this Act applies in the first instance, the provisions of this sub-section shall have effect as if for the words "Every person holding vacant land in excess of the ceiling limit and the commencement of this Act", the words, figures and letters "Every person who held vacant land in excess of the ceiling limit on or after the 17th day of February, 1975 and before the commencement of this Act and every person holding vacant land in excess of the ceiling limit at such commencement" had been substituted. Explanation.--In this section, "commencement of this Act" means,--

(i) the date on which this Act comes into force in any State;

(ii) where any land, not being vacant land, situated in a State in which this Act is in force has become vacant land by any reason whatsoever, the date on which such land becomes vacant land;

(iii) where any notification has been issued under clause (n) of section 2 in respect of any area in a State in which this Act is in force, the date of publication of such notification.

(2) If the competent authority is of opinion that--

(a) in any State to which this Act applies in the first instance, any person held on or after the 17th day of February, 1975 and before the commencement of this Act or holds at such commencement; or

(b) in any State which adopts this Act under clause (1) of article 252 of the Constitution, any person holds at the commencement of this Act, vacant land in excess of the ceiling limit, then, notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), it may serve a notice upon such person requiring him to file, within such period as may be specified in the notice, the statement referred to in sub-section (1).

(3) The competent authority may, if it is satisfied that it is necessary so to do, extend the date for filing the statement under this section by such further period or periods as it may think fit; so, however, that the period or the aggregate of the periods of such extension shall not exceed three months.

(4) The statement under this section shall be filed,--

(a) in the case of an individual, by the individual himself; where the individual is absent from India, by the individual concerned or by some person duly authorised by him in this behalf; and where the individual is mentally incapacitated from attending to his affairs, by his guardian or any other person competent to act on his behalf;

(b) in the case of a family, by the husband or wife and where the husband or wife is absent from India or is mentally incapacitated from attending to his or her affairs, by the husband or wife who is not so absent or mentally incapacitated and where both the husband and the wife are absent from India or are mentally incapacitated from attending to their affairs, by any other person competent to act on behalf on the husband or wife or both;

(c) in the case of a company, by the principal officer thereof;

(d) in the case of a firm, by any partner thereof;

(e) in the case of any other association, by any member of the association or the principal officer thereof; and

(f) in the case of any other person, by that person or by a person competent to act on his behalf. Explanation.--For the purposes of this sub-section, "principal officer"--

(i) in relation to a company, means the secretary, manager or managing- director of the company;

(ii) in relation to any association, means the secretary, treasurer, manager or agent of the association, and includes any person connected with the management of the affairs of the company or the association, as the case may be, upon whom the competent authority has served a notice of his intention of treating his as the principal officer thereof.

7. Filing of statement in cases where vacant land held by a person is situated within the jurisdiction of two or more competent authorities.--

(1) Where a person holds vacant land situated within the jurisdiction of two or more competent authorities, whether in the same State or in two or more States to which this Act applies, then, he shall file his statement under sub-section (1) of section 6 before the competent authority within the jurisdiction of which the major part thereof is situated and thereafter all subsequent proceedings shall be taken before that competent authority to the exclusion of the other competent authority or authorities concerned and the competent authority, before which the statement is filed, shall send intimation thereof to the other competent authority or authorities concerned.

(2) Where the extent of vacant land held by any person and situated within the jurisdiction of two or more competent authorities within the same State to which this Act applies is equal, he shall file his statement under sub-section (1) of section 6 before any one of the competent authorities and send intimation thereof in such form as may be prescribed to the State Government and thereupon, the State Government shall, by order, determine the competent authority before which all subsequent proceedings under this Act shall be taken to the exclusion of the other competent authority or authorities and communicate that order to such person and the competent authorities concerned.

(3) Where the extent of vacant land held by any person and situated within the jurisdiction of two or more competent authorities in two or more States to which this Act applies is equal, he shall file his statement under sub-section (1) of section 6 before any one of the competent authorities and send intimation thereof in such form as may be prescribed to the Central Government and thereupon, the Central Government shall, by order, determine the competent authority before which all subsequent proceedings shall betaken to the exclusion of the other competent authority or authorities and communicate that order to such person, the State Governments and the competent authorities concerned.

(2) Every statement prepared under sub-section (1) shall contain the following particulars, namely:--

(i) the name and address of the person;

(iii) the particulars of the vacant lands which such person desires to retain within the ceiling limit;

(iv) the particulars of the right, title or interest of the person in the vacant land; and

(v) such other particulars as may be prescribed.

(3) The draft statement shall be served in such manner as may be prescribed on the person concerned together with a notice stating that any objection to the draft statement shall be preferred within thirty days of the service thereof.

(4) The competent authority shall duly consider any objection received, within the period specified in the notice referred to in sub-section (3) or within such further period as may be specified by the competent authority for any good and sufficient reason, from the person whom a copy of the draft statement has been served under that sub-section and the competent authority shall, after giving the objector a reasonable opportunity of being heard, pass such orders as it deems fit.

9. Final Statement.--After the disposal of the objections, if any, received under sub-section (4) of section 8, the competent authority shall make the necessary alterations in the draft statement in accordance with the orders passed on the objections aforesaid and shall determine the vacant land held by the person concerned in excess of the ceiling limit and cause a copy of the draft statement as so altered to be served in the manner referred to in sub-section (3) of section 8 on the person concerned and where such vacant land is held under a lease, or a mortgage, or a hire-purchase agreement, or an irrevocable power of attorney, also on the owner of such vacant land.

10. Acquisition of vacant land in excess of ceiling limit-

(1) As soon as may be after the service of the statement under section 9 on the person concerned, the competent authority shall cause a notification giving the particulars of the vacant land held by such person in excess of the ceiling limit and stating that--

(i) such vacant land is to be acquired by the concerned State Government; and

(ii) the claims of all person interested in such vacant land may be made by them personally or by their agents giving particulars of the nature of their interests in such land, to be published for the information of the general public in the Official Gazette of the State concerned and in such other manner as may be prescribed.

(3) At any time after the publication of the notification under sub-section (1) the competent authority may, by notification published in the Official Gazette of the State concerned, declare that the excess vacant land referred to in the notification published under sub-section (1) shall, with effect from such date as may be specified in the declaration, be deemed to have been acquired by the State Government and upon the publication of such declaration, such land shall be deemed to have vested absolutely in the State Government free from all encumbrances with effect from the date so specified.

(4) During the period commencing on the date of publication of the notification under sub-section (1) and ending with the date specified in the declaration made under sub-section (3)--

(i) no person shall transfer by way of sale, mortgage, gift, lease or otherwise any excess vacant land (including any part thereof) specified in the notification aforesaid and any such transfer made in contravention of this provision shall be deemed to be null and void; and

(ii) no person shall alter or cause to be altered the use of such excess vacant land.

(5) Where any vacant land is vested in the State Government under sub-section (3), the competent authority may, by notice in writing, order any person who may be in possession of it to surrender or deliver possession thereof to the State Government or to any person duly authorized by the State Government in this behalf within thirty days of the service of the notice.

(6) If any person refuses or fails to comply with an order made under sub-section (5), the competent authority may take possession of the vacant land or cause it to be given to the concerned State Government or to any person duly authorised by such State Government in this behalf and may for that purpose use such force as may be necessary. Explanation.--In this section, in sub-section (1) of section 11 and in sections 14 and 23, "State Government", in relation to--

(a) any vacant land owned by the Central Government, means the Central Government;

(b) any vacant land owned by any State Government and situated in the Union territory or within the local limits of a cantonment declared as such under section 3 of the Cantonments Act, 1924 (2 of 1924), means that State Government.

15. Section 3 and 4 of the Repeal Act, 1999 are as hereunder :-

3. Saving.--

(1) The repeal of the principal Act shall not affect--

(a) the vesting of any vacant land under sub-section (3) of Section 10, possession of which has been taken over the State Government or any person duly authorised by the State Government in this behalf or by the competent authority;

(b) the validity of any order granting exemption under sub-section (1) of Section 20 or any action taken thereunder, notwithstanding any judgment of any court to the contrary;

(c) any payment made to the State Government as a condition for granting exemption under sub-section (1) of Section 20.

(2) Where--

(a) any land is deemed to have vested in the State Government under sub-section (3) of Section 10 of the principal Act but possession of which has not been taken over by the State Government or any person duly authorised by the State Government in this behalf or by the competent authority; and

(b) any amount has been paid by the State Government with respect to such land then, such land shall not be restored unless the amount paid, if any, has been refunded to the State Government.

4. Abatement of legal proceedings.--All proceedings relating to any order made or purported to be made under the principal Act pending immediately before the commencement of this Act, before any court, tribunal or other authority shall abate: Provided that this section shall not apply to the proceedings relating to sections 11, 12, 13 and 14 of the principal Act in so far as such proceedings are relatable to the land, possession of which has been taken over by the State Government or any person duly authorised by the State Government in this behalf or by the competent authority.

16. Upon perusal of the aforesaid provisions of the principal Act, it transpires that Section 6 provides that every person holding vacant land in excess of the ceiling limit was required to file a statement before the competent authority having jurisdiction specifying the location, extent, value and such other prescribed particulars of the vacant land and of any other land on which there was a building, whether or not with a dwelling unit therein, held by him.

17. Section 7 provides the procedure for filing of statement in cases where vacant land held by a person was situated within the jurisdiction of two or more competent authorities.

18. Section 8 provides that on the basis of the statement filed u/s 6 and after such inquiry as the competent authority may deem fit to make, the competent authority shall prepare the draft statement.

19. Section 8 (3) stipulates that the draft statement prepared u/s 8 shall be served on the person concerned together with a notice stating that any objection to the draft statement shall be prepared within 30 days of the service thereof.

20. Section 9 provides that after disposal of the objections, if any, received under sub-section (4) of Section 8, the competent authority shall prepare the final statement.

21. Section 10 (1) provides that after the service of the statement u/s 9 on the person concerned, the competent authority shall cause a notification giving the particulars of the vacant land held by such person in excess of the ceiling limit to be published in the Official Gazette of the State concerned for the information of the general public.

22. Section 10 (2) empowers the competent authority to decide the claims of the persons interested in the vacant land filed in pursuance of the notification published under sub-section (1).

23. Section 10 (3) provides that the competent authority concerned may, by notification published in the Official Gazette of the State concerned, anytime after the publication of the notification under sub-section (1) declare that excess vacant land referred to in the notification published under sub-section (1) with effect from such date as may be specified in the declaration, be deemed to be have been acquired by the State Government. Such land shall be deemed to have vested absolutely in the State Government free from all encumbrances.

24. Section 10 (4) prohibits transfer by way of sale, mortgage, gift, lease or otherwise by any person any excess vacant land (including any part thereof) specified in the notification aforesaid and any such transfer made in contravention of this provision shall be deemed to be null and void and no person shall alter or cause to be altered the use of such excess vacant land.

25. Section 10 (5) empowers the competent authority to order any person by notice in writing who is in possession of any vacant land vested in the State Government under sub-section (3) to surrender or deliver possession thereof to State Government or to any person duly authorized by the State Government in this behalf within thirty days of the service of the notice.

26. Section 10 (6) states where any person refuses or fails to comply with an order made under sub-section (5), the competent authority may take possession of the vacant land or cause it to be given to the concerned State Government or to any person duly authorized by such State Government in this behalf and may for that purpose use such force as may be necessary.

27. The kind of possession contemplated u/s 3 & 4 of the Repeal Act, 1999, in our opinion, is actual possession and not a mere paper possession and if the possession of the petitioner's land which was declared surplus land stood vested in the State Government u/s 10 (3) of the principal Act was not taken and no proceedings u/s 11, 12, 13 and 14 of the principal Act were pending on the date of coming into force of the Repeal Act, 1999, the petitioner is entitled to the benefit of the Repeal Act, 1999.

28. In the instant case, there is no dispute about the fact that after the order dated 30.01.1992 passed by the competent authority on remand, no proceedings u/s 10 of the principal Act were taken.

29. Learned Standing Counsel has placed reliance in support of his contention that the State Government had taken actual physical possession of the disputed land from the petitioner pursuant to the proceedings taken u/s 10 (1) to 10 (6) of the principal Act after the passing of the order dated 27.06.1979 by the respondent no. 3 which was eventually set-aside by the District Judge, Meerut by his order dated 05.01.1988 passed in Appeal No. 73/1984 preferred by the appellant against order dated 27.06.1979.

30. Now, the question which arises before us is that whether, even if it is assumed for the sake of arguments that the possession of the petitioner's surplus land was taken from him and delivered to the State Government u/s 10 (1) to 10 (6) of the principal Act as argued by the learned Standing Counsel pursuant to the order dated 27.06.1979, a fact which has been seriously disputed by Sri Bhupeshwar Dayal, learned counsel for the petitioner, the same shall enure to the benefit of the State Government, even after setting-aside of the order pursuant to which the aforesaid proceedings were taken ?

31. Before examining the aforesaid aspect of the matter, we first propose to delve into the issue whether the possession of the petitioner's land was taken and delivered to the State Government pursuant to the order dated 27.06.1979 passed by the competent authority ?

32. There is dispute about the fact that the possession of the surplus land was delivered by the petitioner to the State Government upon issuance of notice u/s 10 (5) of the principal Act as there is nothing on record which may indicate that the notice u/s 10 (5) of the principal Act was ever served upon the petitioner. We could not find any endorsement of the service of notice upon the petitioner after going through the record. There is also no material on record indicating that any notice was issued to the petitioner u/s 10 (6) of the principal Act before possession of the surplus land of the disputed plot was allegedly taken.

33. In State of U.P. v. Hari Ram, reported in (2013) 4 SCC 280, the Apex Court observed that what is required for a land to come out from the purview of Repeal Act is that it should be a case of forceful dispossession in the event of there being no peaceful dispossession. The peaceful dispossession is related to proceedings u/s 10 (5) of the principal Act, whereas, the forceful dispossession is related to proceedings u/s 10 (6) of the principal Act vide paragraph 39 of Hari Ram (supra), the Court concluded thus :-

"39. Above-mentioned directives make it clear that sub-section (3) takes in only de jure possession and not de facto possession, therefore, it the land owner is not surrendering possession voluntarily under sub-section (3) of Section 10, or surrendering or delivering possession after notice, u/s 10 (5) or dispossession by use of force, it cannot be said that the State Government has taken possession of the vacant land."

34. Now, coming back to the instant case, we find that there is nothing on record indicating that forceful possession of the surplus land of the petitioner u/s 10 (6) of the principal Act was taken from the petitioner.

35. Reliance has been placed by the learned Standing Counsel on possession memo dated 29.07.1981, copy whereof has been brought on record as Annexure Nos. C.A.- 2 to the counter affidavit filed in the writ petition. There is nothing in the possession memo even remotely suggesting that it was prepared in proceedings purported to have been taken in Section 10 (6) of the principal Act. The possession memo neither gives the details nor the area of the land of which the possession was allegedly taken. The possession memo, in our opinion, is nothing but a mere paper transaction and it is not safe to hold on the basis thereof that the surplus land of the disputed plot of the petitioner was in the possession of the State Government on the date of the coming into force of the Repeal Act, 1999.

36. Even otherwise, if for the sake of arguments, it is assumed that the State Government had dispossessed the petitioner in proceedings taken pursuant to the order dated 27.06.1979 passed by the competent authority but once the said order was set-aside on appeal and the matter was remitted back to the competent authority, all consequential action taken pursuant to that order also stood annulled.

37. Paragraph nos. 16 and 17 of the order passed by another coordinate Bench of this Court in the case of M/s. A.B.P. Design Sonakpur Versus Moradabad Development Authority and others reported in 2018 (8) ADJ 747 (DB), which are relevant for our purpose, are being reproduced hereinbelow :-

16. Against order dated 16.03.1988, Zahid Hussain preferred Revenue Appeal No. 23 of 1988. This appeal was allowed by District Judge, Moradabad vide judgement dated 6.1.1993 and Competent Authority was directed to decide the matter afresh after taking into consideration amended master plan. In the meantime, Competent Authority issued notification dated 27.09.1988 under Section 10 (1) of Act, 1976, vesting surplus land in the State and therein disputed land of Plot No. 200, area 1295.04 sq. mts., was mentioned.

17. Whether any subsequent proceedings were undertaken thereafter or not, no material has come on record in this regard. It is also not clear when possession was taken by Competent Authority from landowner under the provisions of Act, 1976. A copy of letter dated 31.7.1992 has been placed on record which is addressed to Competent Authority, Urban Land Ceiling, Moradabad and states that possession of land, detailed therein, is being handed over by Naib Tehsildar, Urban Ceiling Moradabad to Naib Tehsildar, MDA on 31.7.1992. Apparently this letter is only to show a "paper possession" and not "actual physical possession" of land, declared surplus by Competent Authority vide order dated 16.3.1988. The appeal against order dated 16.3.1988 having been allowed vide judgement dated 6.1.1993 and matter was remanded to Competent Authority, consequence thereof, in our view, would be as if no order of Competent Authority declaring any land of Zahid Hussain 'surplus' remained in existence and if that be so, no question of any valid vesting of land in State or taking possession thereof would arise."

38. Since, we have found that actual physical possession of the petitioner's surplus land was never taken by the State Government from the petitioner and the petitioner stood in possession of the surplus land on the date of the coming into force of the Repeal Act, 1999, this writ petition deserves to be allowed.

39. Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed.

40. The impugned order dated 18.05.2017 is hereby quashed. A further direction is issued to the respondents to expunge the respondent-State from the revenue record and to restore that of the petitioner who is the owner of the land in dispute.

List of cases cited: -

Sri Shreeprakash Singh

Counsel for the Respondents:

A. Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972 - Section 7(4) - appeal within 60 days - Section 7(7) – further appeal within 60 days against an order passed under Section 7(4) - The Limitation Act - Section 5 - an appeal is to be filed in a manner within such time as provided i.e. 60 days - in the event there was sufficient cause for not filing the appeal within same period, the said period can be extended by further period of 60 days only - where a specific period has been provided in the statute then further period of limitation cannot be extended beyond what has been provided under the statute - The Act, 1972 is a special Act, which contained the specific period in which an appeal can be preferred - an appeal filed beyond the period of 120 days (60 days + 60 days) cannot be condoned. (Para 25, 26 & 27)

In the present case, admittedly, the appeal has been preferred on 15.11.2018 after the rejection of recall application on 29.11.2017, much beyond the period of 120 days as per Section 7(7) of the Act, 1972. Therefore, no further extension could be provided or contemplated. The appellate authority could not have extended the period of limitation; therefore, the appellate authority was right in coming to the conclusion that the appeal has been filed beyond the period of limitation. (Para 31)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Piyush Agrawal, J.)

1. By means of the present writ petition, the petitioner is challenging the order dated 17.6.2019 passed by the controlling authority, respondent no.1 under Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act, 1972') in P.G. Appeal No. 1/2019 as well as the impugned order dated 6.7.2019 and 29.11.2017 passed by respondent-2 in P.G. Case No. 09 of 2016.

2. Brief case are that respondent no. 3 (herein after referred to as 'the workman') was initially engaged on 1.2.1998 as Beldar in Work Charge Establishment by the petitioners and continuously worked till 12.10.2011 in the office of petitioner no. 2 in the same status. Thereafter by the order of Executive Engineer, Tone Pump Canal, Prayagraj, the workman was relieved on 13.10.2011 and directed to join in regular establishment. In pursuance thereof the workman joined in regular establishment on 14.10.2011, on the pay Scale of Rs. 5200-20200/- Grade Pay Rs. 1800/-.

3. Subsequently, on 31.1.2015, the workman was made permanent and after completion of age of 60 years, he was superannuated on 29.2.2016. The workman had worked 13 years 08 months and 13 days as work charge employee and thereafter regularized and had discharged total 04 years, 04 months and 16 days of service as permanent employee. Accordingly at the time of superannuation, the workman had not completed 05 years service as regular/permanent employee as such he was paid gratuity of Rs. 1,11,663/- against the service of work charge employee.

4. On 24.12.2016, the workman set up his claim before the concerned authority under Section 4 of the Act, 1972, claiming gratuity of Rs. 4,56,600/- along with 12% interest for a period of 1.6.1975 to 29.2.2016, for about 40 years of his service. The petitioners filed objection in which it was stated that the workman was employee on work charge in the establishment on 1.2.1998 to 13.10.2011. Moreover, there was no case of payment of gratuity. The gratuity which was admitted by the petitioners, had been paid of Rs. 1,11,663/- to the workman. The stand was taken that the workman has not completed minimum 05 years of service as regular employee as per sub Rule 4 of the Rules, 1972, therefore, there was no question of payment of gratuity under the Act, 1972.

5. Thereafter the order dated 16.7.2017 was passed accepting the claim of the workman and direction was issued for payment of gratuity of sum of Rs. 3,44,937/- along with interest at the rate of 8% after deducting Rs. 1,11,663/-. The petitioners moved recall application on 26.8.2017, which was rejected on 29.11.2017 on the ground that the petitioners have alternative remedy of filing of statutory appeal which could be preferred under the Act, 1972 as per sub-section 7 of Section 7.

6. Thereafter, the petitioners preferred an appeal on 15.11.2018 before the appellate authority under sub Section 7 of Section 7 of the Act, 1972. The said appeal was filed along with the application under Section 5 of the Limitation Act, which was supported by the affidavit. The appeal was filed for payment of requisite amount as prescribed under the Act,1972. The workman filed his objection opposing the maintainability of the appeal as has been filed beyond the period of limitation provided under sub Section 7 of Section 7 of the Act, 1972. The workman has submitted that the appeal was highly belated and should be rejected on this ground alone. The appellate authority by the impugned order dated 17.6.2018 had dismissed the appeal of the petitioner holding that the appeal is beyond the period prescribed under sub Section 7 of Section 7 of the Act. Against the order dated 17.6.2018, the petitioners preferred the present writ petition.

7. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the records.

8. The contention of the petitioners' counsel is that the appeal has been rejected solely on the ground that it has been filed beyond the period of limitation prescribed under sub section 7 of section 7 of the Act, 1972, and in the interest of justice, same ought to have been condoned. The question of law which falls for determination in the present writ petition is with regard to whether in filing the appeal under sub section 7 of section 7 of the Act 1972, the provisions of Section 5 of Limitation Act, would be applicable so that period beyond the limitation can be extended or not ?

9. The only ground and question raised in the present writ petition is whether the time granted in terms of statutory provisions under the Act, 1972 to file an appeal, can be extended beyond the period prescribed under the Act by granting benefit of the provisions of Section 5 of Limitation Act.

10. Before adverting to the contention of the petitioner, it is necessary to extract the relevant part sub-section 7 of Section 7 of the Act, 1972 as under:

7. Determination of the amount of gratuity -(7) Any person aggrieved by an order under sub-section (4), may, within sixty days from the date of the receipt of the order, prefer an appeal to the appropriate Government or such other authority as may be specified by the appropriate Government in this behalf:

Provided that the appropriate Government or the appellate authority, as the case may be, may, if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal within the said period of sixty days, extend the said period by a further period of sixty days.

[Provided further that no appeal by an employer shall be admitted unless at the time of preferring the appeal, the appellant either produces a certificate of the controlling authority to the effect that the appellant has deposited with him an amount equal to the amount of gratuity required to be deposited under subsection (4), or deposits with the appellate authority such amount.]

11. On bare perusal of the aforesaid sub-section, it is very clear that any person aggrieved by the order passed under sub-section 4 of section 7 may file an appeal within 60 days from the date of receipt of the order as may be specified therein. In case the aggrieved person was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal within the said period then the same period can be extended by further period of 60 days. In other words an appeal can be preferred within 60 days which can be extended for another period of 60 days only when there is sufficient cause and not otherwise.

12. The case in hand, the petitioner against the order dated 6.7.2017 moved a recall application which was rejected on 29.11.2017 and thereafter the petitioner preferred an appeal under sub-section 7 of Section 7 of the Act, 1972 on 15.11.2018, almost after a year.

13. The issue came before the Supreme Court as to whether period of limitation can be extended in the case of Commissioner of Sales Tax, UP Lucknow Vs. M/s Parson Tools and Plants, Kanpur, (1975) 4 SCC 22. Relevant part of the judgement is extracted below:

12. ..... The third is that the Revising Authority has no discretion to extend this period beyond a further period of six months, even on sufficient cause shown. As rightly pointed out in the minority judgment of the High Court, pendency of proceedings of the nature contemplated by s. 14(2) of the Limitation Act, may amount to a sufficient cause for condoning the delay and extending the limitation for filing a revision application, but s. 10 (3-B) of the Sales-tax Act, gives no jurisdiction to the Revising Authority to extend the limitation, even in such a case, for a further period of more than six months.

13. The three star features of the scheme and language of the above provision, unmistakably show that the legislature has deliberately excluded the application of the principles underlying ss. 5 and. 14 of the Limitation Act, except to the extent and in the truncated form embodied in sub-s. (3- B) of Section 10 of the Sales-tax Act. Delay in disposal of revenue matters adversely affects the steady inflow of reve- nues and the financial stability of the State. Section 10 is therefore designed to, ensure speedy and final determination of fiscal matters within a reasonably certain time-schedule.

14. It cannot be said that-by excluding the unrestricted application of the principles of ss. 5 and 14 of the Limitation Act, the Legislature has made. the provisions of s. 10, unduly oppressive. In most cases, the discretion to extend limitation, on sufficient cause being shown for a further period of six months only, given by sub-s. (3_B) would be enough to afford relief. Cases are no doubt conceivable where an aggrieved party, despite sufficient cause, is unable to make an application for revision within this maximum period of 18 months. Such harsh cases would be rare. Even, in such exceptional cases of extreme hardship, the Revising Authoritly may, on its own motion, entertain revision and grant relief.

15. Be that as it may, from the scheme and language of Section 10, the intention of the Legislature to exclude the unrestricted application of the principles of Sections 5 and 10 of the Limitation Act is manifestly clear. These provisions of the Limitation Act which the Legislature did not, after due application of mind, incorporate in the Sales-tax Act, cannot be imported into it by analogy. An enactment being the will of the legislature, the paramount rule of interpretation, which overrides all others,- is that a statute is to be expounded "according to the intent of them that made it". "The will of 'the legislature is the supreme law of the land, and demands perfect obdience".(1) "Judicial power is never exercised" said Marshall C. J. of the United States, "for the purpose of giving effect to the will of the Judges; always for the purpose of giving effect to the will of the Legislature; or in other words, to the will of the law".

16. If the legislature wilfully omits to incorporate something of an 'analogous law in a subsequent statute, or even if there is a casus omissus in a statute, the language of which is otherwise plain and unambiguous, the Court is not competent to supply the omission by engrafting on it or introducing in it, under the guise of interpretation, by analogy or implication, something what it thinks to be a general principle of justice and equity. To do so would be entrenching upon the preserves of Legislatures, 'The primary function of a court of law being jus dicere and not jus dare.'

17. In the light of what has been said above, we are of the opinion that the High Court was in error in importing whole hog the principle of Section 14(2) of the Limitation Act into Section. 10 (3-B) of the Sales-tax Act.

18. The ratio of the Privy Council decision in Ramdutt Ramkissen Dass v. E. D. Sasson & Co. (Supra) relied upon by the High Court is not on speaking terms with the clear language of s. 10 (3-B) of the Sales-tax Act. That decision was rendered long before the passage of the Indian Arbitration Act, 1940. It lost its efficacy after the enactment of the Arbitration Act which contained a specific provision in regard to exclusion of time from computation of limitation.

19. The case in point is Purshottam Dass Hussaram v. Index (India) Ltd. (supra). In this Bombay case, the question was, whether the suit was barred by limitation. It was not disputed that Article 115 of the Limitation Act governed the limitation and if no other factor was to be taken into consideration, the suit was filed beyond time. But what was relied upon by the plaintiff for the purpose of saving limitation was the fact that there were certain infructuous arbitration,, Proceedings and if the time taken in prosecuting those proceedings was eXcluded under Section 14, the suit would be within limitation. It was held that if Section 14 were to be construed strictly, the plaintiff would not be entitled to exclude the period in question.

20. On the authority of Ramdutt Ramkissen's case (supra), it was then contended that. the time taken in arbitration proceedings should be excluded on the analogy of s. 14. This contention was also negatived on the ground that since the decision of the Privy Council, the legislature had in s. 37(5) of the Arbitration Act, 1940, provided as to what extent the provisions of the Limitation Act would be applicable to the proceedings before the arbitrator. Section 37(5) was as follows :

"Where the cow orders that an award be set aside or orders, after the commencement of an arbitration, that the arbitration agreement shall cease to have effect with respect to the difference referred, the period between the commencement of the arbitration and the date of the order of the Court shall be excluded in computing the time prescribed by the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, for the commencement of the proceedings (including arbitration) with respect to the difference referred."

The reasons advanced, the observations made and the rule enunciated by Chagla C.J., who spoke for the Bench in that case, are opposite and may be extracted with advantage:

....we have now a statutory provision for exclusion of time taken up in arbitration Pr when a suit Is filed, and the question arises of computing the period of limitation with regard to that suit, and the time that has got to be excluded is only that time which is taken up as provided in s. 37(5). There must be an order of the Court setting aside an award or there must be an order of the Court declaring that the arbitration agreement shall cease to have effect, and the period between the commencement of the arbitration and the date of this order is the period that has got to be excluded.

It is therefore no longer open to the Court to rely on s. 14 Limitation Act as applying by analogy to arbitration proceedings. If the Legislature intended that s. 14 should apply and. that all the time taken up in arbitration proceedings should be excluded, then there was no reason to enact s. 37(5)., The very fact that s. 37(5) has been enacted clearly shows- that the whole period referred to in...a, 49 Limitation Act is not to be excluded but the limited'.. indicated in s. 37(5).

* * * * * *

"it may seem rather curious-and it may also in certain cases result in hardship-as to why the legislature should not have excluded all time taken up in good faith before an arbitrator just as the time taken up in prosecuting a suit or an appeal in good faith is excluded. But obviously the Legislature did no t intend that parties should waste time infructuous proceedings before arbitrators. The Iegisla- ture has clearly indicated that limitation having once begun to run, no time could be excluded merely because parties chose to go before an arbitrator without getting an award or without coming to Court to get the necessary order indicated in s. 37(5)."

21. What the learned Chief Justice said about the inapplicability of s. 14, Limitation Act, in the context of s. 37(5) of the Arbitration Act, holds good with added force with reference to s. 10 (3-B) of the Sales-tax Act.

22. Thus the principle that emerges is that if the legislature in a special statute prescribes a certain period of limitation for filing a particular application thereunder and provides in clear terms that such period on sufficient cause being shown, may be extended, in the maximum, only upto a specified time-limit and no further, than the tribunal concerned has no jurisdiction to treat within limitation, an application filed before it beyond such maximum time-limk specified in the statute, by excluding the time spent in prosecuting in good faith and due diligence any prior proceeding on the analogy of s. 14(2) of the Limitation Act.

23. We have said enough and we may say it again that where the legislature clearly declares its intent in the scheme and language of a statute, it is the duty of the court to give full effect to the same without scanning its wisdom or policy, and without engrafting, adding or implying anything which is not congenial to or consistent with such expressed intent of the law-giver; more so if the statute is a taxing statute. We will close the discussion by recalling what Lord Hailsham (1) has said recently, in regard to importation of the principles of natural justice into a statute which is a clear and complete Code, by itself :

"It is true of course that the courts will lean heavily ,against any construction of a statute which would be manifestly fair. But they have no power to amend or supplement the language of a statute merely because in one view (1)At P. 11 in Pearl Berg v. Varty [1972] 2 All E. R. 6, of the matter a subject feels himself entitled to a larger degree of say in the making of a decision than a statute accords him. Still less is it the functioning of the courts to form first a judgment on the fairness of an Act of Parliament and theft to amend or supplement it with new provisions so as to make it conform to that judgment."

24. For all the reasons aforesaid, we are of the opinion that the object, the scheme and language of s.10 of the Sales-tax Act do not permit the invocation of s.14(2) of the Limitation Act, either, in terms, or, in principle, for excluding the time spent in prosecuting proceedings for setting aside the dismissal of appeals in default, from com- putation of the period of limitation prescribed for filing a revision under the Sales-tax. Accordingly, we answer the question referred, in the negative.

The Apex Court has observed that where the special statute prescribes a certain period, the limitation for filing an appeal, may be extended only upto a specified time limit.

14. A similar view has been reiterated by Supreme Court in the case of Commissioner of Customs & Central Excise Vs. M/s Hongo India (P) Ltd. & Anr.(2009) 5 SCC, 791, in which the Apex Court has held herein below:-

14. Article 214 of the Constitution of India makes it clear that there shall be a High Court for each State and Article 215 states that every High Court shall be a court of record and shall have all the powers including the power to punish for contempt of itself. Though we have adverted to Section 35 H in the earlier part of our order, it is better to extract sub- section (1) which is relevant and we are concerned with in these appeals :

"35H. Application to High Court - (1) The Commissioner of Central Excise or the other party may, within one hundred and eighty days of the date upon which he is served with notice of an order under section 35C passed before the 1st day of July, 2003 (not being an order relating, among other things, to the determination of any question having a relation to the rate of duty of excise or to the value of goods for purposes of assessment), by application in the prescribed form, accompanied, where the application is made by the other party, by a fee of two hundred rupees, apply to the High Court to direct the Appellate Tribunal to refer to the High Court any question of law arising from such order of the Tribunal."

Except providing a period of 180 days for filing reference application to the High Court, there is no other clause for condoning the delay if reference is made beyond the said prescribed period.

15. We have already pointed out that in the case of appeal to the Commissioner, Section 35 provides 60 days time and in addition to the same, Commissioner has power to condone the delay up to 30 days, if sufficient cause is shown. Likewise, Section 35B provides 90 days time for filing appeal to the Appellate Tribunal and sub-section (5) therein enables the Appellate Tribunal to condone the delay irrespective of the number of days, if sufficient cause is shown. Likewise, Section 35EE which provides 90 days time for filing revision by the Central Government and, proviso to the same enables the revisional authority to condone the delay for a further period of 90 days, if sufficient cause is shown, whereas in the case of appeal to the High Court under Section 35G and reference to the High Court under Section 35H of the Act, total period of 180 days has been provided for availing the remedy of appeal and the reference. However, there is no further clause empowering the High Court to condone the delay after the period of 180 days. ...

27. The other decision relied on by the counsel for the appellant is M.V. Elisabeth and Others vs. Harwan Investment and Trading Pvt. Ltd., Hanoekar House, Swatontapeth, Vasco-De-Gama, Goa, 1993 Supp (2) SCC

The learned ASG heavily relied on the following observations:

"66. The High Courts in India are superior courts of record. They have original and appellate jurisdiction. They have inherent and plenary powers. Unless expressly or impliedly barred, and subject to the appellate or discretionary jurisdiction of this Court, the High Courts have unlimited jurisdiction, including the jurisdiction to determine their own powers....."

Here again, there is no dispute about the above proposition. The High Courts in India are having inherent and plenary powers and as a Court of Record the High Courts have unlimited jurisdiction including the jurisdiction to determine their own powers. However, the said principle has to be decided with the specific provisions in the enactment and in the light of the scheme of the Act, particularly in this case, Sections 35, 35B, 35EE, 35G and 35H of the unamended Central Excise Act, it would not be possible to hold that in spite of the above-mentioned statutory provisions, the High Court is free to entertain reference application even after expiry of the prescribed period of 180 days.

30. In the earlier part of our order, we have adverted to Chapter VIA of the Act which provides appeals and revisions to various authorities. Though the Parliament has specifically provided an additional period of 30 days in the case of appeal to the Commissioner, it is silent about the number of days if there is sufficient cause in the case of an appeal to Appellate Tribunal. Also an additional period of 90 days in the case of revision by Central Government has been provided. However, in the case of an appeal to the High Court under Section 35G and reference application to the High Court under Section 35H, the Parliament has provided only 180 days and no further period for filing an appeal and making reference to the High Court is mentioned in the Act.

31. In this regard, it is useful to refer to a recent decision of this Court in Punjab Fibres Ltd., Noida (supra). Commissioner of Customs, Central Excise, Noida is the appellant in this case. While considering the very same question, namely, whether the High Court has power to condone the delay in presentation of the reference under Section 35H(1) of the Act, the two-Judge Bench taking note of the said provision and the other related provisions following Singh Enterprises vs.

Commissioner of Central Excise, Jamshedpur and Others, (2008) 3 SCC 70 concluded that "the High Court was justified in holding that there was no power for condonation of delay in filing reference application."

32. As pointed out earlier, the language used in Sections 35, 35B, 35EE, 35G and 35H makes the position clear that an appeal and reference to the High Court should be made within 180 days only from the date of communication of the decision or order. In other words, the language used in other provisions makes the position clear that the legislature intended the appellate authority to entertain the appeal by condoning the delay only up to 30 days after expiry of 60 days which is the preliminary limitation period for preferring an appeal. In the absence of any clause condoning the delay by showing sufficient cause after the prescribed period, there is complete exclusion of Section 5 of the Limitation Act. The High Court was, therefore, justified in holding that there was no power to condone the delay after expiry of the prescribed period of 180 days.

33. Even otherwise, for filing an appeal to the Commissioner, and to the Appellate Tribunal as well as revision to the Central Government, the legislature has provided 60 days and 90 days respectively, on the other hand, for filing an appeal and reference to the High Court larger period of 180 days has been provided with to enable the Commissioner and the other party to avail the same. We are of the view that the legislature provided sufficient time, namely, 180 days for filing reference to the High Court which is more than the period prescribed for an appeal and revision.

34. Though, an argument was raised based on Section 29 of the Limitation Act, even assuming that Section 29(2) would be attracted what we have to determine is whether the provisions of this section are expressly excluded in the case of reference to High Court.

35. It was contended before us that the words "expressly excluded" would mean that there must be an express reference made in the special or local law to the specific provisions of the Limitation Act of which the operation is to be excluded. In this regard, we have to see the scheme of the special law here in this case is Central Excise Act. The nature of the remedy provided therein are such that the legislature intended it to be a complete Code by itself which alone should govern the several matters provided by it. If, on an examination of the relevant provisions, it is clear that the provisions of the Limitation Act are necessarily excluded, then the benefits conferred therein cannot be called in aid to supplement the provisions of the Act. In our considered view, that even in a case where the special law does not exclude the provisions of Sections 4 to 24 of the Limitation Act by an express reference, it would nonetheless be open to the court to examine whether and to what extent, the nature of those provisions or the nature of the subject-matter and scheme of the special law exclude their operation. In other words, the applicability of the provisions of the Limitation Act, therefore, to be judged not from the terms of the Limitation Act but by the provisions of the Central Excise Act relating to filing of reference application to the High Court.

36. The scheme of the Central Excise Act, 1944 support the conclusion that the time limit prescribed under Section 35H(1) to make a reference to High Court is absolute and unextendable by court under Section 5 of the Limitation Act. It is well settled law that it is the duty of the court to respect the legislative intent and by giving liberal interpretation, limitation cannot be extended by invoking the provisions of Section 5 of the Act.

37. In the light of the above discussion, we hold that the High Court has no power to condone the delay in filing the "reference application" filed by the Commissioner under unamended Section 35H(1) of the Central Excise Act, 1944 beyond the prescribed period of 180 days and rightly dismissed the reference on the ground of limitation.

15. Similar observations were made by the Supreme Court in the case of Patel Brothers Vs. State of Assam and others, (2017) 2 SCC 350 in which the Apex Court has held as follows:-

6. In the first instance, he referred to Section 79 of the VAT Act which is a provision relating to appeals to the Appellate Authority. As per Section 79(1) of the VAT Act, appeal against the order of the taxing authority can be filed with the appellate authority within 60 days from the date of receipt of such order of the taxing authority. Sub- section (2) of Section 79 of the VAT Act empowers the appellate authority to entertain the appeal even beyond 60 days, provided it is presented within a further period of 180 days, if the appellate authority is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from presenting the appeal within the stipulated period of 60 days[1].

7. The learned counsel next referred to Section 80 of the VAT Act[2] which deals with appeals to the Appellate Tribunal inter alia against the orders of the Appellate Authority. Here also, period of 60 days for preferring such an appeal is provided under sub-section (3) of Section 80 of the VAT Act and proviso to sub-section (3) empowers the Appellate Tribunal to condone the delay, if the appeal is preferred within a further period of 120 days, on sufficient cause being shown for not filing the appeal within 60 days of limitation prescribed. The learned counsel contrasted the aforesaid provisions of Sections 79 and 80 with Section 81[3] of the VAT Act and pointed out that whereas there was specific provision for condonation of delay in filing appeals under Sections 79 and 80 of the VAT Act, no such equivalent provision was made in Section 81 of the VAT Act. As per Section 81 of the VAT Act, revision can be preferred to the High Court against the order of the Appellate Tribunal within 60 days. However, there is no provision giving specific power to the High Court to condone the delay if the revision is preferred beyond 60 days. As per the learned counsel, the reason for not providing such a provision was that provisions of Limitation Act, 1963 including Section 5 thereof were applicable.

8. Insofar as Section 84 of the VAT Act[4] is concerned, it was submitted that Sections 4 and 12 of the Limitation Act, 1963 were made applicable for specific purpose of computing the period of limitation under the said Chapter and High Court committed a grave error while holding that because of the aforesaid provision only Sections 4 and 12 of the Limitation Act, 1963 were made applicable to the VAT Act thereby excluding other provisions of the Act.

9. For this purpose, the learned counsel relied upon Section 29(2) of the Limitation Act, 1963[5] which makes provisions contained in Sections 4 to 24 (inclusive) of the Limitation Act, 1963 applicable in case of suit, appeal or application under any special or local law, where these provisions are not expressly excluded by such special or local law.

10. It was argued that in the absence of any provision expressly excluding the applicability of Sections 4 to 24 of the Limitation Act, 1963, those Sections were applicable qua revision petitions filed under Section 81 of the VAT Act and, therefore, Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963 was also applicable to such proceedings. To placate his aforesaid submissions, the learned counsel relied upon the judgment of this Court in the case of Mangu Ram v. Municipal Corporation of Delhi & Anr.[6]. In that case, special leave petitions were filed against the condonation of delay to the application for grant of special leave under Section 417, Cr.P.C., 1898 against acquittal of the petitioners by the trial court, in spite of the mandatory period of limitation provided in sub-section (4) of Section 417. Question arose whether in the case of Kaushalya Rani v. Gopal Singh[7], which held Section 417, Cr.P.C., 1898 a special law and excluded application of Section 5 on a construction of Section 29(2)(b) of the old Act of 1908 applied under the corresponding provision of Limitation Act, 1963 which governed the case. The Court held that since the case was governed by Limitation Act, 1963, judgment in Kaushalya Rani case did not apply. For applicability of the Limitation Act, 1963 to such proceedings, the Court referred to Section 29(2) of the Limitation Act, 1963 holding that there is an important departure made by the Limitation Act, 1963 insofar as the provision contained in Section 29, sub-section (2), is concerned. Under the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, clause (b) to sub-section (2) of Section 29 provided that for the purpose of determining any period of limitation prescribed for any suit, appeal or application by any special or local law the application of Section 5 was in clear and specific terms excluded. But under Section 29(2) of Act, the provisions of Section 5 shall apply in case of special or local law to the extent to which they are not expressly excluded by such special or local law. Since under the Limitation Act, 1963, Section 5 is specifically made applicable by Section 29 (2), it is only if the special or local law expressly excludes the applicability of Section 5 that it would stand displaced. The Court held that there is nothing in Section 417(4), Cr.P.C., which excludes the application of Section 5 of Limitation Act, 1963.

11. Learned counsel for the appellant also referred to the case of State of Madhya Pradesh & Anr. v. Anshuman Shukla[8]. In that case, question of applicability of Section 5 of the Limitation Act arose in relation to revision petition that can be preferred under Section 19 of the M.P. Madhyastham Adhikaran Adhiniyam, 1983 (as it stood prior to its amendment in 2005). The Court held that since unamended Section 19 did not contain any express rider on power of the High Court to entertain applications for revision after expiry of prescribed limitation thereunder, provisions of Limitation Act, 1963 would become applicable vide Section 29(2) thereof. It further held that as the High Court was conferred with suo moto power under Section 19 of Adhiniyam, 1983 to call for record of an award at any time, there was no legislative intent to exclude the applicability of Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963.

12. Mr. Nalin Kohli, learned senior counsel appearing for the respondents, on the other hand, submitted that the High Court had exhaustively dealt with the issue and rightly found that since Section 84 of the VAT Act confined the applicability of Limitation Act only in respect of Sections 4 and 12 thereof to the proceedings under the said Chapter, by necessary implication the other provisions of the Limitation Act, 1963 including Section 5 thereof stood excluded. He submitted that for the purpose of finding whether other provisions are excluded or not, the focus should be on the scheme of the special law as laid down in Hukumdev Narain Yadav v. Lalit Narain Mishra[9] wherein it was held that even if there exists no express exclusion in the special law, the Court has right to examine the provisions of the special law to arrive at a conclusion as to whether the legislative intent was to exclude the operation of the Limitation Act. According to him, Section 84 of the VAT Act clearly depicted such a legislative intent.

13. After examining the matter in the light of law laid down in various judgments cited by both the parties, we are of the view that the High Court has given correct interpretation to the provisions of Section 81 of the VAT Act, when this provision is read along with Section 84 thereof.

14. In the case of Commissioner of Customs and Central Excise v. Hongo India Private Limited & Anr.[10], the question that fell for determination was that as to whether the High Court had power to condone the delay in presentation of the reference application under unamended Section 35-H(1) of the Central Excise Act, 1994 beyond the period prescribed by applying Section 5 of the Limitation Act. Unamended Section 35-H dealt with reference application to the High Court. Under sub-section (1) thereof, such reference application could be preferred within a period of 180 days of the date upon which the aggrieved party is served with notice of an order under Section 35-C of the Central Excise Act. There was no provision to extend the period of limitation for filing the application to the High Court beyond the said period and to condone the delay. Pertinently, under the scheme of the Central Excise Act as well, in case of appeal to the Commissioner under Section 35 of the Act, which should be filed within 60 days, there was a specific provision for condonation of delay upto 30 days if sufficient cause is shown. Likewise, appeal to the Appellate Tribunal could be filed within 90 days under Section 35-B thereof and sub-section (5) of Section 35-B gave power to the Appellate Tribunal to condone the delay irrespective of the number of days, if sufficient cause is shown. Further, Section 35-EE provided 90 days time for filing revision by the Central Government and proviso thereto empowers the revisional authority to condone the delay for a further period of 90 days. However, when it came to making reference to the High Court under Section 35-G of the Act, the provision only prescribed the limitation period of 180 days with no further clause empowering the High Court to condone the delay beyond the said period of 180 days. It was, thus, in almost similar circumstances, the judgment was rendered by this Court.

15. The categorical opinion of the Court in Hongo India (P) Ltd. Case, was that in the absence of any such power, the High Court did not have power to condone the delay. In that case also, provisions of Section 29(2) of the Limitation Act, 1963 were pressed into service. But this argument was rejected in the following manner:

30. In the earlier part of our order, we have adverted to Chapter VI- A of the Act which provides for appeals and revisions to various authorities. Though Parliament has specifically provided an additional period of 30 days in the case of appeal to the Commissioner, it is silent about the number of days if there is sufficient cause in the case of an appeal to the Appellate Tribunal. Also an additional period of 90 days in the case of revision by the Central Government has been provided. However, in the case of an appeal to the High Court under Section 35-G and reference application to the High Court under Section 35-H, Parliament has provided only 180 days and no further period for filing an appeal and making reference to the High Court is mentioned in the Act.

31. In this regard, it is useful to refer to a recent decision of this Court in Punjab Fibres Ltd. [(2008) 3 SCC 73] The Commissioner of Customs, Central Excise, Noida was the appellant in this case. While considering the very same question, namely, whether the High Court has power to condone the delay in presentation of the reference under Section 35-H(1) of the Act, the two-Judge Bench taking note of the said provision and the other related provisions following Singh Enterprises v. CCE [(2008) 3 SCC 70] concluded that: (Punjab Fibres Ltd. case [(2008) 3 SCC 73] , SCC p. 75, para 8)

"8. ... the High Court was justified in holding that there was no power for condonation of delay in filing reference application."

32. As pointed out earlier, the language used in Sections 35, 35-B, 35-EE, 35-G and 35-H makes the position clear that an appeal and reference to the High Court should be made within 180 days only from the date of communication of the decision or order. In other words, the language used in other provisions makes the position clear that the legislature intended the appellate authority to entertain the appeal by condoning the delay only up to 30 days after expiry of 60 days which is the preliminary limitation period for preferring an appeal. In the absence of any clause condoning the delay by showing sufficient cause after the prescribed period, there is complete exclusion of Section 5 of the Limitation Act. The High Court was, therefore, justified in holding that there was no power to condone the delay after expiry of the prescribed period of 180 days.

33. Even otherwise, for filing an appeal to the Commissioner, and to the Appellate Tribunal as well as revision to the Central Government, the legislature has provided 60 days and 90 days respectively, on the other hand, for filing an appeal and reference to the High Court larger period of 180 days has been provided with to enable the Commissioner and the other party to avail the same. We are of the view that the legislature provided sufficient time, namely, 180 days for filing reference to the High Court which is more than the period prescribed for an appeal and revision."

16. In the process, the Court also explained the expression 'expressly excluded' appearing in Section 29(2) of the Limitation Act, 1963 in the following manner:

"34. Though, an argument was raised based on Section 29 of the Limitation Act, even assuming that Section 29(2) would be attracted, what we have to determine is whether the provisions of this section are expressly excluded in the case of reference to the High Court.

35. It was contended before us that the words "expressly excluded" would mean that there must be an express reference made in the special or local law to the specific provisions of the Limitation Act of which the operation is to be excluded. In this regard, we have to see the scheme of the special law which here in this case is the Central Excise Act. The nature of the remedy provided therein is such that the legislature intended it to be a complete code by itself which alone should govern the several matters provided by it. If, on an examination of the relevant provisions, it is clear that the provisions of the Limitation Act are necessarily excluded, then the benefits conferred therein cannot be called in aid to supplement the provisions of the Act. In our considered view, that even in a case where the special law does not exclude the provisions of Sections 4 to 24 of the Limitation Act by an express reference, it would nonetheless be open to the court to examine whether and to what extent, the nature of those provisions or the nature of the subject-matter and scheme of the special law exclude their operation. In other words, the applicability of the provisions of the Limitation Act, therefore, is to be judged not from the terms of the Limitation Act but by the provisions of the Central Excise Act relating to filing of reference application to the High Court."

17. The aforesaid judgment is a complete answer to the arguments of the appellant.

18. It may be relevant to mention here that after the judgment in Hongo India Private Limited & Anr., Section 35-H of the Central Excise Act, 1994 was amended by the Parliament by Act 32 of 2003 with effect from 14.05.2003 giving power to the High Court to condone the delay by inserting sub- section (2A). It is, therefore, for the legislature to set right the deficiency, if it intends to give power to the High Court to condone the delay in filing revision petition under Section 81 of the VAT Act.

19. The argument predicated on 'no express exclusion' loses its force having regard to the principle of law enshrined in Hukumdev Narain Yadav. Therein, the Court made following observations while examining whether the Limitation Act would be applicable to the provisions of the Representation of the People Act or not:

"17. ... but what we have to see is whether the scheme of the special law, that is in this case the Act, and the nature of the remedy provided therein are such that the legislature intended it to be a complete code by itself which alone should govern the several matters provided by it. If on an examination of the relevant provisions it is clear that the provisions of the Limitation Act are necessarily excluded, then the benefits conferred therein cannot be called in aid to supplement the provisions of the Act. In our view, even in a case where the special law does not exclude the provisions of Sections 4 to 24 of the Limitation Act by an express reference, it would nonetheless be open to the Court to examine whether and to what extent the nature of those provisions or the nature of the subject-matter and scheme of the special law exclude their operation."

20. Thus, the approach which is to be adopted by the Court in such cases is to examine the provisions of special law to arrive at a conclusion as to whether there was legislative intent to exclude the operation of Limitation Act. In the instant case, we find that Section 84 of the VAT Act made only Sections 4 and 12 of the Limitation Act applicable to the proceedings under the VAT Act. The apparent legislative intent, which can be clearly evinced, is to exclude other provisions, including Section 5 of the Limitation Act. Section 29(2) stipulates that in the absence of any express provision in a special law, provisions of Sections 4 to 24 of the Limitation Act would apply. If the intention of the legislature was to make Section 5, or for that matter, other provisions of the Limitation Act applicable to the proceedings under the VAT Act, there was no necessity to make specific provision like Section 84 thereby making only Sections 4 and 12 of the Limitation Act applicable to such proceedings, inasmuch as these two Sections would also have become applicable by virtue of Section 29(2) of the Limitation Act. It is, thus, clear that the Legislature intended only Sections 4 and 12 of the Limitation Act, out of Sections 4 to 24 of the said Act, applicable under the VAT Act thereby excluding the applicability of the other provisions.

21. Judgment in the case of Mangu Ram would not come to the aid of the appellant as the Court found that there was no provision under the Cr.P.C. from which legislative intent to exclude Section 5 of the Limitation Act could be discerned and, therefore, Section 29(2) of the Limitation Act was taken aid of. Similar situation prevailed in Anshuman Shukla's case. On the contrary, in the instant case, a scrutiny of the scheme of VAT Act goes to show that it is a complete code not only laying down the forum but also prescribing the time limit within which each forum would be competent to entertain the appeal or revision. The underlying object of the Act appears to be not only to shorten the length of the proceedings initiated under the different provisions contained therein, but also to ensure finality of the decision made there under. The fact that the period of limitation described therein has been equally made applicable to the assessee as well as the revenue lends ample credence to such a conclusion. We, therefore, unhesitantly hold that the application of Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963 to a proceeding under Section 81(1) of the VAT Act stands excluded by necessary implication, by virtue of the language employed in section 84.

22. The High Court has rightly pointed out the well settled principle of law that:

"19.....the court cannot interpret the statute the way they have developed the common law "which in a constitutional sense means judicially developed equity'. In abrogating or modifying a rule of the common law the court exercises the same power of creation that built up the common law through its existence by the judges of the past. The court can exercise no such power in respect of statue, therefore, in the task of interpreting and applying a statue, Judges have to be conscious that in the end the statue is the master not the servant of the judgment and no judge has a choice between implementing it and disobeying it."

What, therefore, follows is that the court cannot interpret the law in such a manner so as to read into the Act an inherent power of condoning the delay by invoking Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963 so as to supplement the provisions of the VAT Act which excludes the operation of Section 5 by necessary implications.

16. The Apex Court held in the above judgement that under Central Excise Act, the time limit prescribed for making a reference thereunder is absolute as it is a special law and a complete code by itself, and limitation cannot be extended by the Court taken aid of Limitation Act.

17. Similar view has been taken by the Supreme Court in the case of Bengal Chemists and Druggists Association Vs. Kalyan Chowdhury, (2018) 3 SCC 41, in which the Apex Court has held as follows:

4. A cursory reading of Section 421(3) makes it clear that the proviso provides a period of limitation different from that provided in the Limitation Act, and also provides a further period not exceeding 45 days only if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from filing the appeal within that period. Section 433 obviously cannot come to the aid of the appellant because the provisions of the Limitation Act only apply "as far as may be". In a case like the present, where there is a special provision contained in Section 421(3) proviso, Section 5 of the Limitation Act obviously cannot apply.

5. Another very important aspect of the case is that 45 days is the period of limitation, and a further period not exceeding 45 days is provided only if sufficient cause is made out for filing the appeal within the extended period. According to us, this is a peremptory provision, which will otherwise be rendered completely ineffective, if we were to accept the argument of learned counsel for the appellant. If we were to accept such argument, it would mean that notwithstanding that the further period of 45 days had elapsed, the Appellate Tribunal may, if the facts so warrant, condone the delay. This would be to render otiose the second time limit of 45 days, which, as has been pointed out by us above, is peremptory in nature.

6. We are fortified in this conclusion by the judgment of this Court in Chhattisgarh SEB v. Central Electricity Regulatory Commission, 2010 (5) SCC 23. The language of Section 125 of the Electricity Act, 2003, which is similar to the language contained in Section 421 (3) of the Companies Act, 2013, came up for consideration in the aforesaid decision. The issue that arose before this Court was whether Section 5 of the Limitation Act can be invoked for allowing the aggrieved person to file an appeal beyond 60 days plus the further grace period of 60 days. This Court held that Section 5 cannot apply to Section 125 of the Electricity Act in the following terms:

"25. Section 125 lays down that any person aggrieved by any decision or order of the Tribunal can file an appeal to this Court within 60 days from the date of communication of the decision or order of the Tribunal. Proviso to Section 125 empowers this Court to entertain an appeal filed within a further period of 60 days if it is satisfied that there was sufficient cause for not filing appeal within the initial period of 60 days. This shows that the period of limitation prescribed for filing appeals under Sections 111(2) and 125 is substantially different from the period prescribed under the Limitation Act for filing suits, etc. The use of the expression "within a further period not exceeding 60 days" in the proviso to Section 125 makes it clear that the outer limit for filing an appeal is 120 days. There is no provision in the Act under which this Court can entertain an appeal filed against the decision or order of the Tribunal after more than 120 days."

The aforesaid judgment was reiterated and followed in ONGC v. Gujarat Energy Transmission Corporation Limited, 2017 (5) SCC 42 at Para 5.

7. It now remains to deal with the decisions cited by learned counsel appearing on behalf of the appellant. The first is the judgment in Guda Vijayalakshmi vs. Guda Ramachandra Sekhara Sastry, (1981) 2 SCC 646. In that case, a Transfer Petition was filed under Section 25, CPC, 1908 in this Court. A preliminary objection was taken stating that in view of Sections 21 and 21A of the Hindu Marriage Act, 1955, Section 25 would not be applicable. This was turned down by this Court stating that Section 21 would not apply to substantive provisions of the Code as apart from procedural provisions. Equally, Section 21A of the Hindu Marriage Act, 1955 only dealt with transfers "in certain cases". This being so, the wide and plenary power conferred on this Court to transfer any suit, appeal or other proceedings from one High Court to another High Court or from one Civil Court in one State to another Civil Court in any other State was held not be entrenched upon by Sections 21 and 21A of the Hindu Marriage Act. We fail to see how this judgment, in any manner, furthers the proposition sought to be canvassed on behalf of the appellant, which is that Section 5 of the Limitation Act would continue to apply even after a second period of 45 days is peremptorily laid down. This judgment, therefore, does not carry the matter any further.

8. Reliance placed on Dr. Partap Singh and Another vs. Director of Enforcement, Foreign Exchange Regulation Act and Others, (1985) 3 SCC 72 is equally misplaced. In this case, Section 37 of the Foreign Exchange Regulation Act, 1973 was involved. Section 37(2) provides that the provisions of the Code relating to searches shall, so far as may be, apply to searches directed under Section 37(1). This Court held that the expression "so far as may be" has always been construed to mean that those provisions may generally be followed to the extent possible. In the fact scenario of that case, it was held that to give full meaning to the expression 'so far as may be', sub-section (2) of Section 37 should be interpreted to mean that broadly the procedure relating to search as enacted in Section 165 shall be followed.

9. This case again does not take the matter any further. In fact, the ratio of the judgment as far as this case is concerned is that the expression "so far as may be" only means to the extent possible. If not possible, obviously the Limitation Act would not apply. We have already held that it is not possible for Section 5 of the Limitation Act to apply given the peremptory language of Section 421(3).

10. The third judgment is Mangu Ram vs. Municipal Corporation of Delhi, (1976) 1 SCC 392. In this judgment, Section 417 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 provided for special leave to appeal from an order of acquittal. Section 417 (4) required that the application for special leave should be made before the expiry period of 60 days from the date of the order of acquittal. Applying Section 29(2) of the Limitation Act, this Court held that Section 5 of the Limitation would not be impliedly excluded in such case despite the mandatory and peremptory language contained in Section 417(4) of the Cr.P.C. This Court held that all periods of limitation are cast in such mandatory and peremptory language and, therefore, Section 5 could not be said to be impliedly excluded.

11. This case again is wholly distinguishable. It applies only to a period of limitation which is given beyond which nothing further is stated as to whether delay may be condoned beyond such period. In the present case, the Section 417(3) does not merely contain the initial period of 45 days, in which case the aforesaid judgment would have applied. Section 417(3) goes on to state that another period of 45 days, being a grace period given by the legislature which cannot be exceeded, alone would apply, provided sufficient cause is made out within the aforesaid grace period. As has been held by us above, it is the second period, which is a special inbuilt kind of Section 5 of the Limitation Act in the special statute, which lays down that beyond the second period of 45 days, there can be no further condonation of delay. On this ground therefore, the aforesaid judgment also stands distinguished.

12. One further thing remains - and that is that learned counsel for the appellant pointed out the difference between the expression used in the Arbitration Act as construed by Popular Construction (supra) and its absence in the proviso in Section 421(3). For the reasons given above, we are of the view that this would also make no difference in view of the language of the proviso to Section 421(3) which contains mandatory or peremptory negative language and speaks of a second period not exceeding 45 days, which would have the same effect as the expression "but not thereafter" used in Section 34(3) proviso of the Arbitration Act, 1996.

18. The Apex Court in the above case has an occasion to consider the provisions of Companies Act and held that period of limitation cannot be extended beyond prescribed period i.e. 45 days as provided in Section 421 (3) of Companies Act.

19. The issue came up before different High Courts for consideration as to whether appeal filed beyond the period of limitation under sub Section 7 of Section 7 of the Act, 1972, can be entertained and period of limitation can be condoned. In this regard, reference may be made to the judgements of different High Courts.

20. Karnataka High Court in the case of Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation Vs. Dy. Labour Commissioner and others, 2014 (143) FLR 392 has held as follows:

4. Section 7 of the Act provides for determination of the amount of gratuity. Sub-section (4)(c) of section 7 of the Act states that the Controlling Authority shall, after due inquiry and after giving the parties to the dispute a reasonable opportunity of being heard, determine the matter or matters in dispute and if as a result of such inquiry any amount is found to be payable to the employee, the Controlling Authority shall direct the employer to pay such amount or, as the case may be, such amount as reduced by the amount already deposited by the employer.

5. Sub-section (7) of section 7 states any person aggrieved by an order under sub-section (4), may, within sixty days from the date of the receipt of the order, prefer an appeal to the appropriate Government or such other authority as may be specified by the appropriate Government on this behalf. The proviso to this provision authorises the Appropriate Government of the Appellate Authority, as the case may be, if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal within the said period of sixty days, extend the said period by a further period of sixty days.

6. Rules have been framed under section 15 of the Act to effectuate the purposes of the Act. Sub-rule (4) of Rule 11 states that after completion of hearing on the date fixed under sub-rule (1), or after such further evidence, examination of documents, witnesses, hearing and enquiry, as may be deemed necessary, the Controlling Authority shall record his finding as to whether any amount is payable to the applicant under the Act. A copy of the finding shall be given to each of the parties.

7. From the aforesaid provisions, it is clear that the Controlling Authority after holding an enquiry has to pass order and the copy of the order has to be furnished to the contesting parties. If a party is aggrieved by the said order, he has to prefer an appeal within sixty days from the date of receipt of the order before the competent authority. However, the appellate authority has the power to condone the delay of 60 days if it is satisfied that the petitioner was prevented by sufficient cause in preferring the appeal within a period of 60 days.

8. In the instant case, the contention of the petitioner is that it has filed a review petition before the Controlling authority seeking review of the order at Annexure-D. There is no provision for filing of review petition before the competent authority. Therefore, an endorsement was rightly issued by the competent authority staring that it has no jurisdiction to entertain the review.

9. Admittedly, the appeal was filed beyond the period of 120 days from the date of receipt of the order of the Controlling, Authority. In Hongo India P. Ltd.'s case (supra), the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that the provision of Limitation Act is not applicable when the special statute provides for the period of limitation. It was further held that section 5 of the Limitation Act has no application having regard to section 29(2) of the Limitation Act.

10. A Division Bench of this Court in Writ Appeal No. 2055/2008 (referred to above) has considered an identical question. It has been held that the Appellate Authority has no power to entertain an appeal beyond a period of 120 days.

21. Gujrat High Court in the case of State of Gujrat and another Vs Appellate Authority under Payment of Gratuity Act, and others, 2015(147) FLR 564 has held as follows:-

9. In view of the aforesaid statutory provision, the Appellate Authority is not empowered to condone the delay if the appeal is preferred after a period of 120 days. This Court has considered the provisions contained in section 7(7) of the Payment of Gratuity Act. In the case of Bhavnagar Municipal Corporation v. Sunderben Chhanabhai Baraiya, MANU/GJ/1296/2011 : 2011 (131) FLR 870 (Guj.) has considered the provisions contained in sub-section (7) of section 7 of the Payment of Gratuity Act. This Court held that the Appellate Authority had rightly dismissed the appeal which was filed after eleven months, and the Appellate Authority had no power to condone the delay. It was further held that if the extraordinary power conferred to this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India is invoked and exercised, in such type of cases, it will be nothing but amounting to miscarriage of justice, and therefore, the petition was dismissed by this Court.

10. Even thereafter, Full Bench of this Court has considered the provision contained in section 35 of the Central Excise Act of 1944. The provision contained in section 35 of the Central Excise Act are pari-materia with the provision contained in section 7(7) of the Payment of Gratuity Act. The Full Bench of this Court in the case of Panoli Intermediate (India) Pvt. Ltd. v. Union of India and others MANU/GJ/0371/2015 : AIR 2015 Guj. 97, has held in paragraph 31 as under:

"31. We may now proceed to answer the question.

(1) Question No. 1 is answered in negative by observing that the limitation provided under section 35 of the Act cannot be condoned in filing the appeal beyond the period of 30 days as provided by the proviso nor the appeal can be filed beyond the period of 90 days.

(2) The second question is answered in negative to the extent that the petition under Article 226 of the Constitution would not lie for the purpose of condonation of delay in filing the appeal.

(3) On the third question, the answer is in affirmative, but with the clarification that-

(A) The petition under Article 226 of the Constitution can be preferred for challenging the order passed by the original adjudicating authority in following circumstances that:

(A.1) The authority has passed the order without jurisdiction and by assuming jurisdiction which there exist none, or

(A.2) Has exercised the power in excess of the jurisdiction and by overstepping or crossing the limits of jurisdiction, or

(A.3) Has acted in flagrant disregard to law or rules or procedure or acted in violation of principles of natural justice where no procedure is specified.

(B) Resultantly, there is a failure of justice or it has resulted into gross injustice.

We may also sum up by saying that the power is there even in aforesaid circumstances, but the exercise is discretionary which will be governed solely by the dictates of the judicial conscience enriched by judicial experience and practical wisdom of the Judge."

11. In view of the aforesaid Full Bench decision, it is clear that the Appellate Authority is not empowered to condone the delay if the appeal is filed after a period of 120 days from the date of receipt of the order by the aggrieved party. In the present case, it is admitted that the petitioners preferred the appeal after a period of limitation and, therefore, the said appeal was rightly rejected by the Appellate Authority.

12. It is also observed by the Appellate Authority that the petitioners had not deposited the amount as per the order passed by the Controlling Authority and, therefore, the said appeal is not maintainable. Further, proviso of section 7(7) provides that no appeal by an employer shall be admitted unless at the time of preferring the appeal, the appellant either produces a certificate of the Controlling Authority to the effect that the appellant has deposited with him an amount equal to the amount of gratuity required to be deposited under sub-section (4) or deposits with the Appellate Authority such amount. Thus, it is mandatory that the employer has to deposit the amount as per the further proviso of section 7(7) of the Payment of Gratuity Act. If such amount is not deposited, the appeal is liable to be dismissed which is rightly dismissed by the authority.

22. Hyderabad High Court in the case of Deepak Transport Agency Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Appellate Authority, Gratuity Act-cum Dy. Commissioner of Labour, 2018 (159) FLR 885 has held as under:-

8. Record discloses that Mr. M. Ashok worked as Assistant Commissioner of Labour-III and in that capacity as Controlling Authority he decided the issue on the original side. By the time appeal was preferred, the same person became Deputy Commissioner of Labour-II and was designated as the Appellate Authority under the Act. Thus, the same officer could not have entertained the appeal, consider and pass orders sitting over his own decision made in the capacity as the original authority. No doubt, a quasi-judicial authority cannot sit and decide the validity of his own decision after he became appellate authority.

9. One of the facets of fair hearing in quasi-judicial proceedings also that same authority who heard original application cannot sit and decide the appeal. Ordinarily, on this aspect order of Appellate Authority is not sustainable and liable to be set aside and matter be remitted to the appellate authority for reconsideration of the issue by the officer other than the officer who decided the original complaint. Whenever, such issue comes up before writ court, writ court would not hesitate to hold such action as illegal and direct fresh consideration of appeal by a different authority. However, in the case on hand matter does not rest there. In this case the petitioner/appellant did not comply with twin conditions to prefer appeal under Section 7(7) of the Act and unless those conditions are fulfilled appeal is not maintainable. As noted above, the appellate authority has not decided the appeal on merits but only highlighted the requirements to prefer appeal and held that appellant has not fulfilled those requirements. This is an incurable defect. Thus, no useful purpose would be served by such remittance. It is a futile exercise. A breach of procedure cannot give rise to remedy unless there is something of substance which is lost by such failure. In the facts of this case it cannot be said that prejudice is caused to petitioner as his appeal suffers from incurable defect.

10. The writ remedy is an equitable remedy. Grant of relief to an aggrieved person is discretionary in the hands of writ Court. Merely because the party makes out a case to grant relief, the Court need not grant the relief prayed if granting of relief prayed is futile.

11. In Sangram Singh Vs. Election Tribunal : MANU/SC/0044/1955 : AIR 1955 SC 423, Supreme Court delineated scope of exercise of power of judicial review under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. Supreme Court held:

"14. That, however, is not to say that the jurisdiction will be exercised whenever there is an error of law. The High Courts do not, and should not, act as courts of appeal under Article 226. Their powers are purely discretionary and though no limits can be placed upon that discretion it must be exercised along recognised lines and not arbitrarily; and one of the limitations imposed by the Courts on themselves is that they will not exercise jurisdiction in this class of case unless substantial injustice has ensued, or is likely to ensue. They will not allow themselves to be turned into courts of appeal or revision to set right mere errors of law which do not occasion injustice in a broad and general sense, for, though no legislature can impose limitations on these constitutional powers it is a sound exercise of discretion to bear in mind the policy of the legislature to have disputes about these special rights decided as speedily as may be. Therefore, writ petitions should not be lightly entertained in this class of case."

12. Having regard to the history of litigation briefly noted above and the fact that gratuity payable as determined by the original authority was only Rs. 90,045/- and as appellant failed to comply two mandatory requirements to prefer appeal, therefore suffers from incurable defect, this Court is not inclined to relegate the matter to the appellate authority at this stage on the ground that same authority sat in appeal against his own decision.

23. Madras High Court in the case of Senior Regional Manager, TN. Civil Supplies Corporation, Vs. Joint Commissioner of Labour and others, 2019 (161) 392 has held as under:

4. The Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972, is a beneficial legislation to protect the interest of employees engaged in factories, mines, oil-fields, plantations, ports, railway companies, shops or other establishments and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto. It is a special enactment and a social welfare legislation to prevent unfair labour practice. Always the Courts while interpreting social welfare legislation, a beneficent construction is given on the relevant provisions which furthers the purpose for which such legislation was enacted. It is settled law that the special law overrides the general law when a specific provision is available under the special law and this principle finds its origin in the latin maxim "Generalia Specialibus Non Derogant", which means general law yields to special law, should they operate in the same field on the same subject. In the instant case, section 7(7) of the Act specifically stipulates that an appeal will have to be filed as against an order passed under section 7(4) of the Act within 60 days from the date of receipt of the order. Under the first proviso to section 7(7) of the Act, the appropriate Government or the Appellate Authority, as the case may be, may if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal within the said period of sixty days, extend the said period by a further period of 60 days. Therefore, the maximum period available to challenge an order passed by the Assistant Commissioner of Labour (Gratuity), under section 7(4) of the Act is 120 days from the date of receipt of the order.

5. As per section 14 of the Act, it overrides other enactments. Section 14 of the Act reads as follows:

"14. Act to override other enactments, etc.-The provisions of this Act or any rule made thereunder shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any enactment other than this Act or in any instrument or contract having effect by virtue of any enactment other than this Act."

6. The applicability of the Limitation Act, 1963, including section 5 of the Limitation Act, is no where mentioned in any of the provisions under the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972. As seen from section 14 of the Act, the Payment of Gratuity Act is a self-contained code by itself. Therefore, the intention of the legislature to prescribe a maximum period for filing an appeal is only to protect the interest of the employees as the Act itself is a beneficent legislation protecting the interest of employees and to prevent unfair labour practice.

7. The Andhra Pradesh High Court in a similar matter, while dealing with section 7(7) of the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972, in its judgment in Deepak Transport Agency Private Limited v. Appellate Authority MANU/HY/0125/2018 : 2018 (5) ALT 631 : 2018 (159) FLR 885, has also held that the delay beyond 120 days for filing an appeal under section 7(7) of the Act is an incurable defect. The relevant paragraph of the said judgment, is reproduced hereunder:

"10. ..... In this case the petitioner/appellant did not comply with twin conditions to prefer appeal under section 7(7) of the Act and unless those conditions are fulfilled appeal is not maintainable. As noted above, the Appellate Authority has not decided the appeal on merits but only highlighted the requirements to prefer appeal and held that appellant has not fulfilled those requirements. This is an incurable defect. Thus, no useful purpose would be served by such remittance. It is a futile exercise. A breach of procedure cannot give rise to remedy unless there is something of substance which is lost by such failure. In the facts of this case, it cannot be said that prejudice is caused to petitioner as his appeal suffers from incurable defect."

8. The Gujarat High Court in the case of State of Gujarat and another v. Appellate Authority under Payment of Gratuity Act MANU/GJ/0748/2015 : 2015 (147) FLR 564 (Guj.), following the Full Bench judgment of the Gujarat High Court MANU/GJ/0371/2015 : AIR 2015 Guj. 97, has held that the Appellate Authority is not empowered to condone the delay, if the appeal is filed after a period of 120 days and the High Court cannot also condone the delay in filing the appeal exercising powers under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. The relevant paragraphs of the said Gujarat High Court judgment are reproduced hereunder:

"19. The Division Bench of this Court referred certain questions to the Full Bench. The Full Bench of this Court considered the said questions and appropriate answers were given to the said questions. The said decision is reported in MANU/GJ/0371/2015 : AIR 2015 Gujarat 97. In paragraph No. 1, of the said decision, three questions were formulated. Paragraph No. 1 of the said decision reads as under:

"1. The Division Bench of this Court has formulated the following questions and has referred the matter to the Larger Bench:

"(1) Whether the period of limitation provided of 60 days, for filing an appeal under section 35 of the Central Excise Act, 1944, could be extended only upto 30 days as provided by the proviso or the delay beyond the period of 90 days could also be condoned in filing an appeal?

(2) Where a statutory remedy or appeal is provided under section 35 of the Central Excise Act, 1944 and the delay cannot be condoned under section 35 beyond the period of 90 days, then whether writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India would lie for the purpose of condoning the delay in filing the appeal?

(3) When if the statutory remedy or appeal under section 35 is barred by the law of limitation whether in a writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, the order passed by the original adjudicating authority could be challenged on merits?"

The Hon'ble Full Bench of this Court after considering various provisions of different Acts and various decisions of the Honourable Supreme Court as well as different High Courts answered the said questions in paragraph No. 31, which reads as under:

"31. We may now proceed to answer the question.

(1) Question No. 1 is answered in negative by observing that the limitation provided under section 35 of the Act cannot be condoned in filing the appeal beyond the period of 30 days as provided by the proviso nor the appeal can be filed beyond the period of 90 days.

(2) The second question is answered in negative to the extent that the petition under Article 226 of the Constitution would not lie for the purpose of condonation of delay in filing the appeal.

(3) On the third question, the answer is in affirmative, but with the clarification that:

(A) The petition under Article 226 of the Constitution can be preferred for challenging the order passed by the original adjudicating authority in following circumstances that:

(A1) The authority has passed the order without jurisdiction and by assuming jurisdiction which there exist none, or

(A2) Has exercised the power in excess of the jurisdiction and by overstepping or crossing the limits of jurisdiction, or

(A3) Has acted in flagrant disregard to law or rules or procedure or acted in violation of principles of natural justice where no procedure is specified.

(B) Resultantly, there is a failure of justice or it has resulted into gross injustice.

We may also sum up by saying that the power is there even in aforesaid circumstances, but the exercise is discretionary which will be governed solely by the dictates of the judicial conscience enriched by judicial experience and practical wisdom of the Judge."

20. Therefore, it becomes clear that the provisions of section 35 of the Central Excise Act are in pari materia with the provisions contained in subsection (7) of section 7 of the Gratuity Act.

21. Thus, from the latest decision rendered by this Court in the aforesaid case, it is clear that the Appellate Authority is not empowered to condone the delay if the appeal is filed after a period of 120 days in the present case. Even this Court cannot condone the delay in filing the appeal while exercising powers under Article 226 of the Constitution of India."

9. The issue involved in these batch of writ petitions are one and the same and this Court is in agreement with the view taken by the Andhra Pradesh and Gujarat High Courts. For the aforesaid reasons, this Court is of the considered view that the first respondent has rightly dismissed the appeals filed by the appellant under section 7(7) of the Act, on the ground that the appeal was not filed within a period of 120 days from the date of receipt of the order passed under section 7(4) of the Act by the second respondent. In the result, there is no merit in all these writ petitions.

24. Calcutta High Court in the case of Ali Hossain Vs. Budge Budge Co. Ltd. And others, 2018 (159) FLR 68 has held as follows:

9. It will not be out of context to observe that in the event the period of limitation in initiating of a proceeding expires during the pendency of a writ proceeding there is no scope to initiate a statutory proceeding or to prefer an appeal to condone such delay on the ground of pendency of a lis before the Writ Court.

10. Reference may be made to the decision of City College, Calcutta v. State of W.B. and others MANU/WB/0397/1986 : 1986 (52) FLR 547, and operative portions of the above judgment is quoted below:

"7. In his impugned order of the Appellate Authority has rightly pointed out that in view of the sub-section (7) of section 7 of the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972, appeals must be filed within 60 days from the date of the receipt of the order by the Controlling Authority. Under proviso to sub-section (7) of section 7 of the said Act the Appellate Authority may extend the said period of 60 days by a further period of 60 days if he is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from filing the appeal within the said period of 60 days. In the above view, after expiry of 120 days from the date of the receipt of the order passed by the Controlling Authority there could be no scope for further extending under section 5 of the Limitation Act the period prescribed by the law for preferring an appeal under section 7(7) of the Payment of Gratuity Act against the order passed under sub-section (4) of section of the said Act.

8. For the foregoing reasons, we hold that the Appellate Authority did not commit any jurisdictional error by refusing to condone the delay beyond 120 days in preferring the appeal of the petitioner. The appeal provided under section 7 of the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972 is not before any Court. The Act has vested an executive authority with juridical quasi-judicial powers in order to enable it to act as the Appellate Authority. In view of the decisions of the Supreme Court mentioned hereinbefore it is no longer open to us to consider whether or not by force of section 29 of the Limitation Act, 1963, the provisions of sections 5 to 25 of the said Act have been made applicable only in case of appeal and applications under any special presented to Courts of law and not to persona designata or administrative authorities.

We therefore dismiss this Revisional Application without any order as to costs."

11. With the discussions and observations made hereinabove, the order impugned to this appeal stands quashed and set aside. Since no other issue is involved in this appeal, this appeal is treated as on day's list with the consent of the parties and the same is also taken up for hearing. This appeal stands allowed together with the above application. There will be, however, no order as to costs.

25. Applying the principles enumerated herein above, the legal position which emerges that in terms of sub-section 7 of Section 7 of the Act, 1972, an appeal is to be filed in a manner within such time as provided i.e. 60 days and in the event there was sufficient cause for not filing the appeal within same period, the said period can be extended by further period of 60 days only.

26. From perusal of the above judgements of Hon'ble the Apex Court and different High Courts as well as provisions of sub-section 7 of Section 7 of the Act, 1972, which specifically provides for filing an appeal within 60 days and further provision has been made for extension of such period only for specific period of time and no further power has been given to extend the period of limitation. In other words an appeal filed beyond the period of 120 days (60 days + 60 days) cannot be condoned.

27. It is well settled principle of the statute that where a specific period has been provided in the statute then further period of limitation cannot be extended beyond what has been provided under the statute. The Act, 1972 is a special Act, which contained the specific period in which an appeal can be preferred. The provisions of the said Act is to be seen as mentioned therein which is a complete code by itself.

28. The purpose and scheme of the Act and provisions contained under the Limitation Act, would therefore, not be applicable for seeking extension of time beyond the statutory time period of 60 days, extensible by further period of 60 days by the competent authority, being satisfied that the aggrieved person was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal within the prescribed period.

29. The petitioner has taken a stand that against the order dated 6.7.2017, the petitioner on the legal advise preferred a recall application and after rejection of the recall application, the appeal was filed before the appellate authority and then same ought to have been contended, without taking the ground of limitation, is misconceived in terms of the long line of judgements of Hon'ble Apex Court and High Courts referred herein above.

30. Before parting with the judgement a reference may be made of the Supreme Court, which covers the issue on merit also. The Apex Court in the case of Netram Sahu Vs. State of Chhattisgarh and another, 2018 (157) FLR 477 had an occasion to consider as to whether the workman, who has retired after rendering 22 years of service before attaining the age of superannuation, he was regularized but the benefit of gratuity was denied on the ground that he was not completed 05 years service as regular employee. The Hon'ble Apex Court has categorically held that employee has continuously worked for 22 years then merely his regularization was done later on, not completing 05 years of service as regular employee, would not dis-entitle him for getting the benefit of gratuity.

31. In the present case, admittedly, the appeal has been preferred on 15.11.2018 after the rejection of recall application on 29.11.2017, much beyond the period of 120 days as per sub-section 7 of Section 7 of the Act, 1972. Therefore, no further extension could be provided or contemplated. The appellate authority could not have extended the period of limitation, therefore, the appellate authority was right in coming to the conclusion that the appeal has been filed beyond the period of limitation.

32. The order passed by the appellate authority does not call for any interference of this Court. Hence the present writ petition is dismissed by devoid of any merit.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard the learned counsel for the petitioners, learned Standing Counsel appearing for the State-respondents and Sri Revindra Singh, learned counsel for the fourth respondent.

2. The petitioners herein asserting themselves to be sugarcane growers who are residents of Village Nawabganj, Tehsil Sahaswan, District Budaun have filed the present writ petition seeking a direction to the respondents to attach the Zarifnagar Cane Purchase Centre to D.S.M. Sugar

3. Learned Standing Counsel appearing for the State-respondents and Sri Ravindra Singh, learned counsel for the fourth respondent have raised a preliminary objection that the writ petition at the behest of the individual cane grower is not maintainable and that any grievance in this regard can be espoused through the cane growers' co-operative society of the area in question. It is submitted that the writ petition filed by the petitioners claiming themselves to be sugarcane growers of the area is misconceived and is liable to be dismissed.

4. Heard the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

5. The regulation of supply and purchase of sugarcane in the State of U.P. is governed in terms of the provisions contained under the Uttar Pradesh Sugarcane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) Act, 19531 and the rules made thereunder namely the Uttar Pradesh Sugarcane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) Rules, 19542.

6. The aforementioned Act, 1953 and the Rules, 1954 contain detailed and elaborate provisions regarding supply of the sugarcane by the cane growers, its purchase by the sugar factories and payment of price thereof. In terms of the scheme of the Act, 1953, a mechanism is provided for ensuring the required continuous supply of sugarcane to the sugar factories during the crushing season. Keeping in mind the interest of the sugarcane growers, cane growers' co-operative societies, sugar factories and also the inter se interest of the sugar factories in the area, the supply of sugarcane to the sugar factories in the quantity which may reasonably be required by them for production in a particular crushing season is regulated by the provisions of the Act, 1953.

7. A duty has been cast upon the Cane Commissioner, under Section 12 of the Act, 1953 to require the occupier of each factory to furnish in the manner and by the date specified in an order to be issued by him an estimate of the quantity of the sugarcane which would be required by a factory during such crushing season or seasons as may be specified in the order. The Cane Commissioner is obliged to examine every such estimate and is enjoined to publish the same with such modifications, if any, as he may make.

8. The publication of the estimate is made for the purpose of making it known to all sugar factories that the estimates prepared by them of the requisite quantity of sugarcane for a particular crushing season or seasons has been accepted by the Cane Commissioner with or without modification. Section 13 of the Act, 1953 enjoins upon the occupier of the factory to maintain a register of all cane growers and cane growers' co-operative society or societies that sell sugarcane to the factory. In terms of Section 14 the State Government may provide for survey of the area which is proposed to be reserved or assigned for supply of sugarcane to a factory, and in terms of Section 15 the Cane Commissioner is empowered to issue an order declaring the reserved and the assigned area for the purposes of supply of sugarcane to a factory.

9. The declaration of the reserved area and assigned area under Section 15 is to be made by the Cane Commissioner after consulting the sugar factory and the cane growers' co-operative societies in the manner so prescribed.

10. The object of the declaration of the reserved area and assigned area is to minimize the conflict in claims of the sugar factories seeking supply of sugarcane which may otherwise have an adverse effect on the sugar factories as well as the cane growers of the area.

11. The guidelines which are required to be followed in reserving an area or assigning an area to a factory and determining the quantity of sugarcane to be purchased from the area by a factory are provided for under Rule 22 of the Rules, 1954.

12. The provision with regard to declaration of reserved and assigned area as contained under Section 15 of the Act, 1953 is reproduced below:-

"15. Declaration of reserved area and assigned area.--(1) Without prejudice to any order made under Clause (d) of sub-section (2) of Section 16 of the Cane Commissioner may, after consulting the Factory and Cane-growers' Co-operative Society in the manner to be prescribed:

(a) reserve any area (hereinafter called the reserved area); and

(b) assign any area (hereinafter called an assigned area), for the purpose of the supply of cane to a factory in accordance with the provisions of Section 16 during one or more crushing seasons as may be specified and may likewise at any time cancel such order or alter the boundaries of an area so reserved or assigned.

(2) Where an area has been declared as reserved area for a factory, the occupier of such factory shall, if so directed by the Cane Commissioner, purchase all the cane grown in that area, which is offered for sale to the factory.

(3) Where any area has been declared as assigned area for a factory, the occupier of such factory shall purchase such quantity of cane grown in that area and offered for sale to the factory as may be determined by the Cane Commissioner.

(4) An appeal shall lie to the State Government against the order of the Cane Commissioner passed under sub-section (1)."

13. The guidelines for the aforesaid purpose for reserving an area or assigning an area as provided under Rule 22 of the Rules, 1954, are being extracted below:-

"22. In reserving an area for or assigning an area to a factory or determining the quantity of cane to be purchased from an area by a factory, under Section 15, the Cane Commissioner may take into consideration--

(a) the distance of the area from the factory,

(b) facilities for transport of cane from the area,

(c) the quantity of cane supplied from the area to the factory in previous year,

(d) previous reservation and assignment orders,

(e) the quantity of cane to be crushed in factory,

(f) the arrangements made by the factory in previous years for payment of cess, cane price and commission,

(g) the views of the Cane-growers' Co-operative Society of the area,

(h) efforts made by the factory in developing the reserved or assigned area,

(i) efforts made by the factory to provide information to the farmers pertaining to survey, supply tickets, weighment, payment etc. through the use of website, Short Messaging Service (SMS), Interactive Voice Response System (IVRS), Hand Held Computer (HHC), Global Positioning System (GPS), electronic weigh-bridge etc."

14. The order passed under Section 15 containing declaration of reserved area and assigned area in respect of a sugar factory is appealable before the State Government in terms of sub-section (4) of Section 15 of the Act, 1953.

15. In the aforesaid manner it is seen that as per the terms of the scheme provided for under the Act, 1953 and the Rules, 1954 an elaborate mechanism has been provided to regulate the supply and purchase of sugarcane to sugar factories so as to secure the interest of the sugar factories, the sugarcane growers and also the cane co-operative societies of area. The provision for declaration of reserved area and assigned area by the Cane Commissioner after consulting the sugar factories, has also been made for the aforesaid purpose of regulating the supply and purchase of sugarcane, minimizing the conflict in claims of the sugar factories in the area and also for securing the interests of the cane growers and the cane growers' co-operative societies.

16. The guidelines provided under the Rule 22 of the Rules, 1954 provide for consideration of all the relevant factors before making a declaration of the reserved area and assigned area of a particular sugar factory. The factors which are required to be considered also include ascertaining the views of cane growers' co-operative society of the area which in turn represents the cane growers of the area.

17. The petitioners herein claiming themselves to be cane growers of the area are seeking a direction for attachment of their cane purchase centre to D.S.M. Sugar Mills in place of another sugar mill namely Yadu Sugar Mill, Bisauli to which their cane purchase centre has been attached for the ongoing crushing season. In effect the petitioners have sought to raise a grievance against the orders declaring the reserved area and the assigned area of the two sugar mills in question.

18. In view of the foregoing discussion and taking into consideration the scheme for regulating the supply and purchase of sugarcane as per the provisions contained under the Act, 1953 and the Rules, 1954, it follows that an individual cane grower would not have the right to raise a challenge to the reservation or assignment of areas to sugar factories and the grievance, if any, in this regard would have to be espoused through the cane growers' co-operative society of the area in question.

19. In this regard we may refer to a judgment of this Court in Satnam Vs. State of U.P. & Ors. wherein a similar challenge sought to be raised by an individual cane grower in respect of reservation of cane areas was repelled and it was held as follows:-

"We are of the view that the petitioner even if he is representing some more farmers at village Undra does not have a right to maintain the writ petition as the Cane Commissioner or the State Government is not obliged to issue notice to all the farmers to ascertain their views. In order to pass orders for establishing Cane Centres, the Cane Commissioner is to consider the interest of majority of cane growers of the concerned Cane Cooperative Societies, and it is the Cane Cooperative Society, which may be treated to be aggrieved as it is representing all the sugarcane growers attached to the purchase centers set up by such society, to espouse the cause of its member cane growers before the Cane Commissioner, State Government or in the High Court."

20. Taking a similar view this Court in its judgment passed in the case in Dharam Veer Singh & Ors. Vs. State of U.P. & Ors. held that under Rule 22 of the Rules, 1954, the Cane Commissioner while passing an order of reservation of cane area is required to ascertain the view of the cane growers' co-operative society of the area and there is no requirement to issue notice to individual farmers or to ascertain their views. The observations made in the judgment are as follows:-

"We find no merit in this claim because under the relevant Rule-22 of the U.P. Sugarcane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) Rules, 1954, the Cane Commissioner while passing the initial order for reservation of cane area is required to ascertain the views of the Cane Growers Cooperative Society of the area. There is no requirement even at that stage to issue notice to individual farmers or ascertain their views. Hence there can be no such responsibility or liability upon the State Government while hearing the appeal under Section 15(4) of the Act to issue notice to individual farmers like the petitioners."

21. In a recent judgment of this Court in Harveer Singh & Ors. Vs. State of U.P. & 4 Ors. the aforementioned legal position has again been reiterated and it has been held that writ petition at the behest of an individual cane growers seeking to raise grievances with regard to reservation or assignment of cane areas is not maintainable and that their cause can be espoused only by the cane growers' co-operative society.

22. Having regard to the aforementioned facts and circumstances the position which emerges is that in terms of the provisions for under the Act, 1953 and the Rules, 1954 an elaborate mechanism is provided for reservation and assignment of cane areas to sugar factories in order to regulate the supply and purchase of sugarcane in their area. The factors which are taken into consideration include ascertaining the views of the cane growers' co-operative society of the area. The individual cane growers have therefore no right or locus standi to raise any challenge to reservation or assignment of cane areas in favour of a particular sugar factory and any grievance in this regard is to be espoused only through the cane growers' co-operative society which represents the cane growers of the area.

23. We are therefore not inclined to entertain the present writ petition which has been filed by the petitioners claiming to be sugarcane growers of the area in their individual capacities.

24. The writ petition is accordingly dismissed.

A. Nazul - defined - historic evolution - Article 296 of the Indian Constitution - power of State Government or Union of India to get ownership of land which will come to it by way of 'escheat', 'lapse' or 'bona vacantia' and not by way of acquisition of land under some Statute or purchase etc.

The 'Nazul' land forms the assets owned by State in trust for the people in general who are entitled for its user in the most fair and beneficial manner for their benefit. (Para 40)

B. Government Grants Act, 1985 - Section 2 and 3 - any grant or transfer of land or of any interest, as the case may be, excludes applicability of Transfer of Property Act, 1882, for all purposes - therefore, 'Grant' of a Nazul will be governed by terms and conditions contained in the instrument/deed of Grant, wholly unaffected by any Statute providing otherwise - Grant includes 'lease'.

After the U.P. Amendment Act, 1960, Section 2 and 3 got amalgamated in Section 2 of Government Grants (U.P. Amendment) Act, 1960. The intent, effect and declaration by legislature is almost pari materia with the only addition that in State of U.P., U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 are also excluded in the same manner as was done in respect of Transfer of Property Act, 1882. (Para 54)

Even though petitioner is an 'unauthorized occupant' but the provisions of U.P. Act, 1972 shall not be applicable based on the aforementioned reason.

The terms and conditions of the Indenture of Lease/Grant shows that the transfer of lease was clearly prohibited unless permission of Government i.e., the lessor or its Authorized agent i.e., Collector has been obtained. Therefore, the transfer and possession of land by M/s Amrit Bazar Patrika Pvt. Ltd. to M/s Allahabad Patrika Pvt. Ltd was wholly illegal as per the terms of the Grant as nothing is on record to suffice that the permission was obtained. (Para 76)

C. Limitation on Sub-Granting - any otherwise transfer by Sub-Grantor, of land subjected to Grant, will not confer any valid right or interest upon the person to whom Sub-Grantee had transferred property under 'Grant' in violation of stipulations contained in Grant.

It is a general principle of property laws, that a person can transfer only such rights and interest which he or she possesses and not beyond that. Therefore in light of the above principle, the Court observed that the transfer of any part of disputed land to petitioner-1 of WP2 founded on agreement dated 23.06.1995 executed between Directors of Allahabad Patrika Pvt. Ltd. and petitioner-1 of WP-2 is also of no consequence and legal sanction since none of the parties to the said agreement had any right or interest in law, over land in dispute. Lease having expired on 14.03.1962, all lease rights possessed by erstwhile Lessee came to an end, and thereafter when Lessee itself did not have any legal right or interest over property in dispute, others or so called transferees also cannot claim anything more than that. Further, any such invalid transfer can be construed as breach of terms of Grant and would empower the principal Grantor i.e., the State, owner of the property, to take steps including resumption/re-entry to the property under Grant, to itself, besides claiming damages, compensation, as the case may be, as law permits (Para 77, 78 & 79).

D. Doctrine of election - it is based on rule of estoppel - no party can accept and reject the same instrument.

The condition of resumption of land is part of contract between the parties and having accepted the same and contract has been carried out and completed its term, it order to wriggle out the rights, obligations and liabilities incurred and acquired thereunder, one of the parties cannot wriggle out by contending that one of the conditions of such agreement is bad. (Para 112)

E. Possession - its concept - kinds of possession - possession is not restricted to physical control - the nature of article and its attitudes and activities of other person determines whether a person is in possession of an article or not.

F. Transfer of Property Act, 1882 - Section 106 - once the lease stood determined by efflux of time(stand expired), there is no necessity to issue quit notice - status of lessee is that of 'tenant at sufferance' i.e., one who wrongfully continues in possession after extinction of lawful title - section 116 is not applicable.

G. Resumption of land - State is empowered to resume/re-enter Nazul land at any time, more so for public purpose.

Editor's note

Concisely, the disputed plot of land is a Nazul land, which during the Colonial times was leased out by the Crown to one William Rome for residential purposes. The lease of the disputed land was eventually sold to the petitioner of Writ petition-1 who obtained the permission to carry on business activities and registered its name in the Nazul Register. Meanwhile, the petitioner sub leased the land to its associate company and the closed its business unit in that premises. But it continued to be the lessee as per the Nazul Register. It is noteworthy that the lease was executed for 50 years i.e., valid till 14.03.1962 therefore the petitioner sought renewal which was rejected for flouting the terms and conditions of the lease deed. Aggrieved by the said rejection the instant writ petitions were filed.

The allocation of Nazul land by English Rulers used to be called "Grant". These lands were leased out at the whims of the Rulers either with or without any stipulations to those who were faithful to the foreign regime. Despite the enactment of Transfer of Property Act, 1882 for the regulation of immovable properties, the Rulers enacted Government Grants Act, 1895 (hereinafter referred as "Act of 1895") so as to exercise unfettered power to resume/forfeit the transferred property. Section 2 and 3 of the Act of 1895 declares that any grant or transfer of land or creation of any interest made by or in behalf of the Government, in favour of any person, on and after the enactment of Act of 1895 would not be governed by Transfer of Property Act of 1882. By way of U.P. Amendment Act, 1960, the State of U.P. in addition to the Act of 1882 (hereinafter referred as "Act of 1882"), excluded U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 in the same manner. This implies that the Grant of Nazul land will be governed by the terms and conditions contained in the instrument/deed of Grant, wholly unaffected by any Statute whatsoever. Grant includes lease therefore the terms and conditions agreed by the parties in the lease deed will be binding on them, notwithstanding any rule of law, statute or enactment of the Legislature to the contrary.

In other words, notwithstanding any Statute, the terms and conditions of the lease deed will govern the relationship between the parties. The parties had explicitly agreed not to transfer the leased property without prior permission of the Lessor (State) or its authorized agent (Collector). However, Krishna Chandra Mukherjee, to whom the disputed land was leased out by Anandi Prasad Dube, had sold the leased disputed Nazul land via sale deed to the petitioner. Neither Anandi Prasad Dube nor Krishna Chandra Mukherjee was the owner of the property and thus have no right over the said disputed land. The sale of the leased disputed land was without any authority therefore no right, title or ownership could be transferred to the transferee i.e., the petitioner. In property laws, it is said that a person can transfer only such rights and interest which he or she possesses and not beyond that. Since parties has to abide by the terms and conditions of the lease deed, therefore, at best the transferor could have transferred only lease rights which he himself possessed. Moreover, further transfer of any part of disputed land to petitioner-1 of W.P.-2 by the Directors of M/s Allahabad Patrika Pvt. Ltd. also does not find legal sanction as none of the parties had any right or interest in law over that disputed land. Transfer of land against the terms and conditions of the deed or beyond the right over the property makes such a transfer invalid and unenforceable in the eyes of law. The lease of the disputed Nazul land expired on 14.03.1962 with which all the lease rights possessed by erstwhile Lessee came to an end so the Lessee itself did not have any legal right or interest left over the disputed land.

Besides this, the Hon'ble Court has also observed that the petitioner has not obtained any permission from the Lessor i.e., the State to transfer the disputed land to the M/s Allahabad Patrika Pvt. Ltd (even though it was contented to be an associate company of the petitioner but the court has considered this transfer to be from one legal person to another as it is a separate legal entity). Therefore, the transfer by petitioner-1 of WP-1 is patently illegal and confers no right upon transferee, i.e., M/s Allahabad Patrika Pvt. Ltd. As far as petitioners of W.P.-2 are concerned, they are deriving their claim from M/s Allahabad Patrika Pvt. Ltd., they also have no right over the disputed land. Since the petitioners have lost their right over the disputed land, either on account of the violation of terms of the Grant or on transferring beyond their legal right, therefore question of renewal of the Grant does not arise at all.

The Grant deed empowers the Grantor i.e., the State (owner of the property) to take steps for resumption/re-entry to the property after cessation, determination or expiry of lease or on violation of the terms and conditions of the deed. In addition to the resumption, the State can also claim damages or compensation, as law permits. Further, the Court did not find any arbitrariness in the resumption clause as the State being the owner of the land can claim it back for public purpose. Also, resumption clause is part of the contract between the parties and having accepted the same and carried out the contract, the parties are restrained from questioning it. Section 35 of the Act of 1882 incorporates the doctrine of election which is based on the rule of estoppel. It postulates that where a party have accepted a contract as a whole and agreed to the terms and conditions, then subsequently it is not open for either of the parties to retain some or leave another. No party can accept and reject the same instrument. A party cannot say at one time that a transaction is valid and thereby obtain some advantage to which he could only be entitled on the condition that it is valid and then turn around and say that it is void for the purpose of securing some other advantage.

After consider the various jurisprudential aspects of possession, the Court held that the petitioner can be said to be in juridical possession of the disputed land, though admittedly unlawful and illegal. When the person is in possession, may not be legal, the recovery of possession by owner must be legal. After validating the resumption clause, the Court further observed that even if the petitioners are rank trespassor and in possession of land in dispute, the use of force for evicting them would not justified and without sanction of law.

Precisely, after the expiry of lease on 14.03.1962, the State (Lessor) is the actual owner of the disputed Nazul land. The status of lessee is of 'Tenant at Sufferance'; who entered into possession of a land validly in terms of lease deed but with the efflux of time or in other words, after expiry or determination of lease continue to hold the property. The status of the petitioner is even worst to that of the lessee. The petitioner-1 W.P.1 has no actual possession over land in dispute while possession of other petitioner is illegal. The right of re-entry exercised by the State is in terms of the lease-deed where under even the original lessee is obliged to surrender over possession to State.

6. Lease deed dated 12.5.1915 was to be construed as per the provisions of Government Grants Act, 1895 (hereinafter referred to as "GG Act, 1895"). Petitioner of W.P.-1 claimed that it did not have any clause permitting resumption of land for public purpose by lessor. Moreover, GG Act, 1895 was repealed by Repealing and Amending (Second) Act, 2017 (hereinafter referred to as "Repeal Act, 2017") notified on 05.01.2018.

7. Order dated 18.8.2018 has been challenged on the ground that there is no provision for re-entry/resumption in lease deed hence question of resumption does not arise, particularly when GG Act, 1895 has been repealed; State Government cannot forcibly evict a person from immovable property which is leased out to him, without following due procedure of law and reliance is placed on a Constitution Bench Judgment in Express Newspaper Pvt. Ltd. and others vs. Union of India and others, (1986) 1 SCC 133; Judgment and provisions relied by District Magistrate/ Collector, Allahabad in the impugned order are in respect of different land, which are not applicable to the land in dispute; Petitioner sent a letter dated 30.8.2018 after receiving resumption notice dated 18.8.2018 but no decision has been taken thereon; Impugned notice has been given after approval of resumption granted vide order dated 16.8.2018 by State Government which is in utter violation of Principles of Natural Justice i.e. without giving opportunity to petitioner; Writ petition filed by Lalji Pandey and five others i.e. Writ Petition No. 36210 of 2018, dismissed on 31.10.2018, would not affect rights of petitioner, inasmuch as, they were employees of Northern India Patrika Press, residing in the premises of petitioner i.e. disputed land and writ petition was dismissed on the ground that they could not establish any legal right in respect of land in dispute; Impugned notice has been issued to frustrate interim order passed by this Court in Writ Petition No. 44629 of 2005 and, therefore, is a gross abuse of process of law; impugned order has been passed without application of mind and on incorrect facts; the property in dispute is said to be required for public purpose i.e. to develop as a play ground; the area of land is only 3 acres and 45 sq. yards i.e. 12219 sq. meters, which is a very small area for developing as "Playground"; there already exists a big garden namely 'Alfred Park' within a radius of 300 meter, which is a huge vacant area for development as 'Playground' and there also exists a Cricket Stadium, which can be used for the said purpose; the grounds taken in the impugned notice with regard to alleged violation of condition of lease are same on which earlier order dated 09.5.2005 was passed and which is subject matter of challenge in Writ Petition No. 44629 of 2005, wherein an interim order has been passed but the same has been ignored while passing the impugned order; after repeal of GG Act, 1895, power of resumption under terms of lease, if any, read with provisions of GG Act, 1895 cannot be exercised by Government; Resumption clause, if any, is violative of Article 14 of Constitution of India; there are various other leases, period whereof has already expired but respondents have not chosen to resume such land and, therefore, notice in question is illegal having been passed by adopting pick and choose policy; when an objection is raised that land required for 'public purpose' is not suitable for particular purpose and no suitable areas are available, Executive Authorities are under an obligation to examine this aspect and thereafter take decision by a reasoned order; State may not execute freehold sale deed/ lease deed in respect of Nazul land under GG Act, 1895 but can execute freehold sale deed/ lease deed in respect of Nazul land under Article 299 of Constitution of India read with Transfer of Property Act, 1882 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1882") and Indian Contract Act, 1872 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1872"); petitioner has invested a huge amount in raising constructions etc. and cannot be deprived of benefit thereof by such illegal resumption; respondents cannot, merely by giving notice, forcibly re-enter the property in dispute and throw out petitioner from possession of land in dispute forcibly; and notice has been issued in a hurried manner without any force of law, hence, liable to be set aside.

8. On behalf of respondents 2 and 3, a counter affidavit has been filed which is sworn by Sri Gore Lal Shukla, Additional District Magistrate (Nazul), Allahabad wherein basic facts of execution of lease deed in respect of land in dispute initially on 01.3.1862 and thereafter on 12.5.1915 with effect from 15.3.1912 are not in dispute. It is said that after expiry of lease, State is entitled to re-enter upon property in dispute in terms of conditions of lease and provisions of GG Act, 1895.

9. Writ Petition No.40129 of 2018 (hereinafter referred to as "WP-2") has been filed by four petitioners namely Girdhar Gopal Gulati; his son Vinkesh Gulati; M/s United Automobiles through its Partner Vinkesh Gulati and Rishi Gulati; impleaded as petitioners 1 to 4. Dispute relates to Nazul Plot No.120-1/2, Civil Station, Allahabad, area 3 Acres 45

Sq. Yards, which also subject matter of WP-1.

10. Facts in brief, as stated in WP-2 is that Secretary of State of India in Council executed a lease-deed in favour of Sri William Rome on 01.03.1862 for a period of 100 years (i.e. 50 + 50) i.e. till 28.02.1962 for valuable consideration. The aforesaid lease was transferred in favour of "Anandi Prasad Dube" vide registered extension of lease, dated 12.05.2015, copy whereof has been filed as Annexure 2 to WP-2. Lessee transferred aforesaid lease to Sri Krishna Chandra Mukherjee and subsequently vide registered sale deed dated 23.03.1945, it was transferred in favour of M/s Amrita Bazar Patrika Pvt. Ltd. Vide letter dated 02.05.1951, Collector, Allahabad granted permission to M/s Amrit Bazar Patrika Pvt. Ltd. to use Nazul Site 120-1/2, Civil Station, Allahabad for press/business purpose. M/s Amrit Bazar Patrika Pvt. Ltd. established another associate Company namely M/s Allahabad Patrika Pvt. Ltd. having its registered office at Kolkata and it functioned as subsidiary and associate Company. An agreement dated 23.06.1995 was executed in favour of petitioner Girdhar Gopal Gulati in respect of a portion of building, situated over Nazul Site No.120-1/2, Civil Station, Allahabad. He got possession thereof in the capacity of tenant at the rate of Rs.7,500/- per month. A partnership firm M/s United Automobiles commenced its business thereon operating its showroom of Mahindra and Bajaj. In the meantime, as per best knowledge of petitioner of W.P. 2, M/s Amrit Bazar Patrika Pvt. Ltd. applied for renewal of lease vide application dated 14.10.1980, which was rejected by District Magistrate, Allahabad vide order dated 09.05.2005. This order was challenged in Writ Petition No.44629 of 2005 and this Court granted an interim order dated 07.06.2005. Now, District Magistrate has issued impugned order dated 18.08.2018 for resumption of land. Rest of the facts stated in writ petition challenging order dated 18.08.2018 raise similar grounds, as are taken in WP-1, therefore, we are not repeating the same. Respondents have also taken similar defence as has been taken in WP-1, therefore, the same is also not repeated.

11. We have heard Sri Aditya Bhushan, Advocate, holding brief of Sri Amit Kumar Upadhyay, Advocate, for petitioners in WP-1 and Sri Ashish Kumar Singh, Advocate, for petitioners in WP-2. Sri Ajit Kumar Singh, Additional Advocate General assisted by Sri Nimai Das and Sri Sudhanshu Srivastava, Additional Chief Standing Counsels for State of U.P. and its Authorities and Sri M.D.Singh 'Shekhar', Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Amit Verma appeared for Prayagraj Development Authority (hereinafter referred to as "PDA") have advanced their submissions in the both WP-1 as well as WP-2.

12. In the light of submissions advanced by learned counsel for petitioners, grounds mainly pressed, may be summerized as under:

i. There is no provision for resumption of land in lease-deed dated 12.05.2015.

ii. After repeal of GG Act, 1895, respondents could not have resorted to provision of said Act and therefore, impugned order is patently illegal.

iii. No opportunity was granted to petitioners before passing impugned order.

iv. Petitioners cannot be ousted forcibly and either respondents must file suit for recovery of possession, ejectment of petitioners, and recovery of compensation or should avail procedure prescribed under Uttar Pradesh Public Premises (Eviction of Unauthorised Occupants) Act, 1972 (hereinafter referred to as "U.P. Act, 1972").

v. There is no 'public purpose' involved justifying resumption of land in question.

vi. Order rejecting renewal of lease has been stayed by this Court and to frustrate the above writ petition, impugned order has been passed.

vii. Impugned order has been passed arbitrarily, without application of mind.

viii. Petitioners have invested huge amount in raising constructions and therefore, in the garb of resumption, they cannot be deprived of benefit of the same.

13. On behalf of respondents arguments are that land in question is Nazul, owned by State, terms and conditions of Grant, are governed by provisions of GG Act, 1895; rights/obligations etc. thereunder have been saved by Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017, hence State Government has power to resume/re-enter land in dispute for public purpose whenever it is so required and that is what has been done; principles of natural justice are not at all attracted; impugned order is nothing but a notice to petitioners and in any case, petitioners not only have violated provisions of conditions of lease-deed but petitioners in WP-2 are wholly unauthorised occupants, hence have no right over land in dispute and therefore, writ petitions are liable to be dismissed.

14. From the facts stated above and before proceeding further, we find it appropriate to place certain dates and events borne out from record, in a chronological manner for better understanding of dispute.

15. In the backdrop of aforesaid facts, we proceed to consider merits of writ petition and relief claimed by petitioners.

16. It is not in dispute that land in question is 'Nazul' but interestingly lease holder has sold out land by sale deed to third party and also it has been subjected to Will for its user ignoring Lessor and its authority altogether, hence, some serious questions have arisen in these matter.

17. The first question would be, "what is Nazul?"

18. Every land owned by State Government is not termed as 'Nazul' and therefore it has become necessary to understand, what is 'Nazul'.

19. State Government may own land by having acquired and vested in various ways, which includes vesting of land in the capacity of a Sovereign body and having right of bona vacantia. Property may also be acquired and owned by State by way of acquisition under the Statute relating to acquisition of land or by purchase through negotiation or gift by an individual or in similar other manners. All such land, which is owned and vested in State Government results in making the State, owner of such land, but in legal parlance, the term "Nazul" is not applicable to all such land.

20. It is only such land which is owned and vested in the State on account of its capacity of Sovereign, and application of right of bona vacantia, which is covered by the term 'Nazul', as the term is known for the last more than one and half century.

21. In Legal Glossary 1992, fifth edition, published by Legal Department of Government of India, at page 589, meaning of the term 'Nazul' has been given as 'Rajbhoomi, i.e., Government land'.

22. Nazul is an Arabic word. It refers to a land annexed to Crown. During British Regime, immoveable property of individuals, Zamindars, Nawabs and Rajas when confiscated for one or the other reason, it was termed as 'Nazul property'. The reason being that neither it was acquired nor purchased after making payment. In old record, when such land was referred in Urdu, this kind of land was shown as 'Jaidad Munzabta'.

23. For dealing with such property, under the authority of Lt. Governor of North Western Provinces, two orders were issued in October, 1846 and October, 1848. Therein, after the words "Nazul property", its english meaning was given as 'Escheats to the Government'. Sadar Board of Revenue on May 20, 1845 issued a circular order in reference to "Nazul land" and in para 2 thereof it mentioned, "The Government is the proprietor of those land and no valid title to them can be derived but from the Government". Nazul land was also termed as "Confiscated Estate". Under Circular dated July 13, 1859, issued by Government of North Western Provinces, every Commissioner was obliged to keep a final confiscation statement of each District and lay it before Government for orders.

24. Right of King to take property by 'escheat' or as 'bona vacantia' was recognized by common law of England. Escheat of property was Lord's right of re-entry on real property held by a tenant, dying intestate, without lawful heirs. It was an incident of Feudal Tenure and based on the want of a tenant to perform Feudal services. On the tenant dying intestate without leaving any lawful heir, his estate came to an end, and Lord, by his own right and not by way of succession or inheritance from the tenant, re-entered real property as Owner. In most cases, land escheated to Crown as the 'Lord Paramount', in view of gradual elimination of Intermediate or Mesne lords since 1290 AD. Crown takes as 'bona vacantia' goods in which no one else can claim property. In Dyke v. Walford 5 Moore PC 434= 496-13 ER 557 (580) it was said 'it is the right of the Crown to bona vacantia to property which has no other owner'. Right of the Crown to take as "bona vacantia" extends to personal property of every kind. The escheat of real property of an intestate dying without heirs was abolished in 1925 and Crown thereafter could not take such property as bona vacantia. The principle of acquisition of property by escheat, i.e., right of Government to take on property by 'escheat' or 'bona vacantia' for want of a rightful owner was enforced in Indian territory during the period of East India Company by virtue of Statute 16 and 17 Victoria, C. 95, section 27.

25. We may recollect, having gone through history, that prior to 1857, several Estates were taken over by British Company i.e. East India Company by way of annexation. Doctrine of lapse applied in Jhansi was another kind of above mentioned two principles.

26. The above provisions had continued by virtue of section 54 of Government of India Act, 1858, section 20(3)(iii) of Government of India Act, 1915 and section 174 of Government of India Act, 1935. After enactment of Constitution of independent India, Article 296 now continue above provision and says:

"Subject as hereinafter provided, any property in the territory of India which, if this Constitution had not come into operation, would have accrued to His Majesty or, as the case may be, to the Ruler of an Indian State by escheat or lapse, or as bona vacantia for want of a rightful owner, shall if it is property situate in a State, vest in such State, and shall, in any other case, vest in the Union."

(Emphasis added)

27. Article 296, therefore, has retained power of State to get ownership of such land, in respect whereof principle of 'escheat', 'lapse' or 'bona vacantia' would have been applicable prior to enforcement of Constitution of India. The above power continued to apply after enactment of Constitution with the only modification that if such land is situate within the territory of State Government, it will vest in State and in other cases, it will vest in Union of India. Vesting of land and giving ownership to State Government or Union of India under Article 296 is clearly in respect of a land, which will come to it by way of 'escheat', 'lapse' or 'bona vacantia' and not by way of acquisition of land under some Statute or purchase etc.

28. In Pierce Leslie and Co. Ltd. Vs. Miss Violet Ouchterlony Wapsnare, AIR 1969 SC 843, Court has considered the above principle in the context of 'Sovereign India' as stands under Constitution after independence, and, has observed :

"....in this country the Government takes by escheat immoveable as well as moveable property for want of an heir or successor. In this country escheat is not based on artificial rules of common law and is not an incident of feudal tenure. It is an incident of sovereignty and rests on the principle of ultimate ownership by the State of all property within its jurisdiction".

(Emphasis added)

29. Court also placed reliance on Collector of Masulipatam v. C. Vencata Narainapah 8 MIA 500, 525; Ranee Sonet Kowar v. Mirza Himmut Bahadoor (2) LR 3 IA 92, 101, Bombay Dyeing and Manufacturing Co. Ltd. v. State of Bombay [1958] SCR 1122, 1146, Superintendent and, Legal Remembrancer v. Corporation of Calcutta [1967] 2 SCR 170, 204.

30. Judicial Committee in Cook v. Sprigg (1899) AC 572 while discussing, 'what is an act of State', observed :

"The taking possession by Her Majesty, whether by cession or by any other means by which sovereignty can be acquired, was an act of State."

(Emphasis added)

31. This decision has been followed in Raja Rajinder Chand v. Mst. Sukhi, AIR 1957 SC 286.

32. In Nayak Vajesingji Joravarsingji v. Secretary of State for India in Council AIR 1924 PC 216, Lord Dunedin said :

"When a territory is acquired by a sovereign State for the first time, that is an act of State. It matters not how the acquisition has been brought about. It may be by conquest, it may be by cession following on treaty, it may be by occupation of territory hitherto unoccupied by a recognised ruler. In all cases the result is the same. Any inhabitant of the territory can make good in the municipal courts established by the new sovereign only such rights as that sovereign has, through his officers, recognised. Such rights as he had under the rule of predecessors avail him nothing."

(Emphasis added)

33. In Dalmia Dadri Cement Co. Ltd. v. CIT [1958] 34 ITR 514 (SC) : AIR 1958 SC 816, Court said (page 523 of 34 ITR) :

"The expression 'act of State' is, it is scarcely necessary to say, not limited to hostile action between rulers resulting in the occupation of territories. It includes all acquisitions of territory by a sovereign State for the first time, whether it be by conquest or cession."

(Emphasis added)

34. In Promod Chandra Deb v. State of Orissa AIR 1962 SC 1288, Court said, 'Act of State' is the taking over of sovereign powers by a State in respect of territory which was not till then a part of its territory, either by conquest, treaty or cession, or otherwise.

35. To the same effect was the view taken by a Constitution Bench in Amarsarjit Singh v. State of Punjab AIR 1962 SC 1305, where in para 12, Court said:

"It is settled law that conquest is not the only mode by which one State can acquire sovereignty over the territories belonging to another State, and that the same result can be achieved in any other mode which has the effect of establishing its sovereignty."

(Emphasis added)

36. In Thakur Amar Singhji v. State of Rajasthan AIR 1955 SC 504, in para 40, Court said :

*"The status of a person must be either that of a sovereign or a subject. There is no tedium quid. The law does not recognise an intermediate status of a person being partly a sovereign and partly a subject and when once it is admitted that the Bhomicharas had acknowledged the sovereignty of Jodhpur their status can only be that of a subject. A subject might occupy an exalted position and enjoy special privileges, but he is none the less a subject..."

(Emphasis added)

37. In State of Rajasthan vs. Sajjanlal Panjawat AIR 1975 SC 706 it was held that Rulers of the erstwhile Indian States exercised sovereign powers, legislative, executive and judicial. Their firmans were laws which could not have been challenged prior to the Constitution. Court relied on earlier decisions in Director of Endowments, Govt. of Hyderabad vs. Akram Ali, AIR 1956 SC 60, and Sarwarlal vs. State of Hyderabad, AIR 1960 SC 862.

38. In Promod Chandra Deb vs. State of Orissa AIR 1962 SC 1288 "act of the State" was explained in the following words :

'an "act of State" may be the taking over of sovereign powers either by conquest or by treaty or by cession or otherwise. It may have happened on a particular date by a public declaration or proclamation, or it may have been the result of a historical process spread over many years, and sovereign powers including the right to legislate in that territory and to administer it may be acquired without the territory itself merging in the new State.'

39. This decision has been followed later in Biswambhar Singh vs. State of Orissa 1964 (1) SCJ 364 wherein Court said:

*"16. Thus, a territory acquired by a sovereign State is an Act of State but the land comprising territory does not become the land owned by State. The land owned by State may come to it in various ways, like confiscation, purchase, escheat or bona vacantia, gift, etc. In such a case the ownership vests in State, like any other individual and State is free to deal with the same in a manner like any other owner may do so.

17. Thus 'Nazul' is a land vested in State for any reason whatsoever that is cession or escheat or bona vacantia, for want of rightful owner or for any other reasons and once land belong to State, it will be difficult to assume that State would acquire its own land. It is per se impermissible to acquire such land by forcible acquisition under Act, 1894, since there is no question of any transfer of ownership from one person to another but here State already own it, hence there is no question of any acquisition."

40. Thus the land in question which is admittedly 'Nazul', belonged to the category as discussed above i.e. it came to be vested and owned by State in its capacity of Sovereign and right of bona vacancia. When acquisition is made under the provisions of a Statute, purpose of acquisition is already known and State pay its price but when land is owned by State, which is Nazul, objective of use of such land is not predetermined but it can be utilized by State for larger public welfare and its benefit, as necessitated from time to time. In other words 'Nazul' land forms the assets owned by State in trust for the people in general who are entitled for its user in the most fair and beneficial manner for their benefit. State cannot be allowed to distribute such largesse by pick and choose manner or to some selected groups, or in a whimsical manner etc. The first question is answered accordingly.

41. The second question up for consideration is "lease in question whether governed by provision of Transfer of Property Act, 1882 (hereinafter referred to as "TP Act, 1882") or GG Act, 1895 and what is inter-relationship of the two?"

42. Historical documents, record as also authorities discussed above show that earlier Government i.e. East India Company upto 1858 and thereafter British Government used to allot "Nazul land" to various persons, who had shown their alliance to such Government in various ways, sometimes by deceiving their Indian counter parts who had raised voice against British Rule, or those who remained faithful to Foreign regime and helped them for their continuation in ruling this country and similar other reasons. Sometimes land was given on lease without any condition and sometimes restricted for certain period etc., but in every case, lease was given to those persons who were faithful and had shown complete alliance to British Rule. The reason was that in respect of Nazul, no predetermined objective was available as was the case in respect of land acquired by State by way of acquisition under Statute of Acquisition after paying compensation or purchase. Further allocation of Nazul land by English Rulers used to be called "Grant".

43. In other words, we can say that initially land owned by State used to be allotted in the form of 'Grant' by British Government. No specific statutory provisions were available to govern it. TP Act, 1882 was enacted to govern transfer of immovable property. Sections 10 - 12 of TP Act, 1882 made provisions invalidating, with certain exceptions, all conditions for forfeiture of transferred property on alienation by transferee and all limitations over consequence upon such alienation or any insolvency of or attempted alienation by him. Apprehending that above provisions of TP Act, 1882, may be construed as a fetter upon discretion of Crown in creation of inalienable Jagirs in 'Grants', acting upon advice that it would not be competent for Crown to create an inalienable and impartible Estate in the land comprised in the Crown Grant, unless such land has heretofore descended by custom as an impartible Raj, it was sought to make a separate Statute to give supremacy to the provisions contained in Crown's Grant, notwithstanding any other law including TP Act, 1882. With this object, i.e., 'GG Act 1895' was enacted.

44. Preamble of GG Act, 1895 gives purpose of its enactment stating that doubts have arisen to the extent and operation of TP Act, 1882 and to the power of Crown (later substituted by word "Government") to impose limitations and restrictions upon grants and other transfers of land made by it or under its authority, hence to remove such doubts, GG Act, 1895 was enacted.

45. Section 2 of GG Act, 1895, as it was initially enacted, read as under :

"2. Transfer of Property Act, 1882, not to apply to Government grants.- Nothing in the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, contained shall apply or be deemed ever to have applied to any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein heretoforce made or hereafter to be made by or on behalf of Her Majesty the Queen Empress, Her heirs or successors, or by or on behalf of the Secretary of State for India in Council to, or in favour of, any person whomsoever; but every such grant and transfer shall be construed and take effect as if the said Act had not been passed."
(Emphasis added)

46. The above provision was amended in 1937 and 1950. The amended provision read as under :

"2. Transfer of Property Act, 1882, not to apply to Government grants.- Nothing in the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, contained shall apply or be deemed ever to have applied to any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein heretoforce made or hereafter to be made by or on behalf of the Government to, or in favour of, any person whomsoever; but every such grant and transfer shall be construed and take effect as if the said Act had not been passed."
(Emphasis added)

47. Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 read as under :

3. Government grants to take effect according to their tenor.- All provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations over contained in any such grant or transfer as aforesaid shall be valid and the effect according to their tenor, any rule of law, statute or enactment of the Legislature to the contrary notwithstanding."

48. In the State of Uttar Pradesh, vide Government Grants (U.P. Amendment) Act, 1960 (U.P. Act No.XIII of 1960), Sections 2 and 3 of GG Act, 1895, were substituted by Section 2, as under :

"2. (1) Transfer of Property Act, 1882, not to apply to Government Grants.- Nothing contained in the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, shall apply or be deemed ever to have applied to any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein, heretoforce made or hereafter to be made, by or on behalf of the Government to or in favour of any person whomsoever; and every such grant and transfer shall be construed and take effect as if the said Act had not been passed."

(2) U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 not to affect certain leases made by or on behalf of the Government.- Nothing contained in the U.P. Tenancy Act, 1938, or the Agra Tenancy Act, 1926, shall affect, or be deemed to have ever affected any rights, created, conferred or granted, whether before or after the date of the passing of the Government Grants (U.P. Amendment) Act, 1960, by leases of land by, or on behalf of, the Government in favour of any person; and every such creation, conferment or grant shall be construed and take effect, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939, or the Agra Tenancy Act, 1926.

(3) Certain leases made by or on behalf of the Government to take effect according to their tenor.- All provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations contained in any such creation, conferment or grant referred to in Section 2, shall be valid and take effect according to their tenor, any decree or direction of a court of law or any rule of law, statute or enactment of the Legislature, to the contrary notwithstanding :

Provided that nothing in this section shall prevent, or be deemed ever to have prevented, the effect of any enactment relating to the acquisition of property, land reforms or the imposition of ceiling on agricultural land."

(Emphasis added)

49. A perusal of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 shows two things :

i. A declaration is made that any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein, made by or on behalf of Government, in favour of any person, on and after enactment of GG Act, 1895, would not be governed by provisions of TP Act, 1882 i.e. nothing contained in TP Act, 1882 shall apply to such Grant, transfer or interest.

ii. A clarification that a Grant or Transfer, referred to in Section 2, when is to be construed and given effect, it shall be done in such manner and by treating as if TP Act, 1882 has not been passed.

50. Thus GG Act, 1895 in fact was a declaratory statute. The first declaration is in respect of Grant or transfer of land or creation of any interest, as the case may be, to exclude TP Act, 1882 for all purposes. Second part of Section 2 clarified that while construing and giving effect to a Grant or Transfer, referred to in Section 2, it will be presumed that TP Act, 1882 has not been passed at all.

51. In Section 2(1) of GG Act, 1895, as amended in Uttar Pradesh, we do not find any distinction vis a vis what has been said in Section 2 of GG Act, 1895. There is an addition in GG Act, 1895 in its application to Uttar Pradesh, by inserting sub-section (2) in Section 2, a provision in respect of U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 also, making a similar declaration, as made in sub section (1) in respect of TP Act, 1882.

52. Sub-section (3) of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 protects certain leases, already made, declaring the same to be valid in the light of insertion of sub-section(1) of Section 2 in the State of Uttar Pradesh and that is why, notwithstanding any decree or direction of Court of law, leases already made, were validated, which otherwise might have been affected by U.P. Tenancy Act, 1938 or Agra Tenancy Act, 1926.

53. Proviso to sub-section (3) of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 further declares that all provisions of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 will have no effect when land is sought to be acquired under the provisions of Statute relating to acquisition or for giving effect to a Statute relating to land reforms or imposition of ceiling on agricultural land.

54. Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 is not available in State of U.P. after U.P. Amendment Act, 1960 since Sections 2 and 3 of Principal Act virtually got amalgamated in the form of Section 2, by Government Grants (U.P. Amendment) Act, 1960. However, intent, effect and declaration by legislature is almost pari materia with the only addition that in State of U.P., U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 are also excluded in the same manner as was done in respect of TP Act, 1882.

55. Sections 2 and 3 of GG Act, 1895 were considered in State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad, 1973(2) SCC 547 and in para 16, Court said :

*"Section 3 of the Government Grants Act declares the unfettered discretion of the Government to impose such conditions and limitations as it thinks fit, no matter what the general law of the land be. The meaning of Sections 2 and 3 of the Government Grants is that the scope of that Act is not limited to affecting the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act only. The Government has unfettered discretion to impose any conditions, limitations, or restrictions in its grants, and the right, privileges and obligations of the grantee would be regulated according to the terms of the grant, notwithstanding any provisions of any statutory or common law."

(Emphasis added)

56. Again in Hajee S.V.M. Mohamed Jamaludeen Bros. & Co. vs. Government of Tamil Nadu (1997) 3 SCC 466, Court said that combined effect of two sections of GG Act, 1895 is that terms of any Grant or terms of any transfer of land made by a Government would stand insulated from tentacles of any statutory law. Section 3 places terms of such Grant beyond reach of restrictive provision contained in any enacted law or even equitable principles of justice, equity and good conscience adumbrated by common law, if such principles are inconsistent with such terms. Court said :

*"The two provisions are so framed as to confer unfettered discretion on the government to enforce any condition or limitation or restriction in all types of grants made by the government to any person. In other words, the rights, privileges and obligations of any grantee of the government would be completely regulated by the terms of the grant, even if such terms are inconsistent with the provisions of any other law."
(Emphasis added)

57. In Azim Ahmad Kazmi and others vs. State of U.P. and Another (2012) 7 SCC 278 observations made in para 16 in State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad (supra) have been reproduced and followed.

58. In State of U.P. and others vs. United Bank of India and others (2016) 2 SCC 757, in para 30 of the judgment, Court said :

*"Indisputably, the lease of nazul land is governed by the Government Grants Act, 1895. Sections 2 and 3 of the Government Grants Act, 1895 very specifically provide that the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act do not apply to government lands ….."
(Emphasis added)

59. Thus, a 'Grant' of a Nazul will be governed by terms and conditions contained in the instrument/deed of Grant, wholly unaffected by any Statute providing otherwise.

60. It neither can be doubted nor actually so urged by petitioners that the lease granted in the case in hand is/was a 'Grant' governed by GG Act, 1895.

61. Broadly, 'Grant' includes 'lease'. In other words, where 'Nazul' is let out to a person by Government under agreement of lease i.e. Grant, it is governed by GG Act, 1895 and rights of parties, therefore, have to be seen in the light of stipulations contained in the document of 'Grant'.

'Grant' includes a property transferred on lease though in some cases, 'Grant' may result in wider interest i.e. transfer of title etc. Whatever may be nature of document of transfer i.e. instrument of 'Grant', the fact remains that terms and conditions of 'Grant' shall be governed by such document and it shall prevail over any other law including TP Act 1882. One cannot take resort to TP Act, 1882 to wriggle out of any condition or limitation etc. imposed in terms of document of 'Grant'.

62. In the State of Uttar Pradesh, management of 'Nazul', in absence of statutory provisions, is governed by various administrative orders compiled in a Manual called "Nazul Manual". Here Government has made provisions of management of 'Nazul' through its own authorities namely District Magistrate or Commissioner, or, in some cases, through local bodies.

63. Nature of orders compiled in "Nazul Manual" in the context of 'Nazul' have been considered recently in State of U.P. vs. United Bank of India (supra) where Court has said that land and building in question is "Nazul" being property of Government, maintained by State authorities in accordance with 'Nazul Rules' but not administered as a 'State property'. Court has also observed that lease of "Nazul" land is governed in accordance with GG Act, 1895. Sections 2 and 3 thereto very specifically provide that provisions of TP Act, 1882 do not apply to Government land. Section 3 says that all provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations contained in any such 'Grant' or 'Transfer', as aforesaid, shall be valid and take effect according to their tenor, any rule of law statute or enactment of the Legislature to the contrary, notwithstanding. Thus stipulations in "lease deed" shall prevail and govern the entire relation of State Government and lessee.

64. In Pradeep Oil Corporation vs. Municipal Corporation of Delhi and others (2011) 5 SCC 270, Court said that GG Act, 1895 is a special Statute and will prevail over general Statute i.e. TP Act, 1882. It says:

*"In the present case grant has been made by the President of India in terms of Section 2 of the Government Grants Act, 1895 and the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 may have little bearing in the instant case. The former, i.e. the Government Grants Act, 1895 being a special statute would prevail over the general statute, i.e. the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. Accordingly, the rights and obligations of the parties would be governed by the terms of the provisions of Government Grants Act, 1895 whereunder the Government is entitled to impose limitations and restrictions upon the grants and other transfer made by it or under its authority."

(Emphasis added)

65. Superiority of the stipulations of Grant to deal the relations between Grantor and Grantee has been reinforced in Azim Ahmad Kazmi and others (Supra). Therein dispute related to Plot No. 59, Civil Station, Allahabad, area 1 acre and 4272 sq. yard, i.e., 9112 sq. yard or 7618 sq. meter. Initially a lease deed was executed on 11.01.1868 by Secretary of State for India in Council, in favour of one, Thomas Crowby, for a period of 50 years and it was signed by Commissioner,

Allahabad Division on behalf of Secretary of State for India in Council. After expiry of lease, a fresh lease was executed for another period of 50 years on 12.04.1923 w.e.f. 01.01.1918. Lease holder with permission of Collector, Allahabad transferred lease rights to Purshottam Das in 1945. The legal heirs of Sri Purshottam Das, on 31.10.1958, transferred leasehold rights in favour of Smt. Shakira Khatoon Kazmi, Smt. Sabira Khatoon Kazmi and Smt. Maimoona Khatoon Kazmi. After the death of Smt. Maimoona Khatoon Kazmi, her legal heirs, namely, Azim Ahmad Kazmi, Omar Ahmad Kazmi, Shamim Ahmad Kazmi, Alim Ahmad Kazmi and Maaz Ahmad Kazmi also claimed lease rights by succession. Lease granted on 12.04.1923 w.e.f. 01.01.1918 expired on 31.12.1967. It was renewed on 19.03.1996 for a period of 30 years w.e.f. 01.01.1968 which period expired on 31.12.1997. Again on 17.07.1998 it was renewed for a further period of 30 years w.e.f. 01.01.1998. While lease was continuing, vide Government Order dated 15.12.2000, right of resumption was exercised by State Government. It directed resumption of possession of plot in question and lease deed was cancelled. District Magistrate, Allahabad served a notice dated 11.01.2001 to lease holders intimating them that State Government's order dated 15.12.2000 has cancelled lease and resumed possession of land in question, as the same was required for public purpose. Notice also directed lease holders to remove structures standing on plot, failing which possession would be taken in accordance with Clause 3(c) of lease deed. Lease holders filed objections against notice to District Magistrate and also stated that they have sent representation/ objection to Chief Minister praying for revocation of Government Order dated 15.12.2000. District Magistrate passed order on 24.08.2001 rejecting objection of lease holders and sent a cheque of Rs. 10 lacs representing compensation for the building standing over plot. State authorities claimed that they took possession of open land on 01.09.2001. Lease holders filed writ petition which was dismissed vide judgment dated 07.12.2001, Shakira Khatoon Kazmi vs. State of U.P., AIR 2002 All 101. Lease holders challenged judgment dated 07.12.2001 in Supreme Court to the extent they failed. State Government filed appeal against part of order of this Court wherein an observation was made that State Government is not entitled to take forcible possession though it may take possession of demised premises in accordance with procedure established by law. After considering Clause 3(c) of lease deed which provides for resumption of land for public purpose after giving a month's clear notice to lessee to remove any building standing at the time on demised premises and within two months of receipt of notice, to take possession thereof on expiry of that period, and Sections 2 and 3 of GG Act, 1895, Court said that Clause 3(c) of lease deed confers power upon State Government that plot in question, if required by Government for its own purpose or for any public purpose, it shall have the right to give one month's notice in writing to lessees to remove any building standing on the plot and to take possession thereof on expiry of two months from the date of service of notice. Court said that land, if required for any public purpose, State Government has absolute power to resume leased property. Under the terms of Grant, it is absolute, therefore, order of resumption is perfectly valid and cannot be said to be illegal. It also refers to an earlier instance where Nazul Plot No. 13, Civil Station, Allahabad situate in Civil Lines area was resumed by State Government for the purpose of construction of a 'Bus Stand' by exercising similar power, without initiating any proceeding under Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (hereinafter referred to as "L.A. Act, 1894"). Resumption in that case was challenged in Writ Petition No. 44517 of 1998, Sayed Shah Khursheed Ahmad Kashmi vs. State of U.P. and said writ petition was dismissed on 16.12.1999 by a Division Bench of this Court, whereagainst Special Leave Petition No. 4329 of 2000 was dismissed by Supreme Court on 07.09.2001. First question, therefore, was answered in negative and in favour of Government.

66. With respect to procedure for taking possession, Supreme Court, while considering Question-2, said that in absence of any specific law, State Government may take possession by filing a suit. When a land is acquired under L.A. Act, 1894, Government can take possession in accordance with provisions of said Act and in case of urgency, Collector can take possession after publication of notice under Section 9 and no separate procedure is required to be followed. Court said that similarly where a lease has been granted under the terms of GG Act, 1895, then what procedure has to be followed is provided by Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 which says that all provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations contained in any such creation, conferment or Grant referred to in Section 2, shall be valid and take effect according to their tenor; any decree or direction of a Court of Law or any rule of law, statute or enactments of the Legislature, to the contrary notwithstanding. Court relied on its earlier judgment in State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad, 1973(2) SCC 547 holding that Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 declares unfettered discretion of Government to impose such conditions and limitation as it thinks fit, no matter what the general law of land be. Then Court construing Clause 3(C) of lease deed said that it provides procedure for taking possession of demised premises when State Government re-enter or resume possession of demised land. Court in para 30 and 32 of judgment said:

"30. In the case of The State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad and Another, 1973(2) SCC 547, this Court held that the Section 3 of the Act declares the unfettered discretion of the Government to impose such conditions and limitation as it thinks fit, no matter what the general law of land be. From Clause 3(C) of the deed, it is clear that the State of U.P. while granting lease made it clear that if the demised premises are at any time required by the lessor for his or for any public purpose, he shall have the right to give one month's clear notice to the lessee to remove any building standing at the time of the demised property and within two months' of the receipt of the notice to take possession thereof on the expiry of that period subject to the condition that the lessor is willing to purchase the property on the demised premises, the lessee shall be paid for such amount as may be determined by the Secretary to the Government of U.P. in the Nagar Awas Department."

"32. Under Clause 3(C) of the lease deed, the respondent-State was permitted resumption of the land which required for its own use or for public purpose and after giving one month's clear notice in writing is entitled to remove any building standing at the time on the demised premises and within two months of the receipt of the notice to take possession thereof subject to the condition that if the lessor is willing to purchase the building of the demised premises required to pay the lessee the amount for such building as may be determined by the Secretary to Government of U.P. in the Nagar Awas Department...."

(Emphasis added)

67. Having said so, Court said :

"we are of the view that there is no other procedure or law required to be followed, as a special procedure for resumption of land has been laid down under the lease deed".

(Emphasis added)

68. Supreme Court then set aside direction of this Court that State will not take possession forcibly except in accordance with procedure established by any other law, holding that since special procedure for resumption is prescribed under lease deed, no direction otherwise could have been issued to State Government.

69. The above discussion makes it clear that 'Nazul' is a land owned and vested in State. It is such land which has vested in State by virtue of its 'Sovereignty' and incidence of 'Sovereignty' i.e. annexation, lapse and bona vacantia. Further, 'Grant' means transfer of property by a deed in writing and includes within its ambit, an instrument of lease/lease deed. Such 'Grant' is governed by provision of GG Act, 1895, which were applicable to 'Grants' executed on and after enforcement of GG Act, 1895 and rights and entitlement of private parties in respect of land, which was transferred under such 'Grant' would be governed by terms and conditions contained in such 'Grant' and not by provisions of TP Act, 1882 or any other Statute. The terms and conditions of 'Grant' shall override any statute providing otherwise. Moreover, in State of U.P., wherever applicable, U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 will also be inapplicable to such 'Grant'.

70. Above discussion, therefore, leaves no manner of doubt that Grant/Lease of Nazul land shall be exclusively governed by stipulations/conditions/terms contained in Grant/Indenture of Lease and no Statute can be resorted to govern rights of parties over Nazul land, which will be governed by aforesaid Grant/Indenture of Lease. Second question is answered accordingly.

71. The third question is, "Whether Lessee can transfer Nazul land itself to anyone or transfer, if any, made will result only transfer of lease rights or land itself; and, if transfer is not made in accordance with conditions of Indenture of Lease/Grant, what will be its effect and whether it will confer any valid right or interest on Nazul land, subjected to transfer, upon such Transferree?"

72. We have reproduced contents of lease deed constituting terms and conditions to govern land in dispute. In almost every aspect, some restrictions on exercise of lease rights over Nazul land were imposed by Grantor/Lessor i.e. State. Some such instances are :

(i) Without permission, no erection etc. of building etc., except what was already existing and raised in accordance with map, made part of lease deed dated 01.03.1862 and 12.05.1915, was permissible.

(ii) Without permission, no growing of any crop or keeping of horses, cattle or other animals for hire or profit is permissible.

(iii) Without permission, no construction of any thatched or covered with grass reeds or other inflammable material etc was permissible.

(iv) At the end of tenure of lease or termination at will or determination, Lessee would peacefully and quietly leave, surrender and yield to the Lessor, the land together with all such erection etc., as were existing, if so desired by Lessor for taking over such erection etc. for valuation but if it is not desired of taking such erection etc., then the same shall be removed by Lessee within such time, as directed by Lessor.

(v) No compensation was claimable by Lessee or his assign etc. for any building etc. in case lease is determined by re-entry for forfeiture and building etc. shall absolutely rest in Lessor as his own property.

(vi) Lessee or his agents shall not assign or underlet or otherwise part with the possession of the premises or any part thereof without permission of Secretary of State or his authorized person.

(vii) Any transfer without prior permission will cause lease-deed, ceased and determined, but without prejudice however to the right or action of Lessor in respect or on account of any previous breach of any covenant or covenants.

(viii) If Government, at any time require to re-enter on site, it can do so on, on paying value of all buildings that may be on the site, plus 10 per cent for recompense for resumption of lease and Lessee shall have no further claim of any sort against the Lessor. If building etc. is not taken by Lessor, it has to be removed by Lessee.

73. Above conditions show that any transfer by Lessee in any manner without prior permission of Lessor i.e. Government or its Authorized Agent will result in determination of lease without any further notice. Meaning thereby, transfer of lease was clearly prohibited under terms of lease unless permission of Government has been obtained.

74. In the present case, lease was executed on 12.05.1915 w.e.f 15.03.1915 in favour of Anandi Prasad Dube wherefrom it was transferred to Krishna Chandra Mukherjee and then to M/s Amrit Bazar Patrika Pvt. Ltd. through sale deed dated 23.03.1945. The land, obviously was not owned either by Anandi Prasad Dube or his transferree Krishna Chandra Mukherjee. Therefore, sale deed could not have resulted in conferment or transfer of ownership or title over land in dispute, upon transferee. At the best, aforesaid transfer by sale deed would have confined to transfer of lease rights on land and title over constructions/buildings, if any, existing at that point over land in dispute. Transfer of land however has to abide by terms and conditions of lease deed dated 12.05.1915.

75. M/s Amrit Bazar Patrika Pvt. Ltd., Allahabad closed its business, as admitted by its representative in reply dated 28.05.1999 in 1959. It also admitted that thereafter land in dispute was given in possession of M/s Allahabad Patrika Pvt. Ltd. Though it is said that M/s Allahabad Patrika Pvt. Ltd. is an Associate Company of M/s Amrit Bazar Patrika Pvt. Ltd. but no material in this regard has been shown or placed on record in both these writ petitions. Even otherwise, the two are independent Companies. Both the Companies were incorporated and registered separately. Both are independent legal person. Lease was transferred by M/s Amrit Bazar Patrika Pvt. Ltd., which is an independent legal person and incorporated under the Provision of Indian Companies Act, 1913 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1913"). M/s Allahabad Patrika Pvt. Ltd. is also a Company registered and incorporated under Act, 1913 and a separate legal personality. Therefore, transfer and possession of land by M/s Amrit Bazar Patrika Pvt. Ltd. to M/s Allahabad Patrika Pvt. Ltd. amounts to transfer from one legal person to another. However before such transfer, no permission of Lessor i.e. State Government or its authorized agent i.e. Collector was obtained. There was clear bar in lease-deed and relevant clause we have already quoted and at the pain of repetition, we reproduce herein also:

"...the said Lessee his Executors, Administrators or Assigns or underlet of otherwise part with the possession of the said premises or any part thereof without the permission of the said secretary of State his Successors or Assign"

(Emphasis added)

76. There is nothing on record and no claim has been made that such transfer was made with permission of State or its authorities. Therefore, transfer of disputed land by M/s Amrit Bazar Patrika Pvt. Ltd. to M/s Allahabad Patrika Pvt. Ltd. was wholly illegal and in the teeth of the terms of Grant. Effect of such transfer has been considered in State of U.P. and others vs. United Bank of India and others (supra). Court has held that any transfer without sanction of Lessor will be invalid and would not confer any valid right upon Transferee. In paras 39 and 40 of judgment, Court said :

"39. This "within written lease" is the original lease deed as mentioned in the Form 2 of the Nazul Manual. Form 2 of lease of Nazul land for building purposes it is one of the condition between the lessor and the lessee that " the lessee will not in any way transfer or sublet the demised premises or buildings erected thereon without the previous sanction in writing of the lessor".

40. In the present case there was nothing on the record to show that the lessee i.e. (ABP) has obtained any written sanction from the lessor i.e. Government before mortgaging his leasehold interest in the Nazul Land. Meaning thereby the mortgage done by the lessee in favour of the Bank itself is bad in law, which was done in clear violation of the terms of the lease deed i.e. mortgage of the Nazul land without previous sanction in writing of the State."

(Emphasis added)

77. Further transfer of any part of disputed land to petitioner-1 of WP-2 founded on agreement dated 23.06.1995 executed between Directors of Allahabad Patrika Pvt. Ltd. and petitioner-1 of WP-2 is also of no consequence and legal sanction since none of the parties to the said agreement had any right or interest in law, over land in dispute. Lease having expired on 14.03.1962, all lease rights possessed by erstwhile Lessee came to an end, and thereafter when Lessee itself did not have any legal right or interest over property in dispute, others or so called transferrees also cannot claim anything more than that.

78. Here, we remind ourselves with the principle that a person can transfer only such rights and interest which he or she possesses and not beyond that. If a Sub-Grantor did not possess any right of transfer or such right is subject to any restriction, like prior permission of owner etc., it means that Sub-Grantor himself has no right of transfer and/or his right is restricted in a particular manner and such restriction is to be observed in words and spirit to validate a transfer, else transfer being illegal, will not result in bestowing any legal right upon Transferee. In other words, any otherwise transfer by Sub-Grantor, of land subjected to Grant, will not confer any valid right or interest upon the person to whom Sub Grantee had transferred property under 'Grant' in violation of stipulations contained in Grant.

79. In Delhi Development Authority Vs. Anant Raj Agencies Pvt. Ltd. (2016) 11 SCC 406 Court said :

"It is well settled position of law that the person having no right, title or interest in the property cannot transfer the same by way of sale deed."

80. Further, any such invalid transfer can also be construed as breach of terms of Grant and would empower and enable principal Grantor i.e. State, owner of property, to take such steps including resumption/re-entry to the property under Grant, to itself, besides claiming damages, compensation, as the case may be, as law permits.

81. We need not go into question whether order passed by District Magistrate on 09.05.2005 is correct or not since it is subject matter of dispute in another writ petition but for our purpose, suffice it to mention that State Government, owner of land has a right vested in lease deed to re-enter and resume land after cessation, determination or expiry of lease. Such right is not deterred, diluted or stand deprived at any point of time, in any manner, particularly due to any illegal act of Grantee.

82. Here we may again refer to judgment in State of U.P. vs. United Bank of India (supra), which was a case in which petitioner-1 of WP-1 was also a party in relation of Bungalow no.19, Clive Road, Allahabad, lease whereof was transferred by original Lessee to petitioner-1 of WP-1 on 22.10.1945 by registered sale deed. Petitioner-1 of WP-1 in respect of some business transaction (loan/advances) mortgaged aforesaid leasehold property by deposit of title deeds to United Bank of India. Castigating the same, Supreme Court held it patently illegal and conferring no right upon Bank. In para 35 of judgment, Court said that petitioner-1 of WP-1 mortgaged Nazul land in favour of Bank and since it had no leasehold interest in the property, nothing more could have been mortgaged to Bank. Moreover, since under lease-deed, no transfer without permission of Lessor was permissible, hence, transfer in favour of Bank was in violation of terms of lease deed and mortgage was bad in law. In Para 40 of judgment, Court said as under :

"In the present case there was nothing on the record to show that the lessee i.e. (ABP) has obtained any written sanction from the lessor i.e. Government before mortgaging his leasehold interest in the Nazul Land. Meaning thereby the mortgage done by the lessee in favour of the Bank itself is bad in law, which was done in clear violation of the terms of the lease deed i.e. mortgage of the Nazul land without previous sanction in writing of the State." (Emphasis added)

83. Similar observations are reiterated in para 41. In operative part of judgment, in para 48.5, Court has said:

"The mortgage so created by the Company in favour of the Bank in respect of nazul land without the sanction of the State of Uttar Pradesh in terms of the lease, is ab initio void, hence no right was created in favour of the Bank by reason of the said mortgage."
(Emphasis added)

84. Therefore, aforesaid transfer by petitioner-1 of W.P. 1 was patently illegal and confers no right upon Transferree i.e. Allahabad Patrika (P) Ltd. Since petitioners of W.P. 2 are deriving their claim from Allahabad Patrika (P) Ltd., they also had no right over land in dispute. Third question, therefore is answered against petitioners.

85. The forth question is, "whether petitioners of W.P. 1 were entitled for renewal of lease in view of judgment in Purshottam Dass Tandon and others vs, State of U.P. And others, AIR 1987 All 56, whereupon heavy reliance has been placed.

86. Submission is that possession has continued with petitioners and petitioner-1 of WP-1 itself applied for renewal of lease on 14.10.1980, therefore, it was entitled for renewal of lease in view of judgment rendered in Purshottam Dass Tandon and others vs, State of U.P. And others (supra). This requires us to examine aforesiad judgment in detail.

87. In Purshottam Dass Tandon and others vs, State of U.P. And others, (supra) question of renewal of lease came up for consideration in the light of Government Orders dated 23.4.1959, 02.07.1960 and 03.12.1965. Therein historical backdrop of various Government Orders dealing with policy of renewal of lease has been given in detail. The first G.O. was issued in March, 1958 whereby Chief Minister directed that case for renewal of leases may be taken individually and possession may be taken only if lessee surrender or lease stood terminated in absence of any request from lessee for grant of fresh lease. Thereafter, on 23.04.1959, a G.O. was issued to grant fresh lease in cases where lease has already expired but has not been renewed so far, or which is likely to expire within the next 5 or 6 years, on the terms and conditions given in the said G.O. The proposed premium in the said G.O. was objected by Lease Holders, whose leases were already expired or likely to expire. Several representations were sent to Government. Some house-owners met the then Prime Minister Late Pt. Jawahar Lal Nehru, who had visited Allahabad in November or December, 1959. It resulted in issue of G.O. dated 07.07.1960 whereby rate of premium on first three acres was reduced to Rs.2,000/- in each slab. It also permitted payment of premium in five instalments and reduced ground rent to Rs.100/- per acre. In the earlier G.O., there was an insistence on construction of Community latrines till sewer lines were laid but this insistence was given up in G.O. dated 07.07.1960. Lessees were granted further three months' time to get leases renewed. Still lease-holders did not comply and made representations to Government. On 21.03.1963, again a G.O. was issued declaring rates of premium for commercial sites. On 3.12.1965 a G.O. was issued indicating terms and conditions for renewal of leases for commercial and residential purposes and it was said that rates of premium and annual rent shall be as fixed by G.O. dated 07.07.1960. Payment in five equal yearly instalments was continued but in special cases, Commissioner, Allahabad Division, Allahabad, was authorized to make recommendations to Government for enhancing number of instalments. This G.O. further insisted for renewal of existing leases on payment of at least one instalment, within one month of receipt of intimation by Lessee from Collector, or within three months of the date of expiry of lease, whichever is earlier. Deposit was to be deemed to be proper step on the part of Lessee to get a fresh lease executed by the Lessor. The G.O. of 1965 itself made a distinction between those whose leases had expired and others by describing them as sitting and existing lessees.

88. There was a second phase which covered period from 1966 to 1981. On 16.02.1966, U.P. Awas Vikas Parishad Adhiniyam, 1965 (hereinafter referred to as "U.P.Act, 1965") was enacted for providing housing sites and construction of building. G.O. dated 03.12.1965, thus was modified by G.O. dated 04.11.1968, and it was directed that leases of joint lessees should be renewed as far as possible for one acre only. Sub-division was permitted only where sub-divided plot was not less than 800 sq. yards. Concession in payment of lease money and ground rent was allowed on same terms and conditions as it was in G.O. dated 03.12.1965 but time was extended for payment of first instalment for those who had not received any intimation from Collector by a further period of one month from the date of intimation by Collector. Clause (c) of G.O. dated 04.11.1968 categorically said, where steps have been taken for renewal of leases, as stated in earlier G.Os., fresh leases shall be sanctioned according to terms offered by Competent Authority.

89. In March, 1970, a G.O. was issued banning grant of renewal of leases all over the State, since Government was contemplating to bring out legislation on Urban Ceiling. This ban was lifted on 12.01.1972 but leases henceforth were to be sanctioned by State Government only. Commissioner and Collector could make recommendations only. Aforesaid G.O., however, provided that in all those cases where Government had sanctioned grant of leases but it could not be executed or registered because of ban imposed in 1970, steps may be taken immediately for execution. Clause (ii) of G.O. provided that all those cases in which Collector or Commissioner had approved renewal but it could not be executed because of 1970 order, should be sent to Government immediately for acceptance. On 09.05.1972 Urban Building Ceiling Bill was introduced and on 11.07.1972 Uttar Pradesh Ceiling of Property (Temporary Restriction on Transfer), Ordinance, 1972 was promulgated in pursuance of Article 398 of Constitution of India. The Ordinance continued till it was replaced by Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 (hereinafter referred to as "U.P. Act, 1976"). The said Act was enacted to prevent concentration of Urban Property and discourage construction of luxurious houses. On 19.12.1972, provisions pertaining to Nazul were amended providing for maximum area permissible for renewal of leases of 2000 sq. yards plus land on which building was constructed. Remaining area was to be surrendered to Housing Board and Lessees were prohibited from sub-dividing or transferring any land. On 10.12.1976, Government issued an order superseding all previous orders in respect of renewal of leases of Civil Lines, Allahabad in view of Act, 1976 and laid down fresh terms and conditions for renewal of leases.

90. Here leases were to be renewed in the light of Sections 2 and 4 of U.P. Act, 1976 and while doing so, all residents in one house were to be treated as one unit. This again resulted in representations of Lease-Holders to Government requesting for reduction in rate of premium and ground rent. A G.O. was issued on 17.09.1979 superseding all previous orders and it provided for submission of details about extent and type of construction, utilisation of vacant land etc. Again representations were made which culminated in G.O. dated 19.04.1981, which superseded all previous Orders and provided for renewal of leases on fresh and new terms. It is said that Leaseholders and their heirs shall be treated as one Unit. They were supposed to file details about land, constructed area, its user, time when it was taken on lease etc. before 30.06.1981. List of residents including out-houses dwellers was to be prepared by District Magistrate. Heirs of deceased lease-holders were to be treated as one unit. Area for which renewal could be made was reduced to building with 500 sq. metre of land appurtenant and 500 sq. metre open land or 1500 sq. metre whichever was more. Area of building for commercial purpose was fixed at 2000 sq. metres. Premium was fixed at 50 paisa per sq. metre. Thus, from 1976 onwards for the purpose of renewal, area was reduced from acre to square metre and unit for premium and ground rent became square feet instead of acre. All heirs of Lessees became one unit for renewal. Land covered by outhouses were to be excluded. Lessees could not even opt for it.

91. When we considered the claim of petitioners in reference to above G.Os., nothing is on record to show that petitioner ever applied and sought renewal or fresh lease, either before actual expiry of lease term or immediately thereafter, in terms of above G.Os., hence petitioners cannot claim any benefit under the above mentioned G.Os.

92. Lease Holders, whose lease had already expired or those who were sitting Lease Holders and leases were going to expire in a short period, came to this Court in various writ petitions. This entire bunch was decided in Purushottam Dass Tandon and others vs. State of U.P., Lucknow and others (supra). In this case, there were two categories of writ petitioners, as under:

(i) Those, to whom notices were given by Collector and who had complied with terms and conditions as laid down in various orders issued from time to time prior to 1965; and

(ii) Those, to whom no notice was sent and till matter filed before the Court, no steps were taken and no order was passed in their favour.

93. Court held :

(I) A Lessor may, after expiry of period for which lease is granted, renew the same or resume i.e. re-enter. But if out of the two i.e. re-entry or resumption, the two divergent courses, he chooses to grant fresh lease or at least creates that impression by his conduct spread over long time, it results in abandonment.

(II) If the land is needed or building has to be demolished in public interest for general welfare, probably no exception can be taken as the interest of individual has to be sacrificed for the society. But asking Lessee to vacate land or remove Malba for no rhyme or reason but because State is the owner, cannot be accepted to be in consonance with present day philosophy and thinking about role of State.

(III) After Act, 1976, no person can successfully or validly claim to hold land, more than the Ceiling limit.

(IV) Some part of G.O. of 1981 was not consistent with Act, 1976. The rules contained in Nazul Manual are set of Administrative Orders or collections of guidelines issued by Government for the authorities to deal with Government property.

(V) When a G.O. was issued and its conditions are complied with, mere for bureaucratic delay, performance under the said G.O. cannot be denied. Therefore, Lessee, who had deposited first instalment, as directed in G.O. of 1965, were entitled for renewal of their lease.

(VI) After enactment of ceiling law, a Lessee cannot hold land more than the provided limit.

(VII) If leases were renewed in respect of those, who had acquired social or political status, whose names are given in para 15 of judgment, which includes, Dr. K. N. Katju, ex-Central Law Minister, Chief Minister and Governor, Dr. S. K. Verma, ex-Chief Justice and Governor, Sri B.L. Gupta, ex-Judge High Court, J. D. Shukla, I.C.S., O. N. Misra, I.A.S., when there was no justification not to give same benefit to others. Similar benefits must be given since most of them were also distinguished persons namely S.N. Kacker, ex-Central Law Minister, Solicitor General of India and Advocate General of the State, Sri S. S. Dhavan, ex-Judge, High Court and Governor and High Commissioner, Sri Lal Ratnakar Singh I.A.S. Ex-Member of Board of Revenue, M.L.Chaturvedi, ex-Judge, High Court and member of Union Public Service Commission, W. Broome, I.C.S. etc.

94. Aforesaid judgment was confirmed by Supreme Court by dismissing appeals preferred by State of U.P. and others i.e. State of U.P. and others vs. Purshottam Das Tandon and others 1989 Supp.(2) SCC 412. Supreme Court clarified that renewal of leases shall be subject to the provisions of U.P.Act, 1976 and High Court judgment shall apply to all the leases to whom G.O. dated 23.04.1959, 02.07.1960 and 03.12.1965 were applicable and all those claiming under them. The order of Supreme Court reads as under :

"We have heard the learned counsel for both the parties at length. We do not find any infirmity in the judgment and order passed by the High Court against which these special leave petitions are preferred. We, however, make it clear that the leases that are going to be granted pursuant to the writ issued by the High Court will be subject to the provisions of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976. On the leases being granted, the Competent Authority under the Act shall be at liberty to apply the provisions of the Act and in particular section 15 thereof to all the leases and take away all the surplus lands in their hands after determining the surplus lands in accordance with law. The directions issued by the High Court can be availed of by all the lessees to whom the G.O. dated 23rd April, 1959, 2nd July, 1960 and 3rd December, 1965 were applicable and all those claiming under them.

All the Special Leave Petitions are dismissed accordingly with these observations. If any further directions are needed, the persons interested may approach the High Court."

(Emphasis added)

95. Aforesaid judgment has no application to the case of petitioners at all since neither petitioners come within the category of eligible persons to apply for renewal of lease under Government Orders which were considered in Purushottam Dass Tandon and others vs. State of U.P., Lucknow and others (supra) nor even otherwise petitioners have shown any provision, whether statutory or executive, including G.O., which may confer entitlement upon petitioner to seek renewal of lease at all.

96. Aforesaid fourth question, therefore, is answered against petitioners.

97. The fifth question is, "whether Repeal Act, 2017 has effect of denying to State, right of resumption/re-entry due to repeal of GG Act, 1895."

98. It is contended that Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017 only protects right, title, obligation or liability already acquired, accrued or incurred by State of U.P. under GG Act, 1895 to resume Nazul land according to resumption clause of lease-deed prior to repeal of GG Act, 1895 and nothing more than that. Since no right, title, obligation or liability was already acquired or incurred or accrued by/to State Government for the purpose of resumption under resumption clause before repeal of GG Act, 1895, therefore resumption with reference to GG Act, 1895 is wholly illegal.

99. Meaning of words 'accrued', 'acquired' and 'incurred' has been given in various paragraphs of writ petitions but we find that basic aspect has been ignored and missed by petitioners. Terms of lease as soon as lease was executed caused in creating rights, obligations, duties and interest of both the parties i.e. Lessor and Lessee. Their relations are to be governed in accordance with terms and conditions of lease. Relevant clause says that it shall be lawful for the Secretary of State, notwithstanding waiver of any previous cause or right of re-entry, to enter into and upon said demised premises whereupon the same shall remain to the use of and vested in Secretary of State and said demise shall absolutely determine out. The Lessee, who agreed with the said term incurred duty to allow such re-entry to State whenever Government exercises its right of re-entry. Here lies the right of State to re-enter, which was acquired by State by virtue of execution of lease deed and accepted by Lessee i.e. it incurred liability not to obstruct the said right of State i.e. Lessor.

100. Petitioners, in our view, have misconstrued Section 4 vis-a-vis terms of lease and therefore, entire argument in this respect is devoid of merit, hence rejected. This question is also returned against petitioners.

101. Sixth question is "whether resumption clause is arbitrary?"

102. The argument is clearly misconceived. In fact, it is an attempt to extend the argument advanced on question five. Once benefits and rights of parties are in terms of lease, it is not open to a party to challenge one of the conditions of whole document whereupon some right or interest in some property has been transferred. In other words, an act is subject to certain conditions as a whole, and parties to the transaction have accepted all the conditions together, then subsequently it is not open to retain some or leave another. It cannot chose some and leave other. This principle is based on doctrine of election, which postulates that no party can accept and reject the same instrument. A person cannot say at one time that a transaction is valid and thereby obtain some advantage to which he could only be entitled on the condition that it is valid and then turn round and say that it is void for the purpose of securing some other advantage.

103. As per Halsbury's Laws of England (4th Edition) Vol. 16 (Paragraph 1508), after taking an advantage under an order a party may be precluded from saying that it is invalid and asking to set it aside.

104. Section 116 of Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1872"), provides for 'estoppel' of tenant to deny title of landlord to immovable property. It reads under :

"116. Estoppel of tenant; and of licensee of person in possession-

"No tenant of immovable property, or person claiming through such tenant, shall, during the continuance of the tenancy, be permitted to deny that the landlord of such tenant had, at the beginning of the tenancy, a title to such immovable property, and no person who came upon any immovable property by the license of the person in possession thereof, shall be permitted to deny that such person had a title to such possession at the time when such license was given."

105. In Mt. Bilas Kunwar v. Desraj Ranjit Singh and others, A.I.R. 1915 P.C. 96, Privy Council explained provisions of Section 116 of Act, 1872 and held as under:

"Section 116 is perfectly clear on the point, and rests on the principle well established by many English cases, that a tenant who has been let into possession cannot deny his landlord's title, however defective it may be, so long as he has not openly restored possession by surrender to his landlord."

106. In Joint Action Committee of Air Line Pilots' Association of India (ALPAI) and others v. Director General of Civil Aviation and others, (2001) 5 SCC 435 (Paragraph-12), Court referred to its earlier judgments in Babu Ram alias Durga Prasad v. Indra Pal Singh, 1998(6) SCC 358, P.R. Deshpande v. Maruti Balaram Haibatti, 1998(6) SCC 507 and Mumbai International Airport Private Limited v. Golden Chariot Airport and another, 2010 (10) SCC 422 and held that doctrine of election is based on the rule of estoppel. The doctrine of estoppel by election is one of the species of estoppel in pais (or equitable estoppel) which is a rule in equity. By that rule, a person may be precluded by his action or conduct or silence when it is his duty to speak, from asserting a right which he otherwise would have had. However, taking inconsistent pleas by a party makes its conduct far from satisfactory. Further, parties should not blow hot and cold by taking inconsistent stands and prolong proceedings.

107. In Cauvery Coffee Traders, Mangalore v. Hornor Resources (International Company Limited), (2011) 10 SCC 420 (Paragraph 34), Court referred to its decision in Nagubai Ammal v. B. Shama Rao, AIR 1956 SC 593, CIT v. V. MR.P. Firm Muar AIR 1965 SC 1216, NTPC Ltd. v. Reshmi constructions, Builders & Contractors, (2004) 2 SCC 663, Ramesh Chandra Sankla v. Vikram Cement (2008)14 SCC 58 and Pradeep Oil Corpn. v. MCD (2011) 5 SCC 270, and held, that a party cannot be permitted to "blow hot and cold", "fast and loose" or "approbate and reprobate". Where one knowingly accepts benefits of a contract or conveyance or an order, he is estopped to deny validity or binding effect on him of such contract or conveyance or order. This rule is applied to do equity. However, it must not be applied in a manner as to violate the principles of right and good conscience.

108. In V. Chandrasekaran and another v. Administrative Officer and others, (2012) 12 SCC 133, Court followed the law laid down in Cauvery Coffee Traders, Mangalore (supra).

109. In Rajasthan State Industrial Development and Investment Corporation and another v. Diamond & Gem Development Corporation Limited and another (2013) 5 SCC 470, Court again reiterated the law laid down in Cauvery Coffee Traders, Mangalore (supra) and held, in paragraph 23, as under :

"A party cannot claim anything more than what is covered by the terms of contract, for the reason that contract is a transaction between the two parties and has been entered into with open eyes and understanding the nature of contract. *Thus, contract being a creature of an agreement between two or more parties, has to be interpreted giving literal meanings unless, there is some ambiguity therein. The contract is to be interpreted giving the actual meaning to the words contained in the contract and i*t is not permissible for the court to make a new contract, however reasonable, if the parties have not made it themselves. It is to be interpreted in such a way that its terms may not be varied. The contract has to be interpreted without any outside aid. The terms of the contract have to be construed strictly without altering the nature of the contract, as it may affect the interest of either of the parties adversely".

(Emphasis added)

110. In State of Punjab and others v. Dhanjit Singh Sandhu (2014) 15 SCC 144 (Paragraph Nos. 21, 22, 23, 24, 25 and 26) Court reiterated the law laid down in CIT v. MR. P. Firm Muar (supra), Maharashtra SRTC v. Balwant Regular Motor Service, AIR 1969 SC 329; R.N. Gosain v. Yashpal Dhir, (1992) 4 SCC 683 (Paragraph 10); and P.R. Deshpande v. Maruti Balaram Haibatti, (1998) 6 SCC 507 and held that defaulting allottees cannot be allowed to approbate and reprobate by first agreeing to abide by the terms and conditions of allotment and later seeking to deny their liability as per agreed terms. The doctrine of "approbate and reprobate" is only a species of estoppel. It is settled proposition of law that once an order has been passed, it is complied with, accepted by other party and he derived benefit out of it, he cannot challenge it on any ground.

111. In Bansraj Lalta Prasad Mishra v. Stanley Parker Jones, (2006) 3 SCC 91 (Paragraph Nos. 13,14, 15 and 16), Court considered Section 116 of Act, 1872 and held:

"13.The underlying policy of Section 116 is that where a person has been brought into possession as a tenant by the landlord and if that tenant is permitted to question the title of the landlord at the time of the settlement, then that will give rise to extreme confusion in the matter of relationship of the landlord and tenant and so the equitable principle of estoppel has been incorporated by the legislature in the said section.

14.The principle of estoppel arising from the contract of tenancy is based upon a healthy and salutary principle of law and justice that a tenant who could not have got possession but for his contract of tenancy admitting the right of the landlord should not be allowed to launch his landlord in some inequitable situation taking undue advantage of the possession that he got and any probable defect in the title of his landlord. It is on account of such a contract of tenancy and as a result of the tenant's entry into possession on the admission of the landlord's title that the principle of estoppel is attracted.

15.Section 116 enumerates the principle of estoppel which is merely an extension of the principle that no person is allowed to approbate and reprobate at the same time.

16.As laid down by the Privy Council in Kumar Krishna Prasad Lal Singha Deo v. Baraboni Coal Concern Ltd. : (IA p.318)-

It [Section 116] deals with one cardinal and simple estoppel, and states it first as applicable between landlord and tenant and then as between licensor and lincensee, a distinction which corresponds to that between the parties to an action for rent and the parties to an action for use and occupation."

(Emphasis supplied)

112. Even otherwise, we find nothing arbitrary or illegal in resumption clause. State is the owner of land. If for public purpose, it wants to take back its land by way of resumption, there is nothing per se arbitrary. Secondly, condition of resumption is a part of contract between the parties and having accepted the same and contract has been carried out and completed its term, it order to wriggle out the rights, obligations and liabilities incurred and acquired thereunder, one of the parties cannot wriggle out by contending that one of the conditions of such agreement is bad.
